Romney Urges New Effort to Solve Problems

Revelry, Reunions, Rites Welcome '65

By The Associated Press
The world welcomed 1965 today with religious services, revelry and family reunions — and high hopes for peace and prosperity.

World leaders issued messages of friendship and spoke of renewed efforts to achieve peace and a better life for all people.

In New York's Times Square, traditional crossroads for American celebrations to start the New Year, a huge throng cheered wildly at the stroke of midnight.

Police declined to estimate the crowd, but past estimates of capacity ranged from 250,000 to 300,000.

Many others took their merry-making activities — the whistles, of horns and liquor toasts — to parties, or celebrated at family reunions.

Still others marked the holiday with prayers in churches.

The year's first day was filled with footballs in the United States.

Thousands went to the bowl games in Pasadena, Calif., Dallas, New Orleans and Miami.

Television carried the action across the nation.

President Johnson was at his Texas ranch, working to complete his budget message.

BLACKEYED PEAS
Blackeyed peas were on his menu, in keeping with a Southern tradition that they bring good luck for the rest of the year.

Carefree celebrations were the order of the day throughout the world — except in South Viet Nam and the Congo.

In the Soviet Union, the new leaders sent messages to other world leaders, but did not publicize them.

They shunned the colorful style of deposed Premier Khrushchev and dispensed with the Kremlin New Year's reception.

SKY DIVING

Two Long Island sky divers, Frederick Wild, 33, and Dr. Frank Guzman, had planned to pass a bottle of champagne between them as they made a free fall from 12,000 feet to 2,000 feet before opening parachutes.

But winds of 25 to 30 miles an hour kept them on the ground for the champagne toast.

Flood Rescue Workers Toil Over Holiday

for Weather-Weary
Western States

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It was no holiday today for thousands of flood victims or their rescuers in five weather-weary Western states.

With one eye on the sullen, threatening skies they kept on with the business of restoring some order to the disaster areas of Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada and Idaho.

"This is the first year I've missed a New Year's party," said Jim Jones, Civil Defense spokesman in Yreka, Calif.

"I had forgotten all about it. But we've got a steak on the fire and a bottle of wine and that's going to be our New Year's."

Flood waters were down along with temperatures, but countless communities remained isolated, preventing rescuers from letting up for even a brief celebration.

SEE NO RELIEF

The Weather Bureau offered no relief with its forecast of another Alaska storm carrying more rain and snow into the beleaguered areas today.

In Northern California a dozen civilian helicopters fanned out over remote valleys of Klamath National Forest for the first time Thursday.

They carried food, medicine, clothing and blankets to some 300 to 500 persons trapped by 10-foot snowdrifts left by what was described as the worst snowstorm in eight years.

The choppers had brought out 60 persons to Yreka where they were reunited with anxious relatives or housed by the Red Cross in local motels.

BRING NEEDS

"The local people have been bringing in clothes, blankets, everything we need," said Jones.

Thursday was the first clear day at Yreka after four successive days of snow and temperatures in the low teens.

If the weather continued to hold, employees of United Air Lines planned to fly 20,000 pounds of canned foods into Yreka for distribution by the ski-clad helicopters.

Gov. and Mrs. George Romney

Gives Address as 25 Officials Are Sworn In

Ties Success of Drive to Bipartisanship, No Political Straitjackets

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney began his second term today with an inauguration call for "an all-encompassing, no-holds-barred effort" to meet Michigan problems through both public and private efforts.

He called the needed effort "new directions for the future" and concluded it could succeed only on a bipartisan basis "which recognizes no strait jacket of political debt."

The Republican governor's 15-minute address was prepared for delivery from the Capitol at midday ceremonies in which 25 statewide officials were to take their oaths of office.

It was the highlight ceremony of a day full of activities. Romney pledged to stimulate more effective private effort and proper public effort.

GIVES WARNING

He warned that "these vacuums left by the inactivity of citizens and private voluntary institutions will be filled by government."

"And those urgent problems neglected by local and state governments," he added, "will be dealt with by the national government."

Romney said he does not intend to increase and enlarge government's role in "conquering the complex human and social frontiers that confront us."

He said: "I know from extensive private, civic and public experience that our greatest deficiencies of the future are not as likely to be in the role of government as in the role of individuals, families and private institutions."

Romney listed accomplishments of his first two years in office and summarized: "We have faced our problems head-on, we again have our own confidence and self-respect, and we have recaptured the confidence of others everywhere."

Girl Is First in Baby Race

City Child Arrives
at Pontiac General

A baby girl was born just 19 minutes after midnight to Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert A. Mitchell, of 78 S. Merrimac, taking honors as the first baby born at Pontiac's three hospitals in 1965.

According to Mrs. Lewis Woodward, night nursing supervisor, mother and baby are both fine.

There was no report of the condition of the father, who works on the assembly line at General Motors Truck & Coach. The Mitchells have one other child, Emily, 18 months.

There didn't appear to be a close contender for the contest according to reports from other hospitals.

Unless an earlier arrival is reported to the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, this little lady, as yet unnamed, and her parents will receive a handsome assortment of gifts donated by various area businesses to the First Baby Contest.

Dr. Raymond L. Mayor, whose offices are across the street from the hospital, was the attending physician.

Contest entries must be at the chamber offices, 35 W. Huron, before 5 p.m. Monday, and must be submitted through the physician.

See Continued Rise for Pontiac Business

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Famed financial analyst Roger Babson has made the following forecasts for Pontiac and the nation.)

Business in Pontiac has continued its upward trend during 1964, and it looks right now as though some further gradual gains will be seen during the year ahead.

Appraising current trends and projecting them into 1965, it would appear there may well be an increase in the business average of sufficient scope to lift totals some 3 to 4 percent above the good levels of 1964.

This will mean, of course, another of the best 12 months in your local history for businessmen and merchants who are on their toes.

Of prime importance, naturally, is the auto industry. While it does not seem probable that the spectacular upsurge enjoyed during most of 1964 in this field will continue, best guess is that production and sales of autos and trucks will at least match the 1964 average.

This will bolster economy in strong fashion during 1965. There will be other local fields that will reflect substantial increases in the new year: Public construction, road building, electric power, lacquer, varnish, paint, trailers, industrial construction, and resort activity.

Worker earnings will edge upward still further during 1965, and even hours of work may expand somewhat. Employment will be well sustained, at least during the first half of the new year.

BUSY IN '65
Retail outlets should be extremely busy in 1965, and all important services will hold strong.

Housing starts may not match the good levels of 1964, but will remain sufficiently heavy to lend support to general business.

Local living costs are going to follow the lines of the national average... slow gains but no runaways in 1965.

The coming year should see a substantial volume of tourist traffic, with excellent results for motels, restaurants, and entertainment centers in your vicinity.

Gift and specialty shops should also enjoy a brisk turnover.

All matters weighed, businessmen and merchants in Pontiac

Death Claims 177 Victims on County Roads in 1964

The scythe of death cut a wide swath down Oakland County roads this year, claiming at least 177 lives.

This unofficial Press tally is the highest death toll ever recorded in the county, according to State Police records.

The unofficial 1964 figure is 13 above the final official death toll for 1963. Official figures for 1964 should be tabulated by State Police in about 30 days.

The month of February, traditionally a low point on the year-end record sheet, was high in the county during 1964.

Twenty-three persons were killed during February in 19 separate accidents.

TOOK HOLIDAY

During September, death took the proverbial holiday, claiming only eight lives.

There were 41 multiple death accidents during the 12-month period, and 29 pedestrians, bicycle or motor scooter riders were struck down by automobiles.

Three persons died as the result of car-train accidents.

Oakland County recorded its first fatality at 5:19 p.m. on Jan. 3.

TWO-CAR CRASH

A Frankfort man died at Pontiac General Hospital from injuries suffered in a two-car crash in Pontiac Township two hours earlier.

The county waited until Dec. 26 to record its worst accident when five Flint persons, including a mother and her three sons, ended a holiday outing in a pre-dawn crash on I-75 in Independence Township.

The single car struck a pillar on a freeway overpass and all occupants except the driver were killed.

De Gaulle: Free Role for France

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle has declared anew that France will seek an independent role free of U. S. influence in the Atlantic community and the world.

He said France would cooperate with its allies but left no doubt he was challenging American influence in the Western world.

In a nationwide New Year's Eve radio and television address, the 74-year-old president stressed that France "does not seek to dominate anyone" but "intends to be its own master."

"This year which is ending has shown and the year which is beginning will confirm," he said, "that we are becoming again our own masters in the domains of politics, economy, currency and defense."

De Gaulle spoke of Atlantism to describe U. S. influence in Western Europe. A reference to supranationalism was aimed at plans for a federated rather than coordinated political system for the European community.

SEEKS CONTROL

De Gaulle has maintained that Western Europe must seek ultimate control over its own fate rather than rely on U. S. leadership. His critics believe he intends to try and exert a role that would dominate the European scene.

Referring to France's role in the Common Market, de Gaulle said a continued effort was required to ward off U. S. penetration in the economic, scientific and technical fields.

Such an effort, he said, was essential for France's independence.

De Gaulle spoke of increasing contact between France and Latin American and Communist bloc nations, including Red China.

Death Takes Noted British Army Officer

LONDON (AP) — Field Marshal Lord Wilson, whose "Army of the Nile" hurled back the Italian push into Egypt in World War II, died Thursday. He was 83.

Henry Maitland Wilson, nicknamed "Jumbo" because of his 250-pound bulk, climaxed his career as Britain's top representative with the allied chiefs of staff in Washington late in World War II.

Born in Suffolk County, England, of a long line of soldiers, Wilson went from Eton into military service and saw his first action as an infantry lieutenant in South Africa during the Boer War.

Serving as a major in World War I, he was decorated several times during his service in France.

At the outbreak of World War II, he was a lieutenant general, commanding forces that guarded the Suez Canal.

Wilson was acclaimed by Sir Winston Churchill as "one of our finest tacticians."

Ford Defends Price of Cars

Letter Is Critical of U. S. Official's View

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II, chairman of the Ford Motor Co., expressed "total disagreement" yesterday with retiring Undersecretary of the Treasury Robert V. Roosa over the latter's views on automobile prices.

Ford, referring to press reports on Roosa's news conference at Washington Tuesday, made public a letter Wednesday to Roosa in which he objected to statements attributed to the undersecretary.

Ford wrote: "There is a story in this morning's press reporting a statement made by you that the automobile companies should have reduced their prices and that if they had done so before their recent labor negotiations the cost of the settlements would have been less."

"I want to record my total disagreement with this view. Even if we had reduced our suggested retail prices at a time of declining returns, it is my

Area Stories Are Reviewed

Like all years, 1964 produced a hefty bundle of news stories in the Pontiac area. Stories of death and destruction; growth and expansion, danced across the front pages of The Press during the year just ended.

A review of the major Pontiac area newsmakers of 1964 is presented in today's Press on Page B-5.

Deadlock Reached in Shipping Talks

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Contract differences between Gulf Coast longshoremen and shippers appeared no nearer to a settlement today than 11 days ago when President Johnson sent in a mediator.

Each side accuses the other of refusing to negotiate seriously for a new contract. A no-strike truce expires Jan. 11 and a major dock strike from Maine to Texas could result.

Efforts by Asst. Labor Secretary James J. Reynolds to get collective bargaining going again broke off Thursday amid a flurry of charges from both sides that neither really wants to negotiate.

Reynolds flew back to Washington Thursday night to report to Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz.

SHIPPING HURT

The shippers claim that longshoremen at the Port of Houston work only at their convenience and are hurting the shipping firms financially. Until the situation is brought back to normal, there will be no contract negotiations, they say.

Thomas W. Gleason, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, called the shippers' charges "a smoke screen to keep from meeting the problem of a new contract head on."

He accused J. Ross Dunn, executive officer of the West Gulf Maritime Association and the top shipping negotiator, of "playing with one man's rules."

"If he (Dunn) doesn't want to play," Gleason said.

MISSING WORKERS

Dunn told newsmen that the Port of Houston is short about 500 longshoremen a day.

Gleason claims the shippers are purposely ordering more work gangs than they need.

The Gulf Coast contract, which covers ports from Lake Charles, La., to Brownsville, Tex., expired Oct. 1.

judgment — and I have been dealing with Mr. Reuther and the UAW for many years—that a price reduction would not have changed significantly the cost of our settlement with the UAW."

Ford referred to his company's negotiations with the United Auto Workers Union and UAW President Walter P. Reuther earlier this year.

CONTRACTS EMERGED

From these negotiations, and the others with automobile manufacturers, emerged new three-year contracts which the UAW estimated had a value of 54 cents an hour to its more than half a million union members.

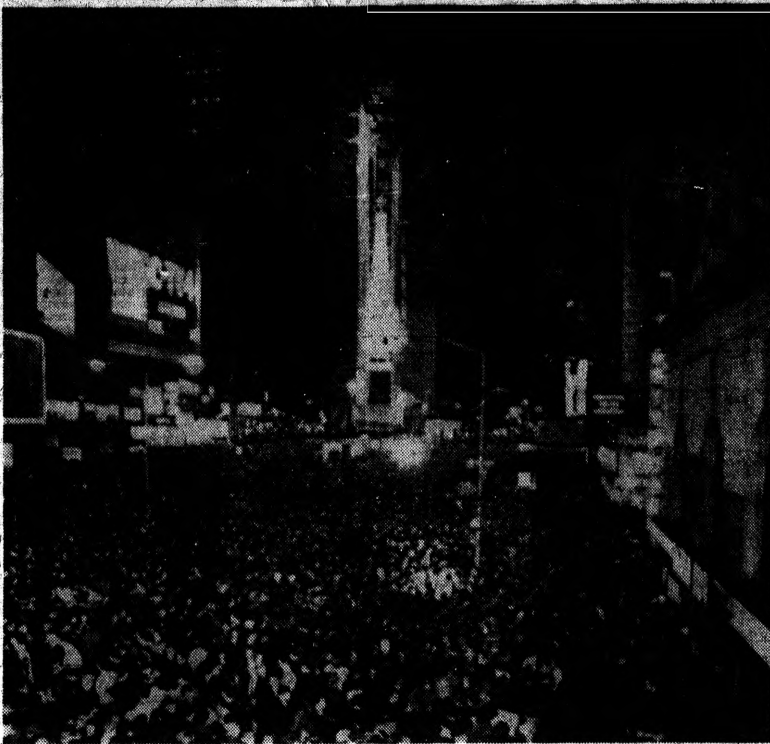

Principal elements of the new contracts included earlier retirement inducements for workers through liberalized pensions.

Ford told Roosa that inflationary pressure in the American economy was "primarily the result of excessive increases in labor costs generated by the monopoly power of unions."

"It seems to me," Ford said, "that it is high time for the executive and legislative branches of government to recognize the seriousness of this problem and to undertake intensive study to arrive at appropriate remedies."

CUTS BUILT IN

With respect to car prices, Ford said in his letter that his company had made "significant effective price cuts" in recent years by producing a better car for "substantially the same price as in 1959."

Meredith Case Move Is Made

Ask 2 Counts Against Officials Be Dropped

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Two of four counts of criminal contempt pending against Mississippi Gov. Paul Johnson and former Gov. Ross Barnett may be canceled.

The Justice Department asked the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Thursday to dismiss the two counts. The move would make the case less complex, the department said.

The appeals court charged Johnson and Barnett with disobeying its orders against trying to stop the enrollment of a Negro student, James H. Meredith, at the University of Mississippi in 1962.

At that time, Barnett was governor. Johnson was lieutenant governor.

NO COMMENT

Johnson's office in Jackson said there would be no comment.

Both defendants have the right to reply to the dismissal request if they so choose, the appeals court clerk said. No date has been set for the trial.

In Washington, acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the two counts of criminal contempt would greatly extend and complicate the trial without furthering the ends of justice.

Each of the four counts of criminal contempt charge willful disregard and defiance of orders issued by the court.

Weather Unusual

During December, the weatherman shook out his bag of tricks in the Pontiac area, serving up a potpourri of different temperatures and climates without rhyme or reason.

One day there was skating on the lakes and the next day a skater would almost drown.

Temperatures skittered about with a high of 54 degrees Dec. 24 and a high of 21 degrees Dec. 6. Lows ranged from 5 degrees Dec. 6 to 39 Christmas Eve. Average temperature for the month was 27 degrees.

It rained seven days, snowed another seven days and one day it did both. Just to make it interesting, it was sunny eight days and cloudy six.

On Dec. 3, we had rain, sleet and snow.

SNOW, RAIN

A total of 10 1/2 inches of snow fell in December only to melt within a day or two. A scant three quarters of an inch of rain fell during the month.

Oh yes, did we mention fog and drizzle? There were both during about four days and nights.

The 1964 model skates and sleds had a slight workout, but by the time Santa brought the '65 models, roller skates would have been more in order.

Fresh Protest in Malaysia Over U.S. Loan Terms

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Anti-American posters were pasted on the U.S. Embassy and U.S. Information Service buildings here today in a fresh protest against a U.S. loan offer to Malaysia.

An embassy spokesman said three men put up the signs before dawn and threw a beer bottle at a U.S.I.A. window.

The signs, saying "to hell with American aid," "American bloodsuckers" and "boycott American goods," were taken down by police after an embassy staff member summoned them, the spokesman said.

Arrest Bandit, Free Hostage

NEW YORK (AP) — Two policemen fired at an 18-year-old bandit in a Times Square foreign currency exchange Thursday, then persuaded him to free a woman hostage and surrender after his gun misfired three times.

One of four bullets fired by the patrolmen ricocheted and struck an employee in the arm, seriously wounding him.

Police said the robber was Frank Trzaskos, of Staten Island, N.Y., absent without leave from the New London Conn. Naval Base.

New Charges in Guard Case

Question Fund Use for Post Exchange

LANSING (AP) — New charges broke in the Michigan national guard land, money and liquor scandal Thursday and the name of a fourth top guard officer was brought into the accusations.

Lt. Col. Joemax Smith was charged in Auditor General Billie Farnum's final report with withholding $38,819 in rebates due the state from operation of the Camp Grayling Post Exchange.

Farnum said the post exchange program may also owe the state $75,000 in taxes pending determination of whether it is a private or a Guard operation.

The attorney general's office said it is studying the report to see if criminal charges are involved.

FIRST SECTION

When Farnum released the first section of his report Oct. 8, Gov. George Romney fired Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald, Adjutant General; Brig. Gen. Carson Neifert, Quartermaster General, and Lt. Col. Versel Case, Neifert's executive officer.

On advice from Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, Romney reinstated McDonald and Neifert but they were immediately suspended by Maj. Gen. Cecil L. Simmons, president of the State Military Board. Romney is to give them a formal hearing early next year.

Kelley, Romney and Farnum have said there is no basis for criminal charges against McDonald and Neifert based on the first section of the report, which listed irregularities in land transactions, liquor sales and use, travel vouchers, pay and construction financing.

The final report finds the state has not recovered military funds due from the federal government, the Camp Grayling Officers Club has been subsidized by state appropriations, numerous records have not been properly kept and the Guard regularly borrowed $10,000 from a bank for a beer fund.

FACILITIES USED

Farnum also found nonreimbursed use of state automobiles and telephones.

He said the new findings will not be used in the hearing scheduled for McDonald and Neifert but could be the basis of another hearing.

Five Youngsters Die of Fumes in France

LA ROCHELLE, France (AP) — The five children of Mr. and Mrs. Jean-Louis Richardson died today from asphyxiation, apparently caused by an unvented heater, authorities said. The parents were at a neighbor's home watching a New Year's Eve television show.

The children ranged in age from two months to seven years.

Winter Classes Listed by Community House

BIRMINGHAM — Residents this week are leafing through Community House brochures announcing the winter term educational activities.

Next week they will begin registering for the more than two dozen classes scheduled at the center, 380 S. Bates.

Registrations will be accepted from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday and the enrollment period will continue through the week.

Early registration is recommended because the classes are limited in size.

Several new classes will be launched during the winter term. Connoisseur's kitchen will be conducted to allow participants to see the preparation of lavish dishes, learn the methods used and sample the results.

RECIPE BOOK

Students in the class will receive copies of the gourmet recipes. A bonus will be a wine appreciation lecture.

Supervised bridge playing is another addition for card enthusiasts.

Oakland University will co-sponsor a course on the art of leadership through effective speaking and one on lives of the past which have changed the present.

These two courses will not start until February.

OTHER COURSES

Other courses are art appreciation, creative pottery, French, German, painting.

occurred during the year—one each in February, March and May.

On Feb. 29 three men were killed in a two-car crash in Groveland Township.

Three men also died in a two-car accident in Pontiac on March 19.

A Pontiac couple and a Warren girl lost their lives in a two-car collision in Troy on May 30.

A Negaunee man and a Lyon Township boy were killed on April 5 when the car in which they were riding was struck broadside by a passenger train near South Lyon.

The county recorded its most unusual fatality on April 28 in White Lake Township.

A Waterford Township minister was killed when a piece of steel, apparently thrown up from the road by the wheels of a truck, knifed through the windshield and penetrated his skull.

The velocity of the steel was so great that it cut through the windshield, rather than shattering it.

Vietnamese Open Big Campaign

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Bristling with machine guns and rocket pods, 37 helicopters flew cover today as the government ordered two paratroop battalions into embattled Binh Gia village.

Military sources said the massive New Year's Day operation was the start of an apparent effort to mop up the Communists who have heavily infiltrated the jungle 40 miles east of Saigon.

An air search was under way for two Americans aboard a spotter plane that vanished in mountainous terrain of central Viet Nam near the Laotian border while on a reconnaissance mission from Da Nang.

VISITS WOUNDED

On the political front, the wife of armed forces commander Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh visited wounded U.S. servicemen in Saigon's Navy Hospital in what appeared to be a further effort by Khanh to show he harbors no ill feeling toward the United States.

Talks continued between Vietnamese civilian and military leaders and U.S. Embassy officials on the U.S. demand for a restoration of Viet Nam's civilian government, purged by the military nearly two weeks ago.

The big effort to protect the troop-carrying helicopters ordered for Binh Gia followed the downing there of a U.S. helicopter with four Americans aboard. A marine battalion recovered the body of one crewman shot down Wednesday by Viet Cong fire.

Vietnamese troops hunted for the other three Americans today as fighting continued around the Roman Catholic refugee town of Binh Gia for the sixth straight day.

Eleven Americans were wounded in the battle and two others were presumed captured by the Viet Cong. Revised estimates placed the number of dead Vietnamese at 44 with 94 wounded and 47 missing.

Military sources stressed that the figures are not final and do not take into account casualties suffered by other forces, including a Marine detachment ambushed New Year's Eve.

Continuation of 1964 Uptrend Predicted for Pontiac Business

PEACE AND PROSPERITY

Promising the people of the United States "peace and prosperity," President Johnson was carried to victory last November on an overwhelming landslide.

By nature he is more likely to compromise than to contest. Also, he is deeply sincere in his desire to accelerate the economic growth of this country and to wipe out poverty.

But we must not forget that both Woodrow Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt promised to keep America out of "foreign" wars.

And already the British financial crisis has forced the Federal Reserve to raise its discount rate to 4 per cent — despite President Johnson's dislike of higher money rates.

Therefore, as we look forward to 1965 from our more than 60 years of experience in forecasting and analysis, we emphasize once again that the great rolling tides of economic fundamentals and social currents are likely to have a greater impact on what is to unfold than will the campaign promises of successful candidates.

1. There will be no war with Russia during 1965. The Russian people want some of the "peace and prosperity" that President Johnson promised our citizens.

2. Watch Russia's satellites in 1965. They will try to make a deal with the new Moscow administration which will involve more trade and prosperity and less politics. Following Khrushchev's fall, the satellites will aim for more consumer goods for their people rather than for more personal freedom.

3. Red China made the biggest news in 1964 by exploding a nuclear bomb. In 1965, Communist China's greatest effort will be to gain admission to the United Nations. We believe there is a 50-50 chance the Red dragon will get into the U.N. in 1965. However, Communist China will not risk all-out war in the year ahead. She has neither a sufficient stockpile of nuclear bombs nor adequate means of delivering them in quantity.

4. Conditions in Cuba are not likely to change radically in 1965. The Russians will do nothing to handicap Castro; neither will they do much to help him. With world sugar prices down, the Cuban chief will try to make a deal with the United States before the end of 1965.

5. Intensified emphasis on new space-age defenses will provide more jobs in 1965 than the closing down of obsolete installations will eliminate.

