Locomotive Tips After Hitting Car

JUMPS TRACKS—After a car pinned to its Grand Trunk Western Railway crossing near "cowcatcher" accidentally tripped a switch, this Franklin road. No one was injured in the accident locomotive and a mail car ran off the rails at the early this morning.

Locomotive, 1 Car Derail as Train Hits Empty Auto

The locomotive and one car of a westbound Grand Trunk Western passenger-mail train were derailed here early today after smashing into an empty automobile at Franklin road crossing.

No one was injured when the train rammed the auto shortly after midnight and pushed it about 1,000 feet. Three youths had abandoned the auto only minutes before the train, composed of passenger coaches and mail cars, rolled into Pontiac.

The train's engine, tender and one mail car jumped the rails when the auto, caught on the cowcatcher, tripped a switch and caused them to run off the track, according to Pontiac police.

Donald R. Ogg, 18, of 877 Stanley Ave., said he was returning home from a show at 12:22 a.m. with Miss Gayle Hubback, 17, of 103 E. Huron St., and Dale E. Burrell, 14, of 84 Gage St., both students at Pontiac High.

"As we rounded a curve and were crossing over the tracks, we skidded on ice," Ogg said, "and the two right wheels of the car became lodged between the rail and a tie."

While Ogg tried to free the car, Burrell ran to notify the townsmen, Francis Levi, 53, of 7255 Garvin St., Waterford Township, who told the youth that a train was not expected to pass the crossing for about 10 minutes.

"So Dale ran to the car and told me to get out in a hurry," Ogg said, "very shortly after, the locomotive hit."

Police said the train carried the auto in front of it until the switch was hit. The engineer was Maur-

Oxford Man Dies in Auto Crash

Sabines Ellis Is Killed on Lakeville Road; Four Are Injured

An Oxford man was killed Thursday in a head-on collision on Lakeville road, that injured four other persons, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Sabines R. Ellis, 49, of 3360 Lakeville Rd., Oxford, died of injuries suffered when a car in which he was riding crashed into another auto on slippery pavement in Oxford Township. The car was driven by his son, Lee Roy, 23.

Leo Thomas, 51, of Leonard, driver of the other auto, was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital with a knee fracture, and multiple cuts and bruises of the hands and face.

Lee Roy Ellis was admitted with leg cuts, dislocated knee and possible concussion.

Lyle Ellis, 13, another son, was treated for hip and elbow bruises, and Leo Cole, 12, of Oxford, was admitted with a dislocated hip. All are in good condition today, according to the hospital.

Deputy Lewis Reagan said cause of the accident has not yet been determined.

Red-Led Rebels Slice Indochina Into 2 Sections

Take Town of Thakhek; French Withdraw, Plan Defense of Air Base

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—The vanguard of Communist-led Vietminh forces moved today into the abandoned town of Thakhek, on the Mekong River border with Thailand, completing a rebel drive to cut Indochina in two.

First reports from the area said the Vietminh units that drove boldly across the country from the coastal areas of Annam sent light elements into Thakhek, previously evacuated by the French.

The withdrawal of the French had been announced earlier today in a communique from the high command.

It said the evacuation was ordered to pull as many troops as possible together in order to meet the Vietminh attack.

Vietminh occupation of the town, 240 miles south of Hanoi, would give the rebels a base from which to strike either north or south along the Mekong River.

The Vietminh began their lightning thrust across the country four days ago.

The invasion of Laos from Annam followed repeated offers from Vietminh chief Ho Chi Minh for a negotiated peace in the seven-year-old Indochina war. The French attitude toward the Vietminh proposals is that they have not been officially communicated and that consequently they will be ignored.

Gen. Henri Navarre, French commander in Indochina, is expected to set up his main defense line along the Mekong south of Thakhek in order to defend Savannakhet, a provincial capital 80 miles to the south.

The French must keep Savannakhet and its airport, the only air base in Laos capable of handling heavy transport planes, in order to bring in troops and war supplies to the defenders of the area.

The handful of French living in Thakhek already have been evacuated to Savannakhet.

The announcement came shortly after a French spokesman said supplies and reinforcements were being rushed to the threatened area where strong Vietminh forces were advancing in several columns through sparsely inhabited mountainous country.

Commie Nations Claim End of PW Talks Is Unfair

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The two Communist members of the Korean repatriation commission have accused the other three members of a "very serious violation" of "international agreements" in ending efforts to win prisoners home, the official Peiping radio said today.

The charge was in a statement issued by the Czech and Polish members which was broadcast by the Chinese Red radio.

The Red delegates were angered by the majority decision of India, Sweden and Switzerland to end the 30-day explanation period at midnight last Wednesday.

The Czechs and Poles termed the decision "an arbitrary interpretation" of the armistice agreement.

The Communists have insisted that there should be 90 days of actual explanations.

Russia Rejects Meeting Date

Suggests Late January for Big 4 Conference in New Note

MOSCOW (AP)—Informed Western sources reported today the Soviet Union has rejected the proposed Jan. 4 date for a meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers in Berlin and proposed instead Jan. 25 or later.

Western diplomatic sources said the Soviets stated there were "administrative difficulties" in the way of the Jan. 4 date proposed by the West on Dec. 8.

The Soviet counterproposal was given in notes delivered to the U.S., British and French ambassadors in Moscow at noon. The notes were reported very brief. They have not yet been officially published.

The sources added the Soviets also appeared to object to the Western proposal that the Berlin conference be held in the former Allied Control Authority building, in the American sector of the divided city.

It was reported the Russian proposed instead that the four high commissioners in Germany confer in advance on an alternative site.

The Soviets, however, are still willing to meet in Berlin, which was originally their suggestion. They had previously agreed to the idea of a four-power conference but did not specify a date.

The Soviet note, coming only today, gives the West short notice for altering the Jan. 4 plan. It was believed here that the delay in the Russian reply might have been caused by uncertainty over the recent prolonged French presidential election.

In their last note, the Western powers suggested that the questions of Germany and Austria be discussed at the parley but left the way open for the Soviets to bring up any other questions.

The Russians want a big five meeting with Red China taking part.

500 Jam Rinks Before Soft Ice Cuts Attendance

Warmer temperatures have softened ice at Pontiac's four public ice-skating rinks and skating is expected to be poor over the weekend.

Leonard Buzz, recreation supervisor for Pontiac Department of Parks and Recreation, said about 500 outdoor enthusiasts crowded the rinks Christmas Eve, but thawing temperatures cut attendance Christmas Day.

The rinks are located at Bagley and Brush Sts., and at Crofoot School, Weaver School and Orle Field.

Nation's Toll 237

State Traffic Claims 12 in First Half of Holiday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
At least 17 persons lost their lives in violent accidents during the first half of Michigan's long Christmas week-end.

In the nation as a whole, the traffic death toll appeared headed for a new Christmas holiday record.

With less than half the long weekend holiday over, 237 persons have been killed in traffic accidents. Altogether, violent accidents have taken the lives of 285 persons since 6 p.m. Thursday.

Traffic accidents claimed the lives of 12 victims in the state in the first 36 hours of the holiday weekend and a 25-year old mother and four of her children died in a home fire near Flat Rock.

The mother, Mary Hurst and her four children, Patrick, 6, Hazel, 5, Michael, 2, and 8-month-old Daniel, died when a fire destroyed their home early Christmas morning. Only the father, Ross, 29, survived the blaze.

Edgar Riley, 57, of Detroit, was the victim of a hit and run driver Christmas Eve. Riley was struck crossing a Detroit intersection.

Other traffic fatalities included: Martin Rumsek, 56, of Ionia, killed Friday in a three-car crash near Ionia.

Adelard Leroux, 60, and his wife Agnes of Carlone, 65, killed Friday in a car collision three miles north of Monroe.

Thomas Crow, 22, of 2942 Cass, Detroit, killed in auto crash at a downtown safety zone in Detroit.

Charles Minnow, 38, of 1042 St. Aubin, Detroit, killed by a hit-and-run driver in Detroit.

"I told them I didn't have any fingers or legs and that I had been in the war but they were all cursing and yelling and hitting me with their fists," Baker told a reporter.

One of his artificial legs was almost torn off by the attackers. He was treated for numerous bruises and abrasions at an emergency hospital.

Baker and his wife, Bernice, have an 8-month-old baby daughter. He was serving with an Army unit in Korea on Nov. 26, 1951, when he was shot through the chest and leg and lay in freezing weather for 36 hours. When he was finally taken to an aid station his legs and fingers were gone beyond hope of saving. He is still receiving treatment.

Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz has assigned six detectives to try and find Baker's attackers.

Bagels Back in Stores After New York Strike

NEW YORK (UP)—Bagel lovers, starved of the crusty delicacy for 32 days, had good news today—bagels are back.

The 45 truck drivers, who deliver bagels to neighborhood stores and restaurants agreed to make deliveries today following settlement of their strike for higher wages.

New Zealand, Czechoslovakia Crashes Worst

Peru and Pakistan Also Report Rail Accidents Over Christmas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Four countries around the world counted a death toll of possibly 362 persons today as a result of Christmas train wrecks.

Two of the rail disasters — in New Zealand and Czechoslovakia — were among the worst in history. The other accidents were reported from Peru and Pakistan.

In New Zealand, an estimated 166 lives were lost when a speeding Wellington-Auckland passenger train plunged into a river gorge Thursday night after a bridge had washed out 250 miles south of the capital. The catastrophe cast gloom over the little country at the time it was entertaining Queen Elizabeth on her commonwealth tour.

The Bratislava-Prague express in Czechoslovakia smashed into another passenger train near Sakvice, killing from 100 to 186 persons according to unofficial piece-meal reports from the Iron Curtain country. The wreck also on Christmas Eve, may have been the third worst train crash in history.

A heavily loaded ore train jumped the tracks on an Andes Mountain grade 12 miles from Lima, Peru, and six crewmen were killed. The seventh man aboard the train was seriously injured.

Another freight train derailed in Pakistan took the lives of four crewmen. This accident occurred yesterday about 30 miles from Quetta in the western part of the country.

In Auckland, Queen Elizabeth, broadcasting her annual Yuletide message to nations of the commonwealth around the world, paused to express her sympathy to the families of the New Zealand wreck victims. The young monarch's voice wavered as she spoke of the grave disaster.

New Zealand Prime Minister Sydney Holland rushed to the scene of the accident on Mt. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

U. S. Ambassador to Israel Dies at 60

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Monnet B. Davis, 60, died at his home here today of a heart ailment.

He returned to Israel five weeks ago from sick leave in the United States. Traveling by sea to Beirut he had a rough trip which associates said proved difficult for him. He had been in bed since and lapsed into unconsciousness two days ago. His wife and only son, Thomas, were at his side when death came.

Davis, born in Greencastle, Ind., on Aug. 13, 1893, had served as consul-general in Shanghai, as minister to Denmark, as U.S. representative to the Economic Council on Asia and the Far East, and as minister to Panama, before coming here in February, 1951.

Father Watches Helpless

Christmas Morning Blaze Kills Mother, 4 Children

FLAT ROCK (AP)—Fire beat Santa Claus to this community early Christmas Day, turning a two-story home into a blazing funeral pyre for a young mother and her four children.

Ross Hurst, 29, stood helpless in the snow watching as his wife, Mary, 25, and the children, Patrick, 6; Hazel, 5; Michael, 2, and 8-month-old Daniel, died in the flames. Hurst was led from the scene to a hospital where he was treated for shock.

The Hurst family shared the brick farm home with Mr. and Mrs. Francis Eyster and their three children.

Hurst, a Great Lakes Steel Co. machinist, said his children had opened some of their presents and then the family went to bed about midnight Christmas Eve. "The next thing I knew," he said, "someone was shouting fire."

The Eyster family had returned home and discovered the house wrapped in flames.

Hurst and the Eysters tried heroically to get the mother and children out of the house. The blaze had apparently begun in a kitchen oil heater. Only the father escaped.

Standing outside in his nightclothes, Hurst said, "the last I saw of my wife, Mary, she was standing in the window of our bedroom, our baby, Daniel, in her arms."

"Then the fire took her and that's all I remember."

Today only a blackened, fire-swept shell remained of a man's happiness.

Report Few Drunk Drivers

Police See 'Get Tough' Policy Paying Off Over Holidays in County

"Get tough" policies against drunk drivers in Oakland County apparently paid off over Christmas.

Oakland County Undersheriff Donald O. Menzies and Pontiac Police Capt. Edward Shigley cited today the relatively few drunk driving arrests.

In all, five police departments in the county jailed six persons Thursday and Friday on drunk driving charges, "a comparatively low figure" compared with past years, Menzies said.

Capt. Shigley said that the "go to jail" policy instituted by Pontiac Judge Maurice P. Finnegan has paid off. One arrest was made by Pontiac Police during Thursday and Friday, Shigley said.

Drunk and disorderly complaints, while not as low as hoped for, were held to 14 arrests, according to Menzies, who added:

"If the motorists do as well over New Year's as they did during Christmas, it will be a happy holiday for everyone."

With Proper Safeguards May Admit Wire-Tapping Evidence in Spy Trials

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Ferguson of the Senate Republican Policy Committee predicted today Congress will legalize the use in spy trials of evidence obtained by telephone wiretapping.

"A proper bill can be worked out and passed, protecting both the inalienable rights of citizens and the welfare of the nation," the Michigan senator said in an interview.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) also said he thinks some such law will be enacted, but Sen. McCarran of Nevada, senior Democratic member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, rated present chances as doubtful.

Atty. Gen. Brownell has announced he plans to ask Congress to permit the use of such evidence in trials under certain conditions. The idea reportedly was discussed during President Eisenhower's conferences with Republican Congress leaders at the White House last week.

Federal law does not prohibit wire tapping by federal officers but it does forbid the use of such evidence in a trial court. The rule has been interpreted to block the use of evidence uncovered as the result of "leads" produced by wire tapping.

The issue is hotly controversial. It has been before Congress before, but Ferguson said he thinks this time "the administration and Congress can work out a bill keeping in mind for historical background" that would satisfy most opponents of the idea.

Ferguson declined to say what the administration might propose along that line. He emphasized (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Postmaster Says All Mail Delivered by Early Dec. 24 Despite Greater Volume

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — Postmaster Bernard Fowler said today that all mail was delivered early Dec. 24 "although we handled a 30 per cent increase in mail this year."

Fowler attributed this speedy service to (1) permission to let regular personnel put in sufficient overtime work, (2) additional space to handle parcel post and (3) general availability of extra help.

"Morale of the employees was higher this year, too, because of the overtime," Fowler said. "Everyone did a fine job."

Last year the staff worked three days past the holiday distributing Christmas cards and gifts.

"The Pageant of the Holy Nativity" will be presented by the youth groups of First Methodist Church at 8 p. m. tomorrow. They will be assisted by the primary, junior and antiphonal choirs.

Sunday's 11 a. m. worship service will honor college students, along with those in special training work and service young people.

Officials of the A & P Co. store at Merrill and Woodward will be asked for action to eliminate congestion on Merrill street due to customers backing out of their parking lot.

Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley told the City Commission this week

Egbert Not Hopeful on Triangle Action

BIRMINGHAM — "In the light of the uncertainties as to the ultimate ownership and use of the property, it does not appear possible to negotiate any agreement to safeguard the city's interests at the present time," City Manager Donald C. Egbert told the city commission this week in reference to the triangle bounded by Adams and Derby roads, and the Grand Trunk Railroad.

The Birmingham Board of Education has offered owner Arthur Nechman $1,250 per acre for 22 acres there, as the site of a new elementary school and a playground for Adams School.

The city had been negotiating with the owner for an agreement to provide sewage and water facilities for the area so it would not be developed with septic tanks, a potential hazard to neighboring city residents. The land is part of Troy Township, and annexation was one condition under which the services would be granted.

Nationalist Chinese, Red Battle Reported

TAIPEI (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist Interior Ministry's Ta Tao news agency today reported that 5,000 Nationalist guerrillas and 3,000 Communist troops fought a three-hour battle this month on the border of the mainland provinces of Szechwan and Kweichow.

The agency said the fight followed a Dec. 7 raid by the guerrillas on a Red truck convoy carrying mail.

Ta Tao said 500 Reds were killed or wounded and more than 300 others taken prisoner.

Although the agency claims underground sources on the mainland, there is no way of telling whether the story is correct. Reports from Nationalist sources on mainland events, often are exaggerated.

4-Month-Old Baby Injured in Crash

A four-month-old baby was injured Thursday when the car in which she was riding collided head-on with another auto in Springfield Township.

Marianne Driscoll, daughter of Richard J. Driscoll, 33, of 1278 Coplan, Detroit, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for injuries to her face and chest.

She was riding with her father when his car and an auto driven by George A. Jenks, 57, of 9345 Ellis Rd., Clarkston, collided on U.S. 10 and Davisburg road.

The crash occurred at about 10:30 a. m. Thursday. The car in which Jenks was riding was heading south on U.S. 10, while the car in which Driscoll was riding was heading north.

The car in which Driscoll was riding was a 1952 Ford, while the car in which Jenks was riding was a 1951 Chevrolet.

The crash occurred at the intersection of U.S. 10 and Davisburg road, about 1/2 mile south of the intersection of U.S. 10 and 12th Ave. S.

Election Dates Set for County

Third Oakland District to Vote on Successor for Howard Estes

Dates for a special election in Oakland County's third legislative district to select a successor to State Rep. Howard R. Estes, resigned, have been set in Lansing, according to County Clerk Lynn D. Allen.

Allen said the dates are expected to be as follows:

Jan. 7, 4 p. m., closing time for filing of nominating petitions;

Jan. 21, primary elections, if number of candidates requires a primary;

Feb. 11, special election.

The election will be held only in the present third district, which includes the townships of Milford, Commerce, West Bloomfield, Troy, Lyon, Novi and Farmington, and the cities within these townships, except Clawson, which is in an adjacent district.

Vermont Town Survives Holiday Without Gas

WINOOSKI, Vt. (AP)—Sunday dinner became a problem today for Winooski housewives left with cold gas stoves since a gas holder failure last Wednesday at the Burlington plant of Green Mountain Power Corp.

The breakdown cut off gas from some 2,000 customers in Winooski and Burlington but service was restored to Burlington homes early yesterday.

John W. Sheehy estimated that the other customers in Winooski would have gas again not later than tomorrow night.

The community's housewives surmised the Christmas crisis in gallant style yesterday. Sharing kitchens with neighbors more fortunately fixed with electric ranges, they managed their holiday meals without real hardship.

The engine and five cars of the train, which was traveling about 50 miles an hour, shot into the swollen Wanganu River shortly after floods had swept away a section of the railway bridge. Another car tottered on the brink a few moments and then toppled into the flood.

