

Pontiac Man Sels Seventh Trip to Alaska

A Pontiac man has announced his seventh annual trip to Alaska for young boys.

Edward J. Kuhn, 2295 N. Lake Angelus, annually supervises a trek to Alaska by a group of boys. The Hazel Park school teacher will leave July 11 this year on the three-week journey.

The trip will cost $585 for boys 12 years and over. Kuhn stipulated $8,800 times.

ed that an "On-to-Alaska" boy must earn one-third of the costs. Kuhn said reservations must be made in advance.

The trips carry on a tradition set by George E. Buchanan, a Detroit lumber and coal dealer, who took 500 boys to Alaska from 1923 to 1939.

Editor's Wife Succumbs

NAHANT, Mass. (UPI) — Mrs. Mattie H. Morgan, 93, widow of late former Boston Globe Editor James Morgan, died yesterday.

Morgan died in 1935 at the age of 93.

Triplet births occur only once in 8,000 times.

Will Start to Work Installing Gas Line

DETROIT — Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. said yesterday it will begin construction June 1 of a 90-mile natural gas transmission line to serve eight northwestern Michigan communities.

The transmission line, plus distribution system in the eight towns to be served, will cost approximately $1.3 million, the company said.

The line is scheduled to be finished by Aug. 1 and service is slated to begin Sept. 1.

Pick Successor as Moderator for Church Confab

EAST LANSING — An Owasco clergyman was elected moderator of the 121st annual meeting of the Michigan Congregational Christian Conference at East Lansing yesterday.

Rev. Helly B. Oliver of the First Congregational Church of Owasco was named to succeed Rev. Charles W. Scheid of South Church, Grand Rapids.

Rev. William Simon, pastor of St. John's Church in Waydottie, was elected moderator of the 25th annual meeting at Lansing of the Michigan-Indiana synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Mrs. Louis Vogel of Bethel Church, Manchester, was named voice moderator.

LONDON (UPI) — Mrs. Hugh Galskell, widow of the former Laborite leader, now is a newspaperwoman. Her first assignment as reporter and writer for the London Daily Herald was to cover a Conservative party women's conference.

Congress Told Pesticides Pose Threat for Man

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall told Congress yesterday that pesticides are threatening both nature and man.

Udall asked a Senate subcommittee for more research funds to investigate their harmful effects.

Organic pesticides such as DDT kill many kinds of living matter beyond what they are designed to do, he said.

Udall said residue from the chemicals had been found in game birds, tuna fish and other animals, and may affect human beings.

Crooner's Son Draws Fine

BEVERLY HILLS (UPI) — Dennis Crosby, 28, son of crooner Bing Crosby, was convicted of drunken driving last month and paid a $275 fine, court records showed today.

Although originally scheduled for trial yesterday, the case came into court without public notice on April 25. Judge Charles J. Griffin decided the case on the basis of an arrest report.

Crosby was arrested last Dec. 27 after his sports car was seen weaving through traffic in West Hollywood.

Leonard Good Choice to Head Liquor Board

The selection of DONALD S. LEONARD as chairman of the State Liquor Control Commission—by Gov. GEORGE ROMNEY was a wise choice.

Fortunately, Michigan has not been plagued with scandals involving liquor board members like those in New York or a few other states.

But as a guard against any such hanky-panky, the vast experience that LEONARD will bring to the board should prove invaluable.

LEONARD, who came up through the ranks of the state police to eventual head that body, is well versed in law enforcement activities of Michigan.

Supervising the issuance of alcohol beverage licenses and the administration of liquor laws is an extremely important facet of our state government.

We feel that LEONARD's fairness and direct, honest approach will greatly enhance the State's Liquor Control Commission.

Unsuccessful NY Mets Popular With Ball Fans

CASEY STENGEL and his New York Mets have given a reverse twist to the old saw, "Nobody loves a loser."

At a time when National League attendance is trailing 1962 by more than 200,000, the Gotham aggregation has drawn 85,000 more to the Polo Grounds than it had a year ago.

Earning the title as the most unsuccessful team on the diamond in modern major league competition, the Mets, in their second season, are leading both leagues in average attendance.

The successors to the once-idolized New York Giants seem to have come up with a telling answer to the oft-heard sports platitude, "Whadaya gotta do to win?"

Their answer: "Lose."

Nation's FBI Director Has Served U.S. Well

We congratulate J. EDGAR HOOVER as he enters his 40th year as director of the FBI.

It seems unbelievable that four decades have passed since this symbol of national law and order was picked by Atty. Gen. HARLAN STONE to take over a department that had been rocked by scandal and become a dumping ground for political favoritism.

Under the new head, almost overnight it became a model of governmental integrity and effectiveness. And that noteworthy stamp of quality has remained unblurred with the passing of years.

Although it would be foolish to say that Hoover has not had opposition at times nor been the object of attack, the infrequency of such manifestations and the source of origin have merely served to enlarge the stature of the dedicated American.

As he heads toward a half century of crime busting, he has voiced pertinent thoughts about the activities of his bureau and about crime in the United States.

He noted that the sphere of the FBI has been widened with the years, as Congress passed bills in consonance with changing times and ways of life.

With a series of recent laws that Congress passed to help combat organized crime and racketeering, the investigative matters over which the FBI now has jurisdiction is increased to 170.

But Hoover gravely points out that crime has been increasing in the United States at a serious rate.

It was up 7 per cent last year over 1961. From 1950 through 1962 major crimes in the United States rose 114 per cent.

As dire as is the record, we think it would have been much worse without the combative achievements of the intrepid boss of the FBI and his force of proficient agents.

Our best wishes go to him for a long continuation of his reign as the top "cop" of America, and very likely of the world.

Wallace Probably Won't Have Way

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace wants it both ways. He's not likely to have it either way.

He has denounced federal courts as "irresponsible" and "lousy." But he is calling on a federal court — the Supreme Court — to help him.

He says he will defy a lower court order, which he doesn't like, but is asking the Supreme Court to give him a ruling he would like.

In defying federal court he says his resistance is "legal" but he hasn't cited any law to justify it.

If Alabama's tried this locally-defying their own state court orders which they didn't like and asking other state courts for orders they wanted — Wallace would have his hands full keeping peace.

Alabama is the only state in the union with no desegregation in its public school system. The 43-year-old Wallace, who took office this year, vowed during his campaign: "Segregation forever."

On Tuesday, Federal District Judge H. H. Grooms told the University of Alabama it must admit two Negroes June 10. The Board of Trustees agreed to this. Not Wallace. He said he would defy the court order.

PRESENT TO PREVENT

"I will be present," he said, "to bar the entrance of any Negro who attempts to enroll at the University of Alabama. This is legal resistance and legal defiance."

He didn't cite any law to show his resistance would be legal. He said he is invoking state sovereignty. That is not mean anything in this case.

The Supreme Court in 1954 made desegregation of public schools the law of the land. In such a case national law stands above state law, as has been demonstrated in one state after another.

For example

At his news conference Wednesday President Kennedy was asked if he planned to use marshals or troops to back up the district court order if Wallace defies it by trying to keep the Negroes out of the school. Kennedy said:

"The courts have made a final judgment on the matter. I am also obliged to the court order. That is part of our constitutional system. There is no choice in the matter. Laws which we do not like must be carried out, and laws which we like."

Wallace, knowing Kennedy would use troops if he had to, is trying to forestall the use of troops both at the university and also possibly at Birmingham. So he has gone to the Supreme Court for help. This has a strange twist of its own.

TROOP MOVEMENT

When the riots occurred in Birmingham May 11, Kennedy sent troops into the state after the rioting ended. He didn't send them into Birmingham but to military bases not far away. As President, he can move troops around.

But if the rioting began again he could send them into Birmingham under an old federal law—Article 10, Section 333 of the U.S. Code—which says:

A President can send troops into a state to keep peace if state or local officials fail or refuse to do so.

"What Makes You Think I'm Interested?"

David Lawrence Says:

Respect for Law Must Be Restored

WASHINGTON—Illegality is breeding more and more illegality. The biggest question confronting the country today is by what means a respect for law and constitutional processes can be achieved.

The disquieting facts are these: 1. The Supreme Court of the United States asserts the right to amend the Constitution by an order or decision. If the people don't like it, their only redress now apparently is to go through the long process of adopting constitutional amendments that would specifically nullify every decision which is not sanctioned by the written Constitution.

2. The President of the United States orders troops into Alabama in direct violation of the provisions of the Constitution which deny him that power in dealing with threatened disorder.

Some of the best constitutional lawyers in the country—including members of the United States Senate—are pointing to this violation.

3. George Wallace, governor of Alabama, has petitioned the Supreme Court to order that federal troops not be used in Alabama unless there is formal application by the state for such use, as required by the Constitution.

4. Meanwhile, the Alabama governor announces that he will stand in the doorway and block the admission of two Negro students who have been accepted by the board of trustees of the University of Alabama.

5. The United Press International reports in two dispatches—one from the North and the other from the South—reports the defiance of official authority in connection with race problems.

6. In a speech in the United States Senate on Tuesday, John Stennis, Democrat of Mississippi, who is one of the foremost lawyers in Congress, spoke as follows:

"The recent mobilization of the armed might of federal military forces in the vicinity of Birmingham, Ala., raises a constitutional question of grave proportions. In addition, it provides another unhappy example of how the rights and privileges of the states of the Union are gradually being usurped as a result of continued encroachment by the executive branch of the federal government."

"No federal court order was involved. There was no violation of an old federal statute. There was no abandonment of their functions by the local police. To the contrary, local police officers and state troopers were in control and functioning fully and effectively."

"Thus the President apparently believes that there has been an unlimited and unrestrained delegation of authority to him to call forth federal military forces to suppress and replace local law enforcement agencies whenever he sees fit—even before there has been a violation of federal law or a defiance of a federal court decree.

"If we accept this belief or doctrine as valid, it simply means that we abandon our historic freedom and liberty under laws prescribed by the people through their elected representatives. We thus open the doors for a future military dictatorship in this country."

The irony of the situation is that several Republican and Democratic senators favoring integration are at least introducing

Here's a letter from a Navy wife who lives in London Bridge, Va., which says it better than I can:

"I must write to someone, or I'll explode. Last night my husband was told to go home and pack and be ready to sail this morning toward Haiti. We have no idea when he will return. This is the fourth ship he has been on since October."

"As a matter of fact, he's only been home eight weeks since then, during which time I had a major operation and his entire leave was spent in taking care of our children."

"During the Cuban crisis, after paying the household bills and sending my husband his 'allowance,' I had $15 a week with which to buy groceries for five of us."

"There is no nothing allowance in our family. There just is never enough money."

"The ups and downs of the military life, what with never knowing when your husband will be called away, and living on a budget that would make a Scotsman cringe, is almost unbearable at times."

"There is no end of problems to be faced—for the most part alone. We are shuttled from place to place with no say in the matter and with very little recompense."

"My husband, of whom I am very proud, started his Navy career during the Korean War when he enlisted. He has put himself through two years of college, going to classes at night, 40 miles from our home—one way. He maintained an A and was on the Dean's list for those years."

"All of this schooling was at our expense. It's not deductible. He has recently been selected for Lieutenant commander. How in the world does the internal revenue service think he worked his way up? A night out on the town is deductible as 'business expense,' for some people."

Voice of the People:

'County in Desperate Need of Community Colleges'

On June 10 Oakland County will vote on propositions designed to establish three community colleges. We need these institutions. Our 4-year colleges are crowded and tend to limit admissions. Students with potential ability too often are refused.

Cost of attending college away from home is increasing. Many families cannot afford these costs. Experience shows that between one-third and one-half of those who do not continue their education in regular colleges enroll in community colleges.

In 1960 Oakland County high schools graduated 6,811 students. By 1970 it will increase to 10,415. Our parents and grandparents established educational institutions for us. We are lagging.

Letters Halted on 'Bus' Issue

In reply to "Agnostic," tax money allocated for school buses are paid for by taxpayers. Parents of parochial school students are taxpayers.

A school bus transports children. There is nothing taught on a bus. Just as the government requires every child to attend school, so should the taxpayers provide transportation for all.

Parochial School Parent and Taxpayer

Catholics can send their children to public schools and have a right to do so. The school bus law would give them some return for the millions they pour into the public school coffers.

Israel Important in U.S. Politics

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Now that Winston Churchill is an honorary American citizen, he might phrase it differently.

Before the war, whenever he visited the United States and was asked what he thought about independence for Ireland, he had a stock reply:

"I never interfere in American politics."

The inference, of course, was that Irish-Americans were Irish first and Americans second. But now that Ireland has its freedom, now that a McCormack and Mansfield are in charge in Congress and now that a Kennedy in the White House is going to visit Ireland, maybe the situation has changed and can be joked about safely.

The situation does not seem to have changed similarly with respect to Israel, however. For Israel's independence is still a serious American political issue. And we bet the American politician who has a large Jewish vote in his state or district if he does not endorse full support for Israel.

This was re-emphasized the other day when Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., introduced a resolution urging the President to invite Britain, France and anybody else interested to join with the United States in a mutual defense agreement with Israel and to provide Israel with military and other as-

'Socialist Party Keeps Plugging'

Commencing early in June the Socialist Party will gather voter signatures on petitions throughout Michigan, to qualify for a place on the ballot in the 1964 National Election.

Neither the minority party status nor the relative small vote it receives discourages its supporters from dedicating their energies and resources toward advancing the people cause of De Leonism—the 26th century concept of scientific Marxian Socialism, and the only working class alternative to both Russian State despotism and American capitalism.

Business Breaks Record in Pontiac, Nears 3 Others

Business in the city of Pontiac last month boomed to one new record and narrowed the gap on several set just three months ago.

Pontiac banks reported that business through customers' checking accounts totaled $103,867,728, or $241,502 higher than the previous record set last January.

The figure tops the April 1962 report by more than $10 million. This marks the fifth time in the past nine months that debits to customer accounts have risen above $100 million. Prior to last August, the figures remained well below that mark.

The annual upturn in the building industry, generated from an economy already moving in high gear, is given partial credit for the business boom here.

LOTS OF PERMITS ISSUED

Last month building permits were issued for 233 construction jobs as compared with 100 last month and 170 in April 1962. This ranks as one of the highest months ever recorded for permits issued.

The last month to exceed the 200 figure was May 1962 when 222 permits were issued.

Rapidly approaching figures of record proportions last month were postal receipts and industrial payrolls.

Postal receipts showed a big 21 per cent increase over April 1962 figures, while the city's industrial payrolls were only $13,548 below last January's figures.

Warm spring weather resulted in several expected drops. Gas consumption fell by nearly 300-million cubic feet while the number of bus patrons dropped by more than 3,000 over March totals.

Figures indicating business trends for April were reported by Community National Bank, Pontiac State Bank, the city water and inspection departments, Pontiac post office, Consumers Power Co., Detroit Edison Co., Pontiac Transit Corp., North Central Airlines and the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Syria Reported Arresting More Nasser Backers

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — At least 56 more supporters of President Gamal Abdel Nasser have been arrested in Syria, pro-Nasser sources in Beirut report.

The sources said 30 civilians and 25 active army officers have been arrested since Tuesday. Heading the list were Rafiq Husami, a leader of Syria's pro-

Nasser United Arab Front, and Hussein Hallak of the Socialist Unionist Movement.

Observers had believed that Syria's ruling Ba'ath Socialist party was trying to improve its relations with Nasser.

The Ba'athists several weeks ago began purging Nasserites from the army and the government.

The action raised a grave threat to the proposed union of Syria, Egypt and Iraq because Nasser has said he would not accept union with a Ba'athist-dominated Syria.

House Committee OK's Standards for Seat Belts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Commerce Committee has approved a bill setting up standards for automobile seat belts sold in interstate commerce.

The bill, approved yesterday, would require manufacturers to meet federal stress and tensile strength standards of the safety belts.

Columbia is the only South American country with ports on the Atlantic and Pacific.

Steel Told Plastics Menacing

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the nation's leading research executives told the steel industry yesterday that it faces a menace from plastics.

Steel leaders were counseled to step up research, basic and applied, to make sure that steel "becomes part of—and not a casualty from—the materials revolution."

The message came from Dr. Guy Suits, who as a General Electric Co. vice president directs one of private industry's largest and most highly regarded research talent pools.

EXECS' MEETING

His remarks were prepared for the 71st meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute, bringing together more than 1,000 of the nation's top steel executives.

Suits' talk recalled Premier Khrushchev's reprimand last fall to Soviet industrial planners for preoccupation with steel and neglect of plastics as a material of the future.

It came at a time when U.S. steelmakers, their profits shrinking as fighting inroads made in their markets by imports from abroad and by rival materials at home, including aluminum, glass and plastics.

Suits attributed "striking" advances in plastics to an outstanding job of research and application engineering by the polymer industry—what he called "massive support" in these areas.

Hopes to Open Door for China

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said yesterday that "we hope to hold open the door" for additional Chinese refugees to come to the United States.

The President spoke to officers and directors of Chinese Relief, an organization headed by Mrs. Claire L. Chennault, widow of the U.S. general who commanded the World War II "Flying Tigers" in China.

The Seneca Indians of Western New York will hold a referendum before Dec. 31, 1962, to decide whether to give women the right to vote in Indian affairs.

Presbyterians Call for Unity

Plan for Closer Ties Between Races, Faiths

DES MOINES (AP)—United Presbyterians were embarked today on a new year's work with strengthened mandates for achieving racial integration — and with guidelines for contacts with Roman Catholics.

The church's 173rd general assembly, which closed here yesterday, sounded a call for closer working ties between Protestantism, Eastern Orthodoxy and Roman Catholicism. And in its final hour, it offered prayers for the health of Pope John XXIII, and paid tribute to his contributions to all Christendom.

The representatives of 3 1/2 million Presbyterians expressed "thanks to Almighty God for the life and witness of this great ecumenical Pope, and for the new and more Christian relationship that have recently been developing amongst all Christians, due in such large part to his influence."

"We ask all United Presbyterians to show sympathy to their Roman Catholic neighbors at this time and to pray for them, the Roman Catholic Church and for Pope John XXIII."

The action came after the assembly learned of a relapse in the Pope's illness.

Earlier in the week-long meeting the United Presbyterians took a firm stand to keep religion out of the government arena.

The closing session re-elected the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, of Philadelphia, to a new five-year term as the denomination's chief administrator, the stated clerk.

The assembly also approved a record $44.6 million general budget for 1964, up more than $2 million from the current $42.3 million. It goes to support the church's national and overseas programs.

Equal Pay for Women Considered

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House today took up a bill to guarantee women equal pay for equal work. Opposition appeared centered largely on the fact that women workers sometimes get in a family way.

The bill, which had more bipartisan support than many measures brought to the House floor, was expected to pass. Similar legislation was approved last week by the Senate.

But the opposition was expected to be loud, even if not strong enough to prevail. Most business groups objected to the bill in hearings and their arguments were sure to be heard in debate.

Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., a member of the House Education and Labor Committee that drafted the bill, said it "may have motives in the finest tradition of gallantry, (but) it actually is about as ungallant as a kick in the shins."

Findley, in separate views with the committee report, said testimony showed it cost more money to employ women than men.

"Most of these extra costs arise from the indisputable fact that women are more prone to homemaking and motherhood than men," Findley announced. "No one of my acquaintance would for the world want to change this fact, but it is one that enters into personnel costs."

The bill is aimed at the same goal, but through a different route, as equal pay legislation which passed both the House and Senate in differing forms last year and just missed final approval.

Profusion of Policemen Confuse Rome Visitors

ROME (AP)—Visitors to Italy are often bewildered by the profusion of various police uniforms, and small wonder.

At any time the tourist is apt to see on the streets Carabinieri (National Police), Questing (Public Security Police), Finanzieri (Customs Police) and Vigili (Traffic Police).

Addicts 'Reclaiming' Addicts

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—A life preserver dangling over the door reads, "Shang tough."

This slang expression means "don't give up" and is the symbol of Synanon—a group dedicated to the rehabilitation of narcotic addicts.

Dr. Donald Cressey, sociologist at the University of California at Los Angeles, describes the psychology: "A group in which criminal A joins with some non criminals to change criminal B is probably most effective in changing criminal A."

The architect of this unique project in human reclamation is an early Irishman named Charles Dederich.

"We destroy myths here," he said.

IN STORE-FRONT

Dederich, 50, opened the first foundation in an old store-front building in Ocean Park, Calif., in 1958. Thirty addicts lived in the makeshift quarters.

A year later Synanon moved its headquarters to an abandoned three-story armory a mile up the beach in Santa Monica. The main house and smaller dwellings strung along the beach now house 135 addicts.

Synanon has expanded its operations to include an honor camp for 17 convicts in Reno, Nev., 40 miles from the Nevada State Prison in Carson City.

A unit in Westport, Conn., has 22 members and homes are planned for San Diego, New York and Washington, D.C.

Reaction to this novel approach to narcotics treatment ranges from high praise to condemnation. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., calls Synanon "a miracle on the beach" and "a study in heroism."

QUESTIONED RATE

Critics question the high rate of cures claimed by Synanon. Dodd was told more than 200 addicts had been taken off drugs by the foundation.

Opponents criticize what they say are Synanon's lack of trained supervisors and the unswerving aggressiveness of its leaders.

When Synanon moved to Santa Monica in 1959, 31 neighbors alarmed at the invasion of ex-while continuing to live at the community house.

Finally Synanon sends the member out into society after he has saved a few hundred dollars, owns a car and finds a place to live away from the tantalizing haunts of addicts.

Sportsmen Get Rules on Health, Golf, Whisky

LONDON (UPI)—Lord Longford yesterday gave the House of Lords three rules for middle-aged sportsmen.

Choose a physiotherapist, find some new sport and "take up golf seriously at the same time as you take up whisky," he said.

Tuition Grants OK'd

COLUMBIA, S. C. (UPI)—The Senate Education Committee yesterday unanimously passed a bill to provide tuition grants to students for private schooling in the event of public school integration.

Do They Want Chubby Checker as a Specialist?

VIENNA (AP)—The Twist, frowned upon in some Communist countries as a product of Western decadence, has been officially recommended to elderly Hungarians with rheumatism.

Said the Communist party daily Zalai Hirlop: "The Twist is not only animating but also has a healing effect. The Labor Union Hospital in Helyiz (on Lake Balaton) applies the Twist as a physiotherapy. Doctors recommend it to elderly patients suffering from rheumatism because it loosens the muscles and prompts the process of healing."

Four Paddle Steamers Offered to the Public

LONDON (UPI)—The London County Council yesterday offered four ancient paddle steamers for sale.

It said the boats are available for inspection by prospective buyers "at their own risk."

Thresher Court Still in Session

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. (UPI)—A Navy court of inquiry investigating the Thresher disaster met behind closed doors today and a research ship prepared to take more photographs of underwater debris that may be from the nuclear attack submarine.

The Atlantis II, owned by the Woods Hole, Mass., Oceanographic Institution, returned to the search scene 200 miles off Cape Cod.

It is equipped with special cameras and sonar devices being used in an attempt to locate the Thresher, which sank April 10.

Two other research ships and a destroyer also are at the scene. The court of inquiry considered evidence gathered to date during a closed-door session yesterday.

No witnesses were heard. The investigation by the five-man board reportedly is nearing its conclusion.

Litter-caused fires cost the country over $70 million annually, says Keep America Beautiful, Inc. The nonprofit organization also says between 750 and 800 Americans are killed and some 75,000 injured every year as a result of cars hitting or swerving to avoid objects dropped on highways by litterbugs.

Nepal Expels Gloomy Seer

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI)—Jaganath Mishra, an Indian astrologer who predicted trouble for King Mahendra's two-month-old parliamentary government, has been expelled from this mountain kingdom.

Police escorted Mishra to the Indian border and advised him not to return.

The astrologer had said that recent student disorders here "came at an inauspicious astrological time" for the government.

Anti-Chinese Riots Spread in Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Anti-Chinese demonstrations and riots in West and Central Java have spread to the eastern part of Indonesia's main island, the official Nataru news agency reported today.

Disturbances were reported in Surabaya, the main Indonesian naval base, and Malang.

