Traffic Deaths Mount to 237 Across Nation

Michigan Toll Stands at 8 for Holiday Period; Is Below Normal

From Our News Wire

Hazardous driving conditions contributed today to boosting Michigan's traffic death toll to eight over the long Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

At least three of the deaths were attributable to the weather.

★ ★ ★

Snow and ice-covered streets added to traffic hazards nationally today and boosted the toll in accident deaths over the weekend.

The hazardous driving conditions, however, appeared to have cut down the volume of traffic on highways, especially in the snow-covered regions.

The Thanksgiving weekend also is not regarded as a period of extra heavy traffic such as on other major holidays.

The number of dead in highway accidents since the start of the Thanksgiving weekend at 6 p.m. Wednesday (local time) showed the total running about normally or slightly below for the corresponding period at this time of year. The count is to continue until midnight Sunday.

The National Safety Council did not make a preholiday estimate of the traffic toll. It said, however, that 470 deaths could be expected in a similar 102-hour non-holiday period.

An Associated Press survey covering the 102-hour period from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 12 to midnight Sunday, Nov. 16 showed a traffic death toll of 394. Other violent deaths included 32 in fires and 121 from miscellaneous accidents.

State traffic victims include:

Mrs. Barbara Harubin, 64, of Detroit, killed Friday when struck by a skidding car.

Mrs. Leona Murphy, 54, of Dearborn Township, fatally injured Friday when a car in which she was riding skidded.

Jeffrey Garbinski, 6, of Detroit, injured fatally Friday when he and his mother, Dorothy, 29, were struck by a car at an intersection in Detroit. Mrs. Garbinski was hospitalized with injuries.

Mrs. Edna Towle, 75, of Detroit, injured fatally Friday in a two-car collision on icy U.S. 23 in Hartland Township near Brighton.

Mrs. Colleen Kay Hoevemery, 20, of Monroe, killed Thursday in an auto-train crash at a crossing near Petersburg.

John Roelens, 22, of Port Huron, killed Thursday when his car skidded on M21 east of Port Huron and crashed into a tree.

Marvin J. Smith, 25, of Flint, killed Thursday when his car rammed a bridge abutment on U.S. 27 near Coldwater.

Lloyd F. Blonshine, 64, of Lowell, was killed Wednesday night when his car skidded on a rural road near Grand Rapids an hit a tree.

Wind-Blown Snow Dumped Over Nation

A fast-moving snow storm, which left a blanket of white across the Midwest prairie lands before it moved eastward, dumped heaviest falls of the season across wide areas today.

The storm, powered by strong winds, spread more than 10 inches of snow in some parts of New England, Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio.

The major snow area extended from northern New England across northern New York State and western Pennsylvania into the Upper Ohio Valley.

South of the snow belt, cold rain chilled Southern sections. Sleet pelted areas in between the snow and rain belts.

Driving conditions were extremely hazardous in many parts of the storm-battered regions. Several persons were killed in traffic accidents due to the ice-slicked and snow-covered highways.

Traffic slowed in the big cities, such as Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, as the first major snow storm of the season hammered in midwinter style across a wide stretch from southwestern Ohio to central New York State and into New England.

★ ★ ★

It was cold, too, not only in the storm belt but in the snow-covered sections of the country from the Rockies through the Midwest.

The South also was frosty as the icy air plunged into the Gulf Coast and temperatures dipped to near freezing and lower along the middle Gulf Coast.

Snow fell on Alabama as the southern edge of the storm, with near freezing temperatures, advanced into the northern part of the state late Friday.

Warm air clung to the Atlantic Coast region during the night. But it was retreating rapidly as the cold air moved southeastward across the Appalachians.

★ ★ ★

Temperatures were near 70 late Friday night along the Carolina coast. But at Asheville, in western North Carolina, it was chilly with snow flurries and readings in the 20s.

It was below zero again in east-

DPW and Police Struggling Hard to Clear Roads

Heart Attacks Fatal to 2 County Persons After Shoveling Snow

Area residents were busy this morning clearing away the season's first heavy snowfall, while police and DPW workers sought to keep traffic flowing on snow-glazed streets.

Although cold—18 degrees at 8 a.m. with a low of 12 forecast tonight — Pontiac and Detroit areas were spared the severity of the storm sweeping the Upper Peninsula and the eastern states.

Houghton reported the state's low of zero last night. The mercury was expected to dip to 10 below in the U.P. tonight.

★ ★ ★

Two Oakland County persons died of heart attacks yesterday after shoveling four-inch deep snow. They were Mrs. Charles J. Marshall, 61, of Madison Heights, and Lloyd G. Shannon, 42, of Royal Oak.

The snow caused four traffic deaths in the state. All of the victims were Detroiters, two of them pedestrians killed by skidding cars.

State Police at both Pontiac and Redford Posts, Oakland County sheriff's deputies, and Waterford Township Police reported a total of 19 property damage and five personal injury accidents from 8 a.m. Friday to mid-morning today.

These were only the traffic mishaps which necessitated police assistance. Many other motorists found themselves involved in minor fender bumpings and skidding into ditches throughout the county as roads became more slippery.

Musician Dies While Performing

Severin Turel, noted Polish concert pianist and composer, who made his home in Birmingham, suffered a fatal heart attack while performing at a recital last night in Birmingham.

Two doctors in the audience rushed to the stage and attempted to revive the stricken musician by massaging his heart.

Turel was just completing his first selection, the Bach-Tausig Toccata and Fugue in D Minor, when he collapsed at the Birmingham Community House, 380 S. Bates St.

★

His personal physician, Dr. J. Donald Green of Birmingham, 3475 Glenhurst Dr., said the 52-year-old musician was not breathing and had apparently suffered a heart attack.

Dr. Green assisted while Dr. Mark Beaubien, 460 S. Glenhurst, made an incision in the pianist's chest with a pen knife. The two doctors then took turns massaging the heart.

Dr. Green said Turel responded to the emergency treatment and resumed breathing, but was dead in arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital shortly after 9 p.m.

Further attempts to revive him failed.

Turel had suffered from a heart condition for some time, Dr. Green said.

The pianist, who lived at the Oxford School of Music, 384 Pierce St., made his debut as an eight-year-old child prodigy in his native city of Lwow, Poland.

★ ★ ★

World War II interrupted his career when he entered the Polish Army. He spent five years in a German prison camp.

His highly-praised "Polish Rhapsody" was begun in the prison camp.

He resumed his career following the war and gave more than 200 recitals in France, England and Switzerland.

Mr. Turel made his American debut in December 1953 in Detroit, and shortly after gave several concerts in New York's Carnegie Hall and went on a national tour.

He continued to give frequent concerts in this area and also taught at the Oxford School.

Test Successful for Atlas 'Beast'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A mighty Atlas missile streaked 6,325 miles from Florida to a target in the South Atlantic Friday night, showing the world the United States has a fully operational Intercontinental Ballistic Missile.

The feat put the United States on a par with the Soviet Union, which has claimed possession of an ICBM.

The "Beast," as the Atlas is nicknamed, sped the distance in only about 30 minutes after roaring away from the Cape Canaveral launching pad.

Announcement that the missile was "successfully test fired for the first time over the full intercontinental range" was made this morning by the Defense Department after a check on data from observers and recording devices spotted along the missile's path.

★ ★ ★

Later an Air Force spokesman said the missile had hit a designated target area after its long roaring flight across the South Atlantic.

He added that "all test objectives were achieved essentially 100 per cent." The size of the target area was not disclosed.

The missile's silvertipped nose cone — which in event of war would be a nuclear warhead — dropped into the South Atlantic near Ascension Island.

BURNS LIKE METEOR

The big rocket sped into the Florida sky line a flaming meteor Friday night and remained visible for nearly four minutes as it curved gracefully into the path through the higher atmosphere to its target.

★ ★ ★

But despite the very apparent success of the launching at 9:27 p.m. EST, the Defense Department and Air Force waited until today to be absolutely certain before announcing results of the shot.

★ ★ ★

The Convair division of the General Dynamics Corp., builder of the Atlas, claimed success of the flight shortly after the launching.

Electronic recording devices spotted on several islands and ships showed the progress of the missile over its range.

Near Ascension Island, ships and aircraft on patrol watched for the impact of the nose cone.

The successful flight matched a Soviet claim of possession of an intercontental bombing missile.

REDS HAVE ONE

Russia is believed to have developed an operational ICBM and to have used it in launching the Sputniks.

★ ★ ★

This was the long-awaited climax of a test program that started in June 1957, when the first Atlas blew up soon after launching. The Atlas fired Friday night was the 15th test vehicle in the series.

The first eight used only the twin-chambered booster engine in the tail. Four of these flew successfully over 600-mile ranges. The others exploded in tests of guidance and strength.

Since then, Atlas missiles have been powered by the booster engine, a sustainer engine and two Vernier engines mounted to the outer shell to control the roll of the 85-foot long weapon.

Might Expand Berlin Proposal

Suggestion by Allies to Consider All Germany May Alter Red Plan

BERLIN (AP) — A Soviet spokesman said today the Kremlin's plan to make West Berlin a free, demilitarized city might be "expanded and changed" during negotiations with the Western powers.

★ ★ ★

The statement came amid Western suggestions that the Soviet drive to get the Allies out of West Berlin should be used as the basis for broad discussions of German reunification — the problem lying at the heart of the current crisis.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin indicated the Russians may take a flexible attitude during the six months of negotiations they have proclaimed before trying single-handed to end the four-power occupation of Berlin.

He said he did not regard initial Western reaction to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's plan as a rejection.

★ ★ ★

Lord Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin advised the Allies to deal with the problem of uniting Communist East Germany with free West Germany rather than just reacting to the Moscow plan.

British diplomats in London also suggested yet another round of reunification talks, possibly by foreign ministers of the West and Russia or even by heads of government.

★ ★ ★

Brandt urged Friday night that the Western powers counter Soviet Premier Khrushchev's plan to neutralize West Berlin in six months, with broad proposals on German unification.

He said the West ought to act quickly because the Soviets "may put on pressure before the end of the six-month period."

★ ★ ★

Diplomatic reports indicate the Western Big Three will reject Khrushchev's ultimatum — which the Soviet boss denies is an ultimatum. Foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meet in Paris Dec. 16-18 and probably will work out the Western reply.

2 Judges Deny 'Soft' Charge

McCallum and Finnegan Say Evans' Statements 'Sound Silly'

Pontiac's two municipal judges today ridiculed charges that they are being "soft" in vice cases.

The charges were made by Detective Richard Evans, head of the vice squad, in a report to Public Safety Director George D. Eastman.

"I think that the statements of Detective Evans sound kind of silly," declared Judge Cecil B. McCallum. "I don't think they deserve an answer."

"We're going all out to make this the fairest court there is, and doing an excellent job," McCallum said. "We're bending over backwards to do everything the way it should be done."

In his report, Evans said, "Unreasonably light fines are ordered upon sentencing, regardless of the culprit's past record, and it is the arresting officer who is on trial."

"I feel that Evans got carried away with himself when he wrote his report," McCallum declared.

"Before the horse-betting raid last summer, we didn't have a gambling case of any magnitude brought before us since I don't know when."

The judge was referring to a raid Aug. 29 in Pontiac, in which five persons were arrested on charges of operating a horse-betting. The raid was handled by the State Police.

"We used to have quite a few such cases at one time, but none recently," McCallum said.

★ ★ ★

"If they're interested in cleaning out prostitution, the police ought to bring in some of the male customers," he declared.

"But they don't. In fact, they haven't brought in many prostitutes recently. It's our policy to give jail sentences to any who are out walking the streets.

Judge Maurice E. Finnegan said that he never sentenced offenders in vice cases before speaking with the arresting officers.

"I'd usually give the sentence recommended by the police," he said.

He also noted that far less vice cases are being brought to Municipal Court these days than in the past.

"I thought that we were and are still cooperating with the police," he said.

The report by the vice squad head said that gambling, prostitution and narcotics operations are flourishing in Pontiac.

Go Easy on That Brake Pedal Today

SLITHER AND SKID — Mushing along through the slush today, these cars along Huron street had it easier than those on side streets, which were icy because they had less traffic to churn the snowfall up. Police reported numerous minor accidents when motorists failed to allow themselves sufficient stopping space.

His Age? 8 Years

'I Want to Borrow $5 . . .' Collateral? Ball and Bat

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"May I help you?" asked the banker.

"I want to borrow $5," the boy replied.

"What are you going to do with it?"

"Buy a model aircraft carrier kit."

"How much does it cost?"

"Three dollars."

"Then why do you need five?"

"I want to buy some Christmas presents for my mother and father."

Assistant cashier Mike Musante got out a loan-application form.

Name? Billy Juster. Age? Eight. Married? No. Occupation?

"I go to school—and help my father."

"Do you get paid?"

"Yes—15 cents a week."

"Have you anything to put up as collateral?" Billy handed over a baseball and glove.

"This ball is just about worn out," said Musante. He and Billy agreed it and the glove weren't worth more than $3.

★ ★ ★

"I've got a bat in the car," Billy said. He ran outside and returned with the bat.

"I think we can lend you the $5," said Musante.

Billy signed a note agreeing to repay the loan at 40 cents a month. Also 8 per cent interest, the bank's rate for small loans—an additional 40 cents.

"If you don't pay, we may have to sell this collateral and maybe repossess your aircraft carrier," Musante warned.

They shook hands. Musante gave Billy five silver dollars.

Billy's father, Harmon, general manager of a knitting mill, had stood outside in the lobby of the Bank of America branch throughout the transaction Friday. He told Musante the deal's background:

Billy had asked his dad for the $5 loan. Juster told him: "You know, son, when I need money I go to the bank and borrow it."

"Let's go to the bank," said Billy.

Musante told a reporter: "Ordinarily the bank doesn't make loans to persons under 21. This is a case of instructing the younger generation in getting money the way a dad would have to."

Proposed School Tax Increase Stirs Bloomfield Hills Group

Controversy flared in Bloomfield Hills School District today between the school administration and a group that opposes a proposed four-mill increase in school taxes.

Arthur J. Picotte, who heads a citizens committee against the school-sponsored extra millage, said he would turn to the county superintendent of schools for help.

Trouble centered around the committee's bid to use a school room for a meeting to air protests against the millage proposal, which is due to go before voters at a special election Dec. 8.

Picotte, a retired real estate man of 4019 Quarton Rd., said that Superintendent of Schools Eugene L. Johnson had refused to let him use a schoolroom for a night meeting.

"He (Johnson) is afraid our group will upset the schools' plans to railroad the extra millage through," charged Picotte.

★ ★ ★

"The main issue is that we, as taxpayers, have been denied access to the schools, which are public property," was the angry explanation of H. V. Beggs, of 5 Island Dr., another member of the citizens committee.

REFUTES DENIAL

Johnson said, however, he had not denied the group use of a school room, but had merely requested that the committee file a written application.

★ ★ ★

"We are not sure of the composition of the group and a written application is the School Board's policy when that is the case," Johnson said.

Picotte turned down the offer, arguing there was no guarantee that a written request would reach the board before the election takes place.

ASSURES TIMING

Johnson said if Picotte had his application in Monday, it would go before the board Monday night.

"We Don't question the citizens' right to dispute the extra millage or use school rooms for public purposes," Johnson said. "It's their schools, their money and their children that are involved."

Picotte said he would ask County Superintendent of Schools William J. Emerson Monday to help his group get a school room either in the Bloomfield Hills School District or some other district nearby.

"We want to hold a meeting so the people will have a chance to hear both sides before the election," explained Picotte.

Picotte claimed that in his position as director of the township's Federation of Civic Associations he had been able to make verbal arrangements for use of a school room a dozen times this year.

★ ★ ★

"It is significant that when we want to meet to protest a rise in school taxes, we have to fill out written forms," he said.

DIFFERENT GROUPS

Picotte conceeded that the citizens committee is a different group from the civic federation, although its memberships overlap.

"We don't know who is in the citizens group and what it is and this is the trouble," said Johnson. "If Mr. Picotte would put that information down on paper, I would present it to the board and it would make the decision."

The school board is asking voters to approve a four-mill increase for three years, followed by a three-mill increase for three more years. Part of the millage would cover operating expenses and part a proposed $1,165,000 school building program.

Deadlock Keeps Airlines Tied Up

One Third of Nation's Liners Likely Grounded for Rest of Weekend

From Our News Wires

Deadlocked negotiations kept one-third of the nation's airliners grounded today, apparently for the duration of the weekend, and another crippling strike threatened at American Airlines despite admonitions from a federal judge.

The Air Lines Pilots Assn. discounted as a "public relations maneuver" an offer by American Airlines to resume negotiations Saturday or Sunday, and went ahead with plans to set a new strike deadline that would idle about 1,500 pilots.

Wednesday night the twin strike snarled holiday travel and diverted thousands of airline passengers to bus and rail lines. But on Thanksgiving Day, a midholiday lull settled in, and the airlines still operating were easily able to take up the slack created by the walkouts.

Judge Frederick Van Pelt Bryan in New York extended yesterday a temporary injunction barring a strike against American, saying both sides were guilty of a "silly exhibition" in failing to meet with federal mediators earlier this week. The ALPA said it would return to court in New York Monday in a further attempt to have the injunction lifted.

