

Court Order Stops City From Setting Tax Referendum

By BOB WISLER
A city income tax ordinance enacted by city commissioners this fall may yet go through, depending on the outcome of a Circuit Court suit filed yesterday by attorneys for two city employees.

Circuit Judge Philip Pratt yesterday issued a temporary restraining order stopping city commissioners last night from setting a date for a referendum election.

The order was continued this morning by Judge William J. Beer. He said the order would continue until the petition circulators came forward to intervene in the case.

Beer acted after Deputy City Attorney

Thomas Hunter requested a one-day postponement. Hunter said the petition circulators had advised him they would like to defend the petitions in court, rather than having the city's legal department do so.

The suit filed yesterday charged irregularities in the petitions calling for a referendum election on the income tax issue.

Detroit attorney Winston L. Livingston filed the suit on behalf of R. Kenneth Davidson, a Pontiac police officer, and Herbert L. Hay, a firefighter.

The income tax ordinance passed by city commissioners to relieve financial problems affecting the city's general fund budget was challenged when Cecil C. Mullinix of 571 Lowell, an income tax fee, presented some 1,900 signatures on petitions asking for a referendum election.

City Clerk Olga Barkeley subsequently certified more than 1,100 signatures — the number of signatures required to order an election.

Commissioners were expected to pass a resolution last night calling for the election, a move which would delay collection of income taxes at least until the outcome of the election.

While city commissioners would like nothing better than for the suit to be upheld by the court, the city is in a peculiar position — having to defend against the suit.

Thailand, Laos Fear N. Viet Attack

BANGKOK (U) — Thailand's army commander said today three Communist battalions that include North Vietnamese are poised on Thailand's northern border and one is trying to cross. In neighboring Laos, the government declared it faced a general North Vietnamese offensive.

The battalion trying to cross into Thailand totals some 600 men and includes Thai insurgents drilled in North Vietnam, men of the Communist Pathet Lao movement in Laos and Mee tribesmen, said Gen. Phrasas Charusathien, who is deputy premier as well as commander in chief of the army.

To check the threat, Phrasas said, helicopters whirled into Nan province carrying government troops from Chiangrai, in northern Thailand and units from the 3rd Army Headquarters. The area where Thai troops and the Communists were reported facing each other is 350 miles northeast of Bangkok.

The Laotian Defense Ministry said in a communique late yesterday that "reports arriving from various fronts confirm a general North Vietnamese offensive."

It reported attacks over the weekend on government army posts at Nam Bac, in Luang Prabang province, and at Phalane and on the outskirts of Nong

Boualao, both in Savannakhet province, in southeast Laos.

ATTACKS CONTAINED

"Our forces have been able to contain all these attacks," the communique said.

The communique also said that two North Vietnamese battalions had been ordered to move from Mahaxay toward Thakhek, a town on the Mekong River opposite Nakorn Phanom, a Communist hotbed in northeast Thailand.

The Laotian post at Nam Bac, north of Luang Prabang, the Royal Laotian capital, is within 100 miles of where Phrasas said the three Red battalions were arrayed against his forces.

In Washington earlier, sources at the Pentagon and the State Department were included to see nothing particularly serious in the report of Communist activity in Laos.

TIGHTENING DEFENSES

There were suggestions that the Communists were raiding to get provisions from the rice harvest and that they were tightening their defenses along the Ho Chi Minh trail through eastern Laos, which North Vietnamese troops use going to South Vietnam.

However, no U.S. official would discount the possibility that major military activity might be in the offing in Laos.

Communist insurgency has been intensifying in northeast Thailand for two years. Thai government troops have reported killing an estimated 300 terrorists and capturing 4,000 terrorists and sympathizers. Government losses are believed to be about 200 dead.

Romney Talks With Thieu After 'Snub' by Top Marine

From Our News Wires
SAIGON — Gov. Romney conferred with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam yesterday after an apparent snub by the commander of U.S. Marines in Vietnam.

Romney met with Thieu in Independence Palace for 25 minutes yesterday after flying from Da Nang where three appointments to see Lt. Gen. Robert C. Cushman failed to materialize.

In his final day in Vietnam today, Romney flew to the Mekong Delta for a look at pacification projects.

He was scheduled to leave later today for Indonesia, the next stop in his round-the-world tour.

Romney was in Da Nang Monday night

after a whirlwind visit with U.S. fighting men. Cushman left the base Monday to tour the Demilitarized Zone with Gen. William C. Westmoreland.

He said he was too ill to see Romney when he returned and was similarly sick yesterday morning.

Marines close to Cushman said he wasn't happy with the governor's remark that he was "brainwashed" in military briefings during a 1965 tour.

The Michigan governor said again that he had been misled on his previous visit to South Vietnam but that he had gotten a more rounded view this time.

"I indicated very frankly that I was given a conducted tour last time and that this did mislead me," he said.

He expressed anger over the criticism of his statement in a television interview last Sept. 4 that U.S. military and diplomatic officials had "brainwashed" him on his previous visit.

"That's past," he said. "I'm here to discuss the present and the future."

He added that he hoped the U.S. public is not going to hold the status quo against him.

Bob Hope Reporting:

Christmas Busy, Memorable

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another in a series of reports by columnist Bob Hope, who is touring Southeast Asia entertaining U.S. servicemen.)

By BOB HOPE

SAIGON — Many years ago in one of my weaker moments I promised my wife, Dolores, that wherever I was in the world, and whatever I was doing, I would attend midnight Mass on Christmas.

And that's how I started my Christmas day in the chapel of the 4D field hospital just outside of Saigon.

WOODFORD — Construction workers at M50 and Elizabeth Lake Road in Waterford Township wasted no time this morning in lighting a fire to keep warm. When they arrived on the job, the temperature was at a low at seven degrees.

Collision Fatal to Avon Man

A head-on collision in Avon Township last night fatally injured a 25-year-old man and hospitalized four members of his family and the driver of the other car.

Raoulard A. Randolph of 3312 Norton Lawn, Avon Township, died at City Hospital about two hours after the 8:09 accident on Rochester Road near Eastlawn.

Listed in fair condition at the hospital are Randolph's wife, Brinda, 25, and their children, Chantle, 2, Anthony, 5, and Scottie, 4.

The other driver, William D. Wells, 37, of 9457 Dixie, Waterford Township, is also in fair condition.

Ice Warning: Stay off Lakes

Stay off area lakes.

This blunt warning was issued today by Lt. Donald Kratt, director of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department water safety division. He is referring to newly formed ice on the lakes.

"No lake in this area is safe for walking," said Kratt. "There has to be seven subfreezing days, and we haven't had them."

The water safety expert said three inches of ice is the minimum for safe walking, and this will hold "only three average-sized persons walking together."

He also urged fishermen and skaters to be on the lookout for thin spots and air pockets. These can be difficult to see, he said, if there is snow on the ice.

SNOWMOBILE WARNING

Kratt also issued a special warning to snowmobile operators who like to run their vehicles on the lakes.

They should be doubly cautious at this time of year. Snowmobiles need more ice than a fisherman on foot. Recovery costs are high, not to mention possible loss of life."

I attended midnight Mass with Gen. Westmoreland. We had just visited the crowded wards of one of Vietnam's busiest base hospitals.

At its best, such a visit is not easy. But this was Christmas Eve, when you try to get laughs from kids who have been blasted by Claymore mines and booby traps.

As the priest recited the words of the Mass, I couldn't get the picture of these kids out of my mind.

PERFECT SERMON

And the sermon was perfect — short and to the point. The message of Christmas is a simple one . . . peace on earth, good will to man. God, I hope so, and soon.

The day started out on the grim side, but when we cooped out to Long Binh, about 40 miles from Saigon, there was a magnificent sunrise.

As I walked out onto the stage, I couldn't believe what I saw. There, in a natural amphitheater, was the largest service audience that I have ever seen in my life.

There were over 25,000 GI's in front of me, and my spirits really soared.

GREAT SHOW

I don't have to tell you it was a great show.

We didn't need copters to get to our next base. We flew over to Bear Cat on the upstage.

Here, we were met by a tiny audience. There couldn't have been more than 10 or 11,000 men in the ball park.

Actually, I don't dig these little intimate rooms, but even that tiny audience loved the show.

Next, our poopied road company was in Saigon, fighting the war for hot water.

After that it was cleaning up and heading for Christmas dinner at Gen. Westmoreland's.

It was a strange day. Excitement and sadness, happiness and tears. It wasn't my merriest Christmas, but it was one I will not forget for some time to come.

Next Few Days Will Remain Cold

A lull in Michigan's snowy weather left most roads and highways clear today except for isolated but dangerous patches of ice.

The mercury dipped to a seasonal low of 7 above this morning.

The weatherman predicts temperatures will plunge to 3 to 8 above zero tonight.

Variable cloudiness and continued cold is the forecast for tomorrow, and partly cloudy with little temperature change is the outlook for Friday.

Precipitation probabilities in percent are: today 20, tonight and tomorrow 10.

The thermometer reading at 2 p.m. was 23.

UAW Okaying GM Pact, 5-1

DETROIT (UPI) — Members of the United Auto Workers Union are approving a three-year contract with General Motors Corp. by a 5-1 margin, the UAW said today.

With returns from one-third of the union's GM bargaining units counted, both production workers and skilled trades workers were voting for ratification by the same margin, a UAW spokesman said.

The bulk of the UAW's 387,000 members at GM were scheduled to vote today and tomorrow. Voting started a week ago.

Negotiators for GM and the UAW agreed Dec. 15 on a new contract providing for increases in pay and benefits of $1.02 per hour over the three-year contract period.

The provisions were similar to those written into contracts with the Ford Motor Co. after a seven-week strike, and with Chrysler Corp., where negotiators reached agreement four hours prior to a strike deadline.

TO RESUME TALKS

Negotiations between the UAW and American Motors Corp. were scheduled to resume next week.

Still to be resolved were a multitude of local issues standing between GM and the UAW at the plant level.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther has named a subcommittee of the union's GM executive board to set strike deadlines at specific GM plants on an individual basis.

The threat of a companywide strike deadline was averted when negotiators came to terms the day after the UAW's Dec. 14 "target date" for agreement.

Future Is Dim for Bus Service

Bus service for Pontiac residents will probably be available into March, but there is little hope for it after that, according to City Manager Joseph A. Warren.

City commissioners last night were ready to pass a resolution calling for an end to the city's subsidy of the service but deferred a decision in light of new information.

They had been told that a lawsuit brought by two city employees may forestall a referendum on Pontiac's income tax ordinance.

In such a case the city could presumably collect income taxes for 1968 and eliminate need for general operating fund budget cuts announced recently.

Only District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson — a long-time foe of the subsidy — voted against deferring the decision one week, pending outcome of hearings in Circuit Court on the lawsuit.

CURTALMENT LIKELY

Warren, however, told the commission that even if the city did not cancel the subsidy — $35,000 per year — it's quite likely that the Pontiac Transit Corp. will curtail the service.

The company which provides the buses has been losing money for some time. "It might be a race between the City Commission and the bus company as to who is going to phase out first," Warren said.

Half of VC Battalion Wiped Out

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese soldiers and rocket-sweeping American helicopters wiped out half of a Communist battalion Tuesday.

The Red force of less than 500 men left 203 bodies on the coastal battlefield just below the demilitarized zone and dragged off more dead and wounded when it slipped away during the night.

Fifteen South Vietnamese were killed, 59 were wounded, and the gunners of the crack 418th Vietcong Battalion shot down two American helicopters and riddled several more.

Three U.S. helicopter crewmen and an American infantry adviser were wounded, along with one Australian adviser.

MAJOR BATTLE

It was the first major battle after the 24-hour Christmas truce proclaimed by the South Vietnamese. The fighting began more than 12 hours before the end of the three-day cease-fire ordered by the Vietcong.

The battle flared early Tuesday when a South Vietnamese battalion swept out on a search-and-destroy operation northeast of Quang Tri city. The South Vietnamese caught the Red force in the coastal flats and pinned it to the coast as a second government battalion was rushed up with armored vehicles to block the enemy's escape routes.

Artillery and jet planes pounded the Vietcong, and the helicopters whirled in with rockets and machine guns blazing. They were credited with a large part of the enemy casualties.

Heavy fire rained down on the Vietcong throughout the day and into the night, with flare ships lighting the battlefield. By 1 a.m. today the enemy had evidently slipped out on the flanks, leaving 21 rifles and submachine guns and 10 heavier weapons in addition to the dead they could not carry away. Six prisoners were also taken, including one junior officer.

In the air war, U.S. pilots flew 150 missions over North Vietnam Tuesday, the largest number in five weeks.

The cloud ceiling ranged from 2,000 to 3,000 feet over most of the country and only one raid struck deep into the interior, at a boat yard some 20 miles up the Red River from Hanoi.

The other strikes raked coastal roads, rails and canals from below Hanoi to the demilitarized zone. Navy pilots reported 20 sampans blasted out of the water and 20 trucks destroyed or damaged.

Bronson Plans Youth Division

New Unit Will Fight Crime, Drug Abuse

Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson announced this morning he will form a new youth crime division to meet "an alarming increase" in crime, especially drug abuse, among those 17 through 21.

The division will require additional investigators at its head and will aim primarily at education of teachers, students, parents and even police, he said.

He said the division expected to be operating early in January, will require additional funds allocated from the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Bronson said he is confident of cooperation from the supervisors.

One of the undertakings of the division he said, would be the gathering of "empirical data" on drug use, abuse and dependency from a variety of sources including state governments in California and New York where much of this work has been done.

Bronson said drug abuse is prevalent throughout the county, but particularly evident in areas of affluence.

He said it seems that affluence, plus overpermissive parents, provide a fertile climate for drug use.

Areas that are particularly sensitive, he said, are Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham, Royal Oak, Oak Park and Southfield.

City Commission Okays Membership in COG

BIRMINGHAM — The city became the 90th member of the six-county Michigan Council of Governments (COG) last night as the commission unanimously approved joining the voluntary organization.

Unlike some communities where COG has been a controversial issue, Birmingham's discussion of the topic drew objections from only two of the 12 persons in the audience.

The cost of the city's participation in the organization is $1,600.

Most vocal was James H. Walker Jr., 1555 Villa, who had written the commission a lengthy letter outlining his reasons for opposing COG.

"We cannot be so naive," wrote Walker, "as to assume that those who organize these things:

"Are not aware that common ground for voluntary cooperation of school districts and other units is so limited to be negligible. Without equality, there must be domination."

"Do not intend to reorganize with the one-man — one-vote arrangement even though the scale of dues has been based on population."

"Do not rig the bylaws for inordinate power of the executive committee and did not squelch reaction."

"Have not attempted to dissuade the legislature from considering definitive statutes, and they can withdraw 90 days after giving notice, but presently segment of the state."

Diplomatic Answer Sought by LBJ on Cambodia Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — De-military action in Cambodia, President Johnson still hopes to find a diplomatic solution to the problem of Communist forces using Cambodian territory as a sanctuary from which to attack South Vietnam.

U.S. officials said Johnson intends to exhaust all the resources of diplomacy before considering other means of dealing with the problem.

Officials report, however, that pressures are growing inside the Johnson administration for a military action in Cambodia.

The United States has charged several times previously that Communist forces—Vietcong and North Vietnamese—were taking refuge in Cambodia when hard-pressed in South Vietnam and sometimes attacking U.S. and South Vietnamese troops by operations from across the Vietnamese-Cambodian border.

"SINCERE EFFORT"

On Dec. 4, the State Department reported Tuesday, the United States sent a note to the Cambodian government "as part of a sincere effort to provide the Cambodian government with information which would enable it to move toward a solution of a problem we believe should be of concern to the Cambodian government as well as the United States government."

The note proposed strengthening of an international commission for Cambodia to enable it to prevent use of Cambodian territory by the Communists as far as possible.

It also stated, according to a State Department spokesman, that the United States respects "the neutrality, sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity of Cambodia" and "has no hostile intentions toward Cambodia or Cambodian territory."

BETTY FURNESS

Companies Urged to Tell Product's Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — Betty Furness, special adviser on consumer affairs to President Johnson, urged today that manufacturers tell purchasers exactly how long a product can be expected to last.

"Why shouldn't the housewife know that there are 'X' number hours of service in her washing machine or that the life expectancy of a toaster falls short of a golden wedding anniversary?" said Miss Furness.

"The manufacturer knows, and the marketer knows, what the design-life of a product is. Shouldn't the consumer also know?" she added.

Her comments came in a speech prepared for a meeting of the American Marketing Association.

Fire Near Charlevoix Destroys AF Trailers

CHARLEVOIX (UPI) — A truck towed a mobile trailer loaded with ammunition to safety yesterday as a blaze destroyed 17 other trailers at an Air Force bomb-scoring site near this northern Michigan community.

Firemen estimated damage would run into millions of dollars, but no definite estimate was immediately available.

The 95 members of the 12th detachment of the 10th Radar Bomb Scoring Squadron, Strategic Air Command, at this Bay Shore base, all lived off the base, and no injuries were reported.

Headquarters of the squadron are at Barksfield Air Force Base, Shepheard, La.

Firemen from four neighboring communities fought the fire for two and a half hours to keep the magnesium-fed flames from spreading.

TRAILERS DAMAGED

But though tank trucks formed a mechanized bucket brigade, hauling water from a nearby farm to the fire, the 17 mobile trailers containing sensitive electronic gear used to measure the accuracy of bombers passing over the area were either destroyed or severely damaged.

The blaze apparently started in a trailer holding air-conditioning equipment that cooled the electronic gear used to compute and record "bomb hits," firemen said.

Some 685 persons were killed from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday.

Holiday Road Toll Forecast: 460-540

CHICAGO (AP) — Between 460 and 540 persons will lose their lives on the nation's highways over the three-day New Year holiday observance, says the National Safety Council.

The death count will run from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday.

The council's estimate was issued Tuesday as the final death toll figure for the three-day Christmas weekend became available.

Greek King May Return Soon

ATHENS (AP) — Reliable sources said today King Constantine may return to Greece after New Year's Day and will be greeted by Premier George Papadopoulos, accompanied by Deputy Premier Stylianos Papadopoulos, flew off for northern Greece for a tour of the provinces.

The grand monarch of the royal court, Leonidas Papagos, who fled to Rome with the King after the abortive Dec. 13 coup returned from Rome Tuesday, reportedly to prepare for the king's return. He said he came back to attend to some personal problems.

Reliable sources said the royal family probably would land at a military air base near Athens to avoid curious crowds.

Some sources speculated that the royal plane would land at Tatoi air base, near the Greek royal family's permanent suburban residence from where the king started out early on Dec. 13 to begin his abortive coup.

Papadopoulos in a New Year's message to Greeks residing abroad, urged their return, saying that the country, having been cleansed, reorganized and modernized at such a rapid pace so that, within a short time, it will be able to offer the happiness of work to all of its citizens who have emigrated."

Egypt to Clear Southern Half of Suez Canal

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt has finally agreed to clear the southern half of the Suez Canal and release 15 foreign ships trapped in the waterway, the semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram indicated today.

Al-Ahram, which often speaks for President Gamal Abdel Nasser, said Nasser's government "undertook an extensive study of the problem in all its aspects" and established that clearance of the southern part of the waterway was "feasible."

The paper said the government made the study in response to repeated requests from Poland, France and Britain, which have ships trapped in the canal, and from India.

Egypt turned down a similar request last September, insisting that no part of the canal could be cleared until Israeli troops withdrew from the east bank of the canal and other territories they occupied in the June war.

BARGAINING LEVER

By refusing to clear the northern end of the canal and reopen it to navigation, Nasser would still retain a bargaining lever to support his demands for Israeli withdrawal.

Miami Police Chief Plans 'War on Negro Hoodlums'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Police Chief Walter Headley says that community relations programs in the city's Negro district have failed, so his officers are under orders to combat with shotguns and dogs "young hoodlums who have taken advantage of the civil rights campaign."

"Felonies will learn that they can't be banded out from the morgue," Headley told reporters at a news conference.

Criticism from civil rights leaders was swift even as beefed-up patrols in the Central Negro District began enforcing the city's "stop and frisk" law — searching persons on the street without arrest or warrant. A lieutenant said six 3-man task force cars and five K-9 cars were in the district in addition to regular patrols Tuesday night.

"We don't mind being accused of police brutality," Headley said. "They haven't seen anything yet."

YOUNG HOODLUMS

"Ninety per cent of our Negro population is law abiding and wants to eliminate our crime problem," Headley said. "But 10 per cent are young hoodlums who have taken advantage of the civil rights campaign."

Headley, chief of the department for 19 years, said he took his action after the Christmas holiday weekend in which there were 58 violent crimes in the area, including three murders.

"In only three, white criminals were involved; the rest were Negro men," Headley said.

"Community relations and all that sort of thing has failed," Headley said. "We have done everything we could, sending speakers out and meeting with Negro leaders. But it has amounted to nothing."

IN CONTRAST

Headley's statement was in contrast to recent comment by Dade County Sheriff E. Wilson Purdy who has credited his department's community relations programs and special training projects with successfully preventing civil disorders.

"We haven't had any serious problems with civil uprising and looting because I've let the word filter down that when the looting starts, the shooting starts," the chief told newsmen. "These are my orders: Not three days after, but now."

Chicago Gets Gift of Trees

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago will be 100 flowering trees prettier, thanks to the generosity of Temple Shalom, which is observing the 100th anniversary of its founding.

Dr. Louis Binstock, rabbi of the Jewish religious congregation, presented Mayor Richard J. Daley a $5,000 check Tuesday for buying the trees.

Dr. Binstock said the trees, one for each year of the congregation's age, will serve as a lasting "thank you" to the city.

Safety experts are recommending the use of plastic gasoline tanks for trucks, since the polyethylene material is highly resistant to shock in accidents and the tanks are 21 pounds lighter and can be easily molded to fit into previously unused chassis space.

"This is war," he said. "I meant it, every bit of it."

Headley, 62, who joined the force as a patrolman in 1937, became chief Aug. 11, 1948. He successfully fought moves to replace him in the past.

When a reporter asked what reaction he expected, Headley said, "I don't care how anyone reacts. My job is to enforce the peace and I'm going to do it to the best of my ability. I hope I have the support of the whole city, including the city leaders."

COMMON TERMS

Mayor Stephen P. Clark, who was not present at the news conference, said later, "I am confident Chief Headley and his police force will take the proper steps to combat crime on the streets. When you deal with murderers you have to deal on common terms. Felons, especially people who take life in their own hands, will be treated in like kind."

Marvin Davies of Tampa, Fla., state field director for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said, "We will do all we can to get him (Headley) to resign. If necessary, we will get a lawsuit to keep him from enforcing this type of arbitrary action. I'll be before the City Council trying to get him suspended until his attitude changes."

"We still want to maintain our cool, as we call it," Davies said. "Some people are going to break the law despite hell or high water."

Ike Reported Disenchanted With Romney

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times reports that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has eliminated Michigan Gov. George Romney as a serious contender for the Republican presidential nomination.

