Parvin Foundation Tainted Further

By JEAN HELLER

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A major source of financial support for the foundation which Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas headed for nine years came from a deal set up by Meyer Lansky, one of the nation's most notorious mobsters.

Under a contract signed by Albert Parvin, Lansky was paid $200,000 for acting as middleman in setting up the 1960 sale of the Flamingo Hotel here. Parvin, former head of the Parvin-Dohmann Co. of Los Angeles, was president and 30 per cent owner of the company seeking to sell the hotel-casino.

The Flamingo was sold to a group which included Florida hotelmen Samuel Cohen, Morris Lansburgh and Daniel Lifter.

The $200,000 was a finder's fee which Lansky received for introducing the sellers to the Florida men interested in buying the hotel.

SALE PROCEEDS

Parvin used a portion of the proceeds from the sale of the Flamingo to help set up the Albert Parvin Foundation. Parvin said Douglas aided him in creating the foundation. Douglas later served as its president and only salaried officer.

It could not be determined if Douglas ever learned of or was told of the background of the Flamingo sale at any time during his association with the foundation.

A federal grand jury in New York is reported to be investigating the dealings of Parvin-Dohmann Co. and other individuals and companies, but this probe apparently is unrelated to the Flamingo sale.

The agreement with Lansky was dated May 12, 1960, more than a month after the Cohen-Lansburgh-Lifter group applied to Nevada authorities for approval of the Flamingo purchase. On June 1, the sale was given final approval by the Nevada Gaming Commission.

'TOP GANGSTER'

Lansky's name has come up repeatedly in recent investigations of organized crime. Sen. John L. McClellan's permanent investigations subcommittee, for example, describes Lansky as "one of the country's top gangsters."

The purchase price of the Flamingo was $10.5 million. Parvin was the principal stockholder with more than a 30 per cent share of the company which sold the hotel-casino. Harry Goldman, Parvin's partner in Parvin-Dohmann —

Jet Diverted to Cuba by Farmington Twp. Teen, Son of Ex-DJ

A Farmington Township teen-ager was in Havana today after diverting a Mexico City-to-Miami jetliner to Cuba at gunpoint.

The youth was identified as Henry Shorr, 17, son of former Detroit radio disc jockey Mickey Shorr, 32660 Friar Circle.

The senior Shorr, now selling car stereo equipment, described his son as a loner trying to buck the system.

A June graduate of North Farmington High School, the youth left home for Mexico City about six weeks ago, according to his father. About a month ago his son telephoned home and said he was having trouble getting a visa to Havana, he said.

'JOINING THE REVOLUTION'

Florida State Sen. Thomas Slade, one of 28 passengers aboard the Pan American World Airways jet, said the young hijacker told him that he was going to "join the revolution."

Young Shorr told one passenger that he had "ugled himself up for the hijack by cutting off his shoulder-length hair and full beard, which he said he had worn until yesterday."

Stewardess Maria Lobo of Buenos Aires, Argentina, said Shorr came forward from the tourist class compartment concealing a small revolver when the plane was over the Yucatan Peninsula.

"I have a gun pointing at you," she quoted the youth. "Open the cockpit and tell the captain I want to go to Cuba."

She said that she followed instructions,

but the pilot, Capt. Hudson Gillis, apparently thought it was a joke and did not come out of the cockpit for five minutes. Shorr reportedly never entered the cockpit.

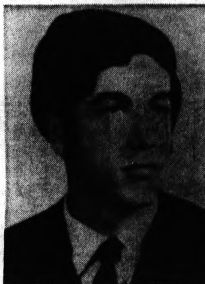

The plane landed in Miami about 5 p.m. yesterday after its release in Havana.

Last spring, Shorr was suspended from school for five days because he protested the school's dress code.

A classmate beat Shorr because "he didn't like the way Hank dressed or his politics," the senior Shorr said. The classmate was suspended for only one day for the fight.

Carrollton School Board to Probe Eavesdropping

SAGINAW — The school board in the Saginaw suburb of Carrollton has promised a full investigation into electronic eavesdropping on a teachers' lounge in Carrollton Junior High School.

Three electronic listening devices were found Monday in the lounge, it was revealed yesterday.

One device, strung with 983 feet of wire, led to a terminal in the school superintendent's office and the other two were hooked up to an earphone set locked in the filing cabinet of the assistant principal, according to Albert Heiman, a representative of Carrollton teachers.

The faculty lounge has been used as a caucus room by teachers during negotiations for a new contract. Carrollton teachers have been working without a pact since the beginning of the school year. A fact-finder's report is due Monday.

HELPED BY BOARD

The Carrollton Board of Education, confronted Monday night with the discovery of one microphone by teachers, helped locate the other two during an on-site investigation.

The board, in a statement issued to teachers Monday night, promised a full investigation. Members of the Carrollton Education Association decided to take no action until results of the investigation are made known.

One microphone, discovered by teachers Monday afternoon, led to a terminal in the office of School Supt. Charles Murphy, which adjoins the teachers' lounge. It was found behind a panel of a wall heating duct.

The other two, secured under a sink next to the lounge, led to a speech correction room, through a floor door, into a crawl space under the floor, and then several hundred feet to the office of Assistant Principal Gerald L. Rittersdorf.

No one has been charged with responsibility for planting the bugging devices. Neither Murphy nor Rittersdorf would comment last night.

Hoffman said teachers had suspected something was wrong when some private conversations by teachers were repeated "almost word for word" by school board negotiators at contracts talks.

Infant Mortality 'Critical in U.S.'

CHICAGO (AP) — The risk of death during the first year of life in the United States is higher than in any other period until the age of 65.

Dr. Frank Falkner, associate director of the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development, cited this information yesterday and said the United States ranks 13th in infant mortality among nations with reliable statistics.

Speaking to science writers at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics, Falkner described the situation as "a disgrace and totally unacceptable."

He attributed the U.S. infant mortality rate of 21.7 per 1,000 mainly to poverty in big cities and some areas of the Deep South and the West.

LACK OF CARE

Poor families, he said, lack health care and prenatal care and suffer from malnutrition.

"Break the poverty cycle," Falkner declared, "and you'll lower the infant mortality rate."

It is a common fallacy, Falkner said, that the high infant mortality rate in the United States is the result of the high rate among Negroes.

In fact, he said, while the rate among Negroes is 42 deaths per 1,000 Negroes make up only 15 per cent of the population and excluding them from statistics would drop the over-all U.S. rate only about 2 points.

He added that the infant mortality rate in the poor white population is slightly higher than among poor Negroes.

Sen. Scott Calls for a Cease-Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania proposed today that the United States declare a cease-fire in Vietnam. He denied he was floating a trial balloon for President Nixon.

"I hope that a cease-fire may be called for," Scott said, thus joining in a proposal sounded repeatedly by Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader. "This is not a trial balloon for the President, it's a personal hope."

Scott said the current U.S. tactics of protective reaction to enemy assault come close to a cease-fire.

"But there is no formalized cease-fire," he said. "I think the time has come to move from protective reaction to an announcement that on a certain date we will stop firing, and if we are not fired on a cease-fire will occur."

Scott did not suggest any date. But he said such a move could not occur in advance of Nixon's report next month to the nation on Vietnam.

Area Gets Preview of Winter

"Squaw Winter" arrived in a flurry of excitement and snowflakes this morning as Oakland County residents were treated to a preview of what's to come.

As winds swung to the north at 20 to 30 miles per hour, early morning rain fell turned into intermittent snow showers. The flakes melted as soon as they hit the autumn-warm ground, though a buildup of slush was noted on many car windows.

Mary Jo Inquest Not Hinged on Autopsy -- DA

From Our News Wires

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. — Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis says he will proceed with plans for an inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne whether or not a judge permits exhumation of her body for an autopsy.

Judge Bernard C. Brominski of Common Pleas Court reserved judgment yesterday after a two-day hearing on a petition by the Massachusetts official to have the body disinterred for a post-mortem examination.

Dinis had contended that an autopsy was needed to pin down the cause of the death of the 28-year-old secretary whose body was found July 19 in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's submerged car. Dr. Donald R. Mills, associate medical examiner of Duke County, Mass., ruled she drowned.

The final court session included a replay of a taped recording of the senator's voice giving his version, on national television July 25, of circumstances surrounding the girl's death on Chappaquiddick Island in the Martha's Vineyard resort area of Massachusetts.

Mary Jo's parents, Joseph and Gwendolyn Kopechne, sat side by side in the courtroom when the tape was played.

Minutes later, Joseph Kopechne broke into tears. His wife sat with her head bowed, her chin on her hands.

Brominski gave no indication when he would hand down his verdict.

"I don't think we'll go on an appeal if we lose," Dinis said after adjournment of the hearing.

Dinis contended at the hearing that the condition of Miss Kopechne's body when it was removed from the senator's car, submerged in a tidal pond after plunging off narrow Dyke Bridge, "may or may not have been consistent with death by drowning."

Living Costs Increase ½ of 1 Pct. in September

WASHINGTON — Living costs rose five-tenths of one per cent in September, continuing the nation's sharpest inflation spiral in some 20 years, the Labor Department reported today.

Clothing prices rose at about double the usual increase for September, food prices failed to show their usual decline for the month and housing costs continued to rise.

Michigan Blue Shield to Up Rates 16.7 Pct.

From Our News Wires

LANSING — Michigan Blue Shield, which provides health insurance for 4.5 million Michiganders, was granted rate increases yesterday averaging $2.43 per family during the first quarter of 1970 by the State Insurance Commission.

The average increase of 16.7 per cent of the base rate will affect about 274,000 contracts renewable from the first of the year through March 31, 1970. It was indicated additional increases might be allowed after that date.

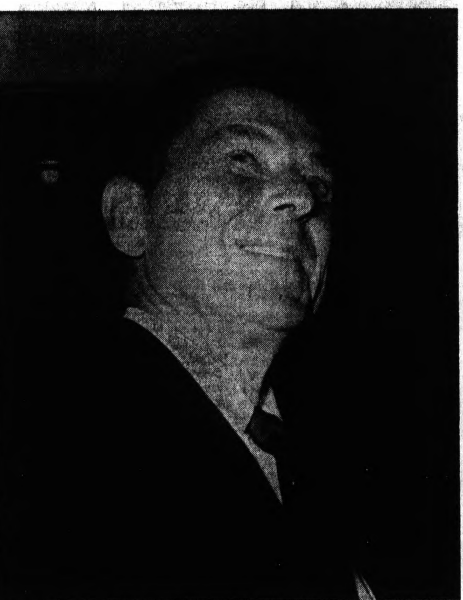

Persons holding supplemental Medicare coverage were excluded from the hike.

Under the plan, monthly insurance rates would increase from about $11.87 to $13.51 for the cheapest plan and from $13.87 to $17.06 for the top plan.

VARIABLE FEE PLAN

Blue Shield operates under a variable fee plan adopted in 1968. According to the commission it was "designed to reimburse physicians for incurred services" according to "reasonable, customary and prevailing fees."

The 1968 rate was based on existing doctor fees, projected fee increases and the known demand for services.

Ronald Reagan Wants Tax Ceiling

Reagan Hits Taxes and Viet Protests

By T. LARRY ADCOCK

FLINT — California Gov. Ronald Reagan last night called for specific limits on governmental taxing power and declared Vietnam war protesters were "giving aid and comfort to the enemy."

Reagan blasted war protesters and federal economic bureaucracy in an address before 1,500 Michigan Republicans gathered here for the fifth annual GOP Legislative Dinner.

Reagan blamed President Johnson's administration for "the runaway inflation we are experiencing" and blamed inflation for the plight of the "forgotten American."

The low- and middle-income families whose property taxes will be raised once more to meet increased borrowing costs, that's who," said Reagan.

"Why should anyone be taxed for inflation? A man buys a house for $10,000.

The local tax collector one day has to tell this citizen that it's now valued at $15,000 — not because it's worth more but because dollars are worth less.

Nixon Draft Moves Fail to Slow Enlistments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The armed services surprisingly are filling their enlistment quotas — and then some — despite President Nixon's moves to reduce the impact of the draft.

Enlistment figures from the Army, Marine, Navy and Air Force show they have had no trouble reaching their volunteer objectives.

This comes as a surprise to some Pentagon manpower officials. They anticipated a drop in enlistments after Nixon more than a month ago canceled November-December draft calls and said he would order Selective Service reforms about Jan. 1.

The draft long has been considered a stimulus to enlistments, with many youths preferring to sign up for the service and sometimes the assignment of their choice rather than being hauled in and put where the Army needs them.

CAN'T EXPLAIN

Officials said they don't know how to explain what's been happening. But they are particularly pleased because enlistments haven't slackened amid rising public ferment over the war in Vietnam.

The Army recruiting command reported it signed up 20,525 young men during September — 114.7 per cent of the objective of 17,900.

Nixon made his announcement Sept. 19, which left more than a third of the month in which a downturn in enlistments could have taken hold.

October Army enlistments ran ahead of schedule for the first 12 days of the month, the latest period for which figures are available. A total of 6,027 men volunteered, nearly 38 per cent of the month's goal.

QUOTA EXCEEDED

The Marine Corps said its September enlistment quota of 6,100 was exceeded by 68 men and its October quota of 6,200 was more than half filled as of Oct. 11.

The Navy reported it planned for 8,000 volunteers in September, and 8,946 signed on.

The Navy's October objective of 7,482 enlistments also was more than half subscribed as of mid-October.

The Air Force asked for 7,342 volunteers in September but fell 9 million short. No Air Force figures are available as yet for October enrollments.

County Will Use City Jail to House Woman Prisoners

By JEAN SAILE

The county's woman prisoners will likely be housed in the refurbished Pontiac City Jail beginning about mid-November.

This is the goal set yesterday at a meeting of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors public protection and judiciary committee. Financing details and renovation of the jail have not been completed.

The jail, used for storage since its construction 10 years ago, is located on the second floor of the Pontiac Public Safety Building at 110 E. Pike.

Negotiations carried on between County Auditor Chairman Daniel T. Murphy and City Manager Joseph A. Warren have resulted in its being freed to accommodate up to 19 county prisoners.

CITY PRISONERS

The county, by arrangement with local governmental units, houses prisoners arrested in various cities and villages of the county as well as from the townships.

Some $10,400 in county funds will be required to bring the Pontiac City Jail up to state standards, committee members were told.

The decision to house women prisoners there will free a cell block for additional male prisoners at the present County Jail, 104 Wayne. Jail matrons will be moved from the present job quarters to the new facilities, according to Under Sheriff Leo Hazen.

Speaking out against "a continued undermanning program" was Wallace Gabler, R-Royal Oak, who asked that at least two matrons per shift be considered. This would result in the employment of three additional matrons, it was noted. The county currently hires five matrons, who divide days off and vacation time.

PA SYSTEM

The jail will be tied in to a public address system connected with the Pontiac Police Department's main desk. Cost of the PA system is $3,800, according to Joseph Joachim of the county's department of facilities and operations.

Another $4,500 will be required for repainting. Joachim said, and the balance for minor alterations. The city jail kitchen would be used to prepare morning and evening meals with the main meal trucked over at noon from the county facility.

The committee recommended a tentative appropriation of $30,000 to take care of renovation, the hiring of additional staff, and other costs required in the move. The appropriation will be acted upon by the Supervisors finance committee at its Nov. 4 meeting.

Negotiations with the city have been carried on for the better part of the year since cases of overcrowding, sexual perversion, and fighting among prisoners in the present facility were brought to light.

WORK CAMP

Another method to end prisoner overcrowding discussed by the committee yesterday involves establishment of a county trusty work camp.

Use of the county-owned but undeveloped Independence-Oaks park in a sparsely settled section of Independence Township was suggested as a possible site to house young first-time offenders.

He said work in the development of county parks could keep the prisoners occupied.

The committee recommended a tentative appropriation of $30,000 to take care of renovation, the hiring of additional staff, and other costs required in the move. The appropriation will be acted upon by the Supervisors finance committee at its Nov. 4 meeting.

Negotiations with the city have been carried on for the better part of the year since cases of overcrowding, sexual perversion, and fighting among prisoners in the present facility were brought to light.

WORK CAMP

Another method to end prisoner overcrowding discussed by the committee yesterday involves establishment of a county trusty work camp.

Use of the county-owned but undeveloped Independence-Oaks park in a sparsely settled section of Independence Township was suggested as a possible site to house young first-time offenders.

He said work in the development of county parks could keep the prisoners occupied.

Reagan Urges Tax Limits, Blasts Vietnam Protesters

"$15,000 for an exactly similar house," Reagan explained.

Reagan pointed out, "Total taxes for the average United States family are up 73 per cent in this decade alone."

"The average family of four, with a wage-earner who makes $10,000 a year has to pay $2600 in taxes... and he works three months a year just to earn the money to pay them... and he's not going to stand for it much longer."

CALLS FOR CONTROLS

Reagan repeatedly stressed the need for controls on governmental ability to tax, but did not offer a program for such an act.

Reagan attacked the tax reform bill recently approved by the U.S. House of Representatives (but not yet by the Senate) that would supposedly close the loopholes for the more affluent, who often pay little tax or no tax at all, and would eliminate the tax-free status for certain institutions and foundations.

Reagan said that professional publications call the bill the most incredibly complicated tax law in U.S. history.

Reagan stated that the bill if passed, would "drastically change the American economic system."

'INCENTIVES'

"Many of what some call loopholes are really the incentives that make the whole cockeyed tax structure work. Provisions for depletion, deductibility of gifts and tax-free institutions were devices voted in by earlier congresses to promote worthwhile social objectives," Reagan said.

"Donations to private charities have ground to a halt since House passage of the bill. Small colleges are threatened with extinction," Reagan declared.

Reagan charged that the tax reform bill, if not rejected by the Senate, would "destroy local government, private educational and charitable foundations and the basic concepts of a free enterprise system."

Soviet Space Platforms

MOSCOW (UPI) — Communist Party Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev said today the Soviet Union plans to build a series of space platforms — "cosmodromes" — to serve "as mankind's highway to space." He called for "international cooperation in exploring it."

'Chief Pontiac' Is 30

"Chief Pontiac," an informal organization of representative area citizens, observed the 30th anniversary of its founding last night at Bloomfield Hills Country Club when a gathering of 250 turned out to honor F. James McDonald, recently appointed general manager of General Motors Corp.'s Pontiac Motor Division.

Birmingham Panel to Air State School Reform Plan

BIRMINGHAM — A panel of experts will discuss the implications of Gov. William Milliken's proposal for educational reform next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Covington Junior High School cafeteria.

The symposium, which will be followed by a question - answer session, is sponsored by the American Association of University Women (AAUW), Junior League of Birmingham and the League of Women Voters (Birmingham - Bloomfield chapter).

The three-part program will include a capsule of the statewide objectives, a discussion of current and proposed legislation, and the effect of these changes on "quality" school districts such as Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills.

State Rep. William Hampton, R-Bloomfield Hills; Charles Greenleaf, administrative assistant to the governor for policies and programs, and James Phelps, assistant director for the governor's commission on educational reform, will represent the state-level view on Milliken's proposal.

The regional - local viewpoint will be presented by C. Henry Haberborn, treasurer of the Bloomfield Hills Board of Education and chairman of the education caucus, Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG). The moderator will be Mrs. Arthur B. Saltzman, of the League of Women Voters.

Arthur Elliot of 617 N. Woodward has been appointed to the State Waterways Commission by Gov. William Milliken. The term expires Dec. 31, 1970.

Elliot, who replaces Frederick Rouse Jr. of St. Clair, is a former Republican State Central Committee chairman and Constitutional Convention delegate.

The governor's office also announced the reappointment of Dr. Floyd Hathaway of 145 Barrington in Bloomfield Township as chairman of the Optometry Board. His term will expire on Oct. 31, 1975.

Both appointments are subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

Lebanon Chief Quits Under Fire

By The Associated Press

Lebanon's prime minister resigned today as protests mounted at home and in neighboring Arab countries against the Lebanese army's attempt to check Arab guerrillas using the country as a base for attacks against Israel.

Prime Minister Rashid Karami submitted his resignation as mobs rioted in the Arab quarter of Beirut, the Lebanese capital.

Karami's cabinet quit last year when the guerrilla question erupted in riots, but stayed on in a caretaker capacity.

Lebanon, a country with a population almost evenly divided between Christians and Moslems, has sought to steer a militarily neutral stance in the Arab-Israeli conflict. But the presence of 200,000 Palestinian refugees in the country and the growth of the Arab guerrilla movement have upset the balance.

1st Report Luncheon Tomorrow for PAUF

Some 75 United Fund workers are expected to attend the Pontiac Area United Fund's first report luncheon at noon tomorrow at Holiday Inn, 1801 S. Telegraph.

Chairmen and group chairmen from the five major campaign divisions will be reporting the amounts collected or pledged since the general campaign kickoff Oct. 4. Goal of this year's drive — $12 million.

The money will fund 55 health, welfare and recreation-education agencies in the Pontiac area.

a multimillion-dollar-a-year hotel supply business in Los Angeles — held 74 per cent. Other stockholders included singer Tony Martin and actor George Raft.

Parvin said in an interview in 1964 that four years earlier he contacted Douglas and sought his help in setting up the foundation, Douglas agreed.

Tax records of the Parvin Foundation dating back to 1962 show that Douglas was serving as president at an annual salary of $12,000. Proceeds from the Flamingo sale show up regularly through 1968 as one of the foundation's largest assets.

SHARP CRITICISM

Douglas came under sharp congressional criticism last spring for his involvement with the foundation.

In May, Douglas resigned as its president.

The Parvin Foundation has also had an interest in several Las Vegas hotels and casinos by virtue of the Parvin-Dohrmann stock it held.

Harvey Silbert, secretary of the foundation, said it severed all its gambling ties in May when it sold its shares of Parvin-Dohrmann.

Parvin has sold out his interest in Parvin-Dohrmann as well, but still maintains the foundation.

In June, after Parvin sold out, Parvin-Dohrmann and Denny's Restaurants Inc. announced they would merge, but the plans were cancelled earlier this month.

Several days later both firms and their officers found themselves embroiled with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

An SEC complaint, filed in Federal District Court in New York, alleges violations of antifraud, reporting and credit provisions of the Federal securities laws in connection with the now defunct merger plans. The SEC also accused Parvin of filing a false and misleading proxy statement with the Commission.

Pair Clash on Parochiaid

By NED ADAMSON
BIRMINGHAM — Two speakers expressed sharply contrasting opinions during a debate concerning the parochiaid question last night before the Birmingham - Bloomfield Democratic Club.

Arguing for the affirmative, Mrs. Kay Beard of Dearborn, a director of the Citizens for Educational Freedom, contended that a public financial aid to private schools is essential "in order to avoid a monolithic school system where there would be no choice."

On the other side, aid to nonpublic schools would undermine the public school system and open the floodgates for numerous other organizations and religious sects to start private schools, Mark H. Martin of 254 Chesterfield maintained.

Martin is a spokesman for Citizens to Advance Public Education (CAPE).

'DENYING RIGHTS'
Mrs. Beard noted the public has to be concerned about the education of all children in the state. "We are denying the children's rights to an education if assistance is not given them," she said.

"In this country we have been remiss in accepting responsibility for all children. Every free country in the Western World except the United States gives some form of assistance to private schools," Mrs. Beard remarked.

She said that Gov. William Milliken's current proposal in his educational reform package, calling for a ceiling of 2 per cent on public aid to private schools, is highly inadequate.

"The governor is proposing a ceiling of 2 per cent in aid for 14 per cent of the state's school enrollment (those students attending private church related schools). Nonpublic schools cannot operate on that kind of aid. We simply want a fair share of our own tax money," Mrs. Beard explained.

'UNJUST USE'
Martin argued that Catholic schools exist primarily in order to propagate their particular faith. He said it is unjust for public tax money to be used in conjunction with a faith that the taxpayer may not advocate. Under parochiaid, he says the public would be double-taxed.

Martin believes that if aid to nonpublic school is okayed, all groups ranging from the varying religions to such organizations as the Black Muslims and the John Birch Society would, under a democratic state, be entitled to public assistance.

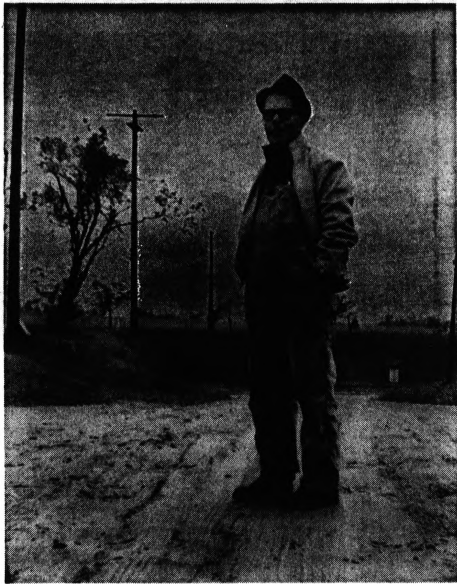

He also affirmed that subsidization of a Lutheran or Catholic school contradicts the constitutional principle of separation of church and state.

The CAPE spokesman also noted that public aid for private schools would breed further public dissent and accelerate conflict concerning the relationship between private schools and the public school system.

Martin said the only final way to settle the issue of public aid to private schools is to put the issue on the ballot for a statewide vote.

Winning Is Another Thing

Irishman Fights 'City Hall'

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — A fiery little Irishman here doesn't buy that trite expression, "You can't fight City Hall."

Michael D. Kirby, 53, of 268 Eleanor has fought "City Hall" for the past 12 years. While proving himself a tireless battler, he'll admit that fighting is one thing and winning another.

A stocky 185-pounder, Kirby owns four acres of land at Eleanor and M50, just east of Milford Road, with 560 feet of frontage on Eleanor, an unpaved road less than a quarter mile long. Eleanor runs south to Livingston.

He and his daughter, Jilllyn, 13, live in a neat, modern ranch home. Also on the well-maintained property are metal buildings that house Kirby's well-drilling equipment. He values the place at $50,000.

SOURCE OF THE PROBLEM

The road is the source of his problem with the Establishment.

When Kirby moved in 12 years ago with his heavy equipment — the heaviest 11 tons — he had to repair a short stretch of Eleanor before he could move the equipment onto his property.

Now he's considering moving. The place is for sale, but before he leaves he figures to collect from the county for maintaining the road for 12 years. "I've put at least $500 or $600 in sand and gravel in the road," he says. "And if they paid me $30 a week for 12 years for my time... what would that be?"

"Oh, I know I won't get that. But all I want is for them to keep the road open, or I'll dig a hole in it they'll never close. Since I've maintained the road, I figure it's mine."

The latest road-closing came last Thursday. Kirby dumped sand in the middle of the road just south of his home. The county moved the sand away the next day.

"I won't do that again," vowed Kirby, laughing a little at himself. "I paid $28 for that sand and they used it to fill a big hole in the road. No, I won't do that again."

'A FIRE HAZARD'

"They removed it because they claimed it was a fire hazard. If I hadn't fixed the road they couldn't have gone down it anyway."