A rescue organization was set up within a few minutes but 135 of the 267 persons on the train were still unaccounted for and there was little hope they would be found. The known dead numbered 31.

The government-controlled press in Communist Czechoslovakia released little news of the accident in that country, and Western newsmen do not operate there. An early announcement over Radio Prague said only that "many persons were killed or injured."

A telephone operator at Brno told The Associated Press in Vienna she overheard Czech officials place the death toll at 186.

Pontiac Deaths

Mrs. Floyd Compton

Funeral for Mrs. Floyd (Beulah L.) Compton, 57, of 362 W. Iroquois Rd., will be Monday at 1:30 from Sparks-Griffin Chapel. Dr. William H. Marbach, pastor of First Presbyterian Church of which she was a member, will officiate; and burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Mrs. Compton died Thursday at Harper Hospital in Detroit after an illness of two years.

Born in Michigan July 11, 1896, she was the daughter of Whitney and Florence Vance. She was a graduate of Michigan State Normal College and had been a kindergarten teacher.

She was married at Clare, Mich., Dec. 23, 1917 and came to Pontiac from Flint in 1929.

Besides her husband and mother, she is survived by a son, Robert of White Lake; a sister, Mrs. Velma Edith of Menominee and two grandchildren.

Thomas L. Connolly

Thomas L. Connolly, 45, of 441 S. Paddock St., died at Pontiac General Hospital at 2:05 a. m. Friday. He had been ill three days.

Born at Vesta, Ont., Feb. 14, 1908, he was the son of John and Katherine Ferguson Connolly. He married Florence E. Lanway in Toledo July 12, 1941. He had resided in Pontiac 26 years and was employed as a mill worker at Baldwin Rubber Co.

Besides his widow he is survived by two sons and two daughters, Leo and Robert in the U.S. Navy, Ruth in Royal Oak and Deanna at home.

Also surviving are two brothers and two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Houston of Ingersoll, Ont., Mrs. Florence Bray, Georgetown, Ont., Joseph Connolly of Kamloops, B.C., and John Connolly of Acromen, Alberta.

Funeral will be Monday at 1:30 from the Purlsey Funeral Home. The Rev. E. D. Auchard of First Presbyterian Church will officiate and burial will be in Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

Charles Cannon

In Wednesday's obituary of Charles Cannon, 76, of 118 Mount Clemens St., grandchildren surviving should have read 14 instead of 114.

Mrs. Alex J. Cyr

Mrs. Alex J. (Elizabeth) Cyr, 76, of 140 S. Edith St. died at her residence at 8 a. m. Friday. She had been ill three months.

Born in Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 18, 1877, she was the daughter of Isaac and Elizabeth LaRose.

She came to Pontiac in 1923 from Washburn, Wis., and was a member of St. Vincent de Paul Church, the Altar Society and the League of Catholic Women.

Surviving are two daughters and a son, Mrs. Robert Darrow of Bay City and Mrs. Frank Everett and Howard A. of Pontiac.

Rosary service will be Sunday at 8:30 p. m. in Farmer-Snow Funeral Home. Funeral will be Monday at 10 a. m. from St. Vincent Church. Burial will be in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Anthony Hannah

Funeral was held today at the Frank Carruthers Funeral Home for Anthony Hannah, three-month-old son of Hugh and Ruthie Hannah of 314 1/2 Wessen St. The baby died Wednesday at the Contagious Hospital.

He is survived by his parents.

Sandra Kay Kellogg

Funeral for Sandra Kay Kellogg, 10-year-old daughter of LeRoy F. and Lila M. Adair Kellogg of 1088 Dover Rd., will be Monday at 10 a. m. from the Purlsey Funeral Home. The Rev. C. George Widdi-field of All Saints Episcopal Church will officiate and burial will be in Perry Mount Park Cemetery. She died Friday at 2 p. m. in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Born in Pontiac Dec. 6, 1943, she is survived by her parents; a sister, Norma L., and a brother, Howard A., both at home.

Infant Nickolopoulos

Funeral for the infant daughter of Nickolas G. and Angelique Garifolias Nickolopoulos of 27 Seneca St. will be Monday at 4 p. m. from Voorhees-Siple Chapel. The Rev. Soterius D. Gouvenis of St. George Greek Orthodox Church will officiate and burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

The baby was born Thursday in Pontiac General Hospital and lived eight hours.

Besides her parents she is survived by a brother and sister, Arey and Elaine at home.

Walter Shuey

Funeral for Walter Shuey, 61, of 78 Judson St. was held today from Purlsey Funeral Home. The Rev. Paul Havens of First Methodist Church officiated, with burial in Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

Born in Chomoko, Pa., Aug. 30, 1892, he came to Pontiac 35 years ago and was last employed at Wilson Foundry Division of Willys Motors, Inc.

Mr. Shuey was a veteran of World War I and a member of Post 1370, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He died Thursday in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after an illness of three months. There are no survivors.

Suffers Head Injuries in Traffic Accident

Kenneth L. Whitcomb, 29, of 1029 Olson, Pontiac Township, was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital with scalp cuts and a possible concussion Thursday which he suffered in a traffic accident at Cass-Elizabeth Lake Road and Parkway drive.

Whitcomb's auto, northbound on Cass-Elizabeth Lake road, collided with a car which was driven by Lorne T. Kern of Keego Harbor, as Kern tried to cross in front of Whitcomb, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Red-Led Rebels Cut Indochina in Two

capital of Bangkok reported the government has declared a state of emergency in nine northern and northeastern states adjoining Indochina and Burma as a result of the Vietnam offensive.

The dispatch said the declaration was issued after a conference of Cabinet members and high military officers decided the Indochinese situation constituted a threat to Thailand's sovereignty.

Thailand is just across the river from the Thailand town of Lakhon. Reports in the Thailand capital said French forces opposing the rebel drive were falling back to new defenses set up about 50 kilometers (31.5 miles) from Thailand.

Broken Window Brightens Yule for Small Boy

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Santa Claus wore a blue uniform for 7-year-old Ralph Gonzales Christmas morning.

Ralph was picked up by police because he threw a rock through the windshield of Mrs. Russell Trout's car as she drove through the neighborhood where Ralph lives.

Blue-clad officers who investigated found Ralph's home without heat. His father was in the hospital undergoing an operation. His mother was sick in bed. All Ralph got for Christmas was a toy water pistol.

"He was clean," Sgt. Walter Coleman said. "But his clothes were ragged and his toes were sticking out of the ends of his shoes."

Coleman lectured the boy on the hazards of throwing rocks. Ralph told Sgt. Coleman he was throwing the rock at another boy and missed.

Coleman and Sgt. Albert Swallow then fed the boy turkey and pumpkin pie from the traffic office.

Other officers went to their cars to get toys they planned to give their own children: a toy motorcycle, a fire engine and a midjet police car like the one Ralph rode to the station in. They gave him the toys.

Then they passed the hat and got $1.50. That wasn't enough to pay for Mrs. Trout's broken windshield. But Mrs. Trout said she would pay for it herself.

"I guess that kid threw a lucky rock," Sgt. Coleman said.

Asks Statehood for Alaska Too

Sparkman Calls Move to Admit Only Hawaii Political Idea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said today he will attack the reasoning of Republican leaders who would delay statehood for Alaska, but grant it to Hawaii.

Sparkman told reporters he will support a move to grant statehood to both, despite plans of the Republican leadership to press only for the admission of Hawaii.

"It would be a very serious mistake to offer statehood to either without offering it to the other," Sparkman said. "I can't but feel that it's a political thing to want to admit one without the other. Alaska is deserving of statehood."

Sen. Hugh Butler (R-Neb.), chairman of the Senate Interior Committee which handles statehood legislation, contends pending proposals to admit Alaska are unwelcome because they would leave more than 90 per cent of its area under federal ownership and exempt from state taxation and administration. He has announced, however, he will vote to admit Hawaii.

A bill supported by the Eisenhower administration which would admit only Hawaii has been stalled in Butler's committee since it voted 8-7 last March to tie in a provision for admission of Alaska also. However, last Monday Sen. Long (D-La.), one of the committee members who voted for the amendment to the bill, said he is now willing to support the legislation in its original form—for admission of Hawaii—both in the committee and the Senate.

Sparkman said he will attack the argument that pending legislation would leave too much of Alaska under federal ownership.

"There's no reason why the federal government should keep that land forever," he said. "It could be opened up, a portion at a time, for home—steading and so forth."

Asked whether he would oppose statehood for Hawaii unless Alaska could have it too, Sparkman replied, "I'm not saying I will oppose it. But I certainly will support any move to include Alaska."

He said it is certain that an Alaska statehood amendment will be offered on the Senate floor if any bill to admit Hawaii only is brought up for debate.

F. W. Adams to Head New York Police

NEW YORK (AP)—Francis W. H. Adams, 50-year-old former federal attorney, has been named as New York City's new police commissioner.

Adams was appointed yesterday by Mayor-elect Robert F. Wagner Jr., who takes office Jan. 1.

A life-long Democrat, Adams served here as United States attorney from 1934 to 1937. He recently has been engaged in private law practice.

Adams will succeed Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan, who has been named by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to police New York State's harness racing industry.

The oldest existing settlement of the 13 original states is Albany, N. Y. A fur-trading post was set up there by the Dutch in 1614. It was chartered as a city in 1686.

Plucky Woman Hikes 20 Miles to Deliver Gifts

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Mrs. Mattie Mazza, 82, believes that "Christmas is the day for giving gifts," so she hiked more than 20 miles yesterday to deliver presents to friends. Then she collapsed.

Mrs. Mazza was treated by a Fire-Department emergency squad after the exhausting trip from her home in Akron. She rejected a doctor's advice to enter a hospital. She missed a bus at Akron. Filled with the spirit of Christmas, she tucked some small gifts in a handbag and started out on the eight-hour journey.

She said her husband, too ill to drive her here, had suggested she wait a few days. But she replied "Christmas is the day for giving gifts," and started out.

Warren's Family Holds Big Reunion

PIEDMONT, Calif. (AP)—Chief Justice Warren's 5-year-old grandson, Jeffrey, was a center of attraction as the former California governor carved a 30-pound turkey at a Christmas reunion of the big Warren family.

Young Jeffrey was just home from the hospital and still a bit weak from an appendectomy this week. The celebration was at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Warren.

On hand to open presents were Chief Justice and Mrs. Warren, Jeffrey, James and his wife, the chief justice's daughters, Nina, Dorothy and Virginia, his son Robert, and James' two other children, James Jr., 9, and John, 5.

Warren's third son, Earl Jr., was the only missing family member. He is in Army officer training in Kentucky.

Warren, on his first trip back to California since he succeeded the late Chief Justice Vinson, expects to return early next week to Washington.

Elevator Mutes Chorus in Last Act at the Met

NEW YORK (AP)—If the "Miserere" chorus in the last act of "Travatore" didn't have its usual robust volume at the Metropolitan Opera House last night, blame it on a backstage elevator.

The lift stalled between the second and third floors with half of the 46 choral members inside. After a brief delay, the available 23 voices proceeded with the number.

Shortly thereafter, an emergency jack boosted the elevator to the trapped singers could crawl unharmed through an escape hatch to the third floor.

Ex-Met Star Does Symphony Benefit

BALTIMORE (AP)—Rosa Ponselle, former dramatic soprano with the Metropolitan Opera Co., has converted her luxurious country home into a Christmas fairland for one week and is charging admission for the benefit of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra.

The singer's home, Villa Pace, in the Green Spring Valley at nearby Stevenson, Md., will be open daily from 3 to 6 p.m. beginning today, until New Year's Day. The ornate villa, replete with works of art, is crowded with flowers, plants, and Christmas decorations including a moving life-sized figure of carolers from which come recorded Christmas carols and anthems.

It is estimated that at least half of the American population uses some form of coin-operated device each week.

Famous Mayor of Chicago Dies

Carter H. Harrison, 93, Served Five Terms After 1897

CHICAGO (AP)—Carter H. Harrison, 93, who was mayor of Chicago five terms, and whose life was an integral part of the city's stormy history, died Christmas Day.

Harrison and his father—also Carter H. Harrison—governed Chicago for 22 of its first 72 years. The family believed this was a record unequalled anywhere in the country.

Harrison, a Democrat, also served as collector of internal revenue from 1933 until 1944, when he retired.

Harrison's father also was mayor or five terms and in 1893 was assassinated by a political fanatic. Young Harrison then was boomed for mayor and among his followers were "Bathhouse John" Coughlin and "Hinky Dink" Kenna, Chicago's former powerful 1st Ward aldermen for many years.

Harrison was nominated by the Democrats in 1897 and then literally cycled his way to election. This sport was very popular at the time and Harrison was one of its devotees. Lithographs appeared showing Harrison at the wheel, wearing a turtle-necked sweater and gripping a pair of "scorcher" handlebars. Buttons were worn proclaiming him "not the champion cyclist, but the cyclists' champion."

Harrison served four consecutive two-year terms beginning in 1897. He returned for a four-year term in 1911. He was 73 when President Roosevelt named him collector of internal revenue, after Harrison had campaigned for Roosevelt's election.

Born April 23, 1860, Harrison was a practicing attorney until 1891, when he became associated with his father in the purchase of the old Chicago Times. He assumed editorial direction of the newspaper. The family sold the Times in 1895.

Harrison's widow is the former Edith Ogden of New Orleans, whom he married 65 years ago. Mrs. Harrison, 91, survives, with a son, Carter Harrison III, and a daughter, Mrs. Edith Manierre, both of Suburban Lake Forest.

Sees Little Change in Buildings' Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Assn. of Real Estate Boards said today it expected little change in prices of office and retail business buildings during the next six months.

Basing its conclusions on a survey of 259 communities, the association said most reports indicated stable prices for retail business property, with a lower market and softening prices in some large cities.

In four out of five communities, it said, prices of central city office buildings were similar to those of six months ago, but where changes occurred, they were more often down than up.

Hoffman Asks Costs of Military Air Travel by Lawmakers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.) says he has been promised a detailed report on the use of military aircraft by members of Congress on their travels abroad.

Hoffman, investigating congressional junketing, had called for a report from the Defense Department on how many lawmakers were transported abroad in military aircraft and at what cost. He is chairman of the House Government Operations Committee.

Hoffman said in an interview yesterday he has been promised the information from the Defense Department by mid-January and that he expects similar cooperation from the State Department and the Foreign Operations Administration in supplying information he asked from them.

He is seeking from these agencies figures on cost of entertaining visiting members of Congress and on any counterpart funds spent in connection with their travel. Counterpart funds are sums in foreign currencies made available to the United States by countries receiving dollar aid.

Tragic Crash Kills Pair Who Planned to Marry

VERNON, Del. (AP)—Robert D. Baynard, 21, of Denton, Md., and Margaret Marshall, 17, of Harrington, Del., planned to announce their engagement today.

Shortly after buying the engagement ring yesterday, Baynard's car smashed into a guard rail of a bridge near here. He was killed instantly.

Miss Marshall died later at the Milford (Del.) Memorial Hospital.

Work on Plans for Fellowship

First Presbyterian Joins List of Chairmen for Services

Detailed plans are nearly completed for the Inter-church Fellowship which will be held in Pontiac Jan. 10 to Feb. 14, inclusive. Recently added to the list of chairmen is Mrs. Jack H. Chetister from the First Presbyterian Church. She will direct the youth program which will be in progress during the adult services.

Mrs. Chetister teaches third grade boys and girls in the church school, and she will teach a class including first to fifth grades at 5:45 p. m. Lessons she will use are "What Jesus Taught Us."

Following the fellowship hour, the host church will be responsible for the recreation period, as they also will be the nursery. The first service will be held at Lutheran Church of the Ascension and the Rev. John Burt, son of the late Bates G. Burt will be the guest speaker.

Hold Ordination Service for All Saints Cleric Here

The Rev. Ward Clabuesch, who has been an assistant at All Saints Episcopal Church since June, will be ordained to the sacred priesthood of the church Sunday at the 11 a. m. service.

The Rt. Rev. Russell S. Hubbard, suffragan bishop of Michigan will officiate.

Others participating will be Dr. Pierson Parker, professor of New Testament at General Theological Seminary in New York City, who will deliver the ordination sermon. Dr. Norman F. Kinzie, professor of humanities at Michigan State College and vicar of St. Katherine's Chapel at Williamston will act as liturgist.

The Rev. William Hamm of St. Mary's in the Hills, Lake Orion will be the Gospel; Ralph Strang, a lay reader, will read the Epistle, and the Rev. Raymond Bierlein will be master of ceremonies. He is vicar of St. John the Baptist parish at Otter Lake.

The Rev. Mr. Clabuesch will be presented to the bishop by the Rev. C. George Widdfield, rector of the local church.

After spending some time in the Navy in World War II, Mr. Clabuesch graduated from Michigan State College and General Theological Seminary. He will remain as curate at the church.

Central Methodist to Honor Students

Student recognition day will be observed at Central Methodist Church Sunday.

Participating in the service will be Joan McLeod who will give the invocation; James Braid, the Call to Worship; Clyde Howse, the responsive reading; Robert Davis, Scripture reading, and Milton H. Bank, II who will give the morning prayer closing with the prayer of the midshipman.

Kenneth Ish will sing the offertory solo. Ushers for the day also will be students. They will include James Hunt, James McDougall, John Porritt, Charles and F. Warren Rice, Bruce Strigley, Nancy Calhoun, Phyllis Head, Madah Jo Mack, Annabelle Marshbank, Jean McLeod and Alice Weimer.

Christian Living College Set Up

Allied With Bethany Sunday School to Meet Adult Needs

Something new has been added to the church school program at Bethany Baptist Church.

Adults generally have felt that when they reach the late teens and early 20s, they have outgrown the traditional Sunday school.

To meet the needs of adults the College of Christian Living has been instituted in connection with Bethany Baptist Church Sunday School.

While the fully graded departments from the cradle roll through the high school classes are in session, a faculty of carefully chosen and fully trained teachers conduct elective courses in Christian living.

Under the general leadership of Calvin R. Hobart, who holds a degree of master of arts in public school administration from the University of Wisconsin, a fully accredited faculty is at work.

Members of the faculty are: Rev. Fred R. Tiffany, Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland, Dr. R. M. Traver, Mrs. Grace Steeves, Mrs. Basil Hart, Maynard Johnson, and Mrs. Fred R. Tiffany.

Sylvester's Eve Service Slated at St. Trinity

New Year's Eve, St. Trinity Lutheran Church will observe the passing of the old year and the advent of the new with the traditional Sylvester's Eve service.

The Rev. Ralph C. Claus, resident pastor, will speak and the music will be under the direction of R. A. Sund, choirmaster.

