Plans to Widen Part of M59 Are Revealed

Plans to widen M59 from Elizabeth Lake Road to Pontiac Municipal Airport next year were revealed at last night's City Commission meeting by City Manager Robert A. Stierer.

★ ★ ★

The M59 widening project was included in a progress report to commissioners on Michigan State Highway Department plans for Pontiac's perimeter road and E. Huron Street extension.

Stierer and city officials had met earlier this week with Howard Hill, managing director of the highway department and assistant to Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie and other department officials.

The major part of Stierer's report revolved around the latest tentative time tables for perimeter road and M59 (E. Huron) extension projects in the city. Both have been moved back from earlier estimates.

NEXT SUMMER

"The plan for M59 west of Pontiac, according to Hill, calls for widening the highway from two to four lanes from Elizabeth Lake Road to the airport next summer," Stierer explained.

"They tentatively plan to let contracts on June 12," he added.

Due to unexpected delays in right-of-way acquisition for the perimeter road, that project has been delayed several months, Stierer reported.

Highway department officials told Stierer they now have about 80 per cent of the right-of-way properties under option.

"Construction should be under way early next year," Stierer said.

The vital M59 extension, linking the perimeter road with the I75 freeway to the east, now seems destined for construction in 1964 instead of 1963.

"Now it is estimated that the portion from the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Belt Line tracks to the I75 freeway will go under contract in the first quarter of 1964," Stierer noted.

"The portion from the railroad tracks to perimeter road is tentatively slated for the third quarter of 1964."

The link is estimated to cost some $3.8-million.

★ ★ ★

With respect to progress on the I75 freeway north and east of Pontiac, Stierer told commissioners that by Dec. 1 they "should be able to drive out Walton Boulevard, get on the freeway and drive all the way to the Straits of Mackinac."

NEW GMC MODEL — This DBI 7,000 is one of several new models added to GMC Truck's line of vehicles for 1963. It features a 90-inch cab for high maneuverability and is powered by an in-line 6 diesel engine.

'63 GMC Trucks Arrive

The 1963 line GMC trucks introduced today feature advanced suspension and frame designs, V6 engine refinements and mechanical and electrical improvements.

★ ★ ★

In announcing the new models, Calvin J. Werner, vice president of General Motors and general manager of GMC Truck and Coach Division, said newness has been combined with the product continuity established by the introduction of the exclusive GMC Truck V6 gasoline engines in 1960.

"Our truck engine leadership is continued with a new economy version of the V6, and engineering improvements in all our V6 and Twin-Six powerplants that provide an even higher efficiency level," Werner said.

The new engine is the 305E which is standard in the light-duty line. Its new three-ring pistons, along with a refined cooling system, assure important fuel savings, according to the general manager.

Heading the list of chassis improvements in the light line are coil spring independent front suspension, ladder-type frames and tapered roller-front wheel bearings.

OPTIONAL FEATURES

Power steering is also available for light duty models. Other optional equipment includes a two-speed automatic transmission called the "Pow-R-Flo," and a new heavy-duty, three-speed transmission.

In medium-duty models, a major advance is a new I-beam front axle with varirate leaf springs.

Spring deflection is proportioned to the load, giving a good ride under all conditions.

Ladder-type frames go along with this suspension.

Models having 90-inch cabs are the most highly developed in the Division's history, said Werner.

The newest addition to this series is the DBI7000 and companion model, the DBW17000. Both are powered by in-line six-cylinder engines.

The tandem-axle DBW17000, as all other tandems and many other regular heavy-duty models, has triple-insulated wiring for maximum protection.

Registration Drive Nets Extra 2,758

A preliminary tally of registered voters in Pontiac today showed the recent drive for voter registrations picked up about 2,758 new registrations.

City Clerk Olga Barkeley said that was apparently the number of new registrations taken since Sept. 10 in her office, at area schools, a mobile registration unit downtown and other field units.

"This figure doesn't represent transfers and there is still the possibility that some of the new registrations are duplicates of those already in our files," she explained.

The last official count in March showed 36,634 registered voters in Pontiac. This plus the preliminary new registration figures totals about 39,392.

For the last nonpresidential gubernatorial election in 1958 the count was 38,619.

Registered voters in Pontiac in Nov. 1960 totaled 41,591.

Cuban Action Slated by U.S.

Penalties Should Halt Free World Shipping

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States now plans to impose early next week a drastic schedule of penalties to discourage all Free World shipping from carrying Soviet bloc cargoes to Cuba.

★ ★ ★

The policy now being worked out in the form of detailed orders and presidential decrees would also ban U.S. shipping in the Cuban trade and have the effect of closing American ports to Soviet vessels.

While thus putting a further economic squeeze on the regime of Premier Fidel Castro, the United States is also emphasizing its sympathy with and concern for the Cuban people.

The best-informed officials do not see any serious prospect of a successful popular uprising against Soviet-backed Castro under present circumstances.

'LOOK TO U.S.'

But Secretary of State Dean Rusk implied in a speech Tuesday that if the Cubans did eventually get their freedom they could look for help from the United States.

Rusk, speaking at the opening of the new Inter-American Defense College here, said the task of the American nations is to aid the deprived masses of the Western Hemisphere to improve their living conditions and secure "freedom from despitic rule."

"I would like to make it clear," he said, "that this pledge is extended to the oppressed people of Cuba as well."

★ ★ ★

U.S. officials said that there have been no really serious objections from Allied governments against the planned crackdown on shipping since they were informed of it—and it became public—a week or more ago.

Sarcasm Lights Up TV Time

Candidates in Debate Tussle

AP Photofax

THEY SMILE AT FIRST — George Romney and Gov. John B. Swainson manage smiles as they pose together before their television debate last night in Detroit. The smiles vanished when they hotly debated state issues in their campaigns.

Both Claim Labor 'Facts' That Differ

Swainson and Romney Fail to Speak After Program Ends

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. Swainson and his Republican opponent, George Romney, clashed verbally over tax programs, leadership and the condition of Michigan's economy last night in the first of three televised debates.

Sarcasm and sharply worded verbal jabs punctuated the half-hour show. The protagonists, who shook hands before the debate, didn't say a word to each other after it was over.

On the issue of the state of the states' economy, Swainson and Romney both implied that the other was telling something less than the truth.

"It's time to call a spade a spade," said Romney as he branded as "misleading" the governor's claim that unemployment in Michigan has fallen to its lowest total in nine years.

"One of the first casualties in any campaign is truth," declared Swainson after Romney said that Michigan has not been keeping pace with national economic progress.

★ ★ ★

"I will state, and I will have it backed up," Swainson said, "that we have more people employed in the State of Michigan today than we had employed last year, and this is a matter of record."

But Romney said Swainson's assertions about Michigan employment were "dangerously misleading."

He contended that since Swainson took office in January 1961, 126,000 people in Michigan "either moved out of Michigan or dropped out of the work force simply because they couldn't find a job."

HARD, COLD FACTS

Adding the 126,000 who gave up trying to find a job to the 140,000 still out of work, Romney said, makes 266,000 people on the basis of the work force when the governor took office.

"That would represent 9.2 per cent of the work force, or one out of every 11," the former American Motors president asserted.

"The hard, cold facts are that Michigan has not been keep-

Prayers by Clergy Pierce Iron Curtain

VATICAN CITY (AP)—With Roman Catholic prelates from around the world gathering for the 21st ecumenical council, prayers were said today for Catholics beyond the Communist Iron Curtain.

At a solemn ceremony in the Basilica of St. Mary Major, Juan Cardinal Landazuri Ricketts, archbishop of Lima, Peru, said the "church of silence" would participate in the spiritual victory that would result from a successful council.

"The church of silence" is the name given by the Vatican to its faithful in Communist lands. Relations between the church and the Communist countries contributed a somber note on the eve of the council opening Thursday in St. Peter's Basilica.

★ ★ ★

There was an air of expectation and hope for the meeting that will bring together 5,600 cardinals, archbishops, bishops and other prelates. It is the church's first general conclave in 92 years.

But one great body of prelates was absent.

At least 170 bishops and archbishops in Red-ruled countries did not or could not make the trip to Rome. Only about 50 prelates and their aides had managed the trip.

Many refugees from communism attended the Mass. Cardinal Ricketts celebrated the Mass and preached a sermon that underlined the suffering of Christians through the ages and in Communist countries today.

★ ★ ★

He said the prayers today were for "mercy to sinners and persecutors, comfort and relief to those who live today most intensely the passion of Christ...light for the souls consecrated to God but impeded in following their ministry...hope for the faithful unable to freely manifest their faith...and for the success of the council."

UKRAINIAN CHORUS

A chorus from the Ukrainian Seminary in Rome sang during the service. The singers were the children of refugees from the Soviet regime.

The fact that some prelates from what the Vatican calls "the church of silence" were allowed to come to the council indicated that Communist leaders felt obliged to make some grudging concessions to Catholic world opinion.

Four prelates from Lithuania arrived by plane Tuesday night. Three bishops from Czechoslovakia were coming by train from Prague.

Berlin Crisis Looms—Bobby

U. S. Ready to Defend, Atty. Gen. Tells Legion

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says there may be a great crisis in Berlin within a few weeks but the United States is ready for it.

In a speech billed as a major policy address at the American Legion national convention Tuesday night, Kennedy did not specify what type of troubles there might be.

"But the determination and unity of this country to maintain our position in West Berlin is apparent," he said. "American military strength has increased and we face that possible crisis with confidence.

"Khrushchev knows without any doubt that we are prepared to defend our vital interests and those of the West with all the force at our command."

Earlier FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover told the Legion that the Soviet Union and its satellites have 925 official personnel in this country, and that an estimated 70 to 80 per cent are engaged in espionage.

Weather Bulletin

The following severe weather forecast was issued today for parts of southern lower Michigan including the Pontiac area: "Scattered severe thunderstorms accompanied by large hail and damaging winds are expected until 7 p.m. in an area along and 60 miles either side of a line from 40 miles nort's of Milwaukee, Wis., to Detroit."

NEW YORK (AP) — A New York representative of "Alpha 66," a group of Cuban exiles, said today one of its raiding parties shot up the Cuban port of Isabela de Sagua earlier this week and killed "20 of the enemy," including Russians.

County Appearances Set by Candidates

After clashing last night in their first television debate, Gov. John B. Swainson and George W. Romney almost will collide again tomorrow in Oakland County.

But, Romney will be gone again by the time Swainson gets into the county tomorrow night for a 10 p.m. torchlight reception and speech in Milford prior to a full day of campaigning in the county Friday.

It will be Swainson's Democratic running mate, Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, who will compete with Romney for Pontiac's attention tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Both Romney and Lesinski will be at the Waldron Hotel, though a few hours apart.

Romney will attend a Pontiac Rotary Club lunch meeting there at 12:15 p.m. Lesinski will have left after a 9 a.m. breakfast with local professional people.

Romney also will speak at a noon luncheon at the North Oakland County Bar Association at the Elks Temple on Orchard Lake Avenue and visit Birmingham, Troy and Rochester in the afternoon. He will be in Oak Park and Southfield in the evening.

TO TOUR IN SOUTH

Swainson's Friday itinerary will take him mostly to communities in the southern half of the county.

Lesinski will tour city offices and the city library from 10 to 10:45 a.m. before an 11 a.m. speech before senior citizens at UAW-CIO Local 594 at 525 East Boulevard South.

The lieutenant governor will attend a noon luncheon for George J. Fulkerson, Democratic candidate for Congress from Oakland County, sponsored by former Democratic candidates for the post at Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills.

About 2 p.m., Lesinski will visit Local 653, UAW-CIO, at 386 E.

Tresh's Homer Gives Yanks Win

NEW YORK — A three-run homer by Tom Tresh in the last of the eighth inning gave the New York Yankees a 5-3 victory over San Francisco in the fifth World Series game here today.

The teams now move to San Francisco for the sixth game on Friday with the Yanks holding a 3-2 edge in games.

Ralph Terry survived a ninth inning Giant uprising to notch his first series victory.

The Giants had taken a 1-0 lead in the second on Jose Pagan's single and Chuck Hiller's double.

The Yanks scored on a wild pitch in the fourth, but Pagan's fifth-inning homer put San Francisco back in front. A past ball let in the tying run for the Yanks in the sixth.

Tresh, the rookie leftfielder, connected off Giant starter Jack Sanford. The shot into the rightfield stands scored Tony Kubek and Bobby Richardson who had singled.

First Inning

GIANTS — Hiller walked. Davenport fanned. M. Alou struckout. Mays lined to left. No runs, no hits.

YANKEES — Kubek singled. Richardson safe on Hiller's error. Tresh lined into double play. Mantle safe on McCovey's error and stole second. Maris flied out. No runs, 1 hit.

Morning southerly winds at 5 mile per hour will become westerly at 8 to 12 m.p.h. tonight and Thursday.

Fifty was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac yesterday at 8 a.m. The mercury had climbed to 72 at 2 p.m.

House Fires Back Senate Money Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House overwhelmingly asserted its claim to original jurisdiction over money bills today by firing back to the Senate a Senate-born appropriation measure.

It was another round in the long "prestige" battle between the two branches over money matters.

The House action, which was not unexpected, came on a resolution saying the Senate measure "contravenes" the constitution and is "an infringement on the privileges of the House."

It was passed by roll-call vote of 245 to 3.

The one dissenter was Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla.

The rejected Senate measure, passed last week, was to provide emergency financing for the Agriculture Department, whose regular annual money bill is tied up by another senate-House disagreement.

★ ★ ★

The House long has insisted that the constitutional mandate that revenue measures originate in the House applies also to bills spelling out how the revenue shall be appropriated.

The Senate has disagreed with the House interpretation as far as appropriation bills are concerned but has not challenged the exclusive right of the House to originate tax measures.

VOTES AFTER DISCUSSION

The House voted after a brief discussion of the issue by Chairman Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., of the appropriations committee and Rep. John Taber of New York, senior Republican member.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, meanwhile, unanimously approved a House-passed resolution to put Congress firmly on record for any action needed to uphold allied rights in Berlin.

The resolution states "that the United States is determined to prevent by whatever means may be necessary, including the use of arms, any violation of those rights by the Soviet Union directly or through others, and to fulfill our commitment to the people of Berlin with respect to their resolve for freedom."

★ ★ ★

The House money action was not expected to interfere with congressional adjournment plans and could expedite them by clearing the way for an agreement on the annual agriculture appropriation bill.

Democratic leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma set up the House move by scheduling as today's first order of business a resolution only described as relating to the Senate proposal.

★ ★ ★

Two other measures are involved in adjournment plans but they could be disposed of rapidly if the prestige fight is settled.

One of them provides tax relief for self-employed persons who set up their own retirement programs. It is on the President's desk and he has until midnight tonight to sign it, veto it or let it become a law without his approval. If there's a veto, congressional backers want to be around to try to override it.

The other embattled measure would authorize, but not finance, a big water projects program. It is known as the pork barrel bill.

delegations was a group of 11 Polish bishops headed by Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, primate of Poland. The cardinal met Monday with Pope John XXIII for nearly an hour for a detailed discussion on the church's position in Poland.

Polish prelates were allowed to travel only after weeks of dispute between the church and the War-saw government over passports. The government denied passports to a number of leading churchmen.

Three bishops from another Iron Curtain country, Hungary, were received in audience by Pope John Tuesday. It was the first time since 1948 that a pope had been able to receive a church leader from the nation.

Personal contacts between the Holy See and the church in Hungary were broken after the arrest of the primate of Hungary, Josef Cardinal Mindszenty.

Cardinal Mindszenty is the only one of the church's 85 cardinals who will be absent from the ecumenical meeting. Sentenced to life imprisonment by the Communists, he was released during the 1956 revolution. He took refuge five days later in the U.S. Legation in Budapest when Soviet troops crushed the revolt. He has been there ever since.

Insurance Men to Discuss Plan for Older People

LANSING (AP) — Representatives of a dozen Michigan insurance companies, acting with the encouragement of Insurance Commissioner Sherwood Colburn, will meet tomorrow at Battle Creek to discuss possible creation of a new insurance plan for older persons.

Colburn said he was "somewhat disappointed by the inaction of Blue Cross-Blue Shield" since their health insurance plan for senior citizens was denied.

Similar plans are in effect in Connecticut, New York and Massachusetts and such a plan would compete with the present Blue Cross-Blue Shield program.

Reduce Troops in Mississippi

6,600 Are Sent Home; Switch Commanders

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — The Army sent home today another 6,600 of the troops that have been guarding the peace at the University of Mississippi and announced a change in commanders.

The Army said today's troop move leaves about 5,700 regular Army and National Guard troops in the Oxford area. At one time after rioting greeted arrival on campus of Negro student James Meredith, about 31,000 troops were stationed around Oxford and at reserve camps at Memphis, Tenn., and Columbus, Miss.

Troops leaving today include the headquarters of the 18th Airborne Corps, commanded by Lt. Gen. Hamilton H. Howze.

Howze has been commander of all troops sent to Mississippi as well as federalized Mississippi national guardsmen. With his departure, command passes to Brig. Gen. Charles Billingslea, commander of the 2nd Infantry Division, the Army announcement said.

CONTINUE HARASSMENT

Meanwhile, white students continued to harass Meredith at nearly every step with no apparent disciplinary action by the school administration.

A stocky youth even pushed past a U.S. marshal walking with Meredith and shook his finger in Meredith's face. "Nigger, you better watch out," he said.

No effort was made to physically harm the 29-year-old Air Force veteran whose forced admission touched off bloody rioting Sept. 30 and a rowdy demonstration Monday night.

The campus was relatively quiet last night, many of the students attending a performance of "Mark Twain Tonight" featuring Broadway actor Hal Holbrook.

Meredith had indicated he might attend the performance but he did not put in an appearance.

Mississippi 'Disaster Area'

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move prompted mainly by legal technicalities, President Kennedy declared today that a major disaster area exists in Mississippi because of the potential threat from a sunken barge, loaded with liquid chlorine, in the Mississippi River near Natchez.

The declaration clears the way for the federal government to pay the expense of use of elements of the Mississippi National Guard in support of a plan for protection of civilians in the event the chlorine escapes during efforts in the near future to remove it from the river.

Kennedy acted in response to a telegram from Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi. Barnett requested the official declaration of a disaster area in a message received at the White House yesterday.

The barge sank about seven miles south of Natchez on March 23 of last year.

The liquid chlorine is in four steel tanks. The Army Engineers are preparing to raise the tanks. If one of them ruptures, poisonous chlorine gas could spread through the area and perhaps necessitate its evacuation.

COMMUTER CAMPAIGNING — Republican candidate for governor George W. Romney boards the train at the Bloomfield Hills station of Grand Trunk Western shortly after 7 a.m. today to try out a new idea in campaigning. Romney talked with commuters from Oakland County communities as they rode to their jobs in downtown Detroit.

ing pace with national economic progress," he repeated.

Swainson said, however, that there are 280,000 more jobs in Michigan now than there were in March of 1961.

"Ninety-five out of every 100 people in our working force are working," he added. "These are facts, not just talk."

The governor criticized Romney on what he said was his record of political leadership.

"He wanted to be president of the constitutional convention," Swainson said, "and he was turned down by his own political party. He supported another man to be the president and again he was turned down.

"He said he would seek a model constitution but before it was over, he had joined with the reactionary forces . . . and sold out in a back-room deal."

Swainson said Romney lost a battle for leadership of the Republican organization in Grosse Pointe's 14th District to former John Birch Society leader Richard Durant.

"Twice he has asked the citizens to follow his leadership and twice he has abandoned them to further his own political ambition," Swainson contended.

Romney said Swainson's working relationship with the Legislature "couldn't be much worse, and we know that the nation still thinks of Michigan as a problem state."

The major issue of the campaign, Romney said, "is which of us can provide the best leadership which will produce results in meeting the needs of Michigan's people."

The GOP candidate said Swainson got his tax reform program from the Citizens for Michigan organization, which Romney headed before running as a delegate to the constitutional convention.

But the governor said the organization was only one of several groups he consulted before drawing up his own fiscal program.

Swainson won the toss of a coin before the debate opened and chose to speak first. Each candidate made a four-minute opening statement.

These were followed by questions from the moderator, James Clark, news director of WWJ-TV. Then the nominees were allowed two minutes each for rebuttal or summation.

4 New Members Named to Bloomfield Twp. Unit

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Four new memebrs have been appointed to the Bloomfield Township Planning Commission, Township Supervisor Arno Hulet said today.

Hulet said the new appointees are Chad M. Ritchie of 1234 Covington Road, Herbert Herzberg of 5631 Pebbleshire Road, Robert M. Sinclair of 1052 Rock Spring Road and Carter A. Chamberlain of 4451 Chamberlain Drive.

They replace Robert C. Boyer of 851 Fox Run Road, Howard L. Preston of 1050 Winthrop Road, Stewart F. Schultz of 4755 Walnut Lake Road and Edward A. Proctor of 6140 Wing Lake Road.

Sinclair and Chamberlain were named to two-year commission terms. Herzberg was appointed for three years and Ritchie for one.

Retained as commission members were Fred Chapman of 4726 Pickering Lane, Andrew Snively of 1433 Kirkway Road and Robert A. Reid of 344 Tilbury Road.

Hulet said the Township Board also has accepted petitions which ask for installation of sanitary sewer lines to serve two commercial areas on Telegraph Road.

The supervisor estimated that public hearings would be scheduled in about three weeks for sewers at Telegraph and Maple roads and at Telegraph and West Long Lake roads.

The Metropolitan Auxiliary of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills will take part in two fund-raising events during the next two weeks to aid the Pendrickton Nursery for Visually Handicapped Children in Taylor Township.

Proceeds from an auxiliary-sponsored rummage sale will go to the nursery. The sale will start at 8 a.m. Friday at 292 Park St.

On Oct. 19, the auxiliary will join local Lions' clubs, the Birmingham Women's Club and all Metropolitan Clubs in the area for a "Tag Day" sale to aid the nursery.

Judd C. Smith

Service for Judd C. Smith, 88, of 850 N. Adams Road, will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Brown - Teman Funeral Home, Greenville. Burial will be in Forest Home Cemetery, Greenville.

His body will be at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Funeral Co. until 9 p.m. today.

Mr. Smith died yesterday at his residence after a short illness.

He was a member of the First Congregational Church of Ypsilanti.

★ ★ ★

Surviving are his wife Eleanor B.; a daughter, Mrs. Harold J. Northon of Pontiac; two sons, Richard W. of Ypsilanti and M. Berridge Smith of Birmingham; a brother; and two grandchildren.

Mrs. John M. Riley

Service for Mrs. John M. (Jane) Riley, 84, of 656 Purdy St., was to be held at 1 p.m. today at St. James Episcopal Church followed by burial in Acacia Park Cemetery, Southfield.

Mrs. Riley died Sunday at Bloomfield Hospital after a brief illness.

She was a member of the St. Peters Guild of St. James Episcopal Church, Earl of Beasborough Chapter of the Daughters of the British Empire of the U.S.A. and the Senior Citizens Workshop of Birmingham.

Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Mrs. Thomas M. McCall of Beverly Hills, a brother and a grandchild.

FRANK J. STARZEL

Wire Service Names Head

AP Official Succeeds Retiring GM

NEW YORK (AP) — Wes Gallagher, assistant general manager of the Associated Press since 1953, today was named general manager by the Board of Directors.

He succeeds Frank J. Starzel, whose retirement, effective at the end of this week, was announced Tuesday night.

Gallagher, 51, has been with the AP for 25 years, starting in Buffalo. He was a war correspondent during World War II, and was chief of bureau for Germany from 1945 to 1951, when he was recalled to New York as a general executive in charge of personnel.

In 1953, as assistant general manager, he also took over direction of AP Newsfeatures.

Starzel had been chief executive officer of the worldwide news service for 14 years.

The AP's board of directors, holding its regular fall meeting here, announced that it "reluctantly accepts (his) own carefully considered decision." The board is expected to name his successor today.

Starzel, 58, joined the AP in 1926. He plans to retire to his farm near South Londonderry, Vt.

His announcement followed by two weeks that of Executive Editor Alan J. Gould, after 21 years in the AP's top news post. Gould, who joined the AP in 1922, will retire next Feb. 1 at 65.

REASONED OUT

Starzel reminded the board at its meeting Tuesday that his decision was "based on reasons of which the president of The Associated Press was informed three years ago, to be effective upon the completion of several major projects then being undertaken."

"With the contemplated developments nearing completion," he continued, "I am convinced this is the appropriate time for a successor to carry forward."

U.S. Might Help Ransom Cubans

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The American taxpayer apparently will have to pay a share of the bill if prisoners taken in the abortive Cuban invasion are released.

★ ★ ★

Members of Congress who have been kept up to date on the progress of negotiations between New York attorney James B. Donovan and Prime Minister Fidel Castro for an exchange of 1,113 men captured in the April 1961, fiasco indicated they expect emergency funds to be used.

There have been reports that the Central Intelligence Agency would come up with some of the money. But a Congress member in a position to know said he does not believe any final decision has been made.

Castro has asked for payment of $62 million for release of the prisoners. Donovan is attempting to work out an agreement for the furnishing of food and medicine to Cuba in return for their release.

DOUBT CAPABILITY

Some members of Congress said they do not believe a private organization such as the Cuban Prisoners Committee could come close to raising any such sum as $62 million or could assemble food and medicine valued at that amount.

This leads them to the assumption that government supplies and money will be utilized to seal any barter bargain.

Castro told the Cuban people last night for the first time that Russian military "technicians" are stationed in their country.

★ ★ ★

In a speech broadcast by radio Havana, Castro reiterated the familiar charge that the United States is preparing to invade Cuba. He said "it is for defense that we got these weapons and those technicians."

He scoffed at reports that he is importing Soviet weapons and thousands of Russian "technicians" to defend his revolutionary regime against the Cuban people.

Castro's appearance at a mass meeting welcoming President Osvaldo Dorticos back from New York interrupted his negotiations with Donovan for the release of the invaders.

Donovan hoped the negotiations, which have been reported approaching a satisfactory conclusion, would be renewed today.

★ ★ ★

A word of caution was injected by informed Washington sources into speculation that the prisoners' release was imminent.

These sources said there still were some possible barriers to an agreement and warned that premature disclosure of negotiation details could make those barriers more difficult to surmount.

And NATO Proves It

Captain Tells Big Fish Story

PLYMOUTH, England (UPI) — NATO officials came to the aid of fishing Capt. Stanley Drake today and confirmed he had made one of the biggest catches on record —a submarine.

Drake had told skeptical friends that he was reeling in his trawler nets off Plymouth Monday when he felt a huge strain on the winch.

He pulled harder and pretty soon up popped a Danish submarine, thoroughly enmeshed.

NATO officials said the submarine had been lying off Plymouth during a NATO sea exercise and Drake's nets wrapped around its superstructure.

Rather than rip the nets, the sub captain decided to surface and give the fisherman the surprise of his life.

The two skippers exchanged apologies, the sub submerged and Drake went back to smaller game.

Does Marriage Really Change Everyone?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) —Marriage sure seems to change people, doesn't it?

It turns perfect young lovers into imperfect husbands and wives.

Before the ceremony each saw the other as a big ideal; after the ceremony, when each found what the other was like, they both began asking, "What's the big idea?"

BOYLE

During courtship he would not let her lift her little finger. Now she has to lift both his big feet when she wants to vacuum the rug under them.

He used to jump up when she entered the room. Now he just rolls over on the sofa.

As a bride, she was lifted across her threshold in his strong loving arms. As a wife, loaded down with groceries and laundry, it takes all her strength to totter over the welcome mat before their door.

Before marriage he told her, "Your slightest wish is my command." Afterward he demands, "Now what is it you want?"

Once upon a time he said, "No wife of mine is ever going to work." Now he says, "We can't get a new car until you get a better job."

She used to compliment him on being the life of every party they went to. Now she threatens, "The minute you start making a fool of yourself, I'm going home."

Formerly, they smiled at the lovable eccentricities of each other's relatives. Now both are convinced they married into a family of wild-eyed lunatics.

"Don't ever be sad—I can't stand it," he murmured to her in an earlier day. Now he shouts, I don't see what you've got to cry about!"

* * *

Her face then haunted him like a vision in a dream. Now he reads the newspaper in the morning so he won't be haunted by that apparition in harithasulertsirts c apparition in hair curlers that sits across from him at breakfast.

'GIVE IT UP'

He used to light her cigarette for her and then put it in her lips. Now he yelps, "When are you going to give up chain-smoking?"

Once they strolled hand-in-hand together under the full moon, laughing the summer night away. Now he falls asleep in his chair when she turns on the television set after dinner.

"Anything you want to do is fine with me," he used to say. Now he whines when she asks to be taken out, "Don't you ever want to stay home?"

Before the ceremony they thought it would be fun to raise a dozen kids. Now they fuss about whose turn it is to go to the PTA meeting.

JUST GOT MARRIED

Then she wrote him long gay love letters. Now she writes short crisp notes to the milkman.

When first they met he loved to listen as she read him poetry. Now she listens while he reads her the riot act over her unbalanced household budget.

She used to love to run her fingers tenderly through his long black hair. Now she thumps him on his bald spot when it's time to wake him up and go to bed.

Then she wondered if he really loved her. Now the wonder is gone. She knows he does.

* * *

Then he also wondered if she really loved him. That wonder is gone, too. He knows she does.

But what happened to make them both change so much? They didn't actually change. They simply got married. Life did the rest.

Satellites to Aid Astronomy, U. of M. Professor Claims

CHICAGO (UPI) — The use of satellites in astronomy will give the science its biggest boost since the invention of the telescope, a University of Michigan scientist said yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Prof. Fred T. Haddock, director of the Radio Astronomy Observatory at the University of Michigan told engineers attending the National Electronics Conference, "Space astronomy is a revolution in astronomy that is comparable to that of the invention of the telescope. It will lead to the biggest payoffs in the space age."

Haddock said satellites would add more to astronomy than any other science.

This, he explained, was because astronomical observations from ground level have been severely limited by the earth's atmosphere.

The atmosphere, he said, distorts and obscures much of the information that would be useful to astronomers.

★ ★ ★

The atmosphere and the electrically charged ionosphere — the upper layer of the earth's atmosphere — block most electricomagnetic radiation, letting through only that in the optical region (light) and radio and cosmic waves.

Setting up receiving equipment in a satellite outside the earth's atmosphere would allow astronomers a virtually unobstructed view of space.

Haddock said observations by 12-inch telescope in space are as good as those with the biggest telescope on earth, the 200-inch instrument on Mount Palomar.

He criticized astronomers for failing to act more quickly in developing equipment for use aboard satellites.

★ ★ ★

Haddock said, however, "there is a tremendous future for astronomy on the ground, and a lot of work remains to be done, but there are even more exciting possibilities in space."

Tax Plan Hit by Economist

U. of M. Experts Say Findings Are Wrong

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A former University of Chicago economist said in his book, "Profile of Michigan" that much of Michigan's economic problem is due to its tax program, or lack of one.

★ ★ ★

The findings made by Stephen B. Sobotka, now an employe of a Cambridge, Mass., business consulting firm, were challenged quickly by two University of Michigan economists.

Sobotka's report was based on his research while a member of the University of Chicago faculty. An advance copy of his book, which will be on sale shortly, was made available to the University of Michigan.

William Haber and Daniel R. Fusfield commented that Sobotka's report was "wrong, both in its method of measuring statistics and in a number of results."

BOOK'S FINDINGS

Sobotka said that a great deal of labor unrest and union monopoly frightens out-of-state manufacturers away from Michigan. He urged legislation to curb union power.

The two Michigan economists commented:

He lists the amount of time lost in Michigan due to strikes at 1 per cent. Actually, this compares with three-fourths of one per cent in other industrial states.

"The difficulty is that Michigan, because it is the home of the UAW, is a headline-producing state. Also, its labor unrest tends to bunch up when auto contracts expire and creates a bigger impact."

★ ★ ★

The Michigan economists agreed with Sobotka's finding that wages are higher in Michigan than in some other industrial states but added that it "was due to the fact that a higher proportion of Michigan's work force is skilled."

Neutral Line Professed by Ben Bella

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella yesterday pledged his country to a policy of nonalignment in the East-West cold war.

In Algeria's first policy declaration as a member of the United Nations, the revolutionary leader said his government would work for peaceful cooperation among nations.

He spoke after a long procession of delegates had taken the rostrum to welcome the former French colony into the world organization as its 109th member.

★ ★ ★

Ben Bella expressed Algeria's determination to battle for independence of all areas still under colonial domination. At the same time he voiced his special thanks to the Asian-African countries and the Communist bloc for their support in Algeria's seven-year fight for independence.

★ ★ ★

The Algerian leader urged the seating of Red China in the United Nations. He also called for U. N. action to "restore the rights of our brother Arabs in Palestine."

Vote for Sewage Plant

Addresses Crowd of 10,000 in Denver

Ike Accuses Kennedy of Power Grabs, Connivance

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, stumping Western states for Republican candidates, has accused the Kennedy administration of grabs for power.

In a speech to almost 10,000 in the Denver Coliseum Tuesday night, Eisenhower said:

"The Washington record of these past 20 months presents a picture of political connivance instead of statesmanship; of selfish grabs for power instead of respect for our concepts of balance in government; of arrogant assertion of Washington infallibility instead of readiness to trust in the wisdom of the American people."

★ ★ ★

He made no specific mention of President Kennedy or presidential aides but referred to persons "wandering aimlessly around their far frontier."

★ ★ ★

At one point Eisenhower interjected into his prepared speech: "I believe you must take an interest in politics or be ready to take orders. Take your choice."

TWO STOPS

Eisenhower's schedule called for a morning takeoff from Denver and stops at Omaha and Minneapolis, en route to Washington.

The former president began his speaking tour Monday, campaigning in California for his former vice president, Richard M. Nixon, who is running for governor against the Democratic incumbent, Edmund G. Brown.

At Boise, Idaho, Eisenhower also criticized his successors in Washington.

★ ★ ★

"I am sick and tired," he said, "of them telling the American people they did nothing for eight years (during Eisenhower's administration), that only if they will embrace the pie-in-the-sky platform of the so-called New Frontier they will be moving."

★ ★ ★

He slapped at "an unremitting and consistent grab of power—much of it in the executive department," in a speech to an airport crowd of more than 2,000 at Cheyenne, Wyo., in the afternoon.

A pair of silver spurs, presented to Eisenhower at Cheyenne, drew the comment, "I'd like to use them on some people. It would be good for their souls and get something moving."

Petoskey Woman Dies After Boat Capsizes

HARBOR SPRINGS (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Placer, 73, of Petoskey, died of a heart attack yesterday after the boat in which she and her husband Arthur, 75, were fishing capsized in Little Traverse Bay just east of here.

Placer was suffering from shock and exposure and was hospitalized at Petoskey.

Train Crash Fatal to 11 Near Warsaw

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The Warsaw-Vienna Express crashed into a derailed express from Budapest south of Warsaw Tuesday night. Transport Ministry officials said at least 11 persons were killed and more than 50 injured.

At least 16 coaches of the two fast international trains left the rails, blocking the Warsaw-Prague-Vienna main line.

The nationalities of the casualties could not be learned immediately. Officials said the number of dead and wounded might go higher.

Have Street of Silver

LONDON (UPI) — A street was paved with silver yesterday when a royal mint truck crashed and spilled three tons of coins. Every cent was recovered.

Art to Enter Campaign

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — H. Stuart Hughes, the Harvard historian who is an Independent candidate for the U.S. Senate, came up with an arty gimmick today to raise campaign funds.

★ ★ ★

The Hughes headquarters announced there will be an auction of original paintings, drawings, sculptures, poetical and musical manuscripts Oct. 19 at the Stebbens auditorium in Cambridge. The works were donated by their creators.

★ ★ ★

Artists and writers for Hughes will conduct the auction, with prices starting at $35.

Hughes is opposing Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, Democrat, and George C. Lodge, Republican.

Englishman Is Proud of Motorcycle Attack

BATH, England (UPI) — Arthur Skerman, 46, pleaded guilty yesterday to pushing over three motorcycles because they made so much noise when they whizzed past his home.

"I am proud of what I did," he said as he was fined $70.

OKs National Aquarium

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy yesterday signed a bill authorizing the Interior Department to build a $10-million national aquarium here. The bill requires that sufficient admission be charged to pay for the aquarium in 30 years.

U. S. Women Jailed in Canadian Fraud

HAMILTON (AP) — Two American women were jailed yesterday for nine months for what Judge John S. Latchford called the "bilking of a poor old lady."

★ ★ ★

"I have no regard for people who take advantage of the young or old," he said.

★ ★ ★

He sentenced Sharon Holmes, 40, of Detroit, and Jane Morris, 30, of Chicago to nine months imprisonment each.

They had earlier pleaded innocent to attempting to defraud Mrs. Frances Lazeo of Hamilton of $1,000.

Mrs. Lazeo told the court last week that Miss Holmes had offered her $1,000 if she could produce some money of her own.

★ ★ ★

Miss Holmes said she had found $3,000 in a Niagara Falls street and wanted to give it away because she felt sorry for Mrs. Lazeo.

Expect Nikita to End Farm Tour Today

MOSCOW (UPI) —Premier Nikita Khrushchev was expected back in Moscow today from a three-week tour of central Asian farmlands.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev put aside foreign affairs during his trouble-shooting tour to see what he could do personally to pep up the Soviet Union's lagging farm program.

As usual, there was no official announcement of Khrushchev's schedule, but well-informed sources said he would be back in the capital today to resume his normal duties.

He toured Turkmenia, Takjikistan and Uzbekistan, visiting cotton and corn farms urging more cultivation of previously unplanted lands and attending a number of Communist party meetings.

★ ★ ★

Reports of the tour indicated Khrushchev pushed his favorite project — cultivation of virgin lands — but limited himself to mild criticism of crop failures and other problems.

Colorado School Plans to Enter Jumbo Race

ANN ARBOR (AP) —Adams State College of Alamosa, Colo., will enter an elephant race here Oct. 26, the University of Michigan homecoming committee said yesterday.

Adams, the first off-campus entry, will send a "racing team" for the intercollegiate contest, the committee said.

Three campus organizations are sponsoring elephants in the Michigan elimination race preceding the intercollegiate meet.

Fishing Never Better in American Waters

Over the years, we have had considerable revelation of the diversity of the Russian character. But never, until recently, had it been revealed that Russians were such ardent fishermen.

They have been thought of more as devotees of boating, let's say (cf. The Volga Boatman), sitting-down dancing, the ballet, droshky riding, getting enough to eat, crackpot social experimentation and astrakhan hats.

★ ★ ★

Other matters with which they have been nationally identified are salt mines, Siberian exile, wolfhounds and shoe pounding.

★ ★ ★

But it never entered our minds that along with such a spread of interests they are nimrods of the first water.

Of particular appeal to them is deep sea fishing — in seas which, by coincidence, lap the North American continent.

Many years ago, rumors that the fish were really biting off Alaska, sent a host of fishing craft to that area, the sportsmen equipped with the most modern fishing tackle and detection equipment.

Then the Russes, a bit carried away, perhaps, by the exhilaration of their nascent marine experience, moved down our west coast, questing for more and bigger fish. One teeming area was found to be not much further than a good cast from missile-launching Vandenburg Air Force Base.

★ ★ ★

But as any real fisherman will tell you, this business really gets into your blood. By word of mouth and the finny grapevine came intelligence that smart anglers would do well to do a little trolling in the waters adjacent to Cape Canaveral, there being another area nearby beckoning with a piscatorial allure—Cuba.

★ ★ ★

All in all, the Bolshevik fishermen have about 3,000 craft off American shores. They have found that radar and electronic gear beats worms, and their trawlers are all so equipped.

Little is known publicly about the nature of the hauls, but through underwater channels come reports that a lot of suckers are being hooked.

Proposed ILA Boycott a State Dept. Assist?

It could well be that our State Department will be taken off the international hook and see the economic blockade of Cuba which it seeks, brought about by indirection.

★ ★ ★

Allied and friendly nations have pretty much turned their backs on our proposals for a trade quarantine of the island with its Soviet-backed Castro control. Thus, any do-it-ourselves measures toward that end would be fruitless.

Moreover, the U.S. plan, even if accepted in principle by other governments, is susceptible to easy evasion —with the hoped-for effectiveness unlikely.

Now, however, the International Longshoremen's Association, motivated by sentiments of staunch Americanism as enunciated by its president, JOSEPH CURRAN, is proposing a boycott of shipping involved in trade with Cuba. It would, if put into effect, really beef up the prohibitory measures with which our State Department has been shadowboxing.

★ ★ ★

The Longshoremen are polling the membership for authorization of the action espoused by its leadership, and the decision should be made within 30 days.

★ ★ ★

We have been far from agreement with the ILA as it has on occasion arbitrarily misused its power in clashes with both shipowners and government, serious economic distress often resulting. This time, however, the union's on the right track.

Accidents Are Fewer With New Freeways

Those who still feel that the high-speed expressways being built throughout the State are more conducive to accidents than the roads they replace should examine the figures.

★ ★ ★

State Highway Department officials report a two-thirds drop in accidents and casualties on the new freeways, compared to the old highways.

Basis for the study was the first full year of use on 360 miles of freeway, compared to the last full year of use on 377 miles of old routes.

★ ★ ★

Accidents were down 67 per cent, fatalities 76 per cent, and injuries some 64 per cent. This indicates that speed alone is not the chief cause of the highway accident toll.

It is speed combined with crowded conditions, inadequate design and too many entrances for autos which bring about the grisly figures of death and injury.

As the network spreads further across the State, we hope the death toll figures will continue to decline.

Abe Calls Candidate Wearer of DEM Tail

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

Whenever a letter comes to the MAT with the return address of

Wilbur J. Seger

Lake Orion, he knows there'll be something good inside. There is.

Our correspondent engages in historical research, and his latest revelation is that the first known use of "Michigander" was by none other than Abraham Lincoln.

★ ★ ★

Speaking in the House of Representatives in 1848, Lincoln used it as he depreciated the Democratic boom of Michigan's Lewis Cass as their nominee for president.

Here is the pertinent concluding paragraph of the speech:

"In my hurry, I was very near to closing on the subject of military tails before I was done with it. There is one entire article of the sort I have not discussed yet; I mean the military tail you Democrats are now engaged in dovetailing on to the great MICHIGANDER."

★ ★ ★

It appears, however, that the United States Government Printing Office Style Manual in its revision of January, 1, 1945, nixed the term. According to it, we are all MICHIGANITES.

Lincoln, incidentally, after he became President, had four brothers-in-law serving in the Confederate Army.

A lady of the MAT's acquaintance, nameless because our doghouse is unheated, on reading of the approaching postage increase from four to five cents, wondered whether it wouldn't be a good idea to stock up on the fours!

David Lawrence Says:

JFK Bites Hand That Feeds Him

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy seems to be getting a bit contradictory in his weekend campaigning for an increase in the Democratic majority in Congress.

LAWRENCE

On the one hand, he says he wants a majority in Congress that will support his legislative measures. But, on the other hand, he is asking at the same time for the defeat of those Republicans who did vote to support important measures in his program.

Take, for instance, the housing bill which was passed last year. The President says that "82 per cent of the Republican congressmen from the state of Michigan voted against it." But he still asks for the defeat of the 18 per cent who voted for the measure.

Also, with respect to the bill for urban affairs, Mr. Kennedy asks for the defeat of the 27 per cent of the Republican delegation from Michigan who voted to support his bill.

On the Peace Corps bill, Mr. Kennedy received the support of 27 per cent of the Republican delegation from Michigan, but he nevertheless asks for their defeat.

The same thing is true with reference to the trade expansion bill, on which he received 27 per cent of the Republican congressmen's votes, but the President wants those Republican congressmen from Michigan defeated just the same.

AVOIDS SOUTH

Mr. Kennedy is asking the voters to defeat even those Republicans who agree with him about the welfare of their country.

The President knows that most Democratic senators and representatives from the South have voted against several of his measures, but he is not asking the voters to defeat them. He is not even campaigning in those states.

He isn't calling for their defeat, or even the defeat of Democratic senators in the North who have opposed certain important measures he has proposed.

Today the Democratic party has virtually a two-thirds majority in both houses of Congress. But Mr. Kennedy doesn't think this is enough. He evidently wants a four-fifths majority in both houses — more than any President of either party has had in the last half century.

Former President Eisenhower seems to feel that Mr. Kennedy is striving for a one-party system. In a speech this week in Los Angeles, Mr. Eisenhower, noting that the Democrats have a 3-to-2 majority in the House and a 2-to-1 margin in the Senate, asked:

"What does he want? One-party government? That's the thing we're supposed to be against."

In the Soviet Union, of course, they do not permit free elections, but the men at the top of the government do select the candidates.

Mr. Kennedy's real trouble is with members of his own party—especially the Democrats from the South. Instead of going before the people in the primaries in those states and expressing his opposition — as other presidents of his party have done — he refrains from any form of political attack.

Indeed, he fears that he may antagonize Democrats who, upon re-election, will continue to be chairmen of important committees.

PUNISHES BACKERS

To accomplish indirectly, therefore, what he cannot do directly, Mr. Kennedy proposes to punish Republicans who support him in order to get Democrats elected who presumably will vote his way on every issue instead of on selected measures.

So it all adds up to a score of Republicans who have helped the President out of many a legislative hole in the last two sessions of the present Congress.

It's a declaration of political war against the very bloc of Republicans without whose help Mr. Kennedy could not have presented to the country the record of accomplishment on which he now asks the people to elect a higher proportion of Democrats than ever before.

★ ★ ★

Will the President be able to get any considerable "bipartisan" support again in Congress after his tactics in the present campaign, which are bound to alienate Republicans who voted with him?

It's certainly a paradoxical if not contradictory position for a President of the United States to present in all candor to the voters in a congressional election.

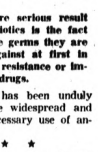
Dr. Wayne Brandstadt Says:

Overusing Antibiotics Nullifies Curing Power

There is no doubt penicillin and the many similar preparations have been a boon to mankind. Although they have saved many lives, they have not been an unmixed blessing.



★ ★ ★

As with most other substances that enter the human body, some persons are found to have an allergy to one or more of these antibiotics BRANDSTADT and suffer a reaction when the drug is given.

An even more serious result of giving antibiotics is the fact that the disease germs they are so effective against at first in time develop a resistance or immunity to the drugs.

This process has been unduly hastened by the widespread and frequently unnecessary use of antibiotics.

★ ★ ★

Drugs that are primarily life-savers for persons who have an overwhelming infection or in whom infection is a disastrous complication of some chronic debilitating disease, have all too often been given for such trivial conditions as the common cold.

CLAMOR EXPECTED

It is human nature for anyone who is sick, even from something that is known to run a short, harmless course, to clamor loudly for relief.

★ ★ ★

An acquaintance of mine has such a low tolerance to the ordinary discomforts of an otherwise pleasant life that he badgers his doctor into giving him the latest antibiotic whenever he has a slight cold or a low fever.

This needless and essentially selfish action not only does this man no good, it helps to nullify the effectiveness of these important drugs so that when this same man (or anyone else) really needs such a drug it will be powerless to help him.

So far, the research chemist and biologists employed by our large drug manufacturers have met this problem by discovering new antibiotics and by modifying the old ones.

★ ★ ★

A time may come when this can no longer be counted on to pull us out of our self-made dilemma.

LET DOCTOR DECIDE

The moral is obvious: Let your doctor decide whether or not you need an antibiotic.

★ ★ ★

Q — Can sucking antibiotic pastilles over a long period cause sore mouth and gums?

A — Several reports indicate that this is possible. When a sore mouth develops while you are using the pastilles why not discontinue their use and see whether the soreness disappears promptly? If it doesn't, you should have your doctor try to find the cause.

The Country Parson

'Junk' Mail

The Hillsdale Daily News

A year ago the House expanded congressional privileges by allowing members to send franked mail to "residents" instead of providing full name and address. Thus the postman had to deliver to everyone on his route. The Senate protested, but the House refused to back down. On a test vote in April the House refused again to junk the "junk" mail.

Recently the Senate amended the annual legislative appropriation bill to bar the "junk" mail privilege. And the House finally saw the light. By a vote of 246 to 135, it ended the practice. Constituents, already deep in unwanted litter in their mailboxes, will be grateful, even if they may be excused for wondering why the House ever approved the practice in the first place.

One thing the free world has lacked in the struggle with communism is an ideology to capture the minds of the people of the underprivileged nations. Apparently we have such an ideology in moral rearmament.

★ ★ ★

Everywhere MRA is on the march.

In South America, the students in the university where former Vice President Nixon was stoned on his visit to Lima, have been changed by MRA to such a point that they launched a play 22 Condor which has influenced the thinking of people throughout Latin America.

★ ★ ★

In Brazil, when a Castro-type takeover threatened the poverty-stricken Northeast region, MRA moved in at the request of the Brazilian government. Confirmed Communists returned to the Church, rebellion changed to reform, the plot of the Communists to take over Brazil and then the whole area from Patagonia to the Panama Canal was thwarted. The Brazilian Armed Forces looked on in wonderment.

★ ★ ★

In South Viet Nam the faith of the people was bolstered by MRA to resist Chinese Communist infiltration. The Vietnamese government is sponsoring 400 mobile film and sound units which are traveling by truck and sampan to every village to spread the message of this movement dedicated to morality.

The whole free world should look with respect toward Mackinac Island, Michigan, where MRA sponsored a worldwide assembly "to give a positive direction to the hemisphere and save a crumbling civilization."

Blockade

The Spokane Spokesman-Review

The Soviet Union has now officially acknowledged an agreement to supply more military aid to the Castro Communists in Cuba.

★ ★ ★

Since April of last year the Communists have defiantly rendered massive military and economic assistance to the Cuban regime and have infiltrated further in the governments of other Western Hemisphere nations. The need to consider a United States blockade on arms shipments is now greater than ever before.

★ ★ ★

This nation must recognize that Cuba may be used as a staging area and supply point for transshipment of Communist arms to other Latin-American countries. The members of the Organization of American States (OAS) should, of course, be urged to join a concerted effort to make a blockade effective.

The United States has the naval power and the air power to halt the new flow of arms expected as a result of the new Moscow agreement with Castro. When will the administration take a realistic look at what has been happening in Cuba and what can be done to curb this menace to inter-American peace and security?

★ ★ ★

The Senate voted 57 to 24 to stop all surplus farm products going to any government dominated by communism and then modified it to recognize Yugoslavia and Poland. The Church World Service has been carrying on this "fine food program" with these Communist countries. It is a sin to deal with such atheists.

'Sale of Bonds Is Deplorable'

The tendency to distort the holy day by political issues is deplored. Appeals for Israel Bonds are a desecration of the holiest day of our faith. Lawrence G. Laskey said "constant pressure" had resulted in the conducting of Israeli Bond sales in "practically all congregations" on the high holy days. Glamorized appeals were employed through full-page ads, "to help provide the economic strength necessary for development of the Negev (Israel's Desert)."

★ ★ ★

We must recapture the prophetic significance of Yom Kippur. The theme is repentance, prayer and righteousness; but its real significance goes to what the Lord requires of man. Modern Jews should harken to the voice of Isaiah who asked to "loose the chains of wickedness; free the oppressed; give bread to the hungry; shelter the poor; and cover the naked." The goal of Yom Kippur is in justice and righteousness as can only be exercised in our dealings with our fellowmen.

'Shouldn't JFK Serve Everyone?'

Does our President serve just the Democratic party or is he supposed to serve Democrats, Republicans and independents?

Given Good Care at State Hospital

Seven years ago we committed our beloved mother to the State Hospital, but it would not have been such a painful decision if we had known then of the wonderful care she would receive.

She was given the most kindness and consideration and was treated with respect and dignity.

