Gls Thwart Cong; Jets Bomb Close to Hanoi

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Dozens of U.S. fighter-bombers hammered at an oil depot and truck park near Hanoi today in the closest raids to the North Vietnamese capital in five months.

South of the border, a Viet Cong attempt to ambush a detachment of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry backfired.

A spokesman said 88 of the enemy were killed.

He said some Americans were wounded, but none died in the action, on Route 1 about 50 miles south of Saigon.

The enemy unit, estimated as a 500-man battalion, opened the five-hour engagement at 4:30 p.m. with recoilless rifle and mortar fire.

CALL FOR SUPPORT

The cavalry immediately called in artillery and air support.

Preliminary reports were sketchy and the size of the armored unit was not reported.

A Hanoi dispatch broadcast from Moscow declared MIG jets, rockets and conventional aircraft guns responded to the American raids on the Hanoi sector and one U.S. plane was shot down. There was no confirmation of this in Saigon.

Taking advantage of clearing weather, about 20 carrier-based Navy planes attacked the Van Dien vehicle depot five miles south of Hanoi, a U.S. spokesman announced.

Simultaneously, 50 to 70 Air Force Phantom jets and Thunderbolts raided the Ha Gia oil depot 14½ miles north of Hanoi, the spokesman said.

U.S. headquarters said a damage assessment of the raids had not been compiled from the pilots' reports.

Case Dropped in Gun Death of City Girl, 14

A manslaughter charge brought against a Pontiac man in the fatal shooting of a teenage girl last month was dismissed yesterday by Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCullum.

He ruled that the Nov. 12 death of Barbara A. Noel, 14, of 205 W. Princeton was accidental, and that there was no cause to bind Paul A. Gonzales, 21, over to Circuit Court for trial.

The shooting occurred in Gonzales' home at 44½ Seaca.

McCullum had taken the case under the advisement following the completion of testimony at Gonzales' preliminary examination Nov. 24.

The 22-caliber rifle discharged when the girl hit it with her hand while she and Gonzales were "fooling around," said McCullum.

Gonzales, according to testimony of witnesses, had taken the rifle out of a closet shortly before the shooting. He reportedly was planning to take it on a deer-hunting trip.

HARBOR BEACH (AP)—The lone survivor of the ill-fated ore carrier Daniel J. Morrell said today he had given up hope of being rescued from the icy waters of Lake Huron, which claimed the lives of his 28 shipmates.

The sailor, Dennis Hale, 26, of Ashtabula, Ohio, recalled how he watched three others die on a storm-tossed raft bobbing amid towering waves.

"I was hoping to die," Hale said. "I was in terrible pain."

Hale survived 36 hours clinging on poston raft after the 602-foot Morrell cracked in two and sank in the howling gale Tuesday morning about 20 miles north of Harbor Beach.

Hale was asleep in his bunk when tragedy struck.

Showing few effects of the ordeal, Hale spoke to newsmen from a bed wheeled into a hallway of the Harbor Beach Community Hospital.

AT SIDE

He was flanked by his wife, Bertha, 29; his 23-year-old brother, Louis; and his mother, Cecilia Hale.

Glancing at his tearful wife, Hale said he did not think he would go back to sea.

As Hale told his story, the search for eight bodies still missing continued in the frigid waters of Lake Huron, along the snow-covered shoreline near Harbor Beach and across the international border on the Canadian shore.

Planes—including three helicopters—Coast Guard cutters and other craft patrolled the shoreline.

TOO COLD

The weather was so cold that the Coast Guard was unable to launch two 40-foot motor lifeboats which had been used earlier in the search. They were covered with nine inches of ice.

Hale, a 220-pounder, said he did not know how he managed to survive when his shipmates perished.

Doctors had indicated he may have been protected by fat on his body.

Hale said when he got on deck he saw at least 10 men aboard a raft and he climbed on with them.

BROKE AWAY

Shortly after, he said, the aft section of the Morrell broke away from the forward section and the enveloping wave swept the raft and the men on board into the water.

Hale and three others were swept off but managed to swim back.

"Along about daylight the first two fellows died," Hale said.

"The other man died about 4 or 5 o'clock that afternoon.

"They had a glazed expression in their eyes."

Goodfellows Holding Sale in City Today

Proceeds Are Used to Buy Clothes, Food and Fuel for Needy

Pontiac Goodfellows are braving the biting cold today to sell newspapers for Christmas charity.

Firemen, policemen, postmen and former newspaper boys have been selling special editions of The Pontiac Press throughout the city. Papers are also being sold at Tel-Huron, Miracle Mile and the Mall.

Members of Metropolitan Club Spirit 69 opened the 35th annual sale under the direction of Police Lt. William F. Nesbitt, club president; postman Mickey George, vice president in charge of the paper drive and welfare; and fireman L. Ray Wilson, trustee.

Sale proceeds will buy warm clothing for children, Christmas food baskets and fuel oil and coal for winter heating for the needy families in the area.

"The annual Goodfellow sale is a tradition started to help needy families have a merry Christmas," Nesbitt said.

"Sales have gone down in the last four years and that means less food, clothing and coal can be bought," Nesbitt said.

The Salvation Army distributes the goods in a coordinated effort with Christmas charities sponsored by other area organizations.

The goal is $2,500, according to Nesbitt. Last year $1,800 was collected.

The Metropolitan Club was organized in 1919 as a charity organization.

HE SURVIVED TRAGEDY — Dennis Hale, 26, the sole survivor of the Daniel J. Morrell, which went down in Lake Huron early Tuesday, talks with his wife, Bertha, at Harbor Beach Hospital this morning. Hale is recovering after spending 36 hours in a life raft with three companions who died before the rescue.

Before Sputnik

Gavin: U.S. Barred Launch

BOSTON (UPI)—Retired Army Gen. James M. Gavin said yesterday he was given a written order forbidding him to authorize launching a satellite more than a year before Russia launched Sputnik.

Gavin told the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics that Werner von Braun had launched "a Jupiter nose cone over 700 miles into space" in 1956.

Gavin, then head of the Army's research and development programs, said it was felt at the time, "We had the capability of orbiting a satellite."

U. S. Denies Truces Advantage to Cong

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say the Christmas and New Year's truces in the war in Viet Nam will not allow the Communists sufficient time to regroup and resupply their forces.

The officials, addressing editors and broadcasters Thursday at a State Department foreign policy conference, also denied reports that the United States pressured South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky into accepting the cease-fires.

By late summer of 1957, it was clear the Russians were about to launch a spacecraft, but "assertions of this were received with skepticism, if not ridicule," Gavin said.

He was touring Redstone Arsenal of Huntsville, Ala., with Defense Secretary Neil McElroy when word was received Oct. 4, 1957, that Sputnik had been fired into its history-making voyage.

Death Ship Draws Fire of Attorney

HARBOR BEACH (UPI)—An attorney representing the only survivor of a Great Lakes freighter which sank and left 28 seamen to die in Lake Huron's icy waters said today the vessel was unseaworthy.

Maurice Prendergast talked briefly with newsmen who were permitted to enter a hospital room and hear Dennis Hale's account of the final minutes of the ill-fated Daniel J. Morrell before it broke apart during a storm and went to the bottom of the lake Tuesday.

Hale, 26, alone survived the sinking and a 36-hour ordeal on a storm-tossed life raft. He said he will never sail again.

Prendergast, a Cleveland lawyer, and Hale's wife, mother and brother remained at his bedside during the interview with reporters.

"A preliminary investigation has indicated the vessel was unseaworthy," Prendergast said. He did not amplify his comment.

HOPES DASHED

Snow and zero cold enveloped the Lake Huron search area, dashing hope of finding any more survivors of Tuesday's tragedy.

"I don't know why I am alive," the 6-foot, 200-pound Hale said.

His head was propped up on a pillow. The only sign of his 36-hour ordeal was a bandage on the little finger of his right hand.

Pay Crime Victims, Aid Police--Kelley

EAST LANSING (U) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley today called on the 1967 Legislature to establish a state crime victims compensation board and proposed a crash program to upgrade pay and training of law enforcement officers.

Kelley told graduates of the 64th State Police Recruit School that "while we step up our efforts against crime and express concern over the rights of those accused of crime, we cannot in good conscience overlook the rights and needs of crime victims and crime fighters."

GOP Official to Travel, Testing Romney's '68 Bid

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Michigan's Republican national committeeman said today he will begin sounding out Republican leaders in New Hampshire and other states about Michigan Gov. George Romney appearing in their states in 1968 presidential primaries.

John B. Martin, national committeeman from Michigan since 1957 and a close friend of Romney, said he would visit New Hampshire later this month.

The New Hampshire primary is held in March and is considered important to presidential hopefuls because it is the first one.

"Of course, the governor has not made any decision yet as to what he will do in regards to the presidential race," Martin said.

"It is part of my job," he added, "to know as much as possible about the situation, as regards 1968, in various parts of the country and about the situation regarding state primaries and those who might be interested in helping the governor, should he decide to run."

STATES TO VISIT

"I will visit New Hampshire, probably later this month, and probably will also visit other states I will visit."

The Detroit Free Press said today in a copyrighted story that Martin has been in touch with two potential Romney backers in New Hampshire.

Free Press political writer Robert S. Boyd said in a dispatch from Concord, N. H., that Martin had talked with former New Hampshire Republican Chairman William Johnson, a Hanover, N. H., lawyer, and former National Committeeman William Treat, a probate judge in Hampton, N. H.

23 DAYS TILL CHRISTMAS

Special on WWII Generation Saturday

"The Middle-Aged Lions," a special 15,000 word Associated Press feature, will appear tomorrow as a supplement to The Pontiac Press.

This is a story of war and peace, of four men and their lives in the 25 years since Pearl Harbor, of the Depression they lived through, of the war they fought and the dreams they had and the dreams that are now gone.

Four men out of 14 million in uniform in World War II: It is presumption to say of a man that he is typical. But in this case we submit that these four men tell much about the 14 million. Many of those 14 million will find it poignantly familiar. So will their wives and children.

This is a story told in a form usually denied newspapers and usually reserved for television, magazines, books, movies. It is a story of fact with the excitement of fiction. It is a story told with the suspense and structure of a novel and the singular impact of truth.

It is the story of the man running your telegraph desk, the man you played golf with yesterday, the man who runs your filling station. And, most presumptuous of all, we submit, it is the story of that much abused and much misunderstood man in your shaving mirror.

This is the story of a generation. It is a way of introducing that generation to another generation, a way for the withdrawn adolescent to meet his remote father.

"All right dad, tell me, where were you in the big war and what did you do and what did it do to you? What did it interrupt in your life? Were you confused? Were you scared? Did you ever actually kill anybody, dad? How did it feel? What did you do when you got out and how did you think it would be? How, my father, did you come to this time and place, to this house, to me, to your middle age? Did it all work out as you had hoped?"

These are the questions posed early in "The Middle-Aged Lions." And this is the story of "The Middle-Aged Lions." It is the story of a man could tell of himself, to himself, in the stillness of his thoughts, and say, with John Masfield:

"Only stay quiet while my mind remembers The beauty of fire from the beauty of embers."

Changing Pontiac Township Can't Escape Its Problems

By JEAN SAILLE
PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Though this community last spring attained the ripe old age of 139 years, it still hasn't outgrown its problems.
The nature of the area has changed as increasing forays by the city of Pontiac and Sylvan Lake have reduced its once 36-square-mile territory to an oval of "L" totaling about 18 square miles with a population of 10,000.
While the Township Board now debates such items as water pollution and water and sewer service, it once concerned itself with the will bounty, fence-viewers, loose stumps and senescent weeds.
An old history of Oakland County dating from 1817 carries the minutes of the first Township Board meeting.

It was held May 28, 1827, 10 years before the city of Pontiac would incorporate and take the first bite of township land.
TAXES IMPORTANT
Even then taxes were important and the board's first order of business at that first meeting was the selection of three township assessors.
Members then voted to pay no additional bounty to that allotted by the county to encourage the killing of wolves.
The board voted that a fence-viewer be allowed nothing for his services. The presumption is made that this was in reference to surveying, although it might be that even in 1827 there were sidewalk superintendents.

Furthermore, the board decreed that a stallion over 1-year-old caught roaming the territory would bring a fine of $5 to his owner.

REFERENCE TO ROADS
The offense was thought equal to permitting noxious weeds to grow, and the fine for both in discretions was quite a sum of money in those days.
There is a reference to roads in the history — the township being well supplied with good wagon roads referred to as "... four fine graveled turnpikes diverging in various directions from Pontiac."
While the city of Pontiac is no longer part of it, the town still finds itself cut into quadrants by roads.
1-75 split the township a few years ago on a north-to-south curve which pretty well slices the already thin "L." This year's opening of M59 has cut an east-west corridor into township land.

'TAX BASE LOSS'
"It means the loss of tax base," said Clerk Mrs. Greta Block. "The roads and the schools are eating into our property."
A new elementary school, the Grant Graham, is currently being constructed in the Avondale School District which has fairly evenly split the township's students with the city of Pontiac. Rochester School District encompasses one small portion of the township.