In Miami, Judge Emmett C. Choate said 550 flight engineers who walked out at Eastern Air Lines six days ago had no right to bargain on the issue of whether the third man in the cockpit of jet airliners should be a pilot or engineer.

However, the International Assn. of Machinists said there were other issues to be settled before the walkout which shut down EAL operations could be ended.

In Kansas City, federal mediator Frank Switzer said nothing could be done to ease a strike against Trans World Airlines until either side relaxed its bargaining stand.

There also was no letup in the stewardesses' strike against Little Lake Central Airlines, a midwest feeder route. The hostesses walked through four inches of snow in picket lines at Indianapolis Friday, but pilots continued to cross the lines and maintained normal service.

ern North Dakota and northern Minnesota. Below freezing readings were reported southward into central sections of Texas and Louisiana. They were in the teens in northern Arkansas.

As the storm struck New England areas, the winds and tides rose. Winds of 40 to 50 m.p.h. and gusts up to 65 m.p.h. lashed some areas. Tides were two to three feet above normal.

★ ★ ★

New York City was hit by a rain and wind storm Friday night. Power failures blacked out an estimated 20,000 homes on Long Island. The gale-force winds ripped off advertising signs in Manhattan and tore the roof from a ferry in the Hudson River.

★ ★ ★

In Pittsburgh, covered with 10 inches of snow, the airport was forced to shut down for snow removal. Nearly a foot of snow was reported at Burlington, Vt. Cincinnati's snowfall measured eight inches, the same as at Erie, Pa.

Considerable warming was reported along the eastern slopes of the Rockies from Montana to Colorado and eastward into the Western Plains. Temperatures were in the 20s and 30s compared to near or below zero 24 hours earlier.

★ ★ ★

Snow flurries continued from the Dakotas into the northern Great Lakes region with amounts light in most places. Exceptions were near the southern and eastern shores of the lakes, in Michigan, snow measured a foot at Pellston and 11 inches at Houghton.

Skies were clear in most areas from California eastward to the Mississippi Valley.

Christmas Shopping Peps Up Merchants

NEW YORK (AP)—A surge of early Christmas shopping put starch in the nation's retail trade this week, according to a Dun & Bradstreet Inc. survey.

Abnormally mild weather slowed consumer buying in some parts of the country but nationwide sales totals for furniture, women's apparel and gifts topped the same week of 1957.

Best sellers included women's sportswear, dresses and fashion accessories, and men's dress shirts, socks and hats. Purchases of men's suits and topcoats declined slightly.

Total dollar volume of retail trade was estimated at from 1 per cent lower to 3 per cent higher than a year ago.

Chap Takes Everything From 10 Police Cars

NORWALK, Calif. (AP) — Authorities said Feliciano Euribe broke into 10 cars in a parking lot and took everything he found of value.

Then Dep. Sheriff Thomas Vetter arrested him and Euribe found out exactly where he was. Vetter had just come off duty Friday and the parking lot was behind the sheriff's Norwalk substation.

All of the cars belonged to sheriff's officers.

Send Second Report on Urban Renewal

Pontiac's second report on its proposed urban renewal project was sent to Urban Renewal Adminstration regional officials in Chicago yesterday.

This was titled the Project Eligibility and Relocation Report, which has been under preparation since May. It details all the preliminary planning to date, according to Robert A. Stierer, assistant city manager.

★ ★ ★

Stierer said he expects URA approval of the report by February. With approval, local planners will begin final planning, which may take about a year, Stierer estimated.

The city's initial report, an application for an advance study grant, was filed a year ago and approved last March. Pontiac got a $90,000 advance as a result.

★ ★ ★

The final report will be an application for about $1,600,000 in federal aid to help finance the $4,000,000 project.

Winter Cold Catches Up With Ike

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Winter caught up today with President Eisenhower, but it was debatable whether near-freezing temperatures would be sufficient to keep him off the golf course.

Rains, long awaited by residents of this parched area, fell during much of the night and the thermometer dropped into the low 30's after days of Indian Summer temperatures in the high seventies.

Although it was damp and blustery yesterday, the President squeezed in nine holes during the late afternoon between a light shower and dusk.

This was a relatively open day on the Chief Executive's schedule aside from morning paper work in his office at the Augusta National Golf Club and possibly another telephone report from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on the international situation, particularly the Berlin crisis which seemed to be losing its immediacy.

★ ★ ★

First Snowfall Hits Pontiac Area

erations by road crews, the cold temperatures of last night and this morning's snowfall have left even main highways in conditions described by area police as "extremely hazardous."

★ ★ ★

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecast for the Detroit and Pontiac area predicted less snow today, although this morning's snowfall was quite heavy at times.

The official outlook calls for considerable cloudiness and cold with scattered snow flurries today. The high today will be 25 degrees with a low of 12 predicted for tonight. The reading was 23 at 1 p.m.

Winds will be southwest to westerly at 20 to 30 m.p.h. Considerable cloudiness, windy and cold with scattered snow flurries is the outlook for tonight and Sunday, with tomorrow's high reaching 26 degrees.

★ ★ ★

Monday's outlook is for partly cloudy in Southern Michigan to mostly cloudy in the north with scattered snow flurries in northern sections.

The heaviest snow today and Sunday is expected to fall in areas close to the Great Lakes.

With low temperatures keeping the snow from melting into slush, highways throughout the county have been very slippery.

The slippery roads resulted in several injuries to motorists last night and this morning. An accident on M87 in Holly Township injured four persons.

A car driven by Conrad B. Lacy, 20, of Fenton, went out of control on icy pavement and struck a tree, sheriff's deputies said.

Lacy and a passenger, Stewart Chandler, 17, of Fenton, were treated for head injuries by a Fenton doctor.

Two other passengers, Wayne Walverton, 17, of Holly Township, and Phillip Harris, 17, of Fenton, were treated at Hurley Hospital in Flint.

A 71-year-old Davisburg man, Arthur C. McCafferty, of 4200 Brooks Field St., was treated for head cuts at Pontiac General Hospital early this morning after his auto slid on ice and struck a tree on Ormond road, in White Lake Township, according to deputies.

An identical accident on Cooley Lake road near Hiller road, Waterford Township, yesterday sent the driver, Marion E. Kuebler, 45, of 1895 Petrolia St., to Pontiac General Hospital for treatment of head cuts.

A collision of two cars, attributed to slippery pavement, also resulted in minor injuries to another driver, Patricia A. Daley, 24, and her companion Jeanne Vocelsang, 20, both of Birmingham. The collision took place at W. Maple and Franklin roads in Bloomfield Township, according to state troopers.

Typical of the multitude of property damage accidents was one which eventually involved two cars and a wrecker at 3249 Livernois Ave., Avon Township, shortly before 7 last night.

Deputies said one driver lost control of his car on ice and skidded into a ditch. The driver, uninjured, called for a wrecker.

The wrecker arrived and while trying to pull the car from the ditch, another motorist going south skidded into the wrecker.

No one was injured.

Handel's Messiah Music to Highlight Yule Season

BIRMINGHAM—A musical highlight of the holiday season here will be the annual presentation of the Advent and Christmas portions of Handel's Messiah at the First Presbyterian Church.

This year's performance is scheduled for 8 p.m. Dec. 7 in the church with the 71 voice chancel choir participating.

L. Robert Slusser, minister of music, said several new versions of the arias and one new chorus "Breathe Forth Into Joy" will be heard here for the first time.

Piano soloists will be Mildred G. Ritter, associate organist at the host church and Kent McDonald, organist and choirmaster at St. James Episcopal Church. Vocal soloists are Ruth Killeen, Alice Engram, Laverne Nancarrow, Russell Skitch, and Amasa Tiffany.

Two Birmingham service clubs have announced programs of special interest next week.

The Lions Club, whose project is "Aid to the Blind," will take part in Leader Dog Week activities with a public information campaign. They will tell how the afflicted may obtain leader dogs from the famed Rochester school.

Birmingham Kiwanis Club at their Tuesday dinner meeting in the Community House will hear a talk by F. W. Ready on invisible wave-lengths and their germicidal effects on bacteria both in the air and on the earth's surface.

Ready is special applications coordinator for Detroit Edison.

The Past Noble Grand Club of Birmingham Rebekah Lodge 445 will meet for a Christmas dinner and gift exchange at Aunt Fanny's Restaurant on N. Woodward avenue, Royal Oak, at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 9.

Mrs. Edna Luth, of 991 Humphrey Ave., will accept reservations until Thursday.

ELMER W. MATTHEWS

Service for Elmer W. Matthews, 74, of 783 Bennaville St., will be held at 1 p.m. Monday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery, Detroit.

Mr. Matthews died suddenly at his home yesterday.

Before retirement, he was a casket trimmer at the Cadillac Casket Company, Detroit.

Surviving are one sister, Mrs. Charles Culver of Birmingham.

Ruled Not Guilty of Rape Charge

Former Lapeer Deputy Freed After Jury Out Over 5½ Hours

LAPEER—After deliberating for more than five and one-half hours last night, a jury of four women and eight men found a former Lapeer County sheriff's deputy innocent of statutory rape and taking indecent liberties with a 15-year-old runaway Charlotte girl.

The jury announced a "not guilty" verdict for William Dougherty, 23, of 923 S. Main St., last night at 11:30.

Dougherty, son of Lapeer Police Chief Matthew Dougherty, had been on trial two days for the alleged crime of June 22. He had been on the sheriff's force six months prior to being dismissed.

Ronald Baker of Columbiaville, another former deputy and father of four, is charged with the same offense. He will be tried in the next session of Circuit Court.

The girl is now a ward of the Eaton County probate court and in a juvenile home in Grand Rapids.

The two deputies were fired by Sheriff William J. Porter after the girl had brought the charges against them. Circuit Court Judge Timothy C. Quinn presided during the trial.

Says All Soviet Movies Have Political Tieup

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "American films tend to be unrealistic," says a Soviet movie director. "They put too much emphasis on entertainment."

Twenty-three visiting Soviet film makers were interviewed Friday before touring Hollywood studios, Director Sergei Iutkevich, speaking through an interpreter, was spokesman for the group.

He said 120 movies produced annually in Russia are designed primarily to tell a story but that all have political undertones.

"Art is propaganda," he added.

Moroccan Girl Weds U.S. Gob Despite Red Tape

DETROIT (AP) — International red tape failed to snarl the determination of a Moroccan girl and her U.S. Navy sweetheart, and so Saadia bent Mohammed and sailor James L. Martin were married in Detroit yesterday.

Saadia, a petite olive-skinned girl, fell in love with James two years ago when he was stationed at a Navy base adjacent to her hometown of Kenitra, Morocco. But their planned marriage was blocked at first by the religious objections of her Moslem homeland.

Moroccan law forbids the marriage of a Moslem Moroccan woman to a non-Moslem male, and Saaria could get neither a passport nor a birth certificate for a while. But finally, with the help of the American consul in Rabat, the couple succeeded in efforts to be reunited in this country.

Saadia will live with her mother-in-law here while Martin completes the remaining 3½ years of his hitch in the Navy.

Fire Hydrant Has Its Day

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An obscure fire hydant had its moment of glory early yesterday when it became the center of a number of attractions.

The hydrant at first offered a passing interest to a fox terrier named Suzy, who was in the car of her owner. Suzy jumped on the steering wheel—and the car careened into the hydrant.

Police called firemen to turn off the stream of water which was spouting 35 feet into the air, and neighbors gathered to watch the fun.

As firemen worked at the task, Noel Campbell, 34, drove by on the way home from a Thanksgiving party.

Campbell leaned out of his car to exclaim: "Whoopee! Old Faithful!" His unattended car bounced off a fire truck and rammed the hydrant as firemen fled for their lives.

Repair work was begun again, Campbell was hauled off to jail, the spectators enjoyed it all immensely—and the hydrant's moment of glory was over.

Judge, Township Candidates in Race

Political Circles Talk About Next Election

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

With the November election less than a month old, talk in political circles in Oakland County and the rest of the state already has shifted to the coming spring biennial election.

Here in Oakland County probably the most interest is being centered on balloting for the current four positions on the Circuit Court bench and the fifth judgeship to be added as the result of legislation this year.

Attorneys around the courthouse have figured there are to date approximately 14 candidates, including three incumbents, eyeing these judicial posts.

The non-partisan judicial ballots in Oakland County will contain seven positions—five full six-year terms beginning Jan. 1, 1960, and two short terms.

6-MONTH TERM

The latter will be one six-month term beginning July 1, 1959, which will start the new fifth judge in his duties, and a second for the unexpired term of the late Judge George B. Hartrick. His term would have expired Dec. 31, 1959.

Besides the races for the bench, electors in Oakland County's 24 townships will elect a supervisor for two years on the Board of Supervisors, a clerk, treasurer, trustee or trustees, one justice of the peace, a member of the Township Board of Review and not more than four township constables.

There will be a primary election Feb. 16 in which voters will trim down the number of candidates for any one office to one Democrat and one Republican. These nominees will win a place on the April 6 general election ballot.

TOPPING OFF BALLOT

Topping off the April ballot throughout the state will be the election of: (1) two Supreme Court justices; (2) two University of Michigan Regents; (3) one member of the State Board of Education; (4) two members of the State Board of Agriculture, governing body of Michigan State University, and (5) one superintendent of public instruction.

The two justices and two U. of M. regents will be elected to eight-year terms. The one member of the State Board of Education and the two MSU board members will be elected to six-year terms. The superintendent of public instruction will be elected to office for two years.

Mrs. Mabel Child, election clerk for Oakland County, said the nominees for these state offices will be picked by both political parties in conventions to be held in February.

Six members to a new Board of Governors of Wayne State University will also be elected at the April 6 election. Six members will be chosen, two for two years, two for four years, and two for six years.

Mrs. Child warned any unregistered voters that the last day to register for the Feburary election will be Jan. 19.

Election laws also call for the election of a three-member township party committee in each township, whose duty it will be to appoint an alternate candidate should any township nominee die before the April balloting.

Mrs. Child said some townships might not require a primary election if there is no competition encountered for the different township offices.

To be eligible for these positions a candidate must be a qualified registered elector of the township, she said. In addition, candidates for township boards of review must be a land-owner and taxpayer.

Candidates for the judicial and township positions have been reminded that 4 p.m. Dec. 29 is the deadline for nominating petitions.

Judicial candidates must file their petitions with the Secretary of State's Office in Lansing, while township candidates will file with their township clerks.

"None should be submitted to my office," warned Mrs. Child.

Stompanato Estate Comes to $274.10

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The estate of John Stompanato, who was stabbed to death April 4 by Lana Turner's daughter, consists of $50.10 in cash and personal effects valued at $224.

Superior Court directed Friday that these assets be given to Stompanato's son John, 10, who lives with his mother in Hammond, Ind.

Awaiting trial is a $500,000-suit filed in the boy's name against Miss Turner; her daughter, Cheryl Crane; and Cheryl's father, restaurant owner Steve Crane.

SANTA ARRIVES IN PONTIAC — Shunning his traditional sleigh and reindeer this year, Santa Claus dropped in on Pontiac yesterday afternoon in his shiny new helicopter. His first stop was the Oakland County Children's Home, 2050 Telegraph Rd., where he passed out storybooks, candy and prizes to some 100 anxious youngsters. From there he flew to the Miracle Mile Shopping Center, landing in its spacious parking lot. On hand to greet him were 400 to 500 persons. Santa immediately set up headquarters there in his mobile home, talking to the kids and handing out treats. Sponsored by the Miracle Mile Business Assn., he will be at the center until Christmas.

BEAUTY AND THE BEAST — Mrs. Cecelia Neville shown here with a litter of purebred Yorkshire pigs at her home near Lafayette, Ind., will be the first woman swine judge in the history of the International Livestock Exposition, which opened yesterday in Chicago. Her father, the late Jess C. Andrew, was president of the International from 1951 until his death in 1955.

Oxford Students' Banter Fails to Faze Nixon

OXFORD, England (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon showered kind words on Nelson A. Rockefeller in a bantering exchange with Oxford University students yesterday.

★ ★ ★

He said the wealthy Republican governor-elect of New York will make a splendid governor and would be an excellent campaigner and a fine candidate if nominated for the presidency in 1960.

A chat about money got Nixon's visit off to a good start.

"Mr. Nixon, is it true that you have come here to get a loan?" asked one girl among the 250 students who faced him in a lighthearted question and answer session.

"If anyone has any money," replied Nixon, "I'd like to hear about it."

The students laughed and applauded.

★ ★ ★

Several students then tried a few teasing questions about the Nov. 4 elections and particularly about Rockefeller. The Republican visitor wasn't ruffled.

"New York was one of the bright spots in the elections," he replied. "Nelson Rockefeller is one of the best candidates I have ever seen in public life.

"I think he will make a splendid governor."

★ ★ ★

The answer drew a loud laugh. The students' inference appeared to be that Nixon might not approve him for any other office.

But Nixon quickly added: "If he should get the nomination for the presidency in 1960, he will make an excellent campaigner and fine candidate."

★ ★ ★

The vice president took on the student questioners in a hall at Rhodes House. Standing with him were U.S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney; and the British ambassador to Washington, Sir Harold Caccia.

The vice president was asked how much attention a high American official should pay to public opinion and public polls.

