Tragedy in Pontiac Township

Pit Cave-In Kills Boy at Play

Nine-Year-Old Is Suffocated Under Sand

Playmates' Cries Fail to Bring Help in Time to Save Youngster

A nine-year-old Pontiac Township boy died of suffocation Sunday when he was buried alive in a sand and gravel pit where he had been playing near his grandfather's home.

Michael Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stephens of 734 Alpeana St., was pronounced dead of suffocation by Oakland County deputy coroner, Dr. Harold F. Stahl of Oxford, after revival attempts failed.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said the boy had been playing with several other youngsters in the area behind the home of his grandfather, James A. Stephens at 2943 Judah Lake Rd., in Orion Township, late yesterday afternoon.

APPARENTLY DUG HOLE

Michael and his friends apparently had dug a hole about four feet deep and Michael evidently jumped into it while his friends were on the other side of the hill, according to deputies.

The hole caved in on him. Ray Woolard of 31 Willard St., who was working nearby heard the children calling for help.

He ran to the scene and began digging. Police said he found the boy under several feet of sand in a sitting position and performed artificial respiration on him for 10 or 15 minutes until deputies, Lake Orion police, and Orion Township firemen arrived.

TO NO AVAIL

Attempts to revive the boy were continued but failed. Parents of the youngsters told deputies they had warned their children previously not to play in the pit area.

U. S. Stresses Allies to Stay in Berlin

Russia Gets Warning: to Be Held Responsible for German Puppets

BERLIN (UPI) — The United States emphasized today that the western powers are in Berlin to stay, and warned Russia that the Kremlin will be held responsible for the activities of its German puppets.

U.S. political adviser Findley Burns set forth the U.S. stand in a note to Soviet headquarters here protesting yesterday's attempt by Red police to kidnap a television cameraman from Berlin's American sector.

The note stressed the right of the Western powers to free movement to and from this Communist-surrounded city.

The American note, text of which was not immediately available, was filed as a result of the border attack by the Reds on Ernest Lechner, 37-year-old West German cameraman for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

It told Russia that the United States will hold the Soviets responsible for acts of East German Communists. It said, in effect, that the Soviets are responsible for the acts of all East German authorities and must control them.

The incident that set off the protest started when three Communist policemen tried to drag Lechner into East Berlin as he was shooting film on the American side of Potsdamer Platz, where the U. S., British and Soviet sectors meet.

CAUTION AT THE POLLS — It was easy to recognize this French voter, but election officials are cautious men. They checked the elector's card of Premier Charles de Gaulle before he cast his vote at his native Colombey polling place yesterday. French voters are choosing a new national assembly.

French Back DeGaulle in First-Round Voting

By GEORGE McARTHUR

PARIS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle, without having lifted a finger in the campaign, won another strong endorsement from the French people in first-round voting Sunday for the new National Assembly.

With many candidates trying to ride De Gaulle's coattails, outright foes of the Premier made the poorest showing.

A strong rightist swing was accompanied by a Communist decline, though the anti-Gaullist Communists were still the strongest single party. Red chieftain Jacques Duclos faced a stiff fight in the runoff next Sunday.

The De Gaulle tide swamped such non-communist foes as former Premier Pierre Mendes-France and Maurice Bourges-Maunoury. Both lost their Assembly seats on the first ballot.

It booked to second rank—after the Communists—a brand new De Gaullist party, the Union for the New Republic (UNR) headed by Information Minister Jacques Soustelle.

This was the clearcut trend, though only 41 of the 465 deputies from mainland France were elected by a majority vote over all opponents. The remainder will be chosen in runoffs next Sunday, when a winner will need only a plurality.

With only 20,944,797 of the 28 million eligible bothering to vote, the Interior Ministry gave this breakdown of the results:

Communists, elected 1 deputy, 3,882,204 popular votes, 18.94 per cent of the vote.

UNR, 8 deputies, 3,603,958 votes, 17.6 per cent.

Socialists, 2 deputies, 3,167,354 votes, 15.5 per cent.

Independents, mostly rightists, 15 deputies, 2,816,176 votes, 13.74 per cent.

The remaining votes were scattered among 14 other parties and groups.

RED PERCENTAGES

The Communists' percentage compared with 25.6 in the last general election of 1956, and the Red popular vote compared with their peak strength of 5½ million votes in 1946. They held 142 seats in the old Assembly.

Projection of the trend could cut the Communists to below 30 seats.

During the next week the rival candidates will be ganging up against the Reds to trim their sails further in next Sunday's runoffs.

De Gaulle lent his name officially to none of the candidates. But with issues few, candidates of all stripes grabbed his coattails as the most attractive thing in sight.

Benefiting most was the empire-minded Soustelle, who helped boost De Gaulle back to power last May during the rightist rebellion in Algeria and narrowly escaped assassination last September.

He called the results "a good augury for the start of the Fifth Republic."

The party of Pierre Poujade, the bookseller who is against almost everything and especially taxes, almost disappeared. After winning 51 seats in the last Assembly, it got less than 1 per cent of the popular vote this time. What the Poujadists lost, the Soustelle forces picked up.

The Socialists made the biggest inroads into the Communist strength. The center parties suffered a squeeze.

The 67 deputies to be elected in Algeria next weekend also will lean strongly to the right.

Wasn't Fooling! Has 18th Baby —Six to Go

DALLAS (AP) — Mrs. Mervin Ramer, 42, told her husband when they got married that she wanted two dozen children.

Saturday her 18th child, a 7-pound, 14-ounce boy, was born at St. Paul's Hospital.

Recalling his wife's statement, Ramer, a machinist, said, "She wasn't kidding. Why, I just laughed when she said it." He said he never made any definite plans about the number.

Telegraph Crash Claims 3rd Life

3 Others on Critical List After Saturday's 3-Car Smashup

A three-car smashup Saturday morning, the worst locally this year, claimed its second and third lives over the weekend. Three of the other four victims are still in critical condition today.

The dead are: Leonard Sokolowski, 41, of 18876 Wakenden St., Redford; his wife, Julia, 38; and Mrs. Fannie Washburn, 74, of Owosso.

Oakland Highway Toll in '58 81

The collision occurred shortly after 9 a.m. Saturday on Telegraph road at Kemper street, less than a mile south of Orchard Lake road, in Bloomfield Township.

Injured were Edward Frazer, 49, of 728 W. Main St., Owosso; his wife Lorraine, 42; and Rose Gewirtz, 62, of 328 Pine St., Chesaning. All were reported in critical condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today.

Mrs. Mollie Kent, 72, of Chesaning, was the only victim not seriously injured. She was treated and released Saturday.

All the victims except the Sokolowskis were in the auto driven by Frazer, which smashed into the Sokolowski car broadside as the latter attempted to cross Telegraph, Bloomfield Township Police said.

A third car, driven by Barbara Ann Buchanan, 24, of 67 Hudson St., struck the Frazer car. Both Frazer and the Buchanan woman were traveling south on Telegraph.

Sokolowski was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Mrs. Washburn died of head injuries at 1:10 p.m. Saturday. Mrs. Sokolowski, one of the drivers, was operated on Saturday in a vain attempt to save her life. She died Sunday morning at 10:45.

She had suffered spine, pelvis and chest injuries.

Township police were assisted by Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies and State Police.

Witnesses said the accident created a traffic jam which had cars backed up bumper-to-bumper for several miles. Damage to two of the three cars was described as "total" by police.

Big Search Goes On for Flint Schoolgirl

FLINT (AP)—A search went on today for a missing schoolgirl as an anxious city wondered about her fate.

All available law enforcement men of Flint and Genesee County as well as Boy Scouts, firemen and volunteers, took part in a hunt for the vanished 7-year-old Adele Wells.

"She's been gone nearly three days," said Lt. Tom Waldron, "and after that much time we're pretty sure this is something worse than a runaway. If she had gone to a friend's house, we'd have her back by now."

Little Adele disappeared while walking the 2½ blocks to school at 11:30 a.m. Friday.

"We're not sure whether she made it to the playground," said Lt. Waldron.

Adele is the daughter of Karl W. Wells, a Flint factory worker. She is a member of a family of nine.

"We combed the area and beat the bushes yesterday—more than 1,000 people going over nine square miles," said Lt. Waldron, "and we didn't find a trace."

The Civil Air Patrol swept over a wide area outside the city in expanding the hunt.

One report from the other children that the girl had been seen being forced into a car by two men remained under examination. Police, however, said they had nothing to substantiate the report.

Human Bones Found in Pit Near Romeo

Two human skeletons found in a Washington Township gravel pit near Romeo were to be sent today to State Police crime laboratories in East Lansing for examination.

Elmer G. Alward of 76900 Garland St., Washington, a trucker, was digging gravel at the pit Saturday when he came across the two skulls about three feet under the surface.

Further probing of the area by Romeo state troopers turned up more bones to go with the skulls.

It hadn't been determined yet how long the skeletons had been there, or the ages or sex of the persons they belonged to, police said. Nothing else was discovered in the grave, according to officers.

The pit is located a quarter of a mile south of Inwood road, about a half mile west of Mound road near the Oakland-Macomb county line.

Indian graves and relics have been found in the same general area.

Auto Inventor Kettering Falls Ill at Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Charles F. Kettering, famed 83-year-old automotive inventor, became ill at his home here today and an inhalator crew was summoned.

The nature of the illness was not determined immediately. An associate said Kettering became "a little ill" last Friday.

Kettering's physician was reported at his side.

Stress Value of Good Business Education

American business leaders of the future must be given an education that will enable them to fully understand their role in the world and to make increasingly tough decisions, planners of Michigan State University Oakland were told Saturday.

In the third of a series of symposiums devoted to planning courses for the new institution, a panel of business leaders and educators indicated that well-educated people are needed to head the big and small businesses of the future.

But they warned against too much specialization in college.

The business-bound college graduate should have an understanding of, rather than specialization in, the many components of business structure and an understanding of basic values in order to make sound decisions, they said.

Qualifications of a good business leader are initiative, leadership, strong will, an intellectually curious and logical mind, and power of analysis, said Theodore V. Houser, chairman of the Board of Directors of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

Both teacher and student, he said, should be well exposed to business rather than devoting themselves to too much detail of business methods.

William H. Coleman, president and director of the Twin Coach Co. of Canton, Ohio, representing small business, said the problem of human relations and "How do I finance my business?" should be emphasized for those who plan to move into smaller companies.

Panelists emphasized that while there are differences in small and large businesses, there are also many similarities because they are

Missing Tug Safe in Canadian Harbor

TOBERMORY, Ont. (AP) — The tug Helen M. B. steamed into this Bruce Penninsula harbor today after being battered by a weekend storm that broke her scow loose and crippled her steering system.

The tug was the object of an air and shore search yesterday when missing for more than 12 hours. Generator trouble had resulted in a lack of radio signals from the tug until late last night.

Harbor Master Sam Creighton of Tobermory, on the tip of the peninsula, said "the crew is fine and everybody's all right."

He said the tug docked in the harbor shortly before 10 a.m. EST. A steam barge had accompanied her as far as Cove Island, separated from the peninsula by the McGregor Channel, and the tug had steamed up the channel under her own power.

Learn About Money in 6 Easy Lessons

Few subjects are more interesting to people than money.

We work for it. We spend it. We try to save it. We never seem to have enough of it.

But the subject isn't as simple as all that.

How does your bank manage to have enough money on hand to cash all the checks presented to it? How does the federal government determine how much should be in circulation?

What about inflation? Deflation? Credit?

The first of six dispatches by UPI writer Clyde H. Farnsworth explaining in everyday terms the mysteries of high finance as they affect our daily lives appears on Page 27 of today's Pontiac Press.

City Awakes to Sparkling White World

Pontiac residents awoke to a world of white this morning and began searching the household busily for packed-away boots and rubbers, following the area's first snow fall of the season early today.

Approximately one inch of snow blanketed the city. The Automobile Club of Michigan reported this morning that the Lower Peninsula's first heavy snow left highways throughout most of the area slippery and snow covered, with the exception of Detroit, Benton Harbor and Niles.

Mostly cloudy with snow flurries and colder is the forecast for tonight. The mercury is expected to drop to a frosty low of 28.

Tomorrow's weather will be partly cloudy with a few snow flurries. The high will be near 34 degrees.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reports that temperatures will average about 5 degrees below the normal 41 high and normal 29 low for the next five days.

Wednesday will be colder, with a warming trend due Friday or Saturday. Precipitation will average about one-half inch. Snow is expected Wednesday and rain or snow is likely for the weekend.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a. m. was 33. At 2 p.m. the thermometer read 37.

Major Air Tie-Up Looms

Eastern Is 2nd Big Line Idled

Thanksgiving Rush in Peril With Further Shutdowns Possible

From Our News Wires

With the Thanksgiving travel rush about to start, a second major airline was struck today. Flight engineers and machinists walked off their jobs at Eastern Airlines.

Trans World Airlines had 200 planes grounded in the fourth day of a strike by 6,700 machinists. American Airlines faced a strike threat by its pilots, with a prospect of an operational shutdown after a walkout deadline at midnight Tuesday.

Lake Central Airlines, a feeder airline, was hit early today by a strike of its 32 stewardesses, the first walkout of stewardesses in airline history.

A spokesman for the Stewardess Union said she expected the line's pilots to refuse to cross the stewardesses' picket lines.

Meanwhile, Capital Airlines resumed limited flights yesterday after a 37-day strike by 2,600 mechanics and other ground personnel.

(Capital will operate all but two of its flights at Flint tomorrow and will offer full service at both Flint and Detroit starting Wednesday.)

The mechanics, members of the International Association of Machinists had demanded a 42-cent hourly wage increase and voted to return to work after agreeing on a 41-cent pay hike. Prior to the walkout, the mechanics' top wage was $2.54 per hour.

The strike by 6,700 machinists against TWA began last Friday, grounding 196 flights which normally carry about 12,000 passengers in the United States and 23 foreign countries. About 20,000 TWA employes were given furloughs without pay for the duration of the strike.

★ ★ ★

Miss Nancy Silverthorn, Indianapolis, master executive chairman of the Stewardess Union, said she had been assured that Lake Central pilots would not cross stewardesses' picket lines. She said if they did the union would file charges with the AFL-CIO seeking ouster of the pilots.

In New York, Eastern Air Lines announced today complete suspension of all flights "in the interests of public safety," because of the strikes by flight engineers and mechanics.

A spokesman for the Engineers International Association said the dispute involved operation of new all-jet passenger planes.

Pilots for American Airlines, which operates from coast-to-coast and into Mexico and Canada, were set to strike at midnight Tuesday in a dispute over wages and changes in working conditions of a new contract.

closely interwoven in day-to-day operations.

Work of the teachers and students in the first classes of MSUO is extremely important and critical, said Dr. Erwin H. Schell, professor emeritus and lecturer at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, because the early classes will set the tone and pace for those following in later years.

For this reason, he said, students and faculty of top quality should be attracted to the new school.

Because of its geographic location, he said, MSUO has a tremendous potential.

Looking to the future, the businessman is going to be increasingly unable to act on hunches, commented George L. Bach, dean of the graduate school of industrial relations at Carnegie Institute of Technology. The businessman must be equipped to make hard-headed analyses in a fast-changing world, he said.

Kierdorf's Hearing Postponed 2 Weeks

Attorneys for Herman Kierdorf today were granted a two-week postponement in the hearing to decide whether the convicted 68-year-old former Teamsters official will receive a second trial for possession of a pistol silencer.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams advanced the hearing date to Dec. 8 at 1:30 after Eric E. Zisman and William F. Dohany requested 14 days in which to gather material to put into their briefs to substantiate their claim that a second trial be granted.

Kierdorf's first trial resulted in a jury finding the former aide to Teamsters President James R. Hoffa guilty of the silencer charge. Judge Adams sentenced the Madison Heights resident to 1 to 5 years in prison Nov. 10, after which Zisman and Dohany moved for the new trial.

Red Silence Follows Heavy Quemoy Fire

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Communist shore batteries lifted their fire today after pounding the Quemoy Islands with the heaviest barrage in nearly three weeks.

The Red guns fell silent on this even-numbered, no-shelling day. The Quemoy garrison reported hundreds of Communist soldiers went back to work on coastal fortifications facing the offshore islands.

Nationalist defense headquarters said the Reds unloaded 1,975 shells on Quemoy and the smaller islands Sunday. This was the heaviest fire since Nov. 5, when the Communists laid down 5,594 rounds.

Return fire by the Nationalist garrison was described as heavy. The Nationalist gunners claimed destruction of seven gun emplacements and one observation post and probable destruction of five guns.

For the first time in recent weeks, the Nationalists reported Red air activity over the offshore islands. Communist aircraft were spotted Sunday on radar screens on the Matsu Islands, 150 miles north of the Quemoys.

Meanwhile, Dr. Hu Shih, Nationalist China's leading scholar, warned of possible new Communist aggression in the Far East while the Western powers are busy with the Berlin crisis. He said in an interview with a Taipei newspaper that the target of a new Red move could be South Korea, Formosa or South Viet Nam.

Hu, Nationalist China's ambassador to the United States during World War II, recalled that the Communists overran the China mainland in 1948 and 1949 while the West was preoccupied with the Berlin blockade.

First State Vote Due in Alaska

Up to 40,000 Expected at Polls Tuesday With Dems Favored

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Between 35,000 and 40,000 residents are expected to brave snow and bitter cold in many parts of this vast territory Tuesday to vote in the first state election.

Democrats are heavily favored in the balloting for two new United States senators, one congressman, governor, secretary of state and 60 members of Alaska's first State Legislature.

There seemed general agreement that E. L. Bartlett, Democraic delegate to Congress for the past 14 years, would win one Senate seat easily. The race between Republican Gov. Mike Stepovich and ex-Gov. Ernest Gruening, a Democrat, appeared close.

If 40,000 votes are cast it will set a record for a general election in this sparsely populated territory, but would be far under the 46,000 who turned out at a summer referendum to approve statehood by a 5-1 margin.

★ ★ ★

The campaign drew big-name political figures from the states. Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Interior Secretary Fred M. Seaton toured the territory for Republicans and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) campaigned for Democrats.

Fire Damages Studios Used for Early Films

FORT LEE, N.J. (AP) — Fort Lee Studios, once frequented by movie greats of half a century ago, were severely damaged Sunday by fire.

Firemen said the blaze caused at least $500,000 damage to theater scenery, some of which went back to the silent film days of Douglas Fairbanks Sr., Fatty Arbuckle William Farnum and Alice Brady.

Originally, the sprawling studio was owned by the Shubert interests. More recently, it has served as a storage warehouse for television and threater scenery.

Cause of the fire has not been determined.

The Yiddish language originated in the Rhineland in the 19th Century from medieval German as spoken by Jews.

A survey of France's top-level business executives shows that more than 72 per cent are college graduates. A similar checkup in the United States among heads of the 500 largest corporations revealed that only 56 per cent were college graduates.

A new survey shows that 93 per cent of West German households own electric irons, 92 per cent have radios, 50 per cent vacuum cleaners, 20 per cent washing machines, 17 per cent refrigerators, 7 per cent television sets, and 2 per cent electric stoves.

What is a father's fondest wish?

First a prayer of thanksgiving for past blessings. Now, a wish for the future.

What will it be?

Simply, perhaps, that his family will never want for the good things of life. That, among other things, they will always have a home of their own and that the children will be able to complete their education. Someday, too, a comfortable retirement for himself and his wife.

Reasonable wishes, every one. But he knows, as does every good provider, that such wishes need help in coming true.

Perhaps you had never thought of your life insurance in quite that way: something that helps make your fondest hopes more than just a wish.

President Emphasizes Colombo Plan Goals

President EISENHOWER's talk before the Colombo Plan nations in Seattle added prestige and emphasis to the first meeting of the group in this country.

More than that, it was a summation of American foreign policy and implied a relatively long term American commitment to assist struggling Southeast Asia to achieve a momentum of economic progress enabling it to go forward in self-reliant growth.

In greeting the ministers of the 18 nations, the President spoke in moving terms:

"In vast stretches of the earth, men awoke today to hunger. They will spend the day in unceasing toil. And as the sun goes down they will still know hunger. They will see suffering in the eyes of their children. Many despair that their labor will ever decently shelter their families or protect them against disease.

"So long as this is so, peace and freedom will be in danger throughout our world. For whenever free men lose hope of progress, liberty will be weakened and the seeds of conflict will be sown."

To meet this need and to combat Communism's appeal President EISENHOWER presented a five point program which, in fact, is the plan we already are carrying out. Five major requirements are needed for economic growth—expanded international trade, technical skills, private investment, normal bankable loans and flexible financing to cover sound projects.

Mr. EISENHOWER suggested greater use of private capital under a favorable climate for investment. He stressed the need of private investors for confidence that their capital will be respected and allowed to work productively.

In its eight years of existence the Colombo Plan has made impressive progress. The U. S. has trained 5,800 specialists, Britain more than 2,000 and various United Nations agencies some 2,800. Contributing member governments and the World Bank have granted or loaned $4 billion. In addition, over $380 million of private capital from the United Kingdom and $40 million from the United States have gone into India alone. All this outflow of aid has resulted in new factories, power plants, roads and increased farm production to better the lives of 700 million Asians.

★ ★ ★

Colombo representatives were impressed by the President's eloquent address and by U. S. intention of continuing to work with them to alleviate hunger, thereby furthering the cause of freedom. "It is this concept of the brotherhood of man," said the President, "which inspires us in the great struggle on which we are launched."

Dusk Is Dangerous Time for Automobilists

Our Voice of the People column just carried a letter from DANNY WILSON which was very valuable.

He pointed out that dusk is one of the most dangerous periods for automobile drivers. Many years ago, Detroit plotted the hours at which accidents occurred to see whether the officials could evolve a pattern.

At first it was confusing.

The most dangerous hour shifted.

Then as the traffic people studied the year as a whole, they discovered the time of greatest incident followed the sun, with twilight heading the 24-hour cycle. In the summer, the most dangerous time was well after the dinner hour and in the winter it was before the evening meal. This merely highlights the important point made by reader Wilson.

Turn your headlights on quickly when night approaches and exercise unusual caution. There is a twilight period when full lights or no lights leave a hazy view ahead. We should all recognize this and take extra precautions accordingly.

FARMERS have made such bumper crops this year it seems they should reciprocate to some extent for past favors by subsidizing the Government.

Christmas Trees

Our County Now Growing the Best on the Market

Tigers: A baseball team that spends the off season looking for a goat.

The local buyers of 1958 Christmas trees will be able to purchase home grown trees that are better than those from any other area. Started from mere seedlings 12 to 15 years ago, thousands of these trees now are ready for cutting.

They generally are well formed and symmetrical, with branches all round of uniform size. This is because they have grown with plenty of room.

None of them is like the one-sided and crooked trees coming from northern hedgerows and second-growth clearings, which now must be cut only from a growth that does not hamper further development.

A pamphlet just issued by Associate Professor of Forestry at Michigan State University, does some panning censure on the growers of Christmas trees here. He says the Canadian trade is entering the Michigan market because they are better merchandisers.

Lee M. James

Our state's output of Christmas trees is about 1,140,000 a year. We send 212,000 to other states, but we import 672,000, principally from Canada.

Now there is no excuse for residents of the Pontiac area buying a Canadian tree or even one from other parts of Michigan. We raise the best Christmas trees in the world right here at home.

