

GOP Breakthrough Threatens Johnson Reelection

By JACK BELL.
WASHINGTON (AP) — The rolling impact of a midstream Republican breakthrough offered a fresh threat today not only to President Johnson's legislative program but possibly to his reelection in 1968.
While the GOP was surging to above-average House gains in Tuesday's nonpresidential year balloting, it also was netting from the Democrats eight governor's offices.

This cemented Republican chief executives into political power bases in at least 25 states which will cast 290 electoral votes two years from now—20 in excess of the 270 needed to elect a president.

As final ballot counts stretched out the measuring tape, it became apparent that Johnson and his Democratic administration had suffered a crippling, though not necessarily lasting, defeat in contests where the President had thought Democrats might do very well.

The fact that Republicans will control at least half of the governorships in the next two years doesn't mean they will be able to maneuver their states into the GOP column in the 1968 presidential contest.

Voters have a way of making up their own minds about such matters.
But the mere fact that their party has broadened its base for attack on Johnson's expected reelection bid certainly will make the GOP nomination much more attractive to potential candidates than it has been during the two dreary years since Barry Goldwater's crushing 1964 defeat by Johnson.

Johnson's loss of party strength in Congress was far greater than that sustained by any president two years into his first elective term since GOP President Herbert Hoover's party lost 61 seats in the 1930 off-year election.

The Republicans nailed down a gain of 47 seats in the House to bring their total to 187. Democrats elected 248 members.
The loss of 47 compared with a net gain of 14 Democrats made after Franklin D. Roosevelt (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Fire Claims 7 Children in Farmington Twp.

TWO DIED HERE — Two children among seven who died early today in a fire at a Farmington Township home were found in this bedroom by township firemen. The victims—three boys and four girls, all under 13—were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Polmateer of 22840 Colgate. Standing among the wreckage are Station 3 Fire Chief Raymond Geary (white hat) and one of 12 firemen who fought the blaze.

Fire ravaged the home of a sleeping Farmington Township family early today, trapping and suffocating seven young children inside. Cause of the blaze was not immediately known.

The only ones to escape were the mother of the victims, Mrs. Harold Polmateer, about 40, and a daughter, Cynthia, 9. The father, also about 40, was at work.

Dead on arrival at Botsford General Hospital about 2:20 a.m. were Carol, 12; Lisa, 9; Suzanne, 6; David, 5; Randolph, 3; and 2-year-old twins Dennis and Denise.

A deputy coroner attributed their deaths to asphyxiation and third-degree burns, but indicated the burns probably followed suffocation.

Township firemen were first called to the burning home at 22840 Colgate at 2 a.m.

Although at the scene in a matter of minutes, Fire Chief Raymond Brown said the 1½-story frame home was already ablaze.

"We knocked the flames down in no time at all," Brown said, "but the smoke had already gotten to the kids."

Mrs. Polmateer told firemen she went to bed about 11:15 p.m. after watching television in the living room of the four-room house.

She awoke, she said, and looked into the living room to find flames leaping from a wall and chair.

Arousing two of her daughters — Carol and Cynthia — Mrs. Polmateer took them outside.

She and Carol then attempted to reenter the burning house. Carol succeeded, only to be trapped herself not far from the rear door.

The mother then ran from the rear of the corner home to a neighbor's house, where she called firemen.

A 12-man force of township volunteers manning two trucks responded to the alarm and quickly doused the flames.

Aided by policemen, rescuers then fought their way through the choking smoke inside the home in search of the trapped children.

Two were found on the living room floor, near where the fire started, and two more pulled from the bedroom-utility room at the rear of the house.

The young twins were found lying next to each other in the bathroom, while Carol—the eldest — was on the floor at the rear.

Cynthia, the surviving daughter, remained at the John Devine home, from where her mother had called firemen.

ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL

Mrs. Polmateer, incoherent, was admitted to Botsford General and placed under sedation.

"They were such beautiful kids," said one of several neighbors who congregated at the dirt-road intersection after firemen had left.

"Those kids could play together all day and wouldn't have a fight among them — this thing just tears me up," she said.

Polmateer is an industrial welder employed at Evans Products, Inc., Plymouth.

City Lawyer Heads Study of Equality

Pontiac attorney John T. Rogers last night was named to head a 50-member citizens committee which will study the equality of educational opportunity in the Pontiac School District.

ROGERS

Rogers, 42, of 4070 Waterwheel Township, is chairman of Pontiac School District Citizens Committee on Human Relations.

He said he approaches the study unbiased on the school system's present provisions for intergroup relations.

"I am committed to the idea and purpose of the study, which will require a lot of time if it is to be any good," he said.

The study, which is to result in a report on present conditions and recommendations for the future, is expected to take 12 to 18 months.

COORDINATOR OF WORK

Coordinator of the work is John F. Perdue, the district's school-community and human relations director.

Perdue said he hoped the committee's organizational meeting could be held the last week in November.

Letters are to be sent to appointees, who already have indicated verbally that they will serve.

Besides business, professions, labor and industry, the group includes citizens-at-large and representatives of various groups.

No Georgia Majority; Vote Is Court Issue

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Georgia's gubernatorial election appears to be headed for the courts because neither Democrat Lester G. Maddox nor Republican Howard Callaway was able to get a majority of the votes in Tuesday's general election.

The apparent blockade to selection of a successor to Gov. Carl Sanders, a Democrat, was a write-in vote for former Gov. Ellis Arnall.

With 1,868 of 1886 precincts—98.6 per cent of the vote — reported, Maddox had 437,258 votes, Callaway 435,489, and Arnall 34,939. That gave Maddox 47.1 per cent, Callaway 46.9 per cent, and Arnall 5.9 per cent.

Maddox overtook Callaway last night as returns from rural areas trickled in.

Maddox, a segregationist known for selling his restaurant rather than integrating it, had taken an early lead when polls closed Tuesday night, but a large urban vote early yesterday gave Callaway a 25,000 vote lead.

Under the Georgia constitution, failure to get a majority throws the election into the General Assembly, which is heavily Democratic.

The American Civil Liberties Union, however, filed suit in federal court yesterday, contending the Legislature is illegally constituted.

Cong Use Gas on GIs

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An ambush patrol of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division was attacked today by Viet Cong using a nonpoisonous type of tear gas, a spokesman said.

He added that this was the first known firing of gas by the Communists in the Viet Nam war.

However, South Vietnamese authorities alleged in September 1965 that the Viet Cong used nausea-inducing gas grenades.

The allied forces have used nonlethal types in certain instances for nearly two years.

The Viet Cong attack came in Tay Ninh Province of War Zone C, a battleground area centered 65 miles northwest of Saigon, where Americans have reported more than 800 enemy dead in a week of hard fighting against the Viet Cong's 9th Division.

AMBUSH PATTERN

The patrol had settled into its ambush pattern in matted swamp and jungle five miles northeast of Suoi Dau.

No fire fight followed and no injuries were reported.

The spokesmen said the Americans donned gas masks, which are standard combat equipment, at the explosion of the first grenades.

The troops were believed to number about 30.

About 1,200 gas grenades were found among 19,000 grenades uncovered by infantrymen sweeping an enemy regimental command and supply complex yesterday.

FIGHTING LIGHT

Ground action in the area, however, continued to be light.

The bloody battle in Tay Ninh Province of Zone C pushed the toll of American dead in the war last week to nearly double the number the week before, the weekly casualty report revealed.

Addition of U.S. nonlethal gas to the allied arsenal in South Viet Nam came to light in March 1965.

This created an international controversy in which Communist propagandist still sporadically declare the United States is using "poison gas."

CALL PRACTICE 'HUMANE'

U.S. authorities have denied this, and cited field practices as humane.

The first American supplies went to South Viet Nam's armed forces, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara explained they were the same "riot control agents" that police forces use to quell civil disturbances.

Flash

ATLANTA (UPI) — Tornado winds raked Memphis and three Alabama communities today ripping off roofs and toppling trees, and the Weather Bureau warned of an immediate threat to populous metropolitan Atlanta. It was not immediately known if there were any injuries.

Disturbed by an alleged lack of cooperation from the Pontiac School System, the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCCEO) last night decided to explore the possibility of conducting a program for poor preschoolers itself.

Meanwhile, a befuddled — if not disgruntled — Pontiac Board of Education was shaping a bus-ing-for-integration policy to submit with its seventh application for Head Start funds.

A new "Project Head Start" term was scheduled to begin two months ago for the benefit of some 320 Pontiac youngsters. A $64,000 federal grant was available to carry the program for the first two months.

The school district, however, decided not to start the September Head Start term because there was no assurance that more federal funds were forthcoming to continue the program through the school year.

Two factors that have contributed to the withholding of the added grant stemmed from the school system's failure to meet national antipoverty requirements, according to the county commission.

LACK OF INTEGRATION

These included lack of integration in the winter phase of the Head Start program due to the persistent use of school attendance areas and failure of the advisory group consisting of parents of children in the program.

"They're playing games with us," CEO Chairman Carl F. Ingraham told fellow commissioners last night during a discussion of the Head Start issue.

Ingraham noted that top ad-

Cold, Cloudy Is the Forecast

Early morning temperatures registering a mild 60 will fall into the 40s late this afternoon and hit a low of 28 to 33 tonight. Skies will be partly overcast tonight.

Continued cold and cloudy is tomorrow's forecast and snow flurries are expected Saturday.

South to southwest winds at 10 to 20 miles per hour will become westerly and gusty this afternoon, then diminish to 5 to 15 miles tonight.

Holiday Closings

City, county and Waterford Township offices will be closed tomorrow in observance of Veterans Day.

The post office, Pontiac State Bank, Community National Bank, First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland, and Capital Savings and Loan Association will also close.

Proposes Law

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Hospital Association proposed Wednesday a licensing law that would force every hospital in the state to maintain strict standards in health care.

The association's board of trustees approved a proposed law that would provide for a licensing program under the State Health Department.

Currently, a hospital that does not take maternity cases or welfare cases does not need a license, said Allan Barth executive director of the association.

The case of Fairwood Hospital in Warren, where 14 persons were arrested and charged with violating state medical laws points up the need for statewide licensing, he said.

HOSPITAL STAND
A licensing program would provide for hospital standards and make the hospital boards of trustees responsible for maintaining them, he said.

The association is composed of 242 Michigan hospitals, which among them have 85 per cent of the hospital beds in the state, said Barth.

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa (AP) — The Soviet Union has offered free scholarships for three students from Western Samoa, American Samoa's newly independent neighbor 70 miles to the west.

The offer was made last week by a Soviet journalist, V. Kassis, to Western Samoa's Prime Minister Fiame Mataafa.

Mataafa previously said he would seek economic aid from Communist countries because Western nations, including the United States, New Zealand and Australia, would not aid the island nation.

Sensing Devices Detect Cong From Air

SAIGON, South Viet Nam — The demilitarized zone, called DMZ, between the two Viet Nams — now a highway for Red troops from an airplane several thousand feet high are being used nightly in Viet Nam to ferret out the Communists, an American military source said today.

The source said the United States is using the latest heat-sensing devices to "First they fly over and make a map of an area, for instance names moving under cover of the DMZ, when there is nobody there. They know what it should look like then," the source said. "Then the next time they come across the area, they use the earlier map as an overlay on the scope."

"They fly along out of small arms range until something shows up on the scope and if it is not on the overlay, bombers are called in."

"A campfire makes a helluva bloom on the scope. If an enemy soldier lights a fire to cook his rice, he's had it."

"The metal-sensing gear is just as sensitive but doesn't even need heat."

"They do the same thing on it. They fly over and make soundings under normal conditions and then later blast anything that is out of place. If there are half a dozen guys down there with belt buckles or knives or guns or anything made of metal, the plane will know it. In come the bombers and boom! No more belt buckles or people either. It's amazing."

Brothers Fined in Paint Tossing

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Two brothers were fined a total of $761 today for throwing paint over President Johnson's car during his ride through Melbourne Oct. 21.

John N. Langley, 21, a sales representative, and his brother David, 18, a student, had spent 14 days in jail before Magistrate E. J. Danaher passed sentence. David was put on 18 months' probation and John on 12 months. The magistrate ordered John to undergo psychiatric treatment.

Topless Waitresses Debut in NY

NEW YORK (AP) — Topless waitresses made their first public appearance in New York City Wednesday night in what may prove to be a test case against local cabaret laws. Police handed out summonses.

Ruby Diamond, 28, who measures 37-36-36, and Mary Rooney, who is 24 and 39-24-37, each wore only two black tasseled pasties — about the size of a silver dollar — on their chests as they served patrons in the Crystal Room supper club on the East Side. Each also wore dark tights and short wrap-around aprons.

"CONFLICTS WITH RULES" Early today, police issued summonses to the two blondes and to the supper club for Criminal Court Nov. 14.

"The manner in which the girls were attired is in conflict with the cabaret rules and regulations," a police spokesman said.

"The girls went back to work after they were issued the summonses," a spokesman for the club said. "The summonses charged violation of the administrative code but they did not specify what section."

"Police assume it must be a violation but they don't know what it is. They issued the summonses to protect themselves. It's a test case. That's how it started in San Francisco (where topless waitresses are very popular)."

There were about 56 registered English language newspapers being published in India in 1964.

Fatties 'Clothes' Ranks

'Misfits' Strike Back

SOUTHAMPTON, England (U.P.)—June Webb, 27, is big with big ideas about big things. Weighing 232 pounds, and standing just under 6 feet, she is the founding member of the Big Girls Club, an organization that is campaigning to improve clothes for outsize women and girls.

"Fat women want to look pretty, too," said the blue-eyed mother of two children, "but we're condemned to wearing drab colors and atrocious designs."

A gale of a sigh rippled over her 56-54-57 frame.

NO MINI-SKIRTS

"God knows we don't want to wear mini-skirts, but we would like to be just a bit fashionable."

A soft-voiced, gentle and happy woman, she added: "Getting the right size is not today's main problem. There are lots of shops—but not too many—catering for the big woman. The nightmare is styling. You just can't get young clothes in my size."

Years of searching for pretty clothes have convinced her that the designers have only women middle-aged to older in mind when they make dresses for the biggies.

"Psychologically, it's so disheartening for us," she said. "Most dresses seem to be modeled by slim women with narrow hips. We have to go into the shops and ask, 'Do you have this dress in six sizes larger?' That's bad."

'REAL CHORE'

She shook her blonde head and added: "Shopping is a real chore for the big girl. It's not just dresses. It's underwear, coats, night dresses, stockings. The stockings are always too short."

Wouldn't it be easier to go on a diet?

"It might be easier," replied Mrs. Webb, "but it's not what I want to do. I'm very happy with my size, thank you, and so is my husband. He says he wouldn't have me any other way."

"I was big when he married me, and, well, I certainly haven't lost any weight, and I don't intend to. My health's all right, and we're a happy family. Weight is not my problem. Clothes are the problem."

NEW GENERATION

Last month Mrs. Webb decided to do something about clothes for the big girl.

"I've thought about this situation for a long while," she said. "Then, just recently, I realized that my own daughter, Alison, is growing up, and that there's a whole new generation with a problem like mine. I decided to do something."

Alison, 9, weighs 140. Mrs. Webb's son, Julian, is a big boy, about the usual weight for his age.

"My husband is tall and thin," laughed the organizer of the Big Girls Club. "He eats more than any of us, but he never gets fat."

SEAFARING MAN

Webb is a seafaring man, working on one of the big liners that come to and go from Southampton.

"All of a sudden it came to me that no one is really doing anything about trying to get well-designed, pretty clothes for big girls," explained Mrs. Webb. "That's when I went into action."

She took the bus down to her local newspaper.

"I'm a great believer in newspapers," she said. "They can be of such help in so many matters."

BEAUTIFUL REPORTER

An editor assigned a reporter to interview her.

"She was very young, very pretty, and very slim with a beautiful figure," said Mrs. Webb. "When I saw her, my heart sank, for I thought my cause was lost before I started. But this was not the case. She put a little piece in the paper, and then things began happening."

Mrs. Webb began receiving my size, thank you, and so is my husband. He says he wouldn't have me any other way."

Republican Election Sweep Restores Political Balance

An amazing resurgence to the Republican party marked Tuesday's election.

The GOP gained eight governors and the majority of them were in a key, pivotal commonwealth. Most of the large states today have Republican governors.

The Democrats lost three Senate seats, and a huge total of 47 spots in the House, although they still control both.

Gov. ROMNEY ran away from his opponent in even greater style than was forecast. It leaves him as an important presidential possibility two years hence along with REAGAN and ROCKEFELLER, who were winners in top races.

Sen. ROBERT GRIFFIN entered this 1966 race with the odds seemingly stacked against him.

But he never wavered. He battled from the gun.

Sen. Griffin waged an intelligent, gentlemanly and hard-hitting campaign that earned him a fine and immensely important victory — important to Michigan and the United States. Michigan is one of the biggest and most influential states in the union. We deserve top representation and this election gives us the first outstanding senator we have possessed since the late Arthur Vandenberg.

And our Governor is a star. Here in Michigan, the GOP gained an amazing 18 House seats. That body had been divided 73-37 Democratic, and now it stands 55-55 tie. The Democrats actually lost mathematical control of the Senate, where the GOP gained sharply. It stands 20-18, with a Republican majority.

At home, Democrat Billie Farnum lost to Jack McDonald by a sizable margin. In justice to Farnum, it must be set down that he has done as much for this district as any Congressman in history. From listening to comments "around town" his defeat is attributable to the fact he rested securely in the palms of labor leaders' hands, plus the fact he blindly voted for every measure that ever came out of the White House.

A startling Republican sweep took place in Waterford Township where all five Democratic incumbents lost. The GOP victory gives the Republicans control of the Township Board for the first time in 10 years.

The GOP can assign its current victories to that great, unnamed class of middle voters. The rock-ribbed GOP workers who battled hard and the time-tried Democrats who did the same left the final decision to the silent, neutral segment that stands "in between."

Thus in 1966, the "two party system" becomes the "two party system" once more. This smashing victory by the side that was down — way down — comes at a crucial and critical time. It guarantees better candidates on both sides. It assures the Nation of a better balance and more equitable decisions in general.

Happily, there was little or no mud-slinging by either side. Glory be.

Air Accord Thins United States-Russia Gap

The long-awaited Soviet-American agreement on direct air service between New York and Moscow was signed in Washington last week.

It has been long in the making. A pact was drawn up ready for signature in 1961 when the Berlin Wall crisis intervened. The fact that a new agreement was negotiated while war raged in Southeast Asia may show that Soviet-American relations are not so chilly as they seem.

Soviet-American tourist traffic is virtually a one-way street. In 1965, only 779 Soviet citizens came to this country for business or pleasure. By contrast, 14,980 Americans last year indicated on passport applications that they intended to visit the Soviet Union.

Whether the tourist flow between the two countries will increase substantially now that the air-service pact is signed remains to be seen. The agreement should, however, improve slightly the balance-of-payments position of both parties.

Soviet and American visitors will pay a national instead of a foreign airline for transportation, thus keeping rubles and dollars at home.

The 'Little Guy' Says: Ho Hum

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—The little guy felt like a dope today. He was all steamed up about the elections — the shouting, the speeches, the parades, the dire predictions, and all those characters on television.

