Communist-Led Lima Students Stone Nixon

Deadline 2 Days Away, No School Petitions Filed

With Saturday the deadline, no nominating petitions for the Pontiac School Board elections have been filed as yet.

It is possible, however, that some may be filed at the board meeting tonight, according to Vernon Schiller, board treasurer.

So far one incumbent and half a dozen others have taken out blank petitions, he said. The incumbent, Dr. Walter J. Godsell, has announced he will seek re-election.

The other incumbent whose seat is at stake, Mrs. Lola King, 16-year veteran of the board, has disclosed she will not seek another term.

The election is June 9, with voter registration closing Monday for those living in Pontiac and June 2 for those living outside the city but in the school district.

The difference in final registration days is caused by the fact that in Pontiac the school board uses the city registration rolls which are governed by different state laws than the board's own rolls used outside Pontiac.

NOT WITH BOARD

Registration should be made with the city, village or township clerk, not with the board, and voters who have recently voted in state elections are already registered.

Those who have moved their residence since the last election should check to be sure they are registered in the right precinct.

All persons, whether or not they are property owners, are eligible to vote in the school election, Schiller said.

NATO Takes Stand on Arms

Invites Russia to Join Technical Talks on How to Rule Out War

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — The Soviet Union today had a new Western invitation to join now in technical talks on how to control disarmament instead of talking endlessly about a summit conference.

The 15 members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization noted repeated Soviet refusals of earlier invitations and indicated they would meanwhile go ahead with their own studies of new ways for the world to get out of the arms race.

The NATO foreign ministers made their new bid in a communique after a three-day meeting which ended yesterday. They said efforts to eliminate war would continue at all diplomatic levels instead of waiting for the meeting of government chiefs which is the Soviet panacea for the world's ills.

The sum-up of the conference represented a victory for U. S. Secretary of State Dulles' view that chances for easing East-West tensions are much better in patient, steady negotiations by experts rather than in a spotlighted meeting of government heads where the emphasis is on propaganda and headlines.

"Summit meetings are desirable if they offer prospects of reaching settlements on important questions," the communique said. However, "conferences at the summit are not the only way, or necessarily the best way, of conducting negotiations or reducing international tensions.

"In any event, such conferences must be properly prepared and take place in a favorable atmosphere."

New York Rainfall Biggest Since '93

NEW YORK (AP) —Rain-soaked New Yorkers have been officially told what most of them suspected: the rainfall in this area thus far in 1958 has set a record for the 20th century.

The U.S. Weather Bureau yesterday recorded a total cumulative precipitation — from Jan. 1 to May 7 — of 23.04 inches. Previous high since the turn of the century totaled 22.58 inches in 1953.

The all-time recorded mark was 26.37 inches, in 1893.

Outlook for today? More rain, for the sixth straight day.

SAVED AND HAPPY—Hank Washington laughs with happiness after a close escape when he was buried under four feet of dirt in a 19-foot sewer-wall cave-in at Portland, Ore. "I jumped back when I heard the cave. It caught me and I tried to give myself protection," he said.

"All I could do was make an airpocket for me — I held my hand up in front of my face and my knee up and one hand was over my nostrils," he said. The 6-1, 200-pound Washington said he never lost consciousness. But he added: "It was 40 years to me. I could hear them digging and could hear them talking.

"I always breathed. I know I believe in God, because that's what saved me. God had them working." Washington later dashed out to buy box seats and take his rescuers to a baseball game here tonight.

Experts Doubting A-Blasts Affect World's Weather

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Atomic Energy Commission and the U.S. Weather Bureau said today there is no evidence that nuclear bomb testing affects worldwide weather.

However, they did not rule out this possibility, and added that there is some evidence that "local weather"—within a few hundred miles at most of the test—may undergo change.

The local effect could be from the explosion shock wave or from the distribution of large quantities of dust, either of which could precipitate rainfall and possibly set off other disturbances.

Worldwide weather, however, is the result of differences in temperature between the equator and the poles.

No one, according to experts at both agencies, has yet suggested how this major factor could be affected in any substantial way by nuclear test detonations.

Police Officials Mum on Report

City Manager Meets With Senior Officers to Discuss Survey

A curtain of silence has fallen on the survey report of the Pontiac Police Dept. following a meeting of police senior officers and the city manager yesterday.

The manager gave copies of the report made by the Public Administration Service of Chicago to each captain and asked that a written opinion be submitted to him by next week.

The officers were asked not to comment on the study until the city manager could correlate their reports and make an official presentation to the City Commission May 15.

The Pontiac Police Officers Assn. is having extra copies of the report printed for its members and is expected to discuss it at a meeting next Wednesday evening after which a statement will be issued.

A public hearing on the matter is set before the City Commission on May 29. The May 15 meeting will be closed to the public.

Driver-License Fee to Go Up 50 Cents

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams today signed a bill for a 50-cent increase in the fee for state drivers licenses, the additional revenue to supplement the state subsidy for driver training courses in high schools.

The new law pegs the cost of an original driver license at $3.50 and puts the renewal fee up to $2. The chauffeur license fee goes up 25 cents, to $2.25.

The added revenues are estimated at $672,000. The higher fees will become effective 90 days after final adjournment of the regular 1958 legislative session.

A feature of the bill provides — although not before 1959 at the earliest — for imprinting of a motorist's photograph on his driver's license.

The driver photo requirement becomes effective only after the legislature makes an appropriation to defray expenses involved. If this occurs, an additional 25 cents will be automatically tacked on to the higher fees for driver and chauffeur licenses.

Only 2 Cures for Cancer

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — The director of New York's Sloan-Kettering institute for cancer research testified today that surgery and radiation are the only known medical means of curing cancer. Dr. C. P. Rhoads offered the testimony before a California Senate Committee investigating medical quackery and said the entire medical profession would accept state legislation designed to control quackery.

Dulles Draws Warm Greeting in West Berlin

Cautions West Against Abandoning Its Nuclear Weapon Stockpile

BERLIN (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew into Berlin today to make a "major" address and was greeted with warmth in the free sector of the city and a flow of violent Communist invective from East Berlin.

The East Berlin press took off on Dulles as a "warmonger," following up Red leaflets declaring "Dulles Go Home."

In his speech, Dulles accused the Soviet Union today of using disarmament talk as a smokescreen to produce a world dominated by the military power of the Chinese-Soviet bloc.

He warned the West against abandoning its nuclear deterrent shield because of what he called alluring Soviet promises.

He declared Soviet failure to honor international pledges constitutes a grave obstacle to working out an East-West accord.

Dulles made his attack on the Kremlin before the West Berlin Parliament.

The Communists in neighboring East Berlin called for demonstrations during his 5½-hour visit in West Berlin. From here, Dulles goes to Paris for a meeting of U.S. ambassadors.

Dulles flew into Communist encircled West Berlin direct from a meeting of North Atlantic Treaty Organization foreign ministers at Copenhagen.

The NATO ministers agreed to invite the Soviet Union anew to create machinery for safe, controlled disarmament.

Dulles called for dependable steps to reduce the prospect of war and elimination of the new weapons which threaten humanity with virtual extinction.

He warned against confidence in mere Soviet Communist promises.

"The Soviet government is attempting by every act of propaganda to compel the abandonment of our military deterrent shield," he said. "It claims that those who create that shield are 'aggressive groupings.'"

Grazed in Try to Explain U. S. Tariff Policies

Aide's Tooth Chipped as Vice President Defies Red Demonstrators

LIMA, Peru (INS) — Peruvian University students stoned Vice President Richard M. Nixon today, grazing his neck.

Nixon declared himself unhurt but one of his aides, Jack Sherwood, suffered a chipped tooth from the barrage of stones hurled by San Marcos University students who chanted "Nixon, Go Home."

The vice president defied official government warnings not to try to visit the university because of threats of Communist "violence." The U.S. Embassy also advised him not to go.

He did not actually enter the university, but was met by approximately 2,000 screaming angry students at the university plaza.

After the U.S. group left the scene, Nixon said: "The reason I didn't go into the university is obvious. Somebody might have gotten hurt."

SHOUTED DOWN

Nixon started walking into the crowd to talk to the students but there was so much shouting he didn't stand a chance. He left when the first dozen stones began flying.

The vice president said he also was worried by the fact that a heavy police escort was pushing the crowd around. He kept telling the police not to push the students. But they were so eager to protect him they stood no nonsense from the students.

As Nixon pushed his way into the crowd he kept saying:

"What's the matter? Are you afraid to talk. . . . I would be glad to go home but don't you want to hear the truth?"

The vice president had approached the San Marcos students despite the fact that the ruling body of the Federation of University Students had adopted a resolution asking him to get out of the country.

University walls also were plastered with red signs saying:

"Get out, Nixon. Death to Yankee imperialism. Down with atomic war."

Report of U.S. Eniwetok Test Draws Verbal Blast in Capital

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The 1958 nuclear tests at Eniwetok in the Pacific are under way.

The Atomic Energy Commission tersely confirmed that an explosion was set off on April 28. This word from the AEC came after the test was revealed by Rep. Charles O. Porter (D-Ore) in a House speech. He returned only Tuesday from the scene.

The AEC would give no details except to say the date was Eniwetok time and April 27 U. S. time. The commission would not confirm Porter's statement that the explosion was the first of 30 nuclear test explosions scheduled.

Porter revealed the blast in a speech renewing his demand for an end to nuclear testing.

Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis L. Strauss faces questioning today on why American nuclear tests in the Pacific are being kept secret.

Charged with "endangering the composure of the whole world" by Congressman Charles O. Porter (D-Ore), Strauss is to make an appearance at the National Press Club this afternoon.

WOULD HELP REDS'

Strauss has contended that announcing the time and type of each test would help the Russians determine the accuracy of the Soviet nuclear detection system. In addition, he says the United States wishes to avoid "too much sabre-rattling."

★ ★ ★

But Porter described the policy as a violation of "the people's right to know," and added:

"This kind of public flaunting of secrecy is an affront to the nation and a measure of the arrogance apparently felt by this agency (the AEC)."

The Oregon congressman added that top scientists at Eniwetok told him there is no reason for not announcing the tests when they occur.

Porter said 13,000 men in the Pacific for the tests are in danger of being hit by deadly radioactivity.

★ ★ ★

The Oregonian contended that "the game being played in the Pacific" amounts to a kind of "American roulette, endangering our own troops, the people of the vicinity and the composure of the entire world."

GIs to Leave May 29

Federal Troops Ordered to Evacuate Little Rock

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today ordered withdrawal May 29 of all federal troops enforcing school integration at Little Rock, Ark.

The President said in a statement that he hopes it will be unnecessary to return the troops at the start of the school year next September.

Eisenhower's orders on withdrawal were relayed by Secretary of the Army Brucker to Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, commander of the troops which have been enforcing a court order for integration at Little Rock's Central High School since last September.

Eisenhower's statement said: "Since last September the federal government has stationed soldiers at the Little Rock high school to prevent obstruction of the orders of the U.S. District Court.

"Since the summer recess starts at the Central High School on May 28 and since there will be no further present need for the guardsmen, I have directed they be released May 29.

"Following that date I trust local officials and citizens will assume full responsibility and duty for seeing that the orders of the federal court are not obstructed."

Meanwhile at Little Rock, the school board, which had been asked by a federal judge to say exactly how long it wanted racial integration delayed, suggested yesterday that the court put off integration until January of 1961.

The board set the date in an amendment to its petition in U.S. District Court asking that eight Negroes now attending Central High School be removed and further integration be delayed.

A hearing on the petition is tentatively scheduled June 2.

'Most Advanced' Starfighter Climbs 17 Miles

Air Force Jet Streaks to Altitude Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force today officially claimed recapture of the world altitude record with a climb to 91,249 feet by an F104 Starfighter jet.

The Air Force said the altitude mark, achieved yesterday over Palmdale, Calif., exceeded by more than two miles the level of 80,160 feet registered only last week by a French experimental Trident Isere-6.

The Starfighter, described by Gen. Nathan Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staffs, as the most advanced plane of its type ever developed, was piloted by Maj. Howard C. Johnson, 37, of Novato, Calif., and Knoxville, Tenn.

The 17-mile climb by the Starfighter, designed to exceed the speed of sound in straight upward flight, and return was completed in 27 minutes.

The results of the flight over the Mojave Desert were confirmed by officials of the National Aeronautical Assn., the Lockheed announcement said.

Home Building Project Stalled

Carpenters Strike Halts $1,348,916 Waterford Subdivision Plans

Work on a million-dollar home construction project in Waterford Township was halted today as a result of the two-day-old Carpenters Union Strike.

The union's county headquarters said this was the largest Oakland County development affected.

W. E. Francis, an associate of the Tel-Huron Homes Corp., said construction had been interrupted at the firm's 115-home project in the Coleman-Friedman Subdivision on Cass Lake road north of M59.

The homes are in the $14,000 to $15,000 class and 30 of them are actually under construction at the present time, Francis said. "But we had planned continuous production of others," he added.

The firm listed the total value of the project at $1,348,916.

About 500 to 600 Oakland County carpenters are affected by the strike, according to Grady Pinner, County Carpenters Union Local 998 (UAW-CIO). All are employed on new homes being built by the Builders Assn. of Metropolitan Detroit, he said.

The union's Detroit council said that although work slowed today on thousands of new homes in Oakland, Macomb and Wayne Counties, there was no picketing and other craft union builders were allowed to work.

The strike was ordered at noon yesterday by the district council, representing about 18,000 Southeastern Michigan carpenters, over demands for higher wages and other benefits. Only about 6,000 of them are engaged in home building projects. Industrial, commercial and civic projects are not affected.

In another development, the Teamsters Union served 10-day strike notice against 190 Detroit area lumber dealers after negotiations collapsed on a new contract which expired May 1.

Floyd B. Harmon, business agent for Pontiac Teamster Local 614, denied reports that Teamsters might hold off delivery of building materials in sympathy with the carpenters' strike.

"I have heard nothing to that effect," he said. "However, we would probably honor carpenter picket lines, if these developed."

L. M. Weir, secretary-treasurer of the carpenters' district council, claimed the builders' association was taking advantage of the present economic situation in which he said unemployment among carpenters is the highest it has been in 15 years. Carpenters now average $3.25 hourly.

The union is asking a two-year contract with an immediate 20-cent hourly wage raise and another of 15 cents next year plus increased contributions into holiday and vacation funds. This is a total estimated 42 cents-an-hour raise.

Settlement was reached in Detroit yesterday between the union and three minor employer groups and 15 independent contractors. It provides for a 15 cent raise now and another next year.

Woman Hospitalized by Four-Car Crash

A four-car collision on W. Huron and Palmer yesterday sent one woman to the hospital.

Fern L. Oxender, 55 of 110 Virginia Ave., was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital with rib injuries. She is in satisfactory condition today.

Mrs. Oxender was a passenger in a car driven by Edna A. Rambo, 28, of 5780 Grove Ave., which was struck by a car driven by Roy A. Harvie, 63, of Detroit, police said.

The impact caused Mrs. Rambo's car to cross the center line and hit a car driven by Foy D. Freeman, 19, of 38 Hudson Ave., which in turn swerved into a parked car.

Rains Letting Up in East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rains which have dampened wide areas in the Eastern part of the nation for nearly a week diminished today, with precipitation confined mostly to the northeast region.

★ ★ ★

Dry weather prevailed in most parts of the four Southern states threatened by floods but fresh overflows from rain-swollen streams appeared headed for sections of Kentucky and Louisiana. Flood threats in southwestern Virginia and western West Virginia diminished after a dozen towns were hit by high waters yesterday.

★ ★ ★

In eastern Kentucky, residents of river towns prepared for floods as the crest of the Big Sandy River swept downstream, with overflows indicated at Prestonburg, Paintsville and Catlettsburg.

Some 120 families were moved out of low-lying homes at Paintsville and business men evacuated at Catlettsburg and Prestonsburg.

★ ★ ★

At Pikeville, Ky., the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy crested at 42.7 feet, nearly 8 feet above flood stage, and forced 150 families from their homes. Damages in the area was estimated at about a million dollars.

★ ★ ★

Damage from floodwaters from the Red River and other streams in northwestern and north central Louisiana has been estimated at more than 10 million dollars. Some 335 families in the flood-stricken area have been evacuated from their homes.

President Firm on Trade Plan

Appeals of Dems for Concessions Rebuffed by Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rebuffing Democratic appeals for concessions, the Eisenhower administration refused to budge today on the President's embattled reciprocal trade program.

★ ★ ★

The administration's firm stand against modifying the trade plan raised serious doubts over its fate in Congress. However, talk persisted of a possible compromise.

Faced with mounting congressional pressures for a return to high tariff protectionist trade policies, House leaders called in administration spokesmen to find a saving compromise.

But after an hour-long conference with House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, Secretary of the Interior Weeks reported "no agreement on anything."

"We sent up a bill we believe in . . . and we still want the bill," he announced.

★ ★ ★

Asked if that meant it was the President's bill or nothing, Weeks replied only that this was an iffy question.

Although Weeks gave no indications of yielding, both Rayburn and House Republican Leader Joseph Martin of Massachusetts indicated a compromise is possible.

Rayburn, veteran of nearly a quarter century of battles in support of reciprocal world trade, announced grimly: "We're going to get a bill. We've got to get a bill."

The President wants a five-year extension of the 24-year-old New Deal Trade Agreements Act, and additional authority to lower tariffs another 25 per cent in negotiating trade agreements abroad.

Opposition has developed within both parties against further import tariff concessions competitive with American industry.

Wayne Airport Pilot Killed on Approach

Tuttle, an Air National Guard officer, was a week away from completing a 45-day tour of active duty with the guard's 127th Tactical Reconnaissance Group, based at Wayne Major.

An airport spokesman said the plane apparently stalled during its approach.

Nothing Wrong With Decisions, Players Agree

CHERRY BURTON, England — The referee arrived late for the soccer match at Cherry Burton. Finally he cycled up, panting, and dashed on the field, taking over from a club official.

After the game he claimed the full 85-cent fee plus 55 cents traveling expenses. Because of that, Frank Tennison, secretary of the home club, complained to the Referees' Assn. — and discovered that the little man really wasn't a referee. He was a patient from a mental institution three miles away.

Cherry Burton won the match 3 to 2 and the players said there was "nothing unusual about the referee or his decisions."

Security for You

Retirement Looks Rosier in Late 1970s

By RAY HENRY

Retirement at 65 should hold few fears for the man under 50.

Chances are when he retires he'll have a fairly good income and a nest-egg for emergencies and travel. He'll have developed interests outside his job which will fill his free time. He'll be looked upon as a useful member of his community.

That's the picture of the retirement of the future drawn by Dr. Eugene A. Friedman in a book scheduled to go on sale tomorrow. (Free Time—Challenge to Later Maturity, University of Michigan Press, $4.50.)

★ ★ ★

Friedman, an assistant professor of sociology at the University of Wisconsin, bases his conclusions on economic and social trends in recent years.

Here, in general, is how he backs up his conclusions:

Most men who retire after the early 1970s will have monthly income from both Social Security and private pensions. Nine out of ten workers are already covered by Social Security and nearly one-third — not including farm workers—already are covered by private pensions.

Thus it's reasonable to say that they'll probably have an income large enough to allow an adequate living standard.

In addition, the retired man of the future will have a sizable nest-egg in the form of a paid-off home, life insurance, government bonds, or other savings due to the favorable economic conditions he's worked under. This, of course, assumes that there is no major economic setback in the future.

The status of tomorrow's retired man will be considerably higher than today's because he'll no longer have to depend on his community for support or even recreation. He'll have the money to move to another city if his present one isn't satisfactory.

At the same time, as a consumer he'll be sought by his community; and he may well have developed skills during his working years which his community will want to keep.

In short, he'll be a free agent, sought after—rather than seeking—by his community, by industry and by society.

★ ★ ★

Since he'll probably have a more adequate retirement income than today's older person, he'll be less apt to think of work after retirement age as an economic necessity. He'll want to work only if the job gives him something other than economic satisfaction.

Summed up, Friedman feels:

Retirement in the near future will no longer come as a penalty for being old. Rather, it will represent for him a chance for the use of leisure.

It'll not have the newness or fear for him that it does for the worker nearing retirement today. He will have had the major part of his working life to get ready for it. And, society should have crystallized its attitudes toward the retired man of the future and have defined responsible roles for him.

Friedman is one of a dozen writers who contributed to "Free Time—Challenge of Later Maturity." The book also contains chapters by an economist, an anthropologist, a psychologist, a psychiatrist and a government official. All comment on various aspects of the leasure time of older people.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service. You may obtain Ray Henry's new social security handbook by sending 35 cents in coin to this newspaper and requesting "Security for You" booklet.)

Hearing Slated Monday in 'Coffin' Murder

DETROIT (INS) — Examination will be held Monday for John H. Curtis, accused of the "coffin" murder of Walter Curlik, 65, Detroit apartment building owner.

Curtis stood mute yesterday when arraigned before Detroit Recorder's Judge John P. O'Hara, who entered a plea of innocent for the defendant.

Police charge Curtis, caretaker of a building owned by Curlik, killed his employer during an argument over money, placed the body in a kitchen cabinet an' dumped the cabinet in a dump near New Baltimore, Mich.

Pays $5 for Rare Gun Now Valued at $2,500

FORT LEE, N.J. (AP) — Donald R. Toppel won't give up his gun for $2,500.

Toppel spotted the gun in a Newark junk store and recognized it as a rare Paterson Colt revolver. A vice-presiednt of the Fort Lee Arms Collectors Club, Toppel paid $5 for the gun and has since turned down offers of $2,500 for it.

Current population of Greater Boston is about 2.5 million.

NATO Wise to Scheming Russians

This summit conference business is beginning to pall on a lot of us.

Fortunately, the whole NATO organization is determined that the scheming Commies won't be permitted to use one of these as a springboard for some more of their underhanded gimmicks.

★ ★ ★

The Russians want a top level, full dress affair at which they can puff out their chests, strut before the world and play the big "I, my and me." No one credits them with any serious intentions of reducing armaments, cutting down any nuclear material or taking any constructive steps whatsoever.

★ ★ ★

All they want is an international stage with a symphony orchestra so they can impress their satellites, talk big and then snicker behind their hands at the way they are allowing the rest of mankind to pull the bloody Commie chestnuts out of the fire.

★ ★ ★

The United States hasn't been impressed at any time. This country is always ready for any serious move designed to eliminate or reduce bloodshed and mass murder.

★ ★ ★

But we refuse to play sucker for the international butchers. NATO is convinced that the only "concessions" the Russians are prepared to make are those which will weaken the rest of the world and improve Russia's competitive position.

House Should Pass Union Pension Bill

Union welfare fund legislation affecting both labor and employers and passed unanimously by the Senate, is now before the House.

Approved by the AFL-CIO, the measure covers pension and insurance plans run by more than 250,000 employers and thousands of union officials. It applies also to funds operated by employers where no union is involved.

★ ★ ★

The bill, sponsored by Senators KENNEDY, DOUGLAS and IVES, provides for registration and complete disclosure of employe welfare funds with false reporting made a Federal crime. All amendments, including those backed by the Administration and less liberal ones, were voted down. Despite this, the Senate indicated that it wants further labor legislation this session.

★ ★ ★

The Committee on Labor now can and should write a bill embodying the best features in the amendments which were rejected on procedural grounds. One, sponsored by the Administration, would have repealed the so-called "union-busting" provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act. Another would have permitted the states to deal with labor-management disputes in the present vacuum between NLRB's operations and the jurisdiction of the states. This committee has ample information through various studies and hearings to write a code that will correct the most flagrant abuses and it should do so.

★ ★ ★

It is to be hoped that the House will pass this badly needed measure without delay and not hold it up by trying to attach any general labor reforms. Other such legislation is promised for this session and is expected to be presented in a separate measure.

TV Westerns Leave Some Painful Marks

The adult western of television is leaving its mark on some viewers, and some of the marks have been pretty painful.

Last week The PRESS carried the account of a Detroiter who shot himself in the leg while practicing a fast pistol draw.

The incident occurred at a state park rifle range, and was the second of this nature this year.

President William McKinley

for volunteers, more than ten times as many responded as were needed. I was 20 years old, 6-3 tall, weighed only 135 pounds. I rode my bike over the country roads 35 miles to Island Lake to join the bunch. I was turned down on account of underweight for that height, and thought Uncle Sam was too choosey. Since then I haven't lost any height, but am ready to shoot the crook who got up vitamins.

That Sandman Again

David Lawrence Says:

Court's Decision Nears Fascism

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court of the United States, by a vote of 5 to 4, has just handed down a decision which can revolutionize labor-management relations in America.

LAWRENCE

For, while there is no law on the statute books that says so, the court now rules that the government can compel an employer or a union to abandon certain contract terms even though fair and lawful and previously agreed upon at the bargaining table.

The case in point would compel an employer to abandon conditions which he had insisted upon in a negotiation. Tomorrow it may be a labor union that is subjected to such compulsion by order of the Supreme Court.

This is the nearest thing to Fascist doctrine which has yet been evolved in the long and tangled history of labor-management relations in this country.

Up to now, the collective-bargaining law enacted by Congress has merely required the unions and management to sit down together and discuss what terms should or should not be included in the contract.

The Supreme Court has pointed out in the past that the bargaining must be in "good faith." Never before has it ruled that an employer is under compulsion in certain instances not to insist upon various conditions which he may want to include in any contract with the union.

★ ★ ★

Five justices — Burton, Douglas, Brennan, Black and Chief Justice Warren — constituted the majority who ruled that compulsion can be used by the National Labor Relations Board to prevent an employer from insisting upon certain terms as a condition to agreement with the union. The four justices who dissented were Harlan, Frankfurter, Whittaker and Clark.

The formal opinion which expressed the viewpoint of the four dissenting justices makes this penetrating statement:

"If one thing is clear, it is that the (National Labor Relations) Board was not viewed by Congress as an agency which should exercise its powers to aid a party to collective bargaining which was in an economical disadvantageous position."

Justice Harlan went on to say that what the majority of the court had ruled may impede the "evolutionary process" of collective bargaining which, he said, "should be left fluid."

He noted also that hereafter "it would seem to follow that unions which bargain in good faith would be precluded from insisting upon contract clauses" which might not be deemed by the courts to be "statutory subjects" for collective bargaining.

In the case before the court, the employer had insisted on a clause whereby the union would agree not to strike unless—after a 30-day negotiation—a vote was taken by secret ballot among all employes, union and non-union, to determine if the company's last offer should be accepted or rejected.

If rejected, the company was to be given an opportunity, within 72 hours after the vote, to make a new proposal and have a vote on it prior to any strike. The union negotiators announced that they would not accept this clause "under any conditions."

But a deadlock resulted and finally the union agreed to a contract that included the clauses which provided for a secret ballot before a strike could be begun.

Then, however, the union appealed to the National Labor Relations Board, which ruled that, while the company and the union had bargained in "good faith" and while it was legal for such a clause to be included if both sides wanted it, nevertheless the company did not have the right to insist on such proposals when the union objected.

The Supreme Court upheld the board notwithstanding the fact that the proposals were ruled to have been made in "good faith" and were held to be lawful in themselves.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Avoid Radical Surgery; Injection Treatments Best

If I suffered with piles, I would refuse radical surgery. I would not even lose any time from my bowling. I'd drop into the doctor's office before or after the game, take an injection, and go on with my work or play until next treatment.

DR. BRADY

Radical surgery doesn't "remove" piles. It destroys, cauterizes or obliterates them — as does injection treatment.

Ambulant injection treatment means that the patient walks about at his or her regular work while under treatment. It usually requires no anesthetic, general or local, and patients say it is not painful or, at the worst only slightly uncomfortable for a moment.

Each injection destroys one pile. Treatments are given at intervals of a few days or a week, from four to eight treatments being necessary in most instances.

★ ★ ★

No one can cure piles, by operation or any other means, if by "cure" you mean one will never again have piles.

WOULD SHUN SURGERY

I have assisted skilled operators in hemorrhoidectomy or pile operations of various kinds, and I have done some such operations myself —before I learned about the ambulant method. Now I say I'd never voluntarily submit to what I consider one of the most atrocious operations of surgery—(the other is tonsillectomy).

Ambulant or injection treatment is not for external piles. It is applicable only to internal piles.

The internal pile is the bleeding kind. It develops within the rectal orifice, although the mass may be extruded with the bowel movement and have to be pushed back into the rectum.

The external pile develops outside of the orifice and is much more painful than the internal pile. The only effective treatment for an "attack" of external piles (inflammation) is incision under anesthesia, evacuation of the clot and cutting away redundant tissue to get smooth healing.

In the pamphlet You Need Not Suffer From Piles, available on request if you provide stamped self-addressed envelope, I describe various local and systemic remedies.

