New York Holds Spotlight in Gubernatorial Contests

WASHINGTON (INS) — The unexpectedly close and violent battle for governor of New York today steals the spotlight away from even possible upsets in Republican Vermont and Democrat Arkansas among 33 gubernatorial elections next Tuesday.

The New York race between Republican Sen. Irving M. Ives and Democrat W. Averell Harriman has captured the attention of national leaders in both parties. It may not be settled until the last ballot is counted.

Atom-Powered In-Law Offered as Bomb Filling

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (UP)—The Grand Junction, Colo., operations office of the Atomic Energy Commission announced with a straight face yesterday the receipt of the following letter from a Hollywood man obviously interested in uranium prospecting:

"Gentlemen:
"I have just purchased a jeep, gelger counter and pith helmet. Now all that I need is the literature on uranium prospecting. Please send me all the literature that you have available. If there is a charge—advise me.
"Sincerely, . . .
The letter contained this postscript:
"My mother-in-law recently was subjected to intensive radiation treatments. She's cured now—but—she gets a definite 'ping' from my counter. Now here is what I'd like to know—how much will you offer per pound for her? I am certain that you could grind her up and make a bomb that would make Hiroshima look like a fire-cracker."

Sen. Ferguson Urges Return of GOP Congress

Says Republican Party Has Brought Peace and Prosperity to U.S.

By BURDETT C. STODDARD
"Shall control be continued in the Republican Party which has brought peace and prosperity—or to the Democrats who plunged us into two wars, ruinous inflation plus allowing communism and corruption to infest the government?"
This question was asked Pontiac Rotarians yesterday by Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) in a noon address at the Hotel Waldron.

The campaigner stressed the importance of one Senate seat to both parties. "The seat I occupy could determine, and probably would, who holds a Senate majority and controls the entire 15 Senate committees."

He charged the Democrats with appealing for votes by playing on emotions instead of asking citizens to judge on the basis of facts.

The senator compared Republican and Democratic records regarding war, unemployment and taxation, communism, farm prices, civil rights and corruption in government.

"Control of the entire Congress of the 48 states for the next two years is the important stake in next Tuesday's election," Ferguson stated.

"Voting for a single opposition representative or senator can decide this important problem and give President Eisenhower an opposition Congress in control of all Senate and House committees which decide the legislative program. This could cripple the Eisenhower Administration."

He also stressed the importance to Republicans of returning U. S. Rep. George A. Dondero to the House.

Off-year elections are more important than many voters realize, said Ferguson. "They think only the President's election counts, but laws are made by the Congress." Turning to campaign tactics, the senator said "some of the opposition apparently believe people's emotions decide their vote and conduct a campaign of distortion of facts, class warfare and unfair analysis of the record."

Ferguson said he felt it his obligation to tell people what has happened in Washington and let them vote for or against him on the basis of facts.

He praised the "loyal Republican minority" during the Democratic rule which, the senator said, prevented the New Deal from instituting many socialistic principles and others verging on communism which "would have put us in the place where Great Britain is today."

Praising the President for the 22-month record of his administration, Ferguson said, "I've never known a man more dedicated to his country."

Produces Dramatic Results

Old Indian Remedy Brings New Hope for Mentally Ill

CHICAGO (U)—A research team today reported "dramatic" and seemingly "incredible" results in treating "hopelessly" insane patients with a new form of an old snakeroot remedy from India.

They said the drug, reserpine, brought improvement in 80 per cent of the 74 "backward" mental hospital patients they treated.

Eight have been discharged and 20 others have become so much better with continued use of the drug that they may be sent home on leaves of absence.

Reserpine also appeared to help mentally retarded patients.

The doctors said reserpine should not be regarded as a "panacea" in the treatment of the mentally ill and mentally retarded. However, if further studies bear out their results, they added, "reserpine will be the most important therapeutic development in the history of psychiatry."

They said they expect it to revolutionize present psychiatric treatment.

They added they believe reserpine can be a superior substitute for the often-feared electroconvulsive shock treatments in 17 per cent of mental cases.

