Ike, Nehru Meet at Gettysburg for Talk on Vital World Issues

450 Years Before Herod

A personality study by Guy Rowe

MALACHI

"... Unto Us a Child Is Born"

Down Through Long Years, Prophecy of a Lowly King

By GEORGE CORNELL
Associated Press Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of eight studies of the setting and the people vital to the most joyful of all events in religious history—the Birth of Jesus.

THE STORY OF CHRIST and His mission on earth begins many centuries before His birth. Prophets long had foretold His coming. But to an ordinary citizen of Jerusalem at the time of Jesus' birth, it was hard to believe that the time had finally arrived. This might have been his story:

The words whisper down through the years. Haunting words. Lofty words. Words rustling like the winds among the tents of olden Israel. But who can still believe them?

In these corrupted days, with that Roman cat's paw, Herod, on the throne of Judea, it is hard to trust the old prophecies—that an exalted leader will come to shield the people, even all the nations of the earth.

But yet, the words persist, swirling through memory like hidden waters, flowing down from father to son, through all the generations:

"... And His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor ... the Mighty God ... the everlasting ... Prince of Peace. Of the increase of His government and peace there shall be no end ..."

Old words, dimmed by years, muted by graves of broken hopes. They are in the book of that silver-voiced prophet Isaiah, who lived 700 years before this present tainted reign of Herod.

But the words still blaze and linger:

"Have yet not known? Have yet not heard? Hath it not been told you from the beginning? ... Behold, a King shall reign in righteousness ... And the stretching out of His wings shall fill the breadth of the lands."

But how? Who could lift up such a peerless majesty, with Judea once again beneath a foreign heel, with our people scattered to the four winds, and only a remnant left in Jerusalem, and strangers all about?

Yet, we brood and yearn.

Even now, there comes this new, rash tale from Bethlehem about a God-sent child. Ah, that it were so. But it is merely gossip by unlettered herdsmen, the poor and quarry slaves. They, too, recall Isaiah's words:

"Behold, a virgin shall conceive and bear a Son and shall call His name Immanuel ... With righteousness shall he judge the poor ... with equity to the meek of the earth ... And the glory of the Lord shall be revealed."

Musty old words, impossible sounding now. Already this land teems with graven gods, with fancied spirits of men's devising. Unlike these, Isaiah foresaw a living, real deliverer:

"... Unto us a Son is given ... And He will lift up an ensign to the nations from afar ..."

Puzzling words. Did Isaiah mean a wholly mortal ruler? His passions dwelt much on human matters, against injustices by priests and nobles. And yet he said this

Seek Solution to Plea for Help on Toy Balloon

The mystery of an SOS note attached to a toy balloon found yesterday near a Telegraph road restaurant remained unsolved today by area Air Force, police, and Civil Defense officials.

Signed by a "James Patterson," the note requested help saying he was in "great pain" after a plane crash north of Bay City. He said he was using the last part of his gasoline to float 10 balloons and that his plane was burning.

The discovery of the balloon by restaurant worker Alfred Cordingly at 17275 S. Telegraph Rd. began a search of the Bay City sector and check of aircraft movements which have turned up no evidence of a crash or missing plane.

A U. S. Air Force meteorologist said today there had been no winds since Dec. 1 that could have blown the balloon down from Bay City. State Police at East Tawas and West Branch are continuing to scan their sectors today for any signs of a crashed aircraft.

No one has figured out how aviation fuel can be used to send balloons aloft.

Courthouse Suit Held Up

Corporation Counsel Wins Time to Gather Needed Information

The hearing on the lawsuit filed last month by the Oakland County Taxpayers' League was adjourned indefinitely today at the request of Oakland County Corporation Counsel Harry J. Merritt.

Merritt requested the adjournment in order that the county might gather information as requested in the League's bill of complaint.

The county official gave a promise that the county would undertake no "major commitments on the building until the suit has been heard."

The suit charges that the county supervisors planned the proposed new courthouse without legal authority and padded county budgets to accumulate building funds.

Shoppers' Special: Drizzle and Snow!

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts that possible light rain or drizzle today will be followed by snow flurries and a low of 20-24 tonight.

Tomorrow will be cloudy and cold with a chance of occasional light snow flurries, high 28-32.

Preceding 8 a.m. the lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac was 34 degrees.

11 Persons Die as Fast Train Hits Packed Car

Bodies Badly Mangled; One Baby Girl Safe in Arizona Tragedy

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — An ancient passenger car slammed into the Southern Pacific's Golden State Limited today, killing 11 persons in the car.

The Limited, traveling at 75 m.p.h., continued on its way into Phoenix's Union Station, some three miles away, and only then did the train crew discover the accident.

Bits of human flesh and a car fender were found around the forward truck of the second half of the diesel engine.

The mortuary attendant said that the dead were three children and eight adults, but the bodies were so badly mangled that he was unable to determine their sex.

He said he believed they were of Spanish-American or Indian descent.

The train crew said they felt a "jar" when the car hit the train. Walter A. Vandergriff, who was driving nearby and saw the accident, said:

"It sounded like a hammer hitting a two-by-four."

At the station the train paused two hours for minor repairs and continued on its way from Los Angeles to Chicago. No one aboard was hurt.

The accident took place at a level crossing marked only by a standard wooden railroad sign.

Bodies of the dead were strewn along a 30-foot-deep, 200-foot gulch at the base of the railroad embankment.

One survivor, an 18-month-old girl, was found whimpering in the bushes.

State Electors Casting Votes Today for Ike

LANSING (AP)—Michigan cast its official vote for President Eisenhower today.

By law and custom, 20 Republican electors chosen in the Nov. 5 general election balloting gathered in the state senate chamber to vote for Eisenhower and Vice President Richard Nixon.

A certificate recording their votes was to be sent to Washington where the electoral vote of the entire nation will be canvassed when Congress reconvenes next month.

Private Session Aims at Greater Understanding

Discussion to Include Questions of Red China, Communism

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and India's Prime Minister Nehru set out for the privacy of Eisenhower's Pennsylvania farm today for secret talks on world issues including communism and Red China.

Eisenhower picked up the Indian leader at Blair House, the government's guest residence. They started immediately on the drive of some 80 miles to the farm near Gettysburg.

There, without even their advisers on hand, the two national leaders will have opportunity for hours of uninterrupted private discussion. They plan to stay until midmorning tomorrow.

The basic aim is the achievement of closer relations and better understanding between the United States and India—not the working out of specific agreements.

Eisenhower was smiling broadly as he alighted from the automobile at Blair House, to greet his guest.

"Good morning, your excellency," Eisenhower said.

Nehru shook hands vigorously, and Eisenhower escorted him to the limousine.

They climbed in, posed briefly in the back seat for photographers, then sped away.

About 200 spectators gathered to witness the departure.

Nine additional automobiles, carrying Secret Service men, reporters, photographers and TV and newsreel cameramen followed the car carrying Eisenhower and Nehru.

Nehru, who recently entertained Premier Chou En-Lai of Red China, was expected to tell the President that Chou sincerely wants to clear away Washington - Peiping antagonisms. Nehru himself would like the United States to accept Communist China in the United Nations and eventually recognize it.

FLEW IN IKE'S PLANE

In a talk to fellow countrymen at the Indian Embassy last night, Nehru said Chou had received a warm welcome in India, and he added:

"If the President of the United States were to come to India, and I hope he will, we will give him an equally great welcome."

Ndhru described India's role in international affairs as being that of a bridge between nations with conflicting interests.

Nehru came to Washington from London on Eisenhower's plane Columbine III.

Eisenhower greeted the 67-year-

Pot-O-Gold Up to $200 Mark—Try Your Luck!

Even though a winner was found for Pot-O-Gold just last week, the prize money has already climbed back up to the $200 mark. If no winner is found for last week's puzzle, a correct solution for Puzzle No. 29 can pocket as much as $225. If you're interested, turn to page 31, look over the rules and clues carefully, and then check the word list below. All you have to do is select the 16 right answers from these 36 words and the money will be yours.

Here are the possible words for this week's puzzle: bait, birth, boat, budget, bulb, bulk, bull, caper, club, cork, falls, fear, finger, girth, hand, hew, land, mirth, nip, pacer, palls, pit, pot, push, ringer, rush, sew, singer, tiger, tribe, trudge, ward, warm, wear, work, zip.

Strike at Fisher May Idle 1,000

An estimated 1,000 more Pontiac Motor Division workers are expected to be laid off tonight, making a total of 10,300 idled by the six-day Fisher Body strike.

Negotiations between Fisher Body officials and UAW union representatives recessed at 9:30 this morning climaxing a marathon 20-hour bargaining session which produced "no report" statements from both sides.

A Pontiac Motor spokesman said tonight's expected layoff of 1,000 workers, mostly from the stamping plant, makes a total of 6,000 Pontiac Motor employes out of work as the result of the strike. The plant employs 12,000.

Resumption of talks is expected at 1 p.m. Tuesday.

The walkout resulted from a strike vote taken by members of Fisher Local 596 UAW who charged management with "speed ups" and other local grievances.

The 4,300 workers left the plant after a five-day session between management and union failed Tuesday.

Over the weekend, Mayor William W. Donaldson wrote Thomas F. Wiethorn, Fisher Body plant manager, asking resumption of work while negotiations continued.

This morning Wiethorn issued the following statement to Donaldson: "After being apprised of the company's position in this matter and with the realization that we have done everything within our means, first to keep our employes in the plant, and then to reach an early and equitable settlement, I'm sure you will agree that responsibility for the present situation rests elsewhere."

Wiethorn also informed Donaldson in the letter that management had requested an extension of the strike deadline Tuesday, but was refused by union representatives.

Union officials could not be reached for a statement regarding the Donaldson and Wiethorn letters.

High Interest Rates May Affect Roads

Mounting bond interest rates, which will swallow up large bites of the increased state and federal highway budgets, may force Michigan to reconsider its recent veto of toll roads, George N. Higgins said today.

Higgins, chairman of the dormant Michigan Turnpike Authority, said in a statement he feels turnpike projects can be financed despite the current tight money problem.

He offered the state "assistance" from his authority if too much of the increased gas and weight tax goes in interest instead of pavement.

George M. Foster, chief deputy Highway Commissioner, was unenthusiastic over toll roads. He said the department doesn't yet consider advancing interest rates a problem.

'U.N. to Moscow' Urged

Jeers Hit Ears: 'Jibs' and 'Jib' Just Don't Jibe

Because of an error in the answer material furnished The Press by the firm that compiles our weekly Pot-O-Gold puzzles, the word "jib" was incorrectly listed on Page 32 last Friday as the answer to Question 13 in Puzzle 27.

In answer to readers' queries, the correct word was "Jibs," as indicated in the illustration on Page 1 of the same issue.

The Press points out, however, that the correct word (jibs) was used as the basis for judging the 9,639 entries received—consequently the error, although regrettable, did in no way affect the outcome of last week's contest.

Fans Throng Willow Run

Cheers Meet Sad Lions

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

A cheering throng of fans filled Willow Run airport last night to welcome the Lions' football team despite the fact that the Chicago Bears whipped Detroit, 38-21, to win the Western Division title.

Every member of the team was given a roaring cheer from the estimated 2,000 people as each came through terminal gates, but the greatest applause went up for Bobby Layne, veteran Lions' quarterback who suffered a brain concussion early in the second quarter of the game.

Layne walked into the crowd with his head down, so as not to make his water-filled eyes obvious.

"I'm so sorry we couldn't have brought them a victory," he said. "Isn't this terrific, we get whipped and they treat us like champions," said rookie Don McIlhenny.

A huge sign hung in front of the gateways reading, "There's Next Year."

It was altogether different from the signs which hung at Wrigley Field in Chicago with such lines as "We Want Lion Blood," and "We Want Lion Meat."

Detroit's rugged defensive line was wrecked by the Bears, led by big Rick Casares, J. C. Caroline and Harlon Hill.

The Lions' running game, minus Layne for three periods, was held to only 51 yards, the lowest output of the season.

The Bears however gained 307 yards rushing and 144 passing including 190 by Casares himself.

Riots, free-for-alls and injuries marred the game as spectators raced onto the field three times.

Layne was injured in the second quarter when he was hit by defensive end Ed Meadows after he had already pitched out to halfback Gene Gedman.

Lion officials called the act "deliberate and vicious," and they have begun proceedings to have Meadows barred from football.

"This has become common in Chicago," said coach Buddy Parker in referring to the riots on the field, "and it was Meadows who also put Layne out of the game in Pittsburgh last year," he added.

The loss snuffed Detroit's bid for a 4th Western Division title in five years and sends the Bears against the New York Giants Dec. 30 for the National Football League and World's championship.

Frank Frymire, 33, of Clio, died Saturday of injuries incurred Friday night when his car collided with a Chesapeake & Ohio switch engine at a crossing near U.S.10, two miles north of Flint.

DETROITER KILLED

Joanne Rogge, 26, of Detroit was injured fatally Saturday night in a two-car collision at a Detroit intersection.

Wilfred Cleveland, 48, and Rhoda Fletcher, 51, both of Detroit, were killed Saturday in the collision of their car and an auto haulaway truck 2½ miles west of Saline on U.S.112.

Leo Remenak, 46, of Grand Rapids, was killed Saturday when struck by a car while walking across a street in Grand Rapids.

Emil Graeser, 61, of Detroit, was fatally injured Friday in a three-car collision in Dearborn.

Mrs. Mary Lynch, 85, of Detroit was struck and fatally injured by a car on a street near her home Sunday.

Plan Sanity Hearing for Heath Today

A Probate Court sanity hearing for Alvin Heath, 33, of Avon Township, who terrorized his neighborhood with a six-hour barrage of rifle shots Dec. 5, was scheduled for 2 p.m. today.

Heath's wife, Jean, requested the hearing after his arrest on charges of assault with intent to murder.

The gunman was subdued by sheriff's deputies who stuck out a half-hour fusillade of 32 shots before slipping up to the door of his house while he was inside reloading his gun.

Neighbors told police he had been shooting wildly around the neighborhood for three weeks, and that afternoon had riddled a neighbor's car with 20 shots before firing at the neighbor.

Traffic Club to Meet

The Pontiac Traffic Club will hear a talk on "Air Express" presented by W. J. Goodell, Railway Express Commercial Agent of Flint, at its monthly meeting tonight. A film will be shown to illustrate the discussion.

Kansas is the world's largest producing center of hard winter wheat.

Kidnap Jeweler, Nab Cut Gems Worth $300,000

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Two gunmen abducted a New York jewelry company owner as he left an airport last night, police said, and robbed him of $300,000 in cut diamonds and emeralds.

Police said David Gurfein, 49, told them he was forced to drive a car at gunpoint through this Los Angeles suburb while one of the holdup men ransacked his briefcase seeking two envelopes containing the gems.

When he placed his bags in a rented car at the airport the men got in from each side, Gurfein told police.

The victim phoned police from a filling station after his abductors made him stop the car.

Police Favor Civil Service

4-Day Poll Endorses Replacing Trial Board by 90-12 Vote

Pontiac Police have overwhelmingly supported a Police Officers Assn. decision to seek civil service to replace the present trial board authority.

Results of a four-day secret poll of the department's 114 officers were announced today as 90 votes for civil service and 12 against it.

An association member, James Carr, who tabulated the ballots said 12 members of the department apparently did not vote.

The vote means that the association will continue to seek placement of proposals on the April city ballot which will amend the trial board section of the city charter and unit police and firemen under a code based on state civil service laws.

Police officers say civil service will give them more job security and the right to appeal disciplinary actions to circuit court.

Carr said the association will continue attempts to arrange a meeting with the board to discuss officers' recommendations for rules of procedure and discipline.

Girl Seriously Hurt as Train Hits Auto

A 14-year-old girl was critically injured and three other teenagers were shaken up when their car was struck by a Grand Trunk & Western Railway passenger train at the West Huron street crossing at midnight Saturday, Pontiac police said.

Karen Scott, of 1233 Applewood Rd., White Lake Township suffered a fractured jaw and critical head injuries, authorities at Pontiac General Hospital said.

She was with Walter W. Philipian Jr., 16, of 1088 S. Lake Dr., who told police he was heading west at about 25 miles per hour and did not notice the red flashing signals.

Philipian was treated for a bruised hip. Two other youths suffered no apparent injuries, hospital authorities said.

They are Frederick W. Spruth, 18, and Gaylen R. Owen, 15, both of Oxbow Lake.

The northbound train was traveling about 25 miles an hour, police said. It struck the rear of the car.

Novi Election Today

NOVI TOWNSHIP — Election of five members of the Novi Community School District board is underway today, with polls open until 8 p.m. There are ten candidates for the five posts. Voting is at the Novi school.

Arrest of Seven Solves Thefts

Youths Admit Breakins at 52 Different Places in Oakland County

The arrests of seven youths, three of them juveniles, have cleared up 52 different breakins in Oakland County, Sheriff Department detectives said today.

Most of the articles taken by the boys during the past four months have been recovered by investigators. They were reportedly stolen from homes, golf clubs, and cottages in White Lake, Novi, Highland, Springfield and Bloomfield Townships.

The group admitted the burglaries following lengthy questioning by Sheriff Frank Irons and detectives Leo Hazen and Harry Maur.

Two of them, Carl Libkuman, 17, and John Kidder, 18, both of Detroit, had been arraigned last Friday for some of the breakins and were bound over to Circuit Court after waiving examination. The Circuit Court hearing will be Dec. 26.

Leroy Howard, 18, and William Shoults, 18, both of White Lake Township, were to be arraigned today in Justice Court for breaking and entering in the night time. The juveniles are also from the White Lake area.

Detectives said the youths, operating in two teams, raided some of the same places two or three times. They are also wanted for questioning by the Brighton State Police concerning six breakins in the Howell sector.

Fall Through Ice Drowns Young Boy

Thin ice was termed the cause of the drowning Saturday of Tom Dunham, 12, at Hemingway Lake in Lapeer County.

Lapeer County Sheriff's officers and state police searched all night, finding the boy's body at 9 a.m. yesterday morning in 12 feet of water.

The boy was taking a shortcut home after watching a Boy Scout demonstration across the lake from his home on Saturday.

He lived with his mother, Mrs. Virginia Dunham. His father, Chester, is of Flint.

Father Faces Charges in Children's Deaths

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Authorities planned to file two murder charges today against Gerald Clayton, 23, accused of setting the fire that suffocated two of his three children.

The third child, 2-year-old Stephanie was rescued Friday night by a baby sitter. Mrs. Clayton returned from a bar to find Dion, 4, an dher brother, Gerald Jr., 3, had perished. Mrs. Clayton was separated from her husband a month ago.

Inspector Magner Thompson said Clayton confessed setting the fire at his wife's house in an attempt "to scare her" into staying home.

Practically Liquid Gold

PARIS (AP) — French motorists got the bad news today that the price of gasoline has gone up 9 per cent. The government-decreed increase brings the price to 79 cents a gallon. Finance Minister Paul Ramadier explained this was due to the increased cost of shipping fuel around South Africa or buying it in the Western Hemisphere.

Pontiac Deaths

Maria H. Dempsey

Mrs. Maria H. Dempsey of 452 N. College St., Grand Rapids, died Dec. 12, in Grand Rapids, after an illness of two months.

She was the widow of Thomas H. Dempsey of Grand Rapids.

Surviving are her daughter, Mrs. Francis Carr of Grand Rapids, four grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Also surviving are her sister, Mrs. Eva G. Kellog of Pontiac, and three brothers, Harold Tarbell of Grand Rapids, David Tarbell of Detroit, and Paul Eugene Tarbell of Pontiac.

Service was held at 2 p.m. Friday at Greenhoe Funeral Home, Grand Rapids, with the Rev. Falible of the Grand Rapids Congregational Church officiating.

Albert F. Pickford

Albert F. Pickford, 81, of 38 Mark St., died Saturday at his home after an illness of four years.

A resident of Pontiac for 30 years, Mr. Pickford was born in Bayfield, Ontario March 4, 1875, the son of Charles W. and Sarah Jane Clegg Pickford. He married the former Mabel M. Richards April 12, 1911 at Sault Ste. Marie.

Mr. Pickford came to Pontiac from Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, and was a member of the Central Methodist Church. Retired manager of Poole's Hardware, Mr. Pickford was also the former owner and operator of A. F. Pickford Hardware Co., Sault Ste. Marie for 16 years.

He belonged to F&AM No. 358 and was a Past Patron of Pontiac Chapter No. 228, Order of Eastern Star.

Besides his widow, Mr. Pickford is survived by a son Charles R. of Pontiac, a son Harold A. of Oxford, and a daughter, Mrs. Mary E. Erickson of here. Six grandchildren also survive.

Service will be held at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow from the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home, with burial in Oak Hill Cemetery. Dr. Milton H. Bank of the Central Methodist Church will officiate.

Mr. Rogers was formerly employed in the Wright Planing Mill.

Besides his widow, he is survived by a brother, Blaine, of Imlay City.

Service will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday from the DeWitt C. Davis Funeral Home. The body will then be moved to Imlay City for burial.

Hooded Men Rob Local Store Owner

Two men armed with pistols and masked with silk stockings held up the proprietor of the Center Street Market, 10 Center St. at 11 p.m. Saturday and escaped with $90 from the cash register, Pontiac police said.

Mrs. Donna Stottlemyre, the owner, said the pair entered through the front door when the store was empty of customers.

Both men had stockings drawn over their heads and faces. One was about six feet tall and slim, she said, and the other five feet four and of average build.

* * *

She gave them the money in the register, Mrs. Stottlemyre said, and the thugs left the store on foot without harming her.

The Day in Birmingham

City Facing Lot Renaming and Costlier Evergreen

BIRMINGHAM — Among the several items of importance to come before commissioners tonight will be parking, zoning and both the North Evergreen and Evergreen Sewage Disposal Projects.

The estimated $1,000,000 cost of the development has already increased (in estimate) over 50 per cent, and may well be doubled if all requirements of the state health department are met.

A large part of the increase, according to City Manager Harold Schone, comes from the state's insistence on the treatment of storm water. Since most of the storm water comes from the City of Birmingham, local costs could increase materially.

The parking question will include renaming the new lot, to Parking Lot No. 2, the question of parking on Maple between Chester and Southfield, and lying the groundwork to halt parking along the right-of-way of US 10.

The zoning item is a public hearing on an amendment to the established ordinance.

Items for this colmn as well as items about Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield Township, and Troy should be submitted to Alice Morgan at her home, 1835 Holland St., Birmingham. Her telephone is MIdwest 6-3537.

The Planning Board at its Wednesday night meeting at 8 p.m., will again consider the request of Ruth A. Carll for rezoning of parts of four lots on Henrietta and Merrill streets from multiple family to business status.

Property owners within 300 feet have been asked to attend the meeting, as well as the immediate property owners.

Other items on the agenda are the revision of the zoning ordinance, rezoning of lots 12 to 28 inclusive, and 32 and 33 of East Maple Gardens from single family to multiple family residential, and revision of the business C classification.

Birmingham - Bloomfield Hills Zonta club members will meet tomorrow evening at Devon Gables for dinner and a Christmas program. An exchange of gifts also is planned.

Bandits Kidnap Pair, Flee With $20,000

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Two bandits kidnaped a young bank teller and his wife early today, held them captive for nearly six hours, then forced them to hand over an estimated $20,000 from a night depository.

The two men fled in the bank employe's auto with weekend deposits from the College Park branch of the Suburban Trust Co. An FBI investigation was launched immediately.

The teller's wife, Mrs. Donald E. Bishoff of Hyattsville, Md., was hysterial from the ordeal and cried, "It can't be true. It's like a fairy tale."

Neither Mrs. Bishoff nor her husband had been harmed.

The two bandits, one described as tall and the other as short, abandoned the Bishoffs' auto two or three miles from the bank, the FBI reported.

The FBI said the two men apparently released the Bishoffs about 3:15 a.m. today. One of the robbers was described as being about 6 fee 4, the other about 5 feet 6.

Waterford to Get Recreation Report

The annual report of the Waterford Township Recreation Department will be presented at tonight's Township Board meeting at 7:30, according to Supervisor Lloyd Anderson.

The board plans to set a future date for the discussion of the reports with Thomas Belton, recreation director.

Water and sewer installations for the Coleman-Friedman Subdivision at Cass Lake and Pontiac Lake Rds. and routine matters also will be under discussion, Anderson said.

Goiters were recognized as a human affliction 2,000 years ago and were generally treated by sea salt, both eaten and also applied externally.

Choose Gifts for Family Enjoyment

By JANET ODELL

Some gifts are meant for the whole family to enjoy. For example, if your family just adores outdoor meals, a charcoal burner or barbecue equipment would be an interesting and welcome gift. If you play Canasta every evening, an automatic card shuffler would please everyone.

Some families enjoy keeping track of the weather each day and try to make their own predictions. For such a group a combination thermometer, barometer and humidity chart might be chosen. Each instrument is housed in a wooden case with brass fittings; the three are strung together on brass chains.

A pre-Christmas gift might be a Merry Christmas rug to put just inside the front door. Red, with a green holly design, it has a greeting printed across it in metallic thread.

Why not give a gift of a wall hanger to hold shoes while they are being shined? You could include a supply of shoe polish in the most popular colors and a polishing brush. For the same fastidious family a battery-operated miniature vacuum cleaner to keep the dust off clothing and out of the family car would be different.

Did you ever think of giving an Historical Atlas to the Bible to your favorite family? Children interested in geography would be interested in comparing these maps with modern ones of the same area.

If the family does a lot of informal entertaining, they will like a brass container with four glass jars labeled mustard, ketchup, mayonnaise and relish. It's just the thing for parties in the recreation room.

Even though movie cameras keep perfect record of joyous vacations, most families have dozens of snapshots. Instead of keeping them in boxes, you can mount them in the new-type photo albums which lie flat when they are open.

JUST THE THING — Casting an admiring glance at a fancy piece of neckwear is Mrs. John Donaldson, of 204 Ottawa Dr., as she completes her Christmas shopping. In many families, a tie is family property, for common use among father and sons, contrary to father's protests.

Nehru's Biographer Talks

Why Does 'Neutral' India Align With Reds?

NEW YORK (NEA) — Why does India call herself neutral and find herself time after time allied with Soviet Russia's policies?

Frank Moraes pushed the bedclothes back and looked at the ceiling. "Yes," he said, "that must be answered because it appears to be so and yet it is not so."

Moraes, editor of the Times of India and biographer of Nehru, was resting after a two-month tour of the United States before his return to Bombay.

"In the first place," he said in impeccable Oxonian English, "it must be understood that we are Western in much of our outlook."

Now independent, India has found that years of being a British subject has left its cultural mark.

"Even to the writing of our own constitution," he said. "We sent our experts to the western nations to learn about the making of a democracy."

But that, he said, was the limit of outside entanglements. "We are very much like the United States when she gained her independence. We want only to consolidate our states — and that means a generation of peace in which to work without outside entanglements."

However, in United Nations business, India along with the Arab block abstained in the voting to censure Russian tactics in Hungary.

"Oh yes," Moraes said in his quiet voice. "To understand this you must understand the Indian mind."

And that mind, as he spelled it out, is "unsophisticated in any way." In the first place, 93 per cent of India is unschooled and politically uneducated. And second, the Indian understanding of colonialism or imperialism does not extend to political action in Europe.

"Tell an Indian," he said, "that Russia has a base in Helsinki, 800 miles from Moscow. And that Indian will tell you that England has a base in Singapore, 8,000 miles from London."

INDIA'S THOUGHT

Even the classic definition of colonialism—access to cheap raw material and labor—makes no dent in the Indian understanding. Why then, the Indian asks, would you include Russian domination of Czechoslavakia? That country is poor in materials and is highly industrialized with skilled labor.

Or take Poland. She has been partitioned many times in history, the Indian reasoning goes. This is merely a continuation of old European rivalries and political wars.

"The Indian understanding of colonialism," Moraes said, is simply the subjugation of a colored people by the white."

