Sleeping Town Drowns When Dam Unleashes

300 Might Be Lost in Worst Disaster in Spanish History

From Our News Wires

ZAMORA, Spain—A roaring, unleashed by a dam break on Lake Sanabria, engulfed the sleeping village of Rivadelago today.

Fewer than 200 of the town's 500 inhabitants are known to be alive.

Only 12 hours after what is believed to be the worst catastrophe in recent Spanish history, were rescue workers able to enter the ruins of Rivadelago as the waters receded.

Engineers of the Monacabril Hydroelectric Co. estimated more than 230 million cubic feet of water had swept down the 1,700-foot drop onto the village shortly after midnight. The roar was heard in villages five miles away.

Pouring rain, flooding the dam for the past month, added to the horror of the scene.

The disaster struck at 4 a.m. in northwest Spain near the Portuguese border.

The Zamora provincial government said in a statement that torrential rains of the past few days overflowed the reservoir of the two-year-old Vega de Tera dam and "spilled over, inundating the village of Ribadelago."

Down rushed the waters of the Tera river along a deep mountain valley resembling a declined bowling alley. Riva del Lago, a hamlet nestled in the somber mountains of northern Spain, lay three miles downstream.

The village was shattered and then engulfed.

The full story of the destruction was yet to be told. In its steep plunge, the wall of water ripped out the only road leading to the village and bad weather made flying to the scene impossible.

Point Smog Finger at New Cars Again

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Two assemblymen from Los Angeles propose to force Detroit auto makers to put anti-smog devices on cars.

★ ★ ★

A bill which would ban the sale of any new car without such a device in a smog-control district after July 1, 1961 was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman John L. E. Collier (R-Los Angeles).

Assemblyman William A. Munnell (D-Los Angeles) said he would introduce a bill Monday which would assess a 7 per cent tax on each car not equipped with an anti-smog device after Sept. 1, 1961.

Residents of smog-free counties would be exempted if the county supervisors adopted a resolution declaring smog was no menace.

★ ★ ★

Munnell said the 7 per cent tax, a one-time-only assessment, would be enough to prod Detroit into developing an anti-smog device, and not too much to penalize makers of small cars.

Train Whistle Warns Sleeping Village of Fire

"It looked like the whole town of Davisburg was going up in flames," said Grand Trunk Railroad engineer Earl Clymer.

Spotting a red glow over the sleeping village about 1:25 this morning while plying his freight train through the darkened countryside, Clymer leaned on the whistle long and hard as he sped through the village.

His action was credited with saving the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Guthrie.

Awakened by the train's blast, the Guthries found their four-room apartment ablaze. They fled into the main street in their night clothes as flames consumed all of their other belongings.

★ ★ ★

The fire, believed to have started in the Polkadot Restaurant next door, destroyed the frame restaurant building and was threatening Guthrie's barbershop over which the gutted apartment was located.

The shrill train's whistle aroused another resident in the village outskirts. He was teenager Jackie Gray, who ran half a mile to turn in the alarm at a fire box in town.

Engineer Clymer called the Davisburg Fire Dept. when he stopped in Andersonville, a few miles down the line.

★ ★ ★

Davisburg and Independence Township fire departments battled the blaze for about four hours. It was still smouldering at 8 this morning.

Davisburg Fire Chief Charles Hillman said the wind hampered them greatly when it forced the flames to race rapidly through the frame restaurant and into the adjoining brick building.

Damage was estimated at $8,000 by the Oakland County Sheriff's Dept. No one was injured.

Keep to Budget, State of Union Message Urges

Challenges Congress to Approve New Laws on Civil Rights

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower in his State of the Union Message today predicted America will achieve all-time record prosperity in the coming 18 months.

With the 1958 recession fading into history, he admonished the heavily-Democratic Congress to help maintain "the marked forward thrust of our economy" by cutting the cost of government and adopting his forthcoming balanced budget.

If Congress will do this, the President held out hope for tax reductions "in the foreseeable future," although not this year. He will have the treasury prepare proposals to overhaul the tax structure "at the proper time."

Useless expenditures, he said, "might tend to undermine the economy and therefore the nation's safety."

His 5,000-word address, prepared for personal delivery at a joint session of the Senate and House, also set forth these other highlight proposals calling for:

1. Enactment of new civil rights legislation to be submitted to Congress soon. Without being specific about the legislation, the President deplored closing of some public schools in the integration controversy, and pledged anew he will take every action necessary to enforce the law as interpreted by the courts.

2. New laws aimed at wiping out "corruption, racketeering, and abuse of power and trust in labor-management affairs." Eisenhower expressed disappointment that the last Congress, also Democratic-controlled, did not act in this field despite disclosures by the investi-

90 Pct. of Press Ballots Favor Sunday Sales Ban

Pontiac residents are overwhelmingly against stores being open on Sundays, according to a poll conducted by the Downtown Merchants Assn. through The Pontiac Press.

More than 90 per cent of the Pontiac Press readers who expressed themselves were against Sunday sales of non-essential goods.

Readers indicated their opinions by means of a ballot published Monday in The Press. On the ballot, they were able to indicate whether they were for or against Sunday sales.

A total 758 ballots were received by the DMA, said John W. Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce. The small response showed a lack of interest, officials said.

Of the 533 ballots tabulated so far, he said, 57 were for Sunday sales and 476 were opposed. Ballots received in today's mail have not yet been recorded, he said.

"However, a number of pro-votes were cast because of opposition to legislation forcing Sunday closing," Hirlinger said.

"These people explained they were against Sunday sales as a matter of principle," Hirlinger explained, "but felt the question is basically a religious one."

This was also the expressed opinion of city commissioners who Tuesday turned down proposed Blue Law legislation by a 4-2 vote.

The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce feels the same way, Hirlinger said.

"Although unanimously opposed to Sunday sales, the board believes that self-regulation, not legislation, is the best method," he said.

The city's attention was called to the problem last month when a major Pontiac department store remained open three Sundays before Christmas.

Since then, Hirlinger said, downtown stores have abided by the chamber's unwritten policy of staying closed on Sundays.

Cloudy, Cold Tonight; Warmer Tomorrow

The U.S. Weather Bureau's forecast is partly cloudy and cold for the Pontiac area. Low tonight will be near 10 degrees. Tomorrow's high will reach around 20.

★ ★ ★

For the next five days, temperatures will average near the normal high of 33, and the normal low of 19.

The cold will continue through tomorrow with a warming trend Sunday and again Tuesday or Wednesday. The outlook for Sunday is fair.

Precipitation will total less than one-tenth of an inch. Some light snow is likely Tuesday or Wednesday.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 8 degrees. The reading at 2 p.m. was 21.

Move to Break Car Bootlegging

23 Warrants Issued in Attempt to Halt Michigan Tax Evasion

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams today announced a move by State and Wayne County authorities to break up a complex new car bootlegging ring that he said has been cheating the state out of sales taxes.

Adams said that as a result of a six months investigation 23 warrants charging sales tax evasion have been sought against key figures in the illicit traffic.

"The cases are being handled by Samuel Olsen, Wayne County prosecutor, he said.

Involved are sales since 1956 of new cars by Detroit and Wayne County dealers and others to persons alleged to be non residents, but who actually were not.

Through execution of phony non-resident affidavits, Adams said, sales tax was evaded. This paved the way for marketing of the cars at cut rate prices at out of state used car lots and auctions.

Since May, 1955 dealers in new cars have been exempted from paying sales tax on all sales in which an affidavit is made attesting to purchase by a non-Michigan resident for registration outside of Michigan.

An aide to Adams estimated that at least 3,000 cars had moved into other states through the illegal device without payment of sales tax, which would amount to $60 on a $2,000 transaction or $90 on a $3,000 sale.

On this basis, the loss to the state would be in the neighborhood of $200,000 and perhaps more.

Pathologist Tells of Brutal Attack

Doctor Identifies Tools Taken From Body of Murder Victim

A bushy-haired ex-convict from Detroit fidgeted nervously yesterday while a pathologist from William Beaumont Hospital told an Oakland County Circuit Court jury about the grotesque and savage beating of a Southfield night watchman.

Raymond L. Alyea, 35, played with a pen, occasionally scribbling notes while Dr. Malcolm C. Young related how brutally beaten the body of Anthony J. Jasinski was when he performed an autopsy.

Alyea, once a gardener, is charged with first-degree murder in Jasinski's Aug. 1 death. Jasinski, 51, was caretaker for the Ilgenfritz Nurseries Inc., 22951 Northwestern Highway, Southfield.

Dr. Young identified a pair of blood-stained gardener's hedge clippers with a one-foot-long blade and a pair of scissors which he said had been plunged into Jasinski's head.

Dr. Young, assistant pathologist at the Royal Oak hospital, was the first witness called by Assistant Prosecutor William E. Lang Thursday, the first day of the trial.

Lang said he would call possibly 27 witnesses in an attempt to put together Alyea's activities the night of July 31 and early morning hours of Aug. 1 when another gardener discovered Jasinski's body crumpled on the floor of a drafting room at the nursery.

A jury of eight women and five men was impaneled to decide the fate of Alyea.

Defending Alyea is William R. Beasley, a Ferndale attorney. The judge is William J. Beer.

More Pickets Jeer Russian in Chicago

From Our News Wires

CHICAGO (UPI)—Anastas Mikoyan, Soviet deputy premier, arrived for a 24-hour visit in Chicago today and got a sign-waving greeting from a group of Hungarian freedom fighter pickets. Boos and shouts of derision welcomed his appearance.

Mikoyan came here from Detroit, where his appearances also had been picketed and where a crowd of 500 demonstrators shouted insults last night and hurled eggs and snowballs.

The deputy premier and his party, including Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov, spent no more time than was necessary at Chicago's Midway Airport. They got off the plane and Mikoyan stopped briefly on the ramp to smile and wave. Then the party was whisked into limousines and headed downtown to the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

In Detroit, Mikoyan was the target of about a dozen eggs, several dozen snowballs and hundreds of chanted insults hurled by some 500 angry pickets as he entered the exclusive Detroit Club last night.

Plainclothesmen guarding Mikoyan were fearful the incident would be repeated on other stops in his cross-country tour. But no mass demonstrations were announced in Chicago such as the one here last night.

However, one of the State Department men assigned to the tour pointed out that "this kind of thing is catching. Once it is started people think they can get attention by doing it and it grows."

Police searched the Detroit Club after receiving a report at 1 a.m. that a bomb had been planted in the building where Mikoyan addressed a group of industrialists last night.

Police termed the threat a hoax but two squad cars were assigned to watch the building until dawn.

Mikoyan spent the night at a hotel a block away.

The antagonism of the pickets did not appear to bother Mikoyan.

In tours of Ford, General Motors and Chrysler auto plants yesterday, Mikoyan was greeted civilly by most of the workers in the plants and warmly by a few who spoke Armenian, his native language.

Mikoyan had kept up a rapid pace of activity.

After he flew from Cleveland to Detroit in the morning and visited the Ford research center, the engine plant and the assembly line at the River Rouge plant, he had a private luncheon with a dozen top-ranking Detroit business executives atop the Ford administration building.

In the afternoon he continued his inspection of the motor industry with the trips to General Motors and Chrysler.

At the luncheon Mikoyan par-

Hatred on the Loose Spurs Mikoyan Mob

By JERRY CHIAPPETTA

DETROIT (UPI)—A crowd with much hate and fear in its heart became an angry mob for a few fearful minutes last night.

Some 500 shoving, screaming people nearly got out of hand when Anastas Mikoyan, Russian's deputy premier, arrived at the Detroit Club for a dinner with local industrialists.

The mob swarmed forward, each member—most of East European nationalities—shouting some insult.

They yelled a number of things that you couldn't print. Almost in a chant that could be heard for blocks around downtown Detroit they shouted: "Russki, go home." "Go home mass murderer." and "Butcher!"

President Eisenhower's plea earlier in the day that Americans should show Mikoyan "traditional" courtesy meant nothing last night.

"Those people were mean. This writer was swept up in the pulsating movement of the masses. A woman was knocked to the icy pavement. She got up and continued shouting.

One middle-aged man charged into the placard-carrying frontmost demonstrators in an attempt to break through a line of club-carrying policemen. He was taken away but later released.

It looked like the mob was going to win. Others pushed forward toward Mikoyan's car. Eggs and snowballs sailed overhead. They missed their target, but struck several newsmen and a State Department representative.

I finally made it to the front ranks of the pickets and flashed a press card. It was useless. A young uniformed patrolman shoved his club into my ribs. The card meant nothing. His club did.

Chicago's Mayor Will Not Budge to Meet Mikoyan

CHICAGO — If Russian Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan wants to get the red carpet treatment from Mayor Daley, he'll have to journey to City Hall.

That was the mayor's edict when informed that the No. 2 man in the Soviet government intends to visit Chicago today.

"I'll be glad to receive him in my office," said the mayor.

This action would be quite a departure from the usual high powered receptions provided most visiting dignitaries.

The usual procedure is for the mayor to greet the dignitaries at the airport and escort them to City Hall. LaSalle street usually is closed for ceremonies including color guards and blaring military bands.

According to the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Russian embassy in Washington asked Edward L. Ryerson, board chairman of the Inland Steel corporation, to show Mikoyan around town.

But if Mikoyan wants to shake the official hand of Chicago, he will have to detour to Randolph and La Salle streets, ride the elevator to the fifth floor, and ask for Mayor Daley.

The crashed plane was found by a Tennessee Air National Guard flier. He pinpointed the wreckage as about 300 feet from the top of the mountain. The plane was burned.

Rescue parties were dispatched immediately to the site.

Call Inquest in Death of State Patient

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI)—A coroner's inquest into the death of a Traverse City State Hospital patient was ordered today.

Grand Traverse County Prosecutor Stuart D. Hubbell and coroner Dr. William Fishbeck issued a joint statement in which they said a week-long investigation of the death of Eldon M. Mason, 39, of Lake City, failed to uncover any evidence of mistreatment.

At the same time, the prosecutor and coroner said they feel an "independent determination" of the cause of Mason's death should be arrived at "by the public itself" and ordered a coroner's inquest.

"After careful consideration of all of this evidence, it is our opinion that Mr. Mason's death was accidentally caused, and that this cause probably occurred prior to his admission to the Traverse City State Hospital," the two and one-half page statement said.

"We have concluded, therefore that no crime has been committed.

"In view, however, of the serious nature of the matter, of the charges that have been made and the attendant publicity these have invoked, we believe an open public hearing of all the pertinent evidence should be made and an independent determination arrived at by the public itself.

Toward this end an inquest has been ordered by the undersigned and an inquest jury will be shortly impaneled," the statement concluded. It was signed by both Hubbell and Fishbeck.

The Day in Birmingham

Baldwin Library Plans Still in State of Flux

BIRMINGHAM — Baldwin Library still finds itself struggling to fit needs, plans and finances into a compatible whole.

Some time ago $75,000 was allocated by the city commission for library expansion. R. A. Ulveling and C. M. Mohrhardt, library consultants from Detroit, were engaged to plan the project.

Since then several proposals have been rejected. The most recent was unfavorably received by Miss Jean Lloyd, librarian, because it would mean housing a quarter of Baldwin's 60,000 books in the basement.

She said this would be inconvenient, time-consuming and costly.

Miss Lloyd presented a variation of the plan which brought a negative reaction from the board. While her suggestion would provide main-floor space for all books, it would move administrative offices to the second floor. Board members feel these should remain on the ground floor.

The problem of overcrowded bookshelves may well continue even though the library is enlarged, Miss Lloyd pointed out. She reminded the board that since 1947 the library stock has doubled.

She said that in her opinion the board should seriously consider placing a limit on the number of books to be carried. Miss Lloyd is asking consultants for further study.

United Church Women of Birmingham have planned their annual meeting to be held Jan. 16 in the First Presbyterian Church at 10 a.m. The election of officers and hearing of annual reports will be followed by a speech by Mrs. Jessie McNeil, Michigan State president of the United Church Women. The program is open to the public.

Dr. Dwight B. Ireland will speak at the Monday meeting of the Adams School PTA at 8 p.m. in the school.

He will discuss administration and curriculum problems and answer questions taken from the "Opinionaire." This includes the answers gathered from PTAs from throughout the state to 103 questions on their relations with the faculties and pupils.

Mrs. Franklin Fricker

Service for Mrs. Franklin (Elizabeth) Fricker, 52, of 26820 Wellington Dr. will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow from the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in Franklin Cemetery, Franklin.

Mrs. Fricker died in her home Wednesday after a brief illness.

She was a Birmingham resident for 10 years and moved to Franklin 18 years ago.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, she was a member of Alpha Omicron Pi, a past president of the Birmingham Chapter of the American Assn. of University Women, chairman of the Volunteer Bureau of the South Oakland County United Community Services, the Village Players and St. James Episcopal Church in Birmingham.

Mrs. Fricker is survived by her husband who is an executive of the Ethyl Corp., and vice president of the board of trustees of William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

Surviving are two sons and a daughter at home, Daniel C., Michael D. and Judith A.; another daughter, Mrs. Charles F. Morton of Ann Arbor and a son, John A. of Cleveland; two grandchildren; her mother, Mrs. D. S. Cossitt of Conneaut, Ohio, and two sisters also of Ohio.

Area Man Held in Robbery Case

Admits Cashing Bonds From $11 Million Bank Looting in Canada

A suburban Birmingham man has admitted cashing two bonds, part of a $11,000,000 securities looting of a Canadian bank last spring, Detroit Police reported today.

Ivan Batten, 45, of 29460 Fall River Rd., Cranbrook Village, was taken into custody yesterday for investigation of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Batten who has a criminal record, denied he took part in the safecracking, biggest in Canadian history last May.

He was traced to his home address when Ontario Provincial Police gave his auto license plate number to the authorities in Detroit after he had cashed two of the stolen bonds worth $1,000 each in Essex, Ontario, according to Det. Ralph Smith of the Detroit Police Bad Check Squad.

Detroit police are also seeking another suspect in the robbery, Hyman Niskar of Detroit.

Canadian officers joined with Detroit Police in questioning Batten yesterday. Smith said Batten would be questioned further today.

Smith said Batten admitted cashing the two bonds which were part of the huge loot taken last May from the bank at Brockville, Ont. He said Batten told him he got the bonds from Niskar who asked him to cash them.

He also said Batten told him he did not know the bonds were part of the bank loot and that he cashed them as a favor to Niskar. The bonds were cashed at Essex on Dec. 20.

Smith said some $9,000,000 of the $11,000,000 in stocks and securities taken from the bank have since been recovered. He said about $2,000,000 worth of the stolen goods still "are floating around and turn up from time to time."

Senate Rejects Filibuster Curb

Johnson Wins Again in His Push Toward a Compromise Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today turned down a key proposal designed by civil rights advocates to clear the way for a tight new curb on filibusters.

The roll call vote was the first test of strength in the swirling battle over rules touched off with the start of the new Senate session two days ago.

★ ★ ★

It marked a striking victory for Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) and other Democratic and Republican Senate leaders backing a compromise offered by Johnson.

Conversely, it was a major set back for Vice President Richard M. Nixon and a bipartisan anti-filibuster bloc of Northern and Western senators.

★ ★ ★

The vote came on a motion by Johnson to table and thus kill a resolution by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM). Anderson's aim was to establish that each new Senate has the right to adopt its own rules by majority vote at the start of a session.

The anti-filibuster forces were still far from giving up.

8 Candles to Light Birthday Cakes Tomorrow

Rosebush Quads Set for Party

By SYLVIA COLE

There's plenty of fun in store for the 18 children tomorrow who'll visit the home of the Rosebush quadruplets in Oakwood.

★ ★ ★

The two sets of identical twins, Kristine and Krystal and Kenneth and Keith, will celebrate their eighth birthday tomorrow, and their friends have been invited to join in the party.

★ ★ ★

The quads represent four of the eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth F. Rosebush of 3043 Baldwin Rd.

Mrs. Rosebush says she will make a pink frosted cake for the girls and a blue one for the boys. Each cake will have tiny wax statues of a boy and a girl, on top.

For the first time, the quads didn't have a birthday party last year.

This year each quad was allowed to invite four of his or her best friends. The boys invited boys and the girls invited girls. But Kristine and Krystal report they "just couldn't leave out two of the girls so together they invited 10 of the 18.

ROUGH ON BOYS

The boys had it a little rough since their sisters made them invite their boy friends.

★ ★ ★

When asked what they want for their birthday, all said lunch pails.

Mrs. Rosebush explained that their lunch pails were broken by the end of the school year in June. Then they moved from the Daniel Axford to the Thomas Elementary School in September, and wanted to carry their lunch in paper bags.

"All of a sudden last week they all said they wanted lunch pails for their birthday," she said.

Last year each of the quads had decided his life's goal. But within a year all but one had changed his mind.

★ ★ ★

Krystal, the more talkative of the two girls, is the only one who is still convinced she wants "to be a housewife and have seven children, all girls."

★ ★ ★

Kristine, who last year had aspirations of becoming a nurse and "taking care of sick people" has now decided to be a "storekeeper, so I could eat candy and earn money."

"Both of the boys have changed their minds about becoming police or firemen. Now they want to team up and become farmers.

Kenny, youngest of the quartet, who planned the life of a policeman, has decided he doesn't "want to be shot." He looks forward to becoming a farmer with his brother so that "I don't have to go into the Army."

★ ★ ★

Keith now has shunned the fireman idea because "I don't want to get burned up." He wants to become a farmer with Kenny and have "lots of pigs, cows and horses."

The President did not specify just what he has in mind, but he again called on labor and business leaders to exercise statesmanship to curb the wage-price spiral. And he announced he will set up a Cabinet committee on price stability for economic growth.

4. Passage of new farm legislation designed to reduce heavy federal outlays in that field eventually, and to assure "greater freedom for markets to reflect the wishes of producers and consumers."

As in the case of the others, Eisenhower went into no detail on the farm program. The specific provisions of all the programs will be set forth in a series of special messages to Congress in the next several weeks.

In his Detroit Club speech Mikoyan appealed for an end to mistrust between the Soviet Union and the United States.

He said it is necessary to remove the nonsense which is barring the way to understanding, that if there has been cause for American distrust the Soviet Union has as much reason to distrust America. Let's remove this distrust step by step, he said.

Sometimes, the Soviet leader asserted, there is needed more direct forms of communication than is provided by the press. The question of world peace is paramount, he stressed.

In case of another war there will be no protection for anybody, and it is therefore worth our while to work for peace.

Combing Cuba for Stolen Arms

Castro's Forces Hunt 500 Missing Rifles; Press Arrests, Trials

HAVANA (UPI)—Fidel Castro's revolutionary forces searched today for 500 stolen rifles and ammunition believed taken by the rival "revolutionary directorate" in a challenge to Castro's authority.

Castro himself in a 2-hour radio speech from army headquarters at Camp Columbia, promised to exhaust every effort to recover the stolen arms.

He warned that from here out the "greatest crime will be to upset the peace" in Cuba.

His statement came as today's newspapers were filled with an increasing number of pictures and news stories of the rebels' strongarm revolutionary justice: arrests, accusations, summary trials, manhunts and executions.

Latest reports said 1,300 persons were awaiting trial in Havana and another 262 former military police and civilians awaiting trial in Santiago.

