County Names United Front Urged in Wide Track Feud

Newly Formed Group to Centralize Control of Medical Facilities

A seven-member board of institutions, responsible for the administration of all county-operated medical facilities, was created yesterday by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Elected to three-year terms by unanimous ballot were John A. Macdonald, chairman of the social welfare board, and Walter M. Kuhn, a member of the TB Sanatorium board of trustees.

Mrs. Cyril B. Lewis, secretary of the TB Sanatorium board of trustees, and Mrs. John D. Ramsey, state-appointed member of the social welfare board, were elected to two-year terms.

Elected to one-year terms by unanimous ballot were Maurice J. Croteau, member of the social welfare board; Charles B. Edwards Jr., Madison Heights supervisor; and Thomas H. O'Donoghue, Ferndale supervisor.

The board of institutions was created to satisfy legal requirements for transferring patients from the County TB Sanatorium to the County Medical Care Facility at the Service Center.

BUILDING SOLD
The TB Sanatorium has been sold to Oakland Community College.

The transfer is to be made about April 1, when college officials plan to start remodeling the sanatorium to prepare for the enrollment of some 2,000 students next fall.

The State Health Department has approved the transfer, subject to creation of the new administrative body and extensive remodeling of the Medical Care Facility to make it suitable for contagious patients.

Some 75 patients will be transferred from the Medical Care Facility to private nursing homes in the county to make room for the incoming tubercular patients.

OUTSIDE COUNTY

A few TB patients may have to be relocated in facilities outside Oakland County, according to Dr. Bernard D. Berman, county health director.

The remodeling work, estimated to cost $100,000, was also given the green light yesterday by the board of supervisors.

It will be financed by a $130,000 bond issue.

Pontiac should present a united front when negotiations are reopened with the State Highway Department on Wide Track Drive.

This was the proposal last night of Commissioner John A. Dugan, who said he agreed that the state "held the whip" in the matter.

The District 5 commissioner proposed that a meeting be called with the Downtown Pontiac Business Association, the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, The Press and radio.

"We must bring about all the pressure humanly possible," said the commissioner.

Dugan also challenged anyone to come forward "and say he likes this type of thing."

Mayor Pro Tem Leslie H. Hudson pointed out the state had insisted on letting a decision on the loop road question be held up for 90 days.

Negotiations on the controversial Wide Track Drive are slated to reopen April 20.

JUST WAITING
Dugan charged that the state had made no move to change anything and "just seems to want to wait and wait."

Dugan even suggested that everyone concerned get together and take a tour of Wide Track.

Main points of contention in the Wide Track dispute revolve around prohibited left turns at the east and west ends of the Auburn-Orchard-Lake cross-over.

Also, a portion of South Saginaw has been isolated from direct access by a southbound vehicle on Saginaw.

City Engineer Joseph E. Neippling, asked to explain the concept behind the loop road, said the object was to take traffic off of Saginaw to remove congestion and permit parking.

"This is new, it is different and it needs to be given time so the traveling public can understand the logic of maximum-time routes instead of maximum-distance routes," said Neippling.

According to the city engineer, Wide Track is designed for future conditions, not the low traffic volumes of today.

Neippling added that Wide Track Drive is only part of a complex. He said a future interior loop road would allow traffic circulation in the downtown area.

The interior loop was slated to be constructed entirely with city funds sometime after Wide Track was completed. However, it has not been programmed yet.

However, the city engineer did admit that present turn prohibitions are not justified by the traffic volume.

Babe Hardy used to say Laurel was the brains of their act. Stan wrote and directed many of their films.

ALWAYS LOSERS
In a stock situation, the skinny Laurel and the rotund Hardy were at odds with authority—landlord, grim mother-in-law or chief of police. They always lost—except at the box office.

Laurel was born Arthur Stanley Jefferson June 16, 1898, in Uverston, England, the son of a theatrical family.

Spending much of his childhood in dressrooms and railroad stations, he toured with his parents in English stock.

Neutralization of South Is Said Russian Goal

U Thant Discussing Settlement Proposals With Parties in War

PARIS (AP)—France announced today it has agreed to work with the Soviet Union in pressing for an international conference to settle the conflict in Viet Nam. The Russians took the initiative in making the proposal.

Diplomatic sources in Moscow said the Soviet Union would seek neutralization of South Viet Nam at such a conference, a course France has advocated for North Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos as well.

In another development, United Nations Secretary General U Thant disclosed today he had been engaged in private discussions for some time with the United States and other parties to the Viet Nam conflict and had made concrete proposals aimed at a negotiated settlement.

He declined to disclose the nature of his proposals, but told a news conference he was confident a formula could be found which would end the fighting and enable the United States to withdraw gracefully once stability has been achieved.

President Johnson was said to be unconvinced that the Communists are ready for serious negotiations and he wants to retain flexibility of action, both diplomatically and militarily.

ENVOYS MEET

Nevertheless, U.S. Ambassador John Moors Cabot met with Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Kuo-chun in Warsaw for an hour and 50 minutes, and it was presumed the war in Viet Nam was discussed. Neither would confirm this after the meeting broke up.

Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte announced the French decision to cooperate with the Soviet Union on an international conference.

Soviet Ambassador Sergey Vinogradov called at Elyse Palace yesterday for a 30-minute discussion with President Charles de Gaulle, and the question then was discussed at the weekly cabinet meeting this morning, Peyrefitte said.

In Washington, Presidential Press Secretary George E. Reedy replied "no" when asked whether Johnson has any comment on the joint effort to get interested powers into a discussion of a possible Viet Nam settlement.

Moving In on Malcolm's Killers?

NEW YORK (AP)—A top detective, reporting investigators are "on the right track" to solving the slaying of Malcolm X, said he would confer today with the district attorney's office.

Asst. Chief Inspector Joseph L. Coyle, in charge of 50 detectives assigned to the case, declined to elaborate.

Only one person has been arrested from among five believed to have participated in the slaying of the Negro black nationalist spokesman Sunday as he started to address a meeting in Harlem.

Charged with homicide and under police guard in a hospital is Talmadge Hayer, 22, a Negro of Paterson, N. J.

Hayer was wounded in the leg in the melee touched off by the shooting of Malcolm X. Coyle said that one phase of the investigation was concentrated outside of New York City, but he declined to say where.

However, attention has been focused on Chicago, headquarters of Elijah Muhammad's Black Muslims, whom Malcolm X served as New York minister until a break 14 months ago.

Police, alarmed by telephone threats on the life of Muhammad, stepped up security plans today for the sect's convention in Chicago this weekend.

The calls to police came within a few hours of each other yesterday. The first warned: "we have arrived. Muhammad will have a lively convention."

The second caller, who identified himself as John Henderson, said 100 men were coming to Chicago from New York to kill Muhammad.

The caller also told police a bomb had been planted in the Coliseum, site of the convention which is expected to attract 6,000 Black Muslims.

Police said the caller indicated the bomb was timed to explode Friday or Saturday when Muhammad is scheduled to address the convention.

Telephoned bomb threats also harassed New York police and reinforcements were ordered into Harlem in an attempt to prevent further violence. Early yesterday an explosion and fire, believed to have been set by avengers of Malcolm X, wrecked a four-story Muslim mosque. No one was injured.

TEEN GAMBLING CASINO—This is the $40,000 private home in Hawthorn, N.J., that teens operated as a gambling casino for teen-age clientele. The gaming room, in the basement of the home, was patterned after dice rooms in Puerto Rico, police said.

Snake-Eyes in the Suburbs

Teens Rocked, Rolled (Dice)

HAWORTH, N.J. (UPI)—It far into debt, led police to stake out the home on Feb. 10.

There was nothing suspicious about the brick and frame slate gray house—a $40,000 split-level home with a spacious lawn.

Michel said the casino operated one night a week under strict security measures. Two cars of 1952 vintage were used to pick up the young clients and bring them to the home.

The driver stopped the car at the garage door and honked the horn twice, Michel said.

Some one in the house then pushed a button to open the doors.

Inside, the players identified themselves over an intercom system before they were admitted. Then the car backed out and went to pick up other customers.

ATMOSPHERE
Red and blue spotlights illuminated the gambling room. A croupier in black tie greeted the players and led them to a three-section dice table covered with pink felt. Michel said the table was marked with lines and betting odds in a professional manner.

More than 50 boys gambled in the casino while their parents "thought they were out skating or sledding," the chief said. They ranged in age from 15 to 17. One won up to $300 and another was in debt for $192.

"I was shocked," Michel said when he announced that the gambling operation had been smashed.

Arrested in the raid Sunday were the adult owners of the home, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Olsen, and their maid, Mrs. Minnie Chatham. Three teen-age bankers, one the son of the Olsens, who allegedly split the take were held for juvenile court action.

PUERTO RICAN VISIT

Michel said the Olsen boy allegedly decided to open the casino after a visit to Puerto Rico. Among the gaming equipment confiscated was a book titled "Gambling Guide from Puerto Rico." Also confiscated were 36 10's worth $80.70 and dice and chips.

The Feb. 11-20 week was 33 per cent above the previous record of 18,336 units sold in the same period a year ago.

In announcing the latest sales figures Pettengill pointed out this was the ninth consecutive 10-day sales record for Pontiac.

"Our dealers across the country report that consumer confidence is at an all-time high," Pettengill said. "There is a great desire to buy the part of the car buying public."

Work Begins on Golf Links

New Course Will Be Ready This Summer

Development of a new 18-hole public golf course has begun on a 300-acre site at the intersection of I-75 and Holly Road, in Springfield Township. E. Dwight Gage, Pontiac area real estate developer, announced today.

The new course, to be known as Holly Greens Golf Course, will be the latest design with extended tees up to 160 feet long.

It will be possible to vary the length of the course from 5,800 to 7,100 yards by changing the markers according to Gage.

The golf course will cover about half of the site.

The development may ultimately be expanded into a $10-million recreation center concept, according to Gage.

LONG-RANGE PLANS

Long-range plans call for the addition of apartments, a hotel, motel, tennis courts and a swimming pool.

Completion of the course and clubhouse is planned for late this summer, Gage said. The course was planned by architect Robert Bruce Harris of Chicago, who has designed more than 400 golf courses.

Five small lakes fed from a well on the property will provide the water hazards. The million-gallon capacity well will also keep the tees, greens and fairways in top condition, Gage pointed out.

George Oberer of Dayton, Ohio, has joined with Gage in developing the project.

Gage, of 245 Berwyn, Birmingham, has offices at 500 W. Washington, Royal Oak, but plans on moving his headquarters to Pontiac soon to be closer to his interests in the area.

He is also one of the promoters of the Tel-Huron Shopping Center which is being expanded this year.

The new golf club is located at the southeast corner with access from I-75 at the Holly Road turnoff.

BATTLE FLAMES—Thirty firemen fought the fire in a two-story farm house at 945 Lockwood in Brandon Township today. The blaze broke out shortly after 2 a.m. and destroyed the home and an attached shed. The owner, Alfred Caudill, his wife and two small children, were not injured. Firemen from five townships were hampered by a lack of water. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Sales at Pontiac Hit New High for February Period

Continuing its fast pace, Pontiac Motor Division sold a record 24,676 Pontiac and Tempests during the mid-February sales period, E. R. Pettengill, general sales manager, said today.

The Feb. 11-20 week was 33 per cent above the previous record of 18,336 units sold in the same period a year ago.

In announcing the latest sales figures Pettengill pointed out this was the ninth consecutive 10-day sales record for Pontiac.

'No Pressure in TV Ad Sale'

Rules Unit Releases
Jenkins Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former White House aide Walter Jenkins told Senate investigators that a local insurance agent desired to buy advertising time on the Austin, Tex., television station owned by President Johnson's family "in order to be competitive" in selling Johnson insurance.

Jenkins, who was Johnson's top assistant for 25 years, swore that "certainly I did not 'pressure' Don B. Reynolds to buy the time after Reynolds sold Johnson the first of two $100,000 life insurance policies."

Jenkins' testimony, in the form of written answers to written questions, was made public by the Senate Rules Committee today as part of the probe of how Bobby Baker, former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority, became a millionaire on a salary of $19,600 a year.

Reynolds swore to the committee last year that Jenkins had pressured him into buying $1,200 worth of unwanted advertising time on the television station in 1967, Jenkins said in an affidavit made at that time that he had no knowledge of any arrangements by which Reynolds purchased the advertising time.

NEW TESTIMONY

In the new testimony made public today, Jenkins said that "Mr. Reynolds said to me or through Mr. Baker that he wanted very badly to sell the (life insurance) policies and desired to purchase advertising time in order to be competitive."

He said that Huff Baines, an Austin, Tex., insurance agent who is a cousin of the President and who had been a regular advertiser on the station there, also was interested at that time in selling life insurance to Johnson.

"I am confident I communicated this information to Mr. Reynolds and I am reasonably sure, although not certain, that I did so through Mr. Baker and not directly to Mr. Reynolds," Jenkins said.

He added that Reynolds of "to meet the competition" by purchasing advertising time on the Austin station.

Jenkins resigned as Johnson's top aide last October after public disclosure that he twice had been arrested on morals charges.

government is being kept up to date on any efforts that may be under way, Reedy said. "I would say we're getting full information." But he said this is a State Department matter.

Reedy said he knows of no new telephone contact on the matter with Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Great Britain.

Peyrefitte said that during the talks, Vinogradov proposed that the two governments work together to reestablish peace in Southeast Asia through an international conference.

A Soviet spokesman said Vinogradov told de Gaulle the Kremlin was deeply worried by the U.S. attacks in North Viet Nam.

The United States revealed today it has unleashed jet planes for the first time against the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman in Saigon said the U.S. has made several strikes in the last six days.

MANNED BY YANKS

BS7 fighter-bombers, with Americans manning both flight controls and the weapons, joined the air war previously carried on by armed helicopters and propeller-driven planes handled jointly by Americans and Vietnamese.

The spokesman said the decision was "in keeping with the announced United States policy of providing maximum assistance to the government of South Viet Nam in its efforts to repel the Communist aggression directed and supported by the Hanoi regime."

The first strike was made last Thursday against Red guerrillas holding a mountain pass near An Khe in the central highlands.

200 Marchers Turned Back

Selma Officer Blocks Attacks by Police

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Civil rights leaders set up another twilight march today in this Alabama city which has become the target of a massive drive by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Police Commissioner Wilson Baker, using a father-to-son appeal, personally turned back 200 young Negro marchers last night and kept his officers from attacking some of the group with nightsticks.

The tough-talking but lenient Baker once again was successful in his determined effort to prevent Dr. Martin Luther King's Negro voter registration drive from erupting into violence.

ful in his determined effort to prevent Dr. Martin Luther King's Negro voter registration drive from erupting into violence.

But King told a rally of 500 Negroes later there must be no letup in the campaign. "We must not fool ourselves, we will have to march much more to keep this issue before the conscience of the country," King said.

King left Selma last night to keep speaking engagements on the West Coast but promised that Congress would pass during its current session a bill eliminating most literacy requirements for voting and providing for federal registrars.

The Rev. Andrew Young, a King aide, said Negroes would continue to sign an "appearance book" in the Dallas County Courthouse. The book, which contains almost 2,400 names, mostly Negroes, provides the order in which applicants will be considered for registration when the registrar's office opens Monday.

Some 200 families were without sufficient water yesterday morning when a water discharge line in northeastern Waterford Township froze.

Affected residents in Silver Lake Estates, Jayno Heights and Lake Angelus Golfview subdivisions, all served by the line from the Silver Lake Estates water system.

Besides lowering the water supply considerably, the frozen line also caused leaking of hot water tanks in some of the homes due to activation of pressure relief valves on the tanks.

Most of the trouble was reported early in the morning when residents were getting ready to go to work, according to Kenneth Squiers, superintendent of the Township Water Department.

Squiers said the problem was corrected by 9:30 a.m. when the Jayno Heights pumping station was activated.

The frozen line has been thawed and is ready for use again, he said.

NCA Departure to Cost $4,000

The loss of North Central Airlines (NCA) service at Pontiac Municipal Airport will cost the city about $4,000 in revenue.

This was the report last night of City Manager Joseph A. Warren.

Reviewing airport operations for the past decade, Warren told the City Commission that a $2,000 deficit had been projected for the airport in the 1965 general fund budget.

The loss of NCA will up the deficit to nearly $6,000, said Warren.

He itemized the revenue loss at $2,778 for NCA rental of terminal building space and $1,200 in NCA landing fees.

CAB ORDER

Warren's report on the airport followed presentation of a recent Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) order allowing NCA to discontinue service at the local airport.

The CAB approved dropping NCA service here and in two other Michigan communities under the board's "use it or lose it" policy.

Warren said the CAB order could be appealed.

"The little use that has been made of the present routes through Pontiac make it difficult to imagine that anything could be done to save this service here," he said.

JOINT APPEAL

However, the city manager did think that a joint appeal with other affected cities might accomplish something.

Meantime, Pontiac has a second request before the CAB. This asks for flights to Cleveland and Chicago.

James Ramsey, director of the State Aeronautics Department, has indicated he would back any attempt to fight the proposed abandonment of air service to the Michigan communities.

entered the plane when the agent had no objection.

"Inside, it didn't look right," Mrs. Griswold recalled. "It was small and I saw Mrs. Kennedy and Bobby and lots of children."

The plane was almost airborne when she noticed tables between the seats and remarked: "This is a waste of space."

HAD LUNCH

"This plane isn't supposed to make money, this is the Kennedy plane," she was told by a member of the Kennedy group.

During the flight "children ran around and we had lunch — sandwiches," she said, adding that the Kennedy family was concerned about her plans.

Mrs. Griswold said both the senator and the former first lady wished her a good trip and said they were pleased to have her aboard.

"It was our pleasure," Mrs. Griswold quoted the senator as saying when the plane landed at La Guardia Field in New York.

"They were most gracious. They knew my embarrassment," Mrs. Griswold said. She took a commercial flight to Miami.

Klan Leader Said Traitor

Warned After Letting Newsmen See Ritual

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A public relations gesture by the grand dragon of the United Klans of America, Inc., was high treason and could cost him his life, says a rival Klan leader.

The gesture: Two newsmen were invited to an initiation ceremony.

James R. Venable, leader of the National Association of Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, said yesterday the Grand Dragon Calvin Craig broke his sacred vows when he allowed newsmen from the Atlanta Constitution to witness an initiation ceremony last Thursday night.

Craig explained that he allowed the newsmen to attend "as a public relations move to improve our image."