Indiana Churchmen Make U.N. Study Trip

Sixty-five Hoosiers left New York City for home last week with their heads full of firsthand information on international affairs.

They spent five days at the United Nations, studying its accomplishments, problems and personalities. They were, so far as is known, the first group to spend such a period studying the U. N. on home ground sponsorship of a council of churches.

At the end of a week which included general study tours of the U. N. and talks by U. N. delegations, the Indiana group gathered together in a conference room at the United Nations to consider with a panel of experts how best they could use their week's experience back home.

Panel moderator Dr. A. William Loos urged the group to keep themselves well informed on international and United Nations news by reading the U. N. newsletter and other specialized foreign affairs publications. Another panelist pointed out the importance of working through local organizations to "change the climate of opinion at home."

One Indiana delegate, Mrs. Frances D. Streightoff of Indianapolis, urged efforts for more U. N. news in hometown newspapers and the delegation agreed they would ask local newspapers and radio stations to help develop a better informed local citizenry.

"I met a man the other day who, at ninety, has a spring in his walk and a song in his heart. I asked him how he did it. His answer was short and simple, 'God walks with me every day.' That is the formula for wonderful, thrilling, exciting living."

Make this coming year one in which you plan to get more out of life, more of everything. The Bible says, "I am come that they might have life, and they might have it more abundantly." All of us want to live and get all we can out of life. There is a laboratory of life in which we can learn how to do this. You will find it in your church, in your place of worship. There the atmosphere is vibrant with the power of faith; let it make its way into your life.

With that faith strong within your heart you will have found your formula for exciting living.

Nazarene Churches Plan United Watch

The three Nazarene Churches in the city, First, Parkdale and Zion, will hold a union Watch Night service New Year's Eve.

The Rev. W. E. Varian, pastor at Zion church will preach the sermon, and the service is being held at Parkdale Church of the Nazarene on West Parkdale.

The service will start at 9:30 p. m. and close with a Communion service.

Bible School Students to Conduct Services

Young people home from Bible schools and colleges will conduct the service Thursday evening at Christian and Missionary Alliance Church on Green St.

A varied program will be presented ending with a New Year's message by the pastor, the Rev. G. J. Bersche. The hour is from 9 p. m. to midnight.

Plan Prayer Service

A prayer service is being planned at New Hope Baptist Church for Thursday evening. It will be held at 10:30 and will continue until midnight. The Rev. Ford B. Reed, pastor, will preach.

Confident Living How to Find Excitement Without Horns or Confetti

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

"There'll be a hot time in the old town next Thursday night," I heard a passerby say. I expect there'll be a big time in most towns, because it will be New Year's Eve and many people throughout the world will be turning to noise, to confetti and to the artificial stimulation of alcohol to find excitement for that one night.

There is a way of life, however, that needs no horns, no confetti, no liquor, to provide excitement all year round. An old friend of mine who died in the year that is passing always impressed me by the excitement and delight he seemed to find in living. Even in his late seventies, everything seemed to thrill him. And I remember well the last time I saw this man, Senator Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire.

His excitement with life was so apparent that I asked him, "Senator, how is it that you're always so excited about everything?"

"Well," he said, "I think it is because the Lord has given me a perennial interest in people and things and events. Why, I can hardly wait to get up in the morning to see what is going on."

He went on then to talk about his education. He had never gone to college, but as a lad once heard a great speaker say: "Boys, I will tell you how to get an education without ever going to college. Every day have a conversation with someone who knows more than you do."

I interrupted him to ask, "Are you having that conversation now?"

"Oh, no, I had that conversation much earlier today," he said with a twinkle in his eye.

Senator Tobey, throughout his long and valuable life, was vital and alive. He had a sense of humor; he developed a keen appreciation and interest in a variety of activities; he was filled with zest; he was able to find romance in almost everything. Life was exciting because he was filled with a God-given inner joy and appreciation.

You can find this excitement for yourself. It will rise in your heart and in your mind when pressures are thrown off, when burdens are lightly carried. You will have an astonishing sense of thrill as you serve God and people. You can acquire a habit of dynamic serenity which will give you peace in the heart, vigor in the mind and power in the entire personality. It makes no difference how far along in life you are.

I met a man the other day who, at ninety, has a spring in his walk and a song in his heart. I asked him how he did it. His answer was short and simple, "God walks with me every day." That is the formula for wonderful, thrilling, exciting living.

Make this coming year one in which you plan to get more out of life, more of everything. The Bible says, "I am come that they might have life, and they might have it more abundantly." All of us want to live and get all we can out of life. There is a laboratory of life in which we can learn how to do this. You will find it in your church, in your place of worship. There the atmosphere is vibrant with the power of faith; let it make its way into your life.

With that faith strong within your heart you will have found your formula for exciting living.

ANCIENT STORY — The miracle of the palm tree is one of the beautiful stories that men tell of the Holy Family. Derived from an ancient source, the tale tells that the palm tree bent down to shelter and feed the Holy Family on the flight to Egypt. The tree, often linked to the tree of knowledge in the Garden of Eden and to the Cross, is the center of many paintings.

Social Reforms Seen as Answer to Communism

The answer to communism in lands "most keenly facing the Communist threat" is not "the negative approach of McCarthyism," but is rather "the positive approach of trying to produce such social conditions as will make it impossible for communism to exist," a church leader recently returned from a five-month trip to Europe and Asia declared last week.

Dr. Charles T. Leber, general secretary of the Presbyterian, U. S. A., Board of Foreign Missions, asserted that "only in this way can we actively win the minds of world youth from communism to the Christian way of life." He addressed 300 delegates at an annual assembly of the National Council of Churches' Division of Foreign Missions.

Travancore, India, maintained that Asia is in the midst of total social revolution and peoples of the West can only hold the appeal of communism in check during this ferment by recognizing the social aims of the revolution and guiding Asians towards their achievement.

The Indian youth leader pleaded for greater understanding among missionaries that "some sort of social democratic revolution is necessary in order to solve the problems inherent in the country's outworn feudal society."

The assembly was held Dec. 8 to 12, in Buck Hill Falls, Pa.

More Support Urged for Foreign Churches

American missionary giving today must be directed less to supporting missionaries who are "helping the poor heathen" and more to aiding young churches overseas carry out their own church programs, a U. S. missionary of Indonesia declared last week.

Dr. Winburn Thomas told 300 delegates at an annual assembly of the National Council of Churches' Division of Foreign Missions that "the Japanese occupation and the closing of China under Communist rule prove that the missionary may leave, but the Church will remain."

He urged cooperative aid to younger churches rather than just support for missionaries because "the dramatic fact of the missionary movement today is the existence of these young churches in other countries."

Dr. Thomas is field representative in Indonesia for American mission boards cooperating in Indonesia through the Far Eastern joint office of the National Council of Churches' Division of foreign missions. The assembly was held Dec. 8 to 12, in Buck Hill Falls, Pa.

Young Baptists Plan Watch Night Rite Thursday

Young people of First Baptist Church are planning a Watch Night service in the lower auditorium of the church. Starting at 9 p.m. Thurs. evening, refreshments will be served at 10.

The service will close with a Communion at midnight.

Plan Jan. 1 Communion

Episcopal churches will mark the beginning of the New Year with a Watchnight service at 11:45 p.m. in St. Dunstan's Chapel, Christ Church Cranbrook and a New Year's day service at All Saints Episcopal Church at 10 a.m.

This will be a Communion service.

Adventists Will Meet for 3-Day Workshop

How to give practical guidance to families desiring to move from congested city areas and re-establish their homes in country places is a major question to be considered by Seventh Day Adventist Church leaders in a three-day agricultural and rural living workshop opening at Berrien Springs, Dec. 29.

Held on the campus of the Emmanuel Missionary College because of its successful agricultural program, the institute will bring together from several states experienced farmers, dairymen, fruit growers, gardeners and poultrymen.

Meeting with them will be representatives of Adventist colleges where agriculture is taught, officers from Adventist church headquarters in the four Lake States, and representatives of the denomination's General Conference office in Washington, D. C.

Architects, Clergy to Discuss Buildings

In the midst of the biggest church building boom in the nation's history, some 200 architects and clergy engaged in church building programs will meet next month to discuss how to build better churches in America.

At the national conference delegates will view an extensive exhibit of church exteriors and interiors, floor plans, seating arrangements, stained glass, eminent architects discuss the practice of church architecture.

Nationally known architects participating in the convention will include Dr. Arland A. Dirham, Boston; Robert L. Durham, Seattle; and A. Hensel Fink, Philadelphia. Among those presenting the point of view of clergy in the church building field will be Dr. Harry Atkinson, director of the National Council of Churches' Bureau of Church Building and Architecture.

THE SHINING STAR

The stars are shining all the time. You do not see them in the daytime because the atmosphere surrounding the earth breaks up and scatters the sunlight into a blanket of brightness the eye cannot pierce. But at night, when there is no diffused sunlight in the atmosphere, you can look straight out to the stars.

This has a frequent parallel in human existence. At times we live in an atmosphere of scattered sunlight: things are going well, our health is good, our money worries aren't too pressing, our home is a congenial place; and as a result we never see beyond our day-by-day existence.

Then something happens. The sunlight is taken away, and we are left in darkness. But as the darkness deepens we see stars shining we hardly knew existed—the loyalty and helpfulness of friends, the power of human beings to begin all over again, the abiding comfort that comes from God are all discovered in these moments of darkness. Often people had to wait until they encountered tragedy before they discovered how wonderful life can be.

So, when you are fearful about the future, or when you believe things are going from bad to worse, remember it's only when it gets dark enough that you can see the stars. And the wise-men of old found the Christ by following a star through the darkness night.

Student Recognition Service Scheduled

Student Recognition Day will be observed at Oakland Park Methodist Church Sunday at 10 a. m. Mary Chase, Michigan State College, will speak on "Putting Faith Into Practice," and Ronald Leighton, a General Motors Institute student, will use "Putting Religion Into Life" as his subject.

Other students participating will be George Macduff, Marion and Jean Behnke and Janice Rivard, who will conduct the service.

A youth quartet will sing and there will be a reception of members.

Esther N. Doherty Becomes Bride of John P. McInnis

Our Lady of Refuge Church in Orchard Lake was decorated with Christmas poinsettias this morning when Esther N. Doherty exchanged nuptial vows with John P. McInnis.

The bride is the daughter of Albert T. Doherty of Walnut Lake road, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mary Roy of Timmins, Ont.

The Rev. Giles E. Bartol performed the service at 10 o'clock.

A gown of Chantilly lace over satin was worn by the bride, and she carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and holly leaves.

Peggy Doherty attended her sister as maid of honor in a gown of dark green velvet and taffeta. She carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. In similar attire was Mary Gail Gallivan as bridesmaid.

John Doherty was best man and Joseph F. Stack seated the guests.

Margaret Doherty wore navy lace over taffeta with a corsage of yellow teasies for her niece's wedding. A reception was held at the home of the bride's father after the ceremony.

Later the new Mrs. McInnis changed to a navy wool dress with a white rose corsage for the wedding trip to northern Ontario. They will reside at Hagersville, Ont., where John is stationed with the Royal Canadian Army.

The bride is a graduate of Marygrove College and the bridegroom attended school in Timmins.

Wever School Presents Story of Jesus' Birth

Wever Junior High School presented the story of the Nativity Wednesday afternoon before pupils and parents.

The candlelit gym was transformed into a chapel for the event, and Charles Murphy sang "O Holy Night" accompanied by Melvin Staebler on the organ.

Tom Holsington was narrator for the story of the Nativity as seen through the eyes of Joseph. Ben Ahney manned the projector to show pictures related to the story, and the Glee Club, directed by William Coffing, carried on the theme in song.

Soloists were Shelby Murphy, Harold Anderson, Pat Levicki, Nicki Trietsch and Barbara Lake.

Cleanliness Is First in Store Requisites

Cleanliness is a lot more important than money to America's homemakers when it comes to choosing a grocery store. In a nationwide consumer survey, cleanliness rates as the number one food store drawing card, while price is way down in sixth place.

When a grocer has a clean store, he's smart to keep it that way, too. Bad housekeeping ranks second only to bad manners as reasons why customers quit trading at a particular store.

Linens in the Headboard Bed Doubles as Library

CHICAGO (INS)—Once upon a time, a bed was just that and nothing more. But in 1954 your bed can serve as a library, a linen closet or as a lounge where you can recline lazily listening to your favorite radio program before sleeping.

New wide headboards feature shelves to hold your favorite books, clock and radio. Some offer storage space for extra blankets or sheets.

For added comfort, many headboards unveiled at the 38th annual convention of the National Association of Bedding Manufacturers in Chicago featured adjustable back rests, sliding doors to hide stored items and built-in reading lights.

Naturally, the more features built into the headboard, the more expensive it will be. But a very serviceable and handy unpainted bookcase headboard for a double Conventional bed frames at the 1954 "sleep" preview went colorful. They were offered in emerald green, flame, citron, sky blue or charcoal.

Homemakers also will be able to find more dual purpose sleeping equipment next year.

The dual purpose pieces were featured at the convention in scaled-down models to fit in the smaller rooms of today.

Paris Show Puts Gadgets in Spotlight

Inventions Include Periscope to Spot Unwelcome Callers

PARIS (INS)—Eight hundred "better living" inventions on show in Paris prove that the French are just as gadget-happy as anybody else.

New items ranging from blotting paper diapers to lettuce-washers were put on display.

The diapers—invented by a proud French papa—are really made of blotting paper. They also come de-odorized and disinfected.

The lettuce-washer is a gadget shaped like a miniature umbrella. A lady splashes her lettuce around in that without splashing anything else, since the "umbrella" has a plastic cover to collect the water.

The simplest "invention" shown just turned the wheel of science backward. The "inventor" believes you don't need electricity to have a plate-warmer. His idea is to use a plain brick heated over a flame to keep food warm.

The brick "hotplate" is framed in metal and insulated to keep the tablecloth from smoldering, and any serving plate can be put on top of it.

The most complicated gadget displayed was also for family use. It's a little "crane" connected to the top of a sugar-bowl. When the top of the bowl is lifted, the crane automatically hoists a spoonful of sugar for release into a waiting cup.

For comfort in the home, the show offered an automatic electric device to close or open window drapes simply by pushing a button from your bed, desk or table.

Another home device was a "periscope" system so that housewives could see the outside of their door and duck unwelcome visitors.

For working girls, the most novel gadget was a smartly shaped purse which transforms into a market bag in a jiffy. The bag is nylon, and when converted, will hold 20 pounds of goods, including bottles. The purse itself keeps its shape and its inside pocket contents intact even when transformed.

Furniture Fabrics Are Bold for Spring

NEW YORK (INS)—Spring fabrics will have brilliant colors and bolder patterns, according to fabric designer Boris Kroll.

These trends for new upholstery fabrics, Kroll said, result from two trends in furniture design. He pointed out that the swing in furniture design is from severe simplicity to soft-sculptured Oriental lines. In addition, Kroll said, the growing emphasis on mixing old and new furniture ideas will result in a greater color range in fabric, and the Oriental influence will increase the use of metallic yarn.

Christmas night, Verne Hampton Jr. of Cherokee road boarded a train for Chicago to meet six of his Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity brothers from Michigan State College. From there they will continue on to California and the Rose Bowl game.

Carol Ahnen's Attendants Wear Christmas Colors

MRS. GLENN R. SCHARF JR.

This morning in St. Michael Church, Carol Ann Ahnen became the bride of Glenn R. Scharf.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Ahnen of East Princeton avenue, and the senior Glenn R. Scharf of Pontiac Lake road are the bridegroom's parents.

Two hundred and fifty guests attended the 11 o'clock ceremony performed by the Rev. Michael J. O'Reilly.

For the occasion the bride was gowned in Chantilly-type lace over slipper satin fashioned with long sleeves coming to points over the wrists. The V-neckline was outlined with a collar of lace. She wore a cap of lace and satin trimmed with seed pearls, which held her fingertip veil of tulle.

Her chapel bouquet of white roses and pompons was fashioned on a white prayerbook.

Barbara Tunney wore a ballerina-length gown of red shantung for her duties as honor attendant. Her flowers were white pompons with green ivy.

In similar gowns of green shantung were bridesmaids Shirley Raynard, Dawn Chancy and Patti Metzdorf. Their bouquets were of white pompons accented with red holly berries.

Sandra Lee Stiles wore white nylon tulle with a red sash for her duties as flower girl. She carried a basket of white pompons with holly berries and ivy.

Bill Ahnen, brother of the bride, was best man, and seating the guests were Ted Jackson, David Tucker and Bruce Thompson of Mount Brydges, Ont.

Receiving guests this evening in Knights of Pythias Hall, the bride's mother will wear a slate blue taffeta dress with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Sea blue shantung taffeta with black and winter white accessories and a corsage of red roses was chosen by Mrs. Scharf.

The bride will wear a beige wool dress with dark brown accessories for the wedding trip to Niagara Falls. They will reside in Biloxi, Miss., where the bridegroom is stationed with the Air Force.

Sylvan Lake Party Fetes Newlyweds

Margaret Dearing, Thomas Morse Wed Dec. 18 in Tucson

An open house to be held this evening at the home of the Harold Dearing of Pontiac drive, Sylvan Lake, will honor their daughter, Margaret of Tucson, Ariz., who was married Dec. 18 to Thomas T. Morse.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Morse of Shaker Heights, O. Attendants for the evening ceremony performed in the Marana Air Base Chapel in Tucson were Shirley Gribble of Royal Oak and Alan Mulholland of Lakewood, O.

Margaret is a graduate of Albion College where she was a member of Kappa Delta sorority. Tom attended Wabash College in Indiana and was affiliated with Sigma Chi fraternity.

The newlyweds will leave Sunday for a trip to Cleveland before returning to Tucson.

Accessories Look Pearly for Springtime

NEW YORK (INS)—If you want to be smart next spring—look pearly, girlie.

This corn-fed advice comes from the accessories designers of America who are going berserk for the "pearlized" treatment in handbags, belts, collars and cuffs and so on.

By "pearlized," we mean they are given a glossy luminous finish which is flattering—just as pearls themselves are—to the colorings of nearly all women.

Everything from straw through plastics through genuine leather, it seems, can be processed to resemble pearl. So there will be pearlized straw handbags, plastic pearl collar and cuff sets, and pearlized leather belts.

One particular belt is virtually saturated with this treatment: The leather itself is pearlized calf, and around its circumference are insets of mother-of-pearl.

Face Mask Kit Easy To Put on

For relieving tension, banishing that tired feeling and generally toning the facial muscles, a mask is excellent.

In stimulating the circulation, a mask gives the face a fresh glow. It also has a tendency to mold the contours, temporarily tightening the flesh.

Consequently the mature woman finds it a good preparation for partying after a hectic day.