Many doctors who should be providing the boon of injection treatments for their patients don't because they're afraid unskilled colleagues will criticize them. Many others who attempt to give injection treatment bungle it because they have not first had instruction in the technique at the hands of a colleague who has mastered it.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to person health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Mother Sounds Off About U.S. Doctors

Russians graduate 27,000 doctors a year and the U.S. holds the number down to 7,000. That's why we young mothers have to go to doctors' offices in person and sit and sit and sit and hold our sick babies until the great man gets around to "seeing us."

★ ★ ★

Most of them won't make a house call if the baby is still breathing. We need 50,000 new doctors or we need state medicine. I oppose this last as a theory but I am now ready to vote for it along with millions more. It's the only practical solution to the shortage.

★ ★ ★

Socialized medicine will cure it quickly. Thousands and thousands of fine young boys are thumbed down by medical schools to keep the supply inadequate so the few that get in can rule like czars. Every reader of this letter knows one or two of these fine youngsters personally.

I have read two magazine articles within the last six months saying the doctors don't perform nearly as many unnecessary operations now as they did for years and years. There are so few doctors they don't have to.

'Bugs' Baer Says:

Executive order to buy, buy, buy is all right for women. But men want to know why they are shopping.

Blanket list of anything is also okay for the gals. They'll come home with the blankets too.

A man has a reason for going to a store. When a woman goes to a store it's a reason for not staying home.

No man carries a list. He shops out of his mind.

A woman is always in that mental status.

No man ever bought a hat because it looked pretty on somebody else, a pair of shoes that looked good from the back or a complexion that you could wrap up.

So the presidential command to shop, shop, shop leaves us in a state of status quo. Not a bad place to be with money.

But a man often goes with his wife while she shops. And his wife often goes with him while she shops again.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Wife Wakes Up to Marriage Facts

Nancy got a rude shock when she rated her supposedly erring husband on the "Test for Husbands." But she received an even greater jolt when she saw her own score on the "Test for Wives." These tests, plus my interview with her as reported below, stopped her divorce action. In three months, she was madly in love with her husband.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Y-304: Nancy G., aged 27, has been married two years.

★ ★ ★

"But she insists on a divorce," her husband gloomily admitted. "She says we just aren't compatible.

"And she wants to charge me with mental cruelty. But I think she is a spoiled woman who just doesn't know what life is all about.

"Dr. Crane, she has weird ideas about the sexual side of marriage and thinks what her mother tells her on such points is the absolute truth.

"But her mother also got a divorce from her father when Nancy was a little girl, so I have come to the conclusion it runs in her family. Is that possible?"

Yes, divorces run in some families more than others. This is not a result of eugenical inheritance, but comes from faulty cultural effects.

★ ★ ★

For example, you may also find a fondness for corned beef and cabbage that persists through several generations of the same family.

That is simply due to the fact that grandmother may have been a good cook who prepared tasty corned beef and cabbage.

Daughter thus acquired the trait and then passed it along to the granddaughter. Such a food preference is probably a very good cultural heritage.

In similar fashion, some families pass along bad cultural heritages. If a mother thus gets a biased view of sex and enters into a divorce, then her children may have less aversion to dissolving their marriages.

And if Mamma then prejudices their youthful minds with the idea that all men are faithless creatures and selfish in their erotic desires, the daughters are already handicapped before they even enter their own weddings.

So I consented to have a long interview with Nancy. She felt it would be a waste of time, since she self-righteously considered her husband to be all wrong while she was 100 per cent the innocent and aggrieved party.

RATE YOUR MARRIAGE

But I casually handed her the "Tests for Husbands" and the companion "Tests for Wives" which I developed at Northwestern University with my staff of trained interviewers.

★ ★ ★

Much to her shock, when she had finished scoring her husband's merits and demerits, he came out with an actual rating of "Superior."

I said nothing, but urged her to score herself on the "Wife's Test." And by her own admission, she ended with only an "Average" ranking.

"Don't blame me," I warned her, "for I interviewed 600 happily married women to obtain the data for that 'Test for Husbands.' Then I quizzed the 600 happily married husbands to derive the items on that 'Test for Wives.'

"So those test items are not my opinions. They represent the actual behavior of modern couples in contemporary America."

Well, Nancy was taken aback. So I questioned her about their marital relations and then gave her a typical pre-marital medical interview.

At last, I obtained her promise to go back home and see what would happen when she tried to pattern her marital life after the standard set forth in those Marriage Tests.

Thirty days later she reported back to me and admitted that she and her husband were happier than they had ever been before. Three months later they were so much in love, she decided she wanted a baby.

So send for those 200-point "Tests for Husbands and Wives," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Insure your home against divorce. Happily married folks live longer, too, so those tests may indirectly add to your lifespan.

★ ★ ★

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Republican Legislature Peppered by Governor

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams, warming up for the 1958 campaign, peppered the Republican Legislature on different counts to three separate audience in Flint and Detroit yesterday.

The Democratic governor criticized the lawmakers' 1958 record on health, education and safety.

★ ★ ★

Appearing in Flint at the National Science Fair, Williams rapped the legislature for rejecting his recommendation for a new science and technology institute at the University of Michigan, and for turning down proposed scholarship programs.

He called for "immense expansion" of the nation's scientific resources.

Thirty years ago, he said, the late Joseph Stalin saw the need for capturing the fortress of science, and quoted Stalin:

"'Without this it is useless to talk of overtaking and outstripping the capitalist countries.'"

Said Williams:

"This is a grim race we are in and there are no consolation prizes for second place."

In Detroit, the governor voiced his criticism before the 37th annual meeting of the Michigan Public Health Assn., saying the Legislature indulged in false economy in "cutting back in medical treatment for crippled and afflicted children" and on grants for county health services.

"Public health agencies of this nature are not wasted costs, they are first class investments in our future," he said.

In a second Detroit appearance, the governor spoke of legislative "obstructions" to effective state programs at a training school in mercantile safety for State Labor Department inspectors.

He plugged again for a modern industrial safety law to replace the existing 1909 statute "designed for wagon factories."

"To try to handle the problems of industrial safety with a half-century old law is like trying to shoot a rocket into outer space with a slingshot," he said.

man who ever took off in a plane from the earth. Only an experimental rocket plane ever has gone higher, and it was launched from a mother plane.

Lockheed said Johnson took off from Palmdale, Calif., for his record flight.

The pilot said the flight took him through temperatures lower than 60 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

He said he accelerated to maximum speed, pulled into a high angle climb and zoomed into the thin atmosphere to the peak at 91,249 feet.

He said the ultrasonic fighter is moving today's fighter pilot well out to the region where the sky is deep blue, turning almost black.

Johnson said he was too busy to do much sightseeing.

The plane hit more than twice the speed of sound on the flight, the announcement reported.

Lockheed said the record was verified by three powerful radars and three cameras designed for high altitude tracking.

RECORD OFFICIAL

Charles F. Logsdon, executive secretary of the National Aeronautics Assn. from Washington, D.C., monitored the flight.

Lockheed said the NAA declared the record official, subject to review by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale.

The jet, called the Starfighter, features wings that extend only 7½ feet from the fuselage. The wings are thin and the leading edges razor sharp.

The jet went into operational services at Hamilton AFB Feb. 20.

Johnson is operations officer of the 83rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Hamilton. He has been in service since enlisting at Lexington, Ky., April 1, 1942.

Lima Students Stone Vice President Nixon school to try to give the U.S. side of a case in which Peruvians are angered at American trade and tariff policies.

The demonstration against Nixon was well planned and it was attributed to Communists.

Nixon said he was impressed by the fact that the planners were "very old students."

"The majority of students making the noise," he said, "were professionals."

Nixon got some heavy applause when he tried to outshout the "professionals." But this was drowned by whistles and boos of the ringleaders identified as Communists.

STOOD NO CHANCE

Some students kept yelling for Nixon to be heard, but they stood no chance in the mob.

Some of the anti-Nixon demonstrators carried placards demanding "Freedom for Albizu Campos."

Pedro Albizu Campos is the Puerto Rican Nationalist leader serving a prison term in Puerto Rico for conviction of starting a revolution in the fall of 1950 at the time other Puerto Ricans tried to assassinate President Truman in Washington.

After leaving San Marcos University the Vice President paid a surprise visit to a Catholic University.

One San Marcos student tried to speak in favor of the touring Nixon and the United States after the Vice President left the scene.

He was quickly beaten up by six student thugs.

Later, inside the university patio, another student tried to speak in favor of Nixon. He stood in the patio fountain, but was quickly hauled down by the demonstrators.

A third student tried the same and was roughed up and thrown into the fountain.

When Nixon first arrived outside the university, students identified as Communists were just finishing some of their red painted signs, saying "Nixon, Go Home."

The Peruvian Communist Party in Lima is small but officials say it is very well organized. The group of Reds saw to it that Nixon got his first hostile treatment in his tour of South America.

Cocktail Parties Grow Popular in West Germany

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — That great American folk custom, the cocktail party, is gaining converts in Europe.

In West Germany, the missionary work has been done largely by the American diplomats and military men.

They had social obligations and frequently discharged them by inviting German officials and others to massive cocktail parties.

Some Germans liked the idea and tried it on friends.

Examining the custom, the Munich newspaper Merkur said:

"The cocktail party has become a world fashion simply because it has proved to be a sure-fire way of getting the Anglo-Saxon rulers of the world to talk."

The Merkur then gave a brief rundown on how to act at a cocktail party: "It is impossible to arrive too late at a cocktail party. The guests who are most respected are those who arrive when at least half of the other guests have already left."

Landlord Who Wasn't Is Arrested in Madrid

MADRID (INS) — Blas Ruiz Soriano, 42, has been arrested by the police under charges of swindling near one hundred thousand pesetas ($2,000).

Soriano's profitable business was to rent apartments which did not belong to him. He would ask for a deposit on the signing of the lease and kept on changing his office address to avoid claims from tenants.

Can't See Duty on Paintings by Chimpanzee

BALTIMORE (AP)—A U. S. Customs appraiser, saying he just had to draw a line somewhere, classified a dozen abstracts by Congo, the chimpanzee from London, as not being art and therefore subject to import duty.

★ ★ ★

It's not that the pictures aren't good. In fact, J. Ross Prevost, the appraiser, said:

"If we didn't know they were produced by an animal we would have thought they were good modern art."

★ ★ ★

But, after all, Congo is a "subhuman animal with no rational mind or powers of imagination, and this does not meet our test for works of art."

Fear Seaman Lost Near Port Huron

PORT HURON (AP) — Coast Guard vessels searched today for a Grosse Pointe Woods seaman missing and feared drowned after a 25-foot motorboat capsized in Lake Huron near the Bluewater Bridge.

Robert J. Gullickson, 21, was lost. Another coast guardsman, Vince Disch of Janesville, Wis., was rescued near where the boat went down.

The two were headed back to the Port Huron lightship, stationed about 3½ miles from here, with a load of mail and supplies from the mainland.

Coast Guard officials said the lake was relatively calm at the time of the mishap, but gusts of wind made waters choppy in the afternoon.

Collecting Bugs in New Guinea

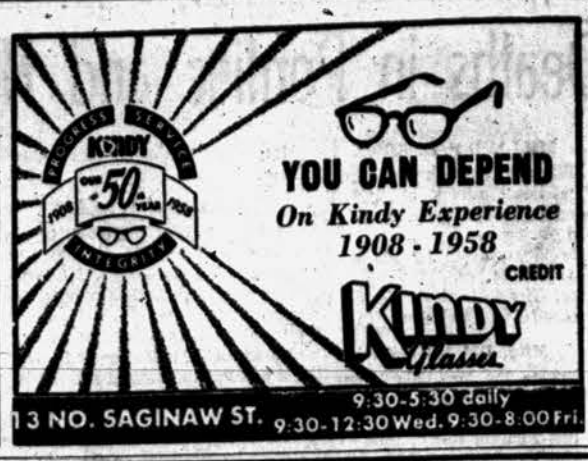

OTTAWA, Canada — Two world-traveling bug-hunters have spent a few months in New Guinea collecting insects — Dr. E. G. Munroe and G. P. Holland of the Canadian Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Holland devoted himself to fleas from such native mammals as 'possums, cuscus, wild rats, and ecidnas (spiney ant-eaters). Dr. Monroe collected moths, using an ultra violet light trap at night. His take sometimes was a gallon and a half of moths during a night.

They started around Port Moresby but later went to the Highlands and the Sepik district, where they hoped to find more animals and get the natives' help in catching them.

15 Pct. Goes to Drinks

WASHINGTON — A survey by the Agriculture Department shows that about 15 cents of the American family's food dollar goes for beverages. About two thirds of this percentage is spent for fresh fluid milk, a fourth for coffee, a tenth for bottled and canned soft drinks, and about 4 per cent for tea.

Great Lakes Issue Still Clouded

Pilots on St. Lawrence Agreeing Not to Strike

MONTREAL (AP) — An agreement reached after more than two months of negotiations has headed off the threat of a strike by pilots on the upper St. Lawrence River navigation system.

But it was still not clear how the terms of the settlement affect a dispute between the Great Lakes Shipping Federation and the Lake pilots who left their jobs April 18.

In Kingston, Ont., Capt. Thomas Wilson, vice - president of the Great Lakes Pilots Assn., said he had been assured river pilots would honor picket lines set up by a labor council in support of the association.

★ ★ ★

Capt. Wilson said the assurance was given by Jean Guy Chartier, president of the St. Lawrence — Kingston — Ottawa Pilots Corporation, who has not been availabl for comment.

However, Capt. J. E. Matheson of the Shipping Federation of Canada quoted Chartier as saying "Everything possible will be done to get the men to take their assignments as normal."

Capt. Matheson said the corporation had agreed to have members guide foreign ships east to the St. Lawrence from the Lakes.

★ ★ ★

A joint statement by Chartier and J. P. Boyle, chairman of the federations pilotage committee, said an agreement had been reached "for the 1958 navgation season but it did not disclose the terms.

The lake pilots demand compulsory pilotage throughout the lakes but the shippers contend masters are qualified to guide their vessels in open waters and pilots are necessary only in narrow passages.

Six Foreign vessels have left for Montreal from Kingston since the start of the week, five of them guided by masters and the sixth by Capt. George Downey, a river pilot who had refused to support the association.

West Showing Leniency Toward Krupp Dynasty

ESSEN, Germany (AP)—The Western Allies who once charted the breakup of the vast Krupp empire are finding the 147-year-old dynasty as durable as the steel it produces.

Smashed to near ruin by Allied bombers in World War II, and postwar dismantling for reparations, the house of Krupp rose from the rubble to employ some 90,000 workers and do a business of nearly 800 million dollars a year.

★ ★ ★

Now the Western Big Three, pressed by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, have agreed to re-examine their trust-busting plans for Krupp and other German industrial barons.

Head of this huge iron, coal and steel complex in the heart of the Ruhr is quiet, reserved 50-year-old Alfried Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, great-great-grandson of the company's founder.

★ ★ ★

Jailed as a war criminal in 1945, Krupp was released seven years ago and returned to his 200-room castle overlooking Essen, still one of Europe's richest men.

He holds the devotion of thousands of Ruhr families to whom working for Krupp is a way of life.

★ ★ ★

Krupp's properties, confiscated by the U.S. war crimes court, were restored to him when his 12-year jail sentence was cut short in 1951. But under a pact he signed with the Big Three in 1953, he was allowed direct control only over steel fabricating and engineering divisions. He agreed to dispose of rich mining properties and his Rheinhausen steel plant—third biggest producer in West Germany—within five years. This would have cut his company in half.

★ ★ ★

The deadline slipped by this spring, but now the pact is expected to be enforced with leniency, if at all. The Allies promised to think things over after Adenauer argued that Krupp and his fellow steel magnates were finding it hard to get buyers for their properties.

Krupp experts question the legality of the agreement.

To complete his comeback, Krupp plans to take over Bouchumer Verein, big Ruhr company which makes the steel castings he has lacked since wartime bombers flattened one third of his plants.

Purchase of Bochumer would make Krupp once again owner of steel-making facilities extending from mine to finished product. It would restore the heart and balance of the Krupp empire.

Boy Gives Up to Police After His Nightmare

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—A 15-year-old boy who said he dreamed police chased and killed him surrendered to officers yesterday.

★ ★ ★

State Patrolman Floyd McKinzie said the youth walked into the station. "Where can I give myself up?" he asked, and blurted out the story of his dream last night.

★ ★ ★

McKinzie said the youth identified himself as John Finis Conard of Terre Haute, Ind., and said he was a parole violator. He was held for investigation at Sebastian County jail.

Arthritis Clue Seen in Anxiety

Evidence Suggests That Emotional Factors May Be Involved at Onset

LONDON (AP) — Mental anxiety may be a major cause of arthritis, two Canadian scientists reported today.

Evidence suggests that emotional factors have a lot to do with the onset of the crippling disease, Dr. B. M. Cormier and Dr. E. D. Wittkower said in a study submitted to a meeting of Britain's Empire Rheumatism Council.

★ ★ ★

The two doctors from McGill University of Montreal reported results of studies made with brothers and sisters. They wanted to see how patients suffering from rheumatoid arthritis deal with aggresive impulses. The results were compared with studies of the patient's brother or sister unafflicted with the disease.

The doctors said the comparison showed that rheumatoid arthritis patients are overactive as children but become inhibited later in life.

Their sisters or brothers who are free of the illness seem to be able to use movement and impulsive action successfully in later life, the report said.

This means, the doctors explained, that certain natural aggressions and drives are worked off normally instead of bottled up where they can cause anxieties and tensions.

Hard-Landing Copter Saves Choking Boy

TWENTYNINE PALMS, Calif. (AP) — Hard landing in a helicopter ended a mercy flight—and the need for it.

When 2-year-old Frank Crouch swallowed a nickel, it lodged in his throat. He began to choke.

★ ★ ★

Doctors at Twentynine Palms Marine base—where Frank and his parents live—put the boy in a helicopter, fed him oxygen and sent him to Riverside for hospital treatment.

After four minutes the pilot had trouble controlling the craft, and made a precautionary landing on the desert.

★ ★ ★

He went down hard—and so did the nickel. Frank swallowed hard and could breathe again. His parents, Capt. and Mrs. W. M. Crouch took him to the hospital for observation. Doctors said nature would solve the boy's problem.

See Persimmons Soon Popular as Frozen Food

WASHINGTON — Persimmons, long a favorite food of opossums, Indians and American colonists, may grow in modern popularity thanks to new freezing techniques. Persimmons are a gourmet's delight when ripe—but hardly a treat if eaten too soon. As one sufferer described it, "Your mouth feels as if it's trying to turn itself inside out."

Captain John Smith of Jamestown observed that a persimmon, when green, "will drive a man's mouth awrie with much torment; but when it is ripe, it is as delicious as an apricock."

The mouth-twisting effect of a green persimmon is caused by tannic acid. The acid becomes insoluble as the fruit matures, leaving the pulpy, orange-colored flesh delectably sweet.

Cookbook writers have generally ignored the persimmon in the past, but recipes for such delicacies as persimmon pudding have been appearing recently. Persimmons now are often frozen for use later.

★ ★ ★

Frozen lockers have made it possible to avoid much of the waste of thousands of bushels of delicious orange-and-brown persimmons because they were difficult to ship safely and could not all be eaten at once. Sometimes housewives prepare their favorite persimmon dish and freeze the dessert until they want to eat it.

Owner of Swaps Sued in U. S. Court

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Rex Ellsworth, owner of 1955 Kentucky Derby winner Swaps, was named yesterday in a $74,768 false representation suit filed by the federal government in U. S. District Court here.

★ ★ ★

The complaint charged that Ellsworth and his brother Reed, partners in a Safford cattle ranch, illegally received grain and feed under the government's emergency feed program in 1956 and 1957.

The program was established for farmers and ranchers who needed assistance to stay in business.

★ ★ ★

The complaint charged that Reed Ellsworth falsely certified that he and his brother couldn't continue their ranching operation unless they received government assistance.

Rex Ellsworth now lives at Chino, Calif.

Santiago, Chile, was founded in the year 1541.

Plan Large Building Near Grand Central

NEW YORK (AP) — The World's largest commercial office building is planned for the Grand Central Terminal area.

Irwin S. Wolfson, spokesman for a group planning the 50-story structure, said it should be completed in 1961 at a cost of about 100 million dollars.

To be known as Grand Central City, the building will contain floor rental area of more than three million square feet. The 75-story RCA Building, largest commercial skyscraper now in use, has 2,300,000 square feet of rentable space. The 130-story Empire State Building has 1,800,000 square feet.

Graham to Cross San Francisco Bay in Crusade

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham crosses San Francisco Bay today for a noontime service at Oakland's Scottish Rite Auditorium with Rotarians and Kiwanians.

Oakland Mayor Clifford Rishiell also has invited Graham to conduct an outdoor rally in Oakland sometime before he concludes his Bay area crusade June 8.

Graham addressed a crowd of 14,200 at the Cow Palace last night. Answering his appeal to "decide for Christ" were 288. It was his 10th sermon in the 16,500-seat auditorium.

Graham denounced materialism and covetousness. He said that included "overindulgence in everything..too much food, too much drink, too little sleep...too much sex."

He condemned "women who do not have to work who neglect their children."

Graham has drawn 165,000 persons to his meetings so far and there have been 5,070 "decisions for Christ."

Expecting to Name Starkweather Jury

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—A jury to hear the murder trial of Charles Starkweather, who has admitted involvement in 11 slayings, was expected to be seated today.

★ ★ ★

The defense has pleaded Starkweather innocent by reason of insanity, a plea which Starkweather was reported to be against. But he made no objection when it was entered.

Starkweather is specifically charged with the death of Robert Jensen, 17, Bennet, Neb., who was slain with his girl friend Carol King.

Starkweather's attorneys have said he made a statement saying he wanted to surrender himself after the deaths of Jensen and Miss King, the fifth and sixth persons killed, but was talked out of it by Caril Fugate, his 14-year-old companion.

Caril is also charged with murder in the Jensen slaying.

Late Decision Averts Walkout

Unions to Extend Talks With 3 Aircraft Firms for Indefinite Period

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A last-hour decision headed off a strike of 98,200 aircrift workers set for last midnight.

But the strike threat had not been erased today.

The International Assn. of Machinists and United Auto Workers agreed to continue talks with Convair, Douglas Aircraft Corp. and North American Aviation, Inc. for an indefinite period.

★ ★ ★

"We can set another strike deadline just like that," said a union official, snapping his fingers.

With negotiations continuing, union members at Convair, Douglas and North American will be working without contracts. Their contracts expired at midnight.

★ ★ ★

Pickets already had appeared at Lockheed Aircraft Corp. facilities at Marietta, Ga., when the strike postponement was announced. Lockheed's California division reached a tentative agreement with the IAM yesterday. The Georgia plant is under a different contract.

★ ★ ★

The IAM and UAW contracts expired at midnight local time. Plants in Fort Worth, Tex., Columbus, Ohio; Tulsa, Okla.; Charlotte, N. C.; and Tucson, Ariz., would have been affected by a walkout.

★ ★ ★

The Lockheed offer tentatively accepted by union negotiators calls for wage and benefit increases ranging from 18 to 30 cents an hour and averaging nearly 22 cents. It includes a cost-of-living increase already in effect at the other companies' plants. It is subject to approval by union workers.

★ ★ ★

Convair, North American and Douglas last week offered a basic hourly wage increase of from 2 to 11 cents in a two-year contract. There would be a 3 per cent increase at the end of the first year.

The unions have been asking for raises of 7 to 14 cents and a 4 per cent raise next year. Present scales range from $1.63 to $2.75 an hour.

Three-Year-Old Girl Crushed by Elevator

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Linda Lee Larsen, 3, ran ahead, as usual, to press the button for the automatic elevator as her babysitter prepared to leave.

★ ★ ★

The babysitter remained at the door of Linda's suite chatting for a moment. The elevator arrived at the fourth-floor and its outside door opened.

★ ★ ★

Linda was caught between the inner grill and outer door which closed behind her.

Somebody pressed the button on another floor and Linda was crushed to death.

Japan Accepts Invitation for Talks on Antarctic

TOKYO (AP)—Japan today became the first nation to formally accept President Eisenhower's invitation to a conference to keep the antarctic out of the cold war.

The U.S. President May 3 proposed that 11 nations join the United States in drawing up a treaty to neutralize the vast South Polar continent and dedicate it to peaceful scientific research.

ROYAL VISITOR — Washington society is all atwitter over the forthcoming visit of Prince Juan Carlos of Spain to the nation's capital. No less than six affairs are planned in his honor. Readying Action on Military Pay

Expect House Passage of Compromise Bill Providing Wage Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House is expected to pass soon a compromise military pay raise bill aimed at encouraging trained service personnel to stay in the armed forces.

A Senate-House conference committee reached agreement on the compromise, which is in line with President Eisenhower's recommendations.

Virtually all service personnel with at least two years in uniform would get pay boosts ranging from 6 per cent to 60 per cent. The bigger increases would go to generals, admirals and other top rankers. The increased benefits would apply to reserve and retired personnel.

In its first year, the bill would cost an estimated $576,400,000. This compromise is much like the version originally passed by the Senate and carries pay boosts generally smaller than those in the House bill, which would have cost about 683 million dollars the first year.

Under the compromise, provision is made for "responsibility pay" ranging from $50 to $150 a month for a small percentage of officers in ranks from captain to colonel.

For noncommissioned officers, the bill would provide "proficiency pay" of $50, $100 or $150 a month.

The bill also contains a 6 per cent cost of living increase in retirement pay now going to some 300,000 officers and enlisted men.

★ ★ ★

The compromise differs from the original Senate bill in only one respect: it would permit a boost in retirement benefits for three and four star generals and admirals already on the retired list. This would cost about $400,000.

After the House acts on the compromise, it will go to the Senate for expected final passage. If Eisenhower signs the measure this month, the new pay scales would become effective June 1.

Thieves Take Washing

DETROIT (INS) — Mrs. Marie Forth, 25, of Taylor Township, complained to the Wayne County sheriff's road patrol that her family washing was stolen from the back seat of her parked car last night while she was in a bar for about 10 minutes.

Pontiac Youth Going to Naval Academy

A Pontiac youth has been nominated to the U. S. Naval Academy by Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County).

He is Robert L. McDonald, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cameron H. Clark, 65 Summit St.

McDonald, a 1957 graduate of Pontiac High School, will take a physical examination and report to Annapolis in July, Broomfield said.

★ ★ ★

The nominee played high school football and track, was on the fencing team, debate team, glee club and choir and is a member of the National Honor Society. After graduation, he attended Flint Junior College one semester.

★ ★ ★

Broomfield also announced the appointment of two Royal Oak youths, Charles K. Notron and Evans W. Webb.

Judge Has Solution

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Life with John E. Silvia was a problem without a solution, says Mrs. John E. Silvia. When she agreed with him he got mad. When she disagreed, he got mad. And when she didn't say anything he got mad. A judge provided a solution after hearing her relate that story: Divorce.

Sees Abundant Evidence of U. S. Moral Breakdown

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"There is evidence everywhere that moral behavior is breaking down in our land."

The Rev. Dr. W. Vernon Middleton, general secretary of the Methodist Church Division of National Missions, made that statement to a convention of Methodist women last night.

Dr. Middleton, of Philadelphia, told the Assembly of the Woman's Society of Christian Service crime seems to be rampant, and that persons who live in suburbia cannot assume that crime is confined to the cities. "It affects the moral tone of all our communities," he said.

Dr. Middleton said, "The real seeds of crime are sown in the early years of a child's life." He advocated the teaching of moral and social responsibility in schools.

'Catholics,' 'Methodists' Will Surround Church

TAFT, Calif. (AP)—A group of Catholic boys planted a row of young shade trees along one side of St. Mary's Church.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday 43 Cub Scouts from the Methodist church planted a row of trees along the other side of the same church.

A gesture of faith and appreciation for the members of some other church" was the explanation by Packmaster R. T. Ogan.

For Pioneering Rule in Education

U. of M. President Praises Michigan

By HARLAN HATCHER
President U. of M.

It is fitting that Michigan, which pioneered in establishing the state's responsibility for education from grade school through college, should honor education during Michigan Week.

And perhaps this week of May 4-10, devoted to an examination of the reasons we like to live in Michigan, may provide an opportunity to revive some of the pioneer spirit which made this state a nationally recognized leader in public education.

The nation's system of education, generated by the spark ignited here in Michigan, has made it possible for the United States to assume a position of leadership in the world and has helped to give this nation a standard of living which hasn't been equalled anywhere.

Currently the Russian threat in the field of science and technology has caused many to express deep concern about our future. This type of concern can be most beneficial if it is concentrated on the improvemennt and upgrading of the whole system of education.

However, there is grave danger that in the urgencies of the moment we may overlook the deep and lasting qualities and benefits of our system of education. Thus there are those who are concentrating their attacks on fringe areas and possibly, without intent, some of these attacks seem to be casting suspicion and doubt on our entire system of education.

