

Press Urges 'Yes' Vote for Hospital

While the vote on the current Pontiac Hospital bond issue is still two or three weeks away, The Press wants to make its own position clear.

The absolute need is beyond discussion. This stands unchallenged. Leaving the building empty would constitute a tremendous economic waste. The entire community would suffer directly.

The Press supported the original three million dollars bond issue, wholeheartedly. Shortly after the vote, there were rumors that the entire sum would be used for the building only and this newspaper printed an editorial which we reproduce in part from the issue of November 22, 1954:

"There are some off stage rumblings as to how the City should proceed with the money... The Press feels the path is clearly marked. The City should... provide the maximum amount of facilities the amount can pay for. It would be very unwise to use all the money for walls and floors and then stage another campaign to furnish the interior. 'Another campaign' would constitute breaking faith... Even the suggestion is poor psychology... At no time were the voters informed that another campaign might be staged to raise additional money by popular subscription."

When nothing more was heard, The Press believed the hospital move was keeping faith with the voters.

Much later the community learned that the bare addition consumed every penny. All the money had been spent on walls, floors and ceiling. There's nothing left for equipment or furnishings. A million, eight hundred and fifty thousand dollars more are needed to finish the job and provide parking space. The position of this newspaper will not be clouded in mystery or doubt. We think the voters have been fooled and we hold hospital authorities accountable for this unhappy dilemma.

However, at this date, the situation must be cured as best it can. We're in a mess AND THE CURRENT JOB IS TO DIG OUR WAY OUT.

It would be folly to let that great shell on West Huron Street stand empty and idle. We need the beds. We need them badly. The community is desperately short of places to care for the sick, the injured, the maimed and those in need of operations. Even when the City Hospital is completed, we will lag far behind demands.

Now, The Press sees no alternative but to VOTE FOR THE ADDITION. We reach this decision after due thought and study.

We see no other path. Do you? When we go to the polls, we vote on our own health. We vote for our own medical aid and assistance. We vote for sick people and that will unexpectedly include you—and you—and you. The vote can correct past mistakes and provide something that can be used.

That's the only issue now. Hence, we urge the voters to grant the money for their own sakes. You can't cut off your nose to spite your face.

It's an unhappy situation, but we must face it and reach the best solution.

The Board declares: "We have always planned for a 150 bed addition and were advised that this could be done for the original three million dollar bond issue; that when, due to rising costs, it became apparent that this was not possible, the decision was made to build as much as possible of the originally planned project rather than to complete a much smaller and entirely inadequate addition; and if this decision was wrong, we erred on the side of the public good."

The cost will be small to each individual. For a very, very trifling sum, we can guarantee completion and the full use of an otherwise empty shell. We need it badly. If you vote against the bond issue, you aren't voting against the Hospital Board. You're voting against yourself. The community must be bigger than that. We urge a "YES" vote.

Phones to Find Fire Is in His Own Building

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP)—Reporter Bill Brinkman of the Houghton Mining Gazette saw the fire trucks go by his newspaper office window yesterday and called the police to find out where the fire was.

The police didn't know. Brinkman tried the fire department and was told: "Are you kidding? You're sitting on it." The fire was in the press room of the Gazette, one floor below Brinkman. A small blaze in a chimney, it caused no damage.

'He Got the Message'

Beck Faces Another Senate Quiz

Onetime Official Admits CAB 'Leak'

Reverses Testimony to Senate Probers

WASHINGTON (AP)—A onetime Capitol Hill aide, Laurence Henderson, reversing a previous denial, told investigating senators today he may have had a "leak" on airline route information from a Civil Aeronautics Board official.

Henderson, now of Hagerstown, Md., first testified he acted solely on a "hunch" and his own deductions when he telephoned a Boston broker last Aug. 3 that he believed Northeast Airlines had been awarded a New York-Miami route instead of Delta Airlines.

Henderson swore he had no inside tip on a secret 3-2 decision by the CAB that night of Aug. 2 to give Northeast the route. The CAB decision was not announced publicly until Aug. 10.

But under pressing from the Senate Investigations subcommittee, the red-faced and perspiring Henderson said that if he was not correct in that recollection a tip from Raymond Sawyer, a CAB official, "could have been the only other possible source" of his opinion.

Sawyer was executive director of CAB at the time of the alleged leak, and now is associate director of its bureau of international air operations.

SAWYER TO TESTIFY
The subcommittee announced it would call Sawyer to testify later in the day.

The subcommittee is conducting an inquiry aimed at finding out whether the CAB decision was "leaked" and enabled speculators to make a quick profit in Northeast stock.

It received testimony about an anonymous telephone call late the night of Aug. 2 telling of the decision.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) acting chairman of the subcommittee, declined to tell newsmen whether the senators have learned the identity of the anonymous caller. At the time of the CAB decision, Henderson was assistant to the president of Trans-American Airlines, but now is with Fairchild Engineering & Aircraft Corp., Hagerstown, Md.

Earlier, he had various employment at the Capitol. This included staff work for Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), former Sen. William Benton (D-Conn.) and the Senate Small Business Committee.

Henderson said he did not buy any Northeast stock himself but on the morning of Aug. 3 telephoned to Forest A. Clark, a partner in the Boston brokerage firm of H. C. Wainwright & Co., and told Clark he believed CAB had voted 3-2 to award Northeast the route.

He said his best recollection was that he acted on a "hunch" and had been guided largely by a flurry of trading in Northeast stock. Subcommittee counsel Donald F. O'Donnell then produced telephone company records which showed that Henderson's talk with Clark started at 10:06 a.m., and Securities and Exchange Commission records showing that the flurry of trading had not yet started at that time.

"How," Sen. Jackson demanded, "could you possibly have called Mr. Clark and told him the stock was active?" Henderson acknowledged that, if the records are correct, it would have been impossible.

He then popped in the name of Sawyer as the possible source of the leak, and said he now believes he did receive a call from Sawyer on the morning of Aug. 3.

To Invite the Queen

ANN ARBOR (AP)—There is a chance that Queen Elizabeth will visit the University of Michigan if she travels to North America in September. A University spokesman says a Detroit committee already has asked the University if it would extend an invitation to the British monarch.

32 Meet Death as British Plane Crashes, Burns

Woman, 2 Children Die
With 25 Soldiers, Crew;
Only 3 Survive

BLACKBUSHE, England (AP)—A crippled military plane crashed in flames last night after a desperate attempt to return here for an emergency landing. Thirty-two of 35 persons aboard died.

The twin-engined Viking was carrying military personnel and their families to Libya. Officials said the dead included one woman and two children. Also aboard were 25 British soldiers, 2 War Department civilian workers and a crew of 5.

Four soldiers were taken alive from the flaming wreckage and rushed to a hospital, but one died there. The other three were badly burned.

The plane had just left the Blackbushe airfield for Lybia, France, its first stop, when a radioed appeal was made for permission to return for an emergency landing.

The pilot was circling the field to get lined up with a runway when one engine exploded. The plane crashed near a highway, ripped through a row of 60 trees and burst into flames. It went down two miles from the runway.

Ezio Pinza Suffers 3rd Heart Attack

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP)—Ezio Pinza, 64, has suffered another heart attack — his third since August.

The operatic basso and Broadway star was stricken in his home Tuesday. His wife said he is under oxygen "on and off" at home. He was not taken to a hospital.

Mrs. Pinza said last night he was improving. Pinza suffered his first attack in Italy last August. He had another attack in December.

Haulaway Overtakes in Detroit

Falling Car Hurts Driver

DETROIT (AP)—An automobile falling from a toppling haulaway truck crashed down on a moving car on the Lodge Expressway last night, seriously injuring the driver, Robert I. Nelson, 33, of Belleville.

The haulaway overturned on its side and dumped five new automobiles, blocking a lane in either direction. The haulaway ended up in the center mall.

The car which hit Nelson's crushed the roof down to the top of the seats. It took police and firemen an hour to pry Nelson from the wreckage.

The haulaway hit the expressway's center island and went over. Not seriously hurt, Collins got a reckless driving ticket.

Other moving cars narrowly missed being hit by the tumbling auto off the haulaway. Barbara Joyce Feely, 17, of Detroit ran her car up an embankment to avoid one and was thrown out, but was only slightly hurt.

RECALLED — President Dave Beck, of the International Teamsters Union has been recalled by the Senate rackets investigating committee. The committee has ordered Beck to produce his personal financial records.

NATO Council Gets Busy Hashing Out A-Problems

BONN (INS)—NATO's foreign ministers—figuratively sitting on an atomic bomb—got down today to the business of hashing out North Atlantic Pact problems.

Nuclear armament was one of the major issues facing the Council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as it opened a three-day conference in Bonn. The Council was particularly on the spot in view of the recent declarations by West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano that West Germany had no intention of manufacturing atomic weapons or seeking them from her Allies.

Well Done, Mrs. Barnes

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Mrs. Jack Barnes this week passed an examination and became a master plumber, the first woman in Oklahoma to have the honor.

Coupled with the stated Bonn position was last week's Soviet note warning West Germany she would be turned into a "graveyard" in event of war if she were equipped with atomic weapons.

Diplomatic circles reported as the conference began that West Germany might seek postponement of any decision affecting her nuclear rearmament for at least six months, during which Bonn would take "no active initiative" on the question.

The reported West German position and the increasing importance of the nuclear issue was touched off yesterday by Lord Ismay's statement that West Germany has the clear choice to refuse acceptance of atomic weapons.

COUNCIL OPENS
Ismay, who is retiring as NATO secretary general, and Adenauer were among the officials scheduled to address the Council's ceremonial opening session.

The nuclear topic had skyrocketed to domestic prominence in view of Adenauer's exposed position over his public commitments on the issue only four months before the September elections.

Must Carry On Without Advice of Attorney Duff

Probers Summon Boss of Teamsters to Testify
Again Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Teamster President Dave Beck faces a new round of questioning by Senate investigators next week without the legal services of former Sen. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) announced last night he had summoned Beck to appear May 8 for another public hearing before the special Senate committee investigating alleged racketeering in labor unions and industry.

McClellan said the group would receive "further derogatory evidence" against the Teamster boss. Beck and Duff agreed they had

Hoffa Says Teamsters Plan No Probe of Beck

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—James R. Hoffa says the Teamsters Union plans no independent investigation of the alleged mis-handling of some $330,000 in union funds by President Dave Beck.

Hoffa of Detroit, top Teamster vice president, told about 150 local leaders from Minnesota, North and South Dakota last night that he also would back Beck for re-election.

Hoffa himself is under indictment on federal charges arising from his alleged attempt to plant a spy on the staff of the Senate committee investigating labor racketeering, headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.).

parted company. But they differed on what caused this.

Duff said he had "withdrawn" from Beck's employ. Beck said that he was dropping Duff and his law firm because the former GOP senator would not appear with him at the new hearing next week.

Arthur D. Condon, an associate of Duff, sat at Beck's elbow when the Teamster chief last week before the committee March 27.

At that time, Beck repeatedly invoked the Fifth Amendment, pleading it might tend to incriminate him if he testified whether he had misappropriated some $320,000 of union funds for his personal use. Beck noted he was the subject of an income tax probe.

The Teamster chief irritated some members of the committee by referring again and again to Duff as his legal adviser. The senators said they were not impressed.

Does a red sunset actually tell us anything about tomorrow's weather? The old saying is frequently heard about a red sky at the end of the day—that it means clear, cold weather. In practically all sections of the United States the prevailing direction of the movement of the gas layer circling the earth (the weather) is west to east. Today's weather was actually over some point westward yesterday—probably several hundred miles away.

If the sun sets red, that means dry, dusty air is toward the west, between the viewer and the sun—hence the red color. If the air to the west is dry and dusty and is moving toward the viewer, it will be overhead in the coming hours. Hence chances are the weather will be fair in the immediate future.

The reason for assuming a red sunset means cold weather lies in the fact that clear weather usually follows the passage of a cold front. In the winter months, most of the fronts are cold and, thus, more often than not, a clear weather sign occurs behind a cold front.

One Little Wasp Packs a Powerful Wallop

SPRING HAZARD — Tony Clark, 69, owner of the Pontiac Fruit House, 63 W. Lawrence St., will probably go along with the idea that bees help produce fruit, but, as far as wasps are concerned, they are for the birds. A wasp was the cause of this accident at West Huron street and Ottawa drive yesterday. While trying to swat a wasp which flew into his auto, Clark lost control of the auto. His auto ended up against a tree after it had knocked down a concrete light pole. Clark was treated for abrasions and bruises and released from Pontiac General Hospital. The wasp? So far as we know it's at large looking for more motorists to buzz.

GM Production Shows '57 Dip

Pontiac Has Increase Compared to 1956, Reports Indicate

General Motors reported today its U. S. plants built 1,086,779 passenger cars in this year's January-April period. The total, reflecting GM's production cutback, compared with 1,238,604 car assemblies in the first four months of 1956.

Included in the totals were 254,869 car assemblies last month compared with 291,609 completions in the same month last year.

Despite an overall GM dip, Pontiac production was up. Both April and January-April figures were above those recorded for 1956.

Pontiac turned out 31,015 during the past month, compared to 29,500 for April, 1956. The four month total was 145,581, compared to 143,906 for the first third of 1956.

General Motors Truck and Coach Division reported 6,086 for April, compared to 8,897 for April, 1956. The four month total was 28,408, compared to 37,279 for 1956.

Together, Chrysler, Ford and General Motors, turned out 85,430 more units in the first four months of 1957 than they did in the same period of 1956.

Ford recorded 561,454, compared to 483,901; Chrysler produced 484,382, as compared to 356,848 in the first four months of 1956.

Awaits Trial for Extortion

City Man Stands Mute at Arraignment Before Federal Judge

Admitted extortionist Charles A. Leitheiter was returned to the Wayne County Jail yesterday after he failed to furnish a $1,000 bond when he was arraigned in Detroit before Federal Judge Theodore Levin.

Judge Levin entered an innocent plea for Leitheiter, accused of using the mails to extort $500 from the wife of a Pontiac physician, after the defendant stood mute.

No date has been set for trial, according to George Woods, chief assistant U. S. attorney.

Leitheiter, 38, of 15 Pine Grove Ave., was captured by Pontiac Police Friday in a woods in Orion Township, named as the payoff place for $500, a portion of the total he admitted he requested from the woman.

He was taken from the Oakland County Jail to Detroit Monday on a federal warrant requested by Postal Inspector Donald F. Woodward.

During interrogation by Pontiac Police, Leitheiter readily admitted he had written two letters to the local woman threatening "to expose her character" to her husband if she didn't pay, police said.

He said he didn't know the doctor or the woman nor need the money, and just picked the name at random from the telephone book.

Steal $135 Package Left on Store Counter

A camera and coffee-maker, valued at $135, were stolen from a counter in Simms Brothers Inc., 56 N. Saginaw St. about 3:30 p.m. yesterday.

Mrs. Carl Bushfield, 90 Ruth St., told police she left a shopping bag containing the items on the counter for a few minutes. When she returned, it was gone.

WASHINGTON (INS) — Two employees of a cafeteria firm were robbed of $32,000 they were taking to the bank today when two bandits pulled up beside their automobile at a busy Washington intersection. Police said the money was taken at gunpoint from messengers for Government Services, Inc., while they were stopped for a red light only four blocks from the bank.

County Solons Push State Bill

Public Works Measure Would Facilitate Area Sewer Projects

Oakland County legislators in Lansing today were optimistic that a county department of public works will be approved soon.

Legislative strategy has brought before both the House and the Senate similar measures allowing counties with more than 75,000 population to establish public works departments with broad powers over water and sewer projects.

One bill, introduced by Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson of Waterford Township, has passed the House and is in Senate committee. The other was introduced by Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, of Dryden Plains. It was approved by the Senate and is now up before the House.

"It seems pretty certain," Anderson said, "that one of the bills will be passed in the near future, probably next week."

The strategy, he pointed out, foresees the possibility that one of the legislative bodies might drop the bill as pressure mounts towards the end of the session.

If passed, the so-called Public Works Bill immediately would allow the county to set up a three to five member board with appropriated funds and an engineering staff.

The department could initiate and plan water and sewer projects involving two or more communities, with powers to set up financing and to force unwilling communities to participate.

Financing would be handled by the county, with reimbursement by the communities involved through bonding or special assessment.

Huge population growth and the increasing development of many communities is forcing the new legislation, its proponents say, to clear the way for major projects.

Wilson Reports Arms Disposal

Carrier Pigeons Head Obsolete Weapons Sold as Surplus

WASHINGTON (INS) — Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson has told a House Appropriations Military subcommittee, which wanted to know about disposition of obsolete equipment, that "We finally got rid of the carrier pigeons."

In testimony before Pentagon officials before the subcommittee, released today, Rep. Everett Scripps (R-Kan.) commented that "We won't balance the budget with that particular item."

Wilson said he may have been a "little flippant" in his answer about the pigeons, then gave the committee some detailed data about equipment. He said the Defense Department currently is disposing of about 1 1/2 billion dollars worth of surplus property a year.

During a three-year period ending last June 30, Wilson said, the Army disposed of about half its stock of 40mm. antiaircraft guns, a third of the 75mm. guns, 22,000 of the 30 caliber machineguns, most of the older 105mm. howitzers, and a quantity of other outdated weapons.

During the same period, the Navy cut its inventory of older ships by 11 destroyers, three transports, 12 large auxiliary landing ships, 39 escort vessels, 103 mine sweepers and a number of other craft.

The Air Force dropped almost all of its World War II B29 bombers; most of its B17 bombers, leaving only 68 in inventory, used for personnel carriers; 675 F31 and F47 predriven fighters and a quantity of trainers.

Prisoner in Hospital After Chase, Crash

Raymond E. Sherman, 22, of 43 N. East Blvd., is a police prisoner in Pontiac General Hospital today, after his car allegedly struck three trees and plowed through the front yard of a Illinois avenue home while being chased by police.

Sherman is in fair condition, hospital authorities said.

Pontiac Police said they began chasing Sherman at speeds up to 80 miles an hour at Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph roads at 2:30 a.m. The chase ended in the front yard of Edward J. Novak, 115 Illinois Ave.

6th Fleet Men Sad Without Paymaster

WITH 6TH FLEET MARINES. In Beirut (U-A) — Of the 489 officers and men left behind when the U. S. 6th Fleet sailed to the Middle East a week ago, the most sadly missed by far was Lt. (j.g.) John Webster.

Webster, 23, Wray, Colo., is paymaster of the attack transport Olmsted. And because of his absence the Olmsted's 350 crewmen and 700 Marines were not paid when the amphibious force was granted liberty in Beirut during the fleet's flag-showing mission.

Webster was on leave and missed the boat when the Olmsted departed suddenly from Naples, Italy. A chorus of good-natured hoots and jeers greeted him yesterday when he finally rejoined the ship.

Considering that many of the men had lively liberties in Naples, their cash on hand was mighty low. The Olmsted's gobs and Marines, when ashore, but they weren't able to haggle with the Beirut merchants on equal terms with their freshly paid mates from other ships.

Incorporation Move Is Eyed

Bloomfield Township Group Seeks Change to Fight Expressway

Efforts by a group of Bloomfield Township residents to keep the proposed Southfield Expressway from splitting their community will go before the Board of Supervisors tomorrow.

The Board will be asked to consider a petition calling for incorporation of Westchester Village, an area of roughly 150 acres from Cranbrook road at Birmingham's western city limits to Lahser road a mile west.

About 620 residents, many with homes in the $20,000-$30,000 class, live in the brand-new neighborhood, which generally lies several blocks south of Maple and is bordered on the south by the route of Lincoln road, a half-mile north of 14 Mile road.

The possibility that the state will locate the controversial highway through their pleasant, rolling residential area helped lead to the formation of two Westchester Village Associations, a spokesman said.

One association represents older residents to the west and the other a newer subdivision to the east.

Their joint petition has been considered by the Board's Boundaries Committee, which is expected to recommend a special election for incorporation be set for June 24.

The expressway is expected to swing westerly from Southfield road, going west of Birmingham and paralleling Woodward avenue towards Pontiac.

In other action tomorrow, the Board is expected to act on a report from the Equalization Committee, which will present compiled figures representing the 1957 assessed valuation of the county. Allocation of funds under the 15-mill tax limitation will be based on these figures.

The Roads and Bridges Committee is expected to ask approval of the Oakland County Road Commission's annual report to the State Highway Department.

There are several resolutions scheduled that would affect the levels of five Oakland County lakes.

Senators Call Back Teamster President

The March hearing, Duff said he would not appear with the Teamster president because the inquiry was based on information gathered in part while Duff still was in the Senate. He was defeated for re-election last year.

Last night, Beck issued a statement saying that Duff would not appear with him at the hearing next week and that "this has necessitated my dissociating from Duff and his law firm from representing me."

Earlier, Duff told a newsmen his law firm had "withdrawn" from Beck's case. He declined to explain the reason, but he said "there might be something" to a statement by Duff that the work Duff "undertook" for Beck had been completed.

Chairman McClellan said renewed attempts to find the union czar's missing auditor, Fred Verschuere Jr., have come to naught.

In summoning the union chairman again, McClellan said the committee would provide him "ample opportunity" to carry out his threat "to blow the lid right off the Senate."

Still Doesn't Like It

PADUCAH, Ky. (U-A) — Opponents of daylight saving time have called Mayor George Jacobs at the crack of dawn today since the time change went into effect here Sunday. "Mayor, it's time to get up," they say, then hang up. Jacobs says he has never liked the time change himself.

Strike May Halt Salk Shots Here

Parke, Davis Walkout Could Postpone Adult Polio Program

The Parke, Davis & Co. strike, which has stopped distribution of the firm's Salk polio vaccine, may force postponement of the Oakland County Medical Society's program of mass adult immunization, due to begin May 13.

Dr. Fritz Adams, society president, said not enough vaccine is on hand today for a complete program.

The drug company's 300-man plant maintenance force struck at midnight Tuesday, after contract negotiations broke down. They are represented by the International Machinists Union.

But vaccine production at the firm's plant near Rochester is continuing, the company said. All of the Salk vaccine is manufactured there and normally is shipped to the Detroit plant for packaging.

Parke Davis said it will store its production at its Rochester facilities until the strike ends. The company is the second largest polio vaccine producer in the country.

NATO Council Busy on Atom Problems

On the spot in the light of his expected fervent appeal to the foreign ministers that abandonment or delay on nuclear rearmament could be a fatal blow to NATO and could result in American reappraisal of European troop strength.

The nuclear question was believed highlighted at a conference between Dulles and Adenauer yesterday shortly after the secretary of state arrived in the West German capital.

Dulles met for an hour with Adenauer, and later talked separately with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Italian Foreign Minister Gaetano Martino. He dined privately last night with U. S. Ambassador David K. E. Bruce.

Meanwhile, American Embassy sources said special Eisenhower doctrine Envoys James P. Richards might not come to Bonn as scheduled to confer with Dulles during the NATO meeting. No reason was given for the switch in plans.

No Doubt About It

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (U-A) — Archie Vick, 64, stuck his head into the elevator shaft at the Gold Proof Elevator Co. to see if the lift was coming down. It was. It hit him. Hospital officials said he was not seriously hurt.

The Day in Birmingham

Choose Robert Schaule as Youth Bureau Head

BIRMINGHAM — Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley today announced changes in the juvenile division youth bureau due to the February retirement of Lt. Henry Timm.

Lt. Timm, a 28-year man on the force, has pioneered in police youth activity in Birmingham. Under his guidance the bicycle court, patrol boy and bicycle safety programs were inaugurated in 1949.

Two years later he founded the pedestrian safety program and since 1954 has worked on an educational program in cooperation with the schools to deal with the sex deviate problem.

Under the new plan the youth bureau will fall directly under the command of the chief of police. It has in the past been attached to the detective division.

BUREAU'S NEW HEAD

Sgt. Robert Schaule, a member of the department for 14 years, heads the youth bureau effective today. He has worked with Lt. Timm for some time and is completely familiar with the bureau's operation.

Schaule was promoted to the detective bureau in 1954 and became sergeant in that division last July.

Lt. Timm, until his retirement, will continue to have the division of services and staff functions in the police department and will act as adviser and consultant to Sgt. Schaule.

Police are investigating two more house entries in Birmingham. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grogan, 719 Colonial Ct. was entered and $45 in cash taken last night.

At 809 Colonial Ct., Mr. and Mrs. Noel Mudd told police they heard a prowler at about 4 o'clock this morning. So far as is known, nothing was taken.

Higher Postal Rates
Eyed by House Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Post Office Committee today begins closed-door consideration of increased postal rates — a key-stone in the Eisenhower legislative program.

The committee is expected to take a week before coming to a decision on what it will recommend to the House.

Chairman Murray (D-Tenn.) has said the increases were necessary to help put the Post Office Department on a sound business basis.

The bill would add about 57 1/2 millions to postal revenues by 1961, with 462 millions in the first year. It includes a penny increase on 3-cent and 6-cent air mail stamps.

Policemen Egged On
by 30 Stolen Chickens

PARIS, Tex. (AP)—Officers had a problem after arresting six juveniles and recovering 30 stolen chickens.

"They sold them, swapped them and gave them away," said Deputy Sheriff Bud Street. "We keep finding more stolen chickens and we can't tell who they belong to."

If you've been noticing bargains almost 'too-good-to-be-true' at Simms lately, we don't blame you for wondering 'HOW CAN SIMMS DO IT?' Here's the explanation: WE'VE GONE INTO THE WHOLESALE BUSINESS! A new department has been set up to search the nation for reduced price close-outs, production over-runs, cancellations, discontinued colors, cash-raising liquidations, etc. We go direct to manufacturers and distributors.

We buy for cash ONLY at lowest possible prices and pass the savings on to our customers.

Don't Expect Prices Like These at Any Other Store

For nearly 23 years, Simms has operated on lowest overhead and minimum profit... we own our building (no landlord participating with percentage losses)... no travel chair executives (even the bosses work here)... 100% locally owned and operated (no remote chain-store headquarters to maintain)... no fancy fixtures, no concealed credit plans (somebody has to pay for them)... etc.

Now, with this added wholesale-buying department, you can expect even greater savings. We are receiving new purchases every day and promise that you'll save even more than you've ever saved before. Watch our advertisements — shop Simms every time you are downtown. Look for this Notary Public GUARANTEED MONEY-SAVER Seal that identifies these specially purchased bargains.

Home Building Climbs in City

168 Permits Granted During April Include 48 for New Houses

The building report of the city of Pontiac for the month of April shows 168 building permits, totaling $507,746, were issued.

The bulk of this total was the result of permits for 48 new homes to be built in Pontiac. They were estimated at $391,000 on the permits.

April's total was considerably less than the total of $1,932,966 (96 permits) issued in March. However, the issuance of the permits for the new homes marked a climb in building here after a winter lull.

Carl F. Alt, city building inspector, granted 70 permits ($46,474) for residential alterations and repairs, three commercial new buildings ($40,500), and a rush of 22 permits for new home garages ($17,585).

The commercial additions were two gas stations and a used car office.

Other permits approved were for: three commercial alterations and repairs ($3,750); five wrecking jobs ($1,255); one moving project ($1,000); installation of three tanks ($3,300); installation of one awning ($400); installation of two air conditioning units ($750); and construction of 10 fences ($1,722).

Deaths Elsewhere

LOS ANGELES (U) — Grant Mitchell, 82, veteran actor, who made his stage debut in 1902 and appeared in scores of stage plays and movies, died yesterday. He was born in Columbus, Ohio.

Banker, Civic Leader Dies of Heart Attack

Ernest H. Feighner, banker and civic and church leader in Royal Oak, died of a heart attack last evening in his home at 1027 Bantavia. He was 62.

Feighner, who was assistant vice president and auditor for Wayne Oakland Bank (which operates eight branches in the area) had, from 1917 to 1939, been with the Old Dime Bank and First National Bank Receivership, Detroit.

He was a member of the First Methodist Church Choir, Royal Oak, and organizer of the Royal Oak Choral Union. He belonged to Royal Oak Kiwanis, Detroit Bankers Club, American Institute of Banking and the National Assn. of Bank Auditors and Comptrollers.

Service has been scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday, from Virgo E. Kinsey Funeral Home, Royal Oak, with burial in Oakview Cemetery there.

Survivors include his wife Eva; one son, G. Bruce and three stepsons, Frederick, George and Charles Hollon.

WASHINGTON (U)—Six months ago today Secretary of State Dulles awoke in the middle of the night with a stomach ache. He was rushed to the hospital and operated on for cancer. How is he a half year later?

"Oh, I feel fine," he said at Washington's airport Tuesday as he explained for Bonn, West Germany.

"I feel better now than I did before my operation. Has it been six months already?"

It is typical of this most traveled secretary that the date catches him abroad. He has covered nearly 400,000 miles since he took office in January 1953.

