Louisiana Newsmen Predict 250 Death Toll

Introduced at Trial

HOFFA-CHEASTY MEETING — These photos, released yesterday by U.S. District Attorney Oliver Garsch in Washington, D.C., were introduced in the trial of labor boss Jimmy Hoffa yesterday, and identified by witness John C. Cheasty as those of his meeting with Hoffa, when he reportedly received a bribe for selling Senate Rackets Committee secrets.

Superior Calls Col. Nickerson Useless to Army

Rocket Expert Attacked by Commanding Officer at Court-Martial

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (INS) —Col. John C. Nickerson's commanding officer today attacked him for mishandling security information and declared the guided missle expert is no longer of any value to the Army.

Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, commander of the Army's Ballistic Missile Agency, threw a bombshell into Nickerson's court-martial with his testimony criticizing the West Pointer's action.

Medaris, who flew from Washington to Redstone Arsenal to testify at the request of the military court, said: "I would not want Nickerson in my command . . . I believe he has no future potential value to the service."

Nickerson has pleaded guilty to 15 counts of laxity in handling secret documents in airing the Army's feud with the Air Force over control of guided missiles.

The trial has continued, however, to determine the severity of the sentence to be imposed on him. He could be subject to dismissal from the service and up to 30 years imprisonment. The minimum sentence would be a reprimand.

DIDN'T OBEY

Medaris, questioned by members of the court-martial board, drew a picture of the self-styled missile martyr as a man who could not obey orders.

★ ★ ★

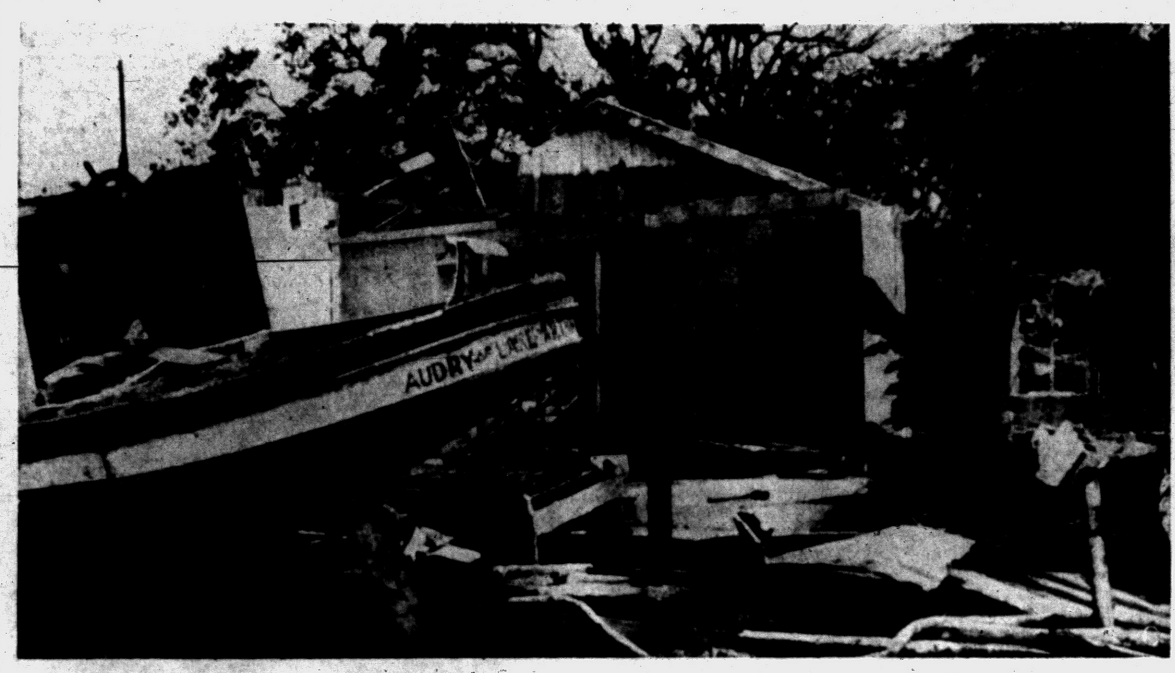

The general said Nickerson could have had no reason to misunderstand his orders not to contest Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's directive turning the Army missile program over to the Air Force.

Medaris said he had instructed the 44-year-old colonel "personally" that "the most disastrous thing to do was to take sides."

★ ★ ★

Wind, Waves Carry Boat Far Astray

AUDREY HITS AUDRY — A boat named Audry lies against a wrecked building in Cameron, La., both victims of Hurricane Audrey which smashed into the gulf coast town Thursday. Damage is expected to run high, and the death toll is mounting steadily, as more victims are discovered.

Estimate Based on Wide Survey of Flooded Area

Survivors Brought in as Ebbing Waters Wash Victims to Sea

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) —The Lake Charles American Press predicted today the death toll from hurricane Audrey in Louisiana's Cameron Parish would reach 250.

Managing Editor Ken Dixon said his newspaper's estimate, well above the 150 set at present by Civil Defense officials, was based on a survey of the entire area, still lying under tide waters from the Gulf of Mexico.

Mayor Sidney Gray clarified his earlier estimate that the death toll now stands at 150. He reasoned that the figure might not include the 61 bodies already recovered.

There was still no information on damage at Black Bayou, the Civil Defense Office said. No figures were available on the tiny fishing community which isn't even on the official state map.

A late report on the missing, not including in the death toll estimates, was 200 to 300, made by the Civil Defense Office for Region 5 at Dallas. Estimates at the number of dead ran as high as 150 to 167, the Dallas CD Office said.

President Eisenhower designated the battered sections of the Texas and Louisiana coasts as major disaster areas and expressed his "deepest sympathy" to the people left without homes, their families scattered and missing."

While the grisly business of counting bodies went on in the chewed-up area, a sullen, corpse-laden ebb tide swept back into the Gulf of Mexico, bearing seaward many victims of the 20-foot tidal wave that swept the beaches and the marshes Thursday.

"It may be a week to 10 days before the actual number can be ascertained," said Maj. Gen. Raymond Hufft, state civil defense director, who set the known death toll at 150.

Hundreds were injured as a raging wall of water came out of the Gulf Thursday on the heels of Hurricane Audrey, the season's first.

Hundreds of others still clung to debris or huddled in forlorn terror on any prominence that offered refuge from the murky horror of the flood waters. A huge armada of helicopters and sur-

Mayor of Portland Acquitted of Perjury

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Portland Mayor Terry Schrunk was acquitted yesterday on a charge of perjury but he still faces a long battle to clear his name.

A State Circuit Court jury deliberated less than two hours before deciding unanimously that the 44-year-old mayor had not lied to a vice probing grand jury when he denied taking a gambler's bribe.

It is believed that the charge of bribery against Schrunk may be dropped now, but State Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton, who is in charge of the prosecution of Portland's vice cases, could not be reached for comment immediately.

Three other charges, stemming from the year-long vice probe of this city of 415,000, have been filed against the mayor, accusing him of illegally copying a wire-tap, conspiracy to obtain a wire-tap and subornation of perjury. have not been set.

Schrunk maintains that the accusations against him are part of a plot by gamblers who feared his election as mayor would drive them out of business.

Much of the testimony presented at the 10-day trial here was a repetition of that heard in Washington, D.C., last March when the Senate committee investigated what it said was labor racketeering in Portland.

STAR WITNESS

Portland gambler big Jim Elkins was a star witness at the hearings and testified that another Portland gambler, Clifford O. Bennett, told him he had paid a $500 bribe to Schrunk in September 1955. Schrunk was county sheriff at the time and had raided Bennett's club. The payoff, Elkins said, was made so Schrunk would not arrest the club's patrons.

At the hearings and at his trial Schrunk said the bribe story was a frameup.

The defense made it a point to show that many of the prosecution's 23 witnesses were indebted to Elkins for one thing or another and that others had criminal backgrounds. This apparently helped sway the jury of nine women and three men, one of whom told Schrunk after the verdict was announced, "We were with you all the way."

Livonia Resident Dies in Loon Lake

A Livonia father of four, Charles Koontz, 27, of 18904 Maplewood St., drowned on Loon Lake in Commerce Township early this morning when choppy waters swamped the seven foot pram from which he was fishing.

★ ★ ★

With Koontz in the small boat was Robert Brieger, 17, of 15450 Deering St., Livonia. Brieger told Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies he swam to a nearby raft but Koontz, who was wearing knee length engineers' boots, struggled to free himself from the water-filled boots.

His body was recovered by Deputy William Jackson, department skin-diving specialist.

Death and Horror Mingle

(Editors Note: Stan Meisler, New Orleans AP staffer and one of the few newsmen to reach flood-stricken Cameron, La., made an extensive tour of the area by boat and afoot. Here is his eyewitness account.)

By STANLEY MEISLER

CAMERON, La. (AP)—Death, determination and numbed horror mingled in this little town today as stunned survivors hunted their missing families in makeshift morgues, floodwaters and rubble.

Grim residents deserted evacuation camps for the heart-rending task of hunting loved ones.

Charles Leboeuf, a young Cameron man looking for his mother, keynoted the feelings of other dogged searchers.

"I may find her body, but not her," he said.

Take a close look at Cameron: Walk through the main street. Tip-toe over fallen power lines. Walk through the ruin that was once a neighbor's house. Pick up the shoe of a dead wife. Look at a bundle of letters tied in ribbons. Look away quickly. Move on.

NUMBNESS TODAY

Tears and shows of emotion after yesterday's revelation of the vast destruction and loss of life gave way to a numbness today.

★ ★ ★

The people talked constantly of death, but without apparent feeling. They exchanged family news this way.

★ ★ ★

"I lost my nephew," said Sheriff O. B. Carter to a deputy.

"You did?" was the reply. "I lost a brother and did you hear about the fellow who lost five?"

Charles Jeffers, who got out of Cameron before the full force of Hurricane Audrey lashed the area returned to look for friends.

"There were about 50 people who gathered at the school before the storm," he said. "I begged them to get in your cars or anything. I told them to lie on tops of cars if they couldn't find room inside.

"Only five crawled in with me. The rest were stubborn."

He said many of them were missing.

A dead cow in the center of the main street was observed by the first rescue workers. It seemed to symbolize the death of the city and many of its 3,000 residents.

A trickle of people moved in and out of the ice house that served as a temporary morgue. It held more than 50 bodies during much of the day. Some wanderers found relatives. Many didn't.

Everybody agreed many bodies were washed back into the Gulf of Mexico by the receding tidal waters that once stood five feet deep on the first floor of the courthouse.

Miss Front Page a Dandy

The Fourth of July falls on next Thursday, but we'll have our own Yankee Doodle Dandy on Monday when our Miss Front Page for July appears.

She's a real bathing beauty and she not only wears a bathing suit well, she swims in it too.

There's an extra, added attraction of the mysterious variety with this Miss Front Page, a mystery loaded with surprises for some Pontiac people..

So, start the month off right with a picture of our Yankee Doodle bathing queen Monday in The Press.

Summer or Not, Pontiac Is Due for Some Shivers

Chilly weather will prevail in Pontiac and vicinity for the next few days.

Tonight will be clear and cooler with a low of 54 to 58 degrees. Gusty winds of 30 mph today will diminish to 10-15 miles per hour tonight.

The outlook for tomorrow is cloudy, with a high near 84. Scattered showers and cooler temperatures are expected tomorrow evening, low 56-60.

In an extended weather outlook, the U. S. Weather Bureau has reported that temperatures will average three to five degrees below the normal high of 78-84 and normal low of 56-62 for the next five days.

For those traveling to northern Michigan, temperatures will average three to five degrees below the normal 74-79 high and normal 50-57 low.

In downtown Pontiac, the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a.m. was 59. At 2 p.m. the mercury registered 78.

Thousands Flee Floods in Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Thousands of central Indiana residents huddled in emergency quarters today, as creeks swollen by Friday's flash floods raged through their homes.

Three persons drowned in the torrents.

Rescue squads working through the night evacuated 1,500 persons from their homes on the west side of Indianapolis, as the crest of Eagle Creek rolled down from isolated Zionsville.

White Lick Creek drove more than 70 families from their homes at Plainfield.

Cicero Creek sent 50 Tipton families to the Tipton Armory and the Stokely factory in that city to spend the night.

Prairie Creek flooded one-fourth of Lebanon, forcing 50 families from their homes.

Police evacuated 100 persons from their homes in the Feather Creek section of Clinton.

Sunshine Greets Western Golfers

Littler, Maxwell Lead List of 57 Professionals at Plum Hollow

The sun greeted 57 pros for the first time since Wednesday at Plum Hollow Golf Club as the third round of the Western Open got underway just before noon today.

★ ★ ★

Tee-off time was at 11 a.m. and on the list were 33 golfers with par scores or lower, led by Gene Littler and Billy Maxwell, with 136 each.

Among the area golfers in contention are Gene Bone of Pontiac, Max Evans of Rochester, Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills, Mike Dietz of Lake Orion and Bob Keller of Royal Oak.

The first three some to go out today was Skee Riegel, Ed Furgol and Jay Hebert, all at 144 for the first two rounds.

★ ★ ★

Hebert took the front nine in 35 strokes for par. Furgol had a 36 and Riegal had two over for 37.

★ ★ ★

The first nine players had trouble on the pesky fourth hole, each taking a bogey on the hole. In the first round, Sam Snead fired a 10 on the hole.

Action Launched by Groom's Father

Couple to Wed Despite Half-Million-Dollar Suit

MILWAUKEE (AP) — An industrialist's daughter and her young man, scion of an Eastern family, planned to be married today in the face of a half-million-dollar damage suit brought by the groom's father who charged his son was induced by the bride's parents to give up his Roman Catholic faith.

The prospective bride is Mary Lucille Werner, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Werner of suburban Elm Grove. Werner is president of the Wagner Iron Works.

The groom to be is Leland William Thomas Cummings Jr., also 21. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leland Cummings Sr., of Wyncote, Pa., a fashionable Philadelphia suburb. Cummings Sr. is a chemical engineer.

The groom's parents are not expected to be among the guests for this afternoon's wedding at St. Mathew's Lutheran Church in suburban Wauwatosa.

In a lawsuit filed in Circuit Court here June 17, the elder Cummings charged the Werners "wickedly, maliciously and unlawfully enticed and induced his son to run away from and abandon his parents." In commenting on the suit, Cummings said:

"Lee (as his son is known) has thrown over his college career, thrown over his friends and thrown over his church — all at the instigation of Werner."

MET IN 1955

The couple met in 1955 while young Cummings was attending Harvard College at Cambridge, Mass., and Miss Werner was a student at Vassar College of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Lee said that he was no longer a Roman Catholic, despite being brought up in that religion. Young Cummings is now employed by the Wagner Iron Works.

The suit said that at a meeting in New York last December Werner told the senior Cummingses that he "would put Lee through business administration school at Harvard and give him a position at the Wagner Iron Works with a salary of $25,000 a year."

The Cummingses refused permission for the marriage, and the suit said "Werner flew into a fit of rage and hurled a barrage of unwarranted and degrading insults" at them.

People Wasting Their Breath, Architects Say

Can't Compare Royal Oak's High School With City's

By HAROLD S. COHEN

Persons who compare Royal Oak's new Clarence M. Kimball High School, just completed, with the upcoming Pontiac High School are wasting their breath.

So said Owen A. Luckenbach and Steven S. Page of O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach, the firm of architects which designed the Royal Oak school.

PROUD OF DESIGN

Tremendously proud of their prize-winning design and the finished product within the budget they had set for them, the pair outlined some of the features.

The basic design uses a novel theory of breaking a large building into smaller individual groupings. Thus the classrooms are in six such groups, almost completely independent of each other.

It was the thinking of the Royal Oak board that pupils would stay within their own section all through high school, thus getting the benefit of a small building while in fact attending a large one.

★ ★ ★

With a 100 per cent capacity of 2,600 students, costs ran over $4 million or about $1,600 per student. Translated into today's higher building costs this would mean about $1,800 - $1,900 per student.

★ ★ ★

"We kept the costs down," said Page, "by strictly adhering to a modular system in which structural supports were done in straight lines in units of 10 feet; by using economical materials, and by standardizing cabinet installations."

★ ★ ★

The building is made of face brick, with aluminum sashes and exposed steel and concrete supports.

Inside, cement blocks are used for partitions between rooms, while the corridors use tile for economy of maintenance.

ASPHALT TILE

Asphalt tile floors are used in classrooms and vinyl covering for corridor floors.

★ ★ ★

Among the major features are a swimming pool, 45 by 70 feet with a 10-foot aluminum surrounding deck; a gym with a floor of 100 by 114 feet and two 30-foot sloped sides for spectators, and a library which can house up to 20,000 volumes.

★ ★ ★

The school is built on two floors for site reasons, and during the steel strike they were able to continue with cement work while waiting for steel shipments.

"Anyone who thinks two-story construction is necessarily cheaper than one-story, is wrong," said Luckenbach. "It all depends on where you are building and when you are building."

★ ★ ★

"Just the difference in bids from time to time and place to place can more than offset any saving in the two types of construction," he added.

★ ★ ★

"We were lucky to get good bids," Page said, "which helped keep costs down."

Another factor influencing per pupil costs, he pointed out, is school size. The larger the building the less cost per pupil.

★ ★ ★

The school includes a 500-pupil auditorium with "professional stage equipment that is really excellent," Page said. A dramatics room overlooks the auditorium from near the projection room.

There is a 400-seat cafeteria with two lunch lines and a separate snack bar, he continued. Also there are four shops, for wood, general, machine and auto work.

No printing shop is included, but there is a large multi-lith room and darkroom for teaching this type of printing.

OTHER FEATURES

Arts and crafts, two drafting rooms, eight science rooms, four homemaking rooms and three health classrooms are among other features. Two rooms serve the bands and choruses.

The six units of regular classrooms each contain: Six classrooms, 26 by 30 feet, a counselor's room, a study hall for 60 students, one counselor's office, two consulting and work rooms; three 10 by 10 conference rooms, a teachers' lounge and separate toilet and storage facilities.

A complete public address system contains two broadcasting stations, and an intercommunications telephone hookup.

Started in June, 1955, the school was complete, except for the gym, by January of this year. A few minor finishing operations are all that remain today.

"We have been around," Page said, "and seen a lot of new high schools, but we know of none that gives so much of a feeling of quality done for so low a cost."

The new Pontiac high school will cost slightly under $3 million, or $2,500 per pupil. When the second and final addition is made to it, the cost will reach $4 million, but the cost per student will drop to $2,000, which is a little under the state average.

Louisiana College Campus Becomes Mercy Center for Hundreds

WITH HURRICANE REFUGEE CENTER AT LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — A quiet college campus. Then, in brief hours, a bustling mercy camp caring for hundreds of refugees today from hurricane-shattered coastal communities.

This was the scene at little McNeese State College.

First came approximately 100 Army medical men, including 20 surgeons. They flew in by helicopter yesterday from Ft. Polk, about 50 miles away.

An emergency hospital was set up in the college gym and huge quantities of medical equipment, blankets and other materials were unloaded. Approximately 1,000 Army cots were set up in the arena.

A virtually endless procession parade of Army trucks and other vehicles began bringing in dazed and injured victims of vicious Hurricane Audrey. Shortly, more than 600 refugees were being cared for.

MORE HUNDREDS

Army helicopters began bringing more hundreds.

Early arrivals moved anxiously forward, hoping to find relatives and friends. Some were successful.

A tired 5-year-old girl had just been brought in and was handed a glass of milk. A woman ran into the gym shouting, "Baby, baby," weeping, she clutched the girl.

Busy rescue workers and refugees who were seeking their loved ones stopped and were silent. Some wept.

The woman was Mrs. Jean Coatney of Groves. The girl was her only child, Sandy. The girl had been spending the week with grandparents at Grant Cheniere. With no word of their fate, Mrs. Coatney had sped to Lake Charles after she was told refugees from that area were being brought to the college.

R. A. Whatley, 40, of Cheniere told of clinging for 18 hours to a tree with his wife, Dorothy, 35. Mrs. Whatley had a back injury and severe sunburn.

Whatley said he and six others were in a friend's home when the storm struck.

"The water started coming into the house and we went to the attic. There were seven of us. Three of the people died."

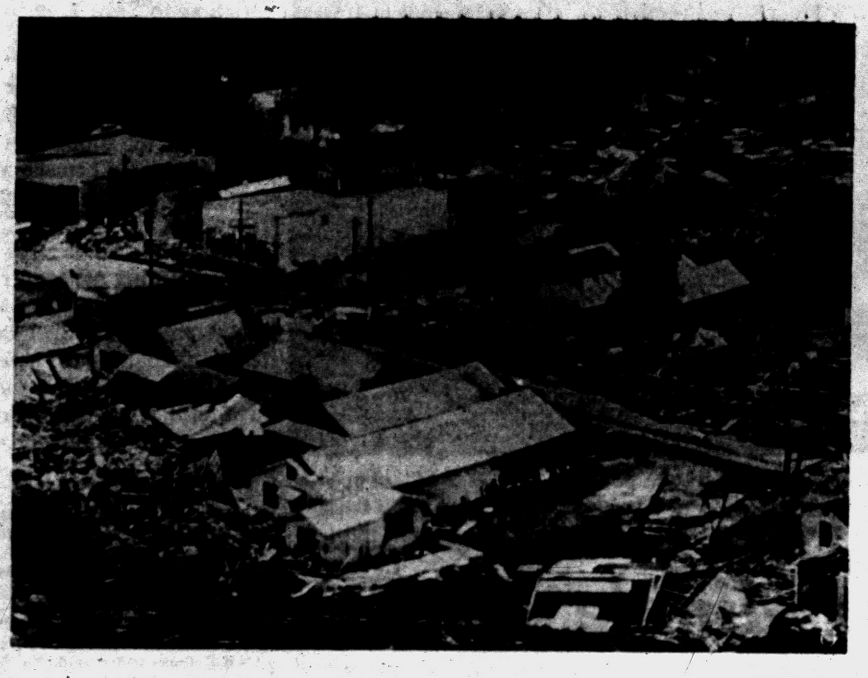

FLOAT AWAY

Whatley said the house started to float away as tidal water forced it from its foundations.

"We decided we'd better get out of the house and about then the wind came up and tore off one end of the house. We jumped into the water and grabbed a tree," Whatley said.

"We got out of the tree when the water went down a little. We got a piece of flooring like a raft. We stayed on that raft for about six hours until we were rescued by the helicopters.

"What did we talk about while we were in the tree? We prayed and we talked about what had happened and how to help ourselves."

RESCUE BY BOAT—More than 400 survivors of Hurricane Audrey are shown being brought to shore by an oil field tender. Rescue work continues today with both boats and helicopters searching the desolate waste left in the trail of Audrey. Reports continue to arrive at rescue headquarters of survivors spotted in isolated areas, stranded by the floods which accompanied the hurricane.

WHIRLYBIRD RESCUE — One of the hurricane victims rescued by helicopter is shown being transferred to an Army ambulance for removal to an emergency hospital. A total of 22 Army, Navy and Air Force helicopters went hunting at daybreak today for more survivors. One 'copter crew reported bringing back 27 people on one trip while another helicopter's pilot told of picking up survivors who told him they had just left a church with 35 dead inside. Each 'copter was assigned a 15-square mile section of the desolate Louisiana coast to search for survivors.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

What is the ionosphere? Is it in the stratosphere? What is the troposphere?

★ ★ ★

Above the earth we have three names for the layer of gas and space and particles above it. Directly above our heads, and the layer of gases that we live in, is the troposphere.

★ ★ ★

The troposphere extends about 40,000 feet upward—or about eight miles up. In this band of gases all our weather occurs. So it is mainly the area of concern to most people, the fisherman, the golfer, etc.

★ ★ ★

Above the troposphere begins the stratosphere, and it extends even further upward than the troposphere, is about 42 miles higher than the top of the troposphere. And at 50,000 feet up, the stratosphere ends and the ionosphere begins.

★ ★ ★

There is really no logical reason for designating the air above 50,000 as the ionosphere—for it is merely a continuing of the stratosphere, thinning out further and further. In fact, the ionosphere contains such widely-spaced molecules they are practically indistinguishable.

Louisianians Say Yes

Warned Too Late?

CAMERON, La. (INS) — Sheriff O. B. Carter, said that many of the persons still in Cameron complained bitterly to him about the lack of advance warning on Hurricane Audrey. He said he was told:

"The warning was too mild and too late.

"We didn't realize it would be as bad as it was and we hadn't expected the hurricane until Thursday night. Instead it was upon us Thursday morning."

The Weather Bureau had issued repeated warnings of the first hurricane of the season from the time Audrey was born in the Gulf of Mexico last Tuesday. Warnings continued until the time the hurricane was about to strike the coastal sections of Louisiana and Texas.

Sheriff Carter told INS that at this time of the year some 3,000 persons usually are in Cameron.

He said that the population fluctuates with the season, bringing fishermen, summer vacationers and oil workers.

Injured City Boy Shows Improvement

A 15-year-old Pontiac boy, injured in an auto accident which claimed three lives Thursday night is still on the danger list at University Hospital, Ann Arbor, today, but improving.

Clark S. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Davis, 26 Rose Ct., suffered serious hip injury in the two - car collision which killed Charles H. Steven, 40, of 200 E. Pike St.

The accident occurred on U.S. 12 20 miles west of Ann Arbor and also caused the death of two Detroit men while injuring two others.

Trend to Safe Driving May Cut Holiday Toll

BOSTON (AP)—The Institute for Safer Living says an "improving trend" toward safer driving may reduce anticipated highway deaths during the four-day July 4 weekend from 600 to about 550.

"Speed, alcohol, impatience and fatigue" are the four deadly horsemen of the highways, the Institute said.

Puts Race Issue Into Hoffa Trial

Defense Attorney Tells Largely Negro Jury That Cheasty Is Biased

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bribery-conspiracy trial of James R. Hoffa veered onto a side track yesterday when a defense lawyer raised racial issues.

Conducting cross - examination before a largely Negro jury, Defense Attorney Edward Bennett Williams sought to picture prosecution witness John Cye Cheasty as unfriendly to Negroes.

DENIES CHARGE

But Cheasty challenged Williams on this score and said he had been instrumental in bringing about "peaceful settlement" of a Negro bus boycott in Tallahassee, Fla. Cheasty said that upon his recommendation, segregated bus seating was ended and some Negro drivers were hired.

Cheasty, a Brooklyn lawyer, is the government's star witness in its case against Hoffa, a Teamster Union leader. Hoffa is charged with bribing Cheasty to get a job with the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee and to feed him secrets from its files. Cheasty tipped off the committee about the alleged plan and cooperated with the FBI in the investigation which led to Hoffa's arrest March 13. A co-defendant in the case is Hyman I. Fischbach, a Miami lawyer who allegedly acted as a go-between.

★ ★ ★

The Hoffa trial was in recess today. Cheasty, who has spent five days on the witness stand, was expected to return for more testimony when the trial resumes Monday before a jury of eight Negroes and four whites.

Girard to Wed, but Won't Have a Honeymoon

But restrictions imposed on him at Camp Whittington pending settlement of legal issues involved in his case will prevent a post-nuptial trip.

Army legal authorities have made it plain that Girard will be under restrictions until his case is finally decided.

Chamber Slates Bang-Up Fireworks Show for 4th

BIRMINGHAM — The popularity of the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored fireworks last July 4 is resulting in a "bigger and better" show for Thursday night.

Charles Mortensen, C. of C. secretary, said today: "We had many favorable comments last year and hope that this will become a regular Independence Day feature in Birmingham.

"Our organization and the community is indebted to the Board of Education for its permission to use the football field for this purpose. It is an ideal spot with plenty of room to set up the display and plenty of room to accommodate spectators."