Never very much of an industrial area, the township received a shot in the arm this year with the construction of Rochester Village Townhouses on Walton Boulevard.
Valued at about $3 million, the development is to contain about 200 units.
This and the immediate construction of 160 Cohen-Sobel apartment units in Bloomfield Orchards will give some boost to the current state equalized valuation of $23,533,590.

Commercial ventures in the township have grown from an initial investment in 1821 of $100 for land in Auburn Heights where Aaron Webster proceeded to establish a saw-mill.
There was a time when people thought the little settlement would become a leader in the textile field.
Today most of Pontiac Township's people work either in Pontiac or Detroit. Only one active farm is left in the township, that of Forist Cotcher at 3745 Squirrel.
HOPE FOR INDUSTRY
There are three trailer parks, a big new subdivision in Bloomfield Orchards, about 30 new home permits applied for this year throughout the township, and the hope that once the Clinton-Oakland Sewer Interceptor goes through industry will be attracted to the area.

Pontiac Township has signed up for Clinton-Oakland sewer service and is now considering the extension of Detroit water lines into the area.
Some sewer service is available as the Walton Heights Arm services Oakland Township and empties into the Avon Township MSUO Sewage Disposal Plant.
Meantime, there are problems.
The township has been cited for pollution of the Clinton River and a hearing is due in January. Township officials hope their participation in the Clinton-Oakland will satisfy the State Water Resources Commission.

Ideas Sought on Recreation for Rochester

ROCHESTER — The field is presently wide open for ideas to build a good community recreation program.
At a meeting last night called by the board of education, some 22 representatives of various organizations proclaimed the need overwhelmingly for some type of youth activity.
Martin McMurray, moderator for the gathering, said a committee will be appointed to investigate further. He stressed the group's feeling for

Bid for School Bond Sale Is OK'd

ROCHESTER — The board of education has accepted the bid of Bank of the Commonwealth for sale of its $6.2 million in bonds.
Average interest rate quoted was 4.4171 per cent. The bid was one of five submitted for Wednesday night's opening.
The bonds were voted last spring for pay for construction of a new high school, a swimming pool and auditorium in the present high school, a new elementary school, school additions and future site purchases.

adequate youth representation on such a committee.
McMurray said that while the initial effort will most likely be aimed at the high school age level and the emphasis on summer activities, the group will also consider junior high programs.

A future community house with programs for the aged was also discussed.

TREND OF THOUGHT

McMurray said that while the board of education would gladly offer school facilities for such a program, the trend of thinking last night seemed to be away from a school-based program.
A recent survey was conducted in the schools to find out if students thought a community program would meet their needs.
Their response was yes by a good majority.
About six years ago the Rochester Junior Woman's Club operated a Teen Canteen at the American Legion every Friday night. Attendance became limited mostly to junior high school students, according to Mrs. Richard Jerome, president of the Junior Woman's group.
"We did too much for them," said Mrs. Jerome, "and the program died because of student apathy."

"I feel it very important that the kids must be in on the planning of any future program — even to the point of having them match funds for any the community sees fit to allot," she continued.
"A good director is important, as are chaperones," said Mrs. Jerome, "but they must never become obvious."

Man Says: Guilty in Fatal Stabbing

BRUCE TOWNSHIP — John Ray Price, 21, of 318 Chandler pleaded guilty Thursday to a second-degree murder charge in Macomb County Circuit Court.
He had previously pleaded innocent to a first-degree murder charge in the death of 64-year-old Mrs. Charlotte Reiman, 70790 Van Dyke.
She was fatally stabbed Aug. 4. Sentencing is set for Dec. 20.

Group Hears Expert on School Planning

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Planning of a new school should start with the learning process, not with the exterior of the building, the West Bloomfield High School Study Committee was told last night.
At the second meeting of the group, Dr. Russell Wilson of the University of Michigan Bureau of School Service said there is too much emphasis placed on planning the outside of the school and not enough on the equipment that students need to learn.
First, start with the effective ways of learning, he said, then decide what equipment is needed to learn, what space

Exam Adjourned

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Preliminary examination of Holland Meat Co. and seven persons allegedly involved in illegal meat processing operations here has adjourned until Dec. 22. Indicted by Kent County Circuit Judge Stuart Hoffius, acting as a one-man grand jury, was the company, also doing business as Ottawa Sausage Co.; its president, Theodore Everse; his son, Lyle; Gerhard Ritsma; Roy Cooper; his wife, Doris; Edwin L. McIntire, and William Peterman. They were charged as conspirators in an alleged plot to sell uninspected meat from diseased animals.

Troy's School System Hailed

TROY — Some 1,300 high school students are in their second year of a novel program of scheduling classes. It almost is "non-scheduling."
The program has earned Troy High School the Kettering Foundation's nod as "one of the 11 most innovative schools in the country."
Before September, 1965, Troy was a conventional high school with school 6½ hours a day. A student had to have a pass before he was allowed in the halls during class.
But Principal Joseph E. Bechard, and others were convinced students of different capacities needed different programs.
The school also felt that most students would be more interested in learning if they had some responsibility for their own learning.

The Board of Education went along.
Teachers in each department decided how much time would be set aside for lectures, small group discussion and laboratory work.
Today a student may take from six to 12 courses. He'll sit in class from 30 minutes to 1½ hours, but he is free to leave at any time.

If he leaves, or if he doesn't show up at all, the teacher puts his name on an absentee list which after a week is posted for other students to see and is sent to his parents. The school provides no other penalty.
HOURS VARY
He may have from one hour up to five hours of classes each school day.

And he has 40 per cent of his time in school free to do whatever he chooses.
Laboratories are open. The gymnasium is open. The cafeteria is open. Individual study nooks are set up throughout the school building.

Students like the setup.
A poll found they favored the system 10-1.
Principal Bechard says there are bugs in the system, among them the fact that students who loafed in a conventional system are inclined to loaf under Troy's new program.
But, he says, many students are benefiting immensely from the new system because their decision to be there — when they didn't have to — is making the whole thing work.

Hearing Is Dec. 12 on Novi Cityhood
NOVI — A hearing will be held Dec. 12 to determine whether the village can bypass a state statute and vote to incorporate as a home rule city.
Attorney William Ibershof, representing a citizens committee seeking cityhood for the village, filed a motion for summary judgment this week in Oakland County Circuit Court which will permit a ruling without a trial.
A state statute requires a population density of 500 persons per square mile to incorporate but a State Supreme Court opinion has noted that an incorporated entity such as Novi is not bound by the ruling.

Walled Lake Gets Fire Truck for Christmas

WALLED LAKE — This city's fire department got a shiny new red fire truck for Christmas.

Although it cost the city $10,000, officials are as thrilled with it as if it had been left under their tree on Christmas morning.
The lightweight, fast-moving little truck is unique in the area, according to its designer Jerry Forman of the Young Equipment Co. of Southfield.
It should appeal to small communities since it can be handled by one person until more help arrives on the scene.

The little truck will be the first one out on a fire as it is light and can move faster than the large trucks.

Fire Chief Basil Stoddard figures that it will be able to take care of 99 per cent of the calls, making the larger, more costly trucks last 10 to 15 years longer.

Action Deferred on Policy for School Administrators

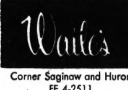

TROY — Action was deferred by the board of education on a proposed policy change on the appointment of administrators.
The policy change, aimed at clearing up a hazy area regarding appointments of school principals, assistant principals, the administrative assistant and the elementary coordinator, was reviewed by the board at its meeting this week. Action was deferred until the Dec. 13 meeting.
The proposed policy as discussed provides that such personnel will be appointed for one to three years with the first year serving as a probationary period.
A probationer would be notified in writing three months before the end of his term as to whether his contract will be continued.
Should such an employee fail to be rehired in an administrative position he would return to his former teaching job with no loss in pay on the teaching salary scale.
LIBRARY MATERIAL
Lawrence Hamilton, director of special education, told of findings regarding the acceptance of library-material centers in most of the forthcoming installation in Troy schools.

Possible ways of planning to include a reading room, class area, equipment storage room, librarian's office and work room were pointed out.

Board member Robert Dolmage moved that the contract for five backpacks at the High School athletic field plus restraining fencing be awarded to Allen Fence Co. at the low bid of $4,544, if the bid was found to meet specifications.

Fete for Pastor

DETROIT (AP) — The Rev. James H. Laird will be named Man of the Year by the Michigan Branch of the American Civil Liberties Union at a farewell dinner in his honor Dec. 20. Dr. Laird, pastor of Central Methodist Church for eight years, will leave Detroit Jan. 1 for a job with the American Friends Society in Philadelphia.

Zhukov, 70, Regains Russia Hero Status

By JOHN WEYLAND

MOSCOW (AP) — Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, the Soviet Union's most famous World War II soldier, celebrated his 70th birthday today a national hero once more.

The government awarded him the Order of Lenin, its highest decoration, in honor of his birthday and in recognition of "his services to the armed forces of the Soviet Union."

Nikita Khrushchev dismissed Zhukov as defense minister in 1957 and confined him in oblivion. But the new Kremlin leaders have allowed him to make public appearances, publish his memoirs and appear as himself in a film about the war.

The new recognition has not been accompanied by high public office, but age and health could figure in this. The marshal suffered a reportedly serious heart attack a year ago.

High-Speed Cars

BOSTON (AP) — Railroad cars that will be used in high-speed runs between Boston and Washington have already been tested at speeds of 131 miles per hour, says an official of the Budd Co., which is building the cars.

Speeds up to 160 miles an hour are expected when the line goes into service early next year.

Boost Missile Defense—Russell

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Richard B. Russell stepped into the burgeoning Nike-X controversy today by declaring that the Pentagon should move ahead at once with all phases of the costly missile defense system.

"I think it's time to make a determination that we're going to defend our people," said the Georgia Democrat, the powerful chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and the military appropriations subcommittee.

Despite intense pressure from Congress, Defense Secretary

Robert S. McNamara has been delaying a decision on whether the United States should go all-out to build Nike-X, a multi-billion-dollar defense against intercontinental Ballistic Missiles (ICBMs).

Congressional military experts of both parties have indicated that one of the first big battles of the new 90th Congress may well be over the Nike-X system.

Six thousand persons perished Jan. 30, 1945, when the German ship Wilhelm Gustloff, loaded with refugees, sank off Danzig.

City Hails New Truck & Coach Head

MARTIN J. CASERIO, new general manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division, was "officially" welcomed to Pontiac at a recent Chief Pontiac reception.

CASERIO

The informal organization that gathers periodically to signalize significant community developments found the 50-year-old honoree a most gracious and magnetic figure—so much so that it could have been wondered who was welcoming whom.

A native of Michigan and a

GM veteran of 30 years, Caserio was general manager of the AC Spark Plug Division in Flint before his transfer to Pontiac to head the Corporation's South Boulevard operation.

It has been Pontiac's good fortune that the many top executives whom General Motors has named to direct its local divisions have been men of superior administrative capacity with a keen sense of public interest. The most recent appointee fully measures up to established standards.

To MARTIN CASERIO The Pontiac Press adds its own words of welcome and good wishes to those so eloquently expressed by the "tribe" of Chief Pontiac.

Latin American Country 'Digging Out' of Hole

The United States government is taking more than a good-neighborly interest in something called "Operation Triangle" that was launched in Bolivia in 1961.

The reason is tin, a metal that is finding increasing use in the automotive and aerospace industries, as well as being consumed in vast quantities in the tinplate and solder that are indispensable in consumer products. This Nation is wholly dependent upon outside sources for this important commodity.

Currently, 63.4 per cent of the world's production of tin comes from Malaysia, Indonesia and Thailand, sources that could be cut off in the event of a major conflagration in Southeast Asia. Bolivia's "Operation Triangle," supported by loans from the U.S. Agency for International Development, West Germany and the Inter-American Development Bank, is aimed at revitalizing its mining industry and eventually providing it with the capacity to meet the tin needs of this hemisphere.

Now mining 16.7 per cent of the world's tin supply, Bolivia last year realized its first profit from its ore-rich mountains in more than a decade. It also recently balanced its budget for the first time without American aid.

Paradoxically, the step-up in mining could result in a kind of embarrassment of riches for Bolivia in that today almost all of its ore must be shipped for processing to Britain, the largest smelter in tin outside Malaysia. Thus another goal of "Operation Triangle" is to build enough plants to enable Bolivia to smelt a third of its own ore by 1967.

Man's Attainments Not Measured by His Years

How long do you think you are going to live?

Well, if an eminent pathologist is right, you can stick around until you are 81—provided you are an average person and that some hot-head doesn't drop a hydrogen bomb. The only way to raise this figure, in the opinion of Dr. ROBERT R. KOHN of Western Reserve University, is to cure aging itself. And he concedes that this doesn't appear likely—right now, at least.

Aging, says Dr. Kohn, is a normal disease. And he points out that even if positive cures are found for such major killers as cancer and hardening of the arteries, old mother nature will slug you with her Sunday punch—a thing called natural death.

