

Astronaut Worked, Ate While Circling Earth

MOSCOW (AP)—Maj. Yuri A. Gagarin said today he easily worked and ate in a state of weightlessness on his orbital flight, and his body responded smoothly to the pull of gravity as his space ship headed for a landing.

He floated in the cabin of his space ship as it whizzed at a speed of 17,000 miles an hour more than 100 miles above the earth, he told the official news agency Tass somewhere in the Soviet interior. Other objects in the ship floated about him.

The new hero of the Soviet Union, said despite the weightlessness he was able to make notes of his historic flight.

"The transition from weightlessness to gravitation," he said, "to the appearance of the force of gravity, is smooth."

"One's legs and arms feel as before, as during weightlessness, but again acquire weight. And I no longer hovered over the chair, but eased myself into it."

The entire flight, he asserted, was work all the way and particularly in that phase.

Even so, he said, he felt excellent during that period of his 108-minute flight.

As he waited in the Soviet interior for a hero's welcome in Moscow Friday, the 27-year-old astronaut told for the first time about his experience as his five-ton space ship hurtled around the earth.

When he became weightless, Gagarin said, it became easier to do everything.

"This is quite natural," he commented. "One's legs, arms weigh nothing, objects float in the cabin. Neither did I myself sit in the chair as I did before that, but hung in midair. While in the state of weightlessness, I ate and drank and everything occurred just as it does here on earth."

"I even worked in that condition, wrote, jotting down my observations. My handwriting did not change although the hand does not weigh anything. Only I had to hold the notebook, otherwise it would float away. I maintained communication over different channels and tapped the telegraph key."

Gagarin said he learned first hand that weightlessness does not deprive a man of an ability to work, Tass reported.

As to what he saw from space Tass said Gagarin reported:

"I did not see the moon. The Sun in outer space is tens of times brighter than here on earth. The stars are visible very well. They are bright and distinct. The entire picture of the firmament is much more contrasting than when seen from the earth."

Gagarin said the sunlit side of the earth was quite plain and he could see easily the shores of continents, islands, great rivers, folds of the terrain, large bodies of water, Tass said.

Flying over the Soviet Union, he reported he could see the great squares of the collective farms and could even tell cultivated from meadow land.

Emphasizing he was no mere passenger as his space ship circled the earth at a maximum altitude of 188 miles, Gagarin told Tass:

"I was entirely concentrated on carrying out the flight program. I wanted to carry out every point of the assignment and to do it as well as possible. There was a lot of work. The entire flight meant work."

While the space ship was under ground control for the landing, Gagarin helped with the control phases, Soviet scientists said when the doctor's flight was announced Wednesday.

Auto Output Jumps; 'Best Week of Year'

DETROIT (AP)—More bright news popped over the automotive horizon today.

Automotive News said more cars will be built this week than in any previous week this year. And Chrysler

Corp. said its new car sales the first 10 days of April were the best for any 10-day period since November.

Vice President E. C. Quinn said the daily rate was 2,327 cars for the eight selling days. Total sales were 20,219.

For the Chrysler car, sales were the highest for any 10-day period since October 1957. The total was 5,078 compared with 1,833 in the comparable period a year ago. Imperial sales totaled 385 cars.

Automotive News estimated passenger car production at 113,656 compared with 93,883 last week and 135,558 in the similar week last year.

Five lines—Corvair, Comet, Falcon, Lincoln and Thunderbird—will work overtime Saturday.

Chrysler's Plymouth Division reported sales of 9,007 Plymouths and Valiants for a daily average of 1,176, the best since November.

Dodge Division reported total sales of 7,351 cars including 2,200 compact Lancers. The daily selling rate for the Lancer was the best since early October and the division's selling pace of 919 daily was the best since November.

The transaction was a major deal in the auto and allied industry.

The Owsos and Postoria plants are among numerous factories of Electric Autolite in the United States and Canada. Ford will continue production at both plants.

Blonde Charmer Miss Boys' Club

Four-Year-Old Entered Contest Just to Please Her Brother

By MAX E. SIMON

The eyes of a cute, 4-year-old blonde sparkled happily Wednesday night after she was named "Miss Pontiac Boys' Club of 1961."

Winner over 29 other little beauties blue-eyed Diane Dix had entered the contest to please her brother, Kenneth, 8.

When it ended, however, Diane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Dix, 41 S. Jessie St., learned that it was worth it.

Especially when she received her prize — a blonde doll standing 40 inches tall. Diane, herself, is the same height.

Her surprised, but proud brother, whispered to the new queen when the results were announced: "I never thought you were that pretty."

He was pleased that his sister won, no doubt of that. He personally gave a manual handshake to the women judges.

And he told friends: "It's great for Diane. She's never had a BIG doll before."

Some 400 persons watched the tiny charmers parade across the runway in the boys' club gymnasium.

Diane — No. 27 — was the one who won the hearts of audience and judges with her smile.

NAMED AS LADIES-IN-WAITING were: Sandra Lynn Cowan, 5, 66 N. Jessie St.; Brenda Hewitt, 6, 32 N. Anderson St.; Bethah Moncrief, 6, 65 Florida St., Pontiac.

St. Joseph Hospital Plans Big Addition

Construction for 150 to 225 Beds Possibly May Start This Summer

By PETE LOCHMILER

Construction of an addition to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital may begin as early as this summer, fulfilling the expansion plans of the past six years, according to an announcement from the hospital today.

Architects are working on preliminary drawings to be submitted soon to the Detroit Province of the Sisters of Mercy, announced Sister Mary Xavier, hospital administrator.

Initial sketches contemplate addition of five or six stories with a capacity of 150 to 225 beds, said Fred H. Lafferty of the Detroit architectural firm of Donaldson & Meier.

It would be constructed on Woodward Avenue in front of the present building, he said.

Financing would be through the mother house in Detroit, said Sister Mary Xavier. She said that the mother house has no plans, as far as she has been informed, of any public drive for funds.

Cost of the addition has not been estimated, said Lafferty.

JFK Sounds Warning Note

Space Gap to Stay Awhile

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says the Soviet Union does not regard it as any sign of "weakening of the Free World" in the struggle against communism.

But in setting forth these views at a news conference Wednesday, the President did sound a note of warning.

He said: "I do regard the total mobilization of men and things for the service of the Communist bloc over the last years as a source of great danger to us. And I would say we are going to have to live with that danger through most of the rest of this century."

This ninth Kennedy news conference as President drew 46 newsmen, eight more than the previous record set at his first on Jan. 25.

His face was a study in solemn seriousness as he dealt at length with the space situation, saying "we are behind," as he pledged that under no circumstances will U.S. armed forces be engaged in any move to overthrow Cuba's Fidel Castro regime; as he stopped just short of calling Castro a Communist. As he said that under present circumstances the United States continues to oppose admission of Red China.

Don't let snow flurries, rain and cloudy days discourage you for "behind the clouds is the sun still shining."

The weatherman said tonight will be mostly fair with a low of 36, and Friday will be mostly fair and warmer, the high climbing to 56. There is a chance of rain and cooler temperatures again Saturday.

Morning northeasterly winds at 10 miles per hour will become 10 to 20 m.p.h. late this afternoon, and southerly tonight.

The lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 34. The temperature reading at 2 p.m. was 48.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Republican congressman proposed today that President Kennedy invite Russian spaceman Yuri Gagarin to visit the United States and receive a hero's welcome.

Rep. James G. Fulton, R-Pa., made the suggestion at a House Space Committee hearing on the U.S. man-in-space program.

Other areas of the vast outer space," he told the editors of Izvestia and Pravda by telephone.

Gagarin was toasted throughout the Soviet Union amid indications that ceremonies halling him for his conquest of space might be held in the capital Friday.

Government spokesmen tipped their customary tight-adopted silence, but official Soviet photographers said they hoped to be able to make new pictures Friday of the Soviet Union's new pin-up boy.

Congressman Wants to See U.S. Mobilize on a Wartime Basis

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Victor Anfuso, D-N.Y., a member of the House Space Committee, today called for a congressional investigation of the nation's man-in-space program.

"I want to see this country mobilized to a wartime basis," he said, "because we are at war."

"I want to see schedules cut in half. I want to see what NASA says it's going to do in 10 years done in five. I want to see some firsts coming out of NASA such as a landing on the moon which I know can be done if we go immediately into development of a solid fuel booster."

Anfuso's statement was issued as the House Space Committee called a morning after autopsy on the Russian feat of sending a man around the world in 89 minutes.

St. Joseph Hospital

St. Joseph Hospital addition program, 150-bed expansion might cost around $3 million or more and a 225-bed addition $4.5 million or more.

St. Joseph, operating presently with 333 beds for adults, 66 for children and 40 bassinets for infants, has been near or over capacity for a number of years.

Lafferty said the total bed capacity after expansion is not yet definite, since it is not yet determined how much space in both the addition and the existing plant will be devoted to the enlargement of such service areas as X-ray and laboratories to handle a larger bed complement.

The ambition at present, he said, is to have final plans for the mother house in Detroit for approval in time for groundbreaking this summer.

Lafferty's firm was retained by the mother house for the hospital expansion plans were scrapped.

SEWERS NEEDED

Any enlargement of the hospital is contingent on the city's installing new pipe lines to give the hospital additional sewage service.

It was estimated last fall that this sewer expansion would cost about $125,000, to be drawn entirely from the city's budget under the traditional formula.

Sister Mary Xavier said it was her understanding that the city has agreed to spend the money if the hospital is definite about expansion.

City Manager Walter K. Williams said at budget time in January that the money is available this year if the City Commission allocates it.

Some groundwork already is being laid for expansion. A new laundry under construction at the rear of the hospital is designed to handle a larger facility than the existing one.

Architect Lafferty said that current renovation of electrical and steam installations at the rear of the hospital also are being enlarged for a bigger institution.

Sleet and Winds
Tie Up Traffic in Northeast

NEW YORK (AP)—Stormy spring sleet gave a huge area of the Northeast winter-like falling today. The section from New Jersey to Massachusetts was lashed by sleet winds, high tides, snow, sleet and rain.

Surface transportation by car, bus, ferryboat and train was hampered and, in some spots, halted. Snow and flooding caused school closings in New Jersey and down state New York.

The winds shattered many windows in the New York metropolitan area and the basement of Governors Hospital in Manhattan was flooded.

The Jersey Central Railroad halted ferryboat service between New Jersey and New York on the Hudson River. Ferries plying between lower Manhattan and Staten Island were delayed.

Woman Talks Up to Pilot but How?

CHICAGO (UPI)—Illinois Bell Telephone engineers said today they were at a loss to explain how a telephoning Waukegan, housewife carried on a conversation with a pilot flying 23,000 feet above Oklahoma.

"Our technical experts are looking into it," a spokesman said, "but so far they can't explain it. It's one of those once-in-a-million things."

Mrs. Marjorie Stewart was chatting with a friend, Mrs. Helen Schooley, on the telephone Sunday when they heard a man's voice.

"He broke in and we could hear all that air talk like, 'What's Tower,' 'Roger,' and so on," Mrs. Stewart said. "Finally, the man's voice received permission to fly to 21,000 feet to clear stormy weather."

Mrs. Stewart, a secretary in the sheriff's office in Waukegan, said she and Mrs. Schooley tried to talk through the interruptions, but finally gave up. A few minutes later, Mrs. Stewart picked up the telephone again and the pilot was still talking.

"What gives?" I asked this chap," Mrs. Stewart said, "and he came on and started talking. He said he was 18 minutes out of Tulsa, Okla., and would arrive at Midway Airport (Chicago) in about 46 minutes."

Mrs. Stewart said she told the pilot it was snowing in the Chicago area and he replied that he was flying a chartered cargo plane through heavy snow at the same time.

"They wouldn't believe it when I told them I was talking over a telephone with him," she said.

Consumers Power Co. Share Owners to Meet

Share owners of Consumers Power Co. in the Pontiac area will attend a regional meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the Company Service Center, 4000 Coolidge Highway, Royal Oak, at which R. P. Briggs, executive vice president, will discuss company affairs.

outlining major company activity during 1960.

The Royal Oak meeting is one of a series of 11 such sessions Consumers Power Co. is conducting this month in as many cities. The company holds regional meetings in order to reach more shareowners than are able to attend the formal official meeting of the company, held this year in Jackson Tuesday.

Total attendance at the series last year exceeded 5,000.

Jet Plane Noise May Get Worse, Says FAA Exec

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The problem of aircraft noise may become even worse as jet service expands, James T. Pyle, deputy administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency, said Tuesday.

Pyle, in testimony before a House commerce subcommittee, said efforts continue to reduce the sound level of jet engines. He said he believes the noise nuisance can be held to tolerable levels.

"(But) in all candor," he said, "the future outlook has both bleak and promising aspects. There are no immediate and dramatic means of reducing drastically the sounds that accompany essential air transportation."

Pyle said stepped-up jet operations and introduction of jet service at additional airports "will amplify the problem to some degree."

Pyle said it costs $20,000 per plane to install sound suppressors on four-jet transport aircraft.

Driver of Milk Truck Is Killed in Accident

Kept Mission a Secret

Yuri's Feat Startled Wife

By ALINE MOSBY

MOSCOW (UPI) — The wife of Yuri Gagarin, the world's first space voyager, had no idea he was in orbit until a neighbor ran into their apartment and told her about his epic feat.

"I knew Yuri was preparing for an important assignment," Mrs. Valentina Gagarin told a Russian reporter Wednesday, "but he was afraid to upset me. This morning a neighbor—all joy and excitement—rushed in and told me to switch on the radio, which was transmitting the news about Yuri."

The 27-year-old Soviet air force major's first trip outside Russia turned out to be a history-making event—literally "out of this world."

Valentina listened all morning to the radio announcements of her husband's voyage. Neighbors dropped in to give the nervous wife cups of hot tea.

When news of her husband's safe landing was broadcast, Valentina grabbed her mother, who also lives in the apartment, kissed and hugged her joyously.

Still trembling from the excitement, the spaceman's wife happily watched pictures of her husband being flashed on the television screen.

Mrs. Gagarin, a 26-year-old mother of two girls, Yelena, 2, and Gayla, 1 month, was described by the Soviet news agency Tass as a "simple, modest young woman of medium height."

The couple live on the fifth floor of a new concrete apartment house in a special housing development for test pilots on the outskirts of Moscow.

Friends and neighbors said the Gagarins are a well-liked couple.

"She is a typical mother," said one friend with a smile. "She was very anxious and nervous throughout this flight. She kept worrying that her being upset would prevent her from nursing her baby."

Late Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Gagarin, her two daughters and her mother were whisked into Moscow by a government limousine to await the arrival of her husband, who was undergoing medical tests.

Gagarin's mother Anna, 58, also was brought in from her village in the Smolensk area for what was expected to be a joyful reunion with her son. A giant rally has been planned for the hero in Red Square, with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to welcome Gagarin.

"Yuri was an industrious, modest boy who studied well at school," the cosmonaut's father Aleksei Gagarin told Tass.

"He went in for sports and aircraft modeling. In his free time he could be seen making aircraft models or gliders. He liked to read books about fliers, books by Jules Verne, to dream of the time when man will fly to other planets."

The 28-year-old carpenter-joiner said he felt "great joy and pride" at his son's achievement.

Painted Negroes Kill

13 Europeans in Angola

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — Waves of Negroes with scarlet-painted faces attacked the Ucu district of Northern Angola Tuesday, killing at least 13 of the 20 European inhabitants, the Portuguese Lusitania news agency reported today.

The attack was discovered by a low-flying military plane that sighted bodies and burned houses.

Says Steel Agreement Hampers Competition

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Trade Commission examiner held Wednesday that 17 steel companies, including two in Michigan, maintained agreements which illegally hampered competition in the steel scrap industry.

Hearing examiner John Lewis recommended that the commission issue an order which would affect the scrap purchasing practices of the 17 steel producers, including the Detroit Steel Corp. and McCraith Steel Corp., both of Detroit.

Russians Win Race to Orbit, Reclaim Man

Let's give credit where credit is due.

The Soviet Union fired a man around the world three times and then reclaimed him from the vastness of outer space.

The Pontiac Press feels that Russia is the greatest disturbing influence in the world today. The head Red and his minions control 210 million people and constitute the greatest obstacle to world peace that exists on this earth.

And yet, they beat the United States in the race to place a man in orbit. They finished ahead and won an intense struggle that was watched all over the globe. We must salute their achievement and a "lingue of envy doesn't preclude proper recognition. Let's not kid ourselves. We tried to beat them.

Our special departments and our uncourted millions were poured into this lavish race without stint. It was an all out effort and no one tried to act as though it were something that we'd take in stride.

We poured it on. But the Russians won.

Frankly, The Press doubts whether this will constitute any great contribution to the advancement of man's happiness or over-all well-being. But it does give Russia added prestige and influence in the balance of the world. Let's face the facts, even if they're a bit uncomfortable.

Hats off to a great job, very neatly done.

Spring Is on Vacation for Area Residents

Local residents eager to sample the delights of warm weather have received the annual "brushback" pitch from spring—a snowball high and inside.

That's just to keep us all honest, and stifle the tendency to read early April calendar dates as late May. It prevents us from digging in at the plate to enjoy the end of winter.

A little snow, and temperatures that sulk in the thirties and refuse to accompany the sunny skies are really little deterrent. They just whet the appetite. The Tigers have arrived to wrest interest from the Red Wings, which is no easy job this year.

Season rushers, be not afraid. Just keep one hand on the golf jacket and the other on the top-coat.

Isn't Job of State Police to Show Anti-Red Films

Gov. JOHN SWAINSON is catching a lot of undeserved brickbats for his recent decision concerning state troopers showing anti-communism films. Much of the criticism is coming from people who have missed a very important point in the news stories of this controversy:

The Governor did not ban the films.

He did, however, order the state police to stop showing them. Gov. Swainson feels that it is not the function of the state police to be showing the movies, and with this, we agree. The state police have their hands full with crime and traffic problems.

If the service clubs, church societies and other groups want to show the films, let them go ahead. Both the film strip "Communism on the Map," which purports to show the rise of communism around the world, and "Operation Abolition," concerning riots at the House Un-

American Activities Committee session in San Francisco, are interesting. Four-hundred area residents turned out to see them.

But let's keep the troopers out of this line, busy where they are needed the most.

Texas Town Is Not as Badly Off as U.S.

Here's a self-written editorial which we reprint from the news columns:

In a telegraphed reply to an offer by Rep. Olin Teague, D-Tex., to ask for Federal funds to repair $750,000 worth of damage dealt the town Sunday night by a tornado, newspaper editor Russell Bryant, of Italy, Texas, wired: "City Council authorizes me to thank you for offer of Federal disaster funds. We feel the Federal Treasury is in worse shape than Italy, (Texas) and suggest that any allocation set up for us be applied to the national debt."

The Man About Town

In Murder Class Added Distinction Handed to Starters of Grass Fires

Tigers: Who made good in that first game for a cozy spot in the cellar.

A flood of requests continues to arrive, urging further warning about the starting of grass fires. The number of fire alarms for this reason is the largest in the history of the Pontiac area.

Most of our grassy plots and weed cover are ready to flame with the energy of a tinder box. This is caused by the absence of any deep snow during the past winter, so the ground is much more arid than usual. Melting snow is one of the best preventatives of grass fires.

Then there has been a scarcity of spring rains, and the drying sunshine and prevailing winds have added to the menace. The most vehement of the complaints comes from Bruce Melloy of Waterford. He points out that anybody who starts a grass fire is not only a member of the arson squad, but also is guilty of murder.

This assertion is made because the ground nesting birds have now laid their eggs, and in many cases the young birds have been hatched. A fire means the destruction of these eggs or the murder of the young birds.

It is claimed that the mother meadow lark, and some other varieties of birds, will not forsake the nest when the fire comes, but will allow themselves to be burned to death with it.

One irate man called up and said he felt that he had a perfect right to start a fire on his own property at any time he pleases, and that if we didn't have so many robins, he would have more cherries.

He is absolutely wrong, as an official permit is generally required before you can start a fire, even on your own property. And the robins do not nest on the ground anyway.

If everybody kept the intrinsic things of their own childhood and others like Mrs. L. R. Wyckoff of 2830 Franklin Road, we would not so often hear the remark: "I wish I had."

Some of the Pontiac barbers also are growing whiskers. That's what we call co-operation in a big way. But they'll have a big rush when the centennial is over.

With a Rochester postmark comes a letter from

"One Who Lost His Razor," who says he likes his whiskers so well that he may decide to keep them, "in spite of the itch."

After attending the opening game, the loyal Tiger fan,

Gene Maurer of Birmingham, says that Piersall showed some of the local nitwits what he thinks of them, and apparently highly enjoys the razing.

Shadow—And Substance

David Lawrence Says:

JFK Erred in Going Commercial

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy did Tuesday night on a television network what no other president of the United States has ever done—he participated in a program whose commercial sponsor urged the American people to buy its products.

The cost of the time used was not contributed by the television company, but was paid for by a toothpaste manufacturer.

Many observers felt that the dignity of the presidency was impaired when Kennedy appeared in a prerecorded and rehearsed program.

Five times the hour-long show was interrupted for commercial advertising of a toothpaste, and in the final section of the film, the President's picture was repeatedly used as a background for the presentation of the names of those who edited and produced the show—the television personnel of the program itself.

It will be argued that newspapers and other publications carry advertising matter alongside presidential pronouncements, but, in rebuttal, it must be said that no story of White House news is interrupted in the middle of a news column while the reader is told in the same column about the merits of a particular toothpaste.

The President sat at the table in the Cabinet room of the White House with a pile of photographs with him.

As he held them up for the viewer to see, the broadcasting company flashed them in full length on the screen. Kennedy then discussed each of his presidential assistants and also described the operations of his Cabinet.

Up to now, a president's appearances on television have been confined to the showing of his unheated press conferences or his public addresses or of pictures of spontaneous news events in which he happens to be participating.

There has been a tacit understanding with the broadcasting companies that presidential press conferences would not be commercially sponsored.

No prearranged show has ever been put on with a president in the manner of the Tuesday night performance.

Placing a president and his wife have every right to appear on television or to contribute articles to printed publications, selecting those they want to favor with exclusive stories.