Twenty have been tried and executed. An unknown number — 20, have been reported — were executed without a trial. Others were reported tortured.

Castro's announcement of the theft of the 500 rifles was believed directed toward the revolutionary directorate which has declined thus far specifically to endorse the presidency of Manuel Urrutia, the Castro choice for the job.

Red Planet Due Home in 154 Years

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet cosmic rocket theoretically should return to the earth in 154 years but influences on its orbit around the sun probably will prevent this happening, a Soviet scientist said today.

The Tass News Agency quoted scientist A. Sternfeld, an astronautics expert, in an interview published in today's Soviet newspapers.

"The first artificial planet should theoretically return to its starting place and meet the earth after 125 revolutions around the sun," Sternfeld said.

"This should occur early in 2112, but changes of the orbit of the space rocket under the influence of the moon and planets preclude the possibility of a collision between the 10th planet and the earth."

Cold Winds Fall From Canada

State Gets Mercury Drop

By The Associated Press

A fresh surge of cold Canadian air spread across most of the eastern half of the country today, ending a brief spell of fairly normal weather.

Temperatures dropped to below zero in northern Midwest areas. The icy air extended from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast. It dipped into the southland, excluding Florida, and dropped temperatures to freezing in many sections.

More than four inches of snow blanketed Roanoke, Va., and the fall at Greensboro, N. C., measured more than three inches.

However, precipitation in most of the southeast ended with rain confined to parts of Florida and coastal sections of North Carolina. The cold dry air also cleared skies from the Mississippi River to the western slopes of the Rockies.

In the frigid air moving southward across the Great Lakes region, snow flurries continued from the lakes into interior sections of the Northeast. Northerly winds spread light snow into the northern Ohio Valley.

The mercury dropped to nine degrees below at International Falls, in far northern Minnesota, and -5 at Lone Rock, Wis.

The heaviest precipitation again was in the West Coast states as a steady stream of moist air maintained a rainy pattern southward to the central California coast. Rainfall in the last 24 hours measured nearly four inches at Newport, Ore.

Rainfall was mostly light in interior sections of the Northwest but gusty southerly winds from 35 to 55 m.p.h. swept areas between the northern Rockies and Cascade range.

Big Blazes, 4 Deaths Hike '58 Fire Totals

Two serious department store fires and four deaths boosted the city's 1958 damage and fatality count above totals for 1957.

The Pontiac Fire Department year-end report shows damage to buildings and contents last year by fire were $429,960, compared with $364,350 for 1957.

The most disastrous blaze of the year was a $150,000 five-alarm fire which swept through the W. H. McCandless, Inc. floor-coverings store, 11 N. Perry St., Aug. 13.

More than 70 firemen and nearly every available piece of firefighting equipment were marshaled to combat the blaze, which damaged adjacent buildings and threatened other Pontiac businesses.

★ ★ ★

Then, on Dec. 22, a fire triggered by two explosions roared through Goodman's Department Store, 320 S. Saginaw, gutting the interior of the building and causing $43,000 damages.

The four fatalities in 1958 were double the number of those who died in flames the year before.

Per capita, the Fire Department says Pontiac lost $5.49 in 1958. The 1957 figure was $4.64.

During the past year firemen answered 1,768 alarms, compared with 1,624 in 1957. Of these, 396 were fires in buildings, 254 grass and brush, 14 rubbish, 4 in dumps, 67 miscellaneous, 2 in housetrailers and 90 in motor vehicles.

In all, 827 runs were to fires as compared with 761 the previous year. There were 576 rescue and emergency runs, and also 166 fire alarms, down from 201 turned in for 1957.

Other items on the report showed 13 injuries by fire in 1958, as compared to 19 the year before. The department made 3,412 inspections, one less than in 1957.

But Don't Believe Them

It's Okay to Use Generalities

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Like to talk in generalities? That's okay if you don't believe them—otherwise it may be an indication of social maladjustment.

That's the conclusion of Dr. Walter F. Johnson, education professor at Michigan State and president of the American Personnel and Guidance Assn. His findings recently were announced by Michigan State and Arizona State.

He said a language test devised to indicate social adjustment contained 100 statements with such phrases as:

"Iron is strong. A circle is round. A leaf is green. Humans can talk. A boy who never lies is good. Women are mothers."

If you believe all these statements are "always true," Dr. Johnson said, then you may be maladjusted. He explained:

Both a normal and maladjusted person might say, "The salesmen in that store are always terrible" when it might be more correct to say, "The salesman in that store's hardware department acted rudely Saturday morning."

However, he added, the adjusted person would realize he was stating a generality.

The test, devised by Dr. Thomas M. Weiss, assistant professor of education at Arizona State, recently was given to 409 teenagers in detention homes and 494 high school students in Michigan. It was repeated in other detention homes, high schools and a state mental hospital in Michigan. The results:

A significantly higher proportion in the "maladjusted group" answered "always true" to generalizations in the test.

The tests are based on theories of Alfred Korzybski, a language expert who maintains "words are not reality." He claims language has about the same relationship to reality as a map to the terrain it represents.

Johnson said language experts believe most normal persons have some awareness of weaknesses in language structure but persons who don't come to "wrong" conclusions and show evidence of maladjustment.

Russian Sun Satellite Featured in Red Movie

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet theaters are showing a new movie titled "I Was a Satellite of the Sun," radio Moscow reports.

The broadcast said the movie was a popular scientific film which showed "the flight of a missile through the cosmos, past blinding stars and burned out celestial bodies."

"Suddenly," radio Moscow said, "a stream of meteors can be seen hurtling toward the missile and a collision appears inevitable."

But the picture has a happy ending, the broadcast said.

"An atomic cannon destroys the meteorites and the missile continues on its journey."

From Alaska to Cape Horn there are about 347,000,000 Americans.

Judge Moynihan Dies in Detroit

Wayne Circuit Jurist Had Served Longest of Any in Michigan

DETROIT (AP)—Wayne County Circuit Judge Joseph A. Moynihan, Michigan's oldest circuit judge in years of service, died yesterday of a chronic kidney disease.

Moynihan was 72. He had been in Henry Ford Hospital since Nov. 18.

At his death, he had less than two weeks remaining before completing 38 years of service on the Wayne Circuit bench — the most years ever accumulated by any Michigan Circuit Judge.

The Judge was appointed to the circuit bench in 1921 by Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck.

In 1936 he presided over the trials in the notorious Black Legion case. The legion was a terrorist organization that flourished in the early 1930s.

One of his most famous rulings was one that held the Michigan sales tax could not be applied to out-of-state purchases. The ruling forced the Legislature to adopt the use tax.

Moynihan was born in Detroit. He graduated from the Detroit College of law in 1907 and was admitted to the Michigan Bar that year. After a brief period as a stenographer, he opened his own law office and practiced as an attorney until his appointment as a circuit judge. He was elected every six years from then until his death.

Fight Their Own Cold War

More Tension in Red World

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI) — Authoritative diplomatic sources have reported an ominous cooling off in relations between the Soviet Union and Red China.

It is said that the tension was caused by Peiping's growing insistence on taking over ideological leadership of the communist camp.

The diplomatic sources said there was no likelihood of an open break between Moscow and Peiping since the two nations are largely interdependent. But they said relations were somewhat icy.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, also head of the Soviet Communist Party, has decided to call a halt to Chinese aspirations and to reassert Moscow's leadership of the communist world, the sources said.

Khrushchev's current moves for a summit conference with President Eisenhower and possibly other western leaders were held as one of the immediate results of this development.

WANT MEETING

This also would account for the current visit to the United States of Deputy Soviet Premier Anastas Mikoyan who was reported trying to pave the way for a heads-of-government meeting.

A few months ago Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung vetoed a summit meeting to which Khrushchev already had committed himself. Khrushchev now was reported ready to go it alone—against Red China's wish—and hold such a meeting.

★ ★ ★

The diplomatic sources said the broad outline of these developments emerged from recent talks between Khrushchev and satellite leaders in Moscow.

They said the communist scene had changed considerably since Khrushchev's precipitate dash to Peiping late last summer for a secret meeting with Mao when Peiping's rumblings against a summit talk became audible.

The immediate outcome was a sudden Soviet decision not to hold the summit talks. This was followed by the Red Chinese offensive against the Quemoy and Matsu Islands with every indication Mao had the upper hand in Sino-Soviet relations and was virtually dictating his terms to Moscow.

More important, Peiping indicated it was assuming the role of the ideological leadership of the communist camp. It led the campaign against Marshal Tito's revisionism with Moscow following apparently with some reluctance.

CRITICIZES COMMUNES

Since then there have been few if any references in Moscow's pronouncements to Sino-Russian cooperation.

In addition Peiping has embarked fully on the road to communism which would wrest the leadership openly from Moscow and Russia has made veiled criticism of Mao's commune system.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev was quoted as having personally criticized the commune system by which workers are forced into labor camps and to have pointed out Russia tried it after the revolution and pronounced the system a failure.

Khrushchev also was said to have scoffed lately at Mao's policy as "reactionary," or arch-Stalinist.

Mao has moved increasingly back toward Stalinism and his claims to be the first nation on the road to a fully communist society is an open challenge to Khrushchev's leadership.

As a result, the diplomats said, Khrushchev revived the idea of a summit talk without regard to Peiping's susceptibilities, the Red Chinese veto of an earlier meeting —and a summit talk without Red China.

Now What'll They Do?

Alewifes Causing New Great Lakes Problem

Just when scientists seem to be getting the best of the sea lamprey, along comes the alewife to threaten the commercial fishing industry in the Great Lakes. The alewife is a fish that cannot be marketed widely for food. To make the problem worse, it multiplies with great rapidity.

This fish was first reported in Lake Michigan in 1949, according to W. F. CARBINE, regional director of the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries. Today, only nine years later, commercial fishing has been halted by most of the fishermen because every time they raise their nets they have thousands of alewifes for each commercially valuable fish.

★ ★ ★

Adding to the problem is the fact that the alewife has a sharp keel on its belly which makes it difficult to remove from a net. Fisheries experts say that unless some method of eliminating the alewife can be found, fishermen will have to devise a new type of gear to gather their fish.

★ ★ ★

The Fisheries Bureau is seeking to find commercial uses for the alewife, but thus far the market is confined to mink farms, catfood and brined delicatessen items, which are limited in their volume.

The war on the sea lamprey gives promise of ultimate success, although the bureau estimates it will take biologists at least a year to solve problems of wide-scale use of the nitro-phenol chemical which is expected to control the lamprey.

Scientists hope to save enough lake trout in Lake Superior to provide a supply of eggs for restocking Lakes Huron and Michigan where these fine commercial fish have been all but completely destroyed

★ ★ ★

Just to make sure, conservation employes are netting lake trout, stripping them of their eggs for use in state hatcheries, thus seeking to assure a future supply after the lamprey has been controlled.

★ ★ ★

One more problem concerns the Fisheries Bureau this year. It is the failure of commercial fish production in Lake Erie. Two vessels have been studying this problem, first to find the cause of the current production failure, and second, to seek new, productive fishing grounds there.

So goes the fisheries situation. Just as is so often the case with the individual fisherman, by the time he solves one problem, another one faces him.

Opposition to Franco Labeled Communist

General FRANCO of Spain has a simple way of dealing with critics. He puts them in jail.

A new wave of arrests has been reported by the New York Times. Some 80 scientists, lawyers, physicians, students, labor leaders and workers have been arrested. Many of them are able and highly respected citizens and from prominent and wealthy families.

As in the past no word of the arrests reached the Spanish people directly. A year or so ago 40 to 50 liberal Monarchists were jailed for a time. All opposition to FRANCO at any time is labeled Communist.

★ ★ ★

Instead of enlisting the aid of Spain's ablest citizens and dealing with the country's economic plight, the General suppresses all criticism and asks for more help from the United States. This year Spain will receive $50 million for "defense support," that is, economic aid. The figure for total military aid is secret.

★ ★ ★

Applications from Spain are before every U.S. government foreign loan agency while a stream of missions has come from Madrid to find other ways of obtaining help, says the Washington Post.

The Spanish people need food and we have never been deaf to the pleas of the hungry. Another coldly practical reason for assisting Spain is the fact that we have strategic military bases there.

Opposition to Gen. FRANCO is widespread but it is not united nor strong enough at the present time to overthrow Spain's government.

The furor about liquor in a Detroit TB san finds no local echo. Only one or two minor incidents of such trouble have arisen at the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, and they have been handled there without the patient being discharged and thus becoming a menace in spreading the disease. "I Don't Want to Caddy Any More, Pop I Want to Play"

David Lawrence Says:

Issues Should Decide Voting Time

WASHINGTON — Senator Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., of Missouri, Democrat, has proposed that a constitutional amendment be adopted which would do away with the two-term limitation and let a president of the United States be elected for as many terms as the people desire.

LAWRENCE

This is a recognition at last that the two-term idea was a mistake, as many of us pointed out at the time it was proposed. But Senator Hennings doesn't go far enough.

The problem today is not how to increase the influence of a president in his second term but how to achieve a responsible system of party government so that the American people can fix responsibility at any time and turn out the incumbents of both the executive and legislative branches simultaneously.

What America is suffering from today is divided government. For a period of eight years, the United States has not had the same party in control of both houses of Congress as it has had in the White House.

To remove the two-term limitation on the presidency solves nothing. It would leave it to the people to decide in each case whether a third term is desirable.

Although the Democratic party in its 1912 platform had favored a single term for presidents, Woodrow Wilson wrote, in February 1913, just before he was inaugurated president, that four years was "too long a term for a president who is imposed upon and does not lead" and that four years was sometimes "too short."

Mr. Wilson leaned toward the principle of cabinet government, with direct responsibility to the people as in Canada and other English-speaking commonwealths. Sooner or later, he predicted, the United States would have to find a way to hold the executive and the legislative branches together responsible to the people.

As it is now, members of the House of Representatives must go before the people every two years and face the voters. Yet they may be blamed for the failures of a president who is a member of their party.

The chief executive himself, however, escapes any discipline by the electorate in midterm — he retains his full power to continue for two years more the policies disapproved by the people in a congressional election.

Divided government in a crisis could bring a serious situation for America. In an Atomic Age it could slow up the action that should be taken promptly to avert catastrophe. But even in peacetime the damage done by a divided government is considerable.

Today the Democratic party is in complete control of both houses of Congress by an overwhelming majority, but in the 1960 election the people will not be voting on the record made by the Democrats in Congress in the next two years.

The people will be voting for or against the record of the man in the White House, who happens to be a Republican, though the legislative body on which he depends for the fulfillment of his program is of the opposite party. How can responsibility for mistakes be clearly fixed under such circumstances?

Another fault in the present system is that the congressional and presidential elections must be held at stated dates. There is no opportunity within the four-year term of a president to uphold him in a national election if he is right or to turn him out of office if he is wrong.

★ ★ ★

The time for an election is whenever a specific issue has arisen which the people may wish to decide without the complicating circumstances of concurrent state elections. This is the most democratic method yet devised and, by means of it, parliamentary governments have managed to satisfy the public will.

The Country Parson

"I'm afraid youngsters growing up in today's world might get the idea we think it's more important to do well than to do good."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Good Digestion Depends on How You Chew Food

In the free pamphlet Yankee Stomach (for which send a stamped, self-addresed envelope), I remind persons with hyperacidity, heartburn, waterbrash, bloating by gas, acid eructations, uneasiness from fullness after eating, hunger pain, impatience, irritability and general crankiness of "dyspepsia" that the only part of the entire digestive process over which one has any control is mastication.

DR. BRADY

During the chewing of food, digestion of starch begins and this continues for half an hour or longer after the well masticated food enters the stomach.

Despite teachings of food faddists and diet specialists concerning decomposition of protein food material in the large intestine and the necessity of doing something to prevent it, competent physiologists say that putrefaction (bacterial action on proteins of meat, fish, milk, eggs, beans, nuts) breaks down protein to their amino acids, which are essential for good nutrition.

The late Elie Metchnikoff, who ascribed premature senility to excessive putrefaction in the intestine, advised consumption of Bulgarian cultured milk—skim milk boiled for five minutes, allowed to cool and then sown with a culture of the Bulgarian strain of lactic acid bacillus.

The milk is kept in a warm place and several hours fermentation produces a "sour" curdled milk, pleasant to the taste and active in preventing intestinal putrefaction." Metchnikoff recommended taking 1½ to two glasses daily. He advanced the theory that "our precocious and unhappy old age is due to poisoning . . . from the putrefaction in the large intestine."

Far be it from me to deny that buttermilk, sour milk, clabbered milk, Bulgarian milk, Acidophilus milk, yoghurt, or other cultured, fermented or soured milk food or beverage is not wholesome and healthful.

I do contend, however, that fresh milk, skim milk or buttermilk does everything for health that any of these other beverages or foods can do, and it is merely a matter of one's taste which to choose.

As for sauerkraut or sauerkraut juice, so far as good digestion, health and longevity are concerned, one can take it or let it alone. I can take it, in desultory fashion, with spare ribs or frankfurters, consoling myself with the thought that, after all, I'm thankful it wasn't mashed potato.

The lesson to remember is this: instead of trying to "regulate" your bowels and drive imaginary poisons or "toxic wastes" out of your system, you had better give nature a chance, and stop meddling with your colon.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Scorns Low Salaried Son-in-Law

Doris is being tortured at home and her parents should know better. As long as you earn an average American salary, you can enjoy the luxuries of kings in other lands. Test your job by seeing if it permits you to plant roses where thistles grew before! That's more important than the size of your income tax.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE A-423: Doris F., aged 21, is the only child of wealthy parents.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, I am engaged to a theological student," she began with a happy smile.

"We love each other and plan to be married next month, for he will finish seminary then and be assigned a church.

"But my parents are very much opposed to my marriage. They say there is no financial future for a clergyman and we'll be poor all of our lives.

"Daddy has grown so bitter about it that he has even threatened to disown me. He has cut off my allowance and has even tried to get the police to keep my fiance away from our home.

★ ★ ★

"I am very upset about it all and I think my parents are very unfair. What should I do?"

CASH AND CARRY

A lot of people who are loaded with cash will soon find they cannot carry it with them when they graduate from this earth.

"What you have, you leave here on earth at death," runs an ancient truism, "but what you give away, you carry with you."

So what we carry on to the next world will not be cash or mink coats or sports cars and luxurious homes, speed boats or stocks and bonds.

Life here on this planet is like a dance. We may pick a partner and stick together in marriage for 50 years while the music of the spheres is playing. But soon the dance is over!

A span of 50 more years seems very long to a teenager. But in heaven, clocks may not measure time.

Thus, a young mother who dies in childbirth, may be greeted in the Beyond with the comment, "In a moment your husband and child will be here."

Meanwhile, her attention may be so preoccupied with the wonders of Heaven that it literally seems only a moment till her husband stands by her side. By our earthly clocks, it may have been 50 years before he arrived!

★ ★ ★

So men like Doris' father should get a true perspective of this Cosmic School System in which Earth is but a single classroom.

"What shall it profit a man to gain the whole word," Christ warned, "and lose his own soul (or son and daughter)."

True, a clergyman may not average more than $5,000 per year in salary, plus parsonage rent and the wedding fees for his wife's "pin money."

But such a salary permits us Americans to surpass the luxurious living that kings enjoy abroad.

★ ★ ★

Millionaires and average Americans thus drink the same city water and pasteurized milk. We all eat the same bread and government inspected meats.

We view the same movies and TV shows, for there is no special movie or TV channel allotted just for millionaires. We read the same newspapers.

When Marshall Field fell heir to his vast inheritance, it is said that a reporter rushed up to him and gushingly inquired:

"Mr. Field, what's it like to have $50,000,000 suddenly dropped into your lap?"

And Mr. Field is said to have laconically answered:

"Well, I still eat only three meals per day and wear only one suit of clothes at a time."

Clergymen and school teachers thus have almost the same wide range of modern advantages that millionaires enjoy.

And the clergyman can look back after 50 years and breathe a sigh of gratitude at having changed hundreds of lives for the better. He will have planted idealism and hope where avarice and despair previously reigned.

Like Abraham Lincoln, he can feel that he "planted roses where thistles grew before," and that is the final test of a useful life here on Earth.

So I urged Doris to explain this to her Daddy and then go ahead with her wedding.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane (in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Highway Commissioner Clears Misunderstanding

I certainly enjoyed reading the fine editorial on highway progress in the Dec. 29 Press. I would like to clarify one item, and that's the portion of U. S.-23 from the southwest city limits of Flint south to the Ohio line is not on the National Interstate Highway System and is not entitled to 90 per cent Federal aid. Some confusion exists on this score and is partly the fault of our failure to make this clear.

★ ★ ★

The new Oakland County Expressway, which will serve south Oakland, Pontiac, and connect with the Fenton-Clio Expressway at the southwest limits of Flint, is on the Interstate System, however. The Department recently obtained U. S. Bureau of Public Roads approval for placing this alignment on the Interstate System.

★ ★ ★

I'd like to congratulate The Press on its progressive approach to the value and need for better roads.

John C. Mackie
State Highway Commissioner

'Sometimes Driver Isn't to Blame'

Accidents on Oakland County roads aren't all the fault of drivers or the law enforcement department, but can be laid to the Road Commission. I've worked at Pontiac General and traveled these roads eight years, and have lived in this area for 18 years. Many are the time's I've breathed a prayer on reaching home without an accident.

★ ★ ★

I came down Rochester Hill when the roads were glassy and cars in the ditch to find the road trucks parked at the beer garden at Fifth and Main. People who live west of Rochester Road are on their own so far as roads are concerned. I've seen four foot drifts stay on Snell Road a full week to be shoveled off by Macomb County residents.

★ ★ ★

Just today I turned completely around on icy Snell Road after the ice had been there two days. Macomb County roads were graveled. Now if the Road Commissioner and employes don't like the job, give it to someone who would, and save lives. I don't believe in slavery.

'His Objection Shows Him Up'

McNamara now wants to end the Senate committee that is investigating the crooked union leaders. That's the committee he got off fast himself when he found what was going on. It all shows what he is, just a cheap stooge for labor leaders that wave in his direction.

★ ★ ★

The union bosses I know are all for cleaning out the crooks and putting labor in clean hands but McNamara takes his orders without a whimper and wants to abolish the committee that cleans up the crooked mess in labor ranks.

★ ★ ★

Explains Meaning of Quoted Word

In answer to the question about the "meek shall inherit. . .." the "meek" in this Beatitude doesn't necessarily refer to the submissive and weak. They're those who are humble in the strength of reverence. Because of their reverent lowliness, they'll inherit the earth. It will be to them a gift or legacy. This is in keeping with the Magnificat in Luke 1:52.

Mrs. Mildred Garling

'Party's the Same to Southerners'

Excerpt from the encyclopedia: "Republican Party: one of the two major political parties in the United States. It was founded in 1854, primarily as an antislavery party, by former adherents of the Free-Soil and Whig parties and by leaders of the rising commercial and industrial class of the Northern states, which viewed the abolition of slavery as the means of securing economic and political supremacy over the powerful Southern slaveholders."

★ ★ ★

The policies of this party are clearly set forth and there has been no change as was clearly demonstrated by U. S. troops occupying Little Rock Central High School from Sept. 24, 1957, to end of that school year.

★ ★ ★

The Southern people will never forget or support this party.