The Times quoted an unnamed golfing partner Monday as saying that the 78-year-old general's disenchantment with Romney is based on the governor's failure to take clear-cut stands on major issues—not on Romney's statement that he had been "brainwashed" on the Vietnam war.

"I think that statement was likely misinterpreted to mean something the governor did not intend to convey," Eisenhower said of Romney's "brainwashing" comment.

"But since then he has been on so many sides of so many questions that one begins to wonder just where he does stand," he said. "He sounds like a man in a panic. And a man who panics is not the best candidate for president."

The former president is quoted in a Times story from Indio, Calif., where he is spending the winter. It appeared Monday.

Though Eisenhower plans to attend the GOP convention in Miami if his health permits, he has been telling friends he does not plan to make any prior endorsements.

At the convention itself and during the campaign, he expects to play a minor role.

"Aside from doing what's expected of me at the convention I might make three or four speeches in support of a candidate that I can accept and support sincerely," he has said. "But I don't think I should go halfway across the country to give such talks."

Eisenhower reportedly confided to one friend recently that a Rockefeller-Reagan ticket might be regarded as "a rather obvious political contrivance."

Water Main Construction Authorized by Pontiac Twp.

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — The Township Board last night approved a water main construction under South Boulevard near Hampton.

Object of the line, according to Supervisor Roy Wahl, is for fire safety purposes for two subdivisions there, one in Pontiac Township and one in Bloomfield Township.

He said the $5,000 cost would be shared by the two townships.

Either township would be able to use the main in the event of a fire in Bloomfield Orchards or the Foxcroft subdivision.

In other business, the supervisor reported the board approved the graveling of three streets — Nichols, Slocum and Gray.

Wahl said the township's cost would be about $2,500 with rest of the cost being paid by lot owners at $12 per lot.

Wahl said a fourth street — Coughlin — may be added to the project if enough residents request the graveling.

The supervisor indicated that the four to six inches of gravel may be spread in January or February, if weather permits.

In still other business, the board appointed Stanley Prescott, 907 Province-town, to fill an unexpired term on the Township Planning Commission.

New and reconditioned radios were ordered purchased last night for the fire department at an estimated total cost of $1,355 plus installation.

Burglary Exam Is Postponed

ROCHESTER — Municipal Court examination of two area males — suspected of an alleged burglary at a Rochester police officer's home — has been delayed for two weeks.

Judge Roscoe Martin said he set the delay because neither man had legal representation when he appeared for examination yesterday.

Based on the two — Terry L. Biney, 28, of 1238 Meadowlawn, Pontiac, and Dalton L. Burnett, 21, of 2516 James, Pontiac Township, was reduced from $2,500 to $1,000 each. Biney has since posted bond, but Burnett remained in Oakland County Jail as of this morning.

The two were picked up last week at the home of police officer Douglas Ehle, 743 Ludlow, where entry had been gained to an enclosed front porch.

Police found burglary tools in the pair's car and pry marks on one of the doors into the house.

2 Women Appointed to Board of Canvassers

ROCHESTER — Mrs. Mary Schnaidt has been reappointed and Mrs. Catherine Johnson newly appointed to the city's board of canvassers.

The council last night considered and approved two new resolutions dealing with urban renewal financing. The sale, issuance and delivery of preliminary loan notes totaling $713,396 was approved.

Tale of Male and Mail

Draft Brings Sudden Chill

L. GARY THORNE
Assistant City Editor—Suburban

I am afraid I have offended my draft board. In these perilous times, this is not something you want to do.

What with sit-ins, chainings and the pouring of blood on Selective Service files at various points across the land, draft board members lately are rather testy, to put it mildly.

THORNE

The "hang-up" for the protesters, of course, is the Vietnam war. Selective Service has set up a shuttle between the U.S. and the Southeast Asia country.

In any event, draft boards, the President and recruiting offices seem to be taking the brunt of the abuse from those who are opposed to war, both generally, and specifically in Vietnam.

My relationship with my draft board, which, is now nearly 10 years old, has been friendly if not exactly close. I figure that if they don't bother me, I won't annoy them with my opinion.

CORRESPOND REGULARLY

Naturally, over the years we've corresponded regularly, although admittedly one-sidedly. I dutifully notify my board when I change addresses, marry, or conceive children.

Sometimes I get the feeling that my letters are not read. The board's periodic replies are still sent to the address I had when I graduated from high school.

However, recently I have begun to believe that they are updating their files. The questionnaires are coming more frequently.

Their sudden interest—each time I see the return address on the envelope my heart skips a couple of beats—is not at all appreciated. I did not feel neglected to begin with.

DEADLINES

The draft board works its mysterious ways via deadlines. You have so many days in which to reply. This is the essence of how I innocently perturbed my draft board.

Perhaps more so than traffic regulations, draft laws I try to obey.

I had received the board's questionnaire in plenty of time for a prompt reply. This I intended to do, honest.

However, my wife took the self-addressed, stamped envelope that the board kindly enclosed and used it for a scratch pad.

DIFFICULTY

This is no big problem under normal circumstances. You get a plain envelope and stamp from the office and mail them. However, on Sunday night at midnight this is difficult to do.

It is equally difficult to find a store open to purchase the required postal instruments.

Hence, the reply to the draft board enters the mails a day—a full 24 hours—late. Gen. Hershey, I'm sorry!

SNOW FUN — A holiday snowfall means a chance to try out Christmas sleds for Jay Noonan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Noonan, 5505 Chickadee, and Marc Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arlon Perry, 5543 Chickadee, both of Independence Township.

Zone, Building Code Airing Set

CLARKSTON — A special meeting to consider a new zoning ordinance and building codes has been called by the council for 8 p.m. tomorrow, according to Mayor Robert Wertman.

Also due for probable discussion is the proposed plan to extend business zoning in the downtown area and to consider annexation plans which were first introduced last August.

Wertman said, "The extended commercial zoning and the annexation has been delayed for lack of proper building codes."

"Our attorney will be present Thursday night to go over the codes. If the council does decide to adopt them, there is some chance that the other matters will be discussed."

Hanging fire for the past four months has been a proposal to annex Independence Township land that would triple the size of the present village.

OPPOSITION

Public hearings regarding the matter generated strong opposition from the residents involved and two separate sets of petitions protesting the move were circulated.

Because Clarkston is a general law village, annexation would require no vote of the people, only approval by the County Board of Supervisors.

Also in line for opposition from residents was a plan proposed by the village which would expand the current business area along Main Street and eliminate high-rise building zoning from the area.

Many residents on streets adjacent to the business area opposed the expansion as a danger to their property, but others voiced disapproval and fear that a large shopping center would develop in the primarily quiet, residential town.

A public hearing on the ordinance last August saw about 80 people turn out to voice objections.

DANGER

The expansion was proposed at that time, according to Councilman Dave Leak, because both Community National Bank and the Post Office had signified they were looking for enlarged quarters.

Leak said there was a real danger that the village would lose both institutions if they were not allowed to expand.

Since that time a spot zoning attempt in regard to Methodist Church property on Buffalo and Church streets to allow the Post Office to build there was defeated.

Some 80 homes are contemplated in the area, according to Mayor W. E. McAtee, but no definite plans for construction were given.

The approval was sought to beat the new Plat Act deadline Jan. 1, McAtee said.

Request for 24-hour police dispatcher service from Wixom General Store was referred to the police chief for comment and further discussion at the council's next regular meeting Jan. 9.

A special meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday was called for the purpose of considering sewer ordinances governing operating agreements.

The council accepted the low bid of West Brothers Lincoln-Mercury of Plymouth for an new police car. With trade-in, the cost will be $1,700, McAtee said. The city has two police cars.

Michigan Man Dies on Detroit-Bound Jet

CHICAGO (UPI) — A Michigan man collapsed and died of an apparent heart attack yesterday, moments after he and his wife boarded an American Airlines plane bound for Detroit.

Airlines officials said Wayne Forrey, 56, Madison Heights, was returning home with his wife, Florence, following a Christmas visit with their daughter, Mrs. Carolyn Pringle of Chicago.

Forrey was an employee of the Borg Warner Norge Division.

Detroit Open-Housing Opponent Sees Success in Signature Drive

DETROIT (AP) — The leader of a petition drive aimed at halting Detroit's open housing ordinance before it becomes law Jan. 1 said Tuesday he was sure he had more than the necessary 44,000 signatures.

"I'm confident we'll exceed that by a healthy margin," said Henry Dodge, head of the Northwest Detroit Council of Civic and Consumer Associations.

Dodge said his organization is basically a coordinating body for a number of home owner groups on West Detroit.

He said they represent 250,000 home owners through other associations and members at large.

His self-imposed deadline on the petitions ended yesterday.

WILL BE FILED

Dodge said the petitions will be filed at 11 a.m. Friday in the Detroit city clerk's office.

He hesitated to guess on how many names had been obtained.

"Our accounting is not complete. We have various subfiles. We won't know until actual filing time," Dodge said.

The petitions, if valid, would suspend the recently passed ordinance until a citywide vote is held at the next general election. That would be in August.

4-2 VOTE

The Detroit Common Council adopted the ordinance by a 4-2 vote a month ago and Mayor Jerome Cavanagh has signed it.

The ordinance would make it a misdemeanor to discriminate in sales or rentals of houses and apartments on the open market.

Dodge said "quite a few" Negroes signed the petitions.

He said "They feel the same way we do. Actually they have more at stake. They moved from the inner city to what they consider adequate and nice neighborhoods and they don't want to be confronted with economic loss."

"Forced open housing is very distasteful. Basically, it takes your property rights away from you. The government puts itself in the position of saying under what condition and to whom you can sell property," he said.

Bills Get Bigger

Tax Impact Is Felt

Householders, already beset with the costs of Christmas, are entering the new year under a double burden.

The December tax bills have been issued, and taxes are up—reportedly as much as 35 per cent in some communities.

A large share of area home owners will need a budget revamping to take care of higher house payments. Taxes, commonly paid from mortgage escrow funds, are expected to increase the monthly bill. Other home owners will have to dig deeper within the coming two months.

Based on the public outcry, the impact of assessing property at a true 50 per cent of market value as required under State Constitution is still being felt. Since property values in Oakland County continue on an upswing and in only a few instances has millage been lowered, the bills get bigger.

The December billing—actually a listing of county, school and township taxes—is the big one. Most cities and villages sent out their tax bills last July. The bills were, comparatively speaking, small.

The tax listings below, a compilation contained in a report by the Oakland County auditor general — local taxes committee, are not 100 per cent accurate.

They are approximate and do not include special assessments or a possible 2 per cent collection and surplus-of-roll fee added on in some instances.

Most areas in the county are assessing at 50 per cent of market value, but some areas are not. In the latter case, an equalizing factor must be applied to the rates in the table.

Six area townships have a factor of two or more. They are: Waterford, 2.13; Rose, 3.01; Addison, 2.88; Lyon, 2.50; Farmington, 2.01; and Brandon, 2.88.

APPLY RATE IN TABLE

Most tax bills, however, should carry a state equalized valuation. If you know your SEV, simply apply the rate listed in the table.

Remember the rates below do NOT include special assessments and will only be accurate to within 2 per cent.

Included in the total rates listed below is the county tax rate of $5.75 per $1,000 SEV.

Romney to Use Homes as Campaign HQs

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Michigan Gov. George Romney plans to use 1,000 to 1,500 private homes as campaign headquarters during an extensive grass-roots campaign for the Republican presidential nomination in 1968, a spokesman said yesterday.

Use of the "home headquarters" was decided upon following a Dec. 19 poll by campaign consultants. Romney has used the technique in three successful gubernatorial campaigns in Michigan.

The poll, taken by campaign consultants, showed Romney's popularity slipping with Republicans but indicated he could regain lost ground with a forceful and personal campaign.

Wyn Gilham, executive director of the Wisconsin Romney for President Committee, said he was "encouraged" by the poll.

"But I think there are a lot of things we're going to have to do right if we're going to win," he said. "There is a great deal of support that could go to Romney, especially if he comes to the state and makes positive statements on issues."

SCHEDULE

Romney's schedule calls for at least 23 trips to Wisconsin between Jan. 20 and the April 2 presidential primary, Gilham said.

In the last few weeks before the election, Romney will be in the state "almost daily."

The schedule will have him spending 20-25 per cent of his time at the "home headquarters." Romney was expected to concentrate much of his attention on Milwaukee.

Gilham said a "great deal" of Romney support has come from normally Democratic areas such as Milwaukee and Madison.

Baltimore Center's Corner Is Sinking

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The chief plant engineer for Baltimore's Civic Center, Robert C. Fox, says the facility's southeast corner has sunk one and three-eighths inches over the last three years.

Fox said borings will be made next month to determine just what has caused the slant in the five-year-old structure's floor.

He said it may cost as much as $100,000 to get the floor on the level again.

Dave Brubeck Quartet Splits Up

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The sidemen, the pair settled on of members of the Dave Brubeck drummer Joe Morello and bassist Gene Wright six years later. Quartet went their own ways.

In the 11 years the four improvised together with counterpoint shifting but insistent rhythms, they rose as a quartet and individuals to the top of the nation's jazz polls.

GOODWILL TOUR

The State Department sent the quartet on a goodwill tour to Russia. Their "Time Out" album sold in the millions. "Take Five"—played in difficult 5-4 time—rose to a lofty perch in popular music ratings. And the quartet kept up a ceaseless round of performances at concert halls, nightclubs and colleges and universities throughout the world.

Brubeck said the group's breakup was a unanimous desire to branch into something else and end their vagabond existence.

The earth's average temperature has dropped one half of one degree Fahrenheit since 1860, reversing a trend that saw temperature rising slowly. The average temperature is now what it was in 1850.

County Airs Its Airport Plans

Development of the area's airport facilities — one of the considerations that dictated transfer of the Pontiac Municipal Airport to Oakland County ownership last January — is rapidly taking shape.

A master plan for this facility, renamed Oakland-Pontiac Airport, would provide extension of the east-west runway from 5,300 to 6,200 feet, a new 3,250-foot runway paralleling it for small planes and lengthening of an existing small-plane runway from 2,400 to 3,200 feet.

Augmenting these operational basics would be the installation of an Instrument Landing System (ILS) for the east-west runway. Some 10 acres of property will have to be acquired east of the airport. Also blueprinted is the construction of badly-needed additional hangars to the north for privately-owned planes.

This phased concept, envisioned for completion in 1970, would increase the airport's capacity from 200,000 operations (landings, takeoffs) per year to 300,000, and hangar space for 425 planes to 550.

Cost of the upgrading is estimated at $4.5 million, about two-thirds of which would be borne by State and Federal agencies.

But with the air age scarcely more than in its infancy and accelerating with fantastic rapidity, the Oakland-Pontiac Airport will have reached its capacity by completion date of the expansion program.

To insure additional capacity, County authorities have wisely included in the master plan development of the Oakland-Orion Airport, formerly known as Allen Airport, that would provide two 7,000-foot runways (one north-south, the other east-west) and two others approximating 6,000 feet each. The latter would parallel the former, thus assuring full flight option.

The Oakland-Orion concept includes ILS installation, an operating tower central to the runway pattern, prime auxiliary ground facilities and an ample parking area off M-24.

Since considerable additional acreage and extensive adaptation of existing utility facilities would be involved in bringing the concept into reality, no cost estimates have been established — though here again the State and Federal governments would assume the major share of capital outlay.

Current operations at Oakland-Pontiac Airport rank it third in the State, surpassed only by Metropolitan and Detroit City. But it is essential that the local facility close the gap between its present inadequacy and modern requirements if Oakland County — Michigan's second most populous — is to hold its top position in the region's booming aeronautical climate.

Opinion Polls Shift With the Tide of Events

One of the latest public opinion surveys reports that interest in the space program has dropped to its lowest level in four years.

Nobody should be surprised at this, or read more into it than it warrants.

Even if space travel is mankind's greatest adventure, it is asking too much to expect the individuals who make up mankind to remain constantly enthused about something they can take no personal part in.

Nor should too much weight be given the dip or rise in the latest poll regarding the President's popularity, or the shifting rankings of the national problems that are uppermost in people's minds.

Opinion polls should not be discounted, of course. They can be useful guides — straws in the wind, as the politicians say — especially if taken at regular intervals and compared.

But there is danger in these instant analyses of public thinking, unless they are kept in proper perspective. The safest conclusion is that it merely suggests how the assumed average person feels about a particular issue at a particular time.

With space programs and presidents, we are pretty much stuck with what we have committed ourselves to. Great changes should not be undertaken lightly or too frequently.

The Founding Fathers knew what they were doing when they decided that four years was long enough and short enough a period to entrust any administration with the responsibility of running the country — and that every four years was often enough to entrust the citizens of the Nation with the power to pass the ultimate verdict on the way the job was being done.

MORRIS

—Or Maybe Just The Hotels Are Full!

Vietnam Critics' Ad Is Off-Base

WASHINGTON — Perhaps the most puzzling aspect of the Vietnam war is that some of the people who are supposed to be knowledgeable and well-informed apparently know very little about the direct relationship between what is happening in Southeast Asia and the security of the United States.

As an example, a paid advertisement published yesterday in the New York Times and signed by 496 persons contained a message to the President of the United States which said:

"We in the bookpublishing industry and library profession want you to hear our voices raised along with those of many other informed, responsible citizens in the worlds of business, the professions and the arts.

"The United States is the most powerful nation on earth. Let us act with responsibility. Let us have the wisdom and the courage and the compassion for humanity to end the war in Vietnam now."

The signers of the communication to the President claim they are "acting as individuals" and that the affiliations with their different companies were given only for "identification." The declaration ends with this demand:

"Let us stop sending the young men of our country across the world to be killed. Let us stop destroying the people and the economy of Vietnam. Let us stop bombing North Vietnam and start negotiating now!"

No consideration evidently is given by the signers to the effects of an American surrender in Vietnam or of the consequences to the peoples of the rest of the world, particularly in Southeast Asia.

"CIVILIZED APPROACH" The advertisement declares that "military assessments of the war in Vietnam have proved tragically wrong," and that it is time "for a civilized, civilian approach to the problem."

Yet the allied military forces in Vietnam have been restrained from using maximum power by that very same thing — civilian caution and a fear of political consequences. The military men have never been given full authority to conduct the war as they think it should be.

Furthermore, in an interview published last Sunday morning in the New York Times, Dwight Eisenhower, who was president of the United States for eight years and who knows both the civilian and military points of view, really gave the answer to those who want to surrender in Vietnam. He said:

"To pull out now under whatever guise would mean the end ultimately of all the free and independent countries of that area (Southeast Asia).

"You pull out our armed forces from South Vietnam and it will only be a question of time before every country up to the borders of India falls under the Communist heel. That includes Laos and Cambodia — right next door — as well as Thailand and Burma, and I'm not too sure about India, either, once they have got that far."

President Johnson has tried in every way to persuade the North Vietnamese government to come to the conference table. So when a demand is made that the United States stop the war now, this means, in effect, that America should withdraw in abject surrender and let Southeast Asia take care of itself.

Recently 14 professors and scholars in universities in this country who have specialized in Asian affairs warned against accepting a Communist victory in Vietnam and said:

"These are not developments conducive to a long-range peace. They are more likely to prove precursors to larger, more costly wars."

Greece's Yule Amnesty Painful to 2 Dictators

NEW YORK — The Christmas amnesty in Greece was a wrenching change of mind for the men who declared that dictators Papadopoulos and Patakos. Last month in Athens they assured us that the military trials of the 2,600 who would go forward as quickly as possible.

Both were particularly bitter toward their No. 1 political prisoner, Andreas Papanastasiou, former U.S. citizen and economics professor at Berkeley.

Brigadier Patakos said there was no question in his mind that Papadopoulos is a Communist. He expressed himself as impatient about the delay in getting the conspiracy trial under way, and in the course of the interview, made a note to prod the tribunal.

It was to be a public trial with a built-in verdict of life imprisonment, or so it seemed to us. Now he's free.

Moishe Dayan told George Romney he was pleased that Romney would call on Jordan's King Hussein after leaving Israel. That was predictable.

In the midst of all the hate that ebbs and flows across the borders of Israel and her Arab enemies there is a marked Israeli sympathy for an interest in Hussein.

Of all the Arab leaders, Hussein is considered the one most inclined toward recognizing the existence of Israel and cooperating with its people. However, he is under heavy pressure to suppress those sentiments, indeed, he would be assassinated in all probability if he made a unilateral move toward rapport.

Dayan and all other members of the Israeli military express admiration for the manner in which Hussein comported himself during the swift preventive war last June.

'Our Streets Get Less Service This Year'

It is too bad that the Department of Public Works in Pontiac does not treat everyone equally. I have lived on Mill for 24 years and in the past our street was well taken care of. Last year we had to beg for the snow plow to come any further than the Pontiac Retail Store property. Today the salt truck came to the end of Pontiac Retail property and turned around. I wonder if our street can have some service.

Comments on Defeat of Open Housing Bill

Congratulations to state representatives who had the moral courage to oppose the so-called fair housing legislation. Their unyielded sense of justice says a lot about them. The attempts of open housing advocates in the State House of Representatives to legislate morality, negate property rights and voluntarily sell themselves and their constituents into legalized economic slavery, says even more about them.

Their attempts can be blamed on their ignorance, irrationality or warped sense of justice, but those legislators who attempted to render the bill ineffective and nonenforceable through crippling amendments, thus trying to satisfy their consciences, are guilty of an ugly form of dishonesty, attempting to pass a law which they know is unworkable.

O milk of human kindness, whither flewst thou? As I stood in a restaurant waiting for a take-out order, across Saginaw Street stood a blind man in a downpour tapping his white cane on the curb, indicating his wish to cross. At least 20 persons went past and no one reached out a helping hand to guide him across the busy intersection. My position was not conducive to reaching him. He finally gave up and stood huddled in a doorway as the shoppers continued to rush by.

NY Dem Prods Public Conscience

By CARL P. LEURSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Can a little-known congressman with little seniority have an impact on the vast federal governmental structure?

Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, a 44-year-old Democrat rounding out his sixth year as representative of a Queens, N.Y., district, thinks so.

"One congressman with a fair amount of clutzpah can awaken the public conscience," says Rosenthal, using the Yiddish word for nerve.

A lawyer who maintains the average citizen is frequently overlooked in the governmental process, Rosenthal has in the past few months launched campaigns for greater aviation safety, improved medical care including a shift away from the federal emphasis on medical research, and greater representation for the consumer's viewpoint.

A series of hearings by a special House subcommittee he heads spotlighted higher prices and inferior merchandise in the poverty area outlets of supermarkets, chain stores and drug stores. And Rosenthal is now investigating the sale to the public of millions of dollars of items manufactured for the government and rejected as inadequate.

NECESSARY TO PROD Rosenthal is a firm believer that "government responds to the public's awareness" but that it is first necessary to stir that awareness.

He is a refreshing difference from the ordinary junior congressman who tends to his committee work and waits for seniority.