It is all too easy to forget that the founders of the State of Michigan were beset with a multitude of problems in carving a place to live out of the Northwest Territory.

Despite all of these problems, these people had the foresight and vision to lay the foundation for an excellent system of education in Michigan. The leadership which Michigan has been able to give to education at all levels is ample evidence of the fact that these pioneers built well.

Today, instead of the troubles of settling a new state, we are confronted with a business recession, a serious problem in state financing and the ominous success of Russia in the field of science and technology.

Let us hope that Michigan Week can help to recapture some of the old pioneering spirit and that we shall move forward united in the realization that our educational system is the wellspring of our growth and prosperity, both as a state and as a nation.

Troops in Pakistan War on Smugglers

DACCA, Pakistan — Under the name "Operation Close Door," East Pakistan has launched, in Dacca, its first all-out drive against smuggling.

The Pakistani Army has taken over the challenge of smugglers of rice paddy, other foods, razor blades, pencils, and has been parading over 1,700 miles of East Pakistan border, fully backed by civilian administration. The Government has joined the operation on the southern border of the Bay of Bengal and the drive is also being helped by the Pakistani Air Force.

Those opposing the smugglers are vested with orders to shoot at sight, whipping and summary trial of offenders.

Big Canadian Lake Named After Ghana

ACCRA, Ghana — Ghana's Prime Minister announced recently in Accra that a Canadian lake has been named after Ghana to mark the occasion when the former Gold Coast became an independent unit of the Commonwealth.

The 15-mile-long lake is situated in the South Reindeer Lake area 130 miles northeast of Lac La Range in Saskatchewan, he stated. The Prime Minister said: "We have been particularly gratified by the special and continuing interest which the Canadian Government, the Government of the Province and the Canadian people have taken in us and our well-being."

Prince Rainier Grants People Right to Appeal

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) — Prince Rainier III has slightly liberalized his administration but retained every bit of his sovereignty.

★ ★ ★

He announced that the government's administrative decisions now may be appealed. If the government decided to take over part of a citizen's estate for a road, for example, he could do nothing about it before.

Many of Rainier's 2,400 subjects have been seeking liberal reforms.

Oakwood Masonic Lodge to Mark 100th Anniversary

Dinner-Dance Slated Saturday

Fire Twice Damaged Original Temple During Group's Early Years

OXFORD — "One Hundred" is a significant number for the Oakwood Masonic Lodge near Oxford.

The 100th lodge of Free and Accepted Masonry in Michigan, the chapter will observe its 100th anniversary at a Centennial dinner-dance Saturday evening at the Daniel Axford School in Oxford.

★ ★ ★

The lodge, one of the oldest in Michigan, in its early years was hit twice by fires and once by a disastrous cyclone, but came out of each with most of its records intact, including the minutes of every meeting since its establishment in May 1858.

Fire damaged the original temple in 1865 and again in 1894, and on May 25, 1896 a cyclone destroyed it.

On Oct. 27, 1897, W. M. Lou B. Winsor, grand master, granted a dispensation to the lodge to move into its new hall, the one still used today.

★ ★ ★

The present lodge has 76 members with at least one of them the son of a charter member. He is Cleveland Hunt, son of Abram Hunt, one of the nine charter members and a pioneer of the little farming community of Oakwood.

Saturday night's party will begin at 6:30 with the serving of dinner, after which Walter Webb of Ortonville will introduce the guests of honor. An evening of modern and square dancing will follow.

The public is invited.

Murder Thriller in Rehearsal

Drama at Bloomfield

MRS. FELIX DeMARCO

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — "Someone Waiting," a psychological murder drama by Emlyn Williams, will be the next presentation of the Township Players theater group.

★ ★ ★

The seventh production of the now "veteran" players, the play will be staged three nights, May 15, 16 and 17, in the auditorium of West Bloomfield High School. Curtain time each evening is 8:40.

★ ★ ★

The drama currently in rehearsal will be a demanding test of the players' abilities, according to Mrs. Felix DeMarco, producer and group secretary. She said the play has an ingenious story line, full of changes of mood and searching personality characterizations.

Directing the drama is Lee O'Connor, assisted by Gay Matteson. The cast includes John Onken, James Beall, Mrs. Betty O'Connor, Mrs. Martha Kock and Patricia Unick.

Although only in its third year of existence, the little theater organization of West Bloomfield places itself in the veteran category.

Eight weeks of intensive rehearsals go into each production, in addition to the workshops it holds each month.

Critical comment and good attendance have justified the players' efforts, Mrs. DeMarco said.

Women Pickets Return Expected

Warren Dump Injunction Action Is Delayed by Legal Technicalities

WARREN (INS) — Housewives today were expected to resume their picketing of two rubbish dumps at 32572 Dequindre in Warren they are trying to put out of business.

Warren city attorneys asked Macomb County Circuit Court yesterday for a permanent injunction against the Blunt Dump but Judge Alton J. Noe adjourned the hearing until Monday afternoon because of legal technicalities.

Meanwhile, one of the pickets, Mrs. Vera Stevens, 37, reportedly plans to ask the Macomb prosecutor for an assault warrant against Michael Ferguson, 39, owner of the dump next to the Blunt facility.

Mrs. Stevens claims Ferguson bumped her with his car Monday as she sat in a chair across the dump entrance. Ferguson has denied hitting the woman.

★ ★ ★

The women claim the dumps, particularly the Blunt Dump, are a nuisance because of offensive odors caused by smoldering rubbish fires.

City commissioners said they will appoint a committee to make a thorough study of the tax assessment process while applications are being taken for his successor.

Playmate Tells of Hanging

Make-Believe Lynching Brought Death, Reports 9-Year-Old

NEW YORK (INS) — "We were playing cowboys and Indians, Joey and I. Then, he said, 'Let's have a make-believe hanging.'"

Thus was unfolded last night the tragedy of two young boys.

It was told by a remorseful 9-year-old as he told how he accidentally hanged his 7-year-old playmate.

The case came to light three weeks after the body of Joseph Monge was found in the back yard of his home in Queens. The dead boy was on the ground with a noose around his neck.

The case was listed as suspicious until a tip led detectives to the home of a third-grader several streets away.

This is what he related to detectives:

"I was riding by on my bike when I saw Joey playing cowboy. I stopped.

"He had a piece of rope around his neck and was standing on a cement block. I helped him throw it up around a fire escape as he was too little to reach.

"I was holding the rope when the block fell over. The rope pulled him up. It suddenly got stuck.

"I saw Joey gasping. I ran to get some help. But I couldn't find anybody. I got scared and rode away on my bike."

Police closed the case as "accidental."

Sees Danger to States

JACKSON (AP) — A White House aide says the trend toward more federal aid to states and local governments must be curbed or they will become "satellites in a federal bureaucracy." Howard Pyle, deputy assistant on intergovernmental relations to President Eisenhower, said last night federal grants in aid to states and individuals have totaled more than $80,500,000,000 since 1933.

Polaris Rocket Bursts in Flight

Navy Says Missile Performed as Expected in Short Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Polaris test vehicle burst apart with a brilliant splash of fire shortly after takeoff today but the Navy announced that the rocket behaved as expected.

The trim Lockheed missile, about 35 feet long, roared up on what appeared to be a perfect takeoff at 10:36 a.m.

★ ★ ★

It climbed vertically for 20 seconds. Then, just as it was about to level off, a violent explosion occurred and the rocket appeared to break in two.

The two sections poured out a twisting vapor trail as they spiraled down. Both appeared to be burning fiercely.

Two minutes after the launching, a white puff of smoke swelled up from the Atlantic some five miles off the coast. Apparently, one of the sections had plummeted into the ocean.

★ ★ ★

The breakup that occurred was expected and the test appeared normal, the Navy announced later. It declined to give further details.

All that was left to mark the experimental rocket's short-lived journey were two fat vapor trails shaped like question marks hanging in a clear blue sky.

If the test was a success, it was another step toward preparing the Polaris for its operational goal—a launching from a nuclear powered submarine above or under the sea.

★ ★ ★

The Polaris is the Navy's 1,500-mile ballistic missile, taller and lighter than the present IRBM in the U. S. arsenal. Despite its size, it is expected to pack a wallop as potent as either the Air Force Thor or the Army Jupiter.

British Car Sales Booming Way Through Present U.S. Recession

WHO SAYS RECESSION? — British auto makers couldn't find one when they put their models on sale at this busy section of the International Automobile Show in New York City.

LONDON (NEA) — "One man's recession is another man's boom," is the way an industry spokesman sums up the present American craze for British motorcars.

With Americans buying up everything from the ritziest of Rolls-Royces to the humblest of Hillman Huskies, the feeling in the motorcar trade here is that it is an ill wind, indeed, which doesn't sell another Jaguar.

★ ★ ★

"Recession?" The super-slick British car salesman frowned as though he had never before heard the word, although he had just arrived home from New York. "There's no American recession as far as we're concerned," he added. "To the contrary."

The truth is, however, that the spectacular triumph of British models at the International Motor Show in New York has all but floored the motor-makers here. It was as unexpected as it was welcome.

The manufacturers had gone to New York armed with gloomy forebodings and the latest American unemployment statistics. They would be lucky to hold their own with other foreign competitors for a shrinking market, they reasoned.

Instead, the British walked away with the show. Specifically, they walked away with orders totaling 12 million dollars in their pockets, which represents in dollar value half of the cars sold at the big international event.

And not only is the small British saloon car (sedan) in demand in America, but the super-deluxe Rolls-Royce Countrymen as well, complete with coffee-maker, dictating machine, radio-telephone and bed. Two of these were sold at $13,000 each within five minutes of the opening of the New York show.

Jaguar, introducing its new XK 150 roadster with convertible top and one-piece windshield "faired" into the body, sold its entire quota for the next six months.

Now that the dust of the New York show has settled, sales experts are busy analyzing the factors that made for the British success. They attribute it to the following:

1. A new American interest in economy. British small cars are about 25 per cent cheaper than the cheapest American models and cost almost 50 per cent less per mile to operate.

2. German oversuccess. Volkswagens have proved so successful in selling to America that they are six months behind with orders. British cars are immediately available.

3. Salesmanship. For once the British have thrown their traditional reserve and typical reticence overboard and are competing with the Madison Avenue boys in sales razzle-dazzle.

Some of the British sales pitch is straight snob appeal. (Example: "Only 7,500 Americans can get a new Jaguar this year"), but much of it is slanted for a wider audience.

At the New York show, for example, British Motors Corp. dressed "guardsmen" in scarlet tunics and bearskins to mount guard over its display of 13 models, including the Austin, Austin Healey, M.G. and Morris Minor. The "guardsmen" lured the crowds, then salesmen filled the ears of economy-minded buyers with statistics.

Of the 200,000 foreign cars sold in the United States last year, 85,000 were British, which represents the lion's share. This year, British manufacturers are hoping to step up sales to 125,000.

The big question in Berkeley Street, where British motor makers have their London showrooms, is: how long will the American boom last? The optimists claim that Britain has built up a steady demand for small cars in America, while the pessimists see it as a passing craze, predict that if it continues American manufacturers will seek to build up a tariff wall.

Actually, the sale of foreign cars represents only about five per cent of the total car sales in America.

As a sign that Britain intends not only to maintain but to expand its American export sales, Standard Motor Company, which exports the jaunty Triumph TR3 sports model, has now more than doubled its sales force in America, increasing the number of dealers from 200 to 500.

In general, the word along Berkeley Street at the moment is: "Recession, it's wonderful!"

Airline Delivers Plums to Cancer Victim, 12

DETROIT (AP)—Billy Staggs, 12-year-old bedridden cancer victim, had a wish of many weeks fulfilled yesterday. He ate plums, compliments of friends and an airline.

★ ★ ★

The suburban Garden City boy's craving was made known to officials of American Airlines through his stepfather's employer. The plums, from South America, were found in a New York warehouse and flown in.

★ ★ ★

Billy also likes peaches. Airline officials say he'll have some today, from California.

Navy Apologizes for Guard's Conduct

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP) — The Navy has apologized for gun-toting guards who threatened to shoot newspaper reporters and photographers at the scene of a jet crash.

★ ★ ★

The guards were green and overly conscientious and their actions yesterday reflected their individual feelings and not those of the Navy, Capt. Ben Moore Jr., commanding officer of the auxiliary air station here, said in a press statement.

★ ★ ★

The guards ordered the newspaper representatives away from the crash of an FJ3 Fury jet in a cotton field not on military property.

The pilot, who was returning from a routine gunnery flight, was killed. He was identified as Lt. Howard J. Brown, 30, Chula Vista, Calif.

NEW DAISY PLANT—This is an aerial view of the new Daisy Manufacturing Co. plant at Rogers, Ark. The ocmpany will shift operations from Plymouth to this new plant in the near future.

Develop New Ways for Transporting Oil

BELFAST — New ways are being developed to handle the world's growing demand for petroleum products, G. A. Baxter, an official of Shell-Mex told the Institute of Transport in Belfast, Northern Ireland.

World demand now is 850,000,000 tons of oil a year and this demand is likely to be sustained, he said. Speaking of the trend toward bigger tankers, Baxter said there is a nuclear-powered vessel on order in Western Germany, and submarine tankers are also in prospect, although less immediately.

Transport of oil by sea-air operation also is possible, he said — by plastic containers towed by tug, to be emptied and shipped back in packages by air.

In Virginia there are rivers named Cowpasture, Bullpasture and Calfpasture.

Dog Problems Plague Islands in South Seas

FIJI ISLAND, South Pacific — Man's best friend is getting himself disliked throughout the South Pacific, observers report, and anti-dog feeling exists in most of the islands. Fiji is the latest to report it and Suva is attacking the problem.

Stray dogs cause trouble because most Indian sects (a major part of the population) will not take animal life and allow unwanted pups to grow up into nuisances rather than destroy them.

But now most strays have been dealt with by the authorities and it is licensed dogs which roam and make pests of themselves. It is proposed that the Dog Control Unit be empowered to impound them after a certain hour at night.

Daniel Webster's birthplace was Franklin, N. H.

Solves Drink Problem

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Jeweler Max Moses said he asked the obvious question when a man ordered a special wrist watch made with the numerals all sizes. The customer explained: "I never take a drink before six and I want to be ready."

Once Baited Lions

LONDON — Lion baiting by dogs was an ancient sport in England.

Pulling Out of Michigan

Daisy Firm Southbound

PLYMOUTH (AP)—Boom or bust, Don Schroeder is going to be without a job before summer.

His job at the air rifle and toy gun factory of Daisy Manufacturing Co., is leaving this small town on the outskirts of Detroit, heading south to a new location where the company believes the business climate is more favorable.

★ ★ ★

The company's move is like many others. Throughout the south local and state governments and private businessmen are singing a seductive song to the industries of the north. They promise lower wages, lower taxes, perhaps a gift of land or plant facilities, and a bountiful labor supply.

Daisy's executive vice president, Cass Hough, figures the move will save the company $75,000 a year.

Don Schroeder, one of the 670 hourly employes in Daisy's factory, could have gone south with his job, perhaps could have come out of the move with a better job than he has now.

Daisy offered to move him from the packing department and give him a shot at supervisory work. With the offer went a free ticket for Schroeder, his wife, their three children and their household belongings to the new plant outside Rogers, Ark., a small town nestled in the Ozark Mountains near the Oklahoma and Missouri borders.

But Schroeder is not going with the company. He would rather be out of a job for a while in his home town than pack off to a strange community that is 1,000 miles away and full of uncertainties.

The trust fund that Schroeder is planning to use for a cushion is part of a company profit-sharing plan which will be abandoned when the plant opens in Arkansas. In the past the company has divided 30 per cent of its profits with employes. Half of each worker's share went into his pocket as cash. The other half went into a trust fund.

While profit-sharing definitely is out for this year, Hough said it may be reinstated later or may be succeeded by some sort of incentive program, depending on "how things work out down there."

The savings in paying lower wages will be considerable—a cut of 90 cents an hour for 500 employes would add up to $18,000 a week if all worked a 40-hour week—but that is not the only enticing aspect.

For example:

1. The Rogers Chamber of Commerce and the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission pitched in to provide a million-dollar plant with 222,000 square feet of floor space, almost half again the size of Daisy's present 150,000 square-foot plant. This is done on a lease-purchase plan, giving Daisy 15 years to pay off the debt.

2. Despite the million-dollar value of the property, Daisy is getting a promise it will be assessed the first 10 years at only $100,000—10 per cent of real value instead of the 35 to 45 per cent assessment Daisy says it now is taking in Plymouth. The total valuation of the Daisy property in Plymouth is $1,219,855. Hough estimates the Arkansas tax bill will be only one-third the taxes in Michigan.

3. Hough says his company's contribution to State Unemployment Compensation funds in Arkansas will be only 2.7 per cent of his payroll compared with 4 per cent in Michigan.

When Daisy said it was leaving the old vine-covered red brick plant—some sections of it dating back 70 years to the founding of the company—it told employes where they stood.

Supervisors and some skilled workers were invited to go with the company at company expense. The others were told they would be given priority in the hiring at Rogers but they would take the pay cut and the expense of the move would be their own.

★ ★ ★

So far about 20 have indicated they want to go at their own expense. There may be more—or fewer — on hand when the first wheel turns in the new plant about June 1.

While there is some suspicion among those staying behind jobless, there appears to be little bitterness.

Said one man with more than 10 years of Daisy paychecks behind him:

"It's obvious the company needs a new plant. But I don't know why they have to go down there. I've got a feeling there is more to it than meets the eye. I don't know what it is. But I'm not going. I'll take my chances here."

A widow who has been with Daisy 20 years and is planning to go on unemployment relief when the plant closes made no pretense of trying to figure the company's reasoning. She said simply, "They're awfully nice to work for."

Workers Strike at Lockheed

Union Members Vote Not to Accept Offer by Company

MARIETTA, Ga. (AP) — Union members of the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. plant struck and organized picket lines today after turning down a company offer for a new contract.

Hubert Gammon, representative of the International Assn. of Machinists (AFL-CIO), said most of the 2,000 workers on the swing shift left the plant shortly after the midnight strike deadline.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for Lockheed, which employs 13,000 in its Georgia division, said the plant would remain in operation.

Gammon said 93.8 per cent of the 8,000 union members voted to reject yesterday's offer by the company.

Gammon said the strike was called against working conditions. The points in the proposal which were principally rejected, he said, concerned job descriptions, seniority, and restrictions on chairmen and business representatives.

★ ★ ★

Carl Kotchian, vice president and general manager of the Lockheed Georgia division, said the company had offered a fair and liberal contract.

The company said its latest offer would have increased average hourly earnings by more than 21 cents during the first year and by more than 8 cents the second year.

★ ★ ★

Kotchian said proposals rejected would have provided more than 11 million dollars in increased wages for approximately 10,000 hourly employes during the two-year period.

Lockheed builds C130 Hercules prop-jet transports and modified B47 jet bombers at the Georgia plant, about 15 miles north of Atlanta.

Flag Gets Airing

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—The historic flag that flew over Fort Sumter when the first shots of the civil War were fired is back in its hermetically sealed case after being taken out for the first time in 93 years to be photographed in color by the National Park Service.

Tyrone Power Weds Divorcee in Mississippi

TUNICA, Miss. (AP)—Actor Tyrone Power and Mrs. Deborah Montgomery Minardos, 26-year-old divorcee, were married yesterday in this north Mississippi town.

The ceremony was performed in the chapel of the Tunica Presbyterian Church by the pastor, Dr. T. T. Williams.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Rice Hungerford III, mother of the bride, gave her daughter away. Her husband, the bride's stepfather, served as best man. A few relatives and close friends attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Power left Memphis by plane for Los Angeles with an indefinite stopover in Dallas. They had been visiting the Hungerfords at Tunica since Monday.

★ ★ ★

A graduate of Cleveland, Miss., high school, Mrs. Power attended the University of Mississippi in 1951. She was divorced about three years ago from Nico Minardos of Los Angeles.

Power, 44, had been married previously to actresses Annabella and Linda Christian.

Points to Prestige as Only Gain of Man in Space

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — What would be gained by sending a man into space?

Very little, aside from prestige, Dr. Lee A. Dubridge said yesterday. The president of California Institute of Technology told a Red Cross luncheon that a satellite passenger would be "an unmitigated nuisance."

★ ★ ★

"As long as you are measuring things like some cosmic rays, magnetic fields, gravity effects, radio transmission effects, astronomical effects, etc., automatic instruments are necessary anyway, and the human being is quite an unnecessary encumbrance," he said.

★ ★ ★

"Two hundred pounds of scientific instruments could record more data, . . . do not require all the comforts of home and would cause no broken hearts if they did not come back alive."

More than 700,000 persons in the United States are being treated for cancer, the American Cancer Society says.

Anti-Western Editor Slain in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Editor-publisher Nasib Matni, a vehement opponent of the Lebanese government's pro-Western policy, was assassinated today as he arrived at home from his newspaper office.

★ ★ ★

A volley of 11 bullets struck him as he left his car.

The assassins escaped.

Matni was waylaid and severely beaten earlier this year as he left his office.

★ ★ ★

A short and voluble man who published the Daily Telegraph, Matni was a strong supporter of President Nasser and his United Arab Republic.

Bandleader Ordered to Hike Payments

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Buddy Cole's divorced wife says their teen-age daughters need lessons in dancing, singing, modeling and horseback riding and a judge says the bandleader is going to have to pay for them.

★ ★ ★

The court yesterday also awarded increased living expenses of $360 a month for the two girls, Christine, 14, and Cathleen, 13.

The former wife, Yvonne King of the singing King Sisters, had asked that support payments be increased from the present $200 to $500 a month.

★ ★ ★

The Coles divorced in 1953 and each is now remarried. Her present husband is another bandleader, Del Courtney of San Francisco.

Cole is musical director for Bing Crosby and Rosemary Clooney.

Comb Florida Woods for AF Rockets

PERRY, Fla. (AP) — Searchers continued to comb a wooded area south of this north Florida town today in search of the remainder of a number of rockets dropped accidentally by an Air Force jet Tuesday.

Five of the rockets were spotted in a shallow pond yesterday. Five others are believed scattered over an isolated area nearby which has been flooded by recent heavy rains.

★ ★ ★

The area was blocked off because of the possibility that the rocket propellants might explode if the rockets were tampered with. An Air Force demolition team is handling salvage operations.

An F86 sabre jet from Moody Air Force Base, Ga., dropped a rocket pod containing the rockets. The pod was recovered immediately.

NEW JAPAN — Kazuo Kiryu (right), entertaining with his wife Reiko Shimizu, admits he'll help clean the dishes later — unthinkable in a traditional Japanese household.

Japanese Social Customs Steadily Crumble Away

By RELMAN MORIN

TOKYO (AP) — A year ago, a wedding in Tokyo sent another shock-wave through the crumbling social customs of Japan.

The bride and groom were, and still are, both in college.

In the United States, student marriages take place every day. But in Japan, this is something brand new. It represents an almost unbelievable change in Japanese ways.

Before World War II, virtually every marriage in Japan was "arranged" by the parents. The young people were permitted some latitude of choice, but not very much. Then there was the "mi-ai," the "meeting-to-see," and finally, after much supervised formality, the wedding.

★ ★ ★

Today, the Japanese say, about half of all marriages are still arranged. But since the war, "dating" and companionship, American-style, have become common. Young Japanese, having the opportunity to be alone together, decide for themselves who they want to marry.

Even that represented a great break with the past.

The student marriage carries the change one step further.

Kazuo Kiryu is 23. Reiko Shimizu — his wife retains her maiden name — is 22. They both graduate from college this year. He plans to teach, she wants to write and possibly to teach.

TO SAVE TIME

Their decision to be married is a switch on the two-can-live-as-cheaply theory. "We wanted to save time for study," they said. "We were together so much anyway it seemed pointless to be apart."

Their parents objected. Their friends advised them against it. They were reminded that they were not in a position to support themselves.

They finally won over their parents. Just a year ago, they were married.

They now live in a two-room house behind the bride's family home.

Did American movies or books, or the social changes that came with the occupation, influence them?

"No," Reiko said. "But the new constitution of Japan, stressing human rights and individuality, influenced our thinking."

What do they think of the "arranged" marriage.

"In an arranged marriage," Kazuo said, "there is no element of love or respect for the other person. We think the major factor in marriage should be love."

At this moment, Japanese audiences are laughing hilariously at a sequence in a motion picture in which the wife goes to an office every day, leaving the husband at home to cook and clean house. This seems the wildest fiction in a country where, traditionally, the husband is the undisputed master of the family.

But it is no fiction with Reiko and Kazuo.

"He not only helps with the housework," she said. "He does half of it. We agreed on that before we were married. He does the shopping, I do the cooking, and we both keep the house clean."

Times have changed in old Japan.

Radar 'Umbrella' Foreseen for Britain

LONDON, England — One of Britain's new defenses against the threat of enemy rockets will be a revolutionary radar balloon "umbrella," Britons have learned.

★ ★ ★

It will be mounted 30 miles high and partly operated from near-Arctic islets. From that height in the upper stratosphere the radar range would be increased to give almost a half-circular cover of the globe, it is explained. Experts say the West's new "umbrella" could pick up Russian rockets as soon as they were launched.

★ ★ ★

The radar defense screen is a joint Anglo-German team effort.

Radar sets will be carried by a balloon inside another balloon. The crew operating each set will be housed in a room built in the inner balloon.

At New York Coliseum

Hold World Trade Fair

NEW YORK (INS) — Some $60 million worth of imported goods and potential services are on display at the United States World Trade Fair at the New York Coliseum.

It's the biggest exposition of the world's merchandise ever put together in the Western Hemisphere. It includes goods from 60 foreign countries and national pavilions representing everything from a Balinese temple to a streamlined booth for the world's largest electric insulator.

★ ★ ★

At the fair inaugural dinner Tuesday, New York Governor Averell Harriman said that "seven per cent of our national labor force gains its livelihood from foreign trade." He warned against raising barriers to imports and called for increased foreign trade.

C. Douglas Dillon, deputy undersecretary of state for economic affairs, told the Waldorf-Astoria dinner that "trade and more trade is vital to peace and progress."

"This fair," he added, "is designed to stimulate trade. In so doing it will contribute mightily to better international relations. It will contribute to the cause of peace which we are striving to make secure for mankind."

Some 3,000 exhibits are scattered over the nine-acre, four-floor space of the huge coliseum in mid-town Manhattan.

Products displayed range from heavy machinery to housewares, fine silks to rare foods, handicrafts and svelte fashions, gadgets, exotic herbs, musical instruments, furniture, sports equipment and hi-fi components.

The fair runs through Saturday, May 17, but only tradesmen will be admitted on most of the days. The fair will be open to the public on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 9-11, and Friday and Saturday, May 16 and 17.

It is part of a plan to study migrations and changing populations in order to save species which are becoming scarcer. Western European nations started it. Now Professor E. Kumaru, head of the Baltic Commission for Study of Bird Migration, proposes to take a periodical census of the East Baltic, starting this year. Observation points will be set up along the shores of the Gulf of Riga. Many common scoters (North Sea ducks; coots) and longtail ducks pass over the gulf in their spring migration back to their nesting grounds in northern Russia.

A man who could go on the wagon without bragging.

A traffic cop who, before handing you a ticket, actually said, "Where's the fire?" They usually say, "And where do you think you're going?"

The little man who wasn't there.

Anyone who ever knew a simple way to attract a waiter's attention.

A girl who could blow smoke through her nose and still look sophisticated.

An author who ever thought a publisher had done right by his book.

Wife too proud to go through her husband's pockets, particularly on a night when he has returned home after playing poker.

A husband too honorable to peek at his wife's diary.

A politician who ever gave a constituent a free cigar — or anything else.

A candidate who means it from the heart when he says, "I don't care who you vote for, as long as you vote."

A big spender who steps up to the bar and announces, "Drinks for the house — on me."

A woman who would admit she had a normal size foot that could be fitted with a normal size shoe.

Anyone besides Lucy Monroe who could sing all the stanzas of "The Star Spangled Banner" without resorting to humming.

A Boy Scout who ever helped an old man across the street.

A Madison Ave. executive who really says things like, "Let's follow it up the trail a while and see what it eats."

A newspaperman who wore his hat on the back of his head — or cussed out his city editor to his face.

A private detective who leaped into a cab and shouted to the driver, "Follow that car—there's a five-spot in it for you if you don't lose him."

She'll Be 'Better Than Ever'

TV Heart Operation Girl Goes Home in 7 Days

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
INS Medical Science Editor

NEW YORK (INS) — Little Mabel Chin, whose heart operation was seen by thousands of persons on television, will return home within seven days "better than ever."

The three-year-old starlet of the surgical drama slept through it all last night as a team of surgeons corrected a defect in one of her major pipe lines.