Cows Bedded Down With Imported Straw

STURBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Cows at the 18th century exhibition farm at Old Sturbridge Village sleep in the lap of luxury. They are bedded down on imported straw, no less. The straw comes to this re-created Yankee country town in shipments of English china sold in the Village gift shops.

DILLWYN, Va. (UPI) — Folks hereabouts say maybe Radford Bennett Ranson may hold a national record. He has been on the town council for 46 years. The American Municipal Assn. says it knows of no longer service.

If so, it is in spite of Ranson.

Good Words for Police

Them Strays Need Genuwine Rasslin'

By FRANCIS STILLEY

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)—Hey, you old cowpokes. Saddle up and come a-gallopin'. They're needin' a little roundup in these here parts of Westchester County.

Gotta corral a half dozen black Angus steers. Been on the loose since Dec. 20, roamin' the countryside scarin' folks and tearin' up stuff in general.

Nobody's been able to catch 'em yet and what the folks are talkin' about doin' now would make a real genuine cowhand throw a wall-eyed fit. They're thinkin' about shootin' the pore critters with tranquilizer bullets!

★ ★ ★

Well now, it seems as how these here steers got loose from a place called the Norda experimental farm in nearby Harrison, and nobody could even get on their track till last Sunday. Somebody saw them grazing around here, all of five miles from where they got out.

Since then all kinds of people have been tryin' to lasso 'em, police and everybody. One feller even got knocked down and put in the hospital with a dislocated shoulder.

★ ★ ★

The steers just keep goin', though. They've been pawin' around through Scarsdale, next door, and New Rochelle, next door to Scarsdale.

Now they've gone and split up. Three of 'em are still in Scarsdale, and three have come to White Plains.

The police here asked the Bronx Zoo in New York City what to do. The zoo folks said they'd send wild animal people up here and shoot the steers with tranquilizer bullets, which would soon make the steers nice and quiet and easy to get a-holt of.

★ ★ ★

Said somebody would have to pay for all the trouble, though. So far nothin's been decided.

But what do you think of that, you old saddle busters?

Blonde Wife, 18, Found Beaten

Pretty Office Worker Discovered in Closet After Strangle Attempt

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Police tried today to find why a shapely young wife of a Marine stationed on Okinawa was beaten, strangled and left nearly dead in a downtown office building.

Mrs. Trella Joy Carter, 18, a blonde office worker, was in fair condition early today after surgery for multiple face and head cuts.

★ ★ ★

She was found slumped on the floor of a shallow closet by an electrician at 3:40 p.m. Thursday. Clerks called the electrician after they noticed blood trickling down ceiling wire conduits into their fifth floor office.

Homicide Capt. Will Fritz said the girl, semi-conscious and in shocks, had been unable to talk to investigators. Doctors indicated the pretty mail clerk had not been raped.

Two patrolmen said the girl was found in a half-sitting position in the double-doored electrical locker, her face and shoulders blood drenched.

★ ★ ★

A length of flexible steel binding strap was twisted about her throat, the officers said, and her blouse, skirt and hose were torn.

Building electrician Nelson Payne, 53, told officers that when he pulled the girl from the closet that the metal strap on her throat touched a wire in the metal closet and caused a shower of sparks.

Building workers told police the girl was last seen about 55 minutes before Nelson opened the closet. Police said offices filled the first five floors of the building. But the sixth floor and those above still are under construction.

Fritz said no motive or definite suspects have been discovered.

Decision Reserved in Costello Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal judge has reserved ecision in the denaturalization trial of 68-year-old gambler Frank Costello.

Judge Archie O. Dawson Thursday reserved ruling after hearing government and defense arguments. Dawson gave counsel until Feb. 2 to submit memoranda of law to enable him to reach a decision.

★ ★ ★

The government contends Costello obtained his citizenship in 1925 through fraud and misrepresentation.

Costello now is serving the remainder of a five-year federal court term for income tax evasion.

Suspend Sentence for Gunrunners

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two confessed gun runners who said they were trying to help Fidel Castro's Cuban rebels received two-year suspended sentences in U.S. District Court here yesterday.

★ ★ ★

They are Jerry O'Brien Watkins, 31, and Robert M. Gibson, 26, both of San Antonio. Watkins was arrested by federal officers in Laredo on Dec. 2, 1957, when 50 submachine guns were seized. The same day, Gibson and two others were arrested here.

The government alleged a deal had been made for the men to sell Castro 300 machine guns for $52,000.

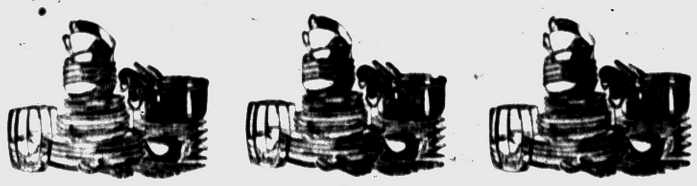

During the first three months of 1958 the nation's lumber production totaled 7,311,000,000 board feet, a decrease of 10 per cent from the figure for the like period of 1957.

It includes a boathouse, boat docks, and swimming pool.

Widow Claims Power Estate Only $500,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Tyrone Power's widow estimates his estate at half a million instead of the five million figured by ex-wife Linda Christan.

★ ★ ★

The $500,000 reckoning is in a petition by Power's widow, Debbie, for a family allowance for herself and her unborn child.

★ ★ ★

Miss Christian made the five-millions estimate in a petition last month for $650 a month support for her two daughters by Power.

He Knows the Law

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—At the robbery trial of Calvin Lee Hughes, defense attorney Archie Brown asked Marvin Laskowski if he knew what would happen if he told a lie on the witness stand. "Yes," answered Laskowski. "What?" Brown pursued. "I'd go to hell," Laskowski said. Prosecution and defense agreed the 10-year-old was qualified.

16 Fire Victims Buried

BOSWELL, Okla. (AP)—A pile of ashes and two freshly turned gravesites were all that remained today of Oklahoma's worst residential fire.

The blaze snuffed out 16 lives early Thursday. Services were held in the afternoon for the Negro victims at the Oberlin Community Cemetery 11 miles south of this southeast Oklahoma town.

The remains of nine victims were buried in one casket and seven in the other.

Booker Gardner, husband of one victim and father of 10 more, was among the 80 persons attending.

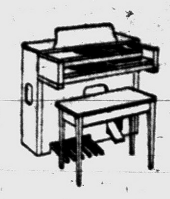

Killed were his wife, 38; 10 of their children, ranging from 6 weeks to 15 years; three orphaned nieces and two nephews.

Gardner, a 45-year-old laborer, had been coon hunting with another nephew, John Stewart, 15, overnight. He did not learn about the predawn tragedy until several hours later.

He stared at the ruins and sobbed, "My Lord, my lord, my Lord."

Railway Merger Falls Through

NYC Rejection of Plan Bitter Pill to Swallow for Pennsylvania Line

By WILLIAM FERRIS
AP Business New Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A possibility of other Eastern railroad mergers arose today from the short-lived and busted romance of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads.

★ ★ ★

The Central directors suggested Thursday that a study be made to create three or four rail systems in the East. Pending that, they added, no further steps should be taken toward a corporate merger of the Central with the Pennsylvania.

★ ★ ★

This was a fairly bitter pill for the Pennsylvania, although the Central directors sweetened it with the statement that they were pleased with results of the merger study and urged immediate "appropriate coordination of facilities which would result in substantial savings."

James Symes, president of the Pennsylvania, said he was "amazed" the Central wasn't going to go on with steps toward merger.

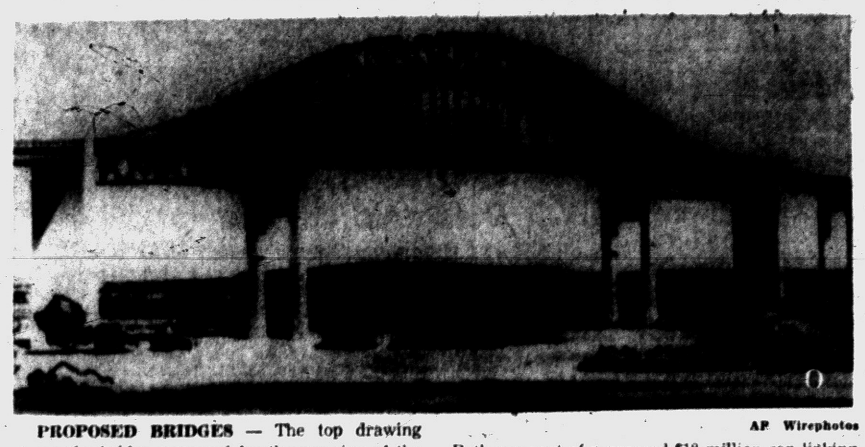

★ ★ ★

"It is well recognized throughout the industry," Symes said, "that coordination of facilities is not a substitute for corporate mergers—if it were, the question of mergers would not now be considered."

★ ★ ★

The possibility of merging the many Eastern lines into three or four major systems has been envisioned for years, with such roads as the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and Erie each heading one system.

Free Blonde in Infant's Kidnaping

NEW YORK (AP) — A slight blonde has ben released after questioning in the kidnap case of Lisa Rose Chionchio, snatched from the nursery of St. Peter's Hospital in Brooklyn last Friday when she was 2½ hours old.

Police have been looking for a bleached blonde seen loitering abou tthe hospital before the infant was spirited away.

★ ★ ★

Thursday, two young girls on a Brooklyn subway train saw a woman muttering to herself as she read a newspaper story about the kidnaping. The girls followed the woman from the train and hailed Patrolman Thomas Sheridan.

Sheridan said the woman refused to answer questions and tried to walk away from him. She threatened to sue for false arrest, but then allowed herself to be taken to a police station. She was not identified.

★ ★ ★

Questioned for several hours, she was then released.

Police believe the Chionchio baby was taken by a frustrated woman with a maternal complex. The FBI is also taking part in the hunt.

NEW YORK (AP)—Zsa Zsa Gabor says she and Hal B. Hayes, wealthy contractor, have resumed their on-and-off talk about getting married.

Asked Thursday night about a report that their engagement was on again, Zsa Zsa replied: "We don't know yet. We are talking about it."

Chief Finds Lost Art

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Highland Park Police Chief W. H. Naylor found the missing John Singer Sargent painting "Swallows" Thursday in an unlikely place, the front seat of his prowlcar. 2 VIPs Visit Marie Torre in Jail Cell

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)—Boston attorney Joseph N. Welch and TV producer Robert Montgomery paid a call on columnist Marie Torre Thursday.

★ ★ ★

They visited the New York Herald-Tribune syndicate writer in Hudson County Jail, where she is serving a 10-day prison sentence for contempt of court.

Both told newsmen the call was strictly social.

Welch won nationwide fame as Army counsel furing the televised McCarthy hearings and has since appeared as commentator on several TV programs.

★ ★ ★

Miss Torre, 34 and the mother of two, went to jail Monday rather than reveal the source of an item in her radio-TV column about singer Judy Garland.

Camera Catches Burglars

NORWALK, Calif. (AP) — The week's leave of absence Mrs. Maria Villegas took from her job as carrot grader in a produce plant has produced results.

She captured two burglars.

★ ★ ★

Victimized three times in a month, the angry Mrs. Villegas decided to trap the thieves in her own way. She armed herself with an unloaded rifle, an inexpensive camera with flash attachment, and waited in her bedroom.

Eventually, two neighborhood boys, each 13, entered her home.

"When they started to force the lock on a hankie box where I keep the money," she told sheriff's officers, "I stepped from behind a door and snapped their picture. I covered them with the gun and yelled for help."

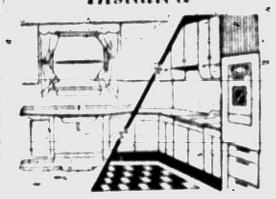

Her screams brought help. Sheriff's Capt. Herman Garbe said the boys admitted stealing $230 from Mrs. Villegas.

The picture turned out fine, too, and in color.

U. of M. Will Probe Hospital Care Costs

DETROIT (AP)—An eight-pronged probe into Michigan hospital and medical costs will be launched this month by University of Michigan research teams.

Walter J. McNerney, director of the survey, said the intensive series of interviews were being made for the Governor's Commission on Prepaid Hospital Care Plans.

McNerney said the researchers would gather data from several hundred hospitals and allied institutions, as well as prepayment and insurance companies and professional workers.

He said a preliminary report on the findings would be issued sometime in June.

George E. Bowles, a Wayne County Circuit Court judge and chairman of the governor's commission, said agencies such as Michigan Blue Cross as well as doctors and hospitals have promised full cooperation in the survey.

Girl, 9, Suffers Disease Turning Tissues Into Bone

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — A 9-year-old girl whose body gradually is turning to bone will undergo another medical examination today in hopes the disease can be arrested.

Becky Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Durwood Smith of nearby Forest, Miss., noticed a stiffness in her neck and back last November. Physicians said her disease was one in which the tissues gradually harden into bone.

The girl is still attending the fourth grade, but the disease has advanced to such a stage that she is unable to move her head freely and cannot raise one of her arms above the shoulder.

Physicians thus far have been unable to find a successful treatment.

It'll Cost $121 Million to Cure School Woes

By DON MYERS

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan schoolmen have a headache only money can cure.

A record $121 million has been requested by higher education alone.

A poll of lawmakers showed school financial troubles ranking near the top among crucial issues of the 1959 Legislature.

State aid coffers are nearly empty — January payments will be about half what they should be — and districts have borrowed nearly $55 million, most of it secured by future aid payments.

State universities are borrowing against student fees because appropriations have been suspended at least until March.

"Immediate steps should be taken to discover ways to give schools the 25 per cent of their state aid which they have not received," said Sen. John W. Fitzgerald (R-Grand Ledge).

WANT FORMULA CHANGE

But several lawmakers hinted school economy was needed.

Many lawmakers called for a change in the $190 per pupil aid formula which caused legislative fireworks last year.

A plan by Rep. George Montgomery (D-Detroit) would set up a system of partial equalization of aid payments by counties instead of complete equalization by school districts as under present law.

Reps. Carroll C. Newton (R-Delton) and Clarence B. Meggison (R-Charlevoix) said formula changes were needed to insure equal opportunity for education in all areas of the state.

Rep. Robert E. Waldron (R-Grosse Pointe) said local taxes should be raised to meet school needs.

Educators requested $101 million last year. They got $87 million.

Heeding the handwriting on the ivory towers, nine state institutions of higher education agreed a joint budget request would avoid "unwise duplication." There were indications the first single request for funds would be made this year.

★ ★ ★

Higher education is not the only school group looking for a bigger budget. Gov. G. Mennen Williams said he hoped the Legislature would provide "adequate" teacher salaries, and a plan to provide matching funds for school counselors has been advanced.

ECONOMY NEEDED?

"We need . . . a better look at the extras for schools," said Rep. Arnell Engstrom (R-Traverse City).

Rep. Fred O. Olsen (R-Sheridan) indicated administrators were not being "honest" about the school problem.

An effort to combine the Wayne State University governing body with the University of Michigan Board of Regents is expected from some Wayne County lawmakers.

★ ★ ★

Less controversial education issues that probably will come before the Legislature include:

—Plans calling for school fire safety inspections.

—A bill requiring certification of driver training schools and instructors.

—Proposed legislation establishing a loan system for college students.

—An attempt to give university status to Central Michigan College and Eastern Michigan College.

—Possible changes in school election laws.

Learn Public Relations

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Ten hours of courses in public relations are required of recruits in the 10-week course at Baltimore's Police Academy, Capt. Norman J. Schleigh, academy director, said recruits are told to avoid such forms of address as "Bud," "Junior," "Mac," "Babe," and "Gal." Why? Because they may provoke hostility.

Treasury Trying to Sell $3¼ Billion in Bonds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Treasury today was trying to sell new government securities to raise cash needed to offset an unexpected 250 million dollar drain by farm price support programs.

★ ★ ★

The treasury will sell $3,250,000,000 in new securities. Subscriptions for the bonds will be accepted Jan. 12 and 13. The new 21-year bonds will bear 4.07 interest and the 16-month notes 3.45 per cent interest.

Truck Rams Into Home, Causes $5,000 Damage

IONIA (AP)—A truck smashed into a home yesterday when its brakes failed and caused damages estimated at $5,000.

Mrs. Ronald Curtis and her two children were in the house at the time but escaped injury. Howard Lance, the truck driver, was injured and hospitalized.

MSU Course in Russian Is Packed

EAST LANSING (AP) — Russian 101-B--first year Russian language, conversation and reading—is the new best seller in courses at Michigan State University at the start of the winter term.

Prof. Stanley E. Howell, head of the MSU foreign language department, reported that students are crowding in trying to enroll for the course.

Fall term enrollment of 67 forced the course to move to a large room and add supplementary teaching with a closed television circuit. The enrollment compared with 18 students the previous year.

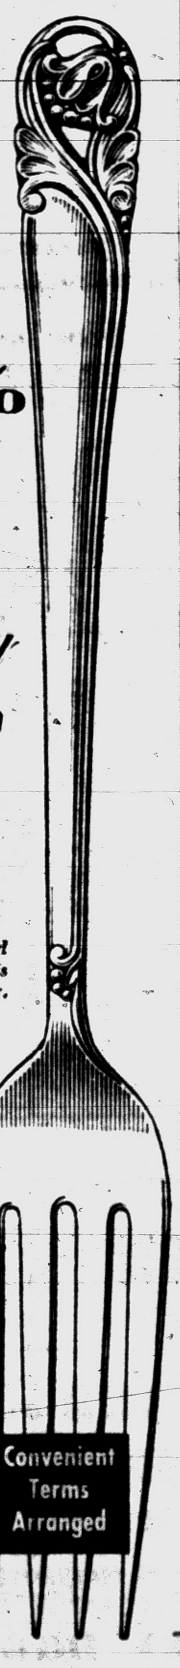

Howell said the lone instructor, Dr. Nikolai P. Poltoratsky, is scheduled to get additional help this fall.

Judge Delays Monitor Request

Awaits Court Decision That Would Allow Halt of Teamster Cleanup

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts today delayed a hearing on a request of court-appointed monitors for broader powers to force a cleanup of the Teamster's Union.

He put off the hearing pending the outcome of an action in the U.S. Court of Appeals to require him to permit the union to hold a new convention, elect officers, and thereby get rid of the monitors.

★ ★ ★

Edward Bennett Williams, attorney for the Teamsters, disavowed any Teamsters connection with the Court of Appeals action. He said he will join Martin F. O'Donoghue, chairman of the monitors, in asking its dismissal.

The Court of Appeals action was filed earlier this week by John Cunningham of New York and Anthony Distinti, individually, and Distinti as president of New York Teamsters' Local no. 277.

Cunningham, once a bitter foe of Teamsters President James R. Hoffa, in recent months has disassociated himself from a group of New York rank-and-file members who brought suit last fall to bar Hoffa from taking office.

★ ★ ★

That suit was settled under a compromise that allowed Hoffa to take office, and established the three-member board of monitors to supervise union cleanup.

The monitors took to Letts an order for his signature to implement his ruling last Dec. 11 that Hoffa had been frustrating and blocking monitor-suggested reforms.

Delay Is Granted in Teacher Case

Examination of a suspended Waterford Township high school teacher accused of gross indecency has been postponed to Jan. 23.

Arthur Mooney, 50, of 1651 Grinnshaw St., Commerce Township, was to have had examination on the felony charge, carrying a five-year maximum sentence, today before Pontiac Township Justice Robert W. Hodge.

Mooney also will be tried on a second charge Jan. 23 of furnishing beer to minors. He is free on personal bond.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies arrested Mooney Dec. 15 after investigating a fatal auto accident.

Three survivors in the death car, in statements to Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem, said Mooney bought beer for them from a grocery near his home, using their money.

Hearings Set for 3 Accused in City Break-In Examination for two men accused of breaking into Pontiac Mills, Inc., 31 Jackson St., on Dec. 31 will be held Jan. 14.

★ ★ ★

Roosevelt Blackman, 27, of 381 Ditmar Ave., and John W. Long, 24, of 503 Highland Ave., are being held in the Oakland County Jail pending examination.

Bond for each was set at $2,500 by Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum.

A third man accused in the burglary, Homer Crawford, 21, of 180 Dellwood St., waived examination before Judge McCallum and was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court where he will be arraigned Jan. 12.

Unable to furnish $250 bond, he is being held in the county jail.

Say Burglary Suspect Gave Wrong Address

The owners of an apartment house at 56 Franklin Blvd. said today that a burglary suspect who gave the apartment address as his residence to Detroit police has never lived there.

Charles Short, 23, gave the Franklin boulevard address to police when arrested Wednesday during a Detroit motel raid in which police recovered 2,000 blank postal money orders and 25 United States Treasury checks.

Area Home of 5 Gutted by Fire

'Empty Fuel Tank' Explodes as He Tries to Take It Outside

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—The explosion of a supposedly empty oil stove resulted in a fire which gutted a four-room frame home of the Luther Thomas family at 30515 13-Mile Rd. yesterday.

The family of five escaped unharmed but lost all of its possessions in the blaze.

Thomas, who was intending to replace the stove with a new one, had allowed the five-gallon fuel tank attached to the back of a stove to run dry. He said there had been no fire in the stove since about 2 a.m., but when he attempted to move the stove "it backfired," he said.

He wrestled the blazing stove to the door but couldn't get it through the opening. Flames quickly spread and Thomas fled by the door after seeing that his wife and three children were safely out of the other exit.

Firemen from Stations 2 and 3 here brought the blaze under control but were unable to save anything inside.

The home is owned by Mrs. Virginia Veet who lives next door to the burned-out house. No estimate of damage yet has been made.

Substitute School Workers Get Better Break on Pay

Substitute workers in the Pontiac School District, after 10 consecutive days in one job, will receive regular beginning pay for their work under a policy adopted last night by the Board of Education.

★ ★ ★

The policy had been proposed by Dr. Dana E. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, who pointed out that teacher substitutes after 10 days were being paid at the lowest rate on the regular teachers' schedule, but not secretaries or custodians.

★ ★ ★

He said the new policy was "consistent and equitable" to all persons.

★ ★ ★

The board also approved a proposal to ask area businessmen to evaluate specific business department operations of the school system.

It was decided that a "task force" of prominent executives be contacted to study the operations of the financial management department.

★ ★ ★

The board also approved March 1 as the dedication date for Pontiac Northern High School. The date was recommended by an advisory committee of community leaders.

A petition from property owners in the Colonial Hills Subdivision to transfer 28 lots from the Pontiac to the Bloomfield Hills School District was neither opposed nor supported by the Board.

Such a transfer, Whitmer said, would pose no significant problems for the Pontiac District. Board members agreed that decision on the petition to transfer the area should be made by the Oakland County Board of Education.

Swainson Asks for Extradition in 28 Cent Theft

LANSING (AP)—It isn't the money it's the principal of the thing.

So the sovereign state of Michigan is asking the souther nstate of Tennessee to permit the extradition of Carl Hudson, charged with breaking and entering in Nankin Township, Wayne County.

★ ★ ★

Hudson and a companion, the governor's office reported, hauled away a school safe and found only 28 cents inside. But it's still a felony, even with only 28 cents involved.