6. The stock market will continue to be a paradox in 1965. The industrial average may push to 1,000 before any real turn-around takes place. Many stocks, however — including numbers of issues oriented to conventional warfare and defense — will still do little or nothing. Look for breather selectivity in stocks next year.

7. Inflation fears may rise in 1965; but we do not look for runaway prices next year as productive capacity is too large.

8. More wage hikes are certain in 1965. Liberal concessions won in the auto and other industries in 1964 provide tempting targets for the steel unions and secondary labor groups to shoot at in 1965.

9. Employment will continue favorable in 1965, but additions to rolls will be most noticeable in fields such as teaching, personal services and government work.

10. Due to rising labor costs, look for business to turn even more to automation and labor-saving devices in 1965. Pressures on profit margins will spur cost cutting and efforts to raise productivity.

11. As a result of automobile strikes in late 1964 and the fear of a possible steel shutdown in mid-1965, we look for a bulge in business volume during the first half of 1965.

12. In a nutshell, business should make new all-time highs in early 1965; after midyear, a tapering off appears likely. However, 1965 will set another new record.

13. Following the strike interruptions of late 1964, personal income should move smartly ahead to new highs in the first half of 1965 — although the rate of advance will slow after midyear.

14. The important automobile industry should post another excellent sales year in 1965, but as the year advances we feel that gains will be harder to come by.

15. The powerful building and construction activities should prove a strong support to general business during 1965 — even though we foresee no marked improvement. Some gain in dollar volume will be largely due to higher costs.

16. Overextension of credit and overambitious operators have put the real estate market in a bind in many large metropolitan areas. We strongly advise caution in making new commitments, especially in commercial real estate where a thin equity exists.

17. As 1965 begins, prices for agricultural products are generally well above their lows for 1964. Unless severe widespread drought intervenes, we look for no more than seasonal strength in agricultural prices during the year ahead. In a word, we do not see any near-term important uplifting forces on the farm scene.

18. The situation in industrial commodity prices is somewhat different. With business heading higher in the first half and with labor costs scaling new peaks, industrial commodity prices, with some exceptions, will push upward at least during the coming six months.

19. Living costs will also rise to new all-time heights. And, since President Johnson is committed to getting Medicare passed at this session of Congress, look for hospital, nursing, and doctors' fees to spurt before the end of 1965.

20. Even with federal income taxes already slated to drop a notch next year and with prospects excellent that excise taxes will be cut, rejoicing should be restrained by the knowledge that local taxes will take another uptwist and social security levies will rise again — even faster after the 89th Congress enacts Medicare.

21. Further progress in United States exports will be harder to achieve in the coming year. Certainly, if the steel labor outlook appears bad by midspring, heavy imports of foreign steel may be resorted to by U.S. businessmen. This would result in a narrowing of our favorable trade balance and have a further adverse impact on the U.S. international balance of payments.

22. The silver coinage situation will become more acute as

Two Killed in Bus Crash

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A Greyhound bus with 33 passengers aboard bound from San Diego to Los Angeles ran off the road just south of the community of Del Mar this morning with the loss of at least two lives, police reported.

Officers said almost all of those aboard were injured, many seriously.

Police dispatched 16 ambulances to the scene and Greyhound sent another bus to carry the less seriously injured to hospitals in the San Diego area.

The crash occurred on the inland side of U.S.101, the main north-south thoroughfare which threads the coastline between San Diego and Los Angeles.

Cruises to Resume for Repaired Liner

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Israeli luxury liner Shalom will resume its Caribbean cruise schedule Tuesday following completion of repairs to damage suffered in a collision with a Norwegian freighter off New Jersey.

The 25,338-ton Zim Liner will arrive here Sunday from drydock in Newport News, Va.

The Zim Lines has blamed the freighter Stolt Dagali for the Dec. 5 collision in heavy fog and announced its intent to sue. The owners of the freighter have denied the charge.

Englishman Celebrates 100th Birthday—Again

BARNSTAPLE, England (UPI) — James Poole took his birth certificate with him to celebrate his second 100th birthday party.

The staff at the hospital where he stays had miscalculated and given him a centenary celebration last year, when he was 99.

Brief Freedom Enjoyed

GENOA, Italy (UPI) — Avio Spaggiari, 33, celebrated his release from a brief jail sentence by dining on lobster, caviar and champagne at a night club. He didn't have the $138 to pay for the feast, however, and was sent back to jail.

Alaska Caribou Herd Expands

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — In spite of marauding wolves and hunters' guns, a population explosion in the Nelchina herd of caribou has the Alaska Fish and Game Department wondering what to do about the oversupply of American reindeer.

The herd, roaming the Nelchina River area northeast of Anchorage, numbered only about 5,000 in the early 1940s. It is estimated now at 80,000 caribou.

Worried that the massive-antlered beasts might grow beyond the food capacity of the range, the game department banned the shooting of the wolves which live high off the fat of the caribou.

Jim Brooks, director of the Division of Game, said the wolf population has stabilized but the caribou still increase.

LIMITS INCREASED

Shooting seasons have been liberalized and bag limits increased until a hunter can take home four caribou in most areas. Brooks estimated 8,000 animals would be taken from the Nelchina herd before the season closes March 31.

"Fracturing" helps a little. This is what Brooks calls the desertion of the main herd by small bands of caribou. Not enough Nelchina caribou, however, have decided to run away from home.

Hunters can't help a lot. The 226,000 Alaskans are far outnumbered by the caribou. The Nelchina herd is only one of several and not the biggest. The Arctic herd has some 330,000 animals, the Steese-Portmyle herd about 50,000. There are two other large herds — on the Alaska Peninsula and in the Mt. McKinley area. On the Arctic and one other herd there is no bag limit.

The Steese-Portmyle caribou are harvested by hunters when migration leads them across the highways near Fairbanks. This year they didn't cross and the take may be only 1,000, instead of the ideal of 5,000.

40 Years of Red Rule Change Little in Soviet State

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The tiny Soviet republic of Moldavia has just celebrated its 40th anniversary of Communist rule. Some of its remotest regions were opened recently—probably for the first time—to a group of foreign newsmen, among them an Associated Press writer. Here is his report.)

By ANTHONY WHITE
Associated Press Writer
VORNICHENI, Moldavia, U.S.S.R. — This tiny Moldavian village has never rated the honor of a dateline before.

You will not find it on the map. It is too small. Main Street is little more than a wide dirt track and the most important place of meeting is the village well.

A car rarely passes and when it does it brings out herds of dogs and children running excitedly in its dusty wake. They stop and stare—the children and the dogs—until it is out of sight.

Old men drive bullock carts and girls go to the wells with yokes across their slim, hunched shoulders.

PARTY IS HERE

The party is here. "The light of communism shows the way of tomorrow," says the slogan in the dusty little square.

But there is nothing of tomorrow, and little of today, about Vornicheni.

For Vornicheni is part of the old world, a microcosm of much of the Soviet Union where old, conservative, primitive ways still clash with the new and progressive.

Slowly, very slowly, the new Communist ways and the new men are winning in this land regarded by some as the Cinderella state of the Soviet Union.

NATIVE TONGUE

Many of its people still speak their native Romanian tongue.

In some families Russian is not spoken at all, sometimes not even understood.

Once part of Romania, Moldavia now is a tiny self-governing republic, its leaders intensely loyal to the "Great Russians" taking their orders unquestioning from Moscow.

NO MURMUR

You hear no murmur of any "back-to-Romania" movement.

Sandwiched between Romania to the west, and the Ukraine to the north, east and south, Moldavia is all but lost on the vast map of the Soviet Union.

It is still largely what it always was — a peasant land, a farming land whose best things are its fruit, wine and sunshine and its rich, black earth.

Gradually, its government and party leaders are transforming it into an important industrial complex.

NEW FACTORIES

New factories are springing up producing electrical equipment, machinery, refrigerators.

But still it is basically an agricultural country, and the Moldavians' greatest boast is this: "We feed ourselves. And we feed much of the rest of the Soviet Union too."

Bullocks and horses still haul much of the produce from Moldavia's dark earth, but the tire marks of trucks and tractors on the rutted country roads testify to the country's slow progress.

In the few cities and large towns the mark of the old ways are less in evidence.

DOWN THE ROAD

The capital is Kishinev, population 280,000.

It is 750 miles southwest of Moscow, but it could be just down the road from Red Square.

Its streets are like Moscow's, its buildings, cafes, furniture stores, hotels are like Moscow's.

The hand of the Russian "colonizers" is as clearly stamped here as the British in Africa or Asia.

65 PER CENT

Of Moldavia's 3 million inhabitants, some 65 per cent are Romanian-type, and all but a tiny minority of the rest Russians and Ukrainians.

Official positions seem to be shared pretty equally among these three main groups.

The Moldavian language is spoken widely. Moldavian language books can be found in most book shops — but almost all of them in the Cyrillic alphabet.

Street signs in the big towns are usually in both Russian and Moldavian pronunciation — but still in the Cyrillic alphabet.

LATIN ALPHABET

In the rural areas street and village signs in the Latin alphabet are to be seen, but they are not common.

But even in the towns remnants of Moldavia's past still linger.

In Tiraspol, a city of 75,000, open earth storm water drains are found immediately off the main street.

The town boasts traffic lights, but they are not necessary.

LITTLE NOTICE

Peasants on horse, and cart, bringing mountainous loads of fruit and grapes to market, take little notice of them, appearing hardly to understand what they are all about. There are few cars.

To some the traffic lights are an object of wonder.

An old man with a little boy clutching his hand stood for several minutes at one street corner staring in delighted amazement as the lights changed from green, to orange, to red, to orange.

Forty years of Soviet rule thus have left little mark on much of this pleasant land.

CARVED OUT

The Moldavian autonomous republic was created in 1924, carved out of part of what was known as Bessarabia.

In 1940 Romania, then on less friendly terms with the Soviet Union than it is now, yielded to a Moscow ultimatum and ceded further areas of Bessarabia to the Soviet Union.

This was added to Moldavia and the larger republic was then given full-fledged self-governing status.

The country's checkered history as a battleground for warring nations repeated itself in World War II when the Germans swept across it in their eastward advance across the Soviet Union.

GAVE BACK

The Germans gave the captured Moldavia back to the Romanians, as a reward for their alliance in the war.

In the autumn of 1944, as the Soviet armies rolled the Germans back, Moldavia was retaken and became once more a part of the Soviet Union.

Kishinev was left a smoking ruin, three-quarters of its buildings destroyed.

Now it is largely a new city. New apartment blocks are rising, throwing their tall shadows across slum-like shack dwellings that still house many thousands of the capital's population.

SLOW PROGRESS

Progress — 20 years after the war — seems to have been slow.

"We still have much to do," party officials admit. "The peasant tradition is still very strong. But the young people are being educated in the modern tradition. We need time."

To the Soviet propagandists Moldavia is a land of milk and honey and contented, flourishing people.

Their picture of Moldavia must make Moldavians wonder whether they are living in the same country.

PROPAGANDA FILM

For in the Dom Kultura — the "House of Culture" — of Vornicheni, really just the village hall, I saw a propaganda movie which opened with a scene of a peasant woman walking to a well with a yoke across her shoulders.

"This is how things were," the commentator said. "Now we have modern water supply and drainage."

In the same village, just down the road a few minutes later, I saw a peasant woman walking to a well with a yoke across her shoulders.

No Key to Unlock

HAYS, Kan. (AP) — When a display of locks arrived at Fort Hays State College nobody had a key to open the case.

The exhibit of 27 locks could not be put on display until a key arrived from the American Federation of Artists in New York City.

Bank Vault Door Has Long History

BERNALILLO, N. M. (AP) — Bank vault doors can have quite a history.

The one on the vault of the First State Bank here originally saw service in a Colorado Springs bank, constructed in 1882.

"It had to be hauled there by mule team," noted Robert Gish, bank manager. When the Colorado Springs bank got a new vault door recently, it "traded in" the old one. The Bernalillo bank bought it for its new building.

It made its latest journey by truck.

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — In Switzerland, when new telephone directories are distributed subscribers are urged not to throw away their old ones, but to turn them in at a special window in any post office.

The post office sells them as old paper and the proceeds are used to buy radio sets for the blind, for invalids, and for schools in poor villages in the isolated mountain districts.

City Manager Spots Progress Made During Preceding Year

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In keeping with our policy of publishing guest editorials from time to time, today's article has been written by Pontiac City Manager Joseph A. Warren.)

By JOSEPH A. WARREN

It is now five months since I arrived here to assume the duties of city manager of Pontiac. These have been busy months, for a multitude of problems have beset your city government during 1964.

When I arrived I was greatly impressed with the progress that the City of Pontiac has made during the past several years. The construction of new facilities that were completed, or were under way, was very impressive.

WARREN

The new facilities included the new water system, the new sewage treatment facilities, the new library building, central fire station, new neighborhood fire station, the new airport administration building and control tower, major additions to the city hospital, construction of the police station and municipal courts building, the new Hayes Jones Community Center, and the closing in of the Clinton River.

Each of these have made an important contribution to improving the appearance of our city and the operation of our city government.

The recent opening of Wide Track Drive and the Orchard-Auburn connection, even though there are some temporary problems in adjusting to them, are both major accomplishments and are completely changing the appearance and mobility of our entire city. New construction which is now under way in the urban renewal areas is a welcome sight and more is coming.

While Pontiac was making great progress in obtaining these physical facilities, all financed by special revenues, the problems of operation of the City have grown acute.

These problems have their basis in having the City tax rate fixed in the City Charter through an arbitrary tax rate limitation. This causes a great problem when the cost of performing most services is increasing substantially and the people have generously voted major new benefits for certain groups of city employees on several recent occasions.

The new city commission which took office last April has worked long and diligently on these problems and are making a concerted and conscientious effort to arrive at solutions. They are going to need the support and backing of the entire citizenry of Pontiac during the new year.

The immediate question will be the matter of adequately financing city governmental operations. This will come to a vote of the people later this winter. The future of Pontiac can be shaped in large measure for generations to come by the decision that is made by the voters at that time.

The year just past, in many ways, culminated a period of preparation. With the new facilities in place, how effectively these can be used to provide a community of which we can all be proud, depends directly on the next decision by all the people.

HAVING a date arranged by a computer is probably little, if any, better than going on a blind date.

To an alarming extent on the international level the Golden Rule has been supplanted by brass knucks.

It's a great pity that a man's ability and propensity for thinking young doesn't weaken commensurately with his advancing age.

ALCOHOLISM is extremely difficult to cure. If it weren't, half a dozen or so busedead hangovers would effect a lasting cure.

Unnatural Year: It Was Too Quiet

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The little guy, any little guy going home on New Year's Eve felt so calm it was unnatural. A whole year gone without a great fear or a great disaster. He wasn't used to it.

It wouldn't last, he thought, as he bustled along, like heading into a new century. So he slowed down, asking himself: "What's the rush? It's just another year coming up." Is that all?

He didn't know. He had seen too many years to be sure.

He remembered this night last year, going home. He was dragging then, not bustling, with the Dallas thing still on his mind, spoiling everything for him, even his sense of life.

In 1963, after that day in November, he would have been glad if someone, remembering President Kennedy, had said officially: "Happiness is canceled for the rest of the year."

The year before that the Cuban missiles gave him the creeps. Not just the danger. They made him feel more than ever that the world was getting nuttier. The world he grew up in wasn't like that, or so he told himself.

ALWAYS SOMETHING

And the year before that there was the Berlin wall, and the year before... There was almost always something, but this year practically nothing except the presidential campaign. Was that right? He tried to remember.

There was the income tax cut. He remembered that. And he remembered he didn't understand it or how much the cut was. Too complicated. He'd find out later when he was doing his tax return. It could wait.

He got on the bus, Jampacked, but no anxious faces. They were like him, the undisturbed. Any shooting in 1964 was far off, in the Congo or Viet Nam. Any shooting was far off, too, in the Soviet Union or Red China or some place.

NEVER SAW THEM

He never really saw them. They lived in a different part of town or a different part of the country, the empty-handed ones. This bothered him a little, but not much, because he was wrapped up in his garden, and the car and the family and a thousand things every day.

He looked at the people in the bus: the tall, the short, the fat, the skinny. They didn't seem to be worrying. He shook himself.

"That's enough of this stuff," he said. "Let's get going."

The bus kept going. And 1965 was just around the corner.

New Year — New Hope

Castro to Mark 6th Anniversary

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The sixth anniversary of Fidel Castro's regime will be celebrated tomorrow. His dictatorship seems to be enjoying political stability but is troubled by a deep, continuing economic crisis.

Slogans in flag-decked Havana still speak of battle but it is "the battle of the sugar crop."

Billboards, television and movies tell Cuba, "the battle of the sugar crop is the battle of the economy."

It is the only theme being pushed — a sharp contrast to previous years when numerous slogans capsuled the different political and economic points of Castro's policy.

There will be a big military parade tomorrow and Castro will make a New Year's speech that traditionally has featured ceremonies commemorating the 1959 New Year flight of Fulgenio Batista.

CLIMB TO POWER

The fallen dictator's journey into exile capped Castro's climb to power — begun in 1953 — that took him from jail to exile to Cuba's Sierra Maestra Mountains to a leisurely victorious march into Havana.

Castro's regime is backed by the most powerful army in Latin America and by militia and paramilitary units.

But the deep economic crisis that has beset it from almost the beginning continues, bringing with it strict food rationing and shortages in other articles and consumer goods.

An acute drop in world sugar prices in 1964 and a second consecutive low sugar crop yield made the crisis even more severe.

$500 MILLION

Cuba is faced with a balance of payment deficit reliably reported to be well over $500 million.

Amid his government's austerity measures, Castro has admitted that prospects for all aspects of Cuban life are even bleaker for 1965.

High government officials have said privately that the future of the economy depends on the results of the 1965 sugar crop, the island's main export commodity.

Harvesting the 1965 crop already has started and there is optimism here that it will be a success. The government is hammering home the theme that the battle of the sugar crop "has to be fought on all fronts, not only in the cane fields."

ANTI-U.S. STAND

The preoccupation with the economy has removed from this year's anniversary preparations any mention of Castro's anti-U.S. stand.

Noticeably absent from the press lately have been the often-repeated demands that the United States withdraw from its Guantanamo naval base and that Washington cease observation flights over the island.

In the last three months, Castro himself has not touched upon any foreign policy themes in his speeches.

Foreign delegations arriving here for the revolution's anniversary are mostly from Communist parties in Europe, Asia, Africa and Latin America.

LOWER RANK

Groups from the Soviet Union and Red China are headed by lower rank officials in contrast to former years. Leading the Soviet delegation is cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov, who commanded the three-man Soviet spaceship that orbited the earth last October.

Derogatory Reports Bring Quick Reply From AEC

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission is fuming almost as hotly as a split atom over suggestions that it is administratively disorganized, plagued by discord, becoming downgraded in government stature — and running out of things to do.

Vigorously denying any such ideas, the AEC also says that:

Things are going so well under its present five-member setup that there's no movement afoot within the commission — as there was a couple of years ago — to have the agency changed to a single-administrator type of operation.

Finally, Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the agency, says he knows of no basis for suggestions that the AEC feels subservient to the joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee — that is, suggestions that the AEC feels compelled to take unusual steps in carrying out its legal responsibilities to the committee.

Seaborg, the Nobel Prize man who is top man in the nation's $3 billion-a-year, 7,300-employee atomic enterprise, was particularly forceful during an interview in challenging any idea that the AEC is headed over the hill into obsolescence, largely because it has built up a stockpile of nuclear weapons and so much fissionable materials that production cutbacks already have been ordered.

HOST OF JOBS

"The AEC's functions have never been more diverse," he said.

And the AEC as a whole contends that it has a host of big jobs still on its calendar — ranging from the quest to take salt out of seawater to developing "a wide variety of nuclear weapons."

On other fronts there were these findings:

• Moves within the commission itself for reorganization into a single-administrator outfit appear to have occurred largely in 1962. And there is no available evidence of any strong moves anywhere today for such a change.

• Several members of the joint Senate-House atomic committee said the committee exerts no undue power over the AEC. And another — Sen. Clinton Anderson, D-N.M., a former chairman of the committee — said any discord in the AEC's relationships with its own staff prevailed only in a two-year period ending in mid-1962, and "I don't believe it is true today."

• State Department officials say the AEC is increasingly "coming into the mainstream" (of international policy matters) to help further the over-all policy of the U.S. government.

Chicago Sports Arena

The Chicago Tribune

Over the week-end two football games were played under strikingly different circumstances. The Buffalo Bills defeated Boston in a snowstorm to win the eastern championship of the American Football League. In the Atlantic City Convention hall, where the temperature was a comfortable 60, Utah beat West Virginia in the Liberty bowl game.

Those who watched both on television hardly could fail to get the idea that every large city ought to have a weather-proof sports stadium. The Tribune has proposed that the arena be financed by general obligation bonds, which would require approval of the voters. Mayor Daley expressed the hope that the project could be carried out by some other means of financing. He has asked Philip R. Clarke, investment banker, and James C. Downs, head of Real Estate corporation, to make a further study.

Our position has not changed. The report, made to a citizens' committee recommended that the arena be financed by general obligation bonds, which would require approval of the voters. Mayor Daley expressed the hope that the project could be carried out by some other means of financing. He has asked Philip R. Clarke, investment banker, and James C. Downs, head of Real Estate corporation, to make a further study.

Another school vacation has gone by, and my children have had to stay in because the dogs have to run. I live in Chetolah Shores Subdivision. I don't think the dog owners here know that there is an ordinance such as keeping dogs penned or on a leash. I hope we get a dog warden that isn't afraid to impound a few dogs. I like the animals as long as they stay in their own yards.

Reader Replies to Letter on Socialism

Mr. Hogan's appeal for a more professional psychoanalysis of Socialists has considerable merit. Socialist sympathizer Hogan asks, if I am critical of a Socialist, how do I classify Edison, Lincoln and Jefferson; this is tantamount to asking if one is critical of Lee Harvey Oswald, how do you classify John F. Kennedy?

As for "old people dusting off their pennies to pay taxes," it should delight Mr. Hogan to know that the U.S. government is using these pennies to prop up shaky socialistic governments all over the world, rather than reduce taxes.

If you are unhappy here and prefer socialism, why don't you go enjoy socialism where they have it now, and make room for those who after having lived under socialism prefer to escape to capitalism.

'Bus Transportation Necessary for City'

Pontiac does need buses. I use them to get to work. I also ride the bus downtown. I spend quite a bit on the fares, but do not begrudge it.

I suppose City Commissioner Hudson is lucky enough to own a car. That's fine, but plenty of folks have to depend on buses. And what will the drivers do, if these buses are taken off the streets?

A Good Scientist Knows

The New York Times

A few weeks ago, a Johns Hopkins university scientist reported that he seemed to have discovered the element in a rat's brain which drives the rat to fight when his back is to the wall.

After removing this element, he reported, he found that his rats made no protest when held up by the tail and covered without resistance when backed into a corner. As a good scientist, he refused to leap to the conclusion that man has a similar streak of brain tissue, but the suggestion is there and ready for further exploration.

The possibility of taking the fight out of the human race, perhaps by chemistry, will surely not be overlooked by the super-state's laboratories. Repugnant though the flightless man may be to those who believe that human dignity consists in fighting city hall and taking no man's guff, he at least has certain charms as a survivable organism in the age of the super-bomb.

Even Kitchen Sink Stolen

Old 1964 Was Great Year for Zany Crimes

By MEADER G. PATTINGTON
NEW YORK (NEA) — Well, 1964 kept up the tradition. An enterprising thief stole the kitchen sink from a residence in Dundee, N.Y.

Weighty subjects were in the news. In Miami a robber took a 125-pound barbell from a country club and escaped by tossing it over a fence.

And in Genesee N.Y., thieves really stretched things out, they got away with 48 miles of copper wire, stolen from the railroad.

Another stout fellow in Stafford, England, carted an entire house away, a piece at a time.

Thieves in Tulsa, Okla., apparently liked the four new air compressors they took from a construction job. They returned the next night and took four more.

RECOVERED TRAIN

In Cambridge, Mass., two men tried to steal a two-car train. A starter, seeing warning lights flash, took after the would-be thieves; they got away but he recovered the train.

Some people stole the queerest things.

In Montreal, a coffin was stolen from an undertaker supplier's truck.

And in Jacksonville, Fla., a housewife discovered that someone had stolen the concrete steps at the back door.

