

Chimpanzee Brought to Earth as Trouble Develops in Space

WORLDWIDE TRACKING STATIONS—Map locates the 13 tracking stations around the world which are following the orbital flight of the NASA space capsule carrying a chimpanzee named Enos. The chimp was rocketed into orbit today from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Airplane Spots Capsule Floating in the Atlantic

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States sent a chimp named Enos rocketing twice around the globe today before trouble developed in his space cabin. He was brought safely back to earth one orbit short of his goal.

Today's shot was the final dress rehearsal before America attempts to put a man in orbit. It had been hoped that the manned shot could still take place in 1961, but events today made this unlikely.

The capsule containing Enos landed in the Atlantic 500 miles south of Bermuda at 1:28 p.m. Pontiac time.

At 1:37 p.m. the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) announced that a Navy airplane had sighted the descending parachute and had the floating capsule in sight.

The plane reported the space cabin appeared to be floating well. Two destroyers — identified as the USS Compton and the USS Storms — struck out immediately to make the recovery.

Officials said it would take the destroyers about an hour to reach the spot, but there was the possibility that helicopters would be able to fish it from the water.

Enos' space capsule had been programmed to make three complete circuits, but scientists switched signals when ground tracking stations detected a heat build-up in an electrical inverter. Officials said there were also indications that problems had developed in the attitude control system—the mechanism that positions the capsule for its searing re-entry into the atmosphere.

The difficulties were detected as the capsule whizzed across the Pacific Ocean toward Canton Island in its second orbital sweep.

The first orbit and about half of the second went fine.

The retro rockets were fired at 1:08 p.m. (Pontiac time) to slow the capsule from its 17,500 miles an hour orbital speed and send it reeling off the path through the earth's atmosphere.

The capsule was supposed to land in a target area about 500 miles south of Bermuda.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. has been selected for America's first manned orbital flight, the Norfolk Ledger-Star said it was told by informed sources at Langley Air Force Base today.

NEW YORK (AP)—Aaron Wagman, 28-year-old gambler, pleaded guilty today to charges of paying thousands of dollars to basketball players to shave points on games. The move came as a surprise at the start of his trial.

Free Press spokesmen said the five-cent-a-week price increase was effective this week in counties near the Wayne-Macomb County area.

A similar price increase went into effect for Western Michigan areas Oct. 2.

Possible Flurries Seen Thursday With High of 48

Temperatures will range in the high 30s for the next five days with the high tomorrow somewhat warmer, about 48. Tonight's low will hit near 30.

There's a chance of snow flurries tomorrow evening, Friday, Monday totaling near .25 of an inch. Friday will be a little colder, Sunday will be warmer with temperatures cooling off again Monday.

Morning northerly winds at 5 miles per hour will become southerly to southeasterly at 15 m.p.h. tonight.

Twenty-three was the lowest reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury had climbed to 38 at 2 p.m.

ROCKET TAKES OFF—With Enos, the space chimp, riding a capsule atop it, an Atlas rocket blasts off from Cape Canaveral this morning. The chimp was scheduled to ride three times around the earth and pave the way for the first U.S. man in orbit flight.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Enos, the chimp selected to be the first two-legged American to orbit the earth, is a quiet, poker-faced young immigrant. As chimpanzees go, he is rather plain but highly stable—an unsimiling introvert but not a worrier.

He is the last chimp you'd expect to find on a psychiatrist's couch. Not as colorful as some astro-chimps, he is more inclined to be the quiet, taciturn, pillar of the community type.

He came to this country 18 months ago and trained thoroughly for the space age. He was born and raised in the French Cameroons in Africa, which makes him a kind of a Peace Corps in reverse.

He is 3 1/2 years old, which in chimp chronology makes him an adolescent. He weighs 37 1/2 pounds and stands when he stands, 28 inches high, which makes him a medium-sized for his age group.

He really is a plain type of fellow, not at all the kind you'd pick out in a crowd," said Capt. Jerry Fling, Air Force veterinarian.

Enos did not come by his honors lightly. He was chosen on the basis of elimination trials during which, said Fling, "we tried not to let ourselves get too attached to any one chimp so as not to lose our objectivity."

The available chimps first were narrowed down to four males and a girl named Glenda. Then, on the basis of tests for physical condition and responsiveness to blinking lights, geometric symbols and other stimuli, the squad was further cut to three boys—Ham, who already had made a suborbital flight, Rocky and Enos.

Then Ham was eliminated for reasons not specified but without prejudice.

With Ham scratched, that left just two. Enos got the starring role and Rocky was named understudy. Rocky is 4 weeks old, weighs 31 pounds and stands 34 inches tall.

Enos, said Fling, is quieter, more meditative, less bouncy than Rocky. Rocky, being younger, is more colorful, more appealing, more affectionate.

City Rejects Amendment Requiring Rabies Shots

A proposed amendment requiring rabies immunization for dogs in Pontiac was defeated by a 4-3 vote at last night's City Commission meeting.

Commissioners voted against the controversial move to amend the city's dog ordinance after an hour-long discussion in the City Commission chambers.

Voting against the amendment were Commissioners John A. Dugan, Winford E. Bottom, Robert Landry and Wesley J. Wood.

Voting for approval were Commissioners Philip E. Rowston, Milton R. Henry and William H. Taylor Jr.

FAILS AGAIN
This, too, failed to gain Commission approval by the same 4-3 vote. Landry, Dugan, Wood and Bottom all felt that since the commission had voted against the amendment, it should be put to a public vote only by petition from the public.

Some 50 residents attended the meeting and many voiced their views for and against the law, which would have required that dogs be vaccinated against rabies before they could be licensed. The law requires that dogs over 6 months old be licensed annually.

Commissioners who voted against the proposed amendment, said they did so for several reasons:

1. The city doesn't enforce its present dog ordinance.

2. A rabies amendment would not be observed by people already ignoring dog licenses and would result in actually fewer licenses being sold.

3. Facts indicated there was a much greater need for other methods of public protection than for protection against rabies.

COMMISSIONERS CONCUR
Commissioner Wesley J. Wood said he agreed with a statement by Dugan that he "wouldn't vote for any new ordinance until we enforce the ones we have."

Dugan said he "would certainly vote for this ordinance if I thought it would do any good, but we haven't had a case of rabies in nine years. It isn't serious."

"We have an ordinance prohibiting people to allow their dogs to run loose, but we still have dogs running loose."

"I know people who let their dogs out at 5 every night and all day Sundays because they know the dog warden is off duty," Dugan asserted.

"The dogs that are most dangerous — that can pick up and spread the disease most easily — are the strays," Wood added. "If we can't control them, I don't know how we can vote for another law to enforce."

Lantry's first comment was that "immunization is a wonderful thing."

Kennedy Urges Troops
Not to Grumble About Hardships

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today told men called into military service they may get out of uniform within less than a year.

Urging them not to grumble in the meantime, he said they provide the strength to spare the United States a choice "between humiliation and a holocaust."

Somewhat heatedly, Kennedy took note at a news conference of newspaper stories reporting discomforts and possible shortcomings in equipment and training programs for Reservists and National Guardsmen summoned to service as a result of the East-West crisis over Berlin.

He said his administration—contrary to some speculation—never intended to hold men called up for more than a year.

The hope, he said, is to let them out before the end of the 12-month period for which they were originally ordered to service.

Kennedy also observed that Congress approved the callup which the administration initiated last summer.

Kennedy, in a clear attempt to bolster the morale of the Reservists and Guardsmen whose lives were disrupted by the muster of additional strength, said the not-

Honorees Discuss Auto World

recent United Ford general chairman, E. M. Estes, new general manager of Pontiac Motor Division, and S. E. Knudsen, former Pontiac manager now heading Chevrolet division. Knudsen was presented with a silver pitcher, given by the Pontiac businessmen.

Right to Question Illness School Board Proposal

A proposal to permit the Pontiac schools superintendent to require physical and mental examinations of teachers is on the agenda for Thursday's 8 p.m. meeting of the Pontiac Board of Education.

Passage of the proposal would give administrators the necessary backup to impose involuntary leaves of absence because of physical and mental disability of any employee certified by the state, according to Asst. Supt. Philip J. Proud.

However, doubt exists among some experts about the actual use of such a policy.

In 1958, a Hazel Park teacher was ordered retained by pay by the State Tenure Commission after being kept from her job for a year when she refused to take a psychiatric and mental examination.

The commission is its ruling said, "She was not guilty of insubordination for refusing to appear for a psychiatric examination."

On the other hand, the Michigan Tenure Act under Article V provides that "without request" by any certified person "leave of absence because of physical or mental disability may be granted by any controlling board for a period not to exceed one year."

Pontiac school administrators want passage of the proposal to give them expert judgment on physical and mental disability which might justify involuntary act.

But medical men have expressed hesitation on making judgments on issues they feel are better decided by educators. Also, any doctor prevented from releasing information about his patient, if his patient refuses permission.

One psychiatrist, Dr. Robert Braun who is clinical director at Pontiac State Hospital, yesterday said:

"In the medical profession, the sanctity of privileged communication between doctor and patient is a basic principle which cannot be broken except under extreme circumstances."

Dr. Jerome Fink, a Pontiac psychiatrist, added:

"Privileged communication must be sacrosanct regardless of even a court order, except where the doctors decide release of the information is in the best interest of the patient or society as a whole."

Asked whether a psychiatrist was competent to decide whether or not a teacher was able to teach, Fink said:

"I think that a psychiatrist, in the narrow sense of the word, is only competent to adjudicate whether or not a person is mentally ill."

"He might have an opinion whether or not this mental illness in a teacher is dangerous to the students. But only an educator would be competent to say whether or not a person is competent to teach. Such a decision is outside the psychiatrist's sphere of authority."

He added another factor complicating a decision:

"Mental illness may affect only certain portions of the mind. To ask whether a teacher is competent to teach when he has a certain kind of mental illness, can you imagine like asking, 'Can you fix a watch if you've broken a leg?'"

Proud said the medical consultants would not be asked to make the final decision about a teacher's job. This, he said, is what which is up to the educators.

"However," Proud said, "a school personnel officer is competent only to make certain general judgments about a teacher's health. It is not a medical expert."

"If the school administrator is in a position to have competent medical advice, then he is in a position to make better recommendations to the board of education."

The proposal, Proud said, has been approved by a certified personnel committee made up mostly of Pontiac district teachers.

Sparks Plans to Seek Re-Election Next Year

The iron man of elected Oakland County officials will give it another try next year.

County Treasurer Charles A. Sparks said today he'll seek a 16th consecutive two-year term on the county ticket, thus ending rumors that his health wouldn't permit him to try for another record.

The 69-year-old patriarch of Oakland GOP officials suffered a heart attack in November 1959. He barely got out of the hospital in time to file for re-election last year, with speculation mounting since then whether he'd call it quits.

"I'm feeling fine," Sparks said. "My last check-up showed my heart is completely healed, and I'm taking care of myself."

While Sparks, first elected in 1932, has his mind made up, there remains but one question mark in whether the six-member incumbent GOP team will stick together in 1962.

Former county drain commissioner and now surveyor, Ralph A. Main, said his wife desires him to withdraw from the non-essential position which pays nothing. But Main, next to Sparks, is the senior on the county committee in length of service, wants to keep the county ticket all Republican, something which might not happen with an incumbent stepping out of the picture.

After some soul searching, Prosecutor George F. Taylor said he would seek a second term. He is 45 and was appointed to the post when former prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem was elevated to judge. Taylor was Ziem's chief assistant.

County Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr. and Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry will bid for their fourth two-year terms, having first joined the team in 1956 along with Main.

Sheriff Frank W. Irons, elected to his first term in 1954, said he, too, would seek re-election.

There's not much talk yet from the county Democrats as to who they'll pit against the six incumbents — assuming Main stays on the team.

dier on duty in a "cold and windy camp" is rendering the same valuable service as an airplane on 15-minute alert at the Strategic Air Command.

Kennedy said his administration had felt the nation lacked adequate conventional strength.

He said the armed forces were increased—"to prevent a war, not to fight a war."

"We want to have a choice between humiliation and holocaust," Kennedy said with reference to a middle ground between surrender and the devastation of nuclear war.

Kennedy declared once again that this country wants to negotiate a peaceful settlement of East-West issues "but does not intend to surrender."

He said a key point in any future negotiations with the Soviet Union will be the question of internationalization of the administration of the automobile land route to Berlin.

After some soul searching, Prosecutor George F. Taylor said he would seek a second term. He is 45 and was appointed to the post when former prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem was elevated to judge. Taylor was Ziem's chief assistant.

Former Employees File Suit Against American Forging

By DICK HANSON

A body of former employees of the now defunct American Forging and Sock Co. in Pontiac yesterday filed a law suit against the firm in Federal Court in Detroit.

The ex-employees in their suit charge that the company entered into an illegal agreement with their union in deciding how money paid into the pension plan and supplemental unemployment compensation funds were to be dispersed during current liquidation of the firm.

Named as respondents with the company are the International Association of Bridge, Structural, Ornamental and Reinforcing Iron Workers, Local 100, and the American Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit.

The bank is named because it is the depository of the funds or is left of them, that the company entered into the agreement with the union to prevent any further liquidation and dispersals pending settlement of the case, said Powell.

Some of those bringing suit have received a penny from the funds during liquidation, Powell said. According to him the plaintiffs had refused to ratify the agreement entered into between the company and the union to liquidate the funds in a different manner from that prescribed when the funds were initiated.

Correspondents are slated to appear at a show case hearing before Federal Judge Wade McCree Jr. Detroit Monday.

Pinned in Wreckage After Auto Mishap

A Northville man struggled for an hour and a half before freeing himself from the wreckage of his car yesterday after he was seriously injured in an accident in Lyon Township.

Brighton state police said Vernon C. Kenny, 45, of 4 Hillcrest St., was hurt when his car crashed into a bridge abutment and rolled into a 15-foot ditch on Napier Road, just north of 11-Mile Road.

The accident occurred at 7:30 a.m. and it wasn't until about 9 a.m. that Kenny was able to free himself from the wreckage and get help from a nearby home.

Police said he suffered facial lacerations, broken ribs and possible frostbite. He was rushed to St. Mary Hospital, Livonia, where authorities declined to reveal his condition today.

Horse Trader Proves Profession Isn't Dead

LADONIA, Tex. (UPI) — Bob West, 70, is still active in a profession many people believe is dead—horse trading.

West, who has been bartering animals for more than 50 years, trades from 5 to 10 horses a week. He says business is good because interest in horseback riding and rodeos is increasing.

Capital Writer Slaps 'Backside' of Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dick West, UPI's capital columnist, has taken a vigorous but good-humored literary slap at "The Backside of Washington."

That is the title of his book, just out, and this is how he defines his term:

"... The backside is not a tangible. It is more of a way of life, or at least what passes for life. In the U.S. Capital, it is composed of governmental flotsam and jetsam, flora and fauna, which eddy and swirl near the banks of the Potomac, seldom spilling over into the mainstream of America."

"In this respect, the mainstream of America is lucky." West collected his material while working the Washington humor mine for his column "The Lighter Side," which UPI distributes five days a week to its afternoon newspaper clients.

The book, published by Doubleday & Co., contains many of his columns, but West has taken a second look at them, refined and added a dash of ribaldry.

Family of Four Among 67 Who Become Citizens

Sixty-seven persons yesterday took their oaths of allegiance to the United States in the last of four naturalization ceremonies to be held this year in Circuit Court.

The group, largest since November 1959 when 62 foreign born were naturalized as citizens, included the four members of the Joseph Kesner family, formerly of Oak Park and now of Detroit.

Kesner, a teacher, his wife, 20-year-old son, and 19-year-old daughter are from the Netherlands. Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams presided at the swearing-in ceremony.

Waterford Students to Attend Dances

Waterford Township high school students not attending out of town Friday basketball games will have the opportunity of attending dance sessions at the Community Center.

At last night's Community Activities, Inc., meeting, the board approved the new program which will go into effect Jan. 5 and continue until June 1. Every other Friday of the bi-monthly sessions there will be a live band provided by the Federation of Musicians, and on alternate Friday nights there will be record music.

Children's Saturday movies also were approved by the board. They start Jan. 1.

Makes 'Thumple' Concrete Highways

NEW YORK — A small strip of formed galvanized steel sheet is taking the "thump" out of the ride on the nation's concrete paved super highways.

The Committee of Galvanized Sheet Producers says the little strip of galvanized steel is now being used extensively to form the joints in concrete pavement for highways and airport runways.

It is a hollow tube, flat on top and tapering toward the bottom, which is installed in fresh concrete and left in place to provide a mechanical seal.

Tonsils Cut Big Figure in Insurance Records

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Health Insurance Institute analysis of claims paid by group health insurers show that 18 per cent of all surgical claims — excluding maternity — are for the removal of tonsils.

Most tonsillectomy patients are between the ages of 3 and 8. The operation is more common among girls than among boys.

Bridges' Friends to View Last Rites

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — The great in government and the humble from the farms of New Hampshire joined today in final homage to U.S. Sen. Styles Bridges, who died in his sleep last Sunday.

Bridges will be buried in Pine Grove Cemetery after noon services in the state capitol. President Kennedy designated his younger brother, Edward F. Kennedy, and Lawrence F. O'Brien of the White House staff to represent him.

The public service followed private services Tuesday for the 63-year-old Republican who served almost a quarter-century in the U.S. Senate.

Moscow Press Almost Ignores JFK'S Interview

MOSCOW (AP)—President Kennedy's interview with the editor of Izvestia was almost ignored by the Moscow press today.

Pravda, the biggest paper in the Soviet Union, carried no part of the interview but published a brief dispatch from Washington quoting President Kennedy as saying it was "a notable step ahead in improving relations" between the two countries.

Izvestia, the government organ, published the full text of the interview Tuesday night. Important stories which appear in one of the major Soviet newspapers frequently are carried at least in part by other papers. That did not happen this time.

The interview was not broadcast domestically by Moscow radio, although the radio broadcast the brief dispatch published in Pravda.

Charge Dixie Juror Lied in Bus Case

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — A member of the deadlocked jury which heard the case dealing with the burning of a "freedom riders" bus at Anniston, Ala., was charged Tuesday with perjury.

Lewis Martin Parker, 50, a Hartselle, Ala., farmer, was charged with giving false information when he denied membership in the Ku Klux Klan. U.S. Attorney Macon L. Weaver said Parker had been revealed as a Klan member in the investigation following the trial.

Red, U.S. Women Urge China Be Admitted to U.N.

NEW YORK (UPI) — A group of women leaders from the United States and Russia have agreed upon a number of proposals designed to ease cold war tensions. One is the admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

Nine Soviet and 15 U.S. women exchanged views on critical international issues during a week-long meeting at Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pa., Nov. 21-27.

In a statement released Tuesday, the women called upon their respective governments to work toward disarmament, a nuclear test ban and the admission of Red China into the United Nations.

The conference, held at the invitation of the Jane Addams Peace Association and the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, was sponsored by singer Marian Anderson, Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., and authors Pearl S. Buck, Lenore Marshall and Agnes Meyer.

Katanga Cease Fire Questioned by Reds

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union, in a letter published Tuesday, pressed acting Secretary General U Thant to explain on what authority U.N. officials approved a cease fire between Katanga and U.N. forces. U Thant replied that U.N. officials ratified the agreement last month as a military necessity under the general authority of past U.N. resolutions. At the height of last week's Security Council debate on giving more strength to U Thant's directives in the Congo, Soviet delegate Valerian A. Zorin wrote the secretary general asking him to name the U.N. officials involved in the cease-fire. The United Nations then published the exchange of letters.

Tass Distorts Kennedy Izvestia Interview

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American officials said today that the Soviet news agency Tass distributed a distorted, editorialized version of the interview President Kennedy granted Izvestia Editor Aleksei Adzhubel.