Formerly a pastor at Ortonville and at other Methodist churches in the Pontiac area, the Oakland County has not preserved any covered highway bridges (if we ever had any), as far as I can learn. Do you know of any?

David Lawrence Says:

Labor Spent 5 Million on Election

WASHINGTON — At least $5,000,000, it now is estimated, and perhaps many millions more were spent by labor unions in the recent congressional campaign, in which they generally supported the Democratic Party candidates.

LAWRENCE

When final reports are filed, these may show that as much as $10,000,000 — more than the regular organizations of both political parties together collected — was expended throughout the nation by the labor unions, though it may be difficult to get a complete accounting.

The AFL-CIO in preliminary reports has shown an expenditure for congressional candidates of about $1,200,000, but money presumably spent for state candidates has not yet been compiled, though the same effort helps federal candidates simultaneously.

It has been admitted already in the official records at Sacramento that nearly $1,900,000 was spent by the labor unions in California alone.

The federal statutes and many state laws forbid contributions to political campaigns by either corporations or labor unions, but the department of justice here for some unexplained reason has not pressed before grand juries the prosecution of those who are engaged today in what by some current definitions might be called a "massive resistance" to the "law of the land."

A Georgia court has just declared compulsory union membership to be unconstitutional when it includes the use of dues money for political purposes. Over the weekend the oral remarks made by Judge O. L. Long in the superior court at Macon, Ga., have become available. He demolishes the argument that the contributions of labor union members are always "voluntary."

Several union members had complained to the court that their dues were being extorted from them in order to propagate political views to which they objected and to support political candidates to whom they were opposed.

Judge Long's oral opinion from the bench last Friday, as reported in the authorized transcript, says:

"Under the stipulation of facts and the evidence I am compelled to the conclusion that the periodic dues and assessments required of all members of the 15 unions—defendant unions—in order to acquire and retain membership have been, are being and will be used in substantial part for the support of political candidates locally, statewide and for federal offices.

"I find that the dues and assessments are being used and will be used in part to support, propagate and foster ideological and political doctrines to which these plaintiffs do not subscribe.

"I see no way to determine what part of the dues, initiation fees and assessments are used for collective bargaining and what part is used for purposes not germane thereto.

"I, therefore, have reached the conclusion that the prayers of the petition should be granted and that the Railway Labor Act to the extent that it does these things above mentioned should be declared unconstitutional."

If corproations were found to be using stockholders' money for any similar purpose or using their corporate power to coerce individuals to contribute to political campaigns, there certainly would be a howl, but, when national labor unions do it, one wonders how they get away with it.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

And he spake unto them, saying, Return with much riches unto your tents, and with very much cattle, with silver, and with gold, and with brass, and with iron, and with very much raiment: Divide the spoil of your enemies with your brethren. — Joshua 22:8.

Riches without charity are nothing worth. They are a blessing only to him who makes them a blessing to others.—Henry Fielding.

The Country Parson

"If we're to have Christian justice for everybody—we'll have to give up some things we like to think of as 'our rights'."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Exercise, Good Nutrition May Cure the Rheumatiz

In a recent piece about calcium, I said people past 50 who have developed the joint degeneration they have been training for since childhood are quite likely to drift into a vicious circle—first, because they assume that exercise is harmful to one with the rheumatiz (they call it "arthritis"); and second, because they are so intent on trying wonder drugs, funny diets, baths, climates, rubs bakings and other ing to be good for "arthritis" that they can't recognize the truth about the nature, cause, prevention and relief of "Chronic Joint Disability."

DR. BRADY

Only my modesty prevented mention of the fact that I tell the truth about chronic joint disability in the booklet so titled, which is available at 35 cents a copy if you provide me with a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A reasonable amount of daily exercise, equivalent to a brisk walk of from 2 to 6 miles, is essential to maintain good assimilation, utilization and retention of calcium, and therefore tends to retard or prevent development of chronic joint disability.

If the degeneration of joint tissues due to lifelong nutritional deficiency has already progressed far enough to produce aches or pains on movement of the joints, of course it is a little late to prevent the rheumatiz. But if a good daily walk or any equivalent general exercise doesn't give one too much discomfort, it will retard or possibly reverse the degeneration process (regeneration) and cure the rheumatiz. Not in days or weeks, but in months or years.

It is easy for a doctor to say you get all the vitamins and minerals you need from a good, varied, adequate or well balanced diet—if you don't ask him for breakfast, luncheon and dinner menus which will meet your requirements.

In Volumette II, C V D, and Volumette X, Rules for Reducing, and Volumette XVI, The 7 Keys to Vite, of the 23-volume Pocket Cyclopedia of Health, I give breakfast, luncheon and dinner menus for such a corrective, protective, regeneration, rejuvenation or reduction diet. For any volumette send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Offers Sure Way to Interest Man

Girls, scrapbook this case, for Naomi illustrates a surefire method for getting a man interested in you. A bantering tone is to a man, what a flame is to a moth! He keeps coming back for more in the hope of making you become serious. And that uncertainty is what gets him!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Z — 379: Naomi B., aged 22, studied my college textbook while at the university.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, I recently decided to put your ideas to practice," she said, with a happy smile.

"I have always been rather shy about starting conversation with boys, so what I did would have horrified my former introvertive self.

"Last week-end I wanted to visit my parents, who live 150 miles away. My boss learned of my plans and told me he knew a salesman who was driving down that way on Friday afternoon, so suggested I ride with him.

"Well, I hesitated but my boss said he was a nice man, about 28 years of age and unmarried, so I agreed.

"When he called for me at the office at 5 o'clock, I found that he had another man with him, who was also a salesman for a drug company.

"They placed me between them on the front seat and away we went.

BEWARE, RED NAILS

"The drug salesman on my right noticed that I didn't wear red nail polish, so he exclaimed over this fact and called me an aristocrat.

"Since that is a merit on your Tests for Sweethearts, I decided to try some more of your textbook psychology.

"You may remember, Dr. Crane, that you urge girls to adopt a bantering tone of voice so they can be gay and personal in their conversation without revealing their true feelings.

"Well, I decided to take the plunge and sink or swim. Anyway, I figured if things didn't work out right, I could blame your psychology textbook.

"So I thanked the men for their praise but said I'd like to return admiring their even, white teeth. their compliment, for I'd been I told them, in my most bantering voice, that they certainly had very kissable mouths!

"I'll admit I almost died at my own boldness, and my mother would have thought I was insane if she could have heard me.

"But both men instantly asked me what I knew about kissable mouths.

"And I smiled demurely as I said I had read all the toothpaste ads for years.

"With this gay, kidding start to our conversation we got along famously. After an hour or so, the driver suggested we stop for a bite to eat.

"He had picked a cute little roadside restaurant with booths along the walls.

"Since there was room for only two on each side of a table, the men flipped a coin to see who would sit by me.

"Don, the driver, lost and expressed chagrin. But I informed him he should sit directly across from me and then I could appreciate his soulful brown eyes.

"Well, it may sound corny in retrospect, but my bantering remarks went across with a bang.

"Conversation never lagged a bit, and I was swept along with the current so my repartee was better than I had ever imagined it could be.

★ ★ ★

"The trip seemed all too short. They dropped me off at home, but both men insisted I bring them in to meet my parents. And now I have a date with Don for next Saturday.

"Dr. Crane, for gay repartee, that bantering tone is the perfect formula."

And Naomi is quite right. For a girl can tease a boy and offer him the most personal compliments, as in Naomi's reference to Don's kissable mouth, yet she can get away with it — IF, she adopts a bantering tone.

The boys then grow intrigued. For their interest is stimulated. They secretly hope she means what she says but they aren't sure and that uncertainty makes them want to date her again to really find out.

★ ★ ★

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

German Woman Defends Manliness of Americans

As a German-born woman who worked for the American Army as well as for German companies and traveled through 13 countries meeting all kinds of men, I want to state, without being a Presley fan, that American men are not fickle and vain.

★ ★ ★

The fine way most men treat a woman and provide for her is most admirable, considering how little they get in return in many cases. Their way of conducting business is loyal and pleasant and they are easily satisfied. They are informal and not as well dressed as Germans, but they are understanding, unselfish, peace-loving, very congenial and most handsome. Presley's girl friend likes him for these reasons.

★ ★ ★

A German man is excellent company, is head of the house, represents authority and women cater to their companions, making a good home for them. If many American women would not undermine American manhood, fulfilling their responsibilities at home instead of running to clubs, they would know of the good qualities and that American men are tops for marriage. Mama's boys are to be found all over the world. More power to American men.

Two Disagree About Bingo

J. B. wants to make bingo legal. We should abolish all forms of gambling. It brings no good to anyone and causes sorrow and shame in many places. What is there about that silly bingo game that we need? If the person that plays put the same money it costs to play in an envelope, after 10 "games" he would have more in the envelope than as though he had attended.

Della

A letter asks to make bingo legal. Why not? It doesn't hurt anyone as you aren't required to play and those that don't like it can remain away. Those that want to go can have their fun.

'We Never Should Have Let 'Em Vote'

The longer I live the more I think we made a big mistake when we granted women the right to vote. That right should have remained with the men, for after all, a woman just casts a vote like her husband and so it makes twice as much work for the election boards and doesn't change the results.

No lass need stand on her feet for that length of time doing her chores, or sit down at 'em. Not in this era where the majority of households boasts electricity, plus a spouse who's not above running errands for his beloved, like going to the basement for the ironing, driving to the market when he takes the car out for gas, picking up offspring from basketball and maybe even wiping off outside windows in the fall to rest his arms and legs from raking leaves.

Electricity, combined with being married to men who consider women equal, men who see no harm in expressing love by doing little things for her and having children who are almost free from crippling diseases—well, how can any woman consider her life a cross? It's a pleasure. (Most of the time.)

Four Men Rob Gratiot Market

Up to $30,000 Taken in 5-Hour Operation by Experts

DETROIT (AP)—The big Gratiot Central Market was robbed of between $25,000 and $30,000 on the weekend by four armed men using sledgehammers to smash into safes and meat coolers where merchants hid receipts.

★ ★ ★

The burglars, who police said were experts, tied up a night watchman and a porter with rope and wire before going about a leisurely safe-cracking operation that listed five hours.

Eleven safes, 16 meat coolers, and more than two dozen cash registers were looted.

Two of the men apparently hid in the market basement at 9 o'clock closing time Saturday, later opening a door to permit their confederates to enter.

The largest single theft was $6,000 to $7,000 taken from one meat cooler. A $1,300 diamond ring and about $4,000 in cash was ignored.

Individual merchants, as renters of concessions, occupy the big market on Detroit's east side.

Threatening to "blow your heads off," the first two men seized and tied up Jesse Massangille, 44, the watchman, and James Jackson, 50, porter, about 1:30 a.m.

With Massangille's keys, they opened a side door to let in the other pair.

Their walkout came on the fourth day of a strike by Belgian gas and electricity workers. They also ask increased pay. This strike has closed some industries and movie theaters and forced cafes and shops to use candles for illumination.

Woman Held for Hiring Man to Kill

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — A 22-year-old social worker is charged with hiring a man to kill the wife of a state highway patrolman she loved. The man she allegedly hired for $500 turned out to be a police detective.

★ ★ ★

The intended murder was not committed. The highway patrolman was not implicated.

Barbara Ann Massey was released under $1,000 bond after her arrest Saturday. She goes on trial Friday in Mecklenburg County Recorder's Court at Charlotte.

The warrant for her arrest charged that she solicited Charlotte Detective Richard Ruth "to murder one Frances Smith," mother of two children, for $500.

★ ★ ★

Charlotte Solicitor (prosecutor) W. H. Scarborough said the charge is a misdemeanor, carrying a maximum sentence of two years.

Coast Guard Probe of Sinking Ended

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — The Coast Guard board of inquiry investigating last Tuesday's disastrous freighter sinking in Lake Michigan was back in Cleveland today, its work in Michigan apparently concluded.

★ ★ ★

From the Carl D. Bradley's only two survivors, First Mate Elmer Fleming and Watchman Frank Mays, the board got only a repetition of their originally told story of the Bradley's foundering and sinking in a storm with the loss of 33 lives.

★ ★ ★

Fleming and Mays, as witnesses in a weekend hearing here, told of hearing a thud, the Bradley's then breaking apart in her middle, and her sinking.

★ ★ ★

Both crewmen testified there was no advance warning of a disaster.

Fire Spells End of Stove Plant

Flames Complete Job Wreckers Started on Old Detroit Building

DETROIT (AP)—Fire has finished the job begun by wreckers at the old Detroit Michigan Stove Co. plant.

The five-story plant on Detroit's east side near the Detroit River went up in flames yesterday.

Some 150 firemen and 50 pieces of equipment, including the fire boat John Kendall, fought the blaze for about two hours before bringing it under control.

The 100-by-75-foot building was built in 1870 and once housed one oft he city's leading industries.

At times the flames shot as high as 200 feet and threatened the giant U. S. Rubber Co. plant next door.

There was no immediate damage estimate.

The building had been abandoned for several years and was being torn down.

★ ★ ★

Fire officials said the blaze apparently began on a loading dock amid a pile of splintered wood left by the wreckers. They said there was no preliminary evidence of arson but that an investigation would continue.

Car Hits Oxford Tot Playing in Driveway

A two-year-old Oxford girl was injured yesterday afternoon when she was hit by a car pulling out of a driveway.

★ ★ ★

The child, Sherry Evans, was reported in fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today with abrasions to the body.

★ ★ ★

Wanda Imogene Swartz, 35, of 154 Wall St., told police that she saw several children behind the car but thought they were clear of the vehicle when it started to move.

The accident occurred at 154 Wall St.

Walter Camp, who is credited with picking the first All-American football team, played the game at Yale for seven years, from 1876 to 1882. In those days, graduate students were allowed to play too.

Bob Considine Says:

Bulganin Has Served Out His Usefulness

NEW YORK — Poor old Bulgy. Nikolai Bulganin was already a pathetic figure in the jungle of the Kremlin when we saw him just a year ago, though he still carried the title of premier and at diplomatic functions still wore the gold star of the Order of Lenin on the neat lapel of what must have been the only hand-tailored suit in the U.S.S.R.

"We would like to see you," Bill Hearst told Bulganin at a Kremlin reception the night our team of reporters arrived in Moscow.

Bulganin seemed surprised.

"You should see Khrushchev, not me, Bulganin said, in effect. And as it turned out it was probably he, Bulganin, who arranged the memorable three-hour-and-thirty-five-minute talk with the true autocrat of the Soviet Union.

"How would you rate Bulganin?" somebody asked from an audience in San Francisco, on our return. Hearst nodded to me to answer it.

"The Grover Whalen of communism," was all I could think of to say.

It was meant as no reflection of Whalen, of course, but as a concise way of saying that the man was not a ruler, not an equal partner in a colossal operation but a well-groomed facade.

He had stood with Eisenhower, Eden and Faure on the pinnacle of the Summit, with Khrushchev not invited to appear in the group picture—for Khrushchev was simply the rough-hewn Party Chief. But now, looking back on the face and manner of this neat little foxy-grandpa-like Russian, it became more apparent than ever that he was simply serving out his time.

Yet for a time he seemed to be the one imperishable in a calamitous land. He was the center-of-the road fellow in history's vastest intrigue. He could be friend and partner of a diabolical Stalin as easy as he could collaborate with a Khrushchev, who believes there are other and less bloody ways to kill freedom. And could bob to the top of the Red apple barrel, too. Whenever the two traveled, it was noted, they were referred to by headwriters as "B. and K." never "K. and B."

But Bulganin's time was running out. In all probability the crime which caused his downfall was characteristically one of omission rather than commission.

Molotov, Malenkov, Kaganovich and Shepilov must have approached him in the spring of 1957 with their plot to oust (or kill) Khrushchev. It appears now that Bulganin didn't go along with them but neither did he go along against them. His silence has now been punished as pitilessly as if he had given vocal support to the plot-within-the-plot.

He was the softest natured Russian leader of them all. Maybe that was his ultimate affront to the State.

Headline: "Cactus Jack Garner gives up cigars and whisky at 90." Chicken.

Irving Hoffman sends me a note which, in turn, I am submitting to Gen. Douglas MacArthur with a request that he, in turn, feed it into the maw of that little electronic product he represents, the Univac. The note, or proposition, is based on more or less recent U.S. population figures. Take it away Irving Hoffman!:

"There aren't as many people actually working as you may have thought. At least, not according to this survey. The population of the country is 160 million, but there are 62 million over 60, leaving 98 million to do the work. People under 21 total 54 million, which leaves 44 million to do the work.

"Then there are 21 million who are employed by the government, and that leaves 23 million to do the work. Ten million are in the Armed Forces, leaving 13 million to do the work. Deduct 12,800,000, the number in state and city offices, and that leaves 200,000 to do the work. There are 126,000 in hospitals, insane asylums and so forth, and that leaves 74,000 people to do the work.

"But 62,000 of those are bums or others who will not work, so that leaves 12,000 to do the work. Now it may interest you to know that there are 11,998 people in jail, so that leaves just two people to do all the work. And that's you and me, brother, and I'm getting ---- tired of doing everything by myself."

Winner of Bet Returns 2 Missing Paintings

AIX EN PROVENCE, France (AP)—Two missing portraits by Van Dyck showed up neatly wrapped at the Beaux Arts Museum today with a little note saying they had been taken to win a bet.

The two postcard-size old masters, worth $14,000, disappeared Saturday. They were of Dutch painters Van Diepnbeeok and Rickaert. The janitor of the museum found them on the outside ledge of one of the building's windows. The frames were missing.

The note explained that the paintings had been stolen as part of a wager and expressed hope no police action would follow.

Applesauce and Pumpkin Blend in Rich, Spicy Pie

The gay winter season is a time for party food — and party food should be pretty to look at and fun to eat! So here's an idea on pumpkin pies that will help sparkle your holiday entertaining.

Instead of setting out one or two big pies, switch to a whole flock of little ones — perky individual affairs, each one complete in itself. "Conversation pieces," no less.

And when your solo pretties are these special Apple-Kin Pies, they're positively dreamy. Apple-Kin Pies are old time pumpkin pies, cinnamon-y, sugar 'n spice rich, but given a new lightness, a melt-in-the-mouth smoothness and softness. How? With canned apple sauce! Blended through the pumpkin, the apple sauce lifts, lightens and lends its own apple fruitiness.

The little pies are a romp to make, too. Use a pastry mix, if you wish.

Use canned pumpkin, also if you wish, and canned apple sauce. Garnish like mad — it's part of the fun — with cheese wedges, whipped cream, with cherries, candy shot, nuts or combinations of any of these. Then present the pies, spicily delicious, jauntily ready to meet eager forks.

Apple-Kin Pies

2 cups canned or cooked pumpkin
2 cups canned apple sauce
1 cup light brown sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
3 teaspoons cinnamon
2 teaspoons nutmeg
½ teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cloves
3 eggs
1 cup heavy cream
½ cup milk
10 5" unbaked pastry shells

Combine pumpkin, apple sauce, sugar, salt and spices. Beat eggs; add. Scald milk and cream; add slowly, mixing well. Pour into individual 5" pastry shells. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees, 40 minutes, or until inserted knife comes out clean. Cool.

Garnish with whipped cream, candy shot, cheese wedges, or walnut halves — or combinations of these — and serve.

Deep Fry Marinated Ribs

The proper preparation and use of marinades is one of the handiest skills in the art of cookery.

Marinades, which are simply mixtures of oil, vinegar and spices, not only vary and improve flavor, but also are budget-stretchers. Inexpensive cuts of meat can be made more tender and flavorful by the proper marinade, and leftover vegetables can be transformed into delightful dishes.

The secret of any good marinade is the correct proportion of fresh spices and herbs with a base of vinegar and oil. The key to proper blending is in knowing the flavor and aroma of spices.

Basil is good in marinades for vegetables, beef and chicken; bay leaves for all meats and vegetables; celery seed for fish and vegetables; caraway seed for sauerbraten and beef a la mode; cloves for beef, mutton and shrimp; fennel seed for vegetables and fish; garlic for almost any marinade; marjoram for vegetables, pork and lamb.

Mixed pickling spice does things for beef and lamb; onion for almost all marinades; oregano for pork and beef; parsley flakes for all marinades; pepper for all marinades; rosemary for venison and mutton; thyme for lamb, beef, pork, venison and vegetables; tarragon for vegetables.

Your best results will come from using fresh, high quality spices preferably whole. Whole spices provide gradual release of flavors throughout the marinating period and can be easily removed when the marinade is adequately flavored. The flavor of ground spices dissipates more quickly. Whole spices also retain their flavors longer than ground spices in storage. All spices should be stored in a cool, dry place.

Here is an exotically flavored marinated recipe on which to try your skill.

Marinated Spareribs

1 cup vinegar
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon marjoram
2 racks of spareribs, cut into ribs
2 eggs
2 tablespoons flour
¼ cup bread crumbs
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Fat for deep-fat frying

Mix the vinegar, 1 teaspoon of the salt, the pepper, paprika and marjoram in a bowl. Place the spareribs in it and marinate at room temperature for 2 hours, basting frequently. Remove from the marinade and place on a roasting pan. Roast in a 400-degree oven for 10 minutes. Remove and let cool for 20 minutes.

Mix the eggs, flour, bread crumbs, parsley and remaining salt in a bowl. Dip the ribs in the mixture, coating each one well. Heat the fat to 370 degrees in a deep saucepan. Fry the ribs in the fat until brown, about 10 minutes. Drain well. Serve hot. Yield: About six servings.

Sardine Spread Begins Meal

Thanksgiving dinner calls for many special treats, right from the start of the meal. You can put your guests in the holiday mood by serving an appetizer that's festive and fancy, and palate tempting enough to make them eager for the next course, too!

Sardine Spread on crackers with a tomato juice cocktail are just the right partners to start your dinner off with zest and good cheer.

Sardine Spread

1 can (15 oz.) sardines in tomato sauce
2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ small onion, chopped finely
1 cup sour cream

Put sardines with their tomato sauce, bottled lemon juice, salt and onion into bowl. Blend until thoroughly mixed. Then gently mix in sour cream. Chill before serving and spread on round or triangular crackers.

Sprinkle Nuts Over Top of Brownies

This combination of ingredients yields one of the best of brownies. Easy to eat out of hand!

Grace's Brownies

2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate
½ pound (½ cup) butter or margarine
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Melt chocolate and butter together over hot (not boiling) water. Beat eggs with rotary beater (hand or electric) until thick and lemon-colored; gradually beat in sugar, then vanilla, until very thick. Stir in flour and salt until blended; fold in ¾ cup of the walnuts.

Turn into buttered baking pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches); sprinkle with remaining ¼ cup walnuts. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 20 minutes or until top has shiny thin crust; do not overbake.

Cool in pan placed on wire rack for 5 minutes. Run spatula around edges to loosen; cut into squares; remove from pan with spatula; finish cooling on wire rack. Store, when cold, in tightly covered container.

You'll get a cup of flaked tuna fish from a 6½- or 7-ounce can.

Fill Cornucopias With Nut Cream

A dainty cornucopia, made of flaky pie crust and filled to the brim with a delicious coffee-pecan cream . . . it all adds up to a marvelous sweet snack to serve in the afternoon with plenty of strong, freshly brewed coffee.