Mortensen explained that bad weather will automatically cancel the show. Permits, approved by the Fire Department, do not allow for any "second chance."

This year's display will begin at 9 p.m., including "noisy firecrackers, beautiful rockets, aerial and ground displays."

Tickets, available at no charge, may be obtained from merchant members of the Chamber.

John McGill has been named president of the Sheffield Estates Civic Assn. Other officers are M. R. LaLonde, vice president; Mary Boettcher, secretary, and M. C. Shepherd, treasurer.

A spot of interest at the Detroit Horse Show currently running on the Bloomfield Open Hunt Grounds, but entirely unrelated to horses and horse shows is the booth sponsored by the Birmingham Humane Society.

Pictures of dogs for which homes are sought are, according to Mrs. Karl Kocher, attracting much attention and creating much interest in the society's work.

The entire program, which annually finds homes for hundreds of small pets and returns many more to their owners, is staffed fully by volunteer workers and supported by contributions.

City treasurer Russell T. Berger, said taxes for the fiscal year ending tomorrow would be due and payable without fee at the Municipal Building July 1.

Taxes paid after Aug. 31 will carry three-fourths of one per cent penalty, added each month, up to and including February, 1958.

Berger asked residents to notify his office if tax bills are not received by July 10.

About 200 young men and women from Birmingham have been graduated from colleges and universities this year.

University of Michigan leads the field with 46, followed closely by Michigan State with 40. Other graduates comprise a list of colleges throughout the country.

3 Area Residents Hurt in Three-Car Collision

A Pontiac woman, Marie Steele, 20, of 33 Allison St., and two Milford residents were injured in a three-car collision at Commerce and Union Lake roads, in Commerce Township Friday evening.

Injured in the Steele car was Eva George, 27, of 9231 Hickorywood Rd., while the third injured party was Genevieve Hess, 40, who was riding in a car driven by her husband, Dale, 42, of 1770 Luneta Ct.

Deputy reports said Hess hit the Steele auto as it pulled out in front of him from Union Lake road, and then bounced into an auto approaching from the opposite direction driven by William Sammut, 29, of 25433 Carlysle St., Inkster. Sammut was uninjured.

The three injured were treated for minor cuts and bruises at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

Thieves Take Safe Containing $5,000

Richard Furtney, owner of the Furtney Drug Store, 450 E. Pike St., reported to Pontiac police Friday that someone had broken into the store escaping with a safe containing $5,453.49 early Friday morning.

The thief pried open the front door, went to the rear of the building and wheeled out the safe from behind the prescription counter. It contained approximately $4,000 in cash and $1,453.49 in checks.

According to police, the black metal safe, weighing about 400 pounds, was wheeled out the front door on S. Sanford St., approximately 22 feet to a point where it was apparently loaded onto a vehicle which was backed over the curb.

Hurricane Toll Rises on Louisiana Coast face craft moved back and forth over the devastated area on the biggest rescue mission in recent gulf coast history.

The Red Cross was caring for 40,000 persons made homeless in Texas and Louisiana.

Damage estimates were out of the question, but they will be staggering.

Spokesmen for various oil companies said damage to off-shore rigs would reach $15 million "and that would be a conservative guess." One herd of 30,000 Brahman-bred cattle was lost and Sheriff Jack Moss at Abbeville said its value "is easily in the millions."

Not a home in Lake Charles escaped without some damage, in addition to the far-flung devastation at Cameron, Pecan Island and Holly Beach, leveled by the gulf storm.

"You can hardly tell where the beach leaves off and the land begins," said reporter Bill Mertana of the Lake Charles American Press who flew over the devastated area.

President Eisenhower sent Val Peterson, former head of civil defense, into the area. Peterson pledged "all the resources of the American government in this emergency."

Pestilence, the invisible handmaiden of widespread death, threatened the waterlogged land. Tens of thousands of dead cattle and wild animals lay bloating in the hot sun and oppressive humidity that followed the 105-mile wind of the hurricane.

Little Pecan Island was crawling with tiny toad frogs and snakes washed inland by the savage swirl of sea water.

The hurricane moved inland yesterday morning. It moved north-eastward across Louisiana and on through Mississippi into Tennessee. It finally died in a gush of rain over the Ohio Valley.

Feel Earth Tremors in Southwest Ontario

CHATHAM, Ont. (AP) — Citizens in many parts of southwestern Ontario today reported earth tremors for about five seconds around 7:15 a.m. They said houses were gently shaken and dishes and other objects were thrown off tables and dressers.

More than one tremor was reported at London, Ont., and in areas surrounding that city. Householders in Wardsville, Bothwell, Florence, Dresden and Ridgetown all reported hearing and feeling the tremors.

Kent County Engineer W. D. Colby said he and his wife were having breakfast when they heard a rumbling noise. Mrs. Colby thought the chimney had tumbled from their roof and they ran out to investigate.

The tremors brought a rush of telephone calls from worried citizens to radio stations and newspaper offices and the United States Weather Bureau at Detroit.

The Detroit Weather Bureau said it had noted no earthquakes or other unusual tremors.

CHAPTER 30

As I walked to the rear of the store, Art Delaney looked at me specutativly.

"Name a price," I said, "on everything you own: store building, stock, and house."

I could almost smell the greed that was working in him. Finally he said, "Ten thousand."

I started toward the front door. I had almost reached it when I heard him pattering after me. "Hold on, Will." As I turned, he said, "Before I talk turkey I've got a right to know whether you're serious or just bulling me."

"I'm serious," I said, "and there's cash money to swing the deal, but when you talk about $10,000 you're ten times high."

Again I would have walked out if he hadn't hung on to my arm, bracing himself with both legs. "Five thousand."

★ ★ ★

I shook him off, irritated, and cuffed back my hat. "No good, Art. It boils down to a question of whether you want to sell and get out with a little bit, or walk out with nothing."

He stared at the floor without saying anything. I said: "Art, I've got $3,000. That's what I'll give you."

He got red in the face, and then white, and I thought he'd faint. Then he howled: "You're a robber, Will Beeson! Why, the goods on my shelves . . ." I was through the door and on the porch when his voice came to me, high and shrill, "I'll take it."

★ ★ ★

"Make out the papers," I said. "I've got some riding to do. I'll stop back tonight."

I left town, riding against the wind, the desire to see Nela an overpowering urge in me. The air was cold now. Within an hour or two the drizzle would turn to snow.

My original idea was to put John Mathers in the store. Now that I had agreed to buy it, I was tormented by a plague of doubts. I had never been able to find any common ground with Mathers. He probably hated me for marrying his daughter. After I had time to think, I decided I didn't want to have anything more to do with him than I was forced to by family obligations.

Nela recognized me, even in the rapidly thinning dusk, and came flying out of the cabin, disregarding the rain and the mud. "Will, where have you been?" she cried. "I expected you yesterday."

All the bitterness was flushed out of me then. I felt as if I had been purged of something that was evil and unclean. She was my wife and I loved her, and John Mathers was her father—a futile man, a dreamer, a failure, but still her father.

We went inside and the warmth from the big range rushed at me. A lighted lamp was on the table. Next to the wall I saw Lin Scott, the little school-teacher and secretary of the colony, sitting in a chair, his legs stretched toward the stove.

Then I looked at the bed on the other side of the room. John Mathers lay on his back, staring at the ceiling, his face bandaged.

★ ★ ★

"You haven't had anything to eat, have you?" Nela asked as she hung my coat and hat near the stove. "I'll fix you something."

I said in a low tone to Scott, who had come to stand beside me, "What happened?"

"They almost beat him to death," Scott said. "Turner and Dillingham and Secore and that bunch. He tried to stop them, you know. It was while you were out of the valley." He touched his head gingerly. "I tried to help him, but somebody hit me with a gun barrel when it started and I was out of the fight."

Nela came back to me from the stove. "Go over and speak to him, Will. He's been wanting to see you."

I walked to the bed. I looked down at him, and saw that he recognized me at once.

"Hello, Will," he said. "I tried, but I failed. I guess I've failed at everything since I left St. Louis."

★ ★ ★

I wanted to say something to give him some assurance, but my throat was too fuzzy. I was ashamed, as thoroughly ashamed as a man could be, for the thoughts I'd had a few moments ago about John Mathers.

"I don't think you're a failure, Dad," Nela said.

I found my voice and I said: "A man who fights to keep his word is not a failure. John, I've got something for you." I laid Turner's money belt on the bed. "Turner was shot and killed this afternoon. That's his share of the money from the cattle he and Dillingham stole. If Dillingham's still around, we'll get him, too."

He felt the belt with his right hand, but he didn't lift it. He said, "Thank you, Will."

Nela pulled me away from the bed, whispering, "He tires easily, Will."

While she warmed up some food for me, Scott told me what had happened. "Dillingham and Turner and Secore had been talking to our people for weeks, I guess you heard." I nodded, and he went on. "Dillingham didn't carry any weight because he was a valley man to start with, and everybody knew he had it in for you and Mrs. Pardee. It was Turner who did the mischief. And John had trusted him from the beginning. We wouldn't have come to this valley if it hadn't been for him.

"Turner kept saying the only way to make a living was to have at least a quarter-section of land. He blamed John and me for buying Anchor and trying to make a small acreage do for each family. Finally they forced a meeting and voted to dissolve the society and divided the treasury, which amounted to nothing; a share of zero is zero.

"John and me knew it would be close. There were twenty-three families, counting me and John. The vote was twelve to eleven, which means nine families were willing to stay right where they were on the West Fork. Well, John lost his head when he saw he was outvoted. He got in the doorway and said he wasn't letting any of them out until they came to their senses. They just ran over him. He tried to fight, but there were too many of them."

"How bad is he hurt?"

"His left arm's broken. Besides the cuts on his face, he's got a couple of broken ribs and a lot of bruises."

Nela motioned me to the table and said in a low tone: "He just lies there almost as if he were in a coma. He says he's ruined everything for me because he couldn't keep his word to you."

"Don't let him think that," I said. "We'll make out."

"Of course, Will." She put a hand over mine. "That's the last thing I ever worry about."

I hadn't eaten all day, and by the time I was full some of the tiredness had left me. I told them what had happened, and Scott nodded. He said, "The ones who are left will make a living, if Costello and Brahms let them stay."

★ ★ ★

"They'll let them, I said, and rose. "I've got to get back to the Box P. I'll settle it with Sarah one way or the other, and I'll see you tomorrow. Don't let your dad worry, Nela. We're going to figure things out."

"I'm glad you talked to him," she said.

"Nela," I said, "he's a brave man. Tell him that. Tell him he belongs in this country. He's just got to find his place in it. That's all."

I put on my hat and coat, and kissed her, and it seemed only a moment I had been with her. "Don't stay up all night," I said. "You're tired."

She nodded at Scott. "Lin spells me off, and his wife comes in part of the time.

She stood in the doorway until I was in the saddle and starting back down the road. I had that picture to carry in my mind, of her standing motionless with the light behind her. She closed the door, and the night blackness was all around me, and the rain that had turned to snow was whipped past me by the wind.

"At the sound of a shot I alerted. For a moment I wasn't sure where it came from, but Delaney seemed to know — " Will again is under fire in "Gunlock" tomorrow.

Prospectors still are searching for the Lost Dutchman gold mine in Superstition Mountain southeast of Phoenix, Arizona.

Preview School as Building Starts

See Scale Model of Romeo High

Major Contracts for 32 Mile Road Construction Being Awarded

ROMEO—Citizens of the Romeo Community School district were offered a preview of their proposed high school this week when architects completed a scale model of the building.

Major contracts for the erection of the much-needed facility are in process of being awarded, and construction has commenced, Supt. of Schools T. C. Filppula reported today.

As portrayed in the above view of the model, the building will face south toward 32 Mile road, on the site of the old Mountain View Orchards, west of the village. It has been designed by the architectural firm of Eberle M. Smith Associates, Detroit, to fit the sloping terrain, thus reducing the cost of excavating work and foundations.

To the left of the glass-walled entrance lobby with its landscaped forecourt is the classroom wing, stepping up the hillside. Here are located the library, homemaking rooms, science laboratories, commercial rooms and general purpose classrooms.

The long wing to the right of the lobby will house the kitchen, cafeteria, boiler room, locker rooms, administrative offices, clinic and counseling rooms. The large block intersecting this wing is the gymnasium. Large enough to accommodate boys' and girls' classes simultaneously when divided by a folding partition, the entire space will seat 1,200 spectators for varsity games.

Planned for a capacity of 500 students when the school opens in Sept., 1958, allowance has been made for expansion in several directions to permit the larger enrollments that are anticipated. Eventually, there is proposed to be another academic classroom wing to the north, paralleling the first.

Shops, drafting, art room and swimming pool can be added north of the gymnasium wing. Space has been allowed for the possible addition of an auditorium wing, with band, choral and speech rooms to the southwest. The cafeteria is expansible, and space for a second serving line is provided.

Many citizens have been instrumental to the planning of this new asset to the Romeo community. The high school faculty originally developed the program requirements, and these were adopted to the budget allowances by the board of education, comprised of Dr. Ralph G. Renwick, Walter Sewell, Allen Rush, Philip Bertiaume and Charles Myers.

Also cooperating in the planning process were the three school district principals, Harold F. Barr, Bruce Lindsay and Norman Hevel. The responsibility of overall coordination has been that of Supt. Filppula.

A recent estimated cost of the building and equipment was $718,000. The amount raised by the high school bond issue in April, 1956, was $750,000. This figure was to cover site acquisition, architectural fees, building and other specified items.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD L. HUNT

Marion Hollingdale Wed in Milford Methodist Rite

MILFORD — The Methodist Church here was the setting for the recent Saturday wedding of Marion Lucinda Hollingdale and Richard Lee Hunt. About 150 guests witnessed the 8 p.m. double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Robert Worgess before an altar decorated with white mums, gladioli, carnations and ferns.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length gown with a cathedral train. The bodice was lace over satin with a sweetheart neckline and long pointed sleeves of lace.

The skirt was of net, with tiers of lace over satin. Her fingertip veil of nylon net was held in place with a headpiece styled in nylon lace and trimmed with pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid and wore pearls.

Carol Jean Ingamels was the maid of honor, with Carol and Janet Taylor of Livonia, cousins of the bride, as bridesmaids.

Herbert Hollingdale Jr., brother of the bride, served as best man. The groomsmen were Robert Hollingdale, brother of the bride, and Jerry Taylor of Chicago. Seating the guests were John Boring, cousin of the bride and Gary Childs, both of Milford.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony.

★ ★ ★

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hollingdale of Highland and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Evers of Missouri are the bridegroom's parents.

The couple is honeymooning in St. Louis, Mo. and upon their return they will be at home on South Center street in Highland.

Troy Citizens Planners Back 2½ Mill School Tax

TROY — The Troy Citizens Planning Committee will vigorously promote passage of the 2½ mill school operating tax, according to an announcement from Jack B. Muir, committee chairman. The levy will be voted on at a special referendum election called by the Troy School Board for Monday, July 22.

The announcement explained that the committee was firmly behind the proposal. It also pointed out that the group would have petitioned for such action had the school board not resolved to take the issue to the voters.

A group of compaign workers is being organized for door-to-door visits to answer questions and explain the need for the added revenue.

In a specially prepared statement that accompanied the announcement, Muir had this to say:

"During the recent school district election in which I campaigned as a sticker candidate, considerable misunderstanding developed regarding my stand on the operational millage issue. I wish to make it clear at this time that I have been in favor of this proposal from the beginning.

"We need this added revenue to give our kids the kind of program wanted by every citizen who is truly interested in the education of our young people and the future of our country."

12 Area Youths Fly to Holland

Teenagers Among 114 From State in Church Exchange Program

Among 114 Michigan teenagers and chaperones leaving for Amsterdam, Holland, on a Flying Tiger Super Constellation were 12 Oakland County area passengers.

The group left the Detroit-Wayne Airport Wednesday in the flight of exchange students sponsored by the Michigan-Ann Arbor-Washtenaw Council of Churches.

Youths from this area were Esther Bentley, Waterford Township; Beverly Bennett, Michael Bertman, David Carpenter, Susan Erwin and Dale Parkinson, all of Utica; Joan Cardona, John C. Walker and Kenneth Winship, all of Milford; Susanne Craft of Rochester, Margaret Emmert of Orchard Lake and Frank D. Lessiter of Lake Orion.

The student group of carefully selected teen agers from nearly every section of Michigan will go to various European countries where they will live in European homes for approximately two months. The overall exchange program also brings selected European students to this country to gain an understanding of our way of life by living in American homes.

This program in Michigan is under the direction of The Michigan Council of Churches, which since 1952, has been conducting the teenage exchange project known as the "Youth for Understanding" program.

To Start Direct Dialing

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Bell Telephone Co. tomorrow will begin its new 4½ million dollar direct distance dialing system linking eight Michigan communities with its nationwide telephone dialing network.

Communities involved are Flint, Lapeer, Fenton, Holly, Clio, Flushing, Grand Blanc and Morris.

★ ★ ★

The new system will put the eight communities into direct dialing touch with 180 other Michigan communities including Detroit.

BARBARA KUHN

Former residents of Bloomfield Township, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Kuhn, 5239 S. Fenton Rd., Fenton, announce the engagement of their daughter Barbara to James E. Burtch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Burtch of Grayling.

A September wedding is planned.

Program of CD Set for July 7

West Bloomfield Group Plans Demonstration for Women's Club

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — "Operation West Bloomfield" is the title of the West Bloomfield Township Civil Defense demonstration to be given July 7 for the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club.

All participants, with the exception of the Medical and Casualty staffs, have been requested to meet at 1 p.m. Sunday, in the West Bloomfield High School. The Medical staff will meet in the high school Saturday, July 6, 1 p.m. and the Casualty staff at 2:00 p.m.

The Detroit Office of CD will use members of the Zonta group as trained evacuees in the support area.

The Ford Motor Co. will furnish buses to transport the four hundred Federation Women from Detroit to West Bloomfield. The women are acting as evacuees from the Detroit area.

The Pontiac Branch of Michigan Bell Telephone Co., under the direction of Charles Brouillet and Earl Thompson, will install land-line phones similar to ones used in the January 20 exercise.

The Michigan Office of Civil Defense has expressed it's appreciation for the township's co-operation in the performance of this exercise.

Son of Comic to See Wonders

Red Skelton Taking Boy Stricken With Leukemia on 'Magic Carpet' Tour

WASHINGTON (AP)—If comedian Red Skelton has his way, his nine-year-old son, Richard will see as many of the "wonders of the world" in the next few weeks as many people see in a full lifetime.

Richard has leukemia, a blood disease that usually is fatal.

The Skeltons are in the midst of a five-day sightseeing tour of the capital. They've already been to New York, Philadelphia, and Boston. And Skelton said they'll head later for London, Rome and perhaps other faraway places. Richard's sister, Valentina, 10, is traveling with them.

The comedian, minus his usually broad grin, said he wants to help Richard pack a lot of experiences into a limited time. Skelton asked a newsman:

"In what better way could I do it than show him the wonders of the world, the miracles and near-miracles, all the places he's heard of but has never seen?"

★ ★ ★

Skelton said he also hopes while in Washington to help out in the drive for cancer funds.

The Skeltons already have done much and seen much.

In New York, they drove a train through the Grand Central yards, ran an elevator high up in the Empire State Building, climbed to the top of the Statute of Liberty, visited St. Patrick's Cathedral and went to Radio City.

★ ★ ★

In Philadelphia, they stood in Independence Hall and viewed the Liberty Bell.

In New England, they boarded the Mayflower II and saw Plymouth Rock.

While in Washington, they plan to sit in on House and Senate sessions, to stop in at the White House, to prowl through the Smithsonian Institution, and to cross into nearby Virginia to see Mount Vernon.

★ ★ ★

Richard had one special request —to see the Washington Monument. He spoke of it as "the monument with all the steps and the little red lights on top." The lights are there as a warning to low-flying planes.

Brewster Still Boss, but Crowded Now

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank W. Brewster still heads the Western Conference of Teamsters, but it's getting a bit crowded at the top.

Brewster, who is under conviction of contempt of Congress for refusing to answer questions about union affairs, was continued in his job as head man yesterday. But the conference added a secretary-treasurer and a 15-man executive board to help him run things.

The Seattle union leader was slightly injured a few hours after the conference's annual meeting broke up in San Diego when he was involved in an automobile collision. His sedan and a pickup truck collided on Pacific Coast Highway in Wilmington, in the Los Angeles harbor district.

Brewster, who was driving, suffered bruised ribs. He was treated at an emergency hospital.

About 35 per cent of the nation's lumber supply comes from the states located in the Pacific northwest.

Interest Becomes High for Religious Drama

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — There has been a tremendous increase in the interest in religious drama, according to the Rev. A. Argyle Knight, director of the National Methodist Religious Drama Workshop.

"We receive, throughout the year, an average of at least one request a day for help in using religious drama in the Christian education program," the Rev. Knight said in announcing plans for the group's second annual meeting.

The workshop is for adults, including both professional and lay workers in the local church and at colleges.

Preston Family Elects

The 71st annual Preston Reunion was held recently in Ypsilanti and resulted in the following election of officers: Mrs. Faith Fuhrman, president; Mrs. Hazel Preston Kruse, vice president; Mrs. Grace Crissman Emorey of Royal Oak, secretary and treasurer. About 40 members were present.

Christian Crusaders Plan Annual Picnic

ORTONVILLE — The Christian Crusaders of the Baptist Church here will hold their annual picnic on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Paul Tindall near Metamora, beginning at 12:30 p.m.

Following the dinner and devotions the afternoon will be spent with games and a social period.

Report King Hussein Divorced Queen

CAIRO (AP)—Jordan's King Hussein has reportedly divorced Queen Dina. But a source close to Dina's family who reported the divorce said it was a "first degree" procedure and the couple can reunite if they want.

The informant said Hussein wrote Dina three weeks ago saying he was divorcing her. That is sufficient under Moslem law. The source added that Hussein's cousin, King Faisal of Iraw, mediated the settlement and that Hussein agreed in principle to give up custody of their child, Princess Alia. They have no male heir to inherit the throne.

Hussein, 22, and Dina, 29, were married in April 1955. She has been staying in Cairo with her ailing father since September 1956.

Legion Group at Imlay Names New Officer Slate

IMLAY CITY — Officers elected at the last meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary are:

Mrs. Fred Sans, president; Mr. Vernon Gibbard, first vice president; Mrs. Frederick C. Robinson, second vice president; Mrs. Martin Laarman, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Robert Seidell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Earl Stephens, chaplain; Mrs. Martin Hillman, sergeant-at-arms, and Mrs. Robert Mignery, historian.

Holly Girl Engaged

HOLLY — Mr. and Mrs. Luther Simmons announce the engagement of their daughter, Lois Ann, to Harvey Lodge Clark. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clark of Holly also. A July 12 wedding at Davisburg Methodist Church is planned.

Would Halt Election

The mayor of Berkley, Donald M. McPherson, and four city councilmen obtained a temporary injunction to halt a recall election sought by a citizens group. Hearing on a permanent injuction is scheduled for July 3 in Oakland County Circuit Court. The dispute arose over council's firing of City Manager John W. Short April 8.

Bob Jones Quartet to Give Program

METAMORA — Sacred musical program will be presented by the Bob Jones University Male Quartet at the Hunters Creek Community Church at 8 p.m. Friday, July 12.

The young men will present an interesting and unusual program during which a brief Gospel message will be brought. In addition to quartet numbers, the program will include solos, duets and trios.

Many of the selections, which range from traditional tunes to arrangements which are different, were especially adapted for this group.

230 Pupils Attend Daily Bible School

ORTONVILLE — Daily Vacation Bible School is being held at the Baptist Church here this week. There has been a daily attendance of over 230 pupils.

The program showing the work the children have been doing will be held on Sunday at 10:30 a.m., during the Sunday school hour.

Lila Hollenback and Eileen Dalgleish are supervising the work again this year.

Marlette Man Gets Position With Schools

MARLETTE — Richard Kaminska has recently received the appointment as head educational psychologist in the Monroe School system. He will be one of three educational psychologists who work with testing mentally and emotionally handicapped children.

Kaminska, former high school principal, is resigning from General Coach Works. He is known for his activities in Marlette civic affairs.

Junior Editors Quiz on KING SOLOMON'S MINE

QUESTION: What was mined in King Solomon's Mines?

ANSWER: The miners dug for the gold that made King Solomon rich and made his palace a magnificent building. When the Queen of Sheba came to visit Solomon, she found golden vases and ornaments all over the palace. The precious metal had come from Solomon's own mines.

The Bible does not tell us exactly where these mines were, but not too long ago some old mines were found in Saudi Arabia. It is believed that these mines were those of King Solomon.

Metallurgists hope to be able to reopen the mines and extract the gold that Solomon's miners may have missed. Mining was not as well developed in those days as it is today.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: If you get a chance to go to a beach, try a modern mining method yourself. Drag a magnet through the sand and small flakes of iron may stick to it. In similar fashion, iron is separated from its ore on occasion. You may also color the picture of King Solomon's miner above.

American Visitor in England Heads to British Riviera

LONDON — Americans in England, who want to combine sightseeing with sunbathing, are heading south of the capital to the British Riviera. Though off-the-beaten track for foreigners, the beach resorts along the southern coast are favorite summer haunts for the English themselves.

The journey south into this land of sandy coves and chalky cliffs, sparkling cider and clotted cream is remarkable for its sharp changes of scenery. Cozy, old fishing villages give way to rugged, windswept moors. Roman colonnades rise beyond Georgian and Tudor facades. The remains of Druid temples lie strewn across the plain below the turrets of a Norman castle.

★ ★ ★

The tourist who prefers an organized tour will find any number of excursions to the south operating from London at bargain rates. A motor coach tour, for example, covers all of Devon and Cornwall in seven days, according to a Pan American report from London, at a cost of $94. This price, less than $14 a day, covers transportation, all meals, hotels, guide and tips.

★ ★ ★

These tours leaving London from Red Lion Square head over the hills of Surrey and Hampshire to Winchester, capital of England under Canute and co-capital under William the Conqueror. The surrounding terrain is haunted by such illustrious ghosts as Jane Austin who penned her novels at Chawton, Florence Nightingale who spent her last years at Embley Park and Lord Nelson who sipped

Death Notices

MRS. MARY E. REA

Service for Mrs. Mary E. Middleton Rea, 48, of 267 Prospect St., who died yesterday in St. Joseph Hospital after a lingering illness, will be held at 2 p.m. Monday from the Pursley Funeral Home, with burial in Oak Hill Cemetery. Dr. Milton Bank of the Central Methodist Church will officiate.

Mrs. Rea is survived by six sisters, Mrs. Frances Davis, Mrs. Alice Elsholz and Mrs. Gladys Conklin all of Pontiac, Mrs. Alberta Salisbury and Mrs. Lillie Dickie both of Indiana, and Mrs. Thelma Wetterlun of Minnesota.

STANLEY J. BEEMER

CLARKSTON — Service for Stanley J. Beemer, 43, 6091 Maybee Rd., who died suddenly of a heart attack last night at his parents' home, will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday from the Sharpe Funeral Home here. Burial will be in Lakeview Cemetery.

Mr. Beemer, a lifetime resident here until recently, when he moved to Oregon, is survived by his wife, Thelma; one daughter, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Beemer of Clarkston.

ED PERRY

METAMORA — A graveside ceremony will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday July 10 in Metamora cemetery for Ed Perry, former Farmers Creek resident who died recently in Daytona Beach, Fla.

Mr. Perry is survived by his wife, Pearl Copeman Perry; a son, E. J. Perry of San Francisco, and one daughter, Mrs. John Buckner of Daytona Beach.