Reserpine is a chemically pure derivative of rauwolfia serpentina. This Indian plant has been used for centuries in the treatment of

Former Broker Waives Hearing

Charge Parmenter With $50,000 Embezzlement This Morning

Eugene A. Parmenter, 54, accused of embezzling $50,000 waived examination in Pontiac Municipal Court this morning and was set for arraignment in Circuit Court later today.

He is held on $50,000 bond which was not furnished.

The embezzlement warrant was issued this morning by Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

It replaced the less severe larceny by conversion count first lodged against the former office manager of the W. H. Protiva investment company here.

Embezzlement carries a ten-year maximum prison sentence plus a top fine of $5,000, compared with five years and $2,500 for larceny by conversion.

Meanwhile, Parmenter told Pontiac police he would cooperate with his former employer Clarence J. Nepler Jr. in a suit to recover damages from accountants who audited the Protiva company books.

Nepler alleges they should have detected Parmenter's manipulations.

Named in the suit for damages "not to exceed $200,000" are Claude A. MacGregor of Pontiac and six other certified public accountants of Detroit.

They are Alfred S. Dunnett, DeLoe E. Gilbert, Charles T. Reinhardt, A. J. Grundy, Shelton W. McGraw and Arthur J. Schroder.

Oakland County Circuit Court records state the purpose of the suit is "to recover damages sustained by the plaintiff (Nepler) as the result of the negligence of the individual defendants and their breach of accounting and auditing contracts with the plaintiff as the

Adenauer Plugging for Pact OK Today

WASHINGTON (U)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today has a forum to tell the American people—and indirectly the whole West—why he thinks his country's new, independent and armed status should be ratified.

The occasion was a scheduled luncheon speech to the National Press Club, the West German chief's first major public appearance during his current visit to the United States.

Adenauer's visit of less than three days to Washington ends tomorrow when he leaves for New York. He speaks at a Columbia University dinner tomorrow night and then may spend a few days in seclusion at an east coast resort before returning to Bonn.

City to Greet '55 Pontiac With Parade and Unveiling

Thousands of people are expected to come downtown Saturday morning to take part in Pontiac's official civic welcome to the new 1955 Pontiac cars.

Promptly at 9 a. m. a 20-car motorcade of the new 1955 models will launch a "Pontiac Leadership Celebration," highlighted by the unveiling of the first new Pontiac that rolled off the assembly lines.

The motorcade will form at the Elk's Temple and proceed down Orchard Lake avenue to Saginaw street, then north on Saginaw to the courthouse.

On the courthouse lawn, "Big Chief Pontiac," in full Indian regalia, will unveil the car which will be given away by local merchants.

Beginning tomorrow, which has been officially proclaimed "Pontiac Day" by action of the City Commission, the 90 merchants participating in the event will hand out tickets to all persons 18 years of age or older, whether a purchase is made or not.

The tickets will be dropped in collection boxes in each merchant's store.

The leadership celebration will continue through Nov. 13 and the winner of the car—a four-door Star Chief—will be selected on Nov. 20.

Everybody in the above-18 age group living in Oakland, Lapeer, Genesee and Macomb Counties is eligible to win the car, except own-

Lyndall Asking More UF Gifts

Asserts Every Penny Is Needed to Reach Goal of $525,823

At the Pontiac Area United Fund drive entered its 11th day, with $ to go, a strong plea for more contributions from individuals and small businesses was issued by Campaign Manager Frank S. Lyndall.

"From now on," he stated, "we will have a tough fight. Some $182,902 more must be raised to reach the goal or our community will have to cut back vital services now provided by our agencies."

By last night, 65 per cent of the $525,823 goal or $341,921 had been collected.

Money received so far represents largely the big donations from industry and contributions of plant workers, said Lyndall. Little more can be expected from them, he added.

"The thing that will put the drive over now," the campaign manager stated, "is an individual gift from every man and woman in every job in the Pontiac area."

"We need that 10, 15 or 20 cents per week which a great many average citizens give."

"If everybody backs this idea of putting all our worthwhile appeals in one campaign by making as generous a pledge as he can, I'm sure we can succeed. But every penny is needed."

The tickets will be dropped in collection boxes in each merchant's store.