"People around here probably think I'm crazy. But I've got too much Irish pride to quit."

Nine other families live on the short stretch of road.

While his well-drilling business has been successful, Kirby has had his reverses. Four years ago, his home burned. He rebuilt it. A while later came a divorce.

TIRED OF THE FIGHT

Those events have taken some of the starch out of him. "We have fought continuously since we've been out here. I'm getting tired of it. I'm hoping to sell out and let them fight someone else."

While claiming the county hasn't taken care of the road, Kirby admits to a few appearances by a road scraper in the neighborhood.

Highland Township Supervisor Chester G. Burton is sympathetic to Kirby. "I am going to talk to the county and see," said Burton. "We pay for the service in gas and weight tax. I can't see why it can't be taken care of."

Burton said he knew of the problems on Eleanor before Kirby closed it. "He just brought it to a head sooner. It's something I've been wrestling with for quite awhile and he just made me get it quicker."

Meanwhile, the township has ordered Kirby to keep the street open. "He said he would give us time and if we didn't take care of it he'd dump more dirt," said Burton.

"I won't dump dirt. I'll dig a hole 17 feet deep," vowed Kirby.

Laurie Heads for Florida

MIAMI (U) — Shoving squalls and high tides ahead of her, Hurricane Laurie thrashed eastward across the Gulf of Mexico today aiming her 100-mile-an-hour winds at Florida's heavily populated west coast.

Forecasters said tides would be up to four feet higher than normal today in the 150-mile Tampa-to-Naples strip and warned that Laurie would be preceded by squalls with winds up to 55 m.p.h.

Small boats were told to stay in port. People in low areas were advised to be ready for quick action once the storm's landing point was apparent.

The sprawling storm churned toward Florida at about 8 m.p.h. and the National Hurricane Center predicted it would pick up speed as it bore down on its target.

Laurie was drifting toward the east-southeast early today some 350 miles west-southwest of Fort Myers.

Developers, Landowners Eye Lobbyist for M275

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

Several area developers and landowners have expressed interest in securing a lobbyist to keep present plans for the proposed M275 before the State Legislature and prevent any further delays in the construction schedule.

State legislators at the recent luncheon to discuss the situation supported the tentative proposal. A five-man committee was appointed to make further investigations.

Construction of the proposed route is scheduled to begin in 1973. Site acquisition of rights-of-way and preliminary engineering plans should be completed by June 1969.

The proposed route — which will take a south-north path from I-696 to a proposed extension of Northwestern Highway, originally held second place in the list of high-priority roadways compiled by the State Highway Department. When the federal government authorized a 1,500-mile expansion of the interstate system last year, the development of I-96 from I-94 to I-75 at Flint was moved above I-275.

In late 1968, the Johnson administration also knocked the 'I' designation off the proposed highway. (An I designation calls for 90 per cent federal funding and 10 per cent state funding while an M designation calls for a 50-50 split.)

John Doherty, West Bloomfield Township supervisor, told lunchers that the highway was discussed as far back as 1929 and that many residents have had their land along the proposed route held inactive for years.

He noted that after construction of I-275, the extension of Northwestern, from the current end at 14 Mile and Orchard Lake Road, would soon follow, opening the area to industry and commercial development. The township will have sewers and water available in the area of the proposed highway by late 1970 but most industries will probably wait for better transportation routes.

Doherty, who has been marshaling forces to keep the current highway construction schedule active, suggested hiring ing a consultant to work in Lansing to prevent the issue from being placed on the "back burner" again.

'KNOCKED OUT OF BOX'

He said, "What concerns me as a representative of the community is that throughout the 40-year period we've been knocked out of the box every five years. We've got to have a continuing program."

Sen. George W. Kuhn, R-West Bloomfield Township, told listeners that he would support the proposed plan from the Senate side.

"If we put our shoulder to the wheel and totally commit ourselves to a program of getting 275 high on the priority list for '73 and '76, I'm confident it can be done. I don't think there has been a concerted effort over the years to see it become reality."

State Rep. Raymond L. Baker of West Bloomfield Township, also offered support and told listeners that "a man in Lansing would be a good investment."

COMMISSION INTERESTED

"We've already done what you're suggesting should be done," claimed Paul McGovern, commissioner for the Oakland County Road Commission.

Hedging an opinion, he explained, "This happens to be one of the roads that the road commission is interested in—I say one. This is your particular one here. We don't put this ahead of Telegraph Road nor do we put Telegraph ahead of this."

He indicated that the road commission already has a representative in Lansing working for their goals which include I-275 and that the man has received good cooperation from the State Highway Department.

The 32 men present appointed a five-man steering committee to make further investigations.

W. Bloomfield Parade Near to Welcome Miss America

WEST BLOOMFIELD — Over 100 entries from government, community and business organizations are expected to participate in West Bloomfield Township's homecoming parade for Miss America Saturday.

The mid-morning fanfare marks the official return of 21-year-old title winner and former Miss Michigan, Pamela Anne Eldred. She is the daughter of the William B. Eldreds, 5543 Tadworth.

Prior to the parade, a private ceremony for state and local officials is planned for the newly crowned queen at the West Bloomfield Township Hall, 4460 Orchard Lake, beginning at 9 a.m.

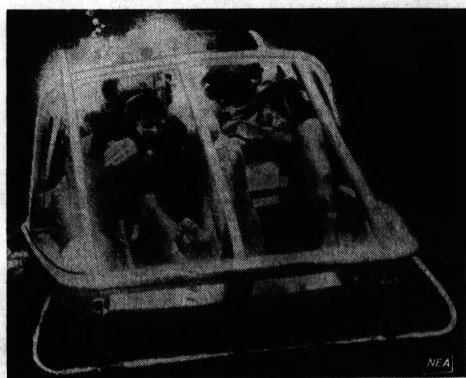

The ceremony, which includes presentation of the keys to the township, is by invitation only due to the limited quarters.

10 A.M. PARADE
The parade, which will include a number of area high school bands, Army, Navy, Marine and Air Force color guards, and marching and mounted groups, will begin at 10 a.m. at Orchard Lake and Maple roads.

Township Association Will Meet Tomorrow

LAKE ORION — A meeting of the newly organized Oakland County chapter of the Michigan Townships Association is slated for noon tomorrow at Spring Lake Country Club on Maybree Road.

Mrs. Margaret Stephen of Lake Orion, president of the chapter, said officials from all townships in the county had been invited. On the agenda will be adoption of bylaws.

One-Man Jury Repeal Is Hit

LANSING (AP) — Repealing Michigan's unique one-man grand jury system now would "leave the people defenseless against corruption in public office," says a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, R-Waterford Township, yesterday condemned some persons he said are "damning unjustly" some senators who oppose repealing the system and replacing it with a 17- to 23-member citizens grand jury.

"I am very much in favor of experimenting with a citizens grand jury and I have advocated its passage," Lodge said.

"But to pass the citizens grand jury unamended and unproven, with the repeal of the one-man grand jury, would leave the people defenseless."

Two Parking Lot Plans Plowed Under

Two proposals for municipal parking lots on West Huron went over like asphalt balloons at last night's City Commission meeting.

The plan was to relieve parking congestion for two small business areas. The State Highway Department is expected to remove on-street parking in the areas in the near future.

Anticipating this, the commission has assisted in construction of one lot near the Tel-Huron Center. Most of the cost was assessed to businesses directly benefiting from the lot.

The other two proposals would have extended this concept. But, amid objections by about 100 nearby residents and many of the business owners within the proposed project, the lots were voted down.

THE PROPOSALS
The first would have put a 56-space lot on the north side of Huron between Mark and

City Affairs

Dwight at a cost of $74,100. The Press for an editorial critical second would have put one with 65 spaces at Dakota at a cost of $129,000.

At two public hearings, objections were raised to the huge report on the 287-unit Lancaster Village Apartment under construction west of Bay and north of the traffic problem and the lack of need. Petitions representing a large majority of property owners in both areas were presented.

Both projects were voted as unnecessary by the commission with only Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, district 2, in favor of the Mark Dwight project.

Commissioner T. Warren Montclair and Baldwin. The Fowler, district 1, said he was city projects federal help in not opposed to Hirambee Inc. financing under the TOPICS and denounced The Pontiac program for road safety.

at New York. Two bids were received near the cost-estimate of $30,000. Both were referred to location east to Kennett and Hollywood from Sheffield north to the railroad.

Deferred consideration of an ordinance for auctions. The ordinance would provide licensing for certain types of temporary and permanent auctions.

Nixon in War Squeeze

De-escalation, like escalation, has its own built-in momentum.

Just as President Johnson learned that every turn of the screw of military force against North Vietnam necessitated even greater application of pressure until the law of diminishing returns took effect, so President Nixon is becoming painfully aware that every step he takes to lower the level of American involvement in Vietnam only opens the way for broader and more precipitous disengagement.

In Paris, the North Vietnamese remain adamant in their position that the only basis for a formal peace is American withdrawal, and that the only acceptable withdrawal is complete and immediate withdrawal—just as they previously demanded a total end to the bombing of North Vietnam as a prelude to peace negotiations.

At home, the same voices which urged President Johnson to stop the bombing are now—joined by growing numbers of others—demanding that President Nixon bring the boys home—all of them, no later than a year from now.

It begins to become apparent, if it were not obvious before, that Hanoi is and has been pretty much in command of the situation. That, in the absence of a government in Vietnam that could stand against it alone and in the absence of any pressure brought against it by the world community, it has nothing to lose and everything to gain by maintaining its granite-like inflexibility.

It is true, as HUBERT HUMPHREY said, that no man in America wants an end to the war more than President NIXON (it was also true of President JOHNSON). But he is charged with the responsibility of ending the war in a way that salvages something from the immense expenditure of lives and treasure America has made in Vietnam.

Now, however, as if a stubborn foe were not enough, he finds himself faced with a growing peace sentiment among the American people—and the only kind of peace in sight is peace in accordance with Hanoi's desires; no matter how much that fact is ignored or camouflaged.

Crack Train Draws Riders

Don't count the railroads out of the passenger game yet.

The Penn-Central's New York-Washington "Metroliner" has gone over so well with the traveling public that the updated express service which started with two trains a day each way is now going to six with another jump, to nine round trips daily, possibly by the end of the year.

So far, half a million passengers have made the 3½-hour run since the service was inaugurated Jan. 16. According to a Transportation Department check, about half rode the rails in preference to the already jammed roads and air lanes they would have used if the "Metroliner" hadn't offered a convenient alternative.

The passenger load is averaging out at 76 per cent of capacity, which compares more than favorably with the 50 per cent registered by airlines.

The "Metroliner" success story is not, of course, applicable to rail service everywhere. Conditions in the population-heavy Washington-New York corridor and the extension north to Boston are special. But it is solid evidence that where the conditions are right, even in this air and Interstate highway era, you can lead people to trains and they will use them.

English Words Gall Gauls

France's battle against an invasion of English words continues, as the English-speaking world gets even for what William the Conqueror did to the Anglo-Saxon language in 1066.

The latest edition of the Petit Larousse, the most widely used dictionary in France, recognizes "happening," "poster" and "campus," among other new words.

This is to the despair of French language purists, who very quickly lose their savoir faire or sangfroid or whatever when they contemplate their beautiful language turning into the hybrid they call "Franglais."

But foreign words are not adopted by everyday people unless they fill a need better than a native word.

And anyway, if it doesn't bother an American or Englishman to take his car to a "garage" to have its "chassis" inspected, it only seems right that French students should be allowed to hold "le riot" on "le campus."

Nixon Slow in Weeding Out Key Dems

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

President Nixon, long a senator and congressman and eight years vice president of the United States, is politically astute in the winning of elections. But he has not learned the trick of bringing a large, entrenched bureaucracy under control. When John Kennedy came to the presidency in 1961, he put a team of specialists in the White House. These men compiled a list of 3,000 key posts in the government, then definitely and systematically rooted out Republicans and neutrals and inserted men loyal to Kennedy and to his wing of the Democratic party. Their replacements went deep into the departments, even to quite low levels when these posts were fingered as pressure or control points. The operation was carried out so swiftly that in the State Department a bitter fight developed over the employment of so many new top men without adequate security clearances handling the most secret and delicate affairs of government.

SIMILAR LIST
Like Kennedy, Nixon started with a list of some 3,000 vulnerable posts. But with this, the similarity between Kennedy and Nixon ends.

Take the State Department. At this writing, only five Nixon men have been named to the top jobs at State. The other major posts have been filled with career Foreign Service officers, by and large men of considerable ability, but not Nixon men. A sizable number of Pentagon high policy and administrative posts today are held by men who served under Presidents Kennedy or Johnson.

IN WHITE HOUSE

Kennedy men occupy some posts in the White House.

Nixon appointed a White House team on political appointments. They have not had the Kennedy mandate to dig deep. They are, by comparison, less experienced than the Kennedy group.

In some instances, as with the nomination of Judge Clement Haynsworth Jr. to the Supreme Court and Maj. Gen. Carl Turner as chief of U.S. marshals, the Nixon personnel men have not done their background research as thoroughly as necessary.

Will Lindsay Cash In on Mets?

NEW YORK — Will the World Series victory of the New York Mets reflect Mayor John V. Lindsay?

say? That, and the upset last winter which gave the New York Jets the football title, are the only two major accomplishments Mr. Lindsay can point to.

Aware of this, his supporters have taken a full-page ad in the New York Times that tries to beg the question:

"Vote for Roosevelt, Lehman, Stevenson, John Kennedy, Bobby Kennedy, and John Lindsay," say the Democrats for Lindsay in their plea to the voters. "FDR, Lehman, JFK, Stevenson, and Robert Kennedy built up the Democratic party that built up this country over the past 40 years. John Lindsay is the only candidate who believes in our kind of government."

It is a strange appeal to make in behalf of a man who, until recently, was nominally a Republican, and who is running for office on the Liberal party ticket, since its inception an unorthodox adjunct to the Democratic machine in New York. But labels have lost their meaning.

The mayoral race in New York however, has not been marked by lucidity or a concern for the issues. Lindsay, for example, tried in vain to make the Vietnam war an issue.

MOST QUOTED

If New York's taxi drivers — the most-quoted source of political intelligence in the city — are correct, then the average voter is going to sit on his hands in large numbers come the November day of reckoning.

The regular Democratic nominee, Mario Procaccino, has failed to convince anyone that he has more in his mind than the desire to be elected. He is just a politician who has polished up the handle of the big front door and now wants in.

State Sen. John Marchi, who defeated Mr. Lindsay in the Republican primary, has failed to light a fire under the voters, lacking the kind of charisma that buoys up a candidacy.

There are times when Procaccino seems to have the edge, others when Marchi seems to be leading, and even a few moments when success seems to be within Lindsay's grasp.

A CYNICISM

But the New York voter has developed a cynicism about its mayors, and he is hardly to be blamed.

On the day after, post-mortem pundits will pontificate on the national significance of the election, on how it affects the rise of the dissatisfied center, of what it will do to President Nixon.

There will be hardly a word about what New Yorkers can expect. The answer to that is a shrug.

Mediocreman to Rescue With a Middle Course

Hold on to your hats, boys and girls, 'cause here we go on another thrilling adventure with — MEDIOCREMAN!

As we join Mediocreman today, kids, he's disguised as a stuffy old president. Just entering is his secretary, Lotus Lane (who doesn't suspect his real identity!).

HOPPE

Lotus: Gosh sakes, Mr. President, the press is outside. They're going to ask you what your plans are for the nation's problems.

The President: Send them in, Miss Lane. The President (to himself): This sounds like a job for . . . MEDIOCREMAN!

(He whips off his stuffy old blue suit to reveal underneath a stuffy old gray suit — the uniform of . . . MEDIOCREMAN!)

First Reporter (entering): Mr. Pres. . . Oh, it's Mediocreman! Thank heavens you're here. Tell us, sir, what do you plan to do about integration?

Mediocreman: Well, to be perfectly candid, I plan to steer a middle course between those demanding instant integration and those seeking to maintain segregation forever.

Second Reporter: And how long, sir, will it take to achieve the school desegregation ordered by the Supreme Court 15 years ago?

Mediocreman: Only as long — and let me be perfectly clear about this — as absolutely necessary.

Third Reporter: What about tax reform, sir? The public is up in arms over these millionaires who pay . . . no taxes whatsoever.

Fourth Reporter: About Vietnam, sir . . .

Mediocreman: I shall continue to seek the middle ground between those who want instant withdrawal and those who would fight there forever. By withdrawing half our forces and limiting combat to Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, I shall force the enemy to surrender in 15 years — unless more time is absolutely necessary.

The Reporters (rushing out): Thank you, Mediocreman.

Lotus Lane (entering): Oh, Mr. President, I saw it all on television! Wasn't Mediocreman wonderful?

The President: He certainly was, Miss Lane. As Mediocreman always says, "There's a right answer and a wrong answer to all our problems — and the solution lies somewhere in between."

Voice of the People:

Readers' Opinions Given on Vietnam War Protest

There is a chance that a lot of good might come out of the Vietnam protest. Now all that has to be done is separate the sheep from the Communists. The war would have been over if we would have stopped trading with the countries that supplied the tools to kill our boys.

I believe it would do more good to write the President or our representatives and tell them to stop trading with the enemy. I also believe if we don't win in Vietnam we should bring all our boys back to the states from every country in the world and start building our defense only on U.S. land.

ALVIN C. FAUST
890 Hummer Lake Rd., Orionville

We have a son in Vietnam. As a father I have sympathy for wives and families who have lost loved ones in this war. We have and always will pay a high price for our freedoms. We remember when we decided to help this small nation to stem the Communist cause of dominating that country and the world. It's about 13 years now that their cause has been stemmed there.

I have no sympathy for those bearded, no-moral characters, especially the dihard Communists in the U.S.A. If they love Communism, send them back to their fatherland, Communist Russia. As an American citizen I am getting irritated and if all falls, they will have to deal with my 30-30 rifle for the takeover.

Comments on Suggestion at Recent Meeting

At a recent Pontiac Board of Education meeting someone suggested that a student board should decide on the disposition of disruptive students because the latter group would think more about being judged by their peers. This perspicacious idea is farighted indeed. Surely in judicial matters the primary requisite is that judges be the peers of the defendants rather than qualified judges.

One can envision that fair and progressive day when the consequent implications of this cogent position will become a reality—that grand day of judicious judgement when disruptive garbagemen will be judged by garbagemen, plumbers by plumbers, centenarians by centenarians and teachers by teachers.

'Let's Prevent Destruction of Our Nation'

It is time the "squares" who built this country, and survived one of the worst depressions known, rose up in righteous anger. Who do these young people think they are to destroy something they haven't the ability to create? Granted, there are many faults in our system but at least we had guts to try to build. To destroy is much easier and takes very little sense — just follow the loudest mouth.

If they succeed in destroying the good that past generations worked and sacrificed for we can thank the parents who are too indifferent or cowardly to demand their offspring obey the laws and try to improve on society by legal means. Too bad the garage replaced the woodshed—that was where the "generation gap" really met.

BERRY'S WORLD—By Jim Berry

Questions and Answers

(Q) Is there any way for a family to get immediate emergency aid without waiting for investigations, filling out pages of forms, etc? I'm speaking of cases when a family might run out of food and money with no way of getting more, or need clothes immediately after a theft or fire. I don't anticipate needing such help, but I'm sure there must be times that people do, and I'd like to think they didn't have to go hungry and cold.

(A) Several organizations are equipped to give temporary emergency help: Red Cross in case of fire; Salvation Army for people who need a place to stay, or who need food and clothes; welfare department has some provisions for emergency food stamps. While many of these offices are closed weekends, you can always get help by contacting the police department. They have names of persons to contact for just such help, and will do everything they can to see that no one goes cold and hungry until more permanent arrangements can be made.

(Q) Everyone's wondering if Paul McCartney of the Beatles is dead, and one article said he was pictured in a box that looked like a coffin, without any shoes, and it said people aren't buried with shoes on. Is this true?

NEVER HEARD THAT BEFORE
(A) We checked a number of funeral directors, and they all said there is no tradition about being buried with or without shoes. It depends entirely on what the family wants.

O'Hara Opposes Tax Data by Zip Code

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Junk mailers are on the verge of a breakthrough that will allow them to zero in on the rich and the relatively rich. If it takes place, claims a Michigan congressman, it will be through the courtesy of the government.

Rep. James G. O'Hara raised the specter of direct-mail advertisers employing pinpoint "bombing" techniques to saturate well-heeled neighborhoods with their messages.

The Utica Democrat said the "deluge," if it comes, will be the handiwork of the Internal Revenue Service.

The IRS, said O'Hara, is considering publication of income tax data by ZIP Codes, just as it now does for major metropolitan areas and middle-size cities.

The data would be sold to subscribers. Among the potential commercial customers are at least seven firms that conduct direct-mail campaigns, said O'Hara in a statement Monday.

Once direct-mail advertisers find out where the moneyed consumers live, predicted O'Hara, they will unload a "deluge of direct mail advertising down upon affluent or moderately affluent neighborhoods."

In a letter to IRS Commissioner Randolph A. Thrower, O'Hara protested the threatened "invasion of privacy" and urged the IRS to drop the plan and instead devote itself to its primary task — collecting taxes as efficiently and fairly as possible.

500 to Attend Black Student Day at OU

More than 500 high school students throughout the state are expected to attend a Black Students College Information Day at Oakland University Saturday.

The program is designed to assist students in a career choice and provide information concerning admission and financial aid at institutions such as OU.

Oakland's Association of Black Students is sponsoring the day's activities in conjunction with Project Motivation — a black recruiting campaign.

Clarence Tyson, class of '73, is project coordinator.

OPENING ADDRESS

Saturday's program will kick off with an opening address by Elmer Cooper, director of Oakland's Urban Affairs program, at 8:40 a.m. in Meadow Brook Theatre.

Following the talk, students will have an opportunity to meet with OU professors and admissions personnel.

Guided tours, refreshments and entertainment will also be provided.

Oakland, which now has about 200 black students out of a nearly 6,000, hopes to double the number of black students by fall of 1970.

Most of State Corn Is Safe From Frost

LANSING (UPI) — About 90 per cent of Michigan's corn crop is now safe from frost, crop observers have reported.

The Michigan Crop Report Service said Monday the corn harvest is about 10 per cent short of being completed.

The soybean harvest is one third complete, with progress four days behind normal.

19th District AIP to Hear Talk

Mrs. Virginia Crawford of Dearborn, national vice chairman of the American Independent party, will be the guest speaker Saturday at a meeting of the 19th Congressional District American Independent party.

The 8 p.m. meeting will be held at the Independence Township Hall in Clarkston. Mrs. Crawford, also the president of the Michigan Citizens Council and chairman of the Save Our Suburbs Committee, will speak out against the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG). A film, titled "More Deadly Than War," dealing with communism, will also be shown.

Gets Big Vote in Negro Precincts

Liberal Dem Wins in Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Liberal Democrat Sam Massell piled up big margins in Negro districts to win election as mayor Tuesday over Republican Rodney Cook.

Massell, 42, vice mayor of Atlanta for eight years, received 62,632 votes to Cook's 51,289.

Cook, an alderman and state legislator, carried most of the mainly white wards, but was far behind in Negro areas.

Massell, a Jew, will have as his vice mayor Maynard Jackson, a Negro, first of his race to win the city's second highest office. Jackson won a majority in the Oct. 7 general election and was not involved in Tuesday's runoff.

Of Atlanta's 218,000 registered voters, about 85,000 are Negroes. One election observer said about 70 per cent of the black voters cast ballots.

Retiring Democratic Mayor Ivan Allen Jr., who called for Massell to withdraw from the race last Sunday because of what he termed improper fund raising, called the vice mayor's win "a great victory."

He went to Massell's headquarters to congratulate him. Allen said it appeared Massell had won a "strong mandate."

Massell claimed he was "smeared" when newspapers reported that his brother, accompanied by a police captain, solicited campaign funds from nightclubs. Massell denied any personal wrongdoing.

He charged that Allen, Cook constituted a "power pack" trying to stop him at any cost because they couldn't control him and because he was a Jew.

Massell won 12,487 votes to 1,035 for Cook in one large Negro ward. He also picked up about 25 per cent of the vote in white areas.

"I was elected by the people and I'll be the people's mayor," he said in a victory statement.

Cook blamed his loss on failure to attract Negro votes. "I wish Mr. Massell well and I wish this great city well. I hope we can come together in a spirit of unity to move the city forward," Cook said.

In general, Cook carried the precincts that he and Everett Millican, a conservative "law and order" candidate, took in the Oct. 7 election, but Massell held the districts he carried then and won those carried by Dr. Horace Tate, a Negro educator.

Tate, who finished third Oct. 7, endorsed Cook in the runoff.

Negroes won three aldermanic posts in the runoff election, increasing their number on the 18-man board to five. As vice mayor, Jackson will preside over the board.

The runoff turnout of more than 110,000 exceeded the general election vote of 104,305, but fell short of the 200,000 goal set by Allen, who did not seek re-election after two four-year terms.

Nixon, Shah Trade Tributes at Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has wound up a state visit by the shah of Iran with an exchange of glowing toasts, expressions of mutual interest in football and an invitation for Nixon to visit the shah's kingdom again.

In champagne toasts at a state dinner Tuesday night, Nixon had such warm tributes for the shah, whom he met on visits to Iran in 1953 and 1967, that his visitor declared:

"I am overwhelmed by the warmth of your sentiments, which could only come from a true friend, someone who is sharing your problems and understanding your problems."

During the day the two heads of state conferred privately. The shah reportedly wants increased military aid for his nation, which he believes should be the major peacekeeping force in the strategic Persian Gulf.

GUEST OF PRESIDENTS

Nixon noted at the dinner the shah had been a guest in the White House of every president beginning with Truman and joked: "On that count he's far ahead of me."

One thing they both have in common, Nixon said, is a love for sports and playing football. But there was a difference, Nixon conceded: "I sat on the bench. He was captain of the team."

The shah declared that he was "waiting with the greatest anticipation for another visit from Nixon to his homeland."

Bird Has a Peck of Love for Housewife

TUKWILA, Wash. (UPI) — Robert Neilson has a rival for the affections of his wife, Diana, and he's lost plenty of sleep over it.

His rival is a woodpecker — and if he isn't pecking, he's pecking.

The Neilsons, who have four children, have lived in three houses in an attempt to discourage the armorous bird. But at each home the inevitable knocking resumed.

Friendly Skies Overcome Winter Cold for Butterfly

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Somewhere in sunny California, a monarch butterfly is winging along, a refugee from the Maryland cold, thanks to a second-grade class and an airline.

Last week, Jane Chapman brought a chrysalis to show to her second grade class at George Cromwell Elementary School. When the butterfly emerged the next day, Mrs. Chapman's reading hour was completely disrupted.

The pupils decided that the monarch's October chill of Maryland would be too much for the late-winging monarch, so they called on United Airlines. The airline agreed to take it to California.

A small delegation of the second graders took the butterfly, in a decorated shoe box, to Friendship International Airport and turned it over to a stewardess.

