Commission to Receive Sewage Plant Agreement

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM—A revised agreement authorizing Bloomfield Township to utilize Birmingham's sewage treatment plant facilities will be presented to commissioners at tonight's City Commission meeting.

Excessive water consumption for use in air conditioning units in the home developing Mercier Farms property will be charged in a letter from the Chamber of Commerce.

Going back to the parking subject, City Manager Donald C. Egbert will recommend that the city attorney prepare a lease whereby the city would operate and maintain the parking area behind the S. S. Kresge Co. store.

Three hearings are scheduled, to review assessments for construction of a water main on Southfield from Lincoln to Southlawn; for pavement resurfacing on Fairfax, Suffield, Pilgrim, Puritan and Lake Park from Maple to Oak; and for construction of water mains from the alley north of 14 Mile road, on Elton to 14 Mile, and on 14 Mile from Elton to Mansfield.

The Senior Activities group, for older men and women of the community, will begin their fall session with a dinner at the Community House at 7 tonight.

WJLS-TV has no mobile transmitter, however, has network feed facilities.

Folkens claimed the governor's office had put pressure on the college and had refused to permit use of WKAR-TV facilities to telecast the Nixon speech.

Nixon and Speaker of the House Martin (R-Mass.) are on a nationwide speaking tour designed to bolster candidates of Republican nominees for Congress. The district in which he will speak Tuesday night is represented by Rep. Kit Clardy (R-Mich.), whose reelection is opposed by Donald Hayworth, Democratic nominee and a Michigan State professor.

Nixon's speech will be carried from 9 to 9:30 p.m. by WJLS-TV in Detroit. During the same half hour, Williams and Democratic running mates will be campaigning on CKLW-TV, which will feed the program to Grand Rapids, Bay City, Cadillac, Lansing, Kalamazoo and Traverse City stations.

NEW YORK — CBS plans to broadcast a Sunday series of four weekly political debates bearing on this fall's election campaign. They will be carried on both radio and television.

The national chairmen of the two major parties, Republican Leonard Hall and Democrat Stephen Mitchell, will start the series on Sunday, Oct. 10, the broadcasting company announced yesterday.

The two chairmen will return for the final debate on Oct. 31, and will select high-ranking party members to appear on the two intervening programs.

The network said the Hall-Mitchell debates will be broadcast "live" and will originate from wherever the national chairmen happen to be at the time.

3 Crash-Land Safely Near Selfridge Base

MOUNT CLEMENS — A Michigan State College Air Force ROTC instructor and two University of Detroit ROTC commanders escaped injury yesterday when their two-engine airplane crash-landed in a field a mile from Selfridge Air Base.

Lt. Charles L. Hunt of Lansing, and Maj. James Moon of Detroit, were taking instruction from Maj. Mervin L. Henry of Berkley in the Air Force plane Moon was in the controls.

Selfridge officials said the three had been in the air three hours and were about to make their third ground control approach landing when one engine failed.

The second engine then started to sputter and the plane began to drop. Officials said Moon pulled up the landing gear, missed a house by 100 feet, went underneath telephone wires and "pancaked" into soft earth.

spreading work to combat the unemployment situation.

The council also called on the convention to ask Congress to increase the law's present 75 cent-an-hour minimum wage to $1.25 to foster worker incomes and augment consumer purchasing power.

Unemployment was labelled by the AFL council as labor's number one problem. The AFL leaders told the convention's 700 delegates that the nation's jobless probably totals more nearly five million than the 3,245,000 officially counted as unemployed if those workers temporarily laid off and working only part time are included.

The convention shaped up as one of the most harmonious in many years. Delegates were due to adopt a plan for arbitrating or submitting to neutrals all disputes between rival unions which for years have plagued the AFL.

3 Suspects Cleared in Shotgun Slaying
BIRMINGHAM — Weekend lie-detector tests cleared three suspects in the shotgun slaying of Doyle Howe, 24 year old gas station attendant who was found dead eight days ago in the washroom of a service station at Woodward and Chapin.

Det. Lieut. Merlin Holmquist said the youths had been sought after a friend of Howe's told police he witnessed a fight at the station a month ago, when the three threatened to kill Howe.

Holmquist said Howe's wife and family will be questioned for any further clues which might lead to the killer. Although $61 was taken from Howe's pocket, police are still investigating possible grudge motives.

Tornadoes Strike in Pennsylvania

Three Towns Suffer Damage to Buildings and Power Lines

DUSHORE, Pa. — Three-hit-run tornadoes struck near three communities in North Central Pennsylvania last night, knocking down power lines, damaging roofs, and causing extensive damage to at least two farms. No casualties were reported.

