Teamster-Informer Had Legal Scrapes

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—A Teamsters official, who testified against James R. Hoffa at his jury-tampering trial, admitted today a series of youthful law violations, climaxed with a reformatory term.

But, said Edward Grady Partin of Baton Rouge, La., "Since I married and had my (five) children, I never had another charge put against me until I met Mr. Hoffa." Hoffa is international Teamsters president.

Plan Offered for Refuse Site

Plans for a $33-million garbage and rubbish disposal operation north of Oxford were presented by regional planners today at a press conference in Detroit.

The single, mammoth operation would serve the entire five-county metropolitan area, including Oakland County.

The proposed 2,400-acre site presently is spotted with huge gravel pits.

According to the plan, garbage and rubbish would be run through grinders, incinerated where possible, dumped into the pits and covered daily with at least six inches of dirt.

The refuse would arrive at the pits by train from the various

France, Cuba Set Truck Deal

2nd Break in Embargo

Paris Insures Most of $10-Million Sale

PARIS (AP)—Cuba is about to buy $10 million worth of heavy trucks from a French firm, informed sources reported today.

The sources said Cuba would buy heavy duty trucks, spare parts and possibly tractors from the Berliet firm of Lyon.

The French government, in giving its approval, also agreed to guarantee 80 per cent of the sale price, the sources said.

The first 20 per cent will be paid in cash, and the balance in two or three years.

The contract was reported to be nearly complete. A spokesman for the firm declined to comment on the report, and there was no immediate comment from the French Foreign Ministry.

The French deal is the second major break in the U.S.-sponsored embargo against Cuba, which has resulted among other things in the crippling of the island's public transportation system.

Last month, Cuba signed an $11.1-million deal with Britain's Leyland Motor Corp. for 400 buses and spare parts. Leyland also hopes to sell Cuba an additional 1,050 buses for $28 million.

The U.S. government complained about the sale, but British officials said the buses weren't strategic goods.

The French signed a trade pact with Poland calling for delivery of 400,000 to 600,000 tons of grain a year in the years 1965-67.

France already has agreed to sell 200,000 to 300,000 tons of grain in 1964 to Poland, which also is buying $90 million worth of U.S. farm products this year and $88 million worth of Canadian wheat over the next three years.

France also has plans to expand its exports to the Soviet Union in 1965 under a trade pact on which French Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing reached agreement in principle during a visit to Moscow last week.

His citizenship since has been restored, said Partin.

Admitting he received a bad conduct discharge from the U.S. Marine Corps during World War II for stealing, he said, "for the last 15 years I led a model life."

Hoffa and five others are being tried before U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson on charges of trying to tamper with the Nashville jury. That trial ended with a hung jury.

Partin, who is under indictment on charges of embezzling $1,500 from his local, linked the defendants one-by-one with alleged attempts to rig the jury. He never once looked Hoffa's way.

News Flash

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI).—Greek and Turkish Cypriots battled in villages in southern Cyprus today in the heaviest fighting since the Dec. 28 cease-fire. First reports said five Greek Cypriot policemen and soldiers were killed and 18 wounded. Turk casualties were believed heavier. (Enquirer Story, Page A-2.)

CAME TO FISH — Reversing the usual north-to-south migration trend at this time of year, Claude Jones (left) came up from Arizona to visit Wayne King, 7 N. Roselawn, and do some ice fishing. The pair enjoyed the spring-like weather as they angled yesterday on Wormer Lake, Waterford Township. Their only complaint — at least when the picture was taken — was that the big ones weren't biting.

The general feeling among those close to the issue is that the state would go by the average of high water marks over the years while property owners will seek current levels as the line.

There is another phase of the measure (House Bill 89) that is really the crux of the issue.

NO IMPROVEMENTS

No beach improvements, docks, piers or weed control could be done by property owners without specific approval of the Conservation Department.

State Bill May Mean Loss to Shore Property Owners

By DON VOGEL
Outdoor Editor

Passage of a bill now before the State Legislature could result in Oakland County waterfront property owners losing some of their present shoreline footage.

The measure, introduced in the House of Representatives by Rep. Hans Rasmussen, R-Ledington, calls for establishing the "ordinary high water mark" on all state lakes and streams.

The Conservation Department would have control of all land and water inside these high water boundaries.

Last summer's extended dry spell caused lake levels in Oakland County and the rest of the state to drop, adding exposed lake bottomlands to the former shorelines.

ALL SUFFERED

Even lakes where the water level is controlled by dams suffered to some extent.

If the bill passes, (it is given an even chance after falling in previous years) establishment of the arbitrary high water marks on lakes and streams will probably be determined by the courts in many cases.

In a prepared statement, the Lakes and Streams Association charges that the bill is "an attempt by the Department of Conservation to gain complete control of all surface water in Michigan."

Mineral rights along the lake or stream bottom inside the high water mark would revert to the state, the association contends.

Generally known as the submerged lands bill, the measure has been referred to the House committee on conservation. Rasmussen is chairman of the committee.

Applications would have to be in writing and accompanied by a fee that could reach $50.

Under the measure, certain state agencies and local units of government would have 30 days to approve or object to the projects before final action on the application.

Two strong lobbying groups, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and the Michigan Association of Lakes and Streams Associations have taken opposite sides in the issue.

HALT DUMPING

MUCC favors the bill because "it would bring to a stop this haphazard filling and other dumping along shorelines," according to Pete Baker, editor of the organization's monthly newspaper.

Wilson broke through the ice himself as he crawled on the ice on his hands and knees toward the boy yesterday afternoon.

He got through to the boy, anyway, and held him above water until more firemen were able to push a ladder across the ice to him.

HOLDS ON BRANCH

Until firemen arrived, the youngster held onto a branch that a neighbor, Mrs. Mary Lou Sutton, 56 Sylvan, had tossed to him. Mrs. Sutton also had fallen through the ice in an earlier attempt to rescue the boy.

Wilson said he did not know how deep the water was, "but my feet did not touch bottom." The pair was about 20 feet off shore.

Boy Rescued From Icy Lake

Fireman Is Credited With Making Save

A 5-year-old boy is in satisfactory condition after being rescued from a frigid lake yesterday by a Pontiac fireman.

Escaping drowning in the Dawson Mill Pond after plunging through the ice was Kim Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peters, 49 Sylvan. He is in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Credited with saving the youngster was Lt. Raymond Wilson, 45, of 1121 Voorhees.

Wilson broke through the ice himself as he crawled on the ice on his hands and knees toward the boy yesterday afternoon.

He got through to the boy, anyway, and held him above water until more firemen were able to push a ladder across the ice to him.

Dixie Mayor 'Will Obey'

Court Rule

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—The mayor of Natusuga, Ala., who turned away six Negroes from a white school yesterday, said today he will abide by a court order if an injunction is issued prohibiting him from interfering with their enrollment.

Mayor James Rea said he had no intention of defying any court order after he was served with a summons to appear tomorrow before a federal judge at an injunction hearing.

"I wouldn't think about defying a court order," Rea said.

He explained again that he barred the Negroes yesterday from Natusuga High because admitting them would have overcrowded the school building in violation of a 10-day-old fire safety ordinance.

MUST REAPPEAR

Rea has been ordered to appear at 10 a.m. tomorrow before U.S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., who already had directed that the six Negroes be admitted to Natusuga because of a school closing at Tuskegee.

"Frankly, I still feel our ordinance is valid," Rea said. The mayor said he hoped the town's white and Negro schools would reopen Monday. A fire in the water works filter system last night resulted in a water shortage that caused school officials to close the schools.

A state fire marshal, Tom Hall of Montgomery, said the fire apparently was accidental, resulting from electrical wiring defects.

Meanwhile, the Associated Press learned that infantry units have been placed on alert at Ft. Benning, Ga., for possible use in Alabama's latest integration crisis.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, quoted a statement prepared by Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa for delivery to the U.S. government.

"Since noon today, water service to Guantanamo Bay has been suspended and the suspension will continue until the Cuban fishermen are released," the statement said.

"The Cuban government has no obligation to supply water to the Naval Base under any international treaty, and has been doing so only for the sake of not increasing tension between the two countries."

"The revolutionary government is cutting off Guantanamo Bay's water in answer to the new imperialist insolence which amounts to an act of delinquency and international piracy."

Thirtieth was the low temperature in downtown prior to 8 a.m. By 2 p.m. the recording was 39.

Temperatures are expected to drop to below freezing tonight, the low about 30.

Saturday's prediction is partly cloudy, cold with a few flurries.

Oakland University plans to bring the big Detroit Symphony Orchestra to the campus this summer for a dozen concerts. This announcement was made today at a luncheon in Detroit.

Plans contemplate the erection of a summer-time structure to house several thousand spectators, and every effort will be made to institute an exceptionally low admission charge for an event of this magnitude and character.

Red Dictator Demands U.S. Free Fishermen

No Word Received About Size of Reserve at Naval Installation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Castro government of Cuba officially notified the United States today it is cutting off water to the Guantanamo Naval Base and the cut-off will last until the United States releases 36 Cuban fishermen held in this country.

A note was delivered to the State Department through the Swiss Embassy, Switzerland looks after U.S. interests in Cuba as there are no diplomatic relations between Havana and Washington.

Administration officials have been considering how to deal with the situation.

The cut-off was set for noon today, Havana time.

Informants said the Cuban action posed no actual threat of immediate water shortage in Guantanamo since large storage facilities exist there.

FIRST INCIDENT

This was the first time officials here could recall that a deliberate step had been taken against the water supply which originates in Cuban territory beyond the boundaries of the Bay since Communist Prime Minister Fidel Castro came to power.

However, informants said that in earlier times of guerrilla activity in Cuba threats had been posed to the water supply.

The Navy said in early afternoon it had received no report from Guantanamo on the water situation.

A Havana broadcast reporting the Cuban action had been heard earlier.

ELMER R. BETTS

District 7 Gets 4th Candidate

A long-time Pontiac resident, Elmer R. Betts, has filed a petition to seek the District 7 city commission nomination in the March 2 primary.

Betts, 69, of 229 Cottage brings the total to four candidates seeking nomination in District 7, including the incumbent, Mayor Robert A. Landry.

Betts came to Pontiac in 1919 and has lived at the same address for 44 years. He is a painting and decorating contractor.

In filing a nominating petition, Betts said he was unhappy about the autocratic way in which the city is being run.

HIGH TIME
"It's high time we get King George off his throne," said Betts. He said he was referring to the mayor.

"I think a commissioner should serve the city and its people," he said. "There's been too much of the opposite lately."

Betts is married and has five children. He is currently on the Board of Directors of the Oakland County Society of Crippled Children.

He is a charter member and past president of the Pontiac Citizens Club.

OTHER SERVICE
Betts has also served two terms as president and two years as vice president of the Michigan Council of Painting and Decorating Contractors of America.

Location of Radar Car

Cyprus Battle Halted

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—British troops were rushed into the countryside southeast of Nicosia today to halt a pitched battle between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

The fighting broke out shortly after the troops arrived, an army spokesman said, and three were killed and a third wounded in an ambush on a country road near the village of Athienou, about 12 miles southeast of Nicosia.

Reports reaching here said heavy fighting broke out.

A cease-fire was arranged shortly after the troops arrived, an army spokesman said, and Greek Cypriot police surrounded the village.

A Turkish spokesman here claimed the fighting started when the inhabitants of Athienou village rushed onto the road after the ambush.

The reports said firing had broken out, but there were no other details of the fighting.

Three Greeks, all seriously wounded, were brought to a Nicosia hospital.

Greek Cypriot sources said the ambush occurred when a Greek Cypriot policeman was escorting seven civilians to install a water pump in a field. They were fired upon, the sources said, and the policeman and one civilian were killed.

MARINES SOUGHT

The clash came after a U.S. embassy spokesman had threatened to "call out the Marines" to protect the remaining Americans in Cyprus. U. S. Ambassador Fraser Wilkins demanded safeguards from the Cyprus government.

Greeks and Turks were also reported fighting in the coastal town of Paphos.

At least two Greeks and one Turk have been killed in that clash.

The one-day emergency airlift of U.S. dependents from Cyprus ended last night after carrying 572 American women and children to nearby Beirut, Lebanon.

More than half the 1,200 American dependents on the Mediterranean island decided to stay.

Dutch Totally Bewildered! What's With the Princess?

THE HAGUE (AP)—The Dutch cabinet scheduled an emergency meeting today as the drama of Princess Irene's broken romance turned into a situation of complete confusion.

Holland's royal house obviously was in as great a tizzy over the Irene affair as the government—she is second in line of succession to the throne—but why this was so remained a mystery.

There were no official explanations of just what was going on, but it appeared that Queen Juliana's statement two days ago that her daughter's romance was ended did not finish the story.

Irene was believed to be still in hiding in Spain, where she recently converted to Roman Catholicism, apparently out of love for a Spanish aristocrat.

Juliana and her husband, Prince Bernhard, left The Hague in an airplane this morning and a palace spokesman said they were off on a "private visit" to Spain, apparently to see Irene.

But the royal couple stopped off for four hours in Paris, then turned around and came back as the palace spokesman blandly announced that there had been a mistake and the "private visit" had really been to Paris.

The government spokesman said later, however, that he would not deny that the royal couple had hoped to see Irene in Spain.

EMERGENCY MEETING

Within an hour of their return, Premier Dr. Victor Marijnen called an emergency cabinet meeting.

Sources believe the queen and the prince planned to fly to Spain, but were stopped in Paris by Marijnen because of the possible political repercussions.

When newsmen tried to decipher the events, the court spokesman sighed and said, "That is all I know. I am sorry."

I realize this makes the confusion now utterly complete.

3 U.S. Athletes Are Arrested at Olympic Games

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Three members of the U.S. team—one skier and two tobogganists—were arrested at the Olympics Thursday for stealing gear and disturbing the peace, a police spokesman said.

A spokesman said Bill Marolt, a 20-year-old skier of Aspen, Colo., George Farmer, 25-year-old tobogganist of Seattle, and his teammate Mike Hessel, 21, Eugene, Ore., were arrested after a chase by two police patrol cars in downtown Innsbruck.

All three were charged with theft. Marolt, who allegedly drove the car, was also charged with driving without a license, the spokesman said.

A spokesman for the U.S. Olympic team declined to make any comment on the incident, and said the matter was being handled entirely by the U.S. Embassy in Vienna.

Plan Offered for Disposal

As the pits become filled, they would be converted for future park use.

The plan was proposed by the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission, which represents the five counties concerned.

According to Oakland County Public Works Director R. J. Alexander, $25,000 homes have been built immediately adjacent to a similar site near Los Angeles, where the problem of what to do with refuse was resolved in this manner.

PROPER HANDLING

He said proper handling assures no undesirable results.

The daily land-fill process would eliminate the possibility of any flies, rats, odors or unsightliness, he said.

According to the report, a critical situation is rapidly developing in the Detroit metropolitan region with respect to the disposal of refuse because of a lack of long-range facilities.

Combining the efforts of municipalities in this way would provide adequate disposal at least through 1980, the report said. A similar operation there would be set up in Livingston County to replace that near Oxford.

PROBLEM INCREASING

According to the planners the metropolitan area currently is pockmarked with garbage and rubbish dumps of widely ranging effectiveness and desirability and the problem is increasing.

Many of these are open dumps that should be completely eliminated for health reasons, the report adds.

The single operation near Oxford would employ 181 workers and the use of heavy equipment.

New state legislation was needed to implement the plan, said Paul Reid, director of the regional planning commission. It presents the best possible solution to the regional problem, he added.

Downtown Parking Lot May Open

The recently closed county-owned parking lot at Huron and Saginaw may open again in about six weeks.

County Auditor Robert Lilly said today the county will advertise for bids to lease the old courthouse lot within the next few days.

This time the lease will run for a full year, he said, unless the county should sell the property in the meantime.

The high bid received in about two weeks is slated to come before the County Board of Supervisors for approval March 9.

EXPECTED BIDDERS

Lilly said the City of Pontiac and the former lessee, Sam L. Stolorow, are expected to be among the bidders.

The city offered the county $500 a month rent in order to put meter parking on the lot. Stolorow had exercised a 10-day cancellation clause in the former lease last December.

He said the County Board of Auditors decided it would be legally safer to put a lease up for open bidding instead of closing a deal with the city without bids.

Stolorow was paying the county $1,150 a month to lease the lot until December. In canceling the lease, he escaped paying city taxes this year, Lilly said. The lot has been closed since.

Neither the city nor the county would have to pay any taxes on the property, but a private lessee would if holding the lease at assessment time in January.

The lot was first opened for free parking by the Downtown Pontiac Business Association last in 1962 after the county was unable to sell it.

Stolorow, who operates several parking lots in Pontiac, went to Circuit Court to have the county lot closed. He charged it presented unfair competition to free enterprise.

Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondoro ordered the lot closed. He ruled the county's lease to the businessmen's association was illegal because it didn't provide the most revenue possible.

Stolorow then outbid the businessmen's association by $50 a month to win the lease at public auction last May. He opened a pay parking lot on the site a few days later.

ROBERT C. IRWIN

Files Petition for District 2

Pontiac Realtor Seeks Commission Post

A Pontiac realtor, Robert C. Irwin, today announced he will seek nomination for the District 2 City Commission seat.

Irwin, 34, of 435 W. Iroquois, was expected to file a nominating petition with the city clerk this afternoon.

A member of the City Planning Commission since September 1960, Irwin is making his first bid for a seat on the city commission.

He is a partner in the real estate firm of John K. Irwin & Sons, 313 W. Huron.

NATIVE OF PONTIAC

A graduate of Pontiac Central High School and Michigan State University, Irwin is married and has one son. He is a native of Pontiac.

Irwin is a member and immediate past president of the Pontiac Board of Realtors.

Last year he won a "Realtor-of-the-Year" award from the Michigan Real Estate Association.

Irwin is also on the Board of Directors of the West Pontiac Kiwanis Club. He is a member of Elks Lodge No. 810.

GOP DIRECTOR

Last month, Irwin was appointed director for the Republican Party in Oakland County's 2nd Legislative District.

He is the second candidate to file for the District 2 city commission post. Incumbent Charles H. Harrison has not announced as yet whether he plans to seek a second term.

School Match to Be on TV

The largest crowd ever to watch a high school swimming meet will be on hand next Friday evening, Feb. 14th, when Birmingham Seaholm and Royal Oak Kimball meet in the Kimball pool.

Even though Kimball's seating will be pushed to 1,200 capacity, a crowd for the meet is expected to reach 3,000.

The reason is closed-circuit TV. Because the demand has been so great to see the two powerhouse swim teams meet for the second time this year, the Royal Oak Board of Education approved the closed-circuit plan last night.

Nearly 1,500 seats will be available in the Kimball gymnasium. The gym itself seats 2,400. However, an 18-by-24-inch screen will be erected so spectators will have good front view vision.

STRAIGHT

Birmingham Seaholm, defending state champion and holder of a streak of 38 straight dual meets over 25 years, defeated Kimball, 54-51, in the Maples' pool earlier this season.

Burglars failed in their attempt to blow open a safe during the night at the Hubert Distributing Company, 185 E. Columbia.

Entry to the building was made by knocking out a portion of the rear wall according to police.

Wilson is president of Wilson-Poglia-Cadell Agency, started in 1949. He attended Cranbrook School, Michigan State University and Cornell University.

President of the Television Corporation of Michigan Inc., Wilson holds interest in a radio station and a television station.

Bloomfield Flier

Runs Out of Oil, Luck Over Albion

Jerry B. Schweizer, 42, of Bloomfield Hills wasn't having much luck in Albion yesterday.

Flying from Pontiac to Chicago, Schweizer noticed the oil pressure in his single-engine airplane was dropping. He made a safe emergency landing on the playground of Albion's Crowell School, deserted while the children were in classes.

Schweizer added seven quarts of oil before attempting to take off, police said. But the plane failed to clear power lines when Schweizer swerved to miss a house.

LOSSES POWER

Schweizer, 4350 Risdon, told police the engine developed 2,300 revolutions per minute before takeoff but began to lose power when the plane left the ground.

The Federal Aviation Administration said it planned to investigate the crash.

Carter Exam Delayed by Flint Court

Flint Municipal Court examinations were postponed today on indications charging Pontiac City Manager Robert A. Carter and Flint businessman Samuel M. Catsman with obtaining money under pretenses and fraud conspiracy.

Municipal Court Judge Basil F. Baker postponed the scheduled hearings because one of Catsman's attorneys, Martin J. Lavan, reportedly has been hospitalized in Ann Arbor after suffering a heart attack.

Examination of a false pretenses indictment against Catsman had been scheduled to continue this morning with Carter testifying as a witness. It was postponed to Feb. 13.

HEARING POSTPONED

The judge postponed that hearing to Feb. 27.

The postponements were requested by Robert J. White, an attorney for Catsman, who told the court that Lavan had been admitted to St. Joseph Hospital in a coma with an apparent heart attack.

The charges stemmed from a one-man grand jury investigation of suspected irregularities in city accounts during a period of time while Carter was Flint city manager.

LANSING (AP) — Highway Commissioner John Mackie Wednesday said Michigan will buy land worth more than $200 million in the next four years for highway purposes.

Land purchases this year are estimated at $60 million—more than double the 1963 figure.

Most of the land purchased during the next four years will be for interstate freeways in Detroit, Flint, Saginaw and Lansing, Mackie said.

U.S. Cautiously Eyes Ghana Developments

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is keeping watch on anti-American developments in Ghana but so far has not moved to cut back large economic development loan commitments to that African nation.

And, a State Department spokesman has refused to com-firm or deny a report that U.S. Ambassador William P. Mahoney has been called back to Washington for consultation.

Continued tension could easily cloud the future of U.S. aid commitments to the African nation.

Political instability in Ghana already has damaged private investment prospects in tuna fisheries, rubber plantations and flour mills.

U.S. PROTEST

The State Department has sharply protested a demonstration at the American Embassy in Accra and called it instigated, inspired or condoned by President Nkrumah's government.

A doubly serious view was taken when the protest was followed by a second demonstration yesterday.

The United States has a commitment of $147 million in long-term loans to help build the Volta River hydroelectric project and an aluminum smelter to be operated by private American companies for the Ghana government.

The United States pledged $37 million, the world bank added $47 million and Britain agreed to invest $14 million for a total of $98 million to construct the Akosombo dam and power station on the Volta.

MATCHING FUNDS

The Ghana government agreed to match this with $98 million of its own funds.

Since the formal agreement was reached Dec. 16, 1961, the 370-foot-high rock-filled dam has been half completed.

The United States has advanced $9 million for the dam construction, the World Bank has invested $10 million and Britain has contributed $1 million. Ghana has invested $1 million.

No work has yet been done on the aluminum smelter.

OTHER COSTS

The smelter is expected to cost $164 million with the U.S. government's share amounting to $110 million in long term loans. The remaining $54 million is to be contributed by Kaiser Aluminum Co. and Reynolds Metal Co.

The U.S. government has guaranteed 90 per cent of the Kaiser and Reynolds private investment against expropriation, war or inconvertibility of profits.

It is the belief here that Nkrumah is anxious to see that the Volta River project is completed. What action he might take after the dam and smelter are completed can only be conjectured.

The present low state of U.S.-Ghana relations could lead Congress to call for a review of American participation in the project.

NOT ONLY WEST

Nkrumah does not look only to the West for aid and loans. A new credit line of $22 million extended by Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai brings the total of Chinese and Soviet aid to Ghana to $215 million.

U.S. aid of Ghana amounts to $159 million, including $60 million in economic grants and loans from the Agency for International Development, $4 million in Food for Peace, $65 million in export-import bank loans and $1 million for the Peace Corps.

The current technical assistance program runs about $3 million a year.

Apollo Group Asks for Flight Moon Team Requests One Extra Mission

BROOKS AIR FORCE BASE, Tex. (AP)—Prompted by repeated failures of U.S. moon probes, a group in the Apollo man-to-moon program has requested an extra Apollo flight for a lunar reconnaissance mission.

John M. Eggleston, a space environment specialist with Project Apollo, told newsmen at a space medical conference here,

"There is a certain amount of sentiment within the National Aeronautics and Space Administration that a reconnaissance mission should be flown. There is a group of us in the rank and file who feel especially strong that Apollo should be a self-sufficient program, and not rely on the Ranger and Surveyor unmanned programs."

The disclosure came less than a week after Ranger 6 hit the moon but failed to send back pictures of the surface as planned. The failure was the 12th in as many United States tries to gather data from spacecraft intended to pass near the moon, orbit it or land on the surface.

MORE PICTURES

Three more Ranger launches are scheduled this year, all to take photographs.

Present programming calls for a three-man Apollo craft to make a circumlunar flight in 1967 or 1968, and to drop a two-man Lunar Excursion Module, called LEM, on the surface in 1968 or 1969.

Eggleston said the proposed Apollo reconnaissance flight would be sandwiched between the circumlunar and landing flights. The Apollo ship would settle into an orbit about the moon and two of the astronauts would detach in the LEM just as they would in preparation for a landing.

The LEM would descend to within eight miles of the surface and the pilots would snap pictures and drop an instrument package which would radio information on the moon's structure.