Coffee Pecan Cornucopias

1 package pie crust mix
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon instant coffee
Few grains salt
½ cup heavy cream
½ cup chopped pecans

Prepare pie crust mix as directed on package. Roll out thin. Cut 8 4-inch squares. Fold over to form cornucopias, turning narrow end in a curve. Stuff wide opening with paper toweling. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown. Remove toweling and cool on rack.

Meanwhile, combine sugar, instant coffee and salt; dissolve in a little of the cream. Add remaining cream. Chill. Whip until stiff. Fold in about 1/3 cup of the chopped pecans. Fill horns with this mixture. Scatter remaining pecan meats on surface of cream.

If you pour boiling water over pecans (in the shell) and let them stand for about half an hour, you'll probably be able to take out the nutmeats whole after cracking.

Use Budget Priced Pork After Turkey Is Gone

It's time for a joyous Thanksgiving! A time for fun and feasting! And a time for thinking of after Thanksgiving meals.

PLAY SAFE—REFRIGERATE — If turkey is the favored meat for Thanksgiving fare, keep it safe for later meals by following these precautions suggested by the Marketing Information Agent. When the meal is over remove all the stuffing from the turkey, put it in a covered dish and refrigerate.

The turkey can be wrapped in foil or some other moisture proof wrap to keep it from drying. The turkey goes into the refrigerator, too. Use it within three days.

If you cannot use the turkey meat within three days, wrap it for freezing and freeze at zero degrees. It will keep up to three months at this temperature.

OTHER MEALS WITH TURKEY — After Thanksgiving, meals can be quite dreary if you serve the same dishes year after year. Creamed turkey, turkey hash and turkey soup are the usual dishes. Why not surprise your family with something different this time?

Crisp waffles under creamed turkey will give texture interest, and a dash of cranberry or cherry sauce will add color and tartness.

For a casserole that is more planned than left-over, use two cups of stuffing as the bottom layer. Complete with ½ cup of mushroom soup, 2 tablespoons milk, 2 cups of cut-up turkey. Top with tomato wedges and bake at 350 degrees for twenty minutes.

Barbecued turkey on buns will make a hit with the children. Turkey dip piled in an attractive bowl will disappear fast when company drops in.

Cookbooks and current magazines are brimming with ideas for using turkey in new ways.

THIS WEEK'S MARKETING — Budget wise shoppers will turn to pork roasts, ground beef and variety meats after Thanksgiving's feast. Pork loins and picnics will be featured in some markets following the holiday.

Some may use three small eggs as an alternate for meat in the menu. Others may serve a half cup of cottage cheese to get the same amount of protein. Still others may serve a steaming pot of baked beans.

It is easy to get color into meals when green and yellow vegetables are added. In the column of fresh green vegetables cabbage is most economical, but you will also find spinach, broccoli and green beans quite reasonably tagged.

Yellow vegetables low in cost are squash and carrots. Sweet potatoes are slightly higher than last month now that they are kiln dried and stored.

Apples and citrus are more economical than most fresh fruits this time of year. Many shoppers use more canned fruits during the cold months.

Citrus fruits are increasing in volume. Since grapefruit is over three-fourths liquid, heaviness is a good indication of juice content. Look for grapefruit that is heavy, firm and smooth-textured with a well-rounded shape.

Little Cooked Rice Goes Far as Dessert

Nice when you have leftover cooked rice you want to use.

Phyl's Custard Rice Pudding

2 eggs
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk (scalded)
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups cooked rice
Fresh or drained canned fruit

Beat eggs in the top of a double boiler just enough to mix yolks and whites; stir in sugar and salt. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly and vigorously as you do so. Cook and stir constantly over very hot (but not boiling) water until thickened and mixture will coat a metal spoon — about 15 or 20 minutes.

Cover (to prevent film from forming on top) and cool; stir in vanilla and rice. Spoon into dessert dishes. At serving time, garnish with fruit. Makes 4 to 6 servings. Note: To scald milk, heat in very heavy saucepan over low heat until bubbles appear around edge.

Veal Hearts Simmer in Mushroom Soup

In preparing veal hearts, here is a recipe worthy of its name, Heart Imperial. Veal hearts are cut into cubes and browned. Minced garlic, chopped onion, paprika, mushroom soup and water are then added.

The mixture is covered tightly and simmerd for 1¼ hours. Frozen green beans are added toward the end of the cooking period. Taste is tops!

Sweetbreads Join Ham in New Casserole

Vegetables and meat all in one!

Sweetbreads With Ham and Peas

1 pair (1 pound) veal sweetbreads (cooked)
½ teaspoon kitchen bouquet
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 tablespoon minced onion
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
Pinch of mace
1 cup milk
1 can (6 ounces) sliced broiled mushrooms
1½ cups diced cooked ham
1 package (10 ounces) frozen green peas (cooked)

Remove membrane and cut out any dark veins from cooked sweetbreads; sprinkle with kitchen bouquet. Melt butter in skillet, add sweetbreads and brown lightly. Arrange sweetbreads in 4 buttered shallow individual baking dishes.

Add onion to butter in skillet; cook lightly. Stir in flour, salt, pepper and mace. Add milk and mushrooms, including liquid in can. Cook and stir constantly until sauce thickens and boils. Remove from heat.

Add ham and pour over and around sweetbreads. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 25 minutes or until hot through. Border with hot cooked peas. Makes 4 large servings.

★ ★ ★

Note: If sweetbreads are frozen, partly thaw before dropping into boiling salted water to cover. Simmer about 15 minutes or until cooked through. Drain; remove membrane with sharp knife or slip off with fingers under cold running water. Drain and refrigerate until used.

Head Lettuce Costs Both More and Less

Like everything else, head lettuce has its ups and downs. Ups are the rising cost of labor. Downs are the cheaper, more efficient ways of packing and cooling the lettuce.

★ ★ ★

It costs about five cents more to deliver a head of lettuce to your store today than it did a dozen years ago relates the Marketing Information Agent. The main reason is that almost everyone who helps along the way is earning higher wages than he did in 1946.

★ ★ ★

On the other hand, lettuce growers have cut their cost of packing and cooling with new ideas and new equipment. So, part of the increasing labor costs are offset by decreasing production costs.

Lettuce is our third most popular vegetable and like everything else, has its ups and downs.

Top Turkey, Stuffing With Fresh Tomatoes

Lucky you, who finds both turkey and stuffing left. Combine the turkey, cut in pieces, with just enough condensed mushroom soup and milk to make a thick sauce. Alternate layers of baked bread stuffing and turkey soup mixture.

★ ★ ★

Over the top of the dish, arrange fresh tomato wedges, petal fashion, brush with melted butter and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until firm, or about 30 minutes.

Nice to Serve Cake Warm

When it comes to entertaining, many homemakers go to great pains to find new and different dessert dishes to prepare for their guests. But, often, the desserts they serve their families lack novelty and originality, since they feel that unusual dishes are too costly and time-consuming for every-day preparation.

You need not deprive your family of unique desserts, however, when recipes like Mock Coconut Cake with Buttercrunch Topping are especially designed to fit family food budgets and busy schedules. Made with corn soya shreds and cake mix, this delicious cake will give a party air to your dinner menu every time you serve it.

Mock Coconut Cake

1 full-sized package white cake mix
1 cup corn soya shreds

Topping

¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup corn soya shreds

Prepare cake batter according to package directions. Fold in Corn Soya. Spread in 13x9-inch pan, greased and floured as directed.

Prepare topping by blending butter and sugar. Stir in corn soya. Sprinkle evenly over cake batter. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 30 minutes. Cut into squares and serve warm or cold. Yield: 12 servings.

The addition of corn syrup to the other ingredients, in making fudge, helps to make the candy creamy.

Dry Beans Need Gentle Cooking, No Stirring

The bean crop this year is one of the largest in several years, the Department of Agriculture reports, and they're classed as one of the Plentiful Foods for November, and the abundance probably will be with us for several months.

"Gently" is a word that appears in a recent leaflet issued by the Department of Agriculture, entitled "Dry Beans in Family Meals."

Beans may seem like rough, tough hombres when you pour them out of the package. And thtey are, so long as they're dry. But the things you do to get them ready to eat makes "softies" of them, and so it pays to be gentle.

Boil them gently. Don't stir them, either. Each bean is a nugget of concentrated food value. You'll keep the flavor and the nourishment if you leave each nugget wrapped in its own natural package. But rapid boiling or vigorous stirring can break the skin and you lose much of what makes beans tasty and nourishing.

Here's a short-cut in soaking that you might like to try. Boil tthree cups of water for each cup of beans. Pour in beans and boil for two minutes. Then set off the burner and allow to soak for an hour. This is equivalent to soaking beans overnight or all day.

If you want to find how deep a cake pan is (to see whether it corresponds to the pan called for in the recipe you are using), measure the inside of the pan.

Lamb Simmers in Onion Soup

Here is a how-to-do-it problem in recipe planning.

The important fact presented to the homemaker in this case is leftover lamb. The solution is the creation of a main dish treat for dinner.

Let's first investigate your pantry or cupboard shelf. A can of condensed onion soup is available. Now this would add a distinctive flavor note to the meat.

What could be added for color effect . . . perhaps you'll find a bottle of chili sauce in the refrigerator ready for use. Now for texture, see if you have any celery or sesame seed. In combination with lamb, maybe the celery seed would be an exciting texture and flavor addition.

★ ★ ★

By combining all these ingredients and adding the meat, your test is ready . . . simply heat through and serve. The final check on this experiment in problem solving is the "OK" seal of approval from the family.

Lamb Quickie

6 slices or 2 to 3 cups cubed, cooked lamb
1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed onion soup
½ teaspoon celery seed
¼ cup prepared chili sauce

Mix onion soup, celery seed, and chili sauce in frying pan. Add lamb. Cover tightly and simmer until thoroughly heated, about 10 minutes. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Tropical Pancakes

For tropical pancakes, substitute reconstituted frozen pineapple-orange juice for the milk in buttermilk pancakes. Top with fluffy honey-butter made by whipping together equal amounts of honey and butter.

Fried Apple Slices Top Gingerbread Squares

Apples are a versatile fruit; so try them sliced with a sprinkling of Brazil nuts as a topping for

Cut cored, but unpeeled, tart apples into thick slices. Fry in butter or margarine until tender but not mushy. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon and chopped with vanilla ice cream.

Shrimp Stock Makes Soup That's Smooth

When you cook shrimp for sandwiches or salads, make a soup from the shrimp stock for a fine go-along.

Creamy Shrimp Soup

1 pound medium-sized shrimp
2¼ cups water
⅛ teaspoon peppercorns
¼ teaspoon whole allspice
2 whole cloves
¼ teaspoon celery seed
1 large bay leaf
1 small onion (peeled and sliced)
Leafy tops from several celery ribs
2½ tablespoons butter or margarine
2½ tablespoons flour
¼ cup heavy cream
¾ teaspoon salt
White pepper
⅛ teaspoon paprika

Wash and drain shrimp; place in 1½-quart saucepan with water, peppercorns, allspice, cloves, celery seed, bay leaf, onion and celery. Simmer 3 minutes (do not boil) or until shrimps are opaque through.

Remove shrimp and shell; return shells to liquid and seasonings in saucepan; simmer (do not boil) about 10 minutes. Put through fine strainer; reserve 2 cups broth.

Melt butter in saucepan over low heat; stir in flour; add the 2 cups shrimp broth. Cook and stir constantly over low heat until thickened. Whisk in cream, salt, pepper to taste and paprika. Reheat but do not boil. Makes 3 servings. (Use cooked shrimp in salad or other dish.)

Bacon Sauce New for Boiled Spuds

This flavor touch gives new interest to potatoes.

Potatoes With Bacon and Tomato

4 strips bacon
½ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons flour
¾ cup beef stock
¾ cup diced tomatoes
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper
6 medium boiled new potatoes
Parsley

Fry bacon until crisp; remove from pan and drain on absorbent paper. Drain off all but 2 tablespooons of the bacon fat. Add onions to fat and saute until limp. Blend in flour. Add beef stock, tomatoes, salt and pepper to taste. Cook and stir until thickened.

★ ★ ★

Pour over boiled new potatoes. Crumble crisp bacon over the top. Garnish with parsley. Makes 6 servings.

CRANBERRY CREAM BAVARIAN — This berry bright dessert served in elegant brandy glasses adds a gay touch to Christmas dinner. Light and refreshing, it combines orange-flavored gelatin, evaporated milk and freshly cooked cranberries. The reserved juice from the berries is poured over the bavarian just before serving to give it added flavor and color. It's really delicious and sure to please both eye and palate.

Pink, Smooth and Delicious

Cranberries add so much color and wonderful flavor to holiday meals — especially cranberry desserts. For instance, this creamy bavarian is not only attractive but delicious after a hearty dinner. It's a delightful combination of orange-flavored gelatin, freshly cooked cranberries and evaporated milk.

You'll find this fluffy pink bavarian easy and quick to make. Simply cook the cranberries as directed in the recipe and set aside while you prepare the gelatin. Dissolve a package of orange-flavored gelatin in a cup of hot water, add orange rind and gradually add the evaporated milk, stirring until well blended.

Place the bowl of gelatin firmly in ice and water and whip until fluffy and thick. Fold in the cooled drained berries and pour into attractive sherbet or brandy glasses and chill until firm.

The pink bavarian flecked with cranberries and topped with the ruby juice from the berries makes a most impressive sight as it comes to the holiday table.

Cranberry Cream Bavarian

2 cups (½ pound) fresh cranberries
1 cup sugar
1 cup cold water
1 package orange-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1 cup evaporated milk

Combine cranberries, sugar, and water in saucepan. Boil rapidly until berries pop open (about 5 minutes). Drain juice from berries. Chill juice and set berries aside to cool.

Dissolve gelatin in HOT water. Add orange rind. Gradually add evaporated milk. Stir until well blended.

Place bowl of gelatin firmly in ice and water. Whip until fluffy and thick. Fold in cooled cranberries. Pour into individual sherbet glasses or brandy glasses. Chill until firm.

Pour chilled berry juice over bavarian before serving. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Note: If desired, add 3 tablespoons of orange liqueur to the chilled berry juice.

Think Your Taste Is Good? Lab Test May Fool You

By MARY PRIME

NEW YORK (UPI)—Our taste buds aren't as reliable as we think.

One session in a consumer test laboratory illustrates that our sense of taste is influenced by many things, from sound to sight.

Recently I took a taste test at Borden's new laboratory, believed to be one of the most complete such labs in the country. My fellow tasters, all amateurs, sat in separate cubicles in a specially designed room, as hushed and dim as a church in mid-week.

Before each taster was a plate with two small squares of jello. The light, filtered red, made both squares appear the same color.

"Taste them both and write down which sample has a lemon flavor," said the home economist conducting the test.

Sounds easy, but without color as a guide, most tasters — including professionals—cannot tell any difference in flavor. Only a few detect a sharper flavor in one sample. Many persons believe the lemon-flavored jello is strawberry, lime or grape.

Colored filters, usually red or yellow, are used for testing foods such as cake, bread, cheese and ice cream, said Mrs. Evelyn Costick, director of the company's test kitchens. If natural light is used, most persons, given a choice of biscuits, for example, will think browner ones taste better.

"Most of our tests do not determine whether the taster likes the product, but rather if he prefers it to another flavor, either ours or a competitor's. We do not replace market research—just find obvious flaws," Mrs. Costick said.

Recently the company asked panelists to rate an ice cream containing chips of the intended flavor. Said one panelist bluntly, "What were those specks?"

About 300 persons, all Borden employes, are on call as tasters. The number participating depends on how many are needed statistically, but the average is from 120 to 150 persons. The only restriction is no smoking for 20 minutes before and during a test. About two batteries of 15-minute tests are held a week.

A soothing atmosphere improves the sense of taste, Mrs. Costick explained. So the lab, which consists of 10 "isolation booths" and a service counter, is carpeted and soundproofed to keep out distracting noises, and is super-air conditioned to keep out other food odors, which dull the taste buds.

Soft music is piped in. Tasters are isolated to prevent them from comparing notes or asking opinions.

Butter Saving Tips

Don't waste butter, make every ounce count. 1) Soften butter slightly before spreading; 2) Save any untouched bits of butter left on plates and use it for cooking purposes; 3) Serve butter in the dish in which it is kept in the refrigerator for the informal family service.

Apricot Bits Go With Cranberry

Tradition says that king turkey deserves a bowl of fresh whole cranberry sauce set gleaming beside his platter. Modern trend says that he also deserves a salad . . . a real fruity salad. Natural mates . . . tart harvest red fresh cranberries and the golden glow of mellow apricots blend in gelatin for a delightful taste and an exciting color.

Feature this salad in your Thanksgiving menu:

Cranberry Apricot Mold

1 (15-oz.) can whole apricots
1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 cups fresh cranberries, ground

Drain apricots and add water to juice to equal 1½ cups. Heat 1 cup of this mixture to boiling and pour over lemon gelatin, sugar and salt in bowl. Stir until dissolved. Add remaining ½ cup of liquid and lemon juice. Chill until mixture starts to thicken.

Pit and dice apricots and add to gelatin mixture with cranberries. Pour into lightly oiled 1-quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce.

Or dice all but 2 apricots. Cut in half, place 4 halves in bottom of mold. Spoon slightly thickened gelatin mixture over apricots. Chill until firm.

Michigan Beans Star in Prize Winning Soup

Who eats the Best Navy Bean Soup in the whole United States Navy?

To find out, Secretary of the Navy Thomas S. Gates Jr. sent an alert from the Pentagon to all ship and shore stations round the world to participate in "Operation Bean Soup" . . . a contest co-sponsored by the Memphis Naval Air Station and the Memphis Commercial Appeal.

From Antarctica, the Formosa Straits, Little America, Peru, Puerto Rico and from air-sea services everywhere came hundreds of navy bean soup recipes. Captains, Commissarymen and Vice Admirals sent their favorite formulas. Mess hall magic knew no bounds. It was anchors aweigh for navy cooks!

The winner? Ship's Cook Charles R. Lambing, CS2 (SS) on the Submarine Trutta (SS-421) of the Atlantic Fleet. Appropriately titled "Bean Bouillabaisse" here's the winning recipe, pared down to family size for you to try on your own skipper and crew. It's easy to make . . . and DELICIOUS!

Bean Bouillabaisse

1½ cups Michigan Navy Beans
4 medium size ham hocks
4 cups water
1 tablespoon MSG
1 large bunch scallions (or 2 large onions chopped)
Garlic Croutons
Dried Parsley
Grated Parmesan Cheese

Soak beans overnight in water to cover. Prepare soup stock by simmering ham hocks in 4 cups of water 2 hours. Drain beans reserving soaking liquid. Add beans and MSG to soup stock and slow boil 2 to 3 hours or 'til beans are tender adding some of the bean soaking liquid from time to time as soup boils down.

★ ★ ★

Add scallions diced into quarters and a handful of green tops cut in ½" lengths and simmer another half hour. Serve piping hot with garlic croutons and a touch of parsley in each individual serving. Sprinkle with grated cheese.

Wrap Dill Pickle in Round Steak

Give round steak that best ever appearance by preparing this unusual named recipe . . . Steak Wraparounds.

Cut 1½ pounds of round steak (sliced about ½ inch thick) into 6 rectangular pieces. Lay half slice of bacon and half slice of dill pickle on each piece. Roll individual pieces and fasten with a toothpick.

Brown in lard or drippings and cook meat slowly for 1 to 1½ hours in a mixture of ¼ cup catchup, ⅓ cup water and 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Even Boys Will Wash

The small fry will feel more inclined to keep spruced up if you provide them with their own shower. The shower head can be installed in your existing shower cabinet at the appropriate height from the floor. For safety's sake, the floor should be of skid-proof ceramic tile. You'll also do well to install a grab bar of the same material.

TRIAL RUN — Mrs. Philip W. Somers of West Colgate tries out the molded salad she will be serving for her Thanksgiving dinner. Four-year-old Nancy watches her closely. There are three other children in the Somers family, all boys. Mr. Somers is the minister of Marimont Baptist church. This is the Somers' first Thanksgiving in Pontiac.

Mrs. Philip Somers Plans Molded Salad

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

As we have done for the past several years, we called upon a local minister's wife to be in our Thanskgiving picture for the Market Basket section. Mrs. Philip W. Somers is new in Pontiac, but she is getting Thanksgiving dinner for 10 or 12 guests.

★ ★ ★

There are four children in the Somers family: Philip Jr., Alan and David have one sister, Nancy. Mr. Somers' mother will be among the guests.

The Somers' menu will follow the traditional pattern:

Roast Turkey with Celery Dressing
Giblet Gravy — Mashed Potatoes
Candied Sweet Potatoes
Green Beans — Baked Squash
Molded Cranberry Salad
Rolls and Butter
Pumpkin Pie with Whipped Cream
Coffee and Milk

Dinner will be served late in the afternoon, around 4 o'clock. This gives Mrs. Somers plenty of time to get her meal ready. She intends to fix the squash and the salad the day before.

Here is Mrs. Somers' salad recipe:

MOLDED CRANBERRY SALAD
By Mrs. Philip W. Somers

2 packages red gelatin
2 cups hot water
1 can whole cranberry sauce
1 cup crushed pineapple, drained
½ cup chopped nuts

Dissolve gelatin in hot water (you may use the drained pineapple juice for part of this liquid). Add rest of ingredients and pour into mold. Chill until set and serve on lettuce.

Start With Canned Gravy

Your pink cheeked family will enjoy a plate of Quick Sauerbraten. It's especially good made with canned beef gravy like this: Brown 1 package frozen minute steaks and 1 small onion, thinly sliced in 2 tablespoons butter until steaks can be pulled apart and onions are just tender. Add 1 can (10¾ ounces) beef gravy, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 6 gingersnaps (crumbled), and ¼ teaspoon salt. Simmer, stirring now and then, until sauce is thickened. Makes 4 servings.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Porterhouse Steak.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. This steak is the largest in the short loin section and has the distinction of having the largest tenderloin muscle of any steak. Other muscles shown are the top loin and a small portion of the flank.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. The porterhouse steak is usually broiled. A 1-inch thick steak will require 10 to 12 minutes per side for rare and 12 to 14 minutes per side for medium-done.

Wee Cupcakes Are Treat on Tea Table

These miniature cupcakes will be delightful to serve at a tea party. They're sweet and nutty.

Pecan Miniatures

2 eggs
½ cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar
½ cup (unsifted) self-rising cake flour
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup coarsely broken pecans

With rotary beater (hand or electric) beat eggs rapidly until thick and pale yellow colored. Gradually beat in sugar making sure there are no lumps.

Dump flour into a small sifter or fine strainer; sift in gradually, folding in as you do so. Fold in vanilla and pecans.

Fill small buttered cupcake pans half full; bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 10 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Remove at once with spatula to wire racks to cool. Frost tops if desired.

If muffin-pan wells each hold 2 tablespoons, there will be about 2½ dozen of the little cakes.

Note: If self-rising cake flour is not available, sift together ½ cup regular cake flour with ½ teaspoon baking powder and ¼ teaspoon salt and use.