His recent news conference on the nation's health needs is an example of how he operates. He sought to get one major point across — that health care in the United States is not what it should be.

"We're not No. 1 or even No. 2," he said.

RANKS U.S. 21st The New York Democrat then displayed statistics showing the United States ranks 21st in the life expectancy of infants, and 18th in infant mortality. Others showed the number of family doctors in the United States has dropped from 94 to 50 per 100,000 people in the past 35 years while reliance on foreign doctors in this country is increasing.

Rosenthal insists "these matters will not await the end of a war, the beginning of a Congress, the results of an election or any other irrelevant event. They demand presidential and congressional action now."

His news conference, held shortly after Congress adjourned this year, was similar to one three months ago during the congressional Labor Day recess at which he publicized his concern with safety over the nation's cities by citing evidence of more than 80 near-collisions over New York City in the past three years.

He said the Federal Aviation Administration has already adopted one of his proposals, to give pilots immunity to testify about near-misses, and is considering two others — thinning out air space over congested areas and increasing the proficiency of pilots, including those of private planes.

Rosenthal said he expects the entire question of health to be aired next year in hearings by the intergovernmental relations subcommittee on which he serves.

Prisoner Revolt Quieted After 3 Guards Stabbed

WEAPON SEARCH

Both Hancock and Arthur denied stabbing the guards, and officers canvassed the prison early today for weapons on other inmates.

The prisoners, Donald Lee Hancock, 21, and William T. Arthur, 29, turned over their weapons without further resistance and were placed in a maximum security unit.

The warden's action ended a

Hollingsworth and Currie, both with stab wounds in the chest and abdomen, were listed in serious condition at a hospital, and Fields, stabbed in the back, was described as fair.

Alerted at his home after the outbreak, Henderson rushed to the prison and found Hancock and Arthur with a knife at the throat of another guard, Byron Bean.

'CUT IT OUT'

"I told them to cut that stuff out, that such things didn't go on inside a prison," said the warden.

Hancock is serving a 55-year term in the slaying of a state trooper at Shelbyville, Tenn., and Arthur, convicted in Chattanooga of armed robbery and murder, has a 100- to 109-year term.

Billy Dee of the Clyde Beavers Band, which was performing at the Christmas show, said the group was in its last number when we heard a loud groan or scream coming from the back. It was loud enough to carry of our playing.

"That was when they got the first guard," Dee said.

Henderson said most of the prisoners proceeded calmly to the cell blocks after the stabbings, and authorities at all times had the situation under control.

4 Victims Still Submerged in Ohio River

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (UPI) — Rescue workers labored today to recover the two autos with four victims still submerged in the Ohio River where the Silver Bridge collapsed with a roar under bumper-to-bumper traffic Dec. 15.

John A. Wilson, director of civil defense for Mason County, said yesterday all the trucks and all but two of the autos have been recovered since the disaster, which has taken 35 lives so far.

State police said today 14 persons still were missing. With four bodies in the two autos sighted by rescue workers, police said the others unaccounted for apparently drowned while trying to swim from their vehicles.

Wilson said, following yesterday's operations, that 19 autos, five tractor-trailers, two dump trucks and a pickup truck had been dredged from the river bottom.

Col. William Falek of the Army engineers said the rest of the bridge's superstructure would be hauled from the river in the next five or six days.

He estimated 2,000 tons of steel have been removed already.

When all the twisted metal is recovered from the water, experts will assemble the bridge piece-by-piece for clues to its collapse.

Peace Corps to Pull Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — After four years in Gabon, the Peace Corps will pull its volunteers out at the request of the government of that West African nation.

A corps spokesman said Tuesday no reason was given by the Gabonese for the request. But he said the government expressed "sincere thanks" for the corps' work.

"We go to a country at the invitation of the host government, and whenever a government wishes us to leave, we do so willingly," said the spokesman. At present there are 41 men and 11 women volunteers in the Colorado-sized, French-speaking nation. In the Peace Corps' seven-year history, volunteers have been withdrawn from six other countries—Guinea, Mauritania, Cyprus, Ceylon, Indonesia and Pakistan.

In a submarine, noise levels must be held to an absolute minimum since vibration interferes with its sonar system and can lead to detection by enemy vessels.

Alcohol Still No. 1 Cause of Traffic Deaths in State

EAST LANSING (AP) — Traffic deaths. The state had 22 highway deaths over the Christmas weekend, lowest since 1963 when 17 persons died in fatal traffic accidents on the highways, a State Police traffic analyst says.

Sgt. Don Calcaterra of the State Police headquarters in East Lansing said seven of the 18 drivers involved in fatal traffic accidents over the Christmas weekend "definitely had been drinking." A total of 21 persons died in the wrecks.

Five drivers had not been drinking and no determination has been made on the remaining six motorists.

Michigan ranked 12th among states in Christmas traf-

Teamsters Vote on Pact Today

DETROIT (AP) — Teamsters Union members vote today on whether to accept a new three-year contract with the Detroit News, shut down since they walked off their jobs at midnight Nov. 15.

Teamsters at the Detroit Free Press, which ceased publication two days later in a show of unity with the News, will vote Thursday.

However, Norman Parks head of the Detroit Council of Newspaper Unions, said Tuesday that even if the Teamsters accept the contract, he doubts the papers will resume publication until contracts are obtained with other unions.

The Teamsters is the only one of the 14 unions at the papers that is on strike. But the contracts of most of the others have expired.

Parks indicated that a lot more progress is needed in discussions between management and the other unions.

The union council last week branded the Teamsters offer as inadequate.

Texas' first speed limits were 18 miles an hour, set in the 1907 legislature.

Airport Ills Getting Attention—McDonald

The airport problem — from congestion to noise — is receiving serious attention from Congress, according to Congressman Jack McDonald, R-19th District.

The Federal Airport Act first passed in 1946 to make matching grants available for safety improvements, was extended last year through 1970 and authorizes appropriations on a formula basis of $75 million a year, he said. Approximately $1.1 billion has been spent or allocated in the program's 21 years.

The Federal Aviation Administration estimated in a 1967 report that the cost of recommended improvements and new airports would be $1.52 billion during a five-year period beginning in the 1968 fiscal year, said McDonald. These costs extended only to safety improvements.

Transportation Secretary Alan S. Boyd estimates that $3 billion must be spent by 1973 simply to meet "our needs and not out desires" in airport development.

Most of the costs "should be borne by the users," Boyd said. A number of financing methods have been suggested, including higher aviation gas port Act funds, with emphasis on taxes and a $1 "head tax" on each passenger ticket, added general aviation (non-commercial) airports to relieve congestion at major passenger terminals.

The Airport Operators Council International, which represents local airport authorities, warns that vast expansion programs will create "staggering financial problems" and suggests an Airport Trust Fund patterned after the Highway Trust Fund, McDonald said.

The Air Transport Association, representing airlines, has urged an increase from $75 to $100 million a year, from the President on airport problems, said McDonald.

River Search for Girl Continues

LEWISTON, N.Y. (AP) — daughter had fallen through ice only bruised, on the rocky gorge. The search for a 7-year-old girl on a creek that feeds into the lower Niagara River today sharply into the Niagara gorge after a state trooper who looked short distance above the river. for her Tuesday slid 500 feet through a conduit nearby, escaping with minor injuries.

State police, firemen and a length of rope tied around his Coast Guardsmen search for waist during his search Tuesday. Lynn Atchison, feared to have day. The rope broke as he waded into the raging river. Her mother, Trold rode helplessly through the conduit with long time. He thought about his wife and children and his sergeant during the fall, he said. "I even had time to say a quick 'Hail, Mary,' Trold said. Senate.

Scouting Stress Is on Fitness

Personal fitness will be emphasized in January by the 126 Boy Scout troops in the Clinton Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The highlight event will be a Conservative Good Turn — a weekend hike or campout.

The fitness program calls for scouts to have a medical checkup and physical testing, scouting activities to improve fitness and periodic retesting.

The Webelos scouts will spend the month working on requirements for a new athletic activity badge, while the Cub Scouts will hold meetings around the theme of communication.

Vote Dates Due for Senate Seat

LANSING (AP)—The executive office said Tuesday that dates for special elections to fill the state Senate seat vacated by the death of Sen. Harold Volkema will be announced soon after Jan. 1.

Volkema, a Republican, died Dec. 17 after suffering an apparent heart attack at his Holland home. He was 37 and serving his second term in the Senate.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Paul Petzoldt, 59, of Lander, Wyo., will lead the third consecutive midwinter assault on the 13,766-foot Grand Teton Peak in northern Wyoming.

Petzoldt said yesterday so many persons expressed interest in the climb that three six-member teams will be formed. He said that Mrs. Martin Hellyer, 21, the only woman member, would accompany her husband's group.

Petzoldt said the party would leave Lander tomorrow, check through the Moose ranger station and then begin the ascent. He said the group hoped to reach the timberline by Friday, and that it would take four days — with favorable weather — to reach the peak's summit.

Parties in the past two winters were forced back by blizzards. Last year, winds of more than 100 miles per hour buffeted the climbers.

Stamp to Carry Lost Jefferson Portrait

After 139 years, a lost portrait of Thomas Jefferson will become known to millions via its reproduction on a one-cent stamp starting Jan. 12.

The 19-by-23-inch portrait, done by Rembrandt Peale of Baltimore in 1800, was thought to be the best likeness of Jefferson. It was painted the year he became president at the age of 57.

However, art historians lost track of it until it turned up in 1959 in Baltimore's Peale Museum and was insured for $2,500.

When researchers learned what it was, the painting was reinsured for $200,000. Shortly afterwards it was sold to the Mellon family, who presented it to the White House in 1962.

Actor Pursues Princess to New York

Italian actor Maurizio Arena flew to New York yesterday in romantic pursuit of Princess Maria Beatrice, whose father, former King Umberto, has forbidden them to marry.

The bearded Arena, 34, learned at Kennedy airport that the princess meanwhile had taken off for Mexico. "I will telephone her," he said.

Arena said he last talked to the princess in Rome two weeks ago when "she wanted some time to think about things." He said the two then agreed to postpone their wedding for a month.

The couple has been thwarted in attempts to marry both in England and Spain.

Love Gifts Lawsuit Is Settled

French-born actress Corinne Calvet and chemical heir Donald P. Scott yesterday settled a lawsuit involving $750,000 in alleged love gifts.

Scott, 37, gave up claims to $600,000 in gifts he said he gave Miss Calvet, 42, during a seven-year courtship. The actress relinquished about $250,000 in property.

The couple met in Myrtle Beach, S.C., in 1959 and split up in April 1966.

Scott claimed he gave Miss Calvet some $750,000 in gifts, including a home, because he feared she would testify against him in his former wife's divorce suit.

Reds Defied: Trial Record Is Published

NEW YORK (AP) — The grandson of a onetime Soviet foreign minister, acting in defiance of the Soviet security police, has sent to the West transcript excerpts from a closed-door Moscow literary trial. The New York Times said today.

The manuscripts include what is termed the final plea of Vladimir I. Bukovsky, a writer, who was convicted with two other defendants on Sept. 1 for participating in a Moscow street demonstration last January, the newspaper said.

Pavel M. Litvinov, 30-year-old grandson of the late Maxim M. Litvinov who served as foreign minister from 1920 to 1929, said the KGB security police warned him he would be "criminally responsible" if his trial records were published, it said.

The account from Washington said that in response to the threat Litvinov mailed off his manuscripts to four Soviet newspapers and the Communist party newspapers in France and Italy.

According to the transcript Bukovsky wound up his trial by citing passages of the Soviet constitution specifically guaranteeing freedom of speech and "the right of street processions and demonstrations," the newspaper said.

Illinois Man, Girl Die in I-94 Crash

BRIDGMAN (UPI)—An Illinois man and his 7-year-old daughter were killed on I-94 expressway near the southwestern tip of Michigan yesterday when their car skidded on the icy road and smashed into an oncoming vehicle.

Four other persons were injured in the accident near the shore of Lake Michigan.

The victims were Bernard Oosting, 50, Hinsdale, Ill., and his daughter, Clare.

Tissue Tests Precede Kidney Switch

NEW YORK (AP) — A young woman is reported "doing splendidly" after a kidney transplant operation which doctors say was the first known U.S. case preceded by extensive tissue compatibility testing.

The tests were made on both the recipient, Sylvia Szlak, 20, and the donor, a 45-year-old woman who had suffered a stroke—had tissue that was "unusually compatible" with that of Miss Szlak.

In other transplant cases, two Iowa patients were reported in good condition at the Cleveland Clinic Tuesday after each received a kidney taken from a Pennsylvania boy who died on Christmas.

The Bellevue doctors said Miss Szlak had only a 1 in 20 chance of locating a compatible drug and radiation treatment from the car window.

donor because of her own tissue type.

Her own diseased kidneys had been removed last October and she was connected to an artificial kidney machine at Bellevue when the potential donor was found in the emergency ward.

In a four-hour series of tests, doctors found the donor—a 45-year-old woman who had suffered a stroke—had tissue that was "unusually compatible" with that of Miss Szlak.

The transplant was effected in a 90-minute operation after the donor died Friday evening. Since then the transplanted organ has functioned normally, the doctors said.

Because of the tissue compatibility factor, they said, less than a 1 in 20 chance of locating a compatible drug and radiation treatment from the car window.

Picks Wrong Car

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The prowler who broke into O.E. Caudell's family car and tried unsuccessfully to pry the short-wave radio from the dashboard may have picked the wrong car. Caudell, assistant chief of administration for the Miami Police Department, said Tuesday he took a fine set of fingerprints from the car window.

The two Iowa patients are by a truck while sledding and Mrs. Patty Kerr, 39, of Charleston died at Brown Memorial Hospital in Conneaut, Ohio, about 60 miles east of Cleveland.

"waiting for months" for a transplant, a clinic spokesman said.

Dr. Bruce H. Stewart and two associates from the clinic removed the kidneys and then rushed back to Cleveland with an escort from the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Sharon Snyder Is Bride

Christ Church Cranbrook was the setting today for vows uniting Sharon Sue Snyder and William Michael Newman.

Parents of the bridal couple are the Louis W. Snyders of Birmingham and Mrs. Margaret J. Newman of Muskegon and Raymond A. Newman of Dearborn Heights.

Attended by the bridegroom's sister, Nancy Ann, the bride was attired in a candlelight gown of peau de sole accented with Alencon lace and seed pearls.

A cathedral train flowed from the gown's shoulders.

LACE HEADPIECE

To cap her floor length veil, she chose a matching lace headpiece. Her bouquet was a cascading arrangement of white roses and holly.

Assisting as bridesmaids were Linda Hess, Mrs. Stanley A. Blake, Mrs. Robert Crandall, and Mrs. Charles T. Wahlig. Lynne Crandall acted as flower girl.

Best man duties were performed by David C. Workman with groomsmen David Jensen, Phillip Hoos, Joseph Ellis, Phillip Meene, and Roger Muller. W. C. Strudwick, Roger Davis and John Bradford acted as ushers.

Following a reception and brunch at the Kingsley Inn, the newlyweds departed for a northern Michigan honeymoon.

Changing Rule Sometimes Best for Situation

By ELIZABETH L. POST

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to the writer who asked that her name be withheld.

Dear Mrs. Post: A question which puzzles me, and may be of interest to others in our mobile society, is that of meeting new neighbors. Though many of us realize the propriety of calling on someone who has moved into the neighborhood — perhaps bringing a plate of cookies in suburban or small towns — many apparently do not know of this or wish to take the time.

What, then, does the newcomer do if she wants to meet her new neighbors? Should she forget formality and issue an invitation herself either for morning coffee or an evening get-together?

Also, if a neighbor does call to introduce herself and extend a welcome, what is the next step? Do I then invite her to tea, or invite her and her husband to call some evening and meet my family? — Mrs. E.S.

Dear Mrs. S.: The old rule that the new neighbor must sit and wait — perhaps forever — for an old resident to make a move is one that I would like to change. In this day of informality the basic rule of etiquette is asking a neighbor you meet on the street to come in for a cup of coffee, or to bring her child over to play with your toddler.

No one in his right mind could consider this "pushy." The new neighbor should not, however, ask husbands and wives over formally — for dinner, for example — until an informal preliminary meeting has been achieved.

Today's Woman

Mrs. Smith in 'The Lead'

By JUNE ELERT

As I drove up and parked in front of the Gillespie Street home of Mrs. Neil Smith, I noticed immediately the prominently-displayed "Helping Hand" sign on the front porch.

This initial indication of community spirit was carried through during our interview.

This mother of 14 children (five of them still at home) serves as program chairman for the Parents' Advisory Council of Head Start; works for the Torch Drive with the Bloodmobile Unit; assists at health clinics where immunization shots are given to preschoolers and babies; and attends school two evenings a week, taking a credit course in general science.

She also works with a senior citizen group called "Golden Opportunity" at the Lakeside Homes; is an active member of the Moms' Club at Bethune School; sings in her church choir, and does ever so many other things.

Her interest in Head Start is a community one since her own children were past the age of participation when the program got started.

However, she has two grandchildren whom she hopes may receive some of the benefits of this training before they are ready to enter school.

ON COUNCIL

As one of the Pontiac school district's two representatives on the County Advisory Council which seeks to coordinate all Head Start programs in the County, Mrs. Smith serves as vice-chairman of the Council, which meets once a month.

When asked if she believes in the effectiveness of parent participation, she said "Yes, very much so." She went on to explain that parent education is helpful in upgrading the child's home life and the attention he gets from parents who would perhaps not otherwise be concerned about his education.

"Head Start," she says, "is putting books in homes where reading materials were unavailable before."

Parents' meetings are still held regularly, even though the program is non-operative at present. Mrs. Smith reports that attendance varies from 50-70 out of 140 parents enrolled.

J. G. Harlans on Honeymoon in Hawaii

Newlyweds, the James Gregory Harlans, nee Mary Elizabeth Bunt, have departed for a wedding trip to Hawaii following their recent wedding.

Parents of the bridal couple, who spoke their vows in Christ Church Cranbrook, are the Floyd W. Bunts of Bloomfield Hills and the C. Allen Harlans of North Adams Road.

For the candlelight ceremony, the bride chose an embroidered English net A-line sheath which featured a Sabrina neckline. Corded Alencon lace highlighted the gown's high rise waist and detachable peau de sole train.

A floor length mantilla, fashioned from matching lace, complemented her ensemble. She carried Phalaenopsis orchids with Stephanotis, white roses and ivy. Mrs. Leon Von Troostenbergh of San Francisco, Calif. attended her cousin as matron of honor with Elsa Moehling of Des Plaines, Ill. as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Jean Harlan, the bridegroom's sister, Margery Johnson of Jackson and Polly Tompkins.

Best man duties were performed by David Drummond of Cleveland, Ohio with ushers John Shufelt Jr., Jerry Dunkle, William Koelsch and Norman Lee of East Lansing and Joseph D. and Jay S. Harlan.

Madeline Gerard assisted as flower girl with Allen C. Harlan as ring bearer. The newlyweds greeted guests at a reception held in the Cranbrook School dining room.

That's Word From Abby.

One Bedroom for Happy Marriage

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I plan to be married soon, and my problem is, my future wife. She wants to sleep in separate bedrooms!

She said she got the idea from one of those women on the radio who gives advice on how to stay happily married. (By the way, this woman is divorced.) This radio woman said that separate bedrooms will keep a marriage "romantic," because then a couple would be together only when they really felt like it.

ABBY I think the idea of separate bedrooms for newlyweds is absolutely ridiculous. If two people love each other, they would want to be as close as possible, wouldn't they? I think my girl would listen to you, so if you agree with me, please print my letter with your reply.

GROOM TO BE

DEAR GROOM: The only reason for married people to sleep in separate bedrooms is (A) If one of them has an infectious disease. (B) If one, or the other has some very disturbing habit, such as walking, talking, or grinding his teeth in his sleep. Or if he is a chronic heavy snorer.

If neither you nor your bride-to-be qualifies for any of the aforementioned groups, tell your lady! I tell the separation any healthy marriage requires can be had in a large double bed.

DEAR ABBY: We know a couple whose 14-year-old son still has "sitters." Now Abby, this boy is large for his age and his voice has already changed, and he's certainly old enough to stay by himself. We simply do not understand it.

It's true, he's an only child, but they live in an apartment building, so it's not as though they're leaving him all alone out in the wilderness.

His parents are a little embarrassed about it and say they wish he'd start staying home alone at night, but he kicks up such a fuss, they call a "sitter." All their friends are laughing behind their backs. Are we crazy? Are they? Or is their son? CLOSE FRIENDS

DEAR FRIENDS: Send me some snapshots of some of the "sitters" and I'll tell you who's crazy. ♪

DEAR ABBY: Got a kick out of the letter from the man whose wife drove him nuts with her back-seat driving. I have a cure for that: The next time his wife starts preparing dinner, follow her into the kitchen, and when she bends down to get the pan, grab her hand and shout "Careful, don't hurt yourself!"

When she slices the tomatoes yell, "Watch that blade!" Stand right over her and tell her to be sure she doesn't do anything wrong. And if she complains, tell her if she'll leave you alone while you're driving, you'll leave her alone when she's cooking.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice,
How do you keep rayon fabrics from raveling after it is cut?
Mrs. W. M. F.

Dear Mrs. W. M. F.:
The twisted thread used in rayon fabrics is springy, thus keeping its shape and preventing wrinkling. With every asset, there is a liability and in this case, the fabric often ravelers very badly.

I would suggest that you handle it carefully when cutting. If you are underlining it, do so at once without any unnecessary handling. At this time, whether you have underlined or not, you will probably have to overcast all the outer edges.

If you do this by machine, be careful that the fabric doesn't draw up and also, be sure you don't pull the piece out of shape. I have always recommended overcasting by hand, it's great work to do when you are visiting with your family or watching TV.

These fabrics are perfect for today's traveling and hard wear. It's worth the extra effort to keep them wearable.

Dear Eunice Farmer,
When I have finished sewing a sleeveless dress or blouse, I always find the armholes are too large. What can I do to correct this condition? Everything else fits perfectly. Miss D. B.

Dear Miss D. B.:
You must have very thin arms. If this is the case, build up the underarm seam about one-half inch and take a smaller seam allowance on the rest of the armhole. You can always make the armhole larger by restitching, but you can't make it smaller once it is stitched and clipped to the stitching line.

Also, be sure you aren't stretching the armhole when applying the facing. The edges are actually on the bias, and it would be very easy to stretch as you stitch.

If you would like my free leaflet, "Cuffing and Tapering Slacks" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it. Address to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. Melvin Trapp, Cortland, N.Y. is this week's Tailor Trix pressing board winner for her following sewing sugges- tion.

"I do most of my sewing for my grandchildren today, and I have used many of your suggestions. This little trick with sleeve linings might be of help to young mothers."

"Before finishing the lining of a sleeve at the cuff, baste a fold in the lining a couple of inches above the cuff line. Now sew the linings in as usual at the cuff. Remove this basting holding in the fold and the little extra fabric will add ease to the sleeve to prevent pulling."