"The official must try to understand public opinion, but he must have the courage to stand against antagnostic public feeling if his conscience directs him to," Nixon said. "The public official must know when to lead, as well as to follow."

★ ★ ★

Nixon described himself to the students as an official with "no great amount of power."

"I preside over the Senate, and President Eisenhower has seen fit to instruct me to preside occasionally over the Cabinet," he said.

"Actually what I have is a seat on the 50-yard line, watching the most exciting game on earth."

The vice president spoke informally with many students. To one British boy, he referred to his difficulty Thursday night when, at the last minute, it was found that he had no tuxedo for his dinner for Queen Elizabeth II.

★ ★ ★

"You're about my size," he told the student. "If I ever get into that trouble again, I'll come to you to borrow some clothes."

After a procession at Rhodes House, Nixon went to University College where he was guest of honor at luncheon. American-born Dr. Arthur L. Goodhart is master of University College.

She Lets Sister Take Own Life

Jury Says Homicide, but Judge Dismisses Charge in Pennsylvania

MEDIA, Pa. (AP)—"I kept my promise."

With those words, spoken quietly and without emotion, white-haired spinster Anne Eldredge, 71, told a Delaware County coroner's jury why she allowed her 77-year-old sister, Irene, to take a lethal dose of sleeping pills last Oct. 16.

★ ★ ★

The jury called Irene's death homicide. A judge dismissed the charge against her sister.

Anne told how her sister, afflicted by severe headaches attempted to take her life four years ago. On that occasion, Anne had her rushed to a hospital in time to save her.

★ ★ ★

"She often rebuked me for doing that and she made me promise not to do it again. I kept my promise."

The sisters, retired school teachers, lived together in nearby Middletown Township. Last month, Miss Eldredge testified, her sister said, "I cannot endure this pain any longer. I am going to take my own life."

★ ★ ★

"I told her it was her life if that was what she wanted to do," said Miss Eldredge.

She told the jury how it came about:

Irene took a large quanity of sleeping pills. Then the sisters kissed.

"Now I am going to my mother and a beautiful restful sleep," said Irene as she settled back on the bed.

★ ★ ★

Anne went into the next room and tried to read.

"I was unable to," she said. "I thought of nothing but my sisters. About 8:30 I returned and held a mirror in front of my sister. About 8:30 I returned and living."

★ ★ ★

The judge said he couldn't "see any homicide in this case. There might have been negligence. I don't think there was a wilful criminal act.

"The defendant is discharged."

Asia's Communist Leaders May Be Plotting New Move

TOKYO (AP) Asia's Communist leaders may be cooking up a new move to test the Western world's defenses and nerves.

★ ★ ★

The strategy may have been laid down in a series of conferences among Mao Tze-tung, Red China's boss, North Korea's Premier Kim Il Sung, and North Viet Nam's President Ho Chi Minh.

Peiping radio has assigned the central role in the talks to Kim, who visited for several days with Mao and other Red Chinese leaders in Wuhan and then journeyed to Viet Nam to meet Ho. The radio said "mutual support" was pledged "against U.S. imperialism."

There has been no other word on the purpose or results of the conferences.

★ ★ ★

But the emphasis on Kim added weight to speculation that if any new move is coming — following the quieting of the Quemoy situation—it might be from North Korea.

Even during the height of the Quemoy crisis, Red Chinese leaders—and the Kremlin—kept propaganda organs harping on Korea.

They called for withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Korea claiming all Red Chinese troops had pulled out from the North. They kept charging South Korean President Syngman Rhee with plotting aggression against the North at American instigation.

South Korean authorities Friday banned all public meetings, claiming they had uncovered a big North Korea subversion plot which they would soon disclose.

★ ★ ★

Some of Rhee's political opponents state, however, this was a cover to force through a bill giving police more power to kill off Rhee's political opposition.

Both the Soviet Union and Red China turned their diplomatic fire on Japan today, warning her against use of American military bases in Japan against Red China. A Soviet note, broadcast from Moscow, said Japan was risking involvement in a war. A Peiping broadcast was similar.

Birthday Cake for Sir Winnie Guarded Secret

LONDON (AP)—A London bakery put the finishing touches to a surprise birthday cake for a distinguished gentleman today.

★ ★ ★

The design of the creation was kept a closely guarded secret — just as it has been for Sir Winston Churchill's last 20 birthdays.

This year's cake for Britain's wartime leader, who celebrates his 84th birthday Sunday, is different from all the rest, according to intelligence leaks.

★ ★ ★

It will be unveiled at a family tea party at Chartwell, Churchil's country home in Kent.

IAM Pays Benefits to Airline Strikers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The International Assn. of Machinists (IAM) has announced it is paying benefits of $35 a week to members on strike against airlines.

Members of the union have walked out at Trans World and Eastern Airlines. Negotiations with other lines are still in progress.

★ ★ ★

IAM Secretary-Treeasurer Eric Peterson said payments from the union's two-million-dollar defense fund began yesterday for mechanics at Trans World. He said those on strike at Eastern would draw benefits starting Dec. 8.

★ ★ ★

Peterson said Capital Airlines mechanics, who settled their strike and returned to work last weekend, will be paid benefits for the last week of their walkout.

Sylvester Melvin, 107 Years Old, Recalls History

GREENFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Sylvester Melvin is 107 years old today.

"Want to live as long as I have? Just keep from dying." He grinned from behind his desk at the Greene County Mutual Fire Insurance Co., where he has been secretary for 59 years.

★ ★ ★

Melvin was born on a Greene County farm in 1851 and although he never wandered far, saw much of history sweep past his door.

He recalls covered wagons heading for St. Louis, Independence, Mo., and points west, Civil War carpet-baggers, and border raiders seeking to elude Missouri law.

As a young man, he did venture to Philadelphia for the Centennial Exposition of 1876. There he witnessed the first public demonstration of Alexander Graham Bell's new device, the telephone.

★ ★ ★

An every-Sunday Methodist, he eschews tobacco and strong drink as plain nuisances.

His wife died at 96 and two sons are dead. He lives with a daughter.

French Vote Sunday for New Assembly

PARIS (AP)—Frenchmen vote Sunday for the National Assembly which will set the new Fifth Republic on its course. Results of last Sunday's first-round voting indicated the new Assembly will lean strongly to the right.

★ ★ ★

In the runoff 426 deputies for European France will be chosen to sit beside the 39 who won majorities in the preliminary round.

Many leading liberal and moderate politicians were knocked out last Sunday, leaving the prospect of an Assembly dominated by the right wing. Premier de Gaulle apparently had hoped for an Assembly of moderates leaning to the left.

★ ★ ★

One of the largest blocs of rightist deputies will come from Algeria, where 66 seats are being filled in one-round elections which began Friday and end Sunday.

$1,500 in Disaster Fund

CHARLEVOIX (AP)—Contributions to the Christmas disaster fund started a week ago by the Charlevoix Junior Chamber of Commerce for families of crewmen lost Nov. 18 in the Lake Michigan sinking of the freighter Carl D. Bradley have passed the $1,500 mark. Don Brown, Jaycee prsident, says responses to the drive have come from throughout the Midwest.

'Belongs . . . Wants to Help'

Former Convict Plans to Aid Prison Chaplain

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A 70-year-old ex-convict released from Southern Michigan Prison recently after serving 26 years for slaying a girl friend says he may return to help the penitentiary chaplain.

The prisoner, David A. Allen, was convicted of killing a girl in Detroit in 1932, and after completing his Michigan prison term was taken to Brooklyn to face a possible manslaughter sentence for the slaying of a girl there in 1925.

But Judge Hyman Barshay of Kings County Court suspended sentence because of Allen's age and his actions during a five-day mutiny of 2,600 inmates of the Jackson, Mich. prison in 1952.

Allen's heroic role in the riot was described in a letter written by the prison chaplain, the Rev. Frank Cahill. The priest said Allen ran food for prisoners who did not join the uprising in which eight guards were held hostage and the prison was terrorized.

Allen, who is visiting his daughter in Albany, said it took him two or three years to find peace of mind at the prison but found prayer the cure for his violent tempeer.

"The more time I found for prayer, the less temper I had," he said. "I knew that all my trouble came from flying off the handle, and that's what I had to overcome."

Allen said that while helping Father Cahill at the prison, he met the Rev. Norman DuKette, who is pastor of the Church of Christ, the King, in Flint.

DuKette asked Allen to become a lay assistant at the Flint Church, a job which would give the ex-convict time to help Father Cahill at the prison. Allen said:

"I feel I belong there—and I'll probably go back."

More Hearings Due on Television Ratings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) said Friday Senate Commerce Committee hearings planned for January will go into the effects of the ratings on TV programming.

The senator said hearings last summer established how the various rating services operate.

The committee now is interested in such questions as whether a high rating for a particular program may lead to monotony in programming by causing all networks to stampede to the same type of show, he said.

The January hearings probably will be held in New York, Monroney said. He is a member of the committee and presided at some of the sessions held last summer.

Drop in Korean Vets Training on GI Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of veterans receiving training under the Korean GI bill has dropped 14 per cent under last fall's total.

★ ★ ★

The Veterans Administration estimated today some 600,000 Korea veterans are in training this fall, about 100,000 less than the 1957 fall enrollment of 703,000.

★ ★ ★

However, more than 400,00 are in colleges and universities, where they make up one out of every six males getting a higher education.

★ ★ ★

VA said the GI college enrollments fairly well held their own while there were big drops in the number of veterans in on-the-job and on-the-farm training.

Insanity Hinted in Hillsdale Case

Student, 18, Being Held for Murder Granted Pretrial Examination

HILLSDALE (AP)—A possible insanity plea has been indicated for a teenaged Hillsdale college football player charged with the bludgeon-murder of his roommate.

★ ★ ★

The youth, Patrick J. Flannery, 18, surrendered to police in Detroit Wednesday and told them he had clubbed to death 21year-old Thomas Neitling of Tecumseh, in a room they shared over an off-campus restaurant in Hillsdale.

★ ★ ★

Flannery was granted a request yesterday for a pretrial examination in Hillsdale Justice Mourt on a first-degree murder charge. The examination date was set tentatively for Dec. 8.

★ ★ ★

At a habeas corpus hearing in Detroit, Flannery's attorney sought the youth's release. This was denied, but Attorney Joseph W. Louisell was granted permission to talk with his client and later hinted to newsmen that an insanity defense is planned. He said:

"I definitely feel there is mental trouble here. I will ask for a psychiatric examination for my client."

★ ★ ★

Flannery, whose home is in Berkley, told police that he beat Neitling over the head with the stock of a 16-gauge shotgun. The slaying occurred after Flannery came home to discover his clothes had been scattered around the hallway.

REFLECTION EDITORIAL MAIL 'EM EARLY

J. L. VOORHEES

You've spent money, time and thought to provide Christmas Cheer for family and friends. You want those gifts to arrive at their destination as attractive as they started and above all else arrive before Christmas. Our Post Office employees work hard to keep your desire in the realm of posibility; your gifts are sent out the same day you mail them — but — between then and their destination are many obstacles. The simple solution is to MAIL 'EM EARLY.

M. E. SIPLE

Our Post Office receives bags and bags of mail; some of it poorly wrapped, some illegible addresses and some in containers smashed to shapelessness; First get a strong box. Second, use strong string and paper. Third, address it legibly with a duplicate address inside.

Help the Post Office to give you the service you want. One good way is to MAIL 'EM EARLY.

P.S. Mail 'em Early is good advice; let us counsel with you regarding funeral procedure is good advice, too.

Congressmen Visiting Berlin

All Three Are Strong for Keeping City Out of Soviet Hands

BERLIN (AP)—Three U.S. congressmen declared today the United States should use "whatever means are necessary" to keep Berlin out of Communist hands.

★ ★ ★

"The one thing they respect is force," Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) told a news conference in West Berlin's City Hall.

Hays' colleagues, Rep. Isidore Dollinger (D-NY) and Rep. Frank Smith (D-Miss), nodded agreement. They said Hays—who acted as spokesman at the conference—expressed their beliefs.

Hays rejected Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposal to turn West Berlin into a demilitarized "free city."

"It's an obvious device to trap somebody," Hays said. "How can a city exist as a free city, surrounded by 15 or 20 Soviet divisions?"

★ ★ ★

The congressmen, accompanied by Rep. Karl LeCompte (R-Iowa), flew into isolated West Berlin today from London. LeCompte did not attend the news conference because he was meeting with Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), who flew here Thursday from Geneva. All came to help convince West Berliners that the United States has not forgotten them.

Hays, a member of the House Foreign Relations Committee, is convinced, he said, that Congress will unanimously back any strong program designed to support the people of West Berlin.

★ ★ ★

He said the Khrushchev plan for Berlin is nothing more than a variation of an old Soviet aim—getting American troops out of Europe. Dollinger chimed in: "I don't think he has changed the words of the song, just the music."

Asked what they thought of U.S. Secretary of State Dulles' statement that the Western powers might be willing to deal with Communist East German border guards, Hays replied he thought Dulles' remark had been "lifted out of context and misinterpreted."

Hays indicated he and his colleagues might not be opposed to the idea either but would prefer to avoid such a situation. He said they believed the Western powers should use whatever methods are the most effective for supplying the military garrisons in West Berlin.

Turning to the free city idea, Hays quipped with a smile: "Why not a free city of Moscow?"

Shortage in Christmas Toys Expected

NEW YORK (AP) — Shop early for Christmas toys this year—or you'll run into shortages.

That is the advice of industry spokesmen who agreed today that the toy and game business will fail to chalk up record sales this year for the first time in nearly two decades.

Despite a late fall rush, they said, sales for 1958 will run about 3 per cent under the record 1957 gross of 1¼ billion dollars.

The reason is that the recession was just striking bottom last spring when toy buyers normally place Christmas orders. Wholesalers hesitated to load up inventories in the face of economic uncertainty.

When business turned up again, toy orders came with a rush but it was too late. Manufacturers had to refuse most of them because even with overtime shifts they couldn't cope with the demand.

Something more than 50 per cent of the year's volume at retail is sold between Thanksgiving and Christmas. This feast-or-famine aspect of the business worries manufacturers and retailers.

Benjamin F. Michtom, chairman of Ideal Toy Corp., the nation's biggest doll and plastic manufacturer, reported the industry's doll sales down about 11 per cent this year. This was counteracted to some degree, he said, by an increase of 20 per cent in sales of plastic toys, compared with last year.

RELIGIOUS DOLL NEW

Ideal this year introduced a religious doll, a replica of the Christ Child in a Nativity setting, produced under guidance of religious leaders and church authorities.

An exception to the downturn this year was reported by Robert B. M. Barton, president of the 75-year-old Parker Bros., the nation's biggest games publisher. Parker sales are running about 10 to 12 per cent ahead of last year.

Parker has a new "Bird Watcher" game this fall but the sales rise stems from "Careers," a game about choosing money, fame and happiness that became a hit. Parker's "Monopoly," with more than 20 million sold, has been a runaway best seller for 20 years.

One segment of the toy industry doing a land-office business includes the manufacturers of toy revolvers, rifles and holsters. Hubley Manufacturing Co. of Lancaster, Pa., maker of an exact replica of the famous Colt 45, has a cap rifle called the "Flip Special" which is an exact replica of the armament of one of the TV western stars.

More than 12 million toy gun and holster sets will be sold by the industry this year, a Hubley spokesman said.

Miniature trucks and autos, second only to dolls and accessories in popularity, will account for 24 million unit sales this year with a retail value of about 60 million dollars, industry sources estimate.

Little more than 10 years ago, electronic-type toys were nonexistent but this year they will account for nearly 50 million dollars in sales.

One of the staples is the Bel-Com intercommunication set, by Bell Products Co. of St. Louis, Mo. It has a loudspeaker and, like the modern telephone, comes in a variety of decorator colors.

Also popular this year are scientific toys, sparked by the International Geophysical Year. These include moon rockets, satellite launchers, atomic cannons and interplanetary missiles.

Testifies at Hearing

Skipper Says 'Bradley' Blew Up Before Sinking

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Capt. Paul Mueller of the S.S. Christian Sartori testified here today that a violent explosion preceded the sinking of the lake freight Carl D. Bradley, which sank in Lake Michigan on Nov. 18 with 33 persons aboard.

In testimony before an investigating board at Ninth District Coast Guard Headquarters here, Capt. Mueller said that when the smoke from the blast cleared, the ship had disappeared.

The steamship skipper said that his ship was about 11 miles southwest of Gull Island, and was heading south toward Chicago, and the Bradley was on an opposite course heading for the Mackinac Straits. The Bradley was "wallowing heavily" and waves were running about 30 feet high from 50 to 60 feet between crests, he said.

When the Sartori was about 3.8 miles from the Bradley, Capt. Mueller said he could see the Bradley's forward lights. "Then I saw the lights begin to go out," he testified. "I watched her for two or three minutes. I saw no indication of her breaking up.

"Suddenly there was an explosion on the Bradley. It seemed to be forward of the engine space and to the rear of the cargo section. It was like a heavy fire—a very bright light. Then it was all dark and the ship was hidden by clouds of black smoke."

★ ★ ★

Under cross-examination by attorney Lee C. Hinslea of the Bradley Transportation Co., owner of the lost vessel, Capt. Mueller said he had taken his position in relation to Gull Island both by visual means and by radar, and said he was north of Boulder Reef.