Then what happened? Not much. Well, maybe, it did mean something. The Republicans made some progress. They picked up some seats in Congress and some governorships.

But the little guy thought: If they keep on making this kind of progress much longer they won't last much longer as a party. And when the returns were in, all that business about white backlash, inflation and the war in Viet Nam hadn't seemed to mean much.

The Democrats went into the elections in control of Congress with a majority in House and Senate. When it was over, they still had control.

The Republicans just cut down the majority a bit. In an off-year congressional election like this one it's just par for the course for the minority party to pick up some seats.

The little guy didn't have to be a professor to remember the Republicans have been a minority party, and the Democrats have been running Congress, ever since 1932, with two exceptions.

There was a time, back in the 1920s, when Republicans and Democrats looked pretty much like twins. They were both conservative. And when Franklin D. Roosevelt ran for the presidency in 1932, in the depression, he was even talking about cutting down government spending.

What puzzled the little guy was why, in all of Roosevelt's years, the Republicans didn't learn anything from him.

The little guy didn't even think the Republicans learned anything from Dwight D. Eisenhower, the only Republican to win the presidency since 1932.

He not only embraced the New Deal programs but expanded on them. And he put an end to the party's isolationism.

SNATCHED IT AWAY They gave Eisenhower a Republican-run Congress in 1952 but snatched it away again in 1954 — an off-year election — and while they were reelecting Eisenhower overwhelmingly in 1956, they put Congress in the hands of the Democrats. They've had it ever since.

But then — and this really puzzled the little guy — just as if Eisenhower had never existed, in 1964 the Republicans picked as their presidential candidate the most conservative party leader in this century — Sen. Barry Goldwater. He got downed in the election.

The little guy thought the country needs two parties but he wondered: How long can a guy, or a party, keep on getting clobbered and still breathe?

'What Are You, Some Kind Of Square Or Something?'

David Lawrence Says:

Vote System Leaves Questions

WASHINGTON — Presumably the will of the people was expressed in Tuesday's election. But was it? There are 100 members of the United States Senate, but only 35 of them were up for election. The remaining 65 were elected either in 1964 or 1962.

Can it truly be said that the American people feel exactly the same way today about the senators who LAWRENCE were not up for election this time as they did two or four years ago?

Out of the 35 electoral colleges for the Senate, the Republicans won 18 and the Democrats 17.

Would the Republicans have captured control of the Senate if all seats had been voted on in the election this year?

These unanswered questions are directly related to the defects in the American congressional system.

The election of senators is a far better index of national opinion than the election of members of the House.

STATEWIDE RACES

This is because the elections for the upper house are statewide, whereas members of the House of Representatives are chosen in 435 separate districts, and only a few are large-sized areas. Hence, local questions often predominate.

It is difficult, for example, today to determine just what issues were nationwide in the campaign and how the American people reacted to them.

All the pre-election polls indicated a shift from the Democratic party to the Republican party in many districts and states.

But careful examination of the various factors that influenced the electorate leads to the conclusion that much of the voting in the congressional contests was against the party in power rather than in favor of the alternative party or its candidates.

There is much talk about "comebacks" of Republicanism. But a more realistic explanation is that, whenever the party in power overreaches itself, the party on the outside gets the benefit of the resentment or protest vote.

NO SYSTEM

What the election really emphasizes is that there is no system of party responsibility.

in the United States and that off-year elections can be meaningless except as a device that allows the protest vote to be expressed.

Sooner or later senators and congressmen and the president will all have to be voted for on the same election day every four years. Also an opportunity will have to be afforded the people to obtain an election anytime within that four-year interval.

A special election could be held whenever the incumbent party's majority on a major issue was taken away by a coalition of those members who felt that the country wished them to voice their opposition. This is the formula used in Canada, Great Britain and other countries.

Only by such a system can each party be held responsible as a unit and self-discipline imposed so that legislation will be enacted or repealed in accordance with the will of the people.

Bob Considine Says:

LBJ Confesses to Often Thinking of Resigning

NEW YORK — People... politics... A visitor to the White House asked the President, "Do you ever dream of 1961-62, 1973, or what ever the date is, when you'll be able to put on your hat and say good-bye to this job?"

LBJ ran a hand across his face, thought it over and said, "No, I keep going from day to day, taking things as they come. Of course, as everybody knows, a president — any president — thinks of resigning, two or three times a day... A president has damned few friends."

President Kennedy's post-White House plans (He would have been only 51 at the end of two full terms) were never clearly defined. But the likelihood was that he would have considered writing occasional articles on national and international affairs, a lecturing role at Harvard, and possibly in time a return to the U.S. Senate.

Steve Early, President Roosevelt's press secretary, told me after FDR's death that the president would have wanted to serve a term as president of the U.N. General Assembly, after leaving the White House.

A Republican candidate running for the state legislature from an upstate New York district frankly owned up to being a machine candidate.

John Buckley, a Utica lawyer, sought his seat with the aid of an automatic answering and recording device called Code-a-phone.

Before leaving his office each morning to harvest potential constituents, Buckley recorded his day's itinerary on the machine. Voters telephoning his empty office were automatically informed as to his exact whereabouts.

They could also ask questions of the Code-a-phone, or make complaints, suggestions and the like. Their voices were recorded and played back by Buckley at the end of a hard day at the hustings.

Sample Ballot in Press Appreciated by Voters

You certainly are to be congratulated on having printed the double page sample of the voting ballot. It was particularly helpful in making the voting easier and clearer. This is a great public service and we have received many comments from our customers.

This idea a sure continues to enhance the image of The Pontiac Press.

Doesn't Agree Kennedy Rally Was 'Chaotic'

I was surprised at the lifelong Democrat describing the Kennedy rally as chaos. I stood right next to the Farnum girls and very close to the platform and was most pleasantly surprised at the orderliness of such a large crowd. There was little shoving near me, and no rudeness.

Some children did cry and a few were temporarily "lost," but that's to be expected in any huge gathering. Much as I dislike admitting Democrats do anything right, I thought it was handled very well.

'Despite Grievances, No Excuse for Lies'

When General Motors hires plant protection men at a starting wage higher than a city police officer's top wage, our police officers are not being treated right. When police officers are prohibited from striking by law because of public necessity, there is a duty on the public to meet their just needs without waiting for officers to resort to pressure tactics.

For officers to violate the law against striking may be forgiven as the act of desperate men, but for officers to call in a lie to their superiors is not cute but outright dishonesty. This points to a moral sickness which money alone cannot cure.

Why did we get mail on Sunday?

MRS. W. F. INDIAN VILLAGE

REPLY

Two city routes swamped with mail were delivered Nov. 6 in an attempt to keep deliveries current. Mail volume has increased 18 1/2 per cent over last year. The situation has been complicated by huge political mailings and 23 less employees than the authorized complement. As a result, the Post Office Department authorized sufficient overtime to relieve the situation.

In Washington:

Graft Crippling Viet War Effort

By RAY CROMLEY

CAN THO, Viet Nam (NEA) — The former province chief was an earnest young army colonel.

"When I went to my province north of here, the deputy province chief for finance offered me 800,000 piasters ($5,100) and said that this money was CROMLEY not recorded in the books. He said I could use the funds to set up my own spy system or for any purpose I desired.

"He said there would be another 100,000 piasters ($650) a month which would not have to be accounted for. He said he would put them at my disposal. He said he would manage the paperwork in reporting to Saigon.

"He said this was extra money that Saigon did not know about.

"I reported him and had him demoted to a simple clerk in a tribal area in the highlands.

"I then called in the province deputies, the district chiefs and the merchants and told them what I had done."

"I told them I knew there had been corruption in the past and that they had taken part in it. I would forget the past, I said, but there would be no more payoffs and no more acceptance of payoffs.

"I said I would remove any official who took payoffs and take away the license of any merchant who attempted to bribe me or to bribe me."

"I emphasized what I had done to my own deputy.

"Where did the 600,000 piasters come from? That's easy. Saigon sends cement, steel and other things. The province chief can fix the prices. Suppose something should cost 10 piasters. He can fix the price at 110. He will take 10 and the merchant take 10. There are many ways to work these things.

"But after setting this example, I had no further trouble. People didn't have to pay off officials to get business done as they did formerly.

"The graft shut off just like that.

"But then I left that province and was assigned to another place. Shortly after I left the old deputy province chief for finance — the one who had taken bribes and attempted to bribe me — was shifted back to the province into his old job.

"The province is now back in its old ways. The bribery and the payoffs are back."

Some U.S. officials say privately that graft is a major barrier to establishing confidence and winning the war in Viet Nam. They claim widespread graft is impossible to eradicate at this time.

The example of this young province chief shows graft and payoffs can be sharply cut if there is backing from above.

Holly Okays Planning for New Bridge

HOLLY — The Village Council has authorized its engineers to draw up plans for a new bridge to replace the Morrison Street bridge on Academy.

Village President Clarence Lester said the present bridge over the Shiawassee River is narrow and allows no room for pedestrians.

He said money to replace the old stone bridge will come from the general fund.

The council, at Tuesday's meeting, also discussed the need for a new public works building to house village equipment. Such a building is now being studied by Trustee Aaron Gadshaw. Lester said equipment is now outside because the present building is "ready to fall down."

School Board Remains Firm

Refuses to Reinstate Program in Imlay City

IMLAY CITY — School board members here remain firm, at least for the present, in their apparent dislike for federal aid.

Despite protests from about 30 teachers and parents, the board of education took no action at this week's board meeting to reinstate its Head Start program, dropped after the failure of the September millage vote.

"Too costly" was the reason given, though the program is paid almost entirely through federal funds. Schools Supt. Alvin P. Norlin took the board's action to mean dislike of federal spending.

He said the matter would probably be brought up again at next week's board meeting.

The board held preliminary discussion of a planned building expansion program. Norlin says no less than 20 new classrooms are needed almost immediately. He said like discussions would probably lead to a bond issue sometime next spring.

Growing Program in County

Mothers 'Aide' Teachers

Bringing up the pupil-teacher ratio at Avondale's Elmwood Elementary School these days is Mrs. Harold Hooker, 3421 Auburn, Pontiac Township — one of a growing band of women in Oakland County who have obtained employment as teacher aides.

She likes her work (three hours a day) and the school district likes her — so much so that board of education members voted this week to hire another aide.

The position of teacher aide has come about with increased enrollment in most public schools and the lack of funds, and in some cases — room space — to divide overloaded classes.

The aide frees the teacher from non-teaching jobs.

Mrs. Hooker, mother of two school-age children herself, says she prepares material for the kindergarten classes of Mrs. Paul Jurek.

She assists at "milk and cookies" time, ties shoes and puts on boots. Sometimes she helps an individual child who is having trouble with the work at hand.

Mrs. Jurek teaches a class of 32 children in the morning and another of 38 in the afternoon.

While Mrs. Hooker works mainly in the afternoon, she assists in the preparation of materials for the morning class as well.

Occasionally when she's all caught up in the kindergarten room, her services are extended to other busy teachers.

State Hunts Potato Pest

WALLED LAKE — Bonds totaling $85,000 have been sold for construction of the new municipal building on West Maple, west of Decker.

They were sold to Kenower, MacArthur and Co. and Manley, Bennett and MacDonald Co. for 5 per cent interest.

"We're very pleased with this low interest rate," said City Manager Royce Downey. "I think it shows faith in the community and its development."

Ground was broken Saturday for the one-story 7,000 square foot building. It will contain city offices, a court, police and fire departments and a library.

Completion is scheduled for next spring.

LANSING (AP) — Agricultural workers are sifting soil in Michigan potato patches, hoping they will not find the golden nematode, a tiny pest that has caused up to 85 per cent reduction in yields in New York.

If no golden nematodes are found this fall, the U.S. and state departments of agriculture will pronounce Michigan "probably safe" from infestation for at least five years. The pests build up very slowly in the soil, a specialist said.

The departments have been searching Michigan soil every five or six years in efforts to stop the nematodes from spreading from New York.

W. Bloomfield Scouts

3 Attain Rank of Eagle

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The rank of eagle was awarded recently to three 16-year-old Boy Scouts at Court of Honor for Troop 36, sponsored by the Westacres Volunteer Fire Department.

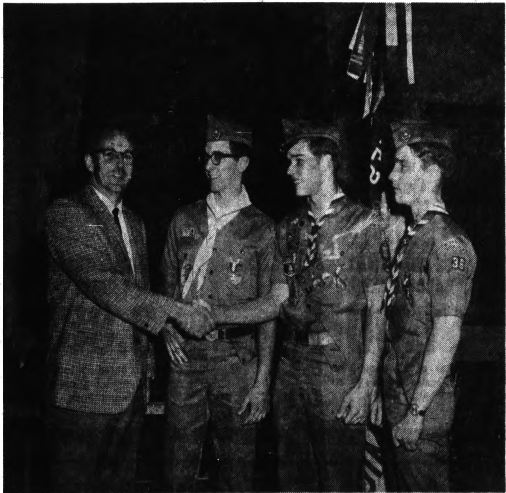

Guest speaker for the ceremonies awarding the high Scout rank was Dave Smith, Walled Lake football and ski coach.

Receiving the coveted Eagle rank were Jeff Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Morris of 7585 Lillie; Jud Huntley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Huntley of 7585 Arrowood; and John Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Warren of 6245 Willow.

In addition to their scouting activities, all three youths are members of the high school ski team.

Eagle-ranked scouts are relatively rare. It is all the more unusual for three such awards to be earned in the same troop at the same time.

Troy School Budget Hearing Is Nov. 22

TROY — The board of education has set 8 p.m. Nov. 22 as the date of a public hearing on the 1966-67 general fund budget.

Though in use since last July, the budget has not been formally adopted due to employment negotiations recently completed.

In other business at the Tuesday meeting, the board voted to permit use of Poppleton and Troy Union schools at regular rental fees, by the Detroit Christian Businessmen's Committee. The committee wants to sponsor a series of Bible classes.

Approval was given to the county's plan for vocational education, and more haste in implementing the program was urged.

Expansion of the parking lot at Niles School was approved.

West Bloomfield Art Exhibit Has Teachers' Works

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Eight area schoolteachers are exhibiting their work in the Oakland Art Education Association's art exhibit this week at Rooks Gallery, 2157 Orchard Lake.

They are Robert Seeburger, Mrs. Helen Glenn and Mrs. M. J. Root, all of Waterford Township schools, and Mrs. Mary Sue Preston and Julius Kusey, both of Rochester schools.

Others are Mrs. Arlene Westhoven of Pontiac schools and Roger Matson and Julie Sandco, both of Birmingham schools.

AF Satellites Are Studying Cold Welding

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — Two Air Force satellites, launched in secret last summer, are studying a problem that has already played havoc with other satellites and even with test chambers that simulate the conditions of space.

At least one U.S. satellite, intended to jettison a capsule containing secret photos or data records, failed to do so because of its metal parts simply stuck together and failed to operate.

They were not frozen; there were no congealed lubricants to glue them together. They were simply "cold welded."

Investigators of cold welding have yet to find a metal that will not cold weld under the proper conditions — cold, vacuum and two super-clean surfaces. All it takes is a prolonged touch.

Copper, aluminum, steel, tungsten carbide and other metals have produced welded joints with shear strengths as high as five tons per square inch.

THOUSANDS OF CONTACTS

Each of the two small, eight-sided USAF satellites is equipped with four solenoid valves and a solenoid actuator. The valves and actuator make thousands of metal-to-metal contacts, during the satellite's lifetime, constantly exposed to the cold, airless space environment.

Information from the satellites will be correlated with cold welds produced in simulation chambers on earth.

Only a few years ago, when cold welding was scarcely known, it used to do considerable damage in test chambers, "freezing" components such as threaded bolts and leaving scientists baffled as to the cause.

No such parts are simply built where they are not exposed to the chambers' vacuums.

NASA NERVOUS

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is nervous enough about the phenomenon that when Astronaut Edward White's hatch stuck during the Gemini 4 flight in June 1965, cold welding at first got the blame. Later a different cause was found.

Controlled cold welding could be a boom in the future, however. Since the process often takes only seconds and requires no special equipment at all, it could become an invaluable technique for the construction of space facilities on the moon, in orbit around the earth, or anywhere outside of planetary atmospheres.

Remarkable Find: Siamese Twin Bats

By Science Service
ONTARIO, Canada — A pair of big brown bats — a species found throughout the Americas — are the first Siamese twin bats ever reported, according to the curator of the Royal Ontario Museum.

Born prematurely, the bats were found dead by students in a public school yard last year. A teacher preserved the unusual specimen, later turning it over to a Museum employee.

The bats are joined at the chest and arms, down to the fingers, which constitute the wings of the world's only flying mammal. The specimen is only 1.75 inches long, half the adult size.

Swedes Plan Computerized Weather Data

By Science Service
STOCKHOLM, Sweden — One of the world's most automatic meteorological systems has been ordered by the Royal Swedish Air Force to be in operation by 1969.

The system which will cost over $3 million, will be used by the Swedish Military Weather Service at two forecast centers, to accept and process data from ground stations, weather ships and weather satellites.

Some three million teleprinter symbols, which at present make up the daily weather information for the northern hemisphere, will be fed directly into the computer complex, where they will be decoded, checked and sorted.

This quantity of data is expected to multiply in the near future.

Weather maps, from which forecasts are made, will be produced automatically on digital plotters and data will be displayed in written form on TV-like picture tubes.

In some cases, even the forecasts themselves will be produced automatically by the computer system.

Programming of the computers will be undertaken by Marconi and Svenska Radio AB in close cooperation with the Swedish Air Force Board and the Military Weather Service.

Cells Survive Lack of Oxygen

By Science Service
LONDON — Three Japanese scientists have found evidence that temporary lack of oxygen is not lethal to brain cells. In fact, they were able to revive brain wave tracings in cat brains that had been both deprived of oxygen and frozen for months.

Irreversible damage to the brain comes when its microcirculation capacity is destroyed, believe Drs. I. Suda, K. Kito and C. Adachi of the Kobe University School of Medicine and Growth and the Kobe Medical College.

It is well known, said the doctors, that brain cells cannot be revived once the cerebral blood flow is interrupted for more than a few minutes. Supposedly, oxygen starvation immediately damages the cells.

On the basis of the Japanese experiments, that is not the case. Rather, the central problem is the brain's incapacity to restore circulation.

Using live anesthetized cats, the scientists first replaced cerebral blood with a cooled salt solution. While maintaining this circulation, they decapitated the cats and began the cooling process.

In one experiment the brain was kept frozen for 45 days at minus four degrees F.; in another for 303 days.

In both cases, after thawing and washing the brains, the researchers recorded spontaneous electrical activity once the brains were supplied again with fresh blood taken from live cats.

Not only were brain waves evident, but tiny electrodes inserted into various parts of the cortex and hypothalamus picked up single nerve cell discharges.

She Speaks, He Listens

"The only person Sir Lawrence Olivier listens to" was introduced to members of area ticket committees for the Oakland University Meadow Brook Theatre Wednesday afternoon.