"If the sleeves of a ready-made coat are too long, take a fold in the sleeve lining and machine stitch it in place. This will automatically shorten the sleeve. It will only take a jiffy to lengthen it again when necessary!"

Big houseplants need space around them and comfortably large containers so they will grow well and have a well-balanced, solid appearance, says the Society of American Florists. Big rubber plants, fiddleleaf figs Kentia palms, and schefflera plants look best when placed in pots upon the floor. Here they most closely resemble a real outdoor garden.

Girls En-caged in Anthropoid Behavior Study

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It's as much fun as a cage of monkeys when Cynthia Hamilton and Caroline Ristau climb into a cage with two apes once each week in the Rare Mammal House at the Philadelphia Zoo.

The girls, working under the direction of Dr. John Smith, biology and zoology professor at the University of Pennsylvania, are studying animal behavior. Miss Hamilton is a research assistant with the Penrose Research Laboratory at the Zoo. Miss Ristau is a graduate student working for a PhD in psychology at Penn.

The two push the apes around a little, wrestle and play tag with them. Through these activities, Dr. Smith points out, watchers soon learn to distinguish signals the apes use in communicating with each other. The studies, he says, eventually may help man live better in his own community and may lead to a better understanding of mental problems in both wild animals and humans.

'Shop' for Credit Plan

EAST LANSING — Did you already contribute to overspending this Christmas? And now you're wondering how to pay all the bills?

It's common not to give much thought to how much you spend at Christmas, particularly with credit easy to get, according to Anne Field, Extension home management specialist at Michigan State University.

"You may already be committed for this year, but remember in 1968, that credit is never really given. It's sold. And just like anything that's sold, you can find varying prices for the service," the specialist said.

"Shop for credit the same as you would for other purchases," Miss Field advises. "You can go to credit unions, if you have an opportunity to belong to one, or to banks, consumer finance companies (small loans) or to credit departments in retail stores."

FIT?

It isn't hard to find a credit plan, she added. The question is whether the plan fits you. The type of plan you choose will determine what you pay for it.

According to a new Michigan law, the cost of credit must be stated in dollars in every installment credit contract. That won't help you unless you insist on reading the contract before you sign it, Miss Field cautioned.

$3-Million Improvement EyedCreek Project Moves Okayed

City commissioners last night authorized setting into motion the legal machinery which would bring about an estimated $3-million program to improve Pontiac Creek as a carrier of storm water.

The move was recommended by Director of Public Works and Service Joseph E. Neippling. The first step in bringing about the project is for the city to petition the county drain commissioner to authorize the project.

Neippling said it would be two to three years before actual work could begin on a project of this magnitude.

"The earliest possible date when tax levies need be considered would be December 1968, with the completion of full utilization of a project this type not being realized until 1970 or later," he said.

MAIN CARRIER

Neippling said that bonding costs of such a program would be assessed on a citywide basis. Over the years this would not create a burden on tax revenues, he said.

The Pontiac Creek system acts as a main carrier for much of the storm water in the north and western parts of the city.

It collects the water from local drains and shifts it to the Clinton River. The creek has long been recognized as being incapable of carrying the amount it has to after heavy rains.

Rights Panel Asks Inquest in King Case

Pontiac's Human Relations Committee last night submitted recommendations to the City Commission calling for a coroner's inquest into the fatal shooting Dec. 7 of a 17-year-old suspected car thief.

In a letter to the commission, the Rev. Jack H. C. Clark, chairman, said the committee recommended the inquest "in order that the total community be made aware of all pertinent information relating to the death of Jimmie King."

King was fatally wounded by Pontiac police officers after they had chased a stolen car.

Officers said they shot King after he jumped from the moving car and tried to elude them on foot despite warnings they would shoot.

The Human Relations Committee, somewhat dormant in the past, has held several meetings since a reorganization and a number of new appointments.

RECOMMENDATION

The committee also recommended that all matters "involving human and civil rights" be turned over immediately to the committee so that it can advise the City Commission and thus "free the commission for more pressing matters of city business."

Rev. Clark said an inquest will be requested through proper legal procedures.

The City Commission took no action on the recommendation for the inquest. According to its legal advisors, the commission has no authority to order, conduct or request an inquest.

A previous petition for an inquest was filed in the city's Municipal Court but was not acted on.

Judge Cecil G. McCallum said the state law governing such petitions gave him no jurisdiction in such matters.

He said the proper legal course for such action is through county agencies.

Two Canvassers Are Reappointed

City commissioners last night reappointed Mrs. Dorothy M. Furgerson of 358 W. Iroquois and Otis Lawrence of 470 Ferry to the city's board of canvassers for four-year terms.

The board has the responsibility of certifying elections conducted in the city by city, county, state and national elections.

from flooding, destruction of property values . . . and the possibility that the ever-increasing cost of heavy construction will continue to make the dollar cost of this project expand."

ONE OF MANY

District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson said this project is only one of many needed to bring the city's sewer system up to par. He said a total of $30 to $40 million in construction is needed.

In other action, the commission agreed to postpone from May 1 to April 1 an agreement with Consumers Power Co. calling for the city to occupy the power company's building on Wesson Street.

The city negotiated with the company two years ago to purchase the building as a new headquarters for all Department of Public Works operations.

The utility company said it needed time for completion of a new service center and transfer of facilities.

PURCHASE AUTHORIZED
Commissioners also authorized purchase of a house and parcel at 104 S. Johnson for expansion of parking facilities for Pontiac General Hospital.

The purchase will give city ownership to all properties along Johnson Street between West Huron and Menominee, Harold Euler, hospital administrator, said.

The purchase price is $11,000, he said. The hospital board recommended completing an option which has been taken on the property.

City AffairsSale of $3 Million in Tax Notes OK'd

The sale of $3 million in tax anticipation notes to the Community National Bank was authorized last night by city commissioners.

The bank, one of two bidders, submitted bids yesterday calling for a 3.875 per cent interest rate per annum.

Pontiac State Bank, the other bidder, cited a 4 per cent interest rate — the highest allowed for such sales.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren noted that this was another indication of a tight-money policy at work. Last year, he said, a similar note sale called for an interest rate of 2.19 per cent per annum.

The 1966 issue, he said, called for a 2.07 per cent interest rate.

FISCAL YEAR

The sale of the notes is an annual occurrence necessitated since the city does not realize more than 50 per cent of its income until after July when tax bills are mailed.

The city's fiscal year begins in January. The notes are paid off after tax collections.

Director of Finance Edward Gallagher said the city needs operating money at the start of the year and by sale of the notes — in effect, borrowing — could meet its expenses.

He said the city would be able to reinvest most of the money in time certificates and turning these in only when cash is needed.

COULD CUT AMOUNT

By this method, he said, the city could cut down the amount paid on interest. Last year, he said, it cost the city only $4,425 to utilize this method of borrowing.

Warren also told commissioners that Oakland County Probate Judges Norman R. Barnard and Eugene A. Moore had offered their cooperation in replacing the services of the city's youth assistance department. Juvenile court cases fall under the jurisdiction of Probate Court.

Commissioners last week ordered elimination of the department, largely a one-man operation, to cut general fund costs.

The cut was ordered after commissioners found that new tax income for the city's general fund for 1968 would be limited because of the distinct possibility that the city will not be able to collect income taxes until July 1968, if at all.

The savings per year amounts to about $16,000, Warren said.

The city manager said services offered and directed by the city's department will be directed by the county.

Crystal Beach Negotiations Continuing

Negotiations toward the purchase of the 72-unit Crystal Beach housing project are continuing between the city and the private owners, City Manager Joseph A. Warren told the City Commission last night.

Commissioners have generally agreed to purchase the project if terms can be agreed on and to eventually eliminate the rental units.

Crystal Beach, located in the southeast section of the city, was built as temporary housing during World War II.

It is generally considered substandard housing and recommendations have been made in a recent Pontiac housing study to eliminate the project.

Warren said there is still some difference of opinion as to how much the city should pay for ownership.

Two appraisals have been made on the project. The Detroit owners this year offered to sell for 50 per cent of a price fixed by the appraisals.

Warren said there is some difference as to the validity of one of the appraisals.

Groom Beats BrideMelee Mars Married Bliss

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — All dinner with the wedding reception went well until the first few hours of wedded life. Then Silva discovered the real Rogelio.

At the reception Rogelio called his bride to his side and, before all the guests, married her first beating of matrimony.

Silvia Santillan and Rogelio Pacheco decided they would marry on Christmas Eve, combining the traditional holiday with the wedding reception. The couple, who met in high school, were married in a ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride, Silvia, 23, is a nurse. The groom, Rogelio, 24, is a teacher. They have one daughter, 10 months old.

The couple had a reception at the home of the bride's parents. The bride wore a traditional Mexican dress, and the groom wore a suit.

her rescue. Rogelio's family flew to his defense.

Authorities said that in the ensuing melee, chairs and plates were smashed, a guest got his head wedged in a turkey still in the rotisserie and the bridegroom was knocked unconscious by a bottle.

FAMILY FINED

Silvia, her gown tattered, went to the nearby police station and charged her husband and his family with mayhem. Police fined the groom's family and set them free.

When they returned to the banquet, Rogelio once again called his wife over and beat her again. The free-for-all resumed.

Again they all returned to the police station, where charges were filed against the bridegroom a second time. A second reprimand and fine, then back to the house.

By this time young Rogelio could hardly stand up, but he gave his bride a third beating.

SIX ARRESTED

Police finally arrested Rogelio, Mayo Herrera, Carlos Figueroa, Luis Matias, Jose Gomez and Jesus Rodriguez.

Silvia was sent to the hospital, suffering multiple bruises.

President Theodore Roosevelt, an ardent conservationist, set aside the first 51 wildlife refuges in the United States.

ALFRED NOBEL

QUESTION: Who was Alfred Nobel?

ANSWER: Alfred Bernhard Nobel, whose portrait appears on the medal, was a Swedish chemist born in 1833. He had an ambition to make the dangerous substance nitroglycerine safe to handle.

He accomplished this by combining nitroglycerine with an inert earth, and he called the combination dynamite. By manufacturing dynamite, Nobel became one of the richest men in the world.

But as time went on, he saw the devastation that explosives were causing in modern wars and decided to use his fortune to encourage peace and useful achievement. Nobel set up a fund for this purpose, with prizes to be awarded each year. The first prize was given in 1901.

There are five Nobel prizes, for important achievement in physics, chemistry, medicine, literature, and towards international peace.

Some well-known winners have been Marie Curie, Rudyard Kipling, Albert Einstein, Sinclair Lewis and Albert Schweitzer. In 1965, UNICEF, the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize.

Some Top Events of '67
You May Have Missed

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—When we come to the end of a perfect year, we find ourselves in a retrospective mood.

Not that 1967 was totally sublime, but any year you can manage to muddle through must be regarded as having a measure of perfection.

Including the parts that were perfectly dreadful.

Anyway, it is customary at this time to look back on the 12 months just passed and pick out the year's most significant events. Here are three I think certainly belong on the list:

1. In International affairs, the most significant event was the emergence of North Carolina peanuts as a force for world peace.

It seems that Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., a member of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations, took along sample bags of home state peanuts when he went to New York.

LETTER
Recently, he received a letter signed by Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg and his staff. It said:

"We wish to thank you for sustaining the fifth floor throughout the long negotiations in regard to the Middle East crisis and now the Cyprus crisis. These negotiations are invariably conducted during hours when there are no restaurants open.

"Without your North Carolina peanuts, we could scarcely have survived."

Gad: That was a narrow escape. If peanuts made the difference between war and peace over the Middle East, I hope that next year someone will have the foresight to supply the U.N. with a few pretzels and some cheese dip.

2. In politics, the most significant event was the boost that President Johnson received from Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

U.S. POLL
The Minnesota Democrat announced he would run against Johnson in four presidential primaries next year. Shortly afterwards, a national poll showed the American people favored LBJ over McCarthy, 3 to 1.

This was about the only time all year that the President came in first in a national poll. It undoubtedly gave him a big psychological lift.

3. In Congress, the most significant event was the emergence of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., as a great national leader.

A motion picture titled "The Night They Raided Minsky's" is now being filmed and in the cast is a stripper named "Evvy Dirksen."

Almost any old senator can have a bridge, park or street named for him. But to be immortalized by a stripper is a rare distinction. Dirksen, obviously, has finally arrived.

THE WINNER'S NOTEBOOK
By Theodore Isaac Rubin, M.D.
Tribune $5

Dr. Rubin says this is as much a workbook as it is a notebook as its purpose is to encourage the reader to study it and develop a better understanding of himself and other people—so he can "relate" to his fellow men in better fashion.

If he can accomplish that, he should have a healthier and happier life. On this basis, the book falls into the category of the so-called self-help books.

The author is a psychiatrist and novelist (he wrote "Lisa and David"). He emphasizes that this work is not a text, nor a method of do-it-yourself psychoanalysis; in fact, he deplores the fact that great numbers of amateurs go dashing around analyzing each other.

He begins with a collection of short observations on "Assets," urging the reader to take stock of his own.

Next he discusses a long series of "Muddles," which he defines as "confusions, misconceptions, binds and blocks, traps and prejudices, stereotypes and vicious cycles."

The final sections are on relating to other people and advice on where to get professional help if you need it.

The title? The author's position is that relating is the key to becoming a winner in life instead of a born loser.

TRAIN TRASH

They have seen the high mountain ranges of California, rolled through the desert lands of New Mexico and paused for a drink in Idaho's rolling hills. They have felt the chill of Oregon nights and sweltered under the dry heat of Arizona summer. Each day the tread of passengers, the quicker speeds and the newer lives took a little bit of their strength and their value.

Throughout the west they have served all their lives. Now, too tired to care what happens, they come with broken bodies, cracked, aged and obsolete, rolling their last miles until, at their final destination, they sit on 1200-foot-long railroad tracks and silently wait.

Thus the railroad engines, reefers, gondolas, cabooses, tanks and passenger cars finish their lives at the Purdy Company Steel and Iron Salvage Yard near Mojave, California.

They no longer hear the conversations of passengers, the cries of trainmen or the vacant words of vagrant hitchhikers. It has been replaced by men working carefully about them, clearing the interior or turning on the cutting torches. Couplers, wheels, springs and other solid metals fall away with their memories.

Flames give them their final end, their wood sending up black billowing clouds into the bleak desert sky.

When the fires die and the smoke drifts away, the men return to cut the metal remains within the wood, joining 3-foot by 18-inch strips together with the other metal for a ride into southern Los Angeles, where a mill forges them anew for other uses to serve the needs of man.

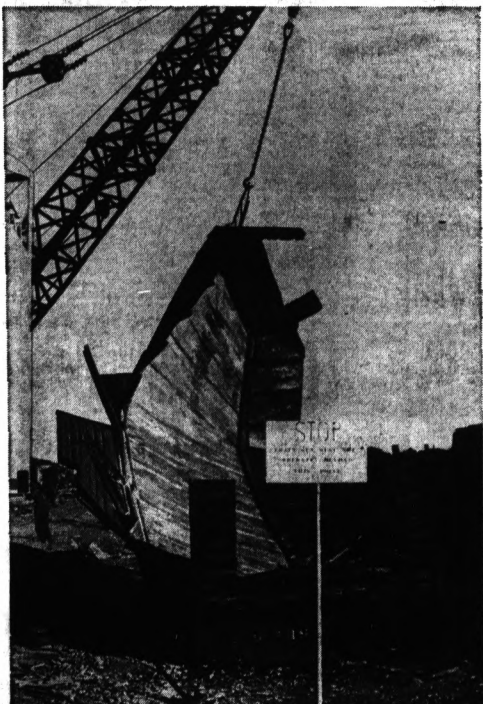

The empty shell of what was once a silver bullet on land.

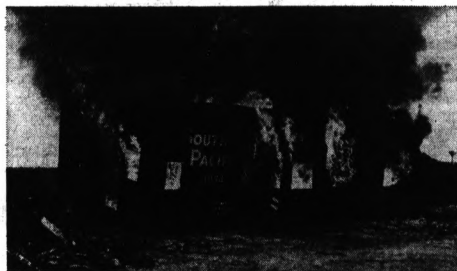

A torchman works on a wheel assembly, breaking it down to movable size.

Only metal remains to be cut into size for shipping.

Once burned, the metal roof is lifted away for cutting.

The last moments for a Southern Pacific freight car.

Patterns of springs form a miniature mountain.

FLOORED IN SCRAMBLE — Jerry King of Louisville (white uniform) and La Salle's Larry Cannon (20) scramble around the floor for a loose ball in the opening round of the Holiday Basketball Festival in New York yesterday. On the left is Louisville's Denny Deeken (11) and on the right is La Salle's Ed Szczesny (43). Louisville won, 94-71.

Columbia's Soph Paces Big Win in Holiday Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — Columbia's Dave Newmark, caught between the flu bug and a collapsing zone defense, felt a little less than seven feet tall.

But supersoph Jim McMillian and the other young Lions were in orbit after their impressive debut in the Holiday Festival tournament.

Newmark and McMillian each will have to be sky-high, however, when Columbia tries to bring down towering Westley Unsell and the resurgent Louisville Cardinals in the semifinals of the 16th annual Madison Square Garden classic.

West Virginia's zone limited fluplugged Newmark to one rebound and two baskets Tuesday night, but McMillian popped in 40 points as the Lions ousted the Mountaineers 99-71 in a first-round game.

Unsell, Louisville's 6-8 All-American, then grabbed 20 rebounds, scored 21 points and teamed with hot shooting Butch Beard and Marv Selvy to lead the Cardinals past LaSalle 97-71.

Columbia and Louisville clash in Thursday night's semifinal doubleheader, which also pits St. John's, N.Y., against 10th-ranked Boston College in a rematch of their earlier meeting won by the Johnnies 91-90 in overtime.

Boston College ripped Penn State 87-58 and St. John's topped Syracuse 60-55 in a Tuesday afternoon twin bill.

PULLED AWAY

McMillian's 18 first-half points helped stake Columbia to a 42-39 lead at intermission. The 6-5 soph, a former New York high school flash, drove through the West Virginia zone and hit over it for 22 more as the Lions pulled away in the final 20 minutes.

Play Tackers at PNH Tonight

Tomahawks Meet NABL Pacesetter

The pacesetters of the North American Basketball League, the Grand Rapids Tomahawks, leading the Western Division with a 6-2 record visit Pontiac Northern gym tonight to meet the Pontiac Tomahawks for the second time this season. The T-Hawks, who lost 147-122 Saturday night to Holland, have been making a habit of starting slowly, catching up and then faltering completely out of the picture in the final period.

Saturday night the Tomahawks came back from a 19 point deficit to take a 60-57 lead before collapsing.

Pistons 'farm hand' Sonny Dove and Dave Gaines led Pontiac with 25 points each.

The Tomahawks are expecting another Piston taxi squad player Paul Long to get into action tonight and also in a Sunday meeting with the Chicago Bombers at PNH.

Long, a 6-3 guard from Wake Forest, was given permission to go home over the Christmas holiday by the Pistons.

Grand Rapids is fresh from a victory over Eastern Division leader Lansing, 112-106 Saturday night in the Capitol City.

The hottest team in the league right now is Holland which is only a half game behind Grand Rapids.

M. C. Burton is the top scorer and rebounder for Grand Rapids, hitting an average of 22.9 points a game and grabbing 14.5 rebounds per contest.

Gaines, the tricky little Pontiac guard with the Globetrotter background, leads the Tomahawks in scoring with an average of 29 points per game, which is second best in the NABL. Pontiac Center Jim Patterson with 14.3 rebounds per game stands 4th best in the league in this department.

In the first game with Grand Rapids, the Tomahawks were 25 points behind, rallied to take the lead and then lost in the final seconds of play, 132-129.

Tipoff tonight is 8:00 p.m. Sunday's game at Northern against the Chicago Bombers is expected to start at 5:30 p.m.

Some of the top high school wrestling talent in the state will be on hand tomorrow and Friday in the eighth annual Oakland County Invitational Wrestling Tournament at Oakland University.

Preliminaries are slated for tomorrow from 11 a.m. until 10 p.m. Semifinals are set for Friday at 1 p.m. with the finals at 7:30 Friday.

Pontiac Northern, last year's state champion, will be favored to make it two Oakland County titles in a row when the Huskies join the other 31 squads for opening action tomorrow.

Pressing Pontiac Northern in last year's event was Walled Lake — which eventually placed second — and the Vikings are expected to provide much of the competition for PNH again this season.

Also in the field is Royal Oak Dondero, a strong, balanced squad which is one of the top 16-ranked squads in the state. In the same poll, Pontiac Northern is ranked third.

VIKINGS IMPROVING

Walled Lake surprised another highly-touted team over the weekend, Owosso, in a quadrangular match, so the Vikings, improving with each meet, could give the favorites some problems in the battle for top honors.

A team which could be the surprise of the tournament is Birmingham Seaholm, which has come a long way

Pistons Win, 127-110 as Bing Dunks 39

DETROIT (AP)—Dave Bing found the shooting range again in the friendly atmosphere of Cobo Arena.

Bing, held well below 30 points a game on a two-week road trip, bombed the nets for 39 points Tuesday night as the Detroit Pistons hammered the St. Louis Hawks 127-110.

The 39 points moved Bing over the 1,000-point mark, first NBA player to accomplish that total this year. He now has 1,014 points for the season, tops in the league.

In other NBA games, the Seattle Sonics nipped the New York Knicks 137-135, the San Francisco Warriors d u m p e d the Boston Celtics 117-104, the Philadelphia 76ers bumped the Cincinnati Royals 125-121 and the Los Angeles Lakers edged the Chicago Bulls 104-101.

Bing, playing before 10,804 fans, largest Detroit home crowd in four years, sparked the Pistons to a 66-40 halftime lead. He scored 17 points in the first half surge and Dave DeBusschere added 15.

The Hawks, top team in the NBA's Western Division, battled back to within 11 points before the game ended, mostly on the shooting of Zelmo Beaty and Bill Bridges.

But DeBusschere hit two straight baskets and Joe Strawder and Terry Dischinger added a pair of layups to put the game out of reach.

DeBusschere ended up with 26 points. Bridges scored 27 of his 37 points in the second half and Beaty added 28.

GAINED GROUND

Detroit's victory, combined with the Boston loss, moved the Pistons to within 6½ games of the Eastern Division lead.

Philadelphia's victory moved the 76ers a half game ahead of Boston in the NBA race. However, the Celtics, still retain first place in the east by eight percentage points.

Walt Hazzard made six clutch free throws in the final seconds to lift Seattle to victory over the Knicks. New York scored a record-tying 53 points in the final period but fell two points short as the game ended.

Hazzard topped the Sonics with 37

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota carries the most impressive credentials into the five-team Big Ten hockey tournament starting Thursday.

Wisconsin meets Ohio State at 7 p.m. in Williams Arena to inaugurate the first conference ice classic.