But some women are repelled by the messiness of application. Good news for these ladies is the introduction of a mask and applicator set.

Said to dry quickly and to wash off easily in tepid water, this pleasantly scented mask goes on with a brush applicator and takes effect in less than 20 minutes. However, it is safe to leave it on as long as one wishes.

It would be wise to rest in the beauty position, with feet higher than head, while the mask does its work.

Prevent Fatigue

Your housework will be less tiring if you plan it well. Spread the work over several days; take many rest periods during the day; sit at work whenever possible and install kitchen equipment that requires little upkeep.

Marguerite J. O'Brien Repeats Vows

BIRMINGHAM — At noon today

Marguerite Jean O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. O'Brien of Bell Vine trail, was married in Duns Scotus College Chapel to Dr. Donald George Ewald, who is the son of Mrs. Louis J. Ewald of Chicago.

White brocade fashioned the wedding gown and a finger tip veil was caught under an illusion cap. Her bouquet was of lilies-of-the-valley centered with a white orchid.

Honor attendants Mrs. Charles R. Reid of Detroit, sister of the bride, and Louise Ewald of Chicago, sister of the bridegroom, wore claret velvet frocks and carried muffs of white carnations.

William Barlock of Chicago was best man and Dr. Eugene Kinder, also from Chicago, ushered. Mrs. O'Brien wore burgundy taffeta and the bridegroom's mother wore French blue taffeta.

A reception was given at Rotunda Inn. After an Hawaiian honeymoon, the couple will live in Chicago.

MRS. DONALD GEORGE EWALD

Married this afternoon in Duns Scotus College Chapel were Marguerite J. O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. O'Brien of Birmingham, and Dr. Donald G. Ewald.

He is the son of Mrs. Louis J. Ewald of Chicago.

Lacy Cape at Shoulders, Waist Adds Festive Note to Dress

Girls Told Not to Be Too Fussy

Most Can't Afford Over-Choosiness About Dates

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

There are two schools of thought about going out with the boys. Some girls will only date the boys they like. They'd rather stay home alone than waste an evening in the company of somebody they don't go for in a big way.

Other girls will go out with any nice boy who comes along and asks them. Their hearts don't have to be in it—going out is fun.

Being too too selective is an extravagant luxury. It might work out OK for a girl who is with boys all the time—a girl who is very popular, with dozens of boys clamoring for her dating time. She can afford to pick and choose—with her eye out for the dates that would be the most fun.

But a girl who doesn't know many boys can't afford to be that choosy. If she goes to a girls' school and has no brothers, she's not likely to know many boys well before they ask for a date.

The boys she meets will be blind dates—somebody will be introducing her to complete strangers. If she wants to date at all, she'll have to forgo the luxury of going out with boys she likes. How's she going to know that much about a boy she's just met?

For such a girl there's no pre-arranged date. Somebody arranges a partner for her and she's on her way for the evening with a boy she's never seen before. She may have heard a little about him—enough to make the opening conversation not too awkward. But the date is for getting acquainted.

And one date isn't enough to judge. Some boys, like some girls, take knowing. They're not easy and natural when they first meet a girl. They can put on an act with the other boys that can mislead a girl completely. The mood of the evening's entertainment can color their behavior out of all relation to normal.

But then, a girl too is more relaxed and comfortable with a boy she has seen before. If she's had several chances to size him up and figure him out, her own attitude is more friendly and interested.

It seems only obvious that by accepting that first date, a girl is giving herself a chance to get to know the boy. Of course, it won't work out that way if she pre-judges him—if she makes up her mind ahead of time that she isn't going to like him—if she closes her mind to the fact that it will take several dates before she has enough information to go on.

First, second and third impressions can be misleading. So it seems only fair to start the chapter on the premise that he's right until he's been proved wrong.

Since any date is half doing something agreeable and half doing it with someone who is agreeable—a smart girl who finds dates hard to come by will settle for less than 100 per cent. That's wishing for the moon!

"Dear Miss Woodward: The boy I like goes to a very strict school, and his mother is strict too and will allow him out hardly at all during the school season. So he told me not to expect to see him until next summer!"

"What would happen if I went out with other boys while he's at home studying? I like him very much, and I don't want his friends to get the wrong idea and tell him I don't like him just because I went out with somebody else!"

Putting you off until next summer was this boy's way of telling you that you could do exactly as you please this year. He explained that his schoolwork would keep him from having any time for you—or any other girl.

Do you want to skip this year out of your life? Do you want to miss out on all the parties and stay home completely dateless because he has work to do that doesn't include you? I doubt if he'd want that.

But you can easily find out. You're right in the midst of holidays—vacation from studying. Even his mother will be relaxing her strictness.

So get in touch with him if he doesn't get in touch with you. Invite him over to the house. Then face to face you can put your cards on the table. You can find out from him what he'd think if you went out occasionally with other boys. You can assure him it would be all just in fun.

Why wait until next summer's vacation when you can understand each other during this one?

Just the thing for the remaining holiday of fashion provides a dress-up touch for parties. Toss a cape like this over the shoulders or tie it around the waist. This lacy bit festive occasions at any time.

Books Prate About Love for Children; Real Problem Is Learning Self-Love

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

One day after Bobby had embarrassed his mother by having a tantrum in the ice cream parlor, she bought several books on child training.

They talked about "loving" children. Interminably, they talked about it. "Love—love—love," chanted the child-training books, in the most insistent and solemn way.

But what this love was which they urged on Bobby's mother, they did not say. Apparently, their optimistic authors assumed that she knew what it was. As it is the most difficult and rare human achievement, she did not.

For at 22, Bobby's mother had been denied any experience in even loving herself. Immoral demands that she love others before she knew how to love herself properly had skipped her over an essential state in spiritual growth.

So she thought that love was what she felt for her parents when they said nice things about Bobby's father.

She thought it was what she felt when Bobby's father called her "Sweetiepie" in public.

But these feelings were not love. They were dependence on approval and pride, so the child-training books couldn't help her. She just didn't know what they were talking about.

Nor did Bobby want any part of her dependence on approval. He knew there was something bad about the way she pretended she didn't mind his kicking her, lest she lose his approval. It scared him so, he kicked her harder.

Bobby's mother's idea that love is pride in someone else's affection is what has really made trouble. For Bobby knows how vulnerable this pride makes his mother to public embarrassment.

He is aware that to get what he wants, all he has to do is to attack her in stores or ice cream parlors. Her pride in others' affection makes such attack intolerable.

So it would be realistic if the child-training books would stop talking about love for Bobby as though it were a can of pureed carrots to be opened whenever he needs some.

It's just a waste of everybody's time. Because if Bobby's mother loved herself, she'd know as much about loving him as any writer of a child-training book.

And instead of reading them, she'd be having fun with him.

No, the problem is never love for Bobby. Never. Always it's the old induced fear of loving ourselves. Always it's getting rid of its clutter.

Because until I know how desperately I need my own tenderness when I'm angry, I cannot possibly understand my angry child's need for it. Nor give true reassurance in the midst of his tantrum until I've learned how I need my own reassurance when I am frightened.

Nor until I know how hard it is to love myself can I appreciate Bobby's struggle with hate of himself in the ice cream parlor.

Put Your Mail on the Map

How would you like to have a new map for your room and learn to know just where your friends and your family's friends live?

This is a good time to make some free time during Christmas vacation. You will need a large section of wrapping paper. Perhaps you can get this from one of your local stores.

Get out all of the family Christmas cards and see where they have come from. The idea is to put a paper star sticker at each place from which a card was sent to you. You will have several cards from the city where you live, but just put one star there.

It will be fun to see what card came from the greatest distance. You can also use your map to check letters which come to your house throughout the year. What letter or card will come from the greatest distance?

Perhaps you know someone who is in the Army and you can write to them, then you will get a letter from far away. If the letter comes from Europe or from the Far East, set your star at the port where it was received and make an arrow pointed out from it. This will be fun and help you learn more about your country too.

Housewife Can Run Resale Registry, Clearing Place for Second-Hand Items

By ANNE HEYWOOD

A very kind woman in Michigan, whose initials are S. H., has given me a good idea for a project which the woman at home might think about. She has called it a Resale Registry.

It would work like this:

People with objects which they wanted to sell would pay a small fee for listing them in the file of the Resale Registry. Instead of having to take them in person to a secondhand shop.

Then those who wanted to buy things secondhand could just telephone the Resale Registry to see if anyone had listed an article such as they wanted. The overhead required would be nil—just a card index file and telephone bills.

As the registry became well known, all kinds of articles would have a clearing house, and the owner or proprietor could charge in addition to the fee for listing, a small percentage on sale.

"The registry," S. H. points out, "would serve as a clearing house for phone calls seeking specific items. There could also be an articles-wanted file. This service would be very valuable for collectors of hard-to-find items."

My thanks to S. H. for a very useful idea, which perhaps some young mother, who has to work at home, might put into practice.

Come to think of it, now would be a good time to start—think of all the Christmas presents people might want to get rid of!

Here's another unusual idea I picked up at a Christmas party.

Mrs. J. L. is the mother of four, and Christmas is always a hectic time.

"Every year," she said, "the Reputation Should Be Key Factor

Sisters Ask About Entertaining BeauX When Alone

By EMILY POST

Today's first letter explains: "We are two sisters, 23 and 24 years old, living together in a small apartment."

"This is our problem: When one is out, would it be proper for the other sister to have her boy friend come in and spend the evening watching television? Your opinion would be appreciated."

Answer: This is one of those questions of propriety which depends upon the excellence of the reputations you have built up. If you and he both are well thought of, and he does not stay until an over-late hour, it would be quite all right.

Dear Mrs. Post: My son is going to be married soon at a morning wedding. I am going to wear a light blue lace ankle-length dress.

I have some very pretty rhinestone jewelry which I had planned on wearing with it. But I have been told that this type of jewelry is not properly worn in the morning. Will you please advise me?

Answer: It is true that rhinestone jewelry is more suitable in the evening than in the daytime. But a reasonable amount of it at a wedding, if especially becoming to your dress, would be quite all right.

house gets into a terrible mess. We have a sofa and two armchairs, which are beautifully upholstered. Well, after the Christmas festivities, they always had to be expensively cleaned, or even re-covered.

"Sticky candy cane, or Christmas cookies and punch would be spilled all over them. I hated to fuss at the children all week, so this year, look what I did!"

She showed me her living room, and the upholstered pieces were slipcovered in dark green terycloth with silver Christmas bells on the fringe.

They were festive and beautiful, yet they could be removed and washed. They absorbed any spilled drinks or gooey candies, thus protecting the upholstery underneath.

And they gave her peace of mind, and the kids had more fun. I'll be willing to bet that she gets lots of orders from her friends, and finds herself making pin money from her Christmas slipcovers.

Short Overcoat Heralded as the Design for Spring

Not just a topper, but a short overcoat. This is the dictum for spring.

Philip Mangone, known for many years for his smart and distinguished designs in coats and suits, feels this latest model has all the good points the short overcoat should have.

It is as uncomplicated to make as it looks, the detail of the collar and the low-slung pocket adding the spark and new value.

Adaptable to any coating-weight wool, Mangone likes it best in a rough, crusty tweed.

Size Medium requires 3 yards of 54-inch material for coat, 2½ yards of 39-inch material for lining, and 1½ yards of 27-inch material for interfacing.

Frank Nixon Better but Still 'Critical'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Frank A. Nixon, father of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, continued to show improvement here today at St. Joseph's Hospital, but he wasn't quite able to go through with a scheduled family Christmas dinner in the hospital yesterday.

The 75-year-old senior Nixon was stricken with a gastric hemorrhage attack late Tuesday night while en route by plane from Birmingham, Ala., to Los Angeles. He was taken off the plane here and rushed to the hospital.

Vice President Nixon spent his Christmas in Washington with the Nixon youngsters entertaining at a Yuletide party. Both of the Nixon's children are girls.

The senior Nixon's other two sons, Edward and Donald, arrived in Phoenix Thursday, driving the family car from Birmingham after their parents boarded a plane when physicians advised the senior Nixon to fly to California.

Nixon's condition still is regarded as critical.

First hydro-electric station in the U. S. was built in Appleton, Wisconsin in 1882.

Bridge for Two Has More Rules

This Way of Playing Is Memory Test With Its Own Tricks

By OSWALD JACOBY

Recently we described the bidding and play in one of the more popular forms of honeymoon bridge. Today we take up a different method of playing the game. Deal 13 cards face down, one at a time, to your opponent and 13 cards to yourself. Put the remaining 26 cards of the deck face down as a stock pile (as in rummy) in the middle of the table.

Since you are the dealer, your opponent leads first. He leads any card from his hand.

You must follow suit, if you can, but you needn't play higher than the card led when you have a choice. If you can't follow suit, you may discard any card from your hand.

The winner of the trick draws the top card of the stock pile to replenish his hand. The loser of the trick draws the next card of the stock pile.

The winner of the trick leads to the next trick, and this process continues until all 26 cards of the stock pile are gone.

These first 13 tricks are then put aside and disregarded. They don't count in the final score. It is only after the play of those first tricks that you and your opponent do the real bidding and playing.

If you have a good memory you should be able to remember exactly what was played on those first 13 tricks.

Then, by looking at your own hand, you should be able to name your opponent's 13 cards. Hence the bidding and play of the final 13 tricks should be "double dummy" as though each player could see his opponent's hand.

If your memory isn't quite up to this standard, try to remember how many times each suit is played in the final 13 tricks.

That will tell you how many cards your opponent has in each suit even if you can't name the exact cards.

You'll probably remember most of the important cards that were played during the early stages, and you'll therefore get most of the value out of your hand.

Depending on how good your memory is, and how good your opponent's is, you should be able to say very accurately how many tricks you can make during the play of the final 13 tricks. Bid and score as in normal contract bridge.

Although the first 13 tricks don't count, they are important in the building up of your own hand and the destruction of your enemy's.

Try to lead as often as possible, particularly a suit in which you have two or three worthless cards. Perhaps your opponent will have to play high cards in that suit, which he would otherwise have left at the end.

Ermine Bathing Suit Packed Up

Actress Terry Moore Will Continue Korean Tour Without It

U. S. 45th DIVISION, Korea (AP)—Actress Terry Moore said today she has packed away a controversial ermine bathing suit "that makes me look like a little Santa Claus" and will continue her 10-day Korean tour for the USO.

The robust young blonde said she had been ordered home by George Murphy, chairman of the Hollywood Committee for the USO, after four shows in the suit. But she added that now "everything is straightened out."

The last 20 hours have been "awful," said Miss Moore, who sings and plays straight girl to disc jockey Johnny Grant in the USO troupe. Until today she wore the ermine suit.

Grant—Miss Moore called him the "commanding officer" of the troupe—said Murphy ordered the actress home because she wore the ermine against Murphy's instructions.

In Los Angeles, Murphy said: "It is unfortunate that with so many entertainers making such a fine contribution that one of them should use such a tour as a means of personal publicity. If this is true, it is a great exhibition of bad taste."

Before she left I made it clear to Miss Moore that she was not to take that bathing suit with her. On three separate occasions she assured me it was not in her luggage."

Both Grant and Miss Moore indignantly denied that the hubbub was a publicity stunt.

But the suit is off—for sure. "It's caused so much trouble I don't ever want to wear it again," said Miss Moore. "It's not a Bikini at all. It's really very conservative. It makes me look like a little Santa Claus."

Tuberculosis causes more deaths than any other disease among people between 15 and 25, but it strikes and can kill people of any age.

EUROPEAN HARMONY—Age-old European feuds seem to end as Hedi Krueger receives the best wishes of Nicole Drouin, left, "Miss France," and Alexandra Ladikau, right, "Miss Greece," after winning the "Miss Germany" title in Hamburg. A special election was held by the International Miss Europe Beauty Committee because they had neglected to choose a "Miss Germany."

Two Drive 1914 Model-T From Argentina to U.S.

SAN ANTONIO (UP)—A 72-year-old Argentine man and his son were put-putting through South Texas in their 1914 Model-T Ford today after driving the ancient vehicle from their native land.

Jose Fernandez, hale and hearty despite his age, and Ramon Fernandez, his 29-year-old son, traveled 19,907 miles in 30 months before arriving in the United States.

"I am most happy that we reached the United States," Jose said when the ancient car crossed the border at Laredo, Tex. "Actually, I never thought it would get as far as Panama."

The two men gave up their business in Patagonia, Argentina, to make the trip. They wanted to see America, they said.

Their plans include a visit to Detroit, where they hope to go through the Ford plant and pay tribute to the man who manufactured their old car, then to Washington to pay homage to George Washington, whom they said they admired as a great American liberator.

Friday, when they left Laredo and headed northward toward the heart of the United States, was their third Christmas on the road. The first was spent in Quito, Ecuador, and the second in Panama.

The car has been in the Fernandez family since it was new. The elder man's late wife purchased it in Buenos Aires.

Named "Perlita," the little model T chugs along faithfully on its original motor. It has no self-starter and the men who designed it probably never heard of such things as power steering and hydraulic brakes. Only one of the lights is wired. The other is an oil burner.

The two men do most of their traveling in daylight to avoid trouble. Both freely admit their car probably would not pass a Texas inspection for safe night driving.

The Ford had to be placed aboard a boat to make the trip from the mainland of South America to Panama. The car also traveled by train from Puerto Armuelles, Panama, to Golfito, Costa Rica, and from Tapachula, Mexico, to Arriaga, Mexico.

The three brothers made the theatrical world their life, even as young men in Syracuse, N.Y.

When they invaded the Broadway scene they were confronted by the all-powerful Klaw and Erlanger booking agency, known as "The Combination."

Throwing their energy and astuteness into a fight for survival, the Shubert brothers eventually smashed the combine and themselves became the top theatrical power in the business.

The Shubert brothers added to the theatrical lustre of Broadway by building many of their own theaters. Shortly before World War II the two surviving Shuberts, Lee and J. J., leased or managed half of more than 40 legitimate theaters on the "Great White Way." They also controlled 15 show-places in other cities.

Lee was president of the theatrical organization, with J. J. acting as general manager. In his later years, Lee left to J. J. the business of producing shows, and concentrated on the financial aspects of the organization.

Lee is survived by his wife, the former Marcella Swanson, whom he married a few years ago. It was his only marriage.

Funeral services will be held Monday (2 p.m., EST) in Temple Emanuel. Place of interment was not immediately announced.

Detroit Man Held in Murder Probe

DETROIT (UP)—Held today for investigation of murder was James Proffit, 30, Detroit, who police said was "too drunk to tell a coherent story" in the fatal shooting of an unidentified man.

The gunshot victim, about 60, died Friday night enroute to a hospital from Proffit's room, where Arthur Benner, caretaker of his rooming house, said he heard arguing and a loud noise.