Dallas Doctors Number Among Do-It-Yourselfers

DALLAS, Tex. (INS) — About 10 per cent of the do-it-yourself fans in Dallas are doctors.

That is the belief of Mrs. Frank Eggers, who operates a Dallas shop to supply and advise persons who would rather make home furnishings than buy them.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Eggers said she believes doctors have taken up the fad because it "gives them a physical diversion, which they need after being in contact with people all day."

Claim Slave Trade Booms in Arab Land

PARIS—Slavery is big business in Saudi Arabia, according to Europe's Anti-Slavery League, which hasn't been able to do much about it. Slave traders are registered, it is claimed. According to law the slave has a right to be fed, clothed and housed, the right to be well treated and the right to free medical attention—but no right to be free.

Slaves, according to Commander Fox-Pitt, secretary of the league, in Paris, are obtained from Persia, Iraq, and Persian Gulf ports, but mostly from French West Africa. Disguised as missionaries, the slave traders offer to guide these natives to Mecca. In batches of 50 to 60, the trusting pilgrims are taken to Red Sea ports and put aboard dhows. Once on the Arabian coast they are imprisoned. Girls go mainly to harems, men into domestic service.

We Pay a High Price for Free Wheeling Politics

It is unfortunate that President EISENHOWER'S Williamsburg address brought reactions that were very largely political from his audience, the Governors of the forty-eight States. But that is one of the prices the American people pay for their freedom.

★ ★ ★

Outside of maintenance of peace in a world threatened by war, it is difficult to conceive of any finer governmental objective than an attempt to halt the trend toward greater centralization of power. If the President can point an effective way to reverse today's tendency to run to Washington for help, his Administration will mark an auspicious turning point in our country's history.

Too many of us pass the buck.

We think of federal aid as money we get for nothing.

We ask Washington to do what we could do better, and far more cheaply, through our state governments, or even closer to home.

★ ★ ★

President Eisenhower called on the Governors to work with him in turning back to the States some of the projects which the federal government is being asked to finance. He got a cool reception.

The Governors are having their own troubles raising money enough to finance the projects that already are in their laps. They don't want to do any more money raising. It is easier to keep running to Washington and let Ike worry.

★ ★ ★

It all comes down to that old, old story. We want a lot of services. But we don't want to pay for them. We are still seeking some way to get them without paying.

The same people who shout for smaller federal budgets in total still want to go to Washington for help on their own particular projects.

★ ★ ★

"This one won't cost much," they argue. But put them all together and the result is a tremendous and ever mounting sum.

This habit is too strong, and it has been in operation too long, to be easily reversed. No one man can accomplish it alone. If the taxpayers really want that federal budget reduced, here is a most effective spot for them to voice their feelings.

★ ★ ★

People in Michigan suffer more than the average in sending money to Washington and then getting it back. Practically always we get back less than we send as we are listed as a "prosperous" State.

Bear in mind! When you get money back from Washington, as a Michigan taxpayer you have already sent more than you receive.

Power Only Language Russians Understand

The United States and Allied governments are reportedly in agreement that they will arm their forces in South Korea with atomic weapons. It is time some such action was taken.

★ ★ ★

Frequently in the past few years, our own government and various allied governments have protested that the Communist forces in North Korea have been violating the four year old armistice agreement which ended the war in Korea. But the protests have done no good. The violations have continued.

★ ★ ★

As a result our forces in South Korea have been outnumbered and outarmed. Should any outbreak in that area occur, under existing conditions, the Communists would hold a tremendous advantage. But if the Allied troops are to be equipped with atomic weapons, this advantage will be largely offset.

★ ★ ★

Even more important, the atomic arming will serve notice on the Communist North Koreans, and on their Russian backers, that any attack from North Korea will unloose an atomic war, and no government in the world wants that today.

The situation in Korea is one more case in which the Communists have respect for but one language. That is the language of force. It is high time the Allies took action to protect South Korea from some trumped up excuse for an attack from the north.

U.S. High Court Upholds Ban Against Obscenity

State and Federal law enforcement officers now have a new weapon with which to fight obscenity. The Supreme Court of the United States held on Monday that obscene literature falls outside the constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and press.

★ ★ ★

The high court's ruling was handed down in action on three separate cases. It upheld the right of judges to ban the sale of publications they find are obscene, in addition to the decision that obscenity is not protected by the First Amendment to the Constitution.

★ ★ ★

The fight against published obscenity still will be an uphill battle, but this new decision strengthens the hands of enforment officials. It is cheering news to all who would protect the public from smut.

Minnesota Plan

Michigan Eyes Tax Study Made by Neighbor State

By ROGER LANE

LANSING—With Michigan groping for a solution to its tax problems, it is worth a glance at how Minnesota met a somewhat parallel situation.

★ ★ ★

Both Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), who is directing the legislative approach, and Gov. Williams, who has considered a survey of his own, have taken a look at the Minnesota answer, which stirred widespread interest.

In addition, some sort of borrowing appears a possibility, since the research director in the Minnesota study promises by coincidence to figure in the Conlin study.

The researcher, Prof. Harvey E. Brazer, is joining the faculty of the University of Michigan, which is cooperating with Conlin. Brazer undertook his study while on leave from Wayne State University.

The most striking single aspect of the Minnesota study is the way it was set up in 1955.

The "blue ribbon" committee that conducted it was neither established by the Legislature nor financed from government funds.

Only two of its 20 members were appointed by Democratic Gov. Orville Freeman, both being University of Minnesota economists.

AIDED BY BANKER

The pattern of organization grew out of talks between the governor and the board chairman of a Minneapolis bank.

★ ★ ★

It was determined that the committee should be made up of seven representatives of business, finance and industry, seven from labor groups, one each from the three major farm organizations in the state, one from the Minnesota Assn. of Cooperatives and two from the U. of M.

Each group nominated its own representatives and designated alternates. The banker, J. Cameron Thomson, was installed as chairman.

Ultimately, the 18-month study cost $72,000, as compared incidentally with an originally estimated budget of $40,000.

To implement the desire for a maximum degree of independence in conduct of the study, it was arranged that financing should come 50 per cent from business industry and finance sources, and 25 per cent each from labor groups and from the farm groups plus the cooperative association.

Divine Tributary

Days of All Faiths:

Tells Blood's Meaning to Christians

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

To the Jews all life — the soul itself — was located in the blood, as to the more sophisticated Greeks it was located in the breath. For this reason blood was always sacred to the Jews. Animals that were killed for food were carefully bled, lest those who ate them should be found guilty of eating the very principle of life.

It was perfectly natural that this feeling should to an extent carry over into Christianity, for the first Christians were deep in the Jewish tradition. Blood, therefore, has its special meaning in Christianity.

Protestants and Catholics alike speak habitually of "the Blood of the Lamb" and have their sacrament of the Body and Blood of Christ. The blood of Jesus, Christian theology says, was shed for the redemption of all mankind.

The Roman Catholic church sets Monday apart in its calendar for special devotion to the Precious Blood of Our Lord Jesus Christ, honoring the living substance that flowed forth from the Lord's side when the soldier on Calvary pierced Him with the spear, pouring a stream of new life over all the world.

From a mystical standpoint it may with logic be said that this, rather than Pentecost, was the beginning of the Church. "It was out of the side of Christ," St. John Chrysostom wrote, "that the Church was built, just as it was out of the side of Adam that Eve was raised up to be his bride."

Officially the Feast of the Precious Blood is a fairly new one, having been ordered by Pius IX in 1849. Actually, however, its local beginnings can be traced as far back as 1582, when it was first observed in Spain.

But it isn't so easy to achieve it in people's minds. American Christians inherit a long, long background of tradition that is bound to color their unconscious attitude about so vital a matter. Behind every approach to Christianity is the Jewish faith that God is the head of the nation. In the more recent thought-patterns are the Massachusetts Puritan theocracy, or the state-established Church of England, or the Holy Roman Empire.

Western man cannot, in spite of himself, escape the feeling that God rules his country. Americans, without ever analyzing it, want their nation "under God."

In their Book of Common Prayer Episcopalians have provision for an Independence Day service, and most Episcopal churches will hold a service Thursday. When the Revolutionary War ended and American Anglicans became free of the Church of England, their first new Prayer Book contained a special service of "thanksgiving for the inestimable blessings of religious and civil liberty."

The trouble was that many of the British-born brethren had never approved of the Revolution itself and could by no means be counted on to consider this new liberty a blessing. The service was therefore dropped, in order to preserve some measure of harmony within the church. It was not until 1928 that the present service was finally included. Certainly by that time it was safe from Troy resistance.

Although Church and State are comfortably separated in Canada, Canadian Anglicans, too, have in their Prayer Book a service for important national days. It is called "A Service for Dominion Day and Other Occasions of National Thanksgiving."

Vitamin A Ends Sinus Headaches

"A million words, a million dollars would not be enough to thank you . . . I tried your vitamin A suggestion for what specialists called chronic sinus headache . . . now have no more headaches at all . . ." Signed—

DR. BRADY

Answer — Instructions in pamphlet Why Have Headaches, for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"I have noticed quite a difference in the appetites and the appearance of my children since we all began taking the iodin ration. The color in their cheeks has become rosy instead of pale, as it was before. We all feel more alive and ready to play or work . . ." (M. B. J.)

Answer — Instructions in pamphlet The Iodin Ration, for growing children and young adults; in pamphlet Young Folks and Old Folks for persons past forty. For either pamphlet, send stamped, self-addressed envelope. If you ask for both, enclose 25 cents in addition.

"We all started on a high calcium diet as outlined in your booklet "The Calcium Shortage" about a year ago, and our six-year-old daughter, who has been allergic since early infancy, is much stronger and wheezes less, but still has some symptoms. Please send your pamphlet on Asthma and Allergy." (K. N.)

Answer—Either the Asthma or the Allergy pamphlet is free if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope. If you want both, enclose 25 cents in addition. High calcium diet includes milk, not less than 1½ pints (three glasses) daily, eggs, cheese (any kind you like), cabbage, peas, beans, nuts, peanuts, fresh vegetables, salad greens. This little girl and others with allergy must get a good daily ration of vitamin D in one form or another, to insure normal calcium metabolism. One way to get it is to absorb plenty of sunshine or skyshine through the uncovered skin.

"Had my first injection for piles ten days ago. I found that your words are true. There was no pain then or since." (Mrs. F. E.)

Answer—There is no pain if the doctor has the necessary skill. For pamphlet You Need Not Have Piles send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Tells Christianity's Unique Aspect

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Why is Christianity the most unique religion ever to develop? Well, discuss my answer below when you get into your Sunday school classes tomorrow. It shows why God reversed the procedure typical of all other religions since the beginning of time.

Case V-324: Lee J., aged 23, is a seminary student, who handles a small church over the weekends.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane," he began uncertainly, "what do you consider the most unusual psychological aspect about Christianity?

"In contrast to all the other religions since the beginning of time, what makes Christianity most unique?"

CHRISTIANITY IS UNIQUE

In all other religions, men fearfully sought to bribe the favor of God.

In Christianity, however, God reversed things and tried to win men to the concept that God is a loving Father instead of a cruel tyrant.

The Persian and Hindu and Egyptian and Greek and Roman religions depicted their gods as tyrants and cruel, vindictive monarchs.

Like Thor and Woden, the various gods of antiquity were ready at a moment's notice to incinerate us human beings with a bolt of lightning if we violated the rules.

So the ancient people grovelled and tried to appease their gods with offerings of food and wine and animal sacrifices.

★ ★ ★

They even tossed living children into the fiery furnace of Baal. And the Hindu tossed babies into the Ganges River to appease their despotic gods as they sought to win favor with them.

Although the Hebrews were truly the chosen people as regards developing the most advanced concept of divinity for the human race, at the time of Moses the Hebrews, too, thought of Jehovah as a jealous vengeful dictator.

"An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," thus showed Jehovah's apparent eagerness to punish human beings.

GOD MAKES SACRIFICE

At Calvary, however, God made the unique sacrifice to win us human beings.

In the first book of the Bible, we had been told that we were the children of God, made in his own likeness.

★ ★ ★

But people never believed that all throughout antiquity, for nobody ascribed normal paternal love and affection and sympathy to the Almighty.

In desperation, therefore, God finally decided to reverse things and see if He couldn't offer a sacrifice to us human beings by which He could win our affection.

That is the psychological miracle of Christianity. That is why this new religion differs markedly from ALL others that have ever been evolved by the various nations since the beginning of history.

For God apparently got tired of all the constant efforts at appeasement which ancient peoples underwent.

He desired voluntary affection and love, instead of coerced burnt offerings and incense.

He wished to establish Himself in much the role of the modern beloved human Dad, surrounded by happy children.

But no priests or clergymen of the ancient past would permit Him to do so, for they insisted on sacrifices as a form of appeasement. They taught an attitude of abject seridom and terror on the part of worshippers.

DICTATOR RELIGION

To show how we moderns still retain some of that bad despotic or regal idea of God, just look at the ritual and music even of our current Christian sects.

"Come thou Almighty King," we chant, as we still try to make God a Caesar or Czar, Dictator or Emperor.

And some clergy still try to scare parishioners into faithful attendance. They endeavor to force people into worship of God by dire threats.

This coercion is alien to God's real desire. He wants religion to be a free choice and a voluntary evidence of filial devotion, rather than a kow towing to a fearsome Dictator.

Discuss this more fully tomorrow in Sunday School.

Voice of the People

Many Readers Give Ideas on Situation of Teachers

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I have yet to know a school where more than four per cent of the faculty (those with high financial backgrounds) don't work during the summer. But I'm not complaining. I know a few individuals who consider themselves too good to work part time, but you'll find some wherever you go.

I must admit there are some in the profession who don't belong there, but until there are enough to meet demands, we can't afford to eliminate them. Why not get your foot out of your mouth and do some good by encouraging young people to become teachers—or why not become one yourself? Even though there are higher-paying jobs for which he is qualified, my husband enjoys working with tomorrow's taxpayers, and I'm proud of him. By the way, we pay taxes, too.

Jody

It seems Taxpayer and several others would like for teachers to be glorified baby sitters during the summer months. Can't you stand your own children for two months? If teachers would work during the summer, it would cost you more money. As it is, teachers aren't paid as much as baby sitters.

Schools are for purposes of education and not day camps or child care centers.

A great number of teachers scurry around and secure employment for the summer to tide them over until the next school session. They aren't resting as you suggest, although they could use a rest. They earn every cent of their salaries. You should be more concerned how other tax money is spent.

Another Taxpayer

I see the cost of living has gone up again. The factory workers and teachers have gotten a raise. Just where does that leave the people who haven't had a raise for over a year and no raise in sight? I, for one, am getting tired of trying to make one dollar do for two.

Mrs. Discouraged.

I've become increasingly alarmed at the attitude of many of the letters written about teachers' vacations. I can only say that many of them must be from parents who want their children out of the house and in some responsible person's care, so they may have more leisure time to themselves. It's no longer a joke that many women sigh for relief when school opens and are distressed when the final term ends.

As for vacations, how many teachers have sufficient income for that leisure? I don't know one male teacher who doesn't have to supplement his income with a summer job. The same is true of many women.

With this talk of increasing the school year, we may lose many fine young people who are considering teaching careers. I want my children to have a good education and that means good teachers and good schools. We'll certainly have a fine state of affairs if this irresponsible and ignorant talk continues.

C. S.

I'm getting sick of teachers' complaints. The day of underpaid teachers is nearly past. Pontiac's starting salary is $4,350 with automatic raises, more than any other field offers for the same education and experience. And don't forget the many other advantages: short hours, long vacations and unequaled security.

Most people favor increased maximum salaries, but administrators concentrate on high minimums, failing to realize increased maximum pay would attract more and better teachers in the long run.

Until salaries are put on a realistic, competitive basis, teachers can expect little appreciation for future demands. They can't expect to be treated as professional people until teaching is handled professionally. Teachers should be first to favor that, but they're first to object. Too many fear competition.

Teachers knew what they were getting into, and they can leave if they don't like it. No one objects to their trying to better themselves but martyrs went out of style years ago. Besides, with all their complaints, when asked why they don't quit teaching, too many have said to me, "Where else can we get a deal like this?"

Praises Hoover for His Decision

Good for J. Edgar Hoover. He will let some traitors go free instead of allowing someone to paw through the files as the Supreme Court directed.

Our highest court is taking a real panning for the first time in history. Not since the late President Roosevelt planned to "pack to court" with his hand-picked henchmen to bring about his own (Roosevelt's) theories of government, have the people been so aroused. The voters stopped Roosevelt cold with their indignation. Will it do any good now?

Insurance Ads Please Woman

Nothing pleases me more than to hear insurance companies advertising lower rates for families with females under 25 who drive the family car. Men who are always complaining about women drivers might take notice that the rates remain high if it's a young man under 25. Guess we know, who's the better risk.

Air Guardsmen Move to Alpena

Nearly 1,000 Go North for 2 Weeks' Training on Jet Interception

Nearly 1,000 Michigan Air National Guardsmen from the Detroit and Pontiac area will move to Alpena today for two weeks of active training.

Most of the airmen will leave from Detroit-Wayne Major Airport by bus and truck convoys and in their own cars for Collins Air Force Base, near Alpena.

★ ★ ★

Pilots of the two guard squadrons based at Wayne Major Airport will fly their F-89 Scorpions to the base this afternoon.

Enroute they are scheduled to practice simulated combat missions against other jets acting as attacking enemy bombers.

Maj. Robert McMath, commander of the 127th Fighter Group (Air Defense) which controls the two tactical squadrons, said imphasis this year will be on gunnery over Lake Huron ranges and all-weather combat tactics.

★ ★ ★

"There will be at least two long range interceptor missions in which F-89 pilots will attempt to stop other jets attempting to invade Michigan from Canada," McMath said.

He added that when the units return to Detroit, he expects that all of the pilots will have received sufficient training to qualify them as combat ready.

Pontiac Motor Car Picks Auto Winners

The 100 new car winners in Pontiac Motor's "Drive the Champ" contest were announced this week, including three people from Kalamazoo, high for a single city in the contest.

The contest was based on a test drive of a new Pontiac, with written evaluation of performances, riding quality, handling, exterior and interior appearance and quality, as well as a general comment in 22 words or less.

In addition to the 100 new cars awarded, hundreds of prizes were distributed in Pontiac's 25 sales areas.

Rural mail routes in the U.S. cover 2,250,000 miles.

City's Armor Reserve Unit Takes to Field

BY JOE SINGLETON

CAMP McCOY, Wis. — Pontiac area Army Reserve tankmen gave a stirring demonstration of their tank maneuvering ability during their first week of annual training here.

★ ★ ★

Members of the 703rd Tank Battalion performed before a group of dignitaries visiting this huge Army Reserve summer training center.

MASS BIVOUAC

The display was part of preliminary workouts leading up to a mass overnight bivouac next week, when units of the 70th Infantry Division, to which the battalion is attached, will sleep and eat out in the field under simulated combat conditions.

Visitors were impressed with the tank drivers' skillful maneuvering. But as always with the Army, many other men played an important "behind the scenes" job to insure that all went well.

Such is the case of M-Sgt. Earl V. Johns, of Mt. Clemens, who is the battalion communications chief.

CLOSE CONTACT

Sgt. Johns sees that all sections of the unit are in close contact by telephone and radio, whether on marches or in the field during maneuvers.

★ ★ ★

Employed in civilian life as an electronic computer at the Detroit Tank Arsenal, Johns is just one of the top enlisted men upon whom smoothness of operation depends. Another is M-Sgt. Bernell E. Vollmar, of Utica, who is experimental tester of all track and wheeled vehicles at the arsenal.

As battalion motor sergeant, Vollmar's civilian knowledge comes in handy, since he gets in on the ground floor during the assembly designing of army vehicles.

★ ★ ★

Another important link in the handling of every tank is M-Sgt. Thomas Pappas, 401 E. Third St., motor maintenance sergeant in charge of keeping the tanks running.

Pappas, like Johns and Vollmar, is a World War II veteran. Johns also served in the Korean conflict.

Pappas received his formal Army training at Fort Knox maintenance school. He is a construction company foreman in civilian life.

★ ★ ★

Still further away from the actual operation of the tanks, but equally important to the success of any outfit is the desk work.

Advance preparation of necessary paperwork during the unit's regular weekly drills at the Pontiac Lawrence street armory is paying off.

"Now we can devote most of our time in preparing the payroll and other intrigate reports," explained Sgt. Harry Lucien, of 192 W. Wilson St., Company "A" personnel sergeant.

★ ★ ★

And as everyone knows the most important thing for a soldier's morale, next to good chow, is regular pay.

TAKE FIVE — Lt. Col. Lloyd A. Gabler, of Birmingham, takes a break with Pfc. Roosevelt Blackman, 381 Ditmar St., as members of the 703rd Tank Battalion, of Pontiac's Army Reserve, participate in two weeks field training at Camp McCoy, Wis. Gabler is commanding officer of the unit, which concludes its training session July 7.

City Residents Charged With Murderous Intent in Bar Attack

Two Pontiac men who admitted to police they were involved in the beating of two men May 18 were arraigned on charges of assault with intent to murder late Thursday before Municipal Court Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

Anthony F. Schneider, 22, of 1257 Cherrylawn St. and Robert C. Bridson, 23, of 161 Oliver St. demanded examination, which was set for July 10 by Finnegan. The two were returned to the Oakland County Jail with bond of $25,000 each.

They were arrested Wednesday afternoon after one of their victims, Darwin Butler of 882 Emerson St. identified them in a police lineup.

Butler, who was hospitalized for two days for fractured ribs and severe bruises, said the men had beaten both he and his friend in a local bar with a pool cue.

His friend, Frank Grier of 1028 Arlene St., who received a broken arm and leg, is convalescing at home after being hospitalized for several weeks. He was kept in an oxygen tent for two weeks, Police Lt. William Nesbitt said.

TV, Radio to Present Interview With Tito

NEW YORK (INS) — CBS has announced it will present an interview with President Tito of Yugoslavia on Edward R. Murrow's "See It Now" program this Sunday.

The filmed interview will be televised from 2:30 to 4 p.m. (Pontiac time). Radio outlets will carry it from 9:30 to 11 p.m.

Murrow interviewed Tito for several days at the marshal's summer home on the island of Brioni in the Adriatic Sea. Tito's wife, Jovanka, was at most of the talks.

Actor Likes His Work

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Smith is an actor who likes to work even during vacation. While "Auntie Mame," in which he plays a featured role, takes a midsummer Broadway recess, Smith is hitting the stock circuit for a top role in the musical "Damn Yankees."

Park Rivals Broadway

NEW YORK (AP) — The Great White Way has a new theatrical rival — Central Park.

★ ★ ★

While Broadway's pavements bake in the summer sun, the green back yard" is offering two new theatrical attractions. A series of Shakespearean dramas is to be played at the foot of a century old castle tower, and a wintertime skating rink is being used for a series of "Theater Under the Stars" musical shows.

4th of JULY

J. L. VOORHEES

Every Nation has a natal day. It may celebrate discovery, a time when they became a Nation or perhaps a new sovereign came to power. We celebrate July 4th as the date upon which we declared our Independence.

That date in our history guaranteed us the right to own two or ten automobiles, live in a house different from others, go into debt or stay out of it, travel from ocean to ocean, freely and without restraint, go to the church of our choice or not go at all. The greatest experiment in all history began on July 4th, 1776. Human beings from all over the world have come to our shores, become wealthy and powerful. Our Declaration of Independence gives every man an even break before a court of justice, his home is his castle.

M. E. SIPLE

Celebrate July 4th as our personal Independence Day. It is ours as long as we defend it.

June Draws to Close With Wedding Bells Ringing

Wedding vows of Bonnie Lou McNaughton and Roger Charles Sullivan were exchanged today in Christ Church Cranbrook. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Archie Lee McNaughton of Clarkston, and Roger's parents are the Ronald Ballantynes of Bloomfield Hills.

MRS. ROGER C. SULLIVAN

Bonnie Lou McNaughton Weds in Cranbrook Rite

The wedding vows of Bonnie Lou McNaughton and Roger Charles Sullivan were solemnized at 2 o'clock today in Christ Church Cranbrook. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert DeWitt.

★ ★ ★

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Archie Lee McNaughton of Clarkston, and Mr. Sullivan's parents are the Ronald Ballantynes of Bloomfield Hills.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown which featured a white Chantilly lace bodice over white silk. The floor-length dress was fashioned with a net overskirt falling over a full hoop. Appliques of lace adorned the skirt.

The bride wore white net mitts appliqued with lace. A Juliet cap of lace and trimmed with pearls held her fingertip illusion veil. She carried a white prayerbook with a cascade of flowers and wore a pearl necklace which was a gift of the bridegroom.

Carol Cook of Detroit was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Gayle Lopez of Coldwater, Nancy Kay Bearss and Lea Mae Marsh of Birmingham. They were all gowned in dresses of yellow dotted white nylon sheer over yellow taffeta. Their dresses were fashioned with a wide band neckline which extended into a bow and floating streamers in the back.

★ ★ ★

The attendants wore mitts of matching nylon sheer and pale yellow sheer picture hats. The honor attendant carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of white daisies with bachelor buttons and cascading ivy. The bridesmaids carried crescent-shaped bouquets of yellow daisies with bachelor buttons and cascading ivy.

Junior bridesmaid Patricia Osbo wore a dress of white dotted nylon over yellow taffeta. She carried a crescent-shaped bouquet which was a miniature of the bridesmaids' flowers.

★ ★ ★

Acting as best man was John Marquis Ballantyne of Bloomfield Hills. Ushers were Thomas Lee McNaughton of Clarkston, Ronald William Ballantyne of Birmingham and Jerry Lee Surface of Highland Park.

Following the ceremony, a garden reception was held at the farm of the bride's parents.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McNaughton chose a sheath dress of azure blue peau de soie with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of pink camellias. The bridegroom's mother wore a blossom pink sheath dress with matching accessories. Her flowers were light green orchids.

★ ★ ★

Leaving on a two-week trip to the Adirondacks, the new Mrs. Sullivan wore a two-piece suit with blouseon jacket of imported white-on-white design in cotton. Her accessories were navy blue and she chose a corsage of rubrum lilies.

Post-Nuptial Party Fetes Mrs. Porter

A post-nuptial shower for Mrs. Richard Porter (nee Sharon Louise Carter) was given at the home of her mother, Mrs. William Carter of Wisner Street, Wednesday. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Bruce Granger, Mrs. John Cristie and Delores Carter.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Carter, and Richard's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Porter of Waterford. The couple was married June 1 in Angola, Ind.

Joan Howlett Speaks Nuptial Vows

Dr. William H. Marbach officiated at the Friday evening wedding of Joan Lucile Howlett and Richard B. Jones. The couple was married in an 8 o'clock service at First Presbyterian Church, with 250 guests attending.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Howlett of East Iroquois road are parents of the bride, and Richard's parents are John T. Jones of Birmingham and Mrs. Helen B. Jones of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The bride chose a gown of yarn-dye taffeta with a chapel train. The bodice featured a round neckline with inserted bands of hand-corded Alencon lace studded with pearls.

Her two-tier fingertip veil fell from a fitted cap of taffeta appliqued with matching Alencon lace. She carried an arrangement of album lilies and stephanotis.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Earl Christian of Flint served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Barbara Barker and Patsy Hoey of Bloomfield Hills and Eleanor Johnson of Grosse Pointe.

All of the attendants were gowned alike in seafoam green organza over matching taffeta. They carried white bouquets of alstroemaria and ivy, and wore matching headbands.