MANHOLE COVERS

Three manhole covers were stolen by a thief in Pittsford, N.Y.

Cemeteries came in for their share of trouble.

In Salzburg, Austria, a large cross was stolen.

LOSE SKELETON

In Phoenix, a skeleton was taken from the medical dispensary of the National Guard.

And bookstore owners in Miami reported that items frequently taken by shoplifters are copies of the Bible. Some even bring them back and try to exchange them for cash.

Police came in for attention in 1964.

ALL SHAPES AND SIZES — Massachusetts thieves tried to steal a two-car train, but an alert starter, seeing warning lights flash, took after the "train robbers." He recovered the train, but the thieves got away.

Rochester, N.Y., police reported the theft of a new filing cabinet from their command office.

MAYOR'S CAR

The mayor's car was stolen from the front of the town hall in Bedford, England, as he was attending a meeting on means of preventing auto thefts.

Someone rolled off with all the billiard balls from the police department's recreation room in Huntington, W. Va. Explosions did funny things.

A blown safe in Sydney, Australia, knocked the telephone off the hook, thereby warning police headquarters.

ROUGH GOING

Some burglars had rough going.

As robbers were trying to escape from a bank in Bergamo, Italy, a grenade backfired and the two would-bees were badly injured.

The meanest men title should go to two men who picked the pocket of a badly injured man pinned under his car, then walked off and left their victim.

The only item taken from a home in Kannapolis, N.C., was the watchdog.

YOUTH IN NEWS

Youth made the news.

A 10-year old boy in Rochester N.Y., had his crime spree halted. He had stolen: a hunting knife, two cigars, a suit, three rabbits, pair of shoes, head of lettuce (probably to feed the rabbits), a bicycle, two bars of soap, a bag of balloons.

And a shrunken head was stolen from a tavern in Port Moresby, New Guinea. The owner remarked that it was going to be difficult to get another one.

The unluckiest bandit was a mail thief in London who walked into the middle of the annual meeting of Britain's private detectives. He was recognized, the exits were sealed and Britain's private eyes caught the thief.

Two men were arrested on a Chicago subway for shoving and swearing at each other. At police headquarters it was learned that they were professional dips and that they had tried simultaneously to pick each other's pockets. Some crooks have no professional ethics at all.

But the easiest identification of the year was made with the cooperation of a safecracker who left — not a fingerprint — but the whole finger on the job. The safe he was cracking toppled over and cut it off. Police in Hopkins, Minn. had no problem making the identification.

Steelworker Is Safer
at Work Than Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Safety may begin at home, but in the case of steelworkers, statistics show that they are three times safer at work than at home.

Steelways, published by American Iron and Steel Institute, points out in its current issue that safe practices are taught to employees from the day they begin work.

1964 Was a Year of Headaches for Both U.S. and Russians

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

For students of international affairs, 1964 was a fascinating year.

It was a year in which the underdeveloped world's capacity for trouble became overdeveloped.

Not much was accomplished toward establishment of brotherly love, but much fun was generated over the game guessing who had the bigger headaches, Americans or Russians.

In Asia:

Neither Americans nor South Vietnamese answered the question whether Khanh can or Khanh can't. Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh began the year by knocking over the regime of his colleague, Maj. Gen. Doung Van Minh. The United States supported Khanh.

MOVED UP

Khanh moved himself up from premier to president. The United States supported him. The population got riotous, so Khanh stepped out of the presidency and formed a triumvirate of generals. The United States supported him. Khanh became premier all over again, promised civilian rule, set up civilian rule under a High National Council. Khanh stepped out of the premiership. The United States supported him. Khanh permitted the council to last a month, then sent it packing. The United States did not support him.

Khanh told the United States it should mind its own business.

LIVE DANGEROUSLY

In Indonesia, it was what President Sukarno called "the year of vivre pericoloso" Italian for "living dangerously." That meant going ahead with the job of crushing Malaysia. Indonesia's neighbor, Malaysia, remained crushproof.

Sukarno told the United States "to hell with your aid," and Indonesians, with no little inspiration from their government, rampaged against Americans. But there was balm for American wounds. Toward year's end, Sukarno said in a speech: "Some of my best friends are Americans."

For the Russians, it was the year they failed to prove to Chinese satisfaction that the U.S.S.R. is an Asian nation. The door remained jammed against the Russian foot, as Muscovites struggled for a participating role in Asian-African conferences. They were nice as pie to the Indonesians, for example, but the Indonesians gave them no help.

It was the year in which the Russians, long the loudest critics of colonialism, were accused by implication, by the Red Chinese, of being colonial-ist and occupying territory which belonged to other people.

BEING DENOUNCED

In Africa: It was the year in which U.S. policy succeeded in getting the support of Premier Moise Tshombe of the Congo and in being denounced only by about three-quarters of the new African states.

The officially controlled press of Ghana set the tone in February with a call to Ghanaians to "damn the Yankees" for a diplomacy which it said was "the long story of murder and assassination."

BACK IN GAME

For the Russians, 1964 brought an opportunity to get back into the game in Africa, if only the Chinese Communists would get out.

In the Middle East: Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic got loans from the Russians, helped foment rebellion in the Congo, and told the Americans they could

Missing Yank 'Wanted to Help Viets'

PITTSBURG (AP) — Pfc. Theodore A. Winowitch, 21, one of the four helicopter crewmen feared killed Wednesday night in Viet Nam, had volunteered to return to that country "to help the underdog," his sister says.

"He felt he has to help the underdog and he felt those people were being walked on," Mrs. Win Harrison said. "Twice before, helicopters he was riding in had been shot down."

Winowitch was aboard a U.S. Army helicopter shot down in flames during heavy fighting near Binh Gia.

The Defense Department in Washington listed the four men as missing. Four fresh graves next to the wreckage presumably contain the bodies of the four men, dispatches out of Viet Nam said.

7 MONTHS
Winowitch spent seven months in Viet Nam during his first hitch, and won the Air Medal and Oak Leaf Cluster, said Mrs. Harrison of Butler, Pa.

Winowitch returned home on leave last October and returned to Viet Nam just before Christmas.

"He told us in his last letter not to worry," she said. "He said he didn't want us to feel bad."

"drink from the sea," an Arab way of saying "go to hell."

The Arabs talked about a new war against Israel, decided it could wait a while, but struck a heavy blow against Israel in another sphere. The U.A.R. and Lebanese bridge teams, in New York for an olympiad, refused to sit at the same table with an Israeli team.

In Latin America:

There were no major Communist victories. The United States continued to have trouble with Cuba, but so did the Russians.

The Cubans cut off water to the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, but it was a minor annoyance. The Russians, however, still had to support the Fidel Castro regime, which was expensive.

CROWNING TOUCH
American policy regarding

Haiti received a crowning touch. President Francois Duvalier, whom the Americans long had tried to unseat, proclaimed himself dictator for life.

American policy makers breathed a sigh of relief when Brazil refused to let Juan D.

Peron, the former Argentine dictator, leave his jet airplane in Brazil, en route to Argentina. He had to go back to Madrid. The man from Spain stayed mainly on the plane.

The Cold War:

In one area, the cold war was positively frigid. The Communists in North Korea issued a formal complaint to the Military Armistice Commission that Americans across the line in South Korea were throwing snowballs at Red troops.

Offshore Stations Will Appeal

LONDON (AP) — Britain's pirate radio stations said yesterday they planned to take their cause — the broadcasting of commercials — to the British public.

A spokesman for Radio London said:

"We have on our side the knowledge that the public is in favor of commercial radio, and we shall appeal to the public if we find this necessary."

"By an appeal we are thinking of an all-out propaganda campaign."

Five unlicensed offshore radio stations presently bombard the mainland with recorded music and commercials.

OPERATE FROM BOATS

Three operate from boats beyond the jurisdiction of the British government.

Two more broadcast from abandoned World War II forts in the Thames Estuary near London. They too claim they are beyond British jurisdiction, but government officials in the past have indicated they would like to have the courts pass on this point.

In Britain, there are no legalized private-owned radio stations. The government-supported British Broadcasting Corp. has a monopoly. The BBC does not broadcast commercials.

Since the pirate radio stations began operating in March this year, they have built up an audience of about 6 million listeners and claim they are making money.

RADIO LONDON

Radio London, which has been broadcasting less than a month, claims it has more than 200,000 pounds ($560,000) in advertising contracts.

Early in the new year the British Government plans to introduce legislation in Parliament that would force the pirates off the air by making it impossible for them to be supplied from shore.

Crash Kills Midlander

MIDLAND (AP) — Ray C. Harris, 55, of Midland was killed yesterday when his car ran off old U.S. 10 near the city limits.

Professor Urges School Gambling

LONDON (AP) — Advocating gambling in schools — as a way of teaching — Prof. G. A. Barnard of London's Imperial College, told a four-day meeting of 1,700 science teachers yesterday:

"A little gambling in schools probably is the best way of ensuring that when the young grow up they won't go in for the more elaborate and dangerous forms of gambling."

The teachers are members of Britain's Association for Science Education.

Worker Gets 8 Cents After Week on Job

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — Ten men who quit work after one week at a citrus grower's farm showed a newsman a check stub which showed one man earned only 8 cents for his work during that time:

Total wage: $16.35.
Withholding tax: $2.15.
Board: $11.67.
Gloves: $2.45.
Balance due: .08.

A spokesman for the camp operators said the men hadn't been able to work regular hours because most of the lemons being picked were still wet from winter rains. Lemons must be picked dry, he said.

License-Plate Hobby Gets Teen Into Trouble

GRANGE PARK, England (UPI) — James Hutchings, 19, had an unusual hobby. He collected number plates from train locomotives.

He already had 50 plates when police caught him trying to steal two more. He was fined $84 in court.

Say Chinese Intruded

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A small number of Chinese troops from Tibet entered Sikkim twice last week, fired one shot and quickly withdrew, the government charged. The defense of Sikkim, a small state in the Himalayas, is India's responsibility under a treaty.

Less than a third of Hawaii's population is Caucasian.

Threatens to Tear Down Lion Cages

BASILDON, England (UPI) — The town council has threatened to tear down two cages in which Bill Foyle keeps his pet lions because they are "unauthorized buildings."

Foyle said, "I will let them, and they can take their chances with the lions."

16-Year-Old Youth Rests Well After Leg Is Amputated to Prevent Spread of Cancer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sixteen-year-old Ronald Baker entered 1965 in the deep sleep of medication.

Through the night his brother-law sat beside Ronald's hospital bed — in case he might awaken and want someone to talk to. Perhaps about his leg.

LEG AMPUTATED
Thursday doctors amputated Ronald's left leg — the one he once vowed he'd rather die than lose.

The surgery went well and his condition is good. Said his surgeon: "We got it."

W. German President in Bed With a Cold

ENKHAUSEN, Germany — West German President Heinrich Lübke was ill and confined to bed today at his home in this Saterland village.

His office in Bonn said the 70-year-old president suffered from a cold and his condition was not serious.

He was referring to the cancer below Ronald's left knee.

When Ronald, a handsome, active youth, learned doctors wanted to amputate, he ran away from home. At Flagstaff, Ariz., he stopped running, and came home Christmas Eve to face the possibility of losing his leg.

WOULD DIE

Doctors convinced him he'd die of cancer if they didn't go ahead with the operation. It was performed New Year's Eve at Orthopaedic Hospital. It took less than two hours.

Said his surgeon: "His tolerance was fine." This means Ronald's youthful body withstood the trauma of surgery well.

His attitude, these past days, has been notably cheerful. Said one observer: "He acts like he's going to have a tonsillectomy." He even joked about not dancing the New Year in.

But members of his family, mindful of how he had hitchhiked away one rainy day for fear of becoming a cripple, made sure he wouldn't wake up alone.

His mother, Lois Eisenbeiss, 51, was there Thursday when he made his first recovery from the drugs of surgery. He slept fitfully, at times groggily awake, until he slipped into a deep sleep in the evening.

Mrs. Eisenbeiss — widowed 16 years ago when Ronald's father died of cancer and now separated from her current husband — finally ended her long day of vigil at 9:30 Thursday night and returned to her Van Nuys home for some sleep.

Robert Buckingham, Ronald's brother-in-law, took her place at the bedside.

Said a spokesman for the hospital: "When he wakes up they want someone there — a familiar face, someone he knows — for reassurance."

Anniversary Is 73rd for Minnesota Pair

LE SUEUR, Minn. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. William Baringer observed their 73rd wedding anniversary Thursday. He's 105; she's 92.

Baringer recalled recently he'd asked for a brief wedding ceremony. "But the preacher didn't make it short because they had to do some singing."

Do-It-Yourself Astrologer Handicaps His Own Future

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—How're you making out with your astrologist? What's that! Don't you dare admit to me that you don't have your personal astrologist! In this civilized, scientific day and age, when everybody—practically—has one!

WILSON

I think it began in Hollywood but it spread to New York quicker than you can learn to pronounce Pisces.

Sure, now, you've got to have a lawyer, a tax expert, a decorator, a psychiatrist... in Hollywood the men also have their personal barbers who charge them $7 to $20 for a haircut... and an astrologist. The astrologist—he's the most recent addition to the Successful Man's payroll—often says with a sad wag of his head that the lawyer, the tax expert, the decorator and psychiatrist are doubtless well-intentioned people... but they're just so wrong in the advice they're giving you!

Well, I'm a guy who can still remember when a haircut cost a quarter... so I played it cheap and bought a copy of "Prediction"—and did my own astrologizing.

And the things I found out about me!

I'm Taurus (April 21-May 20)—and listen to this: "Taurus folks may suffer more than usual from eruptions of the skin during the spring and summer months. If these are persistent, it would be well to take medical advice."

Me Taurus, me got pimples. "Love affairs beginning after the end of September ought to go very well indeed!" we Taurians are also advised.

"One thing you need to watch between May and late August is the danger of another person showing too close an interest in the one you love. So don't introduce your loved one to a friend of your own sex if you can help it!"

And there's a final word that's right along there in the pimples area.

It's for the Pisces folk (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): "Colds and chills caught in 1965 will not be easy to get rid of, and could lead to stomach and similar complaints."

With this information, I think we are all prepared for 1965, but if there are any further questions about pimples, chills or romance, just fire your questions into old Star Gazer here.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "The girl was so ugly," Coleman Jacoby said, "that she had to change seats five times in the 42nd St. movie house before a guy annoyed her."

EARL'S PEARLS: A thrifty woman is one who goes to the market to buy fish and insists that they be wrapped in today's newspaper. . . . That's earl, brother.

U.S. Is Likely Loser in Pakistan Election

By DAN COGIN

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — Whoever wins Pakistan's presidential election Saturday, the United States is likely to emerge a loser.

U.S. influence and prestige in this nation, once a close ally, have been on the wane for several years but never have they sunk as low as during the campaign for Pakistan's presidency.

Both President Mohammad Ayub Khan and Miss Fatima Jinnah, his opponent, have made it clear they don't want to be tagged as a friend of the United States.

Each side has accused the other of being supported and financed by America.

CLOSER TO REDS

Washington is interested in Pakistan's presidential election, not only because it has sunk about $5 billion aid into Pakistan since 1951, but also because Pakistan recently has been drawing closer to Communist China.

Another factor is Pakistan's strategic position. Half this divided nation stands between Red China and the Middle East.

American officials in Pakistan insist the United States has been only an interested spectator of the election, but Pakistani officials claim otherwise.

Two days ago Ayub's information minister for West Pakistan, Ghulam Nabi Memon, claimed the United States was backing Miss Jinnah.

BOOST CANDIDACY

Memon charged that the United States was buying up copies of a newspaper published by one of the five parties supporting Miss Jinnah and distributing them to boost her candidacy.

"The embassy is seriously concerned at the irresponsible charges and completely denies their validity," U.S. officials said.

"In view of the serious implications of the accusations, the embassy is raising this matter.

with the appropriate authorities of the government of Pakistan."

Most of Pakistan's government-controlled papers published the U.S. denial without comment.

The main reason for the U.S. decline in Pakistan has been its arms aid to India, Pakistan's No. 1 adversary. No one mentions U.S. arms aid to Pakistan.

Laborite Power Is a Thin Line

LONDON (NEA) — Cocktail parties, fast motorcars and Swiss ski holidays are out for Britain's new Labor government. So are free-wheeling pleasure jaunts beyond a 50-mile radius of London.

The Labor government's precarious five-vote majority in the House of Commons has condemned the 316 Labor members of Parliament to a life of austerity.

In fact, they are virtual prisoners in Westminster Palace where Parliament meets.

Harold Wilson, Labor's hard-pressed prime minister, needs every vote he can muster if he is to force through Parliament such controversial measures as the nationalization of steel, repeal of the Rent Act and repeal of National Health Service charges for prescriptions.

A virus epidemic is all that it would take to wipe out the tiny Labor majority and send the new government crashing to defeat.

FIVE MARGIN

If five Labor party members met with an accident while riding in the same car on their way to Westminster, the government would be placed in immediate jeopardy.

There is no provision in British law for recording a vote from a hospital bedside.

Already Labor has sustained its first casualty in Sir Geoffrey de Freitas, newly elected, who suffered a concussion when his car crashed in Cambridge. Fortunately for the government, Sir Geoffrey is not expected to be on the sick list long.

This explains why Prime Minister Wilson has ordered Laborites to guard their health, avoid reckless driving and to keep regular hours. He is taking no chances on having his government wrecked by human foibles.

Cocktail parties are definitely out for Laborites. Too many Martinis lead to hangovers, and hangovers lead to absenteeism in the House of Commons the following morning.

FITNESS CLASSES

From now on fitness classes and a strict dietary regime are the new order of the day in Labor's ranks.

There will be no Swiss ski trips for Laborites over the Christmas holidays. Such trips often result in overindulgence, if not broken limbs, neither of which Wilson can afford.

Even business trips for Cabinet ministers are being strictly rationed, until such time as the Labor government arrives at an arrangement with the Tories whereby absentees on both sides of the House of Commons can be paired off to nullify the loss of their votes.

Meanwhile, the Laborites are already beginning to groan under their austerity yoke, but there is little they can do about it.

LONG WHIP

In charge of keeping them in line is Edward Watson Short, the government's Chief Whip, whose job is to see that the politicians file into the voting lobbies when the bell rings. Short so far is cracking a long whip.

Armory Stabbing Hospitalizes Man

A stabbing at the Michigan National Guard Armory, 57 Water, early this morning, sent Jessie Vernon Jones, 19 of 402 S. East, to Pontiac General Hospital with a chest wound.

Pontiac police are holding Charlene Webb, 18, of 312 Hughes for investigation.

Jones is reported in fair condition. The stabbing took place during a New Year's dance at the Armory.

Population of U.S. Now 193.5 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States begins the new year with an estimated population of 193.5 million, an increase of 2.7 million during 1964.

The Census Bureau estimate, issued last night, showed a gain of 13.5 million over April 1, 1960, date of the last official census count.

Road Deaths Are Below Normal Toll

By The Associated Press
The nation's traffic deaths in the first hours of the extended New Year's weekend averaged below the normal toll during a nonholiday period.

The 29 fatalities on the highways since 6 local time Thursday compared with 52 reported for the comparative period at the start of the Christmas weekend. Traffic deaths during the New Year holiday usually are less than any other major holiday.

The National Safety Council has estimated that between 300 and 360 persons will be killed in traffic accidents by the end of the 72-hour holiday period at midnight Sunday. The death toll during last week's Christmas weekend was 578, the second highest on record for a three-day Christmas holiday.

PREVIOUS TOLL

In the most recent three-day New Year celebration, in 1961, the death count reached 337. An Associated Press survey, made for comparative purposes, showed that in a three-day non-holiday weekend in December traffic fatalities totaled 396.

The Dead Sea, lowest body of water on the earth's surface, is 1,286 feet below sea level.

Battle Creek Banker Dies

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—Horace Conklin, 60, prominent Michigan banker and Battle Creek businessman, died Thursday following a heart attack at his home.

Conklin was president of the Security National Bank of Battle Creek and a board member of several Michigan business concerns.

Conklin served as president of the Michigan Bankers Association in 1948.

He is survived by his widow, Margaret. Funeral services will be held in Battle Creek Saturday.

$5,000 Damage in Kitchen Fire

A fire in the home of Lucinda Walker, at 407 Highland, caused damage estimated at $3,000 to the house and $2,000 to the contents last night.

Cause of the fire was not determined.

It started in the kitchen and spread to the front rooms, firemen reported. No one was injured.

A CLEARANCE SALE ON DIAMONDS AT ROSE JEWELERS? . . . NEVER!

Why not? Because when you buy a diamond you're making an investment. Certainly you expect it to at least retain the value of that investment. Not decrease! Otherwise, there should no more be two prices for a diamond than you'd expect to find dollar bills marked down to half price. In fact, your diamond should be just as secure in value as the product of the U.S. Mint! So, at Rose Jewelers we price our diamonds . . . each and every one of them . . . at their absolute market value. Your diamond from us retains its full value tomorrow because you invest in today's genuine value. Simple? So simple we give a lifetime 100% trade-in guarantee on every diamond we sell! We protect your diamond investment at Rose Jewelers. Always. Constantly. Today. Tomorrow. Years from now. That's why we will never have a clearance sale on diamonds at Rose Jewelers!

PYTHON PLAYMATE — This isn't as scary as it looks because Wellington, the carpet python, and 6-month-old Liza Leslie really are good friends. They're in Melbourne, Australia, where Liza's father, film producer Alf Leslie, is screening his latest movie, which he shot in Africa.

AVERAGE STATE SALES TAX TABLE
This table is based on the Michigan general sales tax of 4 percent. It may be used when deducting sales tax on Form 1040. If the table is not used, sales tax deductions must be itemized and substantiated. Deductible sales tax on the purchase of automobiles and gasoline tax of 6 cents per gallon are not included in the table and must be itemized separately.

Table Issued for Sales Tax

R. I. Nixon, Detroit District Director of Internal Revenue, has issued the following table for use in preparing 1964 federal income tax returns.

Nixon emphasized that the table has been revised and that any chart issued or published last year should not be used in preparing 1964 tax returns.

This table may be used as a guide to arrive at the average amount of Michigan sales tax of 4 per cent which may be claimed as a deduction in the absence of definite proof of payment.

Nixon pointed out that the table takes into consideration taxes paid on the purchase of large household items, but does not include either gasoline tax of 6 cents per gallon or the sales tax on the purchase of an automobile.

These items must be itemized separately and may be taken as a deduction in addition to the amount shown on the sales tax table.

NOT DEDUCTIBLE

Taxpayers are reminded also that the Michigan tax on cigarettes is not deductible.

Nixon suggested that taxpayers save this table for use when they prepare their tax return.

Cut Your Own Taxes—3

ALL Income Is Taxable Unless Specifically Exempt

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"Just what income do I report on my income tax return?" The answer is far more complicated than appears on the surface, and whole books have been written on the subject.

In a broad sense every dollar of income you receive is taxable unless it is expressly exempt by law.

Your salary or wages is naturally the starting point in determining your income for the year.

But how about life insurance dividends, stock dividends, savings account interest, jury duty fees, gains realized on the sale of stock or any of your property, tips, gifts, pensions, prizes, awards, bonuses?

TAX EXEMPT Some items of income are specifically exempt from tax either wholly or in part.

Fully tax exempt are such things as Social Security payments, unemployment benefits paid to you by a state (but supplemental unemployment benefits paid from a company-financed fund and strike benefits paid by a union are taxable), gifts, bequests and inheritances, life insurance paid upon the death of the insured, accident and health insurance proceeds, casualty insurance proceeds, interest on tax-free securities (such as municipal bonds).

None of the foregoing need be reported on your income tax return.

But here are some items which must be reported: tips received by waiters, waitresses, cab drivers and other service employees; commissions for steering business to a company or to a salesman, jury duty fees, gambling winnings, hobby income.

INTEREST Interest received from banks, savings and loan and life insurance companies have been a big source of nonreported income for many years.

Internal Revenue Service officials have taken steps in recent years to plug this hole in the dike.

That is the reason your banks and insurance companies have requested your Social Security number.

They are now required by law

Income From Dividends Now Treated Differently

to inform Internal Revenue of all interest payments or credits of $10 or more.

DISREGARD Disregard the advice of well-meaning but misinformed friends that interest must be more than a certain figure before it need be reported. All savings account and life insurance interest is taxable.

If your minor children have savings and you have the right to make deposits and withdrawals, the interest earned on those deposits should appear on your tax return.