Benner told police the two men had been drinking and that after the loud noise Proffit came to his room with a pistol and asked him to throw it away.

Detroit Shooting Follows Christmas Day Quarrel

DETROIT (UP)—Police today held Herbert Smith, 26, for the Christmas Day shotgun shooting of John Neely, 33, following an argument over a $10 debt.

Smith, according to police, drove up to a street corner and blasted at Neely who was standing there waiting to cross. Neely was in critical condition at Receiving Hospital.

Uruguay Invites Winter Tourists

Government Is Offering Plush Resort Life at 25 Pct. Discount

MONTEVIDEO—Uruguay is inviting tourists this winter to sample fashionable resort life at a 25 per cent discount. Visitors to Punta del Este, the plush Uruguayan Riviera, can enjoy everything from surf bathing to smart casino night-life at one quarter less than previous rates.

Sunny days come naturally down here where the seasons are reversed and the thermometer averages 72 degrees December through April.

The government-sponsored discount is intended to attract North Americans to this long-famous South American playground. The Uruguayan government is studying a plan to reimburse tourists up to 20 per cent on round-trip fares to Uruguay.

Nothing proves better how serious this little republic is about tourism, and how far it will go to extend hospitality.

Beside the enticing discount, Punta del Este has attractions galore. In the season between Christmas and Easter are international horse and auto races, film and music festivals, rodeos, competitions in golf, tennis and yachting and a whole string of fiestas.

Guest cards are given to visitors who want to see the spectacular sports or use facilities at the resort's excellent Cantegril Country Club or Yacht Club.

Built on a peninsula on the eastern coast, Punta del Este offers surf bathing on the South Atlantic and placid swimming on the River Plate. Only a decade ago when Punta del Este was a tiny fishing village, wealthy South Americans in search of a quaint, "away-from-it-all" resort began to settle here.

Today, its parade of candy-striped cabanas, de luxe hotels and refined pleasures have turned this once peaceful little cove into one of the most glamorous resorts on the far side of Capricorn.

Easy accessibility, no doubt, accounts for part of the success story, for Punta del Este is only 90 miles from Montevideo, 90 minutes from Buenos Aires and one day from New York via Clipper.

Fashionable as it sounds, prices are still low. An average room, bath and three full meals a day run $8 a person with 10 per cent service included.

The best meal on the coast at the Country Club goes for $1.50 with wine included. Transportation along the beach is usually via two-wheeled pony carts at 50 cents an hour. Round-trip train fare from Montevideo is under $10 first class.

A passport and vaccination certificate are the only requirements for entry.

A central information number, 213, which can be dialed in Montevideo, informs visitors in English about everything from plane schedules to weather condition.

The Uruguayan peso is worth about 33 cents. The Uruguayan National Tourist Office at 394 Sarandí in Montevideo offers all kinds of assistance free.

Soviet Ambassador Sends Best Wishes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Christmas greetings from the Soviet ambassador to the American people have been extended through a national radio program.

David Wills, an NBC news commentator, said in his broadcast yesterday Ambassador Georgi Zaroubin had asked him to "convey to the American people his Christmas greeting and his best wishes for the New Year."

Wills said the ambassador has been asked about the significance of good wishes to the people of the United States. He said Zaroubin declined to comment, saying he had not heard the Moscow broadcast, but asked that his own greeting be passed along.

CHICAGO (AP)—A college girl who fell in love with her professor while studying for her master's degree will marry him today.

"I fell in love with the professor during his course in educational research," said Miss Eleanor Sullivan, 32. She received "A's" in the two courses taught by Dr. Alfred L. Papillon, 40, at De Paul University last semester.

The Rev. Pius J. Barth, chairman of De Paul's education department, who had urged Miss Sullivan to take courses offered by Dr. Papillon, will marry the couple today at St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church.

Lady Writers Send Scallions to Square Stars

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—With an unseasonal lack of charity, the Hollywood Women's Press Club this week passed out the annual scallions to the most uncooperative stars of the movies.

Why certain selections are made are often a mystery, even to some members of the club itself. This year the "winners" are Dale Robertson and Esther Williams.

It's not hard to see why Robertson was chosen. He is an outspoken Oklahoman who is firm in his ideas. One of his notions is that a new star can have his career nipped in the bud by permitting his name and face to be plastered in every magazine and newspaper.

He also believes there are certain phases of his life that are his own private property.

This is heresy to some of the lady writers. They earn their livings by telling all about the stars' lives to panting millions. When an actor claims up, it sets a bad precedent.

The selection of Esther is more mysterious. She is one of the darlings of the male press corps. It usually has been true that anything goes with Esther; she even did publicity while expecting her third child. Some of the gals claim Esther is not so neat about keeping appointments. She is keeping her mouth shut. When she was selected most uncooperative before she had a rebuttal. But it didn't seem to do any good.

A number of the eastern TV shows have been wandering westward for a telecast or two from Hollywood. "Mister Peepers" was here recently and those expected to follow are "Howdy Doodie," "Your Show of Shows" and Milton Berle.

The reason for the migration is because many of the New York programs do not have as strong audience ratings on the Pacific Coast as they do in the East. For example, Arthur Godfrey has never had the impact on westerners that he has had on the other coast.

BATTLE CREEK (UP)—Flames raged through two stores in a downtown building Friday night and blanketed Battle Creek in black smoke for six hours.

The fire started about 4 p.m. and brought every available piece of equipment to the scene. Off-duty firemen were called to join in the battle against the flames.

By 10 p.m., only charred embers and three brick walls remained of the two-story building. Adjoining stores reported smoke damage. The two stores were gutted.

No one was injured. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Georgia Star Hero of South's Win at Miami

Zeke Bratkowski 20-0 Victory Over North

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—Football's annual "yule duel" between the North and South all-star teams was strictly a personal triumph today for Zeke Bratkowski, the passing and kicking ace from Georgia.

Bratkowski threw two long passes last night and both paved the way for touchdowns in a 20-0 victory for the South in the annual Shrine football classic before a record crowd of 44,715.

The Georgia star's long punt knocked the North off balance defensively and resulted in the other touchdown.

Fierce line play by the South squad also was instrumental in the triumph. Losing coach Stu Holcomb of Purdue said the South was so charged up "that our quarterbacks hardly had a chance to raise their arms."

Winning coach Andy Gustafson of Miami, Fla., University, an old buddy of Holcomb's, shrugged it all off modestly by saying "the entire South team played wonderful ball and we just couldn't lose on account of it."

Bratkowski's payoff passes were to his Georgia team mate, end John Carson. Early in the 1st period, the lanky quarterback passed on 4th down from the enemy 38 yard line and he hit Carson on the five-yard stripe. Two plays later Bratkowski scored.

Still in the same period, Bratkowski punted to the one-yard line from midfield and after the North tried to get the ball out of danger, Ed Meadows of Duke, grabbed up a fumble and ran into the end zone for a touchdown.

Midway in the final period, Bratkowski again cradled a pass right into room mate Carson's arms, good for 30 yards. Blackie Kincaid of South Carolina scored from the 4.

Crawford Mims of Mississippi, was voted the game's most valuable player.

Holiday Lull Ends for MSC

Munn Is Pleased With Progress of Spartans on Coast

PASADENA, Calif. (UP)—After a lull in workouts over the Christmas season, Michigan State and UCLA settled back today to the serious business of preparing for their Rose Bowl meeting New Year's Day.

The UCLA members, the majority of them from the Los Angeles area, were allowed to leave the campus to spend the holiday with their families.

Michigan State staged a brief workout Christmas morning—"mostly to keep the boys from thinking too much of home," according to Coach Biggie Munn.

Munn said there was a good chance there might be a brief scrimmage today. "We're getting toward the end of our real heavy workouts, however," he said.

"Progress has been good so far," said Munn of his practices on the coast. "Our passing seems to have sharpened up a little and we needed that."

Rose bowl committee held its official Christmas party for the MSC team at the Hotel Huntington Friday night. Members of the squad and official party watched a two-hour long vaudeville show and then were presented with gifts of binoculars.

As a special award, firemen's hats were given nine team members who helped battle a fire in the Hotel Huntington last Sunday.

Expect Wide-Open Game for Annual Blue-Gray Tilt

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP)—Unless the stars are wrong today, the 15th annual Blue-Gray football shindig looks like another wide open, free scoring affair.

As usual the experts are picking the South, but they've got their fingers crossed. The kickoff is at 1:30 p.m. (CST). The south leads the series 10-4.

Coach Rip Engle of Penn State, the Yanks' head man, has rounded up one of the best balanced squads ever to represent the North.

"Yanks" can explode for touchdowns with little or no provocation, both on the ground and in the air, as they have during practice this week.

This is the one game of the year when almost anything goes. Pressure is off the coaches and play-

'Fix' Attempt Reported

DES MOINES (UP)—Ben Bumby, star Drake University basketball forward, who said he was approached to "fix" the score of the recent Drake-Iowa State game, also spoke for a teammate when he told the individual "no dice." Details of the attempted bribe were disclosed yesterday.

Bumby said he was approached by a young man who mentioned $300 one time and $500 another time. The St. Louis senior said the man wanted Drake to lose the game, played last Tuesday night, by at least eight points, preferably by 10.

Bumby said he told the man "no dice" and when the man mentioned Willis Carl, Drake's sophomore center from Los Angeles he told him, "I don't think Carl will do anything like that."

Bumby declined an offer to meet the man later "if I changed my mind." He reported the incident to Jack McClelland, Drake coach and athletic director, who notified authorities.

Bumby said he didn't know if the man, who has been questioned by police but is not being held, approached Carl. Police, however, said the man evidently contacted a couple of members of the team.

Bumby said he had told Carl of being approached.

Police said they doubt if there is enough evidence to prosecute the man, identified as a "young Des Moines business man." It was indicated the case would be turned over to the Polk County attorney's office when police finish their investigation.

Under a new Iowa law, attempting to influence an athletic contest by bribery carries a possible penalty of up to a $10,000 fine and as much as 10 years in prison.

Iowa State College coach Chick Sutherland said at Ames neither he nor his players knew anything of the attempted fix before the game, which was won by the Cyclones, 69-59.

The Iowa State coach had high praise for Bumby, saying he thought he was Drake's best player. Bumby got 17 points in the game to lead Drake's scoring. He has an 18-point average for seven games.

Sutherland said "we put a lot of pressure on Bumby and in spite of it he got 17 points. So I would clear him of any doubt."

Bruin Increase Hold on Fourth Place in NHL

Boston Ends Christmas Game Jinx by Beating Blackhawks, 4-1

By UNITED PRESS
The Boston Bruins prolonged their Christmas celebrating today because of their first Yule triumph in three years—a 4-1 decision Friday night over the Chicago Blackhawks.

Victory strengthened Boston's hold on 4th place. It was not unexpected because it marked the 5th time this season that Boston had defeated Chicago.

Bruins, who haven't lost to Chicago but have been tied twice by the Hawks, broke open a close battle in the final period with a pair of goals last night.

It was Boston's 1st Christmas victory since the 1950 campaign and it came after a rather sloppily played game.

Joe Klukay put Boston in front with a goal early in the 1st period and Larry Zeidel followed quickly with a tying shot that made it 1-1.

It meant more than that to Larry. It was his 1st goal of the season and the 2nd of his NHL career.

Cal Gardner made it 2-1 for Boston with a 2nd period shot and in the final canto Hal Laycoe and Milt Schmidt added to the margin.

'Y' Olympics Start Monday

Holiday Games Draw 300 Youngsters for 4-Day Competition

More than 300 boys and girls, ages 9-12, will participate in the 1st annual YMCA Olympic Games next week at the Pontiac "Y."

Program opens Monday at 9 a.m. with various games in the gymnasium and swimming pool for boys. Boys' events are scheduled for Monday and Wednesday, while the girls compete on Tuesday and Thursday.

A Christmas party, for both boys and girls, at 1:30 p.m. Saturday will conclude the holiday affair.

Events will include broad jump, basketball throw and a mystery event in the gym, and several contests in the pool.

Entry slips will be accepted at the YMCA until 9 a.m. Monday.

Defending Pro Champs Listed as Underdogs

Cleveland Is Favored Despite Poor Record Against Detroit

DETROIT (UP)—The Detroit Lions and the Cleveland Browns were set for final drills today in preparation for the "big one" Sunday when the championship of the National Football League will be decided on the frozen turf of Briggs Stadium.

Will the Lions, defending champions and kings of the Western "I" vision, carry coach Buddy Parker off the field in triumph? Or will the Cleveland club do all the happy rough-housing after the game?

Odds makers have installed coach Paul Brown's powerful array of pickskin-toters as 5½ point favorites.

This was done mainly on the strength of the passing arm of Browns quarterback Otto Graham, the line-crashing of full-backs Marion Motley and Harry Jagade and the place kicking of Lou (The Toe) Groza.

But Brown is not counting his Lions before they are skinned. The Detroit team has met Cleveland seven times in the past and six times the Lions walked off the field with victories, setting for a tie in the other meeting earlier this year.

"We played these guys once before this year, remember, and we know they're tough," Brown says.

Both squads went through brief Christmas morning workouts.

Following the Detroit drill, the players found six $30 bills hanging on a locker room Christmas tree for each of them.

With the Lions running through final paces this morning, Parker said, "Mentally and physically I think the squad is in great shape. If they aren't ready now, they never will be."

Detroit will depend on the passing of Bobby Layne and the running of Doak Walker and Bobby Hoernschemeyer in a bid to retain the crown.

Brown and his Clevelanders were scheduled for an afternoon workout at Briggs Stadium. They were scheduled to arrive here by train this morning.

Game will be carried on a national television hookup with the kickoff scheduled for 1 p.m. (EST). Detroit and a 75-mile radius around the city will be blacked out. Game is being broadcast locally over WJR and CKLW.

Three Eastern Quarterbacks in Fight for Job

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (UP)—Like a man trying to decide whether to take his Christmas bonus in cash or merchandise, coach Ray Eliot of the East all-star football team had a pleasant decision to make today.

At this time he couldn't decide whether to make Pat Stark of Syracuse, Johnny Gramling of South Carolina, or Dick Thomas of Northwestern his quarterbacks.

All have fine reputations and all lived up to them in a two-hour drill Friday.

Other first string backfield men will be Neil Worden and Johnny Latner of Notre Dame at the half-back spots and Gene Filipski of Villanova at fullback.

KEYS TO TITLE—Detroit Lion hopes of repeating as National Football League champions rest heavily on the performances of these two backfield stars. Possibly to Braves Giants May Swap Bobby Thomson for Pitcher

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (UP)—It's too late for Christmas now, but the New York Giants still would like to get that top pitcher they need if they are to figure in the next National League flag race.

They don't want him exactly as a gift, either. In return they are willing to come through with Bobby Thomson, one of the league's class outfielders, who becomes expendable with the return of phenomenal young Willy Mays from the Army next spring.

Milwaukee has let it be known that Warren Spahn, the league's earned-run king, isn't available at any price, but there is a strong feeling that one of Charlie Grimm's other pitchers will wind up at the Polo Grounds. He's loaded with good righthanders.

Since the Yanks swung their deal for Harry Byrd and Eddie Robinson, Cleveland writers are swarming over General Manager Hank Greenberg with demands that he do something about bolstering his chronic second - placers. First off, they want Hank to bring them catcher Clint Courtney from the Baltimore Orioles.

With the acquisition of Jackie Jensen from Washington, Manager Lou Boudreau of the Boston Red Sox claims he has much the best balanced club he has been able to field since he went to the Hub City two seasons ago.

"With Jensen batting four behind Ted Williams," he explains, "opposing pitchers will do a lot of thinking before they hand out passes so freely to Ted."

The expectation is that Jim Pier-sall, the team's fabulous young fly catcher, will be shifted to center-field and Jensen installed in right, which he handled well for the Senators.

Oklahoma Takes 44 Gridders to Florida

MIAMI (UP)—Oklahoma's 44-man football squad hoped today to get adjusted to Florida's hot and humid weather after flying in from Norman on two chartered airplanes.

"But regardless of the weather we're going to get to work and get ourselves in shape," said coach Bud Wilkinson, who would like to defeat his old colleague, coach Jim Tatum of Maryland, in the Orange Bowl battle on New Year's Day.

Auto Accident Puts Alabama Gridders Out

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UP)—An injury suffered last night from the football field was expected today to keep Albert Elmore, second string Alabama quarterback, out of action for the Cotton Bowl game against Rice.

Elmore, unfortunately, hitched a ride in the wrong car. He was thumbing a ride Friday to his home in Troy, Ala., and the car which picked him up smashed into a pickup truck between Montgomery and Troy. He suffered leg and head injuries.

Texas Tech Leaves

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UP)—Texas Tech's football team was scheduled to leave by plane today for Florida, hopeful of gaining as much ground in that sector as they did all season in the cowboy country.

Doby Fans 121 Times to Set New AL Record

Rosen Adds Slugging Title to His Honors; Zernial 2nd

NEW YORK (UP)—The smashing of a 39-year-old strikeout mark by Larry Doby of Cleveland and an additional batting honor for teammate Al Rosen highlighted the American League's final statistical release for 1953 today.

These official averages show that Doby fanned 121 times, breaking the old mark by one. It was set by Gus Williams of the St. Louis Browns in 1914. Doby and Mickey Vernon tied for this honor in 1952 at 111 strikeouts.

Rosen, the league's most valuable player, compiled the highest slugging average, .513. The hard-hitting 3rd baseman had 367 total bases in 599 times at bat. His extra-base output included 27 doubles, 5 triples and 3 home runs.

By winning the slugging title, Rosen climaxed a banner year. He also led in home runs, total bases and runs batted in (145). He finished one point behind Washington's Mickey Vernon, the league's leading batter.

Gus Zernial of the Philadelphia Athletics was 2nd in the slugging derby with a .509 mark. Yogi Berra of the Yankees was 3rd at .523 followed by Ray Boone, who played with Cleveland and Detroit, .519 and Vernon, .518.

Ted Williams of Boston, who appeared in only 37 games, slugged a torrid .901.

Slugging averages are computed by dividing the total bases on all hits by the times at bat.

Among the team records, the Yankees drew the most walks, 656 and drove in the most runs, 762 while Cleveland fanned the most times, 683.

In all, 22 major league records were established in American League play last season, including most runs by a club, inning—17 by Boston in the 7th inning of the June 18 game vs. Detroit.

Tech Expects Stars to Return

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP)—Next time coach Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech counts noses on his squad he hopes to include star halfback Leon Hardeman and tackle Roger Frey.

Dodd said today he hoped both would be in top shape to play in the Sugar Bowl football game against West Virginia. They have been hampered for some time by knee injuries.