New Touch Given Breakfast Waffles

Spicy Waffles With Raisin Sauce

1 cup milk
2 tablespoons light or dark molasses
1 egg
3 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted)
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup pancake mix
1 cup maple-blended syrup
¼ cup raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained)

Place milk, molasses, egg and melted butter in a deep bowl; add cinnamon and pancake mix. Beat with rotary beater (hand or electric) until fairly smooth. Bake on hot waffle iron until steaming stops.

Meanwhile heat syrup and raisins together. Serve waffles with butter and raisin sauce. The number of waffles made will depend on size of iron.

Three Ways to Test Cake

There are three ways of knowing whether a cake is well baked. The top surface should spring back without leaving a dent, after being touched lightly. The cake should pull slightly away from the sides of the pan. A cake tester, inserted in the center, should come out clean.

Canned Mushrooms Make Turkey Dressing Tops

Turkey, two roast chickens, or two ducklings for Thanksgiving dinner—this dressing will be suitable, savory and very, very attractive. An added advantage—it's easy to prepare. A package of precooked rice—of herb seasoned stuffing—a can of chopped broiled mushrooms, shredded carrots for color and flavor—your stuffing will be a conversation piece.

Savory Stuffing

1 cup rice
⅔ cup water
1 teaspoon onion flakes
1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet
¼ lb. butter
3 ounce can chopped broiled mushrooms
8 ounce package herb seasoned stuffing
2 cups raw shredded carrots

Cook rice according to package directions. In a small skillet heat together water, onion flakes, kitchen bouquet, butter and broiled mushrooms including broth until butter is melted. Empty herb seasoned stuffing into liquid tossing lightly with two forks until stuffing is thoroughly moistened. Transfer to two quart mixing bowl, lightly stir in carrots and cooked rice.

Makes 8 cups stuffing, enough for a 10-12 lb. turkey, two 5 lb. chickens, two 4-5 lb. Long Island Ducklings—all ready-to-cook weight. With these amounts you will have enough to serve eight guests.

To stuff your Thanksgiving bird spoon stuffing lightly into cavity then close opening with poultry pins and lace shut with white twine.

To glaze for a beautiful rich brown appearance for your turkey or chicken, 1 hour before it's done brush with a glaze made from ¼ cup hydrogenated fat and 2 teaspoons kitchen bouquet well blended. For duckling 30 minutes before serving brush with a glaze made by blending together 4 tablespoons honey and 2 teaspoons kitchen bouquet.

Freeze Cranberries Now for Sauce in Future

It's a cinch to freeze your own cranberries. Simply place the unopened box of fresh berries in the freezing unit. When ready to cook, use the berries either frozen or defrosted.

To one pound (4 cups) of cranberries, add 2 cups sugar and 2 cups cold water. Boil rapidly until berries pop—about 5 minutes—and cool right in the saucepan. Makes about 1½ quarts sauce.

PETIT CAFE — For those who don't serve cocktails before dinner, Petit Cafe is the perfect answer. On Thanksgiving Day, serve pre-dinner demitasse coffee along with delicious canapes. Here's a sociable idea for the whole holiday season!

Petit Cafe Fills Hour Before Holiday Dinner

The pre-dinner festivities on Thanksgiving Day can be almost as much fun as the big feast itself. For those who don't serve cocktails, there's a marvelous way to fill that sociable hour-before-dinner with light refreshment. In French, it's called Petit Cafe — which means hot, black coffee in your daintiest demitasse cups. Your guests will love the idea, for the goodly brew not only stimulates appetites, but lively conversation as well.

You'll want something to serve with Petit Cafe — perhaps in lieu of an appetizer at dinner. Along with crisp carrot curls and celery, why not serve simple homemade hors d'oeuvres? Pickled Mushrooms and hot Cheddar Ha' Pennies are just right for the occasion.

The mushrooms require little preparation; they're marinated for twenty-four hours and served cold on cocktail picks. The Ha' Pennies are tangy cheese wafers, served hot and crumbly, a perfect complement to the coffee.

To make American-style demitasse, use your favorite coffee pot with half again as much coffee as usual to the regular amount of water. Once you've served Petit Cafe before dinner, you'll make it a tradition during the holiday season. Just be sure to make the coffee very strong and — don't forget — you'll want plenty more when the feast is over!

Pickled Mushrooms

2 cans (6 oz. each) broiled mushroom crowns
½ cup tarragon vinegar
½ cup dark brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon peppercorns
1 bay leaf
1 garlic clove, slivered

Drain mushrooms, saving broth. Combine ½ cup broth with remaining ingredients in small saucepan. Bring to a boil, stirring until sugar dissolves. Pour over mushrooms. Cover tightly and chill for at least 24 hours. Drain. Serve with cocktail picks.

★ ★ ★

Cheddar Ha' Pennies

½ cup butter or margarine
½ lb. sharp cheddar cheese, grated
1 cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons dry onion soup mix, finely crushed

Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Shape into rolls about 1 inch in diameter. Wrap in foil and freeze. When ready to bake, slice crosswise ⅛-inch thick. Bake in moderate oven, 375 degrees, about 10 minutes or until golden brown. Serve hot. Makes about 6½ dozen.

Colorful Jam Is Ideal With Meat

It's so easy to open a jar of marmalade to serve with meat for a family or company meal. Serve it with fresh roast ham or pork loin; for serving with these meats, spoon a circle of the marmalade around a bowl of freshly-made applesauce. It's a delightful combination.

Or fill the cavities of pear halves with the cranberry marmalade for good taste and color contrast and use as a garnish for pork chops.

The pears may be fresh ones that are broiled, skillet-cooked in a light syrup or oven-baked; or they may be heated canned pear halves. In either case be sure to add lemon juice and grated lemon rind to the pears because they benefit greatly from both.

Cranberry Marmalade

1 orange
1 lemon
4 cups (1 pound) fresh cranberries
2½ cups sugar
2 cups water
1 cinnamon stick
6 whole cloves

Wash orange and lemon; cut into halves or quarters; discard seeds. With a very sharp knife slice wafer-thin; reserve.

Mix cranberries, sugar and water in a large saucepan or kettle; stir over moderate heat until sugar dissolves; bring rapidly to a boil. Continue to cook rapidly until cranberries' skins pop open — about 5 to 8 minutes.

Stir in reserved sliced orange and lemon, cinnamon and cloves. Reduce heat and simmer, stirring often, until thickened—about 10 minutes.

Skim off foam as it rises. Pour into hot sterilized jars; seal at once. Makes about 1½ quarts.

Apple Ways Are New, Varied

Apples are making history this year — the second largest crop in two decades and the largest since 1949.

Other plentifuls for November include poultry, pork, medium and small eggs, potatoes, cabbage and cranberries.

Here are some apple suggestions:

New England Baked Applesauce

Peel and quarter apples; place in a bean pot or casserole in layers. Sprinkle each layer with sugar mixed with cinnamon, nutmeg and salt. Cover with apple cider. Cover and bake until fruit is tender, but has not lost its shape.

Jersey Apple Pie

Peel and core medium baking apples; place in an unbaked pie shell. Tuck sliced apples into the spaces between whole apples. Fill centers of apples with brown sugar mixed to crumb consistency with butter, flour and cinnamon. Sprinkle some of the crumbs over the top. Bake.

★ ★ ★

Apple Pudding

Alternate in a casserole layers of peeled sliced apples, crushed graham crackers mixed with sugar, nutmeg, salt and melted butter. Bake. Serve with lemon sauce.

Which Way Will You Fix Leftover Turkey?

By JANET ODEL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Of course, you'll have leftover turkey after Thursday's meal. Turkey is so inexpensive this year that you will probably buy a big one and plan to eat it several days. What are you going to do with it besides have turkey sandwiches?

As soon as your dinner is over, take all the dressing out of the turkey and store it separately. Cover the turkey lightly with foil or waxed paper and refrigerate it immediately.

You may take all the meat off the bones and freeze it for future use. Putting it up in meal-size packages is an efficient way to keep it. Then you can take out just the amount you need.

Turkey Curry in croustades makes a delightful luncheon dish. Croustades are little buttery toast cups, very easy to make.

Turkey Curry in Croustades

1-pound loaf day-old enriched bread, unsliced
⅓ cup soft butter or margarine

Remove end crusts of bread. Slice bread 1½ inches thick. Cut off crusts. Remove center crumb, leaving walls and bottom about ½ inch thick. Spread with soft butter or margarine. Toast in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 10 minutes, or until golden brown. Fill with Turkey Curry.

Turkey Curry

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons enriched flour
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon curry
1 cup milk
1 cup chicken broth (1 chicken bouillon cube dissolved in 1 cup boiling water)
2 cups finely chopped cooked turkey
½ cup mushrooms (3¼-ounce can)

Melt butter in saucepan. Add onion and fry until partially cooked. Add flour and seasonings, stirring until well blended. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Gradually stir in chicken broth. Stir turkey and mushrooms into sauce. Cook 5 minutes longer. Makes about 4 servings.

The following recipe comes from Mexico. Although it calls for a small whole turkey, there is no reason why the sauce shouldn't be used with turkey pieces. Try a Mexican grocery for the ingredients.

Turkey in Green Mole Sauce

1 cooked small turkey, disjointed
1 (10 oz.) can tomatillo, drained
½ cup pumpkin seeds or Pepitas
¼ cup blanched almonds
1 can peeled green chiles
⅓ cup minced parsley
2 cups rich chicken broth
Salt to taste
¼ cup oil

Put tomatillo, pumpkin seeds, almonds, and chiles through blender or fine blade of food grinder. Mix broth with ground mixture, add salt and simmer in hot oil for 10 minutes. Then add turkey, cook 10 minutes longer, add parsley and cook 5 minutes longer before serving.

★ ★ ★

A casserole dish with 2 cups of leftover turkey makes use of Chinese noodles. Their crunchiness adds texture to the dish. Serve with a tossed salad and a fruit dessert.

Turkey-Almond Bake

1 can condensed cream of celery soup
¼ cup evaporated milk
2 cups diced turkey
½ cup blanched almonds
½ cup minced celery
1 small onion, minced (about 2 tablespoons)
¼ teaspoon worcestershire sauce
1 can (about 3¾-oz.) Chinese noodles

Blend condensed soup and milk; combine with turkey, almonds, celery, onion and worcestershire sauce. Sprinkle half the noodles in bottom of 1½-quart baking dish. Spoon chicken mixture over noodles; top with remaining noodles. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 to 35 minutes, or until bubbling hot. Yield. 4 servings.

★ ★ ★

Hot Bacon Rolls Enfold Savory Egg Liver Paste

The English call them "savories" and that's what these little appetizers are. Combine finely chopped cooked chicken liver with mashed hard-cooked egg, some finely grated onion, salt and pepper and enough chicken fat or butter and fresh lemon juice to bind it together.

Spread mixture on strips of bacon. Roll and fasten with toothpicks. Grill rolls until crisp. Serve piping hot.

Meat in Scalloped Corn

During the winter months when roasts are an integral part of your menu plans, keep this suggestion handy to incorporate leftover meats into second-day dishes. Add one cup chopped or ground leftover beef to a scalloped corn mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes.

Nutty Cracked Wheat Served With Lamb

Excellent accompaniment for lamb.

Special Cracked Wheat

1 cup cracked wheat
½ cup currants
½ cup pine nuts (pignolias)

Cook cracked wheat according to package directions; or if bought loose, cook as you would converted-type rice, adding more liquid and cooking a lnger length of time if it is the coarse type. Meanwhile wash currants in boiling water and drain. Drain any liquid and cooking a longer length mix in currants and pine nuts with a fork. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Golden Honey Sauce

Rich autumn tones are brought out with this very special Harvest Sundae made with golden honey. Combine ⅓ cup of brown sugar, ⅔ cup of honey and 3 tablespoons melted margarine or butter. Heat until sugar is dissolved. Pour over scoops of vanilla ice cream topped with browned pecans or chopped almonds.

You'll need to heat a room-temperature half ham that is fully cooked from 10 to 15 minutes per pound.

Precooked Rice Hurries Dinner

When you serve "Olive Spanish Rice," count on the whole family flocking home for dinner.

This "so good and good for you" dish will have many lovers. The cook will love it, too . . . it lets her work or play right up to minutes before meal time because it practically makes itself. All you do is brown packaged pre-cooked rice, onion, and green pepper. Then for five minutes allow it to simmer in a spicy tomato sauce and just before serving mix into it some tangy green olives — or ripe olives.

Try "Olive Spanish Rice" with hamburgers or chops or anything that can be quickly broiled in the same short time it takes to prepare.

Of course, remember the "no work-no time" secret is in the packaged pre-cooked rice. With this rice, there's no cooking; that's been done before you buy it.

Olive Spanish Rice

¼ cup bacon drippings or butter
1 medium onion, thinly sliced, (about ½ cup)
½ medium green pepper, diced, (about ½ cup)
1½ cups (4⅝ ounce box) packaged pre-cooked rice
1½ cups hot water
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
½ teaspoon prepared mustard (optional)
½ cup sliced green or ripe olives

Melt fat in saucepan or skillet. Add onion, green pepper, and rice. Cook and stir over high heat until lightly browned. Add remaining ingredients, except olives. Mix well. Bring quickly to a boil, reduce heat, and simmer, uncovered, for 5 minutes. Stir in olives. Makes 4 servings.

Sliced Brazil Nuts Glamorize Beans

Who says you can't give a vegetable an extra fillip?

Special Green Beans

1 pound snap beans
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup sliced Brazil nuts
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Cut ends from beans and wash thoroughly in cold water; drain. Cut beans into long narrow strips. Cook rapidly in a small amount of boiling salted water until just tender-crisp; cover saucepan but lift cover a few times to help keep beans green. Drain off any liquid in pan.

Meanwhile, melt butter over low heat in small skillet. Add nuts and cook slowly 5 minutes or until butter is slightly brown; stir often. Stir in lemon juice. Pour over hot drained cooked beans. Makes 6 servings.

New Suggestions for Serving Old Favorites

The fruit and vegetable stalls of your market are brilliant and promising with fresh ideas for an old-fashioned Thanksgiving. Here are some suggestions:

Squash Viennese Style. Cut unpeeled squash in thin noodle-like strips. Sprinkle with salt and let stand while preparing the sauce. Make a sauce of butter, flour, onion, parsley, ground dill, stock and a little vinegar. Add squash and cook slowly until tender. Add sour cream just before removing from heat.

Cauliflower and Tomato Casserole. Cook cauliflower flowerettes. Arrange in layers in a casserole with sliced tomatoes, chopped onion, grated cheese and bread crumbs. Use cauliflower as bottom layer with sliced tomatoes topped with bread crumbs as top layer. Bake.

Baker Butternut Squash. Peel squash and cut into 1-inch crosswise slices. Place in a baking pan and sprinkle with salt, black pepper, and brown sugar and dot with butter. Bake.

Turnips, Finnish Style. Mash cooked turnips or rutabagas. Season with butter, salt, sugar and black pepper. Mix with bread crumbs and beaten egg and bake in a casserole.

Spinach Lends Color to Rich Potato Soup

No trouble at all to make this soup and it is utterly delicious.

Green Potato Soup

2 cans (each 10¼ ounces) frozen condensed cream of potato soup
2 cans (each 13⅓ ounces) clear chicken broth
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach
½ cup heavy cream
Freshly-ground pepper

Put the potato soup, just as it comes frozen from the can, the chicken broth (undiluted) and the frozen spinach in a saucepan. Cover and heat slowly until the spinach is thawed; turn over the block of spinach a few times so it will cook evenly. Simmer a few minutes; stir in cream and reheat. Add freshly-ground pepper to taste. Makes 6 servings.

Hot Spiced Pear Dessert

Hot spiced pears and doughnuts combine to make a delicious cold weather dessert. Drain juice from a No. 2½ can of Bartlett pears, add ¼ cup vinegar, 1 stick cinnamon and 8 whole cloves. Bring to a boil and simmer for about 3 minutes. Add pear halves and simmer until pears are thoroughly heated through. Serve hot with fresh doughnuts.

Small Amount of Marmalade Changes Cooky

There's a surprise ingredient in these Toll-House type cookies.

Seville Cookies

¾ cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
¼ teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup Seville-orange marmalade
½ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces (roughly chopped)
¼ cup chopped walnuts (about the size of the chopped chocolate)

Sift together the flour, baking soda and salt. Beat egg until thick and lemon-colored. Without washing beater (if using electric mixer) cream butter, brown sugar and vanilla. Beat in egg.

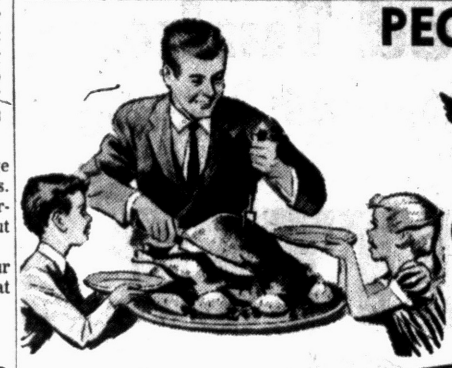

Stir in sifted dry ingredients, marmalade, chocolate and walnuts. Drop rounded (not heaping) teaspoonfuls of the mixture a couple of inches apart onto well-greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) until browned around edges — about 7 minutes.

Let stand on pan about 1 minute, just until edges won't shrink. Then remove to wire racks by lifting cookie edge with sharp tip of spatula and sliding spatula under cookie. If cookies get crisp before removal, replace in oven for a few seconds to soften. Makes 3½ to 4 dozen.

Braunschweiger Is Base for Different Spread

The approaching holiday season will undoubtedly mean some entertainment in many homes. If in need of a party spread as a before-dinner appetizer, try this nippy combination.

Mix together 1 pound Braunschweiger sausage, 3 tablespoons mayonnaise, 3 tablespoons grated onion, 1 hard-cooked egg which has been chopped fine, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard and ¼ teaspoon salt. Shape into a ball and chill in the refrigerator for several hours. Before serving, allow to stand at room temperature 15 minutes for proper spreading consistency.

Canada Works Underseas Mine

Biggest, Most Historic Workings Situated on Cape Breton Island

WASHINGTON — In Canada's maritime province of Nova Scotia, men go down to the sea to mine coal.

An inscribed cairn at Port Morien, on Cape Breton Island, marks "the remains of the first regular coal mining operations in America, established by the French in 1720. From the modest beginnings of those early days this industry has become one of national and imperial importance."

The recent mine disaster occurred in the interior of the Nova Scotia peninsula, but the most historic and extensive mines lie on its adjoining island, Cape Breton.

Seams such as Hub, Harbor, and Black Pit dip seaward at relatively low angles beneath the Atlantic Ocean. The deepest extend three or four miles from the shoreline.

Though some 400 feet of rock separate miners from the surging waters above them, undersea mining has given rise to macabre stories.

"Miners say they sometimes hear the clunk of anchors and rattle of chains on the ocean bed above," a mine inspector at Glace Bay wryly told a writer from an American magazine.

"Once a colliery superintendent phoned down that a small freighter was sinking in the bay. He asked the men to listen close to hear the vessel strike bottom, so salvagers would know where to dive."

In early days coal was plainly visible in Cape Breton's cliffs.

Any passer-by who needed coal simply got a crowbar and helped himself. The bounty ended when French Governor Nicholas Denys beguiled Louis XIV into giving him exclusive rights to all local minerals. He paid one-tenth royalty.

As the tides of international fortune washed across Nova Scotia, which passed back and forth from French to British hands, so changed the rights and concessions to the coal.

In 1826 Britain's King George IV bestowed the mines upon his brother, the Duke of York, who promptly committed them to his chief creditor, a firm of jewelers. They formed a mining company which first opened up the submarine mines.

With Nova Scotia's establishment of popular government in 1848, outside ownership of the mines became a matter of some concern. Finally Nova Scotia sent a delegation to Britain. It succeeded in getting the mining industry returned to local control.

Ever since, mining has been a mainstay of Nova Scotia's economy, with farming, fishing and forestry.

CAPSULE BIRTHDAY GREETINGS—Rather than a cake with candles, fellow workers of Martin Karcher's thought it would be more appropriate to present him with one spelling out birthday greetings with 80 vitamin capsules, one for each year of his life. Karcher, who has been practicing pharmacy for 58 years, is celebrating his 80th birthday today.

Top-Notch Pharmacist Still Enjoys Work at 80

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — One might say that "life begins at 80" for Martin T. Karcher, White Lake Township pharmacist.

Probably Michigan's oldest practicing pharmacist, the spry, white-haired gentleman who became 80 years old today, has been assured of a life-time job at the White Lake Pharmacy on M59 at Duck Lake road.

Karcher figured when he reached 80 — after 58 consecutive years as a registered pharmacist — it would be time to retire. Harry Porter, owner of the drug store, had other ideas.

Still rated one of the top men in his field by the Michigan State Pharmacutical Assn., Karcher is at home among his medicine bottles and enjoys filling prescriptions.

One of the early Ferris Institute graduates, Karcher studies current pharmacy books to keep up with the latest advances in modern medicines. There isn't a sign or marking on a perscription that he can't fill — "if the doctors would just write a little plainer," Karcher added.

Everyone in the township knows and loves the tall graying man, and children swam into the drug store after school for candy, given with sage advice on kiddie problems.

To Karcher, drug stores are just not what they use to be. "In the old days, a drug store sold drugs, and that was all, except maybe some hard-rock candy and sarsaparilla," he explained.

Nowadays, a person can get anything from high-powered tools, clothing and dishes, to jewelry, plants and furniture. And they call this a drug store," he said.

When he was 67, Karcher decided to sell his drug store in Thompsonville — after 37 years of operation — retire and come downstate to live near his son, Martin Jr. at 6515 Alden Dr.

After a period of idleness the energetic pharmacist's curiosity of how to mix the "new-fangled concoctions" got the better of him, he said, and he applied for a pharmacist's position.

He was swamped with offers, and for the last 13 years has worked in drug stores in Milford, Clarkston, Waterford, Drayton Plains, Commerce, Union Lake and Pontiac.

A big gold certificate for 50 years of service was awarded him eight years ago by the Pharmacist's Assn., and is one of the prized treasures displayed in the White Lake pharmacy.

Always interested in outdoor sports, this is the first year that the amazing 80-year-old gentleman has missed going hunting. "It just wasn't cold enough to hunt deer this year," Karcher complained.

Amputees Are Rehabilitated at St. Joseph Hospital Clinic

By PETE LOCHBILER

From hospital bed to back on the job.

That's the aim which the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital amputee clinic has for its patients.

The clinic, housed and staffed by the hospital, offers more than just medical service, and that's what makes it unusual.

"We're one of the first in Michigan, outside of Detroit," said Dr. Frederick B. House, hospital consultant in physical medicine and rehabilitation.

Providing service for about 50 patients since it got under way in March, the clinic is described by Dr. House as comprehensive and cooperative.

"It is comprehensive in that it offers rehabilitation in the form of medical, psycho-social and vocational services.

"And it is a cooperative venture between doctors, physical therapists, prosthetists (limb-makers) and social agencies."

Behind the clinic lies the idea that an amputee needs more than just medical attention.

He may have mental and emotional problems developing from the amputation and probably needs vocational rehabilitation to get back on the job.

The clinic, comprised of staff doctors appointed by the chief of staff, reviews every amputation case and makes its recommendations available to the doctor in charge.