I hope this letter will help to ease the minds of others who may be faced with a similar decision.

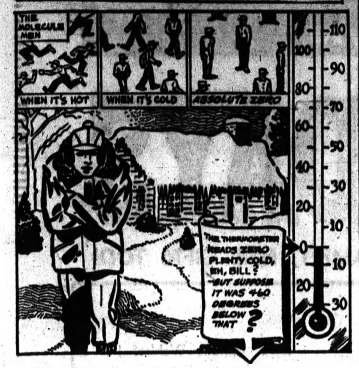
Junior Editors Quiz on TEMPERATURE



QUESTION: How does absolute zero differ from the zero we talk about?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Everything is made up of the tiny particles called "molecules;" in our picture, we label them "molecule men." These little men obtain energy from the sun and are constantly moving around, although we can't see them. The faster they move, the hotter they are.

This heat movement is fastest in the kind of substance called a gas; so if these was a point where even the gas molecule men would stop moving, it would mean there was no heat at all. Actually, we can't chill gases as far down as this point, although we have come near it. But we can use such a point as this imaginary bottom of a scale of temperature, and this is what is meant by "absolute zero."

Our picture shows the regular Fahrenheit scale, the one we use on our thermometers. It's zero around Stephen's house by this scale.

But in another scale, called the "absolute scale," the zero (absolute zero) is 460 degrees lower than the Fahrenheit one. So, you can say that absolute zero is 460 degrees below the zero we talk about. B-r-r—let's enjoy the warm sun outside and try to forget the whole thing!

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Locate a copy of the National Geographic Magazine for September 1958. On page 305 you will find one of the most thrilling photographs ever made. Dr. Erwin W. Muller explains that he chilled the tip of a platinum needle to almost absolute zero, the point where atoms (like molecules) stop moving. Then he took this picture, the first ever published which actually showed atoms.

Cat Owners Howl Over License Plan

NEW PROVIDENCE, N.J. (AP) —Cat owners here are howling.

They object to a proposed ordinance that would require registration of their pets. The cats would have to wear a collar or be tattooed. cost—$2.

★ ★ ★

The ordinance comes up for a public hearing Oct. 22.

★ ★ ★

The borough council made changes in a first draft of the proposed ordinance. It deleted a phrase that referred to cats as a nuisance.

Rationing Required

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The governor of Central Java has listed rice, salt, white sugar, salted fish & kerosene, soap, coconut oil, and textiles for rationing, the news agency Pia said yesterday.

Tass Reports Finding 8th Century Mosque

SAMARKAND, U.S.S.R. (UPI)—Soviet archeologists have found a large mosque, part of a temple built in the 8th century, at the site of the ancient city of Afrasiab in Uzbekistan Province, the news agency Tass reported yesterday.

Telstar Set for New First

DETROIT (UPI) — Burroughs Corp. will take an important role Thursday in a Telstar communications experiment.

Burroughs scientists will send test messages from a newly-developed computer at the firm's Paoli, Pa., laboratory and receive them on a high speed electrostatic printer at headquarters here. It will be the first use of Telstar to relay complicated computer language through space.

Photographer Held for Snapping Jackie's Return

WASHINGTON (AP) — A news photographer covering Jacqueline Kennedy's return from a three-month vacation was held briefly by National Airport police after a Secret Service agent ruled him off limits and confiscated three rolls of film.

★ ★ ★

The film was returned at the White House later. Press secretary Pierre Salinger said "it was a misunderstanding."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Kennedy and her two children flew in from Newport, R.I., late Tuesday amid elaborate precautions to guard her privacy.

Photographer Roddey Mims and courier John Steinberger, both of United Press International were taken into custody by airport police who said the two had entered a restricted section of the airport.

WIRE FENCE

Mrs. Kennedy's Air Force plane taxied to a remote part of the field, far from the military and commercial passenger terminals.

A wire fence rings the area, used primarily for parking of airplanes. Signs reading "restricted area, keep out" are posted along the fence.

The White House had announced the First Lady's expected arrival time. A White House motorcade and Secret Service men waited near the fence for the plane.

It taxied to a stop almost half a mile away. The motorcade moved out onto the field to meet the First Lady and the Kennedys' two children, Caroline and John Jr. Newsmen were kept behind the fence.

SAW NO SIGNS

Mims and Steinberger, riding the courier's motorcycle, followed the White House cars across the field.

Mims said later they entered the area through an open gate without seeing the signs.

Mims said he was taking pictures with a long-range lens about 100 yards from the plane when he felt a hand on his shoulder.

Mims said he turned and saw Clint Hill, Mrs. Kennedy's personal Secret Service agent.

"You're under arrest," Mims said Hill told him. "I'm with the Secret Service. I'd like to have that film."

★ ★ ★

Edgar Wildy, assistant Secret Service chief for security, said that although Hill spoke to the photographer "he did not confine or arrest him. That was done by the airport police."

Wildy said the film was confiscated because the pictures were taken "under circumstances that were not proper."

Airport police took Mims and Steinberger to a terminal, where they were questioned by H. F. Fletcher of the Federal Aviation Agency. Both were quickly released.

A spokesman for UPI said the news service "considers the incident closed."

Old Soldiers Must Go

TUNBRIDGE WELLS, England (UPI) —Postal authorities said today they had removed the honor roll of postmen who died in World War I because it clashed with the post office's new decor.

Mah Jong Outlawed

MANILA (UPI) — Education Secretary Alejandro Roces announced in a memorandum distributed yesterday that school teachers in the Philippines have been ordered not to play Mah Jongg because the old Chinese game is too time-consuming.

Soviets Expel Farmers From Private Land

MOSCOW (AP). — Six Georgian farmers were expelled from their private land holdings by a collective farm board, Pravda reported yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The action represented what could become the greatest pressure yet to force farmers to devote all their time to work on the big collective and state farms instead of tilling their private holdings.

Pravda reported a collective farm group at the village of Khtisi, "decided that in future the collective farmers will not conciliate idlers, but will create in our collective farm an intolerabe condition for them, for all those who infringe on sacred public property."

Originally collective farms were made up by consolidating private holdings. Each farmer forced into the collective was allowed to continue to farm one strip of land, usually less than two acres.

★ ★ ★

On these private tilled strips, more than half the livestock of the Soviet Union has been raised for market.

Pravda's reporting of this action of the Georgian collective amounted to formal approval by the party organ for similar action elsewhere.

Many farmers spend the least possible time on the big collectives. By tilling their own small plots, raising vegetables and fruit for town markets, and supplying milk and fresh meat, they have made much more money than they could dream of getting for their labor on the collective farms.

Indonesia Wants K to See JFK at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Indonesia called yesterday for a meeting at the United Nations between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev while the general assembly is in session.

Sukarno's Wirjopranoto, permanent representative of Indonesia, in a policy statement to the U. N. General Assembly, said Kennedy and Khrushchev should negotiate on the problems of Germany and other divided countries.

He cited colonialism, the gap between rich and poor nations and the forcible division of countries as the world's chief sources of tension today.

Dems Attacked on Constitution

Roberts Blasts Rivals of Document

State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Pontiac, yesterday blasted Michigan Democrats for opposing the state's proposed new constitution only because Republicans produced it.

Roberts backed his charge that Democratic opposition to the document is "narrow partisanship" by citing support for the new constitution by the nonpartisan citizen groups who spearheaded the drive for a constitutional convention.

"Michigan Democrats have said the educational provisions in the new constitution are steps backwards," he said. "Yet, the Michigan Education Association declares the provisions are vast improvements over the old.

"Michigan Democrats also say the judicial article is also a step backwards. However, a committee of the State Bar of Michigan says the judicial article is a vast improvement."

★ ★ ★

Roberts charged that Democrats are against the provisions that all judges be elected on a nonpartisan basis "because of this loss of a particularly attractive partisan political plum."

All of the nonpartisan groups who fought for con-con — League of Women Voters, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Parent-Teacher Association, MEA, American Association of University Women, Michigan Municipal League and Citizens for Michigan — "agree that while not perfect in every form, the proposed new constitution is far superior to the antiquated 1908 document," Roberts said.

He added that other large influential groups such as the Farm Bureau also support the new constitution.

Con-con was a mandate of the people, Roberts said, as was the election of 99 Republican and 45 Democratic delegates.

★ ★ ★

"It must be pretty obvious that the only reason the Democrats are against the constitution is because it was the Republicans who were capable of producing superior government in the form of a superior constitution," he said.

Spanish Censorship 'Almost Disappeared'

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Spanish Information Minister Manuel Fraga Iribarne said yesterday that press censorship has "almost disappeared in Spain."

He said this was "an experiment which will be replaced by new liberalized press law aimed toward throwing public opinion into greater relief."

Primitive Yemenis Rejoice in New Republic of Army

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

TAIZZ, Yemen (AP)—A young lieutenant lounged back on the silk-cushioned throne of the Imam of Yemen, thumped a submachine gun on his knee and cried: "Long live the republic."

The cry would have meant beheading a month ago.

Now it is repeated by various Yemeni people through the fortress-like stone villages and mud brick plateau towns in the heartland of Yemen, where the army seized power two weeks ago and ended the world's most backward monarchy.

Armed skirmishes have been reported along Yemen's undefined mountain and desert frontier with Saudi Arabia where refugee Yemeni princes, led by the Seif al Islam (Sword of Islam) Al Hassan, pretender to the 1,102-year-old throne, are trying to rally support for a comeback.

But from the southern border to the capital at Sana tribesmen appear delighted with the new republic.

WAVE AT TRUCKS

Belying Western intelligence reports that the Yemenis hate foreigners and shoot and plunder everything that moves, villagers wave happily at trucks that bounce along the rutted, dusty rock track—the only north-south route in the country. The vehicles bear pictures of the revolt leader, Col. Abdullah Sallal, and U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser on the windshields.

★ ★ ★

The first group of Western correspondents to drive into Yemen in six years found the barrier at the forbidden frontier was a plank laid across the road beside a row of thatched tea houses.

A paunchy officer in sarong and with bare feet, two ballpoint pens and a hooklike dagger sticking from his belt, shook hands all around and waved the car past without checking passports.

NEWSMEN INSIDE

Until three weeks ago, any visitor needed the Imam's personal permission to enter the country.

At the next village of Alrahdeh, correspondents were held inside the rock-walled governor's compound while tribesmen with rifles clustered around the car shouting "Ash al Shab" (long live the people).

★ ★ ★

Within a whitewashed room, with armed warriors in red and green turbans lounging on cushions on the floor and a Soviet-made burp gun hanging on the wall, a fierce-looking retainer produced bottles of Pepsi-Cola and the governor said: "Ahla wa shlan" (Welcome).

Three jolting hours away, over the winding mountain track at Taizz, soldiers carrying crates of rifles from Salah Palace gleefully unpacked a case of brandy from a vault and said: "You see, the Imam violated the Koran."

MEN PARADE

Demonstrators waving liquor bottles paraded past the foreign legations in the quiet stone-built city dominated by Debel Sabra (Mount Patience) and the hilltop Turkish fortress where the Imam kept tribal hostages.

Taizz was the capital of Imam Ahmad, a bulging-eyed old fanatic who ruled Yemen by terror for 14 years.

Riddled with disease and an old bullet wound, he died in a white-painted iron cot in Ourdy Palace here last month and left the throne to his son, Mohammad Al-Badr.

A half dozen tank shells tore into Al-Badr's palace in Sana a week later and the monarchy ended.

HEADS BENT

"When we walked in the courtyard here," said Gen. Ali Gaifi, the barefoot chief of the Imam's bodyguard, "we had to keep our heads bent so as not to see the royal women. Now our army will be a proud one, like President Nasser's in Egypt."

While the Imam's favorite white mare nickered in a stall at the palace gate, soldiers chopped a padlock off the doors to the Imam's audience chamber, a green hall with carpets and floor cushions lit by stark fluorescent lights and a cheap chandelier.

★ ★ ★

The scent of incense from a brass burner hung in the shabby room. The broken glass in wall cupboards showed a curious collection of the king's personal effects—a half set of dominoes, a broken toothbrush, a box of American chewing gum, an electric hair dryer for his beard, a Koran, and photographs of Mecca and his son framed in mother of pearl.

Few Western housewives would set foot in the kitchen—a dirt-spattered room with no gadgets except a refrigerator and a tin tray bearing a picture of Britain's Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Phillip.

Judd Unleashes Blitz on Dems

Tells Kent Republicans Nation Needs GOP

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Congressman Walter Judd of Minnesota was talking about the Republican approach to free enterprise and how only the GOP could put the United States "back on the right course" last night when he addressed 600 Kent County Republicans.

★ ★ ★

Judd, en route home to Minneapolis for a campaign visit, blitzed the Democrats unhesitatingly.

He called the Kennedy administration a "me-too" government and said the New Frontier concept of welfare government was "sit down and we'll bring it to you."

"We're the party of the people and they're the party of the party" Judd emphasized and said Kennedy "doesn't want a Democratic Congress — he already has that — but instead wants a Congress which he can control."

"Fortunately, for this country, there a good many Democrats in Congress, who like Republicans, can add and subtract," Judd said..

★ ★ ★

The Minnesota Republican, who was a medical missionary in China prior to his election to Congress 20 years ago, said his experiences on the House Foreign Affairs Committee had taught him that peoples in other lands had two fears:

"Fear of what the Communists will do and what the United States won't do."

He tried to answer Republican critics who call the GOP a "negative party." He said, "we're not negative and never have been.

"We're for freedom of man under law which works. We're conservative so that we may have something with which to be liberal."

"Decision or default," Judd suggested, "is our decision to make as Americans . . . and it is a political decision. That's why we are in politics and why government is so important to you."

★ ★ ★

He was warmly received at the occasion, where Republicans had contributed $100 each for their steak dinners.

Mitzi Teaches More Than 3 Rs (Ruff, Ruff, Ruff)

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A Parchment second grade teacher is using a puppy for motivating her students into learning their three "Rs," and painting, time, health, science and citizenship.

Also the need for discipline and training.

Using Mitzi, a full-blooded beagle born last February is the idea of Carol E. Hyme, an imaginative teacher in her fourth year with Parchment School District.

Other animals had been used by Miss Hyme before, but without the success achieved with Mitzi. The reason is that Mitzi loves her job and her "students" — and the students love Mitzi.

"A hamster wouldn't give the children love," Miss Hyme explained. "Mitzi does."

So two apples plus two apples makes four apples has made way for two cans of dog food plus two cans of dog food equals four cans of dog food and a bounteous ration for Mitzi.

Learning to tell time has a special significance now, Mitzi has several scheduled daily walks and the "child of the day" who has the privilege of caring for her has to know when the time for the walk arrives.

Writing about Mitzi is more than the usual "What I did on my summer vacation." Dog stories are the "best sellers" on the class bookshelves.

HEALTH WATCHED

Mitzi's health is important to the children, and through this they learn the importance of good hygiene habits. Laws are necessary, the children discover, to protect dogs as well as people.

The black and tan puppy also aids the children in primary science education, such as bone structure.

With Mitzi present, Miss Hyme can point out to her young artists that dogs have ears, something frequently forgotten by the youngsters.

* * *

Not the least of the children's education is seeing the puppy's need for training and gentle discipline. Like children, puppies sometimes exhibit more vitality than is necessary to the occasion.

Miss Hyme obtained permission from Parchment Supt. Fred W. Hall to get a dog.

"Her reasons were sound," Hall recalls. "Although not every teacher could carry this off, I had confidence Miss Hyme could."

WARM WELCOME

Mitzi does not confine her duties to motivating the youngsters to learn. Recently, a shy new student refused to enter the classroom.

Mitzi went into the hallway and the girl petted her. Mitzi returned to the classroom. The girl followed and was soon secure in the group of loyal Mitzi fans.

Plan Columbus Day Festivities

Final plans for the annual Columbus Day dinner and dance of the Italian-American Clubs are being made. The affair will take place Saturday, Oct. 13, at the club hall on North Tilden Avenue.

Dinner, featuring both American and Italian foods, will be served from 7:30 to 10:30.

★ ★ ★

Dancing will continue until 1:30 a.m. Guy Darro and his band will play.

Members of the women's auxiliary who are working include Mrs. Carl Grassi, tickets; Mrs. Guilio Spadafore, publicity; Mrs. Joseph Spadafore, Mrs. George Cummings, Mrs. Russel Ciucci and Mrs. Joseph Pollina, food and dining room.

The men's club is taking charge of decorations. George Cummings, Roger Davis, Sam Calabrese, Frank Soda and Sam Rotunda form the committee.

"He went thataway!" Tracing on a globe the route that Columbus took 470 years ago are members of the committee planning the annual Columbus Day dinner dance of the Italian-American Club. Frank Soda is at the left. With him are Mrs. Joseph Pollina (center) and Mrs. George Cummings. All live in Waterford Township. The dance will be held Saturday, Oct. 13 at the Club Hall on North Tilden.

Cast Gets Ready for Nov. Play

Waterford Township's Lakeland Players has announced the cast for their Nov. 9-10 staging of the "Caine Mutiny Court Martial."

Playing the role of Lt. Maryk, the misguided hero will be Verne Vackaro. Alan Levy will portray Lt. Cmdr. Challee and Don Dryden will take the part of the defense attorney, Lt. Greenwald. Dryden played last season in "Mr. Roberts."

Other members of the cast include Jack McCaffrey, Bob Vackaro, Leroy Conley, Keith Garnett, Bob Russell, Harry Hummell, Jerry Lewis, Howie Heitzig, Al Pavlish, Earl Freeman, John Makowski, Bill Green, John Johns, Ken Young, Ron Bridges, and Bob Crumpton.

The show will be presented at the Community Activities, Inc., building, 5640 Williams Lake Road in round staging.

Politeness Expected on Phone

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: One evening last week I called my brother on the telephone to ask him about a certain matter. His wife answered and I said, "May I please speak to John?" She called him to the telephone and we spoke about ten minutes.

I have heard that my sister-in-law is quite peeved because I did not tell her who I was before asking to speak to my brother and thinks that I was very rude to her. I can't for the life of me see how I committed a rudeness, but for my own satisfaction I would like to know if you think I was rude?

A: If you recognized the voice of the person answering as that of your sister-in-law, you were rude not to have said, "Hello Mary, this is Tim, may I speak to John?"

★ ★

Q: I always find it embarrassing when dining with others and I happen to get a piece of tough meat or gristle in my mouth that I cannot swallow. What is the best and most inconspicuous way to get rid of this unwanted morsel?

A: First of all you make the food as dry as you can in your mouth and then you take it between thumb and other four fingers pressed together forming a screen and lay it down on the plate. This, of course, should be done as quickly as possible without drawing attention to it.

★ ★ ★

Q: The other day I was walking on the street with a friend of mine and I met a girl I know from school. I said "hello" to her and my friend criticized me for doing this, saying that a man always waits for a woman to speak first. Will you please tell me if this is true and if I was wrong to say "hello" first?

A: Most correctly a man does wait for a woman to speak first, but between friends when no doubt exists that the woman recognizes the man, this rule is never observed.

★ ★ ★

Q: Some friends of ours recently moved into a new house. My husband and I have been invited to their housewarming party. Instead of buying the usual knick-knack, I was thinking of taking a fancy basket of assorted groceries as a present.

My husband thinks that such a present would be an insult and would imply that our friends cannot afford to buy groceries. Will you please give me your opinion?

A: Even a fancy basket of groceries would not be a suitable choice for a housewarming present. A potted plant or the usual knick-knacks for the house would be better. Ash trays, for instance, are useful objects of which there never seem to be enough.

★ ★ ★

Q: I have recently been elected secretary of a woman's club, and as such I keep a record of the proceedings at the meetings. In writing up the minutes, I am at a loss to know how I should designate the members making motions during the meetings. That is, should I say, "A motion was made by Mrs. John Blank, Mrs. Blank or Mary Blank?"

A: You say "Mrs. Blank" unless there are two Mrs. Blanks, in which case you would say, "Mrs. John Blank."

Young Musician Pleases Tuesday Musicale Audience

By MARY BUCK

Tuesday Musicale opened its 39th season Tuesday afternoon at Grace Lutheran Church with an outstanding musical program.

Following a brief business meeting, chairman of the day, Mrs. W. A. Schmitz, introduced James V. Tocco, 18-year-old pianist.

He captured the attention of the large audience with his complete oneness with his instrument.

From the first chords of Mozart's "Sonata in A Minor," his control of the keyboard through effortless technique was clearly evident. Throughout the three movements of the sonata his performance gave to Mozart the precision, grace, balance and beauty that the composer requires.

Mr. Tocco, who has been studying piano since the age of 6, is now a music major in the liberal arts college at Wayne State University.

Second on the program was Ellistine C. Beall, lyric soprano, presently teaching music and English at Jefferson Junior High School.

★ ★ ★

The two classic art songs "La Costanza in Amor," by Caldara and "Bist du Bei Mir," by Bach were performed in Italian and German, respectively, with fine enunciation and simplicity of style.

Performed next was Mozart's "Alleluia," which is technically very demanding and is well suited to Mrs. Beall's voice.

★ ★ ★

The power and brilliance of her upper range were displayed in her joyously spirited finale. Her final selections, Lippe's "How Do I Love Thee," and Shaw's arrangement of the pensive ballad "Black Is the Color of My True Love's Hair" were performed expressively and were particularly well received. Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer accompanied Mrs. Beall with skillful technique and sympathetic support.

Mr. Tocco concluded the program with three numbers. In Chopin's "Ballade in G Minor" he displayed again his mastery of the piano with singing tones, effortless arpeggios and mellow bass notes.

★ ★ ★

His interpretation brought out Chopin's enchanting melodies and many-colored harmonies. In "Ondine," by the French impressionistic composer Ravel, Mr. Tocco demonstrated a delicate, controlled touch as he created a mystic atmosphere with tremolos and rippling arpeggios.

His final number "Toccata," by the contemporary composer Tcherepnin again was performed with complete ease and control.

★ ★ ★

Members were greeted at the door by Mrs. Fred Coleman and Mrs. R. V. Thurston.

Mrs. R. A. Armstrong and Mrs. C. T. Ekelund arranged the tea table centerpiece which was presided over by former presidents, Mrs. J. B. Forman and Mrs. D. B. Hogue.

★ ★ ★

Social committee cochairmen, Mrs. J. R. Jenkins and Mrs. P. E. Rowston, were assisted by Mrs. O. R. Briney, Mrs. N. L. Cheal, Mrs. W. J. Freyermuth, Mrs. J. C. Napley, Mrs. H. W. Perry, Mrs. F. J. Poole and Mrs. E. L. Windeler.

OMS Sorority Plans Cooperative Dinner

Mrs. Merrill Petrie opened her home on Cherokee Road Tuesday evening to members of Omega Mu Sigma Sorority. Lola Storm assisted as cohostess.

★ ★ ★

Plans were completed for the annual cooperative dinner in November when new members will be introduced. Serving on the committee are the hostess Mrs. M. A. Snyder, Mrs. Russell Gustafson, Mrs. Orville Springer and Mrs. Leo Halfpenny.

The group will participate in the forthcoming Organizational Leadership Institute at Michigan State University Oakland.

★ ★ ★

A donation to the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra was approved.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Carroll Harper will be hostess for the next meeting.

Aim at $65,000 Goal for MSUO Grants

A total of $65,000 for scholarships in 1963-64 was the goal set by the Michigan State University Oakland Foundation Scholarship Committee when they met Monday in the campus' Oakland Center.

Mrs. Edmund L. Windeler, recently named chairman of the group, appointed Mrs. Albert Stanker of West Bloomfield Township and Mrs. Paul Christensen, Rochester, chairmen and cochairman of the finance committee.

Mrs. Eugene Foley of Birmingham and Mrs. Charles Hucker, Rochester are working on plans for the 1964 lecture series. Mrs. A. C. Gerard and Mrs. L. L. Colbert, both of Bloomfield Hills, will be cochairmen of the Hunt Fair to be held in conjunction with the Bloomfield Horse Show.

Others on the finance committee are Mrs. Addison Oakley and Mrs. Harold Howlett of Pontiac; Mrs. S. D. Steiner, Birmingham; Mrs. Paul Terry, West Bloomfield Township; Mrs. John Bell, Clarkston; and Mrs. Edward S. Wellock and Mrs. John Shenefield of Bloomfield Hills.

Assisting with the third lecture series will be Mrs. Russell Nowels and Mrs. Walter Reuther of Rochester; Mrs. Neil Wasserberger and Mrs. Collis Scott of Pontiac; and Mrs. Robert Clift of Novi.

Mrs. June Matthews, executive secretary of MSUO Foundation, announced that the committee had surpassed its 1962-63 goal of $60,000, although a final report has not been compiled.

Because the two-semester tuition has been increased, and because of the additional new students, the amount to be raised has been increased, she said.

Scout Talk Slated for PTA Unit

Boy scouts, girl scouts and campfire girls will appear at Wednesday night's meeting of the Leggett Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association to report on their various activities.

The meeting program, which also will include a business session and serving of refreshments, will begin at 8 p.m.

David Grayson Parent - Teacher Association in Waterford Township will meet 8 p.m. Thursday for the grade level program. Refreshments will be served by the kindergarten room mothers.

Airs 'Decorating' to Child Study Club

Waterford Child Study Club members heard a talk on interior decorating by Mrs. Anne Wilson Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Fred Feekart on Meadowleigh Lane, Waterford Township. Mrs. John Sawyer shared hostess honors.

Be Patient, Abby Says

It's Pla(y)tonic Love

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Is there really such a thing as "platonic friendship" between a married man and the wife of another man when they act in the following manner? Always sitting as close to each other as possible. Holding hands under the table. Playing "footsies." (He got MY foot once thinking it was hers.) Kissing hello and goodbye at every opportunity with a lingering kiss.

ABBY

I would like to know because the husband is mine and the woman is supposed to be a good friend of mine. I have refused invitations to be with this couple and I don't invite them here, but we have mutual friends and meet elsewhere occasionally. Am I being childish? My husband says I am.

AVERAGE WIFE

DEAR AVERAGE WIFE: If this is a "platonic friendship," then Webster is wrong. Your husband is making a fool of himself. But be patient. Avoid your "good friend" and do it conspicuously. If she asks what's the matter — tell her.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My father says he likes to eat dog food. He says it is the same as ground beef and as pure as anything you can buy at the meat counter for humans. Can you please tell me what is the matter with him?

RUBY

DEAR RUBY: Dog food may be "pure" — but it is intended for dogs. I hope your father doesn't start chasing cars.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: There is a girl at school who is giving me a problem. She is trying to horn in on me and my best friend. There is nothing wrong with this girl, but she doesn't know when she isn't wanted.

She "saves" two places for us at the lunch table every day so she can eat with us. She waits at my locker or my girl friend's so she can walk down the hall with us. How can we get rid of her without hurting her feelings?

TROUBLES

DEAR TROUBLES: We all have to put up with people who like us more than we like them. Be a little more patient and understanding.

Plan Smorgasbord

Bethel 5, International Order of Job's Daughters, will hold a benefit smorgasbord 5 to 7 p.m. Saturday in the civic room of the First Federal Savings of Oakland.

★ ★ ★

Chairman of the project is Pamela Tibbetts, honored queen. Eleanor Stuart, head of publicity, includes on her committee Narlene Kibbie, Pamela Powers, Dale Ann and Susan Caswell, Edna and Linda Isenberg, Sandra Norton and Donna Chambers.

Sandra Coombs is handling tickets. The affair is open to the public and tickets will be available at the door.

To Serve Pancakes

Bethel 40, International Order of Job's Daughters, will sponsor the annual pancake-and-sausage supper 5 to 7 p.m. Saturday in Roosevelt Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Lester Otes, guardian, and Kenneth Bain, associate guardian, opened the Monday evening meeting in the Temple, with honored queen, Pamela Pritchard, presiding.

George Roup of the Michigan Masonic Home in Alma has been designated the new adopted "grandfather" of the bethel.

The next meeting will be Friendship Night Oct. 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the temple.

Church Group Studies Bible

The Marbach Group of the First Presbyterian Church met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Robert Anderson on Silverside Drive, Waterford Township. Cohostesses were Mrs. John McGrath and Mrs. D. E. Kemmamer.

Mrs. Elmer Barker gave the Bible study from the Book of Romans.

Guests were Mrs. Hazel Anderson of Rosshire Court and her out-of-town visitor, Mrs. H. C. Haynes of Foley, Ala.

Women's Group Holds Luncheon

The Past Noble Grands of Pontiac Rebekah Lodge 430 gathered for schoolgirl luncheon Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Don Bussard of Clinton River Drive, Waterford Township.

Mrs. Ray Kline of Sylvan Lake will be hostess for the Nov. 8 meeting for nomination of officers and election.

Group Marks Anniversary

Mrs. Forest Cummings was in charge of the anniversary program presented at the recent meeting of the Welcome Rebekah No. 246. The meeting took place at the Malta Temple on Perkins Street.

Mrs. John Schaffer provided the entertainment and Mrs. Harvey May was chairman of the refreshment committee.

On Thursday the group will meet at the Malta Temple on Pontiac Road at 8 p.m.

The Weird Wonders of Ads

Prices and Sales Both Jump

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE N445: Hal G., aged 32, is an advertising executive.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "my wife and I follow your column avidly, for we have two children and a lot of the very same marital problems that you analyze daily.

DR. CRANE

"But I am also pleased with your cases on advertising and selling.

"So I'd like to give you an actual case here in New York where sales were jumped remarkably just by raising the price of goods."

"One of our paperback publishers has been selling books at 25 cents per copy.

"As an experiment, it decided to move the price up to 29 cents per book. But it was afraid sales might drop, so a test was first made in just one area.

EXPERIMENT SUCCEEDS

"The results were surprising but very pleasing, for instead of selling less books, the volume of sales actually zoomed.

"Apparently, housewives find they number 'nine' to be irresistible and probably imagined they were getting a bargain. At any rate, far more books were sold at 29 cents than had previously been sold at 25 cents.

★ ★

Experienced merchandising experts know that this is not a rare example.

In former cases I have cited the fact that soap and other cosmetic items that didn't move fast, were sold out quickly when a placard was placed over the merchandise that read:

"Limit of two to a customer."

This suggested there was such a demand for the soap that the housewives decided they better buy at once lest the supply be entirely cleaned out.

RATION PREFERRED

In the days of war rationing, the same thing was true. People who never used sugar in their coffee, then demanded sugar just because it was at a premium.

In fact, that scarcity factor is what makes gold so valuable instead of iron!

Actually, the iron has far more usefulness than gold and thus is far more valuable to the advancement of civilization.

★ ★ ★

But gold is scarce, so gold far exceeds iron in price.

Whenever you can suggest either "scarcity" or rationing or a bargain, people are far more likely to get off "dead center" and actively lay their money on the counter.

Some department stores also have special employes dressed like customers.

When a woman thus is undecided between two hats or two types of drapery, this disguised employe steps up and tries to buy one of the two choices over which the indecisive customer has been dawdling.

ACTS RAPIDLY

It is surprising how fast that customer then makes up her mind! And she usually chooses the item which the disguised employe tried to take away from her!

Even pet dogs will show this very same trait. A dog may not be hungry but if there is a second dog nearby that is gobbling up every bit of food in sight, your pet dog will eat just to keep the food away from its rival.

★ ★ ★

Many girls also get indecisive old bachelors off "dead center" by also introducing a little rivalry, even if the new suitor is just a visiting cousin.

Perhaps 90 per cent of people can't trust their own judgment. So they need the seal of approval of somebody else to help them make up their own mind!

Send for my booklet, "The New Psychology Of Advertising," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

PENNIE L. ENGLISH

The engagement of Pennie Lynn English, Elizabeth Lake Road, to M. Gary Robertson, son of the Gray Robertsons of Clarkston, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl English of Harbor Beach.

While the three in the background were talking, Sandra Coombs, Reymont Street, was able to get a taste of the frosting. The girls doing a little preliminary work on Jobs Daughters' Smorgasbord to be held Saturday are (from left) Donna Chambers, Coleman Street; Eleanor Stuart, Stout Street and Pam Tibbetts, Waterford Township. All are members of Bethel 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carson, West Columbia Street, announce the engagement of their daughter Doris to Donald Pate, son of the James Pates, Dresden Avenue. A Jan. 5 wedding is planned.

DORIS CARSON

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"Since this is the season for sewing laminated fabrics, I'd like to share my tip. In order to keep my seams straight, and also to keep them feeding into the sewing machine, I cover them with the edge of a newspaper. The border of the newspaper, either the print, or solid lines, will be a perfect guide line for the seam. This fabric, which seems tricky to sew, sews like a dream this way."

★ ★ ★

This suggestion from Mrs. Don Lewis, Elizabethton, Tenn., is such a good idea that she is being awarded the weekly Tailor Trix pressing board prize this week. Thank you, Mrs. Lewis.

REMEMBER TAPE

"Dear Eunice:

"Somehow or other, I always manage to stretch the shoulder seams when I make a garment. They also have a pulled, stretched look after the garment has been worn. What am I doing wrong?"

Mrs. B. Z.

Perhaps you have forgotten the importance of "stay-stitching." Another helpful tip for fabrics such as jersey or other stretch type fabrics is to pin a piece of seam tape over your seamline. This will be included in the stitching of the shoulder seams. The firmness of the seam tape will prevent the seam from stretching out of shape.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. S. D. Montgomery of Southfield, Mich. says: "Here's a give and take idea: Set up a swap system with your church group, friends, club members, and neighbors. Let it be known what you need for your particular sewing project and in turn, pass on to others what they might use, and what you no longer have use for.

"Make your exchanges on club nights, or oftener, if possible. You might 'kick-in' ends of knitting wool for crocheting afghans, your friends might turn over cotton scraps for someone who does quilting, discarded clothing for make-overs, etc. There is fun in sharing, and satisfaction in not having rag-bag clutter."

DO BEADING SLOWLY

"Dear Eunice:

"Beading is so very popular nowadays, and yet I can't find any information on how to go about doing this type of work at home. I am a dressmaker and have had several requests for this beading work, but don't feel like plunging into it on a hit and miss basis. Can you help me?"

Mrs. J. K.

The all-over beading that you will find on many expensive clothes is done by machine or is done from the wrong side of the fabric with a special crochet-type hook. This requires very specialized training.

However, for a small amount of beading which is very effective, the beads are worked from the right side of the garment. Your design must be stamped or outlined with thread first, or worked over a tissue paper pattern.

Second, place a soft, firm fabric on the wrong side of your garment, under the design. This is especially important when beading sweaters and will keep the design from stretching out of shape.

Use a very fine needle, usually at least a size 11, a long needle is preferable. Don't use a thread that is too long because it will become frayed and weak. Wax the thread with beeswax before you begin.

Each bead is sewed on separately with a tiny BACK STITCH. This will hold the beading in place permanently. Beading adds a costume room touch to your garments and can be fun to do—however it is time consuming, so don't try to hurry it up.

GLUE THE LEATHER

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"I have a leather coat that needs to be shortened and I don't know how to go about it. Can I do this myself or must I have it done?"

Mrs. T. T. R.

You may shorten the coat yourself and it is actually very simple to do. The facing has probably been machine stitched to the coat at the lower edge. You may turn the facing back and machine stitch it on the new hemline.

You will probably have to use a piece of brown paper over the leather so that it will feed into the machine. Trim the excess leather away and turn the front edge right side out.

The rest of the hem can be fastened on the hemline with paper clips to hold it nice and even. Now use household glue (the milky kind) and glue the hem in place. This will give a smooth appearance to the hem of the coat.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY: Stay-stitch: This is a row of machine stitching that is made on curved or shaped areas of your garment before you begin construction. Use the regular length stitch and stitch on a single layer of fabric exactly ½ inch from the cut edge. The stitching will prevent stretching as you are constructing your garment.

Challenge Child's Charge of Neglect

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

My friend is in her second year of psychoanalytic treatment.

One morning she bought her younger boy a new toothbrush he needed. She did not buy one for her older boy who didn't need it. Just as she expected, this difference in treatment aroused his jealousy.

★ ★ ★

As his little brother eagerly ripped the toothbrush from its plastic container, his reproaching began. "My ol' toothbrush is worn out, too," he complained. "I bet it gives me a new cavity every day."

His mother turned on him. She said, George, do you truly believe that I neglect you? If you don't believe it, why do you pretend I do? Do you think that's fair to me? Do you think it's fair to talk as though I don't buy you new toothbrushes when you need them?"

The moment she'd spoken these words, she felt fine. She felt so clear and happy with herself that she went over to George and kissed him. She said, "OK. When you need a new toothbrush, I'll have one ready for you. Now run on out to the yard and let me get lunch . . ."

★ ★ ★

A jealous child is continually looking for evidence that we neglect him. His need to believe in our neglect distorts his view of our behavior and compels him to misjudge us.

We don't help him outgrow it by appeasing it with offerings that suggest we owe him what we haven't delivered. We help him outgrow it by resisting his jealous misjudgments of us. When we can do this, we begin to feel a happy affection for the child we have been secretly resenting.

We usually do resent children. Why wouldn't it be? It's an expensive hore to live with a youngster who sees everything we do for his brother as neglect of him. If we dare not cut him a slice of cake without first measuring its size against his brother's slice, our feeling is bound to be, "This youngster is a pest, not a pleasure."

A mother who respects what she does for a child does not put up with his accusations of neglect. She challenges them as she would any other misjudgment.

If we've been kowtowing to a young one's jealousy, the chances are that we DON'T respect what we do for him.

The probability is that we have been serving him without delight to do our duty by him. Because nobody wants such giving from anyone else, it's been a waste of out time.

In the case of our jealous child, it's a slow but sure endorsement of his belief that he is not important to us.

Newswoman Writes Story of Famous Papa

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—More than a half-century ago, a delicate, pigtailed teen-ager took a reporting job on the San Francisco Examiner.

It paid $7.50 a week, a remarkably hefty salary for a girl considering that in those days women weren't called upon to vote, much less to impart information to newspaper readers.

But there was a reason for this lavish salary.

The editors figured the little lady would serve as a "leak" from the private office of her father — who was then (and perhaps, in memory, is still) the most flamboyant and celebrated trial lawyer of the century.

"I didn't squeal on papa, of course, because I loved him too much. But they kept me on anyway — Thank Goodness! — because being a good newspaperwoman is more fun than anything else in the world!"

STILL SPUNKY

The lady who made that statement the other day is now 70, and she's still as spunky and animated as she was 52 years ago when (she admits, without embarrassment) she threw a telephone (not hard, of course) at the head of her first editor for using strong-man tactics on one of the first female news reporters in the business.

The name of the father she protected was Earl Rogers and the name of the lady, a fabled one in fourth estatesmanship, is Adele Rogers St. Johns.

Mrs. St. Johns has finally "told all" about her father in a book called "Final Verdict," which is already a best-seller, a Literary Guild selection, and a prospective Stanley Kramer movie.

DOING ALL RIGHT

"My father didn't succeed in leaving me anything financial," she said happily. "He died broke, as most people of our kind, who love life and don't hoard, do; but what we really leave our kids never shows up in banks. He left me the story of — well, I think he was the greatest cross-examiner in this country's history — and it looks like it's doing all right."

(It seems safe to predict that Mrs. St. Johns, for at last revealing the secrets she didn't tell her first employer, will earn her 100,000 times her first salary.)

★ ★ ★

Sprawled on the couch of her New York hotel suite, this tall, fascinating woman described her "papa," in his heyday as extravagant and glamorous a figure as movie stars were later to become.

Earl Rogers was involved in the Chinese tong wars, in celebrated murder and muckraking cases; it was he who defended another lawyer —Clarence Darrow — accused of bribing a jury, and save Darrow's reputation. He was a prototype for Erle Stanley Gardner's Perry Mason.

But his most poignant case came late in his life, when Mrs. St. Johns herself ("because I loved him the most") signed a court order to have him confined to an institution to save him from self-destruction through alcoholism.

Acting as his own defense, he put Adele on the stand and "through the most brilliant cross-examination," broke her down.

He won his freedom . . . the freedom to die, shortly afterward, at the age of 50.

GREAT MATERIAL

"It was 40 years ago he died. It took me that long. It's hard to write an experience so emotionally involved with yourself. But part of it was, I knew he was great and the material was great, and so if the book was a failure, it had to be my fault. It made me hold off."

★ ★ ★

Now that she's put it down, Adele Rogers St. Johns is relieved. Her father had been a controversial figure in his time, and — for his sake, for her 18 grandchildren, four great-grandchildren, and for her own conscience — she wanted the whole truth told. That's why she called the book, "Final Verdict."

★ ★ ★

And that's why she added in the present tense, when asked how she felt her father would regard her "Oh, I think he's very pleased."

Daily Bath, Daily Must

A bath in warm soapsuds, every single day, is a must for achieving a vital, healthy glow — and that "finisher" look which makes even a plain woman sparkle like a gem.

Brisk scrubbing with a well-lathered rough washcloth, body brush, or loofah stimulates circulation, and helps achieve maximum benefits from bathing.

Clothesline

One way to win friends in a foreign country was discovered by a recent visitor to the land of Lebanon.

To the amusement of this American lady, the biggest hit of all was scored by her plastic clothesline — the braided kind which holds laundry without clothespins. The houseboy at her host's villa was fascinated by this drip-drying gadget, and overjoyed when she left it for him as a parting gift.

Soap Trick Always Good

The classic "remedy" of soaping a finger to help slide a tight ring off is proving equally handy for putting things on!

Now Scuba-suit wearers soap themselves before putting on this special diving gear — an operation which diving fans have compared to getting into an inner tube.

Announces Theme for Sisterhood

Chapter CL, PEO Sisterhood, met Monday afternoon for luncheon at the Springfield Township home of Mrs. Clark J. Morgan, president.

★ ★ ★

The luncheon committee included Mrs. W. Henry Sink, Mrs. James Henderson and Mrs. C. W. Buck. Mrs. L. G. Rowley, program chairman announced the theme for the year, "Women are Here to Stay."

Ceramic Decor

For an unusual and lovely effect in your home, consider a colorful border of brightly glazed ceramic tile set at wainscot height. Ceramic tile now comes in hundreds of different colors which will match any decor. Domestic manufacturers also produce a wide range of special tiles decorated with tasteful images and patterns.

Bowls Need Special Care

Because chopping bowls are usually made of soft woods, and often used for foods which become "juicy" when chopped, they need special care.

★ ★ ★

One trick is to lightly scrape the convex inner surface with the curved chopping knife before washing quickly in warm soap or detergent suds. Rinse, wipe, and air-dry.

Easy Care, But Do Care

Remember that easy-care does not mean no care at all! Follow the manufacturers' instructions for wash-wear; and you will be rewarded with the promised performance. Launder garments any old way, and you may be in for some disappointment.

This is the time of year the homeowner enjoys most. The lawn no longer needs mowing, and the leaves have yet to fall . . . Heredity is something you believe in when you learn your child has an "A" average . . . Men who try to understand women usually succeed only in marrying them. — Earl Wilson.

Half of Today's Teens Like Homework

BY EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research Co.

In my school days, not so long ago, homework was one of the crosses we had to bear. I don't remember anybody who liked it.

★ ★ ★

But times do change, which is one reason we keep making surveys on what young people are thinking.

A recent poll of more than 1,000 teen-agers around the country discloses the amazing information that nearly as many of them say they like homework as say they detest it.

These young people, mostly juniors and seniors in high school, lined up 51 per cent for and 45 per cent against, although a lot of the pros had distinct reservations.

And Louise Heimberger, 17, of Tolono, Ill., probably expressed a still general feeling when she said "I'd rather be doing something else. I'm not sure what, but something else."

★ ★ ★

On the other hand, Leroy Gatlin, 17, of Benton, Ark., said he likes to do homework "because it gives me a feeling of accomplishment."

MARKS AFFECTED

Three out of four of the youngsters told us they feel their marks are greatly affected by the amount of homework they do, although 45 per cent said they believe they can get satisfactory grades without working at home.

"If I do my homework right," said 17-year-old Patricia Lee Stolts of Bartow, Fla., "it shows up on my tests and in the classroom."

But Ruth Hulet, 18, of Austin, Minn., boasted:

"I make the honor roll by making the most out of my day in school."

Half of the youngsters told us they study five subjects in school and spend up to an hour doing homework in each.

★ ★ ★

A fifth reported they study six subjects. As many as 40 per cent put in from one to two hours a night on all subjects. Most do homework three or four nights a week.

The teen-agers agree that foreign languages take the most study time at home.

"It's hard to learn a new language after having one for 16 years," Janince McClintock, 18, of South Gate, Calif., told us.

"Latin takes more time than most subjects because I don't like it," said Priscilla Smith, 16, of West Caldwell, N.J.

History requires the least homework, the youngsters told us, because, in the words of one: "History is just there. There are no complex theories."

★ ★ ★

Most of the young people in our survey said they have on occasion received help from others in doing their homework. About 60 per cent said friends have helped them, 35 per cent named parents and 49 per cent said teachers.

"One who knows the answers can explain my mistakes to me," explained Scot Ober, 16, of Edenton, N.C., one of the 57 per cent who said they learn better when they have help in doing homework.

HOMEWORK IS SHARED

The theory that two heads are better than one even extends to copying each other's homework — although most of the youngsters have some qualms about it.

★ ★ ★

About half told us they have copied other students' work because, as Karolyn Dean, 16, of Danielson, Conn., put it: "It sure helps in a pinch!" Nearly three out of four said they have let others copy their homework. "I may want them to do the same for me someday," said Bobby Hollowell, 16, of Tyner, N.C.

Is copying homework justified morally? Only 13 per cent said they thought it was. About 55 per cent said they felt it was not justified and 27 per cent condemned it as morally wrong.

"If a person can copy his homework and pass on tests without cheating it is obvious he has learned as much as anyone," said John Pittman, 17, of Benton, Ark.

"Copying is cheating and cheating is wrong," ruled Tom Dumbels, 16, of Chicago.

Whether it's cheating or not, two thirds of the youngsters told us they do not regard copying homework as bad as copying during a test.

$75 Million in Fortune of Widow

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) A Wilmington widow, who is in her 80s, has a personal fortune in the neighborhood of $75 million, the Winston-Salem Journal said today.

Disclosure of the magnitude of the estate of Mrs. Sarah Graham Kenan —who is one of the richest women in North Carolina, if not the richest — came after she was declared incapable of handling her own affairs.

In a copyrighted story, the Journal said an inventory filed recently with the New Hanover County (Wilmington) clerk of court shows Mrs. Kenan's estate included $65 million in corporate, government, and municipal bonds and stocks.

The newspaper quoted Frank H. Kenan of Durham, a nephew of Mrs. Kenan and trustee of her estate, that real property and other personal property push the total of her estate to "the neighborhood of $75 million."

JUDGED INCAPABLE

Mrs. Kenan has been a widow since shortly after World War I.

She was adjudged incapable of handling her business affairs last May.

The Journal said part of Mrs. Kenan's fortune is from the estate of the late Henry M. Flagler, founder of the Florida East Coast Railroad. Mrs. Kenan's sister was Flagler's second wife.

The paper said the inventory showed the bulk of her estate is in oil stocks.

Mrs. Kenan's late husband's brother, William Rand Kenan of Lockport, N.Y., built the University of North Carolina's football stadium which bears his name.

To span the space between two fireside chairs, or create a balanced group of reading chair and table, this octagon shaped cabinet, with four doors is ideal. In addition to the beauty of its carefully matched cherry veneers accented with elm burl paneling, neatness prevails due to the commodious interior. From Colonial Manufacturing Co.

New Table Can Give Room a Face-Lifting

Magical and inexpensive face lifting for living rooms without definite style theme can be achieved by a choice of new tables for lamps, books, etc. Most upholstered furniture made in the last few years was designed with simple lines to team up with tables in a variety of styles and handsome hardwood naturally figured veneers.

The period adaptations, Early American, French Provincial and the Classic, have a simplicity of line and a minimum of detail which lets them harmonize or accent many upholstered pieces. Modern design too has taken on a softer look and no longer requires austere upholstered furniture to extend its influence.

The Fine Hardwoods Association says a good rule for tables to look best near a chair or sofa, is a matter of relative scale. If the chair has a big, comfortable look, the lamp table besides it should have sturdy and substantial base or legs. To place a slender legged table near it might make both pieces seem ungainly.

A long sofa with trim lines of back and arms may have considerable overall size. The table or several small tables to stand either before it or besides it should repeat the lines, rather than the size.

Skirts Tell Wearer's Age

Women of the Quichua Indian tribe, high in the Andes Mountains, still wear a native dress consisting of tight-fitting bodices and brightly-colored wool skirts.

According to author John Baragwanath, when a skirt gets too tattered or dirty, it is simply covered with a new one. Thus, while a young girl may wear two or three skirts, an older woman will wear a dozen. It will be more difficult to guess ages once the Quichuas discover American wash-and-wear!

Pewter Bath

The latest example of reverse snobbery is choosing pewter for such bathroom accessories as spout sets, towel bars, and soap dishes. According to home furnishings authorities, the "quiet elegance" of pewter is replacing the glitter of gold plate as the new symbol of good taste in the bathroom.

An added advantage — even for those who can afford either of these equally expensive metals — is that pewter requires no polishing. Frequent washing with soap or detergent suds is enough to maintain its lovely luster.

Learn Your Allergies

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Some time ago we rarely heard allergies mentioned. Now unless you have an allergy, you hardly belong to the human race. I suppose it is because so much more is known about allergies today that conditions which once would have been blamed on something else or gone undiagnosed, now are recognized as allergies.

There are many kinds of allergies. Some folks are allergic to certain foods. I knew a man whose face would swell twice its size if he ate anything with egg in it.

AND DRUGS

Other people are allergic to certain plants or weeds or trees. Then there are those who cannot tolerate certain drugs. I know another man who almost died before he found that he is allergic to the barbiturates. Now he wears a bracelet with "no barbiturates" engraved on it, for protection in case of an accident.

Many are allergic to one or more of the antibiotics. It is also possible to become allergic to your own germs. For instance you may become allergic to the germ which is causing a chronic sinus infection.

Right there among your cosmetics may be your complexion enemy if you are allergic to one of them.

Many women are allergic to some cosmetic they are using, and do not realize it. They do not know why they have a sudden rash or swollen eyes. If you have such reactions, a dermatologist will want you to bring all of the cosmetics you use or come in contact with to his office.

★ ★ ★

He will put a little of each on your back, cover each spot for 48 hours and then look for a reaction. If any spot is red or blistered, he will ask you to stop using the product which caused it. I discovered that I am allergic to my husband's shaving cream and so now the poor man uses only the soap I can tolerate.

Many women do not know that there are several splendid kinds of cosmetics planned especially for those women who are allergic to the usual cosmetics. These come in a big range of colors and are attractive to use.

If any of my readers would like to have the names of these, I will be glad to supply them. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for them. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Suds for Free

It's scarcely possible to count up the cost of a leisurely soak in soapsuds.

A bathtub full of warm suds is almost for free. The dollar may not buy what it used to, but it still buys a lot of cleanliness!

Dress Designs for Volunteers

It won't be at all surprising if there is a sudden increase in the number of volunteer workers at St. Vincent's Hospital in New York City.

Ceil Chapman has just designed a uniform especially for these ladies—probably the first time a name designer has gone into this field. The new Chapman creation is a one-piece, raspberry-color, zip-front dress in — what else? — a practical drip-dry fabric!

Spinal Meningitis Victim

Girl Fights Way Back

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (AP)—Della Derlien, paralyzed from the waist down, deaf and unable to speak seven years ago, has regained most of her faculties but probably is proudest of her most recent accomplishment of learning to swim.

Additions to the dramatic story of the girl's recovery and of her other accomplishments through her determination were described by her aunt, Mrs. Lorron Friedrichs of Sheboygan, with whom Miss Derlien, 26, lives.