★ ★ ★

Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson acting governor in the absence of Gov. Williams, signed official papers yesterday asking the governor of Tennessee to permit the release of Hudson so he can explain what he did with the 28 cents.

Tool and Die Pact Looked for Soon

DETROIT (AP)—Negotiations on a new labor contract for some 7,000 Detroit area tool and die makers were recessed today on a note of optimism.

★ ★ ★

Federal and state mediators met with representatives of the Automotive Tool & Die Manufacturers Assn., and the United Auto Workers tool and die locals 155 and 157 until 4:30 a.m. Talks will be resumed at 11 a.m. Saturday.

★ ★ ★

One of the mediators said "some progress" had been made in the nighttime session.

The union previously had set a strike deadline of 7 a.m. yesterday, but this was suspended after the bargainers appeared near agreement.

Friends, Neighbors Rally to Aid Burned Out Family

A Sylvan Lake family of five are finding today they have more friends than they realized.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Halsapple were left with almost nothing last Wednesday when their two bedroom frame home at 1132 Glenwood St. was gutted by fire.

Friends and neighbors hearing of their plight have responded with many offers of aid to the stricken family.

"I don't know exactly how many people have called in the last few days," said Mrs. Halsapple, "but we've been surprised at the number of people offering help."

The family has been taken in by Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mathews of 1409 Glenwood.

★ ★ ★

At the time of the blaze, Ernest and Daisy Halsapple were visiting their two-year-old son, Ernie, at Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit.

Ernie, the youngest of their three children, has been fighting for his life since developing an abscessed brain tumor following a meningitis attack nine weeks ago.

"With our hospitalization insurance run out and the bill now over $2,000, I let our fire insurance go to save a few pennies," Halsapple explained.

"All that we were able to save from the ruins were our beds, a crib, and some miscellaneous bed linen," his wife added.

★ ★ ★

The house was leased to the Halsapples by Sam Warwick, of 2678 Orchard Lake Rd.

"Our landlord, Mr. Warwick, has been wonderful too," she said. "He has offered us one of his new homes to live in until ours can be remodeled."

Their other two children, Ellis, 4, and Mary Jane, 3, were at a friend's house when the blaze occurred.

Plunges 450 Feet to Death

ONONDAGA (AP) — A construction worker was instantly killed here this morning when he was knocked off a TV transmission tower and dashed 450 feet to the ground.

State Police identified the victim as Everett Kirkman, 28, of Decatur, Ill., a steel worker for the Tesco Tower and Service Co. Police said he was married and had three children.

Coroner Jack Holmes said death, at 8:40 a.m., must have been instantaneous. He said Kirkman suffered a crushed skull, multiple fractures and that his right arm was severed at the shoulder and left arm severed at the forearm.

Fellow workmen, described as "rugged guys," wept from the shock of the accident, police reported.

Police said Kirkman was at the 450-foot level attempting to fasten a 100-foot long pole near the top of the partially completed tower. A supporting cable gave way and the pole fell, carrying Kirkman with it to the ground, police said.

Retail sales of boats in the United States totaled 1.9 billion dollars last year, almost three times the 1950 figure. Outboard-motor sales increased almost 2½ times in the same period to $217,000,000.

Other new officers are David Fulkerson, past commander; Lewis Long, vice chancellor; John Robertoy, prelate; Joseph Fleming, master of work; George Gleason, master at arms; Lawrence Arntz, secretary; Edward Kerr, treasurer; and Charles Heinisch, financial secretary.

★ ★ ★

Despite 3 Opposition Appointments

De Gaulle Cabinet Strong

PARIS (AP) — Some familiar faces appeared in different Cabinet spots today, but the French government was still heading down the track surveyed by Charles de Gaulle.

Installed Thursday as the 21st president of the Fifth Republic, De Gaulle may open his seven-year term with some measures of amnesty, especially for prisoners in Algeria.

★ ★ ★

Michel Debre dropped into De Gaulle's former job of premier, but the post wasn't the same any more. While De Gaulle held the job with strong emergency powers for seven months, Debre as minister of justice wrote the Fifth Republic's constitution to give more power to the president and reduce the prerogatives of the premier and the National Assembly.

★ ★ ★

One power now removed from the Assembly enabled Debre's Cabinet to go right to work. The Assembly no longer has to approve the Cabinet first and can remove it only by a membership majority, which at the same time must agree on a new Cabinet.

Fourth Republic cabinets which lasted an average of six months usually were brought down by a minority of deputies which themselves could never provide a substitute acceptable to the majority of the members.

★ ★ ★

A strong majority in the new Parliament supports De Gaulle at present. In taking office, however, the World War II hero warned that he felt it his duty "to give France, to impose if need be, what the public good demands."

Debre appointed a 21-member Cabinet that included 17 ministers from De Gaulle's government.

★ ★ ★

The most notable departures were three Socialists who went into official opposition and former Premier Pierre Pflimlin, who asked to be relieved. Pflimlin was replaced by Robert Lecourt, another member of the Catholic Popular Movement, as a minister of state.

Emile Pelletier, a professional civil servant, quit as interior Minister and was replaced by Jean Berthoin. Edouard Ramonet, minister for industry and commerce who failed to win re-election to Parliament, also retired and was succeeded by a nonpolitical technician, Pierre Jeanneney.

NANCY LEE HANKS

A spring wedding is being planned by Nancy Lee Hanks and James F. Turner. Their engagement was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Basil L. Hanks of 49 Pearl St., Oxford. James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Turner of 12890 Andersonville Rd., Davisburg.

GAIL MARIE HOOD

Engagement of their daughter, Gail Marie, to Eric D. Bothwell has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. Arvie W. Hood of 1100 Harding Rd., Rochester. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. John Kinaitis Jr. of 2035 N. Adams Rd., Lake Orion, and the late Carl L. Bothwell.

Bob Considine Says:

Mikoyan Won't Find Key to U.S. Greatness

NEW YORK—Comrade Mikoyan is going to be Russia's leading authority on U. S. supermarkets, motels and highway toll gates when he gets back to the great people's democracy. But whether he'll know anything basic about us is another question.

Ralph Charbeneau, a friend who is a Detroit advertising man, was browsing through the works of Alexis de Tocqueville last night and was struck so forcibly by a particular passage that he dictated it to me over the phone.

The great French liberal politician and writer, who died a century ago, wrote in his "Democracy in America"—

"I sought for the greatness and genius of America in her commodious harbors and her ample rivers, and it was not there. In her fertile fields and boundless prairies, and it was not there. In her rich mines and her vast world commerce, and it was not there.

"Not until I went to the churches of America and heard her pulpits aflame with righteousness did I understand the secret of her genius and her power.

"America is great," De Tocqueville concluded, "because she is good, and if America ever ceases to be good, America will cease to be great."

Mr. M. has no churches on his shed-yule.

★ ★ ★

Judd L. Teller, a thoughtful student of the plight of Soviet Jews, points out that the visit of Mikoyan coincides with a number of black January anniversaries in that continuing struggle.

On Jan. 13, 1948, Stalin's secret police assassinated the famous Soviet Jewish actor-director Solomon Mikhoels, chairman of the Jewish anti-Fascist committee. His death was followed by the liquidation of all Jewish cultural institutions in the U.S.S.R., none of which has been restored, and the wholesale arrest of Jewish writers and artists.

On Jan. 13, 1953, the Soviet government accused leading Jewish physicians of deliberately plotting the assassination by medical treatment of the top Kremlin heirarchy. Although these charges were dismissed after Stalin's death, Jews continued to suffer from serious disabilities in the U.S.S.R., such as discrimination in education and employment.

Late this month the Soviet Communist Party Congress will meet in Moscow. Reports are that it will consider the "Jewish question" and drastic measures of penalizing Soviet Jewry for its continued interest in Jewish culture and in Jewries abroad.

★ ★ ★

Mikoyan visits us billed as the "No. 2" man in the Kremlin.

There isn't any No. 2 there now. There is No. 1—Khrushchev—and then it drops to about No. 20, and we can't be sure that Mikoyan is even No. 20.

As if in confirmation, here comes Sen. Hubert Humphrey, writing about his Russian trip in Life.

He relates that in the course of his lengthy talk with Khrushchev the Russian leader pressed a button on his desk. When nobody responded, he pressed another button and told an aide, who appeared immediately at the door, to find out why Mikoyan had not answered the first buzzer.

The aide returned after a few minutes and announced that Mikoyan was on his way to work. He showed up 15 minutes later, more or less hat in hand.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey came away with the notion that Khrushchev can summon any of his ministers with a buzzer, and gets pretty upset if they don't jump at the sound.

Mikoyan's profoundest mark on the Russian people may turn out to be his introduction to the Russkies of mass-produced ice cream—two decades and more ago. He returned from his U. S. trip with machinery for making the delicacy, then had it copied and spread the mixers and freezers through the country.

★ ★ ★

Today, Russians consume enormous amounts of ice cream. You see them eating ice cream cones while hurrying along a street in sub-zero weather. And, oh yes. In Russia, you don't have your choice of flavors. You just order ice cream, and take the flavor the people's factory made that day. Or else.

Montreal Next to Paris

Montreal is the world's largest French-speaking city. The University of Montreal's student body is made up mostly of French-Canadians. The city's oldest church, Notre Dame de Bon Secours, was establsshed in 1657.

Gasoline Sales at Peak

NEW YORK — The nation's gasoline consumption reached another all-time peak in 1957, climbing to 57,402,000,000 gallons compared with 56,022,000,000 the year before. Each of 20 states used a billion gallons or more.

Smokers on vacation this year can avoid state cigarettes taxes in only five states, but in some of these they may have to pay local taxes in individual communities. The five states are California, Colorado, North Carolina, Oregon and Virginia.

Hal Boyle Says:

Face-Lifting Changes New York's Looks

NEW YORK (AP)—The look of Manhattan is changing rapidly now under the impetus of the greatest face-lifting program in municipal history.

Landmarks are being torn down and buildings are rising as the brisk winds of the present blow the dust of the past in the pedestrian's eye.

★ ★ ★

At lunch hour, particularly in fair weather, the sites of the climbing new skyscrapers are surrounded by pale-featured office peasants. They are fascinated by the sight of their fellow men earning a living by the sweat of their brow and the use of their hands under the open sky.

Watching a couple of steelworkers nonchalantly stroll across a girder high overhead, one office peasant turned to a friend and said: "They are men. They are real men!"

★ ★ ★

In his voice was a mixture of admiration and wistful envy—a conscious expression of the realization that in the aristocracy of manhood the outdoor man has an edge over the indoor man.

The wife of the indoor man may feel that her husband is superior in some snobbish way to the rugged outdoor man, but the indoor man himself has no such illusion. He often feels his white collar is more of a badge of slavery than a symbol of success.

★ ★ ★

The indoor man, caught in the gray dismay of civilization, often finds it hard to see the importance of his work—whether he merely shuffles papers, sells neckties, arranges divorces, writes toothpaste ads, or answers the telephone for someone else above him in the office hierarchy.

He often has a trapped feeling. He has left nature too far behind. He can control his climate by turning a knob at home or at the office. Sometimes as he does this he can hear life whistling by in the wind outside his window. And he knows he is missing something.

The indoor man misses the joy of natural achievement that comes to the outdoor man—the farmer raising crops, the sailor taking a ship across the sea, the forester quelling a timber fire, the bricklayer raising the wall of a new home.

The greater creature comforts he enjoys do not compensate the indoor man for what he has lost. He neither sweats nor freezes at his job. He is usually just lukewarm—and he knows it.

The outdoor man realizes this fact, and as a result he always feels he has a clear and definite edge over the indoor man. The humblest hodcarrier cannot help looking down on a lawyer—that is, if he isn't in the lawyer's office.

★ ★ ★

The indoor man does the paper work of civilization and most of his problems are nervous ones. He is essential but often doesn't feel he is. The outdoor man handles the muscular work of civilization, and he can see the result of his labors in visible growth—a stand of waving wheat, a new road through a swamp, a bridge across a river, a new building in the skyline. He is essential, and he knows it.

★ ★ ★

Inside every indoor man, homesick for nature, is an outdoor man yearning to be free. But only old age or enfeeblement will drive the outdoor man indoors, and he is never again as happy.

In a telephone conversation between San Francisco and New York 800 tons of copper wire are put to use.

Don't You Trust Fiancee?

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My fiancee has a room in a private house. The owner of the house is a widow and after her husband's death put up for rent three of the rooms in her very large house. My fiancee has one of them, a middle-aged schoolteacher has the other and just recently the third room was rented to a young man.

"Very shortly, the owner of the house is going to visit her daughter who lives in another city for a weekend and it so happens that the schoolteacher will also be away that same weekend, leaving my fiancee and the young man alone in the house. I think it would be very improper for her to stay there while the others are away and that she should either go and stay with a friend or else go to a hotel for the weekend. I would very much like your opinion on this matter.

Answer: Taking it for granted that they are both perfectly decent people, I don't see how anyone could possibly criticize this temporary situation.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Our first son was named for my husband and carries the suffix "Jr." We would like to name our second son or my husband's father. I understand that a child named for either father or grandfather is "Jr." If this is true, it will mean that both our sons will carry the suffix "Jr." I think two juniors in one family will be very confusing and thought very strange by most people. What do you advise in this situation?

Answer: While very unusual, it is correct. However, if you prefer, you could name the child who is named for his grandfather, "2nd."

"Dear Mrs. Post: A business acquaintance of mine has just been made vice-president of a large company. I would like very much to write him a note of congratulation. Will you please tell me how to word such a note?"

Answer: Write: "Dear Mr. Jones, May I send you sincere congratulations upon your election as vice-president of the X Company—and wish you every success. Sincerely yours, John Brown."

Dad Has Wrong Idea — Abby

Teach Boy to Pull His Weight by Giving Him a Real Load

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Our son is 17. He's an average student but his teachers say he could be outstanding if he had more drive. I blame his father. Dad bought him a new car and lets him charge as much gas as he wants. Dad gives him money for his pocket and never asks him what he does with it.

ABBY

"Would you believe that this boy never earned a quarter in his life? He's never had to. He's not a bad boy but he doesn't know the value of money (he charges clothes without even asking how much they are). His Dad says he wants his son to have it better than he did because he often went hungry in his own childhood. Don't you think his father is hurting him more than he's helping him? I'd like your opinion." — SONNY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Dad's intentions are good, but he is denying his son the same challenging experiences that made a man out of him. If you want your son to keep his feet on the ground — put a little weight on his shoulders.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am an old man of 78, self-respecting but have known better times. My case worker is a good woman but she causes me great embarrassment. She comes out in the waiting room and in a very loud voice discusses my personal needs so that everyone can hear. I may be old and on relief, but don't you think I am entitled to a little privacy?" — HUMILIATED

DEAR HUMILIATED: Most case workers are kind, sympathetic, dedicated people but unfortunately yours is the exception. Of course you should have privacy. Next time ask for a confidential hearing.

After serving in the accounting department of Oakland County Board of Auditors for 37 years, Ruth Gilloe of West Iroquois road is retiring. She was honored Thursday at a tea given by more than 100 employes.

★ ★ ★

Miss Gilloe attended Pontiac schools and was graduated from Detroit Business Institute. She worked in Detroit for several years and returned to Pontiac in 1919. For two years she was connected with Wilson Foundry and Machine Co.

When her brother-in-law, the late Stanley C. Rogers was register of Deeds, she worked in the office under him.

She has been very active all her life and says "I have enjoyed every bit of my work and like meeting and working with people."

She has traveled throughout the United States and has been to Nassau several times and the Canadian Northwest. She would like to visit Alaska and Europe.

She is a member of Central Methodist Church and enjoys reading and knitting.

Now that she is retired, she plans to stay home for several weeks and then make plans for a trip.

"DEAR ABBY: My husband is 53 and lately he has started to throw temper tantrums. He's broken dishes, mirrors and chairs. He kicks at the automobile and calls me the vilest names and says he could kill me. Then an hour later he sits in Church praying and singing hymns just like nothing happened. Are there other husbands like mine?"

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: You bet! The psychiatrists' offices are full of them. Your husband needs professional help.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old and have a very young father for a girl my age. He is only 32. But, Abby, his hair is turning gray. I have tried to make him put a rinse in his hair to take the gray out but he won't do it. What can I do with him? He is too good-looking to be old and gray-headed." — DOREEN

DEAR DOREEN: A man who is 32 and good-looking will be BETTER looking with gray hair. Stay out of his hair and watch him grow more handsome and distinguished-looking by the year.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who is very dear to me but she tries my patience. When she leaves town she doesn't like to leave her dog in a kennel, so she asks me if I will keep him for the weekend.

"The dog is well trained and is no bother, but here is my problem: He's a long-haired Alaskan dog and can't stand it very warm in the house so she asks me to please keep the heat pushed down to 62. I have to go around in a sweater and am chilled to the bone. Do you think she is being very considerate to me?"

DOG TENDER

DEAR TENDER: Just because you're taking care of your friend's dog is no reason for you to lead a dog's life. Turn up the heat!

Child Likes to Impress You With Words

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

A young friend recently returned from Paris where she'd been studying on scholarship.

She loved the city and is obviously pressed by a need to keep reminding me that her past year's experiences have been different from mine, more exciting, much more exotic. She just can't say a sentence in English without sparkling it up with French words and phrases.

I say to her, "Be patient, agencies often come up with unexpected teaching jobs."

Shrugging, Fan says, "Je m'en balance. Who cares? If I can't get a teaching job, I'll clerk somewhere. Je m'en fiche."

I say, "Fiche all you like—but keep in touch with the agencies."

"Oh, zut!" says Fan. "Nuts to them. But merci bien anyway. Je t'adore, ma petite."

What's my point?

Tonight your 8-year-old, preparing to brush his teeth, will drop the cap of the toothpaste tube. Exactly duplicating the half-defiant, half-patronizing tone Fan uses for her French interjections, he'll give voice to a nasty four-letter word. You'll be shocked and unhappy.

So try to remember that his use of it stems from the same need that compels 23-year-old Fan to sparkle up her English conversation with words brought home from the Left Bank of Paris.

In Paris Fan discovered a new kind of fun with new friends. In school your Jimmy is discovering himself capable of a new kind of fun with new friends.

Fan and Jimmy both use the new friends' language to tell us that their experiences are now different from ours, more exciting, much more exotic.

As Fan is letting me know that I'm a fuddy-duddy to be confined to the dullness of the English language, so Jimmy is letting you know that you're one to be confined to the dullness of a "Darn!" when you drop a toothpaste tube cap, and that he has much more colorful words at his disposal.

He's declaring himself to be a person who gets around where you don't.

Jump on him if you must. But not too hard. As Fan and Jimmy learn that we don't mind their having different experiences, they'll lose the need to insist on the difference.

Heat Helps

Earaches Are Common Complaint in Childhood

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

An earache surely does hurt. It's the kind of a hurt that will wake a child up screaming in the middle of the night. You are not in doubt over what's the trouble.

"My ear, my ear!" he shrieks and holds onto the offending part.

If it's 2 o'clock in the morning (as it often is) you hate to call the doctor. Do you know what to do in the emergency?

★ ★ ★

Put a few drops of warm oil in the ear (medicated ear drops are best but if you don't have them, plain warm mineral mineral oil or even olive oil will do) and a plug of cotton very very loosely applied just so the oil doesn't run out.

★ ★ ★

Give the child a warm hot water bottle to put against his ear and a tablet of aspirin by mouth. This will usually ease him off back to sleep until a slightly more respectable hour to call your doctor.

Children are much more susceptible to earache than are grownups. There are two reasons for this. In the first place children have more colds and other respiratory diseases than do older people and infection in the ear almost always follows infection in the throat.

★ ★ ★

In the second place because of the shape of a child's head the little tube (the Eustachean tube) which connects the middle ear with the throat is almost horizontal in childhood and it's easy for infection to travel along this pathway from throat to ear. In adults the face is longer and the Eustachean tube is almost vertical. It is more difficult for infection to work its way uphill as it would have to in the adult.

★ ★ ★

The middle ear, the troublesome spot in children, is a small enclosed area. The eardrum makes a tight wall between the middle ear and the outside. On the other side of the middle ear is a firm membrane that has one opening in it for the Eustachean tube which leads to the throat. When infection travels up this tube it forms pus in the middle ear. This causes swelling and it is the pressure in the ear that makes it hurt. Heat helps relieve the pressure — the medicated drops also help shrink the tissue and also relieve the pressure.

No More Powder Problems

To prevent the face powder from dusting onto your entire dressing table and clothing, says a world-famous beauty expert, take the example of famous beauties from everywhere and do the following:

Do not store your powder puff in the powder box. Keep it folded in a tissue.

Press puff on the face powder surface, pick up the amount you need, then fold powdered side together, and rub gently.

★ ★ ★

Press powder onto your face and neck; never slap it. Make-up your face before you dress. Tie a thin scarf around your face and head so that you can pull on tight necklines without getting powder on them.

Instead of carrying loose powder in your purse for touch-ups, carry a compact makeup —a creamy blend of base and powder which will not spill when applied.

Making Advance Choices Big Help

One way to save time in shopping is to have the price you want to pay for an article well in mind.

It also helps to decide on color in advance. This will save you hours of weary footwork.

Value the Same

Do Exercises When Convenient

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

As I do every year during my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon, I use my Friday Question Box to answer queries from Marathon entrants.

Q. "Does it matter when I take my exercises?"

A. No. The exercises have the same value no matter when they are taken. Fit them into your daily routine at the most convenient time. You will not feel like exercising right after eating and it is best not to exercise when digestion is at its height, which is about two hour after eating.

Q. "If I should be one of the Marathon winners and you publish the results in your column, would you use my name? I would not like this."

A. No, I never print names in my column.

Q. "Just how much can I expect to accomplish if I am faithful to your Marathon routine?"

A. You can make great improvement in any defect you have. You can lose as much as 20 pounds overweight, decrease your measurements by inches. You can greatly enhance the attractiveness of your skin and hair. You can improve your posture.

If lack of curves is your problem, you can increase your bust and calf measurements by an inch or so during this time. In fact, you can practically make yourself over.

Q. "When do I start Marathon?"

A. You begin whenever you receive your booklet. I am sorry that I am unable to get the booklet to all of you at the same time. The mail is so large that this is impossible. However, we are sending them out just as fast as we can. Count your eight weeks from the time you get your booklet and start using it.

The Marathon exercises have the same value no matter when they are taken. If you want to join the 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this paper.

Q. "If I hold my calorie count to 1200 a day, how should I divide them?"

A. So far as weight loss is concerned, you can eat your allowable calories at any time. However, the most successful reducers usually eat three meals a day. Otherwise, you are likely to feel weak and become so hungry that you eat more than you should.

Q. "I am in earnest about losing 20 pounds during the eight weeks of Marathon. Would it help if I take steam baths? I can afford to do this."

A. No, this is not necesary. Any weight you lose this way is simply a loss of water, not a loss of fat. You regain this sort of loss as soon as you drink liquids.

Q. "How often should I weight myself?"

A. Weight yourself before you start and thereafter at the end of each week. Weigh at the same time and on the same scales and with the same clothes, if you are dressed.