In some instances, the clinic's work begins even before the amputation takes place, with the patient exercising to get muscles in shape for an artificial limb.

After the amputation, the clinic continues to help with exercising and the fitting of what is called an allignment gig, the device from which the artificial limb is designed.

While exercises and fittings go on, psychiatrists and social workers are available if their services are needed.

★ ★ ★

The Office of Vocational Rehabilitation and other agencies are consulted with an eye to helping the patient back to his old job or a new one. The Michigan Crippled Children's Society helps out with persons 21 years of age or younger.

Physical therapy and fittings are under the direction of A. C. Durando, chief physical therapist, who also aids patients in the use of their new limbs.

While the clinic staff meets once a month, patients visit the clinic several times a week, if necessary.

★ ★ ★

"We feel this plan greatly speeds recovery of amputees and returns them to an active, useful life in a much shorter period of time," said Dr. House.

Pontiac Press Photo

WILL WALK AGAIN — Mrs. Joseph Bonfiglio, 347 Central Ave., Pontiac, a patient at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital amputee clinic, is being fitted for an artificial leg by A. C. Durando, the clinic's chief physical therapist. She is one of about 50 patients who have been treated by the clinic since it opened last March.

The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. G. Kenifeck of Waterford and Danes Kenifeck of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Rev. Arvid Anderson of Christ Lutheran Church, performed the marriage ceremony. A reception immediately followed the wedding in the church parlors; dinner for the bridal party was at the Kingsley Inn, Bloomfield Township, and the evening reception was at the home of the bridegroom.

The bridal gown featured a V-neckline, long, tapered sleeves, a fitted lace bodice with basque waistline and a bouffant floor-length skirt of tulle with appliques of lace over an underskirt of ruffle tiers.

She wore a crown of lace and sequins which secured a fingertip veil of pure silk illusion. Her bouquet was white roses and mums.

Golden Notes of Harp Delight Area Audience

By DORA DAWSON

The second concert of the Waterford Township Civic Concert series, currently being held in Isaac Crary Junior High School, proved a delightful one when Mildred Dilling, harpist, appeared Sunday afternoon.

Surrounded with harps of all shapes and character from different countries, and seated at a beautiful orchestral harp, Miss Dilling played a most comprehensive program. Beginning with Bach, Couperin, and Handel, her playing revealed contrasts in style and technique that showed great ability and feeling for tone color and production of lovely, clear rippling music.

STORY OF HARP

The concert was a lesson in harp playing, seldom heard. In an informal talk she traced the history of the development of the harp from ancient Biblical and Egyptian times when the hunter's bow of primitive man or the carved tusk, curved and bound at one end with cobra skin, were the basis of these crude instruments.

★ ★ ★

Miss Dilling has a collection of 80 harps. She displayed several that came from Ethiopia, Madagascar, as well as the type that David probably played on or that was used in Solomon's temple. Also shown was an African bongo harp, skin over wood; a Scandinavian harp of the 12th century, such as the troubadours or minnesingers used; a mid-Europe Austrian, a Scottish and an Irish harp.

Miss Dilling spoke of the great love the Irish people have for this instrument — more so than any other nationality.

The technic in playing on an orchestral harp was explained briefly — the shifting of the seven pedals for pitches, the double action, the physical exertion needed for louder tone the delicate flexibility of hand and fingers. All this made listening to this artist more greatly appreciated.

PLAYS 10 COMPOSITIONS

After her talk Miss Dillin continued with 10 more compositions, from the 19th Century to contemporary writers, each one a gem. Deserving of special mention was Liszt's "Liebestraum," "The Fountain," by Zabel, played with utter grace and rippling arpeggios; Debussy's "Clair de Lune," which seemed to be in its real environment on the harp, "The Forest Pool" by Tournier, with its particularly liquid effect in description, and "Song in the Night" by the great harpist Salzedo.

★ ★ ★

A noted addition to the beauty of the entire program was the reflection of her harp and the action of her hands on the backdrop of the stage.

★ ★ ★

Following the concert many children and adults looked more closely at the instruments, and asked questions, graciously answered by Miss Dilling.

Dear Abby . . .

Animals vs. Needy Humans Subject of Verbal Barrage

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

ABBY

"DEAR ABBY: You were out of order reminding that person who wanted to leave money to animals that there were crippled children and mentally ill people who could also use the help. She knew that! People can ask for food when they're hungry and tell you where it hurts when they're sick, but dogs and cats have to depend on humans for help. Be fair, Abby, and print this."

ANOTHER ANIMAL LOVER

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: To 'Animal Lover' who wanted to know how to go about giving some money to help animals: I have a little 7-year-old girl who is wearing a thin summer coat because we can't afford even a second-hand winter coat for her. Maybe you know a dog who would like to share his nice warm natural coat with my child?" CHILD LOVER

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: If my dear deceased parents could have seen the way 22 relatives fought over a measly little estate of $5,600 they would have left everything to dogs."

DISGUSTED WITH PEOPLE

"DEAR ABBY: You've got to help me. I am a 15-year-old girl and my father treats me like I was five. He says I can't go in a car with a boy unless the boy drives him around the block in his car. He says he wants to make sure the boy is a good driver and he wants to be sure the boy's car is in good enough condition to be safe.

"Abby, if I tell a boy he has to pass this kind of a test I will be an old maid. Please say something to my father in your column to help me."

FUTURE OLD MAID

DEAR "FUTURE": Your father would rather have a live "old maid" for a daughter than a dead debutante. But, if the boy has a driver's license and has not been cited for traffic violations, your father can assume he is a safe driver. As for evaluating the equipment—I think Papa could give it the once-over from the window.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for almost two years and I still haven't gotten him to do anything around the house. The only thing I want him to do is to fix our bed so the mattress will not sag. It is a simple thing to put a few boards across the frame and I would do it myself but I am in my seventh month, and am afraid to lift the mattress. But he will drive to his uncle's farm, which is two hours each way to help his uncle put up a shack for a tractor while I sit and wait in the car four hours. How can I get him to do his own chores first?"

SICK OF WAITING

DEAR SICK: Some men are not moved to act until they have been hit in the pocketbook. Give him fair warning that if he doesn't do the necessary home chores, you will hire a handyman.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ENG. LIT." MAJOR: If all the boys flunked and all the girls passed, perhaps your professor is grading on the curves?

Says Anna Alberghetti

No Plans for Wedding but Plenty for Marriage

NEW YORK (UPI) — Anna Maria Alberghetti says she has no plans for a wedding—but plenty for marriage.

The 22-year-old singer persistently denied reports that she is altar-bound with Buddy Bregman, a brash, handsome young composer and arranger. Then she launched into Hollywood double-talk guaranteed to confuse even the natives.

"We love each other, but we have no plans. We're going together, but we haven't decided anything," said Miss Alberghetti in her first interview with the 28-year-old Bregman since their romance hit the headlines.

★ ★ ★

After a 10-day separation, Bregman flew to New York where the singer is appearing in a night club.

"I sure am glad he's here. We called each other four times a day and the phone bills are staggering," said Miss Alberghetti, gazing at Bregman.

BREGMAN RESTLESS

He gave her a brief glance, and remained restless, cocky and belligerent throughout the interview.

If nothing is definite, what are chances for a break-up?

"I don't think we'll ever break up," shouted Bregman.

"Then what are they waiting for?

"I'm very conservative, I hope that when I reach a decision, it's the right one. Marriage is the most serious step in your life, and I don't believe in divorce," said the Italian-born Miss Alberghetti, a devout Roman Catholic.

★ ★ ★

She said she plans to continue her career after marriage.

"But I would cut down considerably. I will never put my career before marriage. A woman's role as mother and wife is more important."

Bregman does not plan to manage her career ("I have enough trouble with my own," he muttered) and the couple has made a pact not to tell each other how to run their work. But they vowed to discuss all engagements "because 95 per cent of all marriages break up when couples don't."

"We've been dating eight months, and I won't go to a party if Buddy can't go, and vice versa. We try to spend as much time together as possible. In this business, the hours are crazy, but you can work it out if you love each other," she said.

"I know people who don't discuss their problems until the relationship as reached the insolvable stage. I don't believe in that. I checked on Buddy's divorce right away. (He has a seven-year-old son). If I had found we couldn't get married in the church, I would have stopped seeing Buddy," she said.

Making a secret wish, is Mrs. Eleanor Clark of Waterford Township, as she drops a coin in the magic pool at the Dixie Floral greenhouse. Hundreds of dollars are taken from the pool and given to worthy township projects by the greenhouse owners, the Ray Monroe family.

Lovers' Coins Boost Civic Projects

Wishing Pool Aids Waterford

What started out to be a greenhouse humidifier has turned into an elaborate Wishing Pool, where hundreds of dollars have been dumped for Waterford Township community projects.

Surrounded by huge palms, Florida hibiscus, ivy of every description and blooming bougainvillaea, the magic pool is in the Dixie Floral greenhouse on Dixie Highway, operated by the Ray Monroe family.

When the $60,000 showroom was constructed next to the tiny greenhouse three years ago, Monroe needed something to keep his plants healthy.

He wanted a humidifier to be attractive yet practical, so he called in a contractor friend, Myron O'Dell, who went to work building the scenic pool — designing it as he went along.

Ledgerock and marble were piled together so that water, gushing from a main fountain at the top, spilled down into the pool creating a natural looking wild-life setting.

Water is pumped through the fountain and pool, continuously, 24 hours a day. At night, huge colored spotlights turn on automatically, and motorists driving by on Dixie Highway can see the unusual spectacle through the greenhouse windows.

BRIDES DROPPED COINS

Customers first started the idea of a wishing well, Monroe said. Bridal couples ordering their wedding flowers, would stand near the pool, make a wish and drop a coin into the sparkling water.

All of a sudden the idea began to gain momentum, and the first thing Monroe knew the entire bottom of the pool was filled with shiny coins.

A friend, Mrs. Floyd Fullerton, suggested the money be given to worthy community projects, and she proceeded to write an appropriate verse encouraging the "well-wishers." This stands beside the pool, partly hidden among the greenery.

Every three months, the water is shut off, some 55 big goldfish taken out, and the pool is drained and scrubbed clean.

Were Her Friends Close By?

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Not long ago I went to the theater with my daughter-in-law. During intermission she chatted with several people she knew who sat nearby, but did not introduce me to them. I felt very uncomfortable sitting there with nothing to do but listen to their talk.

"I thought she should have introduced me and mentioned it afterward to her. She seemed surprised and quoted you as saying not to introduce in public places."

Answer: It is true that introductions should not be made in public needlessly. But in a situation where the stranger is drawn into the conversation for more than a moment, she certainly should be introduced.

This would have been especially true in your case if your daughter-in-law's friends sat directly in front or behind you so that you were as near to them as she. If they were over on her side and out of reach of you, then the omission would be understandable.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My mother died three months ago and I would like to know if it would be proper for members of my family to send Christmas cards this year. We stand divided on this issue. Some think it would be all right and others think it would be shocking. Also, is it proper for others to send Christmas greetings to a bereaved family?"

Answer: Restrained cards that emphasize the religious side of Christmas would be proper for members of your family to send this year, and proper for anyone to send to a bereaved family.

"Dear Mrs. Post: At the table when a bite of food is taken into the mouth that unexpectedly turns out to be burning hot, isn't it plain common sense to drop it immediately from mouth to plate?"

Answer: Indeed it is common sense to remedy the situation as quickly as possible. But there is certainly no excuse for being offensive about it when you can take a swallow of water immediately.

Have You Tried This?

Norwegian Lefse Called a Substitute for Bread

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Lefse, a substitute for bread that comes from Norway, was served at a smorgasbord party for one of the local child study groups recently. This interesting dish, made in an electric skillet, was contributed by Mrs. Arch Jacobson.

Mrs. Jacobson calls it a "hand-me-down" recipe from Norway. She says Lefse can be made just like pancakes if you have no electric skillet.

LEFSE
By Mrs. Arch Jacobson

6 medium potatoes
2 tablespoons shortening
1 tablespoon sugar
2 - 3 cups sifted flour

Peel, cook and mash potatoes. Add shortening to hot potatoes; then let them get cold. Add rest of ingredients, mixing in enough flour to make a mixture the consistency of pie dough.

Roll it out very thin and fry in a skillet like a pancake. No grease is needed. Brown each side which will look speckled. This is eaten cold with butter.

Keep in a covered can or in waxed paper to keep it moist.

Fur for Everyone

No longer does a woman need to be tall and slim to look elegant in furs. This year, there's a fur coat for every figure—chemise for slim lines, trapeze for fullness, and the big, wide-cut coat with low armholes for women who can carry bulk.

Uplifting Heels

A pair of satin pumps with glittering paste buckle might be a lift for your holiday wardrobe. Have them in a shining color—ruby or emerald or sapphire.

Work on Flabby Leg Muscles

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Women naturally hate it when they realize that the firmness of youth is giving in slightly to the onslaughts of flabbiness. We cannot expect to have the same tone at middle age we had in early youth but regular exercise will do wonders in keeping the change at a minimum. Today I want to give you a few exercises for firming the legs.

1. Stand tall with the toes pointing forward. Bend the knees half way down. Now bounce up, straightening the knees. Again bend the knees half way down and continue bouncing up and down, heels off the floor. Most of you will need to place one hand on the back of a chair or on the wall for balance.

2. Stand erect. Walk in place, lifting the knees high up in front of you. The knees should come up as high or higher than the waist.

3. Place your hands on your hips. Step forward with the left foot. Bend both knees until the right knee comes close to the floor. Don't let it touch the floor. Straighten the knees and step forward with the right foot. Again bend both knees, this time the left knee comes close to the floor. Straighten the knees and continue. Keep the heels off the floor the whole time you are doing this exercise.

4. Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor at your sides. Raise both legs half way up to right angles to your body. Separate the legs, keeping knees stiff. Swing the legs toward one another crossing the right leg over the left. Swing them apart. Again swing the legs toward one another, this time crossing the left leg over the right. Continue. Keep the knees straight throughout this exercise.

If you would like to have my complete routine for leg beauty send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 13 "Take Steps Toward Lovely Legs." Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Hal Boyle Says:

TV Commercial Stars Earn Tidy Sum

NEW YORK (AP) — Don't raise your daughter to be a pretty milkmaid.

If she's really pretty and can act, she can do much better as a television commercial actress, one of the girls who demonstrate everything from shampoos to refrigerators on the video screen.

This is the newest and most competitive of the glamour girl industries and one of the best paying.

"A good magazine model can make $10,000 to $15,000 a year," said Candy Jones, "but a top TV commercial actress now can earn $25,000 to $35,000 a year and up."

Candy, born Jessie Wilcox in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., is one of a comparative handful of ex-models who went on to carve a big niche in the business world.

★ ★ ★

A slender and sprightly blonde with "Air Force blue" eyes, she came here in 1941 looking for a modeling job. She applied to Harry Conover, and his first verdict was she "wouldn't do."

But he did change her name from Jessie Wilcox to Candy Jones.

Her first week Candy earned $105, "a big figure in those days." She went on to become a top model, a Broadway performer, and finally Conover married this girl who "wouldn't do."

Today Miss Jones, still lovely and in her thirties, runs the million-dollar-a-year Conover Television Agency, directs the placements, and listens to the hopes and heartaches of a stable of 75 beautiful TV commercial actresses.

"There are only about 500 active in the field here in New York, compared to perhaps 1,500 photographic models," she said.

As a photographic model herself Candy in 1945 became perhaps the first to rate a fee of $30 a hour, a figure often eclipsed in the inflationary years since.

But few, if any, television commercial actresses have matched a record she set not too long ago.

"I did six TV soap testimonial films in a single day," she recalled, "and the final pay, counting residuals, came to $24,000."

Candy laughs at the idea, held by many members of the public, that models lead a wild life or that their work tends to spoil them by giving them a false sense of values.

"Actually, it works the other way," she said. "A model learns to look on her physical attributes stay up late at night and look well at work next day.

"Her only occupational ailment is likely to be big feet. In five years the average model's feet will grow from a size seven to a size eight, or a size eight to a sile nine."

But how long do models last? Isn't their career short-lived?

"Well, one of our steadiest money makers has been with us 14 years and earned at least $250,000 in that time," said Candy. "She might do $35,000 this year.

"She is very conservative. She rides the bus instead of the subway. She sits knitting in our office in between assignments. She brings her own lunch from the cafeteria in a paper bag.

★ ★ ★

"Her name is Lorna Gillam, she has horn-rimmed glasses, and she wears a cloth coat instead of a fur one."

"How old is this biddy?" I asked.

"Seventeen," said Candy. "She started work at three."

Able to Complete With Iron on Cost-Basis

Aluminum Auto Engine Enters Field

By JACK VANDENBERG

DETROIT (UPI) — More and more auto industry officials are predicting that lightweight metals will soon replace gray iron as the basic metal of the American automobile.

One of these officials, Darl F. Caris of General Motors engineering staff, recently warned the Gray Iron Founders Society that it would soon have to look somewhere outside of the auto industry for its principle market.

Caris told the society that aluminum for engines is now competitive with iron from a cost standpoint. And Caris should know because the GM engineering department has developed an all-aluminum V-8 engine.

Most of these officials feel once aluminum is used as the basic metal for automobile engines, it will start a stampede toward the use of this lightweight metal and others like it in all parts of cars.

Actually, a trend toward more widespread use of aluminum and other lightweight metals is already under way. The number of automobile parts made from aluminum jumped from 318 to 344 with introduction of the 1959 models.

From 1955 through the introduction of the 1959 models, the average amount of aluminum used in American passenger cars jumped from 30 to 57 pounds per car.

But the biggest breakthrough will come with introduction of an aluminum engine, possibly in 1960. General Motors already has a contract for delivery of molten aluminum to its plant at Massena, N.Y., and Ford recently reached an agreement calling for delivery of more than 640,000 pounds of aluminum over a 10-year period—a record industrial aluminum order.

The principle handicape of aluminum as a material for construction of automobile parts to date has been cost. This lightweight metal costs much more than iron.

But it has the advantage over iron in almost every other category. Its lighter weight makes a car made of aluminum more economical to operate and greater strength makes it safer.

Because it is easier to handle, however, aluminum cuts processing costs and new methods are rapidly making it cheaper in the long run to use aluminum. It requires less machining to finish a cast part and, in many cases, engineers have found ways to cast several parts together instead of individually as had to be done with iron parts.

This new technique is known in the industry as integral design. It was this method which led Caris to warn the Gray Iron Founders Society that aluminum now can compete with iron on a cost basis.

And aluminum producers point out that once aluminum is used on a widespread basis its cost will be reduced even more.

The current public demand for more economical cars is helping the growth of aluminum in the auto industry. Many industry officials believe an air-cooled, opposed-piston aluminum engine is the best answer to the demand for more economy.

They claim the V-8 engine has gone about as far as it can—for every horsepower it gains, it pays too high a price in poor gas mileage. They say the aluminum engine is the thing to watch for in the auto industry and a general trend toward increased use of aluminum and other lightweight metals will follow introduction of the aluminum engine.

Tots Perform Ground-Breaking at New Church

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — It was a different kind of ground breaking at the new $47,000 education building of Newburg Christian Church.

The rite was performed by children.

Instead of shovels, they used spoons.

Adults decided that since the children eventually will use the structure, they should be the ones dedicating it.

Envoy's Pretty Wife Sets Up Scholarship

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Career girls never die on the (clinging) vine. They just work away.

Consider the case of Mrs. Earl E. T. Smith, wife of the Hon. U. S. ambassador to Cuba. Under the maiden name of Florence Pritchett, she was a radio-TV commentator, renowned beauty and dress designer. Under the aegis of the diplomatic corps, she still comments, looks beautiful—at the moment, in pink slacks and black cashmere—and has designs on making her troubled, adopted land of Cuba a self-sufficient country.

"Being an ambassador's wife is a very intangible position," sighed Mrs. Smith, slumping momentarily in a Manhattan hotel room. "You are supposed to 'set a proper stage' for your husband—I think that's the official wording—and hope that your stage set is conducive to understanding and friendship between your two countries.

"Well, having worked all my life, stage setting wasn't quite enough. And entertaining is fun, but it's not enough either. You know, when you're in the embassy, you must always be on guard. You can't discuss politics, or religion or anything controversial.

★ ★ ★

"When one of your guests brings up a controversial subject, you're expected to say 'how interesting' and let it go. You even have to be careful of your facial expression, so that it can't be interpreted that you're taking sides on a question.

"So you go around with a very bland expression, making very bland conversation — and feeling very bland indeed."

Obviously, for a young woman who adores politics and delights in a stimulating conversation ("what is more fun than saying what you think?"), this life was not completely satisfactory.

So, she has set up, after 14 months of personal work, a "Florence Pritchett Smith Scholarship" to enable Cubans with talent in any phase of commercial design to study in the United States.

"All over Cuba," she explains, "there are top architects who create dream homes and buildings, but you will find inevitably an American firm is called in to do the landscaping and the interior designs.

"This is ridiculous. The Cuban people have a tremendous feeling for design and color and movement—but they haven't the money to study. I think a U. S. embassy owes a country more than just friendship and entertainment. If it can, it should help the people of the country help themselves."

The scholarship is a three-year, full-paying grant, worth $5,000 annually. Its first recipient, a 24-year-old Cuban named Leonardo Suarez, is already in New York studying.

He's sort of "on credit" at the moment. In fact, Mrs. Smith is in New York right now to raise the money for the scholarship from friends of Cuba and of herself; and which has more friends, the country or the beauty, is debatable.

The cold and rain of New York, plus the incessant talking required of an ambassador's wife, has given Florence laryngitis. "Whenever I ask the operator for a number, she says 'thank you, sir.'"

She has also developed a dry cough. It comes on in spurts, as when she is asked if she's ever met rebel Fidel Castro.

After a seizure of some duration, she explained that there is no way she could meet him, officially, and that he has "fortunately" expressed no desire to meet her. But that was one subject Florence did not care, particularly, to discuss.

"In Cuba they have an expression," she said: 'You can be anything in the world, but don't be pesado.' Pesado means heavy. We in Cuba always look for the light side . . ."

Garner Returns to Quiet Routine After Birthday

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — Former Vice President John Nance Garner resumed today the quiet life he has led since his retirement in 1941 — the excitement of his 90th birthday celebration Saturday still fresh in his memory.

★ ★ ★

Sunday Garner carefully put put away the new tailored suit he wore at the party and said, "I am going to wear that suit on my 100th birthday."

Some of the nation's top Democrats had gathered here to join Uvalde residents in observing Garner's 90th milestone.

★ ★ ★

Former President Harry Truman, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex), House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex) and Gov. Price Daniel were among those who lauded Garner.

About 20,000 kilowatt hours of electricity are needed in the production of two short tons of aluminum.

Federal Reserve System Guards Economy

Super Bank Controls Our Money

By CLYDE H. FARNSWORTH

NEW YORK (UPI)—One morning recently, a white canvas sack arrived by registered mail at the post office in Oreana, N. Y. It looked like a bag of flour, but closer examination showed there were red letters on it announcing that the sack had come from the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. And inside was $38,500 in denominations running from $1 to $100.

The post office phoned Bill Johnson, a vice president of the First National Bank of Oreana, telling him the sack had arrived.

Johnson enlisted a bank guard, drove to the post office, signed for the money and returned to the bank with it.