Arrives in State on Second Leg of Quickie Tour

President Will Deliver Campaign Talk From City Hall Steps

DETROIT (U)—President Eisenhower, on a last-minute airplane stumping tour in behalf of Republican nominees in Tuesday's election, landed at Detroit's Wayne Major Airport, 20 miles west of the city, at 10:53 a. m. today.

A steady rain was falling in downtown Detroit, where he was scheduled to speak within half an hour of his landing.

A motorcade, with the President in the vanguard, left almost immediately for City Hall in Cadillac Square, the heart of Detroit.

In it also were Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.), chairman of the Republican Policy Committee in the Senate running for election to a new term and Donald S. Leonard, GOP nominee for governor of Michigan.

Eisenhower, opening an 11th hour aerial campaign on behalf of Republican candidates, pledged today that America never will go to war to solve the unemployment problem.

Addressing a police-estimated crowd of 2,500 persons at Cleveland Hopkins municipal airport, the President said prosperity under the Democrats was based on war.

The President flew to Cleveland from Washington on the first leg of a four-state tour to get out the vote for next Tuesday's election.

He came into Ohio to help GOP Rep. George Bender in his contest for a U. S. Senate seat against the Democratic incumbent, Sen. Thomas A. Burke, who was appointed to succeed the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, a Republican.

Also at stake in Ohio are 23 house seats.

He told his Cleveland audience that Republicans in the state have nominated "a great group" of GOP candidates.

"Your vote is important," the President declared, adding that every citizen owes it to himself to vote on Tuesday.

The tickets will be dropped in collection boxes in each merchant's store.

The leadership celebration will continue through Nov. 13 and the winner of the car—a four-door Star Chief—will be selected on Nov. 20.

The Day in Birmingham

Young and Old Set for Fun at All-City Party Saturday

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM—Sunday will be the quietest Halloween Birmingham has known for some years. Although it is the real Halloween, it will be crowded out by celebrations tonight and Saturday.

Tonight is "trick or treat" night, but tomorrow the big show will begin.

That's the city's annual Halloween parade and party, when some 350 adult volunteers will supervise the carryings-on of almost 9,000 costumed and hungry youngsters.

The volunteers will help help costumes in front of Hill School from 7 to 7:30 p.m. and then herd the youngsters into line for the start of the big parade.

Then they'll try to keep order as the Birmingham High School band leads the parade up Chester to Maple, over Maple to Woodward and down Woodward to the food tables near Briggs parking lot.

Next they'll watch the heaped tables being fast depleted of hot dogs, doughnuts and cider. This is only the beginning, for there's entertainment to follow.

For the smaller moppets and their moms and dads a trampoline act calculated to draw plenty of laughs and an animal act featuring trained monkeys and dogs, will perform continuously at the parking lot. The professional acts were booked by Ronald W. Reese, general chairman of the affair.

An hour of movies will be shown at Baldwin School for fourth through sixth graders, with dancing and games until 11 p.m. at Barons School for all junior high school ages.

A shuttle bus will deliver senior high school students to Birmingham High for dancing until midnight and will have cleared the night.

Meanwhile the volunteer clean-up area of debris and the 19th Recreation Board-sponsored and merchant-backed party will draw to a close.

Condemnation action will probably be filmed the latter part of next week for acquisition of property needed to provide off-street parking facilities at the southeast corner of the intersection of the city commission at a committee meeting last night.

Of the 11 pieces of property and eight property owners involved, Egbert said there had been "no bid turn-downs," to John E. Egbert, the realtor hired by the city to make such negotiations.

"There may be one or two that will involve condemnation," Egbert added, however. The first option will be presented formally at Monday's city commission meeting.

In presenting a modified assessment formula, City Assessor Elmer Haack's further refinements last night appeared more equitable to the lawmakers, Egbert said.

Financial participation for construction of the $250,000 lot would be on a 50-50 basis, between the city and surrounding property owners. The proposed assessment district has not been enlarged to include property north of Maple and east of Woodward.

As a service to the community, the local League of Women Voters is once again distributing its Voters Guides to the public, pamphlets containing non-partisan information on candidates and issues to be voted on at next Tuesday's election.