When he became ill on the night of Nov. 2, 1956, Dulles had just returned to Washington from two days at the United Nations in New York.

Despite removal of a cancerous section of intestine, Dulles was out of the hospital and back at his desk Dec. 3.

Five days after that, on Dec. 8, he was off again for a week in Paris, attending the North Atlantic Treaty ministerial council meeting.

It is a get-together of the same outfit which drew him to Bonn this week.

Dulles, a lean and angular man, looks as well as he says he feels. His aides agree he certainly acts as if he feels better now than before his operation.

But there is no such agreement on another question: Will Dulles step down as secretary and, if so, when?

Dulles will be 70 next Feb. 25. One version around the State Department has it that he plans to retire at 70. That is why, so this version goes, former Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts was brought in as undersecretary-to-groom for the top spot come Feb. 25, 1958. It is believed that Mrs. Dulles would favor this.

But there is another side to the argument.

Dulles has spent something like 40 years trying to become secretary of state. He has never attempted to refute the popular idea that he would rather be secretary of state than president.

Why, then, goes this version, would he bow out after only five years or so in the job he coveted for so long?

President Eisenhower has made plain that job belongs to Dulles as long as he wants it during the second Eisenhower term. And Dulles has fostered the impression that, barring a health breakdown, he wants it indefinitely.

WASHINGTON (U)—Congressional leaders of both parties said today they will be glad to help President Eisenhower get a bigger tax reduction than in 1954—by cutting his $71,800,000,000 spending budget.

Eisenhower told officers of the League of Women Voters yesterday that before he leaves office (in 1961) he would like to see a bigger tax reduction than the seven-billion-dollar cut of three years ago.

However, he stressed his belief in the need for heavy spending on defense and foreign aid "as long as there is abroad a predatory force seeking to destroy our form of government."

Queried later by newsmen, White House Press secretary James C. Hagerty said such a move is under consideration, but that no final decision has been made.

Teacher's Birthday Isn't When It Seems to Be

MILWAUKEE — Eighth grade students in the Story school peeked at the desk calendar of their teacher, Mrs. Evelyn Fiebelkorn, and surmised she had a birthday coming up.

They arranged a surprise party with decorations, gifts, refreshments and a dance program.

Everything went fine except that the notation on the calendar turned out to be a reminder to the teacher of the birthday of her sister — in law, another Evelyn Fiebelkorn, of Waterford, Wis.

Peace of World Now in Danger

Writer Urges Refusal of Passports to Women Under 50 to Go Abroad

NEW YORK, N. Y. — In the interest of world-wide peace, a national magazine article urges that no foreign travel passports be issued to unmarried American females between the ages of 14 and 50.

"Single American women under the age of 50 traveling abroad are incredibly prejudicial to the interest and reputation of the United States," declares the article. "Unless immediate action is taken, the reputation of America, our relations with our allies — and possibly the peace of the world are at stake."

The rogues associated with foreign countries push our American women, to ridiculous behavior. They casually acquire acquaintances they wouldn't have anything to do with in the states — and then the trouble begins.

In one instance the article says an attractive American brunette struck up a relationship with an Egyptian official. She went as far as getting engaged, but during her courtship, embassy officials, Congressmen and State Department representatives were being plagued with calls and S.O.S.'s regarding her private affairs.

She left Egypt without her fiancé, a man who has since become a close aide to General Nasser, and of course, one of the most bitterly anti-American officers around the Egyptian dictator.

Another example where several unattached American women poisoned the relationship between us and a foreign country is cited. In Mexico, a prize collection of American cut-ups, dipsomaniacs, kleptomaniacs and assorted neurotics were leaving Mexican officials desperate for relief. These American female "guests" says the article, kept getting into trouble and they never seemed to lack money to keep them going.

When one girl had finally been robbed of every peso by her boyfriend-of-the-month, she turned for help to the local U. S. Consul. He wired her home for $150 and received the following anguished reply: THOUSAND BUCKS COMING, PLEASE KEEP HER HAPPY THERE, KEEP US HAPPY HERE.

PIERRE, S.D. — A 15-year-old boy was sentenced Tuesday to spend an hour a day visiting a woman who lost her leg when the youth's car struck hers.

County Judge Otto B. Linstead ordered Louis Moore of Pierre to visit Mrs. Myrtle Goodface, 39, Pierre, at the hospital each day as long as she is confined. He will be escorted from school each afternoon.

Mrs. Goodface's leg had to be amputated after her car was struck by Moore's vehicle near here last month.

Grant To Poland
a Bold Venture

Recognizing that there are many uncertainties in and around Poland and that reverses are possible, the Ford Foundation has taken a bold step in granting $500,000 for projects related to that country.

This will allow a two way exchange between Polish and American and European teachers, students, writers, architects and others for study and work. American and European books and periodicals will be provided for Polish libraries and institutions.

Recent events indicate that although under a Communist government, Poland is ready to increase its Western contacts. In announcing the program, the first to an east European country, HENRY T. HEALD, president of the Foundation said:

"For the first time in many years the Polish people seem to feel free to establish relationships with the West. The Polish government has been carrying on negotiations to develop economic and other relations with the countries of Western Europe and the United States. The universities and scholars and students of Poland have given strong evidence of their desire to renew relationships with the free institutions of Europe and the United States."

Western countries have nothing to fear from these contacts and indirectly, they may help free Poland from Communist domination.

Tranquilizer Benefits
Still Remain Debatable

All isn't milk and honey with these new tranquilizers. As often follows something new and startling, when the first mad rush is over, reactions set in.

Do these drugs really work? Some say "yes" with enthusiasm.

Some say "no" with emphasis. Some say "maybe." Probably this last classification covers the situation most accurately.

Certainly, the 1957 tranquilizer is a "hot item" in the drug industry. According to Fortune magazine, "they account for thirty per cent of the best selling drugs." In 1955, druggists filled around 10 million prescriptions. In 1956, this leaped unaccountably to 30 million. And the end is not in sight. Just where 1957 will wind up, no one hazards a guess.

Many reputable doctors state that results with the modern tranquilizers are no different than with previous drugs. Others are inclined to believe they are a definite contribution to an improved living today.

The Fortune report says that "more than half of the users are perfectly normal people," and some doctors are beginning to ease away from ready prescriptions for ordinary cases.

Originally, these modern gun-micks were associated with Hollywood and New York where nerves are sometimes described as unusually awry. However, today's market covers every corner of the United States. They've invaded the hills, the plains, the low lands, the farms, the swamps and the dust bowls. They're everywhere.

Probably one sensible conclusion can be drawn from the inconclusive evidence to date. The ordinary mortal shouldn't go overboard for these contrivances unless they're recommended by a physician.

Don't try to be your own diagnostician. You may be playing with fire.

Things are so interrelated and confused these days that almost anybody can easily find something or somebody to blame for virtually any predicament he may find himself in.

It is wondered if in their search for a more powerful fuel the rocket experts have experimented with moonshine liquor.

I learn that more people are interested in gardens than in sports, that 57% of the women and 63% of the men have garden plots, and that 90% of our homes have "gardens," even if only indoor plants or bouquets. My personal observation has been that too many men plant larger gardens than their wives can weed.

"But We Can Get Rid of It Without Wrecking the Whole House"

David Lawrence Says:

Ike Must Fight for His Program

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has a big job to do right away as the leader of the Republican Party in the nation. There are some fundamental truths in politics that are inescapable—and they apply to the President. They may be outlined as follows:

1. The Republican presidential nomination in 1960 will not be worth much to a Republican if the record of LAWRENCE the Eisenhower administration cannot be supported by Republicans generally. If the administration proves to be a success, all Republican candidates will want to ride on its coattails.

2. Differences of opinion between a president and members of his party in Congress should be thrashed out at the White House in a series of conferences with plenty of copies of the 1956 platform handy for reference. It was unanimously adopted only 10 months ago. There are ways that Republicans can express their differences on particular issues without deserting their party leadership.

3. No political party which produces a division during its election year should expect to win the subsequent election. The Republican Party today, for example, hasn't enough votes to spare in the pivotal states, so it cannot afford the luxury of feuding within its own ranks.

4. The Republican Party needs to mobilize all its energies to meet the challenge of the radical Democrats who would stifle the system of free enterprise. Most of the Southern states will vote Democratic anyhow in 1958, but the election of more radicals from the North will lessen the strength and influence of the conservative Democrats in Congress. The crucial battle is in the North and West.

5. The Republicans, inside and outside Congress, have not organized their defense or their offense to date. They have allowed six months to go by since the November election without unifying their forces and without meeting the day-in-and-day-out sniping by the radical Democrats and their allies in the press. In fact, too many Republicans, instead of being spokesmen for the defendant, have joined the prosecution.

6. Every incumbent administration is on the defensive because it has the responsibility of taking action each day, whereas its opponents need not say what they would do—they merely attack what is being done. The late FDR was one of the few presidents who recognized that as party leader he should never let down on the attack. His "fireside chats" on the radio kept going throughout his tenure in office the fight against his political opponents and sustained the morale of his own party workers. Mr. Eisenhower has both television and radio available. He doesn't use them enough between campaigns.

7. Every administration has troubles with its own members in Congress. There are always patronage difficulties and failures to consult senators and representatives about matters vital to them, especially appointments. A presidential staff that neglects its homework on politics can wreck a party's chances just as fast as can those members of Congress who attack a president of their own party and stir up dissension publicly.

8. The "strategists" who inspired the President and members of his entourage to publicize the "modern Republican" concept played into the hands of the common foe—the radical Democrats. For when the White House says, in effect, that the Republican Party needs "modernizing" without applying the same term to the Democrats, it gives the Democrats the chance to label the Republicans as outmoded and obsolete. Though little emphasis has been placed on the point, the President is immutably on the essentials of a "dynamic conservatism."

9. The Republicans, both in Congress and in the executive branch, have been clumsy in handling the controversy over the budget. Instead of fixing the blame on rising costs of the inflation which their opponents fostered in their 20 years of rule—the Republicans unwittingly give the impression that the enlarged budget is due to frills desired by the administration.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Fight Deficiency Anemia
With Good Diet, Vitamins

Let's talk about nutritional anemia — what I call the "gray sickness" (in the pamphlet on Nutritional Deficiency Anemia — the Gray Sickness), which occurs nowadays in women in the fourth decade, as chlorosis, the green sickness occurred in girls in their teens, in horse-and-buggy days.

Every girl with the green sickness eventually got over it, but somehow I was never quite convinced that all the iron we made the poor girls take was necessary.

I had the notion that an adequate diet — or what doctors in those days considered an adequate diet (it was before we knew anything about vitamins) including fresh meat, milk, eggs, fresh vegetables, and fresh fruit — would cure chlorosis if one could put the question to actual test. One couldn't do any such thing — at least I couldn't. What! No medicine?

Now comes Mrs. T. F., 46, reporting the wonderful results she has obtained by taking 250 milligrams of ascorbic acid (synthetic vitamin C) and three iodine tablets daily. She raves:

"For the first time in my life my hemoglobin is 84. I have spent a small fortune on liver shots, B-12 shots, folic acid and iron tablets, to no avail. I am never cold any more and my complexion has improved tremendously."

"My only trouble now is too much energy. I painted all the woodwork in our bedrooms and goodness knows what I will do next."

"Also, for several years I suffered from those awful cramps in the arches of my feet and legs. Following the suggestion in your Adult Tetany pamphlet, I began supplementing my diet with Ca and D, and for over a year now I have not had a cramp. I am looking forward to swimming again this summer and not just fooling around in a foot of water."

(Mrs. T. F.)

Mrs. T. F.'s simultaneous use of the iodine tablets, ascorbic acid (vitamin C) and, presumably, calcium or calcium salts with or after meals, complicates the case.

I doubt that the 250 milligrams of ascorbic acid (vitamin C) Mrs. T. F. took daily had any more to do with the happy improvement she describes than did the iodine and calcium and vitamin D.

Signed letters, not more than one page or two words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Rejection Causes Girl's Mistake

Rachel's problem is a challenge to all of you readers. Scraps of this case, for it reveals several underlying factors that the average person doesn't even dream of. And don't be a moral buck-passer hereafter by calling a baby illegitimate if born out of wedlock. Instead, call the parents illegitimate, for the baby is always innocent of wrong doing.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case U-370: Rachel B., aged 18, is bearing a baby out of wedlock.

"Rachel's case is very interesting," one of my psychiatric colleagues said, as we joined together recently.

"Rachel isn't head over heels in love with the father of the child. In fact, she doesn't even show any great desire to have him marry her."

"And when we had a lengthy interview with her, we found that Rachel's mother had figuratively pushed Rachel aside."

"Rachel says she has felt for many years that her mother wanted another child."

"So Rachel unconsciously feels she is giving her mother that much desired new baby."

"As we have diagnosed the case, Rachel is indirectly trying to bribe her mother's affection by thus offering her a baby."

"The mother, however, has raged

Discusses Discrimination

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full names, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I heard that Elvis Presley doesn't like us descendants of the proud Mexican nation. He's nothing but a most ignorant person. I'm glad he doesn't like us, because he's nothing special to us, and that goes for anyone who feels the way he does.

Indians are the only native Americans and we're all foreigners or descendants of foreigners. Hillbillies and those that are foreigners sometimes are the ones who discriminate most. There are those who barely speak English and still stick their noses in the air at anyone with darker skin. Take a look at your own family tree and you'll be surprised where your people came from.

A six-year-old boy in my niece's class told her he didn't like her because she's Mexican. Is that what parents are teaching children now? Mexicans who try to pass as another nationality should be ashamed of themselves. Instead they should be fighting for their rights, not hiding behind a light skin.

If our boys are good enough to fight overseas with the white boys, we are good enough to live here. If white people will notice, as long as we're left alone, we stick to ourselves. We just like to be left alone, not watched and talked about. We don't all come from Mexico. We're foreign descendants, just as you are.

'Is Pontiac Ready for Jet Planes?

Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks has announced an $800 million five-year program to prepare the nation's airports for the new jets.

Where does Pontiac stand on this? Have we made our wants and needs known in Washington? We're the third largest airport in Michigan, ranking behind Wayne and Detroit City. We do this in spite of the tremendous handicap of our small size.

part of the mother, may thus be a factor in predisposing a girl to enter into illicit relations.

And that apparent "rejection" often goes back another step to the fact the older woman is in a panic concerning the menopause and thus shows an excessive desire for another baby, partly as a badge of her own fruitfulness.

We physicians encounter many women past 40 who have a mania to become pregnant, not just because they are so fond of children per se, as because pregnancy will prove they are still young!

SUBCONSCIOUS CRAVINGS

Many young wives of 25 to 30, will also develop a similar mania to have a baby, when much of their underlying motivation is a desire to prove that they are fertile, instead of sterile, females.

Women since the time of Sarah, Rachel and Hannah of the Bible, have been greatly upset in their ego when they believe they cannot bear children.

So I have simply outlined a few of the interesting psychological undercurrents that often are ignored by the average person.

And please do not call the baby of an unwed mother by the Biblical title "Masturbation."

Its parents may be illegitimate but all babies are born according to God's laws of medicine. So quit passing the buck to the defenseless infant.

part of the mother, may thus be a factor in predisposing a girl to enter into illicit relations.

And that apparent "rejection" often goes back another step to the fact the older woman is in a panic concerning the menopause and thus shows an excessive desire for another baby, partly as a badge of her own fruitfulness.

We physicians encounter many women past 40 who have a mania to become pregnant, not just because they are so fond of children per se, as because pregnancy will prove they are still young!

SUBCONSCIOUS CRAVINGS

Many young wives of 25 to 30, will also develop a similar mania to have a baby, when much of their underlying motivation is a desire to prove that they are fertile, instead of sterile, females.

Women since the time of Sarah, Rachel and Hannah of the Bible, have been greatly upset in their ego when they believe they cannot bear children.

Wisconsin Lawmakers Vote on Burning Issue

PORT WASHINGTON, Wis. (AP)—Beleaguered by the trend toward use of paper milk cartons, the city council has voted to spend about $12,000 to repair and enlarge the city incinerator. Street commissioner Walter Ohm says the influx of thousands of milk cartons every day, plus a slight growth in population, has taxed the incinerator to the limit.

The Trials of Youth

All Have Serious Problems

ANN ARBOR (INS) — No one reaches adulthood without at least one serious problem in his youth. This is the opinion of Prof. Warren Ketcham, co-ordinator of psychological services at the University of Michigan.

Prof. Ketcham said all people can be put into three categories—"the well-adjusted, the unadjusted and the maladjusted."

According to the U to M expert, "the number of completely adjusted people in all age groups is very small. Most of the maladjustments that irritate us are defensive mechanisms used by persons who feel inadequate."

He said: "All unadjusted traits in people are due to immaturity factors. The greatest single cause of unadjustment in a child is the withdrawal of affection and security by the parents, teachers and associates."

"A mentally disturbed person has lost real contact with the world and if he doesn't have any feeling or perception of the real world he can't react to any of the problems confronting him in a normal manner."

Prof. Ketcham, also a well-known behavior expert, said mentally unadjusted persons know their behavior is inappropriate but are unable to correct it because of circumstances beyond their control.

He suggested parents should keep three points in mind: "Most children get into serious trouble at some time; most children turn out better than expected and the most serious incident will not happen again if handled in an appropriate manner."

$2.16 Check Cashed In After 43 Long Years

KANSAS CITY (AP) — On Aug. 21, 1914 Anton Haas, a Wallace County, Kans., farmer received a check for $2.16 when he returned a case and 24 empty bottles to what was then the Kansas City branch of the Pabst Brewery.

A few weeks ago, Haas, now 79, was going through some old papers when he found the check. The Kansas City brewery closed in 1923, but Haas presented the check to the First National Bank of Kansas.

Bank officials dusted off their old accounts and came up with one that credited the brewery with $66.91.

Haas got his $2.16.

Horse Shatters Window

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Mrs. Ernie Jones said she heard the crash of glass and looked up to see a horse staring at her — his head through her shattered picture window.

Mrs. Jones threw her shoe at the horse and he backed out. The animal had run away from a nearby farmer.

Trout Tall as Angler

NORTH BAY, Ont. (AP) — It's not everybody who can catch a fish as long as himself. Tommy Haight, 5, pulled a 33½-inch lake trout from Trout Lake near here, hauling the 13-pound catch through an ice hole.

Not Many Bills Debated

EAST LANSING (AP) — Dr. Fred G. Alexander, a Michigan State University speech professor, made a study of one session of the Michigan Legislature to find out the influence of debate on legislation. He reported that 783 bills were presented but the lawmakers debated only one in four bills.

A TV system has been installed at the air terminal at Victoria, London, to enable announcers to be seen as well as heard.

Young Democrats Meet

DETROIT (INS) — More than 300 delegates are expected to attend the Michigan Young Democrats convention Saturday and Sunday in Detroit.

"What Mower Shall I Buy?"

Relax Brother...
Here is the answer!

KRESGE'S

$59.95

We checked and found it necessary to pay $79.95 or more elsewhere to get the wonderful features of this mower!

To Judge Power Mower Value Compare:

ENGINE BLADE LENGTH SPECIAL FEATURES
HORSE POWER STABILITY OF FRAME

So... Let's Compare!

Kresge's Mower Has a 4-CYCLE LAWSON ENGINE

A Lawson is the easiest starting lightweight engine made. The high tension magneto is dust and moisture proof. Every engine is tested under load for 20 minutes at the factory. We looked at all kinds of engines and chose the Lawson because of its superior engineering and its national reputation for excellent service... we knew you couldn't go wrong!

Kresge's Mower is... 2 HORSE POWER

Most mowers are 1½ to 2¼ H.P. Kresge's is a full 2½ H.P. with 4 cycle construction—which gives it plenty of power to run smoothly in tall grass or weeds!

Kresge's Mower Cuts FULL 21 SWATH

A smaller mower takes longer to do the job—a bigger, heavier mower becomes clumsy, unwieldy. This 21" size is ideal for maneuverability!

Kresge's Mower has a...

RIGID STEEL CHASSIS

Kresge's engine and drive shaft are mounted on a heavy steel chassis that prevents vibration, frame distortion, especially, on hill sides or rough ground.

DOWNTOWN or TEL-HURON

S. S. KRESGE COMPANY

KRESGE'S MOWER HAS THESE OTHER SUPERIOR FEATURES:

- Recoil Starter
- Four 8" ball bearing wheels make this mower roll easily in and out of ground depressions.
- Automatic power increase immediately when you hit heavy clumps of grass.
- Plastic grip "T" handle holds quickly so mower can be transported anywhere in your car trunk... with little effort by you!
- What about Mulching? Kresge's mower has an all-round enclosed base that enables the whirling blades to draw up cuttings and churn them to bits. An open front or open side mower will not mulch well.

Public Picks 'Merchant' as Hepburn Vehicle

STRATFORD, Conn. (U) — The public has picked Portia in "The Merchant of Venice" for the second role Katharine Hepburn will perform during her tandem appearance at the American Shakespeare Festival.

John Houseman, artistic director, tor, said that drama received 40 per cent more votes in an audience poll than any other on a list of five plays by Shakespeare.

Miss Hepburn previously was announced to appear in "Much Ado About Nothing," opposite Alfred Drake.

Trio Panned by Critics to Again Try Broadway

NEW YORK (U) — Never say die is the slogan of Fred Finklehoffe, Mark Marvin and Reginald Denham.

Denham recently was director of a drama "Hide and Seek," produced by the other two. The press critics unanimously turned thumbs down and the play stopped seeking and went into hiding.

Finklehoffe and Marvin immediately announced production plans for next season — a play written by Denham and titled "The Obsidian Winds," all about violent deeds in Mexico. Denham will be the director.

Special Delivery Arrives

ATHENS, Ga. (U) — On June 3, 1940, Mrs. Mae Bullock of Danielsville, Ga. mailed a post card to her cousin, Mrs. Ruby Nelms of Athens.

Mrs. Nelms received the card recently and, since Danielsville is 17 miles from Athens, has calculated that the mail went through

India, Pakistan Quibble Over Wool for Cashmere

NEW DELHI (U) — If you think the wool for those soft, fluffy cashmere sweaters is one of the things at stake in the argument between India and Pakistan over kashmir, you're wrong.

The sweaters, as known in western Europe and America, are made of goat hair from Iran, China and Mongolia.

The tough wool from the sheep of mountainous kashmir goes into rugs.

Stork Always on Time
MILWAUKEE (U) — Jan. 24 has become a day to remember in the William Spear family.
On that day in 1947, a daughter, Mrs. Betsy Gabriel, Fort Leavenworth, Kan., gave birth to a son.
A year later, another daughter, Mrs. Eunice Kubash, Milwaukee, became the mother of a son.
And last Jan. 24, a third daughter, Mrs. Jeanne Brekke, Milwaukee, also had a son.

Fluid Drive Raps Drunks
NEW CASTLE, Ind. (U) — In advertising its drive against drunken driving, the First Methodist Church has erected a sign reading: "Two kinds of finishes for automobiles — lacquer and liquor."

Too Cold for Daisy
APPLETON, Ont. (U) — When the weather hit a record of 40 below zero in this Ottawa Valley village late car-drivers repeated the old saw about cold never stopping the horse and buggy. But James Dowdall, 71-year-old postmaster, drove to Carleton Place in his son's new car instead of using the horse he has driven for 21 years. "Too cold today for old Daisy, and for me," he said.

Memory Needs Training
GRANITE, Okla. (U) — Mrs. Charles Rodolph decided to improve her memory and checked out two library books on memory training. Three weeks later she got a notice from the library — she had forgotten to return the books.

Mustache Sold for $67
ELIZABETH CITY, N. C. (U) — Sandra Lee Livesay bid one dollar for her daddy's mustache at a radio auction for charity.
Preposterous, said her dad, Milton. He'd owned that mustache for 24 years and wouldn't let it go for a cent less than $50. But he didn't price it out of the market. A group of his fellow members of a service club chipped in a total of $67 and Livesay was shorn with a radio announcer broadcasting a snap-by-snap description.

Accidentally Speaking:
BUFFALO, N. Y. (U) — An enterprising auto body repairman here makes this emotional appeal on a sign outside his shop: "May we have the next dents?"

Eisenhower, Senators Send Birthday Wishes
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Mrs. Philip Itzkowitz wanted to surprise her son, Robin, 10, on his birthday so she wrote a number of persons suggesting it would be nice if they would send cards.
Robin is now the possessor of birthday cards from Sen. S. Wiley and McCarthy, Wisconsin Gov.

Vernon Thomson and Milwaukee Mayor Frank Zeidler.
President Eisenhower sent along an autographed picture.

Committee Work Must Be Done

'Where Are the Senators?'

WASHINGTON (INS) — "Where are all the senators?" The question is asked frequently by out-of-town visitors in the Senate galleries, who find themselves gazing down on an all but deserted floor.

Instead of debate—angry, witty or wise—they often hear but one voice and it is plowing through a long speech. Perhaps only two other senators are on the floor. A common reaction of visitors is: "What are we paying them for when they don't attend sessions?"

Every so often, senators themselves sputter about absenteeism and declare that something ought to be done about it. Private talks with lawmakers in leadership positions, however, put a different light on the situation.

One of them said: "You can't put belts on senators and fasten them to their seats. Of our 96 members, 23 are on the appropriations committee. It has to handle 72 billion dollars and the subcommittees meet mornings and afternoons to make savings in this huge budget. These senators can't sit on the floor and listen to repetitious speeches. They know how they are going to vote on any given bill anyway."

The Senate has 15 standing committees and, in the last session, 129 subcommittees. It is unlikely that any of them will go out of business. Many of them meet while the Senate is in session and this takes members from the floor.

The best time to visit the galleries of either House or Senate is just before a vote on a major, controversial issue. The lawmakers stream onto the floor and the big oratorical "guns" boom out. The cross-fire in the house may bring cheers, jeers and whistles from members.

The Senate does not allow itself to get quite so hilarious but it can put on an exciting show. It is the long speeches that tend to drive senators away. Usually, a member is making the speech to get his views on this or that on record and he doesn't expect his colleagues to listen to him.

CRITICAL VOTE

Congressional leaders maintain that when it comes to a critical vote, absenteeism is no problem. There were 91 of the Senate's 96 members present and voting when the showdown came on President Eisenhower's Middle-East resolution. The House completed action on the document with 410 of its 435 members present and voting. On any important vote, the House will have only about 15 to 25 members absent, usually because of illness. Leaders think this is pretty good considering the size of the House. On a Senate vote that is expected to be close, perhaps only two members will be away—and they will have understandable reasons.

Much of the work of both House and Senate is done in committees, where bills get a good going over before being cleared for the floor. Some measures never get out of committee. In the last Congress, 7,399 legislative proposals were made and 1,921 became law.

When they are not on the floor or in committee, lawmakers may be doing their work in a dozen different ways—visiting the White House, the Pentagon or the State Department in connection with legislation or business of their states; writing speeches; attending party policy meetings; drafting reports; answering mail or checking on the appointment of a postmaster back home.

Harriman Denies Inviting Makarios

ALBANY, N. Y. (U-P) — Gov. Averell Harriman denies that he invited Greek Archbishop Makarios to visit New York state.

"I did not invite the archbishop over here," he said at a news conference yesterday.

A letter sent by Harriman in mid-April to the exiled leader of Greek Cypriots stirred up excited controversy abroad. It said:

"Along with your many friends, I want to express my joy and gratification at the news of your release. I hope that the State of New York will shortly have the opportunity of extending to you its hospitality and warm welcome."

In the next five years about 1,000 engineering graduates from India will receive training in iron and steel technology in United States steel plants and foundries.

Where Overtime Begins, Art Ends for Ballet Troupe

NEW YORK (U-P) — Art ends when overtime begins — at least when the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo is involved.

It happened Tuesday night at the Metropolitan Opera House. Ballerina Alexandra Danilova, guest artist with the ballet, was on stage during the performance of "Gaiete Parisienne." Dancing with her were Frederic Franklin and Leon Danielian, also guest artists.

The trio had just completed the can-can sequence and were ready to go into the Barcarolle finale. But the curtain came down—for keeps.

The artistic fur was still flying yesterday. Said a spokesman for Miss Danilova: "Amateurish, unprofessional, ridiculous programming... We feel it's a terrible thing."

Said Sergei Denham, director of the Ballet Russe: "The performance was running into overtime. It was about to incur frightening and tremendous expenses... It simply had to end promptly at 11:30 p.m., finished or not."

Denham added that the performance ran late because of a change in program.

Stevenson Has No Regrets About His Political Career

CHICAGO (INS) — Adlai E. Stevenson, twice defeated for the presidency of the United States, has no regrets — nor time for them.

Stevenson, tanned from a West Indies trip, was interviewed in Chicago just before he left for New York and Washington, and while he was planning a two-months journey through Europe and Africa.