★ ★ ★

The silent eye of sterilized TV cameras peeked over the surgeon's shoulders, giving viewers in the New York area a ringside seat to watch the delicate heart surgery.

For the viewers it was a two-hour symphony of gloved hands working deftly in a cavity in a little girl's chest.

Mabel, according to the chief surgeon, will be dismissed from the New York University-Bellevue Medical Center within a week. He forecast her condition would be "better than ever."

★ ★ ★

The tot, who has suffered from the heart defect since birth, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Quong Y. Chin. Another child of the couple, Tommy, 5, had the same trouble and it was corrected by surgery last February.

The defect is said to be the third most common of all congenital heart conditions. The opening in the blood channel normally exists before birth.

If it doesn't close after birth, the heart has to pump much harder to keep blood moving. Persons afflicted rarely live beyond 35 without surgery.

More than 150 surgeons in 30 New York City hospitals perform similar operations hundreds of times in a year. Across the nation hundreds more are done by other surgeons.

The telecast was arranged by the Dumont Network in cooperation with the New York Heart Assn. to familiarize the public with the modern miracle of heart surgery.

Calls for Sacrifices to Reverse Slump

ST. LOUIS (UP)—The business recession can be reversed by the passage of time and personal sacrifice, says the new president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

★ ★ ★

William A. McDonnell said last night that persons in every segment of the economy must make some sacrifices, "the owner in lower profits, the manager in harder work, some workers in temporary unemployment, other workers in giving up increased wage demands and the farmer in less subsidies."

★ ★ ★

The St. Louis banker said the U. S. economic situation is an inevitable aftermath of World War II. The Korean War delayed its arrival, then "We came to a point where the people's wants were saturated," he said.

★ ★ ★

The downward movement cannot be reversed overnight, he said, and a lift in the nation's economy needs "mainly the passage of time."

★ ★ ★

He said he believed that even in the midst of recession, inflation "remains our greatest long-term threat."

McConnell spoke at a dinner given in his honor.

Balloonist Unable to Study Stars Adequately

Twinkling Remains a Mystery

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—An ages-old mystery of the heavens that stumped the cavemen turned out just as puzzling to two stratosphere-skimming space scientists.

Astronomer Alfred Mikesell said his stargazing from a balloon at 40,000 feet did not reveal why stars twinkle.

Mikesell, 44, went up with Navy Cmdr. Malcolm Ross to find out at what levels of the atmosphere the stars stop twinkling. In order to do it he needed a steady fix with his telescope.

But the small fiberglass basket in which he and Ross were perched spun constantly and made precise observation difficult.

At 40,000 feet he found the stars shine steadily. This had been discovered before. What Mikesell hoped to find was the exact altitude at which the earth's atmosphere makes starlight seem to twinkle.

Astronomers generally agree that the twinkling is the result of turbulence in the earth's atmosphere. Mikesell says finding out the specific cause would help scientists predict the speed and direction of winds in the upper reaches of the atmosphere.

Mikesell and Ross brought their balloon down near Dubuque yesterday after an 11-hour flight from northern Minnesota.

Among other things they learned man could survive at temperatures of 75 degrees below zero which prevailed during their 1¾ hours at 40,000 feet.

The ascent provided the first test of a technique which may be used to measure the physical reactions of men circling the earth in satellites.

★ ★ ★

Information was radioed back to the ground and relayed to Washington for analysis. The balloonists suffered no ill effects from the flight, although instruments recorded a change in the heartbeat of one for a few minutes. This may have been caused when a mechanical breathing device was turned on.

Ike, Mamie Hold Dinner in Honor of High Court

WASHINGTON (UP) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower entertain tonight at a White House state dinner in honor of Chief Justice Earl Warren and the Supreme Court.

Atty. Gen. William Rogers will be among some 70 guests at the formal dinner.

The affair originally was scheduled as one of six state dinners that comprise the White House social season held in the early part of the year. It was postponed because of the death of the President's brother Arthur Eisenhower.

About 200 additional guests, including judges of lower courts in the Washington area, have been invited to a musicale after the dinner.

She Didn't Forget

DALLAS (UP)—A widow paid St Paul's Hospital $100 for care her husband received 18 years ago, telling Sister Mary Helen, hospital supervisor, she had been saving money since then to make the payment.

Foes on Foreign Aid Rap Lack of Friends, Security

WASHINGTON (UP)—A minority report urging drastic cuts in President Eisenhower's foreign aid program says, "These tax dollars have purchased neither friends nor the desired security."

The statement was filed by four members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee dissenting from the group's 22-5 vote approving a $3,603,000,000 aid measure.

★ ★ ★

The majority headed by Committee Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa) said a drastic aid cut would lose the cold war for America.

Signing the minority report were Republican Representatives Marguerite Stitt Church (Ill), E. Ross Adair (Ind) and Alvin M. Bentley (Mich) and Democratic Rep. J. L. Pilcher (Ga). The name of the fifth "no" voter was not given out.

The minority said the United States has poured nearly 49 billion dollars worth of aid abroad since 1948 without a payoff in world peace and security or understanding of America.

This year's committee cut of 339 million dollars below the amount Eisenhower requested is far less than slashes voted in many other years, the dissenters said.

The report hit particularly at what it said was loss of congressional control over the program and at "massive amounts of assistance to those who are either neutral or who lean toward the Soviet Union."

It cited shipments of nylon stockings to Korea and band instruments to Turkey under military aid programs as examples of waste uncovered in the overseas assistance effort.

★ ★ ★

"The only recourse left to the Congress," the minority said, "is to reduce drastically authorizations and appropriations and thereby compel the executive branch to re-evaluate its programs and to eliminate those which are overfunded."

Conduct Survey About Happiness in Wedded Life

CALCUTTA — To determine on what factors matrimonial happiness depends in India, Calcutta University's Psychology Department undertook a survey among the professional class.

Opinions differed as to whether happiness depends on health, beauty, age, wealth, religion or caste. Men think the emotional makeup of women is the first criterion to determine whether a family will be happy.

Next come education and beauty; health is a guiding factor along with age. Caste, wealth and religion do not play as prominent parts in men's choice of partners as they once did, the men's answers showed.

★ ★ ★

Women find fascination in the educational qualifications of their husbands and put the highest premium on these. Next in order with women come health, looks, age, religion, wealth and caste. Women do not like their husbands to be of lower castes.

Punks Should Swing to Bach 'n' Beethoven

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — It has been suggested, by certain bright hopefuls in this racy town, that the way to slow down delinquency is to return to that real, old-time punishment: Make the kids take music lessons.

They quoted a maxim from the days when fathers used the switch, instead of boys using the switchblade: "A man that has a taste of music . . . is like one that has another sense, when compared with such as have no relish of those arts." And sense, son, is what police and teachers and parents have not succeeded in beating into our growing horde of beardless monsters.

IDEA GOOD

I think it's a good idea, remembering my own giddy youth. My parents were, and still are, excellent musicians and from the time I had a finger spread of one-third octave I was doomed to practice piano instead of mingling with the potential arson and mayhem crowd.

Of course, I despised the whole business but, looking back, I see that Bach and his damnable three part inventions kept me from inventions of a wilder sort which juveniles are prone to.

Besides, there was a childlike sort of loyalty to the family piano. Little girls all have a "secret heart," and in mine I felt a sense of responsibility to uphold culture while the other kids made fun of it. I muttered under my breath while practicing, but boasted in loud tones when away from the instrument of torture.

MUSIC NEEDED

The delinquents of today might not know it, but they would love this new form of opportunity for bragging. Obviously, they need music. "Rock 'n' roll" and its amazingly long-lived popularity prove that the kids need release from nervous tension and find it in a beat.

"Monotony is cured by music with a strong beat," said Dr. Edward Goldoisky, an expert in music therapy, "and so is worry."

* * *

But careful tests have shown that sprightly music not only reduces fatigue and worry — it also increases an individual's strength. It explains a lot, doesn't it? The youth of today, hopped up on a diet of r-r, are too strong for the adult population. They need to have their musical beat refined and slowed to an andante, and I can't think of any surer way of accomplishing this than making them struggle through scales.

The chief problem is, of course, that many — perhaps most — of the parents of delinquent youth cannot afford pianos. Or even, probably second-hand cheap violins.

But they needn't raise their boy to be a Paderewski. Even an inexpensive instrument may be the first move toward getting him in off the streets . . . after all, his parents made Dwight Eisenhower learn the harmonica, and he turned out pretty good.

About 60 per cent of all the world's farm tractors are in use on U. S. farms.

Register Processes 2,353 Documents

There were 2,353 deeds processed through the Oakland County Register of Deeds office during the month of April, according to Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr.

Murphy said his office handled 11,906 papers last month which brought in $16,490 in revenue to the county. This compares to 12,430 papers ($18,919) which went through the office in April of 1957.

The April 1958 breakdown of papers was: 2,353 deeds ($3,870); 5,877 mortgages ($8,410); 1,779 photos ($1,373); 11 bills of sale ($5.50); 1,886 miscellaneous papers ($2,830).

Pleven Puts Up Cabinet Slate

To Ask Assembly OK on New Government for France Tomorrow

PARIS (AP)—Rene Pleven completed his slate for a new French Cabinet today with a delicate political balancing act on France's most delicate problem — the war in Algeria.

The 57-year-old moderate politician, who has served as premier twice before, will ask the National Assembly tomorrow to approve his right - of - center slate as France's 25th postwar government.

★ ★ ★

Sixteen hours of painful parliamentary horse-trading went into the list of ministers. The main battle raged around Pleven's choice for minister of defense, who directs the Algerian war.

Pleven finally settled on Andre Morice, leader of a rightist splinter group who has been demanding a tougher fight against the Algerian rebels.

★ ★ ★

When Morice served as defense minister in the Bourges-Maunoury Cabinet last summer he inaugurated a policy of "hot pursuit" of the rebels, even into neighboring Tunisia. In line with this, French planes bombed a Tunisian border village in February and touched off a series of diplomatic events which led to the fall of Felix Gaillard's Cabinet April 16.

Morice's appointment is a concession to the conservatives who tossed out Gaillard. But it may face trouble from liberal groups in Parliament who are urging a more conciliatory tone toward the rebels.

To replace Socialist Robert Lacoste, resident minister for Algeria for more than two years, Pleven named another conservative, Andre Mutter. Mutter was expected to continue Lacoste's policy of vigorous prosecution of the war coupled with slight and gradual political reforms. Lacoste had to drop out because the Socialists boycotted Cabinet participation although they will vote to install Pleven.

Pleven will be his own foreign minister.

HONOR MAN—Memorial Day this year will see the interment at Arlington National Cemetery of two new Unknown Soldiers—one from World War II and one from the Korean War. The former will be chosen by Navy Hospital Corpsman William R. Charette (above), of Ludington, Mich., a Navy Medal of Honor winner. He will choose between two bodies, one from the European-African theater, the other from the Pacific theater. The ceremony will take place aboard the guided missile cruiser Canberra, 25 miles off Chesapeake Bay. Charette is a veteran of the Korean War.

He Learns the Power of Write-In Vote Drive

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—John Ashbrook, national chairman of the Young Republican clubs and state representative from Licking County, has a personal knowledge of the power of a write-in vote.

Ashbrook, of nearby Johnstown, was dropped from the Ohio primary ballot in February on a technicality. But he campaigned for write-in votes.

★ ★ ★

He not only got the GOP nomination Tuesday to succeed himself in the Ohio House, getting 3,376 Republican votes, or 64 per cent of the total Republican votes cast in Licking County, but he also:

★ ★ ★

Received 35 votes for the GOP gubernatorial nomination, more than 100 for congressman, more than 200 for Democratic state representative, and votes for every other state office except attorney general.

Summit Talks 'Unnecessary'

Acheson Says Confab Would Be Undesirable and Dangerous

DURHAM, N.H. (AP)—Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson said today a summit conference now would be unnecessary, undesirable and dangerous.

In any event, he said, President Eisenhower should stay away from future international meetings with the Soviets.

★ ★ ★

If high-level talks are necessary, he said, "the President should have another representative."

Past summit meetings have ended in frustrating failures, diplomatic disaster or political comedy, Acheson said in an address prepared for a student audience at the University of New Hampshire.

The Geneva summit meeting in 1955 "was not merely a failure, it was a fraud," said Acheson. "It brought relaxation to the West just when the need was for endurance."

★ ★ ★

Acheson said "the world situation is too fluid" to permit any settlements now. "Furthermore, the conference at the summit is an instrumentality by which the Russians plainly believe they can speed the disintegration of the Western position without incurring risk. It offers the unique opportunity to carry on the cold war in the name of peace.."

★ ★ ★

He said the President — and the secretary of state — should not be personally involved in "political warfare" surrounding such sessions.

"The makers of ultimate decisions must be insulated a little from the negotiators themselves. They must remain detached," he said.

Chemise 'Hides Sins'

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—One time silent screen siren Gloria Swanson says the chemise fits grandma just right. Gloria herself proudly admits to 59. Now turned fashion designer, she told a department store audience the chemise—inelegantly dubbed the sack—"hides a multitude of sins."

Pregnant Possibilities Facing Frog's Owner

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. (AP)—They stared intently at the frog. The frog, its bug-eyed lids half lowered, looked sleepy and unconcerned.

"No question about it," said Dr. Dante L. Alvasio yesterday. "That frog is pregnant."

★ ★ ★

This was anything but good news to Bror W. Lander, former Swedish army corporal. He brought the frog — Rolli — all the way from Stockholm to this onetime gold rush mining camp 110 miles east of San Francisco. Rolli is Sweden's entry in the international frog jump here May 15-18.

"What can we do?" Lander asked anxiously.

★ ★ ★

"Well, in this delicate condition there isn't much we can do," said Dr. Alvasio, medical officer of the Calaveras County Fair. "We could induce ovulation with an injection from the pituitary gland of another frog."

Ovulation means laying eggs. A frog can lay about 5,000.

"But would it be in time?"

"It would take about a week. As it is, we can't with certainty predict just when this frog will ovulate—maybe before the jump, maybe after."

★ ★ ★

So Lander went to Turlock, Calif., in the San Joaquin Valley to seek a possible substitute for Rolli. Qualifying jumps in the 32nd Jumping Frog Jubilee begin a week from today—and Rolli may be happily laying her eggs then.

Lander, a former member of the United Nations force that patrolled the Gaza Strip in the Middle East, is seeking help from Frank McNeff of Turlock, an Irish Swede and frog fancier.

Meanwhile, Dr. Alvasio prescribed mild exercise and a diet of hamburger, cooked brown, for the expectant Rolli.

The international jubilee is held annually to commemorate Mark Twain's famous story, "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County." His story concerned two slickers from New York's Bowery who fed buckshot to the champion jumping frog of Angels Camp — and how they cleaned out the town's bewhiskered gamblers.

★ ★ ★

Dem Leaders Seek to Drop Rep. Powell

NEW YORK (AP) — Tammany Hall district leaders in Harlem are about ready to drop Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. from the Democratic ticket this year.

★ ★ ★

But the Negro congressman-clergyman declares, "I am definitely in the race to the finish."

Powell, seeking his eighth two-year term in Congress, added that he had been aware of the efforts to dump him.

Six of the seven Democratic leaders in Powell's congressional district are reported to have agreed on giving him the skids.

★ ★ ★

The leaders scheduled a meeting today with Carmine G. DeSapio, leader of Tammany Hall, the Manhattan Democratic organization. The purpose was to pick a candidate to oppose Powell in the party's Aug. 12 primary election.

Many Democratic leaders have been gunning for Powell since he actively supported President Eisenhower in the 1956 campaign because of the segregation issue.

In 1956 there were approximately 700,000 engineers in the U. S. This is an increase of a third over 1950.

Chemises Turn Women Into 'Sacked' Potatoes

DURHAM, N. H. (AP) — Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson threw diplomacy to the wind today and criticized chemise dresses.

★ ★ ★

"There are fashions in everything, even in horrors, as the appearance of the chemise dress makes us so acutely aware," he said in a University of New Hampshire lecture on "A Study in Diplomatic Method."

★ ★ ★

Wind Carrying Mail?

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — Jerome Hirschberg, who received two air mail postcards from Texas, is wondering whether they came by plane or on the prevailing winds. Hirschberg, president of the Selbar Optical Co. here, said the cards were mailed in Amarillo last January. The cards contained orders, he said.

Stain Repellent Liquid Keeps Clothes Clean

MINNEAPOLIS — A stain-repellent liquid discovered by a Minneapolis firm is said to repel oils and water and to blot up ink and milk from certain fabrics and suede leathers.

The colorless liquid, derived by electrolysis from fluorspar rock, is used to treat certain fabrics during their finishing process. The protective effect is said to last through five dry cleanings.

Divers Locate Keel of Bounty

Photographer, 2 Aides Discover Historic Ship Encrusted in Limestone

WASHINGTON—A free diver off lonely Pitcairn Island has discovered the long-hidden grave of Captain Bligh's BOUNTY.

Luis Marden, the National Geographic Society's veteran undersea photographer, found the ship's remains about 30 feet down in turbulent Bounty Bay. He was living on the South Pacific isle to collect material for a story and to make a color film about descendants of the mutineers.

The famous old armed transport vanished from history on January 23, 1790, when Fletcher Christian burned and scuttled it to keep from being discovered in exile.

Mr. Marden was helped in a six-week search for the Bounty's resting place by two Pitcairners whom he trained to use an Aqua-Lung—21-year-old Tom Christian, a great-great-great-grandson of Fletcher Christian, and Tom's brother-in-law, Len Brown.

★ ★ ★

"Every day of reasonable calm we filled the air cylinders and dived," reports Mr. Marden. "We nearly plowed furrows with our chins in the bottom. But at first we found nothing."

"Then I came unexpectedly on a long, sandy trench," Mr. Marden continues. "The end nearest me was covered with white limestone secreted by calcareous algae—lithothamnion, a stonemaking plant—and I could see little squiggles in the surface, a curious marking that resembled nothing so much as petrified worms.

"I thrust my face closer, almost touching the bottom. My heart gave a jump. The squiggles were encrusted sheathing nails—BOUNTY nails—dozens of them. I looked up for Len. He was just above me, staring questioningly. I reached up my hand for his, pumped it violently, and pointed. He looked up grinning and nodding, and we shook hands again.

"We had found the resting place of the BOUNTY."

Beyond, along the line of the ship's keel, Mr. Marden found hull fittings, an oarlock, and fragments of copper with which the Bounty had been sheathed. Carbonized wood clung to the metal fastenings. All these objects were covered with limestone and had to be cut free with a cold chisel and hammer.

Later, while Mr. Marden was still on Pitcairn, Irving Johnson's globe-circling yacht Yankee paid a call. By good fortune, crewman Wilford Fawcett spotted one of the Bounty's anchors in 50 feet of water outside.

No one apparently had seen any part of the Bounty since 1933 when Parkin Christian, a great-grandson of Fletcher, spotted a rudder lying some distance, as it turned out, from the keel itself. Parkin grappled the rudder to the surface, and it is preserved in the Fiji Museum on Suva.

WIRED FOR JUST ABOUT EVERYTHING—Irwin Dresner's car has hi-fi, long and short range radio transmitters, intercom — and can be started by voice from Irwin's bedroom.

Comlete With Woofer, Tweeter, Squawker

Hi-Fi Auto Starts Up With a Word

NEW YORK (NEA) — Now, this whole thing is quite logical if you just put your mind to it.

★ ★ ★

Irwin Marvin Dresner is an all-Bronx, 29-year-old man who has installed a 120-volt electrical outlet in his car.

"Suppose," he said, "I go on a picnic. I have this outlet for my portable television set or phonograph or my tape recorder."

He has also built and installed a battery of pre-amplifiers in his car.

"They're for the amplifier," he said, which he has also built and installed in his car.

Why? Because anybody knows you need pre-amplifiers and an amplifier for a hi-fi set of speakers — Woofer, tweeter, squawker and midrange — which he has also built and installed in his car.

★ ★ ★

Occasionally Dresner prefers radio to records, so he has built an FM and an AM tuner and installed them in his car. While they are technically perfect, they give a very meager light, so he has built and installed an intercom system (two microphones and speakers) in his car.

"Sure," he said. "Suppose I'm on a dark road and somebody wants to ask me directions. I can hear him and tell him without rolling down my window and putting myself in jeopardy."

The intercom system, he pointed out, is also handy on rainy nights for telling gas station attendants how much gas you want.

★ ★ ★

Dresner has also built a VHF transmitter for his car. This has a broadcasting range of about 150 miles.

"Suppose," he said, "I get lost on a dark road, like in Connecticut or somewhere. I just call a ham radio operator and ask directions."

There's an HF transmitter in his car from his bedroom ham cast to any place in the world.

"It's a great saving," he said. "Suppose I'm in the Arctic or in Japan and I want to call my folks. I just make contact with a ham operator in New York and he plugs into his telephone patch to my folks and the whole thing becomes just a local call."

★ ★ ★

A stall-indicator tells him that within the next five seconds his car will stall, and a back-up indicator to let him know he's in reverse gear.

At crucial places amidst his motor, Dresner has built an emergency power supply, a network of relays, a noise filter and spark plug suppressor. In the trunk is a test system for the whole works.

Once all this basic equipment was installed, he explained, it was child's play to set up an automatic car starter. And so, on cold mornings, he radios to his carfrom his bedroom ham station, and through a series of impulses and solenoids, the car starts itself and notifies him that everything's all right.

Dresner figures he has spent about $7,000 worth of time and materials on his car in the past four years — most of it when he was stationed in Japan or working in the Arctic. Now he has to use weekend and spare time.

★ ★ ★

But that doesn't cut into his other activities. He's a graduate of a hypnosis school where he learned to keep himself abreast of his interests through sleep-learning, which can be a great time-saver.

He still finds time, too, for seeing science fiction movies and dating girls.

Hollywood Headlines

Forrest Tucker Crashes Barrier of 'B' Pictures

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene—

It was a tough fight but Forrest Tucker has crashed through the "B" picture barrier.

The tall, blond leading man has the happy role of Beauregard Jackson Pickett Burnside, loving husband of Rosalind Russell in "Auntie Mame." It is his first venture into the big time after a career in the "B" hive at Republic Studios.

★ ★ ★

"I can hardly believe it's happening to me," he said on the set, a replica of Macy's department store where he meets Mame.

Forrest credits the persistence of a Warner Brothers casting man for getting him the role. The bosses couldn't see him in the role at first; after running 20 of his films, they were convinced.

As you might guess, Tucker plays a Southerner. It comes easy to him. Though born in Plainfield, Ind., he went to high school in Virginia and served with the army in Alabama. His accent will sound like the real thing to y'all . . .

★ ★ ★

Lucille Ball may drop Lucy for the first time in eight years. She has her eye on a Garson Kanin script which will be included in the new Desilu Playhouse series. Besides hosting the series, Desi Arnaz may also play an occasional dramatic role that will take him away from Ricky Ricardo.

In announcing the 12-million-dollar deal, Desi emphasized that it's for TV alone. I asked him if he had any ideas of theater releases for the 48 one-hour shows he will make.

★ ★ ★

"None at all," he said. "Long ago I decided that TV has been very good to me, and I'm going to be loyal to it. Everything we do is with the home audience in mind. If something comes out of it later for theaters, that's okay. But I never planned it that way" . . .

'Livelihood Day' Pays Tribute to State Industries

LANSING (AP) — Industry, labor, the tourist business and agriculture were to be saluted in today's "Our Livelihood Day" celebration of the 1958 Michigan week.

Open house at industrial plants and ceremonies honoring workers were planned by many communities.

A three-day celebration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the General Motors Oldsmobile and Fisher Body plants was opened at Lansing.

Oldsmobile provides the largest source of industrial employment for the capital city, has the contract for supplying cars for the police force, sends the Michigan State bands on trips and otherwise has become a part of the community.

A "Dance of the Decades" musical show at the Civic Center in the evening will be followed by street dancing. Thursday activities will include a parade and commemoration ceremonies at the R. E. Olds monument. A testimonial banquet and civil salute Friday will wind up the celebration.

Bites Onto Jackpot

BUCKNER, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Jack Hensley bought a can of oysters and prepared them as a birthday treat for her husband. As they were eating the oysters, Mrs. Hensley bit on something hard and removed a pearl from her mouth. A jeweler appraised its value at $250.

Blames Unions' Wage Demands

Romney Says Price Tags on Cars May Go Higher

DETROIT (AP)—George Romney, president of American Motors Corp., says, "The car buyers of the nation need to know that the outlook is for higher car prices—not lower car prices."

★ ★ ★

Romney said the wage demands of the United Auto Workers and other unions are to blame.

The AMC executive made the statement in attacking a proposal by Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill), that federal excise taxes on cars be cut on condition the manufacturers cut prices.

Romney said, "Well-meaning but impractical proposals such as the one just made by Sen. Douglas are retarding the nation's return to full economic health and growth . . . It is time for the country to stop ducking some of its real problems."

Romney's statement disclosed that AMC is standing pat on its proposal to the UAW for a two-year freeze on wages and fringe benefits. The company claims its wage costs average several cents higher than at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

The UAW has rejected the AMC proposal. It has presented AMC the same demands made upon the Big Three.

The union has rejected Big Three proposals for a two-year renewal of the wage formula in the present contract. This would give workers an annual productivity increase of at least 6 cents an hour plus cost of living allowances.

★ ★ ★

Romney said the prospect for higher car prices "is increased by the auto union's insistence upon further wage increases this year, and any proposal that ignores the impact of rising wages on costs and prices, is devoid of economic balance and practicality."

Pontiac Man Guilty in Check Burglary

A Circuit Court jury yesterday found 30-year-old Joseph Kochan, of Pontiac, guilty of burglarizing 285 blank payroll checks from a Walled Lake ice cream and milk plant last January.

The burglary later involved Mrs. Betty Lou Harris, 23, of 241 W. Ann Arbor Ave., who pleaded guilty Feb. 27 to passing $1,320 worth of the stolen checks in area supermarkets. She is to be sentenced Monday.

Mrs. Harris, widowed mother of two children, took the stand yesterday to tell how Kochan, of 164½ Baldwin Ave., and his brother Stephen, 29, of 1113 N. Oak St., Rochester, came to her house after the break-in with the bundle of checks.

The younger Kochan, who earlier stood mute to the charge of breaking and entering, pleaded guilty April 1 to the charge. He will be sentenced along with Mrs. Harris.

Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty set the sentencing of Joseph Kochan for May 19.

Disabling eye injuries cost industry in the United States 20 million dollars annually, says the Better Vision Institute.

Five Nurses of Area at Regional Conference

Four Pontiac and one Birmingham registered nurses attended a one-day regional conference of the Michigan State Nurses Assn. in Birmingham this week for district officers.

Those from Pontiac included: Mrs. Daphne Giglio, Mrs. Esther Sherrod, Mary C. Millenbach, and Mrs. Dalsa Salton. Mrs. Anyce Gillette of Birmingham also attended.

The conference was planned to assist districts and discuss improving standards of nursing practice, promoting the welfare of nurses and meeting the increasing demands for nursing service.

Insects Demand All Comforts

Butterflies in Captivity Called Lazy, Flirtatious Stubborn

WASHINGTON — Butterflies, for all their fragility, can be stubborn as mules.

They are also lazy, flirtatious, and as finicky about their food as spoiled children.

DEMAND COMFORTS

In captivity, the flighty insects demand all the comforts of home, excellent food, suitable companionship, a maternity ward, nursery and baby-sitting service. Occasionally, torn wings must be patched with sticky tape.

These findings, with others of wide scientific value, have been reported in the National Geographic Magazine by Miss Jocelyn Crane of the Department of Tropical Research, New York Zoological Society.

Miss Crane keeps a flock of butterflies for research, and finds it as hard as running a resort hotel. Her flock resides in "Flutter Inn," an aluminum cage on the Caribbean island of Trinidad. She is studying butterfly heredity, how well the insects see and smell, and what part these senses play in their lives.

PAINTING LILY

Some of the techniques involved "painting the lily." One species under study is black with gauzy red-orange splotches on its wings.

Miss Crane has painted over these spots with various colors after knocking out the butterfly with a whiff of carbon dioxide.

She finds that although scent and movement are important to the mating urge, color also is a factor. With wing patches painted a shade similar to the natural color, a female attracts many suitors.

★ ★ ★

With green or blue spots, however, she is less popular. Females whose wing markings have been obliterated by black paint become complete wallflowers. Other experiments involve the use of fake butterflies, made from painted felt, to rule out the effects of scent.

Like people, butterflies go in for light flirtation. After a brief chase, a few flutterings and swoops, each party may go its own way.

Eating habits are a problem to a butterfly - farmer. Some species dine only on the nectar of certain plants. Others touch nothing but decaying fruit. Jungle plants grow in the cage, but Miss Crane must supplement the diet by bringing around orchids in season, cut flowers, bananas, papaws, and mangoes.