When the flight reached San Francisco, it was raining, so the stewardess sent the monarch's October chill of Maryland would

The woodpecker first became attracted to Mrs. Neilson when the family lived in Kent, 10 miles south of Seattle. He would hang upside down outside the dining room window and stare at the 33-year-old housewife until she pulled the drapes.

NEAR BEDROOM

"Then it would fly around and hang upside down and stare at me through the living room window until I pulled those drapes," she said.

The bird's favorite hammering place was right above the bedroom window where Neilson slept — or tried to sleep — during the day. He works the graveyard shift for a glass company.

Neilson had one thought on how to deal with the problem, but police pointed out that woodpeckers are songbirds — and therefore are protected.

"Some song!" Neilson complained. "Rat-a-tat-tat! It's worse than some of those rock bands."

DECIDED TO MOVE

Things got so bad in Kent the Neilsons decided to move. First they went to the Duwamish area while waiting for their new Tukwila house to be completed. The woodpecker tagged along.

"Then, we finally moved here," said Mrs. Neilson, "and, sure enough, it showed up."

She mounted a wig stand in her window in an effort to "scarecrow the bird away," but he ignored it and went right on rapping out his song of love.

Game protectors explained to the Neilsons that the bird is merely trying to attract a mate.

"Who? Me?" Neilson asked. "That bird must think I have holes in my head!"

Nixon Protests $60 Boost Eyed for GI Bill Benefits

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, battling Congress over money again, says a $60 increase over the $130 monthly education benefit available to a returning Vietnam veteran is excessive.

concern the possible enactment of this measure," Nixon said Tuesday in possibly hinting a veto if the bill passes.

The President's statement came in a letter to Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., chairman of a Senate Labor subcommittee which championed the $60 boost.

FAVORS $17

A House-approved version of the bill called for a $55 jump, and Nixon said he favored a $17 increase.

The $17 figure the President is pushing is the recommendation of a Cabinet-level committee headed by Veterans Administrator Donald E. Johnson.

Backers of a hefty boost in the GI educational benefits say the $130 base currently allowed is totally inadequate and, as a result, young soldiers returning from Vietnam are forced to pass up college or training. Veterans Administration statistics show that out of 3.1 million Vietnam era veterans in civilian life, only 754,424, or just under 24 per cent, participated in training programs in the three years which ended last June 30.

The GI benefits were raised from $100 a month to $130 per individual two years ago, and last year the length of the benefit was extended to 36 months—or a full eight semesters in college—for any veteran who was in the service more than 18 months.

OTHER BENEFITS

The bill now before the Senate. In addition to raising the monthly payments for college, provides some new benefits. It would include payments to train veterans who want to learn farming, set up apprenticeship allowances, make payments to help in vocational rehabilitation, and establish help for high school dropouts and disadvantaged young people.

As Nixon figured it, the whole package would call for spending almost $393 million more through next June 30 and for an average additional outlay of $550 million for each of the next four fiscal years.

Johnson estimated his committee's proposal to up educational payments from $130 to $147 a month would cost $85 million a year for the next four years.

Nixon told Yarborough he was seeking his support in urging the Senate to recognize the inflationary impact of the pending bill.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS 1 OUT OF 3 DOES

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms. Urgently parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W Tablets do... and here's how they do it. First, a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms. Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. President-Designate Plans Visits to MSU

EAST LANSING (AP) — Dr. first Negro ever named president of Michigan State University when University is expected on the campus Thursday and Friday for the first time since his election to the post.

The university said Wharton's trip is the first in a series of "get-acquainted visits" he will make before assuming his post Jan. 2.

More Blacks at MSU?

EAST LANSING (UPI) — University in Philadelphia, Pa. Michigan State University may be enrolling more black students than any other predominantly nonurban white school in the United States, the director of admissions said yesterday.

Dr. Terrence Carey, admissions director, said yesterday the number of black students on the campus rose more than 51 per cent this year. Some 1,523 Negro youths now attend the university, with 200 of them in graduate school, and an additional 192 enrolled in off-campus courses.

Only two other predominantly white universities in the country that good and whose academic enroll more black students, records reflect the disad-Carey said — and they are in urban areas. They are Temple and Case Western Reserve.

Eleanor Haney is surrounded by art in the gallery she opened recently.

Second-Story Artist Shows Treasures

By LINDA CABRAL

"People are generally afraid of art," says Eleanor Haney, owner of the new Haney's Studio Six at 81 West Huron Street.

"But, artists are really no different from other people," she explained.

Any fears about art or artists being stuffy or high-brow would have been quickly changed if they had visited the Haney studio with me recently.

CASUAL LOOK

Mrs. Haney, dressed in a pink blouse, stretch slacks and a practical, paint-splashed over-shirt was casually reading a magazine when I reached the top of the stairs leading to the gallery. She didn't think I noticed that she had taken one shoe off while she was reading; she was so completely at home in the studio.

The small, two room gallery is an example of art to be enjoyed by people, not art to be studied by intellectuals or masters.

The main room is filled with many different types of art placed at random.

Across the room are wood carvings by Jean Paul Gauzy and water colors done on silk, canvas and grass cloth.

Oil paintings of conventional subjects and modern designs also are on display, hung with no apparent classification in mind.

The work in the main room and every painting in the side gallery are by Michigan artists.

Mark Davis, owner of the Camera Mart, a widow from Warren and an ex-architect from Belleville, are among those artists who consented to let Mrs. Haney display their work here.

GIFTS TOO

Mrs. Haney has some definite ideas about what an art studio should offer. As well as handling a variety of art work, she plans to include art objects for gifts.

Art classes will also be available. Instructors will hold classes in pastel, oil and acrylic media as well as crafts, still life and pencil drawing.

"Many people feel they would like to take an art class, but business, family and other commitments keep them from attending every class meeting," Mrs. Haney said.

To encourage everyone with an interest to attend an art class, she is starting a "pay as you go" program. Each student can come as often as he wishes, paying for only those sessions he attends and progressing at his own pace.

The enthusiastic mother of two sons and grandmother of three wants everyone to know she is making all her own rules in regard to the art studio.

With experience as a framing consultant she gained art background. Attendance at art shows as an exhibitor have made her known in art circles. However, the zeal with which she has set up her easel in Pontiac is not learned or acquired. It is natural-born (and real).

Anxious to let area individuals find fun in art with her, Mrs. Haney mentioned one drawback.

"The more involved in art you get, the more involved, still, you can get," she said with a smile.

Samoa Mothers Share Discipline of Children

HONOLULU (AP) — Samoan mothers are teaching social workers on that South Pacific island a thing or two about child care.

"A Samoan mother will pick up a stick and whack a kid who is out of line," says Mrs. Earlene Chambers, director of a Samoan settlement there.

"A Samoan youngster feels his mother has a right to hit him and there is nothing unjust about it."

Chief Fonoti Matautia of the Samoan church village at Nanakuli in Honolulu said Samoans spank their children to teach.

"If a kid is spanked by someone and runs to complain to his parents, they will ask why and then add another spanking," the chief said.

THE PONTIAC PRESS, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1969 B-1

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter in your column from the woman who did not find any physical satisfaction in her marriage. That has been my problem for 25 years.

I talked with two doctors. One told me that I was expecting too much and had been reading too many love stories. The other (a woman doctor) told me that very few women had it any better — they just "pretended" most of their lives.

My man is one of the loving kind, but I have been "pretending" all my married life. Is there no hope for me?

Pretending Bothers Wife; She Needs Better Advice

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of the "no-bra" look?

DEAR JUST: It's a good way for some women to get everything off their chests. For others, it's a flop.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M.M.S.: To set the record straight, I said, "Ideally, sex education should be taught in the home, but since it obviously is not, the next best place is the public schools, by responsible teachers."

Too many mothers were raised to believe that sex is "dirty," and the subject should never be mentioned in front of the children. And should a little girl ask any questions about sex, she was told, "you're too young to know" — or, "nice girls don't talk about such things." And later should this little girl grow up and try to find the answers to her questions by experimenting, and wind up pregnant, this same mother will wring her hands and say, "What have I done to deserve this! I gave her everything!" (These, by the way, are the same women who wonder why their husbands have a girl friend.)

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-400, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Having to Come Home, Doesn't

Cruising Greek Isles Makes It

By SHIRLEY GRAY

The William Breeches of Bloomfield Hills are back in town after a fortnight of cruising about the Greek Isles. They boarded the Stella Maris II at Athens and sailed in and out among the islands that dot the Aegean, including Crete and Rhodes.

A short two-day stop at Istanbul, says Marge, was just that — too short. What she and Bill saw of the city on the Bosphorus was just enough to whet their appetites for a return trip. By far the most spectacular sight was the display of crown jewels at the Topkapli Museum, formerly the sultan's palace. "They almost make the English crown jewels seem puny in comparison, if you can believe that," marvels Marge. Before heading home, the Breeches stopped in Rome — their favorite city — for three days, then spent another three days in London with friends.

Hard to believe, but Jean (Mrs. Loyd

H.) Diehl of Birmingham is a grandmother — has been since Oct. 13, when Stephen James Buehler, firstborn of daughter Susan and Bruce Buehler, also of Birmingham, made his debut at New Grace Hospital.

Meanwhile, one of the other Diehl daughters, Julie, sailed away from New York Oct. 10 for a college semester at sea via the "College Afloat" program sponsored by Chapman College. She and some 450 other students will stop at 20 countries on both the European and South American sides of the Atlantic before steaming into Los Angeles late in January.

In between ports they'll have classes on board. What a way to get an education!

ADC Women Voice Criticism of the System, Case Workers

By JEANNE NELSON

It's a funny thing about money. When you look at it, there it is, to be seen, felt, a material object that one recognizes on sight. But, it's the intangibles about money that spark our emotions.

Tuesday, at the YWCA series on "Timely Topics," some of these emotions broke loose. As welfare and ADC recipients see it — it's not money, but the lack of it that is the real problem. With this lack comes they say, degradation, loss of self respect and dehumanization.

A panel of four, two welfare recipients and two social service representatives tried to present the pros and cons of "The System."

A good part of the time was spent on hidden reasons behind the voiced discontent. Some case workers, well known to many of the women present, underwent a barrage of criticism on how they handled their jobs and to what extent their own personal attitudes affected their work.

As long as money must be budgeted, either on the national, local or even family level, its very limitations will create problems. How these problems are handled can either create more or help soothe existing ones, it appears.

If being poor isn't a crime, then why to some is it punishable? To those with this feeling, it becomes a struggle of not only securing the needed money, but facing the antagonisms as well.

On the other hand, public assistance representatives claim they are too often bound by rules they themselves have no way of circumventing or changing. Thus, the battle goes on.

RED TAPE
Red tape sifting down from the national level, seems to be a gigantic barrier on both sides. If the national assistance is set at one figure, does it change at the community level as some claim and so, why?

Are those recipients with more daring, less encumbered by a lagging education, receiving more than fellow recipients who are perhaps unaware of benefits and more timid in their approach?

Does it then become a matter of who yells the loudest or will needs automatically be met, regardless of the methods used?

Earlier, one member of the panel remarked that each was there to benefit from the sharing of ideas, not to line up sides. Whether this actually came about is not quite certain.

The allotment in Oakland County presently is $125 per month for a family of four, plus rent averaging $125 (sometimes up to $150). There are also Medicaid benefits available.

Somewhat, it didn't appear that any easy answers were forthcoming at Tuesday's discussion.

Cecil Beaton is doing the costumes for the new musical, "Coco." Here is his drawing for Women's Day Daily of one of Katherine Hepburn's costumes. The play opens Dec. 18 in New York.

Prince, Ex-Model Wed in Paris Ceremonies

PARIS (UPI) — Prince Karim Aga Khan and his new bride, the former Lady James Crichton-Stuart, celebrated their marriage today at a party attended by members of both families.

The 32-year-old spiritual head of the Ismaili sect of the Moslem religion and his 28-year-old British bride, a divorcee, were married Tuesday in a secret civil ceremony.

Their Moslem wedding will be held at the Prince's home on the fashionable Ile St. Louis in Paris next Tuesday.

Karim, a handsome and wealthy man who had been among the world's most eligible bachelors, and Lady Sarah, a tall, attractive blonde, were dressed somberly for the wedding. He wore a dark gray suit, she a dark brown pleated dress.

For the Moslem ceremony, Prince Karim at least will be dressed in the traditional Ismaili robes and necklaces. It has not been disclosed what Lady Sarah will wear.

Eliminate Sag

Often the sash on a little girl's dress will sag in the back. To prevent this, make a belt loop and place it in the center of the back. Pass each end of the sash through the loop. When the bow is tied, the loop will not be visible and the sash will stay in place.

Positive Reaction Aid to Desired Behavior

By JUNE ELERT

"I always enjoy the opportunity of exposing myself to parents," said David W. Shantz, child psychologist now serving as assistant professor of psychology at Oakland University.

He was addressing the Franklin Forum, in Franklin Community Church Fellowship Hall, Tuesday. His subject was "Why We Behave As We Do."

Dr. Shantz sets forth the theory that "any behavior a child exhibits which leads to positive consequences will tend to become established as a permanent behavior pattern."

Spanking was not mentioned as a positive consequence.

Dr. Shantz advised that if parents want a child to go to bed peacefully at night, they must resist any temptation to respond to cries or calls or temper tantrums, because even a periodic response to demands of this kind is sufficient to encourage and eventually establish a behavior pattern. Okay?

How then do some behaviors "drop out?"

This, said Dr. Shantz, is where the "principle of extinction comes in." A child who engages in weird finger-wiggling, face-making, body-weaving, and establishes a pattern of such behavior due to the attention gained thereby, may eventually stop doing it.

This is not to please his parents, but simply because his curiosity concerning his ability to do these things has been satisfied. Okay?

The second principle of extinction is based on a "bad thing" happening as a result of the behavior, i.e., punishment. But, said Dr. Shantz, "If you punish a kid, he will cease doing whatever it is that is annoying you as long as you are around; but when you aren't looking, he will continue to do what he wants."

"And if he is consistently punished, a hostile relationship will develop that will be bad for both parent and child. Okay?"

However, he continued, "every once in a while a good whack on the behind is a good thing—for you if not for the child."

Dr. Shantz asserts that problem kids are problems because of "where the family is on the 'warm-hostile relationship graph.'"

How do you lead a child into desirable behavior? You encourage (reinforce) "successive approximations to the good behavior."

You take the passive child to the first rung of the Jungle Gym and give him some attention. You praise him for sitting here—until it's time for him to climb higher.

Then you ignore him, giving your attention to the more adventurous children. When his "left-out" feelings become strong enough, he will climb higher. Then you praise him again. Okay?

Pretty soon he is no longer the passive child—and you have solved his problem.

Prague Symphony Comes to Detroit on Oct. 28

The Prague Symphony Orchestra will make its American debut at Ford Auditorium Oct. 28.

The 8:30 p.m. concert is a benefit sponsored by Brookside School, Cranbrook.

Under the baton of conductor Dr. Vaclav Smetacek, the orchestra will perform Mozart's 41st Symphony in C major (the Jupiter symphony); Beethoven's second concerto for piano in B flat major and Dvorak's third symphony in E flat major.

EVA BERNATHOVA, Czechoslovakia's leading woman pianist, will be the featured soloist.

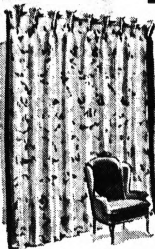

The orchestra's American tour will take it to 24 cities including New York and the Lincoln Center during the following four weeks.

The orchestra was founded in 1894 by a group of gifted, unemployed musicians. Since 1952, when the City Council of Prague officially assumed sponsorship, it has shared with the Czech Philharmonic the musical spotlight in the Czech capital.

Tickets are available from the Ford Auditorium box office, all Grinnell's and all J. L. Hudson's stores.

Leaving Home? Booklet Offered

Young women 18 to 22 who are leaving home for the first time this fall — for college or a career in the big city — will have help adjusting to their new lifestyle.

A recent publication of Kimberly-Clark's Life Cycle Center, "The Years of Independence," delves into the physical, social and emotional problems faced by young women on their own, considers alternatives and offers practical solutions. Copies are ten cents each from The Life Cycle Center, Kimberly-Clark Corp., box 551-PR, Neenah, Wisconsin 54956.

Some Scared Consumers Return Diet Pop

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A quick check of a half dozen grocery stores and supermarkets in the Pontiac uncovered no instances of customers' returning diet soft drinks and demanding their money back.)

"But they're not buying it," said one store owner. A local supermarket manager said that Canada Dry had picked up all the cases of their diet drinks on Monday.

By United Press International

Many individual shoppers said Monday they would go right on buying diet foods containing cyclamate despite the government ban on the artificial sweetener.

Sales reports from retail stores indicated, however, that many more persons were discontinuing use of the diet foods and sodas. Buyers also were demanding money back on government announcement.

When Miss Dee Granger of Chicago got the news she went out and bought four more six-packs of diet soda saying: "I think there isn't anything in life that can't be construed as harmful. Why should you be so dogmatically scared of things that you can't enjoy life?"

Her philosophy was endorsed by Al Jacyna, Los Angeles, who compared the evidence that the chemical sweetener caused cancer in the bladder of laboratory rats to reports that too much sun can cause cancer.

"The question is, are you going to stay out of the sun all the time too?" Jacyna asked.

Nevertheless, shoppers at many supermarkets were bypassing the shelves containing diet food and drinks according to a number of market owners.

RETURNS

At Richard's Lido in Newport near Los Angeles, clerk Jim Cherry said customers had biggest sellers "but this weekend it didn't move. No one is buying."

diet soda. "We have been refunding their money because we have mainly good established customers and we don't want to lose them," he said.

The Star Markets, one of the biggest supermarket chains in New England also was offering refunds. A spokesman said the ban was "killing diet drinks."

Steven Ragesas, manager of Jim's Market in Detroit, said diet soda usually was one of his biggest sellers "but this weekend it didn't move. No one is buying."

Announcing the engagement of their daughter, Karen Ann to Lawrence L. Phelps, are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Essiambre of Huntington Park Drive. Lawrence is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Phelps, also of Huntington Park Drive.

Saturday Weddings Unite Two Couples

MRS. JOHN A. LEKO

MRS. C. V. RAWLINS

Avondale Baptist Church was the setting for the Saturday evening wedding of Marie Linda Holiday and John A. Leko Jr.

A reception in the Avon Park Pavilion honored the newlyweds. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Delmar L. Holiday of Livorno Road and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Leko of Hazelton Street, all Avon Township.

Gowned in silk crepe accented with Alencon lace, the bride carried a cascade of roses and carnations. She was attended by Jacalyn Holiday, maid of honor.

Michael Lynn performed the duties of best man for the bridegroom. The newlyweds are honeymooning in northern Michigan.

Oranges First Grew in Asia

Oranges were grown first in Southern Asia. References to them date back to 2200 B.C.

They were brought to Florida by early Spanish explorers and colonists, some time between 1513, when Ponce de Leon was looking for the fountain of youth, and 1565 when St. Augustine, the first Florida colony, was established.

Before 1577, oranges also were planted in South Carolina.

The orange reached California with the founding of San Diego Mission in 1769 but the first grove of considerable size was at San Gabriel Mission where 400 seedlings were planted on a six-acre tract in 1804.

Rawlins-Kraft

Diane Marie Kraft chose a gown of Rochelle lace with organza for her marriage Saturday to Claude Vincent Rawlins. The couple was honored at a reception in the Italian-American Club following the rite.

The bridegroom's sister, Danice, was maid of honor. Best man, David Smith, escorted her to the altar of Community Congregational Church in Lathrup Village.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick D. Kraft of Coleman Drive and Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Rawlins of Southfield.

The newlyweds are honeymooning at Niagara Falls.

WE WILL BE CLOSED MONDAY, NOVEMBER 3rd, ONLY! so that our entire staff may attend the two-day Hair Show in Detroit. It is our way of keeping up with the latest techniques.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOHMAN

Modern inventions have day, anywhere when sitting — robbed us of the exercise our at the bridge table, the theater, forebears just naturally had. It or your desk.

We spend much of our time at the very time when medical evidence stresses the vital importance of regular and rather strenuous exercise.

Today, the average person must PLAN for exercise if he or she wishes to enjoy vital health and to hold on to it in older years.

Do deep-knee bends when picking things up from the floor. Keep your back erect when going up or down stairs and rise on your toes, stretching upward, when reaching for something on a high shelf. Good posture itself is an excellent to get more exercise than its exercise.

You can do the following at your desk or at home. It relaxes tension at the back of the neck and firms the neckline. Clasp your hands behind your head. Push your head back as you resist with your hands. Continue resistance of six seconds. Relax. Repeat three times.

Now interlace your fingers and place the palms of your hands against your forehead. Push forward with your head and resist with your hands, six seconds, and relax. Repeat three times.

Whenever you walk, inside or outside of the house, do so briskly. Don't shuffle around when doing housework. I have often said that one of the best abdominal exercises is to pull your tummy in hard, toward your backbone, and hold it for a count of six or eight.

You can do this many times a

T. R. Agars Go on Honeymoon

Newlyweds, the Theodore Ray Agars (Carol Beth Warnock) are honeymooning in northern Michigan following their recent wedding.

Honor attendants at their civil ceremony were Ona Lee and the bridegroom's brother, Lloyd Agar. A dinner in the bride's parents' home followed the rites.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Alexander C. Warnock of Olympic Parkway. Mrs. Marie Agar of Lomley Street and Walter Agar of Walled Lake.

Hay Fever Ills to Be Avoided Now 'Til Frost

NEW YORK (UPI) — The sneezing, season, or misery time for hay fever sufferers, goes on until frost. But you can do something to help alleviate the discomfort if you are a victim, says the Health Insurance Institute; something that is above and beyond what your physician prescribes medically.

Here are some suggestions from the institute: — Stay indoors with windows and doors closed whenever possible.

— Try to stay in air-conditioned or air-filtered environment.

Avoid swimming in chlorinated pools. The chlorine irritates nasal passages, making the hay fever victim all the more uncomfortable. — Stay out of gardens and open fields.

New Dishwasher Improves Chore

A new line of dishwashers literally gobbles up most leftovers, the manufacturer says. You can even put in plates with mashed potatoes on them with complete assurance that they'll be flushed away. A recirculation filter on the appliance also eliminates the bugaboo of food being redeposited on dishes during the final rinse.

Anouilh's Play Going on Stage Friday Night

Jean Anouilh's poetic masterpiece, "Antigone," will be performed at the Art Institute by Le Troupeau de Paris at 8:30 p.m. Friday.

The cultural import series is sponsored by the Theatre Arts Department of the Art Institute in conjunction with the Alliance Francaise of Detroit. A special matinee is also scheduled at 2 p.m.

Taken from Greek legend and set in the ancient city of Thebes, "Antigone" is a shocking, emotional theatrical experience. Anouilh's adaption of the classical tragedy is a "must" for all students of French.

One of the greatest living playwrights, Anouilh has enjoyed enormous success in this country with a number of his productions including "Waltz of the Toreadors," "Thieves Carnival," "Poor Bitos" and "Becket."

This particular production by Le Troupeau de Paris, a distinguished French repertory company, has as its director and star the renowned actor, Jean Davy, who created the original lead role of Creon.

Tickets may be purchased at the Art Institute Ticket Office, all J. L. Hudson ticket centers and the Alliance Francaise office in Detroit.

Legislation in Congress Tackles Job-Safety Woes in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has been told pockets of 19th-Centurylike working conditions in U.S. industry are endangering the safety of workingmen.

The testimony before congressional committees came on a clutch of bills intended to provide a comprehensive occupational health and safety program for the nation.

• An estimated 600 to 1,100 out of a total of 8,000 uranium miners will suffer lung cancer because of exposure to radiation.

• A group of British scientists found 60 workers out of 500 employed by a southern mill suffered byssinosis—caused by breathing cotton dust—which leads to chronic bronchitis and emphysema. The British did the test because they found the disease among their own workers in England who were handling imported American cotton.

Other materials such as asbestos, talc, beryllium, laundry soap enzymes, sugar cane fiber and even moldy silage also were tabbed as among substances that can cause damage to workers if they are not handled with special care.

Other legislative targets are unsafe machines, gauges, pipes —the total job environment.

Estimates showed 14,000 workmen die annually because of job injuries; another 2 million are disabled for anywhere from a day to life. In the last four years more have died on the job than servicemen in Vietnam. And five times more man-days have been lost to accidents than in strikes.

Safety codes laid down by major industries, the states and insurance companies are patchy, consisting more of recommendations than rules.

Want Ads Deliver

Funny how most things have a way of turning out right. When you are young and still in college, money for "extra-curricular" items like a guitar is often hard to come by. But this would-be musician lucked out! Just when it seemed he would never own a guitar, a Press Want Ad delivered an almost-new one at an affordable price. It's happy days ahead for the new guitarist and the former owner is whistling a happy tune, too. He's pleased because Press Want Ads delivered a cash buyer for the guitar he no longer plays. It's another example of things turning out right . . . when people turn to the Want Ads.

Read The Pontiac Press Want Ads regularly and when you want to place a fast-acting Want Ad, just dial 334-4981.

$8-Million Bet That TV Can Teach Preschoolers

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of the nation's leading backers of educational projects are betting $8 million that television can be used to teach preschool children at home.

They're putting their money into "Sesame Street," a one-hour program that will, be shown weekday mornings on 175 public television stations beginning Nov. 10, for 26 weeks.

Some commercial stations also will carry the show. NBC will preview it in a special at 5 p.m. Nov. 8.

This program, as seen in some of its segments, is visually exciting, entertaining and instructive. It borrows heavily from "Laugh-In," the cartoons and commercials in its effort to prove that educational television doesn't have to be dull.

DEVOURS LETTER

Kermit the Muppet says, "I've been asked to say a word in behalf of the letter W." As he reels off words starting with W a little monster begins to devour the big letter beside him.

First, he turns it into an N, then a V. "As I was saying, the letter V is an okay letter," Kermit says desperately, giving examples of words starting with V. Another bite turns it into an I — Kermit comes through with more words — and finally the little monster gulps that down, too.

"Our greatest opportunity exists with preschoolers. By the time they've reached school

Air Pollution Curbs to Be Confab Topic

Air pollution control will be the topic of the fourth annual Oakland University conference for industrial and governmental pollution control personnel Nov. 5 and 6.

The two-day conference will feature speakers and panel members in sessions on an ecological approach to air pollution control, state and federal air pollution abatement progress, and monitoring and evaluating the atmosphere.

The program will conclude with a panel discussing specific collection equipment.

For further information contact the university's conference department.

State Firm Target of U.S. Wage Suit

DETROIT (AP) — The U.S. Labor Department reports it has filed an injunction suit in Detroit U.S. District Court under the Fair Labor Standards Act against Gerald Fauser of Precision Welding Co., Jackson.

The complaint alleges that Fauser failed to pay 16 employees the required premium pay for overtime and that $3,319 in unpaid back wages were illegally withheld from the workers since June 1967. The court was asked to order payment of the overtime.

they have learned that learning is not fun and they're looking for release," said Joan Ganz Cooney, executive director of the Children's Television Workshop of National Educational Television. Mrs. Cooney, 38, is a former documentary producer.