Pulling out the neatly wrapped bills, he handed the money to a teller to count saying: "Guess we have enough now to handle the weekend withdrawals."

Filling that sack is just one of the jobs of the nation's super bank, the Federal Reserve System, which sees to it that money is at the right place at the right time and has a lot to say on the ability of your bank to give you a loan.

It's a big job. Your bank might deal in millions of dollars. The Federal Reserve handles billions.

Actually, 12 super banks, each responsible for a certain geographic area, make up the system. The New York bank, for example, rules from the New York City financial district over money and credit matters in an area encompassing New York State, southern Connecticut and northern New Jersey.

The other super banks are located in Boston, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Richmond, Va., Atlanta, Dallas, St. Louis, Chicago, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Mo., and San Francisco.

Assets of these 12 banks—made up largely of government bonds and certificates representing gold buried mainly at Fort Knox—are nearly $52 billion—triple the assets of the nation's biggest corporation.

Without Federal Reserve controls, there might be too much money chasing too few goods and services like cars and shoe shines, or too little money chasing too many cars and shines.

With too much money around prices tend to rise and you've got inflation. Too little money brings recession.

There wasn't always this control. Before the Federal Reserve was born in 1913, the nation was plagued by panics caused largely by too much or too little money around.

A particularly severe panic led a fed-up Congress in 1907 to appoint a commission to update the nation's financial machinery. From this grew the Federal Reserve.

Now you can be sure when a holiday comes your bank will have plenty of cash that you can draw on for gas or a weekend in the country. Or, if you're a farmer, your bank can lend you enough to ship crops to market.

You also can be sure when you see prices starting to rise all around you that the Federal Reserve is trying to check their advance by restricting the supply of money.

It's true there have continued to be inflations, recessions and even a depression despite the Federal Reserve. But this shows not that the super banks aren't doing a good job, but that the problems are immense when it comes to preventing wide fluctuations in the world's most complex economy.

Boston Executive Seized on Stolen Bond Charge

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—The government has charged a Boston executive with receiving several bonds taken in multimillion-dollar robberies of two Canadian banking firms.

Bernard J. Ezhaya, 45, president of Industrial Relations Associate, Inc., of Boston, was arrested at his New London home Sunday by FBI agents.

He was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Robert H. Alcorn and bound over to U.S. District Court under $50,000 bond. Ezhaya is charged with violating a statute forbidding the interstate transportation of stolen property.

FBI Agent Edward J. McCabe said Ezhaya successfully used the stolen bonds as collateral for loans at New London banks. He said $76,000 in stolen bonds had been recovered from the banks.

At his arraignment, Ezhaya's charge that the father of five children had entered into a "devious scheme" to get money from the bonds. The counsel, Joseph Balliro, pictured Ezhaya as "an unfortunate dupe of someone else."

"He obtained the bonds from an equally well respected man," said Balliro. He did not name the other man.

The government said the bonds were part of a $1,789,400 burglary from the Societe Nationale de Fiducie of Montreal early this year, and a multimillion-dollar burglary of the Brockville Trust and Savings Co. of Brockville, Ont., last May.

Canadian authorities said $792,000 had been recovered from the former robbery after raids in Switzerland, New York City, Miami and Montreal. Six persons have been arrested.

CYCLE #1
Miracle Softening Cycle
Exclusive Miracle Engineering Design directs the flow of water down thru MIRACLE High Capacity Softening Resin and the tightly packed bed—of Resin acts as a filter. It traps tiny particles of rust, iron and other impurities, while it softens the water.
In "up-flow" type softeners, resin floats loosely—cannot filter!

CYCLE #2
Miracle Backwash Cycle
During backwash, water flows up thru the MIRACLE High Capacity Resin to loosen it and carry away trapped particles of rust, iron and other impurities. MIRACLE Design accurately controls flow rate of water during backwash.
Most softeners cannot properly control flow rate—and therefore backwash at a flow rate too low to flush away impurities.

CYCLE #3
Miracle Brining Cycle
All softeners require regeneration with salt brine to give back to the Resin its capacity to remove hardness. For greatest efficiency and savings, MIRACLE has a separately controlled brine flow rate.
Many softeners combine backwash and brining cycles into one. Result: they backwash too slow, brine too fast, wasting a lot of salt—and money!

CYCLE #4
Miracle Slow-Rinse Cycle
All softeners require rinsing of the Resin bed after brining to flush out the remaining salt. Once again, Exclusive MIRACLE Design guarantees that this is done at its own proper flow rate.
Softeners lacking the MIRACLE brining control, shown in Cycle #3, need tremendous quantities of water to flush away the vast amounts of salt used.

CYCLE #5
Miracle Fast-Rinse Cycle
The MIRACLE Bonus Cycle!
In all softeners small salt pockets remain at the bottom of the softener tank after the slow rinse, as salt is heavier than water.
Exclusive!
Only MIRACLE Engineering Design provides a Final Fast Rinse to guarantee that these salt pockets are flushed out—never a salty taste in your water after the MIRACLE regeneration.

DETROIT — "What a lousy game, not even a fight."

This was the observation of one of the 55,280 fans leaving Briggs Stadium yesterday after watching the Chicago Bears defeat the Lions 20-7.

There was some truth to the comment in as much as the crowd was expecting one of the typical Lions-Bears brawls but really saw one of the mildest games between the two teams.

The defensive lines, however, were both up for the occasion and there were some hard tackles made, but the Bears' offensive unit, giving protection to the passes of Zeke Bratkowski, held the upper hand.

★ ★ ★

Coach George Wilson summed it up by saying, "We played a half and they played two, that was the difference."

Detroit gained 74 yards rushing in the first half but when the game ended the final total showed only 67 net yards on the ground.

The best ground-gaining plays the Lions had were the punts of Yale Lary. Lary punted seven times for a 44.0 average. His first-quarter punt out of his end zone was a beautiful spiral which went 61 yards in the air officially from the line of scrimmage.

His punting average would probably have been closer to 50 yards except for one punt. Lary kicked from his own 18 in the third quarter. The ball hit on the Chicago 35 and took a high bounce backward with a roll back to the Detroit 34.

This was a big break for the Bears because seven plays later Bratkowski hit Bill McColl in the end zone for a five-yard touchdown to take a 13-7 lead.

It was 7-6 at halftime with the Bears scoring on 15- and 35-yard field goals by George Blanda, and the Lions scoring late in the second quarter on a 14-yard pass from Earl Morrall to Hopalong Cassady.

The TD was made possible by a 30-yard punt return to the Bear 25 by Lary and it took only two plays, including two 5-yard Chicago penalties to score.

One scoring opportunity was missed early in the period when the Lions marched from their 20 to the Bear one. Rote tried to handoff to Ken Webb and the ball got loose and rolled back to the 12. Rote fell on it but his 4th down pass failed.

The Bears got their final TD late in the third quarter with Bratkowski passing to McColl. The big end took the ball on his own 40 and raced all the way for a 67-yard scoring play. Terry Barr lunged at him on the five but missed after a long chase.

Chicago dominated the entire fourth quarter as the Lions failed to muster a threat. Coach George Halas and his Midway gridders must have been in a generous mood.

The Bears marched from the 48 to the 2 as time was ticking away but they took all the allotted time getting to the line of scrimmage subsequently letting the clock run out on the two.

Mathematically, the Lions have lost all chances for the title. The Bears still cling to some hope. With three games left, Baltimore would have to lose two and the Bears would have to win all three to gain a tie.

Folley vs. Foe Who Beat Cooper Who Beat Folley

He Wants Biggie, Duffy

Minnesota Fan Offers Trade

LANSING (AP)—As an aftermath of the football season the Lansing State Journal on Sunday printed this letter signed by a Minnesota fan:

"You stupid fools. Can't you even take a losing season with all the good ones you've had?

"Why don't you come over here and live for a few years and see how it feels to go 17 years without a championship? If we complain, we're poor fans.

"Anytime you want to get rid of Biggie (Munn) or Duffy (Daugherty) just let us know.

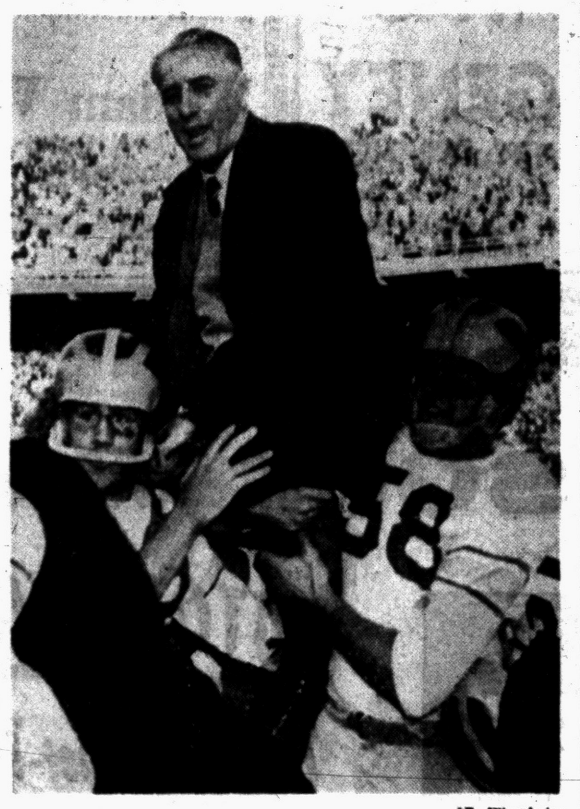

"We'll let you have (Murray) Warmath and all of his 11 assistants for either one of them. And we'll throw in old Man (Ike) Armstrong, our athletic director and president Morrill for good measure.

"You don't know how lucky you guys are."

The letter was signed by Mat Pines of St. Paul, Minn.

LAST GRID RIDE — Michigan's retiring football coach Bennie Oosterbaan ended his coaching career Saturday by watching the Wolverines lose a heartbreaker to Ohio State. He was a dejected coach on the sidelines when U. of M. lost the ball in the final seconds on the four yard line, but his players still carried him off on their shoulders following the game.

Wings Down Rangers

Gain 3rd Place on 3-1 Victory Over 'Cousins'

Ullman Scores Twice Backing Another Top Showing by Sawchuk

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings, 3-1 victors over the New York Rangers last night, are now in third place in the oft-changing standings of the National Hockey League.

Two key goals by Norm Ullman and another fancy net-minding performance by goalie Terry Sawchuk spelled the difference in the Red Wings' fourth straight triumph over the Rangers.

The Rangers have lost only three other games in league play and trail the Wings by one point.

In the four decisions over the New Yorkers, Sawchuk has permitted them a total of only three goals. One Detroit victory was a shutout.

Ullman scored the winning goal at 7:10 of the third period on a pass from Gordie Howe in breaking a 1-1 tie.

The Wing marksman had pulled Detroit into the tie late in the second period after New York had gone ahead on Andy Bathgate's counter at 2:52 of the same period. Andy slapped in a rebound for his 14th goal of the year.

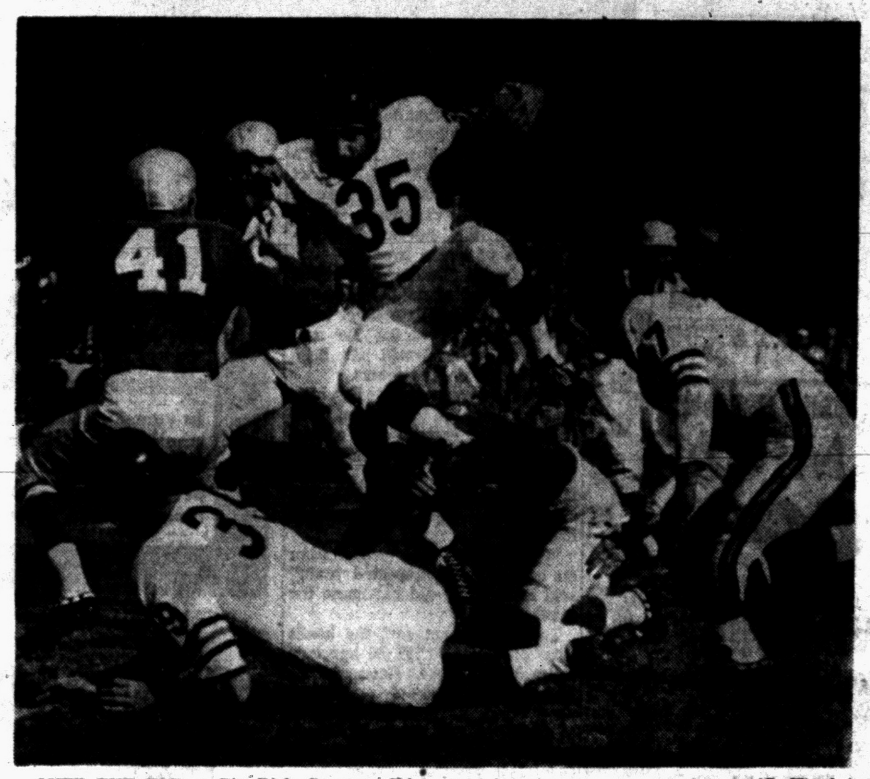

To secure the tie, Ullman took a rebound off the boards and beat goalie Gump Worsley from 25 feet. For the tie breaker, Howe stole the puck from Ed Shack and passed to Ullman directly in front of the nets. Norm fired it home.

★ ★ ★

With only 32 seconds left of play, Alex Delvecchio counted the third Red Wing goal. The Rangers at the time had an open net with Worsley on the bench and six Ranger forwards on the ice.

The Red Wings conclude their four-game road trip with a contest at Toronto Wednesday night.

Huron Five Eliminated in BPAA Tournament

Pontiac's Huron Bowl team will finish far down the list when the big Bowling Proprietors' Assn. of America match game championships come to a close tomorrow at Star Lanes in Southfield.

The locals had trouble hitting with any consistency while compiling a 11,106 total for 12 games rolled during the Saturday and Sunday eliminations. Huron was among 44 teams dropped out of the running following last night's action.

Qualifying for the two-day round-robin finals were Falstaff of St. Louis with 12,388, Pfeiffer of Detroit 12,325, St. Louis Budweiser 12,286 and Hamm's of Minneapolis 12,163. The championship team will win $2,000.

Dick Carmichael was the top performer with a 2,433 total and 202.8 average for 12 games. Captain Joe Bonfiglio followed in the average department with 190.7 based on 1,907 pins in 10 games.

John Nickell was the only other Pontiac kegler to roll all 12 games. He finished with 2,210 for a 184.2 average. Jay Lovett had 1,982 in 11 for 180.2, Les Rothbarth 894 in five starts for 178.8 and Clark Balch 1,680 in 10 for a 168 average.

Carmichael had two of the four Pontiac 600 series with a 631 and 628. Bonfiglio, who fired the best game of 259, hit 624 and Nickell an even 600.

Falstaff, the defending champion, is favored to repeat. Ex-Detroiter Buzz Fazio now captains that team.

The championship will be decided on points after each meets each other in the round-robin. A single point will be awarded for each game won and another point for the highest three-game total in each match.

Perfect List Down to 14

Louisiana State maintained its unblemished record by walloping Tulane 62-0 in its final game of the season. But the list of unbeaten—untied college football teams was reduced to 14 as Florida A&M, with a six game winning string, lost to Southern of Baton Rouge, La., 35-6.

Only two of the perfect record teams have games remaining. Arizona State (Flagstaff) winds up its campaign Saturday and Mississippi Southern closes its schedule Thursday.

Bears Didn't Need to Know

Lions' Physical Woes Are Kept in Secrecy

George Wilson tried to keep his team's physical troubles a secret, but as it turned out, he might as well have told the whole world.

"We've been in terrible shape with injuries and sickness," said the Detroit Lions' coach, "but we kept it quiet because we didn't want the Bears to find out — it might have helped them."

The Chicago boys needed no help on that count. They had too much for the Lions yesterday and won the National Football League encounter, 20-7.

For the record, Wilson's troubles included: Gene Gedman, pulled groin muscle; Howard Cassady, bad leg; Dave Middleton and John Henry Johnson, injured legs; Charlie Ane and Darris McCord, upset stomachs and virus flu.

Then, before the game was very old, quarterback Tobin Rote suffered a shoulder injury and Jim Doran pulled a leg muscle.

"But I'm not offering an alibi," Wilson added. "The Bears deserved to win anyway. As for our boys — well, we've been up for four weeks and played four good games. So we're bound to have a letdown. Usually, there's someone to pull us up — but we didn't have that guy today."

Detroit supporters will argue that the final count might have been different had the Lions been able to score when they got to the Chicago one in the second period.

End Bill McColl was taking some good-natured ribbing in the Chicago clubhouse. The ex-Stanford great is a doctor, and just last week he helped in the operation on another Bear end, Harlon Hill, who was injured last week against the Colts.

McColl's teammates accused him of deliberately bungling the operation so he could keep the glue-fingered Hill on the sidelines for a while.

★ ★ ★

McColl did well in taking up the slack caused by Hill's absence. He caught six passes for 123 yards and 2 touchdowns. That beat the Lions.

New Loss for U. S. Golf Prestige

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The prestige which the United States used to hold in the golf world was downgraded again today after a Spaniard won the international trophy, and Ireland the Canada Cup, in the sixth International matches.

Angel Miguel, a blackhaired longshot who was playing with his kid brother Sebastian, as the team from Spain, won the individual championship and the $1,000 which went with it when he beat 45-year-old Harry Bradshaw of Ireland on the third extra hole after they had tied at 286 over the regulation 72 holes.

Angel sank a 20-foot putt to win it, but his individual triumph was not enough to carry Spain to victory in the team championship.

Bradshaw and his teammate, Christy O'Connor, who helped save his life last year during this same tournament, when it was played in Tokyo, came in first with a total of 579—three strokes better than the Miguel brothers.

The United States lost out all around. It lost a good shot at the team title when Sam Snead had to withdraw Saturday morning at the start of the third round because of an ailing back.

And Ben Hogan, the captain of the U. S. team, could do no better than 36-38—74, two over par, in the fourth round yesterday which tied him at seventh place with Gary Player of South Africa with an aggregate of 291 —five strokes off the pace.

"I gave it all I had, what more can I say," Hogan commented, adding he didn't understand how any golfer could play 72 holes in four days in this mile and a half high city.

"But that's no alibi," said the 46-year-old Hogan. "After all the other guys had to play in the same altitude."

It marked the second year in a row that the United States has lost out in the "World Series" of golf. Hogan and Snead won the team championship back in 1956 when this tournament was held in England, with Bantam Ben taking the individual title.

But last year it was Japan winning both the individual and team titles. So it marked the second year in a row the U. S. has been shut out in this event.

Japan didn't do too well this time either. Pete Nakamura, who won the individual trophy in 1957, was far down the list with 301, while his teammate Koichi Ono was still farther back with 306, giving Japan a team total of 607 and a tie with New Zealand for 15th place.

Many Detroit area fans who wanted to watch the Detroit Lion-Chicago Bear game on television yesterday were disappointed. Bars that had installed special antennas to pick up the game outside the TV blackout area found they got more "snow" than picture on the screen. Technicians explained that the lack of cloud cover resulted in poor long-distance TV coverage. Television waves carry farther when they have clouds to bounce from.

Football fans at Briggs Stadium paid silent tribute Sunday to one of sport's all-time greats, Mel Ott. A jam-packed throng of 55,280 stood in silence before the Detroit-Chicago football game as a trumpeter played "taps." Baylor scored 30 points, protecting his edge in season points over Yardley. Baylor leads in total scoring, 377-365.

Detroit's heavy scoring was shared by Phil Jordon with 24 points and Gene Shue with 22.

The victory was the Pistons' seventh against eight losses. Minneapolis lost its tenth game against five victories. The Pistons hold second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn.

Colts and Browns Protect NFL Leads

AP Wirephoto

FLYING EAGLE — Jim Brown (32) of the Cleveland Browns has a passenger as he gained five yards against the Philadelphia Eagles. The Eagle climbing his back is linebacker Bob Pellegrini. The Browns won the game, 28-14.

By The Associated Press

Johnny Unitas, a Colt with a .45 for a passing arm, is healthy again.

He proved it yesterday, shooting down the title bid of the Los Angeles Rams and passing Baltimore to a 34-7 victory. It was the Colts' eighth triumph in nine National Football League games. Baltimore now leads the Western Conference by two games with only three to play.

And Bobby Mitchell, Paul Brown's young back, is zooming toward acclaim as pro football's rookie of the year.

He looked it yesterday, shaking loose for a 98-yard touchdown run on the opening kickoff, then coming back in the same period with a 69-yard score on a punt return as the Cleveland Browns whipped the Philadelphia Eagles 28-14. Cleveland, with a 7-2 record, leads the Eastern Conference by one game with three remaining.

★ ★ ★

Baltimore's appearance in a pro title game would be its first. If Cleveland also wins a division title, the game would be played at Cleveland Dec. 28.

The New York Giants kept a game behind Cleveland with a 30-0 victory over the Washington Redskins, and the Pittsburgh Steelers, another game to the rear, hung on to the Giants' tail with a 27-20 triumph over the Chicago Cardinals.

In the west, the Chicago Bears took over sole possession of second place by beating the Detroit Lions 20-7 while Los Angeles faltered. The San Farncisco 49ers moved past them into fourth place with a 33-12 victory over the last place Green Bay Packers.

The Rams, whose only hope now is a title tie, get another crack at the Colts Dec. 6 in Los Angeles.

Unitas, who suffered two cracked ribs in the Green Bay game three weeks ago, lit a spark the first time he passed yesterday. Dodging tackles behind the line of scrimmage at his own 42, he hit speedy receiver Lennie Moore on the Ram 18 and the ex-Penn State halfback kept going for the score.

The play gave Unitas twenty-two straight NFL games in which he has passed for at least one TD. The record is 23.

It was Unitas' 13th scoring pass of the season, and he later made it 14 by hitting Jim Mutcheller with a 12-yard TD toss in the Colts' 21-point fourth period. In that same period, Unitas scored on a one-yard plunge. He passed for 218 yards over-all, connecting on 14 of 20.

The Bears, beaten twice by the Colts, can only hope that the Baltimore team loses to either the Rams or the 49ers, whom the Colts meet home-and-home. The Chicago team kept in the running at Detroit yesterday thanks to Zeke Bratkowski and Bill McColl, who combined for two scoring passes in the third period when Detroit had a 7-6 lead.

With the great Jimmy Brown being held to a season low of 66 yards rushing and without a touchdown (he has 1229 yards and 17 TDs this year), Mitchell made the difference at Cleveland where the Eagles played the Browns even after the first period. Eagle quarterback Norm Van Brocklin passed for 210 yards on 18 of 29 throws, one for a touchdown.

Quarterback Charley Conerly and placement kicker Pat Summerall were on course at New York as the Giants scored their first shutout of the season. Summerall booted three field goals for a 9-0 lead before Conerly took over and passed for a pair of touchdowns.

At Chicago, Bobby Layne connected with Jimmy Orr of the Steelers on a 78-yard scoring pass in the fourth period to break a 20-20 tie with the Cardinals. Ollie Matson scored twice in defeat, one a 101-yard return of the opening kickoff.

At Miliwaukee, where the Packer-49er game ended with five players ejected for fighting, Y. A. Tittle threw for three touchdowns.