★ ★ ★

Sense of smell leads many a butterfly to dinner, but some depend much more on sight. They will refuse to sup on a flower if its color is hidden, even though its scent permeates the area.

No Misunderstanding

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (UP) — Fire Chief R. J. Mathieson felt that immigrants were smoking in prohibited areas because they couldn't understand English. He now has posted 200 signs which say "no smoking" in 25 different languages.

Upgrade Back-Seat Driver to Co-Pilot and Live Longer

From National Safety Council

Want to live longer?

Here's one method: Become buddies with that person fidgeting in the back seat of your car — or right there beside you, for that matter.

"Two heads are better than one when they're behind the wheel of a car," the National Safety Council says. It believes that the so-called back-seat driver may hold the solution to the traffic accident problem.

"We're in favor of motorists combining their driving knowledge and skill with the help other passengers in the car can give," the Council says.

It agrees that the term "back-seat driver" has a bad connotation. The motorist who's been subjected to nagging "advice" from the rear understandably takes a dim view of interference with his driving.

"But with the proper spirit on both sides, backseat drivers can be a real help," the Council says.

How?

1. Let your wife, for example, who used to sit with nothing to do on a trip, be your co-pilot. Her observations — a car sneaking out from a side street, a quick turn in the road ahead — can take a big load off your mind.

2. Studies show that the irritated driver is more accident prone. The wife can help hubby cool off when he's upset over slow - moving cars or heavy traffic.

3. Giving other persons in your car something to keep them from getting bored makes the trip go faster for both of you — and keeps friction at a minimum.

★ ★ ★

"In addition to her lookout duties, the back-seat driver can handle many other details to make motoring more relaxing," the Council says.

"Let her light your cigarette, keep down the roar of your kids in the back seat, and chart your course. There are a thousand and one things she can do for you while you're driving.

"Successful businessmen well know the value of delegating authority. Yet, behind the wheel of a car an executive will try to handle the whole job of driving — often with disastrous results.

"Why do all the work, when minor parts of the job can be handled just as well by your wife?" the Council asks.

★ ★ ★

"Bringing the back - seat driver up front with you — in other words, giving her responsibilities on a trip — eases your job of driving.

★ ★ ★

"It may save a life — yours or the life of the back - seat driver who used to get on your nerves."

AMA Urges Caution Using Thallium Sulfate

CHICAGO—An American Medical Association committee recommends that the use of thallium sulfate as a pesticide should be restricted to persons familiar with its hazards and trained in its handling.

The compound is a heavy, white, water-soluble salt. The A.M.A. says its recommendation was prompted by the occurrence, within six months, of more than 60 cases of thallium poisoning, including three deaths of small children in Texas.

TEXAS SHELL GAME — You might know a Texas hen would do it. Linda Dallas, Texas Christian University student, compares a giant egg with an average one. The big egg was laid by a hen owned by W. L. Gatlin, of Grandview, Tex. It measures 8½ inches around the middle, 10 inches the long way and weighs seven ounces. The smaller egg was rated "extra large" by normal standards.

Teacher Urges Calm in Post-Sputnik Era

BOULDER, Colo. (INS) — There is one educator in the country who refuses to be stampeded by all the talk about failures in his field since the advent of the Russian satellites.

★ ★ ★

Harl R. Douglass, director of the college of education at Colorado University, urges parents to find out exactly how youngsters are being taught in local schools.

★ ★ ★

He wants the parents to consult with superintendents, principals and members of boards of education before allowing themselves to be aroused by what he calls, "sensationalism and propaganda."

Ike Won't Find Much Support

Few Republicans Likely to Campaign in Fall on Basis of Defense Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower appears unlikely to find many Republicans campaigning for re-election this fall on the basis of support for his defense reorganization, foreign aid and reciprocal trade programs.

Although Eisenhower has indicated their record on these proposals may determine whether he tries to aid individual congressional candidates, political leaders generally expect economic conditions to become the prime issue.

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt) said that despite the President's emphasis on national programs, he thinks most GOP candidates and their Democratic opponents will "campaign on their claims of what they can do for their states or districts."

★ ★ ★

"It seems to me that it is almost inevitable business conditions will be better next fall than they are now," Aiken said. "If they aren't, Republicans are going to be in trouble."

Aiken said there is a question in his mind about how much Eisenhower could help individual candidates by campaigning personally for them.

★ ★ ★

"I think the value of any endorsement by the chief executive is overrated," Aiken said. "The voters resent having anyone tell them what they ought to do."

Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) said in a separate interview that if he decides to run again this year—and he is expected to—he will campaign primarily on the record of what he has done in the Senate in behalf of Utah.

Delay Expected on Tax Report

Special Group Studying Problem Won't Issue Proposals Before Fall

LANSING (AP) — Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton) sees little chance his special legislative committee studying the state tax structure will come up with any recommendations before fall.

When the survey started, Conlin foresaw at least a preliminary report by early summer. A 28-member Citizens Advisory Committee has been working closely with the legislative group.

★ ★ ★

"With 15 research reports in, we've got six more to go and won't be through with the phase until next month," he said yesterday.

After that, it will be hard to get committee members together in a force because of vacations until September.

The chairman regards a staff study on "taxes and industrial location" as one of the most significant still to be submitted.

It was this subject which kicked up a big political furor during the 1957 legislative session and indirectly led to organization of the tax study.

The next meeting of the legislative group and its Citizens Advisory Committee has been set for June 11 in Detroit.

RIJEKA, Yugoslavia (INS) — Josip Ferenbauer, 50, was striken with illness after leaving a local hospital where he had donated blood.

Rushed back to the hospital, he was found to have an internal hemorrhage. His life was saved with his own blood, previously contributed, which was of a rare type.

Mealtime Adventures Hinge on Toast

Food should always be an exciting adventure. In springtime when "a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love" and his lady's to a brand new wardrobe, it is time to spruce up menus also. You'll find new dishes do wonders for the family and make preparing meals more fun for you, too. To add color and sparkle to any and every meal, enriched yeast-raised bread lends itself to many new twists.

FOR BREAKFAST

Banana Toast

Grated rind of 1 orange
¼ cup orange juice
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
6 slices enriched yeast-raised bread
Butter or margarine
2 bananas, sliced
Lemon juice

Combine beaten eggs, milk, salt juice, sugar and cinnamon. Trim crusts from bread. Spread bread with butter or margarine. Cover with the orange mixture. Dip banana slices in lemon juice and arrange on toast. Broil about 3 minutes until the bananas are tinged with brown. Makes 6 servings.

FOR LUNCH:

Cheese French Toast

2 eggs, beaten slightly
1 cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce
6 slices enriched yeast-raised bread
½ cup margarine or butter
1½ cups grated Cheddar cheese

Combine beaten eggs, milk, salt and Worcestershire in a shallow bowl. Melt margarine or butter in a skillet. Dip bread in egg mixture. Brown bread on one side. Turn. Sprinkle with cheese. Remove when cheese is melted and the underside brown. Serve immediately.

FOR SUPPER:

Curried Chicken & Olives on Toast

1 tablespoon butter
⅓ cup sliced onions
1 can condensed cream of celery soup
½ cup milk
¼ to ½ teaspoon curry powder
1 cup slivered ripe olives
1 cup diced cooked chicken
½ slices enriched yeast-raised bread
¼ cup chopped pecans

Melt butter in a skillet. Add onions and saute until tender. Stir in celery soup, milk and curry powder. Then stir in olives and chicken. Cook until heated through. Toast the bread. Spoon on the heated filling. Sprinkle with chopped pecans. Makes 6 servings.

Dill Seeds Head Seasoning List

Even the plebian meat loaf can be glamorized when it's given an unusual and delicate flavor with a dash of dill seed.

Grandma's Meat Loaf

1 pound lean ground beef
4 saltines, crushed
1 small onion, minced
1 tablespoon minced parsley
½ teaspoon (or more) dill seed
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup tomato juice
1 clove garlic

Rub loaf pan with cut clove garlic. Toss ingredients together very lightly, adding half of tomato juice last. Spoon carefully into baking pan; do not pack. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes, then pour over rest of tomato juice. Bake about 15 minutes longer.

Popover recipes that call for two eggs to one cup of flour, will give a better product than those that call for only one egg to one cup of flour.

Hurry-up Creamed Meat

When luncheon menus call for a hurry-up offering, combine one 10½-ounce can cream of chicken soup with an equal volume of milk, ½ teaspoon crumbled whole basil leaves and a dash of salt and black pepper. Heat thoroughly. Stir in a 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained and sauteed with 1 cup left-over diced ham, pork or chicken in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Serves 3.

Ancient Spice Performs Flavor Tricks

No seasoning is more in tune with springtime's eating mood than the spice mustard. Known in culinary circles as a flavor booster, its warm pungency picks up meat, fish and vegetable dishes, adds zip to salad dressings and cocktail dips. And—hold your hat—a little powdered dry mustard performs flavor magic in gingerbread! We know a lady who has built a gingerbread reputation on this little known trick.

★ ★ ★

Mustard is available in three forms — powdered dry mustard (sometimes called mustard flour), seed and prepared mustard, a mixture of ground mustard, salt, vinegar, spices and other condiments.

Mustard has been known to man since prehistoric times. Of its several mentions in the Bible, probably the most quoted is, "if ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, nothing shall be impossible unto you."

The name "mustard" is a corruption of "must-seed," so called because in an early processing method the seeds were soaked in a solution of grapejuice, or "must."

The American Spice Trade Association offers these suggestions for making the most of the old, honorable and exciting spice, mustard.

Mustard Baked Beans

4 cups (2 pounds) dried beans
Cold water to cover
2 large onions
4 teaspoons salt
½ cup tomato catsup
⅓ cup mild, light molasses
½ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 teaspoon ground ginger
1 tablespoon powdered dry mustard
½ pound salt pork

Wash beans. Cover generously with cold water and soak overnight. When ready to cook, peel onions and cut into halves and add. If necessary, add additional water to cover beans. Bring to boiling point in a covered saucepan. Simmer until beans are tender. Drain, saving 3 cups bean liquid. (Add additional water to make 3 cups if necessary.)

Mix bean liquid with catsup, molasses, black pepper, ginger and mustard. Turn beans into bean pot. Score pork and bury it in the beans. Add the bean liquid mixture. Cover and bake in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) 2 hours. Uncover. Lift pork to the surface and bake 30 to 40 minutes or until beans and pork are brown. Yield: 16 servings.

★ ★ ★

OLD - FASHIONED BAKED BEANS: Simmer beans only until beans are about half done (skins break). Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) 6 to 8 hours.

★ ★ ★

Mustard Gingerbread

2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon powdered dry mustard
½ cup sugar
1 cup mild, light molasses
1 egg
1 cup hot water

Sift first 3 ingredients together and set aside. Blend shortening, soda and spices together. Gradually add sugar. Add molasses and mix well. Stir in ½ cup sifted flour mixture. Beat in egg. Add remaining flour mixture alternately with hot water. Beat batter ½ minute. Turn batter into a well-greased, lightly floured 9 x 9 x 2-inch baking pan. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 minutes or until done. Cool in pan 10 minutes. Turn out onto wire rack to finish cooling. Yield: 9 servings.

Thickening pot roast gravy? Some cooks like to stir two tablespoons of flour until smooth with one-half cup of water and use this to thicken one cup of the meat liquid.

Crisp Cookies Bran Flavored

If you were to take a survey of homemakers to find out what type of recipes they like to prepare, you probably would discover that most women prefer those dishes which are quickest and easiest to make.

And, one recipe which always rates high — among the cooks as well as the consumers — is Butterscotch Refrigerator Cookies. These tangy treats are easy to prepare and require only ten minutes to bake.

★ ★ ★

Why don't you whip up a batch of these tasty cookies today to have on hand when friends drop in unexpectedly?

Butterscotch Refrigerator Cookies

½ cup butter
½ cup margarine
2 cups brown sugar
1 egg
1 cup whole bran cereal
3 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder

Blend butter, margarine and sugar. Add egg and beat well; stir in bran. Sift together flour and baking powder; stir into bran mixture a small amount at a time. Knead and shape into two rolls, about 1½ inches in diameter.

Wrap in waxed paper, covering ends carefully. Store in refrigerator until firm. Slice very thin and bake on ungreased baking sheets in hot oven (425 degrees) about 10 minutes.

Yield: 7½ dozen cookies (2 inches in diameter).

Note: One tablespoon water or milk may be added to dough if it is too dry to shape into rolls.

Make Most of Brief Asparagus Season

Here today, gone tomorrow. Many fresh vegetables are in the markets all year, but asparagus is one with a short season, reminds the Marketing Information Agent. California opened the asparagus season in April. Michigan asparagus will be our fresh vegetable treat in May.

★ ★ ★

Fully green stalks are clues to good quality asparagus, says Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Where the white woody section begins, that is waste. Look for tightly closed heads or spears that are greenish purple in color.

The season to enjoy fresh asparagus is here.

There are usually about a dozen scallions (green onions) in a bunch.

Salad Bowls Filled Oftener Nowadays

Let's toss a salad for dinner, suggests the marketing information agent. More Americans are doing this. In fact, 40 per cent of all fresh vegetables grown in the country go into our salad bowls. Production of salad vegetables has increased over 50 per cent since 1940.

The most popular salad item is lettuce. Other choices high on the list are tomatoes, celery, cucumbers, green peppers, escarole and endive. According to Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, May will bring a larger supply of salad foods at lower than April prices.

Variety of Good Produce Going Up—Prices Down

Deciding what food to buy during Michigan Week can be more fun than it has been for some time. Fresh produce is bringing more variety at lower prices. There is little change in the meat situation; supplies and prices continue about the same as last week.

THE NEWS IN PRODUCE

It's early for Michigan's growing season, but you can find light supplies of asparagus, outdoor grown rhubarb, green onions and radishes at farmers' markets.

Fresh asparagus may cost slightly less this week. Shipments have started from Michigan and the New Jersey area. A pound will serve four people if there is little waste. It may be worthwhile to pay an extra 25 per cent more for asparagus that is green all the way to the bottom. This will have less waste.

Use asparagus the day you buy it. The longer it is held after harvest, the more flavor it loses, the tougher it gets.

Planting and harvesting schedules in Florida, Texas and California were thrown into a turmoil early this year by cold wet weather. Growers in these areas now find themselves with a volume of some vegetables to be marketed in the last half of May and the first half of June that are normally marketed during March, April, May and June.

You can snap up snap beans at the lowest May prices in five or six years. Large volumes are being harvested in several areas at the same time.

Cucumber prices are on the way down as supplies grow. Onions are plentiful again as the Texas harvest reaches a peak.

Florida sweet corn growers say a top quality crop is on its way to market. Peak shipments are expected next week.

You'll probably find no improvement in head lettuce quality this week. Blame rainy weather.

Tomato supplies are not large, but quality is improving. You may choose tube tomatoes at 39 to 49 cents for a 14 ounce carton (that is 45 to 56 cents a pound). Or choose hothouse tomatoes at 49 to 69 cents a pound. You may prefer the flavor of hothouse tomatoes.

Trying to decide whether to buy frozen or fresh strawberries? Remember the 10-ounce frozen package will yield 2½ servings, so will the pint of fresh berries. You may find the frozen strawberries cost less. They have sugar added, are ready to use.

SELECTING THE MEAT

Have you noticed a wide price difference for the same meat cuts? One good example is blade chuck roast which you can find for 49 to 69 cents a pound this week. Very often the difference in grade is the reason for a wide price range.

If you intend to cook beef in dry heat, either by broiling or roasting, you will have a more tender, more pleasing result if you choose the top grades (Prime or Choice). If you want a pot roast, Swiss steak or stew, a lower grade will cost you less.

Long slow cooking in moisture will tenderize less tender cuts and cuts that grade below Choice. Cooking with moisture with the lid on is called braising.

Consider the number of servings per pound when comparing cost of one meat cut with another. These will help you choose for your family: chuck roast, picnics, ham portions, roasters, veal shoulder, breast and spareribs will yield 2 servings per pound.

Pork loin roast, veal leg, sirloin steak or a half of ham will serve 2½ portions per pound. Round steak, beef rump roast, Boston butt, whole hams, chops and fish fillets will serve three per pound.

Price is just one point to consider when selecting meat for the family. How you plan to use it and how much it will serve per pound help you decide which cuts to choose.

Seal Cheese, Olives Into Beef Patties

Interesting way to treat good old hamburgers.

Olive and Cheese Burgers

1 pound ground chuck beef
1 sandwich-size slice cheddar cheese
4 very large or 8 small pimiento-stuffed green olives
Butter or margarine

Make 8 thin patties of the beef. Cut cheese into 4 squares; slice olives. Put a piece of cheese over the center of each of 4 patties; add olive slices. Top with remaining patties and press edges together to make tight seal.

Brown both sides of patties rapidly in hot butter in skillet; decrease heat and cook to desired doneness. Makes 4 servings.

Add to Fruit Cocktail

A cool and refreshing fruit cup is easily made by adding canned blueberries, drained, and sliced bananas to chilled fruit cocktail. Dip the bananas, after slicing, in liquid from the fruit cocktail to retain the fresh banana color.

Slip Cheese Frosted Sandwich Loaf Into Oven

Substantial snacks are needed to satisfy the ever-ravenous appetite of the average teenager. Because of the teenager's high food value requirements his snacks should add their share of nutriment to the day's meals. Dishes made with milk and cheese offer an excellent opportunity to make party foods both appetizing and nutritious. Of course, milk to drink is always popular with the high school set.

A Hot Cheese Frosted Sandwich Loaf will make a hit with all. Combining layers of egg salad and ham salad, it's pretty enough to appeal to the gals and hearty enough to fill the fellows' empty stomachs. It's easily prepared ahead of party time, to be heated when appetites dictate. Serve it with mugs of hot chocolate milk.

Hot Cheese Frosted Sandwich Loaf

- ⅔ cup salad dressing
- ¾ cup chopped celery
- ⅓ cup chopped onion
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper
- 3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- ¾ cup ground cooked ham (about ½ pound)
- 1 large (1½ pound) loaf unsliced white bread
- ½ cup butter, melted
- 2 cups (½ pound) grated processed American cheese
- ½ teaspoon prepared mustard
- ¼ cup milk

Blend together salad dressing, celery and onion. To 1-3 of this mixture add salt, pepper and eggs and mix well. Blend together remaining salad dressing mixture and ham. Cut crusts from bread loaf and cut into 4 even, lengthwise slices.

To assemble sandwich loaf, place one slice of bread on heatproof platter (or shallow baking dish) and spread with half of ham mixture; top with second slice of bread and spread with egg mixture; cover with third bread slice and spread with remaining ham; press fourth bread slice down firmly onto ham mixture. Plunge 2 or 3 long metal skewers through all bread layers to hold loaf together while heating.

Brush bread surfaces with melted butter. Heat loaf in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for about 10 minutes or until bread is slightly browned.

Make a cheese "frosting" by mixing together the cheese, mustard and milk. Remove loaf from oven and spread (while hot) top and sides with cheese. Return loaf to oven for 1 minute (no longer!) to soften cheese.

Remove from oven and garnish top, if desired, with sliced olives. To serve, slice hot loaf into ¾ to 1¼ inch slices. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Mothers, Be Prepared With Poison Antidote!

The Michigan Department of health recently announced that charred toast is a very effective antidote against common household poisonings.

The charred toast can be prepared for use in emergency by burning a piece of toast and crumbling it into a glass jar. Store it until needed in the kitchen. To administer the antidote, mix the crumbs with milk or water.

Cut Liquid in Salads to Be Frozen

AMES, Ia., (INS) — A new method has been developed to freeze a molded salad made with gelatin so women can keep them in the home freezer, ready for meals.

Jewel Graham, extension nutritionist at Iowa State College, reports that the New Jersey Experiment station has developed such recipes to freezing.

The trick, said Miss Graham, is to use about one-fourth less liquid than the usual recipe calls for, because gelatin dishes tend to get watery after freezing and thawing.

According to Miss Graham, salads made this way are a good consistency and even diced celery in tomato aspic and in molded chicken salads stay crisp.

If you want to try a freezer salad with a commercially packaged flavored gelatin, use one and one-half cups of water instead of the two cups mentioned in the printed instructions — in other words, cut the recipe by one fourth.

For a molded chicken salad, use condensed cream soup and no other liquid except a bit of water for soaking the gelatin.

Broil Lamb Kidneys

While beef kidneys are best sliced or diced and simmered in water, veal and lamb kidneys are very tender and tasty when broiled. Wash and split the kidneys, brush with melted butter, and broil each side for five minutes, placing the meat 3 to 4 inches from heat source.

Dried Vegetable Flakes Zip Up Salads

Salads are nutritious, but if they lack eye and taste appeal, they aren't much fun to eat.

Today, thousands of modern homemakers are finding a quick and easy answer to this salad problem in the wonderful new dried flake products now found on all grocers' shelves. Available in compact, easy-to-store containers, items like sweet pepper flakes, mixed vegetable flakes, parsley flakes and onion flakes add sparkle and flavor to any salad.

Just soak the flakes for five minutes in a small amount of water, drain thoroughly, and toss with other salad ingredients. You'll think you are munching on fresh vegetables when you taste the result. (Dual-purpose — the flakes can also be added directly to sauces, soups or gravies).

Here are three new salad recipes. The special appeal in both taste and appearance comes from the use of dried flakes and one of the newest in convenient products, tearless instant minced onion.

SPRING SALAD PLATE
Confetti Cottage Cheese

Soak 2 tablespoons mixed vegetable flakes in cold water to cover. Allow to stand 5 minutes, drain. Combine with one pound cottage cheese. Allow to chill in refrigerator. Serve on lettuce. Garnish with parsley flakes.

Coleslaw

Soak 2 tablespoons each of sweet pepper flakes and onion flakes in cold water to cover. Shred enough new cabbage to make 4 cups. Drain flakes and toss with cabbage. Use the following dressing:

1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon water
½ cup sugar
½ cup vinegar

Mix mustard to a paste with water. Bring to a boil sugar and vinegar; boil 1 minute. Cool slightly and stir in mustard paste. Cool. Combine 1/3 cup mustard mixture with 2/3 cup mayonnaise. Pour over cabbage mixture and toss lightly. Yield: 8 servings.

Spring Luncheon Salad

2 cans chunk tuna fish, drained
1 cup diced celery
1 cup diced apple
½ cup lemon juice
½ teaspoon minced onion
1 teaspoon parsley flakes
Mayonnaise

Mix together tuna and celery. Combine apple and lemon juice, then add to tuna mixture. Add minced onion and parsley flakes. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

Use a screw-type nut cracker if you want to crack walnuts or pecans and have the nutmeats whole.

Any Bread Tastes Better When Served Warm

Here are five ways to bring yeast-raised breads to the table at their best. Whether you're serving plain slices of bread, a sweet coffee cake or crisp rolls heating will help to bring out the sweet nut-like aroma and flavor of the freshly-baked product.

If you are using the oven for the rest of the meal, choose one of the oven heating methods. Otherwise a skillet or double boiler will do very nicely. You will find that even bread that's several days old will respond to this treatment.

★ ★ ★

IN ALUMINUM FOIL: Place bread, rolls or cake on a large piece of aluminum foil. Wrap tightly and turn edges of foil under to form a tight seal all around. Bake at 375 degrees about 20 minutes. To serve in foil, turn edges back to form a basket.

★ ★ ★

IN PAPER BAG: Moisten bread, rolls or cake by sprinkling them lightly with water. Place in a brown paper bag. Close bag securely. Bake at 350 degrees about 15 minutes.

IN COVERED SKILLET: Place 2 tablespoons water in a large skillet. Place a round trivet in bottom. Arrange bread, rolls or cake on trivet. Cover and heat slowly about 10 minutes.

IN ORIGINAL PACKAGE: Heat bread, rolls or cake in oven in package at 350 degrees for about 15 minutes.

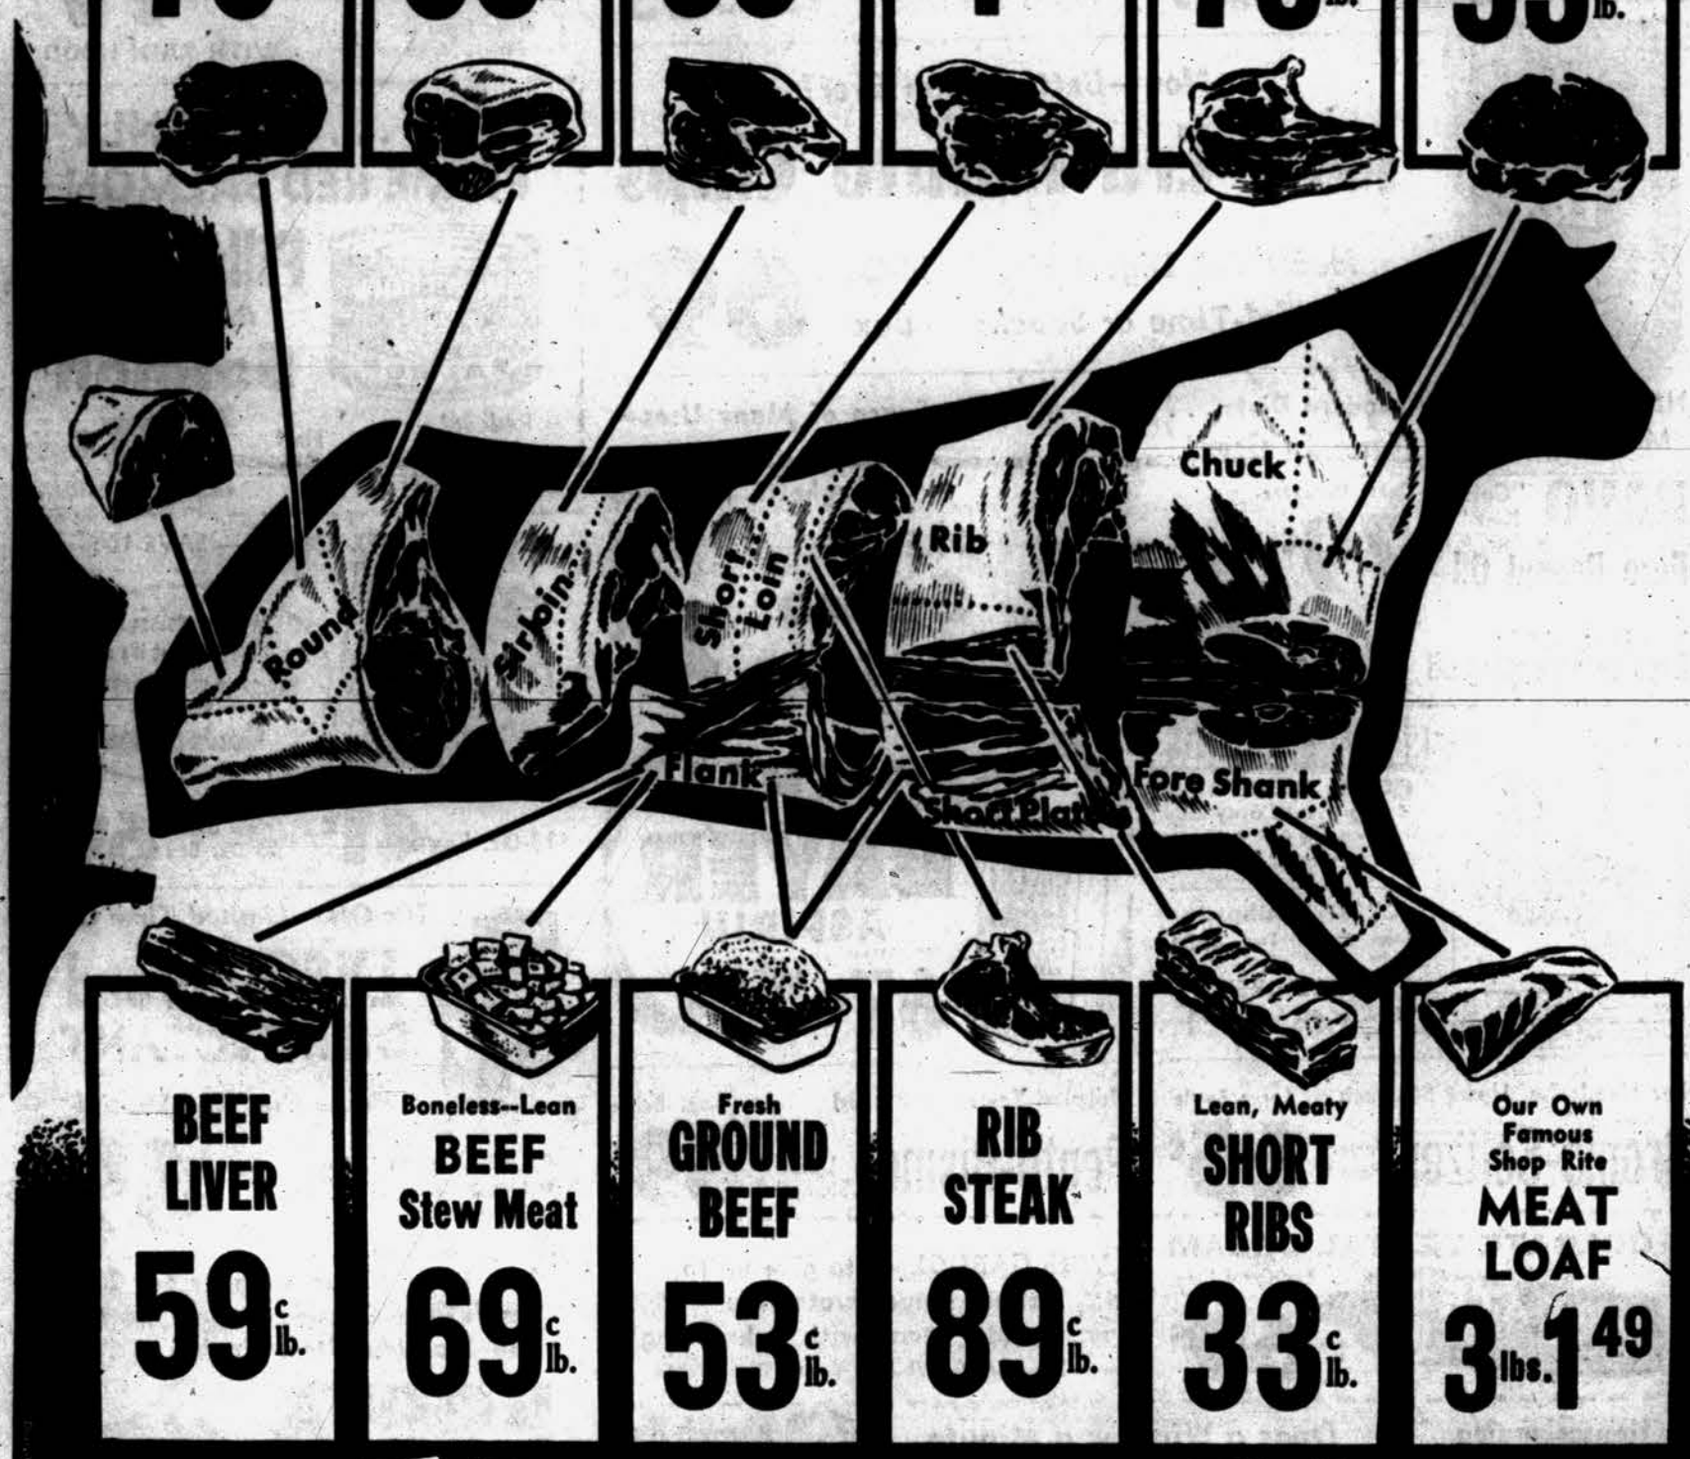

IN THE TOP OF A LARGE DOUBLE BOILER: Place rolls or buns in top of double boiler. Cover and heat about 15 minutes.