★ ★ ★

Attending the bridegroom were James L. Howlett as best man and Carl Luckenbach, James M. Taylor and David Hubbard, all of Birmingham, and Charles Cunningham of Bloomfield Hills as ushers.

For the reception at the Orchard Lake Country Club following the ceremony, Mrs. Howlett chose a dress of champagne silk chiffon with a bodice of Chantilly lace and cafe au lait accessories. Her corsage of brown cymbidium orchids was fastened to her purse.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. John T. Jones of Birmingham wore a mauve Chantilly lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

For traveling to their new home in Cocoa Beach, Fla., via the Smoky Mountains, the bride changed to a beige linen suit with brown and turquoise accessories. She wore a corsage of brown cymbidium orchids.

MRS. RICHARD B. JONES

Patricia Goodsell Is Shower Honoree

Patricia Goodsell was honored at a linen shower given by Mrs. Richard J. Shore of First avenue. Mrs. Shore was assisted by Mrs. Jack Shore and Mrs. James McKerrow. Fifteen guests were present at the Wednesday shower.

★ ★ ★

Patricia is the bride-elect of Gary M. Shore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shore of Auburn Heights. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goodsell of Moreland avenue. The couple will be married Aug. 3 in St. Michael Church.

Marcia Smith Becomes Bride in Birmingham Rite

To reside in Lansing for the summer are Marcia Ann Smith of Rochester and Ned Stevenson Beardon of Birmingham who were married today at 3 o'clock in First Presbyterian Church, Birmingham. Dr. Glen Harris performed the ceremony in the presence of 250 guests.

★ ★ ★

Marcia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Smith of Rochester. Ned's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Judge W. Beardon of Birmingham.

The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over satin. Her fingertip veil was secured by a cap of lace. The bridal bouquet was comprised of stephanotis and ivy.

★ ★ ★

Shirley Pine of Plymouth was maid of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. J. Wesley Beardon of Royal Oak, Nancy Smith of Lansing, Joyce Bolton of Grosse Pointe and Mrs. George Ridley of Detroit.

Ballerina-length frocks of powder blue chiffon with matching braid hats were worn by the attendants. They carried bouquets of white daisies and ivy.

Patricia Beardon wore a white eyelet frock and carried light blue delphiniums for her duties as flower girl.

★ ★ ★

Wesley Beardon was his brother's best man. Attending the bridegroom as ushers were Daniel K. Beardon, George Ridley, Michael Menge and Stephen Stubbs.

For the reception held at the Rotunda Inn, Mrs. Smith chose a dress of pale blue Chantilly lace with a petal hat and a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Beardon wore a sheath dress and hat of pink lace. Her corsage was of rubrum lilies.

For traveling to Hidden Valley in Otsego, the bride changed to a beige summer suit and brown hat. The couple will reside in Lansing for the summer.

MRS. NED S. BEARDON

Baby Shower Held for Mrs. Johnson

Mrs. Jerry Johnson was honored at a pink and blue shower given Thursday by Mrs. Allen Fisher of Orchid street. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Ronald Newcomb.

Guests included Mrs. Harold Fitzgerald, Mrs. Bob Knight, Mrs. William Newman, Mrs. Richard Leitner, Mrs. Orin Leithner, Mrs. Paul Deni, Mrs. Jack Koyl, Dorothy Hart, Mrs. Mary Beach, Mrs. Bruce Richards, Mrs. Paul Ish, Mrs. Arnold Cummins and Mrs. Ed Clark.

★ ★ ★

Others attending were Mrs. Donald May, Mrs. John Williams, Mrs. Jim Beal, Mrs. Doug Treals, Mrs. David Snider and Mrs. Tom Totefs.

Household Hints

Want to avoid having water seep inside "squeaking" rubber or plastic toys during washing? Just seal the openings with adhesive bandage strips. That will keep the insides dry while such toys are being sudsed and rinsed clean.

Detroit Rite Solemnized for Couple

G. Randall Booths Will Honeymoon in Laurentians

Ann Gordon Warren became the bride of G. Randall Booth today at 4:30 in Christ Methodist Church, Detroit. The Rev. Frank A. Cozadd performed the ceremony.

The bride chose an imported white Chantilly lace gown for her wedding. The empire bodice and chapel train were accented with white velvet ribbons.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was caught by an open crown cap made of matching lace. The bride carried one white orchid with Eucharist lilies, stephanotis and ivy.

★ ★ ★

Janet Estelle Haltom was the maid of honor and Linda Hensel was the bridesmaid. The attendants wore turquoise lace sheath gowns with matching taffeta overskirts and cummerbunds, and they carried Eucharist lilies with star ivy.

Frederick C. Booth aided the bridegroom as best man. Seating the guests were George T. Trumbull Jr. and Lawrence B. Williams.

★ ★ ★

The new Mrs. Booth is the daughter of Mrs. Gordon Hill Warren of Detroit and the late Mr. Warren. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Coleman Booth of Birmingham.

A reception following the ceremony was held at the Village Manor.

The bride's mother wore an ice blue organza sheath and matching sequin hat. Mrs. Booth chose a pale pink shantung dress flecked with white. She wore a small hat of green leaves and white berries.

★ ★ ★

For a wedding trip to the Laurentian Mountains the new Mrs. Booth changed to a navy shantung sheath with matching duster and white accessories.

The couple will live in Royal Oak.

Don't Bet Shirt on Man's World

Even men are beginning to doubt the saying that "it's a man's world."

Latest feminine invasion into masculine domains is in the shirt department. Sports shirts, identical to the last button, are now available in "his and hers" twins.

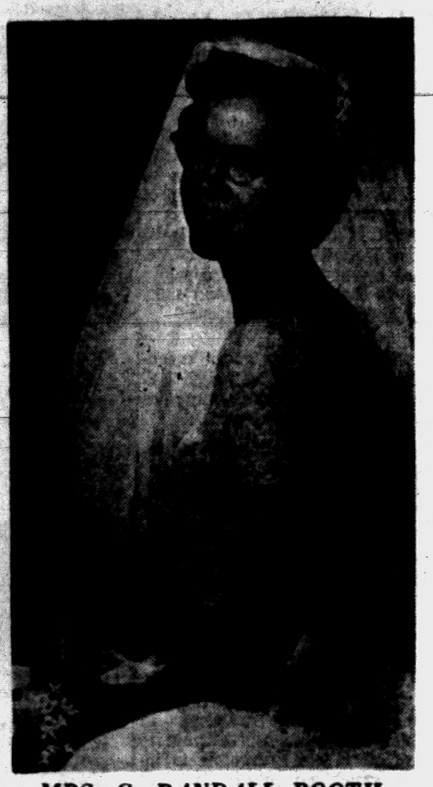

The styles are tailored in the male tradition, but fashioned of patterned colored fabrics to please the feminine eye. Washable cottons and linens are used.

Shower Presented for Nancy Walser

Nancy Walser was the guest of honor Wednesday evening at a bridal shower given by Mrs. Kurt E. Bemman Jr. of Madison avenue. Seventeen guests were present.

The bride-elect will marry Robert C. Holan on Aug. 3 in St. Michael Church. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Egon F. Walser of Myrtle avenue, and Robert is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Holan of Cleveland.

Christ Methodist Church of Detroit was the setting for the 4:30 p.m. wedding today of Ann Gordon Warren and G. Randall Booth. She is the daughter of Mrs. Gordon Hill Warren of Detroit and the late Mr. Warren. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Coleman Booth of Birmingham.

MRS. G. RANDALL BOOTH

Kuhn Family Preparing for Reunion on Thursday

The 43rd annual reunion of the Kuhn family is scheduled for Thursday at the home of Mrs. Charles F. Kuhn of Lake Angelus.

It will also be a farewell for one of Mrs. Kuhn's sons, Edward, who will guide a boys' group to Alaska, leaving Detroit on July 12. He is reviving the on-to-Alaska-With-Buchanan trips that were so popular in the 1920s and 1930s.

Among the 80 guests will be Mrs. Kuhn's sons and daughters.

Out of town guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Myron McIntyre of Yorba Linda, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blessed of Syracuse, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stoger of Plymouth, Ind., Dr. and Mrs. Albert Germain of South Whitley, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. John Homchis of Chagrin Falls, Ohio.

Others who will attend are Dr. and Mrs. Albert H. Meinke of Hazel Park, Dr. and Mrs. Herman Meinke of Eaton Rapids and Mr. and Mrs. George McIntyre of Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

John, George and Jean Ann Cauley of Charlotte, N.C., arrived by plane Wednesday to visit their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Oliver of Devonshire road.

The children's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Cauley, together with James, Gregory and Carol Jill, are expected this evening for a three-week visit with the Olivers and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cauley of Whittemore street.

Virginia Levely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Stanton Levely of Elizabeth Lake road, left Thursday evening from Wayne Major Airport with a group of students and teachers for a tour of Europe and a visit with friends in France. She will be gone for 10 weeks.

★ ★ ★

Several showers preceded the Friday evening wedding of Hilda Levin and Harold I. Patterson at Ward Memorial Presbyterian Church, Detroit.

Among the hostesses were Mrs. Carl H. Zuber, Mrs. William L. Martin of Birmingham, Mrs. William Rogers, Mrs. Arthur V. Handren, Mrs. Raymond Vesper of Oak Park, Mrs. Thomas J. Hollis, Mrs. Benjamin Marnocha of Royal Oak and Mrs. James E. Barling.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. George Learned, their daughters, Judy and Barbara, and son, Thomas, have moved to their new home in Pompton Plains, N.J. They formerly resided on Chippewa road.

NANCY MARIE WESTLAKE

Mrs. Georgina Westlake of Whittemore street announces the engagement of her granddaughter, Nancy Marie, to Robert Dale Schilke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rainold Schilke of Rochester. A September wedding is planned.

Honored at Shower

Mrs. Robert Howell was the honoree at a stork shower given at the home of Mrs. Robert D. Nicholson of Rivard street Wednesday evening. Eleven guests were present.

350 Witness Weir-Webster Wedding

Three-hundred and fifty guests witnessed the marriage of Jean Elizabeth Webster to Charles Dudley Weir at 3 o'clock today in the North Congregational Church. The Rev. Ralph H. Read performed the ceremony.

★ ★ ★

The bride chose a gown of white eyelet batiste over peau de soie. The gown featured an ice blue satin cummerbund, empire waistline and chapel sweep train.

A matching eyelet headband held her shoulder-length tulle veil, and she carried a cascade of white orchids and stephanotis.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Robert Becker of Grand Rapids served as the bride's matron of honor. The other attendants were Peggy Williamson of Angola, Ind., Marlene Heinzelman and Sally Kleinstecker of Grand Rapids, Judy Le Messurier, Mrs. David L. Higgins of Palm Beach, Fla., and Mrs. James Kelly Watkins of Ann Arbor.

All the attendants wore organza gowns embroidered with white flowers and fashioned with square scalloped necklines and full skirts. Their headpieces were ice blue crowns with flaring face veils. Each attendant carried a basket of blue and white daisies.

★ ★ ★

Douglas Colwell served as the best man. Ushers were Donald Weir, a brother of the bridegroom; David Hershey, Robert Thalacker, Glenn Carlson and Robert Applemord of Birmingham, John Wylie of Kalamazoo, Robert Becker of Grand Rapids and Lt. David L. Higgins of Palm Beach.

A reception at Oakland Hills Country Club followed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Walker Webster of Birmingham, and Charles' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Preston Reeves Weir of Birmingham.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Webster wore a beige organza sheath over cocoa taffeta. Mrs. Weir chose a dress of powder blue organza fashioned with a Chantilly lace bodice.

★ ★ ★

For motoring to Palm Beach and New Orleans the new Mrs. Weir wore a beige shantung suit with a matching chiffon hat.

MRS. CHARLES DUDLEY WEIR

North Congregational Church was the scene of the 3 p.m. wedding today of Jean Elizabeth Webster to Charles Dudley Weir. She is the daughter of the George Walker Websters of Birmingham, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Preston Reeves Weir of Birmingham.

May Guests Be Asked for Liquor?

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am a young woman in the early thirties. I live alone in a small apartment. I would like to give a party for several of my friends who have entertained me many times in their houses. I plan to have about 20 guests.

"I would like to know if it would be proper to ask the guests to bring their own liquor. I will, of course, supply all the food and provide gingerale and soda, but I cannot afford to buy liquor for all these people. If you approve how can I tell them in a tactful way?"

Answer: I am sorry but I cannot approve of your idea. Invite fewer people or give your party without liquor. If your friends like beer you could perhaps serve that.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married shortly and have received many wedding presents from relatives of my fiance whom I have never met. In writing thank-you notes for these presents, what is the correct salutation to use?

"It seems rather strange to address someone I have never met as 'Dear Aunt Mary,' and on the other hand, 'Dear Mrs. Jones' sounds very stiff and formal to a relative of my husband-to-be. Will you please advise me on this matter?"

Answer: It is much more flattering to call them what your husband-to-be does, or "Dear Aunt Mary soon-to-be."

Phyllis Head Wears Italian Silk Gown

Central Methodist Church was the setting for the 2 o'clock wedding today of Phyllis Ann Head to Donald Lyle Halsted.

★ ★ ★

For her wedding the bride wore a floor-length gown of Italian silk fashioned in princess style. The neckline was sculptured with sequins and seed pearls.

A crown of sequins and seed pearls held Phyllis' veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses surrounded by white feathered carnations.

★ ★ ★

As maid of honor, Marjorie Lumby of Waterford wore a waltz-length gown of blue taffeta also fashioned in princess style. The dress featured a square neckline with a velvet ribbon under the bodice which extended into streamers in the back. The bride's only attendant carried red roses surrounded by white feathered carnations.

★ ★ ★

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Benjamin Thompson of Portland, Mich. Seating the guests were Jerele Head of Clarkston, John Currigan of Lansing and Dennis Head.

★ ★ ★

A reception was held at the lakefront home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis F. Head of Lark drive, Watkins Lake. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Halsted of Muir.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Head chose a navy eyelet dress with blue velvet trim, pink hat and gloves. She wore a corsage of pink and white roses. Mrs. Halsted wore a black dress with a red rose corsage.

For a trip to Lake Michigan the bride wore a pale blue sheath dress which featured an embroidered scoop neckline. Her accessories were white.

The couple will live in East Lansing.

Phyllis Ann Head became the bride of Donald Lyle Halsted today at 2 p.m. in the Central Methodist Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis F. Head of Watkins Lake, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Halsted of Muir are Donald's parents.

Today's Fashions Don't Hide Defects

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Clothes once made the woman, and they still help, but the time is past when they hide the figure!

★ ★ ★

There is help to be derived from tricks in color, line, cut and decoration but many of today's garments reveal the feminine silhouette unmercifully.

Of course there are the attractive dresses and suits with very full skirts. These camouflage a large hipline, but you must have a slim waist or they are not becoming.

A protruding abdomen is apt to make you look very thick in this type. Many of today's styles are skintight and slim-hipped.

The question of whether styles influence the fashion in figures or figures dictate the style of the day is a puzzling one. It is much like the old argument of whether the chicken comes before the egg or vice versa.

Did our ancestors lace themselves into the straight-jacket corsets because they had figure defects, or did the fashion of that day make them careless about their silhouettes?

LESS KNOWLEDGE

Women were not so interested in health and in remaining youthful because there was not nearly so much knowledge concerning them. Granny settled down to older age somewhere about 35 or sooner.

★ ★ ★

She did not have the information or hope with which to delay the aging process as we today have. And what was the use of having a well-turned calf or a flat tummy if you didn't get credit for them?

One thing is certain! Fashion designers in the past may have abetted women in fooling men, but they long ago hardened their hearts against such indulgence. You simply have to have a passable figure in the current era.

If you wish to slim your waist, try this exercise: Stand tall. Bend both elbows and place your hands on the back of your head. Keep your arms in this position as you bend over to the left trying to touch your left elbow to your left leg.

Raise the trunk. This time bend to the right, trying to touch your right elbow to your right leg. Raise trunk and continue. Do this slowly, keeping the knees straight.

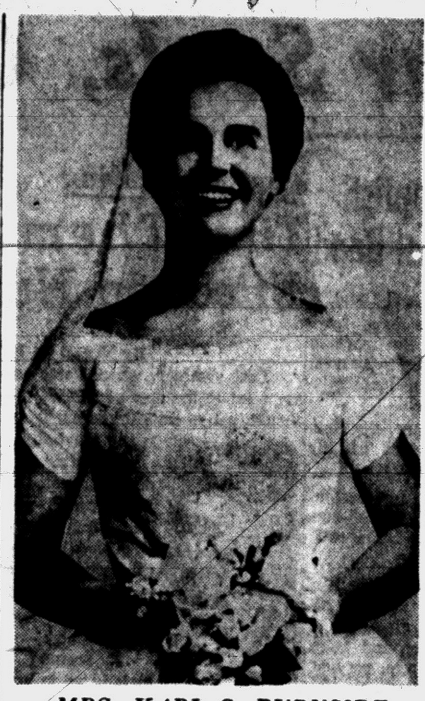

★ ★ ★

If you would like to have my tested waist - slimming exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 6 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

One of the consistent winners in the Detroit Horse Show held this week at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club is "Triple Shot" owned by Mrs. Graham John Graham above of Bloomfield Hills. The chestnut gelding won first place in the open hunter division and placed third in the W. D. McCullough Memorial ladies' hunter event. He was fifth in the hunter hacks.

MRS. KARL S. BURNSIDE

The wedding vows of Helen Hutchinson and Karl S. Burnside were solemnized Friday in Christ Church Cranbrook. She is the daughter of Mrs. Katherine S. Hutchinson of Johannesburg, South Africa, and Samueal Steinhauser of Honolulu, Hawaii. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Karl A. Burnside.

Couple Exchanges Vows

Helen Hutchinson became the bride of Karl S. Burnside Friday at 5 p.m. in St. Dunstan Chapel of Christ Church Cranbrook. The Rev. Robert L. DeWitt performed the ceremony.

★ ★ ★

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Katherine Shields Hutchinson of Johannesburg, South Africa, and Samuel Steinhauser of Honolulu, Hawaii. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Karl A. Burnside.

For her wedding the bride chose a princess gown of gardenia silk taffeta fashioned with a deep rounded neckline and front panels of heirloom Duchess lace. She wore a mantilla of heirloom Rose Pointe lace and carried a bouquet of Amazon lilies, white roses and English ivy.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Katherine Van Ingen of Miami, Fla., served as the matron of honor. The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Terrence G. Jackson of Annapolis, Md., and Mrs. Harter Whiting Williams of Birmingham were bridesmaids.

★ ★ ★

The attendants wore cornflower blue gowns with garlands of ivy in their hair. Their bouquets were composed of white roses and ivy.

Terrence G. Jackson Jr. was the best man. Ushers were John C. Hartsuff, Richard D. Alberts of Lebanon, Ohio, and Charles F. Michalski of Huntington Woods.

A reception was held for 125 guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harter Whiting Williams.

★ ★ ★

For a wedding trip to Bermuda the new Mrs. Burnside wore a biege linen dress.

'Hot Rods' Speed Baking Process

"Hot rods" to speed the baking time of potatoes and meats are the latest kitchen craze.

Fashioned of heat - conducting stainless steel, these rods are triangular spikes inserted into potatoes or meat for delectable taste-results in greatly reduced cooking time.

Hot rods can be reused indefinitely by giving them careful sanitizing with hot soap or detergent suds and a boiling water rinse.

Mrs. Lohff Hostess to Extension Club

The West Side Extension Club met at the home of Mrs. Frances Lohff on Silver Lake road Thursday afternoon.

The July meeting of the club was canceled. Plans were made to attend the Avon Day Camp at the Avon Park, Rochester. Basket weaving and photography will be taught.

The afternoon was spent working on ceramic projects. A dessert luncheon was served by the hostess.

Fashion Hint

White cashmere sweaters are a great summer luxury. But know before you buy that all white cashmere has a tendency to yellow slightly with age. If you still yearn for it, fine. Otherwise pick black or pastel cashmere. They're worn in summer, too.

WILLIAM JOSEPH FREEGARD

A bachelor of philosophy in history was awarded to William Joseph Freegard from the University of Detroit. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Freegard of North Saginaw street.

Wear Gloves for Dirty Work

You'll get a good grip on garden or household tools, and save your manicure as well, if you wear rubber gloves for dirty work.

Practical new gloves are made with crepe outer surfaces for a firm hold, and sueded inners for perspiration resistance.

When soiled, they should be washed inside and outside with warm soap or detergent suds and air-dried after wiping off some of the moisture.

Camp Plans Made by Rebekah Lodge

Forty members were present for the Thursday evening meeting of Welcome Rebekah Lodge 246 in the Malta Temple.

★ ★ ★

Plans were completed to send a child to the Odd Fellows and Rebekah camp at Baldwin. In charge of the social hour were Mrs. Lester Bell, Mrs. John Balch and Mrs. Orley Bruff.

Sharon Cummings Will Be Fall Bride

BIRMINGHAM — Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Prior Cummings of Westchester way announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Lee, to Joseph John Beiss of Detroit.

Joseph is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Beiss and a student at Lawrence Institute of Technology. Sharon attended Penn Hall at Chambersburg, Pa. A fall wedding is being planned.

Gift for Bridesmaid

Jewelry to compliment the bridemaids' costumes is a favorite choice for the bride to give, with necklaces, earrings, pins and bracelets leading the list. Many brides enlist the services of a good jeweler and has her pieces engraved to give them higher "remembrance" value.

Spin a bit of spiderweb lace with a crochet needle while vacationing! You'll find this 19-inch centerpiece fascinating to work, and a compliment-catcher when completed.

Pattern No. 5385 contains crochet directions; material requirements; stitch illustrations.

Send 25c in coins, your name, address and the Pattern Number to Anne Cabot, The Pontiac Press, 372 W. Quincy Street, Chicago 6, Illinois.

It's ready! The 1957 Needlework Album — fifty-six colorful pages showing many pretty designs; plus directions for making 3 crochet items and a quilt! Only 25c a copy!

Housework Can Be Joy When It's Done With Love

Wives Should Realize That Each Task Helps to Make Family Happy

By RUTH MILLET

With every bed they make, every room they clean, every meal they put on the table they are actually giving their families happiness.

I once knew a young wife who got so much pleasure out of scrubbing, scouring, baking and ironing that I was prompted one day to comment on it.

★ ★ ★

After all, she wasn't a woman who couldn't do anything but keep house. She had written a novel in her spare time and had it accepted. She loved swimming and fishing and almost any other outdoor sport.

She was never too busy to help her two young sons plant a garden, watch a pair of birds build a nest, or anything else they found exciting.

So how come she loved cooking and keeping a house clean and all the other odd jobs most women label pure drudgery?

★ ★ ★

She told me that she grew up in a mining town. That her father was killed in a mine disaster when she was only a child, making it necessary for her mother to work long hours in order to make a bare living.

PURE DELIGHT

There wasn't much of a home and during the day there wasn't any mother in it. Then and there she made up her mind that if she ever had a husband, a family and a home, it would be pure delight for her to be able to give them a happy home life.

★ ★ ★

"And so," she said, "I have gotten a real thrill out of setting a room to rights, scrubbing a floor, baking a batch of cookies, putting a good meal on the table. It's wonderful to be able to give my children the kind of home my mother wasn't able to give me."

How few homemakers ever stop to realize that the jobs they do day after day aren't just an endless stream of drudgery.

Neighbors Gather

The Loyal Neighbors Club of Going Street met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. George Thompson of Going Street for a cooperative dinner. Mrs. Carl Peterson was the hostess assisted by Mrs. Herbert Arthur, Mrs. Oliver Arnold and Mrs. Jack Gilleland.

Deal Calmly With Salary Problems

BY ANNE HEYWOOD

Money, whether in the form of salary, drawing account or commissions, plays a part in almost all our jobs, yet we all have a great deal of trouble dealing with it.

The two questions which come up in my mail most frequently are:

"What do you say when the employer asks you, in the job interview, how much money you want?" and "How do you ask for a raise?"

Here are a few pointers on these salary problems:

First, remember that it really is up to the employer to name the starting salary.

If he throws the ball to you, he either wants to trick you into naming a figure lower than he has in mind, or he really doesn't know what the job is worth, or he's open-mined about it and wants to see what you think you're worth.

★ ★ ★

So don't worry if the question does throw you a bit and you do hem and haw — it's natural.

If you know what you want, say it — but be sure it's large enough! Nothing is worse than finding you could have gotten 10 dollars a week more.

★ ★ ★

If you don't know, simply say that you have no idea, not having done the job, what it's worth and ask what amount he had in mind. Usually he'll name a figure.

If you honestly don't know and he honestly won't name one, say you'll have to think it over and call him back. This gives you a chance to check with friends, relatives and employment agency people on salaries for similar jobs.

It is much better than quickly naming a too-low figure and being stuck with it. Times are relatively good, remember, and there are other jobs!

★ ★ ★

On asking for a raise, the first point is to be really sure that you deserve one. When a raise isn't forthcoming, it is often because you honestly haven't rated one.

BE PERFECT FIRST

You may need more money, but that is not the same thing as deserving it. So before you ask for a raise, brush up your work performance until it's perfect.

★ ★ ★

If it is, then right away, without stewing and building up resentment, ask the boss if you can talk with him when he has a free minute. When you do, don't beg or plead, storm or stew.

Just say that you wonder if there's any reason, any flaw in your work performance, which is preventing you from getting the raise you need.

If there is, he'll tell you. If there isn't, he'll probably give you the raise. Maybe he hasn't the money, maybe he just forgot, maybe he believes in giving the squeaking wheel the grease.

By dealing calmly with salary problems, you can handle them smoothly.

Household Hints

For best range care, wipe off the enameled surface of the range top after each meal when the enamel is cool to the touch. Wash the entire enameled surface once a week with warm sudsy water; rinse and dry.

Confident Living

Tints Themselves Have Effect on Human Spirit

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Last summer, when I was traveling in Europe with my family, we went to the opera in Paris. My wife is a real music lover and I, though not so discriminating, found that the opera of the evening was really wonderful.

DR. PEALE

But after the first act the man next to me introduced himself and we spent the intermission talking. He was a psychologist, and our conversation was so interesting that I almost felt annoyed when the intermission ended and the music started again. But we continued our conversation during the second intermission, and this psychologist gave me an interesting thought which I want to share with you.

★ ★ ★

It seemed that my opera acquaintance was making an investigation of the effect of color on the human spirit. He was about to conclude, after a long series of experiments, that tension, blood pressure and heart action resulting from anxiety can apparently be helpfully affected by a proper use of the primary color blue.

For centuries blue has been associated with depression and gloom, but these experiments tend to show that in some patients blood pressure has been reduced from ten to twelve points by the quieting atmosphere of diffused blue light.

I feel there may indeed be something to this, for when I was in Stockholm recently I became fascinated by the "Blue Twilight," a characteristic of that city. It is created through the effect of the Midnight Sun and is an amazingly blue halflight. I found myself greatly uplifted by it and felt a strange sense of peace.

BLUE HOLDS UP

Later, at Chartres, in France, I talked with the man who repairs the famous windows of the ancient Cathedral there. He told me that the one color in the stained glass windows which has not disintegrated under the force of the elements is the blue created by the medieval craftsmen.

He thought Chartres is so stimulating to the human spirit because of the deep blues through which the soft and ethereal light filters into the huge church.

I am no authority on color or its effects, but I have observed that a coloration of the mind by the pure reflection of faith can bring peace and health by driving off anxiety, resentment and other agitators of the spirit. To color the mind, simply fill the mind with thoughts of God, with thoughts of faith, of love and goodness.