Hinslea sought to show that in spite of Capt. Mueller's opinion, the Bradley could have hit a reef.

Dems Counting Senate Margin

Predict Control to Last Until 1963 at Least; Alaska Helped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic campaign strategists said today their margin of Senate control is so great it is highly unlikely the Republicans could overturn it before 1963.

★ ★ ★

They added a strong GOP tide would have to be running both in the 1960 and 1962 elections to give the Republicans a chance of taking over Senate leadership even four years hence.

The addition this week of two more Democratic senators from Alaska swelled further the confidence already expressed along those lines by the party's campaign leaders.

The Alaska sweep gave the Democrats 64 senators as against 34 for the Republicans, just two shy of two-thirds.

Although the new Congress will not take office until January, the Senate campaign committees of both parties already are beginning to make their estimates and plans for the congressional voting in 1960.

Unlike 1958, the Democrats will have many more seats at stake in the 32 Senate contests two years hence. But even so, the mathematics of the situation remains favorable to the Democrats.

Of the 21 majority party seats that will be at stake in 1960, 10 are in Southern states where the Republicans often do not even make nominations. Three others are in border states — West Virginia, Oklahoma and New Mexico — which most often are Democratic.

Thus the Democratic strategists argue that they have only eight seats which are in the doubtful column in the next election.

If they should lose all these they still would have 56 senators in the 87th Congress, or six more than enough for control.

On the other hand, the Democratic campaign leaders say that every one of the 11 GOP seats to be contested in 1960 is a battleground. They do concede that Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) will be hard to beat although they captured the other Senate seat in her state this year with Gov. Edmund S. Muskie and won the governorship.

Teenage Thief Goes to Prison to Learn ABCs

NEW YORK (AP)—A teen-aged auto thief who got into the ninth grade without learning how to read or write was sent to prison today after his own lawyer suggested the youth might learn something there.

Brooklyn Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz, sentencing George Jarvis to an indefinite term of up to five years, commented:

"It's a shocking situation when a judge is asked by a defendant's attorney to send a youth to jail so he can learn to read and write. Here's another tragic example of the illiteracy of so many of the students who are pushed along, promoted year after year, without learning the rudiments of the three Rs."

Jarvis' attorney, Thomas P. Lentini, said the Brooklyn youth had learned only to write his name. He said the boy's illiteracy contributed to a delinquency record which includes two arrests for burglary and a term in the New York State Training School for Boys.

Pays $25 Drunk Fine; Gets Off Bike Charge

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—Lester O. Green, Menlo Park machinist, has cleared himself of a charge of drunk driving on a bicycle.

Green acted as his own attorney Friday when he argued in Municipal Court that a bicycle is not a vehicle under the state code which defines a vehicle as self-propelled.

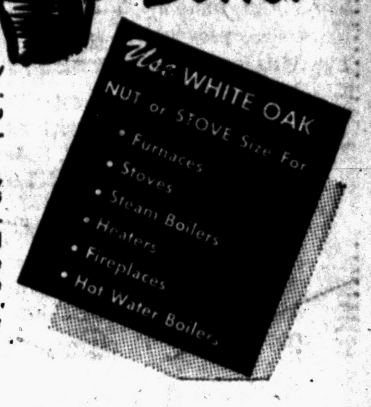

Judge Edward J. Ryan agreed and dismissed the $263 fine and bail money posted on the drunk driving charge, but fined Green $25 for being drunk in a public place.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It Seems to Me . . . .

Prospects of American Future Are Almost Beyond Belief

Last Saturday I was privileged to hear five national authorities discuss courses of study for MSUO pupils when the institution opens. Their ideas were provocative and stimulating. This was one of four such panels.

A startling statement that wasn't concerned solely with education came from Erwin H. Schell, Massachusetts Institute of Technology who said:

"The DuPont Company declares that ten years from now, 90 per cent of its production will center on things OF WHICH IT HAS NO INKLING TODAY."

That's almost incredible.

It defies analysis.

Actually that statement is breath-taking and challenging beyond words.

★ ★ ★

DuPont officials feel that the modern research laboratories are coordinated and fruitful far, far beyond anything known before. "Thousands of research centers all across the nation," said SCHELL, "are developing so many wonderful new ideas that we can look ahead to a tremendously accelerated world." This is an exciting and promising picture.

★ ★ ★

It's stimulating to listen to forward looking, analytical and shrewdly intelligent citizens who are forever probing beyond the horizon. As Boss Kettering said so many times: "Never mind the past. Let's concentrate on the future. That's where we're all going to live."

★ ★ ★

Dean GEORGE L. BACH, of Carnegie Tech, declared that now — as never before — we must be open-minded, alive and receptive to new ideas. A new and as yet unexplored world lies ahead. Unless we are keenly aware of the progress and how it affects us, we will be swept aside and left in the dwindling wake of a speeding universe. This is no time to dilly-dally. This is no time to yawn and act complacent.

★ ★ ★

We're on the threshold of a Tremendous Tomorrow. We await the dawn of brilliant achievement in all lines and in all places. The race will go to the swift and the alert and those that are prepared and trained for the new tempo.

★ ★ ★

Also, the idea was developed that the term "profit motive" was falling into disrepute. Socialists and the foes of our form of government have tried to make these "bad words." And yet, the economic success of America results from the "profit motive." Without that, there would be few jobs. Retrogression would set in swiftly. Who would offer employment when capital was in constant jeopardy with no hope of a return?

★ ★ ★

Figures released this week show the profits in all department stores in the country averaged 5.6 per cent before taxes. This is a very, very small price to pay for all the services they rendered. It's less than three per cent, after Federal taxes.

★ ★ ★

We have the greatest economy in the world. No nation has ever provided so many possessions for so many people. Our citizens stand supreme, and the "profit motive" is the basis of the most successful economy of all.

★ ★ ★

Some say: "Let the State do it." That's O.K. if you want socialism or communism. But the operation of everything the State undertakes is appreciably more expensive and done at a greater cost than private business. And initiative is stifled. Progress ends.

★ ★ ★

Let's continue to race ahead. Let's make it possible for DuPont and others to continue with their tremendous research and the resulting contributions to the material progress and advancement of all mankind.

And in Conclusion . . . . . .

THEODORE HOUSER, Chairman emeritus of Sears Roebuck was one of the five distinguished MSUO panelists and I found he was a good friend of Pontiac's own FRANK LYNDALL. They were together a month in South America . . . . . "Skoop": BOB FELLER may replace MEL OTT . . . . . Brown's, in New York's East 61st Street, has a glamorous hostess six feet five . . . . . The prez of Florida's Tropical Park says the new jets make it possible for the horsy set to leave New York, watch the afternoon card at his Florida Track and be home the same day.

★ ★ ★

Purely personal nomination for an unusually attractive young lady: our own Norma Jean Finningsdorf . . . . . Chatted with John S. Knight, newspaper leader, at the Lions-Bear game. Since he has homes in both cities, John could view proceedings with equanimity . . . . . The current piano playing sensation is Ruth Slenczynska, who after an absence of years, has the critics talking to themselves . . . . . A New York TV station is trying to arrange the broadcast of a bull fight.

★ ★ ★

"Masquerade" stands as one of the most unorganized TV shows on the air. None of the panelists seems very sure of what to say, and M. C. PARKS is no particular help to them or the guests. It needs tightening badly . . . . . Sign in Brooklyn barber shop: "Hair cuts, 60c." Across the street is another shop with the sign: "We repair 60c haircuts—75c." . . . . . RUTH and ED ROTHMAN celebrated their wedding anniversary concurrently with THELMA and ERNIE BREECH the other evening at ROTHMAN'S new home. And what a chateau that new ROTHMAN place is! Wheeeeee! . . . . . I hope everyone read JIMMY HAMPTON'S ad in Thursday's PRESS on page seven, section "C."

—HAROLD A. FITZGERALD

"WHAT to do about the feeble-minded in the U.S. is a difficult problem," says a sociologist. Yes, indeed. And voting some of them into office or putting them on public payrolls is no solution.

"INFLATION is mostly psychological," says NIXON. All we know is that this psychological situation is keeping us broke.

DEMOCRATS will fight Republicans when necessary, but they don't enjoy doing so nearly so much as they do scrapping one another.

LOS ANGELUS had every right to complain about fallout from atomic bomb explosions, as mixing radioactivity to that smog might well be comparable to adding that last straw to the camel's back.

MOTORISTS in the biggest hurry are those who are going nowhere in particular to do nothing of consequence.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

All day long the phone kept ringing in the Chico, Calif., home of William Gardenhire, a 71-year-old retired highway worker.

"Hello," the eager voices asked, "is this Santa Claus?"

Gardenhire wasn't Santa Claus, although he later wished he had been. Protesting to the telephone company, he learned that his wires had been crossed with a special Junior Chamber of Commerce connection set up to take Santa Claus calls from children.

Then Gardenhire began to think about his unique experience and what it had meant to him. In a letter to the Chico Enterprise Record, he wrote: "It has been many years since two little arms were around my neck and a trusting voice confided to me all the things he wanted me to get him for Christmas.

"If we as adults had a fraction of the faith in God as these children have in Santa Claus, there would never be any need for armies and navies and we would never fear H-bombs. I want to apologize to the children for not being Santa, but most of all I want to thank them for renewing my faith in God."

Two-Time Loser But Still A Hero

GOP Rings Bell for Bagwell in '60

By GEORGE WEEKS

LANSING (UPI) — Paul D. Bagwell is a two-time loser but he's still the conquering hero among Republicans.

He lost by 32,010 votes when he ran for auditor general in 1956. He lost to Gov. G. Mennen Williams by about 147,000 Nov. 4.

However, both times he was the strongest man on the GOP state ticket in the face of Democratic sweeps. And he gave Gov. Williams his closest race in three elections.

As a result, Bagwell is the titular leader of the state GOP and its strongest contender for governor in 1960.

With a 1959 spring election and another full two-year term by Williams yet to come (he'll be sworn into his sixth term Jan. 1), it may seem premature to ring the bell for Bagwell for 1960.

But that's what Republicans are doing these days.

A permanent statewide organization to boom Bagwell for governor in 1960 will be formed tomorrow in Lansing. A "Salute to Bagwell" dinner is scheduled here Dec. 12.

The polio-crippled ex-professor, who returns to the state payroll Monday as director of scholarships at Michigan State University, says he will "shoulder my responsibility" to the party, although he says he has no plans for 1960.

The plans are being made for him.

Bagwell Booster clubs from Western Michigan met Nov. 16 in Grand Rapids to make plans for tomorrow's meeting.

Dr. Louis E. May, Howell, who described himself as a "Jeffersonian Democrat," was named temporary president of the group. William Van Duzen, Scottville, was named temporary secretary.

"We are cohesive to the party but not identified with it," Van Duzen said.

Planners for the Bagwell dinner also say they represent "Paul's friends," not the Party organization.

"We want to express our appreciation to him for his gallant fight and to declare him Michigan's man of the year," said John Feikens, former Republican state chairman.

Bagwell's friends include most of the top party officials.

Most of the party bigwigs are on the arrangements committee for the dinner.

There's a notable exception — U.S. Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, Flint auto dealer and a one-time GOP state chairman whose views differ with those of Fiekens.

The dinner is being planned against a background of reports that Summerfield may try to assume personal control of the Michigan party.

Any power bid by Summerfield, representative of the more conservative elements of the party, would be viewed as a challenge to the leadership of state chairman Lawrence B. Lindemer.

By beating the drums for Bagwell, his supporters can build support that would protect them from a power bid by Summerfield.

Performs Tonsillectomy on a 'Wholesale' Basis

"Our doctor will remove the tonsils of our four children for practically what it would cost for one, if they all have the operation at the same time . . . (Mrs. C.K.A.)"

DR. BRADY

Answer — Evidently you regard tonsillectomy as a necessity, like clothing and shelter. If his price is more than $1.50 apiece, tell him you'll decide later —you know, keep him dangling. "Cut-throat" competition will probably bring an offer from another operator to commit the atrocity free of charge, provided you give him permission to print a piece about it in the papers, together with his name and office address.

★ ★ ★

"How many calories in the iodin ration? In the calcium capsules? (W.M.D.)"

Answer— None.

★ ★ ★

"Cold sores on my lips every so often. Doctor says only shots will prevent . . . (Mr. C.D.)"

Answer—Try Virgie's remedy: Gently apply to spot fingertip moistened with vinegar in which penny has stood for a while, a dozen or more times in the day. I know of no remedy that is necessarily given by injection.

"Recently you implied that yogurt is fine if one likes it but is in no way superior to naturally soured or curdled milk as a food. Difficult to prove either way, perhaps, but Adelle Davis. (E.W.G.)"

Answer—Anyway, you won't go wrong following the advice of Adelle Davis.

"We eat home made wheat bread, drink at least a pint of milk a day, eat meat, fruit and vegetables every day, and wife, I and two children drink a quart of orange juice, made from frozen concentrated orange juice. Do we still need vitamins and minerals in addition to what we get from our diet? (E.J.)"

Answer—If the bread is made of plain wheat from which nothing has been removed, your diet probably supplies all the vitamins and minerals you need. Any fresh fruit or fruit juice in season is as good or better than canned orange juice.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Disinterested Wife Invites Trouble

Larry blames his wife for "sins of omission" as regards their sex life. And he has a lot of logic on his side, for most divorces start in the bedroom. And those supposedly innocent wives are often 50 per cent to blame when their mates get infatuated with girls at the office. Scrapbook this case and send for the sex booklet below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Z-384: Larry W., aged 45, is the erring husband mentioned yesterday. Listen to his side of the marital problem:

★ ★ ★

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane," Larry began, "Irene thinks she is 100 per cent innocent and that I am entirely at fault because of this affair with a girl at my office.

"But Irene has been guilty of those sins of omission that you have talked about

"Oh, I freely admit she is a wonderful housekeeper and has certainly been a model mother for our children.

"But a man doesn't get married just for a housekeeper and mother in the house.

"It is romance and physical affection that causes the average fellow to pick a wife, and he expects her to realize that fact.

"Irene has rebuffed my ardent advances so many times that I have grown so angry I have actually felt like strangling her.

"After my initial ire wore off, I just grew disinterested in her and thus we shifted to twin beds and a rather platonic existence.

"The children seem to preoccupy her full attention, and I think she has been quite content with this arrangement the past few years.

★ ★ ★

"But I haven't. If I had wished a platonic existence, I never would have married her in the first place."

LOVE MENU

Wives, please listen to Larry's logical complaint, for many of you are in the same boat with Irene, yet hardly dream of such a thing!

Get hep! While you wives are basically maternal creatures and can feel fairly content while expending your affection on your children, your husbands are not equally happy in such a semi-platonic situation.

A truly happy marriage can be compared to a well balanced dinner menu.

★ ★ ★

Men are noted for their fondness for meat and potatoes as the main item on the menu.

In matrimony, men look upon physical affection as the "meat and potatoes" of their erotic menu.

You wives may place a lot of stress on the so-called frills, such as your house and its furnishings, as well as your children, PTA and other obligations.

But never for one moment forget the meat and potatoes of your erotic menu!

★ ★ ★

For most divorces start in the bedroom. And are at least 50 per cent due to a wife's sins of omission.

MALE PSYCHOLOGY

Men were created by God Almighty to demand far more gas-gastric calories than women.

Wives can thus be content on 2,500 calories of food whereas their mates will probably demand 3,500 or even 4,000. And you wives admit that difference between the sexes.

In fact, you even tantalize your husbands with new recipes so they eat more than they need and thus tend to grow fat after the age of 30.

★ ★ ★

Well, God also made males to demand far more erotic nourishment than wives. I have often told you that Biblical Jacob thus had two wives, Rachel and Leah, plus their two handmaidens.

Nowadays, monogamy is far superior to polygamy. But the normal male is geared to the demands of polygamy. He needs a small harem.

So a successful modern wife must function as a one-wife harem. And if she doesn't, like Irene, she unwittingly invites some other woman to poach on her territory!

So send for my booklet "Sex Differences between Men and Women," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). Use it to keep your marriage permanently happy.

★ ★ ★

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 6c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Davisburg Man Discusses Topic of Farm Problems

There are no push button answers to farming, but penalty for failing to find them is more severe than ever before. We only know that survival, both physical and spiritual, depends on the will to know the nature of this world and it's this enterprise of exploration that farmers should be committed to. Farmers must have equal opportunity for equal rewards.

★ ★ ★

This country can't afford to let farm income slide. Farmers' inequitable income opportunities are the result of evils of the "present kind of farm price support program." But to expect farmers to prosper if left to the mercies of free competition would be disastrous.

★ ★ ★

The present voting on corn referendum is a choice between new and old evils. The new program abolishes cmopletely the principle of keeping supply in balance with demand.

Leonard Freund

Davisburg

Comes to Rescue of U.S. Manhood

Just a minute, Pat. I don't know what man or men gave you a raw deal but if you're harboring a grudge because of a bad romance, grow up. It happens to everyone, but that doesn't make all men bad.

★ ★ ★

Maybe 125,000 men do leave home, but that's only one-third of one per cent of all married men — not a bad average. And who's to say how many women do the same thing or how many foreign men leave their wives? What good are statistics without something to compare them with?