Dr. KOHN's pronouncement is interesting but not too frightening. To the young, 81 years seems an infinity they cannot envision. To those who have reached and passed the magic mark what can be a sense of satisfaction that they are proving they are above average—something most of us secretly suspect.

It is true but true that it isn't how long you live that counts, but how you use your time. The case of a young man named JOHN F. KENNEDY comes to mind.

The best formula for living still seems to be to make every day count and leave the actuarial worries to Dr. Kohn and insurance statisticians.

Latest on Budget Is a Shocker

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — That was a shocker, that kind of a $40 billion federal budget for next year, a jump of $27 billion over the almost $13 billion budget President Johnson asked for this year.

MARLOW

If you were fiddling with the budget, as Johnson is, you'd need more than just an adding machine. You'd need a good public relations staff too.

Johnson, always aware of what public relations men call a good image, has been a pretty good public relations staff himself, at least on budgets and spending. He's still working at it.

One of his first tasks when Congress returns in January is to submit his budget, that fantastic itemized list of how much he thinks the government must spend in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1967.

Down in Texas, where he is working while recovering from his recent operations, his biggest single problem between now and January will be getting the budget ready.

KEEPS THE IMAGE

But he never forgets the image he wants to create—that of a thrifty president, running around chopping at dollar signs—as he has demonstrated in the past and is doing again.

For days, the news from Texas has been telling how Johnson has been wrestling with government spending.

Only Tuesday, he told newsmen that federal programs totaling $5.3 billion were being canceled or delayed in the current fiscal year ending June 30, for which his budget has been about $13 billion.

He said a whole bunch of advisers had recommended cuts, and that congressional leaders of both parties are all for cutting, which may have been intended to take some heat off him.

AFFECTED BY CUTS

While a president gets massacred by critics if he calls for big spending, he also hears endless cries of pain from that part of the citizenry which is affected by cuts in spending.

Wednesday night, out of Texas came a story quoting unnamed "experts" as predicting that maybe next year's budget will soar from this year's $13 billion to an American record budget of $140 billion.

It has been a long time since the country took such a big budget jump as is suddenly being talked about now. The last time was back in the days of President Harry S. Truman and the Korean War.

Early in 1950, just six months before that war began, his budget was only $42.5 billion. The next year it shot up to $71.5 billion, the next to $85.5 billion, a boost of $43 billion. Then it tapered off.

Even so, Johnson would look like more of an economist than Truman with a $27 billion boost.

The New Congress Sits For His Portrait

David Lawrence Says:

Oswald Plot Theory Unfounded

WASHINGTON — Murders are often decided by circumstantial evidence — and the case of Lee Harvey Oswald, who killed President Kennedy, can be judged the same way.

The real mystery is why there has been so much suspicion engendered that someone contrived with Oswald as an accomplice to commit the crime. For there is clear evidence of the grudge of one individual. It is surprising that this has not been given more attention.

The records of the Warren Commission, for instance, show that Lee Harvey Oswald was transferred from active duty in the Marine Corps in 1959 under honorable conditions, but later, when it was learned that he had defected to Russia, he was given an "undesirable" discharge from the Marine Corps reserves.

He was still proud of his service in the Marine Corps and attempted to have the taint removed from his discharge papers. He wrote to the then secretary of the Navy, John B. Connally, on Jan. 30, 1962, a letter in which he said: "I shall employ all means to right this gross mistake or injustice."

Connally, who had already resigned to run for governor of Texas, wrote back to Oswald that he had forwarded the letter to his successor in the Navy Department. But Oswald continued to nurse his grievance and, when he heard that the Texas governor was going to be in Dallas, may well have made up his mind to get revenge.

Gov. Connally told the commission in his testimony: "I am not at all sure he was shooting at me. I think I could give some logic again either way."

But the fact remains that Oswald was deeply affected by the "undesirable" discharge and sought redress. He owned a rifle and apparently had no hesitancy in using it. The Warren Commission said in its report:

"Even though Oswald apparently did not express any hostility against the president or Gov. Connally, he continued to be concerned about his undesirable discharge. It is clear that he thought he had been unjustly treated . . ."

The idea that someone else was involved has nothing tangible to support it.

Discussion, however, will continue in the future as it always has in the past on spectacular murders. When new theories are introduced, the simple facts on record which establish the motive are often ignored.

A deranged mind needs no accomplice. Lee Harvey Oswald was bitter at his fate, and used his rifle against the man or men he believed to be responsible for his discharge.

Bob Considine Says:

Mao Still Big in Sports, According to Red Press

HONG KONG — Mao Tse-tung is still a big man in sports even though he hasn't swum the Yangtze River for weeks. As an old sports-writer I have been following him avidly on the ticker of Hsinhua, the official Red Chinese news agency, which comes up like thunder across the bay.

Jack Dempsey and Joe DiMaggio still draw big crowds and adulation, but Mao is a wow. If you don't think so, get a load of Hsinhua:

"During the recent International Table Tennis Invitational Tournament in Peking, players from Yemen, Palestine and other countries asked for the works of Chairman Mao as soon as they arrived."

"When they got the long-awaited works of Chairman Mao they began to study them in real earnest."

"As soon as table tennis players caught sight of portraits of Mao during a visit to the Peking Physical Culture Institute, they impulsively broke out with cheers of 'Mao Tse-tung! Mao Tse-tung!'"

Thus confirming an old suspicion I've harbored about table tennis players.

Seventeen nations sent teams to the Asian games being contested in Phnom Penh, capital of Cambodia. Among the contestants is a team representing the Viet Cong.

They are overwhelming favorites to win a gold medal in the grand throw if that's on the schedule of events in communism's answer to the Olympic Games.

The International Olympics committee has boycotted these Asian games on the simple grounds that the whole thing is just a cover-up and prostitution of sports in order for Communist and certain Communist-leaning neutral officials to get together and hatch up new plots and propaganda plots.

This has aroused Hsinhua no end.

Their man in Peking writes,

"Our great leader, Chairman Mao, has said, 'Make trouble, fail, make trouble again, fail again, until their doom. That is the kid's logic of the imperialists and reactionaries the world over in dealing with the people's cause, and they will never go against this logic.'"

"This brilliant conclusion by Chairman Mao has been once more proved by the attitude of the Olympic Committee under the control of the United States Imperialist Avery Brundage, towards the people and sportsmen of the new emerging forces now independently developing their sports."

Time was — and only 13 years ago — when it took four days to go around the world once. Our newest pacemakers in space — James A. Lovell Jr. and Edwin E. Buzz Aldrin Jr. — did it 59 times, traveling a staggering 1.6 million miles in 94 hours 33 minutes.

It was an astounding adventure, a work project which proved that man can do jobs in the wilderness heavens outside a spacecraft with no more fatigue than a surveyor with a leveling rod at the World Trade Center site.

'Politicos' Trip to Orient an Affront to Taxpayer'

The recent all-expenses paid "junket" to Japan and the Far East of five members of the Michigan legislature is an affront to the people of our State and a graphic example of the financial irresponsibility of the democratically-controlled legislature.

Fortunately there is available a simple and effective remedy for the salary-grabbing, thriftless body that now controls Michigan—if and when taxpayers are ready to demand it.

A snug, closed place for your pet to sleep can be made by placing two cardboard cartons of the same size together, one over the top of the other, and cutting an entrance in the side, with a piece of heavy material for a flap. Placed on your porch or in your garage, this can make a cozy shelter.

Advises Complaining Women 'Go to Work'

I am disgusted with the women who complain about a 40-hour week. I wonder what they would do with even less? Three years ago, my husband worked in the woods, barely making enough to pay rent and light bills. I cooked on a wood range to save fuel and we had no hot water. We have four children.

They complain Christmas is coming. Why don't they go and work beside their husbands instead of putting it all on their shoulders?

Calls Truck Drivers' Attention to Hazard

I wish to make an urgent plea to the truck drivers who park on Commerce Road across from Kay's Restaurant in Commerce Village, to be more safety conscious.

Some of these drivers park double and too close to the corner of Ponderosa. They create a serious traffic hazard. It is impossible to see if traffic is clear when moving into Commerce Road from Ponderosa because these trucks block the driver's view. I have almost been hit here on two occasions.

I am appealing to the drivers to correct this dangerous situation. If they don't they may be responsible for a serious accident at that corner.

A CONCERNED CITIZEN

Question and Answer

As I was listening to words of a song the other day—"How deep is the ocean?" etc.—I got to wondering. How deep is the ocean?

NO ROMANTIC

REPLY

The Mariana Trench in the Pacific has the deepest places in the oceans. The USSR Academy of Sciences reported in 1959 that a Soviet ship had found a depth of 36,198 feet (to save you the trouble, that's almost seven miles). In 1951, a British ship obtained a depth of 35,640 feet about 200 miles southwest of Guam.

Technically Innocent

Indianapolis Star

During a case that came before the Indiana Supreme court Judge Norman F. Arterburn made this interesting observation:

"If the defendant is tried early and loses the case, he will contend that he had not sufficient time to prepare for the trial. If he is tried late, he will contend the trial was delayed, in violation of his constitutional rights."

The time has come for re-affirmation of the basic purpose of law, which is to protect the innocent from the machinations of the guilty. A court case must not be looked upon as a baseball game, in which a home run is disallowed because the runner passed a half-inch away from second base but didn't actually touch it as he went around.

French 'Swinger' Pays a Visit to N.Y.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—She looks like a gazelle in miniskirts. She doesn't wear rouge or lipstick. She doesn't smoke.

"And I don't dance at all except in my mind always," she said.

But at 22, Francoise Hardy, the symbol of swinging youth in France, is reported to get more fan mail than Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

FIRST HIT SONG

The young singer composed her first hit song, "All the Boys and Girls," at 17. Since then, she has met with an international acclaim as the quick rise of the Beatles, Elvis Presley, and Barbra Streisand.

The French government, which she says now takes 65 percent of her earnings, considers her a national resource.

"Everything happened to me so easily," she said. "But success forces you to be too concentrated in yourself. It makes you egocentric, and I am afraid that is now my biggest fault."

Francoise is pale and tall and lovely and has green eyes, a quick wit, and long hair that falls around her shoulders in an auburn mist.

She came here for a visit while making her English-speaking debut as a star in the MGM-Cinerama film, "Grand Prix."

Miss Hardy is a style setter in dress as well as in song in Europe. She once created a sensation by strolling into the staid Savoy Hotel in London in orange trousers.

Heads craned, too, the other day when she entered the fashionable 21 Club restaurant here clad in a beige sweater, dark Italian moccasins, heavily textured white stockings, and a very abbreviated plaid skirt.

She couldn't have received more startled glances if she had been a penguin in a striped sport jacket.

"The American people treat you more as an object than as a person," she remarked with quiet composure. "This is not true in Paris."

EATS SPARINGLY

Over a vegetarian plate — Francoise eats sparingly only twice a day — she told about her life.

"I want to know a lot of things — everything about everything, but I know that is impossible," she said.

"To be a singer, you have to do all the time uninteresting things. When singers meet, all they want to do is talk about songs. But I suppose doctors are the same way, and talk about nothing but diseases."

"I hope that in the future I'll find something else to do, but I don't know yet what. I don't feel clever enough to be a writer, and I never wanted to be an actress."

MAINTAINS STAFF

Francoise, who accompanies herself on the guitar, also keeps a staff of five musicians on her payroll. She herself composes about half of the songs she records or sings on television.

"It is a very important part of me," she said. "When I write a song, it makes me feel secure, safe."

"But I no longer care for many of my first songs. Now they seem childish — as if they were a museum of me."

"I usually write my songs in hotel rooms after midnight in the bathroom, because the acoustics are better in bathrooms. I sing as I write — uh, yes."

HER PHILOSOPHY

This is her philosophy: "I am too young yet to know if life has a meaning. But I believe it is better to regret what you have done than what you haven't done. Who doesn't risk anything, has nothing."

To her, motherhood is the finest expression of creativity. But she says that at present she has no marriage plans.

"In France, we do not marry as readily as you do here," she said.

Group Launches Stop-Romney Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—A stop-Romney drive was launched Thursday by a conservative Republican group that said it looks with favor on California Gov. elect Ronald Reagan as a possible 1968 GOP presidential nominee.

"It is our intention to vigorously oppose the nomination of any candidate as a Republican who has not, in the past, supported all other Republican nominees," chairman D. Bruce Evans of United Republicans of America (URA) told a news conference.

Evans made it clear this means Gov. George Romney of Michigan, a 1968 presidential possibility who refused in 1964 to endorse Republican nominee Barry Goldwater. However, Evans said URA will support Romney if he received the nomination.

Evans said the group could support former Vice President Richard M. Nixon against Romney if Reagan does not enter the race but that "personally all of us are very pro-Reagan."

URA will hold a convention in Dallas, Tex., in February 1968 to endorse a presidential candidate for whom it will work in Republican primaries and conventions, Evans said.

He mentioned another 1968 possibility, Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio, who, he said, is "an outstanding governor who should move on to higher office at some time."