And while the Hungarian uprising against Russia might have been used to teach India a new definition of colonialism, he said, the march on Egypt came too soon.

"And that," he said, "was something India could understand — a colored people attacked by whites."

It will take at least a generation of peace and internal work, he said, to begin to mature India as a democracy. "And until then, she will stand by the things she understands."

Except for seven years of study at Oxford and travel in Europe in his youth, Moraes has spent his 49 years in India or traveling throughout Asia.

"Because this is where," he explained, "the new crisis will be.

"You must look at Red China to understand. She, like India, has been a victim of imperialism. But she has also made the most striking industrial progress. It has cost her dearly in personal liberty. But Nehru, back from a visit to Red China, was fired with a spirit of competition."

Low-Slung Auto Puts Squeeze on Prowler

DALY CITY, Calif. (UP) — The design of those new low-slung cars came to the aid of police.

They found an intruder under a 1957 model in an automobile showroom.

"Come out," called Sgt. Dave Hanson.

"I can't," was the answer. "I'm stuck."

Officers jacked up the car and released the man. T ey booked Winfred Ivanhoe, 26, on suspicion of burglary, prowling and vagrancy.

Loose Bullet in Ashtray Explodes, Shoots Boy

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — John Sell, 13, was critically injured when a bullet, lying in an ash tray, exploded as he and a friend threw lighted matches on it. Flying pieces of metal pierced his jugular vein and windpipe, authorities said.

Investigators said the boy found the bullet in a trash heap and took it with him to the home of a friend.

The second boy, Edgar J. Allen, also 13, was unhurt.

Railroad employes in the U. S. have been paid more than one billion dollars in unemployment and sick benefits under the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act since it went into effect in 1939.

Pneumonia Still Not Conquered

Ranks as Deadly Killer Despite Some Progress, Says Health Group

PARIS (INS)—Pneumonia is still a killer.

Despite the widespread use of penicillin and other newly developed antibiotics it remains among the world's 10 deadliest illnesses. It is one of the three principal causes of death among infants up to one year of age.

The World Health Organization reports that the pneumonia mortality rate has dropped considerably in the last 10 years but says that the progress made is insufficient to consider the disease conquered.

WHO figures show that Italy, Holland, New Zealand, and the United States have made the greatest strides in the campaign against pneumonia, with a reduction of the mortality rate running as high as 62 per cent. Lower percentages were registered for Norway, Denmark, Canada, Finland, Australia, Scotland, Ireland, Germany and Japan, where the best showing was 46 per cent. England, Wales, Northern Ireland, Portugal, and the Union of South Africa, showed reductions of only 26 to 14 per cent.

An unexplainable sidelight, WHO said, was the increase in pneumonia deaths during some years among persons over 80 in France, England, Finland and Portugal.

In a majority of countries bronchial pneumonia is the most prevalent form. In France and German it is the virus type, and, in Japan, lobar pneumonia predominates.

129-Yr.-Old College to Cease Operations

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — Shurtleff College, one of Illinois' oldest educational institutions, will suspend operations June 30. Trustees hope it may become a branch of Southern Illinois University or be relocated in another part of Illinois.

Trustees of the 129-year-old school voted yesterday for the suspension and adopted a resolution authorizing immediate negotiations with Southern Illinois at Carbondale.

The college, which has more than 200 regular students and about 300 night students, has been in financial difficulties for some time. It has operated with the support of the American Baptist Convention and the Illinois State Baptist Convention but is privately owned.

Give Firm Option for Indian Reserve

SARNIA, Ont. (AP)—An option to buy the 3,400-acre Chippewa Indian Reservation which lies within the city limits of Sarnia has been obtained by a New York corporation.

The option obtained by New England Industries reportedly fixed the purchase price at nine million dollars.

The company also agreed to set a portion of the land apart for a new reservation and to build the Indians a model village on it.

The reservation fronts the St. Clair River and is surrounded by valuable industrial property. Sarnia is directly across the St. Clair River from Port Huron, and is connected with it by the towering Blue Water Bridge.

The Sarnia Chippewa Reservation is believed to be the only one in North America within the city limits of a municipality. All Indian reserve lands in Canada are held in trust by the government and may be sold by the Indians residing on them if they wish.

The U.S. consumes more pulp and paper than the rest of the world combined.

Our Parks Deserve Sufficient Backing

An effort being made to arouse interest of Michigan residents in the inadequate condition of state parks should meet with response both from the thousands who use the parks, and from cities and towns near parks which benefit greatly from tourist and recreation dollars.

The Automobile Club of Michigan is conducting an educational campaign to acquaint citizens with the park situation, urging them to seek Legislative action to improve our recreational facilities.

The club claims that appropriations for upkeep and operation of the state's 59 parks and recreation areas have fallen far behind the growing use of the parks by our own people and by out-of-state visitors.

As a result many park facilities are in a serious state of disrepair; funds have not been available to add badly needed additional facilities. Personnel is too limited.

Estimates indicate that by 1960 park use in the state may hit 28 million; by 1970 as high as 38 million—providing our parks can serve that many with safety and pleasure.

These throngs of park users represent an impressive economic factor. We cannot afford to have out-of-state visitors shun Michigan because we have failed to prepare for them. Neither should we deprive our own citizens of adequate outdoor recreational opportunities.

Oakland County is fortunate in having large areas of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan park within its boundaries, and enjoys nine other state or conservation land parks.

So the problem of their growth, maintenance and adequate supervision is one which comes close to us.

"Take a Letter . . . Naw . . . Skip it"

Scarcely anyone wants to be so forgotten that he never receives ANY mail. A letter from someone now and then is appreciated by the most confirmed recluse.

But letters can be overdone.

Ask any businessman.

One of the growing problems in many offices is how to cope with the increasing flood of mail and still have a little time left for business.

Some of the myriad of letters are even worth answering; the trouble is you must open them all to find out which ones.

We knew a college professor 'way back who had a fine system. He piled up all his mail on a desk and kept pushing it back as new batches arrived. The ones which fell on the floor didn't have to be answered!

"Anyway," he explained, "most of the problems represented in all that mail solved themselves if you just gave them a little time." Now there's a philosophy to live by.

Another type of letter we like is the one which has an enclosed reply card (stamped, of course) where only an "X" on the proper line is needed for an answer. Saves a lot of time and usually the writer gets an answer.

But the real stinker is that character who sends letters to our home merely addressed to "Occupant" . . .

If the writer cannot take the trouble to learn the name, properly spelled, of the "Occupant," the letter does not deserve even to be opened.

Which it never is!

Another Great Liner

A sister ship for the great liner, The United States will soon be under construction. Another ocean liner in the class of the United States will be welcome news to all travelers on the world's sea lanes.

The United States, holder of the fastest east-west Atlantic crossings, is the first really mammoth craft ever built in American shipyards. Until four years ago the leaders in the field of shipbuilding of this type vessel were the British and French yards.

From the performance of the United States our shipbuilding interests have proven that they will be a topnotch competitor in the field of passenger vessels.

This new ship will follow almost exactly the design and construction feature of the United States. After four years of arduous tests in all kinds of weather the engineering judgments used for the United States have proven successful.

Convincing evidence that America is capable of making its mark on the world's merchant marine will be the sight in a few years of this new sister ship making regular Atlantic crossings.

The Man About Town

White Christmas

Past Years' Record Show Average Is in Our Favor

Christmas: A word that should not be spelled any other way.

That almost universal hope, desire and urge for a white Christmas, according to one of my most reliable weather historians, of Huron Gardens, may be realized this year. His hunch has been good most of the time during his nearly 40 years of observation. He says that, although the snow may thaw off the ground several times before that holiday, on two-thirds of the years Christmas has been white, although on a few occasions it did not get that way until late in the day.

Harvey Brackenberry,

Performing his duty at Lansing today, casts the ballot of the 18th Congressional district (Oakland County) for Ike and Dick, as the presidential electors go through the motions as we directed them to do on Nov. 6.

Giving barometers for Christmas presents, of Rochester, says he's doing it because he wants to rescue his friends from the weather bureau. Costing one dollar each, he has found their forecasting to be far more reliable than that of the bureau.

In furthering one of his chief aims,

Mayor Bill Donaldson

is suggesting that we use cheaper Christmas cards, and turn the balance over to the fund for building a new civic auditorium in Pontiac, to be dedicated when the city's centennial is celebrated in 1961.

No longer wondering what was chewing up the frosted plants in her flower garden is

Mrs. Mortimore Blanchard

of Drayton Plains. After a recent snow she found deer tracks.

"I may be a little premature," writes

Perry Alleman

of Walled Lake, "But I'm going to vote for

of the Detroit Tigers in your baseball contest next spring. He's the spark plug they needed to cinch the 1957 pennant."

We're being urged to write our legislators to give their support to appropriations for the improvement and expansion of our state parks when they meet at Lansing next month. I have the assurance of our new and a majority of Oakland County's representatives that they are quite receptive to the proposition that means so much for this area.

State Senator L. Harvey Lodge,

Oliver Twist and Ivan the Magnanimous

David Lawrence Says:

Britain, France Set Stage for U.N.

WASHINGTON—Prime Minister Eden and Premier Mollet and the peoples of Great Britain and France can derive a good deal of satisfaction over what has just happened in the United States.

For, without the noble example of self-denial which the British and French gave in agreeing to withdraw their troops from the Suez area, there would have been no such emphasis possible on the contrasting behavior of the Soviet Union with regard to Hungary.

Sometimes things work out for the best, and in this instance, had it not been for the original display of impatience by Britain and France over Nasser's tactics of aggression, there would not have been the same opportunity today to rally the Free World in a great moral denunciation of what the armies of the Soviets are doing in Hungary.

Today the whole world sees Britain and France accepting the verdict of the Free World that negotiation of a settlement of the Suez Canal question should be resumed without involving the pressure of military force. But the whole world sees also how the Soviet Union is depriving the people of Hungary of their rights and liberties as an independent nation by the cruel hand of an occupying army.

CONDEMNS VIOLATION

The U.N., by its resolution, "condemns the violation of the charter by the government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics in depriving Hungary of its liberty and independence and the Hungarian people of the exercise of their fundamental rights."

It charges the Soviet Union with "violating the political independence of Hungary" by "using its armed forces against the Hungarian people," and calls upon Moscow to "desist forthwith from any form of intervention in the internal affairs of Hungary" and to make "immediate arrangements" under United Nations observation for the withdrawal of its forces and the "re-establishment of the political independence of Hungary."

Many observers ask "what good will words do?" The question ignores the tremendous power of moral force in the modern world of extensive communication. The fact that the United Nations condemns the Soviet Union—for the first time in the history of the international organization—will become known throughout the Iron Curtain countries.

It is a signal to the people generally that the Soviet Union, which has heretofore tried to give the impression that it was standing as a great government on a parity with other governments, is no longer doing so.

Most important is the encouragement which the U.N. resolution will give to other peoples behind the Iron Curtain to try the same tactics that the Hungarian people have so bravely put into practice.

The Free World doesn't want to see its armed forces used to "liberate" the oppressed peoples in the satellite countries. For to do this would merely give the Soviets an excuse for a general war. Likewise, a revolt from within any one country has far more chance of winning the sympathy and support of the other nearby countries than would the interjection of an external factor which could serve as a means of rallying national passions.

It is a delicate situation for the Western allies today, and they wisely agreed at the NATO meetings last week not to offer any program of military help if East Germany should revolt. This doesn't mean that private organizations of emigres supported by voluntary contributions do not aid the underground resisters.

That's going on all the time. The Moscow government, in fact, is trying to prove that all this activity is inspired by the United States government, but it isn't so.

When the U.N. takes up the Soviet resolution demanding an inquiry on the subject, an excellent opportunity is afforded to tell the real story of what various little groups on this side of the Iron Curtain are trying to do to liberate their countrymen. It might afford the basis of an appeal by some of those same organizations to the U.N. to plead with the citizens of free countries to send arms and help of all kinds.

"I'd like that job if you don't take stock too often!"

Dr. William Brady Says:

Finds Calcium, Vitamin D Relief for Leg Cramps

A correspondent describing the relief from painful nocturnal leg and foot cramps—relief he experienced soon after he began taking a daily ration of calcium and vitamin D (instructions in pamphlet on Adult Tetany for which send stamped,self-addressed envelope)—first implied that his doctor said the trouble was "poor circulation."

That seemed far-fetched. Such a diagnosis is used mostly by the merchants of medicine who engage in the phony "clinic" racket.

Like "a cold," it is readily convertible at any subsequent moment into whatever the trouble may prove to have been, so the victim remains unaware that the doctor was just guessing in the first place.

Although he enjoyed this relief for several months, his enjoyment was not lasting. At the golf course he became acquainted with a new doctor, who informed him that using calcium and vitamin D will bring on hardening of the arteries.

Now, what do I think? The correspondent hates to give up what has been, so very helpful, but his blood pressure is only so-and-so over so-and-so and he wants to keep.

NO EXAMINATION

The poor fellow does not mention that the doctor at the golf course has never examined him except maybe casually over a skoal.

But this here now hardening of the arteries is a ghastly idea, especially for a man who has never given any serious thought to the effects of tippling, for instance.

If a daily ration of Ca & D to supplement the ordinary overrefined American diet caused hardening of the arteries, my arteries should be in pretty precarious condition. For I've been using such a ration daily for many years, as described in the pamphlet Young Folks and Old Folks, available on request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Here I can only repeat that no pathologist, no physiologist, no physician of standing upholds the notion that the daily intake of the quantity of calcium and vitamin D that I recommend will cause "hardening of the arteries" or "calcium deposits" or any other such ill effect.

PATIENT'S IDEA

The correspondent whose query about painful cramps in leg or foot brought on this tirade casually revealed, that it was not the first doctor, but he himself that opined the cramps were due to "poor circulation."

Let that be a lesson to you. When you consult a physician just state your complaint in your own words — a painful cramp when I try to stretch—a lump right here—tenderness and dull pain there — dizziness — slight bleeding at irregular times . . . and leave it to the doctor to conduct the investigation from there on.

Don't try to impress the doctor with your knowledge of medical lingo and don't try to make the diagnosis for him.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Favors Idea of Highway in Pontiac Shopping Area

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I think the idea of a great, main highway fairly close to the center of Pontiac is very interesting. Judging from the route that was outlined, it would not run through very many residential sections and according to the authorities, it would be about as cheap as though it were outside the city.

I have heard some of the people argue this would give the downtown shopping a shot in the arm as folks from many miles away could get to the center of Pontiac rapidly and in a comfortable manner.

I wish someone would outline the objections against this type of road.

'U.S.- Russia War Is Very Unlikely'

You haven't sent a reporter out to ask me, but I don't think we're very near any war with Russia. Here's why. The Communists have so much hatred worked up against them in their satellites that if they got into any sort of a big scale war, they'd have revolutions all over the map. And the Commies know it! Yes, sir. They're just plain scared.

If they opened full scale war against the U. S. there'd be revolts on every side. If we could keep these unfortunate people supplied with arms and ammunition, they'd give Russia a Grade-A war on their own account.

Russia knows she's hated and she knows she has no friends, anywhere. She can't trust anyone for she only rules by force, gunpowder and open murder. How can a gang of cut-throats like that dare risk a war? Will someone answer me that?

Israel Stalls U.N. Forces by Ruining Roads, Rails

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

The U.N. forces' advance into the Sinai Desert toward the Israeli frontier has been completely halted by the withdrawing Israeli army's systematic wrecking of roads and railway.

In their "scorched earth" policy Israeli troops used giant road-breaking machines on all roads leading to the controversial Gaza Strip and the southern Negev part of Israel.

The Israelis, in this unexpected action which has caused angry charges, also have hauled away more than half of the Kantara-Gaza Railway.

U.N. officials believe that 19 miles of the Kantara-ElArish road and 30 miles of the road to Abu Agheila are devastated. And they fear that the road-wrecking policy will be carried out all the way to the Israeli frontier.

Yugoslav troops in the U.N. Emergency Force set out jauntily into the Sinai Desert last week in a motorized column equipped with trailers, heavy trucks and half-tracks—all American made.

INDEFINITE DELAY

But thus far they have not moved far from the eastern bank of the Suez Canal, and the delay, it seems, will be indefinite.

The roads, over which the Israeli troops sped in their quick conquest of the Sinai Peninsula, are dug up, blocking any advance. Trucks moving to the side into the sand get bogged down.

Elmo H. Hutchison, Middle East director of the "American Friends of the Middle East," charges that the Israelis are "making a ruthless, scorched-earth withdrawal from Sinai" and says that the Yugoslav troops are bogged down only 17 miles east of the Suez Canal.

"Roads, railroads, communication lines, bridges, villages, water tanks, mines, oil wells," he says, "are all demolished."

Cmdr. Hutchison, former chairman of the Israel-Jordan Mixed Armistice Commission, resigned from the U.S. Navy to become Middle East director of the organization which says it is a non-profit, non-political group aimed at creating better understanding between the United States and the Middle East. His headquarters are Cairo.

CALLED UNNECESSARY

He termed the Israeli action "unnecessary as the Israelis met no resistance in this (Sinai) area," and said that "if Israel gains from this latest aggression the United Nations is doomed in this area."

The commander also quoted "reliable sources" as saying the Israelis are reducing the Arab population in Gaza by encouraging refugees to flee into the Sinai Desert or to cross Israel into Jordan.

Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Canadian commander of the U.N. force, last week asked Israeli military commander Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan why his troops were destroying the roads. Dayan reportedly grinned and said:

"The longer it takes the Egyptians to get to our frontier, the better."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Get the Facts for Happy Marriage

Teresa's terror illustrates a very interesting psychological law. It is shown by the typical old maid's fear lest a man be under her bed. For fear is often the reverse swing of the pendulum to mask subconscious desire. So it was with Teresa. Her rigid conscience made her a slave to her home.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-349: Teresa J., aged 29, has three children.

"Oh, Dr. Crane, I am so miserable," she began on the phone.

"Last week I won a TV prize which involves a free trip to Hawaii. But I can't accept it.

"For I have a complex. I dare not go anywhere alone. Why, I can't even walk down the street for a block to shop at the store unless my husband is with me.

"It is a terrible feeling to be so frightened about leaving home. Is it possible to get over this sort of thing? And am I losing my mind?"

SEX COMPLEXES

Teresa has a very common type of sex complex. It can strike a woman at any age, but is very common at 29 and 39 years.

For those are two of the most panicky ages for women. The usual girl of 29 views 30 as a very great milestone.

"I'll be an old woman when I am 30," she vaguely imagines. "But I haven't enjoyed as much romance and excitement as I have wished."

Similarly, the married woman at 39 is scared when she views her 40th birthday just ahead.

For the age bracket from 40 to 50, has long been regarded as synonymous with the menopause. And most women have had an entirely mistaken notion of what happens at this period in their lives.

They view their womb (uterus) as the barometer of their physical charm. So when it normally ceases to function at about 45, they often grow terrified by the thought:

"I can't be attractive to my husband any longer. I'm nothing but a nothing and not a thing at all."

Yet this is entirely false. The womb is not primarily a sex organ but is excess baggage as regards marital relations.

Surgeons can remove the womb and the average husband wouldn't even know the difference in their wives.

So you women must banish this foolish worry by getting wise to the plain medical facts. You can be thrilling and thrillable as long as you live.

TERESA'S TERROR

Teresa's terror was based on her feelings of inadequacy as a wife. She was not satisfied by her husband, since he had never received specific medical advice prior to his wedding.

And nature does not solve this problem, though many people seem to think it does.

Actually, the male and female bodies are not constructed anatomically so the wife can obtain marital satisfaction, unless a collateral technique is employed which has been invented by the human brain.

Teresa's terror, therefore, was based on her subconscious dissatisfaction, plus a vague yearning for more romance before she passed that dreaded 30th birthday.

But her conscience was very rigorous, so it prevented her from going forth and being unfaithful to her husband.

In the resulting dilemma, she developed this terror about leaving the house. She couldn't go anywhere unless her hubby was at her elbow.

For this arrangement protected her from her subconscious desires for outside romance.

You are aware of the old maid's chronic fear lest a man be under her bed?

Fear and subconscious desire are often closely intertwined. So it was with Teresa. During my interview with her and her husband, I showed them how to banish her problem entirely.

So send for the booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Most unhappy homes and divorces stem from sexual mistakes, so insure a permanently happy marriage by getting the scientific facts.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Arson Charged in Church Fires

Police Find Evidence at Scene of Two Recent New Jersey Blazes

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Police have termed as "definitely arson" two church fires and attempts to start blazes in two other churches early yesterday.

Historic First Methodist Church suffered some $200,000 damage.

A smaller blaze did an estimated $500 damage to the First Born Living Church about a mile and half away. Detective Capt. Joseph E. Welsh said police found gasoline ignited in two other small churches close by the original fire.

Police and the Mercer County prosecutor's office continued their investigation today.

Welsh said the fires were "definitely arson."

Another officer, Lt. Lawrence Blocking, said:

"This is apparently the work of a religious fanatic firebug."

The blazes came nine months after St. Mary's Roman Catholic Cathedral was destroyed in a three-million-dollar fire. The lives of Msgr. Richard T. Crean and two women housekeepers were lost in that disaster, which is still listed as suspicious.

Some 125 firemen answered the general alarm for the Methodist church fire at 4:30 a.m. Four suffered minor injuries and four others narrowly escaped injury or death when a metal dome and roof collapsed into the two-story Sunday school section.

Midland Gets Permit

MIDLAND (AP)—Midland Hospital has been given permission by the Atomic Energy Commission to use radioactive isotopes for diagnostic work. The hospital is now conducting a fund-raising campaign for a new laboratory and treatment room for the work.

Hal Boyle Says:

You Can Lead a Celebrity to Water

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Notes from a roving sand dune:

Florida's glossy "Gold Coast" became the nation's television capital over the weekend as TV dignitaries ranging from David Sarnoff to J. Fred Muggs gathered here in Pastelville-By-The-Sea for NBC's 30th anniversary.

Startled Seminole Indians paddled deeper into the Everglades to escape the video invasion, but everyone else in Southern Florida seemed bent on crashing the convention site—the glossy $17 million dollar Americana, "hotel of the year"—for a wide-eyed look at some of TV's top stars at work and horseplay.

* * *

Most of the fans were autograph collectors, but one lady had a more serious hobby. When security police caught up with her a few minutes after she had skipped past the stout rope separating the upper crust from the lower crust, she had collected three handbags and was amiably looking around for a fourth.

You can lead a celebrity to water, but getting him into it is another matter.

Groucho Marx did dash into the surf for a moment, but ran back out complaining "It's a hard place to keep a cigar lit."

One of the few stars who got wet was J. Fred Muggs, known as "the boy chimpanzee most likely to succeed in a woman's world."

While trying to outdo his rival, Dave Garroway, he fell into the hotel pool. He flew out in a rage, boarded a plane and left for Havana to test whether the roulette wheels there could really make a monkey of him.

Ever have a desire to stroll barefooted over the bare backs of an acre of lovely women?

Anyone with that ambition who wasn't here over the weekend missed a golden opportunity to achieve it.

A fellow had to be careful where he put his feet down on the beach to keep from putting footprints on the backs of such beauties as Jinx Falkenberg, Jo Stafford, Mary Yates, Gina Lollobrigida, and a dozen or more lovely fashion models.

One of the models disclosed a trade secret—how she kept so gazelle slim.

"I carry a sack of tomatoes around," she said, "and whenever I get hungry, I eat one. What else do I eat? Nothing."

What price success? In her case she admits, "It's starvation."

Greatest ear-catcher of the convention was Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, RCA's board chairman and father of network broadcasting.

In 1916 Sarnoff wrote a memo on the possibilities of a "radio music box." In 1926 he launched NBC, the first national network.

Some of the oldtimers who had known him all through the years—from the era when radio was a fresh wonder on into the dawning age of color television — were misty-eyed as the granite-faced, onetime Morse operator recalled the bygone time when adventurous Americans sat up half the night, ears glued to a crystal set, trying to pick up a station 150 miles away.

But it was Sarnoff's son, NBC President Bob Sarnoff, who pitched the convention tycoons their keynote phrase on the future of television growth—"color is the booster shot of the fourth decade of network broadcasting."

Discussion of how to speed the spread of color TV so dominated corridor chatter that one wag observed:

"What this country really needs is a new black and white set for the color - blind man. He'll soon be the forgotten man of the industry."

Crashes His Plane to Avoid Children

DALLAS (AP) — Aubrey S. Crutcher, 53, of Houston was piloting two friends to Dallas after a deer hunt when he ran out of gas coming in to land.

He started to make a forced landing on a playground when he spotted a group of children.

Police said he deliberately stalled his twin - engined light plane, vaulted to one side and crashed "just to keep from hitting that bunch of kids."

Crutcher suffered a mouth cut, L. H. True of Dallas received a broken nose and J. A. Williamson, 48, of Houston escaped injury.

Sues Town for Injuries

MT. CLEMENS (AP)—Mrs. Mary E. DuBay asked the city for $25,000 for injuries suffered May 20 when she stepped on a manhole cover while carrying her year-old granddaughter. Her husband, Clarence, asked $10,000. The suit claimed the manhole cover was defective.

Murals Depicting Ike's Life Completed for Museum

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The artists who painted the huge 1,100 square feet murals for the Eisenhower Museum in Abilene, Kan., never got the President to model for them.

The murals, depicting Eisenhower's life in more than 30 scenes from boyhood to President, are the work of two famous artists, Louis Bouche of New York and Ross Moffett of Princeton, Mass.

Both had to work from photographs because the press of world events and Eisenhower's recent illness prevented him from posing.

"Originally," said Bouche, "I was told the President would pose for me but that never worked out because of the press of business. Later I was supposed to sit in on a presidential press conference so I could sketch from life but that didn't come to pass either."

The murals cover four walls in the museum lobby. Moffett's show Dwight Eisenhower from childhood to the Presidency. Bouche's murals depict scenes from his military career.

The two artists were commissioned, at about $25,000 apiece, by the National Academy of Design to paint the murals, a gift to the museum from the Abby Fund set up by the widow of Edwin Austin Abbey, noted 19th century mural painter and illustrator.

It was left entirely up to the artists how Eisenhower's life would be portrayed and how the work would be executed. Moffett, best known for his Cape Cod scenes and seascapes, chose Eisenhower's boyhood and postwar career mainly because he himself had grown up on a farm in the Midwest and had a nostalgic feeling for the country.

Moffett was born on a farm near Clearfield, Iowa, but has lived most of his adult life in Provincetown. His paintings and murals hangs in many prominent public buildings and museums, notably Philadelphia's Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, New York's Whitney Museum and Washington's Corcoran Gallery.

AUTHENTIC

Both artists strove for historical accuracy, authenticity and intimate detail. Moffett poured over early family photograph albums opened to him in Kansas two years ago, made copies of dozens of snapshots of Eisenhower at various milestones in his youth and consulted hundreds of other local references.

In depicting Eisenhower the soldier, Bouche had every insignia, uniform and piece of ordinance verified by military authorities in this country, Canada, France and England.

Before the work even started, his wife read two books on Eisenhower and marked passages for him. Seeking authentic detail, Bouche asked the Canadian Consul General in New York City to procide a photograph of a Canadian soldier in full battle dress for a section of the mural dealing with Canada's contribution to the World War II victory.

The consul did better than that. He had a soldier dispatched from Ottawa to pose three days for Bouche."

"Of all the murals I've done," says Bouche, a Democrat who voted for Adlai Stevenson in the last two elections, "this was the most exciting, the most challenging in composition, the most interesting subject."

Both artists said they had excellent cooperation from Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother who represented the Eisenhower Foundation. It was Milton Eisenhower, Bouche recalled, who suggested that "if possible the Canadians be given some attention since they are our close friends."

Completion of the project took about two years. The murals were first painted on canvas, then cemented to the four walls. Some of the figures, like Bouche's Canadian soldier, are almost life sized; others are in sweeping panorama of many figures and places.