Antara said juvenile delinquents and "irresponsible people" broke glass windows of Chinese stores in Surabaya. The anti-Chinese wave stems from Indonesian resentment at Chinese control of much of Indonesia's retail trade.

Detroit Firm Sales

Request Stock Probe

LANSING (AP)—The state attorney general's office and the Wayne and Monroe county prosecutors have been asked to probe the stock sales of the Inter-Continental Finance Corporation of Detroit.

Raymond Clevenger, state corporation and securities commissioner, said the corporation illegally sold some $128,000 in stock shares.

Clevenger issued a stop order against further stock sales by the group and ordered that licenses of special salesmen be revoked.

The firm was organized to sell stocks of a small loan company, the commissioner said.

He said the corporation fraudulently claimed it had been issued a small loan license by the State Banking Commission but did not receive such approval.

In addition, Clevenger said, some very questionable assets were listed.

"We got a glorious runaround when we started checking books and records," he said. "It turned out they had no records, as far as we could find."

Clevenger said a civil suit, asking receivership, already has

RECOMMEND ACTION

"We recommend that criminal action be started if the evidence shows it is warranted," he said.

Wayne and Monroe counties, he said, were recommended as locations for start of such suits because heavy stock sales were made there.

The stock was sold for $1.30 a share and was pushed under high pressure methods of telephone calls, letters and personal approach, he said.

"This money has been to a large extent dissipated. The company had only $563.32 of cash on hand as of Dec. 31, 1962."

Clevenger named Thomas H. J. Renshaw of Detroit as president of the corporation, Herman Franck of Grosse Pointe Shores as executive vice president and Robert Whitty of Grosse Pointe as vice president and director.

The group listed as an asset a piece of real estate valued at $150,000, Clevenger said, while the actual cost was $5,000 shares of common stock valued at $1 par. In addition, unpaid mortgages against the property were not listed, he said.

"It is dubious whether stockholders will be able to get their money back," Clevenger said.

"Some of the assets of the corporation were over-valued and others were invested in a maze of other businesses."

Youth Is Tricked Into Cutting Way to East Germany

BERLIN (AP)—An East German border guard tricked a 24-year-old West Berliner into cutting a barbed wire border barrier today and then arrested him, West Berlin police reported.

The incident reportedly occurred in the French sector suburb of Frohnau.

"The young man was at the border when a border guard called to him and told him he wanted to 'escape,'" a police spokesman said.

"The West Berliner cut a piece of the fence. Then the border guard aimed his weapon at him and forced him to cut another fence. When he got through, he was arrested and taken away."

East German border guards who apprehend refugees or persons assisting escapees are awarded medals and cash.

Four Cars Plunge Off Flooded Bridge

MURDOCHVILLE, Que. (AP)—Four cars plunged off a washed-out bridge into the swirling York River yesterday, and six men were believed drowned.

Four other men were saved because their small European car floated and washed ashore.

Nearly half of the 120-foot concrete bridge disappeared into the river when flood waters eroded a central pillar.

Provincial police said it must have collapsed between 3 a.m. and 7 a.m. yesterday morning, in time to trap men on their way to work at the Gaspe Copper Mines in Murdochville.

Duvalier Tightens Rule, Asking Haitian New Order

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti—President Francois Duvalier pushed ahead today with conspiracy against Haiti, plans to eliminate internal opposition and rule impoverished Haiti without U.S. financial aid.

In a speech delivered a few hours after a new terrorist bombing, Duvalier told Haitians yesterday their country will establish a "new order" that should serve as an example for all black peoples of the world.

He closed the speech to an estimated 30,000 peasants and militiamen gathered in front of the Presidential Palace by ordering the militiamen to "be vigilant" against the opponents who have sworn to assassinate him.

There was no immediate indication of the cause of the explosion heard in suburban Petionville yesterday morning or the brief burst of gunfire that followed.

Anti-Duvalier terrorists set off explosive charges Tuesday night in at least four schools temporarily housing militiamen and peasants brought in from the countryside to help celebrate Duvalier's continuation in power. Six persons were reported killed.

PROMISE SLAUGHTER

Government officials have promised "a Himalaya of corpses" if an uprising is attempted against the regime.

Duvalier's speech was made on the second anniversary of his inauguration to a disputed second term.

The Haitian Constitution limits the president to one six-year term, and Duvalier was elected in 1957.

U.S. diplomats stayed away from the president's second inauguration May 22, 1961, and the United States cut off financial aid this year when Duvalier made it clear he would stay in office past the expiration of his original term May 15.

Duvalier said Haiti should head a "union of the sons of Africa" and serve as an example for all black peoples of the world.

Haiti's population is about 95 per cent Negro and 5 per cent mulatto.

The president charged that the

Measles Cases Up in County

Southern Area Hit by Biggest Outbreak

An outbreak of measles — the worst in two years — has hit parts of Oakland County, deputy county health director Dr. Bernard Berman reported yesterday.

Dr. Berman said the biggest outbreak was concentrated in southern Oakland County in the cities of Royal Oak, Oak Park and Berkley, but that Pontiac was running higher than usual.

The county as a whole, according to Dr. Berman, is running about 300 to 400 reported cases a week. Normally, roughly 200 to 300 measles cases a week are reported in the spring.

In addition, many cases are not reported by physicians.

The deputy county health director said April, May and June are the heaviest months for measles. Dr. Berman said measles runs heavy every three or four years.

REPORTED CASES

Although Pontiac has reported a mere 25 measles cases for the month, one doctor estimated that 50-100 cases have been discovered in the Clarkston-Waterford area alone.

According to Dr. Everett Gustafson, public relations director of the Oakland County Medical Society, measles have to run its course.

He said the best treatment is to take care of the fever, keep the patient in a darkened room, keep the fluids up, and watch for complications.

Dr. O'Neill said immunization shots can be given children over nine months. He said most doctors in the county have the live virus for these shots.

He said results of the vaccine so far indicate that it gives almost permanent immunity.

A City Editor Muses

What We Need Is a Field

By JOHN CROWLEY
City Editor

Even in our semisuburban community, there is a need for a field.

Just an ordinary weed- and wild-flower-filled field owned by someone who lives a long way away. And it has to be right next door — or nearly next door — to every home in town.

It's for the kids to play in.

How can kids pretend to grow up nowadays without a field?

It wrenches the heart of a Midwesterner to see a 5-year-old boy on the fire escape of a Manhattan tenement building listlessly watching the "swarm" and traffic snarls below. For him, there is little hope that he will see a blade of grass or a dandelion, much less a field, before he is lucky enough to be sent to camp.

In the same way, it saddens anyone who was almost reared in a field, to see the way kids try to grow up today with only organized playgrounds and close-clipped lawns to test their imagination.

A generation ago there was a woods or a field you could walk into and totally escape the adult world — jump into the world of frogs and handwoven spears, discover "fortunes" in discarded pop bottles and play hockey on the rubber ice of a thawing pond.

They seemed to be around every other corner, choked with weeds high enough to hide from lions and Indians and parents.

Toward the end of summer, the jungle had been matted down by nonuniformed, ill-equipped football players who found end sweeps were more than ordinarily interesting because of hidden holes and unexpected mounds.

AND THE TREE

There was usually an old tree in the field with big welcoming arms for tree huts and Tarzan swings. It was always "home" for hide and seek.

The tree, more often than not, was inhabited by a swarm of bees about once every five years and it was touch and go throughout that summer deciding who actually RAN the field.

A field was for cats to find mice and dogs to chase cats and boys to chase dogs.

It was headquarters for the neighborhood and no one under 17 could ever be found around the house, whining for something to do or yapping endlessly on the telephone or rapt in TV cartoons.

Oh, it provided its share of broken arms, cut feet and massively dirty clothes.

But an irate mother always knew where her boy could be found if he didn't get back with the groceries in time. And busy dads didn't have to conjure up make-play projects to salvage guilt neuroses about togetherness or untoggetherness.

Nobody wanted to be together and nobody was unhappy about it.

ORGANIZATION

Now there are organized play fields and organized programs "within a few blocks of each home in the city." Big deal!

Will they let you dig a big hole in the middle of one?

Ever try to climb a tree so meticulously trimmed the lowest branch is 20 feet off the ground?

Swamp water is undesirable, unsanitary and nonorganizational.

Frogs are nonexistent.

When you see a pheasant in the neighborhood, it's the occasion for a week's conversation.

Teen-agers are chased from front lawn to front lawn because they make too much noise trying to kill each other with an eight-inch rubber ball. There are too many homes, too many windows, too many busy-life frayed nerves.

There is a need nowadays for ball fields and such. We'd be absolutely lost without that much.

But it would be much better if land developers just left one big old open field in every block, designated it Deadman's Gulch and left it to look like that.

Goldwater Group Resolves Split

The "Volunteers for Goldwater" group formed Monday in Oakland County was back in smooth operation today after a resolution yesterday of a misunderstanding over membership.

County Prosecutor George F. Taylor defended his naming of five members of his assistant prosecutor staff as members of the new group when he announced its formation.

The assistant prosecutors, who denied Tuesday that they had joined or been asked to join the new group, yesterday planned a misunderstanding. Four of them agreed they had expressed an interest in forming a group of such a kind to back

U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination when Taylor suggested it in a conversation Monday.

Taylor explained that his statement was that the assistant prosecutors he named were among 15 persons who had expressed interest in the group. He said he was under the impression that all those he named had expressed interest.

Taylor pointed out that no real question of membership was involved, anyway, because the group has not yet been formally organized and therefore cannot have any members.

The prosecutor said he had received several phone calls from people interested in becoming active in the new organization since his announcement Monday.

Nostalgia of Botsford Inn Preserved by Henry Ford

By BILL SCHMIDT

To Henry Ford, the Botsford Inn brought back recollections of early Americana, nostalgic remembrances of his youth and the courtship of his future bride, Clara Bryant.

Because of these lingering memories, Ford purchased the inn in 1924 and restored it to its early-day atmosphere—an atmosphere which still exists, belying the hustle and bustle of an automobile era which he played such a great part in creating.

Both the Botsford Inn and Ford, its restorer, will be honored tomorrow in Michigan Week Heritage Day ceremonies.

With "the automobile" as the statewide theme for Heritage Day, Ford will be saluted as a man who put the world on wheels. So will the automotive industry in all its facets.

The 127-year-old Botsford Inn will be the scene of the dedication of a state historical marker identifying the inn as an authentic Michigan historical site.

Beginning at noon, the program will include a social period, followed by the actual dedication at 12:30 p.m. by Dr. Lewis G. Vander Velde, chairman of the Michigan Historical Commission.

Guest speaker at a luncheon at the inn, scheduled for 12:30 p.m., will be Secretary of State James M. Hare.

The program also includes a parade of antique cars, a display of Michigan antiques and a Goodwill Industries "Heritage Fashion Show" in which models will don costumes and accessories worn a century ago.

The history of the Botsford Inn located at 18000 Grand River, Farmington Township goes back well over 100 years.

In 1836, Orrin Weston, a local farmer, constructed the building at almost the same site on which it's standing today.

Five years later, the building—then known as Sixteen Mile House because of its distance from the heart of Detroit—became a favorite way station for stage coach riders and travelers.

LONG TRIP

It was a good half day's trip for a man on horseback braving the muddy trails from the city, and a whole day's journey for the teamster who drove his heavily laden horses out from town.

Farmers and drivers were its patrons, gathering by the large taproom fireplace to swap stories, crack jokes and barter their wares.

In 1860, the Botsford family—then known as Sixteen Mile House because of its distance from the heart of Detroit—became a favorite way station for stage coach riders and travelers.

Ford completely restored the building to the way it was when he and his wife were courting. He lengthened the ballroom where they used to square dance and added lighting and plumbing fixtures.

The inn—known as the Botsford Tavern until just recently—was purchased from the Ford family in 1951 by the Anhalt Hotels Co.

Under new ownership, 16 rooms were added to the main building in the same architectural style as the original structure, and a 16-room motel unit was also built. In keeping with its reputation as the oldest eating and lodging establishment in the state, the Botsford Inn now contains more than 200 antiques, including a piano belonging to Gen. Custer's sister, a desk believed to have been used by Lincoln, and a buffet from Robert E. Lee's home.

Teens Doubt Own Ability in Peace Corps

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth
Research, Inc.

Helping underprivileged people through projects such as the Peace Corps appeals decidedly to teen-agers, but they seem to doubt their own capacities for doing useful.

Of the 1,250 young people answering our latest nationwide opinion poll, 53 per cent say they would like to join the Peace Corps.

Over and over again their answers repeat "I'd like to help other people."

And even the 45 per cent who say they do not want to join seldom show a lack of interest.

What stops them is the feeling that they aren't talented enough or suitably trained.

For example, Sue Stannard, 15, of Manitowoc, Wis. explains, "Even with training I'm afraid I wouldn't make a good corpsman. I'm not a very good leader."

Many give a less specific "I just don't feel I would be very well qualified."

BENEFITS BOTH SIDES

Most of the teen-agers see the Peace Corps as a "sound, beneficial thing for both parties involved," as Robert L. Borchert, 16, of Kenilworth, Ill., describes it.

To some, the appeal of the corps stems from the opportunity it offers of travel and at the same time, as Lewis Snitzer, 16, of Philadelphia says, "help the cause of freedom."

More than four-fifths of the girls and boys think the corps will help the U.S. in international relations.

They especially like the fact that the Peace Corps works directly with foreign people.

John Fredrick, 16, of Milwaukee, explains, "It will work much better than just trying to buy good will with foreign aid."

Kathy Bergstrom, 16, of Minneapolis says, "It is an attempt to understand the customs and problems of other countries and establishes a bond of peace and friendship between them."

Only 10 per cent of the teen-agers seem to have any doubt about the effectiveness of the Peace Corps.

One of these is Gay Winters, 16, of Vermillion, S. D., who says, "I'm very uncertain because one foreign student I talked to truly felt that the Peace Corps was damaging to the U.S. international relations because the people being sent were so unequal."

President Kennedy's proposal to establish a corps to help in depressed areas of this country meets with a more divided opinion among the younger people.

Some 47 per cent of the girls and boys say they'd like to serve in such a corps, but 45 per cent don't want to join.

The feeling that such a corps is needed in the U.S. is reflected in answers like that of a 16-year-old boy from Worcester, Mass.: "There are many areas of our country that need this kind of help. It seems that no one knows much about them."

Bob Fierman, 18, of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, says, "I could really do something for my own country."

UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM
Nearly three-fifths of the teen-agers think that putting America's youth to work in foreign and domestic peace corps programs will help solve the unemployment problem.

Naomi Nakamoto, 15, of Minneapolis explains her reasoning: "While giving youth places to work and things to work at, it will also build experience which will be valuable in later employment. It will help teenagers because they will have a better knowledge of their own abilities and the positions open."

Daniel Randie, 17, of Winnetka, Ill., sees some snags, however, in looking at such programs as easy solutions to unemployment. He says, "People like myself who are supposedly the best educated will volunteer, while those who really need the employment will be rejected. But a U. S. work corps may not have this effect."

Most of the 33-per cent who don't agree that the corps will help solve the unemployment problem feel there will not be enough young people involved to make a significant dent in the problem.

The fact that they might have to go into military service even though accepted for the Peace Corps would not affect their decisions say 58 per cent of the girls and 49 per cent of the boys.

Half of the boys and nearly three-fifths of the girls feel requiring military service from corpsmen is fair.

As Penny Gardner, 14, of Northfield, Ill., says: "Otherwise it could be used as a draft dodge, and only interested people should join."

DOUGLAS JOHN BROWN

Canadian Thief Believed in Rio

Escaped With Loot From Armored Car

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — Police in this Canadian coastal city today explored the possibility that an armored car driver who disappeared with $325,000 may have taken a plane to Rio de Janeiro.

Authorities said yesterday they had learned a man resembling Douglas John Brown, 35, bought a $1,400 ticket to Brazil Saturday night and paid for it in $20 bills. The missing money is in denominations of $2 to $20.

But officers said an airlines clerk was not able to make positive identification after being shown Brown's picture.

The man obtained a Canadian passport in his own name one month ago, police revealed.

Brown, married and the father of four, lived in suburban Surrey. The Loomis armored car service, for whom he worked, said the man had a spotless record, but was bonded for $25 million.

Authorities said the driver, who has been charged with grand theft, took more than $500,000 after making collections at several supermarkets Saturday.

The loss was not discovered until Tuesday when he failed to report for work after two days off.

Brown's car, containing nearly a quarter of a million dollars in checks and cash, was found near Vancouver International Airport.

'Fighting Farmer' Still Battling in Losing Cause

WINDELSHAM, England (AP) — Farmer Dudley Gianfield has officially notified his local postmaster that the name of his property, "Twelve Oaks Farm," has been changed to "Grand Central Station."

Gianfield became known as the "Fighting Farmer of Windelsham" in 1956, when he used barbed-wire entanglements and other obstacles in an unsuccessful attempt to stop an electrical power line from going through his land.

Since then, despite his objections, a water main has gone through, and a highway and gas-line pipe line are scheduled to follow.

Nation's Auto Sales Continue Drive Toward Record Heights

By CHARLES C. CAIN
AP Automotive Writer
DETROIT—Cash registers in most of the 35,000 auto dealerships across the country continue to ring a busy tune as the auto industry heads towards a possible record-high production year.

Reports from all parts of the nation show both new and used car sales are running exceptionally strong.

The National Auto Dealers Association (NADA) reported that all but 8 per cent of its member dealers made money in the first quarter of 1963.

This was 50 per cent better than the opening quarter last year, when 12 per cent operated in the red.

NADA said dealers averaged an operating profit of $111, before taxes, for each new car sold. This was about 2.3 per cent of sales, a slight increase over the 1962 overall figure of 2.2.

The strength of the used car market was shown by the average price of $832 per unit, an increase over the $807 average in 1962.

The booming business was not confined strictly to salesrooms. Automotive News, a trade publication, said new car dealers' service and parts business for the first four months of this year was running better than 5 per cent ahead of 1962.

DEALERS HOPEFUL

The dealers, who are entering the final months of selling the 1963 models, were hopeful of another 700,000 unit sales month in May.

The question mark in the May sales picture was how soon Ford could get back into full operation following settlement Monday of a nine-day strike at a key Chicago Heights, Ill., stamping plant.

The walkout cost Ford an estimated 35,000 units. The company stepped up its production schedules for the rest of the 1963 model run to make up the cars and trucks lost by the tieup.

Detroit's auto makers said they would virtually wrap up their 1963 model production in July. Only about 90,000 of the '63s will be built in August, with Ford and General Motors turning these units out.

Schedule increases by General Motors for June and July raised the industry's projected second quarter production to 2,082,000 cars in U.S. plants and a probable 7,367,000 for the model year.

PAST THE HIGH

This figure — if reached — would eclipse the previous high of 7.13 million for the 1955 model run. It would be almost 9 per cent ahead of the 1962 total of 6,867,000.

Dealers were stepping up their sales efforts for the final months of the 1963 sales.

In Chicago, for example, Ford and its dealers are spending an estimated $2 million in a five months advertising campaign.

The newspaper, radio and television advertising campaign is based on the contention that Ford is the only car which has changed as much as Chicago.

Ward's Automotive Report, another trade publication, predicted Ford would wind up the year with sales of 1.9 million units, compared to 3.9 million for General Motors.

Ward's estimated Chrysler sales at $50,000, American Motors $50,000 and Studebaker 70,000.

Ford-Ferrari Talks End Without a Deal

DETROIT — Ford Motor Co. said today that negotiations which might have resulted in Ford taking over the Ferrari auto company of Italy have been "terminated by mutual agreement."

Reports had been circulating for several weeks that Ford was interested in acquiring the Italian firm, which turns out racing cars and luxury automobiles at its Modena, Italy, plant.

The Ford announcement said negotiations had been conducted at Modena.

Naming Set for Italian's New Leader

ROME (UPI)—Political observers predicted today that President Antonio Segni will name Christian Democrat leader Aldo Moro as Italy's new premier by this week-end.

Segni holds final consultations with the presidents of the upper and lower houses of Parliament tomorrow.

Observers said Moro could be named to succeed Ambrogio Fanfani either the same day or Saturday.

Former Premier Fanfani, the man who piloted the center-left government for a year before last month's elections, was expected to take the blame for the losses suffered by the ruling Christian Democrats at the polls.

The center-left, which Moro favors but is expected to moderate, is in effect a coalition of the ruling Catholic party with Marxist Socialists, except the Socialist support but do not serve in the government.

The split in the center-left experiment arises from the fact that some Christian Democrats are hesitant to go any further down the same path after their party lost and the Communists gained at the polls.

African Leader Hits U.S. Strife

Protests Treatment of Alabama Negroes

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (UPI)—An African leader charged today that the African summit conference had drawn an "iron curtain" around discussing racial disturbances in Alabama. He issued a protest to President Kennedy over "inhuman treatment" of Negroes there.

Uganda Premier Milton Obote made the charges in an open letter released to newsmen at the 30 African heads of state and government began their second summit session.

He accused the President of "scratching an old wound with a new pen" by sending greetings to the conference yesterday hailing African progress toward freedom and unity.

He said the summit conference here has condemned racial discrimination in Africa, but "one feels there is an iron curtain which has been drawn over the events that have been taking place in Birmingham, Ala."

PARADOXICAL

"Nothing is more paradoxical than these events should take place in the United States and at a time when that country is anxious to project its image before the world screen as the archetype of democracy and the champion of freedom," he added.

"The eyes of the world are on Alabama. It is the duty of the free world, and more so of the countries that hold themselves up as leaders of that free world, to see that all of their citizens, regardless of the color of their skin, are free."

The conference delegates today took up the challenge by Emperor Haile Selassie to create a united Africa now, or be held guilty of having shirked their duty.

Selassie opened the conference yesterday with an hour-long call for a united continent that would give Africa a new, powerful voice in world affairs.

Sharp Quake Hits Area in California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A sharp earthquake centered on the San Andreas Fault south of Palo Alto shook homes and buildings throughout the San Francisco Bay region Wednesday.

No damage was reported, but dishes rattled on shelves.

Dr. Don Tocher, University of California seismologist, said the quake started at 3:41:18 p.m. and recorded for four minutes on the Berkeley seismograph.

End Not in Sight

Sugar Prices Climbing Crazy

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK—Sugar prices are climbing like crazy and no one seems to know where it will end.

The head of the Agriculture Department's sugar policy staff, Lawrence Myers, says the market is in a state of panic.

A commodity that in 1951 was worth two cents, and which was excluded from the United States except under rigid quota systems, is being pursued with ardor at about 12 cents.

That's what a pound of raw foreign sugar costs at dockside New York these days.

The American Sugar Refining Co. announced yesterday the latest hike in the wholesale price of refined sugar: by $1.75 to $15.50 per 100 pounds in the Northeast. The price was about $10 in January.

The five-pound bags of sugar that sold for about 55 cents in the supermarket last year are tagged at 69 cents and up. This is below

British Plan Subsidy for Protection

LONDON (UPI)—The British government today studied emergency plans to counter spiraling sugar costs with a form of subsidy that would protect the consumer from a sudden and "fantastic" rise in world prices.

Michael Noble, secretary for Scotland in Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's cabinet, told the House of Commons last night that the plan would be announced shortly.

It is expected to center around using profits from the government-run sugar board to peg the prices in the shops.

Sir George Dunnett, chairman of the sugar board, charged last night that the crisis was caused by "panic in the United States."

London newspapers reported a steady run on stores by housewives anxious to stock up on sugar before prices, now about 15 cents a pound, leaped higher.

Noble said Agriculture Minister Christopher Soames was working on a plan that would make distribution payments "a kind of surcharge in reverse," to counteract the rising prices.

the newest wholesale price—that is how fast things are happening.

Housewives aren't the only ones unhappy about it.

INDUSTRY HIT

Especially pained are industrial sugar users who have trouble passing the added cost along. Candy bar and soft drink retail prices are pretty well frozen by vending machine mechanics and sales practices. Candy makers can shrink their bars, and some reportedly have, but soft-drink makers cannot do that so readily.

And the sugar industry in general dislikes doing anything price-wise to encourage export tendencies toward noncaloric and nonsugar sweeteners.