John Fernald, head of the theatre, presented Catherine Fleming of the National Theatre Company in London. On leave from her duties there as dramatic instructor, Miss Fleming is at the university for five weeks to work with the actors in the new repertory company.

She demonstrated some of the voice faults of amateur and inexperienced actors.

John Broome, choreographer and movements coach for the John Fernald Company, presented in pantomime some techniques of stage presence.

Don Britton, manager of the theatre, told the group of volunteer workers that 1967 season tickets have been sold (Pontiac residents have bought 310).

There are special subscription rates for students and for groups. The first play, "The Caucasian Chalk Circle," will be presented Jan. 4, 1967.

On Nov. 29 in the Gold Room of Oakland Center, Fernald will discuss the first play.

This is the beginning of a lecture series on the plays, presented by the Friends of Kresge Library. These lectures will be given monthly at 8 p.m. throughout the theatre season. There is no charge for admission.

Slim Woman Resents Tag of 'Skinny'

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My pet peeve is this: I am a slender person and it is very hard for me to gain weight. So many people refer to me as being skinny. I cannot stand the word.

If they say I am slender I never feel offended. Am I foolish to feel this way? — R.P.

Dear Mrs. R.P.: I'm printing your letter on behalf of all you lucky sylph-like women. I think there's a touch of malicious envy there when someone calls you "skinny," and honest admiration when the label is "slender."

The former word has a slightly derogatory connotation while the latter is sheer flattery. A great majority of us only wish we had your problem!

FAMILY OF GROOM

Dear Mrs. Post: Last week at a formal wedding, the mother and father of the groom refused to wear formal clothes. My husband says it was all right but I don't agree.

We both dressed formally at our three sons' weddings, and when pictures were taken we did not stick out like a sore thumb. I feel we are important; after all, no groom — no wedding. Hope I can make my husband eat his words. — Mrs. T.M. McCaffrey

Dear Mrs. McCaffrey: I have to take your side in this argument. I feel the groom's family should go along with the degree of formality of the other members of the wedding.

Please don't make your husband eat his words; your sons are already married, so you won't be faced with this problem again. Just be happy you were correct when you were parents of the grooms.

Construction on the new Rochester Suburban Unit of Crittenton General Hospital is moving right along due partly to the efforts of the Rochester Women's Club which has so far donated $10,000 to the building fund. Club members checking on the building progress are from left, Mrs. Kenneth Hock and Mrs. William Keinath, both of Rochester.

Two Area Women's Groups Hear Talks at Meetings

Mrs. Ruth Mairy Scribner was guest speaker Wednesday at the Epsilon Rho chapter meeting of Beta Sigma Phi sorority. Her talk was about her experience of living and working in a commune in northern Israel while doing an independent study for Michigan State University this summer.

Mrs. Donald Kline of Lincoln Avenue was hostess for the co-operative dinner and meeting.

Guests were Mrs. Joseph Corbiel, Mrs. Gordon Waite, Mrs. Jack Hipchen and Mrs. John Matson.

Plans for the Christmas Party were made.

Sound color slides of the new Timberland Swamp Nature Sanctuary some 10 miles west of Pontiac highlighted Tuesday's meeting of the Dirt Gardeners' Club.

Ralph A. O'Reilly Jr. from the Eastern Michigan Nature Association "Preserving Natural Beauty in Michigan" presented the program in the Merry Road home of Mrs. Andrew Kulich.

Mrs. Clifford Lampson assisted the hostess and Mrs. Douglas Cole of Lake Orion was a guest.

Make This 'Ladies Choice' Yours

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I were dating, we went dancing at least twice a week. After eight years and two children, we don't dance much, but when we do, my husband will dance one dance with me, and spend the rest of the evening dancing with someone else's wife.

DEAR ABBY: I am 25 and need help. My dad is a long distance truck driver and my mom is going through the menopause cycle. Mom always wanted a Chihuahua dog, so dad stopped off at Fort Worth, Tex., and talked to a lady who ran an ad in the paper selling Chihuahuas.

He was going to surprise mom with a dog, but he said when he got there the lady said she didn't have any males, which is what dad wanted, but a Chihuahua named Tillie was going to have pups any time and she would save a male for him when they arrived.

Well, dad was out of town when a postcard came from this lady and it read, "TILLIE HAD HER BABIES. ALL FEMALES, NO MALES."

Mom called up this lady in Fort Worth and cussed her out, and now she wants a divorce because she claims dad fathered triplets on one of his trips.

No one can talk to her. I am ready to leave home. What can I do?

NEEDS HELP

DEAR NEEDS: Ask the lady in Fort Worth to send a picture of "Tillie's triplets." If that doesn't get your mom off your dad's back, tell mom to head for the hormones.

DEAR ABBY: When my wife wakes up, the first thing she does before she even opens her eyes is light a cigaret. She coughs and hacks—and talks about quitting "some day" — but she never does.

DEAR ABBY: She is underweight and nervous and I get so upset thinking about what could happen to her I don't know which way to turn. We have small children to raise.

I have offered her a reward of money, threatened to sleep on the couch and tried everything, but she still smokes. She claims she smokes only three packs a day, but I know it's closer to four!

If you or any of your readers have any ideas on how to get her to quit, I would be ever so grateful. I am—

OUT OF IDEAS

DEAR OUT: If there is anything more hopeless than trying to help a person who refuses to help himself, I don't know what it is. Your wife is clearly "hooked" on the weed.

If she really wants to quit, ask her doctor to help her help herself.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal, unpublished reply, include a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

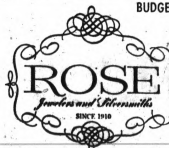

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1.00 to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press.

Marie Larson Merideth Will Speak

A critique by Marie Larson Merideth will highlight the meeting Friday of the Pontiac Society of Artists. Members and guests will gather in the Community Services Building on Franklin Boulevard at 8 p.m.

Miss Merideth, a painter, sculptor and draftsman, studied at Oakland University, Wayne State University and Arts and Crafts. She also has studied under Jay Holland, Walter Midener, Laslo Spanky, Clifford West and Sarkis Sarkisian.

A past president and treasurer of the Society, the artist holds a number of awards.

Window Shades Allow Light

New translucent window shades are designed to do a very special job. They are daytime shades, which, when lowered, give just the right amount of filtered light for the deck at window-side, for personal make-up, and for the indoor plants of the window-sill garden. What's more, they give complete privacy at night.

Dentists to Talk to Hygienists

Six area dentists will conduct a panel discussion at Tuesday's meeting of the Oakland County Dental Hygienists' Society.

Speakers are Doctors E. E. Wilamowski; Irwin Small; John Natis; Harold Maxmen; Chester Coccia and Robert Kaviuff.

The event will be held in the Northland office of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company at 7:30 p.m.

Jerry Leon Butlers Speak Recent Vows

Exchanging vows in a recent candlelight ceremony in Christ Lutheran Church were Terry Lee Salisbury and Jerry Leon Butler.

Their parents are the Thomas G. Salsburgs of North Pinegrove Drive and the Virgil E. Butlers of Oakvista Drive.

Susan Rinkenberger was maid of honor for the bride who wore a full length white satin gown with bell train, fitted bodice and a short illusion veil. She carried white carnations in a cascade bouquet.

Janis Nelson and Diane Nelson were their cousin's bridesmaids.

Edmund Johnson of Mount Clemens was best man with ushers David Reed and Randall Bunce.

Following their vows the couple greeted guests in the church reception hall. They are honeymooning at Niagara Falls and in Canada and will reside in Pontiac upon their return.

Why Grow Old?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Q. I do not really know whether my hair is dry or oily. I don't know how to classify it.

A. Does your hair feel dry and brittle to the touch? Are the ends like straw and are they split? Does your scalp flake off? Does your hair break off? Does your scalp feel tight? If so, you no doubt classify it as oily. Since you have trouble deciding, you probably have a normal scalp. Stimulation is important whether your hair is normal, oily or dry. This tends to normalize the little oil glands in the scalp and speeds up circulation. If your hair is falling out more than it should use scalp massage, not brushing. Brush as little as possible.

Q. I have puffs under and over my eyes when I awaken each morning. I have some all of the time, but it is much worse when I first awaken. Does this mean that I have some illness? What can I do about it?

A. It does not necessarily mean this. However, any swelling should call for a checkup by your doctor. Your trouble may be due to an allergy. Since the swelling is worse after sleeping, this may be connected with your bed equipment. Many folks are allergic to feathers. Try using a rubber foam pillow. Some women are allergic to detergents. Try washing your sheets with mild soap flakes. Eye strain can cause this. Do you need glasses?

Any time you sleep with an eye dug into a soft pillow may cause it to swell. Try using a small compact rubber foam pillow and just put your forehead on it.

Heels Chunkier

Look what's happened to heels. Most are lower and chunkier. Some are straight; some look like bottle openers; some are museum heels. The latter, according to Larry Myrin, head of design for A. S. Beck, is the hourglass shape. But what's happened to the high heel? "They are still around and still important," Myrin said. "But the new shapes are the fashion leaders."

Her Dream No Small Item

ASHLAND, Va. (AP) — Mrs. Joseph Andrews, an avid doll collector who has been wanting a doll house for years, now has a 7 by 8-foot house which not only has 13 rooms, but is an exact reproduction of her childhood home.

A family friend, William R. Hewlett, local lumber broker, built it for her as a surprise. The white frame house, which contains approximately 3,500 cut parts, is built on a 1-inch to 1-foot scale and took almost seven months to complete.

Hewlett, having decided to make the house a replica of the home Mrs. Johnson grew up in, admits he got somewhat of a shock when he learned that her girlhood residence was a 13-room, rambling white frame rural home called Lakeview Farms, west of here. The present owners were often straited to see him crawling around, steel tape in hand, to get accurate dimensions.

Beverly Younger Enchants Audience

Well known actress and monologist, Beverly Younger captivated the Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall audience Wednesday and it didn't take all three of her original character sketches to do it.

Backstage, the talented performer was a fragile blonde woman with intense dark blue eyes. Her voice was one remembered from radio soap operas like "Ma Perkins" and "Vic and Sade."

As Jerry Dahlmann of Rochester, master of ceremonies for the program, said of her, "The company she has kept in her performances are an indication of her ability."

QUICK CHANGE

Following her introduction she slipped backstage and donned a pink cardigan and glasses. She emerged again as a mousy, nervous girl. Quite a change from the glamorous woman we had first seen.

The girl was one we all remembered from somewhere: a girl who always says the wrong thing, wants to be liked but like the happy leaping puppy, isn't appreciated very much.

Her portrayal was poignant and funny, a risky combination for any but a professional.

Her next interpretation of a striving society matron who really wasn't like that at all impressed us. She began with a cigarette and a make-believe drink in a make-believe glass and soon led us from sobriety to dizzy intoxication. We forgot it wasn't real.

WELL REMEMBERED

The monologue "Danny Boy" that launched her career as a monologist was done last of all. Originally it was an addition she had written for her husband, actor Lester Podewell. It told us what we knew already, a mother is a mother, is a mother.

Following her performance, Miss Younger was honored with a celebrity luncheon at Devon Gables.

Installation of Officers Takes Place

Members of Oakland County Chapter No. 34, American Gold Star Mothers, were dinner guests of Mrs. Clarence Sutton, Wednesday, in her home on Ramona Terrace.

Charter president Mrs. John O. Gries installed officers for 1966-67: Mrs. Cecil Briggs, president; Mrs. David Bickert, vice president; Mrs. Alva McCoy, Mrs. Harry F. White and Mrs. Luisa Mayotte.

A dinner in Greenfield's Birmingham Restaurant on Nov. 19 will honor members whose birthdays fall in the last four months of 1966.

Gifts will be sent to veterans in the Pontiac State Hospital and the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, and to veterans' dependents in the Michigan Veterans' Facility in Grand Rapids.

Hospitalized members of the chapter will also be remembered.

New Pants Suit Is Wildly Striped

Kenneth Douglas of Splendiferous adds special stature to the casual life, combining white - on - black cotton mattress ticking with bold black-on-white awning strips to give a new pants suit that wildly striped look.

The pants, for at home wear, are more than a foot wide.

After Years of Sameness

The American male has ignited a fashion revolution.

Lower the rise of men's slacks, widen the bottoms, add the dash of a thick leather garrison-type belt, and you have some of the ingredients of high style clothing for the Fall '66 fashion scene.

From out of the West comes the fashion-right look for Fall '66: rugged wide-wale corduroy slacks in colors from soft wheat to golden brown to team up with CPO shirts in bold blanket plaids and buckskin, and topped off with a brawny denim jacket lined and collared in warm pile.

The fashion outlook in men's sportswear is more imaginative and daring than ever.

What has caused the sudden passion to bury the conservative dress image of the past? Men are intent on asserting their masculinity in fashion.

For years women have been walking off with the style honors. The male desires a bit of fashion glory of his own.

Men today accent their dress to reflect their professional positions as lawyers, bankers or advertising executives. This desire to dress better is reinforced by man's awareness of the world about him through newspapers, television, movies, a wanderlust yearning to travel and the accessibility of the automobile.

This sudden desire for more imaginative styles and bolder colors means men are sure of their masculinity. They are not afraid to compete with women for style honors in the world of fashion.

Women are thrilled with man's new fashion consciousness. They're even letting their husbands make the buying decisions regarding their own wardrobes.

New Chapter Celebrates Its Charter

Those on the program included Robert Jones, Clarkston Jaycee president, Mrs. Ronald Lance, Mrs. Lewis Wint, Mrs. Kenneth Barks and Mrs. Michael Patterson.

Guests were Mrs. Al Formicola, Mrs. Charles Beauvais, Mrs. Tom Gates.

The evening's committee consisted of Mesdames Barry Breidenbaugh, Gary Hender-shot, Jerry Bradley, Harold Weston, Robert Tilley and Robert Brumback.

Cluttered Purse Problem Solved

Can't keep one purse organized? Why not carry three purses at once — one for keys, one for cosmetics, one for odd-ments? Sally Jess, Britain's top handbag designer, invented such a three-in-one bag.

The three square bags are attached to a big ring. The practical aspect: end of fumbling.

They're in the race on their own now. Starter, Mrs. Michael C. Patterson of Grace K Court, a member of the sponsoring Waterford Jaycettes fires the pistol (all in fun of course) for two members of the newly chartered Clarkston Area Jaycettes. Ready to go are (center) Mrs. Roger W. Olney of Hidden Lane, Independence Township, and Mrs. Lewis E. Wint of Clarkston. The new group celebrated their independence at a dinner Wednesday evening in the Airway Lounge. Up until the group received its own charter, it was a part of the Waterford-Clarkston Area Jaycettes and participated in this unit's activities.

New Liquid Laser Easy to Make

By Science Service

NEW YORK — A new kind of liquid laser, the first to use an inorganic fluid as the light-amplifying material, is easy to make and operates at room temperature.

The energy output of the new laser is about 100 times greater than that previously achieved by the only other known liquid laser.

The concentrated infrared light it emits has an energy comparable to that of solid state lasers now on the market operating under identical conditions.

The intense light comes in powerful bursts, or pulses. It could be used in radar sets, in medicine and in improved measuring devices and might also have applications in drilling and welding.

Old Theory on Disease of Heart Revived

By Science Service

PALO ALTO, Calif. — A 50-year-old discredited theory that explains the mechanism of one of the most common heart irregularities, atrial fibrillation, and the less common but related flutter, has been revived and exonerated by a professor at Stanford University School of Medicine.

It is called the "circus movement theory," although most medical textbooks deny its existence.

The word circus refers to a ring-like movement of electricity entrapped in a pathway around the great veins of the heart to explain irregularity.

In the normal heart the electric charge that causes muscles to contract spreads throughout the atrial tissue like a ripple from a pebble dropped in a still pond. Once it has done its job, the impulse fades out and a new one is generated.

When irregular heart beat occurs, the circus movement theory explains it as the electrical impulse going around and around, making the atrial tissue flutter, a condition that sometimes precedes a full-blown fibrillation.

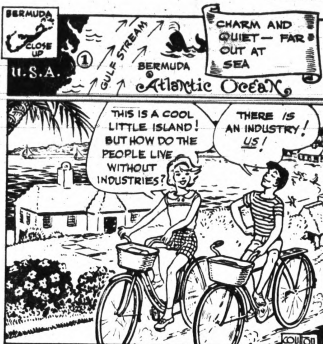

OVERLOOKED IDEA

Reviver of the theory, which originated in England, is Dr. David Rydland, who said doctors simply misunderstood the idea or have overlooked the clinical evidence.

Physicians who studied the evidence were trapped by an optical illusion that made them misread their patients' electrocardiograms, Dr. Rydland stated.

Before the theory was applied to humans 50 years ago, the circus movement was demonstrated in jellyfish by Dr. Alfred G. Mayer, a physicist and marine biologist. The test was recently repeated by Dr. Rydland.

A Junior Editors Quiz About BERMUDA

QUESTION: Why is Bermuda so attractive to people?

ANSWER: The Bermuda islands (there are more than 300 of them, with only 20 large enough to be inhabited) make a tiny dot on the map of the Atlantic ocean (1). Although it looks so distant, Bermuda is actually only 3 hours plane ride from New York, one of the things which makes it so attractive to visitors.

Another is the delightfully mild climate, neither too hot nor too cold. This is the result of the influence of the warm water current, the Gulf Stream, which swings northeastward between Bermuda and the mainland (see map).

Besides climate and accessibility, Bermuda is attractive in many other ways. The sea is dazzling peacock blue; the island glows with palms and sub-tropical flowers; there are fine hotels, sports, the best of swimming and sailing.

Life in Bermuda goes on at a leisurely pace. People travel the short distance by bicycles. The few cars are small and restricted to speeds not over 20 miles an hour.

There is a small amount of farmland, on which flowers and vegetables are raised. But Bermuda's main industry is tourism. More than 100,000 persons, including many honeymoon couples, visit the islands every year.

FOR YOU TO DO: Bermuda is a British crown colony. Its history is fascinating. Find out something about it.

Malaysia Town Is for Birds

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Residents of the picturesque town of Klang have a problem — crows — some 300,000 of them, by estimate. A visitor can see them perched ready to swoop, on trees, walls and even on the gold-domed palace of the sultan. The old bust of King George V at Klang Park is barely identifiable.

Hardest hit are the open air markets. "They dart down in swarms and steal anything before you can say shoe," one shopkeeper complained. Housewives have had items snatched out of their hands.

2-704 MARGIN An expert at the Institute of Medical Research here said: "There are two crows to every resident and they are so used to human environment that they have developed a certain cunning."

A municipal law says shooting below eye level is unlawful and it seems somebody told the crows. The sight of a gun brings them quickly to the ground. The game warden has offered a reward of 30 cents per dead crow. So far this year only $6 has been paid.

The fatality rates per hundred-million passenger-miles last year were 0.07 for railroads, 0.16 for buses, 0.38 for domestic airlines, and 2.4 for automobiles.

Conclusion Jumping: Tyrants Not Boss at Home

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

College professors may be tyrants in the classroom but they are usually more henpecked at home than other husbands. The least henpecked males are plumbers, house painters, and hairdressers — probably because they deal with women all the time and have few illusions about them. Nothing is duller than a sexy book written by a hack writer in the obvious hopes of making a million dollars from it.