Then the LEM would rendezvous with the mother ship for the return to earth.

Terrorists Kill Congo Colonel

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Lt. Col. Eugene Ebaya, chief of staff of the Congolese Army, has been killed in ambush by Communist-led terrorists in Kwilu province, it was learned here today.

Ebaya, second in command to Army Chief Gen. Joseph Mobutu, was the first high Congolese officer killed by the young terrorists, who have attacked mission stations and killed missionaries of a 6,000-square mile area in the Eastern Congolese province.

Mobutu, who went to Kwilu yesterday to direct an army drive against the guerrillas, flew back to Leopoldville today, apparently to tell the government of Ebaya's death.

Ebaya was reported killed by terrorists who attacked Congolese soldiers trying to open the road between Kikwit, the capital of Kwilu province, and the besieged town of Gungu, 60 miles to the south.

EX-CABINET CHIEF

Pierre Mulele, the Peking-trained former cabinet minister in leftist Premier Patrice Lumumba's government, is leader of the terrorists.

Maj. Joseph Tshashi, commander of the Third Para-Commando Battalion, known as "Tshashi the Terrible," was reportedly appointed to Ebaya's post as chief of staff.

Tshashi's 1,000-man battalion was airlifted into Kwilu province recently to fight the terrorists and Mobutu had gone to Kikwit to talk with him.

The main towns of Kikwit, Idiofa and Gungu were reported firmly in army hands but Idiofa and Gungu were still under terrorist attack. There was no report of casualties.

The Congo Army sent 40 soldiers to Leverville, the palm oil center of the Unilever Corp., where advancing terrorists were reported threatening the population.

Mulele's half-naked guerrillas, some of them crazed by drugs and convinced bullets cannot harm them, have burned, looted and killed at missionary stations and native towns.

One American missionary,

Irene Ferrel of Jerome, Idaho, has been killed by a terrorist arrow. About 200 other missionaries have been removed from the province by U.S. and United Nations rescue teams.

The terrorists, far outnumbering defending garrisons, were centering their attack on Gungu and Idiofa, 55 miles east of Kikwit.

'Cloudy' Results Bowling in Plane

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—It isn't easy to go bowling in a jet plane at 25,000 feet and 500 miles an hour.

The clouds keep getting in your way. They bump, and no matter what you think the ball should do, it doesn't.

Two national bowling champions found that out Monday. They tried the first—and with-out doubt the last—flying bowling alley in history.

FULL SIZED

It was a full-sized alley set up on a new jet cargo plane. It was complete with an automatic pin-setting machine, side channels to keep stray balls from going off through a well, etc.

Champion Dick Weber of St. Louis stepped up and nearly was blinded by the floodlights and flashbulbs of news photographers aboard a flight to Dallas from New York.

He let go of the ball and down went every pin for a strike.

"I feel like I'm walking on air," he said afterward.

Then came the turn of Sylvia

Wene of Philadelphia. She got a spare amid cheers which drowned out the whine of the jet engines.

"Wow!" exclaimed Miss Wene.

"Too bad things couldn't have kept up that way. But some days just aren't fit for flying bowling."

"I'll try to get a smoother altitude," came an intercom announcement from Capt. Russell Sapp, the plane's pilot and a fair hand in the bowling lanes himself.

When the game was over after various delays Miss Wene had a final count of 146, with one strike and six spares. Weber had 144, three strikes and three spares.

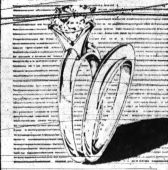

The flight, dubbed Operation Astrobowl, was a publicity stunt staged by American Airlines to demonstrate how big its new cargo planes are.

Is Neutrality Possible?

France's Lost Glory Lies in SE Asia

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Before France finally lost Indo-China at the battle of Dien Bien Phu in 1954, she was estimated to have suffered losses of nearly 100,000 men killed or missing and 140,000 wounded.

The war had cost her $5 billion, in addition to another $2 billion in aid contributed by the United States. The blow to French morale was enormous and contributed to the disintegration of the French political scene, the collapse of the French Fourth Republic and the arrival of President Charles de Gaulle's Fifth Republic.

Aside from her war costs, France had invested in Indo-China $2 billion, most of it in Viet Nam, in roads, railroads and canals, health measures reducing infant mortality and in important irrigation projects.

French economic interests in both North and South Viet Nam remain important today.

French assets are valued at more than $200 million, including almost all of South Viet Nam's huge rubber plantations, tea and coffee plantations and important shares of chemical, beer, glass, textile and cement production.

An estimated 30,000 South Vietnamese secondary students attend French schools.

France still is South Viet Nam's largest customer. North Viet Nam maintains a commercial delegation in Paris.

Thus, even a partial summary helps explain France's continuing interest in an area which embraces North and South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

FRENCH CALLED

It also helps to explain the irritation among Frenchmen encountered there by this correspondent against the implication that the United States might be able to succeed where France had failed.

But even this fails to explain the present course of President de Gaulle.

How, for example, can de Gaulle believe neutrality possible for Viet Nam in the face of blatant Communist violations of the neutrality of Laos and the armistice in Korea?

How can he advocate neutrality for Southeast Asia and oppose it for West Germany?

CHINA TIES

And how can he deliberately seek out closer contact with Red China while boycotting U.S. and British talks with Soviet Russia?

If, strategically, Indo-China holds the key to potential Communist advance westward to the Bay of Bengal and south to the islands of Indonesia and to Australia, why is it any less important now than before?

De Gaulle himself has failed to provide the answers except for the grandiose explanation that he simply is recognizing a force in being.

Other French sources have argued that since attempts to quarantine Red China have failed, it now is time to try other methods.

UNDERSTANDABLE

The reasoning is understandable even though it runs counter to the United States' own view, and in the end seems directed toward the sacrifice of Nationalist China.

It may be that de Gaulle's sense of history has betrayed him. Under the protective canopy of offsetting U.S. and Soviet nuclear power, abandoning the broader alliances of NATO and SEATO and the hope of the United Nations, it may be leading him to a nationalism which could defeat itself.

Sounds Like Insanity, but Radiator Is Gone

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — "Don't start your car—the radiator is gone," read the note taped to Edith Omorati's automobile.

The radiator was taken while she was at a bowling alley Wednesday. The note was signed, "The Insane Ones."

Consumers' Expanding Shows Faith in Area

Keeping pace with the steady growth of the Pontiac area, Consumers Power Co. has allotted $2 million for expansion and improvements of its local facilities during the current year.

In addition to replacement and modernization of a portion of existing supply lines, the appropriation will provide 65 miles of new gas mains, about a third of which will extend service to new users. Currently, the company services some 46,000 gas users in the Pontiac division.

Consumers' Lawrence Street Administration Building will also benefit from the capital outlay. Upgrading and redecorating will give the interior a new look, with remodeling of its exterior in the planning stage. Extensive remodeling of the Wesson Street Service Center and changes in the company's Rochester branch are also included in the over-all program.

Industrial users will benefit through an additional quarter-million dollar expenditure for modification of the utility's power complex.

Since public utilities must of necessity anticipate growth and expansion of the territory they serve, the program initiated by Consumers Power is but another concrete indication by an essential industry of the growth potential seen for this area.

The PRESS commends our fine neighbors on its forward-looking plans, with a sense of gratification over the confidence signified.

President's Succession Needs Sound Concept

With the millions of laws that cement the statutory structure of the Nation, you'd think there would be one providing a sound and enduring blueprint for presidential succession related to national emergency.

But there is none that quite does the job.

The assassination of President Kennedy and the fact that his successor once suffered a severe heart attack spotlights the nation's dangerous lack of such adequate provision.

The question, of course, is not a new one, and the Country has never been without some provision covering the contingency. But an objective look at the many pertinent but changing statutes that have graced the Federal law books indicate that they have stemmed more from expediency than enlightened constitutional statesmanship.

While the Country has had 36 presidents, eight vice presidents have succeeded to the presidency upon death of an incumbent. But seven vice presidents have died in office, and one has even resigned. In other words, during more than 40 years—nearly a fourth of our country's life—the U.S. has not had a vice president and therefore there has been no constitutionally elected successor to the president.

Three times has the Congress dealt with the problem.

The first law, passed in 1792, made the President pro tempore of the Senate and then the Speaker of the House next in line after the vice president.

This law was changed in 1886 by the Democratic Administration of GROVER CLEVELAND. It made the line of succession through the Cabinet, starting with the Secretary of State. The last change was effected by President TRUMAN in 1945. It made the Speaker of the House, (72-year-old JOHN W. MCCORMACK), President pro tempore of the Senate (86-year-old CARL HAYDEN) and members of the cabinet, in that order, successors to the vice president.

But in each instance the law reflected either personal attitude of the incumbent president or political strategy of the party in power. The conclusion is inescapable that in the past applicable laws have been written to deal with a temporary situation and for a wrong reason.

Now is the time to write a law for all time—and for the right reason.

GOP Has Pick of 8 Candidates

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — Republicans are at sixes and sevens, or eights.

Four have announced they want their party's presidential nomination although why two of them think they have a chance is a mystery.

Four others, more reticent, deny they seek the nomination but don't deny they'd accept a draft. In fact, three say they would.

Some of the eight are jibing at one another and most are jibing at President Johnson.

The harshest criticism so far is from Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who called Johnson a "highwayman of the bureaucratic spoils system."

Goldwater, 55, and these three are the active candidates, all campaigning in the New Hampshire primary.

New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, 55; Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, oldest of the candidates at 66; and Harold E. Stassen, 66, now a Philadelphia lawyer, who made a big pitch for the nomination in 1948 but lost.

FAIR TO THE RIGHT

Goldwater, far to the right of the others, is like the others in that he claims he could run things better.

Rockefeller, whose prospects dimmed after his divorce and remarriage, is on the liberal side. He is critical not only of Johnson but of Goldwater, too, and for good measure he has taken a swipe at former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who is one of the reluctant four.

Nixon, who shows plenty of signs of hoping for the nomination while steadfastly insisting he won't seek it, only recently said he would accept a draft.

It's hard to figure out why Stassen is in the race. He was the "boy wonder" governor of Minnesota — from 1938 to 1943 — but has never been elected to anything since.

CHARMING WOMAN

But then it's hard to say why Sen. Smith — a charming woman and excellent senator and politician who has been in Congress since 1940 and has never lost an election — thinks she has a fiddler's chance for the presidential spot.

She herself is extremely vague on why she's even trying.

It's from the four reticent Republicans that the party may actually pick its candidate. Besides Nixon, now 51, the others are: Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton, 47; Michigan's Gov. George Romney, 56; and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., American ambassador to South Viet Nam.

Scranton frankly says that while he won't seek the nomination he'd accept it but would enter no primaries. He has one big handicap: He and his qualifications are hardly known outside Pennsylvania. He served one term in Congress.

NOT SINCE 1932

Lodge, appointed ambassador to South Viet Nam late last year by President Kennedy, has not held elective office since Kennedy took his Senate seat away from him in 1932. When he ran for the vice presidency in 1960 on the ticket with Nixon, he lost again.

But he is a respected figure among Republicans, helped persuade Dwight D. Eisenhower to run in 1952, and now in his critical Viet Nam post denies he's a candidate this year. He didn't, though, say he wouldn't accept a draft.

Romney, like Nixon and Scranton, said he won't seek the nomination, but, like them, said he would accept it.

'Sorry Ol' Boy—That One's Obsolete!'

David Lawrence Says:

Prayer Breakfast Is Impressive

WASHINGTON — Perhaps a "presidential prayer breakfast," such as is held here annually, may seem like a paradox.

But the name describes a meeting of more than 1,000 persons, most of them in the government, who sat down together in the ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel at 8 o'clock yesterday morning to pray together.

Since Chief Justice Earl Warren himself was at the head table, the event could hardly be criticized on constitutional grounds, and President Johnson took particular pains in his speech to point out that there is a difference between prayer that is voluntary and prayer that is directed by the state itself.

He said: "We who hold public office are enjoined by our Constitution upon enacting laws to tell the people when and where or how to pray."

"All our experience and all our knowledge proves that injunction is good. For, if government could ordain the people's prayers, the government could also ordain its own worship — and that must never be."

SERVED WELL

"The separation of church and state has served our freedom well because men of state have not separated themselves from church and faith and prayer."

"I believe that these annual prayer breakfasts serve a most useful purpose in both reminding and reassuring the people that those who hold their trust are themselves godly and prayerful men and women."

It was impressive to see in the audience such an array of government officials and some ambassadors.

The speaker of the House was there, as well as senators and representatives from both political parties.

PREDECESSORS

President Kennedy made a speech to a similar gathering just a year ago, and President Eisenhower before him did likewise.

The program was devoted entirely to the spiritual theme. It began with a song from the Navy choir, and the invocation was delivered by George Hayes, a prominent Negro layman.

Rep. Jeffery Cohen of California, head of the prayer breakfast group in the House of Representatives, read a lesson from the Old Testament, and Sen. Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, a member of the breakfast group of the Senate, read a lesson from the New Testament.

President Johnson in his address made an interesting suggestion — that in Washington, the seat of government, there must be a fitting memorial to the God who made us all.

He added:

"Our government cannot and should not sponsor the erection of such a memorial with public funds. But such a living memorial should be here. It should be a center of prayer, open to all men of all faiths at all times."

"The world is given many statistics about the per capita vices of Washington, but the world knows all too little about the per capita virtues of those who live and labor here."

The whole occasion was an extraordinary one. Not a word of politics — implicit or explicit.

—was expressed. Nor was there any comment on the policies of the government.

The meeting was devoted entirely to the encouragement of prayer breakfast groups throughout the country.

Coup Caught U.S. Flat-Footed

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — This is the story of how the United States in South Viet Nam could be caught with its intelligence down—even with 15,000 U.S. military, State Department and aid men on the spot and with advisers attached to every major South Vietnamese military unit.

The incumbent Kibbutzniks (some of them wearing their U.S. college sweaters) tend a 30-head herd that produced 100 tons of milk last year (consistently the lowest in bacteria count of any herd in its county) and harvested 350,000 chicken eggs.

NO PROFIT

"We are hardly a profit-making organization," Kibbutz Manager Zvi (Henry) Bunzl told us with a laugh as we sat in the bare reception room of the Kibbutz coeducational dorm.

He is serving what he calls "a three-year stretch" at Hechalutz, giving lessons in Hebrew at the end of the day's work, lecturing on what life will be like in Kibbutzim in the old country, and serving generally as a father confessor.

I asked the tousled man in khaki work clothes how the task of proselytizing was going.

"As well as can be expected, I guess," he said.

Mayor Landry says "Public criticism of the commission is weakening this system of government." God willing, this is one right Americans shall always have. My commissioner isn't interested in my opinion and with one exception they vote as a "block" on almost every issue.

'Don't Back Down When You're Right'

The intimidation of students in our schools is, in my estimation and many neighbors, the pattern followed by adult behavior such as the character who moves into a neighborhood and thinks he will set up his own rules and laws and so intimidates, or tries to, the neighbors. They are afraid to take a stand on what they know is right. Until people go to authorities and report either the teenager, who intimidates fellow students, or the character, who has no regard for anyone else and believes he is a law unto himself, we will have these problems. About 70 per cent of the enrollment at Pontiac Central High is white. Why then, are the athletic teams comprised almost entirely of Negroes? One official says: "There were rumors all the time. We knew that various people were reported plotting. It's part of the way of life in South Viet Nam. It happened all the time during the Diem regime. Usually nothing came of the plots. You might say 'everybody was plotting. The didn't mean anything would happen."

"So, you ask, didn't anybody suggest Khan was plotting? Yes, of course. But there wasn't anything new in that and besides everybody knew it."

Part of what happened—from an intelligence standpoint—is a mystery. Presumably, there were several hundred American officers and men on the staff of the American military adviser to Khanh and his 1st Army Corps during the past month. Some of these were intelligence officers. While friendly political intelligence wasn't their job, they, presumably, were trained men, with eyes, ears—and friends.

What happened?

For one thing: The experts were looking in the wrong direction. They were certain any coup would be headed by someone in Saigon or close by. The political intelligence men concentrated so heavily on the capital city they didn't know what was happening politically in the provinces.

Because of the growing neutralist feeling in Saigon, the experts were certain any attempted coup would be rigged by the pro-French neutralists. So when they heard coup rumors, they concentrated their search in neutralist circles.

As for Khanh, he was so obvious a character, he was overlooked.

House Passes Road Measure

Would Subject Teens to Driver Point Rule

LANSING (AP) — A bill to make drivers under 17 subject to the driver point system and remove their traffic offenses from probate court jurisdiction was passed Wednesday by the House.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. John Toepfer, R-Cadillac, was approved 79-22 after being debated for the second time.

Toepfer and other supporters of the bill argued for it as a way of making juvenile drivers "more responsible for their actions."

Under present law, drivers are not subject to the point system under which 12 points can result in license revocation until their 17th birthday.

TOO LENIENT?

Probate courts, which exercise jurisdiction over youths under 17, have power to revoke or suspend licenses, but some lawmakers contend the courts have been too lenient with juvenile offenders.

Rep. George Edwards, D-Detroit, said the objection of many lawmakers to the bill was that it put juvenile traffic offenders under the jurisdiction of municipal courts.

Gov. George W. Romney has indicated support for the proposal to subject drivers under 17 to the point system, but sides indicated the House version of the bill would not be entirely satisfactory. They said a bill to be introduced in the Senate will provide that probate courts maintain jurisdiction but that their findings in traffic cases be recorded for the point system.

Also approved by the House Wednesday was a bill which amends state law to require traffic to stop for emergency vehicles with flashing blue lights.

A law was passed two years ago to permit police cars to use blue flashers, but many police departments have hesitated to switch from the traditional red because the law did not give them legal right-of-way.

Warm-Up Idea Didn't Turn Out Too Hot

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — Henry Lopez, 45, a kitchen worker, knew how to beat the cold when he accidentally was locked inside a food freezer at a restaurant.

He built a fire with vegetable crates.

The idea backfired. Employees opened the freezer door 10 minutes later and found Lopez warm but unconscious.

Too much smoke, doctors said.

He was reported in satisfactory condition after hospital treatment.

Winter Rested in January

Old Man Winter repented of his antics a year ago and scheduled a January that was warmer and not nearly as snowy this year.

Average mean temperature for last month was 27.6 degrees, almost twice as warm as the bitter 15.6 average mean recorded in January 1963.

The best news was the warming trend that began during the fourth week of the month when temperatures soared to the mid-40's and reached a springy 50 degree high on Jan. 21.

Coldest day was on Jan. 14, when the thermometer dropped to 4.

HIT MINUS 15

But this was tropical compared to the low a year ago, when the red line almost dropped out of sight at minus 15; and stayed near zero for days.

The Pontiac area, and most of Michigan, also missed the worst effects of this year's howling blizzard of Jan. 12-13, which sent much of the Midwest and East reaching for long underwear and snow shovels.

The storm spent its force felling trees and toppling signs, and drifting light snow across highways.

January's precipitation included three-tenths of an inch of rain as well as three and one-half inches of snow. A year ago the five and one-half inches that fell was all snow.

To top it off, 20 days are recorded as all or partly sunny. Not a bad entry into the new year.

Junior Editors Quiz on HISTORY

QUESTION: Why were 21 guns fired at President Kennedy's funeral?

ANSWER: The firing of these guns was a salute, a way of paying the greatest possible honor to President Kennedy. A salute is a gesture of recognition and respect.

Salutes originated in early days when a person of lesser rank would deliberately disarm himself before a superior, to prove his humility and obedience.

Extending one's hand for a handshake, in those days, proved there was no sword in it; taking off your hat to someone meant taking off your steel helmet.

In the same way, when an old time ship or fort shot off all or most of its cannon, it showed it was helpless for a while, since it took quite a time to reload.

The top picture shows an old time ship which carried so few guns that to shoot off 21 of them would greatly reduce its fighting power.

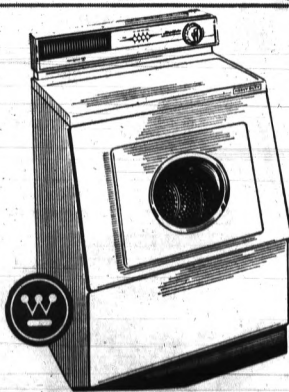

So originated the 21 gun salute, this number of guns being set to honor heads of state and royalty—it was called the "royal salute."

The custom has come down to us; we also use salutes of 19, 17, 15, 13, 11 and 5 guns, to honor less important people.

The reason for the odd numbers is said to be that old time seamen considered even numbers unlucky.

FOR YOU TO DO: Think a minute—is the 21 gun salute the greatest number we ever fire? If you think so, you are wrong; on July 4 the salute to the union is fired, one gun for each state. Here, we are not saluting any one person, but a whole nation.

Biologists from 30 to 60 nations are expected to participate in the International Biological Program, for the study of man's place in the world, and hope-fully, to enlarge available resources for his future welfare. The program is to begin in 1965 and may last five to seven years.

Barry Pushes His Campaign

Eyes N. H. Primary,
Federal Tax Cut Bill

WITH GOLDWATER IN NEW HAMPSHIRE (P) — Sen. Barry Goldwater stepped up his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination today with one eye on the New Hampshire primary and the other on the $11-billion Tax Cut Bill in the Senate.

"I haven't determined yet how I'll vote on this," Goldwater said last night as he campaigned in two New Hampshire towns.

Today he planned to visit eight others in the southeastern corner of the state.

In Littleton last night, Goldwater received brass band receptions and a parade down main street.

CART RIDE

But Lancaster topped that reception. The Arizona senator rode down the icy main street there in a cart hauled by a pony. It rolled him into the lobby of the hotel, where he answered questions and shook hands with more than 200 townspeople.

High school boys waving red railroad flares led the procession. Next came a band from Gorham, clad in gaudy Indian costumes and headdresses. The senator followed, a buffalo robe over his lap.

With the Senate nearing a final vote on the administration's tax bill, Goldwater called off a Friday campaign schedule and decided to head back to Washington tonight.

"I'm sure it's going to pass, there's no question about that," he told a Littleton audience. But he added:

SERIOUS DOUBTS

"I have serious doubts about it . . . I don't know frankly what to do about it."

Goldwater said that if individuals spend tax savings on consumer goods, the cut could spur the economy. But he said if they save the money, "We could wind up with one whole of a deficit."

He said business tax cuts should produce new investments in plants and equipment and thus provide new jobs.

But the senator said "we should have been cutting expenditures in the federal government so that tax cuts would have come naturally. I think we're taking a very dangerous gamble."

Alaska Gets Status Symbol

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (P) — There was just a touch of embarrassment in this largest state 11½ times the area of England when a London columnist noted Alaska didn't have a single Rolls Royce. It isn't true any more.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Dinwiddie had a well-preserved 1936 model shipped from San Francisco.

BOYS ON HORSEBACK — Michigan's unseasonably warm weather moved a couple of boys from Athens to give their mounts a spring workout. They ride silhouetted against yesterday's bright sunset. The boys are Jerry and Dennis Mack, and they are on their way home about four miles south of Athens, near Battle Creek.

Official Sees 32-Hour Week 10 Years Away

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The chairman of the National Manpower Advisory Committee says the 32-hour work week is only 10 years and "four jumps" in the future.

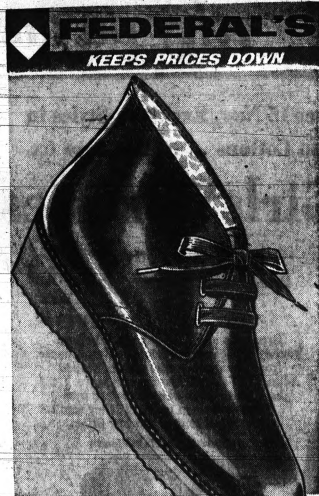

And before the century ends, the work week may be cut to 20 hours, added Dr. Ralph Ginzberg, who also is an economics professor at Columbia University.

He said the shortened week is one way to maintain the vital balance between men and machines. "We have always kept that balance by reducing our hours of work," he added.

In a speech to Columbia and Barnard College alumni organizations Wednesday night, Dr. Ginzberg forecast an hourly decline in "four jumps" within the next decade: from 40 hours to 37 to 35 to 32.

2 Chinas Depend on Rule of Aging, Authoritarian Leaders

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In this second article of a series of three on the perplexities of the "Two-Chinas" concept, an experienced AP correspondent in Asia depicts the leadership of the David and Goliath nations involved.)

By ROY ESSOYAN
TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — An aging father image towers over each of the two Chinas.

France's efforts to establish diplomatic relations with Red China have focused world attention on these two leaders of China, arch enemies for decades.

Nationalist China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, a slim and ascetic 76, still rules his island stronghold of Formosa 100 miles off the China coast with firm hand.

Communist China's party chief Mao Tse-tung, a round and moon-faced 70, is the unquestioned father of Chinese communism, the historian, Marxist theoretician and military strategist whose word is law for the 700 million people of mainland China.

SPRY, HEALTHY
Mao swims regularly and is a great believer in physical exercises, some of which he claims to have invented. Chiang looks walks and is deeply tanned. They appear spry and healthy and show no sign of bowing off the world stage.