"We've lost enough customers—that's route already," said a sugar broker. "Now we're practically chasing them away."

The 300-degree turnabout from depressed to premium prices involves several factors. Weather has been bad for Europe's beet crop. Cuba's crop has been far below normal. Demand, meanwhile, has been growing rapidly. Sugar is one of the first luxuries people in emerging nations seek.

The domestic crop generally is all right, but traditionally it is only about half enough to meet needs. America once filled the rest of its needs by buying from Cuba and other outsiders at the U.S. price, almost always above the price sugar brings elsewhere.

Buyers have had to bid more and more to attract foreign sugar.

Keiser and Co., Inc., a nationwide sugar broker, predicts recent frantic buying will taper off late next month and that there should be some retrenchment in July, August and September.

By then, says Keiser, "It should be obvious to all that there will be no shortage in the United States."

The Mekong River splits into three great arms in South Vietnam to form a delta that is one of the world's foremost rice-producing regions.

Frightening Asthma Attacks End In Minutes As New Formula Unblocks Lung Passages Fast

New Medical Formula Restores Free Breathing Without Vaccines, Shots Or Narcotics. Calms Anxiety. No Prescription Needed.

New York, N.Y. (Special)—A team of scientists has announced a new formula that stops frightening asthma attacks in minutes and unblocks lung passages fast.

Medical tests prove this formula promptly restores free breathing, so calm anxiety and relieve the worst symptoms of asthma—the straining for breath, the gasping, the wheezing, the terrible fear of suffocation. All without vaccines, painful shots or any other harmful drugs. This formula is an safe when used as directed, it can be sold without prescription in their stores called BARNETT'S.

Doctors know that when asthma strikes, breathing tubes become swollen, lung passages become blocked, so air is "trapped" inside lungs and low and less oxygen can enter. New BARNETT'S, with two actions relieving medicines that doctors prescribe for their patients, acts quickly to open bronchial tubes and loosen the mucus that blocks lung passages. Trapped air is released and new vital oxygen enters the lungs.

The result is: Free breathing is restored, tension eases and no fears are calmed in minutes. Sufferers can now look forward to peaceful sleep.

Get BARNETT'S—available at all drug stores without prescription.

SAFE AT LAST — Bewhiskered Juan Santos Rios, 69, a Cuban fisherman, sips a carton of milk in Miami, Fla., after escaping from Cuba in a 21-foot sailboat. Juan and four other refugees escaped from Matanzas, Cuba, and made the crossing to Marathon, Fla., in two days.

Cuba Refugee Tells of Terror at Home

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A fisherman forsaking Cuba says speedy patrol boats, built and manned by Russians, "shoot anything that moves" in the dark nowadays off the Cuban coast he fished for 36 years.

Juan Santos Rios, 69, and four companions reached the Florida Keys in a 21-foot sailboat after a two-day voyage.

The white-whiskered, tousel-haired fisherman told newsmen yesterday that for some time he had realized that "the situation in Cuba is terrible for a poor fellow like me. Some days I have nothing to eat. All the fishermen are angry at the government."

Santos Rios said four men knocked at his hut door at midnight Sunday and asked him "Please, sir, help us. We need to leave Cuba right now because if we do not we will be killed by the government."

"That was the reason I agreed to leave Cuba," Santos Rios related. "In Cardenas (his home on the north coast of Matanzas Province) 18 men were shot a week ago as guerrillas."

Santos Rios said his boat did not encounter any of the patrol craft but did almost collide in the pitch-darkness with a good-sized ship. He didn't know its name.

An airliner, which took Red Cross officials to Havana, brought 77 Cuban refugees to Miami yesterday on its return trip.

Many of them complained that Soviet personnel in Cuba, appeared to be living high while Cubans were bullied and robbed by Fidel Castro's militia and had a hard time getting enough to eat.

"While the Russians live like landlords, the Cubans live like slaves," said Francisco Ortega, 70, a retired tobacco planter.

"You can see Russians with big smiles going to the beaches, and they say, 'We like Cuba very much, we don't ever leave.'"

"Of course they are happy, because they are the owners of Cuba, but we hate them."

Jose Hernandez, 60, said his home was looted by men in militia uniform. He said these men take anything they want from private houses, and warn the occupants they will be jailed as counterrevolutionaries if they complain.

VICTORVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Lost: One, very amiable and people-loving" boa constrictor.

Its master, Mike Howard, 14, said Wednesday the reptile has a "wonderful personality."

He pleaded that if anyone finds it, "Please don't hurt him. He won't hurt you just because he's a snake."

Mike said his 5½-foot, brownish-black pet escaped last Friday. He explained it likes lawn sprinklers, cool places and fat mice.

Conference at Oakland University

Many Questions Discussed on Woman's Place

Pontiac Press Photos by Phil Webb
Mrs. Jud R. Huntley, Orchard Lake, examines the gilded cage mobile that hung in the dining room at Oakland University Wednesday. It posed the age-old question, "Is she a bird in a gilded cage?" The occasion was OU's conference on "Woman Place in This Perplexing Century."

Mrs. Robert Anderson, Birmingham (left) hands a program to Mrs. Tom Reese, Warwick (right) as she and Mrs. Arthur O'Hara, Farnsworth, registered for the day.

Pontiac Press Women's Editor

Many questions were raised, but few answers conclusively given at Oakland University's conference "Woman's Place in This Perplexing Century."

The all-day session Wednesday drew nearly 300 women, including some from Traverse City and Muskegon.

In the morning, two psychologists gave their views of "What Is a Woman Like?"

Speaking first was Dr. Elizabeth Dews of Michigan State University who quoted freely from many of the present-day writings in the field.

She added that to be truly healthy, one must develop all of one's potential—men and women alike. In these times, almost everyone feels a sense of unrest and uneasiness.

Dr. Dews emphasized that women must have a goal in life, even if it is not attainable. But, the psychologist said, they must have humane concern as well as intellectual involvement in life.

Dr. Frederick Wyatt didn't like the title given him and added his own facetious subtitle, "What ever you want to be, dear, it's all right with me. But... will you make up your mind?"

CONTRIBUTIONS

The country needs women's contributions in intellectual and social problems, he said, and women need the stimulation of intellectual work in order to function well as persons.

Dr. Wyatt thinks that this is a transitory stage in women's place in society. He doesn't know the outcome, nor does he know what can replace outmoded patterns of thinking.

Woman's very nature is one of change, he added, and perhaps her uncertainties come just from being female.

He went on to say that although boys and girls are subjected to the same education as they grow up, women have to accept society's definition of what they should be.

Many are not sure of the value of being feminine.

In conclusion Dr. Wyatt said that these problems are the joint concern of both men and women.

Men may have to yield some of "their precious order" and women may have to give up the smugness of their role.

Before the women went into afternoon discussion groups, Dr. Ruth Useem, University of Michigan, spoke on "Women Enroute From Farm to What Future?"

CENTURY AGO

"A century ago woman's place was with husband, children and chickens."

Mother then was a generalist and the source of much knowledge. Each family was relatively dependent on few others, she said.

Speaking of the present she said she's a little tired of this "furor over females."

"She's bored with the 'trapped housewife' who, if she's living a life of quiet desperation, isn't very quiet about it."

She's bored with "affluent clothes horses".... with ads displaying "fatuous females".... and with perennially pregnant women who she said, "don't like children, only babies."

She's sick of the subject of women's problems which after all are problems common to everyone. They are "perplexing century problems."

Dr. Useem wishes that we would talk about people's place in the world and define the new roles all are playing.

"She doesn't want equal rights for women—they aren't good enough for men. She doesn't want girls to have as much education as boys; all people need more education."

"We must all work together for our mutual welfare for our elders, our age mates, our children and the children yet to be born."

Anniversary Women Hold Final Meeting Area Home for the Year

Xi Pi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority observed its anniversary Tuesday at a dinner in the Foxcroft home of Mrs. John S. Black.

Mrs. Ralph Price, Mrs. John Wilkes, also Margaret and Virginia Luther served as cohostesses.

Adah Shelly concluded the year's educational program with a talk on the "Enjoyment of Books."

Incoming officers who were installed included Mrs. Andrew Vitt, president; Mrs. Enar West, vice president; Mrs. Robert Owen, secretary and Jean Warnock, treasurer.

Stretch Strap New Feature

Bra manufacturers are putting their shoulders to the stretch strap. But there are problems—excessive shrinkage, curling and fear that the elastic eventually will get tired.

Dr. Philip Mason chats with Mrs. Donald E. Adams as he admires the century-old candle mold centering the speaker's table at the 89th annual dinner of Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society Wednesday. Dr. Mason, a faculty member of Wayne State University, gave the evening address.

Early arrivals for the annual dinner meeting were (from left) Mrs. James W. Huttenlocher of Clarkston, Bert D. Wood of Franklin and Mrs. H. F. Gouge of West Pike. The evening affair was held at Devon Gables Wednesday.

Horsin' Around

Nagged With Laughter

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: You probably won't believe this is written by a 21-year-old girl, but it is. I am dating a man (let's call him Arthur) but not steadily.

I date others, too, but he's the only man I know who is in a position to get married. I know he is crazy about me.

The problem: Every time he goes to kiss me he gets a sort of pained expression on his face and his nostrils widen, making him look like a horse. I just "break up" and go into a laughing fit which I can't control.

Abby, I really care for this man, but I'm ruining it for myself. What is the matter with me?

Historical Society Told of State's Early Years

Dr. Philip Mason, associate professor of history at Wayne State University, turned the clock back 130 years when he spoke to members of the Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society at Devon Gables Wednesday evening.

"Frontier Days in Michigan" was his theme. The 89th annual dinner for the society was the first banquet since the merger of the Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society, and the foundation.

"No decade in Michigan is more important than the 1830s. The period was marked by two wars, a fight for statehood, and the first great migration to Michigan," said Dr. Mason.

He explained that to meet the needs of communication and transportation the stagecoach came into being. The first coaches between Detroit and Pontiac opened service in 1823.

Dr. Mason also spoke of early taverns springing up along stagecoach routes, such as the Clinton Tavern in Waterford, Hodges House in Pontiac and Botsford Tavern near Farmington.

Richard C. Poole reported on the progress of restoring the root cellar at the Moses Wisner Home.

"A place where our forefathers stored potatoes, onions, apples and other produce during winter months, the outdoor root cellar is probably not even in the vocabulary of today's children," commented Mr. Poole.

Under the supervision of Arthur Hinderleider, department of public instruction of the State of Michigan, the 100-year-old cellar will be completely restored by September, he said.

The Silhouettes, a trio composed of Margaret Ann Beattie, Sheila Jacobson and Martha Johnson, presented several vocal numbers. Mrs. Eugene D. Rexford was a piano accompanist.

Serving on arrangements were Mrs. John E. Windate, Mrs. James W. Huttenlocher, Mrs. James L. Howlett, Mrs. Richard M. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Marion H. Benter, Miss Emma Howard, Miss Virginia Ward, John E. Linabury, J. S. Sibley, Miss Laura Hunter, Mrs. Florence Schlosser, Mrs. L. L. Dunlap and Mrs. Ann Helper.

Take Fling Before Finals

By BARBARA GRIFFIN

University of Michigan students are burning the midnight oil this week before semester exams begin Monday. The ten-day examination period will end June 6 with commencement exercises scheduled for June 8 in Michigan Stadium.

Many took a last fling before exams by attending the annual spring concert of the Michigan Men's Glee Club Saturday evening. This was the last appearance of the group before its European tour this summer. Plans are to enter the International Musical Festival—competition in Wales, where the group won the first place trophy in 1959, on the last tour.

Area members of the Glee Club are Gary Rylea, Roseale; Jeff Gilbert, Chester; Herb Green, Cranbrook Ross; and Don Cole of Elmgate. Don is also a member of the Priors, the popular vocal octet which performed several numbers during the concert and is in demand for parties around campus.

The University choir also presented their spring concert last week. Singing in the program of combined choirs under Maynard Kline's direction—were Marilyn Vernon of Westland; Gary Rylea, Carol Wargelin of Voores; Diana Owen of Auburn Road; and Eva Barnett of Norwood.

Playing in the violin section of the University Symphony Orchestra for the concert Thursday evening was Jean Huttula of Rose-lawn.

Twice every semester President and Mrs. Harlan Hatcher open their home for a student tea. Last week the tea was given to honor graduating seniors, although all students were welcome to attend. Serving as a student hostess for this affair was Connie Crocker of Draper.

Sunday afternoon Panhellenic Association and the Interfraternity Council combined efforts to canvass the entire Ann Arbor area collecting funds for ALSA, a leukemia research program. Among the affiliates participating in this door-to-door campaign were Ted Gasenbauer of North Ham-mond Lake Drive and Phyllis Benicke of Lakeview.

The fraternity and sorority spring pledge classes have also been engaged in altruistic work as a break. Exam their studies this week. It is "Help Week" for Junior Panhellenic and Junior Interfraternity Council as the pledges are helping over 15 Ann Arbor charities. One of these projects taken over as part of Help Week is Operation Hand-clasp, where the students collected books from faculty members to send to the Philippines.

Waterford Band Elects Officers at Rehearsal

Waterford Township Civic Band elected next year's officers at its final rehearsal Monday.

Gerald Irish, incoming president, will be assisted by Mill Hill, vice president; Geraldine Cheal, secretary; Vernon Schiller, treasurer; Roy Lambert, historian; and Robert Wedow and Hal Franch, membership.

William Cheal and Al Ostrander will handle publicity, and social activities will be directed by Bernice Fritz and Ann Somers.

Earl Somerville, director, will conduct the final program 3 p.m. Sunday at Waterford Kettering High School.

Annual Confab

Bar Auxiliary Meets

Members of the Oakland County Bar Association Auxiliary met at Forest Lake Country Club Wednesday for a luncheon and annual meeting. Mrs. Verne C. Hampton was in charge of arrangements.

Outgoing President Mrs. Clark J. Adams conducted the election of officers and installed Mrs. Cecil McCallum as president.

Assisting her will be Mrs. Howard Bond, president elect; Mrs. Robert Anderson, recording secretary; Mrs. Jack Huston, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Douglas W. Booth, treasurer.

Other officers include Mrs. H. Russel Holland, auditor; Mrs. Robert E. Rann, historian; and Mrs. George H. Cary and Mrs. Adams as directors.

Mrs. Donald E. Adams, chairman of the day, introduced Mrs. Wallace Watt, superintendent of the Girls' Training School in Adrian. Mrs. Watt explained the training technique at the school.

Cochairman of the ladies program at the Michigan Bar Association in Detroit Sept. 26-28, Mrs. Arthur E. Moore, described her committee's plans.

Open Thurs., Fri., Mon. Evenings 'til 9 P.M.

PONTIAC MALLSEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer: I took the pattern instructions too literally and slashed the darts in my skirt open too far. Now they are raveling out.

I used iron-on mending tape cut in strips to cover the dart seams and this backing certainly solved the problem for me. When should darts be slashed open safely? Mrs. R. A. Z.

Dear Mrs. R. A. Z.: I usually recommend slashing the darts on the fold line and pressing them flat (or open) only when they appear in a jacket that will be lined.

In this way, the fabric will not be pulled constantly. It is necessary to press open only darts that are made in very heavy fabrics.

Mrs. M. says: If you're a gardener with a green thumb, and do a lot of bending and kneeling, give added protection to your knees by adding a large patch pocket (about 6½ by 8 inches) to the knees of your trousers, or slacks.

Sew three sides to the slacks, then apply a slide fastener on the top.

Slip pads of quarter-inch foam rubber into these knee pockets. They will provide wonderful comfort and protection of knees and are easily removed for laundering.

Dear Eunice: The finest pins I could find still made marks on my very fine silk. How would I go about using pins for this, or should I baste instead? Mrs. M. F.

Dear Mrs. M. F.: In most cases, a fine silk-pin will work beautifully in the very sheerest fabrics.

However, if they mark, use No. 10 or No. 11 needles instead of pins.

You must also remember to use a very fine sewing machine needle. If your needle is the least bit blunt, it will pull threads in the fabric.

SQUARE DANCERS DELIGHT

Fashions come and go for almost everyone. But to a square dancer, they remain basically the same.

Please have a heart and tell us how to make a broomstick skirt and, even more important, how to wash it without losing the original pleated effect.

These dresses are very expensive and we can't replace them often. That Right-Hand Gal

I've always had a suppressed desire to learn to square dance. Thanks for reminding me before it gets too late.

These square skirts are very full (at least four widths of fabric) and may be made in one piece or in three tiers of ruffles gathered on to each other.

In any case, you should reduce the excess fullness at the waistline by a series of darts about four inches long.

After the skirt is completed or washed, moisten in water and lay it on a table. Stretch and pull the fabric to straighten it so the fullness is even from hem to waistline.

The newest method, I'm told, is to carefully pull the entire skirt through a nylon stocking (that has the foot cut off).

Tie the skirt tightly in four to six places. Hang up to dry on a windy day so the skirt will not mildew from remaining wet too long.

The new drip-dry fabrics are perfect. If you follow these directions carefully, your skirt will have a fine pleated effect and these pleats will stay in surprisingly long.

Good luck!

Pontiac Area UF Honors 115 Volunteers

Remove Dust, Lint

Vacuum mattresses several times a year, and remove dust and lint from the crevices and tufts.

Pontiac Area United Fund honored some 115 volunteers and guests at the second annual awards tea Wednesday at Pine Knob.

The women's division also honored an outstanding volunteer from each of the local agencies affiliated with the fund.

Highlight of the afternoon was the presentation of volunteer awards by Mrs. Walter Noffsinger, women's division chairman, and Karl Bradley, executive director of the fund.

Top award was presented Mrs. Joseph Fox for her outstanding contribution in community service. Mrs. Gelston Poole, member of the Community Chest Board of Pontiac and other organizations, was also honored.

Special merit plaques were awarded Mrs. Leslie Howey, Mrs. Barney Habel and Mrs. Marie Yockey.

Other plaque recipients were Mrs. C. C. Bingham, Mrs. M. J. Scott, Mrs. D. H. Warriow, Mrs. C. B. O'Neill and Mrs. R. W. Steere Jr.

Other agency award winners were Roy B. MacAfee, Thomas

Kennedy, Mrs. F. W. Prather, J. P. Hanson, R. S. Forman, Mrs. W. E. Carey, A. L. Adams, Mrs. J. J. Walsh, Mrs. J. D. McNeely, R. E. Cromis and Mrs. L. R. Swartz.

Similarly honored were volunteers from the Women's Committee, Motor Aides, Friendly Visitors, Campaign Committee and the Tribute Fund.

Speaker for the occasion was James Dickerson, assistant to the chancellor for development at Oakland University.

Penalize 87 in Skirmish With Airport

DALLAS (AP)—Lawyer James P. Donovan drew a 20-day jail sentence, and 86 homeowner clients were fined $200 each yesterday for continuing a court fight against municipal airport improvements.

Sheriff's officers escorted Donovan to jail immediately after Chief Justice Dick Dixon imposed the contempt penalties in Texas' 5th Court of Civil Appeals. Two associate justices joined in the decision.

Judge Dixon told the homeowners to pay the fines by Monday or they also would go to jail.

On order of the Texas Supreme Court, the three-judge appellate court here had issued a writ forbidding the Dallas lawyer and his clients to proceed with their legal battle.

The homeowners have been trying to block construction of a new jet runway at Dallas' Love Field. They claim it will send jet liners over their dwellings, cause disturbing noise and endanger life.

Since the writ was issued, the homeowners have carried their still-unsuccessful fight into federal court.

Donovan's sentence is the maximum under state law. Denied bail, he twice asked a stay to pursue appeals and was turned down.

In the booking section of the county jail, Donovan complained that he had been sentenced "for a case that is on appeal" before the federal court in New Orleans. He expressed hope that a court would grant him a writ of habeas corpus to get out of jail.

"I don't mind the 20 days as much as them sticking those people for $200—in some cases $400, per family," Donovan said.

ON THE BEACH — New York Gov. and Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller stroll along a Virgin Island's beach during the second stop on their three-week honeymoon. The newlyweds are due back in New York today.

Honeymoon Over

Rocky, Bride Due Back

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. and Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller are due home late today from a 17-day honeymoon in Venezuela and the Virgin Islands.

A family spokesman said yesterday the couple will arrive at Idlewild Airport on a commercial airliner from St. Croix.

They will be accompanied by the governor's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence S. Rockefeller, who joined the couple last weekend for a cruise on Laurence's yacht.

The spokesman said he understood that the couple will stay at the executive mansion at Albany or at the family estate at Pocantico Hills in Westchester County until alterations have been completed on the governor's Fifth Avenue apartment.

Rockefeller, a potential contender for the Republican presidential nomination next year, has refused to discuss with newsmen the effects of his remarriage on his political career.

Rockefeller and the former Margaretta Frier Murphy, both divorced, were married May 4 at Pocantico Hills.

Mississippi GOP Backs Goldwater for President

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., has been officially endorsed by the Mississippi Republican party for the GOP's 1964 presidential nomination.

The GOP's state executive committee Wednesday endorsed Goldwater and urged him to seek the Republican nomination for president of the United States in 1964.

Largest Russian Glacier Begins Sudden Move

MOSCOW (AP)—The Fedchenko Glacier, one of the largest in the Soviet Union, has suddenly begun moving thunderously at an expected speed and in a reported Wednesday night the vil-

BIG BOY—They call it a shovel, but it's as big as a hill. This mechanical giant to be used in strip mining is 11 stories high now and, when completed, will be 17 stories. The 11-million-pound machine is being assembled near Hallowell, Kan.

Irish Debate Big Question: Is It Shamrock or Sham?

WASHINGTON—Yes, Maureen, Trinity. He converted the chief, tain on the spot.

The trouble is that no one, least of all the Irish, can decide which green was an Irish custom for centuries after St. Patrick. In his 16th-century history of Ireland, Edmund Campion wrote: "Shamrocks, watercresses and other herbs they feed upon; oatmeal and butter they cram me together."

Eight varieties of three-leaved herbs are commonly and dogmatically called the "true" shamrock, the National Geographic Society says.

Nathaniel Colgan, a member of the Royal Irish Academy, tried to settle the question in 1891. He appealed to all of Ireland's 32 counties for specimens of the one and only shamrock.

Twenty-one counties responded with four distinct species: white clover (Trifolium repens), small yellow hop clover (T. dubium) red clover (T. pratense), and black medic (Medicago lupulina).

OTHER CONTENDERS

Other strong contenders for the proud name are zig-zag clover (T. medium), wood sorrel (Oxalis acetosella), bird's-foot trefoil (Lotus corniculatus), and the current favorite, yellow-flowered clover (T. minus).

Botanists usually hedge by listing two or three of the eight as probably true shamrocks. Ten years ago the new edition of the official "Flora of the British Isles" washed its hands of the controversy: It simply dropped shamrock as a plant designation.

Showing no favoritism, Irish growers ship several varieties of shamrocks to the United States for St. Patrick's Day.

Though the nomenclature is disputed, almost everyone agrees of honor when the Irish poet that St. Patrick himself made the Thomas Moore exulted in 1813: "On the shamrock, the green, in iron saint, the story goes, picked mortal shamrock! Chosen leaf of a shamrock to illustrate to a pauper and chief, Old Erin's native can leader the doctrine of the shamrock!"

Pace-Setter for Safety

Bike Is King of the Road in Florida City

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (UPI)—This Florida city is known as "the city of bicycles" and that is not a misnomer, considering one in every three vehicles on its streets is a bike.

But more than being an important place for bicycle usage, it is a pace-setter in bicycle safety. Drive down any number of streets in this Miami-area community and you see bright blue, rectangular signs along the roadway, "Bicycle Safety" Route," they read.

The unique signs went up early this year to designate special streets where bicyclists—children and adults alike—can ride with relatively greater safety than on more heavily traveled, higher-speed traffic arteries.

The "bicycle boulevards," for the most part, parallel main streets. They lead to important commercial and recreational areas with schools and playgrounds.

Cohorts Do Their Stuff for Volunteer Clowns

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP)—Turnabout is fair play, believe the members of Clowns, Inc., of Corpus Christi.