State police at the Dushore Barracks said the storms "seemed to set down on two farms and then take off again."

They left behind a splintered woodshed and silo, levelled pig pens and fallen trees. One cow was killed.

The weather bureau at Harrisburg said state police reported the three tornadoes struck through its station at Williamsport. A spokesman said the bureau had no information of its own about the storms.

An American Airlines DC-8, carrying 74 passengers on a flight from Chicago to New York, reported running into turbulent weather over western Pennsylvania. The plane turned back and landed at Cleveland after baggage was spilled from racks onto seats and two women suffered minor injuries.

Another plane, a Trans Canada Airlines flight from New York to Toronto, returned to Idlewild Airport after its pilot said he was unable to get around thunderstorms in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Power Failure Hits Traffic, Cuts Water

causing automatic switches to throw the stations out of service.

Pontiac Police communications chief Sgt. Harry Nye said radio contact with patrol cars was cut off by the power failure. Communications were reestablished after he rigged up an emergency battery unit, he said.

The power failure came during morning church services and in at least one case in Pontiac a piano was quickly substituted for organ music. This worked well until the lights also faded away.

The city fire alarm system was not affected because the unit automatically switches to battery power during emergencies. Fire Chief John F. Schroeder said.

Water pressure dropped in most south county communities, except Birmingham, where a diesel auxiliary power unit was put into service, maintaining the city's water pumps.

More than 100,000 gallons were pumped during the period, Fire Chief V. M. Griffith reported.

Michigan Bell Telephone officials said their lines were not out of service, because an auxiliary power source of batteries was used during the failure.

However, the jam of calls to switchboards delayed dial tones as much as 30 seconds, causing many residents to think their phones were dead.

The Clawson Volunteer Fire department stood by for any fire during the emergency, and auxiliary police directed traffic.

Members of the Berkley Civil Defense Unit were mobilized, and on the job directing traffic in 20 minutes.

Freight Cars Jump Track at Port Huron

PORT HURON — Twelve cars of a 36-car Chesapeake & Ohio freight train from Saginaw were derailed in Port Huron today. They plowed into two others on a side-track and bowled them over.

No one was injured in the mishap, but three sets of tracks were blocked by wreckage.

Railroad spokesmen said a band holding sheet steel on a car apparently broke, permitting the steel to shift to it protruded on the side. The steel struck a switch, breaking and throwing it and thus causing the derailment.

Three derailed cars were filled with coal, two with canned goods and merchandise. The remainder were empty.

Mother Calls Football Death 'God's Will'

BEVERLY, Mass. — The mother whose son died from football injuries yesterday accepted the tragic loss today as "God's will," and said that although she dislikes the game she hopes his St. Johns Prep teammates will continue to enjoy the sport.

Grief-stricken Mrs. Arthur J. Cronin said the accident that took the life of her son, Arthur Jr., 17, probably was something that would happen "only once in a thousand times."

The boy suffered a neck injury in a game with Manchester, N.H. Central High at Manchester, won by Manchester, 7-6.

"My husband is heartbroken, just as I am," said Mrs. Cronin. "But he feels the same as I, that there is someone greater than we calling the signals."

The senior honor student died en route to a hospital after walking off the field complaining "my head hurts."

Brother Norman, athletic director of the Danvers, Mass., Prep School, said the youth apparently was hurt in a scramble for a loose ball.

to end the strike Sept. 2. At least four have been hurt since in picket line flareups.

There was a brief skirmish between an estimated 500 pickets and mounted police near the plant gates today, but no one was hurt or arrested. Pickets surged forward as a picket captain and a returning worker engaged in a cursing spree.

The company said 292 entered the plant today, the highest number since it started its back-to-work campaign. The UE said it counted only 242 and only 40 of them were former employees.

A spokesman said the company's final offer included increased vacation benefits for high seniority employees; an offer to credit time lost on strike towards next year's vacations; and seniority benefits; a seventh paid holiday to be Good Friday; and a new wage offer of four cents an hour.

Mercer said the company, in the interests of resuming labor-management relations on a clean slate, proposed to drop all pending litigation against the union, except criminal actions, and that the union drop pending legal action and all grievances pending under the old contract.

This offer also was rejected by the union.

Heroic Substitute Teacher Faces a Juvenile Ambush

By SAUL PETT

(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—With a deep bow to their courage and a prayer for their peace of mind, this little tribute is dedicated to those unsung heroines who leave the safety of their homes and knowingly walk into an ambush.

I'm thinking of substitute school teachers.