★ ★ ★

As for married men asking girls out, some girls just seem to attract that type. Have you ever noticed how the same girls are always fighting off married men, while other very attractive girls with plenty of single dates seem to have no trouble that way?

★ ★ ★

However, I'm sure Pat will have no worries about any of these things. With an attitude like hers, I'm sure even the undesirable types can find more pleasant company.

American Men Are the Greatest

'These Items May Have Lost Votes'

Concerning Republican reverses in the last election, many people think we should reduce foreign aid and keep our resources for future generations. And maybe the farm problem has affected the city vote, the sentiment being that farmers have been subsidized long enough by so many billions of dollars.

★ ★ ★

Many feel it's futile to spend so much to reach the moon. Taxpayers want to know why that money isn't used to lower the public debt or reduce taxes. Why develop nuclear weapons if our statesmen urge other countries to abstain from these same weapons?

We should stop bragging and exposing methods of warfare which let the enemy know what we're doing. Experience shows if an invention is known to be effective, other men can improve on it, perhaps to our loss. Another point to consider is the almost daily crashing of armed forces planes with terrible loss of life. But a President can't force any measure for the public good with strong opposition in Congress. Had I not been a rock-ribbed Republican, the above-mentioned items could have influenced me.

Eye to the Future

'Why Do They Get Two Senators?'

I opposed Alaska's entry to the Union and still do. They've just had an election and a tiny fraction of the voters in Oakland County turned out and yet they rate two U.S. Senators all to themselves. That's the same number we have for the entire State of Michigan with millions of people. The City of Pontiac alone deserves two U.S. Senators more than Alaska. Those Eskimos and Indians up there are certainly well-represented.

Plan Party for Aged at St. Elizabeth Home

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

Members of the Briarbank Society of St. Elizabeth Home for the Aged are just as enthusiastic about the annual Christmas party they're planning Dec. 16 for residents of the home as they were when they gave the first party 17 years ago.

Besides serving a delicious meal to the residents, all of which is donated annually by The Kingsley Inn, the society presents each one with a gift.

★ ★ ★

Club members provide entertainment and supervise games during the observance. Scrapbooks of pictures tell a story of happiness over the years.

Recently the society arranged to have several hairdressers come to the home and give each elderly lady a new hairstyle. We arrived when the hair dryers were buzzing, and really thrilled at the happiness manifested.

★ ★ ★

We watched the ladies take an extra peek in the mirror as they patted their new coiffures. Their eyes as well as verbal thanks told how much they appreciate those members of Briarbank.

★ ★ ★

Begun 17 years ago by Mrs. James Vernor, the society has continued to give year-round assistance to the home through benefit parties and dances.

ACTIVE MEMBERS

Active members of the society are Mrs. Theodore F. MacManus, Mrs. Charles P. Kleinsmith, Mrs. John J. Ellwood Jr., Mrs. John S. Mahony, Mrs. James G. Shannon Jr., Mrs. James Q. Goudie, Mrs. Walter Williams, Mrs. Harwood Bacon, Mrs. Ralph Polk and Mrs. Everell Fisher.

Other active members are Mrs. George Baldwin, Mrs. Dwight Allen, Mrs. Gary MacKenzie, Mrs. Raymond Lawlor, Mrs. John MacManus and Mrs. John Reid.

Three members of the Briarbank Society of the St. Elizabeth Home for the Aged in Bloomfield Hills read a copy of the letter sent to area residents asking aid for residents of the home. The members who each year help with benefit projects are, left to right, Mrs. John B. Hammond, Mrs. Charles P. Kleinsmith and Mrs. Theodore F. MacManus.

'Whip Up' Party Decor Quickly, Inexpensively

Holiday parties are just around the corner. Adults and youngsters can whip up inexpensive decorations with a rotary beater using soap suds.

Mix and whip a handful of packaged soap or detergent with a little water. Experiment with amounts.

A stiff, meringue-like consistency forms snow drifts while snowballs and snowmen require a thicker mixture.

The Briarbank Society does many things to aid those living in the home. A recent project was to give every resident a hair-styling. Robbie Tucker has completed setting and combing a new hair style given this resident of the home. Miss Tucker obtained stylists and supplies as donations to the home.

A princess cap of pearl-tipped satin petals held her tiered veil of silk illusion and she carried a semi-cascade of phalaenopsis, orchids and stephanotis accented with pearls.

★ ★ ★

Charlotte Osmun was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. George Catlin of Oakmont, Pa., Marjorie Swanson of Vassar and Nancy Walser of Birmingham.

Spiritual Values Count High

Friends, Interests Bring 'Gold' to Golden Years

By MARIE DAERR

LONDON, England—Owning the longest car on the block won't guarantee you happiness in your later years.

But 80-year-old Dame Kathleen Courtney, a tiny, energetic Englishwoman, has no doubt about what DOES put the gold into the golden years.

★ ★ ★

Just a few minutes' conversation with this diminutive octogenarian, who recently flew home to London after an extensive lecture tour in the eastern United States, convinces one Dame Kathleen knows what she is talking about.

What are the things Dame Kathleen, an expert on world affairs, considers important?

FRIENDS IMPORTANT

"Friends," she said, "and not all from my own age group.

"I'm going to be realistic. It's sad but true that when you are 80 not many of your old schoolmates are around.

"I've made friends in younger age groups. They keep me young because they are looking forward to the future instead of backward at the past.

"All my life, I've been so interested in other people I have not had time to think about myself.

"The fanciest TV set in the world isn't going to keep you from being lonely. But having a genuine concern about other people will do the trick.

★ ★ ★

"Speaking of TV, being in America has made me wonder about today's emphasis on material things. It seems to me too many people are convinced they can't possibly exist without every product they see or hear advertised."

Dame Kathleen — that title, given her by Queen Elizabeth, is equivalent to "knight" — is thankful for health. Slender and bright-eyed, she thinks that looking after your physical "machine" while you are young pays off in later years.

PLENTY OF PEP

"I can give a lecture at noon, be interviewed in the afternoon, attend a dinner party and then be on hand before nine the next morning for a talk to a school assembly," said Dame Kathleen. "And I'm young enough to be planning a jet flight for my next trip across the ocean."

Sleeping Tablet Can't Provide Glow of Health

A sleeping pill is not the way to beauty. If you have trouble sleeping at night, don't form this insidious habit. Instead, cut down on your nighttime activities.

Give up the late movies on television, cut down on coffee, tak a hot bath to soak out tension and drink a glass of warm milk. See to it that your bedroom is both dark and quiet.

★ ★ ★

These simpler remedies actually do work if they're given a chance. And the sleep that results is more healthful and therefore more beneficial to your good looks.

Even Watches Are Accenting Empire Fashion

Now, they're making watch pins to accent the empire line of fashion. And they're designed in whimsical ways to make the matter of telling time an amusing affair.

★ ★ ★

The influence of the lifted waistline in suits as well as dresses has been the inspiration for this whole new series of fashion timepieces, and Swiss watchmakers have shown versatile ways in meeting this upward trend.

★ ★ ★

Watches that are much more than watches — actually they are pieces of precious jewelry — are taking over to adorn the empire line. Often times made of rare stones, they're fashioned into shapes that charm the eye.

Some Detergents Don't

Be Kind and Pamper Your Hands

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The woman who does her own housework must give her hands faithful care because they are exposed to so many new detergents and other cleaning chemicals. Even with modern appliances she has her hands in water several hours each day.

Surveys have shown that dermatitis of the hands has increased greatly with the advent of detergents. When the hands are in water for long periods or in contact with strong chemicals, the outer horny, protective layer of skin may erode, leaving the next layer exposed. This delicate tissue is susceptible to irritation and infection.

Many women do not yet realize how many different kinds of work gloves now are available. These come in all lengths and thicknesses. Some are non-skid while others may be thick or extremely sheer. You even can buy them in colors to match your kitchen.

The regular use of these gloves is most important. You should also avoid very hot water as much as possible. Naturally the use of a hand lotion several times daily is essential. There also are some lotions which coat the hands with a protective film.

The habit of creaming the hands well and sleeping in a pair of the little hand mitts especially designed for this will make a big difference in the softness of the hands. This should be done two or three times a week in cold weather, or when the hands are used rather roughly in housework.

With all of the new products which constantly stream onto the market, it is wise to remember that many women are allergic to one or more. In other words if you get a severe dermatitis of the hands, this may be the cause. Some women also experience swelling about the eyes or face.

* * *

Until you try them it is unbelievable how great a difference small beauty routines can make if they are indulged in regularly.

There are some lotions which coat the hands with a protective film.

Remember Etiquette in Stores

NEW YORK—To make the most of a shopping excursion, mind your manners. So says an article in a national magazine which outlines the following shopping etiquette: When a saleslady asks, "May I help you?" answer graciously. If you just want to look, she won't trouble you further.

* * *

Handle merchandise gently. Wrecking havoc with a rack of clothes, then sweetly asking for a "fresh dress," will sour the sweetest salesperson.

* * *

Be patient when a store is crowded. "Pushing" will get you nowhere—except the top of the store unpopularity list.

* * *

More tips to keep your customer rating high: keep clothes clear of your lipstick and leave giggly girl friends home.

Though Glass

Tree Ornaments Sturdy

Remember how very fragile tree ornaments were not too long ago? Not so, today, for modern, machine-made ornaments can be dropped on your carpet without danger of breakage or shattering.

* * *

The first glass Christmas tree ornaments were handmade and originated about a hundred years ago in the little glassmaking town of Lauscha in Central Germany.

* * *

These early decorations were brought to America by families migrating from Germany and England, who included them among their prized possessions. Later they were imported for sale, and eventually copies by Japanese and Czechoslovakian makers to be sent all over the world.

* * *

This year, over one billion ornaments will be hung on the nation's yule trees. Many of them will be made on a ribbon machine which was originally developed to make electric light globes at the rate of more than 2,000 per minute.

* * *

When the ornaments are first formed they are of clear glass. They are silvered on the inside, then lacquered in many colors on the outside. Stripes and gay decorations are applied next, and a catch is fastened into the ornament for ease in hanging.

Tip Off a Few Friends

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am a young man in the early thirties and quite stout. I have a gland condition and no amount of of dieting helps me to lose weight. My friends are forever riding me about this and I am the butt of all their jokes. I always took this ribbing very lightly and even joined good-temperedly in their laughter. I thought by doing this they would soon get tired and stop.

* * *

"However, it did not work out that way and I am getting fed up with their having fun at my expense. They seem to forget that I have feelings too. Will you please tell me what I can do to put an end to this without being rude?"

Answer: I think if you tell a few of those who you know best frankly how you feel that they will come to your aid and check it. Probably very few realize it is a medical situation and not an indulgence of appetite.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When three young couples go to a movie and have to wait for seats, should the men let the girls take the first avalable seats or does each man sit with the girl he has brought?"

Answer: If they are not married, each man would certainly want to sit with his own girl friend. But if they are married, the men would more than likely offer the first seats to the women and wait until others are available for themselves.

Spadea's american designer pattern

Here, Jo Copeland artfully shapes the middy top that skims the waist and stops just short of the hipbone. Of great importance in this two-piece dress is the designer's subtle handling of ribbed fabric, contrasting with a smooth textured collar. The skirt is slim and straight.

Perfect for fabrics that are striped in texture or design — striped or ribbed cottons, rayons, silks and woolens, faille, wool jersey. From this size chart select the one size best for you.

Sizes	Bust	Waist	Hips Inches	Length From Nape of Neck to Waist
8	32	23	34	16¼
10	34	24	34	16½
12	35	25	36	16¾
14	36½	26½	37½	17
16	38	28	39	17¼
18	40	30	41	17½

Let's Give Teenagers Credit That's Coming

By RUTH MILLETT

There's so much talk today about what's wrong with teenagers maybe we ought to stop now and then to consider what's good about them.

* * *

They're franker with adults than we were at their age. It isn't that we didn't know as much about the world and its ways as they do. It's just that we thought we weren't supposed to know and so played dumb when adults were around.

They aren't afraid to defend their own opinions. We held ours just as stubbornly — but we kept still instead of arguing when adults told us "That will be enough out of you."

They are more charitable toward each other than we were. If a girl made a false step when we were young she was an outcast. Now a girl's contemporaries stand by her if she makes a tragic mistake.

Today's teenagers are far less pretentious where money matters are concerned. A boy today doesn't hesitate to tell a girl exactly how much money he has in his pocket when they start out on a date, or to confess that he can't afford a movie and a hamburger. It has to be either, or.

Today's teen-age girls may seem lacking in ambition — but what they already know they want out of life, a husband, a home, and a family is what our generation was glad to settle for, too — once we had a fling at a career.

And you've got to hand it to them. They've turned the awkward age into an age of poise and self-assurance. They are growing up without nearly so many growing pains.

So let's give them credit where credit is due.

Inflation makes money worthless, but a lot of people still won't have a lot to worry about.

Dear Abby . . .

Minister With Worries Advised to Look for Strength in Gospel

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I have been interested in the number of occasions on which you advise some person who is in difficulty to see his minister. In fact, I sometimes wonder what you would tell a minister who needed advice. A minister isn't God. He only works for HIM, and ministers have their problems too. To whom would you send a minister? Yours truly."

ABBY

MINISTER

DEAR MINISTER: A minister must seek strength for himself from the same resources he prescribes for others. He will find it in the Gospel he preaches.

* * *

"DEAR ABBY: I have been married 27 years, and of average intelligence and think I am broadminded, but why does this problem bother me when it doesn't seem to bother anybody else? We have friends who have made a fortune in the junk business (they call it 'scrap') and now they have a beautiful home filled with 'art' which I can't even look at without blushing.

"There are pictures of naked ladies and statues of naked men and ladies wrapped up in each other. I don't mind naked children, but I can't look at naked adults in mixed company. I refuse to go to these people's home, and my husband says I am either evil-minded or not grown up. Am I in the wrong?"

BLUSHING

DEAR BLUSHING: Evil (like beauty) lies in the mind of the beholder. Go, but don't give these embarrasing objects a glance or a second thought. Museums, art galleries and even churches have dealt in nakedness for centuries. These are the bare facts.

* * *

"DEAR ABBY: I am 10 years old and not very smart in school. But smart enough to know what that teenager meant about her fat sloppy mother. My dear mother was once everything this girl said her mother was. About 20 months ago I came home from school and found my mother lying on the floor. She didn't know anything. She was in the hospital for weeks. She had too much sugar. And now she has to take a shot before meals.

"She weighed over 200 pounds. But now she weighs 130. She is neat and clean and sweet as she can be. Abby, underneath all the sloppy fat was the most wonderful mother in all the world. I couldn't sleep last night for thinking about this. I beg this girl to take her mother to a doctor."

10-YEAR-OLD FRIEND

* * *

"DEAR ABBY: My brother recently got married because he had to. She didn't find him until she was in her fifth month, but anyway, that's their business. She is 24 and my brother is 27 and they are both old enough to know better than to advertise the fact that they've been married such a short time. They gave a party and invited all our friends to celebrate their ONE-MONTH anniversary and here she was way out in front. I was embarrassed to death. How can people be so shameless? How can I keep her from disgracing me further?"

ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: She is disgracing only herself. People know that you are NOT your brother's keeper, even if he needs one.

Turpentine Mix Removes Wax

An excellent way to remove old wax is to mix three tablespoons of raw linseed oil and one tablespoon of turpentine to one quart of hot water. Wipe it on, remove the excess and wipe dry. After wood is thoroughly dry, give a new coat of wax.

This does a better job if hot. Keep it that way by placing the container in a pan of hot water.

Colorful Hats Fun to Wear

The radiant, inspiring hues of stained glass make this year's hats unforgettable.

Bright shades, splashed with sunlight and deep, hushed hues shadowed with black offer many individual opportunities to express your personality, complement your own coloring and coordinate with the newest clothes.

Texture interest in felts and fabrics enriches these cathedral colors. The "soft 'n lofty" look is expressed in hats of airspun wools, silky velours, brilliant plumage and colored furs. For contrast, many of these new hats are made of highly polished soleils, satins and panne velvets.

These lively colors in hats are as "basic" to your new wardrobe as a plain black hat used to be — and much more fun.

A ruby red hat, for example, may not only be matched to a costume of that shade and used to highlight blacks, navys and grey, but also looks just "made for" a purple tweed with tiny ruby flecks or a jewel-toned paisley.

Confident Living

We Owe Our Freedom to Courage of Pioneers

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

This is Thanksgiving weekend. Thanksgiving Day itself has already passed and, in millions of homes across the nation, we are eating the familiar leftover turkey dishes prepared from the turkeys most of us eat to mark the occasion.

DR. PEALE

Have you ever tasted wild turkey? It's good to eat, but you won't find much meat on the bones, and if you're hungry there won't be anything left over for turkey hash.

Well, no one knows whether or not the Pilgrims, when they celebrated that first Thanksgiving Day more than three hundred years ago, ate turkey. But, if they did, it was wild turkey—and we do know that they were hungry enough so there certainly was no leftover problem.

Thanksgiving left some thoughts in my mind which I would like to share with you. Let's call them "Thanksgiving leftover thoughts" if you please.