REMARKABLE GIRL

"She is a remarkable girl," Mrs. Friedrichs said. "Not only did she learn to lip read on her own but this summer she insisted on going to a summer camp alone where she learned to swim."

"She probably is prouder of her ability to swim than she is of the many other things she accomplished — like fighting her way back after being hopelessly paralyzed with spinal meningitis.

★ ★ ★

"Della is a very cheerful girl and never talks about the years she spent in bed and of the long surgery on her twisted body.

"She works part time as a photo retoucher for a Sheboygan studio, moves about freely in a wheel chair, dresses herself, helps me with the meals and housework.

"She never lost the ability to speak but she had to teach herself to lip-read. She never took a course in that art.

AWAITS BROTHER

"Now she eagerly is awaiting the return of her brother, Dennis, who will be released from the Navy in mid-September.

The Derlien children came to live with Mr. and Mrs. Friedrichs when their mother died in 1939. The father, Peter, lives in Wausau, Wis.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Herbert A. Schoening, director of rehabilitation services at the Kenny Rehabilitation Institute in Minneapolis, said that seven years ago, on the eve of her graduation from high school, the girl was stricken by spinal meningitis.

BODY DEFORMED

Her body was left deformed, immobile below the waist, with the strain of muscle contractions dislocating her hips and cramping her legs in a crouched position. Her hearing failed. Year after year, she lay in this tragic state at her aunt's home.

Finally, her family placed her under treatment of the Kenny Institute. A 14-man rehabilitation team went to work on her case.

Schoening said her restoration took 19 weeks. Miss Derlien underwent eight surgical operations and received intensive treatment, therapy and training.

Mrs. George E. Bryce, secretary to the principal at Waterford Kettering High School and president of the Oakland Association of Educational Secretaries, will preside Friday when the association holds its all-day meeting and workshop at Michigan State University

Professional Women Puzzled on Image

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK—Hard, bossy, unfeminine, yet using womanly wiles to get their way—that's how professional women see themselves, says a leading anthropologist.

Dr. Ethel J. Alpenfels thinks they're mixed up and actually believe in that aggressive boss lady cliche that's been kicking around for years.

★ ★ ★

"The professional woman has a stereotype as an image," says the New York University professor, "and the image is confused, negative and unrealistic."

She made this unhappy discovery when she conducted a recent opinion poll of 400 men and women from NYU's Graduate School of Education and the Newark College of Engineering, some already professionals and others preparing to be. Her study is dealt with in Dr. Alpenfel's contribution to a newly published book: "American Women: The Changing Image."

MEN KINDER

This feminine, unbossy, nonstereotype anthropologist was fascinated, she said, to discover that these not yet professional were far kinder to women than the professionals, and men were far kinder to their feminine colleagues than the women were to themselves.

In the listing of women's personality traits, confusion and inconsistency were rampant. Both men and women listed aggressiveness as a leading characteristic of lady professionals. Women were also called sticklers for ethical conduct, but dogmatic, autocratic, cold and hard. At the same time they were considered warmer, more understanding and more cordial than men, enjoying a better relationship with others.

As for professional standards and qualifications, men didn't differentiate between the sexes. Women did.

Men put education first and emphasized membership in professional groups, professional reading, training and appearance, which they called being well-groomed and women called well-dressed.

Only 3 per cent of the men cited intelligence, while women thought intelligence the outstanding qualification for themselves. A bare 1 per cent of the women mentioned education. Not one woman put down professional reading.

"My major concern is the confusion in the mind of women who are professionals," she went on.

"Women are still operating on the theory that a woman's place is in the home. They don't want to work for women. They don't respect women as administrators. Yet women have been proving for decades they can be good professionals.

It's for society to decide, concluded Dr. Alpenfels. "If you're not going to give the same opportunities to girls when they grow up as to boys, then don't give them the same education. They make less desirable wives, less pleasant company and more difficult colleagues to work with."

Snapped at the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art—this saucy, wide-awake Breton with its lovely lady radiance. So airy-light, it's a natural for late summer wear as well as right into fall and winter. Comes in a wide color assortment and will always be your first choice when you want to look your best.

Soakers, Try Bath Pillows

If you like to linger in the bathtub, a perfect prop is a bath pillow to support your head and neck while you soak in the soapsuds.

One inexpensive version is simply a thick, colorful sponge made of plastic foam — with suction cups for fastening it to the tub.

Washable Doll Aids the Bath

If bathing your feminine toddler becomes a tug-of-war, here's some psychology that really works. Suggest that she bathe her washable doll while you—quietly and gently—repeat the same routine on her.

This makes bathing a game, and helps to teach the youngster how to wash behind the ears and between the toes with soapsuds.

Wyoming Children Studying Aviation

By The Associated Press

Some 800 sixth graders in Wyoming are studying aviation.

They learn how the airplane was invented and general aviation history, then go on to fundamentals of flight, air traffic control, career responsibilities of aviation and how to prepare for them, principles of jet propulsion, power plants, navigation and space flight.

★ ★ ★

One teacher said, "They will seek out additional material, some of it very technical, and give highly competent reports. And I have good reason to believe some students, both boys and girls, delight in stumping the teacher."

One requirement of the program, sponsored for 10 years now by the Wyoming Department of Education and the Wyoming Aeronautics Commission, is that the teacher must first attend an Air-Space Education Workshop held each summer at the University of Wyoming.

Marvin W. Stevenson, director of the Aeronautics Commission, says most of the teachers are women and have little mechanical or technical background.

"But don't let that little problem worry you," he says. "These gals are interested and serious. They may not qualify as certified ground school instructors, but they do go back to their classrooms with a great deal of general aviation and space knowledge and completely sold on the program."

Textbooks, pictures, movies, pamphlets and charts are secured free or paid for by the Aeronautics Commission. Experts in the field, both civilian and military, make themselves available for supplemental classroom talks.

And, probably best of all from the standpoint of the sixth graders, is a tour of aviation installations in their areas at the end of the year, topped off with a "graduation exercise" — a 15-minute flight over their own home towns.

'Bigger Army to Be Needed'

Tensions Will Mount, Claims Senator

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., has predicted that world tensions would increase in the coming months and said the size of the Army may have to be increased.

Robertson, acting chairman of the defense appropriations subcommittee, questioned whether reservists should be called up for each crisis that develops.

The senator spoke at the annual three-day meeting of the Association of the U.S. Army.

He opposed Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's proposal to cut reserve forces from their authorized strength of 700,000 to 642,000.

"It is not logical to cut our reserves as long as they are to be used as part of our first line of defense," the senator said.

Another speaker, Gen. J. E. Moore, Army chief of staff, advocated mobile missiles for European defense.

N-WEAPONS ALSO

Moore also sought to dispel any doubt that NATO's strategy calls for the use of nuclear weapons whenever the use of such weapons is "necessary."

★ ★ ★

In discussing the prospect of further world tensions, Robertson noted that Russia "has added the pressure to us in Cuba without in any material way relaxing the pressure in West Berlin and elsewhere."

★ ★ ★

He said Congress may have to take "a hard look" at the size of the Army which reached a strength of about 1,080,000 in last year's Berlin crisis expansion. With the demobilization of reserves, the Army's authorized strength is 960,000 men.

X15 Pilot 'Re-Enters' Manually

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — X15 pilot John B. McKay streaked an estimated mile a second yesterday, checking his aerospace plane's re-entry stability with its huge bottom tailfin removed.

★ ★ ★

Coming back down, the space agency pilot switched off one, then both of his electronic control systems and began atmosphere re-entry manually.

Carefully, he tilted the plane's nose up toward the maximum angle of attack the rocket plane is designed to withstand.

Angle of attack means the angle at which the plane's nose is elevated above its windstream — a maneuver which helps brake descent into the atmosphere.

A spokesman estimated yesterday's angle at about 15 degrees — equal to the highest yet attempted without the ventral fin and just eight degrees below the maximum recorded with the ventral fin in place.

★ ★ ★

The ventral fin increases the X15's stability on straightway speed runs but engineers believe re-entry maneuvers can be performed more safely without the fin.

Today's flight was the fourth the X15 has made with the ventral fin off.

★ ★ ★

The flight began when the X-15 dropped from beneath the wing of its B52 mother ship above Delamar Lake, Nev., 220 miles northeast. It ended 11 minutes later with the X15 screeching in for a 200-m.p.h. landing at 11:10 a.m.

Boycotting of Sinatra Announced by Arabs

CAIRO (UPI) — The Arab League's permanent office for the boycott of Israel yesterday announced a ban on all films and phonograph records made by Frank Sinatra.

The office said the move was ordered because the American singer "participates in the distribution of Israeli bonds and that he exerts efforts for the collection of funds to be sent to Israel."

To Air Zoning in Milford Twp.

Court to Eye Firm's Challenge of Law

MILFORD TOWNSHIP — A challenge of Milford Township's zoning ordinance by American Aggregates Corp. of Oxford will be decided in court, Township Clerk Mrs. Elizabeth S. Hubbell said today.

Mrs. Hubbell said the Township Board last night voted to defend its zoning in court by a close 3-2 vote.

The decision is the result of a two-year dispute with American Aggregates over a portion of property about 1½ square miles large in the northwest section of the township near Hickory Ridge Road.

The corporation owns the property now zoned for rural residential purposes.

★ ★ ★

However, the firm wants the land rezoned "agricultural" so it can be used for gravel mining, said Mrs. Hubbell.

American Aggregates had a court summons served against the township two years ago when the board refused to rezone the property, according to the clerk.

Negotiations between the township and the gravel concern have failed to settle the issue during that time, she added.

Voting to defend the zoning in court were Township Treasurer Mrs. Ruby P. DeGarmo, trustee William G. Allen and Mrs. Hubbell.

★ ★ ★

Casting ballots against the motion were Township Supervisor Mayon Hoard and trustee Guy L. Whitman.

Mrs. Hubbell said the classification of the American Aggregates property for residential use was approved when the board adopted its present zoning ordinance in 1957.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Law Lets Farmers Extend Expiring Soil Bank Contracts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The new farm law makes special provision for farms coming out of the soil bank's conservation reserve this year.

★ ★ ★

Farmers whose soil bank contracts expire Dec. 31 may continue their land in conserving uses for another year under a 1963 land use adjustment program authorized by the new law.

The department may provide assistance totaling up to $15 million during 1963 calendar year.

The conservation reserve — the long range section of the soil bank program of the late 1950s — was operated under contracts of three, five, and 10 years' duration.

Farmers received payments for taking their lands out of production and putting them to conservation uses. The three-year contracts are expiring at the end of this year.

★ ★ ★

Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman has urged farmers who have land on which contracts expire this year not to destroy the protective cover on the land until they can become acquainted with provisions of the new program.

Terms and conditions to be offered farmers for continuing to hold eligible land in a conserving use are expected to be similar to those for the existing contracts.

Specific details concerning payment rates and other provisions will be available the middle of this month in county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) offices.

The conservation reserve contracts due to expire this year cover some 1,310,000 acres on about 1,900 farms. Overall, some 25.6 million acres are now held out of crop production by the conservation reserve.

★ ★ ★

Under the 1963 program, as under the conservation reserve, farmers will be required to provide a cover which will protect the land from wind and water erosion.

Tax Concession Granted Owner

Council Takes Action to Acquire Industry

HOLLY — The Village Council last night agreed to grant tax concessions to Holly industrialist Fred D. Barton so he can move a plant here from Shortsville, N. Y.

★ ★ ★

Barton, owner of Bar's Product Supply, Inc., at 720 Rose St., personally appeared before the council last night to ask for the tax concession.

★ ★ ★

Several village businessmen including representatives of the Village Planning Commission and the Holly Board of Commerce, supported Barton's request and urged councilmen to grant it.

Barton estimated cost of the new plant at $20,000. He said it would be built on his own property and could provide employment for about eight persons.

PLANT BURNED DOWN

Barton said he was moving his Shortsville operations because the plant there recently had been destroyed in a fire. The fire caused him a loss of about $70,000, he added.

★ ★ ★

The industrialist said he had been offered another plant, a 40,000 - square - foot fire-proof building with a sprinkler system, for $35,000 in New York.

Barton said he would rather move the plant to Holly if the tax concession were granted.

★ ★ ★

He asked for no increase in taxes until a present tax agreement with the village is completed.

★ ★ ★

Barton, whose plant manufactures automotive radiator sealers and rust inhibitors, mentioned that he had paid his taxes 10 years in advance to pay the cost of paving the road back to his palnt.

★ ★ ★

The council then passed a resolution which will allow taxes on Barton's plant to remain at the current rate for the next five years.

Village Clerk George J. Patterson said five years is the length of time left in Barton's road paving tax agreement made with the village.

FREE FROM TAX

In effect, the resolution grants Barton the right to build a new facility on his property and operate it tax free for the five-year period.

★ ★ ★

There was no opposition to the council's action from the approximately 25 persons who attended the meeting.

In other action, the council accepted the resignation of Holly Sewage Treatment Plant Superintendent John T. Smith and authorized its engineers to draw up new maps of the village.

Smith is resigning to take a similar position in Romeo.

★ ★ ★

The council agreed to pay approximately $600 for the maps, which will serve as an outline for zoning, water lines, sewers and other municipal services.

Dumka-Scharf Vows Told

MRS. LAVERNE A. DUMKA

WALLED LAKE — Honeymooning at Niagara Falls are Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Allen Dumka who exchanged their nuptial vows Saturday evening in Walled Lake Baptist Church.

Rev. Carl Grapentine performed the ceremony.

★ ★ ★

The bride is the former Janice Marie Scharf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Scharf, 1160 N. Eddie St. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dumka, 3204 Renton St., Wixom.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length taffeta gown designed with a Chantilly lace yoke at the portrait neckline that was trimmed with pearl and crystal beads.

The bouffant skirt featured an apron effect in front that was edged with lace and gathered in a bustle back with a large cabbage rose. It extended into a chapel sweep.

★ ★ ★

Her bouffant veil was attached to a pearl and crystal tiara, and she carried a cascade of white roses, carnations and chrysanthemums.

Maid of honor was Janice Louise Kinison of Walled Lake. Cheryl Patton of Walled Lake and Mrs. Carl Scharf of Pontiac, sister-in-law of the bride, were bridesmaids.

On the esquire side Russel Dumka served his brother as best man. Ushers were Gary and Carl Scharf, brothers of the bride.

★ ★ ★

Following the rites the wedding party greeted guests at the V.F.W. Hall in Wixom. The couple will reside in Wixom.

Green School PTA Unit to Hear Talk on Safety

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP —Trooper Lawrence Miller, safety officer for the Pontiac State Police Post, will discuss "Safety and Our Children" at tomorrow's 8 p.m. meeting of the Green Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association.

The meeting will be held at the school, 4500 Walnut Lake Road.

Seek Site for Utica City Hall

UTICA — Mayor Fred H. Beck and the six city councilmen were to go for a ride today in search of a suitable site for a new $100,000 city hall proposed at last night's council meeting.

★ ★ ★

The seven men decided at the session to apply for a federal grant of $90,000 for the proposed building under the accelerated Public Works Program.

The city would pay $10,000 toward the building.

Various sites for the building and possible types of structure were discussed.

A satisfactory site could not be agreed upon so it was decided that Mayor Beck and the council members would meet at 2:30 p.m. today to look for one.

★ ★ ★

They plan to apply for the grant within the next few weeks, as soon as a site is found and definite building structure is decided upon.

Girl's Future to Be Decided

Biracial Ruling Near

DETROIT (UPI)—Circuit Judge George E. Bowles was expected to rule either today or tomorrow whether Donna Potter, 3, should be reared in a biracial home with her Negro stepfather.

★ ★ ★

Final arguments in the hotly contested custody case were heard by Bowles yesterday. The judge indicated he would rule shortly whether the child was to be given to her mother, her father or her maternal grandparents.

The mother, Mrs. Sandra Potter Baugh, remarried a Negro doctor and moved to California following her divorce from the child's father, Donald H. Potter.

The girl now is living with her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Macek.

Potter's attorney, John A. Barr, said during final arguments that placing Donna in a biracial home would be "sheer experimentation" and should not be permitted.

He also charged that Mrs. Baugh "abdicated her prime responsibility" of taking care of the child when she returned to work as a registered nurse 10 days after Donna was born.

★ ★ ★

Barr said it would be bad for Donna to five in a biracial home.

Mrs. Baugh's attorney, George W. Crockett Jr., said there was no evidence to show his client was an unfit mother.

He also said she took the child from Michigan to California on the advice of an attorney, not knowing she was violating a decree of the court.

The Potters were divorced in 1961. Nine days later, she left for California with her daughter and was married to Baugh.

★ ★ ★

Because of her action in leaving the state, the court rescinded its earlier decree and granted Potter a divorce. He subsequently went to California, took the child from the Baugh yard and returned her to Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Potter, a former school teacher, testified yesterday his former wife was "unfit" as a mother.

Turkey Dinner Slated at Orion Twp. Church

ORION TOWNSHIP —The St. Mary's Guild of St. Mary's-in-the-Hills Church will serve a "family style" turkey dinner at the church from 5 to 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Proceeds from the dinner will be given to the church. Mrs. George Titus, of 26 Ensley St., Oxford, is chairman of the event. The public is invited to attend.

Church Dinner Slated

LAKE ORION — The women's department of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will sponsor a baked ham dinner tomorrow at the church, 531 Flint St. Serving will be from 5 to 7 p.m.

County Lawmen to Hear Public Relations Talk

Flint Police Inspector Gerald R. Lyons, instructor in Michigan State University's School of Police Administration, will be guest speaker at this month's meeting of the Oakland County Law Enforcement Association.

Lyons will speak on "Police Public Relationship" following the association's 6:45 p.m. dinner meeting Tuesday at the Kingsley Inn, 1495 Woodward Ave., Bloomfield Hills.

OES Putting on Pageant Tonight

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Delegates to the annual convention of the Michigan Order of Eastern Star chapters gather tonight for the memorial pageant.

★ ★ ★

Approximately 5,000 members were present for the 45th meeting in Grand Rapids.

The memorial pageant and presentation of honorary life memberships are features of the convention, a three-day session which continues through tomorrow.

A fraternal and charitable organization, OES sponsors several projects. Prime among Michigan ventures is the Villa at Adrian, a home for Masonic children.

★ ★ ★

The group also provides scholarships through ESTARL (Eastern Star for Religious Leadership) for educating young persons entering missionary work. The Michigan organization awards 48 scholarship grants this year on a fund of $11,000.

★ ★ ★

Officer elections take up the business sessions tomorrow when Mrs. Paul Waldo, a Detroit attorney, steps down from her term as grand worthy matron to be succeeded by Mrs. George Rowell of Kalamazoo.

School Folk to See Lunch-Tray Slides

Photographic slides of school lunch trays will remind Oakland County cafeteria managers that "Food is First Eaten Through the Eyes."

Two hundred school lunch managers will meet tomorrow at Clarkston High School as their part in a two-day series of Oakland County educational conferences.

Mrs. Eleanor Sommers, Clarkston lunchroom supervisor, is hostess and menu chairman for the day.

The conference was arranged by Mrs. Mary Kern, Oakland County school lunch consultant.

'Boosters' Set Bake Sale

ORTONVILLE — Fall activities of the Brandon Music Boosters will begin with a luncheon and bake sale Friday at 12:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

Proceeds from the event will go toward paying for the band's new uniforms. The public is invited to attend.

Members of the club will pick apples Oct. 20, in preparation for their cider sale this fall. A honey sale is planned for later in the year.

★ ★ ★

Anyone interested in promoting a better school music department is invited to join the club. Further information can be obtained by contacting Mrs. W. G. Kilbourn, 152 Mill St.

$745 Worth of Tools Stolen at Holly Plant

HOLLY — Police here today were investigating the theft of $745 worth of tools and equipment from the Sutter Products Co., at 407 Hadley St.

The theft was reported yesterday by Robert Green, plant superintendent. Taken were a one-inch electric drill with a magnetic base, a drill motor, spray gun and micrometers.

Expect 200 at Conclave of Future Homemakers

More than 200 Future Homemakers of America are expected to attend the Region 7 conference at Oxford High School from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Oct. 20.

★ ★ ★

Representatives from 15 Oakland County high schools will appear at the conference, which is based on the theme "Know Your FHA."

Candidates for region offices will be interviewed during the conference registration period. Installation of the new officers will close out the one-day meeting.

Present top officers are Kathy Asher and June Payette, both of West Bloomfield, president and vice president, respectively; Mary Land of Holly, secretary; and Edith McClard of Clarkston, treasurer.

★ ★ ★

Greetings will be given by Oxford High School Principal H. B. Johnson and from the state FHA office by Mrs. Gertrude Swartz of Avondale.

FHA chapters from the various schools will be vying for the attendance trophy, to be awarded the chapter with the largest percentage of members present.

The trophy is a decorated silver platter. The winning chapter's name will be engraved on the platter, and it will remain in the custody of that chapter until next year's conference.

★ ★ ★

Yvonne Parent of Avondale High School will speak on the FHA national convention which she attended last July.

State vice president of the national committee, Yvonne will discuss the program of work adopted by state officers at the convention.

A box lunch parade also will be featured at the conference. The girl with the most attractively decorated box will be awarded a gift certificate.

Mrs. Mary Burt, home economics teacher at West Bloomfield High School, is region advisor of FHA.

Oxford Music Club Sets Comic Opera

OXFORD—Rehearsals are under way for the comic opera "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Music Club of Oxford on Nov. 9 and 10.

Mrs. Ralph Curtis, of 2020 Noble Road, is director of the play. She is past president of the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs.

Cast in the leading male role is Dennis Jenks, of 23 Dwight St., Pontiac. Playing opposite him will be Philinda Ashley, of 78 Dennison St.

The club is producing the operetta in hopes of stimulating more musical interest in the community.

Proceeds from the performances will be used to finance the club's scholarship program.

Leader Calls TV Debate GOP Victory

DETROIT (UPI) — Republican State Chairman George Van Peursem termed Republican George Romney's debate with Gov. John B. Swainson "a triumph of truth over deception."

In a statement issued shortly after the televised debate last night, Van Peursem said Romney scored "a victory for leadership over indecision."

"Swainson appeared before the television cameras with doctored figures, distorted statements and a mean intent to besmirch the character of a great American," Van Peursem said.

"George Romney met the unsportsman-like onslaught with voter-convincing facts, sincerity and a ringing appeal to get the recession-plagued economy of Michigan moving again."

On the basis of the debate, Van Peursem said, "the people will flock to George Romney in overwhelming numbers."

MSU Names Director of African Languages

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Dr. Charles C. Hughes, associate professor of sociology and anthropology, has been named director of the African language and area center at Michigan State University.

Hughes, who received degrees from Harvard and Cornell, has made field trips to the Arctic, Nova Scotia, Liberia and Western Nigeria.

EXAMINE TROPHY — Three officers of Region 7, Future Homemakers of America, decide on procedure to be followed in awarding the silver platter they are holding to the chapter with highest percentage of members present at the Region 7 annual meeting Oct. 20 in Oxford. They are (from left) reporter Julie Kern, 16, Lamphere High School, Madison Heights; treasurer Edith McClard, 17, Clarkston High; and president Kathy Asher, 16, West Bloomfield High.

Bake Spicy Mixture in Ham

The smoky flavor of ham is the perfect addition to fall menus.

For an unusual dish, try this Autumn Ham Slice. It's a new recipe, in which mashed sweet potatoes, bottled lemon juice, applesauce and cinnamon are combined and spread between one-half inch thick slices of ham.

It's baked and basted with brown sugar and more lemon juice.

Serve it with Lemon Spiced Fruit and you have the perfect combination.

Autumn Ham Slice

1⅓ cups mashed cooked sweet potatoes
⅓ cup brown sugar
¼ cup bottled lemon juice
½ cup applesauce
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
2 center cut ham slices ½-inch thick
¼ cup bottled lemon juice
½ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons pan drippings

Combine sweet potatoes, bottled lemon juice, applesauce and cinnamon. Spoon on top of one ham slice. Place second slice over sweet potato mixture. Stud edge of ham slices with cloves, if desired. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) for one hour.

Combine bottled lemon juice, brown sugar and drippings. Spoon over ham slice for the last 15 minutes of cooking. Carve down through both ham slices and filling, slicing it as you would a loaf of bread. Serves 4 to 6.

Lemon Spiced Fruit

1 No. 2½ can peach halves, pear halves, pineapple rings or apricot halves
¼ cup bottled lemon juice
1 teaspoon mint or 6 whole cloves and a 2-inch stick of cinnamon

Drain fruit, reserving syrup. Bring to boil syrup, bottled lemon juice and spice. Add fruit, return to boiling point. Serve hot or cold as a meat garnish.

Sauerkraut Tops Broiled Franks

Dilled sauerkraut is good with hot dogs served on hamburger buns. Combine 2 cups of undrained sauerkraut with ½ teaspoon of dill seed. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, for 10 minutes.

Cut 10 deep slits in each of 8 frankfurters without cutting all the way through. Broil franks 5 to 7 inches from heat source for 3 to 5 minutes. Turn and broil 3 minutes more.

Split and toast 4 hamburger buns. Top with franks, drained kraut and ½ cup of crushed potato chips.

Fruit Cup Has Color and Elegant Flavor

The color scheme is as good as the flavor in this fresh grape fruit cup. Using 1 cup each of Thompson seedless grapes, fresh pineapple wedges and fresh orange sections, place alternating layers in 6 sherbet glasses.

Pour over a syrup made by dissolving ¼ cup of granulated sugar in ¾ cup of fresh orange juice and 2 tablespoons of fresh lemon juice. Chill. Garnish with grape clusters.

Appetizer Kabobs Are Made With Crackers

Kabobs make novel appetizers, especially these. In a bowl, combine one 5-ounce can chicken spread with 3 tablespoons chili sauce, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, and 1 tablespoon chopped onion. Chill.

To make kabobs, thread on a skewer a cracker spread with chicken mixture, a second cracker spread with process cheese spread with bacon, and a plain cracker. You'll have about ¾ cup chicken filling, or enough for 18 kabobs.

Pineapple Drink

Using canned pineapple in a salad? Pour the syrup leftover from the fruit into glasses; fill with ice cubes. Now add club soda, stir and serve for a refreshing drink.

Statute Revision Proposal Presents Mystery to Voters

LANSING (AP) — It's a lead pipe cinch that thousands of Michigan voters will go to the polls on Nov. 6 and suffer moments of panic when they see the following:

★ ★ ★

"Proposed amendment to Section 40, Article V of the Michigan Constitution authorizing the legislature to provide for general revision of the statutes."

At least one member of the legislature believes that many voting machine levers will be pulled in blind ignorance of what this proposal is all about, and a lot more may be left unpulled for the same reason.

"Every time I mention it people wonder what I'm talking about," said Rep. Joseph A. Gillis (D-Detroit), who's involved in a one-man campaign to explain this important-sounding ballot entry.

★ ★ ★

The basic issue in the proposal is whether the legislature should have restored to it the authority it has lacked for the past 112 years to make complete revision of state laws.

★ ★ ★

It would put the process of periodically compiling these laws completely in the hands of the legislature instead of under control of a special commission appointed by the governor, as the present Michigan Constitution calls for.

PERMIT CHANGES

Further, it would enable the legislature, in making these periodic compilations, to correct spelling and typographical errors, some of which have been carried on the books for nearly half a century simply because the state constitution does not permit alteration.

★ ★ ★

Gillis, in attempting to explain the proposition, has discovered that what it is not is almost as important — where voters are concerned — as what it is.

It would not assure that the state laws undergo complete revision. It would merely authorize the legislature to take on such a task "at such time and in such manner as it shall determine."

"We might never get around to it at all," said Gillis. "But as matters stand, Michigan is the only state in the country which prohibits its legislators from revising statutes."

As an amendment to the current (1908) Michigan Constitution, the proposition has no connection with the proposed new constitution which goes before voters in April.

Mail to the state elections office has indicated some voters were confusing the two, and one reason for this, officials say, is that people fail to understand the difference between state statutes — the laws passed by the legislature — and the constitution itself.

CLARIFICATION

To clear up another point of confusion, Gillis pointed out that the amendment — like the rest of the current constitution — would be wiped out if the new constitution is approved by voters in April.

★ ★ ★

The proposed new constitution agrees with the Nov. 6 proposition in turning the job of periodic compilation of laws over to the legislature, but it retains the language of the current constitution with respect to revision and alteration of the statutes.

Appearance of the proposition on the Nov. 6 ballot is the culmination of a two-year fight by Gillis and some other legislators. In 1960, he introduced the proposal in the House. It passed there but lost in the Senate.

In 1961, Gillis and Rep. Henry M. Hogan Jr., R-Birmingham, cosponsored it again as a bipartisan joint resolution. It passed the House 91-7 and the Senate 24-8 in votes that crossed party lines, and according to Gillis, "without great debate."

★ ★ ★

Some opposition came from lawmakers who preferred the restrictions placed on legislative revision of statutes.

The amendment, if approved by voters, would clear the way for the legislature to all state laws systematically according to subject matter, strike out those that are unconstitutional, obsolete, or contradictory, and put them in uniform language.

The compilation, for the first time, would include all state laws. The governor's commission, under the present system, has latitude to exclude some, the result being an incomplete body of laws in bound form.

It would prove a boon, said Gillis, to lawyers who now must probe — without the aid of a master-index — through 125 volumes of the public and local acts, published each year by the legislature, to find an obscure law they need.

★ ★ ★

The legislature in recent years has done some piecemeal topical revision, or codification, of laws on certain subjects.

Statutes on elections, drains, insurance, court procedures (the Judicature Act) and other subjects have emerged in the form of state codes.

But these codes, Gillis said, contain the obsolete and contradictory laws — and the typographical errors — that were written years ago and which the legislature is powerless to change.

A general revision aimed at giving Michigan a complete "master file of live law" would probably be a 10-year project, Gillis said, "if it ever happened at all."

Package Tours Get Approval of Customers

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Preplanned package tours are fine according to those interviewed by University of Michigan researchers.

Less than one adult American in 10 has ever been on a package tour but most of those who've had their fare, hotel and sightseeing accommodations lumped together are pleased with the setup.

John B. Lansing and William Ladd of the U. of M. Survey Research Center said the main appeal of the package tours is their economy and freedom from worry and responsibility.

Those who found fault with the planned-paid tours complained mostly of the tours being overorganized and lacking in free time.

Idaho Will Vote on Repeal of Anti-Oriental Statute

BOISEE, Idaho (AP) — Idahoans will vote in November on a proposal to repeal a constitutional provision that prohibits several hundred citizens of Mongolian descent from voting, holding civil office or serving as jurors.

The provision was written into the state constitution but its farmers in 1889. Specifically it applies to "Chinese and persons of Mongolian descent."

On the general election ballot Nov. 6 will be a constitutional amendment to eliminate the restriction.

The ban is a carryover from territorial days when Chinese in Idaho's mining camps were subject to bad feeling and abuse. At that time, persons of Mondolian descent could not become naturalized citizens of the United States, but Congress changed the law in 1952.

★ ★ ★

After 1952, Idahoans of Mongolian descent born in their native countries won citizenship under the new federal law. They also voted in state elections, unaware of the constitutional provision.

It had been long forgotten. But in 1960 an Associated Press newsman, thumbing through the Idaho constitution, noticed the provision and wrote a story about it. It won national attention because Idaho is the only state with such discrimination.

As a result the 1961 legislature unanimously voted to give voters the opportunity to remove it in this year's election.

★ ★ ★

"We thought all the discriminatory laws had been revoked in Idaho until we saw this newspaper story in 1960," says George Sugai of Payette, a member of the Japanese American Citizens League.

★ ★ ★

The League with chapters throughout the southern part of the state, is actively working for passage of the amendment.

Sugai estimates that from 600 to 700 naturalized Japanese, Chinese and others are affected by the constitutional provision.

Legal authorities believe the constitutional provision has no legal status because it violates the federal constitution. But state officials have no authority to treat it as invalid without a court decision to that effect.

★ ★ ★

The repeal amendment has widespread bipartisan support in the state, and no apparent organized opposition.

Alaska Fishermen Complain of Reds

KODIAK, Alaska (AP) — Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, today urged President Kennedy to strengthen Naval forces in Alaskan waters to safeguard American fishermen from equipment losses blamed on Russian trawling operations.

Gruening wired Kennedy that 115 or more Soviet fishing vessels are operating east of Kodiak Island.

Alaskan fishermen have complained that Russian trawlers run over and wreck the crab pots — buoy-marked wire mesh traps that cost about $200 each.

★ ★ ★

The Americans are prohibited from using mobile trawling gear on the ground that it mangles the crab.

Adenauer Mum on Retirement

BONN (UPI) — An old dispute swirled around 86-year-old West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today because he did not mention retirement during a major policy speech to parliament.

Adenauer went before parliament yesterday and discussed the German economy, rejected the idea of German initiatives to solve the Berlin crisis and praised Western determination to stand up for German freedom.

But both his supporters and opponents noticed most what he left unsaid — when he plans to step down and make way for a younger man.

West German newspapers joined the debate. In West Berlin, The Telegraf said:

"Churchill left the political stage when new situations demanded new and unused strength. Great Britain and the Commonwealth survived this change. It is de Gaulle's and Adenauer's tragic mistake that they bind state and nation to their persons."

The radio station "Deutschland Funk" agreed with Adenauer's supporters that debate over the chancellor's age harms German prestige abroad. But it added:

"Unfortunately, we must expect the debate on retirement and the question of a successor to continue as long as a decision is not made . . . It would be desirable for the chancellor to say something to clear the matter up."

Imagination Unbound: That N.Y.'s '64 World's Fair

NEW YORK (NEA) — Sitting beneath the immense, gaily colored tent at Flushing Meadows, you had the feeling that future generations would never be privy to such a spectacle.

* * *

There on the dais sat the men who were engineering what they cautiously referred to as "the greatest single event in history." They were speaking of the New York World's Fair, opening in 1964.

These hardy souls, led by entrepreneur extraordinary, Robert Moses, are perhaps among the last of the century's big-time promoters.

With an outlay of a minimum amount of their own cash, they look forward with rapture to the following scene less than two years hence:

More than 600 acres of land (renting at between $3 and $4 per square foot per year) packed with industrial and international exhibits.

A lighted fountain which keeps 160 tons of water in the air at any given time, fed by 2,000 jet nozzles in a 6½-acre round pool.

Burning gas flames four stories high will mingle with the spray, 150 feet in the sky.

A model of Metropolitan New York on a scale which has the Empire State Building one foot high. There will be 880,000 structures represented.

Attendance for the two-year life of the fair: 70 million (at $2 per adult head).

The occasion for these predictions was a progress report to the 800 guests (many of them investors in the World's Fair Corp.) who had gathered under the big top.

The sound of pile drivers could be heard outside," as some exhibitors were already beginning construction of their pavilions.

The mechanics of renting space in the World's Fair is simple: An exhibitor — say, General Motors — leases land.

Then it is up to GM to construct its own pavilion, and set up its own exhibition. A big drawback to this way of doing business was expressed by Moses, president of the corporation:

* * *

"We cannot prevent the maker of condiments from building his pavilion in the form of a pickle."

The major difficulty encountered so far is rounding up international exhibitors. Since this 1964 fair does not meet the requirements of the Bureau of International Expositions, in Paris, many foreign countries are precluded from official participation.

The vacuum will probably be filled by private groups within the respective nations.

Again, there is a suspicion hereabouts that, unlike the case with the 1939 fair, some corporations are not dying to plow millions of dollars into a major exhibition.

'NOT INTERESTED'

One advertising executive confided that RCA had decided not to participate, preferring to spend the money in something like television advertising, which they considered more effective than just sitting in Flushing Meadows waiting for the birds of passage to fly through.

Hence, the suspicion that, as mass communications become more refined, the need for a fair may become a thing of the past.

RCA did take part in the Seattle Fair (which was a true world's fair by BIE standards), but only because — according to this executive — sales on color television sets were lagging on the West Coast, and the company was seeking to exploit any likely promotion.

* * *

One answer for industries to the costly problem of setting up exhibits may be the "apartment-type pavilion." One such proposed structure is the brainchild of Richard Forrest.

Called "Project '64," the proposed building embraces a cluster of seven "pods" which individual exhibitors can rent without the headaches of construction now or demolition at the fairs conclusion.

So, if the scope of the 1964 Fair boggles the imagination, so do the problems.

* * *

Like the plight of one exhibitor who just began construction on his pavilion: Two feet under the topsoil the diggers encountered two concrete pads, each 30 feet across and five feet thick — which had to be blasted out.

They were part of the corpse of a 1939 pavilion, buried 20 years ago and forgotten.

PROJECT '64: Seven pods for rent.

Antitrust Suit Filed Against 3 Oil Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department filed a civil anti-trust suit today against three of the nation's largest oil companies — Cities Service, Sinclair and Richfield.

A department spokesman said the suit, filed in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles, asked the court to order the three firms to stop allocation of markets.

It also asked that Cities Service and Sinclair be ordered to sell their stock holdings in Richfield, the spokesman said, and that Cities Service and Sinclair directors be required to resign from the Richfield Board of Directors.

The department said the suit also named as defendants:

Empire Gas and Fuel Co. of New York, a wholly owned Cities Service subsidiary.

Sinclair Delaware Corp., New York, a wholly owned Sinclair subsidiary.

B. S. Watson, Cities Service board chairman and a member of the Richfield board.

J. Ed. Warren, Cities Service president and member of Cities Service and Richfield boards.

H. L. O'Brien, Cities Service general counsel and a member of the Cities Service and Richfield boards.

P. C. Spencer, Sinclair board chairman and member of the Richfield board.

E. L. Steiniger, Sinclair president and member of the Sinclair and Richfield boards.

The Justice Department said Cities Service and Sinclair were accused of agreeing not to compete with Richfield or with each other in six western states—California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Nevada and Arizona.

And Richfield agreed in return not to compete with the other two companies in the rest of the nation, it was charged.

Man Killed, 2 Hurt in Dow Co. Blast

MIDLAND (UPI) — One man was killed and two others injured yesterday when a chemical processing machine exploded while being repaired at the Midland Division of Dow Chemical Co.

Alvin M. Sweetman, 35, rural Midland, died at the scene. He received neck and head wounds from the shattered fragments of metal.

Injured in the explosion in the Dow machine shop were Leonard Thomas, 42, Sanford, who was reported to be in critical condition at a Midland hospital, and Chance Garner Hardy, 48, Midland, whose condition was listed as good.

Both men suffered cuts and bruises. Six other men who were working in the shop at the time were not injured.

Legion Honors Clay, Dooley

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The American Legion's highest award — the Distinguished Service Medal — yesterday was presented to Gen. Lucius D. Clay and the late Dr. Thomas Dooley.

The awards were made at the opening day session of the legion's 44th annual convention by National Cmdr. Charles Bacon.

Malcolm Dooley, brother of the doctor who gained fame for his humanitarian efforts in southeast Asia, accepted the posthumous award for Dooley. The doctor died of cancer in January 1961, at the age of 34.

3 Try Swim to Freedom but Caught by Vopos

BERLIN (AP) — East German border guards captured three refugees trying to swim the River Spree to West Berlin during the night, Western police reported today.

An East German police patrol boat hauled the swimmers on board at a point where the entire river is in East Berlin territory. West Berlin police on the left bank watched helplessly.

GOLDEN AUTUMN — Raw color is inundating the countryside all over Michigan. Those who haven't already toured the varied rural routes of leaf-strewn Oakland County have only a few days before rain or winds bare the trees for the winter.

Brilliant Fall Colors Make County Beautiful

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Beautiful Oakland County (named for its mighty oaks) is once again in the midst of brilliant fall colors — reds, yellows, browns arching high overhead and carpeting the ground.

Despite this week's leaf-stripping dampness, there is still an abundance of color, particularly on back roads. For those who love nature — now is the time to hop in the car and GO.

One of the most scenic color tours in the county takes you to historic Franklin Village — "The Town That Time Forgot."

From the moment you leave Orchard Lake Road going south onto Middlebelt Road, there is colorinterest everywhere.

Big homes spotted "naturally" among the sightly rolling hills are surrounded by flaming red salvia, and all types of full-flowered chrysanthemums.

Turning west onto Long Lake Road, then a mile down to Franklin Road, you seem to "pop" up over a hill to see below the famous old Franklin Cider Mill.

REAL BEAUTY STARTS

Leaving Franklin Road and heading west on 14-Mile Road, the pavement ends at Drake Road but real beauty starts. Hundreds of old maple trees are enfolded in orange, red and yellow.

On either side of the road "trees in apple orchards with fruit are bending down."

Suddenly you are at the Walled Lake roller coaster.

Heading north around the lake to Pontiac Trail, yellow-leaved willow trees bending over the water seem to be hanging onto the shoreline for dear life.

Pontiac Trail is a riot of color all the way to Grand River. Stay on Grand River and turn right into Kensington Park to see the vivid colors of giant red oaks reflecting in the lake.

Stop at the several high lookout points and see a panorama of autumn in all it's glory.

INTERESTING GADGETS

The Nature Center, with its narrow walking trails, bird feeders and interesting gadgets inside the building, brings an individual closer than ever to the outdoor beauty.

Driving north on the nearby Milford Road into Milford, bright red sumac is everywhere.

One mile north of Milford, Weaver Road connects with Cooley Lake Road. East to Ford Road, huge maple trees form an arch over the narrow winding Ford Road which eventually leads to scenic highland Recreation Area.

After a quick trip through the heavily wooded state park, head east on Highland Road to Teggerdine Road then north into the Pontiac Lake Recreation Area.

At the end of the road, turn right on White Lake Road and head into Clarkston. The magnificent old homes and mill pond are shaded by gigantic elms, maples and oaks.

Just outside of Clarkston go east on Waldon to Baldwin. At the north end of Baldwin turn right on Indianwood into lake-dotted Lake Orion.

Turn north on the Lapeer Road into Oxford then right on Lakeville Road into the popular resort town of Lakeville.

Lakeville Lake is located like brilliant gelatin in a deep salad bowl.

It's a natural lake — deep, clear and beautiful.

The trip south on the Rochester Road, west on Stoney Creek Road then south on Orion Road is a sight to behold.

This leads into the town of Goodison, where another old cider mill welcomes visitors.

From Goodison, drive south to Rochester and west on Walton Boulevard, back to Pontiac.

Operation UP in Escanaba

Harden, Cisler Stress Working Together

ESCANABA (UP) — Cooperation and coordination were stressed anew as "Operation Progress — UP" passed through Escanaba, a city that has managed on its own to lessen the economic pinch which has plagued most of Michigan's Upper Peninsula in recent years.

Mayor Harold Vanderberghe conceded this Lake Michigan port "needs a little new blood" in welcoming civic leaders from both peninsulas to the second of six meetings scheduled this week to marshal a concerted drive for economic rejuvenation in this north country.

Dr. Edgar Harden, president of Northern Michigan College, said, "You've got to have a team to get results," and Walker Cisler, president of the Detroit Edison Co., told a jam-packed banquet meeting "results can be accomplished when people work together."

Publisher Jean Worth of the Escanaba Daily Press, acting as master of ceremonies, said that nothing like Operation Progress - UP ever had happened before in the Upper Peninsula to draw people together for work toward a common goal.

UP - RIVIERA

While describing Escanaba as the Upper Peninsula's Riviera and extolling assets of neighboring Gladstone and Menominee, publisher Worth pledged his city to work with others in diagnosing the area's economic ills, prescribing remedies and administering massive doses.

Operation Progress-UP moves today to Iron Mountain where the region's agricultural economy will be the subject of discussion.

Appropriately, the theme of the Escanaba stop last night was "Community Development."

City officials quickly pointed out to early-arriving participants in "Operation Progress-UP" Escanaba has managed to do better than merely hold its own.

City Manager George Harvey and others came up with examples of how Escanaba helped itself.

Escanaba already has completed one so-called "Project Pride" and is busily engaged on the second.

In the first, Merchants, Industrialists and workers pitched in with cash and labor to build their city a modernistic Chamber of Commerce home and civic meeting place.

Unionists who contributed work on their days off now hold local union meetings in the Chamber of Commerce Building. Merchants threw in furnishings and some of the original $45,000 with which the project was started was left over.

Talk About Problems

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy discussed Berlin and other world problems for more than an hour yesterday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

GM Lab at Milford Unique

MILFORD — A specially designed noise and vibration laboratory here, unique in the automotive industry, was shown yesterday to newspaper and magazine reporters by General Motors.

The laboratory is equipped for scientific study of any type of noise, vibration or stress problem in design and development of GM automative and nonautomotive products.

Situated near the GM Proving Ground Administration Building, the new structure contains 70,000 square feet of laboratory, shop and office space. Half of its staff of 63 hold degrees either in engineering or physics and one-third of the supporting personnel are technical school graduates.

"This facility is the only one of its kind in the United States," said Charles A. Chayne, GM vice president in charge of engineering staff.

"Operating as part of the GM Proving Grounds, the laboratory embodies the latest thinking of our own experts in this technically specialized field," Chayne said.

325 PROJECTS

The best indication of the laboratory's importance, he said, is the fact that in 1960, while it was being built, it handled assignments for 30 of GM's 40 divisions and completed 325 projects.

David C. Apps heads the new facility.

Only in rare instances does laboratory promote test work of its own.

Primarily, it concentrates on noise, vibration and stress analysis in the general field of dynamics at a GM division's request or under divisional sponsorship.

Frequently, it offers consulting services and most of its projects are automotive.

For analytical work the laboratory has a two-console analogue computer.

The anechoic (echoless), "dead" or "soft" room has all surfaces, including floor, treated with noise absorbing sound wedges. Engineers setting up tests in the room are supported by portable grill sections which can be removed.

The reverberation room, the antithesis of the anechoic room, is called the "hard" room with its plaster walls.

To minimize standing sound waves, the room is constructed so that no two opposite walls are parallel.

★ ★ ★

Both "hard" and "soft" rooms rest on concrete bases four feet thick with cork and fiberglas insulation under the sand-filled cement block walls and floor slabs, respectively.

★ ★ ★

Three car test rooms, two with chassis dynamometers, each with five surfaces (four walls and ceiling) are treated with sound wedges three feet deep.

Engine dynamometers have bed plates mounted in four feet of concrete which, in turn, "float" on two inches of foam rubber.

In addition, the laboratory has a small machine shop, complete rubber molding facilities for developing such items as engine or body mounts and an instrument room for both instrument development and calibration.

MEASURING — In the hush of the anechoic (echoless) room in the new noise and vibration laboratory at General Motors Proving Ground near Milford an engineer positions a microphone to make noise measurements on a passenger car heater. All room surfaces, including the floor, are covered with 30-inch deep fiberglass wedges to absorb sound. Equipment and personnel are supported by removable grilles.

'City Doomed if Motorists Forbidden'

DETROIT (UPI) — Proposals to cure traffic congestion by forbidding people to use their cars would mean sure death for a city, an auto industry executive said today.

John Dykstra, president of the Ford Motor Co., said critics' suggestions to limit severely or to forbid motor traffic in cities have serious flaws.

These critics, Dykstra said, "Ignore the more than obvious fact that people want to drive their cars. They like the personal freedom to come and go whenever and wherever they want to.

★ ★ ★

"Every time public transportation has been disrupted and people have been forced to drive, fewer have returned to the buses and commuter trains. The fact is that the great majority of people seem to find it more satisfactory to roll their own wheels."

Dykstra, addressing a convention of the American Automobile Association, said that to effectively bar traffic from the city "is like effectively barring blood from the heart."

Go Into Effect Jan. 1

New Court Rules to Speed Procedures

By JIM DYGERT

Although the average man suing someone or being sued may not notice it immediately, his lawsuits should be ending sooner and costing less after Jan. 1.

★ ★ ★

On that date the new rules of procedure adopted by the Michigan Supreme Court for 1963 will go into effect in courts throughout the state.

Designed to modernize and simplify court procedures, the new rules are hoped to bring swifter, more efficient and more economical justice by eliminating unnecessary technicalities.

One of the most hallowed traditions of English and American law — the distinction between the law court and the equity court — is among the technicalities to be discarded, according to Pontiac Attorney Dean G. Beier.

COURSE SLATED

Beier is chairman of a four-man committee of the Oakland County Bar Association that has arranged for a four-week course in the new court rules for lawyers at Michigan State University of Oakland beginning Oct. 18.

Although the law court and the equity court may be held before the same judge in the same courtroom under the old system, they have always been legally separate.

Suits for money damages are pleaded in the law court, before a jury if demanded. But actions seeking injunctions, specific performance of contracts and other remedies are filed in the equity (or chancery) court. So are divorces.

★ ★ ★

There are no juries in the equity court unless money damages are also to be determined in a case whose primary issue is at equity.

Discarding this distinction will not only establish a single court for all pleadings, it will also eliminate the equity court argument that plaintiff has not exhausted his remedies in the law side of the court, Beier says.

It also will prevent the ticklish situation where one dispute involves two issues, one in each of the two courts, and the defense is the same for both.

This has raised the question of which court should rule on the validity of the defense first.

DROPPED ELSEWHERE

The equity court came into being centuries ago to decide cases where there was no adequate relief or remedy to an unjust situation through the authority of the law court.

Federal courts and courts of some other states have already discontinued the law-equity separation.

Although this change is a technical one that only lawyers and judges may appreciate, another innovation will be more noticeable.

It will be possible to start suit and gain a judgment in a Michigan court against an out-of-state defendant even when the defendant has never entered Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Under present rules, such defendants would not be served with a summons unless they had entered the state and thereby had come under jurisdiction of Michigan courts through the Secretary of State's office, according to Beier.

Also changed are the rules dealing with appeals to the state supreme court.

There will be no appeal in criminal cases involving jail sentences of less than one year or civil judgments of less than $3,000 unless first obtaining leave to appeal.

The four-week course in the new rules, billed as an "intensive, comprehensive program of instruction" in the "sweeping procedural reforms,' will be given two nights a week at MSUO. Fee is $50.

It is one of 12 such courses throughout the state sponsored by the Institute of Continuing Legal Education at University of Michigan, the U. of M. Law School, Wayne State University Law Schol and the State Bar of Michigan.

The county's five Circuit Court judges attended a 12-hour course in the new rules at the September annual meeting of the Michigan Judicial Conference.

They also spent a day last April hearing explanations of the rule by Detroit attorney Jason Honigman.

★ ★ ★

Honigman is a member of the State Bar committee that helped develop the new rules and Michigan's Revised Judicature Act of 1961 on which they are based.

Urges Aid to Needy of World

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson today called for a worldwide effort to create the skilled manpower necessary to raise the economic level of emerging nations.

"We have learned . . . that capital resources are not enough," Johnson said in a speech prepared for the opening session of a three-day international conference on middle-level manpower. "At the heart of the question is the development of human resources."

Johnson announced that U. S. private enterprise is launching at least two projects for new or expanded training facilities in selected countries with the cooperation of the governments of those areas.

★ ★ ★

But he stressed that the problems of developing manpower "cannot be solved by one country alone or even one group of countries. Cooperation is more than a spur to efficiency. It is a prerequisite with which there is no solution."

The conference, sponsored by the U.S. Peace Corps, has drawn representatives from 43 nations, most of them government officials. Middle-level manpower is described as workers of the foreman level, who are sorely lacking in most of the developing countries.

Civic Band Readies 1st Concert of Season

They're Waterford's Music Makers

By JOE MULLEN

One of the liveliest spots in Waterford Township on any given Monday night is the band room at Waterford Kettering High School.

★ ★ ★

While janitors quietly go about their tasks elsewhere in the sprawling, new building, the sound of music fills the air in the west wing from 7:30 to 9:30.