He laughed loudly when asked if he broods about losing the last two presidential elections.

"Brood?" boomed the former Illinois governor. "Not on the contrary! I accomplished my mission of continuing the democratic discussion."

"The only price I've paid is too crowded a life, clearing the decks and organizing my law business; keeping up with my correspondence, party meetings and three sons, a daughter-in-law and a grandson."

MAIL DROPPED OFF

Stevenson's mail has dropped off since last fall's election, but he still gets more than 100 letters a day from supporters. And prominent visitors stream in and out of his downtown Chicago office and his farm home in Libertyville, Ill.

In a few days, for example, Stevenson received visits from Lauren Bacall, widow of Humphrey Bogart; Jimmy Durante; special Japanese envoy Masahito Matsushita; Canadian Foreign Minister Lester Pearson, and a former member of Britain's House of Commons.

"I could keep excessively busy just with visitors," grinned Stevenson, "let alone being a father, a lawyer and a Democrat."

LAW IS HIS CAREER

Stevenson said law is "my major career now" but he made it clear that he is by no means in political retirement.

The 57-year-old Democrat insisted he is "standing pat" on his announcement last December that he will not run for the presidency again. But he also maintained:

"I have no intention of neglecting my responsibility to the party. I will help in all possible circumstances, doing whatever I can."

Even while reorganizing his law practice, effecting a merger which gives him offices in New York and Washington as well as Chicago, Stevenson pointed out that he has been attending Democratic gatherings and meeting with party Congressional leaders.

Stevenson has scheduled another series of trips prior to his departure for Europe and Africa on May 16th.

First Stevenson went to New York on law business. He'll be in Washington to attend the Democratic National Committee meeting May 4, and to appear on a nationwide television program ("Meet The Press") May 5.

That will give Stevenson less than a week to catch up on spring at the farm and work at the office before leaving for France, Belgium and England.

Orange Juice Drinkers Shoot at High Prices

TOLEDO, Ohio (U) — Never underestimate the wrath of an orange juice drinker scorned. A waitress at Opperman's Restaurant here told police two youths objected to the price of orange juice they had purchased, got into their car, and then fired a bullet into the building from a pistol.

Only 13 of the states had passed birth registration laws prior to 1910.

Officers Stung by Case of Missing Trousers

RUPERT, Idaho (U) — There was personal dignity as well as professional reputation at stake when law officers started hunting the burglar who cleaned out Parker's

Laundry and Dry Cleaners here. Among the loot was two pairs of trousers—one belonging to Sheriff Theo Johnson and the other to Police Chief Jake Wall. The thief was caught at Pocatello. But neither Johnson or Wall got their pants back.

School Aid Cut Seen for State

Finance Official Says Slash of $20 Per Pupil Now in Prospect

LANSING (U) — A state school finance official said yesterday a cutback of about $20 a pupil now is in prospect for the May 15 school aid distribution to local grade and high school districts.

Harold R. Brown, finance chief in the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction, said it currently appears that only about eight million dollars will be available for the final 1956-57 aid installment, or about 27 million dollars under the sum required to pay out in full under the 1956 legislative assistant formula.

However, the legislature has before it two bills which might alter the outlook, although neither would affect dollar payments from the state treasury unless changes are written into them.

The most promising bill depends on a beer and whiskey revenue-raising plan, effects of which would not be felt until the fiscal year starting July 1.

As it now stands, Brown said payments for 1956-57 will wind up at the rate of about $170 a pupil, after allowance for offsets stemming from the deductible millage clause. This compares with the $190 figure written into the state aid law by the legislature a year ago.

Brown said that if the legislature makes a move to supplement available funds for school help, an additional distribution of state monies probably would be made just before the end of this fiscal year.

Under the statute as now written, the May 15 distribution, taking into account anticipated revenues for May and June, would be the final one of the fiscal year.

State school aid payments are supported primarily from two-thirds of state sales tax collections, which have been lagging behind expectations.

Future of Pearman Still Open Question

DETROIT (U) — The legal future of the weird case of Dr. C. L. R. Pearman still is unsettled. Recorder's (criminal) Court Judge W. McKay Skillman yesterday postponed court action and ordered attorneys to file briefs.

The Detroit psychiatrist last week told police an eerie tale of trying to hire a killer to shoot him to death.

He said he believed his "mind must have slipped a little."

He was released without charge or bond in the custody of Dr. Albert E. Wallaert of the court psychiatric clinic.

Judge Skillman heard legal arguments and brief police testimony yesterday, then postponed until Tuesday a decision on signing a warrant against Pearman.

Chief Asst. Prosecutor Ralph A. Garber and Pearman's attorney, Ernest E. Ostrow, were ordered to file briefs.

The unsigned warrant accuses Pearman of "soliciting another to commit murder."

Ostrow contended that, "if anything, the charge would be soliciting suicide — if there is such a crime."

Air Force Abandons Kalkaska Jet Field

WASHINGTON (U) — The Air Force said today it has definitely abandoned a plan to build a jet air base in the Kalkaska-Manistee, Mich., area.

Jet planes for defense in that area, Maj. Gen. Joe E. Kelly of the Air Force told Rep. Griffin (R-Mich.), have been outmoded by "new technological developments."

That, Griffin told a reporter, is just another way of saying guided missiles are now preferred to man-operated jet planes for defense of the area.

"I know this announcement comes as a disappointment to many people in northwestern Michigan, where it was hoped that establishment of an air base would provide additional economic stimulus," Griffin said.

Kelly told Griffin that the Air Force will terminate its existing lease and cancel all other arrangements to start the Michigan base.

Boy Undergoes Surgery After Auto Accident

Charles Palalan Jr., 4½, of 635 Joslyn Ave., will undergo surgery today at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital for a fractured collarbone he received yesterday when involved in an accident.

Pontiac police report Charles was crossing the street at Montclair and Ivy streets when he was injured yesterday about 4:15 p.m.

Driver of the auto which collided with the child was Edward Franklin Prevatt, 51, of 4235 Joyce Rd., Drayton, according to police.

Main speaker, Cyle Haskill, chairman of the Safety Committee in Oakland County PTA council will talk on "Safety."

Senate Leader Hits GM Policy

Objects to Car Rental 'Deals' for Cabinet, but Not for Congress

WASHINGTON (U) — Senate Democratic leader Johnson (D-Tex.) says General Motors will not give congressional leaders the same deal on limousines it offers President Eisenhower and other top figures.

The Texan, engaged in an economy debate with Republican senators, urged them with tongue in cheek to use their influence with General Motors to get identical treatment for congressional leaders.

Johnson said GM supplies new cars each year to the White House. Vice President Nixon, Cabinet officers and some ambassadors at a rental figure of $500 annually. The users pay the gas and oil, but GM handles all maintenance and repair, he said.

But the company has declined to do the same thing for congressional leaders who are furnished cars, the majority leader said yesterday. He explained that these cars must be traded in at an annual cost of $1,500 to $1,800.

"I suppose this is because General Motors feels that what is good for General Motors is good for the Cabinet, but it is not good for Congress," Johnson commented.

Skelton in Hospital

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (U) — Comedian Red Skelton has been admitted to St. John's Hospital with what his physician calls an "uncomplicated virus infection superimposed on fatigue." He should be ready to go back to work before next week's show his doctor said.

2 Texas Rivers Still Rampaging

Lower Sabine Surges Downstream as Trinity Rises Rapidly

DALLAS (U) — A new disaster area was declared on the lower Sabine as the flooding river surged downstream at record heights today, threatening to inundate for the second time in four years the small community of Deweyville.

The 1,000 residents of the Newton County town, 10 miles north of Orange, Tex., were standing by to evacuate if necessary. The town was hit by a flood in 1953.

Heavy cloudbursts soaked the Trinity River watershed in north central Texas, causing flash floods in the Dallas area. A new flood warning was issued for the Trinity as it began a rapid rise.

The rains spread over much of the eastern half of the state in varied amounts, but except for the Sabine and Trinity, the flood threat was easing along other rivers, but water was still high.

On the upper Sabine, several hundred oil wells in the petroleum-rich Gladewater area were flooded and shut down as high water crept out around the southwestern edge of town. Officials said, however, they thought the peak crest was passed.

White Cane Drive Planned by Lions

Governor G. Mennen Williams has proclaimed April 29 to May 3 as "White Cane Week" and local Lions Clubs are preparing a two-day honoring of the week.

Beginning at 8 a.m. tomorrow morning and continuing through Saturday, the Lions members will line city streets with their White Cane Tag Day drive to raise funds for the sight conservation program.

According to Gerald G. White, chairman of this year's white cane committee, they will concentrate all their efforts in this two day period instead of the prolonged soliciting programs of past years.

The Lions Clubs of Pontiac have a long record in aiding sight relief programs and helping the blind.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

4. Patty Does Transplanting

There are many plants that can be raised from seeds. Scatter them as directed on the package you have bought, cover them with finely crumbled earth to the right depth and press down firmly. Then set up a marker with the name of the plant and the date you planted it.

There are also plants that you can buy in pots, ready to set out in your garden. Tomato plants are best to buy this way. When you have a plant to be transferred from a pot to your garden, hold the flower pot in your left hand and rap it sharply with your trowel. This loosens the contents from the sides of the pot. Dig a hole in your plot, up-end the flower pot gently. Take out the whole chunk of earth and roots, lower it into the hole and fill in the loose earth solidly around it.

Here is Patty setting out some zinnia plants. Color the picture, paste it on cardboard and color. Cut out the parts, attach the right arm to the right shoulder with a brass fastener through the indicated holes. Then Patty can swing her trowel against the flower pot. Turn down the tabs of the straw hat behind Patty's head—then she can wear it. Fold back the easel strip on the dash line behind Patty and fold the right hand panel forward, so the picture will stand up. Fold bottom tabs of the big flower pot as indicated and set it in the foreground of your scene.

(Jennifer Marie Patterson, of Rocky Mount, N. C., won $10 with this suggestion. Send your ideas in care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newfeatures.)

Zoo Hopes for Mate for Rosie the Crane

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (U. P.)—The San Antonio zoo has acquired a rare whooping crane captured on a ranch near Lometa, Tex. They named it Rosie.

Zoo Director Fred Stark hopes he can get a mate for Rosie from the Austin refuge on the Texas gulf where crippled males are sometimes spotted.

Less than 30 of the 6-foot white birds, once plentiful in North America, returned from their winter nesting grounds in Canada. They were within 15 birds of exinction at one time in recent years.

The only others in captivity are Crip and Jo in the New Orleans zoo.

Florida City Rewards Mowing of Lawns

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (U. P.)—The arduous chore of mowing the lawn and keeping the yard looking nice gets recognition in St. Augustine.

Every month a secret committee from the Cherokee Garden Club tours the town and selects the yard with the best appearance. A bronze marker identifying the yard as the "Garden of the Month" is placed on the premises.

Security for You

Wives Confused About SS Payments

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

Harry Smith, a neighbor of mine, had a visit from his mother and father the other day. His mother is 64, his father 73.

After Harry introduced me to his mother, he said to her:

"Have you got any questions about Social Security? This fellow can probably give you the answers."

"No," she said, "I've decided to wait until I reach 65 before I ask for my Social Security. I understand I'd take quite a cut in my payments if I started them now."

She added that she'd be getting the payments as a wife and that her husband was already receiving Social Security checks.

BAD INFORMATION

As she continued to talk, it became clear that she'd been given some bad information.

She knew that — as of last November — a wife between 62 and 65 could collect Social Security checks if her husband was already drawing payments; that until last November the earliest a wife could get Social Security was age 65.

And, she knew that the checks to a wife who started drawing them before she reached 65 wouldn't be as big as the checks she could get if she waited until she reached 65 to draw them; that if she chose to take the reduced payments before she reached 65, she'd continue to get the reduced checks after she was 65. But, she was way off in her estimate of how much less her checks would be if she started them now. She figured they'd be at least $10 or $15 a month less when, in fact, they would only be $3.38 less.

When she found this out, she said:

"By golly, I'm going to apply for Social Security now. It'll take a long while to make up that little difference."

SHOWS CONFUSION

This story illustrates some of the confusion that Social Security offices are running into about the new retirement age of 62 for women.

Actually, the basic facts about payments to wives are fairly simple:

If your husband is getting Social Security payments, you're entitled to wife's payments at any time you choose after you reach 62. But, by taking the payments before you reach 65, the size of your monthly checks will be permanently reduced.

The amount of the reduction depends on the number of months between the time you start drawing the payments and your 65th birthday. For each month after age 62 that you wait to get the payments the reduction will be less.

CITES EXAMPLE

For example: If you choose to start your checks as soon as you reach 62, your payments will only be 75 per cent of what you would get if you were 65. If you wait until your 63rd birthday, the amount of the payments will be 83 1/3 of what you would get if you were 65. And if you wait until you reach 64, the amount will be 91 2/3 per cent.

Suppose you're husband is getting $88.50 a month. Your payment at 62 would be $33.30; at 63, $37; at 64, $40.70; at 65, $44.30 — depending on which of the ages you wanted to start the payments.

In any case, if you choose the reduced payments at any age between 62 and 65, you'll be ahead for the first 12 years. But, if you collect wife's payments at the reduced rate for more than 12 years, the total amount you receive will not be as large as if you had waited until 65 to start the higher payments.

Unveiling 'Lady' Brings Blushes to Officials

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Several state officials, including Gov. Raymond Gary, were occupied elsewhere yesterday when it came time to unveil a $50,000 plastic lady at the state capitol.

The lady usually is shown at medical functions. Her innards light up, and an electronic voice explains the workings.

Dr. H. H. Turner, an official of the semicentennial exposition, said Lou Allard, centennial chairman,

Shooting Suspect Freed on $300 Bond

Grady Lee Miller, 33, of 10237 Outon Ct., Ferndale, was bound over to Circuit Court yesterday, accused of shooting a Pontiac State Hospital attendant April 11 on the hospital grounds.

Miller, who claims he intended to shoot another man he believed to be a boy friend of his wife's, was freed on a $300 bond until arraignment Monday.

His victim was Preston Bell, 25, of 15460 Winder St., Detroit. He was shot three times in the right arm and once in the back as he sat in the auto which belonged to the man Miller says he intended to shoot.

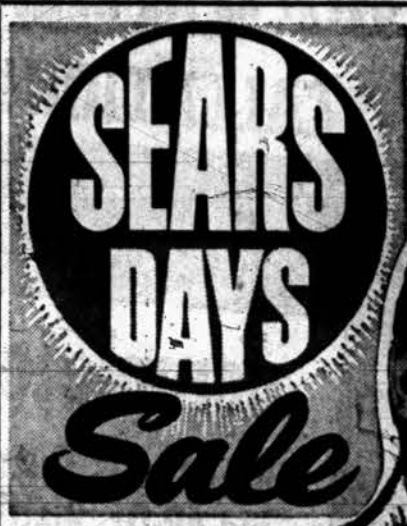

Examination was held yesterday before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

American radios and TV sets now may be freely imported into Bermuda, Hamilton learns.

Accused to Take Stand in JoAnn Slaying Trial

DETROIT (INS) — Philip J. Singer, 38, was expected to take the stand in his own defense today at his first degree murder trial. The sugar warehouse foreman is accused of slaying co-ed JoAnn Gillespie in 1953.

He has repudiated confessions made after his arrest and was expected to repeat the denials under oath today.

Better Future for Mauritania

Key Position in Africa, With Proven Reserves of Iron Offer Hope

WASHINGTON—At the western end of Africa, where the Sahara meets the sea, lies Mauritania, a land of the past and the future. At present, though, there isn't much to it.

Dune covered and windblown, Mauritania is a French colony carved out of desert and plateau country south of Morocco and Algeria, the National Geographic Society says. It is almost as large as Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma combined, but only an estimated 467,000 people live there.

No city outstanding enough to be the capital exists. Mauritania is governed from Senegal, a French colony to the south.

Its position between Arab Africa to the north and Negro Africa to the south, however, makes Mauritania a keystone in the French position on the Dark Continent. Current signs of unrest there are viewed gravely in Paris.

The economic future of Mauritania lies underground. Vast deposits of iron ore have been discovered in the interior, where scattered oases now support date growers and breeders of Arabian horses. French sources estimate the proven ore bodies at well over a billion tons. Copper, phosphates, and a little gold have also been found, and prospecting is continuing.

The biggest lack is transportation. There are no railroads. What few roads exist are better termed tracks.

At present, two plans for getting the ore to market are under consideration. One would result in a railroad across Rio de Oro, a Spanish possession which cuts off northern Mauritania from the coast. The other route, longer, would skirt Rio de Oro, staying in French territory. This line would end at Port Etienne, the colony's largest settlement, which has a population of about 4,000, many of them fishermen.

In addition to fish and lobsters from the Atlantic, Mauritania produces salt from coastal lagoons and from interior deposits.

Southern Mauritania receives more moisture than the Saharan north. There zebu cattle, sheep, goats, and mules are raised. A strip beside the Senegal river receives an annual inundation from the summer flood, making possible the growing of crops.

County Workers Happy in Center

New Building Sprawls on Large 30-Acre Site Financed Locally

A long, low building of cement block, brick and glass is the new headquarters of the Oakland County Road Commission.

Road commissioners and their staff of 30 engineers, clerks, secretaries and other trained personnel yesterday began operations there, with the happy feeling they have found a permanent home in the county's Telegraph road service center.

The new structure sprawls on a big, 30-acre site at 2420 Pontiac Lake Rd., next to the Oakland County Farmers' Market.

Newly opened is a 24-office administrative section. L-shaped, it is attached to the $325,000 garage and maintenance offices that opened last summer.

Paint and carpenter shops also went under construction last fall, bringing the total bill for the new section up to $313,000 - $320,000.

PAY AS YOU GO

Head Commissioner Sol Lomerson was proud to say the new facilities were financed locally on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The bulk of the money, he explained, is expected from sale of the commission's former building and property at 550 N. Telegraph Rd. The state bought part of the land last summer, and the building and remaining property are expected to be sold soon.

The rest of the money, Lomerson said, comes from accumulated building funds.

The new administrative wing is air conditioned with large offices for Lomerson and the two other commissioners, Leo O. Brooks and Robert O. Felt.

They gave credit to Leon E. Knapp, veteran engineer manager for his long efforts and careful planning for the new building.

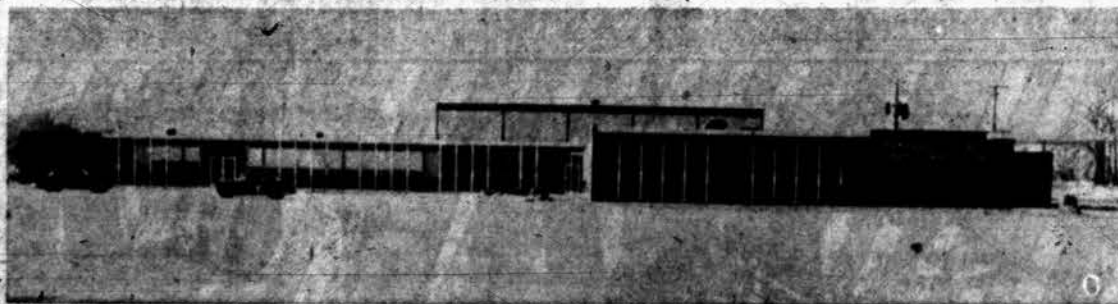

There are separate offices for the top engineering staff; a large, 20 by 25 foot room for the squad of draftsmen; facilities for retention of records and maps, bookkeeping, blueprinting and conferences.

The complaint department with its busy telephone secretary is located handy next to the office of Oscar Loomis, maintenance engineer. Nearby, in the section completed last summer, is the dispatcher who controls by radio the commission's 48 mobile units.

But the commission has further building plans. It is hoped that soon a second huge garage will go under construction to help house the commission's large fleet of rolling equipment.

It will duplicate the present garage, and be located next to the commission's large, well-stocked storeroom, designed to keep crews on the road despite mechanical mishaps.

And other storage areas are planned to hold materials that go into the commission's work of maintaining the county's 700 miles

BETTER SERVICE — Two of the road commissioners pose at the public entrance to the new building, which is designed to increase the commission's efficiency and give better public service. Commissioners Leo O. Brooks, left, and Sol Lomerson directed yesterday's move into the new headquarters, while the third commissioner, Robert O. Felt supervised vacating of the old offices at 550 N. Telegraph Rd.

of primary roads and 1,800 local roads.

The road commission is a semi-independent agency, working with state funds and reporting to the State Highway Department. Liaison with the Board of Supervisors, which must approve all its projects, is maintained through the Board's Roads and Bridges Committee.

New Gulf Contract Closes Gas Strike

DETROIT (AP) — The two-month strike against major gasoline and fuel oil distributors in the Detroit area is at a formal end today.

Members of Local 389 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union yesterday ratified a new contract with Gulf Refining Co.

The new contract follows a pattern set in new contracts with seven other major distributors involved in the strike—Soco, Mobil, Sinclair, Standard, Texaco, Shell, Pure and Speedway.

The union won a 5 per cent wage increase and fringe benefits. Wages under the old contract ranged from $2.57 to $2.66 an hour, according to O. A. Knight, president of the international union. The union sought a 25-cent hourly increase.

Some gasoline stations closed during the strike but there was no acute shortage.

RADIO OPERATIONS — A nerve center in the new Oakland County Road Commission building is the radio room, from which the commission's big mobile fleet keeps contact. Dispatcher Elmer Hess, above, is able to shuttle equipment and personnel by means of radio messages to 48 strategic vehicles, a handy arrangement in case of emergencies.

Five Sons of Pasha Seized in Morocco

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Five sons of the late Thami el Glaoui, once powerful Pasha of Marrakech, were kidnapped yesterday. Their vast, rich palace was taken over by soldiers of the irregular Moroccan army of liberation.

again long-simmering resentment between loyal followers of Sultan Mohammed V and El Glaoui's friends.

Michigan Woman Killed in Georgia Auto Crash

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Mrs. Isabel Johnson of Highland Park, Mich., was killed and her sister and brother-in-law were injured in a car-truck collision here yesterday. Mrs. Johnson was 60.

Hospitalized were Mrs. Pearl Short, sister of Mrs. Johnson, and her husband, Russell Short, also of Highland Park.

Served 16 Years Before Illinois Established His Innocence

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The State of Illinois has awarded $48,000 to a 52-year-old man for serving 16 years in prison for a crime he did not commit.

Gov. William G. Stratton yesterday signed a legislative act providing for the payment to Roy B. Eaton, who was released from prison about a year ago.

Eaton had been sentenced in 1940 to serve one year to life in prison on conviction of a $50 robbery in Rock Island, Ill., on Oct. 4, 1938. Before his arrest, Eaton was a watchman and odd jobs man in Lordsburg, N.M.

A combination of mistaken identity, aliases and confusion linked him to the robbery. Eaton, at his trial, protested that he had never been in Illinois, but was identified as the robber.

An investigation started three years ago by State's Atty. Bernard J. Moran of Rock Island, led to Eaton's release. Moran's investigation brought a confession from Louis G. Burrall of Davenport, Iowa, that he and John B. Davis, now serving a 25-year sentence at McNeil Island, Wash., federal prison, committed the robbery for which Eaton was sentenced.

Charge by Williams Tossed Right Back

LANSING (AP) — Rep. George M. Van Pelt (R-Zeeland), speaker of the House of Representatives, has thrown the charge of "political motivation" made by Gov. Williams back at the governor.

"Many Michigan industrial leaders now are saying publicly that new plants and new jobs are being located in other states because of Michigan's high taxes and the governor's proposals for even higher taxes," Van Pelt said.

"The governor has publicly impugned the integrity of these Michigan industrial leaders by stating that they are politically motivated."

Van Pelt said the governor "should be the last to talk of 'political motivation.'"

"If he were to spend more of his time in Michigan," the Republican spokesman said, "rather than politicking nationally for the Democratic presidential nomination, he might be better informed concerning the Michigan industrial crisis — a crisis he helped to precipitate."

Oldest Factory in State Destroyed by Flames

EAGLE RIVER (AP) — Fire reduced the Lake Superior Safety Fuse Co. plant here to a heap of smoldering timbers yesterday. The company said the factory was the oldest in Michigan.

The company was established in 1862 and the small factory was built on the shores of Lake Superior here in the Keweenaw Peninsula.

The plant employed about a dozen persons in making safety fuses for mining operations. Robert Bawden, owner of the plant, said he was unable to estimate the damage.

THE MAYFLOWER II UNDER SAIL. — At Plymouth, a raspberry.

Curse Rides Mayflower, Warn Armchair Admirals

LONDON (NEA) — If the Mayflower II, now en route to Plymouth, Mass., were to spring a leak in mid-Atlantic, or one of her crew to invoke the mariner's curse by shooting down an albatross, no one in England would be surprised.

The progress of the Mayflower II, which is due to arrive off Cape Cod sometime in June, is being watched with gloomy foreboding by the armchair admirals.

They freely predict that the 185-ton replica of the original Mayflower, built as an Anglo-American friendship gesture, will end by being towed across the Atlantic.

The Mayflower II is a "hard luck" ship, according to old seahands who have kept an eye on her ever since her keel was laid in July, 1955. These sea veterans shake their heads gloomily, speak of a special jinx which will dog the ship the rest of her days.

COSTS SOAR

Increased building costs (the original estimate of $240,000 soared to a figure close to $600,000) were cited as reasons for delay. Also, the American seaborne cities where the Mayflower II will be exhibited were not ready to receive her, according to her backers.

The people of Brixham, the tiny fishing village in Devon where the Mayflower II was built, have a less charitable explanation.

They claim the building of the Mayflower II was deliberately stalled so her backers could rake in more money in admission fees charged to view the famous replica on the ways, (over 245,000 tourists plunked down $73,500 for this privilege.)

One long, sustained raspberry greeted the Mayflower II when she was towed into Plymouth, Devon, by a modern tug. If the ship had to be towed the few miles from Dartmouth to Plymouth, how could she be expected to cross the Atlantic under her own sail? Report that members of her crew turned seasick as soon as they lost sight of land merely added to the general pessimism.

Believes Tornadoes Spread Diseases

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Public Health Service air pollution specialist said today the evidence is increasing that tornadoes spread disease.

Nicholas Manos told a joint meeting of the American Meteorological Society and the American Geophysical Union that new studies by the health service "support the hypothesis that tornadoes and other wind and rain storms spread histoplasmosis."

Manos said histoplasmosis is a recently discovered lung disease which is widely prevalent in the Middle West and is sometimes confused with tuberculosis.

Once considered a rare and fatal disease, the infection was discovered in 1945 to be widely prevalent in a mild form, with few or no symptoms of illness.

Lawmakers Pick Immortals for Senate Hall of Fame

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's new Hall of Fame will honor members of the "Great Triumvirate" of the 1820-50 period, plus a progressive and a conservative of the 20th century.

The choices, to be formally announced to the Senate today by Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.), are Henry Clay of Kentucky, Daniel Webster of Massachusetts, John C. Calhoun of South Carolina, Robert M. LaFollette Sr. of Wisconsin and Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Kennedy, chairman of the special committee which made the selections, said his group was unanimous but did not claim the five were the "greatest senators of all times."

He noted that his committee was charged with selecting five "outstanding" senators to be honored by the placing of their portraits in a reception room at the Capitol near the Senate Chamber.

In his prepared speech, Kennedy reported that Clay, Webster, Calhoun and LaFollette "were among the top five in a poll of 150 historians and political scientists who advised the committee."

He did not name the other choice of the historians, but it was learned from another source that the man was George Norris of Nebraska. Taft was ninth in the poll.

The Massachusetts senator said that Clay was chosen as "the Great Pacificator" who worked tirelessly to reconcile the conflict between the North and South, Webster as the powerful orator who championed an inseparable union, Calhoun as the "masterful defender" of state's rights, LaFollette as the "ceaseless battler for the underprivileged," and Taft as the "ablest exponent" of conservatism. The committee in its report mentioned these additional former senators as worthy of high honor:

Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, William Borah of Idaho, Stephen A. Douglas of Illinois, Carter Glass of Virginia, Justin Smith Morrill of Vermont, John Sherman of Ohio, Charles Sumner of Massachusetts, Lyman Trumbull of Illinois, Oscar Underwood of Alabama, Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, Robert F. Wagner of New York and Thomas Walsh of Montana.

NAMED FOR SENATE'S HALL OF FAME — Five United States Senators, named to the Senate's new "Hall of Fame," include, from left: Henry Clay, Robert M. LaFollette Sr., Robert A. Taft, John C. Calhoun and Daniel Webster. The selections were made by a Senate committee headed by Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.), who said they were "not offered as the five greatest Senators of all time" but simply as five outstanding Senators not now living.