Minnesota, undefeated in six starts this season, tangles with Michigan State at 9 p.m. Michigan drew a bye.

Friday's action pits the Minnesota-Michigan State loser against the Wisconsin-Ohio State loser. Michigan takes on the Wisconsin-Ohio State winner.

The championship games is scheduled at 9 p.m. Saturday, preceded by the third-place affair.

points and a career high 17 assists. Willis Reed was high for the Knicks with 28 points. Bill Bradley added 25.

Jeff Mullins and Rudy LaRusso cut loose with a barrage of points midway through the third period to ice San Francisco's victory over Boston. Mullins topped the Warriors with 32 points and LaRusso added 27. John Havlicek was high for Boston with 32 points.

Shoulder Injury Puts Henderson Out for 10 Days

DETROIT (AP)—An injury to regular Paul Henderson has forced Sid Abel, manager-coach of the Detroit Red Wings, to reorganize the lineup for Thursday's game with Philadelphia at Detroit.

Henderson, who injured muscles in his right shoulder while scoring two goals in a 4-3 loss to the Maple Leafs at Toronto Saturday, will be lost to the team for 10 days.

The Wings, taking a three-game losing streak into the Philadelphia game, worked out Tuesday with Bruce MacGregor, Norm Ullman and Dean Prentice on one line. Floyd Smith was moved to a line with Ted Hampson and rookie Gary Jarrett.

Meanwhile, rookie Doug Roberts will be teamed with Gordie Howe and Alex Delvecchio.

Jimmy Peters, recalled from Fort Worth of the Central League, will be used as a spare forward and left winger Dave Richardson, brought up from Fort Worth over the weekend, was returned to the Central club.

The Wings said defenseman Howie Young, out for three games with an ear infection, would be back for the Philadelphia game.

Calls Hoosiers 'Quick' Team for Bowl Game

PASADENA, Calif. — Coach John McKay of the Southern California Trojans says Indiana's football forces are "more like UCLA than any other team we've played."

The Trojans and the Hoosiers of the Big Ten battle in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day and the comparison with UCLA brings to mind that USC beat the Bruins by only a single point, 21-20, Pacific-8.

"Defensively they're not too big, but quick and they don't allow big gains," McKay told a group of California Football Writers on Tuesday. He added that offensively the personnel in the Indiana backfield also resembles that of the Uclans.

All America linebacker Adrian Young and defensive end Tim Roosevelt agreed with their coach.

Young said quarterbacks Harry Gonso, Indiana's sophomore, and UCLA's Heisman Trophy winner Gary Beban were both scramblers who "keep you on your toes."

A poll of those attending the session showed 67 favoring USC and 31 for Indiana with two predicting a tie.

Those voting for the Trojans predicted a 15-point spread on the average while those for Indiana averaged only a four-point difference.

TAKE CHANCES

Coach John Pont of Indiana was asked about the tendencies of his club to gamble during the games and replied:

"I think we are disciplined on both offense and defense but our style seems to be a willingness to take chances with the football at any time."

Asked about the tremendous improvement of his 1967 squad which posted a 9-1 record after the 1966 team was just 1-8-1, Pont said that "we had a couple of young men who could run fast" in Gonzo and halfback John Isehnberger, also a sophomore.

"Then after the first game we had proved we could win coming from behind at any given moment," the visiting coach added.

Indiana trailed Kentucky 10-0 at halftime in the opener and went on to win 12-10.

Southern California, also with a 9-1 record and voted the national collegiate champion, rates as a two touchdown favorite and Pont was asked if this bothered the Hoosiers.

"We were underdogs in seven of 10 ball games," he answered.

"We've had more practices being underdogs than anything else. It doesn't bother us at all."

Davis Cup Stays in Aussie Hands

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Australia still reigns supreme in world amateur tennis.

The Aussies retained the Davis Cup today when John Newcombe and Tony Roche defeated Manuel Santana and Manuel Orantes 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 in a doubles match, giving them a 3-0 lead over Spain in the Challenge Round and making Thursday's two singles matches meaningless.

Newcombe beat Orantes and Roy Emerson defeated Santana in opening singles matches Tuesday.

Spain's Captain Jaime Bartoli said his team had a bit because Luis Arilla was unable to play.

Arilla, who usually teams with Santana, was forced to withdraw from the doubles because of a strained thigh. He was replaced by the 18-year-old Orantes.

Only once did the Spaniards get near to breaking their opponents' service as a crowd of 4,200, 300 below capacity, watched Roche and Newcombe clinch the Cup for Australia for the 11th time in the last 13 years and for the 24th time since the competition began.

The United States has won the cup 10 times, Great Britain nine and France six. The U.S. team was eliminated this year by Ecuador in a startling upset.

Houston Five Favored in Hawaii Tournament

HONOLULU (AP)—The University of Houston is the top-rated team in the fourth annual University of Hawaii Rainbow Classic basketball tournament which opens tonight.

Opening games tonight will see Ohio State against Marquette and Northwestern playing Hawaii.

Houston won't see action until Thursday when it meets Bradley. The other game Thursday will be between North Texas State and Navy team, Submarine Forces Pacific.

RESORT REPORT

At widely-scattered warm-weather resorts this winter, the predominant look will be casual — and the feel will be comfortable.

Not necessarily a shocking revelation, but a further indication that more formal suits and dress shirts, conventional ties — and even socks — will, to a greater degree than ever before, be giving way to more leisurely, relaxed apparel.

Cabana sets, walk shorts and sport shirts will thrive by day; color-coordinated sportcoat-and-slack combinations will flourish as the light wanes.

The later-day looks will dote on whites and wines, with accessorizing touches of blue and/or gold to set them off.

And when it comes to more active daytime attire, the red-inspired spectrum will once more hold sway, with the brightest and truest of oranges pacing the range.

What's more, the old problem of marrying performance and aesthetics has once and for all been splendidly solved. For today's resort fashions not only revel in rich colorations, but also wear wondrously well.

Up-to-the-minute lighter-weight fabrics, woven or knitted from such contemporary fashion fibers as Celanese Arnel® triacetate and Fortrel® polyester, couple strength with cooling breathability to resist the ravages of diligent wear and heat-instigated wrinkles and wilts.

Purdue's Ace Selected MVP of Past Season

CHICAGO (AP) — Leroy Keyes, Purdue's All-America named the Big Ten's most valuable football player for the 1967 season Tuesday.

The junior halfback-flanker from Newport News, Va., was chosen by conference coaches, 10 veteran officials, Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed, Sports Editor George Strickler of the Chicago Tribune and Roy Damer, Tribune writer.

Keyes was named first or second on each of the 23 ballots except one. Harry Gonso, Indiana's dashing sophomore quarterback, came close to matching Keyes' first place votes.

SILVER AWARD
Keyes will receive the Silver Football awarded annually since 1924 by the Tribune. Purdue's Bob Griese was the winner last year.

In addition to Keyes and Gonso, those in the running as most valuable player of their respective schools were end John Wright, Illinois; halfback Silas McKinnie, Iowa; halfback Ron Johnson, Michigan; halfback Lee Dwight, Michigan State; halfback Tom Sakal, Minnesota; guard Bruce Gunst, Northwestern; linebacker Dirk Worden, Ohio State; and tackle Tom Domes, Wisconsin.

East-West Elevens Work Twice Daily

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — Two-day workouts continued today for both the East and West squads heading for the annual Shrine charity game Saturday at Candlestick Park.

The East, now rated to be outscored by 3½ points, put in a full scrimmage Tuesday afternoon, the first in a long time.

Working out at nearby Santa Clara, the East showed off the offensive power of 235-pound Syracuse fullback Larry Coska today, and it was one of the easiest in the unbeaten giant's to South Carolina. Dick Himes of Ohio State and Wayne Mason of Clemson also drew the approval of head East coach Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame.

Ex-President of NBA Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Col. Harvey L. "Heinie" Miller, former president of the National Boxing Association, died Tuesday at 79.

Miller was chosen head of the NBA, now called the World Boxing Association, in 1940. He was associated with the sport since 1900 when he won his first professional bout in a Milwaukee, Wis., barn loft at the age of 12.

With the temperature dipping lower and lower, a couple of local basketball squads will head north tomorrow night to warm up. The two are Avondale and Troy, and they'll make the journey on the same bus and play back-to-back games against Cheboygan and Alpena Friday and Saturday.

The trip not only lets the players get away for a couple of days, it could also be marked as a good visit to our friends up north. And the trip'll give both teams an opportunity to get in a little practice plus an opportunity to win a couple of ball games.

Avondale is leaving with a 0-4 record while Troy sports a 3-2 mark.

"The trip is something different," says coach Nick Niera of Avondale. "Next year, Cheboygan and Alpena will come down here."

"One of the Dad's Clubs in one of the towns has planned a dinner for the boys. . . it's a big thing."

CURRENT PROBLEM
A problem which some of the newer schools are encountering as they move into the field of athletic competition is that of league participation.

Mathis Gains Another Win

Big Buster Scores 23rd Straight

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — The Big Buster Mathis had his 23rd consecutive victory in the bag today, and it was one of the easiest in the unbeaten giant's to South Carolina. Dick Himes of Ohio State and Wayne Mason of Clemson also drew the approval of head East coach Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame.

Mathis, 23 years old from Grand Rapids, Mich., scored a technical knockout victory over Gerry De Bruyn the South African titleholder, only 36 seconds after the opening bell Tuesday.

The American, a leading heavyweight contender, connected with two right-left combinations and then floored his opponent with a hard right. De Bruyn got to his feet, but the referee stopped the bout because the South African was unable to continue.

Mathis weighed 243 pounds and De Bruyn 197.

The one-round knockout in 12 fights. His over-all record is now 20 victories, four losses and two draws.

Packers' Win Costly to County

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Milwaukee Park officials estimated Tuesday that the Green Bay Packers' victory over the Los Angeles Rams last Saturday at County Stadium, cost the county more than $2,500.

Had the Packers lost, the officials said, the fans might not have been enthusiastic enough to make off with the expensive aluminum goal posts, all 22 yard line markers, the sticks and chain used to measure first downs and the microphones used by the Packers pep band.

Large Crowd Watches

LONDON (AP) — The largest crowd of the English Soccer League season, 63,450, saw Manchester United blank the Wolverhampton Wanderers 4-0 Tuesday.

Coho Salmon Top Story in Conservation During '67

Measured by any standard, gan's first runs of mature coho in 1967 was "The Year of the salmon were on the way."

Perhaps nothing in this state's outdoor annals has triggered so much excitement among so many people as the events came clear that the silver im- touched off by the Labor Day migrant from the Pacific Coast weekend discovery that Michi- had found a new home in the Great Lakes — and in the hearts of Michigan anglers.

But cohos were by no means the whole Michigan conservation story in 1967. Salmon may have reaped most of the banner headlines, but there was plenty of other top news on conservation's front page.

The Legislature wrote new and needed conservation laws, and the commercial fishing industry reached a milestone agreement.

The war on water pollution picked up momentum. The long-smoldering pesticides issue flared into the open. Another good deer season was chalked up. Forest fire losses were held to an all-time record low.

Salmon weren't the whole fishing show, either. Although obscured by the coho excitement, fall steelhead runs were the best in modern times. The fish came in big as well as numerous, and the state size record was broken twice.

It now stands at 22 pounds 3 ounces. Just for good measure the brown trout record was shattered, too. The new standard is 19 pounds 3 1/4 ounces.

HYBRIDS STOCKED

For the cane-pole panfisherman there was good news as experimental plantings of a new hybrid sunfish got under way. Hope is that the fish will grow quickly and reproduce slowly, unlike some other panfish species which do the reverse and become stunted.

Dead alewives washed up on La Michigan beaches in unprecedented volumes beginning in late spring, making a stinking mess which defied cleanup efforts.

The stench of millions of rotting fish sent cottagers and vacationers fleeing inland, and was one of several factors contributing to an estimated 5 per cent decline in the state's tourist business below the all-time record of 1966. State park attendance was down as well.

Also hurting the tourist industry were cool and wet summer weather, racial disturbances, strikes and stiff competition from Canada's Expo '67, among others.

Paralleling the output of the 1965 body which earned an accolade as a "Conservation Legislature," lawmakers in 1967 passed an impressive total of 35 bills related to natural resources and recreation.

A few of the more important provided: revised fishing license fees to yield more than a million dollars in new revenue; a new stronger Marine Safety Act designed to save both money and lives; stiffer penalties for game law violators and better enforcement tools for nabbing them; increased state park motor vehicle entry fees, and a bigger share of gasoline tax revenues to finance work of the Waterways Commission.

Adoption of quality standards for Michigan's interstate waters and progress toward similar standards for all inland waters headed the antipollution news in 1967.

Deer hunters racked up their sixth best kill in history, an estimated 103,400 whitetails. A big upswing in the northern Lower Peninsula accounted for most of the 13 per cent increase over 1966. The hunt produced a more than usual number of big deer with fine racks.

Elsewhere on the hunting front, pheasants continued to slump. The season was the least successful since the last "low" in 1947. Cyclic factors combined with steadily deteriorating ring-neck habitat apparently are behind the decline.

Other hunting seasons were about normal for the most part.

2-Prong Plan for Combatting Dead Alewives

Department Proposal Would Cost $827,000 to Handle Clean Up

The Department of Conservation has mapped out plans for combatting Lake Michigan's anticipated alewife die-off in 1968. In a report sent to Governor Romney at his request, the department is proposing an $827,000 cleanup program covering 500 miles of Lake Michigan shoreline.

Projected cost of the program is dwarfed by the estimated $55-million in tourist business which was lost on the west side of the state last summer when the stench and sight of hundreds of millions of dead alewives drove vacationers away from the lake's resorts and parks.

Basically, the department's action-ready plan is a two-pronged attack on the alewife problem.

First, it is aimed at removing as many dead fish as possible before they have a chance to reach the lake's beaches. The department recommends that this be done by paying commercial fishermen some $220,000 to skim dead alewives from the surface of the lake with trawling gear and purse seines.

The nuisance fish would be hauled ashore and those suitable for fish meal would be routed to processing plants. The bulk, however, would be buried in specially designated sanitary fills.

However, large numbers of the problem fish will still wind-up upon beaches where they will have to be picked up, hauled and buried.

For this second stage of the operation, department officials hope to field 20 custom-made mechanized beach cleaners which with adequate manpower would cost about $607,000.

FLOATING LABORATORY — Mrs. E. M. Laitha, wife of a state conservation commissioner, christens the 60-foot Steelhead. The floating laboratory was launched last week at Escanaba and will be used by The Conservation Department to conduct fisheries experiments on the Great Lakes. The $104,000 vessel will go into operation next spring and be based at Charlevoix.

Ice Fishermen Still Waiting

Action May Start Soon in Area

Ice fishermen have been chomping at the bit for almost a month and now it appears that their overdue movement to area lakes is about to start.

If the current cold weather holds, ice on smaller lakes should be safe by this weekend. The larger, deeper lakes, however, may be treacherous.

Spearfishing for northern pike on inland lakes starts New Year's Day. Rainbows are currently legal "through the ice" on designated inland lakes and remain so until Feb. 29.

Rabbit hunting activity in northern and western Oakland County was moderate during the Christmas weekend, but results were only fair. Grouse hunters have been getting some shooting in the Holly and Bald Mountain recreation areas.

Fox hunters were active and report good results. Grouse hunting and the special archery season on deer in Southern Michigan close Dec. 31. Rabbit hunting remains open until March 1.

Bowmen have been few and far between in Oakland County and no deer have been reported taken. Trappers have been handicapped by fluctuating water levels caused by the abnormal December rains.

The situation should stabilize with cold and snow.

Nimrods Welcome Covering of Snow

LANSING (AP) — The first chuck hole as a hideout, but scattering of snow over the weekend was a welcome sight to southern Michigan small game hunters.

It not only gave promise of a white Christmas but also provided a better background to bag bunnies.

The rapidly reproducing rabbit still is the top target for Michigan hunters although deer — and elk during special seasons — are the glamor targets. Between 1 million and 1.5 million are shot a year in the long season that will extend through March 1.

Rabbits have proven they can live near humans although their habitat is being crowded out by the trend toward larger and more mechanized farms and the building that follows the human population explosion.

Rabbits still prefer a wood-

Toughest Law for Firearms Passes in NYC

The Nation's most restrictive regulations on the ownership, possession and use of firearms were enacted recently by the New York City Council.

Under the new ordinance, signed into law by Mayor John Lindsay, anyone wishing to purchase any firearm (including sporting rifles and shotguns) must obtain a police permit, as was the case under the state's Sullivan Act with pistols, revolvers and automatic weapons during the past 50 years.

The new ordinance also requires anyone possessing or owning rifles and shotguns to register them with the police at a fee of $3. As he signed the ordinance, however, the Mayor said the $3 fee was "entirely too small" and indicated that he will move to increase the fee to $25.

The new law also empowers the Mayor to totally prohibit the sale or display of firearms and ammunition for short periods of time when the police commissioner certifies the existence of civil disorder or its imminence.

Blaze Orange Cuts Deer Hunt Mishaps

Five years of Massachusetts deer hunters wearing blaze orange has produced results as bright as the protective color itself.

Deer season accidents over the five years since the state's "color law" went into effect were reduced by more than 67 per cent from the toll prior to the law.

The safety story was told recently in figures released through the Massachusetts Division of Fisheries and Game. Charles Dickey, director of the National Shooting Sports Foundation, Inc., said the results should be enough to convince any hunter of the advantages of wearing blaze orange hunting clothes.

Perch Anglers Scoring at Bay

IMLAY CITY — Ice fishermen are making good catches of pike and perch on Saginaw Bay near the mouth of Mud Creek, according to the Imlay City Conservation Department district office.

Russian hooks are producing the perch at this spot on the Bay located just north of Bay Port.

But You Didn't Know
By John Carter

Here's quite an oddity... a man once set a world's record in a race—but still did not win the prize. In the 1960 Olympics, Carl Lewis of Guyana set the world's record of 44.9 seconds in the 400-meter dash. . . . Meanwhile, Otis Davis of the U.S. was also timed at 44.9 in that race and the judges ruled that Davis crossed the finish line first and Kaufmann was second. . . . Now, ever, both men were still officially credited with the identical record time. . . . So Kaufmann set a world record—yet lost the race!

Ever wonder which team has played at the most different locations in the history of sports? . . . Answer is the Harlem Globetrotters basketball team. . . . They've played games in more than 350 different American cities and in a total of 87 different foreign countries.

One of baseball's most famous teams was the Chicago White Sox of 1906 who became known as the "Hitless Wonder". . . . Did you ever wonder exactly how low a hitting team they were to deserve that nickname? . . . Well, their team batting average for the season was just .228 and yet they won the pennant. . . . That season on the lowest hitting average, by far, for any pennant winning team in the history of big league baseball.

I bet you didn't know... that all of us at Carter Tire and you and yours the Happiest of New Year's, and may that year 1968 will find peace and prosperity.

Lentils Are Different Excellent With Curry

Curries of India vary from perhaps mixed with little cubes of meat, from cook to of avocado, chopped hard-boiled egg. There they are often cooked egg whites with sieved served with lentils, a distinct egg yolks, white seedless raisins which we add to our New sines, coconut, preserved kum-World curry dishes. Always quarts, sliced preserved ginger, served with a chutney and a pickled water melon rind — at variety of small oddments to least four or all, sprinkle over servings of a curry meal, this custom makes the dish a real conversation piece.

CHICKEN CURRY WITH LENTILS

Part 1
1 chicken for fricasee, 5 to 6 pounds or
2 fryer-broiler chickens, 3 pounds each
2 whole carrots
2 celery tops or coarse stalks
1 small onion, whole
1 tablespoon salt
Place disjointed chicken, vegetable, salt, and hot water to cover Dutch oven or heavy kettle with tight-fitting cover. Simmer until tender. Allow chicken to remain in broth, preferably over-night, refrigerated. Heat just enough to pour off broth. Bone chicken. Keep covered and refrigerated.

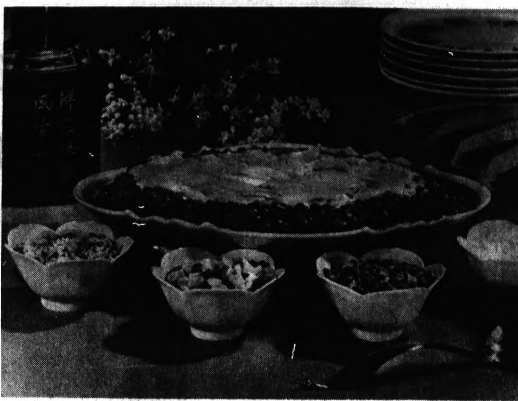

Part 2
¾ cup minced onion
4 tablespoons chicken fat or butter
2 to 4 tablespoons curry powder (the best)
2 cups chicken broth
1 cup light cream or undiluted evaporated milk
4 egg yolks
salt as needed
Cook onions in fat over low heat until tender but not colored. Sprinkle curry powder over the onions, the amount depending upon the type of curry powder and how much curry flavor is desired. Start with 2 tablespoons.

Stir well. Cook a few minutes. Add the broth and simmer 10 minutes.
A short time before serving, whip together with a fork the egg yolks and cream. Add about ¼ cup of the heated curry broth. Then stir into the broth in double boiler. Continue to stir until thickened. Keep covered over hot water. To serve: pour sauce over the cooked boned chicken which has been heated in a little chicken broth. Ring with hot cooked lentils.

As "side boys" — the little accompaniments to sprinkle over the lentils topped with the chicken in curry sauce — have small bowls of chopped peanuts or cashew nuts, sliced green onions tops and all, snippets of crisp cooked bacon.

Add mango chutney of course and other chutneys if you like. To cook lentils: wash 1 pound (2½ cups) lentils. This is easy measuring, since lentils are usually in 1-pound packages. Add 5 cups cold or lukewarm water.
Bring to boiling point in heavy kettle with tight cover, like a Dutch oven. Reduce heat to simmer. Cook 30 minutes.

Makes 6½ cups lentils with about 1 cup liquid. Drain before using as an accompaniment to curry.

CURRY WITH LENTILS — Curry lovers will like to know that Lentils make a perfect partner for any curried dish from chicken to shrimp. Pictured is Chicken in Curry Sauce in a ring of cooked lentils, served with little lotus bowls of chopped cashew nuts, thin-sliced green onions, snippets of crisp bacon, chopped hard-cooked egg white and sieved egg yolk.

Nut Mixture Is Baked into This Cake

This old-fashioned cake is always popular.

Daisy's Sour Cream Cake
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon each baking powder and baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 large eggs
1 carton (8 ounces) sour cream
Nut mixture

On paper, sift together cake flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt.

In a large bowl, cream butter, sugar and vanilla; thoroughly beat in eggs, one at a time. Stir in sifted dry ingredients in four additions, alternately with sour cream, just until smooth each time.