A woman who overprides herself on her housekeeping is a museum curator at heart. A housewife that is eternally neat has an embalmist quality and is about as uneasily restful as the viewing room in a funeral home. Life has to have some disorder to be interesting.

The surest way to wreck an enemy, if he is a poor man, is to give him three expensive gifts he can't afford — such as a $750 watch, a $1,500 color television and hi-fi set, and a Rolls-Royce. He will die rather than give them up, and work himself to death trying to meet the upkeep and repair bills.

Gals who wear colorful bird feathers at the side of their hats are usually lousy lovers — and also chronically overdue in their payments to the finance company.

BUYS

The Proof of Value Is More Than Just the Price

Our Budget Buys are selected because they give you more for your money than you'd normally expect — and it's what you get for your dollar that proves a value. We select each Budget Buy with great care; many are made to our exacting specifications. Take a moment to read exactly what a Budget Buy means to you.

- It means low prices; lower than we normally carry
- It means satisfaction in fit, wear; in every respect!
- It means better quality than you'd expect at the price
- It means fresh, new apparel . . . in . . . full selection
- It means top value
- It means no charge for alterations

And it means you'll buy it in a store you know and trust—where you can be sure of quality, of origin, of satisfaction—not just when you buy, but after the purchase, too. It means full selections and complete size ranges. It means proper fit by trained clothing experts, and courteous attention.

Sheppard's Defense Begins

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Samuel H. Sheppard's defense began today to offer evidence opposing the state's claim that the former osteopath killed his first wife, Marilyn, in their Bay Village home in 1954.

The state rested its case Wednesday after the jury of seven men and five women heard 14 witnesses in nine days of testimony. Thirty state witnesses were called in Sheppard's first trial 12 years ago.

Sheppard, 42, was freed on bond in 1964 by a U.S. District Court ruling after he served nine years in prison for the slaying. The U.S. Supreme Court ordered a retrial last spring. Sheppard was charged with first-degree murder but was convicted Dec. 21, 1954, of second-degree murder, the charge for which he is being retried.

EXPECTED WITNESSES

Witnesses expected to be called by Sheppard's chief counsel, F. Lee Bailey, include Dr.

Stephen A. Sheppard, the defendant's brother, and Dr. Paul Leland Kirk, professor of criminalistics and biochemistry at the University of California at Berkeley.

Kirk examined the bedroom in which Marilyn Sheppard was bludgeoned to death July 4, 1954.

Bailey said in his opening statement that he would show that the person who killed Marilyn held the murder weapon which never was produced — in the left hand and had the strength of a woman.

The state's last witness, Miss Mary Cowan, 59, chief laboratory technician for the county coroner's office, testified to her findings on blood stains in the Sheppard home and on the defendant's wristwatch and trousers.

DISMISSAL MOTION

Arguing successfully against a defense motion to dismiss the case, Prosecutor John T. Corriale told the court in the absence of the jury:

"I submit that the watch is the most telling evidence in the case at this time. This watch was on the hand of the man who wielded the weapon. And this watch was on the hand of Sam Sheppard that night."

Bailey said, "not one single fact that the state has proven physically contradicts the story, such as it is, that the defendant told."

Miss Cowan testified that the blood spots on the watch were the same type as Marilyn's Group O, Type M — and that the stains were spattered by "blood in motion at an angle."

'KNOCKED OUT'

Sheppard contends he was knocked out in the murder bedroom, came to and chased a "form" to the beach behind his house where he was knocked out again. He says when he regained consciousness, waves from Lake Erie were washing over him.

Sheppard contends he went back to the bedroom, leaned his wet trouser leg against the bloody bed and felt Marilyn's pulse at the wrist and at the neck.

The defense says this is how Sheppard's left trouser leg and his watch became stained with blood.

The Soft Whiskey motto:

It wasn't always this easy for us to have a good laugh.

Ten years ago, for instance, we found it hard to find anything funny. At that time, Soft Whiskey was nothing more than a distiller's pipe dream.

(We failed to come up with it so many thousands of times, it became a nightmare.)

Of course now it doesn't really matter when Soft Whiskey was discovered. What does matter is what's in that bottle:

A whiskey that goes down so nicely, you tend to forget that it happens to be a full 86 proof.

We tried harder to be softer.

You accepted us.

Thank you.

As for the much-sought-after formula that started the whole thing, who knows? We're getting so cocky, we may even publish it some day.

Navy Officer Who Ran Viet Depot on Trial

TREASURE ISLAND, Calif. (AP) — A court-martial board begins its deliberations today in the case of Navy Capt. Archie Kuntze, charged with a "continuous threat" of misconduct while commanding a supply depot in Saigon.

The board of nine high-ranking Navy officers may find Kuntze, a 24-year officer decorated in three wars, guilty of any or all of 18 charges. Punishment could range from a simple letter of reprimand to dismissal from the service with forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

The prosecutor, Capt. Joseph E. Ross, has charged during the eight-day trial that a woman, Jannie Suen, 26, was the basis of Kuntze's misconduct.

Ross says Kuntze lived "openly and notoriously" with Miss Suen in his quarters, imported fabrics to Viet Nam for profit, exchanged Vietnamese money and military scrip for U.S. dollars for his personal account and used government transportation for personal convenience.

Blackout of 1965 Recalled in Dark

NEW YORK (AP) — At precisely 5:27 p.m. Wednesday, the lights went out in the tower suite of the Time-Life Building. No one at the party there noticed, however. They barely looked up from their drinks. This year, everybody knew it was a joke.

The party — thrown by a distilling company — was one of many observances Wednesday night marking the first anniversary of the great Northeast power failure. It honored all people such as physicians, nurses, policemen and firemen who helped keep things running during the blackout.

How Fast Can You Read?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique of rapid reading which should enable you to double your reading speed and yet retain much more. Most people do not realize how much they could increase their pleasure, success and income by reading faster and more accurately.

According to this publisher, anyone, regardless of his present reading skill, can use this simple technique to improve his reading ability to a remarkable degree. Whether reading stories, books, technical matter, it becomes possible to read sentences at a glance and entire pages in seconds with this method.

To acquaint the readers of this newspaper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing rapid reading skill, the company has printed full details of its interesting self-training method in a new booklet, "How to Read Faster and Retain More" mailed free. No obligation. Send your name, address, and zip code to: Reading, 853 Diversey, Dept. 9038, Chicago, Ill. 60614. A postcard will do.

Bobby, Hubert Are Losers, Too--Indirectly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert F. Kennedy, the New Yorker with the magic name, and Hubert H. Humphrey, the vice president who wants a promotion, suffered setbacks in election day's chain of Democratic losses.

Already billed as rivals for the 1972 nomination to succeed President Johnson, Humphrey and Sen. Kennedy proved Tuesday that a politician doesn't have to be on the ballot to lose. Johnson had the same problem—and his is more immediate. It begins Jan. 10 on Capitol Hill, when the 90th Congress assembles with a House of Representatives that is virtually certain to put a crimp in his "Great Society" plans.

Humphrey and Kennedy spent the autumn in hectic campaigning, each man out to translate national standing into state votes for Democrats.

Neither achieved notable success. Kennedy, brother of President John F. Kennedy, rolled into the campaign riding high, with pollsters rating him more popular than President Johnson.

He campaigned for losers in California, Oregon, Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois.

The crowds were big, but the votes were not there for Democrats Tuesday.

Humphrey, campaigning hard, hit many of the same states. And in his home state of Minnesota, Humphrey saw the Democrat-Farmer-Labor party he helped to organize buffeted by a near-sweep for Republicans.

Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag, who won nomination in the primary after the party convention repudiated him, was ousted by Republican Harold Levander.

Draw for Draft --McNamara

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara says a national lottery would help eliminate deficiencies of the present draft system.

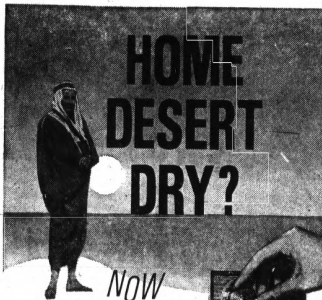

In an interview published in the Harvard Crimson Wednesday, McNamara called the current draft methods unsuitable.

"We draft the oldest first," he said. "It's never clear exactly at what age one will be subject to the draft. This makes very difficult the planning of one's life."

DRAWING AT 19 McNamara said every 19-year-old should be subjected to the lottery. At age 19, a young man's name would be drawn from a pool. In case of deferment, McNamara said, his name would go back in the pool at the end of the deferred period.

With a lottery, he said, "every man would know precisely where he stood."

McNamara made the remarks in a weekend interview while visiting Harvard University's John Fitzgerald Kennedy Institute of Politics for a series of informal seminars.

Republican Win Extends to State Education Boards

By the Associated Press
The Republicans apparently extended their Michigan victory to the state boards of education in Tuesday's general election.

Two Republicans captured seats on the solidly Democratic State Board of Education and other Republicans ousted one Democrat on each of the three major university boards.

James F. O'Neil, 42, a Ford Motor Co. purchasing executive, and Dr. Leroy Augenstein, 38, a University biophysics department, led the way.

They sought State Board of Education positions against Democrats Dr. Leon G. Fill, 52, a Huntingdon Woods physician, and Donald M.D. Thurber, a 48-year-old Grosse Pointe public relations executive.

The last unofficial tabulation of vote returns Wednesday showed O'Neil with 1,186,317 votes, Augenstein 1,151,969, Thurber 1,077,340 and Fill 999,379.

Two more Republicans won spots on the University of Michigan Board of Regents, defeating Democrats Irene E. Murphy, a Birmingham, a board member since 1957, and John J. Collins, former state Democratic chairman.

The victors were Robert J. Brown, businessman, Republican party treasurer and captain of the 1925 Wolverine football team, and Mrs. Trudy Huebner, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the university from Bloomfield Hills.

The vote showed Brown 1,193,233, Mrs. Huebner 1,124,025, Mrs. Murphy 1,065,365 and Collins 1,037,088.

Ken Thompson, a telephone company executive from Birmingham, downed Democrat Warren M. Huff of Plymouth in the race for the Michigan State Board of Trustees.

Incumbent Republican Frank Merriman of Deckerville led the field to win a second term and Democrat Nathan G. Conyers of Detroit ran last.

The unofficial tally was Merriam 1,175,873, Thompson 1,137,535, Huff 1,026,486, Conyers 1,000,675.

A Republican won a full term after being appointed to the Wayne State Board of Governors, Dr. Alfred H. Sokolowski, defeated a Democratic incumbent on the board.

Norman O. Stockmeyer of Wayne, appointed to the board two years ago by Gov. George Romney, led the field, with Sokolowski second in defeating Mrs. Jean McKee of Grand Rapids. Democrat Leslie Schmier of Detroit trailed.

CONGRATULATIONS BY DOZENS — Tennessee Sen. elect Howard H. Baker Jr. looks through dozens of congratulatory telegrams sent to him after his upset victory over Gov. Frank Clement, the Democratic candidate. Baker, the son-in-law of another senator, Everett Dirksen of Illinois, is Tennessee's 97-year-old Republican senator in first year.

GOP-Dixie Dem Coalition Again Dominant in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Restoration of the Republican Southern Democratic coalition to a dominant position in the House means that the Democratic leadership will have its hands full winning financing for existing "Great Society" programs, let alone starting any new ones.

This became clear today as Republican leaders studied the addition of 47 new members to GOP House forces. Late returns from Tuesday's elections left the Democrats' numerical majority at 248 to 187, compared with 295 to 140 in the 89th Congress.

House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan set the Republican keynote with a prediction that the 90th Congress would see "more prudent and frugal use of the taxpayers' money because of the increase in Republican members."

Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Conference, also talked of fiscal responsibility through reduction of existing programs, although he also mentioned the possibility of "an equitable tax increase."

ON INSTINCTS
While GOP sources pointed out that Ford has made it clear

he will not go out of his way to court Southern Democrats, their natural instincts undoubtedly will throw them together as in the past on crucial House votes.

And a spate of Republican victories over moderate Southern Democrats, such as Reps. James A. Mackay of Georgia, George W. Grider of Tennessee and James W. Trimble of Arkansas, left virtually all Southern seats in the hands of opponents of the administration's domestic program.

Leads Viet Strike
SAIGON (AP)—Maj. Thomas Miller, 41, of Cadillac, Mich., led a flight of F4C Phantoms Wednesday that struck a storage complex 15 miles northwest of Dong Hoi, North Viet Nam, the Air Force said today. Ten secondary explosions were reported.

Brennan Win All for Naught?

Could Be Denied
Supreme Court Post

LANSING (UPI) — A remote possibility exists that Wayne Circuit Court Judge Thomas Brennan will not reap the fruits of his upset victory over State Supreme Court Justice Otis M. Smith.

Michigan's Constitution provides for a seven-man court. There are currently eight men on the highest state bench because this was the number provided before the 1964 constitution took effect.

Provisions call for keeping the higher, even number, until the time that a vacancy occurs as a result of death, retirement or resignation of a justice. The first such vacancy shall not be filled."

How remote is the possibility that Brennan, swept into Smith's spot by a good Irish name and a strong Republican vote in even Wayne County, would not get the seat?

Smith's general temperament for fairness to all would incline him to be inclined to resign or retire out of spite, to prevent the Republican-supported justice-elect from serving.

VACANT POSTS

But there are two vacant Federal District Court positions in Detroit. U. S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, the state's senior senator who happens to be a Democrat, has the power to recommend nominees for these positions.

Smith admits he was interested some months ago when there was a vacancy on the U. S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals.

That slot went to Wayne Circuit Judge Wade H. McCree. Smith notes, "I certainly had no argument with that appointment."

The incumbent Supreme Court justice declines to project his future at this time. "I haven't given it any thought except that I need and am ready to take the first good rest I've had since I entered state service 8½ years ago."

Brennan apparently did consider the idea, however, the possibility that one of the incumbent Democratic-nominated justices would resign if defeated was mentioned in some of Brennan's campaign advertising.

Some indications of Smith's inclinations might be gleaned from his initial reactions to his loss.

"I was convinced the race would be a tough one although I had little success in convincing other people that I might be in trouble," he said. "This was the hardest campaign I ever ran."

Liquor Issue Wins Some, Loses Some

By the Associated Press
Voters approved sale of liquor by the glass in more than a score of Michigan communities in Tuesday's election.

A lesser number of communities rejected such liquor sales.

Romney-in-'68 Machine Being Oiled

DETROIT (AP) — They're unpacking the leftover presidential campaign literature, button and bumper stickers and bringing a presidential draft machine out of mothballs for Republican Gov. George Romney.

Romney is the man who won a third term as Michigan governor with the largest plurality in state history, despite the fact that Tuesday's was an off-year election.

—Helped U.S. Sen. Robert Griffin defeat former six-term Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who had the blessing of the Kennedys and the heavy support of a similar group backing of labor in this heavy state. —Helped reverse the political map of the Michigan congressional delegation from 12-7 Democratic to 12-7 Republican.

—Rolled back the 1964 Johnson tide which had given the Democrats control of the Michigan Legislature for the first time in 30 years.

While Romney was accepting victory in Detroit Tuesday night, a Romney-for-president drive was being revived in Dallas, Tex.

Sparkplug of the movement is George A. Zimmermann, the president of a similar group that had spread to 20 states before it was rebuffed by Romney in 1964.

Zimmermann, 41, vice president of a computer manufacturing firm, said in a telephone interview Wednesday that "we have been contacting and reacting our state groups for the past few months."

"I have contacted Ray Bliss, Republican national chairman and Republican state chairman in all 50 states," he said.

HE'S TRYING Zimmermann, who has never been in direct contact with Romney, said he also is trying to get in touch with someone close to the Michigan governor.

Forward-looking bumper stickers and placards blossomed forth at Romney's election headquarters late Tuesday.

Romney and his staff disclaimed all knowledge of them, but reporters noted that the demonstration was carefully planned and coordinated, the placards were of a uniform, professional quality.

The sign-carriers waited patiently in the wings until Romney was ready to claim victory, and one sign bearer told a reporter who asked to see her sign:

"We aren't supposed to show them until they say when."

RELUCTANCE Zimmermann said he had nothing to do with them. At his first post-election news conference, Romney displayed only slightly more willingness than he has shown in the past to discuss the presidential question.

In response to questions about the 1968 GOP nomination, he said:

"I am highly complimented that so many people are thinking of me in this way, but I haven't made a decision... you'll know when I make it."

He refused to go any further.

WAR ISSUE But he did comment on one national issue: The war in Vietnam.

A reporter asked what effect Romney thought the war had on the election.

York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, Massachusetts Sen.-elect Edward Brooke and New York Mayor John Lindsay.

He did not mention any conversation with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, regarded as possibly the chief contender for the 1968 nomination. He did say later, that he was grateful for the help Nixon gave in the Michigan campaign.

The St. Lawrence Seaway handled about 44 million tons of ship elect Charles Percy, New shipping last year.

Unity Said Key in State House

LANSING (AP) — Republicans "did a fabulous job of team play" in taking 18 House seats away from Democrats in Tuesday's election, but they will have to stay united to take advantage of the 55-5 tie, the House Republican leader said.

Because of the tie, "There is the greatest necessity for (GOP) unity and the most temptation for unilateral action by one member of a group," Rep. Robert Waldron, R - Grosse Pointe, said Wednesday.

In the last year, Waldron said, House Republicans acted together to prevent Democrats from overriding gubernatorial vetoes or to prevent immediate effect for any bills they opposed.

Every time it was necessary to act unanimously, he said "We were able to do it."

A REPUTATION
Waldron called the election results a "vote of confidence in the governor and his leadership and a reputation of Democrats who were trying to make a mess of things."

The Democratic leader in the House, Speaker Joseph Kowalski of Detroit, declined to comment Wednesday on the outcome of the election.

Another Democratic leader, August Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, attributed Democratic losses to a combination of factors, including an emotional reaction to the Viet Nam war and the usual losses suffered by the party in power in a nonpresidential election year.

And, he said, voters now "vote for an image, created by a soft sell. Whether the image properly reflects the individual makes little difference these days."

TWO YEAR'S WORK
Waldron said the Republican victory "was the result of two years' work — never losing sight of the fact that our record would go before the people."

"The biggest issue was the feeling of the people that our party is able to take a problem, analyze it and come up with a solution," he said.

Waldron said, "The Democrats take credit for some legislation and the governor takes credit for some legislation. Actually, a lot of the bills were substitutes, some of them almost totally redrafted by the Republicans."

Scholle said he had not expected GOP gains to be as large as they were. "But I was not entirely surprised."

OVER FUTURE
He said he was not too concerned about the Democratic party's future.

"The out-of-power party has gained in all off (nonpresidential) elections," he said. "I don't know why we should have expected this to be different."

Michigan newspapers and broadcast media have been "extolling the virtues of (Republican Gov. George) Romney and (GOP Sen. Robert) Griffin," he said.

Scholle also said some districts showed indications of white backlash, but he declined to identify specific districts.

One Democratic legislator said Democrats, helped by President Johnson's one-million-vote margin in Michigan in 1964, may have underestimated the problems of doing without the Johnson coatails.