The project was set up nearly two years ago by the U.S. Office of Education, the Carnegie Corporation, the Ford Foundation and other government agencies.

RESEARCH

A large part of the Workshop's budget has gone into research—not only into how best to reach children 2-5, but into what effects the show will have on children. Tests will be conducted in several states and cities.

Toddlers who sit transfixed by commercials and cartoons should be at home on "Sesame Street." The show's pace will be rapid to hold their attention, there will be frequent "commercials" for letters and numbers and it will even have cameo stars — But Lancaster, James Earl Jones, Carol Burnett, plus cartoon appearances by Batman and Superman.

Mrs. Cooney said she was adamant in insisting that the show use the most avant-garde techniques. "Children are excessively visual at this age," she said. "We must be very contemporary to hold their attention."

All of the producers, writers and actors came from commercial television. David Connell, 38, the executive producer, held that same position on CBS' "Captain Kangaroo."

Senate Quiz on Army Graft Hears Gen. Turner Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner was called to testify today before a Senate subcommittee investigating charges that as provost marshal he blocked an Army probe into alleged multimillion-dollar graft by a ring of top enlisted men.

The committee, which resumed hearings today after several days of recess, had heard testimony earlier from Turner concerning charges he had improperly obtained confiscated guns for his own use from civilian police officials in Chicago and Kansas City.

In an earlier session, James B. Conlisk Jr., Chicago police superintendent, said Turner lied when he testified Conlisk knew 396 weapons he obtained from the Chicago police force in 1968 were for his own use and not for Army exhibition and training.

Turner has admitted he sold some of the weapons he received from the two departments. But he has insisted, despite signed receipts stating the opposite, the weapons were given to him personally and not in his official capacity.

COVER-UP?

The inquiry into Turner's gun transactions developed in the midst of the Senate investigations subcommittee's probe into the allegations he had used his position as provost marshal to cover up a criminal syndicate of sergeants organized to loot the NCO clubs they ran.

Lt. Col. Jack Pruett, who in 1967 commanded the Army's Criminal Investigations Division Washington detachment, testified he had informed Turner there were several outstanding allegations against Sgt. Maj. William Wooldridge which demanded investigation. Wooldridge at one time was sergeant major at the Army, the highest rank for an enlisted man.

Pruett said these included alleged leadership of a band of sergeants formed in Augsburg, Germany, to systematically loot the recreation clubs they ran.

Pruett said the file of the Augsburg investigation—which estimated thefts from slot machines alone at up to $350,000 annually—was ordered sealed by Turner and denied to CID agents at Ft. Benning, Ga., who were probing similar allegations against the same enlisted men.

ANOTHER ASPECT

He said another aspect of the investigation was an allegation Wooldridge, the other sergeants and a retired major general met at Ft. Benning to discuss investment of ill-gotten proceeds and to set up a system of manipulating U.S. currency, U.S. military payment certificates and South Vietnamese piastres.

"Gen. Turner told me many people had been accused of many things and Sgt. Maj. Wooldridge was just a good ol' country boy," Pruett testified.

Another investigator, Warrant Officer Reis R. Kash, characterized Turner's actions as a "fix."

Col. James C. Shultz, then executive officer of the investigations detachment and now deputy provost marshal general, testified he was ordered to leave Turner's office when he complained that the Wooldridge case was being squelched.

"I formed the firm conviction that Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner was in the process of covering up and whitewashing the case at Ft. Benning, Ga., involving Sgt. Maj. of the Army William O. Wooldridge," Kash told the senators.

Ronald Reagan: Articulate Conservative

By T. LARRY ADCOCK

FLINT — Ronald Reagan these days is rarely called "the ex-actor."

He is, rather, the governor of the most populous state in the union, a presidential aspirant in 1968 and, not the least of all, a major factor in current American politics.

To some, Gov. Reagan is the great right hope—either a threat or a savior. No matter what political philosophy, he is a gentlemen who radiates confidence.

Reagan addressed the National Association of Chambers of Commerce in Detroit yesterday morning and 1,500 Michigan Republicans here last night who paid $100 each for a normally $4.95 dinner.

LANSING BRASS

The Flint event was the fifth annual Republican Legislative Dinner, featuring the Lansing GOP brass and lesser personalities.

The drawing card, of course, was Reagan. The city was his, with nary a single picketer to mar his reception.

Reagan burst upon the national political scene in the hurly-burly Barry Goldwater days of 1964. His candidate lost the presidency by an overwhelming majority (second in electoral votes only to the loss of Alf Landon). Reagan bounced back in 1966, however. In the California gubernatorial race, he trounced the incumbent, Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, by nearly one million votes.

That '66 campaign against Brown was California's dirtiest gubernatorial contest to date. Reagan's wild-eyed conservative followers campaigned on the anti-Communist theme, most remembered by the "Is Brown Pink?" bumper sticker crusade.

HAS THRIVED

The California governor has thrived on both the national and California political scenes.

Michigan's Gov. William Milliken succinctly described Reagan's political career. "It is a political milestone of the decade."

Reagan was the former gung-ho campus liberal at tiny Eureka College in Illinois, a political conviction drawn from his experiences as a "child of the Depression," as he often points out.

A registered Democrat, Reagan led the liberal Hollywood Screen Actors Guild while starring generally as the loser in such films as "Brother Rat," "Knute Rockne, All-American" and "King of the Moons."

FOUND HIS NICHE

In the late '50s, Reagan renounced the Democratic party, turning to the conservative wing of the Republican party.

There he has found his political niche, as America's chief critic of "creeping socialism," "federal usurpation of power" and "moral decay."

Reagan is not a buffoon. In some eyes he has replaced William Buckley Jr. as the country's most articulate proponent of conservatism.

Reagan has reinforced the convictions of conservatives and attracted legions of converts by sincerely professing that conservatism does not spell horror.

'GOOD OLD DAYS'

In a nutshell, Reagan's hopes for the country lie in his quip, "The good old days . . . when we lived a stone's throw from the college."

He is concerned with the preservation of his interpretation of "The American Dream":

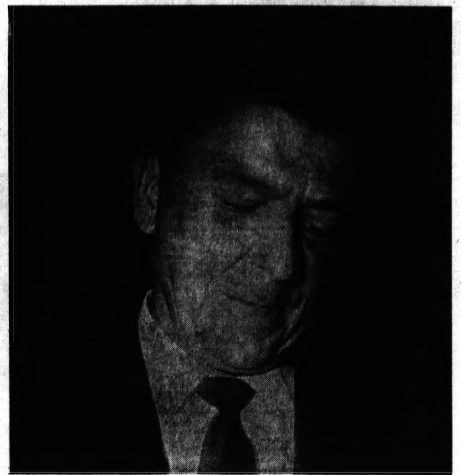

"... When the man labored over the punch press every extra hour he could put into that much money toward his son's college education, so that the son could do better in life than his father . . ."

"... When mothers raised boys who

man; Mrs. William Milliken, wife of the Michigan governor; Gov. Reagan; and C. S. Mott, millionaire Flint philanthropist and donor to Michigan Republican politics.

'Nixon Criticism Is Sabotage' turned into men . . . when the boys out on the Little League football fields and the unorganized sandlots grew into Green Bay Packer talent . . .

"... When the opportunity for the little man to make fantastic economic advances was still alive."

'AID TO ENEMY'

Reagan views today's youth within a broad spectrum of appraisal.

He says: "The Moratorium Day demonstrators appropriately named their recent day, for it was a moratorium on free thought and debate."

"There can be little doubt that the youngsters on the picket lines gave aid and comfort to the enemy (in Vietnam). For their (the M-Day demonstrators) efforts, more Americans will die in Vietnam tomorrow in the mud and rice paddies."

"They (the antiwar youth) are kibitzing in a game in which they haven't even seen the cards," Reagan declared.

4 PRESIDENTS

"Let us pause and remember that four presidents saw the place America has in fighting the South Vietnamese cause when they became fully aware of all the facts and privy to all the confidential information."

"No one could benefit politically more than President Nixon if he (Nixon) could end the war tomorrow. But a president must do more than bring peace. He must consider the price of peace, and sometimes that price is more than free men can afford to pay," Reagan said.

Positively, Reagan observes of the now generation: "I think that young people are not rebelling against morality. I wonder, rather, if they are rebelling because we adults are not living in a moral society."

"These children of ours are asking us, 'For heaven's sake, give us a cause we can believe in, a cause for which we can live.' More than that, our children want us to stand up and have the courage to save our government."

'RISE AND FALL . . .'

"If we adults give this hope to our children, if we can restore morality to our national leadership, then youth will march in our ranks."

"If we don't give our children what they are crying for, if we refuse to save America, then one day a generation will read a book entitled 'The Rise And Fall of the United States.'"

Reagan borrows several quotations from great thinkers, both serious and whimsical, to form his over-all view of the function of a federal government, such as:

"Keep the government poor and remain free," by Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes.

"At a 35 per cent rate of total taxation (local, state and federal), there is a visible decline in freedom and stability. At 36 per cent, there is disaster, complete and final, though not always immediate (Today's tax bite is 37 cents from every dollar)," by economist C. Northcote Parkinson.

"One of the most difficult things for me to understand is the U.S. income tax structure," by Albert Einstein, whose theory of relativity is beyond the comprehension of most.

HIGH PRAISE

Reagan had high praise for President Nixon, who a year ago defeated the Californian for the presidential nomination at the Miami GOP convention.

"Nixon has taken some hard actions that had to be taken. He is battling inflation on all fronts and will, I believe, succeed in his efforts."

"Nixon has inherited a mean, nasty war that his predecessor started and has shown progress in bringing that conflict to the point of a more clearly anticipated conclusion."

The clamor of Nixon criticism of late, said Reagan, "amounts to sabotage."

'APPROACHABLE GUY'

Reagan's aides regard him as "affable," a real "approachable" guy. "Just walk up and introduce yourself and he'll be glad to talk to you," they say.

To an extent, the aides are right. Reagan enjoys talking with people and to reporters, although he tends to become a bit testy repeating answers to repeated questions. His aides, however, cloak the governor.

When asked if he would meet with reporters just to chat — no questions — Reagan replied, "Yes, fine. Let's do that. Maybe at the airport after my speech." Enter an aide: "The governor's schedule simply does not permit time for talks with reporters. Sorry fellows."

But Reagan, even while being literally shoved along through a hotel lobby into an elevator up to his suite, will talk to brisk-paced reporters. I managed 15 minutes that way, a record for the day. I found later at the press section of the dining hall.

ONE CRITICISM

Reagan staffers have but one criticism of their chief: "I never know what he's going to say. He always talks from those damned 3x5 index card notes of his," one aide disclosed.

Another, in his series of favorites, bars at Democrats:

"Hubert Humphrey is a man of few words. Trouble is, he never stops talking when he gets down with them . . . He is sometimes misunderstood at the top of his lungs."

Or: "I sometimes wonder what the Ten Commandments would have looked like if Moses had to run them through a Democratic legislature."

ONETIME FILM IDOL

As far as authority, Reagan the onetime matinee idol, long ago learned how to take center stage and how to hold it.

A strong characteristic of the governor is his rapid-fire delivery of historical sketches to support the parallel of current problems, the contents of almost any federal economic bill since World War II — and statistics, his specialty.

His personal politics may not be widely enough accepted for presidential victory, but Ronald Reagan has what seems to be a prime factor in the election of this nation's chief executive—charisma, just like the liberals.

"I'll tell you how I'm doing: I just phoned dial-a-prayer and they hung up on me."

His aides worry needlessly. Gov. Reagan speaks easily, plainly and deliberately. He falls neither into the habit of preface-thinking and "Now let me make this perfectly clear" as does Richard Nixon, or the blundering faux pas.

One curious thing about a man whose entire life has been built around publicity, as an actor and fast-seasoned politician, is his nervousness.

Reagan twitches his head and swallows frequently when asked "touchy" questions, such as what was his role in the highly controversial Angela Davis case at the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA).

STINGING ATTACK

Reagan's Sacramento office became the focal point for a stinging attack on the Reagan-dominated California State Board of Education after the board dismissed Prof. Davis, 25-year-old black activist, for being a Communist.

The state board utilized a 1940 UCLA Board of Regents resolution that held Communists could be removed from the faculty. The resolution has since been overruled by the U.S. and California Supreme Courts.

Prof. Davis is back teaching — non-credit courses only. Her case is being appealed.

Reagan's security on his cross-country tour has been second only to George Wallace's in 1968. A dozen men pack most available space around Reagan in his darts from limousine to hotel lobby to elevator to dinner table and back to limousine.

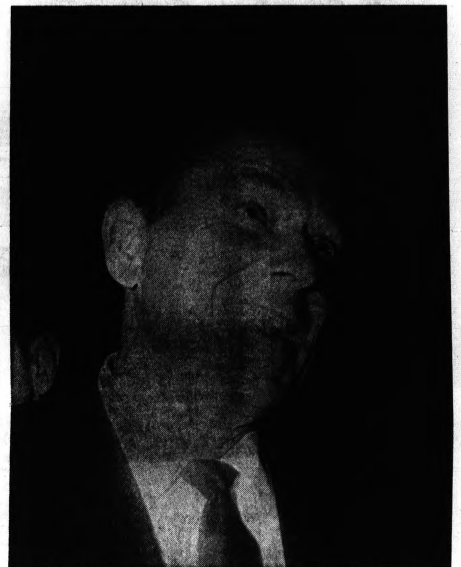

One aide was asked whether Reagan would avoid confrontations with the press (whose credentials were thoroughly checked before being admitted to the dining hall) when a microphone was thrust in the governor's face.

"He'll be protected," snapped the aide.

Teachers Assail Plan

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. William G. Milliken's education reform plan has been assailed by the 70,000-member Michigan Education Association as a threat to teacher contract bargaining rights.

In a point-by-point critique of the governor's plan, the state's largest teacher's organization said it could "emasculate" bargaining on wages, class sizes and other economic matters.

'Hubert Humphrey: Man Of Few Words'

'M-Day Aided Enemy In Vietnam'

...Who Packs Plenty of Political Pizzazz

FLINT — Charisma is a word discovered with the emergence of the politically powerful Kennedy family, a word that has come by connotation to mean a liberal politician who has plenty of luster.

Can a conservative have charisma? If the quality is based on affability, wit, charm, good looks and authority, it must apply to California's Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Reagan arrived here yesterday afternoon in a brief hustle-bustle that was the apex of everyone's efforts prior to 3:30.

BRUSHED UP

Hotel employees spent the day being brushed and hushed and snapped at by their stocky superintendent for The Big Moment. A Cadillac limousine rounded the corner and out hopped a tall, lean and tanned Ronnie Reagan.

He entered the hotel to greetings like: "Hello, Sir. I'm the finance chairman. Glad to have you here, sir. Is Mrs. Reagan along? Did you have a nice trip up (from Detroit)?"

A cool Reagan answers deftly, so honestly obligingly. "Good to meet you. Mrs. Reagan is in Chicago and couldn't make it here. Ye-ess, I had a fine trip up."

Reagan strikes a humorous pose for an amateur photographer, the girl who works the hotel switchboard. He walks up and introduces himself to a bug-eyed television reporter, bats out some good quotes for the press, shakes a lot of hands very swiftly, waves and he has disappeared into the elevator.

GOOD DAY

Everyone — reporters, hotel employees and onlookers, even the hotel superintendent — looks about as if to pat one another on the back and say, "Well it's been a good day; it was all worth it."

During his address at the fifth annual Republican Legislative Dinner here last night, Reagan departs from his prepared text frequently to offer humorous asides — which his aides claim are all his own and which probably are:

"A senator from our state stopped in one day to visit me in Sacramento (California's state capital). He asked me how I was doing and I answered:

"How am I doing? The state is under water (the California floods), the water is under oil (the Santa Barbara oil slicks) and the kids are burning down the colleges and you ask me how I'm doing."

Relish Fills Mushrooms

Raw mushrooms are interesting and not fattening. They are as low in calories as are lettuce, cucumbers, tomatoes or scallions. But most important, they added a delightful fresh appeal to salads.

RELISH STUFFED MUSHROOMS

- 1/2 pound medium-sized fresh mushrooms
- 6 cherry tomatoes, diced
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped celery
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped cucumber
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped radishes
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons bottled garlic salad dressing
- 1/4 teaspoon instant garlic powder

Remove stems from mushrooms. Save for later use in sauces and gravies. Wipe mushroom caps clean with damp toweling. Combine remaining ingredients in a small bowl. Mix well. Spoon mixture into mushroom caps. Chill until ready to serve. Serve as an hors d'oeuvre or salad. Yield: Approximately 18.

SPEEDY SEA SUPPER — Pour 1 can (15 oz.) macaroni and cheese into 9-inch pie pan. Combine 1/2 cup tartar sauce with 1 teaspoon prepared mustard; spread half of mixture over macaroni. Sprinkle with 1/2 cup chopped parsley. Arrange 12 frozen pre-cooked fish sticks on top. Bake at 400 degrees for about 20 minutes, or until macaroni and cheese is heated through and fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. To serve, spoon remaining tartar sauce mixture over fish sticks. Makes 4 servings.

Do Arithmetic Before Shopping

In the shell or out? The pound of nutmeats, both are of Consumer and Marketing equal value.

Service says when buying nuts in the shell, remember that two pounds make a pound of nutmeats. If nutmeats cost more than twice as much as the in-shell meats. If one pound of in-shell nuts, you may decide to get the nuts costs half as much as one nutcracker.

Free Pamphlet Gives Tips on Smart Shopping

Want to know more about how to buy canned and frozen vegetables? You can learn with the help of a new pamphlet published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"How to Buy Canned and Frozen Vegetables," prepared by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, describes the quality characteristics and available styles of canned and frozen vegetables.

It also explains the USDA grades for these products. Both grade and style affect the price of a vegetable, and how you may want to use it.

Most canned and frozen vegetables are packed in at least two grades. Learning the differences between these grades can be helpful in choosing the quality that suits your needs, your purpose and your pocketbook.

Single copies of "How to Buy Canned and Frozen Vegetables," Home and Garden Bulletin No. 167, are available on postcard request to the Office of Information, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250. Please include your zip code.

Ever cut green peppers in wide strips and saute them in a mixture of olive oil and butter? Delicious with veal!

COLORFUL SPREADS—Cranberry Pickle Relish makes a lively sandwich buffet with a variety of spreads.

Offer Variety of Spreads to Guests

Easy entertaining that's easy to come by can be yours with this sandwich buffet. Dainty, delicious sandwich spreads such as Chicken Pate, Shrimp or Cheese Spreads, served with a tangy Cranberry Pickle Relish, are bound to be a sure-fire success with your guests.

The cranberry relish is a lovely red and will enliven your buffet foods with an attractive color and tangy flavor. This relish is also excellent with cold cuts or hot meats.

CRANBERRY PICKLE RELISH

1 can (1 pound) whole berry cranberry sauce, mashed

1/2 cup finely chopped dill pickles
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1/4 cup finely chopped celery
Combine all ingredients, blend well and chill until ready to serve. Spread bread with desired filling and top with a small spoon of cranberry pickle relish. Makes about 2 1/2 cups.

CHEESE SPREAD

2 cups (8 ounces) grated sharp cheddar cheese
1 small clove garlic, mashed
1 teaspoon dry mustard
Beer
Combine cheese, garlic, mustard. Beat in enough beer to make a spreadable mixture. Chill until ready to serve. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

SHRIMP SPREAD

1 1/2 cups finely chopped cooked shrimp (about 1 pound raw)
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese
2 tablespoons finely chopped scallions
Cream
Salt
Combine shrimp, cream cheese and scallions. Add enough cream to make a spreadable mixture. Add salt to taste. Chill until ready to serve. Makes about 2 cups.

CHICKEN PATE

1 large chicken breast, cooked

1 cup chopped stuffed olives
1 stick (1/2 cup) butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon poultry seasoning
Garlic salt

Skin and bone chicken. Mince chicken. Mix in olives, butter and poultry seasoning. Add garlic salt to taste. Chill until ready to serve. Makes about 2 cups.

Meat, Kraut Are Mixed in Skillet Meal

Dinner in 30 minutes? It's possible with convenient canned luncheon meat or chopped ham. A skillet dinner is the perfect answer for a busy homemaker with meal-planning problems. Canned meats save precious cooking time, require no skills to prepare, are economically priced and come in a great variety of types and flavors. Skillet, too, have modernized and are now time-saving, cook-serve utensils.

Luncheon Meat-Kraut Skillet Dinner is a short-cut entree with a robust flavor everyone will enjoy. Canned luncheon meat or chopped ham, sauerkraut, pineapple and raisins are combined with a mix of brown sugar to enhance the flavor.

LUNCHEON MEAT-KRAUT SKILLET DINNER

2 cans (12 ounces each) luncheon meat*
1 can (1 pound, 11 ounce) sauerkraut, drained
1 can (13 ounce) pineapple chunks
1/2 cup coarsely chopped onion
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup seedless raisins
1/4 cup (packed) brown sugar

Cut 10 to 12 thin slices of luncheon meat; cut remaining meat into 1/2 inch cubes. Combine sauerkraut, undrained pineapple chunks, onion, water, raisins and brown sugar; mix. Cover; cook slowly 15 minutes.

Fold in cubed meat, and arrange meat slices attractively on sauerkraut. Cover; heat slowly to blend flavors and heat meat, about 15 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

*canned chopped ham may be substituted for luncheon meat if desired.

Herb Topping Is Fine on Tomatoes

Cup-bake fresh tomatoes. For each serving, wash, remove stem, and cut a shallow cross in top of medium-sized tomato.

Place in custard cup, greased lightly with bacon drippings. Sprinkle with salt, 1/4 teaspoon of dried basil or savory flakes and 1/2 teaspoon of sugar. Dot with more bacon fat. Bake in preheated 400-degree oven 20 to 30 minutes.

Rule for poaching eggs: don't let the water boil after the eggs are added.

LUNCHEON MEAT SKILLET DINNER — For dinner on the double, serve this tempting Luncheon Meat-Kraut Skillet Dinner. It's simple, hearty food made with fine canned foods that heat in minutes!

'Day of Bread' Observance Unites World

Food Editor, The Pontiac Press
"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that as a token of man's gratitude for the bounty of nature and the annual harvest of farm and field, and in recognition of bread as a symbol of all foods, that Tuesday, the 28th day of October, 1969 be designated as a 'Day of Bread' as a part of international observances, and that the last week of October within which it falls be designated as a period of 'Harvest Festival.'"

With the above statement the United States joins for the first time in an international celebration of "Day of Bread." The custom was originated in West Germany in 1953.

Sponsored by a number of nation organizations of wheat growers, flour millers and bakers, the occasion will be marked by a luncheon in Washington on Tuesday.

THOM'S PAINTING

As a luncheon feature, the American Bakers Association has commissioned Birmingham artist Robert Thom to paint a picture, entitled "Give Us This Day Our Daily Bread," as a special gift to President Nixon.

It depicts a family at the dinner table bowed reverently for grace. Secretary Hardin will accept the painting for the President.

Bread, universally prepared, is a symbol of all food. The history of bread goes back to the dawn of recorded history.

This modern observance of a day dedicated to bread points up the continuing need for a plentiful supply of food throughout the world. Man's ingenuity must increase if hunger pangs are to be stilled.

In the United States we are not limited to one kind of bread as are many other countries. And our bread is good for the most part.

ENRICHED FLOUR

But let's not take a step backwards. Let's be sure that the flour we use at home is enriched flour. Let's read the labels on bread we buy and if they do not indicate enriched flour, let's ask the bakers why not.

Enrichment of white flour has helped improve the health of the consumer for over 20 years, but gains will be lost if we are not alert. Use whole grain products if and when you are able to; always use enriched flour.

Apple Butterscotch Muffins belong to crisp fall days. The most confirmed breakfast skipper won't be able to pass up these delectable gems. They're welcome anytime, hot or cold. You can tuck them into a lunchbox, or serve them to hungry after-school hordes.

APPLE BUTTERSCOTCH MUFFINS

ANCIENT HISTORY—Raised bread was discovered by the Egyptians. This drawing, adapted from wall painting in the tomb of Ramses III, shows royal bakers at work.

Many Egyptian bread shapes are still made today. This illustration from Better Homes and Gardens Bread Cook Book.

Fruit Bread

Use Can to Bake, Ship

Assorted one pound cans are the baking and shipping containers for fruit loaves made with graham cracker crumbs.

GRAHAM FRUIT LOAVES

- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 (8-ounce) package chopped dates
- 1 cup candied cherries, chopped
- 1 1/2 cups butter or margarine
- 1 1/4 cups light brown sugar, firmly packed
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon or orange rind
- 4 eggs
- 1/2 cup orange juice

2 cups graham cracker crumbs
Sift together first four ingredients; set aside. Combine dates and cherries; mix with 2 tablespoons of the sifted flour mixture.

Cream butter, gradually beat in sugar. Beat until very light and fluffy. Add rind and eggs, one at a time. Then, at low speed, mix in flour mixture just until smooth.

Using a wooden spoon, stir in fruits, juice and crumbs. Turn into 6 well greased (1-pound) cans.

Bake in a preheated slow oven (325 degrees.) 55 to 60 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes in cans.

Turn out and cool completely on wire rack. Tightly wrap in plastic food wrap. Return to cans for mailing. Makes 6 (1 pound) loaves.

A Junior Editors Quiz About BULLDOGS

QUESTION: How did bulldogs get their name?

ANSWER: There was a time, we regret to say, when many people seemed to take pleasure in looking at bloody battles between animals. The more brutal and gory these were the better. Bears and bulls were often chained to a stake, and savage dogs set loose upon them.

The English bulldog was specially bred and trained for this cruel sport. These dogs, of course, were very much smaller than the bulls. But they had extremely powerful undershot jaws and they could lock these jaws together and hang on with unbelievable tenacity.

The dog would try to catch the bull's nose in his powerful jaws. The great bull might toss him around like a feather, but the dog would hang on until he had brought the bull to the ground.

The development of more civilized and humane ideas fortunately outlawed such barbarian sports, but the bulldog remained - with his mashed-in face and undershot jaw, developed for fighting.

It seems curious that these fighting dogs, who look so ferocious, should actually have mild, trusting dispositions, making excellent companions and pets.

East does hold the diamond ace. If he rises, South has four diamond tricks, since the ace hasn't gobbled up an honor. Should he duck, South abandons diamonds and sets up three heart tricks with that one diamond trick in the bank.

Could South have avoided this debacle by attacking hearts instead of diamonds? No. He only

Mother Forms Tax Hike Fight

Waterford School Millage Is Opposed

A Waterford Township mother who led a parents' drive against half-day school classes is now forming a new group to defeat a proposed property tax increase. Mrs. Sharon Swindell, 6500 Pleasant, said her organization, Waterford Homeowners Against Millage (WHAM), will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow to organize their opposition. The meeting will be at Mike Spack's Auction Land, 1300 Crescent Lake.