Entire squad was off Friday for Christmas and will remain idle until Monday, but both Hardeman and Frey advised Dodd they were much improved and hoped to be able to play full time.

Mountaineers to Work on Signals and Timing

BILOXI, Miss. (UP)—Coach Art Lewis of the West Virginia Mountaineers said today he hoped his boys would "sharpen up a little" in their drills for a Sugar Bowl game against Georgia Tech.

"There are a lot of places where we need to improve," he said. "And we are going to spend plenty of time from now on on signals and timing."

Holiday Cage Tournaments Start

NEW YORK (UP)—Three of the 17 holiday basketball tournaments, bringing together 112 hand-picked college teams on courts from New York to Portales, N. M., get underway today with action in New York, Kansas City and Hempstead, N. Y.

Top ranked Indiana and second rated Kentucky, winner of its own tournament earlier in the week, will sit out the holiday court carnivals but six members of the top 10 add flavor to five of the tournaments.

Unbeaten Duquesne (3) is the favorite for the second annual holiday festival opening at Madison Square Garden today. The Oklahoma Aggies (3) are the choice in the All-College event starting in Oklahoma City Monday.

There was only one college game played Christmas night. Seattle whacked Creighton 92-61. Stan Gloski tossed in 40 points to lead Seattle to its 7th straight victory.

Western Kentucky's Hilltoppers (6) also undefeated figure to be the team to beat in the Louisville Invitational which opens Monday. North Carolina State (9) is the choice in the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, Dec. 28-30. And Fordham (7) and Holy Cross (10) are in the Sugar Bowl tournament, Tuesday and Wednesday along with Louisiana State and De Paul.

Duquesne, with a high scoring trio in Dick Ricketts, Jim Tucker and St. Green, meets New York University (4-1) in the first round at the Garden tonight. LaSalle (6-2), featuring All-America Tom Gola, goes against a crippled St. Louis team in the nighttime.

Before they take the floor at night, Brigham Young (7-0) meets Manhattan (3-3) and Niagara (5-1) plays St. John's of Brooklyn (3-2).

Kansas State is the choice in the Big Seven affair, which brings together all members of the conference plus the University of Washington. Kansas meets Colorado and Missouri goes against Iowa State in today's play.

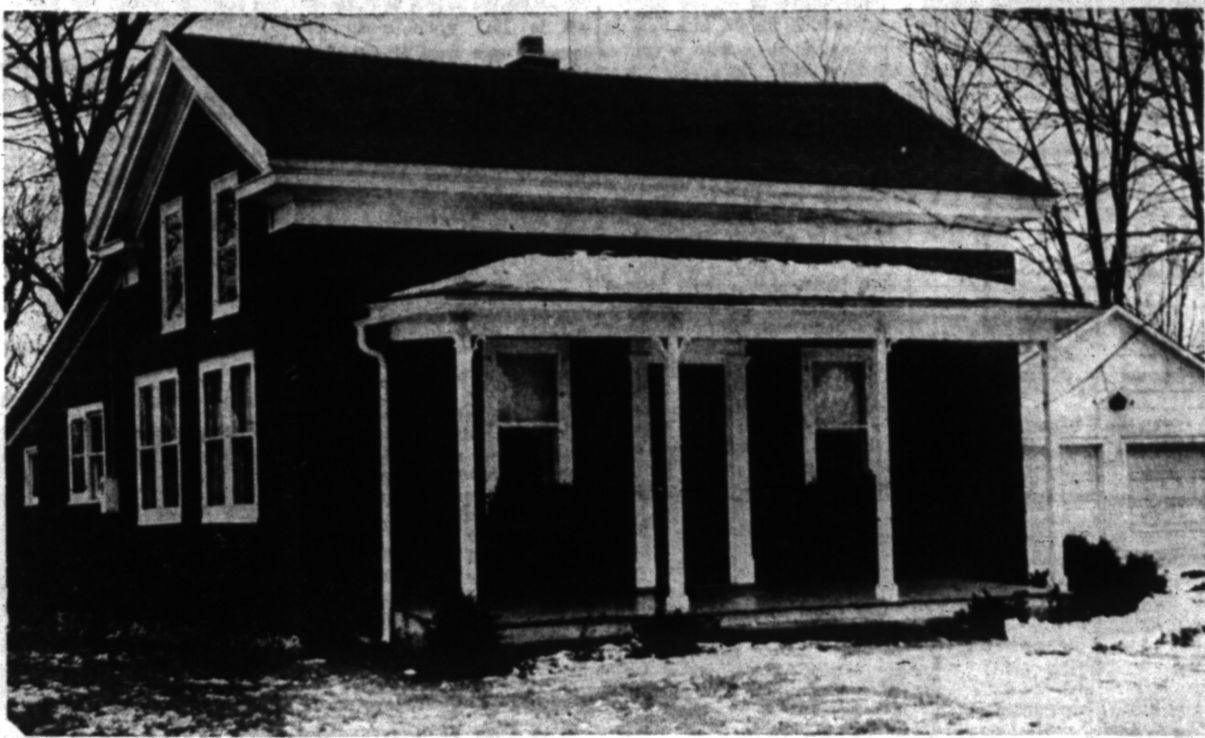

Tournament at Hofstra in Hempstead brings into action several of the east's top small colleges. Dixie Classic shapes up as one of the best of the holiday season. In addition to North Carolina State, the field includes Oregon State, Navy, North Carolina, Seton Hall, Duke, Tulane and Wake Forest.

Oklahoma Aggies lineup against Furman, Oklahoma City, Mississippi, Wyoming, Cincinnati, Santa Clara and Tulsa. And at Louisville, Western Kentucky goes against a field that includes Louisville, Eastern Kentucky, Murray, Siena, Villanova, Houston and Xavier (Ohio).

Other tournaments:

Dartmouth invitational at Hanover, N. H. (Dec. 28-30)—Amherst, Brown, Bowdoin, Colby, Connecticut, Harvard, Springfield and Dartmouth.
"Galar Bowl" at Jacksonville, Fla. (Dec. 28-30)—Georgia Tech, Georgia, Georgia Teachers and Florida.
Sunshine at Fortale, N. M. (Dec. 28-30)—Eastern New Mexico, Missouri Valley, Westminster, Southeastern Oklahoma, Taylor and Abilene.
Motor City at Detroit (Dec. 28-30)—Detroit, Georgetown, Wayne and Toledo.
Midwest at Terre Haute, Ind. (Dec. 28-30)—Indiana State, Indiana State, Marquette, St. Joseph, St. Mary's, Central (Missouri), Illinois College and Northwestern Louisiana.

WIGNALL HOME 115 YEARS OLD—Built over a century ago, the Jack Wignall home at 51 East Washington, Clarkston, has exterior shingles in red asbestos. These have been painted. White is used for the trim. Seven large rooms are included in this floor plan and distinctive of architecture a hundred years ago are the low ceilings and windows built close to the floor in the upstairs bedrooms. The Wignalls have added a family room and a breezeway and two-car garage to their red house.

CLARK SOULBY'S RED AND WHITE HOME—One of Clarkston's oldest houses, the Clark Soulbys of 47 Church St. are in the process of re-doing the interior of this interesting eight room red house. Preserving the original design, white outlines the sections of the house and white shutters frame the windows. A green roof gives this house a true Yuletide appearance with its tall twin spruce in the front yard and recent spruce tree plantings near the front porch. It is said that these twin trees were planted the same year this house was built.

Your Neighbor's Red Houses:

Beautiful Homes Against Banks of Snow

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE
"From every Middlesex village and farm," the news is spreading!

Whether century-old or brand new, houses have an affinity for red paint and they are loved by the people who live in them and who drive past them for their warm and friendly appearance.

White shuttered and with white trim, they provide distinctive pictures now set against banks of snow. Beautiful in any one of Mother Nature's four season full-dress backgrounds, every locale today toasts a red house.

The three houses shown on today's Background for Living page are examples of the old and the new in red houses.

Clarkston, a community long noted for its pride in keeping its old houses up-to-date without sacrificing any of the fine old architectural lines, has two unusual red houses.

Bloomfield Hills' red house is located on Vaughn Road, near the Bloomfield Hills' school. It is a lovely authentic New England Farmhouse style built within the past few years and painted the traditional "barn red."

Minerals in Water May Clog Shower

In time the tiny openings on a shower head may become clogged by the minerals found in water.

Remove the shower head and clean out the openings with a sharp pointed tool. If the deposits are very hard, try washing the head in very hot water and then in very cold.

Sometimes the sudden expansion and contraction of the metal will loosen the deposits enough so they can be removed.

Heavy Moving Job

Next time you have something really heavy to move like a range or a refrigerator try slipping a small cake of soap under each leg.

The soap will make it easy for you to slide the object about and when you're finished the soap won't be difficult to remove from the floor.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS' RED HOUSE HAS NEW ENGLAND LINES—Mr. and Mrs. Milton F. Coulson Jr., of Vaughn road, Bloomfield Hills, have a red house styled after a New England farmhouse. At the peak of a natural slope, it has 11 rooms and a two-car garage, and its interior features full oak beamed ceilings and paneled walls. Floors are polished oak tile-sized squares. Painted a true barn red on the exterior, its upper section is white, and white trim is used around the windows and doors. A brick terrace has been built along the front edge of the hill.

FAMILY ROOM IN PINE, BRICK AND SLATE—A new addition to the 115 year old Wignall home is the family room. Beamed and paneled in pine, this room has one full reclaimed brick wall which contains the fireplace. Slate is used for the floor and the full-window wall overlooks the pond at the foot of their backyard. Braided and crocheted rugs, Grandma Moses draperies, brass, copper and wrought iron give warm and friendly decorative notes to this room.

TRADITIONAL DECOR FOLLOWS ARCHITECTURAL PERIOD—Marble topped tables, and cherry chairs with cane seats carry out the traditional theme of the Wignall living room. A family of music lovers, the Wignalls have an organ and a piano in this room and furniture arrangements are flexible enough to invite group listening and participation. Documentary print paper on the walls gives additional notes of decor to this L-shaped room.

WIGNALL DINING ROOM—When the Wignalls decided to build a "family room" on the back of their red house, they kept the original dining room window intact, framing it with white ruffled curtains. It gives additional light to this room that has a painted wainscot and yellow, green and white papered upper walls and ceiling.

Charming Clarkston Home More Than a Century Old

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wignall of 51 East Washington, Clarkston, have found that their 115-year-old house with its red exterior furnishes an interesting background for gracious living.

White trim highlights the red of this house which from the front appears to be small, but extends back along their pond side homesite with seven large rooms, a breezeway and two-car garage.

A collector of pine and cut glass, brass and copper pieces, Mrs. Wignall has decorated her home interior around these items.

The living room has been decorated to emphasize the century-plus lines with low ceilings and simple stairwell.

Companion print wallpaper in green, beige and brown covers the walls of this room. Marble topped tables, Boston rockers and cane bottom chairs have been used by Mrs. Wignall to give further traditional notes to the room. A hunter green-slip-covered curved sofa gives color highlight and white ruffled curtains are used for window dressing.

A family of singers and musicians, the Wignalls count their old organ and their spinet piano as an important part of their furnishings.

The dining room, whose large windows once overlooked the sloping lawn, now faces the recently added "family room," and it, too, is framed in a white ruffled curtain.

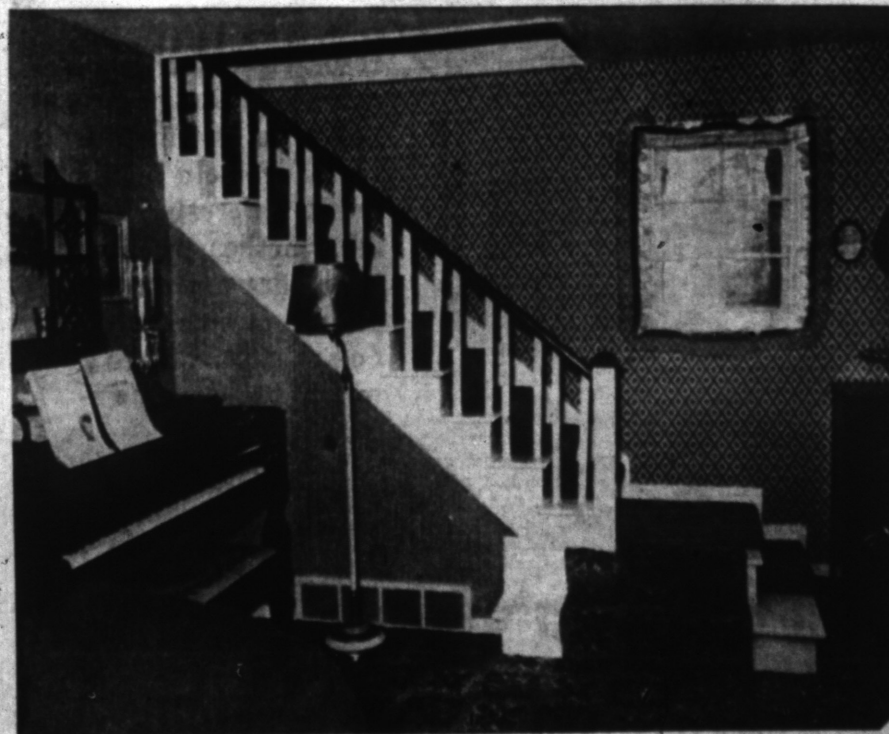

Painted wainscot in the dining room is accompanied by a floral papered upper section in green, yellow and white.

An all-occasion and most-used room in the house, according to Mrs. Wignall is the new "family room" with its pine paneling and reclaimed brick-walled fireplace.

"Our children and their friends like this room and we enjoy it too. It invites congeniality and family fun," said Mrs. Wignall, an accomplished soprano.

Slate has been installed as the floor of this room and several throw rugs in braided and crocheted design are used.

Old houses, claim the Wignalls, are fun to live in, especially if they're red.

STAIRWELL OF CENTURY-OLD HOUSE—Double-steps are featured on the century-old stairwell used in the architecture of years ago. This stairway leads to the second floor where a pair of low and sloped-ceiling bedrooms are located. These rooms are also papered in early American print wallpaper as is the rest of the Wignall home.

Use Fiberglass for Insulation

Can Be Cut and Nailed, Utilized as Cushion Under Siding

NEW YORK (UP) — Fiberglass, the material used in sports car bodies, airplane parts and luggage, now comes to the aid of people who want to remodel their houses.

This product takes the form of siding cushion. Tiny glass fibers provide a "blanket" for the house.

The springy material, which is one-half inch thick, comes in rolls 200 feet long and two feet wide. An entire roll weighs less than 13 pounds.

 After the cushion is nailed or stapled on the outside of the house, the new siding is applied. The insulation may be cut easily to fit around windows, doors and other openings.
 Around 10 rolls—or 4,000 square feet of the underlay—are enough to cover a large two-story house. The lightweight cushion acts as a barrier to heat flow. That means it helps keep heat in the house during the winter and outside during the summer. Rot-proof and non-absorbent, the material also deadens sound.

Inside the house, a new easy-to-install material is designed for covering counter tops and walls. It's made to order for the install-it-yourself enthusiast.

The material is surfaced with Bakelite vinyl resins which make it resistant to abrasion and moisture, as well as soaps, oils and food stains.

The man of the house—or even the housewife—just cuts the counter topping with scissors or a knife to the desired shape.

A kitchen counter is an ideal spot for the material, which may be cemented onto any surface. The edges can be bound in place with pressure-sensitive tape.

Other possible uses are wall-scooting for bathroom or kitchen walls and lining for shower stalls. It comes in a variety of colors and patterns.

The material may be applied to curved surfaces or corners without breaking the top coating by cutting grooves in the back and then bending it forward or backward.

Home Construction Boom Continues Despite Mortgage Money Shortage

NEW YORK (UP) — The nation's home-builders for the fifth straight year started more than a million homes in 1953.

The year's total of about 1,100,000 dwelling units was only a shade below 1952's total of 1,130,000 despite a shortage of mortgage money and fears of a recession.

And the 1953 total was the biggest since the record year of 1950 when 1,400,000 homes were started.

The 1953 achievement blasted some pessimistic forecasts that the nation had caught up with postwar shortages and that needs for new housing would run henceforth to only around 750,000 units a year.

For 1954, government estimates are for a ten per cent drop in residential building, to about 990,000 starts.

Some private economists look for a 900,000 or 950,000 total. But the drop below the million mark could be averted by a number of factors: Lower down payment and credit requirements for which real estate interests are clamoring; further relief for the mortgage money scarcity which has already eased; and federal action arising from Washington's new housing policy now being formulated.

The government estimated that 1953 construction outlays in all fields were $34,750,000,000. The forecast for 1954 shades this down to a flat $4 billion dollars.

Cash outlay for residential construction in 1954 is expected to drop to $11,225,000,000 from this year's $11,715,000,000. But the repair and modernization item included in these totals is expected to raise from this year's $1,040,000,000 to $1,300,000,000 in 1954.

F. W. Dodge Corp., construction news and marketing specialists, gave these estimates for 37 eastern states:

Residential — A 10 per cent drop both in dollar volume and floor space.

Non-residential — A two per cent decline in dollar volume.

Public works and utilities A rise of seven per cent in dollar volume.

The Dodge experts look for a physical increase in 12 per cent in commercial building but a 13 per cent drop in manufacturing structures; a 12 per cent boost in social and recreational floor space but an eight per cent drop in religious buildings.

They predict a 40 per cent drop in dollar volume for public housing and a seven per cent rise in public utilities.

F. W. Dodge officials foresee a population of 175,000,000 by 1960 and, barring a war or catastrophe, futures annual construction volume higher than this year's.

The darkest cloud over home building in 1953 was the mortgage money shortage which reached crisis proportions in some areas.

Interest rates were already tightening in 1952 and mortgage money was not too plentiful that year, especially for 4 per cent GI loans.

This year strong demand for cash from both business and government caused higher interest rates on other types of securities, making fixed-rate mortgages much less tempting to lenders.

So in May the government boosted interest rates of both VA and FHA-insured mortgages to 4 1/2 per cent. But even this didn't solve the problem. Housing starts dropped.

By fall, however, the shortage loosened considerably as easier money showed down the yields of securities which compete with mortgages for the investing dollar.

The Bankers Trust Co., of New York, however, noted that new mortgage funds had dropped from $10,500,000,000 in 1950 to $8,300,000,000 in 1953 while construction spending rose from $28,400,000,000 in 1950 to this year's total of $34,750,000,000.

So the gap between demand and supply in mortgage funds remains a problem. Solutions are being sought at both the business and government levels.

Meanwhile, building prices remained fairly steady despite the pressure of rising costs of labor and land development. The price tags on new homes stayed about the same while used home prices went down.

There was plenty of optimism for '54.