In certain carefully established accounts where the minor child is the sole custodian of the funds and the parent may not make withdrawals, the interest is taxable only to the minor. Of course, he has to have at least $900 in total income (including the interest) before he is required to pay a tax.

DIVIDENDS receive special treatment.

NOT TAXABLE Dividends on life insurance policies are not taxable. They are considered to be a return of a portion of your own payment.

However, if the dividends are permitted to accrue with your insurance companies the interest earned on them is taxable.

Speaking of dividends, the so-called dividends credited to your account by a savings and loan or a credit union are treated as ordinary interest on your tax form.

Interest earned on your "E" bonds is also reportable. You may elect to report the interest annually or to wait until the bonds are redeemed and then treat as interest the increase over the purchase price.

COMPANY DIVIDENDS Dividends received from fully taxable domestic corporations (this includes most dividends received from U.S. companies) are only partially taxable.

Beginning in 1964 a husband and wife are each entitled to exclude the first $100 in dividends received.

The full amount of the dividends must be reported but $100 per person is then deducted and only the remainder is subject to tax.

If the stock is jointly-owned the exclusion on a joint return is $200.

FIRST $100 Where stock is held separately only the first $100 received by each is excluded.

For instance, if the husband received $250 in dividends on his stock and the wife $35 on stock held in her name, their total exclusion is $135. One partner's unused exclusion may not be used by the other.

There is still a second break in the accounting of dividends.

After the exclusion has been taken, a dividend credit may be applied. This credit for 1964 returns is two per cent. This had been four per cent in former years. In 1965 the credit is eliminated entirely.

SUMMARY

Here, then, is a summary on handling dividends:

Dividends received by husband	$250
Dividends received by wife	35
Total dividends	$285
Exclusion (H, $100; W, $35)	135
Taxable	$150
Dividend credit (2 per cent)	$3

The $3 is a direct credit against the final income tax. The tax is computed after adding the $150 of taxable dividends to all the other income received during the year.

Yule Tragedy Comes in 3s

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—On Christmas Eve, Alban J. Ross, 65, suffered a heart attack at his apartment and died.

His sister, Gertrude Bauer, 59, was called. Arriving at her brother's home, she collapsed in a chair and died.

On Christmas Day, their 90-year-old mother, Mary Jo Bell, was preparing to go to a funeral home to view the bodies.

She fell and suffered a fractured hip. Mrs. Ross died this week in a Louisville hospital.

Picking Up New Jetliner Is Complicated Procedure

By ROBERT J. SERLING
UPI Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON — "Your new jet is ready."

About 140 times during the past year, the U.S. airlines got a message to that effect from an aircraft manufacturer. What happened next was somewhat more complicated than the aftermath of the call you get from a dealer saying "Your new car is ready."

A typical jetliner delivery procedure was one involving Western Air Lines and the Boeing Airplane Co. One day last summer, Boeing wired Western that a new 720B jet was only five days away from completion on the assembly line—about 10 months after Western sent in its order.

Within the next week, Western sent its director of engineering, Richard Ault, and chief pilot James Stone to Seattle to take delivery. Their first job was to put the new plane through a three-hour test flight, accompanied by a Boeing copilot and flight engineer.

The test flight involved checking about 350 major components from the autopilot to the cabin lights and air-conditioning system. Once satisfied that the jet was ready for passengers, Ault handed Boeing a check for approximately $6 million.

Then came the exchange of numerous documents — bill of sale, aircraft maintenance logs, certificate of sanitation, certificate of airworthiness and a 14-foot stack of maintenance and operating manuals.

INCLUDE WARRANTY

Included was a warranty that motorists would like to have on a new car. Boeing guarantees all workmanship and engineering for the first 30,000 hours of flight—or about nine years.

Ault and Stone made out a check for $4 to the Federal Aviation Agency to register the new jet as a passenger-carrying aircraft, which is something of a bargain for a $6 million vehicle.

Boeing handed over the keys to the plane (three). Boeing also tossed in 1,600 gallons of kerosene fuel, 32 gallons of oil, 200 paper drinking cups and soap for the lavatories.

Ault and Stone, after a full-day of test-flying and document-signing, flew the 720B only seven miles from the Boeing plant to the Seattle-Tacoma International Airport. That night, it went into service on a regularly scheduled flight.

IN GOLDWATER FOOTSTEPS — Paul Fannin, Republican senator-elect from Arizona, who is winding up his third term as governor, sits in a rocking chair in his Phoenix home. Fannin will succeed Barry Goldwater, the defeated GOP presidential nominee, as Arizona's junior senator next month.

Not Impartial After All

GRAND JUNCTION, Iowa (AP) — When Grand Junction stamp and coin collectors assembled for a banquet they decided that Greg Young, 11, would be a completely impartial person to make the drawings for several door prizes.

The first name he drew was that of his father, John (Bud) Young.

'Mostly in Agreement, Though'

Not Barry Echo, Says Senate Successor

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The senator-elect from Arizona says he will not be an echo of his long-time friend, Barry Goldwater.

"I will voice my own philosophy," says Republican Paul Fannin.

Fannin, now winding up his third term as governor, will succeed Goldwater, the defeated GOP presidential nominee, as Arizona's junior senator next month.

"I'm not going to represent any one person," Fannin said in an interview. He says he and Goldwater "are in agreement on most issues, but we don't agree on everything. Some of the issues on which we disagree probably will be coming up next year."

MOST SUCCESSFUL

The political careers of Fannin and Goldwater have been the most successful in state Republican history. Fannin was the first three-term GOP governor; Goldwater, the party's second senator.

They have been close political allies. Fannin nominated Goldwater for the presidency in 1960, and served as his spokesman on many occasions during the presidential campaign.

As a friend of Goldwater's, he was considered a conservative. Fannin, however, shuns the label, preferring to be known only as a Republican.

As a senator, Fannin said, "I will try to be studious and reserve my comments until I am well versed."

SELF-HELP

To specific questions, however, he made these responses: Foreign Aid — "We should help people to help themselves. Foreign assistance to Communist countries should be used almost as a reward. There is an area here of encouragement and reward. I am against any program to a Communist country which doesn't want to pull away."

Civil Rights — "I certainly am not going to make an issue of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 until I see how it works out."

Labor — "I am very much in favor of state right-to-work laws, but I am against a national right-to-work law."

Jobs Corps Camps — "These camps can be beneficial, but I am very concerned about their administration." As governor, Fannin already has approved camps for several Arizona communities.

Federal Aid to Education — This is proper where there is a dual responsibility such as large federal land ownership or the existence of defense industries or service installations.

Reapportionment of Legislatures — The Congress should pass legislation restoring to the states the authority to apportion their legislatures on plans approved by the voters at special elections.

MAJOR FLUFF

For a man who launched his political career with a major fluff, Fannin has been remarkably successful in Arizona, a state where Democrats now outnumber Republicans.

The mistake came when he served as master of ceremonies for a 1958 Republican party rally. It was to precede his first announcement for governor.

"I took pills," he recalled. "That was the only time I ever took a tranquilizer."

woman Clare Boothe Luce as Clare Ann Luce.

FEW MISTAKES

He's made few mistakes with Arizona voters since.

In his first campaign, he upset Democratic Atty. Gen. Robert Morrison. Two years later, he routed Democrat Lee Ackerman, now national committeeman for Arizona. Then he defeated Democrat Sam Goddard. Goddard won the governorship this year.

In the general election this year, Fannin defeated Democrat Roy Elson, an aide to Democratic Sen. Carl Hayden.

Born in Kentucky on Jan. 29, 1907, Fannin's family moved to Arizona that year. He attended public schools in Phoenix, spent two years at the University of Arizona and was graduated from Stanford in 1930.

HIGHWAY VETERAN — Mrs. I. B. Jackson stands in front of her "office" — the cab of a GMC truck. As a driver for Goodpasture Motor Co., GMC dealer in Bristol, Va., she regularly operates rigs such as the one shown above.

Drives for GMC Dealer

Lady Trucker a Whiz at Work

When truck driver I. B. Jackson talks shop at home, he's apt to pick up some valuable tips. His wife's a trucker, too—and a good one.

Since October 1959, when the demure little woman erased a mountain of doubts by tooling a giant GMC truck from Michigan to Virginia, Mrs. Jackson has been impressing male counterparts with her unusual but polished skill.

Her boss, Frank Goodpasture of Goodpasture Motor Co., GMC truck dealer in Bristol, Va., was an early skeptic. With a chuckle, he recalls her introduction into the trucking field.

"We needed extra drivers to pick up 10 DF-7000s at the GMC Truck & Coach-Division factory in Pontiac for delivery to the Mason and Dixon Lines. That's when Jackson suggested we hire his wife.

NO! "My answer to that was an emphatic 'NO!' I wasn't about to have any woman responsible for picking up my trucks."

But Jackson persisted and finally convinced Goodpasture, his wife was qualified.

"Since that time," explains Goodpasture, "she has been as far west as Dallas and Denver. She's never been late and has had only one breakdown on the road."

Goodpasture recalls an incident that gives a clue to Mrs. Jackson's highway habits.

"Recently a man stopped by our office and left a $10 bill with instructions to give it to Mrs. Jackson. Seems that he had had a flat and had no tools to change his spare."

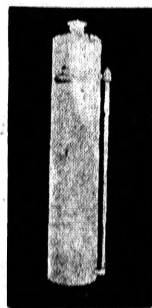

"Mrs. Jackson stopped by, got out of the truck, changed the tire and proceeded on to Bristol. The gentleman congratulated us on having such a courteous employee."

According to Goodpasture, Mrs. Jackson is one of the best and most courteous drivers he has ever known.

2 Mixed-Up Foxes Get Treatment

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Two mixed-up foxes are being given treatment similar to that given mixed-up humans.

They take tranquilizers day and night, and they have king-sized anxiety complexes. In fact, they're full-fledged neurotics.

"I call them 'A' and 'B,'" said Dr. Clyde Keeler. "'A' is female and 'B' is a male."

Keeler, director of research at Milledgeville State Hospital, has been giving the animals tranquilizers in their food since April. He hopes to determine the side effects of prolonged use of anxiety-easing drugs.

AILEMENTS

Some patients have complained of eye and kidney ailments, said Keeler. There are indications that continuous use of tranquilizers can lead to sterility or even impotence.

Why experiment with foxes?

"The red fox is a purebred, hereditary neurotic motivated by an intense fear," explained Keeler. "He has a huge anxiety complex."

"He is torn by fits of blind rage; he is something of a schizophrenic in his distrust and constant withdrawal from his surroundings."

NATURAL STATE

In many respects, said Keeler, the red fox, in his natural state, has problems as great as some of the most hopeless cases receiving treatment at the state hospital.

If foxes "A" and "B" produce any offspring, Keeler will study them for possible defects resulting from their parents' steady dosage of tranquilizers.

Despite the tranquilizers, "A" and "B" show few signs of becoming tame. Keeler can feed them by hand but the sight or smell of a stranger sends them into fits of fear.

U.S. Children Aloof to Localism

Irreverent New Breed in Asia

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Sunset cast an orange glow over exotic India. Ruins dead many hundreds of years seemed to come alive. The great Rajapath Avenue in New Delhi, was clogged with turbaned sikhs, ox carts and bicycle riders—phantom figures moving through the dusk.

Somewhere, an itinerant peddler tooted his buffalo horn flute. It was one of those rare moments of true mystique in the Orient.

"I wonder," said a 5-year-old, "could grandmother mail us Wiener snitzel from Milwaukee?"

Thus was the special broken by the voice of an irreverent new breed in the Orient—the American small fry, those involuntary expatriates whose cowboy hats, baseball bats and roller skates have become part of most Asian capitals between Tokyo and Rawalpindi, Pakistan.

They are the children of American businessmen, diplomats or foreign correspondents. To them Tokyo's Ginza, Hong Kong's waterfront or New Delhi's Connaught Circle never will be home. To them the mystique of the Orient—engendered in older generations by Rudyard Kipling and Joseph Conrad—is rather funny.

PURE PATRIOTISM

The farther these youngsters get from America, the more all-American they become. The longer they live in Asia, the purer is their patriotism. Nothing in Asia—Japan's green-clad mountains, Bangkok's lovely temples, or India's ancient ruins—can match Milwaukee's Wiener snitzel, Hollywood's movies, or the latest American hit tune.

Most of these kids become fluent in one or more foreign languages, even the tough ones like Japanese or Chinese. But they often refuse to speak them because, as one 7-year-old said, "They aren't American."

Dressing up in Kimono or saris may be fun for parties but for serious business, like going to school, most favored are bobby sox, skirt and sweater, or sweat shirt and dungarees.

Children who attend the American international schools in Tokyo or New Delhi are in their mode of dress carbon copies of those who go to public school in Topeka or Fort Wayne.

HIGHER IQS

But they differ in other ways. School officials in New Delhi, who have taught in America as well as at foreign posts, say the 319 kids in the high school generally have higher IQs than their counterparts in America. More go on to college and they score higher on college entrance examinations, although math suffers because continuity of instruction is broken by all the traveling the kids do.

Chatter among American teen-agers in the Orient concerns the Beatles, fast cars or sports. Because of the distance, fashions in dress and talk among the Orient's new breed tend to lag behind those in America. Each newcomer, transferred from the states, is pumped eagerly for information on what is the latest rage back there.

The local sports—cricket, field hockey, soccer—are disdained and little bands of expatriates, complete with caps, carry baseball to remote corners of Asia.

Jet travel over vast expanses is a way of life with the American kids.

But when they're alone, perhaps settling down for the night, they don't talk about the new sights they've seen.

They talk about how good the ice cream was in Michigan—or how long it is until next home leave, that wonderful trek back to the homeland every two or three years.

AP Photofax

THEY'D-RATHER PLAY — Unawed by the beauty of India's majestic Taj Mahal, three American children stage a wrestling match in front of the great monument that draws tourists from all the world. These children of Americans serving overseas have become the irreverent new breed of the Orient. To them, Asia will never be home.

Electricity Rate Cut for Detroit Schools

LANSING (AP) — The Public Service Commission approved Wednesday a rate revision for all-electric Detroit schools which is expected to save the schools 10 per cent annually. All-electric schools have space and water heating provided by Detroit Edison Co. electricity. There are eight such schools with four more under construction.

Coin Show Set Sunday in Waterford

A coin show for Waterford area collectors and anyone interested in coin collecting will be held Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. at the CAI Building, 5640 Williams Lake, Waterford Township.

Sponsoring the show are William Lacy Jr., Peter Traicoff and William Honaker, all members of the Pontiac Coin Club.

About 30 dealers from Ohio, Indiana, Canada and Michigan will be present, according to Lacy. Several rare and valuable coins will be displayed.

Lacy said new members are welcome to the Pontiac Coin Club, which meets at the Pontiac YMCA on the first Tuesday and third Thursday of each month.

New Buffalo to Vote on Issue of Cityhood

NEW BUFFALO (AP) — This southwest Berrien County village votes March 8 on a proposal to change the city form of government. The same ballot will provide for electing a nine-member charter commission as well as deciding on the office of mayor and three council seats.

Mother Gone, Children Burn

NEW YORK (AP) — Two children perished in a Bronx apartment house fire early today and a third child was critically burned.

Police said the mother, Barbara Guitard, had left the children alone in the third-floor apartment. A neighbor turned in the alarm when he smelled smoke.

Firemen found the bodies of Pamela, 3, and James, 2, in a bedroom.

The other child, Lisa, 5, was taken to a hospital with burns over half of her body.

Franchise Outlet System Mushrooming

NEW YORK (NEA) — You can't just pick up and take off in the 20th Century, as great-granddaddy may have done in the 19th, and head west to become an independent farmer on free government land.

But something like 25,000 ambitious, dissatisfied Americans are doing much the same thing every year by kicking over their old careers to set up as independent franchised businessmen.

A franchise is far from free, but the reward is the same—the satisfaction that comes from the old dream that every man should be his own boss.

In the past 10 years, a quarter of a million former taxi drivers, clerks, factory workers, waitresses, housewives have invested in anything from hamburger stands to coin-operated dry cleaning centers.

Every day 5,000 people apply to the more than 400 companies that use the franchise system; every day 150 new roadside stands are started, selling everything from doughnuts to fried chickens.

FRANCHISE OUTLETS

Franchise outlets, led by the food business, now account for 25 per cent — $60 billion — of all retail sales.

This figure will double in the next 10 years, predicts William Rosenberg, a founder and past president of the International Franchise Association, which has rid the industry of most of the shady franchisors who once plagued it.

The mushroom growth of roadside food stands reflects the changing American way of life — more automobiles in more suburbs, more leisure, more free money and more eating out.

First of the franchise food operations was Howard Johnson, which started in the 1930s.

THOUSANDS

Today the list of such companies — with 10,000 units across the nation — includes names like Dunkin' Donuts, McDonald's, Kentucky Fried Chicken, Henry's Drive-In, Chicken Delight, Dairy Queen, Carvel.

This is how franchising generally works:

The parent company, the franchisor, licenses a number of independent businessmen (or women) to run its stores or sell its services, using its brand or trade name and running the business along lines established by the company.

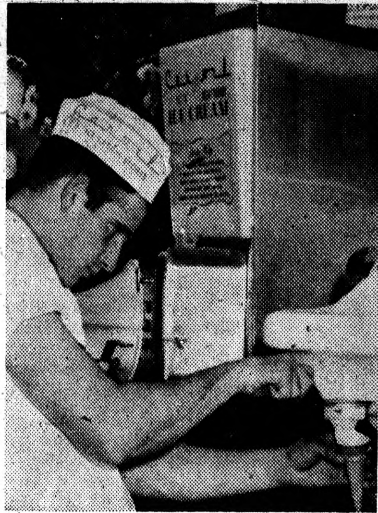

The franchisee usually pays an annual fee, usually based on his volume, and agrees to purchase supplies from the company.

REQUIRED CAPITAL

The capital required for an outlet ranges from a few thousand dollars for a root beer stand to $100,000 for a restaurant or motel. But most food service stores take about $25,000 — $10,000 cash for the down payment and operating capital and the rest in a short-term mortgage.

The investor gains the advantage of a well-known name and advice of the parent firm.

There are, however, pitfalls for those whose enthusiasm may run ahead of their good sense.

Though the industry has done much to clean house since the National Better Business Bureau ranked questionable franchising as the second biggest racket a few years ago, there are still con men ready to prey on the unsuspecting, particularly in the vending machine field.

'INVESTIGATE FIRST'

"Investigate before you invest" is the rule recommended by the BBB — investigate the company, its financial strength, its product, its territories and its methods, its rating with the BBB.

Prospects should be particularly wary of unsigned, box number "opportunity" ads in newspapers.

Above all, says the BBB, nothing should be signed without discussion of the entire deal with lawyer, banker and family.

For its part, franchising enables the parent company to expand quickly with a minimum capital outlay while having its product sold by people who have a vital stake in the success of the business.

TRAINING PROGRAM

Because a failing franchise doesn't help the company any more than it does the operator, most require that prospective operators pass a company training program in management, selling and equipment maintenance.

NEW HAMPSHIRE TRAVEL — Bruce Fecteau, 4, of Dover, N.H., rides down Knox Marsh Road behind his 2-year-old Belgian Shepherd, Mike, after the latest snowfall in the area. Mike is rigged with a "harness" consisting of a life preserver with ropes attached.

3 Die, 4 Injured in 2-Car Crash

ALPENA (AP) — A two-car collision killed two adults and a child and injured four persons late Thursday afternoon on a county road 13 miles west of Alpena.

Killed were Paul Styra, 35, of Posen; his 8-year-old daughter, Paulette, and Victor Cooke Jr., 34, of Lachine.

Styra's wife, Vivian, was reported in serious condition at Alpena Hospital. Her three sons, Patrick, Paul Jr., and John, were reported less seriously injured.

State police said the cars apparently crashed almost head-on.

Rank System at Consumers 2nd in Nation

Consumers Power Co.'s steam-electric generating system is among the most efficient in the United States, according to a report of the Federal Power Commission.

The Consumers system was rated second only to that of the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. of Syracuse, N.Y., in the FPC report.

However, Niagara Mohawk depends mainly on water-power to generate its electricity, the report pointed out.

In contrast, Consumers Power Co. generated 92 per cent of its energy in 1963 with steam-electric (coal-burning) plants.

Thus, Consumers ranked first in efficiency among utilities generating their electric energy primarily with fossil fuels.

SAME FIVE

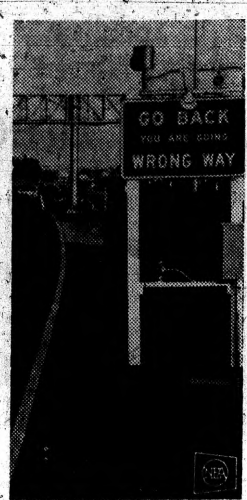

Behind Consumers were American Electric Power Co., the Tennessee Valley Authority and Duke Power Co. The same five were ranked highest in 1962 also, but with Consumers Power fifth and American Electric second.

In individual plant ratings, the FPC report showed Consumers Power Co.'s James H. Campbell plant, located on Lake Michigan west of Grand Rapids, among the five most efficient individual power plants in the U.S.

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — U. S. Navy Capt. James J. Cook Jr., a 10th generation descendant of the English navigator who discovered Hawaii, has been assigned to the Pacific Fleet staff at Pearl Harbor.

The original Capt. Cook was killed by the natives.

WRONG-WAY DRIVERS

Statistics show that about 8 per cent of fatal freeway accidents are caused by wrong-way driving. Near Sacramento, Calif., engineers have been experimenting with a sign that warns wrong-way drivers with a horn and a blinking red light.

Blind Postmaster Sorts Out the Mail

FORT FRASER, B.C. (AP) — The postmaster in this northern British Columbia community is a blind man.

J. C. Matthews depends on his wife to sort the mail, but he knows everyone in the district by voice and knows where each individual's mail slot is located.

Six years ago, Boy Scouts bought Matthews a seeing-eye dog.

But now the dog, Reamer, is apparently going blind and a spokesman for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind says the institute is sad and worried about the possibility that the postmaster might lose his "great companion."

Detroit Dies in Crash

DETROIT (AP) — Luther C. Alston, 46, of Detroit was killed today when the car in which he was riding struck a railroad viaduct in Detroit.

Wage Floor Delayed for Handicapped

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan's new minimum wage law was to go into effect today—but there was a question of whether it would for certain employees.

The wage deviation board, set up by law to consider cases that may not be governed by the $1 an hour minimum pay, decided at its first meeting Wednesday to hold off until March 2 the rate for mentally and physically handicapped persons who "are unable to maintain normal production standards."

The board, headed by former State Rep. Mrs. Marie Hager of Lansing, voted to allow such exemptions provided the employer involved filed application for the exemption on or before that date.

At question is a legal problem of when exactly the minimum wage law goes into effect.

Passed by the 1964 legislature, the law became actual Aug. 28 but the bill reads that the minimum wage shall be paid starting today to those persons not covered by the federal standards.

WAITING PERIOD

The problem, according to board members, is whether the 13-week waiting period allowed in certain instances, like the handicapped workers, is counted from the first date or the second.

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley has been asked to rule on the matter.

In another action, the board set up a schedule of deductions allowed from the $1 minimum pay to employees who receive other considerations such as tips, gratuities, board or lodging.

Negroes Urged to Join Police

State Troopers Seek Several Candidates

LANSING (AP)—An intensive effort to recruit Negro candidates for the new all-white state police is beginning, Gov. George Romney said yesterday.

Romney said the state police is now accepting applications for its next training school, whose starting date is yet to be set.

"We hope channels of communication and organization in contact with Negro youth will help us locate young Negro men who will want to be a part of state police," Romney said.

Last year, one Negro applicant successfully completed three weeks of trooper school, then dropped out "because he said he was lonesome and had a good job opportunity," said the governor.

HOPE FOR SEVERAL

"We're more likely to get some qualified Negro troopers if we have two or three at the school rather than one," said Romney. "We hope we can get several."

Romney listed these application requirements: age 21-29, physical condition good, vision correctable to 20-20, minimum weight 150 pounds, high school diploma or equivalent, no criminal record, limited traffic record, Michigan residency for previous six months.

Romney told his morning news conference he is vitally concerned about traffic fatalities and their connection with drinking.

"The pattern over Christmas indicated the greatest number of fatalities occurred at the time of the office parties and other social activities. They tapered off on Sunday. This again indicates the close relationship between fatalities and drinking."