It may sometimes be unwise politically to do so, but there's no practical argument against playing favorites, especially if it wins a plug needed perhaps for the next election.

Dr. Brueger did not mention smoking, and he suggested that in view of the nature of the trouble we adopt the term "obliterating thrombo-angiitis of the lower extremities."

Metropolitan physicians concluded that the disease was caused by excessive smoking.

But there is no question that the disease may occur in nonsmokers too.

In fact medical authorities are at all odds about it and some of them seem to resent the fact that Dr. Brueger brought the subject up in the first place.

STOP FOR LIFE

One authority declares that considerable relief occurs after a person with Brueger's disease stops smoking. A few days after he stops smoking, a few days, he must stop smoking, period for the rest of his life.

It is my belief—remember, I'm no authority—that the chief, if not the only, factor of the pathological effects of smoking is CO anoxia.

I believe, too, that it is hardest for a cigarette smoker to quit; no so hard for a cigar smoker; and easy for a pipe smoker to quit.

From all the reports I have seen in medical literature I infer that

Thus, the National Broadcasting Company commentator who narrated the program spoke of the reverses as well as the successes of the President in his first 32 days, but did insert a very nice plug for the Kennedy administration when he said:

"If you had to sum up in one word the general reaction to President Kennedy, it would have to be favorable."

"You could not say that Mr. Kennedy had electrified the country, but the public, from available evidence, approves of what he is doing, and appears to believe that, so far at least, he has been calm, competent and serious."

There was, to be sure, no financial compensation to President

Kennedy in connection with the television program.

But would it be proper for a president to accept compensation and donate it to charity?

It will be recalled that congressional hearings in 1937 revealed that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, while in the White House, had made a contract in 1935 for 10 radio broadcasts, for a total of approximately $30,000, which she had designated should go as contributions to charity.

At first, the Treasury did not consider these payments to be taxable to her, but in 1942 ruled that they should be included in her personal income, subject to deductions for charitable contributions within the legally specified limits.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Doesn't Smoke or Drink and Still Gets Brueger's

Here's a letter from a regular reader:

"Next Wednesday I'll be 79 and I have never taken the first drink. I have never used tobacco either."

"Recently you mentioned Brueger's disease as one of the conditions possibly caused by excessive smoking. This trouble has recently come to me."

"I call it painfully knowing when I walk a few blocks."

"Physicians say we can't do anything about it. Advise me not to fight it but just stop and rest when it comes. I know some men who have the same trouble can't walk a block."

"So you see, Brueger's disease can occur even though a man has never smoked or drank. . . (J. E. McL.)"

Brueger's disease is otherwise known as thrombo-angiitis obliterans, and Dr. Leo Brueger himself, describing the disease, favors the name "endarteritis obliterans."

Dr. Brueger's description is given in full in "Classic Descriptions of Disease," by Dr. Ralph Major.

Incidentally, Dr. Brueger did not mention smoking, and he suggested that in view of the nature of the trouble we adopt the term "obliterating thrombo-angiitis of the lower extremities."

Metropolitan physicians concluded that the disease was caused by excessive smoking.

But there is no question that the disease may occur in nonsmokers too.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Don't Let Bureaucrats Deny Rights

I saw the "banned" film on the spread of communism and am wondering who persuaded Governor Swainson to stop the state troopers from showing them. Examples were shown of both Protestant and Catholic periodicals as well as general press releases and radio personalities who had supported Castro and other Communists at one time and another. The only point that was made in showing these examples was that family doctors were amazed that any bureaucrat would try to oppose the chemical laws of the Al-mighty.

God put 44 water-soluble chemicals in our blood.

Yet this bureaucrat says our government "recognizes only 12."

Dr. James H. Shaw, famous Harvard biochemist, has identified 39 of these chemicals just in tooth enamel, dentin and bone.

But our government "recognizes only 12."

Over 4,000 doctors have eagerly written for the newspaper booklet named below and many are testing sea salt and ocean water on patients.

They and other biochemists know there have been some reason why God put 44 water-soluble chemicals in our blood.

Yet the government "recognizes only 12."

Freedom of the press and free speech are in dire jeopardy when any bureaucrats can try to brainwash our citizens and deny average folks the right to pass newspapers or newspaper booklets around among their neighbors.

The Pontiac Press has been covering the election returns for a long time, and has done a good job.

I would like to congratulate The Press and staff for the tremendous job they did in covering the biennial spring election. To have such wonderful coverage of the county and state, the staff must have worked hard, and the hours must have been long.

I can assure you that I appreciated reading all of the results of the election printed in a manner so that everyone could understand.

Readers Comment on Anti-Red Films

I have recently seen the movies "Communism on the Map," "The Crimson Shadow," "My Latvia," and "Operation Abolition." These four documentary movies should be made available to every person in the United States. To deny every American citizen to the crisis we are undergoing today is important not to be "stalled off" another moment.

Why are these movies not permitted to be shown to any organization, schools, clubs, etc., who wish to show them? Who in our government is afraid we will realize just how terrible communism is?

Our Un-American Activities Committee should act immediately on this situation. A crusade against communism must, and should be started.

Every Communist should be charged with treason against the United States, for they wish to destroy everything our forefathers have fought so hard to obtain for us.

Mrs. Elizabeth Buford 647 Hogarth

Governor Swainson claims the film "Operation Abolition" was distorted and inaccurate. J. Edgar Hoover said: "Immediately after the affair, the party's national leader, Gus Hall, congratulated the West Coast comrades for the initiative they displayed."

Seven clergymen who were at the hearings said: "Inasmuch as the Communist conspiracy has launched a massive attack to discredit this film, we, ministers who were eye witnesses to this horrifying development, feel it is our duty to certify that this film is a true and accurate representation."

Mayor Christopher of San Francisco said: "The pictures speak the truth. They are authentic."

The executive secretary of the Arkansas Council of Churches said: "I think the FBI and the American Un-American Activities Committee got together and subpoenaed a group of persons, hired a film company and then went to San Francisco to make a propaganda movie in an effort to help the committee get their financial appropriations."

We also, were sent to the Child Guidance Clinic to receive help. We were told it might be a year before they could look into our case. At the same time our child was turned out of school and could not return for the rest of the year.

I put our case up to the school superintendent and he conferred with two or three other school employees, one a psychiatrist, and we received help.

Our child is happy, back in school, and eager to bring his marks up higher each marking period. This treatment cost us quite an amount but we feel very penny was well spent.

'Should Pay People on School Board'

Mr. Oumun has been honored with a banquet for his years of service as a school board member to try and raise four scholarships worth $50 each. Pontiac citizens should be ashamed to ask their school board members to operate almost a $12 million business for nothing.

Why should a school board member be expected to work for nothing? You don't ask your city commission, county supervisors, or township trustees to do this work free. They get a salary for their services, and they don't have the responsibility the school board member has.

Dearborn pays their members $2,000 per year for their services. We don't even give gasoline money. Any man or woman is worthy of their hire. The school law provides to pay them by consent of the qualified voters. Let's get this on the ballot and at least pay them something.

However, "ESJ" cheer up! Sweden is still the cleanest country in the world.

first time that they can't demand the length of seasons they want bowlers to bowl. The lodge-podges among Pontiac area bowling alleys is a ridiculous insult to the average bowler in this area. It's great for the "money bowlers" but we aren't concerned with their plight.

Proprietors can promote "chances" and "giveaways" why can't they give the guy or gal who bowls just for fun, a break on the length of the season or the fees?

Proprietors are demanding leagues to bowl from 32 to 36 weeks. For some leagues who like to start their golf leagues and other summer activities in April and continue through September, 30 weeks is plenty. This is why many league bowlers quit leagues. They feel that 22 weeks remaining could be used for other activities.

The recent stories in The Press on the Pontiac area bowling situation had some good points. It's time area proprietors stop cut-throating and consider the bowlers.

Why don't the proprietors strive real soon for a Pontiac area ABC association? We don't need the Detroit ABC. We can't even have our own city championship because of the Detroit association.

The hospital is the proper place to have a baby. Would any husband, worthy of the name, shirk the duty of comforting and cherishing his wife even in a stillbirth? As I had my first baby at the age of sixteen and my husband eighteen, in a hospital, I cannot begin to tell the joy of having him there. We were only to have our little one for a few hours. He was with me for the second and third birth. When the fourth and fifth came, we were in Pontiac and they gave all kinds of silly reasons why I couldn't have him with me. Says Russ Will Be Able to Ruin West by Surprise

NEW YORK (UPI)—An American rocket expert said today Russia now has or soon will possess enough power to hurt a smashing nuclear-missile "Pearl Harbor" attack at the United States and its allies.

In a new book, "Soviet Space Technology," Alfred J. Zaehring would be a "time on target" operation, with launch times staggered so that all of its targets, no matter how far from Russia, would be blasted at virtually the same instant.

Zaehring emphasized that he has no information indicating that the Russians plan such an attack.

The author, who runs the American Rocket Co. in Wyandotte, Mich., has been a close student of Russian rocketry since 1952.

He says Russia's operational missiles are not greatly superior to similar U.S. weapons — but 10 to 20 times as many Soviet rockets are ready for action.

His estimates Zaehring estimated that the Russian arsenal now includes: 100 to 200 intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBM) emplaced on Soviet bases and "mostly aimed at America." Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has said 250 of these weapons are being produced each year.

—About 330 intermediate range ballistic missiles (IRBM), now largely menacing U.S. allies in Europe, the Middle East and Asia, Zaehring says, however, that "the existence of (such missiles) . . . in, say, Cuba would pose an extremely serious threat to the United States."

—An undetermined number of IRBMs and "cruise" missiles (pilotless planes) adapted for launching from submarines. Information on this type of weapon is very meager, but Zaehring believes the program is well advanced.

Students Aided by New York

State Votes $100-$800 Grants for Many Who Go to College

ALBANY, N.Y. (U) — New York State will begin paying annual tuition grants of $100 to $800 next February to college students.

Nearly every New Yorker attending a private college within the state, and some attending the public colleges, are eligible.

The so-called scholar-incentive program became law Tuesday when Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller affixed his signature to the bill sent him by the 1961 legislature.

Rockefeller also signed other higher-education bills providing for more research scholarships and an expanded loan program for college students.

Illinois Village Begins Election on Wrong Day

ST. DAVID, Ill. (U) — "The less said about it, the better," Mayor Don Bina said of Tuesday's village election. But it wasn't the result of the voting that bothered the mayor.

St. David residents aren't supposed to have their election until next Tuesday.

The error wasn't discovered until noon, when 80 voters already had come to the town's one polling place. A salesman passing through commented that most towns in the area aren't voting until next week.

The polls closed early and voters were told to come back again next week. Bina is unopposed for reelection as mayor of St. David, a village of 862 south of Canton.

Looks for Flaws a Loving Owner Would Miss

Drives 20 Cars Per Week on Quality Audit

By BEN PILEGAS
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — Four times a day, five days a week, Adam Aguirre takes possession of a spanking new Cadillac which he personally selects off the assembly line.

For 30 minutes, Aguirre, who takes home $12 a week and drives a Ford in his off hours, plays the role of a severe critic of these $6,000 chariots. He is expected to look for flaws even a most loving owner wouldn't notice.

Working from a three-page, single-spaced list of 154 items, he subjects the car to a detailed visual inspection, then whips it over a 25-mile stretch of free-way, hilly pavement and check-hole-filled side streets.

Every detected flaw must be noted — inferior, minor, major, serious or critical. Aguirre must be specific. If the dashboard rattles he has to say where the rattle is. Do the tires ride smooth? Is there wind noise with the windows closed?

In the end Aguirre submits a written report, takes a break and picks another car.

A QUALITY AUDIT
All of this is a part of the auto industry's intensified quality program. At Cadillac it is called a quality audit and about one of every 20 cars is so examined.

Aguirre is one of a small group of trained men who work under supervisor Paul Taylor. Overall boss of the project is E. D. Solms, director of reliability for Cadillac.

"We want to see how we are doing," Solms explains. "If we find something wrong we trace it right to the source. Was it the fault of a supplier, of our manufacturing, of our assembly operation, or what? Then we can get it corrected. The place to fix problems is where they occur. We think it is the only way we can insure consistently good quality."

Solms says his program was tailored specifically for Cadillac. "We knew our setup and what we wanted to achieve. I frankly don't know if it would work for anyone else."

Aguirre says his work "kind of spells me out as to drive my own car." But he is obviously enthusiastic about his job, an enthusiasm evident throughout Taylor's department.

Working deftly, Aguirre begins his check with a test of the horn buttons for possible dead spots.

Every light, every lever, every power gadget is checked in operation. Trim is examined. Upholstery is scrutinized.

Aguirre, in checking lock buttons, door closing and trunk operation, said, "We work to a woman's touch. It must be easy enough for her to do."

The under-the-hood inspection includes 30 items. Then an under-body check of 48 more.

The road test itself has 25 specific points, involving 68 operations to be examined, such as steering, brakes, air conditioning, transmission shift points.

Solms emphasizes the audit is not an attempt to correct minor problems on a specific car. Rather, it serves as a check on the entire car-building process.

"If something major is found we can get back to the exact point involved in 30 minutes," he said.

"You have to build the quality into the car in the first place."

$99 FOR SERVICE
Included in the price of each Cadillac is a minimum of $99 for such service, meaning the factory have had no mechanical problems.

Charles Dalquist Jr., a Detroit Cadillac dealer, says he likes the factory interest in quality "although this has always been a good car."

"Certainly since December we have had no mechanical problems."

Fined Electrical Firms Say Such Action Would Violate Jury Secrecy

PHILADELPHIA (U)—Four states and 1,257 municipalities asked a federal judge today to make available to them a list of subpoenas issued by grand juries in the giant electrical equipment antitrust case.

Some of the electrical firms involved in the case and a number of individuals argued against release of the subpoenas, asserting it would violate the secrecy of grand jury proceedings.

The arguments were made before Judge J. Collins Gandy of the U.S. District Court here. Gandy two months ago fined 20 electrical companies and 44 of their executives $1,000,000 for price fixing and bid rigging. He sentenced seven of the executives to 30 days in jail.

The states — California, Minnesota, Pennsylvania and New York — said they wanted to examine the subpoenas to determine what civil claims, if any, they might have against the electrical companies.

They were joined by the national institute of municipal law officers, representing 1,257 municipalities and the cities of Philadelphia and Chicago.

All purchased electrical equipment from the companies during the general period of the antitrust conspiracy.

The U.S. corn belt includes Iowa and Illinois and parts of Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Ohio, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Gives Credit to Marriage

Gary Crosby a Changed Man

By BOB THOMAS
AP Wirephoto Writer

HOLLYWOOD — A changed man is Gary Crosby.

You can sense it just talking to him. The words flow freely. There is none of the doubt and suspicion that were once displayed by the first-born of Bing's boys.

He admits that change himself. "I was always fighting," he says. "I blamed myself for everything that went wrong. What brought about the change? A series of physical reversals—plus love and marriage."

THOMAS Two years ago, the four Crosby opened their night club act in Las Vegas. Gary's drive helped make the debut a success. But the tension continued on their nationwide tour, and he suffered a series of colds and throat ailments.

ACT BREAKS UP "By the time we reached Montreal, I was screaming — running my voice by singing in my throat instead of lower, as singers are supposed to do," he recalled.

Montreal was the end of the line. The act broke up and came home. Gary vehemently denied that there had been any fights among the brothers, as had been reported in the press.

"My doctor told me not to use my voice for five months or I wouldn't have any," Gary said. "So for five months I didn't go out of my house. I told the brothers it was ridiculous to wait around for me; they were working well together and should go on as a trio. They did, and it turned out fine."

Gary recovered and began taking vocal lessons to use his voice correctly. "Every singer should, except my dad — he's the greatest natural singing talent in the world," said Gary.

He had his own success in night clubs as a singer. But illness struck again. On two occasions he lost the use of his legs. Then one day at his Hollywood home, he was unable to move. He was rushed to the hospital almost completely paralyzed. Quick treatment saved his life. Cause of the attack: long use of the wrong diet pills.

Gary freely admits the turning

Okays $20 Million to Fight Delinquency

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Wednesday passed a bill authorizing $20 million in federal grants to combat juvenile delinquency.

The measure, passed by voice vote, now goes to the House. Last year the Senate passed a virtually identical bill but the House took no action on it.

It authorizes grants of $2.5 million a year for four years for pilot projects to improve methods for the prevention, control and treatment of juvenile delinquency. A like amount is authorized for training personnel.

point in his life came when he plucked Barbara Stuart from a Las Vegas chorus line to be his bride.

"It made all the difference in the world," he said. "What good is doing a great show if you come home to an empty room? She gave me something to work for. She has a great sense of humor and keeps me on an even keel. She also has a promising record, which is catching on in the East."

The title may have some significance in the life of Gary Crosby: "You're nobody till somebody loves you."

Gary believes now he can reach his longtime ambition of becoming "an all-around entertainer in every field." He has two pictures coming out soon. He has night club dates to fill his summer. He has a promising record, which is catching on in the East.

Previously Nixon was reported to have sought a place on a program at a $100-a-plate dinner here the same day. The dinner here will honor Republicans

Ike Approves Nixon for Western Dinner

WASHINGTON (U) — Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton said today former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had approved a June 1 appearance by former Vice President Richard M. Nixon at a Los Angeles party rally.

Previously Nixon was reported to have sought a place on a program at a $100-a-plate dinner here the same day. The dinner here will honor Republicans members of Congress and raise funds for the party.

Those arranging the Washington dinner had insisted that Eisenhower be the only speaker.

Morton said Eisenhower and Nixon, whom the former president contends now is titular head of the party, had talked the matter over Tuesday in California.

Co-joined twins derived the name "Siamese" from Chang and Eng Bunker who were born at Bangassu, Siam, April 15, 1811. At the age of 32 they married sisters and fathered 10 and nine children respectively. They died within three hours of each other in 1874.

Firms Are Talking Themselves Into Better Business

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK—Better times ahead are the soothing words being passed out these days at many stockholders meetings.

The annual gatherings of the owners of American businesses are in full swing. In many cases, soothing words are needed. Some meetings are seeing, and more will see, bitter fights on management by dissidents who say they could do better.

Many others are hearing sobering accounts of shrinking profit margins last year. They are being warned that profit and loss statements on operations in the first three months of this year often will make a sad showing against year ago figures when it was nowhere to go but up.

corporate affairs had yet to feel the recession.

But running like a conning dressed through the opening speeches of many company executives to the stockholders is the assurance: The worst is over, we'll look better from now on.

Part of this optimism is based on internal housekeeping. Many companies have cut costs or modernized equipment so that plants can now operate more profitably. And many have perked up their sales departments so that outlook for orders is much better.

Many of the optimism is based on the general expectation of a pickup in business activity. Many stockholders are being told there is nowhere to go but up.

Stock market activity is drawn on heavily in these arguments as indicating there is a better tone in public opinion. And that is a prime factor in the health of most companies.

Stockholders are also being told that however they may regard the new climate in Washington, the efforts at pump priming are likely to have some effect before many more months. And the prospect of more of the same to come will affect both business and consumer planning.

And any company providing one or more of the endless products used in the many phases of national defense can at least hope for more orders.

The Soviet triumph in orbiting a man around the earth seems sure to loosen congressional pursestrings even more. The race to catch up with and surpass the Russians, when a more spending—dollars, means more spending—certainly not less.

One president says, "The feeling of gloom has given way to buoyancy." A sales finance firm believes reviving consumer confidence should mean a 10 per cent rise in its profits this year. A soft drink firm blames bad weather for first quarter results but sees better and thirstier days ahead.

And another in the same business looks for big things from its expansion overseas.

Several steel executives see profits due to rise as business picks up from now on. A supplier of the alloy, molybdenum, expects substantial profit gains. Copper executives who have been downcast are reported in much happier frame of mind as they prepare to face the stockholders.

Stockholders, of course, are used to a good supply of optimism at their spring meetings. The season has something to do with it. And management likes to show its best side to the owners, whether contented or grouching.

But this year management can point to a lot of fellow optimists. If the nation can talk itself into a good recovery, now's the time. End adv by News 1961 April 13

Saddlemakers Still Hang On

Fading Industry Keeps Going in City 'Where the West Begins'

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—In a few small shops, where the pungent aroma of fine leather hangs heavy in the air, a handful of western craftsmen continue to work at an art that will endure as long as man prizes fine horsemanship. They are the saddlemakers—a dwindling class, even in this city with the title "Where The West Begins."

Three Fort Worth firms specialize in fine, handmade saddles. They are Ledy Bros., L. White Boot and Saddle Shop, and Nobby Harness Co., Inc.

Most of the saddles made by these firms are of special order for customers who may choose from a wide variety of sizes, types and shapes to suit themselves and their horses.

After the design is selected, the saddlemakers go to work tooling, shaping and tacking the leather to saddletrees. Their end product: An "easy chair" for horseback riders.

The saddle leather is tooled with intricate designs as desired by the buyer. Ledy Bros. recently sold two saddles that also featured green leather seats and white and brown unborn calf leather skirts and fenders.

Frank Ledy, who established this company 20 years ago, has devised several innovations that are exclusive with his firm.

One is called "Bo-Pa-Ride." It features a half bearing mounting that permits a free-swinging forward action in the saddle.

Another is his "Feather," a hornless compact saddle that weighs only 15 pounds compared with 35 pounds for conventional saddles. Ledy said he designed the "Feather" for women and children, but the saddle has become popular with men.

He's Very Careful in Picking His Words

Ex-Mayor of Berlin Strives to Alter Image of Reich

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Dr. Ferdinand Friedensburg, mayor of Berlin during the blockade and airlift, has been in the United States for a couple of weeks feeling the American pulse on the Eichmann business.

He has made an interim report to his old friend Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, but he was in search of more symptoms when he was dropped by the Overseas Press Club the other night in the tow of another cherished acquaintance, Louis Lochner.

We asked him what Adenauer was going to do when, inevitably, it is brought out at the Jerusalem trial that the chancellor's No. 1 aide, Otto Globke, also participated officially at least in "the final solution of the Jewish question."

Dr. Friedensburg, who was imprisoned by the Nazis and, after World War II, driven out of office by the Communists, permitted himself the luxury of a sigh.