If the harmonious strains are somewhat more pleasing to the ear than when students raise their instruments to play during the day, there's good reason for it.

Monday night is rehearsal time for the Waterford Civic Band. Most of the nearly 40 band members have extensive musical backgrounds, and all are very serious about their musical night out.

The bandsmen come from all walks of life.

There are music teachers, accountants, engineers and businessmen. Their common interest is instrumental music, and they play because they love to play.

Right now they are rehearsing for the first concert of the season scheduled for mid-November.

The group will perform three more concerts by June before dispersing for the summer.

Organized in March 1960 under the sponsorship of the Waterford Township Recreation Deaprtment, the band has a dual function. It provides entertainment for the community and offers an outlet for the musical talents of its members.

DANCE BAND

A 14-member dance band, an off-shoot of the civic band, plays occasionally at school dances.

Fees charged for such performances are turned over to the recreation department to defray expenses of the band program. Players receive no compensation for their efforts.

Membership in the band is not limited to residents of Waterford Township, as the group's name might indicate.

Bill Cheal, city of Pontiac auditor and a trombonist, explained that several people living in Pontiac and other communities outside Waterford Township are members.

"We are always looking for potential band members," he added.

Most in the group have their own instruments. Those who don't may use those furnished by the school system.

★ ★ ★

The band pays a rental fee for use of the school building but instruments owned by the system are available for use gratis.

★ ★ ★

With a month of rehearsal sessions behind them and still about a month of work before the first concert date, the band will be ready when it assembles on the stage of Kettering's gym to launch another concert series.

ARTISTS AT WORK — Rehearsing for the opening concert of the Waterford Civic Band are (from left) George Fetter, trumpet; Betty Dupee, base horn; Bill Cheal, trombone; Doug Byers, clarinet; and band director H. Earl Somerville Jr. The band is beginning its third full season.

THEY COMMUNICATE — Dogs understand when a fella wants to unload something important like new words or comments on the strange world of grown-ups. An understanding Pontiac Press photographer, Phil Webb, froze this moment of exquisite contact when Mark Patterson, 3, of 32 East Blvd., started a conversation with his dog Ike.

Drayton Girl in Hospital After Being Hit by Car

Carol Ann Becker, 9, of 6258 Lanman St., Drayton Plains, is in fair condition in Pontiac General Hospital where she was taken yesterday after being struck by a car in Waterford Township.

Ernest Miller, 60, of 6367 Baker St., Drayton Plains, who was driving west on Williams Lake Road about 5 p.m., told police the girl walked in front of his car near Walfringham Street.

The girl stated that she had looked both ways before starting across the street and saw no cars coming.

Soundproof Surroundings Improve Worker Efficiency

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Excessive noise in business surroundings is said to destroy worker morale, increase errors and slow down production.

★ ★ ★

One company reported that, after soundproofing its offices last year, worker absences were cut down by 37 per cent; resignations by workers were cut by 47 per cent.

Another company claimed that, after soundproofing, the typing errors of secretaries decreased by 30 per cent.

Still another firm, by simply buying noiseless typewriters, claimed to improve typing efficiency by 50 per cent.

★ ★ ★

What I cannot understand then is how New York without doubt the noisiest city (since Babel, has the most efficient secretaries, the most bustling salesmen, the top production and the impressive output?

IT'S 'PREGROSS'

Why right now, outside my office building, there is tremendous riveting and blasting in the street.

Am I distrubed?

Hardly.

This is pregross.

Another curious thing about New York: it is possibly the only city in the world where—in peacetime—a man's body can lie for hours on a public street, undisturbed.

★ ★ ★

It is a phenomenon of life (and sometimes death) in New York that never ceases to amaze and horrify out-of-towners.

You can walk down a busy street and see the form of a man lying sprawled across a stoop, or leaning limp against a building. You do not stop. You avert your eyes and pass quickly on.

The man may have had a stroke, but most New Yorkers do not usually consider this possibility because, here, a man on the street is presumed drunk unless proven deceased.

You see, New Yorkers mind their own business. Of all the many attractions in New York, the right to privacy even amid the mob is the most valued by the common man.

And complete privacy is what—sometimes to the very end—he gets.

I interviewed long-time newswoman Adela Rogers St. Johns on the first day of the World Series. Mrs. St. Johns is an ardent Giants fan, so the conversation was fairly shouted over the sound of the TV set.

★ ★ ★

"Oh Billy (to Billy O'Dell, Giants pitcher) , I stopped in a cathedral and lit a candle for you this morning," she proclaimed as the game started. ("I'm not a Catholic," she grinned, "but I think a cathedral's as good a place to pray as any.")

MY GOD, BILLY

The interview proceeded; she talked about her new book; then suddenly, "My God, Billy, you've struck the first two men out! (You know, a lot of people say you shouldn't pray for frivolous things like sports results—but I think if religion isn't good for everything, it isn't good for anything.")

★ ★ ★

The interview picked up again. We asked if she was religious. "Yes," said Mrs. St. Johns, "very. My grandfather was a Methodist circuit rider in Arizona, a simple, devout man. But when he died and I was living with my father, we didn't believe in God.

I don't know how we got away, but my father became an atheist. I never could forget, though, and I began to sneak prayers when my father wasn't looking.

"Damnation, Billy!" she interrupted herself, "what's happened?

★ ★ ★

"There is a power of prayer," she went on, "that if you learn to use it properly, will help you all your life. Either we find a spiritual philosophy and learn to love each other or we're dead."

When the game was over, and O'Dell and the Giants were dead, Mrs. St. Johns was not disillusioned with her religious entreaties.

★ ★ ★

She could only assume that competitive prayers had done a better job for Whitey Ford.

Loose End of Scrapple Finally Tied Up

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of Congress are striving mightily to tie up the loose ends of the current session and I want to help them all that I can.

★ ★ ★

In casting about for some way to be of assistance, I ran across a loose end that Rep. Hastings Keith, R-Mass., had left dangling in a House Commerce subcommittee hearing some weeks back.

The hearing involved the "fish flour" controversy and several witnesses made the point that a food which some people might regard as unappetizing is not necessarily unwholesome.

One of the examples cited was scrapple, which was where Keith left the loose end.

"I have always wondered what was in scrapple," Keith mused, "but I never dared find out."

OF STERN STUFF

The other congressmen must have shared his fear because the subcommittee did not pursue the matter further. I, however, am made of sterner stuff.

Never being one to quail when duty called, I set about to learn what I could of the ingredients of scrapple.

If this happens to be one of the loose ends that has been delaying the adjournment of Congress, I am now in position to supply the binding information.

My authority on the subject is Charles P. Rigg of New Castle, Del., who kindly sent me some scraps of scrapple literature along with his own observations. His credentials, I might add, are the very best.

Rigg noted that he is more than 80 years old, giving credit for his longevity to "the blessing of the Almighty" and the fact that he has eaten scrapple for 70 years.

★ ★ ★

It's hard to beat a combination like that.

I was impressed by the seemingly infinite number of ways that scrapple can be prepared; or, if you prefer, disguised. They include baked scrapple, scrapple tomato scallop, scrapple sticks, poached eggs on scrapple, scrapple biscuit roll and something called apple-scrapple.

The variety of preparation apparently is exceeded only by the variety of the ingredients, which include pork stock, corn meal, pork skins, boned pork heads, chopped pork, wheat flour, pork liver, pork fat, pork hearts, pork gullet meat, pork diaphragm meat, pork spleens, pork kidneys, salt and spices and water.

It is, I assume, the water that gives scrapple its distinctive flavor.

Rigg said that "It can be eaten as the main dish at any meal," but it sounds to me more like a dessert.

Iraq Rejects Plan on Arab Question

BEIRUT (AP)—Iraq announced Tuesday it had rejected proposals submitted by Joseph Johnson, representative of the U.N. Palestine Conciliation Commission, for settlement of the Arab refugee problem.

A Foreign Ministry source said Johnson's report cannot be accepted as a basis for discussions.

The statement, broadcast by Baghdad radio and monitored here, said Johnson's aim, according to his report, appears to be to resettle the refugees in Arab countries and liquidate the Palestine question.

No Rain Checks Issued at Stadium for Food Consumed

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—Tens of thousands of hot dogs and sloshing oceans of beer, coffee and pop were consumed in vain at the Yankee Stadium Tuesday before Commissar Ford Frick broke down and admitted it was raining and there could be no World Series game.

★ ★ ★

The Stevens brothers, who own the food and drink troughs at the stadium, issued no rain checks with each purchase.

★ ★ ★

But those who retained the stubs of their seat tickets can come another day on the house, so to speak. They didn't seem very grateful for this munificence on the part of management.

HE WAS BOSS

Frick's power in the old monopoly of baseball has been systematically undermined through the years. Where Kenesaw Mountain Landis was a complete tyrant who ruled without fear of veto or plaintiff's relief from a higher court, Ford is largely a passive chairman of an active board.

But in the matter of the World Series, the owners who run the business give him his head each autumn. He can turn the Series on or off like a spigot.

Ford's head yesterday was filled with odd visions of good weather.

From time to time as a crowd of perhaps 40,000 huddled unhappily in the stands, watching the soft sad rain fall from tattletale gray skies, he would reveal one of his visions and cause it to be announced to press and/or public.

At noon he told us the weather was absolutely fine.

"Where?" a rain-soaked aide inquired, nervously.

"Philadelphia!" Ford boomed cheerfully.

★ ★ ★

Several minutes after the game was scheduled to start, and the tarpaulin lay like a great square ice floe peppered by pelting rain, Ford shared two more visions and the most solid prediction he has made since last proclaiming baseball the "national pastime." The oud speakers roared forth with a word version of the vision:

"It has now stopped raining in nearby New Jersey and Westchester," the voice spoke. "This shower will pass in 15 minutes." The soaked and shivering fans cheered the impending drought.

An hour later, the insolent shower was still defying the verdict of baseball's supreme authority. The weather, in fact, treated Ford as if he was some kook from the Weather Bureau, which had predicted a fine fall day, dancing with golden sunshine.

★ ★ ★

Shortly after 2 o'clock the umpires, looking more like pall-bearers than usual, came up from the gloom of the empty Yankee dugout accompanied by Ralph Houk, and strolled out to short right field. They made squishing sounds as they walked. One of them lifted an edge of the tarpaulin and peeked under, as if seeking a place to hide his cigar ashes.

WITH REGRET

The inevitable announcement, when it finally came at 2:11, began "With regret . . ." The fans booed. They had blown a whole day trying to take in a game that could just as well have been called hours earlier.

The long wait was enlivened by comic interludes, and that does not necessarily reflect on the aimlessly tootling band. The musicians sat in the darkness of the center field exit caves, while their leader, his raincoat dripping water, stood outside waving his arms. It was the safest position the bandsmen had found all season.

"To help you pass the time," the management invited one and all to engage in what must have been the biggest quiz show since the collapse of the $64,000 Question.

Questions were flashed on the announcement board which is part of the scoreboard complex. Then after a period of waiting, apparently to give the fans time to place a bet, up would come the answer.

★ ★ ★

Some of the questions, as spelled out by the guy on the machine, were baffling.

"How many acres does Yankee Stadium cover?" was one.

Another: "Who was manger . . ."

"Who was magner . . .?" He had three runs at spelling "manager," almost as many runs as Ford Frick had at the rain.

WILL SOON BE FULL — This is what the interior of St. Peter's Basilica looked like as the Roman Catholic Church prepared for the Ecumenical Council opening Thursday in the Vatican. Hundreds of high-ranking churchmen will occupy the stands erected along the nave leading to the main altar with its Bernini canopy in center background.

Photos of Girl 'Pilots' Snapped on Ground?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eastern Air Lines says snapshots allegedly showing stewardesses at the controls of airliners in flight were taken while the planes were on the ground.

★ ★ ★

But the airlines said yesterday that it has gone as far as it can in its investigation because the flight engineer who produced the photographs refuses to cooperate.

Robert L. Turner, Eastern's senior executive vice president, told the Federal Aviation Agency that "firm and positive steps" have been taken to make certain that not even circumstantial inferences will arise in the future that could reflect on the conduct of its flight personnel.

Turner and other Eastern executives conferred with FAA officials, including Administrator N. A. Halaby.

Turner said the airline is "determined to get at the facts" in connection with photographs identified by flight engineer D. K. (Kit) Carson as having been taken on 18 Eastern flights between May 1959 and July 1961.

During this time Eastern operated about 2.1 million flights.

KEY ISSUE

The engineers are on strike against Eastern and a key issue in the dispute is whether pilots or engineers should hold the third job in jet cockpit crews.

★ ★ ★

Turner said the photographs contained implied accusations against 14 persons. Four of the 14, he said, have been identified after an investigation.

Only two photographs showed a stewardess in a cockpit seat, said Turner, and it has been determined both pictures were of the same woman. He added:

"So far as the company has been able to determine, they were taken on the ground."

Eastern, he said, is trying to locate the stewardess, who resigned in November 1960 to be married.

★ ★ ★

Turner also contended that company records show that Carson was not on some of the flights on which he said he took the pictures.

Carson's was one of two sets of photographs produced by engineers alleging pilot laxity.

Anti-American Gets Post in Argentina

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — Mounting returns from Sunday's state and congressional elections indicated today conservatives and moderates are winning most of the Senate seats and major provincial posts at stake.

No trend had developed as yet in elections for the chamber of deputies, although at last on anti-American leader, Rio Grande Do Sul's outgoing Gov. Leonel Brizola, appeared certain of a chamber seat.

Moderate Adhemar de Barros held a widening lead over leftist ex-President Janio Quadros in the race for governor of Sao Paulo state, the principal office that was contested in the Sunday vote.

Private Eyes Unmask TV

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Private investigators gathered here for a convention of the World Secret Service Association, Inc., poked holes in a lot of people's ideas about private eyes.

"It's just not like it is on television," said investigator Ellis Sandlin of Detroit.

"I don't see how they survive all those fist fights," said Lee A. Enoch Jr., of Nashville.

Furthermore, they said, private investigators generally don't carry firearms and don't make arrests. They cooperate with police departments.

Defendant Flees Court to Have One Last Beer

MACON, Ga. (AP) — A man awaiting sentencing on three charges of burglary suddenly ran from the courtroom.

★ ★ ★

Five minutes later an officer spotted him in a beer parlor and took him back to court.

Judge Hal Bell asked Benny Franklin Reynolds, 29, if he wished to enter a plea of guilty to a charge of escaping confinement.

"No," said Reynolds. "I was not attempting to escape, your honor. I just wanted a beer."

The judge sentenced him to 7 to 10 years on the burglary charges.

Greeks to Boycott Cuba

ATHENS (UPI) — The Greek Shipowners Union announced yesterday its members would "abstain totally" from the Cuban trade because of "the problems arising for the U.S.A. from the situation in Cuba.

Deflects Impact of Seidman Gift

Candidate Acceptable Anyway: Romney

DETROIT (UPI) — George Romney said last night Grand Rapids businessman L. William Seidman would have been acceptable as the GOP candidate for auditor general even had Romney known about Seidman's $50 contribution to Gov. John B. Swainson's campaign fund.

He (Seidman) was selected for his competence and not his dyed-in-the-wool" Republicanism, Romney told newsmen following his televised debate with Swainson.

★ ★ ★

"No one in the Republican party is required to conform to a set viewpoint," Romney said. He pointed out that many Democrats, including Secretary of State James Hare and Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, differed with Swainson and the Democratic party on some issues.

Romney answered a quick "no" when a newsman asked whether he thought the revelation that Seidman had contributed to Swainson's campaign would hurt the Republicans.

Swainson smiled when asked about the incident.

"I appreciate the contribution," he said. "It shows citizen participation in my campaign."

Meanwhile at Grand Rapids, Kent County Democratic Chairman William Reamon called on Seidman to name names in Seidman's explanation of how he came to contribute to Swainson's campaign.

★ ★ ★

Seidman said he made the contribution after "a high Kent County Democratic official" indicated the party donation would benefit the future of the new Grand Valley State College (GVSC).

Seidman is chairman of the board of the school in nearby Allendale, and said his family has given $250,000 to launch the new college.

LeRoy Cooper Next in Space?

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. wants his backup pilot, LeRoy Gordon Cooper Jr. to make the next American manned space flight, an 18-orbit, 24-hour journey scheduled early next year.

★ ★ ★

"I hope soon to be working for Gordon," Schirra told newsmen as he and Cooper landed here Tuesday after flying from Houston, Tex., where Schirra had related the story of his six-orbit flight to a news conference.

★ ★ ★

Schirra was at the controls as the two-seat T33 jet touched down. In a relaxed mood, he said:

"We haven't got the word yet, of course, but Gordon is ready to go, I hope we can swap places next trip."

PROTECTION FOR PIAF — Singer Edith Piaf, 46, and her tousle-haired protege Theo Sarapo, 26, are protected by police after their marriage in Paris yesterday almost started a riot. Sarapo was a hairdresser in Greece before Miss Piaf took him under her wing to promote his singing career.

Disillusioned Advisers Leave Laos

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

American military advisers departed from Laos this week, victims of their own high ideals, defeated by a way of life understood too late.

It had been the American belief that, given the aid (approximately $300 million since 1955) and their soldiers the proper tools, the Laotians themselves would rise up in defense of their freedoms and turn back a Communist tide sweeping down from the north.

LOTUS-EATING PEOPLE

But it was a belief that reckoned without the people of this lotus-eating land of Buddhist temples, flame trees, palms, rice-paddies and day dreams.

A gun in his hand gave the Laotian no will to kill, nor to defend his land, of which there always had been plenty, nor to preserve a way of life which always had existed and always would.

American advisers were convinced that man-for-man the American-trained Laotian forces were the equal of the Pathet Lao led by the Red Laotian Prince Souphanouvong.

But with disaster closing in, the Americans could advise but not command.

HAD NO HANDICAP

The Communist leadership operated under no such handicap.

Communist North Viet Nam poured in 10,000 hardened and trained Vietminh troops to support the Pathet Lao. And, if defense of freedom would not induce a man to fight, the Communists had other arguments vouched for by Americans who saw them in action.

The Vietminh permitted the Pathet Lao no retreat. An advance involved the risk of being shot. Retreat made it a certainty.

In the final days of frustration, just before the Geneva agreement which declared Laos neutral, this correspondent talked with American military men in Laos, as well as with ambassadors and government officials of neighboring Thailand.

★ ★ ★

Officially, there was guarded optimism that Laos could become truly neutral.

Privately, most expressed grave doubts.

★ ★ ★

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand said it was only a lesser of evils, and that if neutrality worked at all, it only would be because the United States and Russia guaranteed it. Of this, too, he expressed grave doubts.

Only Russia, he said, could guarantee withdrawal of the 10,000 Vietminh troops, and he doubted that Russia could force its will upon Red China.

TAKING RISK

Others believed the Soviet Union at least would make the attempt. To fail, they said, would mean Russia would forfeit the chance of agreement on other bigger issues, nuclear testing, disarmament and Berlin.

Avtar Singh, Indian chairman of the International Control Commission, believed the United States was taking a necessary but calculated risk.

The extent of that risk daily becomes more apparent.

The control commission has recorded the departure of more than 300 Americans from Laos. It has no similar record of the Vietminh who now are free to join the fight in South Viet Nam or move against the border of Thailand for a new campaign of subversion and infiltration.

Gunman Guilty in Death Case

Detroit Man Sentenced for Chicago Murder

CHICAGO (UPI) Dana Nash, a hired gunman from Detroit, yesterday was sentenced to 99 to 150 years in prison for the slaying of union official John A. Kilpatrick.

★ ★ ★

Nash, 41, was accused of the Oct. 20, 1961, slaying by his nephew, William Triplett, 37, who confessed complicity in the crime and was the state's chief witness.

Judge Alexander J. Napoli of Criminal Court passed sentence and recommended that Nash be denied parole.

The state had sought the death penalty for Nash.

Triplett and Nash were seized by FBI agents in Detroit. After Triplett's confession, the pair was brought separately to Chicago under heavily armed guard.

Triplett said he and Nash were hired by a lieutenant of Angelo Inciso, convicted labor leader now in a federal penitentiary, to beat up Fitzpatrick, who had succeeded Inciso as president of the United Industrial Workers of America. Instead, Triplett said Nash shot Kilpatrick in the back of the head.

★ ★ ★

Triplett pleaded guilty to the murder charge and was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Council at Lansing Backs Smut Attack

LANSING (AP) — The Lansing City Council has endorsed police department efforts to halt the sale of obscene literature and so-called "party records" being sold in the city.

★ ★ ★

The council Monday endorsed a proposal by Capt. Clarissa Young of the juvenile division of the police department to establish a review board to scrutinize magazines, pocket book publications and other materials suspected of having an immoral influence on readers.

★ ★ ★

The council also requested that Capt. Young work with the city attorney to frame an ordinance to enforce the ban.

The investigation of obscene materials also will include foreign films, city officials said.

Judd Praises Gerald Ford

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford's 14 years in Congress has earned him the highest praise a congressman can receive from a colleague.

"He'd make an excellent presidential candidate," Rep. Walter Judd, R-Minn., said when he answered a question whether Ford, who represents Michigan's 5th District, would make a "good candidate" for vice president of the 1964 GOP ticket.

Klan Plans Rally in Alabama Town

ATLANTA (AP)—The Ku Klux Klan plans to hold a rally at Bessemer, Ala., Saturday night to hear reports on rioting at the University of Mississippi after the arrival of Negro James H. Meredith.

The Klan's dragon, Calvin F. Craig of Atlanta, said speakers at the rally in Bessemer, a suburb of Birmingham, would include students at the university who would give their version of the incidents.

UAW Local Invites Romney to Session

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers Local 155 today awaited word from Republican gubernatorial nominee George Romney on whether he will accept an invitation to speak Oct. 18 at a meeting of the local's joint council

★ ★ ★

"We are asking Mr. Romney to speak on the issues and on his platform," Robert Mills, Local 155 president, said. "We will ask him also to answer questions of rank and file union members."

★ ★ ★

Mills said that up to this time, the local had not been contacted by Romney or his aides. "Therefore, we are cordially inviting him to appear," Mills said.

★ ★ ★

He said the invitation had been mailed yesterday. There was no immediate comment from Romney's campaign headquarters.

Bell-Ringing Vetoed

CHESTERFIELD, England (UPI) — The Archdeacon of Chesterfield today banned bell-ringing at parish weddings. Shopkeepers complained the clanging interfered with business.

Backseat Driver Fined

BATH, England (UPI) — Hugh Harris was fined $14 for sitting in the backseat of his car while giving a friend a driving lesson.

Antilitter Ordinance May Go Little Too Far

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — The City Council today is having second thoughts about a proposed antilitter ordinance.

Among other things it would ban driving on streets and alleys with vehicles having muddy tires.

Control Yourself When A Headache Makes You Tense, Irritable

Take the Ingredients 3 out of 4 Doctors Recommend for Headache Pain. In Minutes — the Pain Goes, Also Its Tension and Irritability.

New York, N. Y. — It's a medical fact that pain from a tension headache can make people so irritable and highstrung they lose control of their tempers and take it out on those around them.

That's why tense, nervous headaches call for the stronger yet safer medication in Anacin®. Be sure it's Anacin you take because Anacin is like a doctor's prescription. That is, a combination of ingredients. Anacin goes to work instantly to relieve the pain and its tension and irritability. In minutes you feel 'great' — in control again and all without tranquilizers or narcotics of any kind.

Here's why Anacin gives such fast, long-lasting and more complete relief. Anacin is different and contains extra ingredients missing in aspirin and still missing with buffering. Extra ingredients which 3 out of 4 doctors recommend and which many doctors themselves take when they have headache pain.

It's this big difference in Anacin (the extra medication) that makes the big difference in the way you feel. Anacin Tablets contain no narcotics, do not form a habit or leave one depressed. They do not irritate or upset the stomach.

See if the stronger yet safer medication in Anacin doesn't work better for you!

BIRTHDAY FAIR

A Gala Event to Celebrate Our 5th Birthday October 11, 12, 13th

THOSE WERE THE "GOOD OLD DAYS." One of the entertaining groups which will be on tap to help celebrate the Miracle Mile Birthday Fair, October 11, 12, 13, the Keystone Cops. Left to right Lawrence LaBair, James Lafnear, William Fox, Mrs. James Hudson Jr., Mrs. Lynn Allen Jr.

BLOOD TYPING SERVICE AVAILABLE: This service will be available at the Miracle Mile Shopping Center to the public during the Miracle Mile Birthday Fair October 11, 12, 13. Demonstrated by Mrs. Rose Elliott, Chairman of the Miracle Mile Booth of the Pontiac General Hospital and Mrs. Philip Stephens, Pontiac Hospital Technician.

CASH PRIZES FOR OUTSTANDING BOOTH DISPLAYS

Cash prizes in the total amount of $250.00 will be awarded to the seven most outstanding booth displays at Miracle Mile Shopping Center during our Birthday Fair October 11, 12, 13th. Prizes will be given in the amounts of $100 for 1st prize and six $25.00 awards for runnerups. Booths will be judged on originality, workmanship, attractiveness and activity.

DRILL TEAM TO ENTERTAIN

The Rae-Vens Drill Team will perform Thursday Evening at 7:30 P.M. and Saturday Afternoon at 2 P.M., at Miracle Mile Shopping Center.

COMING EVENTS

MICHIGAN EMPLOYMENT TRAILER TO BE AT CENTER

A preliminary survey of Pontiac Merchants indicates that 750-800 additional Sales Clerks, Wrappers, Packers and other retail personnel will be needed to handle the 1962 Christmas sales. According to Mr. Clarence H. Zach, Employment Manager, MESC, this large number of qualified Sales Clerks is not in the present labor market. He has, therefore, secured a trailer to recruit workers. This trailer will be in the parking lot area of the Miracle Mile Shopping Center on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 18, 19 and 20, from 11:00 a.m. to 8:00 P.M.

NAVY DAY—OCTOBER 27th

Display on October 25, 26, 27th of the 36-foot USS Long Beach, Guided Missile Cruiser, Nuclear Powered, at Miracle Mile Shopping Center.

Women's Auxiliary of The Pontiac General Hospital Will Sponsor Many Activities at the Gala Celebration of the Miracle Mile Birthday Fair, October 11, 12, 13th

The Women's Auxiliary to the Pontiac General Hospital, one of the largest volunteer programs in Oakland County, will again participate in this year's Miracle Mile Birthday Fair. The booth will feature some of the volunteer services now available to both patients and visitors at Pontiac General Hospital. The Gift Shop, one of the never services of the Auxiliary, will offer some of its unusual items for sale. Also included in the booth will be the Auxmobile, a shop on wheels, the Bookmobile, their library on wheels, and displays and information of the Volunteer Pediatrics Program. Also, as a special service to the citizens of this area, the hospital and its laboratory technicians will make available to all persons over 18 years of age the services of blood typing. All citizens are urged by the Civil Defense Program to take advantage of this service.

The foregoing will be a preview of the Auxiliary's annual High Fever Follies show. All proceeds will be used to buy equipment for Pontiac General Hospital, thereby benefiting each person in this community. This year's show will be held November 2 and 3 at 8:30 at Pontiac Northern High School. The theme, "Terrific 20's", has already created much interest, and to further acquaint the public with this project some of the flappers, the rah rah boys, Keystone Cops and honky tonk piano will be on hand to entertain the customers at Miracle Mile each evening during the fair. Any person interested in participating in this year's show is invited to leave their name and address at the booth and will be contacted by the Follies committee.

Last year the Women's Auxiliary contributed in excess of $10,000 for equipment at Pontiac General Hospital. This year's goal is $12,000. All of these projects, including the Follies, are Auxiliary sponsored to provide funds through which needed equipment may be obtained.

General chairman of the "high Fever Follies," is Mrs. Donald S. Erkfritz. Chairman of the Hospital's Auxiliary Booth at Miracle Mile is Mrs. Ross Elliott. Mrs. Dorothy Wood in charge of publicity.

Teen-Age Speeder Learns... the Hard Way

By WARD CANNEL

PERTH AMBOY, N.J.—(NEA) Fifty minutes after midnight they brought four bleeding bodies out of the ambulance and into the emergency room. Leonard Berkowitz was finally beginning to pay back his debt to society.

Leonard is a 17-year-old high school senior who was caught showing off his father's car at 110 miles an hour. He was sentenced to a year's revocation of his license, a $20 fine—and two nights in the emergency room of the Perth Amboy General Hospital as an observer, in the judge's words, of "what could have happened."

★ ★ ★

Leonard arrived a half-hour late to begin serving his time ("to shake the reporters") and antagonized a hospital administrator with curt manners ("I thought you were a reporter").

It's not that Leonard is a tough kid.

"It's just that I got caught," he told a fellow he assumed was an out-patient waiting for some pills. "Lots of the kids speed. But I got caught. Now I'm paying for what I did. But I don't want to be reminded of it with a lot of publicity.

"A lot of the kids drink, too. I don't like the taste of the stuff. So I just go along and do the driving."

The early evening rolled quietly into night. There was a child with a cut forehead. Another with a cut hand.

JUST TRAFFIC

"I only have to watch the traffic accidents," Leonard said.

"Boy, I could never be a doctor. That kid with the cut head. I thought my head was going to explode. I'd like to be a math teacher—if I can get into college.

"I never saw a dead person," Leonard said. "I've been to funerals but I never looked in the box. I've got a friend whose father is an undertaker. He helps his father on Saturdays. I couldn't do that.

"I'd like to call home and talk to my mother. But I'm not allowed to. Boy, am I going to be tired tomorrow."

At 11 o'clock a fellow with a bad toothache came in. Fifteen minutes later Leonard's father arrived to spend the recess allowed in the boy's sentence.

"My father has an orthopedic shoe store," he said after his father left. "He had a heart attack before I was born so he has to take it easy."

The ambulance growled into the hospital yard. Leonard watched it back up to the ramp.

Then he went to a chair in the corner of the waiting room and sat down, a little boy in a white shirt and clean trousers on his best behavior.

"They're all alive," the ambulance driver said to the nurse on duty. "When we got there I was sure we'd have to shovel them out. But they're all alive. You should have seen the front car. Like a telescope. They'll have to take it away with a derrick."

There were two men and two women, the survivors of a turnpike collision.

"We kept turning over and over and over," one of the women said. Her face was mashed and bloody. She was wheeled into the emergency room.

"Do I have to go in there?" Leonard said. Nobody heard him and he followed along behind the rolling stretcher.

ANSWERS QUERIES

The two men were taken into another emergency room. The other woman sat down in the waiting room and began to answer questions put to her by a state trooper and the ambulance driver who had forms to fill out.

"I was going about 60," she said. "In the slow lane. Those two men came up behind us. I didn't even see their headlights. Then they plowed into us . . ."

Leonard came back into the waiting room.

"I can't take it," he said. Nobody paid any attention to him. "I can't go back in there. Where's the bathroom?"

An orderly pointed the way and watched him. "You think somebody ought to go with him?" he asked.

★ ★ ★

"Who's the kid? one of the ambulance men asked.

Somebody explained the situation and the judge's sentence.

"A hundred miles an hour?" the woman said. Her eyes were quite swollen. You could see it was painful for her to turn her neck. Leonard came back into the waiting room.

"A hundred miles an hour?" she said to him.

Leonard nodded.

"Listen," she said, "if I were the judge I'd have made you stay here a week. Night and day—for a week."

Meredith Case Costing NAACP

Mississippi Official Estimates $30,000

CLARKSDALE, Miss. (AP)—Aaron Henry, state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said today the James Meredith case has already cost the NAACP upwards of $30,000."

In a letter to the Coahoma County branch of the NAACP, Henry said "this is no time for gloating and bragging" but added that all supporters should "take pride in the exemplary manner" in which Meredith has conducted himself during the University of Mississippi crisis.

Henry said the crisis at Ole Miss was "not the activity of the administration, faculty, and students. Some students did participate in the confusion, but with the news media and "advice' available to them, how could we expect little else?"

Henry called for a meeting of the Coahoma NAACP Oct. 28 asking for members and friends of the NAACP to make a $5 contribution to offset the cost of Meredith's case.

"Remember, freedom is not free! We must work and pay for it," Henry said.

But Ancient 'Ayurved' Not Western Method

Nehru to Open Institute of 'Medicine'

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—"Obscurantism," snorted India's Prime Minister Nehru once when asked about Ayurved, the traditional medical system of South Asia.

★ ★ ★

Yet Nehru, whose English education orients him toward Western methods, is going to lend his prestige to Ayurvedic medicine by opening a research insitute here Sunday.

"His association with this institute gives us hope of more support," says Baldev Sharma, Ayurvedic doctor who will head the institute.

Ayurved developed in north India about the time the ancient Greeks were developing their medical knowledge. About the Fourth Century A.D. Ayurved stopped developing, missing the scientific research that began during the Renaissance.

★ ★ ★

Sharma says Ayurved "is based on the dynamic principles which govern life—the nervous force, the metabolic force or heat-producing vitality, and the cooling force or resistance.

"A disequilibrium of these forces may result in different kinds of diseases—we can have one remedy for different diseases and different remedies for patients suffering from the same disease."

The remedies, intended to "treat the man as a whole—we don't treat him in parts," include the use of herbs and physical manipulation.

Nehru, on the other hand, believes in Western medicine and relied on it during his recent illness. Political factors may explain his association with the institute.

In Ceylon, as in India, the rural masses still believe in Ayurved, although Sharma notes that "most people shop around—they try a little of both (Western medicine and Ayurved), taking their problem to the opposite system if they own doesn't work."

Columnist Says Quality Is Gone

TV Audience Ratings Urged in Cuba

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — A Havana newspaper columnist had advocated the reinstatement of that capitalist device, television audience ratings, to improve the quality of Cuba's video fare.

★ ★ ★

His suggestion came after he had watched a sports telecast.

After bad soccer and boring athletics came a homage program, in which boredom became so dense the TV set threatened to burst. Fortunately, no one was watching," the columnist added.

The commentator urged the use of ratings "to reward efficiency and punish inefficiency."

Ratings were dropped in Cuba following the nationalization of all television and radio facilities, a few years ago.

Cuba is the only Latin American country that can boast of television transmitters in almost every major city. The island is linked from east to west by a microwave link, built before Fidel Castro's rise to power.

NO COMMERCIALS

There are now two video networks. There are no commercials on television, only government slogans and urgings.

An incredible number of television antennas sprouts up from homes everywhere. Mansion and shack seem to have but one common denominator: the TV set.

In areas where there is no sewerage or water supply, thatched huts bristle with antennas. Most hail back to the prerevolutionary era.

Daily programming still features more American made films than Soviet or other Communist produced offerings.

Perry Mason defends invariably innocent clients from the onslaughts of the D.A.; Loretta Young keeps breezing through doors every week and sauve David Niven — his voice dubbe in Caribbean Spanish accents — adds a bourgeois touch to a Sunday evening porgram.

★ ★ ★

Hollywood cartoons and documentaries appear to outnumber Communist productions extolling the Bulgarian cement industry or the welfare of Russian kindergarten tots.

All American-produced programs are of 1960 vintage. They came into government hands together with the telecasting facilities.

Each afternoon and evening an archaic Hollywood feature movie is shown. An American resident observed: "Some are so old Humphrey Bogart still plays supporting roles."

Apart from popular music reviews and dramas, Cuban television programming relies heavily on politically oriented round table discussions and appearances by leading government figures. All but a few of Prime Minister Castro's speeches have been telecast live.

All hookups with the U.S. networks have been dropped. In former times major league baseball games were picked up in Havana by special antennae built on a high cliff east of Havana. Occasionally, American entertainers would originate their shows in Havana.

First Moon Rocket to Leave Many Astronauts Behind

By JOHN BARBOUR

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixteen American astronauts have tickets for that first trip to the moon, but the flight is sadly oversold.

There are only three seats available.

★ ★ ★

Only two of these will land on the moon. One astronaut will have to stay with the main spaceship, parked in orbit around the moon.

BACKGROUND UP OF THE NEWS

It will be a tricky effort from the moment the 300-foot Saturn rocket blasts off from earth to that second of glory when a man-made space cab comes to rest on the lunar surface.

We are going, President Kennedy said, on "an untried mission to an unknown celestial body."

The trip will be made step by step, the first cautious ones already taken. Three Americans have orbited the earth for a total of 16 hours. Sometime early next year, likely at least one astronaut, maybe more, will go into earth orbit for a full day.

★ ★ ★

After that the space program will take its first major step—to Gemini spacecraft. The Gemini, about twice as big as the Mercury spaceships, will carry two men into orbit around the earth, after early test flights.

It will be able to stay in orbit for up to two weeks, with enough oxygen and electrical power. Or, for shorter periods, astronauts can train themselves to maneuver in space, and to find and dock with another orbiting spacecraft.

This training will lay groundwork for the Apollo spaceship flights to the moon.

DESTINATION MOON

Apollo spacecraft next will make flights around the earth, then a flight once around the moon and back to earth.

Finally a special Apollo crew will ride atop a monster rocket with enough speed to go into orbit for several trips around the moon. From a garage, in Apollo's midsection perhaps, there will be released a small, two-man space "bug" with two crewmen aboard.

Those two men will try to touch down on the moon. One at a time, they will explore on foot the lunar surface. Back in their space cab, in communication with the earth and their mothership, they will hold their own countdown, and fire the rockets that will put them on an orbital intercept course with the mothership.

★ ★ ★

The space cab will dock with the Apollo mothership and the two lunar pioneers will rejoin the third crew member. Then, at a precise moment during their whirling course around the moon, the three astronauts will fire off rockets to tear them loose from their lunar orbit and send them hurtling toward the earth.

★ ★ ★

Both countdowns—the one on the moon, and the one in lunar orbit—must be exactly timed. The relative positions of the earth, moon and spacecraft are fed into computers in the spacecraft, and the men will check the components of their rocketships by electrical means.

These in-space countdowns are the most critical points in the trip.

TARGET DATE 1967

That, in brief outline, is the scheme. The aim is to do it in this decade. The hope is to do it by 1967.

"For we have given this program a high national priority, even though I realize that this is in some measure an act of faith and vision, for we do not now know what benefits await us," the President said recently.

Indeed, the United States has staked its prestige, on that goal: get to the moon first.

★ ★ ★

But that is not all. After nearly 200 years of making its frontiers on earth, the United States may have found a new one in space.

It seems now, not enough to build the most automobiles and refrigerators, not enough to have the most effective atomic striking force. In Houston, Tex., recently, standing in front of a model of the space cab that will go to the moon, Kennedy said:

"The exploration of space will go ahead whether we join in it or not. And it is one of the great adventures of all time, and no nation which expects to be the leader of other nations can expect to stay behind in this race for space. "Space is there, and we're going to climb it. And the moon and the planets are there, and new hope for knowledge and peace are there.

9 Violators Agree to Halt Price-Fixing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nine manufacturers of metal office furniture charged with antitrust law violations in 1960 agreed today to refrain from entering agreements on price-fixing or territory allocation in the future.

★ ★ ★

Two of the firms are headquartered in Michigan.

The Justice Department said the agreement was contained in papers filed in U.S. District Court in Buffalo, N.Y.

A department spokesman said the agreements, in the form of proposed consent judgments, will become final in 30 days.

★ ★ ★

The department said these eight agreed to a judgment ending civil antitrust suits involving metal office furniture: General Fireproofing Co., Youngstown, Ohio; Globe-Wernicke Co., Norwood, Ohio; Shaw-Walker Co., Muskegon, Mich.; Yawman and Erbe Mfg. Co., Rochester, N.Y.; Art Metal Inc., Jamestown, N.Y.; Steelcase Inc., Grand Rapids, Mich.; Sperry Rand Corp., New York; and All Steel Equipment Co., Aurora, Ill.

The 13th National Science Fair-International will be held in conjunction with the 1962 Seattle World's Fair.

AP Photofax

GEMINI CRAFT — This is a model of the two-seater Gemini spacecraft. It is twice as big as the various Mercury capsules that have carried U.S. astronauts in the past. It will be able to remain in orbit around the earth for up to two weeks.

Hits President for Not Trying Military Tactics

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The word from Mississippi is that Gov. Ross R. Barnett was maneuvering all the time to compel President Kennedy to order the U.S. Army into Oxford to integrate the university.

★ ★ ★

From sources friendly to the administration here comes the word that the President and his brother, the attorney general, did their utmost to avoid the use of bayonetted troops.

All of this is a great pity, if true. The record and the precedent suggest that mob violence and murder could have been prevented — surely reduced — if the Kennedy strategy had been based less on political considerations and more on the proven worth of sound military tactics.

The political considerations appear to have included the thought that southern feelings would be less outraged by an invasion of U.S. marshals in mufti than by uniformed troops.

★ ★ ★

Then, too, candidate Kennedy was sharp in his campaign criticism of President Eisenhower's use of troops five years ago in Little Rock.

In Oxford the problem was to prevent the formation of a mob and to control it if formed. This, of course, with a minimum of violence. All to be accomplished within the urban limits of a university campus and a town.

HARD TO DO

The military will tell you that in such circumstances the objective of a minimum of violence is best achieved by the application of a maximum of force.

★ ★ ★

That may have been mere military theory at one time. It became a military fact when the federal police power was put to a hard and brutal task right here on the Capital's Pennsylvania Avenue and in adjacent areas.

IT HIT WASHINGTON

President Kennedy and his brother may be excused for not knowing about that. The events took place 30 years and some weeks ago when neither was of an age to be acutely aware of the 1932 Bonus March on Washington, D.C.

Buildings on the south side of the avenue had been razed to make way for a grand federal building project. Still standing in the shape of bare walls and floors was a concrete structure that had been a "garage."

The Bonus Marchers, 10,000 or more, established a tar paper shanty town in the razed area. Some found better shelter in the half-demolished garage.

At 10 a.m., one summer day, U.S. marshals and police moved to evict the garage squatters. Two were killed and there ensued a battle of bricks and clubs for blocks along the infested avenue.

★ ★ ★

There was more than mere violence because this concentration of men, women and children without sanitary facilities of any kind had become a menace not merely to the Capital's peace but to its health.

ARMY SETTLES IT

The battle of the bricks was inconclusive. The bonuseers stood fast. President Hoover summoned the Army. Gen. Douglas MacArthur was chief of staff.

MacArthur laid on a regiment complete with cavalry and armored vehicles, foot soldiers with bayonets aloft. They paraded down Pennsylvania Avenue, put the squatters' flimsy hutments to the torch.

Several thousands encamped on nearby Anacostia Flats were surrounded by the military toward midnight and on second thought chose not to riot but to run away.

By dawn the town was clear of potential rioters.

A babe in arms succumbed to tear gas. Military men acclaimed MacArthur's bloodless coup as a triumph of tactics and strategy.

★ ★ ★

In Oxford, perhaps, it could have been the same.

Connally in Texas Is Running Scared

DALLAS (UPI) — John Connally, President Kennedy's first secretary of the Navy, is running hard and scared for the governorship of Texas.

One look at the political polls tells Democrat Connally he has a two-year lease on the governor's mansion in Austin. But a closer look at the voters tells him he still may be living in his hometown at Fort Worth after the votes are counted.

Much depends on what Connally does between now and the Nov. 6 general election.

One big mistake and a Democrat - turned - Republican named Jack Cox could be Texas' first GOP governor since Reconstruction. It is a battle of personalities.

Connally is gray, handsome, and a smooth talker. Cox is wiry, determined and a smooth talker.

BOTH CAN TALK

Talk may be the deciding factor. Texans were exposed to the Kennedy-Nixon debate, and they liked the show. Since then television stations have been after Connally and Cox to debate. Cox says "yes," Connally "no."

Connally is one of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's closest confidantes, Cox is using this against him. Cox is the former executive director of the conservative group "Freedom in Action." Connally uses this as a political weapon.

The GOP, maneuvering for the liberal Texas vote by promoting the two-party system, keeps whacking Johnson. They have distributed an automobile bumper sticker which reads — "Scratch Lyndon's Boy John," with the capital letters "LBJ" in glowing print.

Connally, an attorney for the late wheeler-dealer Sid Richardson and a former oil and gas lobbyist in Washington, maintains he is independent from Vice President Johnson.

But his campaign style is patterned after the vice president's. He is a hand-shaker, a "howdy-do-er" in the country clubs, and an intense organizer in the cities.

Cox looks just like he crawled off an oil well drilling rig, which is his business. He has won awards for his speeches about American heritage. He likes to pick up a guitar and strum a Western tune, while singing in a nasal tone.

This tactic has been known to win elections in Texas.

★ ★ ★

Elsewhere in the Southwest:

OKLAHOMA — Republicans are making a determined bid in Oklahoma, the Democratic stronghold of Sen. Robert Kerr, to elect Henry Bellmon as governor. It would be an upset victory for the 41-year-old farmer from Billings.

The Democratic choice, and favorite at this time, is W. P. (Bill) Atkinson, 55, a builder and housing developer that had to fight down to the wire to beat former Gov. Raymond Gary.

The vote was so close a recount was necessary in the primary balloting.

Gary refused to campaign for Atkinson after the recount, but said he supports the Democratic ticket. Their quarrel was over a sales tax — a levy Atkinson proposes to increase from two to three cents.

An independent, L. Richard Zavitz of Tulsa, also is on the ballot for governor.

A. S. (Mike) Monroney, incumbent junior senator, faces 40-year-old Republican B. Hayden Crawford of Tulsa and Paul V. Beck, 71, a Tulsa independent.

There are contests for only four of the six congressional seats. No Republican filed against either Rep. Carl Albert, Democratic House majority leader, or Rep. Tom Steed, and both automatically win re-election.

NEW MEXICO — The "Land of Enchantment" is a question mark as far as the November gubernatorial election is concerned.

It is a battle between two former FBI agents in a state where Democrats outnumber Republicans 2½ to 1, but where Gov. Edwin Mechem, a Republican, has served four consecutive terms and is fighting for a fifth.

The major issue is the state's deficit. Mechem urges a tax increase. The Democrats oppose it.

Mechem won with a big smile and a "Just call me big Ed" approach.

His opponent is Jack Campbell, who appears to have voter appeal. Like Mechem, he is a former FBI agent. Further, he was a combat Marine in the Pacific, former State House speaker and has proved to be an effective campaigner.

ARKANSAS — Gov. Orval E. Faubus, toned down and more moderate since his battle with the federal government over school integration in 1957, swamped the Democratic field to win the nomination without a runoff and is all but assured of an unprecedented fifth term.

Willis Ricketts, Fayetteville Republican, is his opponent, but is given little or no chance to unseat Faubus.

Veteran Democratic Sen. J. William Fulbright was an overwhelming favorite to beat Dr. Kenneth Goss Jones, 43, a Little Rock conservative Republican, in a senatorial contest.

LOUISIANA—Sen. Russell Long, son of Huey (the Kingfish) and nephew of Earl, appears to face little trouble in his race for a third term and another member of the Long clan has appeared on the scene.

Russell's cousin — Gillis Long — is making a bid for a seat in Congress — and odds are that he will win.

Rep. Otto Passman, the congressman who prides himself in ax-work on foreign aid programs, has no opposition. Rep. Hale Boggs, another fixture in the House, had a tough primary fight but coasts from here on in.

Prize-Winner Serling Gives Views

Writers Can Develop Style, but Talent's Inborn

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Want to be a professional, prize-winning writer?

* * *

Here's all you do, says a professional, prize-winning writer named Rod Serling.

First, you've got to be born with writing talent. ("A writer can be taught technique, but he can never learn to be talented.")

Then you've got to develop a style, by studying the works of good authors. ("Style is something you develop by copying the style of somebody who writes well.

* * *

For awhile you're a cheap imitation. I was a Hemingway imitator. Everything I wrote at first began, 'it was hot.' Later, by osmosis or something, you break away and into your own style. Then you're a writer!"

EDUCATION IMPORTANT

Now that you have inborn talent and a style, you have to have a well-rounded education. ("What are you going to write about? Not grammar, or literature — you're going to write about people, places and things.

You study psychology, sociology, history, and all the sciences you can cram in.")

* * *

You're out of school now, talented, with a writing style and a basic knowledge of people, places and things; the time has come to see, feel and become emotionally involved with the people, places and things you've read about.

("You've got to have experience with people, to study their attitudes and differences; color in drama doesn't mean the color of a guy's shirt.")

Okay, now you've got the basics and what do you do with them? ("Work, damn it.")

* * *

The amiable young author of the above advice is the most famous writer in television. His home in Pacific Palisades, Calif., is shiny with "Emmys" won for creativity and diligence.

FIRST ORIGINAL

He was the first author to present an original 90-minute play for TV — the famed "Requiem for a Heavyweight," which opens on Broadway as a big-screen film Oct. 16.

* * *

To show how tough it is to be a successful writer, Rod Serling worked two years on the TV play —which was based on his many years' experiences as a golden gloves boxer and a string of 31 amateur fights in the Army.

Then he wrote six scripts for a Broadway stage production of the play, before his partners decided it would make a better movie. He wrote four screenplays of "Requiem" before he was satisfied with the result.

Serling is famed for many other dramas, notably "patterns," "the comedian" and a series which he refers to as "strictly a wing proposition," called "The Twilight Zone." ("It's fun to write — you get your hero in the burning building and you can do anything you feel like, to get him out.

* * *

And nobody can question your editorial integrity. They say, 'that couldn't really happen,' and you say, 'oh but it could—this is The Twilight Zone.' ")

BEGAN AFTER WW II

Serling had no idea he wanted to be a writer until after World War II, in which he served as a paratrooper and demolitions expert.

* * *

Afterward, he went to Antioch College in Ohio and "felt a compulsion to write about war. It was a catharsis. Then, thank God, I became interested in other things and expanded."

* * *

These days he is teaching playwriting at his alma mater, earning $3,000 for the six-month semester—identical sum he earned for two hours' work on a television commercial last year.

Why? "I'm learning more about young people—gee, I never thought I'd use that phrase—than they're learning from me."

The two "young people" closest to Serling are his daughters, Jody, 10, and Nan, seven. He'd like them to be writers but so far there's no indication they were born talented.

"Course it's too early to tell, but I want them to do what they've got the talent for. Right now, they're only interested in horses, which isn't so bad.

* * *

"So, maybe they'll be bookies?" It's easier than writing. . . .

CAROL BURNETT

N. H. Recount Reveals Accuracy of Results

CONCORD N.H. (AP) — A recount of the ballots was completed yesterday in the New Hampshire Republican primary for governor. There was no change in the outcome of the contest, in which John Pillsbury defeated Gov. Wesley Powell by nearly 14,000 votes.

* * *

The recount gave Pillsbury a net gain of 132 votes.

* * *

The official count after the Sept. 11 primary gave Pillsbury 55,784 votes, compared to 42,005 for Powell.

Carol's Come Far From High School

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Social note: Carol Burnett, Hollywood High School, class of '51, was back in town.

Miss Burnett was also UCLA, class of '55, but she never quite made it to the sheepskin, show biz interceded.

As any student of the television art knows, Carol is the putty-faced zany who romped to the heights of success as Garry Moore's irrepressible buddy. She has the Emmies to show for it.

THOMAS

She also has the beginnings of a serious fortune now that she is off on her own. She went out this summer "with much trepidation" on the Carol Burnett Show, playing big outdoor stadiums as well as the Las Vegas big time.

What did she pick up? A bundle of money from smash business, a new reputation for being able to carry the load as a single. Oh, yes, she also picked up a Nevada divorce from Don Saroyan.

To climax her triumph, Carol was here to star on a Jack Benny show, playing a mad Jane to Jack's Tarzan. Carol came down from her vine-swinging long enough to reflect on her change of status.

* * *

"Some people got it wrong about how I left Garry," she remarked. "A few reports made it sound like a benevolent kiss-off—that he was getting rid of me.