Both men are past their prime. The struggle to which they have devoted their lives — the establishment of China as a world power to be reckoned with — probably will have to be carried on by their successors.

AP Photo

AGING MASTERS—The two men contending for the rule of China are both aging masters. Mao Tse-tung, 70, (left) rules the Communist mainland, while Chiang Kai-shek, 76, is head of the Nationalist government in Formosa.

Chiang and Mao, however, have towered over possible successors for nearly 40 years. Their mantles — and the total power they wield — probably could not be passed on to any single individual in either country.

"It takes 10 years for a new tree to grow up," a Chinese here said, quoting an old Chinese proverb.

RIGID POLICY
Diplomats and scholars in Hong Kong and Taipei expect Red China to remain rigid and uncompromising in its relations with the outside world for the foreseeable future, except insofar as changes may suit its purpose.

Nationalist China is expected to continue leaning on the United States for its defense while depending less and less on American economic assistance as U.S. aid is gradually phased out.

Some experts here feel the men who follow Chiang and Mao may work out some form of compromise settlement.

"Chiang is Nationalist China and Nationalist China is Chiang," one European diplomat here said. "If Chiang goes, Nationalist China can't survive for long as an independent entity."

OPINION DIVIDED
But opinion is divided on this point. Much depends on the personality of the man who follows Chiang and Mao. The choice is limited.

Each has one strong personalist among the heirs-apparent. But as of now neither is expected to get the nod.

Red China's Premier Chou En-lai, a poised, serious and persuasive statesman, is the only widely traveled and worldly member of the Chinese Communist hierarchy. The late George C. Marshall once described him as "one of the keenest minds I have ever met. Some feel Chou could diminish

East-West tensions — if that would serve Red China's purposes but he would be a formidable antagonist for the West. At the Asian-African conference in Bandung in 1955, Chou's persuasiveness convinced the leaders of half the world's people that Chinese communism was not an aggressive force.

He has made more points on his current tour of Africa than any other Chinese Communist leader could have. But at 66, Chou is considered the No. 3 man in Peking, after Mao and President Liu Shao-chi, the thin, solemn-faced Communist organizer and arbiter of Communist morals. Mao has designated Liu as his successor.

In Nationalist China the strongest personality next to Chiang is Chiang's Russian-trained eldest son, Lt. Gen. Chiang Ching-kuo, a stocky, soft-spoken, politically astute but socially pleasant man of 54. Chiang Ching-kuo derives much of his power from his father but he has built up an apparatus of his own and controls the garrison command in charge of overall security and the political department of the army.

Despite the power Chiang Ching-kuo wields, there is a strong feeling President Chiang will be succeeded by Vice President Chen Cheng, a firm but relatively colorless man of 66 in failing health.

Chiang Ching-kuo could develop into the power behind the throne but he and his Russian wife have remained remote from the public eye and it is felt he lacks the mass popular following and possibly the desire to seize and hold the top spot.

Next, China and the United Nations.

Auto Dealers Head Home to Bright '64 Prospects

By CHARLES C. CAIN
Associated Press Auto Writer
DETROIT — More than 1,500 of the nation's auto dealers were homeward bound today after a five-day convention at which they heard numerous reports that business is good and probably will stay that way.

Several speakers at the National Automobile Dealers Association convention agreed prospects are bright for a third straight year of seven million plus auto sales in the U.S. market.

WORK REQUIRED
But they cautioned that the seven million mark will not come without a lot of work on the part of dealers and salesmen.

NADA delegates were cheered by two reports that a decline in the number of U.S. auto dealerships, which had been recorded for seven consecutive years, has been checked.

One of the reports, by Automotive News, a trade publication, showed that the number of U.S. dealerships climbed to 31,040 last year.

This compared with 30,975 on Jan. 1, 1963. The increase, although a small one, was the first plus-report in eight years.

Auto dealerships totaled 41,018 on Jan. 1, 1956 but dropped off steadily since then, until the slide was checked last year.

PLAY PART
Several years of depressed profits played a part in the decline, but there were several other important reasons. The demise of such makes as Nash, Hudson, Packard, De Soto and Edsel affected the dealer population.

In addition, many manufacturers have been systematically overhauling their dealer ranks of the 1950's. The trend in recent years has been deciding toward fewer dealers selling more cars. Phrases like "an adequate market for each dealer" seem to carry more weight in factory planning today.

STABILIZING EFFECT
Improved profits of the last two years have had a stabilizing effect on the dealer population.

Chrysler made the biggest gain in dealer ranks last year as it added 423 to bring its total to 5,800. Studebaker, on the other hand, lost 242 as it slipped to 1,832.

Professor D. Maynard Phelps of the University of Michigan told the NADA members that the "shakeout of dealers is nearly over."

Phelps said that the 33,000 dealer total probably will remain a fairly stable figure until 1970.

"Dealer growth in the 1960s will call for increased capital investment of about 20 per cent by the average dealer," he said.

State Income, Outgo

LANSING (AP)—State treasury income in January was $188.2 million and outgo was $157 million. The treasury balance at the end of the month was $179.8 million.

Postponed 4 Times in 3 Years

World Watches Delays of Teen's Execution

By JACK STILLMAN

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — For almost three years, Preston Cobb Jr. has awaited death. The Negro, now 18, has seen the date of his execution wiped out four times.

Cobb was sentenced to death when he was 15 for the slaying of Frank C. Dumas, 70, a white farmer on whose property Cobb's mother and most of her nine children lived.

Cobb, whose friends called him Duke, admitted the slaying during his trial but later repudiated his confession.

NO LAW

His death sentence brought to light that Georgia has no law protecting a juvenile from the death penalty.

At his trial Cobb told a white jury that he shot Dumas to death after an argument over a fish he had caught in Dumas' pond.

"I was mad with him because he kept telling me about that little old fish I caught, and he told me he was going to blow my brains out," Cobb testified. The jury deliberated 45 minutes.

LITTLE KNOWN

Until his conviction, few had heard of the Negro boy who worked a little, studied some, and laughed a lot. The death sentence brought him into the limelight.

The late Eleanor Roosevelt asked former Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia to intervene in

SPECIAL REPORT

Cobb's behalf. A Malayan attorney made a similar request of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Two Dutch jurists, Dr. B. W. Vanhouten and Dr. F. T. Diemer-Linderboom, brought to the United States petitions bearing thousands of signatures asking for commutation of the sentence.

Scores of letters were received by Vandiver and by Georgia's present governor, Carl E. Sanders, urging that they stay the boy's execution. Georgia governors, however, have no clemency powers; only the pardon and parole board can commute a death sentence.

FIRST SENTENCED

Cobb first was sentenced to die in August 1961. Court appeals have erased four execution dates and now the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals is expected to set a hearing date for a new trial in the early spring. After Cobb's conviction, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People hired an Atlanta Negro attorney to take over the case from the court-appointed white lawyer, J. Ben Warren.

Warren, who lives in Monticello, Ga., refused to appeal Cobb's conviction. The Negro attorney, Donald L. Hollowell, described what he called the systematic exclusion of Negroes from juries in Jasper County, and filed an appeal. He also said that Cobb had admitted the slaying under duress.

"We feel that it might be economically and socially disadvantageous for a white lawyer to raise these questions in rural south Georgia," Hollowell argued before the Georgia Supreme Court.

WAS ADMONISHED

He was admonished by Chief Justice W. H. Duckworth, who said: "We are not interested in any insinuations that lawyers refuse to do their best for clients, whether white or colored." Hollowell insisted that the Cobb case should be considered in the light of the entire segregation question.

Duckworth answered: "Honest people disagree on some of the stuff you are talking about. We don't want any segregation issue raised here. We are deciding this case on the law."

The prosecutor, Solicitor General George Lawrence, said Cobb should be put to death as determined by the jury.

WE THINK JUST

"We are not anti-Negro in Jasper County," Lawrence said. "We are not antichild; but we are antinigger. We have done what we think just in this case."

Cobb meanwhile remains in death row in Reidsville State Prison. Sometimes he reads, sometimes he does push-ups and other exercises in the small cell.

Cobb's father died when Preston was an infant. About two years before Dumas was slain his mother moved to the Dumas farm, where she worked as a cook.

Cobb did odd jobs on the place. He received no regular salary, but Dumas periodically gave him a few dollars.

State Police Drive for More Troopers

EAST LANSIG (AP) — State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs Wednesday announced the start of an intensive new recruiting drive to enroll 200 additional troopers.

Childs said he is acting on the recommendation of Gov. George W. Romney.

Notary Public Permits

LANSING (AP) — Commissions issued for notaries public reached a new monthly high in January with 2,261 granted, reports the secretary of state's office. There were 21,565 such commissions issued last year, also a new high.

Some Measure of Accord in SE Asia

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Malaysia, Indonesia and the Philippines announced today they had reached "some measures of agreement" to make the cease-fire effective in the guerrilla fighting along the 800-mile Indonesia-Malaysia frontier on Borneo.

The three principals in the Malaysia dispute also formally asked U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to designate Thailand as supervisor of the shaky truce, won by U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy on his recent Asian tour.

Representatives of the three countries met in closed sessions for three hours and 40 minutes on the second day of their conference seeking a solution of the crisis.

They emerged with a communique signed by Philippine Foreign Secretary Salvador P. Lopez, Malaysian Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak and Indonesian First Deputy Prime Minister and Foreign Minister Subandrio, which said:

SOME AGREEMENT
"We have had exploratory talks and we have reached some measures of agreement on guiding principles making the cease-fire effective in Borneo-Kalimantan."

Kalimantan is the Malay name for Borneo, which Indonesia shares with the Malaysian states of Sabah and Sarawak and the British protectorate of Brunei.

The communique said the talks would resume tomorrow.

Razak told newsmen the three had paid particular attention to the question of Indonesian-backed guerrillas on Malaysian soil in North Borneo.

BRITISH TROOPS
Razak said the issue of British troops, who are helping defend Malaysia under a defense agreement, was not brought up.

Another reliable source in the Malaysian delegation said the session brought "very significant progress."

"So far the Indonesians seem to be going along all right," the source said.

The Malaysian informants said that no full agreement has been reached on the withdrawal of guerrillas from Malaysian territory, but Indonesia had accepted Malaysia's contention that as long as the guerrillas were on Malaysian soil, a cease-fire could not be effective.

VIOLATED TRUCE
The truce between the Indonesian guerrillas and the Malaysian and British troops on Borneo went into effect Jan. 26, but has been violated by scattered skirmishes and leaflet-dropping incidents.

The Philippines also has opposed the anti-Communist, British-sponsored federation because of a claim to Sabah (formerly British North Borneo).

But Filipino President Diosdado Macapagal has tried to moderate Indonesian president Sukarno's "crush Malaysia" campaign, which also includes an economic boycott.

At home, Indonesia and Malaysia exchanged charges of pirate raids on shipping in the narrow Strait of Malacca separating the two countries.

INDONESIA PIRATES
In Kuala Lumpur, Malaysian authorities said an Indonesian gunboat robbed six Malaysian fishermen of their boat and equipment.

In Jakarta, the Indonesian Navy said Malaysian pirates from Singapore were increasing their activity against Indonesian vessels in the Riau Islands across Singapore Strait.

Indonesia's chief price for coming to terms with Malaysia is believed to be the withdrawal of British influence from the federation.

As Malaysia's sponsor and commonwealth partner, Britain is providing military protection for the federation, made up of former British territories.

Before leaving for Bangkok, Razak defended Britain's presence by declaring "British troops are here under a defense treaty to defend us against external aggression."

The findings of Guthrie's four-man team and of a companion squad which checked five other sites are expected to be kept under wraps until they have been formally drawn up and distributed to other members of the Antarctic Treaty.

Under the international pact, the 12 member nations pledged to use the South Polar area for peaceful purposes only.

FIVE BASES
Beside the two Soviet sites, Guthrie's group visited New Zealand's Scott Base and flew over a French installation, Dumont d'Urville. Hawkins' three-man team inspected five bases — two British, two Chilean and one Argentine.

According to Guthrie, his group spent eight or nine hours in each inspection stop at the Soviet bases. Polish-born J. Pi Ruina, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology professor who formerly headed the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency, Interior Department biologist Victor B. Scheffer and interpreter Michel Ivy were with him.

Flying from the U.S. main base at McMurdo Sound, the team went to Vostok in a C130 military transport which also carried U.S. Navy Seabees. The Navy construction men were setting up radio antennae for a scientific experiment to be carried out jointly with the Soviets. The temperature was 35 degrees below zero and wind 40 to 50 miles an hour.

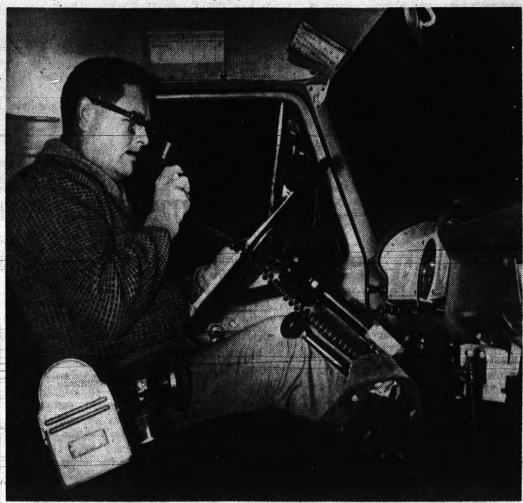

CHARGES EYED IN FATAL CRASH
PORT HURON (UPI) — Prosecutor James T. Corden said today he is studying a sheriff's request for manslaughter warrants against the drivers involved in the bus-car accident that killed two girls and a boy last Friday.

Corden said he would not decide whether to issue warrants until he can question the bus driver, Stewart S. Heddie, 48, of Marysville, who is under a doctor's care.

The bus, carrying 50 passengers from a roller skating rink in Lakeport, stalled and was rammed by a car driven by Clifford J. Agnew, 18. Nineteen of the young skaters were hurt, one critically, in the crash which set the bus' gas tank afire.

Angew claims the bus was unlighted. Heddie told deputies at the crash scene that he may have turned off the lights when he tried to restart the engine.

Sheriff William J. Pettigall of St. Clair County recommended that both Agnew and Heddie be prosecuted.

READY FOR TROUBLE — Wallace Jury radios in a report on road conditions to a maintenance watchmen ready to dispatch a salt truck or a snow plow the moment it's needed. Jury is one of two men who patrol Oakland County in a pickup truck every night during the winter for the County Road Commission.

Assures Best Road Conditions

Night Patrol Views Weather

By JIM DYGERT

Oakland County has some 700,000 residents, but it can still be a lonely place at times for Wallace Jury and Frank Schmeltz.

"I don't know what I'd do without this," says Jury of the transistor radio that provides him with the company of music on his nightly jaunt of some 200 miles over county roads.

Once Jury and Schmeltz are on their jobs, radio is usually their only contact with the rest of humanity.

BEST CONDITIONS
While most of the county sleeps, the two men roam half the county alone — one north of M59 and one south of it — in a 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. vigil to assure best possible road conditions when county residents awake in the morning and head for work.

Their job, as they cruise the county in pickup trucks equipped with two-way radio, is to alert maintenance watchmen at the first sign of snow or sleet, especially when a storm has not been expected.

Their weather warnings spur salt trucks and snowplows into immediate action.

MINOR CHORES
Salt, sand, tools and other items are carried in the pickups for minor maintenance chores such as repairing a broken traffic sign or salting an icy spot.

Also in the truck are flares and flashing barricades to warn drivers away from more serious hazards until they can be eliminated.

Jury and Schmeltz also watch for other conditions needing correction, such as broken guard rails or blacked-out stoplights.

MORNING REPORTS
Every morning, before going off duty, one of them reports on the county's roads to the State Highway Department in Lansing, also relaying similar data from Macomb and St. Clair counties.

The highway department distributes a statewide road condition report to news media for the benefit of motorists.

The highway department says it has had a "night patrol" in operation for 30 years.

In Oakland, as in some other counties, the patrol is partially financed by the state reimbursing the county for time spent on state-designated highways.

HALF THE TIME
Jury says about half of each night's time is spent covering all the state routes in the county.

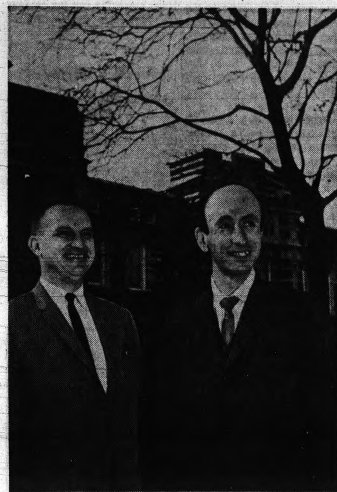

While the job may be lonely, it's not monotonous, according to Jury, who says, "There's always something different."

To vary things a little, he and Schmeltz swap territories every night and travel it differently each time around.

However, Jury, who has been on the winter night patrol for 10 of his 12 years with the road commission, admits that he likes his summer job better.

That's as a weighmaster checking truck loads, with most of the work in the daytime.

Reds Stretch U.S. Bias, Says Ecuadorian Teacher

By L. GARY THORNE

Communism has exaggerated America's racial problem in Latin American propaganda, a visiting Ecuadorian English teacher said yesterday.

Cristobal Gerardo Espinosa is a participant in the U.S. State Department's 1963 International Teacher Development Program.

He admitted he had started his U.S. trip with a different picture of this country.

"Communism has exaggerated this (racial) problem bigger than it is in reality," Espinosa explained.

ALL COUNTRIES
He added that racial problems exist in all countries, but the problem is not noticed like it is in America. The U.S. is a world leader and a target.

Espinosa said Latin American countries have more problems over religion than race.

The foreign teacher said he had found American schools, including those in Pontiac, "very advanced." He said he was "much impressed."

The 36-year-old educator from Cuenca, Ecuador, is most surprised to find so much machinery and scientific equipment in local schools.

FULBRIGHT SCHOLAR
A Fulbright Scholar, Espinosa said only schools in big cities in Ecuador have some of this equipment.

"Most Ecuadorian schools do not have audio-visual materials at all," he added.

Espinosa is spending two weeks in Pontiac, observing local education. Host is the Pontiac Education Association.

Nearing the end of his seven-month visit to the United States, he has viewed school systems in Texas, California and New York.

MORE THEORY
Espinosa said that "more theory rather than practice" is taught in Ecuadorian schools.

A high school student in Latin America takes 14 compulsory classes a week. Class size is about 50.

Even though Ecuador schools may be crowded, professionals there — teachers included — have a hard time finding employment.

Espinosa said that even instructors with doctorate degrees may wait a long time for a vacancy. When a vacancy does occur, there may be 100 people trying to get it.

U.S. A DREAM
"The professional's dream of coming to the U.S. for jobs," the visitor said.

Espinosa will travel to Ann Arbor for a four-day stay and then go to Washington in order to write a report on his U.S. visit.

And what was the non-professional visit he liked best? A trip to Las Vegas was "most fascinating," the bachelor visitor said.

He also found Disneyland a delight.

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) —

Thirty-six Cubans described as Fidel Castro militiamen by two defecting companions were in jail today, charged with illegally fishing in Florida waters.

Florida authorities arrested the men Wednesday night after federal officials had questioned them for three days.

The United States turned them over to Florida, explaining federal laws provide no penalty for illegally fishing in American waters.

Asst. State Atty. Gen. Joe-Jacobs said the men faced a possible one-year sentence or $500 fine or both under the Florida law barring alien vessels from taking fish from state waters.

HEAVY GUARD
After Cuban exiles and Cuban-Americans demonstrated against the fishermen, a heavy guard was thrown around Monroe County jail, where the 36 were held in lieu of $1,000 bail each.

The demonstrators hanged Castro in effigy and threw him into the sea from Mallory Dock, adjacent to the Coast Guard dock, where the Cubans had lived aboard their trawlers.

The boats were herded there by the Coast Guard from Florida's Dry Tortugas Islands, where they were boarded Sunday.

The two who received political asylum in the United States said after reaching Miami that the scarcity of fish in Cuba brought them toward U.S. waters.

Reynaldo Salaz Romero, 33, said the Cuban government's fishing cooperative had told them to head toward U.S. waters because "that is where you will find schools of kingfish."

NO PROBLEMS
"They told us not to worry if we go into U.S. waters, everything would be all right," he said.

Armando Girola Fortes, 44, said "winds of fortune" waited their boats into U.S. waters.

Girola said "There is no fishing any more near Cuba. We have to go out further."

The refugee could not explain the absence of fish in waters famed for their presence.

In Havana, Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa sent a note of protest to the United Nations, saying the incident risked "international peace and security."

Roa asked the U.N. to demand the immediate release of the fishermen kidnapped and the return of the ships.

Senate's Final Vote on Tax Cut Bill Expected by Friday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's $11.6-billion tax cut bill moved today to the brink of final passage in the Senate.

Democratic leaders said if the bill wasn't passed by tonight, it almost certainly would be approved Friday. It has already cleared the House.

At least 10 to 12 amendments—some dealing with such controversial issues as reductions in the depletion allowances for oil and gas—remained to be acted on before a final vote.

But the administration cleared its final big hurdle Wednesday with a 48-45 defeat of a Republican effort to repeal the 10 per cent retail excise tax on four categories.

The GOP proposal would have wiped out World War II levies on furs, cosmetics, jewelry, watches and luggage including handbags, and would have cost the Treasury about $450 million a year.

To line up votes against it, Democratic leaders pledged a review of all federal excises later this season, starting in the House Ways and Means Committee.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-DeL., told reporters he would be ready today to offer an amendment to cut the present 22 1/2 per cent oil and gas depletion allowance—subject of some sharp attacks over the years—to 20 per cent.

This would pick up $250 million in additional revenue. But the Senate has rejected many similar efforts to reduce the allowance in recent years.

BOGS DOWN

After the vote on the retail excise taxes, the Senate bogged down in six hours of heated debate over an attempt to knock out of the bill a section of public utility regulation.

Until that snag developed, managers of the bill had been confident they could bring the tax measure to a final vote by tonight.

On two close votes, the Senate decided to retain in the bill a House provision barring federal regulatory agencies from requiring utilities to pass along immediately to their customers tax savings achieved under the 1962 investment credit provision.

This credit permits companies to subtract from their taxes up to 7 per cent of the outlays for new machinery and equipment.

The Senate defeated 46 to 42

the amendment to eliminate the House language applying to regulation of natural gas pipelines, railroads, trucks, shipping lines and bus operators. These are eligible for the full 7 per cent credit.

It turned back 48 to 43 an attempt to strike out a similar provision dealing with electric, gas, water, telephone and telegraph companies. These get only a 3 per cent credit.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who offered the amendments, said the utilities were entitled to fair and reasonable profits under normal regulatory procedures. But he declared their customers should not be denied benefits, in the form of lower rates, for any tax savings they get from the investment credit.

Bill to Aid County

LANSING (AP) — A bill on file for introduction in the Senate would pay Jackson County $25,000 a year as "partial reimbursement" for the county's handling criminal cases in connection with Southern Michigan Prison. It is sponsored by Sens. Haskell Nichols, R-St. Louis, and Philip Rahol, D-Iron Mountain.

The median income of all working women was $1,372 at the time of the last census.

May Even Improve Wine

Sunspots Show Remarkable Influence

WASHINGTON—When spots speckle the surface of the sun, radio signals are apt to bounce crazily about the globe.

During a recent peak of sunspot activity, London television viewers were startled to hear a New York station's dispatcher ordering a driver named "Mac" to proceed posthaste to Flatbush Avenue.

Two girls frankly discussing a blind date on the telephone envied a New Jersey radio station's programming in another sunspot-induced communications freak.

Sunspots also have been associated with everything from swallow migrations to the French Revolution. The evidence for these far-reaching effects is shaky, but the spots apparently do influence a variety of things.

MAY IMPROVE WINE

A French researcher found that great vintages in Burgundy wines follow maximum solar activity.

Biologists in Iceland discovered that the North Atlantic lumpfish, a source of caviar, proliferates when the sun is spotty. The cod, however, prefers a clear sun.

New York psychiatrists recently computed a correlation between mental hospital admissions and intense sunspot disturbances.

Sunspots have been observed and described since the ancient Chinese thought they saw "flying birds" in the sun. The spots cannot be seen by the unaided eye except when the sun is shrouded by mist, fog, thin clouds, smoke, or when its reddening at dusk.

SKIES DARKENED

In 1371, great forest fires in Russia darkened the skies. A chronicler wrote: "There was a sign in the sun . . . dark spots on the sun, as if nails were driven into it . . . the murkiness made it impossible to see anything for more than seven feet."

The spots look dark only by contrast with the more luminous surface about them. They actually have a temperature of about 4,000 degrees centigrade.

Galileo detected sunspots shortly after he built his telescope in 1610, but his findings were challenged.

The master philosopher Aristotle had taught earlier that the sun was without blemish, and Galileo's critics said the spots he saw must be in his eyes or on his telescope lens.

SPOTS ARE HUGE

The sunspots are not mere blemishes. They are great vortexes of gas on its surface.