I often wish I could know more about the Pilgrims and what they were really like. There were only 121 of them to start with. By the next spring, they had buried husbands, wives and children in this inhospitable wilderness and only 53 remained, half of them children. And, on these 53 people was placed the burden of building what became a great colony, a great commonwealth and a great country.

THEY WERE TOUGH

Apparently they had strong tough minds and could take criticism (and maybe they needed some straight talk, too, as we all do at times). In 1622 there was published in London a sermon preached to them in those early days. These are the words the Pilgrims heard in their church one Sunday.

"This country is yet raw, the land untilled, the cities not builded, the cattle not settled. Paul said that men in the last days shall be lovers of themselves. But here it is yet but the first days and, as it were, the dawning of this new world. It is now therefore no time for men to look to get riches, to have clothes, to have dainty fare, but to look to present necessities.

"It is now no time to pamper the flesh, live at ease, snatch fats, scrape and pull and hoard up, but rather to open the doors, the checks and vessels and say, 'Brother, neighbor and friend, what would ye?'"

They had hard tasks and their survival wasn't easy, but yet they had true gratitude to God. And so they felt it proper to set aside a day of thanksgiving. Think how much more each of us has to be thankful for in this modern day. Not only riches, clothes and dainty fare far beyond the wildest dreams of the Pilgrims; but a great country, firm on the foundation they built.

We need to remind ourselves not only of Thanksgiving but the day after and every day thereafter that no people have ever been blessed as has the American nation. Every day of the year we ought to bow our heads and give thanks for the privilege of living in a land of opportunity and freedom.

This country may have its faults, and there are always those who spend their time enumerating them. There are indeed things that need correcting. But as for me I will never get over appreciating that I can live out my life in the United States. Such a thanksgiving leftover I hope will stay with us always.

Take heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them: otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven.

Apply Christian Concepts to Life's Work, Men Told

"The lawyer, farmer, real estate man, union organizer, football coach—all have a chance to apply Christian concepts to their life work," a group of United Church Men was told recently in Columbus, Ohio.

The organization is a general department of the National Council of Churches.

More than 60 laymen in these and other vocations heard National Council President Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg declare that the main work of the Christian layman is not as church usher or church board chairman.

"Important as these jobs are," he said, "their real job is to take the faith of the church into the working world."

Dr. Dahlberg also stressed the need for unity, as did other speakers. "Churchmen have no choice but to unite," UCM General Director Samuel J. Patterson Jr. said, "if they are to become instruments of Christian influence."

The leadership program of the U.S. Navy was described to the group by Commander F. L. Garrett, who noted that hundreds of sailors have volunteered as lay leaders to units without chaplains.

"They are eager to transfer their religious convictions into action," he reported, "and the Navy's program of Bible study and discussion groups is reaching many men who have never taken part in religious programs of any kind."

The commander added that groups of United Church men have a first rate opportunity to assist in this work.

Now also when I am old and grayheaded, O God, forsake me not; until I have showed thy strength unto this generation, and thy power to every one that is to come.

Rowleys to Speak on Temperance

Dr. and Mrs. L. G. Rowley of Drayton Plains will be the speakers at the 7 p.m. service Sunday in the First Church of the Brethren. The subject will be "Temperance."

President of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of the State of Michigan, Mrs. Rowley recently was elected vice president of the national organization.

Special music will be provided by the choir. The Rev. Leroy W. Shafer, pastor, said the public is invited.

Choose you this day whom ye will serve . . . as for me and my house, we will serve Jehovah.

★ ★ ★

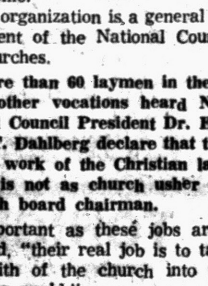

For if ye forgive men their trespasses, you heavenly Father will also forgive you.

Son Confesses Slaying Family

Police Find 3 Bodies in Kansas City Home After Phone Call

WOLCOTT, Kan. (AP)—A strapping sophomore from the University of Kansas shot and killed his parents and his sister Friday night. Surrendering, he insisted he didn't know why he did it.

★ ★ ★

Lowell Lee Andrews, 18, the sophomore, stands 6 feet 2 and weights 260.

"I'm not sorry, and I'm not glad I did it," he told a newsman. "I just don't know why I did it.'

Shot with two weapons while they were in the living room of their home in this hamlet two miles northwest of Kansas City, Kan., were Andrews' parents, William L. Andrews, 50- his wife, Opal, 41; and young Andrews' sister, Jennie Marie, 20.

★ ★ ★

Lt. Ralph Athey, of the Wyandotte County sheriff's office said the youth had fired 24 bullets into his victims, 17 into his father, 4 into his mother, and 3 into his sister.

After the shootings he called the sheriff's office.

"He was the most unconcerned murderer I ever met," Athey said. "He was on the sun porch playing with the dog when we got there. I said 'What's the trouble?' He pointed to the door as though the matter was something trivial."

★ ★ ★

Detective Albert Gilhaus of the Wyandotte County sheriff's office said young Andrews had described the shootings.

He said he had gone to his room at his parents' home, loaded a .22 caliber rifle and revolver, ransacked two bedrooms to leave the impression a prowler had invaded the house, then returned to the living room and killed all three.

★ ★ ★

The student, who was studying zoology at the university in Lawrence, said he then drove to the room he rented in Lawrence, got his typewriter to complete an English assignment over the week end, and attended a movie before driving back to Wolcott. On the way back he tossed the weapons in the Kaw River, he added.

'Union Demands Wasteful, Costly

Booth Papers Answer Charge; Make No Plans for Pact Talks

DETROIT (UPI)—Booth newspapers said yesterday some demands by the Internatonal Typographical Union, which has struck the firm's nine newspapers, are "wasteful and very costly."

★ ★ ★

"The union is demanding a wasteful and very costly 'make-work' procedure known in the trade as 'reset,' " a Booth statement released in Detroit said.

Booth newspapers indicated the union's wage demands were unnecessarily high.

"Union demands presented in the last meeting were more than 15 cents per hour above the company's offer," the Booth statement said. "The current hourly rate of $3.17½ for composing room employes in Flint and Grand Rapids and $3.12 in other Booth cities is 12 to 12½ cents above rates for comparable cities throughout the country."

The statement was issued in reply to a charge by Carl Linder, an ITU representative from Lansing, who said Booth wages for printers don't meet the national average.

★ ★ ★

Justice Frankfurter in Hospital to Rest

WASHINGTON (AP) — A mild heart disturbance has sent Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter to a hospital for rest and observation.

★ ★ ★

A brief announcement from his office Friday said the justice was resting comfortably, and that his doctors were pleased with his progress. He entered the hospital earlier in the week for a check on the heart disturbance, the statement said, after he had complained of not feeling well.

Frankfurter, who was 76 on Nov. 15, is the oldest of the court's nine members. He has held his post since Jan. 30, 1939.

Waterford Vote to Decide $200,000 Library Proposal

Waterford Township voters will be asked to approve the construction of a $200,000 library in the April 6 election, according to Supervisor Elmer Johnson.

The proposal was submitted to the Township Board by the Waterford Library Committee after more than a year of study.

Last year Frank Steere donated 17 acres of his estate on Pontiac Lake road, and M59 to the township, providing plans for a cultural center would be put into operation within five years.

An 11-member Library Committee was appointed by Johnson to study the type of building needed, possible means of financing, its construction, and to check the attitudes of area residents regarding such a project.

Chairman of the committee the Rev. Walter Teeuwissen, said present plans call for construction of only the first unit of the complete library, and the recommendations were based on three considerations.

★ ★ ★

Because of the unique character of Waterford Township with its scattered community-centers, residents might be better served eventually by the addition of branch libraries or bookmobiles, rather than one large central library.

The second thought of the committee was that the township might become a part of an integrated regional system, known as the North Oakland Library Project.

Another phase of thinking was that if and when Pontiac solves its own library needs, Waterford Township might wish to become a branch of that library.

The Library Committee has recommended the construction of a 12,000-square foot building at an estimated cost of $20 a square foot. This would include the architects fees and library equipment.

Recommended estimates for landscaping, park improvements and sidewalks ranged from $30,000 to $35,000, and there would be some 20,000 volumes of books costing $60,000. This is the minimum number of books required by the state, if a township is to receive state library aid.

Operating expenses for the first year was estimated at $25,000 and $40,000 for the second year due to increased library service. The committee also estimated the library would not be in operation until 1962.

★ ★ ★

Whether to present the project to voters for a bond issue, or to acquire the funds by personal contributions on a pay-as-you-go plan will be discussed at a special meeting scheduled for Wednesday.

Waterford Township Justice of the Peace Donald Adams and Johnson plan to meet with Detroit bonding attorney Claude Stevens in an effort to settle the matter in time for the spring election.

Halt Canadian Search for Two Cadillac Men

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — The Royal Canadian Air Force has suspended its search for two Cadillac, Mich. men missing since Nov. 6 on a flight from Calgary, Alta., to Kamloops, B. C.

Wing Cmdr. J. W. Borden, RCAF search master, said search planes have covered at least twice an area 100 miles north and south of the planned route of the small pane.

The craft carried C. T. Janick, 42, a businessman, and Fred Royce, 36, his pilot. They took off during bad weather and when the mountain was ringed with electrical storms.

17 New Cases of Polio in Michigan Last Week

LANSING (AP) — The State Health Department reports 17 new cases of polio were recorded in Michigan in the past week, including seven paralytic.

There were only two cases reported during the same week last year.

★ ★ ★

There have been 1,201 cases listed in Michigan so far this year compared to 489 during the same period a year ago.

German Freighter Reported in Trouble

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP) — The 2,968-ton German freighter Waldeck was reported in trouble in the rain-lashed Atlantic about 60 miles off Nova Scotia's south shore today.

★ ★ ★

Crews of two Canadian navy frigates, the Swansea and Outremont, were recalled, and the ships were being readied to go to the freighter's assistance.

An SOS was reported picked up by a marine radio station and relayed to Royal Canadian Air Force search and rescue headquarters. Planes were grounded by high winds and poor visibility.

★ ★ ★

Lloyd's register of shipping lists the home port of the Waldeck as Hamburg. She is 310 feet long and was launched in 1953 at Kiel. Her destination and the size of her crew could not be learned immediately.

Dragnet Spread for Cop-Killer

Said Highly Dangerous, Georgia Prison Escapee Is Reportedly Armed

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A dragnet was spread today in an effort to capture 32-year-old cop-killer Spence Edwards who fled a Dalton, Ga., prison camp Tuesday.

The FBI listed Edwards as "extremely dangerous" and said he is armed.

The search had been centered in the Birmingham area since Wednesday night, when he freed three teen-agers whom he forced to drive him from Tennessee.

The escapee was serving a life term for killing a Georgia Bureau of Investigation agent 11 years ago.

The three youths who said Edwards kidnaped them, told police at Birmingham that they saw Edwards flag a passing car in Birmingham and force the driver to pick him up.

Birmingham police said no evidence of a kidnaping has been uncovered here. They said Edwards apparently was met by prearrangement.

Edwards was believed trying to get to Murfreesboro, Tenn., in an attempt to free his brother, Harry, charged with killing his father-in-law.

Harry appealed in a radio broadcast for his brother to surrender. He vowed that he wouldn't leave jail with him.

Convicts 'Adopt' Girl in Greece, Send Her Gifts

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—A 10-year-old girl who lives in a remote mountain village in Greece will get a letter, gifts and money for a big Christmas party from her 5,000 "dads" in the United States—but no visit.

The "dads" are San Quentin Prison convicts.

The men "adopted" Diamanto Samartzi in September through Foster Parents Plan, Inc., a New York charity organization. They donated $1,400 for her support, from which she gets $15 a month.

For a Christmas party the little girl will get $25 extra from the fund which will buy quite a bit in Greece.

"It's something like handing a kid $250 to go the candy store," a prison official said.

A Christmas package will contain presents, mostly handmade by the prisoners.

San Quentin officials said the biggest problem was to keep the convicts from going overboard on Diamanto's Christmas.

"A lot of them wanted to send their own money," said Associate Warden Walter Achuff, "and a good many asked if they couldn't have their families send money.

"We had to turn them down, because Foster Parents Plan feels the needy children should be treated as nearly equally as possible."

Scores of inmates wanted to have their handmade gifts included in the package Santa Claus will deliver to the Samartzis' one-room cottage. But the presents had to be limited too.

Diamanto wrote her San Quentin "fathers" recently, describing her small village. "I'll keep praying every day for you," she wrote.

The convicts decided on the "adoption" after seeing a motion picture, which had been put out by Foster Parents Plan.

The trouble nowadays is that man has invented so many machines that can run faster than he can think . . . It seems that the definition of a backward country is one in which the children listen to their parents. —Earl Wilson.

Estimate $17,500 Damage

Fire Hits Lumber Firm

A fire which broke out in a storage building at the Burmeister Lumber Company, 7940 Cooley Lake Rd., last night caused an estimated $17,500 damages, according to Waterford Township firemen.

The blaze stated at about 11 p.m. It was brought under control by township and Union Lake firemen in less than 30 minutes, although firemen spent well over an hour at the scene.

Firemen said the blaze apparently was triggered by a defective oil space heater in the one-story frame building located several hundred feet east of the company's main building.

The structure was filled with company equipment and merchandise, according to firemen. An estimated $2,500 damages were reported to the building, valued at $4,500.

★ ★ ★

The contents, valued at $30,000, suffered damages totaling $15,000, firemen estimated. No obstacles were reported by firemen as all equipment functioned smoothly in the freezing temperatures.

Suing Liz Taylor for a Million Dollars

VIENNA (UPI) — Film actress Elizabeth Taylor, widow of producer Mike Todd, is being sued for one million dollars in a local court on grounds that the theme tune in the movie "Around the World in 80 Days" was stolen from a Viennese operetta.

★ ★ ★

Viennese-born Mrs. Johanna Kahn claims that the tune used in the Todd production was completely plagiarized from the operetta "Orlov" written by her deceased father Bruno Granichstaetten, a famous composer.

★ ★ ★

Composer-conductor Victor Young is listed as one of the co-defendants in the suit filed by Mrs. Kahn.

The suit was filed last week by Vienna barrister Leo Lang on behalf of Mrs. Kahn, officials of the Vienna commercial court said.

The operetta, which is still being performed in Austria, was written in 1925.

Soviet Visitors Enjoy East Lansing Homes

EAST LANSING (AP) — Two East Lansing housewives agreed today that the visiting Russian educators they entertained in their homes on Thanksgiving were perfect holiday guests.

"They ate everything that was served, had perfect manners, were interesting in conversation and played with the children after dinner," reported Mrs. Lincoln Pettit and Mrs. Durward B. Varner.

Each was a hostess to one of the Soviet visitors and an interpreter. The nine-member group from Russia spent four days on the Michigan State University campus.

Mrs. Pettit, whose husband, an assistant professor of natural science, spent last summer in Russia, entertained Dr. A. A. Smirnov, a youth psychology specialist.

"He was friendly, jovial and interesting," she said. "He said he was going to tell his wife about my dinner. He seemed astonished when I told him that I had no help in preparing the meal, that we have three boys and that I take three courses at the university."

Dr. A. I. Markushevich, first assistant minister of education, was a guest at the Varner home. Varner is MSU vice president for off campus affairs.

"He gave books to the children and seemed to really enjoy the turkey dinner," Mrs. Varner said. "He seemed to like the family circle atmosphere."

She reported that the visitor kept up a continual barrage of questions about education here. When asked of his impressions of this country, he replied with a proverb: "It is better to see once than hear a thousand times."

Hard Choice for English

HARLINGTON, England (UPI) — Residents of this village were faced today with what is, for Englishmen, a horrendous choice. Council Clerk Eric White said electricity supplies haven't kept up with the expanding population and "there's not enough electricity for us to have both the TV set and an electric tea kettle on at the same time."

There are about 5,000 mink farmers in the U.S.

Short Tax Form Limit Increased

Maximum Income for Filing Easy Way Upped to $10,000 in '58

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) reminded taxpayers that maximum income for filing the "short form" tax returns for 1958 has been boosted to $10,000.

★ ★ ★

The revenue service said it was issuing the reminder because about 53 million 1958 W-2 forms (statements of earnings and tax withheld), incorrectly carry a maximum figure of $5,000. The forms were printed before the income limit was doubled.

★ ★ ★

Some taxpayers who changed jobs this year have already received W-2 statements showing the old limit.

An IRS spokesman said the forms printed before the change would be used, that they amounted to about half the total W-2 printing.

Under the new rules, taxpayers may use the short return, form 1040A, if their wage or salary income was less than $10,000 in 1958 and other earnings did not top $200. Married couples may file a joint return on form 1040A, if their combined income did not exceed these limits.

★ ★ ★

The IRS estimated that about 31 million taxpayers will be eligible to file on form 1040A, a punch card about the size of a bank check. About 14 million persons used it in 1957.

Vets to Get ¼ Billion Insurance Dividends

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dividends totalling 256 million dollars will be paid during 1959 to more than five million veterans holding participating government GI life insurance policies.

★ ★ ★

Sumner G. Whittier, veterans administrator, today said the dividends are primarily a refund of part of the premium payments.

He added this was made possible because the death rate among policyholders continues to be lower than the tables upon which the premiums were based.