"It wasn't that way at all. I went to him last year and said I thought after four seasons that it was time for me to leave and see if I could make it on my own. Garry was very sweet and understanding. He said he would like me to stay, but he knew how I felt. He said that he once had to decide to leave Jimmy Durante."

* * *

Having proved herself on the summer tour, Carol is branching out in all directions. She'll be doing some television specials this season, including "Calamity Jane" from the old Doris Day movie. There is talk of movies for her, and she has signed for a Jules Styne musical on Broadway next season based on the book "The Unfair Sex."

She has come a distance from Hollywood High.

Carol was no mime then. She was a journalist, of all things, and decided she would interview all the Hollywood High grads who had made it in films.

"I cut classes to go see them," she said, "and this didn't set too well with the school.

Since UCLA had no undergraduate journalism, Carol majored in theater arts. During one comedy exercise, she found her fellow students laughing at her in the right places—"and that's all it took."

* * *

She left UCLA and California in 1954 to seek her fortune in New York. Why not Hollywood?

"Movies never interested me," she admitted. "You've got to be a beauty to make it here."

Politics Doesn't Pay

Doctors Get Involved in Medicare

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON — Backstairs at the White House:

Widespread publicity was given recently to the plight of a Buffalo, N.Y., doctor who supported President Kennedy's medicare program.

★ ★ ★

The physician's wife wrote the Chief Executive, telling how her husband was losing his practice because of his stand for the program which would finance medical care of the elderly through the Social Security system.

Comes now the other side of the coin. The President has heard from another doctor's wife, Mrs. E. R. Wheddon of Stockbridge, Mich.

She informed Kennedy that her husband, too, suffered because of the medicare plan but for a different reason.

Wheddon and his wife, according to her letter, openly opposed the administration bill which died earlier in this session of Congress.

Mrs. Wheddon wrote articles for publication and quoted her husband liberally. Then, she told the President, this situation developed:

BUSINESS FALLS

"Today, as a direct result, many Democrats go to another doctor. Some elderly patients have objected. All were receiving good treatment, but politics has caused a breach in the patient-doctor relationship."

Mrs. Wheddon asked little in the way of help from the White House except to urge that the President "keep medical care out of the coming November elections." Kennedy quite clearly has no such intention.

Late last spring, a woman visitor made news of a sort by smuggling her toy poodle into a presidential press conference. The dog barked during the conference.

The woman, an actress who was admitted to the news session on the strength of a letter to the White House from an editor friend, garnered extensive publicity.

The publicity was embarrassing to the White House press office which then received numerous requests for admission to the news conferences; requests from persons having little or no legitimate reason to be present.

★ ★ ★

The White House police and the Secret Service also were a bit abashed that the woman slipped in with the dog hidden in a large purse.

CHANGES STORY

The lady insisted at the time that her mission was most legitimate, reporting, and that she brought the dog along simply because the mutt disliked staying alone in hotel rooms.

Well, the lady burst forth again last week, this time in a television interview on the Pacific coast.

She treated her doggy visit to a Kennedy press conference with great hilarity and told quite freely how her true vocational interests lay in the theater, motion pictures and television.

She also told about her strange hobby of taking her dog to places not normally visited by pets.

With great verve, she related the high point of her curious career — she claimed to have taken the dog into the Vatican for a papal audience. In her purse, of course.

Negro in Trade Post Feels He's Qualified

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Leon Higginbotham Jr., first Negro ever named by a president to serve on a U.S. regulatory agency, says his appointment to the Federal Trade Commission is no victory over discrimination in government. He feels strongly he was chosen because he is qualified—"nothing else."

The 34-year-old Philadelphia lawyer, since teen-age college days a leader in the battle for the rights of any minority, says he abhors racial preference, by any side.

"I was appointed by the President of all the people," Higginbotham said in an interview, "and I will serve the interests of all the people."

Higginbotham, confirmed by the Senate last Friday, will serve on the FTC seven years.

The 6-foot-5 Democratic attorney, who is president of the Philadelphia chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, considers the trade commission the guardian of America's free enterprise system —"eliminating illegal price fixing or monopolies and assuring the consumer honest advertising."

Higginbotham, only child of a Trenton, N.J., factory worker, originally planned to be an electrical engineer. He enrolled at Purdue University in 1944 at the age of 16.

CHANGES HIS LIFE

As a freshman he became a member of the varsity debate team and a competition at Evanston, Ill., changed the direction of his life.

"We were debating at Northwestern but I couldn't stay at the same hotel with the others because I was a Negro," he recalls. "I decided right then to become a lawyer. Only in the law can such inequality be corrected."

Because Purdue didn't have a liberal arts course, he transferred to Antioch College—where he met and married his wife—and from there to Yale Law School.

Higginbotham is no advocate of extreme measures to achieve racial progress. He believes persuasion and proper legal actions produce day-by-day progress.

"I think that every member of a minority group has the obligation to help others who have not received a fair break in the American main stream," he says. "I've spent hundreds of hours every year because of the importance of this idea—the quality and opportunity for all citizens, regardless of race, religion or creed."

GOVERNMENT FIELD

Higginbotham is no stranger to government work. A practicing lawyer since 1953, he has been an assistant district attorney in Philadelphia, a special deputy attorney general of Pennsylvania, a special hearing officer in cases involving conscientious objectors for the U.S. Justice Department, and a field examiner for the National Labor Relations Board.

His parents, who, he says, "sacrificed very much to give me the maximum economic advantages," are pleased; his wife, Jeanne, is happy and his children —Karen, 7, and Stephen, 1—"Applaud whenever I say anything."

His only athletic endeavor: a Sunday afternoon touch football game with his family.

"I understand that's a popular sport in Washington," he said with a smile. "Maybe I'll get invited when I get down there."

Wernher Von Braun Had School Troubles

OBERAUDORF, Germany (AP) Is your child having trouble with mathematics? Don't worry, rocket expert Wernher von Braun did too when he was a boy.

★ ★ ★

His father, Baron Magnus von Braun, was exposed to as many ups and downs in his son's early school career as any space-age father.

The elder Von Braun, at 84 an imposing man with a short white beard, recalled in an interview that his son failed the 9th grade because he wasn't interested in the arithmetic and kindred subjects he later found essential to his career.

NO SURPRISE

"The failure came as no surprise because his teachers' quarterly reports said he had little interest in the subject," the baron said at his home in this resort village.

★ ★ ★

Wernher von Braun, whose complex calculations years later were to send the first U.S. space satellite into orbit, at the time was enrolled at Berlin's exclusive College Royal Francaise.

His father, a wealthy landowner in Lower Silesia, was general manager of an agricultural lending bank in Berlin.

CABINET MINISTER

Later he became a cabinet minister in the Von Papen government. He retired from public life in 1932. His wife died in 1959.

Speaking of the Berlin school, he said: "I enrolled Wernher there to give him a background in languages. Most of the school's subjects were taught in French.

★ ★ ★

"Unfortunately, languages bored him terribly at this time."

Even then, however, Wernher was interested in the heavens.

"His mother, who influenced him greatly during her life, had a great interest in astronomy and lit in him a passion for the skies," the baron said. "He would spend hour after hour looking through a telescope."

COULDN'T RECALL

The elder Von Braun said he could not recall his son's early rocket experiments, the experiments which led him to develop the V2 rocket for the Germans in World War II.

After Wernher failed at the Berlin school, his parents decided he needed a change of environment and enrolled him at a boarding school at Ettersburgh, near Weimar.

★ ★ ★

"My wife and I thought he would do better away from the distractions of the big city," his father said. "But he kept getting bad reports at this school too.

"I was later told that at both Ettersburgh and in Berlin he had annoyed and alienated his teachers by asking them questions they could not answer.

ALWAYS CURIOUS

"They probably thought he was being smart, but that was just Wernher's manner. He always kept asking questions."

It was at the Hermann Lietz High School at Spelkeroog, on the North Sea, that the trend changed.

★ ★ ★

"When I opened a letter from the school I got a big surprise," the father said proudly. "It said Wernher was way ahead of his class in mathematics and that his progress was remarkable.

★ ★ ★

"Later I was told that he had substiuted for a sick teacher and taught the final school year in mathematics.

REMARKABLE CHILD

"But Wernher always was a remarkable child. When he was 4 he could read a newspaper upside down and right side up. He had a remarkable ability to apply himself to whatever interested him.

"The same was true when he started to work for the Americans in 1945. He learned English in nine months."

★ ★ ★

The baron said his other two sons sailed through school with little trouble.

The eldest, Sigismund, is a diplomat recently appointed observer for the West German government at the United Nations. Magnus, the youngest, is an executive with Chrysler Corp. in Detroit.

"Sigismund and Magnus are clever, but they are ordinary clever people," their father said. "Wernher is a genius."

Ouagadougou, capital of Upper Volta, was the seat of the Mossi emperor in the 15th Century.

The koala bear is not a bear. It is an arboreal marsupial, a pouched animal that lives in trees.

Secret in Good Photography: Good Light

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Light is the universal element in photography. Without it, there could be no photography — whereas you can make pictures without a camera, without film or without a lens.

To make pictures without a camera or film, objects can be placed directly on sensitized paper and exposed to light. The result, called a photogram, can show the delicate tracery of a leaf, lace or glass with photographic artistry. Other objects can be revealed in pleasing outline design.

A pin-hole camera can, without a lens, photograph a scene with artistic value. Its main requirements is enough light.

To master photography, therefore, one must master light. To put it another way, if you want to become a better photographer you must study light and learn how to evaluate, control and use it.

Tremendous strides have been made in the photo field to help camera fans maintain control over light. Sensitive light meters are available which measure it and inform photographers what the proper exposure should be.

However, it is up to each photographer to point the meter — or the meter-coupled camera — in the right direction and evaluate the answers. Being human, he sometimes makes a few errors.

For instance, he might fail to set the meter for the correct ASA speed of the film being used. Or he might be reading the meter in the light whereas the subject pointed at may be principally in shadow (or vice versa).

Or he might be after certain offbeat effects — high key or a silhouette — without making allowance for them by some overexposure or underexposure.

Today, too, we have artificial sunshine at our disposal in tinier flashbulbs and portable electronic flashlamps and movie lamps. However, with the faster films in use nowadays, we are apt to overpower our subjects with too much light, especially in closeups.

FACIAL WASHOUT

To prevent facial washouts, here are some of the things you can try in a series of shots to be sure of getting some good exposures:

If the flash is on the camera, you can drape a handkerchief over it. One thickness of linen diffuses the light by half; two thicknesses is equivalent to close-in the lens two stops.

If the flash reflector is the folding fan type, you can control the light effectively by diminishing the fan. Or if you can remove any reflector and shoot with the bare bulb, you reduce the light still more.

★ ★ ★

These controls are useful when you're shooting very close — from four to seven feet — or when you need a weak fill-in light for outdoor pictures to lighten deep shadows on a bright day.

Don Mohler, lighting expert from Cleveland, passes along another bit of advice that may come in handy sometime when you're shooting indoors.

If there are some framed pictures in your view which show light reflections in the glass, you can get rid of the light flare fairly easily. Merely wedge a paper match book or a wad of paper under the picture at the bottom.

This will tip the glare upwards out of camera lens view while maintaining the homey atmosphere of the room.

Man Gets 20 Years for Murder of Son

ALLEGAN (AP) — Ernest Sandefur, 43, of Allegan, yesterday was ruled guilty of second-degree murder in the June 3 slaying of his son Gaylon, 21.

Allegan County Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith immediately sentenced Sandefur to 20-40 years in prison.

The ruling and sentence follow a Sept. 27 hearing to determine the degree of homicide after Sandefur had pleaded guilty to an open charge of murder in the shooting of his son.

The victim was shot as the climax of a quarrel with his father at their home.

Grey Mare Shows Sense of Tragedy

LONDON (AP) — It was the moment of glory for Ann, a 12-year-old grey mare belonging to Fred Davis.

★ ★ ★

Davis, who specializes in providing horses and carriages for special occasions, was to put on a show for the British Broadcasting Corp.

Hitched to a highly polished brougham, Ann was to parade for the cameras and sound radio.

★ ★ ★

The cameras turned. Ann stepped out. Then she staggered, fell to her knees. In her hour of glory she died of a heart attack.

Electronic Brain 'Cures' Own Nervous Breakdowns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The General Electric Co. says it has created an electronic brain which "cures" its own nervous breakdowns.

Moreover, while curing itself the brain continues to function normally with no impairment of its "intellectual" quality.

The company said it developed the new brain in response to space age demands for extreme reliability and endurance — as in the case of a surveillance satellite commissioned to watch for enemy missile launchings.

The brain is a computing machine named Bipad II. In some respects it is more reliable than the human brain, according to Shelley Akers, the computer engineer who directed its development.

★

Nature often manages to bypass damaged human brain cells. But before that happens, a person who has suffered brain cell injuries may be at least a bit foggy for awhile.

In the case of Bipad II, however, when any or several of its elements conk out, the machine keeps on giving right answers to tough questions while at the same time "learning" to detour its processes past the area of damage.

Actually, Bipad is three separate but identical computers packed into a cooperative unit. Each has extra or backup elements so that when one fails another just like it can be called into the line-up.

HOW IT WORKS

Even the best of ordinary computers suffer occasional electronic failures and start giving nonsense answers. Here is the way Bipad copes with such nervous breakdowns:

Each of the three computers is capable of learning, "not by being fed correct answers, but by being "punished" for giving wrong ones," GE said. When one of the units starts producing gibberish, the human operator pushes what GE calls "the punish button."

This has the effect of re-routing the operation past the electronic breakdown responsible for the wrong answers. Bipad's final product, GE said, is "a majority opinion."

"Thus, when one of the units gets its wires crossed and gives a wrong answer, it doesn't matter," the company said, "because it is in the minority. The other two are still turning out the majority opinion."

In a satellite or automatic space station, it would not make any difference if a human operator wasn't around to press the "punish" button. The machines are able to "punish" each other.

As soon as a computer starts producing nonsense, GE said, the other two recognize that fact, and they begin to "punish" the ailing one. After a few punishments, the sufferer "learns to give the right answer by rerouting its decisions past the broken-down element."

Hearing Scheduled

LANSING (UPI) — A public hearing will be held at Tustin Oct. 17 on preliminary plans for construction of 17 miles of the U. S. 131 freeway south of Cadillac. The first construction contracts are to be let in 1965, the State Highway Department said.

More French is spoken by Washington, D. C. restaurant workers than any other foreign language. German is second, then Greek and Italian.

Donald C. Baldwin, Superintendent of Rochester Schools, Lee Winborn, editor and Reba Heintzelman, photographer

The Greater Pontiac area has grown rapidly in the past few years, but all indications are that the future expansion will be even greater.

Such growth brings problems to many of the communities of Oakland County served by The Pontiac Press. The solution to these problems, and other important news of Oakland County is found daily in the news-filled pages of The Press.

Suburban Editor Lee Winborn gets a story from Rochester Superintendent of Schools Donald C. Baldwin. Taking their picture is feature writer and photographer Reba Heintzelman, who also roams the countryside around Pontiac, searching for interesting human interest stories or homes for her Saturday "Background For Living" feature.

The Pontiac Press has a long history of interest in the communities surrounding Pontiac. Everyday evidence of this is the suburban news pages and coverage of reporters Don Fermoyle and Roger Srigley assisting Mrs. Winborn.

When township boards or village councils get down to the important affairs affecting suburban taxpayers, you read about it in your Pontiac Press. It is the only daily newspaper that gives you so much news, so detailed, and reports news from your community, county, state and world as it happens.

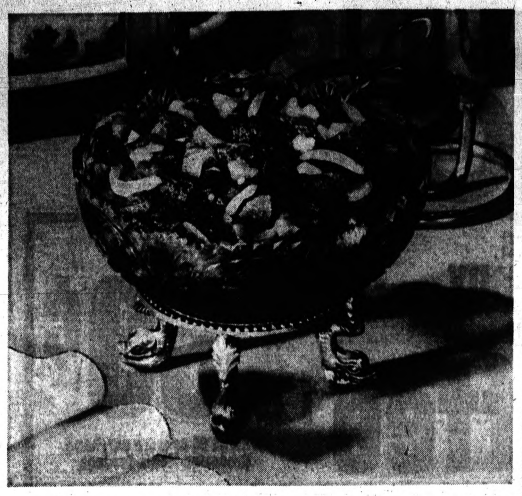
Curried Dishes Will Be Good With Relish



INDIA PRUNE RELISH — Relishes add zest to meat dishes. New in this line is a prune relish that includes candied ginger, walnuts and spices. It's the sort of food that gets better as it stays in the refrigerator.

A relish of real snap and fervor, this Delhi India Prune Relish. It is dark, robust and spicy, thick with fruit and crunchy with nuts. It happily complements, and is a real delight with curried dishes. It lends excitement to mild mannered meats such as lamb and veal and is a fine rich accompaniment for cold roast meat, duck and meat loaf.

The base of this luscious relish is prunes plumped and cut in big, hefty pieces. The prunes bestow their own winey tart-sweet fruitness. To that is added chopped candied ginger and onion, mustard seeds and, last of all, pimiento and walnuts. The relish tastes gloriously of all of them.

The amounts given here make two cups. But this is a relish you'll want to keep on hand ready to dress up any meat dish. So why not make double the quantity. Even at that, the relish won't last long. Someone in the family is sure to discover its charms as a filling for rolled up slices of luncheon meat or chicken, or as a spread for crackers or crusty bread.

India Prune Relish

1 pound prunes, plumped* and pitted
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup cider vinegar
¼ cup chopped candied ginger
1 medium onion, chopped
⅔ teaspoon chili powder
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons mustard seed
⅓ cup chopped walnuts
¼ cup diced pimiento

Cut prunes into large pieces. In a saucepan, combine prunes with remaining ingredients with exception of walnuts and pimiento. Cook over low heat until mixture begins to simmer, then turn heat up to moderate and continue to cook and stir for 10 minutes. If mixture appears to be sticking, or gets too thick, stir in a tablespoon or two of hot water.

Remove from heat and immediately add chopped nuts and diced pimiento. Chill. Makes 2 cups relish.

*Note: Easy way to plump prunes is simply to soak them overnight in water—1 quart water to 1 pound prunes.

With Restrained Hand Add Liquid to Frosting

Be very careful to follow directions when making frosting. Addition of too much liquid will make frosting thin and unattractive.

(The frosting may even run off the cake onto plate.)

Not enough liquid will make frosting difficult to spread and may even tear the cake and cause crumbs to show in the frosting. Add additional liquid — a few drops at a time — if necessary.

Tasmania, an island off Australia's south coast, is said to have more potential water-power than all the rest of Australia combined.

Adds to Flavor

An onion-flavored white sauce is delicious over green peas or snap beans. Just cook the onion in the butter or margarine to be used in the sauce before stirring in the flour and milk.

Most fresh vegetables consist of about 90 per cent water.

Boys have more colds than girls, but women have more than men. One who recovers from a cold may expect to be immune about seven weeks.

Domestic airlines are planning for at least two million helicopter passengers a year and the helicopter service is expanding steadily.

The yellow pickerel—also known as yellow pike-perch, dore and walleye pike—is the largest member of the perch family, reaching up to 25 pounds.

Chicken Takes to Marinade of Pineapple, Soy

Adapted from a Hawaiian recipe, this chicken dish will appeal to diners who enjoy Chinese-type food.

Broiled Chicken Pineapple

1 broiler-fryer (cut in 10 pieces)
1 can (1 pound, 4 ounces) pineapple tidbits
1-3 cup soy sauce
1 teaspoon sugar
1 clove garlic (crushed)
1½ teaspoons cornstarch

Wash and dry chicken. Drain syrup from pineapple into a shallow wide dish and mix in the soy sauce, sugar and garlic. Marinate chicken in syrup mixture for at least 1 hour, turning several times.

Remove chicken (reserving marinade) and broil according to directions for your range until tender and browned — skin side should be slightly charred. Remove chicken and keep warm.

Meanwhile gradually mix marinade into cornstarch, keeping smooth; add to chicken drippings in pan; stir over low heat with a wooden spoon to get up browned particles and cook until clear; strain. Return to a pan with drained pineapple tidbits and heat. Serve with chicken. Makes 4 servings.

Extra Care Pays Off in Safety

URBANA, Ill. (UPI) — Steam-pressure canners should be cleaned after each use to assure efficient, safe operation.

Draw a string or a narrow piece of cloth through the safety valve and petcock, University of Illinois food specialists advise. Wash the canner kettle, but do not put the cover in water. Wipe it with a damp, clean cloth.

Follow the manufacturer's directions to the letter. And for safety's sake, at the end of the processing time, let the pressure return to zero before you open the canner.

Writers Note Irregularities

Walker's Handling Second Guessed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There have been some second thoughts on the abrupt imprisonment of former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker under conditions denying him bail.

★ ★ ★

Second thoughts because the conditions were changed. Walker was bailed over the weekend at half price.

So there were second thoughts in official Washington as well as among editorial writers here and there. The point is raised that Walker waived preliminary hearing when he was arrested in Oxford, Miss.

He had been told that he would be tried in that state and reasonably could have expected that he could be freed pending trial under reasonable bond.

★ ★ ★

Such was not the way it came about. The government put a $100,000 tab on Walker and within 24 hours cooped him in a mental institution where he was ineligible for bail, whatever the amount.

Moreover, Walker was committed to a mental institution on the findings of a psychiatrist who never had examined him and by a judge who never had seen him.

CONFLICT EVADED

Walker's lawyers were winding up to compel the Kennedy administration to defend such arbitrary imprisonment of a U.S. citizen when the question became moot, as the lawyers say, because the bail came down and Walker was released.

He still must subject himself to mental examination to determine if he is fit to stand trial. But the administration moved fast to prevent Walker from becoming a martyr to slick judicial procedure.

★ ★ ★

Robert Morris is one of Walker's lawyers. In his syndicated newspaper column, Morris remarks that when a federal judge ordered Walker into the mental institution, the prisoner was not in the judge's jurisdiction.

Further, Walker had no lawyer present at those proceedings.

"It was a clear violation," Morris wrote, "not only of the (federal) statute but of Gen. Walker's rights under the constitution. Thus Gen. Walker becomes the first political prisoner in the United States. The Walker case involves a dangerous precedent."

★ ★ ★

The burden of Morris argument is that if it could happen to Gen. Walker, it could happen to you or me.

The answer to that argument, obviously, is that it would not happen to either of us unless our enthusiasm for a given cause very considerably overcame our judgment in supporting it.

FOUR COUNTS

Walker is charged on four counts of serious crime related to sedition and insurrection. The General contends that in Oxford he merely was peaceably assembling as the Constitution guarantees him the right to do so.

★ ★ ★

The government says it has witnesses who will testify that Walker incited the Oxford mob to riot.

The courts must decide whether Walker is, in fact, guilty as charged. If he is guilty the government should and probably will throw the book at him.

There must have been others in and around Oxford, Miss., however, who were insurrectionists and seditionists equally with Walker.

Not just the college kids and rednecked hoodlums who rioted but others in the higher echelon of the rebellion.

Mississippi Negroes to Get 3-Day 'Fair' Deal

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Officials of the state fair said yesterday that three days have been set aside next week for Negroes to attend the fair.

The fair opened Monday for a weeklong run "for whites only."

Sewage Bond Okayed

NASHVILLE (UPI) — Nashville voters have approved a $124,000 bond issue for a primary sewage treatment plant and interceptor and lift stations. The project is designed to help end pollution of the Thornapple River.

NLRB Asks Control of 'Foreign' Ships

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Labor Relations Board yesterday asked the Supreme Court to rule that it has jurisdiction over ships which fly foreign flags, but are controlled by U.S. firms and do much of their trade with this country.

The NLRB claims it has authority to order union representation elections aboard such ships and to rule on any charges of unfair labor practices aboard them.

The NLRB stand is opposed by the Defense and State departments.

Fire Prevention Week

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. Swainson has proclaimed the week of Oct. 7-13 as Fire Prevention Week and called for "intelligent and determined cooperation" to reduce "the annual needless waste of our nation's resources."

Polaris Submarine Proves Capability

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Demonstrating its swift-strike capability, a Polaris submarine recently launched two missiles within minutes, an authoritative source reports.

The twin firings, the source said, marked a significant milestone in development of the Polaris, America's most mobile missile system.

The Navy and Air Force declined comment on the report, but the source said yesterday the submarine unleashed the missiles from a point in the Atlantic Ocean off the Atlantic tracking range. He said the rockets were fired in an impact area on the range so that accuracy could be determined.

Yugoslav Scientist Dies

BELGRADE (AP) — Dr. Milan Vidmar, 77, internationally known Yugoslav scientist and theoretician in electrotechnology, died at Ljubljana Tuesday.

He was also an internationally known chess player.

Quisling's Ashes Put in Family Plot

SKIEN, Norway (AP)—The ashes of Vidkun Quisling, the Norwegian whose name became a synonym for treason and collaboration with the Nazis, have been buried in his family plot at the Gjerpen Cemetery near Skien, it was disclosed today.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Erling Laland of Gjerpen told a Skien newspaper the funeral took place quietly several years ago.

Quisling headed the German puppet regime in occupied Norway. After the war he was convicted of treason and was shot. The whereabouts of his ashes were kept secret until today.

Ye 'Saints' Pub a Sin as Far as He's Concerned

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP)—A Church of England clergyman resents a new pub near his church being named "The Saints."

★ ★ ★

"Really," said the Rev. John Hopkins Tuesday, "It's in such bad taste."

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Mr. Hopkins' church is about 250 yards from the 42,000-pound—$117,600—pub. The church is called All Saints.

★ ★ ★

The pub has been named after a Southampton football (soccer) club called the Saints. The Rev. Mr. Hopkins boycotted the opening of the pub although he had an invitation.

U. S. Sailor Pleads Innocence in Spying

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Navy sailor Nelson Cornelious Drummond yesterday pleaded innocent to a charge of passing defense secrets to Russia.

Federal Judge David N. Edelstein ordered Drummond continued in custody in lieu of $100,000 bail and set Oct. 29 for selecting a trial date.

Drummond, a 23-year-old yeoman first class at the Newport, R. I. naval base, could receive a death penalty if convicted.

Drummond, a Negro, was indicted last Friday on charges of passing naval secrets to four Russians who had worked as secretaries of the Soviet mission to the United Nations. The Russians have left the country.

Soo Campus to Replace Fire-Destroyed Building

SAULT STE. MARIE (UPI) — Michigan Tech's Soo campus will soon have a new classroom-laboratory to replace the forestry-humanities building which was destroyed by fire recently.

★ ★ ★

Construction of the new structure is scheduled to begin in the spring of 1963.

Bermuda includes more than 150 islands, only 20 of which are inhabited.

Fidel Castro May Be Facing Some Tough Days Ahead

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The one thing Fidel Castro is most unlikely to have is peace even though the Kennedy administration rejects any outright invasion of Cuba.

Adlai Stevenson at the United Nations this week indicated this country will help anti-Castro Cubans—inside and outside their homeland — overthrow communism in their island.

Stevenson used the word support for the anti-Castroites. What's missing from the picture is what form the support will take.

For the anti-Castro forces inside Cuba to do any damage, it would, seem, they will have to have a strong underground. How they are to be supported Stevenson didn't explain.

Nor did he spell out what help this country will give the anti-Castroites outside Cuba. Short of an eventual invasion by them it is not clear how they could be effective, either.

Surely talking against Castro, or heckling his envoys to the United Nations, is hardly the way to build a counterrevolution.

The anti-Castro forces can hardly make a second invasion without direct American help. The last time they tried it, 18 months ago, they wound up in disaster.

The most painful reminder of it has been the negotiation this week to get Castro to release 1,113 prisoners of the invasion in return for medicine and food.

But while Castro foes in Cuba try to think up ways to unseat their young dictator, who has opened his doors to Soviet technicians and help, the United States has some plans of its own.

President Kennedy is expected to penalize foreign ships which carry supplies to Cuba by shutting them off from commerce with any American ports.

★ ★ ★

This is not the same thing as a direct blockade of Cuba since that would involve Soviet ships and in turn could mean shooting, if not a major war, with Russia.

★ ★ ★

But it's the kind of indirect blockade which could further damage Castro's economy and put a real burden on Russia if it sought with shipping of its own to make up for other countries' ships discouraged by the United States from dealing with Castro.

Castro seems to be in some pain already, as if he could see tough days ahead, judging from the performance of Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos at the United Nations this week.

He sounded hysterical in his attacks on the United States and even attempted to complain that it is the United States, not Cuba, which is a Western Hemisphere problem.

★ ★ ★

Stevenson didn't answer him directly before the U.N. General Assembly but issued a statement later. It expressed both American anger and bitterness at Soviet intrusion in Cuba.

★ ★ ★

He said "the maintenance of communism in the Americas is not negotiable." He said that if Cuba wants to do business with the other American republics it had better start by getting rid of the Soviets.

★ ★ ★

Since the Cuban economy is in bad shape and he has tried to bail himself out with Russian help, for Castro to ditch the Russians now would put him at the feet of his Western neighbors—pleading for help.

He made it clear again Tuesday night that he has no inclinations to follow such a path.

★ ★ ★

Castro told a cheering throng in Havana that Cuba will never break its ties with the Soviet Union. He warned that a "Yankee invasion" would mean rivers of blood and said Cuba would not "renounce the support that could mean the averting of these rivers of blood."

Kennedy Sets Talk at Rally in Oregon

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy put Portland, Ore., on his campaign schedule today, for Thursday, Oct. 25.

★ ★ ★

Portland will be one port of call on the weekend of politicking which probably will take the President into California for some intensive activity in behalf of Democratic congressional candidates and the bid by Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown to hold on to the governorship against the challenge of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

TO ADDRESS RALLY

Presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy will address a night political rally in Portland.

★ ★ ★

Other details of the weekend still are uncertain, but Salinger said, "It is likely, if not probable, that he will go from Portland to California for a weekend of campaigning."

Asked when Kennedy will go back to Michigan—the President was there last weekend—Salinger replied that he expects Kennedy to return but "I can't give you the date for that."

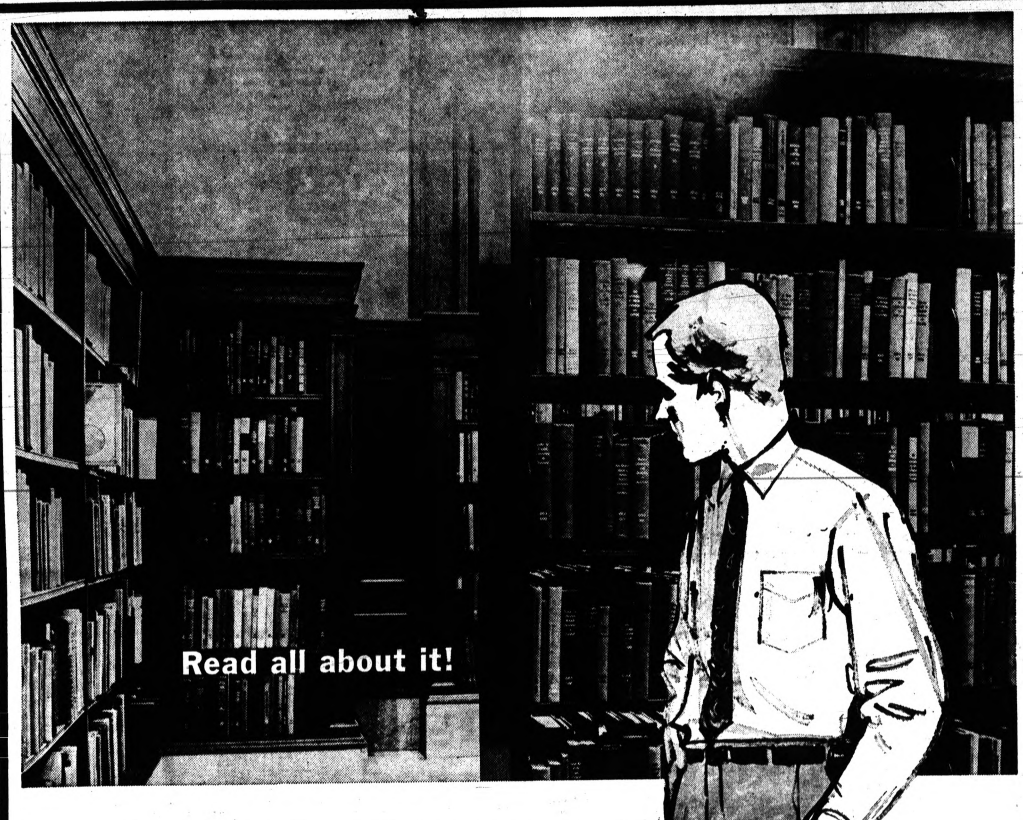
WEST HURON AT TELEGRAPH RD.



Osmun's stocks the greatest names in dress shirts . . . for giving or getting. And each one speaks volumes about your good taste.

ARROW
Come see Oakland County's leading collection of world famous Arrow dress shirts. All styles and fabrics are included. Two favorites: the "Drew" regular collar and the "Whip" spread collar. Both in dazzling all-cotton broadcloth and both 100% wash & wear. Shirts from $4.50, white & colors. Sizes 14-32 to 18-35.

VAN HEUSEN
Another great name . . . and plenty to choose from. We recommend the popular "Vanalux" models. Button-down and snap tab collar styles in crisp oxford cloth. Or try the handsome short point Century collar in lustrous broadcloth. All "Vanalux" shirts $5. All sizes.

HATHAWAY
Our leading quality shirt. Pure luxury in two models: First, the short point Philadelphia collar looks neater. Two-button cuffs add a custom touch. Silky broadcloth in white & colors. Second, very correct oxford button down model, beautifully tailored in white, stripes and solid shades. Both shirts $6.50. Other Hathaways (including Dacron & cotton) to $10.

Here's one for the books! Not everyone has the same charge account needs. Come in and see which one of Osmun's several charge plans is best for you.

Rams Here Sunday, Then 5 Games Before Green Bay Rematch

Lions Ask--Can We Come Back in Championship Form?

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Now that the "big" game is over for awhile, and the Lions have 10 more games to try to get back into the top spot of the NFL, there are two big questions which are being kicked around.

Can the Lions come back after that demoralizing 9-7 loss at Green Bay? How can they get back into first place? In other words who is going to beat the Packers?

Yesterday, the pains of the defeat were recalled after a day's respite as the Lions watched the movies of that fateful last minute. Except for dejection, much of the bitterness was gone and many of the the topline players resigned themselves to the fact that a championship ball clubs always plays a better game after a defeat than after a victory.

There were still mumbles about the interference penalty which gave the Packers their second field goal to make the score read 7-6. Dick LeBeau, who went up for a pass with Max McGee, tipped the ball and Yale Lary intercepted.

Lary had ran nearly 10 yards before official Charles Sweeney dropped the flag and called interference on LeBeau.

★ ★ ★

The question in LeBau's mind was, "If there was interference why the delay in calling it?" It almost made it appear that the roar of the crowd was a persuasive factor.

RAMS NEXT

It may be difficult for the Lions to come up for a game with the Los Angeles Rams who have lost all four starts, including a 20-14 defeat by the Washington Redskins last week.

But as known in pro football every team on a given Sunday is capable of winning. The Rams are always explosive with Dick Bass, Jon Arnett, Fervis Atkins and kicker Danny Villenueva.

As for the Packers, several of the players agreed the World Champions would get beat somewhere along the way. Green Bay must still play seven road games of the 10 remaining after playing the first four at home.

They play at Minnesota this weekend which may not pose a threat, however they must play at Baltimore, at Chicago and at Philadelphia in three of the four weeks to follow. Then comes Baltimore at home and the Lions, 49ers and Los Angeles on the road.

In order to keep in pace with Green Bay, the Lions have no easy road ahead. There are road games with New York and two on the coast and at Minnesota before coming home for the big Turkey Day clash.

Delay Helping Yanks or Giants?

Neither Team Admits Gain From Rain

Yankees May Profit; Terry Calm, Sanford Anxious to Hurl

AP Photofax

NO GAME — Yankee infielder Clete Boyer looks up at the rain as he stands outside the New York dugout yesterday afternoon. Commissioner Ford Frick postponed the fifth game until today.

NEW YORK (AP)—Outside of ducks, who profited most from the rain which washed out the fifth World Series baseball game —the Yankees or the Giants?

Although both managers, New York's Ralph Houk and San Francisco's Alvin Dark, insisted it didn't make any difference, most observers felt the rainout was a greater blessing to the Yankees.

★ ★ ★

For one thing, it broke the momentum of the Giants, who had just bounded back on an overwhelming home run assault to win the fourth game 7-3 and to knot the series at two games each.

If the confidence of the proud Yankees was rocked, the day's postponement gives them a chance to catch their breath.

For another thing, the delay gives the Yankees a chance to use their left-handed ace, Whitey Ford, in the sixth game instead of having to hold him back for a possible seventh.

ENOUGH REST

Houk hasn't said he's going to follow this procedure, but he can. Ford, a veteran of 18 World Series starts, works best with three days' rest.

Analysts seeking a tipoff on how the postponement may have affected today's rival pitchers may have the pendulum here also swinging in favor of the New Yorkers.

Ralph Terry, the 26-year-old Yankee right-hander, said he wasn't appreciably affected by the rainout.

★ ★ ★

"I never get keyed up for a game until I start warming up," he said. "I have my own way of relaxing."

The Giants' Jack Sanford, who beat Terry on a brilliant three-hitter in the second game at San Francisco, displayed some disappointment over the delay.

"It's tough to get up for a game, wait that long and have it rained out," he said. "Waiting all night and morning and half the afternoon is tough."

NO PROBLEM

Did the long wait drain Sanford of his emotion, and possibly his edge? Today's game should tell.

Houk took a puff on his cigar, blew smoke rings toward the ceiling and said:

"I don't see how the postponement helps or hurts either team. We still have two games each to win. Our pitchers are ready. There's no problem."

★ ★ ★

Dark said emphatically: "This delay doesn't make any difference. It shouldn't bother us."

The postponement was likened to the rainout in the 1951 series between the Yankees and Giant when the Giants were playing at the Polo Grounds.

The Giants led, two games to one, and had their best pitcher, Sal Maglie, ready to go after No. 3. Casey Stengel's mound staff was down to its second-line hurlers.

★ ★ ★

After the rainout, the Yankees were able to come back with Allie Reynolds, their star pitcher, and ultimately won the series four games to two.

"It was a different case entirely," said Dark. "Then, there were no off days for travel. The Yankees had exhausted their pitchers. Now the pitchers of both teams are ready."

Dark still may have to look at Ford instead of Bill Stafford in the sixth game. And the question is: is that good for the Giants?

Red Wings Start Thursday at New York

Chicago, Leafs Open NHL Play Tonight

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks and the Toronto Maple Leafs open the National Hockey League campaign tonight exactly where they left off last season.

★ ★ ★

The Detroit Red Wings get under way Thursday in New York.

Gordie Howe, the 34-year-old veteran right winger will lead the Wings in their quest to reach the NHL playoffs. Detroit finished fifth last season.

The Maple Leafs, who incidentally still have Frank (Million Dollar) Mahovlich, defeated the Hawks in Chicago Stadium last spring to grab the Stanley Cup which the Hawks had won the previous year.

★ ★ ★

The two clubs caused a sports furor over the weekend, Jim Norris, owner of the Hawks, offered the Leafs one million dollars for Mahovlich Friday night.

A shaking of hands reportedly took place and the next day Norris dispatched General Manager Tommy Ivan to Maple Leafs Gardens with a check for the million dollars.

'DEAL' IS DEAD

Nobody, however, accepted. The Toronto board of directors was to have met to discuss the offer but apparently no such meeting took place and "the deal" died out.

★ ★ ★

Since the Stanley Cup series last spring which the Leafs won, four games to two, the Hawks and Leafs have met twice in exhibition games this season with Chicago taking both games, 3-1 and 3-2.

★ ★ ★

The Leafs failed to win a single exhibition game this season but came up with a 4-1 victory in Saturday night's All-Star game.

The Hawks finished third last season and are aiming for the top spot which has been dominated by the Montreal Canadiens the last five years.

★ ★ ★

Chicago has four new players in Len Lunde, a center acquired from Detroit, Al MacNeil a defenseman from Montreal and rookies Chico Maki, a forward, and Wayne Hillman, a defenseman.

HULL READY

The rest of the club is made up of veteran holdovers including Bobby Hull who scored 50 goals last season and goalie Glenn Hall.

Mahovlich, of course, is Toronto's top scorer and 36-year-old John Bower will be in the nets. Age could become a problem with the Leafs this year. They have among their top players Allen Stanley, 36; Red Kelly, 35 and George Armstrong, 32.

While the Hawks and Leafs open the season tonight, the other four NHL coubs will be idle. They open Thursday night with Montreal at Boston and Detroit at New York.

The campaign in which each team plays 70 games ends March 24.

Bakersfield Open Has Richest Autumn Purse

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Golf's touring professionals resume firing here Thursday in the $40,000 Bakersfield Open, richest purse on the autumn tournament trail.

★ ★ ★

The 72-hole event, which winds up Sunday, will be played over the par 36-35—71 Bakersfield Country Club course. Last year's winner, Jack Fleck is in the field.

TAKING THINGS EASY — Manager Ralph Houk of the Yankees struck this pose while talking to reporters after yesterday's World Series game had been rained out.

Bill Hartman aced the No. 4 hole at Twin Beach Country Club this week. He used a seven iron on the 155-yard hole and also eagled the seventh hole to give him a 71 for the round.

Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston refused yesterday to appear before the New York State legislative committee investigating professional boxing.

★ ★ ★

Michael A. Hofmann, whose disappearance a month ago left the Baltimore Colts in a season ticket jungle, was arrested Tuesday at his home by FBI agents.

★ ★ ★

Ex-Pacific Coast Leaguer Jack Bloomfield of the Kinlstsu Buffaloes won the 1962 batting crown in the Japanese Pacific League Tuesday with an average of .374.

Argentine boxer Alejandro Lavorante remained in a coma Tuesday.

Soccer Ball Hits Cyclist; She Dies

LIMOGES, France (AP) —An over-zealous kick in a soccer match ended in the death of a 75-year-old woman Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

One of the players kicked the ball so hard it sailed out of the stadium and hit Mrs. Francois Desgranges who was riding a bicycle on a nearby road. The woman lost her balance, fell on the street, and died from a fractured skull.

Kingpetch KO Gives Harada Championship

TOKYO (UPI) — Nineteen-year-old Fighting Harada of Japan won the world flyweight championship today when he dethroned Pone Kingpetch of Thailand with an 11th round knockout.

★ ★ ★

Kingpetch, blinded by blood running from his left eye and nose, but missed the saving grace of the bell when he was counted out in two minutes and 59 seconds of the round.

Harada, who has lost only one fight in 28 professional bouts, was a 2-2 underdog when he entered the ring for the scheduled 15-round event. But he was the aggressor all the way as Kingpetch was finally beaten down in his own corner.

Spectators at the Kuramae Dumo Arena leaped into the ring following Harada's victory in a bout the World Boxing Association has frowned upon because of the younger only ranking 10th in the flyweight division.

★ ★ ★

Harada, anxious to prove the W.B.A. was correct in finally sanctioning the fight, began his attack in the opening round and never relented until Kingpetch was counted out.

Kingpetch was making his fourth defense of a title he took from Pascual Perez of Argentina on April 16, 1960.

Bowlerama Time! Dates Announced

It's Bowlerama time again and the 1962 version, the 6th annual Press handicap tournament, promises to be bigger and more lucrative for bowlers with all averages.

There will be more qualifying houses, more money offered, bigger guarantees and numerous new features for winning more prizes.

The first guaranteed prize this year has been raised to $600 followed by $400 and $250. As in past years, it can be expected that additional percentages of the purse would be added to these and all prizes which will go to one of every seven entries.

Last year the guaranteed first prize was $500 and the winner Jack Frushour went home with $565.

The first qualifying Sunday will be December 2nd at Howe's Lanes on Dixie in Clarkston and at Nor-West, on Northwestern Highway near Orchard Lake.

★ ★ ★

The following Sunday, December 9th, qualifying will be held at Westside Recreation on Orchard Lave avenue and at Cooley Lanes on Union Lake Road.

FINALS AT AIRWAY

Final qualifying will be at North Hills in Rochester and at 300 Bowl on Cass Lake road, with the championship for the Bowlerama and the Actual's Invitational to take place Sunday, December 23rd at Airway Lanes.

Bowlers again will have the opportunity to re-enter on the succeeding qualifying week if they should fail their first time. They cannot however try to qualify twice in the same week.

Deadline for each qualifying period is the Wednesday midnight prior to qualifying Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The tournament handicap is based on 70 per cent of 200 scratch and it is open to all sanctioned ABC bowlers who live or bowl in Oakland County.

The highest final league average as of the end of the 1961-62 season must be presented to determine handicap. If the bowler has no such average, he can present his highest 18-game average of the current season.

A big increase has been made in the Actual's Invitational prize fund. It pits all the top average bowlers as per invitation. A bowler, must enter the Bowlerama to be eligible for invitation, but if invited he will not have to pay another entry fee, only the costs in bowling.

For the second year, respective establishments will be able to compete for the "house trophy." Each house is permitted to submit five names, whose actual scores in their first qualifying round are totaled and matched against the five-man scores of other houses.

Last year Lakewood's 5-man representation won the big trophy against 11 other houses.

Entry blanks will be made available at all Oakland County establishments within the next few days.

TIPS FROM CHAMPS
by RAY BLUTH

"Lift and follow through."

FIRM STOP

Beginners usually are instructed to use the four-step delivery, with the last step (the left) sliding to the line.

While this is essentially correct, I and my teammates on the Carter Glove team which won the Classic, have found that we get better results with a firmer stop.

This gives us leverage on the left leg and helps ball lift and follow through. Naturally, this should be done with relaxation.

Any stiffening up or tensing of the muscles can throw your game out of kilter.

Buckeyes Get Rose Bowl OK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State's 1962 football team, thanks to the university's Faculty Council, may yet get a chance to redeem itself in sunny southern California.

★ ★ ★

The council, by a 36-20 vote, has given the Buckeyes permission to accept a Rose Bowl bid if one comes.

The decision Tuesday was a reversal of last year's council stand (28-25) when it denied the 1961 Big Ten champion Bucks a Rose Bowl trip.

MUST WIN TITLE

Now all the Bucks have to do is win the Conference championship again to earn the chance to atone before west coast fans in Pasadena for the 9-7 loss to UCLA in the Los Angeles Coliseum last Saturday. The coast representative will be the six-school Athletic Association of Western Universities (AAWU) champion, and the Buckeyes must be hoping it will be UCLA for a shot at revenge.

★ ★ ★

Under the new ruling Ohio State will participate so long as a formal contract is in effect between the Big Ten and the AAWU to match conference representatives in the annual New Year's game.

The Little Gridmen

By DICK POINTON

While the crowds roar in the pro and college stadiums across the country each weekend a smaller, but not quieter group of fans are finding new excitement on the gridiron.

The setting is not Tiger Stadium, Green Bay, or San Francisco but on a Sunday afternoon deserted high school, or junior high football field.

The participants range anywhere in size from the knee to the waist and vary in age groups from seven to 10 years.

★ ★ ★

The strategy, heroism, and enthusiasm are the same as the big boys.

Only differences are a smaller football and tennis shoes.

One element enters the realm of midget football, however, that gives the sport something different, the participation of excited mothers.

To see Johnny fumble a pass, make a run, or break in the clear is enough to make any mother's heart beat triple time.

BIG PLAY

Such was the incident in the Pontiac Pee Wee League last Saturday at Pontiac Jay Cee Park when little Steve Lohff, an end for the Pontiac Bobcats, made a sensational interception in the final 30 seconds of a game with the Emmanuel Baptist Packers and ran 25 yards to score.

Steve's mother, who had been sitting in the stands chewing her nails, jumped up and ran the entire 25 yards along the sidelines abreast of her speeding son.

Steve was surprised when he found out it wasn't a teammate that was first with the congratulations.

★ ★ ★

The Bobcats enjoyed a winning streak outscoring the Lancers 56-0, 20-0, and 40-25, downing the freshman, junior varsity and varsity.

★ ★ ★

Other teams in the Pontiac Pee Wee League are the Commerce 58ers, with a one-win two-loss record, the Pontiac Lake Colts, 0-2-1, and the Oxford Hornets 0-3-0.

The Bobcats and Packers are league leaders with 3-0-0 and 2-1-0 records respectively.

ALL-AMERICAN ACTION

In All-American Little Football League action the Madison Heights Wolverines outscored the Wyandotte Indians 25-0, and, 13-12 in freshman and varsity games. The Wolverines bowed, 12-0 to the Indians' Junior varsity squad.

★ ★ ★

Sunday the Madison Heights Spartans were trounced by the East Detroit Tiger Cats, 6-0, 13-7, and 19-0 respectively in the frosh, JV, and Varsity.

Meanwhile the Grosse Pointe Farms Packers were busy defeating the Troy Half Pints' freshman and varsity squads, 6-0 and 18-13. The junior varsities fought to a 6-6 tie. Gill Harrison was the Half Pint star.

The West Suburban Boys Club Little Lakers took home freshman and varsity victories, 13-6 and 7-0 from the Walled Lake Little Beavers. Bill Welch led the Beavers in a 26-13 victory over the Lakers' junior varsity.

THE WEEKEND SCHEDULE

This Saturday the Beavers travel to meet the Royal Oak Yankee Warriors. The Wolverines host the Roseville Apachies at 6:00 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Sunday the Spartans greet a visiting North East Detroit team at 1 p.m. and the Lakers engage the Grosse Pointe Lions at 1 p.m. at the West Bloomfield High School field.

Also, the Troy Comets greet the St. Clair Shores' Green Hornets at Troy.

★ ★ ★

A word of caution to the mothers, the jaunts along the sidelines aren't too good for the blood pressure.

Lowther Regains County Point Lead

Chuck Lowther has regained his lead in the Oakland County prep individual scoring race.

Although last week's high scorer, Jeff Barth of Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows, was held scoreless in weekend competition he still maintains second with 44 points.

★ ★ ★

Also with 44 is Brodie Burton, Clawson halfback and the second week leader.

LOWTHER LED FIRST

Lowther was first in the county scoring column after two games but has since lost his position to Burton and Barth never dropping below the number two spot.

Even though Lowther managed only one touchdown against Redford St. Mary Sunday, his overall average of two TDs a game has kept him at the top.

As the grid season nears the halfway mark, the group assembled at the peak of the scoring pyramid increases.

In this week's composite, eleven players are grouped in the first seven positions all within two touchdowns and field goal of Lowther's 48 points.

The biggest advancement has been Ferndale St. James' back, Dale LaPrairie who shot from eighth to third with an 18 point effort.

Tom Forsythe, who was tied for third last week with Bob Werner and Barth, has slipped to sixth. Werner fell to ninth.

Other noticeable advances have been made by Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes' Dave Ottman from tenth last week to fifth.

Birmingham Seaholm's Ken Heft has jumped from ninth to sixth.

AREA DUEL

A private duel has been going on for top honors in the area scoring race.

John Hanley of Romeo has exchanged the lead twice with Bob Berard of Capac.

Hanley holds the lead by two touchdowns, 43-32.

Bob Larabee, Brighton halfback shares the second spot with Berard, followed by Jack Mack of New Haven with 31.

U. S. Team Has Slim Lead in Amateur Golf Battle

KAWANA, Japan (AP)—American amateur golfers survived a pack of putting troubles today and seized a slim lead over Canada in the third world amateur team championship of golf.