SEEK BANISHMENT

Venable reported that his organization was preparing a resolution seeking to banish Craig and his superior, Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton, from the Invisible Empire.

"Our ritualistic ceremonies are purely secret. No alien is to be allowed to witness any part of them," Venable said.

"Craig is subject to be indicted by the Klan and he could be executed," Venable said.

"Of course," added Venable, "our Klan wouldn't execute anybody."

PUNITIVE ACTION

He said punitive action against the grand dragon might be "outside our jurisdiction."

"But his own members will finally crucify him," declared Venable.

"Is he threatening me?" asked Craig. "We're not worried. We can protect ourselves."

He said the work has been under consideration for a number of years and that there now are no plans to expand the stretch to four lanes.

The county plans to widen the 30-foot road one foot on each side, repave the surface and provide a five-foot shoulder and one-foot ditch where necessary.

The move would be "in the best interests of traffic," Bayne said, and would straighten somewhat the east end of the curve at the county club.

'HEADACHE'

"We've got to see traffic diverted around this area rather than encouraged," Colombo said, predicting that Long Lake could become a "headache" like those created by the improvement of Quarten and Vaughn roads.

"I can envision this place in 15 or 20 years as a mass of concrete," he added.

Commissioner James S. Beresford noted that the intersections of Laher and Vaughn are difficult to negotiate and he suggested that the commission might seek a compromise with the county.

"I think we should learn from our experience on Vaughn," Commissioner David W. Lee said. "We should not encourage any more traffic to flow over that road at a high rate of speed."

UNANIMOUS VOTE

"Although Commissioner John W. Blanchard also noted he was not opposed to all improvements if the trees could be saved, the vote on Lee's motion was unanimous."

A letter of protest will be sent to the county road commission.

His stage debut at 7 was in "Lights of London." At 15 he toured Europe on his own song and dance act. At 17 he joined Fred Arno's London comedians, starring Charlie Chaplin.

CAME TO NEW YORK

The company arrived in New York in 1910 on a cattle boat, toured the country for three years and disbanded. Stan went into vaudeville, then the flickers.

He started as a writer and director. Then one day, in 1927, he replaced an actor who had taken sick and played a butler opposite a hefty comic villain named Hardy. They were an instantaneous click.

Their heyday was in films for the late producer Hal Roach. They made many pictures for him before moving in 1940 to 20th Century-Fox. They kept no property rights to the old films, so reaped no rewards when they later were shown on television.

Their movies included "Babes in Toyland," "Devil's Brother," "Way Out West," "Our Relations," "Blockheads" and "Bonnie Scotland."

They made their last film, "Atoll K," in France in 1949. Hardy died in 1957.

Besides his widow, Laurel leaves a daughter Lois, of suburban Tarzana. Her husband, A. H. Brooks, is a movie production man.

The fund was created by a one-tenth mill levy on the county's state-subsidized vacation permitted by statute for building or remodeling.

The new board of institutions will have administrative responsibility for the Medical Care Facility and such other hospital facilities as the county may create in the future.

The county hospital had previously been the responsibility of the social welfare board, which will continue to exist to serve other functions.

The board of trustees of the TV Sanatorium will cease to function when the sanatorium is taken over by the college.

For Foreign Exchange

India Threatened by Drop in Reserves

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Indian consumer is being asked to tighten his belt a few more notches because a crisis in foreign exchange is threatening the nation's economy.

Foreign exchange reserves—the money India has for purchase of goods abroad—have dropped drastically. Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's government, already under staggering commitments to foreign creditors, is seeking future loans so it can pay off past loans.

Last week, the bank rate was raised to 6 per cent from 5. Finance Minister T.T. Krishnamachari said India would appeal to the "Aid India" consortium of nations and to the International Monetary Fund for all possible assistance.

Earlier the government announced a 2 per cent cut across the board in authorizations for foreign exchange expenditures.

PUBLIC PREOCCUPIED
All this has fallen on a public which had been preoccupied with language riots in south India, trouble along the border with Pakistan, and the incessant diplomatic shouting match with Communist China.

Foreign exchange reserves slipped last year from $233 million to $200 million. Then a more dramatic drop-off began. The reserves totaled $185 million Jan. 15 and $169 million 22 days later.

That isn't much for a nation of 400 million people who must purchase many things in foreign lands.

Commerce Minister Manubhai Shah says an "austere import policy" will have to continue.

MAY BE STUFFED

That means the Indian consumer, even though his pockets may be stuffed with rupees, cannot look forward to a Japanese transistor radio for himself, a pair of German silk stockings for his wife, or an American refrigerator for the kitchen.

It also means trouble for India's fourth five-year plan, due to begin next year.

Fertilizer or fertilizer manufacturing machinery is needed to increase farm output. Steel or steel-making equipment is needed to increase industrial production.

Just as serious is the threat to India's credit rating.

COMMITTED TO PAY

The nation is committed to pay $3.6 billion to foreign creditors between April 1964 and March 1976. Its future repayment commitment to the United States totals more than $2.1 billion.

India must repay these loans in foreign exchange or renegotiate the terms to delay repayment. Officials hesitate to ask creditor nations for a moratorium on repayment because that would frighten off other loans.

One reason for the foreign exchange crisis is an increasing unfavorable balance of trade. India imported $871.5 million worth of goods more than it exported last year, even though sales abroad were the highest ever.

FRUSTRATED FIREMEN — For two cold hours late yesterday afternoon, members of the Lake Orion and Oxford fire departments strove to fight a blaze at 656 Knollwood, Orion Township. The fire, of undetermined origin, spread between walls and into a windowless attic. Owned by Roy Swisher of Detroit, the summer cottage was unoccupied at the time and in the process of being converted into a year-round home. Covered at least partially by insurance, the structure sustained heavy water damage.

Bid Openings Tuesday

Troy OKs City Hall Plans

TROY — City commissioners have given formal approval to architect's plans for the new city hall.

To be located at Big Beaver Road just east of I-75, the two-story structure was estimated to cost about $800,000 last November.

The next step toward construction of the building will be opening of bids on Tuesday.

If excessive bid amounts do not create a delay, architect Frank Straub of Birmingham hopes construction will begin in April.

In other action, the commission approved preliminary plans

CONTAINS 393 LOTS

Carleton Estates will have frontage on both Dequindre and Maple roads, containing 393 lots on about 110 acres.

The developer, Graham Orley of Detroit, is reserving a 12-acre site for a future elementary school.

Mt. Olympia will front on Big Beaver Road, with 38 lots. The developer is Practical Home Builders of Detroit.

Thirty per cent of Japan's imports of farm products come from U.S. farms, with payment in dollars.

AREA NEWS

Postponed Hearing Set for Tonight

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Residents get another crack at a proposed $1.34-million water main system tonight, as a public hearing postponed from Jan. 25 is held.

The January hearing on the assessment roll for the system was officially postponed when it was discovered that notices of the hearing were not sent out in time.

But word of the postponement did not reach many residents in time, and the hearing was held on an unofficial basis anyway.

At that hearing, Oakland County Department of Public Works (DPW) officials were grilled by businessmen and owners of vacant lots, as well as township officials, for the assessment plan.

The complainants claimed they were not given the facts of the assessment structure prior to the hearing, and many said that the plans to assess on a unit basis were inequitable.

TO HEAR COMPLAINTS

Tonight's hearing will give township officials a chance to hear any complaints the residents may have about the assessment roll.

Adjustments in assessments can be made by the Township Board at a later date, according to County DPW Director R. J. Alexander.

Avon Subdivision Unit

Sets 3rd Annual Dinner

AVON TOWNSHIP—Members of the Judson Park Subdivision Association will gather Saturday for their third annual dinner.

A family style dinner followed by dancing is planned this year at the Sylvan Glen Inn, 5725 Rochester, Troy, beginning at 7 p.m.

Church Series in Rochester

ROCHESTER — A series of four meetings designed to help people find spiritual resources for contemporary living will be held at St. Paul's Methodist Church Sunday through the following Wednesday.

Open to the public, the meetings will be held from 7:30 to 8:30 each night.

The Rev. Ralph Janka, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Troy, will be the guest speaker.

Church groups such as the Chancel Men and a Gospel quartet, plus selected soloists, will provide music.

The meetings will be dramatized and built around the appearance of the 12 disciples of Jesus as portrayed by prominent laymen.

For 2 W. Bloomfield Centers

Zone Hearings Slated

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—The planning commission last night scheduled public hearings on rezoning requests for two shopping centers, one of which could be the township's largest.

Borman Food Stores Inc., which operates the Food Fair chain, plans to open a large complex of stores on the southeast corner of Orchard Lake and Maple.

The firm has asked that a 228-foot strip of property on Maple be rezoned from residential to commercial to expand the 6.9 acres now under the latter classification.

However, planners want about 100 feet on the east end of the parcel owned by the company to be retained as residential to provide a buffer between the center and the adjacent subdivision.

"We're very enthusiastic about this and we want to encourage them to develop as large a center as possible without imposing on the people around them," planning commission chairman Henry Moses said.

OTHER REQUEST

The other request to be considered at the 8 p.m. session March 23 is that of Howard Keating, developer of Pine Lake Estates.

Keating has requested that 8.9 acres on the northwest corner of Lone Pine and Orchard Lake be converted from residential to commercial to allow construction of a small convenience shopping center.

Planners last night approved rezoning for a proposed multiple residential complex on Orchard Lake Road.

They will recommend that the rezoning be accepted pending a public hearing before the Township Board.

ON WEST SIDE

Herbert Ross of Detroit is seeking to have the classification of 18.13 acres on the west side of the road north of the Township Hall changed from general commercial and parking to multiple residential and limited commercial.

Ross proposes building some 130 units on the site.

The planning commission again tabled action on a proposed multiple residence zoning code amendment which would alleviate the need to construct each building on a separate lot.

Township attorney Joseph T. Brennan has suggested that the provision contain a more detailed explanation of restrictions.

Students 'Run' Farmington Twp.

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Some 17 new faces were seen behind desks at the Township Hall today as North Farmington High School seniors participated in their second student government day.

Over at the board of education offices, seven teen-agers were taking over as school board members.

The young officers, who had been elected by their classmates, interrupted their duties at noon to gather for a luncheon at Salem United Church of Christ.

Sponsored by the Farmington Exchange Club, the luncheon featured a speech by Oakland County Circuit Judge Philip Pratt.

Clerk John Kraft and Treasurer Bob Linderman.

Trustees were Jim Wrigglesworth, Denny Zartman, Lisa Facknitz and Ron Peterson.

Also in office were Janet Lam, drain commissioner; Ron Watson, zoning enforcement officer; Terry Sharback, building inspector; and Keith Swanton, police chief.

Others were Jon Bond, attorney; Randy Degrow, assessor; Mike Maloney, consulting engineer; and Nancy Chamberlain, planning consultant.

The students' school board consisted of Mark Genske, Roger Mingo, Janice Foss, Tom Czubiak, Jim Jalick, Dan Vartanian and Debbie Saundry.

Primarily a 'Grass-Roots' Problem

Federal Powers in Crime Prevention Are Limited

(Editor's Note: Statistics show an alarming increase in all types of crime. The federal government finds itself powerless in many instances to join the battle against criminals. What can be done about it? UPI's national reporter discusses this aspect in the following dispatch, last of three.)

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON — President Johnson says he intends to do something about the nation's alarming increase in crime. Without doubting his good intentions, the hard facts are that it is easier for a President to say it than to do it.

There is a vague and utterly inaccurate belief abroad in the land that all crimes are the responsibility of the federal government. Actually, under present laws the federal government can fight crime only on a narrow front. It can't do anything, for instance, about murder; that is a local responsibility.

A President can make speeches deploring crime and appoint commissions to study the problem. Johnson probably will do both before long.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation each year conducts schools for more than 100,000 local and state law enforcement officers on the latest techniques in crime prevention. Then the problem lands right back where it came from — in the laps of cities, counties and states.

When Robert F. Kennedy took office as attorney general, he made a thorough study of crime with special emphasis on juvenile offenders. What he found out appalled him and what he said was discouraging:

SOLVED AT GRASS ROOTS

"It has its roots in such things as school dropouts, broken homes, racial discrimination, slum housing and youth unemployment. The federal government cannot solve these problems. The fight is going to be won or lost at the grass roots level."

Right now it is being lost. Even if something drastic were done tomorrow on a national basis, the crime rate probably would continue to increase for the next three years. Too many juveniles already are in the pipelines that flow into our prisons.

Social workers? There aren't enough of them and no money to hire more. Men and women who are right down on the curbstones working with juvenile gangsters make occasional breakthroughs that are encouraging. But then you have social workers whose heads are in the clouds like the psychiatrist who had been working in a boy's training school.

His recommendation may have had some merit, but nobody will ever know for sure because it was gibberish: "Unseen and unheard but always omnipresent are the subtle and covert resistances inevitably encountered when a contrapuntal modality invades the province of reeducational discipline."

ADVICE TO PARENTS

A more down to earth approach to the problem was issued several years ago by the police department of Houston, Tex., in advice to parents. The sure way to create a juvenile criminal, the department said, would be: "Give the child everything he wants so he will grow up believing the world owes him a living. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him and tell him he is cute. Let him read any printed matter he can get—his hands on. Be careful that his drinking glasses are sterilized, but let his mind feed on garbage."

"Quarrel frequently in the presence of your children so they will not be too shocked when the home is broken up later. Give a child all the spending money he wants and never let him earn his own. Take his part against neighbors, teachers and policemen on the grounds that they are all prejudiced against your child."

More police? It would help, but it wouldn't strike at the root of the problem. It would mean that more offenders would be arrested, but it would not keep the criminal from going on the prowl in the first place. There is no doubt many of our large cities are underpoliced, partly because changing times and the population explosion have created such things as more complex traffic to be regulated.

You search in vain for a piece of sunshine anywhere in the dark, grim picture. Obviously there is something wrong with our penal system, and Dr. Joseph Satten of the Menninger Foundation has been applying himself to the problem.

"We send a man to prison," he said, "but what happens to him there? He isn't rehabilitated. He may even be made worse. But he is released without any evaluation of what has happened to him . . . then we learn the hard way that prison also has failed to deter him from breaking the law."

"This is supposed to be wisdom? Just about 75 per cent of our prison population is made up of repeaters. Here are people who do not learn from punishment but we continue to punish them.

"Our prisons perpetuate the vicious cycle of hurt for hurt. The least we can strive for is some of treatment so the man will not go out and do it all over again."

Perhaps you would like to wish President Johnson good luck in his campaign against crime, because he is going to need it. If he can array the best brains in the nation and give them some $3 billion to work with, he may slow down the nation's rush into crime. That anybody can stop it altogether is doubtful.

Hiked Taxes Collect Woe as Well as Money

The dog-chasing-tail image of futurity personified by the continuous escalation of taxes as a remedy for a nation's fiscal malaise was never more clearly etched than by the current ruled in which India finds itself.

Ruled and supported by the British from 1858 until 1947, the teeming half-billion population (exceeded only by Red China) has since the latter date struggled to exist as an independent nation.

Despite much external economic assistance, industry is slowing to a halt under the confiscatory tax policies of India's socialistic-oriented government headed by Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, successor to the late Jawaharlal Nehru.

Industrialists charge that Indian investors are afraid to put money into new ventures or into the expansion of existing ones. Says one of their leaders: "No other country, including the most socialistic, has resorted to such heavy, complicated and multiple burdens of taxation."

The Country's fiscal problems became acute in 1963 when the Government boosted individual income taxes by as much as 450 per cent and tacked a "super-profits" tax ranging from 50 to 60 per cent on top of what was left after an existing 50 per cent corporate levy.

India's third five-year plan, nearly at end, has done so poorly that food production has not kept up with population increase. Unemployment is soaring, and per capita income has failed to gain for three years.

To bolster the economy, India is wooing private foreign capital, but this effort, too, has been stymied by the ominous domestic taxes.

Nation after nation is finding, to its national consternation, that though manifold laws may be written in theoretical relief of economic stringency, there is one fiscal law, albeit unwritten, that transcends and nullifies them all — the law of diminishing returns.

It is also significant that although Nehru, India's first prime minister, had, since his assumption of office, been considered the savior and guiding light of his liberated nation, it was the unsoundness of many aspects of his economic and social philosophy that has finally brought the Country to its fiscal abyss.

Symbols of America Weather Bomb Plot

The plot to dynamite the Statue of Liberty, Washington Monument and Liberty Bell by at least four conspirators was so fantastic that it might well have succeeded. The Nation has seen too often—and too recently—what just one madman can do with a weapon of destruction.

The damaging of these shrines could not, of course, compare with the assassination of a president, though there would undoubtedly have been loss of life had the bombs been planted and exploded.

But even without the taking of human life, it would have been a crime of monstrous stupidity — more monstrous and more stupid for having been committed in the very name of the ideals for which these objects stand.

All those who helped nip the plot in the bud are to be commended, particularly New York patrolman RAYMOND WOOD, who infiltrated the conspiracy.

Americans will take a newly appreciative look at these national shrines and, hopefully, ponder a little more deeply the reasons behind their veneration.

State's 'Sure Thing' Wins at Race Tracks

Last year the State of Michigan profited by $13.3 million as 2.7 million devotees of the ancient sport of kings—horse racing—applied themselves to "improvement of the breed."

Based on comparative figures, it is doubtful whether any other area of American interest has shown the same steady "improvement."

The return to the State has risen from only $432,000 in 1934, the year after horse racing was legalized in Michigan. Despite the whopping jump in revenue from the sport, the amount of the Racing Commission's annual budget has remained unchanged at $55,000.

Which, as a long shot collector, gives the State an unmatched record of infallibility.

By the way, do you know anything good at Hialeah?

Frankfurter Was Dedicated Judge

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — For 23 years Felix Frankfurter was a completely dedicated justice of the Supreme Court. He stuck rigidly to what he called judicial restraint at a time when the court under Chief Justice Earl Warren was moving toward a greater participation in American problems and a willingness to assure responsibility in solving them.

Frankfurter, who died Monday at 82, urged deference to the wisdom of Congress and state legislatures, on the theory the people eventually would pressure them into doing what was needed, even though they had avoided what was needed for years.

In 1962 the court ruled, 6 to 2, that appointment of seats in state legislatures to give voters a fairer representation was subject to the scrutiny of federal courts.

For over half a century some legislatures had declined to respond themselves even though their state constitutions called for such action every 10 years.