URA is one of a number of conservative Republican groups that appeared after Goldwater's 1964 election defeat.

Evans said URA is no longer keeping a national membership list but is concentrating on state, regional and local groups. State organizations have been chartered in California, Oregon, Illinois, New Jersey and Pennsylvania and will be started soon in Michigan, Ohio and Texas. He said county organizations already are under way in Ohio.

Watnright Dawson Jr., director of field organizations for URA, said last month's Republican election gains of three Senate seats, 47 House seats and eight governorships were the result of "a Johnson backlash."

Also participating in the news conference was H. William Mulaney, newly appointed chairman of the United Republicans of New Jersey.

Speck Trial Set Out of Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard Speck, accused of strangling and stabbing to death eight student nurses, will stand trial downstate in an effort to obtain a jury unbiased by pretrial publicity.

Judge Herbert C. Paschen granted a motion for a change of location Thursday, saying, "There is nothing I can do. It now becomes my duty to send another county where I believe the defendant can obtain a fair trial."

Judge Frees Needed Father

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Bruno T. Pepe, 31, of Wilmington, Del., walks out of the Lewisburg federal penitentiary today because of a judge's ruling that Pepe's family can't live without him.

U.S. District Judge Caleb M. Wright granted Pepe parole Wednesday from his 18-month prison term for a gambling violation after hearing this testimony:

— His 7-year-old son has refused to receive First Communion since Pepe was imprisoned on Sept. 9.

— His 9-year-old daughter is suffering from insomnia.

— His wife has become a "disorganized woman."

Mrs. Pepe, 30, also told the court the effect of her husband's imprisonment has been so severe on her family that three of their six children are undergoing psychiatric treatment.

Several witnesses supported her testimony, including the psychiatrist, Dr. James A. Flaherty, who said Pepe must have been "an excellent father" and a man of "enormous love and warmth."

Plans for $137,000 in Improvements OK'd

Final plans for site development projects at Waterford Township and Waterford Kettering high schools, estimated to cost $137,000, were approved last night by the board of education.

The board, subsequently, authorized architects Wakely-Kushner Associates, Inc., of St. Clair Shores to advertise for bids which will be opened Dec. 22.

The estimated project cost exceeds by $16,000 the amount budgeted for the undertaking, according to architects.

Altogether, $335,000 has been set aside for improvements at the two high schools, including interior alterations. The construction was approved last June by school district voters who passed two bonding proposals totaling $10,775,000.

The plans approved last night consisted primarily of athletic improvements.

SPORTS EQUIPMENT

Earmarked for Kettering High School are bleachers, with 1,000 seats, and four asphalt tennis courts. Designed to hold a capacity of 2,000 spectators, the bleachers will consist of 17 rows and five exits.

Township High School plans accepted last night will provide a new eight-lane track; four asphalt tennis courts; three softball fields; a new baseball diamond and parking lot expansion which will increase the number of available spaces to 425.

In other business last night, a group of parents requested the board's assistance to remedy what they term "hazardous walking conditions" in the Manley School attendance area.

The new Manley School at 2809 Van Zandt, opened this fall with an enrollment of 454 pupils. It is situated adjacent to Kettering High School.

The parents contend that speeding motorists in the immediate area present a serious safety problem to children especially in the early fall and spring.

Kettering Principal James Fry said his school has taken precautions to solve the safety problem, especially since the new elementary school opened.

Bumps were installed near Manley School, but were leveled off by youths, according to school officials. They will be repaired.

Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe admitted "We have a problem at this school," but stressed that some other areas face more serious problems.

FEW RESPONSIBLE

Board members generally agreed that only a few motorists are responsible for the condition and that not all of them are students.

Board Treasurer Donald Porter suggested that known violators in the high school be recruited to participate in safety programs "to give them a sense of accountability and a more severe exposure to the problem."

"I would like to think that we can concentrate our efforts more to the root of the problem, which is the violators," said Porter.

The board promised the parents it will continue to consider the problem.

BID ACCEPTED

A bid of $17,500 was accepted by the board for installation of a new septic system at Stringham School, 4350 Elizabeth Lake.

The bid was submitted by Superior Installers and Excavators, Inc., of Pontiac Township.

The board also approved contracts for two teachers.

Car Exec Hits Plans to Cut Road Funds

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A Ford Motor Co. executive yesterday said that plans to cut back highway expenditures in 1967 would result in death to more motorists.

Benson Ford, chairman of the company's dealer policy board, told the Charleston Chamber of Commerce that "no single move can save more lives than construction of modern, well-designed highways."

Ford made reference to a Bureau of Public Roads survey that said one-third of all persons killed in highway accidents are killed on interstate highways.

"Thus," Ford concluded, "the recent action by the federal government will work directly against highway safety."

Ford said the cutback will not reduce general government expenditures because the highway fund is separate, and financed by taxes by motorists.

"We have pleaded for years for accelerated highway construction," Ford said. "We were shocked by the government's sudden move to reduce road building substantially next year."

Has High Cart

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (UPI)—Firemen were called for a tree rescue. Someone had hauled a wheeled wire cart, the kind found in supermarkets, onto a branch 30 feet above ground.

Resignation Is Accepted, New Principal Appointed

The resignation of Mrs. Shirley McCoy, veteran food service director for the Waterford Township School District, was accepted last night by the board of education.

Mrs. McCoy, who has served the Waterford Township School District for 16 years, has accepted a position with the Wayne County Intermediate School District as consultant in home economics and school food service.

The board also appointed a principal for Silver Lake School to replace Ronald Arnold who had resigned to accept another position.

The new principal is James M. Jennings, 31, who has been employed as elementary coordinator in Galesburg - Augusta Community Schools near Kalamazoo.

The recipient of two degrees from Western Michigan University, Jennings also has served as an elementary school principal, a summer school director, an elementary school teacher and an assistant high school football coach.

He is married and the father of three boys.

The board also accepted the resignation of Mrs. Patricia A. Potet, an English and speech teacher at Waterford Township High School the past five years of education.

Creek Floods Road in U.P.

LANSING (UPI)—The Department of Highways has been forced to close nine miles of MS from Little Lake to McFarland in Marquette County because of flooding of Saw Mill Creek just south of Little Lake in the Upper Peninsula.

Sam Cryderman, assistant maintenance operations engineer, said yesterday the cause of the flooding could not be immediately determined, though a beaver dam is suspect.

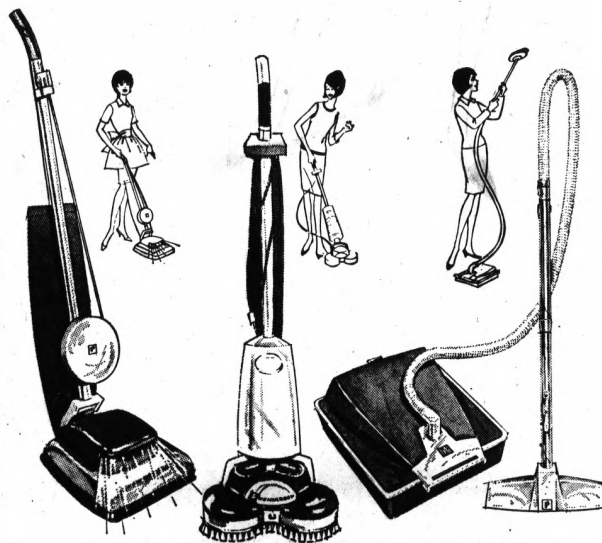

He said signs warning of the closure will be placed at Gladstone to the south and at the junction of highways U.S. 31 and MS east of Negaunee.

A department spokesman said the road will be closed for at least a day or two.

Ushers for the two nights have been provided by the Senior Committee, an organization of senior representatives to promote the senior class and school spirit on activities.

No Immediate Drop in Food Prices Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new chairman of the House Agriculture Committee says there is no likelihood of any immediate drop in food prices but this situation may ultimately work out better for the consumer.

"In the long run, the prices of food depend on supply, and supply depends on whether the farmer gets a reasonable return for his work," says W. R. (Bob) Poage, who hails from the cotton and farming area of central Texas.

As ranking Democrat on the committee, he steps in next January to the chairmanship long held by Rep. Harold D. Cooley of North Carolina. Cooley was defeated for reelection Nov. 8.

SATISFACTORY PRICE

Page reasons this way: "If prices of food products are maintained at a reasonable, stable level, the farmer will step up production, and in that way a price satisfactory to the farmer and reasonable to the consumer is maintained."

"If the price the farmer receives is too low, he will cut down on production, and a serious shortage may result, bringing skyrocketing prices. Then the consumer really gets hurt."

Poage, who lives in Waco, Tex., was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in 1936 after serving 12 years in the Texas Legislature. He looks much younger than his 66 years, and congressional friends say he is a man of extraordinary vigor.

He has enlisted many a hearing before the Agriculture Committee by literally leaping out of his chair to startle and to question a witness.

MASTERFUL JOB

U. S. farmers, he told an interviewer, do a masterful job of keeping the country supplied with food, and also add to the nation's economy by producing for export. But only about a third of the price the consumer pays reaches the farmer, he says. The rest goes to processors, distributors and retailers, and for handling expenses and incidental costs such as fancy packaging.

The congressman keeps close tab on agriculture throughout the world, makes occasional trips to study foreign aid and food problems, and since 1947 has taken part in meetings of the Interparliamentary Union, where legislators of many nations meet to exchange ideas.

The way prices and other things are going right now, he does not see how food prices can come down.

"They are more likely to go up a little," he concedes. "But if prices can be maintained, through supply, at a reasonable level, the disaster of shortages will be avoided, and the consumer spared peak prices."

Poage says there is little likelihood of any major farm legislation coming up next year.

Business Group Urges Tax Boost, Spending Cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A blue-ribbon business group has recommended a one-year across-the-board tax increase and reduced federal spending to head off a federal budget deficit and cool the economy.

The prestigious Committee for Economic Development (CED) said yesterday the combined program could produce a budget surplus of $3 billion.

The CED report made it clear the group would prefer a spending reduction to the from $10 billion to $13 billion, much of it due to the high cost of the Viet Nam war.

TAX BOOST

As for the tax increase, the CED said it "should be of a kind that will yield the revenue needed, that can be quickly imposed, that will be accepted by the country, and that can be easily withdrawn when the emergency has passed."

The CED recommendation came as:

- The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, Rep. George Mahon (D-Tex.), endorsed President Johnson's planned $3 billion reduction in federal spending.
- The chairman of that committee's subcommittee on health, education and welfare—Rep. John E. Fogarty, D-R.I.—called for larger appropriations in new programs of medical care supported by the federal government.
- Rep. Olin Teague, D-Tex., said it was likely the National Aeronautics and Space Administration would be a casualty of budget cutting. Last year the agency had a $3 billion budget.

20% IN GROUP

The CED, composed of 200

businessmen and educators, Co., Inc., dissented from the 13-man committee's report.

He said that the need for a tax increase was "doubtful at best" because of uncertain indicators in various sectors of the economy. He said the most prudent course was to wait and see before ordering a tax increase which might have "excessively dampening effects."

"The probability that we are now running a deficit in the federal budget and that a continued deficit is in prospect forebadows persisting upward pressures on prices. This danger should be averted."

The report said the surplus financing in the federal budget would exert a dampening influence on the economy, which in turn would act against "persistent inflation."

Hare Forming Unit to Push Vote Reforms

LANSING (AP)—Secretary of State James Hare is forming a platoon of ex-legislator lobbyists which he hopes can get his long-favored election reform views written into law.

Hare had said previously he is planning to dismiss 10 to 20 of his branch managers around the state and to replace many of them, perhaps about 10, with Democratic members of the legislature who were defeated Nov. 8.

Questioned Thursday, he said he hoped the experience, knowledge and contacts of the lawmakers would pave the way for Hare's twice-rejected bill.

And, he said, that's just what he's going to ask his branch managers to do during the next legislative session.

"They're knowledgeable about the legislative process, and they know intimately many more legislators than I do," Hare said. "I haven't been able to get it through, but I hope they can."

The bill Hare wants would limit the expenditure of a statewide political candidate to $50 for each 1,000 votes cast for governor during the previous election. Nearly 2.5 million votes were cast in the Romney-Ferency race Nov. 8.

"I'm particularly concerned with the growing, escalating spending for elections in this state," Hare said, adding the high cost of winning elections may let undesirable influences into Michigan politics.

"If candidate X has quite a lot of money of his own, and if candidate Y, who may be just as good a man, can raise the same amount only with difficulty," he said, "then Y starts looking for money in places where he shouldn't."

DOESN'T LIMIT SPENDING

Present election law purports to limit spending but doesn't, Hare said, because it lets any number of committees spend up to the limit per committee.

And, Hare said, the current law doesn't require such committees to register. And if the committee treasurer lives outside Michigan, he doesn't have to file an expense statement in the state.

"You ought to be able to run a statewide campaign on $300,000 as an absolute maximum," said Hare a veteran of seven successful statewide campaigns.