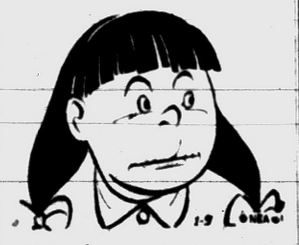

Embroidery Is in Vogue Now

Wherever you look there's embroidery. Script lettering spells out messages such as "Dear Diary" on the necktie of a night shirt, and "Catching a Falling Star" across the yoke of a choir collar pajama style.

One designer embroiders a rose in metallic gold on the bertha-like yoke. All over embroidered yokes, often in tiny rose patterns are popular. Especially effective is madeira type of embroidery on pockets and yokes of one dark flannelette outfit.

Don't Spare Suds

You can't spare the suds without spoiling your complexion. You can't expect to have shining hair unless you shampoo it regularly and often.

The nice thing about remaining quiet is that you can't be quoted.

Am I Easy Mark?

Experienced Baby Sitter Without Wages Wonders

By MARIE DAERR

"Lately, I wonder if I haven't been an easy mark instead of a good mother," asks Mrs. L. "I'm beginning to think I didn't know when to stop giving of myself.

"I reared six children on a factory worker's salary. My husband died when the oldest boys were already working. I have one daughter.

"I took care of an invalid and earned enough to make myself eligible for a small Social Security benefit. All my children are married now.

SITTER MINUS PAY

"Do you know what I am these days? An experienced baby sitter without pay.

"One of my sons lives with his wife and two small children in the downstairs apartment of the modest house I own. I live upstairs.

"When son and daughter-in-law go out for an evening, guess who is in charge?

"I'm in my 70's now and, frankly, two little children make me nervous. I'm paying good dollars for treatment and medicine to cure a condition that my doctor says comes only from being upset.

"When the factory where my son-in-law works had a strike my daughter, who is a crack secretary, went back to work.

"Every morning at 6:30 she and her husband would drop the baby off at my house. Why couldn't John take care of little Jackie? Well, he had picket duty and, besides, he 'didn't know how to handle' the youngster. It seems I'm just a 'built-in baby sitter.'

"Evenings, I'd have them at my place for supper. My daughter said she was too tired to cook an evening meal. Besides, she had a lot of little things to do at home in the evening.

"Several times during the past five years, I've visited my ailing sister, Louise, and my unmarried nephew, Alex, in the little town where I was brought up, in another state. I enjoyed helping Alex look after Louise.

"I've also enjoyed visiting with my old school chums there. I even had a couple of 'dates' with a widower I've known for years. My nervous ailment didn't bother me a bit while I was with my sister.

"When I suggested to my children that I wouldn't mind making my permanent home with Louise and Alex, they were horrified. 'You know you'd miss the grandchildren,' they said.

Holding Tongue Hard for Most Mothers

By RUTH MILLETT

A mother writes: "I have always felt very strongly against the interfering mother-in-law and the trouble she could cause with her protecting love and good intentions.

"Needless to say, I have vowed never to interfere with my children's lives.

"Now I find myself looking on and watching a selfish man making a door mat out of my daughter—and I'm wondering if I am doing right to keep silent."

Of course you are. Your daughter chose her husband. And how she lets him treat her is her business, and hers alone.

Maybe she doesn't realize now that she isn't getting enough consideration and respect.

Maybe she likes giving in to a domineering husband.

But time will probably change her attitude in either case. In time she'll get fed up with being a door mat and then she will be ready to assert herself.

But she'll have to find that kind of strength and self-respect within herself. You can't give it to her however much you love her.

So keep your vow never to be an interfering mother-in-law. You can't do any good by taking sides, and you might do a great deal of harm.

When your daughter is ready to demand more of her marriage than she is getting, she'll demand it. Until then you will just have to sit quietly by and say nothing.

It's not going to be as easy to be a noninterfering mother-in-law as you once thought it was. That is why there are so many interfering ones.

But stick by your resolve and let your daughter work out her own life.

For Senate Showdown on Filibuster

Nixon, Johnson Square Off

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two men with a great stake in 1960's presidential contest — Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson — have finally squared off against each other in the senate.

"This will not be a pantywaist fight," one intimate of Johnson's said. "This is a plain struggle between Johnson and Nixon."

His reference was to the Senate's opening day showdown between Johnson and Senate forces battling for a far tighter gag on filibusters, with Nixon in the forefront for the latter.

The long-awaited test of political personalities arose through the vice president's series of advisory opinions and tentative rulings on revision of Senate rules.

For months it has been no secret that Nixon was ready, if not anxious, to back up by a ruling his feeling that a majority of the Senate should be able to change its own rules. And behind this has been Nixon's strong support of civil rights legislation to assure Negroes and others their full equal opportunities under the 14th Amendment.

As the front-runner for the GOP presidential nomination in 1960, Nixon already is credited with broad backing among Negro voters. Friends believe he has everything to gain and nothing to lose politically by his stand on the rules-civil rights issue.

It was Nixon's willingness to rule on the current question that dramatized Johnson's own stand against him. The lanky Texas Democrat, smilingly caustic, told the Senate he thought the presiding vice president was "giving rulings pretty freely."

★ ★ ★

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) an old hand on parliamentary procedure and a Johnson tutor, challenged Nixon's rulings more bluntly. He suggested the vice president was taking on "judicial powers" he lacks.

In their first showdown, Johnson displayed his own power as leader. He adjourned the Senate out from under Nixon and others supporting the conviction held by the vice president. The fight resumes today — with a firm ruling by Nixon still a possibility if the parliamentary situation invites it.

Johnson backers contended that "Nixon came off third best" in the first round of their informal contest.

The two leaders' first public go-round had an added bonus for Johnson, his friends noted. It showed freshmen Democrats, some of them not in the Johnson camp, who was in command of the Senate.

★ ★ ★

But there were liberal Republicans — inside the Senate and out — watching Nixon's performance with expectation and admiration. And they knew the last word had not been spoken.

Probable, Says U. S. Specialist

Red A-Plane Within Year?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional atomic specialist said Thursday he does not believe the Soviet Union now has a nuclear-powered plane—but said it is likely to have one within a year.

Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill) added that at present rates of progress he believes it will be four or five years before the United States could achieve nuclear flight.

★ ★ ★

In Moscow the newspaper Soviet Aviation described an atomic plane without saying whether the Soviet Union has one or is building one.

Price, chairman of the research subcommittee of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, talked with newsmen after a secret briefing by Atomic Energy Commission, Central Intelligence Agency, and Air Force and defense personnel.

He said the time estimates he gave were his own.

★ ★ ★

Price said the Soviet announcements regarding a nuclear plane have been variously interpreted and may mean that a prototype, not yet flown, is in existence. He said that an aircraft of unusual configuration has been seen in the air and has given rise to reports that the Soviets may have flown a plane driven by nuclear power.

★ ★ ★

Price, who long has criticized the Defense Department for not pressing ahead faster with development of a nuclear plane, said he thinks the trouble still "is a matter of attitude."

Price said today's briefing did not touch on the progress of the U. S. program. He said he will call defense witnesses for committee hearings on nuclear plane progress next month.

Air Force Will Go Ahead With Titan Program

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Despite the spectacular successes of the Atlas satellite, the Air Force Materiel Command does not intend to abandon the Titan intercontinental ballistic missile program.

★ ★ ★

Maj. Gen. Ben I. Funk, commanding the ballistic missiles center in nearby Inglewood, says plans are being made for operational Titan weapons to be launched from underground sites.

★ ★ ★

Addressing purchasing agents of Los Angeles Thursday night, Gen. Funk said one of the underground Titan sites probably would be located at Vandenberg Air Force Base 150 miles northwest of Los Angeles.

Church Notes 99 Years

CENTRAL CITY, Colo. (AP) — Colorado's oldest Protestant church organization observed its 99th anniversary here recently. The occasion was the annual homecoming service and pilgrimage of the Colorado Methodist Historical Society at St. James Methodist Church, founded July 10, 1859. The building is the oldest church building still standing in Colorado.

Too Young for Slavery

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Betty Howard said on her 101st birthday recently she doesn't remember much about the slavery she was born into "because I was too little to do much work." Mrs. Howard spends most of her days chatting with her 61-year-old daughter.

Asks New Bill on Orange Dye

High Court Decision, Housewives' Habits Pave the Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because of housewives' buying habits — and a Supreme Court decision — bills will be introduced in Congress today to permit the coloring of oranges with a new dye.

★ ★ ★

Oranges, housewives say, should be orange in color. Green-skinned oranges may be ripe, tasteful and juicy. But many women won't buy them.

So many orange growers, particularly in Florida and Texas — knowing that a woman's shopping ideas must be respected — have colored oranges for years as an economic necessity.

★ ★ ★

The Food and Drug Administration three years ago threw up a roadblock against coloring with dyes containing any amount of poison.

Last month the Supreme Court ruled that oranges could no longer be colored with a coal tar dye called Red 32, used by some Florida and Texas growers. The high court upheld the FDA, which said Red 32 was poisonous.

★ ★ ★

The FDA said in 1956 that Red 32 was dangerous in certain quantities, but it did not contend that the amount used on oranges was harmful to humans.

The same year, Congress passed legislation permitting use of Red 32 for coloring of oranges until next March 1. The Supreme Court order also takes effect at that time.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Spessard L. Holland and Rep. James Haley, Florida Democrats, are introducing identical bills authorizing the coloring of oranges with a new dye called Red No. 2. The citrus industry says it is much less toxic than previously used dyes.

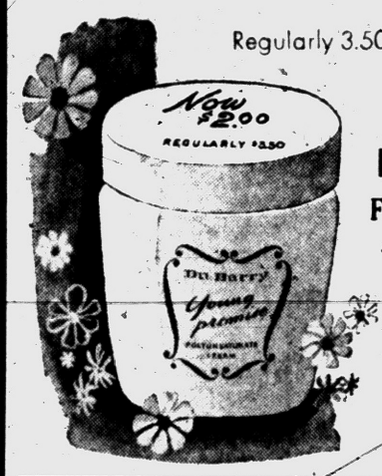

Holland said in a statement that both the citrus industry and the FDA agree the new dye will be safe to use.

Love (says Charles Knouse) is oceans of emotions surrounded by expanses of expenses. . . . A husband grumbles: "It's all right for a husband to be the breadwinner, but my wife expects me to be the whole bakery." —Earl Wilson.

Slate First Teenage Traffic Safety Conference Tuesday

Pontiac Press Photo

HAVE A MALT? — This has been a question asked many times at Pontiac Central High School since the students returned to school this week following a holiday vacation. The student American Field Service Committee has installed the malted milk machine in the cafeteria to raise money to bring two foreign students to Central in the fall. From left are Jim Moyer of 116 W. Iroquois Rd., enjoying a malt cup, and Sue Koprince of 319 W. Iroquois Rd., about to sample one. They are members of the committee.

13 Area High Schools to Participate in Program

By SYLVIA COLE
School Editor

Students representing 13 area high schools will meet Tuesday to discuss their traffic problems with the experts, present their ideas and then suggest some solutions.

They will be attending the first Pontiac Area Teenage Traffic Safety Conference which will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre of Pontiac Northern High School.

The program is being sponsored by the Safety Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce and has been organized by a committee of nine teenagers.

★ ★ ★

More than 175 students are expected to participate in the conference from St. Michael's, St. Frederick's, Waterford Township, Pontiac Central, Pontiac Northern, Walled Lake, Oxford, Milford, Holly, Brandon, Clarkston, Bloomfield Hills and Troy high schools.

Other high schools who have been invited to the conference are Rochester, West Bloomfield, Lake Orion, Birmingham and Avondale.

SPEAKER FROM MSU

"Should Teenagers be Treated as Adults?" and "Do They Want to be Treated as Adults?" is the theme of the conference. Gordon H. Sheehe, director of the Michigan State University Highway Traffic Safety Center, will be the keynote speaker and discuss the theme at 10:15 a.m.

SHEEHE

Six other topics have been selected by teenagers to be discused at the conference. They were selected from a proposed list of 17 which the student steering committee sent to all area high schools for a vote by the teens.

Each of the six discussion groups will be attended by a specialized adult in the subject who will act as a resource person. The persons and the discussion subjects include: "Drag Strips," James J. Cohoon, Genesee County Safety Commission executive director; "Teenage Drinking and Driving," Mrs. Frances Kessler, director of the Pontiac Alcoholism Information Center.

Others are "Upping the License Requirements for Drivers and Probationary Period for First Year Drivers," Ralph W. Moxley, Birmingham police chief; "The Effect of Speed Violations; Should Traffic Laws be Enforced?" Joseph J. Zabelski, safety education consultant, Auto Club of Michigan; "Extension and Betterment of Driver Training Education, including Financial Help on Driver Training Education," Robert O. Nolan of the MSU Highway Traffic Safety Center.

The "Michigan Compulsory Vehicle Inspection" discussion will be attended by Gerald W. Shipman, executive secretary of the Michigan State Safety Commission.

Members of the conference student steering committee and the high school they attend are Michael Flynn, chairman, St. Michael's; Carol Fitch, secretary, Clarkston; Larry Erdman, Bloomfield Hills; Alfred Monetta, Milford and Tony Hiller, Waterford.

Others were Bill Havel, Walled Lake; Harrison Munson, Pontiac Central; Dan Riley, Bloomfield Hills, and Ned Ely, Walled Lake.

Adults working on the conference are Harvey M. Johns, chairman of the Chamber's Safety Committee and Robert Flynn and George Stewart, cochairman of the project representing this committee.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston, who has proclaimed Tuesday as Teenage Traffic Safety Day, will address the conference at 10 a.m. with Edward Maier, president of the chamber and Flynn, student chairman.

★ ★ ★

Two safety movies will also be shown during the day's program and, before the small discussion groups begin, there will be a 20 minute "coke break."

A program including a band, magician and dance acts will precede the 1:20 luncheon in the cafeteria sponsored by General Motors Truck and Coach Division.

Each discussion group will present resolutions to the general assembly held from 2 to 3:30 p.m. They in turn will be sent on to the Michigan State Safety Commission as recommendations, according to William L. Belaney, assistant manager of the chamber.

It is hoped students will also take back their traffic safety knowledge, ideas and resolutions and discuss them with fellow students in order to create a greater interest in the subject and become better and safer drivers.

TO ATTEND SAFETY CONFAB

Ten St. Michael's students will attend the Pontiac Area Teenage Traffic Safety Conference held at Pontiac Northern High School Tuesday.

They include Michael Flynn, student chairman; Ron Call, Marilyn Konen, Joe Gallardo, Betty Lauinger, Russell Greenless, Shelagh O'Rourke, Fred Lauinger, Dan Dunny and Mike Wyzgoski.

Central to Sell Malts, Raise Exchange Students Fund

By JOANNE WOOD

Although they may gain some weight in the process, Pontiac Central High School students will be drinking malted milks from now until June, and for a good cause.

The newest addition to the cafeteria since students returned to school this week following the holiday vacation is a malted milk machine.

★ ★ ★

It was purchased and is being run by the student committee of the American Field Service in hopes of being able to raise funds to bring two foreign exchange students to Central in September.

This is the committee's first of several projects it will sponsor to raise the needed $1,200.

The cafeteria malts cost 10 cents each. Larger ones will be sold at basketball games.

The committee also is seeking families to take the exchange students in from September through June. The first exchange student to attend Central came last September. She is Jacqueline Baron of Rouen, France, who lives with the Dr. Jerome Fink family.

PROM TOMORROW

Tomorrow night, the senior prom, headed by Don Mann, class president, will be held in the Girl's Gymnasium from 9 p.m. until midnight.

The "Mellow Tones" will provide the music for the formal dance.

The cast has been selected for the PCH Dramatics Department's presentation of "The King and I" in March. Rehearsals will begin Monday, according to Garth Errington, director.

Central students who have leading roles include Jim McIntosh, David Brein, Marilyn Vernon, James Bank, Clark Davis, Lynn Walker, Carl Pappas, Connie Zimmerman, Sharon Pike, Charlotte Osmun, Sally Warren and Tom O'Brien.

There are 70 parts in the musical.

Music in the Round

SAUNDERS

FIVE ACES: Starting the new year in first place among local best-sellers is "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" (The Platters). Second spot goes to a real rising star, "Donna" (Ritchie Valens). In third place is "The Chipmunk Song" (David Seville), beginning to fade from the picture.

Fourth in sales is "Lonely Teardrops" (Jackie Wilson), which is still hanging on. "Stagger Lee" (Lloyd Price) squeezes into the fifth rung on the ladder and looks like a good bet for a trip upward by next week.

Last week I listed the top sellers in record shops around the Pontiac area during 1958. No two people will agree, naturally, on all the selections. This includes yours truly.

In my April 18 column I described a new release as follows: "If Nat King Cole's latest release, 'Looking Back,' doesn't sell a million, then there's something wrong with current taste."

★ ★ ★

I still feel the same about that Cole platter. It barely made the top five once, but it still has to go down as my favorite of '58.

In the pop field, although the "Chipmunk Song" is most predominant in our minds, what happened to the earlier top sellers? In January it was "Short Shorts" and "Cet a Job"; February's best sellers were "It's Too Soon to Know" and "Twenty-Six Miles."

Then it was "Lollipop" for awhile before "Witch Dr." took over in April. "Dream" was a big one, and "Purple People Eater" stayed on top in June as long as "Witch Dr." did two months before.

What happened to "Bird Dog"? It remained in the top five for nearly two months, longer than any other record during the year.

Peggy Lee's "Fever" was a top-notch disc, and "Everybody Loves a Lover" was a refreshing change by Doris Day. But neither set any sales records.

The best new female vocalist, for my money, was Keely Smith, not Connie Francis. The Everly Brothers rate about a dozen from the top.

As far as I'm concerned, The Kirby Stone Four were the year's big find and you'll have to go a long way to top the Mills Brothers, Four Freshmen, and Hi-Los. The Four Preps flopped after one hit.

Les Brown's "Concert In Modern" LP was a fine big band jazz album, but didn't rate on sales charts. Wilbur deParis' Cole Porter LP on Atlantic was a top-notch Dixie album, and Cy Touff's "Havin' a Ball" for World Pacific was one of the year's finest, although neither received much ballyhoo.

CHAPTER XXII

"It's hard on him, but he isn't the only one to be considered," said Angus. "If a passenger falls ill, we call a doctor, we engage a nurse, or we take him to a hospital—but the coach goes on.

MAKE ARRANGEMENTS

"If we schedule a time for departure and one of the passengers fails to turn up, we look for him and we make arrangements for him to be found and taken care of—but the coach goes on, as a train or a ship or a plane would go on.

"The company has a time table and short of accident—act of God—it keeps to it."

"Rot," said Maurice. "All you have to do is use your own discretion. If you talked to the other passengers, you'd soon find that they—"

"I've been through to the company's headquarters," said Angus. "The coach goes on."

Maurice turned to appeal to Mr. Holt.

"It's ludicrous!" he exclaimed. "He can't do it. He's new to the job, and he's afraid to depart from his orders by a hair's-breadth. Tell him—"

* * *

"I guess you're getting a little mixed up," Mr. Holt told him calmly. "You're mixing up inconvenience and emergency.

"You've suffered inconvenience, and we're all sorry—but we don't feel that this constitutes a real emergency."

"That's because you're wearing your own pants," said Maurice heatedly. "It's all very well for you to array yourself on the company's side — you've got something to array yourself in. I haven't."

He turned to Angus. "If you think I'm going to leave this town with safety pins holding an ill-fitting suit in position," he said, "you'll have to think again. I'll put in a call to the company on my own account."

"Do that," begged Mr. Holt. "And tell them that Lord Lorrimer and Mr. Zoller and I—all valued customers—are anxious to get to Lisbon just when we said we would, and no later.

'ANGUS IS RIGHT'

"Make your call, and then you'll feel a whole lot better and you'll place more reliance on Angus's word next time he reads out the rules.

"But I can tell you right now that what he says is correct, the coach goes on."

Maurice stared from one to the other with a frown of anger, then without another word, he turned and left them and went upstairs.

"Sorry about that," Angus, turning to Mr. Holt. "And . . . . . thanks."

Mr. Holt was still gazing thoughtfully after Maurice.

"I find that kind of interesting," he said. "Don't you?"

"I found it awkward, and I'm grateful to you for coming in on my side."

* * *

"Oh . . . ." Mr. Holt waved the thanks aside. "A lot of things," he observed, "are happening on this trip."

"You don't know anybody around here that wants to make a few blots on your record with the company."

"It wouldn't matter much. I'm doing this trip and the return trip and that's all. Perhaps I'm a kind of Jonah, and with me aboard, nothing goes right. This seems to have been a chapter of accidents."

"Accidents?"

"Incidents, then."

"And all related, wouldn't you say?"

Angus looked at him. He liked the man, and trusted him. He would have liked very much to lay the sequence of events before him, not only to get his opinion, but also to clear his own thoughts.

ANSWER NEEDED

Theories and suspicions were jostling each other at the back of his mind, and he needed to disentangle them.

Mr. Holt would make a good listener and a sound counselor, but he was a passenger and he had paid for a trouble-free trip.

Building Specifications Really Showed Fault

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (UP) — President J. Lawrence Walkup of Arizona State College at Flagstaff told the State Board of Regents something was missing from specifications for a new teacher education building.

"What," the regents asked.

"Toilets for the kindergarten department," he answered.

Hog's Fate Stirs Heart of Texans

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — San Antonio residents have donated $19.32 and a tombstone so that a white hog that drank itself to death in England can have a decent burial.

The hog broke into its master's wine cellar in Rottingdean, England, drank too much wine and fell over dead.

Doug China, a disc jockey, read a United Press International dispatch about the hog and named him "Grover."

He started a burial campaign and asked for contributions of not more than three cents. A tombstone dealer who loves hogs donated a tombstone by himself.

China said that if an airline will take the tombstone to Rottingdean free, he will donate the $19.32 to charity.

NCAA to Strengthen Enforcement Plan

Group Wants Tighter Amateur Sport Principles

Serious 'Code' Violator Could Be Fired Under New Crackdown

CINCINNATI (AP)—NCAA member schools today received a sharp double-edged mandate from their 18-man ruling body.

The powerful NCAA council, in moves to strengthen its enforcement program and tighten its principle of amateurism, warned, in effect:

1. Crack down on staff members involved in serious violations of the athletic code, even to the point of firing them, if necessary.

2. Steer clear of any financial deals, direct or indirect, which would enable baseball teams or other pro sports organizations to provide athletic scholarships.

These points were emphasized in the council's report to the 53rd annual convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.

★ ★ ★

It was at today's session that all new legislation had to be approved. It was considered highly unlikely that the council's bid for more athletic purity would be voted down.

Delegates forecast a quiet session in which most matters brought before the convention would be endorsed speedily.

Two points, however, were considered likely to cause wrangling.

★ ★ ★

One would give the three-man eligibility committee complete authority to rule upon the eligibility of any athlete for intercollegiate athletics. At present this power is held only by the council.

The other dealt with recruiting. It would prohibit institutions from providing preparatory education to prospective athletics but would have specific exemptions for the service academies because of their stiff entrance requirements.

Under the more stringent wording of the enforcement program, the NCAA can now discipline individual staff members, although still indirectly, by telling member schools involved in athletic code violations to clean house of undesirables.

The council stressed, however, that only in serious violations, and when the school does not take the initiative in disciplinary matters, will it ask the school to show cause why an individual should not be suspended or fired. The tougher policy in no way applies to the athletes involved.