URGES CITIZENS

"I urge individual citizens to refrain from such endangering of lives of others."

Romney again urged drivers to keep their car lights on over the holiday weekend as a safety reminder.

Gunman Buries Clerk With Cases of Beer

MIAMI (AP)—A gunman held up a Miami grocery store, robbed it of $125 and then made certain the clerk wouldn't call police too quickly.

The bandit made Daniel Gallagher lie on the floor. Then he piled cases of beer and soft drinks on the clerk's back and arms. The robber was almost out of sight before Gallagher was able to dig out from under.

Note Increased Study of Africa

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It is said that the average American's knowledge of Africa is based on a mixture of myth and misinformation, largely a compound of Hollywood and Edgar Rice Burroughs.

If true, it should not be for long.

More than 20 U.S. universities now have African studies programs. Their seeds are beginning to take root.

At the recent dedication of Boston University's center for African studies, administrator, Edmond C. Hutchinson of the U.S. Agency for International Development, called it "a meaningful manifestation of the ever-increasing interest in Africa which is taking place today."

Carl Rowan, director of the U.S. Information Agency, indicated that such interest is only recent. Rowan, in a Chicago speech in October, said:

"Our generation, I am afraid, learned about the southern half of the globe too seldom in class and too often at the Saturday afternoon matinee — and for many of us, it was largely a confused image of cannibals, cobras and crocodiles, of warriors and witch doctors, of lions and leinleths."

"It is probably no exaggeration to say that the two Africans best known in the U.S. during the 1930s were Tarzan and Jane. And they of the somewhat bleached variety."

The government also is stimulating African studies in the United States.

STUDY GRANTS

In announcing that it was providing grants for study of Bemba, Hausa, Swahili and West African pidgin English at Michigan State University, the U.S. Office of Education said such "training is designed to prepare students for either college training careers or for employment that serves the economic, cultural, education, scientific or political interests of the United States."

Michigan State was among universities listed by the U.S. African studies as having African programs.

Others were the University of California, Columbia University, Northwestern University, Johns Hopkins University, Howard University, Boston University, University of California at Los Angeles, Indiana University, Syracuse University, University of Chicago, Cornell University, Duquesne University, American University, Kennedy School of Missions, St. John's University, Stanford University, Western Michigan University, University of Wisconsin and Yale University.

According to Africa Report magazine, several other American institutions offer three or more courses primarily concerned with Africa, but do not have full-scale African studies programs.

Among them are California Institute of Technology, Duke University, Harvard University, University of Minnesota, University of Pennsylvania, University of Pittsburgh, Portland State College, Tulane University, University of Washington, Washington University at St. Louis, and Lincoln University.

State Prison Escapee Is Arrested in L. A.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The FBI said that Leonard B. Hamilton, 62, sought since he escaped last summer from the Michigan state prison facility at Grass Lake, Mich., was arrested in Los Angeles this week.

He was arraigned before a U.S. commissioner on charges of unlawful flight to avoid confinement. He was serving a 15-25 year sentence for armed robbery when he escaped, the FBI said.

Americans worked an average of 70 hours a week in 1850.

'64 Was Year of Change, Violence for Area

A year highlighted by shifting political fortunes and growing problems in government finance in the Pontiac area, 1964 also saw a boom in residential, commercial and industrial expansion.

Violence, too, cast its shadow over 1964.

The most grizzly area crime in many years marked the early days of autumn when a Troy woman and six children were found beaten to death with an ax and hammer in their home.

Violence also struck a blow from above when a tornado swooped down on homes north of Pontiac late on May afternoon.

Democrats gained two key county posts in November, and October saw the Pontiac City Commission enact a city income tax which is yet to be decided by the voters.

CITY HALL

There was also a change at city hall, with a new commission elected in April and a new city manager hired two months later.

Here's a roundup of the local newsmakers of 1964:

January

Jan. 1—First baby of the new year in Pontiac was born to Mrs. Ernest Hunt, 33, of 683 Hillwood, Milford, at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. Dirklund V. Hunt, six pounds, arrived at 2:50 a.m.

Jan. 3—City Manager Robert A. Carter suggested that Pontiac begin thinking about a local income tax to supplement property taxes and allow an increase in services.

Pontiac Motor Division announced it produced 625,268 cars in 1963, the best year in its history.

Jan. 9—The State Attorney General's Office refused to carry out an investigation requested by the City Commission into 1962 election expenses of commissioners. Lack of evidence was cited by the attorney general's office.

Jan. 13—A fire in the Parkside Apartment, 101 Mechanic, killed one man, Russell Nacarato, 51, and routed 100 other tenants. The $50,000 blaze was the second major fire in Pontiac in 48 hours. Earlier, a factory which formerly housed the American Forging & Socket Co. on Branch Street, was ravaged by flames.

Jan. 14—A City Charter amendment providing for nominations by district and at-large election of city commissioners was approved 8,861 to 3,375 by Pontiac voters.

Jan. 15—Dr. Don O. Tatroe, superintendent of Waterford Township schools, was named outstanding man of the year by the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Jan. 16—Bonds totaling $2.45 million for the Clinton River drain project were sold to Halsey-Stuart Corp. of Chicago, clearing the way for construction to begin.

Jan. 17—Pontiac firemen circulated petitions for a vote on a shorter workweek, from 63 to 56 hours, to appear on the April city election ballot.

Jan. 18—Final plans for the initial units of a proposed Children's Village were approved by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Jan. 23—Phillip A. Polk, 53, of 330 Harrison became the city's second fire victim in 11 days when flames swept through his house.

Jan. 24—Fifteen-year-old Daniel Lovass, 1042 Smith, Birmingham, was held in the Oakland County Jail for investigation of the fatal stabbing of Nancy J. Jones, 14, of 1128 Emmons, Birmingham, as she walked to Birmingham's Bar-num Junior High School.

County Civil Defense Director John E. Madole, 46, was named as Oakland County's representative to Cali, Colombia, in an experiment to assist South American countries improve economic conditions.

Jan. 27—Linda Wigman, 17, of Traverse City was named Michigan's Junior Miss in the state contest held in Pontiac.

Jan. 28—Pontiac City Manager Robert A. Carter was arraigned in Flint Municipal Court after being charged with conspiracy to defraud the city of Flint in a land purchase for a water supply project. Carter was city manager of Flint when the transaction took place.

Jan. 29—City Commissioner Milton R. Henry resigned his office after three terms and was replaced by Samuel J. Whithers.

Jan. 30—Consumers Power Co. revealed plans for a $2-million expansion program that would extend gas service to 3,100 new Pontiac customers.

Jan. 31—At a special meeting, Pontiac city commissioners in a unanimous vote adopted a $6,879,495 city budget for 1964.

February

Feb. 4—Pontiac City Manager Robert A. Carter and seven other former and current Flint city officials were cited with alleged malfeasance and willful neglect of duties by Genesee County Circuit Judge Donn D. Parker, acting as a one-man grand jury.

Waterford Township Police Chief Millard J. Pender resigned after holding his post for seven years.

Feb. 6—Plans for a $32-million garbage and rubbish disposal operation near Oxford were presented by regional planners in Detroit.

Feb. 7—A summer music festival at Oakland University was announced by Semon E. Knudsen, chairman of the cultural project, and a vice president of General Motors Corp.

Feb. 8—Baldwin Rubber Division ceased operations in Pontiac.

Feb. 12—City Manager Robert A. Carter resigned and John F. Reineck, assistant city manager, was named acting city manager.

The State Fire Marshal's Office was called in to investigate a fire that gutted Big Value Furniture Discounters, 47-55 S. Saginaw, and caused $134,000 damage.

Feb. 18—Realtor Bruce J. Annett was named chairman of the Pontiac Area United Fund for 1964.

Feb. 19—The Pontiac City Commission approved placing a millage increase proposal on the April 20 ballot along with a fire department request for a shorter workweek.

Feb. 20—A multimillion dollar expansion and modernization program at Pontiac Motor Division was announced by General Manager E. M. Estes.

Theodore B. Bloom was in-FOUND INNOCENT—Former Pontiac and Flint City Manager Robert A. Carter, who resigned his local post in February after being charged in a Flint conspiracy case, was found innocent (Dec. 11 in Genesee County Circuit Court.

NEW MANAGER—Joseph A. Warren of Jackson took over as Pontiac City Manager Aug. 3.

stalled as president of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Feb. 25—Daniel Lovass, 15, of Birmingham, who authorities said admitted fatally stabbing Nancy Jean Jones, was found guilty in Oakland County Juvenile Court.

Feb. 27—Vandals caused $3,000 damage to Hawthorne Elementary School in Pontiac.

Pontiac Attorney James L. Howlett was named outstanding map of the year by the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Feb. 29—Ground was broken for the $200,000 Howard C. Baldwin pavilion at Oakland University.

March

March 3—Pontiac voters rejected four incumbent city commissioners in a heavy city primary election turnout.

March 4—Daniel Lovass, 15-year-old slayer of a Birmingham schoolgirl, was committed to Pontiac State Hospital for psychiatric care and treatment.

March 5—A wind storm slammed into the Pontiac area smashing windows and snapping trees and utility poles.

March 6—GMC Truck and Coach Division reported sales for the first two months of 1964 ahead of any comparable period since 1951.

March 9—Nancy Shadrack, 18-year-old Waterford Kettering High School senior, was selected Miss Waterford of 1964 at the annual pageant sponsored by the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce.

March 10—A snow storm dumped 4 inches of snow on the Pontiac area.

March 17—Waterford Township's Civil Service Commission recommended that Capt. William C. Stokes be named township police chief to succeed Millard Pender who resigned in February.

March 19—Pontiac Motor Division pulled the wraps off its share of General Motors Corp.'s expansion program, revealing plans for a new storage building and an addition to the foundry.

March 25—A 22-year-old discharged mental hospital patient ambushed, shot and killed his former Pontiac Township friend, 17-year-old Lawrence J. Morris.

March 27—A $6.3-million building program at the Oakland County Service Center was proposed by County Engineer Joseph Joachim to meet projected space needs for the next five years.

April

April 1—Oakland County's seven Circuit Court judges appointed Birmingham Attorney Richard P. Condit as county prosecutor to succeed George F. Taylor, who resigned the post.

April 3—The Pontiac Tax Board of Review set the city's 1964 tax base at $295,471,900—an increase of nearly $15 million over 1963's total assessed valuation.

April 7—County acquisition of Pontiac Municipal Airport was proposed by Charles B. Edwards, Jr., chairman of the County Board of Supervisors' aviation committee.

April 9—Former Pontiac City Manager Robert A. Carter and Samuel M. Catsman, prominent Flint businessman, were bound over to Genesee County Circuit Court on a fraud conspiracy charge.

April 13—West Bloomfield Township trucking executive Walter F. Carey was named president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

April 21—Six new Pontiac city commissioners were elected in balloting that saw incumbent District 3 Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. lead the field with 8,251 votes.

One ballot proposal asking for additional millage was defeated while another, proposing a shorter workweek for firemen, was approved by Pontiac voters.

April 23—Mayor Robert A. Landry said he will definitely ask for a recount of votes cast for District 7 candidates in every precinct of the city.

April 24—In a stormy session at City Hall, Mayor Robert A. Landry accused City Clerk Olga Barkeley of illegally instructing election officials in their duties in Monday's election.

A suit asking that the City of Pontiac be restrained from certifying Emmett S. Wellbaum as elected and bar him from office was filed in Oakland County Circuit Court by Mayor Robert A. Landry.

April 28—William H. Taylor Jr., who four years ago ran for the Pontiac City Commission as a political newcomer, was elected mayor by the commission.

April 30—Appointment of William J. Frey of West Virginia as executive director of the Pontiac Area United Fund was announced.

May

"Worry-Free" Payment Plan ... Three Years to Pay!

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Lie Down Immediately if You Feel Faint

Fainting is not as common as it was 60 or 70 years ago.

This is partly because it has gone out of fashion and partly because women wear less constricting clothes and keep themselves physically more fit.

When you see someone faint nowadays it is more often a husky male who, in a misguided effort to be brave, ignores such warning signs as lightheadedness, nausea or surdness.

Simple fainting never occurs in a person who is lying down and rarely in a person who is sitting.

When consciousness is lost in these BRANDSTADT positions it is due to some serious injury associated with severe blood loss, extreme pain or damage to an internal organ.

EMERGENCY TREATMENT

These conditions require emergency treatment by a doctor whereas simple fainting is a temporary condition that is harmless unless the victim falls and strikes his head.

When a person faints and assumes a horizontal position there is usually a prompt return of consciousness without any special treatment.

The cause of simple fainting is failure of sufficient blood to reach the brain.

It may be triggered by such things as the sight of blood, the prick of a hypodermic needle, or standing motionless as soldiers are frequently required to do.

HOT DAY

Standing is most likely to cause fainting on a hot day or in a warm stuffy room. A long-distance runner may faint from exhaustion or a person may faint on hearing of a death in the family.

One of the commonest causes of fainting is getting up out of bed suddenly, especially after a long illness or when in a weakened condition.

The modern practice of getting up a day or two after an operation has done much to prevent this type of fainting.

The most important item of treatment is to lie down at the first hint of lightheadedness even if you are in a public place.

NOT SILLY

It doesn't look nearly as silly to lie down on the sidewalk as it does to fall and have to have stitches taken.

And if you must stand still for a long time you can prevent fainting by continuously wiggling your toes.

If someone else has fainted, don't throw water in his face—he may inhale some and have a bad fit of choking.

Smelling salts, too, are a waste of time. Recovery is both prompt and spontaneous.

When the victim has revived sufficiently that he feels like getting up, he should walk around a bit to get his circulation working.

Daughters Follow in Their Mothers' Footsteps

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor
A mother always hopes that she is an influence for good in the lives of her children. She hopes especially that she can pass on to her daughters some of the things life has taught her and give the daughters a proper sense of values.

No one has effectively solved the question of whether heredity or environment plays the most importance in a child's life. But most experts agree that environment is pretty important when ethical and moral values are concerned.

In the past two years there has been a great to-do about the "feminine mystique" and women's finding the fourth dimension in their lives.

We have written about women with time on their hands after their children have grown and what they are doing to make that time worthwhile.

We have written about the modern woman and her job and how most females can expect to work some 25 years during their lifetime, whether they are married or not.

WHITHER BOUND

In what direction is the feminine younger generation going? Are girls following in mothers' footsteps?

In many ways they are. They participate in the same organizations and the same activities.

We might note that of all the mother-daughter teams noted on this page, only one pair is employed full time. We didn't plan it that way.

But it should please the critics who get upset about working mothers and who feel that too much emphasis has been placed on the housewife's dissatisfaction with her job.

YWCA TEAMS

When the YWCA was formed some 20 years ago, the late Mrs. Garnet Sparks was the first treasurer. Her daughter, Mrs. Donald E. Adams, was on the board of directors during the early years.

The late Mrs. W. R. Ransom was first president of the board. Her daughter, the late Mrs. Donald W. Neal, was also on the board.

Other mother-daughter combinations on the YW board have been Mrs. M. H. Slater and Mrs. R. C. Lippard; and Mrs. H. M. Learned and Mrs. Robert Benedict.

PTA FAMILY

The PTA is a family affair in the Albert Rayner family. Mrs. Rayner worked in the Baldwin PTA while her four children were going through school. Her mother-in-law, the late Mrs. Albert Rayner Sr., was one of the first presidents of the Wilson PTA.

Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles Butler, was vice president of the Wilson group.

CARRY ON

Now, all four children are active. Her daughter and son-in-law, the Robert Potes, are active at Webster school. He is a council delegate.

Her son, Capt. Albert Rayner III, is father vice president at Mark Twain school.

Another daughter, Mrs. Charles Lowe, represents the teacher part of PTA as a teacher at Madison Jr. High. The third daughter, Mrs. William MacDonald, is community projects chairman in the William Beaumont PTA.

Heredity or environment?

HOSPITAL VOLUNTEERS

Service in another field is stressed in the Bloomfield Village home of the E. Carl Justis. Mrs. Justis is the newly elected president of the 250-member St. Joseph Hospital Auxiliary.

Her two daughters are members of the junior auxiliary.

Sharon, a sophomore at Mount St. Joseph on-the-Ohio

College in Cincinnati, pushes the gift cart around the hospital during her vacation periods. Her younger sister, Joanne, has just started with the same duty.

Oakland county has over a hundred extension study groups. Through them, women learn ways of making their job as homemakers easier and more efficient.

CHARTER MEMBER

Women like Mrs. Russell Pickering of Franklin like the emphasis on home decorating and clothing. A charter member of the Bloomfield group, she has served as both chairman and project leader several different times.

She makes her own clothes. She has refinished her dining room set and caned all the chairs. She has taught a caning class.

She started a 4-H club in 1948 after her daughter became interested. The daughter's interests were mainly in the home furnishings, clothing and food groups.

The daughter won two scholarships through 4-H that helped her get a degree in home economics from Michigan State University.

Now the daughter is married and has a little girl of her own. Mrs. Kerry Keeley is mother to 18-month-old Kathleen.

She is a member of her mother's extension group. And she's still interested in home furnishings, clothing and food.

ARTISTIC TALENT

It must be a great satisfaction to find your talent showing up in a beloved child. The artistic or musical parent should know best of all how to foster such talent.

Mrs. S. H. Fox of Bloomfield Village is an artist and an ex-teacher of art in the Philadelphia public schools. Her daughter, Cathryn, is also artistic.

Cathryn has completed three years at Western Michigan University. She is working now but paints whenever she finds the time.

Her mother says, "She's very clever with her hands."

Mother and daughter artists are Mrs. S. H. Fox (right) and her daughter, Cathryn, both of Bloomfield Village. They are shown at the Village Woman's Club where eight of their paintings and a collage have been on exhibit during the holiday season.

She wraps beautiful packages."

Mrs. Fox has studied with Mary Jane Bigler of Wayne State University for six years. Cathryn has worked with the same teacher.

One of Cathryn's early paintings appeared in the Ford Times in an article on kindergartners' art.

Now, two of her water colors and six of her mother's hang on the walls of the Village Woman's Club. The club makes a practice of displaying the work of noted local artists.

GARDEN CLUB

In 1961, Mrs. J. Standish Sibley was made an honorary member of the Pontiac branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. At that time, she had belonged to the group for over 20 years.

She has served in every office of the branch except that of president. She was state hospitality chairman for five years.

Most important of all, for the past 13 years she has gone weekly to Pontiac State Hospital to work with the patients in horticulture therapy. For 12 of those years, she has been chairman of this project.

This interest in the WNFGA she has passed on to her only daughter, Mrs. Edmund S. Rogers.

About 18 years ago, the Pontiac branch decided to take in daughters of the members and Beth Sibley Rogers was one of the first of the second-generation members.

She has been busy raising three sons so that her garden club activities must of necessity be more limited than her mother's. But the interest is there.

TEACHERS

For 21 years, Mrs. Olive K. Lord has taught public school music. She was in the Pontiac School System for seven years, and has been at Dublin School in White Lake Township for the past 14 years.

Her daughter, Mrs. James Davis, has taught kindergarten at Wilson School for 19 years.

Both mother and daughter have received their degrees from Wayne State University since they started their teaching careers.

Both women enjoy their jobs and the youngsters they encounter daily.

Like mother, like daughter. There must be some influence.

Friend Will Appreciate Her Gesture

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: For many years we have been neighbors to a man who is a widower. We have always been very friendly, visiting back and forth.

Two weeks ago he went to another city to be married. Very shortly he will be returning home with his bride, who incidentally is a stranger to us.

I would like to know if I should go and call on her soon after she arrives, or is it up to our neighbor to take her to our house and introduce us to her?

A: You do not wait for him to bring her to your house. Courtesy expects that you go and call on your neighbor's new bride as soon as she is settled and welcome her.

Q: A friend of ours recently retired from the medical profession because of ill health. A discussion arose as to whether or not he is still addressed as doctor both when speaking and writing to him. Some are of the opinion that this title is used only for so long as he practices medicine. May we have your opinion?

A: He is addressed as Doctor both when speaking and writing to him, for so long as he lives.

Your Help Needed in Reporting

Report club events and social happenings as soon as possible. News which is two days late frequently has lost much of its impact.

The five W's are the cardinal rules for women's page copy!

All reports should state WHO is concerned; WHAT happened; WHEN did it occur; WHERE did it take place and WHY.

Be sure spelling of names is correct before writing the article. Double check your own information. Point out or mark with an "O.K." any unusual spelling.

TWO INITIALS

Our style in names calls for the first name or two initials. Only single women or some divorced women and women long widowed correctly use their own first name.

Otherwise, first name should be that of the husband! Mrs. George T. Smith NOT Mrs. Mary Smith.

Type copy, if at all possible, using double or even triple space. If news is written, print all names, using ink and letter-size paper.

Often confused are the letters U and N; M and W; O, A and U; I and E; T and L; M and N.

Sign all copy and include telephone number. This will save us time if necessary to contact you and may save you some late copy.

PICTURES

Contact the women's department in regard to pictures at least three weeks in advance of publication date. Because of limited space, the number of persons in a picture will be restricted.

The slotted box outside the main door of The Press is opened each morning at seven o'clock and again at eight.

A booklet "Helpful Hints for Press Chairman" is available at The Press.

Peter Aldos Host Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Aldo, Voorhies Road, will be hosts at a family breakfast and an afternoon open house on Saturday. The occasion is the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. Aldo's parents, the G. A. Aldos of Laurium, Michigan.

The senior Aldos were married Jan. 2, 1915 in Calumet. They are frequent visitors to Pontiac.

Service to others is a tradition in the E. Carl Justis family of Bloomfield Village. Mrs. Justis (rear) is the newly elected president of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Auxiliary.

Her older daughter, Sharon (top), helps push the gift cart during vacations. Fourteen-year-old Joanne is a new member of the junior group of the auxiliary.

Children may come and children may go, but PTA goes on forever! Mrs. Robert Pote, Dick Street (left) a third generation worker in the school organization, is presently serving as savings stamp chairman at Webster School. Her mother, Mrs. Albert Rayner II, Monterey Street was active in Baldwin School PTA and her late grandmother (shown in picture) worked with the Wilson School PTA. She was the first Mrs. Albert Rayner.

Mother and daughter share an interest in sewing, home decorating and furniture refinishing. Both members of the Bloomfield extension study club are Mrs. Russell Pickering (left) and Mrs. Kerry Keeley who live in Franklin. Grandma made Mama's dress and little Kathleen's blouse, also her own suit. Mama made Kathleen's jumper and pinafore and refinished the spinning wheel in the foreground. She is a former home economics teacher.

Crow for Mother-in-Law

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I feel so sick at heart I don't know what to do. My daughter-in-law is the dearest little thing. I could not love my own daughter more.

Yesterday she brought my little granddaughter over to see me and she also brought me a cake she had made from "scratch" from a recipe I had given her. She was so proud of that cake.

I wanted to make her feel good so I fixed a pot of coffee and served her cake with it.

I want to tell you that cake wasn't easy to swallow. It was lopsided, underdone in the center and very heavy.

After she left I took the cake out in the back yard and started breaking it up into small pieces for the birds. As I was pitching it left and right, my daughter-in-law came back to get the baby's diaper bag, which she had forgotten. When she saw me throwing the cake out she looked so hurt.

Oh, Abby, I haven't been able to sleep. Should I try to patch things up, or should I try to forget it and hope she will, too?

SO SORRY

DEAR SORRY: It would be better to bring it up and clear the air. Tell her you appreciated her thoughtfulness and also tell her what was wrong with her cake and offer to help her make the next one.

(P.S. Your timing, as well as her cake, was for the birds.)

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

QUESTION BOX

Q. How can I do my exercises when I have a 2-year-old who gets in my way when I try?

A. A letter I have just received from a reader answers your question. She says, "When I used to take my exercises my daughter thought I was playing games and I never could do them right. She would climb all over me."

Now I make a game of it for her by letting her help me. She is 2 years old. For instance she sits on my legs to hold them down while I raise my trunk from the floor. She has fun and I get my exercising done all at the same time."

Small children love to mimic. If they are told to follow the leader and do what you are doing, they usually will do so.

Q. Does exercise cause varicose veins?

A. No. Standing on your feet for hours at a time can be a contributing factor. If your duties require this, take short rest periods for 5 or 10 minutes, scattered through the day. Rest with your feet higher than your head.

MUST BE BLACK

No Hindu widow in India may wear a colored or brocaded sari. It must be black.