Unofficial figures indicate Republican U. S. Sen. Robert Griffin spent about $500,000 in the recent campaign and his opponent, G. Mennen Williams, spent $350,000.

UNVEILING IN DENMARK — A bust of the late President John F. Kennedy is unveiled at the Kennedy School in Gladsaxe, Denmark, yesterday. The school, named in honor of the late president, was dedicated in 1965. Sculptor Svend Lindhardt (left) watches Gladsaxe Mayor Erhard Jacobsen do the unveiling.

Dilemma for Kelley

Soapy Exceeds Fund Limits

LANSING (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley apparently will face the ticklish problem of whether to prosecute former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, a fellow Democrat, for spending too much money on his losing campaign for the U.S. Senate.

Wayne County elections Director Leonard F. Howe said he would send Kelley a copy of a report from Williams' campaign committee showing expenditures of $384,863 including $190,000 from Williams' own fortune.

The law limits campaign spending on a formula under which no single committee in the Williams campaign could legally spend more than $126,800, Howe said yesterday.

But no one has ever been prosecuted under the law. Most candidates get around it by splitting their election costs among several committees since the law restricts spending only by individual groups not as a total for the candidate.

Williams, however, filed all his campaign expenditures under one committee.

Young Execs Set Contabs

Young Junior Achievement business executives from southeastern Michigan will meet on the Southfield campus of the Lawrence Institute of Technology tomorrow and Dec. 10.

Some 2,000 officers from 400 J. A. companies are expected to attend the two sessions of the annual Junior Achievement Management Conference.

During the two 9 a.m.-5:30 p.m. programs, the teen-agers will hold workshops with their advisers and other adult businessmen.

Post Office Is Keeping Up With Jump in Area Volume

The Pontiac Post office is sending out mail as quickly as it comes in, according to Clarence Smith, superintendent of mails.

"The post office is currently handling about 350,000 pieces daily, about 19 per cent more than last year," Smith said.

Pontiac Post Office hours from Monday until the day before Christmas are from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. every Monday through Saturday except Dec. 24 when the office closes at noon. Notified mail may be picked up until 5 p.m. that day.

On Sunday, Dec. 11 the post office will be open from 1 to 4 p.m. for stamps and parcel post only. On Sunday, Dec. 18, the post office will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. for the same services.

The Federal Building Post Office and the Auburn Heights branch have the same hours as the Pontiac Post Office on Monday through Saturday, but are both closed on Sunday.

WINDOWS OPEN
Money order windows will continue during normal hours.

All patrons in the lobby at the time will be waited on, regardless of how long it may require, postal authorities say.

Smith said he has more than 250 "Zip-Lists" without return addresses.

He asks that patrons who sent their lists in more than one week ago and have not received finished lists contact him.

Some 97 temporary employees have been hired to keep the mail flowing smoothly during the Christmas period.

Gls, S. Koreans in PX Rift

SAIGON, South Viet Nam. U.S. servicemen have had a (AP) — Resentment is growing between U.S. and South Korean servicemen in South Viet Nam as a result of rivalry for such highly valued post exchange items as TV sets.

The Americans complain that Koreans are organized systematically to snatch up such items soon after they appear in the PXs. Some Americans said they suspect the Koreans are selling the goods on the black market.

A South Korean spokesman replied that some of his country's servicemen have complained that certain American PX managers keep desirable merchandise out of sight until

He told a reporter the South Korean command is bearing down hard to prevent black market dealings by Korean troops. Korean Criminal Investigation agents have received no reports of any improper resale of TV sets by Korean servicemen, the spokesman added.

"NO GREAT PROBLEM"
A representative of the U.S. command said:

"So far as we are concerned, there is no great problem at present on Koreans abusing the PX privilege or diverting PX items into the black market."

Photographer Tells of Threat by Powell

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Life magazine photographer says that Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., threatened to kill him last Sunday when he attempted to take a picture of the congressman.

Powell could not be reached for comment. Telephone calls to his Bahamian retreat on tiny Bimini island went unanswered Thursday night.

Lynwood Pelham of Miami was quoted by the Miami News Thursday as saying the incident took place as he and Life correspondent Miguel Acococa tried to get an interview and pictures of Powell for the magazine's next issue — due out Monday.

Powell, under conviction and sentence in New York for criminal contempt, refused to see reporters or photographers.

ALMOST RAMMED
Pelham said he chartered a boat Sunday when he learned that Powell had gone fishing on his 31-foot boat, "Adam's Fancy." He said the congressman's craft almost rammed the chartered vessel as he followed Powell.

Later, Pelham said, he rented a bicycle and pedaled out to Powell's house. "I was standing on the road in front of the house," Pelham said, "when an old car with a Washington, D.C., taxi sign painted on it came roaring by. A gun barrel was sticking out the window at me as the car roared past."

Pelham said, "Powell got out of the car carrying a shotgun. He stood in front of his house and pointed the shotgun right at me and said: 'This is private property. If you set one foot on my property, I'll kill you.'"

Pelham said he raised his hands and attempted to talk but that Powell walked away. He snapped a picture which he said showed the congressman holding the gun.

Life confirmed the incident and said the picture would be included in Monday's edition.

VISITS SON — Actor Mickey Hargitay bends over his son Zoltan, 6, at a Thousand Oaks, Calif., hospital yesterday after arriving from Rome to see the boy, who was mauled by a lion last Saturday. Hargitay, ex-husband of actress Jayne Mansfield, has been in Rome making films. The actress was at the scene when the boy was mauled.

Romney Backer to Get New Hampshire Sounding

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—One of Gov. Romney's top backers plans a quiet trip to New Hampshire this month to test the political waters for a possible Romney plunge into the nation's first 1968 presidential primary.

"This is all prospective," Michigan Republican National Committee member John B. Martin said in an interview last night. "No one has sought any commitments."

"Naturally we want to have as many people think highly of the governor (Romney) as possible.

"We want to see what their New Hampshire Republican leaders' feelings are toward the governor."

Martin was asked who Romney's GOP allies would be if he entered the primary, a test which could pit him against former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Romney and Nixon are rated the top contenders for the 1968 GOP presidential nod.

School-Principal Organizing Aired

DETROIT (AP) — Collective bargaining for school principals came up before a panel of experts at the Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals here Thursday.

One panelist, Robert Fisarski, chief trial examiner for the Michigan Labor Mediation Board, told the principals the board has not yet decided whether principals and other supervisory personnel fall under recent legislation allowing public employees to organize and bargain collectively.

He said that when the question of allowing supervisors to organize comes before the board, it might decide in favor of such a move.

TIMING THE COST OF LIVING — The cost of living in the U.S. may be going up, but it's still far from being the problem Soviet citizens face in making ends meet. Basing a study on estimated 1966 gross hourly earnings of manufacturing employees in New York and Moscow, the National Industrial Conference Board found that the Muscovite must put in from two to more than 15 times as much time on the job as the New Yorker to pay for basic necessities.

Tourists Go by Stagecoach

Britain Seen 18th-Century Style

LONDON (AP) — It was like being swept back 200 years into the stagecoaching days of gracious Georgian England.

Drawn by four prancing horses, a superbly preserved 18th century stagecoach rolled through England's green and winding — and asphalted — ways from historic Runnymede toward historic Windsor.

Eleven guests, bundled to their noses in huge warm coats on a cold day, perched on padded cushion seats atop the old coach, with magnificent views in all directions.

Top-hatted Peter Mundi was driving.

VILLAGERS ASTONISHED

A postilion named Trevor, dressed in a gold-braided scarlet coat and leather leggings, tooted on a long brass coaching horn as we rumbled through each village.

Hundreds of villagers stared in astonishment.

Near Windsor Castle, Prince Philip's polo ponies, grazing in a field, looked up and raced toward the road, apparently interested in what was going on.

Everything looked 18th century except one thing — the two shapely legs of miniskirted Jutta Morris of the British Travel Association, twinkling from beneath her heavy cloak.

"It's the most marvelous feeling in the world!" Jutta shouted above the wind. "Despite my, er, ah, skirt — I feel as if I'm back in another century!"

Commencing next May, Keith Hancock and his associates will inaugurate three-day trips by stagecoach from Runnymede to Stratford on Avon.

"We really think we're going to be the biggest thing in British tourism," he says. "We're going to offer Americans something that they can't get anywhere else in the world."

Three days on an 18th century coach?

"Yes," he said. "We'll do only an hour at a time on the coach. After every hour we get off, rest, sight-see, drink, eat and so on, and mind you only three hours of travel a day. You see, we do but 30 miles a day and the horses, with ease, do 10 miles an hour.

"Thousands of Americans visit Britain every year. They spend $125 million here. We hope to attract 2,000 Americans this coming year during the five months we'll operate, from May through September."

And the charges? "One hundred fifty dollars a person," he said, "and this includes hotels along the way, all meals, teas, and for that matter, tips. We only ask that the visitor pay for his own drinks."

"We look after every detail. We take care of the luggage. We've even made provision for cold and rain and, English weather being what it is, we'll get some of both. "We've checked every room in every hotel and inn we'll use. We've checked the kitchens. We've checked on the attitude of the personnel. We've checked just about every foot of the journey. We've checked the hills, up and down, I've gone on the route so many times I can do it blindfolded.

"To begin our 1967 season, we plan to operate three coaches and lots of horses, but we leave the horses to Peter Mundi, the horsemaster."

McNamara Okays More Pilot Training

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, moving to ease a shortage of combat pilots, has given the Navy and Air Force the go-ahead to sharply boost their pilot training next year.

This was revealed Thursday night by well-qualified sources who also said the secretary will sign an order within the next few days granting the Army additional funds to nearly double its pilot training output.

McNamara's decision to increase pilot training comes amid repeated reports that the Armed Services are facing severe shortages of young fliers due to the increasing demands of the Viet Nam war. The defense chief, however, has consistently denied that such shortages exist.

But the sources said McNamara now has approved an Air Force request for a ninth training base—to be named later—and also ordered it to accelerate pilot training programs.

GOAL
The goal, said the sources, is to boost pilot output at the eight bases now in operation from this year's expected total of 2,700 to 2,920. McNamara also has ordered Air Force planners to get the new base in full operation by next July 1, the beginning of fiscal 1968, in order to produce 375 fliers, the maximum any base can turn out in one year.

It was learned the Navy will not get new bases, but instead has been ordered to increase its facilities at training locations in Pensacola, Fla., Meridian, Miss., and Corpus Christi, Tex. Under the McNamara plan, these bases are expected to turn out about 1,800 pilots this year, 2,200 pilots next year and 2,500 in fiscal 1968.

But sources pointed out that the significant boost will come in the training of fully qualified carrier attack pilots, men capable of taking off from a carrier at night for bombing missions over North Viet Nam.

Some officials have estimated there are only about 2,000 such qualified men in the Navy—about 750 less than needed. Under the new McNamara order, the training of carrier pilots will be increased from 279 last year to 727 by fiscal 1969.

Although it has been estimated by qualified sources that about $500,000 is needed to turn out one carrier jet pilot, sources said no money estimates for the new training programs were immediately available.

Still to be determined, they said, are the costs for the additional training planes and facilities needed to carry out the increased training.

The Army's training needs are not widely known, but that service actually has been turning out more pilots this year than the Air Force or Navy.

Now training about 550 pilots a month, Army officials estimate they will tutor about 4,000 men by the end of next June. Most of those men will become helicopter pilots and see duty in South Viet Nam.

McNamara is expected to give the Army approval to increase its output to about 3,000 next year—about 3,000 less than Army officials had sought. The Air Force had sought two additional training bases and approval to begin operating them in 1969. But McNamara decided instead, sources said, to give them one base and get it in full swing next year.

Events at Ferris
BIG RAPIDS (AP)—The 14th annual Northwestern Michigan Business Education Conference and the third annual Science and Mathematics Education Conference will be held at Ferris State College here Saturday.

EXPLAINS FORM—Sheldon S. Cohen, commissioner of Internal Revenue, explains an experimental individual income tax form at a Washington news conference yesterday. Cohen said the form, known as 1040Q, will be mailed to 60,000 taxpayers in eight states. Michigan is not affected. Cohen points to an opinion checklist which will accompany the questionnaire-type form.

IRS Will Test New Tax Form
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service is considering the use of a new income tax form that it hopes will be easier to understand.

Sheldon S. Cohen, IRS commissioner, said Thursday the form will be tested next year by 60,000 taxpayers in eight states—Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas and Wyoming.

MAY BE PROVIDED
If the test is successful, the form will be provided in several years for all taxpayers wanting it. The present long and short forms—1040 and 1040A—will remain available.

Cohen says the new form, seven pages compared with the two-page 1040, is written in simpler English and has space for more entries. He said most people using it should have no need to refer to a separate instruction sheet since instructions are interlarded throughout the proposed form.

Interest on the federal debt amounts to about $13 billion annually.

LBj, Economic Aide to Review Fiscal Policy
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson meets today with his top economic adviser for a review of the administration's fiscal policy.