They said the agency's Russian-language summary omitted several major points the President made and submerged his remarks on other issues to the argumentative comments of the interviewer.

Adzhubel stuck by his promise to publish the full text in Izvestia, the official government newspaper, which claims circulation of four million. For this the President publicly expressed gratitude.

However, the Tass summary, which is the only version available to the remaining 200 million Russians, diminished those who hoped Kennedy had blasted a real hole in the Iron Curtain.

In general it left the impression of Kennedy as "evasive" and on the defensive against Adzhubel's skillful questions based on "concrete examples."

U.S. officials cited the following major omissions in the Tass Russian-language summary for the home audience:

—The President's charge that Russia had violated the Yalta and Potsdam agreements by never allowing the people of the East European satellite countries to vote freely on what form of government they wanted.

—Kennedy's statement that the Soviet Union broke the moratorium on nuclear tests while it was still negotiating with Britain and the United States at Geneva on a possible test ban treaty.

—His claim that the Berlin problem was a "test case."

stem in large part from the Soviet refusal to agree to reunification of Germany.

Tass said simply that Kennedy refused to "reckon with the fact of the existence of two German states."

DISTORTION

As an example of distortion, U.S. officials cited the Tass handling of the section on Cuba, in which the President charged Premier Fidel Castro with breaking his promises to hold free elections. Tass reported as follows:

"The Soviet journalist was interested to know whether the President admits that U.S. interference in the affairs of Cuba was a mistake. Kennedy persisted in justifying the policy of his country with regard to its small but heroic neighbor."

Tass said Kennedy handled most major issues by "trying to hide behind the old screen of the alleged Communist threat."

However, they acknowledged that it was impossible to say just how much effect the President's statements, even in the understated Izvestia version, would have on an audience conditioned by more than 40 years of intensive propaganda against the United States.

It was assumed that Soviet Izvestia, was certain that Kennedy's statements could do him no appreciable damage and the print-fear an exchange of controversial ideas.

Despite the Tass handling of the interview, most officials thought the effort by Kennedy was well worth while, because most of the real leaders of Soviet Russia will see Izvestia and the full text of his remarks.

Graham Sees Trouble From Russian Church

NEW YORK (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham says "very serious problems" will result from the admission of the Russian Orthodox Church to the World Council of Churches.

Graham, returning on Tuesday from New Delhi, India, where he attended the third assembly of the council, declined to discuss the problems he had in mind.

But he declared that Russian delegates "never hesitated to inject very subtly the Soviet point of view."

Man Finds Hitch in Policy After Fall Into Shelter

SHELBYVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—John Rowe is back at work after spending 19 days recovering from a fall into his fallout shelter.

The 12 x 36-foot underground shelter he built brought lavish praise from civil defense engineers. Such crowds came to see the model shelter that Rowe bought a $10,000 insurance policy as protection in case anyone got hurt around it.

He discovered a hitch in the policy after he fell through the escape hatch, cracking several ribs. He wasn't covered.

Pontiac Appreciates Willman's Excellent Job as City Manager

With Pontiac officially saying "adieu" to WALTER K. WILLMAN, we face the retirement of an especially capable and trustworthy City Manager. Happily for us, he still proposes to make this his permanent residence.

The lot of a City Manager isn't the easiest role in the world to fulfill. First, he's directly accountable to a changing and rotating commission; and secondly, he must serve all the citizens in his entire community. This is no light task. It takes great skill.

City Managers undergo long training and indoctrination and even then they are placed in a position where unannounced problems are accepted as a normal part of the day. In Pontiac, WALTER K. WILLMAN was especially fortunate.

WILLMAN

He possessed a pleasing personality and made friends readily. This is a requisite in this specialized post. Secondly, Mr. WILLMAN was diplomatic and tactful under pressure and handled many vexatious problems smoothly and without an aftermath of rancor and bitterness.

Pontiac has had several fine City Managers over an extended period of years, but this newspaper is inclined to award the top rating to Mr. WILLMAN, viewing his achievements and accomplishments from all angles. He was unusually conscientious and never ducked an unpleasant duty merely because it came under the heading of "messy business."

This city is in an unusually strong financial position and much of the credit goes to him. He always exercised good judgment in expenditures and he watched the budget with an eagle eye and kept within approved limits.

Some successful men confine their activities purely to their own office and occupation, but Mr. WILLMAN was a public spirited citizen who took part in civic affairs quite beyond the call of duty. He was always ready and willing to put a strong shoulder to the wheel and he never asked anyone to carry his weight any more.

Further, he stood high in the estimation of his colleagues in other cities and indeed was elected President of the International City Managers' Association of America. This indicates his standing in a national

Interview Valuable

President KENNEDY's long interview with Russian editor ALEXEI ADZHUBI did serve a valuable purpose, we feel, although we deplore the argumentative tactics of the Russians.

The value was in getting the views of the leading American before the Russian masses. Although we have no guarantee, other than their word, that the replies were accurately quoted, we feel it was a step in the right direction.

Not trusting the Reds in general, however, it makes us wonder why they wanted this interview. In the international chess match, we have just been offered a pawn. Why?

sense and the fact his compatriots recognized his talents and reputation.

Walter K. Willman can face retirement with a great feeling of satisfaction and accomplishment. He devoted his lifetime to the betterment of mankind and he was eminently successful. Today he looks forward to a well-earned and well-deserved rest, but this newspaper is confident he will "return to duty" if the City or any organization had an especial need for his services on a temporary basis.

The Pontiac Press extends him its very best wishes and a hearty handshake for doing a man's job in a forthright Christian manner.

Nimrods Return With Unique Northwood Stories

Railroad: What built this nation, which now shows little appreciation.

Returning from the northwoods. Blanchard Andrix of Waterford tells of an interesting occurrence. Stopping at a Dixie Highway restaurant near Flint for a midnight snack, a Detroit man came running in to report that his spikhearn deer had just been stolen from his car, and a doe put in its place.

A white turnip comes from the garden of Randall Moorer of Rochester, that weighs eight pounds which looks like a lot of mashed turnip.

Coming back from the Gaylord area, Ames Fater of Drayton Plains states that he saw very few deer in that vicinity, but several crossed the road in front of him on the way home, one after he had entered Oakland County.

"Don't try to predict what another 20 years will bring," writes Lewis Botmer of Royal Oak, when he sends a clipping of 20 years ago, in which the Grand Truck Railway announces that Diesel locomotives would soon be running through Pontiac.

Pink roses of the "Fairy" variety are still blooming in the garden of Mrs. Claude Whitmer of 2244 Walnut Lake Road, having been in blossom constantly since midsummer.

Writing that the architect of this column is her "favorite man," a Leonard woman is willing to wager that her name will be in the papers often more than that of President

John F. Kennedy during the next few weeks. Her name is Mrs. Kathleen Yule, and she was born on Christmas eve.

Ever mindful of safety first precautions, Mrs. Orpha Sabadino of Kego Harbor calls up to remind us that it's time for our annual warning about the danger of your Christmas tree catching fire. It can be rendered practically fireproof by standing it in water in which you have dumped a teacup of calcium chloride.

Bring It In—Quickly

David Lawrence Insists:

Partisan Politics No Boon to U.S.

WASHINGTON—The shift in the staffs of the Department of State and the White House—involving 10 positions that are related to the making of foreign policy—should be an eye opener to the American people.

It is a tragic example of experimentation and lack of the system, effect of partisan politics on the efficient conduct of government.

Now it is being asserted that, while Bowles is a man of imagination and ability, he is not an administrator. If true, it seems strange this wasn't known earlier.

It is being announced that some of those who have been on the White House staff will occupy positions at the State Department now. One wonders why it took more than 10 months to find out that the Secretary of State either must be the boss or he becomes just one of a dozen advisers sitting around the President, who makes the final decision on foreign policy.

Sooner or later the American people will insist on continuity of government at the departmental level at least, and someday also they will sanction elections only at times when the national interest will not be imperiled.

They will favor a system that doesn't permit slow months of campaigning to interrupt public business but one that permits an instant change at the helm if desired.

Such a selection would be made—as in Britain and Canada—by the duly elected representatives of the people in the national legislature. They would choose as the nation's leader someone from the group of legislators who had already had leadership experience.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Exercises Should Help Loosen Muscles, Joints

Here are the details of a physical fitness program. It will help to loosen your joints, stretch your muscles and tendons.

Turn on your radio to a musical program that's to your liking. Now, standing before an open window, with or without clothes, put each joint through its normal range of motion.

And, do what you do slowly, but with maximum precision.

Beginning at the neck, turn your head to the right and then left, perhaps 10 to 20 times. Then chin-to-chest and chin-to-air. Then make a sort of circle with your chin.

Next get to work on your shoulders. With arms outstretched, force them back as far as they'll go and then cross them in front as far as they'll go.

Then, with your shoulders still outstretched, touch fingers to toes, and up and back as far as possible to limber the spine at the same time.

Next, still with arms outstretched, make circles, turn your head to the right and then left. And finish with the upper half of your body by hitting your shoulders with clenched fists. Then, spread arms and fingers as far out as they'll go as if you were a candidate appealing for votes.

Now get to work on your lower extremities. Put your hands over your lower ribs. Then, as you blow out all the breath you can, crush the rib cage in as far as possible. And, when that's done, hook your fingers under the cage and open it up as far as you can while you expand your lungs to capacity.

For your leg work, you'll need apparatus. Holding on to the chair with one hand, loosen hips by raising and lowering first one leg and then the other with knees stiff. Then to the side. And then the natural circle.

Now, with one hand on the chair and the other on the bed, squat down as far as you can and then straighten your knees as far back as they'll go. And finish off the standing exercises by rising up on heels and back on toes.

Finally, lie on top of your bed or couch with hands clasped behind head. Point toes up as high as you can and then bend them down and at the same time make believe you are trying to pick up something with them.

For a copy of Dr. Hyman's leaflet, "What About Making of the American," send it to the Editor, The Pontiac Press.

His mother was left a widow with several small children, so she did odd jobs in the lowa village to keep her youngsters together.

But the going was tough. They barely had enough to eat. And a Christmas was near.

Young Charley, who was then in the early grades at school, longed for many wonderful gifts.

But his stocking was empty. He sneezed it clear to the tip. In a faint hope something, even though tiny, might have been left for him.

That was probably the low point in his life. Disconsolate, he wandered down the village street. The hardware merchant saw his dejected look.

"Come here, Charley," he called, "I have a Christmas present for you."

Too excited to believe his own ears, Charley sped over to the store.

"Look at that case full of pocket knives," said the merchant. "Take your pick. You may have any one you wish."

Charley was overcome with surprise and also uncertainty. For the knife that looked most

Voice of the People:

'Why Do Some Feel We Must Either Fight or Surrender?'

I am a 19-year-old boy and am now a member of the United States Navy Reserve aboard an aircraft carrier. I want to do all I can to help protect the people I know and love and to protect my country.

A question comes up in my mind along with a lot of others. Being away from home, a lot of the guys have their home town paper sent. They hope to read about the good things which are happening at home. Instead they read how a lot of people want the United States to go to war or surrender to the Soviets because they feel this is the only way the difficulties can be settled.

If this is the way they feel, then why have we ever fought any war? We have fought so people would be free and that America would be a safe place to live.

A war is not a pretty sight. It causes death during and after. It causes waste of money, time and materials. Many people remember the last big war and the effect on everyone.

Maybe someone that reads this can help me find a reason. Write and let me know so that maybe I can see why there are people that want to see death and possibly total destruction of the world which may be a result of another war, or the possibility of living as prisoners under the Soviet Union.

I am a young person and I want to live a long life, but as long as there are people who want a war or else to give up completely it will be impossible.

Please send your answer to me.

Book Controversy Sparks Interest

Is the author of a book excused for using a profane word by his characters, when he is held accountable to God for the same language? "Every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment. For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned."

I would be a hypocrite to allow my children to read such literature. Furthermore, I would be a poor American not to object. Thank God for men like the Rev. Somers.

Robert Vogel

3421 Mann Road
A few people are attempting to remove our great classics from the shelves of our school. As a student of the University of Northern Iowa, I am sure these books are obscene and immoral.

People should think back to the last time they gave their children money for the show, and what show they saw.

Decent people who want to clear up bad reading should start with the magazines at the corner drug stores.

I praise the interest the 12 Pontiac high school parents have taken in their children.

Examine the type of magazines and movies that our children are absorbing. The sensational treatment of violence and sexuality, in this media of communication, is poison.

All God-fearing people should speak out. Destroy morals and you destroy the future of our country.

Laverne W. Bueche

Congratulations on your excellent editorial concerning the books which have caused objections from what I feel are a minority group of our local citizenry.

As he fastened his eyes on that showcase full of wonderful knives, he still had much to move.

"Go ahead, Charley," urged the merchant. "I said you could pick any one you wish. Take the best you can find."

And with that final remark, Charley got up nerve enough to select the knife with the chain.

He blurted out his thanks, and the hardware merchant, he fastened the knife to his belt.

Then he strutted up and down the street, walking on a Christmas goose.

HEAVEN'S HEROES

"Do you know," he added wistfully as I visited with him not long ago at the Chicago Temple, "I am sure that hardware dealer will be in heaven."

"And he will be one of the first human beings I shall look for after I pass the pearly gates."

"He taught my morals when it was at an all time low, and lifted me to the pinnacle of a life's happiness. I have never forgotten."

Retiring Chief of CIA Receives Visit From JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy dropped in at the Central Intelligence Agency to pay his respects to its retiring director, Allen W. Dulles. Kennedy flew by helicopter on Tuesday from the White House to the CIA's headquarters at Langley, Va., to join in an unheralded ceremony for Dulles, 68, who leaves his post today. The Chief Executive awarded Dulles the National Security Medal for distinguished service in the field of intelligence.

Ophthalmologist Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Joseph E. Willets, 101, founder of an eye, ear, nose and throat hospital in Pittsburgh, died Monday after a long illness. His entire career as an ophthalmologist was spent in Pittsburgh and he came to Los Angeles upon retirement 18 years ago. He was born in Millersburg, Pa.

Actor Fined in Crash

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Carlton G. Young, 53, known for his radio portrayal of "The Count of Monte Cristo," was fined $500 and placed on two years probation Tuesday for felony drunken driving.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS

1 OUT OF 3 DOES
Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... only parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W Tablets do... and here's how they do it: First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily. Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... a small, easy-to-take tablet—special sizes for children and adults.

First in Three-Part Series

Apathy Toward TB May Mean Tragedy for Many

EDITOR'S NOTE: One of the toughest battles in Michigan is that of tuberculosis. This is the first installment of a series of articles on the disease and the efforts of health authorities to make it less of a threat.

LANSING (AP)—Is tuberculosis for half a century the toughest enemy of the public health, "on the ropes" in Michigan.

That's what some authorities are saying despite these facts:

1. On six of every seven days this year, someone in Michigan died of tuberculosis.
2. Deaths this year will boost the state's tuberculosis toll since 1900 to about 132,500, nearly 10 times the number of Michigan men who died in combat in World War I and World War II combined.
3. Nearly 5,000 tuberculosis victims are undergoing extensive treatment in Michigan hospitals.
4. Hundreds who should be in hospitals are unaware they are spreading the disease.
5. An estimated 1.5-million people have some time been infected with tubercular germs.
6. Despite the expenditure of millions of dollars in research, scientists have failed to find an effective mass vaccine.

Yet there is talk of "eradicating" tuberculosis as a major public health problem in Michigan and the United States in the next decade.

Those who say it can happen, like Charles H. Baker, president of the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, qualify their prediction with:

"If the public remains vigilant."

Others, like Dr. Albert Heustis, state health commissioner, say: "Talk of eradication by a specific date in the near future borders on the fantastic. In the future, we ought to talk about control and forget about this word 'eradication'."

MUST KEEP WORKING

Both agree that hope for "eradication" or "control" depends upon intensified activity.

Both warn against a "lull" in Michigan Department of Agriculture statistics on tuberculosis in cattle bear out the need for vigilance.

Prior to the war years, the state reduced bovine tuberculosis to acceptable U.S. standards to a rate of less than one-half of one per cent. Then there was a "relapse" attributable, TB authorities say, to lack of manpower and lack of interest.

By 1959, the rate increased to 1.58 per cent, and only by intensive effort has the state again begun to cut back the infection rate.

ON VENEREAL DISEASE

Dr. Heustis cites, as another example, a relaxed public attitude toward venereal disease. A decade ago, health authorities in Michigan were pleased by reduction in the number of cases in this category. There followed a period of public apathy. Now the trend is up again. The same threat overhangs tuberculosis, Dr. Heustis says.

The fight has been successful this far with TB deaths in Michigan reduced from 3,612 in 1918 to only 330 last year and an estimated 320 this year.

He calls the reduction "the result of a determined and conscientious effort on the part of public health and medical personnel, lawmakers, TB associations and the public in general."

He points out that in 1900 approximately 90 per cent of those who contracted the disease died; then adds:

State Department of Health records show that last year 4,127 new cases of tuberculosis were discovered in Michigan, Dr. Heustis said. This year the figure promises to be only slightly lower.

There is a solemn story behind the statistics. Like few other diseases, tuberculosis, which still kills more persons than all other infectious diseases combined, shatters "the family circle."

Next: Case History of Michigan TB families.

JFK Plans on Two More Divisions

Draft Demands Likely to Stay High

WASHINGTON (AP)—Draft calls likely will stay at a relatively high level—and may go even higher—if the Army is increased by two regular divisions.

Pentagon sources said Tuesday the White House informally has agreed with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's recommendation that the regular Army be swelled from 14 to 16 divisions. Congressional approval would be needed.

Money to man and equip the two new divisions—perhaps as much as $250 million—probably will be included in the budget President Kennedy sends to Congress in January for the bookkeeping year starting next July 1.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said the Senate Armed Services Committee which he heads will make a careful investigation early in January of the defense build-up.

The Army, under the impetus of the Berlin situation, already has strengthened to 16 divisions, but two are National Guard outfits that under present law cannot remain in federal service beyond next October.

A division consists of about 13,500 men, not counting support units which may total twice that figure.

Counting 156,000 Guardsmen and reservists summoned to active duty this fall, Army strength has now reached about 1,060,000.

If approved by Congress, creation of two more regular divisions would mean a million-man army for some time to come.

At the outset of the Berlin military build-up, Kennedy told Congress last July he was ordering draft calls doubled and tripled in the coming months.

From a total of 6,000 men draft in July, the levy jumped to 13,000 in August, then to 25,000 in September, dropped to 20,000 in October and November and to 16,000 for December.

Since it would take time to organize the new regular divisions, it appeared likely the two Guard divisions—Wisconsin's 32nd Infantry and Texas' 49th Armored—would remain on active duty for most of the year permitted under a special congressional authorization. The Guard divisions were mustered on Oct. 15.

Ty Cobb Wanted His Cake to Eat...and to Keep

By BOR CONSIDINE
NEW YORK — Not long before he signed off, the immortal Ty Cobb dropped in to see his friend Lawton Carver, newspaperman, restaurateur, sportsman. Cobb was very blue. After a couple of drinks he became bluer than blue.

"I haven't got a friend in baseball," he said, as the tears began to come. "And you know why, Lawton. I out 'em whenever they got in my way. I kicked them, I gouged them, I did everything to them — to win those ball games. Now look at me. Friendless, absolutely friendless."

Carver let him weep for a time, then said, "Ty, if you had your life to live over again, would you do all those things?"

Cobb stopped the tears, blew his nose, glared at Lawton like an eagle and swore:

"You're damn right I would!"