Turn half the batter into a greased and floured 9 by 3 inch angel-food cake pan. Sprinkle half the Nut Mixture over the batter. Add remaining batter; sprinkle with remaining Nut Mixture.

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out with no dry particles sticking to it — about 40 minutes.

Allow cake in pan to rest on wire rack for 10 minutes; loosen sides and turn out.

Nut Mixture: Stir together ¼ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cinnamon and ¼ cup rotary-grated walnuts.

Enlarge Your Repertory of Hot Drinks

After a day of winter sports, as a breakfast-pick-up or before bed nightcap, there is nothing nicer than a hot toddy or warm punch. Today there are so many marvelous bottled syrups and mixes that even a novice cook can whip up a cocktail warming beverage in a matter of minutes.

Hot Buttered Rum and Hot Jolly Butter, coffee, tea and even low calorie whiskey sour mix, all come in ready to use form. Shop in gourmet stores and specialty food departments for the more exotic mixes.

A good hot drink for breakfast or brunch, this tomato clam cocktail may be served as a first course for dinner. Equally delicious cold, it can be mixed the night before and refrigerated.

TOMATO CLAM COCKTAIL: Blend 1 qt. tomato juice, 1 bottle (8 oz.) clam juice, 2 cups medium cream, 1 teaspoon onion powder, ½ teaspoon celery salt, 1 dash hot pepper sauce and ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce in a large saucepan.

Heat slowly, stirring constantly, until just short of boiling. Serve piping hot in mugs. Makes 6-8 servings.

Children like this for it's color as well as it's taste.
HOT CRANBERRY-LIME PUNCH: In a large saucepan, blend 1 qt. apple-cranberry juice and ¼ cup sweetened lime juice.

Heat to just short of boiling, and serve in mugs with a cinnamon stick for a stirrer. Makes 4-6 servings.

HOT MULLED CIDER: Heat 2 qts. English cider with 12 cinnamon sticks, broken in-third. Simmer for 15 minutes. Pour into mugs and top with a thin slice of orange or lemon. Makes 8-10 servings.

MAPLE COFFEE: Combine 6 tablespoons instant mocha coffee with 8 cups boiling water.

orange tea is a nice alternative in a large saucepan. Add one-third cup maple syrup, 8 cloves, one-third cinnamon stick and 8 whole allspice. Simmer for 15 minutes.

Whip ½ cup heavy cream until stiff with 3 tablespoons confectioners sugar and 1 teaspoon Mexican vanilla extract.

Strain coffee into mugs and top with a dollop of whipped cream. This is also good iced.

For adults only, this spiked use those fresh peaches as soon as they are ripe. If they develop brown spots, you'll find this decay spreads rapidly.

Sorry, No Sales To Dealers

Congress Loud, Limited on Violence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The loud outrage voiced by Congress at the violence, the crime, and the riots which swept the nation was offset this year by the muteness of its legislative response.

Hardly a senator or congressman failed to rise in the chamber to deplore the rising tide of crime, the violence in the streets, the rioters who pillaged some cities, the plight of the ghettos, the discrimination against Negroes.

In the view of virtually all, these constituted the number one domestic problem facing the first session of the 90th Congress.

But at adjournment, the tally of bills designed to alleviate the "domestic crisis" was pitifully small.

There was no dearth of proposals, either from the Johnson administration or from the Congress itself.

ECONOMY BLITZ
But the programs which cost money ran into the session's economy blitz, and controversial new ideas either were ignored or stopped short by the traditional liberal-conservative split.

President Johnson sent Congress proposals which were designed to at least start a dent in the crime-ghetto-riot complex.

He proposed a long range program to stimulate police training and improve crime-fighting techniques, and asked for $50 million the first year. Called the "Save Streets and Crime Control Act," it was a must item designed to help stem the rising incidence of crime.

The House gave Johnson what he asked, and jittery about the riots, added $25 million for riot control.

BILL DIED
But the bill died in a bitter liberal-conservative dispute in the Senate Judiciary Committee. The liberals insisted on the administration bill, and the conservatives insisted on adding expanded wiretapping powers and overriding the Supreme Court decision on confessions.

The result: no bill.

Johnson also asked for legislation to outlaw the mail order sales of firearms, a request the House virtually ignored, and which died in the House Judiciary Committee where members split into three blocs — conservatives, liberals and hunters.

Again the result: no bill.

The House did pass a measure — which the administration tolerated but did not endorse — to make it a federal crime to cross state lines to incite a riot. This time, liberals on the Senate Judiciary Committee kept it bottled up.

FUND REQUESTS

In his requests for money to generate programs aimed at the misery of the ghettos — breeding grounds of violence and crime — Johnson also fared poorly.

Congress cut the anti-poverty program from $2.06 billion to $1.77, the model cities program from $662 million to $312 million, and the rent supplement program from $40 million to $10 million. At that, the administration was lucky to get anything.

CIVIL RIGHTS
In the field of civil rights, the administration wound up with almost nothing. Out of a broad package of ideas, Congress granted only a five-year extension to the Civil Rights Commission.

An armaments factory in Israel is producing a new lightweight collapsible mortar that is already selling well in Western Europe. It weighs only about 200 pounds and is made in three sections.

IT'S ALL FOR RESEARCH — Dr. Masakazu Fukuda (left) and Robert J. Grosso, lab technicians at the University of Michigan, check the blood pressure of a hound.

More than 5,000 dogs are used annually in valuable medical research. Half of them are used in short-term acute experiments or in medical school physiology classes.

Animals Play Key Research Role

U. of M.—Home for Dogs, Too

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Happiness has been described as a small boy and his puppy.

It could also be described as a big, modern university and its puppies.

Take the University of Michigan, for instance, where more than 5,000 dogs are used annually in valuable medical research.

Although some humane societies and animal-loving groups oppose the use of dogs — and cats, too — for medical research, U-M's Dr. Bennett J. Cohen says, "We have no apologies to make for our animal care."

"We are accredited nationally for laboratory animal care, are subject to peer evaluation by several university committees, and are inspected by the state departments of health and agriculture," adds Cohen, who heads the school's animal care unit.

IN EXCELLENT CONDITION
Walking through the university's immense facilities for animal research, a person can see hundreds of animals in excellent physical condition, the dogs with their tails wagging and the cats ready to play with the attendants.

The animals are handled daily by many of the care unit's 24 attendants.

The unit, which has been in existence since 1962, also spends more than $300,000 a year for animal food, bedding, and purchase, said Robert A. Watkins, assistant to the unit director.

"Actually, the animals are better cared for at the university than many are as family pets," Watkins said. "We have four different diets for cats alone and our drug bill to keep the animals in good condition runs between $500 and $600 a month."

IT IS VITAL
Several of the veterinarians and technicians working for the care unit emphasize that, in addition to humane reasons, it is vital that the dogs, cats and other animals be kept in excellent health. To have valid and measurable results from experiments, good health in the subject is mandatory.

The university's animals are legally owned by the board of regents. But they are used by qualified investigators (those doing research) in 22 locations, all under the supervision of the laboratory care unit's veterinarians.

More than 95 per cent of the large animals (farm animals, dogs, cats) are housed at the medical center. Smaller animals are used for example, in experimental psychology labs, and in the dental, mental and public health schools.

Nearly all of the dogs are housed and used for research in the medical center.

ACUTE EXPERIMENTS
Approximately 2,500 of them are used in short-term acute experiments such as developing techniques of experimental surgery or in medical school physiology class.

"These animals are brought into the university in a short time are anesthetized, and killed without ever regaining consciousness," said Dr. Cohen.

The animal care unit also purchases 150 purebred dogs for use in special testing such as the study of thyroiditis, which is a hereditary condition in beagles, or in hypertension experiments where both control and test animals of a nearly identical makeup are needed.

The rest of the dogs, about 1,200, are used for survival or chronic purposes such as in long-term studies on kidney transplants.

ANESTHETIC USED
Surgery is done under an anesthetic using the same or even more extensive precautions than are taken with humans. The animal then recovers and may be observed for several years.

"This type of animal also is used in the evaluation of new surgical procedures," Dr. Cohen said. "Years of research on a number of animals, for example, was necessary before the recent successful heart transplant in Africa was feasible."

In one room, rabbits are being used to develop a short-term anesthetic to be used when skin is grafted on children after they have been burned. The drug will not cause the unpleasant after-effects resulting from use of ether.

Other animals are being used in studies on hearing operations and for testing hearing problems.

STOMACH LINING
Several dogs in the university's east medical building, while living an essentially normal life, are used in studies on the stomach lining. What happens when it comes into contact with large amounts of aspirin? This situation in humans often causes bleeding.

And a dog called George, who was one of the care unit's pets, finally died two years ago of old age after living for more than five years with the first successful lung transplant ever performed.

"While the research ultimately goes toward learning more about and helping humans, we also learn a great deal about animals. This information is passed on to veterinarians," Watkins said.

Dr. Cohen added that there is an interrelationship between human and veterinary medicine and similar procedures help both. Many of the machines developed through animal research also are later adapted for human medicine.

"I can understand the public concern over the use of animals in research. I don't agree with it, but I can understand it," Dr. Cohen said.

"A substantial body of public opinion, for instance, believes that a large number of the dogs used are stolen. This just isn't true. We get nearly 50 per cent from pounds after they have been kept there the required period. More than 50 per cent come from vendors who get them from pounds and a few are purchased from breeders who raise dogs.

"It is the university's view," he said, "that the public is best protected through a meaningful pound ordinance which assures pet protection."

Mark Change of Year With Parties

Fondue With Devil Sauce

1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 tablespoon vinegar
2 teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
½ clove garlic, crushed
1½ pounds beef tenderloin, cut ¾-inch thick
Fresh mushroom caps
Parsley
Pure vegetable oil
French rolls, sliced

Early in day: Make Devil Sauce by combining tomato sauce, vinegar, sugar, horseradish and garlic. Pour into serving dish, cover with clear plastic wrap and chill.

Just before serving: Cut beef into ¾-inch cubes; arrange on platter with border of mushroom caps and parsley. Heat oil on range to 400 degrees; pour into fondue pot to depth of 2 inches.

Place pot on table and keep hot over canned heat or alcohol burner. Arrange meat, fondue forks, Devil Sauce and roll slices on table.

Each guest picks up a meat cube or mushroom cap on fondue fork and holds it in hot oil until done to his liking, then dips it in Devil Sauce. Eat the meat on a slice of French roll.

Makes 4 to 6 main dish servings, 12 appetizer servings.

NOTE: If you don't have a fondue pot, heat oil in electric skillet to 400 degrees. Maintain temperature of 400 degrees as meat is being cooked.

dark sweet cherries and red Burgundy wine. Syrup from the cherries is heated with spices and then combined with the wine, lemon juice and cherries. After chilling, orange sections are added, giving a pleasing contrast to the cherries.

Cherry cocktail can be served in small fruit cups or stemmed sherbet glasses.

Follow this appetizer course with roast duckling, wild rice stuffing, creamed onions, an avocado gelatin salad, and for dessert, eggnog pie or fruit cake.

CHERRY WINE COCKTAILS

¾ cup cherry syrup
1 whole clove
½ stick cinnamon
¾ cup red Burgundy wine
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 oranges, peeled and sectioned
Drain cherries, reserving ¾ cup syrup. Combine syrup with spices. Bring to boil and remove from heat. Stir in Burgundy and lemon juice. Add cherries and chill.

Just before serving, add orange sections. Spoon fruit and juice into small cups or stemmed glasses. Serve with crisp crackers. Makes 6-8 servings.

Note: Canned light sweet cherries may be used in place of dark sweet cherries and white wine in place of Burgundy wine.

Art Patron Lets Paintings Go to Help Charities

BRYN ATHYN, Pa. (AP) — All his life The Rev. Theodore Pitcairn used his inherited wealth for the benefit of others. He concentrated on the arts "because they are handmaid of religion."

Though born in luxury—his father was a multimillionaire glassmaker—Pitcairn says, "My life centered on my pastoral duties and writing on religious subjects—it has always been my prime interest since I was a boy."

Now 74, he's retired from the ministry—yet still preaching in the little church he founded on his own estate—and never more completely absorbed in his art, his charities, and his little published book, "My Lord and My God," just off the presses.

His paintings, in fact, have aided greatly his contributions to music, education and religion.

$2.3 MILLION GIVEAWAY
In the last 17 months he has sold or given away six paintings which brought a total of $2,301,920 at auction. The top price of $1,411,200 was paid last Dec. 1 in London for Claude Monet's "La Terrasse a Sainte Adresse."

Pitcairn bought it in 1926 for $11,000.
"The Monet gave me great pleasure — my wife and I loved it dearly — and I'm happy it's going to be exhibited at New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art," he says. "I decided to sell it because I wanted to help them out."

The main beneficiaries of his money and paintings in the past were the Lord's New Church,

Swedenborgian, which he founded in 1939 in a private building — used first as an artist's studio — on his own grounds; the Philadelphia Orchestra; the Chamber Symphony of Philadelphia; headed by his son, Feodor; Maryville College in Tennessee and other schools "to support musical activities."

LITTLE LEFT
His sale of the treasures — previously two Van Goghs and three El Greco's — has made him the talk of the art world. But he insists now he has little of big value left — one small Van Gogh, a painting titled, "The Sower," which might go on the block next year.

Most of his other paintings, more than 50, are by the late Philippe Smit, a Dutch artist and whose work is not cherished by today's sophisticated art world.

Flattered Artists Need New Joke

SOCORRO, N.M. (AP) — Members of the Art League in Socorro used to joke that they'd be flattered if anyone liked their paintings well enough to steal.

League members now are looking for a new standing joke. Two small oils painted by Gladys Newsome. A spokesman said the two paintings disappeared recently while on display at the Socorro Public Library.

probably will turn out to be like El Greco, whose paintings were not big sellers until 300 years later.

There is one Smit pastel, of a girl, that Pitcairn never will sell. After buying it in Holland in 1921, "I decided I wanted to meet the model because she was so cute." Five years later the girl, Maryke Urban, became his wife.

TIME BOOSTS VALUE

Pitcairn also bought his three Van Goghs in 1921 for $20,000 — in those years the Dutch artist wasn't well known here. In June 1966, he sold the 30-by-21-inch portrait of a young girl in a blue dress for $441,000, and a nude pencil study of the artist's mistress brought $22,240. The following month he sold the three El Greco's for $267,540.

a handsome profit over the $65,000 purchase price. One, "Christ on the Cross," brought $117,600.

Pitcairn says he "stopped buying paintings years ago because prices were going up and there were very few of the more recent paintings I cared for. I bought them to hang in my house, not for investment. And besides I had a growing family and large responsibilities in relation to the charities."

Police Speaker

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, will address 33 graduates of the basic police course of Oakland Community College Police Academy at 8 p.m. Jan. 5 in the Oakland County Courthouse Auditorium.

BECAME HIS WIFE — Theodore Pitcairn stands beneath a painting by Philippe Smit, a Dutch artist. The model in the painting later became Pitcairn's wife.

Not a Peace Corps—Head of Red Group

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — There is a Peace Corps Eastern style, but its organizers dislike that label.

"They call us the 'Red Peace Corps,' but this is not what we are," says its chief.

The Voluntary Service of Youth sends experts to less-developed countries. It also organizes work camps there, mostly of students. It reports 2,700 men are in the field in a handful of countries, as compared with some 10,000 U.S. Peace Corps personnel in about 50 nations.

"We do not want to compete with the American Peace Corps," said the leader, Ryszard Tyrluk of Poland. "We would not even work together with them."

AFFILIATIONS
His service is a section of the International Bureau for Tourism and the Exchange of Youth of which he is the executive director, and is attached to the Communist-run World Federation of Democratic Youth.

Tyrluk describes the Peace Corps as an organization directed by the U.S. government, and says his group is free of similar affiliation, financed by private contributions.

Tyrluk has an office in the attic of the federation building in a fashionable area of Budapest near several Eastern embassies.

The walls are adorned with travel posters. There is only one other official, Bulgarian Ivan Ganev, who is a federation secretary, plus a pretty Hungarian typist.

300 IN CUBA

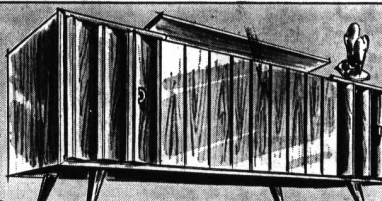

"Presently, we have about 300 specialists in Cuba, mostly agricultural experts," Tyrluk said. "They are Czechoslovaks, Bulgarians and Hungarians."

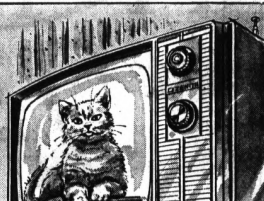

East Germany has some volunteers in African countries. Bulgarians are in Tanzania and Russians in Pakistan. Earlier, there were an international team in Algeria and smaller groups in Mali, Senegal and Sudan.

"We have preparations for another project in India's Bihar."

Sewer Bonds OK

LANSING (AP) — The State Municipal Finance Commission has approved the issuance of $112,000 in special assessment bonds and $47,000 in general obligation bonds by Madison Heights, Oakland County, for storm and sanitary sewers. Also approved was issuance of $400,000 in school bonds by Morley Stanwood Community School District, Mecosta. Montcalm and Newaygo counties, for new construction.

Herbert (Buzze) Scheffel of New York had been holding bad cards for several rubbers. Finally he picked up the West hand shown here and decided that there might be a Santa Claus after all. He bid spade and even after the discouraging one no-trump response, he felt that his hand was worth a further bid and tried two clubs in the hope that his partner might pull himself together and bid more.

East could find no further queen. He cashed his jack of bid, and it was up to South to spades and noted his partner's do something. In Match Point discard of the three of clubs. duplicates we would have little nevertheless he played his last criticism, if any, of South's two diamond.

South was in with the ace Christmas Eve on a runway at Gen. Mitchell Field.

The plane's pilot saw the car on the runway and was able to avoid a crash by veering onto another strip.

Jacobson told the judge he had intended to get onto a freeway, but made a wrong turn.

Motorist Fined for Near-Crash With Airplane

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Edward R. Jacobson, 34, was fined $50 and costs Tuesday after his auto and a C119 flying boxcar narrowly missed colliding Christmas Eve on a runway at Gen. Mitchell Field.

The plane's pilot saw the car on the runway and was able to avoid a crash by veering onto another strip.

Jacobson told the judge he had intended to get onto a freeway, but made a wrong turn.

Buzzie had a tough choice of opening lead but solved his problem by playing out the ace of spades. He was certain that his partner would be short in this suit. He continued with the queen.

Dummy's king won the trick and a diamond was led. East played low, South played the jack and Buzzie was in with the ♠A. The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1	Pass	Pass	Pass
2	Pass	Dble	2NT
3	Pass	Dble	?

Your South, hold:

♠ J4 ♠ K109543 ♠ 7543

What do you do now?

A—Bid three diamonds. You were on your way there in any event.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding two spades, your partner doubles West's two hearts. East jumps to four hearts. What do you do now?

Is It Santa Claus' Image, or Just...?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Who did you say the new patient was?" asked Dr. Alphonse G. Cortez, the celebrated psychiatrist, turning to his nurse.

"He claims that it's Santa Claus," replied the nurse. "And pound for pound, he does look like the real thing."

"Well, show him in," said Dr. Cortez, who was at the time treating two men patients who thought they were Napoleon, three female patients who thought they were Cleopatra, and one patient who thought he was both.

BOYLE

The door opened and in walked a short, pudgy man with a pug nose, closely clipped white hair and bright blue eyes. He backed upward bound educationally developed plan at the University of Wisconsin, permit "Lie down on the couch, please," said the psychiatrist.

MITTENS CAME OFF

The fat man lay down, then pulled off a pair of bright red mittens and dropped them to the floor.

"You name, please?"

"Santa Claus I told your nurse that."

"You occupation, please?"

"Surely you've heard of me, doctor," protested the fat man. "I run a gift shop operation from the North Pole. It's a tight little enterprise, if I do say so myself, with a worldwide distribution second to none."

"Yes, yes, Mr. Claus," answered Dr. Cortez imperturbably.

NO FAMILIAR LOOK

"I've heard of you, certainly. But I must say you don't look familiar."

"Oh, you mean my whiskers are for the job, what the out-and-take off my costume as in soon as I finish my annual big ride."

"I see. Well, what is your problem, Mr. Claus? You look a bit tired. Perhaps you're just suffering from the seasonal post-Christmas letdown. Do you feel fatigued?"

"Me?" said the fat man, struggling halfway up. "No, I never get tired. I've got twice the stamina of men half my age. And that's not bad at all. Do you want to feel my muscles?"

"WHAT'S THE PROBLEM?"

"No, thank you, if we need any laboratory checks of your physical condition, they can be arranged later," said Dr. Cortez. "Just tell me your problems in your own words."

One clothing sender said it for all when she wrote: "I don't get much here, but I got more'n you. God bless you, boy."

In truth, God has blessed young Richard Church to excess lately. The gifts are far too numerous for him alone, or even his five brothers and sisters. Therefore, all that the Church family can't use is being distributed to other needy area youngsters.

Some of the kids already have shared in the bounty. Prior to Christmas, poverty officials held a gigantic party for 400 "desperately poor" boys and girls. Each was given toys and clothing.

Air Express, which learned of the party only hours before it happened, rushed a shipment of toys from New York.

One donation, however, that won't spread around is the offering of medical care. Young Richard can use all he can get.

"Well," said the fat man, relaxing. "I have several worries. To begin with, I've got my plant working so well the toys are piling up in a word I'm suffering from overproduction. Also, my reindeer are complaining of lack of exercise. They think one ride around the world a year isn't enough to keep them in shape."

"And so?"

"And so," continued the fat man. "What I had in mind was maybe riding around the world more often, say once a month, and giving presents to everybody."

"Once a month?" The psychiatrist looked startled and a nurse. She started brushing bit unnered. Then, recovering his professional air, he asked, "Well, why don't you?"

BEAR TRAPS FEARED

"Because the grownups wouldn't like it," said the fat man glumly. "The children of the world would like me to come and leave them a present every night, but a lot of their parents are annoyed now when I show up once a year. If I came more often they would start putting bear traps in their chimneys."

"What I'd like you to do, Doc, is tell me how I can improve my image with adults."

Speaking very carefully, Dr. Cortez said this was a matter that would require further thought. He suggested a future appointment, and the fat man left, looking very unhappy.

A few minutes later Dr. Cortez saw on the floor the pair of red mittens the stranger had left. He handed them to the

APTITUDE AT GLANCE

The teacher sees at a glance whether the student's answers correspond. If they do, then the student can be fairly confident he has some basic aptitude for the job.

"If this system is properly used," Wilkinson says, "the student can see that there are a many more careers open to him than he may have expected."

"Essentially, the system is an exploration device, not a means of making a definite choice. It offers the student a chance to see himself in a cross section of businesses and industries."

Wilkinson has introduced the system in 500 high schools across the United States. There has not been time for a full evaluation of results, he says. But where counselors have had time to study the results, the system has proved helpful, Wilkinson adds.