Back in the 1940s Frankfurter had urged the court to stay out of such a "political thicket," and when it did step in in 1962, still opposed it, he said, "in a democratic society like ours, relief must come through an aroused popular conscience that sears the conscience of the people's representatives."

CAN IGNORE PEOPLE

This ignored the reality that in some situations politicians in power can ignore the people.

It was the greatest irony of Frankfurter's life that when President Franklin D. Roosevelt put him on the court in the New Deal days of 1939 he was not only a hero to liberals but was denounced as a Red by the far right.

By the time he left the court 2½ years ago, liberals looked upon him as a conservative, and he was when compared with some of the other justices.

There was another contradiction in his life. He was a man with many friends, well-beloved, and a delightful conversationalist, as a recording of his conversation in a book, "Felix Frankfurter Reminiscences," shows. But as a writer of legal opinions he was long-winded and complex.

He was a lively man, an emotional one and a great questioner, heckler and lecturer of lawyers before the court, so much so that he sometimes got on the nerves of the other justices.

But this cannot obscure Frankfurter's concern for justice. He was with the majority of the court in the civil rights decisions and he was concerned for justice to individuals although he sometimes let abstractions get in his way.

David Lawrence Says:

Debate on Viet May Spur Reds

WASHINGTON—Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, Democrat of Connecticut, has just made in the Senate a lengthy speech which points out the dangers of the talk of withdrawal from Viet Nam and especially the Communist war in the East. He said that peace negotiations begun at this time — a step which could be construed as a LAWRENCE sign of fear and weakness. The Connecticut senator pointed out there is developing in this country what he calls "the new isolationism," whose "scurfew" is "escalation" and whose "curfew" is "neutralization."

Many senators have been participating in the debate about Viet Nam, and Sen. Dodd is fearful that the Communists may get the wrong impression of what is being said on the floor of the Senate as indicating a weakness and a tendency on the part of the United States to run away from its responsibilities. Despite all the talk about steps that might "escalate" the war, the fact is that Russia and China have been escalating the war in the last several weeks, and the premier of the Soviet Union went to North Viet Nam to pledge more military aid.

If, in the face of such activities on the part of the Communists, the United States appears today to be scared and timid and ready to negotiate peace at any price, the net result could be a major war far beyond the borders of Viet Nam.

SIGN OF WEAKNESS

The Communists are always ready to follow up any sign of weakness on the Western side. They are convinced that the United States will not use nuclear weapons, so it is a big land operation which the Russians and the Red Chinese visualize as a possibility and which they have been threatening. They see victory through such an operation in Viet Nam, itself.

They cannot, however, assume that the United States would be content to use just ground forces in Southeast Asia if a war did come.

It is the prospect of major operations along the coast of Red China with air and naval expeditions from Formosa, Okinawa, the Philippines, and possibly Australia which may give pause to the Russians and the Chinese.

IN OFFICIAL CIRCLES

But nobody in official circles really believes that there will be any big war.

The biggest danger might come if America left South-east Asia to be overrun by the Communists — a development which could also frighten the "captive" countries of the Eastern bloc in Europe and discourage West Germany about its chances of ever attaining a reunification with East Germany.

Bob Considine Says:

Panel on Papal Encyclical Stirs a Lively Discussion

NEW YORK — We sat in on the last lively panel discussion on the subject of where Pope John's "Peace in Terris" encyclical applied to U. S. policies.

Some of the thoughts expressed by the panel, which was chaired by Henry Luce, won sharp applause from the New York Hilton ballroom packed with a remarkable cross section of informed people.

Others met with dead silence. And some won only sighs of resignation. Samples:

"Our bombing of Asia is a commentary of our diplomatic failure at the national level . . ."

"It is better to get together in the name of Satan than not to get together at all . . ."

ARMS SPENDING

"The Gross National Product of all the needy nations of the world is only as large as the sum the United States and the Soviet Union are spending on arms . . ."

"The charter of the United Nations must be changed to meet the changing times. U. N. cannot be called an international organization if it does not include China, the largest nation in the world . . ."

"Our policy is foolishly based on the presumption that Russia will attack us and that revolution can be exported. Neither is possible . . ."

SHOULD ASK WHY

"If China says that coexistence with the United States is out of the question, shouldn't we ask why? . . ."

"The Russian spokesman here said that nothing is impossible of solution by negotiation. He must have spoken with official sanction . . ."

"When will all of us be intelligent enough to understand that it is not appeasement or weakness to recognize that what cannot be settled on a battlefield should be settled at a conference table? . . ."

It is the possibility of a chain reaction from a virtual surrender which is causing apprehension now.

That's why there is so much dismay over the outspoken comments in favor of isolationism which make it appear that the demand for negotiations at this time is based on weakness, instead of strength.

Readers' Views on Proposed City Taxes

I compliment The Pontiac Press for not having jumped to conclusions in taking its opinion opposing the city income tax. Too bad the Junior Chamber of Commerce didn't do likewise. I feel they would have agreed with the Press editorial.

ONE WHO CARES

I'm sure no one will dispute Mr. Irwin's statement that "The sharing of part of the cost of city government by nonresidents is a definite advantage to Pontiac taxpayers." A recent letter attacked Congressman Billie Farnum because he voted against an amendment cutting off commodity aid to Egypt. ### The War Hawks

The New York Times

A comparatively small group of Americans, at this moment predominantly political in character and predominantly Republican in politics, is doing its best to multiply the perils and frustrations of the war in South-east Asia.

This group ignores the realities of the present situation. It ignores the obvious weariness of the people of South Viet Nam. It ignores the steady stream of deserters from the Vietnamese Army.

It ignores the difficulty of protecting isolated American bases against the surprise attacks of guerrillas.

It ignores the possibility of an invasion of South Viet Nam by the very considerable North Vietnamese Army. It ignores the problem of how an aerial counterattack could come successfully with a massive ground attack of this character. It ignores the possibility of Chinese intervention.

It ignores the logistics and belittles the cost in lives lost, blood spilled and treasure wasted, of fighting a war on a jungle front 1,000 miles from the coast of California.

The whole aim of this group is to expand the Vietnamese war, even if it means drawing in China and perhaps the Soviet Union as well. By its lights, President Johnson's declaration that the United States seeks no wider war is so much a prescription for failure as any al-tempt at a negotiated peace.

It is one thing to say, as Secretary McNamara did in his testimony, that this country has "no other alternative than continuing to support South Viet Nam against the Red guerrilla onslaught." It is quite another to argue that the road out of the present hazardous situation is to invite world destruction. The American people made it overwhelmingly clear in the last election that they do not want to plunge recklessly down that road.

Business Today

The Holland Evening Sentinel

Business today must be geared to a fast changing world. Retailing to some people may look like a fairly easy business; they may think that to do so is to rent or own a location, lay in a stock of goods and then wait for the customers to flock in. We are afraid that it is just not that easy.

Today the successful businessman (both retail and wholesale) must constantly check on the many changes that are taking place. He must be prepared to meet the competition from local areas as well as national and international areas.

Recently the National Association of Food Chains was reported to be spending $100,000 for a series of research projects. This work, which is to be supervised by Dr. Roger Grey of Stanford University's Food Research Institute, will cover a review and appraisal of food industry statistics; a historical review of long term food industry trends; a study of the changing nature of retail competition; a study of the "concentration" theory as it applies to food retailing; an analysis of procurement practices by food retailers; a study of food retailing and economic power; a synthesis of the above, in the context of the world we live in, and a review of food marketing literature.

This study should be of prime importance to all people who are in retail business as well as wholesale and manufacturing concerns. The American consumers today are constantly faced with many problems in making their dollars reach. This is no doubt the reason for such studies.

We are living in a fast-changing world and our young people think that there is nothing to do but spend a lot of their spare time gaining more and more knowledge about all of the problems that they must face. There are plenty of problems in your community that you should be able to lend a hand in solving.

Answers Viet Policy Critics

Solon's Semiofficial
Talk Hits Negotiation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, who recently made an inspection trip to South Viet Nam, said today negotiation with the Communists under present conditions would be capitulation.

The New Jersey Democrat, a member of the foreign affairs and armed services committees, said "If Peking and Hanoi remain intractable in their right to subvert a free government in violation of our existing agreements, what is there to negotiate except the abandonment of freedom?"

It was learned from a congressional source that while Gallagher initiated the idea for the speech, he prepared key parts of it in consultation with State Department officials at the highest level. It therefore was viewed as representing an indirect reply by the administration to some who have been urging a course of negotiation in the Viet Nam crisis.

Tuesday Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., assailed proposals for disengagement in Viet Nam as "new isolationism."

URGE SETTLEMENT

Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and George McGovern, D-S.D., are among those who have urged a peaceful settlement of the stepped-up conflict.

Gallagher's speech was prepared for delivery in the House today.

He said, "It is difficult to accept the reasoning of those who advocate . . . a so-called negotiated peace in Viet Nam. It is even more difficult to rationalize the statements of those responsible citizens who urge withdrawal from South Viet Nam. This we must view in the harsh light of political realism as a first step towards ultimate abandonment of the free nations of Southeast Asia to Communist control."

Gallagher added: "Certainly we must keep open the door to negotiation, but shall we fall on our knees and hammer on a door that was slammed in our face? If we are not to negotiate from fear, let us not negotiate either from a position of 'peace at any price.'"

He asked: "Can anyone seriously believe that neutralization of South Viet Nam would not mean immediate Communist take-over there and a new battle beginning in Thailand the next day?"

"The advocates of such a policy must understand that our abandonment of commitments to protect freedom in Southeast Asia is a recognition that we expect Communist China to absorb all of Southeast Asia. Are we prepared for some future negotiations for the partitioning of Hawaii which is on the collision course of the Communists on their way to Seattle?"

Waterford Board OKs Alcohol License Transfer

Transfer of ownership of a liquor, beer and wine licensed business was approved last night by the Waterford Township Board pending written assurance that violations will be corrected.

Seeking the ownership transfer of the Waterford Hotel, 5803 Dixie, was Richard D. Puertas who intends to remodel the building's interior in western style.

Prior to the board's action, Puertas assured that he would bring the building up to code as specified by the fire marshal.

The fire marshal ordered that the main floor of the building be rewired. The upstairs quarters will not be used, according to Puertas.

In other business last night, the board accepted the bid of the James Boaz Agency for three-year money and securities broad form insurance coverage.

The Boaz bid of $274 was the lowest of three proposals which ranged to a high of $713.

Board members also approved a request from the David Belisle Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for a carnival permit May 18-22 at the Drayton Shopping Center.

The usual fee for permits was waived by the board due to the charitable nature of the carnival.

Offer Rejected in Bowling Rift

The Michigan Civil Rights Commission has rejected an offer by a Pontiac bowling alley to give a Negro league one hour and 45 minutes of prime time to bowl.

In a meeting yesterday, the commission ruled that an offer by Orchard Lanes, 645 Opdyke, fell short of the time normally allotted for a league of similar size and number of teams.

The original complaint arose when the establishment reportedly would not permit the Negro league — the Pontiac Community Bowling League — to bowl during prime hours 5:30 - 9:30 p.m.

The commission had issued a temporary order, which expired yesterday, to allow the alley to offer prime time to the league.

The bowling alley now has until March 5 to act on the commission's order.

County Awards Contract on Building Remodeling

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday awarded a $39,650 contract for remodeling of the Social Welfare Building to Bundy Construction Co. of Pontiac.

The ways and means committee, which recommended the Bundy company for the job, further recommended that a 10 per cent contingency fund be appropriated, bringing the total to $43,615.

Money for the project, which will convert the basement area of the building into a common intake center for county welfare and bureau of social aid clients, will come from unappropriated surplus.

Part of the cost will be reimbursed by the state because the bureau of social aid is a state-supported agency.

County engineers estimated that the County Maintenance Department could do the job for $34,500, including contingencies.

BEST INTERESTS

After considerable study of the project, the buildings and grounds and ways and means committees decided the best interests of the county would be served by employing an outside firm.

County engineers say it would take considerably longer for the maintenance department to complete the intake center, which is urgently needed because of a heavy increase in Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed.

In other action the board referred a special report recommending the creation of an Oakland County traffic safety council to the ways and means committee.

The report was presented by Erwin Hendershott, transportation director of Oakland Schools and a member of a 12-man committee appointed by the board last July to study the need for a permanent, traffic safety organization in the county.

FINAL REPORT

It recommended that the council's organization and activities be based on the final report and recommendations of a traffic safety study being conducted by the Mott Center for Community Affairs at Oakland University.

The report further recommended that financial support of the council be included in the next county budget.

Japan, S. Korea Try to End Bitterness

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst

Off and on for 14 years under United States' urging, the governments of Japan and South Korea have sought to patch over the bitterness left by 35 years of Japanese occupation of the Korean peninsula.

But old animosities die hard and more than once when a agreement seemed near, violent opposition derailed the negotiations.

NEWSOM

Student demonstrations in Seoul forced abandonment of the talks last spring and led to three months of martial law when success seemed near.

In December the talks were resumed in Tokyo and this month seemed definitely on the track again.

In Seoul, high officials of the Korean and Japanese foreign ministries signed a draft treaty on a basic relations that was described as the most significant step yet taken toward establishment of formal diplomatic relations.

VIOLENT OPPOSITION

Violent opposition remained. In Seoul, riot policemen cracked heads of demonstrators led by former Korean President Posun Yun.

In Japan, leftist demonstrators scuffled with police in an attempt to prevent Japanese Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shima's departure for Korea. Protest demonstrations also greeted him in Seoul.

In Korea, the opposition frequently has seemed more emotional than a thing of real substance.

Posun Yun and his student demonstrators have accused the government of showing a weak attitude toward Japan and have opposed any agreement that smacked of Korean "concessions."

They also have demanded that Japan apologize for abuses suffered by Koreans under Japanese rule. This has been too much for the Japanese to stomach.

But Foreign Minister Shima came close to it in the communique announcing the draft treaty when he expressed his "deep regret" over relations between the two nations in the past.

In Japan, leftists oppose the government plan to recognize Seoul as the only legal government in Korea. Japan does not recognize Communist North Korea and says it has no intention of doing so.

The new draft treaty calls for establishment of diplomatic and consular ties without delay and for negotiations on trade and other matters as early as possible.

Previous negotiations already had obtained Japanese agreement to extend to Korea $300 million in grants over a 10-year period in settlement of damage claims, and another $200 million in long-term loans.

Still to be settled is disagreement over the so-called Syngman Rhee lines (which have Japanese fishermen from waters within 200 miles of Korea's coast) and the status of about half a million Koreans living in Japan.

Agreement between its two pro-Western allies is important to the United States because it believes that without it, Korea never can achieve a stable economy. U.S. aid to Korea since the war has amounted to more than $5 billion, and the U.S. is trying to reduce it.

Parliaments of both countries must approve the new treaty and it is assured of stormy going. However, both governments have placed it on their "must" status and both have solid majorities.

Yours For Only $100

FOR FIRST MONTH - MONEY BACK IN FULL IF NOT 100% SATISFIED!

★ OFFER GOOD FOR 3 DAYS ONLY

YOUR ENVELOPE must be mailed by Midnight, Saturday, Feb. 27th 1965

★ NO AGE LIMIT - YOU CAN BE 1 OR 101!

IF YOU are the one American in four who does not drink alcoholic beverages, you are eligible to apply for this new low-cost Gold Star Medical-Surgical-Nurse Protection that pays you big cash benefits to help pay sickness or accident bills.

You can apply for this new protection regardless of how old you are now - there is NO age limit. And Gold Star pays in addition to any other coverage or compensation you may have. Yet, because you've been protecting your own health all along by not drinking, you get this big-benefit protection for only pennies a day!

In fact, to introduce you to this great new Gold Star Plan, we make this special offer: Act within 3 days and you may have one whole month's coverage for only $1.00 - less than four cents a day! Then, if you're not 100% satisfied that this policy is the best - and least expensive - let us know within 10 days and your dollar will be refunded! Otherwise, you have the privilege - only if you wish - of continuing this great protection at the low, low rates shown here.

Look At All These Gold Star Benefits

Right now, you probably have some hospital coverage. You may think you're "safe" from all the financial burdens of sickness and accident. But hospital coverage usually only takes care of part of your expenses. Are you protected against the soaring costs of surgery bills, doctor visits, nursing bills?

Now, with this Gold Star Plan, you WILL be protected! Gold Star pays you for surgery bills, if surgery needs to be performed. Gold Star pays you for doctor visits when you need them. And, Gold Star helps you pay for a full-time registered nurse to take care of you at home, after you leave the hospital!

Folks Seldom Have Enough Insurance. Do You?

The chances are one in seven that even you will spend some time in the hospital this year. A fall on the stairs, in the bathtub, or on the sidewalk - a sudden illness or operation - could lay you up for weeks, months, perhaps even years.

Can you afford costly doctor, surgery, and nurse bills? Even though you probably have some protection now - will it be enough? Sickness, accident, hospitalization, cost many people their savings, their cars, even their homes. Don't take chances with your financial security. Now for only pennies a day, YOU can enjoy the added protection, the peace of mind, the freedom from worry that this new Gold Star Medical-Surgical-Nurse Plan (NLE-41064) offers.

MAIL APPLICATION TODAY - "Later" May Be TOO Late!

Once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's too late to buy protection at any cost. That's why we urge you to act today - before anything unexpected happens.

Simply fill out the simple application on this page and mail it with just $1.00 for a full month's protection, which will go into effect at noon of the day we receive your application. If not 100% satisfied, let us know within 10 days and your dollar will be refunded. ### COMPARE THESE GUARANTEED BENEFITS

PAYS YOU UP TO $1,000.00 for a registered nurse, after you leave the hospital and are convalescing at home. That's right! If you have been in the hospital for at least 5 days, and your doctor has you employ a full-time registered nurse within 5 days after you leave the hospital, we will pay you $10.00 a day for this nurse for up to 100 days! And you need not employ this nurse a hundred days in a row - because this big benefit is payable during the 180 days following your hospital stay!

PAYS YOU UP TO $300.00 for your doctors' bills for surgery, whether performed in or out of the hospital, according to a schedule printed right in your policy! For each sickness, injury, or hospital confinement, you enjoy the maximum benefit of the largest amount specified for any one operation. For example, you would get $250.00 for removal of a kidney.

PAYS YOU UP TO $320.00 for doctors' visits at the rate of $4.00 for one visit per day when you are in the hospital and surgery is not performed.

PAYS YOU IN ADDITION to any other surgical, medical and nursing protection you might have.