The question of professional teams paying the athletic scholarships was raised by the Detroit Tigers baseball team which wished to help promising baseball players through college. The NCAA answer, in the form of a new interpretation of the principle of amateurism, was that it is not sound policy for college sports to be dependent in any way upon professionals. The schools were warned that any such gifts, even though administered indirectly by the institutions, would be investigated closely for possible indirect benefits.

East Coach Ewbank Sets New Defense at Luncheon

Pro Bowl Teams Meet Early

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The East and West teams in Sunday's Pro Bowl football classic took stock of each other at close range Thursday — across a luncheon table.

The Los Angeles Rams Fan Club supplied the food.

The occasion was marked by plenty of goading repartee about what will happen when the gridiron behemoths mix it up for charity in Memorial Coliseum.

Maybe seeing the big fellows on the East squad stow away food was a frightening experience for West Coach Weeb Ewbank of Baltimore's champion Colts. At any rate, he's announced this change in defensive strategy:

★ ★ ★

Every player named to The Associated Press All-Pro offensive and defensive teams Thursday is slated to see action Sunday with the exception of defensive end Gino Marchetti, who has a broken leg.

East Coach, Jim Lee Howell, of the New York Giants, Ewbank and all 64 players showed up for the luncheon. They applauded 1958 Pro Bowl awards made to Hugh McElhenny of the 49ers and Gene Brito of the Washington Redskins.

★ ★ ★

McElhenny received the George Halas Trophy as most valuable player of last year's game and Brito the Helms Trophy as the top lineman.

Jimmy Brown is a fullback with a mission Sunday.

The explosive Cleveland Brown fullback who leads the charge of the East's brigade would like nothing better than to erase his poor showing in last year's game.

Brown, who set a National Football League rushing record of 1,527 yards last season, was held to a stingy 38 yards in 15 carries in the last skirmish of the NFL's inter-league feud.

★ ★ ★

The 228-pound ex-Syracuse star modestly credits his blockers for his regular season rushing record.

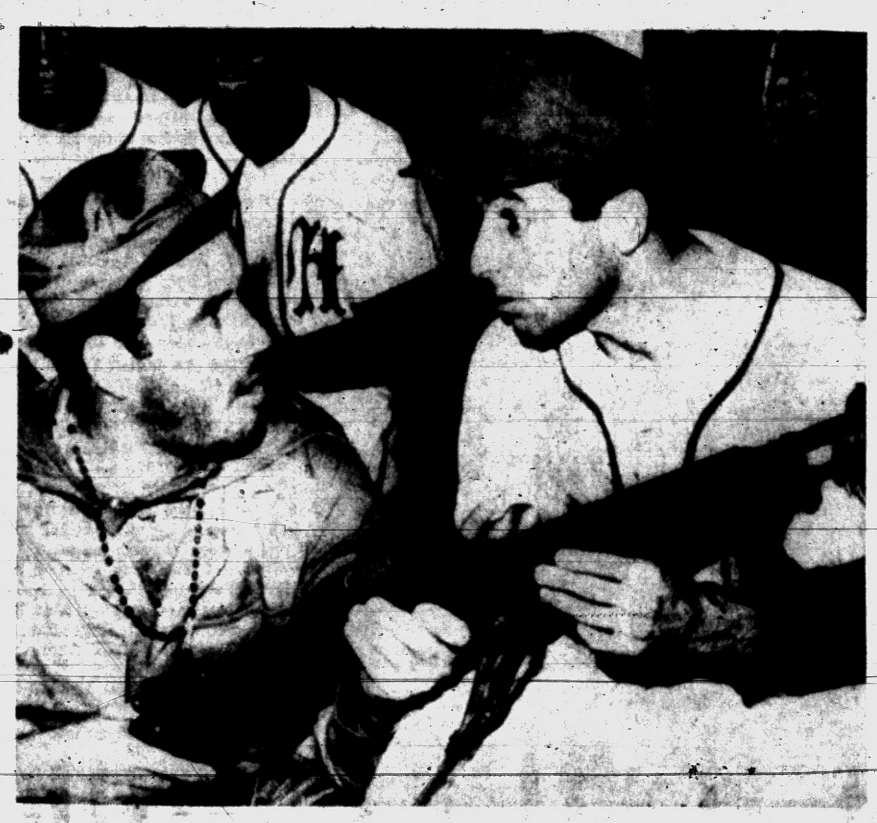

This year Brown will be in a backfield directed by Norm Van Brocklin, who came to the Philadelphia Eagles last season from the Los Angeles Rams.

Rounding out the East's backfield are Frank Gifford and Alex Webster of the New York Giants.

The East goes into the game a 6½ point underdog.

The West has won five of the eight games, including the last two. The East has won three.

"But I hope we can even the score a bit, Sunday," said Brown.

Tar Heels Beat Wake Forest Slowdown

By The Associated Press

What was shrugged off as a year of rebuilding looks as if it could turn out to be a good deal more for Frank McGuire and his North Carolina Tar Heels.

The Tar Heels, still well fed by McGuire's talent pipeline from the North, bagged their ninth victory in 10 starts against Grade A opposition last night with a 44-34 defeat of Wake Forest.

★ ★ ★

Only one senior dots the North Carolina roster and two sophomores regularly get starting assignments. But they've apparently jelled into something considerably more solid than the dapper, smiling Irishman envisioned when he talked about prospects in preseason estimates.

★ ★ ★

So far the Tar Heels, beaten only by Michigan State, have been outgunning them in the race and shoot matches and outsmarting them when the opposition tries a slowdown.

Wake Forest tried it last night, holding the ball four minutes at the start of the game, attempting only seven shots in the first half and generally using possession to try to match North Carolina's superior height and manpower.

The Tar Heels, tying rival North Carolina State's 4-0 record in the Atlantic Coast Conference, shook loose for a 17-11 halftime advantage and stayed comfortably ahead in their first experience with the slowdown. They had scored between 60 and 92 points in previously whipping Clemson, Virginia, Cincinnati, South Carolina, Notre Dame (twice), Northwestern and Yale.

Lee Shaffer, a 6-7 junior from Pittsburgh, led the scoring with 17 points. The other four starters, sophomores Doug Moe and York Larese and junior Harvey Salz, all of New York, and junior Joe Kepley of Roanoke, Va., combined for the other 27.

The Tar Heels, third-ranked nationally, and 11th-pegged West Virginia, were the only rated teams in action in the slim Thursday program.

★ ★ ★

West Virginia, with Jerry West whipping in eight of his 32 points in overtime, downed Penn State 89-81. It was the Mounties' 11th victory in 14 starts.

St. Bonaventure, one of the nation's four major unbeaten teams, kept its record intact despite sloppy play by defeating Iona (NY) 68-54 in the opener of a doubleheader at New York's Madison Square Garden. Tom Stith, a promising 6-4 sophomore, scored 19 points to lead the Bonnies to their seventh in a row.

Seton Hall won the other part of the doubleheader, nipping Muhlenberg 57-55 on Hugh Dunnion's jump shot with 12 seconds left.

Centenary bagged the 63rd and last title of the holiday tournament avalanche, spilling Spring Hill 71-57 in the Senior Bowl final at Mobile. Murray (Ky.) took consolation honors, 74-71 over Tennessee Tch.

★ ★ ★

Eastern Tennessee downed Morehead (Ky) 85-76 in an Ohio Valley Conference test. Miami (Fla) handed touring Toronto Univ. a 97-55 defeat, and Wofford beat winless Erskine, 67-58 as Trap Hart scored 24.

Seventeen of sophomore Bill Smith's 23 points were free throws as St. Peter's (NJ) walloped St. Francis (NY) 71-48. New Mexico State's Border Conference team handed Wyoming of the Skyline group its eighth loss in 11 games, 75-59.

Named in Story on USC

Boston Gridder Denies Recruiting Wrongdoing

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Globe Thursday night quoted Dave Morgan as denying a Los Angeles newspaper story that he was one of two football players involved in improper recruiting which resulted in NCAA action against the University of Southern California.

★ ★ ★

"I didn't do anything wrong," the former Natick, Mass., star said according to the Globe story. "I didn't know why my name has been dragged into this," the story quoted Morgan as saying.

The story continued, quoting the center on the USC freshman squad:

★ ★ ★

"Sure I visited USC but it was only for two days and it was perfectly legal. USC provided round trip transportation to their campus.

"I toured the school, talked to teachers and coaches and one night visited Hollywood. That was in April in my senior year at Natick High."

NCAA rules permit one visit to a campus.

★ ★ ★

The NCAA charge said Southern California had provided one boy roundtrip air transportation to Los Angeles last summer to enroll him in a junior college and the same to another for the purpose of enrolling him at USC plus such transportation of the Christmas holidays and at the end of each school year.

★ ★ ★

Dave pointed out he did not enroll in a junior college.

His father, George, was quoted by the Globe as saying:

"Between Dave working for the town of Natick, myself and two sons, we managed to pay his fare to and from the school. Dave didn't get a thing from the school and hasn't anything to worry about."

Nats, Royals Tilt Totals 283 Points

NBA Scoring Marks Fall

By The Associated Press

The Syracuse Nationals, displaying no signs of tiredness while playing their fifth game in seven nights, and the Cincinnati Royals joined to rewrite the National Basketball Assn., record book last night.

The Nationals, a hot and cold outfit all season, whipped the Royals 145-138 in three overtimes at Cincinnati for their fourth victory in five games since losing seven straight.

★ ★ ★

The combined total of 283 points bettered by one the league mark set by Syracuse and St. Louis Dec. 21, 1957. In that game St. Louis defeated the Nats 146-136. The 146 points is the league record for a winning team and the 136 was a circuit mark for a losing team until the Royals tallied 138.

In the only other game last night, the Minneapolis Lakers edged the St. Louis Hawks 95-93 at Dallas.

The Nationals had to come from behind in the regulation game and in the first two overtimes before outscoring the Royals 11-4 in the third extra period.

The Royals, scoring 19 points in four minutes, took a 119-115 lead with a minute remaining. But free throws by Ed Conlin and a field goal by Johnny Kerr tied the score at 119. In the first extra period the Nats had to come from three points back and in the second they were four down before rallying to tie.

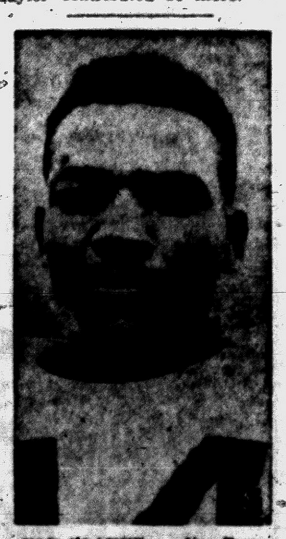

★ ★ ★

Kerr and Dolph Schayes paced Syracuse with 30 and 28 points, respectively. But they were topped by Cincinnati's Jack Twyman, who had 41.

Bob Pettit gave a terrific fourth period display of scoring enroute to a 29-point performance but the Lakers hung on for their victory over the Western division leaders.

The Hawks trailed by 20 points, 60-80, early in the final period but Pettit began hitting from all angles and dropped in 11 points as they almost pulled the game out. Cliff Hagan was the only other Hawk in double figures. He scored 26.

The Lakers, snapping a three-game losing streak, were topped by Dick Garmaker's 22 and Rod Hundley's 21 points. Rookie Elgin Baylor contributed 16 more.

Burns Withdraws Name for U. of D. Grid Post

DETROIT (AP) — The University of Detroit said today that Jerry Burns of the University of Iowa has asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration for the job of head football coach at Detroit.

John R. Mulroy, vice president of the university in charge of athletics, said Detroit hopes to name a new head coach within a few days.

He said Burns was one of many under consideration.

Several reliable sources said Burns had been told he could have the job if he wanted it. Mulroy said this was not true.

At the same time indications were strong that another Iowa assistant coach, Jerry Hilgenberg, would move to the University of Michigan staff under coach Bump Elliott.

Reports here said Hilgenberg and Burns huddled with their current boss, Forrest Evashevski, at the NCAA convention in Cincinnati last night.

Armstrong, Dixon in 'Problem' Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Gene "Ace" Armstrong, unbeaten Elizabeth, N.J., middleweight, hopes to solve all of Eddie Dixon's problems tonight by sending the Newark policeman back to his midnight-8 a.m. beat.

Dixon, torn between the comparative security of a $4,600 patrolman's job and the lure of a potential $20,000 a year in the prize ring, probably will make his decision after tonight's fight at Madison Square Garden.

Bout will be on NBC TV and radio, at 10 p.m.

Barry MacKay Upset by Youthful Rival

PERTH, Australia, (AP) — Barry MacKay's plan to "murder Butch" came a cropper today.

★ ★ ★

"Butch" is 18-year-old Earl Buchholz of St. Louis who upset his Dayton, Ohio, rival in the semifinals of the Western Australian tennis championships, 10-8, 6-3, 6-1.

★ ★ ★

Albion Star Tom Taylor Named Clarkston Coach

By CHUCK ABAIR

Albion's Little All-American football star Tom Taylor has been hired to coach football at Clarkston.

His signed contract was received yesterday by the school's Board of Education, according to Supt. L. F. Greene.

★ ★ ★

Taylor is a mid-term graduate at Albion but he will not join the Clarkston staff until next fall. He replaces Ed Hintz who is staying on as athletic director.

A 6-2, 190-pounder, Taylor gained Little All-America honors the past two seasons starring both on offense and defense at end. Albion finished in a triple tie for the MIAA championship last fall paced by the rugged flanker and former Clarkston star Lanny Leak.

★ ★ ★

He was only the 2nd man in Albion history to win first team national honors. Tom's athletic career was climaxed by his being named to the starting lineup of the small college team which gave the major school team quite a tussle before bowing in the All-American Bowl during the holidays.

★ ★ ★

Taylor, 24, is a native of Newberry, Mich. where he played high school ball under Morley Fraser who now tutors Albion. He is married and has three young daughters.

He has been majoring in physical education and is anxious to start his coaching career.

"I am from the Upper Peninsula so I don't know very much about Clarkston or the Wayne-Oakland League except that Northville has been the power," commented Taylor today.

In accepting the Clarkston position, the captain of the Britons turned down several offers from pro teams.

Taylor was the scoring ace and most consistent tackler on the team during his three years of varsity play. Besides being an outstanding pass catcher and blocker, he is rated among Albion's all-time great linebackers.

The Board of Education and Taylor had reached a verbal agreement during the holidays. His other duties at the school will not be determined until he joins the staff next fall.

Huron, Spencer Score Victories

Sylvan, Forge Skaters Lose in City Class A Hockey Tourney

The Huron Valley Boys Club and Spencer Floor Covering were first round winners Thursday night in the Class A City Junior hockey tournament at Northside Park.

Dick Howe's goal in the 12th minute of the 3rd period gave Huron Valley a 4-3 victory over the Sylvan Lake Alouettes.

Howe's counter wiped out the great efforts of Mike McCarthy, who scored all three Sylvan goals. Larry Labine tallied twice and Chuck Elliott once to complete Huron's scoring.

Lou Preston was the big gun for Spencer, scoring all three counters in a 3-1 triumph over Standard Forge. Doug Heineman accounted for the Forge team's lone tally.

Tournament activity resumes Saturday morning with two games in each class at 9 and 10 o'clock. The Class A skaters play on the Northside softball field and the Class B tourney continues at Northside Community ice rink.

Drug Defeats Swan in Waterford Tilt

Defending champion Drayton Drug defeated White Swan, 50-45, in a clash of Waterford League Class A basketball powers last night at Isaac Crary Junior High. Jerry Bradley paced the Druggists with 15 points and Ken Morrow tallied 14 for Swan.

★ ★ ★

In other Class A games yesterday, Rocco's Restaurant nosed out Lakeland Pharmacy, 50-48, and Lytell & Colegrove breezed to a 62-43 victory over Johnson & Anderson.

Cle Charboneau sparked Rocco's narrow triumph with 18 points, but Al Serra of Lakeland captured game scoring honors with 20. Joe Umphrey and Chuck Gillis collected 19 points apiece to lead the Lytell-Colegrove win.

Hawks Lengthen Unbeaten Skein

Dump Bruins 4-2 on Sloan, Lindsay Goals; Plante Blanks Leafs

By The Associated Press

Jacques Plante, Montreal goal tender, and the Chicago Black Hawks were the talk of National Hockey League fans today.

Being talked about is nothing new for Plante. He has won the Vezina trophy as the NHL outstanding goalie so many times it is no surprise that he tops the list in a bid for the trophy for the fourth straight year.

But being talked about, favorably that is, is an entirely new experience for the Hawks. Not since the 1952-53 season have they even been in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

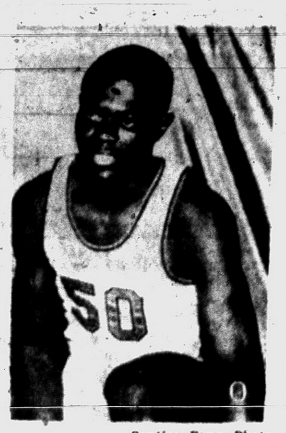

The Hawks boast an eight game unbeaten streak comprised of six victories and two ties after defeating the Boston Bruins 4-2 last night. They're still 10 points back of the Montreal Canadiens, who blanked Toronto 3-0 for Plante's sixth shutout of the season, but more important is that they lead the third place New York Rangers by six.

Veterans Tod Sloan and Ted Lindsay provided the Hawks with the winning goals, with the score tied at 2-2 midway of the final period, they each slipped through the Boston defense for goals. They also each had one assist. Eddie Litzenberger likewise scored a goal and assisted in another.

In shutting out Toronto for the second time this season, Plante turned back 25 shots without hardly drawing a breath. He received offensive support from Maurice Richard, Andre Pronovost and Bob Turner.

Closed circuit television interests are beginning some thinking about an Archie Moore-Sugar Ray Robinson clambake.

Huskies Meet Thurston Cagers Tonight at New Northern Gymnasium

By BILL CORNWELL

Undefeated Pontiac Central is a shaky favorite and thrice-beaten Pontiac Northern is a solid underdog this evening in the first basketball action for both schools since before the holiday vacation.

Central takes to the road for an important Saginaw Valley Conference engagement with Bay City Central.

Northern plays at home for the first time this season as the Huskies dedicate their new gymnasium against the Eagles of Detroit Thurston.

The Chiefs risk a perfect 4-0 record and their No. 2 state Class A rating when they stalk warily into the Bay City Wolf den to tangle with a team which has yet to live up to pre-season billing.

★ ★ ★

The Wolves were figured to make a strong bid for the Saginaw Valley crown, but they have failed to win their two previous conference starts.

They defeated Midland in a non-league opener, then dropped consecutive Valley decisions to defending champion Flint Central and Saginaw High.

Coach Bill Ullenbruch's Wolfpack is a big and potentially capable squad which thus far has failed to "jell." But the Wolves must always be respected and they are a cinch to be extra tough at home.

Art Van Ryzin, veteran PCH coach, is justifiably worried about tonight's encounter at Bay City. The Wolves are bound to cause lots of trouble somewhere along the line and Van Ryzin hopes that his cagers can shake off this challenge.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs conquered the Wolves last season on the Bay City floor, 64-61, in a rough-and-tumble game that saw three Bay City players and one Chief expelled for unnecessary roughness.

PCH currently shares the Valley lead with unbeaten Flint Northern, which is idle tonight. Each team has a 2-0 league mark. Arthur Hill meets Saginaw High this evening in a Valley contest on the latter's court and Flint Central plays host to non-conference Midland.

Pontiac Northern shoots for its 2nd victory of the season tonight in an effort to initiate its new gym on the winning side of the ledger. A 58-46 conquest of West Bloomfield has been Northern's only win in four previous tries.

In attempting to whip Thurston, Dick Hall's cagers will be facing a 6-foot-7 center named Len Woznak who has averaged better than 20 points per game. The Huskies will have to throttle Woznak if their home debut is to be a complete success.

Fate of Sacramento PCL Club in Doubt

League President Leslie M. O'Connor left for Phoenix last night. He said the league would meet by Jan. 20 to determine the fate of the team.

Tonight's Prep Schedule Lists 33 Games

All Area Leagues in Action

By CHUCK ABAIR

Play in 15 different leagues makes up most of a 33-game schedule as this area's high school basketball teams get back into action almost full force tonight.

Two of the top contests are expected in the Inter-Lakes where Waterford will be at home against unbeaten Berkley and Walled Lake will play at Southfield. Farmington matches baskets with Van Dyke in the other game.

Avondale will have its hands full attempting to avoid its first Oakland B setback meeting Troy at Auburn Heights. Troy has won two straight in starting its campaign for another title. Lake Orion tries to get above .500 at Madison and Clawson meets tough Fitzgerald.

The Wayne-Oakland will not lack for top attractions with Northville at Holly and Clarkston visiting Brighton on a four-game schedule. Winless Milford is host to West Bloomfield and Bloomfield Hills takes on Clarenceville in others.

★ ★ ★

Another big one that could be the best of the night is slated for Pontiac Central court as unbeaten local Suburban Catholic foes St. Frederick and Orchard Lake St. Mary collide. St. James is at St. Clement and St. Benedict at St. Rita elsewhere.

★ ★ ★

The Eaglet-Rams battle is a fight for league leadership, with varsity encounter set for 8:30 p.m. Both clubs are at full strength. Eaglets will throw a fast-breaking attack at the Rams' more sedate style of play, which makes use of more "pattern" setups, but doesn't ignore the fast break.

Birmingham, hopeful Merv Gallup can continue to score in high figures, resumes play at home against East Detroit in the Eastern Michigan League which also has Mt. Clemens hosting Hazel Park and Port Huron traveling to Ferndale.

Doug Stott and the Oxford Wildcats swing back into play in a South Central encounter at Millington. North Branch visits Imlay in the other loop tilt.

In the Tri-County Liddifter, Romeo goes against a L'Anse Creuse team which has shown good scoring power in early warm-ups. Lapeer goes to Flint Tech in one of the few non-league games.

★ ★ ★

Country Day at Huron and Lutheran East at Madison Lamphere are Central Suburban contests. Royal Oak Dondero faces annual power Highland Park in the Border Cities loop. Royal Oak Shrine is host to Mt. Carmel and Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows meets St. Leo in other Catholic play while South Lyon and Utica also have loop tussles. The Lions meet Pinckney while Utica and Center Line collide.

★ ★ ★

The Southern Thumb League will have a full slate going. Dryden takes on perennial champion Almont, Memphis visits Armada, Brown City is at New Haven and Anchor Bay plays Capac.

National Loop Honors Cepeda

Giants' First Baseman Unanimous Choice for Rookie of Year

BOSTON (AP) — Orlando Cepeda, heavy-hitting first baseman for the San Francisco Giants, today was named the National League's "Rookie of the Year" for 1958.

★ ★ ★

The 21-year-old Puerto Rican was a unanimous choice for freshman honors in balloting by the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America. The only other unanimous choice since the award was inaugurated in 1949 was Cincinnati's Frank Robinson, the 1956 winner.

The son of a former Puerto Rico League player, Pedro Cepeda, the young San Francisco slugger helped keep the Giants in the thick of the pennant race until late in the season.