★ ★ ★

Canada's Gary Cowan took individual honors for the opening round of the 72-hole competition with a two-under-par 68 over the Pacific-rimmed Fuji course. But three United States, golfers, Dick Sikes, Deane Beman and Labron Harris Jr. put together the best team score, 212.

Sikes, a 22-year-old University of Arkansas physical education student who twice has won the U.S. Public Links title, shot 33-36—69 over the difficult 6,587-yard, par 35-35—70 course. Beman, a Bethesda, Md., insurance broker who was 1960 U.S. amateur champion, had a par 70 and Harris, the current U.S. amateur champion from Stillwater, Okla., had a 73.

NOT COUNTED

In the team competition for the Eisenhower Trophy, four men represent each nation but only the three lowest scores are counted each day. The fourth member of the U.S. team, Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., had a 74 today and his score didn't figure in the team total.

Cowan, at 23 a former Canadian amateur champion, posted nines of 33-35 in his brilliant round. He was joined by 45-year-old Nick Weslock at 71 and Bill Wakeham at 76 to give Canada a second-place total of 215.

★ ★ ★

New Zealand, paced by Walter Godfrey, a 20-year-old salesman who matched Sikes' 69, held third place with 218. Ross Newdick added a 74 and Ross Murray a 75 to Godfrey's sub-par score.

Beman and Harris both finished their rounds muttering about their putting difficulties.

MISSED PUTTS

"I was suffering all the way" said Beman, a member of the U.S. team that won the Eisenhower Trophy by 42 strokes at Merion, Pa., two years ago. "I missed three putts in a row by a total of two inches."

In fourth place among the 22 national teams competing was the combined Britain and Ireland team with a 222 total. Following were South Africa with 223, Argentina, Formosa and Mexico with 225, Japan with 227 and Australia with 230.

★ ★ ★

Cowan, mixing five birdies with three bogies, said only that he finally was getting used to this tricky course, a hilly peninsular layout 80 miles southwest of Tokyo.

Sikes, who played so badly in practice that he rested Tuesday instead of trying to improve his shots, was three under par through 14 holes but bogied the 15th and 16th when he lost his accuracy temporarily.

"You have to hit straight on this course," he said.

Cowan's 68 tied the Fuji course record, set by Japanese professional Pete Nakamura in 1954.

Leg Injury to Stafford Responding

World Series Notes

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Stafford reported today his injured leg was beginning to respond to treatment . . . The New York Yankee right-hander is scheduled to start Friday's World Series game against the San Francisco Giants . . . "If I do pitch Friday," he said, "I'll have to have it strapped." . . . He was hit by a drive off Felipe Alou's bat in Sunday's 3-2 Yank victory.

Talk about rain-delayed series . . . In 1911, there was a six-day delay between the third and fourth games while a Philadelphia storm blew itself out . . . The A's and the New York Giants finally finished that one on Oct. 26.

The biggest confusion resulting from the postponement was at the airports . . . Airlines were swamped with cancellations by fans who originally had planned to return home or head for San Francisco.

Yankee first baseman Moose Skowron would be grateful if it rained for about a week . . . He is nursing a jammed left thumb, a scraped hand and a sore shoulder as a result of a slide into first base Monday . . . "But," he winced, "I'll play."

This schedule prevails until the last week in November or the first week of December.

The winter schedule will then be arranged.

Series Dream or Nightmare?

Nippon Star Eyes Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) — Shoichi Kaneda, a 29-year-old pitcher on Japan's Kokutetsu Swallows who struck out 3,600 batters in 13 years, dreams of taking the mound against the New York Yankees in the World Series.

★ ★ ★

"I dream it all the time," sighed Kaneda before today's scheduled fifth game of the Series between the Yanks and the San Francisco Giants. "But I know it probably never will happen."

Kaneda is here to take in the Series before heading home for the Japanese world series starting on Oct. 13.

★ ★ ★

"I would like to see the day when there will be a true world series between the teams of the world," said Kaneda. "But from what I have seen, baseball in the United States is the biggest and greatest game.

"It must get bigger and greater in other countries to become really international."

WITH DAVENPORT

Kaneda is spending most of his time with Jim Davenport, the Giants' third baseman.

"When he visited Japan on an exhibition tour two years ago, I pitched against him and showed him something of my country," said Kaneda.

"So now," Davenport said, "Its my turn to show him something of New York. But being from Alabama. I probably can't tell him too much. I have an idea he already has learned more than I ever could show him."

★ ★ ★

The big difference in the United States and Japan on the field?

"It is the shoulders of the big Americans that make a difference in baseball," he answered. "They can hit and when they do, they hit hard.

"We would love to have more American players in Japan. They can teach us something of their planning and strategy. But we Japanese are very fast on the field and might be able to teach them something, too."

Price's Challenge Met by Goulandris

PARIS (AP) — The owner of Monade, 3-year-old French filly, Tuesday picked up a challenge for a five-horse match race by the trainer of the American colt, Carry Back.

George P. Goulandris, Monade's owner, said he will accept Jack Price's challenge for a winner-take-all race involving Carry Back and the first five finishers of last Sunday's Arc De Triomphe. Goulandris is a Greek shipping magnate.

Monade, winner of the Epsom Oaks, finished second. However, owner of the first place Soltikoff, Madame Cino Del Duca, indicated she has no intention of racing Carry Back again.

Under the terms of Price's challenge, each of the owners would put up $25,000.

Carry Back, ridden by Australian jockey Scobie Breasley, finished tenth in the 24-horse field, about six lengths behind the winner. Price and others later criticized Breasley's riding, saying he held the 1961 Kentucky Derby winner too far off the pace.

Both Coaches Say Pep Talk Not Needed

Saturday's Meeting in Spartan Stadium to Draw 76,000

By The Associated Press

Michigan and Michigan State have been enigmas on the first two Saturdays of the 1962 football season.

Bump Elliott's Wolverines, picked for the depths of the Big opening loss to Nebraska. A week later they were brilliant in beating previously undefeated Army.

* * *

Duffy Daugherty's Spartans, considered a stong contender for the conference championship, fizzled in their opener and were upset by Sanford. Like Michigan, they rebounded and beat North Carolina on the season's second Saturday.

Now the two long-time rivals are preparing for their 55th meeting Saturday at East Lansing. The traditional battle will attract more than 76,000 fans to Spartan Stadium and will be seen on regional television.

Daugherty and Elliott took time out Tuesday to answer the same questions about the game.

Question — Michigan State is holding unprecedented secret practices this week, with even the press locked out. Michigan's practices, as usual, are closed to all but the press. What is your opinion about the secret sessions?

Daugherty — "My practices are closed mainly to allow the players and myself complete concentration. The secret practies are not to keep secrets from being divulged. It's somewhat psychological. I'm convinced more and more that the way you practice during the week is the way you'll play the game on Saturday."

Elliott — "I have no reaction to the secret practices at State. Our practices are always closed except to the press and that's the way they are this week. Duffy may be right about secret practices helping concentrate."

3 AGAINST 2

Question — Michigan again will use its three-team system against Michigan State. The Spartans will counter by using only two units. What is your reasoning for the way you'll deploy your manpower?"

Elliott — "We don't play the exact way we'll substitute until we see what develops in the game. We feel the three-team system helps our team, as I said before the season, in its enthusiasm and morale."

Daugherty — "We can't afford the luxury of using three units. We'll alternate two units. If 22 players can't play a game, we have a problem. Does the three-unit system make for fresher players? All our 22 boys have to do is play half a game, so they should stay fresh."

* * *

Question — There is a great deal of talk about psychology in preparing players for a game. What about motivating players, is it necessary this week?

Daugherty — "No motivation is needed. We're aware of the game, but we keep reminding the players. They know it's a conference game and more important than that, it's Michigan."

Elliott — "We caution and remind them to be as good and ready as they can. This week they have to be more than ready to play, better than they really are. A great portion of this has to come within the boys themselves against a team as fine as Michigan State. I hope our boys have it within."

Question — But would you explain your feelings about this game?

Daughterty — "We make no bones about it, we'd rather win the Michigan game than any other.

Elliott — "Yes, I'd just as soon beat Michigan State as any team on our schedule.

Gross After Passing Mark Against Kentucky Friday

DETROIT — University of Detroit is faced with its 4th loss of the season when the Titans tangle with the University of Kentucky Friday night, but little Jerry Gross, the pride of Bay City, is expected to set new records in U. of D. pass-yardage.

The 5-10, 175-pound Gross, who has already eclipsed Doug Nott's old career record of 143 completed aerials, can notch two additional marks this week.

Gross' 175 completed passes have traveled 2,851 yards, just 63 shy of Nott's record total of 2,714 and as soon as the amazing man from Bay City throws ten more passes, he will have completely erased Nott's name from Detroit's passing records for a three-year career.

Nott's standards have stood since 1934, five years before Gross was born to Polish-German parents in Auburn, Mich., November 23, 1939.

LEADS OFFENSE

In three outings this season, Gross has amassed 639 passing yards on 45 of 91 passes and has hit six-points on three occasions. His 654 total yards represent 82 per cent of Detroit's offensive yield to date and if one adds rushing leader Vic Battani's 96 yards to that figure, it is equal to 93 per cent of UD's 802 total.

JERRY GROSS

And therein rests part of coach John Idzik's woes. His halfbacks, because of injuries and inexperience, haven't been carrying their share of the load, permitting the defense to key on Gross and to flood the secondary with pass defenders. The halfbacks have gained just 52 net rushing yards in Detroit's three losses to date.

The other half of Idzik's troubles are defensive in nature but last week's setback at the hands of New Mexico State ceded one bright note — improvement in that department.

Led by Battani, end John Everly and guard Bob Koval, the Titan defenses held the Aggies to 216 total yards, the same Aggie team which battered Wisconsin's forward wall for 341 yards just the week before.

Idzik acknowledged the improvement but realizes full well that his charges must be even better this week against Kentucky.

* * *

The 8:15 p.m. game will be carried over six radio stations, WWJ-Detroit, WABX-FMDetroit, WHAS-Louisville, WBLG-Lexington, KCN-Lexington, and WLVK-Lexington.

Big Ten Coaches Hoping to Defense Loop Rivals

By United Press International

Big Ten football teams worked hard yesterday on defenses designed to stop their opponents' offensive this Saturday.

The four conference tests have Ohio State at Illinois, Michigan at Michigan State, Iowa at Indiana and Northwestern at Minnesota. Purdue hosts Miami of Ohio and Notre Dame is at Wisconsin in non-conference games.

* * *

Coach Woody Hayes said his Ohio State team had a "darned good practice" yesterday. Hayes said he would start senior Bob Butts at fullback against Illinois. Defensive back Bill Hess, out thus far this season with a knee injury, was back with the No. 1 defensive lineup.

Illinois worked on its passing attack and drilled on defense of Ohio State's ground game. Coach Pete Elliott reported all injured players back in action.

Sophomores Bob Wallace and Fred Riddle were manning the quarterback post for Iowa while the Hawkeyes waited to learn whether Matt Szykowny would be ready for Indiana. Szykowny suffered a torn knee ligament against Southern California.

* * *

Indiana coach Phil Dickens experimented with backfield changes to compensate for injuries suffered by key players. Halfbacks Mike Lopa and Doug Lackey were injured against Wisconsin, but may be ready for Iowa.

NO POINTS YIELDED

The Minnesota Gophers worked hard at finding means of stopping the high-powered passing and running attack of Northwestern. The Northwestern Wildcats worked just as hard seeking ways of puncturing the stout Minnesota defense which has yet to be scored upon.

Northwestern reported the return to practice of two first string performers — linebacker Jerry Goshgarian and end George Burman.

Wisconsin's practice concentrated on blocking drills and new defensive maneuvers aimed at the Notre Dame offense. The Badgers were expected to be at full strength for the Irish.

Notre Dame held a similar type workout. Coach Joe Kuharich reported the return of fullback and captain Mike Lind, center Norm Nicola and end Tom Goberville all of whom have yet to play this season.

Redskins Win Again; Captains Top WTHS

Milford's cross country team posted its fifth straight duel meet meet victory last night minus sophomore ace Bill Nelson, 18-42, over Clarenceville.

Nelson is out of school recovering from a concussion suffered when he tripped over a log and hit his head while working out at home.

Harold Faught stood in for the missing speedster, placing first in 11:01, followed closely by teammate John Heuriebise in 11:10.

Rod Hardy finished third for Milford folowed by Larry Wehner of Clarenceville.

Milford missed a perfect score of 15 points by one place.

* * *

Saturday the Redskins travel to the Albion Invitational in a serious bid for first place.

Milford placed second behind Birmingham Seaholm in the All-Oakland County meet last Saturday.

CAPTAINS SCORE

Waterford Kettering gained its third win of the season by besting over Waterford Township, 21-34, on the Captain's course.

John Popovich led the victory and set a new course record in 10:59 eclipsing Mark Pankners' week old record of 11:20.

The rivals meet again Nov. 1, on the Waterford course.

ST. MARY WINS 1ST

Orchard Lake St. Mary was successful for the first time in five duel meets nipping visiting Brother Rice, 27-30.

Rice runners Norm Koltys and Norm Tangway placed first and second respectively. Koltys' winning time was 10:04.

Bill Donahoe led the winners finishing third behind Tangway and was followed by Stan Taluch and Walter Narowski both of St. Mary.

Bill Hopkinson completed the scoring for St. Mary placing behind sixth place Rice's Phil MacAlone.

Thursday Brother Rice travels to River Rouge.

Milford - Clarenceville finishers were Harold Faught 11:01 (M), John Heurtebise (M), Rod Hardy (M), Larry Wehner (C), Tom Needham (M) Bolkert Hamann (C), Steve Skinner (M), and Farrel McCarthy (M).

Finishing order of the Captain-Skipper meet: John Popovich, 10:59 (K), Mark Pankner (K), Jim Mercer (W), Dick Toles (W), Jack Sabat (K), Brude Bodmer (K), Jay Clarkston (K).

Fencing Class Starts Oct. 17

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's fall fencing program will get under way at the Pontiac Central High School girl's gymnasium Wednesday, Oct. 17, it was announced today by Leonard T. Buzz, recreation supervisor.

The eight-week course will be from 7-10 p.m. each Wednesday. It is open to high school teens, boys and girls and adults.

Instruction will be available in beginning, intermediate and advanced levels involving the use of the foil, the sabre and the epee.

Registrations will be accepted at the first class meeting. Equipment is provided. Participants should wear tennis shoes, Buzz added.

State Jerseys Add Realism in Practice

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan coach Bump Elliott tried adding a touch of realism to the Wolverines' latest practice session by having some of his football players don green and white Michigan State University jerseys as they prepared to meet their top rival in East Lansing Saturday.

He could have difficulty, however, in simulating the big, beefy MSU line and the light, quick backfield. "They can explode against you at any time," Elliott said of the speedy Spartan backs.

The Wolverines polished plans in a practice session—open to the press—that ended after sundown yesterday.

Spartan Coaches Dread Air Attack

EAST LANSING (AP) — The threat of an all-out Michigan passing attack is giving Michigan State coaches nightmares this week.

The Spartan practice sessions are top secret affairs with newsmen among those excluded. Coach Duffy Daugherty admits this worry, however, and you can be sure pass defense is getting top priority in the workouts.

"They've got an opportunity to exploit the air game," Daugherty said of Michigan. "We've been vulnerable in that department, it's hard to stop a quarterback who rolls out and can pass or run."

Michigan hasn't shown too much in passing to date but the feeling at East Lansing is that this might be the Wolverine secret weapon.

The Spartan defenders have given up 399 yards to the passers in two games while only allowing 155 yards on the ground.

Pontiac William Tell Bags Whitetail Buck

Gary Groesbeck, 225 Dick St., dropped a spikehorn with one arrow opening day of Michigan's archery deer season.

The whitetail was hit just behind the shoulder while moving and dressed out at 120 pounds.

Groesbeck was in a party of five hunting on state land eight miles north of Atlanta.

Officials Manuever on Prep Athletic Front

HEAR ABOUT VIKINGS — Pontiac Central coach Paul Dellerba (right rear) tells the Chiefs about Flint Northern. Maples Eye Showdown With Ferndale 11 Friday

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Birmingham Seaholm will be out to uphold its high state rating and wipe out bitter memories of a cold, wet night in 1961 when the Maples travel to Ferndale Friday night.

This game matches two of the state's Class A powers and will probably determine the Eastern Michigan League championship.

Seaholm and Ferndale are both unbeaten in four games. The Maples are ranked fourth in this week's state AP grid poll. Ferndale is ninth.

This will be the second straight year the key EML game is scheduled on the Eagles' field. Under similar settings — both unbeaten and highly ranked — Royal Kimball and Ferndale battled to a 7-7 deadlock in the 1961 game which was marred by rain.

★ ★ ★

A standing room crowd is assured. The kickoff is at 8 p.m.

LOST BY 45-0

Seaholm has lost three straight games to the Eagles. The worst setback came last season when Ferndale, led by the bullet-like thrusts of All-Stater Dorie Reid, crushed the Maples, 45-9.

The Maples can't erase this score from the records books but even a slim one point victory Friday would cause them to forget any pain.

Coach Carl Lemle of Seaholm has seen his preseason "we have the potential" come true.

The Maples are big and fast. They have a solid running attack geared around bursts of Bob Drother and Ken Heft. Quarterback Jim Foster is a good passer.

Big Brant Conley, 240, heads up a formidable line.

★ ★ ★

Conley, a tackle has scored 18 points. Mike Pricer, 215, the other tackle, also has six points. Seaholm has a trick pass play that makes the tackles eligible receivers.

Heft is the team's leading scorer with 36 points. Drothler has 30.

Seaholm's defense has been almost impregnable. The Maples have yielded only six points.

Ferndale's attack is built around a veteran line and speedy backs. Fosters of the ball carriers is Jeff Hicks who ran well against Seaholm last season.

Although Hicks is the breakaway threat, he isn't the top scorer. Tom Forsythe with 36 points and Chuck Rinehart with 24 take backfield honors in this department.

PAT IMPORTANT

Although there is a difference between the schools of five places in the state ratings, the game is being called a tossup. Seaholm may be hampered by a definite lack of consistency in the extra point department.

So far, the Maples haven't had to worry about conversions. But the PAT could play an important role in the game's final outcome.

Both sides are hoping the rain stays away.

Pontiac Press Photo

MAPLE FLANKER — John Slater will be at end for Birmingham Seaholm Friday when the Maples tangle with Ferndale in the game that could decide the Eastern Michigan League championship.

Pistons Drop Bradley

DETROIT (AP)—John Bradley, a high-scoring standout at Lawrence Tech for the past two years, was released Tuesday by the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association.

Berkley Quits Inter-Lakes; Forfeit News

Emmanuel Protesting Country Day Claim; Problem at Handy

School administrators took the spotlight away from prep gridders yesterday with three behind-the-scenes maneuvers:

1. Berkley withdrew from the Inter-Lakes League.
2. Emmanuel Christian refused to forfeit a football game to Country Day.
3. Bay City Handy may have to forfeit its three wins, two in Saginaw Valley League play.

★ ★ ★

Berkley's resignation, effective at the close of the 1963-64 school year, was expected.

The letter of intent to leave the I-L was presented last night at a meeting of league athletic directors. Berkley will join Southfield in moving from the I-L to the newly formed Greater Woodward League.

Southfield announced its intention of leaving in September. The Greater Woodward League will now include Birmingham Seaholm, Hazel Park, Royal Oak Kimball, Ferndale, Southfield and Berkley.

The new loop will start operation in 1964.

Elden Johnson, Pontiac Northern athletic director, said a committee has been established by the Inter-Lakes League to review possible applications for membership.

FOUR REMAIN

The remaining members are Northern, Farmington, Waterford and Walled Lake.

Dr. Tom Malone, Emmanuel Christian school superintendent, said the Lancers "won't about to forfeit" last Saturday's scheduled game with Country Day.

Country Day, the host team, had its team on the field ready to play at 10 a.m. Emmanuel officials said the game was scheduled for 1 p.m.

"Country Day officials phoned us at 11 a.m. and when they found out we hadn't left," said Dr. Malone, "they said they were taking a forfeit.

★ ★ ★

"Our contract has the game scheduled for 1 p.m. One of their officials talked with Dr. Fredericks, dean of our seminary, last August requesting that the game be changed to 10 a.m. But we never heard anything about it until Saturday."

Dr. Malone said attempts are being made to reschedule the game at the end of both schools' regular schedules. If arrangements can't be completed, he said, the matter would be turned over to the Michigan High School Athletic Association for a ruling.

MHSAA officials have ruled that Saginaw Valley principals must rule on whether Handy will forfeit three victories because the Bay City school used an ineligible player.

A routine check of the records by Handy officials disclosed that reserve guard Jose DeLeon was 20 years old instead of 18 as shown on his registration cards. This makes him too old for Michigan high school play.

★ ★ ★

DeLeon appeared in all four Handy games. He participated in a total of eight plays, all kickoffs. Handy holds league wins over Arthur Hill and Midland and a non-league victory over Alpena.

Midland, now 2-2 in SVL play, would benefit the most from a forfeit.

Captains, Waterford at Grid Crossroads

Can Waterford continue being the Cinderella team in the Inter-Lakes League?

Is Kettering finally ready to shed its losing record for a winning streak?

★ ★ ★

These questions will be partially answered Friday night when the Waterford Township schools meet stiff opponents in different league games.

The Township High Skippers embark on the second leg of three straight road games when they travel to Southfield. Kettering also is on the road, meeting defending Tri-County champion Rochester.

After a dismal start against powerful Class B West Bloomfield, the Skippers rolled over Farmington and then last week upset I-L favorite Berkley.

This shot the Skippers into first place with a 2-0 record.

★ ★ ★

Walled Lake, Southfield and Berkley were rated the top league teams before the season. All have at least one loop setback.

HALF GAME BACK

Pontiac Northern, a half game behind Waterford with a 1-0-1 league mark host Walled Lake Saturday at Wisner Stadium. Farmington, bolstered by its upset over Walled Lake, plays at Berkley Friday.

Although Southfield is the only league team with two setbacks, coach Monte Charles' Bluejays are expected to prove very difficult for the Skippers to handle.

Rushing is the heart of the Skippers attack with the passes of quarterback Bob Readler enough to keep the defenses honest.

Lee Keiser, one of better backs in the area, is the top ball carrier. Les Griles and Clark LeMaux are power runners.

★ ★ ★

The front line, expected to be the weak point because of inexperience has developed faster than expected and is one of the main reasons for the Skippers' success.

Last week Kettering fans had a victory to cheer about for the first time since the initial game in the school's history last season.

Coupled with a tie the week before, the one point decision over Cranbrook may be the spark that gets the Captains of coach Jim Larkin rolling.

Rochester lost its first three games against good competition outside the league. Then the Falcons upset Lapeer last week in their 1962 Tri-County debut.

HARD RUNNER

Waterford fans haven't seen hard running Rochester scatback Tom Mitzelfeld in action. He scored three TDs against Lapeer and will be the player Kettering must stop.

★ ★ ★

The league now shapes up as a battle between Romeo (2-0) and the Falcons. But a Kettering victory over Rochester and a Falcon victory over Romeo would muddle things.

Kettering, however, has a tie with L'Anse Creuse that could keep it out of the title picture.

Romeo entertains Harper Woods in a nonleague game while Lapeer goes to L'Anse Creuse Saturday night.

Heavyweight Champion in Local Rassling Bout

The heavyweight rassling champion of the world, Don Leo Jonathan will headline the Pontiac Armory rassling card Friday night in its second week of the current season.

Jonathan will meet Ricki Cortez in the mainliner.

In other bouts Leon Smith faces Don Jardine while Dale Lewis meets Billy Waffe.

The bouts start at 8:30 p.m. Promoter is Paul Parks and matchmaker John Doyle.

Both Teams 'Home' for Game

Dryden Battles Almont

Both teams will have the "home" field advantage Friday night when Almont and Dryden resume their annnual grid rivalry.

The Southern Thumb game will be played at Almont with Dryden serving as "host" school. The Cardinals have been playing their home games at Almont this season and it's their "home" game, according to the schedule.

★ ★ ★

As it was last season, this game will be a battle for the league cellar. And Dryden is being cast in the favorite's role.

This isn't because the Cardinals have posted one victory against a 0-4 record for Almont, it is because Dryden has shown more scoring punch.

The Cardinals have chalked up 32 points while recording a 1-3 overall record against only six for Almont. Both teams are 0-3 in league play.

★ ★ ★

Neither team has played a common opponent.

Dryden dumped Peck 7-0 in its opener then lost to Class C power Capac 34-6, Anchor Bay 26-13 and New Haven, another "C" power, 32-6.

Almont's losses have been to Ortonville 25-6, Memphis 27-0, Brown City 32-0, and Armada, 41-0.

Records, however, mean very little when these teams meet.

Moore May See Action Sunday Against Colts

BALTIMORE (AP) — Halfback Lenny Moore, who suffered a fractured kneecap in a National Football League exhibition game early last month, may make his debut of the regular season Sunday when the Baltimore Colts meet the Cleveland Browns.

★ ★ ★

Coach Webb Eubank said Moore may see action against the Browns, although probably in spots. "Lenny thinks he can go, and so do we."

Pontiac Press Photo

Jack Dempsey defended his title six times in seven years.

HR Urge Hurting Mantle

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle glumly surveyed his .133 World Series batting average today and decided he was too eager to hit his first home run.

★ ★ ★

Going into the fifth game of the series against the San Francisco Giants, the New York Yankee center fielder and team leader has collected a paltry two hits in 15 times at bat and not an RBI.

But he's not hitting the panic button and neither is Yank Manager, Ralph Houk.

TOO ANXIOUS

"I guess," said Mantle, "my trouble is that I am too anxious to hit my first home run. I know I have struck out three times when I should have walked."

That would indicate he's been pressing, trying to get a piece of the ball and in the end being outfoxed by Giant pitchers who refuse to give him anything good to hit.

★ ★ ★

"You've got to give credit to the Giants pitchers," he observed. "They've been pitching me real good. Nothing special. They've just been mixing them up."

Said Houk:

"Why all the fuss? He's hit balls good. Furthermore, it's nothing unusual for him to go four games with only two hits."

Batting coach Wally Moses also came to Mantle's defense.

ONE CAUGHT

"He has been hitting well," said Moses. "He had two real good blasts in Sunday's game. One went in for a hit and Felipe Alou caught the other.

★ ★ ★

"In the first game in San Francisco, Harvey Kuenn had to back up to the fence to get one of his flies. Then in the next inning, Kuenn grabbed a liner he hit. That double he got off Jack Sanford in the second game barely missed going for a homer. He's been hitting, all right. They just have to start falling in."

In Monday's game, Juan Marichal struck Mantle out twice on 3-2 pitches.

"And," said Clete Boyer, who has the Yanks' only home run, "they both were on low breaking pitches."

PERSISTENCE REWARDED — Kenneth Davis (left), Auburn Heights, and Robert Beman, 116 Ivy St., made seven futile trips into Northern Ontario for moose before scoring. This fall, on the eighth trip, the hunters bagged the big bull shown in the canoe. It weighed an estimated 1,600 pounds. The antlers spread 63 inches.

Short, Complicated Duck Season Opens Friday

Mallard Limit Cut; Bonus on Bluebills

Michigan's shortest and most complicated duck hunting season gets under way at noon Friday.

The 25 days allowed for taking ducks are the fewest in the state's history. The season winds up Nov. 5.

★ ★ ★

And this fall, hunters will need a course in "How to Tell Ducks," if they are to make legal kills. A curtailment in some species, an increase in others and a ban on red heads and canvasbacks make it all confusing.

Only one mallard or black duck can be taken daily — not one of each. Add one other quacker—spoonbill, teal, pintail, gadwell, widgeon, goldeneye, bufflehead, scoter, old squaw—and it makes a daily limit of two ducks.

If the hunter doesn't get a mallard or blackie then he can take two of the other above mentioned species. Included in this list of two per day is the wood duck, an increase over past seasons.

There is a bonus rule, too.

In addition to taking two of the above ducks (only one black or mallard), the gunner can add two scaup (broadbills or bluebills) to the bag making a total of four per day.

FOUR SCAUP

This means that four scaup can be taken daily. But a hunter can have only four ducks in possession (not more than two mallards or two blacks, or one mallard and one black).

Geese, except Ross, and brant, also become legal at noon Friday along with rails, coots, merganesers and gallinules. The goose season runs for 60 days.

Shooting after opening day will be legal from sunrise to sunset.

The general outlook for Michigan hunters opening weekend is excellent.

The number of local ducks is at a record high. Unfortunately, most ducks will have fled to big water after the first few days of shooting leaving inland gunners looking for flight ducks that may not pass through until after the season.

Word from the Canadian "Duck Factory" is that mallard and black duck production did not quite makeup the deficit in breeding stock last spring, cans and red heads are still down, but bluebills showed a good increase. Hence, the reason for the complicated restrictions.

Grouse hunters are either claiming this to be one of the best years or that preseason predictions were all wet.

In short, some are seeing plenty of "pats" while others are having trouble locating this bird with the noisy takeoff.

One group of hunters reported searching heavy cover and swamps all morning without seeing a bird. In the afternoon the hunters got plenty of shooting in the hardwoods.

MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Plan Skirmish With Conservation Commission

Deer Policy Foes 'Have Not Begun to Fight'

LANSING (UP) — Like John Paul Jones on the deck of his blazing ship, the Upper Peninsula faction which opposes the hunting of antlerless deer says it has not yet begun to fight.

★ ★ ★

Ever since the Michigan Conservation Commission decided, a couple of months ago, to open the season on does and fawns as a means of thinning out the state's deer herd, the protests have been flowing south.

But what may pass as the showdown between north country sportsmen and the Conservation Commission is expected to come this week when the commission goes to Escanaba for its October meeting.

Will G. Mills, of Hanover, says a large delegation of persons representing outdoor sportsmen's clubs in the Upper Peninsula, plus some individuals who object, will be present at the meeting Thursday and Friday.

According to Mills, the clubs are banding together in a common effort to force the antlerless hunting edict to be rescinded. He says further that a survey conducted among Upper Peninsula sportsmen showed that 95 per cent of them opposed the decision.

Mills speaks on behalf of the "Save Michigan Deer Association" which, from headquarters in Escanaba, is asking for financial support and arguing as follows:

'UNSEEING EYES'

"Regardless of all claims made by the Conservation Department that only scientific control of the deer population, which control embraces the slaughter of deer of any age or sex, will keep the deer herd at the proper figure to safely conform to winter food . . . one glaring fact is mirrored back into their unseeing eyes . . .

"The Michigan deer population, especially in the Upper Peninsula, has been reduced to a point which threatens its very existence."

This scathing attack continues by saying that the action was taken, "In spite of all the department's scientific, biological practices as expounded by textbooks authored possibly by men whose closest approach to a deer was a trip to the zoo."

To reduce the antlerless kill which by the Michigan Conservation Department's own estimate should range to about 37,000 in the 15-day season next month, the Escanaba group has adopted a boycott of license purchases as part of its strategy.

★ ★ ★

By appealing to hunters to refrain from purchasing licenses this year, it hopes to slice a large chunk from the major source of conservation revenue.

All of the opposition has not come from the Save Michigan Deer Association, however.

At the September meeting, Sen. Charles O. McManiman, D-Houghton, told the Conservation Commission he would ask for a court injunction to stop the order as it applies to antlerless deer in Houghton, Baraga, Keweenaw and Ontonagon Counties.

Although the petition could be filed in Houghton County circuit court, it hasn't been as yet. Gaylord Walker, chief deputy director of the Conservation Department, said he has heard of no court actions by the senator or anyone else to block the shooting of antlerless deer.

Conservation officials, meanwhile are sticking by their contention that scientific methods are the best way to determine the size of the herd and its prospects for the winter.

One official scoffed last week that many of the objections to the antlerless hunting order are based on no more substantial evidence than the sighting of fewer deer along the roads.

"These people sometimes base their whole argument on the fact that they saw only one or two deer along a stretch of highway where they usually see 10 or 12," he said.

"If we relied on that kind of evidence we would have no defense for our position."

Rescheduled for Next Congress

Wilderness Bill Dead in House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic leaders passed the word yesterday that they have abandoned hope of enacting in this session any version of President Kennedy's plan to establish a national system of wilderness lands.

★ ★ ★

The legislation passed the Senate but foundered in the House interior committee as a result of opposition from lumbering, mining and other local interests. There is little doubt that it would pass if it reached the House floor.

Backers during the past few days have privately urged Democratic leaders to resort to an unusual parliamentary maneuver in the Senate in an attempt to clear the way for House action.

They proposed that the Senate be asked to pass the legislation a second time by tacking it on to the last money bill of the year. This would require a two-thirds vote of approval by the Senate. It also would require clearance by the House rules committee.

Democratic leaders considered this strategy but rejected it. They decided that chances for carrying the maneuver to a successful finish were dubious in a Congress that already is angry over being held in Washington so long.

WANT TO ADJOURN

Rank-and-file legislators generally are anxious to clear up all remaining "must" business and adjourn quickly. Few have the stomach for any battles that can be avoided.

One of the factors in the decision of the Democratic leadership is the conviction that the prospects are good for enactment of the legislation in a form satisfactory to President Kennedy by the next Congress.

Backers intend to push for action as soon as the new Congress convenes in January.

This year the House interior committee, after dragging its feet for months, finally scuttled the legislation by giving the House a take-it-or-leave-it choice of a sharply revised version which the administration opposed and which Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall termed an "anti-wilderness bill."

Solunar Tables

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours threafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Dog Obedience Registrations Still Accepted

Dogs are still being accepted for obedience training at Whitfield School in Pontiac and at Bloomfield Hills High School.

★ ★ ★

The classes, conducted by the Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club, are Thursdays at Whitfield and Mondays at Bloomfield Hills, both starting at 8 p.m.

SMOTC officials said that dog owners interested in the classes can register at this week's Whitfield session or the first class at Bloomfield Hills. They are to take their dogs.

★ ★ ★

This will be the second week of training at Whitfield. Formal training gets under way for the first time next week at BHHS.

Offer Deer-Kill Reward

Poaching may be taken lightly in some areas of Northern Michigan, but not by residents of Southwestern Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

Concerned over the illegal killing of four deer last weekend in the Proud Lake recreation area, members of two organizations have voted to post rewards totaling $50.

The Tri-County Sportsmen's Club and the Milford Turtle Club each posted a $25 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person, or persons, responsible for the unlawful act.

The four deer — a buck, doe and two fawns — were discovered Sunday. The hind quarters had been removed from the adult deer.

Officers said the deer were fatally wounded by shotgun slugs.

While the archery deer season is open in the county, the firearms season does not begin until Nov. 15.

DINNER IN THE FIELD—Woodcock hunters, here's an easy way to prepare a tasty dinner in the field. First, snip off the wings, lower legs and heads of the birds (a pair of fowl scissors works best for this). Next, skin out the body. Then halve the breast. Skin out the upper legs and place all these cleaned pieces on strips of bacon over a wood fire. Cook each side about eight minutes, depending on taste and size of the fire. Wrap potatoes in two layers of cooking foil and place in the fire shortly before the birds begin to cook. Top off with coffee or tea, canned cranberries and butter for the spuds.

Williamston Plans on 120,000 Acres

Small game hunters should find about 120,000 acres of private lands open to public shooting this season in Southern Michigan under a cooperative game management program carried out by farmer clubs and the Conservation Department.

The program, popularly known as the Williamston Plan, is designed to yield an orderly harvest of game and to minimize hunter trespass problems.

★ ★ ★

An estimated 2,000 farmers will make their lands available to sportsmen this fall. Signs will be posted to designate land units enrolled in the program.

Hunters are reminded they must obtain daily guest permits or tickets from owners before going afield on these lands.

Liveliest This Week

Mart's Advance Fairly Broad

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved higher in moderately active trading early Wednesday afternoon.

Gains of most key stocks were fractional. The advance was fairly broad, however, taking in chemicals, oils, aerospace issues, tobaccos and electrical equipments.

The pace of trading, while not very strong, was the liveliest this week. Tuesday's late rally showed carry-through at the start.

Some Wall Streeters said the market may be headed for a renewed test of the upside resistance level of about 600 in the Dow Jones industrial average.

Although the over-all business news was not inspiring, a number of brokerage houses sent out advisories favorable to various stocks.

HELP'S AVERAGES

A gain of more than 2 by Du Pont helped move up the averages.

Radio Corp., continuing to ride on news of record earnings, held most of a 1-point gain. General Electric was firm and somewhat more active than usual following news of a substantial profits increase and record sales.

The RCA and GE news served to coast a brighter glow on Wall Street but many uncertainties remained and, once again, the distraction of a World Series baseball game was in prospect.

Government Bonds Move Up

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. government bonds turned upward at the opening today after three sessions on the downside. Initial gains were small.

Corporates traded on the New York Stock Exchange were mixed although utilities shaded upward.

Over the counter dealers in Treasury securities quoted long bonds up about 2/32 and intermediates higher by 2/32 to 4/32 in moderate activity. One dealer said the market still had World Series fever.

Government prices closed yesterday on the upgrade although most issues retained small losses. They had opened definitely lower in a carry through of Friday's and Monday's setbacks.

Retirees Plan Visit to Plant

More than 200 retired employees of Parke, Davis & Co. will meet tomorrow at the company's main laboratories in Detroit for the firm's 10th annual retired employe reunion.

Eight states and Canada will be represented at the festivities.

Featured will be a visit to departments where the retirees worked, a luncheon and guest speaker and the opportunity to meet fellow retirees.

Those attending the reunion from this area will include Albert Knowles, 15911 Lauderdale St., Birmingham; George Backus, 6710 Weyer Road, and William Knight, 575 Barncraft St., both of Imlay City.

Others participating will be Leah Stephens, 21111 Ridgedale St., Oak Park; August Witt, 1488 Clay Road, Romeo; Sarah Burlew, 26890 Lois Lane, Southfield; and Gust Popovich, 4365 Rochester Road, Troy.

Representatives from the Rochester area will be Zach Boeberitz, 125 Briggs Road; Henry Gebert, 2874 W. Tienken Road; George Goth, 508 Seventh St.; George Jessop, 1365 Catalpa St.; Clyde Martin, 539 S. Castell St., and Robert Wilson, 1214 N. Main St.

Schools Partly to Blame

Outside Work Divides Student's Interest

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

A fellow named Bill called me on the phone recently. He was home from college and in trouble with his school-work. He didn't have time to come by and see me.

DR. NASON

This is what Bill is trying to do in school:

He takes a course in organic chemistry at one college, a course in music appreciation at another and puts in a six-hour day on an outside job.

Bill's two courses total six semester units to be completed in a six-week period. Educators consider this a full-time job, even without the outside job.

Bill studies about two hours for each classroom hour which means his schooling involves a 48-hour week. Add to this a 30-hour week of work and he has a 78-hour week.

To make matters worse, organic chemistry is one of the most difficult subjects to understand. It involves the study of many complex compounds, chemical reactions and a whole new vocabulary.

No wonder Bill is in trouble!

But Bill and his parents are not solely to blame for this situation. Our high schools and colleges are at least partly at fault.

High schools encourage students to carry five solid subjects. Four solids is a full-time load for the average student. Some students are expected to have a part-time job or go out for athletics.

Is it any wonder that when these young people reach college they expect to carry college work as a sideline?

Many college students expect to shoulder a full load of college work, strike for a fraternity or a sorority, go out for the football team and work a 20-hour week.

If a student is to work 20 hours a week — a half-time job — then he should be expected to carry only half a college load. And even this is difficult because it means he is dividing his interest between work and school.

Parents and students should start the new school year by establishing a reasonable schedule which allows time for a student to go about acquiring an education.

He should not even attempt a schedule under which he is fortunate to be able to complete the minimum assignment for each course. He should attend school to acquire knowledge, not to accumulate units.

Education will not be improved by teaching less about more subjects but by learning more about each subject.

Let's not set aside time for schooling — and then establish a schedule which leaves little room for education!

Students Protest Bid for Turks' Pardon

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — More than 5,000 students demonstrated on the Istanbul University campus Tuesday night against a government proposal of amnesty for jailed members of the regime of executed Premier Adnan Menderes.

Some 20 persons were slightly injured in scuffles between the demonstrators and supporters of the Justice party, successor to party.

★ ★ ★

Premier Ismet Inonu's three-party coalition cabinet submitted a bill to the National Assembly late Monday night to pardon "as an act of mercy" about 270 of the 450 Menderes followers serving prison terms.

Standard Emblem Set for State Letterheads

LANSING (UPI) — State agency letterheads will have one standard part in the future, Gov. John B. Swainson said yesterday.

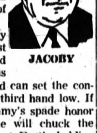
Swainson selected an emblem bearing an outline of the state and the slogan "Michigan Water Wonderland" for use on the letterheads.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

What should West lead against the no-trump game?

He has a horrible hand with two four-card suits. If he is going to get anywhere against the no-trump game he must find his partner's suit.



JACOBY

Therefore he should abandon his own suits and lead the eight of spades.

This lead really strikes gold. East has a six-card spade suit plus two side aces and can set the contract by playing third hand low. If East covers dummy's spade honor with the king he will chuck the hand to South, but East's holding is such that he should play low automatically.

This leaves South in dummy and he will surely play a diamond. East should go up with the ace and play a second low spade. This knocks out South's ace and leaves East with four good spades and the ace of clubs.

East won't make all his spades because South will run off six tricks in the red suits and East will be forced to discard a spade, but East can still set the contract.

Incidentally, North and South can make game in diamonds, but when the hand was played in an important tournament every South player landed at three no-trump.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Thursday

"The wise man controls his destiny"

Astrology points the way

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Road becomes smooth. You make your way by accepting the best in others. No time for excess skepticism. Cycle moving toward the top. Your actions are blessed with good timing.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Emphasis on travel, including journeys of the mind. Time to learn, to exercise intellectual curiosity. Friends, hopes, aspirations play dominant role. Opportunities galore. Be prepared in advance.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Trying to accomplish everything in a day leads to waste. Be careful where details are concerned. Use imagination in constructive manner. See problems from all angles.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Be sure of actions. Refuse to take things for granted. Check and double check. Favorable aspects indicate you can succeed in achieving goal. Make success "pay off" by being thorough.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Time for "make-believe". There are some hard facts to be faced. Self-control essential, particularly in finances. Stop "gambling." Wager only on your creative abilities.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23): Cycle has been higher. Meaning you should exercise caution. Say maybe instead of "yes." Do not attempt to skip details or to force your way. Postpone journey, if practical.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Strive for true expression. Let others know where you really stand. Get rid of shell and expose yourself. State position clearly. You will be amazed at how many are on "your side."

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21): Forthright claim receives attention. You are able to collect debts, receive credit long due. Assert yourself. Rule out timidity. Superiors will respect straight talk.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Forces scattered unless you concentrate. Mean be sure you are taking correct road. Check. Ask questions. Be willing to expand. Advertise. Spotlight public relations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Like Aries, permit others to reveal their best sides. But remain alert to opportunistic side. But remain alert to opportunity. You must take initiative. Use strength lies in knowledge. Check facts. Be ready to present them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Member of opposite sex presents intriguing question. Answer must come from within. Be sure yourself if you can emotionally afford the consequences. Truthful answer provides solution to dilemma.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Harmony in home very important. Frustrating results if you attempt to "spite" loved ones. Be mature. Give loved one benefit of doubt.

Seek Approval on Home Sites

Sylvan Lake Council to Receive Request

Tentative approval being sought for a new plat of 28 home sites is one of the two major items on tonight's agenda of the Sylvan Lake Council.

★ ★ ★

The council meets at 8 p.m. at Sylvan City Hall.

The acreage to be divided into lots is in Sherwood Forest Subdivision No. 2 and located just west of Sherwood Avenue.

The platting would also require approval of a new street to be called Stratford Avenue, running parallel to Sherwood.

The developer is Sam Warwick, long-time Sylvan Lake builder.

A second item is a request from Whizzer Industries, Inc., to allow expansion of its window division along the present property line at 2240 Greer St.

The existing building was built on the property line. However, since then, setback lines have been established. New building on the property line would require a waiver of the setback restrictions.

Killer May Have Fled on Airliner

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Killer Winnie Ruth Judd, who has escaped again from the state mental hospital here, may have fled town aboard an airliner.

The Arizona Republic of Phoenix said Tuesday night an attorney who once represented Mrs. Judd indicated she boarded a plane for St. Paul, Minn., sometime Tuesday.

Mrs. Judd, 57, escaped from the hospital Monday night, slipping out an unlocked door and across a section of fence knocked down by freeway builders.

The escape was the seventh in 23 years for the trunk-murderess, convicted 30 years ago of killing two women.

Hospital Supt. Samuel Wick said Mrs. Judd, once called "the tiger woman," is no longer considered dangerous.

★ ★ ★

John H. Wilson Jr. of Birmingham has been elected a vice president of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborne, Inc., it was announced today by Robert E. Anderson, manager of the Detroit office and vice president and director of BBD&O.

WILSON

Wilson, 475 N. Eton Road, joined the advertising firm in 1960 as national coordinator for field activities on Dodge, responsible for the Dodge Retail Selling Association groups.

Later that year he became national account executive and recently was promoted to account supervisor on Dodge passenger cars.

Twins Orioles Nearing Trade of Batterymen

NEW YORK (UPI) — Calvin Griffith admitted today there is a "good possibility" Minnesota and Baltimore may complete a deal in which the Twins would get either Milt Pappas or Chuck Estrada for Earl Battey.

★ ★ ★

Griffith and president Lee MacPhail of the Orioles have already discussed the trade and one of the reasons it has been held up is that the Twins aren't sure which of the two right-handed Baltimore pitchers they prefer.

★ ★ ★

Pappas, 23, won 12 games and lost 10 for the Orioles this season, while Estrada, also 23, turned in a disappointing 9-17 record.

Griffith feels the Twins, who finished second in the American League this year, might have overtaken the Yankees if they would have had one more dependable pitcher.

★ ★ ★

Hence, his willingness to give up the 26-year-old Battey, who is still considered the No. 1 catcher in the circuit even though he tailed off badly during the second half of the campaign.

Rochester Youth Injured in Wreck

An 18-year-old Rochester youth was injured last night when he drove his car into the path of another at the intersection of Auburn and Livernois roads in Avon Township.

Roger L. VanConant, 2906 Walsh Road, is in satisfactory condition at Avon Center Hospital with lacerations and abrasions.

Sheriff deputies said VanConant, traveling south on Livernois, failed to yield the right of way to Leonard C. Neal, 38, 3086 Portman St., Keego Harbor.

N-Plant for Consumers Raises Rods to Final 56

CHARLEVOIX (UPI) — The Consumers Power Co. nuclear-powered electric plant at Big Rock Point increased the number of fuel bundles to 15 yesterday as it continued to make tests of its reactor in raising the number of rods to the final 56.

The company also ran tests on the stainless steel equipment used in the reactor. The plant is expected to go into full operation about December.

Admits Bribing DPW Employes

Rubbish Hauler Says He Paid Detroit Pair

DETROIT (UPI) — A rubbish hauler testified before the Detroit Civil Service Commission yesterday that he paid monthly bribes to two former Department of Public Works (DPW) watchmen for special dumping privileges.

★ ★ ★

The testimony was made by Louis Winkler, owner of the Winkler Sanitation Co., Detroit, a co-conspirator but not a defendant in the graft conspiracy.

★ ★ ★

The watchmen named by Winkler were Chester Januszczak and Willie Warren, both of whom were fired Aug. 23, about a month after 29 other DPW employes were arraigned on graft-conspiracy charges.

A police department report showed that during 1959, Winkler gave Januszczak eight checks made out to cash and totaling $110.

★ ★ ★

Winkler said he was allowed to dump his trucks even when the city incinerator at one location was full. The special privilege saved his trucks making expensive trips to other incinerators.

★ ★ ★

Civil Service Commissioner Anthony Maiullo asked why a warrant had not been sought for the arrest of the two men and was told that the Wayne County prosecutor's office decided there was insufficient evidence against them.

Januszczak is appealing his dismissal, but Warren is not.

Wife Tops 14 Men in Corn-Picking Fray

U.S. Protests Manhandling of Diplomat

MOSCOW (AP)—The United States today formally protested against last week's detention and manhandling of assistant U.S. Naval Attache Cmdr. Raymond Smith.

★ ★ ★

A note delivered to the Soviet Foreign Ministry demanded disciplinary measures be taken against the Soviet officials "involved in this affair" and assurances "there will be no recurrence of violation of the diplomatic immunities of members of the (U.S.) embassy staff."

The Russians, after questioning Smith, accused the Naval officer of espionage and expelled him from the country. He left last Monday.

A U.S. embassy spokesman told newsmen Smith was grabbed in a Leningrad public park at the mouth of the Little Neva River and said he was doing nothing improper.

"It was a completely open area," the spokesman said. "People go there all the time. It's a place where adults go swimming and fishing."

★ ★ ★

The spokesman acknowledged Smith was carrying a camera, binoculars and a small tape recorder, as the Russians have charged. But the spokesman said "he did not use his binoculars and he did not have his camera out of his pocket."

County Not Liable for Nonmental Care

LANSING (AP) — A county does not have to pay for medical care of patients waiting admittance to a state mental hospital when such patients are admitted to a hospital for reasons unrelated to the mental illness, an attorney general's opinion has held.

★ ★ ★

Dr. K. C. MacPherson, acting director of the State Crippled Children Commission, asked for the opinion.

★ ★ ★

There have been several cases, he said, of children being committed to a state mental institution and then requiring hospitalization for another cause while on the waiting list.

★ ★ ★

The county obligation, under statute, cannot be said to commence at the time of admission to an unrelated facility for an unrelated ailment, said the attorney general.

Woman Reports $660 Robbery in Drayton Plains

A woman was robbed of $660 in Drayton Plains yesterday while on her way to the bank to make a deposit and pay bills.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Edward Mullens, 6966 Tappon Drive, Independence Township told Sheriff deputies that she was held up by a youth in the alley at the rear of 4480 Dixie Highway.

She said the thief came up behind her and poked an object in her back and said "Just give me what is in your wallet."

The thief made his escape she said in a car riven by an accomplice. The robbery was reported shortly after noon.

3 Years Probation Decreed in Burglary

One of two Madison Heights men who pleaded guilty to the July 3 burglary of $5,200 from a Troy firm was sentenced yesterday to three years probation by Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams.

Frederick J. Cory had pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the Beaver Feed Co., 2836 Rochester Road. Cory and James E. Kedrow were accused of removing a safe which they later broke open.

Kedrow, who pleaded guilty Oct. 4 as his trial was about to begin, will be sentenced Oct. 23 by Judge Adams.

553 Police Complaints

Waterford Township police handled a total of 553 complaints during September, bringing the volume to 4,958 for the first three quarters of 1962.

Felony complaints during the month numbered 119 compared to 150 misdemeanors. There were 149 safety and traffic complaints and 132 calls involving noncriminal matters.

Gary Craig Sidelined

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Doctors tried to learn today why Stanford halfback Gary Craig has been bothered by headaches since the Oregon State game Saturday.

Craig, who does Stanford's punting, will not play this week at Washington State, said Coach Jack Curtice.

Candidate Backs Vote on Teacher Hiring Law

"I have complete confidence and faith in our school superintendents and the school boards that appoint them," State Representative Lloyd L. Anderson, R-Waterford Township, declared today.

Anderson, whose bid for reelection in the county's 1st District is opposed by Democrat John S. Coleman, defended his vote in favor of state legislation enabling school superintendents to hire teachers who are not certified.

"Teaching and the role played by school administrators and boards of education in selecting teachers seems to have become a political issue," Anderson said. "But I sure don't know why."

★ ★ ★

He said the legislation, which failed to pass, would have established three conditions for hiring teachers without certificates:

"One: The teacher must have a bachelor's degree or higher in subjects he is hired to teach from a recognized or accredited college or university.