Many measure 40,000 miles across; a giant spot spread 200,000 miles in 1947. The smallest spots last less than a day; the largest persist for several months and move as the sun rotates.

Astronomers are not sure what causes sunspots. One theory is that they stem from magnetic interference with heated gas as it rises to the sun's surface by convection.

Rocky Raps 'Leader Gap'

Attacks Johnson's
'Lock of Initiative'

WASHINGTON (U) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller brought his campaign into President Johnson's backyard today and charged the country "is plagued by a leadership gap."

The New Yorker, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, declared that by the November election the American people must decide on two basic alternatives —

"To assume leadership and initiative in the world — or to continue to try to navigate in the rough wake of a course already churned by the Soviet government."

Rockefeller, appearing before the Public Affairs Conference of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said in his prepared remarks that a strong American economy "is an absolute essential for world leadership."

THREE WAYS

To achieve this strong economy and meet the challenge of leadership, the nation is confronted by three competing approaches, he said.

Apparently in a gibe at one of his chief Republican rivals, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Rockefeller declared that the approach of "those who like to go back to the good old days" won't work.

"There isn't much of a business market today for buggy whips and high button shoes," he said. "Nor is there any place in today's America for turning back the clock on social progress."

The approach followed by the Democratic administrations for more than three years — "an approach marked by deficit spending, piling up debt and promising everything to everybody" — hasn't worked and won't, he added.

OWN CHOICE

His own choice, Rockefeller told the businessmen, "is to emphasize and encourage the dynamics of the free enterprise system within the framework of a responsible democratic government."

To encourage the economy to expand and provide more employment, Rockefeller called for: Immediate enactment of a tax cut; a balanced cash budget by fiscal 1967; encouragement of research and development in the private sector of the economy; means of "bringing jobs and people together; promotion of education at all levels and elimination of arbitrary barriers to employment; and development of a national transportation policy."

Florida Ferry Is the Last of Its Kind

ORANGE SPRINGS, Fla. (U) — The Orange Springs' ferry is in operation in Florida, where cable ferries were once numerous.

This ferry spans the Oklawaha River. It is operated by Mr. and Mrs. James Snyder, who say that traffic is heaviest during the hunting season as it is a short cut to the game-rich portion of Ocala National Forest.

The Sydneys first tried to operate the ferry on a 24-hour basis. Now it is open on weekdays from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

On weekends the time is extended to 11 p.m.

The only other cable ferry in Florida is county owned and operated at Suwannee River near Bell.

Webberville Man Dies, Is Run Over by Train

WEBBERVILLE (AP) — Mike Schuchaskie, 83, of Webberville, was killed Wednesday when he was run over by a freight train. State police quoted crew members of the 63-car Chesapeake and Ohio freight as saying they saw Schuchaskie lying face down across the tracks. Engineer Garner C. Jones of Southgate said he could not stop the train in time.

In its 161 years of existence, the United States Military Academy has provided nearly 25,000 officers for the United States Armed Forces.

Filipinos Mourn National Hero

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The Philippines began 15 days of national mourning today for Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo, hero of the islands' independence struggle at the turn of the century.

Aguinaldo, 94, died today at Veterans Memorial Hospital in Manila after his third heart attack in eight days. Nearly blind and unable to walk, he had spent most of the last four years in the hospital. His 12-year-old second wife died there last May.

Philippine and American leaders joined in tribute to the old warrior who led barefooted peasants in independence campaigns, twice against Spain and once against the United States.

Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal called him one of the greatest men ever produced by the Malay race.

"His monument is the Republic of the Philippines," said U.S. President Johnson.

MACARTHUR'S FATHER

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said Aguinaldo was "the very incarnation of the Filipino desire for liberty and freedom." Aguinaldo had taken the oath of allegiance to the United States before MacArthur's father, Gen. Arthur MacArthur, in 1901.

Aguinaldo's body was to lie in state at his home on the south shore of Manila Bay, where he proclaimed Philippine independence and the first Philippine republic on June 12, 1898. Later it may be taken to the presidential Malacanang Palace.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete, but the family said burial would be at the Manila Bay home.

GEN. AGUINALDO

President Macapagal ordered the name of the armed forces headquarters changed from Camp Murphy to Camp Aguinaldo. It had been named for the late Frank Murphy, onetime U.S. governor general of the Philippines.

AQUINALDO'S PARENTS

Aguinaldo, born March 22, 1869, was the son of the director of the Spanish civil government in Cavite Town. His mother directed a government cigar factory.

In 1896, Aguinaldo's peasant force captured the Spanish garrison at Binakayan and exacted promises of reform from the Spanish administration.

Paid by the Spanish to leave the country, Aguinaldo went to Singapore. During the Spanish-American war in 1898, an American warship brought him back to the Philippines and he rallied 40,000 rebels.

The Filipinos overran many Spanish garrisons and had Manila under siege when American troops arrived. Aguinaldo maintained that Adm. George Dewey promised him freedom for the Philippines if his people would help win the war. Dewey denied this. The United States annexed the islands.

INDEPENDENCE

When the Philippines finally received independence on July 4, 1946, Aguinaldo proudly marched down Manila's Dewey Boulevard and ceremoniously removed the black mourning tie he had worn for the republic he proclaimed in 1898.

Do Dutch Legalities Doom Romances?

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Princess Irene is the second of the four Dutch-princesses to have a blighted romance. Crown Princess Beatrix, older sister of Irene, said no to a commoner six years ago.

Attractive blonde Beatrix was then 20 and a student at Leyden University. Her boy friend was Bob Steensman, tall son of a notary public and five years older than the princess.

PRINCESS IRENE

They had a good time together, but Beatrix later made clear she thought as the future Dutch queen, she should marry royalty.

The heiress to the throne explained that the constitution requires approval of her marriage and she added, "A royal match might make it easier."

ROMANCE ENDED

The Dutch now are wondering if this question of parliamentary disapproval might have broken up the romance of Princess Irene, 24, the second child of Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard. She is next in line for the throne behind Beatrix.

Romance with a Spanish suitor was widely rumored for Irene. Tuesday night Juliana in a broadcast told her people there had been the "happy possibility of an engagement." But she added that Irene had informed her "this engagement will not take place." The young man was not identified.

Irene's whereabouts are a mystery. She is believed to be in seclusion in Spain, where she had been visiting since Jan. 9.

The third princess, Margriet, is 21, born in Canada while her mother was a refugee during World War II.

The fourth princess, Christine, 16, is the pet of the family because she is blind in one eye and has only partial vision in the other. All the family has concentrated on helping her to lead a normal life.

IN PUBLIC SCHOOL

Despite her eyesight, she is at a public high school at Amersfoort, near Baarn, and reportedly is a good swimmer who likes reading, folk dancing and handicraft.

Christine's eye ailment was at the root of much publicized dif-

Integrationists Accept School Board Move

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland's school integration crisis, which was marked by violence at one school a week ago, is over a major hurdle.

The United Freedom movement, a confederation of civil rights groups, has accepted the Cleveland School Board's latest proposal. That proposal calls for immediate integration at three predominantly white schools whose vacant classrooms were being used by classes transported from the predominantly Negro Hazelwood School.

The Hazelwood pupils in the future will be considered as pupils of the receiving schools and will no longer be segregated, the board said.

END PICKETING

The UFM announced after a rally Wednesday night that it is calling an end to picketing and demonstrations. Planned boycotts of schools and downtown stores also are canceled, the UFM said.

The Collinwood Improvement Association, the predominantly white group involved, met Wednesday night for two hours but took no action on the school board's plan.

"We want to give this matter further consideration," said Albert A. Ballew, the association's president.

While approving immediate integration, the group promised parents who had objected to integration at the receiving schools that the policy of transporting classes will be ended as quickly as possible. Three new elementary schools scheduled to be built in the predominantly Negro Glenville area are expected to relieve overcrowding in that area.

STILL MARCHING

Despite a UFM call for an end to picketing Wednesday, pickets for the Congress of Racial Equality marched for two hours outside Central Police Station protesting the alleged roughness of police.

In Municipal Court, five persons pleaded innocent to charges filed by police who dragged or carried them from the school board headquarters Tuesday. They remained free on bond.

Slave's Kin Loses Case in Demotion

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The suspension and reduction in rank of Grand Rapids policeman Dred Scott Madison, a great-grandson of a slave whose escape figured in the start of the Civil War, was upheld Wednesday in a Superior Court ruling. Judge Claude Vander Ploeg ruled that the Civil Service Board was justified in disciplining Madison for conduct unbecoming an officer and ruled "no discrimination in this case based on race, creed or color."

Madison was demoted from sergeant and received a 15-day suspension after police were called to his home on July 13, 1962, in connection with an alleged family argument.

In December, 1962 the Civil Service Board upheld the demotion and suspension ordered by City Manager George E. Bean.

CAN'T HAPPEN

Madison, represented by attorney Samuel Himmelstein, appealed the decision to Superior Court, claiming violation of his constitutional rights and racial discrimination.

Vander Ploeg said in his opinion that "the actions of Dred Scott Madison affected the public respect for the police department and its employees."

Madison, a 16-year veteran of police work in Grand Rapids, is the great-grandson of Dred Scott, who lost a legal battle for his freedom before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Since the disciplinary action, Madison has been performing the duties of a police patrolman.

Troops Fight Southwest Snow Storm

AP Photo

FALLING PROBLEM — The sun shined yesterday in Amarillo, Tex., on huge piles of snow left by a record two-day storm. A heavy wet blanket lays over the town with snow measuring over 17 inches. An underpass in the city threatens to become clogged again with a sliding mass.

Latex Discovered Purely by Accident

NEW YORK (U) — Latex foam rubber, widely used today for furniture cushions, pillows and mattresses, was accidentally discovered in 1928 by two English scientists who were trying to make better tires.

The scientists were making tire cords by extruding latex rubber into a gelling bath under pressure when the nozzle popped off the extruder.

A ball of latex spurted into the bath and foamed like shaving cream because of the pressure. The men refined the process, patented it and so founded a new industry.

The Federal government owns nearly 770 million acres of public land.

Only a Shanty in Ye Olde London Town

LONDON (U) — A real estate ad in the London Sunday Times seeks a tenant for a house south of Chichester "for a minimum period of four months, but preferably longer."

It says the house has "3 public rooms and magnificent sun lounge, 6 bedrooms, 3 bathrooms, housekeeper's sitting room, modern kitchen with all appliances from dishwasher to spin dryer. Large garage and workable garden. Own private access to sandy beach."

"Oil-fired central heating throughout. Fully furnished and equipped. Reasonable rent for suitable tenant."

Headline on the high-pressure type ad is: "Rather A Lovely Modern House" — certainly pronounced "raw-ther!"

Most air cargo is one way, usually from industrial areas. Airlines throughout the world are working to devise ways to fill the aircraft for the return flight.

By The Associated Press
New Mexico Gov. Jack Campbell called out the National Guard and declared two counties emergency areas Wednesday as portions of five southwestern states struggled to crawl out from under a near blizzard that began Monday.

But while snow-plows sought to open streets and highways, high winds from another storm whipping out of Montana, Wyoming and Colorado, blew the snow back almost as soon as it was cleared in an area between Santa Rosa and Vaughn, N.M.

State police said the plows had to break through 20-foot drifts to reach between 60 and 70 motorists stranded on US 54. All were reported in good condition.

The weather bureau said the new storm contained heavy winds of up to 60 miles per hour, and colder temperatures. Up to two inches of snow had fallen southwest of Denver Wednesday night.

EIGHT DEATHS

Eight deaths were blamed on the storm in the southwestern states, four in New Mexico and four in Texas. The storm was centered in the Panhandles of Texas and Oklahoma, eastern New Mexico, southeastern Colorado and extreme southwestern Kansas.

It produced a record snowfall of 26 inches at Borger, Tex., with amounts elsewhere of 10 to 20 inches.

Schools, stores and offices have remained closed except for emergencies. Abandoned automobiles and trucks still clog the roads while stranded motorists wait for snowplows to open blocked routes.

National Guardsmen carried feed to isolated ranches in Quay and Union counties of New Mexico. And despite inconvenience and loss of some livestock, ranchers and farmers called the storm a "million-dollar snow." The area has been suffering from a lack of sufficient moisture for crops and many ranchers have been forced to haul water to livestock.

RAIN ELSEWHERE

Elsewhere, light rain fell yesterday across portions of Texas, Kansas and Missouri and a rain storm this morning has produced locally large amounts of precipitation in Illinois and Kentucky extending southeast through South Carolina.

Rain, windy and cooler weather was indicated in much of the northeast quarter of the nation and sections of the Midwest, in contrast to the mild temperatures the past few days.

Generally clear skies were reported in the Far West and the Southwest and parts of the Northeast.

Lowest temperatures were in western Montana and southern Idaho, ranging from zero to 10 above. Readings were mostly about normal or above seasonal marks in most areas.

Community College Issue 'Should Get a June Vote'

A three-part proposition to set up an Oakland County community college should go on June 8 school ballots, according to the recommendation of a citizens group.

The Community College Citizens Committee (CCCC) okayed the June vote at its meeting last night.

It remains for the county school board to officially place the college proposal on the ballot. The board is expected to concur with the CCCC.

The ballot proposition, divided into three parts, will be the same as in last June's vote. All three parts must pass or the entire issue fails.

PROPOSITION PARTS

The propositions ask: approval to establish a community college, election of a six-man board of trustees and authority to levy a 1-mill tax to finance the college.

Defeat of the tax levy caused the college question to fall in the last countywide vote. The measure lost 19,165 to 17,428.

Some members of the CCCC indicated last night that the college vote should be postponed until fall because of money issues on the ballot in local school districts.

However, Mrs. George Mosher of 551 Mohegan, Birmingham, said the issue stood no better chance to pass at a later date.

CAMPAIGN STEP-UP

The citizens group also discussed plans to step up their campaign for a favorable tally in June.

The last of three workshops to train speakers will be held Thursday, Feb. 13, at Pierce Junior High School, 5145 Hatcher, Waterford Township.

The CCCC expects to have a speakers bureau of about 50 persons available to explain the community college to local groups.

Insist Yacht Hit Metal Object Before Sinking

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — The 11 survivors of the dramatic rescue from the sinking yacht Hattie D early Wednesday off the California coast, insisted today that the craft was rammed by a metal object.

"I don't care how deep it was," said crewman Carl Johnson, "what holed us was steel and a long piece. There was no give to it at all." Johnson referred to the ocean's 7,800-foot depth in the area where the sinking occurred.

A Coast Guard helicopter, dipping between waves 30 feet high hoisted 10 men, the captain's wife and a German shepherd puppy from the pitching deck of the disabled Seattle yacht.

The Hattie D, a converted Navy search and rescue craft, sank 25 miles off the coast of Cape Mendocino.

GIANT LOG?

There was speculation following the rescue that the yacht had struck a giant log. Other crewmen, however, agreed with Johnson.

"I think the Navy should start checking to see if they lost a submarine," Johnson added. "Maybe they ought to see if anyone else has lost one, too."

The sinking ended a trip that began Jan. 24 at Seattle. The yacht left Neah Bay on the Washington coast headed for California last Sunday. Early Wednesday, the Hattie D struck an object off the rugged coast of Cape Mendocino.

The boat had been chartered by Wallace Rutherford. She was skippered by Charles Orcutt, 60.

WAIT 5 HOURS

For five hours, the crew huddled in the main cabin and waited for help to come. Forty-mile-an-hour winds made it impossible to launch life boats.

"All of the crew were wearing life jackets," said crewman A. J. Raiffe, "but little good they had been in that sea."

"That copter was only 15 feet above us when it lowered the basket," said Dewey Orcutt, 21, son of the skipper.

"We figure we are lucky we got out alive," added the skipper.

HOLE IN HULL

Orcutt said the object the Hattie D struck ripped a hole in her hull and broke the rudder.

"We lost control so all we could do was turn around and buck into the storm while we waited for the Coast Guard.

"Those big waves broke the pilot house windows, knocking out our radio. They splashed over the deck and down the companionway," Orcutt said.

OTHERS ABOARD

Others aboard were Bob Orcutt, another son of the skipper, and crewmen Ron Harmon, Mike Oom, Ben McClain and Raiffe.

Lt. Bob Larson, of Atherton, Calif., piloted the amphibious helicopter that made the rescue.

Other crewmen backed Johnson's claim that they were struck by a metal object.

The 12th Naval District Headquarters, however, said there were no U.S. submarines in the immediate area.

PART OF BARGE

Experienced seafarers in the Humboldt Bay area—near the sinking scene—said the Hattie D may have struck part of a barge. The barge Lumberjack went aground in Humboldt Bay last Oct. 27.

The barge broke up and part of it floated out to sea. A Coast Guard boat shelled the floating barge and it sank. But, no one could say how deep the barge sank.

China Army Chief Dies

ABOUT TO GO UNDER — The 166-foot converted World War II craft, Hattie D, buries its water-filled bow in a Pacific swell off Cape Mendocino yesterday shortly before sinking. Coast Guardsmen rescued all aboard the yacht, which sank off the California coast.

Must Install Sprinklers

Fire Law Affects Apartments

About 40 apartment buildings in Pontiac must install sprinkler systems in basement storage areas to conform with a new city ordinance.

Fire Marshal Charles Metz said owners will have 90 days from the time the ordinance becomes effective Feb. 13 to install the sprinklers.

Only apartments housing more than eight families and having locker or storage space for tenants' personal property are affected.

One sprinkler head is required for each 100 square feet of storage space; or in the case of individual compartments, one sprinkler head for each compartment.

IMPORTANT RULE

"This is one of the most important ordinances passed as far as the fire department is concerned," said Metz.

"Allowing tenants to store goods in the basement is a basic weakness of apartments. Otherwise, they are safe."

Concern increased over inadequate fire protection in apartments after the fire department blamed death of a 51-year-old man Jan. 13 on a fire in the basement storage area of Parkside Apartment, 101 Mechanic.

Metz said the new ordinance follows closely a 1959 State Housing Law, which has been difficult to enforce without some local regulation.

CLOSED DOORS

Another section of the new ordinance requires that all fire doors in any multiple dwelling be kept closed at all times. It becomes effective Feb. 13.

Labels warning "Violators Will Be Prosecuted" will be posted on all fire doors by the fire marshal.

Any occupant might be found guilty of the fire door violation, while the owner or person in charge would be ticketed for violating the sprinkler ordinance.

A fine not to exceed $100 or 90 days in jail, or both, would face violators of either law.

Lawmakers Cry Woof

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The Georgia House of Representatives approved a dognapping bill yesterday that would make the offense punishable by a prison term of from 2 to 5 years.

The present penalty is a year in jail, a fine or both. House Speaker George T. Smith, calling for the vote, said "All in favor say 'woof.'"

The woofs won 134-7.

Crops grow on approximately 16 per cent of the land area of the United States, according to the Agriculture Department.

Plans Told for State Rocket Site

WASHINGTON (AP)—University of Michigan President Harlan Hatcher disclosed plans Wednesday night for establishment of a rocket-launching site on the tip of Upper Michigan's Keweenaw Peninsula for use in meteorological study.

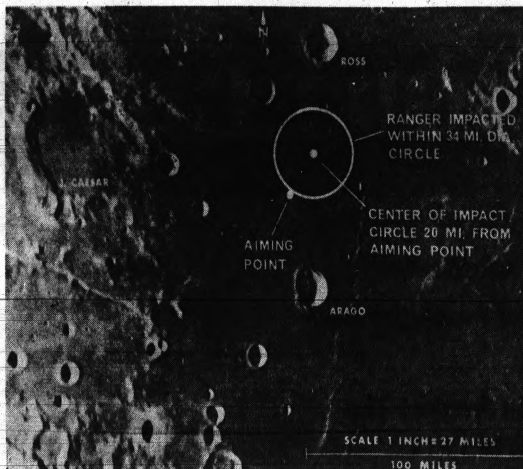

Hatcher, who spoke at the annual U. of M. alumni dinner at the National Press Club, said the U. S. Weather Bureau has allocated six rockets and payloads for firings to begin in May.

40 BROUGHT IN

Hatcher told the audience that 40 research-oriented industries have been brought into the Ann Arbor area in the past six years as a result of a U. of M. drive to establish a laboratory-industry complex in southeast Michigan.

The U. of M. president said government and university research go hand-in-hand with industrial growth and development and added that success for any of the partners in the three-way arrangement is dependent upon equal success in the others.

"One of the great economic concerns of our nation today, and certainly of our own state of Michigan, is jobs," he said. "The jobs of tomorrow are being created in today's laboratories."

CLOSE SHOT—Scientists at Pasadena's Jet Propulsion Lab released this enlarged moon photo yesterday, showing the estimated impact area of the Ranger 6 spacecraft which hit Sunday. Using tracking data, the scientists determined the shot came within 20 miles of its target area. However, the shot failed to send back photos of the moon as intended.

State House to Get County Library Bill

LANSING (AP)—A bill aimed at establishing libraries in 53 counties is expected to be introduced in the House by Rep. James S. Farnsworth, R-Allegheny.

The bill would require library boards to use court fine money in setting up libraries in districts not served, or in contracting with existing libraries to extend services to these areas.

U2 Trial Chief Dies

Frozen Body Found

CADILLAC (AP)—The frozen body of Bert Stockwell, 63, of Cadillac was found Wednesday night near US 31 about five miles north of here. Stockwell was reported missing by his wife last Sunday.

A cow producing 100 pounds of milk a day will drink as much as 50 gallons of water a day.

Trial Is Near in Sinatra Case

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The defense indicated today it may try to prove in court that Frank Sinatra Jr. told policemen at a mountain roadblock "not to worry... the kidnap was just a joke."

Three men accused of kidnapping the 19-year-old son of singer Frank Sinatra go on trial Monday in Federal Court.

Defense lawyer Morris Lavine yesterday demanded the names of four Nevada policemen who he claimed talked to Frank Jr. while he was in the alleged kidnap car.

He also said he would subpoena both Frank Sr. and Frank Jr. to testify during the trial of Joseph Amisler, 23; John Irwin, 42; and Barry Worthington Keenan, 23, Lavine is Amisler's attorney.

TALKED TO
"We have information that Sinatra Jr. was talked to by officers and not taken in, and we want to know why," said Lavine. "If it is so, we will prove in court and we will ask the court to impose proper sanction on counsel (the prosecution)."

Assistant U.S. Atty. Richard Murphy countered that no officers had indicated they saw young Sinatra before he was released for $240,000 ransom.

"I'm sure anyone would have remembered if he had talked to him," Murphy said.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge William G. East, presiding over a pretrial hearing, said he would take Murphy's word that no such officers had spoken to the young singer.

President Stumps in NY for State's Electoral Votes

By FRANK CORMIER

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson, eager for New York's 43 electoral votes in the November election, is emphasizing meetings and discussions during his 29-hour stay in New York City.

After lunching with editors of the New York Times today, Johnson had an afternoon appointment for a closed meeting with the 30-member executive committee of the President's Club of New York. This is an organization of people who have given at least $1,000 to the Democratic party.

Johnson also was prepared to meet with U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, provided Thant got back from an African tour. It seemed doubtful U Thant would arrive in time to see Johnson. The President departs for Washington tonight.

Wednesday night, Johnson addressed the annual dinner of the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation, a nonpartisan organization.

TRIBUTE TO JFK
Paying tribute to the memory of President John F. Kennedy, Johnson promised "we shall finish his fight" against every foe "of the land he loved and the people he served."

Kennedy had planned to address the dinner, originally scheduled for last Dec. 4, and Johnson said:

"Humbly I shall carry on for him here, as I intend to carry on the great efforts he started for lasting peace."

After the dinner, Johnson spent nearly an hour at a party in his honor at the town house of Mary Lasker, philanthropist and widow of advertising magnate Albert D. Lasker.

On the dais at the dinner were the late president's mother, Rose E. Kennedy; Robert F. Kennedy, the attorney general and two of his sisters, Eunice Shriver and Jean Smith. The President was back at his quarters in the Carlyle Hotel shortly after 11 p.m.

Tonight Johnson speaks at the dinner of the American Committee for the Weizman Institute of Science in Israel. The committee is raising funds for 46 annual fellowships to finance study at the Institute—one fellowship for each year lived by John F. Kennedy.

HONORS FAMILY

Johnson, besides paying tribute to the late president, honored the Kennedy family at Wednesday night's dinner.

"Our generation is proud and blessed to have known the Kennedys," he said.

"Unlike many who have their opportunities, they prefer labor to leisure. They place the public good ahead of private gain. They both preach excellence and pursue it. They have been granted more than their share of greatness—but they have also been dealt more than their share of grief."

Solons Now Seeking Limited Changes to State Constitution

LANSING (AP) — A bipartisan legislative group seeking to amend the State Constitution has abandoned plans for changes in many parts of the document except those dealing with election of the legislature and county and township officers.

At the same time, the informal committee has enlisted House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, as a spokesman to convince Gov. George W. Romney of the "absolute necessity" of the changes.

Green—regarded as the most powerful and influential Republican in the legislature—confirmed Wednesday that he has agreed to serve as the group's front-office envoy if its proposals are endorsed by both party caucuses.