The Moffett scenes include Eisenhower as a baby at his birthplace in Denison, Tex., playing baseball on a quiet street in Abilene, leaving home for West Point, his marriage to Mamie Doud, his installation as President of Columbia University, taking the oath of office as President of the United States, addressing the General Assembly of the United Nations on the peaceful use of atomic energy and at his farm in Gettysburg, Pa., with his grandchildren.

Bouche shows the landing at Normandy, the fighting in Africa, the liberation of Paris, crossing the Rhine and many other war scenes from Eisenhower's SHAEF days.

Moffett did most of his work alone. Bouche had one assistant, artist Cleade Enders, who also posed for many of the figures. Moffett's panels measure 6¼ by 35 feet; Bouche's 12 by 24 feet. The lobby portion of the museum was especially designed to house them.

Attractive Gifts Please Smokers

Selection and Price Will Give Shoppers Wide Choice

Gifts for the smoker are easy to pick, since smoking is a luxury, though many smokers would deny it.

The cigar smoker has a whole raft of "necessities" from which his family may pick a gift, according to the cigar Institute of America. Gifts for the cigar smoker are both decorative and functional.

A cigar cutter for the table has an actual white walrus tusk for its handle. Humidors, so necessary for preserving the freshness and fragrance of cigars, come in all price ranges, in all shapes and colors.

A distinguished one is in fine blond Florentine leather. It has gold tooling on it. A matching ash tray, big enough for a man, completes the ensemble.

A new design in table lighters may also please. It's done in chrome in the form of a miniature tankard and burns with a cigar-sized flame.

And, of course, there's always the possibility of a box of his favorite cigars.

Gifts for the cigaret smoker are also available in plenty. For the desk, there's a combination unit that holds ash tray, lighter and cork-lined cigarette box.

Cigarette cases for the pocket come in leathers to match the billfold to make a nice dual gift.

This kind of item can be managed, financially, by a brother and a sister. They also come in bright plaids for use with sportswear or during a fishing trip.

Big ash trays delight men, who find most women's choices too small or too shallow.

The man who likes patio living in warmer weather would appreciate a deep, windproof ash tray.

Many have safety features, a not-too-subtle, but wise, suggestion to the man who tends to put cigarettes down on furniture.

For the pipe smoker, a pig-skin tobacco pouch that has a moisture-proof lining is nice. One, in addition, has an extra compartment for the pipe.

Hold Flint Man, 29, for Weekend Shooting

SAGINAW (AP)—Pedro Adrian, 29, of Flint, was held for investigation today in the fatal shooting early Sunday of Philip Renda, alias Jose Juarez Ortigo, 21, also of Flint.

The shooting occurred early Sunday outside a tavern near Saginaw.

Michigan Man Dies in Florida Tragedy

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—A Michigan man has been killed in the worst automobile accident in the history of the overseas highway which links the Lower Florida Keys. Five were killed, a sixth critically injured.

The Michigan man was Gunnar R. Nastlund Jr., 20, of Baggett. He was en route to Miami with three navy buddies, who also were killed, on weekend leave.

Two cars collided head-on 10 miles northwest of Key West. Besides the sailors, Mrs. Irene M. Cramer, 22, of Key West, was fatally injured. Her husband was critically hurt.

Daggett, is a town of 341 located on U.S. 41 about 20 miles north of Menominee in the Upper Peninsula.

Dad, Mother, Son to Get College Degrees in '57

MT. PLEASANT (AP)—The Porters make it a family affair when they go to college. Father, mother and son all expect to graduate from Central Michigan College in 1957.

Oliver C. Porter of Standish, head of the family, will graduate in February with a bachelor's degree in English. He is a public school teacher.

Son Oliver, a star on Central Michigan's unbeaten, untied football team, will get his degree in mathematics in June. He was named most valuable player by his teammates.

Mrs. Porter is taking extension work and will attend summer school to get her degree by the end of the summer term.

British-French Fight Back, Near Last Phase of Pullout

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP) — The British-French forces have begun the last phase of their withdrawal from Egypt after a tank-supported attack on guerrillas in retaliation for the ambush slaying of a British officer.

The deadline for the final pullout was not announced. U. N. sources indicated it might be tomorrow or Wednesday. But Lt. Gen. Sir Hugh Stockwell, commander of the British-French task force, implied some of the Allied troops might still be on hand Thursday behind the barbed wire ringing their narrow beachhead along Port Said's harbor front.

Stockwell said he had agreed to a U. N. request to let 350 armed Egyptian police enter Port Said Tuesday and 350 more two days later "if the first contingent behaves itself."

Egypt planned to have more than 1,000 black-uniformed police with rifles maintain order in the city after the British-French evacuation.

After the fighting yesterday the British withdrew behind the four miles of barbed wire that bounds their two-block-wide beachhead. The French were preparing to quit Port Fuad, across the harbor. The U.N. police patrol maintained order throughout the rest of the city.

British and French units staged their power drive against the guerrillas by moonlight late Saturday night and early yesterday through Port Said's dark streets and twisting alleys. The attack was launched after a British officer on patrol duty was killed by a grenade hurled from ambush.

Tanks rumbled through the streets and troops combed the alleys, firing at the elusive guerrillas during the 3½-hour battle. Bullets zoomed over rooftops and red streaks from tracer ammunition laced the sky. British officers said the Allied forces "killed some Egyptians—we're not sure of the number," and captured 10 men in the battle area.

The only casualty reported on the British-French side was the victim of the grenade ambush.

The guerrilla attacks have increased as the British and French prepared to quit Port Said for their ships. Egyptian President Nasser's government has disclaimed responsibility for these attacks. After the moonlight retaliatory battle, Egyptian Information Director Abdel Kader Hatem said in Cairo Egypt would protest to the U. N. against the "British-French attacks on the civilian population in Port Said over the weekend."

The Egyptians expect the U.N. troops to have a short stay in Port Said. An Egyptian officer at Abu Suweir, near Ismailia, said the troops would leave a week after the Egyptian police arrive.

Egypt has insisted that except for a brief preliminary period to restore order, the U.N. units sent in to guard the peace must take up positions along the uneasy Israeli-Egyptian armistice line that existed before Israel and the British-French task force penetrated Egypt.

Builder Uses Dome in Erecting Edifice

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — Reversing the usual procedure of first excavating, then building, the contractor of a dome-roofed Albuquerque civic auditorium rounded off a natural mound of earth on the site and cast a 218-foot thin-shell concrete roof on the convex surface.

Then he dug away the earth beneath, leaving the dome standing clear in a ring of columns built and backfilled earlier.

Anyone for Tennis With Motmot Bird?

PANAMA—The motmot, a grayish-green tropical bird, has a tail that looks like a tennis racket.

The "rackets" are fashioned by the birds themselves, which pluck off about an inch of the feather vane below the end of the two outermost feathers.

The bird, found on the Smithsonian Institution's tropical preserve in Gatun Lake, swings the tail from side to side like a pendulum.

Egypt Mistreats Citizens, Say Britain and France

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Britain and France pressed complaints in the U. N. today that Egypt is mistreating their citizens with arrests, deportation and seizure of property.

The two partners in the October-November invasion of the Suez Canal called a private meeting of 16 non-Communist European U.N. delegations to explain their case against Egypt — apparently in anticipation of bringing it before the General Assembly.

A French spokesman said this afternoon's Assembly session "very likely" would be devoted to the charges against Egypt.

France has circulated a resolution asking Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to send observers or take other measures to induce Egypt to stop mistreating British and French nationals. Israel has also complained of Egypt's treatment of Jews since the Israelis invaded the Sinai Peninsula Oct. 29.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi denied his country had mistreated any foreigners. He called the British and French allegations a "propaganda campaign based on unfounded reports."

Of reports that some Jews and holders of British and French passports had been arrested in Egypt, Fawzi said: "We did take some security measures."

Opposing views of Egypt on one hand and Britain and France on the other brought new complication's to the U.N.'s job of clearing the shipwreck-clogged canal, the main artery for transportation of Middle East oil to Europe.

Fawzi said in a statement that Egypt would agree to the use of British salvage equipment to reopen the waterway—but that the British and French crews could not remain in Egypt "in view of their own safety," since many persons were killed in the "recent aggression against Egypt."

British and French spokesmen reiterated that they would be willing to loan their equipment to tackle the job only if the crews remain.

Chrysler Gives Grant to Research Program

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. today announced an aditional grant of $100,000 to the Cornell University Medical College's automotive crash injury research program through Aug. 31, 1958.

Since its first grant to the program in September, 1955, Chrysler has donated $300,000 to the program designed to analyze automotive crash injuries and causes.

L. L. Colbert, Chrysler Corp. President, said: "The program is one of the means by which we can advance highway safety to still better records. We believe continuation of the studies will not only shed further light on recent design innovations which reduce risk of injury in highway accients, but will be of continuing usefulness."

Cadillac

His Tenth ... and His Greatest Thrill!

Nine times before he has stood in his dealer's showroom and accepted the keys to a new Cadillac car.

And yet, as often as he has re-enacted this glorious event, he knows that there is something very special about today.

For this is more than a new Cadillac. This is the newest and most advanced Cadillac car ever to find its way from drawing board to production line.

Just looking at it gives him a warm glow of pride and satisfaction. And imagine, for just a moment, the many wonderful thrills that yet await him as he takes the keys and starts off on his first journey home.

To begin with, there will be his discovery of Cadillac's brilliant new performance. The car is so responsive and so perfectly balanced that it will be a revelation.

Then, as he takes the sweep of the boulevard, there will be the added thrill of those admiring glances that will come from his fellow motorists.

And how satisfying it will be to find that even Cadillac owners have a special affection for the man in the new "car of cars".

And finally, of course, there will be the joy of that wonderful "welcome home" as he turns into the familiar driveway and comes to a silken stop.

For when a new 1957 Cadillac arrives, it is the prize of any family . . . and the pride of any neighborhood!

Why not come in soon for a preview of this thrilling experience? We have a 1957 Cadillac waiting for you in our showroom—and we will be happy to give you a personal demonstration at any time.

Whether it's to be your first or your second—or your fifth or your tenth Cadillac—you're in for a wonderful surprise!

Upheavals Dot Poland's Past

Borders Have Shifted Many Times Since Medieval Days

WASHINGTON—The new regime in Poland opens another chapter in the long history of changes and upheavals that have molded the destiny of that nation.

The broad outlines of the story can be read from the shifting boundary lines on maps of Europe, says the National Geographic Society. Since medieval days—when a powerful Polish kingdom stretched from the Baltic almost to the Black Sea—Poland's borders have expanded and contracted with accordionlike action.

At times, the country has disappeared from the face of the continent. Dismembered in 1772 and again in 1793, it was totally partitioned in 1795 among neighboring Austria, Prussia and Russia.

NAPOLEON TOOK A HAND

Napoleon in 1807 established the Grand Duchy of Warsaw as a partial restoration of the old nation. Its life was short, however. At the 1815 Congress of Vienna, this and other Polish lands again were marked off among the Austrians, Prussians, and Russians.

For more than a century thereafter, Poland ceased to exist as an independent country, though periodic revolts and the people's stubborn devotion to their own language and culture made Polish patriotism a byword around the world.

World War I brought Poland the chance of rebirth. Its sovereignty was recognized by the Treaty of Versailles in 1919. By 1921, following various struggles and adjustments with its neighbors, the new Poland spread over 150,000 square miles.

Once more Poland had gained access to the Baltic Sea, but at the price of a German-contested "Polish Corridor" that separated the bulk of Germany from East Prussia.

When World War II came, it brought with its devastation a whole new series of Polish partitions and border realignments.

German invasion from the west in September, 1939, was followed swiftly by Russian occupation from the east, resulting in a Russo-German dividing line cut through the heart of Poland.

Two years later this line was wiped out as German armies engulfed the whole country in launching the attack on Russia. But the elastic Polish frontiers still faced more pulling and stretching.

MOVED WESTWARD

Under the postwar Potsdam agreement, Poland was moved bodily westward—in places for as much as 150 miles. On the east, the Soviet Union acquired a broad stretch of rolling farm and marsh lands, plus valuable oil and potash deposits.

On the north and west, Poland took over an extended Baltic seacoast, a portion of East Prussia, and the coal-rich, industrial areas of Silesia that formerly had been Germany's "Second Ruhr."

Today, Polish territory amounts to about 120,400 square miles. Its estimated population of 28,500,000 is largely homogeneous, a result of the mass migration of millions of German inhabitants in the west and their replacement by Polish settlers.

Backed by additional raw materials in coal, iron, lead, zinc, and copper, postwar Poland has pursued an intensive industrialization program.

With the expansion of iron, chemical, textile and other manufacturing plants has come a population shift from rural to industrial districts that has changed the internal character of the nation no less than the external border pressures and conflicts of the past.

Watch Out for 4-Day Weekends

Build Defense Against Highway Deaths

CHICAGO (AP)—Strength and surprise are the key elements in the defense against death on the highways during the holiday season.

The top targets are speeders and drunks.

Those points were brought out today in an Associated Press survey of plans in many states to curb motor vehicle accidents during the Christmas and New Year periods.

Last year 609 traffic deaths were recorded during the three-day celebration of Christmas, a record for any holiday. The New Year observance added 364.

Christmas and New Year's Day were on Sunday last year, and the festive weekend included Saturday and Monday.

Each is on Tuesday this time, and the long holiday period includes the preceding weekend plus the intervening Monday.

More cars, more people and more hours of exposure to danger in the four-day holiday periods ahead call for more effort. In some states the extra effort is taking the form of added police strength.

Reinforcements are being called up in Tennessee, Maine and Texas.

Tennessee's regular 309-man highway patrol will be augmented by 60 troopers normally assigned to the driver's license and safety education divisions.

All troopers who can be spared from other duties will be assigned to highway patrol duty in Maine.

The regular highway patrol in Texas will be increased by extra offices from the motor vehicle licensing and weights divisions. That will add about 120 men to the usual force of 500.

Every available officer will be working a 10-hour day on highway patrol in Washington state. They will be aided by scout planes of the National Guard and the State Game Department.

All leaves for troopers will be canceled in Vermont.

Patrolmen and radar units will be concentrated in certain areas in Mississippi without advance warning — a surprise tactic that has slashed the state's death rate since it was adopted Oct. 1.

Roadblocks will be set up at unannounced places and times in Maine. Drivers will be checked for evidence of drinking or other violations.

Maine troopers will use both marked and unmarked cars. New York City's Police Department has enlarged its fleet of unmarked cars for use in Operation Safety during the holiday merrymaking.

Public Transit Systems Lucky to Break Even

CHICAGO — A recent analysis by the International City Managers Association shows that most of the 1,500 public transit systems in the nation's cities are either losing money or just breaking even.

In some cities the transit systems have been abandoned completely and in a few cases the systems have passed by default into municipal ownership.

Syrian Denies Talk of Soviet Penetration

NEW YORK (AP)—The Syrian ambassador to the United States says reports of Soviet penetration into his country are "unfounded" but that "colonial Western policy is pushing the Arab people in that direction."

Dr. Farid Zeineddine, on a radio and TV program yesterday, said Syria is strictly neutral in the Mideast situation.

Syria bought arms from Czechoslovakia, he said, "because we were unable to buy them elsewhere."

He said sabotage of the Iraq-to-Mediterranean oil pipeline "was the result of the Israeli-British-French invasion of the Mideast," adding:

"We would like to see the Mideast return to normal in every way. But to have oil flow in one direction while there is danger blood may flow in the Mideast is something else."

Phones Jingle in Ohio City

Lines Busy Once More as Emergency Service Ends Long Silence

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Long-dead telephones played a welcome yuletide "jingle bells" in Portsmouth today.

Exactly two months and nine hours after a strike-inspired shutdown blacked out all telephone service in Scioto County (population 90,000), emergency service was restored yesterday morning in a surprise move by the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co.

City officials were caught off guard but immediately turned the area around the firm's Portsmouth exchange into an armed camp. All was quiet. No pickets were in sight.

The entire city appeared happy and relieved that emergency telephone service was available, but at the same time it appeared apprehensive.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche repeatedly has assured the firm he would call out the National Guard on a moment's notice if the Portsmouth situation gets out of hand.

During the blackout, the people of Portsmouth depended largely on a makeshift system of radio communications for emergency needs.

Exchanges in the other 23 Ohio counties hit by a strike of some 600 Communications Workers of America members which began last July 15 have been operating virtually without interruption with the help of supervisory personnel.

Ohio Consolidated threw the switch which gave telephone-starved Portsmouth the long-absent dial tone without a word of comment.

Four auto-loads of telephone workers came into the city about 7 a.m. and about an hour later service was restored. The company would not say from where the workers came.

When the company restored service, the Portsmouth police, under Acting Chief Albert D. Bailey, quickly invoked a new emergency mobilization system.

All streets and alleys in a four-square-block area around the Portsmouth exchange in the city's hilltop area were barricaded. Rows of sandbags were placed across some. Floodlights shone brilliantly in the immediate exchange area.

All persons were barred from the area unless they reside there or have vital business to transact within its borders.

Ohio Consolidated and the CWA are still deadlocked over the question of a union shop and other contract disputes holding up settlement for a new contract.

Ex-Ambassador William O'Dwyer, while visiting New York, was told about the Mexican who ran for the Senate and made it, ran for Governor and made it, ran for President and made it, then ran for the border and didn't make it. . . . "New Faces" is such a B'way hit they're planning a "New Noses."—Earl Wilson.

Get Many Pledges Toward New Bank

ELLENVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—A total of $800,000 has been pledged toward the $1,050,000 needed to open the proposed new Ellenville National Bank.

Harry Resnick, chairman of a businessmen's committee, announced the pledges yesterday, and added he was confident necessary capital will be raised by Tuesday, the deadline set by the government.

The bank will replace the defunct Home National Bank, closed Dec. 4 after auditors found a shortage of $1,300,000. The Home Bank's president, William R. Rose, 51, is being held in $30,000 bail in connection with the shortage. Rose contends he pocketed none of the money and was only trying to help out local businessmen.

Foresees No Change

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Walter S. Robertson, U. S. Assistant Secretary of State, said today he foresees no change in America's China policy as a result of Indian Prime Minister Nehru's talks with President Eisenhower. Robertson spoke to newsmen as he arrived for talks with President Chiang Kai-Shek.

Await Entries in Yule Contest

Area Winner Eligible for Shot at $5,000 in Lighting Competition

The Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce was still awaiting the first entry in the 1956 Christmas Lighting Contest today as the Dec. 19 deadline for entries approached.

Entries should be mailed to Robert Elert, The Christmas Lighting Contest, 71 W. Huron St. Entrants may call Elert at FEderal 4-2571 to submit their entries.

The judging will be held on the night of Dec. 26. Displays will be judged on artistic merit, originality, lighting techniques, and ingenuity.

First prize winner in the local contest, open to all city residents, will be eligible for the $5,000 prize in the General Electric's nationwide lighting contest.

Entries should list name, address and a brief description of the display, Elert, chairman of the event, announced.

Judges selected for this year's contest will be Miss Lauretta Paul, director of Pontiac General Hospital, Pontiac State Rep. Leslie H. Hudson, Wayne H. Gabert, local appliance merchant, and Curtis E. Patton, local insurance agent.

There will be an east and west side winner with each receiving a plaque. Grand prize winner, to be chosen from the two, will receive a selection of household appliances.

Auburn Heights Kids at Base Visited by Santa

Santa Claus came early this afternoon for some 40 children of the men at the Auburn Heights Nike antiaircraft base.

Local merchants from Auburn Heights and Pontiac donated gaily wrapped toys for the kids, while the men and officers of Delta Battery, 516th AAA Missile Battalion, chipped in to provide a party for the children.

Christmas trees, donated by American Legion chapters in both communities, decorated the base as the children enjoyed an afternoon complete with Santa Claus handing out the gifts.

Doctor Wins Sons After Long Battle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A Michigan physician today had custody of the two sons he and he former wife waged a sensational, month-long, court battle over this fall.

Dr. George Edward Block, 30, of Ann Arbor, was given custody of the boys, George, 5, and John, 3, Saturday as his ex-wife slumped to the floor of an adjoining room, weeping bitterly.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bowman Block, 29, formerly of Grand Rapids, was ruled an "unfit mother" in the Superior Court fight over the children. She was given custody at their divorce trial in 1954.

Dr. Block, son of Edward Block, a Joliet, Ill., industrialist, accused the mother of a series of indiscretions with other men in his effort to gain custody. Mrs. Block had been living in California.

Clara Aldrich, Mrs. Block's nurse for the two boys, slammed the door in Dr. Block's face and told him: "You didn't get them, you bought them," when he came for the children. They were handed over moments later by Mrs. Block's attorney, James Martain MacInnis, and drove away with their father and grandfather.

Hit and Run Driver Kills Father of 4

SAGINAW (AP)—Jesse J. Howard, 35, of Flint, father of four children, was struck and killed early today near suburban Bridgeport by a motorist who failed to stop after the accident, state police reported.

Howard was returning with his wife and the children from Boyne City.

A tire went flat. Lacking a spare, Howard started rolling the tire along the road towards Bridgeport to a service station.

The accident occurred about a mile and a half from Howard's car. Police said they located the family in the car about two hours later. They were patiently waiting for Howard to return.

FBI Learns of Plot for Intended Kidnap

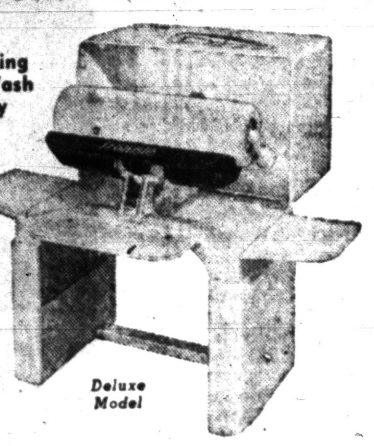

SEATTLE (AP) — The Post-Intelligencer, in a copyrighted story, said today that Dave Beck Jr., 35-year-old son of the president of the International Teamsters Union, was the intended victim of a kidnap plot thwarted by the FBI.

The scheme to kidnap Beck, the P-I said in a story which quoted the elder Beck liberally, was hatched at a federal penitentiary, "believed to be Leavenworth," several months ago.

The FBI learned of the scheme, the P-I said, and warned the Becks.

The story said Beck Jr. and the members of his immediate family have been "under surveillance and protection" since the FBI learned of the kidnap plot.

Richard D. Auerbach, special agent in charge of the Seattle office of the FBI, declined to comment on the P-I's story. Beck Jr. was out of town.

Soviet Rulers Believed Meeting at Kremlin

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party's 133-member ruling group was thought to be meeting at the Kremlin today, with discussion of whether to tighten or relax the grip on the satellites at the head of the agenda.

Russians and Westerners accustomed to the Soviet system over the years guessed that the Party Central Committee would meet this week, probably today.

There has been no announcement and there probably will be none until the session is over. Correspondents were told recently by Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov:

"There is no secret about Central Committee meetings. We always issue a communique when it is over."

From what the Soviet press has been talking about most in recent weeks, observers here believe the committee's agenda included:

1. The recent events in Hungary, Poland and Yugoslavia and their effect on the process of de-Stalinization. A decision on whether to tighten or relax the Kremlin's grip on the satellites could stem from the discussion.

2. Possible changes in the Moscow leadership.

3. Housing—Discussions of this perennial shortage have appeared frequently of late in the Soviet press.

4. Production of consumer goods —The old problem of heavy industry and arms production vs. Goods to make life easier, such as refrigerators and TV sets.

Observers in the West see chances of a no-holds-barred struggle for power in the Central Committee meeting.

Associated Press writer Thomas P. Whitney, a former correspondent in Moscow, described the lineup in the Central Committee chosen at the Soviet Communist Party Congress last February this way:

At the extreme right are "hard-line" or "orthodox Stalinist" Communists centered around Party Second Secretary Mikhail Suslov and Deputy Premier V. M. Molotov. They favor a thoroughly tough policy, maintaining strictest control over all aspects of life in the Soviet bloc.

In the center are party boss Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin, who have attempted to ride the wave of so-called "liberalization" in Russia and the satellites but have backtracked toward hard policies since the outbreaks in East Europe.

At the left is a faction headed by former Premier Georgi Malenkov that advocates a "soft line" of more concessions to popular demands.

Outside the political factions, protection of the Soviet army's interests will be demanded by Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov.

PRESENTS UNIT COLORS — Major Archie B. Johnston (right) accepted the colors and history log of the 516th AAA Missile Battalion yesterday as he formally took over command of the Nike antiaircraft unit. Presenting the flag and other trophies which the unit has won, is past battalion commander Major Emil M. Ulanowicz. Major Johnston had been executive officer of the battalion which has one of its five batteries, Delta Battery, stationed at Auburn Heights. Major Ulanowicz has been reassigned, after 15 months as commander, to the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

Yugoslav President May Come to U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Tito of Yugoslavia may soon be invited to visit the United States, it has been learned.

Authorities also appeared to feel that Tito — a Communist leader who successfully broke away from Russian domination in 1948— would accept such an invitation from President Eisenhower.

Titoism — defiance of Soviet rule — has assumed a new importance in the Western world in the wake of the successful revolt against the Kremlin in Communuist Poland and the bloody revolt in Hungary.

Some time ago Yugoslavian representatives put out strong feelers for a similar invitation for Tito, which Washington ignored.

Tourists in Colorado Spend Less This Year

DENVER—Colorado had a total of 3,385,000 visitors and an expenditure of $208,638,000 during the 1956 season.

The expenditure was about $6,000 under 1955 and was attributed to the shorter length of stay, which averaged 7.4 days in contrast to 1955's average of 8.1 days.

Will Propose Bill for 35-Hour Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Purtell (R-Conn) said today he will introduce next year a bill to fix a 35-hour work week for federal government employes.

Purtell said in a statement his purpose "is primarily exploratory," but he added that the shorter work week is "something inevitable, having great ramifications which we must study and prepare for."

Purtell said hearings on his proposal will accumulate information on "the possibility of the 35-hour week, not only for government employes, but for the nation's work force in general."

Purtell is a member of the Senate abor Committee. His proposed study is in line with a resolution adopted by the American Federation of Government Employes.

Purtell said many state government employes in Connecticut, Rhode Island and New Jersey now work a 35-hour week while "at least 20 of the state and territories have less than a 40-hour week."

NEW YORK (INS)—"Grand Old Opry" comedienne Minnie Pearl says: "Down South . . . you know what we say when somebody hauls off with a tantrum. We just look 'em cold in the eye and we say: 'That's right, let 'em know who you are. There is just a few of us ornery cusses left'."

Not all crows are black. The Clark's crow, named after the explorer of the Lewis and Clark expedition, is a gray and white bird, with black trimmings.

Pays to Park Car Here

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—When Earl E. Wheeler of Madison dropped a penny in a downtown parking meter it paid off like a slot machine. After his penny rang up 12 minutes of parking, the front dropped to the ground and 59 pennies rolled out.

Find Frog With 5 Legs

LA MESA, Calif (AP)—Ever see a frog with five legs?

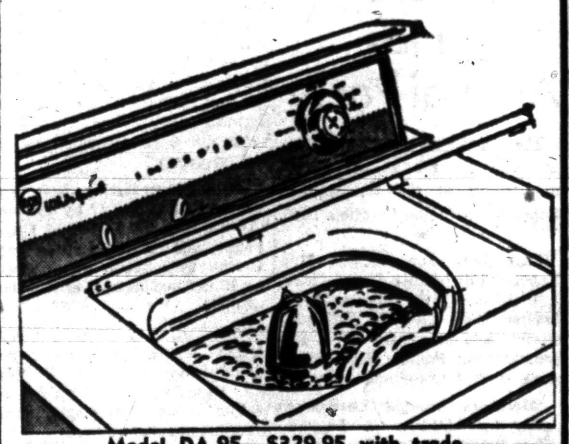

Pat Hennigan, 7, found one in a small pond here. He donated it to San Diego State College in the interests of science. The professors said they had never seen one with five legs before, either.