Inn-keeper Conrad Hilton, speaking on the changing image of Uncle Sam abroad, recently told a convulsion of public relations men:

"With World War II came absolute world leadership. With its conclusion we accepted and pursued that leadership with distinction, in a fashion never before seen in human history. The Marshall Plan, the Point Four Program, the constant, unrelenting assistance to all the world should have given us the highest prestige, the most splendid image."

"But did it? Through the eyes of Europe, Asia and Africa, even South America, the face of America was seen distorted with lines of selfishness, self-interest and economic colonialism."

"... There are 111 nations in the world today. More than half of them are betting on Soviet Russia to come out on top. Why? Because they have done a better public relations job across the world than we have. We have grown used to our vision and have neglected our obligation to extend that vision to the world. The Communists, on the other hand, are running across the world shouting the 'good news' of a stale revolution. 'Marxism has had nothing to do with the industrial and technical progress of the Communist nations. Marx gave them the strategy of revolution, which is breaking down under 20th century scrutiny and experience.

"Lenin gave them the tactics of revolution. But it was Henry Ford as far removed from communism as is possible — who supplied the logistics.

"Without industrialization, the revolution would not have got off the ground. Ford's assembly line of production and distribution, geared to power, accuracy, economy, continuity, system, speed and repetition is what put teeth into the Lenin-Trotsky-Stalin revolution.

"The horrendous joke is really on us that the Soviet public relations machine has perpetrated such a huge hoax on the world."

"I am not denying their technical industrial progress; I commend them for it. But that Marxism had anything to do with it is about seven billion people, and only one in five will be white.

Hilton concluded with a fireworks display of challenging statistics:

"There are in the world today about three billion people. More than two out of three are colored. In the year 2000 there will be 40-year interval that we can all live together as brothers, no matter our race, color or belief. We should learn to live with them as brothers if there were only 100 colored in the world.

"If Russia and China are criteria, by the year 2000 all the nations of Asia and Africa will be industrialized and possessed of tremendous power."

"We must prove to them in the 40-year interval that we can all live together as brothers, no matter our race, color or belief. We should learn to live with them as brothers if there were only 100 colored in the world.

"But if we do not, I promise you they will rise in their might; as the oppressed peoples rose against Rome and utterly destroy us in their vengeance."

Doing Tricks With Old Cards Fun for Gifts

A first-rate stocking stuffer is a deck of crisp new playing cards or a did-it-myself gift made out of old playing cards.

New cards are always welcome. Dad will appreciate new playing cards to put in his lunch pail, mother to use at her next bridge party, and the children to entertain aunts and uncles with card tricks or to play games of Go Fish.

Old playing cards can be "gifted" additions to the Christmas cheer when transformed into useful presents.

One easy-to-do gift is a set of sandwich decorations made out of toothpicks, each with two cut-out card faces glued around it.

You can decorate plain trays by pasting on old playing cards and shellacking to waterproof. Cover worn-out or imperfect place mats with playing card borders as a gift for mother at her next luncheon party.

Decorate an empty coffee can with playing cards, fill with bridge mix and mail to grandmother. You also can new playing cards to a felt bridge cover as a decorative fringe.

What is a

PLIOHIPPIUS?

A Pliohippus is an extinct mammal, the ancestor of the modern horse.

The science of paleontology, the study of ancient life on the globe, is constantly revealing facts pertinent to a better understanding of life on the earth today. Yet many potential scientists may never pursue this subject because they may never go to college. Already many colleges are overcrowded and in 10 years applications will double. We will need more and better college laboratories and thousands more of the highest quality professors.

Abby Says: QUIT HIM

He's Allergic to Rice

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What would you say about a man who has taken up a woman's time for 14 years "talking" about marriage, but using every excuse in the book to avoid it?

That is the story of my life, Abby. First, he couldn't leave his widowed mother. After she died he came down with allergies, and it took him two years of doctoring to discover he was allergic to rug weed and sunflower seeds.

Now when I get after him to set a date he drives me around to "look at" houses and to "pick out" furniture, but that's as far as it goes. I will be 40 soon, and he is 46. Do you see any hope for marriage here? Please help me.

TIRED OF WAITING

DEAR TIED: Your boy friend still has an "allergy"—orange blossoms. Give him until Christmas to marry you. If you wind up with a stocking full of excuses, accept the fact that this man is "I do-proof," and act accordingly.

DEAR ABBY: We have an office problem that has become impossible for us to cope with. Just how do you handle a 20-year-old female idiot? She "hates" men unless they can dance. She bought a pair of shoes and, upon returning to the office, discovered they were both for the left foot, but she wore them dancing that night anyway because they were "new."

One morning she came to work and tried for at least 30 minutes to light an electric heater with a match before someone told her it was electric.

A Cosmetic Camouflage Is Possible

If you feel that your nose is too large, you can camouflage its prominence with the correct use of make-up.

According to a famous beauty authority, if your nose is a trifle too long or wide, wear your hair in a style that will help balance the appearance of your features.

Refrain from wearing bangs low on your forehead as this will only emphasize the size of your nose. Check rouge extended toward the nose will also point up its size, so always blend the color outward toward the hairline. Pluck eyebrows so that they are slightly wider apart than you usually wear them. Brows which are close together add length to the nose.

Use this same darker shade to diminish the size of a wide nose by shading along the sides and blending into the color of your facial make-up. Concentrating eye shadow the outer half of each eyelid, and wearing lipstick in a slightly wider lip pattern, will also help to minimize the size of the nose.

WORKING GIRL: I think $100 a month is a fair figure. And pay them while you are away unless it's a cold-blooded business proposition. In which case a 50 per cent reduction during your vacation seems reasonable.

Several months of intensive committee work will be culminated when the women of St. Luke's Methodist Church stage their bazaar all day Friday at the church. Adding finishing touches to a pom pon poodle for the Christmas booth are (from left) Mrs. Arthur Birkett, Joy Road, and Mrs. Trueman McDonald, Featherstone Road. Mrs. James Gilloe, Boyd Street, displays a colorful clown.

Churchwomen Plan Bazaar

The women of St. Luke's Methodist Church will present a bazaar from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday in the church.

Mrs. James Gilloe, general chairman, is being assisted by Mrs. Beecher Rossman and Mrs. James Clunk. A gaily decorated Christmas booth will be supervised by Mrs. Glenn Weiler and Mrs. Ruth Davis. Mrs. Phyllis Smith is in charge of stuffed toys.

Chairmen for a 11:30 a.m. luncheon are Mrs. Trueman McDonald, Mrs. Arthur Birkett and Mrs. Milton Walters. Dining room chairmen are Mrs. L. G. Fidler and Mrs. James Rollin who is also publicity chairman.

Completing the committee list are Mrs. Earl Morrow and Mrs. George Scheppelmann, baked goods, and Mrs. Dennis Burtch, home-made candy.

Planning Bazaar Friday

Things to eat and things to wear, toys, records and books will be available at First Congregational Church Women's Fellowship's annual holiday bazaar Friday. The affair will open at 10 a.m. and continue through early evening.

Dinner will be served from 5 to 7 p.m. under the chairmanship of Mrs. James Absher, Mrs. Carl Leonard and Mrs. Wilbur Ott. A carte luncheon from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. will be prepared by Mrs. Edsel Malldin and Mrs. Stanley Kipp. Dining room chairmen are Mrs. Elwood Bigler and Mrs. Sydney Baer. Mrs. Cecil Bondurant is ticket chairman.

The "kitchen" table with aprons, linens and soft toys will be managed by Mrs. Norman Feet. A "hearth n' home" booth will be under the supervision of Mrs. James Clarke who plans a display of antiques, art treasures and "objects d'art."

The confectionery booth "sweets n' such" will be handled by Mrs. Keith Landman. An old fashioned "kitchen" assortment under chairmanship of Mrs. A. W. Robinson will offer home-baked delicacies.

All-day snacks in the "bits n' bites" booth will be sold by Mrs. Earl Ottavio. The church's Youth Group will sell used books and records.

Shopping mothers may leave their small children in the "kiddies' corner," supervised by Mrs. John Feltes. Shoppers also will find inexpensive items in Mrs. Bondurant's "this n' that" booth.

A "Sew n' Sew" booth with a display of hand-made dolls and other items is planned for First Congregational Church's Friday bazaar. Eying a bright red holiday hostess apron held by Mrs. Sydney Baer, Pine Bluff Street, are (from left) Mrs. George Gaches, Moreland Avenue; Mrs. Wilbur Ott, Oakshire Avenue; and Mrs. Edsel Malldin, Joslyn Avenue.

U.N. Issues Discussed at Luncheon

Problems of the United Nations were discussed by Mrs. Sam Siskow at a luncheon meeting of Temple Beth Jacob Sisterhood, Tuesday in the Temple social hall. Mrs. Herman Stenbuck gave the invocation.

A national board pin, given by the president, Mrs. Harold Chapman, was presented to Mrs. Irving Steinman, who served four years on the national board.

REPORT ON CONVENTION: Mrs. Nathan Herschfield and Mrs. Martin Kabeenell reported on the recent National Biennial Convention of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations in Washington, D.C. Over 900 women were registered.

The Temple Beth Jacob Sisterhood received honorable mention for the Interfaith Institute sponsored by the local group for church youth groups, and again for having met the Sisterhood's Shares Quota.

Earl M. Warren, Chief Justice, U.S. Supreme Court was the keynote convention speaker.

TO DISCUSS ANTHOLOGY: Rabbi Nathan Herschfield will discuss the "Anthology of Yiddish Stories" at the Oreg Shabbat Dec. 2 in the home of the Alvin B. Steinhams on Colrain Drive, Waterford Township.

A Chanukah luncheon, followed by a play by children of the religious school, is scheduled for Dec. 10. This holiday is the Festival of Lights.

"An Evening in Paris" theme has been selected for a dance at the Temple on Jan. 20.

The meeting closed with benediction by Mrs. Sherwin Birkenrant.

Founder of SOS Villages

Childless Man Plays Father to 2,000

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK (UPI)—Hermann Gmeiner has no children of his own. But thanks to his big heart and the generosity of millions over the world, he plays a father role to some 2,000 youngsters.

Gmeiner, an Austrian, is the founder and director of the SOS children's villages, a family-type educational program where the parentless child finds a permanent home, with "mother," "brother" and "sisters." Each village consists of charming little one-family houses.

Gmeiner, 42, a bachelor and veteran of World War II, explained the privately supported program during his first visit to the United States where he hopes to set up a "model" village. Just where, he wasn't yet sure.

"I would like eventually to see villages established in every country of the world," he said. "The whole idea is to provide the child as nearly a normal family environment as is possible. That is why there never are more than eight or nine children in each home."

Many of the children otherwise "would almost by fate end up as delinquents," without someone's assistance, Gmeiner said. One child now with the village had been in 20 foster homes by the time he was 10; another, at the age of 3 had been shuttled from foster home to foster home 11 times.

Gmeiner spoke through an interpreter, Miss Eva Marie Kallir, who directs the crafts program for the children's village at Imst, in the Tyrol section of Austria.

The villages are supported in two ways — from "members," mostly Austrian, who donate what they can, sometimes only a sitting (four cents in U.S. money) per month, and from "sponsors" who pledge a definite $8 per month.

Gmeiner said members and sponsors number two million — many of them in the United States — and if I could go home with 200 more, I would call this trip most rewarding.

U.S. sponsors include school children, women's clubs and such service groups as the Rotary.

Most of the children are orphaned. Some have one parent dead, and the other financially unable to provide for the child. Others are the victims of desertion. And still others are refugee children.

All told, 1,000 children are cared for in Austria; another 1,000 in the other countries.

Gmeiner said additional villages were planned for Belgium, Denmark, England, West Germany, the Netherlands, Japan, Sweden and West Berlin.

The villages' population swelled after the Hungarian revolution of 1956, and now, Gmeiner said, refugees are coming in from Tibet which is under Red China control.

Sharon Winter Weds

MRS. JOHN E. CRADY JR.

Rev. Thomas Guest officiated at the marriage of Sharon Lee Winter to John E. Crady Jr., intercommunications electricians mate, third class, U.S. Navy, Saturday evening in the First Social Brethren Church.

The Joseph L. Winters of East Brooklyn Avenue were hosts at their daughter's reception in Walt Hall on Lapeer Road. The bridegroom is the son of John Crady of Orionville and the late Mrs. Crady.

Fashioned of white silk brocade, the bride's gown was styled with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls and she carried a semi-cascade of white carnations.

Sharon Kay Kinder who served as maid of honor, wore ballerina length salmon pink lace over tulle and held white and pink carnations.

Loren Mayhew of Orionville was best man. Lt. Oscar Lidstrom of Lockbourne AFB, Columbus, Ohio, seated the guests.

Leaving on a southern honeymoon en route to Charleston, S.C. where the bridegroom is stationed, the new Mrs. Crady was wearing a rust wool sheath dress and dark brown accessories.

Election of Officers on Group's Agenda

The Fellowship of Church Women of the Waterford Township Area will elect officers during a business meeting at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the Lutheran Church of the Ascension on Pontiac Lake Road.

Area churches wishing to participate in fellowship activities have been requested to send representatives to this annual meeting.

Devotions will be offered by the host church and refreshments also are planned.

Blue, chartreuse, lemon and orange have taken over. The whole family of oranges is one of the most popular in all collections shown by New York designers.

Quick One-Layer Cake Calls for Cocoa, Coffee

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor
Recently we had a recipe for an apple cake that called for coffee as one of the ingredients. Today's recipe is for a chocolate cake that uses coffee too.

Mrs. Andrew Jenkins is our cook today. New in the Pontiac area, she has not joined any organizations. Her hobbies are cooking and travel.

AUNT VERA'S CHOCOLATE CAKE
By Mrs. Andrew Jenkins
1 cup brown sugar

3 tablespoons cocoa
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup hot coffee
1 egg
1 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup buttermilk or sour milk
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
Pinch of salt
Mix brown sugar, cocoa, shortening and hot coffee. Add rest of ingredients to make a thin batter. Pour into greased 8x8 pan. Bake about 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Makes one layer.

Honor Couple Going to Congo for Mission Work

A reception hosted by the Loyal Philanthropic Class in the First Baptist Church honored the Hector MacMillan who leave soon for the Congo mission fields.

Edward Stapleton was master of ceremonies and Mrs. Stapleton served as refreshment chairman.

Presenting a humorous skit were Mrs. Pearl Hudson, Mrs. Frank L. Purgy, Inez Slater, Mrs. H. L. Bateman, Mrs. William Carls, Mrs. T. H. Beall, Mrs. Russell Mitchell, Mrs. Alma Fremed and Mrs. Leland Insko.

Mrs. Nellie Munro offered a vocal solo, with Mrs. Jessie Rodgers, accompanist. John Stapleton, Bob Dudley, Michael Marlon and Ronald Shelton harmonized in two hymns.

The MacMillan sextet composed of brothers Kenneth, Paul, David, John, Stephen and Timothy sang two songs, one in French. Ann Latona gave two readings.

The Saturday program closed with a trombone solo by Burl Whiteman.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

This week's Tailor Trix winner is Mrs. E. H. Lettler, Charlotte, N.C., with this suggestion:

"Dear Eunice,

"Because I have twin girls, I have double expense of keeping them attractively clothed without the chance of handing down outgrown clothing from one to the other. Therefore, I devised several ideas of my own for using outgrown clothing.

"I combine blouses that have become too short, with outgrown slips or petticoats. Cut a slip off at the place which will make it the proper length when combined with a blouse. Sew the two together and the result is a blouse-slip combination which eliminates the problem of a short blouse always coming out of the skirt band."

USE FUR ON SUIT

"Dear Eunice,

"I would like to add a fur collar to a suit I am making. I have a large piece of fur which could be used for the collar if you could give me a few tips on handling fur."

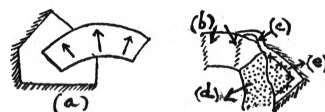

Mrs. K. P. T.

With a little care, it wouldn't be too difficult to make a fur collar to add to your suit. Trim the seam allowance from your pattern. The hairs of the fur must all go in one direction, which means that piecing is usually necessary. Mark your pattern, as illustrated, with arrows indicating the way the fur should run (a).

Cut each piece of the fur carefully, cutting pelt only, the hair of the fur should not be cut. Sew the sections together just barely catching the edges together with tiny whipping stitches (b). Use a strong, waxed thread and only join the pelts, the hair will conceal the seams.

The edges of the fur should be finished with a narrow cotton tape. Whip the outer edges to the edge of the pelt (c). The fur may be backed with lambswool and then covered with muslin in order to pad the fur (d). This padding will be held in place by catch-stitching the inner edge of the tape over (e).

Slip-stitch the edge of the tape to the collar of your garment. If the collar is large, you may also add a line of running stitches along center of collar to hold fur in place. This is done from the wrong side of collar.

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"I have just finished a suit and was so proud of it until I wore it for the first time. I used the new very large buttons on it, and when the suit is buttoned, my blouse shows through the end of the buttonhole. What did I do wrong?"

Mrs. M. S.

I'm afraid there will be many women sharing your problem this year. If your pattern calls for the very large buttons, you will probably have no trouble. However, if you are adding large buttons to an old pattern, you will have to make an additional allowance for them.

The center front of your garment is never changed. In order to find the minimum allowance necessary for the large buttons, measure the width of the button. Take half the width of the button, plus 1/2 inch.

This is the space needed from the center front to the seamline (not the cut edge of garment). Remember to add the same amount to the facing. You will probably need a small hook and eye at the edge of the coat so it will lay flat at the collar.

If your garment is top stitched about 1 inch from the outer edge, or if you are using a very wide binding, you will also need extra allowance between the center front and the edge of your garment. It wouldn't look attractive to have the button cover this detail. Please send your questions and suggestions to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Dirt Damages

Research at the California Experiment Station of the U.S. Department of Agriculture proves that sunlight is less likely to damage clean curtains than soiled ones.

This is an "official" reason why it's smart to buy washable curtains and to launder them often in plenty of soap or detergent suds.

It Wasn't Necessary to Stand

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: Last evening, the senior class of my daughter's high school put on a play in the school auditorium. Parents and friends were invited. The play was an historical one and during one of the scenes the National Anthem was played.

Half of the audience rose and the other half remained seated. Later there was much discussion about this, and those who remained seated were severely criticized by those who stood up.

Will you please tell us who was right — those who stood or those who remained seated?

A: When the National Anthem is played to the audience either at the beginning or end of a play, everyone must, of course, stand. When a few bars of the National Anthem are heard as part of the action of a play or moving picture, it is not necessary for the audience to stand.

THERE'S NOTHING WRONG

Q: In making up my Christmas card mailing list I have included several personal friends and professional acquaintances who are of the Jewish faith. Since Christmas is not observed by the Jewish people, would it be in bad taste to send them Christmas greetings?

A: There is nothing wrong in sending Christmas cards to Jewish friends unless they have indicated they do not care for them. We take great pleasure in receiving holiday cards from our Jewish friends and boxes of candy, coconut and lichi nuts from our Confucian friends.

Q: When a stranger is introduced to a roomful of others, must she acknowledge each introduction separately or merely smile and every so often say, "How do you do?" Saying this after each name has been mentioned sounds rather stupid.

A: One "How do you do" is enough. After that just smile and bow slightly to each, and perhaps say, "How do you do" once or twice with your lips.

Baby's Not Fussy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Baby, during his first year of life, has only two requirements for clothing: cleanliness and warmth, the National Baby Care Council said.

Baby's needs can be met best by a minimum of clothes that allow for growth, are easy to put on and take off, are washable and durable. The council said overdressing baby makes him fussy.

Horned toads are protected in New Mexico and anyone who kills, sells or transports one of the species is subject to a fine of $100 or an alternative of up to 90 days in jail.