Most of the middle-income groups go for the dhoti, which is made of coarse cotton cloth. These retail for $1.35 to $3.15.

With the current index of living rising steadily, the average Indian woman cannot afford to buy a silk sari in her own country.

"Until independence, our best customers were the rich maharajahs," a sari dealer said. "Now our best customers are the American tourists."

One American recently ordered a shipload of saris from India — for curtains!

HORMONE PILLS

Q. Are there hormone pills strictly for increasing the size of the bust?

A. Hormone medication could have this effect, but hormones cannot be bought without a doctor's prescription, fortunately. I doubt that many doctors would prescribe them for this reason alone. Talk to your doctor about this.

Q. What do you believe is right skirt length for a woman? Should the legs be taken into consideration, whether they are fat or thin?

A. Legs seem to have no consideration at all today, whether they are bowlegged, thin, fat or knock-kneed, they are evident. This is too bad because pretty knees are as rare as pretty feet and snow in June.

I think the wise woman takes the middle road. She is determined to be attractive no matter what "they" say. Certainly your skirt length should be short or you will look strange and like something from Mars.

Anyway, chic women have never been made fools of by extreme fashion. They have enjoyed the change in pace which changing styles bring them, but have adapted the current fashion to themselves individually. I think that most women look much more attractive when wearing a skirt length an inch below the knee.

With Pads of Fat

Q. Will you please help us? We are six housewives, ranging in age from 29 to 45. We all have fairly good figures except for pads of fat just below our waistlines, on both sides. Is there an exercise which will help?

A. There are several splendid ones. Kneel on both knees. Raise both arms overhead, one arm by each ear.

Keep the arms by the ears as you bend the trunk to the left. At the same time push the hips back to the right and sit on the heels. Straighten trunk.

This time bend to the right and push the hips back to the left and sit on the heels. Raise trunk and continue.

Do this exercise slowly. Be sure to keep the arms by the ears during the entire exercise.

Bleach Facial Hairs

Q. Will you please tell me how to bleach the hairs on my upper lip and the facial hairs which grow on the side of my face?

A. You can bleach this hair with a mixture of peroxide and household ammonia. Use four drops of ammonia to three tablespoons of peroxide. Pat this on with cotton and let it dry. Stuff cotton in your nostrils and close your eyes because of possible fumes.

If any of you would like to have my leaflet "Reconditioning At Home" (all about facial masks etc.) send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet 49 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Female Vanity Never Ceases

BOSCOBEL, Wis. (AP) — The lady wasn't talking, but that did not keep 75-year-old John Mallet from feeling much younger. When he attended a chicken barbecue at a church and school reunion, he met up with his first grade teacher, now Mrs. Nora Price of Battle Creek, Mich.

Mrs. Price still thinks a lady's age is her own business, but Mallet's arithmetic has improved since the first grade.

Saris Are Expensive

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Six yards of silk is all the Indian woman needs to dress herself elegantly. But those six yards could create a crisis in the family budget.

A sari — a 72-by-40-inch piece of handspun silks — can cost from $10.50 to $1,050.

The most expensive types are the Benaras brocades, with designs in gold of cheetahs chasing the black buck, or sunsets over the holy rivers.

RING TESTED

The Kashmir saris are known as the ring-tested saris. You can pull a six-yard-long sari through a wedding ring. They are as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth.

"They are very expensive and besides nobody likes embroidered motifs these days," a leading sari merchant in downtown New Delhi said.

During a recent fashion show in New Delhi the sponsors said they were exporting large shipments of saris regularly to foreign countries including the United States and Britain.

Orthodox Hindu women are supposed to cover their hair with the pallu, the loose end of the sari, but the modern Indian woman prefers an uncovered head.

MUST BE BLACK

No Hindu widow in India may wear a colored or brocaded sari. It must be black.

Most of the middle-income groups go for the dhoti, which is made of coarse cotton cloth. These retail for $1.35 to $3.15.

Budget Plan for Major Replacements

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: After being married 16 years, having three children, building a home, and adding things along the way we find ourselves with many major appliances which are nearly worn out.

The thought of replacing a washer, dryer, refrigerator, and stove, all in the very near future, leaves me reeling.

Is there a good rule of thumb for budgeting for these eventualities? Mrs. I. M. Whitehouse, Ohio.

Dear Mrs. M.: The theory is that a regular family savings fund of from 5 to 15 per cent of the annual income allows for major replacements in a household. And for some families, it actually works out that way!

But I admit it's one of the toughest problems a woman has to deal with. In so many cases, all the important appliances begin to run down just as the children's needs begin to run up.

Now that the home is becoming more automated, a woman has to keep her wits about her and plan just as a business man plans upkeep and replacements for necessary machinery.

LIFE EXPECTANCY

Even if major appliances are bought new in the same year, the life expectancy of each varies by a few years — you have a little leeway in planning ahead. The life expectancy of appliances is estimated on this basis:

Washing machine, 11 years; dryer, 14 years; freezer, 15 years; refrigerator, 16 years, stove 16 years.

The most practical way to handle a replacement fund is to set up a small savings account especially for this purpose.

If you can manage to put aside $1 a week, in three years you would have $165.65 — a sizable down payment on any appliance. (This sum figures in 4 per cent interest, with earnings compounded twice yearly.)

In five years, on this dollar-a-week savings plan, you'd have $287.54 and in ten years, $638.05.

If you can save $2 a week for your maintenance fund, you'd build up $331.19 in three years; $574.86 in five years, and $1275.61 in ten years.

PLAN NOW

Every family should re-evaluate the budget at the beginning of a new year, and take a look at what's coming up. This is the time to consider the condition and probably life span of major appliances. Be aware of which appliance will need replacing first.

The system of long-time planning and long-time saving is sound. The trouble lies in the human desire to ignore the inevitable and to look just a little way ahead and leave the rest to chance. But you can't win that way.

Nobody says it's easy to keep a maintenance fund going over a long period of time without dipping into it for other things. But it's a lot harder to suddenly be faced with replacements and wonder where they're coming from.

In order to put aside even $1 a week, you have to be firm as well as ingenious. But they're qualities every homemaker must develop if she's not born with them.

Find that extra dollar in the grocery money — or by cutting cleaning bills and washing everything that can be washed, which is most everything you wear and live with these days.

Find it by skipping a movie one week, or making do with the same old handbag a bit longer.

INSTALLMENT PLAN

Even with your maintenance fund, you may have to resort to installment buying to replace one or more appliances. But when your down-payment is substantial, it cuts down monthly payments.

And when replacement is staggered over a period of years, you have a chance to pay off one appliance before having to take on another.

The average family can take on an amount up to 14 per cent of the annual income for installment buying without overloading the budget, if other expenses are in line.

Sugar Replaces Old Mold Method

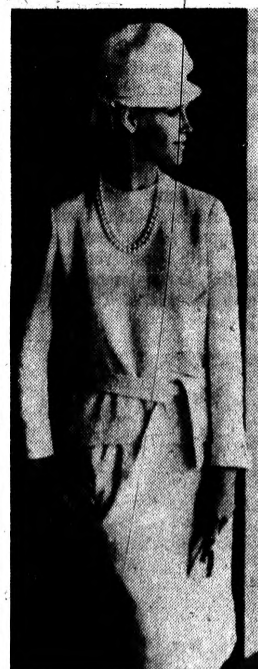

Here is an excellent way to unmold gelatin easily and quickly. Wipe the gelatin mold with a damp cloth; sprinkle it well with sugar. Pour in the cooled gelatin.

When set, the gelatin unmolds perfectly without dipping the mold in hot water. The sugar grains disappear.

Fontana of Italy

When a great designer like Fontana lends her hand to a simple shirt-waist dress, it is bound to have great distinction. The crisp detail adds up to absolute perfection.

The curved front bodice is shaped in the most flattering way and together with the skirt is fashioned to create the illusion of a particularly small waist. The side seams have been moved toward the back of the dress, meeting the back yoke at the armholes, adding to the over-all slimming effect.

The slight shirring across the back yoke is just another part of the quality dressmaking which makes it possible to wear this dress without its belt. The virtues of this design are endless and we predict the same for its life span as one of your favorites.

Make it in light weight woolens, shantung, faille or crepe and later in linen or cotton. Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear sizes produce a better fit. See chart for size best for you.

Size 12 requires 2 1/2 yds. of 42" fabric for the dress and 2 1/2 yds. of 42" fabric for the lining. To order Pattern No. NS-308, state size, send $1.00. Add 25c for first class mail and special handling.

Furniture Taken From Wild Trees

One surprised furniture plant president recently told of being soundly berated by a group of garden club members who visited his factory.

He was scolded by the nature-loving ladies for cutting down such beautiful trees as magnolia, cherry, pecan for furniture.

With the coffee break and his truthful explanation that furniture lumber and veneer are cut from wild, forest grown trees, the ladies departed happily.

Garden and lawn trees seldom reach the tall straightness of forest trees. Few of them reach the age and size for "commercial" cutting.

OLD TREES

While some species of hardwoods grow faster than others, the age of a mature tree, for commercial purposes, is 50 to 80 years, and often more.

Because tree leaves seek sunlight, lower branches gradually fall off as a forest tree shoots up among others.

Its branches seek to bring the leaves higher and higher into an uncrowded open, sunny spot.

From this tall thick trunk, comes what the wood industry terms "long wood." This may be from 50 to 75 feet.

CUT IN LENGTHS

The log is cut into about sixteen foot lengths, then cut into lumber for veneer.

Mr. and Mrs. George G. Ray of Keego Harbor, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Eleanor to Robert T. Baxter, son of the O. T. Baxters of Saginaw, formerly of Pontiac. May 22 rites are planned.

Cleanliness Big Factor

Soap and the new detergents are such familiar products of everyday use that it is easy to overlook their value and their contribution to the progress of civilization.

Since they are synonymous with cleanliness, modern industry and modern homes could not function efficiently or conveniently without them.

In fact, soaps and detergents play such a vital role in modern life that they are essential to maintaining America's enviably high standard of living.

Teenagers Comment on Working Wives

By Gilbert Youth Research, Inc.

Should a young wife work? When both the husband and wife work, should they establish a standard of living based on the combined salaries?

Or, should they live only on the husband's pay — and save the wife's for future needs?

Young couples have been asking and answering those questions ever since women began to flout tradition by hanging on to their jobs after they said "I do."

In an effort to learn how future husbands and wives feel about the matter, we put two questions to 1064 teen-agers.

Fifty per cent of them had no doubt about it: the wife's salary should be saved.

COMBINE SALARIES

Thirty-five per cent saw no reason why the standard of living should not be based on the combined salaries.

The rest had no definite opinion either way. And 66 per cent of those questioned felt that, regardless of how the extra money was used, the wife should work during the first years of marriage.

Whatever difference of opinion might exist about a wife's role in building financial stability, there was virtually none about the husband's part.

Ninety-four per cent of the youngsters said that a good job for the man is essential before marriage. The girls felt even more strongly about this than the boys, 96 per cent of them expressing this belief.

As Karen Nader, 17, of Mayetta, Kan., put it: "The fastest 'why' for a marriage to hit the skids is to have financial problems all at once."

GOOD JOB

Eighteen-year-old Pauline Foley, of Hartford, Conn., said, "If he has a good job before marriage, he is likely to keep it and get a better one."

But Beatrice Wangerin, 19, of Everett, Wash., had a different idea.

"If the married man is to attend college and the couple can get by without him working," she explained, "it is not necessary that he have a job."

A young man from Auburn-dale, Mass., apparently didn't think the question should have made any reference to marriage.

Said 17-year-old Peter Woodland: "A good job is essential whether a person is married or not."

From Clinton Lee Helton, 17, San Leandro, Calif., came this comment: "A sound economic background forms a strong foundation for marriage."

Another California youth, 16-year-old Tom Bishop, of San Francisco, didn't think a good job was essential before marriage, but he qualified it with a big "if" — "if parents insist on helping out with problems."

It's a cinch that future husbands had better have good jobs if the replies of the teen-agers to the final question bear any relation to what actually will happen.

Mother's Actions Go Back to Childhood

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: It's a year since my nephew, 4, had an operation to deepen a shallow hip socket that made one of his legs shorter than the other. He is now walking without a limp but my sister still acts like his slave.

If he wants her attention when she's phoning, she hangs up. She lets him grab food from serving dishes.

She says she knows she spoils him because she still blames herself for his hip trouble but then starts crying and says she can't help it.

Answer: Maybe she's right. It doesn't do much good merely to "know" that we're unreasonable to blame ourselves for a child's disability. We have to feel the cruelty with which we are treating ourselves.

And to feel it, we may have to go back to many other older experiences of false blame.

We'll have to remember our parents' misjudgments of our childhood's actions, of the hopelessness which overwhelmed us when our explanations of our intentions were rejected as "excuses," of the accusations that made us feel guilty for things done by more favored brothers and sisters.

We may have to recapture these memories until the injustice of the mistaken blame that was put upon us is seen in its stark and unmistakable cruelty.

Then—and often only then—can we feel our right to mercy. Often only then can our hearts break into love for ourselves so that we can begin to dimly discern the outrageous cruelty of our self-blame for our child's disability.

Your sister might find some sessions with a psychiatrist helpful at this point.

If she could stop overindulging her little boy, she would, you know. If she could stop using this overindulgence to still the past's accusing voices which insist "It is you who have been bad again," she would.

Without professional help, the blaming past may speak too powerfully for her to be able to turn on it and cry back at it, "I don't believe you any more! You have blamed me too often and too unjustly for me to credit anything you say!" "This" includes lying hints that I was responsible for Tommy's shallow hip socket!

God knows we human beings make enough mistakes without blaming ourselves for things we didn't do.

Flowers Kept by Spraying

The seed pods of the Althea bush, commonly known as "Lily of the Valley" or Rose of Sharon, are not ruined by wintry weather so they may be gathered at anytime for use in dried flower arrangements.

They can be sprayed any color.

Polly's Pointers

Handy for Laundry

DEAR POLLY—I am the mother of eight children. My washer, dryer and folding bench are recessed behind a draw curtain off the family room so they are concealed when not in use. Above the washer are three shelves.

I have spray painted 21 cardboard boxes and put each child's name on some of them. Others are marked for bathroom rags, mending, dry cleaning, etc.

I only have to sort clean things and the children can carry their own clothes to the bedrooms.

My husband built two bins under the folding area by the washer. One is for washing and the other for things to be ironed.

Although I wash every day I only iron once a week so this is handy to keep ironing out of the way.

I sort mending as I do the washing putting all white, all gray, all red and dark things separately.

I only change the thread once for each different color and even mend socks on the sewing machine.

I keep an index card for each child. One side has a record of vaccinations, booster shots, etc. and the dates and list of communicable diseases each child has had.

The other side has the child's clothes, shoe and sock sizes.

I carry these in my billfold so as to have the sizes available any time I see a special sale.

We store all shoe polish in one box. With this we keep a piece of folded newspaper so the children do not smear the polish all over something else. The cleanup operation is much easier.—JANE

GIRLS—Our sincere thanks to this busy homemaker who took the time from her already crowded schedule to share her favorite time savers with the rest of us.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I do hope someone can help me with my problem. I have a beautiful antique mirror and there are age spots on the glass.

In other words, the back needs refinishing. I was given a ridiculous price, far beyond my means, to have it done professionally.

I have heard of a mixture of mercury and something but do not remember what the other ingredient is.—MRS. W. J. R.

GIRLS—Perhaps some of you know how to resilver a mirror. If the mirror is a fine antique, I would not advise tampering with it but otherwise it might be well to replace the old glass with new.

As a temporary measure (if this is not a valuable antique) smooth aluminum foil might be placed on the back and then shellacked over.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—When washing Venetian blinds, I use clip clothespins to hold the clean slats together. After washing the two top ones, I clip that slat to the one above and so on until all of them are clean.

This way I have room between the slats to wash each one thoroughly.—MRS. J. R. G.

Late July vows will be taken by Dawn O. Joseph and Harold K. Logan. Parents of the betrothed pair are the Kenneth Josephs, Cranberry Lake, Independence Township, and the Kester Logans of East Chicago Avenue.

Overeating May Be in Your Mind

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Overeating is bad enough but the cure may be worse!

The habit of overeating often has deep-seated psychological causes and an abrupt change in the habit can be a serious threat to a patient's mental and emotional health, says Dr. Roscoe P. Carney, internist at St. Louis City Hospital.

"To state that obesity is caused by overeating is every bit as senseless as relating alcoholism to overdrinking," he said.

Overeating, in many cases, is "a defense mechanism" triggered by some unsatisfactory circumstances in a person's life, Carney said.

He cited "a frequently seen case where a housewife eats continually to assuage profound disappointment in her marital relationships," or as a substitute for pride in her husband's accomplishments.

DEFENSE

In such cases, he said, eating is a "defense mechanism" and breaking down the defense "can induce serious behavioral disorders which pose a far greater threat than the obesity."

However, there are overweight persons whose poor eating habits are unrelated to serious emotional drawbacks, Carney said in "Medical Times Magazine."

Drugs should be used with extreme care, he said, because they can "aggravate anxiety," place an increased strain on the heart and become habit forming.

Americans are eating more than $650 million worth of frozen prepared dishes annually.

"The Dale Carnegie Program is responsible for a 30% increase in my business." The speaker was Donnell Thomas, owner of Donnell's Hair Stylists located at 293 N. Telegraph in the Pontiac Mall. "And furthermore," he continued, "the Dale Carnegie Program is largely responsible for opening my second Salon at the Pontchartrain Hotel in Detroit."

Donnell Thomas completed his Dale Carnegie training in April of 1964 in the Community Room of the Pontiac Mall. Active in social and civic affairs, Donnell is hardly a stranger to working in front of and with the public. Prior to opening his shop in the Mall he was an announcer for the Detroit Public School system, was active in student theater at Wayne State University, attended the Detroit Institute of Musical Arts and worked of WZLW, a radio training station in Detroit. Currently he is an active worker in "Big Brother" — a group lending guidance to boys without a father.

When questioned further about the 30% increase in business, Donnell beamed. "It was that priceless ingredient that the Dale Carnegie program stirred in me . . . ENTHUSIASM! I used to have good ideas but simply didn't act on them. The difference now is that I have the confidence to put action into ideas and to put enthusiasm to work for me. The average person just doesn't realize what the Dale Carnegie Program can do for him. It has been invaluable in my life."

On Tuesday, January 13 of the Pontiac Mall Community Room a preview meeting of the Dale Carnegie Program is being held starting at 8:00 p.m. Now is the time to take that forward step to self-improvement . . . to develop your skills in speaking, leadership, in human relations and in a better manner. This will lead to greater income . . . additional self-confidence . . . a more successful person.

The Dale Carnegie Program is presented by Leadership Training Institute located at 1100 W. McNichols in Detroit. For additional information telephone IN 4-5551.

Two Cooks Suggest Orange Bread Recipe

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

In looking through recipes readers have given us, we came across two of them for quick orange bread. They both sound good, so here they are for you to make a choice. Mrs. Donald J. Bennett of Union Lake and Mrs. Mary Trask of Pontiac are today's cooks. We met both women at a club meeting last fall.

ORANGE NUT BREAD

By Mrs. Donald J. Bennett

1 California orange
1 cup raisins or dates
2 tablespoons shortening
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 beaten egg
2 cups flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Squeeze juice from orange, pour into measuring cup and fill rest of cup with boiling water. Grind orange peel and dates or raisins together. Add diluted juice.

Stir in shortening, vanilla and egg. Add sifted dry ingredients. Mix well. Stir in nuts.

Pour into greased loaf pan. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees. Cool in pan before slicing.

By adding 1/2 pound of candied diced fruit, this makes an easy and good fruit cake.

ORANGE BREAD

By Mrs. Mary Trask

Rind of 2 oranges
1/2 cup water

1 cup sugar
3 cups sifted flour

4 teaspoons baking powder

1/2 teaspoon salt
1 beaten egg

1 cup milk

Boil rinds in water until they are soft. Drain and remove white pulp. Cut rind into tiny strips.

Mix water and sugar and boil 10 minutes. Put in orange strips and let cool.

Sift dry ingredients. Add cooled orange mixture. Mix beaten egg and milk and add.

Pour into 2 greased loaf pans. Bake one hour at 350 degrees.

This bread will slice better the second day. Makes 2 loaves.

Engagement news is made by Phyllis Jane Castiglione and Jennings C. Poole Jr. Parents of the two, who will repeat vows in September, are the Carmel Castigliones of Milford and the senior Pooles of Grosse Pointe. Her fiance attends Henry Ford Community College.

1964 IN THE CAMERA'S EYE

LYNDON BAINES JOHNSON, 56, of Texas became the 36th president of the United States for a four-year term of his own after finishing out the term of the assassinated John F. Kennedy. Johnson defeated Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona in a Democratic sweep, carrying 44 states with 486 electoral votes (270 needed to win) and reaping 61 per cent of the votes cast. LBJ's new right arm is Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, former Senate majority whip, elected to the vice presidency.

SOVIET PREMIER KHRUSHCHEV vowed on his 70th birthday he would not retire but he was tossed out of office unceremoniously and replaced by two "pals," Leonid Brezhnev, here bestowing Hero Medal upon Mr. K, as the Communist party's chief, and Aleksei Kosygin as the new premier.

HIT-RUN TACTICS and a steady boring in by Viet Cong guerrillas, coupled with civil strife and shaky Saigon governments, led to a steady deterioration of the war in South Viet Nam. Here, the Reds destroyed or damaged 27 U. S. planes in a mortar attack on a supposedly secret Viet air base.

Pope Paul VI, right, confers on equal footing in Jordan with Patriarch Athenagoras I of Constantinople, during his historic tour of the Holy Land. The meeting was a step toward ending the 900-year-old split of the Roman Catholic and Eastern Orthodox Churches on dogmatic differences.

THIS MUSHROOM CLOUD, the result of Red China's explosion of her first atom bomb, made Peking a member of the exclusive "nuclear club," strengthened her voice in world affairs.

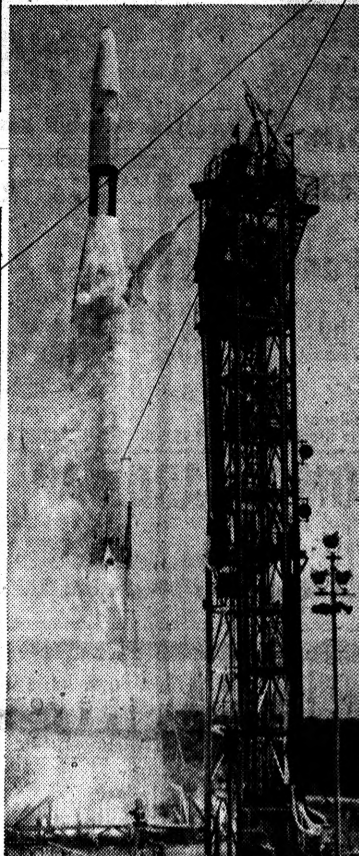

YEAH, YEAH, YEAH, the land of fads came up with a beaut—Beatlemania—as four mop-haired English lads "invaded" the United States with their version of rock 'n' roll, a beat which converted the nation's teen-agers into riotous mobs of screaming, hysterical, frenzied, fall-down-fainting fans.

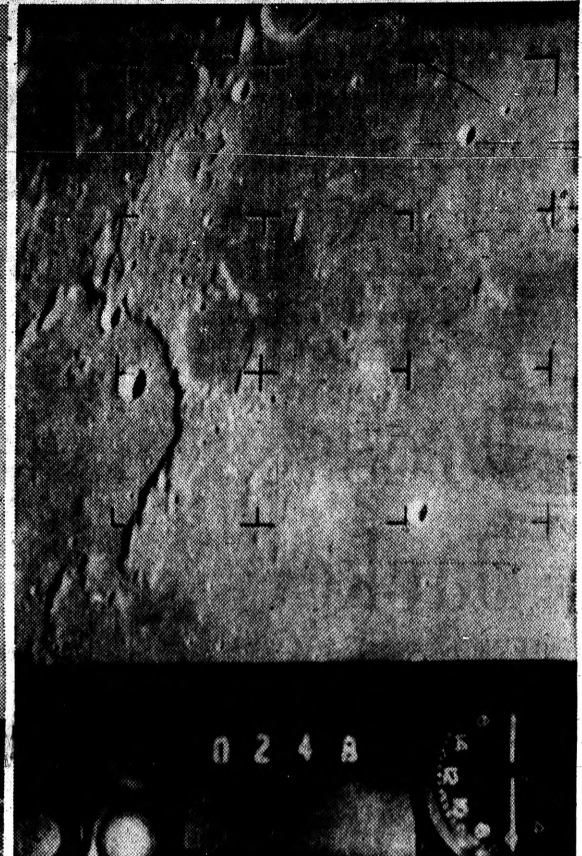

THE KALEIDOSCOPIC CONGO STORY took another dramatic turn with the atrocity slaying of hundreds of white hostages by leftist rebels holding the Stanleyville area before they could be rescued by Belgian sky troops. Here, a soldier finds the slain Dr. Paul Carlson, an American missionary.