"It can be a relief to have been declared an enemy by both Nazis and Communists," he said. "It makes life less complicated in these times. Yes, there will be much said about Globke. I hope both sides of him will be examined. He was never a member of the Nazi party. He helped many Jews. The Catholic Church in Germany, both anti-Nazi and anti-Communist, has given him a clean bill of health. He is the target largely of Communists."

The old gentleman chose his words carefully. "And there is this: Adenauer is not an easy man with people who work with him. He wants and gets efficiency. Globke has done excellent work for Adenauer for years. He has a great loyalty to Adenauer, and Adenauer respects him for that."

"Perhaps today, with the Eichmann trial being held, the chancellor would not make the appointment of Globke. But you must remember that when Globke was hired there was no such feeling.

Adenauer is a determined, a strong man. I believe I know him well enough to say that he feels if he should dismiss Globke at this point, and after so much loyal service to a democratic Germany, he would be yielding to Communist pressures — and he just won't do that."

DISCUSSES IMAGE
Dr. Friedensburg, originally an economics professor and now a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the West German Bundestag, spoke with disarming frankness about what he felt was a change in U.S.-West German relations. West Germany's remarkable economic recovery and the Eichmann case are the causes, he feels.

"If Eichmann had been caught, tried and executed 10 or 15 years ago, it would have raised no grave problems," he said. "Germany was poverty-stricken, hungry. There was everywhere a desire to help her. Now she is nearly a bit rich. There is no longer a need of sympathy toward the defeated. West Germany is a competitor for world markets."

"It is in this changed climate that our chancellor has come here. You have a fine new administration which is reappraising our relations with us and the rest of the world."

"Perhaps my chancellor would prefer an embrace from his old friend Dulles. He has worked so hard for a democratic Germany. Now he will find during his stay your newspapers and radio and television filled with Eichmann, who represented all we fought against."

"We'll be so sorry if the respect built up for us in America and the world is now impaired. Please don't lose your confidence in us."

The professor was questioned rather sharply on whether West Germany has done enough to tell its youth the Nazi story.

"I am on the youth committee."

tee of the Christian Democrat party and have helped the distribution of films of the extermination camps to youth groups everywhere," he said.

"It is true that some young Germans know little of what happened under Hitler. It is hard for a nation to live with a bad conscience.

"A father who believed in Hitler is inclined to tell his boy to shut up and not speak of the past. But we do what we can."

The Eichmann trial will help in this respect, though it will hurt for 400 ocean-going ships at us otherwise if there is no effective time.

made to tell the world that these things could not happen in West Germany today — any more than there could be a blockade of West Berlin."

The New York Harbor has facilities for 400 ocean-going ships at

Beard Needs Style to Be Centennial Standout

Chin Whisker Prizes Limited to Categories

By PETE LOCHMILLER

Like many centennial celebrators, Monroe M. Osmun has made the big decision. Last week he began fostering a centennial beard.

Now comes the next crossroad: what style beard? Centennial headquarters has some helpful answers for the board of education president and others within the ranks of the Brothers of the Brush.

The accompanying pictures of Osmun wearing beards of several styles serve as illustrations.

A big consideration, for beard-

Reuther to Talk at Kiwanis Tuesday Noon

Several hundred business and professional men in the Pontiac area are expected to gather here Tuesday to hear AFL-CIO President Walter Reuther. Reuther will be the guest speaker at noon when the Pontiac Kiwanis Club meets in the Elks Temple. Members of various other local service clubs have been invited to attend.

The controversial Reuther has not announced what his topic will be.

Observers here believe his topic may concern the union head's recent announcement that the UAW will maintain "maximum flexibility" in forthcoming negotiations with automobile manufacturers and that the emphasis will be placed upon improving security status.

Arrangements for Reuther's appearance here have been made by Kiwanis President B. R. Eastridge and Gordon Lowe, program chairman.

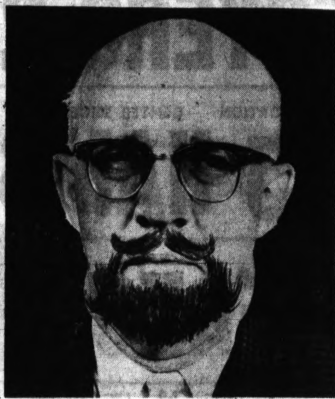

Mayor Philip E. Rowston, as a member of the Kiwanis' business and public affairs committee, will introduce Reuther.

Dykstra Traditional—No Middle Name

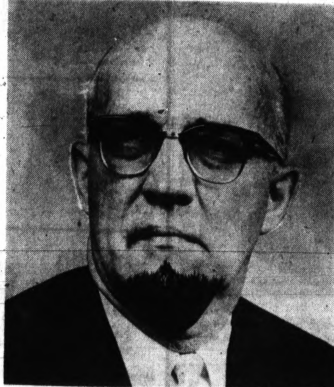

DETROIT (AP)—John Dykstra is the fourth of six presidents of the Ford Motor Co., with no middle name or initial.

The only exceptions have been the first president, John S. Gray, and Robert Strange McNamara, who served for two months last year before becoming secretary of defense.

The other presidents — Henry Ford, his son Edsel and his grandson, Henry II.

Black-Top Delay Hits Sylvan Lake

Sylvan Lake will proceed with its black-top program this year, but not exactly as planned.

At last night's Sylvan City Council meeting it was disclosed that the city would not attempt a storm drain project on Woodland and Lakeland streets this year.

The two streets are the only ones in the paving program that do not have storm drainage or the minimum grade required for open ditches to function properly.

Ditches must be installed before the streets can be black-topped. Therefore, Woodland and Lakeland will not be surfaced this summer as previously scheduled.

Open ditches have been ruled out since they would have to reach a depth of four feet to be effective. The storm drain would cost approximately $25,000. Councilmen felt the city's cost could not be handled by the proposed budget for 1961-62.

There was also considerable opposition from property owners who would have to pay special assessments for both black topping and the drainage project at the same time.

The second stage of the city's three-year black-top program this summer is estimated to cost $40,000.

A public hearing on the intent to establish a special assessment district has been scheduled for April 19 at city hall.

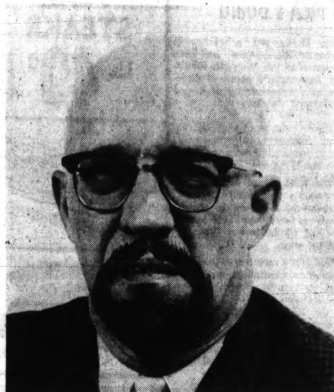

Streets to be black-topped this summer include Garland Avenue, Pontiac Drive to city limits, Benvenue Street, Avondale to Garland; Central Street, Benvenue to Garland; and Parkway Avenue, Maplewood to Inverness.

Others are Oakwood, Rosedale and Maplewood streets, from Pontiac Drive to Garland.

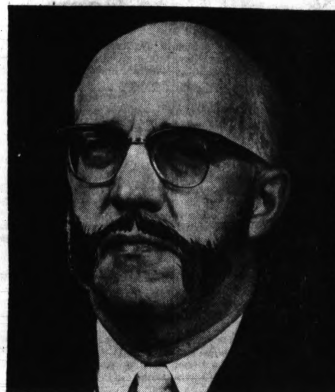

Civic Advisory Group Will Meet at Airport

Pontiac Municipal Airport's expanded facilities will be a highlight of the upcoming quarterly meeting of the Civic Improvement Advisory Committee.

The 78-member group, appointed by the City Commission, will hold its second meeting of the year in the airport terminal building. The meeting time is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. April 27.

A halo beard, ironically, gives Osmun a grim look.

Shelly Library Extends Hours

Demand Causes Doors to Stay Open 'til 8 P.M. for Four Evenings

Beginning Monday, the Adah Shelly Branch Library, 251 E. Rundle St., will be open 48 hours a week, eight more than at present.

Phyllis Pope, city librarian, said the hours have been increased to meet mounting demands for library use. The new hours:

Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays — 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Saturdays — 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The branch will continue to be closed Wednesdays.

At present, the library is open noon to 8 p.m. Mondays and Fridays; and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Thus the library will be open at 10 a.m. five days a week and will remain open until 8 p.m. four days a week.

The branch has almost doubled its annual circulation of books since opening in March 1955. That year circulation was 22,381.

In 1956, during the first full year of operation, circulation reached 29,354. Miss Pope reported, increasing steadily ever since, it was 33,959 last year, she said.

From 1955 through last year there were a total 193,107 books circulated from the branch, Miss Pope said.

Call It The Wisner News

Boys Turn Out Paper

By JOE SINGLETON

"It said that come Spring, a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of baseball."

Not exactly so for 16-year-old Michael Kittl and 15-year-old Thomas Shepherd, both fourth graders at Wisner Elementary School.

Although both youngsters are sports enthusiasts, their thoughts, at least twice weekly, turn to meeting the deadline for their own newspaper, The Wisner News.

The sons of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shepherd, 54 Summit St., and Mrs. Joseph Kittl, 115 Summit St., these two youngsters got the idea for their newspaper several months ago.

Armed with two typewriters and issues of The Pontiac Press, these newshawks present a pretty accurate picture of local and national news events to their classmates.

"Since it is not possible for us to take pictures and print them in our paper, we just clip pictures out of The Pontiac Press and paste them in our paper," Michael explained.

"After we paste them in, we then type what it says under the picture," Thomas explained.

Asked how they picked the pictures to clip, the boys explained that they choose the ones which they think will be most interesting for their classmates.

"Our fourth-grade teacher, Mrs. Florence Price, lets us display our newspaper on the bulletin board," the boys added.

Michael and Thomas also boast of carrying a comic section in their newspaper.

Rounding out the features in the paper, these young journalists carry little interesting items or fillers. For instance, in their April 11, "Four Star Press Edition" is the note:

"Remember only 219 shopping days until Christmas."

Not only do the interests of these young men lie in the newspaper field, but also in many other activities, including that of getting top grades in their school work.

A good example of this is Michael's ability to interrupt his newspaper work, play a few selections on the organ, and then continue to knock out that "hot" story.

Thomas displays his musical skills by playing in the school band.

"Sometimes they get in the way with their typewriters, scissors, and paste clippers up the dining room table," states Mrs. Kittl, "but we give them as much encouragement as we possibly can because we think this project has helped them tremendously."

Asked which of them is editor, both boys replied proudly: "We're both publishers, editors and reporters."

"HERE'S A LATE-BREAKING STORY"—Two Summit Street youngsters, Thomas Shepherd (left) and Michael Kittl are busy putting together an issue of The Wisner News which they prepare for their classmates. Sons of the Joseph Kittl and Earl Shepherds, the youngsters are fourth-graders at the Wisner Elementary School.

GAZING AT GOTHAM—Sir Winston Churchill points from his chair on the deck of the yacht Christina in the Hudson River at New York Wednesday. The yacht belongs to Greek shipping magnate Aristotele Onassis (left). The woman is unidentified.

Had Short NY Visit

Churchill Goes Home

NEW YORK (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill flies to Britain today, carrying with him the good wishes of this part of the English-speaking world.

The former British prime minister, 86, arrived here Wednesday from a Caribbean cruise aboard shipping magnate Aristotele Onassis' yacht, Christina.

As the craft moved into the harbor, it was greeted by whistles and salutes from other ships. Four police helicopters hovered above. Fireboats sent sprays of water into the air in greeting, as crowds ashore waved a fond welcome to the old warrior.

Sir Winston, wearing a yachting cap and brown fur-collared trench coat, waved a fat cigar and gave New York the V-for-victory sign that he made famous. In deference to his age and condition, there was little of a formal nature on the agenda for Churchill's visit.

Caribbean-Type Farewell Party Thrown by Ike

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Calypso rhythms wafted on the desert air from the Eisenhower cottage Wednesday night as the former President and his wife threw a farewell party.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Mamie end their vacation here Friday. They leave for Eisenhower's farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

The party was in Caribbean motif with a native band from Trinidad playing for a dozen guests.

Apprentice shop-fitter Roy Manning, demolishing an old glass shop in Melbourne's Royal Arcade, found a battered cookie jar under the floor. He threw it out on

Clinic Admits It Erred in Letting 'Sniper' Out

Authorities at the Lafayette Clinic in Detroit, where Oakland County's mad sniper, 24-year-old Gary A. Taylor, had been undergoing psychiatric care, today admitted they erred in granting him limited freedom.

Taylor, who confessed in 1957 that he was the mad sniper who had been terrorizing women in Oakland County, mostly in the Royal Oak area, for two months by taking potshots at them with a .22-caliber rifle, slashed two women in Detroit Monday night.

While still an in-patient at the clinic, Taylor had been permitted to leave there two or three nights a week to attend classes in a nearby high school, it was learned today.

Unknown to clinic authorities at the time, Taylor had rented a room at the home of Mrs. Addie Dixon in Detroit at the beginning of the week.

Yesterday Detroit police said Taylor admitted slaying Mrs. Dixon and her 30-year-old daughter with a machete because they refused to give him money.

The two women suffered superficial cuts before the heavy jungle knife broke in his hands and he held by Detroit police. Dr. Elliot D. Luby, chief of the clinic's adult in-patient section, said he and other psychiatrists at the clinic decided almost three months ago that "if any help was to be given this boy, we'd have to loosen up for him."

GOES TO CLASSES

Subsequently, he was permitted to leave the clinic several nights each week to attend school.

"It was a mistake on our part," Dr. Luby admitted today.

Taylor was transferred to the clinic from Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane in November 1959 over the protests of the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office.

"He's still dangerous and should be confined under maximum security conditions," Assistant Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry Jr. said at the time.

Circuit Court Judge Frank Doty had Taylor, who was termed insane by psychiatrists at a pretrial hearing, committed to Ionia Hospital. The judge refused repeated recommendations later that Taylor be released as cured.

Ionia State Hospital authorities arranged for Taylor's transfer to the clinic due to "overcrowded conditions."

In April 1960 Dr. Luby predicted that at least another year of treatment was in store for Taylor. He is being held in the Wayne County Jail today pending action by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office.

When apprehended in Oakland County in 1957, Taylor said, "I had a compulsion to shoot at women."

At least 13 cases of women being shot by a phantom sniper had been reported over the previous two months, Taylor admitted firing at three of them. Two were wounded.

COOLEY'S DAUGHTER AT FUNERAL—Melody Cooley (center), 14-year-old daughter of Spade Cooley, sobs as she is assisted from a funeral home in a Los Angeles suburb, following funeral service for her mother, Ella Mae Cooley. She was found dead in her home last week. Cooley, former radio and TV star, has been charged with suspicion of murder in the case.

Ambassadors Tour U. of M., Hear Swainson

ANN ARBOR, (AP)—A tour of a new University of Michigan engineering laboratory—designed as one of the world's most advanced—was to be part of a campus tour today by Michigan's industrial ambassadors.

The tour was to follow the annual luncheon meeting of the group, at which Gov. John B. Swainson spoke on Michigan's "present and future industrial greatness," and presented an award to Ford Motor Co., Vice President Merritt D. Hill.

Hill, general manager of the firm's Tractor and Implement Division, was honored for his three years as the group's head. He was succeeded two months ago by Roblee D. Martin of Ann Arbor, president of the Dundee Cement Co.

The campus tour was to include a general viewing of the U. of M. research facilities which officials believe are destined to play prominent roles in the state's economic future.

Where will you find a handsomer hardtop than this Impala Sport Sedan!

MORE PEOPLE ARE BUYING CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

When one car outsells all the rest the way this new Chevy is doing—there's got to be a reason. And we can think of some pretty good ones. Chevy's clean-etched looks, for example. The tasteful interior of its finely crafted Body by Fisher. The eager brand of "git" that's under the hood. The easy way it handles. The precise way it steers. Plus the added advantage of extra-cost options like triple-turbine Turbohydride.

But to sample all these reasons together, you have to get a Chevrolet out on the road. And there, you see, is where that Jet-smooth ride takes over with its own gentle kind of persuasion. If you weren't absolutely sure it was a Chevy, you'd imagine you were riding in a far costlier car.

Chevrolet's all-around motoring 'value' was again demonstrated in competition when Chevrolet was awarded the 1961 Pure Oil Safety and Performance Award for the 2nd straight year at Daytona Beach. No wonder people are buying more Chevrolets than any other make! Chevy's got more of what it takes to please people!

*Official R. L. Polk & Co. registration figures show full-sized Chevrolets outside the second-choice make by a record-breaking margin in 1960—and these Jet-smooth Chevies continue to set the pace for the industry this year!

U.S. Astronaut Will Have Fleet of Copilots to Help

By STANLEY HALL
United Press International

KOKEE, Hawaii (UPI) — Only one of the seven U.S. astronauts can make that first trip into orbit, but the others will be serving as landlocked copilots to help him all the way.

The six who—like the astronaut—will be trained for three years for the trip three times around the world will be stationed at strategically located tracking stations over the globe.

One of them will be here at this National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) tracking station halfway up a 5,000-foot mountain on the island of Kauai.

Others will be watching instruments simulating the ones in the tiny capsule from stations at Point Arguello, Calif.; Bermuda, Woomera, Australia, and Cape Canaveral, Fla., where two astronauts will be stationed.

These stations—like nine others—will be able to talk by radio with the astronaut. But these differ in that they will have what amounts to copilots standing by to help out.

CAN OVERRIDE GEAR
These five stations also have the ability to track the capsule as it whips over the earth at 18,000 miles an hour. They also have equipment to "override" the automatic gear in the capsule and bring the astronaut down at any time should there be trouble.

Joining the astronaut as these five stations will be two other experts, especially trained just for the orbital flights. They are an aerospace medical officer and a capsule specialist.

The astronaut serving at each station will watch the performance and condition of both the man and the capsule.

The doctor is to watch only the man, checking his heart rate, pulse, temperature and respiration with dials and gauges showing information radioed from the capsule.

The capsule specialist is to check the condition of the capsule both inside and out, including its temperature, attitude, stability and the environment inside the capsule.

At each of these five key tracking stations there is a red rectangular handle on which is written "May day—emergency." If at any time the astronaut pilot, the medical officer or the capsule expert deems it necessary, a quick tug on the handle will send the capsule back toward earth.

PLANS FOR CAPSULE
If all goes well on the flight, present plans call for the capsule to begin its descent to earth somewhere between this station and Ft. Arguello, 2,200 miles away on the mainland.

This would put the capsule back into the Atlantic a few hundred miles from its starting point at Cape Canaveral.

"We hope we'll never have to use that red May day handle," said a spokesman here, "but we like to know we have it if necessary."

The capsule could be landed in the Pacific, the Indian or Atlantic ocean should something go wrong. Rescue crews will be alerted along the astronaut's path during the flight.

This station cost $7 million. The other five cost about the same, a NASA spokesman said, except Cape Canaveral, which cost much more since it is the control center for the entire flight.
Another key function of this setting of the automatic timer is that it initiates the capsule's descent. Under present plans, Kokee (pronounced ko-kyay) will be the last station to have a chance to adjust the timer, to make sure the descent starts at the right place so the capsule won't hit land, before it starts plunging down in a long flat arc.

But this timer is overridden by the small red handle that is prominent on each copilot's instrument panel. Chances are, if the timer should fail, it would be Kokee that would start the astronaut back to safety.

Baptist Missionary Family

Back Safe From Congo

GRAND RAPIDS (U-P) — A Baptist missionary family has returned safely to Grand Rapids from danger-filled Kivu Province of the African Congo.

Vern Terpetra; his wife Bonnie; their three children, Ben, 6, Kathy, 4 and James, 3; and Terpetra's sister Joan left their station March 23 after harassment by Congolese soldiers intensified. Earlier last March three Terpetras group decided to leave its Kumbia Station under the protection of the Malaysian United Nations patrol.

Terpetra said rabble elements of Congolese soldiers made several forays into the missionary station trying to obtain gasoline and food, but did not back their demands with direct threats.

They implied violence by stroking their throats with forefingers, he added.

The missionary, who served nine years in the Congo, said "complete anarchy" prevails in Kivu Province.

The nine stations making up the rest of the network have only voice communications with the astronaut. They are in South Africa, Canton Island, Guaymas, Mexico; White Sands, N.H.; Elgin Air Force Base, Fla.; England, West Africa, and aboard two tracking ships.

The principal pirate strongholds of the old Spanish Main—the Caribbean of the 17th and 18th centuries—were Jamaica, the Bahamas and Tortuga.

Pennsylvania Ford Plant Is Sold for $2.2 Million

DEARBORN (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. said Wednesday it has sold its Chester, Pa., auto assembly plant to Reynolds Metals Co. for $2.2 million.

Ford discontinued operations at the facility March 15.

Reynolds said it would use the one-story building as a fabricating facility.

U.S. Buttons Up on Soviet Space Shots

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration is keeping a tight lip on information about Soviet space shots and Pentagon officials said today the aim is to avoid giving the Soviets an idea of the effectiveness of U.S. tracking facilities and intelligence.

Officials, who told this to a reporter, said another purpose was to deny the Soviets what was termed advertising on their space achievements.

A Defense Department spokesman said that among other things, there would be no public disclosure when U.S. tracking stations pick up a Soviet rocket launching until after the Soviet announcement if themselves.

The policy was developed in meetings among officials of the Defense departments, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Central Intelligence Agency, officials said. They indicated it might possibly be changed at some future time.

EXTENSION OF POLICY
The policy was described as an extension of one formed late in the Eisenhower administration. NASA then was assigned as the outlet for unclassified orbital information on satellites.

There was considerable confusion Wednesday when newsmen sought information from NASA on the Soviet manned space craft.

Space agency officials said they had been tracking an object in the approximate path of the vehicle, but that it presumably was the burned out casing of the rocket that carried the craft into orbit.

The first contact they reported came some hours after the Soviets said their cosmonaut had returned to earth in his capsule.

At the White House, Pierre Salinger, the press secretary, said he had a report of a contact at a time just after the space craft had passed over the Asian land mass, Salinger said it was his understanding "it was the space ship that was tracked."

Salinger told newsmen his information came from sources other than the space agency.

To newsmen, this pointed to the Pentagon, since the Navy and Air Force do most of the tracking work.

SOURCE A MYSTERY
Only then did the Pentagon say it had been aware, in advance of the Soviet announcement, that there had been a Soviet space launching. But it would not say how the information was obtained.