Keep Board Clean

If your ironing board must be stored in a utility closet along with floor mops and dust cloths, keep it "slipcovered" with a long, plastic or paper dress bag. Keeping its cover clean will prevent household dirt from rubbing off onto freshly-laundered clothes.

Men Resent Businesswomen

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Women have to learn to cope with the fact that men resent women in business, says the national president of an association of businesswomen.

If men resent a woman in business it is usually because she tries to be a businessman instead of a woman in business.

In her drive to get to the top, such a woman begins to think like a man, talk like a man, gives orders like a man—and then wonders why men seem to resent her.

TAKING WRONG APPROACH

The woman who is every bit as feminine at work as she is in her own home has no such problem with men. Instead of telling them—she asks them. Instead of trying to think like them, she goes right on depending on her feminine intuition to give her an edge. Instead of being a "no nonsense," "strictly business" kind of woman she makes full use of her feminine charm.

Men don't resent working with feminine women. They love it. For a feminine woman knows how to listen as well as talk, knows enough not to show a man up or hurt his pride, knows that her real value to any concern is her ability to think like a woman—NOT like a man.

LOOK AT SELF

So any woman who feels that the men she works with resent her shouldn't blame the men for that unhappy state of affairs. Instead she ought to take a good, close look at herself.

Chances are she has been trying to win the men's admiration and respect by trying to be "just as good as a man" at her job.

If she would just try being as good at her job as a woman—she would find the world of business much more rewarding.

If any of her men associates ever tell her that she "thinks like a man" she ought to take it as a warning—not as a compliment.

Don Dressy Sweater for Party

DAZZLING

Aside from being toasty warm, the new sweaters offer real dazzle. One hooded cardigan has a detachable hood of lace with the lace repeated on the sweater in appliques.

Angora is back in fashion favor. The white angora sweater is the neatest thing to the softness of a snowfall. And in this day of co-ordinates, it's easy to blend or match a skirt to a sweater.

Such sweaters aren't confined, of course, to such evenings. With the lace hood removed, the cardigan can go places, daytimes, too. The dazzling clip or earrings you'd wear at night can be replaced next day by lacy gloves.

The classic cardigan set is, this winter, anything but classic in styling. A straight, chic little jacket tops a sleeveless sweater. Together, they make a great team.

And the sleeveless sweater can appear alone now and again next summer. This is something to think about in terms of a good buy. Jacket, too, can carry on in the warm months.

18 Win at Bridge

Fifteen tables of players participated in the monthly masterpoint game of the Pontiac Duplicate Bridge Club Monday evening in the Hotel Waldron.

Winners were Mrs. Melvin Small and Bruce Corryell; Mrs. Perry Brunk and Edwin V. Clark; Mrs. Norma Keller and Dr. Robert Segula; Mrs. Lionel Thompson and Mrs. Edward Duff; Mrs. Earl Waterman and Tom Landis; Henry Georgia and John Boren; Mrs. Robert Segula and Ernest L. Guy; Mrs. Jerome Fanger and David E. Uley; Joseph Nouse and Al Wallace.

Sorority Hears World-Trip Talk

Oakland County Post Club was the setting for the Alpha Sigma Nu Sorority meeting Monday evening.

Mrs. Paul Kern gave "Around the World Impressions" from a four-month air tour of 24 countries. She was accompanied by Mr. Kern. A week in Tokyo at the International Rotary Club convention was a highlight of the trip.

Hostesses were Mrs. Elra Anderson, Charabelle Andison, Mrs. J. K. Hevey and Mrs. Harold Dickman.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bucher, J. K. Hevey, Harold Dickman, Leonard McKinley, Mrs. Maynard Peters, Mrs. Elmer Huntley and Mrs. William K. Christie.

Dancers to Be in Detroit

Merce Cunningham, leading figure in contemporary dance, will bring his dance company to Detroit on Tuesday as the first offering of The Detroit Institute of Arts concert series.

John Cage, composer, and David Tudor, known as America's "far-out" pianist, will perform with the company.

The concert is presented in connection with the exhibition of futurist paintings and sculpture appearing at the institute through Dec. 10.

Cited in Dance Magazine's sixth annual awards as a dance innovator, Mr. Cunningham has as his partner the skilled Carolyn Brown. The company has performed in Venice, Berlin, New York and on transcontinental tours to high critical acclaim.

Tickets are available in the museum and at Grinnell's downtown Detroit. Performance time is 8:20 p.m. in the auditorium of The Detroit Institute of Arts.

You can get into this pretzel shape with a little practice. The effort is worth it; this exercise is slimming to the waist, hips and tummy.

Help Hips, Thighs, Waist

New Exercises Save Time

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Life is so busy for everyone to day that it is essential to learn to cut corners, discard extra motions and confusion if we are to have any leisure time for self-improvement.

Realizing that modern women lead complex lives, I designed my Combination Exercises. These exercises are corrective to more than one figure defect. This exercise is for the hips, thighs and waist.

Sit on the floor with your legs straight and your feet together. Place your hands on the floor a little behind you for support. Lift your left hand from the floor and place it on the floor by your right hand as you roll your body to the right so that your weight rests on the right thigh. Keep your elbows straight.

Take time to stretch the leg and hip muscles while in this position. Roll over onto the left side, placing both hands on the left side of your body. Continue, rolling from side to side and changing the position of your hands. Do this 25 times morning and night.

The following exercise is slimming to the waist, hips and tummy, but is more difficult to do. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor, extending straight out from your shoulders, palms against the floor, legs straight. Keep your hands on the floor and your knees stiff, as you swing your legs to the left and then to the right, like the pendulum of a clock.

Keep the heels close to the floor and bring the feet as close as you can to each hand at the edge of each swing.

If you have been annoyed by rolls over the girdle and bulges on the hips and thighs, or a pad of fat on the abdomen, take exercises as a daily habit.

If you would like a routine of time-saving exercises which kill two or more figure faults with one motion, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for my "Combination Exercises." Leaflet No. 5. Address: Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Friendship Night Held by Bethel

Some 100 guests attended the semiannual Friendship Night of Jobs Daughters, Bethel 40, Monday in Roosevelt Temple.

Mrs. Loren F. Thompson, guardian, and M. B. Holmes, associate guardian, opened the meeting with Nancy Newcomb, honored queen, and officers of Bethel 40 presiding.

Kathy Graham and April Davis played a piano duet arrangement of the "Exodus" theme.

Suzanne Welch, Jo Ann Emert and Karen Kirchmeyer were initiated by guest officers from Rochester, Pontiac, Farmington, Walled Lake and St. Clair Shores.

The honored queen's Goto Church Sunday will be observed at 10:30 a.m. this week at the Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church. Plans were made for selling decorative bath sponges.

Distinguished guests introduced were Pamela Tibbets, grand guide and Mrs. Lester Oles, grand chaplain. International Order of Jobs Daughters State of Michigan; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Granger, guardian and associate guardian, of St. Clair Shores; also past guardians of Bethel 40, Mrs. Oles and Mrs. Pritchard. Mrs. Harry Lunford, worthy matron of Arvema Chapter 503, Order of the Eastern Star, was also introduced.

Knit gloves for fall follow the fashion trend — right up the arm. Lambs wool and Orion sweater knits, which come in eight- and ten-button lengths, feature blading colors and easy care.

Just wash these gloves after every wearing by squeezing through cool-to-lukewarm soap or detergent suds and rinse.

Business Women Now 'Key Men'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The new departure in business: "key man" insurance for females holding mighty important jobs.

Business life insurance is bought primarily to protect a business against economic losses it might suffer if a key man — or woman — were to die. The Institute of Life Insurance said the development proves women are contributing to the "key" level of business.

Acts of Kindness Can Stir False Hopes

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A lady novelist once visited a boys' reformatory where I worked. Learning that the boy assigned to show her around had no relatives who acknowledged him, she felt so sympathetic that she asked permission to entertain him in her own home on weekends and holidays. With some anxiety the request was granted.

For a while the visits went well. Then one weekend she had to tell her guest he could not accompany her own children to a party because he had not been invited. He seemed to take this news in his stride but did not return to the reformatory.

It took three months to locate the transient and much longer than that to help him overcome the bitter resentment he felt toward the woman into whose kindness he had read a promise of solution to his homeless, unloved state.

I report this story for a Mrs. C who writes, "A young girl friend of my daughter has a very unhappy home. She has gotten into the habit of running to me after scenes with her parents who have now forbidden her to see me. I'm the only adult she trusts and am afraid to refuse to let her come to me even against her parents' wishes."

Are you prepared for resentment in this troubled girl when she discovers that you cannot solve her problems for her?

PEOPLE TOO KIND

"Kind" people are often unaware of the expectations their kindness arouses in those who are suffering from great emotional stress.

We can so enjoy our own charity that we can't see how the weakened dependor on it glorifies our intentions toward him. Then the inevitable happens.

The distressed person discovers that our kindness is not enough. We are unable to give him the magic solution he expects of us. He glimpses the terrifying truth that he is responsible for his own life and can be flung into a despairing hate of us that is too big for him to handle.

This is common human experience. A loved person dies—and we hate God. That we ourselves have pledged God to a promise to spare us the experience of helplessness never occurs to us—any more than it occurred to the boy of this column that he had invested a kind stranger with the power to justify the pain and humiliations of his past.

Whether you should continue to see this girl against her parents' wishes, I can't tell you. I can only warn you against a kindness that implies you are the answer to her distress.

By mistaken kindness we can actually sidetrack events that would force this family conflict into the open and get this child the professional help she needs to start facing herself instead of running to you.

City's Budget Estimates Could Mean More Taxes

Pontiac residents and property owners will be paying more taxes next year if the 1962 budget estimates and the total assessed valuation remain the same.

A proposed 1962 budget totaling $6,719,675 was submitted to the City Commission by administrators last night.

Commissioners will analyze the estimates and may make revisions before adoption is required in January. A public hearing on the proposed budget was scheduled for Jan. 23.

Walter K. Willman, retiring city manager, proposed that $4,019,675 be levied as property tax. If the total assessed valuation remains at $250 million, a tax rate of $13.66 per every $1,000 of assessed value will be required to raise the amount proposed.

The balance of $2.7 million is estimated as income from sources other than taxes. This includes $650,000 from the city's unappropriated surplus to be used as a balancing figure.

This proposal is approximately $147,806 higher than the budget for 1961 as approved.

TAX MONIES HIGHER

The amount to be raised by taxes is $60,475 higher than the amount raised this year.

"This increase is caused by increased supply cost and the cash requirements to meet normal step increases in the pay plan for city employees," Willman said in his annual budget message.

The message was on paper. Willman and his successor, Assistant City Manager Robert A. Sherrer, are attending the annual convention of the International City Managers' Association in Miami Beach.

The anticipated income from sources other than taxes is about $67,331 more than this year.

The allocation for capital improvements would remain at $855,000—the same as in 1961.

Proposal Takes a Swing at Apportionment Problem

LANSING (AP) — The old problem of apportionment had another new answer at the constitutional convention today.

Delegate William F. Hanna, R-Muskegon, Tuesday proposed electing legislators from districts keyed to population within areas with common social, economic and geographic characteristics.

Under the plan, members of both the House and Senate would be elected from individual districts to four-year terms.

As a starting point, Hanna recommended 15 social-economic-geographic areas (SEGAS). These would be "areas having general social and economic unity," he said.

Under the Hanna proposal, the Upper Peninsula would be divided into three SEGAS, and the Lower Peninsula into 12. Each would elect at least one senator and one representative, depending on population, but none of the areas would be allotted more than half the state senators.

One senator would be elected for each 2 1/2 per cent of the state's population — and each SEGAS would get at least two senators if it had more than 3 per cent of the state's population.

One representative would be elected for each 1 per cent of the state's population, with an area getting at least two if it had more than one per cent.

AFTER EACH CENSUS

The secretary of state would determine after each decennial census how many senators and representatives were to be allotted each of the 15 areas.

A representative of each of the major political parties and the State Board of Canvassers would redraft the area into House and Senate districts, Hanna said.

He also proposed that the Legislature be authorized to redraw the areas in 1975 and every 25 years thereafter—but that no such area should ever have less than three or more than eight counties and that the number of SEGAS be limited to 15.

California uses 16 per cent of the hired farm labor in the U. S., more than any other of the states.

It Is Earlier Than You Think, So Think Young

BY PHYLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK—One day you wake up to the fact that your hair is quite gray. You realize that your children are about marriage age.

Your hips are a little wider, your crown's feet are a little longer, and your memory's a little shorter.

It happens to everyone, at some time—the birth of the sinister idea, "I am getting old."

But wait. It is not necessarily so. By official decision of the N.Y. State Joint Legislative Committee on Aging, all you need is a girdle, a beauty treatment and an improved state of mind. Because, quote the committee, you are not old unless:

YOU FEEL OLD?

You feel old.

You feel you have learned all you need to learn.

You find yourself saying, "I'm too old for that."

You feel that tomorrow holds no promise.

You find no amusement in youth's fun, and their banter irks you.

You would rather talk than listen.

You long for the good old days, sure that they were the best.

You won't help your neighbors, friends or community.

You have no plans for tomorrow.

You would rather win an argument than be right.

Now—do you feel better? Or are you certain that the committee's check list is wacky?

In that case, get out the cane and give up the ghost. Either that, or take a last fling at recapturing a mental rejuvenation by buying a book called "Stay Young Longer."

Despite its cliché title, which smacks (to me) of traveling medicine men, this is an extensive encyclopedia of the latest medical and philosophical news on keeping yourself mentally and physically youthful.

Author Linda Clark is not a housewife or geriatrician spinning fancy subjective ideas (as so many other authors on the subject have been).

KNOWS HER STUFF

She's a deep-rooting reporter—her bibliography is spread over a lengthy 26 pages, tiny type—who has delved into every facet of the aging process from split fingernails and baldness to the loss of love and the will to live.

She discloses, and exposes, current theory on nutrition, cosmetics (what is royal bee jelly really like?), religion, psychiatry, hormones—and their effects on longevity.

The book offers no easy route to the Ponce De Leon path, but it will take your mind off your problems and set you to work solving them.

Since there is strong evidence that "worry kills more people than work"—we suggest you trudge on down to your bookstore, keeping your double chin up.

It is earlier than you think.

Women are rather like the weather—something to be discussed by dull people, cursed at with regularity, foreboded when very hot or presenting a cold front, and declared "not what they used to be" by grandpa.

Like inclement weekends, women are to be raved at, but not done anything about.

Women are unforecastably bright, windy, shady, seasonable, unseasonable, and decidedly monsoonal when you criticize them.

They are unpredictable at times, even by experts. On other occasions, the most inexperienced man can feel in his bones, what they're going to do.

Drizzly one moment, sunny the next, they are a constant elemental force which all the men and money on earth still cannot dominate.

At any rate, that is what husbands say, writers write, poets purr, lovers sigh and women, themselves admit.

Yet hundreds of surveys over dozens of years tell the same preposterous story . . . one of them lies before me this minute . . . "In a study of 2,500 men, it was revealed today that bachelors are not as happy as married men."

Which proves that men who don't know enough to come in out of the rain know what they're doing. They figure it's more fun being occasionally uncomfortable than frequently bored.

Someone has defined an alarm clock as a mechanism used to scare the daylight into you.

Beginner's luck is when a guy gets a car and a parking space in the same day.—Earl Wilson.

Shelter Boom Poses Problem to Packagers of Foods

NEW YORK (AP)—Mounting public interest in fallout shelters and nuclear survival poses a delicate problem for the nation's food processors and packagers.

Should they take advantage of this interest by promotional campaigns extolling the merits of their products as foods for survival in the event of a nuclear war?

Or would this do them more harm than good in an era of uncertainty over whether Americans will be forced to live and eat underground?

As businessmen, they are interested, of course, in selling more canned, bottled, frozen, packaged and other processed food. But, almost to a man, they say they don't want to be put in the position of being accused of frightening people into filling their cellars with canned goods.

"We do not want to take advantage of fear psychosis," is the way one put it.

Pasadena Coed Selected 73rd Rose Bowl Queen

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Shapely, brown-haired Martha Sissell, a psychology major at Pasadena City College, today was selected queen of the 73rd Tournament of Roses.

The 18-year-old freshman woman, out of 2,200 City College coeds for the traditional honor, was chosen by the Tournament of Roses Association.

Miss Sissell, a 5-foot-7, brown-eyed beauty, says she enjoys baking cookies, reading, keeping a scrapbook, swimming, golf and football.

Her next Wisconsin congressman to arrive for a look will be Rep. Melvin Talbot, another Republican, who plans to fly to Ft. Lewis Dec. 4. Then, on Dec. 6, other members of the delegation are expected.

The inspections are the result of complaints that the division was short of food, clothing and equipment.

O'Konski left saying the 32nd was a "hot division," short of supplies and with absolute weapons, a large number of which would not operate.

Proxmire slowed through rain and mud Tuesday watching units of the 32nd practicing with mortars, machine guns and recoilless rifles, eating with the troops and questioning officers and men.

The senator said there were some reports of shortages, mostly of wet weather clothing and some weapons. But he said he would withhold comment until he reviewed his findings.

The head of the body, which had been missing since the torso and legs were discovered Monday, was found Tuesday in the apartment of Mrs. Howard's estranged husband, police said.

They were seeking James L. Howard for questioning. Neighbors told officers Howard had not been at the apartment for about two weeks.

Wisconsin Gls Get Attention

CONGRESSMEN VISIT MEN AT FT. LEWIS TO CHECK ON MANY COMPLAINTS

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—The second member of Wisconsin's congressional delegation is investigating conditions under which an Army division from Wisconsin is being trained.

Sen. William Proxmire began an inspection of this base and the 32nd Infantry Division, a former Wisconsin National Guard outfit, Tuesday.

Proxmire, a Democrat, plans to fly back to Wisconsin Thursday. His visit started just as an inspection by Rep. Alvin O'Konski, R-Wis., ended.

Tibetans Flee to Nepal

KATHMANDU, Nepal (UPI)—Hundreds of starving Tibetan refugees crossed into Nepal during one week recently because crops have been ruined by the severe winter, Foreign Minister Tshul-Gyre reported Tuesday.

John A. McGinnis, vice president-marketing of Campbell Soup Co., commented that many of a "truly substantial increase" in inquiries came from people who want to fill their shelters with long-familiar foods.

Our speculation is that in the environment of a fallout shelter, the individual apparently would prefer the security of foods which he knows and likes," he said.

Most don't know it, Campbell, like other companies, could give no estimate of how much of its sales could be traced to anxiety over the possibility of a nuclear war. Swift & Co., for example, reported a pickup in canned goods sales recently, but added: "We do not know if it is just the normal seasonal increase."

Again and again, survey replies stressed that the food firms do no advertising tying their products in with shelter life and plan no such campaigns.

A Hormel Co. spokesman noted, however, that some retailers have been plugging things like beef stew as a good shelter item.

An Armour & Co. spokesman gave this reason for not advertising its products for shelter use: "We have always tried to break down the idea that canned goods are an emergency product."

Prominent among the one-package composition foods is a General Mills Inc. product called Muffin Purpose Food (MPF), which has been sold to companies preparing shelter kits and is in the shelters of many large firms and all of the Federal Reserve Banks in the country.

A bland compound with a slightly nutty flavor, MPF is 90 per cent toasted soybean and can be eaten straight or mixed with water, milk, fruit juices, apple sauce, soup, jams or what have you.

Two ounces costing about three cents would be equal in nutritional value to 1/4 pound of beef, a dish of peas, a small potato and a glass of milk, the company says. A 4 1/2-pound tin will last one person for two weeks.