Mrs. Jewell Barnes, charter members of every grade and junior high school student in Homestead, where more than 300 children ride bikes to school each day.

The organization hopes ultimately to have bicycle streets barred altogether, but it believes the present program is an important first step.

CURIOUS SIDE EFFECT

The idea behind the bicycle safety route signs was to mark safe routes, but city officials noted a curious side effect: Motorists drive slower along streets posted with the signs, although they are under no legal compulsion to do so (except normal speed limits).

On the day the safety signs were put up, route maps and explanatory memos were distributed to every grade and junior high school student in Homestead, where more than 300 children ride bikes to school each day.

A member of the Homestead police department visited each classroom to give a short talk about the signs and bicycle safety in general.

With Mr. and Mrs. George

Fichter providing much of the push, the Bicycle Club promoted the safety sign idea and won support of numerous individuals and civic organizations.

The Bicycle Club is following up the sign project with a massive bicycle safety education campaign and, with police department cooperation, if a e-mail soon will have a system of bicycle inspection and registration.

Homestead Mayor Richard J. Conley is convinced motorists are taking the signs seriously and ultimately they may prevent a number of accidents. "The short message on each sign tells a big story," he said.

Some Eskimos believe the souls of the dead reincarnate themselves in newborn infants and protect the growing children from harm. When the child grows old enough to take care of himself, the spirit departs.

LASER LOCATOR—Firing a light beam instead of a projectile, rifle-like Colidar Mark II uses the new science of lasers to measure the precise distance of a target instantaneously. The portable Colidar (for Coherent Light Detection and Ranging) uses an "invisible" laser beam to pinpoint remote targets such as tanks. Engineer Rod Smith of Hughes Aircraft Co. prepares to fire laser.

About 75 per cent of all the sugar cane produced in the United States is grown in Louisiana. The king of Sweden is required to be a member of the Lutheran church.

Junior Editors Quiz on SPARTANS

QUESTION: What ever happened to the ancient Spartans?

ANSWER: The powerful man with the stern look was a citizen of Sparta when that Greek city-state was the great rival of Athens (see map).

Called a citizen, he really was an aristocrat, a member of the ruling class. He, however, was subservient to the state, which gave him land to support himself and family; he had to keep it producing, or lose it.

He did no actual work, this being the job of his "helots," various people whom the Spartans had enslaved.

Once the helots rebelled and it took the Spartans 20 years to regain control. After this they started a deliberate program of training a master race.

Boys were brought up to be tough and brutal, to fight supremely well. Often Spartans killed a few helots just to terrify the rest.

The Spartans grew so strong that they crushed Athens and took control of Greece. But their very strength undid them.

They were so cruel to their neighbors that they were overthrown in a great revolt in 371 B. C. There were too few Spartan citizens to maintain a large army.

In 146 B. C., Sparta was taken over by the expanding Roman Empire. There is a modern Sparta near the site of the old one.

FOR YOU TO DO: The story of the war between Sparta and Athens is a very exciting one. Read about it in a book or in Life Magazine for April 15, 1963.

It's Surprise for Them Both

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Jeanette Hanson of Palo Alto, Calif., was en route to Phoenix to surprise her brother, Max May, whom she hadn't seen in eight years.

During a stop at a Palm Springs, Calif., restaurant she was having difficulty closing the trunk of her car.

The motorist who went to her aid was Max May, who also was stopping at the restaurant while returning to Phoenix from a business trip.

The U.S. consumes more pulp and paper than the rest of the world combined.

Says Mrs. Aldous Huxley

Enlightening to Attend Your Own Funeral

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — "Attend your (own) funeral."

Now there's a macabre thought. But bear with it. It might be an enlightening vicarious experience.

"Most of us have said to ourselves at some time, usually in childhood, 'If I were dead they would be sorry!'," says Laura (Mrs. Aldous) Huxley. "Some of us played out the fantasy as a game, imagining our parents weeping."

"It served us then. A whole-some device for the release of childhood frustrations. It can serve us now as adults."

So — if you have adult frustrations — this is what Mrs. Huxley recommends you do:

Be sure you'll be alone for about two hours.

Have your room comfortably dark or dimly lighted.

Lie down on your bed or sofa. Do not speak or move. Imagine all the life is out of your body. That you have died. That this is your funeral.

IS THERE ONE?

Look at the people who come to bid you farewell. Is there one among them to whom you would like to say something, to explain something, to express a certain feeling?

If looking at someone makes you want to cry — then do cry, deeply and freely. You have every right to your tears.

Do you have a problem which has been difficult to solve? Now, at your "funeral," your decision will probably be clarified.

Now turn your attention to the person whom you disliked, or who irritated or repelled you more than any other in your life. Is there anything you want to say to that person?

Say it now.

And then look at the one or ones you love most. Say whatever you wish or feel like saying. It is not too late. This is your last party.

EVERYONE

Speak to everyone there, tell them all about yourself, about your mistakes and your suffering, about your love and longings. No longer do you need to protect yourself behind a wall or a suit of armor. It is your last party; you can explode.

At your funeral you can be yourself.

Now it is over. Come back to your living body. Acknowledge it and respect it.

Feel the life flowing in it. Wriggle. Swallow. Stretch. Blink. Feel your heart beat. Say your name aloud. Look at something beautiful. Touch something you like. Clap your hands.

Take a paper and pencil and make a list of the things you wanted to say or do when you were at the funeral. Maybe you'll do them.

RECIPES

Attending your own funeral is only one of a wide (and wild) variety of "recipes" for a better life offered by famed author Huxley's wife in her first book, titled "You Are Not the Target."

It is a fascinating compilation of exercises for dealing with everything from headaches and insomnia to envy, tension and fear.

The book requires $4.95 and a good imagination, but it is delightful to read. Sort of a "power of private or public motor vehicle."

some techniques of psychiatry, some Buddhist secrets of tranquility, and some ideas from the Bible.

I recommend it highly to people who can imagine themselves hanging from a star, being a shark in the sea, dancing naked in the bedroom, floating silently down a non-existent river.

Those who have experimented with Mrs. Huxley's dramatic exercises for better living have found them efficacious. The very least they can do for you (just TRY attending your own funeral sometime) is make you think.

Picks Sandusky Lawyer as Court Commissioner

LANSING (AP) — Appointment of Sandusky attorney Charles Rigney as Circuit Court Commissioner for Sanilac County was announced yesterday by Gov. George Romney.

Rigney succeeds George Benko, who is now a probate judge.

Ford Hurries Output After Chicago Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. announced yesterday a double-barreled setup in its car and truck production to meet increased customer demand and offset a nine-day production disruption caused by a strike at a Chicago Heights, Ill., Ford stamping plant.

Ford, which adjusted its production schedules upward three times in the last few weeks, said it would add an additional 34,000 cars and trucks to its 1963 model production.

In addition, it will increase production to make up a company estimate of 35,000 units lost because of the Chicago tie-up.

The company said the Chicago plant, which returned to production Monday night, is shipping such parts as hoods, doors, and trunk covers to Ford's 16 assembly plants as rapidly as possible so full production may be resumed.

'Cuban Exiles Complicate Fight on Reds'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A State Department spokesman said yesterday U.S. efforts to rid the hemisphere of Castroism are being complicated by Cuban exile "political leaders jockeying for position against the day of return to Cuba."

Edwin M. Martin, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, made the statement as a Senate Judiciary subcommittee opened hearings on the refugee problem.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., subcommittee chairman, said "storm warnings in Miami" indicate relations are deteriorating between residents and the exiles there.

He said the United States will press its efforts to prevent hit-and-run raids while concentrating on a policy aimed at withdrawal of Soviet troops and convincing the Soviets "they are backing a losing and expensive force," in Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Martin said the United States is multilateral measures to isolate Castro, increase his already serious economic difficulties and prevent "by military means if necessary" Cuban-based and supported subversion of Latin America.

He reiterated administration opposition to establishment and recognition of a Cuban government in exile.

Automat Diners a Hearty Breed

NEW YORK (AP)—If you've ever visited one of New York's crowded automat cafeterias, you'll appreciate this.

Joe Damone, a staff artist for The Associated Press, recently stopped at a midtown automat for a quick sandwich and coffee.

He deposited his money in the appropriate slots, reached in for his fare, carried it to an adjoining table where the usual seating arrangement is four people.

Carefully placing his food at the one remaining seat, he stacked his tray and then decided that some dessert would go well, too.

In less than a minute he was back with his cherry pie, but hesitated as he found no place at the table he thought he left his sandwich.

Doing several doubletakes to be sure he was in the right place—yes, this was his seat—there sat a well-groomed, middle-aged man munching Joe's ham and cheese sandwich and gulping his coffee.

Before Joe could raise even the slightest protest, the stranger reached into his grey Chesterfield topcoat and gave Joe the exact amount of his snack, sixty cents—two quarters and time!

Wynn to Be Honored at Actors Equity Anniversary

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — On Saturday night, West Coast members of Actors Equity will gather at a Beverly Hilton banquet to salute the stage union's 50th birthday. An honored guest will be Ed Wynn.

Younger members of Equity probably are unaware of the significance of the Wynn honor.

The fact is that Wynn played a major role in the success of Actors Equity, the first major union in show business.

I went out to Disney Studios to hear about the comedian's serious role in the union movement.

He had just returned to earth after flying with Julie Andrews on wires for the fantasy, "Mary Poppins."

"This shows you what actors have to do to get work nowadays," he commented with his familiar fire-chief giggle.

He and other performers in the movie were being paid handsomely for their flights, of course. Wynn reminisced of a time when performers weren't so protected.

"Before the Equity strike, actors weren't paid anything for rehearsal time," he said. "They might rehearse six weeks for a show that closed in a week. That meant they were paid for one week when they put in seven weeks' work."

He cited other grievances: contracts allowed actors to be paid half-time for Easter and pre-Christmas weeks, traditionally the worst in show business. Some contracts allowed no pay during election week; one producer invoked the clause, while a show was playing in Canada.

"Some producers would cancel contracts when they felt like it," Wynn added. "Actors had no recourse."

Because of such conditions, Actors Equity went on strike Aug. 6, 1918. Although he wasn't a member, Wynn walked out of his show, "Shubert's Gaieties of 1918." Broadway was virtually shut down, but the theater men stood firm.

Wynn recalled a strike meeting at which he advocated taking Equity into the American Federation of Labor.

"I was hissed from the floor," he said. "I argued that the strike wasn't going to succeed unless the actors got some support. They wouldn't listen to me until Ethel Barrymore got up. With her commanding presence, she convinced the members that my idea might have merit."

DIGNITY TO LABOR

Wynn's suggestion was heeded and he personally got a charter from Samuel Gompers, president of the AFL. Gompers told him that the membership of the Broadway stars lent dignity to the labor movement.

Equity won the month-long strike a few days after the AFL charter was granted. And Wynn was made a life member. But his problems weren't over.

"I couldn't find a producer who would hire me," he said. "Later I learned through my friend Mrs. Zigfield (Billie Burke) that the managers had actually stood in a circle and crossed arms, vowing anyone who hired me would be considered an S.O.B."

That was when he started writing and producing his own shows. But no one would rent him a New York theater. Wynn took his problem to President Wilson's secretary, Joseph Tumulty, who had been his wife's godfather. Word came back that the President had spoken to the attorney-general, who said that refusal of a theater to Wynn would be considered restraint of trade. The comedian quickly got his theater and continued his career as Broadway's perfect fool.

German Students Visit

Attempt to End Israeli Bitterness

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — The meeting took place in one of the buildings on the Hebrew University campus in Jerusalem.

German and Israeli students sat facing each other across a conference table. The atmosphere was tense.

One of the Germans was speaking slowly in English, choosing his words with care. He proposed holding a joint German-Israeli symposium in Germany on the problem of anti-Semitism.

The Israeli students stirred restlessly. One interrupted the German: "Anti-Semitism is your problem, not ours. Considering that so many people in Israel have experienced the Nazi holocaust, it is morally out of the question for Israeli students to go to Germany."

The Germans offered to hold the symposium elsewhere in Europe. This, too, was rejected by the Israeli students.

Suddenly, an Israeli student jumped to his feet and shouted: "Why don't you go back to Germany? You are not welcome here!"

Turning to his fellow students, he declared: "It is wrong for us to have anything to do with Germans. This meeting is disgraceful!"

GERMANS STUNNED
With these words he left the room, followed by five other students.

The Germans sat perfectly still, shaken by this outburst. One of the German girls burst into tears. Soon after, the meeting broke up in a slightly more cordial atmosphere.

The Israeli press reacted sharply to the incident. Some newspapers supported the stand taken by the six students who had stalked out of the meeting.

Take Shorthand in Latin Tongue (With Accents)

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Among the problems faced by the Vatican in connection with the Ecumenical Council was that of finding enough persons capable not only of taking shorthand in Latin, but in Latin of many accents.

The job of making a verbatim record of the speeches given during the historic meeting was done by 45 ecclesiastical students from all parts of the world. They studied a special shorthand method developed by Prof. Aloys Kemmerich, teacher of stenography for interpreters at the University of Magenza.

The students came from Austria, Ceylon, Egypt, France, Germany, England, India, Ireland, Italy, Mexico, Paraguay, Central Africa, Spain and the United States, raising the question of why, because the speeches were in Latin, the stenographers were not recruited only from Latin nations.

Vatican officials explained that the bishops who grappled with Latin speeches came from all parts of the world and their pronunciation of the language of the Caesars had such strong accents that only stenographers familiar with the national language of the speakers were able to understand them.

TV Teaching 50,000 India Teen-Agers

NEW DELHI (AP) — India's only television station recently stepped up its power to 5,000 watts and is now serving 50,000 high school students in the capital area.

Under a grant from the Ford Foundation, All India radio is telecasting chemistry, physics, English and Hindi lectures to students in the ninth and 10th grades in Delhi.

The lectures and demonstrations are taped by Indian teachers in advance.

The program began in October 1961 with 144 schools taking part. As of September 1962, 379 sets were functioning in 189 schools.

Extension of the program to Bombay and other cities is envisioned.

There are no plans in India at present for any other TV stations except educational ones.

First automatic glass blowing machine was invented in 1903.

A few strongly condemned the Israel Students Association for arranging this meeting with the Germans. But most of the press showed a more moderate attitude.

The Jerusalem Post criticized the Israeli students who had hurled insults at the Germans who are members of a student group called the "Deutsch-Israelitische Studentengruppen (DIS)." to promotion of friendship between Germany and Israel. Those Israelis who disapproved of such contacts would "have done better to have stayed away," the Post said.

The German students were the first to visit Israel this year. Last year, over 1,000 came here. Their trips are largely subsidized by the German government, church groups, trade unions and factories.

Carefully selected out of a large number of applicants, they came here well informed about Israel but are nervous about the reception they are likely to get.

All applicants about whom there is the slightest suspicion of a Nazi or anti-Semitic past are rejected out.

GROWING MOVEMENT
Since the war, a growing movement in Germany, consisting of first of individual Germans with an anti-Nazi past and gradually embracing student and religious groups, has been searching for some way to bridge the gulf between the two peoples and to restore in some symbolic way the crimes committed against the Jews in Germany.

These are not tourists in the ordinary sense. Many come to "do penance." Members of a group called Action for Symbolic Penance have been spending time in European countries once occupied by the Germans, taking part in constructive building projects.

In Israel, they ask to be allowed to work in border settlements where manpower is scarce.

Out of a total of 273 settlement approached, only 12 so far have agreed to accept Germans as working visitors. These 12 are "young villages" of Israeli-born "Sabras" who do not share the personal memories of older Jews of European origin who lost parents, brothers, sisters or children in the Nazi holocaust.

Ten years ago meetings such as these student groups would have been impossible. No German was permitted to enter Israel and Israeli passports were stamped: "Not valid for travel in Germany."

YOUNG ISRAELIS FRIENDLY
"Begeister!" — enthusiastic — is the word most frequently cropping up in letters and articles sent home by German visitors.

Fearing the worst, they are often pleasantly surprised at the generally friendly reception they get, particularly from young Israelis.

Meanwhile, meetings between the Germans and the Israelis take place, though not always comfortable for the Germans. But they do not usually complain of the Israeli attitude.

"It is much better this way," said one German student, "than for us to have met with a cold barrier of hostile silence."

Transparent Woman Had Light Problems

BOSTON (AP) — The Museum of Science's transparent woman was flown to Cologne, Germany for surgery.

The transparent lady, brought here from Cologne in 1955, has been viewed by an estimated 750,000 persons.

But her innards had gone awry. The lighting system was on the blink.

When her heart lighted, so too, did her gall bladder.

That created considerable confusion.

Wrong-Way Possum Enters the Wrong Door

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — The family cats at the William H. Kroeger home have a private swinging door through which they wander at will.

What Mrs. Kroeger thought was an unusually clumsy cat coming through the entrance woke her one night. It was a baby possum investigating the house.

Motorists Get Tips on Driving in the Fog

CHICAGO (AP) — Early-rising motorists often find they must drive through fog before the sun rises very high.

The Chicago Motor Club advises motorists to reduce speed in fog as visibility is reduced. To help ease the situation, use headlights — not parking lights in the fog.

Double Slicing

Neat trick: you can use an egg slicer for dicing a hard-cooked egg. First slice the egg, then turn it half way around and slice again.

Adverbial Adventures

'Tom Swifities' Provide Plenty of Pun

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Almost everywhere you look nowadays you find people exchanging "Tom Swifities."

For the benefit of the fortunate few who have kept in the dark about this pun, I shall now attempt to explain what "Tom Swifities" are.

A "Tom Swifitey" is a type of pun. Its roots lie in the Tom Swift adventure books that boys used to read about four decades ago.

If you recall these books, you may remember that Tom and his companions spoke in adverbs. WEST Virtually everything they said was said adverbially. A typical bit of dialogue might go something like this:

"Don't worry, chaps, I'll find a way out," Tom said calmly. "We're with you, Tom," the others said trustingly.

Now if you make up a quotation of your own and apply the adverb in such a way that it forms a pun, you've got a "Tom Swifitey."

For example, my wife and I had a "Tom Swifitey" conversation at the breakfast table this morning.

"What's the matter with this coffee?" I asked bitterly.

"You forgot to put sugar in it," she replied sweetly.

"It still doesn't taste right," I said blackly.

"Try putting cream in it," she muttered thickly.

"There's something else wrong," I said coldly.

"Maybe you didn't plug in the percolator," she said heatedly. One of our local "Tom Swifitey" experts, Jerry Doolittle of the Washington Post, recently compiled a list that included:

"Where could that arrow have landed?" he remarked aimlessly.

An experienced "Tom Swifities" player would immediately respond to that with one of his own, like:

"It's in my back," she screamed piercingly.

Or: "It's in my foot," he said pointedly.

Once you get the hang of it, you can make "Tom Swifities" fit almost any situation, such as this recent piece of news:

"I'm getting married again," Gov. Rockefeller announced happily.

"To whom?" asked Prince Rainier gracefully.

Astronaut Gordon Cooper's recent flight opened up many avenues for "Tom Swifities" adverbs.

Fantastic Hand Dealt Card Buffs

HIGHLAND, Ill. (AP) — Bridge playing card buffs estimate the odds against a single player receiving a perfect suit in a deal is 600 million to one.

The extremely rare combination was dealt to four members of the Highland Bridge Club simultaneously.

A spokesman said each of four women received a full suit from a new, thoroughly shuffled deck.

Mrs. Richard Hammel of Trenton, Ill., holding the spade suit, won a seven-spade bid over Mrs. Floyd Tschennen who held hearts. Mrs. Roland Tschenny held diamonds and Mrs. Roscoe Menz held clubs.

An engineering graduate of Washington University, using a calculating machine, estimated if every person in the world was dealt 120 hands daily, it would take 102 trillion years for the combination to appear again.

Final Stand Being Made for 'Drudgery'

LONDON (AP) — The drudgers last stand is being made on the beaches of London-River. Time, however, is against them.

A drudger is a longshoreman who searches the river bed at low water for coal dropped overboard when ships are being unloaded.

The drudgers get their name because of their dirty, back-breaking work which is a mixture of drudgery and dredging.

But they have made a fair living selling the coal to the public at a low price.

Every year there have been fewer and fewer coal ships and the drudgers' line is getting thinner and older.

There are almost no new recruits to drudgery.

The drudgers won a court case to beat off a stealing charge. The court ruled that once the coal goes into the Thames it belongs to the finders.

Demonstration Drive Shows His Intentions

EDMOND, Okla. (AP) — A prospective customer, looking for a car, came in to see automobile salesman Tom Williams. Now Williams is looking for the customer.

A young man, the salesman related, showed interest in an expensive model. He asked permission to drive it on a short road test to see whether he liked it.

Apparently he did. Williams started searching, with police help, for the customer or car or both.

Accommodating Mayor

Gets It in the Neck

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (AP) — Mayor Robert Nelson attended this city's Walnut Festival attired in a white dinner jacket, black tie and gullotine.

As part of the entertainment Nelson had placed his neck in a trick gullotine manned by a magician. The blade slammed down and everyone applauded.

Schools of China Bring Students Down Road to Communism

EDITOR'S NOTE—Schools in Red China are designed to guide pupils carefully down the Marxist-Leninist road, the "Great Leap Forward." This fourth in a series of articles gives a report on the younger generation in Red China.

very gay life. Yet they look happy—the charm of the children is perhaps the happiest impression that the visitor to China carries away with him.

When they leave school, what freedom have they in choosing a career?

Like many of our questions, this one seemed to lose much of its meaning in the Chinese context. The child's aptitudes and attainments are known, and he will find employment for them in some field where the state has signified its need for him. They say he will have the happiness of knowing that he is serving the cause of Socialist reconstruction, and this is more important than what the West calls freedom. Against what seemed to be the utter faith of the Chinese in this assumption, argument was pointless.

Ties of family life, in China, are traditionally strong. Yet now, with industrialization and the increased mobility it brings, families often find themselves living far apart. Of three families we met and talked with in the Ming-Hung industrial estate, nearby, not one had all the children of the marriage living with the parents. The father and mother both go out to work; most of the children have to be brought up by the grandparents.

Parents seem to accept separation from their children without any apparent sorrow or resentment. In Peking, we met a Mr.

Koo, who had a son named—appropriately, in view of the recent year of his birth—Space-Flight.

Space-Flight Koo lives with his grandmother. Mr. Koo is an amateur painter, and when he visits Space-Flight he tries to paint him. He starts on a portrait of his son, but by the time he sees him again Space-Flight has grown beyond all recognition.

All this Mr. Koo told us with smiling good humor. The necessity of separation was accepted without apparent complaint.

By RICHARD P. LISTER

PEKING (AP)—A nation undergoes a great change; suddenly everything is new. But within a very few years there appears a generation to whom the new and revolutionary is the old and familiar.

We tourists visited the middle school at Ming Hung, a new industrial and residential area—a satellite town—outside Shanghai. The children now entering the school, at 12 or 13, were born since the Red revolution. None of the pupils can have any real recollection of the old order.

It is an old-established school, built in 1908. The principal, Mr. Yeh, was more determined than most Chinese we met to impress us with the correctness of his ideology. Before the "liberation," he told us, all the students were bourgeois. Now, 86 per cent are from worker or peasant families.

There are 1,000 of them, and most of them live here during term. They live nine to a room—small rooms, with double bunks on each side and a single bed almost filling up the remaining space.

SCHOOL GOALS

The aims of the school? To form the children morally, intellectually and physically, we are told. Cultural and scientific knowledge must be taught, but education must also impress the desired working-class outlook, and some time must be devoted to productive labor.

Every student spends 3 to 4 hours a week either cultivating the school fields, working in the shops, or on domestic duties—cleaning or in the kitchen. We visited the workshops. A line of 14 trucks was drawn up in the yard, engines and chassis only. Girls and boys were cutting up steel angles and sheet for building the bodies. Productive labor is sternly practical. Down the road from the workshops we found the school piggery—small enclosures for ducks and chickens.

The children must learn to serve the Communist reconstruction of the country; so there are two hours a week of classroom instruction in Marxism-Leninism, and two further hours are spent in discussion or in studying political subjects. Three to five days of the vacation are spent in militia training.