The group, headed by Reps. E. D. O'Brien, D-Detroit, and Gall Handy, R-Kau Claire, seeks legislative approval of resolutions calling for constitutional amendments to be submitted to voters in an April 22 referendum.

Romney, in a statement Jan.

28, denounced the House group's plan and pledged to use every resource at his command to fight what he called "wholesale revision" of the constitution.

O'Brien reported today that the original 10 resolutions submitted to a House committee last week have been pared to three, considered to be "absolutely essential for immediate action."

"Romney will be asked to support this minimum package," said O'Brien.

The three proposals would ask revision of the elections, legislative and local government articles of the constitution, which became effective Jan. 1. Key changes would include:

— Freeing legislative districts for the 1964 election, to apply only if the amendment is approved by the Michigan Supreme Court is not resolved ahead of the primary filing date June 16.

— Elimination of the ban against persons on public pay-rolls serving in the legislature, a provision which threatens several current members.

— Prescribing four-year terms of office for state representatives, county and township officers, but providing that county officers would run for two-year terms in 1964 and four years beginning in 1966.

— Restoring the provision for township officials to be elected in local spring elections with other local government officials.

Abandoned in the paring-down process were plans for restoring the elective offices of highway commissioner and superintendent of public instruction, abolishing legislative control of highway funds, and others.

O'Brien said it was decided to send an ambassador to Romney "because we are almost convinced he will support some limited revision—but we don't want to drive him into a corner where he can't back up."

Green, not a party to the original plans for revising the constitution, indicated he subscribed to the O'Brien-Handy group's decision on the "absolute, bare necessities" for amendment. He said he felt Romney could endorse the group's proposals without going counter to his own statement that he would oppose "wholesale" revision.

African Nation Copies Red Style

Vote Supports Nkrumah

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—President Kwame Nkrumah got the overwhelming support he demanded in the referendum to amend Ghana's constitution.

Results of the voting were as expected and there was no suspense in this West African country during the week-long, three-stage balloting. The referendum was not as interesting as questions it raises about Ghana's future.

Why did Nkrumah, who already rules as virtual dictator, feel it necessary to have the voters rubber stamp what exists?

The referendum approved his Convention People's Party (CPP) as the country's only legal political body and in effect placed the government under the party.

It is not known what will happen to the handful of "opposition" members still in parliament. Presumably they will be replaced or permitted to join the party. Next opposition vanished more than two years ago.

Why were efforts to force a massive vote of approval so tough?

WOULD HAVE WON Nkrumah would have won anyway. But no opposition was tolerated and the controlled press published repeated threats against "ungrateful wretches" who voted no. In many places one of the two ballot boxes—the one for votes against the amendments—was sealed shut. At other places there was no box for no votes.

In the traditionally anti-government Ashanti region, almost half a million yes votes were reported, but not a no vote. Final figures for the nation were given as 2,773,920 yes and 2,482 no.

Mushrooms Cause Stinky Problem

By ROGER SGRILEY
It stinks!

There's no question about it. Anyone who has come in close contact with it will agree.

And it's "Exhibit A" in the case of Fortin vs. Vitali, now pending in Macomb County Circuit Court.

With the expansion of the mushroom-growing industry along Oakland County's eastern border, a problem has arisen. FLOATS INTO AIR

It's floated into the air from piles and piles of compost, a mixture of manure and hay essential to the touchy task of growing that edible fungus, the mushroom.

Everything was fine until homes came into the area of Dequindre and Auburn, and residents complained that the sweet smell of summer had lost its savor.

In an effort to confine the odor emanating from the compost piles, the seven mushroom growers combined their storage to one parcel of land on Dequindre.

They call it Compost, Inc. There the piles are worked by a huge machine, which turns them and allows the air to mix with the manure and hay.

mushroom growing," explains Raymond Vitali, who, with his father, operates the mushroom farm at 48900 Dequindre.

When the compost is properly aerated and seasoned, it is brought by truck to the individual farms. Then it is spread in 6-inch layers on wooden tiers in the mushroom houses.

A few weeks after spreading it and obtaining the proper heat and humidity, the grower applies the "seed."

Grain, inoculated with mushroom spawn, settles and spreads thread-like roots throughout the compost, gypsum and nitrogen mixture.

BURIED IN TOPSOIL

After the blend is covered with topsoil, the small mushrooms slowly begin to pop their white caps into the darkness of the houses. They are then picked and readied for selling.

But the aromatic problem is back at the compost center.

The Southwest Shelby Homeowners' Association has retained a Detroit attorney, Seymour F. Posner, and is attempting to permanently stop the composting operation.

Gerald Fortin, 46148 Huling, Shelby Township, has signed a formal complaint.

"We want composting removed," Posner says. "It's a hazard to health. . . . People can't sell their homes. . . . These people are aggravated."

POLLUTED WATER

Some of the homeowners complain of polluted water.

"If this situation is permitted to expand the area will become blighted," the lawyer argues. "Right now there is no population growth whatsoever."

The mushroom growers, joined in the Great Lakes Mushroom Co-Operative, have also hired a Detroit attorney, Robert Childs.

"These mushroom farms have existed since about 1930," he says. Childs points out that the growers have done their best to correct any problems and work with the area residents toward an acceptable solution.

Not everyone who lives near a mushroom house is troubled. Mrs. Leslie Hill, 2507 Big Beaver, Troy, lives across the road from one.

NO BOTHER

"I've been here for 29 years," she says. "It hasn't bothered me yet."

Officials of Shelby Township and Troy feel that the growers have done what they can. Shelby Township Supervisor Lorin E. Evans calls the situation "much improved."

He said growers attempted to control the odor and flies with aircraft spraying, but residents complained of the nuisance of low-flying planes.

"They are still attempting to improve their fly- and odor-control programs," Evans said. "They're working with the national mushroom association and the local county agent to correct the problem."

FULL COOPERATION

"They've cooperated with the township fully," he said. Mrs. Francis Teasdale, Troy's deputy clerk, says there is no problem with mushroom operations in Troy.

Cyril E. Miller, Avon Township's supervisor, explains "An awful lot of pressure has been put on the township because of the mushroom farms."

Some residents are aroused about the matter and may get more aggravated when the warm winds of spring come.

In November a fire destroyed about 50 tons of compost. A $1,000 reward was offered for the arrest of persons involved in the blaze, which police investigated for arson.

How do things stand now?

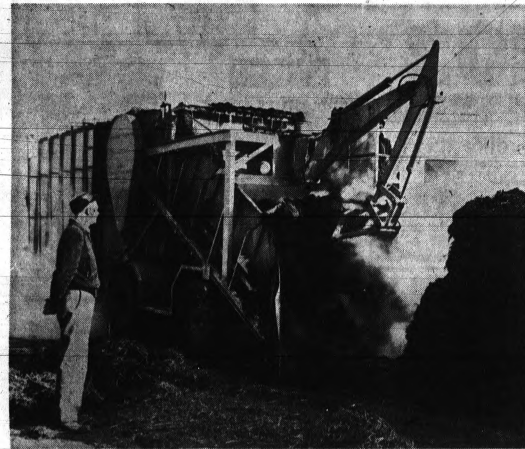

CONTROLLED SMOEL

Presently the growers are attempting to control the offensiveness of the operation by spraying a costly odor neutralizer into the air as they churn the compost.

The Macomb County Circuit Court has ruled against homeowners' charges of water pollution.

And the mushroom growers continue their work. "We're willing to meet with the residents any time and talk this out with them," Vitali says. The grower said as yet no such meeting has taken place.

As the discussion continues, both sides of the issue are raised. Most of those involved will admit there are two sides.

STIRS CONTROVERSY—Steam rolls up from the turning compost, as this huge machine passes down row after row of the mixture of hay and manure. The compost is swallowed by the unique equipment, aerated, and then pushed out the rear, again in a row. Mushroom growers call this the most critical phase of the touchy growing process. It is also the most controversial step, because of the odors emitted by the fertilizing mixture.

MUSHROOM "MINER"—With light provided by his helmet lamp, Shelby Township mushroom grower Raymond Vitali picks the finished product from one of his growing houses. The small fungus emerges from a mixture of gypsum, nitrogen and compost. Vitali is a member of one of seven families of growers in the eastern Oakland-western Macomb county area who supply fresh mushrooms to southeastern Michigan.

Gambling Raid Case

Spy-Witness Mentioned on Stand

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—Testimony about the state's star spy-witness was heard yesterday; although the attractive brunet has not yet taken the stand in the examination of 24 persons arrested in a gambling raid.

Margaret A. Allen, 23-year-old member of the legislature's stenographic pool, is a native of Battle Creek. She also works part-time as a fashion and photographic model.

State police say she spied three times for them inside the Stieren Assembly Club in Madison Heights, where doors were broken down with sledgehammers and 49 arrested in a gambling raid last Oct. 11. She was inside at the time.

Miss Allen's name was mentioned in the testimony of Sgt. Steve Galat, a detective on the State Police Rackets Squad.

MARKED MONEY

Police say Miss Allen was given marked money with which to gamble, after she had posed as a "woman on the town" and had been introduced into the club by a known gambler.

Galat testified he confiscated two marked $50 bills and other money from some of those arrested in the raid, in which federal officers joined state police. Miss Allen still is awaiting a turn on the witness stand before Justice of the Peace Allen C. Ingle of Farmington Township, who is conducting the examination in the suburban West Bloomfield Township Hall.

She was, however, presented briefly to reporters and photographers Wednesday, then whisked away again by police who say they have shadowed her every move since her spying activities.

PREVIOUS ARRESTS

Two of those arrested previously had been named by Detroit police, before a Senate committee as alleged members of the terrorist Mafia.

Miss Allen said she did not hesitate to become a spy because "I thought I should cooperate and be of help," then added: "I have no regrets."

Britain, Canada Keeping Cuba's Industry From Collapse

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — Refugees fleeing Fidel Castro's reign of terror assert that Cuban industry would virtually collapse without the spare parts and other essential materials being furnished by Britain, RUTH MONTGOMERY Engineers, managers and industrial workers who have slipped through Castro's grasp paint a grim picture of a flourishing economy propped up only by generous long-term credits from its anti-Communist allies.

Francisco Rene Milera, a 40-year-old electrical engineer who worked fourteen years for Rayonera de Matanzas before making his escape last month, told the citizens committee for a free Cuba:

"The Rayonera plant would have totally shut down without the products that the English and Canadians sell to Castro.

"The British are supplying From 11, which is essential to making rayon; caustic soda, which formerly came from Red China but was of very bad quality; oleum, a principal ingredient for making detergents.

OTHER AIDS
"Other things they supply are minerals for the treatment of xellite; ball bearings to replace Czech ones which were of very poor quality they only lasted six hours in spinning machines; air heaters which are necessary to produce electricity for industry, and high pressure tubes.

"The only thing the Russians supply to Rayonera is sulphur for producing sulphuric acid."

Milera said Canada has sent needed raw materials such as wood pulp for making filter, and that without such help many plants would have to close.

He added that production fluctuates wildly from lack of raw materials and spare parts, and in some cases is down to 17 per cent of previous production.

BUS DEAL
Meanwhile the British are busily producing 450 Leyland buses which will begin arriving in Cuba this month under long-term credit arrangements. Britain is including a year's supply of replacement parts, and a course of instruction in maintenance.

Furthermore anti-Red Spain has reportedly agreed to swap $51 million worth of fishing trawlers to Castro in exchange for sugar, despite recent Senate testimony that Cuban fishing trawlers are now being used for spying along our coastlines.

Within the past week Sweden has signed an agreement to build a reinforced concrete plant in Cuba, although Castro is using reinforced concrete to build underground fortifications and military bases.

Sweden will also supply desperately needed replacement parts for American machinery already in Cuba. Canada has agreed to send Cuba 13,000 Holstein bulls to rebuild its dairy stock.

REFUSES TO TRADE
The United States, by contrast, refuses to trade with the Soviet bastion 90 miles off Florida, which is being used as a base for subversion of Latin America.

Riberto Rivero, 27, a former employee of the Santa Lucia submetal plant, confirmed Milera's reports that production has fallen off drastically throughout Cuba from lack of replacement parts. He said that of the eight boilers at the submetal plant, only two are functioning.

Both Rivero and Milera said materials furnished by Russia and its satellites are of such poor quality as to be virtually useless.

Rivero cited as an example fire brick from Czechoslovakia, "which will not withstand a sufficiently high temperature, and melts." He said the plant is producing 14 kinds of minerals ranging from copper to gold, "which all goes to Russia."

Milera reported that cord and fiber produced at the Rayonera plant are sold to Romania, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia, but that Russian petroleum is ruining the plant's boilers because of its high sulphur content.

THE REFUGEES SAID MANAGERS OF industrial plants have been ordered to package the used oil for use in Cuban autos and private trucks. As a result, the car and truck motors are burning out.

Rafael Rodriguez Alfonso, 47, a diesel motor expert and former manager of the Delita gold mine in Pinar del Rio, disclosed that the Canadian machinery at the Delita mine was dismantled by Soviets and shipped to Russia.

It was replaced with poor quality Russian machinery that constantly breaks down.

"POOR QUALITY"

He said motors sent to Cuba from East Germany "are of the poorest quality," and that Russian Buffalo trucks are identical with General Motors trucks, "but of infinitely poorer construction."

Before making his escape from Cuba by boat, Rodriguez disclosed, he was arrested on suspicion and questioned for 41 days at G-2 intelligence headquarters by a Chinese who spoke Spanish.

He said a number of other important posts in G-2 are filled by Chinese "who are distinguished for their cruel treatment of prisoners."

All of these experts agree that if Britain and other Western allies stopped selling to Cuba, its economy would soon grind to a halt.

"They believe it is their only current hope for ousting the hated Castro regime.

Tribute Paid to Victims of Downed Jet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three U.S. Air Force fliers, newly fallen in the cold war, return today to a tribute reserved for heroes. They are the three officers who died last week when their defenseless jet training plane was sent crashing to Communist East German earth by a Soviet fighter.

In salute, the Air Force mustered a guard of honor and the youngest Air Force brass to meet the plane bearing their remains from West Germany.

The aircraft carrying the bodies of Lt. Col. Gerald K. Hannaford, Capt. John F. Lorraine Jr. and Capt. Donald G. Millard was due at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., just outside Washington, this afternoon.

WIDOWS OF VICTIMS

Traveling with the bodies were the widows and children of the victims.

Heading the official delegation due to meet the incoming plane was Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert.

Also expected to be on hand were Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, and other senior officers of that service.

Lawyer Is Criticized in Jack Ruby Case

DALLAS (UPI) — Melvin Belli, the colorful defense attorney for Jack Ruby, was in hot water today because of statements to news media made outside the courthouse.

Ruby is charged with killing Lee Harvey Oswald, accused of assassinating President Kennedy.

Hugh D. Johnson, Dallas Bar Association president, said if Belli was a Texas lawyer he would be courting trouble for publicizing pending litigation.

Belli, in New York, charged that Dallas wanted to cleanse itself of blame in the assassination by giving Ruby a "fair trial" and sending him to the public slaughterhouse.

U. S. History Month

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George W. Romney has proclaimed February as American History Month in Michigan. The governor urged the reading of American history in the homes as well as the schools.

Ralph Moody said yesterday he denied Belli permission to participate in a personal injury suit because Belli was quoted as saying insurance companies "are running the courts and court calendars in Alaska."

Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade, Ruby's prosecutor, said he was trying to shield by the "no publicity" rule of the Texas Bar Association "but it's most difficult when you have an opposing attorney who violates the canon daily."

Belli was in New York to publicize a book he wrote. He took the opportunity to support his contention that Ruby's case should be moved from Dallas.

"If a Texas lawyer did the same thing," Johnson said, "he would be subject to a call by the state bar functionaries."

BEGINS CASE

Belli of San Francisco said he would be in Dallas Saturday to start preparing for Monday's hearing before Criminal Court Judge Joe B. Brown.

The defense has called 170 witnesses in an attempt to have the trial moved.

Valentine Food Is Heartening

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Valentine's Day is still a week away. But we think that if you're planning a party on or near that date, you will appreciate some recipes now.

Pie, a mouse and even a meatloaf can contribute to the Valentine motif.

More original than a heart-shaped cake is Chocolate Sweetie Pie. Here you have a pie shell made of chocolate and a filling that's like a strawberry-flavored cloud. Looks and tastes wonderful.

CHOCOLATE SWEETIE PIE

Chocolate Pie Shell
Line a 9-inch heart-shaped pan by pressing a 13-inch square of heavy-duty aluminum foil on bottom, sides, and over rim of pan, being careful to make foil smooth and not puncture foil.

Place in foil-lined pan one 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels and 2 tablespoons vegetable shortening. Place in 350 degree oven for 3 to 4 minutes. Remove from oven.

With back of spoon, gently blend semi-sweet with shortening. Spread over bottom of pan. Refrigerate 10 minutes, or until semi-sweet mixture is cooled enough to spread on sides of pan.

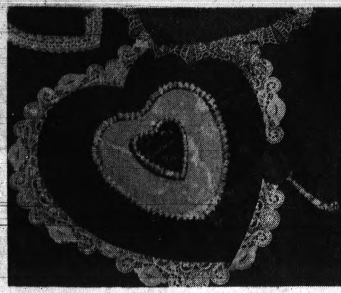

With back of spoon, spread semi-sweet upward and slightly over rim, being careful to coat entire pan evenly. Refrigerate 30 minutes. Remove shell from pan.

Holding shell in palm of hand, tear foil carefully from around rim. Invert shell on palm and quickly remove remaining foil. Replace shell in pan.

Heart Decoration
Melt 1/4 cup semi-sweet chocolate morsels with 2 teaspoons vegetable shortening in small heat-proof bowl over hot (not boiling) water. Blend until smooth; spread on wax paper to make heart shape. Chill.

Strawberry Clifton Filling
1 envelope gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1/4 cup quick strawberry milk-flavoring mix
1/4 cup milk
3 tablespoons lemon juice
3 egg whites
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Whipping topping mix or whipped cream

Sprinkle gelatin on 1/2 cup cold water in a 2-quart saucepan; place over low heat and stir until gelatin is dissolved about 3 minutes. Stir in 1/4 cup of the quick strawberry milk-flavoring mix, salt and milk.

Chill, stirring frequently until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Stir in lemon juice. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in remaining 1/4 cup strawberry milk-flavoring mix.

Fold beaten egg whites and whipped cream into gelatin mixture. Turn into chocolate pie shell. Chill until firm.

To complete pie, place chocolate heart in center. Put whipped topping or whipped cream in cake decorator. Make small rosettes around edge of pie shell and heart. Makes 6 servings.

A mousse is a rich, creamy ice-cream type dessert. This one may be made a week ahead and frozen. But it needs to stand at room temperature for an hour or more before serving.

Raspberry Ruby Mousse
1/2 cup light corn syrup
2 1/2 tablespoons sugar
2 1/2 tablespoons water
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
2 cups bite size shredded rice biscuits crushed to 1/2 cup
2 eggs, separated
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1 package (10 oz.) frozen raspberries, thawed and strained
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine corn syrup, sugar and water. Boil hard for 2 minutes. Cool 10 minutes. Mix almond extract with crushed cereal.

Beat egg whites to soft peaks. Gradually add syrup mixture. Beat constantly until stiff, glossy peaks form. Beat in vanilla.

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Blend in raspberries, cereal crumbs and cream. Fold into egg white mixture. Pour into 5-cup mold.

Freeze until firm (3-4 hours). Serve with Ruby Sauce. Yield: 8-10 servings.

Note: Mousse can be frozen in the mold but should be allowed to stand unmolded at room temperature for 1-1 1/2 hours before serving.

Here's Apple Strudel From Cooking School

Lookie, lookie, lookie the recipe for Apple Strudel as made at the recent Pontiac Press cooking school came to light.

It takes patience to stretch the dough, but most homemakers are experts at that art.

APPLE STRUDEL Dough:

1 egg
Lukewarm water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter, melted
1 tablespoon sugar
3/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons flour
4 teaspoons vegetable oil

Filling:
3 cups finely sliced apples
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
1/2 cup coarse dry bread crumbs
1/2 cup butter, melted

Break egg into liquid measuring cup. Add enough lukewarm water to make 1/2 cup liquid. Turn into small bowl and mix with fork. Add salt, butter and sugar. Stir in 3/4 cup flour. Mix to a soft dough.

Place remaining flour on pastry cloth. Turn out dough and knead lightly with finger tips until flour is absorbed. Pick up dough and throw down onto pastry cloth for 5 minutes dipping fingers in flour once or twice. Brush dough with 1 teaspoon oil. Flour cloth lightly and place bowl with warm water. Dry and cover dough with warm bowl. Let ripen 2 to 4 hours.

Place dough on lightly floured pastry cloth. Pat into a flat circle, then roll into 12-inch circle. Brush top with remaining oil.

Stretch dough from middle using back of hand until dough is as thin as paper and large print can be read through it. Work quickly but gently to avoid breaks in dough. Cut off edge.

Combine ingredients for filling and sprinkle over dough to one inch from edge. Roll like

2 teaspoons cornstarch
1/2 cup apple jelly

Combine ingredients in a saucepan and heat to a boil. Cook and stir until sauce is clear and slightly thick. Strain and cool.

Using a heart-shaped pan (or even heavy aluminum foil formed into a heart) you can create a Valentine meatloaf.

Pretzels take the place of bread, crackers or oatmeal.

Heart-Y Meatloaf

1 1/2 lb. ground beef
1 cup coarsely crumbled pretzels—(about 18 thin twisted pretzels)
1/2 cup coarsely chopped green pepper
1/2 cup coarsely chopped Bermuda onion
2 eggs
1/4 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon ground pepper

In large bowl, lightly mix meat, crumbled pretzels, green pepper and onion.

In separate bowl, beat eggs lightly with fork, and stir in milk and ground pepper; blend well. Add to meat mixture and mix lightly.

Bake in 9"x5"x3" loaf pan (or heart-shaped pan(s) as pictured) in a preheated 400 degree oven for 45 to 50 minutes. Pour excess juice-off pan(s) after baking and spoon over meat. Garnish pan(s) as pictured with pretzels. Makes 6-8 servings.

2 1/2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1/2 cup milk

Heat oven to 425 degrees F. (hot). Cook broccoli until just slightly tender. Drain. Mix with ham and onions in 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Make white sauce. Add mustard and cheese; stir until cheese is melted. Pour over ham-broccoli mixture. Place in oven while making biscuits.

Stir flour, baking powder, salt and parsley together. Pour oil and milk into measuring cup but don't stir. Pour all at once into flour mixture. Stir only until well blended. Take baking dish from oven. Drop biscuits by tablespoonfuls onto hot mixture in baking dish. Bake 25 to 30 minutes.

Any Ocean Fish Is Good in Mousse

How's your food finesse? If it's what it should be, you'll know the answer to this stumper. What do a "mousse" and a "mousseline" often have in common? The answer is fish. We all know that a fish mousse is a creamy mold of flaked white-meated fish, often including vegetables. On the other hand, a mousseline is a sauce — essentially hollandaise with a little whipped cream added to make it fluffy — used for fish or asparagus. Would a mousse be served with a mousseline? The answer is no, not usually.

The National Fisheries Institute suggests that you make your mousseline by adding three tablespoons of whipped cream to a cup of your favorite hollandaise. Make your mousse by this recipe.

Fish Mousse

1 package fresh or frozen fish fillets (cod, haddock, flounder, sole, ocean perch, or halibut)

2 cups light cream
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cups soft bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
1 medium onion, minced
4 egg whites
Pimiento

If fish is frozen, let thaw on refrigerator shelf or at room temperature until fillets can be separated. Put raw fillets through food chopper using fine blade. Heat cream just to boiling point, but do not boil. Add butter or margarine. Remove from heat and stir in bread crumbs, salt and minced onion. Stir in fish and blend well. Let mixture cool to lukewarm.

Beat egg whites until very stiff and fold into fish mixture. Pour into greased 8-inch ring mold. Place mold in a pan of hot water and bake in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. Turn mold out onto warm platter.

Garnish top with strips of pimiento. Fill center with peas or other vegetable. Serve hot. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Creamy Mixture Broiled on Buns

Keep this recipe for meatless spread-a-burger handy for the coming weeks of Lent. Prepare a 10-ounce package brown and serve French rolls as directed on the package. Split and toast. Combine a 10½-ounce can condensed cream of celery soup, an 8-ounce can salmon (drained and flaked), 2 hard-cooked eggs (chopped), and 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento. Spread evenly on cut surfaces of rolls, covering edges completely. Broil about 4 inches away from heat for 7 minutes or until hot.

Serve garnished with egg slices (about 2 more hard-cooked eggs) and 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Stew served in individual casseroles topped with hot biscuit is fine tray fare.

Mix Olives, Eggs Into Filling for Good Canapes

For "Olive-Egg Canape's" spread thin slices of bread with a delicious mixture of chopped ripe olives and egg — jerked up with seasonings. Cut the bread into fancy shapes and let your guests enjoy these tempting hors d'oeuvres.

Fillings for lunch box sandwiches take on new interest, too, with the addition of luscious ripe olives.