A friend of ours subbed in the 8th grade the other day. The class tittered. Hours later she discovered the cause—a note passed from conspirator to conspirator. It said:

"What dunk (sic) did they dig this one up from?"

Most substitute teachers these days are housewives. It's been years since they taught, even longer since they went to teachers' college. Being rusty and being temporary, they are naturally unsure of themselves. The children, of course, are a big help.

"The little darlings," said our friend, "are just waiting to tick you, to taunt, to smirk, titter, connive against, confuse—particularly to confuse—to undermine, to have fun with, to exploit—particularly to exploit."

"They put out feelers. They keep testing you for weak spots to see how much they can get away with. The pressure is always on. And the worst thing you can do is to appear uncertain. That opens the floodgates."

While the sub is worrying about how she looks and whether the mob will like her, she reaches into the regular teacher's desk, feeling like an intruder. She pulls out the seating plan. Ordinarily, the troublemakers are separated. Today, she finds things changed. But each one of the sweet little liars insists that's his regular seat.

The sub writes on the blackboard. A boy in the back asks her to rewrite the fourth word. Another asks about the last word. Teacher begins to worry that her handwriting has gone to pot. Another request of a rewrite. Then a giggle. Then teacher catches on.

In the lower grades, especially, kids are contradictory. They love to break the rules. They also love to heckle the sub for not following the rules.

One day in the first grade, our friend passed out lined paper for a spelling test. A girl asked, "Should we fold the paper down the middle?" The sub studied the permanent study plan for the answer. It wasn't there.

Being cautious in her ignorance, she said brightly, "Well, how do you usually do it?"

Suddenly bedlam. Thirty hands wave wildly. Thirty throats shout 30 different versions. And, working quietly under the diversionary storm, Johnny near the window kicks Walter in the shins. Walter tries a headlock on Tommy and Tommy innocently brushes Helen's gym shoes off her desk.

The first grade has a different "king and queen" every week. As royalty, they get first place in the recess line and lead the morning prayer and pledge to the flag.

One day the sub looked up from her desk and there, with his chin in his hands and his eyes glum, was a boy staring from a distance of nine inches.

"What's the matter, Harold?"

"I'm a silly king."

"What gave you that idea?"

"Sharon said so."

"I think you're a fine king. Would you like to draw another picture?"

"No. I think I'll talk to the pollywogs."

And with that, the solemn king went to the back of the room, pressed his nose up against the fish tank and did talk to the pollywogs.

In the second grade, they have a

Coed Says Kidnap Yarn Was a Hoax

BOSTON (AP)—Miss Nancy Plummer, 23, a Radcliffe College student from Warren, Pa., has admitted that her story of being kidnaped, doped and robbed was a hoax.

The pretty graduate student was the object of a wide search from last Wednesday until late Saturday night. An alert patrolman spotted her in a garage.

Under questioning by police, she said that actually she drew 14 books from the school library and took a train to Portland, Maine, for some quiet study in a hotel.

Life's Secrets

What Kind of Engine Is Muscle Tissue? $40,000 Spectroscope May Tell Story

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
WOODS HOLE, Mass. (U)—Here in the laboratory of a Nobel Prize winner you see a piece of dead rabbit muscle, brought back to "life."

The strand of muscle tenses, contracts and performs work when it is bathed in a potent chemical.
Then it relaxes when it is touched by a second chemical.

But this seeming miracle in the laboratory is only a beginning to Dr. Albert G. Szent-Gyorgyi. He wants to know precisely how chemicals—from the food we eat and air we breathe—create motion, "the most fundamental sign of life."

Exactly what kind of engine is muscle tissue? What kind of fuel does it use, and how? How do different muscles—the muscles of the heart, the arms, or a woman's womb—differ in their mechanism or operation?

That knowledge could aid in combating heart disease, high blood pressure, muscular affections, perhaps reduce the tragic loss of unborn babies through miscarriages.

This Hungarian-born scientist with blue eyes and tousled white hair, who won a Nobel Prize for his work on vitamin C, is on the trail of answers.

And Dr. Szent-Gyorgyi is impatient to get along with his studies—so much so he's just ordered a $40,000 scientific instrument, a spectrophotometer, without enough funds to pay for it.

"Maybe I will go to jail," he shrugs, "but I need it in my work.
Somehow I hope we will find ways to pay for it."

In 15 years of research on the muscle engine, Dr. Szent-Gyorgyi found that muscles contract because they contain two special proteins, actin and myosin. When these two come together in the presence of the energy-supplying enzyme, ATP, the muscle contracts.