Late in the afternoon, a NASA spokesman said he had learned that the capsule as well as the rocket case had been tracked, although not by NASA's own stations. The vehicle, he said, was tracked by "other facilities available to the government," presumably a reference to Defense Department trackers.

During the past several days, while rumors of a Soviet man-in-space shot were growing, newsmen sought to find out whether any Soviet instrument ships had been spotted in the Pacific, a possible sign that some Soviet space try was in the wind.

While this information had been given freely in the past, the Navy this time declined comment. And even after the man-in-space feat had been announced by Moscow, the Pentagon still refused to say whether such ships were in the Pacific.

The leaning tower of Pisa increased its tilt by a little more than one-quarter of an inch in the past 12 years and is now more than 14 feet from the perpendicular line.

Red Party in U.S. Sends Congratulations to Nikita

NEW YORK (AP)—The Communist party in the United States Wednesday cabled congratulations to Premier Khrushchev on the Soviet Union's achievement in sending the first man into space.

The cable sent by Gus Hall, secretary of the party in this country, said in part: "The greatness of this scientific achievement and contribution of the Soviet Union to mankind has the appreciation and admiration of all peace-loving people of the U.S.A."

A giant dragonfly of Central and South America, Megalopterus coarctatus, has a wingspread of seven inches.

May Honor Scientist With 'Lawrencium'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new chemical element has been discovered by U.S. atomic scientists, it has been announced.

The discovery was made by a group at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory at the University of California.

They have suggested that the new element 103 be named Lawrencium, with the chemical symbol LW in honor of the late Ernest C. Lawrence, Nobel prize-winning inventor of the cyclotron and founder of the laboratory.

The Atomic Energy Commission identified the team of scientists who found an isotope of the element as chemists Albert Ghiorso, Thorbjorn Sikkeland, Almon E. Larsh and Robert M. Latimer of the radiation laboratory.

The first census on the coast of the Gulf of Mexico was taken at Mobile, Ala., in 1704.

This Theft So Brazen It Fooled Onlookers

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—In midafternoon in downtown Birmingham a man calmly lifted the hood of a parked car, waved busy traffic around his own double parked car, took something from under the hood, then drove away. Later John R. Key reported to police that somebody stole the battery and carburetor from his car while it was parked on a downtown street.

Approximately one new home was built for every two babies born in the U.S. since 1950.

Russian Orbit Expected to Toughen K's Attitude

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia's latest space achievement is expected to harden the diplomacy of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and make him a more difficult man for President Kennedy to deal with. U.S. officials agreed privately today that the launching and recovery of a man-carrying space vehicle is not only a historic feat but "one which is certain to strengthen Khrushchev's determination to get his own way more and more on outstanding issues. Already the lines of a diplomatic conflict are sharply drawn at many points. Examples include Laos, Berlin, disarmament and the United Nations.

Every since Russia put the first man-made satellite into orbit more than three years ago students here of Soviet affairs have noticed a toughening trend in the policy conduct of Khrushchev, even when he was talking most enthusiastically about the need for East-West negotiations and was urging peaceful settlement of all disputes. Khrushchev's behavior in this respect is considered a reflection of his judgment of the Soviet Union's power position in the world — primarily in relation to the power of the United States.

The power balance is the basis of the East-West diplomatic balance. In other words, the stronger Khrushchev feels, the less inclined he is to compromise and the more determined he is to get what he wants on any issue.

Russia's ability to put a man into space had already been fully credited here and to this extent the demonstration of Soviet rocket prowess was discounted in advance.

But the prestige which the Soviets gain by actually pulling off the accomplishment, assuming all their results stand up as claimed, is a new element to be reckoned with.

BIG IMPACT

It must make a tremendous impact on what peoples in other countries and particularly in the less developed nations of Asia and Africa think about Soviet abilities in many fields.

Obviously from the wording of the official Soviet government and Communist party statement this event will have a great deal to do with what the Soviets think of themselves from now on.

For example, the statement said "before the eyes of the whole world the working class, the Soviet collective farm peasantry and the Soviet intelligentsia — the whole Soviet people — demonstrate an unprecedented victory of science and technology."

The boastful tone which seemed unnecessary in view of the accomplishment occasioned some surprise in official quarters here though it was in line with similar Moscow statements in the past.

Has Dim View of Space

Be Tactful Toward Borrower

By the Emory Post Institute
Q: There is a young woman in my office who is forever borrowing cigarettes from me. I can see a person running out of cigarettes occasionally and asking to borrow one, but this person makes a habit of it and I am getting very tired of it. If I say I haven't any, then I will have to refrain from smoking at my desk (which we are permitted to do) as she works in the same office with me, and it will mean that every time I want a cigarette I will have to go out of the office to smoke. Will you please tell me how I can tactfully refuse and still not cause hard feelings?

A: A good and tactful suggestion is to tell her that you are trying to cut down on cigarettes and that you have taken only the number of cigarettes you have allotted yourself for the day, with you, and no extras so that you will not be tempted to smoke more than this amount.

Q: My fiancé is named for his father and uses the suffix Jr. after his name. I am going to have my wedding invitations made up soon and would like to know how his name should correctly be engraved on the invitations. Should it be John Smith Jr. or Mr. John Smith Jr. Someone told me that when the suffix Jr. is used, the title Mr. is omitted. Is this true?

A: Mr. John Smith Jr. is correct. The Jr. means that he is the son or grandson of a man of the same name, and does not replace the title Mr.

Q: It has always seemed extremely rude to me for a hostess to take the front seat of a car when driven by a member of her family and for her guest to sit on the back seat. Will you please tell me if I am right about this, or am I too critical?

A: If the guest is a woman, she should not be given a seat any less comfortable than the one the hostess occupies. If the front seat is wide enough for three, the hostess sits next to the driver, leaving the more desirable seat next to the door for the guest.

If the car is a sedan or any other with a full sized upholstered rear seat, both women sit there and the driver is left alone in the front seat.

2 From Area Help to Plan WSU Reunion

A social hour in the Founders Room of the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel will precede dinner in the grand ballroom.

Five outstanding Wayne graduates will receive alumni awards. Advance-dinner reservations through the alumni office at the university are suggested.

Party on Saturday at Pine Lake Club

Early reservations are suggested for Pine Lake Country Club's "Mad Hatters" party followed by buffet dinner at 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

An area orchestra will provide music for dancing at 9:30.

Prizes will be awarded for the most original hat creations. Members have been urged to bring guests.

The gentleman in the center who did not give the photographer his name will be on view when the McAuley School of Practical Nursing at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital holds open

Abby Says: Grab Him

Think of the Child; Be Adult

By ARIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: To get right to the point, I am pregnant. I know you get lots of letters like this, but I feel my problem is special because my boy friend is a real find. I mean the whole bit.

He works in a library for $180 a month and his idea of a good time is to read a good book.

ABBY: Over again, listen to long-hair music or play chess. What happened to me is not his fault. I take all the blame.

Omega Alphas Pick Officers, Plan Breakfast

Mrs. Lloyd Stalcup has been elected president of Omega Alpha Society.

Serving with the new president will be Mrs. Forrest White, vice president; Mrs. George Turner, recording secretary; Mrs. Thomas Beal, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Norman O'Brien, treasurer.

Members met Wednesday in the Rochester home of Mrs. Beal whose cohostess was Mrs. Harold Sibley. Reservations were taken for the May Day breakfast at Elks Temple May 7.

He wants to marry me, but I can't see myself married to him. I am too old to start raising a baby. I am 41 and he is 32. Can he force me to marry him because I am going to have his child?

NOT SURE
DEAR NOT: He cannot force you to marry him. Even though he is far from your idea of the "ideal husband," under the circumstances thank your lucky stars and grab him. The life of an innocent child is at stake. You were "young" enough to get into this fix—now be adult enough to face up to the responsibilities.

DEAR ABBY: I am through giving my wife presents. Every time I give her something she says, "What have you been up to now?" What makes women act like that?

PETE
DEAR PETE: Experience.

DEAR ABBY: My 12-year-old daughter has been invited to several birthday parties. I have always driven her there, stayed during the party and then driven her home.

The mother of a girl my daughter's age took it upon herself to remind me that the invitations do not include mothers.

She said it made a lot of extra work for the mother giving the party. I always felt welcome until this lady brought it up. Please print your answer as I do not wish to give my name and address.

WELCOME OR NOT?
DEAR WELCOME: Accept this mother's suggestion as a bit of friendly advice, and do not stay with your child during the party unless you have been specifically invited to do so.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WORRIED HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR: Please tell your parents at once. They will not "kill" you. You need to see a doctor without delay.

Card Party Set Saturday

Galloway Lake Motors of America, Inc., will sponsor a card party at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Pontiac Township Hall on North Opdyke Road.

Mrs. William Craven is chairman. Proceeds will benefit hospitalized veterans.

Mrs. George King of North Adams Road was hostess to the group Wednesday for a luncheon and business meeting.

Mrs. Charles Ferguson was cohostess.

DAV Auxiliary Plans Bake Sale

The Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary Unit No. 16 will sponsor a bake sale Friday beginning at 10 a.m. in the Federal Department Store.

The auxiliary sponsored a card party Saturday at the DAV Hall on Auburn Avenue.

The affair's proceeds will help needy veterans and their families.

New auxiliary officers will be elected in May.

McAuley to Display at Open House Sunday

Students will demonstrate some of the practical skills they have gained in seeking their licenses as practical nurses Sunday. Mrs. H. Veynon Harcourt (center) of Jordan Road measures the blood pressure of "patient" Mrs. Robert Landis of Clarkston while Shirley McLain of Detroit looks on. In addition to a tour of the facilities, prospective students and their families will see a film on the opportunities available in the field.

Galleries Announce New Show

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK (UPI) — Any adults who have doubts about our teen-agers need only to read what eight of them say in a series of award-winning essays.

There is a wholesome and thoughtful approach to the future—in a period when juvenile delinquency so often grabs the headlines.

"We live in a civilization in which no one is independent," wrote 17-year-old Mary Kimmerlin of Bridgeport, Conn. "When every man realizes he plays a part in the general welfare there can be harmony."

Miss Kimmerlin plans to be a biological scientist.

Another teen-ager, Susan Jane Bright, 17, of Franklin, Ind., wrote "I want to be able to repay all of the people who have helped me all through my life by, in turn, contributing something to the world and helping others."

Miss Bright plans to be a teacher.

"In my chosen career," wrote Marjorie Brecht, 17, of Pittsfield, Mass., "I hope I will be of service to the people in my community." She plans to do youth work.

And so ran essays from eight regional finalists in a "Career Key Award" contest held by the Girls Club of America, Inc. The eight were guests of the clubs during their 18th annual conference.

Each was to outline her reasons for the career of her selection. Top honors went to Miss Kimmerlin, who wrote that "the successful pursuit of my career lies not in fame or fortune but in completion of my personal responsibility to my fellow man."

Five Pages Today in Women's Section

The Thomas Wyatt of Drayton Plains announce the engagement of their daughter Judith Marie to Dennis R. Cline, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Cline of Waterford. No wedding date has been set.

Girls Write About Ideals

Other finalists, in addition to the Misses Bright, Kimmerlin and Brecht, were Rita Marie Maguary, 17, of Lynn, Mass., who plans to teach; Dawn Quier, 17, of Allentown, Pa., who also wants a teaching career;

Connie Anne Pucci, 17, of Schenectady, N.Y., who wants to be a private secretary; Lois Anne Rowe, 17, of Newport News, Va., who plans a career in the theater; and Madeleine Schwarz, 17, of Valdosta, Ga., who plans to be an airlines stewardess.

Each contestant was limited to one typewritten page on career discussion. It is interesting that each talked of the rewards of work other than in terms of the weekly paycheck.

"A career to me is more than a way to support myself," wrote the teen-ager who wants to work with youth. "It is a special calling to some profession for a life work which would give the feeling of accomplishment far beyond the necessity of earning a livelihood."

Or, as the lass who wants to be a stewardess wrote, "... I like to work with people and be of service to them. I have been given so much in my life that I have to try and repay ... the people who have given me so much. I am not referring to material things. I have a debt to pay to God, to my mother, my family and society."

Says Education First Line of America's Defense

Raul Ambrose, superintendent of Oxford Schools, spoke to the Pontiac Council of the Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday evening.

Mr. Ambrose who is legislative chairman for the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers told the group that America's first line of defense and "most precious asset" is education.

He informed members that to be most effective in promoting the passage of good legislative material one should be thoroughly acquainted with the issues and know his representatives, letting them know his opinions concerning the bills or issues forthcoming.

Mrs. William Mihalek opened the meeting with the PTA prayer. Mrs. Irvin Christie, magazine chairman, reported that a total of 302 subscriptions to the PTA magazine were sold this year. Owen School has received a distinguished service award for the largest sales gain percentage in the state.

The council has voted to accept funds offered by the Pontiac Police Association, to grant a third teaching scholarship this year.

Future events for council members include board of education meetings April 14 and 28, the annual Presidents' breakfast on April 18, another council meeting on May 2 and the district meeting and workshop, May 15.

Mrs. Harry Loney was a guest of the group.

Mrs. Anderson appointed Mrs. Edward Lascumb, Mrs. Burnett Stewart and Mrs. John McCormick to the nominating committee for election of 1961 officers.

Members have been reminded that meeting dates have been changed from the second to the first Tuesday of the month, beginning in May.

Our Teen-Agers Are Accepting 'Baby Doctors'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pediatricians are overcoming the reluctance of teen-agers to continue going to their "baby doctors" when they enter the adolescent years, a Philadelphia doctor said today.

Dr. Carl C. Fisher, vice president of the American Academy of Pediatrics, also said in an interview that pediatricians were taking greater interest in the needs of their adolescent patients.

Until recent years, Fisher said, after children got over the childhood diseases, they often were neglected. He said this was partly because "the kids felt they had outgrown their baby doctor but still were not ready for adult care."

A new trend has begun, however, he added, where pediatricians were making an effort to handle the problems of adolescence. This period, he said, generally runs from age 12 to 18.

Heading the cast are Bettie Ford who will portray Mary Hilliard, the role originally created by Ruth Gordon, and John Gregory who will portray Philip Graves.

Steal Beauty, as Well

Pounds Cut Life Span

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Overweight is no longer just a cosmetic problem but is recognized as a real health hazard. A recent bulletin from a well-known life insurance company details information (about the mortality rate for overweight women) available from the Build and Blood Pressure Study, 1959, of the Society of Actuaries.

In the age range from 15 to 69 years mortality for women 10 percent overweight was 18 percent greater than for the standard female risk. For women 20 percent overweight the mortality was 25 percent greater.

The increase in mortality rate in relation to the degree of overweight, to 25 percent for those 20 percent overweight.

If any of you have been procrastinating about reducing you have a twofold reason for not doing so any longer—beauty and health.

This week I am bringing you my Nine-Day Reducing Diet. This gives you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days. It is fine for those who have only a few pounds to lose and provides an encouraging beginning for those who have more pounds to lose.

Here are the menus for Friday.

Friday's menus

BREAKFAST

One egg
One thin dry slice of whole wheat toast
Black coffee

LUNCHEON

Fresh fruit salad
Two tablespoons cottage cheese
One glass skimmed milk
One thin dry slice of whole wheat toast

DINNER

Baked fish, medium portion
One-half cup cabbage, lightly cooked
One-half cup spinach or greens
One glass skimmed milk
One orange

If you have missed some of the menus or would like to have the complete diet and the list of substitute foods you may want The Nine-Day booklet. If so, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of The Pontiac Press.

Episcopal Group Plans Panel Talk

Mrs. Roland Diemer of Adams Rad will open her home for Monday's 1 p.m. meeting of the Episcopal Church Women of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. Mrs. Hal Anderson will assist the hostess.

The subject, "Our Role as Evangelists to Children," will be discussed by a panel comprised of Mrs. Carl Seyers, moderator, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hotten and Mrs. William Dewey.

When hanging pictures on a papered wall area, cut two sides of a small triangular shape into the paper before pounding in the nail. Fold back the paper and drive the nail directly into the wall. The paper can be repeated and pressed into place if the picture is moved.

Whoops! This sudden reflection tells her that it's time for the Nine-Day Diet. "If any of you have been procrastinating about reducing, you have a twofold reason for not doing so any longer — beauty and health," says Josephine Lowman.

Edwin Strout of Union Street measures the correct proportions for the base of a sterling silver dish he is donating to the Cranbrook Academy of Art's student council sale. His design will be among the many available to the public in the annual sale which benefits the scholarship fund of the school.

Cranbrook Art Sale Scheduled

CRANBROOK—The plan of art students helping fellow students by a sale of their own work is a unique one that began four years ago at Cranbrook Academy of Art.

Then the student council set up the plan with a sale of their work to aid an Hungarian refugee artist. The idea proved so successful it has been continued since—now in the form of an auction and for the benefit of talented fellow students.

This year's auction will be held April 23, in the Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries from 2 to 5 p.m. Objects for sale may be previewed in the Galleries April 21, from 8 to 10 p.m. and April 22, from 2 to 5 p.m.

Several weeks ago a meeting of the entire student body was called by the student council to discuss plans for the sale.

While it is well-known that art students on the whole have little money to spend on materials for their own work, the generous response was stimulating as the students contributed one or more of their best pieces to help a student harder up than they are.

Laurence Dumouchelle, the well-known Detroit auctioneer, is contributing his services for the completely student-operated sale which will offer such objects as paintings, sculpture, metal, ceramics (pots, cups, bowls, plates) and weaving (blankets, pillows, scarves).

Robert Kidd of Cincinnati, Ohio, chairman of the auction sale, said the students hope to raise $2,500 to provide seven full scholarships. Members of the Student Council are: Richard Hoptner, Philadelphia, Pa., president; Mary Convis, Wichita, Kan., secretary; Stanley Lichtitz, 1943 Prairie, Detroit, treasurer; and Alvan Stripling, Brockton, Mass., social chairman.

New Meeting Place

The April 20 meeting of the Twins Mothers' Club will be at 8 p.m. in the Robinwood Avenue home of Mrs. Joseph H. Metzger, not in the Community Services Building as reported to The Pontiac Press in Wednesday's edition.

Prefer Liz, Lancaster, 'Apartment,' 'Psycho'

Teen-Agers Reveal Their Oscar Choices

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research Co.

If teen-agers could sit in for the experts who choose the movie Oscars next week, the top awards would go to Elizabeth Taylor, to Burt Lancaster and to the movie, "The Apartment," or "Psycho."

That's the result of our annual movie poll among the nation's young people.

But the biggest vote was cast in the supporting role category. That was for Janet Leigh, who was named by 58 per cent of 1,644 teen-agers as the actress they thought would win the Academy Award for the best supporting actress of 1960. This was for Miss Leigh's performance in the thriller, "Psycho."

A typical comment about her was made by Valerie Metchen, 17, of Ogden, Utah, who said, "She put over so much suspense by her acting."

Sal Mineo got the next biggest vote for his performance in "Requiem." Nearly 23 per cent said he deserved an Oscar in the supporting actor category.

Nancy Lynn, 16, of Warren, Conn., one of those voting for Mineo, said he gave a "very realistic interpretation of the role."

In the key awards, no one came close to Elizabeth Taylor as her choice for best actress of the year. She got the vote of exactly half the teen-agers polled for her portrayal of the unfortunate Gloria in "Butterfield 8."

MacLaine runner-up
Closest to the beautiful Miss Taylor was Shirley MacLaine, the choice of nearly 23 per cent for best actress. This was for her role in "The Apartment," which incidentally, was the film that was named as the movie most likely to win an Oscar.

Big, brawny Burt Lancaster was the favorite as the likely Oscar winner as best actor. Thirty-six per cent thought he deserved the golden statuette for "Elmer Gantry."

"He played his part as if it were made for him," said Mike Wood, 18, of Williamsport, Md.

Lancaster was particularly popular with boys, getting the vote of 42 per cent, as against 21 per cent of the girls. Jack Lemmon was second in this category, helped along by a 30 per cent vote among the girls for a total of 71 per cent. Lemmon was given the nod for his work with Miss MacLaine in "The Apartment."

"It's the type of comedy most popular today," said Andrea Cicio, 16, of Brooklyn, in picking "The Apartment" as the Academy Award winner.

While 42 per cent thought the award would go to "The Apartment," they had a different idea about their personal favorites as the best 1960 films.

There was a first place tie between two widely different films — "Psycho" and "The Apartment." Each film was the choice of 11.5 per cent as the best picture. "Requiem" was a shade behind, at 11 per cent.

Tied for fourth place were "Butterfield 8" and "Where the Boys Are." Each was picked by 5 per cent.

Sal Mineo not only was a popular favorite to win an Oscar as the best supporting actor but also was named as "the most promising newcomer to movies in 1960."

He and another popular recording artist, Frankie Avalon, shared first place in this voting.

But the girls were for Mineo, and that's how the tie was won.

Elvis Presley, who has been the vote to lead Nancy Kwan in the selections.

Nearly one-third might very easily be humming the music from "The Alamo." The song, "Green Leaves of Summer," was named by 32 per cent as the best motion picture tune of 1960.

"Never on Sunday" from the film of the same name, was the choice of 23 per cent, to place second.

You're a Grand Old Flag, but Not Today

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Robert Murch, in a burst of patriotism, hoisted his American flag before he went to work Tuesday.

After he left, Mrs. Murch went about preparing for a luncheon for 60 guests.

By coincidence the St. Louis Priory Mother's Club had scheduled a tour of certain homes in St. Louis County and had marked each house to be visited with an American flag.

Much to Mrs. Murch's chagrin, swarms of women began trooping through her house. Each time she opened the door in poured more guests, some invited, most not.

Police, noticing the ever-increasing crowd helpfully erected "no parking signs."

Mrs. Murch finally got matters straightened out. Murch promised that from now on, he will check out the neighborhood program before he raises the flag.

Polish Writer Rebuked for Praising Jackie

WARSAW (AP) — The Polish Communist organ Trybuna Ludu recently rebuked a Polish woman writer for her way of praising Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

The newspaper noted that the weekly magazine Swiat predicted the American First Lady will become the model, pattern and oracle for women of "the whole civilized world" including "our ladies."

Trybuna Ludu slapped at the writer, a Mrs. Koszykowa, and asked: "Has not Koszykowa of Swiat got confused as regards countries, systems, conditions, ideals and manners of life?"