$2 Million Seized in Counterfeit Bills

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Secret Service says almost $2 million in counterfeit $20 bills seized here were made within blocks of its office.

Agents said the "pretty fair" bills were made in the printing department of a business in downtown Atlanta.

Six persons were arrested and their baggage seized at the Atlanta airport Tuesday.

Phoebe Snow About to Go

By STEPHEN M. AUGER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has ordered an end to the long association of the winsome, though mythical, Phoebe Snow and the Lackawanna Railroad.

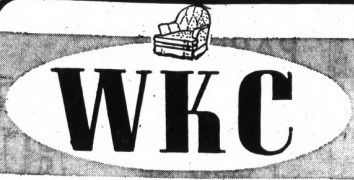

The Interstate Commerce Commission granted the Erie Lackawanna permission

Wednesday to discontinue the Chicago-Hoboken, N.J., passenger train that bears the name Phoebe Snow, thus ending an association that spanned more than 60 years.

CLEANLINESS SYMBOL.
Phoebe Snow was created around the turn of the century by the advertising department of the then Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad.

The Underachiever—10

Students Should Trade Guesses for Knowledge

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the tenth in a 12-part series on a severe problem in today's schools — the underachiever — by Dr. Leslie J. Nason.)

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
University of Southern California

The teacher asked, "How would you solve problem Number Five?" and Mary answered without an instant's hesitation,

"multiply." Unfortunately, that was the wrong answer.

Guessing was producing so many wrong answers that Mary was failing eighth-grade arithmetic.

At home, Mary usually asked the questions. Her father gave the answers and her homework was thus a cooperative effort without Mary having to think. Tests at school were a different matter!

Mary had been drifting into the habit of guessing and her grades in arithmetic had steadily since the fourth grade.

I encounter many students of all ages who have allowed DR. NASON some habit to become thoroughly established with disastrous results.

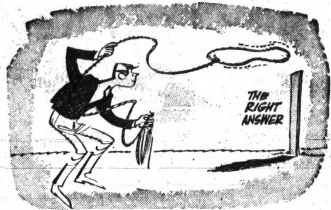

The habits persist until some one helps the student identify the trouble and formulate a new plan.

To cure himself of guessing a student must make a determined effort to think before he speaks. He should resolve to delay long enough to put conscious thought behind his answers.

As he studies homework assignments he should think over the precise way he would explain each idea to the teacher or a fellow classmate.

He should plan, when called

As he prepares for a test he should start with a review of the overall outline and do his final polishing by thinking specific items of information into their proper places.
(Next: The art of taking tests.)

MEMORY TIPS

Among the plans that will help a student improve his memory are the following:

• In any subject, he should construct an organized background to which details can be attached.

This may be done through study of Tables of Content or chapter summaries, or outlining; and, in history, through the use of maps and time lines.

• As he reads assignments he should stop at the end of each section of material and restate the ideas in his own words.

• As ideas are presented in class he should think them into his overall outline.

PERSIAN LAMB STEW — In a Persian home the guest is treated with the utmost hospitality, and the food is to him of the finest. This adaptation of a Persian stew, made with the best American lamb, is excellent fare for anyone. Offer chilled fresh fruit for dessert... another Persian favorite.

Persian Style Lamb Stew Is Flavorful and Thrifty Dish

Yogurt, rice, smoked fish, herbs and lamb are just a few of the foods loved by the people of Persia. And the way in which these foods are incorporated into their daily meals is not left to chance but to years of experience that have made cooking an art.

It doesn't necessarily mean, however, that this cooking is complicated. On the contrary, there are many simple dishes such as lamb stews that are noteworthy.

Young Autumn Harvest lamb is excellent in stews... and really can't be surpassed for tenderness and the flavor it imparts to the other ingredients in the stew kettle.

This stew calls for cubes of boneless lamb cut from the shoulder. With beans, tomatoes, herbs and onion it bubbles merrily for about 1½ hours with little or no watching.

Serve it in deep bowls with crusty bread and big dill pickle slices for just the right tang.

Persian Lamb Stew
½ cup dried white kidney beans
Cold water
Boiling salted water
1½ pounds cubed boneless lamb shoulder
2 tablespoons salad oil
½ cup chopped onion
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
¼ cup water
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Mash Potatoes for Dumplings to Be Boiled

Try a change in meat accompaniments.

Potato Dumplings
6 medium (2 pounds) potatoes
Boiling water to cover
1½ slices close-textured white bread
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 large egg, well beaten
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
½ cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ cup cornstarch
Cook unpeeled potatoes in boiling water to cover until tender; drain; cool and skin.
Mash or rice potatoes. Refrigerate, uncovered, overnight or 5 to 6 hours.
Cut bread slices into ¼-inch squares. Fry in butter until golden; set aside. Stir beaten egg, salt and nutmeg into potatoes. Add flour and cornstarch.
Shape into 12 balls. Poke 2 fried bread cubes into the center of each ball. Drop dumplings into boiling salted water, so that they are uncovered in one layer. Use 1 teaspoon salt to 1 quart water.
Cook, uncovered, 5 minutes. Remove dumplings with a slotted spoon. Drain well.

Katie Rafferty Is Good Cook

She Uses Imagination

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor
In Wednesday's Pontiac Press we wrote about Mrs. Ron Rafferty, 38 Thorpe, and her $25-a-week food budget. Today, we'll go into more detail about some of her dinner menus and give our readers some of her favorite recipes.

Katie Rafferty buys enough meat at one time to last for the two-week intermission between shopping trips. She shops right after payday.

She prefers boneless meat, figuring that the few cents a pound more offsets the waste in lower priced meat with the bone in.

Meats for one week's menus recently included pork chops, hamburger, chicken, pot roast and meat loaf. One night they had leftovers.

When she simmers a stewing chicken, this efficient cook plans several meals.

The broth is combined with a pound or a pound and a half of boiling beef, and some tomatoes and simmered together for a couple of hours. After straining the soup, Katie tosses in some noodles and cooks until they are tender.

SUPPER DISH

She takes the chicken off the bones, saves some for Ron's sandwiches and mixes the rest with a can of cream of mushroom soup for the children's supper. This is served on biscuits or potatoes.

After the family has a pork roast for dinner, the remainder is cut into slices. Layered with the following sauce in a casserole, it is baked for immediate use or frozen for the future.

PORK BARBECUE

1 large green pepper
2 large onions
½ cup sweet pickle
½ cup cider vinegar
1 cup catsup
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup prepared mustard
Grind together the vegetables and add other ingredients. Simmer about 30 minutes. Use with slices of cooked meat and bake at 350 degrees for one hour.

Spread on hot dogs and place under broiler. This sauce keeps in the refrigerator indefinitely.

Leftover pot roast becomes stew on the second day. Extra potatoes and carrots are originally cooked with the meat and all are combined in gravy for a leftover that is delicious, especially with homemade biscuits.

LUKE FRUIT SALAD

While the two younger children do not eat vegetable salad readily, they do like gelatin salads and fruit salad.

Fruit cocktail bought at sale prices, plus whatever fresh fruit is a bargain, makes a satisfactory fruit salad for all. Sometimes Katie sprinkles the top with a few chopped nuts.

Katie Rafferty teaches sewing at the YWCA. She is an enthusiastic member of the Ladies Day Out program.

On Wednesday it was her turn to fix the casserole luncheon. She used a recipe that has become known as Katie's Casserole.

1 can chop suey vegetables, drained
1½ cups diced cooked chicken
1 can french cut green beans, drained
1 cup grated cheddar cheese
½ cup milk
1 cup condensed mushroom soup
1 scant teaspoon salt
1 can french friend onion rings
Mix soup, milk and salt. Layer beans and vegetables in baking dish and sprinkle with cheese. Top with chicken. Pour soup over chicken.

Bake at 350 degrees for 1½ hours. Ten minutes before baking time is up, top with onion rings. Makes six servings.

The last recipe is for a large quantity of cookies. Katie says the cook and all the children can eat as many cookies as they like during the baking and there will still be enough for generous servings the next day.

ELMER'S COOKIES

1 cup shortening
2 cups brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
4 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup cold water

Cream shortening and sugar. Add vanilla. Beat in eggs. Mix dry ingredients and add alternately with water.

Mrs. Rafferty says not to try too hard when making these cookies—just "throw them together."

Drop by teaspoon on greased sheet. Bake 8-10 minutes at 350 degrees.

Add 1 cup raisins, nuts, coconut or chocolate chips to the recipe, if desired. Center the uncooked cookies with nuts or raisins. Ice some after baking. They're versatile and foolproof.

Recipe will make about 9 dozen.

Cranberries still grow on Terrell— but refuse to grow in any other place in Holland.

Shipwreck Put Berries Ashore

In 1844, a barrel of cranberries, en route to an American visitor in Hamburg, was involved in a shipwreck off the coast of Holland. The barrel floated to the island of Terrell, where it was found by a beachcomber named Jan Sipkes Cupido.

He was disappointed at the contents and scattered them over the ground, taking the barrel only. Floods later washed the cranberries into low areas where they took root and flourished.

Cranberries still grow on Terrell— but refuse to grow in any other place in Holland.

Here's Variety in Chef's Salad

Salad suppers are likely to be habit-forming:

- The perfect answer to what to serve for Saturday or Sunday evening.
- Hearty and satisfying with the rich flavors of meat, rice, and cabbage blended together with a creamy dressing.
- An Oriental creation you may want to "borrow for keeps" just as is; or you may want to personalize it to suit your tastes.
- It's handy to have a meal in mind to keep the family happy—and you too!

Oriental Chef Salad

- 2 cups hot or warm cooked rice
 - 1 cup cooked green peas
 - 1/2 cup slaw dressing
 - 2 teaspoons finely chopped onion (optional)
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - Dish of pepper
 - 1/4 cup chopped dill pickles
 - 1 cup chopped raw cabbage
 - 1 cup cooked ham, cut into thin strips
 - 8 slices Swiss cheese, cut into thin strips
 - 3 ripe tomatoes cut into wedges
- Salad greens
- Combine all ingredients except tomatoes and salad greens; chill for 1 hour. Serve with tomato wedges on salad greens. Yields 8 servings.

FILBERT CREAM BRULEE — Destined to be the star of any dinner is a Filbert Cream Brulee delivered to the table in individual servings and graced by a topping of crispy sweet filberts.

vidual servings and graced by a topping of crispy sweet filberts.

Adding Salmon Changes Spoon Bread

Our Southern states are noted for their hospitality, crab cakes, hush puppies and spoon bread. If visitors to those states had to choose between these southern specialties, they would probably select spoon bread as first in preference.

Kissin' cousin to a soufflé, the mixture of corn meal, eggs and milk puffs to fill the baking dish and, when a rich crust is formed over its golden top, it's ready to serve. It's usually served with fish.

So what is more natural than to combine the spoon bread with fish as in the unique recipe which follows.

Tender flakes of canned salmon have been selected as the knightly fish to mate with the rare goodness of spoon bread. They are not only colorful and delicate, but they transpose the bread from a delectable accompaniment to the entrée to a delicious meal in one dish, full of flavor, nutrition and eye-appeal.

True Southerners may frown at such a drastic revolution, but the dish will bring smiles to all who are brave enough to break tradition with hot-from-the-oven Salmon Spoon Bread.

Salmon Spoon Bread

- 1 1/2 cups boiling water
- 1 cup corn meal
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 3 eggs, separated
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 cup milk
- 7 1/4 ounce can salmon

Pour boiling water over corn meal and stir until mixture is slightly cool and free of lumps.

Stir in butter, egg yolks, salt and baking powder. Gradually stir in milk. Add salmon along with liquid from can and mix well.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and fold into corn meal-salmon mixture gently but well. Pour into buttered 2-quart baking dish.

Bake in preheated 375 degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes, or until well puffed and brown on top. Serves 6.

Pear Topping

Cut fresh pears into cubes; fold into whipped cream flavored with grated orange rind. Add well drained pineapple tidbits and maraschino cherries. Serve on slices of iceberg lettuce for a salad or pound cake for a dessert.

Give Custard a Sugary Nut Crust

Analyze your cooking. If it comes up colorless, it's time to add dash to your dishes. Let filberts, highly prized in European haute cuisine, give flair to the flavor and character to the texture of even the most mundane fare.

Used judiciously these sweet, nutty little nuts can personalize your cooking, stamp even a prosaic rice pudding in which they're starred as yours and yours alone. The Filbert Creme Brulee makes an elegant finale for the most formal of formal dinners.

Filbert Creme Brulee

- 1 pint (2 cups) light cream
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 7 egg yolks
- 1 tablespoon sherry
- 1/2 cup sliced toasted* filberts (about 3 ounces)

Brown sugar

Scald cream with 1/2 cup brown sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Beat egg yolks with sherry. Gradually stir hot cream into egg yolks.

Cook in double boiler, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens to the consistency of a medium cream sauce. Pour into 1 large or 6 individual oven-proof dishes. Chill at least 12 hours.

About 2 hours before serving, sprinkle top of cream with filberts, sift enough brown sugar over top of cream to cover evenly about 1/4-inch thick. Make sure the surface is smooth.

Water Chestnuts Go With Carrots

Looking for a new vegetable dish to perk-up your family's appetites? Here is a flavorful dish that takes only minutes to prepare.

Home economists developed this recipe as a palate pleasing partner to ham steaks or Salisbury steaks.

Crispy Candied Carrots
1 1/2 cups canned shredded carrots, drained

1/2 cup water chestnuts, sliced

1/4 cup butter

1/4 cup confectioners' sugar

Mix the carrots and water chestnuts in a buttered casserole. Dot the top with butter. Sprinkle sugar over all. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until casserole is hot and bubbly. Makes four servings.

Roll Appetizers, Serve Hot

Here's a neat hors d'oeuvres trick. Cut sweet pickles into 1-inch lengths. Roll the pickle in small strips of bacon and broil until bacon is crisp. Serve hot.

Or, roll whole water chestnuts and ripe, stuffed olives in the bacon and broil.

Small Rib Roast Cooks in an Hour

Here's how to cook a small roast beef so it is medium-rare.

Two-Rib Beef

2-rib beef roast (about 5 pounds)—1st and 2nd ribs with a few inches of short-ribs left on

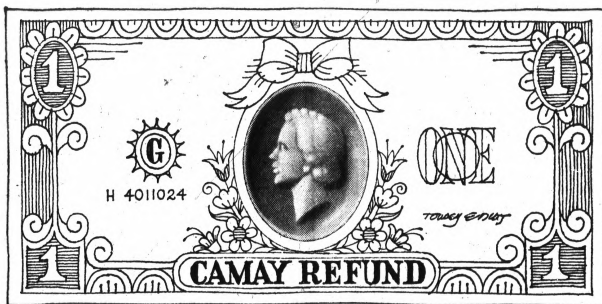

- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon white pepper
- 1 clove garlic, if desired

Rub fat and meaty surfaces of beef with a mixture of the flour, salt and pepper. If used, insert garlic slivers between fat and meat.

Roast in a shallow pan (12 by 8 by 3 inches) in a hot (425 degrees) oven for 1 hour, turn off heat. Without opening oven door, allow meat to stand in oven with heat turned off for 1/2 hour. Carve and serve.

Meat should be 140 degrees (on meat thermometer) and a reddish pink throughout except for browned surfaces. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Salt herring must be washed and soaked overnight in water to cover before using.

Warning to Dems Recalled

Cavanagh Role Eyed

By GENE SCHROEDER
DETROIT (AP) — The man who lost early in Michigan's elections this year may be the one who wins later.

The early loser was Detroit in the Democratic senatorial primary.

Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, who dared to challenge former six-term Gov. G. Mennen Williams

Cavanagh took a beating, but not before he got in a few solid licks about the need for Democrats to take another look at where they are going rather than where they have been.

Williams, who had come to be regarded as "Mr. Michigan Democrat," belongs to a past generation of politicians who have served their time well but should now make room for some younger talent, Cavanagh implied.

WARNING RECALLED

In the wake of an election that proved disastrous for their party, Michigan Democrats are now recalling Cavanagh's warning that a Senate seat is too valuable to waste on nostalgia or to pay off old political debts.

"You don't make progress by looking back," said the mayor. If a struggle for power now develops, Cavanagh could emerge as the spokesman for the new generation of Democrats dedicated to the proposition that times have changed.

"Yesterday's politics won't solve tomorrow's problems," Cavanagh says.

The 38-year-old mayor has given no indication as yet, however, that he is ready and willing to resume his struggle against the forces of labor which wield considerable power in the party.

BORNE OUT IN PART

Cavanagh's contention that the day union leaders can tell people how they're going to vote is over was borne out in part by an electronic vote analysis of Tuesday's election.

It showed that although Williams captured 65 per cent of the labor vote, there was a switch of about 6 per cent to the Republican candidate compared with 1964.

Cavanagh and Michigan AFL-CIO President August Scholle, one of the most outspoken Democratic leaders, are not exactly on the friendliest of terms. During the primary, Scholle said:

"Jerry Cavanagh is yet a young man both in years and in political experience. Perhaps some day in the future he will become a real member of the Democratic party."

'REAL CONTRIBUTIONS'

"He may even learn the meaning of rewarding leadership, integrity and loyalty to fellow Democrats who have made real contributions to the party organization."

Two Dedications of Schools Slated in Waterford

Dedication ceremonies for Waterford Township School District's two new elementary schools, Cherokee Hills and Manley, will be held Sunday afternoon.

School officials have scheduled the Manley dedication for 2 p.m. The Cherokee Hills ceremony will follow at 4 p.m. Open house will begin an hour before dedication at each building.

Scheduled to be on hand for the Manley ceremony is Frank J. Manley, executive director of Mott Foundation projects. The school was named in Manley's honor.

Cherokee Hills, 2690 Wewoka, and Manley, 2989 Van Zandt, were opened in September.

Mrs. Bessie Hoppnerath is principal of Cherokee Hills School, which has an enrollment of 236 pupils.

Some 454 pupils attend Manley School. The principal is Donald L. Smith.

Viet Economy Stabilizes After Shaky Period

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Nam's fragile economy is marking time at a critical period while Premier Nguyen Cao Ky searches for a new economic minister.

The former minister quit last month in a regional dispute and was replaced temporarily by Truong Thai Ton, Premier Ky's personal financial adviser and economic minister last year.

Inspecting the Port of Saigon today, Ky found that jammed warehouses, muddled accounting, inept stevedoring and pilfering have caused one of the country's worst economic bottlenecks.

He warned again that any official at the port caught stealing or accepting bribes "will face the firing squad," and said goods that remain in warehouses longer than the 30-day legal limit will be confiscated and distributed to orphans or war refugees.

The U.S. Army's 125th Terminal Command has taken over accounting in the commercial port, making what officials here called significant progress in the past month.

Girl Found Dead

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The body of an unidentified girl, age 17 to 20, was found in a home on the west side of Ann Arbor Wednesday, police reported. There were no signs of violence, police said. They said the girl appeared to have been dead only a short time. An autopsy was ordered.

Michigan Holds Spot as No. 1 Auto Maker

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan held its position as the nation's No. 1 auto producing state during the 1966 model run, with Missouri and California in runner-up spots.