"Two: The superintendent must certify the teacher's competency to the State Board of Education.

"Three: The teacher can be hired only on a year-to-year basis and not under continuing contract or tenure."

'CONFIDENT FAITH'

"I have complete faith in the ability of our people to select qualified teachers, certified or not," Anderson continued. "That would give us additional teachers in our system — teachers that people we elect know are qualified."

Anderson referred to an Oxford resident who was an associate professor of physics and chemistry at the University of Iowa, but who could not qualify to teach here because she had no certificate.

"My opponent," he said, "seems to be against education by reason, justice and ability. To him, an education is made up of cold hard facts that never change and never takes into consideration historic or economic circumstances."

Coleman is a teacher of government at Waterford Township's Kettering High School.

Can money alone make your future secure?

Whatever your feelings about money, you'll probably agree that it's handy to have around—even all by itself. What's more, if you make it your business to save some pretty regularly, in a few years you'll be all set for that new home, or your child's college expenses, or your own retirement.

Or will you?

Without the freedoms on which this country was founded, all the money there is wouldn't be worth very much. A secure future takes both—money and the freedom to spend it as you choose.

That's the main reason why buying U.S. Savings Bonds is such a good idea today. You do double saving on a single investment. You save money, at a guaranteed rate of interest. You provide funds that help Uncle Sam stand up for freedom right now, so you'll be sure to have it tomorrow.

How about doing your saving with U.S. Savings Bonds? It's a move you can make today to make your future more secure.

You won't find it printed on a Savings Bond, but one of its benefits is the strengthening of Freedom itself.

Though this wall is in Berlin, Communism's rule of terror threatens free men everywhere. One way Americans help safeguard their freedoms is by buying U.S. Savings Bonds.

Keep freedom in your future with

Pontiac City Affairs

Commission OKs New Building Code

Pontiac city commissioners last night adopted a new building code for the city.

★ ★ ★

In effect, the new building ordinance is the 1962 version of the Basic Code of Building Officials Conference of America.

It is generally recognized as as advanced building code both in scope and practice and is currently used in some 60 other cities of similar size.

The updated ordinance will replace the former code, which, in essence, was the 1950 version of the same basic code.

★ ★ ★

While serving mainly the needs of building inspectors, the code also will go far toward satisfying urban renewal officials.

General updating and modernizing of existing codes is strongly recommended in areas where urban renewal projects are being undertaken, according to City Manager Robert A. Stierer.

In other business, commissioners delayed any action on a request from the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council for support of proposed amendments to the Homestead Act in the State Legislature.

★ ★ ★

The council resolution stated support of certain measures to guarantee tax exemptions to persons of 65 years and older who "find it difficult to meet their property tax."

The document requested that the commission draft and forward a similar resolution supporting such legislation to the six legislators and state senator serving this area.

Although the commissioners generally agreed senior citizens should get some tax relief in certain situations, they decided after opposition to any "hasty action" from Commissioner Charles H. Harmon to refer the resolution to the city attorney and council representatives "for clarification."

'DOESN'T TELL LIMITS'

"This resolution doesn't say what the limits of exemptions would be," Harmon noted, "or how the 'amendments' would conform to legislation already on the books.

Council then agreed to refer the matter to the city attorney for study and report.

Commissioners also:

Approved a request to transfer ownership of a 1962 tavern license at 18 N. Perry St. from Jack Greenwood to Raymond Bowhall.

The latter request was approved by a 6-1 vote with Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. opposing the transfer "in light of the police report on this matter."

"There are processes by which people who can't pay their taxes can be helped. I wouldn't want to go on record as simply approving either a blanket exemption or a blank exemption without knowing exactly what it would amount to."

Slated for a public hearing next Tuesday are plans for proposed sidewalk construction on the south side of Columbia Avenue from the west line of Lot 658, Buena Vista Heights Subdivision, to Carlisle Avenue; and on Carlisle from Columbia to the south line of Lot 658.

Cost estimates presented by Acting City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling and accepted by commissioners last night call for a total cost of $634.45, with $402.05 the city's cost and $232.40 coming through special assessments to affected property owners.

No objections were voiced at public hearings last night on special assessment rolls for curb and gutter replacement on a portion of Hill Street and sidewalk construction on part of Luther Street.

Construction will begin now on both projects.

Two hearings continued from prior meetings also were concluded last night.

PLAN DROPPED

One resulted in dropping a proposed plan to replace curbs and gutters and blacktop on Waldo Street, from Huron to Newberry, as part of the 1962 public improvement program.

Commissioner Harmon asked for the deletion after presenting a protest petition signed by 51 per cent of the affected property owners questioning the need for the work.

Harmon suggested the project be revised to include only the portion of Waldo from Huron to the first alley north as part of next year's public improvement program.

★ ★ ★

The other continued hearing resulted in no further objections to plans for blacktop and curb and on a portion of Green Street.

Special assessment rolls for the Green Street project were ordered prepared for presentation at next week's meeting. It will be done as part of the 1963 public improvement program.

Commissioners moved for a two-week delay of action on a request to transfer ownership and location of a 1961 tavern license from Julius K. and Louis Koprince Jr. at 18 S. Perry St. to Paul I. Spadafore at 856 Oakland Ave.

FIRE FALTERS — Using an elevated hose, firemen gain control of a blaze caused by the explosion of lacquer-filled tanks at a factory in Hamtramck yesterday. No one was reported injured although the spectacular blasts shook a mile-wide area.

From Federal to State Level

Rail Union Shifts Fight

CHICAGO (AP) — The railroad telegraphers union plans to shift its fight from the federal to state levels after a ruling by an arbitration board in Washington in a dispute involving the Chicago and North Western Railway.

★ ★ ★

The railroad says it contemplates no wholesale layoffs of telegraphers.

Robert Lowry, assistant to President George E. Leighty of the AFL-CIO Order of Railroad Telegraphers, and Ben W. Heineman, chairman of the railroad, made known their reactions at news conferences Tuesday.

RIGHT TO FIRE

The arbitration board granted the North Western the right to discharge telegrapher-station agents who no longer are needed. However, the North Western must give a 90-day notice before abolishing a job.

★ ★ ★

Both Heineman and Leighty were on the arbitration panel appointed by President Kennedy to rule in the dispute which brought on a month-long strike tying up wide segments of the economy in the Midwest.

Previously he had appointed a fact-finding board to make recommendations. The railroad and the union were unable to agree on carrying out the board's recommendations, which included the layoff provisions.

The road's telegraphers struck on Aug. 30, making idle some 15,500 other C&NW employes and forcing the shutdown of the nation's third longest railroad which operates in nine Midwest states.

'UNDUE PRESSURE'

Lowry maintained that the railroad "put undue pressure" on Washington in the form of programs saying business was adversely affected along the lines 10,600-mile rail network during the recent strife.

"The right of management to improve and modernize has been expressly recognized," Heineman said.

★ ★ ★

Lowry said his union would have received a better settlement if the neutral arbitrator, Sylvester Garrett, had been experienced in the railroad labor field.

Wherever warranted, Lowry said the union will oppose the railroad's petitions to state agencies to close stations and discontinue jobs.

Walker to Report for Mental Checkup

DALLAS (AP) — Robert Morris, one of Edwin A. Walker's lawyers, said last night the former major general will report for a psychiatric checkup late tomorrow.

Morris said Walker was relaxing on a ranch in Texas but he refused to give the location.

Federal authorities arrested Walker at Oxford, Miss., last week during integration rioting at the University of Mississippi and charged him with inciting an insurrection and seditious conspiracy.

Lawyer Files Suit Against Air Base

FARGO, N.D. (UPI) — Attorney O. S. Gunderson has filed a $100,000 suit against the commander of Minot Air Force Base.

Gunderson charged that sonic booms from military planes flying over his home in Christine had caused him to develop a nervous condition and heart trouble.

STATE OF MICHIGAN—In the Probate Court for the County of Oakland, Juvenile Division.

In the matter of the petition concerning Joe Larry Manning alias Bannister, minor, Cause No. 16776.

To Jack Manning, father of said minor child.

Petition having been filed in this Court alleging that the present whereabouts of the father of said minor child are unknown and said child has violated a law of the State, and that said child should be placed under the jurisdiction of this Court.

In the name of the people of the State of Michigan, you are hereby notified that the hearing on said petition will be held at the Oakland County Service Center, Court House, in the City of Pontiac in said County, on the 16th day of October, A.D. 1962, at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and you are hereby commanded to appear personally at said hearing.

In lieu of personal to make personal service hereof, the summons and notice shall be served by publication of a copy one week previous to said hearing in The Pontiac Press, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County.

Witness, The Honorable Daniel R. Adams, Judge of said Court, in the City of Pontiac, said County, this 5th day of October A.D. 1962.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MRS. Florence E. Hunt who passed away October 10, 1961.
A wonderful Mother, woman and aid. One who was better, God never made.
Loved by your friends and whom you knew.
Our wonderful Mother, That Mother was true.
Sadly missed by Robert and Zola Hunt, Son and Daughter.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF JOSEPH H. Bonchie who passed away October 10, 1958.
Loving memories never die,
As years roll on and time goes by.
In our hearts a memory is kept,
Of one we loved, and will never forget.
Sadly missed by wife, children and grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF GUY W. James who passed away Oct. 10, 1954.
The rolling stream of life rolls on,
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, and grace, the smile
Of the one who once sat there.
Sadly missed by wife, children and grandchildren.

Common Mart May Boost Latin America

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Latin America now has a big chance to help itself.

The device Latin America once viewed as a dismaying threat—the European Common Market—may prove to be a golden opportunity.

★ ★ ★

Until recently, many Latin Americans were deeply suspicious that the Common Market would give Africa's agriculture a heavy competitive advantage. Today there appears to be growing conviction that Latin American can supply booming Europe better than the African states associated with the Common Market.

★ ★ ★

It can offer more profitable markets for Europe's production, and provide an attractive outlet for European export capital.

There is general agreement that first of all Latin America needs political stability. It needs a vastly stepped-up program of technical education to produce specialized workers and technicians.

It needs to abandon measures which discourage investment and trade. It needs to create its own economic community to coordinate dealings with the Common Market and the rest of the world.

Europeans — and many Latin American leaders — agree that only Latin America itself can prepare the way for rescue operations

A survey of opinion in European Common Market nations produces these opinions:

"The Latin American market is highly important for West Germany," says Bonn's economics minister Ludwig Erhard . . ."

"We members of the Common Market must pursue a liberal trade policy so that Latin America will have a ready and easy access to the market. This is to the best interests not only of Latin America but of Germany, since two-thirds of our trade is carried on outside the Common Market.

"It is necessary now for the Latin American nations to realize that loans and financial aid will not alone better the economic situations. What is needed is improvement in the social structure to create a broader level of consumers, to assure political stability.'

minister for economic cooperation, says private West German investment in Latn America between 1950 and 1960 totaled more than a billion marks ($250 million), more than four times the investment in Africa.

Scheel recently toured Latin America, where he called attention to the importance of a good investment climate. This means rational business relations, minus threats of government harassment or confiscation. He said that without an organized social structure—meaning construction of a sturdy middle class — "a sound economic structure is unthinkable."

West German policy will be to support with development aid funds "only such projects whose implementation will benefit the entire population of the country involved."

FRANCE:—

French informants connected with the Common Market say its relations with Latin American now have become an urgent question.

Trade with Latin America by Common Market members has held steady, with slight expansion, since 1958.

Latin America's exports to the Common Market are in three categories: Temperate zone products like grains, meat, wool and cotton; tropical, such as cocoa and coffee, and raw materials such as copper, iron ore and petroleum.

So far as raw materials go, Latin America gets an equal break with the rest of the world in the Common Market. Africa competes as tropical products, but produces only 3 per cent of the world's coffee, often of lower quality than Latin America's.

BRITAIN:—

Britain is not yet in the Common Market, and London is cautious about listing Latin American prospects with the European Economic Community.

★ ★ ★

A recent report by Sir George Bolton, chairman of the Bank of London and South America, says Europe looks forward to a great increase in world trade which would follow economic improvement in Latin America.

★ ★ ★

Generally, Europeans agree Latin America needs all the help it can get, but consider the main obstacles come from Latin America itself. In brief, that means: "Put your houses in order—it's up to you."

YEMEN STRONGMAN — Brig. Gen. Abdullah Sallal (center in uniform), premier of Yemen, stands on steps of palace in San'a, the nation's capital, with troops and tribesmen, after a recent meeting with newsmen. Next to Sallal (in light suit) is Deputy Premier Abdul Rahman. Sallal took control of the small nation after overthrowing the eight-day rule of Imam Mohamed.

Insanity Plea Gets Full TV Treatment

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Of course I know the M'Naghten formula," remarked psychiatrist Theodore Bassett in the opening episode of "The 11th Hour" a couple of weeks back.

He had been called in by the court to determine whether a pretty young matron accused of killing her husband was legally sane or insane.

"The only way I can plead her not guilty is under the M'Naghten rule," fretted lawyer Sam Benedict last Saturday as he attempted to set up an insanity defense for a pretty matron accused of killing her husband.

CHALLENGE TO RULE

Lawyers Lawrence and Kenneth Preston of "The Defenders" will challenge the M'Naghten rule in a two-part drama, starting Oct. 20, about a young man, apparently mentally ill, who kills a woman.

★ ★ ★

Obviously, it's going to be a big year for the M'Naghten rule on television, and particularly on "The 11th Hour" which is concerned with forensic psychiatry—the application of psychiatry in law courts.

Although hardly a household word—although it well may be by season's end—the M'Naghten rule is the sole test of criminal insanity used today in the courts of England and most of the American states. It is a definition of insanity requiring proof that an accused, because of his mental state did not know "the nature and quality of the act he was doing, or if he did know it, that he did not know he was doing what was wrong."

CONTROVERSIAL

The rule is a highly controversial one in medical and psychiatric circles—one poll of over 300 psychiatrists a few years ago whowed that 80 per cent found it "unsatisfactory." Now, it appears the general television-viewing public will have a chance to form opinions on the subject.

It has been in use over 100 years — since before Sigmund Freud was born, and came from an English case in 1843 when a man named M'Naghten was found "not guilty by reason of insanity" of the killing of the secretary of Sir Robert Peel.

According to CBS' advance notice, "The Defenders" will challenge the venerable yardstick. This will not, probably, be as daring as the series' controversial show last season on illegal operations, for the M'Naghten rule has been the subject of endless legal debate as well as criticism by lawyers and psychiatrists.

Publisher, 75, Dies

PARIS (AP)—Sylvia Beach, 75, publisher, bookseller and confidante in the 1920s of young expatriate America authors who later became legends, died Tuesday. Miss Beach, who was born in Baltimore, came to France with the American Red Cross in 1917 and later opened a Left Bank library, bookshop and part-time publishing house which became famous as "Shakespear and Co." The Germans closed it in 1940.

Place Looks Like a Pig Pen

BELLEVUE, Ohio (AP) — The hogs were hogging the whole house after a truckload of them smashed into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Weller.

★ ★ ★

A truck trailer loaded with 126 hogs crashed into the two-room house on Ohio 18 near here early Tuesday, demolishing the house and dumping several hogs in bed with the Wellers. Twenty hogs were killed.

★ ★ ★

Weller and his wife, Carol, both 20, were treated at a hospital for shock and abrasions. James Kessler, 21, of Carey, the truck driver, also was treated and released.

Attacking Beetles

ST. JOSEPH (AP) — An aerial attack on Japanese beetles begins today in Berrien County. A crop-dusting plane was scheduled to begin dropping 15 tons of insecticide over 1,200 acres in Chickaming and Lake townships.

It's All OK With Doris Day, Except Baseball Results

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Hollywood's sizzling with gossip about Doris Day splitting with her husband and business partner, Marty Melcher. But close friend Ross Hunter tells me it's a crazy tale. True, they're briefly apart. Marty went to Phoenix with his play "The Perfect Setup." Doris, an incurable baseball addict, since her Ohio childhood when she screamed for the Cincinnati Reds, stayed behind to emote in a film, and to root the Los Angeles Dodgers to the pennant and then the world championship. (You remember the Dodgers! Doris was sort of Day-dreaming.)

★ ★ ★

Bobby Darin — sorry that Johnny Carson didn't let him continue when he said "fan magazine are for degenerates" —is blasting them in interviews. He's also gunning for columnists. (Just gave me an asbestos-enclosed interview, wow!)

★ ★ ★

"Princess Margaret is very hip." So says young British singing star Cliff Richard, now here to tour. "One night at a youth club she asked me 'Do you have a new drummer?' I was surprised, we hadn't announced it. Princess Margaret said, "I knew you had—I could tell a difference in the beat.'" Richard, a great European favorite, has one aspiration here —to visit Nashville, the country music recording center, the U.S. "Tin Pan Valley."

★ ★ ★

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Phil Foster'll do a one-man show at Carnegie Hall in February . . . Producer Joe Levine says his next, "The Carpetbaggers," will be a "runaway production": "I'm running away from Rome to do it in Hollywood." . . . Some local spots are stuck with tabs signed by foreign diplomats (who are immune from collection agencies.

Tuesday Weld's hinting that she'd like to try a cafe act . . . A once-famed singer got free tuition in a law class at NYU after she told the professor, "If you can tell my attorney how to get my husband to pay more allmony, I could pay for the course."

★ ★ ★

EARL'S PEARLS: About the only thing you can do with a nickel these days is flip it.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: This jet age is remarkable. You can leave New York at noon, and only five hours later you're broke in Las Vegas.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Imagination is what makes you think you're having a wonderful time when you're really only spending money. . . . That's earl, brother.

Cat's Cause Crisis in Community

WOODBURY, N.Y. (AP)—This is a story of three kittens, five children, two parents, a policeman, a utility, a firm of tree surgeons and a tree.

It started Monday afternoon, when a kitten belonging to the children of Dr. and Mrs. William Bikoff chased two kitten kin up a 50-foot oak on the lawn, then followed them.

★ ★ ★

The mother cat seemed unconcerned about the plight of her offspring, named Pixie, Imp and Storm. Not so the five Bikoff children—aged 3 to 13—who were so concerned they couldn't sleep and Tuesday they couldn't eat or go to school.

★ ★ ★

This got their parents concerned and Dr. Bikoff called a policeman, who called the Long Island Lighting Co., which called a tree surgeon firm. The surgeons finally managed to get the kittens down after 22 hours aloft.

Plans to Widen Part of M59 Are Revealed

ONE COLOR MAKE OVER PAGES

Plans to widen M59 from Elizabeth Lake Road to Pontiac Municipal Airport next yeas were revealed at last night's City Commission meeting by City Manager Robert A. Stierer.

★ ★ ★

The M59 widening project was included in a progress report to commissioners on Michigan State Highway Department plans for Pontiac's perimeter road and E. Huron Street extension.

Stierer and city officials had met earlier this week with Howard Hill, managing director of the highway department and assistant to Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie and other department officials.

The major part of Stierer's report revolved around the latest tentative time tables for perimeter road and M59 (E. Huron) extension projects in the city. Both have been moved back from earlier estimates.

NEXT SUMMER

"The plan for M59 west of Pontiac, according to Hill, calls for widening the highway from two to four lanes from Elizabeth Lake Road to the airport next summer," Stierer explained.

"They tentatively plan to let contracts on June 12," he added.

Due to unexpected delays in right-of-way acquisition for the perimeter road, that project has been delayed several months, Stierer reported.

Highway department officials told Stierer they now have about 80 per cent of the right-of-way properties under option.

"Construction should be under way early next year," Stierer said.

★ ★ ★

The vital M59 extension, linking the perimeter road with the I75 freeway to the east, now seems destined for construction in 1964 instead of 1963.

"Now it is estimated that the portion from the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Belt Line tracks to the I75 freeway will go under contract in the first quarter of 1964," Stierer noted.

"The portion from the railroad tracks to perimeter road is tentatively slated for the third quarter of 1964."

The link is estimated to cost some $3.8-million.

★ ★ ★

With respect to progress on the I75 freeway north and east of Pontiac, Stierer told commissioners that by Dec. 1 they "should be able to drive out Walton Boulevard, get on the freeway and drive all the way to the Straits of Mackinac."

Jabs Fly in 1st Hot Debate

THEY SMILE AT FIRST — George Romney and Gov. John B. Swainson manage smiles as they pose together before their television debate last night in Detroit. The smiles vanished when they hotly debated state issues in their campaigns.

Job Figures 'Misleading,' Says Romney

Governor Raps Back, Reviews GOP Man's Rejection Record

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. Swainson and his Republican opponent, George Romney, clashed verbally over tax programs, leadership and the condition of Michigan's economy last night in the first of three televised debates.

Sarcasm and sharply worded verbal jabs punctuated the half-hour show. The protagonists, who shoo

The protagonists, who shook hands before the debate, didn't say a word to each other after it was over.

On the issue of the state of the states' economy, Swainson and Romney both implied that the other was telling something less than the truth.

"It's time to call a spade a spade," said Romney as he branded as "misleading" the governor's claim that unemployment in Michigan has fallen to its lowest total in nine years.

"One of the first casualties in any campaign is truth," declared Swainson after Romney said that Michigan has not been keeping pace with national economic progress.

★ ★ ★

"I will state, and I will have it backed up," Swainson said, "that we have more people employed in the State of Michigan today than we had employed last year, and this is a matter of record."

But Romney said Swainson's assertions about Michigan employment were "dangerously misleading."

He contended that since Swainson took office in January 1961, 126,000 people in Michigan "either moved out of Michigan or dropped out of the work force simply because they couldn't find a job."

HARD, COLD FACTS

Adding the 126,000 who gave up trying to find a job to the 140,000 still out of work, Romney said, makes 266,000 people on the basis of the work force when the governor took office.

"That would represent 9.2 per cent of the work force, or one out of every 11," the former American Motors president asserted.

"The hard, cold facts are that Michigan has not been keep-

NEW GMC MODEL — This DBI 7,000 is one of several new models added to GMC Truck's line of vehicles for 1963. It features a 90-inch cab for high maneuverability and is powered by an in-line 6 diesel engine.

'63 GMC Trucks Arrive

The 1963 line GMC trucks introduced today feature advanced suspension and frame designs, V6 engine refinements and mechanical and electrical improvements.

★ ★ ★

In announcing the new models, Calvin J. Werner, vice president of General Motors and general manager of GMC Truck and Coach Division, said newness has been combined with the product continuity established by the introduction of the exclusive GMC Truck V6 gasoline engines in 1960.

"Our truck engine leadership is continued with a new economy version of the V6, and engineering improvements in all our V8 and Twin-Six powerplants that provide an even higher efficiency level," Werner said.

The new engine is the 305[illegible] which is standard in the light-duty line. Its new three-ring pistons, along with a refined cooling system, assure important fuel savings, according to the general manager.

Heading the list of chassis improvements in the light line are coil spring independent front suspension, ladder-type frames and tapered roller-front wheel bearings.

OPTIONAL FEATURES

Power steering is also available for light duty models. Other optional equipment includes a two-speed automatic transmission called the "Pow-R-Flo," and a new heavy-duty, three-speed transmission.

★ ★ ★

In medium-duty models, a major advance is a new I-beam front axle with varirate leaf springs.

Spring deflection is proportioned to the load, giving a good ride under all conditions.

Ladder-type frames go along with this suspension.

Models having 90-inch cabs are the most highly developed in the Division's history, said Werner.

★ ★ ★

The newest addition to this series is the DBI7000 and companion model, the DBWI7000. Both are powered by in-line six-cylinder engines.

The tandem-axle DBWI7000, as all other tandems and many other regular heavy-duty models, has triple-insulated wiring for maximum protection.

Prayers by Clergy Pierce Iron Curtain

VATICAN CITY (AP)—With Roman Catholic prelates from around the world gathering for the 21st ecumenical council, prayers were said today for Catholics beyond the Communist Iron Curtain.

At a solemn ceremony in the Basilica of St. Mary Major, Juan Cardinal Landazuri Ricketts, archbishop of Lima, Peru, said the "church of silence" would participate in the spiritual victory that would result from a successful council.

"The church of silence" is the name given by the Vatican to its faithful in Communist lands. Relations between the church and the Communist countries contributed a somber note on the eve of the council opening Thursday in St. Peter's Basilica.

★ ★ ★

There was an air of expectation and hope for the meeting that will bring together 5,600 cardinals, archbishops, bishops and other prelates. It is the church's first general conclave in 92 years.

But one great body of prelates was absent.

At least 170 bishops and archbishops in Red-ruled countries did not or could not make the trip to Rome. Only about 10 men [illegible]

Many refugee [illegible] attended the Eucharistic Congress [illegible] celebrated the Mass and [illegible] a ——— that united [illegible] the suffering of Christians [illegible] through the ages and in Communist countries today.

He said the prayers today were for "mercy to sinners and persecutors, comfort and relief to those who live today most intensely the passion of Christ...light for the souls consecrated to God but impeded in following their ministry... hope for the faithful unable to freely manifest their faith...and for the success of the council."

UKRAINIAN CHORUS

A chorus from the Ukrainian Seminary in Rome sang during the service. The singers were the children of refugees from the Soviet regime.

The fact that some prelates from what the Vatican calls "the church of silence" were allowed to come to the council indicated that Communist leaders felt obliged to make some grudging concessions to Catholic world opinion.

Four prelates from Lithuania arrived by plane Tuesday night. Three bishops from Czechoslovakia were coming by train from Prague.

★ ★ ★

One of the largest Iron Curtain delegations was a group of 11 Polish bishops headed by Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, primate of Poland. The cardinal met Monday with Pope John XXIII for nearly an hour for a detailed discussion on the church's position in Poland.

Polish prelates were allowed to

U. S. Digs In on N-Demands

Prepares to Fend Off Ban Appeals in U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The United States dug in today to fend off small power demands for an uncontrolled moratorium on nuclear testing.

U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson was listed as the first major power speaker in the nuclear test debate of the General Assembly's [illegible]

[illegible] is considered the heart of the United Nations [illegible] the test issue of peace is [illegible]

The Soviet Union was listed after Stevenson and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin was expected to be its speaker.

Zorin, who is Russia's chief representative here, left last spring to participate in the 17-power disarmament talks at Geneva and went to Moscow before returning here.

TO REPEAT STAND

Stevenson was expected to have little new to say. U. S. sources said he would repeat Washington's position that it will not accept under any conditions a new, uncontrolled moratorium such as that used by Russia to prepare last year's test series.

The United States hoped to wind up the nuclear test debate here quickly and move into the topic of general disarmament.

It hopes to finish the U.N. arms discussion in ample time to resume talks in the 17-nation disarmament committee at Geneva on Nov. 14.

In the assembly itself, the annual policy debate slowly wound toward the end of its four-week course. The general debate now is expected to end Friday with India, as is customary, the last speaker.

County Appearances Set by Candidates

After clashing last night in their first television debate, Gov. John B. Swainson and George W. Romney almost will collide again tomorrow in Oakland County.

But, Romney will be gone again by the time Swainson gets into the county tomorrow night for a 10 p.m. torchlight reception and speech in Milford prior to a full day of campaigning in the county Friday.

It will be Swainson's Democratic running mate, Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, who will compete with Romney for Pontiac's attention tomorrow.

Both Romney and Lesinski will be at the Waldron Hotel, though a few hours apart.

Romney will attend a Pontiac Rotary Club lunch meeting there at 12:55 p.m. Lesinski will have left after a 9 a.m. breakfast with local professional people.

Romney also will speak at a noon luncheon at the North Oakland County Bar Association at the Elks Temple on Orchard Lake Avenue and visit Birmingham, Troy and Rochester in the afternoon. He will be in Oak Park and Southfield in the evening.

TO TOUR IN SOUTH

Swainson's Friday itinerary will take him mostly to communities in the southern half of the county.

Lesinski will tour city offices and the city library from 10 to 10:45 a.m. before an 11 a.m. speech before senior citizens at UAW-CIO Local 594 at 525 East Boulevard South.

The lieutenant governor will attend a noon luncheon for George J. Fulkerson, Democratic candidate for Congress from Oakland County, sponsored by former Democratic candidates for the post at Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills.

About 2 p.m., Lesinski will visit Local 653, UAW-CIO, at 386 E. Kennett St. before a handshaking stint at the Kennett Street gate of the Pontiac Motor Division plant.

★ ★ ★

Lesinski will be at Miracle Mile Shopping Center from 4 to 5 p.m., then attend a dinner with Waterford Township Democrats at the Eagles Hall, 4761 Highland Road.

Swainson's Friday campaigning will begin bright and early at 5:45 a.m. at the gate of the Wixom Lincoln-Mercury plant. At 6:30 a.m. he will breakfast with executives of the plant.

The governor seeking re-election to a second term will then move on to Southfield to greet workers at the Michigan Bell Telephone Office on Northwestern Highway in Southfield at 7:30 a.m., and then address some 300 employes at the nearby Standard Oil Regional office at 10:30 a.m.

Registrations Up by 2,758

A preliminary tally of registered voters in Pontiac today showed the recent drive for voter registrations picked up about 2,758 new registrations.

City Clerk Olga Barkeley said that was apparently the number of new registrations taken since Sept. 10 in her office, at area schools, a mobile registration unit downtown and other field units.

"This figure doesn't represent transfers and there is still the possibility that some of the new registrations are duplicates of those already in our files," she explained.

The last official count in March showed 36,634 registered voters in Pontiac. This plus the preliminary new registration figures totals about 39,392.

For the last nonpresidential gubernatorial election in 1958 the count was 38,619.

Registered voters in Pontiac in Nov. 1960 totaled 41,591.

But U. S. Ready — Bobby

Crisis Looms in Berlin

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says there may be a great crisis in Berlin within a few weeks but the United States is ready for it.

In a speech billed as a major policy address at the American Legion national convention Tuesday night, Kennedy did not specify what type of troubles there might be.

"But the determination and unity of this country to maintain our position in West Berlin is apparent," he said. "American military strength has increased and we face that possible crisis with confidence.

"Khrushchev knows without any doubt that we are prepared to defend our vital interests and those of the West with all the force at our command."

Earlier FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover told the Legion that the Soviet Union and its satellites have 925 official personnel in this country, and that an estimated 70 to 80 per cent are engaged in espionage.

"From 1950 through 1960," Hoover said, "21 officials of the Soviet Union alone were declared persona non grata or otherwise asked to leave the United States because of flagrant activities detrimental to this country.

Field's Fine for Series Contest

JACK SANFORD

From Our News Wires

NEW YORK — Commissioner Ford Frick and the umpires inspected Yankee Stadium today and said the field was in "good condition" for the once-postponed fifth game of the World Series between the champion New York Yankees and the San Francisco Giants.

★ ★ ★

There were scattered clouds over the stadium but the weather seemed to be clearing and Frick said the game would go on barring a deluge.

The fifth game was postponed yesterday because of rain. It rained most of yesterday and early this morning.

★ ★ ★

This 1962 World Series, delayed first by the playoff for the National League pennant and then by yesterday's rain, is all even at two games each.

★ ★ ★

The same two pitchers scheduled yesterday — righthanders Ralph Terry of the Yankees and Jack Sanford of the Giants — were scheduled to go at it to determine who will be leading when the series resumes in San Francisco Friday.

★ ★ ★

Thursday will be an open day for travel.

The tarpaulin covering the infield was taken off about 9:30 a.m. (Pontiac time).

Frick said the outfield was in good shape because of the effective drainage system at the big ball park. There was some dampness in foul territory between home plate and the dugouts.

Asked whether a World Series game would count if 4' or 5 innings were played and then rain washed out remaining play, Frick said yes.

★ ★ ★

"It's in the rules," said the commissioner.

Investigate Mishap to Missile

EAGLE, Neb. (UPI) — The Strategic Air Command (SAC) today investigated an apparent accident which damaged an Atlas Missile in an underground wilo launching site near here.

The missile, which is capable of carrying a thermonuclear warhead, sprang a leak in its fuel tank area last night, SAC said.

SAC said no one was injured, but a board of officers was appointed to look into the incident.

The missile was at site No. 2 of the 551st Strategic Missile Squadron on U.S. 54, 20 miles west of Lincoln, Neb.

Fire fighting equipment and the Nebraska Safety Patrol were called to standby duty at the scene and a convoy of 12 vehicles, carrying technicians, was summoned from Lincoln Air Force Base.

The Atlas is an intercontinental ballistic missile with a range of 5,000 miles. It can be armed with the largest thermonuclear warhead, according to the Air Force. There was no indication whether the damaged missile was armed.

The largest warhead in the American nuclear weapon pool is 50 megatons, equaling the power of 50 million tons of TNT.

LANSING (UP) — The way cleared by a state attorney general's ruling, the Michigan Department of Public Instruction yesterday took first steps toward creation of county education programs for the severely retarded.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, superintendant of public instruction, said a letter, explaining the law which allows special appropriations for such programs, will be sent to school officials throughout the state.

In addition, he said, regional meetings for school officials to discuss the programs will be scheduled in the near future.

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, in a ruling last week, said county school districts, under state supervision, can establish their own training programs for severely retarded persons who cannot qualify for education under regular programs for which the legislature provides funds.

Kelley said the legislature, although setting special education funds at a $12 million limit in its 1962 school aid funds outlay, amended the measure to permit counties to obtain additional funds for special training from the general school aid fund.

75 PCT. LIMIT

Such spending would be limited to 75 per cent of the total cost of the program with the other 25 per cent coming from the counties' own general or special education funds.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Bartlett said he asked for Kelley's ruling after receiving numerous inquiries from educators about the meaning of the amendment and the possibility of establishing special education programs for severely retarded.

★ ★ ★

Kelley's interpretation of the amendment was that the Department of public instruction may set up "reasonable rules and regulations" to govern the programs carried out by counties with, or independently of, local school districts within their borders.

Elderly Told: Beware of Sales Pitches

LANSING (UP) —Atty. General Frank J. Kelley has issued a special warning to senior citizens to beware of fraudulent and high-powered sales pitches.

"The special needs of the elderly for dignified employment, for companionship, for security and for medical and hospital care make them easy prey, in many instances, for unprincipled operators who play on the fears and hopes of the elderly," Kelley said.

"The retirement paradise that sounds too good to be true usually is just that," Kelley declared as he warned oldsters against high-sounding out-of-state real estate offers.

★ ★ ★

Out-of-state insurance offers, "particularly those describing low-cost, no-examination coverage for medical and hospital care for those past 60," should be looked at carefully, the attorney general warned.

He said the elderly should be careful about offers "to set you up in businesses involving vending machine or franchise factors, especially where the offer comes from out of the state."

Prescription Too Late

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) — Ray Frost, 72, died of a heart attack yesterday while waiting for a prescription for his coronary condition.

Jobless Rate Falls, Relief Load Stays

DETROIT (UP) — A drop in the number of jobless so far hasn't appreciably dented Detroit's relief load.

Robert J. Temple, welfare official, said yesterday the relief load still is more than 12,000 cases. But he commented there is always a lag of two or three months in the reflection of employment trends on welfare loads.

The latest Michigan Employment Security Commission report shows Detroit has 74,000 jobless as against 121,000 last March. The number on Detroit's welfare rolls has declined gradually in the same period.

Red Paper Pushing for Productivity

MOSCOW (UP) — Pravda demanded today that Communist party organizers and plant managers speed up labor productivity to narrow the gap between the Soviet Union and the United States.

For the first three years of the current seven-year plan, the Communist party paper said, productivity increased by 18 per cent in industry and 23 per cent in building.

Now, the paper claimed, Soviet labor productivity equals that of German, French and British labor, but it still lags behind that of the United States.

Builder Drops Unsafe Charges

A Pontiac contractor who two months ago charged "defective workmanship and planning" in construction of the new Oakland County Courthouse wing no longer claims the building is unsafe.

★ ★ ★

But, Ralph M. Wood, owner of R. M. Wood Co., is still seeking through court action to collect some $3,600 he claims is owed him for extra work he was asked to perform on the wing because of construction defects.

Arthur Robbins of Detroit, Wood's attorney, said: "We don't think he can honestly say now that there is anything about the structure that constitutes a hazard to life and limb."

George Kimber, the county's engineer at the construction site, agrees that the building is safe. There were some problems, he says, but they were corrected.

The main problem was a twisted I-beam, according to Kimber.

Wood first brought suit against the county, the general contractor (Bundy Construction Co. of Pontiac), and a subcontractor (Economy Welding & Fabricating Co. of Pontiac) Aug. 17.

At that time he charged that structural defects, if not corrected immediately, could cause injury or damage to the building or its occupants and asked for a Circuit Court injunction to halt work on the wing.

★ ★ ★

Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland denied the injunction request and dismissed the case Sept. 4. He ruled that Wood had presented no evidence to support his charges.

Typhoon Damages Jap Weather Post

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese weather bureau said typhoon Emma hit Marcus Island with 121-mile center winds today and badly damaged its observation post there.

★ ★ ★

The meteorological agency said there were no reports of any casualties among the 37 Japanese weathermen station on Marcus, 700 miles southeast of Tokyo. They are the island's only inhabitants.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. Air Force said Emma was moving northeast at 15 miles an hour. It reported another typhoon, Freda, was 1,000 miles north of Wake Island with maximum winds of 75 miles an hour and moving northeast.

Paper Tells Politicians to Have Better Manners

New Building Code Slated for Adoption

A new and updated basic building code, introduced at last weeks Pontiac City Commission meeting, is slated for second reading and adoption at tonight's meeting.

The new code is the 1962 version of the Basic Code of the Building Officials' Conference of America. Pontiac's present building ordinance is the 1950 version of that code.

In other business four public hearings are scheduled on proposed public improvement projects while cost estimates are to be presented on another.

Two hearings are being continued. These involve the city's plans for curb and gutter and blacktop repair on Waldo Street and the special assessment roll for a similar project on part of Green Street.

★ ★ ★

The other hearings are on special assessment rolls for curb and gutter replacement on part of Mill Street and sidewalk construction on a portion of Luther Street.

Cost estimates will be given for proposed sidewalk construction on the south side of Columbia Avenue, west line of Lot 658 Buena Vista Heights Subdivision to Carlisle, and on Carlisle Avenue to the south line of Lot 658.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners will also be asked to approve a requested change of ownership and location of a 1961 tavern license owned by Louis Koprince Jr. and Julius K. Koprince at 18 S. Perry St.

The request is for transferring ownership to Paul L. Spadafore and location to 856 Oakland Ave.

Action is also slated on another request to transfer ownership of a 1962 tavern license located at 18 N. Perry St. from Jack Greenwood to Raymond Bowhall.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners will also be asked to support in principal and theory a Homestead Act drafted and adopted by the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council.

The measure to be forwarded to the state legislature for consideration, provides certain tax exemptions for senior citizens.

FBI Head, Bobby Due at Parley

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy and Federal Bureau of Investigation Chief J. Edgar Hoover headlined today's program at the 44th national convention of the American Legion.

Hoover, who also keynoted the organization's 42nd national convention at Miami Beach, Fla., in 1960, was scheduled to speak at the afternoon session in Convention Center. The attorney general's address was set for this evening at the national commander's dinner for distinguished guests in the Flamingo Hotel.

National Commander Charles L. Bacon of Kansas City, Mo., officially opens the convention this morning in colorful ceremonies at this desert gambling resort's modernistic Convention Center near the famed Las Vegas Strip.

Man Pleads Guilty in Embezzling Case

A Pontiac man yesterday pleaded guilty before Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams to a charge embezzling some $155 from a Waterford Township supermarket he once managed.

★ ★ ★

Homer T. Harrison, 27, of 51 Mohawk St., was charged with taking the money from Food Town Supermarket, 2135 Dixie Highway, in January while he was manager of the store.

★ ★ ★

Police said about $1,100 had been embezzled altogether.

Harrison will be sentenced by Judge Adams Oct. 23.

Auto Mishap Injures Man

A 23-year-old Waterford Township man is in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital after losing control of his car on a Pontiac street last night and smashing into a tree stump.

Oliver A. Fendley, 1251 Hospital Road, suffered fractured ribs in the accident in front of 1036 Cloverlawn Street.

Pontiac police said Fendley was driving south on Cloverlawn shortly after 8 p.m. when his car left the road, first hitting a culvert and a mailbox.

Plans to Widen Part of M59 Are Revealed

ONE COLOR
MAKE OVER PAGES

Plans to widen M59 from Elizabeth Lake Road to Pontiac Municipal Airport next year were revealed at last night's City Commission meeting by City Manager Robert A. Stierer.

★ ★ ★

The M59 widening project was included in a progress report to commissioners on Michigan State Highway Department plans for Pontiac's perimeter road and E. Huron Street extension.

Stierer and city officials had met earlier this week with Howard Hill, managing director of the highway department and assistant to Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie and other department officials.

The major part of Stierer's report revolved around the latest tentative time tables for perimeter road and M59 (E. Huron) extension projects in the city. Both have been moved back from earlier estimates.

NEXT SUMMER

"The plan for M59 west of Pontiac, according to Hill, calls for widening the highway from two to four lanes from Elizabeth Lake Road to the airport next summer," Stierer explained.

"They tentatively plan to let contracts on June 12," he added.

Due to unexpected delays in right-of-way acquisition for the perimeter road, that project has been delayed several months, Stierer reported.

Highway department officials told Stierer they now have about 80 per cent of the right-of-way properties under option.

"Construction should be under way early next year," Stierer said.

★ ★ ★

The vital M59 extension, linking the perimeter road with the I75 freeway to the east, now seems destined for construction in 1964 instead of 1963.

"Now it is estimated that the portion from the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Belt Line tracks to the I75 freeway will go under contract in the first quarter of 1964," Stierer noted.

"The portion from the railroad tracks to perimeter road is tentatively slated for the third quarter of 1964."

The link is estimated to cost some $3.5-million.

★ ★ ★

With respect to progress on the I75 freeway north and east of Pontiac, Stierer told commissioners that by Dec. 1 they "should be able to drive out Walton Boulevard, get on the freeway and drive all the way to the Straits of Mackinac."

Jabs Fly in 1st Hot Debate

THEY SMILE AT FIRST — George Romney and Gov. John B. Swainson manage smiles as they pose together before their television debate last night in Detroit. The smiles vanished when they hotly debated state issues in their campaigns.

Job Figures 'Misleading,' Says Romney

Governor Raps Back, Reviews GOP Man's Rejection Record

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. Swainson and his Republican opponent, George Romney, clashed verbally over tax programs, leadership and the condition of Michigan's economy last night in the first of three televised debates.

Sarcasm and sharply worded verbal jabs punctuated the half-hour show. The protagonists, who shoo

The protagonists, who shook hands before the debate, didn't say a word to each other after it was over.

On the issue of the state of the states' economy, Swainson and Romney both implied that the other was telling something less than the truth.

"It's time to call a spade a spade," said Romney as he branded as "misleading" the governor's claim that unemployment in Michigan has fallen to its lowest total in nine years.

"One of the first casualties in any campaign is truth," declared Swainson after Romney said that Michigan has not been keeping pace with national economic progress.

★ ★ ★

"I will state, and I will have it backed up," Swainson said, "that we have more people employed in the State of Michigan today than we had employed last year, and this is a matter of record."

But Romney said Swainson's assertions about Michigan employment were "dangerously misleading."

He contended that since Swainson took office in January 1961, 126,000 people in Michigan "either moved out of Michigan or dropped out of the work force simply because they couldn't find a job."

HARD, COLD FACTS

Adding the 126,000 who gave up trying to find a job to the 140,000 still out of work, Romney said, makes 266,000 people on the basis of the work force when the governor took office.

"That would represent 9.2 per cent of the work force, or one out of every 11," the former American Motors president asserted.

"The hard, cold facts are that Michigan has not been keep-

NEW GMC MODEL — This DBI 7,000 is one of several new models added to GMC Truck's line of vehicles for 1963. It features a 90-inch cab for high maneuverability and is powered by an in-line 6 diesel engine.

'63 GMC Trucks Arrive

The 1963 line GMC trucks introduced today feature advanced suspension and frame designs, V6 engine refinements and mechanical and electrical improvements.

★ ★ ★

In announcing the new models, Calvin J. Werner, vice president of General Motors and general manager of GMC Truck and Coach Division, said newness has been combined with the product continuity established by the introduction of the exclusive GMC Truck V6 gasoline engines in 1960.

"Our truck engine leadership is continued with a new economy version of the V6, and engineering improvements in all our V8 and Twin-Six powerplants that provide an even higher efficiency level," Werner said.

The new engine is the 305E which is standard in the light-duty line. Its new three-ring pistons, along with a refined cooling system, assure important fuel savings, according to the general manager.

Heading the list of chassis improvements in the light line are coil spring independent front suspension, ladder-type frames and tapered roller-front wheel bearings.

OPTIONAL FEATURES

Power steering is also available for light duty models. Other optional equipment includes a two-speed automatic transmission called the "Pow-R-Flo," and a new heavy-duty, three-speed transmission.

★ ★ ★

In medium-duty models, a major advance is a new I-beam front axle with varirate leaf springs.

Spring deflection is proportioned to the load, giving a good ride under all conditions.

Ladder-type frames go along with this suspension.

Models having 90-inch cabs are the most highly developed in the Division's history, said Werner.

★ ★ ★

The newest addition to this series is the DBI7000 and companion model, the DBWI7000. Both are powered by in-line six-cylinder engines.

The tandem-axle DBWT7000, as all other tandems and many other regular heavy-duty models, has triple-insulated wiring for maximum protection.

Prayers by Clergy Pierce Iron Curtain

VATICAN CITY (AP)—With Roman Catholic prelates from around the world gathering for the 21st ecumenical council, prayers were said today for Catholics beyond the Communist Iron Curtain.

At a solemn ceremony in the Basilica of St. Mary Major, Juan Cardinal Landazuri Ricketts, archbishop of Lima, Peru, said the "church of silence" would participate in the spiritual victory that would result from a successful council.

"The church of silence" is the name given by the Vatican to its faithful in Communist lands. Relations between the church and the Communist countries contributed a somber note on the eve of the council opening Thursday in St. Peter's Basilica.

★ ★ ★

There was an air of expectation and hope for the meeting that will bring together 5,600 cardinals, archbishops, bishops and other prelates. It is the church's first general conclave in 92 years.

But one great body of prelates was absent.

At least 170 bishops and archbishops in Red-ruled countries did not or could not make the trip to Rome. Only about 30 prelates and their aides had managed the trip.

Many refugees from communism attended the Mass. Cardinal Richelieu celebrated the Mass and preached a sermon that underlined the suffering of Christians through the ages and in Communist countries today.

He said the prayers today were for "mercy to sinners and persecutors, comfort and relief to those who live today most intensely the passion of Christ...light for the souls consecrated to God but impeded in following their ministry...hope for the faithful unable to freely manifest their faith...and for the success of the council."

UKRAINIAN CHORUS

A chorus from the Ukrainian Seminary in Rome sang during the service. The singers were the children of refugees from the Soviet regime.

The fact that some prelates from what the Vatican calls "the church of silence" were allowed to come to the council indicated that Communist leaders felt obliged to make some grudging concessions to Catholic world opinion.

Four prelates from Lithuania arrived by plane Tuesday night. Three bishops from Czechoslovakia were coming by train from Prague.

★ ★ ★

One of the largest Iron Curtain delegations was a group of 11 Polish bishops headed by Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, primate of Poland. The cardinal met Monday with Pope John XXIII for nearly an hour for a detailed discussion on the church's position in Poland.

Polish prelates were allowed to

U. S. Digs In on N-Demands

Prepares to Fend Off Ban Appeals in U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The United States dug in today to fend off small power demands for an uncontrolled moratorium on nuclear testing.

U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson was listed as the first major power speaker in the nuclear test debate of the General Assembly's 109-power political committee this afternoon.

The committee is considered the heart of the United Nations where the hard work of debate is carried out on political topics.

The Soviet Union was listed after Stevenson and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin was expected to be its speaker.

★

Zorin, who is Russia's chief representative here, left last spring to participate in the 17-power disarmament talks at Geneva and went to Moscow before returning here.

TO REPEAT STAND

Stevenson was expected to have little new to say. U. S. sources said he would repeat Washington's position that it will not accept under any conditions a new, uncontrolled moratorium such as that used by Russia to prepare last year's test series.

The United States hoped to wind up the nuclear test debate here quickly and move into the topic of general disarmament.

It hopes to finish the U.N. arms discussion in ample time to resume talks in the 17-nation disarmament committee at Geneva on Nov. 14.

In the assembly itself, the annual policy debate slowly wound toward the end of its four-week course. The general debate now is expected to end Friday with India, as is customary, the last speaker.

County Appearances Set by Candidates

After clashing last night in their first television debate, Gov. John B. Swainson and George W. Romney almost will collide again tomorrow in Oakland County.

But, Romney will be gone again by the time Swainson gets into the county tomorrow night for a 10 p.m. torchlight reception and speech in Milford prior to a full day of campaigning in the county Friday.

It will be Swainson's Democratic running mate, Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, who will compete with Romney for Pontiac's attention tomorrow.

Both Romney and Lesinski will be at the Waldron Hotel, though a few hours apart.

Romney will attend a Pontiac Rotary Club lunch meeting there at 12:55 p.m. Lesinski will have left after a 9 a.m. breakfast with local professional people.

Romney also will speak at a noon luncheon at the North Oakland County Bar Association at the Elks Temple on Orchard Lake Avenue and visit Birmingham, Troy and Rochester in the afternoon. He will be in Oak Park and Southfield in the evening.

TO TOUR IN SOUTH

Swainson's Friday itinerary will take him mostly to communities in the southern half of the county.

Lesinski will tour city offices and the city library from 10 to 10:45 a.m. before an 11 a.m. speech before senior citizens at UAW-CIO Local 594 at 525 East Boulevard South.

The lieutenant governor will attend a noon luncheon for George J. Fulkerson, Democratic candidate for Congress from Oakland County, sponsored by former Democratic candidates for the post at Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills.

About 2 p.m., Lesinski will visit Local 653, UAW-CIO, at 386 E. Kennett St. before a handshaking stint at the Kennett Street gate of the Pontiac Motor Division plant.

★ ★ ★

Lesinski will be at Miracle Mile Shopping Center from 4 to 5 p.m., then attend a dinner with Waterford Township Democrats at the Eagles Hall, 4761 Highland Road.

Swainson's Friday campaigning will begin bright and early at 5:45 a.m. at the gate of the Wixom Lincoln-Mercury plant. At 6:30 a.m. he will breakfast with executives of the plant.

The governor seeking re-election to a second term will then move on to Southfield to greet workers at the Michigan Bell Telephone Office on Northwestern Highway in Southfield at 7:30 a.m., and then address some 300 employes at the nearby Standard Oil Regional office at 10:30 a.m.

Next on the governor's schedule is an appearance at a Royal Oak Township shopping center at Eight

Registrations Up by 2,758

A preliminary tally of registered voters in Pontiac today showed the recent drive for voter registrations picked up about 2,758 new registrations.

City Clerk Olga Barkeley said that was apparently the number of new registrations taken since Sept. 10 in her office, at area schools, a mobile registration unit downtown and other field units.

"This figure doesn't represent transfers and there is still the possibility that some of the new registrations are duplicates of those already in our files," she explained.

The last official count in March showed 36,634 registered voters in Pontiac. This plus the preliminary new registration figures totals about 39,392.

For the last nonpresidential gubernatorial election in 1958 the count was 38,619.

Registered voters in Pontiac in Nov. 1960 totaled 41,591.

But U. S. Ready — Bobby

Crisis Looms in Berlin

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says there may be a great crisis in Berlin within a few weeks but the United States is ready for it.

In a speech billed as a major policy address at the American Legion national convention Tuesday night, Kennedy did not specify what type of troubles there might be.