PUPIL PROGRESS

And how do the pupils—50 to a class—fare in their studies? There are still shortcomings, Mr. Yeh told us seriously. In one class there are one or two students who will fail their examinations. Still, if a student fails or has a bad record, everybody in the class is to help him. It's the old appeal to "public opinion" however narrow which is supposed to influence the backslider, Yeh said.

The teaching staff appears to be well paid by Chinese standards. One woman who had taught for 30 years, including 20 at this school, received 157 yuan per month ($70)—against the national average wage of 70 yuan.

It does not seem as if the schoolchildren of China have a

Burma Government Listing to the Left

(EDITOR'S NOTE — UPI's general news manager for Asia is the first Western newsmen to enter Burma since the government stopped giving visas to foreign journalists three months ago. In the following dispatch he reports on the current status of the so-called "Burmese way to socialism.")

By DONALD J. BRYDON RANGOON (UPI) — The sleek airliner touched down at Mingaladon airport 10 miles outside Rangoon, and eight passengers stepped off.

A British businessman was chatting with a man making his first visit to Burma.

"Not many people are going to Burma these days," he said. "It's a pity. Rangoon is one of the nicest cities in the Orient, but there isn't much to attract the Westerner any more."

There is little doubt that this is just the way the government wants it. Trade with the West is openly discouraged.

The revolutionary council, under the direction of Gen. Ne Win, took control of the government in an almost bloodless coup in March 1962. The teen-aged son of Sao Shwe Thaik, the first president of independent Burma, was killed while resisting arrest when army troops surrounded his father's home. He was the only casualty.

Since then the government has moved steadily away from the West and toward the Eastern bloc of nations. It is not a Communist government by any means, but some observers feel the day is coming when it will move all the way to the left.

Today, however, the military men who rule the Revolutionary Council of the Union of Burma call themselves nonaligned socialists.

They say they took over the government last year and picked former Premier U Nu, along with President U Win Maung, Chief Justice U Myint Thein and the entire cabinet, "under protective custody" because the country was on the verge of disintegrating.

U Nu and the other deposed officials are still being held 14 miles north of Rangoon at a military base. They are under heavy guard and U Nu's wife has seen her husband only once since he was arrested.

Western diplomats agree that the most urgent problem facing the Burmese government is that of unity. Various insurgent groups are in open revolt against the government.

The rebels are located in small, widely separated areas. They present no serious threat to the government but stage hit-and-run raids on small outposts and villages.

The largest insurgent groups are made up of Communists and Karens. Two other movements are under way in the Shan states in northeastern Burma. One calls for secession from Burma. The other group desires a change in the constitution which would create a federation of Burma, somewhat along the lines of the government of the United States, with more autonomy for the individual states.

Early in 1962 at meetings in Rangoon and Taunggyi, Shan leaders openly declared they would use force to achieve their ends. This was when the army decided the nation was on the verge of widespread rebellion and possible disintegration. The military moved in on March 2 and has ruled with an iron hand ever since.

Actually the armed forces have taken over the government twice in the past five years. Both times U Nu was premier. On Sept. 26, 1959, U Nu called on the military to form a "caretaker government" which ruled for six months.

Ne Win and his armed forces did not wait for an invitation the second time.

And now, after more than one year of the "Burmese way to socialism" under Ne Win's leadership, where does Burma stand and where is it headed?

All foreign, as well as Burmese, banks have been nationalized. This included Communist China's Bank of China.

Newspapers, magazines and book publishers are licensed and kept under a tight rein. Newspaper allocations are controlled by the government.

Industrialization in Burma is lagging behind other Asian nations but Ne Win says the country must first concentrate on building up its agricultural economy. He plans to set up new industries with money derived from the sale of rice and other agricultural products.

Official government relations with the West have become strained while Burma's ties with the socialist nations have become closer.

Trade with the West was never great but it is less today. Great Britain still has economic and cultural ties with Burma based on England's long period of colonial rule. There is virtually no trade with the United States.

Almost all of the 800 Americans in Burma are missionaries or employees of the U.S. State Department. There are only two American businessmen in Burma. One is an airline representative in Rangoon and the other is a farmer in upper Burma.

Shopping for Loaf of Bread Always Turns Out Expensive

For Hal Boyle By JOY STILLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—Going into the supermarket for just a loaf of bread is like eating only one salted peanut—it simply can't be done.

There may be some purposeful individuals who can march straight to the bread counter, looking neither to the right nor left, but I am not one of them. I have upon occasion managed to get to the bakery department without acquiring anything else along the route. But even when I reach that goal temptation assails me from every side.

STILL NOT SAFE

If by putting my mental blinders on I can manage to separate a loaf of bread from its cupcake pie, and other mouth-watering neighbors, I still am not safe.

It's an old grocery-store formula that the shortest distance between the bread department and the checkout counter is through a maze of shelves packed with irresistible goodies.

To compound the brain-washing, big, bold signs announce that special values are to be had "today only." Reason tells me that those placards have been up for a week and are likely to remain for another. But there's always the chance I might never have another chance.

OKRA WOES

Not to pass up a sale, I pick up two cans of okra from a display labeled in commanding "Save!" In the excitement of getting such a good buy I forget that at home in the cabinet rest two identical cans of okra from the last sale. My family doesn't like okra but I like bargains.

In my slow progress toward the check-out booth I manage to pick up jelly, which looks as though it would taste good on the bread originally came in for, and at least four or five other items I just can't resist.

My bread-buying technique is amateurish, though, compared with that of my husband.

EXOTIC BAGS FULL

Send him to the store for the staff of life and he comes back with two bags full of the most exotic food this side of paradise. He confines his shopping mainly to the gourmet department, a high-priced area I always pass with averted eyes and tightly closed pocketbook.

Fortunately, my husband does not go in for such specialties as fried ants and chocolate-covered grasshoppers. But he does lay in a supply of such glamorous snacks: Ed's smoked turkey and ham cooked in wine sauce. I have to admit that they would make lovely sandwiches.

There's only one drawback to that, however. He always forgets the bread he went to buy.

Financial Editor Dies in Hospital

DETROIT (AP) — Bruce M. Tuttle, financial editor of the Detroit News, died Tuesday night. He was 63.

Tuttle died after an operation for a heart condition. He was hospitalized Monday after complaining of chest pains.

Tuttle joined the News in 1924. He became financial editor in 1949.

Tuttle is survived by his wife Helen; daughters Mrs. Dennis Thomas of Elyria, Ohio, and Mrs. Muri H. Weber, of 2457 Emerson, Pontiac; a sister Margaret A. of Meriden; a brother C. Ed, of St. Louis, Mo., and four children, all of whom are financially injured another.

Talk Was Real Bust

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Bill R. Cannon says he may repeat shortly—with new emphasis—the talk he gave last Sunday at a church meeting.

He spoke on the parable of the Good Samaritan.

While driving home from the church with his wife and daughter, Cindy, 10, Cannon stopped the car to show Cindy an opossum in the road.

As he tried to catch the animal, Cannon fell into a ditch, breaking his right leg.

His wife tried to flag motorists, but none stopped.

At length, Mrs. Cannon dragged her 170-pound husband up the bank and into the car and drove to a hospital.

Add Peanuts, Cheese and Salt to Cornbread for Teen Snack

If yours is a growing family, you probably keep a big supply of snack foods on hand. Youngsters, especially teens, seem to have an endless appetite for cookies, crackers, potato chips and other crunchy foods. To give them variety and good nutrition, here's a brand-new Cheese Snacko that's easy and economical to bake.

Cheese Snacko
1 package corn bread mix
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 cup coarsely chopped salted peanuts
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
1/2 cup (1/2 stick) butter, melted

Simply prepare a package of corn bread mix according to directions, adding 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese. Turn it into a buttered jelly roll pan and spread it evenly. To make the top crunchy and full of flavor, sprinkle on coarsely chopped salted peanuts, more Parmesan cheese and garlic salt. For the finishing touch, drizzle melted butter over the top.

Bake until lightly browned, then remove from the oven and cut it into generous squares. Notice how the kitchen fills with a wonderful aroma while you're waiting for the squares to cool! Then set out a tray of crisp Cheese Snacko squares with plenty of ice cold milk and flash: Kids really go for tall glasses of cold, refreshing milk with this crisp, salty, "peanutty" snack.

The whole family will enjoy Cheese Snacko while watching TV, or at dessert time with dishes of ice cream. Cheese Snacko is sure to be a favorite. Serve it at your house soon.

Prepare corn bread according to package directions, adding the 1/2 cup cheese to the mixture; turn into pan and spread evenly. Sprinkle with peanuts, additional 1/2 cup cheese, and garlic salt; drizzle on butter. Bake 20-25 minutes at 375 degrees, or until lightly browned.

Immediately break into pieces or cut 6x3 to give 48 squares; cool slightly before removing from pan. Ice cold milk is the perfect accompaniment with this salty, crisp snack.

Like Bananas? Mash Them for Muffins

If you have the dry ingredients for these muffins measured and sifted, it won't take you long to put them together.

Banana Bran Muffins
1 1/4 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup sugar
1 egg
1-3 cup milk
3/4 cup ready-to-eat bran
2-3 cup mashed banana
2 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted)
1/2 cup white raisins

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat egg slightly; stir in milk and bran; let stand 5 minutes. Stir in banana, butter and raisins. Add sifted ingredients; stir only enough to moisten them.

Fill muffin - pan wells two-thirds full. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven 20 to 25 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Serve hot.

If muffin-pan wells are 1-3 cup size, recipe will make 12 muffins.

Home Grown Menu

It's Good to Eat Michigan Foods

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Once again we're celebrating a week in honor of our own state. Seems to me we're always honoring somebody or something and it's good to have a personal interest once in a while.

If we gave up coffee, tea and cocoa—and cut citrus fruit, pineapple, coconut and spices out of our menus—we could live on Michigan foods for a long time.

Rather than bore our readers with a lot of statistics on how much of everything Michigan grows, we'd rather give you some recipes using Michigan foods. They do not make up any one menu.

In Tomato Round Steak Rolls you use meat, onions, bacon, canned mushrooms and tomato sauce, all of which can come from our state.

Tomato Round Steak Rolls

1 1/4 pounds round steak
Unseasoned meat tenderizer

2 medium onions, chopped
3 sprigs parsley, chopped
6 slices bacon, cut up
1 3-ounce can sliced or chopped mushrooms, drained (reserve liquid)

1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 bouillon cube

1 8-ounce can tomato sauce

Cut steak in two slices. Pound each slice until it is about 1/4 inch thick, sprinkle with meat tender-izer. Cook chopped onions, parsley, and drained mushrooms with bacon for about 5 minutes.

Cut steak in three sections. Spread about 3 tablespoons of vegetable mixture on each piece and roll tightly. Fasten with toothpicks or tie with string.

Brown the steak rolls in the hot bacon fat. Add mushroom liquid, salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, bouillon cube, and tomato sauce. Bring to a boil, reduce heat, cover and simmer for 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 4-6 servings.

Hearty Ham and Bean Bake is truly representative of Michigan foods.

Hearty Ham and Bean Bake
1 pound dry lima beans* (2 1/2 cups uncooked, 5 1/2 cups cooked)

1/2 pound cooked ham (1 1/4 cups cubed)

5 tablespoons butter

1/4 cup flour

3 cups milk

1/4 cup instant minced onion

1/2 pound American cheese (2 cups shredded)

Salt and pepper, to taste

Cover beans with cold water and allow to stand overnight.

Drain; cover with hot water and simmer gently until beans are tender, seasoning with salt to taste.

Cut ham into small cubes and combine with beans in a 2-quart casserole. Melt butter in a saucepan, add flour and blend. Add milk stirring constantly and cook until smooth and thickened. Add onion and 1/2 of cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

Combine with beans and ham and sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake in a 350 degree oven 30 to 35 minutes, or until mixture is thoroughly heated and lightly browned on top. Makes 6 generous servings.

*3 No. 303 cans of lima or butter beans may be substituted for dried lima beans.

For your next buffet party serve apple slaw in a cabbage "rose." Listen for compliments when your guests see it.

Apple Slaw in a Cabbage Rose

1 medium cabbage

1 cup shredded carrots

1/2 cup chopped green pepper

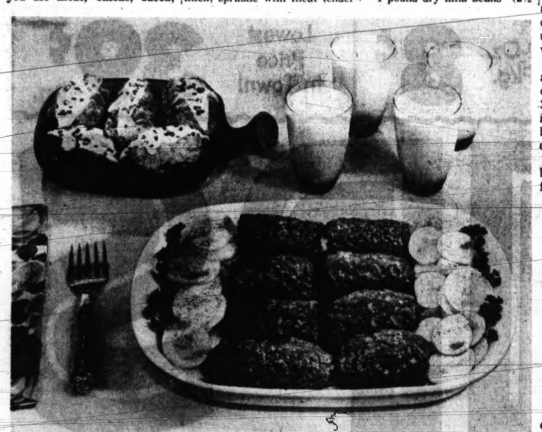

2 teaspoons ascorbic-acid mixture

4 tablespoons water

2 red-skinned apples (3 cups chopped)

1/2 cup sour cream dressing*

Remove outside leaves of the cabbage. Cut out center with a sharp knife. Place in ice-cold water about 1 hour. Drain dry

MICHIGAN FOODS

Just before serving combine apples with cabbage; pour dressing over all and toss well. Fill cabbage rose and serve. Makes 6 servings.

*Sour Cream Dressing: Combine 1/2 cup sour cream, 2 tablespoons pineapple juice, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon tabasco, 1 teaspoon sugar. Makes 1/2 cup dressing.

This last recipe uses two of Michigan's principal foods—tart red cherries and cereal. It's ideal for warm weather as it's made without cooking.

Cherry Cream Pie

CHERRY CREAM PIE

1/4 cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons sugar
2 1/4 cups (1 lb. 3 oz. can) frozen red cherries
1 package instant vanilla pudding mix
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin

Crush cereal into fine crumbs. Blend butter and sugar. Stir in cereal crumbs, mixing well. Press evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of 9-inch pie pan. Chill.

Thaw cherries; drain, reserving syrup. Prepare pudding according to package directions; pour into pie shell. Chill.

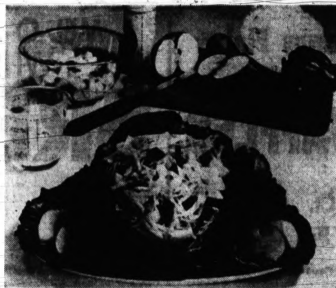

Soften gelatin in 2 tablespoons of cherry syrup. Heat remaining ened gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Stir in cherries. Chill until slightly thickened. Spoon over pie filling. Chill again until firm. Yield: 1 9-inch pie.

Slim-Line Salad

The next time you serve a curry dish, serve a yogurt and cucumber salad with it. Pare and slice the cucumbers paper thin and dress with this Yogurt Dressing: Into 1/2 cup plain yogurt, gradually stir 1/4 cup corn oil Italian dressing.

Still a good salad trick: rub the salad bowl with a cut clove of garlic.

Cereals Contribute to Refrigerator, Freezer Desserts

Almost as good as having your very own pastry chef on call is a well-stocked refrigerator or freezer. For these days, so many appealing company desserts can be made ahead and refrigerated.

Thin, crisp refrigerator cookies are virtually an instant dessert, and delicious with ice cream or sherbet from the freezer. A recipe that makes a big batch of ready-to-bake cookies is Butter-Scotch Refrigerator Cookies. Made with nutlike whole bran cereal, these cookies are appropriate for many occasions.

Another dessert to keep in cool readiness is Tropical Orange Chiffon Pie: Snipped coconut adds a perky touch to the Corn Flake Crumbs crust. The meltingly creamy gelatin filling cools and sets quickly because it uses undiluted frozen orange juice concentrate.

Ice cream in the freezer is fine, but Crunchy Ice Cream Balls in the freezer are even better. The "crunch" is added by a coating of Sugar Snacks (sugar-coated puffed wheat), nuts and brown sugar. A quick sauce for the ice cream balls can be made by heating orange rind and juice with a can of cherry pie filling.

Butterscotch Refrigerator Cookies
3 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup soft butter or margarine
3 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg
1 cup whole bran cereal

Sift together flour and baking powder. Blend butter and sugar; add egg and beat well. Stir in cereal and sifted dry ingredients, a small amount at a time.

Knead dough until smooth; shape into rolls about 1½ inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper, covering ends carefully; chill until firm.

Slice chilled dough very thin; place a little apart on ungreased baking sheets. Bake in hot oven 45 degrees about 7 minutes or until done.

Tropical Orange Chiffon Pie

5 cups corn flakes or ¾ cup packaged corn flake crumbs
2 tablespoons snipped, shredded coconut

2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup soft butter or margarine

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 can (8 oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate
1 cup whipping cream

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Combine corn flake crumbs, coconut, sugar and butter; mix well. Press evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of 8-inch pie pan. Chill.

Mix gelatin, sugar and salt thoroughly in a small saucepan. Add water and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat and stir in undiluted concentrate. Chill, stirring occasionally until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon.

Whip cream until stiff. Fold in orange juice mixture. Pour into crumb-lined pie pan. Chill until firm. Garnish with orange sections. Yield: 6 servings.

Crunchy Ice Cream Balls

1½ cups sugar coated puffed wheat
¼ cup chopped nuts
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1 quart vanilla ice cream

Combine cereal and nuts. Sift brown sugar over mixture, add butter and toss lightly to combine. Spread in shallow pan. Heat in slow oven (325 degrees) about 15 minutes, stirring every 5 minutes. Cool.

Shape ice cream into 6 balls about 2½ inches in diameter. Roll balls quickly in cereal mixture until well-coated. Place in freezer if not served immediately. Serve with hot Cherry Sauce. Yield: 6 Crunchy Ice Cream Balls.

Cherry Sauce

2½ cups (1-lb. 6-oz. can) cherry pie filling
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
½ cup orange juice
Combine all ingredients; heat thoroughly. Yield: 2½ cups sauce.

Noodles for Dessert Will Amaze Guests

Use your noodle to entertain! If there's a club luncheon coming up and you're responsible for the food, here's a clever new idea: Peachy Noodle Kugel to serve warm or cold for dessert. It's inexpensive, it's easy to prepare, and it's pretty at serving time. More than that, it's tasty, as well.

Peachy Noodle Kugel
3 tablespoons salt
9 quarts boiling water (2½ gallons)
1½ pounds medium egg noodles
¾ cup butter or margarine
9 eggs
1½ cups sugar
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
¾ teaspoon salt
6 cups milk (1½ quarts)

Add 3 tablespoons salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander; toss with butter.

Beat together eggs, sugar, lemon peel and ¾ teaspoon salt; stir in milk and almonds. Mix noodles and egg mixture; turn into 3 shallow 2-quart buttered casseroles. Bake in 350 degree (moderate) oven 30 minutes.

Top with peach slices and sprinkle with Streusel Topping. Bake 10 minutes longer. Kugel is best served warm, but may be served cold with sour cream.

Streusel Topping: Melt 1-3 cup butter or margarine; mix with ¾ cup fine dry bread crumbs, 1½ teaspoons cinnamon and ¼ teaspoon cloves.

Cook noodles in one or more pots, according to sizes available. Use proportion of 4 to 6 quarts rapidly boiling water and 2 tablespoons salt to each pound of noodles.

Peas, Onions New in Salad

Easy is the word for this zesty pea salad! It's a breeze to prepare. — And surprise! That delightful onion flavor doesn't require tears in the kitchen. . . . dainty pearl onions come canned with the peas. You only need to open the can, drain and mix with the remaining salad ingredients. Combined with crispy celery and mellow cubes of cheddar cheese, Simple Simon Salad is a flavor treat! A double recipe serves eight to twelve, and along with baked ham, you'll have the makings of a tasty buffet meal.

Simple Simon Salad
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped green pepper
1 pound cheddar cheese, cubed
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
One 17-oz. can small early peas with onions, drained
Lettuce

Toss together celery, green pepper and cheese. Blend mayonnaise or salad dressing with vinegar and seasonings. Add to cheese mixture with canned peas and onions; mix lightly. Chill thoroughly. Serve on crisp lettuce. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

PEACHY NOODLE KUGEL—Here's a delightful dessert idea for a club luncheon. Made with noodles, canned peaches and a streusel topping, it's as economical as it is delicious.

Coffee Is Piquant Touch to Pudding

Suit yourself in the way you serve this dessert — any way it's offered, it's delicious.

Caramel Custard Phyllis
1 package butterscotch-flavored pudding dessert mix
1 tablespoon powdered instant coffee
1 cup heavy cream
1 cup milk

Stir the dessert mix and the coffee together; cook according to package directions using the cream and milk as the liquid. Turn into a bowl; cover tightly; cool. Refrigerate.

Serve, as is in sherbet glasses with whipped cream topping, or use as a filling for cream puffs. The butterscotch-flavored mix plus the coffee and cream give a caramel-like flavor.

Whip Canned Milk to Enrich Dessert

Summer is almost here . . . time to surprise your family with a light, fluffy dessert that tells them a whole season of your good cooking is just beginning!

Whipped Pudding with Fresh Strawberries brings a "special occasion" atmosphere to your family meals . . . and it's so easy . . . so good . . . and so inexpensive. The secret is evaporated milk, the milk you can whip like cream, and it costs only one-half as much.

Evaporated milk is the handiest of convenience foods. It keeps fresh on your cupboard shelf until opened and can be used right from the colorful can to make them a flavorful rich sauces, moist meat loaf mixtures, salad dressings, casseroles and scrambled eggs.

Even when mixed with an equal amount of water, it's richer than whole milk, containing the Vitamin D, protein, calcium and other minerals so important to good health.

Whipped Pudding with Strawberries

1 package (3% ounces) vanilla pudding and pie filling mix
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1½ cups (large can) undiluted evaporated milk
1 cup water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup fresh strawberries, sliced
1 cup angel food or other cake squares

Combine pudding, gelatin, nutmeg, 1 cup undiluted evaporated milk and water in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil. Cover and chill until pudding mounds from a spoon.

Chill remaining ½ cup evaporated milk in refrigerator tray until soft ice crystals form around edges (10 to 15 minutes). Whip until stiff (about 1 minute). Add lemon juice and vanilla; whip very stiff (about 3 minutes).

Whip pudding until smooth. Fold in sliced strawberries and whipped milk.

Layer pudding and cake in a 1½-quart mold or bowl. Chill until firm about 2 hours. Unmold and garnish with whole strawberries and whipped topping, if desired.

CREAMY DESSERT—Whipped pudding with fresh strawberries is a spectacular dessert. Made with evaporated milk, it is an economical, yet beautiful dish.

Tonight top a shortcake (or any dessert) with new Lucky Whip Topping Mix

It's new whip-it-yourself Lucky Whip, in the blue box. You can even whip it in the morning—serve at night. It keeps its fresh-whipped flavor all day long!

MEAT SALAD — Julienne-strips of cooked lamb are joined with diced banana, diced pineapple and celery in a nippy dressing for this Panama Salad winner. If your refrigerator reveals leftover roast lamb or ham, or pork, here's an ideal way of making its repeat performance on your luncheon or dinner table.

Sunday's Roast Good in Salad

Meet the heartiest member of the salad family — a satisfying and refreshing meat salad. With generous amounts of meat added to your salad you're supplying your family with the value protein they need.

Accompaniment for a meat salad is easy. You might start with a cup of hot soup. Buttered peas with little pearl onions and a hot bread such as muffins or corn bread squares will complete your main course.

Follow the same principles in preparing a meat salad as any other. Be sure to cut the meat into easy-to-eat pieces.

Why not introduce your family to any different greens that are available in your market such as endive, bib lettuce, watercress or escarole?

What meats to use in a salad? Sunday's lamb roast can come to dinner next day as chilled lamb cubes teamed with fruit and tossed with a nippy dressing.

Incidentally, the leftover lamb the same as other leftover meats to be at its best should be closely covered to prevent drying out, then stored in the refrigerator.

Leftover cooked meat may also be frozen for later use if you wish. Wrap in a moisture-vapor-proof wrapping to store in your freezer.