She explains that WHAM's members are the same ones who fought half days for elementary pupils and shortened days for secondary students under the name of the Waterford Parents Association (WPA).

She denies the WPA lost many members when she announced they would also fight the one-year, 9-mill tax increase at the polls Nov. 25. Mrs. Swindell claims about 1,100 supporters in WHAM.

SUIT LOST
School officials called the millage election to raise funds to put some 18,502 children back on full days.

The school board lost a parent suit when an Oakland County Circuit Court Judge ruled that full days must be restored. A school board appeal is scheduled to be heard in the Michigan Supreme Court Nov. 4.

"Our children are getting cheated out of a good education," Mrs. Swindell commented, "and it is high time to stand up and let the people know that we are taxed to death."

"We are not getting what we are paying for. Millage is not the answer. The answer is educational reform."

Mrs. Swindell said she is looking for $1,000 in donations to have printers print 15 legal briefs, prepared by their attorneys, for the State Supreme Court.

City Reverses Zoning Denial

The City Commission reversed itself on a rezoning request to allow construction of a gas station at last night's meeting. The rezoning request is for a Shell station at the southwest corner of Perry at Glenwood, changing the zoning from light to heavy commercial.

Two weeks ago the commission voted the proposal down. At last night's meeting the vote was 5-2 in favor.

Changing their votes from negative to positive were commissioners James H. Marshall, district 7, and F. Jack Douglas, district 4. Remaining opposed were commissioner Robert F. Jackson, district 5, and Mayor William H. Taylor Jr.

Both commissioners who changed their votes said they did so on the basis of a study of two petitions presented in the case, for and against. A study had shown most property owners directly adjacent to the proposed station favored it.

The residents want an old building containing a tavern removed and replaced by the new gas station. At last night's meeting another petition was presented with 123 signatures opposed. Many of these were from residents who feared additional street-crossing problems at the intersection.

Miss Congeniality, He's Student Chief
NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — David Wanser, who failed in his write-in campaign to become president of the University of Oklahoma homecoming queen last week, was elected Tuesday night as student of the university's rugged northwest.

Wanser, a senior from Norman, was eliminated from the homecoming queen contest in a technicality involving filing of entry papers, but he was chosen "Miss Congeniality" by the other contestants.

The bodies of four of Pederson's children also were found in the house, and his wife died later from her wounds. A 7-year-old son recovered and testified briefly during the eight-day trial.

Judge May Schedule Collins' Trial Date

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Almost three months of legal maneuvering in the case of John Norman Collins could end today if Washtenaw County Circuit Judge Conlin sets a date for the beginning of the young man's trial on a charge of murdering an Eastern Michigan University coach.

Since he was arrested late on the night of July 31 at his Ypsilanti home on a charge of murdering EMU freshman Karen Sue Beiseman, defense attorneys have filed a series of motions asking that evidence be suppressed and arrest and search warrants be declared illegal.

The last of the defense motions, for a change of the trial site on the grounds the 22-year-old, square-jawed college senior cannot get a fair trial in this area, was to be heard today.

The motion for the change of venue was filed Monday on the grounds that publicity surrounding the brutal death of Miss Beiseman and six other 2, located at 4596 Walton Blvd.

Court Asked to Bar Auto Pollution 'Stall'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has asked a federal court to approve promptly an out-of-court antitrust settlement barring the four major car makers from conspiring to delay development of pollution control devices.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Richard W. McLaren, the Justice Department's antitrust chief, contended in a court document that immediate approval is imperative because of public health as well as antitrust considerations.

His argument came in response to 11 motions to reject the proposed settlement, now under consideration in Los Angeles federal court.

Urging acceptance, McLaren said the Sept. 11 settlement achieved "essentially all of the objectives" sought in the civil suit filed by the department last Jan. 10.

Milliken Eyes Revamp of State Health Agencies

ANN ARBOR — Gov. William G. Milliken plans to ask the State Health Planning Commission to suggest ways to decentralize and improve the bureaucracy of state health agencies.

The commission, headed by Dr. Andrew Hunt Jr., dean of Michigan State University's medical college, would seek among other things, to lower Michigan's infant mortality rate, now 15th in the nation, and is seeking ways to revise mental health statutes to "be more effective in meeting community needs," Milliken said.

"We propose to mobilize against hunger," Milliken said at the centennial observation in Ann Arbor of the Michigan Health Council.

Milliken said he would ask the commission to formulate a special committee already reduce a more than $250-million annual health services bill.

"We must shift our emphasis from categorical programs to people and neighborhoods," the oldest stock exchange in the world is that at Amsterdam, Netherlands, founded in 1602.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — He drives a car, is over 35 by a report prepared by a private consultant for the California State Office of Tourism just under 20 million, the consultants said. Total income was $1.1 billion from auto travelers, $1.6 billion from air travelers, and $1.8 billion from cruise ship passengers.

He's the typical visitor to California—a free-spending tourist who helped pump $2.7 billion into the state's economy last year.

They provided a substantial shot in the arm for the economy of a state with a population of just under 20 million, the consultants said. Total income was $1.1 billion from auto travelers, $1.6 billion from air travelers, and $1.8 billion from cruise ship passengers.

A total of 34.8 per cent of the auto travelers and 22.4 per cent of the air passengers went to the state's most popular attractions, the amusement park built by Walt Disney in Orange County southeast of Los Angeles.

Other favorite spots were Marineland, an aquatic circus near Los Angeles; Knott's Berry Farm, an Orange County amusement park with historical attractions; and the San Diego Zoo.

Aerospace Shuttle Plane Is in Works

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — An aerospace plane now evolving into an earth orbital shuttle ship may put the Air Force back into the manned space-flight business.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is heading developing of the shuttle, but the ship is expected to support military space missions as well during the last half of the 1970s.

The shuttle is planned to put space operations on a practical, economically sound basis by redesigning the expensive present-day rockets which must be discarded after each launch.

It is designed to take off vertically like a rocket and glide back intact to earth like a jetliner.

100 TRIPS

The shuttles will be able to fly again in a week or two. Each craft should be able to make at least 100 trips to and from space.

That should cut costs for each round trip down to $3 million to $4 million, said Leroy E. Day, head of a NASA task group studying the shuttle system.

Day said in a Washington interview that present planning anticipates NASA and the Department of Defense each will require a minimum of 35 shuttle flights a year in the last half of the next decade.

NASA's missions and some of the military flights would start from Cape Kennedy, but Day said the Air Force is expected to build a duplicate launch and landing facility at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Thai Ambassador Fears Red Threat in Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thailand's new ambassador to the United States says the Communist threat to Laos is real and will become "very serious if the Vietnam conflict ends in favor of North Vietnam."

Ambassador Sunthorn Hongladarom, speaking fluent English, said in an interview the present North Vietnamese objective is to keep the Ho Chi Minh supply line between North and South Vietnam through Laos open for reinforcements and resupply.

"But once the Vietnam war is terminated, there is no doubt Laos will bear the brunt of communist aggression," Sunthorn said. "And that is next door to Thailand."

The comments from the 57-year-old diplomat came as a subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was in the midst of closed hearings on U.S. involvement in Laos. Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., is heading the panel making a nation-by-nation assessment of American commitments.

QUESTIONS RAISED

During the summer, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the full foreign relations committee, raised questions about U.S. commitments to Thailand. Fulbright sought unsuccessfully to force the administration to disclose a military contingency plan between the United States and Thailand.

In his interview, Sunthorn said his government believes this plan must be kept secret.

"It is a military agreement that cannot be revealed in our view," Sunthorn said. "When Sen. Fulbright wanted it to be revealed to the American public I think he was trying to capitalize on it. It is a military plan that cannot be revealed and still be useful. We could not understand why he insisted on it." Sunthorn said Thai officials believe the new North Vietnamese leaders are fearful of mainland China and do not want to be too greatly under the influence of Peking.

"We do not understand why the government in Hanoi is holding onto the war when it is considered how much damage is being inflicted upon them by the U.S. B-52 bombing attacks," Sunthorn said.

"The more they persist, the more they will have to depend upon mainland China and the harder it will become for Hanoi to extricate itself from the grip of China."

"It may be that they think if they hold on, some elements of the American public will put pressure on the American government. And that is why they hold on in Hanoi and concede nothing in the Paris negotiations."

"What the moralism people are doing is not in your over-all interest," he added. "As a free country, it is difficult to stop voicing opinions, but we believe it is not in the interest of the U.S. as a whole."

State Names New Deputy for Commerce

LANSING (UPI) — Maurice E. Schoenberger of East Lansing has been named deputy director of the State Department of Commerce, effective Nov. 1, it was announced yesterday.

He replaces William G. Rosenberg, who recently was appointed executive director of the State Housing Authority.

Department Director Richard E. Whitmer said he is "pleased" Schoenberger accepted the position and called him "One of the most able persons I have ever met."

A lawyer with a Lansing firm, Schoenberger, 28, is a graduate of the University of Michigan and U-M Law School. He served as assistant prosecuting attorney for Ingham County from October 1966 to November 1968.

NO FLAG AT ALL — A poster advocating the withdrawal of all U.S. troops from Vietnam is attached to the base of a war memorial flag stand on the campus of the University of Pennsylvania yesterday in Philadelphia. The flag was removed from the pole, as were others on the campus, because of a dispute between students and school officials over whether the flag should fly at full or half staff due to the Vietnam war.

Oil Well in State Success

CADILLAC (AP) — A 6,922-foot-deep among some 58 such exploratory wells dug in northern Michigan well sunk near Traverse City since 1966. Only two others have produced "an extremely good find," according to an official of the McClure Oil Co. of Alma.

About 50 barrels of distillate of natural gas and crude oil came gushing from the test well during a three hour experiment.

"State Union Well No. 1," is Oct. 3.

Answer Seems to Be Yes and No

Papal Rule Periled?

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Can Pope Paul VI retain papal primacy in ruling the Roman Catholic Church if he agrees to let the Church's bishops share in the formulation of his Catholic. He is limited by the decisions? The answer seems to be both "yes" and "no."

The question has been posed to the foreground of the church controversy by the curia's recent meeting of the synod of the bishops in papal decision-making—would be just another Tuesday that a solid majority of such limitation.

In theory the Pope's power is unlimited, said one member of the synod, but in actual practice "No Pope can do anything."

of the force of the bishops' insistence. Two years ago, the first synod called by Pope Paul urged the creation of a commission of 30 theologians drawn from around the world. "What a bad idea you have there," the Pope told one proponent. But he finally created the commission last April. Theologians appointed to consider it an important breakthrough for theological research. They feel it will ultimately be a big influence on Catholic doctrine.

One cardinal in the synod said Pope Paul's concept of rule places more emphasis on papal primacy while many bishops place more on collegiality. But national bishops' conferences in the cardinal said the Pope is before making key rulings. They also agreed that recommendations that collegiality be broadened because every two years at least.

Won't Appear at N. J. Probe, Sinatra Says

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank Sinatra says he does not care to figure in "any three-ring circus" and refuses to appear voluntarily before a New Jersey agency investigating organized crime.

The New Jersey State Investigation Commission, probing alleged criminal activity in Monmouth County, had a warrant issued for Sinatra's arrest last week after the 33-year-old entertainer failed to answer a subpoena. The warrant is enforceable only in New Jersey.

In a statement issued Tuesday, Sinatra said: "For many years every time some Italian names are involved in any inquiry I get a subpoena. I appear. I am asked questions about scores of persons unknown to me. I am asked questions based on rumors and events which have never happened. I am subjected to the type of publicity I do not desire and do not seek."

William F. Hyland, chairman of the New Jersey commission, said any decision on further action would be up to the full commission.

Sinatra was ordered to appear Aug. 19 at a private hearing but obtained a month's delay. The commission said it heard nothing more from him. Sinatra was served with the subpoena last June 25 while aboard his yacht, the Roma, off the New Jersey coast near Highlands.

"Notwithstanding the fact that I am of Italian descent, I do not have any knowledge of the extent or the manner in which 'organized crime' functions in the State of New Jersey or whether there is such a thing as 'organized crime,'" Sinatra's statement said.

Somali Chief, Cabinet Arrested

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) — Prime Minister Mohamed Ibrahim Egal and his entire cabinet have been arrested by Mogadishu Radio said today.

They were reported being held in a military warehouse outside of town. The army returned from the United States last Friday following the assassination of President Abdirashid Ali Shermake.

The army seized power before dawn Tuesday, breaking a nine-year tradition of democracy in this arid, nomadic land on the eastern tip of Africa. It pledged to abolish corruption and tribalism.

Heavy Guard — Combat troops maintained a heavy guard today over government buildings, the port and communication facilities. Commercial flights were canceled, and the airports remained closed.

All business, including banks, also were closed. There was no telephone service, and the three government newspapers did not publish for the second day.

There were no confirmed reports of violence or shooting. Diplomats inquiring about the makeup of the revolutionary council received vague replies. Mogadishu Radio announced no lineup for the junta although the army commander was said to have called a meeting of top civil service officials.

RED-TRAINED ARMY — The 9,000 man army, which is trained and equipped by the Soviet Union, was out in force while the 6,000-man Western-trained police force was less in evidence.

The military guard on the U.S. Embassy was lifted today. Soldiers sealed it off Tuesday, stopping persons from leaving or entering.

Route to Open

LANSING (AP) — The final section of the Jackson perimeter route will be opened Nov. 2, reports the State Highway Department. The $2.6-million route consists of parallel one-way street carrying the U.S. 127 business route, M50 and the Interstate-94 business route through the city.

U. N. Day Near

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has proclaimed Friday United Nations Day in Michigan, noting that the U.N. symbolizes mankind's best hope for universal peace. Milliken also designated the week beginning Nov. 2 as Apprenticeship Week in the state.

Redlegs' Catcher Tops All-Star Voting

Seattle Gets Ultimatum on Franchise

CHICAGO (AP) — The city of Seattle has been given a little more than a week to meet a three-point ultimatum or face the possibility of losing the Pilots' American League baseball franchise.

The matter came to a head Tuesday when the American League held an informal session following a joint meeting of the National and American Leagues concerning schedules and players' problems.

Blinding the situation was Cronin's acknowledgment that the American League will meet again in Chicago Oct. 29 ostensibly to study the 1970 schedule.

However, it was learned that the meeting will be held to find out if Seattle will abide by the three-point ultimatum which is:

1. Sick's Stadium, temporary home of the Pilots, must be enlarged from 22,500 seats to 28,000 by the start of the 1970 season.
2. Plans must be completed for breaking ground for a $40 million domed stadium by Dec. 31, 1970, and the structure must be ready for opening day of the 1973 season.
3. There must be evidence of enough Seattle financial interest so that Cleveland investor William Daley, who owns more than 50 per cent of the club, can get out and give the Pilots local ownership.

HEARD PLEA

Cronin and six owners met Monday night to hear the plea of a Seattle delegation bent on keeping the club in the Pacific Northwest.

Both the American and National Leagues met jointly Tuesday to hear progress reports on 41 requests from the Players' Association after which Cronin and all American League owners or their representatives convened to discuss the Seattle situation.

Following that meeting, Cronin said he was optimistic that Seattle would meet the requirements to remain in the American League.

Daley, however, added to the possibility of a franchise shift by saying if Seattle cannot hold onto the ball club, it would very likely go to Milwaukee.

PREFERRED CITY

"I'd prefer to keep the club in Seattle," said Daley, "and I'm so sincere about that that I'd sell my eye for less to Seattle than to groups from other cities that are interested."

"But if the franchise should be moved, I'm sure Milwaukee will get it for one big reason. The American League prefers Milwaukee over the other bidders."

Daley admitted offers for the club from both Milwaukee and Dallas-Fort Worth interests, and when asked if the price were $13 million, he said "that is way out of line." Asked if it were closer to $11 million, Daley said "no comment."

Reportedly, Milwaukee people have offered $13.7 million compared to a figure of a little over $10 million by the Dallas group headed by Texas millionaire Lamar Hunt.

However, the Times Herald in Dallas said it had learned Texas interest had offered $13 million for the franchise including players, farm system, physical equipment and acreage in Tucson where the team trains.

Prior to the learning of the Seattle ultimatum, the major league owners involved with players' problems including the current agreement between the players and the owners which expires Dec. 31.

After hearing a progress report on the negotiations, Cronin and National League President Warren Giles gave authorization that talks proceed at full speed with members of the Players' Association and their spokesman, Marvin Miller.

The report was made by John Gaherin, advisor to baseball's Player Relations Committee.

Gaherin admitted 41 requests were made by the players but refused to divulge them. He added that four negotiating meetings have already been held with Miller and that he and Miller would meet again soon in New York.

Last spring the players held a strike which hampered training camps throughout the major league but Gaherin said he hoped there would be no such problems this time.

Fans Upset Debut of Pistons' Coach

By the Associated Press

Bill van Breda Kolff coached his first home game with the Detroit Pistons at Cobo Arena Monday, and while he expressed some complaints about the fans, he couldn't have been too unhappy with the team.

Jimmy Walker dropped in two foul shots with seven seconds remaining in the game to give the Pistons a 90-87 cliffhanger victory over the Bill Russell-less Boston Celtics.

In other NBA action, New York defeated Phoenix 140-116 and Los Angeles outlasted Baltimore 142-137 in overtime.

"You get three points behind and you're doing everything wrong said van Breda Kolff of the boo-birds in the crowd of 4,892 watching the game. "Some of these fans don't deserve a winner, but we won despite them."

Despite the victory, the new coach was not entirely thrilled by the team. "All the fouls, and bad passes, and missed easy shots," he complained.

LEADS FADED

The Pistons held nine- and 10-point leads several times during the game, which was marked by much sloppy play on both sides. They blew their last lead in the fourth quarter and were in foul trouble and down 95-92 with only 90 seconds left.

But Walker and Dave Bing scored to give Detroit a 96-95 lead. John Havlicek put the Celtics in front again with 17 seconds left, but the two shots by Walker when he drew a foul from Don Chaney led the game for the Pistons.

Phil Seymour Lost to Michigan Gridders for Rest of Season

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan defensive end Phil Seymour will be lost for the remainder of the season.

The 206-pound senior end from Berkley will undergo an operation before the end of the season to remove torn cartilage in his knee.

Seymour had been bothered by his knee all season. He was in a cast for five weeks early this fall, missing the first four games on Michigan's schedule. Seymour played for the first time last Saturday against Michigan State.

He said he felt his knee snap on a punt cover in the third quarter.

John Bench Leads Mets' Ace Hurler

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Bench of the Cincinnati Reds and Tom Seaver of New York's world champion Mets head The Associated Press' all-star major league baseball team announced today.

The 21-year-old Bench, who hit 233 with 20 homers and 90 runs batted in in his second full season in the majors, was the top vote-getter, attracting 264 in the nation-wide balloting by 283 sports writers and broadcasters.

Seaver, the smooth right-hander whose 25-7 record was the best in the majors and whose exuberance and zest played a big role in the Mets miracle, was next with 237 votes.

He was the only member of the world champions to make either the first or second team.

In fact, Cincinnati was the only team to land two players on the first team—outfielder Pete Rose, who led the National League with a .349 average, was the Reds' other representative.

Others on the first team were Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants at first, Rod Carew of Minnesota at second, Rico Petrocelli of Boston at shortstop, Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs at third, outfielders Hank Aaron of Atlanta and Frank Howard of Washington and left-handed pitcher Mike Cuellar of Baltimore's American League champs.

FREEMAN SECOND

Bench was an overwhelming choice as catcher. The young slugger's nearest rival, Bill Freehan of Detroit, drew only eight votes.

Seaver similarly was a solid choice as the right-handed pitcher, drawing 211 votes more than runnerup Denny McLain of Detroit, the 31-game winner of 1968 who was 24-1 last season.

Carew, who led the American League with a .322 average, beat out Glenn Beckert of the Cubs as the second baseman, 217 votes to 42.

Petrocelli, who hit .297 with 40 homers and 96 RBI, also had a comfortable margin over another Cub, Don Kessinger, at short — 224 votes to 40.

Aaron, who helped the Braves to the NL West title with a .299 average, 44 homers and 96 RBI, led the outfield balloting with 224.

Rose was next with 186 while Howard, who had his greatest year with 40 homers, 111 RBI and a .296 average, had 112.

The three runners-up were Frank Robinson of Baltimore (.308), Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh (.345) and Reggie Jackson of Oakland (.276), who led the AL in homers much of the season before being sidelined late in the campaign and finishing with 47.

Jackson edged out Cleon Jones of the Mets for final outfield spot on the second team by just three votes.

Because of some vote splitting, Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota wound up as both the first and third baseman of the second team.

Killebrew, who hit .277 in leading the majors with 49 homers and 140 RBI, played both positions during the season and had 53 votes at first and 83 at third. However, his total vote for both positions—136—would still have put him

Flint's IMA Sports Arena

If the people in Flint want to boast of their progressive thinking in regard to recreation and recreation facilities they certainly have every right.

The new twin-complex sports arena is something to behold. It even looks better than any dream the people of Pontiac have had for the past 40 years.

Thanks to the IMA (Industrial Mutual Association) which has been a strong benefactor for providing educational, recreational and social benefits to the people of the Flint area since 1901, the $5.5-million facility was opened recently and already has as its major tenant the Flint Generals' hockey team of the International Hockey League.

The Generals however are not the primary users. The youth and people of the Flint area are.

Robert T. Weiser, president of the IMA, told a press gathering recently, "this is the house that nickels and dimes built... and this facility is further proof that our objectives continue to stress the social, physical, mental and moral needs of our community."

The nickels and dimes of which Weiser makes mention refer to the major financial sources of the IMA, the concession machines in most of the plants throughout the city.

OTHER PROGRAMS

The Flint IMA auditorium was one of the first and finest facilities of its kind in the state when built back in 1927. Though the years the IMA has built and participated in construction of recreation camps for youth and senior citizens, in its fine IMA Brookwood golf course, and in an outstanding scholarship program for the children of industrial employees.

Flint became the first city its size in Michigan and one of the first in the country to install an artificial turf on its city-owned Atwood Stadium, eliminating many of the schedule problems and weather woes for using the field.

And now they have twin arenas which certainly make Flint the frontrunners of Michigan in regard to community togetherness.

"Our ice time for hockey leagues, figure skating, ice skating shows and lessons is filled from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.," says George Dellinger, the director of the building.

"We've had ice time requests from places more than 50 miles away," added Dellinger, "one group from around Pontiac even asked for 6:00 a.m. ice time for a league."

This is no surprise. According to Terry Sawchuk, noted NHL goalie who worked as an instructor in Gordie Howe's Hockeyland in area of St. Clair Shores, there were skaters from the Pontiac area who were lucky and happy to get 4:00 a.m. ice time there.

"You couldn't believe the number of kids from the Pontiac area of Oakland County we had in our instructional school," said Sawchuk, who the past summer had similar sessions in the new Flint twin arena.

LOCAL DREAMER

Charlie Irish, long time one of the biggest Pontiac proponents for junior hockey, which has dwindled to nothing in our local recreational program, is currently a visitor in the area from his new retirement home in Arizona; and Charlie, talking about hockey, arenas and recreation wouldn't pass up a chance to add his two cents.

"It's great to tell the people of Pontiac about what someone else has," says Irish, "but it's like Rip Van Winkle starting another 40 year dream."

Artificial turf for Wisner Stadium?

A multi-purpose sports arena in Pontiac?

Don't give up Rip Van Irish, some dreams do come true. Don't they?

SATURDAY'S GAMES

Southwest Michigan at Pontiac (Clarkston Field)
 Detroit at Lansing (Centennial Field)
 Grand Rapids at Detroit
 Lackawanna at Flint

Southwest Michigan, the final regular season home opponent for the Pontiac Firebirds, isn't supposed to be a passing team.

At least the MFL statistics would indicate this. However, the Hawks from the Benton Harbor-St. Joe area are similar to the Lansing team. Anyone with the ball can run or throw.

The regular Hawks' quarterback Mickey Stewart had a completion record of 40 of 85 attempts for 466 yards prior to last week's game, but with the varied option offense any of the running backs, Sam Jones, Willie Warren or Chuck Neddlinger could be throwing the ball.

Flanker Fred Govan has caught 25 passes this year which further indicates that the Benton Harbor team isn't strictly a running team.

The Firebirds on the other hand have netted 2,291 yards passing and 1,382 rushing and Craig Hansen is battling it out with the league's top receiver of the past four years, Chuck McEligott for the receiving honors.

Hansen has hauled in 42 passes for 927 yards and 10 touchdowns this season. McEligott has 46 receptions for 960 yards and nine touchdowns.

The two key games in the MFL this week are quite similar.

NCAA Council to Get Reports on Infractions

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A report by the committee on infractions was expected to produce the most news from the National Collegiate Athletic Association council meeting, which concluded here today.

While NCAA officials attending the session were withholding comment, several cases involving probation were expected to be made public late in the day.

One-year probation was lifted Tuesday by the council against St. Bonaventure and Pan American University. Basketball sanctions had been imposed a year ago against both schools for recruiting and other violations.

LaSalle, Florida State, Centenary and Southwest Louisiana also were under basketball sanctions.

The council, policy-making body of the NCAA, also completed plans for its 1970 convention in Washington, D.C., in January, returned $210,000 in surplus funds to the federal government from its summer youth sports program and approved two new football bowl games for its smaller institutions.

The NCAA administered the youth sports program last summer at 100 colleges and universities in 25 states and 54 cities. Some 45,000 poverty-area youths ranging from 12 to 18 participated at a cost of $4.8 million with nearly $3 million from the government.

70-Yard Field Goal His Aim

Imlay's Chet After Bigger Kicks

HILLSDALE, Mich. (AP) — Five years ago Czeslaw Marcol was a 15-year-old kid kicking soccer balls for his city team in Poland. Today his coach at Hillsdale College says: "If nothing happens to him there's no reason he can't go down as the All-Time great kicker in football."

Marcol, known by some as "Chet," but who prefers to be called "Chesler," set a modern college record when he kicked a 62-yard field goal last Saturday as the Chargers beat Fairmont State College 20-13.

However, early records show that Mark Payne of Dakota Wesleyan dropped kicked a 63-yarder in 1915, and back in 1882 James Haxall of Princeton reportedly booted a 65-yard field goal.

"I think he'll do better than that too," says Hillsdale football coach Frank "Muddy" Waters of Marcol's 62-yard boot. "At the Northern Michigan game his kickoff went through the uprights — that's 70 yards."

But that wasn't unusual.