Olive-Egg Canape's
½ cup ripe olives

3 hard-cooked eggs
¼ teaspoon celery salt
Dash pepper
2 tablespoons chopped sour pickle
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
Butter or margarine
6 to 8 thin slices bread
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
Chop olives and eggs. Combine with celery salt, pepper, pickle and mayonnaise. Butter bread, then spread with olive mixture.
Cut into small triangles, rounds or other fancy shapes. Garnish each with a bit of pimiento. Makes about 24 canape's.

Apple Bits in Soup Are Intriguing

All those canned dry soup mixes are so appealing to the taste buds, it's wise to keep all kinds at hand. This Johnny Appleseed Soup will make a hit with your teenagers, too.

Johnny Appleseed Soup
4 link sausages, sliced
3 cups water
1 can (2 ounces) vegetable dry soup mix
½ cup diced apple
Sour cream
In saucepan, brown sausage; pour off excess drippings. Add water; bring to boil. Stir in soup mix. Partially cover; simmer 15 minutes, stirring now and then. Add apple; simmer 5 minutes more. Garnish with sour cream. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

A general rule for cooking fresh vegetables is to cover those that grow underground, such as onions and potatoes, and leave uncovered all those that grow above the ground.

Introduce Boyfriend to Mother

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Whenever I have a date and the boy comes to call for me, my mother always comes into the room to meet him.

I think this gives the young man the impression that he is being given the onceover and makes him very self-conscious.

She feels it is not only proper but her duty to meet my friends. May I have your opinion?

A: Your mother is absolutely right. It is natural and proper for your mother to meet the boy.

Instead of his being made self-conscious by her coming in, he would think it strange and very lacking in interest if your mother didn't do so.

Q: I went to a wedding last Saturday. I was not a member of the bridal party, just a guest. When the bride threw her bouquet, I and another girl, both unmarried, gathered with the bridesmaids to catch the bouquet.

I caught it. I was later told that this was only for bridesmaids. I thought all the single young women guests were privileged to take part in this ritual. Was I wrong?

A: I'm sorry but you were wrong to have joined the bridesmaids in trying to catch the bouquet.

Details concerning the announcement and engagement are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Announcing the Engagement."

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

'Brass' May Look Better but Don't Pass Up 'Gold'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I hope you put this in your column because lots of guys have the same problem and you could do a couple of million of us a favor by answering this one question:

Why don't parents want their daughters to have anything to do with a man in uniform unless he is an officer?

Enlisted men are just as good as officers and a lot better than most civilians, yet we are treated like dirt.

I have come to the point of dressing in civies and lying to girls' parents so I can take a nice girl out, because if most parents knew I was an enlisted man they'd run me off the place.

What do people have against enlisted men?

ENLISTED MAN

DEAR ENLISTED: Most parents don't make any distinction between an enlisted man and an officer.

They simply rule out all men in uniform because they are skeptical of a man who is here today and who could be gone tomorrow.

The cream of any nation's crop wear the enlisted man's uniform (for a time at least) and I would remind parents that they could be passing up gold because it doesn't look as good as brass.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married five years and we have four children. (Two are twins.)

Well, my mother-in-law complained to her son right in front of me that we were having too many children. I am 28 and he is 23 and I think we are old enough to know what we are doing.

Don't you think my husband should have told his mother to mind her own business? Or do you think it was okay for him to have laughed it off as a joke and said, "They are cheaper by the dozen, Mom!"

DEAR NOT: Sharpen your sense of humor instead of your claws and you'll be a lot happier.

Your mother-in-law probably meant no offense.

DEAR ABBY: The item in your column about the mailman who was shocked to find some women on his route in bathrobes at two in the afternoon floored me.

What is that supposed to prove? If she happened to be changing clothes when the doorknob rings what is she supposed to answer the door in?

Or should she just go to the door in whatever state of undress she's in at that moment?

Cook Rice, Frozen Peas in Double Boiler

To prepare frozen peas with rice, bring 1½ cups water with 1 teaspoon salt to boil in the top part of a double boiler, then stir in ½ cup uncooked white rice. Place this over boiling water in another pan, cover, and keep the water underneath simmering so that the rice cooks undisturbed and grains absorb the water and become fluffy.

After 20 minutes, stir in a 10-oz. package of frozen peas and continue cooking an additional 10 minutes. That's just half an hour that this attractive accompaniment takes. Dot with a little butter or margarine, and you are ready to serve.

Checkers Set Pattern of Sweater

Checkers is a stimulating, yet relaxing pastime — so is knitting. This sweater has interesting checkerboard panels on both sides of the sweater and around the collar.

The armhole has square set-in sleeves which gives the sweater a comfortable fit. Best of all, for the woman who likes to do her own finishing, this type of sleeve is so easy to set in.

Instructions are for daughter sizes 10 through 14 and for Mother sizes 12 through 20. All sizes are included in one pattern.

Pattern for Jacket Sweater No. 28 may be obtained by sending 50 cents in coin, check or money order to: Ursula du Bois, The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., Box 3307, Van Nuys, Calif. 91407.

A handmade dress worn by great-great-grandmother in 1873 brightened the first birthday of Lisa Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Taylor of Union Lake. Her great-grandfather, Charles G. Hampton-Jr. of Detroit was the first to wear the dress. His mother's sewing won many prizes at the state fair. Lisa's grandmother, Mrs. Clayton Adams (Helen Hampton) wore the dress on her first birthday in 1916. Her great-aunt, Mrs. George Ross (Alice Hampton) wore it in 1913. For more than 90 years the special thought for Mrs. Charles Hampton's first son has been treasured by his descendants.

Polly's Pointers

Sleeps in Her Pillowcase

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I cut and hemmed a hole for my head in the closed end of a pillowcase and then did the same for armholes in the sides.

I find this most comfortable as a sleeping garment. I also use my half slips for shortie gowns by turning the hems up and sewing shoulder seams.

Leave a slot for the neck open and make armholes in the sides. Sew on lace for a ruffle. Remove the elastic from the waistband and shorten to suit. Wear pants with these.

Even a full-length slip can be cut off at the waist for a shortie gown. This way I use all the old slips and pillowcases.

A Purse-Snatching a Day

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Every day since 1960, according to police, Johnny E. Walker has stolen somebody's pocketbook.

He took Saturdays and Sundays off because "they're not good working days," Walker told Connie Wykstra, a city detective.

"If the first theft of the day was reasonably successful, he says he took the rest of the day off," Wykstra said.

Walker, 28, was arrested with a woman's purse following a chase in a federal building last Saturday. He has been charged with crime on a government reservation.

LEAPS INTO POLITICS — Former University of Oklahoma football coach Bud Wilkinson faced the glare of TV cameras and lights, as well as dozens of newsmen, as he announced yesterday he will seek the GOP nomination for U.S. Senate from Oklahoma. He's the third Republican to enter the race.

Announces for Senate

Wilkinson Dons Political Hat

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Bud Wilkinson, who gained fame as a winning football coach, is out to win at a new game—politics.

The former University of Oklahoma coach Wednesday announced he will seek the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate from Oklahoma.

Republican Gov. Henry Bellmon hailed Wilkinson's decision. He said it "will strengthen Oklahoma's Republican party, and the two-party system."

Leading the other camp in reaction were Tom Harris and Forest Beall, two announced candidates for the GOP Senate nomination.

CAN'T EXPRESS

Harris, an Oklahoma City businessman, said the former coach showed "his inability to express where he stands on issues."

"By his indecision, I think he handed me the primary," Harris said.

Beall, former state GOP chairman, said the race still is wide open.

"The more candidates we get in this primary the better it will be," he said.

NOW REPUBLICAN

When Wilkinson changed his registration last week from Democrat to Republican, Beall predicted Wilkinson would lose the primary.

Democratic State Chairman Gene McGill commented:

"It would be presumptuous of me to comment on the candidacy of a Republican who may not even be in the ball game next fall."

Former Gov. Raymond Gary, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate, said, "I'm just making one ace at a time. Right now I'm trying to win the nomination on the Democratic ticket. If I am successful at that, then I'll take on the Republican ticket, whether it be Bud Wilkinson or someone else."

Another candidate for the Democratic nomination is J. Howard Edmondson, who resigned as governor in January 1963 to be appointed to the Senate seat vacated by the death of Sen. Robert S. Kerr.

NO COMMENT

Edmondson would not comment on Wilkinson's entry into the race. But Sen. Mike Monroney, also a Democrat, said he has known Wilkinson for years, and appreciates what he has done for Oklahoma athletics.

"In seeking the Republican nomination for the United States Senate, he is entering an entirely new field of endeavor requiring entirely different qualifications and skills," Monroney said.

Monroney also said the Democrats should win the race.

He Has Friends Indeed, Now After One in Need

BY EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Many TV watchers may not like it, but probably that won't matter. I refer to Garry Moore, the crew cut, bow-tied millionaire who helped a lot of people get famous, and then came back from a Barbados vacation the other day about as jolly as a jockey on a jack-ass . . . I mean, he wasn't happy.

He met with his lieutenants about saving his six-year TV show.

CBS brass axed it while he was relaxing in the Caribbean with—among others—CBS Board Chairman Wm. S. Paley, boss of those who canceled his show.

"A great groundswell of protest" was expected from fans. Garry, who has a long-time CBS contract and also "I've Got a Secret," was flashed the news by Atty. Roy Blakeman about the time he was dining in the Caribbean with the Paleys and a NY newspaper exec. The Paley palship probably won't figure in the final decision.

One version of the light table banter that night goes thus: Garry: Hey, Bill. Funny thing happened to me on the way to the yacht. Your network canceled my show.

Paley: You were dropped, Garry? No kidding! I'd better look at my telegrams.

Eva Gabor (Mrs. Dick Brown) has a new mother-in-law, about 25, lovely ex-London model, Joyce Rowley.

Saul Brown, Eva's septuagenarian father-in-law, a testosterone playboy, liked Joyce when she applied for a modeling job at his company. So they were married June 2 in London. Saul has admitted it after keeping it from his son and daughter due to the difference in age.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Andre Porumbanu and Gambi are leaving for Italy (and his job with a chemical company in Rome) . . . Ski star Toni Kastner, who romanced Kim Novak at Grossinger's showed Tuesday Weld around the slopes there recently . . . The Beatles' two Carnegie Hall concerts Feb. 12 are sold out, so Theater Three may have 'em do one at Madison Sq. Garden the same day . . . Monique Van Vooren saw Zsa Zsa wearing her jewelry at the Viennese Salon, and cracked "She's a great help to performers—she helps light up the stage!"

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Taffy Tuttle says she's just discovered a housecleaning gadget that doesn't run on electric bills. It's called a broom.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Show me a married man who walks with his head high and erect," says Kathy Keegan, "—and I'll show you a guy with a stiff neck."

'Seven Days in May'

Political Fiction Film Realistic

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — In "Seven Days in May," the latest in a cycle of films about high politics, we are asked to swallow a whopper:

that the Joint

Chiefs of Staff

conspire at some future

date to depose

a President.

Fantastic? In

this high-voltage movie the plot seems chillingly realistic. The result is a film that is absorbing throughout its two-hour length and almost unbearably tense during

Picture this: A Marine colonel, secretary to the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, begins getting hints that something strange is going on. High commanders send messages about a race-track pool. A secret commando unit has been set up near

El Paso. The general has been playing footsie with right-wing-ers and lying about it. Congress has been kept in the dark about

PLOT THICKENS

The colonel gathers enough suspicions to impel him to seek an audience with the President.

Then the President must determine: Are the colonel's suspicions correct? If so, what can be done to forestall the sedition?

The ingeniously devised yarn of the Fletcher Knebel-Charles

W. Bailey II novel topped the best-seller lists for many weeks.

The film version is likely to score equal success. It is timely, hard-hitting and perfectly cast.

No American actor can convey more conviction than Fred-ric March, and he makes an ideal president—philosophical in his lack of popularity, jealous of his constitutional rights, capable of decisive action.

March is followed closely by

Edmond O'Brien as the senator from Georgia and the president's close ally. He combines charm with political acumen, and his humanness is ever ap-

caster and Kirk Douglas, perform with their usual skill as the egomaniacal general and the suspicious Marine. Ava Gardner supplies a welcome note of femininity in three brief scenes.

If "Seven Days in May" fails to achieve greatness, the fault must be laid to director John Frankenheimer and writer Rod Serling. Many of their buildup scenes play beautifully. But the climactic elements were allowed to become diffuse and wordy.

Everyone Has His Own Best Time of Day

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — Curbside comments of a Pavement Plato: Every person has a time of day when he feels at his best. Some are "morning people." Some are "afternoon people." Some are "evening people." And some are "midnight people."

Each type reaches an energy peak at that period of the 24-hour daily cycle to which he is mysteriously best adjusted.

These orbits of human individuality should be taken more into account.

Our typical work day, for example, is singularly ill-designed to fit the needs of human nature. It runs about 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

AFTERNOON SAG

Your morning person sprints through his task until noon, but after lunch he sags listlessly and can't wait for quitting time. On the other hand, your afternoon person arrives late to work, still yawning, dawdles long over his coffee break, pines listlessly at the papers on his desk. But when he returns from lunch he becomes a living ball of fire.

The ideal solution, of course, would be to run the office on two shifts, one that started earlier for the morning people and one that started later for the afternoon people.

Marriage is another example. As I see it, most husbands are either morning or afternoon people. But most wives are evening people.

The average husband wants to collapse on the sofa but she wants him to go out. She wants to be entertained. And she can't understand why her husband doesn't share her sense of zing and zest.

EARLY TO BED

So he goes to bed early, and she stays up reading a mystery novel or watching the late show on television — and both feel frustrated.

The fourth group, the mid-night people, is made up of playboys, poets, night watchmen and burglars. To them the hours between midnight and dawn hold a magic and luminous ecstasy of being.

LONERS

They find a thrill of excitement in darkness, the wheeling stars, and all the strange forms of life that prowl abroad then. They tend to be loners.

One of the misfits of this world is an afternoon person whom poverty or overriding ambition turns into a post-midnight burglar. He hates his job, does or becomes, leaden-footed and clumsy-fingered, and sooner or later falls easy prey to the police. Secretly, however, he probably is glad to go to jail, because then he can at least sleep at night—like a decent person.

Age erases most variations. As they grow older, the afternoon, evening and midnight people tend to become morning people. The evening wife becomes a morning wife, and she then is happy with her morning husband. She is content to get up when he does, and glad to find an inspiration in rising years to watch the full moon with the sun, and wonder why I thought it fun for so many call it a day when he does. I used to be a midnight person with the sun, and wonder why walk the sky to paleness.

Long Wait Before Consumer Protection Bills Pass

WASHINGTON (AP)—There's a long wait ahead for the American consumer before Congress approves President Johnson's program to protect the consumer's interests.

Even proponents of the program see little chance this year for Congress to enact more than a couple of the many items proposed by Johnson for the aid of the American housewife. "As she seeks the best value for the hard-earned dollar she spends."

The most optimism centers on bills to screen pesticides, to require full information about over-the-counter stocks and to inspect therapeutic, diagnostic and prosthetic devices.

The two bills that took up the most attention in Johnson's message to Congress: The truth-in-packaging and the truth-in-lending measures.

OTHER MEASURES

In addition, the outlook is the same for a host of others, including bills to inspect drugs and cosmetics, to require warning labels, to inspect all meat and poultry, and to increase the authority of the Federal Trade Commission.

At the most, all these bills will likely have to wait for another year.

Johnson, in his message Wednesday, said that "for far too long, the consumer has had too little voice and too little weight in government. He has had to take a back seat."

Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts quickly predicted that the consumer bills would "evoke a favorable response from the Congress as well as housewives throughout the nation."

MANY OBSTACLES

But a sampling of opinion from key members in both the Senate and House made it clear that the bills had many obstacles before them.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, called the truth-in-lending bill "absolutely unworkable," and added: "I'll never agree to its passage."

The bill, long proposed by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., would require all lenders of credit to disclose to borrowers in advance the actual annual rate of interest they will have to pay.

This bill received a better reception in the House, where Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., pledged full cooperation. She is chairman of the House Banking Committee's subcommittee on consumer affairs, which has jurisdiction over it.

PACKAGE BILL

The truth-in-packaging bill was approved by a Senate Judiciary subcommittee last June 13. But the full committee, headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., never has acted on it. Eastland would make no comment to newsmen about the President's message.

License Tag Humor Is Marked by Prisoner

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—There's an inmate with a sense of humor at North Carolina's Central Prison. At least, prison officials who supervise the making of auto tags hope he meant it humorously.

The prisoner's handiwork turned up at an auto store where state tags are sold. The tag read: "U-BUM."

The bill to require full disclosure of over-the-counter securities was passed by the Senate last year, but its movement has been slowed down by the House Commerce Committee.

Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., predicted that this bill would pass this year, though in a stronger form than passed by the Senate.

Most of Johnson's other consumer proposals are under the jurisdiction of the House Commerce Committee.

Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts, D-Ala., chairman of the committee's subcommittee on health and safety, promised early hearings on Johnson's proposals.

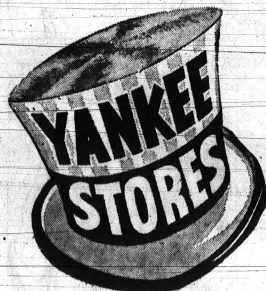

"But, as far as enacting anything this year," he said, "the only possibility I see is passage of the bill on pesticides and perhaps the bill that would require proof of the safety and effectiveness of therapeutic, diagnostic, and prosthetic devices."

Captains Lone Unbeaten in County

Kettering's 8-0 Record to Get Tested at Lapeer Friday

The last unbeaten basketball record among county high schools stands on shaky ground this week.

Waterford Kettering will take its 8-0 record to Lapeer Friday and may find itself coming back with only a share of the Tri-County League lead.

The Captains handed Lapeer, the league runner-up at 3-1 to Kettering's 4-0, a 62-52 loss in the second game of the season.

The two schools were picked to fight for the league championships and that is the way the race has developed. The Panthers were figured to have too much height for Kettering, however.

But WKHS has shown a balanced attack featuring the play of two well-paired guards, Rick Pankey and Earl Hook. Pankey and forward Bob Bogert are hitting at a 16-point-per-game clip while Hook is just under 15 ppg.

The Captains, however, may be stale after a two-week lay-off from regular competition.

Lapeer has split two games since Kettering last played.

The Panthers were dumped, 69-51, by Flushing Tuesday but may have worked a bad game out of their system just in time.

They hit only 20 per cent of their shots on the home floor.

It doesn't figure to happen again Friday. The Panthers will be ready for an upset and a share of the league lead.

The other Tri-County contest Friday will have Mount Clemens' L'Anse Cresse visiting Oxford. A non-league game has Romeo visiting North Branch of the South Central circuit.

L'Anse snapped a four-game losing streak Tuesday by beating Madison Heights Lamphere easily. The Lakers won a 66-55 verdict in an earlier meeting against Oxford.

The Wildcats will be attempting to break their own string of four straight reverses. Romeo, meanwhile, will be after its third straight in the other game.

The North Branch game is the only one listed between the two teams this season.

Didn't sound like Hayes Jones after he picked up his 50th straight indoor victory in Boston last weekend.

Knowing Jones and his earnest desire to win the most coveted athletic award, a gold medal in the Olympics, it didn't seem like him to make the statement, "This is my last year . . . If I make the Olympics, fine. If I don't, fine."

Of course also knowing Hayes to realize the many frustrations he has faced, or at least which he believed were serious, it might be readily understandable why he feels that way.

Jones, although he never expressed it in direct words, felt he was let down by his hometown. He wanted all stories of his achievements to say "Pontiac's Hayes Jones," but now apparently has resigned himself to the fact that it won't be this way because he could find only in Detroit what he hoped Pontiac would offer him—some security to be here.

Jones has been sincere in making it clear he wanted to work for any position he could get and accept nothing via charity.

Another obstacle in Jones' mind with regard to his track achievements was the thought that he was not always given fair and equal treatment by the press and communication media.

It wasn't that he thought other track stars shouldn't have been given their due attention, but in proportion to what was accomplished, he was given second best recognition.

There was some justification to his thinking. He can recall a couple years ago when he was setting world indoor records and also beating the best such as Lee Calhoun, the high jump or broad jump champs were the features of track stories.

He competed in the U.S.-Russian meet four times, but last fall when he was left at the starting block and after a controversy he was the loser to the Russian hurdler, and he seemed to feel everyone pointed a finger at him for "goofing." There was no doubt, what happened was highly publicized.

Just recently a national publication released a story listing the all-time teams in the various events. The teams were picked by U. S. track coaches, including four from Michigan.

The final tally shows Jones running a poor 5th in high hurdles. The voting had Lee Calhoun with 28 votes, a hurdler if we remember correctly, with whom Jones holds the edge in victories; Harrison Dillard had eight votes, all of whose indoor records Jones has smashed; Jack Davis of Southern Cal with 6 votes, who hasn't really challenged Jones; Jerry Tarr, Oregon with 6 votes, and even though he defeated Jones a couple of times, has retired from amateur sports, without establishing any kind of rivalry to see if his winning could be consistent.

Jones follows with four votes, not very noteworthy for a holder of four world indoor records, a bronze Olympic medal winner and still the best chance of the U.S. in the World games in Tokyo this year.

Don't know how those coaches arrived at their choices but we would certainly have to agree with Jones if he felt he had been slighted.

It would appear that Jones' morale must be at a low ebb. If that is the case then this is the time for his hometown to provide some kind of a boost.

He certainly is capable of winning that gold medal this year, be it his last, and we want to be the first to say, "C'mon Hayes, Pontiac is with you for the Olympics."

Lakers Trim Pistons

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Lakers proved Wednesday night that they can win without injured guard Jerry West, but it took a spectacular performance by Elgin Baylor and the Detroit Pistons as opposition to do it.

Baylor scored 37 points and snatched 17 rebounds as the Lakers crushed the lowly Pistons, 111-85, to slip into second place in the National Basketball Association's tight Western Division race.

Damaged Sled Halts U.S. Team

Yank Crew Avoids Crash on Icy Run

Condition of Course May End Olympic Bobsled Races

INNBRUCK, Austria (AP)—An American bobsled team piloted by Larry McKillip narrowly averted a serious accident on a hazardous course beginning to be stripped bare of ice as the third run of the four-man championships was completed today.

The fourth and final run is scheduled for Friday but there is some question whether competition will continue.

Canada's No. 1 sled, piloted by Vic Emery, rammed down the chute in 1:03.64 and held the lead after three runs with a total time of 3:10.45.

BREAKS WHEEL

McKillip, of Saranac Lake, N.Y., broke his steering wheel on the perilous course at Igls, which was laid bare to the concrete at the Witch's Cauldron curve—the 12th of 14 over the twisting course — by the time the competitors had finished the third run.

Since the United States had no reserve sled, he was forced to withdraw from the competition. He had been seventh after Wednesday's two runs.

McKillip's sled broke down on the chute some of the bobsled racers had charged was coming apart, and endangering their lives. Only Wednesday, after the first two runs, Britain's Tony Nash said "it was bloody crazy" to continue the competition.

An army team, which had been out during the night patching the deeply rutted run and strengthening the retaining walls weakened by an unseasonable thaw, also had to clear the course of a light snowfall which fell during the night.

DELAY

That delayed the competition. Then McKillip started his pilot run down the hill, twisting and turning his sled through the intricate turns until he came to the treacherous Witch's Cauldron.

One of the runners on the sled caught in a rut, and the steering wheel broke off. McKillip managed to hold on, regained control of the careening sled and maneuvered it safely to the finish line. But the absence of an extra sled kept him from returning to competition.

Right after McKillip's accident, a Belgian bob, the 11th down in the field of 17, hit the high bank at the Witch's Cauldron so hard it laid bare the concrete for a two-yard stretch.

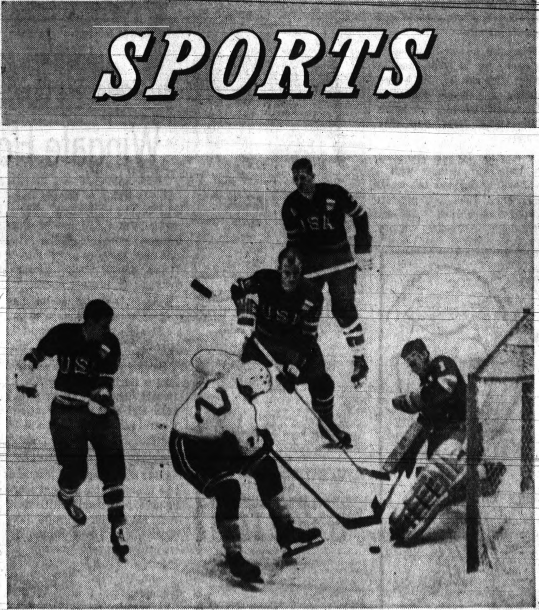

Austria's No. 1 sled, driven by Erwin Thaler, took over second place after the third run with 3:11.36 after a 1:03.24 descent. Italy's Eugenio Monti pushed his sled down in 1:04.02 for 3:11.52, an dropped back to third.