Some 4,950,000 holders of National Service Life Insurance which originated in World War II will get 235 million dollars.

★ ★ ★

About 285,000 who have U.S. Government Life Insurance which originated in World War I will get 21 million.

The 1959 dividends will total six million dollars less than those declared this year.

★ ★ ★

Whittier said individual policyholders will generally receive about the same amount as in 1958 because the number of policies in force declines each year.

The 1959 dividends will be paid as soon as possible after the anniversary date of each policy.

Ann Arbor Railroad Leases GTR Ferry

FRANKFORT — (UPI) — The Ann Arbor Railroad has leased the carferry "City of Grand Rapids" from the Grand Trunk Railroad temporarily to replace one of its carferries put into dry dock for emergency repairs.

★ ★ ★

The railroad said inspectors discovered severe damage to the hull of the 60-year-old Ann Arbor No. 3, oldest carferry on the Great Lakes, and it was put into drydock at Manitowoc, Wis., for emergency repairs.

Carferry No. 6 also is in drydock being rebuilt and the Ann Arbor railroad, faced with a shortage of boats and increased freight shipments, leased the City of Grand Rapids to meet the emergency. The Grand Rapids normally operates between Muskegon and Milwaukee.

Sputnik's Death to Be Visible in Michigan

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Michigan residents will be able to see the rocket-satellite of Russia's Sputnik III tonight for the last time before it plunges to a fiery death about Dec. 3.

★ ★ ★

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory reports that the final plunge might come at any time Dec. 2, 3, or 4, but that closer calculations will be possible in another day or two.

★ ★ ★

The Smithsonian said the rocket will make three northwest to southeast sweeps across the country tonight. Only one will be visible in Michigan. On that occasion, the rocket will come into visibility at about 6:32 p.m. in Northern Nebraska, and will pass out of the United States at the tip of Louisiana. It will be visible until it crosses the Equator at 6:46 p.m.

'Ham' Operators in State Get Special Auto Plates

Dow Buys Gas From Russia

Chemical Firm Says Price Less on Benzene; Reds Happy Over Deal

NEW YORK (AP) — The Dow Chemical Co. is buying about 54 million gallons of benzene from the Soviet government at a price well below the U.S. market average.

★ ★ ★

The company, announcing the agreement Friday, said it made the deal partly because of its "economic advantages." The reference apparently was to the reported purchase price of 24 or 25 cents a gallon. The current price of domestic benzene is 31 cents a gallon.

★ ★ ★

The contract, under which Dow will pay about 13½ million dollars to the Soviet government, appeared to be a major success by Russia in its attempt to penetrate the American market with raw materials at reduced prices.

★ ★ ★

The company also said another reason favoring the agreement was that the contract assured a dependable supply of benzene in the near future. In the past, Dow said, domestic supplies have been erratic and sometimes seriously inadequate.

He Quit Belting Girls, but Still Socks Horse

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Steve McQueen's a strange kind of TV hero. Not only did he belt a girl in an acting class once, but he has a feud with his horse and after it kicks him, he sometimes punches it in the mouth for self-protection.

WILSON

"I like this horse, even if he is a crazy horse," Steve grinned at lunch the other day.

"We're going to get along," he insisted to himself. "'Ringo' has a tendency to bite me. When I'm not watching, he'll lift up his foot very casually and step on my foot. Or he'll stand on my hat. Look at this scar he gave me in Phoenix."

Steve lifted up his pants leg and showed the deep gash.

"As soon as I get in the studio, there he is glaring at me," Steve continued. "It's a big joke with the crew. They put up signs, 'Hope you make it, Steve. Good luck!' I don't walk behind him any more because I know he's going to try to kick me."

★ ★ ★

But much as Steve and "Ringo" fight, the sandy-haired, lean-faced, gentle-looking hero of "Wanted—Dead or Alive," which has topped Perry Como a couple of times in the ratings, would not have any other horse.

"They first gave me an old horse you had to put rollerskates on to get into the studio," Steve explained. "I said, 'I want a real fresh horse—one with some fire.' I sure got one. The first time we met he bit me and I popped him right in the mouth and they had to pull us apart.

McQUEEN

"They've now asked me if I want another horse. I've told them, 'Don't take that horse. He's crazy but I like him!'"

All this sounds characteristic of Steve, who ran away from some relatives he was living with in Slator, Mo., when he was 15, hitch-hiked to New Orleans, became a seaman, worked in the Texas oil fields, became a carnival huckster in Des Moines, and after the Marines, wound up in Greenwich Village going to acting class.

★ ★ ★

"I was right off the street; I came from a very bad world," Steve says in explaining how he punched an actress.

"We were doing a scene. This girl, Susan Shawn, popped me, as part of the scene. I forget we were acting. I let her have a short one.

"She went down. I was scared to death.

Steve was ashamed and stayed away from class briefly.

"They all had loot in that class. If they got sassy, I'd pop 'em. I don't do that any more . . ."

In fact, it's almost miraculous—what Sanford Meisner, the Actors Studio and others molded from this truck driver, mechanic, TV repairman and odd-jobs guy who at 25 is not fully appreciative of his TV success.

"They're trying to make me a big hero because of these ratings," he said.

"I'm no hero, I'm just trying to stay alive in this world."

Married to beautiful actress Neile Adams—"We're expecting a boy child," he says—they just bought a Hollywood home.

"Five years ago I couldn't make enough to get on the subway," Steve marvels. "Now I've got two cars . . ."

Answers on Social Security

Payments Are Tax Exempt

By RAY HENRY
AP Press Writer

From S.H. of Cleveland, Ohio: "Please settle an argument. A neighbor claims Social Security payments are taxed as income by the federal government. I don't think so. Who's right?"

You are. Social Security payments need not even be reported on your tax return because they are exempt from tax.

★ ★ ★

From A.D.E. of Buffalo, N.Y.: "Does the federal government have a compulsory retirement age for its employes?"

Yes. Any employe who has served at least 15 years is automatically retired at the end of the month in which he reaches 70, unless he's continued in service by executive order or by action of the Civil Service Commission. An employe who doesn't have 15 years service may remain in federal employment until he completes 15 years, unless he's separated for some other reason than age.

★ ★ ★

From Mrs. W.K. of Rochelle Park, N.Y.: "I have been working under Social Security since it started, but for the past few years I've only worked part time. I'm now 56 and don't think I'll work any more. Could I freeze my salary rate now in order to protect my right to collect Social Security at 65?"

The Social Security Law has no provision which allows you to freeze your salary rate. However, you have worked long enough under Social Security to be eligible for payments at 62. If you never work again, you'll have this right since at your age you need only have worked under Social Security for 6¾ years.

★ ★ ★

From S.F.H. of San Bernardino, Calif.: "My wife was 65 last month. I will be 65 this coming April. Can my wife draw Social Security before I retire? She has never worked in a regular paying job outside our home."

Your wife can't collect Social Security until you retire and start drawing payments.

★ ★ ★

From Mrs. B.C.S. of Chicago: "My husband is an American citizen and is receiving Social Security. I'm not a citizen but have lived in this country since 1909. Can I collect on my husband's Social Security?"

Your citizenship has no bearing on your right to Social Security as long as you remain in this country.

★ ★ ★

From J.V. McC. of Lakewood, Ohio: "I've paid the limit in Social Security deductions since the program began. I'm considering taking a job not covered by Social Security. Can I pay into Social Security out of my pocket in order to keep my record alive?"

The only way you can continue Social Security coverage is by being in a job covered by the system. You can't make voluntary payments into it. However, you don't lose your right to payments by taking a job not covered by Social Security. You've already worked long enough to be entitled to payments when you reach 65. They may be lower than if you continued working under Social Security, but that's all.

GOP Schedules Caucus Dec. 12

Party Leaders Hope to Resolve Dilemma of 55-55 House Split

LANSING (UPI) — Republicans will caucus in Lansing Dec. 12, just eight days after Democrats, to draft their plan for organizing the House in the face of a 55-55 membership split.

In a letter to GOP lawmakers, outgoing House Speaker George M. Van Peursem (R-Zeeland) said the party "would certainly welcome any suggestions or plans . . . regarding the dilemma that has resulted from this 55-55 split."

Democrats, in a recent meeting here, said they should be given power to organize the House — select the speaker and name committees—because they had a plurality of the votes in the House elections Nov. 4.

Van Peursem said he didn't think "we can in good faith accept anything less than joint responsibility."

He said total control could be insisted on by Republicans because GOP legislators received 77 per cent of the vote in 64 of the state's counties.

He said statistics show "that of the 86 House legislative districts, 50 are represented by Republican representatives and 36 by Democrats."

"These and other arguments" weren't used earlier, he said, "because we didn't believe that with one-half of the seats we actually deserved more than one-half of the responsibilities and privileges involved in House organization."

Cold Forces Surrender

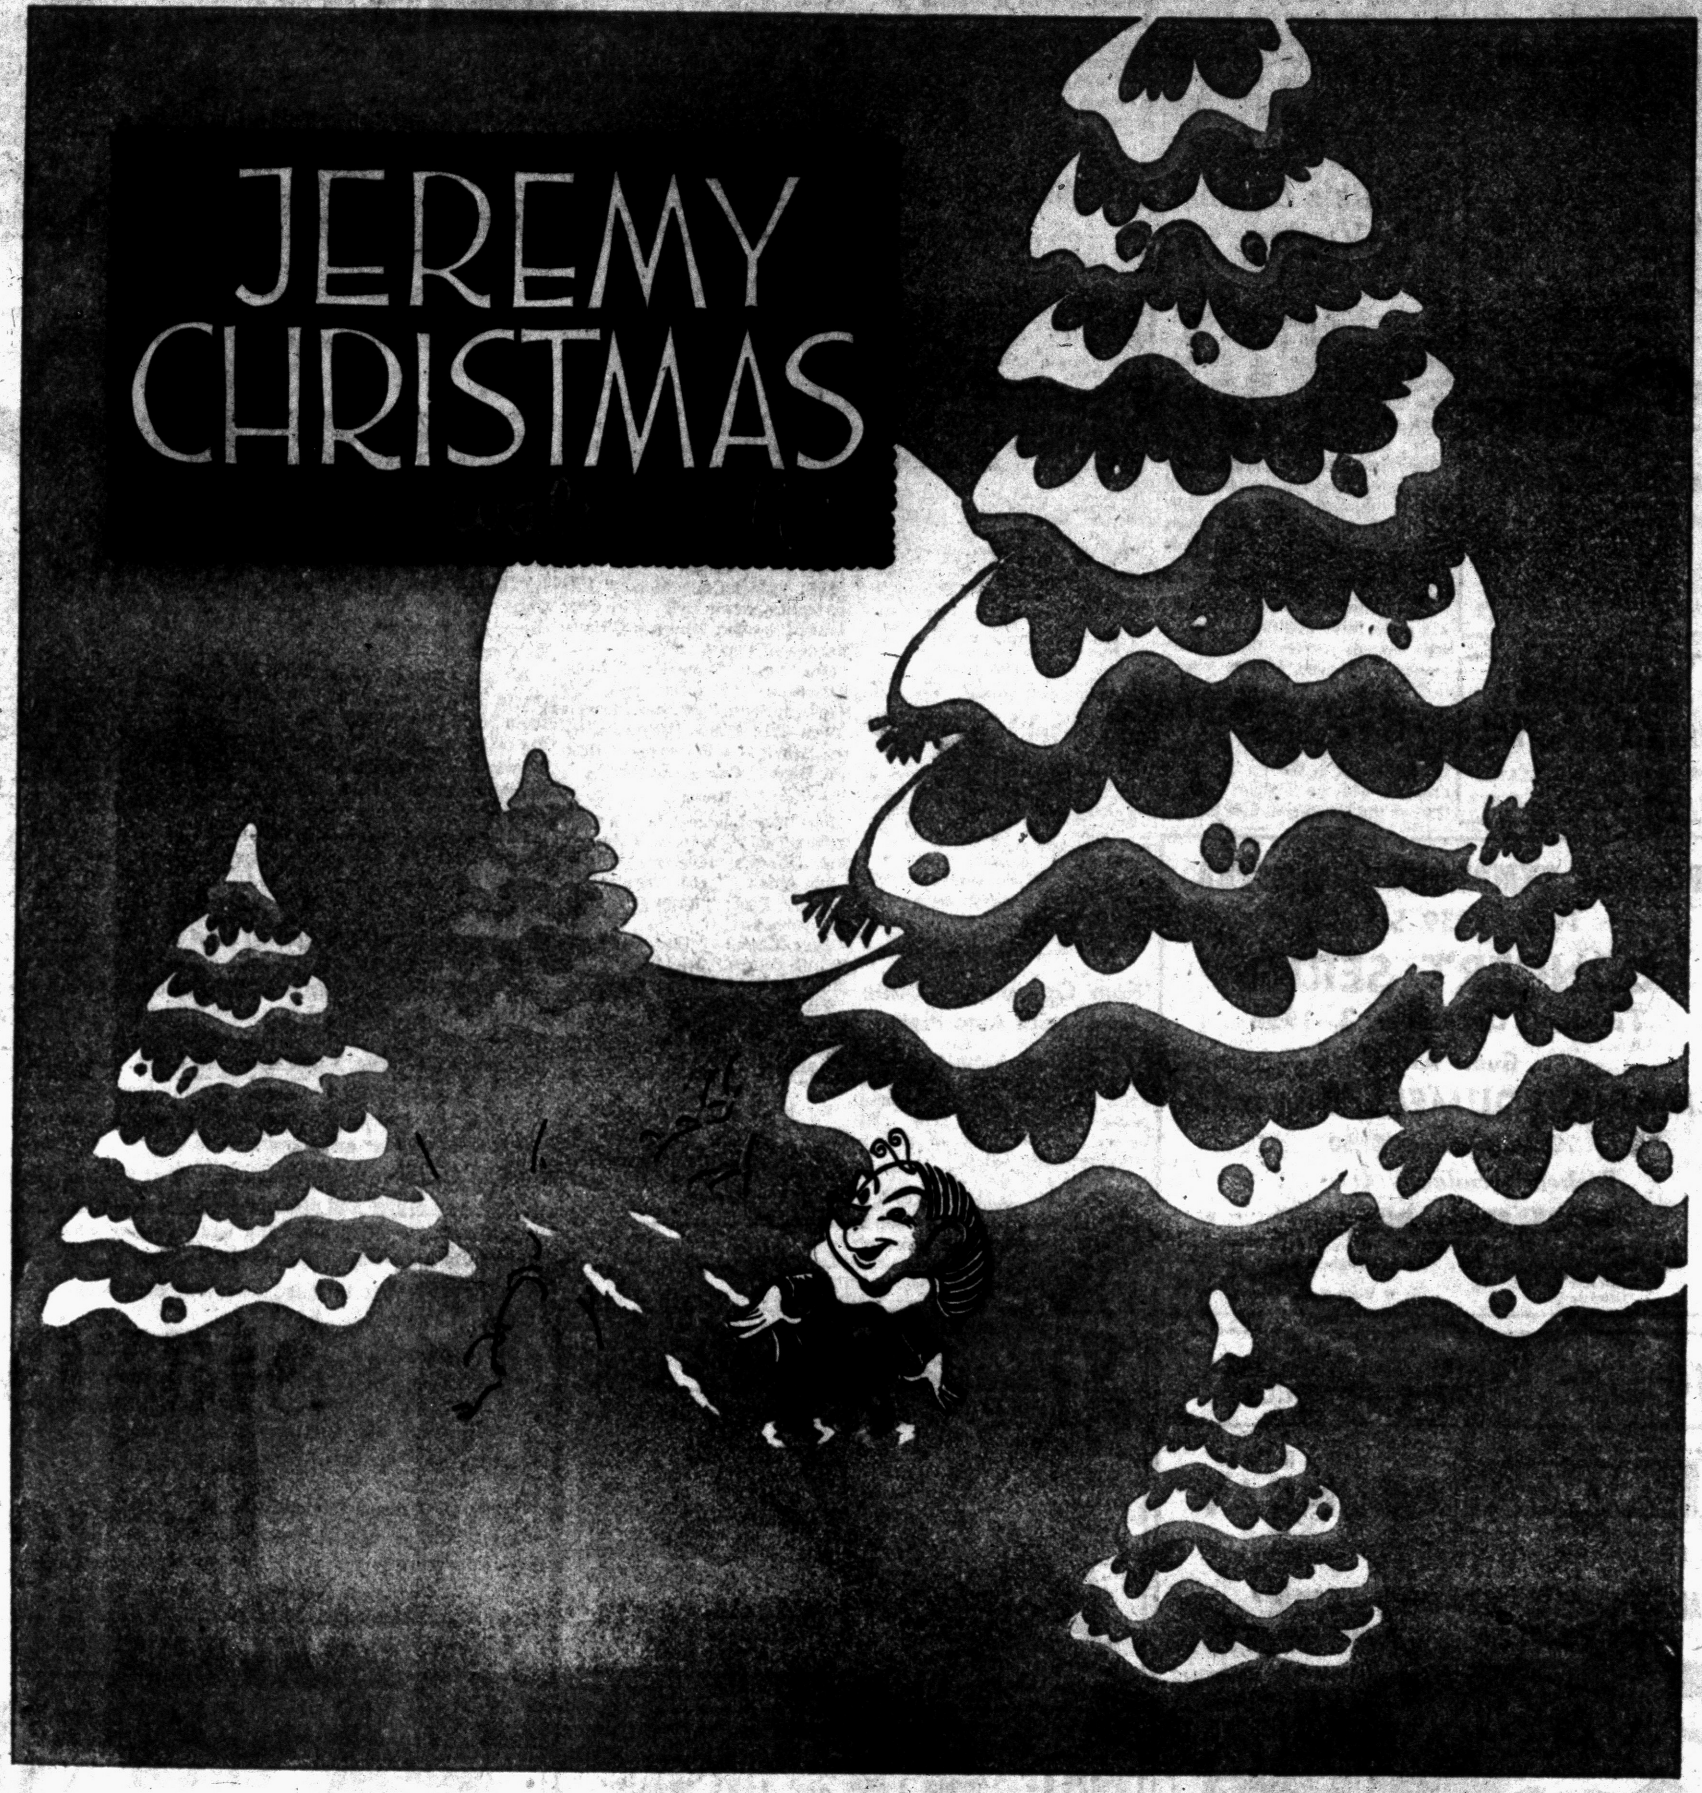

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The weather did yesterday what the police had been unable to do since Tuesday, when slaying suspect James Mackey, 31, who had been hiding in the woods, gave himself up with the explanation, "I was too cold."