The product was the World War II brainchild of a Los Angeles restaurant operator, Clifford Clinton, who was trying to get enough food for his paying customers and those seeking "handouts." Now General Mills is associated with Meals for Millions, a nonprofit organization in Los Angeles, in producing and retailing MPF.

A General Mills spokesman in the California city said sales have jumped sharply since the shelter boom began.

A similar product is National Biscuit Co.'s survival ration crackers, which were developed at the request of the New York State Civil Defense Commission and offered to large firms, institutions and civil defense agencies with a minimum order of five tons. Recently, however, the firm said it would accept mail orders for a minimum of six 54-pound tins, enough to sustain two adults for two weeks.

Nabisco said it was too early to tell what public response might be, however.

U.S. GOV'T GRADED CHOICE TENDERAY BONELESS

Sirloin Tip or Rump Roast 89¢ LB.

Kroger's exclusive Tenderay cuts is what makes this great beef the favorite of so many. It's really quick aging. It gives U.S. Choice beef the kind of tenderness and "steakhouse" flavor usually found only in beef that has been expensively hung in aging rooms for several weeks or more.

Plan Some Christmas Food Gifts From Your Kitchen

Pontiac Press Home Editor
With Thanksgiving behind us, we turn our thoughts toward the Christmas season. In millions of homes across the nation kitchens are the scene of greatest activity. Men and children arriving home in the late afternoon are treated to tantalizing fragrances. Often they are told not to touch the goodies completed that day.

We like to give gifts from our kitchen to those who are unable to cook; to others who have done favors for us; and to still others just for fun. But we let the family sample first. And we try always to make some of their special favorites too.

You have probably made a confection from ready-to-eat cereal, melted marshmallows and butter. Here is a new version of it that uses orange juice for the flavoring. Mold the mixture in a buttered funnel to make little Christmas trees.

eat oat cereal or puffed oat and wheat cereal

1 can (6 ounce) frozen orange juice concentrate
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Funnel, about 3 1/2 inches in diameter, 3 inches tall

Measure cereal into buttered bowl. Combine orange juice, sugar, syrup, and butter or margarine in saucepan. Cook slowly until syrup reaches hard-ball stage (235 degrees). Pour syrup in fine stream over cereal and mix gently until cereal is evenly coated.

Fill buttered funnel with mixture; turn out onto waxed paper. Repeat to make 6 trees. Shape 6 bases, about 1 1/4-inch diameter and 1-inch high, using cereal mixture. Allow to harden.

Plunge a wooden stick into center of base, then push tree onto base. If desired, wrap in clear plastic film and tie at base with red ribbon. Yield: 6 trees.

Chutney, a spicy fruit mixture full of nuts, is customarily served with meat or poultry. Make up a batch of it and present some in a fancy jar to that career-girl home-maker. What you keep for yourself will taste that much better.

Apple Chutney

2 1/2 cups (1 can) sliced apples
1 cup light brown sugar
1/2 cup cider vinegar
1/2 cup sliced candied ginger
1/2 cup thinly sliced onion
1 cup seedless white raisins
1 teaspoon chili powder
2 teaspoons mustard seeds
1/2 cup diced pimiento
1 cup chopped walnut meats

Chop apples; combine with sugar, vinegar, ginger, onion, raisins, chili powder, salt, and mustard seeds. Bring to boil; simmer about 30 minutes. Add pimiento and nut meats. Makes about 2 1/2 cups.

We'll be giving you Christmas cookie recipes all during the next three weeks. Making them is one of our weaknesses, you may remember. This recipe sounds like an interesting new one to try.

Peppermint Topped Cookies

1 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon peppermint extract
3 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup crushed peppermint candies
2 squares (1 ounce each) unsweetened chocolate

Cream together shortening and sugar. Add eggs and peppermint extract. Blend. Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Add to shortening mixture. Blend well and divide into 2 parts. Fold peppermint candies into one, and melted chocolate into the other portion.

Form chocolate dough into small balls. Place on cookie sheet. Flatten slightly. With a teaspoon, spoon peppermint dough on top. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees). Note: Peppermint candies in cookies will harden after cooling.

Praline Sundae Sauce

1/2 cup unsulphured molasses
1/2 cup honey
1-16 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Blend together unsulphured molasses and honey. Stir in salt and vanilla. Turn into desired jar. To serve, spoon over ice cream. If desired, top with pecans. Yield: 1 cup sauce. Note: Recipe may be doubled or tripled.

Bread Pudding Has Caramelized Layer

Christmas seems to bring out the traditional in everyone and everything. And what's more wonderfully traditional than an old-fashioned bread pudding? Here's a new one to try for dessert sometime—Caramella Pudding.

To prepare, mix together 1 slightly beaten egg, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract and 1 cup milk. Add 2 1/2 cups enriched bread crumbs and 1/2-cup raisins. Mix lightly. Next prepare a caramel spread by creaming together 1/4 cup brown sugar and 1/4 cup butter or margarine until fluffy. Add 2 teaspoons water and blend thoroughly.

Spread the caramel mixture evenly in bottom of 8-custard cups. Spoon in the bread crumb mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 15 minutes. Turn out immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Waffle Delight

For an easy and delicious waffle that has that extra oomph, mix up a batch of pineapple waffle batter. To your favorite waffle batter, add 1/2 cup well drained crushed pineapple and a dash of ground cloves. Serve with a dollop of whipped cream topped with crushed pineapple if desired.

Try Swedish Style Haddock

Haddock fillets—the popular white-meat fish from the cold waters off New England shores—is on the National Fisheries Institute's plentiful list. For an excellent way to prepare the fillets of this tender fish, here is a recipe of Swedish origin that calls for poaching the fish with pickle slices for a subtle flavoring of dill.

To complete the menu with typically Swedish foods, serve parsnips, beet salad, pumpernickel or limpa bread and tiny dessert pancakes topped with lingonberries. (If you can't find canned lingonberries at your grocer's, canned blueberries or raspberries will be a good substitute.)

Pickle-Poached Haddock

1 pound haddock fillets, fresh or frozen
Salt and pepper
2 small onions, sliced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup sliced dill pickles
1 cup water
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
Chopped parsley

Thaw fish, if frozen. Sprinkle each fillet on both sides with salt and pepper. In a large skillet, cook onion until soft in 1 tablespoon of the butter. Add pickles, water and fish. Bring liquid to a boil. Reduce heat to a simmer. Cover and cook 6 to 10 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Remove fish to hot platter.

Mix the remaining 1 tablespoon of butter with flour and dry mustard and stir into liquid in pan. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Taste and add more salt and pepper, if needed. Pour sauce over fish and sprinkle with chopped parsley. Make 3 servings.

Foamy Gelatin Makes Use of Egg Whites

Extra egg whites in the refrigerator? You can use them in this dessert.

Fruit Slew

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
1 can (1 pound and 14 ounces) fruit cocktail
Dash of salt
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 egg whites
Soften gelatin in lemon juice. In a saucepan over low heat stir together 1/4 cup of the sugar, water and 1/4 cup of the fruit-cocktail syrup until mixture is very hot. Add softened gelatin, salt and grated lemon rind. Chill until the consistency of unbeaten egg white.

Beat egg whites until stiff; gradually beat in remaining 1/4 cup sugar; fold into chilled gelatin mixture. Chill until mixture will stand in peaks.

Fold in thoroughly drained fruit cocktail. Turn into 7 1/2-ounce (3/4 cup) custard cups. Chill. Serve in cups or turn out.

Wash Those Dillies in Big Plastic Bag

Lace dillies and other fragile accessories are elegant accents for a holiday table. But once the holidays are over, these once immaculate little things are probably as "exhausted" as you are!

Besides normal soil, they are vulnerable to holiday spots such as candle drips and cranberry and gravy stains.

Fragile accessories need special care. Wash them by submerging in a little container which eliminates handling and rubbing. Any "Plastic" shaker will do.

Fill the container three-quarters full of hot water, immerse the dillies, cap the container and shake. Then rinse thoroughly with clear warm water until the soiled sides are flushed away.

'Buy American' Policy Hushes Boudin's Role

Master French Decorator Doing Work for Jackie

BY RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — The English burned the White House, the Americans rebuilt it, and the French are now gliding the lily.

First Lady Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy, as thoroughly French in her heritage as the Kennedys are Irish, has summoned the master of all Parisian decorators to the White House this week.

S. Boudin of Jansen, Rue Royale, Paris, France, is to the world of interior decoration what Cartier is to the haute monde of diamonds—those gems that make best friends out of girls.

The esteemed gentleman who counts maharajahs, potentates, Du Ponts and nouveau riche among his far-flung clientele is spending two days at the White House this week in consultation with his "old friend" Jackie Kennedy.

Thanks to the "buy American" policy heralded by the New Frontier at the beginning of the Kennedy administration, nothing much is being said about Monsieur Boudin's new role.

He himself has been well-briefed. This correspondent, learning quite by chance of his impending arrival, used the long distance telephone to learn more of his plans. Monsieur was charming, courteous and cautious.

In his very best English, he replied: "I only go to the White House to help my old friend, Mrs. Kennedy, and to help the United States."

"I merely advise her; that is all. I am not supplying the actual work at the White House, because since it is American and I am French, that would not do, you know."

Boudin said he is aiding the First Lady in choosing materials, and giving her ideas in the redecoration of the President's mansion.

"I have worked with her before," he said. "I helped with her house in Georgetown. We are old friends."

SEVERAL TRIPS
Boudin said he has made several previous trips to the White House since Jacqueline became its chateau, and has performed similar advisory work for several of her close friends.

He mentioned one in particular, the Charles Wrightsmans, neighbors and friends of the Kennedys in Palm Beach. Mrs. Wrightsman has one of the finest collections of French antique furniture in America.

Jackie's ardent preference for French decor is not unique in White House annals. In fact, the only antiques of any real value at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. date from the administration of President James Monroe, who rebuilt and refurbished the mansion after the British sacking.

Monroe had twice served as our top envoy to France. On becoming president he created a furor in Congress by ordering a gilded bronze surmount of table, with elaborate matching candelabra and fruit baskets, which were designed by the finest Parisian artisans.

Every succeeding presidential family has blessed him, however, since the costly set has served as the centerpiece for practically all state dinners since.

BOWS TO CRITICS
Monroe sold the government his own fine furniture and silver, which he had bought from the exquisite homes of French aristocrats impoverished by the French revolution.

He also ordered charming French carved and gilded clocks, porcelain vases, gilt mirrors, bronze candelabra, and gilded hand-carved drawing room furniture, some of which still graces the White House today.

Because critics accused him of extravagance, Monroe bought back his own furniture from the government at the end of his term. It was a pity, because these are the kinds of antiques for which the First Lady is now scouring the country.

as much as Jackie and her arts committee have persuaded a number of wealthy citizens and commercial firms to donate antiques and services, in exchange for income tax deductions.

Uncle Sam loses the tax dollar, of course, but the voters gain a well furnished executive mansion. 'C'est la vie!'

Highway Dept. to Take Bids on Four Garages
LANSING (U) — Bids will be taken during the next three months for construction of four maintenance garages in St. Ignace, Adrian and Plainfield and west of Lansing, the State Highway Department said today. The total cost will be about $300,000, the department said.

Corn-Fed Beef"

In spite of the fact that the trend on the part of some of our major competitors is to lower their grade of beef, we feel that the whole meal is built around the meat course and therefore we refuse to lower the grade of beef sold in our stores. You will find in most cases our regular everyday prices on U. S. Government Graded Choice Beef to be equal to or less than those being charged for inferior ungraded beef elsewhere.

To Plan Youth Night in Waterford Area

The major topic to be discussed at the Waterford Township Community Activities, Inc., at 7:30 p.m. meeting tonight, will be to complete plans for a Youth Night Program.

Director Robert Bauer explained, "This youth program is set up to provide the teenagers of Waterford Township and surrounding communities with wholesome recreational activities."

The semi-monthly program is tentatively slated to start Friday, Jan. 6, and thereafter on the first and third Friday of each month until June.

Bauer will also submit a tentative plan for the board to sponsor weekly Saturday afternoon children's movies.

Governor Names King Court Commissioner

LANSING (AP) — Bruce S. King, Lansing attorney, was named commissioner of the court of claims by Gov. Swainson Tuesday.

King, who succeeds Michael Mialech, was an assistant attorney general from 1958 to 1960 and now is serving as a special assistant working on highway condemnation proceedings.

The appointment does not require Senate confirmation.

Judge Dismisses Peebles Petition Seeking Release

IONIA (AP) — Circuit Court Judge Morris K. Davis Tuesday dismissed "without prejudice" a petition for a writ of habeas corpus seeking the release of J. Otto Peebles from the Michigan State Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

The dismissal was ordered with agreement between defense attorney Thomas Wingard and State Assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Gossesey.

It means that the Rockford industrial plant operator remains at the hospital but a petition may be started anew at a later date.

Peebles, 41, was found innocent by reason of insanity on a charge of murder in the March 18 fatal shooting of his wife, Louise. He was ordered committed by Kent County Circuit Court for life at the state hospital, according to law, or until judged cured.

To Attend New School

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — White children who have boycotted two public schools since they were desegregated in November 1960 will begin classes Monday in a private, segregated school built with funds donated by white parents.

Meets Final Time With Red Chinese

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Jacob D. Beam held his last meeting Tuesday with Red Chinese envoy Wang Ying-nam. The meetings began in 1958 in the midst of the explosive Formosa Strait crisis.

Beam will leave for a new post in Washington Thursday after more than four years as U.S. ambassador to Poland.

The talks, which have thus far produced no major agreements, are the only diplomatic contact between the two powers.

Sad Rocketeller Has Little Hope on Flight Home

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller flew sadly homeward today convinced that only by a miracle would his son Michael be found alive in the savage jungle swamps of South New Guinea.

After a week at the search headquarters Rockefeller flew to Manila Tuesday, then left the Philippine capital aboard a Dutch airliner for Amsterdam.

He was to change planes at Amsterdam and arrive in New York at 8:30 EST tonight.

governor told newsmen at Manila, adding that "only an outside chance, a miracle" could produce his 23-year-old youngest son alive.

K Says West Forced Resumption of N-Tests

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev, in a reply to Swedish Premier Tage Erlander's note expressing anxiety over Soviet nuclear tests, declared the Soviet Union was forced to take such measures because of the arms race imposed by the Western bloc.

Khrushchev's reply, dated Nov. 25, was published in International Affairs Magazine Tuesday. Khrushchev said testing was decided long is planned which will connect upon after "long deliberation and an aching heart."

Boiler Blast Wrecks Virginia Restaurant

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A boiler explosion demolished a Howard Johnson restaurant south of Richmond Tuesday night and injured 16 persons, none seriously.

The basement blast heaved up the dining room floor, then trapped it back with a gaping hole torn in it.

Five of the injured were restaurant employees. The others were diners.

A telephone cable 8,000 miles long is planned which will connect the Pacific Coast with Australia by way of Hawaii.

First Qualifying Sunday at Lakewood, Wonderland

Midnight's Deadline for Entering Bowlerama

The first deadline for the 5th annual Pontiac Press Bowlerama tournament is only hours away. All men desiring to attempt for the Dec. 17 championship round this Sunday must have their entry blanks turned in at The Press or at any Oakland County keg establishment or in the mail by MIDNIGHT TONIGHT.

This also is the last day any man wanting to be sure of two chances to make the finals can sign up. A chance to re-enter is offered any men who fail to survive the opening week cutoff point which works on a percentage basis at each bowling location. Those who bowl the 2nd week only have just the one chance. Things get started Sunday at Lakewood Lanes and Wonderland Lanes. Huron Bowl and Collier's Lanes will host the completion of qualifying Dec. 10. The battle for the big handicap prizes and the actual tournament will be held at 300 bowls.

Dec. 6 at midnight is the closing deadline for all entries. All those who miss the 1st week must be re-entered by that time to give it another try.

All finalists, which will include one of every seven hopefuls at each qualifying site, will share in the prize money. Each will be assured about $10. The prize fund is returned 100 per cent to the purse.

The handicap champion will earn $500 and trophies. Runnerup will get $250 and a trophy, $150 and a trophy will go to the No. 3 finisher, 4th place will be good for $125 and $100. All will likely be increased if total entries live up to expectations.

Cash awards and trophies will be on the line in actual competition. A handsome trophy will go to the "house" with the top combined actual score and each member will win a $5 gift certificate. The top handicap qualifier at each of the four sites will be assured a trophy besides his winnings in the finals.

So there is plenty to shoot for in the annual event for bowlers and residents of Oakland County. All contestants must be sanctioned with the American Bowling Congress. The names of the members of three more teams have been announced by the keg establishments they will represent. Elks Lodge 810

Notre Dame Rejects Ruling

Irish Officials Will Not Accept NCAA Decision

'Competent Board' Is Wanted by Rev. Joyce in Syracuse Dispute

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame has turned thumbs down on a ruling that the Irish defeated Syracuse 17-15 on an illegal play.

Gen. Bob Neyland of the NCAA rules committee said Tuesday the Irish victory over Syracuse came on an illegal play in the game played Nov. 18.

However, Rev. Edmund C. Joyce, Notre Dame vice president, refused to accept the verdict and asked for judgement by "a competent board."

On the final play of the controversial game, Notre Dame's Joe Perkowski attempted a field goal. Officials ruled the kicker had been roughed, penalized Syracuse 15 yards and gave Notre Dame another chance at a field goal.

Perkowski's second attempt was good although no time remained on the clock and Notre Dame turned a 15-14 loss into a 17-15 victory.

Neyland, backed by Bill Reed, commissioner of the Big Ten and Ass. Bushnell of the Eastern College Athletic Conference, ruled the officials erred in giving Notre Dame another attempt and that Syracuse actually won the game.

But the Irish are in no mood to forfeit the game. Father Joyce Tuesday released a statement in which he quoted the rules to favor Notre Dame's stand and then asked to have the matter thoroughly "adjudicated by a competent board."

Last week, the Rev. Theodore H. Hesburgh, Notre Dame president, said in a television interview in Washington, D.C., that "every one knows Notre Dame doesn't want to win a game if it really didn't."

Tigers to Play 27 Exhibition Games

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers will play a 27-game exhibition schedule next spring with all but one of the games in Florida.

The exception is the exhibition season finale April 8 against the New York Yankees at Richmond, Va. The Yankees have a triple-A farm club at Richmond.

Tiger vice president Rick Ferrell said Detroit's early camp for rookies and minor league players will open Feb. 7 at Lakeland, Fla.

On Feb. 24, Tiger pitchers and catchers will report to begin training. The balance of the Tigers will report to work at Lakeland March 1.

The Tigers will play at least one game against all of the other 13 major league clubs training in Florida.

Army's 'Nothing Boy' a Threat to Middies

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—Army's secret weapon in the big game with Navy Saturday may be its "nothing boy"—Tom Culver.

Culver is Army's regular right halfback, of whom head coach Dale Hall says:

"He doesn't have size, he doesn't have speed, he has no outstanding natural ability. In fact, it seems he has nothing, but he's going to play for us."

"He gets the job done."

Culver, a 5-foot-11, 165-pound senior from Indianapolis, battled his way to a starting position this year after two years of sporadic second-string play and bench warming.

He is the team's leading passer receiver, having snared 18 for 243 yards. He is third in rushing (behind Al Rushatz and Joe Blackgrove) with 236 yards but he has the best average with 6.13 yards a try. He has scored four touchdowns.

"I guess I'm about a 15-second man," the mild-mannered, dark-haired youth said today during a lay in practice for the final game against Navy at Philadelphia.

"I really haven't much potential as a player. So I have to make up the difference with an extra, all-out effort."

"Some fellows have the stuff to be great. I realize I could never be great. I have to work just to be good enough to hold my job."

Speaking of the Navy game, Culver says he is convinced that Army will win.