The league compiles the information through interviews and study and at election time members are stationed at several locations to hand out the free pamphlets.

Biographical data is supplied by each candidate. Candidates also are asked identical questions and given several days to prepare an answer, League study groups prepare information on all proposals, giving both the pros and cons.

In the case of the Conlin amendment to be voted on the league has taken a negative stand and explains its reasons for doing so.

Supt. of Schools Dwight B. Ireland yesterday commended the recent decision of Oakland County Circuit Judge N. Russell Holland in setting aside a $45,000 damage verdict which had been awarded by a jury to Dr. Maurice Richards of Royal Oak.

Holland ruled that the school district had governmental immunity from suit. The case stemmed from a bleacher collapse at Birmingham High School in 1948, in which Dr. Richards suffered leg injuries.

Commenting on Holland's "encouraging decision," Dr. Ireland stated:

"School districts are completely uninformed about the matter of liability insurance. If they do not have governmental immunity in case of suits similar to this, they should have some liability insurance."

"If they take out liability insurance they, by this very act, might waive their immunity," he continued. "And, lastly, there is no provision by law authorizing the expenditure of public monies for this purpose."

"School administrators and members of boards of education deserve to have some directive so they can act in the public interest in such matters. If they are sincere they do not want to be negligent and the proper procedure should be made clear by law," he said.

He concluded, "Judge Holland, in my opinion, exercised patience and extreme care in hearing this case. It will tend to clarify the thinking of all persons interested in public education."

called to real prosperity and peace."

The Democrats, he charged, indirectly encouraged Communist aggression in Korea by statements that America was not concerned with Korea and Formosa and failure to spend money available for strengthening South Korea's defenses.

"They were even unable to supply enough ammunition to American soldiers fighting in Korea. The war was a stalemate and Eisenhower determined we would have peace. Now American boys aren't dying in Korea or Indochina where they might have been if not for the President's actions."

The Democratic claim that the GOP has thrown people out of work is untrue, said Ferguson.

"The Republican Party knows the nation can't survive without individual employment. But you can't keep making war munitions after the war is over, unless you do what Russia wants and spend yourselves into bankruptcy."

Unemployment was widespread under the Democrats in 1939, he asserted, then job opportunities increased with the defense effort.

Although there were up to 6,000,000 jobs between World War II and the Korean War, he stated, and Republicans realized steps were necessary to shift from a wartime to peacetime prosperity, they did not raise unemployment as a political issue.

War started in Korea and the problem was solved, Ferguson said. "The Democrats have never achieved a prosperous American economy with peace," he declared.

The present administration has, and without war or inflation. We've had up to 3,000,000 unemployed, but generally the past year was the most prosperous peacetime year we've had."

The GOP does not believe in crying "depression," Ferguson said, because people become alarmed and stop buying which in turn puts others out of work.

Discussing taxation he asserted that Democrats did not reduce the individual income tax in 20 years, "while they put 30,000,000 low-income people on the tax rolls by lowering the personal tax exemption from $1,200 to $300."

The 80th Republican Congress (1946-48), he said, balanced the budget, paid some of the national debt and raised the income tax exemption to $600 over President Truman's veto.

With the aid of such men as Secretary of Defense C. E. Wilson, Ferguson declared, the present Congress has cut over 28 billion from appropriations planned by the Democrats.

"I don't believe we're going into a hot war," said Ferguson. The real threat is the penetration of communism into all parts of the free world, he stated.

He said the Democrats "are not a party of treason" but they did "coddle and appease Communists." The GOP, he asserted, "cleared the Communists out of government and enacted eight new laws which we are vigorously enforcing to get them out of American life."

"Not one scandal has been found in the Eisenhower Administration. Under the Democrats both hydrogen and atomic bomb secrets got out, because they were afraid to deal with Communists with a firm hand."

The senator declared that the FBI had difficulty getting clearance to expose Communists under Democratic administrations and congressional investigations were the only recourse.

The new laws, he said, will rule out need for most such investigations, leaving congressmen more time to consider legislation.

"We've accomplished more for the civil rights of minorities in 22 months than the Democrats did in 20 years."