U.S. Plans Air War on Fire Ants

FIRE ANT — The south's dreaded fire ant builds its homes in mounds like this one, almost as high as the man's waistline.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Uncle Sam is ready to use a fleet of 60 planes to go to war against the dreaded imported fire ant.

The destructive insect, believed to have entered the United States 27 years ago from Argentina, has spread through Mississippi, Alabama, Texas, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Tennessee and the two Carolinas and is threatening to overrun other states.

News as to the extent the menace has spread was first brought to light at a House Agriculture Subcommittee hearing on legislation calling for federal action against the fire ant. The Department of Agriculture, which began fighting the invasion in 1950, says state and county agencies are unable to stem the tide of destruction.

Spokesmen in the department's plant pest control branch say that only the modern airplane, dropping insecticides on the 20 million acres in the critical area, can hope to stop the menace. The department estimated that it would cost 100 million dollars to effectively control the fire ant and said it was ready to begin the fight the minute Congress gave it the go-ahead.

KILLS YOUNG ANIMALS

The South American killer-ant eats both plants and animals. It attacks newly-born calves and pigs and is particularly fond of quail and other young birds nesting in fields. Hunters in the critical areas complain they can't put their dead game on the ground for even a few minutes without having it overrun by fire ants.

The hardy, strong-jawed insect clamps onto human beings and other forms of life with its jaws and injects stingers that feed poisonous fluids into the wound.

In human beings the wound results in festering blisters that take two to three weeks to heal. Cotton pickers and other farmhands rebel against working in heavily infested fields.

The black-red invaders from the south range from an eighth to a quarter of an inch long. They build mounds that extend two to three feet above the ground and about three feet below the surface. An average mound may contain as many as 25,000 ants.

In critical areas the mounds number from 100 to 200 per acre, presenting a hazard to harvesting machinery. They are also a deterrent to cattle grazing, as cattle refuse to graze in areas covered with ant mounds.

Rep. Armistead I. Selden, Jr. (D-Ala.) told the House subcommittee that 350,000 ant mounds have been counted at Maxwell Air Force Base, outside Montgomery, Ala. They threaten the proper operation of the base. He said fire ants recently sent three persons to the hospital from the base.

The Department of Agriculture urges individual control of the insect until the federal government can act.

Experts have found that chlordane, dieldrin and aldrin are the best insecticides to use, as they are effective in treating the mounds and areas where the ants are foraging, for about $4 an acre.

Solutions can be made for hand spraying using as little as four to 12 tablespoons of emulsifiable insecticide and 2½ to four ounces of wettable powder to each three gallons of water. Do-it-yourself gardeners will find this solution extremely deadly in treating fire ant mounds.

Report Border War in South America

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (U-P) — Fighting has been reported on the disputed Nicaraguan-Honduran border after a week of weapons-rattling and exchange of charges by the two Central American neighbors.

President Luis Somoza told an inauguration audience of 45,000 in Managua yesterday Honduran forces attacked the village of Mocoron in the frontier zone, killing 25 Nicaraguan soldiers. Five Honduran planes strafed a Nicaraguan post during the attack, he said.

Somoza, who was sworn in for a six-year term as Nicaraguan president, declared that if Honduras continued what he called its "aggressive" attitude, "the whole of Nicaragua and the National Guard will know how to defend its national integrity."

government said its air force units had recaptured Mocoron and that the "first Honduran heroes fell."

It gave no details.

Santa Now in Space?

BEAUFORT, S. C. (U-P) — Around Christmas time, a local newspaper apologized that one letter to Santa Claus didn't arrive until New Year's Day. The delay seemed to be answered in the address: "Santa Claus - Mars - Space."

Here's Latest Score in Red Name Calling

VIENNA (U-P) — A Bulgarian newspaper has chided parents for giving children "ugly, absurd and even indecent first names."

The Communist paper Vecher ni Novini says girls are being named Gramophone, Telephone, Cashier and even Prostitute. These come out of Gramophona, Telefonika, Kassierka and Prostituka in Bulgarian.

Moscow papers recently criticized parents for giving their children such "detestable names" as Electrification, Combine and Detector, names which are an outgrowth of the Communists' own propaganda.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — For 10 years Vernon Rooks has been stringing Christmas lights on the tree in his front yard, but it's never snowed on Christmas Day.

Last year, he decided to leave the lights up until snow fell, no matter how long it took. It snowed exactly one month after Christmas.

Broadway Parade Honors U.S. Heroes

NEW YORK (AP) — A parade up lower Broadway today honors 67 Navy and Marine Corps heroes — including 45 retired admirals and eight four-star generals — as part of Operation Remember.

The program — sponsored by the Navy League of the United States during its 55th annual convention — pays homage to Navy and Marine Corps personnel who fought in both world wars and in Korea.

The parade, with many units of the armed forces taking part, will start at Battery Park and go up Broadway to City Hall, where they will be greeted by Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Warships here for the "Parade of Warships" include the Nautilus, the world's first atomic-powered submarine.

Fleet Adm. William F. Halsey (ret) was among those who arrived here by plane yesterday from Annapolis, where they were guests of the U. S. Naval Academy.

About 55 per cent of American families own their homes now as compared with 44 per cent before World War II.

Bob Considine Says:

Reds Take 3 Years to Answer Ike

NEW YORK (INS) — The Soviet Union's proposal to give the U.S. aerial inspection rights over 2,780,000 square miles of Russian territory, if we'll open up 2,730,000 square miles of our own, is, although it may be faulted on closer inspection, the kind of concrete move the President groped for at the Geneva summit conference and never attained.

At Geneva, Gen. Eisenhower absolutely stunned Khrushchev, Bulganin, Molotov and Zhukov when without warning he offered to permit aerial inspection of all America in exchange for similar rights to the U.S.S.R. To boot, the President threw in an invitation to exchange military blueprints.

The striking offer came so swiftly and so without cue or hint that, according to a man who was in the room at the time, "it knocked the wind out of the Russians."

The Red leaders were depicted as so confused that they asked time to reply, instead of instantly saying no. If outward appearances mean anything, the four of them looked like lost puppies, huddling together for protection when they left the conference building that evening.

"I feel sorry for the poor . . . an old correspondent said. 'They've got nobody to call home to, for instructions. Stalin didn't teach them to think for themselves.'"

PUZZLED THE PRESS

The swift and audacious move by the President also caught the clearest-headed seers among the correspondents flatfooted.

The Herald Trib carried a story the next day saying that it was a spur-of-the-moment decision by the President. It was intended to be a complimentary story, one supposes, but the President's advisers must have noted immediately that there would be bitter eruptions back home—especially from people (and congressmen) who have come to accept many of the unilateral decisions of F.D.R. at the big wartime conferences as at least semi-fatal.

So the administration quickly let it be known that the President's bombshell had been fabricated more than a week before in the National Security Council—which at least gave it the complexion of sober-sided study.

Now, nearly three years later, the Russians have responded. The administration doesn't think much of the response, and there would be little hope of getting Congress to approve it in its present stage.

Under the Russian plan, generally, they'd let us peek at Siberia if they are given permission to photograph from the air all of the U.S. west of the Mississippi.

That would take in, among other places, Los Alamos, the plutonium works at Pasco, along the Columbia River, Mare Island, San Diego, the plane plants of Boeing, Douglas, North American and Lockheed, and Marilyn Monroe.

RESPONSIVE CHORDS

Yet the offer struck responsive chords in Washington. One government official told this reporter, "That's the most encouraging sign we've had from Russia in three years.

"We should entertain the proposal at length before turning it down, and when we do reject it we ought to suggest an alternative within their reach or reason."

Are the Russians useful of "playing ball?" Only the Kremlin knows that. But another memory of the summit conference is shaken loose by the new proposal.

One day's end, over a drink, Eisenhower said in effect to Bulganin that Russia and the satellites were so located geographically that the prevailing winds of the earth would blow our radioactive dust across them in the event of a great war.

Bulganin responded that the same winds would blow Russia's radioactive dust across our possessions, moving from west to east. Eisenhower nodded and said that we and Russia had it in our power perhaps to destroy each other, but the world below the parallels on which we would fight, having different air currents, would survive—and it would be a free world.

Bulganin thought a long time and then said, in Russian, "We must do something . . . we must do something . . . we must do something."

Political Preacher Likes That 'Oldtime Salvation'

MOUNT STERLING, Ky. (AP) — The Rev. Ollie J. Walters, candidate for nomination as Montgomery County Jailor, uses the spiritual approach in his campaign. He placed this advertisement in the local paper: "I don't own a car. And have no transportation. But, one thing I have is the oldtime salvation."

Four Licenses Issued in Waterford Township

Soft drink licenses were issued to Genevieve Jackson of 2446 Williams Lake Road, and to Walter Scott, 3381 Highland Rd., by the Waterford Township board. A license to operate a "Kiddie Land" at Elizabeth Lake and Cass Lake Roads, was approved for Henrietta Marchall, and a sewer bond license was given to Dewey Belote of Pontiac.

Sale to Promote Animal Shelter

Proceeds From Pencils Will Go to Expansion of Present Site

The Oakland County branch of the Michigan Animal Rescue League will conduct its annual Pencil Sale during Be Kind to Animals Week, May 5-11.

Mrs. Martin Davis, of Rochester, Branch secretary, said the proceeds will go to complete the group's shelter, now under construction on Featherstone road, near East Blvd.

The new building will offer facilities for the care of about 100 animals, she said. Girl Scouts, YMCA youth groups and others will conduct the sale in Pontiac both in residential areas and on downtown streets. The pencils will sell for 10 cents or more.

The shelter project is being financed by the annual sale and through contributions and proceeds from the group's used resale shop, 297 Oakland, and from an antique sale held each year at Will-O-Way summer theater, E. Long Lake road.

The Oakland County branch of the league has been in existence since 1953. It is a non-profit corporation.

Woman Freed on Bond in Wrist-Slashing Case

Elsie Mae Thomas, 34, of 476 Filadelf St., was bound over to Circuit Court Wednesday to face charges Monday of cutting the wrist on another woman March 23. She was freed by Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum on a $200 cash bond.

Queen Esther Phillips, of 47 Walnut St., claims Miss Thomas cut her while she was visiting at 140 Jackson St.

Trucker Listed as 'Fair'

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Truck driver James A. Townsend, 53, of Flint was in fair condition at St. Mary's Hospital, where he was treated for burns suffered Wednesday from "hot" wires, felled when his Genesee Barrel & Bag Co. semi-trailer truck struck a power pole at Coopersville in Ottawa County.

Three of the four farms in the U. S. have automobiles; half have motor trucks.

Continue Lake Search

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — The Coast Guard continued to search today for the body of William Witt, 21-year-old Charlevoix Coast Guard boatswain's mate who drowned in a Lake Michigan boating mishap. Two companions were rescued Tuesday after Witt's outboard motorboat capsized.

Bellino Works on Senate ProbeLess Than Twelve Hours? Easy Day for Investigator

WASHINGTON (U) — Whenever Carmine Bellino manages to work less than 12 hours a day as chief investigator for the Senate Rack-ets Committee, he thinks he's had it "soft."

But the "soft" days for the 51-year-old Bellino, a native of Elizabeth, N. J., are few and far between.

Bellino, a former FBI man, was mainly responsible for assembling and giving some meaning to the mass of figures on which Dave Beck and other officials of the Teamsters Union were questioned at public hearings.

Bellino is an accountant by profession. That answers, in part, the way in which he and his associates got to the bottom of the Teamster financial mess.

"All you need to have," Bellino says, "is a lot of patience and willingness to dig."

One of the rare times when he can relax, he says, is when he gets out on the Potomac River for a Sunday afternoon of motor boating.

Hobbies? Bellino laughs. "With seven kids . . ." he begins his reply. His three sons and four daughters range in age from 3 to 18 years.

Bellino is philosophical about the demands of his job.

"I really enjoy the work—except when you have to meet a deadline," he says. "Then it's just plain drudgery."

As to the over-all activities of the committee, Bellino thinks a year's steady work "will barely scratch the surface" of what's going on—and sometimes shouldn't—in the labor movement.

He agrees, however, with committee members who think enough has been uncovered to give the Senate a start on legislation designed to correct evils that now exist in some unions.

Bellino joined the FBI in 1934 and served in the New York City office until he resigned in 1945. After working for the old Reconstruction Finance Corp., and the former War Assets Administration, he established his own accounting office in Washington with a branch in Elizabeth.

While maintaining his own office (he still does), he has served variously on the staffs of numerous congressional committees in both the Senate and House.

Local Moose Lodge Installs Officers

The Loyal Order of Moose, Lodge No. 182, installed its new officers in a recent ceremony at the Moose Hall, 350 Mt. Clemens St.

Taking over as new leaders were: Bernard Danton, governor; Lloyd LaBarge, junior governor; James Sargent, prelate; William Cummings, treasurer; Edward LaBarge, secretary; and Whitney Murphy, junior past governor.

New trustees installed were Vernon Taylor, William Dobson, and Jerry J. Hould.

Appointed officers were Percy Murphy, sergeant at arms; Cecil

Rich, inside guardian; and George Decker, outside guardian.

Past Governor John Baxter acted as the installing governor.

Parking Meter Patrolman Caught in Act by Buddy

VANCOUVER, Wash. (U) — Ted Slothower parked his car and went into a store here to get change to feed the parking meter. There was a delay while the storekeeper waited on others. When Slothower returned to his car, there was a parking "ticket" on it.

Slothower, who had driven downtown on his day off, is the city's other parking meter patrolman. He went to city hall and paid up.

BABY SITTER? — With the warm weather moving in all across the nation, this New York mother figured sunny Bronx Park would be the perfect place for baby's afternoon nap. But — it's Mom who's snoozing, with the wide-awake tot playing the part of a watchful "baby sitter."

Sites Offer More Variety

Nine New Vacation Spots Lure Nation's Travelers

WASHINGTON — Foot-loose vacationists, studying the map with an eye to the nation's storied recreation spots, face a varied and ever-growing list of places from which to choose.

In the last three years, nine new national parks, monuments, and historic sites have been established, bringing the total to nearly 200 under Federal or cooperative management.

Additions range from a one-time fur-trading post in the Pacific Northwest to a lush, tropical area in the Virgin Islands, says the National Geographic Society.

The latest, designated last month, covers a seven-acre tract at Promontory, Utah. It is called the Golden Spike National Historic Site, and commemorates the famous spike-driving ceremony in 1869 that marked completion of the Nation's first transcontinental rails.

IN VANCOUVER

Fort Vancouver National Monument, which came into being July 9, 1934, lies within the city limits of Vancouver, Washington. Its exhibits include excavations of the old stockade wall and inner buildings, a model of the fort, and a museum of relics.

In 1935, two very different areas, one covering parts of three States, the other a home and laboratory, were set apart for the public.

The big tract is Cumberland Gap National Historical Park, where the old Wilderness Road led the American pioneers into the rich hunting and farming lands of Kentucky and beyond.

PLAYED ROLES

Gap and Road played important roles in Indian fighting, in the Revolution, and Civil War. Today's visitors find in this scenic park two miles of Wilderness Road, Civil War fortifications, old mill-and-foundry ruins, and a mountain-top view of Virginia, Tennessee, and Kentucky.

Fort Union's interest lies in the winning of the American Southwest. Guarding the old Santa Fe Trail, it belonged to the era of Indians-on-the-war-path, stagecoach robbers, and gun-toting traders.

With some 2,000 inhabitants in its heyday, the fort was a center of supply, of news, and social life. As a Union bulwark during the Civil War, it blocked Confederate efforts to reach Colorado's silver mines.

St. John, 2,700 miles away, has historic memories unique among park areas. They go back to pre-Columbian Indians; to Europe's colonial rivalries, and Danish sugar planters whose slaves revolted in 1733.

Today, this young Virgin Islands National Park covers about three-quarters of the 12,000-acre island. Its moldy fortresses and ruined plantations are covered with green, flowering mantles. Fish and bird life offers a naturalist's paradise. And the lowest recorded temperature is 65 degrees Fahrenheit; the highest, 91 degrees.

Poet's Corner of England
More Accessible by Air

WASHINGTON — Into the north-west corner of England, close to the Scottish border, nature has squeezed a profusion of mountains and lakes offering some of the most admired scenery in the world.

This is the Lake District, the Poet's Corner of England, where Wordsworth, Southey, Coleridge, Ruskin, and other literary figures lived and wrote.

A long-time favorite of hiker and motorist, the Lake District is about to become more accessible to vacationists through a helicopter service from London.

Although only about 35 miles square, the area has 380 mountains and 64 lakes, 15 of them large, the National Geographic Society says. It has the most rainfall, the highest mountain, and the largest lake in England.

Springing up from green valleys of pastureland marked off with old stone walls, the mountains catch water-laden winds from the Irish Sea, cooling them and bringing down rain—as much as 120 inches a year in one particularly wet section of the District.

Sparkling down the slopes in streams and falls, the water brings bands of light and motion to the scene as it makes its way to the lakes.

The "mountains and vales and waters all imbued with beauty," as Robert Southey wrote, draw travelers from all over the world. They drew William Wordsworth in 1799, as he sought refuge from what he considered the ugliness of an industrialized and revolutionary world.

There he wrote much of the poetry that made him famous, and there he is buried, with his wife and sister.

PRESIDENTIAL LINK
Two American Presidents are associated with the area. In St. Martin's Church, in Windermere, are blazoned the Washington family arms, placed there by an ancestor of George Washington.

Woodrow Wilson visited the Lake

District several times. There are persons still living who can remember him tramping and bicycling around the countryside.

Now a National Park, the District is not uninhabited, as are many of those in the United States. For generations the land has been farmed, and cottages and farm buildings form a part of its visual charm. The British are working to prevent modern encroachments such as power lines and billboards.

All is not quiet and peaceful, however. Descendants of the shepherds Wordsworth knew find time for the "scramble"—a motorcycle race up mountain paths that offer scant footing for a goat.

And on Lake Ullswater, near where Wordsworth "wandered lonely as a cloud" and came upon "a crowd, a host of golden daffodils . . . fluttering and dancing in the breeze," Donald Campbell gunned his jet-powered speedboat to a record of more than 200 miles per hour.

Women's Feet Bigger,
Shoe Fitter Claims

CHICAGO (U) — Women's feet are getting bigger, says a shoe fitter, expert.

Louis Liebson, stylist for a firm which opened its 300th store in a neighborhood shopping center, said in the past 15 years women's average size has jumped from a 6B to a 7B.

He says the increase in a woman's foot size is due to that fact that lately women have preferred a proper fit rather than a snug one.

Hunters Bag 12 Wolves

COLLINGWOOD, Ont. (U) — Hunters bagged a dozen wolves in this Georgian Bay area last winter. The pelts of one 50-pound giant measured six feet in length.

About 115,000 school buses are in use in the U.S.

A new German Iron Museum Swabian village of Biberach on the will be opened near the Upper Rhine in West Germany.

Sees Similarity in U.S., Ghana

Problems in Education Same, Contends Visitor From Gold Coast

EAST LANSING (AP)—The United States and the new West African republic of Ghana have similar educational problems, a visiting educator reported.

W. Eric Duncanson, president of the Kumasi College of Technology at Ghana, made the comment during a stop at Michigan State University as part of a tour to study educational methods in this country.

Duncanson said a shortage of trained teachers and a lack of funds for building more classrooms is slowing progress in the republic created out of the former Gold Coast.

"But both our nations seem to need more money for building schools and additional teachers," he said.

Duncanson estimated that more than 10,000 teachers in the country are without certification and said many of these don't even have a high school diploma.

Air Force Secretary Calls Carriers Valuable

One H-Bomb Can Wreck Task Force

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Air Force Donald Quarles said today that a single hydrogen-headed guided bomb launched by a plane could knock out a naval task force.

And Air Gen. Nathan Twining claims that high-level attack by a single squadron of heavy or medium jet bombers dropping nuclear bombs could produce the same result.

Publication today of testimony by top Pentagon leaders before a House Appropriations subcommittee revealed that committee questioning stirred the Air Force and Navy into renewed argument about the vulnerability of carrier task forces.

Charles Thomas, until recently secretary of the Navy, and Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, testified that a carrier force would be difficult to locate in the open sea. Even if it were located, they said, the missile and counter-missile defenses of the force would give it a high degree of protection from attacking planes.

The testimony was given in January and February — some time before Quarles was named deputy secretary of defense and Twining was chosen chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Quarles said that if bombers with an air-to-surface guided missile having a 50-to-100-mile range approached a carrier task force, "I do not know of anything that could be done to prevent that missile, if it were armed with a megaton warhead, from knocking out a carrier task force, depending on how the force was deployed."

When Twining was asked how ships maneuvering could be attacked, he replied:

"With bombers using atomic weapons."

How close would the bombs need to come?

"A couple of miles. A 'near miss' works in this case. You can miss them quite a ways and still sink them or put them out of commission."

Burke said the use of radar by reconnaissance planes would give away the attempted attack and that the enemy would sustain "terrible damage" from the aircraft and missile defenses of the task force.

The Navy also received support from two other powerful quarters — Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson and Adm. Arthur "W. Radford, present JCS chairman. When Chairman Mason (D-Tex.) asked about the Defense Department's recommendation for a $100 or $14 million dollar appropriation for an atomic carrier, Wilson replied that "we thought it was the right thing to do," and added:

"You may say that a big carrier is a good target. But what about an air base?"

Radford insisted that "the problem of finding a carrier striking force is still going to be difficult."

The often-debated question of whether the United States or Russia is ahead in the missile field was brought up.

Dr. Clifford Furnas, at that time assistant secretary of defense for research and development, told the committee that "I can certainly state that I am sure we are well ahead of the Russians in this ballistic missile field."

Democratic members of the committee pressed the Air Force representatives on the Pentagon's decision to cut back the unit strength of the USAF from its 137-wing goal to 128 wings.

Twining asserted that "I have no doubt the 128-wing force will have far greater striking power."

The contention was that, among other things, there would be 50 per cent more bombers in the heavy wings, using much more powerful nuclear weapons.

Mass Key Production Confuses Two Drivers

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Mass production was the key to the confusion of a couple of motorists.

Gerald B. Junion put his key into the ignition, started the car and drove off. It was some time later that he noticed his car was a slightly different color from usual.

Meanwhile Mrs. Mildred Henderson stepped into "her" car. She didn't notice the color but called police when her keys wouldn't fit.

A little police work restored the drivers, slightly shaken, to their own autos of the same make, model and similar hue.

Victor Barna, ex-world champion, will lead Britain's table tennis team to the championships in Sweden, this year, as non-playing captain.

Forces Now Have 8-Inch Atomic Shells

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon has reported two major weapons changes. It announced the Army's adoption of a new rifle, and confirmed reports U. S. forces have an eight-inch atomic artillery shell.

The Army said yesterday it has formally adopted the new T44 rifle, developed by Army Ordnance, to replace four shoulder weapons—the Garand M1 rifle, the Browning automatic rifle (BAR), the .30-caliber carbine and the M3 submachinegun.

The T44 uses 7.62mm ammunition, the standard adopted for NATO troops. The cartridges are shorter and lighter than the .30-caliber ammunition used in the M1.

The rifle has been tested over the last two years, and money for its production will be asked for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1958.

The Defense Department disclosure that eight-inch atomic shells are in existence came in response to inquiries by reporters over the past several years.

The department also said the Army has both eight-inch guns and eight-inch howitzers capable of firing the nuclear ammunition.

About two years ago, the Army was reported seeking a lighter weapon than the 280mm atomic cannon. This gun, like the eight-inch weapons, can fire either conventional or atomic shells.

The 280mm cannon and its tractor weigh 85 tons, compared with 35 tons for the eight-inch cannon range nearly equal to the 20-mile and its carriage. The eight-inch range reported for the 280mm howitzer is reported to have a piece.

Texans Wrangle on Segregation

Filibuster to Block Proposed Bill Now in Second Day

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Sen. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio went in to pinch-hit for Sen. Abraham Kazen Jr. today in their joint filibuster to block passage of a key segregation bill.

The filibuster, kicked off at 11:16 a.m. yesterday, and with the exception of a two-hour break for lunch, has moved steadily into its second day.

Kazen, 37, a solidly built citizen of Laredo, held the floor for 15 hours and 4 minutes until Gonzalez came in to relieve him at 5 a.m.

The lawmaker's voice was still strong at the finish when he left for a short nap.

Kazen occasionally chewed on a raisin or a cough-drop during the early morning hours when his listeners had dwindled to two senators, several newsmen and clerks.

Kazen was aided during the night by lengthy questions from Gonzalez and Sens. Charles Herring of Austin and Hubert Hudson of Brownsville.

He leaned on his desk or threw his leg across his plush red-leather seat during the night. He had to remain on his feet, however, to retain the floor.

He was seeking to delay action on a bill that would allow school boards to assign pupils to any school in the board's jurisdiction, thus eliminating integration where it was not wanted by the board. The measure is a key part of a bloc of 11 segregation bills introduced by legislators from east Texas, where there are heavy concentrations of Negroes.

Schools already have integrated in the stocky, dark-haired senator's Rio Grande district, centered in Laredo. But about two thirds of the senators have lined up for passage of the segregation bills.

Kazen launched the filibuster yesterday with a 11-word amendment to strike out the enabling clause in the bill.

The Senate is in the closing days of the 120 day constitutional session which expires next week. Lawmakers can stay longer, but without their $25 a day.

Two Are Sentenced in State Car Theft

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—An Illinois man and a Tampa youth, arrested in Fort Myers, Fla., with a car stolen in Michigan have been sentenced by Federal Judge William J. Barker.

William Edward Woods, 46, of Springfield, Ill., was sentenced yesterday to two years on a plea of guilty to taking a stolen automobile across state lines.

Franklin Eugene Allen, 17, was sent to the National Training School for Boys in Washington for violating the federal juvenile delinquent act.

The youth said he helped drive the car from Mount Clemens, Mich., to Fort Myers. He and Woods were nabbed there April 13.

Eisenhower Approves Retirement of Judge

WASHINGTON (AP)—The retirement of Judge Arthur A. Koscinski as U. S. District Judge for eastern Michigan has been approved by President Eisenhower.

Koscinski had written the President saying he had served on the bench since 1945, was 70 on April 1 and that "the steadily declining condition of my health" dictated that he retire, effective April 30.

In a letter of reply yesterday, Eisenhower thanked Koscinski for his service and voiced a hope for an improvement in his health.

New York Woman Hurt in Accident on U.S. 10

Mrs. Constance DeCoteau, 21, of New York was treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital early this morning for minor back injuries received in an accident on U.S. 10.

The accident occurred at 3 a.m. north of Big Lake road when a car driven by Harold R. Snyder, 40, of 395 Converse St., Lake Orion, crashed into the back of the trailer attached to the DeCoteau car, according to State Police.

Fined in VA Home Deal

DETROIT (AP)—Charles L. Burns, head of Wyoming Investment Co., was fined $4,000 Wednesday for making false statements to the Veterans Administration. His company also was fined $4,000. Burns, 39, pleaded guilty before U. S. District Judge Theodore Levine to having four veterans buy houses that he resold at profits ranging from $2,200 to $1,800.

Pace Heads Company

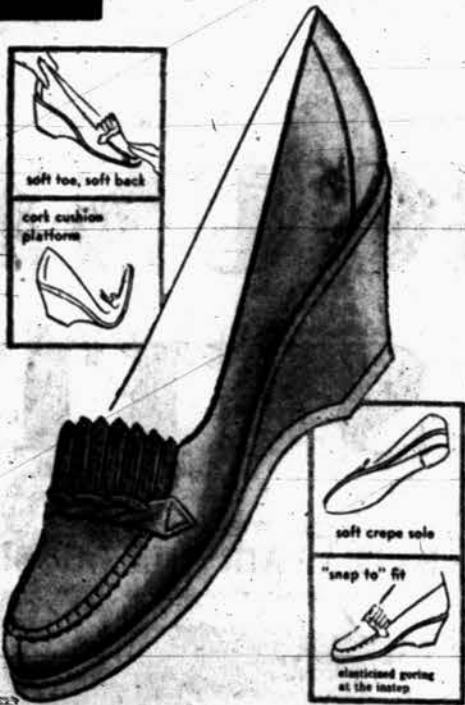

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Army Secretary Frank Pace Jr. has been elected president of General Dynamics Corporation to succeed John Jay Hopkins, who remains as a director and board chairman.

SHOOTING THE BREEZE—A gun that literally "shoots the breeze" has been developed by the Army Signal Corps at Fort Monmouth, N. J. Officially called "Shooting Sphere Anemometer," the gun measures low-altitude wind velocity. Pfc. John Eaton, of Ripley, Mass., test-fires it, sending a small steel ball upward into the wind at an angle calculated to make it fall back into or close to the gun muzzle. Operator, by checking angle of gun, can get wind speed reading.