Delicious Foods Served in Early American Atmosphere

Here at Alban's Country Cousin we try — even if only fleetingly — to recapture some of the spirit of rural America's general store, the social center of an earlier and gentler era. Perhaps we have romanticized it, but we've done so lovingly, knowing that there are indeed very few left who've had actual experience with the horehound, licorice and hand-operated coffee-grinder which, with us, help symbolize the period we honor.

At the same time we try not to be overly rustic. Among the rather unusual items we stock, we try to strike a happy balance between husking gloves (we have none) and maroons glaces (we have them). And, incidentally, in our "hay-mow" restaurant, we cook on an electronic range and our licorice is imported from Denmark.

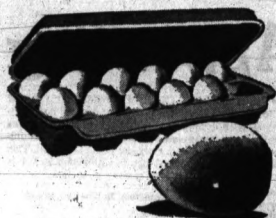

But come see for yourself! Our tremendous array of excitingly different foods, carefully prepared by expert chefs in a sparkling new all-electric kitchen, is designed to make your dining a most pleasant event — one we hope you'll long remember. Don't pass up this opportunity to visit us — we're open to you every day except Monday, 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. and even later on Friday and Saturday. We think you're sure to make ALBAN'S COUNTRY COUSIN a regular treat!

★ NOW AVAILABLE: Excellent luncheon and dining facilities in 3 spacious upstairs areas for special groups, clubs, organizations, etc. Call YE 8-1323.

ANADAMA BREAD — Originated in the early days of our nation, Anadama Bread has always been popular. It is a yeast bread, but one that requires no kneading. Today's methods of bread making speed up the process without sacrificing anything in the way of flavor.

Homemade Bread Is Appealing

"Honor bread, glory of the fields, fragrance of the earth, feast of life." Muriel said this and it's probably one of the few deeds of his of which we approve.

In some families bread has fallen to a low place indeed. We think such a family never had a slice of warm homemade bread, fresh out of the oven.

It's so easy to make — and so satisfying. You mix up a batch of dough, knead it for a while and suddenly it seems to come alive. You're working with a living thing when you work with yeast.

We're giving you some fool-proof recipes for bread today. Won't you try them? You and your family will both be rewarded. Incidentally, except for the cheapest white loaf, you can make bread as cheaply as you buy it. When you consider the price of toaster toasters, you are ahead financially.

If you want yeast today, you go to the store and buy it. But in America's early days you had to have a yeast starter. This was often a proud gift to a new bride.

One of the early breads still being enjoyed is Anadama Bread. (This has a little cornmeal and some molasses in it, but only enough to make the loaf golden colored.)

Anadama Bread

1 cup boiling water
1 cup yellow corn meal
1 tablespoon shortening
1 cup molasses
1 package active dry yeast
1 cup very warm, not hot, water
2 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour

Stir together in large mixing bowl, boiling water, corn meal, shortening, molasses and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast into very warm, not hot, water, stir until dissolved. Add yeast, egg, and half the flour in lukewarm corn meal mixture. Beat 2 minutes, medium speed on mixer or 300 vigorous strokes by hand. Scrape sides and bottom of bowl frequently.

Add remaining flour and mix with spoon until flour is thoroughly blended into dough. Spread batter evenly in greased loaf pan (8x4x2 inches). Batter will be sticky. Let rise in warm place free from draft, until batter reaches 1 inch from top of pan, about 1 1/2 hours. Sprinkle top with a little corn meal and salt.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 30 to 45 minutes. To test loaf, tap the top crust; it should sound hollow. Crust will be dark brown. Immediately remove bread from pan. Place on cooling rack or across edges of bread pans. Brush top with melted butter or shortening.

Quick banana bread is in most cook's repertoire. Here's a banana bread recipe that calls for yeast. You'll find it light and tender.

Yeast-Raised Banana Bread

1 package or 2 1/2 cups active dry or compressed yeast
1 cup very warm water
1 egg
1 cup boiling margarine or butter
2 1/2 cups mashed ripe bananas
1 cup sifted flour
1 cup milk
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup vanilla extract
1/2 cup oil

Sprinkle or crumble yeast into very warm water. Stir until dissolved. In large bowl, combine sugar, salt, melted margarine, egg and bananas. Add 3 cups of flour and beat smooth. Stir in dissolved yeast. Add remaining flour to make soft dough.

Turn out onto floured board; knead lightly until smooth and elastic, about 10 minutes. Turn into greased bowl; turn to grease all sides. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours.

Punch down; turn out onto floured board and divide in half. Shape each half into loaf; place in well-greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pans. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 45 to 50 minutes.

Stir half of the sifted flour into the milk mixture, forming a batter. Add the softened yeast and stir well. Add the wheat germ and enough of the remaining flour to make a smooth, soft dough. Add more flour if necessary. Lightly flour a pastry board and place the dough on it. Cover with a towel and let rest 15 minutes.

Knead the dough until smooth and elastic. The technique for kneading dough is to hold the dough over itself toward you, push down with the heels of the hands away from you, then give a quarter turn and repeat. Continue for about 10 minutes.

Cut dough in half, make a ball of each half, cover with towels and let rest 10 minutes. Shape into loaves and place, seam-side down, in two greased 8-inch loaf pans.

Grease the tops of the loaves. Lightly, lay waxed paper over each and cover with a cloth. Let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk (about 1 1/2 hours).

Bake in a 350-degree F. oven for 50 to 55 minutes. When done the bread should be fully risen with a rounded top. Loaves should sound hollow when tapped. Remove the loaves from the pans and let cool on a rack, away from drafts.

For a crisp crust neither grease cool. For a soft crust, brush tops nor cover the loaves while they are of loaves with salad oil and cover with cloth for a few minutes to soften. If both loaves are not to be used within a day or two, wrap one when thoroughly cooled and freeze for later use.

Casserole breads are yeast breads, but they demand no kneading. Your mixer or a strong arm does the job of developing the gluten. Only one rising is needed. This bread like the Anadama Bread is a little coarser in texture.

Casserole Raisin-Rye Bread

1 cup milk
1/2 cup dark brown sugar, packed
1/2 cup rye flour
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup vanilla extract
1/2 cup oil

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and margarine; cool to lukewarm. Measure very warm water into bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, flour and raisins. Stir until well blended, about 2 minutes. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until more than doubled in bulk, about 30 minutes.

Stir down; beat vigorously 1/2 minute. Turn into greased 1 1/2-quart casserole; brush with milk. Bake at once, uncovered, in hot oven (400 F.), about 30 minutes, or until done. Remove from casserole; cool on wire rack. Makes 1 loaf.

Pork Still Is Good Buy Vegetables, Fruits Plentiful

Market reports for the past week show that fresh fruit and vegetable supplies are increasing, states the Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawver. Supplies of cabbage and celery are generous. Grapefruit supplies are heavy. California Valencia oranges are increasing in number and many are small in size.

Some retailers report slight reductions in wholesale pork prices and many pork cuts are featured this week. Beef, fryers, steers and fish are other main dish foods being emphasized.

This is the season when most eggs are of large sizes. Price comparisons show that large and jumbo size eggs are now the best egg value.

The fresh pork shoulder/boston butt, is a lean pork cut serving three people from each pound. The whole cut usually weighs 4 to 6 pounds, but most stores cut a few pork steaks from the large end. If the family wants a large roast, buy the whole Boston butt and remove the blade bone. This long fat bone is easily removed. Then the roast may be stuffed and tied, or simply tied before roasting in a 350 degree oven.

A slight drop in fryers at wholesale is reflected in some retail markets this week. When buying fryers, allow one and one-third pounds of ready-to-cook chicken for each person. Fryers have tender meat and adapt to many types of cooking — frying, roasting, or simmering in water.

A steer is a mature female chicken (usually more than 10 months of age) with meat less tender than that of a roaster and with a nonflexible breastbone. Allow three to four hours slow cooking in water or steam to soften connective tissue and make it tender.

The Poultry Products Inspection Act, which became effective January 1, 1959, provides compulsory inspection by the U.S. Department of Agriculture of poultry and poultry products which move across state lines, in foreign commerce, or in certain major consuming areas. Federal inspectors check sanitation requirements of plants and examine the poultry processed for wholesomeness.

Perch supplies are increasing and prices are lower. Smelt is still the economical fish buy.

Grapefruit continues in a peak period with 12 per cent of the annual total coming to market in April. The quantity remaining March 11 was about two million boxes more than a year ago at that time.

California Valencia oranges are increasing in supply and you may notice a price reduction.

Unfavorable growing conditions in Louisiana during March are influencing the quantity of fresh strawberries now being harvested. You'll find plants for about 40 cents — that is about 10 cents per half cup serving.

Shippers report that tomato supplies will increase each week. Shoppers will notice a wide price variation due to growing and shipping costs for market.

Fruit Party Punch

For a gala party refreshers serve Ice Cream Party Punch. Fill 4 quart punch bowl with 12-oz. can apricot nectar, quart orange carbonated beverage, 1 lb., 2-oz. can pineapple juice. Stir. Top with small scoops of vanilla ice cream (2-quarts); garnish with fresh orange slices.

Good food is always in season. But a banana dessert is very much in season now because bananas are particularly good and plentiful. The torte shell is easy to make. So is the banana filling. It's just a matter of adding the whipped cream garnish, and that's all. It's a matter between you and your bathroom scales.

Filling

2 cups mashed banana (about 5)
1/2 cup lard or short cream syrup
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter
2 tablespoons dark corn
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine bananas, corn syrup, salt and margarine in saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat. Cook. Stir in lime juice and nutmeg. Pour into torte shell. Chill.

Torte De Banana
 1 cup margarine or butter
 1 cup sugar
 1 egg yolk
 1 cup sifted flour
 Cream margarine. Add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Blend 1 egg yolk. Stir in flour. Gather dough into a ball and then press into a 9-inch pie pan to cover bottom and sides of pan. Prick.

Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for about 10 minutes.

"Italians" and "spaghetti" are practically synonymous, for spaghetti is as much a part of Italian heritage as the hamburger is American. Colorful stories suggest that many countries might claim ownership of the first spaghetti product, but no tales are quite so rich and picturesque as the Italian.

One delightful "make-believe" story comes from Giovanni Buitoni's Decameron, written in the early part of the 14th century. He describes the famous land of Bengodi where there is a mountain made entirely of Parmesan cheese. The mountain-dwellers do nothing but make macaroni and ravioli, cook it in capon broth, then roll it down the mountain-side for everyone to catch and eat to his heart's delight.

To match their folklore, the Italians created imaginative shapes for their macaroni foods. Gay poetic names describe the shapes . . . little pipes, butterflies, needle points, turbans and tempests are but a few. The macaroni are not named without good reason. One macaroni food is called "clover" because, as it slides from the package into the pot, it makes a peculiar rustling sound similar to that of dried clover falling into a barnyard bin.

Spaghetti is the best known and most favored macaroni food in its native Italy. The term "spaghetti dinner" embodies the happy blending of the Italian "spaghetti" and the English "dinner" to yield one of the most popular menu attractions of both lands. The basic ingredients to a spaghetti dinner include the long spaghetti that the Italian chef never allows to overcook—plus a well-seasoned sauce.

Old Italo-American families like the kind of spaghetti that takes a long time to cook, for the quality of the dough is measured by its resistance to boiling water. In general, Italians like spaghetti to be solid between their teeth, or al dente they call it.

Italian spaghetti sauces are many and varied. The classic one is made with whole cooked tomatoes, tomato paste, onion and garlic, then seasoned with basil, fresh, if possible, and oregano. To the seasoned tomato sauce is added a piece of pork shoulder along with either meat balls or Italian sausage.

Some good white or red wine may be blended either into the sauce at the last minute or poured over the drained cooked spaghetti. The finishing touch, of course, is the generous sprinkling of Parmesan cheese. The sauce should never be prepared at the last minute, for to be truly good it must simmer and season for several hours. It is even better if served the next day.

The Italians serve macaroni and other specialty shapes less often than spaghetti but they always include at least one macaroni dish in every meal. They may offer it in a soup or as a side dish but most often it is served as a separate course, after the antipasto and soup, and before the main course of the meal.

Extending you an invitation . . . to the eating pleasure of a delicious Italian meal. Come in, sit down and help yourself to the

Spaghetti With Stuffed Meat Balls

1 medium onion, chopped (about ½ cup)
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 No. 2½ can cooked tomatoes, mashed about 2½ cups
1-2 cups can tomato paste (about 1 cup)
1 tablespoon oregano
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon black pepper
1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon oregano
4 slices bacon
2 hard-cooked eggs, finely chopped
4 slices bread, sliced
4 ounces Parmesan spaghetti
Parmesan cheese

Saute onions and garlic in oil. Add tomatoes, tomato paste, 1 tablespoon oregano, 1 teaspoon salt, and black pepper. Heat to boiling, reduce heat, and simmer on top of range for 1½ to 2 hours, until thick. Combine ground beef, 1 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon oregano.

Fry bacon, drain and crumble, reserving drippings. Combine eggs, bread, bacon and 2 tablespoons bacon drippings. Form egg mixture into small balls, about 1/4-inch in diameter.

Press meat mixture firmly around egg balls, and fry in remaining bacon drippings until wellrowned, about 10 minutes. Add meat balls to sauce, and simmer 10 minutes longer.

Meanwhile, cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender, about 7 minutes. Drain and arrange on heated platter. Pour meatballs and tomato sauce on top. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Put The Cake First

If your family is small, it's a good idea to freeze a cake in quarters or halves. Just divide the cake and then package each quar-one and then package each quarter or half separately.

Drop-in guests? Nothing for dessert tonight? You can bake your favorite fruit or cream pie quick as a wink when your pastry dough has been premixed, rolled and frozen.

Take an hour off some afternoon and prepare several recipes of pastry dough at one time, enough for 6, 8, or more pastry shells. Roll each out to standard 8 or 9-inch size, and then stack between layers of waxed paper. Wrap the stack of pastry rounds in aluminum foil and seal. Carefully place the package on a flat surface in the freezer.

To use, simply open the foil package and remove one of two pastry rounds. Place the round over the top of the pie pan, and while you are preparing the filling, the pastry will thaw right into the pan. Flute the edge and your pie shell is ready for filling.

Some Prices Are Stable

Between 1919 and 1959 the price of round steak tripled, the price of coffee rose about 80 per cent, the price of potatoes nearly doubled, and the price of bread doubled. But, as of 1960, the price of canned corn has remained exactly the same in representative stores, and the price of canned peas has risen only 15 per cent — from 19 to 22 cents for the leading consumer can size.

Maple Flavored Oats Are Ingredient

Try these cookies for your springtime snacking. They're rich with California walnuts, maple flavored oat cereal and butter-scotch morsels.

Cream together one cup shortening, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup light brown sugar, firmly packed, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup granulated sugar, and two eggs. Add $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sifted all-purpose flour and one teaspoon salt. Add one teaspoon soda dissolved in one tablespoon hot water.

Stir in two cups maple flavored oat cereal, one cup chopped California walnuts, one 6-ounce package butterscotch morsels, and one teaspoon vanilla. Drop from teaspoon two inches apart on greased cookie sheet.

Bake at 375 degrees about eight minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool slightly; remove from sheet. Makes four dozen cookies.

Dill Topping

NEW YORK (UPI) — Serve hot cooked cauliflower with a dill topping, made by mixing $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon of dill seed with 2 tablespoons of melted butter. This is enough for a 2 pound head of cauliflower, which will serve 5.

Dogfish, small shacks fairly plentiful in the North African coastal area, destroy herring, mackerel and other fish.

FRESH PARSNIP CAKES—Serve Fresh Parsnip Cakes with broiled ham whenever you're looking for compliments from family and guests. Parsnips are a year 'round vegetable.

Root Vegetables Have Distinctive Flavors

Modern growing, storage and transportation methods have pampered us with such a wide and year-round variety of vegetables such as beets, parsnips, turnips and knob celery (or celeriac).

There are many ways of cooking parsnips: they are particularly good with pork or beef. Pare them thinly, then steam or cook in just enough water to keep them from sticking. The cooked roots may then be sliced thickly and browned in butter or margarine.

Or serve them with seasoned butter. To 2 tablespoons butter or margarine add finely minced parsley, or $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon ground allspice, ginger or curry powder. A pinch of rosemary is delicious with parsnips.

A turnip is another good, thrifty vegetable which should be served more often. Cut a few substantial chunks of turnip into a stew or meat casserole. Mash and season turnip, then spread it about 1- $\frac{1}{2}$ inches thick in a baking dish. Sprinkle with grated mild cheese and pop under the broiler until browned.

When boiling turnips, cover with boiling water to cover and add a scant teaspoon sugar as well as salt. Turnips are especially good with low, pork and veal.

Fresh Parsnip Cakes
2 cups washed cooked parsnips
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon margarine
1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice
1 egg
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs

Combine mashed parsnips, salt, black pepper, sugar, paprika, lemon juice, egg and fine dry bread crumbs. Mix well. Shape into 2- $\frac{1}{2}$ inch patties $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch thick. Dip in flour. Sauté in bacon dripping, turning to brown both sides. Serve hot with beef, ham, pork or lamb. 4 to 5 servings.

Gilded Fresh Parsnips
4 medium parsnips
1-teaspoon butter
1-teaspoon salt
1-teaspoon ground black pepper
1-teaspoon sugar
1-teaspoon margarine
1-teaspoon fresh lemon juice
1 egg
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs

Peel parsnips and cut into quarters or eighths, lengthways. Place saucepan with 1-inch boiling water and salt. Cover and cook until crisp-tender. In the meantime, heat 1 tablespoon bacon fat in a 1-quart baking pan. Drain parsnips and arrange in baking pan. Mix sugar and tablespoon bacon fat. Cook in a preheated very hot oven (500 degrees) 10 to 15 minutes.

rine to form a roux and add to the turnips. Tilt the saucepan to mix the roux with the water in pan. Cook $\frac{1}{2}$ minute or until sauce has thickened. Serve hot with roast duck, pork, beef, lamb or veal. Yield: 6 servings.

Party Appetizers

Two good appetizers are these: (1) Cut cheddar cheese into little cubes and stuff with pineapple chutney. (2) Spread strips of smoked salmon with cream cheese mixed with drained crushed pineapple, roll them up and spear them with a toothpick. (You can do the same with salmon).

For English Muffins

A wonderful spread for toasted English muffins is canned apple sauce mixed half "n" half with cranberry sauce. And it's fine, too, of course, as a relish with chicken, duckling or turkey.

Milford Church Growing

By KERA HEINTZELMAN
MILFORD—Exactly 125 years ago, when Milford was just beginning to come into being, a few early families from the New England states decided they wanted a church. So they built an austere wooden building and called it the First Methodist Church of Milford. Before that time two little groups of people met in individual homes for religious inspiration. From that tiny nucleus has grown a congregation of almost 300 members, and the old brick church that eventually replaced the wooden structure has withstood tornadoes, wind and steel storms for more than 87 years.

Two Fires Hit Area Home

HUNTINGTON WOODS — Two fires which broke out in the same home within 12 hours last night and early this morning caused an estimated damage of $15,000 to $20,000.

Huntington Woods firemen were called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John D. McLeod of 12777 Lincoln Road at 9:20 p.m. yesterday to put out a fire in the recreation room.

The blaze, which firemen said started in the TV set, caused extensive damage to walls and furniture.

Village Ordered to Halt Demolition of Old Hotel

By DON FERMOYLE
ROCHESTER — A temporary injunction, halting demolition of the 114-year-old Rochester Hotel, was issued against the village of Rochester yesterday by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Judge Ziem granted the injunction after a lawsuit was filed against the village by William H. Wilmut, executor of the estate of Lottie C. Smith, decedent.

The hotel at West University Drive and Main Street, which is included in the Smith estate, was condemned by the Village Council Feb. 13.

It was the first condemnation case of its kind undertaken here by the council.

Jack L. Barycky, attorney for Wilmut, charged in the suit that the condemnation order is "unreasonable" and "unconstitutional."

Barycky asked that the village be permanently restrained from tearing down the hotel, which has been termed "a hazard to public health, welfare and safety" by local building, electrical, fire and health inspectors.

Clifford Holfort, a Birmingham engineer, stated at the council's Feb. 13 hearing on the hotel that the building was structurally unsound for occupancy on either a permanent or temporary basis.

Following the condemnation hearing, the council ordered the owners of the hotel to tear down or demolish the structure within two months.

The council further stated that the hotel would be demolished by the village and the costs for the demolition work would be assessed against the property if the owners did not have it done within the prescribed time limit.

The council already has received bids for the demolition work, but decided to delay awarding a contract to a wrecking company until its April 24 meeting.

The council hired Arthur R. Cox as the new village attorney Monday and officials believed that he would need two weeks to study the case.

The hotel, often called an "eyesore" by village officials, is located in the heart of Rochester's central business district.

The large frame structure now stands vacant with the village's condemnation order nailed to an outside wall.

The drive to condemn the old hotel gained impetus following the appearance of Munroe Causey, building inspector for Bay City, at the Jan. 9 council meeting.

Causey, a nationally recognized expert on condemnation proceedings, advised the council to remove the hotel.

Others who have advised the village that the building is unsafe include Oscar Boyes, Rochester's deputy health officer and official of the County Health Department; George Ross, Rochester fire chief; C. E. Kremer, local electrical inspector; and Thomas Turkette, building inspector.

The club, which is being organized primarily for recreational purposes, is open to men in the area who have retired because of age or physical disability.

Missionaries Will Be Guests at Area Church

CLARKSTON — A minister and his wife who have been doing pioneer missionary work in Tanganyika will be the honored guests of members of the new Calvary Lutheran Church at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Clarkston Elementary School.

Rev. and Mrs. N. L. Melander, veteran missionaries of the Lutheran church, traveled in areas completely untouched by Christianity and taught the gospel using music to illustrate the narrative.

When a little mission station had been adequately established he would move on to another area to begin the process all over again.

Because the Melanders are people who know the tense African situation first-hand, the evening promises to be one of instruction and inspiration, according to the pastor, Rev. Paul A. Johns.

Contributes to Youth Centers

Orion Township Board Names Committeemen

ORION TOWNSHIP—The Orion Township Board, meeting for the first time with newly elected Supervisor John Lesstler, has made several appointments to key committees for the coming year.