Daughter Bakes Cake for Mom

Pontiac Press Photo

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

As regularly as spring comes, so comes Mother's Day. Setting aside the commercial aspects of the day, we can enjoy the thought behind it. Personally we like to encourage children to give of their time on that day to free mother for things she wants to do on her own.

★ ★ ★

Our own Miss Teenager has already announced that she'll get the dinner and do the dishes for us on Sunday. We're interested in seeing how much help she'll be able to wangle out of the Nine-Year-Old. His male instincts rebel against taking on any household tasks.

Twelve-year-old Nancy Redmond of Drayton Woods is already an expert cake baker and decorator. Her six-year-old sister, Lynelle, is just beginning to take an interest in this sort of activity.

Nancy recently previewed the kind of cake she expects to bake for Mother's Day this year. A rich chocolate cake, it is frosted in white with colored flowers put on the top with more frosting.

RICH CHOCOLATE CAKE
By Nancy Redmond

¾ cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
3 eggs, well beaten
¾ cup boiling water
3 squares cooking chocolate
2¼ cups sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ cup sour milk
¾ cup sour milk
1½ teaspoon vanilla

Combine boiling water and chocolate; stir and let cool. Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add beaten eggs and beat well. Add cooled chocolate mixture to egg mixture and beat well again.

Sift flour and measure. Add soda, baking powder and salt. Sift three times. Add flour and milk alternately. Beat well after each addition.

Pour into well greased and floured pans. This is enough for three 8-inch layers or two 9-inch layers, with a little left over for Lynelle's tiny cake.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes, or until a toothpick inserted comes out clean. When cool, put together with the following frosting. Decorate as desired.

Cake Frosting

½ cup white vegetable shortening
1½ tablespoons pure vanilla extract
1 egg white
3 tablespoons milk
1 pound confectioners sugar

Combine all ingredients and beat about 5 minutes with an electric beater.

Decorative Frosting

4 cups sifted confectioners sugar
2 cups white vegetable shortening
1 egg white
2 teaspoon pure vanilla

Combine half of sugar with shortening and egg white. Add rest of sugar, small amounts at a time. Beat by hand.

★ ★ ★

If one uses an electric mixer for this, the frosting has too much air in it.

★ ★ ★

Sift together ½ cup all-purpose flour and 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder. Stir into the rice mixture. Spread in a well-greased pan about 7" x 7". The layer should be about ⅓" thick. Bake in a 425 degree oven about 15 minutes. Cut in squares and serve piping hot with honey for a real eating treat.

Many Fillings Suitable for Green Peppers

EAST LANSING (INS) — If your family likes stuffed green peppers, try a variety of fillings.

★ ★ ★

Here are some suggestions for fillings from Mrs. Anita Dean, extension specialist in foods and nutrition at Michigan State University:

★ ★ ★

—Brown one small chopped onion with one pound of ground beef. Add medium tomatoes, chopped; one and one-half cups of cut fresh corn; salt and pepper. Bake in eight peppers for one hour (350 degree oven).

—Or mix cubed or ground leftover meat with bread crumbs, minced onion, dry mustard, salt and pepper and moisten with melted butter or beaten eggs.

—Whole kernel corn, well seasoned with butter, salt and pepper, makes a filling which does not need meat, according to Mrs. Dean.

Volunteers Cook Dinner for Mothers, Daughters

One of the disadvantages of putting on a mother-daughter banquet is the fact that usually the mothers have to do all the work. Often they don't even get a chance to sit down and enjoy the meal.

★ ★ ★

When the mother-daughter banquet at the Orchard Lake Community Church is held Friday evening of this week, everyone will be a guest.

Fathers are going to do the serving and the dishwashing. The meal will be prepared by members of the St. Marks Lutheran Women's Guild, a neighboring group whose church is also on Commerce road. This is purely voluntary, in the interests of Christian service.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. W. C. Grafe, wife of the pastor of St. Marks church, says this kind of work is often done within the Lutheran fellowship. But it is the first time the St. Marks women have done it for an outside group. Mrs. Stanley Froggatt is chairman of the kitchen.

Dear Abby . . .

Fiance Has All Qualities for Domineering Husband

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: My daughter is engaged to a nice looking man who is a college graduate, but he walks all over her. He shouts her down, twists her arm and shows her no respect. One night we were all watching TV and Billy Graham was preaching on the duties of a husband and wife to each other. He was all smiles when Billy Graham told what the WIFE owed the husband, but when Billy Graham started to tell what the HUSBAND owed the wife, this fellow walked over and turned off the television.

ABBY

"I cry every time I think of what kind of life my daughter will have with a man like that. How can I talk her out of him?"

SAD MOTHER

DEAR SAD: If your daughter doesn't know how to get better treatment from her fiance, don't waste your tears. Some girls like men who treat 'em rough and walk all over them. Urge your daughter to take plenty of time before marrying this man, and pray that she will come to her senses.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I disagree with your advising parents to PAY their children for doing chores around the house and yard. Children should be as helpful to their parents as possible without pay. Your advice, if followed, would have the parents make a God out of money. Children should help around the house for the joy of helping."

MOTHER OF FIVE

DEAR MOTHER: There are very few "saints" around who will do anything for the "joy" of helping. It is good training for young people to earn their own money. When children earn their own money they have more respect for it.

"DEAR ABBY: I was so pleased to see you encourage parents to pay their children for washing the car, washing walls and woodwork, etc. Some parents don't even pay their children for picking their berries to sell.

"I have always paid our children for their work around the house. They saved their money, spent some wisely and learned the value of a dollar early in life. Today they are grown up and good citizens. I have never been sorry. I think more parents would benefit if they did the same."

NOW A GRAMMA

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: Maybe this doesn't belong in your column, but I don't know who else to ask. Could you please tell me where to get information on completely ridding a house of tuberculosis germs? Thank you."

MRS. F. S.

DEAR MRS. S.: Call your Department of Public Health immediately. The information is free and they will be glad to help you.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: What's all this fuss about split religions in the family? We have three religions in ours and get along fine. I married a widower who is a Mormon but his deceased wife was Catholic so he is raising his two daughters Catholic.

"I am a Baptist and practice my own religion. We never had a harsh word in our home about religion. It is a political belief.

TOLERANT"

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO UNHAPPY HAT-CHECK GIRL: You've been everything to that guy but an income tax deduction. Of course he won't marry you now. Why should he?

"DEAR ABBY: I am a young woman of 19 and I do not have a man to call my own. There is one man who works with me during the day who is rather bashful but he gets very brave at night and calls me up on the phone for no reason at all.

"He never makes a date with me and always ends up saying, "See you in church!" (very funny ! ! !) He is nice to talk to but how can I get him to ask me out?"

IMPATIENT

DEAR IMPATIENT: This "bashful telephone Lothario" is NOT calling you up for "no reason at all" . . . he is definitely interested in knowing you better. Invite HIM over, and you might really see him in church one day — in front of a minister.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO PUNISHED UNFAIRLY: Everybody has a teacher who punished the whole class because of one student. I suppose the psychology is that the kids will know who the guilty party is and will see to it that he gets punished in their own way. It may not be fair—but it's effective.

Between-Meal Eating Has Become a Way of Life

Anytime Is Snack Time for U. S. Teenagers

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Our latest survey on the eating habits of Young America shows that the between meal snack is so firmly established as to be a way of life with modern youth.

About four young men in five told us they are snack advocates while three out of four girls said they believe in eating between meals.

What constitutes a between-meal snack? To many teenagers it's candy and soda pop.

It will come as no surprise to the soft drink industry — which gears much of its advertising to the youthful market — that one in four youngsters puts away two bottles of soda a day.

★ ★ ★

And it's easy to see why many movie theaters figure their margin of profit on candy sales when, as our poll shows, about half the teenagers consume four or more candy bars a week.

OTHER 'STAPLES'

Candy and pop, of course, are not the only staples of between meal diets. Milk, cookies and fruits also have a large following. And there are others:

"A hamburger, french fries and a coke is the best between meal snack I can think of," said Jerry Falsmoth of Cleveland.

"A malted milk with whipped cream and a peanut butter and jelly sandwich, "volunteered Allan Beryan of Brooklyn.

"Pizza!" enthused Winnie Dallat of New York. "How I love pizza!"

'CAUSES TROUBLE'

A number of youngsters who admitted stoking up between table sittings also expressed qualms about it.

"Of course, I believe in between meal eating," said Alice Curital of Pittsburgh, "but my figure doesn't."

"I don't really believe in it," confessed Susan Loreat of Chicago, "but I just can't help myself."

Slightly more than half the teenagers told us they do most of their between meal eating at home. But some had good reason for snacking out.

"I have to," said Al Fischer of Flushing, N. Y. "My parents complain that I'd eat them out of house and home if I didn't"

But, even while the between meal snack is becoming a meal in itself, the younger folk aren't neglecting the traditional three squares.

HEAVY ON BREAKFAST

Nine out of 10 told us they prefer what have become the standard American breakfasts — ham or bacon with eggs, pancakes or waffles and french toast.

Desserts — with the home-made type preferred by nearly an 8-1 margin — are still mighty popular with the young fry, although most won't go as far as the teenager who chortled:

"The only reason I eat the first part of the meal is to get to the dessert and I like all desserts."

About three out of five of the young people have some favorite dessert. Generally, it's ice cream, followed by chocolate cake and pie in that order.

A Florida girl told us she liked watermelon.

"Why?" we asked.

"Because I can squirt the pits around," she said.

Sandpile Toys Make Bath Fun

Ever think of bringing those colorful sandpile toys into the bathroom. The unbreakable plastic kind can get right into the bathtub with Junior.

He'll love pouring the bath water out of his bucket onto this "ocean." And a sand sieve makes a pretty waterfall out of the soapsuds.

Eat Varied Diet

Never Outgrow Need for Calcium

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Calcium is one of the most essential of all minerals and one of the most easily available, yet it is one in which many persons are most deficient. This is especially true of middle - aged and older folks. Calcium builds and protects the bones, and nourishes the glands, teeth, nerves and muscles.

Milk is the best source. Cheese, egg yolk, molasses, greens, cauliflower and whole wheat are also good sources. Calcium is widely distributed through the vegetable and fruit worlds in smaller amounts. The lowly dried bean is rich in this mineral and also brings you phosphorous, manganese, iron and copper.

★ ★ ★

If you get enough calcium in your diet, you probably will get enough phosphorous. This mineral also affects bones, teeth, glands and muscles, and has a very happy effect on the nervous system. It even has been rumored that it promotes a pretty head of hair.

Its sources are much the same as those of calcium. Liver has large quantities of it. Egg yolk, dried beans and peas, whole wheat, oatmeal, cheese, brown rice and shrimp are good sources. It is distributed in smaller amounts in many vegetables and fruits and in milk and lean beef.

We are all aware of the importance of iron in the diet. The following items are rich in iron; Lean beef, brown rice, whole wheat, oysters, egg yolks, liver, dates, dried beans, prunes, spinach, green peas, beets, lettuce, graham flour, peanuts rice and strawberries.

VITAMIN RICH, TOO

The foods I have listed as splendid sources of the minerals are also rich in vitamins. If you will compare the lists of foods mentioned, you will notice that some of them pop up over and over again. For instance, milk, whole wheat and oats, vegetables and fruits, beef and liver, eggs and cheese, dried beans, citrus fruits and their juices are also important for their vitamin C content.

In other words, if you eat a truly varied diet you probably will obtain the essentials for good health. The trouble is that most people do not get enough variety into their daily menus.

Minerals are not lost in canning. They are often lost in cooking. They are too often poured off the vegetables and down the kitchen sink.

★ ★ ★

If you would like to have my leaflet "Diets for Youth and Health" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 43. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Shorten last summer's pleated skirts by wearing them in the new high-waisted fashion. Then tie shirttails high in newest fashion.

Tinted Stockings Accent the Long, Leggy Look

The shortening of a pleated skirt can be oppressive but the high-waisted silhouette makes it easy. Sew the skirt onto a short bodice, or sew it under the bustline of a slip and you have the newest high-waisted, short-skirt fashion.

The long leggy look of the roaring twenties is with us again. From the top of fashion's new high hat to the tip of milady's pointed toed, slender heeled shoes, the leanness of line gives that long leggy look.

Whether it's the blaze of color—the bold staccato prints or fantasy - flowered patterns — that arrest the attention, you can be sure your eye will travel right down to those tinted stockings that add enchantment to the leggy look.

* * *

Every trick in designing has been used to call attention to legs. Triangle pleats at the bottom of the sheath dress and deftly proportioned skirts provoke hemline interest. La Chemise recalls the hipless, line-of-least-resistance fashions of 1925.

Even the fitted bodice that hugs the waist ends in a billowy dome-shaped skirt that makes deep tinted hosiery an important fashion feature.

Colors and prints this season are as shockingly pleasing as the short, short, shorter skirts.

Yes, tall turbans, chemise jackets, rope beads, short tapering skirts, dark stockings and pointed toed shoes were all the rage during the roaring twenties! It's 1958 — and again the age of leanness of line—and the long leggy look!

Indians Block New Survey

Women Stand in Front of Work Party Transits, Turf Study Impossible

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP) — Tuscarora Indians halted a new attempt by the State Power Authority yesterday to survey their land.

Repeating the tribe's tactics of last month, Tuscarora women stood in front of transits to make the work of the surveying party impossible.

A brief scuffle occurred around U. S. Dep. Marshal Homer Congdon when he began passing out copies of a court order authorizing the surveying.

As Congdon passed copies to several Indian women, Tuscarora brave Silas King pushed forward and shouted, "You lay your hands off my family."

About 50 Tuscaroras assembled earlier at the edge of the reservation where the surveyors attempted to enter last month to map land the state wants to use in connection with the Niagara power project.

The surveying party, Congdon, and Niagara County Sheriff James Murphy showed up at another point several miles away. The Indians sped there in automobiles.

Tuscarora Chief Elton Greene was not at the scene. At his home, he said "I have asked our people to abide by the court order."

Greene had promised he would sanction no violence but could not guarantee the good behavior of his younger braves who sparked resistance last month.

The Tuscaroras, a band of 700 living on a 6,248-acre reservation northeast of here, waged a four-day campaign of passive resistance last month.

The state wants about one-fifth of the land. The Indians are challenging the matter in the courts.

Free Hotel Rooms Out, FCC Members Decide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert T. Bartley said he and his fellow Federal Communications Commission members have decided, as a matter of policy, to decline free hotel accommodations when attending industry conventions.

★ ★ ★

He made no reference, in testimony to the Senate Commerce Committee, to criticism of some FCC members on the ground they have accepted favors from the radio and television industry which they regulate. Such criticism was voiced at hearings by a House subcommittee on FCC operations.

Alligator Takes a Stroll Through Loaded Airliner

PARIS (AP) — Passengers screeched when an alligator waddled down the aisle of an Air France plane during a stopover at Niamey in French West Africa.

The airport crew quickly captured it.

Hermann Broker, a German business executive, said he had the reptile—about 2½ feet long—in a leather pouch on his lap. He dozed off and his pet wiggled free.

Broker was advised to keep closer watch for the rest of the flight.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

A rebellion is taking place on the American billiards scene with the hope of saving this old table sport from the state of extinction.

Even the few top flight carom experts in the country today have admitted that billiards are having their lean years, not just a recession, but a rapidly deteriorating depression.

Three of the country's great cue-men, Jake Schaefer, 63, Welker Cochran, 61, and Willie Hoppe, 70, have very little in the line of successors when they put their cues away.

Strangely, the task of keeping billiards alive may be resting on the feminine shoulders of Miss Masako Katsura, a Japanese expert now residing in the United States.

★ ★ ★

Of the more reknown is Willie Misconi, but even he is unhappy about the state of his sport.

According to the U. S. Census of Business there were 12,998 premises operating billiards tables. In 1954 there were 7,639 and in 1958 the estimate listed is 6,500.

A gentleman by the name of Conrad Ohlson is spearheading the fight for survival and the rebellion against billiards organizations such as the American Billiard Association, Billiard Congress of America and the Billiard and Bowling Institute of America.

The sad state of billiards is taking little persuasion for proprietors and players to join the bandwagon for overhauling the sport.

It may be true what Ohlson says about the mismanagement of billiards from the upper echelon of the organization, but it is also true that real honest competitive end of billiards has been hurt by public opinion toward pool rooms.

The public had reason to condemn pool premises as they had become dens of gambling, delinquency and vagrancy. But billiards deserves a clean bill of health for those who have the talent on the cushion just as those who have the talents on the links, swimming pools, bowling alleys or tennis courts.

★ ★ ★

A new publication "Billiards Magazine" is putting the integrity of the sports in the hands of billiards enthusiasts.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Only a person firing a hole-in-one or a "300" game can actually realize the thrill in the accomplishment. For Neil Coppens of 2502 Ivanhoe in Pontiac, the excitement was more than he could take.

After acing the 135 yard second hole with his 6-iron yesterday evening at Pontiac Country Club, Coppens could not endure the golf bliss. He finished the third hole near the clubhouse and left the other members of his foursome finish the round as he raced off the course to convey the news. Wayne Coppens, Lou Jindrieck and Bill Whitlow were his witnesses.

HONORED—The late Gus Dorais (upper photo) and Bennie Oosterbaan, presently the head football coach at the University with Eddie Tolan yesterday as of Michigan, were honored along newly elected members to the Michigan Hall of Fame. Dorais, who died in 1953, had a great grid record at U. of D. and with the Lions, and Tolan is of track fame at Michigan.

Stan Makes 3 Hits as Cards Drop 7th in Row

Musial 7 Away From 3,000

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Stan "The Man" Musial's magic number is 7.

Seven hits and he becomes the eighth major leaguer to total 3,000. And the way he's flying at the moment, batting a cool .529, he should join Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Honus Wagner, Eddie Collins, Nap Lajoie, Paul Waner and Cap Anson either Saturday or Sunday while swinging against the Chicago Cubs.

★ ★ ★

The only question at the moment, is what in the world will the St. Louis Cardinals do when Musial slumps?

They lost their seventh straight, sinking 8½ games behind in the National League basement with a 9-2 licking from the Milwaukee Braves last night. And Musial, who has hit in all 17 of the Cards' games this season in a run for his eighth batting crown, drove in both runs and collected three of their five hits off World Series hero Lew Burdette.

★ ★ ★

By winning their fourth in a row, the Braves stayed a half-game behind Chicago's ambitious Cubs, who retained first place with a 5-1 victory over Cincinnati. San Francisco moved past Pittsburgh into third by beating the Pirates 8-6. Philadelphia belted Los Angeles 9-3.

The Braves wrapped up a three-game sweep at St. Louis in an explosive six-run first that also saw Bob Hazle beaned on the first pitch by Larry Jackson, after he relieved loser Herm Wehmeier. Hazle, the hurricane who helped belt the Braves to the 1957 pennant, suffered a concussion.

★ ★ ★

Musial counted the runs in the third with one of his two doubles. Lefty Taylor Phillips, involved in the Bob Rush trade with the Braves, won his first for the Cubs with a five-hitter in his first complete game since Aug. 31, 1956. He gave up the Redleg run in the first on Pete Whisenant's triple and a wild pitch. Rookie John Goryl had a pair of RBI singles for the Cubs as Brooks Lawrence lost his second.

★ ★ ★

Bob Friend lost his first in five decisions for the Pirates, giving way in a four-run fourth capped by rookie Bob Schmidt's three-run homer. Al Worthington won his second in relief of Curt Barclay, who gave up successive homers to Bob Skinner, Ted Kluszewski and Frank Thomas in the fifth, tying an often-tied major league record. It was the first for Klu, who got another in the seventh, since last August 2—when he also swung against Barclay.

★ ★ ★

Curt Simmons became the first southpaw to beat Los Angeles this season—his first victory over the Dodgers since Aug. 10, 1954, and his first complete game against 'em in four years to the day.

Carl Furillo homered the Dodger runs across in the third. Stan Lopata's solo homer tied it in the sixth and the Phils then whipped Fred Kipp with three in the seventh. Ted Kazanski's two-run single counted the clincher.

Detroit Loses 11-4 Nightcap After 5-1 Win

Senators Pound Six Bengal Pitchers in Second Game

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Detroit Tigers found batting power in Reno Bertoia and ended a three-game losing streak with a 5-1 victory over Washington in the first game of a twi-night double header last night.

The batting power ran out in the night cap and the second place Senators defeated the Tigers 11-4.

Bertoia belted a grand-slam homer in the first inning of the first game and gave Detroit all but one of its runs. Detroit had scored on a walk and a pair of singles by Charley Maxwell and Gail Harris. Al Kaline drew a pass, filling the bases, when Bertoia stepped up and Sent Camilo Pascual's pitch into the centerfield seats.

It was the infielder's second homer of the year but only the ninth of his career.

★ ★ ★

Frank Lary was credited with the victory although he was peppered with 13 Washington hits, including a ninth-inning homer by Eddie Yost.

In the nightcap, the Nats climbed over Jim Bunning and five other hurlers for 15 more safeties. The high flying Senators were sparked by Ken Aspromonte, their new second baseman, who rapped out three hits, bringing his two game total to five.

Hal Griggs took credit for the nightcap, scattering seven Tiger hits.

He had the Bengals down to one run on three hits until the ninth when Detroit pushed across three runs, two on a triple by Charley Lau.

Bunning was handed his fourth loss against one win after the Nats chased him with two runs in the second stanza. They added another off Joe Presko in the third, pushed 1 n five in a wild fifth off Tom Morgan, made two unearned tallies off Maurice McDermott in the seventh, and capped it with one run off Hank Aguirre in the eighth.

★ ★ ★

Griggs, who had a 21-12 record at Chattanooga last year, had a three-hitter until the ninth. Harris and Kaline singled and were brought home on Lau's triple. Lau then scored on a pinch single.

Detroit and Washington end their series tonight. The Tigers return to Briggs Stadium Friday for a three game series against the Kansas City Athletics.

Casey Stengel Laments as Rain Dulls Memory

NEW YORK (AP)—"It's been so long since we played a game," moaned Casey Stengel, "I had to ask Edna (Mrs. Stengel) what was Berra's first name.

"And also how to spell Maglie and Cicotte. They haven't even pitched and here it is we're still leading the league without even playing."

★ ★ ★

Stengel was lamenting the fact that his New York Yankees have not played a game in a week—the last was last Friday when Bob Turley beat Kansas City's Athletics, 8-1. They have been rained out in eight ball games in two weeks.

Rain, which has pelted the eastern seaboard for five straight days, was scheduled to continue today, threatening the game with the Cleveland Indians.

★ ★ ★

"I'd like to get one look at the Indians at home before we play them in Cleveland," Stengel said. "Rain last Sunday robbed me of seeing Chicago and it looks like I won't be able to figure who are going to be the tougher teams, after all."

The rainy spell posed two problems for the mastermind of the American League champions:

★ ★ ★

1. Which of the three Yankees to cut loose before the May 15 cutdown date. One of them is likely to be Al Cicotte, a pitcher who hasn't seen action, and Casey says, "It wouldn't be fair to fire a pitcher without giving him a chance to pitch."

2. The abundance of doubleheaders coming up to make up the slack.

★ ★ ★

"We sure better be at our best and not go into a slump when the extra work comes around," he said. "A team in a slump can lose two as easy as one.

"I'll have one advantage over the other clubs in the doubleheaders. I'll have three catchers (Yogi Berra, Elston Howard and Darrell Johnson). Berra won't have to catch all those doubleheaders he's always complaining about."

★ ★ ★

"If he doesn't start hitting he'll be lucky to catch any one of them." Berra is batting .192.

Pistol Club Ends '58 Indoor Season

Indoor pistol shooting at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club ended the season with Charles Schmidt as the gold medal champion.

Second place honors went to William Dougall and in third place was LeRoy Wingett.

Richard LaFever took honors in the tyro-class with Bob Cain runnerup.

Outdoor shooting for the Pistol Club at OCSC will be held on Sundays, according to secretary Bob Kayga.

3 Players Swap Uniforms

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three major league players changed uniforms today as teams sought to get their rosters set before the 25-player cutback deadline on May 15.

★ ★ ★

The Boston Red Sox got within two of the limit by selling veteran righthanded pitcher, Bob Porterfield, to the Pittsburgh Pirates in a cash deal. The price was reported higher than the $20,000 waiver price.

The Cincinnati Redlegs and Chicago Cubs traded a pair of relief pitchers even.

★ ★ ★

Cincinnati gets Turk Lown and sends Hershell Freeman to the Cubs. Both are righthanders.

Freeman, 29, was bought by the Redlegs from the Red Sox in 1955. He had a 14-5 record as a reliever in 1956 but last year dropped to 7-2.

Lown, 33, with the Cubs for several years, won 5 and lost 7 in 1957.

★ ★ ★

Porterfield, starting with the New York Yankees in 1949, divided his time between the American League champions and Kansas City then in the American Assn., until traded to Washington in 1951. He won 22 and lost 10 for Washington in 1953, went to the Red Sox after the 1955 season.

Predicts Same For Michigan's Lane

Brown TKO's Dupas in 8th

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Joe Brown, a thunderous puncher who won't let the other guy do any of it, looked toward the fifth defense of his world's lightweight championship today—but could only intimate who his opponent would be.

★ ★ ★

Joe, the skinny little guy from Houston, whipped young Ralph Dupas of New Orleans last night, knocking the latter down three times in the eighth round to register a technical knockout at 2:21 of the round. He has knocked out three other challengers within the last 16 months.

After the fight Brown predicted he would knock out Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., soner than he did Dupas. Lane is the logical man to fight Brown next. He and Dupas had to agree to negotiate for a fight with Lane before they could get together here.

Lou Viscusi, manager of Brown, was noncommittal. "I didn't see the fight and haven't talked to Joe. I've been busy counting money. I honestly can't say anything about future plans right now."