"That was shown today in a survey of output in the 17 states which shared in the 8,006,140 cars built in the 1966 model year."

Michigan accounted for 35.5 per cent of the output, a drop of 2 per cent over its 1965 model showing.

Missouri held onto the No. 2 spot it gained last year, although its percentage dropped slightly, from 10.3 last year to 10.2 this time.

FOURTH LARGEST

New Jersey replaced Wisconsin as the fourth largest auto producer, with Wisconsin dropping to the No. 5 position.

The production breakdown, tabulated by Ward's Automotive Reports, showed the 1966 model output ran about 236,000 units behind 1965.

Detroit held onto its perennial position as the No. 1 auto producing city, but St. Louis, Mo., edged out Flint, Mich., for the runner-up spot.

The output of key cities in the 1966 model run, compared with their 1965 model showing, included:

Detroit	642,976	631,522
St. Louis	530,012	516,513
Flint, Mich.	944,413	539,188

Los Angeles	330,916	366,591
Pontiac	314,504	329,379
Kenosha, Wis.	295,897	391,366

A comparison of the 1966 and 1965 model output in the 17 auto building states showed:

	1966	1965
Michigan	3,055,531	3,159,452
Missouri	879,204	910,996

Index Declines

LANSING (AP) — Price declines for seasonal fruits, wheat, dry beans and corn lowered the index of prices received by Michigan farmers for mid-October, the federal-state Crop Reporting Service says. The index was 260 per cent of the 1910-14 average, down from 272 in mid-September but up from 228 in October 1965.

Yeast Infection in Heart Cured

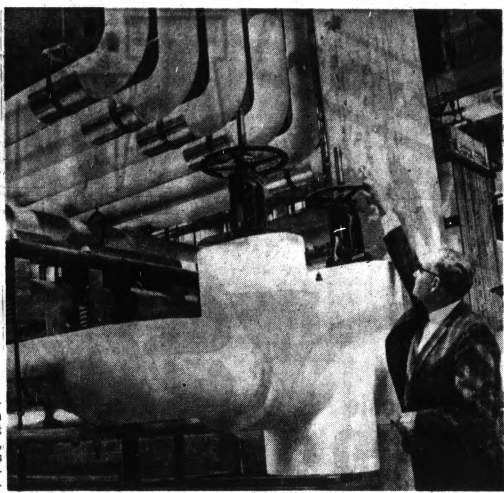

By Science Service

NEW YORK — A yeast infection of the heart's lining, always fatal in the past, has been cured with surgery in three cases, a team of doctors reported.

The infection, Candida endocarditis, occurs when the inside of the heart has been damaged by rheumatic fever or was defective at birth.

The Candida yeast grows in the heart lining around the defect, usually a valve. Antibiotics are useless in combating the infection.

The first surgery was performed in 1960 on a man with a half-inch patch of the yeast growing on the tricuspid valve between the two right chambers of the heart. The infected portion was cut away in the unprecedented surgery.

CHECKING INLETS—Dr. Harold Senn examines pipes to feed fog, heat and mist into cubicles at the University of Wisconsin's Biotron, a world in miniature built to study man's environment.

For Study of Man's Environment

System to Simulate Weather

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—In a $5-million building here, scientists maintained a honeycomb of 48 rooms where sound, heat, light, humidity, and wind and the rain soon will be mere puppets of a computer.

Known as the Biotron, the complex will help in the study of man's environment on earth—and what he may find on Mars or the moon.

In the Biotron, a woodland pond may be separated by a wall from a simulated bit of lunar landscape. A miniature tropical rain forest one moment can be quickly altered to Sahara-dry conditions the next—or perhaps pumped full of smog.

Head of the Biotron, Harold A. Senn, calls his work "the science of the next decade."

AWARENESS OF PROBLEMS
"Today," says Senn, "there is an increasing awareness of the problems of man's relation to his environment. Not only is there the problem of pollution, but there is also the concern with space exploration. We will be able to conduct studies in both these areas with biotron facilities."

The Biotron, unique in science, according to officials, will open at the end of this year. While basic research likely will be concerned with the life and growth of animals and plants in various climates controlled by the scientists, such problems as air pollution and living on other planets also will be examined.

"We can program the computer to add different gases to the air in some of the rooms, and so we can simulate atmospheric pollution to a degree," Senn said.

In space research, the Biotron can be used to simulate the conditions astronauts might find in the cabin of a space capsule or under a domed enclosure on the moon or Mars.

"We can also determine the tolerance of harsh conditions by living things on earth so that we can know what to expect in our search for extraterrestrial life," Senn added.

The Biotron will be made available to researchers from throughout the nation for special projects.

When the Biotron is opened, the annual price tag for operations will be about half a million dollars. The around-the-clock operations will draw fully 20 per cent of all the electricity used by the University of Wisconsin, sixth largest in the country.

Flipper's Dives Not Harming Circulation

By Science Service

LONDON — Kids, all that diving Flipper does is not hurting him.

Two adult dolphins tested by electrocardiograms showed that although their heart rate while under water was normally about half that on the surface, blood flow in the brain and heart muscle appeared to be sustained.

Slowing up of the heart, called bradycardia, produces vastly lessened blood flow in the internal organs and skeletal muscles in various animals and birds.

Two California studies reported in the British scientific journal, Nature, prove that neither the dolphin nor the hippopotamus is apparently harmed by diving. Their responses to diving are similar to that of other aquatic animals.

Three researchers from San Diego used a rubber ball attached to an 8-foot pole as a target for the two dolphins studied. The dolphins, trained by the conventional reward method, were maintained in a round 55,000-gallon tank of filtered sea water, 35 feet in diameter and at 8 feet deep.

Good to the taste—smooth, mellow, satisfying. Good to the pocket, too. It costs only $4.80 and it's really worth much more. And, if you're skeptical about a value like that, here's how McMaster's does it. McMaster's is made and aged in barrels in Canada. It's bottled only after it reaches this country. That means solid savings on taxes, shipping, handling, etc.

Price is only one reason for trying McMaster's Canadian, a taste or two of its goodness will tell you the rest of the story.

FDA Approves Asian Flu Drug

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — The Food and Drug Administration has approved marketing of the prescription drug Symmetrel amantadine hydrochloride for prevention of human illness due to A-2, the Asian flu virus.

The drug is taken by mouth and is not a vaccine or antibiotic. It acts by interfering with virus penetration of host cells, but does not conflict with antibody production. Du Pont scientists first reported effectiveness of amantadine hydrochloride in 1964.

CATCH?—Second grader Karen Russ explains the fundamentals of playing with a cage ball to her mother in the gymnasium of Will Rogers Elementary School. Mrs. Robert Russ, 2573 Genes, Pontiac Township, was among parents visiting Pontiac School District facilities during American Education Week. While the schools always are open to parents, a special invitation was extended this week.

Young Turks Add Zip to GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — With heartened Republican leaders already setting their sights on the White House in 1968, the GOP may find its most valuable image-making gain was the new faces it catapulted into the Senate.

The election of Charles H. Percy of Illinois, Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, Howard H. Baker of Tennessee, Negro Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts and Robert P. Griffin of Michigan put these young GOP Turks into one of the world's most publicized forums, the Senate of the United States.

Their presence should pump some excitement in to the Senate, as well as the GOP, give the old guard something of a face lifting and present Republican Senate leader Everett M. Dirksen a corps of new talent as well as a couple potential presidential candidates — to display.

Not that they will be able to turn the tide or be able to make much of an impact on legislation.

BIG MAJORITY

With a built-in edge of 50 seats this year, the Democrats will still command nearly a 2-1 majority when the 90th Congress convenes Jan. 10.

All told, the Republicans were able to wrench three seats from Democrats — with Percy, Hatfield and Baker doing the wrenching — out of the 35 that were at stake. Former Congressman Griffin actually was appointed to his seat last May, but had to spend much of his time campaigning in order to win it in his own right Tuesday.

And Dirksen's deputy leader, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, said the election would do more than strengthen the party in Congress and in state capitols.

Dirksen, who at times seemed in the last Congress to be holding his outmanned lines together mainly with the force of his personality, was jubilant. He hailed the election outcome in the Senate, House and statehouses as a great Republican victory heralding a significant, nationwide shift to the GOP.

"It's going to make a tremendous difference in the next Congress," declared Dirksen, who undoubtedly is pleased at the prospect of having son-in-law Baker joining him on the GOP side of the aisle.

LOOKING UP — Ohio's Gov. James A. Rhodes, a Tuesday reelection winner, is rated among those expected to have vice presidential possibilities among GOP hopefuls. He's also likely to have a greater voice at the '68 GOP convention.

Flying General Downed in Viet

DAU TIENG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Brig. General James F. Hollingsworth, a colorful assistant commander of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, was shot down in his helicopter in Communist Zone C today, but neither he nor his crew were injured.

Hollingsworth of Sanger, Tex. was rescued by another 1st Division general and flown out of the jungle clearing where he crashed.

Hollingsworth was investigating the crash of an armed helicopter which was shot down a few minutes earlier. All four crewmen of the armed helicopter were killed. The aircraft burned.

Brig. Gen. John R. Deane of San Francisco, Calif., rescued Hollingsworth. Both are assistant division commanders under Maj. Gen. William DePuy.

Hollingsworth, who wears goggles so he can peer out into the slipstream at enemy activity from his helicopter, is 47. He flies constantly over his division's battlefields, often with a rifle cradled in his arms to answer enemy ground fire.

South Koreans Say 'No More Troops for Viet'

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Korea says it won't be sending any additional troops to South Viet Nam.

South Korean diplomats made the decision known Wednesday. They said they didn't think President Johnson was referring to South Korea when he indicated at the Manila conference that South Viet Nam's allies should provide more manpower.

South Korea already has 45,000 troops in South Viet Nam, more than any other ally except the United States and South Viet Nam.

The diplomats said they did not think there was any real feeling with the U.S. government because of the decision.

Computer Picks Fared Well

NEW YORK (AP) — The three major television networks dusted off their computers and turned them to work as they were taught several elections ago — picking winners fast.

In most cases, they scored direct hits, but there were at least three misses.

The Columbia Broadcasting System with its Vote Profile Analysis was the first to run amok when it predicted at 8:06 p.m. that Democrat George F. Mahoney probably would win the Maryland gubernatorial race.

Less than one hour later, CBS backtracked. It said the race was too close to predict. At 10:15, it reversed itself and called for Republican Spiro T. Agnew. The other networks already had done so.

In the Minnesota gubernatorial contest, CBS, the National Broadcasting Co. and the American Broadcasting Co. — even into the early hours of Wednesday — deadlocked in indecision.

TWO OPINIONS

At 10:10 p.m., ABC said incumbent Democrat Karl Rolvaag had won. At 11:20, CBS said Republican Harold LeVander had won. NBC never did make a prediction, saying this race was too close.

The possibility arose of triple error hours after all three networks predicted — within three minutes of the closing

McNamara, Wheeler Are Visiting LBJ

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara returns to the LBJ Ranch today to confer with President Johnson for the second time in five days.

Flying from Washington with McNamara was Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The Texas White House said only that the three men would "go over a number of military matters."

McNamara was at the ranch briefly last Saturday. He later told a news conference there that draft calls might be cut in half next year and that he expected a slowdown in the build-up of American troop strength in Viet Nam.

VISITORS

The President had three ranch visitors Wednesday: Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, Budget Director Charles L. Schultze and special assistant Joseph A. Califano Jr. They returned to Washington Wednesday night.

George Christian, a Johnson aide, said the President and Fowler talked about budget matters, recent legislation and the secretary's forthcoming trip to Tokyo for the first meeting of governors of the Asian Development Bank.

Schultze was summoned, said Christian, to discuss organizational and management projects while Califano talked to Johnson about staff matters.

Schultze and Johnson reviewed the budget impact of 1966 legislation, and progress toward cutting nonwar spending.

SPENDING CUT

According to a White House statement, the budget director told the President the spending cut will exceed Johnson's $3-billion goal. However, these economies apparently will be more than offset by other increases, principally in Viet Nam costs.

The statement also said Congress added $3.2 billion of spending authority to the administration's January budget but that no effort would be made to get actual appropriations for $900 million of this amount.

of Georgia's polls — that Democrat Lester G. Maddox had won.

As more votes were counted, Republican Howard Callaway took and held a lead.

The avowed purpose of the computer analysis — called Electronic Vote Analysis by NBC and Research Selected Vote Profile by ABC — was to get results out fast.

OUT TOO FAST?

In two races, contestants felt ABC got them out too fast.

The GOP lodged a complaint that the ABC call at 6:54 p.m. for Democrat Robert Docking in the Kansas governor's race came while polls were still open in that state and was unfair.

ABC replied that it had found such predictions did not influence voters.

ABC had predicted Robert Taft Jr. a winner in Ohio's 1st Congressional District. Incumbent Democrat John J. Gilligan went before network cameras to complain that the race was called too soon and actually was still open.

MOST ACCURATE

But the majority of the predictions, fast as they were, were accurate.

Only 12 fatalities were recorded in the nation's rail travel last year.

International Friday

U.S. Horses Cofavorites

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Ten hand-picked thoroughbred entries clash Friday on Laurel's grass course in the $150,000 Washington, D.C. International — a 1 1/4-mile test of endurance which in a brief period has taken rank with the world's greatest horse races.

Two of the field — Assagai, leading American grass course performer owned by world platinum king Charles Engelhard, and Tom Rolfe from the Powhatan barns of Ambassador to Ireland Raymond Guest — have been made the pre-race favorites to break the deadlock between the foreign countries and the United States.

EVEN RECORD

Each has won seven times, with France's Diatome squaring the series last year when the tricolor representatives finished one-two ahead of America's Roman Brother.

However, the records show that favorites have won the race only twice — Bald Eagle in 1960 and Kelso in 1964 after finishing second three straight years. Both represented the United States.

In the pre-race line, the track handicapper quoted Assagai at 2-1 and made Tom Rolfe the second choice at 4-1.

Post time is 3:45 p.m. EST. Victory will be worth $80,000, with the owners not out one cent. All expenses are paid by Laurel.

Louisiana Voters OK Dome Stadium

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Louisiana voters have challenged Houston's position as the only site of a sports superdome in the South.

Unofficial, incomplete returns from Tuesday's general election showed 353,397 votes in favor of building a huge sports stadium in the New Orleans area, 110,822 votes opposed. The figures were from 2,650 of 2,338 precincts.

Specifically, the proposal was to create a commission to construct a superdome stadium, which would be the home of New Orleans' new professional football team, which temporarily would use the Tulane stadium.

Netters Quit

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Australian tennis officials waited today to hear whether the U.S. Davis Cup team will play in the New South Wales Championships opening Friday.

"We haven't heard a whisper from them," said Al Fryer, journey secretary. He said plans in the draw would be held open for the Americans until Sunday.

Hunting Group Loses in Court

LANSING (AP) — Deer hunters who hoped to further limit the shooting of antlerless deer in Michigan lost their case in the state court of appeals Wednesday.

The Michigan Deer Hunters Association also had sought to abolish the lottery system of issuing antlerless deer permits and to prevent the State Conservation Department from issuing paper deer tags.

The court denied the group's request "for the reason no basis for granting the same appears." It did not elaborate.

The group, represented by Cyrus Attlee, a Gladwin attorney, contended the Conservation Department exceeded its authority in setting up antlerless deer hunting areas for the season opening Saturday in the Upper Peninsula and Nov. 19 in Lower Michigan.

LIMITED

The legislature limited the department this year to allow antlerless deer shooting areas on the basis of crop damage caused by deer or food shortages for the white-tails.

The department argued that food shortage areas could include not only the winter deer yards, but the whole surrounding area served by the yards.

It argued that the drawings for the 143,000 antlerless deer permits available did not amount to a lottery in the legal sense.

It said the drawing was open only to the 500,000-plus licensed deer hunters, who still had the right to hunt bucks and paid no extra to enter the drawing.

The deer hunters argued that the paper tags could not have been secured permanently, but the same was true of the previously used metal tags.

The purpose of the tag, the department said, was to prevent a hunter from shooting more than one deer. If the paper tag were properly punched out when secured on a deer, the hunter would run the risk of detection if he tried to use the same tag on another deer, it said.

Rangers' Defense Too Tidy

By the Associated Press

It was the second straight home game in which the Rangers' defense was making a save.

Bob Nevin, Reg Fleming and defenseman Harry Howell were the Rangers scorers — Nevin and Howell on power plays. It was Howell's third goal this season — all against Boston. The Bruins' first goal was credited to Ron Stewart when his shot bounced off Howell and past Manigo in the opening period.

George Armstrong scored his first goal of the season and assisted on Toronto's other two as the Maple Leafs whipped the Canadiens. Pappin's game winner came at 9:21 of the final period. Brian Conacher scored Toronto's other goal.

Griddier Dies

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — A New London High School football player who collapsed in a game Wednesday night died Friday afternoon in St. Joseph Johnny Bucyk's breakdown hospital here.

Wayne Connelly was the victim. He set up Ron Pappin's goal at 18:31 of the third period and then, after Wednesday night in St. Joseph Johnny Bucyk's breakdown hospital here.

was disallowed because of an offside. Connelly grabbed a loose puck and rammed the 16, apparently died from a blood injury goal home with 34 seconds left in the game. The coroner will rule.

Touch Grid Loop Race Nears End

The City Touch Football League is nearing the end of its tight league race with a four-way tie possible in the first-place battle.

Tuesday night's slate was rained out but the Packers-Hutchinson's Sales showdown will be played 11 a.m. Sunday at Jaycee Park.

Tonight's games have Hutchinson's meeting the Independents and Motor Mart playing Orchard Lane, both at 7 o'clock under the Jaycee lights.

Hoople Makes Purdue 'Greese Kid' Favorite

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
The Hoopie Specialist
Egad, friends, upsets continue to plague the prognosticators but, as usual, The Hoopie System is functioning in its customary high class manner!

Let us turn our attention to Minneapolis where some history will be made this Saturday as Purdue wins its first-ever ticket to the Rose Bowl.

In a top flight Southeastern Conference clash, watch for upset-minded Georgia to finish on the short end of a 15-10 count

Kaycee Safety Credits Tennis for Footwork

NEW YORK (AP) — So you want to play pro football. Try tennis first.

That's the word from Johnny Robinson, Kansas City's all-league safety who today was named Defensive Player of the Week in the American Football League by The Associated Press for the key role he played in the Chiefs' 24-14 victory over San Diego last Sunday.

"Any good tennis player with fair size could become a good defensive back," said Robinson. "Tennis helped my coordination and footwork. It taught me how to move laterally and how to back pedal. It's the finest training a defensive back can have."

Robinson needed that background — he had been a stand-out tennis player as well as football star at LSU and was also drafted by the Detroit Lions — when Chiefs Coach Hank Stram pulled him off the offensive team in 1962 and put him in the secondary.

Swimmer Schollander Again on Award List

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Star swimmer Don Schollander, who won the Sullivan Award after the 1964 Olympics, was nominated for it again today by the Pacific Association of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Schollander, now 20 and a student at Yale, won the award as the nation's top amateur athlete after he captured four gold medals in the international competition at Tokyo.