'Articles About Spartans Unfair and Unfounded,' Says Duffy

Daugherty Gives Own Version of So-Called MSU 'Revolt'

(The following story by Michigan State football coach Duffy Daugherty was written exclusively for the Associated Press. In it Daugherty goes over the past season, tells of his plans for the future, and gives his own version of some of the events at Michigan State that have made sports headlines recently.)

By DUFFY DAUGHERTY
Michigan State Football Coach

EAST LANSING (AP) — First, I would like to make one thing clear in the minds of everyone about this 1958 Spartan football team.

In my limited coaching experience, I have had the good fortune to be associated with many outstanding squads, championship teams and others rated among the best in the nation. In all my years I have never been privileged to work with a group of young men with finer morale or a more genuine desire to do their best as this year's team.

Outside of being naturally disappointed over our inability to win more games, the mental attitude of the boys at all times was ideal. At Michigan State we have not made a habit of losing in the past and we certainly did not like the plentiful taste of it we had this season.

The enthusiasm and delight demonstrated by all the members of the squad after our victory over Kansas State showed a keener appreciation of victory than we might have shown when the wins were more plentiful.

★ ★ ★

We started the season on a good note and ended it on a good note. Maybe our theme song should have been the old song "Don't Miss With Mister In Between."

Like in the song, we've got to accentuate the positive, eliminate the negative and latch on to the affirmative.

We obviously had deficiencies this season that prevented us from being a great team. There are certain necessary ingredients in the makeup of any great football team. You must have a good takeoff on offense. You must either combine a varied attack to keep the defense honest or excel in one department so much you can overcome a stacked defense.

In other words, if you are not a strong passing team, you must have big power backs, strong enough to get the necessary yardage against the big, active lines you face every Saturday in the Big Ten.

As much as we are disappointed over our losses this past season, brooding about them will not change the score of a single game.

As a staff we are going to analyze all of our game films impersonally to determine what prevented us from being the type of football team we all wanted.

After accurately gauging pinpointing these deficiencies we will try to adjust the personnel returning from the varsity squad and some of the promising youngsters coming up from the freshman squad to correct as many of these faults as possible.

If adequate personnel is not on hand, we will try our hardest to have it available on next year's freshman outfit to get the Spartans back in the higher echelons in the shortest possible time.

There has been a lot of newspaper talk about the relations between Biggie Munn and myself. Once and for all, I would like to set this record straight.

There never has been a feud between us. Relations probably have been as cordial as that between host head coaches and athletic directors.

However, due to the fact that at one time Biggie and I were as close as any two friends can be, it became apparent to our intimate friends that there existed some differences of opinion.

★ ★ ★

If this season has accomplished nothing else, it has been worthwhile in the way it has brought Biggie and myself back on the same old friendly plane.

We both realize that nothing should be important enough to break up a wonderful friendship.

I never can forget that it was Biggie Munn, as my line coach during my sophomore year in college, who championed me as a player and was responsible for my getting a chance to play college football.

He also gave me an opportunity to coach on the college level that otherwise would not have been forthcoming. When he stepped up to director of athletics, he recommended me as his successor.

It possibly would be easy to try to justify things in my own mind and say that I have worked hard and have earned any promotions that have come my way. However, there are undoubtedly many who could have done the job as well or better if they had been given the same opportunity.

Biggie and I will unquestionably have differences of opinion in the future. It is a rare occasion when even two brothers will agree on everything. But I am confident that any honest differences of opinion will never again have an adverse effect on our friendship.

There's another thing I'd like to set straight.

When I read a report of a so-called "revolt" among the players on the squad, it was so completely absurd and untrue that they laughed as if it were a big joke.

But it wasn't a joke. Not to me. It hurt the squad. The only squad meeting called all year was called by Sammy Williams the Monday after the Indiana game when yours truly had his neck stretched in Spartan Stadium.

Sammy came to me and said how sorry they all were and how mad this made them. He asked my permission to meet with the squad that afternoon. Inasmuch as we do very little on a Monday, I told him it was all right.

He later called me into the meeting to talk with the squad and the reaction of the players was very fine and rewarding. They expressed a willingness to do anything we wanted them to do to help make us a better team. They volunteered to practice longer hours or take any other remedial steps we deemed necessary.

Articles depicting them as gripers and troublemakers were completely unfair and unfounded. Our team unity and loyalty to one another was intact from the first game this season to the last.

My own feeling can best be summed up by my answer to a young boy, about eight years old, who asked me after one of the games if my television show was a live show.

I told him, "It's been a pretty dead one lately."

Bruins Top Champs Again, 2-0

Boston Bothers Canadiens

The Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League have been called everything from powerful to invincible. Now they can be called frustrated.

The Canucks have been unable to win at home consistently, with only one victory in their last five games at The Forum. Maurice "The Rocket" Richard has been stopped three games in his bid to produce goal No. 600.

And now Montreal is having trouble with Boston. The Bruins whipped the Canucks for the third straight time last night, 2-0. Boston has been responsible for half of Montreal's six setbacks. Vic Stasiuk and Norm Johnson scored for the Bruins before a capacity crowd in Boston Garden.

The triumph enabled the winners to move to within one point of the leading Canadiens. Only four points separate the top club and the fifth-place Chicago Black Hawks.

In other games, the Detroit Red Wings turned back the New York Rangers for the fourth straight time, 3-1 and the Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs played to a 3-3 tie.

Ron Stewart's goal with 1:13 left enabled the Leafs to gain their second deadlock in two nights. They tied the Rangers 2-2 Saturday night. Ted Lindsay of Chicago was tagged with two major penalties and a misconduct penalty for fighting with Stewart and Bert Olmstead.

In other Saturday games, Boston edged Detroit 2-1 and Montreal defeated Chicago, 5-1.

220-POUND LEADER — Last week's 3-way tie for leadership of The Pontiac Press "big deer derby" lasted only a few days. It was broken Saturday by the entry (first) of a 217-pounder, then taken over by a 220-pounder. Current "biggest" is Fred Sylvester's (above) buck, taken near Marquette. Hunters (Oakland county residents only) have just six days left to beat this entry — if they can!

220-Pounder Takes Over 'Deer Derby' Top Spot

Changes in the leadership of The Press' annual "big deer derby" came thick and fast, over the weekend. Where a three-way knot was in effect Saturday morning, by early afternoon, it had been wiped out by a fine, 217-pound whitetail taken in the Upper Peninsula.

Within the next hour, after Walt Asher's new leader had been properly listed in the "derby" roster, it had slipped off the top spot.

An even bigger, more rugged buck, from Big Bay, near Marquette came along, on the rear of Fred Sylvester's car. Sylvester, currently an idled construction worker of 8587 Pontiac Lake Rd., entered his 220-pounder to assume the contest leadership.

Latest leader was downed opening day, while Sylvester was seated along a runway. The big buck "was chasing some does" the hunter reported. The buck carried a 11-point rack.

Alex Nelson, Ray Wenz and Stanley Baker, all from Pontiac, hunted with Sylvester, but none connected for a trophy.

The Ashers both brought back nice deer, with Walt (former Press Golden Glover) getting the 217-pounder. They hunted at Cornell, near Escanaba in Delta County. Mrs. Asher's buck was a 4-point 160-pounder. Walt's big one carried an 11-point rack that measured 19 inches from beam to beam.

The three with 210-pounders were Wayne Tatu, near Newberry hunting with cousin, Ron Tatu, 8-pointer; Robert Wilson, and Bill Vosburg.

Others reporting deer included a party of eight from Pontiac, with seven bucks: William Elliott, 211 Eileen; Fred Schwanz, 2901 Franklin Rd.; Gordon Wallace, 6511 Highland Rd.; Irving Humbaugh, 6299 Elizabeth Lk.; Richard Stark, 1230 Desiax; William Ferris, Clarkston and Joe Saul, 4240 Rosebury Ct., Drayton Plains. Neil Cairns, Drayton and Fred Pickett, 24 West Brooklyn, Pontiac, missed out. The party hunted in Ontonogan County, used two trailers as headquarters.

Severein Hylla, 514 E. Mansfield, only one in party of four to connect, downed a 7-point, 180-pounder at Harrisville.

U. of D. 11 Finishes With Even Season

DETROIT (UPI) — Detroit is Michigan's lone major college team to finish at .500 this season but the the Titans looked inept and needed a helping hand from undermanned Dayton to finish the year at 4-4-1.

The Flyers wound up their worst season since 1921 by losing 27-7 to Detroit.

Bruce Maher, troubled by a bursitis condition in his shoulder and a sore hand, fumbled five times and lost the ball each time.

Maher's 100 yards gained on the ground gave him a 576-yard total for the nine games this season. He is the first Detroit back to gain more than 500 yards since 1947.

Flyweight Champ Wins

WILLEMSTAD Curacao (AP) — World flyweight champion Pascual Perez of Argentina won a unanimous decision over Tito Rangone in a ten-round non-title bout at Rif Stadion here Saturday night.

If Steelers Had Him From Start

Layne Would Have Been Difference, Parker Says

CHICAGO (AP) — "If we had had Bobby Layne all season we'd be right on top in the title fight."

That was Pittsburgh Coach Buddy Parker's comment after his Steelers measured the Chicago Cardinals 27-20 yesterday for their fourth straight win.

"You don't lose four of your first six games and still go along talking about a championship," said Parker.

"We'd have been right up there if we had had Layne from the start but now all we can do is play game after game and hope we win them. Sure, we have a chance for the title if Cleveland loses but you can't ask someone else to beat them for you. You just don't look for a title after losing four of your first six games."

Title or no, Layne again proved he is one of the better passers in the league. The 31-year-old former Texas star threw 28 times and had 16 completions for a whopping 352 yards.

"Guess it was the best day I've had this year," said Layne, "but I wouldn't know because I never keep track of the statistics. It's great to play for this ball club. It has spirit and comes from behind. You always get bad breaks but you have to overcome them and that's what this team does."

★ ★ ★

Layne, shuttled from Detroit to the Steelers in mid-season, has Pittsburgh hopped up with new hope. And he has no intention of retiring.

"I don't have any plans," said Layne. "I just play from year to year. As long as I can do a team good, I'll play football."

'M' Booters Lose

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Toronto won from the University of Michigan Wolverine Soccer Club 2-0 yesterday, scoring both its goals in the second half.

'M' Misses Happy Ending by 4 Yards

Bennie's Hope for Win Ends 12-Feet Short

Oosterbaan Finishes 11 Years at Michigan With 63-33-4 Mark

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Four yards were all that separated Michigan from a happy ending to a sad season and a glad goodbye to Bennie Oosterbaan.

Those 12 precious feet meant a tying touchdown and a chance to win. But failure to cover them didn't dim the Wolverines' last stand for their coach.

Ohio State won Saturday's game 20-14. Michigan reaped most of the glory.

"We were magnificent, you couldn't ask for more" said Oosterbaan, his coaching career finished, "I've never been prouder of any team not even in victory. We played our hearts out."

Oosterbaan's players hoisted him proudly to their shoulders moments after their hopes for a monumental upset fizzled. They lugged the huge man across the Ohio Stadium gridiron all the way to the locker room.

The Wolverines closed their season, Michigan's worst in 22 years, with a valiant bid for victory. They finished eighth in the Big Ten. But they played Ohio as if the conference championship was hanging in the balance.

"This was a great achievement, that our team could come into a game like this with such expectancy of victory" said Oosterbaan. He now hands his coaching reins over to Bump Elliott.

Michigan turned in the peak performance of a season full of torment and adversity. The Wolverines won only twice, lost six times and tied Michigan State.

But Saturday they dominated the Buckeyes everywhere but on the scoreboard. Michigan doubled Ohio State's first downs with 24 and outgained the powerful Buckeyes 376 yards to 262.

Quarterback Bob Ptacek, dazzling all through the gray season, erupted with a record passing performance. Halfback Brad Myers made up for a season of dreary play by catching 12 passes, one below the conference record.

Ptacek completed 24 of 35 aerials. His marksmanship gave him the most completions ever in a Big Ten game. He smashed the mark of 22 set by Illinois' Tommy O'Connell in 1952 and equalled last week by Iowa's Randy Duncan.

"Ptacek was superb and has been all season" said Oosterbaan. "Michigan played better than it knew how. But our injuries and losing Gary Prahst hurt us.

"Ohio had to work for everything it got except when we fumbled and that hurt us too."

Prahst, bowing out with a brilliant effort, caught six passes and scored all of Michigan's points. But a rib injury sidelined him for the second half. Ptacek added eight yards rushing to his passing total and came within 13 yards of equalling Ohio's entire output.

Oosterbaan wound up his 11 years as head coach with a 63-33-4 record for 100 games. The defeat was Michigan's fourth straight, the first time that has happened since 1936.

This was Michigan's ninth losing season in its 79-year football history and fifth since 1900. It was only the third Wolverine time to lose as many as six games.

LAST HOPE FUMBLED — This is the play which killed Michigan's hope for scoring a victory over Ohio State Saturday and giving Bennie Oosterbaan a win in his last game. Brad Myers (left) is hit on the four yard line and Jerry Fields (24) recovers for the Buckeyes with only 40 seconds left in the game. It was 4th down and two feet for a first down. OSU never got off a play and the game ended, 20-14. AP Wirephoto

Army-Navy Game Highlights Football Finale

By United Press International

Army and Navy tangle next Saturday and practically everyone in the nation will take sides except a handful of other teams, which will be concentrating instead on taking a trip to a bowl.

Although the traditional service classic between the Cadets and the Middies at Philadelphia figures to overshadow all other football business on Saturday, the Air Force Academy, Clemson and possibly a few other teams can clinch bowl berths depending on how they fare this week.

Army, which has won seven games and has only a 14-14 tie against Pittsburgh to mar its season record, undoubtedly will be at least a one touchdown favorite against Navy, a six-game winner this year but a two-time loser—to Tulane and Notre Dame.

The Black Knights own a slight edge in the inter-service rivalry that dates back to 1890. Since then, Army has won 29 of the games, Navy 24 and five of the clashes wound up in ties. Navy won last year's game, 14-0.

But all the odds and blackboard calculations go out the window when the two academies get together on the gridiron. No matter what has gone before, either army or Navy automatically considers it a successful season if it wins this one.

The Air Force Academy, which rolled up a 45-7 margin over New Mexico last Saturday, meets Colorado in its season wind-up next Saturday and a victory virtually will insure Ben Martin's Falcons a spot in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas on New Year's Day opposite Texas Christian.

Texas Christian won the Southwest Conference championship and the accompanying Cotton Bowl berth by defeating Rice, 21-10, last Saturday.

Clemson, a leading candidate for a Sugar Bowl berth opposite Louisiana State, could help rush the invitation with a wrap-up victory over Furman. L.S.U. agreed to serve as host team in the Sugar Bowl after completing its first perfect campaign in 50 years by mauling Tulane, 62-0.

There is a good chance that Gator Bowl officials will extend formal invitations following the results of next Saturday's games.

The Air Force and Clemson also are under consideration for the Gator Bowl game at Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 27, as well as Pittsburgh, Mississippi, Texas, Georgia Tech, Vanderbilt, Florida and Mississippi Southern, the nation's No. 1 small college team.

Mississippi Southern, owner of an 8-0 record, finishes its season against Chattanooga on Thursday.

★ ★ ★

In other Thanksgiving Day contests, Pittsburgh faces Penn State; Texas meets Texas A and M; South Carolina opposes Wake Forest; Brown plays Colgate and Pennsylvania meets Cornell.

Unknown Dancer Teamed With 4 Stars in Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Producer Stanley Kramer has passed up Hollywood's big names to team an unknown with four top stars in "On the Beach."

★ ★ ★

She is Donna Anderson, a pretty, 19-year-old dancer whose success story is an unusual one. On Jan. 1, she will fly to Australia to join Gregory Peck, Ava Gardner, Fred Astaire and Tony Perkins in Kramer's production of the Nevil Shute novel.

★ ★ ★

How does she feel about all this?

"Scared," she admitted.

And well she might be, stepping in with such fast company. But Kramer has faith in her. In fact, his faith has extended for the four years in which he has kept her under personal contract. Here's how it all happened:

Donna was a 15-year-old dance student at one of Hollywood's ballet schools. She took part in a recital to which Kramer and his wife were invited by choreographer Eugene Loring. It's reported the producer was impressed with Donna.

"I think Mrs. Kramer was impressed," she corrected. At any rate, she was invited with her mother and grandmother to visit the studio, where Kramer advised dramatic lessons for Donna. When it appeared that the family couldn't afford such expense, he decided to put the girl under exclusive contract.

Then followed four years of intensive training, with dramatic coaches as well as dance teachers.

"The break came when I tested for a role in a TV show at Desilu studios," she said. "I didn't get the part, but Mr. Kramer saw the test and I guess he liked it. I never heard it from him but people around the studio started telling me that I was going to do the role of Tony Perkins' wife in 'On the Beach.'

★ ★ ★

"I wouldn't believe it, even I was called in for wardrobe fittings. Then Mr. Kramer told me."

Defense Budget Cut Not Likely

Committee Chairman Can See No Room for Reduction in '59

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman George Mahon (D-Tex) of the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee says he sees no room for a cut in defense spending under the Eisenhower administration's new economy drive.

He said a minimum defense budget of approximately 42 billion dollars will be needed next year.

That compares iwth an estimated current year spending rate of $40,800,000,000 for defense—or about half of the total federal budget for fiscal 1959, which ends next June 30.

"In view of the unabated threat of Soviet military, industrial and scientific might," he said, "I do not see how the tempo of our defense program can be further reduced."

Mahon issued his statement after an announcement by President Eisenhower's Augusta, Ga., vacation headquarters that Eisenhower has ordered a strong holddown in preparation of budget requests for fiscal 1960.

White House news secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower has ordered all heads of federal agencies to live within Budget Bureau recommendations, except where national security is involved.

The ratio of savings to national income increased in Belgium from 8.3 per cent in 1951 to 9.9 per cent in 1957. The high point during that period was in 1956, when savings amounted to 10.4 per cent. In 1957 the national income was $7,860,000,000 and savings totaled $780,000,00. This meant a per capita income of slightly more than $873 and per capita savings of more than $86.

Separation Suit Filed by Helen O'Connell

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Singer Helen O'Connell has filed a separate maintenance suit against Thomas Chamales, whom she accuses of threatening her with a knife.

★ ★ ★

Chamales, 45-year-old novelist, was arrested last week for assault with a deadly weapon when police were called to the singer's fashionable Brentwood district home. The suit was filed Friday.

★ ★ ★

Chamales, who has denied making any knife threats, will be arraigned in Superior Court Tuesday.

He and Miss O'Connell were married in May 1957. It was the second marriage for each.

Debbie Leaves Hollywood Party With Bergerac

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Just charming company is Debbie Reynolds' description of actor Jacques Bergerac, with whom she sat, gaily chatted and danced at a gala ball.

Debbie hasn't had a date since she and Fisher separated in September. But a close friend said Bergerac, handsome ex-mate of Ginger Rogers, wasn't Debbie's date — and that it was "purely by accident" that he sat next to her at a ball honoring Queen Frederika of Greece.

Marriage Soon for Julie London and Bobby Troup

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Julie London and jazz pianist-composer Bobby Troup, who have been dating for four years, plan to marry about Dec. 15, their manager reports.

★ ★ ★

"They suddenly discovered there's no reason not to be married," said Robert H. Ginter, who manages both.

★ ★ ★

Miss London, 31, has two children by Jack Webb, from whom she was divorced. Troup also has two children by a previous marriage.

Fire Truck Bids to Be Opened

Waterford Board Also to Act on Watkins Hills Plat Tonight

Bids will be opened for a new fire truck when the Waterford Township Board meets at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

Bids for the truck and apparatus had been asked some time ago but were discarded by the board because of inadequate specifications. Since that time, a special committee has presented more detailed specifications, and various fire truck companies have submitted bids for the equipment.

The truck will replace a 17-year-old engine at Fire Station No. 2. It is expected to cost approximately $18,000, according to Clerk James Seeterlin.

Board members again will be asked to approve Watkins Hills Subdivision plat No. 3. The matter was tabled last week because the developers left a ditch problem in plat No. 2.

The Oakland County Road Commission has given its approval for installation of cement sidewalks along Maceday Lake road. Waterford Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson is expected to present some construction estimates for the project.

Three Arraigned for Burglary

Detroit Youths Arrested by Birmingham Police Mute on Charge

Standing mute today in Oakland County Circuit Court to a charge of burglary of a Groveland Township service station were three Detroit youths who were arrested by Birmingham police last week for speeding.

Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty entered pleas of innocent for David E. Bates, 17; his brother, Archibald K., 22, and Victor A. Ostrowski, 17, when they were arraigned on a charge of breaking and entering in the nighttime.

Birmingham police nabbed the trio last week for speeding and having no license plate light on their pickup truck. A search of the truck uncovered tools which, police said, were similar to those taken from the H & H Service Station, 16781 Dixie Hwy., in a breakin several hours before the men were stopped.

They were returned to the county jail this morning to await trial. They were unable to furnish $1,000 bonds.

Hurt as Car Hits Tree on Douglas Street

A 48-year-old Pontiac man was injured yesterday morning when his car hit a tree on Douglas street.

Leon Anderton, of 326 Mt. Clemens St., was reported in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. He suffered multiple lacerations.

Anderton's car was traveling north on Douglas street. It swerved sharply to the left, south of Mt. Clemens street, and hit the tree. Police have not been able to question him about the accident.

Open House Will Follow New School Dedication

Open house will follow tomorrow night's dedication of Pontiac's newest elementary school on Franklin road and Fern street.

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of Pontiac Schools, will announce the name of the $450,000 single-story structure which, since its opening in September, has been known as the Franklin Road School. Pupils of the school voted on the name recently.

The fourth, fifth and sixth grade choir, under the direction of Annie Powers, will open the 7 p.m. program. Mrs. Samuel Whiters, president of the school's Parent-Teacher Assn., will welcome the guests and the Rev. Lenworth R. Miner, pastor of the Macedonia Baptist Church, will deliver the invocation.

Glenn H. Griffin, president of the Pontiac Board of Education, will accept the Franklin building from Whitmer.

Preston Thomas, sixth grade pupil, will accept the American flag for the school from C. H. Haberkorn III of H. E. Beyster and Associates, the architects.

The program will conclude with selections from the Elementary School Band under the direction of Arthur R. Welton.

Space Plan Proposed Even Without Reds

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States today proposed that the U.N. go ahead without the Soviet Union if the Russians refuse to take part in a proposed international study of outer space cooperation.

★ ★ ★

The proposal was made by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who told the U.N.'s 81-National Political Committee he had been unable to reach agreement with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin in private talks.

★ ★ ★

Lodge said he hoped Zorin would vote for a revised 20-nation resolution which embodies many of the elements in a rival Soviet plan. He added, however, that failure of the Soviet Union to agree should not halt U.N. action.

7,000 Workers Strike at S-P

Last-Ditch Effort Fails to Halt Walkout, Talks Broken Off

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—The Studebaker - Packard automobile plant was shut down today by a strike of 7,000 United Auto Workers, and negotiation talks were broken off.

Representatives of management and the union met all day Sunday in a last-minute effort to forestall the walkout but gave up early today without arranging any future sessions.

The strike was set up after a mass meeting Sunday of 3,500 UAW Local 5 members turned down a company offer of wage increases linked to new car sales volume.