The board also approved contributions of $1,000 apiece to the Lake Orion Youth Center and the Glengrove Youth Center.

The township's appropriation for the center in Lake Orion was less than the $1,500 requested by its officials. The Lake Orion center also received $1,500 from the township last year.

Township Trustees George Callingwood and Harold Gilling were appointed to the newly formed Orion Township Fire Department board of governors.

Gilling, the only Democrat besides Lesstler to win election to the otherwise all-republican Township Board, also was named to serve on the Lake Orion-Orion Township Parks and Recreation Committee.

Lesstler won the top governmental post in the township's April 3 election when he upset incumbent Republican Ferris B. Clark, who had been supervisor here for the past 11 years.

Others appointed to the recreation committee, which is working to develop joint recreation facilities for Lake Orion and Orion Township, were Trustees Daniel Abbey and Treasurer William D. O'Brien.

Trustee Edward Knickerbocker was selected as the board's representative to the Orion-Pontiac Township Sanitary District Authority.

Following a request by the Lake Orion Village Council, Callingwood was selected to work with Village Councilman Gilbert Woodcock to study duplicate street names in the township and village.

In other action, the board approved the removal of a fire department alarm from the top of Proper Elementary School so it may be placed on Fire Station No. 1 property in Gillingville.

Three Pontiac Churches Rate Historical Markers

The Michigan Historical Commission is considering placement of historical markers on three Pontiac churches in connection with the Greater Pontiac Centennial.

Mrs. Donald E. Adams of Waterford Township, a member of the commission, said texts for the markers would be considered Saturday in Lansing.

The churches are the First Methodist, First Presbyterian and First Baptist.

All were organized in the 1820s, soon after Pontiac was founded. They are among the earliest in Michigan.

Mrs. Adams said that other early Pontiac churches are considering applying to the historical commission for permission to erect what the commission terms local historical markers.

As a member of the Oakland County Historical Foundation, Mrs.

Adams is preparing the text for a new historic marker on the grounds of the Wisner Home on Oakland Avenue. The home is classified by the state as an historic site.

The new marker will be erected on the lawn of the home in view of passersby, Mrs. Adams said.

3 Area Women Among Group Airing Protest of Rail Piggy Back

Three Pontiac area women were among a delegation that presented petitions to Gov. Swainson's office in Lansing yesterday in protest of so-called piggy back hauling of new automobiles by railroads.

Appearing were Mrs. Warren Kline, 6800 Williams Lake Road, president of the Pontiac Volunteer Truckers Association; Mrs. Floyd Collier, 344 E. Beverly Ave., vice president; and Mrs. Harry Hart, 245 Cherryland Ave., Auburn Heights, secretary.

The party of 11 women, most of them wives of truck drivers, presented petitions they said bore 41,000 signatures, more than 8,000 of them from the Pontiac area.

The petitions asked the governor to throw the state's support behind legislation in the U.S. Senate correcting, the association said, unfair advantages to the railroads in shipping rates.

Other members of the delegation of women were from Flint, Coldwater and Lansing.

Of the states that produce iron ore in America, the amount mined in New York ranks fourth in volume.

Senate Passes Bill to OK Bias

Realty Measure May Get a Swainson Veto; Faces Fight in House

LANSING (AP)—A highly controversial bill that would permit discrimination in real estate dealings has cleared the State Senate—but appeared headed today for a fight in the House and a possible veto by Gov. Swainson.

The bill, originally introduced by Sen. Charles R. Feenstra, R-Grand Rapids, as "just a simple little bill," passed the Senate Wednesday by a 19-12 vote.

It would have the effect of eliminating the controversial Rule 9 issued by the Corporations and Securities Commission last year following disclosure that real estate dealers in Grand Rapids were using a point system to grade prospective buyers according to race, religion and national origin.

The lawmakers accepted an amendment to the bill which stipulates that no real estate broker or salesman shall make any decision on the acceptability or eligibility of any prospective purchaser unless he has the approval of the owner.

After the measure was passed, Swainson indicated he might exercise his veto power if the bill is approved by the House and reaches his desk. He said:

"I have repeatedly endorsed Rule 9 and I am unalterably opposed to any attempt to repeal it. A fully open housing market is a goal we must continue striving to achieve."

Cuts Put Gas Prices at a 2½-Year Low

DETROIT (AP)—Gasoline prices in the Pontiac-Detroit area were at their lowest level in 2½ years today following price cuts of 2 cents a gallon by three major oil companies.

Other major brands were expected to match the reductions announced by Standard Oil, Gulf and Speedway.

The latest round in the price battle brought the cost of regular gasoline to 24.9 cents a gallon.

Mother Asks Pretrial Exam

Accused of Kidnaping Daughter From Area Foster Home

A Pontiac divorcee accused of kidnaping her 5-year-old daughter from a foster home in Ortonville last June demanded a pre-trial hearing before William H. Stamp, Independence Township justice of the peace.

Mrs. Rachel Balch, 23, is charged specifically with carrying away a child under 14 from a legal guardian.

Sought by police since June 18, she was arrested by officers investigating an auto theft at 86 Cottage St. She was visiting there and had her daughter with her.

The child is being cared for in the Oakland County Juvenile Home.

Examination was set for April 20 by Stamp. Unable to furnish bond of $500, she is being held in the Oakland County Jail.

Police said Mrs. Balch had been in Huntsville, Ala., since fleeing from this area last summer.

Mrs. Balch allegedly forced her way into the home of the child's foster parent, Mrs. Frank Beuren, 603 Barren Rd., Ortonville, and took the child.

Dorow to Coach MSU Alumni Team

EAST LANSING (P)—Al Dorow, his coaching assignment and expected to play were Dan Currie and Norm Masters, now with the Green Bay Packers; Gary Lovegrove, has been named to coach the alumni team against the varsity in the annual old timers game this spring.

The game in Spartan Stadium May 13 will wind up spring drills for the Spartans. It will be the fifth in the series. The count now stands at two wins for the varsity, one for the old timers and one tie.

Dorow is expected to operate as a player-coach and throw a wide open, pro-type attack against the varsity. He quarterbacked the 1950 team that won eight and lost one and the 1951 team that won nine without defeat.

SOUTH BEND (P)—Coach Joe Kuharich today celebrated his 44th birthday surrounded by 120 Notre Dame football stalwarts eager to start spring drills.

Practices officially open tomorrow as the Fighting Irish prepare for their third gridiron season. Today was a full-dress preview for picture-taking purposes.

Kuharich is heading into his third season as Notre Dame's head coach. Last season his team had a 2-4 record including an eight-game losing streak—longest in Irish history. After it was over, Kuharich was given a strong vote of confidence from school authorities and a three-year extension to his contract.

ANN ARBOR (P)—Michigan kicked off its spring practice this week with 120 hopeful candidates reporting and 30 days of intensive working ahead before the final intra-squad game in the stadium May 6.

While a number of top names are missing from the spring roster, the majority of the veteran group is on hand but the primary interest of Coach Bump Elliott and his coaching staff lies in the influx of fresh talent that is preparing for the campaign next fall.

Race Postponed Again

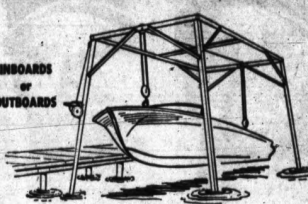

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The 100 race has been postponed for the second straight day.

The Weather Bureau said small craft warnings will remain up in the area today and boaters decided it would be too risky to attempt the trip across the Gulf Stream to the Bahamas.

Albion Nips Tartars, 6-3

ALBION (UPI)—Albion College edged Wayne State University, 6-3, yesterday in a baseball game called after eight innings because of rain.

From the Skipper

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

Don't expect any radical new change in the pleasure boating industry in the next decade. This is the opinion of Norman Owen, vice-president of Scott Division of McCulloch Corporation.

"Our objective is to make the boat as easy to use as the automobile," said Owen.

The boat field is studying innovations such as jet propulsion, new styling and designs for inboard and outboard motors.

One of the biggest attractions at the various boat shows is the jet-powered boat which was intended as a gift from former president Eisenhower to Russian premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

"Main emphasis in the next few years will be on maturing the equipment we have right now," Owen said.

In regard to consumer potential in boating, Owen said, "The recreation hit us before most industries. I think we'll be among the first to pull out of it."

EIGHT MILLION BOATS REGISTERED

There were fewer boats sold in 1960 than the year before, but surveys show that there were 8 million boats reported last year, including 6,050,000 outboard motors.

The others included 642,000 inboards and 516,000 sail boats.

Remember, these are the ones reported. Add those which have not been reported and other types of water pleasure vehicles and this total could range up as high as 12 million.

Industry figures and Coast Guard figures vary slightly and the reason is that the 1955 Federal Boating Act broadened boat registration in the United States and there has been a slight delay in implementing the legislation in many states.

Consequently, some confusion exists in over-all figures. The Coast Guard and many states have not been registering motors less than 10 horsepower and unpowered craft.

There are 35 states in which some form of registration now exists. Twelve states leave boat numbering to the U.S. Coast Guard and they can only keep track of craft on federal waters.

BOATING BUSINESS MEANS BUSINESS

Boating means business and business means more boating. This is the advertising sell of marine dealers in 1961 who don't agree that this would be a hard year to sell.

According to boating's business sheet, the industry passed the 2½ billion dollar mark for the first time in 1960.

A survey of the same business sheet noted that local newspapers played the major role in bolstering volume with more than 30 papers each carrying over 100,000 lines of boat advertising in 1960.

There are 80 newspapers which carry a boating section and 180 papers which carry a weekly boating page.

THE LOCAL LOG

New officers of the Oakland County Boat Club include: Kenneth Peterson, Commodore; Howard Swartz, vice commodore; Gerald Brown, rear commodore; Arthur Dean, secretary and Edward Baxter, treasurer. On the board are Glenn Pries, Emil Sull, Homer Shingledacker, John Pemberton and John Benson.

Newest and most local boat manufacturer in the area is the Sea Bay Company, a part of Ray Industries of Oxford. Joe Pinter's on Opdyke Road is local dealer.

The Widling brothers, LeRoy and Al, are after a sponsor for their canoe competition. Slaybaugh's, now owned by Paul Young on Dixie, was former sponsor.

All county area boat and yacht clubs, please forward your 1961 events schedule to this column as soon as possible.

Larchmont, N.Y., Sailboat Race Set for May 19th

The Larchmont Yacht Club, Larchmont, N. Y., announced that entries for the Larchmont Distance Race for the Edith Trophy may be submitted to the club until May 13. The race is open to all cruising sailboats, subject to the acceptance of the Regatta Committee. Current racing rules of the North American Yacht Racing Union will govern the event.

On Friday, April 14, at the Waldron Hotel, 35 E. Pike, in Pontiac, Staff Director, Mr. T. R. Stoner, will give free hair and scalp examinations between 12:30 Noon and 8:30 p.m. to hair-worried men and women. Phone FE 5-6162.

Erickson Hair and Scalp Specialists, the oldest and largest examination of its kind makes regular visits to Pontiac throughout the year to assure you of success in a minimum period of time. Erickson has now in Pontiac for year. Last year alone, over one-quarter million Erickson home scalp treatments were used.

Before After
Mrs. Virginia Barnes
Written Guarantee
Erickson Hair and Scalp Specialists accept only those whose hair will respond. Individuals accepted are given a written guarantee that they must be satisfied with results or money will be refunded on a pro-rated basis. So, why put off your hair problem any longer?

Hopeless Cases Refused
Erickson Specialists will accept only clients whose hair will respond to treatment. They cannot help individuals who are slick-bald after years of hair loss or in that great majority of cases of baldness, called male pattern baldness, where no treatment including the Erickson method is of any value. Therefore, Erickson will continue their policy of refusing all hopeless cases. Mr. Freyer and Mrs. Barnes did not have male pattern baldness.

Before After
Mr. K. Freyer
Baldness is slow and gradual, even in the most common forms. If you now have, or have in the past noticed dandruff, itchy scalp, excessive oiliness or dryness, excessive hair fall or thinning at the temples or crown, you should see Mr. Stoner tomorrow. He will determine the type of individual treatment required, explain to you what results you can expect, how long you will have to use Erickson treatment, and how much the cost will be, which is usually less than imitations.

Free Examination
There is absolutely no charge or obligation for your free hair and scalp examination. You can easily follow this new modern method in the privacy of your home. Actually, there are thousands with hair and scalp problems who can be helped by the new Erickson Hair and Scalp Specialists home treatment methods.

Free Hair Clinic Tomorrow Only
For your free hair and scalp examination, go to the Waldron Hotel between 12 noon and 8:30 p.m. on Friday, April 14, and ask the room clerk for Mr. Stoner's room number. You may make an appointment or just come in at your convenience. Examinations given in private. You will not be embarrassed or obligated in any way.

First Holly-Fenton Canoe Race Sunday

Paddlers Have 8-Mile Course in Competition

Trophies, Prizes to Be Awarded in 2 Different Divisions

The first annual Holly-Fenton Canoe Race, over an 8-mile course will be held Sunday with an expected 30 to 35 canoes in competition.

The race, sponsored jointly by the Holly and Fenton Chambers of Commerce, will start at Holly Mill Pond, on Broad Street and terminate at Bush Park in Fenton on the Shiawassee River.

The expected time of the race will take about one hour and 45 minutes.

The canoes racing will be 16 or 18 footers, and races will be in two divisions, the open and the juniors.

In the open division six prizes will be offered. First place team will receive $50 and each a trophy. The prize list follows with trophies in each place plus $50, $30, $20, $10. Starting time is 12:30 p.m.

The junior race for youngsters under 15 will start at 1:00 p.m. and first place trophies will be awarded.

Al and LeRoy Widling, noted Holly canoe racing brothers, are conducting the race, and will naturally be among the favorites.

Several teams of Boy Scouts from area troops are entered in the junior division.

Good Boatmen Take Pride in Own Craft

One of the best marks of a good boatman is the condition of his equipment. Boats should be kept clean inside and out and they will be kept dry. Remove water from the boat with a pump, bailing can or sponge, or open the drain cock when it is on a trailer.

A chamois applied will come in handy in wiping moisture off deck hardware and fittings and is also a good article to use in wiping deck and water seats and varnished surfaces, according to the Evinrude Boating Foundation. When a boat is used in dirty water, the film will have to be cleaned off the sides of the boat with a detergent or gentle abrasive cleanser after the boat is taken from the water.

Grig said in as moderator for a panel discussion of boating safety part of the 31st annual Michigan safety conference in Lansing's civic center yesterday.

The panel included Matt J. Kaufman, manager, boating services and education, outboard boat club of America, Chicago; vice commodore Milton F. Hayes, 5th coast guard district auxiliary, Detroit; Cmdr. Paul E. Ross, Detroit power squadron, and Lt. Cmdr. Sam. Piccolo, director U.S. Coast Guard auxiliary, 5th Coast Guard District, Cleveland, Ohio.

Ross and Hayes outlined the education programs of the power squadron—an organization of boating enthusiasts—and the coast guard auxiliary.

Kaufman described similar programs sponsored by the outboard boat club, as well as industry's efforts to promote boat safety.

Michigan is second in the nation in small boat production, led only by New York. There are 500,000 small craft in the state, with 200,000 of them in five counties around Detroit.

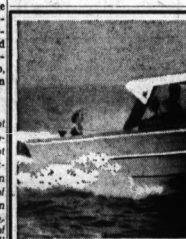

"This is the fastest growing sport in the nation," he said. The phenomenal growth has created an urgent need for some sort of "over-all watchdog" in the question of water safety, Grig added.

"We do not want law enforcement and policing for small boat owners," Hayes said. The power of suggestion—in boating classes

Conservation director Gerald E. Eddy asked the attorney general's office to intervene in behalf of the department at a Wayne County Circuit Court hearing set for Friday.

The dispute was touched off March 31 when the Union Salvage Co. built a 15-foot-high fill 100 feet into the river for disposal of debris from the old Hudson Motor Car Co.

A court restraining order halted the operation the next day. The Conservation Department contends the dumping will interfere with fishing, boating and other public recreational rights, Eddy said.

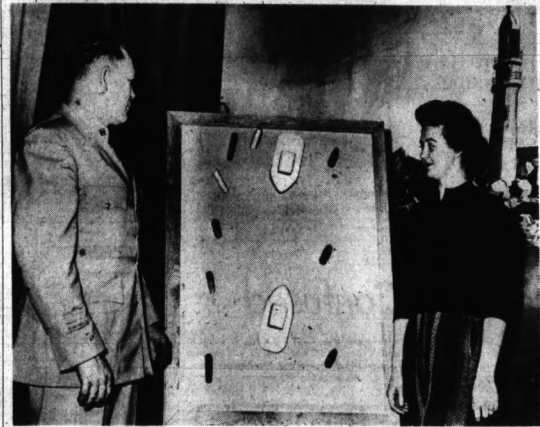

OWENS "21" SEMI-ENCLOSED SEA SKIFF

A boat for those who want the mobility of an outboard but the dependability associated with an inboard. Here is a boat that can be trailer-mounted anywhere, costs less than a comparable outboard of similar power and can be used for fishing, water skiing, and all-round water fun. The private forward cabin has two cushions and a concealed toilet. For the sportsman, this 21' semi-enclosed SEA SKIFF with its spacious cockpit, all weather protection wood hard-top, and a 145 Flagship Marine V-8 Engine is the ideal boat.

'Safety Not Law' Boating Problem

LANSING (AP)—Education—not legislation—is the answer to the problem of boating safety, says a panel of experts.

And coordination of the efforts of various safety groups is necessary for this dissemination of knowledge, added William T. Greig, water safety coordinator for the Michigan State Waterways Commission.

Greig said in as moderator for a panel discussion of boating safety part of the 31st annual Michigan safety conference in Lansing's civic center yesterday.

The panel included Matt J. Kaufman, manager, boating services and education, outboard boat club of America, Chicago; vice commodore Milton F. Hayes, 5th coast guard district auxiliary, Detroit; Cmdr. Paul E. Ross, Detroit power squadron, and Lt. Cmdr. Sam. Piccolo, director U.S. Coast Guard auxiliary, 5th Coast Guard District, Cleveland, Ohio.

Ross and Hayes outlined the education programs of the power squadron—an organization of boating enthusiasts—and the coast guard auxiliary.

Kaufman described similar programs sponsored by the outboard boat club, as well as industry's efforts to promote boat safety.

Michigan is second in the nation in small boat production, led only by New York. There are 500,000 small craft in the state, with 200,000 of them in five counties around Detroit.

"This is the fastest growing sport in the nation," he said. The phenomenal growth has created an urgent need for some sort of "over-all watchdog" in the question of water safety, Grig added.

"We do not want law enforcement and policing for small boat owners," Hayes said. The power of suggestion—in boating classes consponsored by the coast guard auxiliary and from other, informed, boaters—should be sufficient to handle the largest problem in the field—safe handling of small boats.

The Detroit power squadron—an educational service body "is sometimes the largest in the United States," Ross said. Membership fluctuates, he explained.

"We teach safety," the vice commodore said, "but I'm not sure it can be taught. First there must be a desire to be safe—something many Americans seem to lack down upon."

The power squadron's attempts to teach basic rules and regulations along with safety will have better effects than restrictions and regulations on operators, he added.

It's Time to Give Boat Overall Spring Check

Spring is here! You've given your boat a good cleaning, checked all fittings and lines, and obtained your 1961 Courtesy Safety Inspection sticker from the Coast Guard.

Your motor has been given a thorough going over — plugs cleaned or replaced, fuel filter thoroughly flushed, all grease replaced and fittings tightened, clamp brackets and transom through-bolts checked for security, and all control cables inspected.

Your outboard rig is ready to go. But are you? The Mercury outboard people suggest that when spring's first good boating day arrives, you spend the first few hours on the water giving yourself a refresher course.

Drop an inflated balloon or a sealed, empty milk carton in the water and make a few trial approaches to it. After a few such runs, practice casting off and then docking a few times.

Remember that the mark of a good skipper, like that of a good chauffeur, is the comfort of his passengers.

Try the four basic knots—cleat hitch and clove hitch for docking, plus bowline and sheet bend—in case you've forgotten them. They'll come back quickly.

These few hours of practice will reestablish the good boating habits which will make your summer's boating safer and more pleasurable.

One of the popular boat styles of 1961 should be the fiberglass outboard cruiser which goes around 17-feet, weighs in the range of 900 pounds and is priced around $1695 (f.o.b.).

This is the type of boat which offers the luxury and safety of a small cabin for families which include a couple youngsters. It also has the advantage to get the speed and maneuverability for water skiing.

In outboard motors in the range of 40 to 80 horsepower can be used adequately on the boat. Some makers suggest that 80 should be maximum for this boat.

For the lakes around Pontiac such a boat would be ideal for many activities from fishing, cruising to water skiing.

Some Doubt Reds Put Man Into Orbit

Man in Street Is Worried and Confused

By The Associated Press
Joe Smith, average American, is both worried and confused about the Soviet announcement that they orbited a man around the earth.

This was the reaction reported in a nationwide poll by 11 newspapers to find out what the man in the street thinks of the Soviet space achievement.

In each city reporters called Joe Smith, picked at random from the telephone directory.

The poll was conducted in Miami, Detroit, Akron, Charlotte, Denver, Dallas, Minneapolis, Los Angeles, Oklahoma City and Washington, D.C.

Two Joe Smiths said they thought the United States should step up its space program. Three doubted if the Soviets had really sent a man into space.

CONFIDENCE IN JFK
Two couldn't see what difference it made. Two expressed confidence that President Kennedy would keep the Soviets from retaining any advantage over us and three hailed it as a great scientific achievement.

Joe J. Smith, 23, of Charlotte, N.C., said, "I just wish we had done it first. Maybe we're not spending enough money to perfect it right."

Miamian Joe W. Smith, 68, a retired World War veteran, called it "a bunch of Russian lies." He said "I think it's propaganda to break us down, but they won't break down (President) Kennedy. Flying in space is against God's wishes."

DOUBTS FEAT
"I doubt that they did it," said Joe Smith, 61, draftsman for the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation in Denver.

"I think it's a pretty great feat myself," said Joe Smith, 47, Dallas electrician. "The flight shows a lot of skill on the part of the Russians and I believe it is the first step toward interplanetary transportation if we are going to have."