Last summer, competing for the Santa Clara, Calif., Swim Club, he swam even faster at 100, 200 and 400 meters than he

The mighty Spartans of Michigan State and the amazing Irish of Notre Dame will warm up for their national championship showdown next Saturday, by registering decisive victories over Indiana and Duke this weekend.

For MSU and its high-stepping Clint Jones, it'll be a 35-0 romp over Indiana at Bloomington.

Meanwhile, not too many miles away, Notre Dame will prove to be an ungracious host as it chastises visiting Duke, 36-6.

Two other engagements that promise to be memorable ones feature Arkansas and Southern Methodist and Nebraska against dangerous Oklahoma State.

Your humble correspondent foresees Arkansas turning back the Mustangs by a narrow 22-18 margin, and Oklahoma State falling before the Cornhuskers by the identical score — um-kumph!

Schollander was nominated from a list of 16 Pacific Association athletes, each representing a different sport. Winner of the Sullivan Award is decided from among the nominees from the various associations and no athlete has won it twice.

At Lincoln, in winning his five gold medals, the blond from Lake Oswego, Ore., swam 100 meters in 53.3 seconds, 200 in 1:56.4 and 400 in 4:11.2.

Indiana Tunes Pass Duo

Hoosiers Slow Pace in Awaiting MSU

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Indiana's Hoosiers, grim but conceding nothing, took it easy on contact work this week as they braced for the invasion of Michigan State's mighty Spartans Saturday.

The Hoosiers are well aware that undefeated Michigan State needs a victory to wrap up the Big Ten football title and needs a big win to enhance its national ranking. The Spartans currently are No. 2 behind Notre

Speed Try Set by Art Arfons

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — Former world land speed record holder Art Arfons plans to race his jet car on the Bonneville Salt Flats next week despite flooding of portions of the 11-mile speedway.

The 40-year-old Arfons said at his Akron, Ohio, home Wednesday he will leave for the western Utah desert speedway tomorrow, arriving Saturday.

Rein setting the Great Salt Lake Desert Monday night, dumping 16 inches of moisture on the speedway. Portions of the track were under one inch of water, but track officials think winds will dry out the salt before Arfons is ready to race.

Arfons has the track reserved Nov. 13-20. He will try to break the world land speed record set last year at 600.601 miles per hour by Craig Breedlove of Los Angeles, also in a jet-powered racer.

Pair of Browns Suffer Injuries During Workout

CLEVELAND (AP) — Louis (The Toe) Groza had a back muscle spasm, and defensive back Ernie Barnes sprained his left ankle during the Cleveland Browns' practice Wednesday for the National Football League game against the Philadelphia Eagles here Sunday.

Coach Blanton Collier made plans to get along without the two in the coming game, but trainer Leo Murphy was hopeful the injuries would respond to treatment quickly.

The 42-year-old Groza received the back injury while working out on a blocking machine. Barnes twisted his ankle while running on the rain-slick practice field.

Michigan State is likely to see a lot of the Frank Stavroff-Bill Couch aerial combination that threw a scare into the title-bound Spartans a year ago, when Indiana led 13-10 into the

Spartans Top Big 10 Teams on 3 Fronts

CHICAGO (AP) — Befitting a champion, Michigan State has taken over top place in three of the four major team statistical categories in Big Ten football.

The No. 2 unbeaten Spartans lead in total offense with an average of 349.7 yards a game; total defense, with an average yield of 208.3; and rushing with 229.5. Indiana, their foe Saturday in a Big Ten finale, is third in rushing, fourth in total offense and fourth in passing.

MSU is not among the top five in passing, which is topped by Purdue with a 183.8 average.

Michigan, host to Northwestern, is second in each department while sharing fifth in the conference race.

Individual leaders: Rushing — Clint Jones, MSU, 496 yards in 100 rushes, and Mike Krivosia, Indiana, 390-101; passing — Dick Vidmer, 68-101; completing 132 attempts for 852 yards and 7 touchdowns.

Bob Griese, Purdue, 66-114-84; 5; total offense — Griese 975 yards, and Ed Podolski, Iowa, 950.

Healthy Wildcats Tuning for Michigan Encounter

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — The Northwestern Wildcats are preparing for Michigan Saturday with little to howl about except one significant development.

For the first time in a month they have come out of a game without injury to a first stringer.

"You might say we are at our best physical condition in four games, but that's not saying a great deal since over the whole season our injuries to regulars have been cumulative," says coach Alex Agase.

"I don't expect our boys to lose confidence. They are a scrappy bunch and they're in there giving everything they've got."

"Michigan is a sound team and does everything well. We know we'll need a peak effort Saturday."

ONE WIN

After the 28-13 defeat by Minnesota last week, which reduced the Wildcats' Big Ten record to 1-3-1 and season mark to 2-5-1, offensive guard Ron Silver was the only injury. He had a hip pointer but will play.

Northwestern upset Michigan 34-22 last year and the Wildcats hero of that game is running as well as ever right now. The Wolverines won't forget fullback Bob McElwey who had his greatest day by ripping 136 yards in 35 carries and scoring twice.

He heads the rushing department now with 318 yards in 94 carries complemented

Teams Nurse Injuries

CHICAGO (AP) — Midwest football briefs: Purdue — Dick Marvel and Clinton King are alternating at the linebacker spot vacated by injured Pat Conley as the Boilermakers avoid contact work to try to keep physically fit for Minnesota.

Minnesota — Defensive tackle Jerry Hermann has a bruised shoulder instead of a separation but his playing status Saturday still is doubtful. Defensive end Bob Stein is going full steam again after nursing a bad knee. Illinois — The flu bug has hit co-captain-center Kai Anderson, end Craig Timko, guard Ron Gunther and safety Phil Knell.

MEA Is Winner

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Grand Rapids teachers chose the Michigan Education Association as their sole bargaining agent in an election Wednesday. The MEA received 1,151 votes to 172 for the Federation of Teachers.

Ohio State — Halfback Bo Rein turned in an impressive job in heavy drills. Several regulars are off the casualty list and all hands are expected to be ready for Iowa.

Notre Dame — Sophomore Ed Vuillemin is being tested at fullback for the Duke game while Paul May, No. 2 fullback, remains sidelined.

Warriors' Ace Still Scoring at Hot Clip

By the Associated Press
The way he's sinking baskets from every angle, Rick Barry of San Francisco may shatter some of Wilt Chamberlain's high scoring records in the National Basketball Association this season.

The 6-foot-7 former All-American for the University of Miami hit for 47 points against Baltimore to lead the Warriors to a 128-122 victory over the Bullets Wednesday night.

The New York Knicks whipped the Chicago Bulls 103-98 in the other NBA game scheduled Wednesday.

TALL ROOKIE

Barry, a stringbean from Roselle Park, N.J., who was the NBA Rookie of the Year last season, hit for 16 field goals and 15-of-15 from the charity line to lead the Warriors into first place in the Western Division.

Barry now has scored 512 points in 13 games, an average close to 40 points. His top effort this season and a league high for this campaign was his 57 points against Cincinnati Oct. 29.

In Chicago, Guy Rodgers tossed in 36 points in a losing cause for the Bulls as they lost to New York.

Rules on Agenda as Racing Group Opens Meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A uniform system of licensing and rules are among the topics expected to be discussed here when the third annual Harness Racing Congress opens a five-day meeting Friday.

More than 350 harness racing officials will participate in the talks headed by a national conference of harness racing commissioners and the annual meeting of the 45-man board of directors of the United States Trotting Association.

The Congress, usually held in December, was moved up this year to avoid the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

BACK IN ACTION — Gino Marchetti, eight time All-National Football League defensive end, has agreed to come out of retirement and rejoin the Baltimore Colts. The 28-year-old defender who retired after the 1964 season, is a vice president of a Philadelphia food firm.

Semi-Pro '5s' List Openers

The North American Basketball League will tip off its fourth season Saturday night with four games on its schedule for the first time in the semi-pro circuit's history.

The expanded league has taken in three new teams this season: Battle Creek, Lansing and Columbus (Ohio). The league's eight teams will each play 21 games through February. A post-season playoff also is slated.

Defending champion Benton Harbor will entertain Columbus in the opening night's feature game. Grand Rapids will visit Holland, Muskegon will invade Lansing and Chicago will travel to Battle Creek.

The Battle Creek entry has a working agreement with the St. Louis Hawks and several former National Basketball Association players and ex-college All-Americans are on the teams' rosters.

Holland's Carvers have many of the former Pontiac Nationals who were in the league two years ago and still hold the NABL's one-game point record of 130.

Colts Glad to Unpack No. 89 for Marchetti

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jersey No. 89, retired by the Baltimore Colts when defensive end Gino Marchetti left the National Football League battlefields after the 1964 season, will be reissued—to Marchetti.

The Colts announced Wednesday night that the 255-pound defensive lineman was to report to practice today to begin getting into condition to hit.

He said earlier this week that he had been playing handball and had remained in good physical condition, and remarked Wednesday night that he was just six pounds over his 1964 playing weight of 249.

SWITCHES

An offensive end when he entered the NFL in 1962 from the University of San Francisco, Marchetti became a defensive end in 1964 and was named All-Pro and later All-NFL at that position from 1966 through 1963.

His return to action following almost two years of retirement came at the request of the club, which asked waivers on injured defensive alternate Andy Stynchula to put Marchetti on the roster.

"It was a tough decision to make," said Marchetti, who'll

Hungary First in Pentathlon Competition

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Hungary completed its domination of the 1966 World Modern Pentathlon Championships today by winning both the individual and teams gold medals and also taking the bronze medal in the individual section.

After today's 4,000-meter cross country run, the last event of the five-event series, Hungarian champion Anders Balazs had amassed a grand total of 5,217 points, 201 points better than runner-up Viktor Mineev of Russia and 285 ahead of Hungarian Ferenc Torok, who took third place.

OTHER PLACES

Another Hungarian, Istvan Mona, was fourth with 4,885 points. Britain's Jeremy Fox was fifth with 4,818 and America's Jim Kerr sixth with 4,773. Kerr represents the New York Athletic Club.

Russia also took the silver medal in the teams section with East Germany third.

The United States, which began the last event 72 points behind the East Germans in fourth place, picked up only four points and remained fourth in the final standings.

Favor German Netmen

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — West Germany ruled a slight favorite today to beat India in their Davis Cup semi-final competition this weekend although most officials thought it could be a close duel.

Reagan's Team Is a Mixture of Moderates, Conservatives

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan, California's newly elected Republican governor, has surrounded himself with a mixed band of youthful moderates and middle-aged conservatives for his assumption of power in January.

Among the most influential probably will be the new lieutenant governor, Robert Finch, generally considered a moderate. Finch knows what can be done in the legislature and just where to compromise with the majority Democrats.

FIRST TWO ACTIONS

Reagan realizes Finch's value in government; that his other aides are political amateurs.

Reagan's first two actions pointed up the two sides of his team.

As his executive secretary and "strong right arm," Reagan named Philip M. Battaglia, 31, a Los Angeles attorney and a loyal supporter of U.S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel. Battaglia, Reagan's campaign manager, has argued with conservative Republicans who want to dump Kuchel in 1968.

Appointment of Battaglia cheered Republicans who admire Kuchel, a supporter of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination. Kuchel stayed out of the campaign after Barry Goldwater won the nomination.

Another appointment was likely to find favor with those who backed Goldwater and dislike Kuchel.

A. C. Rubel of Los Angeles, a former oil company president associated with conservative causes, was named chairman of a task force to screen prospective appointees.

FOUGHT FOR LAW

Reagan noted Wednesday that Rubel had fought in 1958 for a state right-to-work law, a law the governor-elect opposed. Reagan said he didn't think this would cause conflicts or interfere with Rubel's usefulness on the task force.

Rubel and two other Los Angeles businessmen considered conservatives — Henry Salvatori and Holmes Tuttle — provided the money for Reagan's first campaign efforts last year and have been bankrollers since. Salvatori was campaign finance chairman.

Possibly more influential than anyone else was William Roberts, partner in the campaign counseling firm of Spencer-Roberts and Associates of Los Angeles which signed with Reagan in May 1965.

Roberts has been with Reagan constantly and, along with his partners, fashioned the campaign that defeated Brown.

Another key man was Lyn Notziger, a Washington correspondent who went to work as Reagan's press secretary.

It all added up to a complex combination of feuding elements of the Republican party. Moderates and conservatives argued angrily behind closed doors during the campaign, but toward the end Battaglia reportedly claimed victory.

The winged snail has wings but no shell.

NEW LEADER — Jack Lynch, 49, was elected in Dublin yesterday by the Irish Fianna Fail party to succeed retiring Prime Minister Sean Lemass as its leader.

'66 Election Lineup Across the Nation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 1966 election at a glance:

House: Indicated lineup of 148 Democrats and 187 Republicans. GOP gain: 47 seats. Previously 294 Democrats and 139 Republicans with two vacancies.

Senate: A lineup of 64 Democrats and 36 Republicans for a GOP gain of 3. Previously aligned: 67 Democrats, 33 Republicans.

Governors: Republicans with party newspaper, took the same line today. The Times of London said U.S. voters "have now called a halt" in Johnson's social program.

Europe Papers See Trouble for LBJ

LONDON (AP) — European West Germany's Frankfurter commentators today saw a gloomy prospect for President Johnson administration "will Johnson's 'Great Society' in now have a more difficult time the results of the American It will have to compromise elections but no comfort for the more, if far-soaring plans are Vietnamese Communists, not to come to a standstill."

Telegraph saw "a pronounced swing toward Republicanism." "In home affairs the Great Society will have to mark time."

Editorial writers were careful to point out that Viet Nam was not a specific issue in the campaign.

"Yet every voter may have kept it in mind," Vienna's Arbeiter Zeitung remarked, "if Johnson had settled the Viet Nam question in a swift move, no matter what, the voters would have settled for it."

Monroe Victory

MONROE (AP) — James J. Kelley defeated Harry Lockwood to fill Monroe County's newly created circuit judgeship, 12,080-11,006.

Some people just have to lead a card they know will be trumped by an opponent. This is a natural prejudice but there are many times when you want to make such a play.

North and South arrived at four spades by what is sometimes called "Papa-Mama" bidding. In spite of the somewhat derivative name this bidding is frequently correct. South did not feel like jumping to four spades after a single raise but he wanted to make sure further bid and saw no reason to confuse things by bidding clubs, hearts or diamonds.

As for North he had a maximum raise of two spades and no reason not to go on to four.

South was very unlucky not to make his contract. Perfect defense was required to defeat him.

After East forced dummy South played one round of trumps and led a club toward dummy. West played four clubs or two because the nine could not be his lowest club.

East also saw that the only chance to beat the hand would be to West held four clubs. East ducked the first club, took the second and eventually made the setting trick in diamonds.

Q—The bidding has been:

A—Bid three no-trump. Your spades are well placed and you need very little to make your contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You bid three no-trump. Your partner bids four hearts. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

As a starter West got off to the lead of the duce of hearts. If he had opened any other suit South would have romped home. East cashed the ace and queen of hearts and with a third heart forced dummy to ruff. Had East shifted to a diamond or a trump, South would have pulled trumps, gone after clubs and reached dummy with the fourth trump in order to discard his losing diamond on a good club.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR For Friday

"The wise man controls his destiny. The foolish man lets the stars decide the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): Check finances, budget. Avoid extravagance. Live within your means. Fine for long with loved one. Find out for creative expression. DAY WHEN NOTHING OCCURS: HALFWAY.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20): Security, property, legal agreements are highlighted. Accept thorough approach. Be original, creative and INDEPENDENT. But to heed your own counsel now.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Follow through on hunch. Numerous suggestions from the air, but be discerning. Choose the best... do not attempt to find substitutes for quality. Stick to REAL THINGS.

CANCER (June 21 - July 21): Key is expansion. Break out of any emotional rut. See people - do things. Evening favors social contacts. Most news received today proves significant. Be aware!

LEO (July 22 - Aug. 22): Element of luck and luck with you. Now you tend to be at right place at right time. Let others know of aims, hopes, abilities. Your talents are appreciated.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Study CANCER message. Take definite action with respect to messages, important relationships. No day to procrastinate. Be active. Use your own common sense.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Friends may be misjudged concerning money, loans, investments. Best to stick with own experience. Family members do have your welfare at heart. Know this and let them know it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Be persistent. Keep between the lines. Maintain air of mystery. If you don't tell all you know you keep something in reserve for emergencies. Surprises.

Special Tax Loses

HOLLAND (AP) — Voters in this Ottawa County community rejected Tuesday a proposal calling for a special operating tax levy of 5 1/2 mills. The vote was 4,201 to 3,400.

Voters Find It Hard to Fill Council Seats

ELKTON, Ore. (AP) — Elkton voters elected Ariel Hubbard and Wade Henderer unopposed to four-year terms on the city council Tuesday, then learned that Hubbard was not a registered voter, so was ineligible.

Officials then found Katherine Cheever had the most write-in votes, three — but she was not a registered voter, either.

Next were two men with two votes each. But Don Hubbard was not registered and Charles Eden had not lived in the city the required year.

That took the write-in list down to three who each got one vote.

Officials said maybe they would hold another election.

Last year the 3,000 state, county and community fairs held over the U.S. attracted about 100 million visitors.

The Food Cost Spiral—1

Consumer Boycotts Won't Drop Prices

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first in a two-part series on the factors behind spiraling food costs.)

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Food and Nutrition Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON — Despite housewives' protest, food prices will go higher in coming months. And the consumer can do very little in the future to halt the upward trend.

This is the consensus of economists and marketing experts in various government agencies and private business consulted by Newspaper Enterprise Association during a lengthy investigation of the many pressures behind food price increases.

Boycotts may get the headlines, but learning to market more critically would pay off better for the cost-conscious housewife, according to Rosalind Lifquist of the U.S. Economic Research Service. She added:

"Many American women are poor shoppers. They usually prefer to pick up all their food and domestic supplies in one large supermarket, rather than shop around and compare values."

"Too often they buy packaged foods because of the attractiveness of the container rather than by weight and listed ingredients."

"Selecting only fruits and vegetables in plentiful supply and therefore cheaper and checking newspapers for advertised specials would ease the strain on their budgets—and their feet — more effectively than boycotts."

Despite what many urban consumers think, the farmer is not the devil in the picture. Winn Finner, acting director of agricultural economics at the Department of Agriculture, said in an interview:

"Certainly the farmer's income should be brought more into line with the income of nonfarmers. But the department does not believe the only way to raise farm income is to hike food prices. Bigger farms, more efficiency and new techniques are other factors."

4 PER CENT RISE

Despite a 4 per cent rise in market basket prices since 1965, the farmer is getting little more today than the 40 cents of each food dollar he has been getting the past several years.

He has, however, profited proportionately from the large increase in total food sales. The concern at the Agriculture Department now is that the farmer may not be able to hold onto the gains he has made. Finner commented: "There are strong indications that farm income is headed down, but lower farm prices would not necessarily lower food prices. The recent drop of 30 cents per bushel of wheat meant only a drop of less than half a cent in the cost of the wheat needed for a pound loaf of bread."