You can make the color of the mind strong and peaceful by daily prayer, for prayer itself is a manner of thought. You can pray your mind into good health and peace. Thoughts of this color can create in the mind a powerful attitude toward life in which anxiety, stress and ill will have no place.

Marcus Aurelius, a great Roman philosopher, reminded us that, "The soul is dyed the color of its thoughts." So, the thoughts which motivate you make you either happy or sad, a failure or a success, weak or strong. You can do anything with your thoughts.

You can determine the color of your mind. If you muster strength of character and are willing to pay the disciplinary price, you can eliminate wrong thoughts by thinking in terms of faith so constantly that your whole life and outlook will be colored by it.

FIVE-STEP FORMULA

Try this simple formula for coloring your thoughts with faith: 3. Attend services of worship regularly. 4. Do good to others. 5. Live 1. Read the Bible every day. 2. Make it a habit to think good thoughts. near to God in your thinking and acting.

Color your thoughts in this fashion and you will greatly brighten your life and that of others as well.

Picket Bars by Church

In Philadelphia a prominent Negro minister, Dr. E. Luther Cunningham, pastor of St. Paul's Baptist Church, has organized members of the congregation to picket tap-rooms near the church. Some of the placards read: "Why spend your food and rent money on whisky?"; "Whisky and character don't mix"; "Think of your children."

Bible School to Open in Drayton Plains

Vacation Bible school will be held at St. Stephen's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, in Drayton Plains beginning Monday from 9 to 11:45 a.m.

It will continue through July 12, excluding July 4, at the interim location of the church at the VFW Hall on W. Walton boulevard, east of Dixie highway.

St. Stephen's is the former Waterford Township Lutheran Church. Its name was chosen by congregational ballot from a list of 11 names at the morning worship services the past two Sundays.

Honor Pastor at Open House

Rev. William H. Bell Accepts New Position in Louisville, Ky.

Open house honoring the Rev. William H. Bell of the New Bethel Baptist Church who has accepted a new pastorate in Louisville, Ky., will be held Monday from 6 to 9 p.m.

Friends and well wishers are invited to attend the gathering which will be held at the home of Mrs. Lee Atria Stewart of 27 Crawford St.

The Rev. Mr. Bell will conduct the Sunday service at the New Bethel Church for the last time tomorrow before leaving for his new church, the 100-year-old Calvary Baptist Church.

★ ★ ★

When he came to his present pastorate in 1943, services were held in a basement. Since that time, a new building with pews has been erected and a baptistry, organ and piano chimes and an amplifier added.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Mr. Bell is affiliated with the Ministerial Alliance, the Urban League Guild, the Gibraltar Lodge, the Prince Hall Masons, and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Communion Set for Tomorrow at Presbyterian

First Presbyterian Church will hold summer communion services tomorrow at 9:30 and 11 a.m.

★ ★ ★

Special music provided by the men's quartet will include "O Savior of the World," and "Thanks for Every Day." Leo Yocum, Royce Everett, Lyndy Salathiel and Lane Vander Hoek make up the quartet.

At the service, a new class of church members will be welcomed.

Softball schedule for the week includes a game with Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church July 1 and another with Five Points Community Church July 2.

★ ★ ★

Plans are under way for the coming weekend youth camps at Kensington Park for senior and junior high youth to be held in September.

Five Churches to Keep Status

Area Congregationalists to Ignore Unification in Cleveland

Five Oakland County Congregational Churches will remain Congregational for an indefinite period despite the formation of the United Church of Christ in Cleveland, Ohio, this week, according to Dr. George V. Bohman, trustee of the Detroit Congregational Association.

The First Congregational Churches of Pontiac and Royal Oak, the Community Congregational Church of Lathrup Village, the North Congregational Church of Southfield and the Birmingham Congregational Church unanimously voted to remain self-governing.

★ ★ ★

Several churches which have taken no recent actions cast negative votes on the proposed United Church in 1948, according to Dr. Bohman.

★ ★ ★

Congregational Churches throughout the state have voted to remain independent until a constitution for the United Church, not yet written, can be examined, Dr. Bohman said.

A suit filed in New York Federal Court, with the Pontiac church one of the plaintiffs, declares that the parts of the union—which seem to assume that churches, members, ministers and official agencies can be united without their specific consent should be null and void.

Bethany Slates Mission Pastor

Rev. Russell E. Brown of India to Talk Sunday at Baptist Church

The Rev. Russel E. Brown, missionary to India under the American Baptist Convention, will bring the morning message at 11 a.m. tomorrow to the Bethany Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Brown is the pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church in Rangoon, India, with over 1,200 members. He is currently working toward a Ph. D. degree at Harvard University, with emphasis on the Hinayana Buddism of Burma.

Following the morning service, the Board of Missions is sponsoring a dinner for the Rev. and Mrs. Brown at China City Restaurant. Mrs. I. M. Lewis heads the missions committee, and Mrs. Arthur Heaton is chairman of the arrangements committee.

The second in a series of youth meetings for young people of high school and beyond high school age will be held tomorrow afternoon. Topic of discussion is "Love, Courtship and Marriage." At 4 p.m. the group will leave from the church for Teeple Hill to swim and ride horseback.

David Davies and Roger Anderson head arrangements and devotions, respectively.

Rev. McCurry Guest Speaker for Presbyterians

Rev. Don McCurry, missionary appointee to Pakistan under the Board of Foreign Missions of the United Presbyterian Church, will be the speaker at 10 a.m. tomorrow and again tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. McCurry will speak at the quarterly meeting of the Women's Association at 4 p.m. tomorrow at the church. She will speak again Monday evening at the meeting of the Mary Jo McCurry Teenage Missionary group.

Nine Waterford Youths to Attend Church Confab

Nine youths from Christ Lutheran Church in Waterford Township will attend the seventeenth annual Youth Convention of the Augustana Lutheran Church in Chicago, today through July 5.

★ ★ ★

More than 4,500 young people from the United States and Canada will use the complete facilities of the Conrad Hilton Hotel in downtown Chicago for the convention.

The program will include Bible study sessions, discussion groups and messages by youth leaders.

There will be a parade of all delegates down Chicago's Michigan avenue.

★ ★ ★

Attending from the local congregation will be Linda Byington, Colla Anderson, Douglas Dailey, Milton Valdivia, Gary Gaynor, Bonnie Fuchs, Linnea Hedlund, and Pastor Arvid E. Anderson, who will serve as one of the counselors.

On Sunday morning, Rev. Anderson will be the guest speaker at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Chicago.

Paul S. Vanaman (right) stated the church was organized nearly three years ago and the average attendance is around 250. The Sunday School has an enrollment of 218. Besides his church activities' the Rev. Mr. Vanaman teaches three days a week at Midwestern Baptist Seminary on Telegraph road, near the Emmanuel Baptist Church.

First Christian Church Slates Travelog Sunday

Dr. D. K. McColl of Kansas, brother of Rev. D. D. McColl, pastor of First Christian Church of Pontiac, will present a travelog on "Another Beautiful America" in First Christian Church at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. McColl visited a number of mission stations in South America to gain first-hand knowledge of the needs and possibilities of this mission field. They visited with missionaries, native leaders and the members of many of the congregations there, and photographed scenery, buildings and people. They will show these pictures as part of their message.

The public has been invited to attend this service. It is sponsored by the Christian Woman's Fellowship of First Christian Church.

Via Triumphalis Discovered

Unearth Evidence St. Peter Entombed in Vatican Hill

VATICAN CITY (INS) — The Vatican has announced the discovery of further evidence that St. Peter, leader of the apostles, was buried on Rome's Vatican Hill.

A spokesman said archeologists have found within the perimeter of Vatican City's walls the long-sought Via Triumphalis (triumphal way) which, like the Appian Way, was the site of an important burial ground.

All previous findings by scientists had indicated that Peter was buried on the Via Triumphalis, but archeologists were unable to determine its exact location.

The Vatican said the searchers had unearthed several buildings and tombstones dating from the first century B. C. through the first century A.D. Most authorities have held that Peter was martyred in Rome in 67 A.D.

★ ★ ★

The church spokesman emphasized that discovery of the ancient road would provide a solution to many mseteries which had resulted from previous archeological findings in Rome.

Osservatore Romano, the semi-official Vatican newspaper, regarded the new discoveries as so significant that it devoted a full-page spread to them.

Hong Kong Methodists Plan Housing Project

Methodists in Hong Kong are planning to build a second housing project for refugees from communist China, similar to Wesley Village which now furnishes decent homes for about 500 persons.

★ ★ ★

The new "Wesley Village," to be known by another name, will be another effort to help relieve living conditions among 500,000 refugees now squatting in shacks of packing boxes and tin. New housing projects have been built by the Hong Kong government and various religious groups.

Methodists Plan to Open School for Africans

British and American Methodists have set 1959 as the date for opening a new theological school in Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia.

★ ★ ★

The new college, which will provide theological training for Africans on a higher level than ever before in Rhodesia, is one of several projects in which English and American Methodists are cooperating. The school will be open to theological students of most denominations and will give special training to Europeans.

★ ★ ★

Several buildings, including staff houses, classroom buildings, student quarters and a hall seating 170 persons, are under construction.

After the school is opened, all advanced theological training for both Methodisms will be at Salisbury. Training in lay evangelism and pre-theological training will be given at Old Umtali, where the Methodist Church (American) has for many years been training its African pastors.

Baptisms Set Record

At the Foreign Board sessions, General Secretary Edward B. Willingham reported a record number of baptisms (exceeding 2,400) in the Philippines in the past year. Thirty-eight American Baptist missionaries are assisting Filipino Christians in a total ministry of evangelism, education, medicine and agriculture.

Billy Graham's Publicity Defended by Dr. Peale

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Dr. Norman Vincent Peale has come to the defense of the widespread publicity being given evangelist Billy Graham's revival crusade in New York City.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Peale, minister of New York City's 4500-member Marble Collegiate Church and a noted author, asked Los Angeles newsmen:

"What is wrong with advertising religion? Are we supposed to abandon modern techniques just because they are modern?" He added:

"As a result of Billy Graham's crusade and the publicity it is getting, everybody in New York is talking about God and in the right way."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Peale described Graham as "in my opinion, the greatest preacher of the Christian religion in our generation."

He took the occasion to voice the belief that Los Angeles needs a revival to bring increased spiritual awakening to its citizens. Dr. Peale said:

"Los Angeles is one of the world's most dynamic communities. It also is one of the most tense communities I've ever seen.

"It has traffic, it is noisy, it is fast and hectic. The smog doesn't get to the brain, but we would all like to see a clear cut vision."

Claire Bloom Likes Elvis — on Records, at Any Rate

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's hard to imagine, but Claire Bloom, English beauty of "Romeo and Juliet" and other classics, is a fan of Elvis Presley.

"I love his singing; he has real rhythm," enthused the dark-haired actress. Since she was working at MGM in "The Brothers Karamazov" while he was in "Jailhouse Rock" (now there's a study in contrasts!), a meeting was arranged.

The meeting was a classic in itself. Elvis came forward eagerly, grasped Miss Bloom's hand in both of his and murmured, "Hello, honey, how old are you?"

★ ★ ★

The actress said she was so taken aback, she blurted, "Oh, much older than you."

"Why, honey, you don't look much older than a teen-ager." He pondered a moment and added: "but then, you never can tell. Some of the crew on this picture look like young men, but they're 75 and 80 years old.'

"That spoiled it!" Miss Bloom laughed as she told the story later. Her status as a Presley fan was shaken somewhat, but she confessed she still likes him—on records. And she added that she is 3½ years older than his 22.

★ ★ ★

"The Brothers etc." is her first film for a major Hollywood studio, but not her first in Hollywood. She made her debut here a few years ago as Charlie Chaplin's leading lady in his last Hollywood film, "Limelight."

Now she's back to play the fiancee of Yul Brynner. She destroys him in "The Brothers" after she is spurned for Grushenka (Maria Schell).

★ ★ ★

Her first big break was playing Ophelia in a Stratford-on-Avon production of "Hamlet." She became one of England's finest young actresses, performing in many classics for the Old Vic company. She starred with the Old Vic in New York last season. Her biggest exposure before American audiences was repeating her "Romeo and Juliet" performance on NBC-TV.

Security for You

VA Handles Benefits for Survivors

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

From R. J. L. of Knoxville, Tenn.: "Our only child was killed in action in World War II. I am nearing retirement age, own my home and working under Social Security. Will my wife and I be eligible for a monthly check from the government based on our son's death? We need this information so we can make future plans."

Under present laws covering the death of servicemen, parents are eligible to monthly checks from the government if their income is within certain limits. The limits are complicated and vary. I suggest you get in touch with a local VA office for a discussion of your situation.

From Mrs. H. C. L. of Los Angeles: "I'm 72 years old and a widow. For some years, I've been a shut-in. Recently a friend told me that I wasn't getting the correct amount of Social Security. Please tell me what to do."

You can either phone your local Social Security office or ask, by letter, to have a Social Security representative visit you you. Don't be reluctant to do this. The Social Security representatives want to see you get the correct amount.

★ ★ ★

From W. J. G. of New York City: "I was disabled in mid-1956. It has been declared a permanent disability by the Social Security office and I will receive disability payments. However, I will not be 50 until August. When will I start receiving Social Security checks?"

You should receive a check shortly after Sept. 1 for the month of August—the month in which you became 50.

Mrs. G. S. H. of Washington, D. C.: "My husband who is 65 had recently applied for Social Security payments I understand that a wife may also receive payments. I'm 56. Will I be eligible for payments when my husband starts getting them?"

★ ★ ★

No. You'll not be eligible for payments as a wife until you reach 62.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

Aid to States, Individuals Costs Uncle Sam Billions

WASHINGTON (INS)—The federal government has given an average of 3 billion 500 million dollars a year to states, localities and individuals since 1934.

★ ★ ★

Figures detailing the grants-in-aid and payments for items ranging from highway construction to maternity care were compiled in a report by the Congressional Committee on Reduction of Non-essential Federal Expenditures.

The group, headed by Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) didn't describe any of the amounts as nonessential in its 618-page document.

Byrd's own statement in issuing the report was confined to a summary of what it contained.

IKE ASKS STUDY

President Eisenhower has proposed naming a commission to study whether federal responsibilities — including aid in natural disasters and urban renewal — can be transferred to the states so that federal taxes can be cut.

Both of those functions are among multifarious activities listed in the report as the basis for 54 programs of federal aid to state and local governments and 22 programs of federal payments to individuals.

Byrd said: "In 23 years since 1934 there have been 175 of these programs . . . Some of the programs have continued over the entire period. Some have expired. Some have gone through functional, organizational and titular changes but continued."

In 23 years, Byrd said, these 175 programs have cost over 80 billion dollars "exclusive of federal overhead," or an annual average of three and a half billions.

Chou No. 2 Man in China

By INS

To Western ears the words, "Chou En-Lai," may sound more like the description than the name of Red China's premier and foreign minister. The words are pronounced, roughly, "Joe-In-Lye."

Now 59, and Communist China's No. 2 man behind seldom seen Mao Tse-Tung, Chou is known for his wit, charm and grace in diplomacy, and whenever he wishes, the ability to "turn it on."

Only ten years ago, he was a completely charming "good Joe" in marathon bull sessions with Western newsmen at Nanking.

Yet Chou himself has warned, "You mustn't forget that I am a Communist." And as a Communist, and Red China's spokesman to the West, he assailed the United States Wednesday.

He said Communists have become "more powerful and more united," but American "imperialist policies" still threaten China and still leave the "danger of war."

No one has questioned that Chou is Red China's most able diplomat. There is a story that former Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov told a Western official: "If you think we are difficult to deal with, wait until you come up against Chou. We know exactly what it is like."

Chou was born to impoverished but proud Mandarin stock, joined the Communist party as soon as it was set up in China and traveled.

He was graduated from Western-style Nankai University in Tientsin, visited Japan, France and England, worked in the Rhineland coal mines, and in 1924, at age 26, returned to China.

Already he had been in prison and had visited Moscow. He joined Dr. Sun Yat-Sen's famed revolutionary group.

Escheats Board Gives State $1,200,000

LANSING (AP) — The state's general fund was richer today by $1,200,000 turned over by the State Board of Escheats.

The funds represent unclaimed and abandoned property received by the board during the 1956-57 fiscal year.

State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown, board chairman, said the sum represents the biggest release the board ever made in any one year.

Not Many Are Busier Than Helen O'Connell

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Helen O'Connell, who comes from Ohio, and also has other wonderful characteristics, is the new wandering minstrel lady of TV, and at this moment she's having statistical worries.

"You just went up again," one statistician informed her the other day.

"My rating?" she burbled happily.

"No, your income tax bracket," replied the figure man, an accountant.

HELEN and TOM

This brave blond mother of three recently acquired a new husband who's still amazed at the industriousness of his $100,000-a-year bride.

Wandering all over the TV listings from "Today" at 7 a.m. to her own show at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and Friday, she then wanders to airports to hop to Oklahoma, Nashville or Atlantic City for the next week's "remotes."

★ ★ ★

"And it's so much more involved for a girl than a man," Helen said the other lunchtime. Her husband, author Tom Chamales, who married her three weeks after they'd met, and three weeks before she started her own TV shows, listened in frank admiration.

"If a man has a few suits and gets a haircut, he's O.K.," she explained.

"But I have to have two hair appointments a week.

"And since we live in the country I often have a 4:15 a.m. wakeup call for the 'Today' show. Poor Tom. He's lost 28 pounds since we got married."

Tom looked happy about it.

"I went down to Haiti to get Jimmy Jones married and I came up here for a week. Then I was going to Florida to fish and to Mexico to write and when I finished that I was going to Europe for two years," Tom said.

"I'm still in New York—a place I swore I'd never live—with a wife and three children!"

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Sarah Vaughan visited a medic about her fear of crowds. She says: "I like crowds only when they're paying customers" . . . New singer, Kenny Bowers, has a beard—just like the boss, Mitch Miller . . . The "Love in the Afternoon" film distributors were asked by their Bombay office to cut a scene showing Gary Cooper kissing an Indian girl. (They're touchy after the Rossellini affair.)

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Lou Brecker described an old, dusty hotel room he once had: "On a clear day you could see the ceiling." . . . That's earl, brother.

Red Sox Leapfrog Over Tigers, 9-2

Defeat Pushes Detroit Out of First Division

Duke Maas Handed 6th Setback; Lary Slated for Mound Today

BOSTON (AP) — The Detroit Tigers who started their current tour of the East with the heady prospect of taking over second place in the American League were faced with the more realistic problem today of how to get back in the first division.

When the Tigers opened their current tour, 11 games ago, they needed only three victories over the then-sagging New York Yankees to move in behind the front-running Chicago White Sox.

★ ★ ★

Seven defeats in 10 games before they met the Boston Red Sox shattered Detroit hopes of reaching lofty American League pinnacles.

And last night the Bosox handed Detroit a resounding 9-2 defeat and leapfroged over the Tigers into fourth place in the AL standings a half game ahead.

Solo home runs by Charley Maxwell and Frank Bolling provided the only solace for the Tigers who had beaten the Red Sox seven times in eight meetings prior to last night's encounter.

★ ★ ★

Maxwell's homer in the first inning was his 15th of the season and put him in third place in the American League race behind Mickey Mantle and Ted Williams.

Bolling's homer, his ninth of the season, was a hard smash off the left-field screen leading off the eighth inning.

Boston's Billy Klaus cracked out four hits, including a pair of homers, as righthander Duke Maas went down to his sixth defeat in 13 starts.

★ ★ ★

Tom Brewer, who went the route for Boston, chalked up his ninth triumph against six losses in holding Detroit to seven hits.

Four Tigers pitchers — Maas, Harry Byrd, Steve Gromek and Billy Hoeft — gave up a total of 15 hits to the surging Red Sox who gained their ninth victory in their last 11 starts.

Klaus, Boston's swinging shortstop, drove in five of Boston's runs.

Frank Lary who has a 4-8 record, faces Boston's Dave Sisler in today's game. Sisler has won five of his nine starts this season.

Moore Blanks Indians for 4th Straight

Orioles Tie Shutout Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hec (Skinny) Brown, Billy Loes, Connie Johnson and Ray Moore, four guys wearing "Who needs 'em?" tags when they joined the Baltimore roster, suddenly have come through with a record-tying scoreless pitching streak to trigger the Orioles' big bid for the American League first division.

It was Moore's turn last night, beating third-place Cleveland 6-0 with Baltimore's third straight three-hitter as the sixth-place Birds, who have won five in a row and eight of the last 10, matched the AL mark with a fourth consecutive shutout.

Chicago and New York continued their first-place deadlock with the White Sox, defeating Washington 4-3 and the Yankees knocking off Kansas City 5-4. Boston replaced Detroit in fourth, beating the Tigers 9-2 to stay 2½ games ahead of Baltimore.

★ ★ ★

Moore, a 31-year-old righthander who once was Brooklyn property, walked three, struck out two while gaining his fourth victory in nine decisions. All he gave the Tribe, who just took two of three from New York, were singles in his first shutout of the year. Jim Busby, the ex-Injun, singled home the first run in the fourth inning (for a 10-game hit streak) when the Orioles got a walk and added two bunts off loser Mike Garcia (3-5).

★ ★ ★

Baltimore bunts, an old formula for Manager Paul Richards, who gets his runs early, then hopes his pitching will hold up, led to six Cleveland errors—and three runs.

In tying the league record set by Cleveland in 1903 — and also tied by the 1935 Yankees and 1948 Indians— the Orioles have strung together 41 shutout innings, beginning with Moore's five against Detroit Sunday. Then Brown, picked up from Oakland, beat the Tigers 6-0 with a five-hitter; Loes, another ex-Dodger, three-hit Kansas City 5-0, and Johnson, once with the White Sox, three-hit the A's 1-0. All but one of the 14 hits given up in the shutouts have been singles.

The major league record for consecutive shutouts is six, by the 1903 Pittsburgh Pirates.

SPORTS

Braves Back in NL Lead as Cards Slip

The National League pennant race continued to be as dizzy as it is hot today as Milwaukee moved back into the lead in the 5th turnover of 1st place this month.

A 4-2 victory over Pittsburgh did the trick as the Cardinals skidded to 2nd with a 4-1 defeat by the ambitious New York Giants, who now have won 13 of their last 17. Cincinnati clung to 3rd by pasting Philadelphia 7-1 in the only other game Friday. Brooklyn and the Cubs were rained out.

Milwaukee took first place for a third time this season as Del Crandall backed up Warren Spahn's five-hitter with a three-run double in the third against Bob Friend, who has lost nine. Spahn, winning his eighth, struck out six and hit his 18th career home run — a record for NL pitchers — while shutting out the Bucs on one hit for six frames. Dee Fondy, with two hits for a league leading .361 bat average, singled home a run in the seventh.

It was the fifth turnover in first place this month — and to give you an idea of just what kind of nonsense is going on in the NL, the Braves moved back in by winning only five of 10 since dropping out of the lead eight days ago.

The sixth-place Giants, who had put the Cards in first place by beating Milwaukee 4-3 last week, tagged nine-game winner Larry Jackson with a fourth defeat as Daryl Spencer rapped a two-run double in the first. Rookie Curt Barelay, whose single capped a two-run fourth inning, gained a 4-5 record with Marv Grissom's relief help as the Giants moved within three games of fifth-place Brooklyn.

The Redlegs, two points back of the Cards and also a half game out, bagged it with three home runs — a three-run shot by George Crowe, a two-run job by righthander Hal Jeffcoat, who had three RBIs while winning his seventh with a four-hitter.

Crowe, Bell and Wally Post had been scratched from the All-Star lineup earlier in the day by Commissioner Ford Frick, who named Cardinal Stan Musial, Milwaukee's Hank Aaron and New York's Willie Mays instead when a late Cincinnati vote bundle placed eight Redlegs in the starting line-up.

UNDER COVER — Rain that again plagued the Detroit Horse Show at Bloomfield Open Hunt club, east Long Lake road, yesterday failed to keep the real horse fans away. Above picture shows the way most of the spectators were equipped to brave the drizzle. Umbrellas, raincoats, boots were the usual thing. Better weather was promised today and Sunday when the big show closes.

YANKED—Gus Bell, slugging outfielder of the Cincinnati Redlegs, was removed from the All-Star game starting lineup along with teammates George Crowe and Wally Post by Ford Frick after a flood of Cincinnati ballots put eight Redlegs in the lineup.

57 Enter Final Rounds at Plum Hollow

CAREFUL OF No. 4—Slammin' Sam Snead veteran pro and twice winner of the Western Open takes precautions on the treacherous 4th hole at Plum Hollow where he had a zooming 10 on Thursday. He had a par-4 on it yesterday, and he just made the cut-off point by adding a 69 to his 75 for 144. Snead drew as much attention for his 10 as some players did for their sub-par rounds.

Littler, Maxwell in Lead; Bone in 3rd Place Tie

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The axe fell Friday on all but 57 of the original 170 entries in the Western Open Golf Championship which moved in on the third round at the rain-spattered Plum Hollow Golf Club today.

The cut after 36-holes came with all golfers shooting 144 and under earning the right to go into the final two rounds today and tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

A pair of longtime friends, Billy Maxwell and Gene Littler, were tied for the lead at mid-point with 6-under par 136's.

First round leader Dow Finsterwald skidded from a 65 to 72 but kept within striking distance in a five-way tie just a stroke behind the leaders with 137.

Gene Bone of Pontiac, the youthful assistant at Tam O'Shanter, turned in a hot round of 67 to go with his 71. He and three others were tied at 138.

The heavy rains did not permit the par-breaking onslaught of Thursday, but 35 players still managed to fire par or lower. On Thursday 56 did it.

Neither Maxwell or Littler have been able to win one of the PGA tournaments on the circuit, except in the Tournament of Champions where Littler was the victor and Maxwell was runnerup.

Yesterday Maxwell added a 70 to his first round 66 but it was Littler who had his spectacular putter with his 67. The 25-year-old Californian started with a 30-foot birdie on the first hole. He then had a birdie-3 on the 7th and a bogey on the 9th.

On the back nine, Littler bogied the 12th, and then put on a tremendous finish by getting birdies on four of the last five holes with putts of 6, 20, 30 and 35 feet.

Bob Hill of Rochester, N.Y., Ken Venturi of San Francisco, Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., and Bob Duden of Portland, Oregon, were deadlocked with Finsterwald at 137.

★ ★ ★

Bone, who owns a tie for the Plum Hollow course record with 64, came through with eight 1-putt greens and five birdies for his 67. He, Babe Lichardus, Jerry Barber and George Bayer were bunched at 138 and with 139 were Jim Demaret, Stan Leonard and Joe Conrad.

"The rain really helped me today," said Bone. "Yesterday my putts were going by the cup, today they were dead center," he added.

Area pros Max Evans, Rochester Golf Club, and Wally Burkemo, Franklin Hills, were among the eight tied at 140 which is 2-under. Evans had a fine 67 Thursday but yesterday he slipped to 73 with three bogeys and a bird.

★ ★ ★

When the cut was made, other area pros including Jack Fleck, Elmer Prieskorn, Tommy Shannon and Ray Maguire dropped out of contention. Fleck with 145 missed by one stroke.

Mike Dietz added another par 71 to stand a 142 at midway point.

Not an amateur was able to make the cutting point qualifiers. Best score from the non-pros was turned in by 17-year old Jimmy Hill, a University of Detroit freshman who hails from Jackson. Hill had rounds of 73-72—145.

Sam Snead, whose 10 on the 4th hole on Thursday surprised every one, came back with a neat 69 to add to his 75, and he just made the cut with 144.

Windsor's Rudy Horvath dropped in a pair of eagles on the 8th and 18th to make the cut with 72-70—142.