LONG ONE

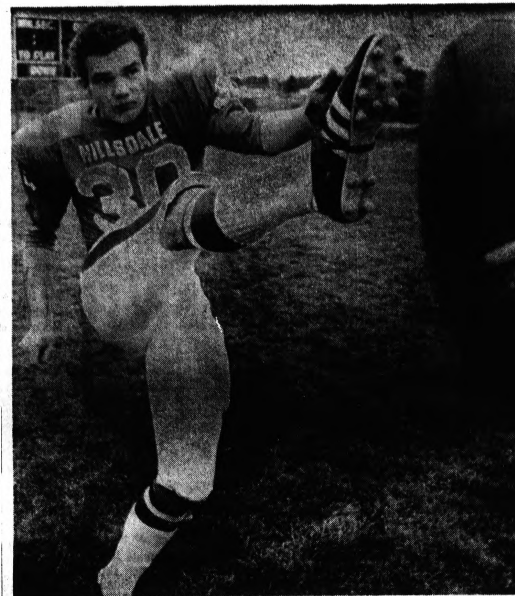

The humble, soft-spoken Pole, who expects to become a United States citizen next year, admits to kicking ten 70-yard field goals in practice. He says his longest kick covered about 85 yards.

Although only a sophomore, he has kicked 41 consecutive extra points, and whenever Hillsdale gets within 60 yards of an opponents' goal line Marcol is likely to be called upon to try for a field goal if a drive bogged down. College goalposts are at the back of the end zone so 10 yards is tacked on any kick attempt.

"I tried one from 68 yards this year but it fell a little short," he says. "Last year I had two of 52 yards and I had an extra hour with the specialty team. During the spring he com- petes in the long jump and high jump in track to build up his legs. "I've had quite a few kickers, but Chester's the best," says John Waters, whose teams have won league titles. Marcol was born in Opole, Poland, 20 years ago this Friday. He played for the city's amateur soccer team until he, his mother, sister and two brothers left for the United States in the spring of 1965. His father had the full practice and then worked.

MID-FIELD THREAT — Once Hillsdale's football team moves across its own 40 yard line, a threat of a possible field goal exists with Chester Marcol, a 20-year-old sophomore from Imlay City who booted a 62 yard field goal last Saturday against Fairmont State. Marcol has kicked 41 consecutive extra points and he rarely misses when the team crosses mid-field for his field goal try.

BOXING MANAGER DIES — Armand Well, the manager who guided Rocky Marciano to the heavyweight boxing crown and promoted many other fights, died yesterday at the age of 75 in a nursing home in Miami Beach, Fla. He handled four world title holders in his 50-year ring career.

Ex-Boxing Manager Dies at 75

MIAMI (AP) — Armand "Al" Well, the brassy little manager who guided Rocky Marciano to the heavyweight boxing crown, died at the age of 75.

The former matchmaker for the International Boxing Club, who handled four world title holders in a tempestuous 50-year career, succumbed to a nursing home Monday night in Miami Beach.

Marciano died in a plane crash near Newton, Iowa, on Aug. 31.

It was Well who took Marciano, a raw onetime ditch-digger and laborer from Brockton, Mass., and launched him on a career of 49 professional fights, including a defeat of $2 million in purses.

However, when Marciano reigned undefeated in April, 1966, and broke with his manager, Well's life went into a tailspin. He blew a fortune in investments and gambling. His health deteriorated, sought to make a managerial comeback, but never succeeded, died broke.

OTHER KINGPINS

Well managed lightweight Lou Ambers, featherweight Joey Archibald and welterweight Marty Servino, all champions, before he led Marciano to the heavyweight crown in 1952.

It was a masterful operation, bringing praise even from his enemies, who were legion. "Well was a round, little man with an expressive face that ran the gamut from innocence to anger, indignation to geniality. He was loud, excitable and demanding."

He reveled in this domineering role when he was matchmaker for the IBC, a monopolistic organization later dissolved by court decree. It was this attitude that resulted in the ultimate break with Marciano.

The late heavyweight champion was determined to devote more time to his family. Well resented this. The two ended their successful partnership. Well was never the same.

He is survived by his wife, Sonia; a daughter, Mrs. Betty Wolfe, and two grandchildren.

Little Sparkles in AFL Stats

NEW YORK (AP) — Denver's Floyd Little, rolling up more than 100 rushing yards for the third time this year, has taken the lead in the American Football League's ground-gaining race.

Little, plagued by injuries in his first two pro seasons, broke loose for 166 yards, a club record, in the Broncos' 30-23 victory over Cincinnati last Sunday over rumpup Dickie Post of San Diego in the individual rushing race.

AP Wirephoto

The former Syracuse University flash, who sat out one of Denver's five games with a shoulder injury, burned the Bengals with a 48-yard touchdown jaunt while bringing his total yardage to 530. Post, last week's leader, picked up just 14 yards against Boston for a five-game total of 386.

New York's Joe Namath, completing 12 of 24 passes against Houston Monday night for 306 yards and a pair of touchdowns, grabbed the passing lead from Cincinnati rookie Greg Cook.

MOVED UP

Darley Lamonica, whose six touchdowns passed led Oakland to a 50-21 romp over Buffalo, also gained ground. The Raiders' ace has tossed 17 scoring strikes, 10 more than any other AFL quarterback.

Fred Biletnikoff of the Raiders continues to pace the receivers with 31 catches good for 430 yards and six touchdowns—more than Al Denson of the Broncos.

Jim Turner, the Jets' brilliant placekicker, boosted his league-leading record to 17.

Dallas Shows Team Balance

Cowboys leading NFL in Most Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys, rolling along with a perfect record through five games, top the National Football League team statistics in total offense, rushing offense and rushing defense.

The Cowboys also have scored the most points, 156 and have scored the most touchdowns, 21. Coach Tom Landry's Dallas club has given up only seven touchdowns, the same number as the Minnesota Vikings have allowed.

Minnesota, aided by its tremendous front four, top the NFL in total defense and also has allowed the fewest points, 55.

Baltimore's pass offense has been the most effective with 225 yards per game and the Chicago Bears have the best record in pass defense with an average yield of 104 yards.

Roses From Ara to Alex Indicates Northwestern's Goal

CHICAGO (AP) — One dozen roses from Ara with love to Alex.

"Get 'em away from me," roared Northwestern football Coach Alex Agase. "Wait until I get that guy on the phone in South Bend."

"That guy" is Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian who sent the roses to Agase as a gesture of Northwestern's lofty standing in the Big Ten football race.

Northwestern, after losing its first three nonconference games, has won two straight in the Big Ten and is tied for first place with Ohio State and Indiana.

Ohio State cannot go to the Rose Bowl because of the Big Ten's "no repeat" rule and assuming the top-ranked Buckeyes win the title, the team finishing second will make the trip.

Agase, perturbed with efforts by photographers to get him to pose with the roses, asked everyone to "face the facts."

"It's great to be 2-0 in the conference and that has been our objective at this point but we have to play at Purdue Saturday."

Purdue, 4-1 for the season and

1-1 in the Big Ten, is currently ranked 15th nationally. This puts the Boilermakers behind No. 12

Notre Dame, a 28-14 victim of Purdue.

"I don't see how anyone can be ranked behind a team it beats but that's how these things go. Purdue is a great team with

LAUDS PHIPPS
"I said Phipps was a great quarterback when I saw him as a sophomore two years ago," said Agase. "Well, he has improved. So much so that I have to say he's the greatest college quarterback I've ever seen.

"He's big, strong and can throw long or short. He's so good that he protects himself when his protection breaks down."

The Boilermakers have yielded 146 points in five games, an average of more than 29 points a game.

"Don't let that fool you," said

Agase. "They have a good defense. From the films I've seen the offense has given up the ball on turnovers in Purdue territory and the opponents simply have taken it in."

Agase countered with facts.

"The combined record of Wisconsin and Illinois is 1-9 for the season," said Agase. "The three teams that beat us—Notre Dame, Southern California and UCLA—have a combined record of 13-12. And that only loss was Purdue's win over Notre Dame."

Backhand Shot Enough to Win

OAKLAND (AP) — Center Mike Laughton scored on an eight-foot backhand shot at 8:17 of the final period Tuesday night as the Oakland Seals won a National Hockey League game from the Pittsburgh Penguins 4-3.

The victory was the Seals' third in six games and moved them into the lead in the West Division. It was the only NHL game played Tuesday night.

Oakland jumped to a 2-0 lead on first-period goals by Norm Ferguson and Bill Hicke and a second-period score by Gary Jarrett.

But the Penguins steadily moved in, rallying for three goals to tie the match by 7:41 in the last period.

Ron Schock scored the first, Wally Boyer the second—just 48 seconds into the last period—and defenseman Bob Woytowich made the last to tie the game on an unusual six-foot-forward power play.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By John Corrier

Here's one hard to believe, but it's true. . . Each year, one boy is voted best college football player in the nation and awarded the Heisman Trophy—but, in EVERY season since 1959 the team that had the Heisman Trophy winner was NOT able to win the national championship. . . Last year, Southern Cal's O. J. Simpson won the Heisman but Ohio State was the national champion. . . In '67, UCLA's Gary Beban won the Heisman but Southern Cal was national champ. . . In '66, Florida's Steve Spurrier won the Heisman but Notre Dame was national champ, and so the last 19 consecutive years. . . You'd think having the Heisman winner would help a team win the national championship, but, oddly enough, it hasn't.

Here's a quote we saw recently that shows a reason why sports are so great. . . Homer Smith, coach at Davidson, said, "The poorest of the poor sardines, and the richest boy can't buy it."

Did you know there are amazing similarities surrounding two of the New York Mets, Cleon Jones and Tommy Agee. . . Both were born in the same month of the same year. . . Both were born in Alabama, a few miles from each other. . . Both were on the same high school football team. . . And now both are regular outfielders for the Mets. . . Even their uniform numbers are close. . . Agee wears no. 20 and Jones 21.

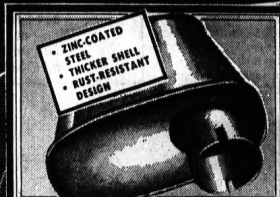

I bet you didn't know. . . that bargain basement tires can be a big part of your high cost of living if they wear out too soon. And if they blow out at the wrong moment—cost can be a heck of a lot higher. See one of our Pros.

So Is Weather

Ringneck Hunting Poor

The weather and pheasant hunting are locked in a head-on battle to see which will remain the poorest. Odds heavily favor the gunning season.

Rain Monday and Tuesday and snow this morning put a damper on ringneck hunting that was downgraded before opening day because of a shortage of birds.

Entries in The Press Contest have been lagging. The current leader is a 3 1/2-inch ringneck taken in the Pontiac Lake recreation area Monday afternoon by Rick Hall, 1405 S. Hospital, Waterford Township.

The runnerup is a quarter of an inch shorter. Bob Taylor of Lake Orion bagged his bird Monday in southwestern Orion Township.

Residents of Oakland County are eligible to enter pheasants taken during the state's regular season which ends Nov. 10. No entries from shooting preserves will be accepted.

LENGTH ONLY

The ringnecks must be brought to The Press sports department for measuring between 7 a.m. and 2 p.m. Monday through Saturday. A $50 savings bond will be awarded for the longest entry and a $25 bond for the runnerup.

Some hunters have reported seeing more deer than pheasants, particularly in the Bald Mountain recreation area and in Hadley Township. Few grouse are being bagged.

Pheasant hunting pressure in Lapeer, Tuscola, Huron, Genesee and Sanilac counties was down 50 per cent opening day and the kill was light. Best locations were in the Brown City-Peek area, east of Capac and at Fish Pointe along Saginaw Bay.

Fewer hunters were out in Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties. Best results were in western Wayne where a few townships still are open to hunting. A large number of pheasants were flushed in these areas. Northern Macomb County was fair.

Monroe and Lenawee counties also reported fair shooting.

PRESSURE LIGHT

In the Midland-Claire-Gladwin area, pressure was light and results poor. However, punt hunting is improving in the north as foliage continues to drop from trees.

Flight ducks are moving into Saginaw Bay and the St. Clair Flats and layout shooters are having good success on bluebirds. The goose migration is in full swing on the Lake Michigan side.

Coho fishing remains fair with salmon continuing to move upstream along Lake Michigan. Sulfuric acid can be substituted but it leaves an aftertaste.

Possible Control Method

Bacteria Select Carp

DEVILS LAKE (AP) — For many years now the Department of Natural Resources has used the chemical Rotenone to rid lakes of unwanted fish.

The chemical restricts the blood vessels in the gills of fish, shutting off their oxygen supply. But it acts on all fish alike, killing bass, pike, walleyes and other large fish as well as carp, stunted panfish and other less desirable fish.

At present the DNR, or any other conservation group, does not have a poison which is selective. They can't rid a lake of one variety of fish without harming the others.

However, a method of controlling carp may be in the offing. It was brought to light recently when a rare disease infected large adult carp in Devils Lake, located in Lenawee County.

LARGE FISH

The disease, known as hemorrhagic septicemia, reacts only on large carp. Devils Lake, with more than 1,000 surface acres of water, was littered with dead carp late in September. During an inspection trip more than 200 were counted and less than a quarter of the lake was inspected. All the dead fish were in the six to 10-pound or larger class.

"Yes, hemorrhagic septicemia is very selective, killing only large carp," said Dr. Leonard H. Allison, the DNR fish pathologist at Grayling. Dr. Allison went on to say that a more common name for the disease is "dropsy."

"Dropsy causes the fish's body cavity to fill with fluid, destroying the physiological functions of the fish," he explained. "It is quite rare in the United States, but has been studied in Europe where it is more common."

Dr. Allison first came across the disease while a student at the University of Michigan in 1940. He was studying fish diseases at the time and had been informed of a fish dieoff at nearby Harshe Lake, located north of Ann Arbor in Washtenaw County.

It was after this encounter with the disease that Dr. Allison began thinking about using it as sort of a bacterial warfare against carp. However, it didn't come in contact with it again for some time.

CONTROLLED TESTS

But in discussing the dieoff at Devils Lake, Dr. Allison again considered the possibility. "I would like to run controlled tests on the prospects of using the disease as a way of controlling over population of carp in our lakes and streams," he said. "I think it could be an effective tool."

There is a road block standing in the path, however. That is getting the bacteria which causes the disease isolated.

"I would have to get them from infected fish," Dr. Allison related. "It would be necessary to be right on top of an infection, as it was either starting or in progress, to obtain them. But with the rareness of the disease, we usually don't know about an infection until after it has taken place. Then isolating the bacteria would be very difficult."

It seems that the bacteria are present in the water at all times. They multiply only when certain conditions are right, such as water and air temperature. After that, it's only a matter of time until the large carp are floating on the surface.

The disease does not affect small carp, so any use of it to control populations would not be 100 per cent. It also does not affect other fish in the lake.

The results are swift, leaving only the problem of cleaning up the dead fish. However, this is also a problem faced when Rotenone is used and it kills everything.

You Can Shoot 15 Coot, but Who Can Eat 'em?

By JACK HEWINS

SEATTLE (AP) — Haven't we told you time and again that coots are no darn good?

On our chart of useless birds the coot is No. 1 but only half a notch above the merganser, which at least is nice to look at. No self respecting duck would be caught in the company of either but the federal Fish and Wildlife Service insists on classifying them as migratory waterfowl subject to shooting restrictions.

Yet in a kind of back-handed admission that coots should be eliminated the game officials have set the bag limit at 15 per day. Who, may we ask, would be caught among home with 15 dead coots?

To make sure you recognize it, this bird goes by the scientific alias of Fulica americana but also is known, widely and justly, as the mudhen.

SEVERAL REASONS

So you weren't listening before and want to know what's wrong about coots? We'll repeat. They multiply like rabbits, use space and food needed by honest ducks, clutter up the landscape and they're unsavory and unsanitary.

You say you've heard that coot livers are tasty? Listen. Liver of coot is about on a par with bitter pit of peach. A rubber boot boiled three days is easier to swallow.

But we're always happy to present both sides and that's why we'll pass along this recipe by Everett Boss, whose culinary skill is matched only by his good looks. Mr. Boss, a chef of gourmet caliber, will cook anything that can be skinned or peeled and claims his Sauteed Coot will close the edibility gap.

Boss warns, however, that coot has a gamey taste and stringy texture and should be marinated. His marinade:

"One cup dry white wine, 1/4 cup lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 bay leaf, 1 cup diced onion, 1 cup diced celery. Bring to a boil in a saucepan, lower heat and simmer 10 minutes and then allow to cool before using."

COOK GENTLY

"Use only the breast and legs of the coot, marinating 3 hours at room temperature. Drain on absorbent cloth. Saute in butter until lightly browned, cover and cook gently until done — 25 to 30 minutes."

"Remove coot to heated serving dish, add 1/2 cup apple jelly to saucepan along with 2 tablespoons lemon juice, heat and blend well."

One more thing, says Boss: the coot should be cleaned as soon as possible after shooting.

Our own favorite recipe is almost the same, except for the marinade. We soak the coot overnight in hydrochloric acid. Sulfuric acid can be substituted but it leaves an aftertaste.

TWO BETTER THAN FOUR? — The Afghan hound at the left appears to be trying to better its position in a race by using the legs instead of four. Maybe that's why the two Afghans at the right are setting the pace. The race was part of the Greenwood Kennel Club show in Toronto.

Action Delayed on Lakes Plan

The Natural Resources Commission has delayed until November a decision on the proposed Great Lakes management plan.

In postponing action, the commission bid for more time to work toward finding means of providing "fair compensation" for commercial fishermen who would be phased out of business by the plan.

Efforts to help such commercial fishermen were urged last week by State Representatives Russell Hellman of Dollar Bay, Raymond C. Keyres of Monroe and Charles H. Varnum of Manistiquie.

Earlier this year, the commission bid on record as "strongly" supporting and urging passage of state and federal legislation which would give commercial fishermen financial reimbursement for equipment idied by the new management system.

Besides renewing its pledge to work for such phase-out funds, the commission directed the Department of Natural Resources' staff to further refine its proposed plan which would divide Michigan's Great Lakes waters into three basic types of management areas — sport fishing development zones, rehabilitation zones and commercial fishing zones.

The plan, unanimously endorsed in principle by the commission, drew strong majority support from some 25 people who voiced their views on the proposed program at the last commission meeting in Lansing.

Among those backing it were representatives of fishing tackle manufacturers, members of sportsmen's clubs, civic leaders, and officials of marine dealers. Commercial fishery people strongly objected.

Winning Rider Says:

Horse 'Makes Decisions'

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — "The horse made all the decisions, I can't praise him enough," was how Moffat Dunlap explained his victory in the International Puissance at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show Tuesday.

His French-bred chestnut, Grand Nouvel, was a European chaser of some fame in Europe a few years ago, but slowly is emerging as one of the top international jumping horses.

"He doesn't back off," the boyish-looking 28-year-old Canadian said of the horse. "He draws a head on the jump and makes the decisions. I just sat on him."

The leap topped the 1967 record set by U. S. Olympic equestrian Billy Steinkraus of Noroton, Conn., aboard Bold Minstrel. Steinkraus, on the same grey horse Tuesday night finished in tie for second with teammate Jared Brinsmade of Bethany, Conn., who rode Triple Crown.

"It's always a thrill to beat Steinkraus," said Dunlap.

Canada's Jimmy Elder was fourth aboard Pieces of Eight. Then came Neal Shapiro of Glen Head, N. Y., Monday night's winner, riding Trick Track, and Turchy Moller of Canada, aboard The Shoeman.

Open House at Hatchery

The welcome mat will be out Saturday at the new Platte River fish hatchery near Honor when the Department of Natural Resources holds an open house between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Persons taking the tour will see the facility's system of water-quality controls, automated egg incubators and fish feeders, and other streamlined devices.

'Get Out and Get Under' Vintage Cars Are Recalled

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

There are many advantages in nudging the limit of the Biblical span of life, all of which escape me at the moment. But one privileged exercise of attaining such antiquity is that of looking back — something, however, that old "Satch" Paige firmly cautioned against.

My septuagenarian scribe is moved to such recollection by the appearance of the galaxy of stunning 1970 automobiles, with the local Pontiac Motor Division alone offering an assortment of 34 models.

A generation ago — well, make it two — there was no such profusion. In producing a total of 735 units in 1908, Oakland Motor Car Co. (forerunner of Pontiac) introduced a "series" of four models, all open to the elements.

Soon thereafter collapsible tops and side curtains were added, the manipulation of which stood as a challenge to the ingenuity of the motorist.

THEY WERE SOMETHING

Kids, autos were something in those days. Except that the vintage vehicles and current cars both have four wheels, any resemblance between the two is entirely coincidental.

Merely starting a horseless pioneer carriage, to say nothing of driving it, was an adventure undertaken only by the most daring and optimistic. The engines were activated by hand cranks (detachable on some makes) either at the side or front of the machine.

Unless the "spark" lever on the steering column was adjusted to precisely the ideal point, the crank was prone to backfire, frequently spraining or breaking the arm of the cranker. Until electric starters became standard in 1911, an arm in a sling had to be the century's No. 1 status symbol.

Prior to 1908 when the electric horn became the thing, horn blowing was a do-it-yourself enterprise that could have been considered an early form of isometric exercise, the "hunk" being produced by a lusty squeeze of a rubber bulb.

LITTLE ILLUMINATION

For motorists hardly enough to drive at night, illumination was supplied by a tank of acetylene gas fed to hand-lighted front, side and tail lights, the intensity of which were put to shame by any self-respecting firefly.

Windshield wipers? You must be kiddin'! Pre-1903 cars had no windshields, and nothing to wipe 'em with after they appeared that year.

The following year, a folding windshield was contrived, whereby the upper half folded down — giving the driver, in the event of a downpour, the option of peering through a rain-clouded windshield or of having the storm in his lap.

(Snow is not mentioned, because no one drove a car in the winter, the vehicle being routinely sidelined on axle blocks for the duration.) But, help was on the way. The 1916 models boasted hand-powered wipers until the automatic species arrived in 1925.

LITTLE ENTHUSIASM

The advent of motorcars was received by the general citizenry with about as much enthusiasm as would be aroused by the bubonic plague.

Country roads were, of course, unpaved. A passing auto with a complement of passengers arrayed in dusters, caps and goggles (the driver usually sported gauntlets and the women were topped by kingsize hats anchored to their long hair by yards of veil) raised a maelstrom cloud of dust that choked occupants of horse-drawn conveyances and scared the hell out of the horses.

Indeed, in 1894, Vermont, in its infinite wisdom, passed a law that no one could drive an auto on a public highway unless someone walked ahead to warn oncoming traffic.

Breaking in a new car until circa 1950 was about as frustrating and protracted a pursuit as learning to speak Chinese.

Stickers on the windshields warned ominously against driving over 25 m.p.h. for the first 1,000 miles at risk of dire damage to the engine's innards.

NOT VERY FAR

And the get-up-and-go of early cars didn't exactly send you — at least not very far.

Your reminiscent reporter remembers, along about 1920, that when a motorist chugged up Bald Mountain or Waterford grades in high before they were substantially cut down for new highway construction) he figured he had a pretty cool car — except for the fact that the radiator would be boiling.

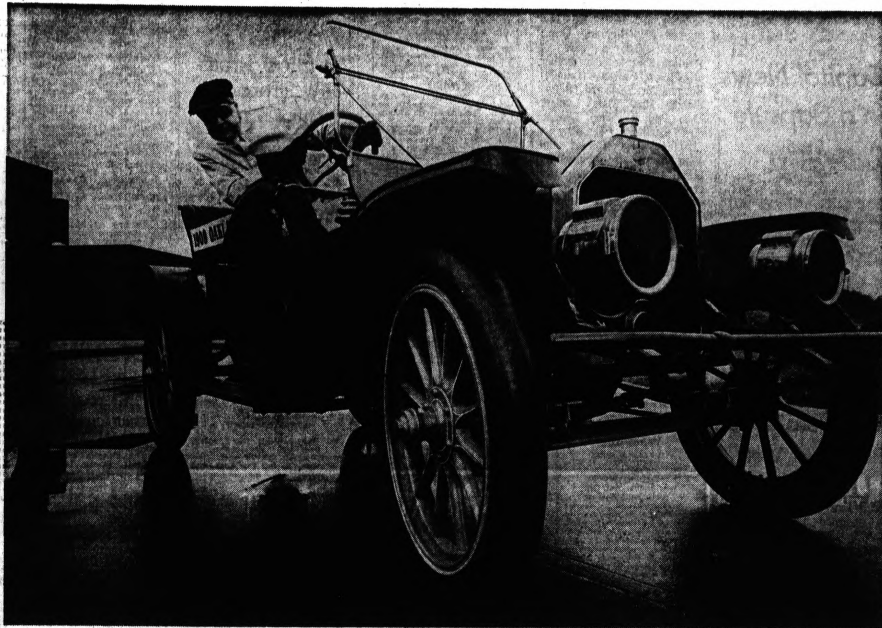

By way of a nostalgic gastronomic footnote, at the Waterford summit stood Deer Lake Inn, a renowned roadside (that's what they called highway eateries then) that served frog leg dinners beamed up with steak yet for the then shockingly high price of $2.50. (It was razed in 1933.)

The life of early tires ended (usually with a bang) at a few hundred miles. By 1915, life expectancy of cord tires had increased to 6,500 miles and cost, complete with inner tube, $60.

Today's balloon "shoes" are tagged at around $35 and deliver at least 25,000 carefree miles. I render a warm salute to the tire industry for its performance in holding the line against inflation.

A bit more chronology... four-wheel brakes were born in 1920, car heaters and radios in 1926 and 1929, respectively, automatic transmissions in 1937, power steering in 1951 and car air conditioning and power brakes in 1953.

With $9 million gas buggies now on U.S. roads, the contradiction, despite the construction, is a prediction of your hoary historian's father that "it was only a fad and wouldn't last, has done pretty well for itself."

Extends Into Lower Peninsula

1st Big Snowfall Blankets U.P.

By JEFF RADFORD
Associated Press Writer

It snowed on Christmas Tuesday, as it did on dozens of other Michigan communities, but 12-year-old Kathy Jacques of Christmas, Mich., sniffled she wasn't happy with the first snow of the winter.

"I don't like cold weather," red-nosed Kathy complained. "The snow is like a blanket on the grass, but I came straight home from school and didn't even play in the snow."

Residents in the small Upper Peninsula town of Christmas, about three miles from Munising, rummaged through their garages and basements Tuesday trying to recall where they and said they were happy to set, stored snow shovels, tire chains, antifreeze, sleds and other winter necessities.

It was the first major snowfall of winter.

EVER ENGADENADINE

Heavy flurries blanketed the Upper Peninsula, stretching from Calumet to Marquette to Sault Ste. Marie, down through Mackinaw, Manistique and Escanaba.

Cold, crystal-bearing winds continued their sweep into the Lower Peninsula, throwing wet flakes on Traverse City, Houghton, Lake, Manistee and Alpena.

But further south, around the Bay City-Saginaw area, residents scoffed at snow reports day trying to recall where they and said they were happy to set, stored snow shovels, tire chains, Houghton and Marquette reported an inch of snow, but further south and inland, Pellston was buried fluffily in three inches.

NO ICE ON LAKE

Red and brown leaves still clinging to trees were coated with white around Houghton, where residents said Tuesday was the first time the mercury dropped below freezing. No ice was reported on the quarter-mile expanse of Lake Portage between Houghton and Hancock.

"As I was coming to work tonight, I saw cars really covered with snow coming down into the valley from around Calumet," said a Houghton man expectantly.