The system, called the Sextant Series for Exploring Your Future, is designed primarily for use in high schools.

Next to the description of each key job in insurance is a list of questions which inquire into the student's scholastic ability, social, mechanical and aesthetic outlooks, physical ability, personal traits, interests and needs.

All that's needed to answer each question is a check in one of four circles lined up beside each question.

The student replies to the questions on a clear, plastic scale lined up next to the list of questions.

Teachers place the plastic answer sheet over each key list of answers provided with each job description. On the key, circles

A WONDERLAND OF FIRE WAGONS—250 of them, from pocket to pedal size—is only a small part of the very merry Christmas

mas of Richard Church. Toys, cash and clothing continue to pour in from new-found friends throughout the nation.

Christmas Spirit Abounds, Appalachian Boy Discovers

By TOM TIEDE

BOTTOM CREEK, W.V.—(NEA) — Two weeks ago, young Richard Church, a cross-eyed, pitifully impoverished epileptic, picked absently at a hole in his trousers and wished aloud for a fire wagon at Christmas.

Well, he got the fire wagon—and a lot of other things to share with poor friends.

In fact, Richard got 250 fire wagons, all red, all shiny and all given to the unbelieving boy in the spirit of what was a very unusual, very Merry Christmas in this threadbare Appalachian coal community.

Richard's reaction was predictable.

All he could do was wipe his eyes.

READERS RESPOND

Richard Church's Christmas was transmitted to American newspaper readers through the facilities of Newspaper Enterprise Association. Thousands of those readers responded to an extraordinary degree.

They sent wagons big enough to sit in and small enough to stuff in a patched pocket.

They sent plastic ones, steel ones and ones that, "golly, stoo real water."

And that's not all they sent.

BOXES OF CLOTHING

Boxes of clothing, food and even money were mailed from every state in the union.

Packages piled up in area post offices for a solid week.

Several volunteers had to be conscripted to sort and inventory.

Said one weary worker: "M' God, it's all fantastic."

Indeed, the incoming money alone has been fantastic. Over $4,000 has been received from hundreds of contributors in 70 cities. And each day's mail delivery offers more coins and more bills.

One cash contributor, Ricky Rottman of Winthrop Harbor, Ill., typified the mood of the donors. He sent $2 in cash and wrote:

"Dear Richard: I'm 14 years old and am more fortunate than you. I felt sorry for you after reading about you in the Waukegan paper. I'd like to help in a small way. Merry Christmas."

The money has been sent by people of all ages and income. One woman from Olympia, Wash., sent $100.

Another from Muskegon, Mich., sent 25 cents because "it was all I could squeeze from my Social Security."

Comedian Don Knott's mother sent $10 from Morgantown, W.V.

A "former actress" from Menlo Park, Calif., sent $10.

ANIMAL ACT

Even some animals got into the act. Benny and Cindy, a "pair of Chihuahuas" from the West Coast, sent in $1 and a wrapped-up soup bone.

Actually, the amounts of contributed money have been much too large to handle without professional help. Thus, R. L. Taylor, publisher of the local newspaper, has initiated a Richard Church Trust Fund, set up through and administered by the McDowell County National Bank.

Sighs Taylor: "Frankly, I think the boy now has more money than I have."

The boy has more of a lot of other things, also. He has, for instance, over 200 pairs of shoes.

The Thom McAn Shoe Co. alone sent the promise of half the load.

Local merchants have also contributed.

Hundreds of items of clothing have likewise been received. Sweaters, pants and stockings held the list.

Young Richard can use a share; his family's wardrobe was wiped out by fire six months ago.

TOY AIRPLANES

Other items received in prolific numbers have been: toy airplanes (at least five dozen), hats (over 30), underwear (dozens of sets) and at least one hand-knitted blouse by an 80-year-old Ohioan.

One clothing sender said it for all when she wrote: "I don't get much here, but I got more'n you. God bless you, boy."

In truth, God has blessed young Richard Church to excess lately. The gifts are far too numerous for him alone, or even his five brothers and sisters. Therefore, all that the Church family can't use is being distributed to other needy area youngsters.

Some of the kids already have shared in the bounty. Prior to Christmas, poverty officials held a gigantic party for 400 "desperately poor" boys and girls. Each was given toys and clothing.

Goiters Found in Art

By Science Service

ATLANTA—When a doctor looks at a Raphael or Rubens painting in an art gallery he sees something besides beauty in the large necks of some of their models. Their thickness indicates goiter, which is caused by an enlarged thyroid gland.

Dr. John R. K. Preedy, professor of medicine at Emory University here, says goiter must have been fairly common in the early sixteenth century, judging from the thick-necked ladies in the paintings. Their particular type of large neck was a mark of beauty in their day.

The thyroid is an endocrine gland in the neck, that secretes a hormone called thyroxine, which affects some aspects of growth and development as well as the metabolic rate that regulates body processes.

The Rubens and Raphael ladies were necessarily hyperthyroid, Dr. Preedy explains. A goiter may also occur when the thyroid output is normal.

Cancer studies indicate that by the year 2,000, lung cancer will increase while cancer of the stomach and uterus will decline.

Stock Market Moves Ahead

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved ahead early today in what some year-end rally. Trading was heavy. Changes of most key issues were fractional with a few ranging to a point or so.

"The last week of the year usually is one of steady, if unadmitted upside progress," a broker said. "The economic picture continues to show favorable developments and we would expect the market to carry the year-end rally into the coming year."

Early in the session the New York Stock market moved a point and a half higher, but was later lagged by two minutes in reporting floor transactions. It caught up before noon. In the first two hours more than 5 million shares changed hands.

Steels, rubbers, aircrafts, nonferrous metals and airlines paced the advance.

NEW YORK — For the insurance industry 1967 was a year of catastrophes, 37 of them in fact, and in this turn meant a financial catastrophe for the industry: a loss on its underwritings. It disclosed the news this week.

Fires, earthquakes, hail, sinkings, civil disorders, windstorms, hurricanes, floods, and other disasters forced insurers to dip into their own pockets for funds for the fourth year in the past five. The Torrey Canyon, an ocean-going tanker whose hull was insured for $16.5 million, went down off England. McCormick Place, Chicago's huge exhibition center, was destroyed by fire in 1967, and another fire in 1967 destroyed $1.6 million of property. It recounted horror after horror.

Before feeling terribly sorry for the insurers, however, it should be remembered that underwriting losses do not mean net losses. Insurers invest the billions paid to them in premiums and usually earn a handsome profit.

Nevertheless, any year in which 37 catastrophes occur is a bad one, and the word catastrophe is not used loosely. In insurance terminology it means any disaster which costs the insurers $1 million or more.

All through the year, it seems, the winds battered city and countryside. "Tornadoes and windstorms were more destructive in 1967 than any other year," said the insurance industry.

The institute, a trade group that each year tries to assess the damage total, also found that fires took their "grimmett toll yet," destroying $1.6 billion in property. It recounted horror after horror.

But even as it may seem, most of these catastrophic losses are predictable, for they have occurred in patterns over the years. Not so the civil disorders which laid waste to sections of some of the nation's cities. These had no history.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A Chrysler Corp. vice president said Tuesday that neither the electric car nor the turbine engine can compete with the conventional piston-engine as an immediate solution to air pollution.

He spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club in Long Beach.

He said if no more advances are made in exhaust control in the next 10 years and if the number of cars on America's roads increase as expected, "auto-caused pollution will still be only half of what it is now."

Byron J. Nichols, Chrysler vice president, said his company's new cleaner-air system

He spoke at a session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science on the subject of hazards from radioactive fallout from nuclear

Successful Investing

Q—I own 100 shares of American Telephone, 50 bought in 1964 and 50 from the 2-for-1 split in 1964. I also have 50 General Foods Corp. I would like a little more income and am thinking of selling my original 50 shares of Telephone and establishing a loss. Do you advise this and can you suggest a better income payer than General Foods?
A—To correct a misapprehension about your Telephone stock, if you sold 50 before the 1964, you should adjust your cost price by dividing 89 by two which gives you an adjusted cost of 44 1/2 for your shares. You now have a profit in Telephone, rather than a loss, and at present depressed levels I believe that the FCC ruling has done only minor damage to Telephone and that its effects have been discounted. The 50 shares of Telephone you bought in 1964, you should sell at a profit of 100 shares of Telephone. The 50 shares of Telephone you bought in 1964, you should sell at a profit of 100 shares of Telephone.

Only four of the world's nations top the 200-million population mark. The next most populous — Japan, Indonesia and Pakistan — are still far down the list at around 100 million each. The 750 million figure for mainland China is an estimate. Although certainly the most populous nation by far, China's exact population is a question mark. Some estimates go as high as one billion.

4 City Men Charged in 2 Break-Ins

Four Pontiac men were charged with breaking and entering yesterday and arraigned in Pontiac Municipal Court.

Bobbie J. Duncan, 30, of 385 First and Perry R. Allen, 21, of 1941 Gowing were a preliminary hearing before Judge Cecil McCallum and were bound over to Circuit Court for arraignment before Judge James S. Thorburn on Jan. 11.

The pair was reportedly arrested by police early Sunday morning inside the Peoples Food Store, 283 Auburn.

They were released on $3,000 bond each.

McCallum set a Jan. 3 preliminary examination for the other two men charged with burglarizing the Community Services Building, 132 Franklin Blvd., Saturday night.

They are John T. Ushaw, 33, of 297 Branch and Elmer Howard, 44, of 202 Western.

Police arrested the pair after answering a silent burglar alarm in the building. The alarm system had been installed only that day.

Howard and Ushaw were returned to the Oakland County Jail after failing to meet $5,000 bond.

The Soviet Union is planning more than 1,000 tons for interplanetary space flights.

Security by Honeywell

The police had received a description of the getaway car on radio. McDowell was pulled over on Williams Lake Road just north of M39 in Waterford Township.

The gas station attendant, Charles H. Barber of 4405 Navarra, Davisburg, later identified McDowell as the man who robbed him of about $40 at 2:10 a.m. Police found $40.00 in McDowell's pocket.

A fire breaks out in an American home every 49 seconds.

We put these little details on entrances of places having any of our new electronic intrusion alarm systems for YOUR benefit. We tell you in advance how tough it is for you inside. Go and find a place that doesn't have these little stickers on the doors. Chances are, you'll find much better.

Sometimes we cheat. We hide the Sonic Transducers where you can't find them, even when you can see the place. We send the silent intrusion alarm directly to the police by phone or radio. Then we leave the little warning stickers off. If you hate us with a passion, we have it coming.

Press, Public Dismayed by Beatles' TV Fantasy

LONDON (AP) - The Beatles' latest creation-an hour-long television film fantasy-was greeted with howls of dismay and amazement by press and public today.

Hundreds of viewers telephoned complaints to the British Broadcasting Corp. which screened the $72,000 "Magical Mystery Tour" Tuesday night, one of the high spots in its Christmas schedule. It was the first movie produced and directed by the pop-haired quartet.

"If they were not the Beatles," wrote Mary Malone in the Daily Mirror, "they could not give a toothpaste merchant to go for this. It was chaotic."

"A great big bore," said Richard Last in the Sun, "a bore based on the proposition that improvisation and random selection are a valid substitute for organized art. And they're not."

COLLUSAL CONCEIT

Peter Black wrote in the Daily Mail. "As time wore on, the utter lack of normal showbiz hubbub and desire to please, the narcissistic close-ups they devised for each other, the pretentious emptiness of the communication being offered, began to add up to a colossal conceit."

"I cannot remember ever seeing such blatant rubbish," said James Thomas in the Daily Express. "The hour of tasteless nonsense might have been conceived with all the show business knowledge and background of a backward greengrocer."

Only Keith Dewhurst of the Guardian approved: "Some of it was too condensed and some too private, but the whole was an inspired free-wheeling achievement."

The film-a coach tour with the cast taking off at random on wild flights of fantasy to a background of Beatle songs-is expected to be in more than $2 million from foreign sales. It will be shown in color in the United States in 1968.

INTENTIONALLY UNREALISTIC

A spokesman for the Beatles commented: "There are some people who don't understand parts of it. Maybe they are looking for too much reality in sequences which are very intentionally unrealistic."

"If people don't like it they only have us to blame."

MAKE OVER PAGES

BOB WISLER
A city income tax ordinance enacted by city commissioners this fall may yet go through, depending on the outcome of a Circuit Court suit filed yesterday by attorneys for two city employees.

from setting a date for a referendum election.
A show-cause hearing was scheduled today with the city charged with the responsibility of showing why the election should proceed.
The suit filed yesterday charged irregularities in the petitions calling for a referendum election on the income tax issue.

Detroit attorney Winston L. Livingston filed the suit on behalf of R. Kenneth Davidson, a Pontiac police officer, and Herbert L. Hay, a firefighter.
The income tax ordinance passed by city commissioners to relieve financial problems affecting the city's general fund budget was challenged when Cecil C. Mullinix of 571 Lowell, an income tax foe, presented some 1,900 signatures on petitions asking for a referendum election.

City Clerk Olga Barkeley subsequently certified more than 1,100 signatures — the number of signatures required to order an election.

Commissioners were expected to pass a resolution last night calling for the election, a move which would delay collection of income taxes at least until the outcome of the election.
However, the suit charges that the petitions do not conform to provisions of the city charter and state law which govern referendum elections.

NO ENDORSEMENTS
The petitions, the suit said, failed to contain endorsements of the names and addresses of three persons designated as filing them.

They also failed to include signatures on each petition copy of the circulator of the petition, it charges.

While city commissioners would like nothing better than to see the suit be upheld by the court, the city is in a peculiar position — having to defend against the suit.

This is because the election machinery is in the hands of the city. Deputy City Attorney Thomas Hunter said the filers of the petition should be present to give arguments for the validity of the petitions.

3 PETITIONERS
Filing the petitions two weeks ago at the city clerk's office were Mullinix, Robert D. Coon, a Pontiac attorney, and Edward W. Keel of 183 Pingree.
Hunter said the city legal department had noticed the same discrepancies in the petitions as noted in the lawsuit.

He said the City Commission had been informed but the commission had decided to proceed with the election as attempting to challenge the petitions could have ended in a drawn-out lawsuit.

Future Is Dim for Bus Service

Bus service for Pontiac residents will probably be available into March, but there is little hope for it after that, according to City Manager Joseph A. Warren.

City commissioners last night were ready to pass a resolution calling for an end to the city's subsidy of the service but deferred a decision in light of new information.

They had been told that a lawsuit brought by two city employees may forestall a referendum on Pontiac's income tax ordinance.

In such a case the city could presumably collect income taxes for 1968 and eliminate need for general operating fund budget cuts announced recently.

Only District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson — a long-time foe of the subsidy — voted against deferring the decision one week, pending outcome of hearings in Circuit Court on the lawsuit.

CURTALMENT LIKELY
Warren, however, told the commission that even if the city did not cancel the subsidy — $35,000 per year — it's quite likely that the Pontiac Transit Corp. will curtail the service.

The company which provides the buses has been losing money for some time. "It might be a race between the City Commission and the bus company as to who is going to phase out first," Warren said.

Thailand, Laos Fear N. Viet Attack

BANGKOK (AP) — Thailand's army commander said today three Communist battalions that include North Vietnamese are poised on Thailand's northern border and one is trying to cross. In neighboring Laos, the government declared it faced a general North Vietnamese offensive.

The battalion trying to cross into Thailand totals some 600 men and includes Thais insurgents drilled in North Vietnam, men of the Communist Pathet Lao movement in Laos and Mee tribesmen, said Gen. Phraphas Charusathien, who is deputy premier as well as commander in chief of the army.

To check the threat, Phraphas said, helicopters whirled into Nan province carrying government troops from Chiangrai, in northern Thailand and units from the 3rd Army Headquarters. The area where Thai troops and the Communists were reported facing each other is 350 miles northeast of Bangkok.

The Laotian Defense Ministry said in a communique late yesterday that "reports arriving from various fronts confirm a general North Vietnamese offensive."

It reported attacks over the weekend on government army posts at Nam Bac, in Luang Prabang province, and at Phalane and on the outskirts of Nong Boualao, both in Savannakhet province, in southeast Laos.

ATTACKS CONTAINED

"Our forces have been able to contain all these attacks," the communique said.

The communique also said that two North Vietnamese battalions had been ordered to move from Makhasay toward Thakhek, a town on the Mekong River opposite Nakorn Phanom, a Communist hotbed in northeast Thailand.

The Laotian post at Nam Bac, north of Luang Prabang, the Royal Laotian capital, is within 100 miles of where Phraphas said the three Red battalions were arrayed against his forces.

In Washington earlier, sources at the Pentagon and the State Department were included to see nothing particularly serious in the report of Communist activity in Laos.

TIGHTENING DEFENSES

There were suggestions that the Communists were raiding to get provisions from the rice harvest and that they were tightening their defenses along the Ho Chi Minh trail through eastern Laos, which North Vietnamese troops use going to South Vietnam.

However, no U.S. official would discount the possibility that major military activity might be in the offing in Laos.

There was no immediate comment from these officials on the situation in Thailand.

Communist insurgency has been intensifying in northeast Thailand for two years. Thai government troops have reported killing an estimated 300 terrorists and capturing 4,000 terrorists and sympathizers. Government losses are believed to be about 200 dead.

HOTFOOT — Construction workers at M59 and Elizabeth Lake Road in Waterford Township wasted no time this morning in lighting a fire to keep warm. When they arrived on the job, the temperature was at a low of seven degrees.

Romney Talks With Thieu After 'Snub' by Top Marine

From Our News Wires
SAIGON — Gov. Romney conferred with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam yesterday after an apparent snub by the commander of U.S. Marines in Vietnam.

Romney met with Thieu in Independence Palace for 25 minutes yesterday after flying from Dan Nang where three appointments to see Lt. Gen. Robert C. Cushman failed to materialize.

In his final day in Vietnam today, Romney flew to the Mekong Delta for a look at pacification projects.

He was scheduled to leave later today for Indonesia, the next stop in his round-the-world tour.

Romney was in Da Nang Monday night

after a whirlwind visit with U.S. fighting men. Cushman left the base Monday to tour the Demilitarized Zone with Gen. William C. Westmoreland.

'TOO ILL'

He said he was too ill to see Romney when he returned and was similarly sick yesterday morning.

Marines close to Cushman said he wasn't happy with the governor's remark that he was "brainwashed" in military briefings during a 1965 tour.

The Michigan governor said again that he had been misled on his previous visit to South Vietnam but that he had gotten a more rounded view this time.

"I indicated very frankly that I was given a conducted tour last time and that this did mislead me," he said.

He expressed anger over the criticism of his statement in a television interview last Sept. 4 that U.S. military and diplomatic officials had "brainwashed" him on his previous visit.

"That's past," he said. "I'm here to discuss the present and the future."

Bob Hope Reporting:

Christmas Busy, Memorable

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another in a series of reports by comedian Bob Hope, who is touring Southeast Asia entertaining U.S. servicemen.)

By BOB HOPE

SAIGON — Many years ago in one of my weaker moments I promised my wife, Dolores, that wherever I was in the world, and whatever I was doing, I would attend midnight Mass on Christmas.

And that's how I started my Christmas day in the chapel of the 4D field hospital just outside of Saigon.

I attended midnight Mass with Gen. Westmoreland. We had just visited the crowded wards of one of Vietnam's best hospitals.

At its best, such a visit is not easy. But this was Christmas Eve, when you try to get laughs from kids who have been blasted by Claymore mines and booby traps.

As the priest recited the words of the Mass, I couldn't get the picture of these kids out of my mind.

PERFECT SERMON

And the sermon was perfect — short and to the point. The message of Christmas is a simple one — peace on earth, good will to man. God, I hope so, and soon.

The day started out on the grim side, but when we crept out to Long Binh, about 40 miles from Saigon, there was a magnificent sunrise.

As I walked out onto the stage, I couldn't believe what I saw. There, in a natural amphitheater, was the largest service audience that I have ever seen in my life.

There were over 25,000 GI's in front of me, and my spirits really soared.

GREAT SHOW

I don't have to tell you it was a great show.

We didn't need criers to get to our next base. We flew over to Bear Cat on the applause.

Here, we were met by a tiny audience. There couldn't have been more than 10 or 11,000 men in the ball park.

Actually, I don't dig these little intimate rooms, but even that tiny audience loved the show.

Next, our pooped road company was in Saigon, fighting the war for hot water.

After that it was cleaning up and heading for Christmas dinner at Gen. Westmoreland's.

It was a strange day. Excitement and sadness, happiness and tears. It wasn't my merriest Christmas, but it was one I will not forget for some time to come.

Next Few Days Will Remain Cold

A hull in Michigan's snowy weather left most roads and highways clear to day except for isolated but dangerous patches of ice.

The mercury dipped to a seasonal low of 7 above this morning.

The weatherman predicts temperatures will plunge to 3 to 8 above zero tonight.

Variable cloudiness and continued cold is the forecast for tomorrow, and partly cloudy with little temperature change is the outlook for Friday.

Precipitation probabilities in percent are: today 20, tonight and tomorrow 10.

The thermometer reading at 12:30 p.m. was 18.

Nitrogen Peril Feared in Floods

NEW YORK (AP) — A biologist said today he is worried whether too much nitrogen used in farm fertilizers is getting into store-bought baby foods.

If it is, then certain nitrogen products might be killing some babies, or making others turn blue, he said.

The biologist, Dr. Barry Commoner of Washington University in St. Louis, said he did not know whether this is really happening yet. But he said it should be looked into.

He spoke at a session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science on the subject of hazards from radioactive fallout from nuclear tests.

Commoner said a study, published recently by scientists from the University of Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station, had found that some commercial baby food — beets and spinach particularly — "contained as much as 0.8 percent nitrate nitrogen. At this rate, an infant fed a two-ounce jar of baby food would receive about 40 milligrams of nitrogen as nitrate."

"Public health officials recommend that infants take, in their food and water, no more than 12 milligrams of nitrate nitrogen daily," he said.

Commoner told newsmen: "The hazards may be minimal, but it ought to be looked into," with more studies because "we need to know what levels are found elsewhere in the nation."

Blast Hits Mine Plant

HANOVER, Mass. (UPI) — An explosion erupted today at a munitions plant that makes anti-personnel mines for use in Vietnam. State police said one person was killed and 22 injured, including one seriously.

FCC Denies Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rosel H. Hyde, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, denied today Sen. Eugene McCarthy's charges that the FCC had contemptuously handled his request for equal television and radio time to answer telecast statements by President Johnson.

Hyde said the FCC had yet to act on McCarthy's request, but would do so soon.

Ice Warning: Stay off Lakes

Stay off area lakes.

This blunt warning was issued today by Lt. Donald Kratt, director of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department water safety division. He is referring to newly formed ice on the lakes.

"No lake in this area is safe for walking," said Kratt. "There has to be seven sub-freezing days, and we haven't had them."