"For the first time since I've been here, we have a physical edge," he said. "If we swapped our first two teams, Navy would get the best of the deal."

Chisox Send Sievers to Phils for 2 Players

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The trade-minded major leaguers, who have traded six deals in three days, including a big one Tuesday when slugger Roy Sievers was swapped by the Chicago White Sox to Philadelphia for two players, apparently are just warming up for bigger game.

Among the names being bandied about in closed-door conferences at the annual baseball convention are Charlie Neal of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Woody Held of Cleveland, Pete Runnels of Boston, Ryan Duren of the Los Angeles Angels, Willie McCovey of San Francisco, Julian Javier of St. Louis, Wally Post of Cincinnati, Bob Bell of Milwaukee, Pedro Ramos of Minnesota, Nellie Fox and Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox, Don Elston of the Cubs and Dick Farrell of Houston.

Northville QB Named County's Outstanding Player

BY BILL CORNWELL.
Steve Juday, "Mr. Football" at Northville High School, has another honor heaped upon his broad shoulders.

The latest accolade to come to the flashy Northville quarterback is the Thum McAn bronze shoe award emblematic of his selection as Oakland County's outstanding football player for the 1967 season.

This coveted award, presented annually by The Pontiac Press in conjunction with the Thum McAn Shoe Company, entitles Juday to compete for a $2,000 college scholarship.

Competition is held nationally with MVP winners from coast to coast vying for the scholarship and an opportunity to attend a college or university of their choice.

Juday's right shoe will be mounted in bronze and the award, bearing his name, will be displayed in the trophy case at Northville High School.

A statistical review shows ample reason for Juday's selection as "most valuable player" this year. He was "Mr. Everything" to head coach Ron Horvath and his Northville squad.

Juday, reportedly headed for the University of Michigan, quarterbacked the Mustangs to the Wayne Oakland League championship.

His 3rd in four years, and a spotless 9.0 record.

"Named to The Pontiac Press All-Oakland County team last Saturday and a leading candidate for prep All-State honors, Juday was an exciting player to watch on offense and a terror defensively as a safetyman.

On the attack, Juday had a 61 per cent completion average with his forward passes. He completed 77 of 128 aerials for 1,112 yards and nine touchdowns. In addition, his passes set up seven other TDs.

As a runner, Juday logged the ball 63 times for 463 yards, an average of better than six yards per carry. He ran for 11 touchdowns and two extra points to finish 3th in the Oakland County scoring race with 84 points.

Defensively, he led the squad in tackling, intercepted seven passes and recovered six fumbles. Juday averaged 25 yards on punt returns and 24 yards on kickoff returns. He also did all of his team's punting and averaged 41 yards for 12 kicks.

A solid "B" student in the classroom, Juday guided the Mustangs to a two-year grid mark of 15-3. A leg injury prevented him from quarterbacking the Mustangs as a sophomore.

Standing 5-11 and weighing 175 pounds, the 17-year-old senior is also a versatile athlete who will captain the Northville basketball team this season.

Juday played shortstop last summer in the Class B Detroit Amateur Baseball Federation and had the thrill of homering into the left field seats at Tiger Stadium. He's an avid hunter and went deer hunting when the grid year ended.

This is the 6th annual bronze shoe award and Juday is the 2nd Wayne-Oakland quarterback to gain the MVP laurel. West Bloomfield's John Lucadam won the award in 1958.

Other winners have been John Walker of Walled Lake (1956), Lou Fawcett of Hazel Park (1957), Charley Brown of Pontiac Central (1959), and Mike Brown of Ferndale (1960).

Coach Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue: "Our certainly would like to play off our ties with UCLA (27-21 last year and 0-4 in 1959). Purdue never has played in the Rose Bowl."

UCLA was reserving its comment, primarily because it doesn't know who its opponent will be, but Coach Bill Barnes was stunned by Ohio State's refusal. "Well, I'll be damned," said Barnes. "They don't know what they're missing. However, who ever the Big Five wants to bring out here will be all right with us."

Big Ten Team Likely to Visit Pasadena

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Ohio State had a chance to play in the Rose Bowl and refused it, but UCLA probably will meet a Big Ten opponent in Pasadena New Year's day.

Minnesota, Michigan State and Purdue usually are the three opponents the Big Five conference is considering. That may not necessarily be the order of preference but it is significant that Minnesota beat both Michigan State and Purdue, and lost only to Wisconsin in the Big Ten and to Missouri outside the conference.

Tom Hamilton, commissioner of the Big Five, said that five teams were being considered, Ohio State among them; that four teams remain, three of them from the Big Ten.

Athletic Director Ike Armstrong of Minnesota said his school felt Ohio State would accept the Rose Bowl opportunity, but "I've always been in favor of the Rose Bowl and I see no reason why we would not want to go back, if invited."

Michigan State's coach, Duffy Daugherty said his school always has gone on record in favor of the Rose Bowl. "We've enjoyed wonderful relationships with the West Coast," said Daugherty. "Both the Rose Bowl and out. If the honor were extended we'd enjoy going again."

The game ended in fist fights with Larry Kirk of Hawaii and Hershall Turner of Chicago exchanging punches. Earlier Kelly Coleman of the Majors was elected for pushing the referee.

The Cleveland Pipers pulled the Kansas City Steers 99-97 in only their fourth game. The Steers scored a 9-point deficit to take a 56-48 lead with two minutes left, but two free throws by Ben Warley and another charity toss by John Cox won for the Pipers.

Davis, winning the honor that eluded Brown, pulled 824 points in the 1-2-3 balloting by 840 electors throughout the country, edging Bob Ferguson, Ohio State's fullback, Ferguson had 771.

Buckeyes Refuse Chance to Play in Rose Bowl

Students Protest No-Bowl Verdict

Orderly Demonstration Staged in Columbus by 10,000 OSU Pupils

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The faculty council's rejection of a Rose Bowl bid for the Ohio State University football team touched off, long, wild demonstration last night by some 10,000 students. Coach Woody Hayes seemed to take the decision calmly.

There were reports that the students planned further demonstrations on campus today.

A few hours after the decision was announced, students gathered at the campus and demonstrated and then marched three miles to the downtown area and the statehouse. They milled to avoid the statehouse grounds, chanting, "We want a re-vote" and "We want (Gov. Michael V.) Di Salvo."

One student did talk briefly with the governor at his office there. He was identified only as one of five or six leaders of the demonstration.

Di Salvo asked about the protesters' march and then asked if the students wanted a ride back to campus. They declined. A half hour later, the students began the march back to campus.

If the student body was vocal about its feelings, the usually outspoken Hayes was restrained and seemed to take the setback in good grace.

When contacted at an alumni meeting in Cleveland, he said that "a decision legally made must be legally accepted."

New Porcupine Feud Starts Over Timber

LANSING (AP)—To cut or not to cut timber in Porcupine Mountains state park is the major dispute in a new controversy over the famed 8,800-acre recreation area in the Upper Peninsula.

"Yes," said Rep. Joseph S. Mack, D-Ironwood, at a hearing called yesterday by a special senate committee studying development of the park.

"No," said Alexander Smith, Ann Arbor botanist speaking for the Michigan natural areas council.

Perhaps, if certain restrictions are set up, said most of the other witnesses who testified at the 3½-hour hearing.

Mack said five million board feet of timber have been allowed to rot in the park, costing the state many thousands of dollars a year.

"This is a shameful waste of our natural resources," he said. Selective cutting, he said, could produce an income for the state of more than $200,000 a year which could be used for park development.

In a very few years, the Park would be a scenic area the envy of the nation, attracting 500,000 to 750,000 visitors annually," he said.

To permit logging would be to sacrifice the park's greatest natural attraction, Smith said.

"The council is unanimously opposed to mining, timber cutting or any exploitation which detracts from its value as a park," he said.

Plans for timber cutting and what actually is cut "would be two different things," he said.

Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert, R-Potosky, committee chairman and a professional forester, said his tour of the park last summer convinced him that "the volume and quality of timber available in the park is so low that it wouldn't be economically profitable to cut it."

Schweigert said he would support a "total conservation plan" for developing the park for multiple uses, as well as greater development of the park road system.

Glenn C. Gregg of Marquette, Upper Peninsula regional park supervisor for the state conservation departments, said he opposed logging in the approximate 30,000 acres of virgin timber in the park.

"You must decide whether you want just a recreational area or a unique park preserved as a wilderness area," he said.

James L. Rottman, executive secretary of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, supported the wilderness concept but also called for more extensive development of the park, including more access roads.

Deer Contest Winner Could Be Lightest Entered

Regular Season Closes Thursday Across Michigan

Kill in U.P. Declines Over Previous Years; Poaching Reported

BY DON VOGEL

The regular deer season ends in a little over 24 hours, and unless a county hunter comes up with a deer over 201 pounds Marvin Pace of Pontiac will be awarded $130 in U.S. Savings Bonds.

That is the award for entering the heaviest buck in The Pontiac Press Big Deer Contest. Should Pace's deer hold the lead past Saturday's 11 a.m. deadline, it will become the lightest buck to ever win. The season ends Thursday.

Last year's top entry weighed 205 pounds, the lightest on record.

No one can take anything away from a buck dressing out over 200. And Pace's deer is no exception. The surprising part is that this year's tagged bucks appear to be fatter and in better condition than the last several seasons.

A majority of the heaviest deer entered in the contest over the years have been taken in the Upper Peninsula. Successful hunters returning home from across the Straits are bringing large deer with them, but the kill is definitely down over previous years. Two seasons are being put forth by hunters:

1. The "any deer" season in the U.P. last year cut deeply into the herd.

2. Poachers are having a field day in the northern peninsula.

There is no doubt about the first point. The antlerless deer seasons are designed to cut the herd. Whether this practice is for better or worse will be argued long into the future.

As for the lawbreakers, there are more reports than ever before of poaching.

The Evin family returned home from hunting in the Upper with two nice bucks.

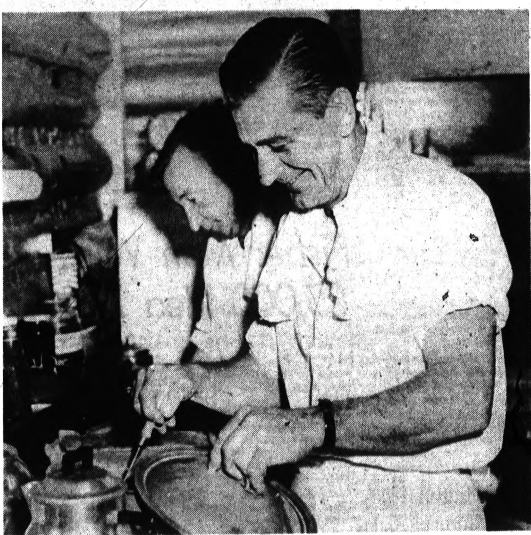

The trophy head was a 16-pointer downed by Arthur Evin, 332 Nesbitt Lane, Rochester. His nephew, 14-year-old Larry Evin of Auburn Heights scored on his first deer hunt.

He tagged a fat 10-pointer. His father, Francis, and another uncle, Charles Evin, also of Auburn Heights, failed to score. Arthur Evin, Sr. of Gladwin was along on the hunt near LaBranch in Menominee County.

First Restrictions on Deer Set in 1859

Michigan's first restriction on deer hunting came in 1859, when hunting was limited to the last five months (153 days) of the year.

That year, the census shows, Michigan had a population of about 750,000. Today, it has a 16-day deer season and a population of 7,825,000—the population being 10 times greater, and the deer season being one-tenth as long.

Grouse Take Increase Noted

Pheasant Kill Down

Pheasant kill dipped to about 950,000 birds in Michigan this fall, some 22,000 shy of last year's mark, according to a preliminary estimate of the Conservation Department.

Part of the drop in kill is traced to reduced hunting pressure evident throughout much of the state's pheasant country.

Hunter success closely paralleled the year-ago rate.

Hunters averaged 12.8 birds per 100 gun hours this season as compared with 12.9 in 1960.

Those in the Ottawa-Allegheny area and central sector of Southern Michigan recorded a 11-13 per cent increase over last season in their success. In the Thumb area, individual hunter take averaged about the same as the year before.

Shooting success was down about 25 per cent in Southeastern Michigan. A small sampling of hunters in Southwestern Michigan indicated that kill was better than last season in this area.

Hunter success was definitely up in Gladwin County and other fringe areas where the season of the pheasant range where this summer's mail carrier survey pointed to a near 100-per cent jump in ringneck production.

Weather conditions were generally good during the season, but high winds and rain hampered hunting efforts somewhat during the first weekend. Heavy cover presented a problem to gunners in many areas at the onset of the season.

Buffed goose hunters had a banner season, possibly their best in the last eight years.

Judging from post-season reports and summer brood counts, department game officials say ruffed goose kill may have reached upwards of 60,000 birds this fall. If so, it would be the highest goose take chalked up by the state's hunters since 1953 when 700,000 of these birds were bagged.

A final, more accurate estimate will be made on pheasant and grouse kill late next spring from returns of cooperating hunters, and the department's annual post-census survey.

Although hunting pressure was generally lighter than last season in the Upper Peninsula, the kill appeared to be slightly above the 1960 total of 131,000 birds.

Both hunter numbers and take rose in the northern Lower Peninsula where some 184,000 grouse were killed last season.

In the southern Lower Peninsula, hunters generally did as well as last season, and possibly better.

Woodcock, popular bonus targets of grouse hunters, provided another season of fine shooting. Field reports indicate that hunters matched or bettered last year's take of 84,000 timber-doodles, which was top by far among the nation's states.

Retain World Titles in Casting Tourney

World casting champions Johnny Dieckman and Jon Tarantino, both of California, set a blistering pace for 110 internationally known fishermen at the International Casting Tournament, Oslo, Norway, both again won their respective professional and amateur casting crowns. Dieckman, of Costa Mesa, took six first places in ten casting events.

Tarantino, of San Francisco, scored 12,269 points to win the All-Around title and the Garcia Trophy for the fourth consecutive time. He retired the original Garcia Trophy in 1960 having won it for three consecutive years.

Floating Laboratory To Study Great Lakes

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—A floating laboratory will ply Lake Michigan this winter to find ways of reviving commercial fishing on the Great Lakes.

The Federal Bureau of Commercial Fisheries today announced the opening of a research station at Saugatuck, Mich. A 60-foot gill fishing tug named the Chico will probe Lake Michigan for new methods of catching and marketing fresh water fish.

Robert Personius, statistical program director for the fisheries regional office here, said another boat, the Kahlo, will undertake similar work after being refitted. The vessels will remain in the lake through next summer and possibly longer.

Personius said the value of the commercial fish catch in the five Great Lakes has dropped from $23 million in 1945 to some $7 million last year. The biggest factor in the decline was the virtual elimination of trout from Lakes Michigan and Superior by the sea lamprey.

"There's a great potential industry in the lakes if we can teach fishermen to take them and find markets for them," Personius said. With the species of smelt, walleyes and chubs, he said fish are more abundant than ever.

A total of 1,357 commercial fishermen are employed in Michigan, the most by any midwest state. Wisconsin employs 365, Ohio, 633, Minnesota 255, and Illinois 25.

Hillman (U)—Deer thieves—out for an easy buck—are roaming Michigan's north. The only trouble is, they don't know a buck from an elk.

Hardest hit by the deer thieves is the Hillman area where thefts of four bucks and an elk were reported last weekend. The elk had been hung up by a conservation officer to show the difference in size between a buck and an elk.

Thefts also have been reported at Alpena, Gaylord and Cadillac.

Mrs. Ann Jewell, 62, who has a private hunting ground of 160 acres south of Atlanta, said the number of thefts of killed deer was "unusually high."

"It looks like we've got a different kind of person up here this season," Mrs. Jewell said. "You've got to want a buck pretty badly to turn it to get it."

Mrs. Jewell said three deer—two spikes and a three-pointer—were stolen from a cabin owned by Russell Cohen of Clarkston. The cabin is about 2½ miles east of her place.

Don Culver, Atlanta superintendent of schools, lost a deer in the area. Jim Bromund of Alpena lost one at his cabin on the Black River in Alcona County.

William Cronk, conservation officer at Hillman, recovered an elk stolen after someone had shot it and hung it up as a warning to hunters that elk should not be killed.

Paper Mill Under Fire by Water Commission

LANSING (AP)—Pollution of the Kalamazoo River by three paper mills will be discussed at a meeting of the water resources commission scheduled for Thursday.

Two of the mills, the commission reported, have submitted written commitments for approval. They were the Allied Paper Corp. and National Gypsum Company.

But the commission said one company—the Hamilton Paper Company of Plainfield—has failed to submit an acceptable program for abating pollution in the river.

A notice of determination and hearing against the Hamilton Company will be considered, the commission said.

Another Illegal Kill

PETOSKEY (AP)—The remains of a second illegally killed elk in the past week were found Monday just south of Burt Lake.

Conservation officer Vern Potter said it appeared the animal had been shot elsewhere, and its remains tossed aside. Michigan's elk herd is out of bounds for hunters.

Schweigert said he would support a "total conservation plan" for developing the park for multiple uses, as well as greater development of the park road system.

Glenn C. Gregg of Marquette, Upper Peninsula regional park supervisor for the state conservation departments, said he opposed logging in the approximate 30,000 acres of virgin timber in the park.

"You must decide whether you want just a recreational area or a unique park preserved as a wilderness area," he said.

James L. Rottman, executive secretary of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, supported the wilderness concept but also called for more extensive development of the park, including more access roads.

Perhaps, if certain restrictions are set up, said most of the other witnesses who testified at the 3½-hour hearing.

Mack said five million board feet of timber have been allowed to rot in the park, costing the state many thousands of dollars a year.

"This is a shameful waste of our natural resources," he said. Selective cutting, he said, could produce an income for the state of more than $200,000 a year which could be used for park development.

In a very few years, the Park would be a scenic area the envy of the nation, attracting 500,000 to 750,000 visitors annually," he said.

To permit logging would be to sacrifice the park's greatest natural attraction, Smith said.

"The council is unanimously opposed to mining, timber cutting or any exploitation which detracts from its value as a park," he said.

Plans for timber cutting and what actually is cut "would be two different things," he said.

Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert, R-Potosky, committee chairman and a professional forester, said his tour of the park last summer convinced him that "the volume and quality of timber available in the park is so low that it wouldn't be economically profitable to cut it."

Toll on Bluewater

Up to U.S., Canada

PORT HURON (U.P.)—The future of a 25-cent toll on the Bluewater International Bridge will be left to the governments of the United States and Canada.

This was the conclusion of Gov. Swannson Tuesday after a meeting of Michigan and Ontario officials. Swannson said the matter must be discussed both in Ottawa and Washington before plans can be made.

The meeting was called after the Federal Bureau of Roads threatened to withhold from Michigan a portion, possibly $5 million, of the yearly road grants unless tolls on the bridge were removed. The bridge links Port Huron and Sarnia, Ont.

POLICE DOG RELAXES—Duke, a 6-year-old Weimaraner, Del., police dog, who has a record of rounding up seven men wanted for various crimes, including two burglar suspects in the dark, is "one of the family" at the home of his police patrolman owner, Paul A. Muspratt. Here Duke relaxes with Muspratt's daughter Donna, 2. He is as gentle as a kitten at home but "read tough" on the job, says Muspratt.

Hope, which visited Indonesia and South Viet Nam in a one-year period, focused on the six-month visit to Saigon, where 17,500 Vietnamese patients were treated.

Director Fred Rheinstein and cameraman Robert Alley displayed great ingenuity in composing effective backgrounds for narrator Ralph Bellamy in what must have been difficult working conditions.

Rheinstein's script was another matter. It contained itself with making the same obvious points over and over instead of adding depth, immediacy and more seriousness to the story by branching off into the local situation. Long, fluid sentences gave Bellamy a battle.