Record Earth Shock in Nicaragua Vicinity

CLEVELAND — A "moderate" earthquake was recorded at 12:02 a.m. Eastern Daylight Time today on the seismograph at John Carroll University. Seismologists estimated the quake was 2,100 miles south of Cleveland, which would place it in Nicaragua. The Rev. Henry F. Birkenhauer said the earthquake would have been strong enough to cause damage if it occurred near a populated area.

Harry, Bert Represent New TV Technique

Viewers Like TV Ad Team

ED GRAHAM AND FRIENDS — The old-time salesman's motto.

NEW YORK (NEA) — A tall, thin, quiet-spoken man and his short, stout, bombastic brother — who likes to shoot off pistols in front of TV cameras — are responsible for a major change in TV commercials.

Maybe you've noticed that more and more video sales pitches have elements of humor, music and other entertainment features. Fewer and fewer are straight, out-and-out sales talks.

Harry and Bert deserve most of the credit. With an assist, of course, from Ed Graham, who created them. Harry and Bert are the animated spokesmen for an east coast beer and Graham is a good-looking young advertising executive who dreamed up a new approach to selling beer.

In a typical Harry and Bert commercial, Harry walks on, introduces himself—"I'm Harry, the tall one"—and then Bert sneaks out from behind a table and says, "I'm Bert, average in stature." They start talking about their product and when they come to the part about how they "aim for dryness," Bert whips out his pistol and lets fire. The noise makes him choke.

BET SNERS

Harry winds up with a plea to ask for his product at your neighborhood tavern and Bert sneers a last word—"If they don't have it, congregate elsewhere."

The two personalities have become so popular with New Yorkers and others in the beer's sales area that the brewer has taken out ads in many papers, listing the times when the commercials would be shown. This, in advertising history, is unprecedented.

And naturally their success is also measured in beer sales figures. In 1956, New York State consumed 14 per cent less beer during the year than in 1955. But Harry and Bert sold their product so well that their beer, in the face of this general decline, actually went up 21 per cent.

THAT WAS ALL

That was all the advertising and TV business had to know. Imitations of Harry and Bert, both in style and in content, are springing up every day. And the philosophy these commercials represent — that of mixing entertainment with a sales message — is one that may be a basic change in broadcasting history.

"The philosophy of these commercials," says Graham, "is the same as the old-time salesman's motto — 'The best salesman is the man the customers like best.' Bert and Harry are salesmen, and the customers like them."

"Let's face it — the average guy doesn't know one beer from another. They go in and buy their beer because of a lot of factors. I think our beer sold well in 1956 because the average customer just liked Bert and Harry."

Federal Payroll Up by 2,470 in March

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal payroll increased by 2,470 persons in March to a total of 2,392,987. This was reported today by the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Expenditures. Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), the committee chairman, said the major increases were in the Treasury, Post Office, Agriculture, Interior, Commerce and Welfare departments. He said increases in the Agriculture, Interior and Treasury departments "were largely seasonal."

Because it was a short month, the government payroll dropped to $847,617,000 in February from a record high of more than a billion dollars in January.

The committee reported that the payroll for the first eight months since the fiscal year began last July totaled 7 1/2 billion dollars. The monthly average was 936 million.

Pontiac Fire Causes $300 Damage to Home

Pontiac firemen extinguished a $300 in a three-family cement block house at 105 S. Merrimac St. last night.

The fire, caused by a careless smoker, started in an overstuffed chair in the basement of an apartment occupied by Russell Nurnburg, they report.

Damage amounted to $150 on the building and a $150 loss to the contents, according to firemen.

To Install Tech Head

HOUGHTON (AP) — Dr. J. R. Van Pelt will be inaugurated May 10 as sixth president of Michigan Tech. Principal speaker will be Dr. B. D. Thomas, director of the Battelle Memorial Institute research agency. Dr. Van Pelt was former director of Battelle's research education division.

South Africa is sobering up, Pretoria reports. Convictions for drunkenness are getting fewer. Using Gold Coast tobacco a new cigarette industry has been started at Takoradi, in that colony. Turkey is strictly rationing gas.

Deaf Mothers Wakened When Babies Bowl

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A baby specialist here reported that a cause of considerable anxiety among mothers with faulty hearing is that they won't be awakened by baby's crying during the night. The specialist — a woman suggested a solution and Medical College Research Laboratories produced a gadget to waken the deaf mothers.

It's an electronic device that converts the slightest sound from the baby's crib into vibrations which the mother receives from an instrument under her bed pillow. A Service Club which sponsored the development lends the device on request.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Jim Theiss, a University of Dayton junior, has found a peaceful place to study. His part time job — and full time residence and study hall — while going to college is in a funeral parlor.

Horse With 'Cow Sense' Valuable to Ranchers

FORT WORTH (INS) — When a horse learns to think like a cow he can be worth as much as $30,000 to the ranchmen in our vast cattle-producing areas.

It doesn't matter what kind of a horse it is or what his blood lines are, just so has what is known as "cow sense."

He is the cutting horse, as essential to a successful ranch as a fence. Known and used in the United States as long as there have been herds of cows, he is fairly new to shows and rodeo arenas.

Referred to by the cowboy as a "partin' horse," a "carving horse," or a "whittler," the animal does just that. He rides into a herd of cattle, fires his attention on one and forces it to leave the group.

"Good cutting horses are born with an unusual interest in cattle," explained Douglas Mitchell, secretary-treasurer of the National Cutting Horse Association. "And they are smart and fast and have had plenty of training with that spur — which a cowboy doesn't wear for looks."

The beautiful footwork of a cutting horse as he challenges a call to return to the herd ranks him with the most graceful — and it requires an expert rider to stay with the erratically swerving animal.

"When a rancher rides into a herd and realizes his horse is no longer thinking like a horse but like a cow, then he knows he has a good cutting horse," Mitchell explained.

The horses have an uncanny ability when it comes to cattle, because even though they are trained and constantly practice in the art of removing a calf from the herd, they will likewise keep the group together during herding time.

Without a cutting horse a man on foot must remove singles from the herd.

Even the large ranches have only several of the horses for which owners have been known to ask as much as $30,000 sale price.

Many cutting horses are of the quarterhorse breed, but not necessarily so. Some of the champion cutters have been thoroughbreds which are traditionally racers, and some have a hodge-podge ancestry.

"The average quarterhorse is bred for speed and can leave the fastest race horse behind on a short run," according to Mitchell.

Motorist Aims to Stay on Good Side of Police

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The Tulsa Police Department received through the mail a dollar with what looked like a parking ticket.

Closer inspection showed that the motorist, eager to keep on the good side of the law, had mistaken a Junior Chamber of Commerce promotion card under the windshield wiper for a ticket. Police decided to turn the money over to the Jaycees.

FOR GAS-LESS DRIVERS — In Paris, French inventor Ruiz Lucarte demonstrates for a young boy the operation of his pedal-propelled Quadricycle. He designed it for motorists hit by Europe's gasoline shortage. The inventor claims exceptional maneuverability for his 35-pound, four-wheel cycle car which features 18 speeds. Lucarte introduced the Quadricycle at the Concours Lépine, Paris' Annual Inventors' Fair.

Offers Hope for 'Pool' Arrangement

Dulles Defends U. S. Ban on Newsmen to Red China

NEW YORK. (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles, defending the State Department ban on visits to Red China by American newsmen, says the administration's foreign policy would be impaired if Americans did not accept "certain restraints."

Dulles' comment was made public yesterday by Arthur Hays Sulzberger, publisher of the New York Times.

Sulzberger wrote Dulles April 23 expressing belief that "the administration is abridging the freedom of the press and using the press as an instrument in its diplomacy."

Dulles' letter of reply, dated April 30, said U. S. foreign policy "inevitably involves the acceptance of certain restraints by the American people. If it were not so, foreign policy would be ineffectual."

Sulzberger had written that he considered Dulles recently had taken "a good step forward" in suggesting that some formula could be found for a passport policy permitting responsible United States news gathering in Red China.

Wrote Dulles: "The new gathering fraternity, not the State Department, must distinguish between responsible newgatherers and adventurers more interested in visiting China than reporting what is going on there."

The secretary of state said "the constitutional freedom of the press" related to publication, and not to the gathering of news.

"There are, of course, many occasions and many areas where, for security or policy reasons, newspaper correspondents are excluded," he said.

"I have discussed this problem informally with a number of leaders in the newspaper field. One of them made the suggestion that the new gathering fraternity might agree to some 'pooling' arrangement as has sometimes been the case in the past."

"I felt that, if so, we might be able to accept that without the unacceptable consequences..."

Dulles has stressed that the number of correspondents in China should be limited and that those who are there should make their dispatches available to all newspapers.

Detroit Creamery Branch Plans to Lay Off 35

OVID. (AP)—C. E. Tremby, manager, said Wednesday the Ovid branch of the Detroit Creamery would lay off 35 to 40 workmen by May 11. He said the Ovid plant was being taken out of the manufacture of ice cream mix.

Robert Earegood, secretary of the Ovid local of the United Dairy Workers Union, said he understood negotiations were under way in Detroit for sale of the Ovid plant.

Pacific Commander Seeks Policy Accord

BRISBANE, Australia. (AP)—The U. S. commander in chief in the Pacific suggested today that Australia and New Zealand act as go-betweens to resolve British-American differences on Asian policy.

Adm. Felix Stump, en route to attend the annual Coral Sea Battle commemoration, told the Australian and American Assn.:

"The United Kingdom is the United States' greatest, closest ally but we do not always see things alike, especially in the Pacific."

"I think the problems of Asia are better understood in Australia and New Zealand and suggest you act as catalytic agents between the United States and the United Kingdom."

View Port Development

KALAMAZOO. (AP)—The prospects for developing the port of Detroit through the St. Lawrence Seaway will be discussed by Carl J. Stettin, port director, before the Michigan Engineering Society here May 4.

DETROIT. (AP)—The body of George E. Hamby, 68, of Detroit, was recovered Wednesday from the Detroit River. He had been missing since Feb. 3.

Irish Nightmare Ends Joyfully for Young Pair

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP)—Mrs. James P. Joyce's dream of a vacation tour through Ireland turned into a nightmare... a nightmare with a happy ending. Her original dream was coming true in a big way in March, a year ago, as she and her husband rode — sightseeing — through Ireland.

Then an auto crash. Mrs. Joyce was hospitalized with a shattered arm and leg.

A tall, pretty girl came to Mrs. Joyce from St. Vincent Hospital, Dublin, to care for her as she Mayer had left Hungary after the war with her parents, who were now in West Germany. She was helping them with her earnings.

Mrs. Joyce wrote her soldier-son Jimmy in Japan about the tall, pretty girl. She said she had agreed to come to America to care for her.

Jimmy's out of the Army now and in the insurance business like his dad.

And a tall, pretty nurse at Holyoke Hospital, named Elisabeth Mayer, has stopped worrying about visa renewals. She has something better—a diamond engagement ring from Jimmy.

West Germany recently allowed extra gum and candy to enter from the United States.

The cornea of a cat's eye has reason a cat is able to see further in a curved area two-thirds greater to the side than possible for an adult human.

Pontiac Press Home Editor

This is Child Health Week. Mothers everywhere are concerned with their children's health all through the year, we know. But we like to concentrate on the subject once a year.

There are five in the Byers family. In addition to the parents, Rosalind, (a kindergarten), Rebecca (ready for school in another year) and Rachel (just six months old) consume three meals a day. Everyone has snacks at one time or another too.

Mrs. Jackson G. Byers (Margaret) considers staying within her food budget of $100 a month a challenge. She buys cleaning supplies and pays a dollar each week for books out of this money.

There are five in the Byers family. In addition to the parents, Rosalind, (a kindergarten), Rebecca (ready for school in another year) and Rachel (just six months old) consume three meals a day. Everyone has snacks at one time or another too.

Margaret Byers has one advantage over many homemakers: she was a dietician before her marriage. All her training and experience now are directed to achieving these aims:

1. To serve well balanced and enjoyable meals
2. To practice thrift where practicable
3. To economize on time and energy

Let us stop here for a moment and say that college training in nutrition is not essential to giving your family good meals. Any woman who is really interested can read up on the subject in newspapers, magazines and the many free pamphlets available.

A basic knowledge of nutrition is not hard to obtain. We know many homemakers with poor educational backgrounds who do marvelous jobs in the nutrition field.

Mrs. Byers has several secrets on economy buying. First of all, she has some money set aside so that she can take advantage of bargains and buy in large quantities. Even if YOU cannot hold a $20 bill for this purpose, you might be able to squeeze out money for one special each week to build up your food stores.

Because she has a 30-foot freezer, Mrs. Byers buys and stores orange juice in four-case lots when the price is lowest. She buys ice cream on sale in half-gallon containers and stores as many as she has room for.

When chickens are on sale, she buys and freezes at least a dozen of them. At this time of year she freezes fresh pineapple when she gets a good buy. She buys day-old bread when possible and puts it in the freezer.

The Byers never buy less than a whole ham. It is planned for, down to the last tiny scraps. These are browned and added to spaghetti and tomatoes for a casserole that everyone likes (and they are not casserole enthusiasts).

After Christmas Mrs. Byers purchases enough nuts to last the entire year. These too go into the freezer. If frozen vegetables are better buys than the ones she can freeze herself, they are bought — on sale, of course.

Saving time is important to Mrs. Byers. She is willing to spend as many hours as necessary to insure good meals, but she uses short cuts wherever possible.

For instance, there are several half-gallons of chop suey stored in her freezer. It didn't take much longer to make up a huge batch than a small one. Now all she has to do is thaw and heat the mixture and she's ready for company. When she bakes, she bakes all day.

Since the family all likes pizza, they use a mix and enjoy it often. A garden salad, plus dessert makes a good meal. Dessert, incidentally, doesn't come at the end of dinner. It comes later in the evening when all can appreciate it more. Usually it is fruit, ice cream or pudding.

The two older girls love to help in the kitchen. They are perfectly capable, their mother says, of getting a good meal for themselves all alone. Becky adores orange juice and knows just how to fix it. She also prepares the salads for the family.

"Anything the girls help to prepare they will eat more of," Mrs. Byers says. Becky or Linda makes all the jelly they have.

What kind of meal appears on the Byers' table? Like many other American families, they like hamburger. Three or four pounds of ground beef are on the market list every week. They also like sirloin steak. And Mrs. Byers has a theory here that she advances:

"Whenever we have an expensive meat like steak, I always plan the rest of the meal from the freezer. In that way the cost is equalized."

Once a week the family dines on frozen turkey or chicken pie, the kind you buy out of the frozen food counter at the store. This saves time for Mrs. Byers. They eat some fish; Mama went fishing last summer and froze some of her catch.

When Mrs. Byers fixes shrimp she does a five-pound box at one time. Then she freezes the cooked and cleaned shrimp. Organ meats like liver and veal hearts are served when Daddy isn't home! Veal hearts are cut in thin strips, then fried crisp for finger eating.

Pork makes its appearance in a seven-rib cut. A pork shoulder lasts two meals. The Byers are not lamb eaters. Rolled rump roast is a favorite. Once a day red meat is planned.

The children must taste everything. Some meals have more foods in them that appeal to the adults others are planned to satisfy the youngsters. But Mrs. Byers believes that only by tasting a variety of food will the girls learn to like many things.

Breakfast consists of cereal with brown sugar and milk. There's always orange juice, plus another fruit. Toast or rolls and milk or hot cocoa are regular breakfast foods.

Lunch is apt to be sandwiches and soup, fruit and milk. Cottage cheese and eggs are other luncheon standbys. Mr. Byers carries his lunch.

At dinner there is meat and potatoes (baked and mashed are favorites), a variety of vegetables and always a salad. As mentioned before, dessert comes later. Once a week eggs are on the dinner menu so that the man of the house gets his share.

All milk served for drinking is half homogenized and half non-fat dry milk. This increases the calcium and mineral content of the milk and cuts the cost at the same time. Any additional fat needed comes from other sources. Dry milk is also used in cooking.

Margaret Byers is a modern homemaker, but she believes in some old fashioned ideas like canning. Her small fruit cellar under the stairs is reinforced for possible protection against attack or tornado.

In it she stores survival foods and a first aid chart. Also stored here are green beans canned with vinegar, home canned tomato juice and apple sauce, beets and some canned fruit.

In the summer Mrs. Byers spends fourteen to sixteen hours a week in her garden. From it she cans and freezes berries, fruits and vegetables.

Mrs. Byers has costs at the tip of her tongue. She knows that at six months Baby Rachel is costing $10-12 a month to feed. She also knows how her food dollar is divided:

25% for milk
34% for cheese, eggs, butter and margarine
28% for meat
10% for fruit
10% for vegetables and potatoes
28% for miscellaneous (includes ice cream)

Mrs. Byers never shops without a marketing list. Whenever she opens the last jar of mayonnaise, catsup or peanut butter, that item is replaced immediately. She plans menus in advance. "You must plan menus if you're going to save money," says this efficient homemaker.

With the fresh rhubarb season almost upon us here is a recipe from Mrs. Byers that you will like. She got it from her mother-in-law who got it from some one else, who . . .

RHUBARB SALAD
4½ cups sugar
1½ cups water
1½ cups rhubarb
2 packages cherry gelatin

Cook first three ingredients five or ten minutes, or until rhubarb is tender. Add gelatin and stir well. Pour into a mold and chill. Mrs. Byers says that cherry gelatin is the only flavor to use.

TIME FOR A SNACK — Mrs. Jackson Byers of Windgate drive oversees snack time for her three young daughters. Becky on the left is four, baby Rachel is six months and Rosalind (Linda) is five and a half. Great milk drinkers, these children show the radiant good health all mothers wish for their children. Incidentally, the cloth on the table is an heirloom red damask one.

MINIATURE GROCERY — Mrs. Byers displays some of the food stored in her twenty-foot freezer. She keeps and uses celery and carrot bags and milk cartons for freezer storage.

age. Food is packaged in the size container most useful for the family. Without this freezer, Mrs. Byers' job of meal planning and preparation would be more lengthy.

Stock Up on Fruits and Vegetables

Health and happiness. What two ingredients are more important to your family? The combination of foods you put into the market basket measures your success in finding these ingredients for your family.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Which will you have? Canned, frozen or fresh? This is just one decision you will need to make when adding fruits and vegetables to the market list. Perhaps your family's preference will enter into your decision, but so should the market situation and the money in your food budget, says Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Michigan State University Marketing Information Agent.

A third more frozen strawberries available than last year at this time explains why you find them so reasonably priced. Other frozen foods in larger supply than a year ago include peas, peas and carrots, french fried potatoes, asparagus, cauliflower, mixed vegetables, Brussels sprouts and broccoli, and orange juice concentrate.

Stocks of canned corn and tomato juice are much larger than a year earlier, and peas and tomatoes moderately larger. In the canned fruit section look for savings in peaches in the two cup No. 303 can or the 3½ cup No. 2½ can size.

The "cuthin is going up" on the homegrown produce season, with a few asparagus spears popping through the brown earth. Supplies will not be plentiful for at least one or two more weeks depending upon how warm the weather is. In the meantime, California asparagus is available for a moderate price.

Corn on the cob is slightly less than last week. When choosing, select those ears with bright shiny medium-sized kernels. Iced corn stays fresh longer than corn displayed without ice.

Don't let the green on grapefruit fool you. The fruit is fully mature, but sometimes at the end of the season it turns from its usual color back to green. This does not affect the flavor or juice inside.

NEATS

Broiler supplies continue high with about 5 to 10 per cent more expected to come to market in May than during the same month last year. A trip to most markets will convince you that broiler-fryers are now one of the thrifty meat choices. Economy conscious homemakers may wish to collect several new recipes for using ground beef. Weeks ahead will see prices on both beef and pork edge upward, so ground beef dishes will be more popular. A pound of ground beef will serve four people at less cost than most other meats.

Ham—whole, halves, and portions, is being offered at Easter-time prices. Usually the whole ham is the better value if the family can use it, for it yields at least three servings per pound while halves and portions give about 2½.

Strawberry Cake
1 12-oz. pound cake
1 12-oz. pkgt. frozen sliced strawberries
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup whipping cream

Defrost berries according to directions on the package. Drain, reserving syrup. Cover berries and place in refrigerator.

Soften gelatin in lemon juice. Heat syrup of strawberries (about 1 cup) to full boil. Remove from heat and stir softened gelatin into it until dissolved. Add cold strawberries and chill until slightly thickened.

Whip cream until stiff. Fold into cold gelatin mixture. Cut cake into three layers. Spread strawberry mixture between layers and on top and sides of cake. Chill thoroughly before slicing to serve. Serves 6 to 8.

Wrap Vegetables in Foil to Bake

DALLAS, Tex. (INS) — You can cook vegetables without water and very tastily, too, by wrapping them in heavy, extra-width aluminum foil.

Just place the frozen block of vegetables on the foil, add butter and seasoning and wrap tightly. Place on a cookie sheet in a moderate oven for about 25 minutes. When green beans are cooked this way, they are delicious served with toasted slivered almonds.

Rhubarb-Filled Yeast Cake Good for Spring Brunch

Create a real occasion some spring morning soon by serving perky Rhubarb Lattice Coffee Cake for breakfast or brunch.

This yeast coffee cake takes just a cup and a half of cut-up rhubarb. But that amount goes a long way to make an especially flavorful filling. Shape the coffee cake by patting part of the once-risen dough into a round baking pan. Brush on melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with cinnamon sugar.

Choose shirred eggs, bacon and coffee to accompany this attractive coffee cake. Begin the repast with a chilled fruit cup.

Rhubarb Lattice Coffee Cake
1 package yeast, compressed or dry
1 cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
2 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
1 egg
Melted butter or margarine
Cinnamon sugar

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add flour to make a thick batter. Mix well. Add softened yeast and egg. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise until doubled (about 1 1/2 hours). When light, punch down. Let rest 10 minutes.

Pat 1/2 of dough in bottom of well greased 9-inch round baking pan. Brush with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with cinnamon sugar. Spread Rhubarb Filling evenly over all.

Roll out remaining dough 1/4 inch thick, and cut into strips 1-inch wide. Arrange strips of dough over Rhubarb Filling to make lattice. Let rise until doubled (about 45 minutes). Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 35 minutes.

Rhubarb Filling
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon enriched flour
1 1/2 cups rhubarb, cut into 1-inch pieces
2 tablespoons water

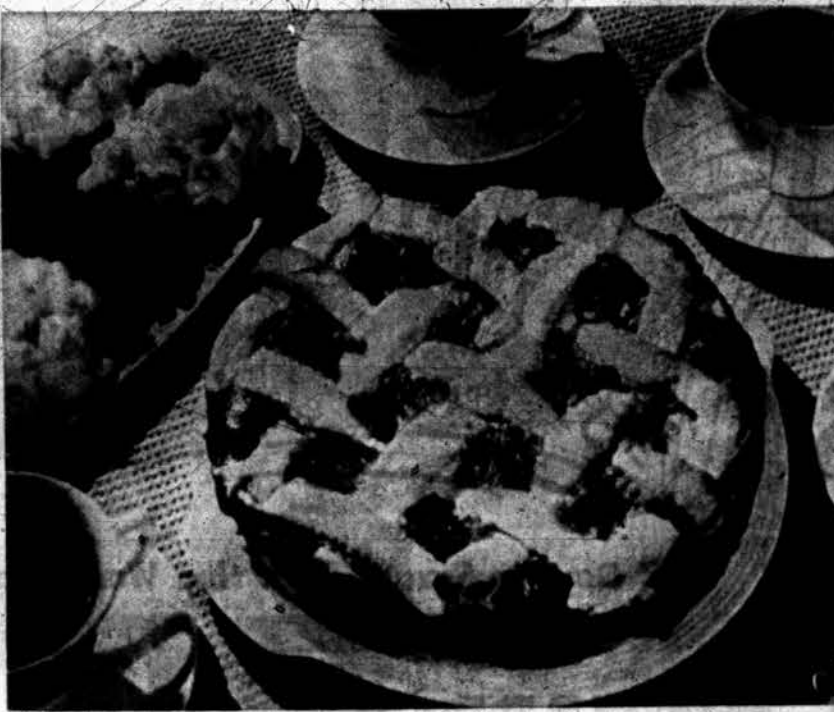

Combine sugar and flour in saucepan. Add rhubarb and water and cook until rhubarb is tender (about 10 minutes). Makes 1 coffee cake.

Good for You, Downright Delish and Easy to Fix

Put a tangy barbecue flavor in liver and you'll have a dinner treat your whole family will enjoy. They'll probably want their liver served this different way all the time.

Barbecued Liver
1 pound sliced beef liver
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons bacon drippings
Barbecue sauce
Season liver with salt and dip in flour. (Save remaining flour to thicken barbecue sauce.) Fry liver in bacon drippings until browned. Pour barbecue sauce over browned liver. Simmer 20 minutes. Serve hot. Yield: Four servings.

Barbecue Sauce
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 small onion, sliced
1 cup cooked tomatoes
2 tablespoons catsup
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons vinegar
Mix flour with brown sugar. Add sliced onion. Combine other ingredients and add to onion and flour mixture. Simmer 15 minutes.

RHUBARB LATTICE COFFEE CAKE — For something different in the breakfast bread line, try Lattice Coffee Cake. Tart spring rhubarb gives a special flavor and appearance to this fruit-topped sweet bread.

Lamb Cookery Has Definite Rules

By International News Service

Lamb should be served hot or cold, but never lukewarm.

According to home economists at Michigan State University, there are three important rules in cooking lamb: first, choose the correct cooking method for the cut; second, use low cooking temperatures, and third, avoid overcooking.

The home economists advised women to keep the thin, paper-like covering that is usually left on lamb roast because it helps to keep the shape of the cut and also shortens cooking time.

When roasting lamb, allow 10 to 15 minutes longer per pound for boned cuts than for those with the bones in.

Tomato Juice and Pasta Make Broth Different

Chicken broth takes a new look and flavor when combined with bright red tomato juice. Macaroni and parsley add body.

Combine 1 can (14 ounces) chicken broth with 1/2 cup tomato juice. Bring to a boil. Stir in 1/4 cup elbow macaroni and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Cook until macaroni is done—about 10 minutes. Makes 3 servings.

Baked Pudding Is Capped With Meringue

Like a firm rice pudding that is meringue-topped? Here is your recipe!

Meringue Rice Pudding
1/2 cup regular rice
3 1/2 cups milk
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 eggs (separated)
1/4 cup sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
1-3 cup moist shredded coconut

Put rice, milk and butter in greased 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Bake uncovered in slow (325 degrees) oven for 1 hour; stir occasionally. Then stir in the one-third cup sugar and salt. Return to oven until milk is almost absorbed—about 40 minutes—stirring occasionally. The rice should be creamy and not dry.

Remove pudding from oven; turn oven to hot (425 degrees). Beat egg whites until foamy. Beat in 1/4 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition; beat in 1/2 teaspoon of the vanilla; fold in coconut; reserve.

Without washing beater, beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored with remaining 1 teaspoon of vanilla. Stir some of hot pudding into beaten egg yolks. Stir back into pudding in baking dish and mix well.

Spread coconut meringue around edges of pudding. Return to oven just until browned—5 minutes or so. Serve pudding warm. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Mince Parsley for Soup

Next time you are serving homemade chicken broth, accompany it with a little dish of minced parsley. A tablespoon of the fresh green sprinkled over the broth adds delicious flavor.

SPANISH CASSEROLE — A chicken casserole goes Spanish. This delicious dish prepared after the Spanish school of cookery features a package of onion soup mix for a deliciously different flavor.

Tip From Spanish Cooking Makes Chicken Exciting

Onion Flakes Baked in Rolls

Onion Dinner Rolls make a memorable addition to any meal, regardless of the time of year. Green onion flakes right in the yeast dough give it flavor aplenty. Though they're primarily an accompaniment, these onion rolls can also be used as buns for small hamburgers — fun for parties.

Onion Dinner Rolls
2 packages yeast (compressed or dry)
1 cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 cup butter, or margarine
4 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
2 tablespoons green onion flakes
2 eggs
1 egg white
1 tablespoon water
Green onion flakes

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk and add sugar, salt and butter or margarine. Cool to lukewarm. Add 2 cups flour. Beat well. Add softened yeast, onion flakes and eggs. Mix well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in lightly greased bowl, cover and let rise until doubled (about 1 1/2 hours). Punch down.

Divide dough in half and let rest 10 minutes. Roll out each half of dough about 1/2 inch thick. Cut with floured 2-inch cutter. Form each round into a ball and place on well greased baking sheet. Mix egg white with water.

Brush tops of rolls with egg white mixture and sprinkle lightly with additional onion flakes. Let rise until doubled (about 45 minutes). Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees) about 15 minutes.

Economical Pink Canned Salmon OK for Loaf

Lemon juice points up the flavor of this airy salmon loaf.