Light flakes began falling in Marquette around noon Tuesday. "The children are always happy when it snows," said a housewife. "Kids have been outside making snowmen this afternoon. A few had their sleds out."

A janitor struggling over slushy footprints in Sault Ste. Marie Tuesday night said wishfully, "Usually the first snow doesn't last." He peered out a window and ventured, "Probably not enough to stay."

COOL IT, BABY

He said he could put up with the early snows, "but wait till January or February. It sometimes gets down to 20 below around here."

Navigator for Jetliner a Computer

NEW YORK (AP) — A Finnish jetliner left its human navigator at home Tuesday and flew the North Atlantic with the aid of a computer guidance system.

Finnair said the flight was the first scheduled commercial transatlantic crossing without a human navigator aboard.

"The system worked excellently," said Capt. Erik Ehamil.

Flight information, position coordinates and altitude were fed into two computerized units which then directed the aircraft along a flight path to its destination.

Rumors Can't Fly Past Control Center

By ED BLUNDEN

Pontiac's Rumor Control Center faced its first trial by fire during racial fighting which broke out in Pontiac schools shortly after they reopened for the current fall term.

In the troubled four-day period, Control Central processed 538 calls.

Chairman of the BLUNDEN Pontiac Human Relations Commission Samuel Baker said.

"This service played a substantial role in quieting fears, smothering the absurd and dangerous rumors which spread like fire across the city and in restoring a measure of peace — in short, we believe we carried out the role we were asked to perform."

The Control Central was established by the City Commission in January of this year.

ORGANIZATION DELIBERATE

The task was given to the Human Relations Commission, an appointed, nonalarmed body of 18 citizens.

Organization was deliberate and careful, and the existence of the service was not announced until May.

Baker at that time outlined the rumor center's purpose: to allay fears. "No matter how harsh the truth is, it's better than what people will make up."

If people have confidence that they know what's going on, this in itself could soften the impact of any disturbance.

Here's how the service works on ordinary days: A citizen with a rumor calls the control center. The call is taken by an answering service. The call is then relayed to a member of the Human Relations Commission.

The commissioner traces the rumor using public and private agencies to gather information. The commissioner then calls the citizen back with a report.

But in crisis situations, the entire service becomes fully operational. A room at City Hall quickly converts to a headquarters. Ten phones are manned by Human Relations Commission. Appropriate city officials stand by.

Baker or another leader coordinates all activities — getting information from public sources such as the police and still a mystery, Baker said, giving it to those on the phones who relay it to the citizenry.

Cooperation of the city's newspaper and radio station for wider dissemination of facts is

Some of the other squelched rumors were more frightening. Here are some of them:

● White girls are being sexually assaulted in the hallways.

● The schools are burning.

● Rioting blacks are heading for Waterford Township.

● A band of armed white vigilantes are heading for the black neighborhood.

● The auto plants are being sabotaged.

● Police and teachers are being attacked.

utilized. The phones are manned around the clock until the crisis passes.

This was the plan that was put into operation with such apparent success last month.

NO CLEAR ANSWER

Though afterwards civil authorities attempted to piece together what had caused the fighting, no clear answer was forthcoming. Some charged outside agitators caused it, pointing to coincidental school outbreaks in Detroit and Cleveland. Elsewhere this was at least partially substantiated, but not in Pontiac.

The cause has been probably best attributed to the outbreak of suppressed feelings of hostility between the races. Whites were voicing objections to the growing militancy and aggressiveness of the black students. Blacks were nursing old bitter feelings about discrimination.

Then at Pontiac Northern on Sept. 25, a white youth was pushed through a window. Through the four subsequent days of intermittent fighting, he suffered the only severe injury. His wounds required 20 stitches.

Rumor Control Central has picked up. From a trickle, activated as soon as it became apparent the matter was 40 calls a week.

'1776' a Well-Done Look at Revolution

By DON BRAUNAGEL

Talk of "a musical about revolution" and you'll probably get nasty looks from Establishment types who conjure up images of long-haired youths reciting lines from Mao and Che.

But in New York, there's a hit musical about revolution that is highly respectable although its heroes — young and old — are longhaired.

"1776," as you can guess, is about the American Revolution. Or, more specifically, about the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

If this seems a strange subject for a musical, rest assured it's done well. The play humanizes the textbook heroes of the Continental Congress, and it's a charming slant on history to watch John Adams, Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson dance, arm in arm, across the stage.

THERE'S SUSPENSE

With the outcome pretty well known, it is a tribute to Peter Stone's writing and the cast's acting that there is some suspense. And those who worry today about the nation being divided might take some comfort in seeing that it began that directed smoothly — with no Benjamin Franklin, the wenching old genius, was weak. He didn't put much feeling into his lines and frequently, when the curtain hit back to the audience, he couldn't be heard.

The play itself is the star. It's stirring to see these all-too-human men, struggling with a dream, trying to balance idealism and reality, seeking unity where there is none, and finally bringing forth a new nation.

Edwards' music, unlike his research for the play, is only serviceable. There's no "Yankee Doodle" in it, but maybe there should've been to add excitement. The best song is "Mamma, Look Sharp," an antiwar ballad well done by a young messenger-soldier (Scott Jarvis).

If you saw on television the awards show on which "1776" won the Tony as best musical of the year, you saw the "Mamma" scene. In one respect, this was unfortunate because, while good, it wasn't representative of the play.

It was probably inserted because (a) it's a good song and (b) it's a reminder that while history reverses the patriots in the Continental Congress, there are a lot of forgotten heroes on the battlefield.

The lesson that not all the heroes are in Congress, and lines like Benjamin Franklin's "Their revolution is treasonous; ours is patriotic" show that "1776" is not entirely a historical play.

sion chairman; Rabbi H. Philip Berkowitz; and L. G. Smith. In the background are Samuel Whithers (at the information blackboard) and Mrs. Andrew Gulasick (at the city map).

Franklin Hailed Again: He Got Into the Swim

WASHINGTON — One of the declared rotund Franklin, Benjamin Franklin's many talents has been slighted for 200 years.

Historians praise Dr. Franklin returned to Philadelphia and as a scientist, inventor, or other pursuits.

As a devotee of water sport, Franklin bathed in good company. Julius Caesar's aquatic skill saved his life during a shipwreck, and both Martin Luther and the French essayist Montaigne lauded the sport.

Young George Washington often swam when he wasn't surveying. John Quincy Adams, both as secretary of state and as president, enjoyed swimming. In 1804, Adams swam the Potomac. Once when his boat sprang a leak and swamped, Adams lost most of his clothes and returned to the White House clad in little more than embarrassment.

Swimming is a "normalizer and reducer of fatty tissues," according to school officials.

Vote Sign-Up Time Short

Unregistered voters in the Waterford Township School District have until 5 p.m. Friday to become eligible to vote on the proposed one-year, 9-mill property tax increase Nov. 5.

Unregistered voters who meet the eligibility requirements should register with the clerk of the township in which they live, according to school officials.

The 42-square-mile school district includes all of Waterford Township and portions of Independence, West Bloomfield and White Lake Townships.

Registrations will also be taken at Waterford Middle High School, 1151 Scott Lake, from 5 to 8 p.m. Friday. The project is sponsored by Mott students in the Waterford Student Millage Campaign group.

Residents should register if they have recently become 21 years old or have moved into the school district, school officials advise. Registrants must be 21 years old and have lived in the school district at least 30 days and in Michigan for six months.

All registered voters can vote in the millage election. Residents don't have to own property to vote.

Judge Voids Law on Repossession

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Superior Court judge has declared unconstitutional an 1872 state law which allows law enforcement officers to break down doors to repossess property if the owners fail to bring in payments.

Judge Jerry Pachet held Tuesday that the 97-year-old law is invalid because it violates search and seizure provisions of the U.S. Constitution, and denies due process of law.

School Reform PTA Subject

State Rep. Don Bishop, R-Avon Township, will discuss his autobiography, "The Education Reform Package Tomorrow," at 7:30 p.m. at Lake Orion High School.

Bishop will be on hand at the invitation of the Lake Orion Parent Teachers Association Council.

The meeting, open to the public, will be in the cafeteria of the high school.

The proposed sale of $300,000 in tax notes heads a slim agenda of the Lake Orion Board of Education which will huddle at 7 p.m. today. Bids will be received and opened on the notes.

Not all channel-dredgers use traditional methods. Some tried to walk across on pontoon shoes, sail over in a bathtub or aboard a bedstead, or float between France and England on a bale of straw.

'EASY AS PIE' — The youngest recorded channel swimmer, 14-year-old Leonard Moore of Sacramento, Calif., said his 15½-hour ordeal in 1964 was "easy as pie." Official records don't reflect it, but an even younger swimmer, Pierre Clonin, conquered the Channel in 1949.

A mere 18-month-old infant, Pierre swam across in just five hours, four minutes — four and half hours under official record time.

N. Viet Premier Arrives in Peking
 TOKYO (AP)—North Vietnamese Premier Pham Dong arrived Tuesday in Peking with a delegation from Hanoi after visiting East Germany and the Soviet Union, Peking's New China News Agency reported.

The news agency said Dong's party was met by Premier Chou En-Lai, Vice Premier Li Hsiennien and other officials.

Some 80,000 students were kept away from classes today as a result of teacher strikes around Michigan. Other closed districts include Chelsea in Washtenaw County and Harper Creek near Battle Creek.

Ex-President NBC Plans to Cut Political-Ad Price

NEW YORK (AP)—James T. Aubrey Jr., former president of CBS-TV, has been named president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in a change of command engineered by Kirk Kerkorian, the Las Vegas hotelman and financier.

Kerkorian, who has wholly owned Tracy Investment Co. owns about 40 percent of MGM's outstanding shares after two tender offers that lifted MGM's price on the New York Stock Exchange from $27 to $40 a share in two months.

Aubrey, 50, was introduced to the MGM board of directors at a meeting here Tuesday. Aubrey, Kerkorian, William Singleton, Tracy's general counsel, and James D. Alljan, Tracy's secretary-treasurer, were named new directors.

Aubrey replaced Louis Polk, who was named chief executive Monday. Polk, 50, was chairman, Edward M. Bronfman, owner of 16 percent of MGM's outstanding stock and the largest single stockholder until Kerkorian made his move.

Bronfman and his brother-in-law, John Loeb Jr., resigned as directors Tuesday.

George L. Killian was named board chairman. Alljan was elected vice chairman.

Aubrey will try to reverse a trend in which MGM's losses for the fiscal year ending last Aug. 31 were estimated at $25 million.

The television industry viewed Aubrey, who took over CBS-TV at age 41, as a “boy wizard” and a ruthless tyrant. He then told the story of how he called in a vice president and allowed him to talk for 35 minutes before telling him he was fired.

 A break in the bloc of teachers' General Union leaders came Tuesday night when the Davison Education Association tentatively agreed to a new contract.

Teachers in Davison were to vote on ratification today, with classes to resume Thursday, 10 days after the walkout began.

No progress toward agreement was reported in the other six districts of Genesee County—Flint, Fenton, Canaan, Beecher, Lake Fenton and Flushing.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The before. That measure would require television stations to cut the cost of hour spots by 70 percent and the price of programs five minutes or longer by as much as 80 percent for Senate and House candidates.

The bill has 38 bipartisan sponsors in the Senate, and a companion measure has 37 sponsors in the House.

UNCERTAIN FUTURE
 Despite the apparent support for the bill—fueled by a Federal Communications Commission report last summer that said $59 million was spent for political broadcasting in 1968—the future is uncertain.

Bills aimed at clamping a lid on climbing campaign costs have been introduced regularly since the 1950s but have gone nowhere as senators and congressmen grappled unsuccessfully with a peculiar dilemma.

Their problem: While costs are high and getting higher, many in Congress feel they would be giving away the enormous natural advantage by making it easier and cheaper for challengers to get air time.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 AP Television-Radio Writer
 NEW YORK (AP)—Television writers have often complained about a “double standard” of censorship—more leniency, more permissiveness for movie broadcasts than for regular TV series. This attitude may be changing.

The subcommittee, headed by open the door a bit for a little extra action in this season's Rhode Island, opened three shows filmed primarily for television broadcast.

Tuesday night, for instance, ABC's “Movie of the Week” had numerous groups have suggested legislation, but the committee of the season to date, it was mitted has only one actual bill an old-fashioned action show called “The Monk” and told of an amateur detective who got involved with the crime syndicate and, of course, murder.

The hero, Gus Monk—played effectively by George Maharis—looked on two hired thugs, tossing vicious kicks and uppercuts. In the end he vanquished them by turning a hot shower on them, an anticlimax of sorts.

The tough, sack-sack private eye of the Philip Marlowe school returned on NBC's first “World Premiere” movie of the season, a minor effort called “The Lonely Professional.”

TOO LITTLE PILOT
 It suffered from the problem that beset many of the series last season—too little plot and too much time to fill. What should have been a one-hour show was padded with action and camera tricks. But these plus a large and interesting cast made two hours of pretty good escape entertainment.

Harry Guardino played a poor but honest shamus—he was so honest he unhesitatingly turned down an offer of $250,000 a year for his silence—what was called upon by a terrified girl for protection. He tried, spending the night sleeping rough in her apartment room couch in her apartment but awakened to find she had been garrotted in a locked room.

He bagged his way to a conclusion, but the puzzle of the locked room was a throwaway, and the end was pretty clear to any whodunit fancier.

The private eye was sapped, bagged by the police, snubbed by his clients—and was caught every time he tried to break the case.

Dina Merrill, who usually plays such nice women, turned up as a predatory dame up to her neck in intrigue. She was quietly led away at the end, charged by the police and FBI with all sorts of unsavory crimes. Another offbeat bit of casting was Jack Carter as a criminal conspirator operating in the disguise of a third-rate comedian. Barbara McNair played a nightclub singer who helped the hapless hero and drove the car in the wild chase that climaxed the story.

Loch Ness Monster Evades Dragon-Net for Another Year

DRUMNADROCHIT, Scotland (UPI) — This year's official search for the Loch Ness monster is over.

Neither a yellow submarine, television crews, tourists nor members of the Loch Ness Phenomena Investigation Bureau were able to prove the monster exists.

In its final report on this year's observation season, the investigation bureau said there were 20 verified sightings between May 17 and Oct. 12.

Scientists determined there was something large and alive in the loch from sonar readings taken during the 1967 season. But this year's assault on Nessie — as the Scots call their monster — was fruitless.

HOMEMADE SUB

Dan S. Taylor of Atlanta, Ga., took his homemade yellow submarine in to the loch again and again to find Nessie.

But he failed to spot her.

It was not surprising, said the 28-year-old Taylor, since the loch is 25 miles long and deep enough to submerge the Empire State Building. He says he will build a bigger sub and try again.

* * *

For a week in September, crews from Britain's independent television network manned cameras on a 24-hour a day basis and tried to lure Nessie to the surface with a mixture of fish blood and meat.

The monster did not respond.

It was housewives and students who accounted for the 20 reported sightings. They stood out in all kinds of weather watching for Nessie — at the same time earning money from the investigation bureau.

MEYER LANSKY

By JEAN HELLER

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A major source of financial support for the foundation which Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas headed for nine years came from a deal set up by Meyer Lansky, one of the nation's most notorious mobsters.

Under a contract signed by Albert Parvin, Lansky was paid $200,000 for acting as middleman in setting up the 1960 sale of the Flamingo Hotel here. Parvin, former head of the Parvin-Dohmann Co. of Los Angeles, was president and 30 per cent owner of the company seeking to sell the hotel-casino.

The Flamingo was sold to a group which included Florida hotelman Samuel Cohen, Morris Lansburgh and Daniel Lifter.

The $200,000 was a finder's fee which Lansky received for introducing the sellers to the Florida men interested in buying the hotel.

SALE PROCEEDS

Parvin used a portion of the proceeds from the sale of the Flamingo to help set up the Albert Parvin Foundation. Parvin said Douglas aided him in creating the foundation. Douglas later served as its president and only salaried officer.

It could not be determined if Lansky ever learned of or was told of the ground of the Flamingo sale at any time during his association with the foundation.

A federal grand jury in New York is reported to be investigating the dealings of Parvin-Dohmann Co. and other individuals and companies, but this probe apparently is unrelated to the Flamingo sale.

The agreement with Lansky was dated May 12, 1960, more than a month after the Cohen-Lansburgh-Lifter group applied to Nevada authorities for approval of the Flamingo purchase. On June 1,

'TOP GANGSTER'

Lansky's name has come up repeatedly in recent investigations of organized crime. Sen. John L. McClellan's permanent investigations subcommittee, for example, describes Lansky as "one of the country's top gangsters."

The purchase price of the Flamingo was $10.5 million. Parvin was the principal stockholder with more than a 30 per cent share of the company which sold the hotel-casino. Harry Goldman, Parvin's partner in Parvin-Dohmann —

Michigan Blue Shield to Up Rates 16.7 Pct.

From Our News Wires

LANSING — Michigan Blue Shield, which provides health insurance for 4.5 million Michiganders, was granted rate increases yesterday averaging $2.43 per family during the first quarter of 1970 by the State Insurance Commission.

The average increase of 16.7 per cent of the base rate will affect about 274,000 contracts renewable from the first of the year through March 31, 1970. It was indicated additional increases might be allowed after that date.

Persons holding supplemental Medicare coverage were excluded from the hike.

Under the plan, monthly insurance rates would increase from about $11.87 to $13.51 for the cheapest plan and from $13.87 to $17.06 for the top plan.

VARIABLE FEE PLAN

Blue Shield operates under a variable fee plan adopted in 1968. According to the commission it was "designed to reimburse physicians for incurred services" according to "reasonable, customary and prevailing fees."

The 1968 rate was based on existing doctor fees, projected fee increases and the known demand for services.

Actual fee variations reflect differences in insurance plans — types of surgical and hospital care, for example, — that a subscriber may choose.

The commission earlier said most of the 274,000 policy holders of the doctor's and surgeon's care plan would not be affected since they subscribe through company or union plans.

1ST HIKE IN 4 YEARS

Claud McCann, commission director for health service plans, said the Michigan increase was the first since 1965. McCann said doctors' fees in the state have increased markedly since 1965, varying from 5.8 per cent in 1966, to 7.1 per cent in 1967 and 5.6 per cent in 1968.

Fee increases had been averaging 2.8 per cent from 1960 through 1965, McCann said.

Blue Cross did not ask a change in base rates for regular contracts, McCann said, but withdrew a proposed 2 per cent reduction in premiums for elderly policy holders. That came after the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced increased deduction and coinsurance provisions of Medicare.

The commission concluded those increases would mean corresponding increases in contract liability.

Infant Mortality 'Critical in U.S.'

CHICAGO (AP) — The risk of death during the first year of life in the United States is higher than in any other period until the age of 65.

Dr. Frank Falkner, associate director of the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development, cited this information yesterday and said the United States ranks 13th in infant mortality among nations with reliable statistics.

Speaking to science writers at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics, Falkner described the situation as "a disgrace and totally unacceptable."

He attributed the U.S. infant mortality rate of 21.7 per 1,000 mainly to poverty in big cities and some areas of the Deep South and the West.

LACK OF CARE

Poor families, he said, lack health care and prenatal care and suffer from malnutrition.

"Break the poverty cycle," Falkner declared, "and you'll lower the infant mortality rate."

It is a common fallacy, Falkner said, that the high infant mortality rate in the United States is the result of the high rate among Negroes.

In fact, he said, while the rate among Negroes is 42 deaths per 1,000 Negroes make up only 15 per cent of the population and excluding them from statistics would drop the over-all U.S. rate only about 2 points.

He added that the infant mortality rate in the poor white population is slightly higher than among poor Negroes.

Mary Jo Inquest Not Hinged on Autopsy -- DA

From Our News Wires

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. — Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis says he will proceed with plans for an inquest into the death of Mary Jo Koepchne whether or not a judge permits exhumation of her body for an autopsy.

Judge Bernard C. Brominski of Common Pleas Court reserved judgment yesterday after a two-day hearing on a petition by the Massachusetts official to have the body disinterred for a post-mortem examination.

Dinis had contended that an autopsy was needed to pin down the cause of the death of the 28-year-old secretary whose body was found July 19 in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's submerged car. Dr. Donald R. Mills, associate medical examiner of Duke County, Mass., ruled she drowned.

The final court session included a replay of a taped recording of the senator's voice giving his version, on national television July 25, of circumstances surrounding the girl's death on Chappaquiddick Island in the Martha's Vineyard resort area of Massachusetts.

PARENTS LISTEN

Mary Jo's parents, Joseph and Gwendolyn Koepchne, sat side by side in the courtroom when the tape was played.

Minutes later, Joseph Koepchne broke into tears. His wife sat with her head down, her chin on her hands.

Brominski gave no indication when he would hand down his verdict. Court sources said it was unlikely to come until after a Nov. 4 election in which Brominski is seeking a second 10-year term on the bench.

"I don't think we'll go any on appeal if we lose," Dinis said after adjournment of the hearing.

Dinis contended at the hearing that the condition of Miss Koepchne's body when it was removed from the senator's car, submerged in a tidal pond after plunging off narrow Dyke Bridge, "may or may not have been consistent with death by drowning."

There was conflicting testimony by pathologists on whether an autopsy now would show whether the girl died of some cause other than drowning. Kennedy, the Massachusetts Democratic senator, did not attend the hearing. He was in Brussels for a meeting of the North Atlantic Assembly.

Ronald Reagan Wants Tax Ceiling

By T. LARRY ADCOCK

FLINT — California Gov. Ronald Reagan last night called for specific limits on governmental taxing power and declared Vietnam war protesters were "giving aid and comfort to the enemy." Reagan blasted war protesters and federal economic bureaucracy in an address before 1,500 Michigan Republicans gathered here for the fifth GOP annual Legislative Dinner.

Reagan blamed President Johnson's administration for "the runaway inflation we are experiencing" and blamed inflation for the plight of the "forgotten American."

The low- and middle-income families whose property taxes will be raised once more to meet increased borrowing costs, that's who," said Reagan.

"Why should anyone be taxed for inflation? A man buys a house for $10,000."

Chilean General Calls Off Revolt

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A teapot army rebellion that actually was more a sit-in for higher wages ended early today.

Gen. Roberto Viaux called off his regiment's 22-hour revolt today, ending Chile's first military uprising in 37 years. Viaux proclaimed his "absolute loyalty" to President Eduardo Frei.

Viaux went on nationwide radio to announce he had turned his rebel command over to a presidential envoy, Gen. Alfredo Main. The government said the general will be court-martialed. He was not arrested.

Viaux said the aim of the insurrection was to get improvements for the army including "remunerations commensurate with the importance of the mission performed by army members."

OUTBREAK OF VIOLENCE

"I am satisfied with the solution of the conflict," Viaux said. "This matter was strictly to obtain an improvement in the material and economic situation of the armed forces." No pay raises were announced.

Area Gets Preview of Winter

"Squaw Winter" arrived in a flurry of excitement and snowflakes this morning as Oakland County residents were treated to a preview of what's to come.

As winds swung to the north at 20 to 30 miles per hour, early morning rainfall turned into intermittent snow showers. The flakes melted as soon as they hit the autumn-warm ground, though a buildup of slush was noted on many car windows.

Jet Diverted to Cuba by Farmington Twp. Teen, Son of Ex-DJ

A Farmington Township teen-ager was in Havana today after diverting a Mexico City-to-Miami jetliner to Cuba at gunpoint.

The youth was identified as Henry Shorr, 17, son of former Detroit radio disc jockey Mickey Shorr, 32260 Friar Circle.

The senior Shorr, now selling car stereo equipment, described his son as a loner trying to buck the system.

A June graduate of North Farmington High School, the youth left home for Mexico City about six weeks ago, according to his father. About a month ago his son telephoned home and said he was having trouble getting a visa to Havana, he said.

'JOINING THE REVOLUTION'

Florida State Sen. Thomas Slade, one of 28 passengers aboard the Pan American World Airways jet, said the young hijacker told him that he was going to "join the revolution."

Young Shorr told one passenger that he had "uglified himself up for the hijack by cutting off his shoulder-length hair and full beard, which he said he had worn until yesterday."

Stewardess Maria Lobo of Buenos Aires, Argentina, said Shorr came forward from the tourist class compartment concealing a small revolver when the plane was over the Yucatan Peninsula.

"I have a gun pointing at you," she quoted the youth. "Open the cockpit and tell the captain I want to go to Cuba."

She said that she followed instructions,

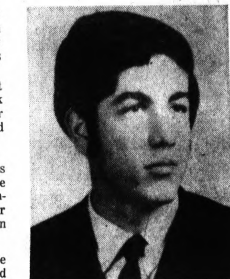

but the pilot, Capt. Hudson Gillis, apparently thought it was a joke and did not come out of the cockpit for five minutes. Shorr reportedly never entered the cockpit.

The plane landed in Miami about 5 p.m. yesterday after its release in Havana.

Last spring, Shorr was suspended from school for five days because he protested the school's dress code.

A classmate beat Shorr because "he didn't like the way Hank dressed or his politics," the senior Shorr said. The classmate was suspended for only one day for the fight.

Carrollton School Board to Probe Eavesdropping

SAGINAW — The school board in the Saginaw suburb of Carrollton has promised a full investigation into electronic eavesdropping on a teachers' lounge in Carrollton Junior High School.

Three electronic listening devices were found Monday in the lounge, it was revealed yesterday.

One device, strung with 983 feet of wire, led to a terminal in the school superintendent's office and the other two were hooked up to an earphone set locked in the filing cabinet of the assistant principal, according to Albert Hoffman, a representative of Carrollton teachers.

The faculty lounge has been used as a caucus room by teachers during negotiations for a new contract. Carrollton teachers have been working without a pact since the beginning of the school year. A fact finder's report is due Monday.

HELPED BY BOARD

The Carrollton Board of Education, confronted Monday night with the discovery of one microphone by teachers, helped locate the other two during an in-site investigation.

The board, in a statement issued to teachers Monday night, promised a full investigation. Members of the Carrollton Education Association decided to take no action until results of the investigation are made known.

One microphone, discovered by teachers Monday afternoon, led to a terminal in the office of School Supt. Charles Murphy, which adjoins the teachers' lounge. It was found behind a panel of a wall heating duct.

The other two, secured under a sink next to the lounge, led to a speech correction room, through a trap door, into a crawl space under the floor, and then several hundred feet to the office of Assistant Principal Gerald L. Rittersdorf.

No one has been charged with responsibility for planting the bugging devices. Neither Murphy nor Rittersdorf would comment last night.

Hoffman said teachers had suspected something was wrong when some private conversations by teachers were repeated "almost word for word" by school board negotiators at contracts talks.

Nixon Draft Moves Fail to Slow ~~MAKEOVER PAGES~~

WASHINGTON (AP) — The armed services surprisingly are filling their enlistment quotas — and then some — despite President Nixon's moves to reduce the impact of the draft.

Enlistment figures from the Army, Marines, Navy and Air Force show they have had no trouble reaching their volunteer objectives.