ALL CLAIM CHECKS SENT DIRECTLY TO YOU VIA AIR MAIL. And policy is mailed to you at home. No salesman will visit you!

NO AGE LIMIT! Same benefits whether you are 1 or 101!

SPECIAL RENEWAL WARRANTY. Gold Star guarantees never to cancel your protection because you grow older or because you have too many claims, and guarantees never to refuse to renew your policy unless renewal is declined on all policies of this type in your entire state. Of course, if deception is used in making application, this policy may be ineffective. This is another way Gold Star protects honest folks who don't drink.

ONLY REQUIREMENTS. You must not drink alcoholic beverages; you must have no previous rejections of any application for health, hospital or life insurance; you must not have been advised to have an operation which has not yet been performed.

ONLY CONDITIONS NOT COVERED. Every kind of sickness and accident is covered, except, of course, hospitalization caused by the use of alcoholic beverages or narcotics; mental or nervous disorders; any act of war, or pregnancy. Everything else is covered. These proper exceptions help to keep Gold Star rates lower for YOU!

COVERAGE FOR PRE-EXISTING CONDITIONS. After your policy has been in effect for just two years, you are even covered - in addition to all your other Gold Star benefits - for pre-existing conditions (which are not usually covered at all). What a boon to those with chronic, recurring health problems!

GRATEFUL POLICYHOLDERS PRAISE GOLD STAR SERVICE

Mrs. Christine Watson, Santa Ana, California: "You are to be commended for the excellent way you handled my claim. Your promptness in paying is greatly appreciated as I am a widow and living on a limited income. I would recommend your plan to anyone."

Rev. James L. Roberts, Pineville, Mo. Caroline: "Thank you for the prompt attention given my claim. It was as if everyone in your office was working just for me. I have been a member for 4 years and am pleased to recommend the Gold Star Plan."

Harry Goodman, Salem, Massachusetts: "Thank you for the check for my recent illness. As a former Insurance Agent I know value and recommend De Moss to anyone. The attention and service you gave my claim is most commendable."

Mrs. Luise Guriel, Yonkers, New York: "Thank you for your check which I received this morning. I was embarrassed to present a claim after signing for the policy such a short time ago. I can certainly recommend this company without reservation. I truly appreciate your prompt service."

James G. Lendis, Fort Wayne, Indiana: "Without delay, Gold Star mailed me a check for the proper amount to pay my claim. The immediate and courteous attention given me is appreciated very much. There seems to be a 'personal' interest by Gold Star, beyond just a 'business' transaction. A hearty THANKS."

George F. Guier, Olton, Oklahoma: "This is the third substantial claim you have paid me in the last year. All were handled in a very prompt and courteous manner, for which I certainly thank you. Gold Star is very high in my estimation."

LEADING AMERICANS PRAISE GOLD STAR PROTECTION!

S. R. Kresge, founder of the S. S. Kresge Co.: "I'm delighted that non-drinkers are now rewarded by insuring with the Gold Star Plan at substantial savings. Gold Star's popularity indicates that it is the right answer to the question of drinking and hospitalization."

Lynn Parks, Olympic and world swimming champion: "Swimming and the use of liquor do not mix. Neither I nor any other champion I know drink. My father, a swimming instructor, along with other coaches, forbids his contestants to drink. Of course, I highly recommend the Gold Star Hospitalization Plan for non-drinkers."

Hon. Frank Carlson, U. S. Senator, Kansas: "As a legislator, I am delighted that Arthur DeMoss has worked out a practical plan to provide hospitalization for non-drinkers at a reduced cost. I would urge those who are concerned about their financial security to take advantage of this excellent opportunity."

Upton Sinclair, Pulitzer Prize author: "I think your idea of giving people the insurance discount which they earn by not smoking their lives with alcohol is a brilliant one, and I am glad to be counted in on it."

W. K. Harrison, General, U. S. Army (Retired): "In my long experience in the Army I have seen the deathly effect of liquor on the high cost of insurance, due to liquor. After examination of the Gold Star Plan and its operation, I am convinced that it is effectively achieving its objectives."

Jerome Hanes, leading boss with the Metropolitan Opera Company: "The non-drinker is a better risk and should be entitled to a better insurance rate. There was 'long hair' needed for a special hospital plan for 'total' disability. Having known Art DeMoss for a long time, I am most happy to recommend this low-cost Gold Star Policy. It should prove to be a real help and blessing to all who can qualify."

Flowers Are Nice Gift in This Case

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My brother-in-law has been in business many years but has only been renting the store he occupies. Very soon he will move into his own newly built store.

Is it proper, or expected, of me to give him a gift when he has his grand opening?

A: While a present is not necessary, it will be proper and a nice gesture on your part to send him flowers with your very best wishes for the success of his new store.

WOMAN ALONE

Q: What is the obligation on the part of a host to an unescorted woman dinner guest when it is time for her to leave?

Must he take her home, put her in a taxi (and if so, does he pay her fare) or does she make her own way home?

A: It isn't necessary that he take her home but he should see her safely into a taxi.

PHONE ETIQUETTE

Q: I called a friend on the telephone the other day and we had barely said hello when she said that someone was at the door and would I please hold on.

I waited almost 10 minutes and she still hadn't returned, so I hung up.

My friend was quite peeved over this and thinks I was very rude not to have held on. I think I was perfectly justified in hanging up.

May I please have your opinion on this matter?

A: Your friend should have returned to the telephone and explained that she had to pay the milkman or give Mrs. neighbor a cup of sugar she came in to borrow, or whatever the reason, and asked if you would mind holding on while she did so, or said that she would call you back in a few minutes.

But as she did not do so, you were entirely justified in hanging up after 10 minutes of dead silence.

The clothes of the bride and groom's parents as well as those of the wedding guests are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Correct Clothes for a Wedding Reception."

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

To Survey Emotional Ills

A research program on mental health in Michigan was proposed at the Tuesday meeting of the Foundation for Aid for the Emotionally Disturbed Children (FAEDC).

James Kipfer, director of the children's mental health division of the Michigan Society for Mental Health, told what has been done in the past for emotionally disturbed children and what is being done now.

The FAEDC which has been contemplating a program of this kind voted Tuesday to undertake it.

Mrs. S. D. Steiner will head the committee making the research for the report.

When completed, the survey will point the way and indicate what the future direction should be for those in a position to direct funds, time and procedure connected with emotionally handicapped children.

SINCE 1954

Organized in 1956 under the direction of Dr. James M. McHugh and Mrs. Louis J. Colombo Jr., FAEDC exists mainly to promote the welfare of children at Pontiac State Hospital.

It is a fund-raising group, supported by both individuals and other groups which donate money and time.

They provide parties, help with children's gardens, tutor, conduct numerous classes, direct plays and give those extra bits of attention that institutionalized children need.

One of their goals has been to award scholarships each year to members of the Pontac State Hospital staff who wish to continue their education in the field of the emotionally disturbed.

The foundation finances the industrial arts program. Groups contributing money and/or time this past year are the North Woodward Alumnae of Kappa Kappa Gamma, Franklin, Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills garden groups, Jaycee auxiliaries, the Huntington Woods Women's Club, American Association of University Women and countless church and high school groups. Many individuals have given time.

Mrs. Steiner and Mrs. Hugh Martin are newly appointed members of the foundation board.

Celebration Is on Schedule

The Chapel Hills branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, will observe its second birthday, Monday, in the home of Mrs. Clarence Barker on Wincombe Drive.

Spring flowers will form a setting for the 12:30 p.m. dessert preceding an illustrated talk on "Perennials" by Darrell Bordine of Rochester.

Cohostesses will be Mrs. Edward Martin and Mrs. Edwin Schaeffer.

Gift, Madam Chairman

For women's club presidents or program directors who are at their wits end to provide an interesting and entertaining program for their members, a unique women's club kit is being offered free of charge!

The kit includes a 13 minute film documenting the emancipation of women over the past century, a commentary on current fashions, and a number of booklets designed to delight the hearts of women's organization members throughout the country.

The film, in black and white commences at the turn of the century when the mores of the time greatly limited the activities of women and reflected the Victorian attitudes of previous years.

As women gradually broke the barriers of traditional thinking and became active and productive members of society, they became pioneers in business, social, political and philanthropic fields.

An interesting aspect of the film deals with pregnancy, revealing the sociological change from the expectant mother who spent her waiting period in confinement to the healthy, active expectant mother of today.

BOOKLETS

Also included in the kit are special booklets on correct dress for tall and fuller-figured women.

A size chart which helps women to find their true size category is another feature of the kit, as well as posters on fashion specialties of yesterday and today.

The women's club kit may be obtained free of charge by writing: Department WCK, Room 1000, 465 Fifth Avenue, New York 17, New York, upon request by a president or program director of a women's organization.

Altar Society Slates Show

Mrs. John Gottschalk is general chairman. Her co-workers include Mrs. Harold Lepisto, Mrs. Edwin DeMiltner, Mrs. Homer Moran, Mrs. Max Keller, Mrs. Francis Albrecht, Mrs. Thomas Carry, and Mrs. Lloyd Banks.

Proceeds will be used for altar linens and vestments.

Too Late to Mail Cards

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Boy, am I a dope!

This morning I opened my glove compartment to get some thing, and I saw the bundle of Christmas cards I had promised my wife I would mail a few days before Christmas.

ABBY

fore Christmas.

They were all stamped and addressed. Should I drop them in the mailbox now or not? Should I tell my wife I forgot to mail them and take the consequences?

She doesn't have red hair for nothing.

PLUM FORGOT

DEAR PLUM: Don't mail them now or your friends will think you are rushing the season for 1965.

Get yourself a crash helmet and a nose guard and tell your redhead the awful truth.

DEAR ABBY: After a hectic day in my beauty salon I was ready to put up this sign.

"NO CHILDREN ALLOWED."

They nearly wrecked my place, and now with it. I called my sister, who is very good at writing poems, and asked her if she would write something for me to post in the shop.

I thought others might appreciate it.

"Bless the little children.

We love them like our own.

Nothing could be sweeter,

When they are left at home.

"While working on their mothers

It's more than we can stand

To have the little cherubs

Get wildly out of hand.

"So please call up a sitter

And give yourselves a treat,

And we will be so grateful

We may even kiss your feet."

Why Grow Old?

by JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It always seemed uncivilized to me to rush right into the day without taking time to wake up gradually. I guess it seems this way to me because I am a slow waker-upper and sort of weave my way into the day.

I am struck dumb with horror and amazement by those who jump out of bed in the morning with a song on their lips and speed past the alarm clock as though they were trying to make the next traffic light.

You can therefore imagine my delight to discover that there is scientific backing for the feeling I have. It is natural and healthful to stretch your muscles and yawn and breathe deeply when you awaken.

Some muscles have been cramped and all have been comparatively quiet. They need awakening. Circulation should also be speeded up gradually—not suddenly.

Dr. C. Ward Crampton, one of the distinguished geriatric pioneers felt so strongly about this that he devised scientifically planned waking-up exercises. Here they are.

HOW TO WAKE UP

One: Take a deep breath and place the hands on the shoulders. Fists are tight. Lift your chest as you take a deep breath and push back with the head.

Now stretch up with the left arm and out with the right and bend to the right. Twist and bend to the left. Stretch in each direction. Gradually exhale to the end of the double stretch.

Two: This is called the sea-saw massage. Lie on your back on the bed. Make your chest big, lifting it as your abdomen becomes hollow. During the count of six. Now push down making the chest small and the abdomen large.

Do this three times without breathing. Then take three deep breaths. Continue, exercising and breathing.

Three: Kick the covers off. Lying on your back, make circles with your legs, as though you were bicycle riding while lying down.

After a short time of this raise both legs up to right angles to the body, knees stiff and swing them down over the edge of the bed, sitting up on the side of the bed.

Four: This is more difficult and will take practice. The abdomen moves around in a circle while the head and hips remain in the center of the circle.

Five: Stand with feet apart and hands on hips. Bend to the right as far as possible. Bend to left as far as you can. Bend forward as far as possible. Continue.

Six: This is the beginning step in many primitive dances. Hop twice on one foot and twice on the other. Feel the rhythm and let your body sway a little from side to side.

An Indian war whoop should go with this, either from you or a member of your family.

Seven: Stand. Look down toward the floor. Place your hands behind your head. Lift your head and lower it backward. Resist gently with your hands.

This is not only a splendid waking-up routine but gives you a wonderful internal massage, and some good stretches. Following this program is a beneficial and pleasant way to weave your way into the day.

Fears Bully, but Own Behavior Too

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My husband and I disagree about what we should do about a bigger boy who roughed up our 8-year-old son on the way home from school.

I think he should be reported to the police as a menace to younger children in our neighborhood but my husband says that Fred has to learn to defend himself.

Though I am now driving Fred back and forth to school, he is still so frightened of this bigger boy that he won't go outside the yard to play.

Answer: Has your son been reassured that he did his utmost to defend himself against this bully?

I ask this question because what often seems to be our fear of a bullying person who has hurt us is fear of ourselves — fear that we've acquitted ourselves badly in our fight with him.

We're not nearly so scared of the insult or bloody nose he has given us as we are of the possibility that we showed contemptible weakness in our battle with him.

So we will devise many ways to hide from him, not because we're still smarting from the hurt he has done us but because we are smarting from shame at the way we accepted the hurt.

Has your husband's insistence that Fred learn to defend himself against bullies contained any suggestion that the boy did not defend himself well against this particular bully?

If it did, it's no wonder that the boy is more than usually frightened of another encounter that might expose him as insufficient again.

He seeks the safety of his own yard to avoid, not a bloody nose, but humiliating criticism of his effort to protect himself.

REASSURANCE

I like your idea of driving him back and forth to school, but I like even better the idea of his father telling him: "You did the very best you could in this fight with this bigger boy, didn't you?"

"Nobody can beat someone who's much bigger than they are. But you tried to, didn't you? You made it clear that you don't like bullying, didn't you?"

"All right, that's enough for us. Mother and I are proud of you."

May I remind you and your husband that the anguished fears — Army doctors call them "psychoneurotic" — which immobilize soldiers after battle have less to do with fear of the enemy than they have to do with fear that they behaved badly under stress?

And add that our civilian fears of people who have insulted us is not so much fear of our insulters as it is fear that we'll collapse again under their bullying.

Versatile Shades

The versatile window shade boasts many talents.

To its decorative assets, add the ability to control light without glare, easy washability and care, plus a special insulating quality that helps keep the room cool in summer and warm during the winter — a welcome economy factor that reduces the load on the air conditioner and saves fuel in the winter.

The Japanese consumes 12 pounds of meat per year per capita. The average American eats this much meat in about three weeks.

Sisters Are Married in Double Ceremony

Mary Ann Tarchalski and her sister Patricia Elaine, daughters of the Casper Tarchalskis of Elizabeth Lake Road, became brides during a recent ceremony in St. Peter's Catholic Church.

Rev. William J. Shanahan offered the nuptial Mass.

MARY ANN

For her marriage to Ralph William Chittick, son of the John W. Chitticks of Judah Road, Pontiac Township, Mary Ann chose an Empire gown and chapel train of French lace over organza.

A tiered crown of lace and pearls cradled her bouffant veil of illusion.

With honor maid Betty Mulhall of Belle River, Ont. were bridesmaids Donna VanHorn, Theresa Shovels and Mrs. Douglas Storey.

Douglas Storey of Lake Orion was best man. Seating guests were James Neph, Lake Orion, Edward Tarchalski and Blair Chittick of Davisburg.

PATRICIA ELAINE

An Empire gown of French lace and organza over tulle for Patricia Elaine Tarchalski who exchanged vows with Clarke Rieck of Kalamazoo, was styled with chapel train. Bouffant-veiling fell from a lace petal headpiece.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Catherine Rieck of Kalamazoo and James Rieck of Paw Paw.

Caren Coley attended as maid of honor with bridesmaids Nancy Tarchalski, Janet Helkes and Patricia Berry.

On the esquire side, were Sam Kline, best man, and ushers Richard Stewart, Thomas Day and David Walk-

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer:

This past fall I lined a winter coat in rayon crepe. Since it was so narrow and straight, I did as you suggested and fastened the lining to the lower edge of the coat as I do with my suits. I haven't worn the coat for several weeks and now the lining hangs limp and droopy. What did I do wrong?

Mrs. S. H.

Dear Mrs. S. H.

Crepe is the one kind of lining fabric that stretches as it hangs. It is not the best lining possible for a full length coat; I suggest you use lightweight taffeta or a dull satin. Both of these have a little extra body necessary for a coat.

To remedy the lining in your coat, remove the stitches across the back of the coat, between each side seam. Hem this section separately and allow it to hang free of the coat.

To keep it from flying away from the coat, you may use a long bar-tack between the center back of the lining and the center back of your coat.

Dear Eunice:

I have purchased one-fourth of a skin of leather to use as trimming for a suit after reading your excellent suggestion. However, I don't remember what you said about the grain of the leather and what direction it should be cut.

Mrs. L. J.

Dear Mrs. L. J.

Leather has no definite grain so any direction may be used.

You will find that some sections of the leather are much heavier than the rest, this would be the neck and tail section of the skin.

Leather can be cut with regular scissors or your sewing machine.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Thanks to a teacher of adult education we have these two great tips: Use a spray bottle to dampen your professionally treated prescotch instead of the proverbial sponge—works great and it's easy to regulate the amount of moisture.

If you are using a sewing machine that is new to you, remember that the last thread guide determines the direction the thread is to enter the needle. This holds true for foreign as well as domestic sewing machines.

Mrs. W. E. Barnister, Somerville, Mass., has been awarded this week's Tailor Trix pressing board for these suggestions.

Linda Porter Exchanged Recent Vows

White bridal satin fashioned a gown and train for Linda Ann Porter who exchanged recent vows with Wesley William Douglas, in the Leonard Methodist Church.

She donned a bouffant silk illusion veil and held a Bible covered with white carnations.

Parents of the newlyweds are the Edward J. Porters and Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas, all of Leonard.

SISTER

With Mrs. James Ostrander, her sister's honor matron, were the bridesmaids Mrs. Thomas Patch, Mrs. Richard VanCone, Norma Sutherby, Ruth Ann Douglas and Cindy Porter. Their gowns were red velvet.

The bridegroom had William Stafford for his best man. Ushers were Eugene Molilla, Cecil Linesman, Paul Sutherby, Stephen Porter and Norman Green. Scott McMillan carried the rings.

