OU watch parties planned for today's Summit League Tournament

Let's go Grizzlies!

The No. 2 seeded women's basketball team defeated North Dakota State yesterday in the semi-final round of the Summit League Tournament and will play top-seeded South Dakota State University in the title game today at 4 p.m. EST.

The No. 3 seeded men's basketball team then defeated South Dakota State in last night's semi-finals and will play No. 1 seed North Dakota State in the title game tonight at 8 p.m. EST.

The Oakland University Alumni Association is inviting all faculty, staff, alumni and friends to cheer on the Golden Grizzlies at local watch parties at Rochester Mills, 400 Water St. in downtown Rochester. The watch parties will begin at 3:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. for the women's and men's games, respectively.

For alumni and friends who are unable to join us at Rochester Mills, the women's game will be televised on ESPNU and the men's game will be televised on ESPN2.

The winner of the Summit League Championship earns an automatic NCAA Tournament berth. For the most up-to-date information on all post-season play, visit the OU Athletics website at www.ougrizzlies.com.

For more information on today's watch parties, call Erin Sudrovec, assistant director of alumni relations, at (248) 364-6136 or e-mail to sudrovec@oakland.edu.