Farm price supports were necessary in wartime, said Ferguson, but their continuance piled up nine-

The team of American physicians, Drs. Robert H. Noe and David B. Williams of Modesto, Calif., and Walter Rapaport of Sacramento, investigated reserpine because of recent enthusiastic reports from India on its effectiveness in mental illness.

Writing in the journal of the American Medical Assn. on results obtained with the drug, they said: "Patients have undergone a metamorphosis from raging, combative uncooperative persons to cooperative, friendly, cheerful, sociable relatively quiet persons who are amenable to psychotherapy and rehabilitative measures."

Set to Dedicate New Hospital

C. E. Wilson to Officiate Saturday at Ceremony in Royal Oak

ROYAL OAK (INS) — Royal Oak's William Beaumont Hospital, launched a decade ago, will finally become a reality Saturday after years of controversy.

Dedicating the new hospital will be Secretary of Defense C. E. Wilson. The $5 million plant will be put into operation Jan. 12.

It seemed for a time the future of the hospital was doomed when the Bloomfield Medical Center was planned in competition, seeking a clinic type institution for the area instead of a general hospital. Then the Greater Detroit Hospital put up $3,570,000 of the $5 million needed and the two organizations joined forces in the building of the hospital.

Ground was broken 18 months ago on the 105 acre site valued at $500,000. The hospital will be the first large one in the area to be completely air conditioned.

The fact that the plant is needed is assured by population estimates which predict an increase of 100,000 persons in the next ten years.

Sewage Problems Snag Holly Subdivision Project

HOLLY—Further development of a 70-home project west of Bevin Lake ran into a snag when FHA and VA officials withdrew their approval of the buildings because of poor sewage facilities, it was announced this week to the Village Council by William Hovey, one of two Flint businessmen heading the program.

Hovey, however, proposed to the council a plan which he thought would meet the approval of the financing agencies, the village and the residents of the new subdivision.

Hovey proposed that Lakeside Homesites, the corporation which is investing in the development, lay sewage pipe from each home to a single, large, but inexpensive sewage disposal plant, and that the village pay off bonds which would be held by the Homesites Corp.

The Village, Hovey suggested, could then pass the cost of the bonds back to the residents of the

MAKE Voters to Decide on School Fund

Walled Lake Will Ask $825,000 Bond Issue, 3-Mill Tax Increase

WALLED LAKE—A resolution to submit an $825,000 bond issue for building purposes to the electors of the Walled Lake School District has been approved by the school board.

The proposal would be financed by a six-mill levy spread over 15-16 years. However, the tax increase would only be three mills, because levies for present debt will be reduced by at least three mills. The tax increase would not appear on the tax rolls until January 1956.

The funds will be used to finance a two-year construction program, if the issue is approved by the voters.

The 1955 construction would include the gymnasium, and administrative unit on the high school, the multi-purpose room at the Twin Beach elementary school, the heating plant in the Junior High School, and six-room additions to both the Commerce and Glenary elementary schools.

This would provide class rooms necessary by the fall of 1955 to keep all elementary children on full day sessions.

Either class room additions to present elementary schools or the construction of a new 13-room elementary unit on a new site would be in the 1956 construction. This would be determined after study of housing construction in the district, officials said.

The bonds would be sold by the school board only as needed to pay construction bills. The Board is also checking into whether the district is eligible for federal financial assistance, if it can be shown that increased enrollments are due to the activities of the federal government.

Garlic Fans, Take Note of Spaghetti!

Mrs. McConnell Cooks Up Pungent Sauce for Pasta

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Today it's Italian Spaghetti as made by Mrs. A. G. McConnell Jr. For garlic lovers it will be a real treat. For garlic-haters (!) you could leave out this pungent ingredient; but Mrs. McConnell says it won't be the same.

Born in Honolulu, Mrs. McConnell grew up there and came to San Diego where she became a singer and dancer. There also she met her husband. Now she has just retired from the business world, she says, to give her full attention to her two daughters and her home. She is one of the leaders of the St. Benedict's school Brownie troop.

ITALIAN SPAGHETTI SAUCE
By Mrs. A. G. McConnell Jr.