Said Emanuel M. Spiegel, president of the National Association of Home Builders: "Given the right kind of financing, fitted to the needs of the mass housing market that has developed since World War II, there can be no doubt that at least a million new homes will find ready buyers in 1954."

The NAHB's executive secretary, John M. Dickerman, pointed out that only three million of the 16 million World War I veterans have bought homes under the GI Bill of Rights.

T. B. King, VA loan guarantee chief, said, "after several lean years I think veterans seeking to buy homes are going to find GI loans easier to obtain."

The use of steel, aluminum, concrete and plastics in dwellings and furniture have increased this year. Some builders copied the auto business, giving a year's guarantee against mechanical and structural defects in a new home.

Year-long air conditioning became an increasing factor in the sales of new homes. Experiments on a trade-in plan similar to the used-car turn-in technique were conducted by the FHA and the NAHB in six cities.

Spiegel said the 1954 home-buyer will find roomier, more attractive housing.

"The typical 1954 home," he said, "even in modest price ranges will provide substantially more living area than at any time in the past."

7 Universities Will Construct A-Cosmotron

CHICAGO (AP)—The University of Illinois board of trustees yesterday decided to enter into an agreement with six other Midwest universities to construct a cosmotron for nuclear research.

Under the proposed agreement, the seven universities would organize a not-for-profit corporation which would raise money through contracts with the Atomic Energy Commission or other agencies for the construction and operation of a cosmotron.

The other universities involved are Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Iowa and Iowa State College.

"A multi-billion volt strong focusing accelerator, or a cosmotron is needed for research in the particles produced by cosmic rays," Lloyd Morey, acting president of the university told the trustees at their annual meeting.

He said the cosmotron would be for the eventual use of physicists and students from all the associated universities.

Furnace Needs Plenty of Air

Home Can't Be Heated Unless Warm Breeze Can Circulate

Our horrible example of bad planning for today is a neat and compact little utility room right off the kitchen in the house of a friend of ours. This little room contains the furnace and the furnace too is neat and compact. The only trouble with the whole deal is that the furnace doesn't work worth a nickel and the colder the outside weather gets the worse things go for the furnace.

The trouble, as you may have guessed, is that the furnace is just not getting enough air to enable it to burn its fuel efficiently.

No matter what sort of heating equipment you use, oil, gas or coal, there must be a sufficient volume of air getting to the fire to keep things going. If your flame is on the yellow side the chances are that there is a lack of air. Another point here is that when you don't have enough air your chimney draft won't be all that it should be. You can bring air into a utility room by installing vents or louvers in the base of the door.

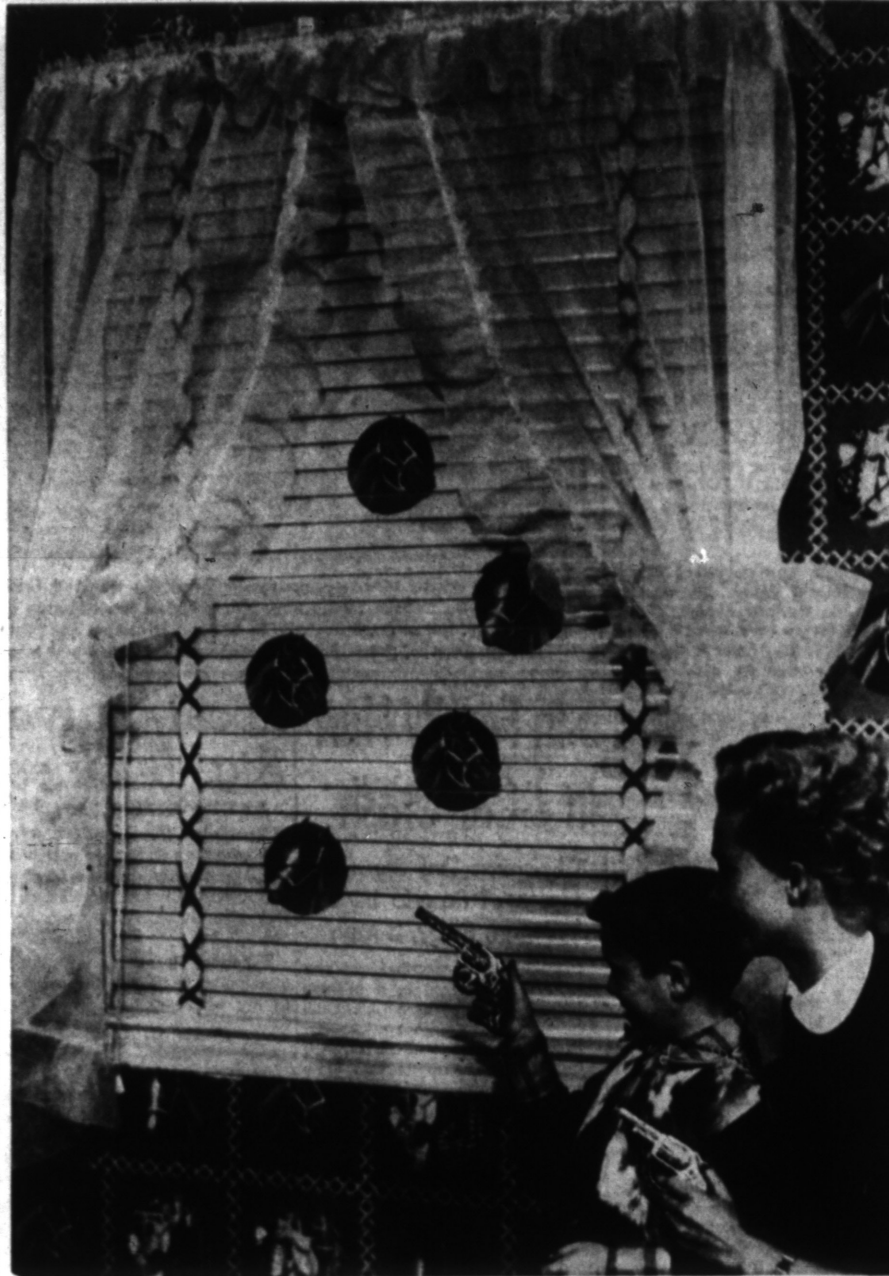

Another trick often used on one story homes is to bring a duct down from the attic crawl space to the burner.

This set-up not only provides the furnace with plenty of fresh air but also keeps the air in the attic crawl space circulating which is always a good thing.

If your furnace is in the basement the chances are that it is getting a sufficient amount of air unless you have sealed all openings to the basement nice and tight.

No Disordered Purse

A solution to the age-old problem of overstuffed handbags is the fitted bag. The fittings— including comb, lipstick, cigarette lighter and compact— have their own compartment, making for a neat interior.

A FLIP TO DISAPPEAR—Windows are like people. You can make them look tall and stately or small and cozy; it's all in the way you dress them. The above picture shows how, with a flip of the blind, the decorative horses' heads disappear. These are cutouts from actual wallpaper and are placed onto the blinds with glue; they'll remove without harming the finish of the blind. The nylon curtains used in the picture need no ironing or stretching and are a good investment for saving future time.

Gypsum Board Can Be Painted

First Seal Joints Using Tape and a Finishing Cement

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Intrigued by the advantages of gypsum wall-board but wondering about painting techniques? Go right ahead with your decorating plans. By following simple instructions you can easily prepare gypsum wall-board for painting and be assured of excellent results.

First, check up to determine whether all joints are properly concealed by the application of perforated tape and special finishing cement. See that nailhead depressions have been filled with the special cement. The joints, filled nailhead depressions and other irregularities should, if necessary, be lightly sanded. Loose dirt and dust can be removed by brushing or rubbing with a dry cloth.

To obtain a uniform surface, sealing is usually necessary before the finish coat of paint is applied. If the finish coat is to be an oil-base paint or enamel, a good grade of pigmented varnish primer or cold water primer is recommended. A pigmented varnish primer, which is both primer and sealer—or a resin-emulsion sealer—should be applied in such rooms as the kitchen, bath, or utility room where the humidity is often high.

When the finish coat is to be deep-toned, more than one coat of sealer approximately the shade of the finish coat is thoroughly dry before the next one is applied.

Resin-emulsion or latex paints do not require a special primer. In priming, the surface should be completely covered. Be sure to stir the primer in the container frequently to keep the pigment uniformly distributed. To obtain the best results with your finished job, it's a good idea to tint the sealer approximately the shade of the finished coat. A resin emulsion sealer may be applied with a wide brush, such as a standard wall brush. A pigmented varnish primer should be applied with a brush that's no wider than four inches because of the "pull" on the brush. A roller may also be used successfully in both instances.

After priming, it's wise to wait 12 to 18 hours before the finish coat is applied. In rainy, humid, or cold weather a longer waiting period—perhaps as long as 36 to 48 hours—is advisable.

Specific instructions can be found on the labels on the containers. Always read these directions before beginning—then you'll be delighted with the results.

Lighter Low on Fuel?

In cigarette lighters, a poor seal around the base of the wick may result in leakage or evaporation of fuel. The "red seal" on some lighters prolongs the "mileage" between refuelings.

Newest Furniture Has Metal Accents

National budgets to the contrary, this has been a prosperous year—at least in the home furnishings field, according to Edward Wormley, designer for Dunbar Furniture Corp.

The increased use during 1953 of brass and other shiny hardware as furniture trim came, said Mr. Wormley, as a direct result of our desire for evidence of prosperity, in keeping with higher standards of living.

Whatever the reason, brass-tipped legs, gleaming drawer pulls and metal accents are in good taste, and should remain in favor for many a day, Mr. Wormley says.

Room Divider Adapts to Numerous Uses

It's a door, it's a drapery, it's a room divider. It's a versatile innovation for the home, constructed of basswood splints woven with seine twine.

The new and inexpensive piece, adaptable for every room in the house, called "Blindfold," solves the too-little-space problem in innumerable ways.

Because it comes packaged with screws, brackets, and track with easy directions for hanging, this woven wood unit available in a myriad of colors and sizes, could be a "do it yourself" answer to no closets, no separate dining room, or even too much expanse of glass.

Time to Check Stored Dahlia, Gladioli Bulbs

Check stored gladioli and dahlia tubers to make certain the atmosphere isn't too warm and that there is sufficient circulation of air among them.

Thrips, which are the worst pests for gladioli, aren't apt to give trouble if the corms are stored at temperatures averaging 40 degrees or lower. But if the nasty things are around, you can destroy them with naphthalene flakes—an ounce to about 100 corms. As a preventive and as a destroyer, put the corms with the flakes in a paper bag, shake them together and keep them there for two or three weeks. Then open bags.

On dahlia tubers, cut out diseased parts and dust the wounds with sulfur (which is a good investment because you'll need it for hollyhocks and phlox next year, anyway, and probably would neglect to buy it in the press of other things.)

Play sifter to your house plants—but stay as far away as possible from nursing chores. For most plants, this is a time for rest and restoration, so don't replant unless there's an emergency and don't feed the poor things. Stimulation now is like taking a benzadrine tablet when all you need is a good, normal night's sleep.

Dust hairy leaves of house plants with a soft paint brush to remove dirt, but keep them away from water. On African violets, water spots frequently dry off to leave yellow ugly spots. Water only as needed—when the top soil feels dry to the touch.

Glassware Sparkles

Glassware will have added luster if a few drops are added from the ammonia bottle to clear water when washing. Glasses washed and rinsed in ammonia or bottled detergent may be air-dried.

Highest lake in the United States is Tulainyo, 12,865 feet above sea level, in California.

Lapeer Eviction Case Unfinished

Judge Quinn Must Still Consider Two Matters Besides Sentencing

Lapeer—Circuit Judge Timothy C. Quinn has far from heard the last of the June 2, 1952, attempt to evict Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens from the Clifford farm home. Besides sentencing Clayton C. Gilliland for obstructing justice in the case on Jan. 4, Judge Quinn will take up three other matters connected with the eviction attempt by Sheriff Clark W. Gregory.

First, is a motion for a new trial by Floyd Scriber, 60, of Almont.

Scriber was acquitted along with Harold Jarvis, 56, of Lapeer and Howard Abbott, 45, of Columbiaville by a Circuit Court jury Wednesday night of the conspiracy charge on which Gilliland was found guilty.

However he was found guilty last September of actually participating in the mob action which prevented Gregory and a deputy from serving the eviction writ on Mrs. Stevens.

He has since charged that one of the jurors at his trial was biased.

A second issue has to do with another juror at the Scriber trial, George Albert O'Neill, who said he was a disinterested party in the matter when being interviewed for jury duty.

O'Neill appeared as a defense witness Monday in the conspiracy trial and stated under testimony that he was in fact, at the Stevens' farm on the day of the fracas.

Judge Quinn said he has plans to question O'Neill about the conflict.

The final hearing will be held on the defense motion for a mistrial on the basis that one of the jurors in the conspiracy case just completed was distantly related to one of the defendants.

Market New Building Panel

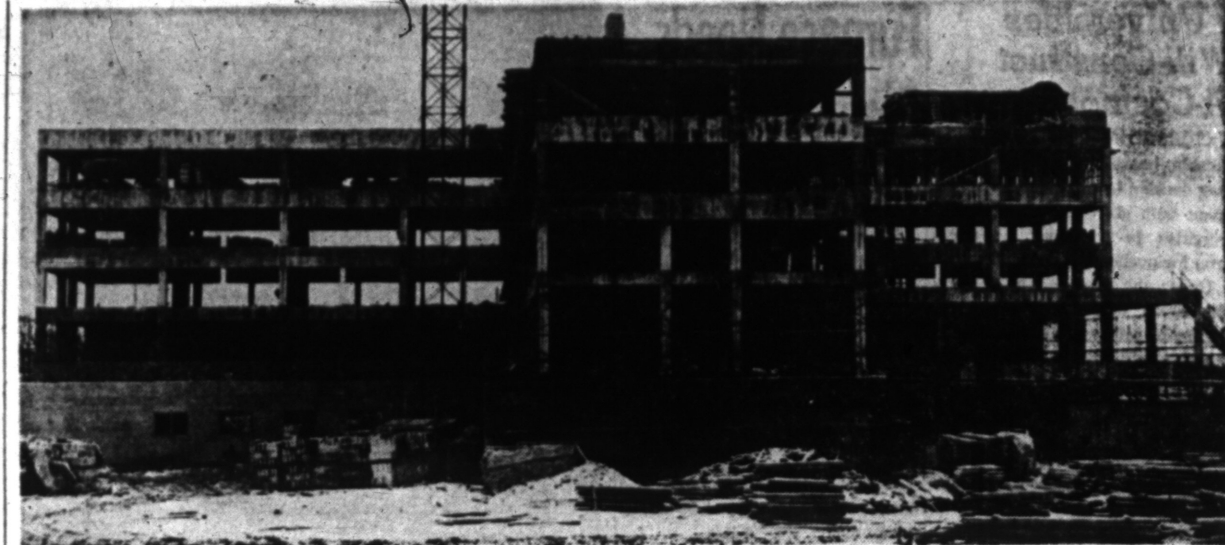

Translucent Material Can Be Sawed, Nailed, Drilled Like Wood

A new translucent building panel with a woven texture in a range of seven decorator colors has come from the laboratories of the Corulux Division of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company in Houston. It was announced today by J. S. Finger, president of the division.

"Woven Corulux" is the name applied to this new product which combines polyester resins with a reinforcing core of fiber glass woven fabric. Glass cloth, of course, is several years old but this is the first use offered to the building industry in translucent panels which may be sawed, nailed, and drilled like wood.

Finger said that the new Woven Corulux is the answer for architects and designers who have been seeking a translucent, shatter-proof building material with great uniformity and variety of texture. The new material is exceptionally light in weight—four ounces per square foot—as compared with most other building materials.

"Designed primarily for interior decoration, it is manufactured in two weaves—bold weave for accent on texture, and fine weave for lighting effects." Mr. Finger explained. "It is especially suitable for room dividers, bath enclosures, screens, ceilings, light panels, displays and countless other similar uses."

AHEAD OF SCHEDULE—Construction work on Oakland County's new hospital is progressing ahead of schedule according to officials of O. W. Burke Co. builders. The 206-bed structure was begun last July. At present, the building is ready for enclosure and inside work. Ultramodern, the hospital, located at 13-Mile and Woodward, is 239x217 foot, containing a basement, five stories and an equipment storage penthouse.

Christmas Eve Smashup North of Romeo Injures Woman, Baby, 3 Men

ROMEO—Five members of one family were injured in a two-car collision north of here Christmas Eve.

Edgar M. Compton, 21, of 1407 Milmine Rd., Lakeville was driving toward Romeo on Brewer road when he was hit head-on by a car driven by Raymond Johnson, 32, of 319 Chandler St., Romeo, according to State Police.

Johnson is Compton's uncle. Compton's wife, Bernice, 21, suffered lacerations and their three-month-old daughter, Cynthia, suffered a possible skull fracture but is reported better today at St. Joseph Hospital, Mt. Clemens.

Riding in Johnson's car was Roland Sprout of 7191 Dequindre, who is Compton's father-in-law. The pair was driving out to meet the Comptons who were expected to spend Christmas Eve with them, police said.

Johnson and Sprout each suffered a broken leg, chest injuries and cuts and bruises. Romeo State Police Post Troopers John Cosgrove and Henry Louwerens are continuing to investigate the accident.

Local Survey Shows Farming Is Now Big Business From Investment Angle

By BURDETTE B. ASHLEY (Associated Press Staff Writer)

A sampling of farmer opinion in Oakland County on price controls and farm policies emphasizes a fact often overlooked by non-farmers.

Farming, from an investment standpoint, is now in the category of big business.

As Carlos G. Long of Commerce Township explained the situation:

"Time was when about all that a farmer needed was a horse and plow, but now his investment is more than in any other line of business."

In the words of Earl Voorheis, Springfield Township, "running a farm has become big business. The equipment now costs almost as much as the land."

He might well have gone further and said that in some instances the equipment costs considerably more.

This is especially true on small farms, as one Oakland tiller pointed out. He said that farming on from 40 to 100 acres would be very difficult under present prices of land and equipment, and predicted that no artificial price supports could save such a farmer unless he had some outside income.

Many of the farmers interviewed looked askance at price controls but some felt that Secretary of Agriculture Benson was "on the spot" in trying to establish a satisfactory farm program for all.

John Slater, with an assist from Consumers Power Co., has solved the "udder side" of the barn lighting problem at his Holton Township, Muskegon County, farm.

He has installed lights in his new barn where they are most needed, in the floor of the milking platform.

The lantern hung on a stall nail and the overhead electric light had one thing in common—they left the farmer working in his own light at milking time.