Once level, this three-tier Anchorage street typifies the damage caused throughout Alaska by the continent's greatest earthquake. Fishing fleets, industry, rails and thousands of private homes—60 per cent of the state's developed worth—were left in wreckage. Toll was 130. Tremors rocked West coast cities southward as far as northern California and huge 'quake spawned tidal waves pounded across the Pacific to damage Hawaii.

RANGER VII, left, lifts off from Cape Kennedy, soars 243,000 miles through space in 68½ hours to a perfect impact on the moon. In history's most remarkable reconnaissance mission, Ranger's cameras sent back to earth 4,316 photographs of the crater-pocked moon surface, right, the greatest breakthrough in lunar astronomy since the days, more than 300 years ago, when Galileo first studied the heavens through a telescope.

PICKETING, RIOTS, sit-ins and murder plagued the nation, north and south, despite passage of a civil rights bill. Violence erupted in New York, Rochester, Jersey City. Three white freedom workers were slain in Mississippi. Pickets even paraded before Unisphere at the opening of New York's glittering World's Fair.

Big Water Problem Is Alligator Weed

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Alligators may not be a serious problem in Florida waterways, but alligator weed is.

The weed is destructive to fish because it crowds out plants from which fish obtain food.

It clogs ponds used for watering livestock, for irrigation of field crops and for spray irrigation systems. It is also a nuisance to boats and swimmers.

At present, chemicals seem to be the best method to control the weed pest, which is rapidly replacing water hyacinths as a leaking waterways pest.

Belgium and the Netherlands approved an agreement in 1948 to standardize military equipment and coordinate training methods.

Well-Known Names Dot Michigan Map

DETROIT (AP)—Now you no longer need feel inferior when better-heeled acquaintances casually remark across the martini that they've just returned from a trip to Pompeii or Paris or Vienna.

You too can visit these romantic cities—without leaving Michigan.

All you have to do is drive up Gratiot County to visit Pompeii, Mesocota County to see Paris, and Otsego County for a taste of old Vienna.

If your taste is for the Greek go see Athens, Attica, Ithaca, Sparta, Utica or Ypsilanti, with side trips to Alpha, Atlas, Epsilon, Eureka, Sigma, Homer, Leonidas and Constantine.

EXOTIC TASTES
Anglophiles might like Albion,

Argyle, Afton, Wales or Oxford while those with more exotic tastes might try Arcadia, Argentine, Assyria, Batavia, Caspian, Hamburg, Ganges, Alba, Holland, Milan, Moscow, Norway, Parma, Santiago, Smyrna, Tyre, and Verona.

Francophiles have a choice of Napoleon, Elba, Waterloo and Marne.

Those who'd like to see the United States without leaving Michigan have a choice of California, Delaware, Salem, Hartford, Yuma, Memphis, Alamo, Alaska, and Florida, with Sheridan, Sherman, and Vicksburg available for Civil War buffs. Yale and Vassar are waiting for those who wanted to go but couldn't afford it.

If you're a rockhound, you might consider trips to Garnet, Gem, Jasper, Limestone, Rock, Topaz, Agate, Pearl, Alabaster, Coral or Crystal. And bird-watchers might have fun at Peacock, Phoenix, Pigeon or Eagle.

WOMEN'S NAMES
There are at least 25 communities in Michigan with women's names and at least 46 with men's. The females range from Ada to Beulah to Henrietta to Tula. The males come in an assortment that features Aurelius, Brutus, Byron, Columbus, Elmer, Hiawatha, Lum, Ovid and Theodore.

For those who just like places with unusual names there's Lamb, Leer, Maybee, North Star, Rosebush, Spruce, Aloha, Mikado, Vulcan, Bravo, Advance, and Christmas.

And if you're interested in making a really long trip you can go to Hell, Paradise, or Eden.

The International Conference of Free Trade Unions, which held its first session in 1949 in London, conducts worldwide conferences every three years. Its objective is to promote unionism.

Help for Youth in Job Corps

Young people 16-21 years of age who are unemployed largely through lack of education or job skills, can now receive help through Job Corps Centers created by the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

The Pontiac Area Urban League, 131 Franklin Blvd., has opportunity cards and skills and self-confidence, according to Clarence E. Barnes, executive director of the league.

"The Job Corps is aimed specifically at young people who have not completed secondary education and have been unable to find a satisfactory job," Barnes explained.

"This national voluntary program provides poorer youngsters with a chance to help themselves through basic education, skill training and sound work experience," Barnes added.

School Board OKs Raises for 27 Secretaries

County School Board members have approved pay raises for Oakland Schools' 27 secretaries.

A raise of $100 annually was granted at Wednesday's board meeting to bring secretary salaries in line with those paid by other units of county government.

In other business, a contract for two rooms for the deaf was okayed for the Ferndale School District at a total cost of $27,000.

Also, Supt. William J. Emerson was directed to set meeting dates for January and February for a meeting of school board designates.

Some 30 local school board designates meet to give their okay to the county school unit's 1965-66 budget. Final approval usually comes in February.

Pedestrian Is Killed

Picks Bank's Lock—Ho Hum

BOURNEMOUTH, England (AP)—For nearly an hour, a man stood at the front door of a Bournemouth bank trying to open the front door.

Hundreds of persons on their way to work ignored him. So did the policeman on the corner.

A few minutes later the bank's employees arrived.

Rudkin, a locksmith, said he'd been called to open the door because the lock was jammed. But he wondered why no one had asked him what he was doing or called the police.

Goldwater Celebrating His 56th Birthday

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Today is Sen. Barry Goldwater's 56th birthday and he's spending it "somewhere in Mexico with his wife and a few friends," says his office.

Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential candidate, was born in Phoenix.

Peace Corps Test Slated for Jan. 9

The Peace Corps placement test will be given at 8:30 a.m. Jan. 9 in Room 123 of the Federal Building & 231 Lafayette, Detroit.

Applicants should bring along a completed questionnaire unless one has already been sent to Washington. The questionnaire forms are available at most post offices.

Peace Corps applicants must be U.S. citizens and at least 18 years old. A college degree is not necessary. Married couples are eligible if they have no dependents under 18.

Liar Champ Wins With 'Late' Tale

BURLINGTON, Wis. (UPI)—A tall tale, woven by a pilot Rock, Ore., man involving a lady who was late for everything including her trip to the Pearly Gates, has won for him the Burlington Liars' Club award as "world's champion liar" for 1964.

Philip Strandvold wrote: "There was a lady back home who was always late for everything. One day she died. No, she wasn't late for her own funeral, but when she arrived at those Pearly Gates, St. Peter had put in his first overtime."

The judges gave honorable mention to four men including Keng G. Spencer, Crane, Tex., who wrote of the drought in Texas and a Chicago man, Alfred Fricano, whose story was he was arrested by a policeman for being drunk and was charged with "being overloaded in a no loading zone."

Also receiving an honorable mention was Dick Philleo of Washington, D.C., who wrote he hadn't heard "a good solid lie around Congress all year" and Judge Oswald J. Solheim, Riverside, Calif., whose story was of a California Scotsman who had to get new tires after 30 years for his Model T because the tires were "worn so thin I can see the air in them."

Frustrated Thug Fails

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—A 60-year-old man entered a drugstore and demanded: "Gimme a sack, open your register and put your money in the sack."

"No," replied the clerk, Mrs. Billy Madding.

The would-be holdup man growled at another clerk. Another "no."

He was pounding the cash register in frustration and repeating "This is a holdup, this is a holdup," when police arrived.

JANUARY WEATHER — The Pontiac area will be above normal in temperature and precipitation during January, according to these maps supplied by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Plane Crash Fatal to Five

PELHAM, Tenn. (AP) — Five persons died in the wreckage of a light plane found on an East Tennessee mountain Thursday. The Highway Patrol identified the victims as Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Harrell, both 25, and their daughters, Ann, 2, and Lois, 1, and Mrs. Harrell's cousin, Billy Riley, 17. All were from Calvert City, Ky., but the Harrell family had been living in Rome, Ga., during Dr. Harrell's internship. They left Rome Wednesday to fly to Calvert City for a family reunion.

Officers said the plane crashed Wednesday night in fog that blanketed Pulli Tight Mountain three miles north of here. It was not known whether the weather was a factor in the crash.

The plane was flown from Calvert City Wednesday by young Riley. It was owned by his father, Frank Riley, who said his son lacked a few hours of receiving his license, but was a "good pilot."

11 Indicted in Leg, Arm Breaking Case

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Cook County Grand Jury had indicted 11 persons for allegedly breaking each other's arms and legs to collect insurance.

The operation was said to have netted the group $4,560 from insurance companies, and suits totaling $300,000 are pending in Circuit Court.

Self-Service Post Office Is Successful

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's first self-service post office is proving successful and the experiment may soon be spread across the nation, Postmaster General John A. Gronouski says.

It provides 24-hour service at postal window prices. The pilot project sits on a concrete island in a parking lot in suburban Wheaton, Md. It's part of a shopping center described as the second largest east of the Mississippi.

Bearing a "U.S. Post Office" sign, the unmanned, plywood unit includes vending machines that dispense stamps, envelopes and post cards. It has machines to make change for coins and bills. There's a scale for weighing letters and parcels up to 50 pounds, along with parcel post instructions and a zone map for fixing parcel postage.

The unit was installed Oct. 17 as a supplement to — not a substitute for — regular post offices. Gronouski said business has been heavy. He estimated it will produce $71,000 in annual revenue, a figure he described as "much better than we expected."

In a sample week, he said, 85 users were interviewed by postal officials and all agreed the unit is a good idea. A few complaints involved a worn half-dollar that wouldn't trigger the changer, the loss of a penny, and a patron who couldn't figure out the bill changer.

Arizona High Court Upholds State Oath

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The Arizona Supreme Court has upheld an oath requiring public employees to swear they aren't members of a group seeking the violent overthrow of the U.S. government.

The 4-1 majority opinion, announced by Justice Fred Struckmeyer Jr., said, "plainly, the Arizona oath is no more than a restatement of the duties of citizenship."

Justice Charles Bernstein dissented, stating the oath is vague, too broad and unconstitutional.

There are about 138 million coffee trees on 12,000 plantations in Guatemala.

Duke of Windsor Is Resting in Hotel

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Duke of Windsor rested today in a hotel after 18 days in a hospital for abdominal surgery. The 70-year-old former king of England and his duchess left Methodist Hospital Thursday afternoon and checked into a two-bedroom suite at the Warwick Hotel.

Details of the royal couple's new Year's Eve observance, if any, were unavailable.

A spokesman for the British Consulate said the duke's release from the hospital terminated any official status of his visit and he had indicated he wanted no public announcements concerning his activities.

Need Treasure Hunt

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — The Spokane County Sheriff's Office said it got a telephone call late Thursday night from a woman who said:

"If any of your deputies find a pair of false teeth while making his rounds of the night spots, our family car should be nearby. My husband misplaced his teeth and the car while celebrating. Please return them."

Plan Sudden Death for Runnerup Bowl

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — If the playoff Bowl game Sunday between the National Football League runners-up, Green Bay and St. Louis, should end in a stalemate, the Packers may have the tie-breaking ace in Paul Hornung, the Golden Boy.

"Paul is a real clutch player," Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi said today. "They say he can smell the goal line—and he can."

SUDDEN DEATH

The game, starting at 2 p.m. EST in the Orange Bowl before an expected crowd of 65,000 and a vast television audience, CBS, will be decided by sudden death if there is a draw after the regulation period.

That's where Hornung shines. As both a runner and a place-kicker, he has a reputation for coming through with the big play. It's his trademark.

Hornung, acclaimed the most valuable player in the league before he got in the doghouse over some betting activities, came back this year after a year's suspension.

He teamed with hard-running Jim Taylor in leading a formidable Green Bay running attack that carried the Packers to second place behind Baltimore in the Western Division.

Green Bay is the Cardinals' favorite over the Cardinals, who were beaten out by the Cleveland Browns for the Eastern Division crown.

The Browns went on to crush the Baltimore Colts 27-0 for the league championship last Sunday, but during the course of the season lost decisions to the Playoff Bowl principals. The Cardinals tied the Browns 33-33 and beat them 28-19. The Packers won over the champions 28-21.

The Cardinals and Packers didn't play during the regular season but last August in New Orleans St. Louis broke a 23-game Green Bay exhibition winning streak 20-13.

Bob Hull Fails to Score Goal

New Year's Eve Game Battle of Goals

DETROIT (AP) — Sensational Bobby Hull failed to score a goal for one of the few times this season in a 1-1 National Hockey League tie between the Chicago Black Hawks and Detroit Red Wings Thursday night.

In place of Hull making the fireworks, the New Year's Eve battle was a goalie's duel between Chicago's Denis DeJordy and Detroit's Roger Crozier. Both were extraordinary in the nets.

The idle Montreal Canadians, as a result, stay alone on top of the NHL, one point ahead of the Hawks. The other teams also were idle.

QUICK GOALS

To all practical purposes, the Chicago-Detroit contest was settled within the first 4½ minutes, on goals by Detroit's Norm Ullman and Chicago's Eric Nesterenko.

Ullman rapped his home in the first 45 seconds and Nesterenko beat Crozier at 4:30 of the period.

It was only the third time in the last 14 games that Hull failed to score. The Chicago star has scored 31 goals in 33 games.

National Cagers Do Double Duty

A rare double-header in Grand Rapids features the New Year's Day schedule of the North American Basketball League; and three of the four teams will see action again Saturday.

Pontiac's Nationals are in the middle of the two-day competition with games against Chicago and Benton Harbor.

The former is today's foe in the 6:30 p.m. opener of the twinnbill at Grand Rapids' Godwin Field House. After an overnight stay, Pontiac will journey to Benton Harbor to meet the pace-setting Twin City Sailors.

The Saturday tilt will be at Lakeshore High School, a change of scenery from the two previous trips to Benton Harbor High School which resulted in losses.

This is the second meeting with Chicago. The first game saw Pontiac open its home schedule with an exciting 109-

106 victory over the Bombers at Pontiac Northern's gym.

The Bombers now are on a three-game losing streak while Pontiac brought its NABL mark to 3-4 with a record-setting 150-145 overtime victory at Muskegon last Saturday.

That victory saw both Henry Hughes and Willie Merriweather of the Nationals increase their individual standings in the league's official statistics.

Hughes set a team high with 36 points and raised his per game tempo to 25.6, good for fourth place behind the injured Joe Roberts of Muskegon. The Nationals' co-captain also jumped into second place among the accurate shooters.

He connected on a remarkable 17 of 25 shots (68 per cent) and now is hitting at a 52 per cent rate over-all.

Merriweather, the other Pontiac copcaptain, connected for 35 points, his best of the season, and now is tied for fifth place with Larry Comley of Benton Harbor at 24.2.

The Pontiac offense is now clicking at a 114 ppg rate, second best in the circuit, but the defense is second worse — allowing 120 ppg.

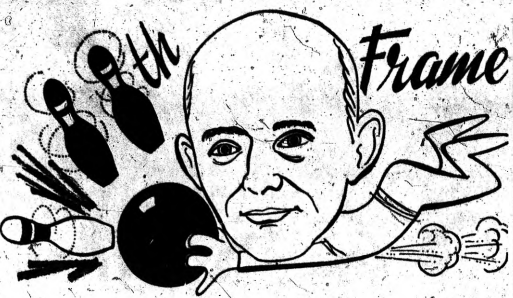

A roster change finds player-coach Bob Bolton of Pontiac releasing outright Pontiac recreation basketball star Felix Brooks and retaining newcomer Ken Nevels on the active list.

Nevels, a 6-1 guard from Dillard University (New Orleans), filled in last week at Muskegon and added 12 points to the Nationals' attack. He'll rotate now with John Hannett and Frank Chickowski on the Pontiac traveling squad.

The other game on the Grand Rapids' card — the only scheduled NABL twinnbill — sees the Tackers playing Benton Harbor. Saturday's other contest will have them visiting Muskegon.

The New Year is with us and has brought with it the usual resolutions. For the sport of bowling there is only one wish: may 1965 bring joy and satisfaction never before realized.

To further this wish one suggestion is made: let's create a bowling hall of fame for the Pontiac area.

This can not be an individual or private project and expect to develop though.

The need is there. Bowling is one of the biggest participation sports in Oakland County; each season local bowlers achieve feats not surpassed by any other bowler in the world.

Yet these feats lack permanent memorials by which they can be remembered and revered.

In addition to the need of community action on such a project, a central group is needed to control the development of plans.

PROPRIETORS AID

The Oakland County Bowling Proprietors Association could be the answer. The group includes about two-thirds of the area establishment that should be vitally interested in this.

It could unite the organization's members in a project benefiting them all while not for personal gain — and this has been a problem.

There are enough members that a sufficient committee could be organized to investigate and make recommendations on the many facets that could require attention. Perhaps the association's vice president could make it a permanent responsibility to oversee the project.

Certainly, this is not an idea that is completely new; nor can an acceptable "hall" be developed overnight. It will require much time, effort and support from the entire bowling community.

It is hoped, however, that if the idea appeals to the local bowlers, they will mention it and discuss it with the area proprietors. This spark might ignite with an extra breath of interest.

SPARE PINS

New officers of the Oakland County Bowling Proprietors Association are Joe Puertas, president; Lou Koprince, vice president; and Barb Howe, secretary-treasurer.

Those prize winners in the annual Pontiac Bowlerama who haven't received their checks should contact 300 Bowl. Proper identification is needed to obtain checks. Many have been returned because of poor addresses.

14 Swim Marks Officially OK'd by Federation

Americans Claim 11, Aussies 3; Olympics Account for 13

TOKYO (AP) — Fourteen world records, 13 of them set in the Tokyo Olympics in October and 11 of them by Americans, were officially recognized by the International Swimming Federation today. Australians set the other three marks.

Don Schollander, of Lake Oswego, Ore., who won four Olympic gold medals: Sharon Stouder of Glendora, Calif., who won three golds and a silver, and Steve Clark of Los Altos, Calif., who won three gold medals in relays, were listed in three world records each on the new list.

Schollander set the record of 4:12.2 for winning the 400 meters freestyle and was the anchor man in the 400 meters freestyle relay, 3:33.2, and 800 meters freestyle relay, 7:52.1.

Clark swam in the 400 and 800 meters relays with Schollander and also was the anchor man on the record-breaking 400 meters individual medley relay quartet. In addition, Clark equaled the world record of 52.9 for 100 meters as the leadoff man in the 400 meters freestyle relay.

Miss Stouder, who reached her 16th birthday Nov. 8, set the world record of 1:04.7 for the 100 meters butterfly, she was on the winning, record-breaking teams in the 400 meters freestyle relay, 4:03.8, and 400 meters medley relay, 4:33.9.

DOWN UNDER

Australia's record-setters were Murray Rose, Ian O'Brien and Kevin Berry, the latter two in Olympic victories.

The records:
400-meters freestyle — 4:12.2, Don Schollander, United States, Tokyo, Oct. 15.
800-yards freestyle — 8:55.5, Murray Rose, Australia, Vancouver, B.C. Sept. 5.
100-meters breaststroke — 2:27.8, Ian O'Brien, Australia, Tokyo Oct. 15.
200-meters butterfly — 2:16.4, Kevin Berry, Australia, Tokyo Oct. 18.
100-meters backstroke — 1:59.6, Thompson Mann, United States, Tokyo Oct. 16.
200-meters backstroke — 2:10.3, Ted Graef, United States, Tokyo Oct. 13.
400-meters medley relay — 4:33.9, U.S. National team (Steve Clark, Mike Austin, Gary Luman, Schollander), Tokyo, Oct. 14.
100-meters freestyle relay — 7:52.1, U.S. National team (Clark, Roy Saar, Luman, Schollander), Tokyo, Oct. 18.
400-meters medley relay — 3:33.2, U.S. National team (Thompson Mann, Bill Craig, Fred Schmidt, Clark), Tokyo Oct. 16.

Women
100-meters butterfly — 1:04.7, Sharon Stouder, United States, Tokyo, Oct. 16.
100-meters freestyle — 1:07.7, Cathy Ferguson, United States, Tokyo Oct. 14.
400-meters freestyle relay — 4:03.8, U.S. National team (Stouder, Donna de Varona, Pokey Watson, Kathy Ellis), Tokyo, Oct. 15.
400-meters medley relay — 4:33.9, U.S. National team (Ferguson, Cynthia Goyette, Stouder, Ellis), Tokyo Oct. 18.

Falcons' MacDonald County's Top Scorer

Rochester's Bruce MacDonald continues to top the list on the Oakland County basketball scoring ladder, and Pontiac Central's Carl Arnold has moved into a tie for the lead in the Saginaw Valley Conference scoring race.

Both MacDonald and Arnold are guards. MacDonald, a 5-10 senior, has been the biggest reason for Rochester's early success.

The Falcons have compiled a 3-1 record and they share first place in the Oakland A League with four other squads.

In four games, MacDonald has poured in 113 points for an average of 28.2. In the second spot is Ferndale's Lee Palmer with a 27.6 average after three outings.

Arnold, a speedy 5-8 performer, has paced Pontiac Central to a 6-0 record and first place in the SVC race.

SHARES LEAD

The little playmaker has ripped the nets for 120 points (20.0 average) and shares the scoring lead with Flint Southwestern's Larry Gillis, who has pumped in 80 markers.

Arnold is tied for 15th position in the Oakland County race.

Area Parochial Quints Have Games Saturday

A handful of local quintets will end their holiday break with contests Saturday.

Two games are on tap in the Northwest Parochial League—Waterford Our Lady of Lakes at St. Michael and Detroit St. Agatha at Royal Oak St. Mary.

Other games have Detroit Austin at Birmingham Brother Rice; Detroit St. Andrew at Ferndale St. James and Detroit Servite at Royal Oak Shrine.

St. Michael (4-2) has a 3-2 league record and shares third place with ROSM (3-2). The Mikemen could take the slot alone with a victory over an improved WOLL quintet (1-4) if St. Agatha (1-4) stops ROSM.

The Mikemen have lost two games in a row after opening with four straight wins, and they need a victory to stay in the running for the league championship.

OFFENSE SAGS

The offense sagged during the Mikemen's two setbacks. Against ROSM Dec. 18, they managed to pump only 37 points through the hoop.

Leading the St. Michael offense is 6-3 forward Rick LaVoie, who has tossed in 102 markers in six outings for an average of 17 a game.

WOLL's Lakers managed their only victory of the season two games back—a 64-60 decision over St. Frederick. They are tied for fifth place with St. Agatha.

Michigan Cagers Favored for Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Mighty Michigan, the nation's No. 1 college basketball team, ranked as a solid favorite to beat St. John's, N.Y., Saturday in the title game of the Madison Square Garden Holiday Festival tournament.

The Wolverines, now 8-1, and powered by Bill Buntin and Cazzie Russell, made it into the finals on the strength of an 80-78 victory over Princeton Wednesday night.

St. John's, 6-2, just made it into the finals on a 66-64 edge over Cincinnati in the other semifinal, nailing it down on two free throws by Jerry Houston with two seconds left.

The rest of the tripleheader line-up has Princeton vs. Cincinnati for third place and LaSalle vs. Syracuse for fifth place.

Perhaps Failure Will Improve Student

Dear Dr. Nason: My daughter graduated from prep school at 15 as salutatorian of her class, having been an A-plus student in most of her subjects. She was accepted by a liberal arts college on the basis of her grades and college entrance exams, all in the 500 to 600 range.

The college has now advised me that she is failing in three of her most important subjects, with little hope of her passing her first semester tests. She does not study yet insists she will pass.

Will you please advise me whether to take her out of school just before the first semester tests, thereby eliminating failure on her record?

Mrs. T.A.M., Washington, D.C.