Action with the hope of sunshine was scheduled to begin at 11:00 a.m. with the highest scores going out first and the leaders going out at 2:00 p.m.

FRIDAY'S HOME RUNS
Held, Lopez, Athletics; Maxwell, Bolling, Tigers; Klaus 2, Red Sox; Spahn, Milwaukee; Bell, Crowe, Jeffcoat, Redlegs; Anderson, Phils.

TIME TO THINK — Handsome Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., reads the green before getting ready to putt. He did some good reading yesterday as he fired a 67 during which four of his six birdies came on putts 20 feet or longer.

Nine Americans in Monza Race

MONZA, Italy (AP)—Nine American speedsters and three determined British pilots were primed today for the race of their lives, the Monza international 500-miler.

Ahead of them was a contest which seems certain to be the fastest race in 20 years and maybe the fastest ever. It also was a contest likely to be as hazardous as any driven.

However, the prospect didn't appear to bother the drivers as the 6 a.m., EST, starting time approached. They said they were looking forward to the battle of the asphalt straights and the concrete banks.

Behind them were the qualifying tests which saw Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill., take his Novi Special around the 2.6-mile track at a speed of more than 177 m.p.h.

Other qualifying times were high. Five other American entries—Jimmy Bryan of Phoenix, Ariz.; Pat O'Conner of North Vernon, Ind.; Bob Veith of Oakland, Calif.; Eddie Sachs of Allentown, Pa.; and Andy Linden of Speedway, Ind.—turned in clockings of better than 170 m.p.h.

One Card Held Fate of 8 Pros With 144

John McGoldrick is a relatively unknown pro from Norfolk, Conn., but little did he realize that in his final score lay the hopes of players like Sam Snead, Mike Souchak, Jay Hebert and Ed Furgol, of getting into today's third round of the Western Open.

When the cutting line was being decided, all four of the name pros were listed in an eight-way tie with 144.

The rule stated that the top 50 including last place ties would go into the final two rounds.

As the late scores were being reported, it was noted that there were still three players on the course and if all three were to come in with 143 or lower, then all those with 144 would be left out. There were 47 players within the 143 line and these three would have made the 50.

Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla., was first to bring in his card. He had a 142. Jerry Robison also made it with 143. This pushed the total to 49, and there was only McGoldrick.

The Connecticut pro had a 73 plus a 36 on the turn. A 34 would have made him the 50th player at 143. The pros in the clubhouse weren't wishing him bad luck, but even a 144 would have assured all those tied at 144 to make the cut.

★ ★ ★

The rain poured heavily, everyone waited for McGoldrick's missing back nine. It finally came. A big 75 eliminated him with 148, but enabled some prominent names among the 57 pros to make the cut.

Shelleys to Visit Virgin Canada Lakes

Howard Shelley and Mrs. Shelley left yesterday for a two or three weeks fishing and film-making trip into the Canadian vastness above Lake Superior. Their plans call for a visit to virgin lakes where they will fly in for some pike, walleye, lake trout fishing. Some of these waters, Howard reports, have never been fished, as far as is known.

Their vacation area is one to which few anglers venture.

END OF DRIVE — Gene Bone of Pontiac put together some clean drives and hot putts in firing a 67 yesterday to move up among the leaders in the Western Open being played at Plum Hollow. Bone is 71-67—138 at mid-point, just two strokes behind the leaders Gene Littler and Billy Maxwell.

Frick Cans 3 Cincinnati Players

Redleg Fans "Stuff" Ballots

NEW YORK (AP) — Sweeping changes in the selection of baseball's All-Star teams loomed today in the wake of a fantastic situation that would have sent the entire Cincinnati team — excepting the pitcher—against the American League had not Commissioner Ford Frick wielded his veto power.

Some baseball officials wanted the game "given back to the managers," meaning the 16 pilots would select the starting teams. This was tried once, but discarded because it "took the game away from the fans."

Others, like National League President Warren Giles, called for allotting each city an equal number of votes. As the voting now stands, a fan can vote hundreds of times, so long as he fills out the official ballot in the newspaper that has been designated as the regional vote-counter.

Just before the voting deadline at midnight Thursday, the Cincinnati Times-Star deposited more than a half million votes in the league office. Virtually all of them named the entire Cincinnati lineup.

★ ★ ★

Frick acted quickly yesterday. He dumped first baseman George Crowe, center fielder Gus Bell and right fielder Wally Post. In their places he named, respectively, Stan Musial of St. Louis, Willie Mays of New York and Hank Aaron of Milwaukee. These three had been leading at their positions before the Cincinnati deluge.

There still will be five Redlegs in the starting line-up in St. Louis July 9—catcher Ed Bailey, second baseman Johnny Temple, shortstop Roy McMillan, third baseman Don Hoak and left fielder Frank Robinson.

★ ★ ★

"They were leading even without the avalanche from Cincinnati," said Frick.

Cincinnati Manager Birdie Tebbitts said whatever Frick decided was all right with him, but that he thought the three displaced players should be made honorary members of the team.

Redleg General Manager Gabe Paul observed with a touch of irony:

"If a candidate for public office were elected because the supporters of his rival did not get out to vote, I am sure his election would still stand."

Brooklyn Manager Walt Alston appeared relieved by the turn of events. He would have felt rather foolish handling eight Redlegs.

"I like the idea of having Musial, Mays and Aaron on my side," he said. "I'm sure they will improve our prospects. I think the commissioner made a wise move. No one team should monopolize the game."

★ ★ ★

"I don't question the honesty of the poll," Frick said in explaining his action. "But something had to be done.

"The overbalance of Cincinnati ballots resulted in the selection of a team that would not be typical of the National League and would not meet with the approval of fans the country over who are interested in and support the All-Star game."

Accepts Bay City Cage Post

Ullenbruch to Leave Walled Lake

One of Oakland County's most talented young high school coaches will ply his trade in the rugged Saginaw Valley Conference next season.

Bill Ullenbruch, head basketball coach at Walled Lake High School, has resigned his post to take a similar position at Bay City Central.

Ullenbruch's resignation was announced today. He replaces Art Paddy, who resigned at Bay City on May 24 to accept the head basketball coaching duties at West Bloomfield High School in Keego Harbor.

Tom Evans, athletic director at Walled Lake, said there was no immediate prospect for the vacated job. "Time is growing short so we'll have to look fast," Evans said.

The 31-year-old Ullenbruch guided the Walled Lake cagers to an Inter-Lakes Conference co-title and the semifinals of the state tournament in his 1st year at the Viking helm. He also served as an assistant to football coach Dave Smith.

Ullenbruch came to Walled Lake last September from St. Clair High School, where he spent four years fielding winning basketball teams. His 1955-56 quintet went to the state quarter-finals.

He is a native of Port Huron and was graduated from Port Huron High School in 1944. After a two-year hitch in the U.S. Air Force, he entered Western Michigan College at Kalamazoo in 1946.

He transferred from Western to Hillsdale in 1948 and received his Bachelor's degree in physical education from the tiny college in 1950. In 1952 he took his 1st coaching job at St. Clair.

Ullenbruch has been working on his Master's degree at Springfield (Mass.) College and is only three credits away from his goal. He hopes to complete the work this fall at a Michigan school.

"I was very well satisfied with Walled Lake," he said, "and they have a tremendous staff there." "I hate to leave because I was just getting started, but I can't pass up the opportunity to coach at a Saginaw Valley school," he added.

The Bay City position is a challenging one and Bill is, in his own words, "naturally looking forward to it." He will also assist in football and track at Central.

Busso Seeks Title Shot After Victory

BOSTON (AP)—Unranked Johnny Busso, a 24-year-old product of New York's East Side, sought a lightweight title bout today as No. 5 contender Larry Boardman of Marlborough, Conn., planned a long rest.

"Now I want a shot at champion Joe Brown's title," Busso said last night after battering Boardman for a unanimous decision in a nationally-televised slugfest.

A 13-5 underdog, Busso floored the 21-year-old Boardman in the first and third rounds for compulsory eight-counts while en route to his impressive triumph before a wee crowd of 422 at Mechanics Building.

Shorthair Pointer Whelps Litter of 14

What is regarded as an unusually large litter for a shorthair pointer was whelped this week by a five-year-old dog owned by Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Roote, 9454 Boncrest, Lower Straits Lake. It was her 1st litter.

Their trained hunting dog whelped 14, lost two, but the unusual feature of the event, besides the number of pups, was that the whelps were born "all over the place," first in the Roote yard, 2nd in a veterinary's place, two others outside the office, and the 6th in the yard. "Never heard of anything like it," the Roote's said.

Pro-Am Golf Tourney at Indianwood Monday

Indianwood Country Club will be host to the 4th Pro-Am Metro golf tournament of the season Monday. The pro-am events are sponsored by the Metropolitan Golf Association.

Play is conducted on an 18-hole, best-ball basis by an area professional and three amateurs from his respective club. Ron Fox, Bill Martin, Jack Fleck, Ray Malain and host pro Mike Dietz are among the golfers expected to compete.

Six Games Here Sunday

Four softball games and a baseball twin bill will make up a busy sports calendar here Sunday afternoon and evening, weather permitting.

Several contests in both sports have been postponed during the past week due to heavy rains and will be made up at later dates.

In Sunday night softball doubleheaders, Drive-in Cleaners play Oxbow Pavilion at 7 and Lane's Drive-in vs. Deni's Corner at 8:30 at North Side Park, while Birmingham battles Stadium Inn at 7 and once-beaten Shaw's meets the Elks at 8:30 at Beaudette.

The baseball action is scheduled for Wisner Field with Shaw's taking on two league rivals. The Jewelers play Thomas Die & Stamping at 1:30 and Griff's Grill at 3:30.

Richardsons Choose Lake Front Site

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Like most of the other lakes in the immediate vicinity of Pontiac, Williams Lake has long been a favorite spot for cottage owners and, more recently, owners of permanent homes.

★ ★ ★

SMALL KING REIGNS

Young Tommy has been the king of the Richardson household for the past nine months. It has meant a busy year for his mother, helping plan and supervise the building of a new home, then moving in and getting settled—all with a small baby.

Tommy, of course, has his own sunny bedroom. Like all the bedrooms it has natural finished oak floors. Walls are painted blue. Pink scatter rugs make the room appropriate for a baby but do not look sissified in a boy's room. The curtains have a bright Noah's ark print on a white background. The baby furniture is blonde.

The guest room has a single bed in it. All bedrooms have sliding door closets. This room has green walls and sandalwood color curtains with a green and brown print.

The Richardsons' room which overlooks the lake has pale lemon walls. There is a taupe rug on the floor and flowered curtains at the two sets of windows. All furniture is maple. An heirloom type spread covers the double bed.

In line with the trend to more and more color in bathrooms, the Richardsons planned theirs in gray and pink. The floor is checked in shades of gray and pink tile. Wallpaper above the lower gray tile walls is gray and pink. All fixtures and curtains are pink. There is a large miror above the pink topped vanity.

The living room is at the back of the house where the picture window can frame a view of the lake. The lawn slopes gently down to the water's edge. This room is separated from the hall by half walls on either side of the wide doorway. Mrs. Richardson places choice pieces of china and small plants on the white divider shelf.

FIREPLACE FRAMED

Light sandalwood walls with a drop ceiling of white give this room a spacious air. The Roman brick fireplace has a white wood frame around it in keeping with its simplicity. The hearth is multi-color slate.

Tweed carpeting in beige, brown and white covers the living room, dining room and hall floors. Draperies are rose colored, floor length ones.

The sofa is covered in a rough textured green fabric. Throw pillows in beige and coral are bright accents. All lamp tables are maple. The television set is a console model, finished in maple. For HIM there is a light brown armchair; for HER there is a smaller cinnamon brown chair. The third chair is a maple Boston rocker.

The dining room is also on the lake side of the house. Here, the lower part walls are painted green and are capped with a birch molding. A stylized wallpaper covers the upper part of the walls.

On one wall there is a built-in birch china cabinet. Four shelves at the top have glass doors, surrounded by a scroll design of birch. Four drawers below have brass ring handles.

The furniture is St. Johns maple and includes a round table and chairs with cotton covered seat pads. The latter have a small acorn and flower design. On one wall there is a cuckoo clock. The lighting comes from a drop fixture of brass.

DADO IN KITCHEN

The Richardson kitchen is corridor type with eating space at one end, the front of the house. This end has a dado of birch on the walls with colorful wallpaper in a Pennsylvania Dutch design above.

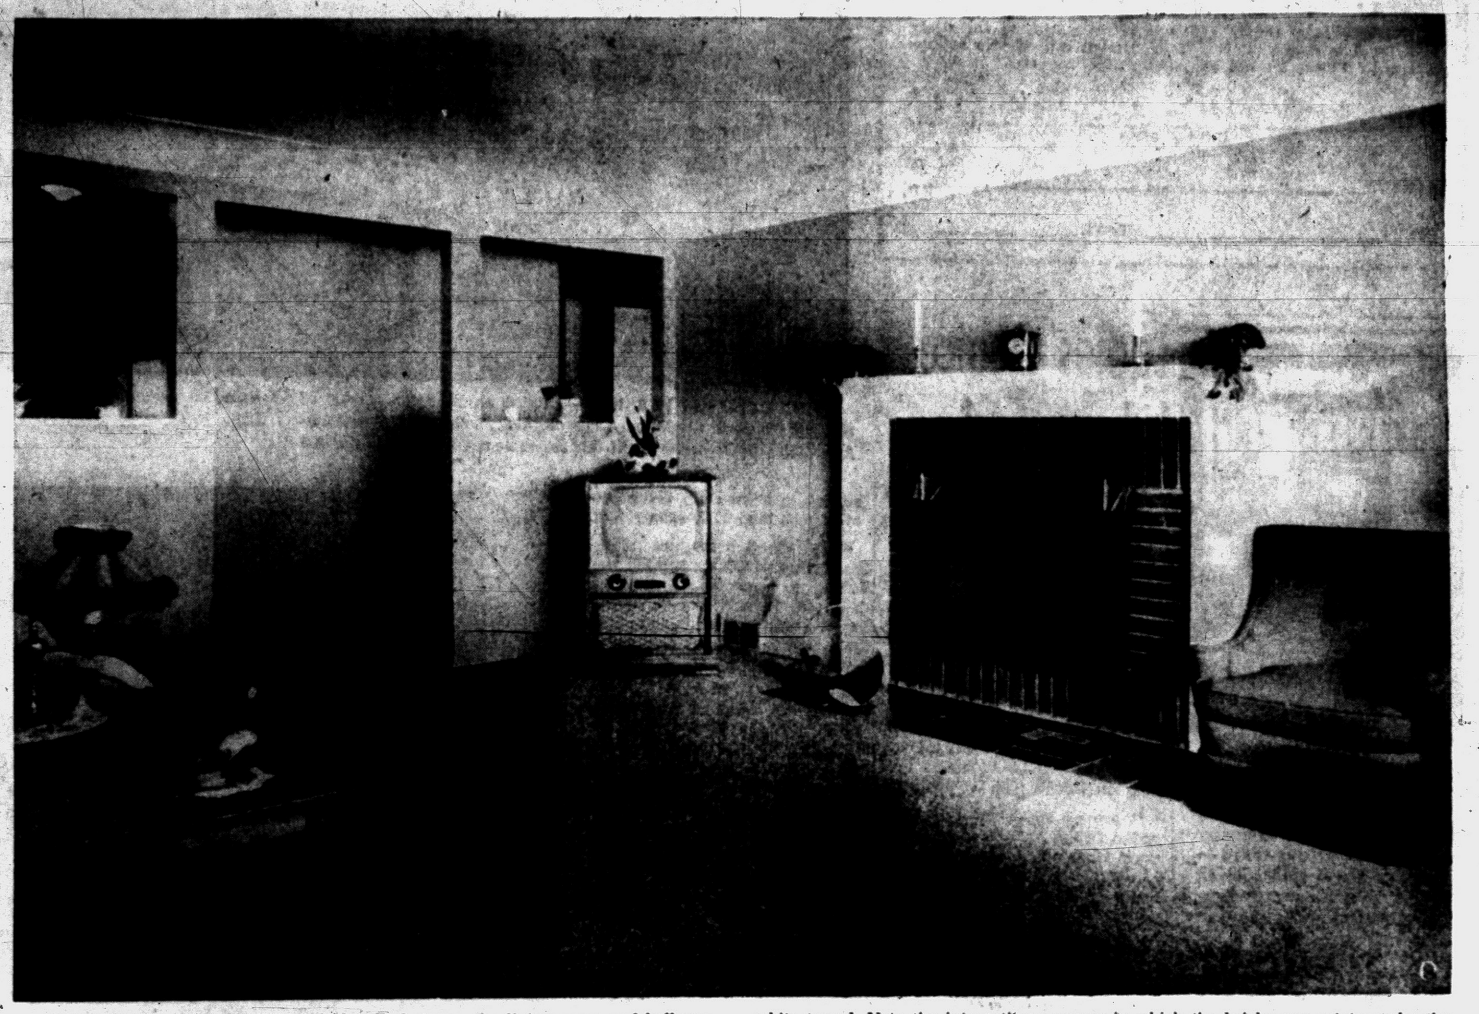

The breakfast table is steel with a wood pattern plastic top. The chairs have plastic top covers and padded backs. Semi sheer white curtains soften the glare of the western sun through the wide window.

Appliances and working space are built in on either side of the remaining part of the room. Birch cabinets in natural finish simplify housekeeping. Counter tops and splash boards are bright red Formica. An unusual feature is the Formica moulding around the counters. All hardware is copper.

Walls are painted white, while the floor has green linoleum on it. Above the sink Mrs. Richardson grows ivy in a bird cage.

The Richardsons have a complete basement. One section of it is a recreation room with a fireplace. this area can take care of 35-40 people. Eventually there will be tile on the floor down here.

Nick Palmer of Pontiac was the builder of the Richardson home. He used a stock plan. It took about four months to complete this house and two-car attached garage. The Richardsons moved in in February.

Hot Water Cools Homes

There are two ways of providing cooling for homes heated with hot water. One method combines the two functions of heating and cooling. The other separates them.

In the combined system, forced convectors in rooms provide both heating and cooling, depending on the season. A boiler supplies the distributing units with hot water for heating; a chiller, cold water for cooling.

Each convector has a built-in fan with graduated speed settings. By varying the output of cool or warm air, the room temperature can be adjusted upward or downward as desired.

In a split system, where heating and cooling are separate functions performed by separate equipment, it is customary to put the cooling unit in a dropped ceiling enclosure with duct passages radiating from it to grille openings in various rooms.

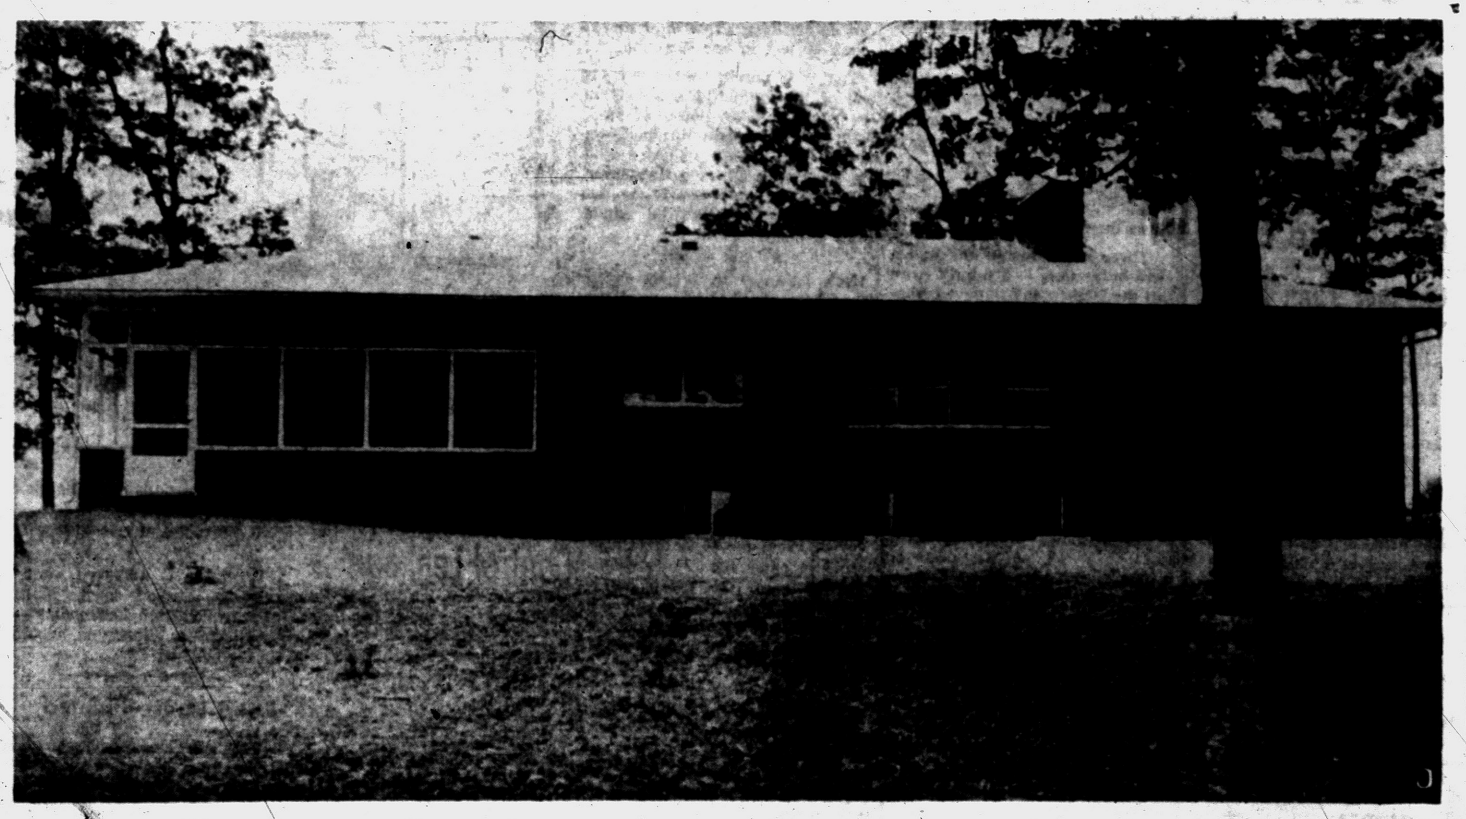

In winter, heat is provided by a boiler and distributed throughout the house by baseboards, convectors, radiators or panels.

Prediction for Fall

Furniture woods finished in mellow tones to bring out full beauty of their characteristic markings, are being shown for fall marketing. The finish most often seen in a recent show is a soft tone of brown, neither light nor dark, and generally in a low sheen. The full natural beauty of the distinctive markings of walnut, cherry, mahogany, maple and any number of exotic cabinet woods is brought out to full advantage by these clear, deep, soft-toned finishes.

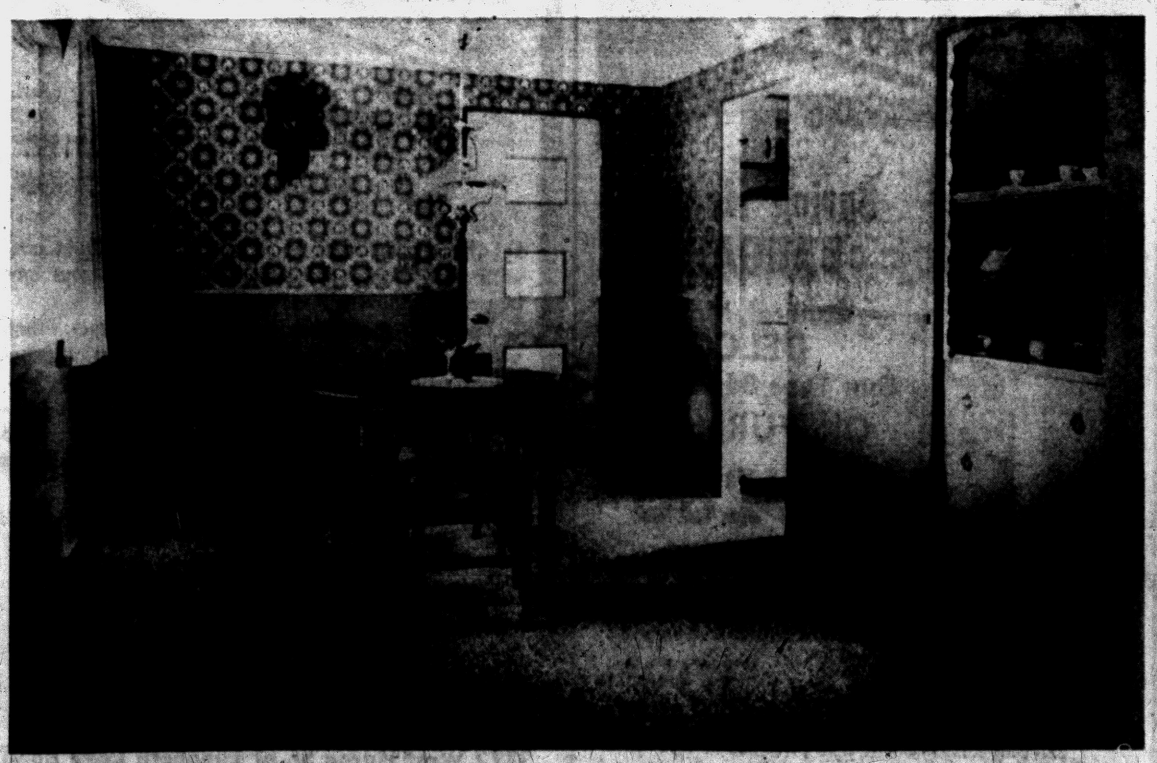

CORRIDOR KITCHEN — The most important room in the house, in the estimation of young Tommy Richardson, is the kitchen. Here he gets his three squares a day with snacks in between. Mrs. Richardson, shown here with her son, enjoys cooking in this attractive kitchen. Walls are white, the floor green and counter tops red.