The chief executive planned to commute for the fourth consecutive day to his federal building office in Austin for budget discussions with Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

Ackley is bringing with him from Washington the latest figures on prices, spending, balance of payments and revenues and plant investments.

Paris Twp. Vote
GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Voters in suburban Paris Township go to the polls Feb. 20 to decide whether to become a city. The proposal, defeated twice before, contains a three-mill tax limitation, two less than in previous proposals.

Kelley Bats .500 on Issue

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has won one and lost one in the dispute over county payment of fees to justices of the peace.

He won one Thursday when Ingham County Circuit Judge Marvin J. Salmon held the JPs aren't entitled to the 60-cent fee they used to get for each docket sheet they filed with their local county clerk.

Kelley had lost one—although he wasn't a party to the suit in Benzie County last week, when Circuit Judge William R. Peterson ruled justices are still entitled to the money.

The attorney general's office said it planned to appeal Peterson's ruling.

LETTER TO BRONSON

Kelley had said earlier—not in a formal opinion but in a letter to S. Jerome Bronson, Oakland County prosecutor—that a 1965 act of the Legislature did away with the requirement that JPs file their dockets with the county clerk.

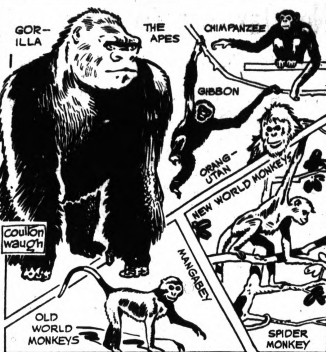

The act did not abolish the 60-cent fee, but Kelley said if the filing was no longer required, the county was no longer authorized to pay it.

Judge Salmon issued a summary judgment in a suit brought against Ingham County and Kelley by Justice George Hutter of East Lansing Township, executive secretary of the Justices of the Peace Association.

Omit Addresses

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Postal authorities here receive 92,000 requests on blanks supplied by the post office from persons asking zip code numbers of their friends. But 1,200 of the requests omitted the addresses of the senders.

Junior Editors Quiz on APES

QUESTION: What is the difference between an ape and a monkey?

ANSWER: The gorillas belong to a group of animals called "anthropoid" or man-like apes, the other three members of which we show in the illustration. Apes are the brainiest of all the non-human animals, and the chimpanzee is the smartest of the apes.

The chimpanzee can even use tools in a primitive way, such as breaking off sticks to pull out juicy termites from their nests. There is a very large mental gap, however, between apes and mankind.

Apes are often called monkeys, but the real monkeys belong to different families, even though both apes and monkeys are of the same order of primates.

True monkeys are smaller than the apes, with thinner, more graceful bodies and shorter, narrower faces. Also most monkeys have tails, either long or short. Apes have very short tails or none.

The monkeys are classified by scientists into two families, New World monkeys and Old World monkeys.

The New World kind have wide noses and possess four more teeth than the Old World monkeys. Both apes and monkeys resemble each other in that they like to live in warm climates and are curious and playful.

FOR YOU TO DO: Try walking on all fours, using the knuckles of your hands. It will make you realize how gorillas usually walk and how differently you are built.

Barry's Group Predicts Presidential 'Swing to Right'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Barry M. Goldwater's Free Society Association predicted yesterday that President Johnson would "go conservative" as a result of the 1966 elections.

It said American politics stays "right around the middle" in terms of winning ideas and candidates.

In its analysis of the 1966 elections, the association's monthly newsletter sounded offbeat for an affiliate of Goldwater, who was depicted as the hero of far-right conservatives in his 1964 run for the presidency.

The association was set up in 1965 with Goldwater as honorary chairman and his 1964 campaign manager, Denison Kitchel, as president of the conservative "political education" group.

Among its conclusions were comments that the Negro vote was growing, "becoming more selective" and could not be taken for granted by either party.

HELPED GOP

It said that an increased Negro vote helped such winning Republican gubernatorial candidates as Spiro Agnew in Maryland, Winthrop Rockefeller in Arkansas, Nelson A. Rockefeller in New York, and George Romney in Michigan. Goldwater polled only 6 per cent of the Negro vote in 1964.

On the other hand, the newsletter said the "white backlash" issued proved to have little meaning and favored "racist Democrats" mostly.

It said the issue may have helped Republican Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan in California and Sen.-elect Charles H. Percy in Illinois but that neither had courted the backlash vote nor needed it.

The association said the November results had developed "a brand new ball game, and 1968 could well be a challenger."

SHARP CENSURE

It said the outcome "sharply censured but did not repudiate" President Johnson because there was no head-to-head contest between national party leaders.

While calling the elections "a conservative victory," the newsletters said the results

Early Signs Probed

Artery Ills Topic at Confab

By Science Service

NEW YORK — An all-out attack on hardening of the arteries was declared in New York by a group of scientists who were called together for what may be the first multidisciplinary meeting ever held on the subject.

Out of it, participants hoped to learn — from each other — what they could of early signs of the number one medical problem of the affluent West.

Among the professors from this country and overseas attending the lectures were a few young medical students who had just begun to use their microscopes, and such old hands as Dr. Henry Haimovici, Dr. Michael DeBakey of Baylor University, Houston, and Dr. Theodore Gillman of Cambridge, England, who helped organize the meeting.

"Never before, to my knowledge has there been a conference that did not confine itself to one, fragmentary part of the subject," said Dr. Haimovici, New York surgeon and professor at Albert Einstein College of Medicine.

The recently authorized Heart, Cancer and Stroke program, which was planned under the chairmanship of Dr. DeBakey, has popularized terms such as coronary thrombosis and cerebral accident.

But few people know that strokes can be prevented if the tendency is discovered early enough.

Eliminate the possibility of high-cost repair bills . . . on '64, '65 and '66's . . . Ford Motor Company now takes the doubt out of buying a used car. The factory-backed warranty will cover your purchase of any used 1964, 1965 or 1966 Ford Motor Company car that has been certified and registered by a participating dealer.

Here's what we mean by it being good for 2 years or a total of 50,000 miles of operation. Say you buy a car with 30,000 miles. Then you're covered for another 20,000 miles. For a total of 50,000 miles. But maybe you don't drive that much. Maybe it would take you several years to run up a total of 50,000 miles. If so, we measure your warranty period in time. That's where the "2 years" part comes in. Two years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first. With this unique factory-backed warranty . . . you never have to pay more than $25 for any single repair that's covered.

Only one more thing to know. Warranty coverage stops 5 years after the car was made.

The Purchaser will pay only the first $25 of the total warranty repair bill and must present his Owner Card or Warranty Certificate.

Power Train parts include: engine block, head, and all internal engine parts, oil pan and gaskets, water pump, intake manifold, transmission and all internal transmission parts, torque converter, driveshaft, universal joints, rear axle, and all rear axle internal parts, and rear wheel bearings; but exclude related items such as ignition, electrical, cooling and fuel systems, engine or transmission controls or linkages, manual gearshift lever, clutch or brake assemblies or wheels, tires or tubes.

MRS. VIRGIL E. BOYD

Executive's Wife Is Calm

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Women's Editor
Bernice Boyd has a serenity that even a hectic day like Thursday couldn't shake. Her husband Virgil Boyd, had been named president of Chrysler Corporation and everyone wanted to talk with his wife.

The phone started ringing at 7:30 a.m. and kept on ringing all day.

Neighbors came in with champagne.

Flowers arrived from well-wishers.

Photographers asked for "just one more shot" and any semblance of normalcy disappeared.

GOOD-NATURED

As wife of a corporation executive, Mrs. Boyd takes what comes next with easy good nature and enjoys the advantages. She loves traveling and without hesitation names Hawaii as her favorite spot.

"It's better every time we go back and we've been there three times."

Much of her time the past year has been taken up with her new home. The Boyds made extensive additions to a hilltop house they purchased on Dunston Road. Supervising that even cut into time at their summer home on Torch Lake.

She and her husband are vice chairmen for the Meadow Brook Music Festival next year. Her enthusiasm for this project makes the work a pleasure.

AVID GOLFER

She's an avid golfer in summer, a bowler in winter. There is usually a piece of needlepoint in progress, work she can do while in front of television, on planes, in cars or in hotel rooms.

She's made covers for the dining room chairs.

The Boyds have two married children. Richard, his wife and newly adopted daughter live in Minneapolis where he is finishing his Ph.D. in nuclear physics at the University of Minnesota.

Sandra Boyd Ireland lives in Lincoln, Neb., is married to a student at the University of Nebraska who's getting his Ph.D. in history. They have two little girls, Julie and Susan.

They will come here for Christmas and Mrs. Boyd can hardly wait. "It's all I want for Christmas, really. The children call our home the Christmas house as they've always been here for Christmas."

This year childish wonder may be even greater when the little girls see the big Christmas tree in the patio. This enclosed area in the center of the house is a perfect spot for a tree. The only problem is getting a large tree in.

"I guess they're going to bring it in over the roof," says Mrs. Boyd.

The Boyd home will be open next week for the annual Christmas walk organized by the Junior Women's Association of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Born in Missouri, Mrs. Boyd went to school in Omaha, Neb. and met her husband there. After their marriage in 1935, she continued to work as Girl Friday in an office. He was an accountant at that time.

The Boyds have lived in the Detroit area since 1953.

Inside Story of Fashion Revealed at Town Hall

By JEANNE NELSON

Mme. Ginette Spanier delighted her Birmingham Town Hall audience Thursday with the inside story of haute couture.

Directress of the world famous Pierre Balmain Paris fashion house, Mme. Spanier was typically Balmain elegant in black belted mink. A matching tam was set rakishly over to one side of a severe hairdo.

Madame explained her job of directress is not involved in the design end of things, but rather encompasses the area of sales and public relations.

QUIET BEGINNING

Beginning her sales career as a shop girl in her native London, she sold odds and ends at Fortnum and Mason emporium.

Once she visited France on a holiday. And what followed, as any Frenchman will tell you, was amour. She quite naturally married the young man, Dr. Paul-Emile Seidmann in 1939.

This was more than 15 years ago and, quips the fashion expert, "you see how conservative I am, still the same husband and job."

At the celebrity luncheon which followed in the Birmingham Athletic Club, we asked if design is influenced by the fabric selections made first. The answer was definitely, yes.

Someone asked Mme. Spanier what happens to the clothes after the season showings. She told us that a woman may put her name on a certain article in the beginning and is able to purchase it for a very small price when the show has run its course.

FASHION WOES

Not one to sidetrack an issue or naughty word, Mme. Spanier, had her audience in gay spirits as she described the fashion woes of Brigitte Bardot.

She was quite serious when she told us mink was quite practical. The belted full-length coat she wore is many years old.

It started out brown. She wore it until it became reddish then had it dyed and restyled until now it has become a chic black.

When Mme. Spanier spoke at Pontiac Town Hall a few seasons ago, she commented on the vast number of women's clubs in our city. In France, she says, two women would never be caught dead together and three are definitely suspect.

Friday's lecture is completely different and following this, she is off to New York for the weekend before touring the south on her lecture circuit.

Bottles of many shapes and sizes sprayed with aquarium paint are silhouetted against a winter scene in the home of Mrs. J. E. Fouser on Adams Road where

Meadow Brook Theatre Premiere a Sellout

The $100-per-couple gala premiere of the John Fernald Company of the Meadow Brook Theatre has been sold out without a general ticket sale. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Mathias Jr., cochairmen of special events have announced.

The black tie affair Jan. 3 at Oakland University promises to be Michigan's first big social event of 1967.

A champagne reception at Meadow Brook Hall, the home of Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson will follow the play. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. George Romney will serve as cohostesses at the reception.

WAITING LIST

There is already a waiting list for any tickets that might be freed by last-minute cancellations.

The Mathias expressed their appreciation for the community support and said they regretted the 600-seat Meadow Brook Theatre could not accommodate all who wanted to attend the premiere.

In addition to Governor and Mrs. Romney, the playgoers for the preview performance of Bertolt Brecht's "The Caucasian Chalk Circle" are expected to include Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and Mrs. Cavanagh, members of the theatre program's executive committee, Mr. and Mrs. Benson Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Z. Nelderlander, Mr. and Mrs. Alan E. Schwartz, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wieting.

Also expected are a host of theatre critics, including several from New York City.

By accident, the gala premiere coincides with the 10th anniversary

Alumnae Set Tea Interview

Twenty-six high school seniors will be interviewed for Regents Alumni scholarships at a Tuesday tea for the University of Michigan Alumnae Club.

Mrs. Jay Wagner of Ottawa Drive will be hostess for the 7 p.m. event.

The scholarship committee is composed of Janet Heitsch, chairman; Mrs. Frank Allen, Don Brownlee, R. Grant Graham, Mrs. Robert Heitsch, Gerald Hunt, Mrs. Harry Richards, Gail Schneider and Margaret Steward.

Serving on the social committee are Dr. Caryl Kulsavage, chairman; Mrs. Maxwell Shadley, Mrs. Robert Heitsch and Kate Sawyer.

sary of the gift from Mrs. Wilson and her late husband of the 1,400 acre estate for the establishment of Oakland University.