Viscusi had a busy night counting the cash. The fight—Houston's first world's championship affair—drew an all-time record gate for Texas. An estimated 11,000 fans paid $68,740 which was more than a thousand fans and almost $22,000 more in money than the previous high—the Roy Harris-Willie Pastrano heavyweight bout in Houston that pulled 8,826 fans and $46,962 at the box office.

Brown will get over $36,000 for his night's work while Dupas will receive better than $18,000. The net was $60,614.60 which is added to $30,000 in radio and television receipts. Brown gets 40 per cent and Dupas 20.

Brown's defense was a thing of beauty. Dupas landed only one real hard blow all night. Brown never started using his right until the fourth round. From then on he was using his one-two repeatedly and late in the seventh round it was this combination, with the right rocking Dupas like a sledgehammer, that started the 22-year-old New Orleans hopeful on the way out.

The next round Brown was on him like a swarm of bees. He actually knocked Dupas out the first time he floored him—Dupas was counted out by the counter for the knockdowns—but Referee Jimmy Webb stopped at nine and ordered Brown, who had come up to the fallen Dupas, back to his corner. Brown refused and Dupas arose after the 10-count to resume the fight.

It was a forlorn gesture. Brown's stinging left hook knocked Dupas down for a 7-count and when Ralph arose unsteadily to his feet, Brown hammered him again. This time he took an 8-count. As he arose Webb hurried across the ring and stopped the fight at 2:21 of the eighth round.

Brown said Dupas never hurt him and he said the latter, while "he's a pretty good fighter" shouldn't try to make the weight limit. Brown had predicted that Dupas would be weakened by taking off seven pounds to make the 135-pound limit.

Brown and Dupas each weighed [illegible] pounds.

Dupas retreated most of the night but he couldn't get away from Brown's hammering fists. But Brown was leading on points anyway—69 to 65 on Judge Ernie Taylor's card, 67-66 on Judge Bill Cornelius' card, 68-66 on Referee Webb's card and 69-66 on The Associated Press card.

Free Hotel Rooms Out, FCC Members Decide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert T. Bartley said he and his fellow Federal Communications Commission members have decided, as a matter of policy, to decline free hotel accommodations when attending industry conventions.

He made no reference, in testimony to the Senate Commerce Committee, to criticism of some FCC members on the ground they have accepted favors from the radio and television industry which they regulate. Such criticism was voiced at hearings by a House subcommittee on FCC operations.

Alligator Takes a Stroll Through Loaded Airliner

PARIS (AP) — Passengers screeched when an alligator waddled down the aisle of an Air France plane during a stopover at Niamey in French West Africa.

The airport crew quickly captured it.

Hermann Broker, a German business executive, said he had the reptile—about 2½ feet long—in a leather pouch on his lap. He dozed off and his pet wiggled free.

Broker was advised to keep closer watch for the rest of the flight.

Indians Block New Survey

Women Stand in Front of Work Party Transits, Turf Study Impossible

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP) — Tuscarora Indians halted a new attempt by the State Power Authority yesterday to survey their land.

Repeating the tribe's tactics of last month, Tuscarora women stood in front of transits to make the work of the surveying party impossible.

A brief scuffle occurred around U. S. Dep. Marshal Homer Congdon when he began passing out copies of a court order authorizing the surveying.

As Congdon passed copies to several Indian women, Tuscarora brave Silas King pushed forward and shouted, "You lay your hands off my family."

About 50 Tuscaroras assembled earlier at the edge of the reservation where the surveyors attempted to enter last month to map land the state wants to use in connection with the Niagara power project.

The surveying party, Congdon, and Niagara County Sheriff James Murphy showed up at another point several miles away. The Indians sped there in automobiles.

Tuscarora Chief Elton Greene was not at the scene. At his home, he said "I have asked our people to abide by the court order."

Greene had promised he would sanction no violence but could not guarantee the good behavior of his younger braves who sparked resistance last month.

The Tuscaroras, a band of 700 living on a 6,248-acre reservation northeast of here, waged a four-day campaign of passive resistance last month.

The state wants about one-fifth of the land. The Indians are challenging the matter in the courts.

A rebellion is taking place on the American billiards scene with the hope of saving this old table sport from the state of extinction.

Even the few top flight carom experts in the country today have admitted that billiards are having their lean years, not just a recession, but a rapidly deteriorating depression.

Three of the country's great cue-men, Jake Schaefer, 63, Welker Cochran, 61, and Willie Hoppe, 70, have very little in the line of successors when they put their cues away.

Strangely, the task of keeping billiards alive may be resting on the feminine shoulders of Miss Masako Katsura, a Japanese expert now residing in the United States.

★ ★ ★

Of the more reknown is Willie Misconi, but even he is unhappy about the state of his sport.

According to the U. S. Census of Business there were 12,998 premises operating billiards tables. In 1954 there were 7,639 and in 1958 the estimate listed is 6,500.

A gentleman by the name of Conrad Ohlson is spearheading the fight for survival and the rebellion against billiards organizations such as the American Billiard Association, Billiard Congress of America and the Billiard and Bowling Institute of America.

The sad state of billiards is taking little persuasion for proprietors and players to join the bandwagon for overhauling the sport.

It may be true what Ohlson says about the mismanagement of billiards from the upper echelon of the organization, but it is also true that real honest competitive end of billiards has been hurt by public opinion toward pool rooms.

The public had reason to condemn pool premises as they had become dens of gambling, delinquency and vagrancy. But billiards deserves a clean bill of health for those who have the talent on the cushion just as those who have the talents on the links, swimming pools, bowling alleys or tennis courts.

★ ★ ★

A new publication "Billiards Magazine" is putting the integrity of the sports in the hands of billiards enthusiasts.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Only a person firing a hole-in-one or a "300" game can actually realize the thrill in the accomplishment. For Neil Coppens of 2502 Ivanhoe in Pontiac, the excitement was more than he could take.

After acing the 135 yard second hole with his 6-iron yesterday evening at Pontiac Country Club, Coppens could not endure the golf bliss. He finished the third hole near the clubhouse and left the other members of his foursome finish the round as he raced off the course to convey the news. Wayne Coppens, Lou Jindrieck and Bill Whitlow were his witnesses.

HONORED—The late Gus Dorais (upper photo) and Bennie Oosterbaan, presently the head football coach at the University with Eddie Tolan yesterday as of Michigan, were honored along newly elected members to the Michigan Hall of Fame. Dorais, who died in 1953, had a great grid record at U. of D. and with the Lions, and Tolan is of track fame at Michigan.

Stan Makes 3 Hits as Cards Drop 7th in Row

Musial 7 Away From 3,000

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Stan "The Man" Musial's magic number is 7.

Seven hits and he becomes the eighth major leaguer to total 3,000. And the way he's flying at the moment, batting a cool .529, he should join Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Honus Wagner, Eddie Collins, Nap Lajoie, Paul Waner and Cap Anson either Saturday or Sunday while swinging against the Chicago Cubs.

★ ★ ★

The only question at the moment, is what in the world will the St. Louis Cardinals do when Musial slumps?

They lost their seventh straight, sinking 8½ games behind in the National League basement with a 9-2 licking from the Milwaukee Braves last night. And Musial, who has hit in all 17 of the Cards' games this season in a run for his eighth batting crown, drove in both runs and collected three of their five hits off World Series hero Lew Burdette.

★ ★ ★

By winning their fourth in a row, the Braves stayed a half-game behind Chicago's ambitious Cubs, who retained first place with a 5-1 victory over Cincinnati. San Francisco moved past Pittsburgh into third by beating the Pirates 8-6. Philadelphia belted Los Angeles 9-3.

The Braves wrapped up a three-game sweep at St. Louis in an explosive six-run first that also saw Bob Hazle beaned on the first pitch by Larry Jackson, after he relieved loser Herm Wehmeier. Hazle, the hurricane who helped belt the Braves to the 1957 pennant, suffered a concussion.

Musial counted the runs in the third with one of his two doubles.

Lefty Taylor Phillips, involved in the Bob Rush trade with the Braves, won his first for the Cubs with a five-hitter in his first complete game since Aug. 31, 1956. He gave up the Redleg run in the first on Pete Whisenant's triple and a wild pitch. Rookie John Goryl had a pair of RBI singles for the Cubs as Brooks Lawrence lost his second.

★ ★ ★

Bob Friend lost his first in five decisions for the Pirates, giving way in a four-run fourth capped by rookie Bob Schmidt's three-run homer. Al Worthington won his second in relief of Curt Barclay, who gave up successive homers to Bob Skinner, Ted Kluszewski and Frank Thomas in the fifth, tying an often-tied major league record. It was the first for Klu, who got another in the seventh, since last August 2—when he also swung against Barclay.

★ ★ ★

Curt Simmons became the first southpaw to beat Los Angeles this season—his first victory over the Dodgers since Aug. 10, 1954, and his first complete game against 'em in four years to the day.

Carl Furillo homered the Dodger runs across in the third. Stan Lopata's solo homer tied it in the sixth and the Phils then whipped Fred Kipp with three in the seventh. Ted Kazanski's two-run single counted the clincher.

Detroit Loses 11-4 Nightcap After 5-1 Win

Senators Pound Six Bengal Pitchers in Second Game

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Detroit Tigers found batting power in Reno Bertoia and ended a three-game losing streak with a 5-1 victory over Washington in the first game of a twi-night double header last night.

The batting power ran out in the night cap and the second place Senators defeated the Tigers 11-4.

Bertoia belted a grand-slam homer in the first inning of the first inning of the first game and gave Detroit all but one of its runs. Detroit had scored on a walk and a pair of singles by Charley Maxwell and Gail Harris. Al Kaline drew a pass, filling the bases, when Bertoia stepped up and Sent Camilo Pascual's pitch into the centerfield seats.

It was the infielder's second homer of the year but only the ninth of his career.

★ ★ ★

Frank Lary was credited with the victory although he was peppered with 13 Washington hits, including a ninth-inning homer by Eddie Yost.

In the nightcap, the Nats climbed over Jim Bunning and five other hurlers for 15 more safeties. The high flying Senators were sparked by Ken Aspromonte, their new second baseman, who rapped out three hits, bringing his two game total to five.

Hal Griggs took credit for the nightcap, scattering seven Tiger hits.

He had the Bengals down to one run on three hits until the ninth when Detroit pushed across three runs, two on a triple by Charley Lau.

Bunning was handed his fourth loss against one win after the Nats chased him with two runs in the second stanza. They added another off Joe Presko in the third, pushed i n five in a wild fifth off Tom Morgan, made two unearned tallies off Maurice McDermott in the seventh, and capped it with one run off Hank Aguirre in the eighth.

★ ★ ★

Griggs, who had a 21-12 record at Chattanooga last year, had a three-hitter until the ninth. Harris and Kaline singled and were brought home on Lau's triple. Lau then scored on a pinch single.

Detroit and Washington end their series tonight. The Tigers return to Briggs Stadium Friday for a three game series against the Kansas City Athletics.

Casey Stengel Laments as Rain Dulls Memory

NEW YORK (AP)—"It's been so long since we played a game," moaned Casey Stengel, "I had to ask Edna (Mrs. Stengel) what was Berra's first name.

"And also how to spell Maglie and Cicotte. They haven't even pitched and here it is we're still leading the league without even playing."

★ ★ ★

Stengel was lamenting the fact that his New York Yankees have not played a game in a week—the last was last Friday when Bob Turley beat Kansas City's Athletics, 8-1. They have been rained out in eight ball games in two weeks.

Rain, which has pelted the eastern seaboard for five straight days, was scheduled to continue today, threatening the game with the Cleveland Indians.

★ ★ ★

"I'd like to get one look at the Indians at home before we play them in Cleveland," Stengel said. "Rain last Sunday robbed me of seeing Chicago and it looks like I won't be able to figure who are going to be the tougher teams, after all."

The rainy spell posed two problems for the mastermind of the American League champions:

★ ★ ★

1. Which of the three Yankees to cut loose before the May 15 cutdown date. One of them is likely to be Al Cicotte, a pitcher who hasn't seen action, and Casey says, "It wouldn't be fair to fire a pitcher without giving him a chance to pitch."

2. The abundance of doubleheaders coming up to make up the slack.

★ ★ ★

"We sure better be at our best and not go into a slump when the extra work comes around," he said. "A team in a slump can lose two as easy as one.

"I'll have one advantage over the other clubs in the doubleheaders. I'll have three catchers (Yogi Berra, Elston Howard and Darrell Johnson). Berra won't have to catch all those doubleheaders he's always complaining about."

★ ★ ★

"If he doesn't start hitting he'll be lucky to catch any one of them." Berra is batting .192.

Pistol Club Ends '58 Indoor Season

Indoor pistol shooting at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club ended the season with Charles Schmidt as the gold medal champion.

Second place honors went to William Bougall and in third place was LeRoy Wingett.

Richard LaFever took honors in the tyro-class with Bob Cain runnerup.

Outdoor shooting for the Pistol Club at OCSC will be held on Sundays, according to secretary Bob Kayga.

From then on he was using his one-two repeatedly and late in the seventh round it was this combination, with the right rocking Dupas like a sledgehammer, that started the 22-year-old New Orleans hopeful on the way out.

The next round Brown was on him like a swarm of bees. He actually knocked Dupas out the first time he floored him—Dupas was counted out by the counter for the knockdowns—but Referee Jimmy Webb stopped at nine and ordered Brown, who had come up to the fallen Dupas, back to his corner. Brown refused and Dupas arose after the 10-count to resume the fight.

It was a forlorn gesture. Brown's stinging left hook knocked Dupas down for a 7-count and when Ralph arose unsteadily to his feet, Brown hammered him again. This time he took an 8-count. As he arose Webb hurried across the ring and stopped the fight at 2:21 of the eighth round.

Brown said Dupas never hurt him and he said the latter, while "he's a pretty good fighter" shouldn't try to make the weight limit. Brown had predicted that Dupas would be weakened by taking off seven pounds to make the 135-pound limit.

Brown and Dupas each weighed 134 pounds.

Dupas retreated most of the night but he couldn't get away from Brown's hammering fists. But Brown was leading on points anyway—69 to 65 on Judge Ernie Taylor's card, 67-66 on Judge Bill Cornelius' card, 68-66 on Referee Webb's card and 69-66 on The Associated Press card.

Lane Says 'I'd Be Smarter'

DETROIT (AP)—Kenny Lane, whose long wait for a crack at the lightweight boxing title appears almost over, vows, "I'd be a lot smarter than Ralph Dupas."

Dupas suffered an eighth round knockout at the hands of champion Joe Brown last night in Houston.

Lane, who has been waiting almost five years for a similar chance, was interviewed by telephone from his home in Muskegon, Mich. He and his manager Pete Petroskey, watched the fight on television.

The champion's handlers have put up $5,000 with the National Boxing Assn. to signify good faith for a summer bout against Lane. The bout probably will be held in late July or early August with Minneapolis the possible site.

"I hope brother Lane is watching," the champion told a national television audience after his victory over Dupas. "I want to do the same thing to him in the next 90 days."

"I'd be a lot smarter than Dupas," Lane promised. "I wouldn't be bouncing up and down in front of him. I'd crowd him and keep my hands high. And he'd better keep his hands high, too."

Dick Hoover 7th in ABC Tourney

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Dick Hoover, with a nine-game total of 1,960, held seventh place today in the All-Events Division of the American Bowling Congress.

★ ★ ★

The topnotcher from Akron, Ohio, who completed his minor events activity yesterday, has won the last two ABC Masters tournaments, which are separate from the ABC, though run on the ABC alleys.

★ ★ ★

Hoover's performance yesterday also placed him among the select class of bowlers who have averaged over 200 for the last 10 ABC tournaments. Averaging slightly more than 217 this time, Hoover upped his 10-year average to 201.59.

★ ★ ★

A new leader emerged in the Booster Team Division as the Truers, of Rochester, N.Y., who compiled a 2,881 total to displace Parry's News, Rome, N.Y., which had held first place since March 31 with a 2,806 total.

3 Players Swap Uniforms

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three major league players changed uniforms today as teams sought to get their rosters set before the 25-player cutback deadline on May 15.

★ ★ ★

The Boston Red Sox got within two of the limit by selling veteran righthanded pitcher, Bob Porterfield, to the Pittsburgh Pirates in a cash deal. The price was reported higher than the $20,000 waiver price.

The Cincinnati Redlegs and Chicago Cubs traded a pair of relief pitchers even.

Cincinnati gets Turk Lown and sends Hersheli Freeman to the Cubs. Both are righthanders.

Freeman, 29, was bought by the Redlegs from the Red Sox in 1955. He had a 14-5 record as a reliever in 1956 but last year dropped to 7-2.

Lown, 33, with the Cubs for several years, won 5 and lost 7 in 1957.

★ ★ ★

Porterfield, starting with the New York Yankees in 1949, divided his time between the American League champions and Kansas City then in the American Assn., until traded to Washington in 1951. He won 22 and lost 10 for Washington in 1953, went to the Red Sox after the 1955 season.

WIBC Tourney Has New Team in Lead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Women's International Bowling Congress tournament has a new team leader—Brittain's of Houston, Tex.

The Brittain girls rolled 2,732 yesterday to go ahead of Cunningham Drugs of Detroit, which had 2,717.

Directors voted to hold the 1960 WIBC tournament in Denver. Next year's meet will be in Buffalo, N.Y.

MIAA to Hold Field Day

KALAMAZOO (AP) — The Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Assn. field day—oldest collegiate athletic meet in the midwest—unveils for the 66th time next weekend at Kalamazoo College.

The MIAA field day, started in 1888, will feature competition in track, tennis and golf on Friday, May 16, and Saturday, May 17.

Kalamazoo College is a top-heavy favorite to continue its domination in tennis and Albion is just as heavy a choice in track. Hillsdale and hope are rated even in the golf competition.

League officials have moved the track meet up to Saturday afternoon instead of Saturday night. Preliminaries will be staged in the morning.

Albion has taken about every track honor in the MIAA in recent years and the big battle will be for second place, league officials predict. Hope, Kalamazoo and Hillsdale are the prime contenders.

Kalamazoo College has not lost a dual meet or a tournament title in the league in the last 23 tennis seasons. The Hornets are expected to have little difficulty repeating.

The Hornets won the golf crown last year but Hillsdale and Hope are cofavorites this season.

The 36-hole tournament will be held on Friday at Kalamazoo Country Club and the tennis meet will be staged both Friday and Saturday at Stowe Tennis Stadium.

At the conclusion of the field day on Saturday afternoon, the 1957-58 all-sports trophy will be awarded. The all-sports award goes to the school collecting the highest number of points in all sports competition in the league. Points are given on the basis of the league standings.

Kalamazoo won the trophy a year ago. Hope is the current leader and the Dutchmen are expected to pick up enough points in the spring competition to stay in first place in the all-sports race.

BIG CUBS — Three reasons why the Chicago Cubs are leading the National League baseball race are Lee Walls (left) who has hit nine homers and has an average of .370, Ernie Banks, who has batted in 17 runs and is hitting .329 and Walt Moryn who has hit in the clutch consistently.

Two Big Tests in 2 Days

Chief Thinclads in SVC, Monroe Meets

By H. GUY MOATS

Toughest kind of opposition, probably not less potent than that of the state championship test later this month, faces Dean Wilson's PCH thinclads this weekend. Chief track and field performers go against defending champion Flint Northern and an eager Saginaw Valley field on Friday night. Saturday night they battle a field of 30 other Class A squads in the big Monroe Relays.

Pontiac is top-rated in both, despite the fact that Northern trimmed Pontiac twice this season, but was away back in the "big one," at Mansfield, won by PCH.

Friday's Valley test looks like a three-way battle between defending champion Flint Northern, Pontiac and Flint Central. Indians crowded Vikings in last week's CMC meet, in which PCH did not compete.

Coach Wilson said today he was taking a full squad (34) to Saginaw. "We're going to be tough to beat in the Valley meet," he commented, "but it'll be rough and we'll have to go all out for those points."

Vikings collected 73½ points to 52 for Chiefs in the 1957 event. Chiefs were conference champions in 1955-56.

Among the hottest competitors in the Dick Waters' Monroe meet, which director Bob Epsamp today said was the biggest, are Pontiac, Birmingham, Farmington, Waterford, Lansing Eastern, Detroit Austin and last year's winner, Highland Park. Maples were 4th in 1957 with 12½ points, Parkers had 22, with Grosse Pointe and Fordson, 2nd and 3rd.

Chiefs will have a full team in all events but the open mile. Larry Beamer and Rog Coats will be in the relays. Dan Sowell and Jim Hawkins in the high hurdles (only hurdles race); Bobby Manning and Joe Hill in the 100; Sowell and Jim Keller in the broad jump; Fred Brooks and Charley Barge in the high jump; Chuck Brown and Jerry Rush in the shot and Columbus White and Bob Finley in the vault, comprise the open entries for PCH, besides several relay events.

Other area squads in Saturday's meet will be Southfield, Berkley, RO Dondero and Thurston.

72-Hole Test Begins Today

Golfers Visit Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The top names of the touring professional golf circuit set out today to test the Hot Springs Country Club's par 72 course, and sponsors of the $20,000 Hot Springs Open predict the course will do some testing of its own.

Back tees will be used for the tournament, making the par 72 course play a whopping 7,011 yards. The tournament record of 270, set in 1955 by Bo Wininger of Odessa, Tex., appears safe.

Experts predict a score matching the 276 with which Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., won last year will bring home the $2,800 prize for first place.

The field includes Dick Mayer of La Jolla, Calif., the reigning National Open king, and Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., the current Masters champion.

Among the 89 pros who start play at 10:15 a. m. EDT are former National Open champions Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Ed Furgol of St. Andrews, Ill., and Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N. C.

The 72-hole medal play tournament ends Sunday.

Clawson, Millington Track Champs; Rams Golf Victors

Clawson clinched the Oakland B dual meet championship and Millington took the South Central crown in track while St. Frederick was downing Royal Oak Shrine in golf to highlight the Wednesday prep schedule.

Bloomfield Hills set four new school records winning a Wayne-Oakland triangular and the Pontiac Jayvees walloped Royal Oak Dondero 87 4-5 to 21 1-5 in other track action.

Dave Rehse and Roger Mollencopf were double victors and the medley relay team set a league record in 2:43.5 to pace Clawson in a 80 2-3 to 30 1-3 walloping of Troy. Bill Ray of the losers broke the loop high hurdles mark in 16.2 seconds.

Final South Central totals at Oxford were Millington 57, Imlay City 48½, North Branch 43½, Ortonville 24½ and Oxford 17.

★ ★ ★

Gale Hallwood broke the SCC 220 record in a time of 23.8 seconds and topped all the scorers with 12½ points. Lyle Emerick of Imlay was 2nd in scoring with 9½ and set a new league shotput mark at 44 feet, ¼ inches. Oxford's Doug Roland missed by ½ second of equalling the half-mile mark in 2:14.5 Doug Merrick won the 440 for Ortonville, Bernie Wilson and Larry Thompson had North Branch 1sts.

Pat Secoy of St. Fred and Colin Campbell of Shrine matched 41s to share medalist honors but the Rams won out 3-2 at Pontiac Country Club.

Bloomfield won seven events and piled up 51½ points, West Bloomfield had 44½ and Northville 41 in the W-O meet. Records were set by Barry Armstrong (mile), Bill Jordan (440), Jim Schultz (low hurdles) and the 880 relay team.

Two Days, 2 Victories

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Noble Warrior, a six-year-old gelding owned by Kenny Burkhart, won his second race at Churchill Downs in two days yesterday, a feat that hasn't been accomplished at the track since Falcada did it in 1910.

Here's One That Didn't Get Away

BENNINGTON, N.H. (AP) — Edward Hussey of Cambridge, Mass., is a fisherman who can boast of the "big one" that did not get away.

The state fish and game department said yesterday Hussey recently hooked a big rainbow trout on Whittemore Lake in Bennington—but his line broke.

As he watched the fish swim away, Hussey made a quick decision. He jumped into the water and grabbed the retreating end of the line. At the other end was a 5-pound, 14-ounce trout.

United Press Photo

REGULAR TROOPER — Two-year-old Alan Wade Yost of New Castle, Indiana, tried to decide which of his four clubs he will use on this shot. Alan's game would come closer to par if he could only add an eight iron, but he has trouble pulling four clubs on the hills of the course.

Moore's Friday Bout Off Due to Injury

VANCOUVER (AP)—A broken ankle suffered by Austrian boxer Kurt Scheigl has caused cancellation of his scheduled non-title fight with light heavyweight champion Archie More here Friday night.

Promoter Earle Kalani said Scheigl suffered the injury Monday when he slipped on the apron of the ring at his training gym.

Kalani said it is impossible to get a substitute and the fight could not be delayed because More has commitments later this month. He has a fight at San Diego May 17.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

Patient's Complaint: Keeping The Head Stationary Too Long

Diagnosis: Overdoing A Good Thing

TREATMENT: A wise golfing rule to follow at all times is that the head must be kept STILL until the ball is hit. As a further precaution, aim at keeping your head in place until just AFTER the ball is hit. This doesn't mean that you should keep your head riveted in place until the follow-through is completed.

What will happen is that the head will be PULLED around by the force of your follow-through and brought naturally into position where you can follow the flight of the ball with your eyes.

Many golfers, especially beginners, have a tendency to raise or otherwise move the head much too quickly. Then, in trying to overcome that fault, they go overboard and keep the head down until long after the ball is on its way. They don't realize that this is no remedy. It causes a flat-footed kinds of a swing and robs your shot of plenty of power.

Stick to the happy medium in this case.

Expanded Waterford Loop Expects 50 Teams in '58

The Waterford Township Recreation Department's annual softball program has increased this year to seven different leagues involving persons from 9 to 50 years of age, according to director Tom Belton.

Already in effect, the expanded program includes an elementary school group comprised of a boys' team from each of the elementary schools in the Waterford district and the Oakland County Children's Home plus girls' teams from eight of the same schools.

The elementary program began April 26 and will end June 14. Games are played on Saturday mornings at the school fields with fathers and mothers acting as coaches.

Men's softball leagues are scheduled to start next Monday at the Drayton Plains ball park with four teams entered in the advanced league and seven teams in the intermediate loop.

Games are slated under lights Monday through Friday until the middle of August. A third league for men over 30 years old will begin in June with special rules and regulations in effect.

The boy's softball program will start when school closes. Two leagues will be organized, one for the 11-14 age bracket and the other 14-17. A 14-year-old boy can play in either league. Twilight contests will be played Monday through Thursday at school fields and the Drayton park.

"It is expected that approximately 50 teams will be playing regularly scheduled games either this spring or summer," Belton said. "It should be our most successful program to date," he added.

For additional information, call the Waterford Recreation office, OR 3-9152.

Hanks to Direct '500' Classic

1957 Champion Rumored to Be Possible Prez

Classic Drivers Back on Track Continuing Workouts

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Sam Hanks, retired race driver who won last year's 500-mile Memorial Day race, was announced Wednesday as the Indianapolis Motor Speedway's new director of racing.

Tony Hulman, Speedway owner, said Hanks will perform his duties during May only as liason between the track management and the drivers. He also will make public appearances representing the Speedway.

Hanks' temporary assignment gave little support to rumors that the veteran driver was being groomed to replace the late Wilbur Shaw as Speedway president. However, Hulman added there was a chance Hanks might drive the pace car for the May 30 race.

The lean 43-year-old driver arrived at the Speedway Tuesday night from his home at Pacific Palisades, Calif., to take over the new position.

Bright sunshine and a strong wind dried the 2½-mile track Wednesday morning and permitted 19 cars to take practice spins, the first workouts since rain halted proceedings Sunday evening.

There was one mishap, as Johnny Thomson of Boyertown, Pa., went into a slide on a practice run. He pulled out of it safely. Ed Elisian of Oakland, Calif., recorded the fastest lap at the Speedway this year when he did 142.4 m.p.h. while acting as test driver for the John Zink Special No. 5.

Several rookie Speedway drivers, including world champion Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina, continued with the driving tests they are required to pass before being eligible for spots in the race.

Fangio completed the 115 and 120 m.p.h. portions of the speed phase of his test, leaving the 125 and 130 m.p.h. sections still to go.

Al Herman of Wescosville, Pa., who was on the track when the Argentine was practicing, said he looked good on the turns.

★ ★ ★

Two more drivers completed their tests. They were Paul Goldsmith, St. Claire Shores, Mich., and Joe Giba, Denver. Giba is one of the oldest drivers to appear as a rookie at the Speedway.

Speedway officials announced that the total of cash accessory prizes for this year's drivers has reached $35,550.

Four Suspended at Eastern Track After Horse Tests

LINCOLN, R.I. (AP) — The trainers and grooms of two winners at Lincoln Downs last Thursday were suspended by track stewards Wednesday after a state chemist's report that both horses had been stimulated.