After the reception in Rowland Hall, Leonard, the couple left for a northern Michigan honeymoon.

Try Indoor Volleyball

DEAR POLLY — My children, ages 4, 5 and 7, became restless when they had to stay in the house for several days because of colds.

I put my adjustable ironing board down to its lowest position in the living room. They had great fun playing volleyball across the board with a big balloon.

The balloon could not break anything and they were careful about the way they threw their arms out to reach the ball. JEAN

DEAR POLLY — Venetian blinds on a door have a way of hanging against the wood of the door when it is opened or shut. This often mars the paint finish.

I tacked a Venetian blind cord onto the woodwork along both sides of the door so the blind would hit the cord instead of the wood. This really eliminates the noise, too. — RITA

DEAR POLLY — When shopping in a crowded supermarket, it is so easy to put items in someone else's cart.

I made a bright ribbon tag with my initials on it and attached a string. I tie this to the cart I am filling and it saves many mistakes.

While I am at the checkout counter the tag is removed and put in my purse to be ready for the next shopping trip. — MRS. G. B.

DEAR POLLY — I learn something from the column every day so I do hope the girls keep those Pointers coming. Perhaps my invention, a "patern caddy," will help those who sew.

Cut the tops off of several cereal boxes from two top corners diagonally down to the middle of the opposite side. Stand these boxes in a row and glue together.

Paint the boxes and decorate with pictures of spoons and other sewing accessories. Label the front of each section with the type of pattern in that compartment — skirts, dresses, blouses, baby clothes, etc.

They are neat and easy to reach when needed. — RUTH

DEAR POLLY — When the weather is bad, I slip my note for the milkman in an empty bottle, as usual, and then cover note, bottle and all with a plastic bag and it is dry when he arrives. — MRS. R. F. E.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. Ashby of Hazelton Avenue, Avon Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Martell to James E. Periso, son of the Ernest R. Perisos of Auburn Heights. May 22 has been selected for vows.

Sheriff Gets Aid Offers in Selma Struggle

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Sheriff James G. Clark, leaning back in his chair at his courthouse office, said offers from white persons wanting to help him stop the Negro demonstrations here had been coming from many areas of Alabama.

"I have had offers from surrounding counties and some from halfway across the state — people wanting to come in here," the big, soft-spoken sheriff said.

"Some people have offered to come in here and kill some of these niggers — I don't know whether I ought to say that," he went on, fingering a stack of letters on his cluttered desk.

"I have told them to stay out."

SEGREGATIONISTS

Clark said that if he had not discouraged such offers from angry segregationists, then violence would have descended on this city of about 30,000, where Negroes have been pushing a voter registration drive for more than five weeks.

Clark, an Air Force gunner in World War II, has shed his military looking khaki uniform and white helmet in favor of a coat and tie during the past week.

"I have gained up to 225 on these sandwiches and milk," the 42-year-old sheriff remarked, referring to his diet during the civil rights campaign in which he has arrested hundreds of Negroes.

"I think it is very good," the sheriff said, "that I am the only person who has been injured in this." He was struck in the face by a Negro woman during a demonstration.

NEGRO INJURED

Clark, however, amended his statement when reminded that the Rev. C. T. Vivian, a Negro leader, was injured when Clark struck the clergyman during another demonstration last week.

"I've got a pinched nerve in my neck and a fracture of my finger from trying to get Vivian to turn loose my stick. He ran over another man and fell down and split his lip," Clark said.

The sheriff said he had no objection to Negroes registering to vote. "What I can't understand are their methods," he said.

Clark charged that some of the news reports from Selma had been distorted. He said that some reporters "don't realize I have nothing in the world to do with registration."

Clark had plastered the bulletin board in his outer office with dozens of telegrams, clippings and letters from persons favoring his stand others denouncing him.

On his desk were three stacks of letters. It appeared there were about 200 letters altogether.

"That's the day's mail," Clark said.

A telegram on the bulletin board read: "Congratulations on a job well done." It was from a man in Sabinal, Tex.

Others praising Clark came from California; Washington, D.C.; Miami, Fla.; Detroit, Mich., and Tulsa, Okla. There was a clipping of a newspaper

Negro Extremists Can Be Influential in Crisis

NEW YORK (AP) — The violence that flared in the past three days involved just two of more than a dozen organizations active in the secretive world of Negro extremism.

With the exception of Elijah Muhammad's Chicago-based Black Muslims, whose New York mosque was destroyed by an explosion and fire Tuesday, most groups of any strength have headquarters in New York.

Police in a number of major American cities indicate that extremist groups command allegiance from only a comparative handful of Negroes.

Because the groups often refuse to say much about themselves, it is almost impossible to get accurate membership figures. Four years ago the New York Times estimated that perhaps only 2,000 of this city's one million Negroes were members of extremist groups, compared with 25,000 dues-paying members of the NAACP, the proportion is believed to be considerably less in all other cities.

OUT OF PROPORTION

Yet officials agree that the influence of extremists can, in times of crisis like last summer's riots, be out of proportion to the number of persons involved.

In New York City last summer, at least 17 black nationalist groups were members of a coordinating body called the African Nationalist Federated Council.

Most of these organizations were antiwhite, and believed the American Negro could gain freedom only by linking his fate with that of rising African and Asian nations.

"The white man has never given us anything without outside pressure," said a nationalistic speaker at a summer rally. "We can never get anywhere in this country by ourselves, because we are a minority. But what the white man doesn't understand is that black people are a majority in the world. We must look to people who are our color."

VARYING LINES

The groups are organized along varying lines. Some, like the various Muslim groups are primarily political. An example is Harlem's Progressive Labor Movement, headed by self-proclaimed Communist William Epton.

A few tiny groups appear to be little more than individual oriented toward religion. Others are primarily political. An example is Harlem's Progressive Labor Movement, headed by self-proclaimed Communist William Epton.

Historically, many are offshoots of the Marcus Garvey "Back to Africa" movement of the early 1900s. Garvey, a Jamaican Negro, counseled American Negroes against integration.

He was convicted of mail fraud in 1923, deported, and died in 1940. Harlem still annually celebrates Marcus Garvey Day.

About half of the Negro extremists are believed to belong to the Black Muslims, properly known as the Lost-Found Nation of Islam. Formed in 1930, it preaches complete separation of blacks and whites.

ALL-BLACK NATION

Wiry, 67-year-old Elijah Muhammad, who has led the group since 1933, says the United States should turn over "several states" for an all-black nation.

The Muslims have claimed as many as 200,000 members. Other estimates put active membership as low as 5,000. Rallies open to the non-Muslim public have drawn 3,000 in Detroit, 3,500 in St. Louis, 7,000 in Chicago and 9,000 in Philadelphia.

Although they claim to oppose violence, members occasionally have been involved in serious clashes with police. And, a number of former members have charged that a strong internal police force — the Fruit of Islam — is used to keep wayward members in line.

Chicago's police, however, say they have "no problem with them whatsoever," adding, "as a matter of fact, they seem to go out of their way to avoid trouble."

SOW DISCORD

The Black Muslim doctrine teaches that whites are "devils" created 6,000 years ago by genetic manipulation to sow discord in an all-black world.

Muslim members profess an ascetic life. Smoking, drinking, gambling, violence except in self-defense, and all forms of vice are forbidden.

Their most famous defector was Malcolm X, an urbane light-skinned Negro who was shot to death as he stood on the stage of the Audubon Ballroom in Manhattan Sunday.

Malcolm, who formed the rival Muslim Mosque, Inc., said he was expelled from Muhammad's group a year ago because some of its leaders felt he was getting too powerful.

SECOND GROUP

Malcolm also organized a second group, the Organization of Afro-American Unity, to appeal to non-Muslims who would accept his teachings that Negroes should meet violence with violence.

Although he was an effective and colorful speaker, it generally was believed his groups had not really gotten off the ground.

Two points on which most such groups agree are that Negroes must pool economic and political resources into power bloc, and that they must not look to whites for help.

"There is no use deceiving ourselves," Malcolm X once said. "Good education, housing and jobs are imperative for the Negroes. But they cannot solve the main Negro problem."

CONSIDERABLE POWER

Other New York nationalist groups include the United African Nationalist Movement, founded in 1949 by its current leader, James Lawson, 46.

Lawson says his group, which he describes as antiwhite and for meeting violence with violence, has less than 100 members, but adds, "our influence is considerably more."

The Muslim Brotherhood, which claims to be the true Muslims and is hostile to Muhammad's Black Muslims, has a membership estimated at less than 100.

Detroit is believed to have less than 400 active Black Muslims. Boston, the only other city reporting any followers of Malcolm X, is believed to have not more than 50 Black Muslims with minor influence in the Negro community.

Police say that if Chicago has any other extremist groups, they are "very minor."

Los Angeles police report fewer than 500 Black Muslims, with negligible influence, and "two or three" tiny extremist groups known to exist last November.

San Francisco police report a small Black Muslim unit of minor influence in the community.

Nongovernment Business Growing in Aircraft-Aerospace Field

(Editor's Note — With fewer defense contracts, the leaders of the nation's aircraft-aerospace industry look to the development of new commercial planes and new frontiers of science to keep the industry busy in the years ahead. AP business news writer Roger Lane reports on talks with industry leaders in the following story, second in a four-part series.)

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer
LOS ANGELES — "Assuming progressively lower national defense budgets, the aerospace industry at best will remain stable, quite possibly decline," said Dudley Browne, group vice president of Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

"But major problems remain in Viet Nam, Cuba, the Berlin corridor, Africa, the Middle East, China and in South America. It is hard to foresee what today's assumptions may look like tomorrow."

Browne noted the industry also is nourished by important commercial demand, and stands on frontiers of science and invention that conceivably could lead to big-scale exploitation of the oceans and electronics applications.

His view typifies industry reaction to recurrent talk of a major shrinkage in the offing for the nation's 1.1-million man, $20-billion a year aircraft-aerospace complex.

WORK CUTBACK

A management consultants firm foresaw recently a 15 per cent cutback in government work by 1970, and one estimate envisioned a 25 per cent cutback. Relaxed international tensions and a downward drift in arms spending were cited.

Uncle Sam is the industry's No. 1 customer, accounting for about 85 per cent of revenues, but nongovernment business is growing.

Head men at the Boeing Co. and Douglas Aircraft Co., ranking one-two as commercial plane builders, in interviews begged off prophecy on future defense spending. They stressed expanding horizons of civil passenger and cargo flight.

Boeing's order backlog is over 60 per cent commercial, Douglas about 45 per cent commercial.

'QUITE BULLISH'

"We're quite bullish," said Donald W. Douglas Jr. as president of Douglas he directs a company on the rebound from a severe wrenching that has left employment and sales at roughly one half the levels of the mid-1950s.

In a major gamble, Douglas has just entered a DC9 short-to-intermediate-range jet airliner in competition for a market estimated at up to $3 billion and 1,000 planes over 10 years.

The $3-million 56- to 90-passenger craft would be mostly for feeder airlines. The British Aircraft Corp. already is selling a plane for this service, and Boeing probably will bring out a model for the same market.

Of gloomy forecasts for the industry, a Boeing official observed that the company was founded in 1916, and added:

"If at any time in the past 50 years you had asked 'what will you be making five years from now?' the answer would have to have been, based on programs in progress, 'Of course, we'll be broke.'"

VISIONARY PROGRAMS

Underscoring the same point, Browne enumerated seven major programs Lockheed is seeking totaling possibly $12 billion in future business, mostly in areas a layman would regard as visionary.

Included were a 2,000-mile-

an-hour commercial airliner, two military transport-cargo craft, an armed helicopter, an intercontinental missile, a space laboratory, and a rocket.

Despite a fat current backlog of business, Lockheed was backing up its bids with huge money and manpower investments, knowing much of the spending would avoid nothing in gambles that at best would land two or three sizable jackpots of business — or maybe none.

Browne said that over three years Lockheed had laid out $75 million of its own funds, beyond receipts from government study contracts, to position itself to compete for business now in hand or soon to be awarded.

SUPERTRANSPORT

The company in the last three years has had an average of 300 engineers and designers working on its concept of a supercruise transport, the plane intended to cut transatlantic travel to 2½ hours in the 1970s.

The sales potential is thought by some to amount to at least 200 planes at $40 million apiece.

Since early 1963, Lockheed has kept up to 700 engineers and technicians toiling on a military transport

The craft, capable of carrying 600 armed troops or 120 tons of cargo at 600 miles an hour, could bring $750 million or more in development contracts and production orders in the $1-billion to $2-billion range.

SIMILAR WORK

Boeing is working just as feverishly and at similar cost to land both contracts. Also zeroing in on the military plane is Douglas, which has teamed in its bid with North American Aviation and Martin-Marietta Corp.

Fierce hunger of all three competitors for the military plane program is whetted by suggestions that after military needs are met a commercial adaptation — either for passengers, cargo or a combination of the two — might offer lucrative possibilities in the 1970s.

Boeing's worldwide dominance in jet airliners is traced by many observers to trailblazing contracts for a direct military ancestor, the jet tanker-transport. Boeing made $20 of them over a decade. In the intensifying military craft rivalry, Boeing is trying to play down its mounting prosperity, Douglas to capitalize the "poor relation" status from which it is emerging and Lockheed a kind of share-the-wealth appeal.

May Lead to E. German Recognition

Ulbricht's 1st Visit to Non-Red Nation

BERLIN (AP) — On his trip to Egypt, Walter Ulbricht is taking his first state visit to a non-Communist country.

The stocky leader of East Germany's Communist party can consider President Gamal Abdel Nasser's invitation a personal victory.

In the past, even the most left-leaning neutral countries have held back from associating too closely with one of the Kremlin's most accomplished helpers.

The fact that these and other nations have refused to grant full recognition to his regime has been irking Ulbricht, especially since he must constantly find ways with which he can improve his own image and stature within the Communist community.

CONSTANT SCHEMES

He has constantly schemed and pushed toward being recognized, seemingly disregarding the obstacles placed in his paths

by the West, chiefly the West German government which maintains it has the only legal right to speak for the entire German nation.

Scheming and perseverance are among Ulbricht's main personal assets.

"Look into his eyes and you will see how scheming and dishonest he is," said Germany's most famous woman Communist, the late Clara Zetkin, about Ulbricht back in the 1920s.

Ulbricht had just finished his first ex job for Joseph Stalin by chopping up Germany's big, independent Communist party into small cells easily controlled by the Kremlin.

ALWAYS SURVIVES

Since then, his uncanny ability to follow and survive every nuance in the Kremlin line had made him one of Moscow's most valuable functionaries.

Born in Leipzig, he joined the Socialists at 19 and became a union organizer.

Later in Berlin, he joined Rosa Luxemburg and Karl Liebknecht in forming the Spartacus Society that became the German Communist party in 1920.

With the passage of time and the cutting down of numerous comrades, he became the Kremlin's man.

He is married for the second time and has a daughter.

U.S. Secretive on Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department seems to be trying to tighten security around U.S. air operations against the Communists in Laos.

It took four days, with considerable prodding from newsmen, for the Pentagon to acknowledge Tuesday that Air Force Maj. Robert F. Ronca, 41, of Norristown, Pa., had been lost over Laos "on a routine mission."

This was in marked contrast to the handling of past incidents in Laos since this country's Navy and Air Force jets started last May to conduct reconnaissance and strike operations against regulations and supply-reinforcement routes in Laos.

Jan. 19, Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester volunteered the information that an F100 and an F105, both Air Force fighter bombers, had been shot down in central Laos by ground fire.

Nov. 21, the Defense Department put out an announcement that an RF101 reconnaissance plane had been shot down, also by ground fire, in southern Laos.

Nov. 18, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara wound up a news conference on base closings with a surprise announcement that an F100 had been downed by ground fire in roughly that same part of Laos

"while escorting one of our reconnaissance aircraft."

In all, seven U.S. Navy and Air Force jets have been identified officially as downed in Laos since U.S. air operations began over that vital Southeast Asian country. Five of the seven pilots were rescued. The other two, including Ronca, were killed. Their bodies were recovered.

Although the U.S. government won't talk about it, there have been strong indications that U.S. jets have been flying repeated reconnaissance and bomb-rocket missions against Communist targets in Laos—many more such missions than have been admitted.

Bill to Allow Elderly Sales Tax Refund

LANSING (UPI) — Rep. Edward K. Michalski, D-Detroit, yesterday introduced a bill into the House that would make elderly citizens eligible for a refund on the 4 per cent state sales tax.

Michalski said it seemed to him the best plan so far introduced to help "these people, who have lived most of their years in financial support of the tax base."

Under this bill, the refunds would go to males over 65 and females over 62 who are on pensions, old-age assistance or receive low income.

West to Appear at Inquiry

LANSING (AP) — Rep.-elect Daniel West, D-Detroit, has been subpoenaed to appear at a public inquiry into his qualifications in Detroit Friday, Rep. Albert Kramer, D-Oak Park, said Tuesday.

West has not been seated because he has been indicted with 117 counts of income tax law violations. He also has been charged with voting irregularities, forgery and impersonation.

Kramer, chairman of a committee which has been investigating West's qualifications since mid-January, said other witnesses have been subpoenaed and documentary evidence will be brought in from outside the state.

West, he said, will be able to cross-examine witnesses and to call witnesses in his own behalf, "if they have testimony which is relevant to the subject of the committee's inquiry."

Kramer issued a progress report on the committee's investigation. House Minority leader Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, has been trying to get him to do this since the early part of the legislative session. Many of the minority Republicans have been trying to speed the committee's work, so West's seat could be filled in a special election in Detroit April 5 if he is disqualified.

Democrats, refusing to be rushed, said the election was secondary to assuring West a fair hearing and setting proper precedents.

Commissioners Cite Tax Need

Pontiac City Affairs

New Gas Rate OK'd for Sewage Plant

The city expects to save $1,377 per year under a new rate for gas at the sewage treatment plant, it was reported last night.

The City Commission approved a new contract with Consumers Power Co. which gives the city facility a new gas rate.

Consumers Power made a study of the treatment plant to determine a "more favorable" rate.

city officials expect to save $1,377 annually.

In other business last night, commissioners accepted deed to property at 165 Cedarvale for construction of the Murphy Park trunk sewer.

DEED RECEIVED

The deed was received from Willis Brewer and Floyd McNeary.

Also last night, a resolution was approved thanking Robert A. Armstrong for his services on the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees.

Armstrong, first appointed to the hospital board in 1958, resigned last week.