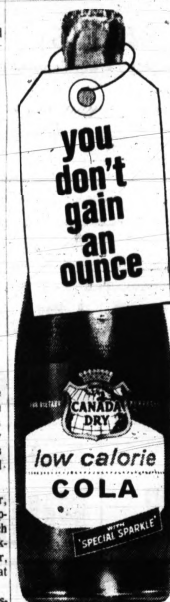

To serve use your large wooden salad bowl or a colorful casserole type dish.

Panama Salad
2 cups julienne-style or diced, cooked lamb
3 ripe bananas
1/2 cup diced pineapple
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
Lettuce
Pecan halves or stuffed olives, if desired
Peel and dice bananas and mix lightly with meat, pineapple and celery. Combine mayonnaise or salad dressing, salt and mustard and toss with meat mixture. Chill.

Serve on crisp lettuce leaves and garnish with pecan halves or diced stuffed olives, if desired. 6 servings.

Corned Beef Aspic Is a Hearty Salad

Serve tasty Corned Beef Aspic for a warm weather evening dish.

Sprinkle an envelope of unflavored gelatin over 1/2 cup water to soften; heat over hot water until dissolved. Mix with two cans condensed consommé, 2 tablespoons prepared horseradish, 1 medium size onion, finely chopped, and 1 cup thinly sliced celery; chill until partially thickened.

Cut a 12 oz. can of corned beef into small cubes; add to gelatin mixture and chill until firm. Unmold on crisp salad greens. Pass mayonnaise.

If desired, the mayonnaise may be seasoned to taste with some prepared mustard. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Coffee Marshmallow

Like the idea of a coffee-flavored marshmallow sauce to top chocolate ice cream for a Mocha Supper? Stir a teaspoon powdered coffee into a tablespoon of boiling water, add half a cup of marshmallow cream and blend. Enough topping for four servings of ice cream.

Frozen French Fries Basis of New Salad

Quiz most Americans on summer salad preferences and chances are you'll discover a potato salad fan. For, from border to border and coast to coast, potato salad is the great favorite.

Serve this new, tangy combination of frozen French fries, crisp celery crescents, cucumber slices and bit-sized pieces of romaine tossed in a palate-pleasing sweet-sour dressing to family and friends and you are sure to have added even more members to the "I love potato salad" fan club.

Here's the perfect recipe to keep at your fingertips for it's a sure favorite whether served with hamburgers hot off the barbecue grill, with that all-time summer favorite — a platter of cold cuts and cheese, or as the gretti-as-a-picture salad for a patio buffet.

Crispy Hot Potato Salad
1/4 pound sliced bacon (about 6 slices)
1 cup sliced onion
1 package (1 pound) or 2 packages (9 ounces each) frozen French fries

1/4 cup water
1/2 cup vinegar
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon celery seed
Dash pepper
4 cups bite-size pieces of romaine or head lettuce (about 6 ounces)
1 cup thinly sliced unpeeled cucumber
1 cup thinly sliced celery crescents
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Fry bacon crisp; remove from drippings and drain on absorbent paper. Reserve 1/4 cup drippings. Heat and lightly brown onion and French fries in drippings, turning as needed to brown evenly.

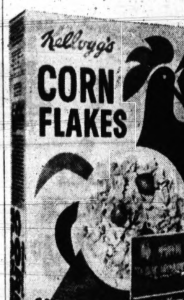

Combine water, vinegar, sugar, flour, salt, celery seed and pepper; mix well. Pour over French fries; cook until dressing thickens. Add romaine, cucumber, and celery; toss lightly to coat vegetables with dressing. Sprinkle crisp bacon and parsley over top of salad. Serve immediately. Yield: 4 servings.

State 'A' Meet Wide Open

There will be a long line of contenders when the state Class A track meets gets under way Saturday at Michigan State University.

Grosse Pointe will head the line, but only because it is the defending champion. The race for honors is being fought on a wide-open affair.

Given equal billing along with Grosse Pointe, are Flint Northern and Central, Pontiac Central, Birmingham Seaholm, Ecorse, Lansing Sexton, Detroit Northwestern and Kalamazoo Central.

"Regional times indicate the first places are going to be spread around," said PCH coach Dean Wilson. "I look for a low team score to take the championship."

Depth will play an important part in the eventual outcome.

PCH qualified 13 for the finals while Flint Northern and Central will have 11 each.

The pole vault should be an all-Oakland County event.

STEWART FAVORED
John Stewart (13-6 1/4) of Pontiac Central, Walled Lake's Steve Pitcher (13-3) and Hazel Park's Vern Hill (13-3 1/4) are rated in that order.

PCH doesn't appear to have a state champion after Stewart. But the Chiefs do have several in the top five and pickup valuable points.

Charlie Humphrey should do well in the high hurdles and may place in the lows. Ted Hindman in both dashes. Tom Lewis in the 440, and high jumper Gerald Henry are expected to score.

The 800 relay team will have to cut a second or two off its regional time and shot put Jim Cummings will have to come up with his best effort if points are to be added in these events.

Jack Harvey is expected to give Seaholm a first in the shot put.

The Maples are also strong in the distance (440, 880 and mile) events.

Kettering's hopes ride on the legs of Orville Mullins and John Popovich. Mullins is among the leading contenders for top honors in the 160 and 220 and Popovich is a good half-mile. With Mullins running the anchor leg, the 880 relay may place.

Regional winners Roger Stewart in the 440 and Bob Richards in the 880 are Bloomfield Hills finalists.

Tom Hoppengardner, second in the mile in the regional, is the third Baron.

John Harris is Pontiac Northern's lone entry in the finals.

Sponsors Needed
Sponsors and adult managers are needed for several junior baseball teams in Waterford. A $20 entry fee for each team is the only sponsor requirement. Interested persons are asked to contact the Waterford recreation department, OR 44076.

He will compete in the high and broad jumps.

With regional champion Cranbrook out of the Class B finals because of a schedule conflict, the area has no contenders in the lower classifications.

Lake Orion made the second best Class B regional showing by an area school.

ORION QUALIFIERS

Four from Orion qualified for the finals. Frank Ochoa will be in the 160 and 220, Rick Fields in the 440, Bill Dunn in the pole vault and Martin Townsend in the mile.

Holly's mile relay team of Jim Lowe, Mark Phalen, Jim Starr and Tom White won the "B" regional at Flint while the 880 quartet qualified for the state meet by placing second.

Waterford Our Lady has a Class D pole vault threat in Bob Schaffer. George Sharpe is expected to add points in the high jump and 440. John Swain of Country Day is among the "D" mile favorites.

The Class B meet will be at the University of Michigan. Class C and D will compete at Central Michigan in Mt. Pleasant. Preliminaries will start at 10:30 a.m. and the finals at 1:30 p.m. at the three sites.

What Else Is New?

DALLAS (AP)—Mickey Wright and Marilyn Smith continue their duel along the women's golf tour today as they head a field of 60 into the first round of the $12,500 Dallas Civitan Open.

Captains Take T-CL; PNH, Skippers Win

Waterford Kettering ran away from the field in the Tri-County League track meet yesterday at Rochester.

The Captains posted 10 firsts, including four league records, to score 82 points. Rochester was second with 44. T-Anne Creuse posted 43, Romeo 9 and Lapeer 6.

Eddie Perry and John Harris were double winners as Pontiac Northern defeated Berkley, 60-48. Waterford edged Walled Lake, 58 1/2-50 1/2.

Orville Mullins of Kettering was the only double winner in the Tri-County meet. A favorite in this Saturday's state Class A meet, he won the 160 and 220.

Kettering's Earl Hook high jumped 5-10 1/2 for a league record. Other marks set by the Captains were John Popovich, 880 in 2:01.3; Jim Haviland, pole vault, 2:11.1; and the mile relay, 3:36.2.

Perry won the 100 and 220 and Harris took the low hurdles and high jump for PNH. Perry also ran a leg on the winning 880 relay team. Harris was second in the 100 and broad jump.

lay team. Harris was second in the 100 and broad jump.

Rick Labair won both dashes and Chuck Cole took both hurdles for Waterford in a meet decided by the 800 relay, final event on the program.

Labair started the 800 relay and Cole finished the victory. George Irwin and Bud Liles were the middle runners.

PCH Immune to Cold in Warmth of Victory

For the Pontiac Central baseball team, it was the prettiest day of the spring.

A sharp wind from the north and a 45-degree temperature chilled the fielders' unsure hands and stiffened the untrue throwing arms, but the Chiefs had the warmth of a 6-5 victory over Waterford to comfort themselves.

It was win No. 1 after eight opening losses for coach Lou Meares and PCH.

Other high school scores include Royal Oak Kimball 9-3 over Cranbrook, Milford 1-0 over Walled Lake, Capac 2-1 over Yale and Rochester 18-3 over L'Anse Creuse.

One player stood out like a flame in the frozen Arctic. PCH's Dick Bushey had a day all high school players dream about.

The center fielder-pitcher hit for the cycle — single, double, triple and home run. He drove in four runs and scored three times. It was his one-out, bases-loaded two-bagger in the sixth inning that brought his team from a 5-4 deficit to victory.

Then Bushey insured the triumph by retiring the Skippers in relief. One batter reached second base in the seventh, but the right-hander retired Dick Toles, who had two singles and a double, on a fly to left for the third out.

EARLIER SHUTOUT

For Waterford there was only the solace that on an even worse day earlier this spring, it had shutout the Chiefs, 4-0.

A three-run homer by Dan Sherban overcame Cranbrook's 3-2 lead and kept Kimball unbeaten this season. Kim Hill, stream also had the run-producing help of Gary Weckerly's two RBI and Gene Muehschens's (RBI triple) to gain the victory.

Duke Peterson scored the only run on a second inning passed ball as Milford's Dave Molianen stopped Walled Lake on a four-hitter. It was the Redskins' 13th triumph.

Rochester erupted for 12 runs in the third inning on seven singles and six walks to whip L'Anse Creuse. Carl Stefanski had four-for-four and tallied four times. The winners scored in every inning.

Play Key Game With Troy

Yellow Jackets Sting 'A' Foes

The sting of a Yellow Jacket can be potent, and the aroused nine-or-so at Avondale High School have let the remainder of the Oakland A League feel this weapon of revenge.

While awaiting the visit of Troy's Colts today, the Yellow Jackets have been savoring the rewards of a six-game winning streak, including five in a row in the O-A circuit.

This has boosted them into second place with a 6-3 loop mark. Avondale was victimized in three of its first four starts before making its run at the Jags' top spot.

Clawson (5-2) has a slender lead over the Yellow Jackets at present but the Trojans will encounter a tough Madison squad Oak Park, 5-4, on the Redskins' (5-3) this afternoon. Oak Park, also in contention at 5-3, will visit dangerous Lake Orion.

The Dragons began strong but have dropped five consecutive diamond ventures since whipping

W.O. ACTION

Action will continue in the Wayne-Oakland League today where Bloomfield Hills should be able to stay on top against last place Clarenceville.

Northville will visit West Bloomfield, Clarkston will play host to Brighton and Holly has a date at Milford.

In an independent game, Kettering will journey to Oxford. Romeo and Utica should have a strong match; also, Lapeer and L'Anse Creuse will tangle in the Tri-County League's only clash.

Falls Out of Favor

TORONTO (AP) — Jet Traffic, winter-book favorite for the $80,000 Queen's Plate, was ruled ineligible Wednesday for the Canadian classic June 15 at Woodbine Race Track.

The announcement came following a meeting at Greenwood Race Track of the board of directors of the Jockey Club Limited, which said the owner, Russell A. Firestone Jr. of Dallas, Tex., did not authorize the entry.

Net Regionals at Cranbrook

The regional tennis tournament for District XII will be held at Cranbrook Friday and Saturday with 10 class A and five class B teams competing.

Play will begin at 8:45 a.m. with class A singles and follow with Class A doubles Friday. The class B singles and doubles will go through to the semifinals Friday evening and all semi-final and final matches will be held Saturday morning.

Competing in class A are Bloomfield Hills, Livonia Bentley, Brother Rice, Farmington, Livonia Franklin, Garden City, Birmingham Groves, Plymouth, Walled Lake and Seaholm.

In class B are Clarenceville, North Farmington, Northville, Riverside and Riverview.

Eastern Belts Wayne

YPSILANTI (UPI) — Eastern Michigan University scored five runs in the fourth inning yesterday and coasted to a 6-1 triumph over Wayne State University.

Eastern, which boosted its record to 10-6, was led by Gary Clark who scattered five hits to pick up the win and Bill Abraham who collected two of the 11 Eastern hits.

Brundage Under Fire

BRUSSELS (AP)—The Belgian sports daily "Les Sports" Wednesday criticized Avery Brundage, the American president of the International Olympic Committee, for his support of Berlin as the site of the 1968 Olympic Games.

"One will undoubtedly be astonished by the crashing statements of M. Avery Brundage in favor of Berlin," the paper said.

Golf Day in Michigan. On the right is Warren Orlick of Tam O'Shanter, vice president of the 5th district of the National PGA. Saturday has been designated as National Golf Day.

Hires New Aide; Add Players

NFL Announces Intelligence Move

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The National five other Detroit players $2,000 Football League took additional each and the Lions $4,000 in the steps Wednesday toward preventing a recurrence of the betting incidents that rocked the league last season.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced the hiring of James E. Hamilton of the Los Angeles intelligence division of the police department as a special aide "to prevent undesirable associations of which the players may be unaware."

The commissioner said the appointment of Hamilton "is more intelligence than investigative, but there may be some investigations." He said no players are under investigation now.

ANNUAL MEETING

The announcement came at the annual spring meeting of NFL club owners, the first such meeting since Rozelle indefinitely suspended Paul Hornung of the Green Bay Packers and Alex Karras of the Detroit Lions April 17 for betting on league games. He fined

Milford W-O Golf Champ; Kettering Beats Central

Milford added some consolation to its poor showing in the regional golf tournament last week by winning the Wayne Oakland League championship at Burroughs in Brighton yesterday.

The Redskins finished with 339 strokes to 344 for Northville and

"We have felt all along that we never can do too much surveillance and this special aide (Hamilton) should be most helpful in preventing any trouble and in keeping football clean."

Hamilton, 53, who will take the post June 1, has been a Los Angeles police officer for 26 years. He has been commended by the Kefauver Committee for outstanding service to the community.

333 for Bloomfield Hills. Holly followed with 365, Clarkson 366, West Bloomfield 377, Brighton 384 and Clarenceville 398.

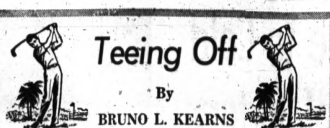

What hurts however is knowing that Bloomfield Hills and Northville will both be part of the state golf championships this weekend at Jackson.

Bloomfield Hills finished third in Class A regionals and Northville was the top qualifying team in Class B at the Glen Oaks regional.

Larry Hoy of Milford and Northville golfers Jim St. Germaine and Bob Boyle each had 82 for medal honors in the Wayne Oakland meet. Ron Holden of Bloomfield had 83, John Choate of Milford 84, Bill Taylor of Holly 84, Tim Zink of Bloomfield 85, and Tim Barnes of Milford 85.

In a dual meet at Pontiac Country Club, Kettering defeated Pontiac Central 209-220. Kettering scores were Jim Howe's 39, Doug Stranahan 41, Bob Victory 43, Larry Wilmut 43, Dick Richards had 39, Tom Jackson 44 and Al Gaydos 44 for PCH.

Kettering 10-3 for the season finished second to Rochester in the Tri-County league this season. They will compete in The Press Invitational at Pontiac Country Club on Monday.

Teeing Off

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

Next Tuesday at the Dallas Country Club, 1962 Open champion Jack Nicklaus and 1962 PGA champion Gary Player will meet in the "Round of a Champion."

In the "field" for this special round of golf will be another 100,000 golfers across the country. Only, they will play their 18 holes this Saturday at a couple of hundred different sites in the U.S.

Saturday has been declared a National Golf Day and in our state by proclamation of Governor Romney it will be Golf in Michigan Day.

National golf day first started in 1952 and since then golf has contributed nearly $500,000 to charities with golfers throughout the land competing against the scores of our national champions.

Most courses throughout the county and state cooperate in this charitable venture, getting a dollar from each competing golfer, and since 1952, about 14 per cent of 161,000 had scores better than the Round of Champion pro. Michigan has always been 1-2 in National Golf Day proceeds.

The Putt Putt course on Dixie Highway will have a one-day 72 hole event, June 2nd, with winners qualifying for part of $50,000 National Championship tournament in Cleveland, July 5-7. First cash prize there will be $10,000.

Talk about beginner's luck. B. H. Biggenbom of Linton, Indiana, went out to play his first game of golf recently. His first tee shot at the Linton city course dropped into the hole and he recorded his first hole-in-one.

Things didn't go so well on the next hole. He took a 10. It was never told what his final score was.

The World Series of Golf is slated for Akron, Sept. 7-8 with golf's top four players slated as "the field." Jack Nicklaus has already qualified as winner of the Masters.

EARLY BIRD

They say the early bird gets the worm. Cal Cook of Pleasant Ridge hates to admit it but believes it as far as his golf goes. He went out to Highland Hills at 6:00 a.m. last Sunday waiting for his foursome to show up.

He decided to shoot a couple practice shots on the par-3 and 225 yard 10th hole. The first practice shot went into the cup and there wasn't a soul around to witness it.

When the foursome finally got together, Cook took a four on the hole and went the rest of the way talking to himself.

Stoneycroft's first ace of the season was a 140 yarder on the 9th hole and it belongs to the distaff side of golf. Miss Nina Zepp used a four-iron to get her first ace. She shot a 48.

Ten Entered in HTA

CHICAGO (AP)—Ten of the nation's top 4-year-old pacers have been named for the $50,000 Harness Trac of America paceship championship at Sportsman's Park Friday night.

The field, in post position order, includes Harold J. Lehigh Hanover, Coffee Break, Buxton Hanover, Adora's Dream, Peachadon, Rusty Range, Leader Pick, Royal Domain and Meadow Battles.

Long Hitters for Memphis

MEMPHIS (AP)—The first of the touring professionals were hoping to slam long balls early today at the start of the $50,000 Memphis Invitational Open Golf Tournament.

The cold snap and sporadic drizzle could discomfort players but the greens were said to be in fine shape.

Defending champion Lionel Herbert was scheduled to tee off early and Jack Nicklaus, the favorite, in the afternoon.

Much favoritism was developing for Julius Boros, who shot low medal score, a 33-35-67, in the pro-am Wednesday.

21 Errors at Waterford

Hitlers Pound Softball

The hitters continued to dominate the softball scene last night.

The bitter cold did nothing to aid the hurlers in Waterford Township's Class C contest where there were 21 errors committed in the twin bill.

Rockette Paint knocked off Lakeland Pharmacy, 4-7, and Dixie Bar took nine innings to dig Dinky's Hideaway, 7-4.

In the city recreation leagues, Popenoe's Market lost, 12-8, to Pontiac Millwork and Local 653 was victimized by Bud & Lou's, 9-8, in eight innings at Beaudette Park.

At Northside, it was Circle Inn 10-8 over Pontiac State Hospital and Bob & Larry's Bar swamped Motorcar Transport, 16-7.

Once Dennis-McConkey and Norm Tick found the range in the township games, they were very effective hurlers. They both stopped the opposition in the final five innings of the two games.

Rockette scored three in the seventh to give McConkey the win over Lakeland Pharmacy, while Tick's hurling for Dixie Bar was backed by Adrian Dutcher's single, double and triple at bat.

Four hits produced seven runs in the last inning in the triumph by Bob & Larry's. In the first game, Chuck McIlraith's two singles and home run led Circle Inn past the hospitalmen.

A five-run first inning had Pontiac Millwork off and running against Popenoe's. Dave Block had a double and two singles for the winners.

Bud & Lou's trailed by a run when it came to bat against Local 653 in the eighth inning of the Beaudette matchup, but two walks and two singles — the last by Bill Carie — grabbed the triumph away from the union.

Doubleheaders at Beaudette, Northside and Drayton Plains will all begin at 7 p.m. tonight.

JUMP overboard and shove.

Walled Lake to Hold Boat Show, June 1-2

Walled Lake Kiwanis Club will hold its First Boat and Sport Show at the Multi-Lakes Conservative Club, Saturday and Sunday June 1-2.

The show will feature more than 75 types of boats, plus camping trailers, buses, tents, scuba equipment and other outdoor items.

Some of the activities which will be on the program for spectators to participate in are trap and skeet shooting, archery, small bore rifle shooting.

Demonstrations by experts will be given in these sports activities and the spectators will be allowed to take part.

The Oakland County sheriff's department and Michigan State police will demonstrate proper use of scuba and skin diving methods and equipment.

Also part of the program will be a Little League doubleheader each day with teams from Walled Lake and Area competing.

The Multi-Conservation Club, co-sponsor of the boat show,

Prizes to be given away will be given Sunday June 2 at 5:00 p.m. will include an aluminum boat, motor and trailer plus 24 other prizes.

Queen chosen for the show is Sharon Brown, 19, of Wolverine drive, Walled Lake and members of her court are Carol McElroy, 17, of Walled Lake and Kathy Flannery, 16, of Walled Lake.

Fleet of 175 to Compete in DYC Regatta

A fleet of more than 175 boats from forty different classes will sail in the Detroit Yacht Club's 48th Annual Memorial Day Regatta on Lake St. Clair.

The Memorial Day Regatta will open the interclub sailing season on Lake St. Clair for 19 clubs in the Detroit River Yachting Association, including clubs from Port Huron to Sarnia to Toledo.

The DYC will bestow its traditional "man of the day" accolade upon William J. Fors for his long devotion to the ideals and good fellowship of sailing. He will be the guest of honor aboard the judges' boat on Memorial Day.

The regatta will begin at 10:30 a.m. on four triangular courses on Lake St. Clair. Eighteen different starts will be required to get all the classes away. They will race over distances of three to 15 miles.

STRANDED
If you sail long enough, sooner or later you're almost certain to run aground. Practically everybody does. It's no worse than having a flat tire on the road — and easier to fix.

When you find yourself stranded, don't panic. You haven't wrecked the Hesperus.

And, chances are, you won't need the Coast Guard, Marines, or cavalry to rescue you. This ordinarily is an easy do-it-yourself job. If the bottom is firm you can usually jump overboard and shove the craft free.

The first thing to do is you're firmly grounded is to drop an anchor as far astern as possible. Pulling on the line, once the anchor has been set, can set the boat free.

Alternate short surges in reverse and pulls on the line will cause the boat to wiggle, which is a help in getting free.

QUICK ACTION

Often quick action with the reverse in a power boat can be effective, especially when the boat hasn't been driven on hard. Chances are the propeller will set up a wash that will roll under your boat and set her free.

Use judgment in this maneuver as there is danger that on certain bottoms the propeller may wash sand or mud from astern and imbed you more firmly.

Shifting weight, including passengers, can be effective, especially with an outboard or inboard-outboard in which the motor weight is well astern.

Moving weight toward the bow in such craft may float the pro-

Expect to End Silver Backing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate was expected today to pass legislation ending the silver backing of $1 and $2 bills.

The legislation, which has been approved by the House and is supported by silver-mining states, would replace silver certificates with federal reserve notes backed by 25 per cent gold.

Under the bill, the government would end its purchases of silver. It would use 1.5 billion ounces of bullion now in treasury vaults for production of coins. This supply is expected to last up to 18 years.

The bill repeals the 30-year old silver purchase act now considered obsolete as far as controlling the price of silver.

Sponsors said the legislation was necessary due to rising costs and underproduction of silver. The price on the open market is now close to the point where it would be profitable for citizens to cash $1 and $2 bills for the silver back of them.

Air Fare Drop Is Predicted by CAB Chairman

DALLAS (UPI) — Transatlantic air fares will drop back down a bit in the near future, Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) Chairman Alan S. Boyd predicted yesterday.