1 1/2 pounds ground beef
2 medium green peppers
3 large onions
3 cloves garlic
2 cans tomato paste
2 cans water
1 cup sugar
1 rounded tablespoon chili powder
4 tablespoons butter or margarine

Put ground beef into hot skillet and mash down with a potato masher into very fine pieces. Grind up the peppers, onions and garlic. Add to the meat and cook slowly until the vegetables are tender. Season to taste. Add the tomato paste and the two paste cans full of water. Add sugar and chili powder. Cook over a low fire for 3-4 hours, the longer the better. Just before serving add the butter or margarine.

This always tastes better the second day. Mrs. McConnell states. If you make it a day ahead of time, omit the butter until serving time. Makes 5-6 servings.

Everyone needs some extra large bath towels to wear when answering the phone.

The canal lock at Ymuiden, Holland, is the largest in the world. It is believed. It is 1,312 feet in length and has a width of 164 feet.

It breathes the spirit of a French city—cafes, bubbling fountains and many other this shower curtain. Artwork captures the fragrant flower market, sidewalk

Old Witches Had a Real Good Time

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Halloween seems as good a time as any to bring up the fact that I know a woman who has made a living out of being descended from a witch. She writes books about witches and takes a good deal of pride in her unusual ancestor. On the other hand, a man I heard about the other day, also descended from a witch, has spent years and many dollars trying to prove that she wasn't one.

It's too bad his warlock great-grandmother didn't live in the long-ago time when were perfectly respectable and witchcraft meant "the art of the wise." She came along after Middle Ages when people had begun to league witches with the devil and endow them with malign powers.

But as late as 1910 right in this country, a woman was arrested, fined and sent to jail because she'd been caught in a neighbor's barn trying to cast an evil spell on his cows.

One of the most famous American stories concerns the Bell Witch who followed the Bell family from North Carolina to Tennessee and then to Mississippi. The Bells, moved often just to get away from their invisible harasser who used to stir up arguments by speaking from the grandfather clock or the andiron in the fireplace.

Sometimes she would slip into the kitchen and drink up all the sweet milk and now and then she'd tumble the children out of bed in the middle of the night. She disappeared when Mary, one of the daughters, died. Some said they saw that day a great black bird swooping across the sky with a tolling bell around its neck.

State Island, New York, had an active witch that used to ride a stolen horse along the beaches on dark nights, scarlet heels flashing, a cat and goat (her familiars) following behind. This midnight gallop usually pre-announced a shipwreck.

The witch contingent stole so many nags on the island that farmers braided corn husks into their steeds' manes and tails. No evil-intentioned witch, the rumor ran, would ever ride a horse be- decked in this way. Though you could never be sure what they'd do.

I had a letter once from a woman in Illinois whose mother had planted a witches' garden as a hobby. The rail fence enclosing it was built like a star (important cabalistic sign in witchcraft). The flower beds were laid out in mystical triangles and circles. The stepping stones of the walk were kidney-shaped because of some tie-up with ancient medical lore.

All the magic plants were there—mandrake, mandragora. The trees growing in the strange garden were those associated with the earliest witches—knotted maple, braided ash and pear. Witches were supposed to turn ripe pears as they fell into tailless mice.

Golf Widow Wants Time to Herself

Should Go Ahead With Chores in Spite of Visitor

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: "How can one tactfully tell an acquaintance that she is calling too frequently? My husband's hobby is golf. We have a very beautiful course near our house and my husband spends a good deal of his free time there.

It is his only means of recreation. He plays with a young man from his office who lives in a nearby city. Because of their mutual interest in golf they are very congenial and like playing together. However, every time the young man drives over for a game, his wife comes along and stays with me while they play.

This woman and I have nothing in common, and while I do like her a little of her goes a long way. Furthermore, I could use the time my husband is out to good advantage by catching up on my household chores. I do not wish to hurt her but I am bored to tears. Can you advise me?"

My only advice is to continue with your household chores and say, "Excuse me I have to iron, or clean this room today," or whatever it is. If she doesn't enjoy watching you she won't come back so often; and if she doesn't mind, you'll get your work done.