"All issues except economic demands have been settled," a company spokesman said, but neither side would disclose how far apart they were on the wage question. The S-P official added their offer would have given a pay scale about equal to other new contracts reached recently by the UAW with other car makers.

★ ★ ★

"There are too many strings attached," said T. Forrest Hanna, president of Local 5. "Our members have been losing money just like the company has. They sympathize with the company's financial position, but they must live too."

Studebaker-Packard had offered a two-cent hourly pay hike for each quarter in which the firm sells at least 30,000 cars.

News in Brief

Joseph D. Johnson, 23, of 93 W. South Blvd., pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge before Bloomfield Township Justice Alva J. Richardson Saturday and paid a fine of $35 plus $10 costs.

Kenneth Adkins, 23, of 85 Mariva Dr., pleaded guilty to a charge of drunk driving Saturday before West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle and paid a fine of $100.

Waterford Township police are investigating a break-in at the Knot Hole Restaurant owned by Mrs. Ruby Miller at 1865 Orchard St. early this morning. Entrance and exit was made by smashing a rear window. An undetermined amount of money was taken from the cash register.

Wheat Futures Show Activity

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat futures attracted some scattered buying in early board of trade activity today but soybeans and other grains were weak.

Cash corn receipts, although not heavy for a Monday, were a bit more liberal than expected and traders said it brought out some liquidation along with hedge selling.

Trade generally was slow with the heaviest volume of offerings in soybeans.

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was ¼ cent a bushel higher to ⅛ lower, December $1.96½; corn unchanged to ⅛ lower, December old type contract $1.14⅜; oats ⅛ to ⅜ lower, December .65¼; rye unchanged to ½ lower, December $1.31; soybeans ⅜ to ⅝ lower, January $2.15⅞.

Adams Decree Due in Doctors' Lawsuit

Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams today was to file his final decree in the case of the four doctors at Pontiac General Hospital who lost in their lawsuit contesting certain city-imposed surgical regulations at the hospital.

This routine legal step of Judge Adams means that the doctors' attorney, David C. Hertler, will have 20 days from today in which to file an appeal with the Michigan Supreme Court.

In his opinion, Judge Adams upheld the city hospital's contention that the rules controlling surgical practices at the city hospital "gives the greater contribution to the community welfare."

Miracle Reports He Missed Death by a 'Miracle'

A Davisburg man who really lives up to his name walked into the Pontiac State Police Post Saturday with a harrowing tale.

Still a little shaky, Hillary D. Miracle, 35, of 5310 Lesee Lane, told troopers of a "miraculous" brush with death which left him unable to report the Friday night incident.

Miracle said he was driving west on Big Lake road in Springfield Township, and slowed down as he approached a Grand Trunk Western Railway crossing.

He aid there were markers but no signals at the crossing and he couldn't see any train coming until he was almost on the tracks. Suddenly a southbound passenger train traveling at an estimated 65 miles an hour bore down on him.

★ ★ ★

Miracle told troopers it was too late to stop so he shot across the tracks in front of the locomotive which barely struck his rear fender and bumper, but caused no other damage.

Miracle said he could "hardly talk at the time" he was so scared.

★ ★ ★

Trooper Stanley Sitkowski quoted Miracle as saying as he left the post, "I was supposed to work tomorrow (Sunday) but I think I'll go to church instead."

Quick Triggerman Shoots Self in Foot

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Delicatessen owner Albert C. Williams 50, is a Western fan. He likes to practice the fast draw in the open spaces of suburban Delaware County.

Sunday he packed his shooting iron and took off. But he was quicker on the trigger than he was on the draw and the result was a .22 slug in his shoe.

Stock Mart Dips in Heavy Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined sharply in heavy early trading today.

Key stocks dipped fractions to more than 2 points.

★ ★ ★

American Telephone was down 3 points on its opening sale. Later a fraction was pared from the loss. Then the price dipped the full 3 points again.

Eastman Kodak dropped more than 3.

Losses of more than 2 points hit Jones & Laughlin, Southern Pacific, Lorillard and Merck.

★ ★ ★

International Nickel, U.S. Steel, General Tire and Keencott were off about 2.

★ ★ ★

Some brokers said the market was due for a long correction following a seven-month advance to one new record top after another. At the same time, word of the Eisenhower administration's new economy drive, a rise in unemployment compensation figures and cross-currents in steel industry operations provided grounds for uncertainty.

★ ★ ★

Some stocks which have made the biggest upward drives were hardest hit. Polaroid dropped 4⅛ to 98 on a block of 1,000 shares.

Down around a point or more were Boeing, General Dynamics, Radio Corp., Anaconda, Union Carbide, New York Central, Southern Railway, Texas Co., Standard Oil (New Jersey), U.S. Gypsum and American Airlines.

Bower, UAW Sign 3-Year Labor Pact

DETROIT (AP) — Bower Roller Bearings Division of Federal Mogul Bearing Co. and the United Auto Workers union reached agreement yesterday on a new three-year labor contract.

The settlement ended a three-day strike that had idled 2,500 UAW workers in the company's two Detroit area plants.

Details were withheld pending a ratification vote by members of Local 681 today.

New Car Sales Reported Lagging Behind Estimate

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT—Public acceptance of the auto industry's 1959 model cars still is to be clearly defined, but for much of the industry sales have lagged heavily.

Some industry experts attribute this to the fact work stoppages coincident with the start of the new model year sharply cut into General Motors and Chrysler dealer inventories. They say that by the end of the present month dealers throughout the nation will be able to display a complete line of all models and body styles.

They add, however, that with this week's production of more than 141,000 cars, highest weekly level of the year to date, production currently tops retail deliveries. Sales during the first 10-day period of November have been estimated at 92,800 units.

Figures for the second 10-day period have not yet been tabulated, but authoritative trade sources say the four millionth retail sale of the year will be made some time next week, approximately three months later than its 1957 counterpart.

Included in the four million total is an estimated 332,000 imported vehicles.

The trade paper Automotive News will say in its Nov. 24 issue that total sales for 1958 now are indicated at 4,400,000 cars, including a record 365,000 to 370,000 imported units. If the estimate is correct it would make 1958 the industry's poorest sales year of the last decade, insofar as U.S.-built cars are concerned.

New car sales dropped to 4,158,394 in 1952, but of the total only about 29,000 were imports.

Those who attribute the new car sales lag to depleted inventories of strike-bound makers, point to the showing of Ford and American Motors as supporting their view.

Ford, unaffected by major labor problems following the contract settlements in September, took 33 per cent of industry sales in October and 37 per cent of Nov. 1-10 deliveries, according to Ward's Automotive Reports.

Total retail deliveries for November and December will give a more balanced picture of what may be expected of 1959 model cars. Most industry experts agree, however, that imported cars will account for considerably more than 425,000 units of next year's total volume.

NEILE ADAMS AND STEVE McQUEEN: "She's a swinger."

Steve McQueen 'Arrives' on TV

Proves Method Acting Leads to Successville in 'Dead or Alive'

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Stanislavski has come to the TV West.

The old boy who introduced "the method" to acting may be cringing over the title, "Wanted Dead or Alive," but at least he's got a way out Methodsville swinger in 28-year-old Steve McQueen who stars in the Saturday night CBS-TV Western series.

Steve McQueen is a reformed rebel from Beatsville who says:

"I found culture in Greenwich Village. I found it on Stagesville where I could open up and no one could touch me. It's a good thing I did, too. Otherwise I'd probably be locked up by now. I never liked to talk my way out of anything. I liked to punch my way out."

Thin and wiry, with matted hair and fiery intense eyes, Steve McQueen has the rebelliousness of Jimmy Dean, the acting drive of Marlon Brando and the lingo of the Beat Generation. He was a wild one on a motorcycle who became a dedicated one on the rehearsal floors of the New York acting labs where he got the religion of "method" acting.

★ ★ ★

But unlike the late Dean and the Brando whose marriage came unglued, Steve is happily married and even becoming a father.

"Now," he says, "I'm gonna be Joe Apple."

It may be difficult, though, because in the next breath he says: "If you're not in trouble these days, man, you're in trouble."

But today trouble is something Steve McQueen just remembers from the past. Today he's in Successville. The day we met he was even in Orbitville.

His black-haired, pixie-faced wife, actress Neile Adams, was with him. She had just told him the news—he'll be a father next spring.

Neile is one of the reasons Steve is in Successville.

He introduced her to me with the words:

"She's a swinger, man. I dig this. She belts me."

There was another day before their marriage two years ago when Neile brought home Steve and introduced him to her mother. As he tells it: "It was Hatesville, man. I came on a cycle in black pants and black shirt and she said, 'Get him out of here.'

"Maybe she was right. I was so broke I'd go into New York drug stores, pick up an alarm clock or something and walk up to the cashier and say, 'Gimme a refund on this, please.' "

Today Steve and Neile are buying a $17,000 home up in the hills where Steve says, "We can get away from actors. They bore me. They're mostly cornballs."

He's sold his cycle and his crash helmet and he's even sold a sports car in which he once peeled around at 100 or better. He's concentrating on his acting now because, he says, sincerely, "As an actor I have something no other actor has. I can't explain it but I've got it."

'Here's One Reporter Who's Become Rich'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Lee Tracy and I were on a plane going to Tulsa and I was heckling him about being the greatest newspaperman outside the newspaper business.

★ ★ ★

"What's your opinion of them after playing them on stage, in the movies and now on TV?" I asked him

WILSON

"Newspaper guys are regular guys except they're a little crazy and some people claim their ears flap a little," replied the breezy, likable star of "Front Page," "Blessed Event," and now of "New York Confidential," in which he portrays a New York columnist.

"They're crazy!" I bristled. "Your dark glasses now . . . have you an eye defect . . . or are they part of your Hollywood uniform?"

"More of a defect, really," he answered smoothly. "I'm used to living at night and my eyes can't stand the sun."

★ ★ ★

"When you began playing newspaperman parts, did you start out as a copy by?"

"Oh no"—he had put his famous soft hat aside and was having a drink — "I started out at the bottom as a star reporter."

"Do you have a feeling that you've developed the newspaperman's approach to life—God forbid?" I was feeding my questions into a midget Dictaphone and he was answering into the mike.

"Certainly. I like to dig out the facts very carefully and then distort them enough to make them interesting."

"This columnist that you play—is he ethical?"

"Certainly. All colmnists are ethical."

★ ★ ★

He remembered playing high school baseball in St. Louis with Muddy Ruel, later the great catcher with the Washington Senators, and going on to Union College to study electrical engineering.

"Did you ever work as an electrical engineer?"

"No, after one year I found out I was pretty bad at mathematics and I decided show business was a great way to make money."

His first acting job was as "feed man" for a vaudeville team: pay: $30-a-week.

"Did it ever occur to you that you should be a professional ball player?"

"Yes, Muddy Ruel and myself and a great shortstop whose name I can't remember played with the Wabash RR team in St. Louis semipro ball. Muddy went on to the majors, the shortstop went on to the minors but Mr. Tracy couldn't make the grade."

And so that's how Broadway producer Jed Harris happened to cast him as reporter Hildy Johnson in "The Front Page" and start him on his 30-year career as a newspaperman. Lee Tracy may be the smartest reporter alive: for only he has got rich at it.

Princess Grace Denying Intent to Make Film

NEW YORK (AP) — Princess Grace of Monaco says she has no intentions now of going back into the movies.

She made the comment as she arrived Sunday with her husband Prince Rainier for a month-long informal visit here and in Philadelphia.

The princess, former Hollywood actress Grace Kelly, plans to see some Broadway shows, shop and visit friends here with her husband and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Kelly of Philadelphia.

At one time, up to about 1900, Brazil produced and exported 99 per cent of all the world's rubber.

Senator Says Nixon Should Run in '60

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Barry M. Goldwater (R-Ariz) has urged the Republican Party to take its stand "to the right of center" in 1960 and nominate Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the presidency.

Goldwater, the only GOP conservative returned to the Senate in this month's election, said the party cannot win two years hence unless it plays its traditional conservative role.

He said Nixon was his personal choice to head the 1960 ticket and as of now the Vice President "would be considered the leading candidate."

In a television interview yesterday, Goldwater also took occasion to declare that Gov.-Elect Nelson Rockefeller of New York must prove himself a non-radical before he can be considered for the GOP presidential nomination.

2 Diplomats Tussle After TV Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) — Two United Nations' diplomats yesterday topped off a television debate on Cyprus with some decidedly undiplomatic behavior.

Officials of the Columbia Broadcasting System show "U. N. in Action" had to separate the two men, who started some action of their own after the show was off the air.

The main participants in the bout were Rauf Denktash, a Turk, and Zenon Rossides, a Greek, both advisers to their respective delegations to the U. N.

While on camera the diplomats managed to limit their thrusts to words but after the program Rossides accused Denktash of telling "a pack of lies."

Denktash grabbed Rossides by the lapels.

"If you were not twice my age I would hit you," he shouted.

Harry Rasky, producer of the program, and Blair Clark, CBS news correspondent, stepped in quickly and separated their star performers.

★ ★ ★

During the broadcast of the Cyprus issue, which comes up for formal debate in the U. N. today, Denktash accused the Greeks on Cyprus of using "blackmail by violence" to seek their ends. Rossides said partition of the island would be impossible.

John Ford's Son Hurt by Horse on Film Set

NATCHEZ, Miss. (UPI) — Pat Ford, 40, the son of Hollywood director John Ford, was injured near here yesterday during the filming of a picture his father is directing.

★ ★ ★

Ford was hospitalized with a leg injury after a horse stepped on him. He was helping to manage some horses when one of the animals reared up, knocked him down and stepped on his leg. Doctors said he would have to be in bed for several days.

Car-Train Crash Kills 1

DETROIT (AP)—John Karnowski 62 of suburban Wayne was killed today when his auto collided with a Chesapeake & Ohio freight train two miles south of Wayne.

Bendix, UAW Settle Strike

Local Issues Unsolved at Some Plants but Detroit Workers Back

DETROIT (AP) — Strikers at Bendix Aviation Corp. began returning to work at some plants today after a national contract settlement covering 13,500 workers.

The United Auto Workers and Bendix, manufacturer of plane and missile parts, reached a three-year agreement yesterday patterned after that of the auto industry.

Full settlements were in effect for 4,000 workers at Teterboro, N. Y., and another 600 at Detroit and Madison Heights.

Other Bendix plants are at Los Angeles, South Bend, Ind., North Hollywood, Calif., St. Joseph, Mich., and Elmira, N. Y.

The new Bendix-UAW national agreement is modeled after the union's three-year agreements in the auto industry with Ford, Chrysler and General Motors.

Included are an annual improvement factor pay increase of six cents an hour and an additional eight cents hourly for skilled workers. The average pay rates at Bendix were not stated.

The union said insurance, pension and layoff pay provisions also were improved. Grievance procedures were adjusted.

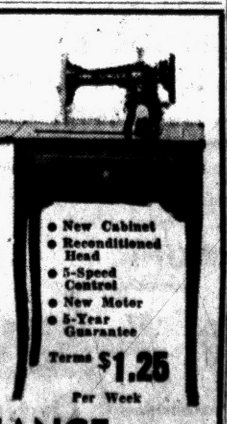

Bottle Collection of 200

ENID, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. J. H. Hays, 85, is all "bottled up" around her home these days. And she likes it. For years Mrs. Hays has been collecting bottles of all sizes and shapes. She now has more than 200.

Red Police Inspect Visas at Bridge

Freedom Ends at Bonn on Road to West Berlin

By WELLINGTON LONG

BONN, Germany (UPI)—Everyone's heart seems to skip a beat when he crosses the bridge at Helmstedt where freedom ends on the road to Communist-surrounded West Berlin.

The bridge crosses a dry gully. At the western end, West German police and American, British and French military police have their little shacks. Inspection there is cursory, often indifferent.

Not so on the eastern side of the bridge. There the barriers, manned until now by Soviet and East German soldiers in almost-identical uniforms are raised to let only one car, truck or bus through at a time.

American, British or French soldiers or civilian officials and their families hand their travel orders to a Soviet guard at a special box. He withdraws behind a curtain to do whatever he does with them. It always takes a long time before the documents are returned, usually without a smile or even a grimace, and one drives on.

West German civilians, foreign tourists, businessmen or anyone not connected officially with the Western Allied forces, go into long, low, wooden buildings manned by Communist police.

There they must buy an East German transit visa at the inflated price of $2.50, pay a road use tax, and declare all money for the customs officer. All this takes perhaps an hour, on a relatively quiet day.

After that, the customs men may want to look at the travelers' suitcases, too. Sometimes, if they are being really nasty, they take the seats out of a car and tear off the upholstery to check for "contraband."

In any event, a civilian traveler is expected to declare such things as cameras, typewriters, radios and tape recorders, with their serial numbers.

Eventually, the traveler is permitted to pull past the huge sheds where unfortunate truck drivers are being made to unload their cargo, and after having handed all documents to one last guard, to proceed towards Berlin.

Crossing the Iron Curtain border into East Germany is far more complicated than crossing any border in West Europe.

A few years ago, loudspeakers blared Russian music and propaganda speeches at those waiting their turn at the border. Today, the loudspeakers usually are silent, of thousands of foreign tourists who cross every year, or because even a good Communist's nerves can take just so much.

The 110-mile drive on to Berlin usually is uneventful. The driver does have to keep switching from one side of the four-lane superhighway to another, although there is little traffic on the road. The Reds apparently figure that by keeping all traffic to two lanes for several months, then switching it all to the other two lanes, the wear on the road surface will be even. If all four lanes were open all the time, only the two outside lanes would be used.

Occasionally a Communist policeman will stop a western driver and fine him on the spot—in western currency—for alleged speeding. The highway is not posted, but there's no use arguing, because you are beyond the help of any western policeman.

A few years ago, no western driver ever stopped unless his car gave out while passing through the Soviet zone. They would not ever stop to help a man whose vehicle had broken down.

That's changed in recent years. The East Germans have built roadside parking areas at scenic locations along the route, and equipped them with picnic tables and benches.

Many West Germans stop at them to enjoy the fresh air. Some even pull into the two restaurants the East German state operates along the highway. But the food is poor, the service worse, and the atmosphere — the walls are decorated with murals of such Communist landmarks as dams across the Yangtze River—is appalling.

Approaching Berlin, the traveler must be alert, particularly if he is unfamiliar with the essential principles of "double-think."

Right after that, the driver sees signs saying "this way to the democratic sector of Berlin."

But beware. That way leads to distress. In East Germany, "democratic" means "Communist." It is the other part of Berlin the western traveler is trying to reach.

Passing Couple Puts Out Fire in Firehouse

ATLANTA (UPI) — Mrs. Allen Parker and Mrs. J. V. Smitherman put out a fire in a firehouse Saturday night.

They passed the station shortly after the entire crew had gone out to answer an alarm and turned off a burner under four scorched steaks the firemen had been cooking when the call came in.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senaate Internal Security Subcommittee has reported that only 5 per cent of the refugees who fled the Hungarian revolution have returned home despite "persistent and at times even physically aggressive" Communist propaganda.

Shooting Mishap Kills Boy of 13

Live Ammunition Gets Mixed With Blanks as Youths Play With Gun

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A 13-year-old boy died Sunday because a live .22 cartridge got mixed up with blank rounds.

The victim was Gary F. Hermeyer.

He and two friends, George Shackelford, 15, and Melvine Brune, 13, had been target shooting in the woods. They were carrying live and blank ammunition.

★ ★ ★

Walking home, they decided they would see what a powder burn would look like on an Army helmet liner Gary was wearing.

George and Melvine told police that George put the liner on his head and Melvine fired a blank at it. The shot produced only a tiny smudge.

★ ★ ★

Young Shackelford took over the weapon, aimed and fired.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

Guinea, Ghana Agree to Merger

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — The premiers of Guinea and Ghana, Africa's two newest Negro nations, have agreed to merge their countries as the first step toward a union of West African states.

The agreement by Premiers Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana and Sekou Toure of Guinea is subject to ratification by their national assemblies.

Other West African states were invited to join the union. The likeliest prospect appeared to be Nigeria, which the British have agreed to make independent Oct. 1, 1960.

The two premiers said in a joint statement Sunday they were "inspired by the 13 American colonies, which on attainment of their independence constituted themselves in a confederacy which ultimately developed into the United States."

Toure arrived in Accra Friday for talks with Nkrumah.

Guinea won independence from France seven weeks ago by voting heavily against Premier de Gaulle's new constitution. Ghana attained independence from Britain in 1957 and became a republic within the Commonwealth.

The statement said the merger was "not in any way designed to prejudice present or future relations between Ghana and the Commonwealth on the one hand and the French community on the other."

★ ★ ★

It said the new united republic would adopt a single flag and unified policies in the fields of defense, foreign affairs and economics.

Roof Collapses, 2 Firemen Hurt

Smoke Fells 2 Others as $200,000 Fire Hits Store in Lowell

LOWELL (AP)— A roof cave-in injured two firemen and two others were overcome by smoke yesterday in a stubborn, $200,000 furniture store fire.

The blaze required a two-hour battle by the Lowell Fire Department and reinforcements from six neighboring communities.

The fire was a block from the scene of a blaze which destroyed seven stores last Jan. 3 at a loss of more than $400,000.

Firemen Jack Nederveld, 36, and Seymour Standcliff, 45, both of the Grand Rapids Township Fire Department, were injured in the collapse of the furniture store roof.

A rear section of the roof fell in while Nederveld and Standcliff were on the second floor of the two-story building. Both were hospitalized.

Bill Calvin, 31, of Grand Rapids Township, and Art Magennes of Grattan Township, were overcome by smoke. They also were hospitalized.

Uses Oil to Foil Holdup at Service Station

BIRMINGHAM England (UPI) —Service station attendant Horace Brown 37 used oil to foil a holdup man Saturday night.

When a customer pulled a gun and demanded money Brown let him have it with the only weapon at hand an oil squirter.

He said the gunman fired three blank shots and fled in panic and an oil-spattered raincoat.

Elvis Presley Record Has Startling Effect

SUTTON England (UPI)—Metal worker William Gregory today credited an Elvis Presley rock 'n' roll song for restoring his hearing.

Gregory deaf for eight years said "something went click" while the song was blaring on the radio during the weekend. He said his hearing suddenly returned.

Adenauer Team Gains Votes

But Is Unable to Wrest Control of Hesse From Socialist Party

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Political followers of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer made strong gains in elections in the states of Hesse and Bavaria Sunday but failed to wrest control of Hesse from the Socialists.

Both Adenauer's forces and the Socialists increased their holdings in the Bavarian and Hessian parliaments, with Adenauer's candidates making the biggest gains. Splinter parties were the losers.

The political power lineup in West Germany was unchanged by the voting. Hesse and the city-states of Hamburg and Bremen are the only state governments controlled by the Socialists.

In Bavaria, the Christian Socialists, affiliated with Adenauer's Christian Democrats, picked up 18 seats for a total of 101. This was just short of a majority of the 204 in the State Parliament, and the Christian Socialists were expected to continue their coalition government with the Refugee party and the Free Democrats.

The Socialists won only 3 new seats, for a total of 64. The Refugee party got 17 (a loss of 2), the Bavarian party 14 (loss of 14), and the Free Democrat 8 (loss of 5).