The anniversary will be marked by a dinner before the play, attended by several members of the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University, Oakland's governing board, Chancellor's Club members and O.U. Foundation trustees.

The $100 cost of two gala premiere tickets includes season tickets covering the four other plays in the Premiere Season of the resident professional theatre company.

The 21-week season officially will begin Jan. 4.

Other plays in the series are Shakespeare's "Love's Labour's Lost," Shaw's "You Never Can Tell," Jean Anouilh's "The Waltz of the Toreadors" and Chekhov's "The Three Sisters."

There also will be a one-week children's play, "The Imperial Nightingale," at Easter time which is not included in the regular season.

The gala premiere will be the debut of the 22-member company drawn together under John Fernald, former principal of the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London.

The resident theatre group, the first in Michigan, will precede the establishment of a new Oakland University Academy of Dramatic Art, which also will be headed by Fernald.

Season tickets at $20, $15 and $10 for evening performances ($15, $10 and $8 for Saturday matinees) still are available.

Ticket orders should be addressed to Meadow Brook Theatre 1967, Oakland University, Rochester, Michigan 48063.

Have They Missed the Boat, Too?

How About Guys on Dock?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: With the school social season just commencing, you would be doing a real service to remind girls not to pass up a boy just because he's short.

Through high school and college a truly wonderful fellow tried many times to date me. He was bright, well-liked, kind, and had a great sense of humor, but he had one "fault." He was shorter than I. So I never went out with him.

Well, I married one of the big, brawny athletic stars. He's confident, lazy, and dumb. We live from hand to mouth.

The short fellow is now a very successful professional man, admired and respected by all. He married a beautiful girl who positively adores him. She's half a head taller than he is, but nobody seems to notice.

She lives in luxury and has status and security. Every time I see her I think, "There but for my asinine childishness go I." Print this. Many girls can learn from it.

MISSING THE BOAT

DEAR MISSED: And speaking of boats that have been missed, let's look at the guys who've left themselves on the dock.

I refer to fellows who scorned a girl because she was a little too short, or tall, or skinny, or plump. She may have been intelligent, kind, lots of fun and eager to please, but because she had less-than-lovely limbs, or an unfortunate complexion, she was bypassed.

These men married the beautiful-but-dumb girls. And when the beauty faded there was nothing left.

So now that the school social season is commencing boys, look around. Give the plain girls a chance. You may do yourselves a favor that will last about 50 years.

DEAR ABBY: My husband refuses to tie his shoe laces. He

Detroit Group Presents Art at Cranbrook

"Source Detroit III", presenting the works of artists represented in four Detroit galleries, will open in Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries at 8 p.m., Dec. 9 and will continue through Dec. 29.

It was three years ago that the Galleries, located in Bloomfield Hills, offered the first "Source Detroit" exhibition—an entirely new format for the Galleries.

Again this year there will be four galleries represented and the show will have 50 paintings and 10 pieces of sculpture.

The galleries are: the Gertrude Kasle Gallery, the J. L. Hudson Gallery, the Franklin Siden Gallery and the Donald Morris Gallery.

From the Gertrude Kasle Gallery will come works by Mel Bator, Grace Hartigan, Jack Tworok, Robert Goddough and Mike Todd.

From the J. L. Hudson Gallery: Louise Nevelson, Conrad Marca-Relli, Philip Guston, Robert Motherwell and Sorel Etrog.

From the Franklin Siden Gallery: Mon Levinson, Lawrence Calcagno, John Hultberg, Adja Yunkers and Harold Hartley.

From the Donald Morris Gallery: Milton Avery, Reuben Nakian, Arshile Gorky, Lester Johnson and Alexander Calder.

The Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries will be open for this show following Dec. 9 Tuesdays through Fridays from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 1 to 5 p.m. on the weekends except for major holidays. There is an admission.

steps into his shoes and lets the laces drag. We have a son in the first grade who lets his laces drag on purpose. When I tell him to tie them he says, "Daddy don't."

Now I don't know what to say or do. At school the children are graded on neatness, and junior always get a black mark because his shoe laces are never tied. I've tried to tell my husband he is setting a bad example for our son, but it doesn't help.

So how do you train a child to tie his laces when his father doesn't? And when he gives me this "Daddy don't!" talk what do I say?

BEAT MOM
DEAR BEAT: When the boy says, "Daddy don't," say, "I know — but daddy SHOULD. And Daddy is too big for me to spank. But YOU'RE NOT!"

DEAR ABBY: My husband does the kind of work that takes him into homes everyday. He's very friendly and a good talker. He is always coming home with the name of some medicine written down by the lady he's worked for that day.

I didn't mind too much when he brought home the names of some remedies for gallstones, indigestion, and ulcers. But yesterday he brought me the name of something a woman recommended for — of all things — my constipation!

Abby, I don't like for my husband to discuss my ailments with other women. Please print this. Maybe he will see it and realize how disgusting it is. My constipation, indeed! Don't print my name. I am ashamed enough.

Still Time to Mail Overseas Yule Gifts

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money
Management

What's the most exciting thing in the world about a Christmas gift? To most of us, the answer is: its arrival on time, especially true if it comes from home far away.

The extra cost required in getting a gift to the right place on the right day can far outweigh the contents of the package. And happily the post office doesn't charge for sentiment when it hefts the box.

If you want to send gifts airmail to men serving in Viet Nam—or "contiguous waters" within the combat zone—you can still do it up till December 10th.

The airmail postage is figured from wherever you are to the San Francisco APO depot or F.P.O. It's $1.34 for a 5-lb. box from New York City, and less, of course, the closer you live to the west coast.

Keep in mind that perishables are discouraged. It's a long trip. Gifts that are easy to send and usually welcome—so I'm told by a man who ought to know—are toilet articles such as canned shaving cream, unbreakable combs and mirrors, soap, toothpaste and brushes, dark towels (less conspicuous to unfriendly eyes).

I have it on the same authority that "more fruit cakes were sent last year than the men knew what to do with." But then, you know your own boy, so you can take that for what it's worth.

Servicemen stationed outside the combat zone often have much in the way of merchandise available to them, so they're not so easy to gift-shop for. But you can hardly go wrong with money—via postal money orders.

These can be cashed by Army and Fleet post offices. A $10 money order, for example, costs 25 cents, $50 costs 35 cents, and you can buy $100 for 40 cents, not including the postage to get it there.

Expect to spend some extra money on good, sound packing so your gifts going overseas gets there intact. You're advised to use a container of wood, metal, solid fiberboard, double-faced corrugated fiberboard, craftboard, or chipboard.

The ordinary handy shoe box won't take the rigors of long-distance travel. Keep measurements to 60 inches in length and girth combined. To be on the safe side, consult your local post office before final packing and double-check on weight limits and rates for all parcels going out of the country.

Dear Mary Feeley:

My mother and I had government bonds with her name and my name on them. She passed away recently, and I want to know if I have to declare them or pay any tax on them.

Mrs. E.G., Lombard, Ill.

Dear Mrs. G.:

Savings bonds registered in either co-owner or beneficiary form become the sole property of the survivor, says the Treasury Department, notwithstanding any terms of a will to the contrary.

However, this doesn't alter the estate and inheritance tax liability, federal or state, to which bonds are subject. Different states have different rules of determining tax liability when a bond was held in co-ownership, so you should consult your state tax authorities for details.

However, the death of one co-owner does not result in a taxable event for federal income tax purposes. The income tax liability on the accumulated interest would pass, with the bond, to the surviving co-owner along with liability on additional accruals.

LBJ Plans for Domestic Cutbacks Irk Liberal Dems

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's plans for domestic cutbacks in domestic programs in the 90th Congress.

Although Republicans have greeted with enthusiasm Johnson's announcement of cuts to programs, Democrats are showing much less willingness to go along with their party's leader. "I disagree 150 per cent," says Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., who is chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, a liberal group that frequently is at odds with Johnson. Less vehemently, other Democrats privately express doubts about the course Johnson has elected to follow.

'LITTLE LIKELIHOOD'

"I just don't think Congress is going to make any cutbacks," said a prominent House member who has long supported the administration.

Another, expressing the view that Johnson is yielding too readily to the Republicans because of their election gains, said, "I don't think we should cave in so easily."

The programs these members want to see uncut are the education, housing and anti-poverty programs the Democrats fought long and hard to bring into being. Johnson has called for deferring some and cutting back others.

"There shouldn't be any cutbacks in these modest programs," said Edwards. "And they are modest programs."

MILITARY SPENDING

"What we should take a good hard look at," he added, "is military spending. In 1965, expenditures totaled $96 billion and for this year they are talking about $126 billion. Nearly all that increase has gone into the defense budget. That's where the cuts should come, not in programs that would help all Americans."

Another Democrat predicted that instead of making cuts in the Elementary and Secondary School Act, Congress would vote a substantial increase next year.

The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, Rep. George H. Mahon of Texas, promised to help Johnson achieve his goal in cutting expenditures, but did not bind himself to every detail.

"Federal funding is extremely complex and opinions as to what constitutes a saving vary, but the elimination of nonessential federal spending is vital," Mahon said in a statement Thursday.

END OF YEAR

The President also has said he hopes to reach a decision around the end of the year on whether to ask for a tax increase to help finance the Vietnam war and cool off the economy.

If he decides to seek a tax hike, he will have the support of a committee of business executives and educators. The 12-member program committee of the Committee on Economic Development called Thursday for a tax increase and spending cuts next year large enough to produce a $3 billion federal budget surplus.

Students Vie to Aid Afflicted

Michigan high school students have been asked to survey the employment situation for handicapped persons in their communities — and they're being offered awards as incentive.

A contest involving a 750-word theme on "Handicapped Workers . . . Community Assets" is open to 11th and 12th graders.

The author of the best report in Michigan will receive a $100 savings bond from the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults and a free trip to Washington, D.C., paid for by the Michigan AFL-CIO and the Building and Trades Council.

There also will be a second-place award of a $50 savings bond and three $25 bonds for runners-up.

Students are to base their reports on interviews with employers, handicapped employees and personnel of the Michigan Employment Security Commission or Office of Vocational Rehabilitation.

The contest is being conducted through schools. Each school has until Feb. 1, 1967 to submit its winner to Ralph E. Cummings, executive secretary of the Governor's Commission on Employment of the Handicapped.

By County Director

Mental Health Setup Viewed

By JOE MULLEN

Psychiatrists are generally considered somewhat limited in number.
But the psychiatrist, whose professionalism is augmented by extensive administrative experience, is a very scarce and highly sought individual.

Architects of Oakland County's mental health program became aware of this two years ago when they were immersed in a nationwide search for a director of the newly authorized program.

Over a period of several months, a total of 47 persons were interviewed.

A perfect blend of professionalism and administrative background was eyed by the County Community Mental Health Services Board as candidates for the directorship of the state's pioneer county mental health program were screened.

REVIEWS PROGRESS
The selection of Dr. Robert E. Walden as psychiatrist-director of the county program was announced June 3, 1965, and he assumed the office July 19 last year.

Reviewing the progress of the mental health program to date, Dr. Walden said he is very pleased.

"In a relatively short period of time, a comprehensive mental health program has been developed in the county," he said.

Actually, the program for mental health was started in December 1963 when the 12-member board appointed by County Board of Supervisors Chairman Delos Hamlin first assembled.

EXTENSIVE PLANNING
Extensive program planning was accomplished by the mental health board in subsequent months and some intake and referral service was launched before Dr. Walden's arrival.

Several programs have been activated in the past 17 months.

"We now have both, inpatient and outpatient services at Pontiac General Hospital," Dr. Walden said, "and inpatient service at Providence and Kindwood hospitals."

He also noted that contractual arrangements have been made to provide services through the Oakland County Child Guidance Clinics in Pontiac, Birmingham and Royal Oak and that a training institute has been established in Hazel Park for the mentally retarded.

NEGOTIATE CONTRACTS
"A mental health education program is conducted at 1 LaFayette and so is the intake and referral program," Dr. Walden said.

He also pointed out that contracts for further hospital services are in the negotiation stage.

The mental health board Oct. 14 boosted Dr. Walden's salary from $27,500 to $30,000, making him the highest paid county civil servant.

Circuit Court judges, presently paid $29,000, will be at $30,000 Jan. 1.

HEADED HOSPITAL
The 46-year-old mental health director came to Oakland County after serving three years as superintendent of the Lakin State Hospital in Lakin, W.V.

Prior to the Lakin tenure, he served two years as psychiatrist at the Leech Farm Road Veterans Administration Hospital in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dr. Walden, who is a native of Boston, received a medical degree in 1945 at Mahary Medical College in Nashville, Tenn. He took his three-year residency in psychiatry at the Brockton and Boston veterans hospitals in Massachusetts.

He served in the Air Force and was base psychiatrist in Wichita, Kan., and senior medical officer of the Armed Forces Examining Station at Ft. Wayne in Detroit.

HAS 5 CHILDREN

Married, with five children, Dr. Walden lives on Detroit's Northwest Side. The family is considering a move to Oakland County.