ATP means adenosine triphos-phate. It is the "gasoline" which runs the muscle engine. Enzymes are accelerators of chemical reactions.

From a refrigerator, Dr. Lornad took a thin, transparent strand of muscle obtained from a long-dead rabbit, and placed it in a breaker container a salt solution. It lay long and straight. When a few drops of ATP were added, the string of muscle coiled and shortened to one-fifth its original size.

He put another, thicker strand of muscle in a device so the muscle remained taut, but could pull on one end of a delicately balanced lever. When the muscle was bathed in ATP, it tensed, pulling measurably on the lever. When ATP-CP was added, the muscle relaxed, the lever swung back to its original position.

"So now we know that actin and myosin come together and ATP makes the muscle contract," said Dr. Szent-Gyorgyi. "But still we are only describing the machine.
We must learn how the engine is all put together, then we will know how it works."

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In case after case, pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.
Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.
Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form under the name of Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores—money back guaranteed.

Figures Indicate Student Increase

Schools' Superintendent Reports on Waterford's Enrollment

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Superintendent of Schools William Shunk reported on building progress to the Board of Education, with startling figures on the growing student population which will fill the buildings.

He said Jayno Adams School is in use, the only one with its addition completed. The Williams Lake addition is not complete, but will be in operation Monday.

Additions to Waterford Center and Four Towns Schools are still under construction. The new Isaac E. Cray Junior High School is still to be put into operation Sept. 27.

Registration for the junior high school will be completed next week.

Shunk estimated the district's enrollment would be close to 8,200, compared to 7,580 when the doors closed last June. Kindergarten has 961 youngsters in classes.

Architect Eugene Geland gave an extensive report on new elementary school construction, with particular references to the building to be erected on the Crescent Lake Road-Hatchery Road site. The Board will meet with him Sept. 23 for further discussion and study of this project.

CASTELGANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—Pope Pius XII, suffering from fatigue, canceled a speech yesterday to the hundreds of pilgrims who flocked to his summer residence for the Pontiff's regular Sunday audience.

He appeared only briefly on the balcony to bless the cheering throng.

The Vatican announced he did not speak, as is his custom, "because of a slight indisposition."

Church officials disclosed last week that the 78-year-old Catholic leader has been tired by a heavy work schedule.

Veteran Officer Finally Hears Something New

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Lt. Joseph L. McPhilly thought he had seen just about everything during the 31 years he has been a member of the Grand Rapids Police Force.

"Then a truck driver walked into police headquarters shortly before midnight last night to ask for help in locating the tractor of his semi truck," McPhilly said.

The driver told McPhilly that he started out Saturday afternoon in the tractor to have a few beers and ended up at a tavern in Fruitport, about 25 miles west of Grand Rapids, where he struck up a conversation with a Muskegon man he had never met before.

"After 12 or 14 beers, the two men apparently decided to trade cars," McPhilly said. "The Muskegon man had a 1952 buick and he gave the keys to the truck driver and took his tractor. They were just going to try them out and meet later but I guess they didn't specify a time or place."

The truck driver was frantic when he appealed to McPhilly for help. He had to have the tractor for work today. McPhilly contacted Muskegon Police who said they had impounded the truck.

McPhilly sent the man to Muskegon Police to get his tractor back and to return the car he received in the swap to its owner.

"I've seen a lot of crazy things happen in the last 31 years but nothing like this one," McPhilly said.

Experts Believe Mystery Bones Are 100 Years Old

Part of the mystery surrounding several human skeletal bones found at a Waterford Township building site have been uncovered, but the complete story has not been, and may never be found.

A amateur archaeologist Carl Holmquist of Royal Oak, who accompanied Dr. Robert T. Hatt, director of the Cranbrook Institute of Science in the study, said bones found by earthmovers Friday about 250 yards from Scott Lake and Elizabeth Lake Rds. were remains of a white man, a woman and a child.

"We can not be sure that the woman was white," said Dr. Hatt today, "but we presume that the bones found probably represent part of one family and have been in the ground for about 100 years."

This would support the theory of an old-time resident who told workers on the building site that a cholera epidemic in this area about 1840 accounted for many deaths, and that some of the victims were believed to be buried where workers found the bones.

Dr. Hatt said the male was about middle-aged, and had bad teeth. "There were a few square-cut nails and a fragment of wood which is suggestive of a homemade coffin," Dr. Hatt added.

Earthmovers at the White Brothers Realty Co. building site, where the bones were uncovered under six feet of dirt, pushed several bones into a nearby "fill" before they discovered they were human.

Don White of the realty company said today that work was halted in the area but when the project is resumed more evidence may be uncovered.