Dear Mrs. Post: When I visited a relative lately I met one of her neighbors—a man. He spent an hour or so there one evening and then left. I said good-bye, of course, not the usual "glad to have met you," etc. I thought if anyone said it, he should! In fact, I never did think about either one of us saying it until she reminded me later that I hadn't been very polite not to say something nice about his coming.

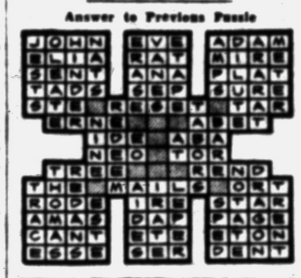

I agree with you.

Dear Mrs. Post: What kind of hat does one wear to an 8 o'clock evening church wedding, when wearing formal evening dress? There will be a large reception at a hotel after the ceremony. Or on this occasion may one properly go into church without a hat?

Trimming of any kind which is intended as a substitute for a hat, would be all right.

Don't Conceal It

When they first begin to develop figures, many young girls are embarrassed and slouch to conceal their femininity. It's a natural habit, but should be eliminated as quickly as possible when a girl is ready to be herself, not a tomboy.

New York Lures Young Graduates

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"Do you think girls fresh out of college should be allowed to go to New York to get a job?" a harassed mother asks.

"We live in a good-sized Midwestern city which offers plenty of job opportunities, but my Kate insists that there's nothing here in the field she wants, and she must go to New York. She graduated from college last June, and came home for the summer, while she studied shorthand and typing.

"Now she is champing at the bit, because she wants to get a job in a book publishing house. I'm sure she could get a job here. But she says all the companies that interest her are in New York.

"What do you think? Isn't it a very hard life for a young girl, in a strange city so far from home and friends?"

It seems to me you'd be better off to let your daughter try it. In the first place, if she honestly does want publishing, New York is the main headquarters of the industry. In the second place, she will never be satisfied till she does try, and if you keep her from trying, she may never forgive you.

And in the third place, the chances are very good that she'll not like it nearly as much as she thinks, and may come back home before too long.

But attach certain conditions to it. Make her be prepared to live on her earnings, without help from home. If she has her secretarial skills, she can earn a living wage, but she'll live in a very simple and unglamorous way, and practice economies she probably never dreamed of.

See to it that she has some kind of guidance in New York. If you have friends or relatives, have her look them up for help in finding a decent furnished room or an apartment to share with other girls. Ask your minister to refer her to a minister in New York, so she can attend church, make new friends that are her type, and ward off loneliness and temptations in her new life.

She might also check with the New York YWCA on suitable and inexpensive rooms, and perhaps on a course at night to fill her free time.

If a girl is determined to go to a big city to seek fame and fortune, the wise parent will let her. And remember, our young people are no longer babies, and most of the time they have strengths and initiative beyond what we think.

Unauthorized Salt Free Diet Imperils Health

Perhaps the most dangerous of the fad diets is the woman who nonchalantly puts herself on a salt-free diet without consulting her physician.

As with all diets, a doctor should be consulted first. Unless, of course, it's simply a matter of cutting down on an extra piece of bread or skipping gooey desserts in order to keep one's weight at an even keel.

The woman who places herself on a low-salt diet has overlooked several important facts.

First, she may think that this is a quick diet. But, she soon discovers that the complete absence of sodium in her diet results in not a loss of tissue, but water.

And, of course, this water is quickly replaced because of the immediate increased thirst.

Secondly, it is important that the salt balance of the body not be disturbed.

For instance, a healthy balance among sodium, potassium and calcium is essential to normal heart action.

So, think twice before striking salt from your diet. In doing so, you are risking both your health and your looks. Especially when the salt-free diet results in little or no weight loss.

Aging Folks Often Unveil Hunger Quelled by Life

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. F.'s parents have been happily married. Her working mother has been "head of the family," her father the dependent. Now that retirement has reduced her mother's income, she has suddenly become a bitter woman.

She complains constantly about the past cruelties of her life. Often, she gets so involved in them that she insults her husband before her grandchildren.

Mrs. F. writes, "The children are beginning to dislike her. How can I stop her?"