Reasoning was approved for property on the north side of East Walton between Giddings and Perry.

PROPERTY REZONED

The property, slated for multiple and single-family dwellings and a neighborhood shopping center, was rezoned to residential-3 and commercial.

Commissioner John A. Dugan pointed out that any development there depended on the extension of water and sewer facilities to the area.

In still other business, the commission directed the city attorney to prepare an amendment to an ordinance that would eliminate a $10 impounding fee on city dog owners who have dogs put in the County Animal Shelter.

The County Board of Auditors had requested that the city make arrangements to collect the fee.

The board said it was bad public relations for the county to collect the city-imposed fee, which applied to Pontiac residents but did not apply to other county residents.

Eight to ten different bells are usually used in a chime clock.

'Lack Funds for Youth Rehabilitation, Police'

More law enforcement and job training for youth were the key points in two statements last night on Pontiac's income tax.

Following the practice of recent weeks, two city commissioners, Wesley J. Wood and James Marshall issued policy statements last night.

Wood said the city's size and the daily volume of traffic make law enforcement difficult.

"The city finances under the present tax base will not provide additional officers for this important work," he said.

Wood maintained that additional police officers are necessary to give Pontiac citizens the protection they should have.

CITIZEN FRUSTRATION

Said the District 6 commissioner, "If the needed officers cannot be provided, the frustrations of our citizens will continue and the present high accident rate will increase."

Marshall said that a lack of funds prohibits the city from offering programs that could aid the rehabilitation of young people.

"The funds for this purpose can only be obtained by broadening the tax base and tax reform," he said.

Marshall, new District 7 commissioner, said the income tax would enable many social programs including child recreation programs and rehabilitation of young people.

ARE POWERLESS

"Without the necessary funds, city officials are powerless to turn some of the unfortunate trends which are present in this community," concluded Marshall.

In other income tax talk last night, Commissioner John A. Dugan charged that Charles Nasstrom was a one-man committee opposing the levy.

Addressing Nasstrom, Dugan said, "You and your committee; you're the only one who has done any work. You are the only one to come down here."

Nasstrom, who is chairman of a self-appointed Citizens Committee on Taxation, denied the charges.

'NOT ALONE'

He said he was not the only one to circulate petitions or the only one to come before the commission.

Nasstrom repeated that industry would get a tax break with the income levy.

City commissioners denied Nasstrom's contention.

Commissioner Robert C. Irwin replied:

"You (Nasstrom) missed the point entirely, we went for the income tax because we thought it was a more equitable way to tax and we're trying intentionally to change the basis of taxation."

Fried Bananas Served With Meat

Here in the United States, where we take a year-round supply of good quality bananas for granted; where we consume more than half the world's commercial banana production, banana ripening has developed into an exact science.

But like many other skills in this world, it had to be learned the hard way.

In an issue of Leslie's Popular Monthly published in 1886, it was noted, "One great drawback in the banana trade is the heavy losses through the decay of the fruit, either on the voyage or here, in case the market is overstocked."

Twenty to 25 per cent of the fruit was inedible by the time it had made its slow trip through the Gulf Stream and up the long Atlantic coastline.

Most of the bananas on produce counters today show a tinge of green at each end.

That's because bananas never can reach the golden-yellow stage successfully while still growing on the parent plant.

Tree-ripened bananas have poor flavor and usually burst. For that reason all bananas are harvested while still green.

As quickly as possible, the big stems are stored in the holds of refrigerated ships at a temperature averaging about 55 degrees. They get the V.I.P. treatment, too, when they reach their mainland destination.

They are carefully placed on beds of straw in air-conditioned rail cars and trucks. Wholesalers ripening rooms are held at a comfortable 58 to 68 degrees depending on the desired speed of ripening.

When the bananas finally reach our kitchens, weeks after leaving their tropical home, they usually need time at room temperature to develop full color and flavor.

Of course not all the bananas reach the U.S. Mainland. Millions are eaten right near where they grow, in Latin America and the Caribbean area, and they are shipped to most parts of the non-tropical world.

From the test kitchens of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association come recipes for banana dishes Caribbean style.

Fried Bananas

3 firm ripe bananas
Butter, margarine or shortening

Grated Edam cheese
Peel bananas and cut in half, crosswise. Fry until golden in butter, margarine or shortening. Sprinkle with grated Edam cheese. Puerto Ricans sprinkle with their native cheese. Serve as an accompaniment to ham, pork or poultry. Yield: 6 servings.

Fried Bananas, Bermuda

3 firm ripe bananas
3 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1-16 teaspoon ground black pepper

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon light brown sugar

Peel bananas and cut in half lengthwise. Roll in flour mixed with salt and black pepper. Melt butter or margarine in a 10-inch skillet, in which arrange bananas. Sprinkle with brown sugar.

Fry until browned underneath. Turn and brown the other side. Serve as a meat accompaniment. Yield: 6 servings.

Banana Fritters, Bermuda
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons sugar

1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon ground mace
1 large egg, lightly beaten
3/4 cup milk

1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
3 firm ripe bananas
1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice

Sift together into a mixing bowl the first 5 ingredients. Combine egg and milk, and stir into the flour mixture along with butter or margarine.

Cut bananas in crosswise slices 1/4-inch thick. Roll in lemon juice to prevent discoloration. Add to the batter.

Drop a tablespoon of fritter batter at a time into deep hot fat preheated to 370 degrees.

Fry 3 to 4 minutes or until browned. Remove from heat and drain on paper towels.

Serve hot as a meat accompaniment or as a dessert with Lemon Sauce. These may be kept warm in a slow oven (300 degrees) until ready to serve. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

Conserve Is Yummy

Make apple-cranberry conserve for your family or for gifts.

Quarter and seed 2 oranges and put through coarse blade of food grinder.

Add 2 cups of water and cook 20 minutes, then add 2 cups each of fresh cranberries, canned apple sauce and sugar, 1 cup of seedless raisins and 1/4 teaspoon of salt. Cook rapidly, stirring often, until thick. Pour at once into hot sterilized jars and seal. Makes 6 cups.

Almost 600 double stars were discovered by George Washington Hough, 19th century American astronomer.

Lard Is Plastic

Did you know that you can take lard right out of the refrigerator and work it into the flour mixture for pastry or biscuits? Without trouble, that is. That's because lard is the most plastic of all fats and means that it has a wide range of temperatures at which it's workable.

Cheese Lattice for Meat Pie

What's new? Lattice - Topped Hamburger Pie! A delicious hamburger - vegetable base is enhanced by a creamy cottage cheese filling. The cheesy lattice topping is made from a pie crust mix - delicious.

LATTICE-TOPPED HAMBURGER PIE

Meat Base
1 1/2 lb. ground beef
One 10 1/2 oz. can condensed vegetable soup
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 egg
1/4 cup rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)

Filling
2 cups creamed cottage cheese
1 egg, beaten

Crust
One-half 10-oz. pkg. (1 cup) pie crust mix
2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons cold water

Combine meat base ingredients. Press half of mixture into ungreased 2-qt. baking dish. Combine filling ingredients; spread over meat; press remaining meat mixture over filling.

Measure pie crust mix into bow; stir in cheese. Sprinkle cold water by tablespoonsful over mix; stir lightly until just dampened. (If necessary, add another one-half tablespoon cold water to make dough hold together.)

Form into ball. Roll dough out on lightly floured board or canvas to form 9x12-inch rectangle. Cut into 1/4-inch strips. Lay half the strips across meat base; weave remaining strips over and under these. Trim.

Bake in preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) about 45 minutes; let stand 5 minutes before cutting.

Lettuce Storage

Mixed storage can have some effect on lettuce. This salad green is sensitive to ethylene, and russet spotting appears when subjected to this gas. Produce that give off appreciable amounts of ethylene are: apples, pears, plums, tomatoes, cantaloupes, honeydew melons and avocados. Therefore, these fruits should not be stored in the same area with lettuce.

These Three Recipes Considered Low in Fat Content Are Both Tasty and Different

In these days of weight consciousness, many modern Americans have come home from their doctors' offices with low calorie diets. Food preparation may then suddenly pose a problem to the homemaker, especially in the dessert line.

Following are three recipes providing a solution to this problem.

Apple Betty is truly easy and delicious, with its layers of apples and sugared corn flakes.

Cinnamon mixed with brown sugar is sprinkled throughout. Just bake until the apples are tender and serve with your favorite lemon sauce.

Special K Puffs are light delectable cookies that fairly melt in your mouth. Beating the egg whites until almost stiff is the secret of the lightness. Add sugar gradually, then fold in ready-to-eat high protein cereal.

With the variations listed here, you can serve these Puffs for any occasion.

Special K Puffs and sherbet balls make a fine dessert after Barbecued Crusty Chicken. Use the familiar dip-roll — bake method of preparation.

Dip pieces of chicken in barbecue sauce, roll in crisp corn flake crumbs, and bake on a foil lined pan.

No need to cover the pan or turn chicken pieces while baking. The result is tender, tangy chicken, done to a turn, with no fat added.

Even if you don't follow a low calorie diet these recipes are handy to have, easy to make, and good to the taste.

Apple Betty
4 cups sugared corn flakes

1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 teaspoons cinnamon
5 cups sliced, raw apples

Crush cereal flakes slightly. Sprinkle bottom of 9x9-inch pan with part of the cinnamon and sugar. Spread a third of the apples in layer over cinnamon and sugar. Sprinkle lightly with more sugar and add cinnamon.

Cover with half the crushed cereal. Repeat until there are 3 layers of apples and 2 layers of cereal.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 40 minutes or until apples are tender. Serve hot or cold with Lemon Sauce. Yield: 6 servings.

Special K Puffs

2 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon vanilla flavoring
3 cups ready-to-eat high-protein cereal

Beat egg whites and salt with rotary beater until almost stiff. Add vanilla. Add sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Fold in cereal. Drop by tablespoons onto well-greased baking sheet.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 15 minutes. Remove from pan immediately. Yield: about 3 dozen Puffs, 2 inches in diameter.

Variations

Brown sugar: Substitute ¾ cup brown sugar, firmly packed for granulated sugar.

Coconut: Add ½ cup flaked coconut with cereal.

Pecan: Add ½ cup chopped pecan meats with cereal.

Cinnamon: Add ¼ cup red cinnamon candies with cereal.

Barbecued Crusty Chicken
4 cups corn flakes or
1 cup corn flake crumbs
1 2½-pound frying chicken, cut in serving pieces
¾ cup barbecue sauce
If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs.

Wash chicken pieces and dry thoroughly. Dip chicken pieces in barbecue sauce, then roll in corn flake crumbs until well coated. Place skin side up on shallow baking pan lined with aluminum foil; do not crowd pieces.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 1 hour or until tender. Do not cover pan or turn chicken while cooking. Yield: 4-5 servings.

Pork With Fruit

Spoon-drained-canned-fruit cocktail over partially baked pork chops. Top with red spiced apple slices. Drizzle with a mixture of apple and fruit cocktail syrups spiced with a little wine vinegar. Cover and continue baking until meat is fork-tender.

Prepare Prunes

If you want to add uncooked prunes to a baking-powder quick bread, cover the prunes with boiling water and let them stand for about 10 minutes.

Then drain, dry and cut away the pulp from the pits with a sharp knife or kitchen scissors.

Hosea was among the earliest of the prophets to commit his discourses to writing.

Spoon Out Dough

You don't have to add extra liquid to regular biscuit dough when you are using the dough for drop biscuits. Just spoon the dough into small muffin-pan wells instead of rolling out.

Minute hands were added to watches around 1660 when Hooke invented the balance spring.

Pass Butter Sauce With the Fish

What gives butter its delicious and unmatched flavor? That's a secret shared by Nature—and the cow. We do know that butter is the natural fat of milk, endowed with a flavor never duplicated, and an abundance of vitamin A. The creamy, natural yellow color is supplied by the milk fat.

A little butter does a lot for the taste of other foods. A glamorous, but easy, way to add butter's flavor to vegetables, meats and fish is by using butter sauces. And, a pretty copper butter warmer to hold the sauce adds charm to the table setting.

When fish appears on your menus, one of these butter sauces will add unmatched flavor to the fish and vitamin A to the meal. Both sauces can be used either on fish fillets of frozen fish sticks.

Butter and butter sauces won't disguise poorly cooked food; however, they will make properly cooked food taste even better. But see for yourself—when you prepare fish' next, prepare a simple-to-make butter sauce, too.

Almond Butter Sauce

1/2 cup slivered blanched almonds
1/2 cup butter (1/2 stick)
1/2 teaspoon salt

Pots Hold Sundaes

Line the bottoms of small ceramic or plastic flower pots with a thin layer of chocolate sheet cake. Use a small round cookie cutter or paper pattern and sharp knife.

Top with scoops of peppermint ice cream. Using a metal skewer, poke a hole in center of each.

Insert paper straws cut to the height of the flower pots. Just before serving, sprinkle ice cream with green tinted coconut. Insert stem of fresh or artificial flower in straw. Serve with cake squares.

Cleans better than old-fashioned granular cleaners!

Achievement Tests Reveal

Small Classes Produce Better Students

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
Smaller classes actually save money!

Class size is found to be the most potent factor influencing student achievement.

A California legislative subcommittee, conducting a two-year study on how schools spend their money, found that pupils in districts with smaller classes and more classroom teachers than average, stand higher on achievement tests.

Their findings were based on results of statewide pupil achievement tests. Their investigation covered a wide range of school organizations as California has 1,500 school districts. How these schools spend their money and what they get for it is important to legislators since California schools receive $1 billion annually from the state.

The expenditure of money for nonteaching personnel can be justified only if it results in higher achievement of pupils.

The investigation of money spent in relation to educational performance reveals startling discrepancies at all levels of the school system.

When nonteaching personnel get out of balance with the number of teachers at either elementary or high school levels, classes become too large for effective teaching.

For example, a freshman girl with an all "A" high school record, withdrew from two of her five classes in a junior college shortly after midsemester.

As the semester drew to a close, these two classes, which started with close to 40 students each, had been reduced to eight and 12 students respectively.

The cost to the taxpayers of education in a California junior college ranges from $500 to $600 per student per year. This is measured on a basis of students in attendance, not those who complete courses successfully.

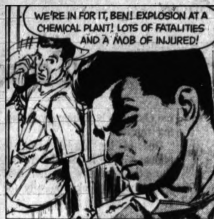

In the classes cited, the cost in terms of successful education was at an approximate rate of $2,000 per student.

The all "A" high school student not only had innate ability, but was eager to succeed. The fault rests with the college.

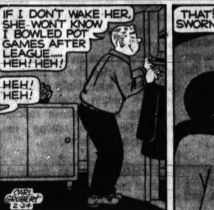

Administrators should be able to see not only that capable high school students are counseled into courses approximate to their background and goals, but that the teachers assigned to beginning classes are capable of leading students to successful completion of the courses.

panic. He assumed that South was trying to get to game and North went back to three spades. In fact, he almost bid four spades.

Of course, it didn't really matter if North bid or passed. Once they reached the three level North and South were going to be set.

In the actual play West opened the king of diamonds. South won with dummy's ace and drew trumps. Later he had to lose two diamonds, two hearts and a club.

Down one undoubted not vulnerable doesn't seem like much of a loss except when you note that if South had passed at two spades he would have made a nice satisfactory part score.

By OSWALD JACOBY

Take a look at the South hand only. Your partner opens with one diamond and it is up to you to act. You have eight high card points plus two tens, a decent four-card spade suit and four diamonds for your partner. Your hand is JACOBY clearly worth some bid and your choice must be between one no-trump and two diamonds.

One no-trump should be eliminated quickly. If the hand is going to play in no-trump you want to become dummy, not declarer. Two diamonds should also be dropped. It always pays to explore major suit possibilities so you should choose one spade as your response.

South made that choice, but after his partner raised him to two spades South suddenly became afraid of the spade suit and went to three diamonds. He explained afterwards that he was afraid that his partner would only hold three spades.

Of course, North could not read that three-diamond bid as

Funeral: Last Chance to Steal Show

Boyle Goes Jumping to Conclusions

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U-P)—Jumping to conclusions:

Many people today complain funerals are barbaric relics of the past, but most of them want just such a funeral for themselves. After all, it is the final sure way to catch the attention of others—and be the center of interest.

Let's handed women are usually more vain than right-handed women—but the most BOYLE

Left-handed woman with one blue eye and one hazel eye. Her vanity doesn't make much sense, but then vanity rarely does.

A bank robber or a barber has to prove his ability in his craft because we all feel competent to judge his skill. But if a man tells us he is a surgeon or a scientist, he gets by on credit. We can't be sure whether he's brilliant or a dolt.

Half the patients in hospitals would recuperate just as fast—and at less expense—if they were put into a good hotel with first-class room service.

WORKS WAY UP

One thing you notice about a man who works his way up from clerk to president of his firm: When he retires, he is rarely succeeded by another clerk.

In the old days when a boy had an apple he ate most of it—but gave the core to his buddy to finish. Kids don't do that much anymore. Is it because they are more sanitary—or more selfish?

fessors of philosophy or economics.

Any waiter will tell you that fat ladies argue less about the food than skinny ladies, and cigar smokers tip better than cigarette smokers.

BECOMES RECONCILED

A man can become reconciled to a wife who constantly changes her opinions, but he can never be quite happy with one who is always changing the color of her hair.

The moon has a powerful effect on the emotions of alcoholic women. When it gets full, they do, too.

Half the guys who fish newspapers out of New York subway bins aren't poor. They're just too cheap to buy their own reading matter.

One of the surest ways to please a wife is to tell her that the expensive new hat her best friend bought looks too silly for words.

DRINK ON JOB

Despite the perils of their work, more ironworkers drink on the job than do office employees.

I always have an urge to stuff a bowl of fried rice in the face of anyone who thinks it clever to use pidgin English when ordering in a Chinese restaurant. They are among the crudest of all bores.

If rabbits were as superstitious as people, they'd still probably have more sense than to rub a human foot for good luck.

Bald-headed bosses hardly ever promote office boys with duck-tailed haircuts who comb them on company time.

MOVIE STARS

Movie stars hate to pay cash in public. Like members of royalty, they feel this tarnishes the glamor of their image. On the other hand, most comedians carry more money in their wallets than do stockbrokers.

There are few more forlorn feelings in life than the one you get when you take your child to an amusement park and find he no longer wants to go for a ride on the merry-go-round.