Light Salmon Loaf

1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup fresh bread crumbs
1 can (1 pound) pink salmon
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Parsley sprigs

Beat egg in medium-sized mixing bowl, enough to combine yolk and white; add milk and beat enough to combine. Stir in bread crumbs.

Empty salmon, including liquid in can, over mixture; remove salmon skin and any large bones. Add onion, lemon juice, salt and pepper. Mix thoroughly with a fork.

Butter bottom and sides of a loaf pan (about 8 by 4 by 2 1/2 inches); turn salmon mixture into pan; pack down and level top. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until liquids are absorbed and loaf looks set—about 1 hour.

Loosen loaf from sides of pan with knife; turn out on serving platter. Sprinkle lightly with parsley and insert parsley sprigs in top. Makes 4 servings.

Cheesy Loaf Baked in Foil

Cheese sandwiches and fruit salad make a good luncheon or supper combination. Here's a new version of a toasted cheese sandwich.

Cut sliced bread from corner to opposite corner to make triangles. Crusts may be left on or removed. Cut sliced cheese food in same fashion.

Spread bread with butter or margarine blended with horseradish mustard. Insert a triangle of cheese between each triangle of bread, beginning and finishing with bread. Hold in a compact form by making a tray of aluminum foil.

Just before mealtime, bake this cheese and bread loaf in a 425-degree oven about 15 minutes. Serve hot.

Polka Dot Hot Cereal With Bits of Dried Fruit

One way to get the day off with a good start is to combine cooked cereal with dried fruit, says the Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawren.

TOASTED SANDWICH SPECIAL. — Instead of making individual cheese sandwiches for a crowd, try making them all at one time. Fold aluminum foil to make a little tray, prepare the sandwiches ahead of time and bake when needed.

Forger Confesses, Setting Man Free

PURCELL, Okla. (AP)—The stepfather of five children is out of jail today for the first time since February.

Hammer Lewis Summers, 31, who told officers he pleaded guilty to two forgery charges because he was told he could draw a 20-year penitentiary term if he fought them, was exonerated yesterday in District Court.

Dale Jackson, 25, former convict from Chickasha, Okla., cleared Summers' name when he confessed to forging two checks in Purcell while admitting other forgeries.

Summers, a farmer, who was sentenced to two concurrent four-year terms.

He said, "I was nearly paralyzed with fear. I thought rather than go to prison for a long time I would trade off and take four years. I never forged a check in my life."

Points Fire Hydrant to Fit Color Scheme

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Lucille Wilson painted the fenceposts in her yard white. Then she noticed that a fire hydrant with a "sickening looking yellow" top clashed with her fenceposts.

She called the fire department and was told the top of the hydrant had to be yellow because of a code the department used to classify hydrants.

The fireman said a man would be out to paint it yellow again.

Millions of Kims in S. Korea Can't Marry Any Other Kim

SEOUL (INS)—There are 7,000,000 people named Kim in South Korea, as any American soldier can tell you, but it's not generally known that custom forbids many of the seven million from marrying each other.

In fact, the Korean legislature is debating whether to turn custom into law.

The law would require potential mates to keep one eye peeled on each other's family trees before becoming serious and contemplating marriage. It would work like this:

If you were a Kim and you fell in love with another Kim you couldn't wed if both of you unluckily came from the same blood line. There are 420 such sects making up the Kim population.

Fortunately for romantically-minded South Korean youths the custom has little weight today. But back when Kim Young Shik, ROK minister to Tokyo, was going to college it was quite a hurdle to romance.

"When I went out on a date with a girl by the name of Kim I always gave a second thought to going out with her again."

Because if she was of the same stock as I was our love affair would be bound for a tragic ending.

On many occasions I had to pass up pretty girls because they were Kims."

The proposed law, for which there is little popular support except among conservative parents and Confucian scholars, would also apply to Lees — of which there are 330 family groups — and all other Korean name groups.

The Korean custom against intermarriages of people from the same family tree dates back to the Lee dynasty, about 500 years ago.

Confucian teaching said that "every part of our body, even a bit of hair and skin, was bequeathed upon us from our parents. To preserve it intact is the beginning of our filial piety."

But despite the legal ballyhoo, it is doubtful that a modern Lee, Kim or Pak making eyes at another Lee, Kim or Pak is going to worry about family trees.

Stations Will Make Radioactivity Check

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service plans to establish about 10 new stations throughout the United States this spring for measurement of radioactivity in the air near the ground.

The stations will be operated by personnel of the state and local health departments. The sites of the new stations will be made public within two weeks, a spokesman said.

Plans to establish the new stations and to re-establish a network of 30 which operated last summer were announced yesterday by H. J. Llet, Weather Bureau official, in a talk before the American Meteorological Society and the American Geophysical Union.

The Weather Bureau and the Public Health Service have been working together closely on the radio-activity measurement program.

The stations incorporate an air sampler which filters the air and measures the amount of radioactive material found.

The monitoring stations in operation last year and being continued or re-established this spring include one at Lansing, Mich.

Iran is believed to hold one-third of the world's petroleum reserves as well as vast undeveloped mineral wealth.

East Berlin Denies Death of President

BERLIN (AP)—Communist East Germany denied today widely circulated rumors that ailing 81-year-old President Wilhelm Pieck is dead.

ADN, the official East Germany news agency, reported Pieck, who recently suffered his third stroke, received Premier Otto Grotewohl and party chief Walter Ulbricht yesterday. The agency said Pieck received May Day greetings of his two visitors and accompanied them to the door on their departure.

Death rumors which circulated in East Berlin yesterday appar-

Naval Secretary Fights Single Military Service

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of Navy Gates says he is opposed to a single combined military service for the nation.

At a dinner of the Pennsylvania Club last night, Gates termed the single-service plan "probably the most utter nonsense that has ever been foisted upon the American public."

With such an operation, he added, "perhaps the United States would be led into devising a single strategy, and we need alternate strategies."

The club awarded Gates its Benjamin Franklin Trophy for "outstanding service."

Busy Wife Learns Art of Relaxing

Mrs. Jose Mora Must Give Parties for Big Crowds

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—Mrs. Jose Mora, chic, brunette wife of the secretary general of the Organization of American States, has mastered an art many a Washington hostess might well envy.

"I can relax at a moment's contemplation—go to sleep—even in a dentist's chair," she told me, while discussing her pressing obligations and responsibilities as top hostess among the diplomatic representatives of the 21 republics of the Western Hemisphere to the OAS.

Life was more personally paced during the years her husband served as Uruguay's ambassador to the OAS, from 1946 until a year ago, when they moved into the secretary general's residence across the beautiful Astor garden in back of the Pan American Union.

There was time to browse for additions to her collections of rare French and Spanish vases and antique and modern fans.

More satisfying than this was the opportunity to continue her nurse training in local hospitals, an outgrowth of her nurse's aid work in the nursing school set up by her uncle in Montevideo to which he brought the first trained nurses from England.

MUST ENTERTAIN

As a hostess today she must entertain representatives of all the 21 republics, NOT just officials and friends in which her own country is interested.

Small dinner parties are out of the question, since covering the list of Latin American diplomats in a season would call for one or two affairs each week.

The Moras therefore are solving the problem successfully by hosting two or three large, lavish shindigs when the weather will permit use of the garden as well as the smaller, than-embassy size residence.

"I wish it were possible to have the smaller parties," she said, "I feel sometimes that nothing can make you so sad and so lonely as big crowds. It is much better to be able to give something, to feel something for the people you invite, as individuals."

Mrs. Mora says she and the OAS staff are dedicated to the same ideals as expressed by her distinguished husband when he received the award for international democracy and freedom in 1953: "We want the Americas to be always a beacon of light for the emancipation and social advances of mankind."

"As secretary general of the OAS I wish to make every American citizen aware that the inter-American system is a faithful illustration of political, economic and social coexistence."

Sorority Holds Recruitment Tea for Teachers

Alpha Beta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma sorority honored future teachers of the community at its annual recruitment tea held at the McVittie School recently.

Mrs. Irene Albright, president, welcomed the 75 guests. A panel of future teachers from Michigan State University discussed factors to be considered before entering the teaching profession. Dr. Ted Ward, director of the Pontiac Center of the practice teaching program, served as moderator.

Panel members were Peg Emmerling, Marilyn Lee, Marilyn Taylor, Boyd Halstead and Glenn Moeller.

Harold Blackwood Heads Day Nursery

Harold Blackwood was elected president of Pontiac Area Day Nursery at a recent meeting. Others elected were James Hartwick, vice president; Mrs. Neil Wasserberger, secretary; and Clara Nussbaumer, treasurer.

Serving on the board for a two-year term are William Dean, Mr. Blackwood, Mrs. Chadd Mellinger, Mrs. Russell W. Evans, Miss Nussbaumer, Mr. Hartrick and Dr. Campbell Harvey.

Zeta Zeta Omega Holds Initiation Tea

Mrs. William Pearsall, Mrs. Clinton Barrett, Mrs. Robert Pearson, Mrs. Charles Carter and Mrs. James Jeffery were honored at an initiation tea held Sunday by members of Zeta Zeta Omega sorority.

Mrs. Kenneth Rathbun opened her home on Briggs street for the affair. Mrs. Edward Konser, president, welcomed the new members and presented each with a corsage.

Wood Handles Back

Wood trims are returning to kitchen tools. Although colored handles remained tops in popularity at the 1957 National Housewares Show in Chicago, a few manufacturers reintroduced natural wood on such items as egg beaters.

Helping to insure success of the dance are Mrs. Joseph D. Smith (left) of Royal Oak and Mrs. James Ebaugh, also of Royal Oak.

Church Honors Charles Wilson

Charles Wilson was honored at a dinner party Wednesday evening when 250 members of First Congregational Church observed the 20 years he has served as minister of music in the church.

Baritone solos were sung by Max Sutton, Robert Gaff, master of ceremonies, presented Mr. Wilson with a gift in appreciation of his services.

Guests attending were Mrs. Rebecca Gould, Mr. and Mrs. James Rosenthal and Jay Jacobsen.

St. Joseph Alumnae Plan Scholarship Ball May 10

Here's Way to Preserve Lip Makeup

Many women complain that the "permanent" type lipsticks dry out their skin and give their lips a coated feeling.

If you're a devotee of the regular lipstick, there is a way to apply it that will make it stay on for four hours or more without smearing.

Put your lipstick on in the usual way, and about 20 minutes later blot it thoroughly with cleaning tissue. That's all there is to it.

You'll want to change it at the end of four or five hours in any case. Meanwhile, it will not come off on napkins, cigarettes or coffee cups.

Lipstick smeared on linen or china are not only unsightly, they're an immediate proclamation to everyone of careless personal habits.

New View-Top Plastic Cartons for Freezer Use

Those see-through plastic refrigerator or freezer containers used to come with opaque plastic tops. Well, now they come with crystal-clear tops, so you can see what you're freezing or storing.

It's no longer necessary to label the contents. Just lift the container out of the freezer and see what's inside!

Another feature of plastic containers is that they can be kept sanitary with hot soap or detergent suds and rinses.

Garden Club Adds Trees to City Land

With the new planting last week, some 700 flowering crabapple trees have been set out on city property since 1954 under the supervision of Donald Nagel, Pontiac forestry supervisor.

The trees have been given to the city by the Pontiac Branch of Women's National Farm and Garden Association with money raised by annual spring benefit bridge parties.

Beaudette Park, Jaycee Park, Murphy Park, city hall grounds and Woodward avenue were planted with 55 6-foot trees and 25 smaller ones this year.

Past plantings have been made on Woodward avenue and at the Wisner Home, the Oakland County Society For Crippled Children on West Lawrence Street, and Murphy Park, on Mount Clemens street, Glenwood avenue, Baldwin avenue, Orchard Lake avenue, in Indian Village Park and in the parkway at Orchard Lake Ave. and Ottawa Dr.

When Mr. Nagel showed some of the new plantings in Beaudette Park to Mrs. Harry Pearce, chairman of the 1957 benefit party, and other representatives from the garden club, the trees were already displaying new green leaves and blossoms.

More than 500 other trees given as prizes and sold to garden club members and guests have been planted on private grounds in the area as a further result of the annual parties.

Mrs. Walter Willman has served as chairman of the club's civic beautification committee since the beginning of the crab tree project.

Monday Is Deadline for Registration

Girl Scouts Sign Up for Day Camp

Brownies, Intermediates and Senior Girl Scouts in the city of Pontiac are signing up this week for day camping this summer. The Girl Scout Day Camp for Pontiac District will be held Aug. 6, 7, 8, 13, 14 and 15 at Murphy Park, but girls and counselors must register before Monday in order that final plans can be made.

Training for the counselors, who are usually troop committee members, leaders or mothers of the Scouts, will begin Tuesday at the Naval Reserve Training Center on East boulevard, which is adjacent to Murphy Park.

This training will be given by the day camp director, Mrs. John McNeely, and her assistant, Mrs. Clifford Neville. It will include skills that the counselors will use at the camp, such as firebuilding, simple outdoor cooking and natural crafts available at the site.

The other dates of training are May 14, 21 and 28. The hours during which training will be given are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., and the women are reminded to bring a nosebag or sack lunch to all four of the sessions.

For every eight girls who register for the camp, one adult must also register as a counselor and take the training, unless she has taken it previously.

Registration blanks are available through neighborhood chairmen and at the Girl Scout office, 310 National Building.

Lincoln Students Present 'Spring Serenade' Today

"Spring Serenade," a musical extravaganza featuring over 300 students of Lincoln Junior High School, was presented this morning at the school, with another concert to be presented at 7:30 this evening for parents and friends.

Featured on the program is the Ninth Grade Chorus, which presents a group of religious selections and a scene from "Oklahoma," with solo parts sung by Tom Eley, Sharon Nichols and Maryann Waring.

Also on the program are the Choralines, a girls' singing group, and the Boys' Glee Club, directed by Julius Middelorf. The Seventh Grade Chorus, composed of 100 voices, is making its first appearance.

Soloists for the ensemble groups are Sandy Ferguson, Patsy Vaneccar, Catherine Welsh, Nancy Bain and Claudia Williams, who provides accompaniment for some of the selections.

"One World" is the anthem sung by the massed chorus for the finale. The program concludes the festival unit in music education.

Beauty Hint

If you want to look pretty for your dinner guests, try to squeeze in a nap before they arrive. Even 10 or 15 minutes helps. You'll be surprised at what this brief rest does to restore your vitality.

Couple Travels to the Smokies Following Rite

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Strickland of Clarkston announce the marriage of their daughter, Barbara Wald, to George F. Dill. He is the son of Mrs. George Frank Dill of Royal Oak and the late Mr. Dill.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Richard C. Stuckmeyer at Christ Lutheran Church Saturday at 3:30 p.m. in the presence of members of the immediate family and close friends.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. George Dill, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom. A family dinner was held at Rotunda Inn following the ceremony.

The newlyweds will reside in Royal Oak following a wedding trip to the Smoky Mountains.

Home Discussed by Group Three of Child Study

"How We Make Our Home a Home" was the program topic at the Tuesday meeting of Child Study Club Group Three. Mrs. H. T. Baker was hostess in her home on Navajo drive for the afternoon meeting.

Dividing into four groups, members discussed "Working Together," "Playing Together," "Getting Along Together" and "Praying Together." Mrs. E. W. McGovern served as program chairman.

Mrs. Harry McGrath and Mrs. John M. Ritchey were guests. Hostesses were Mrs. Robert Reynolds, Mrs. Harold MacDonald and Mrs. William Wright.

These women, who are members of the Pontiac Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, have helped to raise money for the beautifying of Pontiac. They have planted several trees in various spots about the city. Photographed (left to right) are Mrs. Jack Patterson of Illinois avenue, Mrs. Milo J. Cross of North Hammond Lake, Mrs. John P. Livingstone of Berkshire road, Mrs. Harry S. Pearce of Garland avenue, chairman of this year's benefit party, and Mrs. Jack Habel of Miami road. With them is Don Nagel, forestry supervisor for the Pontiac Department of Parks and Recreation.

President Eisenhower smiles as he accepts a bound volume at the White House today while posing in the rose garden with members of the National Council of the League of Women Voters. Making the presentation is Mrs. John C. Lee of Farmington, Conn., president of the league. The volume contains a document, signed by members of the national council, outlining the league's concern regarding conditions in the international field.

'You've Got to Show Them Who's Boss, or They'll Show You'

Teeners Would Be Tough With Juvenile Delinquents

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Should the names of young law-breakers be published in newspapers?

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has urged this as a means of curbing juvenile delinquency. But what do teenagers themselves think?

This is one issue on which they are split almost down the middle.

While they agree generally on a "get tough" policy for handling young criminals, a large number feel that notoriety merely gives them a feeling of importance.

"They get their charge from the publicity," argues Rory, a Long Beach, Calif., teen.

"One good way to cut down on juvenile crime would be to let the press ignore all teenage hoods. Let the judge take care of them."

AND MANY AGREE

Forty-eight per cent of the young people we talked to go along with him for one reason or another. Only 41 per cent favor publication of the names. About 11 per cent didn't answer the question.

Those in favor of publication think that coddling in this as well as other respects leads to further transgressions, and that some youngsters may be taught a lesson if their families are sufficiently humiliated.

If you are going to print names, at what age should it start? About half of the teeners thought it should start before the age of 17.

The age of 18 was a popular one for a starting point, but nearly a fourth of the group thought that publication should not start until age 21.

The division on the printing of names was closer than on any similar study we have made. Close divisions are rare in studies of this kind.

SOLIDLY TOGETHER

On the treatment of delinquents, however, the youngsters are not divided.

Ninety per cent of more than 5,000 youngsters interviewed in another survey believe penalties imposed these days aren't severe enough.

"You've just got to show them who's boss, or they'll show you," a teen from Camden, Ark., says.

"Give the goofs a taste of their own medicine. Scare the guts out of them, and you'll soon see the difference," advises a Chicago lad.

Most young people — from 80 to 87 per cent of those interviewed — would mete out indeterminate jail sentences for offenses like smoking marijuana, using narcotics, street fighting, driving a stolen car, vandalism.

TAKE ADVANTAGE

Adults are afraid to punish delinquents because of their youth, youngsters say, and lawbreakers take advantage of their reluctance.

"They don't dare do anything to us," one interviewer reports hearing. "We're as free as birds to do anything we want until we're at least 18."

"They can't stop us because, after all, aren't we the same age as their own kids — the little brats?"

Most of the teens defined juvenile delinquent as a young person who is first and foremost a law-breaker.

Many go on to suggest he is a neurotic, maladjusted youngster who feels out of step with the world.

BURDEN ON PARENTS

Most youngsters rest the burden on the parents. The home environment accounts for nearly nine-tenths of all delinquency, they say.

A child stands a good chance of becoming a criminal, insist high school boys and girls, if he doesn't find love and understanding in his home.

It doesn't matter if the family is rich or poor — it's the parental interest that counts. They reason this way:

Everyone has to feel important somewhere. If parents don't care, the child will likely as not fall into bad company to find acceptance among others who aren't wanted.

He'll get satisfaction, too, in being important to the police.

But most teens are optimistic. A young delinquent can be turned into a useful citizen, they insist. If his parents will take hold with love and understanding.

PRETTY INDIGNANT

Of course, the young people interviewed don't think of themselves as delinquents. Eighty-four per cent say none of their friends is, either.

In fact, they're pretty indignant about what delinquents — which they consider a small minority — are doing to their reputations.

"It reflects on us, all this publicity. People begin thinking that every teenager is a 'bad kid.' They expect us to go around breaking into stores and smashing windows. And we don't like it one bit."

'Go to Rome, See the Shows'

Hedy Considers Suicide Foolish Answer to Woes

By LEE BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Luscious, lipped Hedy Lamarr, who has had her share of troubles, says emotionally tortured movie beauties who try to take their own lives are "bloody fools."

"Life is a wonderful game," Hedy observed as she sunned herself in a candy-striped bathing suit by a hotel swimming pool.

"There's no need for anyone to shove themselves into eternity," she said. "All they have to do is go to Rome, see the shows in New York or just enjoy their own backyard!"

The movie siren, whose tousled hair and honest freckles made her look more like the woman next door than a sultry motion picture queen, added that her life hasn't been a bed of orchids.

"I've had my difficult times," she insisted, "and it hasn't been easy. I've made sacrifices that most people know nothing about. But I wouldn't trade all the troubles in the world for the grave and what it has to offer."

STARRING ROLE

Hedy will appear in her first starring role in five years when she takes over the femme lead in U-I's "Hideaway House."

In it, she'll play (as Hedy puts it) "an old mess of a movie queen who becomes disgusted with life."

Although the Vienna-born beauty has been out of Hollywood circulation in recent years, she has been busy raising her two children, Tony, 11, and Denise, 12.

And when she got bored with Houston, Tex., where she lives with her oil tycoon husband, W. Howard Lee, she took off for Rome where she produced and starred in an unreleased film called "Love of Three Queens," a pictorial run-down on Cleopatra, Josephine and Helen of Troy.

Recently she copped a featured role in another unreleased film, "The Story of Mankind," in which she plays Joan of Arc.

SHE'S SORRY

As for "Ecstasy," the nude swimming picture that catapulted her to stardom, she said:

"I haven't seen that in several hundred years."

She admitted she is "sorry" she ever made it.

"It made my husband unhappy at the time," she declared, "and now I am afraid it may make my children unhappy. I hope they never show it again."

Like everybody else in Hollywood, Hedy is writing her life story, including a chapter on "Ecstasy."

"Like I said," she repeated, "I've had my troubles. But they've never made me want to take an overdose of sleeping pills, slash my wrists or shoot myself!"

Lotions, Creams Must Be Applied Slowly at Night

When you apply cream or lotion at night before retiring, don't just dab it on hastily. Start at the base of the throat and work upward and outward with firm, light strokes. But be careful of the area around the eyes. The skin here is both thin and sensitive and must not have rough treatment.

Use a fingertip for this and use it very gently. In the morning, when you go over your skin with a cleansing lotion, use the same method and motions that you employ in applying the cream.

Be sure to get up into the hairline to remove the accumulation of stale make-up, cream and dust that always collects just at the hairline.

Bride-to-Be Announces Attendants

Vivian Sheffield announced her bridal attendants at a shower Tuesday evening. Her sister, Mrs. C. B. Kincaid, will serve as matron of honor. Beverly Gavette, Diane Williams and Beth North will be bridesmaids.

Miss Williams and Miss Gavette were cohostesses for the personal shower held in the Sheffield residence on Judson street.

Vivian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Sheffield of Judson street, will exchange vows with Keith Bearden on Saturday in First Baptist Church. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Bearden of Peacock street.

Keith has asked his brother, Newton Bearden Jr., to serve as best man. Seating the guests will be Don Hirsch, Fred Standridge and Joe Seddon.

White Seersucker Bedspreads Popular

White seersucker is the favored fabric for summer bedspreads this year, particularly those that are ruffled on three sides for a dainty and airy look.

Ironing is not necessary, but laundering should always include the full washing cycle and the use of a good detergent plus safe-action bleach bands.

Your photo album can be a combined showpiece for interesting friends and storage spot for negatives. Keep the appropriate negative stored behind its print so that it will always be readily available, will stay flat and will not be exposed to fading light.

New Citizens Are Honored at Pontiac High

New citizens were honored on Monday evening at Pontiac High School. During the evening Mrs. William Todd, Americanism chairman of the DAR, spoke briefly and presented the honorees with copies of the U.S. Bill of Rights.

Mrs. Joseph Phillips, president of the American Legion Auxiliary 18th District, presented flags to the honor guests, and Jose Vega spoke on the flag.

Honored were Helen Phillips, Peter Vitmaras, Mary Graham, Kirsten Moss, Ruth LeVigne, Mary Maria, Julia Bernero, Nick Kvanov, Maria Kvanov, Gregori Ivanov, Margaret Haroko and Olga Tarrasov.

Others honored were Leokadia Malek, Anton Malek, George Malek, Ernel Hayes, Dolores Guzman, Gladys Harmer, Joachim Struve and Margot Struve.

The affair was hosted by members of Janice Antona's citizenship class.

Birmingham to Send 2 to Parley

New Shoes Should Not Hurt Feet

Breaking In Tight Slippers Is Strictly Old-Fashioned Idea

The notion that a woman need break in a new pair of shoes is an old-fashioned one. New shoes that pinch are hard on your nerves and your good looks.

The solution lies in buying shoes that are properly fitted and that feel comfortable from the very first wearing.

To do this, ask to have your foot measured each time you buy a new pair of shoes. Don't let the salesman take your size from your last pair of shoes.

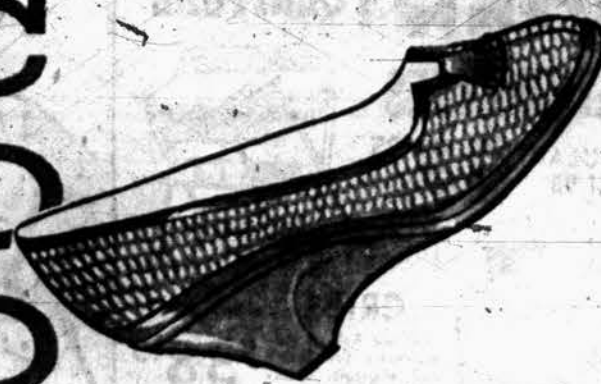

Remember, too, that lasts differ with different shoe manufacturers and that the style of the shoe itself makes a difference in the way it fits.

You'll probably take a smaller size in an open shoe than you do in a closed pump.

Be sure that you are not tired from standing when you shop for shoes. If you are, your feet may be slightly swollen and this, too, will make a difference in your shoe size.

New Spray Cools Off Tired Feet

There's No Need to Remove Hosiery Before Applying

How many times have you asked yourself, "What, oh what, can I do for my tired, aching feet?"

This is a question that, often must be uppermost in the minds of almost every woman — career girl, housewife, and even the lady of leisure.

But now, a famous makeup authority comes to the rescue with a brand new preparation that offers instant, cooling relief for those tired, aching feet. And, best of all, it sprays on right through your hosiery.

In just seconds, your over-heated, ever-tired feet can be 20 degrees cooler. You don't even have to take off your stockings.

Just spray through your nylons and instantly its amazing soothing action makes all traces of burning and aching disappear. What's more, it gives feet a wonderful pampered feeling that lasts for hours.

It is a real boon not only for mothers and other homemakers, who trudge endless miles around the house in the performance of their daily chores, but it also is a welcome discovery to working girls and women who keep it handy at their places of business for quick, easy use during the day.

Among the many booths planned for the 5 to 9 p.m. event are the fish pond headed by Mrs. Gerald Blaylock and Mrs. Lesley Harrington, games directed by Mrs. Kenneth Goff and the country store supervised by Mrs. James Helvey, Mrs. Winbert Bordeaux and Mrs. Donald Pollack.

White elephants will be available at the booth being arranged by Mrs. Lawrence Nichols and Mrs. John Glynn, and Mrs. John Stepleton and Mrs. Lester McClellan are arranging a Popeye the Sailor Man booth for the children. Mrs. Lowell Vollmar will conduct a makeup booth for children.

Other booth chairmen are Mrs. Frank Bogner and Mrs. E. H. Danielson, hot dogs, coffee and pop; Mrs. Thomas Eaton and Mrs. John Hickingbottom, cakewalk; Mrs. Marvin Seibert, grab bag; Mrs. Pierce Boutin and Mrs. Leon Smith, cotton candy; Mrs. William Beale and Mrs. Forrest Boster, ice cream and potato chips, and Mrs. Harold McIntyre, sandwiches.

Pony rides for the children are being arranged by Mrs. Frank Ver Lee and Mrs. Phillips. Mrs. Charles King is in charge of prizes and Mrs. Ralph Dawe is handling publicity.

The public is invited to join students, parents and teachers for the annual event.

Plan to add to your stock of linens each year at the rate of a pair of sheets for each bed and a pair of cases for each pillow. This will keep your linen supply in good shape.

Mrs. E. J. Lally Jr., president, of the Great Lakes Region of Girl Scouts. The session was held last week at Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago.

Topics discussed at the all-day sessions included "Membership Trends" in relation to troop organization methods, leadership recruitment and selection, and the use of community resources. One of the five discussion groups was chaired by Mrs. Frank Schwarz, president of Southern Oakland Girl Scout Council.

A "Report of the Study of Adolescent Girls," which was made for the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. by the Survey Research Center of the Institute for Social Research of University of Michigan, was given.

According to the report of a group of girls from 14 to 16, who were asked "What adult do you admire most? Who would you like to be like when you grow up?" 57 per cent answered "Mother." Only 6 per cent chose movie stars and other glamorous figures.

Carolanne Bingham and Elaine Smith, district directors, joined Mrs. Copeland Thursday and Friday to attend the two-day professional staff regional meetings.