Wolf in Deer's Clothing

DRYDEN, Ont. (AP)—Maybe Mr. Wolf shouldn't go around in deer's clothing. Frank Wolf, wearing a brown-colored jacket, was shot in the leg in mistake for a deer by an over-zealous hunter in this northwestern Ontario district.

After the work comes refreshments and these members of Alpha Alpha chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha have just finished plans for their "Candy Cane Capers" dance, scheduled for Friday, Dec. 21, at Elks Temple. Shown are (left to right) Mrs. Earl J. Smith Jr. of West Lawrence street, Mrs. L. L. Schiefler of Vinewood avenue, Mrs. Donald E. Moore of Buster drive and Mrs. Elmer O. Johnson of Baybrook drive. Proceeds will be donated to the Children's Psychiatric Program at Pontiac State Hospital.

Despite the tophat, it's doubtful "this" snowman will "dance about" Friday evening at Elks Temple when Alpha Alpha chapter members of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sponsor their annual holiday dance. Putting the finishing touches on the snowman are (top) Ann Tierney of Orchard Lake road and Dee Brim of Lakeside drive.

Mrs. Harry Woodman (left) of Gateway drive is general chairman of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha holiday dance, "Candy Cane Capers," being held Friday. With her are (left to right) Mrs. Ben Sweeney of Linden street, Mrs. Calvin Rhodes of Bloomfield Terrace and Mrs. Ralph Wilson of Oneida road. Dancing will be from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. at Elks Temple.

The Children's Psychiatric Service at Pontiac State Hospital will benefit from the "Candy Cane Capers" dance Friday evening at Elks Temple. Alpha Alpha chapter members of ESA checking a poster for correct information are (left) Mrs. Don Murphy of Cooley Lake road and Mrs. Edgar Plympton of Manson drive.

Make Miniature Christmas Tree

Children will enjoy making a miniature Christmas tree for the holiday dinner table. Scout around for a twig that has a lot of little shoots. Then let them set this tiny "tree" on a platter, using modeling clay as a base to hold it upright.

The next step is to spread the branches with suds "snow" — made by whipping moistened soap or detergent to a thick lather.

Now trim the tree with shiny little beads or berries or miniature cake candles.

Coming Events

Fanny E. Tompkins, Temple 47, will meet at 18½ E. Huron St. at 8 tonight for regular meeting and Christmas party.

Reliable 12 Club will meet Tuesday at noon at the home of Mrs. Hilda LaLond, 719½ Auburn Ave.

Daughters of Pontiac, 186, will meet tonight at 8 at Malta Temple, 82 Perkins St.

Presbyterian Group Holds Yule Luncheon

Mrs. William Marbach opened her home on Neome drive to members of the February-December group of First Presbyterian Church Friday noon. The occasion was the annual Christmas luncheon.

Christmas carols were sung and gifts exchanged. Mrs. Davy Gilpin, Mrs. Edward Mann and Mrs. Bradley D. Scott assisted the hostess. Mrs. Henry Koenig of Royal Oak was a guest.

Alpha Beta Chapter Has Yule Party

30 Attend Dinner, Program at Home of Mrs. Galbraith

In a gay Christmas setting in the home of Mrs. Stuart Galbraith on West Iroquois road, Alpha Beta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society held its annual Christmas dinner party.

Thirty members and guests enjoyed the event with Mrs. Elsie Welch as chairman of arrangements. Assisting her were Mrs. William Perrin, Hazel Potts and Mrs. Harvey Bidstrup.

A business meeting was conducted by President Mrs. Irene Albright, who read greetings from the scholarship recipient, Ruth Goodwin, who was unable to attend the party. A corsage of bills was arranged as a shower for the student.

Mrs. Welsh narrated a Christmas program which was opened by a group of 12 Walton Boulevard School students singing the old Welsh air, "Deck the Halls." Gary Howard, a first grader, sang "I Ain't Gettin' Nuttin' for Christmas" by Bennett. This was followed by a descant arrangement of "Jingle Bells" sung by sixth graders.

Adversity Can Prove Rewarding

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"Sweet are the uses of adversity," the old saying goes.

For years I used to think that was a lot of nonsense, but nowadays I keep encountering cases which prove there's a good deal of truth in it.

Mary K. is a good example.

Mary is a young mother, with four children. Her husband has a wonderful future, but a present day salary which just barely covers necessities fo rhis family.

"Last Christmas," Mary told me, "I was miserable because, once again, I couldn't get a dress for the holidays. I had to wear the same basic black dress which was in my trousseau.

"Year after year, I used to haul it out for the holiday season and wear it with a new dime-store flower or a string of inexpensive beads.

SAVED ENOUGH

"Last year I decided that whatever happened, I'd have a new dress for this year's parties. I scrimped all year and found that I'd have enough to buy a new dress the week before Thanksgiving.

"You can guess what happened," she continued. "An emergency came up in mid-November and my nice nest egg went out the window.

"The day it happened was bleak and windy and I had a real self-pity session. I loved my husband and I adored the children, but I kept thinking I never had a thing for myself.

"I pictured all the other gals in their holiday finery, and me in that same old black dress, and had a real good cry.

"Finally, I picked myself up and got out the old black dress to see what could be done with it.

FESTIVE BOLERO

"I'm a pretty good seamstress, but for a while I couldn't think of a way to change it. Then I decided to top it off with a really festive bolero.

"I shopped until I found an attractive and inexpensive piece of material and put tiny Christmas ornaments on it.

"The result was perfectly beautiful, yet it cost under three dollars. The costume made a big hit and made me feel glamorous.

"But the funny thing is," she continued, "I got a lot of orders for similar jackets!

"My friends practically tried to buy it off my back and people I met at cocktail parties asked me where I'd gotten it. When I told them I'd made it, they asked me to make them one.

"This year, I've made and sold three dozen—I began back in July—and now I have enough money to buy a new party dress!"

Supper Dish Uses Cheese and Shrimp

Male Cook Adds a Gourmet Touch With Pink Wine

By JANET ODELL

When men start experimenting in the kitchen, they usually come out with good food. They are more daring with ingredients. William J. Emerson, county superintendent of schools, concocted a seafood dish recently that was most successful.

When free time is available, Mr. Emerson likes to read, go to the theater or play Bridge. Each winter he delights his children by making a miniature skating rink in the front yard of his home.

SHRIMP ROSE
By William J. Emerson

6 tablespoons butter or margarine
6 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
2 teaspoons salt
½ cup medium sharp cheese
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 pimientos, chopped
½ teaspoon paprika
¼ cup Rose wine (pronounced Ro-say)
2 pounds shrimp, cooked and split
6 ounces button mushrooms

Make a white sauce of the first four ingredients. Add cheese and let it melt in sauce. Add parsley, pimiento and paprika.

Just before serving add wine, shrimp and mushrooms. Stir while shrimp is heating or heat over boiling water. Serve on dry toast. Serves six.

Don't Change Too Much Just to Snare Husband

Suppression of Your Own Personality Will Place Big Strain on Marriage

By RUTH MILLETT

You've decided that he is the right man for you. Now there's another little matter you ought to consider: Are you the right woman for him?

He says you are; sure. But how about it? How great an effort have you been making to please him.

Have you been pretending to like a lot of things you don't care a hoot about—just because you know he likes them?

Have you changed your personality completely because you sensed he liked a shy, quiet type of girl — and repressing your natural exuberance in order to please him?

Have you avoided your friends he doesn't like?

Have you let him think you would be quite willing to give up your job and settle down to keeping house, when you really aren't quite sure?

ACTING IS TIRESOME

Only you know to what extent you've changed yourself to appeal to the man you have decided is right for you.

Have you changed too much—more than you will be willing to stay changed once you are married?

If you have, look out. Marriage isn't going to be easy unless you can pretty much be yourself. Play acting will grow tiresome. Suppressing your own personality will become frustrating. Giving up your own interests will soon irk you.

So before you marry be sure that you, as you are and without too much striving to appear differently, are what your fiance wants in a wife.

If you are really right for him, you can relax and be yourself. If he wants a girl you can only appear to be by acting a part—then let him go find her.

Standish Group Has Yule Party at Kinney Home

Mrs. Dan Kinney of East Huron street was hostess Friday to the Standish group of First Congregational Church. The traditional Christmas desserts were served by Mrs. August Shier.

Mrs. Harry Manus, vice-president, presided and appointed committee chairman for the coming year. Heading the program committee will be Mrs. John Morrison; Mrs. Roy Thompson, dining room; Mrs. Roy Bennett and Mrs. Sol Kline, kitchen; Mrs. Howard Losee, hospitality and Mrs. Lawrence Rutledge, telephone.

Mrs. Carl Malkim is chairman of the friendly service committee, Mrs. R. S. Falk, publicity; Mrs. Charles Borst, devotionals; Mrs. Peter Vanderhoeck, tickets and Mrs. Manus and Mrs. Kinney, ways and means committee.

Devotionals were given by Mrs. Frank Donner who read the story of the Nativity and exchange of gifts was held following luncheon.

Plans were made for a parish dinner, Jan. 9 to be served by the Standish group. A gift was presented Mrs. F. G. VanHorn, retiring president.

Select Useful Safety Toys

When selecting toys for older children, remember that it is unfair to give them toys they cannot use because they will endanger a younger child.

Suggestions for safety toys for this age group include books, crayons, paints, clay, construction sets and games. Crafts, hobbies and sports all require special equipment which makes a welcome gift.

Push-Buttons to Control Home of the Future

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I have the "word" that housekeeping in the future, and fairly near future, is not going to be as it is today.

In fact the time may be nearer than you think when you will be able to sit right in your own home and press buttons to designate the menus for that day or for all of that week. You will be able to specify the number of servings and the time at which the first course should appear.

Also, it seems that you may be able to change your mind about a meal over the telephone, after you leave for your bridge club or whatever event you have on for the afternoon. Women have been changing their minds for years, even over telephones, but this does seem an extra luxury.

You will not need blankets because you will have a radiant heating panel over your bed. I suppose it will be comfortable not to have the covers pull on your toes but it is sort of cozy to snuggle under a comforter.

You will have a television-telephone. I have been dreading that for years although I can see many advantages. For instance, you will be able to look at the vegetables you are ordering over your television-telephone, but how will you and I look, upside down on a beauty angle, doing facial exercises or cold-creamed, while we listen? Oh well, I suppose we will be able to cut off the television part of it when we want to.

TIME OUT TO REPAIR

This may lead to complications. If someone insists on talking to us face to face we may have to leave the phone while we take our hair out of curlers, repair our makeup or put on our latest costume.

You will be able to watch Junior while he is in another room via television. That's fine so long as Junior cannot watch you. These are just a few of the wonders of the future.

I am so excited about the things they are discovering in the research laboratories, about these wonderful aids to more leisure that I could easily be sold a "gold brick." However these are not "gold bricks." The things I have described today are the dreams of the future toward which one of the largest and most progressive companies in the United States is working.

So, you should get ready for more leisure. For one thing you have the expectancy of many more years after the age of retirement than before. Modern invention is going to give you more time away from your duties.

Leisure is wonderful if you can take it! Today many bored women fill doctors' offices because of psychosomatic illnesses. The same thing often happens to men after they retire. Therefore, it seems crucial to me that women should begin preparing for big chunks of time on their hands.

READY FOR LEISURE

It is indeed a blessing if we are equipped to use this extra leisure in happy and productive ways. However a woman does not change suddenly into an individual with myriad interests when she has been completely wrapped up in the demanding job she has had for 20 or 25 years.

Unless she prepares ahead of time, she may find herself at a loss, bewildered and frustrated. The woman in the home should begin to develop outside interests and forgotten skills or talents NOW.

'EATING LIKE A BIRD' MAY BE FATTENING

How did the expression, "I eat like a bird," ever start? As you know, this infers that the woman in question eats very little, practically nothing.

Do you know how much birds eat? Let me give you a few examples. One yellow-billed cuckoo will eat more than 200 webworms or 250 tent caterpillars at a sitting. Two scarlet tanagers once ate 2,000 small caterpillars.

A pair of northern yellow throats dined meagerly on 7,000 plant lice. One flicker consumed 5,000 ants without stopping, while his lady polished off 3,000.

I know something of this after feeding about 18 bluejays during the winter months. I did not keep count of the tremendous amount of grain they ate last winter. My main problem was to see to it that the squirrels got some of the peanuts which were bought for them.

With the first crack of peanuts falling on the snow or ice I always heard the bluejays call. From then on they dive-bombed until every one of the nuts had disappeared.

EAT FREQUENTLY

There is probably nothing that eats more for its size than a bird and nothing that eats more often. It is true that neither an ant nor a tent caterpillar looks very large, even for a bird. Neither do many of the things we women pick at in between meals.

"For heaven's sake, what difference can 12 little old pecans make, or one chocolate cream, six olives or one doughnut?" What difference can they make? Lady, they make a difference of about 500 calories, and this list is not unusual but rather on the low side for the woman who is accustomed to eating in between meals.

Then take the non-essential but luscious items such as Thousand Island dressing, about 175 calories a tablespoonful; a chocolate nut Sundae, about 425 calories an average serving; or four small biscuits 200 calories.

You take them! I cannot afford them figure-wise, not often. Yet these are not unusual items on the average woman's diet.

So when an overweight woman says she "eats like a bird" she probably is telling the truth. She may not eat much at meal time but she may sabotage reducing efforts by pecking. If not this, she may eat moderate amounts at mealtime but her menus may include one or more calorie zooming items.

FACE THE FACTS

I know how you feel. I love those items, too, but we may as well face up to facts. Don't let a bird lead you astray. There is a definite correlation between your weight and your food intake.

If you count calories faithfully, and do not lose weight, you should have a metabolism test made. Only a very small percentage of overweights have a glandular deficiency.

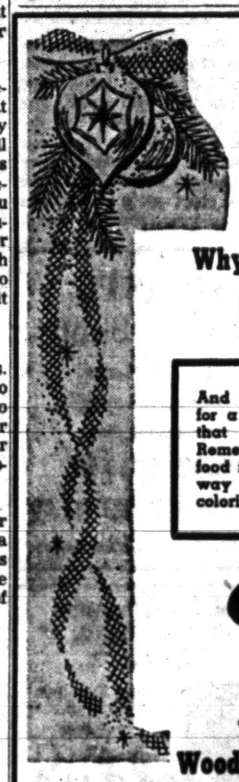

If you would like to have my calorie chart so that you can count your calories, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 36 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

British Have New Parlor Game--Criticizing Royalty

If there is one thing many a Briton likes better than the royal family, it is criticizing the royal family—from Queen Elizabeth on down. The complaints about the way the House of Windsor runs its house seem to increase whenever the troubles beset Great Britain. Such is the case at present. Here, in the first of two articles, a veteran palace correspondent reports on the criticism and the palace's answer.

By FRED DOERFLINGER

LONDON (INS) — The British are playing a new royal parlor game.

The target—a choice sitting one—is the royal family, from Queen Elizabeth II on down, and the company they keep.

The game is so easy and simple to play because the bloodless revolution that swept post-war England never penetrated the precincts of Buckingham Palace.

Furthermore, there is a good deal of understandable disappointment among the hard-pressed British that the much-heralded "New Elizabethan Age" is slow in dawning.

Secretly the average Briton longs for the adventure and glory of the bygone days of "Merrie Englande" and Elizabeth II's accession a few short years ago roused great expectations in the hearts of her people.

Precisely what they expected their young queen to do no one seems to know but Britain's failing power and sinking prestige in the world today has shocked and annoyed many Britons.

CRITICISM FLOURISHES

This atmosphere is ideal for whipping up criticisms of "Buckingham Palace" and the sort of leadership or rather lack of leadership and example coming from the royal family.

The new parlor game is being relentlessly pursued by mass circulation newspapers like London's Daily Mirror.

Series of articles are splashed over its pages charging that the royal family is being suffocated by the stuffiness of its chosen "circle."

"The Queen, the Duke of Edinburgh and Princess Margaret," the Mirror scolded recently, "are at the center of a royal circle that is out of date and out of touch. A circle that is barred to many brilliant men and women because they speak with the wrong accents or went to the wrong schools or were born at the wrong addresses."

ROYALLY HIDEBOUND?

According to the tabloid read by 12 million Britons, the royal family "are victims of their upbringing. Eyebrows would be raised if they broke away from the rigmarole of lineage and descent that decides who is fit to speak with a queen . . .

"Let the royal family ignore the genteel coughs and lorgnette-waving and bring some new blood into the royal circle. The scientists, the writers, the designers, the explorers. They are the true new Elizabethans. They are the people who belong in the modern court of a modern queen," the newspaper declared.

The Mirror has also singled out Princess Margaret for "showing an astonishing lack of variety in her selection" of friends. "With few exceptions their general conception of life is as out of date as last season's party tittle-tattle . . . too few of them do any proper work."

QUESTION FOR DUKE

In a special article devoted to the "most democratic member" of the royal family, Prince Philip, who "numbers many non-aristocrats among his friends," the Mirror asked:

"When will the Duke have the courage to send the old gang packing and bring new life into the royal circle?"

The old gang, according to the Mirror, are people "who had been friends of the Queen and Princess Margaret since childhood. Their parents were often friends of King George VI and the Queen Mother.

"It is depressing then to see that Prince Charles and Princess Anne are growing up within the same restricted circle."

The newspaper gives credit to the Duke for sweeping away "much of the palace pomp," for having "a lively mind more interested in the future than the past," for being "more interested in the right ideas than in the right people."

MIRROR 'REGRETS'

But "for all his modern outlook" the Mirror regrets that the Duke lacks the guts to send the "old gang" packing, and to do more to see that his children get the opportunity to develop broader friendships.

No British newspaper has been quite so outspoken or critical as the Mirror, but other sections of the press from time to time take the same line.

When Prince Charles celebrated his eighth birthday recently the right-wing empire-minded Express joined left-wing papers in bluntly urging the Queen to send the heir to the throne to school with other children.

Socialist members of Parliament frequently advocate sending Charles to an ordinary state school rather than to "snooty" establishments like Eton, Harrow or Winchester.

Wide sections of the press also have taken the young Duke of Kent to task for smashing up cars, throwing champagne from rooftops and playing at soldier instead of taking a democratic job in a factory where he would discover the facts of life.

CONSIDERED STUFFY

There is no doubt that many Britons, while loyally queuing for hours to cheer the Queen as she passes in procession through the streets, nevertheless consider the royal family is a bit too "starchy and stuffy" for modern times.

British newspapers of all political affiliations continually publish reports emphasizing the free and easy, carefree democratic behavior of royalty in Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Holland and elsewhere.

These monarchs and their families cycle and walk through the streets, go shopping with the crowds; their children go to ordinary schools, even travel abroad for schooling and in general mingle freely with the people.

Pictures appear of Denmark's King Frederick conducting an orchestra and Holland's Queen Juliana bathing at the seaside.

Comparisons with Britain's royal family are seldom made directly but the inference that Queen Elizabeth II and her family are too "hoity toity" lies clearly between the lines.

HELEN MARIE SCHMIDT

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Schmidt of Birmingham announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Marie, to Glen M. Dick, son of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Dick of Walled Lake. She attended Ohio University and he is a graduate of Wayne State University. They plan a May 4 wedding.

Elaine Goff Wed Saturday

MRS. RAY EARLE WHITNEY

First Baptist Church of Drayton Plains was the setting for the Saturday wedding of Elaine Laurell Goff and Ray Earle Whitney. The Rev. James E. Taulbee read the service in the presence of 200 guests.

Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse C. Goff of Mt. Clemens street, wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over satin. A seed pearl cap secured her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a cascade arrangement of white roses.

Beverly Whitney, sister of the bridegroom was maid of honor, and Mrs. Richard Schultz, also a sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's other attendant. They wore identical dresses of chiffon and velvet in blue and pink respectively. They carried Colonial bouquets of carnations and chrysanthemums.

The bridal recital was sung by Ada Taulbee, accompanied by Mrs. Gerald Monroe.

Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira S. Whitney of Gale road, asked Ronald A. Goff, brother of the bride, to serve as best man. Edwin Lapham served as groomsman and seating the guests were Ronald Corbett and Erwin Reutsch.

Mrs. Goff greeted her guests at the reception held at the VFW Hall on W. Walton boulevard immediately following the wedding, wearing an aqua colored gown with pink accessories. Her corsage was of white roses.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Whitney chose a mauve colored gown with white accessories. Her corsage was also of roses.

Vinyl Tile Foyer Is Easy to Clean

You really appreciate the value of vinyl plastic tile on entranceway, foyer, or hall floors when workmen trudge in to fix something.

They can't help tracking in dirt and creating more while repairs are under way.

However, it is a relief to know that a quick scrubbing with soap or detergent suds will wash away the dirt and restore the original brightness of the tile—even if it's stark white.

Parent Club Meets at Barnhart Home

Members and guests of the Parent Guidance Club met at the Norton avenue home of Mrs. Edwin Barnhart for the annual Christmas meeting and party.

Christmas carols were sung during the recent evening event and gifts were exchanged. The dessert table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with a Christmas tree arrangement flanked by red tapers.

35 Attend Party of Newcomers Club

Thirty-five members of the Newcomers Club attended a cooperative Christmas dinner held at Adah Shelly Library. Gifts were exchanged.

Mrs. Peter A. Aldo and Mrs. Margaret Beebe served on the social committee fo rthe evening. Hostesses were Mrs. Morton Bacon, Mrs. Robert Larson, Mrs. Larned Runnels and Mrs. Floyd Short.

Teach Consideration by Example

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Chuck's favorite comic involves him in things like the watery atmosphere of Venus and the dreaded "space madness" that can attack even so intrepid a hero as his beloved captain of the Inter-Galactic Patrol.

One evening he was reading its latest issue on the sun porch. Settled comfortably against terrestrial cushions, he was circling a strange asteroid with his captain when his mother interrupted. "I want that trash taken out to the incinerator right now,' 'she said.

Chuck closed his eyes. Then he said with agonized self-pity, "Can't you leave me alone for a minute? Cripes, can't I ever have a minute to myself?"

After a pause, his mother said, "All right, darling. When you get back to earth."

The next evening, her favorite friend telephoned her. She was about to start the sweater she'd been promising to make for Chuck's mother.

Torn between the advantages of a cardigan and slip-on, Chuck's mother was deeply concentrated on her decision when he burst into the hall, yelling, "Ma, where's that half bottle of Coke I left in the refrigerator?"

INTERRUPTS CHAT

Into the telephone, his mother said, "I'll call you back." Then, hanging up, she said to Chuck:

"Now look here. Last night when you were reading your comic, I was careful to let you finish it instead of making you attend to what I wanted. I realized that finishing it was more important to you than getting the trash out was to me.

"I want the same politeness from you. When you see I'm busy on the phone, don't interrupt me unless you have something really important to say."

Chuck began to make a real effort to control his interrupting habit. Because his mother had timed her demand for courtesy from him to his recent experience of it from her, he got a true lesson in manners.

What was bad in the old method of teaching politeness to children was the way it was forced on them from the outside. They were forced to give consideration to others before they'd learned to prize it themselves. That was all that was bad in the old method.

We need never fear to ask consideration from a child who has been given it by us. His own experience has taught him its worth. When we ask him for it, we are not imposing our values on him, but drawing on his own.

A truly feminine gift is perfume . . . a gift to be worn and cherished long after Christmas is over.

Neighbor's Guests Are Old Friends

By EMILY POST

Today's first letter tells me: "My next door neighbor recently invited three friends of hers to lunch. I also happened to know these ladies as they live in the same neighborhood that I lived in some years ago.

"As I was putting my car into the garage, this neighbor called to me and said that Mrs. A., B. and C. were visiting her and would I like to come in and see them. I was delighted to do so as I hadn't seen them in a long time.

"After chatting awhile I asked them if they would like to come in to see my house. After I did this, I wondered if it was the right thing to do. Will you please advise me?"

Answer: If these women had never been in your house before, it was a perfectly proper and friendly gesture to ask them if they would like to come in to see it.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me what is correct in this situation? We have just moved into our new house: Two friends come visiting at the same time. One friend brings a gift, the other does not. Do I open the gift in the presence of the person who brought it or, in order to spare the other's feelings, do I put it aside and open it later?

"It has always been my understanding that a gift should be opened in the presence of the person who brought it, but I have been told that it would be very embarrassing to the person who did not bring one. Your opinion on this matter will be appreciated."

Answer: You should open the package and thank the giver with appreciative pleasure. This is not belittling to anyone who happens not to have brought a gift.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have heard that it is improper for a boy to give his girl friend a sweater for a present. Will you please tell me if this is true, and why?"

Answer: A sweater comes under the heading of wearing apparel, and as such is not a proper present for a man to give a girl.

Pick Up Glass With Damp Soap

Christmas tree decorations—particularly fragile glass ornaments—are frequently broken during the Yule season.

The best way to pick up all the sharp fragments without cutting your fingers is with a dampened bar of soap.

Even the tiniest bits come up readily when you press the soap over them. Then the splintery soap surface can be "shaved" off and discarded.

Gloves Are Washable

Most leather gloves these days are safe in soap or detergent suds—both the domestic leathers and the imports. There's certainly no reason to invest your money in gloves that can't be safely and easily washed when they need it—which is bound to be very often.

Soapsuds 'Snow' Fine for Decorating

One of the prettiest holiday props to decorate with is sopasuds "snow"—frothy, thick non-melting snow—made by beating a handful of soap or detergent with a little water.

It can be used on practically any surface, stays put for days, lends an exciting touch to the indoor Christmas scene—and washes off later with hot water and a sponge.

Soda Whitens Teeth

If your teeth are stained from excessive smoking, try sprinkling a little salt of baking soda on a cotton square and rubbing briskly with an up and down movement.

Nasser Sets Own Trap

Trade Ties Could Draw Egypt Into Soviet Orbit

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

PARIS (AP)—Egypt, at the moment the acknowledged leader of the Arab world, is walking into a dangerous trap of her own making.

Events of the past two years, climaxed by the recent hostilities, are pushing Egypt ever closer toward unbreakable ties with the Soviet Union and the Communist bloc.

A system of political trade — at which the Russians have become expert — threatens to chain Egypt to policies of the Red bloc. She already has gone dangerously far along the road. Her sister Syria is just beginning to look down the same road, but the pattern there is still in its early stages.

This correspondent has just returned from a swing through the Middle East. There he found much clear evidence that Arab leaders are becoming frightened at Egypt's danger.

Egypt's current policies, hardened by the British-French-Israeli attack, seem to have closed off for the time being any readily accessible avenues of rescue from the West. For the moment, only President Nasser has the power to change the direction of Egypt's course. And he himself in a sense is a prisoner of his own policy.

It is still not too late for Nasser to seek a way out of his trap. He still has a choice before him. He still can attempt to return to the original aims of the Egyptian revolution, turning the attention of the nation inward to its own monumental problems. He can try, possibly with American help, to build Egypt patiently into a position of internal strength that would make resistance to Soviet pressures possible. Or he can continue on the other road.

The Russians are patiently fashioning a chain with economic links. Egypt's trade with the East is carried on through a series of two-way agreements which amount in the long run, to barter. These bilateral deals are a form of political trade used by the Russians in attempts to drive the West out of certain markets. The pressure on Egypt is becoming enormous now.

The Communist bloc has become almost the only supplier for Egypt and at the same time an intermediary for the Western goods Egypt needs. The Russians seem to expect that Egypt eventually will be forced to gear her economy to the East bloc. Then the strong political infiltration will begin.

Controlling all propaganda outlets, Nasser's government is keeping the effects of the recent invasion on the economy well hidden from the Egyptian people. The regime also has been able to convince most of the Egyptian people that they won a great victory.

A few in Egypt know better. The army officers, for example, know Egypt suffered defeat in Sinai at the hands of the Israelis. There is some bitterness against Nasser among higher army officers whom he overruled in his decision to retire before the Israeli attack. If the public suspected a defeat at the hands of Israel, the result would be confusion and turmoil.