"But the determination and unity of this country to maintain our position in West Berlin is apparent," he said. "American military strength has increased and we face that possible crisis with confidence.

"Khrushchev knows without any doubt that we are prepared to defend our vital interests and those of the West with all the force at our command."

Earlier FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover told the Legion that the Soviet Union and its satellites have 925 official personnel in this country, and that an estimated 70 to 80 per cent are engaged in espionage.

"From 1950 through 1960," Hoover said, "21 officials of the Soviet Union alone were declared persona non grata or otherwise asked to leave the United States because of flagrant activities detrimental to this country.

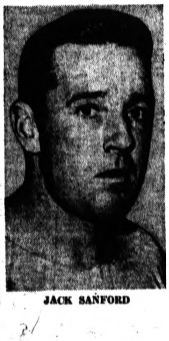
Field's Fine for Series Contest



JACK SANFORD

From Our News Wires

NEW YORK — Commissioner Ford Frick and the umpires inspected Yankee Stadium today and said the field was in "good condition" for the once-postponed fifth game of the World Series between the champion New York Yankees and the San Francisco Giants.

★ ★ ★

There were scattered clouds over the stadium but the weather seemed to be clearing and Frick said the game would go on barring a deluge.

The fifth game was postponed yesterday because of rain. It rained most of yesterday and early this morning.

★ ★ ★

This 1962 World Series, delayed first by the playoff for the National League pennant and then by yesterday's rain, is all even at two games each.

★ ★ ★

The same two pitchers scheduled yesterday — righthanders Ralph Terry of the Yankees and Jack Sanford of the Giants — were scheduled to go at it to determine who will be leading when the series resumes in San Francisco Friday.

★ ★ ★

Thursday will be an open day for travel.

The tarpaulin covering the infield was taken off about 9:30 a.m. (Pontiac time).

Frick said the outfield was in good shape because of the effective drainage system at the big ball park. There was some dampness in foul territory between home plate and the dugouts.

Asked whether a World Series game would count if 4' or 5 innings were played and then rain washed out remaining play, Frick said yes.

House Hits Senate in Financial Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee unanimously approved today a House-passed resolution to put Congress firmly on record for any action needed to uphold allied rights in Berlin.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House was ready today to fire another salvo at the Senate in the prestige fight that already has prolonged this session of Congress to a near-record length.

★ ★ ★

Vehicle for the newest blast is a Senate resolution that would provide emergency financing for the Agriculture Department at least until the next session and perhaps until next June.

House Democratic Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma scheduled as today's first order of business a resolution relating to the Senate proposal.

WORD LEAKS OUT

Leaders leaked the word that the House resolution would, in effect, tell the Senate in polite words to "go to blazes," by refusing to consider the Senate measure.

The position of House leaders is that the Senate resolution, passed last Thursday, amounted to that body originating an appropriation measure.

★ ★ ★

The House long has insisted that it alone can originate money bills, a position with which the Senate violently disagrees. The controversy already has reached the point that five annual appropriation bills for the fiscal year that started more than three months ago still are bogged down on Capitol Hill.

There are no major obstacles to final action on pending money bills other than the agriculture measure. House action on one of them, a $5-billion public works measure, is slated for today.

COULD CONTINUE

If the Senate stands firm and turns down the House resolution for temporary financing of farm programs, the deadlock would tighten and Congress could be held in session indefinitely.

Two other measures are involved in adjournment plans but they could be disposed of rapidly if the prestige fight is settled.

One of them provides tax relief for self-employed persons who set up their own retirement programs. It is on the President's desk and he has until midnight tonight to sign it, veto it or let it become a law without his approval. If there's a veto, congressional backers want to be around to try to override it.

★ ★ ★

The other embattled measure would authorize, but not finance, a big water projects program. It is known as the pork barrel bill. The House voted $2.3 billion for river and harbor and flood control projects scattered all over the nation. The Senate hiked the authorization to around $4 billion and a compromise must be reached if the bill is to be enacted.

COMMEMORATIVE SERVICE — Service commemorating Pope Pius XII, who died four years ago yesterday, is conducted before the cathedral altar, background, in St. Peter's Basilica in Vatican City. travel only after weeks of dispute between the church and the Warsaw government over passports.

The government denied passports to a number of leading churchmen.

Three bishops from another Iron Curtain country, Hungary, were received in audience by Pope John Tuesday. It was the first time since 1948 that a pope had been able to receive a church leader from the nation.

Personal contacts between the Holy See and the church in Hungary were broken after the arrest of the primate of Hungary, Josef Cardinal Mindszenty.

★ ★ ★

Cardinal Mindszenty is the only one of the church's 85 cardinals who will be absent from the ecumenical meeting. Sentenced to life imprisonment by the Communists, he was released during the 1956 revolution. He took refuge five days later in the U.S. Legation in Budapest when Soviet troops crushed the revolt. He has been there ever since.

Rain Blankets Large Portion of United States

By The Associated Press

More rain splashed across sections of the Northeast and the Northwest today but mostly fair skies were reported in other parts of the nation. It was cool in the wet belts, with temperatures in the 40s and lower.

The rain in the Northeast extended from the central and northern Appalachians northeastward. Amounts were light in most areas. In the Northwest, the wet belt extended from western Oregon northeastward into southwestern Montana. Light snow was reported in the higher northern Rockies.

Thunderstorms broke out along a line across Florida to Texas. About one inch of rain fell in New Orleans in a one-hour period.

Quake Jolts Iran Town

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — A severe earthquake rocked the town of Fasa, 500 miles south of Tehran today, creating a panic. No damage or casualties were reported.

Harass Negro at Ole Miss

No Effort Made to Harm Meredith

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 6,000 more regular Army troops will begin moving out of the University of Mississippi tension area today, the Army announced.

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — White students harassed James Meredith at just about every step the Negro took yesterday on the University of Mississippi campus.

★ ★ ★

A stocky youth even pushed past a U.S. marshal walking with Meredith and shook his finger in Meredith's face. "Nigger, you better watch out," he said.

No effort was made to physically harm the 29-year-old Air Force veteran whose forced admission touched off bloody rioting Sept. 30 and a rowdy demonstration Monday night.

The campus was relatively quiet last night, many of the students attending a performance of "Mark Twain Tonight" featuring Broadway actor Hal Holbrook.

Meredith had indicated he might attend the performance but he did not put in an appearance.

★ ★ ★

A crowd of about 50 students milled outside the campus cafeteria last night while Meredith was eating but there was no repetition of the jerring, rock-throwing scene of Monday night.

Meredith said he was not very hungry. He ate quickly and left with his escort of marshals.

There were several taunts from the students as Meredith and the marshals drove away. Then the crowd dispersed. A jeep containing three soldiers followed the Meredith car.

★ ★ ★

The Army announced in Washington yesterday that another 5,900 troops in the Oxford area were being sent back to their home bases and about 900 National Guardsmen were being released.

This left a force of about 7,000 soldiers and 2,000 National Guardsmen in the area.

Rockets Fired by U.S.—Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — The Armed Forces Ministry today accused a U.S. jet fighter of firing nine rockets into Cuban territory west of the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo.

A communique said the rockets were fired at 9 a.m. yesterday over a populated zone near Matabajo, but there were no casualties.

(A Havana radio broadcast heard in Key West, Fla., said the rockets were of a type used in Air Force practices.)

★ ★ ★

The Castro government has charged U.S. aircraft with 180 violations of Cuban air space since July 1, but this was the first time a plane was accused of firing.

COMMUTER CAMPAIGNING — Republican candidate for governor George W. Romney boards the train at the Bloomfield Hills station of Grand Trunk Western shortly after 7 a.m. today to try out a new idea in campaigning. Romney talked with commuters from Oakland County communities as they rode to their jobs in downtown Detroit.

Swainson, Romney Lose Smiles on TV

ing pace with national economic progress," he repeated.

Swainson said, however, that there are 280,000 more jobs in Michigan now than there were in March of 1961.

"Ninety-five out of every 100 people in our working force are working," he added. "These are facts, not just talk."

The governor criticized Romney on what he said was his record of political leadership.

"He wanted to be president of the constitutional convention," Swainson said, "and he was turned down by his own political party. He supported another man to be the president and again he was turned down.

"He said he would seek a model constitution but before it was over, he had joined with the reactionary forces . . . and sold out in a smoke room deal."

Swainson said Romney lost a battle for leadership of the Republican organization in Grosse Pointe's 14th District to former John Birch Society leader Richard Durant.

"Twice he has asked the citizens to follow his leadership and twice he has abandoned them to further his own political ambition," Swainson contended.

Romney said Swainson's working relationship with the Legislature "couldn't be much worse, and we know that the nation still thinks of Michigan as a problem state."

The major issue of the campaign, Romney said, "is which of us can provide the best leadership which will produce results in meeting the needs of Michigan's people."

The GOP candidate said Swainson got his tax reform program from the Citizens for Michigan organization, which Romney headed before running as a delegate to the constitutional convention.

But the governor said the organization was only one of several groups he consulted before drawing up his own fiscal program.

Swainson won the toss of a coin before the debate opened and chose to speak first. Each candidate made a four-minute opening statement.

These were followed by questions from the moderator, James Clark, news director of WWJ-TV. Then the nominees were allowed two minutes each for rebuttal or summation.

Insurance Plan Near for Aged?

LANSING (AP) — The Detroit News said today State Insurance Commissioner Sherwood Colburn is encouraging creation of a new health insurance plan for older persons.

The newspaper said it had learned that representatives of a dozen insurance companies doing business in Michigan will meet tomorrow in Battle Creek to discuss the new health plan for persons over 65 years old.

Similar plans are in effect in Connecticut, New York and Massachusetts. Such a plan would complete with the Blue Cross-Blue Shield programs of prepaid medical insurance, the paper said.

The story went on to say:

Colburn will not attend the Battle Creek meeting, but has asked John Panchuk, general counsel for the Federal Life and Casualty Co. and the Wolverine Insurance Co., to organize the meeting preside.

★ ★ ★

The insurance commissioner was quoted as saying that he hoped a new health plan for older persons would result.

Any such plan would require special action by the legislature to exempt it from federal anti-trust laws.

Any such plan would require special action by the legislature to exempt it from federal anti-trust laws.

As conceived by Colburn, the newspaper said, the plan would parallel a recently devised policy in Connecticut.

Thirty-two insurance firms conduct that plan, with risks and expenses being assigned in proportion to each company's size.

4 New Members Named to Bloomfield Twp. Unit

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Four new memebrs have been appointed to the Bloomfield Township Planning Commission, Township Supervisor Arno Hulet said today.

Hulet said the new appointees are Chad M. Ritchie of 1234 Covington Road, Herbert Herzberg of 5631 Pebblesbire Road, Robert M. Sinclair of 1052 Rock Spring Road and Carter A. Chamberlain of 4451 Chamberlain Drive.

They replace Robert C. Boyer of 851 Fox Run Road, Howard L. Preston of 1650 Winthrop Road, Stewart F. Schults of 4755 Walnut Lake Road and Edward A. Proctor of 6140 Wing Lake Road.

Sinclair and Chamberlain were named to two-year commission terms. Herzberg was appointed for three years and Ritchie for one.

Retained as commission members were Fred Chapman of 4726 Pickering Lane, Andrew Snively of 1433 Kirkway Road and Robert A. Reid of 344 Tilbury Road.

Hulet said the Township Board also has accepted petitions which ask for installation of sanitary sewer lines to serve two commercial areas on Telegraph Road.

The supervisor estimated that public hearings would be scheduled in about three weeks for sewers at Telegraph and Maple roads and at Telegraph and West Long Lake roads.

The Metropolitan Auxiliary of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills will take part in two fund-raising events during the next two weeks to aid the Pendrickton Nursery for Visually Handicapped Children in Taylor Township.

Proceeds from an auxiliary-sponsored rummage sale will go to the nursery. The sale will start at 8 a.m. Friday at 292 Park St.

On Oct. 19, the auxiliary will join local Lions' clubs, the Birmingham Women's Club and all Metropolitan Clubs in the area for a "Tag Day" sale to aid the nursery.

Twenty minutes after the drill ended, they were still trying to get back to work. The six elevators were shut down during the drill.

FRANK J. STARZEL

Wire Service Names Head

AP Official Succeeds Retiring GM

NEW YORK (AP) — Wes Gallagher, assistant general manager of the Associated Press since 1953, today was named general manager by the Board of Directors.

He succeeds Frank J. Starzel, whose retirement, effective at the end of this week, was announced Tuesday night.

Gallagher, 51, has been with the AP for 25 years, starting in Buffalo. He was a war correspondent during World War II, and was chief of bureau for Germany from 1945 to 1951, when he was recalled to New York as a general executive in charge of personnel.

In 1953, as assistant general manager, he also took over direction of AP Newsfeatures.

Starzel had been chief executive officer of the worldwide news service for 14 years.

The AP's board of directors, holding its regular fall meeting here, announced that it "reluctantly accepts (his) own carefully considered decision." The board is expected to name his successor today.

Starzel, 58, joined the AP in He plans to retire to his farm near South Londonderry, Vt.

His announcement followed by two weeks that of Executive Editor Alan J. Gould, after 21 years in the AP's top news post. Gould, who joined the AP in 1922, will retire next Feb. 1 at 65.

REASONED OUT

Starzel reminded the board at its meeting Tuesday that his decision was "based on reasons of which the president of The Associated Press was informed three years ago, to be effective upon the completion of several major projects then being undertaken."

"With the contemplated developments nearing completion," he continued, "I am convinced this is the appropriate time for a successor to carry forward."

U.S. Might Help Ransom Cubans

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The American taxpayer apparently will have to pay a share of the bill if prisoners taken in the abortive Cuban invasion are released.

★ ★ ★

Members of Congress who have been kept up to date on the progress of negotiations between New York attorney James B. Donovan and Prime Minister Fidel Castro for an exchange of 1,113 men captured in the April 1961, fiasco indicated they expect emergency funds to be used.

There have been reports that the Central Intelligence Agency would come up with some of the money. But a Congress member in a position to know said he does not believe any final decision has been made.

Castro has asked for payment of $62 million for release of the prisoners. Donovan is attempting to work out an agreement for the furnishing of food and medicine to Cuba in return for their release.

DOUBT CAPABILITY

Some members of Congress said they do not believe a private organization such as the Cuban Prisoners Committee could come close to raising any such sum as $62 million or could assemble food and medicine valued at that amount.

This leads them to the assumption that government supplies and money will be utilized to seal any barter bargain.

Castro told the Cuban people last night for the first time that Russian military "technicians" are stationed in their country.

★ ★ ★

In a speech broadcast by radio Havana, Castro reiterated the familiar charge that the United States is preparing to invade Cuba. He said "it is for defense that we got these weapons and those technicians."

He scoffed at reports that he is importing Soviet weapons and thousands of Russian "technicians" to defend his revolutionary regime against the Cuban people.

Castro's appearance at a mass meeting welcoming President Oswaldo Dorticos back from New York interrupted his negotiations with Donovan for the release of the invaders.

Donovan hoped the negotiations, which have been reported approaching a satisfactory conclusion, would be renewed today.

★ ★ ★

A word of caution was injected by informed Washington sources into speculation that the prisoners' release was imminent.

These sources said there still were some possible barriers to an agreement and warned that premature disclosure of negotiation details could make those barriers more difficult to surmount.

And NATO Proves It

Captain Tells Big Fish Story

PLYMOUTH, England (UPI) — NATO officials came to the aid of fishing Capt. Stanley Drake today and confirmed he had made one of the biggest catches on record —a submarine.

Drake had told skeptical friends that he was reeling in his trawler nets off Plymouth Monday when he felt a huge strain on the winch.

He pulled harder and pretty soon up popped a Danish submarine, thoroughly enmeshed.

NATO officials said the submarine had been lying off Plymouth during a NATO sea exercise and Drake's nets wrapped around its superstructure.

Rather than rip the nets, the sub captain decided to surface and give the fisherman the surprise of his life.

The two skippers exchanged apologies, the sub submerged and Drake went back to smaller game.

Dems Attacked on Constitution

Roberts Blasts Rivals of Document

State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Pontiac, yesterday blasted Michigan Democrats for opposing the state's proposed new constitution only because Republicans produced it.

Roberts backed his charge that Democratic opposition to the document is "narrow partisanship" by citing support for the new constitution by the nonpartisan citizen groups who spearheaded the drive for a constitutional convention.

"Michigan Democrats have said the educational provisions in the new constitution are steps backwards," he said, "Yet, the Michigan Education Association declares the provisions are vast improvements over the old.

"Michigan Democrats also say the judicial article is also a step backwards. However, a committee of the State Bar of Michigan says the judicial article is a vast improvement."

★ ★ ★

Roberts charged that Democrats are against the provisions that all judges be elected on a nonpartisan basis "because of this loss of a particularly attractive partisan political plum."

All of the nonpartisan groups who fought for con-con — League of Women Voters, Junior Chamber of Comtlerce, Parent-Teacher Association, MEA, American Association of University Women, Michigan Municipal League and Citizens for Michigan — "agree that while not perfect in every form, the proposed new constitution is far superior to the antiquated 1908 document," Roberts said.

He added that other large influential groups such as the Farm Bureau also support the new constitution.

Con-con was a mandate of the people, Roberts said, as was the election of 99 Republican and 45 Democratic delegates.

★ ★ ★

"It must be pretty obvious that the only reason the Democrats are against the constitution is because it was the Republicans who were capable of producing superior government in the form of a superior constitution," he said.

Spanish Censorship 'Almost Disappeared'

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Spanish Information Minister Manuel Frager Iribarne said yesterday that press censorship has "almost disappeared in Spain."

He said this was "an experiment which will be replaced by new liberalized press law aimed toward throwing public opinion into greater relief."

GOLDEN AUTUMN — Raw color is inundating the countryside all over Michigan. Those who haven't already toured the varied rural routes of leaf-strewn Oakland County have only a few days before rain or winds bare the trees for the winter.

Brilliant Fall Colors Make County Beautiful

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Beautiful Oakland County (named for its mighty oaks) is once again in the midst of brilliant fall colors — reds, yellows, browns arching high overhead and carpeting the ground.

Despite this week's leaf-stripping dampness, there is still an abundance of color, particularly on back roads. For those who love nature — now is the time to hop in the car and GO.

One of the most scenic color tours in the county takes you to historic Franklin Village — "The Town That Time Forgot."

From the moment you leave Orchard Lake Road going south onto Middlebelt Road, there is color-interest everywhere.

Big homes spotted "naturally" among the sightly rolling hills are surrounded by flaming red salvia, and all types of full-flowered chrysanthemums.

Turning west onto Long Lake Road, then a mile down to Franklin Road, you seem to "pop" up over a hill to see below the famous old Franklin Cider Mill.

REAL BEAUTY STARTS

Leaving Franklin Road and heading west on 14-Mile Road, the pavement ends at Drake Road but real beauty starts. Hundreds of old maple trees are enfolded in orange, red and yellow.

On either side of the road "trees in apple orchards with fruit are bending down."

Suddenly you are at the Walled Lake roller coaster.

Heading north around the lake to Pontiac Trail, yellow-leaved willow trees bending over the water seem to be hanging onto the shoreline for dear life.

Pontiac Trail is a riot of color all the way to Grand River. Stay on Grand River and turn right into Kensington Park to see the vivid colors of giant red oaks reflecting in the lake.

Stop at the several high lookout points and see a panorama of autumn in all it's glory.

INTERESTING GADGETS

The Nature Center, with its narrow walking trails, bird feeders and interesting gadgets inside the building, brings an individual closer than ever to the outdoor beauty.

Driving north on the nearby Milford Road into Milford, bright red sumac is everywhere.

One mile north of Milford, Weaver Road connects with Cooley Lake Road. East to Ford Road, huge maple trees form an arch over the narrow winding Ford Road which eventually leads to scenic highland Recreation Area.

After a quick trip through the heavily wooded state park, head east on Highland Road to Teggerdine Road then north into the Pontiac Lake Recreation Area.

At the end of the road, turn right on White Lake Road and head into Clarkston. The magnificent old homes and mill pond are shaded by gigantic elms, maples and oaks.

Just outside of Clarkston go east on Waldon to Baldwin. At the north end of Baldwin turn right on Indianwood into lake-dotted Lake Orion.

Turn north on the Lapeer Road into Oxford then right on Lakeville Road into the popular resort town of Lakeville.

Lakeville Lake is located like brilliant gelatin in a deep salad bowl.

It's a natural lake — deep, clear and beautiful.

The trip south on the Rochester Road, west on Stoney Creek Road then south on Orion Road is a sight to behold.

This leads into the town of Goodison, where another old cider mill welcomes visitors.

From Goodison, drive south to Rochester and west on Walton Boulevard, back to Pontiac.

Operation UP in Escanaba

Harden, Cisler Stress Working Together

ESCANABA (UP)— Cooperation and coordination were stressed anew as "Operation Progress — UP" passed through Escanaba, a city that has managed on its own to lessen the economic pinch which has plagued most of Michigan's Upper Peninsula in recent years.

Mayor Harold Vandlerberghe conceded this Lake Michigan port "needs a little new blood" in welcoming civic leaders from both peninsulas to the second of six meetings scheduled this week to marshal a concerted drive for economic rejuvenation in this north country.

Dr. Edgar Harden, president of Northern Michigan College, said, "You've got to have a team to get results," and Walker Cisler, president of the Detroit Edison Co., told a jam-packed banquet meeting "results can be accomplished when people work together."

Publisher Jean Worth of the Escanaba Daily Press, acting as master of ceremonies, said that nothing like Operation Progress - UP ever had happened before in the Upper Peninsula to draw people together for work toward a common goal.

UP RIVIERA

While describing Escanaba as the Upper Peninsula's Riviera and extolling assets of neighboring Gladstone and Menominee, publisher Worth pledged his city to work with others in diagnosing the area's economic ills, prescribing remedies and administering massive doses.

Operation Progress-UP moves today to Iron Mountain where the region's agricultural economy will be the subject of discussion.

Appropriately, the theme of the Escanaba stop last night was "Community Development."

City officials quickly pointed out to early-arriving participants in "Operation Progress-UP" Escanaba has managed to do better than merely hold its own.

City Manager George Harvey and others came up with examples of how Escanaba helped itself.

Escanaba already has completed one so-called "Project Pride" and is busily engaged on the second.

In the first, Merchants, industrialists and workers pitched in with cash and labor to build their city a modernistic Chamber of Commerce home and civic meeting place.

Unionists who contributed work on their days off now hold local union meetings in the Chamber of Commerce Building. Merchants threw in furnishings and more of the original $45,000 with which the project was started was left over.

Talk About Problems

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy discussed Berlin and other world problems for more than an hour yesterday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

GM Lab at Milford Unique

MILFORD — A specially designed noise and vibration laboratory here, unique in the automotive industry, was shown yesterday to newspaper and magazine reporters by General Motors.

The laboratory is equipped for scientific study of any type of noise, vibration or stress problem in design and development of GM automative and nonautomotive products.

Situated near the GM Proving Ground Administration Building, the new structure contains 70,000 square feet of laboratory, shop and office space. Half of its staff of 63 hold degrees either in engineering or physics and one-third of the supporting personnel are technical school graduates.

"This facility is the only one of its kind in the United States," said Charles A. Chayne, GM vice president in charge of engineering staff. "Operating as part of the GM Proving Grounds, the laboratory embodies the latest thinking of our own experts in this technically specialized field," Chayne said.

335 PROJECTS

The best indication of the laboratory's importance, he said, is the fact that in 1960, while it was being built, it handled assignments for 30 of GM's 40 divisions and completed 325 projects.

David C. Apps heads the new facility.

Only in rare instances does laboratory promote test work of its own.

Primarily, it concentrates on noise, vibration and stress analysis in the general field of dynamics at a GM division's request or under divisional sponsorship.

Frequently, it offers consulting services and most of its projects are automotive.

For analytical work the laboratory has a two-console analogue computer.

The anechoic (echoless), "dead" or "soft" room has all surfaces, including floor, treated with noise absorbing sound wedges. Engineers setting up tests in the room are supported by portable grill sections which can be removed.

The reverberation room, the antithesis of the anechoic room, is called the "hard" room with its plaster walls.

To minimize standing sound waves, the room is constructed so that no two opposite walls are parallel.

★ ★ ★

Both "hard" and "soft" rooms rest on concrete bases four feet thick with cork and fiberglas insulation under the sand-filled cement block walls and floor slabs, respectively.

★ ★ ★

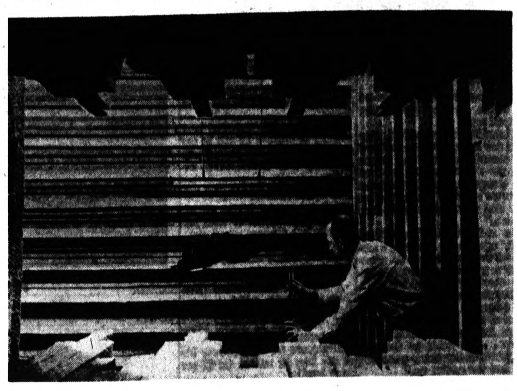
Three car test rooms, two with chassis dynamometers, each with five surfaces (four walls and ceiling) are treated with sound wedges three feet deep.

Engine dynamometers have bed plates mounted in four feet of concrete which, in turn, "float" on two inches of foam rubber.

In addition, the laboratory has a small machine shop, complete rubber molding facilities for developing such items as engine or body mounts and an instrument room for both instrument development and calibration.



MEASURING — In the hush of the anechoic (echoless) room in the new noise and vibration laboratory at General Motors Proving Ground near Milford an engineer positions a microphone to make noise measurements on a passenger car heater. All room surfaces, including the floor, are covered with 30-inch deep fiberglass wedges to absorb sound. Equipment and personnel are supported by removable grilles.

'City Doomed if Motorists Forbidden' cure traffic congestion by forbidding people to use their cars would mean sure death for a city, an auto industry executive said today.

John Dykstra, president of the Ford Motor Co., said critics' suggestions to limit severely or to forbid motor traffic in cities have serious flaws.

These critics, Dykstra said, "Ignore the more than obvious fact that people want to drive their cars. They like the personal freedom to come and go whenever and wherever they want to.

★ ★ ★

"Every time public transportation has been disrupted and people have been forced to drive, fewer have returned to the buses and commuter trains. The fact is that the great majority of people seem to find it more satisfactory to roll their own wheels."

★ ★ ★

Dykstra, addressing a convention of the American Automobile Association, said that to effectively bar traffic from the city "is like effectively barring blood from the heart."

Go Into Effect Jan. 1

New Court Rules to Speed Procedures

By JIM DYGERT

Although the average man suing someone or being sued may not notice it immediately, his lawsuits should be ending sooner and costing less after Jan. 1.

★ ★ ★

On that date the new rules of procedure adopted by the Michigan Supreme Court for 1963 will go into effect in courts throughout the state.

Designed to modernize and simplify court procedures, the new rules are hoped to bring swifter, more efficient and more economical justice by eliminating unnecessary technicalities.

One of the most hallowed traditions of English and American law — the distinction between the law court and the equity court — is among the technicalities to be discarded, according to Pontiac Attorney Dean G. Beier.

COURSE SLATED

Beier is chairman of a four-man committee of the Oakland County Bar Association that has arranged for a four-week course in the new court rules for lawyers at Michigan State University of Oakland beginning Oct. 18.

Although the law court and the equity court may be held before the same judge in the same courtroom under the old system, they have always been legally separate.

Suits for money damages are pleaded in the law court, before a jury if demanded. But actions seeking injunctions, specific performance of contracts and other remedies are filed in the equity (or chancery) court. So are divorces.

★ ★ ★

There are no juries in the equity court unless money damages are also to be determined in a case whose primary issue is at equity.

Discaring this distinction will not only establish a single court for all pleadings, it will also eliminate the equity court argument that plaintiff has not exhausted his remedies in the law side of the court, Beier says.

It also will prevent the ticklish situation where one dispute involves two issues, one in each of the two courts, and the defense is the same for both.

This has raised the question of which court should rule on the validity of the defense first.

DROPPED ELSEWHERE

The equity court came into being centuries ago to decide cases where there was no adequate relief or remedy to an unjust situation through the authority of the law court.

Federal courts and courts of some other states have already discontinued the law-equity separation.

Although this change is a technical one that only lawyers and judges may appreciate, another innovation will be more noticeable.

It will be possible to start suit and gain a judgment in a Michigan court against an out-of-state defendant even when the defendant has never entered Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Under present rules, such defendants would not be served with a summons unless they had entered the state and thereby had come under jurisdiction of Michigan courts through the Secretary of State's office, according to Beier.

Also changed are the rules dealing with appeals to the state supreme court.

There will be no appeal in criminal cases involving jail sentences of less than one year or civil judgments of less than $3,000 unless first obtaining leave to appeal.

The four-week course in the new rules, billed as an "intensive, comprehensive program of instruction" in the "sweeping procedural reforms," will be given two nights a week at MSUO. Fee is $50.

It is one of 13 such courses throughout the state sponsored by the Institute of Continuing Legal Education at University of Michigan, the U. of M. Law School, Wayne State University Law Schol and the State Bar of Michigan.

The county's five Circuit Court judges attended a 12-hour course in the new rules at the September annual meeting of the Michigan Judicial Conference.

They also spent a day last April hearing explanations of the rules by Detroit attorney Jason Honigman.

★ ★ ★

Honigman is a member of the State Bar committee that helped develop the new and Michigan's Revised Judicature Act of 1961 on which they are based.

Urges Aid to Needy of World

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson today called for a worldwide effort to create the skilled manpower necessary to raise the economic level of emerging nations.

"We have learned . . . that capital resources are not enough," Johnson said in a speech prepared for the opening session of a three-day international conference on middle-level manpower. "At the heart of the question is the development of human resources."

Johnson announced that U. S. private enterprise is launching at least two projects for new or expanded training facilities in selected countries with the cooperation of the governments of those areas.

★ ★ ★

But he stressed that the problems of developing manpower "cannot be solved by one country alone or even one group of countries. Cooperation is more than a spur to efficiency. It is a prerequisite with which there is no solution."

The conference, sponsored by the U.S. Peace Corps, has drawn representatives from 43 nations, most of them government officials. Middle-level manpower is described as workers of the foreman level, who are sorely lacking in most of the developing countries.

Drayton Girl in Hospital After Being Hit by Car

Carol Ann Becker, 9, of 6258 Lanman St., Drayton Plains, is in fair condition in Pontiac General Hospital where she was taken yesterday after being struck by a car in Waterford Township.

Ernest Miller, 60, of 6367 Baker St., Drayton Plains, who was driving west on Williams Lake Road about 5 p.m., told police the girl walked in front of his car near Warringham Street.

The girl stated that she had looked both ways before starting across the street and saw no cars coming.

Civic Band Readies 1st Concert of Season

They're Waterford's Music Makers

By JOE MULLEN

One of the liveliest spots in Waterford Township on any given Monday night is the band room at Waterford Kettering High School.

★ ★ ★

While janitors quietly go about their tasks elsewhere in the sprawling, new building, the sound of music fills the air in the west wing from 7:30 to 9:30.

If the harmonious strains are somewhat more pleasing to the ear than when students raise their instruments to play during the day, there's good reason for it.

Monday night is rehearsal time for the Waterford Civic Band. Most of the nearly 40 band members have extensive musical backgrounds, and all are very serious about their musical night out.

The bandsmen come from all walks of life.

There are music teachers, accountants, engineers and businessmen. Their common interest is instrumental music, and they play because they love to play.

Right now they are rehearsing for the first concert of the season scheduled for mid-November.

The group will perform three more concerts by June before dispersing for the summer.

Organized in March 1960 under the sponsorship of the Waterford Township Recreation Department, the band has a dual function. It provides entertainment for the community and offers an outlet for the musical talents of its members.

DANCE BAND

A 14-member dance band an off-shoot of the civic band plays occasionally at school dances.

Fees charged for such performances are turned over to the recreation department to defray expenses of the band program. Players receive no compensation for their efforts.

Membership in the band is not limited to residents of Waterford Township, as the group's name might indicate.

Bill Cheal, city of Pontiac auditor and a trombonist, explained that several people living in Pontiac and other communities outside Waterford Township are members.

"We are always looking for potential band members," he added.

Most in the group have their own instruments. Those who don't may use those furnished by the school system.

★ ★ ★

The band pays a rental fee for use of the school building but instruments owned by the system are available for use gratis.

★ ★ ★

With a month of rehearsal sessions behind them and still about a month of work before the first concert date, the band will be ready when it assembles on the stage of Kettering's gym to launch another concert series.

ARTISTS AT WORK — Rehearsing for the opening concert of the Waterford Civic Band are (from left) George Fetter, trumpet; Betty Dupee, base horn; Bill Cheal, trombone; Doug Byers, clarinet; and band director H. Earl Somerville Jr. The band is beginning its third full season.

Soundproof Surroundings Improve Worker Efficiency

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Excessive noise in business surroundings is said to destroy worker morale, increase errors and slow down production.

★ ★ ★

One company reported that, after soundproofing its offices last year, worker absences were cut down by 37 per cent; resignations by workers were cut by 47 per cent.

Another company claimed that, after soundproofing, the typing errors of secretaries decreased by 30 per cent.

Still another firm, by simply buying n p i s e l e s s typewriters, claimed to improve typing efficiency by 50 per cent.

★ ★ ★

What I cannot understand then is how New York without doubt the noisiest city (since Babel), has the most efficient secretaries, the most bustling salesmen, the top production and the impressive output?

IT'S 'PREGROSS'

Why right now, outside my office building, there is tremendous riveting and blasting in the street.

Am I distrubed?

Hardly.

This is pregross.

Another curious thing about New York: it is possibly the only city in the world where—in peacetime—a man's body can lie for hours on a public street, undisturbed.

★ ★ ★

It is a phenomenon of life (and sometimes death) in New York that never ceases to amaze and horrify out-of-towners.

You can walk down a busy street and see the form of a man lying sprawled across a stoop, or leaning limp against a building. You do not stop. You avert your eyes and pass quickly on.

The man may have had a stroke, but most New Yorkers do not usually consider this possibility because, here, a man on the street is presumed drunk unless proven deceased.

You see, New Yorkers mind their own business. Of all the many attractions in New York, the right to privacy even amid the mob is the most valued by the common man.

And complete privacy is what—sometimes to the very end—he gets.

I interviewed long-time newswoman Adela Rogers St. Johns on the first day of the World Series. Mrs. St. Johns is an ardent Giants fan, so the conversation was fairly shouted over the sound of the TV set.

★ ★ ★

"Oh Billy (to Billy O'Dell, Giants pitcher) , I stopped in a cathedral and lit a candle for you this morning," she proclaimed as the game started. ("I'm not a Catholic," she grinned, "but I think a cathedral's as good a place to pray as any.")

MY GOD, BILLY

The interview proceeded; she talked about her new book; then suddenly, "My God, Billy, you've struck the first two men out! (You know, a lot of people say you shouldn't pray for frivolous things—like sports results—but I think if religion isn't good for everything, it isn't good for anything.")

★

The interview picked up again. We asked if she was religious. "Yes," said Mrs. St. Johns, "very. "My grandfather was a Methodist circuit rider in Arizona, a simple, devout man. But when he died and I was living with my father, we didn't believe in God.

I don't know how we got away, but my father became an atheist. I never could forget, though, and I began to sneak prayers when my father wasn't looking.

"Damnation, Billy!" she interrupted herself, "what's happened?

★ ★ ★

"There is a power of prayer," she went on, "that if you learn to use it properly, will help you all your life. Either we find a spiritual philosophy and learn to love (each other or we're dead."

When the game was over, and O'Dell and the Giants were dead, Mrs. St. Johns was not disillusioned with her religious entreaties.

★ ★ ★

She could only assume that competitive prayers had done a better job for Whitey Ford.

Loose End of Scapple Finally Tied Up

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of Congress are striving mightily to tie up the loose ends of the current session and I want to help them all that I can.

★ ★ ★

In casting about for some way to be of assistance, I ran across a loose end that Rep. Hastings Keith, R-Mass., had left dangling in a House Commerce subcommittee hearing some weeks back.

The hearing involved the "fish flour" controversy and several witnesses made the point that a food which some people might regard as unappetizing is not necessarily unwholesome.

One of the examples cited was scrapple, which was where Keith left the loose end.

"I have always wondered what was in scrapple," Keith mused, "but I never dared find out."

OF STERN STUFF

The other congressmen must have shared his fear because the subcommittee did not pursue the matter further. I, however, am made of sterner stuff.

Never being one to quail when duty called, I set about to learn what I could of the ingredients of scrapple.

If this happens to be one of the loose ends that has been delaying the adjournment of Congress, I am now in position to supply the binding information.

My authority on the subject is Charles P. Rigg of New Castle, Del., who kindly sent me some scraps of scrapple literature along with his own observations. His credentials, I might add, are the very best.

Rigg noted that he is more than 80 years old, giving credit for his longevity to "the blessing of the Almighty" and the fact that he has eaten scrapple for 70 years.

★ ★ ★

It's hard to beat a combination like that.

I was impressed by the seemingly infinite number of ways that scrapple can be prepared; or, if you prefer, disguised. They include baked scrapple, scrapple tomato scallop, scrapple sticks, poached eggs on scrapple, scrapple biscuit roll and something called apple-scrapple.

The variety of preparation apparently is exceeded only by the variety of the ingredients, which include pork stock, corn meal, pork skins, boned pork heads, chopped pork, wheat flour, pork liver, pork fat, pork hearts, pork gullet meat, pork diaphragm meat, pork spleens, pork kidneys, salt and spices and water.

It is, I assume, the water that gives scrapple its distinctive flavor.

Rigg said that "It can be eaten as the main dish at any meal," but it sounds to me more like a dessert.

Iraq Rejects Plan on Arab Question

BEIRUT (AP)—Iraq announced Tuesday it had rejected proposals submitted by Joseph Johnson, representative of the U.N. Palestine Conciliation Commission, for settlement of the Arab refugee problem.

A Foreign Ministry source said Johnson's report cannot be accepted as a basis for discussions.

The statement, broadcast by Baghdad radio and monitored here, said Johnson's aim, according to his report, appears to be to resettle the refugees in Arab countries and liquidate the Palestine question.

Disillusioned Advisers Leave Laos

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

American military advisers departed from Laos this week, victims of their own high ideals, defeated by a way of life understood too late.

It had been the American belief that, given the aid (approximately $300 million since 1955) and their soldiers the proper tools, the Laotians themselves would rise up in defense of their freedoms and turn back a Communist tide sweeping down from the north.

LOTUS-EATING PEOPLE

But it was a belief that reckoned without the people of this lotus-eating land of Buddhist temples, flame trees, palms, rice-paddies and day dreams.

A gun in his hand gave the Laotian no will to kill, nor to defend his land, of which there always had been plenty, nor to preserve a way of life which always had existed and always would.

American advisers were convinced that man-for-man the American-trained Laotian forces were the equal of the Pathet Lao led by the Red Laotian Prince Souphanouvong.

But with disaster closing in, the Americans could advise but not command.

HAD NO HANDICAP

The Communist leadership operated under no such handicap.

Communist North Viet Nam poured in 10,000 hardened and trained Vietminh troops to support the Pathet Lao. And, if defense of freedom would not induce a man to fight, the Communists had other arguments vouched for by Americans who saw them in action.

The Vietminh permitted the Pathet Lao no retreat. An advance involved the risk of being shot. Retreat made it a certainty.

In the final days of frustration, just before the Geneva agreement which declared Laos neutral, this correspondent talked with American military men in Laos, as well as with ambassadors and government officials of neighboring Thailand.

* * *

Officially, there was guarded optimism that Laos could become truly neutral.

Privately, most expressed grave doubts.

* * *

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand said it was only a lesser of evils, and that if neutrality worked at all, it only would be because the United States and Russia guaranteed it. Of this, too, he expressed grave doubts.

Only Russia, he said, could guarantee withdrawal of the 10,000 Vietminh troops, and he doubted that Russia could force its will upon Red China.

TAKING RISK

Others believed the Soviet Union at least would make the attempt. To fail, they said, would mean Russia would forfeit the chance of agreement on other bigger issues, nuclear testing, disarmament and Berlin.

Avtar Singh, Indian chairman of the International Control Commission, believed the United States was taking a necessary but calculated risk.

The extent of that risk daily becomes more apparent.

The control commission has recorded the departure of more than 800 Americans from Laos. It has no similar record of the Vietminh who now are free to join the fight in South Viet Nam or move against the border of Thailand for a new campaign of subversion and infiltration.

Gunman Guilty in Death Case

Detroit Man Sentenced for Chicago Murder

CHICAGO (UPI) — Dana Nash, a hired gunman from Detroit, yesterday was sentenced to 99 to 150 years in prison for the slaying of union official John A. Kilpatrick.

* * *

Nash, 41, was accused of the Oct. 20, 1961, slaying by his nephew, William Triplett, 27, who confessed complicity in the crime and was the state's chief witness.

Judge Alexander J. Napoli of Criminal Court passed sentence and recommended that Nash be denied parole.

The state had sought the death penalty for Nash.

Triplett and Nash were seized by FBI agents in Detroit. After Triplett's confession, the pair was brought separately to Chicago under heavily armed guard.

Triplett said he and Nash were hired by a lieutenant of Angelo Inciso, convicted labor leader now in a federal penitentiary, to beat up Fitzpatrick, who had succeeded Inciso as president of the United Industrial Workers of America. Instead, Triplett said Nash shot Kilpatrick in the back of the head.

* * *

Triplett pleaded guilty to the murder charge and was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Council at Lansing Backs Smut Attack

LANSING (AP) — The Lansing City Council has endorsed police department efforts to halt the sale of obscene literature and so-called "party records" being sold in the city.

* * *

The council Monday endorsed a proposal by Capt. Clarissa Young of the juvenile division of the police department to establish a review board to scrutinize magazines, pocket book publications and other materials suspected of having an immoral influence on readers.

* * *

The council also requested that Capt. Young work with the city attorney to frame an ordinance to enforce the ban.

The investigation of obscene materials also will include foreign films, city officials said.

The Klan's dragon, Calvin F. Craig of Atlanta, said speakers at the rally in Bessemer, a suburb of Birmingham, would include students at the university who would give their version of the incidents.

UAW Local Invites Romney to Session

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers Local 155 today awaited word from Republican gubernatorial nominee George Romney on whether he will accept an invitation to speak Oct. 18 at a meeting of the local's joint council.

* * *

"We are asking Mr. Romney to speak on the issues and on his platform," Robert Mills, Local 155 president, said. "We will ask him also to answer questions of rank and file union members."

* * *

Mills said that up to this time, the local had not been contacted by Romney or his aides. "Therefore, we are cordially inviting him to appear," Mills said.

* * *

He said the invitation had been mailed yesterday. There was no immediate comment from Romney's campaign headquarters.

Backseat Driver Fined

BATH, England (UPI) — Hugh Harris was fined $14 for sitting in the backseat of his car while giving a friend a driving lesson.

Antilitter Ordinance May Go Little Too Far

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — The City Council today is having second thoughts about a proposed antilitter ordinance.

Among other things it would ban driving on streets and alleys with vehicles having muddy tires.

Control Yourself When A Headache Makes You Tense, Irritable

Take the Ingredients 3 out of 4 Doctors Recommend for Headache Pain. In Minutes — the Pain Goes, Also Its Tension and Irritability.

New York, N. Y. — It's a medical fact that pain from a tension headache can make people so irritable and highstrung they lose control of their tempers and take it out on those around them.

That's why tense, nervous headaches call for the stronger yet safer medication in Anacin®. Be sure it's Anacin you take because Anacin is like a doctor's prescription. That is, a combination of ingredients. Anacin goes to work instantly to relieve the pain and its tension and irritability. In minutes you feel great — in control again and all without tranquilizers or narcotics of any kind.

Here's why Anacin gives such fast, long-lasting and more complete relief. Anacin is different and contains extra ingredients missing in aspirin and still missing with buffering. Extra ingredients which 3 out of 4 doctors recommend and which many doctors themselves take when they have headache pain.

It's this big difference in Anacin (the extra medication) that makes the big difference in the way you feel. Anacin Tablets contain no narcotics, do not form a habit or leave one depressed. They do not irritate or upset the stomach.

See if the stronger yet safer medication in Anacin doesn't work better for you!

Most Blue Chip Hikes Fractional

Gains Recorded on Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced in moderate trading early today.

Gains of most key stocks were fractional.

There were wider moves among the higher-priced or more volatile issues.

A 3-point jump by Du Pont bolstered the averages. IBM ran up about 4 points. Gains exceeding a point were scored by Polaroid, Xerox and Crown Cork.

Radio Corp. added another point in continued response to its record quarterly earnings. General Electric was steady and a bit more active than usual following a report by the company of a substantial profits increase and record sales.

Some brokers thought that the market may be headed for a renewed test of this opposite resistance level of about 600 in the Dow Jones industrial average.

The tone was slightly higher among steels, motors, rubbers, chemicals, electrical equipments, oils, tobaccos, electronics and acrospace issues.

Chrysler, up a point, was the best performer among the auto stocks. McDonnell aircraft gained more than a point as it stood out in the space-age issues.

Schering advanced more than a point in a spotty drug section.

Most prices were higher on the American Stock Exchange. Gains were narrow. On the upside were O'Okiep Copper, Pyle National, Molybdenum, Gulton Industries, Draper, Anken Chemical and Syntex.

Government Bonds Move Up

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. government bonds up about 2/32 and intermediates higher by 2-32 to 4/32 in moderate activity. One dealer said the market still had World Series fever.

Corporates traded on the New York Stock Exchange were mixed although utilities shaded upward.

Government prices closed yesterday on the upgrade although most issues retained small losses. They had opened definitely lower in a carry through of Friday's and Monday's setbacks.

Retirees Plan Visit to Plant

More than 200 retired employes of Parke, Davis & Co. will meet tomorrow at the company's main laboratories in Detroit for the firm's 10th annual retired employe reunion.

Eight states and Canada will be represented at the festivities.

Featured will be a visit to departments where the retirees worked, a luncheon and guest speaker and the opportunity to meet fellow retirees.

Those attending the reunion from this area will include Albert Knowles, 1091 Lauderdale St., Birmingham; George Backus, 6710 Weyer Road, and William Knight, 575 Barncraft St., both of Imlay City.

★ ★ ★

Others participating will be Leah Stephens, 21111 Ridgedale St., Oak Park; August Witt, 1488 Clay Road, Romeo; Sarah Burlew, 26880 Lois Lane, Southfield; and Gust Popovich, 4365 Rochester Road, Troy.

★ ★ ★

Representatives from the Rochester area will be Zach Boeberitz, 125 Griggs Road; Henry Gebert, 2873 W. Tienken Road; George Goth, 508 Seventh St.; George Jessop, 1365 Catalpa St.; Clyde Martin, 539 S. Castell St., and Robert Wilson, 1214 N. Main St.

Soybean Futures Drop Fractionally

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures were mostly fractionally lower in early dealings on the board of trade today, while other grains worked narrowly higher.

Excellent combining weather in the soybean area after prolonged recent rains depressed prices of this commodity.

Corn staged a comeback after a two-day decline. Traders said the stimulus was an indication by the Commodity Credit Corp. that it will not presently dispose of surplus corn for export only and not sell it to the domestic market.

Tempest to Go to Shopper

Some shopper in downtown Pontiac Oct. 11-29 will win a brand new 1963 Tempest.

Downtown Pontiac Tempest Days, sponsored by the Downtown Pontiac Business Association, will get underway Thursday evening.

During the sales promotion event, any person visiting a participating store can register for the big prize. No purchase will be necessary. The drawing will be held on Oct. 29.

During the event, the new Tempest will be on display at various locations downtown, and merchants will be offering special values.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

(Q) "I hold 800 shares of Johnson & Johnson. I need more income but want to retain some shares in this company. I find it hard to decide how many shares to hold and what stocks to use as replacements. Do you think Royal Dutch and Lorillard would be good long-term buys? I would appreciate your hold." R. D.

(A) I am very glad to give it. If your J & J Stock represents your entire portfolio, I would keep no more than 100 shares — 12½ per cent — and sell the rest. This is a good holding, but the yield is low and the earnings multiple relatively high.

I do not believe that the entire proceeds of the sale should be reinvested under current conditions. I would put half into stocks, and half into savings account until the market stabilizes.

Royal Dutch and Lorillard both seem to be good long-term buys at present. Others you might consider are Cory Products, Martin-Midland, and Commonwealth Edison.

(Q) "I am married and have adequate cash reserves. I own 300 shares of Allegheny Power System at $15 per share. I would like to switch to a faster growing utility like San Diego Gas & Electric. If I sell APS at 46, my net after taxes is $39 per share. At 39 APS looks better to me than SDG at 32, so I'm hanging on. Is this faulty reasoning or should I switch anyway?" W. P.

(A) I think it is faulty reasoning to get locked into any situation because of the capital gains tax. All too often I have seen clients let substantial gains slip away because they were unwilling to pay this tax.

In the case of Allegheny Power, your capital gains levy would be less than half the price spread of the shares for this year alone. However, regardless of the tax position, I see no particular reason to make the trade. Allegheny is itself a thoroughly sound and growing situation.

Instructor Surrenders

STOCKPORT, England (AP) — A driving instructor abandoned his elderly woman pupil Tuesday with the cry, "This is plain suicide."

Halting the car during a lesson, the instructor bounded out and stalked away. Police were called to drive the woman's car off the highway.

"Apparently he was scared to death," a police spokesman said later. "She would not do anything he told her to."

Steelmen Worried About Price Drop

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—Steelmen are debating the question of prices for the second time in six months.

In April the question was whether prices could be raised. After a trial of a couple of days, it was decided it wasn't politic to raise them.

★ ★ ★

Today the question is whether prices can be maintained.

Most steelmen say they can. They base their hopes on an expected rise of orders for November. Good news from the auto industry is a strong argument. And the high cost of making steel dampens any ardor for competitive price cutting. Most steel executives say prices must go up sooner or later.

RAISED EYEBROWS

But last week saw two developments that have some outside the steel industry wondering.

1. Steel production turned down after a three-weeks advance and in the face of predictions it would continue to rise.

2. West Coast steel prices were trimmed. And there was sharp division of opinion as to what this might do to eastern prices.

★ ★ ★

The drop in production came in all areas except those around Cleveland, Detroit and Cincinnati. In most cases the cutbacks were minor. But they kept output from rising, as hoped, to better than 60 per cent of unofficial estimates of steel production capacity.

Thanks largely to booming business in January, February and March, steel output for the year to date still runs nicely ahead of 1961, which was plagued by an industrial recession.

ORDERS NOT UP

Steelmen think November business should be better for them. For one thing, they think that by then the auto industry surely will be increasing its orders. Auto output and sales have been encouragingly healthy but the industry appears to have built up a bigger stock of steel than the mills had thought and auto orders for the metal haven't jumped.

★ ★ ★

At best, though, steelmen look for only a moderate increase in demand the rest of this year.

The question raised by the drop in steel prices on the West Coast is another matter.

CUT PRICES

Kaiser Steel cut prices at its big mill in Southern California to bring them down almost to the level of eastern lists. The West always has had to pay more for steel, largely because of shipping costs. Now Kaiser, U.S. Steel and Bethlehem have mills in the West. And Japanese mills are exporting lower priced metal to the area. Big Steel and Bethlehem quickly met Kaiser's new price and some midwestern mills said they would, too.

What steelmen are debating is whether the West Coast steel cut is a local matter—a fight between American steel companies for the market, and against increasing steel imports. Or could the price cut mean that flagging demand and increasing competition from other materials and from foreign steel are either cases will spur juggling of prices in other areas?