Trip Talk Leaves Out One Couple

Hosts and Others Monopolize Dinner Conversation

BY EMILY POST

The first letter in today's mail tells me: "Recently my husband and I were guests at a small dinner party. Throughout dinner and a good part of the evening, the host, hostess and the two other guests present discussed a recent trip they had taken to Europe and we were completely excluded from the conversation. 'Do you have any suggestions as to what we could have said, or done, to avoid the uncomfortable situation, other than the few unsuccessful attempts we made to change the conversation into something more general?'"

Answer: As you seemed in no way interested in the subject of their trip, you could have said goodnight shortly after dinner and left.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a young man I know comes over to our restaurant table to say 'hello' and asks me to dance, am I supposed to ask the man I'm with for permission, or is the young man asking me supposed to ask this? Just what is the accepted procedure?"

Answer: If you alone are guest of a man at a supper club you are expected to dance almost continuously with him. If a friend of yours asks you to dance, you ask your host. "Do you mind, John, if I dance a little of this with Bob?"

John undoubtedly answers, "Not at all!" You should, however, make this dance very short in order to return quite promptly to John.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When eating in a cafeteria-type restaurant, should one ask permission of a stranger to sit at her table? It is not possible for each one to have a table alone during the noonday rush, but I wondered if this should be done in courtesy."

Answer: Before sitting down, it is common courtesy to ask, "Are you saving this place for anyone?"

Hit-and-Miss Care Won't Help You

Beauty Routine Must Be Regular

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When planning a beauty routine women often forget the most important part of all. This is regularity!

No matter how effective the creams and cleansers, astringents and masks you may have, or how many wonderful exercises you may know, they will be of little avail unless you apply the cosmetics and do the exercises regularly.

Ten hours of sleep one night does not make up for the habitual loss of sleep, nor do vitamin pills and health foods once a week overcome the deficiencies caused by generally poor nutrition. It is the day-by-day pattern that counts in health or beauty.

Surveys of those who have remained youthful far into old age have shown some remarkable likenesses. Most of these folks have lived regular lives, without excesses of any kind.

They did not scurry and hurry through life. They had vital interests and usually were calm and gay. Of course there are exceptions, but this was the main trend.

CAN BE HARMFUL

Actually, sporadic exercise can be harmful. It is not good to throw yourself into violent exercise after years or months of sedentary living. You should gradually increase the strenuousness and the length of time. On-and-off-again exercise can be downright dangerous and it certainly will not have the slimming and toning effects you seek.

It is much better to have a simple routine and stick to it day by day than to plan an elaborate one and do it in a hit-and-miss fashion. However, it is possible to include the essentials of health and beauty care without investing a great deal of time.

It takes no longer to eat vital foods than to eat devitalized foods. In fact it may take less time since we are tempted to eat more of the devitalized ones than we should. Twenty to 30 minutes of exercise a day will be most beneficial.

Skin cleansing and lubrication take only a few minutes. Let the cream or oil soak in while you work or sleep or bathe. Add to that scalp massage for 5 or 10 minutes and you are well on your way to continued good looks.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Essential Daily Routine" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "Yes, a Beer Rinse Is Good—It Gives Body to the Hair."

No matter how many wonderful exercises you may know, they will be of little avail unless you do them regularly.

No matter how many wonderful exercises you may know, they will be of little avail unless you do them regularly.

Gray's your color, if you like to stay right up front in the fashion picture.

Of course, there are lots of shades of gray, and lots of gray accessories to choose from.

There are gray and yellow roses on washable acetate umbrellas; white dots on pepper-gray scarves; gray linen-like rayon for collars or dickeys; gray calf belts; even your watchband can be gray, buckled in brass!

All the gray tones are fashionable just now—except dingy gray! Suds those accessories as faithfully as if they were snow white. That goes for leather, too.

She Specializes in Monster-Taming

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Survey after survey has shown that the reason many people get fired from jobs or just don't get promoted is hardly ever a matter of skill or ability.

It's almost always a matter of personal habits or personality difficulties.

Employers will put up with skills that are not perfect if the personality and the inter-personal relationships are good. But if they are bad, all the skill in the world isn't enough.

I thought of that the other day when I ran into a girl I had known a good 15 years ago.

At the time, I was writing copy for an advertising agency and she was a new assistant in the art department.

The art director of that agency was, without any doubt, the meanest man alive. The average length of stay for an assistant in his department was about two weeks.

He had tantrums. He bawled people out publicly and could intimidate the strongest man without even trying.

I remember thinking, when Adele joined the staff, that she'd probably last a day or two.

Imagine my surprise, then, when I met her 15 years later and learned that she was still there. Furthermore, she was assistant art director and was making an enormous salary.

"Are you," I asked incredulously, "assistant to—him?"

"Oh no," she said brightly, "he retired three years ago. He lives in the country now and is doing serious painting."

MONSTER'S LIFE

Then she pleasantly described the life of the retired monster.

By this time, my curiosity got the better of me and I asked how in heaven's name she had managed to put up with him all those years—and so successfully, too.

"Well," Adele said, "I was lucky. The day I arrived, I had lunch with a friend at a fancy restaurant."

"In the booth right behind us was His Nibs dining with his wife. I didn't mean to eavesdrop, but I couldn't help hearing the battle."

"That wife of his was impossible—mean and shrewish, with one of those awful voices. I felt so sorry for him that I always forgave him when he yelled at me after that."

"I figured he didn't really mean to, but had just been getting it so at home that he had to give it out a little at the office."

PERFECT SKILL

"Whenever he yelled at me," Adele concluded, "I just figured it was just a holdover from what he'd been getting. So of course we got along fine. I don't imagine anybody else in the place really understood what he had to put up with."

There is an example of a perfect human relations skill!

If you're having trouble getting along with people at home, at the club or in the office, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you my pamphlet, Pointers to Better Personal Relations.

Every Wife Should Strive to Share Mate's Interests

Woman Must Play the Major Role in Making Marriage Companionable

By RUTH MILLETT

When a husband and wife are companionable it is usually because the wife is willing to make the effort to be companionable.

Perhaps a husband should make as great an effort to share the wife's interests as she does to share his, but he usually doesn't.

Both men and women want companionship in marriage. But a man's idea of companionship is having a wife who will be interested in the same things he is.

It doesn't occur to most men that companionship could be a mutual sharing of interests—that if a wife shares her husband's interests he should share hers.

Every bride would realize from the start of her marriage that the responsibility for the couple's being companionable through the years is largely up to her.

HUNT AND FISH

That means she may have to learn to hunt and fish, even though she has never held a rod and reel or a gun in her hands.

Or it may be she will have to get interested in local politics or golf or photography. She may even find that she is married to a man whose interests change frequently and, in order to stay companionable with him, her interests will have to change just as often.

The first face is worn against the hat shaped down around the face. Pick up in up-front hat line.

women are content to make home and family their only interests. Keeping up with a husband's interests broadens the world for women. They never lose it.

BOTH WILL BENEFIT

So, though married companionship is usually achieved through the wife's efforts, both husband and wife benefit by the one-sided arrangement.

Any wife who says to herself, "If he won't try to share my interests why should I bother to share his," is making a big mistake.

If your family won't drink milk, there are many other ways to serve it. Give it to them in soups, puddings, mashed potatoes and sauces.

Mrs. Beal Is Hostess to Sorority

Mrs. Thomas Beal opened her Rochester home for the Wednesday evening meeting of Omega Alpha sorority. Mary Fought was a guest for the evening.

Colored slides showing the diamond mines in Africa, the royal jewels and the various cuts of jewels were presented by Stanley Deyo during the program portion of the meeting.

Mrs. Beal, president, conducted the business meeting at which plans were completed for the May Breakfast to be held Sunday at Rotunda Inn. The group voted a contribution to the American Cancer Society.

Party Planned by Iraq Caldron

Members of Iraq Caldron 70, Daughters of Mokianna, voted a contribution to the Spastic Child Foundation at the Wednesday evening meeting.

Plans were made for a card party to be held May 17 at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building and for another money-making project June 22.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Ben Richardson, Mrs. Russell Woodbury and Thelma Anderson.

Underwriter Insures UNEF

CHICAGO (INS) — Insuring a hole in the wall for $10,000, presidential candidates of both parties, or United Nations troops patrolling the Middle East is all in a day's work for a unique Chicago underwriter.

Things, people and events covered by the Continental Casualty Company's Unusual Risks Section have ranged from a shipment of Siberian tigers to merry-making at New Orleans' Mardi Gras Festival.

Supervisor Jack Dwyer explained in an interview:

"The company considers our special section an experimental laboratory where new types of insurance coverage are developed. Some of the most hair-brained tries have produced good money makers."

The $10,000 hole-in-the-wall, for example, is surrounded by the centerfield fence of a North Carolina base ball park and costs the company 10-grand only if a ball is hit through the opening during a scheduled game.

The U. N. troops were insured when the special army moved into Egyptian bases last November, with members of the international force being covered up to $25,000 for "death and dismemberment."

Coverage for some 4,100 troops cost the U. N. an estimated $10,000 a month.

The shipment of Siberian tigers was being sent from Seattle to Minneapolis. St. Paul 300, Dwyer said, "and the Great Northern railroad wasn't taking any chances. The line was covered for any damage the big cats might inflict in case they broke loose."

He told of another strange policy covering a group of mountain climbers. They were insured not only for possible death or injury but also against "mysterious disappearance" and helicopter costs should emergency rescue become necessary.

CONSIDER ANYTHING

"We will consider anything," Dwyer asserted. "Not all risks are insured, but we carefully evaluate every request."

"The Jesters Club, a group which does its share of reveling at the New Orleans Mardi Gras festival, was concerned about someone getting hurt in the course of their antics."

"Members are now covered, if people or property are damaged by their over-exuberant merry-making, we pay."

Many important public figures have been insured on the recommendation of the Unusual Risks section.

President Eisenhower and Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson, along with members of their staffs, were insured against mishaps during both the 1952 and 1956 campaigns.

An amazing variety of things can be and have been insured by the company, however, and Dwyer says: "Premiums are surprisingly low—but we make money on this coverage."

Volcano Showing Signs of Oncoming Eruption

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (U)—Lamonal Volcano, off the eastern tip of New Guinea, is showing signs it is ready to blow.

A swamp near the crater disappeared overnight. Tremors, rumblings, heat and steam clouds intensified dramatically. Plans are being made to move 7,000 islanders living within 10 miles of the crater.

The volcano is located on Ferguson Island.

Dr. J. Gunther, assistant administrator of New Guinea, said Lamonal was giving all the symptoms that preceded the 1951 eruption of New Guinea's Mt. Lamington, which killed or injured 4,000 persons.

A railroad freight rate increase of 55 per cent in Chile, is boosting the cost of many commodities in Santiago and elsewhere.

Panama Canal 'Not Paid For'

Envoy Arias Claims
His Country Received
Too Little From U.S.

LONDON (INS) — Roberto E. Arias, Panamanian Ambassador to Britain, declared today that his country had never received "just or equitable compensation" from the U.S. for the Panama Canal.

Commenting on a recent London Times editorial on the canal in a letter to the newspaper, Arias said it "restates some erroneous claims recently voiced" by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

The ambassador said it was "fully understandable" that Dulles should be doing his best to stress the differences between the charters of the Panama and Suez Canals. But he claimed the similarities between the two waterways could not be glossed over for political ends.

Arias said these similarities between the Suez and Panama Canals were such that Britain and the U.S. in 1901 signed the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty which virtually repeated the terms used in the 1888 Suez Convention.

Arias added that there was, however, one great difference between the two canals.

He declared that while Egypt had always received an equitable share in tolls from the old Suez Canal Company, Panama had never received "just or equitable compensation."

The ambassador added that Panama had not abandoned its sovereignty over the canal zone, but had merely accorded the U.S. certain rights for management of the waterway.

Traffic Deaths Drop Steadily

4-Month Toll of 435 Is 139 Below 1956 Totals
for Same Period

LANSING (P) — Michigan's traffic fatality toll is still dropping at better than a one a day rate, State Police report.

Last month's toll of 100 deaths was 40 below the April total a year ago, Joseph A. Childs, State Police commissioner, said.

Traffic deaths for the year so far total 435 compared with 574 in the first four months of 1956, he said.

With the exception of last September, Childs said, the downward trend in traffic deaths, injuries and accidents has continued for 13 straight months.

At the same time, total mileage by more than 3,500,000 vehicles in the state is running 5 per cent ahead of last year.

Childs warned, however, that the worst months for traffic accidents lie ahead and cautioned against over-optimism.

"On the average," he said, "May accounts for more than 7 per cent of the annual traffic deaths, June for more than 8 per cent each, with the peak coming in October."

"There is no reason, however, that we cannot continue to save more than a life a day and even do much better than that if everyone drives as they should."

Childs emphasized that the figure of 100 deaths for April is tentative and said the final figure can be expected to be greater because of late-reported deaths and deaths resulting from injuries during the month.

Because boxing is booming in Fiji and swimming is hot, it is being suggested that the new Suva sea bathing pool be turned into a boxing stadium.

Reverse Ruling in Executions for 'Witchcraft'

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts Legislature has righted a wrong committed 265 years ago. The Senate passed and sent to the governor a measure to reverse the convictions of six women executed in Salem for "witchcraft" in 1692.

At first the Senate rejected the measure on grounds that Salem was a British colony at the time and it was up to the British Parliament to right the wrong.

The Senate acted in favor, however, after accepting an amendment to ban payment of damages to descendants of the women.

PTA Parents Scolded

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A former school superintendent told a PTA meeting that adults are inclined to pay less attention to child-rearing than "to our pigs," chickens, fruit trees and vegetation.

"If you discipline well, you don't seem to be discipling at all," Dr. R. G. Mowrey said.

"Be not dogmatic and autocratic, but democratic and firm," he added.

Prisoner Has Hot Time

JANESVILLE, Wis. (AP) — Three firemen raced up the city hall steps in answer to a fire alarm, but they didn't have to go any farther.

Police Sgt. Laurel Kapke came running out of the building with the source of the alarm — a jail prisoner's jacket that had somehow caught fire. The blaze was confined to the jacket.

Plenty of hot water with DETROIT EDISON'S NEW ELECTRIC WATER-HEATING SERVICE

New, more efficient water heaters—built to Edison's specifications.
New water-heating plan from Edison. Together they make the finest hot-water service ever offered in Southeastern Michigan.

Completely new, completely different, the electric water heaters for 1957 are not only the safest kind you can buy—they're the most practical, too. Built to Detroit Edison's own rigid specifications, dollar for dollar these new electric water heaters last longer than any other heater you can buy.

What's so new about the new electric water heaters? Redesigned from top to bottom to give you more hot water for your money, the new type electric water heaters for '57 now include two higher wattage heating units that operate completely automatically. As your hot water supply goes down, one unit automatically goes on—quickly heating up more water for you to use when you need it. No waiting, no worries. There's always plenty of hot water on tap. And because of this unique new design, you can get more hot water than ever before from the same size heater. Then, too, since it's built to Edison's own specifications, you know you can rely on the quality and depend on it to operate better, last longer.

For still greater economy—Edison's new Super-Supply Plan. To make the new electric water heaters even more economical, Detroit Edison has introduced its Super-Supply Plan. This simply means that now, for a surprisingly low flat monthly rate, you can get much more hot water than ever before for just pennies per day.

Better... No flame, no fumes. There's automatic safety always built into an electric water heater. No flame, no fumes. It's even safe enough, and good-looking enough, to go right in your kitchen or utility room. Because of its excellent insulation, it's cool to the touch—top to bottom. And only electric water heaters are so clean, noiseless and odorless.

Roddy Kilowatt invites you to inspect these tremendous advantages of ELECTRIC water heating before you buy.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The Pirates are at it again. It seems everytime the Buccos get a youngster who is acclaimed for future stardom they decide to put him on the block.

Another favorite with the Bucs is to trade off their long ball hitters often for a long shot who never comes in.

The latest maneuver was yesterday's deal in which Pittsburgh sent Lee Walls and Dale Long to Chicago. A year ago the reports out of Pittsburgh had 24-year-old Walls as a sure-fire star with the Pirates.

Must be the Pirates adhere to the saying, "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em." Everytime Pittsburgh makes a deal, Pirate fans look at the past and recall the names of Bobby Elliott, Gus Bell, Preacher Roe, Billy Cox, Arky Vaughn, Ralph Kiner and a few others. They must be happy in their basement home.

BRAGAN IS 'HIS HONOR'

Speaking of the Pirates, manager Bobby Bragan has been given the nickname "His Honor" because of the fine system he had installed on the team.

Any player who violates a rule or misses a signal must pay a fine. Catcher Danny Kravitz paid $10 for missing a "take" sign even though he singled, and pitcher Louis Arroyo was assessed $10 for missing a pick-off sign. Bob Skinner was tapped for $20 for failing to slide.

At the end of the season Bragan plans to have each player draw a number with the lucky player taking everything.

SOMETHING ON FIRE FOR BRIGGS

Latest rumor has it that Spike Briggs, deposed general manager of the Tigers, will be back in baseball, probably as an owner.

Briggs has always been fond of the city of Washington. He has disposed of his Florida real estate and may try to make a deal for the Senator franchise.

Spike was a student at Georgetown University and spent some time in the Capital city during WWII as an Air Force officer.

"M"-OSU RIVALS IN NCAA

The rivalry between Michigan and Ohio State goes farther than the football field. Right now the two schools are waging a neck and neck battle for the individual championships of NCAA sports competition.

Currently, the Buckeyes lead 125 to 119. Most of these totals come from swimming in which OSU has 84 and Michigan 80.

In team championships, Yale leads with 25, with 21 of these being golf. Southern Cal. has 23 of which 19 are track, and Oklahoma A & M has 21, of which 19 are wrestling.

Moore Has Doubts About July 7 Fight Deadline

ESSEN, Germany (AP)—A pudgy Archie Moore today slipped into a warning punch from the National Boxing Assn., which threatens to suspend and/or unhook the light-heavyweight champ unless he defends his crown by July 7, with a maybe-I-will-and-maybe-I-won't answer to the ultimatum.

"Look at me, man," said Moore. "I'm 30 pounds overweight. Who wants to see me in a title fight in this shape?"

The old guy whose age figures to be somewhere around 40, probably over, didn't have to tell anyone he was overweight. He was a flabby and puffing champ as he somehow lasted 10 rounds to outpoint Hans Kalbfell, Germany's third-ranked heavyweight, yesterday.

Moore weighed 206½ pounds, Kalbfell 210.

The NBA was releasing its ultimatum to the press in Chicago at just about the same time Moore was wrapping up his fight here. In brief, the NBA told Moore he'll face suspension unless he defends against New Yorker Tony Anthony "as scheduled" in Detroit June 7, and the U. S. boxing authority will vacate the title if he doesn't get around to making a defense by July 7.

"If I keep working hard and they give me time to train," said Moore, "I may be ready in a month."

Yesterday's bout was Moore's first since his heavyweight title hopes were junked by Floyd Patterson in the fifth round of their championship fight at Chicago Nov. 30. To meet the June 7 deadline, he'll have to shed 31½ pounds in a little more than a month to

"Youthful" Ray Robinson Squares All Accounts

CHICAGO (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who pumps his own fountain of youth with two deadly fists, today was headed for the greatest payoff of his miraculous ring career—a mid-July bout with welterweight champ Carmen Basilio.

Robinson, celebrating his 37th birthday tomorrow, was the marvel of the fistic realm after his fifth-round knockout last night of middleweight champion Gene Fullmer.

lured the 25-year-old Fullmer into false confidence in the nationally televised bout at the Chicago Stadium and then paralyzed him with a devastating left hook in 1:27 of the fifth round.

Fullmer, who had dethroned Robinson at New York Jan. 2, foolishly abandoned his rushing, brawling tactics of that fight and thought he could match Sugar Ray's flurry-for-flurry last night.

It didn't work.

It was like a bull trying to second-guess a foreorder. The kill actually started in the fourth round. With less than a minute left, Robinson slashed Fullmer with a series of punches, climaxed with a left hook to the head. Instead of retreating, the West Jordan, Utah toughie, tried to prove he wasn't hurt with a burst of his own.

Sugar Ray looked tired in his corner between the fourth and fifth rounds. He may or may not have been playing possum as he stretched out and almost made his stool a bed.

The fifth started with Fullmer pressing, but missing. Robinson moved in with a stiff right to the body. Fullmer's guard dropped way down. Then Robinson whistled the left hook to the jaw. It didn't travel far, but it caught Gene flush.

Fullmer crumpled to the floor. He was really tagged. He writhed and rolled as Referee Frank Sikora counted to 10. Gene finally struggled to his feet, but the fight was over.

This 140th victory—and his 91st knockout in 153 pro bouts since 1940—pointed Robinson for a meeting with welterweight champ Basilio, probably at Yankee Stadium in mid-July, which could bring the biggest gate in ring history under the light-heavy division.

Jim Norris, International Boxing Club president, envisioned a better gate than the 61,370 who paid $767,526 to watch Robinson recapture the middleweight title from Randy Turpin at the Polo Grounds Sept. 12, 1951.

All three officials had Fullmer ahead by a close 19-18 margin, based on the "five-point must system" in Illinois. After four rounds, The AP had Robinson ahead, 19-18.

Basilio Eager to Face Sugar Ray in July Fight

CHICAGO (AP)—Carmen Basilio, the rugged welterweight champion, is eager to fight Sugar Ray Robinson.

He saw Robinson regain the middleweight title with a thunderbolt punch to Gene Fullmer's jaw last night.

Then he went back to his hotel and went to bed.

But he got up and talked with a reporter. "I thought Robinson fought a smart fight," he said. "Naturally, I was pulling for Robinson to win. If I have a chance to fight the guy, it means a big pay day for me, too."

He'll have his chance. Plans already are in the making for a Robinson-Basilio match in the middle of July in Yankee Stadium—amid predictions that the gate will approach a million dollars.

Repays Fullmer, 'Uncle Sam'

CHICAGO (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, again the middleweight champion, has settled all accounts—with Gene Fullmer and Uncle Sam.

He knocked out Fullmer in the fifth round last night. Then the government took a $23,000 blow at Sugar Ray.

They slapped that much of a lien on his purse, Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, said the amount attached settles Robinson's back income tax difficulties.

It was rather incongruous that Robinson, in "probably his greatest hour of glory, stood before admirers jamming his dressing room after the fight—and nearby stood three Internal Revenue Service agents.

They were the only silent ones in the steaming quarters as Ray, swathed in towels, sucked an ice cube and spoke his piece.

Among those in the room were his wife, Edna Mae, who was among the first to enter. She was so excited that attendants thought she would faint and for a while held an ice pack to her neck.

"I had no strategy," Robinson said. "I was just trying to maneuver him, using my right and letting him forget my left—I wanted a clean counter shot with my left and I got it. I thank God I got in the punch I wanted."

"I don't know how far it traveled, but I'm sure Mr. Fullmer got the message."

Robinson, who will be 36 or 37 Friday, was reluctant to take credit for the victory.

"I owe much to millions of people who had faith in me and prayed for me," he said. "I owe much to Joe-Louis for his moral support and knowledge of boxing. I owe much to Father Lang (The Rev. Jovian Lang of the St. Joseph Seminary in Westmont, Ill.) for spiritual guidance.

"And I owe so very much to my wife who suffered untold miseries as I prepared for this fight."

Sugar Ray carried on at lengths in this vein—bringing the thought that the only one he didn't owe was the government.

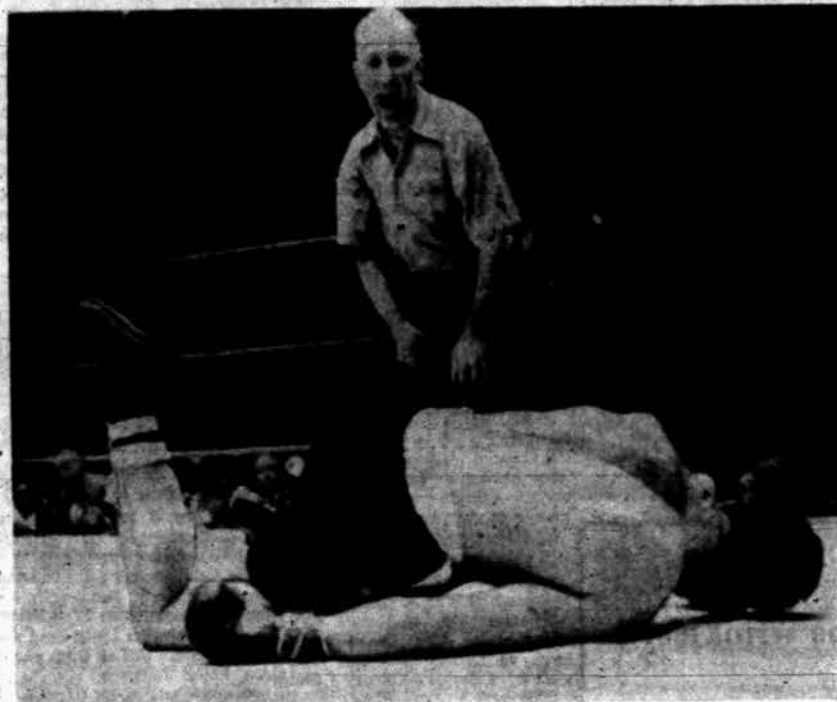

All Fullmer said when he first arrived in his dressing room was: "What happened?"

"First time I ever got knocked out and I don't know how it happened," he added. "Robinson is the greatest I've ever met. I was not overconfident. I was just careless. I wanted a knockout. Anytime I can knock out a guy like that, I'll take it."

"He never hurt me," Fullmer continued. "Because I didn't even know I got hit."

His manager, Marv Jensen, said he thought Gene wanted to make a spectacular fight because he was champion... "and it cost him the championship."

Dale Long Goes to Chicago

Bucs, Cubs in Trade

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"What did they expect, miracles?" With that terse statement Dale Long, the idol of Pittsburgh Pirates fans last year, left the Steel City today for his new club, the Chicago Cubs.

Long, who set a major league record of hitting eight homers in eight consecutive games, was traded yesterday along with outfielder Lee Walls to the Cubs for first baseman Dee Fondy and third baseman Gene Baker.

A year ago Long was hitting at a .426 clip with five home runs and 10 runs batted in. Later in the month, on the 19th, he started his sensational home run binge and climaxed it with a curtain call after his record-breaking homer to the roof of a sellout crowd at Forbes Field.

There was no roar yesterday. And except for a few newspapermen nobody saw Long leave Forbes Field. In the club house Long minced no words about Pittsburgh fans.

Said Long: "What did they expect, miracles? Opening day they booed me. Everytime I struck out they booed me. They got me believing I was in a slump."

"Regret leaving Pittsburgh? Hell, no, but I'm sorry to leave Bobby Bragan. I played for him for four years and owe him a lot. He's got a good outfit. They'll be going someplace."

The reaction to the trade by Walls, voted the outstanding rookie of 1956 by the Pittsburgh baseball writers, was jovial. "I'm glad," commented Walls. "I think I can hit more home runs at Wrigley Field."

Bragan said Fondy, currently hitting .314 with 16 safeties in 51 times at bat, would be used chiefly in pinch-hitting roles until he (Bragan) sees how the rest of his outfield talent fares.

Baker, hitting .250 with a mark of 11 for 44 and who Bragan said was the "big man" in the transaction, will play shortstop for the Pirates and Dick Groat will move over to third.

"If this doesn't work out," continued Bragan, "I'll move Groat back to shortstop and Baker back to third. The combination is bound to click."

Long was hitting .182 and Walls had a .190 average.

The Pontiac High baseballers gained revenge for an earlier setback yesterday by hammering out a 10-4 victory over visiting Saginaw Arthur Hill at Wisner Field.

An impressive relief pitching job by Terry Zellhart and some sound hitting by Dave Simmons and Dave Diehm enabled the Chiefs to overcome an early 2-0 deficit and win the SVC contest.

Zellhart allowed only two runs and two hits over the last five innings and struck out five. Simmons and Diehm had five of the eight PHB safeties, three by Simmons.

Arthur Hill 2-11 999-0-4-0

Jewelers, Oldtimers Slate Sunday Drills

Shaw's Jewelers Class A baseball team will practice Sunday afternoon at Wisner Field from 1 to 3 p.m., manager Paul Parks has announced.

All interested players are welcome to attend, Parks said. The defending City League champions were previously sponsored by General Motors.

Parks, president of the Pontiac Oldtimers, also announced that the Oldtimers will practice Sunday from 1 to 3 at Washington Junior High. Walt Hotchell will manage the Oldtimers this summer.

Other Pontiac scores were Nick Shorter 85, Dick McLaughlin 90, Bob Clapp 95 and Mike Samardzija 101. Fred George shot 83 for Port Huron, but from there on cards zoomed into the hundreds.