On the surface in Cairo, nothing seems wrong. There are no shortages. Domestic trade seems to be flourishing. But factories are running out of stocks and wholesalers out of supplies. As the situation progresses, the Egyptian consumer's standard will go down because of lowered purchasing power.

Tanya's Father Flies Behind Iron Curtain

LONDON (AP) — Alexis Chwastov, whose American-born daughter was taken from him and awarded her Michigan mother last week, was reported today to be behind the Iron Curtain.

It was toward his native Russia that Chwastov was fleeing with his 2-year-old daughter, Tanya, when a British court interrupted his flight on an injunction obtained by Tanya's mother, Mrs. Elena Dieczok of Detroit.

The Daily Express reported that the 58-year-old Chwastov slipped out of London Friday night on a plane bound for Prague.

The newspaper added he was en route to Southern Russia to visit his 91-year-old mother.

Mrs. Dieczok arrived back in New York with Tanya Saturday and was expected to return to Detroit this week.

Tanya was born out of wedlock to Chwastov and Mrs. Dieczok who were living in Philadelphia. After her marriage to Dieczok she moved to Detroit with her husband.

Russia Claims 3 U. S. Jets Flew Over Soviet Base

MOSCOW (AP)— The Soviet government has accused three U.S. B57 jet bombers of trespassing near the big Pacific port of Vladivostok last week on a flight that was "clearly a reconnaissance attempt."

A Soviet note sent the State Department via the U.S. Embassy in Moscow demanded punishment for those responsible and that steps be taken to "prevent future violations of the state frontiers of the U.S.S.R. by American aircraft."

(U.S. Air Force officials in Japan, where B57s have been stationed since last January, said they had no knowledge of any such flight. The State Department withheld comment until the note could be studied further.)

The note said the three American planes flew over the area of the big Siberian naval base Dec. 11 in the early afternoon.

"Fine weather and good visibility prevailed in the area, precluding the possibility that the pilots lost their way," the note declared. It contended the flight "can be regarded only as a premeditated action of the U.S. military authorities with obvious reconnaissance purposes."

The note gave no indication of any action taken by Soviet defense forces against the planes. But it concluded that "in the event of a recurrence . . ., responsibility for the consequences of such violations will rest squarely on the government of the U.S.A."

Two Soviet MIG fighters shot down a U.S. Navy patrol plane off Vladivostok Sept. 4, 1954, and the Soviets charged the plane had flown over Siberia. Nine of the 10 men aboard were rescued. The United States denied the Russian charge of trespassing and said the plane was over international waters.

Tuffy Gets Real Tough, Trainer Is in Stitches

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One of George E. Fraser's lions has got him in stitches — the kind that hurts.

Fraser, an animal trainer, was rehearsing his male lion, Tuffy, for a television show when Tuffy got tough and clawed his master across the chest. It took about a half dozen stitches to fix Fraser up.

Circus 'Lives,' Says Tent Vet

Believes That Big Top Should Appeal Mainly to Youngsters

ATLANTA (INS) — George A. Hamid, veteran circus impressario, said in Atlanta today that "as long as there are children there will be circuses."

Hamid, who has owned and produced indoor circuses for 25 years and operates the biggest circus booking agency in the world, beleives that the secret of success in any "big top" program is appeal to youngsters two to 10 years old.

The brisk, grey-haired producer, who says he learned his "ABC's of show business from Annie Oakley in the Buffalo Bill Show," attributes the failure of the "Greatest Show On Earth" as a tent show largely to the fact that it "went Hollywood."

Hamid was referring to the closing last year of the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus under canvas. Officials have announced plans to reopen the show this year as an indoor attraction.

Hamid does not believe the closing of the Ringling show under canvas means an end of the circus as a tent show. He says that he does not plan to take his circus out-of-doors because he has built up a "tremendous local good will" among cities played under sponsorship of civic and charity groups.

Neither does he feel that a small circus can be built up to the following of the "big top."

Downtown Pontiac: Additions and Subtractions

THE DOWNTOWN AREA — For the convenience of Christmas shoppers and motorists in Pontiac, The Press prints the above map showing one-way streets and municipal parking lots in the central business district. The map was prepared by the City Engineering Dept. and approved by City Traffic Engineer Theodore M. Vanderstempel. The three parking lots, two on Lawrence and one on Lafayette (checkered on the map, are the most recent additions to the municipal parking lot program. The Lawrence lots have entrances and exits only off Lawrence Street. City officials have warned that the North Lafayette lot cannot be entered from Oakland as shown on the map. The latest one-way street conversion is that of making Lawrence and Pike streets one-way east and westbound, respectively, from Williams to Perry. Lafayette street between Cass and Oakland has been returned to two-way operation.

Sage Renders 'Double Martini Job'

Cold Winter on Way? Bah! Scoffs Press' Man Yiffnitz

The following letter is self-explanatory:

"Last week a Holly expert predicted a cold winter because of the current color of the breast bone of the turkeys, geese and ducks. Your Mr. Yiffnitz forecast the fall weather perfectly. He did a better job than the professionals. What does he say about the coming winter?"

Several Press editors cornered our Herman Lysander Yiffnitz as he was ducking out for his second extra coffee break. "Herman, what is your weather prediction for the coming winter? You did a tolerable job on the autumn."

"Tolerable!" echoed Herman. "It was perfect. Don't down-grade me."

"O.K" soothed someone. "How about the winter?"

"That," said Herman, "is a double Martini job."

He looked around expectantly.

"You know the office rules."

"O. K. O. K. I hit the fall perfectly. Why shouldn't I? One of my ancestors was old Chief High Sky Wigwam who forecast the weather for the Six Tribes. They relayed his opinion by smoke signals. He never made a mistake in 22 years, although one year a puff of smoke rolled over and a Sioux hunting party was wiped out in a blizzard."

"But, Herman, how about this coming winter?"

"All right," said Herman. "I shall use the method of my great, great Aunt Malisha Toola. She always forecast just after she did the dance of the eight veils . . ."

"Seven," corrected someone.

"Eight," said Herman. "Malisha was an Eskimo and she used an extra veil. The audience always warmed up, but Miss Toola needed more protection. Anyway, I did a dance just last night and I'll forecast for the Pontiac area. And I don't use the silly squirrel system. Every year some of the dumb-witted home bodies leap into print and say it'll be colder than usual because the squirrels are laying away an extra heavy supply. Nuts."

Herman paused. "Also, some of the wisenhimers rush into the office with the assertion that the horses or their pet poodle or the beavers have heavier coats than usual. Therefore, it will be extra cold. Phooey. Did you ever see a horse that didn't have a shaggy coat in the winter?"

"So-o-o-o, I fly in the face of these local traditions and use the Yiffnitz technique."

"Your prediction?"

"A warmer winter than usual.

"The mercury may never touch zero.

"If it does, it will be with absolutely no wind — a dead calm.

"There will be less snow than usual.

"There'll be a few drifts, but nothing like that Pennsylvania deal.

"And Christmas — will not be white.

"There it is. That's final and official."

He looked around pleadingly. "O.K." said someone. "You're off for the rest of the day, and Herman——" The sentence went unfinished. Herman was turning the second landing on the stairs with the double Martini look.

Hungarian Men Back on Jobs

Need for Coal and Food Forces Workers to End Strike

BUDAPEST (AP)—The Hungarian workers' sitdown strike appeared to be ended today in Budapest and the provinces. Lack of coal and power still hampered production.

Work resumed at the Bejolannis electrical equipment plant, center of the new wave of slowdowns and sitdowns last week protesting the arrest of two leaders of the Budapest Central Workers' Council.

The two labor leaders, Sandor Racz and Sandor Bart, have not been released by the Soviet-supported government of Premier Janos Kadar. But the threat of hunger and winter cold appeared to have broken the strike.

A Hungarian army lieutenant barred Western correspondents who tried to enter the Bejolannis plant to talk to some of the 6,000 workers. The officer said the plant had been declared a military area and was occupied by Hungarian troops and police.

Along with the back-to-work movement, reports of widespread guerrilla activities in the Hungarian countryside and large-scale desertions by Russian troops generally were discounted in Budapest.

'Man's Best Friend Is a Cop'

Opinions Back Unmarked Car Issue

Pontiac citizens added to an old maxim today when they revealed in a random poll that, aside from a dog, "man's best friend is a cop" . . . where traffic safety is concerned.

In doing so, they joined in the chorus of Oakland County law enforcement agencies in defending the use of unmarked patrol cars to nab traffic violators.

"It's the only way to get those hot rodders," said cab driver Bob Johnson, of 62 Belleview St. "But drivers should obey the law whether there is a cop around or not."

Frank McDonald, of 62 Ruth Ave., said that the police have always given the cabbies a fair shake.

"I've been driving a cab for 15 years," said McDonald, "and they've got no gripe coming from me. They've got a job to do just like we do.

"With the way some people are driving today, I think police should use more unmarked cars if they are doing any good. If I ever got a ticket, I deserved it."

Mrs. Billie Hill, of 232 North Perry St., one of Pontiac's increasing number of women cab drivers, also condoned the department's methods.

"We cab drivers feel safer knowing that the police are trying everything to make the roads safer. We don't care how they do it. Those unmarked cars are terrible on hot rodders."

A life-long pedestrian, Harry MacGuill, of 19 East Iroquois Rd., also gave his views.

"I don't drive," said MacGuill, "so the unmarked cars don't affect me, except that I don't know how many of them have saved my life by getting a dangerous driver before he got to me. It sure affects me then. I'm all for those unmarked cars."

A salesgirl, Lee Walters, of 103 Mechanic St., thinks that the marked cars are more effective than the unmarked ones.

"Drivers are careful when they see a police car around," she said. "So isn't it better if drivers can see them? But it doesn't matter if you get caught by a marked car or an unmarked one. It's against the law to speed."

A barber, Charles York, of 381 East Mansfield Ave., believes the method is a definite advantage for police.

"I don't have any doubts that those cars are an advantage to the law," said York. "They catch more dangerous drivers that way. I think that the marked cars are more effective in slowing down traffic, though."

"There may be only one trouble with an unmarked patrol car," he added. "Doesn't it make it harder for the policeman to identify himself? Maybe a driver will think that someone other than a policeman is chasing him. He may get frightened and go faster."

Law enforcement agencies say they have had no such trouble, however. The officers easily identify themselves, they say, by turning on a siren or a red flasher when they pull alongside the motorist.

Ike, Grooming Nixon as Political Heir, Already Has Made Two Moves

WASHINGTON (INS)—An official source has disclosed that President Eisenhower, in an effort to groom Vice President Nixon as his political heir apparent in 1960, personally insisted that Nixon's picture appear with his own on the 1957 inaugural medallion.

The source said Ike expects to make a number of other unusual moves during the next few years to build up his youthful running mate, both here and abroad, as his logical successor.

One step in this process was the White House announcement that Nixon will fly to Austria next Tuesday at Mr. Eisenhower's request to study the refugee problem and speed a solution. The Vice President will also play host at an official luncheon for Indian Prime Minister Nehru in Washington immediately before his departure.

The Republican National Committee just announced that the President's portrait is being superimposed on that of the Vice President, in the commemorative bronze and silver medals, for the second time in our 168-year history. Only precedent was the 1909 medallion depicting both William Howard Taft and his running mate, James S. Sherman.

The current action led to the dour observation in some quarters that the Republicans were "installing two presidents." Actually, however, it was due to Eisenhower's own insistence that Nixon is being given the rare accolade.

The Vice President and Second Lady, Pat Nixon, are the only officials invited to make the gala circuit of all four inaugural balls with the Eisenhowers on Jan. 21. Four years ago, when only two balls were held, the newly appointed cabinet officers and their wives also made the circuit.

This time each of the 10 gentlemen must be content with only one ball assignment, while the Nixon's share with the President the tumultous greetings of all the elaborately be-decked celebrants.

STRESS DIGNITY

GOP policy planners, seeking to emphasize that this year's inaugural festivities will stress "dignity and restraint in keeping with the world situation," speak somewhat apologetically of the precedent-shattering four balls.

They hastened to explain that the only purpose of the quadruple festivities is to ease the frantic, jam-packed situation four years ago which made shreds and tatters of many silken ball gowns and snarled traffic for miles.

With tickets selling like hot cakes at 30 dollars a couple for the by-invitation-only dances, the mere 14,600 of the hundreds of thousands from the 48 states who would like to attend will actually gain admission to one of the four halls.

Fifty thousand seats for the inaugural parade are now being sold on a first-come-first-served basis, and nearly a million standees are also expected to view the extravaganza along the line of march.

Unlike the gargantuan 1953 parade which dragged on into the night, this year's goal is an under-three-hours show with each state limited to one float, one marching band and a few official cars.

President Eisenhower himself took a hand in demanding that the parade be tightened and shortened, the traffic jams around the inaugural balls lessened, and the jam inside the halls eliminated.

"He knew it was lousy public relations for people coming here from all over America to get such a pushing around," an aide confided, "and he ordered us to do something about it."

The inaugural festivities will get underway with a musical and entertainment show directed by Hollywood's George Murphy on Saturday night, Jan. 19. The next afternoon, Republican governors will play host at an invitational 3-hour reception. That same Sunday evening, the National Symphony Orchestra will present a special inaugural concert at Constitution Hall.

Even before Ike finally takes his public oath of office on the steps of the U. S. Capitol Monday at noon, he will already have become a second term President.

Since inauguration day for the second time in our history falls on a Sunday, Ike must follow in the 1917 footsteps of Woodrow Wilson by taking the official oath in a private ceremony at the White House, and repeating it for public consumption the following day.

Except for the public swearing-in at the Capitol, for which Congress traditionally appropriates funds, the three-day inaugural extravaganza will cost the taxpayers nothing. Washington merchants are guaranteeing the necessary 700 thousand dollars, but the proceeds from parade and ball tickets, and the sale of medallions will more than cover expenses.

Last year, in fact, the inaugural committee found itself with a whopping surplus of 125 thousand dollars, most of which was then donated to charity.

Fabulous Result in Missile Test

Army Reportedly Fired 'Jupiter C' Projectile Highest, Fastest Yet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army reportedly has fired a test missile more than twice as high and fast as any projectile yet launched by man. The missile was said to have gone farther than any previous unmanned vehicle.

The Air Force is getting set possibly to duplicate or exceed the accomplishment.

In a forthcoming issue of Missiles and Rockets magazine, its editor, Erik Bergaust, will say that an Army "Jupiter C" three-stage test device reached an altitude of almost 650 miles and a distance of 3,300 miles. He will say it flew almost 15,000 miles an hour — 19 times the speed of sound.

The Army declined comment, but other informed sources said the information was accurate.

They added that the Air Force is set at Cape Canaveral, Fla., to launch a test model of the Douglas Thor which, like the 80-foot-long Jupiter, is an Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile. The Jupiter was developed by the Army and Navy.

Bergaust said in an interview the Army launched the Jupiter C after dark the evening of Sept. 20. He said it went out over the missile test range extending 5,000 miles from Patrick Air Force Base in Florida across the Cribbean and the South Atlantic.

He said it landed well off South America, some 1,400 miles west of Ascension Island, tracked all the way by radar.

Refugees Ride 'Special' Train to Freedom

VIENNA (AP) — Hungarians call this train the "Austria Special." It never gets to Austria, but most of its passengers do.

It is the late morning train running westward from Budapest to the Hungarian town of Hegyeshalom near the Austrian border. It stops more than dozen times on the 110-mile run. Though crowded to overflowing, few passengers leave before the end of the line.

The train has been hauling hundreds out of Budapest each day. The strongly anti-Red railway men have repeatedly saved the lives of their refugees passengers by warning them of police checks.

"Everyone in Budapest knows about the 'Austria Special'," said a young Hungarian refugee who crossed the border.

"The train reached Hegyeshalom without any incident. There were no police checks. The passengers all got out.

"We set off for the border after dark, across fields and wading through icy rivers. We walked for four hours, then we took over in a haystack to avoid detection by Soviet border guards.

"A guide said we were already near the border. From time to time we heard gun shots. Then we moved onward again, dropping to the ground at the slightest sound.

"When the guide suddenly said 'all right, you are in Austria,' we had to sit on the moist earth for a while to let the idea sink in that our tribulations were over. We gave him all our money, which is valueless here anyway, out of sheer gratitude. For, after all, he was going back, but we were free."

coming one would also reinforce the soul.

". . . He shall be as an hiding place from the wind, a covert from the tempest . . . And a highway shall be there and a way . . . The redeemed shall walk there . . . the ransomed of the Lord . . . With joy shall ye draw water out of the wells of salvation."

What expectations! But hardly still believable. Even in Isaiah's own day, even though he held aristocratic prestige in the royal court, many spurned his words. They called him disloyal, a betrayer.

So why still heed his ancient words? All men know this nation ever since has felt the lash and yoke of conquerors—Assyrian, Egyptian, Macedonian, Persian, Babylonian, Roman. A world kingdom, indeed!

Still the old words prick the mind, like never dying embers, reckless rumors abroad from Bethlehem, is that so many other prophets had the same presentiments.

All were discerning men, driven by some inner mandate to be spokesmen for the Lord.

That preistly prophet Malachi, 450 years before the reign of Herod, lashed at the hollow ritual, the laxity and idol-bowing of his day, and spoke these words of the Lord:

"Behold, I will send My Messenger and He shall prepare the way before Me, and the Lord whom ye seek shall come suddenly to the temple . . . And He shall sit as a Refiner and Purifier . . . "

Even further back, 1,000 years or more, prophets heralded a coming illustrious one—Joel, Amos and others. They said he would be as a light, and even Gentiles, far and near, would be drawn to its brilliance.

Unthinkable! Gentiles have their own gods.

Then, too, it was told he would be a man of sorrows before his glory could be known. It is hard to calculate the meanings.

About Isaiah's time, there was another younger prophet, Micah, a vigorous country man from Morsheth. And yes, he pointed to this very town these tongues are waggling about:

"But thou Bethlehem, though thou be little . . . yet out of thee shall He come forth . . . that is to be Ruler . . . Whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting. And He shall stand in the majesty of the name of the Lord . . . great unto the ends of the earth. And this Man shall be Peace . . . "

A man? A God? From everlasting? What do they speak of? It was the Prophet Zechariah, who added these perplexing words about 500 years ago:

"Behold, thy King cometh unto thee; He is just and having salvation; lowly and riding upon an ass . . . His dominion shall be from sea even to sea, from the river even unto the ends of the earth."

Most unseemly — a "lowly" king! How could our Jewish people raise up a king of any kind, with a million of us in Egypt, more in Syria, others in Rome, and less than 100,000 left in Jerusalem, now overrun by aliens nd their ways?

Yet, that gentle, wise and rapier-tongued prophet, Jeremiah, who endured prisons and floggings for his piercing wisdom, also insisted that such a one would come—that the Lord would make "a new covenant."

It agitates one to ponder these things. But they seem to sweep into the thoughts from the very air. Just about 200 years ago the prophet Daniel had his vision:

"Behold, one like the Son of Man came with the clouds of heaven . . . and there was given him dominion and glory . . . an everlasting dominion which shall not pass away."

Truly, all this is bewildering. But the words remain, like unquenchable flames. You cannot believe, but you do believe, locked in the words of ancient days, captive to the music of Isaiah, bound to the voice he drew from the Almighty:

"Fear not, for I am with thee . . . Let all the nations be gathered together and let the people be assembled . . . And a little Child shall lead them . . . Arise, shine, for thy light is come and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee . . . Lift up thine eyes . . . Sing the Lord a new song. . .

"For unto us a Child is born . . . Every valley shall be exalted and every mountain and hill shall be made low . . . And He shall feed the flock like a shepherd, He shall gather the lambs with His arms and carry them in His bosom and shall gently lead . . . "

Kids Help Draft Curfew Ruling for Their City

ALBERT LEA, Minn.—The City of Albert Lea has enacted a curfew ordinance prepared with help from a citizens committee that included teenagers.

The ordinance forbids anyone under 16 to be on the streets or in public places between 10:30 p.m. and 5 a.m. unless accompanied by a parent, guardian, or custodian.

Violators are to be delivered into the care of a guardian or held at the police station until called for.

A special exception is made for "prom night," when members of the junior and senior high-school classes are exempt, and for "homecoming dance night," when high-school students may be out until 1 a.m.

Selling Liquor Costs Pontiac Man $100

William H. Stratton, 64, of 76 Wessen St. Saturday pleaded guilty to a charge he illegally sold liquor at his home and was fined $100 by Pontiac Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

Charges against Stratton and three others resulted from a Pontiac police raid at Stratton's home early Saturday.

Donald R. Simmons, 23, of 37 Park Pl. pleaded guilty to a charge of loitering and was fined $25.

Two women, Mable Craig, 31, who lives at a downtown hotel, and Marie Davis, 34, who gave the police a Wessen street address, both pleaded innocent to morals offenses and were jailed under $100 bond apiece. Their trial date was set for Dec. 20.

Cheers Greet Eden, Laborites Stay Silent

LONDON (AP)—Bronzed and smiling, Prime Minister Eden returned to Parliament today after nearly a month's absence.

Eden's Conservative party supporters cheered for 25 seconds as he walked into the House of Commons.

On the other side, Laborites stared at him in stony silence.

It was Eden's first appearance there since his doctors ordered him last month to rest because of "overstrain." He returned Friday from a three-week rest cure in the sunshine of Jamaica.

Though there were no cheers from the Laborites their leader, Hugh Gaitskell, welcomed the Prime Minister back.

In the Parliamentary lobbies Conservative members of Parliament still speculated openly about Eden's political future. Several are known to favor his early resignation.

County Gets Complaints on Yearly Tree Thieves

With the Holiday season just around the corner, the usual complaints of people stealing Christmas trees are starting to hit the Oakland County Sheriff Department.

William Buell, of 5690 Cedar Island Rd., White Lake Township, notified deputies yesterday he caught three carloads of people entering his land with axes.

He said he had been missing trees in recent weeks and that his parents at 5901 Cooley Lake Rd. have also had some stolen.

Home Burglar Flees as Owner Awakens

A home burglar was routed when his victim was awakened early Saturday morning, Pontiac police said.

Lee Houck, of 224 Raeburn St. said the thief fled through the rear door when Houck shouted at him.

Vandals Steal Lights From Christmas Tree

Vandals stole an outdoor set of 20 Christmas lights decorating a tree outside a home at 495 W. Walton Blvd. sometime early Sunday, Pontiac police said.

Russell Lindsey of that address said there apparently was an unsuccessful attempt to remove a Santa Claus figure from the top of the tree.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

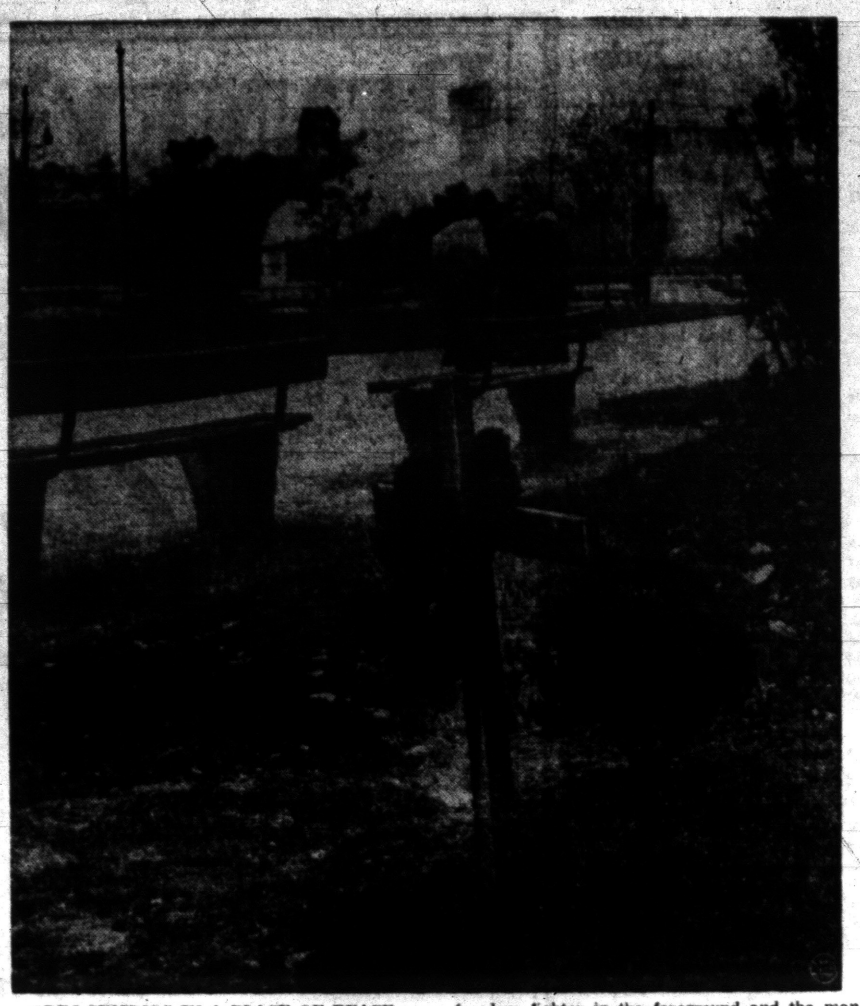

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

GRIM SYMBOLS IN A PLACE OF PEACE — At first glance this Budapest park presents the aspect of peace and quiet one might expect. But the view is made grim by the lone grave of a freedom fighter in the foreground and the man in background, carrying a sack of potatoes. They are symbols of the death and hunger that have descended on the Hungarian capital.

American Indians Face Choice: Move to Industrial Cities or Starve

NEW YORK (AP) — Many American Indians, says a leading Indian interest organization, are faced with this choice: leave their homes on the reservation to move into large industrial cities — or starve.

The Association on American Indian Affairs, Inc., in a report on its survey of the government's controversial relocation program, says that the program is "humanely operated" and needed by the destitute Indians living a barren existence on undeveloped reservations.

Under relocation, reservation Indians are resettled at government expense in industrial centers — Los Angeles, San Francisco, Denver, Chicago, St. Louis and San Jose — where year-round employment is available.

The association, however, urges the government's Bureau of Indian Affairs to get behind a Point Four program to "elevate American Indian communities to the level of health and well-being prevailing elsewhere in the United States."

The survey team, headed by Dr. Mary H. S. Hayes, spent months in on-the-spot research and study. The report was written by La Verne Madigan, the association's executive director.

More than a million dollars was spent in the last fiscal year in relocating about 4,275 persons.

The survey team found bitter opposition between local organizations — such as clubs, churches and Indian centers — and the relocation offices in the big cities. These community groups were right, says the association, in questioning the motives of the program, but "in their almost exclusive concern with federal Indian policy they failed to strengthen the Indian newcomers' belief in their ability to succeed."

New Officers Named by County 4-H Club

The Oakland County 4-H Service Club elected new officers in a special meeting Saturday.

Kenneth Smith of South Lyon will head the group for 1957. Other officers include, Edward Braid of Lake Orion, vice president; Virginia Wade of New Hudson, secretary; Frank Lessiter of Lake Orion, treasurer.

New recreation leaders are Sue Tobin of Novi and Howard Storm of Lake Orion. Fair board representative is Paul Cook of Ortonville.

The group also selected new members. Invitations to join the honorary 4-H group will be sent out to the electees.

Enters Plea of Guilty

John R. Givens, 17, of 350 S. Anderson St. Saturday pleaded guilty to reckless driving through a stop sign into the side of another car.

Clarence Foust, 52, of 162 Perkins St. and his wife Pansy, 42, who were in the other car, both suffered minor bruises in the collision and were treated at Pontiac General Hospital.

The accident occurred at the corner of S. Paddock street and Whittemore street, police said. Givens paid a $25 fine levied by Pontiac Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

Pageant at Cass City Draws Big Audience

CASS CITY (AP)—An estimated 25,000 spectators were on hand last night for the pageant which has earned Cass City the title of "Michigan's Christmas Town."