★ ★ ★

Cepeda, who bats and throws right, wound up with a .312 batting average, seventh in the league 25 homers and 96 runs batted in. He had 309 total bases, including 38 doubles and four triples to rank fourth behind Ernie Banks, Willie Mays and Hank Aaron in that department.

Despite his size, Cepeda has a lot of speed. He stole 15 bases against opposing clubs last season.

Soviet Sextet Has Day of Fun in Colorado City

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The Russian hockey team, poised and favored, takes on Colorado College tonight before a sell-out crowd of 4,000.

★ ★ ★

The unbeaten, once-tied Soviets wind up their four-day Colorado stay with a game against Denver University tomorrow night.

For the 18 visitors, yesterday's first full day in Colorado was a fun-filled one.

★ ★ ★

They rose late to a heavy breakfast of eggs, ham, fruit and coffee and spent the rest of the morning touring sights of this area. A group of Cheyenne Mountain Utes danced for the Russians and made them blood brothers of the Indian tribe.

Makes Indoor Debut

NEW YORK (AP)—Alex Henderson, Australian running star for Arizona State of Tempe, will make his indoor debut in the two-mile run of the Millrose Games at Madison Square Garden, Jan. 31.

Henderson set American records in winning the 1958 NCAA two-mile championship in 8:46.3 and the National AAU three-mile in 13:37.1.

Lead Changes 20 Times in 63-56 Win

Shamrocks Trip ROSM

By H. GUY MOATS

One of the most bitterly contested basketball games of the Suburban Catholic League season wound up last night, in a hard-earned 63-56 win for St. Michael on the Mikemen's court. Loser was the Royal Oak St. Mary club. Victory gave Jim Niebauer's five its 3rd win for a 3-2 record.

★ ★ ★

Shamrocks had to battle all the way. The count was knotted first, at 9-9, then became tied up 19 more times before the north siders broke a 32-32 stalemate and swung along to win going away.

★ ★ ★

Shamrocks were up against a "one man team" last night.

They couldn't stop the spectacular shooting of lanky Bill Crawford, whose 31 point total is probably the league's top performance this season. But steady and timely scoring by every member of the Pontiac quintet kept it rolling.

★ ★ ★

Art Robak's 19 points and George Drake's 17 were vital factors in the sweet victory. Red-haired Don Mountain came through in the finale with three much-needed baskets. Drake and Mountain also did a good job on rebounding. Mike Butash had 15 for ROSM before he fouled out in the fourth period.

Just how hotly contested the game was, is seen in the score at the end of the first three periods. It never got more than three points apart. Mikemen led 19-16 at end of the opener. ROSM reversed the count edge going into the third period.

Shamrocks put the squeeze on Crawford in the finale, and held him to a single field goal. He had hit four baskets in each of the other periods. With the ROSM ace chilled off, Mikemen made the most of the opportunity to spread their margin in the last three minutes.

St. Michael junior varsity also won, 37-31.

The box score:

Prep Front

By BILL CORNWELL

Oakland County's steady growth and the addition of new public high schools have started rumors flying about the formation of an all-county prep athletic league.

There is more truth than fiction in these rumors, however, and the authority for that statement comes from white-haired Jay Eldred, principal at Rochester High and a successful coach for many years.

The proposed athletic alliance is now strictly in the talking stage, according to Eldred, but it definitely has been discussed and a future all-county conference is a distinct possibility.

This corner would be solidly behind the formation of an Oakland prep loop if such a circuit could be constructed along the lines described by Eldred.

In broad terms, the league would have three purposes: 1—A more realistic and fair classification of the county's public schools; 2—the bringing together of natural rivals; 3—shortening of travel time.

As Eldred described its structure, the league would be divided into four classes with schools grouped according to comparable size, location and natural rivalry.

"The four divisions would offer better equality of competition to each and every member of the organization and much of the expense now devoted to travel could be directed to other segments of the athletic program," Eldred said.

Eldred went on to say "natural rivals who seldom meet in athletics because of present league commitments would be brought together on a regular basis."

"This would create greater public interest and draw more spectators to the ticket windows, both home and away," declared Eldred. "And it's unlikely that any school would have to go more than 25 miles for a road game," he added.

Several Oakland prep coaches are dissatisfied with their current league affiliations, particularly those in the Oakland B and Wayne-Oakland circuits. Their unhappiness has led to discussion of an all-county league.

If they keep discussing the idea long enough, the "Oakland County Conference" may very well become a reality.

ODDS AND ENDS

Oxford High School's new gymnasium will be initiated next Tuesday night when the Wildcats meet Clarkston in a nonconference basketball game. The playing floor, which measures 88 by 50 feet, was ready for use when the season started, but Oxford had to wait for the arrival of baskets and backboards.

★ ★ ★

Ortonville's basketball team has lost two of its ace performers in forward Ted Follis and center Winston Merrick. Follis, an All-County Class C football end and the cage squad's leading scorer with a 15.3 average in four games, has decided to quit school. Merrick, Ortonville's star rebounder, has left the team.

★ ★ ★

Lake Orion has replaced Caro on Lapeer's 1959 football schedule. The Lapeer gridders will also play new Flint Southwestern, which opens its doors next fall.

★ ★ ★

The Tri-County League composed of Rochester, Romeo, Lapeer and L'Anse Creuse, now in its 2nd year of existence, may have a short life. Lapeer and L'Anse have expressed interest in other loops and the Tri-County is expected to break up.

PCH Matmen Lose at Home

Southfield Decisions Walled Lake, Falcons Also Win in I-L

Pontiac Central went down to defeat again while Southfield was whipping Walled Lake and Farmington was walloping Van Dyke in area wrestling last night.

The Chiefs lost their 4th straight duel match dropping a 33-21 home decision to Port Huron after little Bob Kaiser's opening win had provided a 3-0 lead.

Darrell Ashby, Sam Wescombe, Willie Duncan and John Wibley were the other PCH victors. Duncan, 180, defeated a 240-pounder for his 3rd successive pin. It was Wibley's 1st triumph of the season.

Southfield's experience told the story in a 43-11 thrashing of Walled Lake. Seven Bluejays scored pins. Tom Balkwell, Gary Esklinen and Bob Christian were the Walled Lake victors.

Farmington fell behind 10-0 right at the start and later was behind 15-13 before turning on the power to win 39-15. Dave Timm, Tom Peckham, Dick Lam, Dick Brogden, Dan Ressler and John Camy all had pins to pace the 4th victory in five matches.

Kuharich Drops Vet Crimmins From ND Staff

CINCINNATI (AP)—Bernie Crimmins said Thursday night he has been notified of his dismissal as an assistant football coach at Notre Dame. He said notice of the dismissal came from Joe Kuharich, appointed recently as head coach to succeed the ousted Terry Brennan.

Crimmins formerly was head coach at Indiana University. He said he has no immediate plans for the future.

Chicovsky's 745 Too Much for Leaders

Montcalm Centre snapped smartly out of its eight game losing streak in Huron Bowl action as it ripped off games of 1005, 1086 and 1130 to sweep a four point win from league-leading Humphries Real Estate. George Chicovsky led the assault with a steady 256, 245 — 745, best total of the night. Don Martell and Bill Leigh posted 672 and 660, respectively, for the losers.

Cone's Rental continued its hot streak with a shut-out of Calbi Music. Garl Brown fired 211, 207, 267 — 685 for the winners, while Bill Bull's 670 was high for Calbi.

Spartan Air Conditioning took three from Braumeister despite a 652 series by Al Pietz. Monroe Moore's 686 and a 655 by Les Rothbarth helped West Side Mobil to a three point victory over West Side Recreation. Pat Sweeney totaled 682 for Stroh's, while Paul George blasted out a 224, 268, 244 — 736 for Hazelton among other high scores.

Spartan Swimmer Sets NCAA Record

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State swimmers won nine of 10 events and Spartan Frank Modine set a new NCAA record in the 200 yard breastroke as the Spartans swamped Iowa State 73-23.

The meet was the first of the season for each team.

Modine, a junior from Wyandotte went the distance in 2:23.5. He shattered the old NCAA record of 2:24.3 set by Joe Koletsky of Yale in 1958.

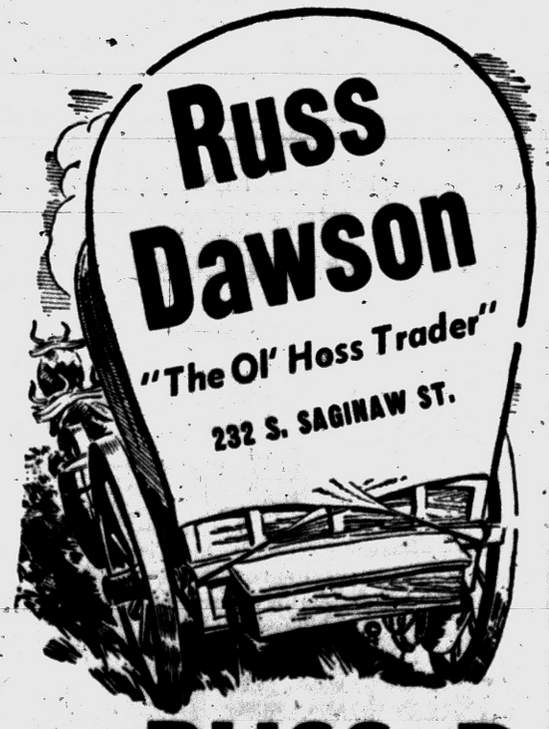

Modine's time also broke the former Big Ten record of 2:26 set by Cy Hopkins of Michigan in 1958.

Urges Council for False Ads

Hare Says Consumers Need Better Protection in Certain Blank Areas

LANSING (AP)—Secretary of State James M. Hare today advocated new governmental safeguards against gouging of consumers through false advertising, "victim" installment purchase contracts and other means.

★ ★ ★

He said the legislature will be asked either by Gov. Williams or himself to set up a state consumers' council, a new goernmental unit patterned after one established in New York nearly four years ago.

★ ★ ★

To start with, Hare envisages little more than "an office with a sign and a high caliber employe to receive consumers complaints, evaluate them and hold some hearings."

"The ofice chiefy would be a repository of complaints, a giver of advice and a referral agency to other government offices," he said. "The council, or counslor, would advise the Governor and the legislature on consumer problems."

Hare recalled a recent photo solicitation fraud in Detroit as the kind of thing that a consumers' council could successfully short circuit.

"In the department of agriculture we have protection against adulterants or additives in food," he said.

★ ★ ★

"But move over into clothing, for example, and there is none. A consumer can be bilked, perhaps with the aid of shady or false advertising, and have no where to go for redress," he said.

"Or his health can be injured by a harmful dye that should not be permitted in the first place."

Ike Heads for Camp After Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower plans to spend the weekend at his Catoctin Mountain lodge at Thurmont, Md.

Eisenhower arranged to travel to the secluded retreat, called Camp David, during the afternoon after delivering his State of the Union message at a joint session of the Senate and House.

★ ★ ★

The President left for decision at the last minute whether to go by automobile or helicopter. The camp is located about 65 miles north of Washington.

Mrs. Eisenhower also will be at the lodge for the weekend. So will Mr. and Mrs. George E. Allen, old friends of the Eisenhowers.

★ ★ ★

The President plans to return to Washington Sunday evening or Monday morning.

Birdbath Memorial for Brother's Grave

ST. ALBANS, England (UPI)—A Church of England tribunal yesterday overruled the local vicar and erect a birdbath as a memorial over her brother's grave.

Theater's 'First Lady' Wears Role Humbly

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Helen Hayes, "the first lady of the American theater," is as revered as a person can be and still live to talk about it.

This reverence, this reputation as the grand dame of acting, has been at once gratifying—and a handicap.

"Since I got lifted up on high," Miss Hayes puts it, "I have often worn my reputation around my neck like a millstone.

"Roles that I want to take are frequently considered 'below my reputation.' The public can get awful tyrannical, you know. I'd like to play the nurse in 'Romeo and Juliet' someday, but will I dare? This met we call the big star system dictates you've got to be the great, big thing in whatever play you're acting."

Miss Hayes remembers, modestly and distinctly, the day she "got caught up" in the system.

"It was 1937. I was playing 'Victoria Regina.' Lipton's Tea or General Foods or somebody like that decided to put me on the radio with a series called 'The Helen Hayes Theater of the Air.'

"Well, the first day I was sitting in the radio studio ready to go on when I heard the commercial announcer saying 'we now present Miss Helen Hayes—the first lady of the American theater.'

"I fell out of my chair! Then I pelted over to him and said, 'I refuse to have you call me that. The first lady of the theater is Katharine Cornell. Everybody knows that.'

★ ★ ★

"The producers took me aside and explained that they had an investment to protect. They said this was how it was to be." Miss Hayes looked troubled, remembering. Asked if she had ever discussed this billing with her friend, Kit Cornell, she smiled.

"You mean how I picked up the ball and ran for the touchdown! No. We never discussed it, and we remained friends."

One reason Miss Hayes remained such a delightfully modest, open person despite her awesome reputation in theater can be traced to the attitude of her late husband, playwright Charles MacArthur.

"Charlie was vastly amused at it all," she recalls, softly. "Not that he scoffed. Not that he was unkind, God knows. But he was always able to find the right thing to say, and the right thing to do, to keep me from getting too serious about myself.

★ ★ ★

"Once I took a role that a great many people considered, shall we say, 'below my dignity.' They wrote in droves, to tell me so. Charlie had a rubber stamp made; it said 'go see a doctor.' He wanted me to stamp all those critical letters and send them back."

She smiled wistfully. "I never did—but I sure used to look longingly at that stamp, and wish I had the nerve."

Miss Hayes' current role, in O'Neill's "A Touch of the Poet," gave her misgivings. It is what she calls an "ensemble play," in which she shares billing and dramatic impact with three other stars.

★ ★ ★

This is what the public had vocally resented before: The great Miss Hayes playing anything but the great lady surrounded by serfs.

★ ★ ★

But she was persuaded to risk the role. And she acts it beautifully, as she always does. And to her delight and surprise, no one has objected.

"I'm encouraged, and I'm glad," she says, "because I would be terribly—shall we say bored—at having to take my reputation too seriously. Or take life too cautiously."

Nudity Would Baffle All

Clothing Plays Vital Role in More Ways Than One

EAST LANSING (AP) Have you ever wondered what would happen if some cosmic calamity suddenly rendered every person in the world stark naked?

You probably haven't, but Dr. Arthur M. Vener of Michigan State University has.

★ ★ ★

And, as you may have guessed, one of his specialities is psychology.

Dr. Vener is an assistant professor of social science at MSU. He has recently completed research on the psychological and sociological aspects of clothing.

He reveals that universal nudity would be quite baffling.

If you walked into a store you couldn't tell the salespersons from the customers. The floorwalker wouldn't be any help. He wouldn't even have a buttonhole, much less a carnation.

★ ★ ★

How would you find a policeman unless you saw one directing traffic?

And, if you entered a restaurant, how would you identify the waitresses?

Dr. Vener holds there's something to the old adage. Clothes make the man. He says we all look at clothes to help determine the job, social status and traits of a stranger.

UNCOVERS FACTS

Here are some other bare facts Dr. Vener uncovered in his clothing research:

1. Persons who have "come up in the world" are more aware of clothes than those who have been in the same economic and social group all their lives.

2. Some of these individuals are so discerning that they can almost always tell the occupation and social status of a stranger by the way he is dressed.

3. But, a person's clothes consciousness is not passed on to his children.

4. In fact, father has little influence on the dress habits of his teenage children. Mother carries some weight, but the teenagers also rely on others in their age bracket.

5. Girls have more clothes awareness than boys, especially those who care more about the opinion of others.

6. On the other hand, girls who are more socially confident usually have less clothing awareness than other girls.

WICK, Scotland (AP)—A giant wave capsized a 274-ton fisheries protection ship in gale swept seas of northeast Scotland today. Three of the 19 crewmen were lost.

All 16 survivors of the government-owned Freya were thrown into the sea when the vessel shipped tons of water and overturned. They scrambled to a dinghy and were picked up by a Belgian trawler.

Chrysler Names Two Directors

NEW YORK (AP) — John D. Leary, vice president - personnel, and Lynn A. Townsend, group vice president-international operations, were elected directors of Chrysler Corp. yesterday.

They fill vacancies caused by the recent death of Jack F. Chrysler and the retirement Dec. 31 of John P. Mansfield.

Leary, with Chrysler since 1941, became Director of Labor Relations in 1951 and Director of Industrial Relations in 1957. He has been vice president since January 1958 and is responsible for all corporate personnel staff activities. He is the son of the late Timothy A. Leary, Justice of the New York Supreme Court.

Movies Need Young Stars to Replace Aging Top 12

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The movie industry's biggest problem for 1959 is starpower.

This column has already explained how 12 top stars virtually rule the picture industry because of their drawing power. Now producers are discovering to their dismay that the draws are not as powerful as they're reputed to be.

A topflight industry source told me that at least two or three of the supposedly golden dozen have done so-so-to-poor business with their last three pictures.

★ ★ ★

"Most of the top names are getting too old to attract the younger audience, who make up the bulk of movie goers," this source remarked. "There are few younger names coming up these days. The supply of stars is getting to the critical stage; if it isn't solved, Hollywood is going to be in real trouble."

The figures seem to bear him out. Average age of the top 12 is 46. Only two, Marlon Brando and Tony Curtis, are in their 30s.

★ ★ ★

Despite the declining box office for some of the mature stars, they still draw the big pictures. The reason for this is the changing economics of the film business. Many of the big pictures are made by independent producers, who must go to the banks for financing. Bankers are more willing to loan millions for a film if assured it will star a name actor.

★ ★ ★

There are some hopeful signs. The actresses seem to be making a comeback after being eclipsed by the male stars for a long period. Two women, Liz Taylor and Brigitte Bardot, made the top 10 of Motion Picture Herald's box office poll; last year the list was all-male.

Six other dolls—Dorris Day, Kim Novak, Ingrid Bergman, Joanne Woodward, Debbie Reynolds and Deborah Kerr — made the list of the next 15 stars in box office power.

★ ★ ★

But most of today's dramas still center around men, and the males will still have to shoulder the major burden.

Meanwhile, time is running out for the producers. With rare exceptions (notably James Dean), it takes at least 10 years to build a star into a real draw.

Dan Dailey Fined $368

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Dan Dailey has pleaded guilty to a drunk driving charge and paid a $368 fine. Dailey's lawyer appeared in court to change the plea from an earlier not guilty to guilty, and paid the fine for the actor. He said Dailey is out of the country making a movie.

Many Wanted in Anastasia Murder

Racketeers Mourn Cuban Casino Ban

NEW YORK (UPI)—The revolutionary suspension of gambling in Cuba has posed both an employment and a residence problem for some of the United States' busiest expatriate racketeers.

★ ★ ★

Meyer Lansky, who helped departed president Fulgencio Batista organize Havana's plushest industry, arrived in Florida Wednesday "to see a doctor."

He expressed some hope the new government would reopen the casinos at least for tourist gambling.

★ ★ ★

Some of his fellow gaming house operators were less eager to come to this country.

At least one of them is wanted here for questioning by three law enforcement agencies about the murder of gangland's "executioner" Albert Anastasia and the Apalachin, N.Y., gangster convention that closely followed it.

New York District Attorney Frank S. Hogan has said he wants to talk to certain Havana gamblers who "conferred with Anastasia a few days before the killing."

New York police say they'd be interested in talking to almost any Cuban gambler in the interest of solving the Anastasia murder mystery.

'LIKELY REASON'

They consider Anastasia's reported attempt to muscle in on the lucrative Cuban gambling take as "one of the likeliest reasons" he was shot to death in a barber chair.

★ ★ ★

He is believed to have laughed off a "keep out" warning from Lansky's representatives shortly before he was slain.

Cuban gambling was also believed well up on the agenda at the Apalachin convention held less than a month after Anastasia's death.

Lansky didn't attend that meeting, and he has already been questioned by police investigating the Anastasia case. A long-time racketeer with business ties to such big guns as Frank Costello, the late Moretti brothers, departed Joe Adonis, Phil Kastel and others, Lansky apparently enters and leaves the country with impunity, if not without surveillance.

★ ★ ★

New York police, the district attorney and the State Crime Commission are all on the lookout for Santo Trafficante, alias Louis Santos, of Tampa, Fla., and Havana's Sans Souci casino.

He was an Apalachin delegate, reportedly Lansky's spokesman, and state investigators want to talk to him about that.

Hogan and New York police want Trafficante for questioning in the Anastasia case, although he is not a suspect.

Another Havana gambling operator, Joseph Silesi, alias Joe Rivers, is also sought by Hogan's office.

Lansky, a veteran of legal and illegal gambling operations in both the United States and Cuba is generally believed to have blueprinted the concessions which permitted American operators to take over most of the games and bring with them skilled croupiers and dealers.

Cuba's multi-million-dollar gambling industry was legalized by Batista in 1955 as part of a drive to increase the Havana tourist trade and fatten the state treasury.

U.S. Plans Four Planet Shots This Year; Reds Are Still Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union probably will soon announce the successful return of a human passenger from a rocket flight, a report issued by the House Space Committee has predicted.

On the United States side of the space timetable, a missile expert says four unmanned interplanetary shots are planned this year.

The Rand Corp., which does space research for the Air Force, made the forecast about the Soviet flight. A broad study Rand completed for the House committee was made public Thursday night.

In issuing the 252-page document as a "space handbook," the committee under House Majority Leader John McCormack (D-Mass) called it the most comprehensive work of its kind for laymen.

The report said American intercontinental ballistic missile rockets can be adapted to attempt manned flight probably within less than five years. It added the Soviets will have as much or greater rocket capability in this period.

Consider Putting Skull, Bones on Cigarette Pack

PIERRE, S. D. (UPI)—South Dakota smokers may be confronted with a skull and crossbones when they pull out a cigarette.

A bill is being readied for introduction in the state legislature that would place the symbol on all cigarette packages, together with these words:

"The use of this product is not recommended by the state of South Dakota. The use thereof may result in cancer or heart disease."

The bill's sponsor, Sen. Don Stransky, smokes cigarettes.

Exports Firm Up Soybean Futures

CHICAGO (AP)—Export business and a better market for soybean meal firmed up wheat and soybean futures today in early Board of Trade activity but other grains were slightly easier.

★ ★ ★

India, a very good wheat buyer this week, was reported to have bought an additional 2 million bushels overnight and still negotiating for more. Pakistan took about 700,000 bushels. It, too, had been in the market earlier this week but for smaller amounts.

Brokers said, however, that mill buying appeared to have ended for the present, at least.

The market had turned mixed near the end of the first hour with wheat ⅜ cent a bushel higher to ⅛ lower, March $1.97½; corn was ⅛ to ⅜ lower, March old type contract $1.13⅞; oats ⅛ to ⅜ lower, March 66; rye ⅛ higher to ¾ lower, March $1.35; soybeans ⅜ higher to ⅛ lower, January $2.14⅝.

AMC Turns Out 2 Test Models of 'Mighty Mite'

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp. says it has built two test models of a lightweight military vehicle designed to be lifted by helicopter.

The firm said yesterday the quarter-ton four-wheel-drive vehicles will be tested at its proving ground near Burlington, Wis., and that four additional models will be delivered to the Marine Corps by April 30 for government tests.

AMC said it has a contract to build 250 of the vehicles, called the "Mighty Mite," for evaluation and testing.