The program would have achieved a truer documentary flavor, abandoned the Pollyanna veneer, if interviews with patients and more doctors were offered, and if more were told about their trials and tribulations.

DIAGNOSING AND FILMING:
"Terey in Red," Tuesday night's "Close-up" on ABC-TV (teletext) specializes in the illusions being fostered by Yugoslav's revisionist brand of communism. The half-hour brought in some interesting comments by Yugoslav college students and refugees, wrapped its point of view around the issue of continued United States aid to that Kremlin-orientated nation.

Hospital Ship Show Was a Real Tonic

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prescription for restoring confidence in mankind: Take a land in Southeast Asia where medical care for the multitudes is rarer even than a filling meal. Take one American hospital ship, fully equipped and staffed. Mix the two by sending the mercy ship to that land. Let a camera crew record some effects of the encounter.

Result: A film that is inspirational in terms of what was accomplished, disturbing in terms of what remains to be done.

Thus far, I've said nothing that couldn't be said without seeing "The Good Ship Hope" on NBC-TV Tuesday night. Fortunately, the hour succeeded in meeting its obligations. Unfortunately, it didn't accept more challenges.

The filmed story of the privately financed hospital ship named

Sylvia Sidney Suing NBC for Misuse of Name

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Sylvia Sidney is suing the National Broadcasting Co. for $500,000 damages.

The actress, in a suit filed Tuesday, accused NBC of defamation, invasion of privacy and misappropriation of her name for commercial purposes.

SUIT'S CHARGES
She charged that NBC, in advertising a Bobby Darin TV show last January, referred to her as the leader of an "all-mother" harmonica band and claimed she would appear in the show.

The actress contends the reference implied she was no longer young enough to play leading roles and gave the impression that she had become something less than an actress. Besides, the suit added, she did not appear in the show and never was engaged to do so.

Ex-Launch Officer Dies

35-Cent Refund for License Plate Spurned by Most

LANSING (U.P.)—Only a small percentage of Michigan motorists are asking for refunds of money they paid for rectorized license plates, the Secretary of State's office reports.

Many motorists were charged extra to pay for the rectorized plates, but the idea eventually was nixed. The basis charge was 35 cents.

A check of 112,115 license plate sales during the first two weeks of the sales year showed 15,431 car-owners received refunds of 35 cents or more, slightly more than 13 per cent.

Exercise Helps Ease Teen-Age Tensions

By LESLIE J. NASON, E.D.D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

If that teen-ager in your family had a cow-to-milk before breakfast, or some word to split before leaving for school, it's likely his tensions would vanish.

Our world demands less physical activity than it once did. Without ways of working off our tensions we can have a rugged day. In teen-agers, tension can lead to irritability, moodiness and other misbehavior problems.

At least one teacher who reasons that a working-off of tensions might help, tried, it and found extremely encouraging results.

He talked it over with his principal. They decided to give the idea an extreme test by including the school's most serious behavior problems in his first period gym class. They worked out a program designed to fit the theory.

RESULTS DRAMATIC

The first period activities ranged from giving the Pledge of Allegiance properly to a good physical workout to practical lessons in system and order. After the workout, the boys were made responsible for the systematic storage of gym gear and clothing.

Results were dramatic. Although many of these boys had histories of antisocial, or at least antischool behavior, the change in them was impressive. In four out of five cases the program could be called a real success.

These students ceased to be problems in other classes throughout the day. Even the failures — the one out of five who didn't do so well — showed marked improvement during the morning.

This would seem to suggest that these boys were suffering the same kind of tensions that drive many of their elders to tranquilizers.

Certainly, no one can perform very well if he doesn't feel adequate to do his job. The teen-ager can't either. He doesn't even know what's wrong with him. So clearly tells him to get to school, and that it is his job to learn. But is he ready to learn?

These boys do feel adequate for their antisocial and antischool behavior, even in their tense state. They do not feel adequate to applying their best efforts to classroom work. They probably couldn't, even if they were willing to try.

Why do they misbehave? Another way to reduce tensions is to gain the approval of others. If they can't work well enough to get that approval from their teachers, they can at least get a kind of approval from other boys and girls through misbehavior.

EXERCISE HELPS

What are their feelings toward society? Up to a certain point they are only looking for approval. If they can find satisfactory ways of getting it, fine. If they cannot, both school and society have a problem.

Perhaps we need to help these people find relaxing, purposeful physical activities to get rid of the pressures. Even a brisk walk or an easy morning game of tennis might help.

Of course, not everyone may need relaxing. Some people seem able to meet each new day with calm assurance. There are many who probably need something that will wind them up and increase their tensions before they are ready to tackle the day's activities.

We need to fit the prescription to the need of, course, but controlled, purposeful morning exercise and activity may be the right miracle drug for some of our behavior problems.

(You may write Dr. Nason in care of The Pontiac Press. While he can't answer questions individually, he will discuss those of general interest in his column.)

News of Service Personnel

Two local service personnel were home for the holiday weekend. They are Seaman Appren, Robert C. Hane and Seaman J. Karen Lackey.

Seaman Apprentice Hane is the son of the Fred Haneys of 3119 Kenrick St., Kewego Harbor.

He will return to the Great Lakes Naval Hospital to train as a Naval Corpsman following his 14-day leave home.

Seaman J. Karen Lackey, daughter of Mrs. Vivian Nahn of 452 Valencia Dr. is with the Navy Medical Corps at Great Lakes, Ill.

The Pontiac Northern graduate of 1960 will report to the Great Lakes Hospital Corps.

Pfc. Darrell Eugene Dowdy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman C. Dowdy of 141 W. Rutgers St. is now stationed as a motor transport mechanic at Camp Pendleton.

Private Dowdy is a graduate of Pontiac Central High School.

Seaman Appren, Charles Ott is now stationed with the U.S. Navy at Great Lakes School, Ill.

The Clarkston High School graduate is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ott of 5030 Cecelia Ann St., Clarkston. Seaman Apprentice Ott enlisted in the service in September, 1960.

Two Pontiac men are being assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex., to attend the United States Air Force technical training course for ground facilities specialists.

One of both of whom have completed basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., are: Airman Basic Gary L. Putman, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Putman, son of Mr. and Mrs. L.

C. Putman of 191 Chandler St. He is a graduate of Pontiac Central High School.

Airman Basic John D. Taylor, a Pontiac Northern High School graduate, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theron H. Taylor of 518 Harper St.

Army Pvt. Lawrence R. Sevin Jr., whose parents live at 3155 Massena St., Union Lake, recently was assigned to the 37th Artillery, a Nike-Hercules missile unit, in Union Lake.

The former Walled Lake High School student was a mechanic with Smith's Marathon before entering the Army last August.

Pvt. Michael Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Riley, 248 Vernon Dr., is presently assigned to Company "B" of the Specialists Training Regiment, a major unit of the U.S. Army Training Center, Armor at Fort Knox, Ky., where he will undergo his advanced individual training with the Army Clerical School.

Private Riley graduated from Pontiac Northern High School before entering the service in August. He completed his basic training with the 4th Training Regiment at Fort Knox, Ky.

Airman 3. C. James L. Garver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Garver of 1920 Hobson St., took basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Friends may address him at A-30 James L. Garver, A.F. 16716657, 3770th S-S-Box 741, Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex.

Official Backs Corporation Law

Cleaver Says State Code Doesn't Hamper Influx of New Firms

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's present corporation laws apparently do not discourage firms from seeking charters within the state, a constitutional convention subcommittee was told.

Raymond F. Cleaver, chairman of the State Corporation and Securities Commission said 6,500 corporations were granted franchises to operate in Michigan last year.

"The number of new corporations coming in has shown a steady growth," Cleaver told the convention subcommittee on corporations at a hearing Tuesday.

Cleaver said he knew of no case where a corporation had been deterred from coming into the state by a constitutional provision that shareholders would be liable in the event of corporate default in the payment of wages.

"The large corporation has its own provisions for protection," he said. "The place where it is valuable is in the small corporation—where it serves as protection for the employees."

Theodore Sachs, Detroit attorney, said he was opposed to any move to delete the provision from the constitution.

"It is said the provision drives investors and business elsewhere," Sachs said. "I don't believe it."

Crime by Teen Girls Called National Problem

APPLETON, Wis. (UPI) — An official of the Wisconsin Department of Public Welfare said the increase in crimes by teen-age girls is a cause for national alarm. Robert M. Carnes said girl criminals are more apt to operate in gangs and are more likely to be repeat offenders than teen-age boys. The commonest offense by girls, Carnes said, is larceny, generally involving shoplifting.

Cholera-like Disease Kills 89 in Pacific

MANILA (AP) — Eighty-nine people have died of a disease resembling cholera on the Philippine island of Samar, the national health department said Tuesday.

Another 413 patients were listed as suspected victims of the disease, called choleraform enteritis. Vaccine and medical teams were rushed to the East-Central Philippine island, latest of several areas to be stricken.

Chimp Blasting Way Around World

City Rejects Amendment Requiring Rabies Shots

A proposed amendment requiring rabies immunization for dogs in Pontiac was defeated by a 4-3 vote at last night's City Commission meeting.

Commissioners voted against the controversial move to amend the city's dog ordinance after an hour-long discussion in the City Commission chambers.

Voting against the amendment were Commissioners John A. Dugan, Winford E. Bottom, Robert Landry and Wesley J. Wood.

Voting for approval were Commissioners Philip E. Rowston, Milton R. Henry and William H. Taylor Jr.

FAILS AGAIN

This, too, failed to gain Commission approval by the same 4-3 vote. Landry, Dugan, Wood and Bottom all felt that since the amendment had voted against the amendment, it should be put to a public vote only by petition from the public.

Some 50 residents attended the meeting and many voiced their views for and against the law, which would have required that dogs be vaccinated against rabies before they could be licensed. The law requires that dogs over 6 months old be licensed annually.

Commissioners who voted against the proposed amendment, said they did so for several reasons:

1. The city doesn't enforce its present dog ordinance.

2. A rabies amendment would not be observed by people already ignoring dog licenses and would result in actually fewer licenses being sold.

3. Facts indicated there was a much greater need for other methods of public protection than for protection against rabies.

COMMISSIONERS CONCUR

Commissioner Wesley J. Wood said he agreed with a statement by Dugan that he "wouldn't vote for any new ordinance until we enforce the ones we have."

Dugan said he "would certainly vote for this ordinance if I thought it would do any good, but we haven't had a case of rabies in nine years. It isn't serious."

"We have an ordinance prohibiting people to allow their dogs to run loose, but we still have dogs running loose."

"I know people who let their dogs out at 5 every night and all day Sundays because they know the dog warden is off duty," Dugan asserted.

"The dogs that are most dangerous—that can pick up and spread the disease most easily—are the strays," Wood added. "If we can't control them, I don't know how we can vote for another law to enforce."

Landry's first comment was that "immunization is a wonderful thing and I'm sure there's no doubt it is needed, although the record shows no deaths from rabies here in 9 years."

Landry then drew a comparison with the large number of deaths from traffic accidents each year in Pontiac.

Kennedy Says Reservists May Get Out Early

Asks Them Meanwhile Not to Grumble About Hardships

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today told men called into military service they may get out of uniform within less than a year.

Urging them not to grumble in the meantime, he said they provide the strength to spare the United States a choice, "between humiliation and a holocaust."

Somewhat heatedly, Kennedy took note at a news conference of newspaper stories reporting discomforts and possible shortcomings in equipment and training programs for Reservists and National Guardsmen summoned to service as a result of the East-West crisis over Berlin.

He said his administration—contrary to some speculation—never intended to hold men called up for more than a year.

The hope, he said, is to let them out before the end of the 12-month period for which they were originally ordered to service.

Kennedy also observed that Congress approved the callup which the administration initiated last summer.

Booster, in a clear attempt to bolster the morale of the Reservists and Guardsmen whose lives were disrupted by the muster of additional strength, said the soldiers (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

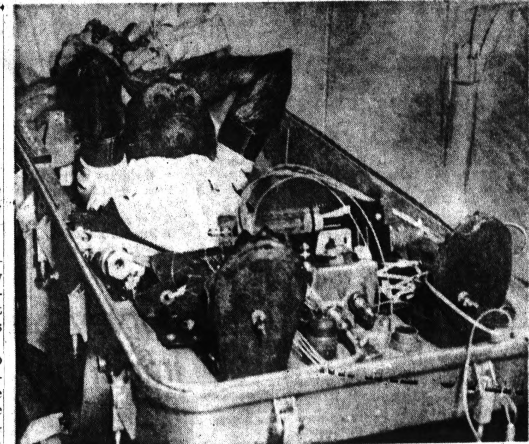

Free Press Boosts Cost of Delivery

DETROIT (AP)—The morning Detroit Free Press has increased the cost of its carrier-delivered daily editions from 45 to 50 cents a week in all Michigan areas except Wayne and Macomb counties.

Free Press spokesmen said the five-cent-a-week price increase was effective this week in counties near the Wayne-Macomb County area.

A similar price increase went into effect for Western Michigan areas Oct. 2.

1st 'American' in Orbit Steady Type

Little Immigrant Makes Good

By SAUL PETT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Enos, the chimpanzee selected to be the first two-legged American to orbit the earth, is a quiet, poker-faced young immigrant.

As chimpanzees go, he is rather plain but highly stable—an unsungling invertebrate but not a worrier.

He is the last chimp you'd expect to find on a psychiatrist's couch. Not as colorful as some astro-chimps, he is more inclined to be the quiet, taciturn, pillar-of-the-community type.

He came to this country 13 months ago and trained thoroughly for the space age. He was born and raised in the French Cameroons in Africa, which makes him a kind of a Peace Corps in reverse.

He is 5 1/2 years old, which in chimp chronology makes him an adolescent. He weighs 37 1/2 pounds and stands, when he stands, 38 inches high, which makes him medium-sized for his age group.

"He really is a plain type of fellow, not at all the kind you'd pick out in a crowd," said Capt. Jerry Fineg, Air Force veterinarian.

OBJECTIVE CHOICE

Enos did not come by his honors lightly. He was chosen on the basis of elimination trials during which, said Fineg, "we tried not to let ourselves get too attached to any one chimp so as not to lose objectivity."

The available chimps first were narrowed down to four males and a girl named Glenda. Then, on the basis of tests for physical condition and responsiveness to blinking lights, geometric symbols and other stimuli, the squad was further cut to three boys—Ham, who already had made a suborbital flight, Rocky and Enos.

Then Ham was eliminated for reasons not specified but without prejudice.

With Ham scratched, that left just two. Enos got the starring role and Rocky was named understudy. Rocky is 4 1/2 weeks 31 pounds and stands 31 inches tall.

Enos, said Fineg, is quieter, more meditative, less bouncy than Rocky. Rocky, being younger, is more colorful, more appealing, more affectionate.

"Rocky is a cuddler and grins a lot," Fineg said. "Enos grins very little, although that is not to say he gets frustrated very easily. Tests showed he has great persistence."

Industry Taxed Unfairly, County Assessors Told

An unfair tax burden on industry is causing unemployment in Michigan, Willis H. Hall, executive secretary of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce, told Oakland County assessors in Pontiac yesterday.

Michigan's ranks of unemployed will continue to swell unless the taxpayers act now, he said.

Hall charged taxpayers with a responsibility to prod their legislators into redesigning the state tax structure and thus change Michigan's image.

"The image of the State of Michigan has enormous influence on the minds of investors across America when they consider putting money into new industries here," he said. "And that image is not good."

The prime reason for this, according to Hall, is the unequal share of state taxes that industries must pay under the present tax spread.

HOMEOWNERS AHEAD

While homeowners have profited by real property taxes remaining virtually at the same level for more than 10 years, personal property taxes paid by industry on machinery and equipment have soared along with the cost of living, he stated.

A more even spread of taxes and an income tax would cure Michigan's financial and economic ills in Hall's opinion.

Possible Flurries Seen Thursday With High of 48

Temperatures will range in the high 30s for the next five days with the high tomorrow somewhat warmer, about 48. Tonight's low will hit near 30.

There's a chance of snow flurries tomorrow evening, Friday, and again Sunday night and Monday totaling near 35 of an inch. Friday will be a little colder, Sunday will be warmer with temperatures cooling off again Monday.

Morning northwesterly winds at 5 miles per hour will become southwesterly to southerly at 8 to 15 m.p.h. tonight.

Twenty-three was the lowest reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury had climbed to 37 at 1 p.m.

Atlas Performs Like Clockwork; Liftoff Perfect

Rocket Traveling 17,400 M.P.H. With Recovery Craft Standing By

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A space capsule carrying a chimpanzee named Enos was rocketed into orbit today.

Scientists hoped to recover it after three sweeps around the earth in a rehearsal for a similar human flight.

The two-ton Project Mercury capsule was boosted skyward at 10:07 a.m. on the nose of a powerful Atlas rocket.

The huge Atlas performed like clockwork and buried the craft into orbit more than 100 miles over Bermuda at a speed of about 17,400 miles an hour.

If the capsule and its prime passenger are recovered safely, and all systems have functioned properly, a U.S. astronaut will ride the next Mercury capsule into orbit, hopefully before the end of the year.

If all goes right, the capsule will be brought down to a landing in the Atlantic about 1,000 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral after it has circled the globe three times with its fly passenger performing a series of test maneuvers in response to flashing lights on a console.

A huge recovery force of ships and planes was in the impact zone.

QUICKLY IN ORBIT

The National Aeronautics and 15 minutes after launch that signals received from an Atlantic spacecraft was in a satisfactory orbit.

The launching was perfect from the beginning of liftoff. The Atlas dropped its booster stage as planned 2 1/2 minutes after launch and two minutes later buried the capsule loose on its intended trajectory.

At 10:11 a.m., the Bermuda station received signals from the craft and the mid-Atlantic ship picked it up five minutes later.

The Canary Island station off the west coast of Africa caught clear signals at 10:22.

Both Bermuda and the ship reported the air rider was performing his tasks as intended.

There was no indication that his ability was stemmed in any way by the crushing force of blastoff or by the initial entry into the weightless state which was to last for all but a few minutes of the 81,000-mile flight.

The huge Atlas roared smoothly into a clear Florida sky on the launching thrust generated by its three engines.

About 30 seconds later, the rocket arched toward the northeast and appeared to fly a normal course as it streaked swiftly from sight.

The launching came after several delays while technicians corrected minor bugs in the capsule.

Sparks Plans to Seek Re-Election Next Year

The iron man of elected Oakland County officials will give it another try next year.

County Treasurer Charles A. Sparks said today he'll seek a 16th consecutive two-year term on the county ticket, thus ending rumors that his health wouldn't permit him to try for another record.

The 69-year-old patriarch of Oakland GOP officials suffered a heart attack in November 1959. He barely got out of the hospital in time to file for re-election last year, with speculation mounting since then whether he'd call it quits.

"I'm feeling fine," Sparks said. "My last check up showed my heart is completely healed, and I'm taking care of myself."

While Sparks, first elected in 1932, has his mind made up, there remains but one question mark in whether the six-member incumbent GOP team will stick together in 1962.

Former county drain commissioner and now surveyor, Ralph A. Main, said his wife desires him to withdraw from the non-essential position which pays nothing. But Main, next to Sparks the senior on the county committee in length of service, wants to keep the county ticket all Republican, something which might not happen with an incumbent stepping out of the picture.

After some soul searching, Prosecutor George F. Taylor said he would seek a second term. He is 65 and was appointed to the post when former prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem was elevated to judge. Taylor was Ziem's chief assistant.

County Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr. and Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry will bid for their fourth two-year terms, having first joined the team in 1956 along with Main.