Your daughter was tripped up by an occupational hazard of gifted children. Up to this point, good grades have come too easily. College subjects require sincere and systematic study, beginning with the very first day of the semester.

While it would be difficult for me to pinpoint the causes of her failure, she obviously lacks the maturity and self-discipline required for college work.

Unfortunately, if you take your daughter out of school just before the first semester tests, she will always consider it a mistake on your part since she is so sure that she will pass. It may be necessary to let her fail.

Because this happens quite often to bright young students she will be able to gain acceptance in another college when she can demonstrate to them that she has changed her attitude.

Dear Dr. Nason: My 11-year-old son is having difficulty learning to read. At present he is reading at a second-grade level. I am told his problem is due to a strongly mixed dominance; that he is right-handed and left-eyed.

He has been given visual training by an optometrist. Psychological tests which show no emotional problem. An I.Q. test classified him as superior.

He is an alert, interested child and wants very much to learn.

We have tried to secure aid for him, but have been unsuccessful.

Mrs. G.G.W., Bethesda, Md.

Three weeks ago I learned for the first time that I, personally, have the same mixed dominance as your son—right-handed and left-eyed. I had no difficulty learning to read—because at that time all teachers used the phonics approach.

Reading difficulties associated with mixed dominance began to appear when the look-say approach to reading came into vogue. Find a teacher who can teach your son reading with the phonics approach.

(You can write to Prof. Nason in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions of widest interest will be answered in his column.)

A little learning, as the saying goes, is likely to be a dangerous thing. West had read a lot of bridge books and learned about unusual swindle plays, but he had not learned to count hands at the same time.

Expert South looked over dummy and JACOBY noted that someone had bid, too much. He blamed his partner mentally, but refrained from any comments. He saw a way to bring success from the wreckage if only West would fall for an unusual play in spades.

Of course, if East held the king of spades, South would have a cinch for his contract, but West was the type of player who would never overcall vulnerable with a bad spade suit.

Now South went to work. He drew trumps with two leads and ruffed dummy's last diamond. When East produced the king, South was certain of the loca-

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR

"The wise man controls his destiny," Astrology points the way.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Your powers of perception heightened. You may hear a voice or see a person in authority. Observe. First-hand information. Stress CONFIDENCE.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Good lunar aspect highlights journeys, added knowledge. You obtain required material. Now you have something on which to build. But don't let inspiration lead you into a head-on collision with reality. Use RATIONAL APPROACH.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20): Money clouds can be settled. Finish current tasks. Don't rush into new project. Be tactful and you will obtain vital answers. Frank talk with mate may save much ground.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22): Many make claims, but act to your own counsel. Be quiet within. Information is forthcoming. Stay head to advertising, public relations, consult local expert, if necessary.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22): Attention focuses on health, recreation. Take stock of personal assets. Good to ask meaningful questions regarding your welfare. Probe deep. Follow through on recent resolutions.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): Good Moon aspect points to romantic possibilities, creative endeavors. Keep mind and heart open. Encourage spirit of ADVENTURE. Fine time for charity, travel, variety.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Be especially aware of missing details. Associates apt to overlook apparent minor matters. Be thorough. You could now make valuable discovery. Best to work close to home base.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Day features visits, calls, pleasant surprises. Avoid scattering your forces. Obtain partial hint from today's traffic.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Spend to improve domestic situation. Good day to think about and buy luxury items. Key is greater happiness, comfort. Actions today can "revert" into several aspects of life.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Cycle high. Obtain hint from today's traffic. Message: Be aware of POTENTIAL. Personality shines. Circumstances apt to turn in your favor. Take advantage of the offer.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): One who means much to you may require change. Do the job. Make yourself available. Throw off emotional lethargy. Recent series of "ups and downs" may have valuable lesson.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Make intentions crystal clear. No day to beat around the bush. Abilities to dealing with friends, state needs. Be amiable but firm. Then you earn added respect.

IF TOMORROW IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are gifted with ability to appreciate music, the arts, the sciences, major, favorable domestic adjustment.

GENERAL REMARKS: Cycle high for CAPRICORN, AQUARIUS, PISCES. Special word to PISCES: One close to you is making a move.

There's Still Gold in Alaska

MONTREAL, Quebec (AP) — A scientist reported yesterday that in Alaska "probably more gold remains in the state than has yet been mined."

But old "sourdoughs" needn't bother to get out their picks, shovels, and sifting pans.

"Both the price of the metal and the cost of production indicate little chance for a revival of the gold mining industry in the near future," was the report from Dr. John C. Reed, executive director of the Arctic Institute of North America, in Washington, D.C.

He had more cheering words for oil prospectors in his report to one of the closing sessions of the 131st meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"The possibilities of the further discovery and development of Alaska's petroleum deposits, both oil and gas, are exciting and of great importance to the future of the state," he said.

"Known deposits are widespread and there are good possibilities of discoveries in areas where petroleum has not yet been found."

He said, too, that possibilities for further development of Alaska's copper and nickel deposits are good.

"The state holds possibilities for production of a wide variety of other mineral commodities under especially favorable circumstances of demand and cost of production," he said.

Hospital Stay Fails to Slow Comedy Songman Sherman

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Cedars of Lebanon Hospital may never be the same following the invasion by Allan Sherman.

The comedy songman checked into the hospital Dec. 1 for treatment of asthma and overweight. Since then he has written a television special and 200 pages of a book, keeping a secretary busy full-time and entertaining a small squad of writers in rollicking story sessions.

The major result will be "Allan Sherman's Funnyland" on NBC Jan. 18 as forerunner for a possible series.

"I dropped by Sherman's room one morning to check on his progress with scripts and scales. He was bleary-eyed and unshaven, looking somewhat like an undernourished Buddha. His doctor had just wakened him for a short consultation, pronounced him well and departed."

UP UNTIL 5

"I'm not quite in this world as yet," Sherman apologized. "I was up until 5 a.m. with Lou Busch working on the music for the show, and I didn't sleep until well after that." He called for a nurse to bring a scale.

Sherman padded around the bed and stepped up to weigh himself. "Hey — I broke the great barrier," he cried, awakening further. "I'm 199½. We'll call it 199, won't we, dear?" the nurse assented.

Sherman suffered an asthma attack in New York last November and submitted to an examination. The doctor pondered Sherman's weight — then 230 — and way of life, which includes playing nightclubs and racing around at all hours. The doctor's comment: "You're the most promising candidate for a heart attack I've ever seen."

"Being candidate for a heart attack didn't appeal to me."

said Sherman. "I was invited by President Johnson to entertain at Austin on election eve, but I canceled and went into the hospital. I dropped seven pounds in five days, then came out here to take off more."

MAY RUIN ACT

"I plan to get down to 165-170. Yeah, I know people tell me I might ruin my act by getting skinny. Well, this is the way I look at it: If people buy me because of my fat and not my personality, then I have no right to be in show business."

His loss of poundage — he is allowed 500 calories per day — seems to have no effect on the Sherman drive. Each afternoon the writers appear for a scrimmage with the script. All day Sherman is on the phone to agents, actors, executives, hammering out details for the show, which is being taped Jan. 12.

"Working in a hospital has its advantages," he observed. "No kids to bother you, room service any time, you can sleep whenever you want."

How do the other patients react to his activity?

ONE LADY

"It doesn't seem to bother them," he said. "In fact, there was one lady from across the hall who used to come in here every morning and laugh and laugh at my jokes. Then one day her nurse came in and led her away, still laughing. I thought my material was great until I realized she was nuts."

Stamp's Value Up

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A Wichita postal clerk at first rejected an airmail letter because he thought the two stamps on it were too old to be used.

Then he rechecked and found that the two 24-cent stamps were issued in 1923 and now have a collectors' value of $8.75 each.

Reds Demote Tibetan Puppet

NEW DELHI (AP)—Communist China has demoted Tibet's Panchen Lama.

The Panchen Lama, 28, had been Peking's puppet ruler of Tibet since 1959. His disgrace reveals the Communists no longer feel the need of hiding behind the facade of religious and governmental legality he provided, Tibetans said yesterday.

Premier Chou En-lai of Red China said in Peking the Panchen Lama had indulged in subversive activities — a charge that Tibetan refugees in New Delhi term a cruel Communist twist of truth.

What the Panchen Lama did, according to one top-ranking Tibetan refugee official, was to make a speech that contained a kind reference to the Dalai Lama, former governmental and spiritual leader of Tibet who now is exiled in Dharmasala, India.

This remark, the Tibetan source said, was seized on by the Communists as a pretext for getting rid of a puppet who was no longer useful.

SECOND RANK

The Panchen Lama, by tradition second-ranking Buddhist leader of Tibet, is selected as a baby by lamas or monks who see in him the reincarnation of a long line of Tibetan spiritual leaders.

During the early deliberations of the Continental Congress from 1774 to 1776, the name for the U.S. had tentatively been decided as the "United Colonies."

Once again we say thank you, and a Happy, Prosperous New Year!

5 Killed, 1 Injured in Texas Collision

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Five persons were killed and a sixth critically injured early today when two cars slammed together on the Gulf Freeway between Houston and Galveston.

Investigating officers said the automobiles collided when one of them jumped a center guard rail and hurtled the wrong way down the heavily traveled thoroughfare.

Two of the dead were not immediately identified but authorities gave these names for three of the victims, all from Houston:

Daniel Martin Duncan, 34; Betty P. Gonzalez, 22; and Andrew Gonzalez, 22.

The accident happened about 2:30 a.m. and brought the Texas traffic toll for the new year holiday to seven.

Army Gets 'Cash Only' Treatment

EL MONTE, Calif. (AP)—When an Army helicopter, suffering generator troubles, fluttered into El Monte Airport, airport operator Gale Lane made the guest welcome. For a fee.

"That'll be $20," she told the pilot Monday, when he sought to leave after repairs were made. That's what it costs, she said, to park a helicopter over the weekend at El Monte Airport.

The pilot refused to pay. Mrs. Lane promptly padlocked the copter to a tie-down stake.

Thursday a five-man team from the Army appeared to negotiate. Lt. Col. John A. Hawkins, the ranking officer, handed Mrs. Lane U.S. Army purchase form 44 and asked her to fill it out.

Said Mrs. Lane: "I want cash, C-A-S-H." "Our standard purchase forms have always been honored without question," said the colonel. "It has to go through channels."

Finally Mrs. Lane gave in — after adding $6 to the bill for tie-down fees since Monday. The helicopter departed. So did the Army contingent. And Mrs. Lane began filling out Form 44 — in triplicate.

Romney Urges New Effort to Solve Problems

Revelry, Reunions, Rites Welcome '65

By The Associated Press
The world welcomed 1965 today with religious services, revelry and family reunions — and high hopes for peace and prosperity.

World leaders issued messages of friendship and spoke of renewed efforts to achieve peace and a better life for all people.

In New York's Times Square, traditional crossroads for American celebrations to start the New Year, a huge throng cheered wildly at the stroke of midnight.

Police declined to estimate the crowd, but past estimates of capacity ranged from 250,000 to 300,000.

Many others took their merry-making activities — the whistles, of horns and liquor toasts — to parties, or celebrated at family reunions.

Still others marked the holiday with prayers in churches.

The year's first day was filled with footballs in the United States.

Thousands went to the bowl games in Pasadena, Calif., Dallas, New Orleans and Miami.

Television carried the action across the nation.

President Johnson was at his Texas ranch, working to complete his budget message.

BLACKKEYED PEAS

Blackeyed peas were on his menu, in keeping with a Southern tradition that they bring good luck for the rest of the year.

Carfree celebrations were the order of the day throughout the world—except in South Viet Nam and the Congo.

In the Soviet Union, the new leaders sent messages to other world leaders, but did not publicize them.

They shunned the colorful style of deposed former Premier Khrushchev and dispensed with the Kremlin New Year's reception.

SKY DIVING

Two Long Island sky divers, Frederick Wild, 33, and Dr. Frank Guzman, had planned to pass a bottle of champagne between them as they made a free fall from 12,000 feet to 2,000 feet before opening parachutes.

But winds of 25 to 30 miles an hour kept them on the ground for the champagne toast.

Flood Rescue Workers Toil Over Holiday

Predict Another Storm for Weather-Weary Western States

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It was no holiday today for thousands of flood victims or their rescuers in five weather weary Western states.

With one eye on the sullen, threatening skies they kept on with the business of restoring some order to the disaster areas of Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada and Idaho.

"This is the first year I've missed a New Year's party," said Jim Jones, Civil Defense spokesman in Yreka, Calif.

"I had forgotten all about it. But we've got a steak on the fire and a bottle of wine and that's going to be our New Year's."

Flood waters were down along with temperatures, but countless communities remained isolated, preventing rescuers from letting up for even a brief celebration.

SEE NO RELIEF

The Weather Bureau offered no relief with its forecast of another Alaska storm carrying more rain and snow into the beleaguered areas today.

In Northern California a dozen civilian helicopters fanned out over remote valleys of Klamath National Forest for the first time Thursday.

They carried food, medicine, clothing and blankets to some 300 to 500 persons trapped by 10-foot snowdrifts left by what was described as the worst snowstorm in eight years.

The choppers had brought out 60 persons to Yreka where they were reunited with anxious relatives or housed by the Red Cross in local motels.

BRING NEEDS

"The local people have been bringing in clothes, blankets, everything we need," said Jones.

Thursday was the first clear day at Yreka after four successive days of snow and temperatures in the low teens.

If the weather continued to hold, employees of United Air Lines planned to fly 20,000 pounds of canned foods into Yreka for distribution by the ski-clad helicopters.

Gov. and Mrs. George Romney

Gives Address as 25 Officials Are Sworn In

Ties Success of Drive to Bipartisanship, No Political Straitjackets

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney began his second term today with an inauguration call for "an all-encompassing, no-holds-barred effort" to meet Michigan problems through both public and private efforts.

He called the needed effort "new directions for the future" and concluded it could succeed only on a bipartisan basis "which recognizes no 'strait jacket of political debt.'"

The Republican governor's 15-minute address was prepared for delivery from the Capitol at midday ceremonies in which 25 statewide officials were to take their oaths of office.

It was the highlight ceremony of a day full of activities. Romney pledged to stimulate more effective private effort and proper public effort.

GIVES WARNING

He warned that "these vacuums left by the inactivity of citizens and private voluntary institutions will be filled by government."

"And those urgent problems neglected by local and state governments," he added, "will be dealt with by the national government."

Romney said he does not intend to increase and enlarge government's role in "conquering the complex human and social frontiers that confront us." He said:

"I know from extensive private, civic and public experience that our greatest deficiencies of the future are not as likely to be in the role of government as in the role of individuals, families and private institutions."

Romney listed accomplishments of his first two years in office and summarized: "We have faced our problems head-on, we again have our own confidence and self-respect, and we have recaptured the confidence of others everywhere."

See Continued Rise for Pontiac Business

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Famed financial analyst Roger Babson has made the following forecasts for Pontiac and the nation.)

Business in Pontiac has continued its upward trend during 1964, and it looks right now as though some further gradual gains will be seen during the year ahead.

Appraising current trends and projecting them into 1965, it would appear there may well be an increase in the business average of sufficient scope to lift totals some 3 to 4 per cent above the good levels of 1964.

1965 Says Hello With Burst of Snow

Ol' Man Winter returned this morning with a flurry of snowflakes.

The weatherman said snow will continue through tomorrow with temperatures colder.

The low recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 28. At 11 a.m. the mercury reading was 32.

Of prime importance, naturally, is the auto industry. While it does not seem probable that the spectacular upsurge enjoyed during most of 1964 in this field will continue, best guess is that production and sales of autos and trucks will at least match the 1964 average.

This will bolster economy in strong fashion during 1965. There will be other local fields that will reflect substantial increases in the new year: Public construction, road building, electric power, lacquer, varnish, paint, trailers, industrial construction, and resort activity.

Worker earnings will edge upward still further during 1965, and even hours of work may expand somewhat. Employment will be well sustained, at least during the first half of the new year.

Retail outlets should be extremely busy in 1965, and all important services will hold strong.

Housing starts may not match the good levels of 1964, but will remain sufficiently heavy to lend support to general business.

Local living costs are going to follow the lines of the national average... slow gains but no runaways in 1965.

The coming year should see a substantial volume of tourist traffic, with excellent results for motels, restaurants, and entertainment centers in your vicinity.

Gift and specialty shops should also enjoy a brisk turnover.

Death Claims 177 Victims on County Roads in 1964

The scythe of death cut a wide swath down Oakland County roads this year, claiming at least 177 lives.

This unofficial Press tally is the highest death toll ever recorded in the county, according to State Police records.

The unofficial 1964 figure is 13 above the final official death toll for 1963. Official figures for 1964 should be tabulated by State Police in about 30 days.

The month of February, traditionally a low point on the year-end record sheet, was high in the county during 1964.

Twenty-three persons were killed during February in 19 separate accidents.

TOOK HOLIDAY

During September, death took the proverbial holiday, claiming only eight lives.

There were 41 multiple death accidents during the 12-month period, and 29 pedestrians, bicycle or motor scooter riders were struck down by automobiles.

Three persons died as the result of car-train accidents.

Oakland County recorded its first fatality at 5:19 p.m. on Jan. 3.

TWO-CAR CRASH

A Frankfort man died at Pontiac General Hospital from injuries suffered in a two-car crash in Pontiac Township two hours earlier.

The county waited until Dec. 26 to record its worst accident when five Flint persons, including a mother and her three sons, ended a holiday outing in a predawn crash on I-75 in Independence Township.

The single car struck a pillar on a freeway overpass and all occupants except the driver were killed.

De Gaulle: Free Role for France

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle has declared anew that France will seek an independent role free of U. S. influence in the Atlantic community and the world.

He said France would cooperate with its allies but left no doubt he was challenging American influence in the Western world.

In a nationwide New Year's Eve radio and television address, the 74-year-old president stressed that France "does not seek to dominate anyone" but "intends to be its own master."

"This year which is ending has shown and the year which is beginning will confirm," he said, "that we are becoming again our own masters in the domains of politics, economy, currency and defense."

De Gaulle spoke of Atlantism to describe U. S. influence in Western Europe. A reference to supranationalism was aimed at plans for a federated rather than coordinated political system for the European community.

SEEKS CONTROL

De Gaulle has maintained that Western Europe must seek ultimate control over its own fate rather than rely on U. S. leadership. His critics believe he intends to try and exert a role that would dominate the European scene.

Referring to France's role in the Common Market, de Gaulle said a continued effort was required to ward off U. S. penetration in the economic, scientific and technical fields.

Such an effort, he said, was essential for France's independence.

De Gaulle spoke of increasing contact between France and Latin American and Communist bloc nations, including Red China.

Death Takes Noted British Army Officer

LONDON (AP) — Field Marshal Lord Wilson, whose "Army of the Nile" hurled back the Italian push into Egypt in World War II, died Thursday. He was 83.

Henry Maitland Wilson, nicknamed "Jumbo" because his 250-pound bulk, climaxed his career as Britain's top representative with the allied chiefs of staff in Washington late in World War II.

Born in Suffolk County, England, of a long line of soldiers, Wilson went from Eton into military service and saw his first action as an infantry lieutenant in South Africa during the Boer War.

Serving as a major in World War I, he was decorated several times during his service in France.

At the outbreak of World War II, he was a lieutenant general, commanding forces that guarded the Suez Canal.

Wilson was acclaimed by Sir Winston Churchill as "one of our finest tacticians."

Ford Defends Price of Cars

Letter Is Critical of U. S. Official's View

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II, chairman of the Ford Motor Co., expressed "total disagreement" yesterday with retiring Undersecretary of the Treasury Robert V. Roosa over the latter's views on automobile prices.

Ford, referring to press reports on Roosa's news conference at Washington Tuesday, made public a letter Wednesday to Roosa in which he objected to statements attributed to the undersecretary.

Ford wrote: "There is a story in this morning's press reporting a statement made by you that the automobile companies should have reduced their prices and that if they had done so before their recent labor negotiations the cost of the settlements would have been less."

"I want to record my total disagreement with this view. Even if we had reduced our suggested retail prices at a time of declining returns, it is my (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Area Stories Are Reviewed

Like all years, 1964 produced a hefty bundle of news stories in the Pontiac area. Stories of death and destruction; growth and expansion, danced across the front pages of The Press during the year just ended.

A review of the major Pontiac area newsmakers of 1964 is presented in today's Press on Page B-8.

Negroes Urged to Join Police

State Troopers Seek Several Candidates

LANSING (AP)—An intensive effort to recruit Negro candidates for the new all-white state police is beginning, Gov. George Romney said yesterday.

Romney said the state police is now accepting applications for its next training school, whose starting date is yet to be set.

"We hope channels of communication and organization in contact with Negro youth will help us locate young Negro men who will want to be a part of state police," Romney said.

Last year, one Negro applicant successfully completed three weeks of trooper school, then dropped out "because he said he was lonesome and had a good job opportunity," said the governor.

HOPE FOR SEVERAL

"We're more likely to get some qualified Negro troopers if we have two or three at the school rather than one," said Romney. "We hope we can get several."

Romney listed these application requirements: age 21-29, physical condition good, vision correctable to 20-20, minimum weight 150 pounds, high school diploma or equivalent, no criminal record, limited traffic record, Michigan residency for previous six months.

Romney told his morning news conference he is vitally concerned about traffic fatalities and their connection with drinking.

"The pattern over Christmas indicated the greatest number of fatalities occurred at the time of the office parties and other social activities. They tapered off on Sunday. This again indicates the close relationship between fatalities and drinking."

UPGES CITIZENS

"I urge individual citizens to refrain from such endangering of lives of others."

Romney again urged drivers to keep their car lights on over the holiday weekend as a safety reminder.

Gunman Buries Clerk With Cases of Beer

MIAMI (AP)—A gunman held up a Miami grocery store, robbed it of $125 and then made certain the clerk wouldn't call police too quickly.

The bandit made Daniel Gallagher lie on the floor. Then he piled cases of beer and soft drinks on the clerk's back and arms. The robber was almost out of sight before Gallagher was able to dig out from under.

Note Increased Study of Africa

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It is said that the average American's knowledge of Africa is based on a mixture of myth and misinformation, largely a compound of Hollywood and Edgar Rice Burroughs.

If true, it should not be for long.

More than 20 U.S. universities now have African studies programs. Their seeds are beginning to take root.

At the recent dedication of Boston University's center for African studies, administrator Edmond C. Hutchinson of the U.S. Agency for International Development, called it "a meaningful manifestation of the ever-increasing interest in Africa which is taking place today."

Carl Rowan, director of the U.S. Information Agency, indicated that such interest is only recent. Rowan, in a Chicago speech in October, said:

"Our generation, I am afraid, learned about the southern half of the globe too seldom in class and too often at the Saturday afternoon matinee — and for many of us, it was largely a confused image of cannibals, cobras and crocodiles, of warriors and witch doctors, of lions and loincloths."

"It is probably no exaggeration to say that the two Africans best known in the U.S. during the 1930s were Tarzan and Jane. And they of the somewhat bleached variety."

The government also is stimulating African studies in the United States.

STUDY GRANTS

In announcing that it was providing grants for study of Bemba, Hausa, Swahili and West African pidgin English at Michigan State University, the U.S. Office of Education said such "training is designed to prepare students for either college training careers or for employment that serves the economic, cultural, education, scientific or political interests of the United States."

Michigan State was among universities listed by the U.S. African studies as having African programs.

Others were the University of California, Columbia University, Northwestern University, Johns Hopkins University, Howard University, Boston University, University of California at Los Angeles, Indiana University, Syracuse University, University of Chicago, Cornell University, Duquesne University, American University, Kennedy School of Missions, St. John's University, Stanford University, Western Michigan University, University of Wisconsin and Yale University.

According to Africa Report magazine, several other American institutions offer three or more courses primarily concerned with Africa, but do not have full-scale African studies programs.

Among them are California Institute of Technology, Duke University, Harvard University, University of Minnesota, University of Pennsylvania, University of Pittsburgh, Portland State College, Tulane University, University of Washington, Washington University at St. Louis, and Lincoln University.

State Prison Escapee Is Arrested in L.A.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The FBI said that Leonard B. Hamilton, 62, sought since he escaped last summer from the Michigan state prison facility at Grass Lake, Mich., was arrested in Los Angeles this week.

He was arraigned before a U.S. commissioner on charges of unlawful flight to avoid confinement. He was serving a 15-25 year sentence for armed robbery when he escaped, the FBI said.

Americans worked an average of 70 hours a week in 1850.