Powered by a V4 aluminum air-cooled engine developing 55 horsepower, the vehicle weighs 1,700 pounds and has a wheelbase of 65 inches.

Beats Ike, to Punch on State of Union Message

Johnson Muscles In With Program

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every year now the country is being handed what amounts to two State of the Union messages; one from President Eisenhower, the other from Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democrats.

Before Eisenhower could go up to Congress to deliver his today, Johnson had already stated his. He did it Wednesday at a Democratic meeting.

★ ★ ★

It's part of American history that at the beginning of each session of Congress the President tells the representatives and senators about the state of the union.

The message is in effect his program or the year. But it's up to Congress whether to make the program a reality with legislation.

★ ★ ★

Johnson, who denies he has any ambitions for the presidency, seems to be making his message an annual event, too. He did it last year before Eisenhower could travel up to the Capitol. Now he's done it again.

While Eisenhower's message might be considered the senior one and Johnson's just a junior message, both are important and for a very obvious reason:

In a Congress where the Democrats have an overwhelming majority over the Republicans, Eisenhower is going to have to depend mostly on the Democrats to put his program through.

★ ★ ★

But Johnson, as leader of the Democrats, is in a good position to push for his own program over Eisenhower's if he doesn't like what the President offers. This year, as last, Johnson was critical of the Eisenhower administration's leadership.

★ ★ ★

The President's message, of course, gets complete coverage by the press and plenty of copies of it are made available. But the Johnson statement was widely distributed, too.

The two messages have one thing in common: They talk in broad, general terms. Eisenhower will follow up his during the year with more details in separate proposals he'll send up one at a time.

★ ★ ★

But Johnson even beat the President to that idea. Last Nov. 7, right after the Democrats had drowned the Republicans in the elections, Johnson made a speech before a group of Texas businessmen.

Out before he ever got there, his speech was all prepared, mimeographed and distributed to newsmen in Washington, thus getting for it a maximum amount of publicity.

★ ★ ★

Johnson outlined a 12-point program, some parts of which seemed destined to draw Eisenhower's fire and might even be in conflict with what the President had to say in his message today. Johnson called for:

1. A new farm program. (Eisenhower has said he would not propose any change in the administration farm policy).
2. Help for areas of chronic unemployment. Eisenhower last year vetoed an area development bill which far exceeded his own recommended program).
3. Stepped up water development in the West.
4. Lowering of interest rates that he said were slowing down economic growth.
5. A "bold" housing program.
6. An expanded airport building program.
7. Review of foreign policy.
8. A "consistent policy for Latin America which will help our neighbors to help themselves."
9. Breathing life into the newly created space agency and launching a program to explore outer space.
10. A program to develop peaceful uses of the atom.
11. Urban renewal.
12. Passage of a labor bill to curb racketeers.

Reds Get Ohio Steel for Auto Factories

NEW YORK (AP)—The Pobeda automobile Ivan buys in Moscow late this year may be made of steel that was forged and rolled in Ohio.

Ara Oztemel, a New York export broker, says he is shipping 20,000 tons of American steel to the Soviet Union under a license from the U.S. Commerce Department. It's the first such shipment to the Soviet Union in several years.

★ ★ ★

The metal was produced by Republic Steel Corp. of Cleveland. Oztemel said it was made according to specifications laid down by the Soviet Auto industry. It is technically known as "wide, cold-rolled sheet" — a type used in the manufacture of automobile bodies.

According to auto industry sources here, 20,000 tons of sheet steel would make bodies for about 24,000 cars.

Oztemel said about one-third of the steel has been shipped thus far. The license for the shipment was granted last summer.

In return for the steel, Oztemel said, he is importing 80,000 tons of Soviet chromium ore for an undisclosed buyer or buyers in this country. Chromium ore is used chiefly in the manufacture of stainless steel. Republic is an imported stainless steel producer.

The New York broker indicated the steel is being sold to Russia in the usual way and the chromium ore is being obtained in a "counter-purchase agreement." He declined to put a price tag on the shipment.

In Washington Commerce Department spokesmen expressed doubt that approval of the shipment hinged on the fact that the United States would get ore in return. One official said he could recall no case in which an export license was granted because of an item to be received by this country in exchange.

★ ★ ★

Commerce department officials said the Oztemel shipment was authorized in the July-September quarter of 1958. It is part of 33,000 tons with a value of $5,578,535 licensed for export to Russia in that period. No such shipments were licensed in the fourth quarter, department spokesmen said.

Kresge Launches 60th Anniversary

Approximately 150 S.S. Kresge Co. employes in the Pontiac area were feted yesterday as the chain-store firm launched its 60th anniversary year observance.

★ ★ ★

As part of a national kickoff, employes attended breakfasts at the four Pontiac area stores, located in downtown Pontiac, Drayton Plains and at Tel-Huron and Miracle Mile shopping centers.

Featured were recorded messages of welcome and commendation from the firm's founder, Sebastian S. Kresge, and the current president, Franklin P. Williams.

★ ★ ★

Company plans for a year-long series of anniversary sales and special features were outlined.

An estimated 35,000 Kresge employes at stores in 27 states took part in similar kickoff breakfasts.

The firm said its 1958 sales totaled $381,346,746, compared with $374,694,296 for 1957.

It said its December 1958 sales of $66,819,939 were $4,244,245 or 6.78 per cent higher that its December 1957 sales.

Ask Williams Support in State Park Mining

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich) today asked Michigan's Gov. Williams to support a hotly debated attempt to mine copper in Porcupine Mountains State Park.

In a lengthy telegram to Williams, Bennett urged the governor to ask the State Conservation Commission to "approve in principle the exploration for and extraction of strategic copper metals" in the park.

A batle between conservationists and Upper Peninsula business interests has been raging for months over a Bear Creek Mining Co. application, now withdrawn, to explore for copper on 923 acres of the 58,000-acre park.

In Lansing, the State Conservation Commission today voiced unanimous opposition to a proposal to open a portion of the state park to copper mining.

James L. Rouman, president of the Porcupine Mountains Wilderness Assn. formed to fight the mining plan, praised the commission "for showing courage to stand up and be counted."

Earns $21,000 in Market; Is on Relief

NEW YORK (AP) — Harry Schweitzer, 75, is something of a financial genius, but he accepted relief checks for the past 20 years to make $21,000 playing the stock market.

Since 1938 Schweitzer, a shabbily dressed bachelor, has been receiving $71.10 monthly welfare checks. He has collected about $17,000 over the years.

★ ★ ★

In addition, the retired hospital orderly received welfare allowances for clothing, furniture, rent and medical care.

With most of the $71.10 to play with, the frugal-living Schweitzer plunged into Wall Street. He became known as a man who would lay down as much as $4,000 in cash on a broker's desk in a single transaction.

★ ★ ★

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said Schweitzer, when confronted by the probers, turned over his $1,525 bank account to the welfare agency and gave the department power of attorney to sell his $21,000 in securities to make repayment.

Immediately after doing this, Schweitzer said he was destitute and went right back on relief.

Highlights of Ike's Speech

WASHINGTON (AP)—Highlights of President Eisenhower's State of the Union message to Congress today:

We seek to prevent war at any place and in any dimension. In support of these objectives we maintain forces of great power and flexibility.

★ ★ ★

National security programs account for nearly 60 per cent of the entire federal budget for this coming fiscal year.

We must guard against feverish building of vast armaments to meet glibly predicted moments of so-called "maximum peril."

The aim of the defense budget is a sensible posture of defense. The secondary aim is increased efficiency and avoidance of waste. Both are advanced by this budgetary plan.

★ ★ ★

Our own vast strength is only a part of that required for dependable security. Because of this we have joined with nearly 50 other nations in collective security arrangements.

The material foundation of our national safety is a strong and expending economy. This we have —and this we must maintain.

After we have provided wisely for our military strength, we must judge how to allocate our remaining government resources most effectively to promote our well-being and economic growth.

★ ★ ★

The basic question facing us today is more than mere survival—the military defense of national life and territory. It is the preservation of a way of life.

We must meet the world challenge and at the same time permit no stagnation in America. Unless we progress, we regress.

We do not forget of course that our nation's progress and fiscal integrity are interdependent and inseparable. We can afford everything we clearly need, but we cannot afford one cent of waste.

★ ★ ★

Inflation can be prevented. But this demands statesmanship on the part of business and labor leaders and of government at all levels.

I shall submit a balanced budget for the next year, a year expected to be most prosperous in our history. It is a realistic budget with wholly attainable objectives.

★ ★ ★

Congress alone has the power of the purse. Ultimately upon Congress rests responsibility for determining the scope and amount of federal spending.

I am requesting the Secretary of the Treasury to prepare appropriate proposals for revising at the proper time our tax structure, to remove inequities and to enhance incentives for all Americans to work to save and to invest. Such recommendations will be made as soon as our fiscal condition permits.

I shall recommend to the Congress that the chief executive be given the responsibility either to approve or to veto specific items in appropriations and authorization bills. This would save tax dollars.

★ ★ ★

Action is required to make more effective use of the large federal expenditures for agriculture and to achieve greater fiscal control in this area. The situation calls for prompt and forthright action.

There can be no such thing as Fortress America. If ever we were reduced to the isolation implied by that term, we would occupy a prison, not a fortress.

Over the years the world has come to understand clearly that it is our firm policy not to countenance aggression. In Lebanon, Taiwan, and Berlin—our stand has been clear, right, and expressive of the determined will of a united people.

★ ★ ★

We shall constantly seek meaningful agreements to settle the Berlin problem and other problems, knowing full well that not only the integrity of a single city, but the hope of all free peoples is at stake.

The image of America abroad is not improved when school children through closing of some of our schools and through no fault of their own, are deprived of their opportunity for an education.

The government of a free people has no purpose more noble than to work for the maximum realization of equality of opportunity under law. Whenever the supremacy of the Constitution of the United States is challenged I shall continue to take every action necessary to uphold it.

★ ★ ★

We are making noticeable progress in the field of civil rights. Legislative proposals of the administration in this field will be submitted to the Congress early in the session.

It is my purpose to intensify efforts during the coming two years in seeking ways to supplement the procedures of the United Nations and other bodies with similar objectives, to the end that the rule of law may replace the rule of force in the affairs of nations.

We seek victory—not over any nation or people — but over the ancient enemies of us all; victory over ignorance, poverty, disease, and human degradation wherever they may be found.

Norse Girl Visits to Learn English

Only One Year Needed to Insure TV Success for Green-Eyed Blonde

A year ago, a young Norwegian girl came to Hollywood for the sole purpose of visiting her brother and brushing up her English.

★ ★ ★

Now, less than 12 months later, Anna Lisa has an impressive list of film and TV credits and is cast as Nora Travers in the new Western series, "Black Saddle," which starts Saturday, (9 p.m.—Channel 4).

As the feminine lead in the series which co-stars Peter Breck and Russell Scott, Miss Lisa puts her delightful Scandanavian accent to work as the young immigrant widow who runs a Hotel in Tatigo, New Mexico Territory.

Anna Lisa was born in Oslo, Norway. Although her parents were not connected with showbusiness, they helped further their daughter's acting ambitions. From the time she was seven, Anna toured Norway, starring in children's plays.

★ ★ ★

After completing the equivalent of an American junior college, she passed up a university education because it didn't offer a drama course. Instead, she enrolled with a drama coach.

It wasn't long before she attracted the attention of Norway's leading repertory company and was engaged as an apprentice. Musical comedy roles, a tour with a French comedy and bit parts in Norwegian movies followed. Then she decided to brush up her English by visiting her brother in Hollywood.

"I had no intention of staying," she says. "I had a visitors visa and wasn't permitted to work. But I couldn't just sit around."

To keep from being bored, Anna Lisa took some non-paying little theater roles in a Los Angeles suburb and enrolled in dramatic class with Jeff Corey, one of Hollywood's leading coaches. Then, immigration officials notified her that she would be allowed to remain in the U.S.

Without firm offers of work, Miss Lisa accepted a bid from a Norwegian steamship company to make a publicity film in the South Pacific. For six months, she cruised among the islands. "No box office and no billing, but a lot of fun and rest," she says.

Back in the U.S., she got a part in Republic's "Sugarfoot." Shortly afterwards, she obtained the female lead opposite Jack Kelly in a "Maverick" television episode. More television work came her way and she played a gangster's moll in "Walter Winchell's File" and a nun on "Lux Playhouse."

★ ★ ★

Then Hal Hudson, creator of "Black Saddle" heard of the Norwegian actress and cast her in the part of Nora Travers.

Miss Lisa is 5 feet 7½ inches tall, weighs 127 pounds and is a blonde with green eyes.

Newsmen Lost 8 Hours in Cave

Searchers Find Trio Wandering in Depths of Kentucky Cavern

WHITLEY CITY, Ky. (UPI)—Searchers last night rescued three newsmen who were lost for more than eight hours in a cave which one of them believes might be the biggest in the country.

★ ★ ★

Sheriff Herman Hamlin of McCreary County said he and seven local residents found the three men at 11:10 p.m. wandering aimlessly more than half a mile back in the cave.

The extent of the cavern, known as "Eureka Cave," is not known. It is located about 17 miles northwest of this southern Kentucky community.

The trio, John Fraim, news director of radio station WSAI, Cincinnati; Jim Jordan, a free lance writer; and Jim Brown, a professional photographer, were safe and sound except for a sprained ankle received by Brown in a fall. All are from Cincinnati.

"They hadn't given up hope yet," the sheriff said, "but they were mighty glad to see us." He said they had wandered an estimated 18 miles since entering the cave.

The sheriff and Kentucky State Highway Patrol were notified that the men were missing when they failed to call Tom Edwards, WSAI news editor by about 1:30 p.m., as agreed upon.

Big Taxpayers Asked to Pay

Early Tax Money Will Ease Current State Financial Crisis

LANSING (AP)—The state's big taxpayers have been asked to pay their bills early to help the state in its current cash crisis.

Gov. Williams issued the appeal, explaining that some of the major corporations probably already had the money tucked away to make the inevitable payments.

★ ★ ★

Williams explained that about 82 million dollars in intangibles, business activities and corporation franchise taxes are due between April and June.

"Undoubtedly," he said, "there are many large taxpayers who have cash reserves set aside to meet these obligations. It would be a great help to the state in its current cash crisis if some of these large taxpayers were to pay early."

Such early tax payments won't solve the state's financial problem, William said. But, he added, it will give the incoming legislature "a little more flexibility" in making decisions on tax legislation.

Major taxes due this spring include the intangibles tax, estimated at some 14 million dollars; the corporation franchise tax, to bring in more than 48 million; and the business activities tax, about 20 million.

Williams added that he wasn't asking the small or individual taxpayers to make early payments "because it wouldn't make any sizable dent in our problem."

"BLACK SADDLE" PREMIERE — Circuit lawyer Clay Culhane (Peter Breck) checks the hotel books for his first client, Nora Travers (Anna Lisa) in the first episode of the new western series, "Black Saddle," which dramatizes the experiences of a one-time gunfighter turned lawyer.

Her Cold Preventative Will Never Catch On

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — 'Twas so cold the other night that I made a date with Diana Dors—just so I'd feel feverish.

★ ★ ★

Then for the benefit of all you nice Eskimos I asked the redhot British babe—who is famous for wearing nothing under her dress but her—just how she avoids having a chest cold practically perpetually.

WILSON

"How do I avoid colds?" she trilled. "By avoiding clothes! I don't like clothes."

"I can see that," I stared. We were asquat at a local club . . . Diana; her British boy friend, comedian Dicky Dawson, and an old friend of hers who said:

"Diana's a nudist at heart."

He might have remembered that she once sent a nude picture of herself to the troops, saying, "This is my contribution to the war effort."

★ ★ ★

"Oh, no, I'm not!" Diana tossed her shoulder-length blonde loveliness about revealing diamond earrings. "But I feel terribly swamped in coats. Like when I started out in just a mink stole, a cab driver said, 'Where the hell do you think you are, lady—in Florida?'"

DIANA

But Diana—here to appear on the Steve Allen show, then to visit Hollywood and Las Vegas—was undisturbed. Men visitors had come to N.Y. with their longies, but she had brought her shorties.

"When did you last have a cold?" I asked.

"I cahn't remember — when I was a little girl, I guess," Diana smiled.

"And what is your favorite cold remedy?" I inquired.

"Oh, I just take off some more clothes," Diana laughed.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Errol Flynn phoned his exclusive literary agent, Carlton Cole, that he's returning from Cuba with a first person story written with Fidel Castro, plus 1,000 pictures. Explaining two bullet wounds, he said he had one in the right shin and another in an unmentionable area . . . The reason the CBS TV exec. doesn't speak up and spare Marie Torre is—he'd lose his job . . .

Brigitte Bardot long-distanced Navid Niven, asked him personally to co-star in "Babette Goes to War" . . . Bing Crosby donated baseball training films to a Baseball-For-Israel Committee . . . Louis Armstrong's New Year's gift to his wife: a $7,500 mink coat . . .

WISH I'D SAID THAT: For some of us, "roughing it" means turning the electric blanket down to "medium."—D.J. Zerbe.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: The only exercise some people get is jumping at conclusions, running down their friends, sidestepping responsibility and pushing their luck . . . That's earl, brother.

Report on Promotion Practices:

Ability? Honesty? Service? Marry Daughter of Boss!

NEW YORK (UPI)—The hired hands don't know it, but in one big company it pays for a man to come to work with his tie askew or with egg on his vest.

The boss deliberately picks such a man for promotion.

"Such an employe is more concerned with work than he is about appearances," said the boss recently during a survey by the New York State Department of Labor of "promotion practices" among leading New York firms.

★ ★ ★

According to the survey report, "promotion practices actually are surprisingly haphazardous."

For the executive-suite levels, one company officer said: "When a great president retires, a vacuum is created. And into this vacuum is swept the nearest guy who hasn't had a coronary."

The demise of the organization man was predicted by a boss who won't promote such seemingly loyal Joes "because they have no faults to set them apart from, and above, their fellows."

Also on the skids are promotion chances for whip-snappers. Most firms consider a man who acts like a top sergeant too "overbearing" for a better job.

"Frankly," said a vice president of personnel, "we prefer a man who 'butters up' his fellows—and his superiors—it shows the ability to get along."

ABILITY TESTS

Many bosses, meanwhile, said they are wary of relying entirely upon the highly-touted mental and executive ability tests. They are responding to pleas of psychologists to brake this trend "before promotion practices are utterly dehumanized."

Playhouse 90 Tries Hard but Is a Little Too Thin

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—"The Wings of the Dove," presented on CBS-TV's Playhouse 90 last night, stems from a novel that was not so much written as cobwebbed.

It was one of three terminal novels spun at the shank of Henry James' career and is, by turns, fascinating and infuriating. It is a little like a shadow stretched to a steamy thinness. Or to change my image, reading it is like trying to piece out the shape of a countain with a pocket flashlight.

★ ★ ★

However, one fact must be faced. dying girl, Milly. Object—money. strippish about its story when its bones are unstripped.

A girl, Kate, without much fortune and in love with a man, Merton Densher (changed for some strange reason to "Miles Enshaw" in the TV play), plots to marry Merton to a rich, dying girl, Milly. Objectmoney. Milly does die and does leave money to Merton, but Mert and Kate, remorseful, not only turn down the money, but don't marry after all.

This, of course, is an improbable and tedious dose of posh, the sort of thing that might titillate the bird-like sensibilities of a corky but exquisite old man, but which doesn't pack enough vigor or sap for 90 minutes of TV. Unfortunately, this is what Playhouse 90 was stuck with.

It's a shame, but there is little chance on TV to interiorize as James did: To explore the finer workings of motivation, to dissect the consciousness of characters, to unravel the ball of situation with fastidious perception. As a result, Playhouse 90 wes cornered into dramatizing a wisp.

As for the acting, I would say that like Abou Ben Adhem, James Donald's name led all the rest. As Merton or Miles, Donald turned an impossible character into a living human being. His portrait may not have been James' Merton, but it was not, as Aristotle once put it, chopped liver either.

The rest of the cast was not quite as satisfactory. Inga Swenson's Milly was fatuous rather than innocent and Dana Wynter's Kate seemed a bit frozen. The rest of the cast commuted between adequate and so-so and I somehow had the feeling that if the play had been live instead of on tape, a bit more fire might have been kindled.

Short shots: Last night was explosion night on TV. CBS-TV's Yancy Derringer dealt with a Dynamiter who was trying to blow up the French Quarter of New Orleans. NBC-TV's behind closed doors was about a neo-Nazi group that tried to blow up American military headquarters in Berlin. NBC-TV's Steve Canyon concerned a pilot who was almost exploded unwillingly from the ejector seat in his plane. And Errol Flynn was on the NBC-TV Jack Paar show.

The channel swim: NBC-TV's Bat Masterson and ABC-TV's Rough Riders both got 26-week renewals . . . Harpo Marx will make one of his infrequent TV appearances on the NBC-TV Milton Berle show Jan. 14.

The next Bell Science special will be a 60-minute study of language, "The Alphabet Conspiracy," on NBC-TV Jan. 26 . . . one of the surprise new shows in the ABC-TV stable has been the one hour mystery show, 77 Sunset Strip — it's currently outTrendexing all of its NBC-TV and CBS-TV competition by a wide margin.

Diana Dors and Sydney Chaplin have signed on for the CBS-TV Phil Silvers one hour special Jan. 23 . . . Reginald Rose's first original TV play in two years, "A Quiet Game of Cards," is set for Jan. 29 on CBS-TV's Playhouse 90 — it'll star Barry Sullivan, Franchot Tone, Gary Merrill, E. G. Marshall and William Bendix.

Gardner Blasts TV

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — Those tough guy television programs probably contribute to juvenile delinquency, says mystery writer Erle Stanley Gardner. He told the National Assn. of County and Prosecuting Attorneys that parents should protest against such programs. But he said the real solution is for TV networks to substitute something else.

Mikoyan Admits Ford Once Had Him Baffled

DETROIT (AP) — When Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan visited Detroit some 22 years ago, he had trouble understanding the late Henry Ford's explanation of the old Ford designing center.

Mikoyan, making his second visit to Ford installations here Thursday as a part of his whirlwind tour of the Motor City, told newsmen he was afraid to admit that he couldn't understand Ford.

"Now that it's 22 years later," he said, "I can admit it."

Mikoyan made his first visit as Russian commissar of trade. He was in the United States studying the American food industry.

* * *

Andrew A. Kucher, Ford vice president guided Mikoyan through the huge 140-million dollar research and engineering laboratories in suburban Dearborn.

Mikoyan asked Kucher why the U.S. auto industry uses steel instead of aluminum in engine blocks. The Russian official said the Soviets used aluminum because it was much lighter.

Kucher said American manufacturers used steel because it cost less than aluminum.

In recalling his previous visit, Mikoyan asked if the old Ford designing center was still around. Kucher said it was but now was only a small unit in the research and engineering center.

"It didn't look small then — but tremendous," Mikoyan responded.

Wife Couldn't Bare It

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bare facts won a divorce for 40-year-old Mrs. Nadine Morris. She testified her husband, Mitchell Morris, 45, wanted her to become a nudist, and that his fellow nudists walked around "like Adam and Eve" when they came to dinner. "I didn't like that sort of thing," she said.