Slater's new-fangled lights illuminate the under side of the cow, making it easier for the farmer to milk or attach the milking machine. They also improve sanitation by making it easier to clean the udders.

The lights are flush with the floor and protected with inch-thick glass capable of bearing a 1,000-lb. weight. The glass is 12 inches square. Slater uses 75-watt bulbs under each pane of glass.

Like many another Southern Michigan farmer, Leigh Van Marter faced the prospect last summer of a heavy loss in his wheat crop because of excess rain. So he decided on an experiment which has proved out handsomely. With the backing of Michigan State College experts who said his idea was novel but workable, the Jackson County farmer went into the field in June with a regular field chopper and blew the chopped wheat into an upright silo. He capped the silo with wet green oats.

A few weeks ago when he opened the silo Van Marter found silage of apparently fine quality which his cattle and lambs like. His lambs, fed a mixture of the silage and ground corn cobs, have made excellent gains.

Van Marter believes he has recovered a good portion of his threatened dollar loss in wheat. College experts will test samples of the silage to determine the exact dietary value of the feed.

Behind almost every champion in any line of competition there are unsung hero and heroines. That is true even in livestock shows.

More than 150 common, ordinary, everyday dairy cows who fulfilled their supporting roles at the International Livestock Show in Chicago are back home, but with no ribbons or trophies.

What they did was nurse the purebred beef calves that perform in the spotlight but had to return to the nondescripts to get their daily ration of milk.

Beef calves normally are weaned after six or eight months, but the bluebloods frequently are allowed to nurse for a year and their own mothers can't give them enough milk.

Last December the Grand Rapids Lions Club gave an angus steer calf to 14-year-old Jimmy Vander Laan who is carrying out a 4-H Club project despite the handicap of being blind.

Jimmy returned to the West.

Michigan Fat Stock show earlier this month with a steer, a 1,045-pound yearling that was judged the reserve champion of angus breed in the 4-H class. The prize animal brought Jimmy $731.50 at the auction.

50-YEAR MARK—Celebrating their golden wedding anniversary tomorrow are Mr. and Mrs. Burgess D. Geot of Cass City. The couple was married in the bride's home in Caro. Eight children will help them with the celebration: Mrs. Ethel Badger, Mrs. Alberta Athey, Mrs. Ella Mae Sinsabaugh and George of Pontiac; Albert of Cass City; James of New York; Andrew of Alaska; and Mrs. Kathryn Perry of Metamora. The pair have 14 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

3 Are Burned in Flash Fire

Christmas Day Blaze Hospitalizes 3; One Is Overcome by Smoke

BERKELEY—Three persons are reported in fair condition in Mt. Carmel Hospital, Detroit, following a flash fire which swept the Carl Sangle home early yesterday morning.

Hospitalized with serious burns are Sandra Sangle, 17, her sister, Joan, 12, and Kermit McDonald, 19, of Royal Oak Township also suffered lacerations of both arms.

Five-month-old Gregory Sangle, also in the house, was overcome by smoke but has been released from the hospital.

The four were asleep when the fire was spotted by neighbors across from the Sangle residence, 1699 Cambridge Rd.

The Sangles, visiting at some other neighbors, rushed to the house and broke windows to get the four out.

Firemen said they believe the blaze started from an oil heater in the living room and followed an electric wire through the one-story house.

Damage was estimated at $6,000.

2 Church Groups Hold Yule Party at Waterford

WATERFORD CENTER — Crusaders of Sunny Vale Chapel and the young people from Silver Crest Church met Thursday night for a Christmas party at the chapel's Fellowship Hall.

Instead of exchanging gifts, the group sent toys and gifts to the Bethel Children's Home at Jackson, Ky.

Following the meeting they went carolling outside shut-ins' homes.

Hal Boyle Says:

Trouble-Free Christmas Would Be a Trifle Strange

NEW YORK (U)—Once upon a time there was a perfect Christmas.

Everybody in America got exactly the presents he wanted—every man, every woman, every child. And every present was just the right size.

Peace lapped the land in an invisible tide of love. The children behaved. Each mother-in-law felt as welcome as a queen. Papa and mama found nothing to quarrel about.

In Louisville a man gave his wife a canary and when she said the bird would never be able to sing the canary promptly warbled "My Old Kentucky Home." The same thing happened in Dallas, except that canary saluted three times with his wing and boomed in baritone, "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."

Every mouse got free cheese, every dog a bone, every cat a nip of catnip.

No housewife burned the turkey. Everybody in every family got to the dinner table on time. Everybody ate until he was full, but nobody ate too much. There wasn't an aspirin or sodium bicarbonate bottle opened all day from Maine to California.

Nobody drank more than he should. Well, yes, one fellow did—an old hermit in the Ozarks. But that's the way he wanted to spend Christmas, because he enjoyed hangovers all by himself. As a matter of fact, that was why he had decided to become a hermit years before.

There wasn't a traffic jam anywhere in the nation, and whenever anybody looked for a parking space he found two, and women drivers found three, so they had no trouble parking either. No cars crashed together or left the high way and turned over.

Accident cases? There wasn't one. No Christmas tree caught on fire, no child fell and was hurt. Nobody became ill.

No doctor got an emergency call. The drugstores closed early. Business was so dull in the hospitals that the interns spent the day proposing marriage to the nurses, which is just the way most nurses like to have hard-working interns enjoy a rest.

Crime? No crime on this Christmas. The pickpockets picked only at a turkey drumstick. The thieves stole only the day off. The bank robbers and outlaws stayed home and read stories to their children. So did the cops.

The weather was just right. It snowed in the ski resorts and everywhere that a child had received a bright new sled. The sun shone brightly and in Miami and Phoenix, and a smog disappeared in California revealing a city promptly identified as Los Angeles. Where the farmers felt the need of rain, clouds gathered in the sky at dusk.

The politicians played the piano instead of politics. The diplomats maintained a diplomatic silence. The word war was uttered or read by no one in all America from dawn to dusk.

Everybody went to bed early, happy and contented, and enjoyed his best sleep in years. Newspapers went to bed early, too, and the editors, rather uneasy at the strange dearth of holiday disasters, let their reporters also go home early—and my, were the reporters' wives surprised at that!

The next morning the Average American, opening his paper, found the front page completely lacking in catastrophe for the first time in his memory. There wasn't even a scandal.

"What's in the paper?" asked his wife.

"Nothing," replied the husband. The Average American, groaning inwardly, then began going through his bankbook, figuring how he would ever pay for his Christmas bills. He found he not only had enough to pay them all—there was enough left over to take the wife and kids on a winter vacation.

Then the Average American went next door to call on his neighbor, and found the neighbor planning a vacation, too.

"Have a nice holiday?" asked the neighbor.

"Yeah, I guess so," said the Average American, and added, "but somehow it didn't seem much like Christmas, did it?"

Moral: The trouble with people is that if you give them a real holiday from trouble they don't feel like people.

Cardinal Visits Korean Troops

Addresses 40th Division, Is Luncheon Guest of Col. 'Monk' Meyer

U. S. 40th DIVISION, Korea (U)—Francis Cardinal Spellman flew across snow-covered mountains today to visit more than 3,300 men of the 40th U. S. Infantry Div.

He stood bareheaded before a microphone and addressed a crowd of 500 men and officers who met him at the division airstrip, including the 9th Corps commander, Maj. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, the 40th Div. commander, Maj. Gen. Ridgely Gaither and 40th Div. Chaplain Lt. Col. William B. Sharp.

The 160th regimental commander, Col. Charles R. (Monk) Meyer, Bradenton, Pa., former West Point football star, was the cardinal's host at a noon meal at his regiment.

Later the Catholic archbishop of

New York talked to more than 2,000 at the 160th Rgt. theater. The cardinal told the men that they should try "to be worthy of their earthly mothers who bore them and their heavenly mother, Mary."

Cardinal Spellman then conferred briefly with Catholic Chaplain Capt. George Schumaker, Sioux City, Iowa, and Capt. Robert Feeney, Scranton, Pa.

The church leader then traveled to the 224th Rgt. where he was the guest of Col. Louis A. Walsh, Manhattan, N. Y.

About 800 men heard the cardinal say: "American soldiers have taught me better than I could have learned in any other way what America means to me."

Blood Donors Jam Hospital

2,000 People Respond to Plea to Save Boy, 13, Shot in Detroit

DETROIT (UP)—An appeal for blood donors to save the life of a 13-year-old boy shot accidentally Christmas Day brought about 2,000 telephone calls and jammed police headquarters and Receiving Hospital switchboards Friday night.

Hospital spokesmen said the response to the appeals was fantastic and asked that no more volunteers apply. Forty-seven pints of blood were donated and seven were obtained from other hospitals.

The youth, James Emmons, was wounded accidentally Christmas Night by a .32 caliber rifle as he looked it over at the home of a friend, Kenneth Berger, 16. Police said Emmons was wounded in the left side and stomach and lost a lot of blood.

He was rushed to Receiving Hospital, which asked for donors with type AB, RH-negative blood. The appeal was carried on several late television and radio broadcasts and hospital and police switchboards "lit up like Christmas trees," spokesmen said.

Emmons, who received 10 transfusions early today, was expected to recover.

Consumers to Sell Stock for Expansion

Consumers Power Co. plans to issue and sell 679,436 shares of common stock in January to raise funds for continuance of an expansion program.

For 12 months ending Nov. 30, earnings stood at $3.08 per share on 6,794,362 shares of common stock outstanding as compared with $2.73 per share on 6,176,693 shares outstanding at the 12-month period ending Nov. 30, 1952. A construction budget of $63,000,000 for 1954 has been approved by the board of directors, according to Justin R. Whiting, chairman of the board.

Business Briefs

Sales of gas by utilities and pipelines in 1956 will total about 71.6 billion therms, a 25.8 per cent gain over this year's estimated sales of 57 billion therms, predicts the American Gas Assn. Sales reached 53.8 billion therms in 1952.

A trend toward larger but fewer stores will continue during 1954, according to spokesmen for Kroger Co. Kroger sales during 1953 will exceed one billion dollars for the second year in a row and consumer income is expected to continue at a high level during 1954.

Northwest Orient Airlines reported today that it carried a record 1,100,000 passengers this year. The previous high was 937,900 in 1952.

A miniature, 35-foot-long automobile assembly line will be exhibited in a Futurliner in General Motors' "Parade of Progress."

The exhibit, called "A Car Is Born," shows how engine, chassis and body are assembled on a moving conveyor line. The whole exhibit is operated by electrical and mechanical controls.

Two Persons Injured in Head-on Collision

Two persons were injured when two autos collided head-on just north of Pontiac on Baldwin road Thursday.

Clyde L. Cromwell, 40, of 310 Coats, Lake Orion, with possible head injuries, and Birdie Buchanan 52, of 112 W. Brooklyn Ave., who suffered fractured fingers, knee and wrist, are in good condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

Mrs. Rebecca Buchanan, 17, of 30 S. Broadway, Lake Orion, was treated for eye cuts.

Mrs. Buchanan's husband, Wallace, 19, told Oakland County sheriff's deputies that he drove into a ditch but still could not avoid a skidding auto driven by Cromwell.

Dixie Tool Is Producing Civilian, Military Goods

(Editor's note: This is another in a series of articles on various business establishments in the Pontiac area.)

By WILLIAM H. THOMAS

With the rise in manufacturing during World War II, many small shops cropped up to pound out needed military goods, then stayed on after the war to give the nation peacetime goods.

One of these, the Dixie Tool and Machine Co. at 2815 Dixie Hwy., started in 1940 with Thomas E. Tillson heading the one-man shop.

As demands for war materiel increased, small shops, including Dixie Tool, expanded.

During these first years, Tillson's company turned out experimental defense work and dies for industry.

One of the sideline products of the company in this period, a capulating machine, was two years in development.

"That really left an impression on me," says Tillson, who only two weeks ago received orders from Spain and China for the machine, although the company has long since turned over production of the complicated device to the Norton Machine Co. of Wooster, Mass.

Combination of gelatin and vitamins or other drugs by this machine makes it easy for the average man to get his extra energy at the neighborhood drug store without bothering with measuring ingredients and without a "bad taste" sometimes associated with medicines.

Engineered by a Pontiac man, Rex Moule, now with the Norton firm, the machine sold for $20,000 while undergoing Tillson's experimentation.

The company, now employing 50 persons and still looking forward to expansion, was started "on 10 acres and a railroad siding," according to Tillson.

About 50 per cent of the effort at Dixie Tool is directed into defense channels, while the other 50 per cent goes to appliance production. Dies, metal stamp-

Federal Reserve Expands at Detroit

DETROIT (U-P)—The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago has announced that after Jan. 1 all transactions with banks in lower Michigan will be handled by the bank's Detroit branch.

The expansion will add 49 counties west and north of a Bay City-Hillsdale line to the Detroit branch's territory. It will transfer supervision of 284 banks with deposits of nearly two billion dollars from the reserve bank's head office in Chicago.

A bank spokesman said the move was made "in recognition of the outstate expansion of the trade area of Detroit."

Surviving are his widow Goldie; two sons, Leroy Kenneth and Lyle Lloyd of Lakeville; his father, J. C. Ellis of Rochester, three sisters and one brother.

Mrs. Howard Hagaman

ROMEO—Service for Mrs. Howard (Nellie J.) Hagaman, 68, of 3553 Dewey Rd. will be at 3:30 p. m. today at Wilbur's Funeral Home, with burial in Romeo Cemetery.

A lifelong community resident, she died Thursday in Mt. Clemens General Hospital.

She is survived by her husband, two sons, Robert and Burton, of Romeo; three sisters, Mrs. Martha Braid and Mrs. Leola Gillespie of Pontiac and Mrs. Marian Phelps of Royal Oak; one brother, Ogden Chamberlin of Washington and three grandchildren.

3 Hurt as 2 Autos Crash on Opdyke

Three persons were injured when two autos collided on Opdyke road in Pontiac Township yesterday, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Mrs. Grace O'Brien, 70, of 15 Highland Rd., Lake Orion, was admitted to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with a back injury and face cuts. Her condition is reported as fair.

Forest Trobridge, 50, of 2016 Com monwealth, Pontiac Township was treated for a back injury and his wife, Belva, 35, suffered leg bruises.

Morgan P. O'Brien, 39, of 1730 Civer, Dearborn, driver of the car in which his mother, Grace was injured, told Deputy Mike Felice that he sounded his horn three times and passed two other vehicles before striking the rear of the Trobridge car.

Mrs. Trobridge, O'Brien told Felice, made a left turn in front of him. Both were southbound on Opdyke road.

Immigrants Set Record for Canada This Year

OTTAWA, Dec. 26 (U-P)—Estimates are that final figures on the number of immigrants coming to live in Canada in 1953 will top the 164,498 who entered in 1952. This year's arrivals are expected to boost to more than 950,000 the number of immigrants admitted to Canada since the end of World War II.

Capital's Bridge Holding Record

100,000 Vehicles Cross Washington Span Daily for Heaviest Count

WASHINGTON—The National Capital, a city of some 20 sizeable bridges, now apparently has a world's record bridge.

Traffic experts believe the record for the heaviest traffic load—some 100,000 automobiles and trucks a day—goes to Washington's Highway Bridge.

Close rivals for this dubious honor are the Manhattan and Queensboro bridges at New York, the Camden-Philadelphia Bridge and the San Francisco Bay Bridge.

Their daily loads, however, have not equaled the 118,000 vehicles that once crossed the two one-way spans over the Potomac River. District of Columbia authorities seek an additional bridge to Virginia to ease the jam.

Most of the world's biggest bridges—arch, suspension, steel truss, movable, timber and floating—have been built in the United States, says the National Geographic Society.

The Golden Gate Bridge at San Francisco and the George Washington Bridge at New York, 4,200 and 3,500 feet respectively, are the longest suspension spans.

The Bayonne Bridge, crossing the Kill van Kull to link Staten Island with New Jersey, is the world's largest arch bridge, spanning 1,652 feet.

The seven-mile San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, which touches on a mid-bay island, is the longest bridge.

Next to it ranks Virginia's James River Bridge, which crosses five miles of water and marsh.

The Chesapeake Bay Bridge, measured from abutment to abutment, is the longest bridge over an unbroken expanse of water.

Plans for new American bridges call for even greater size. A huge Staten Island-Long Island suspension bridge proposed for the New York Harbor narrows would rank first with a span length of 4,820 feet. Its towers would be as high as skyscrapers.

The State of Washington, which has the world's longest floating bridge, crossing Lake Washington for 6,600 feet, will break that record with an 11,666-foot pontoon bridge across Puget Sound.

A projected suspension span across the Straits of Mackinac linking Michigan's two peninsulas would be 3,800 feet long, outranking the George Washington Bridge as the world's second longest.

But the United States may lose some of its laurels if European plans materialize. A proposed suspension bridge across the Bosphorus at Istanbul, Turkey, would be a mile long.

One linking Italy and Sicily across the 400-foot-deep Strait of Messina would be 9,600 feet in overall length with a center span of 5,000.

Canada and Scotland have the two largest cantilever bridges, the Quebec and Firth of Forth spans. Among the largest concrete bridges are those crossing the Angermann River in Sweden and the Esla in northwest Spain.

England has the first all-aluminum bridge. It crosses the River Wear at Sunderland, Durham.

Europe has the largest masonry arches. The record is the 295-foot arch at Plauen, Germany.

For 40 years, however, America held the record with the 220-foot masonry arch at Cabin John Bridge near Washington. It was completed in 1884, and it still carries the city's aqueduct and a road across a creek valley.

Mau Maus Ambush Son of Late British Marshall

NAIROBI, Kenya (U-P)—Maj. Earl Wavell, 37-year-old son of the late British Field Marshal Earl Wavell, has been killed in a Mau Mau terrorist ambush.

The major was leading a small police and army patrol when it was attacked Thursday night. An African policeman and two police officers were wounded. Five terrorists were killed and four captured. Wavell's father, who died in 1950, commanded British World War II forces in North Africa and in Burma.

Building for Orphans

ST. LOUIS, Mich. (U-P)—An anonymous gift of $20,000 has enabled work to start on a new cottage at the Baptist Children's Home north of St. Louis. The new cottage will house an additional 10 orphaned youngsters.

Will Take Hospital Bids

ALMA (U-P)—The board of trustees for the proposed Gratiot Community Hospital said construction bids for the $1,000,000 hospital will be sought in January.

BIDS WANTED
This Board will accept bids for fleet automobile insurance covering 14 motor vehicles for period January 1, 1954 to January 31, 1955. Bids must be presented on or before 10:00 a.m., January 4, 1954.

We reserve the right to reject any or all bids submitted, and the bid may be awarded to the most favorable bidder in the judgment of this Board.

Specifications and a list of motor vehicles may be obtained by contacting this office.