There are powerful nonfarm factors behind higher consumer food prices. Costs have gone up throughout the entire food marketing system for wages, trucks, tires, gas, cans, boxes, extra services and "built-in" conveniences.

ADDED COSTS

To these and other upward pressures must be added the increasing expenditures for food advertising and store promotion. Whether the huge outlays for these benefit the consumer is a controversial question which is getting increasing attention in Washington.

Critical comment was made on this point in the recent report of the National Commission on Food Marketing, a bipartisan group of five senators, five congressmen and five members appointed by President Johnson.

The commission said it considered "appropriate" that advertising which informs the consumer about products and prices.

But it questioned whether advertising designed merely to persuade purchases of one product among comparable products of many firms does actually increase the value of goods to consumers.

ADVERTISING COSTS

The report noted that six major manufacturers of breakfast cereals (they hold almost all the market) spend approximately 15 per cent of their sales dollar for media advertising, more than 80 per cent of it for television.

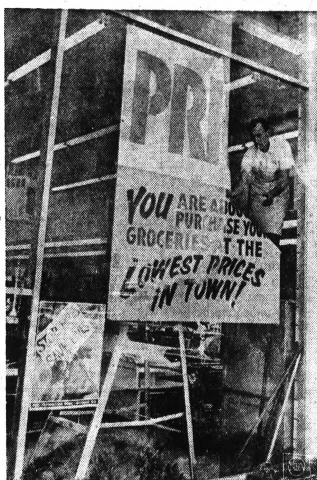

Supermarket efforts to outdo competitors with trading stamp offers, fancier decoration, piped-in music and bigger parking lots run up operating costs.

These are generally passed on to the consumer since net profit — 1½ cents or less on each dollar of sales — is not large enough to permit stores to assume such extra promotional expense.

Washington spokesmen for large commercial produce growers in California and the Southwest cited another added production cost affecting such items as lettuce, carrots, onions, grapes and pears.

This was the 1965 outwailing by the Department of Labor of the use of 200,000 seasonal field laborers imported under contract from Mexico and the West Indies.

(West: Bread, milk, potatoes)

PRICE WARS—Protests by housewives in Denver, Colo., set off price wars between stores to get the customers back inside. The lowering of prices is deemed only temporary, however, and it will take more than marching on the street to stop the higher trend noted all across the nation.

CURTAIN ELUDED—The mini-skirt has penetrated the Iron Curtain. The fashion may be another symbol of the "decadent West," but these two Hungarian natives made a hit on a Budapest street.

Hungary Is Exception 'Mini' Skirts the Iron Curtain

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

BUDAPEST — Here in the Communist Hungarian People's Republic, the women have lost no time in hoisting their skirts above their knees, following the Western fashion.

Hungarian women are probably the only women behind the Iron Curtain wearing mini-skirts. They are certainly the best groomed of all their sisters in the Communist satellite countries.

To a Hungarian woman, elegance comes naturally. Most of them seem to spend their time at the hairdresser, judging from their smart coiffures.

Indeed, if one passes any of the beauty parlors along Lenin Boulevard late at night, one will still find women under the hair driers.

Almost as numerous as the beauty salons are the florists' shops in Budapest. Evidently, Hungarian suitors believe in saying it with flowers.

This goes with the hand-kissing custom which has never really died since the Hapsburgs ruled here.

When a young Hungarian blade meets his girl friend, he still lifts her hand to his lips, almost unconsciously.

Unlike Czechoslovakia, where blue-jeaned youths with guitars strapped to their backs abound, there are no beatniks in Budapest.

One may scour the streets without finding a single scruffy, long-haired type. After work, young men put on Italian-style short jackets and gleaming white shirts to escort their girl friends to the nearest espresso bar or park bench.

COST LITTLE

For males, grooming costs little, at least by western standards. At the Grand Hotel Royal, one can get a haircut, shampoo, tonic and hair-dressing—all to the strains of Liszt played on the radio—for less than a dollar.

There is even a tiny slice of Fifth Avenue lucked away in the heart of Budapest.

It is known as Vaci Street, and a favorite pastime of courting couples is to stroll up and down Vaci Street gazing into shop windows.

Here is a fur coat, casually displayed, which catches the eye; there is a man's silk dressing gown.

SOME DISPLAY

Or perhaps it is a window display of French perfume or of phonograph records that attracts the attention. The average Hungarian cannot afford these items, but he or she can still dream.

Vaci Street has its share of espresso bars, and there is even a pizza emporium, called the Napolitana.

When it comes to music, however, Hungarians are squares, judging by what one hears on the transistor sets in the streets. Mostly, it is exotica music played by smaltzy gypsy bands, rather than a Beatles-type pop music.

It may be that long-haired music (the other kind) is the only type made available by the state-controlled radio.

WESTERN TREND

In the theater, Russian influence is gradually giving way to Western trends. In fact, the made-in-Moscow dramas about boy meets tractor are becoming a rarity on the Hungarian stage.

Altogether, Hungary is much more bourgeois in its outlook than the westerners expect it to be.

The economic goal of the Communist state is to produce more and more of the consumer goods that western democracies take for granted.

The incentives held out to workers are such bourgeois goodies as television sets, refrigerators, spin driers.

And, of course, the mini-skirt.

Australia Seeks Artificial Grass

By Science Service
CANBERRA, Australia — The Australian Department of Civil Aviation has asked government scientists to come up with a substitute for grass at airports. The material must be not only cheap, but "incapable of supporting life."

The object is to keep birds away by making airports biological deserts.

The snag with grass is that, while it inexpensively prevents soil erosion at airports, it provides seeds for birds to eat and attracts insects.

Concrete or tar-sealing the huge areas that airports cover is too expensive. The problem is to find a cheap material, one that also has some of the advantages of grass, such as holding down dust.

The government anticipates that it may take years to find the ideal solution. Meanwhile, research to find a safe and effective insecticide to use on airport grass is continuing.

Mr. Shahan discovers pure Yellow

Vernon Shahan, owner, Vernon Shahan Real Estate, Jackson.

Vernon Shahan, owner of the Shahan Real Estate Company, Jackson, writes: "We discovered that 30% of our telephone inquiries were coming directly from our Yellow Pages ad. The way we could tell was by listing a special phone number in our ad. Today, 30% of our prospects still come to us through the Yellow Pages. No wonder we increased our space in the Yellow Pages."

Call it finding pure yellow, solid gold, or whatever name you choose. The Yellow Pages again proves that it can increase your business. Mr.

Shahan's story is typical. It is a fact that 37% of all the people who looked for real estate and housing in Michigan during a 12-month period consulted their Yellow Pages before making a selection. 90% took action. And it's similar with other businesses.

Make sure your Yellow Pages advertising tells these ready-to-buy prospects enough about you to make them, your customers. Call 883-9900 today—Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

007 Brings Back Series Movie

Hydrofoil Near as Sub Chaser

Women Seek Better Status

International Birth Control Grows

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television writer
HOLLYWOOD — What hath James Bond wrought? The return of the series movie, for one thing.
Two and three decades ago, every studio had its series — films with the same characters that could be counted on to bolster the annual product. The most successful was MGM's Hardy family.

THOMAS

The series began in 1937 with "You're Only Young Once," which proved so popular that a sequel was ordered. The Hardy films made millions and helped develop such new stars as Lana Turner, Judy Garland, Donna Reed and Esther Williams. The series ended after the war when twice-married Mickey Rooney as Andy Hardy seemed too mature to be getting fatherly advice from the old judge, Lewis Stone.

FANTASTIC SUCCESS

Series films disappeared from the movie scene in the wake of television. The studios reasoned that audiences saw enough continuing characters on the home screen. But the intrepid 007 changed all that.
The Bond pictures have proved fantastically successful. According to Variety, domestic rental fees to United Artists have risen successively: "Dr. No," $4,655,000; "From Russia With Love," $8.4 million; "Goldfinger," $19.7 million. The returns from "Thunderball" are estimated at $5 million from this country; an equal amount is expected from overseas.

Naturally other studios sought to cash in on the Bondmania. Fox unleashed James Coburn as "Our Man Flint," and the results were amazing: an estimated $14 to 15 million worldwide gross. "In Like Flint" has now been filmed, and another Flint flick is in the works.

Columbia cast Dean Martin as Matt Helm in "The Silencers" and Martin happily reports a $9 million gross. He recently completed another Helm epic, "Murderer's Row," and a half-dozen more are planned.

Warner Brothers clicked with Paul Newman's "Harper," a throwback to the private-eye dramas of Humphrey Bogart, Dick Powell, etc. A sequel is in the works.

STRIKE IT RICH

Bond producer Harry Saltzman struck gold with another sleuth, Harry Palmer, in "The Ipcress File," starring Michael Caine. The film was released by Universal, but Paramount is bringing out the next Caine caper, "Funeral in Berlin." Another of the Len Deighton novels, "Billion Dollar Brain," will also be filmed. Paramount is also reviving television's "Peter Gun" for a feature and possible series.

Universal has brought back Bulldog Drummond with some modern touches in "Deadlier than the Male." The movie stars Richard Johnson and may spark a series.

Most of the new series produce only a film a year. It was different in the old days. The most prolific studio of all was Monogram, which poured forth endless numbers of Bowery Boys, Joe Palooka, Maggie and Jiggs and other series.

Fox countered MGM's hit series with the Jones family, but the Joneses couldn't keep up with the Hardys. Also from the Fox stable: Charlie Chan, Cisco Kid, Mr. Belvedere. MGM had its Tarzans and pretelevision Philo Vance.

By Science Service
SOREL, Canada—A hydrofoil submarine chaser, which will rise out of the water on metal "legs" to pursue its prey at speeds of 65 miles per hour, will be joining the Canadian Navy in the next few months.

The ship already has its big foil system installed and the 22,000-hp gas-turbine main engine has been mounted on the vessel's deck.

The turbine will propel the vessel in the foil-borne configuration, while a 2,000 hp diesel engine will provide driving power the rest of the time.

By Science Service
NEW YORK — The intimate link between birth control and the status of women drew comments here from representatives of two countries whose attitudes toward women could hardly be more divergent — Egypt and Denmark.

In nine short months Egypt has set up birth control services in 2,300 health centers, and has now joined the ranks of some 20 other nations with national programs of fertility control, said Mrs. Aziza Hussein, Egypt's delegate to the U.N. Commission on the Status of Women.

But the program's success depends on changes in the status of Egyptian women. Mrs. Hussein told the Planned Parenthood — World Population conference here.

Many women, she said, "try to keep their hold over their husbands by having too many children," thus "clipping the husband's wings," so that he will feel compelled to stay with his wife.

Egyptian laws still give husbands the sole right of divorce and the right to marry more than one wife. Mrs. Hussein pointed out. These laws are now being vigorously contested by women's organizations in Egypt.

In Denmark, on the other hand, birth control is a widely accepted principle. Yet, Denmark still has no general program for guiding the entire population on the use of contraceptives, said Mrs. Nathalie Lind, member of Parliament and president of the Danish Women's Association.

Freedom from the spectre of unwanted pregnancy is essential to the liberation of women, she said.

Lung Disease Laws Urged

By Science Service
PRINCETON, N.J. — Congressman John E. Fogarty, D-N.J., the most vocal proponent of medical legislation in the House of Representatives, said here and emphysema and chronic bronchitis, major lung cripples, should be included in the government's new regional medical programs.
The programs, covering heart disease, cancer and stroke, were created by Congress to foster more research into these major problems and better care of people suffering from them or related diseases.

The close relationship between problems of the circulatory and of the respiratory systems makes emphysema and chronic bronchitis prime candidates for inclusion in the regional programs, said the Congressman, in a keynote address to a task force on the two diseases.

Chronic bronchitis is very often the forerunner of emphysema, a progressive obstructive disease of the lungs leading to poor ventilation and an increased workload on the heart. Often, in severe cases of emphysema, the patient dies of heart failure, the most common complication of emphysema.

Suspect Held in City Holdup

A Detroit man faces arraignment on a charge of armed robbery following his arrest early today by Pontiac police investigating a gas station hold-up.

Alfred Campbell, 22, was apprehended by Patrolman Robert N. Brown after a chase on foot in the Green-West Huron area.

Brown and patrolmen Thomas Gracey and Neal R. McCormack had pursued Campbell and a second man not far from the Clark Service Station, 382 Orchard Lake, where attendants reported they were robbed at gunpoint of $30.

Campbell and his companion—who eluded capture—were sought by the three policemen when they noted the pair's resemblance to the victims' descriptions of the robbers.

Crash in Southfield Hospitalizes Three

A Troy woman is in satisfactory condition and two Detroit men in fair condition at William B. Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, today following a three-vehicle collision on Telegraph near 12 Mile Road in Southfield early this morning.

Donna DeWitt, 30, 2966 Somerset, Troy, and Hugh Campbell, 26, and Terry Goodman, 21, both of Detroit, were injured when their cars collided with a truck driven by Earl Fisher, 31, 503 Elm, Holly, at 2:25 a.m.

Goodman was a passenger in the car driven by Campbell. The truck driver, Fisher, was not injured, according to Southfield police.

Utica Fatality

UTICA (AP) — Juanita Mae Scoggins, 41, of Shelby Township, Macomb County, was killed today in a two-car crash at an intersection in Utica. Police said she had stopped for a stop sign, then drove into the path of an oncoming car.

Pontiac division. Herbert J. Palmer, company treasurer, looks on at last night's service anniversary dinner attended by 200 employees, celebrating five or more years of continuous service with the company, and guests.

Pontiac Man Held on Bond in Break-In

Frank R. Stadler, 22, of 82 S. Eastway demanded preliminary examination at his appearance before Pontiac Township Justice R. Grant Graham.

Graham set pretrial hearing for Dec. 9.

Sheriff's deputies Keith Lester and Carl Anderson said they apprehended Stadler early yesterday hiding inside The Countryside Kitchen, 2041 Auburn, Pontiac Township.

Entry to the building had been gained through a broken window, deputies said.

Math Battle Renewed

Teams of "mathletes" from Pontiac Central High School took the lead in four events and the victory going to the Chiefs mathematics competition which started last April.

Contest officials declined mentioning the final score of the event, noting emphasis is on motivating students to take an active interest in mathematics.

Students from both schools lectured on sets, 17th Century mathematical history and number sequences. There also were exams and slide rule competition.

Also on hand as observers were educators from school districts who are considering setting up similar events.

There are only 106 carillon in this county, and less than a dozen are played by full-time professional carilloneers.

School System Concept OK'd

Pontiac Board of Education members last night endorsed the general concept of establishing an area vocational school system in cooperation with the other 28 school districts of Oakland County.

However, they reserved comment on any specific proposals recently made by the steering committee of the countywide group studying vocational education.

The committee is asking school boards in the county to support its tentative recommendations and to seek legislation which would permit the intermediate school district to operate the program.

The proposal calls for four vocational schools to be operated by Oakland Schools in an arrangement similar to that for special education classes.

DEATH TRAP — Flames and smoke which filled this frame home in Farmington Township took the lives of seven young children early today. A township fireman—one of 12 at the home minutes after the alarm—stands at the front door. It was in the gutted living room at the left where flames first broke out, investigators believe.

Bond Is Set for Man Held in 2 Holdups

Charged with two armed robberies, a Pontiac man is held on bond of $30,000 following arraignment yesterday in Pontiac and Bloomfield Township.

Robert T. McCullum, 24, of 96 Clove demanded preliminary examination on each of the counts.

Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCullum set a hearing for Nov. 22, while Bloomfield Township Justice Alice Gilbert scheduled examination in that court for Nov. 17.

Pontiac police charge McCullum with robbing a 19-year-old city youth at gunpoint Sunday night.

Timothy R. Baker, 19, of 276½ Auburn alleges McCullum fired a sawed-off rifle and took $10 from him outside a telephone booth at the intersection of Orchard Lake and Lake streets.

Bloomfield Township authorities brought a robbery charge against McCullum following his apprehension Monday night outside a jewelry store in Miracle Mile Shopping Center.

Louis Davidson, owner of Lou-Mor Jewelers, and a private investigator took McCullum into custody after the gunpoint robbery of $135 and some watches.

Restaurant Safe Is Carted Off in Bloomfield Twp.

Thieves carted off a safe containing about $1,000 in an early morning break-in at the Western Beef Buffet Restaurant, 4108 W. Maple, Bloomfield Township, today.

The intruders entered the building through a roof window and escaped through a rear door, according to State Police of the Pontiac post.

The burglary was reported to police by a man who said he observed four suspicious subjects at the restaurant.

The safe was not immediately recovered.

Some Parcels for Viet Facing Mail Deadline

Christmas packages weighing more than five pounds going to Viet Nam or other overseas military areas by surface means should be mailed by today, according to Pontiac Postmaster William W. Donaldson.

Christmas parcels going airmail should be sent by Dec. 10, he said.

All first-class mail, personal sound recordings and parcels weighing five pounds or less and measuring not more than 60 inches in length and six combined feet will be airtight on a space-available basis between the United States and all military post offices overseas, according to a recent postal edict.

These articles, must be mailed no later than Dec. 1 as they will be moved by surface transportation within the country to the point of embarkation.

Under Public Law 89-725—the Dulski Military Mail Act—second-class publications such as newspapers and magazines with news of interest to the military, will be airtight from San Francisco to Viet Nam.

OEO Opposes
Madison Heights
Demolition Plan

The Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity last night agreed to support a Madison Heights home owners' association in its opposition to any demolition in a proposed urban renewal area.

Some commission members felt that forcing persons from their houses would create a poverty problem rather than solve it.

The area threatened by demolition is located near John R. south of 14 Mile and contains 107 houses.

More than 50 per cent of the families living in the 24-acre area are considered poverty-stricken by the commission, according to its formula of income and family size.

College enrollment, which reached 5.45 million in the nation last year, is expected to increase to seven million by 1970.

CBS Seen Bracing Against Gleason's New Pay Bid

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — With Jackie Gleason the year's biggest hit on TV, the brass at the CBS Bldg., "Black Rock" is waiting and quaking to get the bad news from Miami Beach about Jackie's pay raise demands for next season. Of course he'll tell them it's impossible to continue at such a terrific pace (although for more $ and concessions, he just might be able to do so).

Jackie's spokesmen are sending out hints that he's going to expect substantial monetary encouragement. "Jackie might want them to give him the Yankee Stadium as a bonus," one friend said. (He should insist, however, that it be filled.)

Jackie's such a big man in Florida, he's offered all sorts of deals every day. He could have a whole hotel free if he wanted it. He's turning them all down. British actress Susanah York says, "There are so many things about America I really dig, I wish it wouldn't look asinine at my parties."

Susanah was horrified that girls wearing mini-skirts and not much more than a G-string could go anywhere but she was stopped at the Colony and also at the Sherry-Netherland bar in her silk crepe, very tailored, very elegant trousers.

Susanah, who was here for "A Man for All Seasons," which has a black tie opening here Dec. 12, may become the Joan of Arc of Panis. At the Etolie she was admitted in trousers. "Maybe," she says, "trousers wearers are barred because they don't show enough!"

WISH I'D SAID THAT: To Adam Clayton Powell, New York is a summons festival.