Joe Smith, 85, an attorney in Pasadena, Calif., said: "I think it's a lot of damned foolishness."

Issue Kidnaping Warrant Against Toledo Organist

DETROIT (AP)—A federal kidnaping warrant was authorized here today against a 31-year-old Toledo, Ohio, church organist in the abduction of a 7-year-old Detroit boy.

U. S. Attorney Lawrence Gubow authorized the warrant against Thaddeus Wellbaum, arrested Wednesday night at his home by FBI agents and Detroit and Toledo police. The warrant charges kidnaping under the Lindbergh Act and conviction can be punished by death.

Wellbaum was jailed at Toledo.

Deluca said Wellbaum's home had been under surveillance for the last 36 hours. A car which fit the description of the one used to abduct Gary was found near Wellbaum's home.

Gary was reported missing at 10 p.m. Sunday. He was found unharmed at 1:15 a.m. Monday, huddled in a doorway in Toledo.

He said he went there with a man who said he needed Gary to help him move some furniture, but was let out after the man's car stalled.

D. S. Hostetter, FBI chief in Detroit, said the Michigan State Police originally suspected investigation of Wellbaum, who was acquitted last Sept. 9 at Grand Rapids of enticing a 7-year-old Grand Rapids boy into his car.

At that time Wellbaum was an organist at a Muskegon church. He was arrested at Midland after a six-day search last June, but was acquitted in Grand Rapids Superior Court.

Just You Wait Until the Sun Shines Through

Don't let snow flurries, rain and cloudy days discourage you for "behind the clouds is the sun still shining."

The weatherman said tonight will be mostly fair with a low of 36, and Friday will be mostly fair and warmer, the high climbing to 56. There is a chance of rain and cooler temperatures again Saturday.

Morning northeasterly winds at 10 miles per hour will become 10 to 20 m.p.h. late this afternoon, and southerly tonight.

The lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 34. The temperature reading at 1 p.m. was 43.

Sees Bigger Red Triumphs

U.S. to Lag in Space Quite a While---JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says the Soviet Union will remain ahead of the United States for some time in the space race—that "the news will be worse before it is better."

But he said he is hopeful that the United States will be first in other scientific achievements of much greater benefit to mankind than the spectacular Soviet feat of firing a man around the globe and bringing him safely back to earth.

And while Kennedy credits the Soviets with "a most impressive scientific accomplishment," he does not regard it as any sign of "weakening of the Free World" in the struggle against communism.

But in setting forth these views at a news conference Wednesday, the President did sound a note of warning.

He said: "I do regard the total mobilization of men and things for the service of the Communist bloc over the last years as a source of great danger to us. And I would say we are going to have to live with that danger through most of the rest of this century."

This ninth Kennedy news conference, "Weekend of the Free World" in the struggle against communism.

His face was a study in solemn seriousness as he dealt at length with the space situation, saying "we are behind," as he pledged that under no circumstances will U.S. armed forces be engaged in any move to overthrow Cuba's Fidel Castro regime; as he stopped just short of calling Castro a Communist; as he said that, under present circumstances the United States continues to oppose admission of Red China.

HOPES FOR JOBS
And he voiced hope, too, that an upturn in the national economy will provide new jobs for several thousand civilians employed at about 50 military installations to be shut down.

Just before his news conference Kennedy sent Soviet Premier Khrushchev a congratulatory cable on the man-in-space victory.

"It is my sincere desire," Kennedy told the Kremlin leader, "that in the continuing quest for knowledge of outer space our nations can work together to obtain the greatest benefit to mankind."

At the session with newsmen the President also extended congratulations to the young Soviet astronaut who rode the space vehicle around the world and back to the Soviet Union.

Kennedy did not say what would happen if there were no response from Moscow. But he left a clear implication that American supplies would be continued to the royal government.

The State Department already has warned that any further delay in Soviet agreement to a cease fire would be cause for very serious concern in Washington.

The United States has insisted that the shooting be stopped before it sends any delegation to a 14-nation conference to settle the Laotian crisis.

Kennedy avoided any threats or bluster. He took issue with reports earlier this week from official sources that there had been a sizable increase in the Soviet air force of arms to the rebel Pathet Lao forces.

"The (Soviet) supplies have continued, but I do not think it is fair to say, or accurate to say, that there has been a sharp step-up in the last few days," Kennedy said.

Laos Cease Fire Seen This Week

President Says U.S. to Continue Supplying if Russ Don't Agree

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is looking forward to an agreement this week from the Soviet Union to a cease fire in Laos.

President Kennedy set the expected time for the Soviet reply at his news conference late Wednesday. He expressed hope that the reply would enable both East-West leaders to halt their supply of arms to the opposing forces in Laos.

Kennedy did not say what would happen if there were no response from Moscow. But he left a clear implication that American supplies would be continued to the royal government.

COSMONAUT AND FAMILY—Maj. Yuri Alekseyevich Gagarin, 27-year-old Russian space man whom the Soviets say has orbited the globe safely, is shown with his wife Valentina, 26, and daughter Yelena, 2. The couple's other daughter Galya is just a month old. Tass, the Soviet news agency that made the photo available, did not indicate when it was made.

Kept Mission a Secret

Yuri's Feat Startled Wife

By ALINE MOSBY

MOSCOW (UPI)—The wife of Yuri Gagarin, the world's first space voyager, had no idea he was in orbit until a neighbor ran into their apartment and told her about his epic feat.

"I knew Yuri was preparing for an important assignment," Mrs. Valentina Gagarin told a Russian reporter Wednesday, "but he was afraid to upset me. This morning a neighbor—all joy and excitement—rushed in and told me to switch on the radio, which was transmitting the news about Yuri."

The 27-year-old Soviet air force major's first trip outside Russia turned out to be a history-making event—literally "out of this world."

Valentina listened all morning to the radio announcements of her husband's voyage. Neighbors dropped in to give the nervous wife cups of hot tea.

When news of her husband's safe landing was broadcast, Valentina grabbed her mother, who also lives in the apartment, kissed and hugged her joyously.

Still trembling from the excitement, the spaceman's wife happily grabbed pictures of her husband being flashed on the television screen.

Mrs. Gagarin, a 26-year-old mother of two girls, Yelena, 2, and Galya, 1 month, was described by the Soviet news agency Tass as a "simple, modest young woman of medium height."

The couple live on the fifth floor of a new concrete apartment house in a special housing development for test pilots on the outskirts of Moscow.

Friends and neighbors said the Gagarins are a well-liked couple.

"She is a typical mother," said one friend with a smile. "She was very anxious and nervous throughout this flight. She kept worrying that her being upset would prevent her from nursing her baby."

Late Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Gagarin, her two daughters and her mother were whisked into Moscow by a government limousine to await the arrival of her husband, who was undergoing medical tests.

Gagarin's mother Anna, 58, also was brought in from her village in the Smolensk area for what was expected to be a joyful reunion with her son. A giant rally has been planned for the hero in Red Square, with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to welcome Gagarin.

"Yuri was an industrious, modest boy who studied well at school," the cosmonaut's father Aleksei Gagarin told Tass.

"He went in for sports and air craft modeling. In his free time he could be seen making aircraft models or gliders. He liked to read books about fliers, books by Jules Verne, to dream of the time when man will fly to other planets."

The 50-year-old carpenter-jointer said he felt "great joy and pride" at his son's achievement.

The plants are Autolite's battery factory at Owosso and a spark plug plant at Fostoria, Ohio. The other assets acquired by Ford are certain patents and license rights and rights to the trade name "Autolite."

Henry Ford II, Ford chairman, and Robert D. Davies, president of Electric Autolite, gave details of the transaction in a joint statement issued from Ford's headquarters in Dearborn.

The transaction was a major deal in the auto and allied industry.

The Owosso and Fostoria plants are among numerous factories of Electric Autolite in the United States and Canada. Ford will continue production at both plants.

Autolite will continue to manufacture and market spark plugs and batteries and other automotive products for sale to automotive manufacturers and others, the Ford-Davies statement said.

The announcement said Electric Autolite "will make available to Ford its sales organization for distributing in the replacement market spark plugs, batteries and electrical products."

The Russian cosmonaut, in an interview with the Soviet News agency Tass, described the eerie situation in the space ship when weightlessness took over.

The entire flight, he asserted, was worked all the way and particularly in that phase.

Even so, he said, he felt excellent during that period of his 108-minute flight.

Works on Notes While Circling Around Earth

MOSCOW (AP)—Maj. Yuri Gagarin said today he worked on his notes, and even ate and drank while objects were floating around in the realm of weightlessness as he orbited the earth.

The Russian cosmonaut, in an interview with the Soviet News agency Tass, described the eerie situation in the space ship when weightlessness took over.

The entire flight, he asserted, was worked all the way and particularly in that phase.

Even so, he said, he felt excellent during that period of his 108-minute flight.

Soviet Doctors Run Spaceman Through Tests

Plan Ceremonies in Moscow to Honor Heroic Cosmonaut

From Our News Wires

MOSCOW—Soviet doctors put spaceman Yuri Gagarin through a series of careful medical tests today before letting him return to Moscow for a tumultuous hero's welcome.

The 27-year-old cosmonaut, exultant over his successful 108-minute whirl around the earth at better than 17,000 miles an hour, confidentially predicted bigger and better Russian space feats to come.

"I think the time is not far off when we shall be able to carry out a flight to the moon, Mars and other areas of the vast outer space," he told the editors of Izvestia and Pravda by telephone.

Gagarin was teased through the Soviet Union amid indications that cosmonauts might be held in the capital Friday.

Government spokesmen admitted their customary tight-lipped silence, but official Soviet photographers said they hoped to be able to make new pictures Friday of the Soviet Union's new pin-up boy.

Hotel managers in downtown Moscow were advised to prepare for large crowds "coming from Red Square"—the main area for the biggest Soviet celebrations.

Tall silver-colored flag poles were in place along the side of the square that borders the GUM department store and a new crowd barrier was put up at the foot of the square.

CELEBRATION SETTING
Workmen have been decorating the capital for the annual May Day parade more than two weeks hence but preparations in the square were so advanced by midday that the setting was suitable for a celebration Friday.

When the public triumph is staged for Gagarin, Premier Khrushchev is certain to be on hand.

The premier, vacationing at the Black Sea resort of Sochi, telephoned Gagarin after his landing Wednesday and told him: "I shall be glad to meet you in Moscow. We shall celebrate with you, with all our people, along the great feat in the conquest of outer space."

Tass news agency said Gagarin told Khrushchev proudly by phone after he landed Wednesday: "Now let other countries catch up."

"That's right," Khrushchev said. "Let the capitalist countries catch up with our country."

A restricted number of Soviet scientists and journalists knew where Gagarin was being examined but they kept it to themselves, as well as the sites where his space ship took off and landed Wednesday.

YURI IN GOOD SHAPE
The chief Soviet news outlets—Tass agency, Moscow radio, and the newspapers Izvestia and Pravda—all reported Gagarin was in excellent shape when he stepped from his space capsule.

The youthful pilot—promoted from senior lieutenant to major only Wednesday as he left to make his epic flight—said he felt "well, extremely well" all during his journey into space and his landing back on earth.

"There was almost no trace of fatigue on my young face," reported the Pravda correspondent who interviewed him after his landing.

As had been predicted, the first manned orbit of the earth was at a relatively low altitude—below 200 miles at its highest point—to avoid dangerous belts of radiation further out.

Nevertheless, scientists would want to put earth's first space man through exhaustive medical and psychological tests to determine what if any after effects he might have suffered.

Alexander Topcheyev, vice president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, said two Western reporters Wednesday that the date of the next manned launching would depend to a great degree on these studies of Gagarin.

Blonde Charmer Miss Boys' Club

By MAX E. SIMON

The eyes of a cute, 4-year-old blonde sparkled happily Wednesday night after she was named Miss Pontiac Boys' Club of 1961.

Winner over 29 other little beauties blue-eyed Diane Dix entered the contest to please her brother, Kenneth, 8.

When it ended, however, Diane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Dix, 41 S. Jessie St., learned that it was worth it.

Especially when she received her prize—a blonde doll standing 4 inches tall, Diane, herself, is the same height.

Her surprised, but proud brother, whispered to the new queen when the results were announced: "I never thought you were that pretty."

He was pleased that his sister won, no doubt of that. He personally gave a manful handshake to the women judges.

And he told friends: "It's great for Diane. She's never had a BIG doll before."

Some 400 persons watched the tiny charmers parade across the runway in the boys' club gymnasium.

Diane—No. 27—was the one who won the hearts of audience and judges with her smile.

Adenauer Glad Over U.S. Talks

German Leader Meets With JFK Again Today, Then Flies to Texas

WASHINGTON (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was reported well pleased Thursday by his foreign policy talks with President Kennedy. He apparently was reassured as to U.S. firmness under the new Kennedy administration in dealings with the Soviet Union.

The two men will meet in conference with two meetings today. Adenauer was scheduled to call on Kennedy for a 30-minute session this morning, followed by a final 30-minute meeting at the White House in late afternoon. Berlin was scheduled as a principal topic for this session.

On Sunday, the German leader, 85, will fly to Austin, Tex. He will be a guest over Sunday night at Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's ranch. He is scheduled to address the Texas Legislature at Austin Monday before departing on his return flight to Germany. Adenauer obtained new assurances on U.S. policy with respect to West Berlin in the course of a meeting with Secretary of State Dean Rusk at the State Department late Thursday. Rusk told him and Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano that the United States would be prepared to take whatever action may be necessary to meet any threat to its rights and obligations in West Berlin.

This reassurance was one of the things Adenauer came here to get. But perhaps even more importantly he wanted to form his first-hand impression of the new President and to determine for himself if Kennedy intends to build up the military strength and political unity of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization while he undertakes at the same time negotiations to improve relations with the Soviet Union.

Rain, Tornadoes Hit Southwest; Snow in East

Rains tapered off in the storm-stricken areas of the Southeast and in much of the dampened Midwest today. But more showers and some snow fell in many parts of the East and West.

Violent weather hit the Southwest Wednesday, with heavy rain and tornadoes in a storm belt from the Tennessee Valley into the South Atlantic states.

Rain and snow covered wide areas during the early morning from Lower Michigan southward into the Gulf States and eastward into the Middle and North Atlantic Coast states. The wet weather headed into New England.

Shotgun Slaying Suspect Freed

Royal Oak Twp. Man Released by Court Due to Insufficient Evidence

Insufficient evidence has meant freedom for 20-year-old Fred K. Lindsey of Royal Oak Township, who was released yesterday after facing trial for 1 1/2 days for assault with intent to commit murder. Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziem dismissed the charge against Lindsey, of 21667 Wyoming St., when Assistant Prosecutor James Roberts moved for the dismissal after the people had closed its case against Lindsey.

He was accused in the Feb. 11 shotgun killing of Henry Warren, 25, of Detroit, who was shot following a knife fight in the township as he visited his estranged wife and children.

A second man, George Ross Jr., 19, of the same Wyoming address, is scheduled to be tried next Thursday on a first-degree murder charge in Warren's death.

Lindsey had waived a jury trial. Robert claimed there was insufficient evidence to convict Lindsey after he had called six witnesses before Judge Ziem's court.

Held in Brief $11,000 Loss From Baby Buggy

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A "big-bending" 62-year-old construction worker, unemployed since last December, today was being questioned in the brief disappearance of $11,000 from a baby buggy.

Detectives Joseph Zennaro and Owen Doyle, $9,100 was recovered Wednesday from the man who claimed he found a nylon-wrapped package of money in the street.

Mrs. Wallace Jackson, 25, reported Tuesday that she had lost the money from between the canopy layers of a baby stroller while walking her 6-month-old infant downtown.

She said the money—from the sale of a building to the city—was included in $100 and $50 denominations.

The Day in Birmingham Will Open Sewer Bids for First Phase of System

BIRMINGHAM—Construction bids for the first phase of the Birmingham Hills internal sewer system will be opened May 2, City Clerk Robert Stadler said today.

The city, he said, has been divided into six sections and bids will be taken separately for each area.

The May 2 bids are for work in the south and southwestern areas of the city.

The contract for the southern area calls for the installation of 17,500 feet of 8-inch sewer pipe and 2,042 feet of 6-inch sewer leads.

The other contract is for 18,143 feet of 8-inch pipe, 1,845 feet of 12-inch pipe, 147 feet of 10-inch pipe and 2,700 feet of 6-inch sewer leads.

Stadler said the bids will be opened at 2 p.m. in his office.

Due to widespread community interest in Detroit's Metropolitan Opera season, the Baldwin Public Library has arranged to present daily programs devoted to complete opera recordings, according to Jeanne Lloyd, library director.

All seven of the operas scheduled for Detroit appearance next month will be played in the library auditorium next week as a special feature of National Library Week, April 16-22.

The scheduled opera recordings are: Turandot by Puccini, April 17; Martha by von Florent, April 18; Rigoletto by Verdi, April 19; Nabucco by Verdi, April 20; Aida by Verdi, April 21; La Boheme by Puccini and La Traviata by Verdi, April 22.

All programs will begin at 9:45 a.m. with the exception of "La Traviata," which will start at 2 p.m.

Should public interest warrant it, the program may be repeated by request.

GMC Indicted for Monopoly

Donner Denies Guilt in Charges of Controlling Diesel Locomotives

NEW YORK (AP)—General Motors Corp. has been indicted on a charge of criminally monopolizing production and sale of diesel locomotives and suppressing competition in the industry.

A one-count indictment against GM was returned here Wednesday by a federal grand jury, acting on evidence presented by the Justice Department's antitrust division.

Frederick G. Donner, chairman of the GM board, commented: "General Motors is not guilty of the monopolistic practices charged in the indictment. This will be clearly established at the trial."

The corporation is scheduled to plead in federal district court next Monday. If convicted, it could be fined up to $50,000.

2-YEAR INVESTIGATION

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said in Washington that the charge against GM—violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act—resulted from a two-year investigation.

The indictment says GM used illegal sales methods to suppress competition and capture more than 84 per cent of the locomotive business for its electromotive division.

GM is "probably the nation's largest shipper of freight," the indictment charges that GM routed shipments to favor purchases of its locomotives, and withheld or reduced patronage to lines buying diesel locomotives from GM competitors.

Woman Talks Up to Pilot but How?

CHICAGO (UPI)—Illinois Bell Telephone engineers said today they were at a loss to explain how a telephoning Waukegan housewife carried on a conversation with a pilot flying 23,000 feet above Oklahoma.

"Our technical experts are looking into it," a spokesman said, "but so far they can't explain it. It's one of those once-in-a-million things."

Mrs. Marjorie Stewart was chatting with a friend, Mrs. Helen Schooley, on the telephone Sunday when they heard a man's voice.

"He broke in and we could hear all that air talk like, 'Pilot to Tower,' 'Roger,' and so on," Mrs. Stewart said.

"Finally, the man's voice requested permission to fly to 23,000 feet to clear stormy weather."

Mrs. Stewart, a secretary in the sheriff's office in Waukegan, said she and Mrs. Schooley tried to talk through the interruption, but finally gave up.

A few minutes later, Mrs. Stewart picked up the telephone again and the pilot was still talking.

"What given?" I asked this chap," Mrs. Stewart said, "and he came on and started talking. He said he was 13 minutes out of Tulsa, Okla., and would arrive at Midway Airport (Chicago) in about 15 minutes."

Mrs. Stewart said she told the pilot it was snowing in the Chicago area and he replied that he was flying a chartered cargo plane through heavy snow at the same time.

"They wouldn't believe it when I told them I was talking over a telephone with him," she said.

Total attendance at the series last year exceeded 5,000.

Jet Plane Noise May Get Worse, Says FAA Exec

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The problem of aircraft noise may become even worse as jet service expands, James T. Pyle, deputy administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency, said Tuesday.

Pyle, in testimony before a House commerce subcommittee, said efforts continue to reduce the sound level of jet engines. He said he believes the noise nuisance can be held to tolerable levels.

"(But) in all candor," he said, "the future outlook has both bleak and promising aspects. There are no immediate and dramatic means of reducing drastically the sounds that accompany essential air transportation."

Pyle said stepped-up jet operations and introduction of jet service at additional airports "will amplify the problem to some degree."

Pyle said it costs $240,000 per plane to install sound suppressors on four-jet transport aircraft.

DETROIT (AP)—Continental Motors Corp. has announced net earnings of $394,813 on sales of $30,902,135 for the quarter ended Jan. 31, 1961, compared with earnings of $405,541 on sales of $33,434,445 in the corresponding period last year.

Secretary Tackling Tough Foreign Aid

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — One of the truly important jobs in the Kennedy administration is in the hands of a man the country doesn't hear much about, George W. Ball, international lawyer.

The tall, husky Ball, 51, once associated with Adlai Stevenson's Chicago law firm, is assistant secretary of state for economic affairs. That gives him two jobs mainly, both carried out with one eye on the Soviet Union.

AID COMBINE

1. Trying to pull this country's various foreign aid programs together and making them work better than they ever did by putting aid on a long-term basis instead of the year-to-year arrangement of the past.

2. Working closer with American allies—at a time when they are considering working closer together among themselves—not only on foreign aid but all the multitude of economic problems affecting this country's relations with them.

One of the handicaps of the past in helping backward peoples come abreast of the 20th century—at a time when communism insists it can do it better and faster—was the year to year kind of aid this country provided. When a recipient nation didn't know whether next year's aid was coming, it couldn't plan long-range to develop itself.

The Kennedy administration wants to change that by being able to say something like this: "You draw up the plans for your own development, looking years ahead, and if we approve you can count on so much help from us for the next years."

ROUGH DAYS AHEAD

Since Congress may not buy the long-range idea—it doesn't like to yield the power of being able to veto spending any year it chooses—the administration faces a tough time with the Senate and House.

President Kennedy, Ball, and their aides can be prepared for some rough days ahead.

But the Kennedy administration is optimistic in one direction—that a number of foreign allies, like Germany and Britain, will share a bigger part of the foreign aid expenses by clipping in themselves.

This country is anxious to see closer cooperation among its European allies, not only politically but economically. They've split themselves into two big trading groups: the Inner Six and the Outer Seven.