Spartan Oldtimers Get Ready to Meet Varsity

EAST LANSING (AP)—Little George Guerre was the "old man" of the group as Michigan State's old timers assembled for their first practice yesterday in preparation for Saturday's game with the Spartan football varsity.

Guerre, former skatback from Flint, now a Lansing insurance salesman, graduated in 1948.

"I've got a good reason for showing up," Guerre grinned. "My son is old enough to ask questions now, and he doesn't believe I ever played football."

Guerre insisted he was in shape. "That handball hardens you," he said.

Many of the some 40 former footballers reporting claimed they weighed less than in their playing days although a few spare tires were spotted.

After a backslapping reunion, they settled down to run through signal drills in sweat clothes under the direction of coach Frank (Muddy) Waters, head coach at Hillsdale College and former MSU fullback, also a 1948 graduate.

"That was real good," Waters encouraged after his squad trotted through one particular play. "Now do it at top speed."

"That was top speed, coach," objected one of his squad members.

Al Dorow, formerly of Imlay City now quarterback for the Washington Redskins, was at

Earl Morrill, with the San Francisco 49'ers, and Pat Wilson, quarterback of the 1956 varsity, are expected to alternate with Dorow at the signal post.

Guerre was at left half, Maity Kelly of Detroit at right half and Leroy Crane of Muskegon at fullback.

Tex Parrell of Flint and Bill Fostula of Marshall were the ends, Marv McFadden of Lansing and Bill Horrell of New Kensington, Pa., worked tackle, Roland Deitch of Escanaba and J. C. Williams of Jackson were at guard and Dick Tombaro of New Kensington held down center.

A dozen or so more old grads are expected to report today and at least one scrimmage is planned before Saturday's game in Mackin Stadium. Lloyd's of London has gambled to insure against injuries.

Kuenn Jeered as Tigers Lose

DETROIT (AP)—Shortstop Harvey Kuenn is in the worst slump of his five-year career with the Detroit Tigers but manager Jack Tighe plans "no drastic moves—not yet anyway."

Kuenn's average dipped to .154 yesterday when he went hitless in three trips as the Tigers dropped a 7-4 verdict to the New York Yankees.

"He just got back into the lineup and he has a bad day," said Tighe. "I have to string along with him, though. You just can't go yanking a fellow like Kuenn out of the lineup."

The Tigers had 12 base hits yesterday, but few of them came when it counted. They left 10 runners on the basepaths, making a total of 125 runners stranded this season.

Kuenn, who had been sidelined four days with a pulled leg muscle, committed one error and was slow going after a couple of other grounders that went for base hits.

"Even when he's himself he's only a fair fielding shortstop," said Tighe, "but when he's not hitting his fielding shows up more. As far as his batting goes, it's hard to diagnose. He's like George Kell—violates every rule of hitting but still he's a tremendous hitter."

"Because of his individual style, whatever he may be doing wrong up at the plate is hard for someone else to correct... he has to work it out himself."

The manager confessed he had been toying with the idea of moving Kuenn to third base and putting Ren0 Bertola at shortstop. That would give Kuenn less ground to cover. But that idea is one that has been toyed with no fewer than a half-dozen times, and the move probably won't be made until all other possible avenues of solution have been exhausted.

Kuenn was jeered for the first time in Tighe's recollection yesterday as he grounded into one double play, hit into a force play and grounded to the pitcher in three official trips. He walked twice.

The 26-year-old Kuenn, the American League's all-star shortstop the past two seasons, has hit in excess of .300 in each of his four previous years with the Tigers. Last year he batted .332, his highest mark.

The Tigers had the lead briefly in yesterday's encounter, scoring twice in the first inning off Yankee starter Art Ditmar when Bill Tottle singled home two runs with the bases loaded.

While the home club spent itself at bat early, getting all four of their runs and 10 of their 12 hits in the first five innings, the Yankees retained their power for an additional inning to capture a split in the series.

The Boston Red Sox come to Briggs Stadium for afternoon games today and tomorrow. Rookie Don Lee will make his third start for the Tigers and his mound opponent will be Tom Brewer.

Score Continues Strikeout Spree

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Young Herb Score, Cleveland's sensational strikeout artist, appears on his way to averaging at least nine strikeouts a game for the third consecutive season.

No other pitcher in the long history of baseball has been able to average that many in even one season... not even Bob Feller, Walter Johnson, Cy Young, Christy Mathewson, Dazzy Vance, Dizzy Dean or any of the other pitching immortals.

Yet Score did it not only in his rookie year but repeated in his sophomore season. In 1955, he averaged 9.58 strikeouts a game. In '56, it was 9.59. Now, in his third year, he is striking out batters at a faster rate than ever—an even 10 a game. When Feller set his major league strikeout record of 348 in 1946, he averaged 8.45 whiffs a game.

The 23-year-old southpaw fanned a dozen in 1-3 innings yesterday before he was routed by Washington in the seventh but Cleveland fought back to nip the Senators 7-6. It was the third consecutive triumph for the revived Indians who went over the .500 mark for the first time this season.

The high-flying Chicago White Sox continued at full steam, rolling over Baltimore 9-3 and increasing their American League lead over runner-up Boston to two games. The Red Sox, who had won six of seven on foreign soil, dropped a 7-5 decision in Kansas City. The New York Yankees whipped Detroit 7-4 to even their two-game series with the Tigers.

Milwaukee's Braves snapped back after Tuesday night's shut-out loss, defeating the New York Giants 5-1 in 10 innings to retain their one-game margin over second-place Brooklyn. The Dodgers trounced Chicago 7-2 behind the seven-hit pitching of young Don Drysdale. St. Louis, paced by a pair of veterans, Walker Cooper and Stan Musial, whipped Pittsburgh 9-2 to take sole possession of third place. Wally Post singled in two runs in the top of the 16th inning to give the Cincinnati Reds legs an 8-5 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies in the longest game of the season in a night game.

A single by Vic Wertz, scoring two of Cleveland's three runs in the seventh, gave the Indians their come-from-behind victory. In the upper half of the inning, Washington routed Score after he had held the Senators to one hit. Milt Bolling greeted reliever Don Mossi with a three-run homer to give the Senators a temporary 6-4 lead. Ray Narleski, in relief, picked up his third victory without defeat.

Minnie Minoza paced the White

Sox to their ninth victory in 11 games. The Cuban outfielder drove across four runs with a double, two singles and a sacrifice fly to help Jack Harshman gain his third triumph without a defeat. George Kell had four singles for the Orioles.

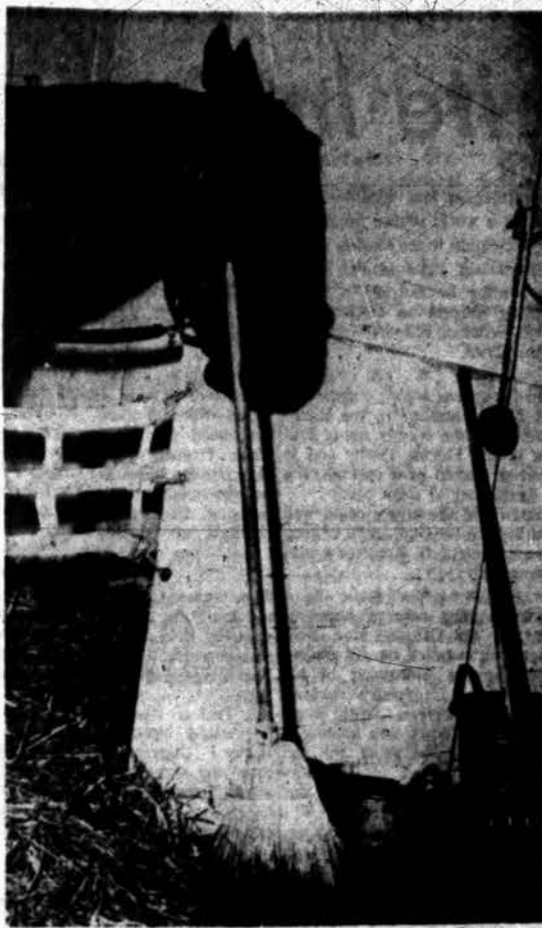

Champagne Treat for 70 Follows Her Hole-in-One

RYE, N. Y. (AP)—Mrs. Edward LeMaire scored a hole-in-one at the Apawamis Golf Club yesterday, but chances are Mr. LeMaire will remember it just as long as she does.

Mrs. LeMaire scored the ace with a No. 3 wood on the par 3, 150-yard 16th hole in a women's tournament—and was so overjoyed she ordered a bottle of champagne for each of the other 70 golfers in the field when she returned to the club house.

She also sent her husband a bouquet of flowers. Why the flowers? Simple. "Somebody," explained Mrs. LeMaire, "is going to have to pay the champagne bill."

Final Meeting Tonight

The final meeting for managers of men's City League softball teams will be held tonight at 7:30 in the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department office at City Hall.

No other meeting is planned prior to the start of league play. Teams wishing to compete this summer must be represented.

IOWA CITY — Before 1956, Iowa's most recent Big 10 football crown was won in 1922.

ATHENS, Ga. — Tex Baxter Jr., husky, crewcut par-buster from the University of Houston, held the favorite's role today as 171 golfers launched the 20th Southern Intercollegiate tournament.

General Duke Doubtful Starter in Classic

Bold Ruler New Favorite in Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Bold Ruler, the long-striding dark bay colt from Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable, today became the probable favorite for the $125,000-added Kentucky Derby Saturday. The question of whether his injured arch rival, Gen. Duke, will start remained unanswered.

As the names of 10 and perhaps 11 finely-tuned 3-year-olds colts were dropped into the entry box at Churchill Downs this morning, the big question was whether the ace of the Calumet Farm, famed one-two punch of Gen. Duke and Iron Liege would be in the starting line-up at 4:30 p.m. EST. Saturday. The entry box opened at 7 a.m. and was scheduled to close at 9:30 a.m.

After applying hot medications to Gen. Duke's injured left front foot all day yesterday and last night, trainer Jimmy Jones said:

"I will enter him this morning but it may be an hour before post time Saturday before we know definitely if he'll be able to run." Gen. Duke, who broke even with Bold Ruler in four Florida races, and set a world record for a mile and one-eighth in the Florida Derby first showed signs of the injury hours after he finished a disappointing second to Clifford Lusky's Federal Hill in Tuesday's Derby Trial.

An X-ray examination showed a bad bruise, similar to the injury suffered by the speedy son of Bull Lea in the Florida Derby and to a lesser degree in a special race at Keeneland 10 days ago. Jones said the injury could well heal in time for Gen. Duke to keep his assignment in America's premier race.

But pending definite improvement, by the Calumet star, Bold Ruler was installed the 8-5 choice. Helping the shortening of his odds was an impressive workout yesterday afternoon. With exercise boy Tommy Quinn holding a tight hand on the reins, the son of Nasrullah reeled off six furlongs in 1:11 1-5 and went out seven furlongs in 1:25.

The odds, however, could well shift back in favor of Gen. Duke and his stablemate, who looked far from impressive in the Derby Trial. Just to be ready for any eventualities, Jones ordered two specially padded horseshoes flown in from Bay Meadows at San Mateo, Calif.

Gen. Duke's injury was just one of the developments that tossed Derbytown and the vanguard of an expected crowd of 100,000 into an uproar.

Within a few hours after Gen. Duke's injury became known and Jones said his colt had only a 50-50 chance of starting in the nationally televised classic — 4:15-4:45 p.m. EST, CBS—here's what happened:

1. Jockey Johnny Choquette, scheduled to ride Ralph Lowe's Texas-owned Gallant Man, was suspended for 10 days in New York. Trainer Johnny Nerud put in a hurried telephone call to Willie Shoemaker and "The Shoe" accepted the job of piloting the smallest horse in the race.

2. John Appelbaum's Mister Jive, winner of the Gotham Stakes and fourth in the Wood Memorial (won by Bold Ruler) at Jamaica, was entered. He was due in from New Jersey by plane this morning.

3. Trainer Woody Stephens said he would seek permission of Harry F. Guggenheim to enter his Cain Hoy Stable's One-Eyed King, who finished second between Iron Liege and Gen. Duke in the special Keeneland race.

Should 11 start, the gross value of the race would be $154,800 with the winner earning a net of $110,650. It cost $250 to enter a horse and another $1,250 to start him. Joining Gen. Duke, Iron Liege, Bold Ruler, Gallant Man, Federal Hill and Mister Jive in the finest field in many a year were Travis M. Kerr's Round Table, T. A. Grissom's Shan Pac, Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Indian Creek and W. S. Miller's Better Bee.

Upper Manistee Diverse Trout Waters

By JACK PATTERSON
Outdoor Writer, Pontiac Press
MACKINAW CITY — Had given some thought to going into the Upper Peninsula but reports from fishermen who have been working the area are so universally "fair to poor" that the situation wouldn't seem to require closer inspection. Rainbow spawners aren't doing much and brook trout are coming slow.

While here we should note that as of the end of the first quarter the Mackinaw Bridge is progressing.

If we had to pick a trout stream to turn a beginner loose so that he might get some idea of the diversity of trout waters we'd probably pick the upper Manistee. It has about every catalogued type of water and a few specialties. Besides, it also contains fish. We spent most of the day on this river, caught some fish and discovered that if we were a foot taller we could fish better.

We started off in the morning way up in the stream where it flows through some property that has been in the family for half a century. No one in the family has ever fished it to our knowledge. Now we know why. Maybe in another fifty years we'll try again, there are fish there but, brother, they can stay there.

A few miles downstream there she opens up again. Since there are all three species of trout present we weren't satisfied until we had a sampling of each, small brooks and rainbows came easy but it took a bit of doing to coax a brown from under a deflector.

Later we moved up to the site of the old lumber town of DeWard. Not much there now to show that it was once one of the big camps back in the days when white pines covered the area. Some piles of bricks, grass grown mounds, and the concrete machinery foundations are about all that's left. Can't even see where the old dam was. One thing is sure. David Ward would never recognize it. Fished upstream almost to George Wellington Smith's place, or so it seemed anyway. Caught and released a number of brookies, some rather nice. Ran into some of the fish division boys who have shocked the area in the past and learned where some of the big browns live. Some of these fish are reportedly so large that one thinks twice about wading the same stream with them.

Unfortunately the big ones are pretty much a night fishing proposition and we aren't much of a night fisherman, being tangled enough in the daytime.

Being thoroughly satisfied for the time being that the trout streams of Eastern and Central Michigan are ripe for the plucking right now (and being lightly fished during the middle of the week) we're going to turn our attention to the west side tomorrow and see what we can sneak up on there.

Sandra Dee at 15 Boasts Beauty, Money—No Dates

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When Sandra Dee turned 15 last week, she got a mink stole for her birthday. This may give you the impression she is not a typical teenager. You're so right.

She's about as pretty a 15-year-old as you'd ever find, with wavy blonde hair and features that can only be described as perfect. As for the other differences, she has:

Earned as much as $78,000 in one year.

Never had a date.

Only been kissed once—and then in the line of duty.

Sandra's perfect face naturally led to a modeling career in New York. She started out at $25 per hour posing for magazine covers. One of her first jobs was posing as the mother of a baby for the late American Magazine—and she is in her early teens!

She has the kind of a face that can be photographed to appear any age. Soon she was posing for all kinds of ads and magazine covers. Filmed TV commercials could raise her take to as much as $1,500 weekly. She's done many of them, and each time they appear she earns another $50.

But Sandra had the yen to be an actress, so when the call came for a test with Universal-International studios, she jumped at it. Her test turned out well, and she signed a contract. But she had to take a drop in earnings. She only gets $1,000 a week from the movies.

The screen test accounted for her first kiss. She had to go into a clinch with actor John Saxon. "I was scared to death," she recalled. "But once I got into it, it was easy. I liked it."

But still she has had no dates in her young life. How come? "I don't know," she replied. "For one thing, I've been too busy."

At 15, Sandra is starring in a loanout to MGM with Jean Simmons, Joan Fontaine, Paul Newman and Piper Laurie in "Until They Sail." The picture called for her to do her first dancing. She can't even rock 'n' roll.

"I don't like it," she commented. "And Elvis Presley is not my type."

Juror Imprisons Himself

CARLSBAD, N. M. (AP)—Dist. Judge C. Roy Anderson recently had to recess court because a juror accidentally locked himself in a courthouse restroom. Judge Anderson summoned a locksmith, the juror was freed, and the trial resumed.

"My clients today like the foreign look and no longer try to copy American film stars," said Mrs. Alette du Rand, a leading dressmaker in Johannesburg, South Africa.

Japanese Rocket Soars to 13-Mile Altitude

AKITA, Japan (AP)—Japan's first two-stage supersonic rocket, the Kappe-3, zoomed to an altitude of 13 miles today in its first test. Its designer, Prof. Hideo Hiko-oka, termed the test "highly successful" and said no further experiments were needed.

The 15-foot, 370-pound rocket is a model of one to be used for Japan's International Geophysical Year observations.

Or So the Fashion Industry Hopefully Proclaims

In Spring, Men Should Fancy Clothes

By PHYLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK (INS) — There's a widespread impression, among the caverns and closets of New York's Seventh Avenue, that men have been paying too little heed to their playtime wardrobes, and too much to their playful blondes.

In the spring, for example, a young man's fancy never turned to thoughts of a new sports coat — it would've been un-American male. That fashion routine was for the girls; men would take thoughts of love and baseball and longer lunch hours for everybody.

This, according to men's clothing manufacturers, is not only legendary but deplorable. It's got to stop. It will stop.

By next spring, the manufacturers vow, male fashions will be so fascinating, fickle, fancy and advertised that a man will be forced to change his mishy-mushy thinking habits . . .

Let him keep the same old wife or girl friend — but he must have a new suit!

REVOLUTIONARY MOVE
We first became aware of a revolutionary movement toward forcing men into seasonal suit-buying — something women were forced into long ago by fashion propaganda and changing styles — on a day some weeks ago.

A letter arrived at this desk from a maker of conservative suits. He announced that after decades of languishing in Ivy League sobriety, he is now prepared to join the "strong swing" toward fickle fashions for men.

As a first step in this daring direction, he said, he is introducing a "cocktail suit for men in a bold new color, sophisticated as a boulevardier's wink (wow, yet) called Southwick Blue."

This "delicate new hue," he gushed on, "will marry happily with the bright dresses of the ladies at cocktail hour."

In a later mail, the National Association of Men's Sportswear Buyers announced they had put their grushed-straw-batted heads together and decided:

Women have enjoyed for many years the "privilege" of discarding "obsolete" dresses after a season or two. A shortened hem, a removed shoulder pad, a dippy decolletage — any of these quick fashion changes was sufficient to enable a woman, with a clear conscience, to say so long to last year's frock and go on a buying spree.

Why shouldn't men have all that fun? After all, they've been sold on the idea of changing their cars every couple of seasons as the chassis changes; why not their clothes?

With frankness and honesty, the manufacturers report they're on an out-and-out drive to lure men into the stores to rejuvenate themselves (and the clothing industry's larder) with a new look every season.

They admit they'll use gimmicks to promote fashions and try to make men think "revolutionary" thoughts instead of "evolutionary" ones. For instance, they'll have themes for each new season. They're already decided that "The Caribbean" is to be the host fashion idea for spring 1958.

Obviously this is the biggest concerted pitch in history to make American men buy clothes like women do, instead of sparingly and distastefully.

Next thing you know, there will be a few big-name designers of men's stuffs (Schiaparelli already designs robes and shorts for the boys), and there will be talk of the "little black suit" and "that important suspender look."

SERIOUS THREAT — America's alfalfa production is under attack from an insect that first appeared in the Rio Grande Valley in New Mexico only four years ago. Known as the spotted alfalfa aphid (aphids live on plants), Newsmag shows it has moved into 15 states. It migrates freely and withstands extremely cold temperatures. The female produces two to five living young each day without mating. Last year it cut Oklahoma's production by 50 per cent, a $16 million loss to growers.

PAYING ITS RESPECTS — The Alouette II, a French-developed helicopter, comes close to the Statue of Liberty, a gift of the French people, during whirl over New York harbor.

To boost production, Belgium may ask trade unions to suspend the reduced work week agreed on for this year.

A Dutch firm is negotiating with Turkey to plan 37 large and small ports along the whole Turkish coast. Istanbul learns.

NEW CINDRSEAL KEEPS BASEMENTS DRY So Watertight It Makes Cement Block Float!

Decorator Colors Bring Life To Basement Walls

Home decorators who have long dreamed of achieving the warm glowing colors on basement walls they enjoy in upstairs rooms have a pleasant surprise coming from CINDR-SEAL. The color chart for CINDR-SEAL reads like a Painter's Field Day. It offers such mouth watering hues as Citron, Sandalwood, Straw, Aquamarine, Starlight, Mint, Carnation, and Sage—plus White, of course. In less flowery language, these exotic shades are smart decorator pastels—delicate blues and greens, dusty pink, beige, sunshine yellow. They offer an infinite variety of decorative schemes for the basement . . . bring life and light where it is needed most. Now for the first time, you can give your imagination free rein . . . devise a decorative scheme for your recreation room walls to match the wonderful color selection available in tiled rooms. And these glowing wall colors will not streak or fade.

CINDRSEAL Resists Mildew, Fungus, Alkali and Lime

Since basement walls are inherently damp and prone to mildew, the makers of CINDR-SEAL have formulated an anti-fungus agent right into the paint. They have also made CINDR-SEAL lime proof to resist the chemical action of the masonry wall. These CINDR-SEAL's beautiful colors will not fade or burn out as a result of lime seepage, salts or alkali conditions. Moreover, the walls can be washed and scrubbed time after time without harming the paint in any way. Most water-mixed paints cannot.

Got A Scientific Mind? Read This!

The sensational new ingredient that sets CINDR-SEAL apart in a class by itself is called POLY-PALE-PICCOLASTIC RESIN. It has a formulated base that is highly water repellent, plus characteristics that allow for elasticity without shrinkage. POLY-PALE-PICCOLASTIC RESIN is a magic ingredient found only in this ready-mixed basement wall paint. Its unique properties are what give CINDR-SEAL the exclusive qualities we have mentioned above . . . and why there is nothing else remotely resembling CINDR-SEAL on the market. One word of caution: CINDR-SEAL is a specialized product developed exclusively for basement walls and nothing else. Don't expect it to be a "jack-of-all-trades." It's the best product in the world for the job it is designed to do—KEEPING BASEMENTS DRY.

Miracle "Heavy Paint" Discovery Developed Exclusively To Protect Basement Walls

CINDRSEAL Only Ready Mixed Ready-to-use Basement Wall Paint
CINDRSEAL Covers Any Basement Wall Wet or Dry, Painted or Unpainted, In One Easily Applied Coat

Score another triumph for Science! Paint chemistry has converted a brand new "test tube miracle" into a practical commercial product eagerly awaited by thousands of home owners. CINDR-SEAL, amazing new "heavy paint" discovery, actually accomplishes what all previous "water resistant" and "moisture resistant" paints have never quite been able to: In one easily applied coat, without messy mixing, stirring or soaking, it fills and seals the pores in cinder block or concrete walls so tightly and thoroughly that no water can come through.

In fact, as the photograph above shows, a cement block that normally would sink to the bottom like a stone has actually been made to float . . . simply by painting it with CINDR-SEAL below the water line, sealing the pores in the cement and making the block as buoyant as a ship's hull!

CINDR-SEAL does not pretend to be a "cure-all" for use on any surface anywhere. It was developed exclusively for basement masonry walls . . . and for this purpose it has no equal. It is the ONLY ready-mixed oil base basement wall paint on the market.

And unlike many water-mix paints which cannot be used on painted surfaces, CINDR-SEAL can be applied to ANY masonry surface—painted or unpainted—wet or dry—without special preparation. You simply open the can and start painting. For "Do It Yourself" decorators with asphalt-tiled basement floors, where soaking the walls is a problem, CINDR-SEAL'S ease of application is a boon. It goes on as smoothly as butter—from brush or roller—right out of the can.

Wall Street Is His Beat

Boy TV Quiz Whiz Liked

TUJUNGA, Calif. (INS) — Eleven-year-old Leonard Ross, whose knowledge of the stock market has won him $164,000 on television quiz shows, is winning more than just high grades at Verdugo Hills High School near his Tujunga, Calif., home.

His principal and teachers attest to the fact that Leonard's college-level knowledge has not hampered the boy's standing with his classmates nor has it hurt him as a student.

Verdugo Hills Principal William A. Farmer says Leonard's well-adjusted temperament has avoided many problems that might have arisen among the students at the six-year high school in which the age level is as high as 18.

Farmer says that young Ross has taken his fame in "stride" while Charles Carico, who has Leonard in a special mathematics class, says the eighth grader fits well in the group and is accepted as an equal without jealousy.

Carlos says the classmates are proud of Leonard's accomplishments and the honor he has brought the school and adds:

HE'S NO FREAK

"He's certainly no freak. He knows that he is gifted — but he never puts on any airs about it. And he never drags in his personal knowledge just to show it off."

Leonard, whose 11-year-old peers are mostly in the fifth grade, has shown his ability to mix well by his election as treasurer of the school's junior high division and president of the social studies class.

Young Ross isn't all bookworm either. He is often seen with a tennis racket and balls. Leonard admits though that gym classes aren't his forte.

But as another teacher puts it: "He'll get pretty strong just carrying all those books around." William Weiner, Leonard's social studies teacher, adds another facet of the boy's school life.

"The other students like to hear him talk," Weiner says, adding: "They never seem to resent the fact that a younger boy may actually be talking beyond their level, and they get a kick out of seeing Leonard cross-examine me about politics."

Leonard wants to make politics his life work.

Oils and Steels Pace Advance

NEW YORK (U)—Oils and steels led the stock market to a good advance in active trading early this afternoon.

Key issues rose from fractions to 2 or 3 points.

The oils continued outstanding leaders as they were yesterday with trading heavy in this group. The steel advance was fair but nothing sensational.

The rise in the oils, according to Wall Street sources, was due to elimination of major uncertainties about the Middle East situation as it stands currently and also to a number of improved earnings statements from oil companies.

Various oil stocks were also stimulated by rumors of possible mergers.

Some chemicals also did well. Ralls made enough small advances to move the group up along with the industrials but not so widely.

The market on average was again moving close to its 1937 high reached in January.

Among the chemicals, Du Pont and American Cyanamid were each up beyond a point. Union Carbide and Dow rose close to a point while Air Reduction dropped a fraction.

New York Central, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific scored fractional gains.

General Motors and Chrysler went ahead a bit. High-priced International Business Machines added another 7. Schering rose around 2 and Caterpillar about 3.

U.S. May Boost Aid to Poland

Offer of $95 Million Three Times Greater Than Original Bid

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—Officials have tentatively offered Poland aid totaling $95 million dollars—three times as much as the original bid.

That aid program would be about three times greater than the original U.S. offer.

Negotiations started last February after President Eisenhower announced this country would help Poland in view of its asserted independence from Russia.

A State Department spokesman said the negotiations likely will continue another two weeks. The talks cannot be completed until Congress extends legislation allowing disposal of farm surpluses abroad.

The $95 million dollars worth of surplus farm goods would be sold at world prices which are lower than U.S. prices. The commodities would consist mainly of cotton, grains and fats.

The remaining $9 million dollars would go to finance agricultural and mining machinery.

When the negotiations first started, the United States offered Poland an aid program amounting to about $30 million dollars. This was rejected as inadequate by the Polish negotiators.

Airliner Runs Off Muskegon Runway

MUSKEGON (U.S.)—A Capital Airlines plane with 21 persons aboard ran off the runway last night when a sudden crosswind caught it as it landed at Muskegon Airport.

The plane blew a tire, spun around shearing off the wheel gear and collapsed with one wing touching the ground.

None of the 18 passengers or three crew members was injured.

The DC-3, flight 508, was en route from Chicago to Muskegon and Grand Rapids. Three persons bound for Grand Rapids were driven there by limousine.

The airport was closed temporarily until the plane wreckage could be moved off the runway. Civil Aeronautics Authority investigators were expected at the scene today.

Legion to Show Films on Boys' State Friday

The American Legion will sponsor a presentation of films and slides of activities at Wolverine Boys' State at Clawson, High School, 101 John R St., this Friday at 8 p.m.

Aside from a complete review of the accomplishments of boys attending during the past five years, this will mark the first public showing of these films and slides.

The Legion hopes that through these films more boys will sponsor boys. Last year the Cook Nelson Post No. 29 sponsored two Oakland County boys.

Rites for Judge's Widow

TRAVERSE CITY (U.S.)—Funeral services will be held Friday for Mrs. Thomas Meggison, 62, widow of former state legislator and Grand Traverse County Probate Judge Thomas D. Meggison. Mrs. Meggison died Wednesday at Munson Hospital.