Sheriff Frank W. Irons, elected to his first term in 1954, said he, too, would seek re-election.

There's not much talk yet from the county Democrats as to who they'll pit against the six incumbents—assuming Main stays on the team.

Childless Man Plays Father to 2,000

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK (UPI)—Hermann Gmeiner has no children of his own. But thanks to his big heart and the generosity of millions over the world, he plays a father role to some 2,000 youngsters.

Gmeiner, an Austrian, is the founder and director of the SOS children's villages, a family-type educational program where the parentless child finds a permanent home, with "mother," "brothers" and "sisters." Each village consists of charming little one-family houses.

Gmeiner, 42, a bachelor and veteran of World War II, explained the privately supported program during his first visit to the United States where he hopes to set up a "model" village, just where, he wasn't sure.

"I would like eventually to see villages established in every country of the world," he said. "The whole idea is to provide the child as nearly a normal family environment as is possible. That is why there never are more than eight or nine children in each house."

Many of the children otherwise "would almost by fate end up as delinquents," without someone's assistance, Gmeiner said. One child now with the village had been in 20 foster homes by the time he was 10; another, at the age of 3, had been shuttled from foster home to foster home 11 times.

Gmeiner spoke through an interpreter, Miss Eva Marie Kallir, who directs the crafts program for the children's village at Imst, in the Tyrol section of Austria.

PILOT VILLAGE

Imst is the pilot village, established in 1949, and now has 18 houses. Nine other villages are scattered through Austria, and still others have been built or are under construction in Italy, France and West Germany.

All told, 1,000 children are cared for in Austria; another 1,000 in the other countries.

Gmeiner said additional villages were planned for Belgium, Denmark, England, West Germany, the Netherlands, Japan, Sweden and West Berlin.

Rev. Thomas Guest officiated at the marriage of Sharon Lee Winter to John E. Crady Jr., intercommunications electrician's mate, third class, U.S. Navy, Saturday evening in the First Social Brethren Church.

The Joseph L. Winters of East Brooklyn Avenue were hosts at their daughter's reception in Waltz Hall on Lapeer Road. The bridegroom is the son of John Crady of Orionville and the late Mrs. Crady.

Fashioned of white silk broadcloth, the bride's gown was styled with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls and she carried a semicircular of white carnations.

Sharon Kay Kinder who served as maid of honor, wore ballerina-length salmon pink lace over taffeta and held white and pink carnations.

Loren Mayhew of Orionville was best man. Lt. Oscar Lidstrom of Lockbourne AFB, Columbus, Ohio, seated the guests.

Leaving on a southern honeymoon en route to Charleston, S.C. where the bridegroom is stationed, the new Mrs. Crady was wearing a rust wool sheath dress and dark brown accessories.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Winter chose royal blue silk crepe and corsage of white carnations.

Men Reseat Businesswomen

By RUTH MILLET
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Women have to learn to cope with the fact that men resent women in business, says the national president of an association of businesswomen.

If men resent a woman in business it is usually because she tries to be a businesswoman instead of a woman in business.

In her drive to get to the top, such a woman begins to think like a man, talk like a man, gives orders like a man—and then wonders why men seem to resent her.

TAKING WRONG APPROACH

The woman who is every bit as feminine at work as she is in her own home has no such problem with men. Instead of telling them—she asks them. Instead of trying to think like them, she goes right on depending on her feminine intuition to give her an edge. Instead of being a "no nonsense," "strictly business" kind of woman she makes full use of her feminine charm.

Men don't resent working with feminine women. They love it. For a feminine woman knows how to listen as well as talk, knows enough not to show a man up or hurt his pride, knows that her real value to any concern is her ability to think like a woman—NOT like a man.

LOOK AT SELF

So any woman, who feels that the men she works with resent her shouldn't blame the men for that unhappy state of affairs. Instead she ought to take a good, close look at herself.

Chances are she has been trying to win the men's admiration and respect by trying to be "just as good as a man" at her job.

If she would just try being as good at her job as a woman—she would find the world of business much more rewarding.

If any of her men associates ever tell her that she "thinks like a man" she ought to take it as a warning—not as a compliment.

If a happy home is your goal read Ruth Millet's booklet on "How to Have a Happy Husband." Send 25 cents to Ruth Millet Reader Service, c/o The Pontiac Press.

Don Dressy
Sweater
for Party

DAZZLING

Aside from being toasty warm, the new sweaters offer real dazzle. One hooded cardigan has a detachable hood of lace with the lace repeated on the sweater in appliques.

Angora back in fashion favor. The white angora sweater is the nearest thing to the softness of a snowfall. And in this day of co-ordinates, it's easy to blend or match a skirt to a sweater.

Such sweaters aren't confined, of course, to such evenings. With the lace hood removed, the cardigan can go places daytime, too. The dazzling clip or earrings you'd wear at night can be replaced next day by tailored gold.

The classic cardigan set is, this winter, anything but classic in styling. A straight, little jacket tops a sleeveless sweater. Together, they make a great team.

And the sleeveless sweater can appear alone now and

Help Hips, Thighs, Waist

New Exercises Save Time

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Life is so busy for everyone today that it is essential to learn to cut corners, discard extra motions and confusion if we are to have any leisure time for self-improvement.

Realizing that modern women lead complex lives, I designed my Combination Exercises. These exercises are corrective to more than one figure defect. This exercise is for the hips, thighs and waist.

Sit on the floor with your legs straight and your feet together. Place your hands on the floor a little behind you for support. Lift your left hand from the floor and place it on the floor by your right hand as you roll your body to the right so that your weight rests on the right thigh. Keep your elbows straight.

Take time to stretch the leg and hip muscles while in this position. Roll over onto the left side, placing both hands on the left side of your body. Continue, rolling from side to side and changing the position of your hands. Do this 25 times morning and night.

The following exercise is slimming to the waist, hips and tummy, but is more difficult to do. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor, extending straight out from your shoulders, palms against the floor, legs straight. Keep your hands on the floor and your knees stiff, as you swing your legs to the left and then to the right, like the pendulum of a clock.

Keep the heels close to the floor and bring the feet as close as you can to each hand at the edge of each swing.

If you have been annoyed by rolls over the girdle and bulges on the hips and thighs, or a pad of fat on the abdomen, take exercises as a daily habit.

If you would like a routine of time-saving exercises which kill two or more figure faults with one motion, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for my "Combination Exercises" Leaflet No. 2. Address Josephine Lowman to care of The Pontiac Press.

Friendship Night Held by Bethel

Some 100 guests attended the semiannual Friendship Night of Jobs Daughters, Bethel 40, Monday in Roosevelt Temple.

Mrs. Loren F. Thompson, guardian, and M. E. Holmes, associate guardian, attended the meeting with Nancy Newcomb, honored guest, and officers of Bethel 40 president.

Kathy Graham and April Davis played a piano duet arrangement of the "Exodus" theme.

Suzanne Welch, Jo Ann Emert and Karen Kirchmeyer were initiated by guest officers from Rochester, Postville, Farmington, Walled Lake and St. Clair Shores.

The honored queen's Go-to-Church Sunday will be observed at 10:30 a.m. this week at the Jody Avenue United Presbyterian Church. Plans were made for serving decorative bath sponges.

Distinguished guests introduced were Pamela Tibbets, grand guide and Mrs. Lester Oles, grand chaplain, International Order of Jobs Daughters State of Michigan; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Granger, guardian and associate guardian, of St. Clair Shores; also past guardians of Bethel 40, Mrs. Oles and Mrs. Pritchard. Mrs. Harry Lunsford, worthy matron of Armet Chapter 503, Order of the Eastern Star, was also introduced.

A model of a sailing vessel topped this unique hairdo arranged with a long strand of pearls and shown recently in Copenhagen, Denmark, where the country's leading hairdressers viewed their work. Svend Langdal created this style called "La Fregate."

Business Women Now 'Key Men'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The new departure in business: "key man" insurance for females holding mighty important jobs.

Business life insurance is bought primarily to protect a business against economic losses it might suffer if a key man — or woman — were to die. The Institute of Life Insurance says the development proves women are contributing to the "key" level of business.

Acts of Kindness Can Stir False Hopes

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A lady novelist once visited a boys' reformatory where I worked. Learning that the boy assigned to show her around had no relatives who acknowledged him, she felt so sympathetic that she asked permission to entertain him in her own home on weekends and holidays.

With some anxiety the request was granted. For a while the visits went well. Then one weekend she had to tell her guest he could not accompany her own children to a party because he had not been invited. He seemed to take this news in his stride but did not return to the reformatory.

If took three months to locate the truant and such, much longer than that to help him overcome the bitter resentment he felt toward the woman into whose kindness he had read a promise of solution to his homeless, unloved state.

I report this story for a Mrs. C who writes, "A young girl friend of my daughter has a very unhappy home. She has gotten into the habit of running to me after scenes with her parents who have forbidden her to see me. I'm the only adult she trusts and am afraid to refuse to let her come to me even against her parents' wishes."

Are you prepared for resentment in this troubled girl when she discovers that you cannot solve her problems for her?

"Kind" people are often unaware of the expectations their kindness arouses in those who are suffering from great emotional stress.

We can so enjoy our own charity that we can't see how the weakened dependor on it glorifies our intentions toward him. Then the inevitable happens.

The distressed person discovers that our kindness is not enough. We are unable to give him the magic solution he expects of us. He glimpses the terrifying truth that he is responsible for his own life and can be flung into a despairing hate of us that is too big for him to handle.

This is common human experience. A loved person dies—and we hate God. That we ourselves have pledged God to a promise to spare us the experience of helplessness never occurs to us—any more than it occurred to the boy of this column that he had invested a kind stranger with the power to justify the pain and humiliations of his past.

Whether you should continue to see this girl against her parents' wishes, I can't tell you. I can only warn you against a kindness that implies you are the answer to her distress.

By mistaken kindness we can actually sidetrack events that would force their family conflict into the open and get this child the professional help she needs to start facing herself instead of running to you.

To Sponsor Dinner

The Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will sponsor a family style meal and fish dinner Friday at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall in Drayton Plains.

Home-made pies and rolls will be featured in the dinner to be served from 5 to 7:30 p.m., with special prices for children and families.

MAKE OVER PAINT

11th Frame

By CHUCK ABRAH

DID YOU KNOW?—That tonight at midnight is the last chance for men seeking two chances to qualify and others wanting to be sure to try their luck at Wonderland or Lakewood Lanes in The Press Bowlerama.

That the Huron Bowl team, entered in the big city meet, will be at Kansas City this weekend gunning for $7,720 in prizes in the BPAA Men's Team Match Game Championships. Qualifying will be Saturday and Sunday with the top eight moving into Petersen point competition Monday. Fred Ringrose will be the 6th man.

That proprietor Art Rosner of Sylvan Lanes claims a 796 shot in a mixed double league there is the highest ever rolled here by two men and two women. Joe Gavie hit 231 and his wife, Jean, 212. Ben Gorman had 219. Mrs. Ruth Gorman rolled 134.

That the Lakewood Lounge team rolled 1053 led by Ken Leese, the Bowlerama defending champion. Leese fired 283, Carl Behrnick 233, Chuck Hilmer 222, Gary Thompson 188 and Bill Greenfield 147.

That Elks Lodge 810 has a pair of excellent projects aiding unfortunate youngsters interested in bowling. Leagues from the Pontiac State Hospital and Oakland County Children's Home compete there free of charge.

That Carl Loomis turned in a 264 in the Pontiac Tempest loop and Grace Scott fired 233 in the State Hospital league at Airway Lanes. The latter has a 146 average.

That the many Bowlerama trophies going up for grabs during the next three Sundays are now on display in the Huron pro shop. They previously were set up at Lakewood and will be moved later to 300 Bowl.

That Dick Kazmaier has joined the many famous athletes from other sports in the key business. He has opened the 100,000 establishment in BPAA ranks. His corporation associates include Perry Combs, Sam Stead, Jay and Lionel Herbert, Al Belding, Walt Burkemo, Mayo Smith, Frank Stranahan, John Barnum, Fred Hutchinson and Billy Maxwell.

That a new compact is still waiting for the 1st league bowler to hit 300 at 300.

That Hagarty Lumber rolled 1130-3166 and Clearwater Pool 1038-3026 to move into a tie for the Farmington Classic lead. Maurie Quinlan topped the men with 287-722. Chuck Eligh had 242-527. Bob Spargo 236-245-897, Kerry Reetz 234-673, Ron Carter 253-667 and Jack Trotter 247-657.

Playoff Procedures Taken by NFL

NEW YORK (AP)—The Green Bay Packers and the New York Giants head the divisional races as the National Football League season heads into its final three weeks. But with mathematical chances of conference ties, the league took steps to provide for playoffs Tuesday.

There are three possibilities in each conference—Green Bay (9-2) the San Francisco 49ers (6-4-1) and the Detroit Lions (6-4-1).

In the case of a two-way tie in one or both divisions, the playoff date would be the 24th and the championship game on Dec. 17, the following Sunday is open, and the title game will be held Dec. 31 in the park of the Western champion.

Plum Takes Passing Lead Despite Loss to Giants

NEW YORK (AP)—Cleveland's Milt Plum has reached the statistical top among National Football League passers even though he and his Browns teammates lost a 37-21 game Sunday to the New York Giants and just about bowed out of the Eastern Conference tie picture.

Plum completed 19 of 33 tosses for 284 yards in the losing effort against the Giants and now has moved ahead of Green Bay's Bart Starr and Philadelphia's Sonny Jurgensen. He has completed 14 passes for 1,901 yards and a completion percentage of 60.6, tops among the leaders, according to the NFL's weekly statistical report.

Badger End Voted Lineman of Week

By The Associated Press
Big Pat Richter of Wisconsin is the lineman of the week. The 230-pound Badger end earned the honor in the weekly Associated Press poll of sportswriters and broadcasters.

Richter played a key role in Wisconsin's 23-21 victory over Minnesota, a victory that kept the Gophers from tying Ohio State for the Big Ten championship.

Although constantly surrounded by overawing Gophers the 6-5 junior caught six passes for 142 yards including two touchdowns. In doing so he set a conference season record with a total of 656 yards. This eclipsed the previous mark of 650 yards set by Northwestern's Joe Collier in 1952.

Cousy Sparks Boston to Win Over Pistons

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Cousy came off the bench last night to spark a Boston rally that carried the Celtics to a 116-106 victory against Detroit.

Cousy scored 27 points and was credited with 12 assists, raising his career total to 6,002 in National Basketball Association play.

Boston led most of the way and held a 23-point margin early in the fourth quarter. Detroit closed the gap to 11 before Cousy, resting at the time, returned and broke a Celtic field goal fumble that had lasted for more than five minutes. He netted six points in the next minute.

Rockie Ray Scott led the Pistons attack with 20 points. Bailey Howell had 19 and Gene Shue 18.

And He's Getting Tired of It

Young Bridegroom Hears Same Smart Remarks

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a young bridegroom gets tired of hearing:

"It's one of the nicest apartments we have. Of course, you realize we require three months' deposit in advance."

"I don't see why you object to carrying lunch in your briefcase, Rodrick. I thought it was a kind of status symbol to do that."

"I don't know about your house, but in our house father always carried out the garbage, and he did it without grumbling, too."

"Frankly, young man, I don't see why your firm should pay you more money just because you got married. This is a business organization, not a welfare bureau."

"It's a letter from your friend Tom. He wants you to take the remaining week of your vacation and go deer hunting with him. Naturally, you'll have to tell him it's out of the question."

"SECURE FOR LIFE?"

"I may be a bit hard up, my boy, but the time to safeguard your family future is now. Lemme see now. If you put $13.87 a week into our combined investment and insurance policy, at the end of 112 years you'll be financially secure for life."

"I'd be glad to sew on the button for you, Rodrick, but mother never taught me how."

"Don't act like a child, Rodrick. Of course, you simply must get a rug. Everybody has a rug on the floor these days. Anyway, our lease requires it."

"I've gone over our budget until I'm blue in the face. If I scribble and save every penny, as near as I can figure it, we can afford to dine out at a restaurant about the middle of next July."

"Why can't you stay and have another one with the boys, Rod? Who wears the pants in your house?"

"Oh, I have wonderful news, Rodrick. Mother is coming to spend the holidays with us. You really won't mind sleeping on the sofa, will you?"

"I NEVER WOULD..."

"You never talked to me that way on our honeymoon. If I had known that's the kind of man you are, I never would have..."

"And there's 20 cents for the bus, 13 cents for your coffee break, a dime for the newspaper, and—get there isn't enough left for your cigarettes. Can't you borrow a few from your friends at the office?"

"No use asking Rodrick to play poker. You know these newlyweds. They can't get out of the house after a dark unless their bride gives them a written pass."

"I know I don't cook like your mother. On the other hand, I don't look like her either."

"Tell me, Rodrick, you don't ever secretly wish you were a bachelor again, do you?"

"Maybe it would help if I got a job. At finishing school I led the row a few from your friends at the office?"

"No use asking Rodrick to play poker. You know these newlyweds. They can't get out of the house after a dark unless their bride gives them a written pass."

"No use asking Rodrick to play poker. You know these newlyweds. They can't get out of the house after a dark unless their bride gives them a written pass."

"I know I don't cook like your mother. On the other hand, I don't look like her either."

"Tell me, Rodrick, you don't ever secretly wish you were a bachelor again, do you?"

"Maybe it would help if I got a job. At finishing school I led the row a few from your friends at the office?"

Actress, 'Old Soldier,'
Not Ready for Draft

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK—Miss Ziva Rodan would like to go on record that she was the worst girl soldier in the Israeli Army and that she hopes for the good of America, she never gets drafted here.

"Of course I knew it was necessary," says Ziva, who's now quite a busy Hollywood movie actress, "but I was a rebel who never got used to the discipline."

"K.P.I. Why, I brought my own rubber gloves. I was so determined nothing should touch my little hands!" And they made us wear men's undershirts or we'd find out. I said, 'I will NOT wear a man's undershirt! It feels so rough, so unfeminine!' And then—"

Ziva, here plugging the picture "Samarkand," which she made in the Philippines with George Montgomery, was having some clam chowder with me at the Cordial Restaurant—and she practically fainted while sitting there. She was that indignant.

"And I didn't like all the saluting. I like to wave to whom-ever I like—not very official. I see people are always asking me if I killed anybody. I always say 'Oh, I killed a few,' but the guys were so heavy. I was great at aiming, but I couldn't hit anything."

"Well, I learned to crawl under the barbed wire fence—and that helped me when I wanted to go over to the Air Force Base where the guys were."

"So finally Ziva went AWOL and when she came back, she fully expected to be court-martialed and thrown in the guard house. But she wasn't punished."

"Maybe I was so unimportant, they never noticed I was gone," she says.

Anyway, I felt like interviewing an old soldier—and if you've got to interview an old soldier there's no better looking old soldier than Ziva, who's one of Hollywood's shapeliest importations and still in her late 20s.

EARL'S FEARS: There are three kinds of traffic problems—urban, suburban and rural. The surest way to become popular nowadays, says Quote, is to build your own bomb shelter—with a guest room.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Women not only drive as well as men, but they can do it from either side of the road.

There's a new record album that's very popular with women. It's called "Talk Along With Mitch." That's Earl, brother. (Copyright, 1961)

State Moose Herd
Gains Two Recruits

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. —Two moose, which apparently swam in from Canada, were spotted on Sault Ste. Marie's Riverside Drive by Dennis Clark and his wife of the Soo.

Single moose have been sighted here before, but this was the first pair reported sighted together.

Dennis described them as "gigantic animals" and said he almost ran them down as they made their way inland across Riverside Drive and Sault Ste. Marie's municipal golf course, just off the St. Marys River that is the U. S. - Canadian border.