People at a cocktail party will remember you longer if you have a pimple on your nose than if you merely make witty remarks.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota's Gophers dug the holes and lay in ambush, but Michigan's Wolverines nimbly sidestepped all traps in a second period rush Tuesday night that proved they are on top for good reason.

Saddened Minnesota coach

John Kundia admitted it after his team took a 91-78 licking from the nationally top-ranked Michigan invaders—which may have made the Wolverines Big Ten champions for another year.

"They really are No. 1," Kundia said. "And you can see why they're No. 1."

Minnesota had hoped to repeat last winter's stunner when it gunned the Wolverines down 89-75, but this year even the brilliant marksmanship of Lou Hudson and the make-or-break play of the whole Minnesota team didn't help.

SLOW START

The Wolverines warmed up slowly in the first half. They ended the half at 39-31.

But then class showed. Cazzie Russell's 27 points, George Pomey's 20 and Bill Buntin's decisive rapid-fire rebounding plus precision all-around teamwork, showed who was in charge on the Gopher court.

With six minutes left to the final buzzer, the Wolverines surged ahead 75-63 and then stood their ground and staved off Minnesota's frantic efforts with free throws.

The team from Ann Arbor has only four games to go. Its record is now 18-3 overall and 10-0 in the Big Ten.

Michigan opened a two-game lead over Minnesota and Illinois, tied for second place with 8-2 records. Illinois climbed a notch with its 97-80 triumph over Iowa.

Rounding out Tuesday's action, Wisconsin edged Northwestern 93-87 in overtime.

STILL BREEZE

From here on in the only surprise in the Big Ten will be if Michigan loses a game. It could happen at Illinois Saturday. But even so, Michigan can afford a loss and still breeze to the conference championship and a second straight trip to the NCAA playoffs.

After the Illinois game, Michigan has contests remaining against Wisconsin and Minnesota at Ann Arbor and at Ohio State. All three appear to be simple hurdles for the nation's No. 1 team.

Illinois found Iowa a surprisingly easy mark despite a sluggish start. The Illini, trailing through the early minutes, ganged away to a 47-36 halftime lead and coasted the rest of the way.

Don Freeman paced the Illini with 33 points and Tal Brody added 24. Chris Pervall topped Iowa with 21.

Northwestern and Wisconsin battled on even terms until the overtime period. The score was tied 37-37 at the half and 63-63 after regulation play. The Badgers then outscored the Wildcats 10-4 in the extra period.

Jim Bohlen led Wisconsin with 25 points. Jim Burns topped Northwestern with 23.

In the all-games scoring race, Purdue's Dave Schellhase remained well ahead of Russell Schellhase has a 29.4 average with 588 points in 20 games to 26.3 for Russell with 327 points in 20 games.

Tail East Detroit Five Dumps Northern

Visitors Take 74-60 Verdict Over Huskies

Foul Line Accuracy Sparks ED; Losers Bothered by Fouls

By JERE CRAIG

Pontiac Northern had its chance to complete a sweep through a second league lineup, but instead the Huskies became the final victim in a similar feat by East Detroit's rugged Shamrocks Tuesday.

Strong finishes in each half by the visiting quintet led to a 74-60 triumph that lacked the sharpness and high quality expected from two league champions.

Northern went into the game holding victories over the other three schools in the Eastern Michigan League. East Detroit completed a sweep of all four 1-A foes on its schedule.

The Eastern Michigan League Shamrocks used their foul shooting ability and height to best advantage in offsetting several Northern attempts to overcome an early deficit.

After deadlocks at 4, 6, 8 and 10, East Detroit took a 17-12 edge on the Inter-Lakes quarter. It was 17-16 at the halftime break; but the winners sprinted to a 29-16 margin in the second session.

PNH did not score until four and a half minutes were left. The visitors hit 9 of 9 free throws in the first period and six of eight during the big spurt.

BAD NIGHT
The Huskies fought gamely to offset a bad shooting night, but couldn't get the key basket or two they needed after drawing within striking distance.

The difference was 11 at intermission. East Detroit tallied on 8 of 17 field goal attempts in the third period to thwart Northern's rallies.

The Huskies were down 52-47 on 50 seconds to go in the quarter and had the lead, but they missed and East Detroit's Glen Bradt put in a layup just before the buzzer that pushed the scoreboard reading to 55-47.

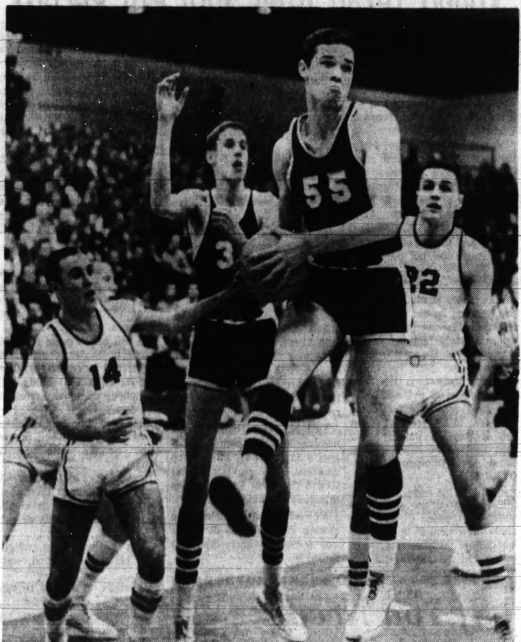

The winners' height enabled them to retrieve key rebounds throughout the closing half although Northern managed to have the edge over-all for the game. PNH couldn't get closer than seven points in the last period.

COOL SOPH

A cool sophomore making his second varsity appearance, George O'Hara, sparked the Shamrocks' attack with 16 points and played a good floor game even during the scrambling in the closing minutes.

Northern, also, outshot the winners in total attempts, 67-41, but hit a cold 20 per cent. Although pulling down 19 rebounds, PNH's Roger Hayward hit only five of 20 field goal attempts.

SPORTS

SHAMROCKS HAVE CONTROL — East Detroit's Ron Binge comes down with this first half rebound in a game against Pontiac Northern last night on the PNH floor. At left are Northern's Roger Hayward and John Bailey (14). Behind Binge is 6-8 center Doug Hess. Dave Salsbury of PNH moves in at right. The Shamrocks' downed Northern, 74-60.

October Miscue Costly for Tiger Ace

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — October 1 will always have a special meaning for Dave Wickershams.

For it was on October 1, 1964 that the 6-foot-4 Detroit Tigers pitcher was ejected from a ball game — for the first time in his career.

But more important, the ejection while the Tigers were trailing in the game with New York meant Wickershams could not win 20 games.

The Tigers went on to defeat the Yankees in the game, and that hurt him even more.

"It all happened because I really didn't know the rules," Wickershams explained recently.

TWO ERRORS

It was in the New York half of the seventh inning, Wickershams explained, and a couple of errors had put Yankee runners in scoring position.

On the play which put the Yankees ahead, 2-1, Norm Cash fielded a tricky ground ball near first, raced the runner to the bag and thought he had him out. But umpire Bill Valentine called the runner safe and Cash started to argue.

Mel Stottlemyre, the Yankee pitcher, went to third on the play and looked like he wanted to try to score while Cash and Valentine continued to argue, Wickershams said.

"I called time out three times," he continued. "But I'm sure Valentine didn't hear me."

AUTOMATIC OUSTER

Finally, I went up and tapped him on the shoulder and he threw me out of the game. I knew you could get in trouble for hitting an umpire when you are arguing with him, but I didn't know just touching him meant ejection, too," Wickershams explained.

But the big right-hander, who won 19 games for the Tigers, was not fined, and did not leave from the league office.

Walled Lake Tops WBHS; Eagles Lose

Dondero Upsets ROK

by 47-43; Imlay City, Romeo Triumph

Walled Lake's 66-57 decision over West Bloomfield headlined a list of high school non-league contests played last night.

Several of the tilts were return meetings and in almost all cases, the first winner prevailed in the rematch.

In something of a surprise, Royal Oak Dondero made it two-for-two against arch-rival Kimball this season with a slow-down 47-43 overtime victory.

Wyandotte Mt. Carmel took its second straight over Orchard Lake St. Mary, 64-58; Romeo repeated against Chippewa Valley, 78-63, in a make-up match; and North Branch avenged an earlier loss by trimming Oxford, 83-74.

A first-time clash found Imlay City upending New Haven, 50-44. The Walled Lake-Lakers tilt was also a one-test affair.

VIKINGS ROLL

The Vikings, down 12-10 after the first quarter, poured in 22 points in the second stanza to take a 32-17 lead at halftime and broke the game open with 23 points in the third period.

Matt Planck paced Walled Lake with 15 points, 12 of them coming in the second quarter. Tim Moller poured in 21 for the Lakers.

Dondero took a 3-0 lead early and began playing ultra-conservatively. This worked until Kimball went ahead in the closing minutes, but Doug Goullett tied it for Dondero's Oaks with a layup.

A last shot by the home team failed. Goullett and Rich Hirsch then each canned layups in the overtime to gain the win. The Oaks won by six in the earlier meeting.

A string of 10 points in a row gave Orchard Lake St. Mary a 39-35 lead at Wyandotte, but Mt. Carmel then spurted in front 45-30 and never trailed again. Despite Connie Krolewski's season high of 20 points, OLSM lost its third straight tilt.

Ortonville 5 Wins; Shares 2nd in Loop

Ortonville, Brandon's Blackhawks clawed Flint Hamady, 77-73, Tuesday night to the Byron for second place in the Suburban C league.

They were aided by Hartland which upset Byron, 63-50, in overtime. Mel McDowell's second straight 30-point game sped the Blackhawks to victory over Hamady.

The flashy backliner hit 14 points in the last quarter to dissolve several ties, the last at 36-36, and boost the Ortonville quintet to its eighth league win in 13 starts.

Joe Slaughter added seven in the winning quarter and had 11 for the game. Jim Munsil contributed 12 to the visitors' cause. Flint was paced by Tim Burtrum's 16.

Packer Unit Rolls in Recreation Play

A 27-point scoring effort by Darrell Lovell paced the Packers to a 78-67 victory over Ben Powell Trucking in Pontiac recreation basketball last night.

William Sekulich stepped in 15 in assisting Lovell with the scoring. Hitting for the losers were Jack McCall (16), Ken Miskin (21), Harold Weston (12) and Jerry Powell (10).

A pair of Wilkes sparked Messiah Baptist Church to a 74-73 verdict over Booth Builders.

Willie Harster collected 22 points and Willie Ratliff pushed in 21. Teammate Sammy Cused added 20. William Allen topped the losers with 19.

In other games, J.R. Neph heating downed the All Stars, 61-58, and Culoos Insurance turned in a 77-53 victory over the Hawks.

Providence, Duke Suffer Cage Losses

By the Associated Press

The bomb never went off, but you can't convince Providence it wasn't a victim of fallout.

The fourth-ranked Friars fell from their spot as the nation's only unbeaten major team Tuesday night, losing 71-57 to Villanova after winning 19 games.

The fallout, in fact, reached as far as College Park, Md., about 100 miles away, where Maryland edged fifth-ranked Duke 65-62.

Providence, whose last previous loss was to Villanova in last season's NCAA playoffs, met the Wildcats on their home floor in the Philadelphia suburb of Villanova.

EMPTIED STANDS

That's about 15 miles from the Palestra, where only last Saturday night a bomb threat emptied the stands and delayed the St. Joseph's Villanova game for 25 minutes. No bomb was found, the teams returned for the second half and St. Joseph's won.

Moving to their own gym, the Wildcats exploded Providence's hopes for its first undefeated season. Villanova saw a seven-point lead late in the first half dwindle to one at intermission but then erupted in the second half for the triumph.

The scoring of Bill Melchionni and Jim Washington opened up the Wildcats' margin late in the contest. Each finished with 21 points while Washington also snared 17 rebounds.

Duke, now 18-3, had won 10 straight games and hadn't lost to Maryland in five years before the hustling Terrans started to work. They grabbed a 46-28 halftime lead, but the Blue Devils rallied behind a full-court press and sliced their deficit to 72-69. That was as close as they could get, however.

RESIGNS — Ed Jucker (above), who coached the University of Cincinnati basketball team to NCAA championships in 1961 and 1962, resigned today for health and family reasons. He will be replaced by Ray Baker who has been Jucker's assistant since 1960.

Young Texan After Shot Put Record

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Randy Matson, the young Texas A&M giant, threw the shot 66 feet, 10 inches this week to signal the start of his drive toward the outdoor world's record.

Matson already has established the indoor record of 66 feet, 2 1/4 inches and now he's after Dallas Long's outdoor standard of 67-10. He will be in his first meet of the season Saturday when the Aggies host Baylor and the massive sophomore might just get the record then.

He reaches this high plateau at such a young age?

Hard work, dedication and singleness of intent are the answers — he wants to be the greatest weightman the track world has ever known. He also throws the discus and expects to hit 200 feet this year.

His training routine is something to make a fellow tired just to read it.

Monday he starts out by doing various calisthenics, running and easy tosses of the shot to loosen up. Then he throws six to 15 times, depending on how he is doing.

This is followed by wind sprints of 50 to 60 yards eight or 10 times. Next he runs up the stadium seats five or six times at full speed to strengthen his knees. Then he takes 20 turns in the discus ring.

Lapeer '5' Nips Davison on Late Goal, 74-73

Bob McKenna's jump shot with 31 seconds to play brought Lapeer a thrilling comeback from behind 74-73 victory over Davison last night. The Tri-County League Panthers pushed their record to 10-3 with the triumph.

Tied 34-34 at halftime, the non-league contest swung to Lapeer's favor, 58-51, after three quarters, but Davison (3-12) took a five-point lead with two minutes remaining.

McKenna, who sparked the closing rally, scored 23 points and teammate Larry McNally tallied 20.

Tuesday and Thursdays, and sometimes on Sundays, Matson works on weights to increase his strength. Each session is about two hours.

He will bench press from 200 pounds up to 340, doing all he can at the latter weight. Then he does eight full squats with 400 pounds on a bar across his shoulders.

Then he will lie on an inclined board and do dumbbell presses with weights totaling 120 pounds.

Next he does half squats with varied weights and then about 10 minutes of wrist developing exercise with 50 pounds weights.

Then he will hoist weights over his shoulder and squat jump.

He winds up with 50 twisting sit-ups.

On Wednesday Matson repeats his Monday routine.

Friday is a day of rest and Saturday is the day of competition.

Audrey Hepburn Ignored

'Mary Poppins' Tops Oscar Nominees

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Nominations for the 37th annual Academy Awards — led by "Mary Poppins" and its star Julie Andrews — present a paradox this year: an actress who didn't get named is causing more talk than those who did. "Mary Poppins" got 13 nominations, including Julie's as best actress. "My Fair Lady" and "Becket" followed, with 12 each. But Audrey Hepburn, who rated critical raves in "My Fair Lady," was ignored entirely by academy members Tuesday. Even though "Mary Poppins" is her first movie, Julie too knows how it feels to be shunned. She created "My Fair Lady" on Broadway, yet she wasn't in the running for the movie version. Other nominees for best actress were Kim Stanley, "Seven on a Wet Afternoon"; Sophia Loren, "Marriage Italian Style"; Debbie Reynolds, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown"; and Anne Bancroft, "The Pumpkin Eater".

'AN INJUSTICE' Many film folk feel Miss Hepburn's omission was an injustice, but their explanations vary. Some say academy voting members resented the Warner Bros. decision in passing up Miss Andrews for the role of Eliza Doolittle. Some note that Miss Hepburn keeps herself aloof from the press while making a picture, whereas Julie is just the opposite. Others blame the fact that Miss Hepburn didn't do her own singing in

Director Likes New Faces

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Howard Hawks is an old-style movie-maker, a director who hand-fashions his product with precision and care. In today's quick-buck movie world, that makes him old-style, but he is anything but old-fashioned. You have only to visit the set of his latest film, "Red Line 7000," to recognize that. When I dropped by, it was alive with young people reacting to the raucous music of a discotheque.

None of the principal performers in "Red Line 7000" was recognizable, and that is how Hawks has planned it.

At 65 he remains an earnest man, a tall, spare figure who roams the set inflicting his workers with enthusiasm. He paused to explain why he is making the auto-racing film with newcomers. "Once I asked a studio boss why he was hiring me," he remarked. "I was told: 'Well, we made a picture with John Wayne that didn't get back the cost of the negative and advertising. You made one with Wayne and I understand you cleared $2 million yourself.'"

So Hawks decided to return to a stunt he has used in the past: making a film without names. He did it before with "Scarface," which made stars of Paul Muni and George Raft; with "Air Force" — "John Garfield wanted to be in it, and I made him play a featured role"; and "The Thing" (unknown James Arness played the title role).

"Red Line 7000" concerns an old passion of Hawks'; he raced a Mercer from 1912 to 1916, once owned a car that won the Indianapolis race, and has two sons who drive in competition. Because of the nature of the subject, he didn't want to cast Hollywood's existing stars.

"In the first place, none of the young female stars are good enough actresses," he explained. "As for the male roles, the race drivers today are real men. I couldn't have some namby-pamby playing the roles."

Hawks, who has long favored the angular, fashion-model type, remained true to form. His choices for the race-car followers: model Gail Hire, television actress Laura Devon, stage-trained Marianna Hill. The men behind the wheels are James Ward, James Caan and John Robert Crawford.

Still Ducats for 'Salute'

Tickets are still available for the "Salute to Gov. Romney" Fisher Theater party March 10. Ernest A. Jones, chairman of the Oakland County Republican-sponsored show, announced today. The production will be the world premiere of Frank Loesser's musical comedy "Pleasures and Palaces." Loesser is the author of "Guys and Dolls," "Most Happy Felicia," and "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

Jones said good seats still remain in the $25 and $10 categories, and reservations can be made by writing the Republican Party of Oakland County, 245 S. Woodward, Birmingham.

United Front Urged in Wide Track Feud

Pontiac should present a united front when negotiations are reopened with the State Highway Department on Wide Track Drive.

This was the proposal last night of Commissioner John A. Dugan, who said he agreed that the state "held the whip" in the matter.

The District 5 commissioner proposed that a meeting be called with the Downtown Pontiac Business Association, the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, The Press and radio.

Work Begins on Golf Links

New Course Will Be Ready This Summer

Development of a new 18-hole public golf course has begun on a 300-acre site at the intersection of I-75 and Holly Road, in Springfield Township, Edwin Gage, Pontiac area real estate developer, announced today.