The water safety expert said three inches of ice is the minimum for safe walking, and this will hold "only three average-sized persons walking together."

He also urged fishermen and skaters to be on the lookout for thin spots and air pockets. These can be difficult to see, he said, if there is snow on the ice.

SNOWMOBILE WARNING

Kratt also issued a special warning to snowmobile operators who like to run their vehicles on the lakes.

"They should be doubly cautious at this time of year. Snowmobiles need more ice than a fisherman on foot. Recovery costs are high, not to mention possible loss of life."

Half of VC Battalion Wiped Out

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese soldiers and rocket-spewing American helicopters wiped out half of a Communist battalion Tuesday.

The Red force of less than 500 men left 203 bodies on the battlefield just below the demilitarized zone and dragged off more dead and wounded when it slipped away during the night.

Fifteen South Vietnamese were killed, 59 were wounded, and the gunners of the crack 416th Vietcong Battalion shot down two American helicopters and riddled several more.

Three U.S. helicopter crews and an American infantry adviser were wounded, along with one Australian adviser.

MAJOR BATTLE

It was the first major battle after the 24-hour Christmas truce proclaimed by the South Vietnamese. The fighting began more than 12 hours before the end of the three-day cease-fire ordered by the Vietcong.

The battle flared early Tuesday when a South Vietnamese battalion swept out on a search-and-destroy operation northeast of Quang Tri city. The South Vietnamese caught the Red force in the coastal flanks and pinned it to the coast as a second government battalion was rushed up with armored vehicles to block the enemy's escape routes.

Artillery and jet planes pounded the Vietcong, and then the helicopters whirled in with rockets and machine guns blazing. They were credited with a large part of the enemy casualties.

Heavy fire rained on the Vietcong throughout the day and into the night, with the ships lighting the battlefield. By 1 a.m. today the enemy had evidently slipped out on the flanks, leaving 42 rifles and submachine guns and 10 heavier weapons in addition to the dead they could not carry away. Six prisoners were also taken, including one junior officer.

In the air war, U.S. pilots flew 150 missions over North Vietnam Tuesday, the largest number in five weeks.

The cloud ceiling ranged from 2,000 to 3,000 feet over most of the country and only one raid struck deep into the interior, at a boat yard some 20 miles up the Red River from Hanoi.

The other strikes raked coastal roads, rails and canals and below Hanoi to the demilitarized zone. Navy pilots reported 20 sampans blasted out of the water and 20 trucks destroyed or damaged.

Garrison: LBJ Hiding Truth

DA Hits President, Hoover in JEK Probe

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — President Johnson "knows very well that Lee Oswald did not pull the trigger," Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison said yesterday. He charged that Johnson and J. Edgar Hoover have kept the truth about the assassination of President Kennedy from the Kennedy family.

Garrison, asserting that at least 15 persons including right-wing extremists were involved in a conspiracy to murder Kennedy in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963, said Johnson and the federal government are "protecting the assassins every day."

In a day of fast-moving developments in his year-old assassination probe, Garrison said:

- Oswald was working as a federal agent in November, 1963, and advised the Federal Bureau of Investigation of a plot to kill President Kennedy in Dallas.
- At least 15 persons were involved in the conspiracy, including right-wing extremists.
- Communists were not involved in the plot.
- He fears the Warren Commission's secret documents may be changed before they are released to the public.
- He finds it unusual that three Democratic governors have interfered with his investigation by refusing to extradite witnesses to Louisiana.
- He did not know whether Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, a Republican, would extradite Edgar Eugene Bradley, the second man Garrison has charged with conspiracy in the assassination.

Birmingham Area News

City Commission Okays Membership in COG

BIRMINGHAM — The city became the 90th member of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (COG) last night as the commission unanimously approved joining the voluntary organization.

In the same resolution formalizing its membership in the six-county Detroit area unit, commissioners urged that their proposed amendments to the bylaws of COG be adopted.

The suggested revisions, which already have been accepted by the bylaw subcommittee of COG, its finance committee and executive committee, clarify powers of the organization in certain areas.

The Birmingham recommendations will be submitted to the general assembly of the organization when it meets Jan. 13 in the auditorium of Ford Motor Co.'s general offices in the American Road Building, Dearborn.

Commissioners Robert Page and Carl F. Ingraham, both strongly in favor of the basic organization, noted however that if the amendments fail to pass, the city may consider pulling out.

Robert Farley, executive director of the Council of Governments, told commissioners that they can withdraw 90 days after this giving notice, but presently must be domination.

Most vocal was James H. Walker Jr., 1555 Villa, who had written the commission a lengthy letter outlining his reasons for opposing COG.

"We cannot be so naive," wrote Walker, "as to assume that those who organize these things:

- "Are not aware that common ground for voluntary cooperation of school districts and other units is so limited to be negligible. Without equality, there must be domination."
- "Do not intend to reorganize with the one-man — one vote arrangement even though the scale of dues has been based on population."
- "Have not attempted to dissuade the legislature from considering definitive statutes, and from retaining control of this segment of the state."

Diplomatic Answer Sought by LBJ on Cambodia Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — De-military action if diplomacy spits a sharp rebuff from Cambodia. President Johnson still hopes to find a diplomatic solution to the problem of Communist forces using Cambodian territory as a sanctuary from which to attack South Vietnam.

U.S. officials said Johnson intends to exhaust all the resources of diplomacy before considering other means of dealing with the problem.

Officials report, however, that pressures are growing inside the Johnson administration for United States to take the Cambodian government "as part of a sincere effort to provide the Cambodian government with information which would enable it to move toward a solution of a problem we believe should be of concern to the Cambodian government as well as the United States government."

The note proposed strengthening of an international control commission for Cambodia to enable it to prevent use of Cambodian territory by the Communists as far as possible.

It also stated, according to a State Department spokesman, that the United States respects "the neutrality, sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity of Cambodia" and "has no hostile intentions toward Cambodia or Cambodian territory."

BETTY FURNESS

Companies Urged to Tell Product's Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — Betty Furness, special adviser on consumer affairs to President Johnson, urged today that manufacturers tell purchasers exactly how long a product can be expected to last.

"Why shouldn't the housewife know that there are 'X' number hours of service in her washing machine or that the life expectancy of a toaster falls short of a golden wedding anniversary?" said Miss Furness.

"The manufacturer knows, and the marketer knows, what the design-life of a product is. Shouldn't the consumer also know?" she asked.

Holiday Road Toll Forecast: 460-540

CHICAGO (AP) — Between 460 and 540 persons will lose their lives on the nation's highways over the three-day New Year holiday observance, says the National Safety Council.

The death count will run from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday.

The council's estimate was issued Tuesday as the final death toll figure for the three-day Christmas weekend became available.

Fire Near Charlevoix Destroys AF Trailers

CHARLEVOIX (UPI) — A truck towed a mobile trailer loaded with ammunition to safety yesterday as a blaze destroyed 17 other trailers at an Air Force bomb-scoring site near this northern Michigan community.

Firemen estimated damage would run into millions of dollars, but no definite estimate was immediately available.

The 55 members of the 12th detachment of the 10th Radar Bomb Scoring Squadron, Strategic Air Command, at this Bay Shore base, all lived off the base, and no injuries were reported.

Headquarters of the squadron are at Barksfield Air Force Base, Shreveport, La.

Firemen from four neighboring communities fought the fire for two and a half hours to keep the magnesium-fed flames from spreading.

TRAILERS DAMAGED

But though tank trucks formed a mechanized bucket brigade, hauling water from a nearby farm to the fire, the 17 mobile trailers containing sensitive electronic gear used to measure the accuracy of bombers passing over the area were either destroyed or severely damaged.

The blaze apparently started in a trailer holding air-conditioning equipment that cooled the electronic gear used to compute and record "bomb hits," firemen said.

Deaths Blamed on Auto Fumes

Carbon monoxide poisoning was blamed today for the deaths of two men found in a car parked in a Pontiac garage.

Pontiac police said the men were asphyxiated, and ruled that the deaths were accidental.

One of the victims was identified by police as Jessie Walker, 33, of 342 Stanton, a mechanic who operates the garage at 84 W. Sheffield where the bodies were discovered.

The name of the other man was not withheld by police pending notification of his family's permanent sub-urban residence from where he about 60 years old.

Walker's wife, Finetta, found the bodies after finding the garage about 7 a.m. today when he began his abortive coup.

Egypt to Clear Southern Half of Suez Canal

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt has finally agreed to clear the southern half of the Suez Canal and release 15 foreign ships trapped in the waterway, the semi-official newspaper Al Ahran indicated today.

Al Ahran, which often speaks for President Gamal Abdel Nasser, said Nasser's government "undertook an extensive study of the problem in all its aspects" and established that clearance of the southern part of the waterway was "feasible."

The paper said the government made the study in response to repeated requests from Poland, France and Britain, which have ships trapped in the canal, and from India.

Egypt turned down a similar request last September, insisting that no part of the canal could be cleared until Israeli troops withdrew from the east bank of the canal and other territories they occupied in the June war.

BARGAINING LEVER

By refusing to clear the northern end of the canal and reopen it to navigation, Nasser would still retain a bargaining lever to support his demands for Israeli withdrawal.

BLASTS LBJ

Garrison, blasting away at Johnson for not releasing the Warren Commission secret documents, said the federal government is "protecting the assassins every day."

Waterford Set to Act on Pact for Gasoline

The Waterford Township Board is expected to approve a two-year agreement to provide gasoline for the township's fleet of vehicles at its 7:30 meeting tonight.

When bids were opened at the board's Dec. 11 meeting, the apparent low quotation for regular grade gasoline was 13.44 cents per gallon.

The apparent low quotation for premium grade gasoline was 15.39 cents per gallon.

In other business, the board will consider a recommendation for the purchase of 13,000 feet of plastic water service tubing.

Five firms submitted quotations to the water and sewer department.

UP FOR APPROVAL

The tubing is to be used for water service connections from main to property lines next year.

Up for preliminary approval is the land plan for Lakeland Estates No. 3 Subdivision.

Given a favorable recommendation by the Township Planning Commission, the proposed 79-lot single-family residential development would be located on the east side of Dixie Highway between Eagle and Woodhull lakes.

Also up for consideration tonight is a proposed amendment to a township ordinance which establishes connection charges and other costs for the Waterford-Pontiac Laterals of the Clinton-Oakland Sewage Disposal System.

Vatican May Send Mission to N. Viet

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI may send a Vatican mission to North Vietnam to explore chances for peace talks, a high Vatican source said today.

The mission also would seek humane treatment for American prisoners and offer relief aid to the North Vietnamese, according to the source.

The source said there were no definite plans at this stage but a mission "appears likely" following the Pope's meeting last Saturday with President Johnson.

"If it is decided to send a mission," would expect an announcement sometime in the first half of January," the source said.

Future Is Dim for Bus Service

It is not conceivable that the company would operate the bus service without the city's subsidy, the city manager said.

An agreement between the City Commission and the bus company calls for cancellation by either party on not less than 60 days written notice.

RECOMMENDATION

Warren had recommended serving cancellation notice effective March 2, a Saturday, to cause the least inconvenience to those who regularly use buses.

Commissioner Hudson said the bus company is carrying about 10 per cent less passengers for the months of 1967 compared to 1966.

He said this is a continuing process which, if the subsidy were continued, would cause the city's subsidy to get larger every year.

President Moves Office to His Texas Ranch

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson moved his office to his beloved Texas hill country ranch and settled down today for a year-end stay that aides expected to be "a fairly busy time."

The President announced he had invited Israel's Prime Minister Levi Eshkol for a private and informal ranch visit Jan. 7 and 8.

And his press secretary, George Christian, said the President could be expected to stay in Texas at least through that time.

Bill signing and budget business was prime on the President's agenda, with budget director Charles Schultz, fiscal experts and some Cabinet members coming to the ranch to confer, starting in the next day or so.

STATE OF UNION

Johnson also will be drafting his State of the Union message, presented annually to the convening Congress. Congress is due back Jan. 15.

It was to be a combination of work and relaxation for the nation's chief executive, who flew to Texas Tuesday afternoon after spending his first Christmas with his family in the White House.

The President's wife, Lady Bird, daughter Luci, and her husband, Patrick J. Nugent, and the presidential grandson, baby Lyn, are at the ranch, too, along with three presidential dogs—two beagles and the President's favorite mongrel, Yuki.

Johnson arrived at Randolph Air Force Base here aboard his big jet plane dressed for relaxation in a brown sports jacket, tan shirt, tan slacks, brown loafers and wearing sunglasses in the bright Texas afternoon. He waved to the crowd of several hundred who gathered at the airport fence, but did not make his usual gesture of shaking hands.

FAIR WEATHER

The weatherman provided the President with warming the fair weather approaching the mid-60s for the sojourn at the LBJ ranch, 75 miles north of here.

Press secretary Christian said

Johnson's first order of business probably would be bill signing—with more than 40 bills piling up from the windup of the first session of the 90th Congress. They include a big education bill, broadened Social Security benefits and a foreign aid appropriation.

The budget for fiscal 1969—which reportedly may top $140 billion—will continue to occupy the President's time in the next weeks and budget director Schultz "will be down once or twice," Christian said.

Prisoner Revolt Quieted After 3 Guards Stabbed

WEAPON SEARCH
Both Hancock and Arthur denied stabbing the guards, and officers canvassed the prison early today for weapons on other inmates.

The prisoners, Donald Lee Hancock, 21, and William T. Arthur, 29, turned over their weapons without further resistance and were placed in a maximum security unit.

The warden's action ended a

Hollingsworth and Currie, both with stab wounds in the chest and abdomen, were listed in serious condition at a hospital, and Fields, stabbed in the back, was described as fair.

Alerted at his home after the outbreak, Henderson rushed to the prison and found Hancock and Arthur with a knife at the throat of another guard, Byron Bean.

'CUT IT OUT'

"I told them to cut that stuff out, that such things didn't go on inside a prison," said the warden.

Hancock is serving a 55-year term in the slaying of a state trooper at Shelbyville, Tenn., and Arthur, convicted in Chattanooga of armed robbery and murder, has a 100- to 109-year term.

Billy Dee of the Clyde Beavers Band, which was performing at the Christmas show, said the group was in its last number when we heard a loud groan or scream coming from the back. It was loud enough to carry over our playing.

"That was when they got the first guard," Dee said.

Henderson said most of the prisoners proceeded calmly to the cell blocks after the stabbings, and authorities at all times had the situation under control.

4 Victims Still Submerged in Ohio River

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (UPI) — Rescue workers labored today to recover the two autos with four victims still submerged in the Ohio River where the Silver Bridge collapsed with a roar under bumper-to-bumper traffic Dec. 15.

John A. Wilson, director of civil defense for Mason County, said yesterday all the trucks and all but two of the autos have been recovered since the disaster, which has taken 35 lives so far.

State police said today 14 persons still were missing. With four bodies in the two autos sighted by rescue workers, police said the others unaccounted for apparently drowned while trying to swim from their vehicles.

Wilson said, following yesterday's operations, that 19 autos, five tractor-trailers, two dump trucks and a pickup truck had been dredged from the river bottom.

Col. William Falck of the Army engineers said the rest of the bridge's superstructure would be hauled from the river in the next five or six days.

He estimated 2,000 tons of steel have been removed already.

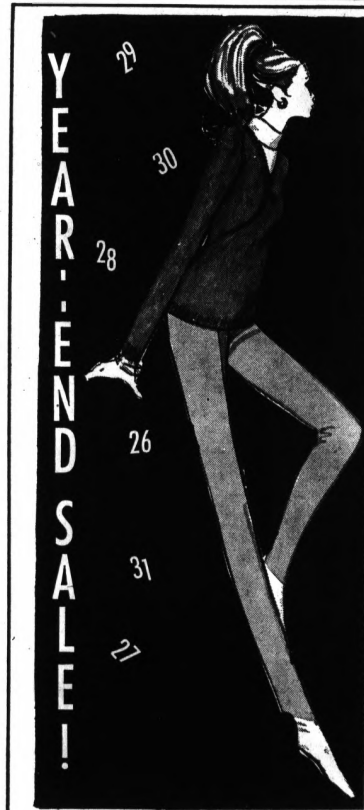

When all the twisted metal is recovered from the water, experts will assemble the bridge piece-by-piece for clues to its collapse.

Peace Corps to Pull Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — After four years in Gabon, the Peace Corps will pull its volunteers out at the request of the government of that West African nation.

A corps spokesman said Tuesday no reason was given by the Gabonese for the request. But he said the government expressed "sincere thanks" for the corps' work.

"We go to a country at the invitation of the host government, and whenever a government wishes us to leave, we do so

The Resorts Expected to Boom Now That Cold Is Here

Despite a start less favorable than last year, Michigan's winter resort owners need not get cold weather they have now to get things really booming. For more than a decade, Michigan's 83 winter resorts now have modern snow-making machines and aren't dependent on old-fashioned snow, according to an Automobile Club of Michigan survey. But owners do need the cooperation of the weatherman, because snow machines can't operate unless the temperature drops to 28 degrees or lower.

Jerry E. Fisher, Auto Club touring manager, pointed out that a good season started in late November and resorts were able to retain the snow for most of the month of December.

This year, by contrast, there have been only three weekends in December when skiing was possible in most Lower Peninsula resorts.

If the weather continues to cooperate from here on, resort owners still have to a good year, perhaps attracting some 300,000 skiers by the time the winter season is over in March.

GOOD YEAR POSSIBLE

A good year could be in prospect despite the earlier warm weather because the number of skiers is increasing each year, Fisher said.

In addition to skiers, several hundred thousand more ice fishermen, snowmobile enthusiasts, festival-goers and just plain sightseers are expected to seek outdoor fun.

tors will find rates on the average only slightly higher than last year.

IMPROVEMENTS

At Mt. Holly, for example, prices on all facilities have been raised 50 cents, which means a ticket permitting use of all facilities costs $5 a day on Saturdays and Sundays and $4 a day for weekdays.

Since last winter season, major improvements have been made at many centers, including new lodgings, slopes and multiple lifts and additional chair lifts, snow machines, tow lifts and other facilities.

Skiers alone may spend some $30 million, an increase of about $2 million over the 1964-65 season when winter sports conditions were ideal.

Winter sports facilities range from modest to plush, with a price for every budget, Fisher pointed out.

About half of Michigan's resorts for night skiing. Seven have heated swimming pools, two have airplane landing strips, 43 offer meals and 26 offer cocktail lounges and bars. Many have dancing, entertainment and teen activities.

TOPPED ONLY BY N.Y.

Michigan's total of ski resorts is exceeded in the Midwest and east only by New York, which has 113, Fisher said.

A great deal of winter sports action is in western Michigan, where the 38 areas represent almost half the state's total. East Michigan has 18, the Upper Peninsula 15 and southeast Michigan 12.

Ski centers which made 1967 debuts are Schuss Mountain, west of Marquette in northwestern Michigan, and Black Forest Ski Area, west of Port Huron in southeast Michigan.

Snow Valley near Gaylord reopened under new management. Sugar Loaf Mountain near Traverse City has changed its name to Sugar Loaf Village and added a third chair lift with three new slopes.

BIGGEST OPERATION

Ski facilities at Schuss include eight ski slopes, snowmaking equipment, two double chair lifts and trails.

Black Forest, the other newcomer, offers seven slopes and rope tows, snow-making equipment, a ski shop with rentals and instruction, lodging, and an adjacent restaurant and bar.

West Michigan now has the biggest ski operation under one ownership in the country. Everett Kircher, owner of the Boyne Highlands and Boyne Mountain resorts, has purchased two other large ski areas, Thunder Mountain and Walloon Hills.

Kircher estimates the four areas, all within 20 miles of Petoskey, will provide skiing for more than 12,000 persons a day this season. He predicts as many as 280,000 skiers will use them before the winter ends.

$300,000 EXPANSION

Buses will transport skiers to the areas. Cannonsburg ski area near Grand Rapids has added three new ski slopes, four more rope tows and expanded its snow-making equipment.

More than $400,000 has been invested in Crystal Mountain near Beulah to make this facility among the best in western Michigan.

"FABULOUS FOUR"

It claims to have the longest chair lift in the Midwest, extending three-quarters of a mile at center, and four advanced slopes. New facilities include an outdoor heated pool.

Four ski areas—Shanty Creek, Traverse City's "Fabulous Four" ski areas—Shanty Creek Lodge, Crystal Mountain, Traverse City Holiday and Sugar Loaf Village—now offer low-price, middle-of-the-week skiing with lots of extras.

Moving into the Upper Peninsula, the new management at Ironsquo Mountain near the Soo has scheduled a weekends only opening for limited night skiing.

The Porcupine Mountain Ski Area, Big Powderhorn Mountain and Indianhead Mountain have ever-shrinking earth.

200 SLOPES

Eastern Michigan has 14 daily plus three weekend ski areas open to the public, all within a few hours' drive of the Detroit metropolitan area. Some are included in these areas.

Marine Carries

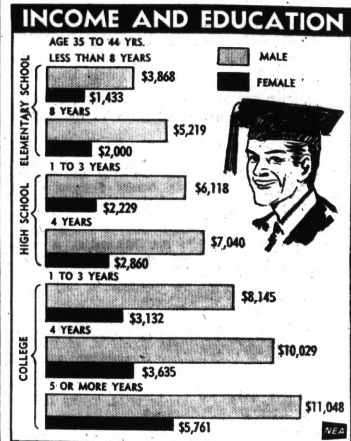

Orphan's Kennel

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — When Marine Sgt. Charles McDougal goes to the USMC recruiting station where he is on duty, he carries with him each day a small breadbox which has been converted into a portable kennel for Little Bit, a female puppy.

The tiny mongrel was born prematurely after her mother was killed when struck by an automobile. Both the McDougal's are employed during the day so the sergeant takes his charge along with him to the office, where the orphan gets sent to school and milk from an eye-dropper.

Mr. Grampian, two miles east of Oxford, has expanded his capacity by adding a new ski run and also increased the capacity for beginners, making six ski runs in all.

Skiers have never had it so good, insofar as the fine facilities that await them all through Michigan.

SCHOOLING PAYS—As shown in the figure above, data from a 1967 study by the U.S. Department of Commerce, it still pays to go to school for as long as possible, and it apparently pays to be a man in the working world. The dark bar represents average income for a woman aged 35-44, while the lighter, and consistently long, bar represents the average income of men in the same age group.

Christmas Cards Death Notices

REFLECTING TOURISM — NEW YORK (UPI) — Tourism and world peace are reflected in many of its Christmas cards originals, says the American Artists Group.

Pointing out that the United Nations declared 1967 International Tourism Year under the slogan "Tourism, Passport to Peace," the group says the theme is carried out by some of its artists in such selections as Thomas P. Nangle's arrangement of festively-beribboned musical instruments of many lands, William Palmer's "Venice Revisited" and Alex F. Yaworski's depiction of a small festival on the avenues of an old European city.

The travel theme, according to the group, reveals the artists' "concern and wish for peaceful understanding among all the people and lands of this earth."