Some 200 townspeople took part in the second annual Christmas pageant featuring the Nativity and other scenes.

People began arriving at the four-acre hillside stage at 11 a.m. yesterday for the presentation last night. Cars were lined up for more than a mile on M 81 leading into the city. Many spectators came in chartered buses.

The Pageant, first held in 1954, was not presented last year. It was revived because of many requests.

Cass City churches and civic clubs sponsored the outdoor program.

Investigate Burglary of Service Station

Pontiac State Police today are investigating the weekend burglary of a White Lake Township service station in which $15 in cash and tools were stolen.

The garage, located at Round Lake and Mandon roads, was reportedly looted of 10 sets of wrenches, 15 pairs of pliers, 20 screwdrivers, and a tool box besides the money.

Nixon Advised to Avoid Border

Officials Warn of Threat From Russian Soldiers Near Austria

VIENNA (AP)—U.S. and Austrian security officials are strongly advising Vice President Richard M. Nixon to keep away from the hole in the Iron Curtain on Austria's border with Hungary.

Nixon is due in Vienna Wednesday for a two-day look at the problem of Hungarian refugees from communism.

When the visit was first planned, the vice president reportedly wanted to see for himself the arrival of refugees who continue to pour past the line of red-and-white flags that mark Austrian territory.

It was authoritatively reported that Austrian and American security officials agree this would not be a good idea. Details of Nixon's itinerary have been withheld for security reasons.

The Austrians are jittery lest the Soviet troops in Hungary do something to follow up their charges that Austria is harboring "Hungarian Fascists." Since the flow of refugees started two months ago, only one Soviet incursion into Austria has been reported. On that occasion three Russian soldiers chased fleeing refugees across the border. One was killed by Austrian police, one captured and the other escaped.

Last night, Austrian police counted 1,040 refugees coming across. A heavy fog made it easier.

Thief Leaves Trousers, Pockets Billfold, $20

A pair of trousers, a billfold and $20 were stolen over the weekend from an unlocked home at 75 Elm St., Pontiac police said.

George Johnson of that address said he found the trousers discarded in his back yard, but the billfold, money and personal papers were missing.

He said the front door of his home was unlocked when the theft occurred sometime Saturday morning.

4 Escape Injury as Car Overturns

Four young men escaped serious injury, Pontiac police said, when their car rolled over Saturday night on Auburn avenue at Seward street.

The driver, William D. Greenfield, 20, of 695 Park Pl. told police his left front wheel locked as he braked for another car, causing his auto to slip sidewise and then topple over.

He was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for a bruised knee and ankle, authorities said.

Also treated for bruises were Carl D. Glenn, 20, of 596 N. Perry St.; Floyd Glenn Jr., 22, of Flint and Dennis Nelson, 19, of 736 St. Clair Ave.

CHRISTMAS ORNAMENTS — 1

Wheel Within a Wheel

You will find the stores filled with beautiful Christmas tree decorations, but you can make many as interesting as those you can buy. This week, we are going to help you make some ornaments.

First, here is a pattern for a wheel within a wheel. Paste two pieces of construction paper in contrasting colors together, then trace this pattern on one side. Or you can color the drawing with crayons or spread a light coating of paste to any section and sprinkle immediately with gold or silver sparkle powder.

Cut the design around the outside heavy black line then cut the scalloped inner heavy line all the way around. You will then have two pieces, an outer section and an inner section as shown in small upper sketches.

Take the inner section and cut along all the heavy black lines. Then fold the numbered pie-shaped pieces on the dotted lines; one up, the next down, the next up, etc. You will have four points up and four down as per the small sketch, lower left.

Now insert the smaller inner section crosswise into the outer section with tabs A and B of the inner section fitting into slots A and B of the outer section. The small sketch, lower right, shows how the completed ornament looks. Add a ribbon to a hole at the top and hang it up.

(John L. Skipper, Livermore, Calif., wins $10 for suggesting this first. If you have an idea send it in care of this newspaper, Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures). 12-17

Spellman Raps 'Baby Doll' Film

Exhorts Catholics Not to See Motion Picture, Calls It Evil

NEW YORK (AP) — In a rare pulpit appearance, Francis Cardinal Spellman yesterday sharply condemned the film "Baby Doll" and advised Roman Catholics not to see it "under pain of sin."

He denounced the Warner Bros. adaptation of a story by playwright Tennessee Williams as "evil in concept . . . certain to exert an immoral and corrupting influence upon those who see it."

"I exhort Catholic people from patronizing this film under pain of sin x x x," declared Cardinal Spellman, the archbishop of New York.

His denunciation drew immediate responses from Williams, Warner Bros. and Elia Kazan, producer and director of the picture. Kazan denied that "Baby Doll" was immoral and declared:

"In the court of public opinion I'll take my chances."

Cardinal spellman mounted the pulpit in St. Patrick's Cathedral to underscore the gravity of his warning to members of the Catholic faith.

He last appeared there in February 1949, when he condemned the Communists for imprisoning Hungary's Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty.

"Baby Doll" was given "C" or "condemned" rating Nov. 27 by the Roman Catholic Legion of Decency, which accused the Motion Picture Assn. of "open disregard" of its own code by approving the film. The association denied the charge.

Kazan said in New York that the film "has been approved by the Motion Picture Authority of America, which is administered by men of discretion and conscience."

Warner Bros. said the film had elicited "highly favorable reactions" in advance showings to exhibitors and representative elements of the press and various other organizations.

The film has a Southern setting and involves a jealous cotton gin owner, his child bride and a young man she befriends. It opens here for its world premier tomorrow. The picture stars Karl Malden, Eli Wallach and newcomer Carroll Baker.

CONSTIPATED?

new laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks

without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONAID, the amazing new lavative discovery is so effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

'Situation in Hand' as Marine Arrives

MARION, Ohio (AP)—Two former Marines who hadn't seen each other since 1945 met recently, but it wasn't a planned reunion.

R. Darl Caldwell, manager of a supermarket here, was robbed of $5,000 and kidnapped by four bandits. They dumped him, bound and gagged, in a roadside ditch. Caldwell managed to free himself and hail a passing car.

In the car was Alfred Beley of Delaware, Ohio, who served with Caldwell in the Marine Corps during World War II. The two hadn't seen each other since April, 1945. They plan a less hurried get-together later.

Fly to Warsaw to Talk Troops

Zhukov and Shepilov to Work Out Legal Status of Soviets

MOSCW (AP) — Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov and Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov flew to Warsaw today to work out the "legal status" of Soviet troops on Polish territory.

The talks may set a new pattern for the Soviet Union's relationship with its East European satellites.

The Polish Communist party's "nationalist" boss, Wladyslaw Gomulka,in recent talks with Soviet leaders in Mscow agreed to let Russian soldiers remain in Poland but won agreement that the Polish government would have he final word on heir umbers and movements.

An announcement after the Moscow talks said the two governments would negotiate later concerning the "strength and composition of the Soviet troops" in Poland.

(There have been reports recently of Polish workers demanding the complete withdrawal of regime wants to keep the Russian soldiers in Poland because they insure Polish retention of territory in Poland because they insure Polish retention of territory taken from Germany after World War II.)

U. of M. to Credit High Schoolers

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Superior High school students can now enter the University of Michigan in the fields of literature, science or art with advanced standing of as much as 16 credit hours.

In a program passed by unanimous faculty vote, the students who have completed special courses in high school and passed advanced placement examinations will receive college credits in English, foreign languages, history, chemistry, physics, biology and mathematics.

It is possible for a student to enter the University as far advanced as his second semester, a University spokesman said. Fifteen credit hours normally are taken in one term.

The requirements for advanced standing have been set up by the University's advanced placement program and will be administered by the college entrance examination board.

Sheets, towels and blankets account for more than one-half of all the cotton used for the manufacture of goods needed in households.

Hollywood Headlines

'Anastasia' Is Comparable to Cinderella Story

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—The life of the late Jean Harlow goes to Jerry Wald at 20th Century-Fox. Buddy Adler made that decision and now will come the task of choosing someone to play the platinum blonde whose too short life was filled with too much tragedy.

Carroll Baker has been discussed, but then, so have Marilyn Monroe and Jayne Mansfield. Jean wasn't as bosomy nor as voluptuous as Marilyn and Jayne. Her day was before the time of boasting about big measurements.

Debbie and Eddie will walk into New York today to find a nice new contract with Coca-Cola ready for Eddie's signing. It's not for TV, which the company has ruled out, but for a radio show, and the deal calls for three years and involves $300,000.

In addition to appearing on radio, Eddie will act as good will ambassador for the soft drink company, but this does not keep him from making other commitments. And after "bundle of joy," I look to see his motion picture chances get bigger and better. His personality really comes through. As for Debbie, well, she's a wonderful little comedienne and one of the best young actresses in our town.

"Anastasia" is a typical Cinderella story with royal trappings, and I like what Buddy Adler has done with the original play. The picture is better. The romance is between Ingrid Bergman and Yul Brynner, who plays Bunin, the General, instead of the newspaper man.

Great direction by Anatole Litvak, who never cheapens the story by having a big clinch at the end.

If Yul isn't nominated for an academy award there just is no justice. He has "The King and I," "Ten Commandments" and now "Anastasia." As my daughter remarked when the princess walked out with him, "Who wouldn't give up twenty million dollars for Yul Brynner?"

Helen Hayes, that great, great lady of the stage, is wonderful as the royal grandmother.

After an absence of two years Gloria Swanson returns to Hollywood this week to spend Christmas with her mother who lives in Glendale.

Gloria lingered on in Paris until her youngest daughter, Michele, had her baby daughter. This is the second child for Michele, who is very happily married.

When I was in Paris, Gloria was constantly in the company of a Colonel, and I am told that romance is still very much on—but Gloria, I believe, will think seriously before she marries anyone.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The beauty Frank Sinatra escorted to the premiere of "Anastasia" and later to Romanoff's is Joan Blackman—but that's all I know about her.

The girl with the beautiful eyes with Walter Winchell at the premiere was Joyce Taylor, who is under contract to RKO.

Richard Basehart almost stole the show with his plaid dinner jacket, while his bride, Valentina Cortesa, was in a gorgeous pink Italian creation.

Hedy Lamaar sends word that she is spending Christmas in Houston with her husband, Howard Lee, and her children.

Diana Lynn and Mortimer Hall, who were married last week in Tijuana, will have a second ceremony when Hall's divorce from Ruth Roman is final in April.

Count Jose Dorelis, once married to the beautiful Dolly O'Brien, is in town. He brings with him a Hungarian story which he will discuss with the studios.

Paul Muni's wife, Bella, suffered another serious heart attack, I am sorry to say.

Gerald Mayer, son of Mrs. Reba Mayer Elias, reports that his mother is getting along very well following a heart attack, but her visitors are limited to only Jerry and Reba's husband, Hal Elias. That's all today.

Iraq Will Stand Firm With West

Despite All Criticism Premier Says His Land Will Stay in Alliance

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Premier Nuri Said vowed last night that Iraq will stand firmly with the West against communism despite a chorus of criticism from Moscow, Cairo and Damascus.

Cries from other Arab nations against the controversial Baghdad Pact alliance, he declared, were really aimed "simply and solely to destroy Iraq" and put it at the disposal of others.

He said Iraq will remain a member of the U. S.-backed alliance, which joins Iraq with Turkey, Pakistan, Iran and Britain in defense against Communist aggression.

The 68-year-old strongman told his people over Baghdad radio that opponents have heaped "insults, fabrications and inventions" on Iraq "to an extent that it is alleged to be on the verge of collapse.

"Certain members of these parties have brought those fabrications true by agitation and stirring up disturbances, by creating panic among the public, by throwing bombs and explosives in public places and the buildings of foreign embassies, and trying to organize networks for assissinations."

(Heeding a call from the Syrian radio, the Egyptian Federation of Trade Unions and the Egyptian Lawyers' Syndicate ordered all their members to strike today to protest what they called the Iraq government's "terrorist campaign." Spokesmen said the strikes were called in response to a Damascus broadcast saying political prisoners in Iraq would be tried secretly today. The Pan-Arab People's Conference, an organization of political parties in eight Arab countries, urged all Arabs to strike against "Premier Nuri Said's prosecution policy against the Iraqi people.")

Five Iraqi political leaders, including a member of Parliament, are being tried for allegedly stirring up trouble. Iraq has been under martial law since Nov. 1.

Schools have been closed and rigid press censorship imposed.

The Premier declared Iraq has three enemies: communism, "aggressive Zionism" and France. The present propaganda campaign against the country, he said, is directed by the Communists.

To Harness Tides

PARIS—Work has begun at the mouth of the Rance River, near St. Malo, on a project for using the force of the ties for making electricity. The plan will cost about $120,000,000 and is expected to produce 750,000,000 kilowatts a year.

Seventeen of the states do not levy a personal income tax.

A priceless gift—a good night's sleep

give an automatic blanket

With an automatic blanket you can give a gift that keeps on giving.

LUXURIOUS WARMTH that's restful, that assures a fresh, vigorous start each day.

ALL-OVER WARMTH all night through. No cold spots, no heavy burden of blankets to disturb your sleep.

CONSTANT WARMTH—Just as much or as little as you like. Thermostats keep heat regulated regardless of changes in room temperature.

This Christmas you can give the most priceless gift of all—a good night's sleep.

Presents Become Costlier With Every Holiday

Christmas Makes Americans Spend-Happy

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Our "sense of values" in the matter of Christmas shopping has become so furiously confused that it seems likely a great many people will wake up this Dec. 26th with the worst financial hangovers of their lives.

It is an insidious business, this 1956 kind of shopping. You go out to buy Aunt Mabel a $3 present this year and you wind up spending $6.95 and being happy with yourself. Dad, on whom you used to spend $20, gets a $50 token, and you feel quite smug about that too.

It's not that prices have risen that dramatically, or that you have become doubly wealthy in the past year . . . it's rather that shoppers are being forced to "think" bigger and fancier and costlier thoughts with every passing 12 months of prosperity.

So many people have everything they need, plus a storage roomful of elegant superfluities, and almost everyone by now has at least one person on their Christmas list about whom they honestly can say, with a catch in the voice—"the only thing he can use is a new vault to hold his loot."

And vaults, like most other intriguing new products for those who have everything that their homes can hold, are expensive.

Some of the financial wizards disapprove strongly of this tendency to overspend at Christmas. They blame it on 10 years of steadily increasing paychecks and comparatively secure times, and a national economy which prods us to spend, spend, spend, 'cause you can't take it with you while the Revenue Department is on the ball.

As a consequence, we have all collected more fascinating folderol than we need, and manufacturers (looking to earn money for their own folderol collections) have graciously presented us with ever more appliances, furnishings, knick-knacks and nonsense to help us along with our national hobby: Divesting ourselves of our money.

Advertisers have helped enormously too—tipping us off to the fact that the man who has everything might just get a kick out of a solid gold duck press, or some such.

We are ever so grateful. Somehow or other, we get so grateful for any "idea" that good old Bob might get a kick out of that we spend three times as much money as we had intended. And feel doggone satisfied with ourselves in the bargain.

The essence of this extravagance was wafted to me this week when I entered the refined, snooty lobby of the old Plaza Hotel on Fifth Avenue, where dowagers and retired royal heads and poodles are wont to wander aloofly under the chandeliers.

There, just east of the flowery "Palm Court" and north of the swanky "Persian Room," was a gargantuan eight passenger razzle-dazzle white automobile.

VULGAR DISPLAY

Slightly aghast at this vulgar display of commercialism invading the purity of the Plaza, most of the wealthy residents passed the monster by, shuddering. But suddenly one mink stopped, turned, and addressed a homburg.

"Darling!" the lady exclaimed, "you've been wondering what to give Nathan. Well . . ."

The man smiled at her tenderly, admiring her cleverness, and then gazed at the car with a mischievous grin. "It's a great gag," he said. "Worth the price just to watch him try to park this boat."

This conversation, as honest as the car was long, is indicative of what is happening in the millionaire strata of Christmas shopping society. It probably can be pared down to fit all income levels. We are all spending more money than ever to please those we love.

Certainly that is foolish, when the outlay is more than we can afford.

REALLY CRAZY?

But is it really as critical a situation as some of the pundits point out? Have we honestly gone crazy?

I don't think so—not if our extravagances are offered with thought and with love.

The Christ Child truly had everything, but they gave Him gold and silver, frankincense and myrrh, and love.

It started a generous tradition that is too fine to criticize.

Hungarians Get Jobs From Army Authorities

ORLEANS, France (INS)—U. S. Army authorities are offering employment to qualified Hungarian refugees in France.

They will be hired, an Army announcement said, in accordance with normal employment procedures with the assent of French authorities.

The Hungarians will be employed in the extensive network of depots and other supply facilities in the communications zone of the U. S. Army in Europe.

Many of the refugees, the Army said, are highly skilled technicians who can alleviate the manpower shortage felt by the U .S. forces. The employment program also will help relieve the refugee problem in France.

Anemometers, which measure wind velocity, are carried on Great Lakes ships to give information to the Weather Bureau in Cleveland.

Troy Due to Settle Snags Over Subdivision Tonight

Glover Hopes to End Trouble

City Expects Report on 52-Acre Valuation for Civic Center

TROY — George H. Glover, developer of Thornwood subdivision, will appear before Troy City Commissioners again this evening. Glover said this morning that he "hopes to bring to an end the troubles he and the city of Troy have had."

He said his mandamus action on the use of septic tanks had been set aside by Judge Clark J. Adams. The court has recommended that Troy permit the use of interim septic tanks until the north Evergreen sewer interceptor has been completed.

"I think," Glover said, "that Troy's attorney, Jack Hutson, will recommend that the city do this because of the fact that the interceptor is so near."

He said he would also ask for an approval and signatures on the contract for sewer installation. This will necessitate approval of an easment across the Harlan property owned by the Birmingham school district.

Other items before the city tonight will be rezoning of Supervisors Plat No. 23, at the Northwest corner of Maple and Crooks, from residential to business, and the rezoning of the Jervis Wattles property on Dequindre Rd. to business.

It is also expected that the appraisers report on the 52-acres which Wattles proposed to sell to the city for a civic center and park will be heard.

The land would be a site for a city hall and other city buildings, with a small portion set aside for a city park.

City Manager Orlando Holway is continuing in office pending the commission's choosing of a successor. He will have 30 days after the new manager is named, before his dismissal by the city commission becomes final.

He indicated this morning he had no plans for other employment.

137 Voices Blend in N. Branch Concert

NORTH BRANCH — "What Christmas Means" was the theme of the Christmas concert by the junior and senior choruses and choir members, under the direction of Mrs. Preston (Gretchen) Orr at the school auditorium here Thursday evening.

The senior groups totaled 75, and 62 voices comprised the junior groups.

Betty Tatar assisted in accompaniments for the senior group, and Carl Oberlee appeared as scriptural narrator.

Marriotts Announce Daughter's Betrothal

UTICA—Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Marriott, 48338 Cardinal Drive, announce the engagement of their daughter, Charlene Bernadine, to PFC James Chaffee. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Chaffee, 8560 Canal Road.

James is serving with the United States Marines at the present time.

Wedding plans have not been revealed.

On Vacation Friday

WHISKERS FOR WISEMEN — Applying hair to add realism to the Yuletide play at Blanche Sims School in Lake Orion, set for Wednesday, is Ken Kuester, of the school's art department, while the Rev. Walter Ballagh, who secured the "touch of realism" and Sam Chapin, 9, watch. Standing steady for the reverse-shave are Mark Wright, 10, and Tim Griggs, 9, part of the play's cast.

Real Whiskers Deck Chins at Lake Orion

LAKE ORION—Beards with real hair are an added touch of realism that parents of the Blance Sims school students will see when they attend the Wednesday night performance at 8 p.m. at the school.

Students of the second through fifth grades will present the Nativity story in four scenes, with direction by Mrs. Dorothy Burker Burker of the music department.

The beards, through efforts of Ken Kuester of the art department, and the Rev. Walter Ballagh of the Lake Orion Baptist Church, are being made of real hair secured by the minister.

Because of the time it takes to apply the hair and the large number of the cast, it will only be used for the performance for parents. However students of school in two divisions will see the program during the day — tomorrow.

The fifth grade choir of 75 voices will sing carols, accompanying the story.

Drizzle No Dampener

Rochester Yule Parade 'Best Yet' Say Lions

By MYRENE TAYLOR
Rochester Correspondent

ROCHESTER — Despite Saturday's drizzle, Rochester's fifth Annual Christmas Parade ran on schedule and turned out to be the best parade held here.

The Rochester Lions Club, sponsors felt their efforts had not been in vain.

Main Street for blocks was lined with spectators, and hundreds of anxious children awaited Santa Claus in all his splendor top the Lions float.

Christmas music was played by the four bands including the specially-featured "Queen's Own Rifles," of Canada. The regimental band of 50 pieces from Toronto entered Main Street playing "Santa Claus is Coming to Town" with perfect timing and wonderful military precision in marching.

Other bands were Chrysler's Highlander Band, Rochester High and Avondale.

Porritt's Dairy Float received first prize of $50. The float depicted a Christmas Scene, with two teams of miniature rein deer and cutter, with Santa Claus distributing cartons of milk to all the children on Main Street.

Second prize went to the The 4-Her's float was a combination of a manger scene with live sheep and donkey, 3 wise men and 15 horses, with riders.

The FOE (Fraternal Order of Eagles) Christmas Eve home scene won third place and the St. Andrew Catholic Church manger scene and singers took fourth prize.

Judging was based on workmanship, theme and originality.

Average Farmer Older, Census Figures Show

WASHINGTON (INS)—The average farmer is growing older.

The Bureau of the Census gives this explanation: in 1950, the average farm operator was 48 years and four months old. In 1954, the average age was 49 years and seven months.

The agency made public a book full of figures on the age, residence, years on farm and work off farm of the nation's five and one-half million or so farmers.

It said the proportion of farm operators 65 years or older rose from 14.8 per cent in 1950 to 16.6

MOMS to Party

ALMONT—MOM'S of America, Inc. Almont Unit 62, will have a Christmas party Thursday at the Almont Cafe.

A potluck supper will be served at 6:30. After a short business meeting, there will be an exchange of gifts.

Plan Textile Painting

METAMORA — Metamora Hills Extension Club members plan to work on textile painting at their Jan. 9 meeting at Mrs. Edward Brecht's home. Members are asked to bring their lunch and material to paint for the 10 a.m. session.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon McWhorten, 11171 Rhode Drive, anounce the birth of a son, named Larry Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Timmerman, 8560 Hearst Street, announce the birth of a daughter, named Kim Sheila.

MSU to Offer 8-Week Study in Plants, Hens

EAST LANSING — Two eight-week short courses, to be offered in January and February at Michigan State University are designed for vegetable growers and poultrymen.

In the former, instruction will be given in vegetable production, handling and storage of vegetables and diseases of vegetable crops.

Other subjects will deal with marketing of agricultural products, soil fertility, farm law, machinery and potato production.

Students may also elect a course in beekeeping, business communications, farm insects, orchard fruits or rural electrification.

The poultry eight-week session aims to meet needs of those students who do not want to or cannot enroll in the four-year poultry course at MSU. It starts Jan. 7.

Phases studied include feeding, management, brooding, rearing, poultry house construction, marketing and incubation.

Further information is available at county extension offices or the short course office at MSU.

Attempt to Change Name in Kalamazoo

LANSING (AP) — Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) said today he will introduce a bill to change the name of Western Michigan College at Kalamazoo to Western Michigan University.

Morris said he understood a similar bill is ready for introduction at the regular session opening in January by Rep. Cyril Root (R-Kalamazoo).

Morris said the college is already a university in everything but name, and that the enrollment, now 6,500, is expected to climb over 10,000 in a few years.

The name change, he said, had already been approved by the State Board of Education, and had the blessing of the presidents of the three state universities.

Five Men, 1 Woman in Morals Charges

Five men and one woman entered innocent pleas Saturday to morals charges resulting from a Pontiac police raid at 461 S. Saginaw street.

Max Acosta, 31, of that address, was freed under $200 bond by Pontiac Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan. He was charged with maintaining and operating an illegal establishment.

Donna S. Acosta, 19, of the same address, pleading innocent to a morals charge, was freed under $100 bond.

Charged with loitering and freed under $50 bonds were Rodriquez V. Saturino, 28, of 28 Washington St.; Zenon B. Morales, 28, of 7½ Auburn Ave.; Manuel Santiago, 28, of 12 Allison St. and Joseph C. Montemayor, 29, of 12 Mt. Clemens St.

All six face trial on the charges Dec. 20.

French Nurse and Husband in Paris Hospital

PARIS (AP) — The French woman who nursed the defenders of Dien Bien Phu through their long siege and her husband have been flown home from Madgascar to be treated for an amoebic parasite infection, a Paris Newspaper reported today.

The military nurse, the former Genevieve de Galard, and her husband, Capt. Jean de Heaulme de Boutsock, were reported at the Val de Grace military hospital. He is a parachute officer she met in Indochina and married last June.

* * *

Genevieve was the only French woman at Dien Bien Phu when it fell to the Communist Vietminh forces in May 1954 after a long siege. The Reds released her soon after taking the fortress.

Schools Music Dept. Event Directed by M. West Thursday

ALMONT — The Instrumental Music Department of the Almont Community Schools, under the direction of band director, Melvin West, will present the annual Christmas concert on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

Three groups will be presented during the evening of music. The Beginners Band from the fifth grade will make its initial appearance of the year, playing "Beginners Luck Waltz," "All Aboard" march, and "America."

The Junior Band from the sixth and seventh grades will next play two Christmas carols and a spirited march, "Beautiful Savior," "Angels We Have Heard on High" and "March Militare."

The third and final portion of the concert will be presented by the Almont High School Band. Their portion of the concert is as follows:

"Brasses to The Fore," Walters; "Overture Americana," Buchtel; "Frosty the Snowman," Nelson - Rollins; "There's Something About a Soldier," Noel Gay; "Drummer's Delight," Edwards; "Panis Angelicus," Franck, and "The Christmas Story," Yoder.

The final selection, "The Christmas Story," will be a presentation of scripture and music in the telling of the birth of the Savior. Narration of the scripture will be given by Richard Ziehmer, instructor of speech and debate at Almont High. The musical portion of this selection will be centered around the well known Christmas carols.

Fire in Park Spurs Heights to Alter Zones

MADISON HEIGHTS — Discussion of a trailer park, in which a child died in a fire last spring, will come before the city commission on Jan. 3.

In a special meeting called to discuss the problem, the owner of the Northern Development Co. will seek rezoning of adjacent property. If granted, he promises to expand and correct conditions which the city has called a health and fire hazard.

The city has a suit pending against the park on the health and hazard issue.

City Manager Donald V. Smith says both the city council and the operators of the park are hoping to reach an agreement out of court.

Would You Like to Be a Winner of Pot-O-Gold?

Pot-O-Gold money is back down to the $200 mark, but don't forget that will come in mighty handy for your New Year's celebrations, and unless you're really a spender, you should have some left over. Just remember to check the rules and make sure you have your entry postmarked by the new deadline. You won't want to be disqualified because your puzzle is late.

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. A contestant may submit as many entries as he or she wishes but they must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3. To submit an entry the contestant must print his answer words in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent postcard. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 29 must bear a Saturday, Dec. 22, postmark (or before). No entries received after that time whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries becoming the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

Drug May Cut Infant Deaths

Stops Premature Birth, Readies Mother's Body for Delivery

NEW YORK, N. Y.—A new drug caller "releasin" has been revealoped that may reduce thousands of infant deaths hesulting from premature labor.

Perfected by Dr Robert L. Kroc, an endecrinologist for the Warner-Chilcott Laboratories, Releasin plays the same vital role in controlling birth process as the natural hormone Relaxin which is produced in the mother's body.

The ovaries of 500 sows are acquired to provide one gram of this precious white powder.

According to associates of the New York Medical College, this wonder drug performs a double function in cases where achild may be stillborn or premature.