This comes as a surprise to some Pentagon manpower officials. They anticipated a drop in enlistments after Nixon more than a month ago canceled November-December draft calls and said he would order Selective Service reforms about Jan. 1.

The draft long has been considered a stimulus to enlistments, with many youths preferring to sign up for the service and sometimes the assignment of their choice rather than being hauled in and put where the Army needs them.

CAN'T EXPLAIN

Officials said they don't know how to explain what's been happening. But they are particularly pleased because enlistments haven't slackened amid rising public ferment over the war in Vietnam.

The Army recruiting command reported it signed up 20,325 young men during September—114.7 per cent of the objective of 17,800.

Nixon made his announcement Sept. 19, which left more than a third of the month in which a downturn in enlistments could have taken hold.

October Army enlistments ran ahead of schedule for the first 12 days of the month, the latest period for which figures are available. A total of 6,027 men volunteered, nearly 38 per cent of the month's goal.

QUOTA EXCEEDED

The Marine Corps said its September enlistment quota of 5,100 was exceeded

by 68 men and its October quota of 6,200 was more than half filled as of Oct. 11.

The Navy reported it planned for 8,000 volunteers in September, and 8,046 signed on.

The Navy's October objective of 7,482 enlistments also was more than half subscribed as of mid-October.

The Air Force asked for 7,342 volunteers in September but fell 9 men short. No Air Force figures are available as yet for October enrollments.

Birmingham

Panel to Air State School Reform Plan

BIRMINGHAM — A panel of experts will discuss the implications of Gov. William Milliken's proposal for educational reform next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Covington Junior High School cafeteria.

The symposium, which will be followed by a question-and-answer session, is sponsored by the American Association of University Women (AAUW), Junior League of Birmingham and the League of Women Voters (Birmingham-Bloomfield chapter).

The three-part program will include a discussion of the statewide objectives, a discussion of current and proposed legislation, and the effect of these changes on "quality" school districts such as Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills.

State Rep. William Hampton, R-Bloomfield Hills; Charles Greenleaf, administrative assistant to the governor for policies and programs; and James Phelps, assistant director for the governor's commission on educational reform, will represent the state-level view on Milliken's proposal.

The regional-local viewpoint will be presented by C. Henry Haberkorn, treasurer of the Bloomfield Hills Board of Education and chairman of the education caucus, Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG). The moderator will be Mrs. Arthur B. Saltzman, of the League of Women Voters.

Arthur Elliot of 617 N. Woodward has been appointed to the State Waterways Commission by Gov. William Milliken. The term expires Dec. 31, 1970.

Elliot, who replaces Frederick Rouse Jr. of St. Clair, is a former Republican State Central Committee chairman and Constitutional Convention delegate.

The governor's office also announced the reappointment of Dr. Floyd Hathaway of 145 Barrington in Bloomfield Township as chairman of the Optometry Board. His term will expire on Oct. 31, 1975.

Both appointments are subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

County Will Use City Jail to House Women Prisoners

By JEAN SAILE

The county's women prisoners will likely be housed in the refurbished Pontiac City Jail beginning about mid-November.

This is the goal set yesterday at a meeting of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors public protection and judiciary committee. Financing details and renovation of the jail have not been completed.

The jail, used for storage since its construction 10 years ago, is located on the second floor of the Pontiac Public Safety Building at 110 E. Pike.

Negotiations carried on between County Auditor Chairman Daniel T. Murphy and City Manager Joseph A. Warren have resulted in its being freed to accommodate up to 19 county prisoners.

CITY PRISONERS

The county, by arrangement with local governmental units, houses prisoners arrested in various cities and villages of the county as well as from the townships.

Some $10,400 in county funds will be required to bring the Pontiac City Jail up to state standards, committee members were told.

The decision to house women prisoners there will free a cell block for additional male prisoners at the present County Jail, 104 Wayne. Jail matrons will be moved from the present job quarters to the new facilities, according to Undersheriff Leo Hazen.

Speaking out against "a continued undermanning program" was Wallace Gabler, R-Royal Oak, who asked that at least 20 matrons per shift be considered. This would result in the employment of three additional matrons, it was noted. The currently hires five matrons, who divide days off and vacation time.

PA SYSTEM

The jail will be tied in to a public address system connected with the Pontiac Police Department's main desk. Cost of the PA system is $3,800, according to Joseph Joachim of the county's department of facilities and operations.

Another $4,500 will be required for repainting, Joachim said, and the balance for minor alterations. The city jail kitchen would be used to prepare morning and evening meals with the mail meal trucked over at noon from the county facility.

The committee recommended a tentative appropriation of $30,000 to take care of renovation, the hiring of additional staff, and other costs required in the move. The appropriation will be acted upon by the Supervisors finance committee at its Nov. 4 meeting.

Negotiations with the city have been carried on for the better part of the year since cases of overcrowding, sexual perversion, and fighting among prisoners in the present facility were brought to light.

WORK CAMP

Another method to end prisoner overcrowding discussed by the committee yesterday involves establishment of a county trusty work camp.

Use of the county-owned but undeveloped Independence-Oaks park in a sparsely settled section of Independence Township was suggested as a possible site to house young first-time offenders.

Should the camp be conceived on a long-term basis, it was suggested by Joachim that the county might do well to use a farm layout rather than a park site.

He said work in the development of county parks could keep the prisoners occupied.

NEW JAIL SNAG

The committee voted to send representatives to view the state-operated Camp Lahman at Grayling.

Construction of a proposed new $9-million county jail has hit a snag in the financial market. Brothers have twice ignored bid openings and negotiations are presently being conducted by the County Building Authority for the sale of the bonds. The future of the project is viewed with cautious optimism.

treats people this way?" Shorr quoted his son as asking.

A teacher said Shorr was well-known in school because of his radical ideas.

"He was constantly arguing and debating politics and philosophies," the teacher said.

Roger Jones, 17, of 7335 Coach Lane said that he was in a history class with Shorr.

"He was always debating about ideologies and free societies," said Jones. "We use to joke around with him and kid him about going to Cuba."

"We even told him that we would buy his ticket to Cuba if he felt that strongly about it."

$15,000 for an exactly similar house," Reagan explained.

Reagan pointed out, "Total taxes for the average United States family are up 73 per cent in this decade alone."

"The average family of four, with a wage-earner who makes $10,000 a year, has to pay $2500 in taxes... and he works three months a year just to earn the money to pay them... and he's not going to stand for it much longer."

CALLS FOR CONTROLS

Reagan repeatedly stressed the need for controls on governmental activity to an act, but did not offer a program for such an act.

Reagan attacked the tax reform bill recently approved by the U.S. House of Representatives (but not yet passed by the Senate) that would supposedly close the loopholes for the more affluent, who often pay little tax or no tax at all, and would eliminate the tax-free status for certain institutions and foundations.

Reagan said that professional publications call the bill the most incredibly complicated tax law in U.S. history.

'INCENTIVES'

"Many of what some call loopholes are really the incentives that make the whole cockeyed tax structure work. Provisions for depletion, deductibility of gifts and tax free institutions were devices voted in by earlier congresses to promote worthwhile social objectives," Reagan said.

"Donations to private charities have ground to a halt since House passage of the bill. Small colleges are threatened with extinction," Reagan declared.

Reagan charged that the tax reform bill, if not rejected by the Senate, would "destroy local government, private educational and charitable foundations and the basic concepts of a free enterprise system."

Lebanon Chief Quits Under Fire

By The Associated Press

Lebanon's prime minister resigned today as protests mounted at home and in neighboring Arab countries against the Lebanese army's attempt to check Arab guerrillas using the country as a base for attacks against Israel.

Prime Minister Rashid Karami submitted his resignation as mobs rioted in the Arab quarter of Beirut, the Lebanese capital.

Karami's cabinet quit last year when the guerrilla question erupted in riots, but stayed on in a caretaker capacity.

Lebanon, a country with a population almost evenly divided between Christians and Moslems, has sought to steer a militarily neutral stance in the Arab-Israeli conflict. But the presence of 200,000 Palestinian refugees in the country and the growth of the Arab guerrilla movement have upset the balance.

1st Report Luncheon Tomorrow for PAUF

Some 75 United Fund workers are expected to attend the Pontiac Area United Fund's first report luncheon at noon tomorrow at Holiday Inn, 1801 S. Telegraph.

Chairmen and group chairmen from the five major campaign divisions will be reporting the amounts collected or pledged since the general campaign kickoff Oct. 4. Goal of this year's drive — running through Nov. 7 — is $12 million.

The money will fund 55 health, welfare and recreation education agencies in the Pontiac area. The luncheon is sponsored by area businesses.

business in Los Angeles — held 7 1/2 per cent a multimillion-dollar-a-year hotel supply cent. Other stockholders included singer Tony Martin and actor George Raft.

Parvin said in an interview in 1964 that four years earlier he contacted Douglas and sought his help in setting up the foundation. Douglas agreed.

Tax records of the Parvin Foundation dating back to 1962 show that Douglas was serving as president at an annual salary of $12,000. Proceeds from the Flamingo sale show up regularly through 1968 as one of the foundation's largest assets.

SHARP CRITICISM

Douglas came under sharp congressional criticism last spring for his involvement with the foundation.

In June, after Parvin sold out, Douglas resigned as its president.

The Parvin Foundation has also had an interest in several Las Vegas hotels and casinos by virtue of the Parvin-Dohrmann stock it held.

Harvey Silbert, secretary of the foundation, said it severed all its gambling ties in May when it sold its shares of Parvin-Dohrmann.

Parvin has sold out his interest in Parvin-Dohrmann as well, but still maintains the foundation.

In June, after Parvin sold out, Parvin-Dohrmann and Denny's Restaurants Inc. announced they would merge, but the plans were cancelled earlier this month.

Several days later both firms and their officers found themselves embroiled with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

An SEC complaint, filed in Federal District Court in New York, alleges violations of antifraud, report-filing and credit provisions of the Federal securities laws in connection with the now defunct merger plans. The SEC also accused Parvin of filing a false and misleading proxy statement with the Commission.

Eleanor Haney is surrounded by art in the gallery she opened recently.

Second-Story Artist Shows Treasures

By LINDA COBRAL

"People are generally afraid of art," says Eleanor Haney, owner of the new Haney's Studio Six at 81 West Huron Street.

"But, artists are really no different from other people," she explained.

Any fears about art or artists being stuffy or high-brow would have been quickly changed if they had visited the Haney studio with me recently.

CASUAL LOOK

Mrs. Haney, dressed in a pink blouse, stretch slacks and a practical, paint-splattered over-shirt was casually reading a magazine when I reached the top of the stairs leading to the gallery. She didn't think I noticed that she had taken one shoe off while she was reading; she was so completely at home in the studio.

The small, two room gallery is an example of art to be enjoyed by people, not art to be studied by intellectuals or masters.

The main room is filled with many different types of art placed at random.

Metal sculptured owls perch on one shelf. Oil paintings of flowers on wood hang above them.

Across the room are wood carvings by Jean Paul Gauguin and water colors done on silk, canvas and grass cloth.

Oil paintings of conventional subjects and modern designs also are on display, hung with no apparent classification in mind.

The work in the main room and every painting in the side gallery are by Michigan artists.

Mark Davis, owner of the Camera Mart, a widow from Warren and an architect from Belleville, are among those artists who consented to let Mrs. Haney display their work here.

GIFTS TOO

Mrs. Haney has some definite ideas about what an art studio should offer. As well as handling a variety of art work, she plans to include art objects for gifts. Art classes will also be available. Instructors will hold classes in pastel, oil and acrylic media as well as crafts, still life and pencil drawing.

"Many people feel they would like to take an art class, but business, family and other commitments keep them from attending every class meeting," Mrs. Haney said.

To encourage everyone with an interest to attend an art class, she is starting a "pay as you go" program. Each student can come as often as he wishes, paying for only those sessions he attends and progressing at his own pace.

The enthusiastic mother of two sons and grandmother of three wants everyone to know she is making all her own rules in regard to the art studio.

With experience as a framing consultant she gained art background. Attendance at art shows as an exhibitor have made her known in art circles. However, the zeal with which she has set up her easel in Pontiac is not learned or acquired. It is natural-born (and real.)

Anxious to let area individuals find fun in art with her, Mrs. Haney mentioned one drawback.

"The more involved in art you get, the more involved, still, you can get," she said with a smile.

Samoan Mothers Share Discipline of Children

HONOLULU (AP) — Samoan mothers are teaching social workers on that South Pacific island a thing or two about child care.

"A Samoan mother will pick up a stick and whack a kid who is out of line," says Mrs. Earlene Chambers, director of a Samoan settlement there.

"A Samoan youngster feels his mother has a right to hit him and there is nothing unjust about it."

Chief Fonoti Matautia of the Samoan church village at Nanakuli in Honolulu said Samoans spank their children to teach.

"If a kid is spanked by someone and runs to complain to his parents, they will ask why and then add another spanking," the chief said.

Slithering into the California spring 1970 spotlight, Tootique's nostalgic little print dresses . . . Wider shoulders, shirred sleeves, clingy waistslines and teeny covered-buttons top out the forties rhythm . . . softly shirred at the waist and sleeves.

Pretending Bothers Wife; She Needs Better Advice

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter in your column from the woman who did not find any physical satisfaction in her marriage. That has been my problem for 25 years.

I talked with two doctors. One told me that I was expecting too much and had been reading too many love stories. The other (a woman doctor) told me that very few women had it any better — they just "pretended" most of their lives.

My man is one of the loving kind, but I have been "pretending" all my married life. Is there no hope for me?

NAMELESS: The first doctor was off base, but the second doctor (if statistics can be believed) was not. You need to see a third doctor — one who specializes in unlocking doors of minds where "hangups" have been stored. This may be an oversimplification, but the reason most women are unable to enjoy marital relations is because as young girls they've been told that sex is a "no no." And so it is . . . forever.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of the "no-bra" look?

JUST ASKING: It's a good way for some women to get everything off their chests. For others, it's a flop.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M.M.S.: To set the record straight, I said, "Ideally, sex education should be taught in the home, but since it obviously is not, the next best place is in the public schools, by responsible teachers."

Too many mothers were raised to believe that sex is "dirty," and the subject should never be mentioned in front

And later should this little girl grow up and try to find the answers to her questions by experimenting, and wind up pregnant, this same mother will wring her hands and say, "What have I done to deserve this! I gave her everything!" (These, by the way, are the same women who wonder why their husbands have a girl friend.)

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Having to Come Home, Doesn't

By SHIRLEY GRAY

The William Breeches of Bloomfield Hills are back in town after a fortnight of cruising about the Greek Isles. They boarded the Stella Maris II at Athens and sailed in and out among the islands that dot the Aegean, including Crete and Rhodes.

A short two-day stop at Istanbul, says Marge, was just that — too short. What she and Bill saw of the city on the Bosporus was just enough to whet their appetites for a return trip. By far the most spectacular sight was the display of crown jewels at the Topkapli Museum, formerly the sultan's palace. "They almost make the English crown jewels seem puny in comparison, if you can believe that," marvels Marge.

Before heading home, the Breeches stopped in Rome — their favorite city — for three days, then spent another three days in London with friends.

Hard to believe, but Jean (Mrs. Loyd

H.) Diehl of Birmingham is a grandmother — has been since Oct. 13, when Stephen James Buehler, firstborn of daughter Susan and Bruce Buehler, also of Birmingham, made his debut at New Grace Hospital.

Meanwhile, one of the other Diehl daughters, Julie, sailed away from New York Oct. 10 for a college semester at sea via the "College Afloat" program sponsored by Chapman College. She and some 450 other students will stop at 20 countries on both the European and South American sides of the Atlantic before steaming into Los Angeles late in January.

In between ports they'll have classes on board. What a way to get an education!

Tunics Double as Dresses in California Pants Suits

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Tunics are doubling up as dresses. If the pants suit girl wants to take off her trousers, the fluid and long tunic will double as a dress, allowing the wearer to go almost anywhere.

The tunic length showed up in the Alex Colman and Eddy George fashions at the sports showing of the California Fashions Creators' 19th Annual Press Week Tuesday.

Both designers used bright and colorful prints, California style, in their 33-inch coverings.

Charm of Hollywood liked the oldtime look of the 1940s. Smockings were on sleeves, bodices, and midriffs. And the circle sleeve and the sweetheart neckline also made comebacks.

For the very young at heart there was the "Googoo" little girl look. Charm of Hollywood offered a "googoo" red and white check pinafore over pants.

The Maxi coat appeared repeatedly as the maximum cover over the minimum bikini.

SEE-THROUGHS

See-throughs were visible in knits and lace pants outfits. Miss Pat offered boucle knits which cling for the girl who wants to show off.

Also for the showoffs, there were unlined blouses with the transparent look by Eddy George, who likes nudity as long as it's subtle.

For the girls who jog, Koret of California unfolded a terry long-sleeved polo shirt and trousers in yellow and white stripes.

V-neck floral screen print polyester knit tunic with white polyester knit pants. Colors: Blue/White, Green/White. An Eddy George design.

By JEANNE NELSON

It's a funny thing about money. When you look at it, there it is, to be seen, felt, a material object that one recognizes on sight. But, it's the intangibles about money that spark our emotions.

Tuesday, at the YWCA series on "Finely Tuned," some of these emotions broke loose. As welfare and ADC recipients see it — it's not money, but the lack of it that is the real problem. With this lack comes they say, degradation, loss of self respect and dehumanization.

A panel of four, two welfare recipients and two social service representatives tried to present the pros and cons of "The System."

A good part of the time was spent on hidden reasons behind the voice of discontent. Some case workers, well known to many of the women present, underwent a barrage of criticism on how they handled their jobs and to what extent their own personal attitudes affected their work.

As long as money must be budgeted, either on the national, local or even family level, its very limitations will create problems. How these problems are handled can either create more or help soothe existing ones, it appears.

If being poor isn't a crime, then why to some is it punishable? To those with this feeling, it becomes a struggle of not only securing the needed money, but facing the antagonisms as well.

On the other hand, public assistance representatives claim they are too often bound by rules they themselves have no way of circumventing or changing. Thus, the battle goes on.

RED TAPE

Red tape sifting down from the national level, seem to be a gigantic barrier on both sides. If the national assistance is set at one figure, does it change at the community level as some claim and if so, why?

Are those recipients with more daring, less encumbered by a lagging education, receiving more than fellow recipients who are perhaps unaware of benefits and more timid in their approach?

Does it then become a matter of who yells the loudest or will needs automatically be met, regardless of the methods used?

Earlier, one member of the panel remarked that each was there to benefit from the sharing of ideas, not to line up sides. Whether this actually came about is not quite certain.

The allotment in Oakland County presently is $173 per month for a family of four, plus rent averaging $125 (sometimes up to $150.) There are also Medicaid benefits available.

Koret of California suggests you do it in this wrapped bike skirt of white knitted sharkskin, bordered in navy blue. With an accompanying tank top, which repeats the navy trim, the picture is complete. The sharkskin which is of Arnel tricot with acetate tricot bonding also comes in green or yellow with white.

shown Tuesday after the couple married in a secret civil ceremony. The Aga Khan is the religious leader of the world's Ismaili Moslems.

Prince, Ex-Model Wed in Paris Ceremonies

PARIS (UPI) — Prince Karim Aga Khan and his new bride, former fashion model Sarah Crichton-Stuart, celebrated their marriage into the early hours today at a party attended by members of both families.

The 32-year-old spiritual head of the Ismaili sect of the Moslem religion and his 28-year-old British bride, a divorcee, were married Tuesday in a secret civil ceremony.

Their Moslem wedding will be held at the Prince's home on the fashionable Ile St. Louis in Paris next Tuesday.

Karim, a handsome and wealthy man who had been among the world's most eligible bachelors, and Lady Sarah, a tall, attractive blonde, were dressed soberly for the wedding. He wore a dark gray suit, she a dark brown pleated dress.

For the Moslem ceremony, Prince Karim at least will be dressed in the traditional Ismaili robes and necklaces. It has not been disclosed what Lady Sarah will wear.

Karim's bride quit the modeling world last June and has converted to the Ismaili religion in preparation for the religious wedding, after which she will take the name Salima and become the Begum Aga Khan.

Use Bottle Brush

A bottle brush comes in handy to use in washing porch, garden and patio furniture. Dip into thick soapsuds, then use it to coax the dirt from crevices of plastic, seams of canvas cushions, the crannies and nooks or wicker and wrought iron furniture.

Keep Away From Baby

DEAR POLLY — My four-month-old daughter will soon be getting into things. I like to keep items like bug spray, etc., in a lower kitchen cabinet. I wonder if any of the readers can give me suggestions as to how I can lock these lower cabinet doors without using a plate and lock, which would mar the doors and leave them looking ugly when the locks are removed.—JANICE

DEAR POLLY — Like Betty G., I, too, had the problem of a white bathing suit getting yellow-looking. I now soak it in a presoaker, cold water detergent and water softener. Use cold water and let soak for about one-half hour and the suit should be nice and white.—JANET

DEAR POLLY — When I sew, I put the top of my portable sewing machine (upside down) on the floor beside my chair and use it to catch the bits of thread and scraps of material that otherwise would be dropped on the floor.—JEAN

DEAR POLLY — Several years ago I washed my daughter's tennis sweater (white with navy and maroon stripes at the neck, cuffs and lower edge). It has been washed several times before and came out beautifully but this time the navy and maroon trim ran at the cuffs and around the bottom but not at the neckline. I never discovered why until last winter.

I washed a ski sweater, squeezed out the water, laid it on a towel and let the lower edge hang into the basin. Those colors also ran on the lower edge and only then did I realize that both sweaters had been ruined by hanging over the edge of the sink.

When the water runs down it takes some of the color with it and stains a sweater. Such a disaster!—WANDA

Gertrude Overton Subject of Article

Gertrude Overton, retired Pontiac Central High School teacher, was selected as the subject of an article in the Spring 1969 issue of Michigan Heritage magazine.

Miss Overton's biography, written by another PCHS teacher, Doris Haynes, is part of a continuing series, "Pioneer Women Teachers of Michigan."

Since her teaching, Miss Overton has been actively retired. She is a member of the Pontiac Urban League Guild and is currently working with Women in Community Services (WICS) as assistant office manager at the Girls Job Corps Screening Center in Pontiac.

Eliminate Sag

Often the sash on a little girl's dress will sag in the back. To prevent this, make a belt loop and place it in the center of the back. Pass each end of the sash through the loop. When the bow is tied, the loop will not be visible and the sash will stay in place.

Area's Cultural Calendar Ready

Distribution of the Fall-Winter edition of the cultural calendar, the semi-annual brochure prepared by the Pontiac Area Community Arts Council, is slated to begin Friday. Patrons on the mailing list will receive their copies next week. A supply will be on hand at art group associations, member organizations, chambers of commerce, as well as the Council office.

Sponsors of the calendar, which lists cultural events through Feb., 1970, are Pontiac

State Bank and Gaukler Moving and Storage. At a recent meeting, D. B. Varner, state chairman of the Michigan Council for the Arts and Chancellor of Oakland University, presented his plan of naming 20 regional arts centers in various cities throughout the state. The local council has expressed interest in the Pontiac area's being chosen as site for southeastern Michigan's center.

In the field of environmental arts, the Council is considering some small city beautification projects. Interested organizations and citizens are welcome to submit both ideas and possible locations to the Council office, located at the YWCA of Pontiac.

Air-Dry Toys

When small stuffed toys are washed, they may be dried quickly by placing them in a hair-dryer hood or near the hose of the drier.

Positive Reaction Aid to Desired Behavior

By JUNE ELERT

"I always enjoy the opportunity of exposing myself to my parents," said David W. Shantz, child psychologist now serving as assistant professor of psychology at Oakland University.

He was addressing the Franklin Forum, in Franklin Community Church Fellowship Hall, Tuesday. His subject was "Why We Behave As We Do."

Dr. Shantz sets forth the theory that "any behavior a child exhibits which leads to positive consequences will tend to become established as a permanent behavior pattern."

Spanking was not mentioned as a positive consequence.

Dr. Shantz advised that if parents want a child to go to bed peacefully at night, they must resist any temptation to respond to cries or calls or temper tantrums, because even a periodic response to demands of this kind is sufficient to encourage and eventually establish a behavior pattern. Okay?

How then do some behaviors "drop out?" —until it's time for him to climb higher.

This, said Dr. Shantz, is where the "principle of extinction comes in." A child who engages in weird finger-wiggling, face-making, body-weaving, and establishes a pattern of such behavior due to the attention gained thereby, eventually stop doing it.

This is not to please his parents, but simply because his curiosity concerning his ability to do these things has been satisfied. Okay?

The second principle of extinction is based on a "bad thing" happening as a result of the behavior, i.e. punishment.

But, said Dr. Shantz, "If you punish a kid, he will cease doing whatever it is that is annoying you as long as you are around; but when you aren't looking, he will continue to do what he wants."

However, he continued, "every once in a while a good whack on the behind is a good thing—for you if not for the child."

Dr. Shantz asserts that problem kids are problems because of "where the family is on the 'warm-hostile relationship graph.'"

How do you lead a child into desirable behavior? You encourage (reinforce) "successive approximations to the good behavior."

You take the passive child to the first rung of the Jungle Gym and give him some attention.

You praise him for sitting here —until it's time for him to climb higher.

Then you ignore him, giving your attention to the more adventurous children. When his "left-out" feelings become strong enough, he will climb higher. Then you praise him again. Okay?

Pretty soon he is no longer the passive child—and you have solved his problem.

MAKE OVER PAGES Some Factors Cited in Market Fluctuations

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — What causes

the stock market to rise and fall is always a debatable matter, but there never is an

planation, especially in recent weeks.

Most invariably,

any rise or

is attributed to the Vietnam

CUNIFF

precisely, to the prospects for peace in that country. But one wonders if this is so — if money-

cally.

Without doubt this problem of war and peace pervades the thinking of most Americans. In

money men included, untold benefits could follow a cessation of Monday, even though there no longer is any certainty of a transaction that would involve

PLAN QETAILED

Officials said $10 million of the purchased price would be in cash, another $10 million in the form of 5-year notes and the remainder in the form of 55 million shares of the automobile firm's stock.

The stock exchange would make Kaiser the biggest shareholder in AMC, the nation's fourth largest car maker.

The purchase, however, still requires approval by boards of directors for both firms as well as AMC shareholders.

The war-pac stories, they say, have an influence on prices, because the mass of people do tend to spend when they are in a happy mood.

But the big portfolio

so subjective, they're supposed to ask: "What's in it for me?" And nobody is certain there is anything immediately translatable into dollars and cents.

Remember the market these days is far less a reflection of the random thoughts of millions of Americans than it was just a few years ago.

The market's mirrors the behavior of the big money managers, who account for 50 per cent of the trading on some days, and perhaps even more recently.

SEVERAL REASONS

There are several technical and financial reasons for

have hit a low, and none of them are directly associated with the war. Take your pick:

following an ingrained pattern.

Since World War II, every major stock market decline has ended in September or October.

students of mass psychology.

The fact remains.

The technical position of the market is said, once again, to be sound. For the past three months price movements have

ago.