Barred for the remainder of the meeting which ends May 17 were Orlando Massarelli, 29, a former jockey from Montreal, and James P. Foti, 49, of Yonkers, N.Y. Two grooms employed by them — Earl Gilpatrick of Derby, N.H., and Francis W. Pendleton of Pawtucket — also were suspended.

The cases of all four were referred to the Rhode Island State Racing Commission.

Auto Racers Ready for 200-Mile Run

After one week's postponement because of bad weather, the auto racing season in Detroit will begin Sunday at the State Fair Grounds where 60 cars are entered in the 200-mile new car event.

Among the drivers entered are Johnny Parsons and Jerry Unser both of whom are seeking to qualify in the Indianapolis "500".

The time trials will start at 12:30 for the two 100-lap runs.

Prep Front

By CHUCK ABAIR

It may be only the 1st week of May but several area sports followers, especially those living around Walled Lake and Lapeer, are getting mighty anxious for the football season to roll around again.

A couple of fellows named John Walker and Tom Wilson are the chief reasons for the anxiety. Walker, an all-state fullback at Walled Lake in 1956, will be a candidate for the Michigan varsity while Lapeer's Wilson is a halfback hopeful at rival Michigan State. He was an all-state halfback in both 1955 and '56.

Both are college sophomores now and packed with outstanding potential. Each was hindered by an injury as a freshman but barring such future problems the pair should have a lot to say about the future grid fortunes of their respective Big Ten powers during the next three seasons.

Walker has been given considerable praise for his work in spring drills with the Wolverines. "He's showing no ill effects from his leg injury of last year. He's been doing great. We're going over to see him again soon," said his proud former coach Dave Smith of WLHS the other day.

Like Michigan with Walker, Duffy Daugherty at MSU is expecting big things from Wilson. He kept Tom out of all contact work during spring practice in order to be sure an ailing knee could heal properly. Daugherty rates him a greater prospect than his brothers, John and Pat, who preceded him at State.

★ ★ ★

Walker and Wilson never met on the field of battle as prep stars but it looks like they may be running into each other quite often come Oct. 4 of this year, Oct. 3, 1959 and Oct. 17, 1960. Should be interesting.

Paul Whiteman Has No Regrets

By LEE BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Jazz King Paul Whiteman, who once earned as much at $680,000 in a single year, played for the Prince of Wales and inspired $10,000 tips, said today he'd like to live the same razzle-dazzle life all over again "only more so."

Whiteman, who reached his heyday during an era when bus rides were a nickel and bathtub gin was the champagne of drinks, is still as active as a two-year-old colt even though 100-piece popular orchestras are dead and jazz is a sometime thing.

"I'm busy most of the time," he declared, "Only now I pick and choose my dates and I wouldn't think of traveling 91,000 miles a year as I once did."

In recalling his fabulous past career, the tall, portly band leader, who now lives on a 600-acre New Jersey farm called "Agony Acres on Swingin' Jaw Bend," said things "ain't quite what they used to be."

"I can remember when private parties cost a fortune," he declared, "and the guests were presented with solid platinum vanity and cigarette cases with their names spelled out in diamonds. Nobody can afford that kind of thing now."

★ ★ ★

Whiteman, who started out in 1906 as first viola player in a Denver, Colo., symphony orchestra, has watched musical fads come and go but nothing has impressed him or depressed him as much as rock 'n' roll.

"It's all right, I guess," he grinned. "But I still like music."

He says it's on the way out, yet he understands its universal juvenile appeal.

It's got a solid beat," he said, "but kids are looking for a new beat now. They want something different."

And about Elvis Presley, the high priest of r 'n' r?

"Imagine," Whiteman declared, "Buying 50 and 60 suits at a time and owning chocolate and vanilla cars." But he added:

"Presley has much more than a wiggle — he is the epitome of sullen sex. He has a fabulous face and in it is mirrored the rebellion of a million kids."

But even the records of Elvis the Pelvis haven't toppled the maestro's top single best seller of all time — "Three O'Clock in the Morning." It once sold 3,800,000 copies in one year.

★ ★ ★

Right now, Whiteman is temporarily back in show business. He's one of the stars of "New Faces of 1928," and, along with Rudy Vallee, Buster Keaton, Fifi D'Osray and Harry Richman, is packing them in at the Moulin Rouge in Hollywood.

"It's nostalgic," he admitted. "When I get up there and start conducting 'Rhapsody in Blue,' I can't help remembering a night back in 1924 when I conducted that music for the first time. I guess it was the most thrilling moment of my life."

THE GIRLS by Franklin Folger

"Oh, I've seen them advertised but, personally, I've never felt the need of an automatic dishwasher."

Red Indians — Russians Will Attend Centennial

DENVER (INS) — Only 100 years ago pioneer settlers huddled in the warmth of log cabins at the new town of Denver, worried about marauding Indians.

Now the descendants of those same pioneers are sending out invitations to the Indian tribes of the nation, begging them to pay a visit.

★ ★ ★

The occasion is the centennial celebration of the founding of Colorado and Denver; a year - long festival scheduled to start June 1959.

Leaders of the planning group for the event hope to have an Indian village right smack in Denver's civic center, showing all phases of Indian life.

Luckily the sponsors don't have to check out the plans with their ancestors, who might not like the idea. The Indians, however, might consider the bids a nice peaceful gesture, in view of several massacres perpetrated against them.

★ ★ ★

The main emphasis of the centennial, however, will be away from the traditional cowboy-Indian type of pageant.

National championship sports events are a prime target of planners who want to make the celebration known far and wide.

And the centennial authority wants more cultural attractions than the 19th century settlers ever imagined to exist.

★ ★ ★

The "red" Indian has always been a stellar drawing power in the west, but many of the "reds" who will be invited to Colorado next year are of a different nationality.

It is hoped to have Soviet hockey teams an dthe Bolshoi Ballet Company appear during the year.

Here are some of the events planned to attract visitors:

—A winter sports hall of fame and topflight ski events.

—A international track and field mett.

★ ★ ★

—A world series between second-place finishers in the American and National baseball leagues.

—Football game between the Air Force Academy and either Army or Navy.

—Pan - American basketball games tryouts.

—National golf tournaments.

★ ★ ★

—A mass square dance with 8,000 dancers.

—Musical drama about Colorado, patterned after "Oklahoma!"

—A convocation on religion.

—A shrine to be erected by a famous architect.

—An educational seminar, with heads of all universities.

—Display of commerce.

Barbershop Owners Won't Clip Patrons

CHICAGO (AP)—Barbershop owners have voted nt to clip their customers with a boost in the price of haircuts, despite demands by union members for wage increases.

★ ★ ★

The price of haircuts has been $1.75 for three years. It's $2 for a clipping on Saturdays and days preceding holidays.

Frank Aliotta, secretary-treasurer of the Master Barbers Assn., told the members: "This is no time to raise the price of haircuts. We are in a recession."

Referirng to the union barbers, he said: "Let them strike if they want. We can't afford to raise prices."

★ ★ ★

Union barbers are asking a minimum wage of $75 a week and 70 per cent of their earnings over $100 a week. Thy now get a minimum of $60 and 60 per cent of earnings over $85. They also want a 40-hour work week instead of 45.

St. Louis Businessman Repays 28-Year Loan

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (INS)—A St. Louis businessman who believes late is better than never has repaid a 28-year-old loan with appropriate interest.

The businessman, K. K. Grant, vice president of Viking Motor Express, traveled to Arkadelphia to repay $2.40 he borrowed from Laron Duke in 1930. The loan was made when both were in the ROTC at Jefferson Barracks, Mo. Counting interest, Grant figured his debt amounted to $7.20.

The maximum length of Wales is 136 miles.

Say Promoter Bilked Firms

Senate Racket Probers Learn About Ads Sold to Businessmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Committee sought to wind up today its look at how a promoter using labor union connections got nearly a million dollars from businessmen.

★ ★ ★

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, said questioning today will relate to "quite a substantial contribution" by Niagara-Mohawk Power Co., Buffalo, N. Y., to a magazine run by Ben Lapensohn, missing promoter. The committee says Lapensohn is in Bermuda, a fugitive from its subpoena for questioning.

Testimony has been given the committee that Lapensohn or his representatives sold nearly a million dollars worth of advertisements—many never published—to business firms in the name of the New York State Federation of Labor.

★ ★ ★

Much of that money, Kennedy told the committee, was misappropriated by Lapensohn. The federation had contracted to pay Lapensohn 75 per cent of receipts from sales of ads in the New York Federationist. But in some cases the labor group did not get even the 25 per cent due it, Kennedy said. The annual slick paper magazine was run by Lapensohn in the name of the federation.

★ ★ ★

Harold C. Hanover, secretary-treasurer and acting head of the New York Federation of Labor, testified that the committee investigation has shown that Lapensohn was "an unconscionable rogue."

He said Lapensohn "misused the good name of the state federation and its officers and imposed on our advertisers, whose funds in apparently quite a few instances were converted or stolen."

Kresge Sales Down

DETROIT (AP)—S. S. Kresge Co. reported April sales off 5.34 per cent, compared with April 1957, and down .3 per cent for the first four months of this year. "April sales were $29,790,135, compared with $31,470,568 for the same 1957 month. Sales through the first four 1958 months totaled $100,141,568, compared with $100,440,611 in the same 1957 period.

Market Eases in Quiet Trades

NEW YORK (AP) — The Stock Market eased in quiet early trading today.

Leading issues were fractionally lower. There were a few small gains.

★ ★ ★

A wider move was made by Allis-Chalmers which cut its dividend to 25 cents from 50 cents. The stock fell 1⅜ to 23⅛ on an opening block of 5,800 shares.

American Motors, a great favorite of late, continued in demand but traded about unchanged. American opened at 12⅜ on 3,000 hares.

Aircrafts and steels shaded off. General Motors was up a bit while other leading automotive shares showed little change. Rails also made scant movement. Santa Fe and Baltimore & Ohio eased.

★ ★ ★

A rise in steel scrap prices was reported in Chicago, the first since February. Meanwhile, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported that declines in consumer goods prices are in the making.

Among the losers were Republic Steel, Douglas and United Aircraft, American Cyanamid, Du Pont and Royal Dutch. International Nickel, Air Reduction and Twentieth Century-Fox posted plus signs.

★ ★ ★

Earnings in this year's first three months were equal to 68 cents a share, against 14 cents in the similar 1957 period.

OK Anti-Trailer Zoning Changes

Pontiac Given Powers to Prevent Location of New Camps

The City Planning Commission last night approved zoning code changes that would give Pontiac powers to prevent new trailer camps from being located here.

The changes were sent back to the City Commission, which is expected to take final action after public hearings Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Involved are (1) creation of a new type zone classification for trailers; and (2) creation of two districts in which the new classification is allowable.

★ ★ ★

The key to the plan lies in the fact that the two districts under consideration are contiguous with the boundaries of the city's two existing trailer parks.

If the provisions become law next Tuesday, it will be necessary henceforth to secure an amendment to the ordinance in order to set up a new district for a new trailer camp.

★ ★ ★

This would be virtually impossible without the approval of the City Commission, which at present looks unfavorably upon trailer parks.

★ ★ ★

The planning board held hearings on the rezoning of the two camps last night. They are located on Telegraph road north of Beaudette Park and on E. Walton boulevard between Cambridge street and the Pontiac, Oxford and Northern Railroad.

Car Sales Compared

DETROIT (AP) — Sales of imported cars in this year's first three months numbered about 65,500 units compared with about 34,000 in the like 1957 quarter. Total U.S. sales of new cars, meanwhile, dropped to about 1,116,000 from approximately 1½ million a year ago.

Auto Industry Economists Say:

Six Million New Cars Needed Annually

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP) — Worn out autos are going to the junk pile at the rate of about 4 million a year.

The total drops off somewhat in times of lagging new car sales, but bounces back as new car deliveries turn upward. Automobile Manufacturers Assn. figures indicate approximately 30 million passenger cars were scrapped in the last decade.

In the same decade American car makers built 56½ million cars.

The figures indicate what a normal new car market should be at this time. Auto industry economists say the U.S. market should absorb six million cars annually. They count four million in the replacement field and two million first-time buyers.

Other analysts add a cheerful note by saying new car purchases now being withheld are piling up a backlog that will swell the market later. Some are guessing the upsurge will come with the start of the 1959 model year.

Some also are guessing the new model year will start three or four weeks earlier this year than it did for 1958 cars. That would get more new cars to the market early in October.

The start of the new model year will be determined largely by the size of the new car inventory. The present 850,000-unit inventory is excessive. The car makers will not put thousands of 1959 model cars on the market until it has been sharply reduced.

The total of cars in dealer hands has gone down moderately in recent weeks. It dropped from 865,566 units on March 1 to 854,000 on April 1.

But the decline is due to production cuts rather than increased sales. The output cuts have been made by laying off factory workers and layoffs do not encourage a broadening of new car buying.

★ ★ ★

There have been some sales flurries in recent weeks, but there has been no indication of a return of the industry's traditional spring sales bulge. This seasonal upsurge failed to appear last year and in 1956. Yet the industry's retail sales approximated six million units in each of those years.

However, dealer retailing got off to a much better start last year. Sales for the first quarter of 1957 numbered 1,448,900 units. Authoritative estimates put this year's January-March total at 1,122,000.

Even without the usual spring upturn the April-June quarter should produce more retail deliveries than did the first quarter. But, counting on a decline in sales in the July-September quarter, it appears now the year's total will not exceed 4½ million units.

Excepting for 1952 (4,158,394 units) that would be the lowest volume in 10 years.

Dividend Declared

DETROIT (AP)—The Board of Directors of Burroughs Corporation in its meeting in Detroit declared a dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock of the corporation payable July 21, to stockholders of record at the close of business June 27. This is the 234th dividend and continues a record of regular cash dividends uninterrupted for 63 years.

Violence Erupts in Beer Strike

Distributors for Outside Brew Suffer Damage to Trucks, Buildings

DETROIT (AP) — Violence erupted in Detroit's 38-day beer strike last night at two out-of-town beer distributorships where windows were smashed and beer truck tires slashed.

Police said about 60 panes of glass were broken and a gas pump was smashed at the Whelan Beer Distributing Co. in Taylor Township, downriver from Detroit. In Port Huron, tires were slashed on three semi trucks and air brake hoses on two of them cut at Jerry's Distributors.

Albert J. Whelan who with his brother, Alfred, owns the Taylor Township distributorship for Frankenmuth and Schlitz (both out-of-town beers), said he was threatened by pickets yesterday and was "afraid something like this would happen."

Port Huron police said they got a report of a car carrying five men early today in the area of Jerry's distributors, which handles Carlings and Millers beer, both out-of-town brews.

Local beer has long since disappeared from Detroit bars but there appears to be enough out-of-town beer available.

★ ★ ★

Representatives for the 4,500 striking brewers, bottlers and drivers met with officials of the five Detroit breweries involved for five hours yesterday and adjourned without scheduling further negotiations.

GMAC Earnings Up More Than $2 Million

NEW YORK (AP)— Earnings of General Motors Acceptance Corp. (GMAC) reached $15,123,272 in this year's first quarter compared to $12,568,761 in 1957's like period.

Retail time sales contracts outstanding March 31 totaled $3,464,402,000 against $3,376,824,000 a year ago.

GMAC purchased 759 million dollars in retail installment contracts in the first three months of this year compared with 839 millions in the like period of 1957.

Wall Street Journal Reports:

High Prices, Insecurity Holding Down Spending

NEW YORK (AP)—Lack of cash rather than lack of desire is holding down consumer spending, said The Wall Street Journal.

"A little more spending money and a lot more price reductions would spur consumer spending more than all the earnest campaigning by industry and government to get Americans to buy now," the paper said.

The publication arrived at this conclusion after interviewing housewives, young married folks, retired people, farmers, cooperate executives and factory workers in widely scattered parts of the country.

The Journal found almost all had a hankering to buy one or more major items, and there was little evidence consumer buying desires had been "saturated" by a postwar spending splurge as some economists theorize.

Despite this hankering, the Journal reported, "only a few of those interviewed were actually planning to purchase goods now or in the next couple of months. Most commonly given reason: Too high prices, lack of ready cash, and an unwillingness, despite the many buy-now drives, to dip into savings or go into debt—even if this spending might have some beneficial effect on the nation's economy."

The Journal said many individuals' earnings have been cut through layoffs, loss of commissions and bonuses, and reduction of overtime. It adds that "Prices clearly are deterring many folks from buying what they say they want. Most hope they'll get better deals later on, so they're holding off buying now."

State Ferry Slips Won't Lie Idle

Mackie Says Facilities Will Be Put to the Best Possible Use

LANSING (AP)—Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said today the department plans to put Mackinac Straits ferry docks to the best use this summer that can be found rather than let them lie idle.

Mackie said as for permanent disposition he is awaiting a cue from a special legislative committee set up to study the problem.

★ ★ ★

Mackinac City and St. Ignace have expressed interest in using part of the dock space on their respective sides of the straits for municipal parking. Their bids will be considered.

"I don't know just who else may want to use the docks, or a part of them, and we will send representatives to St. Ignace some day next week to find out," he said.

Some of the dock space is tied up by the five-unit ferry fleet, which is berthed awaiting sale. No attractive bids were received when the state sought to peddle the boats last week.

★ ★ ★

Mackie said ads will be placed in Cheboygan and St. Ignace newspapers asking parties interested in temporary use of available dock space this summer to step forward with their propositions.

The legislative group on permanent disposition has announced hearings will be held next month.

Welfare Secretary Flemming Will Divide Time Between Jobs

College Prexy Called to Capital Again

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—It's getting to be a habit for tall, wiry Arthur Flemming.

Just as he's getting settled down in the relatively calm job as president of Ohio Wesleyan University, off he pops to Washington to tackle another government assignment.

★ ★ ★

His latest: Secretary of the department of health, education and welfare.

President Eisenhower has picked Dr. Flemming to succeed outgoing secretary Marion Folsom.

In a way, it will almost be like going home for Flemming, a veteran Washington hand who has spent nearly half his 52 years in the nation's capital.

★ ★ ★

His most recent stint was as director of the office of defense mobilization from 1953 until February 1957. His job automatically made him a member of the National Security Council and as such he was among the select few to sit in at presidential cabinet meetings.

His move to the directorship of the ODM took him away completely from Ohio Wesleyan. For two years before that he was assistant to the director of defense mobilization, but somehow managed to stay at the helm of the Methodist school he has headed since 1948.

It was a grueling schedule. On weekdays he lost himself in mountains of government work. On weekends he'd fly back to Delaware and put in two days of conferences with faculty members and committees, and perform any other work that required his attention.

His capacity for hard work is probably his outstanding characteristic his friends say. Apart from his official duties either in Delaware or in Washington, Flemming heads, or is a member of, a score or more of civic, governmental and private organizations.

How does he do it? A keen, perceptive mind, for one thing, those who know him say. A certain Spartan discipline in his personal behavior, for another. He drinks no coffee, tea or other stimulants. And come what may, he gets eight hours of sleep a day.

He takes care of himself, in a phrase, and it's immediately apparent.

★ ★ ★

Conjure up the standard prototype of a statesman and you've pictured Arthur Flemming. Tall, closely clipped gray hair, an impeccable, conservative dresser, a deep resonant voice that commands the listener's attention.

Flemming became Ohio Wesleyan's president Sept. 1, 1948 after some 21 years as an educator, government official, and newsman in Washington.

As a newsman he was on the editorial staff of the U. S. Daily, now the U. S. News and World Report, from 1930 to 1934, and was editor of Uncle Sam's Diary, a weekly current events newspaper for high school students, from 1932-1935.

★ ★ ★

During part of that time he had doubled as an instructor at American University in Washington, and was its director from 1934-1939.

From 1939 until he came to Ohio Wesleyan, Flemming served as Republican member of the Civil Service Commission. He was appointed to the post by former President Roosevelt.

Among other things, Flemming also served on the Hoover Commission studying the organization of the executive branch of the government, and, at another time in his varied career, his work on the Naval manpower survey board earned him the distinguished civilian service award.

★ ★ ★

Flemming was born in Kingston, N. Y., the son of Judge and Mrs. Harry Flemming. He received his A.B. degree from Ohio Wesleyan in 1927, his M. A. degree from American University in 1928, and an LL.B. degree from George Washington University in 1933.

Ohio Wesleyan, American University, Temple, Wesleyan and Oberlin Colleges have conferred LL.D. degrees upon him.

Flemming married the former Bernice V. Moler in 1934. They have five children, Elizabeth Ann, Susan Harriet, Harry Sherwood, and twins, Henry and Thomas Madison.

Walker OK'd for Post

DETROIT (AP) — Wesley O. Walker's appointment as manager of the Detroit City Airport has been approved by Mayor Louis Miriani. Walker, 56, succeeds C. V. (Bud) Burnette in the $9,200-a-year job. Burnette, 65, is retiring. Walker has been assistant manager 12 years.

She May Lose Capri Playground

Court Calls Lady Docker

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Rich, fun-loving Lady North Docker today faced the possibility of being deprived of another Mediterranean playground.

A Naples penal court has summoned the 52-year-old British playgirl to trial May 17. It was charged that 21 months ago on the Capri dock she talked like a drunken dockhand to a harbor policeman who prevented a taxi in which she was riding from driving up to the Docker yacht.

★ ★ ★

The cutup wife of wealthy Sir Bernard Docker was accused of insulting the policeman and showing "annoying drunkenness" in public on Aug. 26, 1956. Why the case is coming to trial now was not explained by court officials but such delays are not unusual in crowded Italian courts.

Sir Bernard said in London that his lawyer was on the way to Naples and "there is nothing more to say at the moment."

★ ★ ★

Recently the Dockers and their yacht were barred from Monaco and the adjacent French Riviera because she tore up a paper Monacan flag. Conviction on the Italian charge would not carry a similar ban but it could mean three years in jail, and presumably Lady Docker wouldn't risk a spell in pokey just to see Capri again.

Religion and Ethics 'on Trial' in Driving

EAST LANSING (INS) — A Michigan State University Traffic expert says motorists put their religion and ethics "on trial" each time they get behind the wheel of an automobile.

J. Carl McMonagle, assistant director of MSU's Highway Traffic Safety Center, calls the moral obligation in driving "the unturned key in the traffic problem."

★ ★ ★

McMonagle, past national president of the Institute of Traffic Engineers, states:

"If we understand that we have a moral obligation to our fellow men . . . and if we understand that our driving behavior reflects the quality of our inner-selves, we will become better drivers.

Supports Labor Cleanup Plans

But AFL-CIO Official Asks Congress Not to Restrict Innocent

WASHINGTON (AP)—The head of the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee voiced support today for some proposals aimed at preventing wrongdoing in the labor movement. Others are opposed.

At the same time, Al Hayes cautioned Congress against imposing "unfair and unjust restrictions on the many who are innocent of any taint of possible or actual wrongdoing."

★ ★ ★

Hayes, president of the International Assn. of Machinists, told a Senate Labor subcommittee that enactment of any such restrictive legislation "will neither foster competent union administration, encourage free and democratic procedures in unions or stabilize labor-management relations."

Hayes was the first labor union spokesman to appear before the subcommittee. His testimony gave little indication that organized labor will support any major reform legislation of the type proposed in numerous bills pending before the subcommittee.

In his prepared testimony, Hayes contended instances of improper conduct disclosed by the Senate Rackets Committee cannot be considered as typical of the labor movement in general. He said the AFL-CIO "has acted with determination and with all the haste possible under democratic procedures" to discipline wrongdoers in the federation.

Hayes restated AFL-CIO support for a proposal to make public annual labor union reports filed with the Labor Department. But he said that "in all justice, employers should be required to make similar public disclosures of their expenditures in the field of labor relations."

★ ★ ★

He told the subcommittee "we would be forced to oppose any legislation for financial reporting by unions" if employers are not made to file similar reports.

He said he was against proposals which he contended would force drastic changes in varying methods developed by unions to elect officers and change their laws and policies.

Girl Pulls Self Home With Back Broken

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—For two miles Mary Morris, her back broken in two places, pulled herself with bleeding hands toward the shelter of home. Her trip to life took four hours.

★ ★ ★

While hiking alone on a rugged mountain trail, Mary fell 20 feet into a creek bed and her back snapped at two places near the waistline. Her calls for help were answered only by echoes.

She started pulling herself toward her home. Four hours later she reached safety, and today she is recuperating in a Juneau hospital. The girl, daughter of Juneau boatbuilder Lee Morris, is encased in a cast.

★ ★ ★

"The fractures were one of those freak things that happen sometimes," her doctor said. "The spinal cord wasn't crushed or there would have been immediate paralysis."

Want to Be Insulted? There's a Small Fee

By EARL WILSON

HOLLYWOOD — We always feel that it takes an Ohio country Jake to appreciate this burg. In my little home town, Rockford, O., anybody who paid $20 to get insulted would have been considered "tetched."

WILSON

Don Rickles, an insult comedian, opened here again—and when I asked a local gal to accompany us, she replied: "I don't know—I didn't like the way he insulted poor Milton Berle the last time." So you know who's going to introduce him this time? Milton Merle.

Nancy Sinatra and her escort, Hugh O'Brian, Betty Grable, Hope Lange, Forrest Tucker, Frank Parker, Norman Krasna, Harry Ritz and John Carroll shared the insults with Uncle Miltie and loved it. Wyatt Earp O'Brian, sitting ringside with Nancy, was constantly reminded, for example, that he smelled like his horse.

"The reason I pick on you," Rickles said to one of the celebrities, "is simple—I don't like you."

To John Carroll, he cracked, "Remember the old days—when you were a star?" He asked Forrest Tucker to repeat a line for a makebelieve playlet. Tucker fluffed. Rickles shouted: "You see why he's not a star any longer." When Berle laughed, he said, "Oh, that Berle's such a phony. He's checking with his wife to see if it's funny."

★ ★ ★

But to show he meant well, he wished everybody "exactly what I have"—he held his tummy—"a little gas."

People are fighting to get in.

Afternoon, Evening Tours Slated at Hospital Annex

Afternoon and evening tours of new Pontiac General Hospital facilities will be conducted next week following dedication of the new addition.

★ ★ ★

The general public was urged by hospital director Carl I. Flath to inspect the new public building. The tours are part of the hospital's National Hospital Week observance, which begins at 3:30 p.m. Sunday with the dedication ceremonies at the new main entrance.

The hospital's women's auxiliary will conduct the tours every half hour from 2-4 p.m. and 7-8 p.m. Monday through Friday. They will begin in the Seminole avenue lobby.

In conjunction with the tours, the auxiliary plans a lobby exhibit of technical and utility hospital equipment and a regular showing of films.

The auxiliary will hold a tea to recruit new members from 2-5 p.m. Monday in the new lobby, its president, Mrs. Raymond Rappaport, said.

★ ★ ★

Hospital annual service award dinner will be held May 14 at Devon Gables Inn. Seventeen employes are to be honored for 10 years service, four for 15 years and one for 34 years.

Veteran Actor Recalls Taking About 450 Jobs in Television

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — E. G. Marshall, whose face is as familiar to most video viewers as the test pattern but whose name is only beginning to gather stardust, freely admits that he would do "anything" to become a major star.

MARSHALL

And since the soft-spoken sensitive Marshall is a man who makes snap decisions and then sticks to them come what may, he might just do "anything" one of these days.

For example, some years ago he was appearing in a "lousy" Broadway play and vowed that he would never appear in another "that didn't stand up in all departments."

Since then, he has played roles ranging from star to bit player in innumerable TV shows and motion pictures.

Similarly, during a radio interview long ago he suddenly decided not to reveal what his first two initials stand for. He has kept that pledge with the faithfulness of a reformed inebriate.

It is typical of the somewhat shy, introverted Marshall that he doesn't covet the realm of stardom occupied by the Bing Crosbys, Clark Gables, Gary Coopers and a few others solely for the rewards it offers in terms of money and fame.

Actually, he says, "I've only recently gotten used to being recognized by the public."

He glanced around the crowded Brown Derby restaurant and went on softly:

"When I came in here just now, for instance, there were two woman who recognized me and spoke to me. That used to bother me tremendously. You know, when you're in a play, unless you're a big star, of course, no one ever recognizes you on the street or in cafes and places.

"But television is three lifetimes for an actor. The average TV actor plays in three times as many shows as Edwin Booth and is seen by millions more people."

Marshall, who reckons he's had about 450 TV jobs, reasons that if he could reach the pinnacle of absolute stardom, he could use the position to his advantage as well as to the benefit of show business and the public. He explained:

"I've always been an actor, really, even as a kid in school, although either because I was shy or because I was snobbish, I never played in school shows. I used to work in little theater groups. I even played old men then.

"Now, if I were in the right positions, I think I could do things that were really good—pick and choose—and perhaps influence the craft. I think I'd know how to use stardom as I think it should be used."