When contractions occur prematurely, the in travenous administration of Releasin reduces the severity of uterus contractions, softens the tissues and enables pelvic ligaments to stretch so that the mother's body is ready for normal delivery.

A second function of Releasin is its ability to stop labor completely if necessary. When a baby is too small to promise postnatalpostnatal survival, this drug effectively adds weeks to a pregnancy, thus giving the baby time to gain weight.

Layne Injured, Bears Whip Lions, 38-21, for Title

AP Wirephoto

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

CHICAGO — Take the general away from his army and his forces are apt to go astray during a big battle. This was similarly true in what happened at Wrigley Field in Chicago yesterday.

The Chicago Bears knocked Detroit's field general, Bobby Layne, out of action early in the second quarter, and then went on to whip the Lions 38-21 before 50,000 fans to gain the Western Division title.

It was defensive end Ed Meadows who was later thrown out of the game for slugging Detroit's Bill Bowman, who blasted Layne after the Lion quarterback had pitched out to Gene Gedman.

Layne was taken off the field with a concussion and was hospitalized upon his return to Detroit.

The victory gave Chicago the right to meet the Eastern Division champions, the New York Giants, for the National Football League championship Dec. 30 in New York.

It was a riotous ball game with players, fans, ushers and anyone who had access to the playing field getting involved in a free swinging melee.

Detroit's vaunted defensive unit was handed a rude reversal as the Bears, led by big Rick Casares, employed a few offensive surprises of their own in piling up a total of 444 yards rushing and passing.

There was no denying Casares. The big back picked up 190 yards in 17 attempts to set an all-time Bear ground-gaining record of 1,126 yards for one season. The old mark was 1,004 set by Beattie Feathers in 1934.

Coach Paddy Driscoll, who kept the Bears working indoors behind closed doors all week, filled the Lions' Christmas stocking with a "few surprises" which he promised he would.

Driscoll had Casares at fullback and also at halfback, utilizing him in end sweeps effectively. He moved Harlan Hill into the halfback slot several times, using him twice as a runner, once as a passer and on three occasions as a receiver, once on a 44-yard pass play for a touchdown.

Chicago took a 3-0 lead midway in the 4th period on George Blanda's field goal.

With Harry Gilmer directing the attack in the second period just after Layne's injury, the Lions made it 7-3 with Bill Bowman taking a pass from Gilmer for the touchdown covering 18 yards. Jim Martin converted.

It took only three plays after the ensuing kickoff and Casares shook loose around left end, cutting across field beautifully for a 68-yard touchdown jaunt. Blanda converted and it was 10-7.

There was no stopping the Bears. Even with Bobby Layne, it was doubtful that the Lions could have stopped Chicago, although his absence was a hurting factor in the Lions' offensive attack.

With less than two minutes left in the half, Chicago moved 50 yards in seven plays to go ahead at intermission 17-7. The key plays were a 25-yard pass from Blanda to Hill, a 12-yard running gain by Hill, and the final nine yards by J. C. Caroline.

A moment later Meadows was ejected for slugging Bowman, and as the half ended Jim Martin failed in a 50-yard field goal attempt.

Detroit roared back in the 3rd period after Yale Lary intercepted a pass on the 50 and ran it back to the 16. Gilmer passed to Middleton on the one, and Leon Hart carried over to make it 17-14 with Martin's conversion.

It didn't take long for the Bears to get it back. Ed Brown hit Harlan Hill standing all alone on the 20 and went over easily. The play covered 44 yards and Blanda again kicked the point for a 24-14 margin.

The 4th period was a rowdy affair. The Bears held the ball for eight straight minutes, going 62 yards in 16 plays with Bob Watkins going over from the seven. It was 31-14 with the kick.

On the first play from scrimmage for Detroit, Gilmer's pass was intercepted by Joe Fortunato who ran 27 yards for the touchdown, and with Blanda's kick it was 38-14.

Detroit held the ball for the remainder of the game, going 80 yards in 10 plays with Gilmer passing to Dorne Dibble nine yards for the TD.

Gilmer performed adequately but the Detroit defensive line could not hold the onrushing Bears.

2nd Straight Week

Kerbawy to Protest Riotous Bear Crowd

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

CHICAGO — Detroit Lions' general manager said he was going to protest to NFL commissioner Bert Bell about the crowd situation at Wrigley Field which "shamefully became riotous" in the game.

The same thing happened last week in Bears-Cardinals game when fans swarmed out onto the field several times and engaged in a free-for-all during a hassle between players.

"If they were going to let people stand on the field, they should have made provisions to contain them," said Kerbawy.

Three times the fans and ushers rushed onto the field yesterday in mob demonstrations.

The big riot came with three minutes left in the game. On two different spots on the field several players tangled. One of the brawls nearest the sidelines however, could have led to a critical injury after a vicious attack by George Blanda.

It started after the Bears kicked off, following their last touchdown, Gene Cronin threw a terrific but a clean, legitimate block on one of the Bears.

At this point two Bears pounced on Cronin on the ground. Nearby, Stan Campbell, who had also thrown a block, rushed over to pull the Bears off Cronin. As he was down, Blanda came at him and like a kicker punting the ball he sent his spiked shoe at Campbell's face. Fortunately, Campbell jerked away and the kick grazed his shoulder. All of the 50,000 people saw this as clearly as day.

"That was horrible," said Parker, "he could have killed a man." "Any player who would even attempt that, would never play ball for me," Parker added.

One of the Lions said after the game, "elbows and knees are bad, but trying to kick a man in the face is a crime."

The player added, "If Blanda had connected, Campbell's head would have been ripped from his shoulder."

"This rioting two weeks in a row here, must make George Halas pretty proud," said Parker, "it could ruin pro football." The Cardinals last week protested to Bell over the riotous crowds permitted to stand on the sidelines at Wrigley Field.

Record Keg Tournament Entries for Elk Teams

By CHUCK ABAIR

Pontiac will play host to the largest bowling tournament for Elks members ever held in Michigan when the eight-week state event gets underway here the weekend of Jan. 19.

A total of 508 teams, 1,138 doubles, and 2,276 single groups from 39 different lodges will take part in the tourney which will be divided between the Elks alleys and the Huron bowl.

Some 459 teams saw action in the meet held at Saginaw last year in what was then a new record for the fast-growing sports attraction. Sixty - eight Pontiac teams participated in the 1956 tourney. The list is expected to reach 106 this season.

The entries of teams and individuals from five new lodges, including one from Sault St. Marie, has swelled the list of competitors. The Soo team will be the first ever to be in the tourney from above the straits.

Russell M. Dodd will serve as chairman of the first state Elks tourney to be held here since 1950 with former Michigan President Cap Holliday publicity director and honorary chairman.

Play will be held on eight successive weekends beginning at 2 p. m. Saturday and Sundays. Team events will be held at the Elks, doubles and singles at the Huron Bowl.

The 1956 champion Little Horns of Pontiac will be back to defend their team title under the name "Chuck's Shack."

Robert Managh, of Lansing, president of the state BPOE organization, and Ralph Benedict, of Saginaw, secretary, are expected to preside at the tournament.

Bruins Roll On as NFL Leader

Crush Maple Leafs in Sunday Game; Rangers Stop Canadiens

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

The Boston Bruins were supposed to be crippled by the loss of Goalie Sawchuk but they're still atop the National Hockey League and going strong.

The Bruins, with Jerry Toppazzini scoring twice in a four-goal period, crushed Toronto, 4-2, last night to increase their league lead to three points.

The hot Montreal Canadiens were coiled off, meanwhile by the New York Rangers. Andy Bathgate scored three goals and Andy Hebenton and Danny Lewicki each picked up three points as the Rangers beat the Canadiens, 4-2. High scoring Jean Beliveau took part in both scoring plays for Montreal.

Canadians stayed in 3rd place, four points behind Boston, and the Rangers took over sole possession of fourth from the Maple Leafs.

LA Rams Crush Packers 49-21

Layne Hit by "Hatchet Man"

Attack Deliberate — Parker

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

CHICAGO — Coach Buddy Parker and president Edwin J. Anderson of the Detroit Lions angrily told newsmen in the locker room, after yesterday's 38-21 defeat at the hands of the Bears, that "Ed Meadows was used as the hatchet man to deliberately and viciously put Bobby Layne out of action."

"They said they were going to get him and they did," said Parker.

Parker then turned to Chicago newsmen in the dressing room and said, "you guys made it pretty clear, emphasizing it every day, that without Layne we were done."

Another Lions' official then interrupted to say, "We knew last night what their plans were, and they carried it out to the tee."

The official, a member of the Lions board of directors, said that a member of the Bears' staff remarked at a party the night before the game that he was willing to bet that Bobby Layne would be out of the game before the first quarter ended.

The incident took place early in the 2nd period. Layne pitched back to Gene Gedman who was already sweeping to the outside when Meadows clobbered Layne from the blind side.

"First of all, Layne did not have the ball, secondly, the elbow that smeared Layne was as plain as day, and thirdly the official stood right there and did not even call a penalty," said Parker.

Big Leon Hart, who a moment later threw a block on Meadows that rattled his teeth, said, "Any player who would throw his elbow into another player's face deserves a beating." "When I threw that block on Meadows a little later, I didn't bring my elbows up, but I threw every pound I had, 265 pounds of it, at him." Meadows was knocked flat, but he got up and walked away.

Anderson said, "I have nothing but contempt for Meadows, I will propose to the league he be barred from football."

Unlike some press reports, Parker did NOT say "Chicago's dirty football beat us." What Parker emphatically did say was, "We were hurt without Bobby Layne, and it was dirty football that injured him."

Parker gave credit to Rick Casares for playing a tremendous game, and he also credited Chicago's line play as a big factor in the victory.

"They could have given Meadows a black jack and told him to do the job on Layne just as effectively," said Parker.

Lions' physician, Dr. E. A. Thompson said Layne would remain under observation for at least 24 hours.

The Lion quarterback suffered a brain concussion. He was revived in the locker room during the late stages of the game.

Layne walked off the plane under his own power last night but said he did have a slight pain.

Good Weekend for State Quintets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

State college basketball teams had a successful weekend, with a sweep of three games played out of state and a 2-1 record of those played in Michigan.

In the only Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Assn. (MIAA) encounter, Alma, squeezed out a 77-76 triumph over Hope at Holland, with Alma's George Carter bucketing 24 points.

Alma now is 2-1 in league play and 2-3 overall, while Hope is 1-2 in the MIAA and also 2-3 overall.

Eastern Michigan and Central Michigan copped Interstate Conference victories in Illinois, where Albion defeated Lake Forest, 68-59, Eastern whipped Eastern Illinois, 87-76, and Central defeated Southern Illinois, 67-60.

Northern Michigan turned back invading Northland (Wis.) at Marquette, 67-62, and University of Detroit sent Western Ontario home to London unhappy, 89-48.

Indiana Tech of Fort Wayne, however, took a 88-64 decision from once powerful Lawrence Tech at Detroit. It was LIT's fourth straight defeat in as many games in the new season. Indiana Tech now is 4-3.

Detroit Tech took the measure of an outgunned Ferris Institute, 89-61, to run its 1956-57 record to 6-2. Ferris now is 1-4.

University of Detroit's Bill Eben, one of the nation's top 10 scorers, scored 27 points as the Titans routed Western Ontario and gave themselves a 2-2 record thus far. The Canadians haven't won in five outings.

Ebben, who had averaged 26.7 points per game going into the Saturday night one wasn't used extensively as coaches cleared the bench in the runaway. In four games he now has scored 107 points.

Hawks Clip Red Wings, 3-1

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks, who hadn't beaten anybody in their last 10 games, whipped the Detroit Red Wings last night and knocked them three points off the National Hockey League pace being set by the Boston Bruins. The score was 3-1.

The night before the Red Wings had slaughtered the Black Hawks, 5-1, on Detroit ice as Gordie Howe scored twice to become the second highest goalmaker in NHL history.

The only thing that kept the Black Hawks from knocking the Red Wings all the way into third place was Montreal's 4-2 loss to New York. Because of the losses, neither Detroit nor Montreal added any points to their standings.

Boston, however, defeated Toronto, 4-2, and added two points. Boston now has 39 points, Detroit, 36, and Montreal, 35.

Howe got Detroit's only goal last night. It was his 327th as a National Hockey Leaguer.

Howe's 325th against Chicago Saturday night made him the second highest scorer in league history. It broke his 324 tie with the retired Nels Stewart of the old Montreal Maroons.

Howe also got 326 in the Chicago rout, then managed to get the Red Wings off to a 1-0 edge at 1:08 of the opening period last night.

Chicago's victory—only its fifth of the season—came on two goals by Nick Mickoski, after Jack McIntyre had matched Howe's first period effort at 15:53. Mickoski got one in each of the final two periods.

The Black Hawks outshot the Red Wings, whose goalie Glenn Hall had 43 pucks fired at him. Al Rollins had only 27 poked his way.

Only three penalties were called, but two of them were five-minute majors handed Howe and Ron Ingram, a Hawk rookie, who traded blows for several seconds along the boards in the final period.

Ploen Awarded Most Valuable Player Honor

CHICAGO (AP) — Quarterback Ken Ploen of the University of Iowa is the winner of the Chicago Tribune silver football award as the Big Ten conference's "most valuable" player.

The 21-year-old, 6-foot-2 star of Iowa's Big Ten champions won out over nine other "most valuable players" in the conference. A board of 23, including coaches and officials, announced the selection during the weekend.

Guard Dick Hill was the University of Michigan's nominee. Michigan State players picked end Jim Hinesley.

Dons Move Into Illinois for Top Collegiate Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Now comes the 48-hour period that Coach Phil Woolpert and the San Francisco Dons must have thought would have them twisting and turning.

The Dons take major college basketball's longest winning streak ever into George Huff Gym in Champaign, Illinois, to meet Illinois' unbeaten Big Ten favorites.

If the string, now standing at 60, still is intact, then there's Western Kentucky's racehorse Hilltoppers Wednesday in Louisville.

Both the Illini, seventh-rated in the last Associated Press poll, and Western, ranked 12th, take a lot of beating in their own balliwick.

Illinois, warming up for San Francisco, made Loyola of New Orleans its third straight victim 83-71 Saturday, and such acknowledged powers as Kansas, North Carolina, Southern Methodist, and West Virginia stretched their winning strings.

Washington, beaten by Wilt Chamberlain and the top-rated Kansas Jayhawks 77-63 Friday night, tried triple-teaming The Stilt in the rematch Saturday. Wilt, who got 30 points with two defenders working on him in the first game, befuddled the extra man too and scored 37 while the Jayhawks made it four in a row for the season, 92-78.

North Carolina went into overtime to edge South Carolina 90-86, and SMU smothered a good Xavier of Ohio team 92-71 as Jim Krebs hit for 37.

West Virginia toppled unbeaten Duke 83-82 to win the Birmingham Classic.

Louisville, always among the nation's leaders, bounced back from its loss to Canisus to whip Marquette 75-68, and St. Louis made another bid for attention by defeating LSU 86-52.

Michigan Five Wallops Butler

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The hidden pre-season promise of a Michigan basketball upswing is beginning to show.

The Wolverines started sluggishly dropping two of their first three games. But they squared the record Saturday by playing their finest ball of the season to upend Butler, 84-77.

Michigan fell behind the Bulldogs from Indianapolis shortly after intermission following a topsy - turvy first half. A Butler rout loomed but Wolverine depth and ball hawking kept them within hailing distance.

Midway in the final stanza, Michigan caught up and tied the score, 66-66, and then, 68-68, as the quintets traded baskets.

Less than seven minutes were left when Pete Tillotson grabbed a loose ball and drove almost the length of the court to snap the tie.

Thereafter, Michigan snuggled into a semi-freeze and was never headed.

Hawkeyes Receive Welcome

Iowa at Pasadena

PASADENA, Calif. (INS) — The University of Iowa Hawkeyes football team arrived in Pasadena last night and was greeted with a lavish party to welcome the Big Ten representative in the annual Rose Bowl classic Jan. 1.

The Iowans—including 44 players, coaches, assistants, wives, officials and newsmen—arrived at nearby Lockheed air terminal aboard two plans and were driven to the Huntington Sheraton Hotel in Pasadena, where they will quarter after the New Year's Day spectacle.

The visitors were given a noisy, cheery welcome as they arrived at the hotel and then were whisked off to the hotel's ballroom for a gay party given in their honor by the Tournament of Roses committee.

Official welcomes were extended by Seth Miller, Mayor Pasadena; John Davidson, President of the tournament of roses; Vic Schmidt, Pacific Coast Conference commissioner, and others.

Also on hand to greet them was rose queen Ann Rossberg and her court of six beautiful princesses who will reign over the rose pageant.

The Iowans appeared delighted at their rousing reception, despite the long journey and the six hour takeoff delay caused by fog. They had planned to leave from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, yesterday morning, but were forded to drive to Moline, Ill., 110 miles away, to find a field clear enough for takeoff.

There was some fog in the Los Angeles area, in which Burbank and Pasadena lie, but the Lockheed air terminal was clear and their landing was not hampered.

The Hawkeyes' opponent, Oregon State, arrives in Pasadena Tuesday.

U.S. Davis Cup Net Hopes Could Be 'Kid Cuppers'

PERTH, Australia (AP)—U.S. Davis Cup captain Bill Talbert, well aware Vic Seixas and Herb Flam figure at best as outsiders against the likes of Aussies Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall, today was toying with the idea of using his "kid cuppers" against Australia in the challenge round.

As the team prepared to fly to Adelaide to begin practice for the Cup finals beinning Dec. 26, Talbert said he might turn to Mike Green, 19, of Miami and Sammy Giammalva, 22, of Houston unless Seixas and Flam prove to him in workouts they have a chance to win.

"We have to start developing some time," Talbert said, "and this might be the year. As of now, no man has his job clinched on this team."

* * *

Seixas, 33, in the midst of his sixth Davis Cup campaign, played exceptionally well as the Americans defeated India 4-1 in the interzone finals here over the week end.

Flam, 28, won his singles match but looked to be well below top form.

And, as all observers pointed out, it is one thing to beat players like India's Ramanathan Krishnin and Naresh Kumar and another to handle Hoad and Rosewall, the worlds best amateurs.

Nick Sanger, San Jose State tackle, is the son of G. H. Sanger, former wrestler for Iowa State.

Celtics Land Bill Russell

BOSTON (AP)—Bill Russell, All-America and Olympic wonder, will sign a Boston Celtics contract Wednesday and is expected to make his professional basketball debut before a national television audience.

Russell and Celtics' owner Walter Brown admitted last night that Bill is ready to offer his 6-10 altitude and many talents to a club which has awaited such a landfall for 10 years.

Boston, atop the Eastern Division standings in the National Basketball Assn., always has had great scorers but never enough height or backboard control.

A poised giant who took America's court conquest in the Olympics as calmly as his own brilliant success at the University of San Francisco, said he "had agreed to terms."

Brown added "I don't anticipate any trouble signing Bill."

No terms were mentioned but Russell turned down a $30,000 offer from the Harlem Globetrotters recently.

Podoley, Clark Named on All-America Lists

LITTLE ROCK, Rrk. (AP) — Jim Podoley, Central Michigan's great all-around athlete, was named to the small college 1956 All Star football team announced during the weekend by the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA).

Nate Clark of Hillsdale, Mich., college was selected for the second team backfield.

North Carolina State Fined

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — North Carolina State today faced the Atlantic Coast Conference's stiffest penalty — a $5,000 conditional fine and curtailment of its basketball recruiting activities — for its method of recruiting basketball star Jackie Moreland.

In a telegram released yesterday by N. C. State Chancellor Carey H. Bostian from ACC commissioner James Weaver, State was ordered to refrain from contracting any prospective basketball player for one year.

Previously the ACC had charged it found that State officials offered Moreland transportation money from his Minden, La., home to Raleigh and also offered Moreland a fifth year of financial help in school if he needed it.

The kicker on the fine announced by the ACC was that it will be cancelei if Moreland stays at State without "athletic eligibility and under his present scholarship arrangement."

The college has denied the charges against it and Chancellor Bostian said the penalty will be appealed.

The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Nov. 13 placed State on probation for four years in the case the stiffest penalty ever handed out by that group.

The fine by the ACC is the heaviest financial penalty permitted by its constitution.

Weaver said the NCAA acted against State last month on the basis of a signed statement by Moreland made to the executive director of the NCAA in Weaver's presence.

Moreland, a 6-8 sensation, enrolled at State last fall after signing a letter of intent at Texas A&M and a grant-in-aid at Kentucky.

Asked whether he intended to release the statement Moreland signed before Weaver and the NCAA, Dr. Bostian replied he did not.

He said "that is only one little item in the complete record. There is nothing to be gained by making the record public piecemeal."

State has denied it violated any recruiting rules in landing moreland.

It has asked the full ACC faculty council to convene to hear meeting tentatively is scheduled for Friday.

Moreland was enroute home for Christmas vacation, his future plans unknown.

Touching on only two of the allegations by the NCAA, the ACC found in its partial investigation that:

Moreland had been given $80 for transportation from his home to Raleigh; the money was given to him in the presence of and with the knowledge of Victor Bubas, assistant basketball coach, and Willis Casey, assistant athletic director, by a State college alumnus; and after Moreland arrived in Raleigh he was assured by Bubas he would be given a fifth year of financial aid at state if necessary.

Fetchick Wins With 263

SANFORD, Fla. (AP)—Mike Fetchick climaxed his first big money year in professional golf with victory in the $15,000 Sanford Open yesterday by a record score of 263.

Not only will the $2,400 first prize make a pleasant bulge in his Christmas stocking, the way he played the 72 holes gives promise of more such paydays ahead.

After an opening 65 put Fetchick, 34, in second place, the New Yorker overtook Dow Finsterwalde with a 63, then withstood challenges by Finsterwald and Frank Stranahan with a 67 in the third round and again had to fight off Stranahan on the closing day.

Fetchick shot a safe 68 in the final round over the 6,205-yard Mayfair course. Even when Stranahan crept within one stroke going to the next to last hole, Fetchick kept his iron nerve and parred the final two holes.

"I didn't have to take any desperate chances—and I didn't take any," Fetchick said.

Stranahan, 33, millionaire spark plug heir from Toledo, Ohio, also shot 68 in the last round and finished two strokes behind Fetchick at 265 and collected $1,800.

Finsterwald, 27, the year's second biggest money winner of the golf tour who plays out of Bedford Heights, Ohio, came in third with 268, good for $1,400. His final 18-hole round was even par 70.

Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., collected fourth money of $1,200 for 270. Jay Hebert of Sanford and Dave Douglas of St. Louis each shot 271 and won $900.

Five tied for seventh at 272—Julius Boros, Southern Pines, N.C.; Arnold Palmer, Youngstown, Pa.; Don January, Lampasas, Tex.; Jim Ferree, Winston-Salem, N.C., and Doug Ford, Lake Mahopac, N.Y.—each getting $528.

Warriors Get Hot in NBA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia Warriors, defending champions, loose from the shackles of a prolonged slump, today moved into contention for the Eastern Division lead in the National Basketball Assn.

Paced by the usual prolific scoring of Paul Arizin and Neil Johnston, the Warriors, moved into undisputed possession of second place last night by knocking off the front-running Boston Celtics, 116-104, Philadelphia is 3½ games out.

In other games, the Minneapolis Lakers moved up on the Rochester Royals, Western leaders, by edging them 101-97; Fort Wayne's Pistons tagged the New York Knickerbockers with a 84-80 defeat, and the Syracuse Nationals eased past the Hawks of St. Louis 101-91.

Arizin scored 31 points, and Johnston added 29 as the Warriors led throughout. Boston challenged late in the game and closed to within 102-99 but baskets by Johnston and Joe Graboski clinched the verdict.

Orioles' Boyd to Take X-ray

BALTIMORE (AP)—Spring training is still more than nine weeks off, but the Baltimore Orioles may get a line on their first base situation this week.

Bob Boyd, who fractured his elbow last May during the regular American League season and reinjured it while playing winter baseball in Cuba, will have his arm X-rayed.

The elbow in his throwing arm was wired after the first accident, but the wire snapped in the latest injury. If the elbow did not heal completely prior to the break in the wire, Boyd may face another operation.

"A lot will depend on his (arm) motion, or limitation of motion," Dr. Erwin Mayer, Oriole team physician said. Boyd did mostly underhand throwing when he returned to action in the last month of the 1956 season following a three-month layoff.

Boyd hit .311 for the Orioles. Before he was injured he was one of the league leaders with an average of better than .350.

Halas Says Little Concerning Riots

Chicago Bears' president and the former coach George Halas had little to say after the game yesterday in which the Bears whipped the Detroit Lions 38-21, in a contest marred by riots and injuries.

On a radio interview immediately after the game, he said, "It was a hard fought ball game."

"It might mean very little to Halas, but such shameful exhibitions could ruin the league," said Lion coach Buddy Parker.

NFL Title Battle on Dec. 30

NEW YORK (INS) — Decade-long title quests are over for the New York Giants and the Chicago Bears. They want only one more thing — the National Football League championship.

That bauble will be up for grabs Dec. 30 at Yankee Stadium.

Both the Giants and the Bears won their division races with weekend victories but New York's win over the last-place Philadelphia Eagles was as quiet as a Sunday school picnic compared to the Bears' game with the Lions.

The Giants (8-3-1) won the same way Saturday. Under the masterful direction of Don Heinrich, the Giants ripped the Eagle line repeatedly for healthy gains. Kyle Rote, Frank Gifford and Alex Webster did the scoring and the Eagles (3-8-1) did not tally until the final moments. The score was New York 21, Philadelphia 7.

The Bears and Giants last captured the division titles in 1946 and that year the Bears won the championship 24-14. Earlier this season they played again but little indication of who will be 1956 champ can be gained from that game.

It ended in a 17-17 tie as the Giants completely stopped Casares but couldn't tie down Hill.

Tom Wilson of the Los Angeles Rams broke the one-game mark by rushing for 223 yards, five more than the 1950 mark of Choo-Choo Roberts of the Giants, as the Rams trounced the Green Bay Packers 49-21. Both teams tied for the Western cellar with 4-8 records.

The San Francisco 49ers (5-6-1) moved into 3rd place by belting the Baltimore (4-7) Colts, 30-17. Runs of 96 and 67 yards by Joe Arenas on kick returns highlighted the 49er win.

Chicago Cardinals (7-5) clinched 2nd place in the East by bombing the Cleveland (5-7) Browns 24-7. The Browns, with the most dismal record in their history, tied Pittsburgh for 4th place.

Steelers shut out the Washington Redskins 23-0 as Ted Marchibroda passed for two touchdowns. The Skins apparently lost their spark after they were mathematically eliminated from the division race by the Giants' victory.

The 'Skins close the regular NFL season next Sunday against Baltimore.

Kansas Wins JC Crown

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP)—Kansas—not Michigan—is the football champion of the National Junior College Athletic Assn.

Coffeyville, Kan., ran over, around and through Grand Rapids, Mich., in the NJCAA's first championship bowl game here Saturday. The score was 46-6.

The game drew a disappointing crowd of only 7,222 to Los Angeles' 100,000-seat coliseum. And the few Michiganders among them seldom had anything to cheer about.

The tremendously speedy Kansans had half a dozen men who apparently could outdistance any Grand Rapids man with ease. Coffeyville rolled up 460 yards rushing and 68 passing for a total of 528, while Grand Rapids got 108 rushing and 120 passing for 228.

The Michigan team got its lone touchdown on a 1st period blocked punt. Center James Krucki recovered the ball, blocked in the end zone by guard Bill Czerwinski.

Prisoner Writes Poems — Judge Is Impressed

NEW YORK (INS) — A poetry-minded Judge was so moved by two poems written by a convicted burglar while awaiting sentence that he shortened the term "in the Christmas spirit."

Ronald Martelly, 26, with a record of nine previous arrests, was slated to go to Sing Sing Prison for from 2½-to-5 years, but Kings County Judge Carmine Marasco sent him instead to New York County Jail where the maximum sentence is a year.