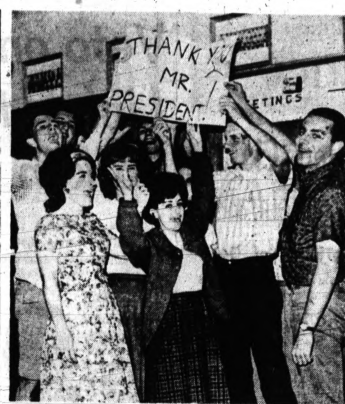

Boyd said he did not blame the European airlines for the squabble last week which resulted in Trans World Airlines and Pan American Airways being forced to increase their transatlantic economy class fares by 5 per cent.

The CAB ordered TWA and PAA to raise their prices on orders from the State Department. Britain and France had threatened to prevent the two American carriers from landing if they did not raise their fares in accordance with other lines that fly the North Atlantic.

The population of all the Latin American countries combined is now almost as large as the population of the continental United States.

Pleasant Surprise for Latin

PONTIAC, Ill. (P) — Jose Benavidez, 21, of Santa Fe, Argentina, doesn't understand much English, but he had a wonderful time at a surprise party in his honor. Jose, who bicycled to the United States, was struck by a hit and run driver, breaking one of his legs.

AP Photosfax

THANKS — Students at a Burbank, Calif., high school cheered after learning President Kennedy notified state Democratic leaders he didn't wish to interfere with the pupils' prom, and a Dem dinner for JFK was moved to another room of the hotel in which the dance is to be held.

Fills Home With His Whittling

TULSA, Okla. (P) — An estimated 11,700 hours of whittling have filled C. R. Burden's house, barn and basement with intricate wood carvings.

Burden, 65, has been whittling for 45 years and figures he's averaged five hours a week at turning blocks of wood into chains, coffee tables, guitar cases, chests and model log wagon complete with oxen.

A whittler is not the same as a carver, he says. A carver may use a variety of tools, while a whittler employs only a knife — or, in Burden's case, knives, since he has 75 of them.

A carver is a technician in Burden's view, while a whittler is an artist.

A cedar chest he whittled has 10,263 pieces and Burden says he has been offered $1,100 for it. But his whittling is only a hobby. "I can sit down and just start whittling," he says, "and half a day is gone before I know it."

Hike Common Dividend

DETROIT (UPI) — Kelsey-Hayes Co. directors today boosted the company's common quarterly dividend from 40 to 50 cents a share with a declaration at the higher rate payable July 1 to holders of record June 14.

At Writers' Meeting

Navy Raps Critics of Carriers

DALLAS (UPI) — The Navy by nuclear powered. And the tore into critics of its controversial aircraft carriers today, contending the flat tops were America's best weapons for meeting rising Red military threats in Africa, the Middle East and South Asia.

At a time when Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara was gravely pondering the carriers' future role a bevy of admirals came to the Aviation-Space-Writers Association's 25th annual meeting to uncock a spirited defense of the multimillion dollar ships.

There were shades of the famed 1949 interservice fight over carriers and bombers in some of today's arguments. These were calculated to put the Air Force's land-based combat planes in a comparatively unfavorable light for dealing with limited war in remote areas.

Answering critics who call carriers obsolete, expensive and duplicative, Vice Adm. Paul D. Strop said that if there were no carriers they would have to be invented to face the most likely kinds of cold and conventional war threats of the future. McNamara has held up construction of a carrier authorized by Congress last year, pending a decision on whether it should when the shoot opened this fall.

Unveiling what must have been major Navy arguments in a report just prepared for McNamara, Strop said the Communist threat was on the rise in remote areas of the world — Africa, Middle East and South Asia.

Mom Prepares for Daughter's College Future

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — There is a lot of talk today about the threatened future overcrowding of colleges, but Mrs. Dale Arthur McCoy of Malvern, Ark., was worried about the problem 18 years ago.

When her daughter, Donna Lynn, was born in 1944, Mrs. McCoy wrote Quachita Baptist College in Arkadelphia, asking that a room be reserved for Donna Lynn in 1962.

Quachita, Mrs. McCoy's alma mater, confirmed the reservation, and Donna Lynn got her room a decision on whether it should when the shoot opened this fall.

Romney Signs School Bus Bill

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney today signed the bill which would require public school districts with bus transportation for their students to provide it for parochial and private school students as well.

The new law will become effective July 1, 1964.

Romney also signed a bill which would reorganize the state Mental Health Department and the last three appropriations bills for the 1963-64 budget.

The three appropriations measures cover general government, capital outlay and restricted funds.

U. S., Canadians Set Ceremonies for New Bridge

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—A $20-million, two-mile bridge linking the United States and Canada officially opens Friday with speeches, parades, bands and banquets.

The day-long festivities in the twin cities of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., herald the opening of the international bridge. It was financed, built and will be owned and maintained by both nations.

Gov. George Romney and Premier John R. Robarts of Ontario will speak and will take part in a ribbon cutting at the international boundary half-way across the bridge.

The opening will be celebrated with a banquet in the Ontario armory, an hour-long parade with marching units, to be staged first in the Canadian city and later on the American side.

MALCOLM E. LAWRENCE
OXFORD — Service for Malcolm E. Lawrence, 60, of 534 Pontiac St. will be 2 p.m. Saturday at the Flumerfelt Funeral Home. Graveside service and burial will follow in Mount Avon Cemetery, Rochester, under the auspices of Oxford Lodge No. 81, F.&M.

A retired contractor and builder, Mr. Lawrence died yesterday after an 18-month illness.

He was a life member of Oxford Lodge No. 81, F.&M. and a grandmaster of the North Carolina Car, and a charter member of the Oxford Lions Club.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Charles Cole of Toledo, Ohio; a granddaughter and two great-grandchildren.

2 County Projects Included in Bidding

Bids on two Oakland County road projects will be among those opened June 12 and 16 by the Michigan State Highway Department for projects costing an estimated total of $2.3 million.

The county projects include intersection improvements at Woodward Avenue and Bassett in Pontiac at an estimated $5,000 and 1.9 miles of traffic signing on the 748 freeway in the Farmington area at an estimated $400,000.

The Pontiac project is scheduled for completion Aug. 31, the other, Nov. 30.

In 1966 there were only four automobiles, generally known as "horseless carriages," in the entire U. S.

School Aid Disbursed by County

Oakland County Treasurer Charles A. Sparks is disbursing $4,310,447 as the latest state aid to public primary schools in the county.

The money, derived from the state sales tax, is being apportioned among the 31 school districts at a rate of $19.90 per pupil enrolled at the time of the 1961 census.

The Pontiac School District will receive $505,280, topped only by the Royal Oak district which will get $514,534.

Birmingham is third highest with $346,140, followed by Waterford, $302,400.

Other apportionments are: Walled Lake, $149,961; Oxford, $855; Lamphers, $312,142; Clawson, $84,146; Rochester, $182,434; Oak Park, $174,300; Lyon, $44,854.

Lake Orion, $83,858; Royal Valley, $96,851; Holly, $54,207; Farmington, $224,113; Clarkston, $85,405; Brandon, $38,128; White Lake, $82,223; West Bloomfield, $47,800; Troy, $87,162.

Madison Heights, $99,878; Hazel Park, $191,497; Oxford, $44,247; Novi, $24,218; Clarenceville, $70,406; Bloomfield Hills, $108,096; Avon, $65,709; Southfield, $206,203; Berkley, $225,407; Ferndale, $216,094.

His plane arrived at Idlewild Airport at 10:21 a.m. Pontiac time.

Kennedy had a seven-hour gap in his schedule, dedicating a memorial to Americans who lost their lives in the Western Atlantic in World War II and a Democratic fund-raising dinner tonight.

Pierre Salinger, the White House Press Secretary, has said Kennedy will "see people" — unspecified — during the interval. Should they be political people, a number of topics could be subject for discussion.

One is the question of who will be chosen to run next year against Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., one of the most severe critics of Kennedy's Cuban policy.

Among those mentioned as possibilities have been Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City, Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady, a proven upstate vote-getter, and Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan.

Another subject is the question of uniting reform and regular Democrats for the 1964 campaign.

Profits High in Russia's Tobacco Plants

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Profits run high in Russian tobacco factories because of low wages, say U. S. tobacco leaders. On a recent visit they observed one factory making a 36 per cent annual net return on its investment.

Cigarettes sell for about the same price as in the U. S. Raw tobacco costs more than it does here, but workers at the Yeva Tobacco Factory, Moscow, averaged only $53.50 to $99 monthly.

Russia produces about 400 million pounds of tobacco annually, about half the annual North Carolina crop, and imports another 200 million pounds annually.

The situation was reported by Dr. Kenneth R. Keller, in charge of tobacco research at North Carolina State College, who toured Russia and Eastern Europe along with the tobacco leaders under the auspices of the State Department.

Last of 500 Jets Given to S. Vietnamese Navy

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The last of 500 fighting jets built under a $2 million U. S. contract was turned over to the South Vietnamese navy today.

The jets have been built by local contractors to strengthen Viet Nam's coastal defenses against Communist infiltration. Each jet normally carries a crew of three armed soldiers.

William the Conqueror appointed commissioners to make a survey of the estates and possessions of every landholder. The book in which findings were recorded gave William the knowledge he needed to tax land. It was called the "Domesday Book" because invaders could not appeal the findings.

Court Changes Old Hat Here

Idea Already in Use by Oakland County

Recent discussion of a move to change the method of assigning cases in Wayne County Circuit Court to one used in federal courts has raised little interest in Oakland County.

The Oakland County Circuit has been using the system for 25 years, according to Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

Judge Beer explained that the federal court system of placing a case in the hands of one judge from its beginning to its end had been in effect in principle here except in jury cases until Jan. 1.

New rules adopted Jan. 1 by the Oakland County Circuit Court added jury cases to the assignment rule.

All civil cases presently are assigned to a judge when they are filed with the county clerk and remain with the same judge throughout its course.

In Wayne County, cases are presently assigned on rotation to the 18 judges.

Changing the system here "to improve the quality of justice" was proposed by Michigan Supreme Court Justice Theodore Souris.

Judge Beer said the system was good because "the same judge is in charge of a case from beginning to end" and because it tends to result in a more prompt progress of cases.

Red Problems Eyed by NATO

Expect Smooth Going Second Day of Talks

OTTAWA (AP) — NATO ministers turned today to discussion of problems with the Communist world after reaching agreement on a framework for a nuclear non-proliferation treaty and an alliance's military commander.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk planned to put before the other foreign ministers of the 15-nation alliance his assessment of the Cuban situation, East-West relations, the Soviet-Rest Chinese dispute, and the stalemate nuclear test ban talks.

Rusk was expected to stress that Cuba still is an unsolved problem and thus at least of direct concern to NATO.

TOUCHY ANGOLA
U. S. sources said they expected smooth going in the discussion on the second day of the ministers' spring meeting. But there was a possibility that some of the smaller countries might raise certain problems. Portugal, for example, might bring up the touchy Angola situation, they said.

The military phase of the meeting was wrapped up Wednesday with approval by the 15 government representatives of the new framework for NATO's in-being nuclear forces.

The agreement provides for a special staff working under NATO's supreme commander, Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, to oversee the operations and planning for nuclear-armed units assigned to the alliance.

These include the three U. S. Polaris submarines in the Mediterranean, Britain's 180-plane V-bomber force, the 72 British tactical bombers, the 20 Canadian fighter-bombers in Europe, and German, Dutch, and Belgian, Greece, Turkey and Italy.

He said thousands of boys, instead of striking out against society their hostility inward, "silently destroying themselves and land in mental institutions."

"These boys must be given even more than the overt more obvious delinquent," the general manager of GM's Chevrolet Division said.

He told delegates to the session "Saving these boys, and also the overt delinquents, is a job for every man who looks upon our children as our most precious natural resource."

Of the nearly 11 million youths who fall about the law annually, Knudsen said, some "show a new low of mental illness and depravity for their age."

"If we want to continue to live in a free and decent society, we must do more than halt this trend," he added. "We must reverse it."

"America's greatest need has always been for men and women fit for the highest type of citizenship and qualified to deal with the increasingly complex problems which each new generation must face."

Film-TV Firm

Takes to Stage

Invests $1 Million in Three Productions

NEW YORK—American

Broadcasting-Paramount Theaters, Inc., has invested more than $1 million in three forthcoming shows in the company's first venture into sponsorship of stage productions.

Leonard H. Goldenson, president of the firm that operates the ABC television network and which has large movie and recording interests, said in announcing the grant yesterday that the purpose is to provide a greater degree of interrelationship among entertainment media.

"There must be vitality on Broadway if the other arts are to develop," he said. "The theory here is to foster new young blood, which Broadway hasn't been getting sufficiently for the past few years."

The investment, which theatrical records show to be the largest ever made at one time on Broadway, will pay three-quarters of the cost of three musicals being produced by songwriter Jules Styne and theater owner Lester Osterman.

The balance of the money will be put up by backers previously promised an interest in the shows, Osterman said.

The first production scheduled under the pact is "A Girl to Remember," starring Carol Burnett.

The others are a musical version of "The Ghost Goes West" and an adaptation of Richard Aldrich's book about the late Gertrude Lawrence, "Mrs. A." Osterman said all will be done within the next year to 14 months.

And This Means You!

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—A local insurance adjuster found this sign posted on the bedroom door of his daughter, a third-grader: "Private Keep Out of Here, Under Penalty of Law."

IKE HONORED—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower (center) receives the gold medal of the Pilgrims of the United States from Hugh Bullock (left), president of the organization. The award, for contributions to Anglo-American friendship, was given for only the second time in 61 years. Sir David Ormsby Gore, British ambassador to the United States, is at right.

Not in Schools

JFK for Discipline in Home

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy believes in sparing the rod at school, but not at home.

When it comes to disciplining children, the President declares himself flatly against physical punishment in the schools.

However, he's for "very strong discipline at home," so the teachers won't have to carry the burden.

The President got into the school discipline issue now facing the capital when the subject was raised at his news conference yesterday.

And, with his brief, but firm pronouncement, Kennedy probably signaled eventual effort of permits to corporal punishment of unruly pupils in District of Columbia schools.

His words indicated he would probably be expected to veto any such bill, through White House press secretary Pierre Salinger would not comment on the matter.

"When we talk about corporal punishment," said Kennedy, who has two young children, "we have to think about our own children, and we are rather reluctant to have other people administering punishment to our own children."

"Because we are reluctant, it puts special obligation on us to maintain order and to send children out from our homes who accept the idea of discipline," the President said.

"So," he concluded, "I would not be for corporal punishment in the school, but I would be for very strong discipline at home, so we don't place an unfair burden upon our teachers."

Congress now has before it a bill, already approved over-whelmingly by the House, to permit corporal punishment in Washington schools. The bill was viewed as "essential to restoration of discipline and order" in district schools by the House District of Columbia Committee.

Salinger told reporters he didn't know who did the disciplining in the White House family.

The President's two children, Caroline, 5, and John Jr., 2½, attend a private White House nursery school with two private teachers. Kennedy obviously can make his policy in that school, but Salinger wouldn't get into that either because it's "a personal matter."

Hundreds of guests who attended a recent military reception at the White House got a glimpse of the Kennedy moods. Maud Shaw, unflinchingly disciplining Caroline, firmly yanking her down from the railing of the Truman balcony.

Secret Celebrities

Viewers Confused by Mitch

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK—A tantalizing conceit of NBC's "Sing Along With Mitch" has been the week's unidentifiable appearance of an unidentified celebrity standing with the male chorus and singing along with the group.

Some 40 guest chorists have pulled on sweaters and stood in line during the 30 shows of the season, starting with "Car 54" Joe E. Ross and Fred Gwynne on the season's opening show and winding up May 10 with Jan Murray.

All through the season everybody connected with the show kept mum about it, although the male was coming in like mad.

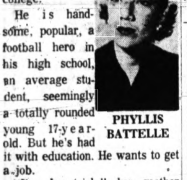

PLEASE HELP! ("Please help me. I've had a terrible fight with my husband. I swear I saw Douglas Fairbanks Jr. singing with the chorus last night. My husband says I'm nuts. . .")

Finally, at season's end, Mitch and the network released a full list of the visiting singers and would talk about the device.

Practically nobody who was invited turned down the chance—except Harry S. Truman. Jack Benny wanted to go on but his schedule was too tight. For his unannounced, unidentified appearances, each celebrity was paid $50

College Education Isn't Really Absolute Necessity

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK—Friends of ours have a problem which is about to drive her to (as we say in the space age) overdrinks. Her son does not want to go to college.

PHYLLIS BATTELLE
ROEBUCK AND CO.

He is handsome, popular, a football hero in his high school, an average student, seemingly a totally rounded young 17-year-old. But he's had it with education. He wants to get a job.

"I'm heart sick," his mother says, understandably. "I tell him that everybody today goes to college, and he just says 'I know and shakes his head.'"

(Actually, he doesn't know; only slightly more than half our high school seniors go on to universities.)

Our friend imagines that he's rebelling against something—educational conformity, or parental wishes, or leaving home, or financial dependency — she doesn't know which.

And she is certain that, if allowed to go on his own way and skip a college education, he will never get a good job.

"Wouldn't you be unhappy if your son refused to go to college?" she asks.

The answer is yes, of course. We live in a society that is more and more intellect-conscious.

We recognize that millions of boys must be trained to use their muscles instead of their brains in order to keep the cogs of the country moving — but we want them to be other people's boys, not ours.

If we had a college education, we'd like our sons to have a doctorate. If we couldn't afford a college education, we want our sons to "have it better" than we did.

As a result of this modern attitude, almost every teen-ager in America has strong pressures put on him to go to college, whether or not it is necessary or suitable or appealing for him to go.

BOOK ON TOPIC

The Child Study Association of America has just issued a booklet titled "Helping Your Teenager Choose a College."

I requested one, thinking it might help ease the worry. Sure enough, the opening paragraphs pointed out that it is "not unusual for high school seniors to have mixed feelings about going off to college."

If your son shows apathy or reluctance, it is wise to consider the possibility that he should NOT go. At least not for the present.

The experts stated that, influenced by the climate of the "space race," students are being made to feel quite guilty if they don't enroll in college to become vital cogs in the national effort. As a result, we are turning out some mediocre, unproductive and unhappy physicians and engineers who would have been more productive in less "vital" occupations.

As for the "dollars-and-cents" argument that one must have a college education to earn a good living, it was pointed out that one big reason why graduates as a group are better off financially is that they were better off financially BEFORE they ever went to college.

(A corporation executive's son is not likely to become an unskilled laborer even if he flunks out of college in his freshman year.)

And college, what's more, is no road to high earnings. If higher education turns your son into a dedicated high school teacher, he'll make less than an uncolleged bricklayer.

Many highly respected profession, such as printing, navigation, electronics, the arts, can be learned as well by apprenticeship at a university education.

If your son refuses to go to college, it may be rebellion. But it is possible that he is refusing because he has a talent and love for such a profession and is game to try for it, even in the face of strong opposition.

"Since such qualities are surely what you have tried to instill in him; perhaps they ought to be given the benefits of any doubts you have."

We turned this information over to our friend. Asked if it helped. She said she felt "more resigned, more respectful of his position, more sympathetic and perfectly terrible!"

Democrats' Hopes Dimming for Overthrow of New-Con

LANSING (AP)—Democratic hopes of overturning the vote ratifying the new constitution dimmed today as preliminary recount reports showed only a slight change in the ballot totals.

Ironically, the reckoning was widening the margin of approval rather than cutting it down.

With 376 precincts counted, the "yes" voted gained five and the "no" lost one—for a net increase of six votes in the original 7,823-vote margin of ratification.

The Democratic party, which demanded the recount of part of

In Alabama JFK May Use Troops

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has made it clear he will use U.S. troops and marshals if needed next month to crack racial barriers at the University of Alabama.

But he voiced hope at his news conference yesterday that Alabama's segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace would back away from the threatened federal-state collision by heeding court orders to integrate the school.

A federal court at Birmingham told the university Tuesday it must admit two Negroes June 19—one at the main campus at Tuscaloosa, the other at the Huntsville branch.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government asked the Supreme Court today to reject a suit brought by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace seeking to bar the use of federal troops in the racial crisis at Birmingham, Ala.

Wallace has declared that he personally "will be present to bar the entrance of any Negro who attempts to enroll. This is legal resistance and legal defiance."

Alabama is the only state with all its public schools still segregated.

In his news conference that ranged from flights to space to his trip to Rome, Kennedy also discussed another facet of the civil rights problem: The recent outbreaks of racial violence at Birmingham, Ala.

The President said he will decide in the next few days whether to propose additional civil rights legislation. He did not go into details, but a Justice Department spokesman said any additional proposals would be in the fields of education and public accommodations.

The Birmingham situation prompted Kennedy on May 12 to order 1,000 troops into Alabama military bases—so they would be nearby should they be needed to quell any disturbances in Birmingham.

Wallace challenged the President's authority on the troop move, a suit filed Saturday with the U.S. Supreme Court. Kennedy said he welcomed the governor's court suit, declaring, "This is where these disputes should be settled."

"I would hope," he said, "that the fact that the governor has chosen to carry out our dispute in the courts indicates that in the final analysis, he will accept the judgment of the court in the cases coming up in June."—The enrollment (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Blue Shield, Colburn Okay Rate Increase

'Reluctantly' Accept 16.8 Per Cent Boost Set by Circuit Court

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan Medical Service (Blue Shield) Wednesday accepted a consent agreement allowing a 16.8 per cent rate increase to take effect June 1, 1963.

The rate boost, which would cover the next 18 months, was arbitrated and announced earlier yesterday by Wayne County Circuit Judge Theodore B. Bohn.

A 23.4 per cent rate hike was approved earlier by Insurance Commissioner Sherwood Colburn for Blue Cross (hospital insurance).

Blue Shield Deputy Executive Director Frank Starr said the increase was "accepted reluctantly by the board which considered the amount less than adequate for the proper operation of Blue Shield."

"In consenting to the judge's order, which could have been returned to the court without prejudice, the Blue Shield board weighed the financial burden of a mounting deficit at the rate of $45,000 a day," Starr said.

Colburn had said earlier he thought the increase was too high, but added that he would go along with Judge Bohn.

The board decision ended a 5-month-old rate controversy between Blue Shield and Colburn. It began when Colburn turned down an original 23 per cent, but Blue Shield refused to give to the commissioner.

Colburn rejected a second request and Blue Shield offered a 19.3 per cent rate increase effective June 1 without Colburn's approval.

Colburn countered by filing suit in Wayne County Circuit Court requesting an injunction against Blue Shield.

Bohn issued a temporary injunction. The consent agreement grew out of the lawsuit. Both sides agreed to let Bohn set the premium increase somewhere between 12 and 22 per cent.

Even JFK Doubts It

Romney Continues Saying No

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several times again Michigan's Gov. George Romney has said "no" about presidential candidacy in 1964.

But feelings persisted today that he could be available for the Republican nomination.

The impression was left in the wake of Romney's appearance at the National Press Club yesterday—his sixth Washington visit as Michigan's governor.

Clearly, Kennedy indicated he'd be left to Romney, among others, would accept a GOP nomination.

At the Press Club, where he made a speech and answered questions, Romney repeated he would not seek the nomination.

However, he left the door open to a possible draft. He also said he would be a question of whether he would be Michigan's favorite-son candidate at the GOP convention.

President Kennedy was asked about Romney at a White House news conference that was held subsequent to the Michigan governor's Press Club appearance.

"I would say," said Kennedy, "that if the party comes to them they will answer the call."

The President added, "and I would say that is my position, too," indicating he'd accept such a bid from the Democratic party.

PUSHER MICHIGAN
Romney, alternately applauded and laughed with by his capacity-press Press Club audience, said his purpose in the Washington visit was to push Michigan Week, his state's annual achievement celebration.

But in his speech, he ranged over a wide field, including political and economic subjects.

Romney said he felt it too early to know whether the next Republican presidential nominee might become a "sacred lamb" in opposition to Kennedy.

Romney got an ovation for a statement he made on civil rights. Declaring extension of civil rights had been too long neglected in America, Romney said:

"I don't believe this country can realize its world responsibility without eliminating the widespread human injustice that exists in America. We had better get these injustices corrected."

He contended that the nation's problems could be solved from

Pope Appears at His Window

Strengthened by Rest, Blood Transfusion

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A vigorous-looking Pope John XXIII, strengthened by a reported major blood transfusion and a full night's rest, stood in his studio window for about three minutes today and "blessed" a crowd of 15,000 persons in St. Peter's Square.