The Walden's oldest child, Kenneth, 24, is married and lives in Boston. The other four youngsters, all in Detroit schools are Robert, 15; Robert E. Jr., 12; Mark, 8; and Mary, 5.

When he isn't occupied with the varied duties of directing a mental health program, Dr. Walden enjoys woodworking in the basement of his house at 18625 Oak Drive. His wife, Ethel, shares this interest.

"I'm not a hunter," Dr. Walden explained in telling of the family's Weimaraner dog. "But, I enjoy taking him out in the field and putting him through bird flushing exercises."

FORMER ATHLETE

An erect walking man with a quick step, Dr. Walden participated in middle distance track events in school but now confines his sports activities to tennis and swimming.

Mental health headquarters presently occupy about half the fourth floor of the old county building at 1 LaFayette. A staff of seven comprises the administration team.

Plans are for an approximate doubling of the staff and a move from the downtown location next year will also apply to either the county courthouse or to the Oakland Schools building which the county will take over in 1968.

The county mental health program growth is reflected in budget figures.

SHOWS GROWTH

The 1964-65 expenditure shared on a $650 basis by the county, and state, was $307,105.

This grew to $1.2 million for the 1966-67 fiscal year, with state participation 75 per cent and the county's 25 per cent.

A 1967-68 budget of $1.9 million already has been submitted by the county mental health board and is being reviewed in Lansing by the Michigan Department of Mental Health. The doubling of the staff and a move from the downtown location next year will also apply to either the county courthouse

Program at OCC Attracts Attention

Oakland Community College's learner-centered instructional systems approach has attracted the attention of a group of New York City business and industrial executives.

Walter J. Fichtelmaster, OCC's director of community relations, will address the New York City Program Instructional Assn. Dec. 13 in New York City.

He will discuss the college's approach to programmed instruction, now being used by the executives in their employee training programs.

HARPERS FERRY, W.V. (AP)—The Harpers Ferry National Monument attracted 814,782 visitors during the first 10 months of this year.

The Department of the Interior said this was 15 per cent more than the number of visitors to the Civil War monument during the same period last year.

Kelley Plans Unit on Organized Crime

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said Thursday he plans to set up a special division within his office which will help fight the war on organized crime.

He described the division as "one of the first, not the first, within an attorney general's office in the nation" and said it would be established "shortly after the first of the year."

Kelley said he plans to fly to Washington Dec. 12 for talks with Justice Department and FBI officials. He added he expected "close cooperation and harmony with the federal authorities."

He declined to say how many men would be assigned to the new division, but said it would be "fully staffed, with attorneys and investigators both."

COOPERATION
The division would work with state police and interested local lawmen as well as the federal agencies, he said.
"Michigan is no worse than other states in organized crime and is better than some," he said. "But wherever you find gambling and vice on an organized basis, you find the tentacles of organized crime."

Kelley said grand jury investigations in Wayne and Oakland counties have focused attention on the problem. "The time appears right for a unified state effort," he said.

He said he did not want to predict what results the new agency could achieve, but added: "The more troops we have in the area, the better chance we have of winning the war."

It's a First: Girl Handles Mail on Rail

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Linda Gardner had about a half-hour to get to work to become the first female railway mail clerk.

The Post Office Department needed a railway mail clerk in a hurry and Miss Gardner, 20, was called.

"I had about a half-hour notice from the time I said I'd go," she related.
At 8 a.m. last Friday, she boarded a mail car at Union Station for a six-hour run to St. Louis.

Postal officials said Thursday that was the first time since railroad mail runs began in 1862 that a girl had been assigned as a clerk aboard one of the cars.

Women had volunteered before but had never quite made it. The officials said the cars are not equipped for women.

"When I told my mother," Miss Gardner said, "she said I was crazy. She's worked for the Post Office for nine years and knew what I would be getting into."

"There were no rest room facilities available for me and the men that make the run are used to being able to change clothes on the car. I had no problem there," Miss Gardner said. "I didn't have time to bring a change of clothes with me."

The mail car that trip was next to a passenger car and while the men were changing and when she wanted to freshen up, the railroad allowed her to use the commercial car.

"If we'd been sandwiched between two storage cars, I don't know what I would have done," Linda said.

Cold Weather Spreads East

By the Associated Press
New bitter cold and snow pressed eastward into the northern Appalachians today, spreading frigid conditions across most of the northern states.

Heavy snow fell across Ohio, and snow squalls hit the southern shores of Lake Erie and Ontario, causing hazardous driving conditions.

Three inches of snow fell at Columbus, Dayton and Akron in Ohio, and Pittsburgh, Pa., in a six-hour period.

Subzero temperatures again embraced the Northern Plains. International Falls, Minn., had 11 below zero. In contrast, it was 65 in the early morning Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, Tex.

Snow fell in the northern Rockies where one-inch amounts were reported in parts of Montana and Idaho. Rain continued on the Pacific Coast from Central California to Washington.

Skies were clear across the southern part of the nation from Southern California to Florida.

2-Way Radios May Be Illegal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission has warned parents that use of the two-way radios they may buy their children for Christmas may be illegal.

The commission said Thursday walkie-talkies purchased for youngsters should have certificates saying that no operator's license is needed.

Such certificates are found only on extremely low-power sets. These are radios with less than 100 milliwatts-power capable of transmitting signals as much as a mile. Higher power sets require licenses.

4 Days Per Month

'Lunar Landings Limited'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A periods might be a safe time to land men on the moon. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration released the paper Thursday.

According to messages from Explorer 35, there are four days each month that the moon passes through the earth's magnetosphere shielding earth from high energy particles emitted by solar flares.

Dr. Norman F. Ness of the Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, Md., says in a paper prepared for a Boston space conference this week that these

YOUR DOLLARS BUY MORE AT YOUR WORLDWIDE STORE

By JERE CRAIG

Santa has his elfin helpers in the bowling world, too. If you don't believe it, just drop in at the pro shop of the key establishments in the Pontiac area.

Maybe you've exhausted your gift possibilities for that (or those) bowler(s) in the family. You could be pleasantly pleased with the items available in the better equipped shops.

Whether it's the 50-cent stocking stuffer or the $35 bowling ball and $12 bag to carry it in you're looking for, there are bowling gifts that could fulfill the needs of most shoppers.

Such items as bowlers' towels; wrist, palm and finger aids; bags; shoes; balls; banks; and gloves are well stocked at 300 Bowl, Airway Lanes and Huron Bowl.

Huron's Mike Samardzija Jr., reports a big demand for the Don Carter gloves and a new bag put out by Toledo's Dave Davis. Garry Crake at "300" cites a big line of AMP bowling accessories that have done well this year.

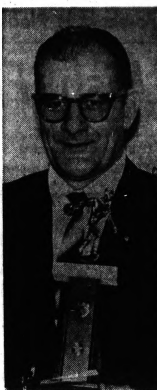

Airway pro shop manager Jim Rutkowski has a good variety of name brand balls. In addition, pins highlighting bowling milestones, comic ribbons and card paperweights can be bought at inexpensive prices.

If the shops don't have the size in stock or you still can't decide, ask about the Christmas gift certificates that are available — even for a specified number of lines of bowling.

A familiar face will miss this year's Pontiac Open Bowling Tournament. Bill Johns, who won the actuals invitational last December, leaves Tuesday for two weeks' test driving at the Ford Motor Kingman, Ariz., proving grounds.

Johns perennially is one of the best boosters of the Pontiac Open Singles championships. He currently is carrying a 293 average at North Hill Lanes.

Those not having an average in either of the past two seasons must bowl without a handicap. Next Thursday, by the way, is the final deadline for entering this year's competition.

VACATES TITLE — Bill Johns, the 1965 Actual Invitational champion of the Pontiac Open Bowling Tournament, will have to vacate his title this year because business will take him out of town. Johns has been a tourney entry every year.

Major League Meeting Yields Player Deals

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The following player transactions have been completed at the major league meetings:

Pittsburgh purchased pitcher Juan Pizarro from the Chicago White Sox.

The Los Angeles Dodgers traded outfielder Tommy Davis and infielder-outfielder Derrell Griffith to the New York Mets for second baseman Ron Hunt and infielder-outfielder Jim Hickman.

The New York Yankees traded third baseman Clete Boyer to Atlanta for outfielder Bill Robinson and pitcher Federico (Chi Chi) Olivo.

The Los Angeles Dodgers traded shortstop Maury Wills to Pittsburgh for infielder-outfielder Bob Bailey and shortstop Gene Michael.

Former Boxer Dies

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Joe Azzarella, 63, a popular Milwaukee boxer in the 1920s, died Thursday after collapsing from an apparent heart attack in the downtown area.

Fight Races in Classic Leagues

The tight first-place battles continue in the West Side Lanes and Huron Bowl classic leagues with the two houses' entries dueling at the Orchard Lake Avenue establishment.

Monday's action at West Side found Huron maintaining its two-point edge on the West Side team while Fairgrounds Bowl, Police Quality Market and Gorman Golf Products posted the eight-point sweeps.

Individually, young Bill Pointer bombed the pins for 245-244-482. Joe Foster had a 248 game.

That same night at Holly, the Marv Lanes Classic was led by Bruce Dryer's 211-233-458. John Johnson (246) and Burt Wilcox (242) had the best games.

The Friday night Huron Classic, meanwhile, has a tie for first place after former pace setter Herb's Auto Supply fell victim to Veterans' Disposal, 6-2, on position night. Bob Lawson led the uprising with 268-237-660.

Neil Ricketts added a 247-221 — 658 to the cause. Pointer, incidentally, had 213-248-459. Lloyd Pearson hit 253-260-459 and Gary Hintz 212-244-461. That same night at Howe's Lanes, the Senior Classic saw Bill Jones record a 245-425 duo but lose high game honors to Ron Councillor's 252. Car Gohl rolled a 608 and Phil Landry a 224. M.G. Collision rules the league standings.

Star Gives Alcoholic Role Authority of Observation

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "I've never played my part drunk," said attractive Rosemary Murphy who portrays god of alcohol in "A Delicate Balance," the Edward Albee show, "but once I did it with a terrible hangover."

"I had four fingers the night before, and that's enough for me. I thought I was going to be ill on stage! Hume Cronyn said after the performance, 'Say, you were just great today. Who was out front?'"

"I said 'I hope nobody.'"

"I had some experiences with one actor," she said, naming a famous one, "who would come on stage drunk. He used to say, 'How about us? We're not great today at picking up those cues?' He didn't know it seemed like 20-minute pauses to the rest of us."

Miss Murphy, who's never been married, feels she's qualified to play an alcoholic.

"I've known some real drinkers . . . a couple of them I've been engaged to. I guess you could say I did my research on them."

"You can go out with a man for a long time and not know he's an alcoholic. One of them I knew got so bad at parties, I'd just tell the hostess, 'Tell him I've gone home alone.'"

"I was at a house party with him once." She looked back on that party and winced. "Monster, Monster!"

"It taught me. The minute I notice that a man drinks too much, I won't go out with him any more."

EARL'S PEARLS: "Hollywood's filming a really modern serial. At the end of the 15th reel, the hero unsmacks himself and runs for Governor." —E. G. Rosenblatt.

Astronauts Shepard and Schirra went backstage to see Carol Channing after the opening of "Hello, Dolly!" in Houston. Fighting their way through the crowd, Shepard said, "Wait, we're out of our element. There sure isn't any space around here!"

That's earl, brother.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Little Can Be Done About Wrinkled Skin

Q — Is there any way to put the elasticity back in the skin? I have lost weight and am so wrinkled I look 70, although I am only 51.

A — In olden days when youth respected age, no one but a professional actress ever considered trying to get rid of wrinkles but times change.

The process of wrinkling, a natural accompaniment of aging, is hastened by exposure to the sun and wind or, as in your case, by a sudden loss of weight.

There is no drug or application that will restore the elasticity to wrinkled skin.

A skin cream that contains pregnenolone has been found to remove wrinkles but only by causing waterlogging of the skin.

When the use of the cream is discontinued, the puffiness disappears and the wrinkles return.

The cream cannot be used by women who have oily skin or a tendency to have acne.

Products that contain beef blood protein (bovine serum albumin) will temporarily smooth wrinkled skin. They are safe but the effect is lost each time you wash your face with soap and water.

For your further information, the Food and Drug Administration recently seized and destroyed a large quantity of three leading commercial wrinkle removers for making false claims in their advertising.

Another treatment, dermabrasion or surgical planing, removes the outer layer of the skin but is of value only when the wrinkles do not extend into the deeper layers of the skin.

The best (but by no means permanent) results are obtained by a face-lifting operation performed by a qualified plastic surgeon.

Q — I have had itching of my scalp with white scales for some time.

A — If the itching is severe, and the scales are very fine in texture and dull in color, you may have seborrhea. If the itching is mild and the scales are large, hard and shiny, you may have psoriasis.

The treatment for the two conditions is quite different. There is no cure but with modern treatment it is possible to control both diseases.

A good skin specialist should be able to help you.