The new course, to be known as Holly Greens Golf Course, will be of the latest design with extended tees up to 160 feet long.

It will be possible to vary the length of the course from 5,800 to 7,100 yards by changing the markers according to Gage.

The golf course will cover about half of the site. The development may ultimately be expanded into a $10-million recreation center concept, according to Gage.

LONG-RANGE PLANS
Long-range plans call for the addition of apartments, a hotel, motel, tennis courts and a swimming pool.

Completion of the course will clubhouse is planned for late this summer, Gage said. The course was planned by architect Robert Bruce Harris of Chicago, who has designed more than 400 golf courses.

Five small lakes fed from a well on the property will provide the water hazards. The million-gallon-capacity well will also keep the tees, greens and fairways in top condition, Gage pointed out.

George Oberer of Dayton, Ohio, has joined with Gage in developing the project.

Gage, of 345 Berwyn, Birmingham, has offices at 500 W. Washington, Royal Oak, but plans on moving his headquarters to Pontiac soon to be closer to his interests in the area.

He is also one of the promoters of the Tel-Huron Shopping Center which is being expanded this year.

The new golf club is located at the southeast corner with access from I-75 at the Holly Road turnoff.

County Names 7 for Board of Institutions

Newly Formed Group to Centralize Control of Medical Facilities

A seven-member board of institutions, responsible for the administration of all county-operated medical facilities, was created yesterday by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Elected to three-year terms by unanimous ballot were John A. Macdonald, chairman of the social welfare board, and Walter M. Kuhn, a member of the TB Sanatorium board of trustees.

Mrs. Cyril B. Lewis, secretary of the TB Sanatorium board of trustees, and Mrs. John D. Ramsey, state-appointed member of the social welfare board, were elected to two-year terms.

Elected to one-year terms by unanimous ballot were Maurice J. Croteau, member of the social welfare board; Charles B. Edwards Jr., Madison Heights supervisor, and Thomas H. O'Donoghue, Ferndale supervisor.

The board of institutions was created to satisfy legal requirements for transferring patients from the County TB Sanatorium to the County Medical Center Facility at the Service Center.

BUILDING SOLD
The TB Sanatorium has been sold to Oakland Community College.

The transfer is to be made about April 1, when college officials plan to start remodeling the sanatorium to prepare for the enrollment of some 2,800 students next fall.

The State Health Department has approved the transfer, subject to creation of the new administrative body and extensive remodeling of the Medical Center Facility to make it suitable for contagious patients.

Some 75 patients will be transferred from the Medical Center Facility to private nursing homes in the county to make room for the incoming tubercular patients.

OUTSIDE COUNTY
A few TB patients may have to be relocated in facilities outside Oakland County, according to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

France, Russia Agree on Talks

PARIS (AP) — France has agreed to cooperate with the Soviet Union in pressing for an international conference to negotiate a settlement of the Viet Nam conflict, Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte said today.

Peyrefitte said the question had been discussed at the weekly Cabinet meeting this morning.

Sergei Vinogradov, Soviet ambassador to France, called at the Elysee Palace for a 20-minute discussion yesterday with President Charles de Gaulle.

Peyrefitte said that during the talks, Vinogradov proposed that the two governments work together to reestablish peace in Southeast Asia through an international conference.

De Gaulle was reported to have told Vinogradov that "we are in favor of this goal."

LEFT MEMORANDUM
In addition to his oral presentation to De Gaulle, Vinogradov left a memorandum of the Soviet views.

A Soviet spokesman said Vinogradov told de Gaulle the Kremlin was deeply worried by the U.S. attacks in North Viet Nam.

Peyrefitte said that France's position would be spelled out more specifically in the near future in a diplomatic note to the Soviet Union.

France is on record as favoring a neutralization of the four countries on the Indochinese peninsula — North Viet Nam, South Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos.

As the former colonial ruler of Indochina, France feels that it has special knowledge of the area, and some influence with the people.

Although nothing was said about the nations which might attend a conference on the Vietnamese fighting, de Gaulle frequently has said that Red China must be consulted on any problems in that area.

Red China took part in the 1954 Indochinese conference at Geneva, which resulted in French withdrawal from the area and the partition of Viet Nam.

The United States refused to sign the 1954 Geneva agreement.

Report Several Strikes Made in Past Six Days

Aimed at Providing Maximum Aid to Halt Aggression by Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The United States has unleashed jet planes for the first time against the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam, a U.S. Embassy spokesman announced today. They have made several strikes in the last six days.

B57 medium bombers and F100 fighter-bombers, with Americans manning both flight controls and the weapons, joined the air war previously carried on by armed helicopters and propeller-driven planes handled jointly by Americans and Vietnamese.

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Ambassadors of Communist China and the United States met today in a session that diplomats here said could influence the crisis in South-east Asia.

The spokesman said the decision was "in keeping with the announced United States policy of providing maximum assistance to the government of South Viet Nam in its efforts to repel the Communist aggression directed and supported by the Hanoi regime."

The first strike was made last Thursday against Red guerrillas holding a mountain pass near An Khe in the central highlands.

Battles between powerful Viet Cong units and government outposts continued sweeping across mountainous Binh Dinh Province today, with a rapidly rising casualty toll.

IN HUNDREDS
In the past three days of fighting in that northern province, the Americans alone have lost two killed and nine wounded. Vietnamese casualties on both sides are estimated in the hundreds.

Most of the fighting is in steep valleys where roads furnish the main communications routes for government forces.

Many U.S. officials feel the action in Binh Dinh and the neighboring provinces of Phu Yen and Quang Ngai has entered a phase the Communists describe as "mobile warfare" — the use of large Communist units in patterns somewhere between guerrilla and conventional warfare.

This type of fighting characterized the final phase of fighting between France and the Communists in the Indochina war, which the Communists won.

ROUTED CONG
A report from Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, said a Vietnamese government force routed a Viet Cong unit five miles south of the Da Nang base runway.

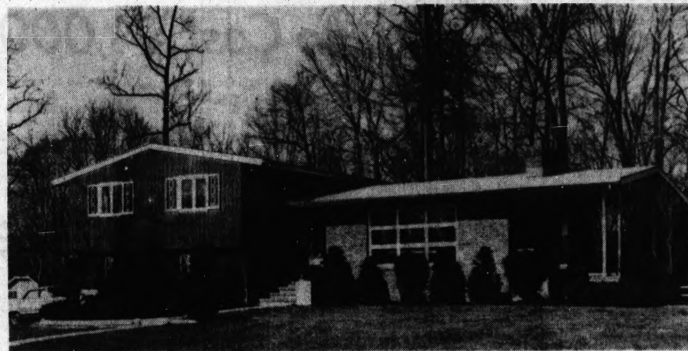

The report said five Viet Cong were killed and 11 captured.

The clash occurred at Yen Ne Nam along a river where the Viet Cong are digging trenches and building fortifications as part of an apparent effort to close in on the base.

Another report from Da Nang said 15 elephants sighted in the area are believed to be part of a wild herd.

SPECULATION
There had been speculation that the elephants were being used by the guerrillas to move supplies and equipment.

A military spokesman said 350 Viet Cong were killed in (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

TEEN GAMBLING CASINO — This is the $40,000 private home in Haworth, N.J., that teens operated as a gambling casino for teen-age clientele. The gaming room, in the basement of the home, was patterned after dice rooms in Puerto Rico, police said.

Snake-Eyes in the Suburbs

Teens Rocked, Rolled (Dice)

HAWORTH, N.J. (UPI) — It appeared to be just another home in a well-to-do neighborhood, but hundreds of dollars changed hands in the basement where teen-agers had crowded behind gambling tables in a Las Vegas atmosphere.

Police Chief Gaston Michel disclosed yesterday that his men had broken up the plush gambling casino, operated by three teen-agers and catering to a teen-age clientele. An anonymous tip, apparently from the parent of a youth who fell too far into debt, led police to stake out the home on Feb. 10.

There was nothing suspicious about the brick and frame slate gray house — a $40,000 split-level home with a spacious lawn.

Michel said the casino operated one night a week under strict security measures. Two cars of 1952 vintage were used to pick up the young clients and bring them to the home.

The driver stopped the car at the garage door and honked the horn twice, Michel said. Someone in the house then pushed a button to open the doors.

Inside, the players identified themselves over an intercom system before they were admitted. Then the car backed out and went to pick up other customers.

ATMOSPHERE
Red and blue spotlights illuminated the gambling room. A croupier in black tie greeted the players and led them to a three-section dice table covered with pink felt. Michel said the table was marked with lines and betting odds in a professional manner.

More than 50 boys gambled in the casino while their parents "thought they were out skating or sledding," the chief said. They ranged in age from 15 to 17. One was up to $300 and another was in debt for $182.

"I was shocked," Michel said when he announced that the gambling operation had been smashed.

Muslim Parley Worries Police

Chicago Security Is Upged After Threats

CHICAGO (AP) — Police, alarmed by telephoned threats on the life of Black Muslim leader Elijah Muhammad, stepped up security plans today for the sect's convention in Chicago this weekend.

The calls to police came within a few hours of each other yesterday. The first warned: "We have arrived. Muhammad will have a lively convention."

The second caller, who identified himself as John Henderson, said 100 men were coming to Chicago from New York to kill Muhammad.

The caller also told police a bomb had been planted in the Coliseum, site of the convention which is expected to attract 6,000 Black Muslims.

Police said the caller indicated the bomb was timed to explode Friday or Saturday when Muhammad is scheduled to address the convention.

HARASS NY POLICE
Telephoned bomb threats also harassed New York police and reinforcements were ordered into Harlem in an attempt to prevent further violence. Early yesterday an explosion and fire, believed to have been set by avengers of Malcolm X, wrecked a four-story Muslim mosque. No one was injured.

Tension mounted later when the funeral parlor housing the body of Malcolm X, the former Black Muslim leader who was assassinated Sunday in New York, was the victim of a false bomb threat. The body went on display a few hours later.

Police reported little progress in their investigation of Malcolm's slaying. Officials complained there was a barrier of silence among Malcolm's followers, members of the organization for the Afro-American unity, Malcolm was suspended from the Black Muslims 14 months ago.

2nd Half of Comedy Duo Succumbs to Heart Attack

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Stan Laurel, the little, rubber-faced partner of the late, 300-pound Oliver Hardy in the movies' most successful comedy team, is dead of a heart attack at 74.

Victim of a stroke in 1955 and of diabetes in later years, he suffered the fatal seizure yesterday in his bluff-top apartment overlooking the ocean. His fourth wife, Ida, was at his side.

Laurel and Hardy starred in 300 films, mostly two- and three-reelers, and made a millions laugh.

Babe Hardy used to say Laurel was the brains of the pair. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Johnson, in a similar vein, has declined to get specific about settlement terms in the absence of any real and promising negotiations. ## Polly's Pointers

Try Indoor Volleyball

DEAR POLLY — My children, ages 4, 5 and 7, became restless when they had to stay in the house for several days because of colds.

I put my adjustable ironing board down to its lowest position in the living room. They had great fun playing volleyball across the board with a big balloon.

The balloon could not break anything and they were careful about the way they threw their arms out to reach the ball.

DEAR POLLY — Venetian blinds on a door have a way of hanging against the wood of the door when it is opened or shut. This often mars the paint finish.

I tacked a Venetian blind cord onto the woodwork along both sides of the door so the blind would hit the cord instead of the wood. This really eliminates the noise, too. — RITA

DEAR POLLY — When shopping in a crowded supermarket, it is so easy to put items in someone else's cart.

I made a bright ribbon tag with my initials on it and attached a string. I tie this to the cart I am filling and it saves many mistakes.

While I am at the checkout counter the tag is removed and put in my purse to be ready for the next shopping trip. — MRS. G. B.

DEAR POLLY — I clean something from the column every day so I do hope the girls keep those Pointers coming. Perhaps my invention, a "pat-tern caddy," will help those who sew.

Cut the tops off of several cereal boxes from two top corners diagonally down to the middle of the opposite side. Stand these boxes in a row and glue together.

Paint the boxes and decorate with pictures of spoons and other sewing accessories. Label the front of each section with the type of pattern in that compartment — skirts, dresses, blouses, baby clothes, etc.

They are neat and easy to reach when needed. — RUTH

DEAR POLLY — When the weather is bad, I slip my note for the milkman in an empty bottle, as usual, and then cover, bottle and all with a plastic bag and it is dry when he arrives. — MRS. R. F. E.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. Ashby of Hazelton Avenue, Avon Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Martell to James E. Periso, son of the Ernest R. Perisos of Auburn Heights. May 22 has been selected for vows.

Counters Prospect of Lower Defense Spending

Nongovernment Business Growing in Aircraft-Aerospace Field

(Editor's Note — With fewer defense contracts, the leaders of the nation's aircraft-aerospace industry look to the development of new commercial planes and new frontiers of science to keep the industry busy in the years ahead. AP business news writer Roger Lane reports on talks with industry leaders in the following story, second in a four-part series.)

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer
LOS ANGELES — "Assuming progressively lower national defense budgets, the aerospace industry at best will remain stable, quite possibly decline," said Dudley Browne, group vice president of Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

corridor, Africa, the Middle East, China and in South America. It is hard to foresee what today's assumptions may look like tomorrow."

Browne noted the industry also is nourished by important commercial demand, and stands on frontiers of science and invention that conceivably could lead to big-scale exploitation of the oceans and electronics applications.

His view typifies industry reaction to recurrent talk of a major shrinkage in the offing for the nation's $1.1-billion man, $20-billion a year aircraft-aerospace complex.

WORK CUTBACK

A management consultants firm foresaw recently a 15 per cent cutback in government work by 1970, and one estimate

envisioned a 25 per cent cutback. Relaxed international tensions and a downward drift in arms spending were cited.

Uncle Sam is the industry's No. 1 customer, accounting for about 85 per cent of revenues, but nongovernment business is growing.

Head men at the Boeing Co. and Douglas Aircraft Co., ranking one-two as commercial plane builders, in interviews begged off prophecy on future defense spending. They stressed expanding horizons of civil passenger and cargo flight.

Boeing's order backlog is over 60 per cent commercial, Douglas' about 45 per cent commercial.

QUITE BULLISH

"We're quite bullish," said Donald W. Douglas Jr. As president of Douglas he directs a company on the rebound from a severe wrenching that has left employment and sales at roughly one half the levels of the mid-1950s.

In a major gamble, Douglas has just entered a DC9 short-to-intermediate-range jet airliner in competition for a market estimated at up to $2 billion and 1,000 planes over 10 years.

The $3-million 56- to 90-passenger craft would be mostly for feeder airlines. The British Aircraft Corp. already is selling a plane for this service, and Boeing probably will bring out a model for the same market.

Of gloomy forecasts for the industry, a Boeing official observed that the company was founded in 1916, and added:

"If at any time in the past 50 years you had asked 'what will you be making five years from now?' the answer would have to have been, based on programs in progress, 'Of course, we'll be broke.'"

VISIONARY PROGRAMS

Underscoring the same point, Browne enumerated seven major programs Lockheed is seeking totaling possibly $12 billion in future business, mostly in areas a layman would regard as visionary.

Included were a 2,000-mile-

an-hour commercial airliner, two military transport-cargo craft, an armed helicopter, an intercontinental missile, a space laboratory, and a rocket.

Despite a fat current backlog of business, Lockheed was backing up its bids with huge money and manpower investments, knowing much of the spending would avail nothing in gambles that at best would land two or three sizable jackpots of business — or maybe none.

Browne said that over three years Lockheed had laid out $75 million of its own funds, beyond receipts from government study contracts, to position itself to compete for business now in hand or soon to be awarded.

SUPERTRANSPORT

The company in the last three years has had an average of 300 engineers and designers working on its concept of a supersonic transport, the plane intended to cut transatlantic travel to 2½ hours in the 1970s.

The sales potential is thought by some to amount to at least 200 planes at $40 million apiece.

Since early 1963, Lockheed has kept up to 700 engineers and technicians toiling on a military transport

The craft, capable of carrying 600 armed troops or 120 tons of cargo at 600 miles an hour, could bring $750 million or more in development contracts and production orders in the $1-billion to $2-billion range.

SIMILAR WORK

Boeing is working just as feverishly and at similar cost to land both contracts. Also zeroing in on the military plane is Douglas, which has teamed in its bid with North American Aviation and Martin-Marietta Corp.

Fierce hunger of all three competitors for the military plane program is whetted by suggestions that after military needs are met a commercial adaptation — either for passengers, cargo or a combination of the two — might offer lucrative possibilities in the 1970s.

Boeing's worldwide dominance in jet airliners is traced by many observers to trailblazing contracts for a direct military ancestor, the jet tanker-transport, Boeing made 820 of them over a decade.

In the intensifying military craft rivalry, Boeing is trying to play down its mounting prosperity, Douglas to capitalize the "poor relation" status from which it is emerging and Lockheed a kind of share-the-wealth appeal.

Ulbricht's 1st Visit to Non-Red Nation

BERLIN (AP) — On his trip to Egypt, Walter Ulbricht is taking his first state visit to a non-Communist country.

The stocky leader of East Germany's Communist party can consider President Gamal Abdel Nasser's invitation a personal victory.

In the past, even the most left-leaning neutral countries have held back from associating too closely with one of the Kremlin's most accomplished helpers.

The fact that these and other nations have refused to grant full recognition to his regime has been irking Ulbricht, especially since he must constantly find ways with which he can improve his own image and stature within the Communist community.

CONSTANT SCHEMES

He has constantly schemed and pushed toward being recognized, seemingly disregarding the obstacles placed in his paths

by the West, chiefly the West German government which maintains it has the only legal right to speak for the entire German nation.

Scheming and perseverance are among Ulbricht's main personal assets.

"Look into his eyes and you will see how scheming and dishonest he is," said Germany's most famous woman Communist, the late Clara Zetkin, about Ulbricht back in the 1920s. Ulbricht had just finished his first ax job for Joseph Stalin by chopping up Germany's big, independent Communist party into small cells easily controlled by the Kremlin.

ALWAYS SURVIVES

Since then, his uncanny ability to follow and survive every nuance in the Kremlin line had made him one of Moscow's most valuable functionaries.

Born in Leipzig, he joined the Socialists at 19 and became a union organizer.

Later in Berlin, he joined Rosa Luxemburg and Karl Liebknecht in forming the Spartacus Society that became the German Communist party in 1920.

With the passage of time and the cutting down of numerous comrades, he became the Kremlin's man.

He is married for the second time and has a daughter.