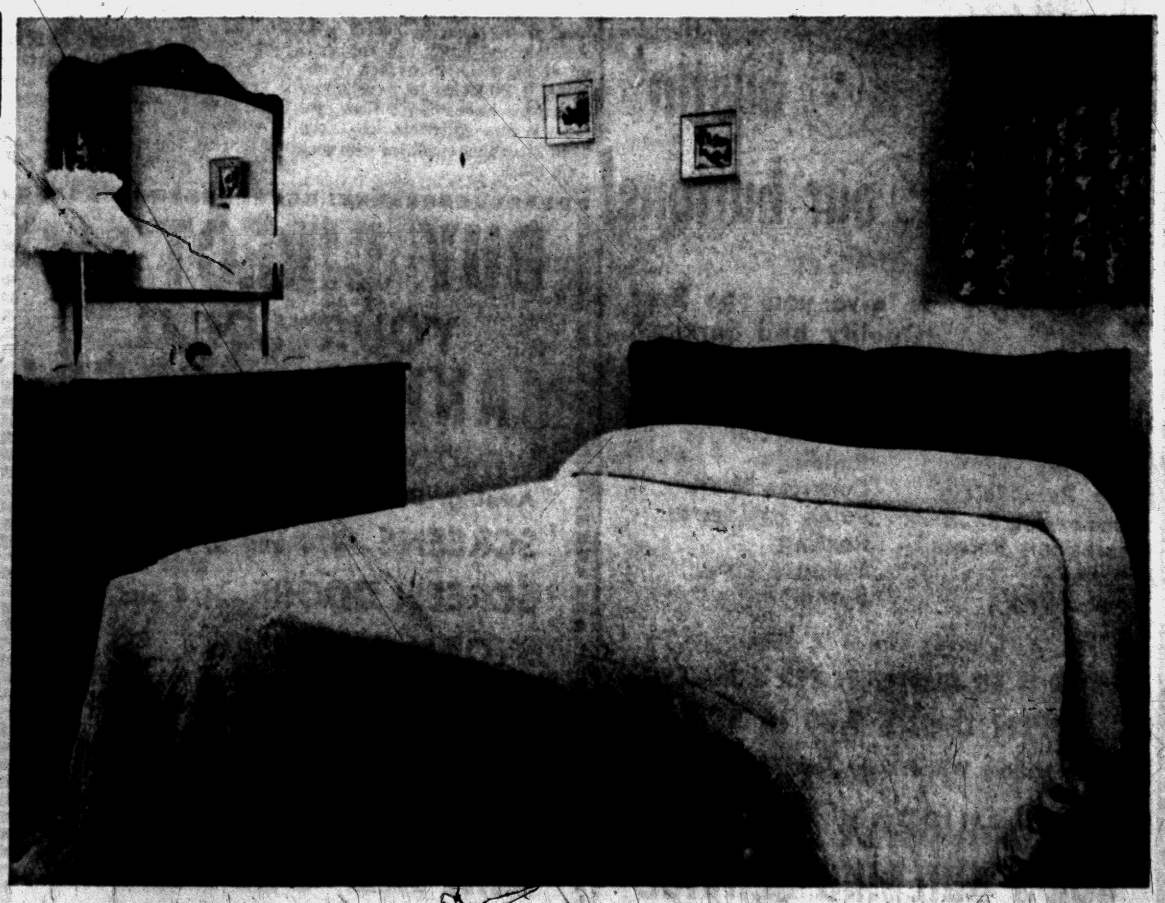

ON WILLIAMS LAKE — One of the few lots left on Williams Lake now belongs to the Delwin Richardsons. They have built this red brick ranch-type home on Carlos Drive. The lot is wooded and slopes gently down to the water. There is a pleasant screened porch on the rear of the house, with doors from it leading both to the dining room and the two-car garage. Nick Palmer built the Richardson home from stock plans.

PONTIAC PRESS PHOTOS
By TOM GERLS

CHARMING SIMPLICITY — Lower walls of the dining room are painted green with a capping birch molding. Above is green and pink wallpaper. The door in the rear leads to a screened porch, handy for summer eating. Note the attractive built-in birch china cupboard on the right. The decorative scroll design relieves the bareness of the glass doors. Furniture is St. Johns maple. A drop fixture of brass hangs over the round table.

MAPLE BEDROOM — Maple furniture fills the salmon yellow bedroom the Richardsons share. A white heirloom type spread is used on the double bed with its bookcase headboard. There are flowered curtains at the two sets of windows which give cross ventilation to the room. The rug is taupe color.

IMPROVED 1957 VERSION — Here is an improved version of the 1956 House of the Year. A contemporary exterior and new outdoor living facilities highlight this ranch house, a sequel to the one based on suggestions made at the 1956 Women's Congress on Housing.

Ladies' Choice Is Improved

1957 House of the Year Satisfies Requirements Listed by Homemakers

BY ANDREW C. LANG

Here is am improved 1957 version of the 1956 House of the Year.

The original was designed by architect Rudolph A. Matern to meet stringent requirements laid down by housewives from all over the country at the Women's Congress on Housing in Washington.

It proved an outstanding best seller. In the country as a whole, more study plan orders were received for it than for any other house in the House of the Week series.

Now, drawing on his experience with that first attempt as well as on the Women's Congress specifications, he has come up with this fresh interpretation.

He has given the house a new and striking contemporary exterior, added some outdoor living facilities as a bow to the al fresco trend, and achieved this harmonized whole — a home with a high degree of livability both outside and in.

Remember what the ladies wanted in their ideal house?

Three bedrooms — one and a half bathrooms — a family room off the kitchen and removed from the more formal living room — a separate dining room—a kitchen at the rear — a mud room — adequate closet space—the bedrooms on one side of the house—and all in a one-story home covering less than 1,500 square feet.

Well, it's all here, plus quite a few extras which the women were willing to sacrifice if they had to do so. Through careful designing, the architect was able to blend those extras with the requested essentials.

Note the excellent traffic pattern, with the kitchen and the family room separated from the formal living room and dining room area and the sleeping wing. No wasted steps there and, more important, no tracking of dirt through the rooms by the children.

The youngsters can enter the house from either the side or the rear porch and terrace to the lavatory and mud (or clean-up) room without setting foot anywhere else in the house, not even in the kitchen. They can go down to the basement from the outside, again without going through any of the living area. And, at night, they can move from the family room to bed without entering any other part of the house.

The kitchen is set at the rear (as the women requested, with a window facing the porch and terrace. There is a special breakfast-snack area so that the dining room can be reserved for more formal meals. A folding wall enables you to close off the dining room and living room from each other or use them as a unit.

When this wall is folded back, and the sliding glass doors between the dining room and the side porch are opened, there is an entertaining expanse of more than 40 feet in one direction.

That side porch, by the way, is one of the delightful additions to the most popular house of 1956. Although utilitarian in purpose, neatly joining the outdoors and the indoors, it gives a distinctive touch to the appearance of the exterior with its latticed stone work enclosure.

★ ★ ★

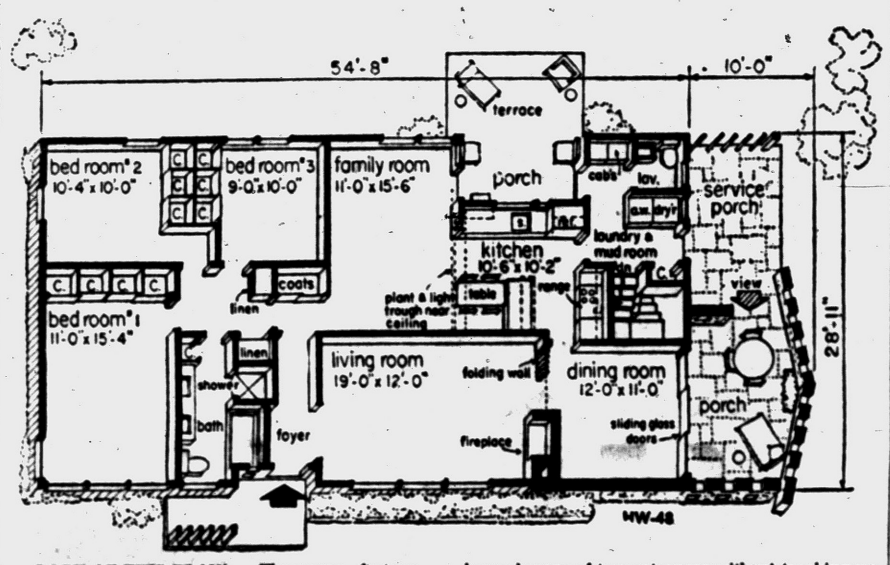

Now let's consider closet space. The Women's Congress on Housing thought 5 feet of closet hanger space per person would be wonderful. The closets in this house provide a total of 37 linear feet of hanger space! Takes care of a pretty good-sized family, donesn't it?

The planter-flanked front entrance, set under an overhang to protect the door area from the weather, leads to a spacious foyer. From the foyer it is possible to enter the family room-kitchen area, the living room-dining room section or the sleeping wing — another indication of the care taken to provide something extra in the way of easy traffic circulation.

There's an old saying that there's nothing so good that it can't be improved. As good as the most popular house of 1956 was, we think this new version of it is even better.

SIDE PORCH — This is an extra touch added by the architect. Sliding glass doors make it easily accessible from the dining room. Latticed stone work encloses this area.

LOOK AT THIS PLAN! — The square footage, without porches, is 1,493. Note how the kitchen and family room are separated from the formal living room and dining room and the sleeping wing. Note how the youngsters can enter the house by one of two entrances without tracking up any room, not even the kitchen. Note how the living room, dining room and porch can be one entertainment area, simply by opening doors.

Basement or Not

This house was designed with a basement — because the Women's Congress on Housing wanted a basement.

But if you feel otherwise, there's no problem. There is plenty of space between the dining room and the laundry room for one of the modern heating-air conditioning units. Part of the space would, of course, be obtained from the present area occupied by the basement stairs.

Floors Reflect Beauty

No matter how fine the furnishings, if the floor is not in good condition the room will not show up at its best. No surface in the home is subjected to more abuse or harder wear than a floor, yet today's floor products can keep them in shining condition with very little effort.

Polyethylene Will Control Leakage

Leakage of moisture through concrete-block foundations is being controlled by an Indianapolis builder through the use of film made of Bakelite polyethylene. Applied to the outer surface of the foundation blocks, the film is a moisture barrier between earth and concrete. The lightweight film is easy to apply, and because of its chemical inertness, should last a long time. The film is resistant to soil acids and alkalies and withstands normal temperature changes.

Eastdale, Inc., the builder, and Building Materials Service Co., have developed a simple installation procedure. After the surface is tarred, the film, .004 of an inch thick, is unrolled and smoothed out by workers. A four-foot centerfold roll is used, and workers cover an entire wall surface with one roll, and no overlapping. The flexible film unrolls around corners without requiring any fastening.

★ ★ ★

Tight fit is achieved when the film is brushed down. Moisture penetration from surrounding earth is effectively eliminated, according to the builder.

Keep House Painted

The best time to paint your house is before it begins to show that it needs painting. This way the job takes less scraping, sanding and other prepainting preparation—and likely only one coat will be needed instead of the two coats required for more weather-worn surfaces.

Wicker Furniture Needs Special Cleaning Care

To spruce up the reed, cane, or wicker furniture that is so popular for sunporch and patio use, dust it with a stiff brush or vacuum cleaner attachment. Periodically, and especially if you plan to paint it, follow the dusting with a washing.

★ ★ ★

Use cloths wrung out with lukewarm soap or detergent suds, and follow with clean damp cloths. Avoid sopping these types of furniture because prolonged wetness encourages warping.

Yes—we have the wonderful new Curtis wood kitchens. You'll be thrilled with such features as swing shelves—pull-out trays—"island" units, spin shelves—and many other very new conveniences.

These ultra-modern cabinets come in birch for finishing "natural," or you may paint them to suit yourself.

Come in and let us help you plan a work-saving, more beautiful Curtis kitchen.

FOLDING CLOSET DOORS — A new line of beautiful wood closet doors, in louver and hollow core design, double as they fold back to offer complete closet access as opposed to half exposure provided with by-pass doors and without requiring swing room of conventional hinged doors. Called "Bi-Fold," the new doors employ silent nylon bearings and operate with top and bottom tracks from which they can not disengage. All parts are claimed to be prefitted and installation requires but 10 to 20 minutes. Bi-Folds are available in both birch and Philippine mahogany in four standard sizes for closets up to 6 feet wide.

Good Floors Deserve It; Bad Ones Need Attention

This is the season when big rugs make their exit and little rugs make their debut. It is also the season to give your floors the attention that a good floor deserves and a bad floor needs.

Denuded of the protection of larger rugs which are used throughout the winter and exposed to the scampering feet of small fry on vacation, of Dad's garden shoes and the sand and grit that are an inevitable part of summertime activities, floors may suffer lasting damage.

Whether the floor is of wood, vinyl, asphalt or rubber tile the results of rough treatment will be the same — scratches, nicks and other scars that will be difficult if not impossible to remove.

All of this can be avoided, however, if the floors are given the proper care when the house is put into its summer dress.

Johnson's consumer service has suggestions which will be helpful in keeping the floors in top condition.

For wooden floors a good coat of paste or liquid wax is preferable. There is one type of liquid polishing wax that cleans as well as waxes, thus being a time and energy saver. An electric polisher will provide a hard finish that will resist wear and reduce the number of re-waxings necessary during the summer. The number of times a floor will need re-waxing depends upon the wear and tear to which it is exposed.

A self-polishing wax is excellent for linoleum, vinyl plastic, asphalt or rubber tile floors. If such a wax has been previously used on the floor any old coat remaining should be removed with a preparation designed for this purpose before a new coat is applied.

Make sure, says the consumer service, that the floor is perfectly clean before a coat of wax is applied. It should be scrubbed with a good soap powder or detergent and thoroughly rinsed first. The wax should not be applied until the floor is dry.

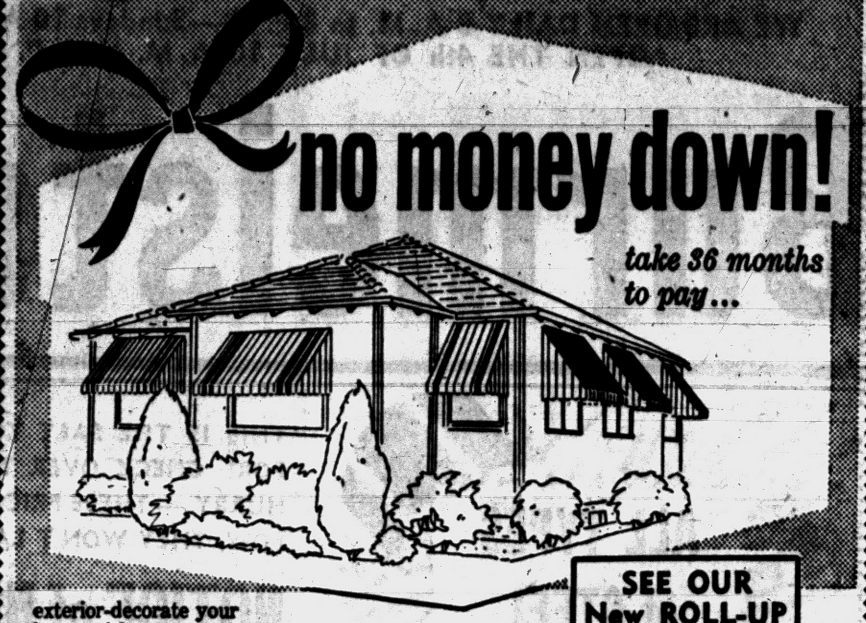

When it is time to put the floors in condition for the winter the same procedure can be followed as that used for protection in the summer.

Follow Rules for Yard Pool

Huckleberry Finn would certainly have been surprised to find a swimming hole in his backyard, but if Mark Twain's favorite character were around today he might find a swimming pool in any one of 41,000 backyards.

Lower costs and newer building methods have given architects freedom of action in designing pools built of basic structural components like steel and concrete for permanent installation of durable, easily maintained surfacing materials such as ceramic tile.

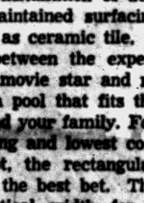

Somewhere between the expensive pool of a movie star and no pool at all is a pool that fits the needs of you and your family. For easiest swimming and lowest cost per square foot, the rectangular pool is usually the best bet. The minimum practical width for a pool is 15 feet, and if you want a springboard and wading area, a pool should be at least 35 feet long.

To size your pool in relation to the number of people who will use it, allow 36 square feet of water for each swimmer, and 100 square feet for every diver. The average-depth 20 x 40-foot pool with diving board in use will accommodate 14 people at the same time.

A three-foot walk should surround the pool, and at the springboard or deep end it should extend back about nine feet. Particularly well suited for these areas are the smaller size ceramic tiles generally called mosaics. Mosaic tiles are especially attractive for this use by virtue of their highly slip-proof nature.

For the sun deck or terrace often built around outdoor pools quarry tile, one of the most rugged yet attractive materials, is a favorite choice of architects and builders.

NEWS VIEWS

The current prosperity in the country seems to have made more people interested in the future... and they're paying plenty for the long look. At a recent magicians' convention a speaker claimed that fake mediums are collecting between 200 and 300 million dollars a year from gullible Americans. Both the business and the "take" are out of this world.

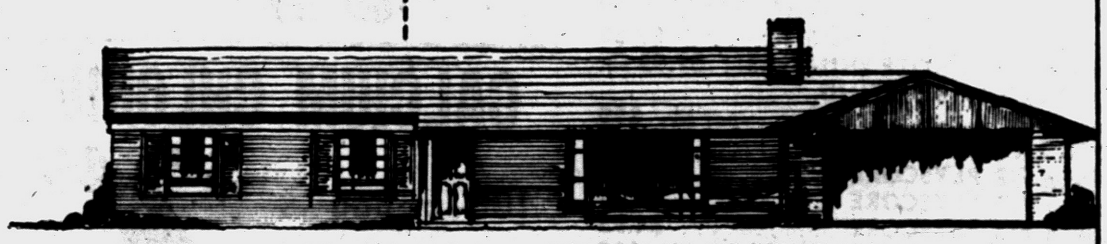

This convention speaker said most mediums are phonier than a three-dollar bill. He said they can't see any farther into the future than a fellow with sunglasses peering through a brick wall on a dark night. Well, we're all interested in the future, but maybe ignorance is a kind of bliss. Then we don't worry about bad things that may happen, and good things are welcome surprise.

A Boston widow is suing for $10,000 which she said was to be left her in a will for feeding, combing and brushing off a cat. That's a nice brush off.

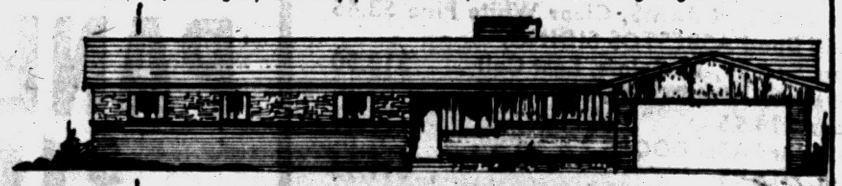

House pets usually get a good deal of personal attetnion, though I doubt if they put a dollar value on it. But the personal attention you get when you need help with real estate sales or purchases can actually mean extra money — or extra savings — for you. Remember, we're equipped to give you that kind of attention.

HIGHLAND ESTATES — Located on M-59, just east of Airport road, this model home, The Scot, is now open for inspection. Selling for $12,900, it has three bedrooms and a family sized kitchen. Lots are about a third of an acre. Gordon Williamson of Detroit is handling sales.

160 New Homes Planned on M-59

Some 160 brick and siding homes are planned for a new subdivision on M-59, east of Airport road. Two models, the Scot and the Highlander, are now open daily for inspection by the public. The Highlander is furnished.

★ ★ ★

The subdivision is to have paved streets, curbs and sidewalks put in by the builder. There will be storm sewers and community water. GIs may purchase the homes with a $480 down payment. Both VA and FHA terms are available.

The model shown in the accompanying picture is the Scot. It has an attached carport with storage space. The kitchen is family size.

The Highlander has a full basement but no carport. Both models have numerous closets, including three for linen. All wardrobe closets have double doors. Kitchens have natural finished cabinets. Baths are tiled.

Gordon Williamson of Detroit is handling the project.

Match Closet Colors to Room Decoration

When decorating your bedroom, carry the color scheme into the closets, too. Use the same color as the bedroom for shelves, trim, footboards, but try a contrasting one on the walls, such as yellow with green or white, turquoise and navy. Or you might try the bandbox look by putting striped paper on the walls.

You might want to put linoleum on the closet floor, too, in the same color scheme. It will be so easy to keep free from dust with a quick once-over mopping with the special cleaning product for floors that's fine for painted walls and trim, too.

The National Beef Council reports that the six most prominent breeds of cattle in the U. S. are, in order of their numbers: shorthorns, herefords, aberdeen angus, galloway, brahma and santa gertrudia.

LAKESIDE '57 — The newest model in Lotus Lake subdivision is the Lakeside '57. Located at Williams Lake and Airport roads, this all brick house has 1,040 square feet of living space. There is a full basement. Storms and screens are included in the purchase price of $15,150. Streets are paved and curbs are in. Lots average 80x150. Kitchen features are a large eating area and a fan. Ceramic tile is used in the bathroom and kitchen. Special heating controls — Minneapolis Honeywell Moduflow — allow the outside temperature to control the inside. The furnace is oil, forced air type. The model is open from noon to 8 p.m. daily. These homes may be purchased on FHA terms. Meadowbrook Realty Company of Detroit is handling sales.

Remodeling Old Closet Like Finding New Space

Your house may not be new, but you can bring your old closets up to date in a hurry by following a few simple remodeling steps. And when you finish, that old-fashioned closet will give you exactly double the space that it provided before.

The standard, narrow doorway of your conventional walk-in closet gives you an entrance to an area that is not more than a pole and a shelf for storage. But by widening the door area and building in some simple fir plywood units to utilize every inch of space, you can turn an old closet into a wardrobe or utility center that is a model of efficiency.

To open the old closet up, the wall space on either side of the old entry door is cut out to provide an opening as big as the closet itself. Then, this is closed off with two swinging doors which have storage space built right into them. Compact storage units are built into the closet area. Sound complicated? If you work carefully and follow directions, it isn't.

The lady of the house will appreciate the utility and convenience of this women's wardrobe which is the result of a remodeled old closet. It has lots of space for all kinds of feminine finery from shoes to blouses to handbags. All units are built from fir plywood and ordinary framing lumber.

Instead of complicated woodworking joints, special Washington Line hardware fittings are used for drawers and door construction in the closets. For example, metal slides take the place of dado joints and grooves for the drawers.

Construction details were covered in a recent issue of a home magazine. A free reprint is available by writing Douglas Fir Plywood Association, Tacoma 2, Washington.

Keep Sticky Tape Handy

Live Through Summer and Really Enjoy It

Pestiferous insects and constantly slamming screen doors continue to be the two most common summertime aggravations reported by homeowners, according to a recent survey by The Yale & Towne Manufacturing Company, makers of locks.

Yale & Towne, as a result of its survey, has come up with a list of practical suggestions designed to help combat these bothersome warm-weather annoyances.

★ ★ ★

INSECTS are the most annoying of the warm weather aggravations. Figures made public by The National Pest Control Association indicate that a single pair of flies, beginning in April, could produce 191 septillion offspring by August, if all lived.

The United States Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine admits that the number of flies and mosquitoes is fantastic and adds that both insects are present in every county of the United States.

Many dangerous diseases are transmitted by flies and mosquitoes but modern medicine helps to combat them more effectively than in the past. Both flies and mosquitoes, nevertheless, form the "number one" source of summertime aggravation in suburban and rural areas.

Slamming screen doors, the second of the warm-weather annoyances most commonly reported in the Yale & Towne survey, are the result of the old fashioned coil spring used to keep doors shut and bugs out. Relief from slams that grate the nerves on hot summer days can be achieved by anyone at reasonable cost.

Pneumatic door closers which insure certain closing accompanied by no more than a gentle click, are available at hardwares and department stores. If your home is air-conditioned, hydraulic-type door closers on exterior doors will insure more efficient operation of your home cooling system. Both types of closers can be used on combination screen and storm doors.

To insure firm latching of the screen door, the homeowner should also use a push-pull catch—easiest of all latches to open and close. Their ease in being opened helps safeguard the screen when children use the door. These push-pull catches are equipped with a push-button locking device to prevent unnoticed entry by would-be housebreakers.

Yale & Towne's research survey presents the following helpful hints to householders to help combat insects:

HOW TO FIGHT INSECTS

1. Use space-sprays or aerosol bombs in the house.
2. Use the new super-repellent chemicals, such as "6-12", on skin and clothing.
3. Use residual sprays that will stick on screens, porches, and garbage cans.
4. Play safe with 16-mesh-to-the-inch screens on doors and windows to keep out all insects.
5. Hang screen doors to open outward.
6. Keep water from accumulating in tin cans, eavestroughs, and street gutters.
7. Empty bird baths or chicken watering pans at least once a week.
8. Screen open cisterns, cover cesspools, septic tanks, and rain barrels.
9. Treat standing water in pools or ponds with larvicides.
10. Stock ornamental pools with gold fish or top swimming minnows.
11. Use fly traps, fly papers, fly poisons, fly electrocution devices, and fly swatters in the homes.
12. Spread manure thinly on fields and lawns to prevent flies breeding. Store manure in fly-tight boxes or pits, and treat it with borax, calcium cyanide, or super-phosphate.

Install a Shower Outside for Summer

Emphasis on outdoor living is booming the shower cabinet business for plumbing contractors everywhere.

Outdoor barbecues, gardening, badminton in the back yard—these are activities that have intensified the cleanup problem for the average family.

A bathroom upstairs or in a remote part of a home on one floor is inconvenient when family living shifts outdoors. The logical answer? A bath just inside a patio entranceway, with a prefabricated shower cabinet.

Sump Pumps Are Sized

Sump pumps are made in different sizes to meet varying load requirements. Householders who have basement water problems are advised to consult with an experienced contractor or sump pump dealer who will be glad to recommend the type of pump which will best serve the purpose.

Clean Furniture on Timetable

CHICAGO (INS)—If you clean your furniture on a regular schedule, it will keep looking as good as new and last longer.

Upholstered furniture should be once a week to remove abrasive dust particles that cut into fabric threads.

Experts for a furniture manufacturer also recommend that cushions be reversed once a week to equalize wear.

Upholstered furniture should be brushed or vacuumed thoroughly shampooed with a soap lather or a good foam cleaner, using as little water as possible, periodically. "Rinse" off the lather with a cloth, dipped in clear water and wrung thoroughly, several times.

Wood surfaces will take on a more beautiful patina through the years if they are dusted frequently and occasionally waxed.

The new plastic tops now available on bedroom furniture can be washed with soap and water but wax can be used occasionally to make them shine.

Other wood surfaces should be wiped with a damp cloth once in a while and then waxed.

Minor scratches can be filled in with colored waxes, now available in a variety of finishes.

If your furniture has lacquered or plastic finishes, make certain the polish you use has a wax base—not an oily one. Oil bases may dissolve the finish.

Extra Color in Kitchen

Don't forget to paint canisters, broom and mop handles, waste baskets, vegetable bins, and other kitchen accessories. These bright touches will add extra cheer as well as preserve items that could become shabby from constant use.

Let Weather Put Control on Heating System

Want to plan now for perfect comfort next winter — perfect comfort all of the time, regardless of the outdoor weather? This is the time to make plans to let the weather run your heating system. This can be done by means of an indoor-outdoor temperature control.

★ ★ ★

Summer is the ideal time to have changes made in the heating system. This is one of the changes that will provide greater comfort along with fuel economy.

An indoor-outdoor temperature control modulates the heat supply, matching delivery with need. The colder it gets, the greater the heat output. Conversely, when weather warms up, the control acts as a brake on the heating plant, preventing overheating.

In either case, indoor temperature is maintained constantly at emphasizes.

Any of the forced hot water heating systems — baseboard, convector, radiator, or panel — can be modulated for better control of temperature and fuel burned for heating.

Any heating and piping contractor will be glad to explain this refinement in control and how easily it can be installed sometime in the course of the summer months.

SMALL SIZE — This new small size Hide-A-Bed by Simmons is easy to use in a family room, and is also perfect for an extra guest. The new slim lines measure only 40½ inches, and it opens into a comfortable single bed. Covered in a soft blue green homespun, it looks smart with harmonizing printed wallpaper and draperies and early American style furniture. The storage chests provide plenty of room for linens and other accessories. This Hide-A-Bed is also available in toast, charcoal, tangerine, egg shell and gold homespun, as well as 200 other fabrics.

Let Children Participate in Family Painting Bee

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Painting nowadays is so simple and easy a process that even the most inexperienced novice can obtain good results. Youngsters — who love to paint — can do their share, too. Soon now the children will be out of school, so why not plan a painting party in which they can take part? Put it on the fun basis — with a picnic lunch in the back yard as a bonus — and watch them perk up to the idea.

Start with the kitchen. While you paint the ceiling and walls, the teenagers can devote their talents to painting chairs, tables, waste basket, canisters, bread box — everything, in fact, that can be removed from the kitchen and painted in the garage or cellar or outside.