What is her mother using these complaints to say to Mrs. F.? I think that she may be saying:

"Please admire me. Admiration is my life. Up to now I've been able to get it by supporting your father. By contrasting his weakness with my strength, I have got people to think, 'My, what a fine woman.'

"But now my reduced income has reduced my supply of admiration. I am starving for it. So I have to come to your house every day to remind you of my past strength by reminding you of the cruelties it survived. I am reduced to pleading with you for admiration by complaining."

Such a confession of dependence should move her daughter so that she is freed from resentment at its victim.

By knowing that her mother's need is admiration, Mrs. F. should be able to help her see how mistaken is her method of getting it. We are not admired for insulting other people.

Indeed, in this situation, I can well imagine a really understanding daughter saying to her mother, "Until you realize how you are hurting yourself by criticizing Father before the children, I can't let you come here. Until you are ready to protect yourself, I am going to protect you."

To be able to say this will require not only understanding of her mother's tragic dependence, but compassion for it, too.

As our parents age, they often expose to us needs which they have successfully disguised from us all our lives.

The mother whom we have trusted as self-reliant gradually reveals herself as more dependent than the father whom we have taken for granted.

The father whose every word shows himself to us as he's always been—helpless without the support of business success and employer's flattery.

It shocks us. We feel cheated and resentful. Then as we come to understand, we put away our childish expectations of the human beings who begot us.

And we do the best we can with the undisciplined hungers of hearts that have grown too tired to pretend any more.

Volunteers Help VA Patients to Recover

WASHINGTON—(UP) — Larry George of the Veterans Administration says that as of now there are three-quarters of a million volunteers working in hospitals, mental and otherwise, around the country. There are now 172 vets hospitals.

Some of the volunteers run errands. Others are non-pro nurses. In the mental hospitals they help out with a lot of problems, according to Larry.

"Some of these cases are so pathetic we have to teach them how to eat," he said. "But when these volunteers come in, it does something for this kind of patient. It makes them think that somebody gives a darn whether they survive or not. And whoops up their morale."

"We encourage some of the volunteers, entertainers and the others, to return. If the patient recognizes somebody that has been nice to him — we consider that an improvement."

More than a trillion kilowatt-hours of electric power will be produced annually in the United States by 1964, experts predict. That's more than double estimated production for this year.

Ground Observers to See Russian Aircraft Pictures

Pictures of Russia's latest model aircraft will be among 1,000 slides shown to Pontiac Ground Observer Corps members at their next four meetings, it was announced today by Raymond E. Best, GOC supervisor.

Ground observers are urged to attend the meetings, which start Tuesday Nov. 2 in the Oakland County Office Building.

Best said the U. S. Air Force wishes to have ground observers take an extensive course in aircraft recognition to enable them to give a more comprehensive report of all aircraft spotted in the Pontiac area, to the Grand Rapids Filter Center.

Dolly Rams Lamp Post as Bubble Gum Bursts

WASHINGTON (UP) — The American Automobile Association has a good one in its latest news review. It's about a pretty young stenographer in Denver named Dolly. She was driving on the highway and suddenly banged into a lamp-post.

They arrested her, but she got off easy. The official court report read: "Driver's vision obscured by bubble gum bursting in face."

Who's there?

It could be an abandoned child, an old woman, the sick of body, the sick of mind. It could be a crippled boy, a handicapped worker, a young mother. Or a kid who never had a chance, or an old man who needs another one.

No, it's not these people who

Soy Up Slightly on Quiet Market

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Soybeans moved up slightly on the Board of Trade again today but the rest of the market was not able to get anywhere.

Gains in soybeans ran to a couple of cents in active dealings. There also was a burst of trading activity in rye at the opening, following overnight purchases of that grain from various exporting countries by West Germany.

Corn and oats were subjected to mild hedging pressure.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to 1/4 higher, December 22.23 1/4, corn 1 1/4 to 1/2 higher, December 1.15 1/4, oats unchanged to 1/4 lower, December 82 1/2, rye 3/4 to 1/2 lower, December 1.15 1/4, soybeans 2 1/4 to 3/4 higher, November 2.92 1/4, and lard 2 to 17 cents a hundred pounds higher, November 31.17.