Oakland Hills '64 International Capital

County Host to Golf Spectacle

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

One of the greatest spectacles of golf—the Carling World Championship, and one of the most renowned golf courses in the world—Oakland Hills Country Club—join forces to produce the biggest financial sports extravaganza in the history of Michigan.

Golfers, writers and communication media from all over the world will take quarters in Oakland County starting Aug. 20th, one full week before the $200,000 championship starts at Oakland Hills.

Actually, tournaments throughout the world will be pinpointing the Aug. 27-30 dates throughout the summer of 1964 with qualifying taking place in nine zones of the world.

The minimum field will be made up of 140 golfers, pro and amateurs with handicaps not over two strokes, and with a minimum of 45 foreign contestants.

All of the top players and champions of such prominent tournaments as the British Open, French Open, German Open, USGA Open, PGA, Canadian Open and the leading tournaments in South America, Latin America, Africa, Asia, and Australia will be included among the entries.

The largest of international qualifying zones will be Zone V which will have golfers from 41 countries of the European continent, North Africa, Middle and Near East going for four places by participating in the 1964 French and German Opens.

The golfers in Zone V must take part in the French Open, July 13-15 and in the German Open, July 21-Aug. 2 and earn their spots in the World Open on the basis of points, from 60 for first place to six for 10th place.

The tournament, covering 72 holes of medal play, will have a first place prize of $35,000, and no golfer who qualifies will leave without a part of the purse.

Second place will be $17,000 and 10th place will be worth $3,500. Every spot after 10th through 75th will be paid $620, and all golfers who fail to make the cut of 75 places after 36 holes will get at least $400.

In event of a tie for first place, an 18 hole playoff will take place Monday, Aug. 31st.

For Oakland County and the state of Michigan, no event in history will carry the volume of international words by press people as this event.

Oakland Hills, the pride of U. S. Open championships in 1924, 1927, 1961, and 1961 is already planning for its inaugural as the 1964 golf capital of the world in August.

Late Chicago Scores Halt Red Wings, 4-2

CHICAGO (AP)—Two third period goals out of the net before he was pulled, Chicago goalie Glenn Hall made 28 saves.

Bobby Rousseau and Gilles Tremblay each scored their 19th goals of the season to back Canadian goalie Charlie Hodge's fourth shutout at Toronto. Hodge turned back 23 Toronto shots to hand the Maple Leafs their ninth scoreless defeat this season.

Andy Hebenton and Orland Kurtenbach scored within 22 seconds late in the final period to give the Bruins victory at New York before the fourth straight sellout crowd at Madison Square Garden. The 15,922 fans watched Boston move within nine points of the fourth-place Rangers in a belated playoff bid.

Wing forward Larry Jeffrey scored his seventh goal of the season and his fourth against the Hawks this year at 12:29 to initiate the Detroit comeback.

Alex Delvecchio took a pass from Gordie Howe to tie the game just before the Hawk rally.

Long-Term Pact for Dallas Coach

DALLAS (AP) — Last season the Dallas Cowboys lost 10 games and won only four in the National Football League. In four years under Coach Tom Landry their record is 13-38-3. So what are the multimillion-dollar club owner Clint Murchison Jr. and his coach doing? He signs Landry Wednesday to a new 10-year contract, believed by some to be the longest in professional sports.

With one year still to go on his original pact, that means the master of a new Landry contract won't need to come up again for 11 years.

Landry, 39, joined the fledgling Dallas club after serving as an assistant on the New York Giants' staff, reportedly drawing $30,000 a year.

Terms of his extended contract were not disclosed.

General Manager Tex

Schramm said, however, it raises Landry's salary and the terms "make Tom one of the highest paid coaches in the NFL."

Murchison added: "We've been trying to get him to do this for over a year, and we finally convinced him. This is in keeping with my policy of when you have a good man, keep him."

While unwilling to predict an NFL championship for Dallas in 1964, Landry believes the Cowboys will be competitive with their top three or four rivals.

Swim Mark Falls in PNH Decision

Pontiac Northern's Dick Johnson set a variety record in the 100-yard breaststroke Wednesday evening as the Huskies downed Ferndale's tankers, 75-26.

Johnson was locked in a tight duel with the Eagles' Don Kiddie and he slipped home a notch ahead of the Ferndale star in a time of 1:02.5.

PNH won nine of 11 events with Skip Ervin, Bob Basinger and Johnson picking up two wind each.

The victory raised the Huskies' season record to 7-2.

2 Wolverines Among Elite in Point Race

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan's Cazzie Russell and Bill Buntin hold down fourth and fifth places in the Big Ten basketball scoring race, according to statistics released Wednesday.

Ohio State's Gary Bradds has scored 223 points in six games for a 37.2 average and holds a big lead in the scoring derby.

Northwestern's Rick Loposa is next with a 29.2 average and Dave Schellman of Purdue is third with 27.0.

Russell, with 181 points in seven contests, has a 25.9 per game average, while Buntin has a 24.1 average on 169 points in the same number of games.

Michigan State leads the league offensively with an 89.6 per game average. Northwestern is tops defensively with 73.0.

College Cage Coaches Hit Milestones

By The Associated Press
This is a memorable year for many college basketball coaches.

Kentucky's veteran Adolph Rupp notched his 700th career victory last Monday. Duke's Vic Bubas reached his 100th milestone Wednesday night.

Hank Iba of Oklahoma State and Slat Gill of Oregon State are next in line to celebrate. Iba needs only three more victories to hit the 700 mark; Gill needs eight for his 600 milestone. Bubas, 34-year-old native of Gary, Ind., had no worries as Duke swamped North Carolina State 86-48 and set an Atlantic Coast Conference record of 26 straight ACC victories.

The Blue Devils, seventh-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll, led by only 25-21 at the half, but then pulled away as Hack Tison, Jeff Mullins and Jay Buckley combined for 42 points.

Sixth-ranked Villanova beat St. Bonaventure 57-52 for its 13th straight victory and 10th-ranked DePaul rolled over Notre Dame 90-75 in two other top games on Wednesday's collegiate program. Ray Meyer, DePaul coach, now is within four victories of his 350th celebration.

STREAK SNAPPED
Cincinnati snapped a five-game losing streak by defeating Dayton 77-64, Memphis

State handed Creighton its first home defeat of the season 87-86. Syracuse edged Niagara 83-81 in overtime on Dave Bink's shot with four seconds left and Oklahoma City also went an extra period to defeat St. Louis 80-75.

Once-beaten Villanova, now 17-1, overcame an 11-point deficit to beat the Bonnies at Philadelphia's Palestra. A corner shot by George Leftwich put the Wildcats ahead for good at 31-29.

Pro Skiers to Compete at Pine Knob

Pine Knob officials will have their eyes on the sky this week-end as next week's professional ski races there draw closer with little cooperation from the weatherman.

International Professional Ski Racers Association will be flying in from Cleveland to compete, but they may be greeted with less than snow-white conditions unless new snow falls.

Actually, resort officials report they still have a 6-8 inch base despite the warm spell this week. Should freezing temperatures return, they will be making snow to improve the conditions.

Competition for the $4,000 prize money will begin at 8 p.m. Tuesday and run for two nights. The pros will race the dual slalom course twice each night.

Separate prize monies will be awarded for each night's races. In addition, there will be a "stylist" show after each night's competition.

In this, the top pros show off their special maneuvers for a panel of local judges with $150 going to the winner. This competition was well received at last year's IPSRA Pine Knob meet.

NAMED
Judges will include Don Freeman of the Waterford Township School system and Gerry Monod of the Pine Knob staff. Others will be announced later.

Those on the IPSRA tour

this season include Anderl Meltzer, Ernst Hintersee, Papi Gramshammer, Christian Pranda and Adrian Duvillard, the defending Pine Knob winner.

Other familiar names are Karl Bertscher, Marvin Moriar-ity, Tony Spiss, Trygve Bereg and Max Marolt.

New men who have competed this year include Erich Sailer, Hans Schwarz, Sigurd Rockne, Otto Westmann, Dieter Bibbig and Jim McConkey.

Gramshammer was a big favorite with the approximately 4,000 fans who witnessed last year's competition on a rainy night.

Another popular figure is Stein Eriksen who will narrate the show this year after competing last season.

Tickets are priced at $1.50 per person and are on sale only at the resort. There will be reserved seating inside the lodge.

Five Champs Returning for MSU Track Relays

EAST LANSING (AP)—Defending champions in five individual events will run against a strong field in the 41st annual Michigan State Relays Saturday.

Nearly 300 athletes from 17 colleges and universities will compete at Jenison Fieldhouse. The meeting generally is regarded as the opener of the midwestern collegiate indoor track and field season.

Seeking repeat victories will be Bob Moreland of Michigan State in the 60-yard dash, Al Washington of Purdue in the 300-yard dash, Dennis Holland of Western Michigan in the broad jump, Pat Ward of Ferris State in the 1,000-yard run and Roy Bryant of Missouri in the two-mile run.

RETURNERS
Western Michigan has runners returning to defend the four relays it won last year—the shuttle hurdle, distance medley, two mile and university one mile.

Moreland will have to duel with Purdue's Nate Adams in the 60-yard dash. Adams finished second in the short race in the relays last year and also trailed Moreland in the Big Ten meet.

Washington will have strong competition in the 300 from MSU football star Sherm Lewis, Rick Beldner of Missouri and Mel Orr of Ohio State.

Main competition for Holland in the broad jump will come from Clifton Mayfield of Central State of Ohio, the NCAA champ at 26 feet two and one half inches. Bob Lingle of Missouri should push Ward in the 1,000-yard run. Sophomore Dick Schramm of Miami of Ohio looks like the main threat to Bryant in the two mile run.

Afternoon preliminaries in seven running events plus the broad jump final will be followed by 17 more finals Saturday evening.

Lakers' Freshman 5

Takes Overtime Win

Pat Windy dumped in a layup with three seconds remaining to tie the game and West Bloomfield's freshman basketball team went on to a 42-38 overtime victory over Highland last night.

Pacing the attack for the winners were Tom Gibbons (12) and Ted LaPratt (10).

Action in the Birmingham Recreation Department's youth ice hockey program is nearing the close of the season with two of the three champions already determined.

Both the bantam-class Rangers and midget league Green Hornets have safe point spreads, but the Tigers of the juvenile division must withstand the challenge of the Griswold six. The Green Hornets will represent Birmingham in the state playoffs, but the battle for second place is keen since that finisher will advance to the Metropolitan Inter-City tourney. The first place battle in the juvenile division could be over Saturday since the top two teams collide and there is only one more game on the schedule after this weekend.

Tourney to Be Held
Regardless of Snow
Conditions

In the Innsbruck tradition, Kandahar Ski Club will have its 12th annual Ski Jump Meet Sunday at the Pontiac Lake Recreation Area whether or not there is a new snowfall.

The competition, sanctioned by the United States Ski Association, Central Division, is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. using artificial snow if necessary.

Jumpers are expected from Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Canada and Northern Michigan as well as the local area. The state park has a 35-meter hill that permits jumps up to 130 feet.

There are four competitive events — Veterans Class, Class A, Class B and Junior Class — plus an exhibition class for youngsters and a distance jumping event.

Entrants will make two jumps in their class and the winner will be determined by points and form.

The current record is 127 feet. Among the local contestants will be John Grames, Walt Hyr, Alden Hyr, Clint Beech and Earl Hill.

There is no admission charge but spectators will need a State Park Permit to enter the grounds. The date will not be changed, club officials advise.

Due to the closing of M59 at Crescent Lake Road, they recommend spectators take U.S. 10 to Williams Lake Road and follow the signs west on the latter.

Bob Bell and Jim Hartly paced the All Saints' victory with 12 points apiece. The winners led, 22-10, at intermission.

Skiing Snowballs
at Teen-Age Level

By JERE CRAIG

The growth of organized skiing in county schools has changed from a snowplowing momentum to a snowballing change.

A recent survey by The Press reveals there are 27 high schools in Oakland County having ski clubs this season and 10 of these have competing teams.

One (Ferndale) recognizes the snow slope racers as varsity athletes.

The clubs include approximately 3000 members, and when the dozen or so junior high school groups are added to this figure it easily surpasses 4,000.

After a slow beginning the sport's popularity as an organized activity for teen-agers has grown almost immeasurably in the past three years, practically tripling in the county junior and senior high schools.

Transportation—the biggest single obstacle to further growth — has prevented the program from spreading extensively into the lower grades.

It still is a major obstacle for some high schools but various means are being used to overcome it.

Automobile transportation is being used generally but it incurs the dangers of personal liability in an accident and also a lack of enough support or availability.

BUSES, TOO
School buses are used but many schools are not ready to accept skiing as a school-connected activity so funds are not always available unless supplied by the participants.

But despite the obstacles, skiing among students is booming.

"This is the biggest thing we have going right now," reports Bloomfield Hills recreation director Ed Wickert.

There are more than 500 students in the Hills 7-12th grade program, plus the faculty and parents who assist with it. Don Gregory has a ski team that is a leading participant in the Mt. Holly Prep Ski League.

Areas such as Alpine Valley, Summit Mountain, Dryden and Mt. Brighton have programs for school groups, featuring reduced rates on week days and instruction.

Mt. Holly has gone the farthest, though, with its three-times-a-week schedule. The league almost doubled in size this year with 15 teams now vying for honors.

Other league members include Pontiac Central, West Bloomfield, Rochester, Uica, Southfield, Berkley, Walled Lake, Ferndale, Waterford Kettering, Royal Oak Kimball and Waterford.

AMONG FIRST

The latter school was one of the first to have an organized ski program. Dave Freeman began cultivating the interest in the late 1950's and his approximately 25 club members have now been supplanted by 150.

Freeman now is encouraging the sport at the lower levels. He has around 50 in a junior high school club.

Birmingham can boast of more than 700 students at the high school and junior high level who participate, although none of the schools compete in the prep league.

PCH has had one and adviser John Zimmerle advises a second more is planned before the end of the season. Group sponsors hail the opportunity for the students to do something new together and meet others under similar circumstances.

They are not permitted to wile away time in the lodges once the group reaches a resort area. Everyone skis.

Freeman probably best summed up the reasons behind the outstanding response skiing has received among students. "It is fun, and has a lot of carryover value... it's healthy and there is a need for this kind of recreation."

Rutgers has played basketball against 83 different colleges since it began the sport in 1906.

Wear the $100 suit with the cool million look by Hart Schaffner & Marx

The HS&M 100 is the suit for important moments. You're well-dressed. You're at ease. In any group.

One hundred dollars is a modest investment for such obvious assets.

First the fabrics. Exclusive imports. Lightweight and luxurious worsteds and blends. Beautifully cool, yet able to shrug off the wrinkles of oppressive weather or a lively party.

Look behind the seams. For example, the underpressing. Those numerous pressings inside the coat to shape and mould it during the tailoring. Not after.

Result: The look you buy is the look you keep.

The Relocated Street

Alfred, Where Are You?

By DICK SAUNDERS

Alfred Clark, an unpretentious strip of dead-end pavement less than a block long, dented the dignity of the City Planning Commission meeting last night.

According to the city zoning map, Alfred runs east-west off the perimeter road, between and parallel to Judson and Whittemore in the R20 urban renewal area.

The item on last night's agenda: Should the city vacate Alfred and relocate it as a new thoroughfare running north-south from Whittemore to Judson?

Things were going along as dignified as ever when a member of the city planning staff inadvertently let the cat out of the bag. Alfred had already been relocated.

HOW CAN WE?

"How can we relocate something already relocated?" spluttered Basil Brown, a planning commissioner.

Nobody had an answer. "Hmmm," pondered Commission Chairman Daniel R. Veazey, still retaining his composure. "How did it get relocated?" he asked Planning and Urban Renewal Director James L. Bates.

"It was done in an urban renewal site improvement contract," Bates said. "I suppose it should have come here for approval first," he added, weakly.

"I'd like to vote 'No,'" chuckled Robert C. Irwin, another planning commissioner.

CHORTLE, CHORTLE

"This is silly," Brown chortled. Wayne Weaver started laughing.

"I don't see any sense in a thing like this," Brown added.

"Let's get to the business at hand," said Veazey.

"It's ridiculous."

"This is it!" Brown replied. "It's ridiculous."

Commissioners William F. Davis, John E. Linabury, and Loy L. Ledford remained silent, possibly a bit confused over how the planning commission could dedicate right-of-way for a street that had already claimed it.

Veazey moved to recommend vacating and relocating Alfred and called for a vote. Planning secretary Henry Smith called the roll.

Irwin: "Yes... reluctantly."

Weaver: "Yes." (still laughing).

Brown: "Yes... under protest."

Linabury: "Yes."

Veazey: "Yes." (with head bowed)

Davis: "No."

Ledford: "Yes."

"Four yes votes, one no vote and two yes votes under protest," announced Smith, with a sigh of relief. "The motion passes."

Linabury suggested the name be changed to Alfred Street, since it was no longer dead-end. That sounded logical. It passed.

"It was just an oversight," concluded Veazey.

"Foolishness," muttered Brown.

Bill to Clarify Road Liability

Government at Fault for Personal Injury?

LANSING—Oakland County's Republican state senator, Farrell E. Roberts, is one of four sponsors of a bill ready for introduction that would clarify governmental liability for injuries caused by unsafe roads.

Under the measure, all levels of government from the state through village or township would be liable for keeping highways in their jurisdiction "reasonably safe and convenient for public travel."

Someone injured because of a faulty road could sue the governmental unit having jurisdiction under the bill, which would allow cities to buy liability insurance.

Roberts, an attorney, said court decisions have left the issue of governmental liability for road conditions "up in the air."

NO GUIDELINES

He said a decision in one case found a municipality liable, but set down no general guidelines.

A similar bill was introduced last year but failed to negotiate all the hurdles in the legislative process, he said.

The bill, which has bipartisan support, would be referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee which Roberts heads.

The other sponsors are Sens. Garry Brown, R-Schoolcraft; William Ford, D-Taylor; and Stanley Thayer, R-An Arbor. All, like Roberts, are lawyers.

Two Plead Guilty to Assault Charge

Two Detroit men yesterday pleaded guilty to assault with intent to rob being armed, in a case stemming from the Dec. 18 holdup of a Troy party store.

Clarence T. Waters and John P. Lynch entered guilty pleas as their trial was about to begin before Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt.

The two had been charged with armed robbery, but were permitted to plead to the lesser charge. They will be sentenced March 3.

They were accused in a $270 holdup of the Maple Party Store by five men, one of whom was dressed like a woman and brandishing a 22-caliber pistol.

Robert Stickle, 1005 Berwick, was again elected vice president, Robert Flynn, 138 Ogden, as secretary; and Ronald Wilde, 8 Edgelake, Union Lake, treasurer.

Returned to the board of directors were Joseph Frith, Joseph Lewis, Archie MacDonald, William Treanor, and Abe Zamek.

Dividend quoted by the board totaled $55,000. Credit union assets at the end of 1963 were reported as $2,066,530.

Police Group Seeks Status as Legal Bargaining Agent

The Pontiac Police Officers Association today began circulating petitions for a proposed charter amendment that would make it the official bargaining agent in negotiating a two-year wage contract for the police department.

Adoption of the proposal was approved 28 to 9 by members of the association at a meeting last night.

Patrolman Guy White of the vice bureau proposed the amendment.

Demands for police salaries and compensation have been made unofficially by the PPOA in the past.

GOOD FOR MORALE

"With the amendment some of our benefits could not be taken away arbitrarily," said White. "I think it would be good for the morale of the department by stabilizing wages and benefits."

Wages are now determined on a year-to-year basis.

"The amendment officially spells out who is to be the representative of the police department," White added.

The City Commission will be requested to voluntarily place the proposal on the April 20 ballot even though the petitions are already being circulated.

IF REJECTED

"If the idea is rejected we will be at least ahead," said White.

About 4,500 valid signatures are needed.

The PPOA will attempt to get

6,000-7,000 before Feb. 20, the deadline it has set for itself.

The official filing deadline is Feb. 20.

Inmates Get Report Cards

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP)—Convicts are getting report cards at the Wyoming Penitentiary.

Warden Lenard Meacham instituted the plan this week—with grades of A and B meaning a prisoner can be considered for trusty status or special privileges.

When a convict enters prison, he is automatically graded with a C. The grade is reviewed periodically.

Danish Blood Used in Study

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A study of the frequency of goiter and Basedow's disease in a normal population is being conducted by the medical faculty of Los Angeles University with the participation of 1,000 Danish blood donors.

The request for blood samples was sent to Denmark because that country is "noted as having a population that is easily traceable through the Danish Population Register."

The U.S. has no comparable system.

Catching Up for the Twenties?

Chicago 'Good Guys' Hit the Jackpot

CHICAGO (UPI)—It was a day that made Chicago seem like it was in the roarin' shootin' Twenties again—with one notable exception: The "good guys" were winning.

In an action-packed day as law enforcement officers had seen in a long time yesterday:

● Chicago police captured Leaman Russell Smith, 31, wanted for the killing of two Los Angeles police officers, after Smith made an illegal left turn.

● Federal agents charged into a hospital room masqueraded as attendants to arrest Harold Penbrook Linn on a charge of killing an Albany, N.Y., policeman.

CRIME CHIEF

● Felix (Milwaukee Phil) Alderisio, 51, a chieftain in the Chicago crime syndicate, was freed on $100,000 bond on charges he and three other men tried to extort $95,000 from a Colorado lawyer.

● Frank (Hot Dog) Liscandro, 45, another big crime syndicate hoodlum, was sentenced to 15 months in prison for filing a false income tax return in 1961 and failing to buy a $54 federal liquor tax stamp.

● Eugene Yocca, 28, was in jail on charges he bombed the car of Lewis Barbe, 32, a playboy insurance broker who was a police informer. His "blonde alibi" girl friend left jail without offering a statement on his behalf.

● Police and federal agents searched for a missing hoodlum, believed to be either Joe Bruno, an ex-convict narcotics

EXTORTION TRIAL

● And on the West Coast, another gangland lieutenant, Marshal Cleane, was on trial for extortion. He also was under indictment in Chicago for insurance fraud.

Several of the developments were related. Barbe charged earlier that Cleane engineered the bombing of his car in an attempt to stop him from testifying in the insurance fraud trial next month.

Law enforcement authorities also were aided in their case against Yocca, an ex-convict and part-time bartender, when his girl friend, Mrs. Sharon Peake, 25, was released from jail in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Magazine Solicitation

Library Used in Fraud

Waterford Township's newly established library reportedly is being used in a fraudulent fund raising scheme.

Librarian Mrs. Richard Lee said today that a woman representing herself as a magazine agent has been calling township residents inquiring that a subscription to her magazine would in part aid the library financially.

Mrs. Lee has received three complaints about the magazine agent. None of the three complainants subscribed.

According to them, the woman said she was taking a census for the library. Then she got into the magazine sales pitch.

Mrs. Lee said that the library has no connection with any magazine fund-raising program.

Are Blood Donations Too Much to Ask?

Transfusion of blood after operation is a life-saving device in hospitals everywhere. It is often used not only to save life but to speed the recovery of the patient, to hasten the healing process, or, as a surgeon tells me, "to forestall possible infections that come more easily in the depleted state."

Because of the increasing use of transfusion, the blood banks of many hospitals are hard put at times to keep the necessary supply of blood on hand for emergency use.

Any healthy adult can donate a pint of blood at intervals of not less than six weeks, or half a pint at more frequent times, throughout the year, not only without any loss of health or vigor but, as numerous donors have declared, with actual benefit to health.

In the event that I should need transfusion, I do hope the blood comes from a donor whose health the doctors guarantee or from a hospital blood bank or the Red Cross. I'd hate to have blood from a commercial source.

—an agency or blood bank that buys and sells blood.
GREAT NEED
In view of the great need for transfusion and the importance of having a supply of blood available for emergencies, is it too much to ask of healthy adults, particularly young men, that they share their health with less fortunate ones?

The way to do this is simply to report at reasonable intervals to the blood-collecting station of the Red Cross or the blood bank in the nearest hospital to give your bit.

Better yet, when you first visit the blood bank, ask about bringing your whole class, group, society, club or gang along to make a worthwhile contribution.

One woman has donated a gallon of blood in a year, and her two daughters (college students) have donated 4 and 6 pints respectively, and they are determined to surpass mother's performance in the next year.

There's something about people who make such contributions of blood, something that commands respect and admiration.

It is character.

BREAKFAST CHAT — Evangelist Billy Graham talks with President Johnson at yesterday's annual presidential prayer breakfast in Washington. In his address, Johnson said that a "fitting memorial to the God that made us all" should be established in Washington.

Second Embargo Break

France, Cuba to Trade

PARIS (AP)—Cuba is about to buy $10 million worth of heavy trucks from a French firm, informed sources reported today.

The sources said Cuba would buy heavy duty trucks, spare paid in cash, and the balance in two or three years.

The contract was reported to be nearly complete. A spokesman for the firm declined to comment on the report, and there was no immediate comment from the French Foreign Ministry.

Last month, Cuba signed an $11.1-million deal with Britain's Leyland Motor Corp. for 400 buses and spare parts. Leyland also hopes to sell Cuba an additional 1,050 buses for $28 million.