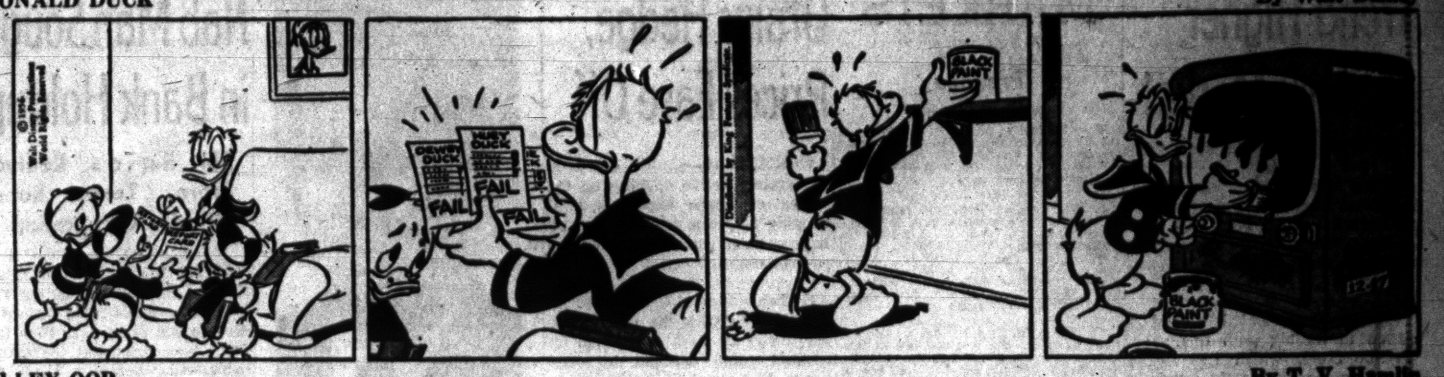

* * *

One of the poems, entitled "Only Me," said in part, "Only me can make a better me — If only I could face reality. Only me will take me by the hand and make me right, — I pray each night for that guiding light."

Trend Higher in Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a slightly higher trend in fairly active early trading today.

Pivotal issues were up fractions to around a point but there were a few lowers. Some specialties, notably among the steels, showed strength.

Likens Steel added around 3 points to its big gain this year. Detroit Steel, which has forged ahead as the most active stock of the past two sessions, rose more than a point.

Bethlehem was up around a point. Youngstown, U.S. Steel and Republic Steel edged ahead.

Motors, rails and rubbers were mostly mixed but leading oils and chemicals were generally ahead.

Gains of around a point were made by Montgomery Ward, Zenith and Allied Chemical. United Aircraft added 2.

Fractional gains were posted by Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, American Cyanamid, International Paper, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Texas Co., Gulf Oil, National Distillers and Schenley, the latter reporting much-improved earnings.

Small losses were taken by Ford, Goodyear, General Dynamics, General Electric, New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad and U. S. Gypsum.

Among opening blocks were Detroit Steel up 1 at 23⅝ on 6,000 shares, Benguet unchanged at 1¼ on 10,000, Schenley up ⅛ at 19⅞ on 5,000 and Bethlehem Steel up ⅝ at 187 on 1,600.

Sensitivity of Blind Called 'Facial Vision'

PARIS — In 1749 the French scholar, Denis Diderot, reported that a blind acquaintance of his could perceive obstacles in his path and judge their distance accurately.

His theory was that nature makes up for the loss of sight by increasing the sensitivity of facial nerves and their sensory endings so a blind person can detect air waves reflected from an obstacle.

Diderot called this ability "facial vision."

Total British Exports Show Slim Increase

LONDON — United Kingdom exports since 1953 have increased by only 11.5 per cent while the U. K. share of world trade in industrial products has fallen from 21.3 per cent to 20.

In the same period West Germany's exports expanded by 40 per cent and the German share in world trade rose by 2.3 per cent, to 15.6 per cent.

In 1953 West Germany's export volume amounted to only three fifths of the U. K. volume; two years later it had risen to three fourths.

Cigar Smoker Suspect as Male Shoplifter

A cigar-smoking customer is suspected of stealing a $20 men's jacket from a downtown department store Saturday, Pontiac police said.

The store manager said the man was seen lingering at the counter from which the jacket was taken.

Grains Hedge, Prices Ease Off

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains eased in moderately active dealings on the Board of Trade today as mild hedging pressure met only limited buying from commercial and export interests.

Soybeans started firm but quickly retreated with the rest of the list. Early strength in soybean oil created some demand for soybeans. Rye acted better than other cereals but could not hold all its gains.

* * *

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅜ to 1⅛ lower, December $2.39⅛, corn ⅛ to ½ lower, December $1.32⅜, oats unchanged to ⅜ lower, December 77½, rye ½ to 1¾ higher, December $1.45, soybeans unchanged to ½ lower, January $2.49 and lard 7 cents lower to 2 cents a hundred pounds higher, January $13.25.

Set Custody Hearing for Wyatt Children

A Juvenile Court hearing on custody of the 12 children of Mrs. Ada Wyatt, 33, of Keego Harbor, convicted of maiming her seven-year-old daughter, will be held at 9 a.m. tomorrow, Judge Arthur E. Moore said today.

* * *

A 10-woman, 2-man jury convicted Mrs. Wyatt after five days of testimony in which the child, Sherry, testified her mother held her hands over a gas burner, sat her on an oil stove, threw a butcher knife at her, and broke her arm and leg.

The jury freed Mrs. Wyatt's husband, William, 29, accused as her collaborator.

4 Hurt in Collision in Bloomfield Area

Three Pontiac persons and a Troy Township woman suffered minor cuts and bruises in a truck-car collision at Woodward and Square Lake Rds. in Bloomfield Township Sunday night.

Robert C. Brooks, 23, one of the drivers, and his wife, Elizabeth, 27, of 408 Howard McNeill St.; Donald Mapp, 27, of 22 Beaudette St., and Mrs. Alice Merriwether, 46, of 47 Vermont Rd., Troy Township, all were released after treatment at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

NORMAN J. MacMILLAN

Name CNR Executive Grand Trunk Director

Norman J. MacMillan, executive vice president of Canadian National Railways, has been appointed a director of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad, a CNR subsidiary.

The appointment was announced at the semi-annual meeting of the railroad's board of directors by Donald Gordon, chairman and president of the Canadian National System.

MacMillan joined the firm in 1937 as solicitor in the law department at Winnipeg. He was named vice president in charge of the law department in 1949 and became executive vice president early this year.

Wages to Go Up for U.S. in '57

Hikes Due to Contracts Now in Effect Estimated at Billion Dollars

WASHINGTON (AP) — Workers across the nation will get a billion dollar annual pay boost next year under terms of already-negotiated labor contracts.

This showed up today in a Labor Departments summary of longterm contracts already in effect between employers and unions and providing for specified pay increases in 1957. These contracts cover about five million workers.

The summary by the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics provided no over-all money amount. It listed the specified cents-per-hour raises to be put into effect and the numbers of workers due to get them.

Projecting the figures on a 52-week earnings basis shows industry's annual wage bill will be increased by about a billion dollars by these deferred pay hikes.

The bureau said workers "in practically every major industry group" will receive such deferred pay increases. But the bulk of them are concentrated in the auto, farm equipment, aircraft, electrical manufacture, steel, aluminum, and other metalworking industries as well as construction, transportation, food and mining.

The bureau said more workers than ever before will receive wage increases in 1957 as a result of contracts negotiated in prior years.

In addition, most contacts of this type call for automatic cost-of-living pay changes. They provide for adjusting pay rates in part at stated intervals according to the rise or fall of the government's living-cost index. The index has recently been rising to new record levels.

The bureau's summary showed the number of workers covered by such living-cost "escalator" clauses has risen back to nearly four million. That was the figure in 1952 but the number dropped to under two million in 1954. Many unions had temporarily abandoned their living-cost arrangements when living costs stopped going up and became stabilized.

The summary covered more than 550 collective bargaining settlements affecting the five million workers. Of these 350 were negotiated in 1956 and the balance in 1955 or earlier years.

Nab Man Sought in Bank Holdups

FBI Raids Kentucky Store, Traps Ranels, Blonde Companion

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Charles Edward Ranels, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men before his capture last night near Pine Bluff, Ark., was scheduled for arraignment today before a U. S. commissioner for violations of the federal bank robbery statute.

The 34-year-old Ranels had been sought by the FBI in connection with bank holdups in Kentucky and Arkansas.

Also scheduled for arraignment on a charge of harboring Ranels was blonde Opal Oneida May, 32, arrested with him by FBI agents in a raid on a rural grocery store she operated.

Ranels and the woman had been living in a shack in a wooded area 7½ miles from Pine Bluff off U.S. Highway 270, the FBI said. They were taken without resistance at a store in the Dewdrop community.

Ranels has been identified by the FBI as one of the two gunmen who robbed a Louisville, Ky., bank of $34,860 Oct. 27, 1954.

He also had been identified as the lone bandit who robbed a Lone Oak, Ky., bank of $9,760 in cash and $15,000 worth of unsigned traveler's checks May 27, 1955.

Ranels is under indictment in Akransas on a charge of robbing the Commercial Loan and Trust Co. at Monticello, Ark., of $11,588 Jan. 9, 1956.

The FBI said Opal May had admitted a previous arrest for robbery in Forth Worth, Tex., in 1943.

Business Briefs

The Michigan Life Insurance Co. announced today that Harry Curtis, of 2230 Lancaster Rd., was the company's top producing agent for the month of November. The honor was bestowed as part of the traditional sales contest month honoring Scott E. Lamb, of Birmingham, firm president.

Ray R. Nichels of Highland, Ind., has been retained by the Pontiac Motor Division as a consultant to handle safety, endurance and performance tests in the field, according to Chief Engineer E. M. Estes.

NICHELS

Associated with automotive testing for the past 19 years, Nichels will also supervise Pontiac's participation in stock car performance events.

American Motors States Net Loss

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp., makers of Nash, Hudson and Rambler cars plus Kelvinator appliances, today said its net loss for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30 was $19,746,243.

American said its loss was computed after a non-recurring profit of $10,662,373 made from the sale of Ranco Incorporated stock and tax credits of $1,453,576.

American lost $6,956,425 in the 1955 fiscal year after a tax credit of $9,700,000.

The report said the company lost money chiefly from automotive operations. It added that American's appliance business was "profitable in the face of the stiffest competition ever experienced in this industry. Further improvement is possible for 1957," it added.

Sales for 1956 were $408,407,637 compared to $441,127,272 in 1955.

Four Michigan Men in Airplane Accident

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A C46 cargo plane in which four Michigan men were riding landed short of the runway at fog-bound Long Beach Municipal Airport, bounced over heavy traffic on Lakewood Boulevard and crashed in a field last night.

Only one of the four men was hurt, and his injuries were slight.

The plane, carrying a load of auto parts from El Paso, Tex., to Long Beach, was flying on instruments as it came in for a landing. It came down about 700 yards short of the runway.

Co-pilot Patrick H. Menton, 28, Plymouth, Mich., suffered a nose injury. The others were the pilot, Frank Hughes, 29, Wayne, Mich., and G. A. Bishop, 46, Rumulus, Mich., and J. W. Smith, 21, Trenton, Mich., both passengers.

2 Homes Ransacked in Orion Township

Breakins at two Orion Township homes are under investigation today by Oakland County detectives.

Hardest hit was a house at 245 Coates Rd., where $200 in cash, a rifle, and two bottles of beer were found missing. Overlooked were two other guns and some wrapped Christmas presents.

A box camera was the only article known to have been taken at 1906 Indianwood Rd. Rooms were ransacked and drawers emptied on the floor in both burglaries.

New Year's Inaugural Being Planned in Lansing

LANSING (AP) — Plans are well advanced for the New Year's Day inaugural of victors for statewide office in the Nov. 6 general election, and invitations are in the mail to 18,000 Democrats.

The ceremonies will mark the first time in state history that anybody ever has been inducted for a fifth term as governor.

Taking the oath for two year terms along with Gov. G. Mennen Williams will be Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, Secretary of State James M. Hare, Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh, Treasurer Sanford Brown and Aud. Gen. Frank S. Szymanski, all returned to office.

The six Democrats will be sworn in on the capitol steps by Chief Justice John R. Dethmers of the Michigan Supreme Court, a Republican.

Helen Berthelot of Detroit, chairman of the inauguration planning group, explains that the public is welcome to attend the event.

Formal invitations being set out, in conformity with political custom, "merely reflect our eagerness to have known and effective party workers recognized."

For the governor and governor-elect, the day will begin at 7 a.m. with services in St. Paul's Episcopal church.

A breakfast will be held in the civic auditorium, two blocks from the capitol, to honor county chairmen.

A short parade will follow, with the inauguration ceremonies due to start at 11 a.m. Military units will be brought to the capitol lawn to fire the traditional 19-gun salute to the governor.

At 2:30 p.m., a round of formal receptions will start in the offices of the governor and others of the elected officers.

The inaugural banquet is set for 6:30 p.m. in the Civic Center. The Inaugural Ball follows at 8:30, with the Gov. and Mrs. Williams leading the Grand March at 10 p.m.

Backs Inflation Curb by Tighter Credit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) today voiced support of government policy for curbing inflation through tighter credit and higher interest rates.

* * *

"I think this policy is probably justified," said Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee.

"Seeking stability is a good thing. Of course, politically it's a difficult thing."

Fulbright's remarks, in an interview, put him at odds with some other Democrats in Congress, including Sen. Humphrey of Minnesota, and Reps. Patman and Teague, both of Texas.

They have been criticizing the "tight money" policy, contending it has had adverse effects on home builders, home buyers, small businessmen and farmers.

The "tight money" policy is attributed chiefly to Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and to the Federal Reserve Board, which is independent of the Eisenhower administration.

New Truck Engineer Appointed at GMC

The promotion of D. J. LaBelle to truck engineer for the GMC Truck & Coach Division was announced today by Chief Engi- C. V. Crockett.

LA BELLE

LaBelle succeeds L. T. Flynn, who has been transferred to the Fleet Sales Dept.

A resident of Huntington Woods, LaBelle joined GMC in 1939. Prior to his new appointment, he was assistant truck engineer in charge of new development.

Prowler Stabbed to Death in Detroit

DETROIT (INS)—A 61-year-old Detroit carpenter, who was ambushed by a prowler in his home Saturday night, stabbed the intruder to death with a nine-inch butcher knife during an ensuing scuffle.

Pedro Guntas was investigating a noise in the upstairs part of the house when the prowler reached out from a doorway and slugged him with a heavy alarm clock.

Guntas grappled with the man, stabbing him repeatedly.

The intruder finally slumped to the floor and Guntas rushed to a neighbor's and called police.

Officers found the man dying. He was identified by papers on his person as Peter McDonald, 22, of Detroit, who was released only Saturday after serving a 10-day term in the Detroit House of Correction for driving with a revoked license. He had no previous record.

Guntas was released after being treated for a lacerated forehead and slashed forearm suffered in the fight.

Suffers Neck Injuries in Two-Car Collision

LeRoy R. White, 43, of 125 S. Airport Rd., suffered neck injuries when his car was struck from behind Saturday on Baldwin avenue at Fairmont, Pontiac police said.

The other driver, Ellis C. Seal, 62, of 251 W. Longfellow Ave., was not injured, police said.

White was treated at Pontiac General Hospital.

Accuse Ex-Con of Bad Checks

Cache Under Linoleum Discovered by Landlady Contains $24,000

LANSING (AP) — Loyal W. Miller, 54-year-old ex-convict, today was accused of possessing $24,000 worth of bogus Christmas Club checks, printed a year ago in the southern Michigan prison print shop.

The cache was uncovered last Wednesday under the linoleum floor covering in a room in which Miller had been living since his release Nov. 21 from a term for carrying concealed weapons.

The prison print shop forgery, involving more than $80,000, was discovered a year ago in a prison shakedown in which some $60,000 worth of the bogus checks were seized.

They bore the name of a nonexistent American Savings Bank of Detroit and an alarm was broadcast at the time. State Police Capt. Edward Johnston said it was believed none of them got into circulation.

Miller was arrested a week ago on a disorderly charge. Then, Johnston said, Miller's landlady called on Wednesday to report she had discovered 120 printed checks under the linoleum flooring.

Miller was charged specifically with possessing 10 or more counterfeit or forged banknotes, and was bound over to Circuit Court at a Municipal Court examination Friday. He is held in Ingham County Jail at Mason in default of $5,000 bail.

Johnston said police are investigating the possibility that a prison employe may be involved in getting the bogus checks out of the prison, but declined any details.

The police captain said Miller told him he had intended to take the checks to Detroit for delivery to a man at a bar, but refused to identify him.

State Police Detective Charles Southworth said authorities had questioned Mrs. Evelyn Ladd of Battle Creek, whom he said was the wife of Clarence W. Ladd, a convict still in prison.

London Welcomes Jazzman

Satchmo to Aid Relief

LONDON (AP) — Louis Armstrong blew into London today to play his famous trumpet for Hungarian relief. The 56-year-old Jazzman, who learned his music in a New Orleans school for waifs, found himself in select company.

At the airport to welcome him was the Hon. Gerald Lascelles, first cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, and the Marquis and Marchioness of Donegal.

"Satchmo," said the Hon. Gerald, "all London welcomes you."

"Thank you, Daddy," said Armstrong. "It was a rough flight over the ocean from New York, but I'd fly anywhere in the world for Sir Cullum Welch, the lord mayor."

* * *

Armstrong will appear at Royal Festival Hall tomorrow night, accompanied by the 100-piece Royal Philharmonic Orchestra, for the Lord Mayor of London's Hungarian relief fund.

Sir Laurence Oliver will introduce the trumpeter and the lord mayor will speak.

Despite the first day of gasoline rationing, a small jazz band and 50 Armstrong fans showed up at the airport to greet Satchmo.

"What's that button in your lapel?" a British reporter asked.

"That's my fraternity button," said Satchmo. "Some college fraternity made me a member."

"College?" asked the puzzled reporter. "I didn't know you ever attended college."

Satchmo, who never went beyond the fifth grade, replied, "Well, sir, I've played at an awful lot of universities."

"What did you take up at college?" persisted the reporter.

"Everything that wasn't nailed down," laughed Armstrong.

Leaders of Unlike Schools Talk at Gettysburg

Ike, Nehru — Men of Great Contrast

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two men who talk today at Gettysburg — President Eisenhower and India's Prime Minister Nehru — come out of worlds so different they might have been in different centuries.

* * *

Both men are natural leaders. Both have tempers. Both go in for platitudes. Both earnestly want peace. That much they have in common.

Eisenhower, a West Pointer trained to use force to preserve freedom, relies heavily on staff work to run the government.

Nehru, an intellectual who helped lead India to freedom through passive resistance, is less than an ideal administrator. He seems to trust himself most.

A good example is the number of jobs he holds: prime minister, foreign minister, defense minister, head of the planning commission and supervisor of the atomic energy program.

Eisenhower came from a family where all the sons had to earn their own way. All his adult life he lived under military discipline.

Nehru, only son of a wealthy father, never had to work. But he created his own personal discipline of passive resistance which he adhered to rigidly, even when jailed and when British troops beat him with sticks.

Eisenhower, an extrovert, loves the outdoors, likes to have close friends around. He is a fairly uncomplicated man who can talk over his problems and his thoughts with his aides.

The introverted Nehru likes people in the mass — according to his biographer Frank Moraes — but is so complicated that he never reveals himself completely even to his most trusted friends.

Eisenhower is head of the strongest nation on earth, and the most modern in its industrial development.

Nehru is head of one of the largest nations on earth — its

Mrs. Murrow to Sub

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Edward R. Murrow will sub for her traveling husband on his Person to Person show Dec. 21. She'll interview fashion model Suzy Parker and actor Don Ameche and his family. Murrow is on his way to Rangoon, Burma, to make a television film.

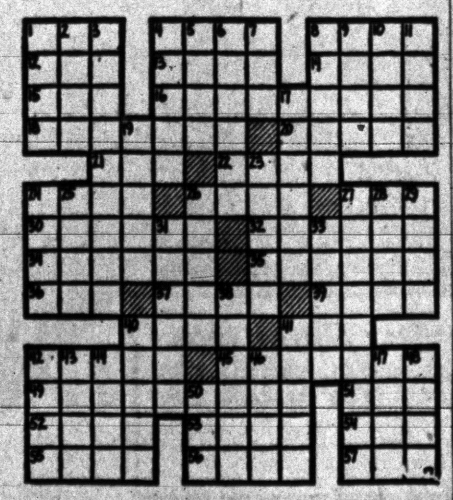

Sentence Is Sentences

WALHALLA, S.C. (AP) — Three frisky teenagers caught climbing the Walhalla water tank got this sentence from recorder's court judge Howard Ballenger:

Write the sentence, "I will not climb the water tank," 1,000 times.

What's in Name? Plenty!

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—What's in a name? Four youths who escaped from a North Carolina prison recently included Charles Hooks and Carl Crooks. Another member of the quartet was Junior Willard Laws.

Networks Rap Picture Makers

Claim 'Package' Deals Threat to Investment in Live Programs

(Editor's Note: How have things been looking on your TV set this year? In the first of two articles, A TV writer sums up how things looked on his.

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — The year now drawing to a close has not been outstanding in television. The fare on the home screen, with notable exceptions, has ranged from mediocre to poor.

The networks say they have been harassed by rising production costs and Federal inquiries into their activities. Production costs may be up, but no network finds its back to the financial wall.

There is one thing, above all, that worries the networks. That is the release of motion pictures, not all of them old, in "packages" to TV stations throughout the country. The viewing public appears to enjoy these movies. What the networks fear from this development is the loss of viewers in prime hours. When a station may decide to run a movie instead of a program in which a network has made a large investment, the network is the loser.

Partially as a result of concern over the competition of movies, the networks have generally sought to follow tried formulas of "sure fire" entertainment this year. What has proved successful in the past would prove successful in the present, they seemed to feel. But the high casualty rate among the fall's new programs is beginning to make them realize there is no "sure fire" formula.

Television is a volatile medium, responding quickly to trends and pressures real and imagined. The entire industry was tremendously impressed by the phenomenal success of "the $64,000 Question" in 1955. Now there are 18 quiz programs of varying complexity currently appearing on the networks in prime viewing hours. No one in television seriously expects them to survive.

As the big original question has been to the spate of new quiz programs, so have the continued success of "I Love Lucy," "Father Knows Best" and "December Bride" been to the plethora of what is unlaughingly referred to as "situation comedies." None of the many new comedy series introduced this fall has been a resounding success; to the contrary, the majority will not be with us a month hence.

In all established programming forms, as with these two, there is more of everything this year. But there is little really new.

Mexico Is Becoming a 'Sunny Souseland'

By EARL WILSON

MEXICO CITY—The altitude's very high in Mexico—but the tourists get pretty high, too.

And now with Americans ducking Europe because of the "erl" shortage, more 'n' more're coming down here to the Sunny Souseland.

Where else can you go to be entertained by the beautiful Dolores Del Rio who, at beyond 50, looks 10 years younger, and is still alluring to guys in their 30s? Miss Del Rio doesn't smoke or drink and has never been to a dentist in her life.

With handsome Jim Reilly, a TV producer, on her arm, Miss Del Rio opened up her home and wooded 5-acre hideaway in Mexico City to Merle Oberon, Cobina Wright, Jacques Bergerac and some of the rest of us whom Dick Merrill flew down for the opening of the new Continental Hilton.

NATALIE

But the young gals got some attention, too . . . especially Linda Darnell, with "Robbie" Robertson, the pilot, who just a year ago was going to marry Jayne Mansfield.

Now Miss Darnell makes no secret of her affection for Robbie and says things like: "I wish I could get him to marry me."

Natalie Wood, who rode Elvis Presley's motorcycle in Memphis not long ago, gave me a quick smooch on the cheek at one of the parties—but young Nicky Hilton was right there, quite attentive.

"Was your visit to Elvis a publicity stunt?" I asked her.

"That's ridiculous!" she flared up prettily. "It just proves how difficult it is to have a friend! Elvis doesn't need publicity—he has talent."

Conrad Hilton divided his attention between Barbara Rush, his first date on the trip; Ann Miller, his favorite dancing partner, and—on a quick hop over to Acapulco—Hillevi Rombin, the Swedish "Miss Universe."

The trip to Ex-President Aleman's big home at Acapulco convinced several of us that being President of Mexico is a pretty good job. Senor Aleman seems to have his own ocean.

One surprise was finding that Milton Reynolds, who once flew a ball-point pen around the world, is a big man in real estate here.

And it was a pleasure finding that Dario Borzani—who introduced Danny Kaye and Danny Thomas to New York—is operating a smart restaurant.

Dario recently won $20,000 on the Mexican lottery playing the numbers 57 which are his age, and his former N. Y. address—57 W. 57th.

"The only trouble is that it cost me a lot of money," he said. "Because I've been playing it every day since."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

The Pentagon assigned an Army liaison officer to the "Sgt. Bilko" show to see that everything's G.I. . . . Rocky Marciano was offered a 400G guarantee to fight Floyd Patterson; he answered, "No, I promised my wife I wouldn't."

The "Fabulous Dorseys" film is being revived on TV . . . Jimmy Durante playfully ruffled a singer's hair during a benefit show, accidently pulled off his toupe . . . Ice skater Shirley Linde of the Roxy show will work at Grossinger's next week.

Sal Mineo showed up at a club with three male companions, explaining, "I'd bring a date here, but the ones I like are too old for me" . . . Frank Sinatra's latest asking price for a film: $150,000 plus a hunk of the profits. The Alan Ladds will spend Christmas in Italy . . . Grace Kelly's baby pictures—never published before—will be in her biography (by Gant Gaither).

Earl's Pearls . . .

If you want a woman to look older, let another woman do the looking.

SHIRLEY

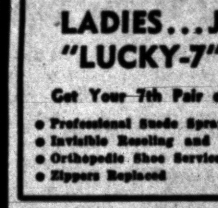

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Middle age is when you can often afford two of everything—including chins."—Woody Allen.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Actor Lou Nova, a former boxer, says he furnished his new apartment with "wall-to-wall canvas."

Nunnally Johnson told of the epitaph he spotted on the grave of a hypochondriac: "See? I TOLD you I was sick!" . . . That's earl, brother.

Sgt. Paul Frederick to Retire Police Post

The pending retirement of Sgt. Paul Frederick, commander of the Romeo State Police Post, was announced today by State Police Headquarters in Lansing.

Frederick will retire on Jan. 12 after completing more than 25 years service with the force.

Enlisting in 1931, Fredericks has also served at the Ypsilanti, Cheboygan, East Lansing, Manistee, Alpena, Gaylord, Flint and Niles posts. He has commanded the Romeo Post since 1948.

Frederick has three meritorious service citations.

Hungarian Physicians Fleeing by Hundreds

CHICAGO (AP)—A crackdown by secret police has caused hundreds of Hungarian physicians to flee their homeland, the American Medical Assn. has been advised.

Dr. M. Arthur Kline, executive secretary of the American Medical Society in Vienna, said in a letter to the AMA:

"Every hour reports are being received in Vienna telling us of the constantly increasing number of doctors who are escaping across the border and applying for refugee status in Austria. The reason for this panic-stricken flight is that the AVO (Hungarian Secret Police) are arresting all doctors in Hungary who have treated injured revolutionaries and who did not report the details, as required by law."

Plant Heat Near Plant to Dedicate Building

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—A sensitive plant presided at the ribbon-cutting ceremony for Los Angeles' new state and county administration building.

The president of the California Arboretum Foundation, Dr. F. W. Kent, placed the heat from a match near a mimosa pudica plant. This plant shrinks from touch, and the heat caused the leaves to recede.

In so doing, they set off an electrical current through a tiny silver wire attached to them. The current split the ribbon and yesterday's dedication was completed.