He looked vastly improved and a high Vatican source said that he was, that the blood transfusion had been "a real tonic." This informant said the Pope appeared rallying well from his most recent relapse.

He is suffering from anemia and a stomach disorder, believed to be an ulcer or cancer.

The appearance at the window was his second since Tuesday, when he reportedly suffered the setback.

Through binoculars the Pope still appeared pale. But he gestured with more vigor than he displayed yesterday as he gave his blessing during a similar appearance at his window.

As soon as he appeared, a tiny figure in white to those standing in the square, applause rose. Many motorists blew their horns.

Negro Pupils Flock Back to Classes

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Negro pupils suspended for integration activities flocked back to their classes today backed by a federal court order for reinstatement.

A spot check of Negro schools showed that the pupils suspended Monday were returning this morning.

School Supt. Theo Wright said the 1,081 pupils were being reinstated immediately in compliance with the decision rendered last night by Chief Judge Elbert P. Tuttle of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

School board attorney Field Baruch said he would press for a new hearing on Tuttle's decision.

The Atlanta judge said the children were illegally arrested. He ruled that the city school board could not prevent the pupils from completing this term.

Seven days remain in the school term.

OVERTURNS DECISION
Tuttle overturned a decision by U.S. Dist. Judge Clarence W. Allgood of Birmingham within eight hours after Allgood refused to reinstate the 1,081 pupils expelled or suspended Monday.

Tuttle said the school board's reason for its action was a policy of suspending or expelling any pupil arrested for any cause.

He ruled, however, that the pupils "were engaging in legally permissible activities" and were "illegally arrested for exercising this constitutional right."

In granting a temporary injunction against orders of the pupils, Tuttle said in an accompanying opinion "it appears shocking that a board of education should thus in effect destroy the value of one term of schooling for so many children."

News of Tuttle's decision set off wild celebration at a mass meeting and integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said his position had been vindicated.

School board members held a night meeting but made no immediate comment.

MAKE WAVE FOR Astronaut

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut Gordon Cooper was returning home today and Houston readied a ticker tape parade to welcome America's newest space hero.

Cooper, his wife Trudy and daughters Camilla, 14, and Janita, 13, were due to reach Houston's International Airport at 3:30 p.m. Pontiac time.

Mayor Lewis Cutrer will greet Cooper at the airport. Mrs. Cutrer will present flowers to Mrs. Cooper. Then police will escort the party to Sam Houston Coliseum, where the parade will begin.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Gov. John Connally and members of the Texas congressional delegation were invited to take part in the parade, the fifth for Cooper since he completed his 34-hour space flight last Thursday.

Johnson sent word he would be unable to attend. He will speak at the President's birthday party in New York City tonight.

Cooper rode up Broadway Wednesday to a roaring, adoring ticker tape accolade from New York's millions.

Later, at a civic luncheon in the Waldorf-Astoria, 1,900 dignitaries rose to their feet in ovation as he received the city's medal of honor.

The 36-year-old Air Force major made one of the shortest acceptance speeches in memory:

"I don't generally say very much. I'm so impressed that today I'm going to say even less. On behalf of myself and the entire Mercury team, I want to thank you very much."

His words delighted the audience, which included former President Herbert Hoover.

Cooper sat in the back of a limousine leading the 15-minute parade. Beside him was his wife. Vice President Johnson rode with the couple.

MOTHER, DAUGHTERS

In the third car was the astronaut's mother, Hattie Cooper. Cooper's daughters rode in the fourth car.

Also in the motorcade were fellow astronauts M. Scott Carpenter, Alab-B. Shepard Jr., Donald K. Slayton, Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Virgil I. Grissom.

At City Hall, Mayor Robert F. Wagner told Cooper:

"New York goes for you in a very big way. America owes much to you, to each and all of us, in bringing closer the day when man will reach the moon."

Cooper responded:

"I'm certainly very impressed. On behalf of myself and the entire Mercury team, I want to thank you for turning out and paying us this tremendous honor. I thank you for all of us from the bottom of my heart."

Johnson and Hoover voiced brief tributes to all the space men. Houston's welcome will be confined to the parade except for official greetings by a reception committee at the airport.

Houston public schools dismissed pupils for the day. City employees planned to end the work at 3 p.m. in order to watch the parade. At least three high school bands were to participate.

PAPER ROUTE — Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper waves to the paper-filled sky as millions cheer him in Union Square of New York City during home parade yesterday. Vice President Lyndon Johnson sits on back of car seat with Cooper.

Have Enough Cash for Hospital Payroll

A tight cash position at Pontiac General Hospital has eased enough to allow the hospital to meet payroll demands today.

The cash situation, created by an increase in operating costs this year without a corresponding increase in patient rates, was the topic of concern at last week's regular board of trustees meeting.

At that time, it appeared the acted, and administration farm leaders in Congress backed him up. But Republicans took steps to continue the present voluntary controls.

The administration plan turned down in a national referendum Tuesday would have provided tighter controls and higher price supports by rejecting the program the wheat farmers chose low supports for those who voluntarily cut production and none for those who reject any acreage control.

PRICES DROP

On the heels of the program's rejection.

In Chicago, prices of wheat for future delivery dropped as much as 9 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade. They rallied later, however, and closed unchanged to 14 cents a bushel lower.

In Canada, a cloud of uncertainty appeared over the future of grain farming in that country. Farm organizations in western Canada forecast possible depression of world wheat prices and reduction of Canadian growers' income.

Farm state GOP legislators greeted the program's defeat jubilantly and suggested that the usefulness of Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman had come to an end—a point Kennedy rejected.

MAKE OVER PAGES Seaway in Finance Hole

WASHINGTON — The St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. said yesterday it is unable to meet its financial commitments without changes in its loan arrangements with the Treasury Department or increases in tolls.

And the seaway's administrator, Joseph H. McCann, said in an interview that under existing arrangements no payments could be made on the loan principal for at least another 20 years.

He blamed the situation on traffic estimates which have fallen far below expectations.

McCann expressed hope, however, that Canadian and American committees which are examining seaway toll charges and its financial setup "can place us on a sound financial footing."

The committees must file their reports not later than July 1, 1964. Hearings will be held on the study next March.

McCann testified before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee in support of the corporation's $428,000 administrative budget for the fiscal year which begins July 1.

This is $4,550 more than Congress approved last year.

NO APPROPRIATION

Congress appropriates no money for the seaway because the seaway pays its administrative, operating and maintenance costs from tolls. But Congress must approve a ceiling on administrative spending.

In an interview after his appearance before the subcommittee, McCann said he is opposed to a toll increase because he fears it would cause a drop in traffic.

But he said the corporation could meet its commitments if the interest rate, now 3 1/2 per cent on its treasury loan was reduced or the 50-year amortization period lengthened.

The corporation originally expected to begin payments on the loan principal 10 years after operations began in 1959 and to complete payments on its debt—now $135 million, including deferred interest—within 50 years.

But McCann told the subcommittee that although the seaway had a banner year in 1962, its total 25.6 million tons of traffic fell far below the 37 million tons estimated for that year before the seaway opened.

TONNAGES LAG

He said tonnages have lagged 34 million tons below estimates during the first four years of operation. Toll charges are based on the early traffic estimates.

He said the corporation has cut employment from a high of 178 to the present 161 in an attempt to cut expenses but this drop has been offset by wage increases.

For the fiscal year which ends June 30, 1964, McCann said, the corporation expects to pay the Treasury $3.3 million of the $4.75 million it will owe in interest. The $1.45 million difference must be deferred, he added.

The corporation has never been able to pay all the interest it owes on its loan.

McCann said, however, that the 10 per cent increase in traffic last year over 1961 is a good omen.

He said a 30 per cent increase in traffic over the past two years is due in large part to the seaway's promotional activities. He said $41,700 was spent on promotion between last July and April 30.

"It was a big decision for me to make," Robertson said about starting all over again, "but now that things are back to normal I'm glad I did."

Girls' Athletic Unit Sets Annual Affair

Avondale Junior High School Girls' Athletic Association will climax the year's activities with its third annual Mother and Daughter Banquet tonight.

Featured speaker at the 6:15 p.m. event will be Miss Esther Ralston, of Mt. Clemens, president of the recently formed Michigan G. A. A.

Presentation of the outstanding athletic awards will be made by Mrs. George Honkala, club sponsor.

Farmers cooperating in Michigan State University's mail-in account project boosted 1961 labor incomes by $1,073 over the previous year. Average labor income was $3,412, the highest since 1958 and the fourth highest since the University started the record project in 1929.

For Memorial Day

ROME — This community's annual tribute to its honored war dead on Memorial Day will begin with the traditional parade through town to the cemetery.

It will form at 10 a.m. in the A-P parking lot on East St. Clair.

At the head of the line of march will be a color guard made up of members of Strider-McVicar VFW Post 2662, Vern Hilliker American Legion Post 109 and their auxiliaries.

Following will be Blue and Gold Star Mothers and Explorers, boy and girl scouts, cub scouts and Brownies.

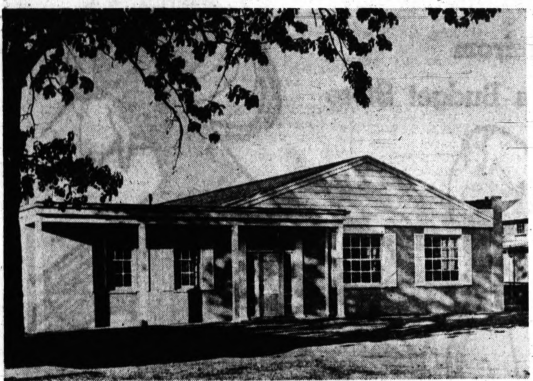

The high school, junior high, cadet and grade school bands will provide the martial music to keep the paraders in step.

Bringing up the rear will be elementary and pre-school children carrying bouquets to decorate the graves.

At the cemetery, Village Attorney Gary M. Corbin will deliver the Memorial Day address. The invocation and benediction will be given by Rev. Oscar Braunschweig of the First Methodist Church.

The VFW auxiliary also will conduct a brief service before the war memorial at the entrance to the cemetery.

Owner Meets Challenge, Rebuilds Factory at Age 65

By LEE OLSON
Area News Editor

ROME — The task of rebuilding a business after a disastrous fire is challenging enough—but when you're 65, it takes more than courage to start all over again.

That's the opinion of Voyle D. Robertson who saw the main building of his custom millworks gutted by flames last Oct. 17.

Robertson said it takes enthusiastic support of friends and relatives, stick-to-itiveness of employees and patience of buyers to help with the renovation project.

Not to mention that this was the second time the millworks was destroyed by fire in Robertson's lifetime. The first was in 1917 when he was just about 20 years old.

"He was home during summer vacation from college that year working for his father, George P. Robertson, after whom the company is named, when the first disaster struck. The senior Robertson, then close to 50 himself, rebuilt at that time."

Another source of inspiration was Willie S. Downes, owner of the Pontiac Millworks, which also was destroyed by fire before Robertson suffered his loss.

Downes, at "around 70," a business acquaintance of the Rome mill owner, started immediately to rebuild carrying on operations from his home, 1801 Opdyke.

FIRST TASK

The first task Robertson faced was the dismantling and removal of remains of the two-story structure that had housed the main woodworking shop.

Then a new grey cement block building with white pillar and white pillars was erected on the same site, 410 E. St. Clair.

Employees moved in early this spring and the company is back in full operation—boasting only a brief slowdown during the reconstruction period.

The new building measures 60 by 100 feet, has modern fluorescent lighting, cement floor and a wood roof.

A fire wall has been installed on the side adjacent to Church and Church Lumber Co.—the east walls of which were only blistered in the October fire because the wind was blowing in the opposite direction.

Part of the woodworking equipment in the mill is new and the rest has been rebuilt.

The company specializes in custom woodworking—especially for churches, schools and public buildings—in the greater Thumb area.

"It was a big decision for me to make," Robertson said about starting all over again, "but now that things are back to normal I'm glad I did."

Churches Okay Merger Plan

Decision Set During Simultaneous Confabs

EAST LANSING — Two state religious organizations yesterday approved a merger proposal uniting them as the new Michigan conference of the United Church of Christ.

The decision came as the Michigan and Michigan-Indiana Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church held simultaneous meetings in East Lansing.

Congregational representatives voted 373-48 in favor of the merger, while Evangelical and Reformed churches approved the consolidation and proposed constitution and bylaws by a 134-1 margin.

Some 220 Congregational and 70 Evangelical and Reformed churches, all in Michigan, were affected by the consolidation.

Opposition to the merger among Congregationalists took the form of concern over a possible loss of autonomy for individual churches as a result of consolidation.

Missionary Meeting Is Set by Church

CLARKSTON — The First Baptist Church of Clarkston will hold a four-day missionary conference beginning Sunday with services scheduled for 7:30 p.m. daily.

Missionaries participating in the conferences will include the Alfred Goulds, missionaries to Peru; the George Dees, who serve in Southern Rhodesia; and the Charles Herrands of the Pontiac Rescue Mission.

A banquet Wednesday evening in the church basement will conclude the conference.

Church Gets Music Event

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Auburn Road Church of the Nazarene will feature a musical evangelistic family at special services scheduled for Tuesday through June 2.

The Trissel Family, from Bradenton, Fla., will offer music from a vibraphone, accordion, organ and even Swiss bells in addition to inspirational talks at the five 7 p.m. worship services.

They will also appear at the June 2 regular 11 a.m. service. Rev. Paul D. Trissel, his wife Mary, and their daughter Debra make up the unit. The church is at 1825 E. Auburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Kruskie of 2870 Harrington, Avon Township, announced the engagement of their daughter Terrie June to John K. Taugner. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Taugner, 39 Pleasant, Oxford. An Oct. 12 wedding is being planned.

Funds Pour In for Beaten Girl

Contributions to Help Pay Medical Expenses

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Contributions to the Naomi J. Reed Medical Fund have been arriving here from all parts of the Detroit area.

Township Clerk Ferdinand C. Vetter said that donations totaled $403 yesterday.

The fund was established by the Township Board just a week ago to help with the medical expenses of the 14-year-old victim of a beating.

Naomi was in Pontiac General Hospital for 18 days after the March 26 beating.

Her assailant, Carl L. Case, 19, has been convicted of murder in the fatal beating of Naomi's 15-year-old brother.

Vetter, a member of the fund administering agency, said contributions may be sent to 7325 Highland Road, P.O. Box 121, White Lake.

The committee has also distributed canisters throughout the area.

Walled Lake Riled Over Junk Autos

WALLED LAKE — Police Chief James A. Decker has declared war on misplaced junk cars and has gone to the City Council for ammunition.

In his report Decker indicated there are 149 dismantled automobiles in 30 yards through out the city.

Stripped chassis and various auto parts are often abandoned, and the police are unable to move them, Decker pointed out.

The police chief showed councilmen pictures of several of the offending yards.

City Attorney Howard I. Bond, who said some of the accumulations could qualify as junk yards, has been authorized to draw up an amendment to the nuisance ordinance to control the others.

Girls' Athletic Unit Sets Annual Affair

Avondale Junior High School Girls' Athletic Association will climax the year's activities with its third annual Mother and Daughter Banquet tonight.

Featured speaker at the 6:15 p.m. event will be Miss Esther Ralston, of Mt. Clemens, president of the recently formed Michigan G. A. A.

Presentation of the outstanding athletic awards will be made by Mrs. George Honkala, club sponsor.

Farmers cooperating in Michigan State University's mail-in account project boosted 1961 labor incomes by $1,073 over the previous year. Average labor income was $3,412, the highest since 1958 and the fourth highest since the University started the record project in 1929.

Romeo Planning Parade

ROME — This community's annual tribute to its honored war dead on Memorial Day will begin with the traditional parade through town to the cemetery.

It will form at 10 a.m. in the A-P parking lot on East St. Clair.

Church Gets Music Event

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Auburn Road Church of the Nazarene will feature a musical evangelistic family at special services scheduled for Tuesday through June 2.

The Trissel Family, from Bradenton, Fla., will offer music from a vibraphone, accordion, organ and even Swiss bells in addition to inspirational talks at the five 7 p.m. worship services.

They will also appear at the June 2 regular 11 a.m. service. Rev. Paul D. Trissel, his wife Mary, and their daughter Debra make up the unit. The church is at 1825 E. Auburn.

Gibson Eyes Dixie Verdict Near on Move?

GREENVILLE, S.C. — A possible zero hour was at hand today for Gibson Refrigerator's decision whether to pull its operations out of Michigan and move to Mississippi.

Management announced it was having a meeting here today with United Auto Workers Union Local 137 but gave no hint of the purpose.

The announcement was made after yesterday's meeting in Cleveland of directors of Hupp Corp., Gibson's parent company.

President. Donal Gearheart said most of the three-and-a-half-hour meeting was spent in discussing the proposed switch to Mississippi. He refused to say whether a decision had been reached.

A director's statement expressed disappointment over failure of Gibson management and the union to reach an agreement. The statement said a "public announcement" would be made after today's meeting here.

The statement said the directors approved a course of action recommended by management but did not disclose its nature.

Gibson, manufacturer of refrigerators and other products at plants here and in Belding, is one of this Central Michigan area's important economic factors. It has 1,300 production workers.

Gibson spokesmen said consultants have informed it that a $1.7 million annual savings would result from moving to Mississippi.

UAW Local 137 has rejected wage cut proposals from Gibson.

The company statement issued at Cleveland said in full:

"John O. Ekblom, chairman of the Hupp Corp. board of directors, stated today the board has reviewed in detail the preliminary recommendations of a consulting organization to relocate the Greenville, Mich., Gibson Refrigerator division in order to insure a future competitive position."

"Mr. Ekblom said that although the board endorsed management's action, it expressed its disappointment in the failure of Gibson and management to resolve this problem so vital to the employees, the community and the company."

"The board approved a course of action recommended by management. A meeting has been arranged between the management and the union in Greenville, Mich., on Thursday, May 23, at which a public announcement will be made."

Area-State News Committee Won't Object to Army Missile Contract

WASHINGTON — The House defense appropriations subcommittee yesterday voted not to object to a proposed Army contract with Ling-Temco-Vought Co. of Dallas to develop the army's new lance missile in Michigan.

The work is scheduled to be done at the Army's missile plant in Sterling Township near Warren.

The subcommittee, which regularly operates in secret, will not publish hearing testimony, committee sources said.

ment program was announced as $101 million but has grown to $157 million.

Classes Plan Joint Reunion

TROY — A joint reunion is planned for the Troy High School graduating classes of 1953, '54, and '55 on June 8, at the Star Ballroom in Fraser. Reservations must be in by next Thursday.

A family style dinner and an evening to dancing are included in the activities.

Tickets for the event can be obtained by contacting Mrs. Gerald R. Ford, R-18, 585 Joyce, 585 Valencia, Pontiac, or Mrs. Ray Cischke, 1085 Truwood, Avon Township.

Ceremonies Scheduled in Rochester

ROCHESTER — Ceremonies commemorating the war dead of this village will begin at 10 a.m. next Thursday, with numerous civic groups participating and Oakland County Clerk Daniel T. Murphy as guest speaker.

The solemn Memorial Day activities will start at the American Legion Hall on West University. Mrs. George Lindsey, president of Women's Relief Corps No. 227, will offer a brief talk there.

Led by George Ennis, commander of the Home Wing Post of the American Legion, and Donald Ross, head of the Jack Mason Post of VFW, the group will then advance in parade form to Mount Avon Cemetery.

A color guard of men from the two posts will follow their commanders.

Also in the parade will be township and village officials, bands, girl and boy scouts, a marching group of masons, the Rochester and Avondale fire departments, and other civic organizations.

Traveling east on West University to Main, the parade will go south to Second, pausing while the American Legion and VFW auxiliaries place floral wreaths on the WW II monument.

Official Report to Be Given

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Henry Moses, secretary of the planning commission, will give a progress report on the township master plan tomorrow night at the library.

Moses will address the Friends of the Library at their annual meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. at the library. The public is invited to attend. The library is located at 4509 Orchard Lake Road.

Brundage Under Fire
BRUSSELS (AP)—The Belgian sports daily "Les Sports" Wednesday criticized Avery Brundage, the American president of the International Olympic Committee, for his support of Berlin as the site of the 1968 Olympic Games. "One will undoubtedly be astonished by the crashing statements of M. Avery Brundage in favor of Berlin," the paper said.

Hires New Aide; Add Players

NFL Announces Intelligence Move

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The National Football League took additional steps Wednesday toward preventing a recurrence of the betting incidents that rocked the league last season.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced the hiring of James E. Hamilton of the Los Angeles intelligence division of the police department as a special aide "to prevent undesirable associations of which the players may be unaware."

The commissioner said the appointment of Hamilton "is more intelligence than investigative, but there may be some investigations." He said no players are under investigation now.

ANNUAL MEETING

The announcement came at the annual spring meeting of NFL club owners at the Sheraton Hotel in St. Louis.

Since Rozelle indefinitely suspended Paul Hornung of the Green Bay Packers and Alex Karras of the Detroit Lions April 17 for betting on league games, he fined five other Detroit players $2,000 each and the Lions $4,000 in the same incident.

Rozelle said that the idea of hiring a special investigator is not new. The league has been thinking on those lines for two years.

Rozelle said. The betting did not hasten the action, he said, but the appointment "should prevent recurrence of such unfortunate events."

Hamilton, 53, who will take the post June 1, has been a Los Angeles police officer for 26 years. He has been commended by the Kefauver Committee for outstanding service to the community.

Teeing Off

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

Next Tuesday at the Dallas Country Club, 1962 Open champion Jack Nicklaus and 1962 PGA champion Gary Player will meet in the "Round of a Champion."

In the "field" for this special round of golf will be another 100,000 golfers across the country. Only, they will play their 18 holes this Saturday at a couple of hundred different sites in the U.S.

Long Hitters for Memphis

MEMPHIS (AP)—The first of the touring professionals were hoping to slam long balls early today at the start of the $50,000 Memphis Invitational Open Golf Tournament.

The cold snap and sporadic drizzle could discomfort players but the greens were said to be in fine shape.

Defending champion Lionel Hebert was scheduled to tee off early and Jack Nicklaus, the favorite, in the afternoon.

Much favoritism was developing for Julius Boros, who shot low medal score, a 32-35-67, in the pro-am Wednesday.

SHORT PUTTS

The Putt Putt course on Dixie Highway will have a one-day 72 hole event, June 2nd, with winners qualifying for part of $50,000 National Championship tournament in Cleveland, July 5-7. First cash prize there will be $10,000.

Talk about beginner's luck. Bill Biggenbotham of Linton, Indiana, went out to play his first game of golf recently. His first tee shot at the Linton city course dropped into the hole and he recorded his first hole-in-one.

Things didn't go so well on the next hole. He took a 10. It was never told what his final score was.

The World Series of Golf is slated for Akron, Sept. 7-8 with golf's top four players slated as "the field." Jack Nicklaus has already qualified as winner of the Masters.

EARLY BIRD

They say the early bird gets the worm. Cal Cook of Pleasant Ridge hates to admit it but believes it as for as his golf goes. He went out to Highland Hills at 6:00 a.m. last Sunday waiting for his foursome to show up.

He decided to shoot a couple practice shots on the par-3 and 225 yard 10th hole. The first practice shot went into the cup and there wasn't a soul around to witness it.

When the foursome finally got together, Cook took a four on the hole and went the rest of the way talking to himself.

Stoneycroft's first ace of the season was a 140 yarder on the 9th hole and it belongs to the disaffection side of golf. Miss Nina Zepp used a four-iron to get her first ace. She shot a 48.

Ten Entered in HTA

CHICAGO (AP)—Ten of the nation's top 4-year-old pacers have been named for the $50,000 Harness Tracks of America paces championship at Sportsman's Park Friday night.

The field, in post position order, includes Harold J., Leigh Hanover, Coffee Break, Buxton Hanover, Adora's Dream, Peachadon, Rusty Range, Leader Pick, Royal Domain and Meadow Battles.