The seven are Britain, Austria, Denmark, Norway, Portugal, Sweden and Switzerland. The six are France, West Germany, Belgium, Italy, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

This country would like to see Britain get into the Inner Six group which contains United States' other biggest allies in Europe. West Germany and France.

One reason this country would like to see it happen—and the British are considering the idea—is the belief it would bring the big West European countries closer together in cooperation.

Time itself may be a precious factor here since the chance of closer cooperation between Britain, France and West Germany may be better while French President Charles de Gaulle and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer are in office than when their successors move in.

Last March, the United States Economic Cooperation and Development joined the Organization for Economic Co-operation, whose 20 members are linked in a joint effort to keep their economies high while contributing to the economic development of underprivileged countries.

There are two pretty good reasons why Ball, despite the size of the job he has, may well remain pretty much in the background.

1. He's pretty quiet anyway.

2. In this administration it's the President who makes the big announcements.

ROBERT WELCH

Birch Leader Heckled at Talk

Students Give Welch Trouble but He Gets Plenty of Applause

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Applause liberally sprinkled with boos and hisses greeted a speech Wednesday night by Robert Welch, head of the right-wing John Birch Society.

A crowd of 1,100—many heckling— jammed a high school auditorium as Welch gave essentially the same speech he had delivered to applause and cheers in Los Angeles the week before.

His theme: Communists and Communist sympathizers are infiltrating the government and Protestant ministry.

After the speech Welch held a question and answer session that he cut short when a college student began asking questions from the floor. Welch said he did not wish to turn the evening into a debate.

Welch, founder of the society which describes itself as militant anti-Communist, was interrupted by applause 15 times. But there were also hisses and boos from a group of college students.

They were especially noisy when Welch attacked Chief Justice Earl Warren and when he reminded his audience that the Birch society has "been officially and publicly endorsed by (Richard J.) Cardinal Cushing (Cushing, Roman Catholic prelate from Boston, recently endorsed the society's goals.)"

Liquidation is a common practice in Russia. More than six million have met death in a common manner there and in Communist China.

Where is the true sense of justice? The butcher of Budapest—When that nitwit Khrushchev was over here we had a wonderful chance to convict him. We let that old rabble rouser continue to mastermind the cold war as we know it today. It's disgusting how people lead over him in this country.

'Should Pay People on School Board'

Mr. Osmun has been honored with a banquet for his years of service as a school board member to try and raise the money worth $250 each. Pontiac citizens should be ashamed to ask their school board members to operate almost a $12 million business for nothing.

Why should a school board member be expected to work for nothing? You don't ask your city councilmen, county supervisors, or township trustees to do this work free. They get a salary for their services, and they don't have the responsibility the school board member has.

Deardon pays their members $2,000 per year for their services. We don't even give gasoline money. Any man or woman is worthy of their hire. The school law provides to pay them by consent of the qualified voters. Let's get this on the ballot and at least pay them something.

'Harmful to Operate TV Without Cabinet'

I wish to say a word of warning and that is, do not operate a TV set without a cabinet around it. The bare works can give off tiny but harmful rays.

I Know

Says UF Donators Compelled to Give

—Would "Annual United Fund Worker" let me know which was first—donor. Drive or UF? The UF is the same as a big business moving in and choking out the little fellow. The UF is practically dictatorial. Either you join or you get the droppings. Then you have people like "Annual UF Worker" kicking in your teeth.

March of Dimes and Cancer Drives are aimed at the true giver, not the forced or pressured giver, as I would be willing to bet 65 per cent of the UF donors are. The true giver gives with a willing heart.

Refers Writer to TV Program on Sweden

It has taken a long time to answer "Ex-Swedish Journalist" but last Sunday's TV program "Sweden Paradise With a Problem" also called the Welfare State made me once more sit down and write.

If "ESI" didn't see the program the second part will be on Sunday night. I didn't mean to attack the Swedes themselves, just the welfare system under which they live.

However, "ESI" cheer up! Sweden is still the cleanest country in the world.

League Bowlers Having Tough Time

It sounds as though the bowlers of the Pontiac area are going to be "saved" from the advantages and the "giveaway" programs being offered by new bowling houses in this area. Who are the "saviours"? A new four man proprietors' group, something area bowlers need like a 50-week season!

Pontiac area bowlers need the cooperation and consideration from bowling establishments on the length of seasons and cost of bowling and not price fixing and pre-determined length of seasons.

Some proprietors will find for the first time that they can't demand the length of seasons they want bowlers to bowl. The hedge-podge among Pontiac area bowling alleys is a ridiculous insult to the average bowler in this area. It's great for the "money bowlers" but we aren't concerned with their plight.

If proprietors can promote "classics" and "giveaways" why can't they give the guy or gal who bowls just for fun, a break on the length of the season or line fees?

Proprietors are demanding leagues to bowl from 22 to 36 weeks. For some leagues who like to start their golf leagues and other summer activities in April and continue through September, 30 weeks is plenty. This is why many league bowlers quit leagues. They feel that 22 weeks remaining could be used for other activities.

Lewis J. Fitzgerald A. J. Latonas

The recent stories in The Press for the Pontiac area bowling situation had some good points. It's time area proprietors stop cut-throating and consider the bowlers. Why don't the proprietors strive real soon for a Pontiac area bowling association? We don't need the Detroit ABC. We can't even have our own city championship because of the Detroit association.

Her Husband Near During Childbirth

The hospital is the proper place to have a baby. Would any husband, worthy of the name, shirk the duty of comforting and cherishing his wife even in a stillbirth? As I had my first baby at the age of sixteen and my husband eighteen in a hospital, I cannot begin to tell the joy of having him there. We were only to have our little one for a few hours. He was with me for the second and third birth. When the fourth and fifth came, we were in Pontiac and they gave all kinds of silly reasons why I couldn't have him with me. I never felt so alone in my life.

Students Aided by New York

State Votes $100-$800 Grants for Many Who Go to College

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—New York State will begin paying annual tuition grants of $100 to $800 next February to college students.

Nearly every New Yorker attending a private college within the state, and some attending the public colleges, are eligible.

The so-called scholar-incentive program became law Tuesday when Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller affixed his signature to the bill sent him by the 1961 legislature.

Rockefeller also signed other higher-education bills providing for more requests for scholarships and an expanded loan program for college students.

The school-incentive program was Rockefeller's prime project for the 1961 legislative session and it gave him the most trouble. It was challenged by religious groups and others, who contended it violated the constitutional principle of separation of church and state. Roman Catholic leaders endorsed the program.

The grants will range from $100 to $800, depending on family income, for undergraduate students and from $200 to $800 for graduate students.

Illinois Village Begins Election on Wrong Day

ST. DAVID, Ill. (AP)—The less said about it, the better. Mayor Don Bims said of Tuesday's village election. But it wasn't the result of the voting that bothered the mayor.

St. David residents aren't supposed to have their election until next Tuesday.

The error wasn't discovered until noon, when 80 voters already had gone to the town's one polling place. A salesman passing through commented that most towns in the area aren't voting until next week.

The polls closed early and voters were told to come back again next week. Bims is unopposed for reelection as mayor of St. David, a village of 862 south of Canton.

Drives 20 Cars Per Week on Quality Audit

By BEN FLEIGER
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT—Four times a day, five days a week Adam Aguirre takes possession of a spanking new Cadillac which he personally selects off the assembly line.

For 30 minutes, Aguirre who takes home $93 a week and drives a Ford in his off hours, plays the role of a severe critic of these $6,000 chariots. He is expected to look for flaws even a most loving owner wouldn't notice.

Working from a three-page, single-spaced list of 136 items, he subjects the car to a detailed visual inspection, then whips it over a 21-mile stretch of free-way, brick pavement and chuck-hole-filled side streets.

Every detected flaw must be rated—inferior, minor, major, serious or critical. Aguirre must be specific. If the dashboard rattles he has to say where the rattle is. Do the tires ride smoothly? Is there wind noise with the windows closed?

In the end Aguirre submits a written report, takes a break and picks another car.

A QUALITY AUDIT
All of this is a part of the auto industry's intensified quality program. At Cadillac it is called a quality audit and about one of every 20 cars is so examined.

Aguirre is one of a small group of trained men who work under supervisor Paul Taylor. Over-all boss of the project is E. D. Sims, director of reliability for Cadillac.

"We want to see how we are doing," Sims explains. "If we find something wrong we trace it right to the source. Was it the fault of a supplier, of our manufacturing, of our assembly operation, or what? Then we can get it corrected. The place to fix problems is where they occur. We think it is the only way we can insure consistently good quality."

Sims says his program was tailored specifically for Cadillac. "We knew our setup and what we wanted to achieve. I frankly don't know if it would work for anyone else."

Aguirre says his work "kind of spoils me when I have to drive my own car." But he is obviously enthusiastic about his job, an enthusiasm evident throughout Taylor's department.

Working deftly, Aguirre begins his check with a test of the horn buttons for possible dead spots.

The road test itself has 35 specific points, involving 68 operations to be examined, such as steering, brakes, air conditioning, transmission shift points.

Sims emphasizes the audit is not an attempt to correct minor problems on a specific car. Rather, it serves as a check on the entire car-building process.

"If something major is found we can get back to the exact point involved in 30 minutes," he said. "You have to build the quality into the car in the first place."

Cadillac, like all other manufacturers, still holds its dealers responsible for the final check of each car before delivering it to a customer.

$30 FOR SERVICE
Included in the price of each Cadillac is a minimum of $30 for such service, meaning the factory has had no mechanical problems.

U.S. Astronaut Will Have Fleet of Copilots to Help

By STANLEY HALL
United Press International

KOKEE, Hawaii (UPI) — Only one of the seven U.S. astronauts can make that first trip into orbit, but the others will be serving as landlocked copilots to help him all they can.

The six who—like the astronaut—trained for three years for the trip three times around the world will be stationed at strategically located tracking stations over the globe.

One of them will be here at this National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) tracking station halfway up a 5,000-foot mountain on the island of Kauai.

Others will be watching instruments simulating the ones in the tiny capsule from stations at Point Arguello, Calif., Bermuda, Woomera, Australia, and Cape Canaveral, Fla., where two astronauts will be stationed.

These stations—like nine others—will be able to talk by radio with the astronaut. But these differ in that they will have what amounts to copilots standing by to help out.

CAN OVERRIDE GEAR

These five stations also have the ability to track the capsule as it whips over the earth at 18,000 miles an hour. They also have equipment to "override" the automatic gear in the capsule and bring the astronaut down at any time should there be trouble. Joining the astronaut as these five stations will be two other experts, especially trained just for the orbital flights. They are an aerospace medical officer and a capsule specialist.

The astronaut serving at each station will watch the performance and condition of both the man and the capsule.

The doctor is to watch only the man, checking his heart rate, pulse, temperature and respiration with dials and gauges showing information radiated from the capsule.

The capsule specialist is to check the condition of the capsule both inside and out, including its temperature, attitude, stability and the environment inside the capsule.

At each of these five key tracking stations there is a red rectangular handle on which is written "May day—emergency." If at any time the astronaut copilot, the medical officer or the capsule expert deems it necessary, a quick tug on the handle will send the capsule back toward earth.

PLANS FOR CAPSULE

If all goes well on the flight, present plans call for the capsule to begin its descent to earth somewhere between this station and Pt. Arguello, 2,200 miles away on the mainland.

This would put the capsule back into the Atlantic a few hundred miles from its starting point at Cape Canaveral.

"We hope we'll never have to use that red May day handle," said a spokesman here, "but we like to know we have it if necessary."

The capsule could be landed in the Pacific, the Indian or Atlantic ocean should something go wrong. Rescue crews will be alerted along the astronaut's path during the flight.

This station cost $7 million. The other five cost about the same, a NASA spokesman said, except Cape Canaveral which cost much more since it is the control center for the entire flight. Another key function of this resetting of the automatic timer is that it initiates the capsule's descent. Under present plans, Kokee (pronounced ko-ay-ay) will be the last station to have a chance to adjust the timer, to make sure the descent starts at the right place so the capsule won't hit land, before it starts plunging down in a long flat arc.

But this timer is overridden by the small red handle that is prominent on each copilot's instrument panel. Chances are, if the timer should fail, it would be Kokee that would start the astronaut back to safety.

Baptist Missionary Family

Back Safe From Congo

GRAND RAPIDS UP—A Baptist missionary family has returned safely to Grand Rapids from danger-filled Kivu Province of the African Congo.

Vern Terpstra, his wife Bonnie; their three children, Ben, 6, Kathy, 4 and James, 3; and Terpstra's sister Joan left their station March 23 after harassment by Congolese soldiers intensified. Earlier last March three Terpstra group declined to leave its Kikumba Station under the protection of a Malaysian United Nations patrol.

Terpstra said rabble elements of Congolese soldiers made several forays into the missionary station trying to obtain gasoline and food, but did not back their demands with direct threats.

They implied violence by striking their throats with forefingers, he added.

The missionary, who served nine years in the Congo, said "complete anarchy" prevails in Kivu Province.

The nine stations making up the rest of the network have only voice communications with the astronaut. They are in South Africa, Canton Island, Guaymas, Mexico; White Sands, N. H.; Elgin Air Force Base, Fla.; England, West Africa, and aboard two tracking ships.

The principal pirate strongholds of the old Spanish Main—the Caribbean of the 17th and 18th centuries—were Jamaica, the Bahamas and Tortuga.

May Honor Scientist With 'Lawrencium'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new chemical element has been discovered by U.S. atomic scientists, it has been announced.

The discovery was made by a group at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory at the University of California.

They have suggested that the new element be named Lawrencium, with the chemical symbol LW in honor of the late Ernest C. Lawrence, Nobel prize-winning inventor of the cyclotron and founder of the laboratory.

The Atomic Energy Commission identified the team of scientists who found an isotope of the element as chemists Albert Ghiorso, Torbjorn Sikkeland, Almon E. Larsh and Robert M. Latimer of the radiation laboratory.

The first census on the coast of the Gulf of Mexico was taken at Mobile, Ala., in 1784.

From the Skipper

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

Don't expect any radical new change in the pleasure boating industry in the next decade. This is the opinion of Norman Owen, vice-president of Scott Division of McCullough Corporation.

"Our objective is to make the boat as easy to use as the automobile," said Owen.

The boat field is studying innovations such as jet propulsion, new styling and designs for inboard and outboard motors.

One of the biggest attractions at the various boat shows is the jet-powered boat which was intended as a gift from former president Eisenhower to Russian premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

"Main emphasis in the next few years will be on maturing the equipment we have right now," Owen said.

In regard to consumer potential in boating, Owen said, "The recession hit us before most industries. I think we'll be among the first to pull out of it."

EIGHT MILLION BOATS REGISTERED

There were fewer boats sold in 1960 than the year before but surveys show that there were 8 million boats reported last year, including 6,050,000 outboard motors.

The others included 842,000 inboards and 516,000 sail boats. Remember, these are the ones reported. Add those which have not been reported and other types of water pleasure vehicles and this total could range up as high as 12 million.

Industry figures and Coast Guard figures vary slightly and the reason is that the 1958 Federal Boating Act broadened boat registration in the United States and there has been a slight delay in implementing the legislation in many states.

Consequently, some confusion exists in over-all figures. The Coast Guard and many states have not been registering motors less than 10 horsepower and unpowered craft.

There are 38 states in which some form of registration now exists. Twelve states leave boat numbering to the U.S. Coast Guard and they can only keep track of craft on federal waters. BOATING BUSINESS MEANS BUSINESS

Boating means business and business means more boating. This is the advertising sell of marine dealers in 1961 who don't agree that this would be a hard year to sell.

According to boating's business sheet, the industry passed the 2½ billion dollar mark for the first time in 1960.

A survey of the same business sheet noted that local newspapers played the major role in bolstering volume with more than 39 papers each carrying over 100,000 lines of boat advertising in 1960.

There are 80 newspapers which carry a boating section and 180 papers which carry a weekly boating page.

First Holly-Fenton Canoe Race Sunday

Paddlers Have 8-Mile Course in Competition

Trophies, Prizes to Be Awarded in 2 Different Divisions

The first annual Holly-Fenton Canoe Race, over an 8-mile course will be held Sunday with an expected 30 to 35 canoes in competition.

The race, sponsored jointly by the Holly and Fenton Chambers of Commerce, will start at Holly Mill Pond, on Broad Street and terminate at Bush Park in Fenton on the Shiawassee River.

The expected time of the race will take about one hour and 45 minutes.

The canoes racing will be 16 or 18 footers, and races will be in two divisions, the open and the juniors.

In the open division six prizes will be offered. First place team will receive $50 and each a trophy. The prize list follows with trophies in each place plus $50, $30, $20 and $10. Starting time is 12:30 p.m.

The junior race for youngsters under 15 will start at 1:00 p.m., and first place trophies will be awarded.

Al and LeRoy Widging, noted Holly canoe racing brothers, are conducting the race, and will naturally be among the favorites.

Several teams of Boy Scouts from area troops are entered in the junior division.

Good Boatmen Take Pride in Own Craft

One of the best marks of a good boatman is the condition of his equipment. Boats should be kept clean inside and out and they should be kept dry. Remove water from the boat with a pump, bailing can or sponge, or open the drain cock when it is on a trailer. A champagne abou will come in handy in wiping moisture off deck hardware and fittings and is also a good article to use in wiping down and water off seats and varnished surfaces, according to the Evinrude Boating Foundation. When a boat is used in dirty water, the film will have to be cleaned off the sides of the boat with a detergent or gentle abrasive cleanser after the boat is taken from the water.

Groups Support Yacht Club in Rubble Protest

Conservation director Gerald E. Eddy asked the attorney general's office to intervene in behalf of the department at a Wayne County Circuit Court hearing set for Friday.

The dispute was touched off March 31 when the Union Salvage Co. built a 15-foot-high fill 100 feet into the river for disposal of debris from the old Hudson Motor Car Co.

A court restraining order halted the operation the next day. The Conservation Department contends the dumping will interfere with fishing, boating and other public recreational rights, Eddy said.

Ross and Hayes outlined the education programs of the power squad—an organization of boating enthusiasts—and the coast guard auxiliary.

Kaufman described similar programs sponsored by the outboard boat clubs, as well as industry's efforts to promote boat safety.

"Michigan is second in the nation in small boat population," led only by New York. There are 500,000 small craft in the state, with 200,000 of them in five counties around Detroit.

"This is the fastest growing sport in the nation," he said. The phenomenal growth has created an urgent need for some sort of "over-all watchdog" in the question of water safety, Greig added.

"We do not want law enforcement and policing for small boat owners," Hayes said. The power

'Safety Not Law' Boating Problem

LANSING (AP)—Education—not legislation—is the answer to the problem of boating safety, says a panel of experts.

And co-ordination of the efforts of various safety groups is necessary for this dissemination of knowledge, added W. H. T. Greig, water safety coordinator for the Michigan State Waterways Commission.

Greig sat in as moderator for a panel discussion of boating safety—part of the 31st annual Michigan safety conference in Lansing's civic center yesterday.

The panel included Matt J. Kaufman, manager, boating services and education, outboard boat club of America, Chicago; vice-commodore Milton F. Hayes, 9th coast guard district auxiliary, Detroit; Cmdr. Paul E. Ross, Detroit power district, and Lt. Cmdr. Sam Picchio, director U.S. Coast Guard auxiliary, 9th Coast Guard District, Cleveland, Ohio.

Ross and Hayes outlined the education programs of the power squad—an organization of boating enthusiasts—and the coast guard auxiliary.

Kaufman described similar programs sponsored by the outboard boat clubs, as well as industry's efforts to promote boat safety.

"Michigan is second in the nation in small boat population," led only by New York. There are 500,000 small craft in the state, with 200,000 of them in five counties around Detroit.

"This is the fastest growing sport in the nation," he said. The phenomenal growth has created an urgent need for some sort of "over-all watchdog" in the question of water safety, Greig added.

"We do not want law enforcement and policing for small boat owners," Hayes said. The power of suggestion—in boating classes sponsored by the coast guard auxiliary and from other, informal, boaters—should be sufficient to handle the largest problem in the field—safe handling of small boats.

The Detroit power squad—an educational service body "is sometimes the largest in the United States," Ross said. Membership fluctuates, he explained.

"We teach safety," the vice-commodore said, "but I'm not sure it can be taught. First there must be a desire to be safe—something many Americans seem to lack down upon."

The power squad's attempts to teach basic rules and regulations along with safety will have better effects than restrictions and regulations on operators, he added.

Kaufman said the 350 outboard clubs, with a national membership of 70,000, maintain an educational program that includes publications, films and a three-lesson outline for a course in outboard handling.

This is the type of boat which offers the luxury and safety of a small cabin for families which include a couple youngsters. It also has the advantage to get the speed and maneuverability for water skiing.

In outboard motors in the range of 40 to 80 horsepower can be used adequately on the boat. Some makers suggest that 80 should be maximum for this boat.

For the lakes around Pontiac such a boat would be ideal for many activities from fishing, cruising to water skiing.

It's Time to Give Boat Overall Spring Check

Spring is here! You've given your boat a good cleaning, checked all fittings and lines, and obtained your 1961 Courtesy Safety Inspection sticker from the Coast Guard.

Your motor has been given a thorough going over... plugs cleaned or replaced, fuel filter cleaned, all gas lines replaced and fittings tightened. Check brackets and transom through-bolts checked for security, and all control cables inspected.

Your outboard rig is ready to go. But are you? The Mercury outboard people suggest that when spring's first good boating day arrives, you spend the first few hours on the water giving yourself a refresher course.

Drop an inflated balloon or a sealed, empty milk carton in the water and make a few trial approaches to it. After a few such runs, practice casting off and then docking a few times.

If you ordinarily launch your boat into a river current, work back to the dock from both an up-stream and downstream direction, observing the difference the flow makes in your boat's handling.

Once out on the open water, practice opening the throttle smoothly. Try to get your boat up on plane as quickly as possible without applying power so suddenly that the bow rises menacingly and then drops with a nerve-wracking thump.

Remember that the mark of a good skipper, like that of a good chauffeur, is the comfort of his passengers.

Try the four basic knots—clasp hitch and clove hitch for docking, plus bowline and sheet bend—in case you've forgotten them. They'll come back quickly.

These few hours of practice will reestablish the good boating habits which will make your summer's boating safer and more pleasurable.