The U.S. government complained about the sale, but British officials said the buses weren't strategic goods.

The buses will be shipped to Cuba in East German freighters to avoid the U.S. blacklist against ships carrying cargo to Cuba.

The pending French truck sale also is the second indication in two days of France's efforts to expand trade with Communist countries.

POLISH PACT
The French signed a trade pact with Poland calling for delivery of 400,000 to 600,000 tons of grain a year in the years 1965-67.

France already has agreed to sell 200,000 to 600,000 tons of grain in 1964 to Poland, which also is buying $30 million worth of U.S. farm products this year and $88 million worth of Canadian wheat over the next three years.

France also has plans to expand its exports to the Soviet Union in 1965-69 under a trade pact which French Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing reached agreement in principle during a visit to Moscow last week.

Envoy to Ghana Is Recalled by U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has recalled its ambassador from Ghana, officials said today.

William P. Mahoney, Jr., the U.S. envoy to Ghana, was called back for "consultations," an authoritative source said.

See Stories, Pages A-4, B-11

Mahoney's recall came in the wake of anti-American demonstrations in the Ghana capital. This diplomatic move does not mean suspension of relations with Ghana, officials stressed, they acknowledged, however, that such a move usually means displeasure and that this has been known to the Ghana government.

Teamster Turned Informer Admits Scrapes With Law

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—A Teamsters official, who testified against James R. Hoffa at his jury-tampering trial, admitted today a series of youthful law violations, climaxed with a reformatory term.

But, said Edward Grady Partin of Baton Rouge, La., "Since I married and had my (five) children, I never had another charge put against me until I met Mr. Hoffa." Hoffa is international Teamsters president.

Army Alerted for Entry Into Racial Crisis

LBJ Showdown Near as Alabama Mayor Closes Public Schools

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—U.S. Army units have been placed on alert at Ft. Benning, Ga., for possible use in Alabama's latest integration crisis; the Associated Press learned today.

Elements of the 2nd Infantry Division and the 11th Air Assault Group were alerted yesterday for movement into east Alabama within 30 minutes, sources at Columbus, Ga., said.

Officially, the Army neither confirmed nor denied the alert.

"No orders have been received or issued to employ Army forces in Alabama," the Ft. Benning information office said.

The alert was the first development of this nature under the administration of President Johnson who is faced with his first showdown on racial issues.

CLOSED SCHOOLS
Mayor James Rea of Natusala, a small east Alabama town, closed all its schools today because of a fire last night in the town filter system which left the water short of water.

Word that the schools would be closed was late in reaching some pupils and parents.

Consequently, some of them showed up at the high school to which six Negroes have been ordered transferred by a federal judge.

The teen-age boys and girls then went home.

SIX ATTACKED
At nearby Shorter, six Negroes attended classes again at another school integrated yesterday.

A boycott predicted for that school failed to materialize. About 75 white pupils entered the school. Fourteen came out with their books.

A boycott predicted for that school failed to materialize. About 75 white pupils entered the school. Fourteen came out with their books.

White enrollment is estimated at 125.

State troopers again closed off the Shorter grounds.

Only faculty members and pupils were allowed to pass roadblocks on access roads 300 yards from the school.

CAME TO FISH — Reversing the usual north-to-south migration trend at this time of year, Claude Jones (left) came up from Arizona to visit Wayne King, 7 N. Roselawn, and do some ice fishing. The pair enjoyed the spring-like weather as they angled yesterday on Wormer Lake, Waterford Township. Their only complaint — at least when the picture was taken — was that the big ones weren't biting.

Searchers Spot Climbing Party in Mountains

Hikers Described as in Good Condition After 6-Day Ordeal

MT. WASHINGTON, N.H. (AP)—Four Syracuse University students missing since Friday in the wilderness near the highest peak in the Northeast, were found alive today.

They had taken shelter in a mountain hut. They were spotted simultaneously by searchers in the air and through telescopes by searchers at the foot of the mountain.

A ground rescue party hurried up the trail to a rendezvous with the hikers, and radioed back that all four "appear in excellent condition."

The searchers met the four young men at a clearing not far from the hut where they had sheltered.

A search plane which first spotted the men had dropped a package of food and a note which directed them to the clearing.

COPTER ARRIVES
Meanwhile, a helicopter arrived at search headquarters from the naval air station at Brunswick, Maine, to lift the men off the mountain.

It took off again at 10:30 a.m. for the mountain top, planning to bring them down one at a time.

At this altitude, more than a mile in the air, the Navy pilots said the helicopter lift capacity was limited.

They were found on the fourth day of an intense search which had been hampered by heavy snow, freezing cold and wind gusts of 100 miles an hour.

The four young men were seen early yesterday — the first clear morning since last Friday when they set out for what was to be a four-day mountain hike.

Boy Rescued From Lake by City Fireman

A 5-year-old boy is in satisfactory condition after being rescued from a frigid lake yesterday by a Pontiac fireman.

Escaping drowning in the Dawson Mill Pond after plunging through thin ice was Kim Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peters, 49 Sylvan. He is in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Credited with saving the youngster was Lt. Raymond Wilson, 45, of 1121 Voorhes.

Wilson broke through the ice himself as he crawled on the ice on his hands and knees to ward the boy yesterday afternoon.

He got through to the boy, anyway, and held him above water until more firemen were able to push a ladder across the ice to him.

HOLDS ON BRANCH
Until firemen arrived, the youngster held onto a branch that a neighbor, Mrs. Mary Lou Sutton, 56 Sylvan, had tossed to him. Mrs. Sutton also had fallen through the ice in an earlier attempt to rescue the boy.

Wilson said he did not know how deep the water was "but my feet did not touch bottom." The pair was about 20 feet off shore.

State Bill May Mean Loss to Shore Property Owners

By DON VOGEL
Outdoor Editor

Passage of a bill now before the State Legislature could result in Oakland County waterfront property owners losing some of their present shoreline footage.

The measure, introduced in the House of Representatives by Rep. Hans Rasmussen, R-Livingston, calls for establishing the "ordinary high water mark" on all state lakes and streams.

The Conservation Department would have control of all land and water inside these high water boundaries.

Last summer's extended dry spell caused lake levels in Oakland County and the rest of the state to drop, adding exposed lake bottomlands to the former shorelines.

ALL SUFFERED
Even lakes where the water level is controlled by dams suffered to some extent.

If the bill passes, it is given an even chance after failing in previous years) establishment of the arbitrary high water marks on lakes and streams will probably be determined by the courts in many cases.

The general feeling among those close to the issue is that the state would go by the average of high water marks over the years while property owners will seek current levels as the line.

There is another phase of the measure (House Bill 89) that is really the crux of the issue.

NO IMPROVEMENTS

No beach improvements, docks, piers or weed control could be done by property owners without specific approval of the Conservation Department.

Applications would have to be in writing and accompanied by a fee that could reach $50.

Under the measure, certain state agencies and local units of government would have 30 days to approve or object to the projects before final action on the application.

Two strong lobbying groups, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and the Michigan Association of Lakes and Streams Associations have taken opposite sides in the issue.

HALT DUMPING
MUCC favors the bill because "it would bring to a stop this haphazard filling and other dumping along shorelines," according to Pete Baker, editor of the organization's monthly newspaper.

In a prepared statement, the Lakes and Streams Association charges that the bill is "an attempt by the Department of Conservation to gain complete control of all surface water in Michigan."

or stream bottom inside the high water mark would revert to the state, the association contends.

Generally known as the submerged lands bill, the measure has been referred to the House committee on conservation. Rasmussen is chairman of the committee.

Plan Offered for Disposal

Site Would Serve Five-County Area

Plans for a $32-million garbage and rubbish disposal operation north of Oxford were presented by regional planners today at a press conference in Detroit.

The single, mammoth operation would serve the entire five-county metropolitan area, including Oakland County.

The proposed 2,400-acre site presently is dotted with huge gravel pits.

According to the plan, garbage and rubbish would be run through grinders, incinerated where possible, dumped into the pits and covered daily with at least six inches of dirt.

REFUSE TRAIN
The refuse would arrive at the pits by train from the various municipalities being centrally served.

As the pits become filled, they would be converted for future park use.

The plan was proposed by the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission, which represents the five counties concerned.

According to Oakland County Public Works Director R. J. Alexander, $25,000 homes have been built immediately adjacent to a similar site near Los Angeles.

Reds Stretch U.S. Bias, Says Ecuadorian Teacher

By L. GARY THORNE

Communism has exaggerated America's racial problem in Latin American propaganda, a visiting Ecuadorian English teacher said yesterday.

Cristobal Gerardo Espinosa is a participant in the U.S. State Department's 1963 International Teacher Development Program.

He admitted he had started his U.S. trip with a different picture of this country.

"Communism has exaggerated this (racial) problem bigger than it is in reality," Espinosa explained.

ALL COUNTRIES

He added that racial problems exist in all countries, but the problem is not noticed like it is in America. The U.S. is a world leader and a target.

Espinosa said Latin American countries have more problems over religion than race.

"The foreign teacher said he had found American schools, including those in Pontiac, 'very advanced.' He said he was 'much impressed.'"

FULBRIGHT SCHOLAR

A Fulbright Scholar, Espinosa said only schools in big cities in Ecuador have some of this equipment.

"Most Ecuadorian schools do not have audio-visual materials at all," he added.

Espinosa is spending two weeks in Pontiac, observing local education. Host is the Pontiac Education Association.

Nearing the end of his seven-month visit to the United States, he has viewed school systems in Texas, California and New York.

MORE THEORY

Espinosa said that "more theory rather than practice" is taught in Ecuadorian schools.

A high school student in Latin America takes 14 compulsory classes a week. Class size is about 50.

Even though Ecuador schools may be crowded, professionals there — teachers included — have a hard time finding employment.

Espinosa said that even instructors with doctorate degrees may wait a long time for a vacancy. When a vacancy does occur, there may be 100 people trying to get it.

U.S. A DREAM

"The professionals dream of coming to the U.S. for jobs," the visitor said.

Espinosa will travel to Ann Arbor for a four-day stay and then go to Washington in order to write a report on his U.S. visit.

And what was the non-professional visit like best?

A trip to Las Vegas was "most fascinating," the bachelor visitor said.

He also found Disneyland a delight.

Malaysia, Indonesia, Philippines

Some Measure of Accord in SE Asia

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Malaysia, Indonesia and the Philippines announced today they had reached "some measures of agreement" to make the cease-fire effective in the guerrilla fighting along the 800-mile Indonesia-Malaysia frontier on Borneo.

The three principals in the Malaysia dispute also formally asked U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to designate Thailand as supervisor of the shaky truce, won by U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy on his recent Asian tour.

Representatives of the three countries met in closed sessions for three hours and 40 minutes on the second day of their conference seeking a solution of the crisis.

They emerged with a communiqué signed by Philippine Foreign Secretary Salvador P. Lopez, Malaysian Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak and Indonesian First Deputy Prime Minister and Foreign Minister Subandrio, which said:

"We have had exploratory talks and we have reached some measures of agreement on guiding principles making the cease-fire effective in Borneo-Kalimantan."

Kalimantan is the Malay name for Borneo, which Indonesia shares with the Indonesian states of Sabah and Sarawak and the British protectorate of Brunei.

The communiqué said the talks would resume tomorrow.

BRITISH TROOPS

Razak said the issue of British troops, who are helping defend Malaysia under a defense agreement, was not brought up.

Another reliable source in the Malaysian delegation said the session brought "very significant progress."

"So far the Indonesians seem to be going along all right," the source said.

The Malaysian informants said that no full agreement has been reached on the withdrawal of guerrillas from Malaysian territory, but Indonesia had accepted Malaysia's contention that as long as the guerrillas were on Malaysian soil, a cease-fire could not be effective.

VIOLATED TRUCE

The truce between the Indonesian guerrillas and the Malaysian and British troops on Borneo went into effect Jan. 26, but has been violated by scattered skirmishes and leaflet-dropping incidents.

The Philippines also has opposed the anti-Communist, British-sponsored federation because of a claim to Sabah (formerly British North Borneo).

But Filipino President Diosdado Macapagal has tried to

Reds Polite About Polar Inspection

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of a U.S. inspection team just returned from the Antarctic reported today that "the Russians were courteous and cooperative" when the Americans carried out their first on-site checks of Soviet bases.

But the inspector, John C. Guthrie, declined to say whether the group had found any violation of the Antarctic Treaty during its calls last month at the Soviet Antarctic bases, Vostok and Mirny.

The findings of Guthrie's four-man team and of a companion squad which checked five other sites are expected to be kept under wraps until they have been formally drawn up and distributed to other members of the Antarctic Treaty.

Under the international pact, the 12 member nations pledged to use the South Polar area for peaceful purposes only.

FIVE BASES

Beside the two Soviet sites Guthrie's group visited New Zealand's Scott Base and flew over a French installation, Dumont d'Urville. Hawkins' three-man team inspected five bases — two British, two Chilean and one Argentine.

According to Guthrie, his group spent eight or nine hours in each inspection stop at the Soviet bases. Polish-born J. P. Ruina, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology professor who formerly headed the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency, Interior Department biologist Victor B. Scheffer and interpreter Michel Ivy were with him.

Flying from the U.S. main base at McMurdo Sound, the team went to Vostok in a C-130 military transport which also carried U.S. Navy Seabees. The Navy construction men were setting up radio antennae for a scientific experiment to be carried out jointly with the Soviets.

The temperature was 35 degrees below zero and wind 40 to 50 miles an hour.

moderate Indonesian president Sukarno's "crush Malaysia" campaign, which also includes an economic boycott.

INDONESIA PIRATES

In Kuala Lumpur, Malaysian authorities said an Indonesian gunboat robbed six Malaysian fishermen of their boat and equipment.

In Jakarta, the Indonesian Navy said Malaysian pirates from Singapore were increasing their activity against Indonesian vessels in the Riau Islands, across Singapore Strait.

Indonesia's chief price for coming to terms with Malaysia is believed to be the withdrawal of British influence from the federation.

As Malaysia's sponsor and commonwealth partner, Britain is providing military protection for the federation, made up of former British territories.

Before leaving for Bangkok, Razak defended Britain's presence by declaring "British troops are here under a defense treaty to defend us against external aggression."

Charges Eyed in Fatal Crash

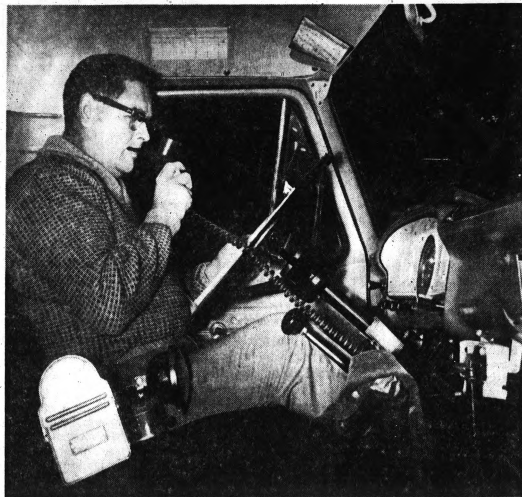

PORT HURON (UPI) — Prosecutor James T. Corden said today he is studying a sheriff's request for manslaughter warrants against the drivers involved in the bus-crash accident that killed two girls and a boy last Friday.

Corden said he would not decide whether to issue warrants until he can question the bus driver, Stewart S. Heddie, 55, of Marysville, who is under a doctor's care.

The bus, carrying 50 passengers from a roller skating rink in Lakeport, stalled and was rammed by a car driven by Clifford J. Agnew, 18. Nineteen of the young skaters were hurt, one critically, in the crash, which set the bus' gas tank afire.

Agnew claims the bus was unlit. Heddie told deputies at the crash scene that he may have turned on the lights when he tried to restart the engine.

Sheriff William J. Pettigall of St. Clair County recommended that both Agnew and Heddie be prosecuted.

READY FOR TROUBLE—Wallace Jury in a report on road conditions to a maintenance watchmen ready to dispatch a salt truck or a snow plow the moment it's needed. Jury is one of two men who patrol Oakland County in a pickup truck every night during the winter for the County Road Commission.

Night Patrol Views Weather

By JIM DYGERT

Oakland County has some 700,000 residents, but it can still be a lonely place at times for Wallace Jury and Frank Schmeltz.

"I don't know what I'd do without this," says Jury of the transistor radio that provides him with the company of music on his nightly jaunt of some 200 miles over county roads.

Once Jury and Schmeltz are on their jobs, radio is usually their only contact with the rest of humanity.

Jury of 37 E. Beverly and Schmeltz of 65 Oak, Auburn Heights, make up the County Road Commission's two-man "night patrol" during winter months.

While most of the county sleeps, the two men roam half the county alone — one north of M59 and one south of it — in a 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. vigil to assure best possible road conditions when county residents awake in the morning and head for work.

county in pickup trucks equipped with two-way radio, is to alert maintenance watchmen at the first sign of snow or sleet, especially when a storm has been not expected.

"Their weather warnings spur salt trucks and snowplows into immediate action."

MINOR CHORES

Salt, sand, tools and other items are carried in the pickups for minor maintenance chores such as repairing a broken traffic sign or salting an icy spot.

Also in the truck are flares and flashing barricades to warn drivers away from more serious hazards until they can be eliminated.

Jury and Schmeltz also watch for other conditions needing correction, such as broken guard rails or blacked-out stoplights.

MORNING REPORTS

Every morning, before going off duty, one of them reports on the county's roads to the State Highway Department in Lansing, also relating similar data from Macomb and St. Clair counties.

The highway department distributes a statewide road condition report to news media for the benefit of motorists.

The highway department says it has had a "night patrol" in operation for 30 years.

In Oakland, as in some other counties, the patrol is partially financed by the state reimbursing the county for time spent on state-designated highways.

HALF THE TIME

Jury says about half of each night's time is spent covering all the state routes in the county.

While the job may be lonely, it's not monotonous, according to Jury, who says, "There's always something different."

To vary things a little, he and Schmeltz swap territories every night and travel it differently each time around.

However, Jury, who has been on the winter night patrol for 19 of his 12 years with the road commission, admits that he likes his summer job better.

That's as a weighmaster checking truck loads, with most of the work in the daytime.

Senate's Final Vote on Tax Cut Bill Expected by Friday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's $11.6-billion tax cut bill moved today to the brink of final passage in the Senate.

Democratic leaders said if the bill wasn't passed by tonight, it almost certainly would be approved Friday. It has already cleared the House.

At least 10 to 12 amendments—some dealing with such controversial issues as reductions in the depletion allowances for oil and gas—remained to be acted on before a final vote. But the administration cleared its final big hurdle Wednesday with a 48-45 defeat of a Republican effort to repeal the 10 per cent retail excise tax on four categories.

The GOP proposal would have wiped out World War II levies on furs, cosmetics, jewelry, watches and luggage including handbags, and would have cost the Treasury about $450 million a year.

To line up votes against it, Democratic leaders pledged a review of all federal excises later this season, starting in the House Ways and Means Committee.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., told reporters he would be ready today to offer an amendment to cut the present 27 1/2 per cent oil and gas depletion allowance—subject of some sharp attacks over the years—to 20 per cent.

This would pick up $250 million in additional revenue. But the Senate has rejected many similar efforts to reduce the allowance in recent years.

BOGS DOWN

After the vote on the retail excise taxes, the Senate bogged down in six hours of heated debate over an attempt to knock out of the bill a section of public utility regulation.

Until that snag developed managers of the bill had been confident they could bring the tax measure to a final vote by tonight.

On two close votes, the Senate decided to retain in the bill a House provision barring federal regulatory agencies from requiring utilities to pass along immediately to their customers tax savings achieved under the 1962 investment credit provision.

This credit permits companies to subtract from their taxes up to 7 per cent of the outlays for new machinery and equipment.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who offered the amendments, said the utilities were entitled to fair and reasonable profits under normal regulatory procedures. But he declared their customers should not be denied benefits, in the form of

Bill to Aid County

LANSING (AP) — A bill on file for introduction in the Senate would pay Jackson County $25,000 a year as "partial reimbursement" for the county handling criminal cases in connection with Southern Michigan Prison. It is sponsored by Sens. Haskell Nichols, R - Jackson, Emil Lockwood, R - St. Louis, and Philip Rahol, D-Iron Mountain.

The median income of all working women was $1,372 at the time of the last census.

May Even Improve Wine

Sunspots Show Remarkable Influence

WASHINGTON—When spots speckle the surface of the sun, radio signals are apt to bounce crazily about the globe.

During a recent peak of sunspot activity, London television viewers were startled to hear a New York taxicab dispatcher ordering a driver named "Mac" to proceed posthaste to Flatbush Avenue.

Two girls frankly discussing a blind date on the telephone enlivened a New Jersey radio station's programming in another sunspot-induced communications freak.

Sunspots also have been associated with everything from swallow-migrations to the French Revolution. The evidence for these far-reaching effects is shaky, but the spots apparently do influence a variety of things.

MAY IMPROVE WINE

A French researcher found that great vintages in Burgundy wines follow maximum solar activity.

Biologists in Iceland discovered that the North Atlantic lump-fish, a source of caviar, proliferates when the sun is spotty. The cod, however, prefers a clear sun.

New York psychiatrists recently computed a correlation between mental hospital admissions and intense sunspot disturbances.

Sunspots have been observed and described since the ancient Chinese thought they saw "flying birds" in the sun. The spots cannot be seen by the unaided eye except when the sun is shrouded by mist, fog, thin clouds, smoke, or when its is reddening at dusk.

SKIES DARKENED

In 1371, great forest fires in Russia darkened the skies. A chronicler wrote: "There was a sign in the sun... dark spots on the sun, as if nails were driven into it... the murkiness made it impossible to see anything for more than seven feet."

The spots look dark only by contrast with the more luminous surface about them. They actually have a temperature of about 4,000 degrees centigrade.

Galleo detected sunspots shortly after he built his telescope in 1610, but his findings were challenged.

The master philosopher Aristotle had taught earlier that the sun was without blemish, and Galileo's critics said the spots he saw must be in his eyes or on his telescope lens.

SPOTS ARE HUGE

The sunspots are not mere blemishes. They are great vortexes of gas on its surface.

Many measure 40,000 miles across; a giant spot spread 200,000 miles in 1947. The smallest spots last less than a day; the largest persist for several months and move as the sun rotates.

Astronomers are not sure what causes sunspots. One theory is that they stem from magnetic interference with heated gas as it rises to the sun's surface by convection.

But sunspots also aid overseas radio transmission by strengthening the ionosphere, thus making it more reflective for radio signals.

Everyone Has His Own Best Time of Day

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — Curbside comments of a Pavement Patrol: Every person has a time of day when he feels at his best. Some are "morning people." Some are "afternoon people." Some are "evening people." And some are "midnight people."

Each type reaches an energy peak at that period of the 24-hour daily cycle to which he is mysteriously best adjusted.

These orbits of human individuality should be taken more into account.

AFTERNOON SAG

Your morning person sprints through his task until noon, but after lunch he sags listlessly and can't wait for quitting time. On the other hand, your afternoon person arrives late to work, still yawning, dawdles long over his coffee break, paws listlessly at the papers on his desk. But when he returns from lunch he becomes a living ball of fire.

The ideal solution, of course, would be to run the office on two shifts, one that started earlier for the morning people and one that started later for the afternoon people.

Marriage is another example. As I see it, most husbands are either morning or afternoon people. But most wives are evening people.

The average husband wants to collapse on the sofa but she wants him to go out. She wants to be entertained. And she can't understand why her husband doesn't share her sense of zing and zest.

EARLY TO BED

So he goes to bed early, and she stays up reading a mystery novel or watching the late show on television — and both feel frustrated.

The fourth group, the midnight people, is made up of playboys, poets, night watchmen and burglars. To them the hours between midnight and dawn hold a magic and luminous ecstasy of being.

They find a thrill of excitement in darkness, the wheeling stars, and all the strange forms of life that prowled abroad then. They tend to be loners.

One of the misfits of this world is an afternoon person who, in the evening, becomes a post-midnight burglar. He hates his job, does or becomes leaden-footed and clumsy-fingered, and sooner or later falls easy prey to the police. Secretly, however, he probably is glad to go to jail, because then he can at least sleep at night—like a decent person.

Age erases most variations. As they grow older, the afternoon, evening and midnight people tend to become morning people. The evening wife becomes a morning wife, and she then is happy with her morning husband. She is content to get up when he does, and glad to join myself. Now reformed, I find an inspiration in rising with the sun, and wonder why I used to be a midnight person.

The first Meramec River 25 mile canoe race, Aug. 24, 1963, started in Onondaga Cave, Leasburg, Mo., and ended at Meramec Caverns, Stanton, Mo. The route never went above ground.

Sputniks Give Reds Vital Information

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet scientists report that the twin Soviet sputniks—Elektron 1 and Elektron 2—are sending "valuable scientific information" back to earth, the official news agency Tass said Wednesday night.

Both were launched by single rocket Jan. 30. Their task was to study the earth's radiation belts.

Harness racing began in Hempstead Plains, L. I., in 1783.