The painting of porch and garden furniture, too, offers a real opportunity for family group participation. This might be an even better starting point because everybody can be together outside. First comes the readying of surfaces where everyone can join in.

Wooden chairs and tables must be sanded smooth. All cracks and nail head indentations must be filled with putty. Metal surfaces must be rid completely of every trace of rust before a new coat of paint is applied. Otherwise the rust will continue it damage, even though hidden by the shing new coat of color.

Next come the base coats. If you're working on furniture that has been sanded down to the bare wood — or on pieces that have never before been painted — they need priming with enamel undercoater before the cracks are filled. Uncoated metal areas call for priming with red lead, zinc yellow or zinc dust.

As for final coatings, use exterior enamel, trim-and-trellis paint, or farm-and-tractor enamel.

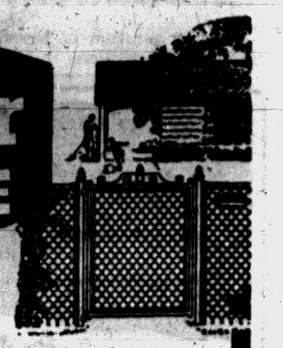

Painting window screens offers another chance for group activity — or the painting of the recreation room, or the attic — or even just the painting of a fence or porch.

So, first off, call a meeting of the clan and decide what is to be painted, what colors are wanted, and what materials are required for the job. Don't forget such items as sandpaper, putty, drop cloths, newspapers, clean-up cloths (use these as you go along), paints, stirring paddles, a can opener, paint thinner, brushes and rollers.

While you're out buying the paint — and the hot dogs and other picnic fare — your helpers can assemble the tools that are already in the house and have the stage set for action when you return.

Many hands will make the job a cinch. Besides having a lot of fun, the children will be richer for learning how paint protects possessions, how it brings beauty into the home, and how family cooperation can bring about improvements that everybody can enjoy.

Metal Lath and Cement Make a Fine Play Box

A sturdy "four-seasons" play box is just the thing for your backyard. Such a box offers many advantages for youngsters. In fall it may hold sand, a delightful way to keep tots out of mischief while Autumn leaves fall. The same crowd of tiny laborers can build a snowman or little igloo in the box come winter. In spring it may hold water and fish to entertain tiny anglers. In summer it can be a sturdy wading pool.

The box may be any size, built either at or below ground level, and constructed of metal lath and concrete. At ground level the drainage problem is eliminated by inserting a drain pipe in the concrete mix at floor level during the construction stage.

Amateurs do not need to build forms to hold the mix in place. A basket-like box of metal lath and tie wire is all that is needed. After that stage a trowel applies concrete to the sides and bottom of the box.

Ready - mixed dry concrete available in bags at hardware stores and building supply houses makes the job even simpler. The concrete keys itself to the basket through hundreds of small diamond-shaped openings in the metal lath.

The lath is easy to work with because it may be bent to shape by hand. It is available in sheets at building supply houses or lumber yards, may be cut easily with tinners' snips. The diamond mesh lath weighing 3.4 pounds per square yard is best for a box of this sort.

Parents may wonder at the advisability of building such a permanent fixture. The children will grow up, they reason, and there they are stuck with a concrete box in the yard.

Other uses for a fixture of this sort however, may be employed by any homeowner. The box may be built up a little more within its form and used as a place to burn trash. It is ideal for a compost pile, something to keep in mind when selecting its location.

A border of spring flowers around it and some goldfish within it may add a delightful note to a garden. Then too, it may be used as a special place for prize roses, topped by peat moss it will look very attractive and the drainage pipes will keep the flower bed well drained.

Wood Texture Is Decorative

Space dividers in a long, open room add decorative interest as well as making more use of space possible. They give you new ways to arrange furniture, change traffic lanes, and make better use of center floor space, as well as defining areas.

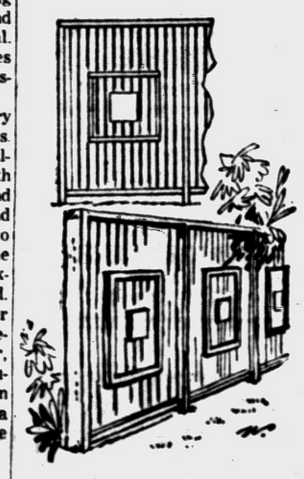

There are many types of space dividers on the market, ranging from elegant wood, metal, and combination wood and metal. These usually come with shelves for books, and decorative accessories.

You can make an open, airy space divider by using closet poles. Poles are cut to fit, floor to ceiling, braced top and botton with wood, and painted the background color of the walls. They can extend as far as you want them, and to them may be attached one of the new lampoles, a floor-to-ceiling expandable unit with lights attached.

With the pole divider, off-center or center use of floor space becomes possible by placing a chair, small sofa, desk or music instrument such as the chord organ against the divider, or using a piece of furniture as a part of the divider.

Mowers Need Protection

Power lawn mowers need especially durable protective finishes to safeguard them against weather and against rough usage. Manufacturers of garden tools and equipment are providing such protective finishes in glamour-color coatings which not only perk up sales but actually make the customer happier in using them.

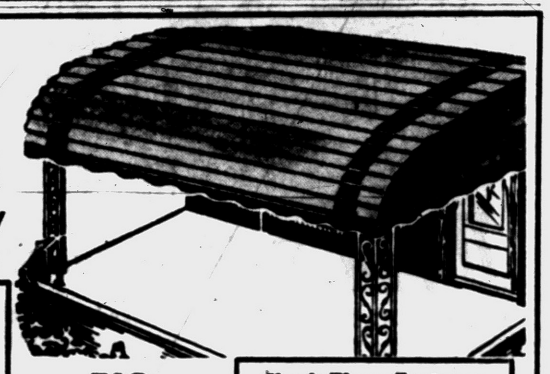

DECORATIVE FENCE — Are you afraid your fence might be too plain and monotonous? If it must be tall and cover considerable area, then you should plan on some decorative features. If it is made of solid red cedar boards or boards-and-batens, you can have decorative squares of brightly colored cedar set at regular intervals. It is surprising how much this will liven a fence.

Check Which Tile Suitable to Use in Your Home

Asphale tile and vinly asbestos tile can be installed over any smooth interior underfloor that is free from spring, oil, grease, lumps or foreign matter; over metal — wood— concrete — radiant heated concrete floors — concrete in direct contact with the earth, on or below grade.

Cork tile can be installed over any smooth dry interior underfloor that is not subject to sidewalk grit and grime; over concrete in direct contact with the earth at least 12" above surrounding ground level if drainage is away from the building on all four sides.

Rubber tile and solid vinyl tile can be installed over any smooth interior surface, above grade. Also concrete in contact with the earth. Slab must be bone dry at least 12" above surrounding ground level and drainage away from the building on all four sides.

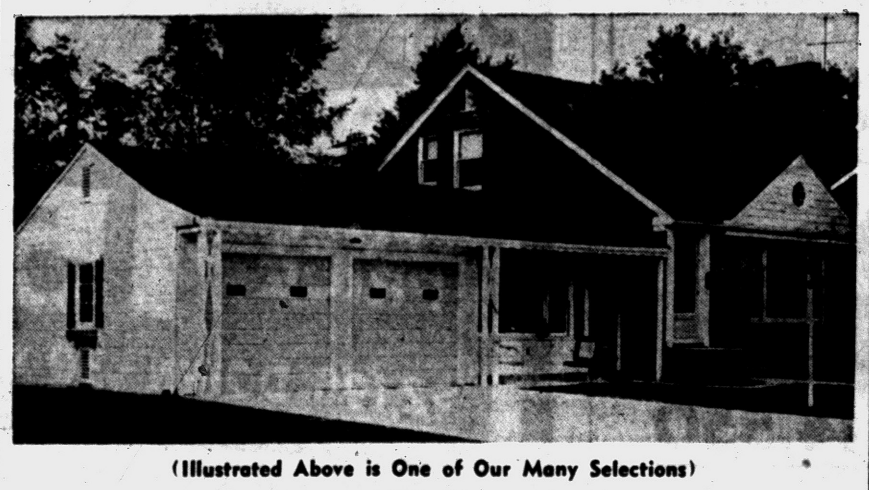

Cushion-back vinyl tile can be installed over any smooth suspended surface.

Cork tile is recommended for foyers away from grime and grit; not recommended in foyers adjacent to street.

Handyman Tip: Think Safety!

Simple safety precautions can eliminate many causes of accidents for the army of homeowners bent on improving their homes this summer.

Jobs involving ladder work, pouring cement and using sharp tools also require a "safety frame of mind," according to Dave G. Collins, homecraft specialist with Thor Power Tool Company.

★ ★ ★

For those building home additions or garages, Collins reminds that an unsound ladder, or one that is placed insecurely against a building, can lead to a bad fall. The distance from the ladder base to a building should be one-fourth the length of the ladder, to achieve the correct angle. He also recommends wearing shoes with either rubber or composition soles while doing a roofing job.

An increasing number of home handymen are making their jobs easier and more "professional" by using power tools, Collins pointed out, but these, too, should be handled with safety in mind.

He said many of the newer power tools have the advantage of being lighter and easier to use, and have built-in features, but ground wire attachments should always be used as a protective measure.

Portable electric power saws are finding increasing use in the home workshop. Collins says this tool should have a telescoping blade guard to protect the operator while making a cut.

Be sure to switch off your power tool before laying it aside, and don't leave a table saw running when you are not actually making a cut.

If you have to leave your work for a while, it's a good idea to disconnect your portable power equipment and put it away from the reach of curious youngsters, Collins said.

A coat of paint applied when iron is new and renewed regularly will keep the metal from rusting.

An underground water pipe of wood, more than 150 years old, was taken up in Philadelphia recently and found to be in an excellent state of preservation. The pipe was about 13 inches in diameter with a five-inch bore.

Greek Market to Be Leader in Europe

ATHENS, Greece — One of the finest central markets in Europe will be that soon to be started in Athens, Greece, with the help of American funds.

★ ★ ★

It will take 1½ years to build the $3,500,000 market, with cold storage and all modern installations and 500 shops for rent to growers, merchants and traders in vegetables, fruits, poultry and meat.

Deliveries to the market will amount to about 250,000 tons a year, and the project is expected to mean a tangible improvement in living standards for a great many people and a substantial gain to the whole Greek economy.

Classes for 'Uneducatable' Set for Fall

Handicapped Children to Get Schooling

A unique program to provide regular schooling for mentally retarded children considered uneducatable will be inaugurated next fall by a group of Oakland County parents in Pontiac.

The Assn. for Handicapped People this week received permission from the Pontiac Board of Education to use a basement room at Emerson School to conduct classes.

Mrs. Lawrence Hansen, association president, outlined the program before the board Thursday evening.

She pointed out that youngsters not considered able to profit from education are excluded from the special education program and just stay home, unless they are accepted at the overcrowded Lapeer Training School.

LIKE OTHERS

"We parents want them to feel they are going to school like other children," she said, "and we think they can be taught to count to 10, to know the colors and to write their names."

The association proposes that the parents themselves would teach the youngsters. Two classes of 10 would meet on Mondays and Tuesday and on Wednesdays and Thursday according to age.

On Fridays, two half-day sessions for eight children each would be held for the most difficult cases.

A number of civic and social groups have pledged equipment and supplies for the classroom, she added, if the board supplies the room and furniture.

She said 36 children would be accommodated by the program.

Members' children would get first preference, while others would be admitted as space permits.

The board approved a one year trial run at Emerson.

Mrs. Hansen said that the association would supply its own drivers and cars to transport the students. She also commented that those with youngsters that wish them enrolled should contact Mrs. Violet Grangood, enrollment chairman, OR 3-4427.

Volunteer women to teach five or six hours a week are needed, she said. They will be trained on the job. Mrs. Gladys Cziezler, FE 4-7159, is chairman of the teacher committee.

Recreation Replaces Commerce

C&O Canal Tells Story of Bankrupt Trade Route

WASHINGTON — The quiet pleasures of walkers, canoeists, naturalists and fishermen now rule along the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, a booming trade route gone bankrupt.

Winding 185 miles through the green valley of the Potomac River from Washington, D. C., to Cumberland, Md., the canal was the long-delayed fruition of a plan older than the United States, the National Geographic Society says.

George Washington began to contemplate such a waterway to the west in 1754, when he was a 22-year-old surveyor. His idea was to improve the bed of the river.

WAR DELAYS PROJECT

The Revolution thwarted the plan, but in 1784, shortly after resigning his commission as Commander in Chief, Washington persuaded the legislatures of Maryland and Virginia to grant a charter to his "Potomac Company."

Work started at once. Loose stone and sand were dredged from the river bottom; deeper passages were blasted through solid rock. Walled channels were built over shallow rapids and around impassable falls.

By 1802, the work was substantially finished. Though dangerous to navigation, the river from western Maryland to the Capital was carrying furs, flour, lumber and whisky.

★ ★ ★

The project was never an unqualified success. Its use was limited to times of high water — only two months a year. A safer, year-around waterway was needed.

★ ★ ★

The canal was begun July 4, 1828. John Quincy Adams gave a demonstration of troubles to come when he needed three tries to get the spade into the ground for the symbolic turning of the first earth. Another omen: in Baltimore, that day, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad was begun.

Through grave money crises, shortages of labor, engineering delays and other troubles, the work was held up many times. Plans to dig the canal all the way to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, were abandoned. By 1850 it had gone as far west as it ever would — Cumberland. The railroad had reached Cumberland eight years earlier and was continuing west.

The only profitable canal trade that developed was carrying coal from the rich mines of West Virginia to tidewater. The peak years followed the Civil War; in 1871, 850,000 tons of coal were floated down. More than 500 boats were in operation.

RAILROAD TAKES OVER

Later in the decade, the coal trade went increasingly to the railroad, and the canal suffered. A great flood in 1889 smashed long sections of the waterway, leaving the company bankrupt, with no funds for repairs.

★ ★ ★

Appointed trustees made the canal operable again. It continued to serve a declining trade until 1924, when another flood finally halted its operations.

★ ★ ★

Bought by the Federal Government in 1938, the canal has been restored near Washington. Plans for construction of a highway along its bed have been defeated by those concerned with maintaining the pleasant strip as a rural recreational area.

Rome Becomes Center for Style

Seat of Government, Roman Catholic Church; Yet Modern in Spirit

WASHINGTON — Rome may modify and adapt, but it never stops being Rome, reports Harnett Kane in the National Geographic Magazine.

"What you see here, Signore, is Italy's second Renaissance," one of Kane's Roman friends remarked with pride, as he recalled that his country lay broken in the backwash of war only 10 short years ago.

Other Romans, too, talked endlessly of their city and its hold upon them. "For Rome," notes Kane, "is a special part of Italy, as the Roman is a special kind of Italian. The city is as far in spirit from industrial Milan of the north as from pastoral Sicily of the south. It is primarily a center of government; next a center of trade and exchange, and also, always, of the Roman Catholic Church . . .

More Americans as well are finding Rome a magnet. At a hilltop cafe, surrounded by cypresses, pines, and statues in marble togas, the author listened to a group of college-girl visitors at the next table.

"Their hair was cropped in 'the Italian way,'" he noticed. "They talked of the new designers of high fashion who are making Italy a major style center . . . of Cine Citta, the film city in the Roman suburbs that has emerged as a great European movie center."

In the distance, "as if painted on the clouds, rose the towers and spires of Vatican City; and over them all glowed the dome of St. Peter's, Michelangelo's masterpiece of art and engineering."

CITY OF CONTRASTS

Such is Rome today — Many things in combination. It's a "layer-cake of history" and a collection of devout, family-centered communities. It's a city of casual piazza gatherings, caffe espresso bars, and smart shops against a museum backdrop of classic sculpture and architecture.

Motor scooters roar through ancient archways of the Aurelian Wall, and old forts and palaces become apartments. Lovers stroll past tattered columns of the Roman Forum; a popular restuarant serves in what was once an emperor's hall of justice; and incessant automobile traffic threatens the crumbling walls of the Colosseum.

Urge Eire to Cater to Tourist Campers

DUBLIN — Ireland is overlooking a bet by not catering to tourist campers, civic leaders in Dublin say. Waste land near scenic areas could be made productive by installing facilities for tent-camping — running water, lights, showers and cooking facilities.

"Ireland has only one or two camping sites," says one commentator. "The weather does not encourage camping here, but in Britain, where weather conditions are almost exactly the same, there are 200 sites approved by the Automobile Association.

France has some 500, Germany the same number and even snowy Switzerland has 44. The charges at such camps average about 30 cents a day. In Austria every summer there are nearly as many vacationers under canvas as in hotels or guest houses."

Researchers Study Tropical Plants

URBANA, Ill. (INS)—Agriculture researchers at the University of Illinois are studying a group of tropical plants in hopes of improving soybeans.

★ ★ ★

The nine plants closely resemble soybeans and university workers seek disease resistance qualities that could be crossed into regular soybeans.

Richard Bernard, plant breeder at the soybean laboratory, reported the new plants come from Formosa, Malaya, Australia and Africa.

Most Drownings in State Occur in July, August

LANSING (AP)—The State Health Department cautions that about half of Michigan's 1857 drowning deaths can be expected to occur in July and August.

Combined, the two months accounted for 47 per cent of drowning fatalities last year.

Records for 1956 show that 272 drownings were reported during the year, 181 of them related to swimming and 91 to boating.

By age and sex, the male bracket under 20 years has the highest rise potential, with 45 per cent of 1956 drownings falling into this category.

Drawing on the lessons of the past, the Health Department gave these cardinal rules for preventing serious mishaps:

Swimming — Know your physical capabilities, and observe them; don't swim for an hour after eating; know your swimming site and take indicated precautions; never swim alone, and be prepared to apply artificial respiration.

Boating — Know your boat's limitations, and avoid overloading and sharp turns; avoid stormy waters; keep your seat; wear a life preserver if you can't swim; if the boat overturns, cling to it; when operating a power boat, stay away from swimmers and fishermen.

Car Underwriter Looks Gloomily at Large Losses

HARTFORD, Conn. (INS)—Automobile underwriters in the insurance capital of the world today looked gloomily at the red ink on their books—a reflection of the bloodsoaked highways.

While 1956 passed into infamy as a record year for slaughter on the highways with over 40,000 dead, automobile insurance companies across the nation were socked with heavy underwriting losses.

★ ★ ★

The Hartford main office of the Aetna Casualty and Surety Company reported an underwriting loss of over $3,700,000 on bodily injury and property damage claims alone during 1956—the biggest dip in a decade.

The whole story of the loss cannot be written off to the increased highway accidents, the company is quick to point out. Increased repair costs of new model cars, and bodily injury claim settlements out of all proportion to the general inflationary trend of the economy are heavy contributing factors.

However the increased accident frequency necessarily plays the key role in how often companies are forced to make payments—and raise premium rates paid by motorists.

Rope Important as Historic Tool

Takes Place With Wheel as Mankind's Helper in Forging Civilization

WASHINGTON — Give a man enough rope—and he'll latch on to any number of jobs that otheriwse could not be handled.

For rope, like the wheel and lever, is one of mankind's oldest and most useful tools, the National Geographic Society says. Strands of twisted fiber and wire enabled pioneers to sail the seas, plow new lands, conquer mountains, and put flying machines in the sky.

★ ★ ★

Prior to the machine age, ropemaking did not materially change for 5,000 or perhaps 25,000 years. Today, "wonder" fibers such as nylon have given the ancient industry a fresh grip on the future.

Captain Jacques-Yves Cousteau, leader of National Georgraphic-Calypso oceanic expeditions, says exploration of one of the world's last frontiers—the extreme sea depths—is now possible because of the development of nylon rope.

Nylon, however, is just one of numerous materials with which man has improvised excellent rope.

Primitive hunters probably stumbled into the neolithic age with some knowledge of how to twist strands of vine or hide. Ancient Egyptians used papyrus and flax; the Chinese, bamboo and rattan; Arctic tribesmen, animal skin and sinew; the Incas and Southwest Indians, horsehair.

The major fibers used today are abaca (Manila hemp) from the Philippines and Central America; sisalana (sisal) from Africa, Indonesia, Haiti, and Brazil; henequen from Mexico and Cuba; true hemp of the American or European variety; and post-World War II synthetics.

Some Australian aborigines can live without clothes despite a temperature that drops from 90 degrees in daytime to 10 degrees above freezing at night.

Causes of Flaming Crash Probed

Check Viscount Airliners

LONDON (INS) — A Viscount turboprop airliner is being used as a "guinea pig" to probe the suspected cause of a flaming crash in Britain which killed 22 persons.

A small bolt in the wing flaps has been pin-pointed as the possible cause of the crash, and experts think it may have broken because of "metal fatigue."

★ ★ ★

Vickers engineers and scientists are making every effort to ensure that the Viscount, which is now being used extensively in America, will be "a hundred per cent safe."

One of the first steps has been to replace all wing flap bolts in every Viscount around the world which has completed a minimum number of flying hours.

The airplane company's experts are trying to learn why the wing flap bolts became "fatigued" after 6,000 hours of flying.

★ ★ ★

To help the investigation a "guinea pig" Viscount is being fitted with thin pieces of wire in vital points on the wings. These "strain gauges" record the sensitive concentrations which bring on fatigue.

★ ★ ★

The Vickers Company is extremely proud of its successful Viscount airliner.

The crash at Manchester airport, involving a BEA Viscount flying from Holland, was the first fatal accident since the planes went into regular service nearly four years ago.

Emergency instructions were cabled to all parts of the world where Viscounts were flying as soon as it was discovered that a bolt had apparently failed because of fatigue. New bolts were flown to all Viscount owners with complete instructions for replacement.

★ ★ ★

Demand for British gas-turbine powered airliners continues high. So far, 200 planes fitted with these power plants have been delivered to airlines of the world.

Orders for Viscounts, Bristol Britannias, de Havilland Comets and Vickers Vanguards total 503, valued at $840,000,000.

NOTICE OF SALE
(HOUSES)

SALE NO. 165, PROJECT 63-11 R

Sealed bids will be received by John C. Mackie, State Highway Commissioner, until 11:00 a.m., Thursday, July 11, 1957, at the Redford Office of the Michigan State Highway Department, 17405 Lahser Road, Detroit 19, Michigan, for the sale of the following described buildings located between Grand River (US-16) and 14 Mile Road in Novi Township, Oakland County, Michigan:

Item 1—29686 Wixom Road—1½ story frame house.

Item 2—29700 Wixom Road—2 story asphalt siding house with 1 story addition.

Thirty day notices to terminate tenancy are being served on occupants of any buildings not already vacant.

The buildings must be removed at the risk and expense of the successful bidders within thirty (30) days of the acceptance date of the bids, and in conformity with the ordinances, rules and regulations, if any, of the Township or Village where the buildings are located, governing the removal of buildings. All combustible material must be removed from the property and the site left in a clean condition.

Upon acceptance of a bid, the successful bidder will be required to deposit a certified check, cashier's check or money order in the amount of $100.00 for each item guaranteeing this clean-up. The deposit will be returned when approval of our inspector is given. The inspection will be made upon written notice advising that the buildings have been removed and the clean-up completed.

It is the responsibility of the bidder to inspect the buildings, as the Michigan State Highway Department makes no warranties or representations as to the state or condition of the buildings or their contents.

Bids may be submitted on any or all of the described items. Each bid must clearly specify the amount offered for each item. In submitting bids, please refer to item number as well as street address. Certified check, cashier's check or money order for 20% of the full amount of the bid made payable to John C. Mackie, State Highway Commissioner, must accompany each bid on each item. The balance is to be paid in full immediately upon acceptance of bids. Do not send cash or personal checks!

Wreckers who bid to be paid to remove buildings on demolition contract award must be pre-qualified by the Michigan State Highway Department, and must deposit $300.00 with their bid. This deposit will be promptly returned after the execution and delivery of a contract by the Michigan State Highway Department, and will require the posting of performance and lien bonds in the amount of $500.00 for each item awarded.

Sealed bids should be plainly marked on the outside of the envelope: "Bid "63-11R". Mail or deliver bids to:

Air Reserves Open Building

City Squadron to Begin Using New Offices on Oakland Avenue

The Pontiac 9613th Air Reserve Squadron, under the command of the U.S. 10th Air Force, at Selfridge Field, has announced the opening of its own headquarters building, at 67 Oakland Ave.

The squadron had previously been using a room at the Army Reserve building in Pontiac. The new building, will be officially opened July 1. It is to be open week days with M. Sgt. George Bremer on duty.

The squadron, commanded by Maj. John L. Underwood, of 4935 Payton Rd., Drayton Plains, runs a training program which consists mainly of lectures by military personnel and specialized foreign personnel.

The outfit is officially listed as "inactive" since members are not paid. All training is in the evening and designed to keep the men up to date, and give them relatively behind-the-scene information on world events and new methods of air strategy.

A real old timer remembers when they solved the parking problem by driving another hitching post in the ground . . . Oh, for the good old days, says A. L. Morgane, of Nashville, when a man who got dressed for the evening, just put on a nightshirt.—Earl Wilson.

Nat Cole's TV Program Will Expand to Half Hour

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Nat Cole's NBC-TV show expands to a full half hour Tuesday, with guests in a variety format; Nat's a fine entertainer and every decibel a gentleman . . .

The morning Jimmy Dean show (opposite Garroway and suddenly edging Dave in the ratings) is considered so hot it has added a Saturday night CBS-TV segment.

Bob Crosby's daytime TV show will sink in its channel earlier than expected if CBS can get its new Jim McKay quiz, "You Are the Jury," in shape by August.

It's summer all right — Mike Stokey's "Pantomime Quiz" returns to TV (CBS) Friday. It's been on TV 10 years, mostly as a summer sub. . .

Harry Truman and ABC may have a little secret involving a job as an analyst of contemporary and historical politics. . .

TURNS 21 TWICE

George and Gracie's lad Ronnie comes of age in real life by turning 21 in the plot of the Burnses, Monday CBS show. . .

Pat Weaver's new TV "network" is getting things all set to flood the market with "Ding Dong School" merchandise as soon as Miss Francis gets on the air, maybe in August.

CBS paid more money ($10,000) to Helen Morgan's mother for playhouse 90's TV version of the late singer's life than the movies (Warners got movie rights for $5,000) . . .

Jeannie Carson and her advisers are irate about cancelation of "Hey Jeannie," just when the perky British lassie was sneaking up on Lawrence Welk . . .

"Beat the Clock" got a summer reprieve from its sponsor but "that's all" . . .

John Barrymore Jr. will direct an upcoming NBC "Matinee Theater" . . .

Lana Turner Sues to Divorce 4th Hubby

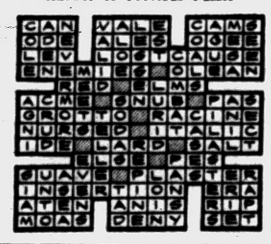

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Lana Turner has sued to divorce her fourth husband, actor Lex Barker, accusing him of "cruel and inhuman conduct."

Her complaint, filed yesterday in Superior Court, lists no specific acts. It also says there is no community property and asks no support.

The 37-year-old actress disclosed the separation last Feb. 19, saying the former screen Tarzan, 38, had moved into a hotel at her request. They married Sept. 7, 1953, in Turin, Italy.

Miss Turner formerly was wed to bandleader Artie Shaw, twice to stockbroker Stephen Crane and once to millionaire sportsman Bob Topping.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

ALL IN THE EAR

What you see in this girl's ear is Sonotone's new hearing aid — complete. IT'S WORN ENTIRELY IN THE EAR — no cord, no extra "button." Weighs only half an ounce.

Women's hairdos hide it completely. On men, this amazing hearing aid is barely noticeable from any angle.