Lecture Didn't 'Take'

BOGNOR REGIS, England (UPI) Owners of a theater where 500 members of the Sussex County Women's Institute heard a lecture on keeping Britain clean of litter reported today that it took several employes several hours to sweep up the litter the women left.

OUR CHRISTMAS STORY STARTS MONDAY!

A Christmas Comic for Holiday Entertainment

This year's Christmas comic-strip story is about Jeremy Christmas, his friend and employer, The Spirit of Christmas, and four lazy little characters; Sudden, Flash, Instant and Rush, who live in two tumbledown shacks on a treeless spot of land along Slipshod Creek. They do only enough to keep alive . . . nothing more. The Spirit of Christmas doesn't like this situation, so calls upon Jeremy Christmas to correct it, giving him the power of magic and invisibility.

A mischievous little imp, Jeremy first tries some tricks that he thinks will inspire the lazy foursome to action. The plan fails and, at the suggestion of The Spirit of Christmas, Jeremy changes his tactics. Immediately amazing and amusing things begin to happen.

In the end a Merry Holiday is enjoyed by all.

Background for LIVING

LOOKS BIGGER — The use of birch poles extending from counter top to ceiling makes Mrs. Riley's kitchen seem bigger than it is. This open stairway idea is being used successfully in small homes. Below the counter at the right is closed storage. At the left is a counter top adjacent to the stove. Mrs. Riley pours out a cup of coffee for the Press photographer and the Home Editor.

IN PAYNE MANOR — This small ranch home belongs to Mrs. Albert R. Riley. It is a red brick on Ethel drive in Wolverine Lake Village. Builders were Haines and Powell of Detroit. Mrs. Riley has occupied the house since May of 1957. Some of the other homes in this subdivision are bi-level models with frontage on canals leading to Wolverine Lake.

Your Neighbor's House

Three Generations Live Here

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

In the past three or four years a number of subdivisions have sprung up north of what was once the small village of Walled Lake. Now Walled Lake is a city in itself with greatly expanded boundaries; and a good-sized area northwest of there has become Wolverine Lake Village. Payne Manor is one of the subdivisions in Wolverine Lake.

Canals dug behind some of the houses give residents access to the lake. There are both ranch type homes and bi-levels built along the curving streets. Mrs. Albert R. Riley lives in one of the ranch homes on Ethel drive.

A widow, Mrs. Riley keeps house for her five-year-old son, Michael, and her father, Raymond P. Johnson. The fourth member of the family is a parakeet named Dickie.

The Riley house was built by Haines and Powell of Detroit and has been home to them since May of 1957. Their lot is 80x150 feet. The exterior is red brick with white trim.

The front door opens right into the living room. Just inside the door is a coat closet. There is a nine-light picture window at the front of the house and a large window in the dining ell. Draperies on both windows are beige with a rust and green leafy pattern.

Walls are pale green with a white drop ceiling. All floors are polished oak. Woodwork is natural birch. There is a large hooked rug on the living room floor; pastel flowers are scattered over a beige background.

A rust sofa is placed along one wall with a wide mirror above it. Near the window is a gold platform rocker and a a tall wooden rocker.

On the shorter wall a deep rose upholstered chair is placed next to a mahogany piecrust table. Square pedestal tables flank the sofa, hold white glass lamps.

There is an oval Duncan Phyfe table in the dining ell. Lyre back chairs have deep turquoise seat covers. Under the window is a buffet. On the wall opposite the table there's a tall china cabinet.

KITCHEN FEATURE

Mrs. Riley's kitchen is interesting. Instead of a wall surrounding the stairwell, the space was left open and birch poles were installed from counter top to ceiling.

When Mrs. Riley tried to get some one to put in these poles, she was told it couldn't be done because of the way the ceiling beams ran. Finally she found an enterprising carpenter who put in the necessary reinforcements in the attic.

There is storage space below the red counter top that follows the line of the poles. all other counter tops are also red Formica. Natural birch cabinets have black iron hardware.

The linoleum is mottled in blue and red. Walls are creamy yellow. There is a red ruffle around the window and white cafe curtains with a red kitchen print.

In the basement there is a fireplace in what will be a recreation room someday. Mike has plenty of play space down there.

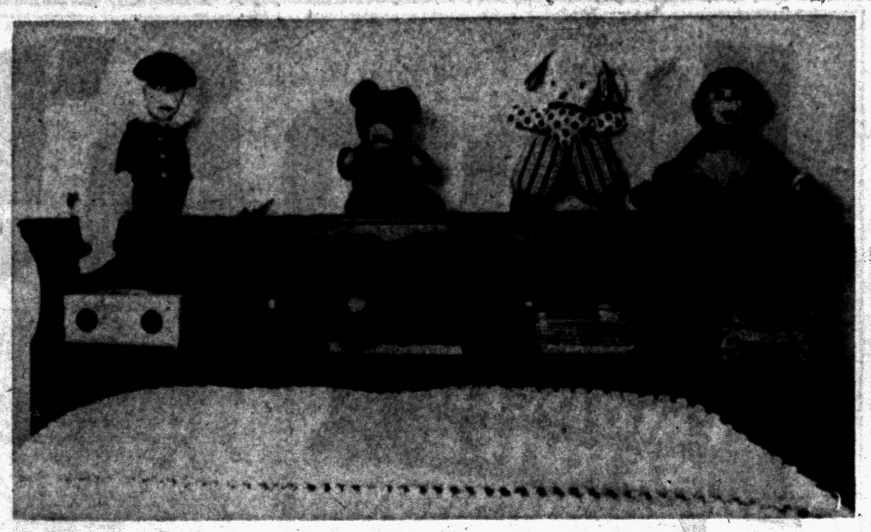

Grandpa has the first bedroom. His walls are sandalwood shade; his curtains white. Furniture is golden maple. All bedrooms have folding metal closet doors.

Mrs. Riley's room is a corner one. Her walls are pink.

KEEPING WATCH — At five you are big enough to go to school. But you still like some of the comforts of your earlier years — teddy bears, for instance. This is Mike Riley's big bed in his own room. Cherished story books have a spot all their own. When mother finds a lamp to go over the bed, Mike will have all the comforts of home.

COMFORTABLE — Comfortable seating arrangements and plenty of lamps add up to a pleasant room in which to relax. The pastel rug is hand hooked. Draperies are beige with a leafy pattern. Walls are green. All woodwork is natural finished birch. The front door opens directly into the living room.

ECONOMY HOUSE—The cost-saving economy of two-story construction is combined with the advantages of one-level living in this contemporary home. All the essentials of home-making are on the main upper level — reached through an entrance located midway between levels. Since it requires only minimum excavation, the design is well suited for problem lots.

CONCENTRATED LIVING — Key concept of this design is the way the entrance is set half-way between the two levels. The first floor above shows the generous living and dining area and the luxurious size of the master bedroom. All the essential elements of home life are on this level.

GROUND FLOOR — This ground floor plan is just one of the several variations possible. Instead of the one shown, this level could be left as an open basement, made into a rental apartment (with kitchen-dinette, living and bedroom), or converted into office space for a profesisonal man. The "Baby Blueprint" available for 35 cents shows these variations in detail.

Economy House Suitable for Problem Lots

By DAVID L. BOWEN

If you're looking for an economy house to build on a problem lot, here's a plan worth a close look.

It's especially adaptable to regions where excavation must be held to a minimum—either because of solid rock or because the lot lies in an area with a high water table. This type of plot, incidentally, usually sells for considerably less than land better suited for construction.

The plan, X-34 in the House of the Week series, was designed by Architect Samuel Paul. It includes a surprising number of luxury features in an exterior shell both dollar-saving and attractive. And it can even be arranged to produce income.

Much of the building economy is the result of the two-story arrangement. However, unlike the conventional two-story — which puts living areas downstairs and bedrooms upstairs—this one has all the facilities for home life on the upper level.

The lower level provides economical space for anything from extra bedrooms and recreational area, if your family is large; to a rental apartment, if you have a small family and want to put the house to work for you.

The house entrance is half-way between these two levels: The main floor is one-half flight up, the lower one-half flight down.

THE UPPER LEVEL

One of the striking features of the main level is the inventive manner in which the living, dining and foyer areas are set apart without impairing the spacious effect.

The division is achieved with a guest closet suspended in the air on a supporting post, augmenting the modern atmosphere while marking off the limits of the living room on one side, the dining room on another, and the foyer on the other two.

From the foyer the guest sees an expanse of glass at the rear of the living room, and through this huge window a balcony. The fireplace can cast its cheery glow over both the living and dining rooms. The dining room window extends from wall to ceiling.

SLEEPING AREA

The bedrooms are reached through a hall from the foyer. The large master bedroom has two walk-in closets and the two secondary bedrooms also are provided with ample closet space.

The bathroom at the end of the bedroom hall is compartmentalized, one section containing a water closet and basin and the other a tub plus a basin. The bedroom hall can be closed off from the rest of the house by a sliding door.

The kitchen, which includes dinette space, has a counter-top range, wall oven, refrigerator and space for a dishwasher. Large windows and cross ventilation give an abundance of light and air.

With the essentials of homemaking taken care of on this main level, the second ground floor level can be handled in several widely different ways:

1. If the building budget is tight, the ground floor simply can be kept as a basement area.

2. For a reltatively small additional outlay, the area can be partitioned off to create a large recreation room, den or fourth bedroom and bath.

3. A different treatment could produce a rental apartment composed of living room, kitchen-dinette, bath and a large bedroom.

4. A final possibility is a professional suite for a doctor or dentist, or office space for a man who can conduct his business at home.

A two-car carport is integrated into the front and sides with a thin roof. The upper level is covered with vertical siding. The lower level is painted concrete block with emphasis on the horizontal joints. Windows are sliding aluminum set in wood frames. The roof is asphalt shingles, preferably of light color.

LOT SIZE

The minimum plot recommended is 70 by 100 ft. If a one-car carport is used instead of two, a 60 ft. plot would be adequate in most areas. The main floor covers 1,204 sq. ft.; the ground floor finished area covers 766 sq. ft.

Wood Cabinets Add Beauty to Kitchens

Kitchen cabinets of ponderosa pine are available in many styles and sizes, including some models with fronts of birch or other hardwoods.

These cabinets make it possible for families who are building or remodeling a home to have kitchens decorated in the rich beauty of natural wood tones.

Rubber base cement floor paint is good for redoing your basement floors. It is highly resistant to moisture, oil, alcohol and stain-containing liquids.

New Shades Washable

Window shades become more practical as new coatings are applied. Highly washable ones have a vinyl plastic coating. To clean, spread a roller shade flat and brush away dust. Scrub with well-sudsed sponge and rinse. Leave shade full drawn while it hangs to dry.

Undercoat Patched Spots

Patches in plaster will show through the paint on your walls, unless you are careful to use an undercoat before the finish coat of paint. First you should trowel or sand the surface of the old plaster flush with the new. Be sure the undercoat is dry before applying the finish coat.

Glass Block Panels Now Bolted Together

AP Newsfeatures

The manufacturers of glass blocks had a difficult time getting the public to accept their products for do-it-yourself psojects because of the necessity of using mortar in the joints. There was a general recognition that proper mortaring required a certain amount of skill to avoid a home-made look.

Part of this reluctance was overcome with the development of new methods of constructing glass block panels without the use of mortar, especially the system of wooden strips and wedges. Now comes a still newer method, caling for the glass blocks to be bolted together and said to be less expensive and easier to handle.

It must be emphasized that this setup—as with all other mortarless systems—should be used indoors only. For an outside, weatherproof wall, the glass blocks still must be mortared together.

Bolted glass block is especially suitable for room dividers. To make one, you must, of course, first determine the size you want it to be. But it should be an approximate size, subject to a slight change in plans so that you can use an exact number of glass blocks of either the 8-inch or 12-inch size.

After that comes the construction of a wooden frame in which the blocks will be installed. One-by-6 inch stock is preferable, with quarter-round molding nailed into position ⅞" from the edge of one side of the frame. The rest of the molding is nailed on after the glass blocks are put in place.

From there on it's just a case of building rows of blocks, placing the specially-made bolt assembly into the corners of the joints. This assembly consists of small aluminum rods and threaded plastic rosettes. All that can be seen are the decorative rosettes.

Ceramic-face glass block provides a choice of decor suited to the individual taste both in color and design. Combined with clear glass block, or other ceramic-face glass block, they give color styling wherever used. Four colors—green, blue, coral and yellow—are available.

Incidentally, when these blocks are used for an exterior wall, mortared together, their insulation value is said to be equal to that of an 8-inch masonry wall.

Ways to Spot Competence of Well Digger

How can you tell the difference between the qualified well driller and his irresponsible, fly-by-night competitor?

First, check the driller's reputation locally. If he has been in business many years, he should have many satisfied customers willing to vouch for the quality of his work and his reliability.

Second, the appearance of his equipment and his place of business will furnish additional clues to his professional competency and standing.

Third, be sure the contractor is willing to enter into a written contract covering work to be done and itemizing the cost. A reputable contractor prefers to operate on this business-like basis.

And fourth, find out whether he's active in associations dedicated to raising the well drilling industry's standards and improving service to the public. More than 1,500 of the nation's most progressive well drilling contractors are members of the National Water Well Association and its various state association affiliates.

Members of the NWWA recognize that a good well, properly constructed, is the first step in achieving a safe and sanitary water system in rural areas. They have the technical training and the experience to make the most efficient use of existing ground water supply.

Good Thick Insulation Top-Notch Investment

Two reasons good insulation is among the best investments a home owner can make are:

1. Mineral wool can't wear out and needs no maintenance. It will last as long as the house itself.
2. Thick insulation pays for itself in a few years with savings on heating fuel. After that, the savings become clear profit to the home owner.

Pickled Plywood

Don't overlook the possibility of getting a pickled effect on fir plywood by putting on the white primer-sealer and then rubbing it off after about 3 minutes; experiment on scrap to get the desired effect.

Choice of Hardwood for Floors Is Wide

If you're planning a home and want floors of hardwood for most rooms, as do the vast majority of families today, you can select a specific kind to suit practically any decorative taste and any budget.

Among the most extensively used woods, for example, are oak, hard maple, beech, birch and pecan. Other attractive species available include walnut, cherry, ash, hickory and teak. The average dealer may not stock all species, but he can obtain them on order.

Another area of choice is presented in the four major styles or types of hardwood flooring—strip, plank, block and parquet. Each can be obtained in numerous sizes.

The strip style, which consists of long, narrow pieces of flooring, leads in popularity. This, dealers report, is due in part to its relatively low cost and in part to its decorative versatility. The most economically priced of any permanent-type residential flooring, the strip style harmonizes with either period or modern furnishings and is "at home" in houses of any price class.

Patch With Wax

To eliminate worn spots on a waxed floor, patch the places with liquid wax. This prolongs the life of the over-all wax application. The liquid preparation cleans as it waxes, so preliminary washing is not necessary.

Door and Window Units Save Building Dollars

One way to save time and money in building or remodeling a house is with door and window "units" that come from the factory with frame and door or frame and sash assembled and ready to install.

This saves greatly on labor costs, since the unit can be nailed into the door or window opening in a matter of minutes.

These units, made of ponderosa pine, are available from building material dealers in many stock styles and sizes.

On November 10, 1937 the Federal Trade Commission ruled that it is not legal to use the word "tile" without an adjective designating the material of which the tile is made (cork tile, asphalt tile, etc.) except when the product referred to is indeed, a fired-clay product.

Conversion Is Fast Job

How long does it take to convert a coal-fired heating system to automatic heating with oil? Only about three and one-half hours, with an experienced installation man and his helper on the job. This would assume that the heating plant, that is, the boiler or the furnace, is in good condition.

In other words, the householder would be without heat for less than half a day while the changeover was being made. Included in the work and necessary for the conversion to oil would be the installation of a tank and the necessary controls.

A modern oil burner, properly installed, will provide trouble-free and automatic operation day after day, and year after year. For such service, of course, it is necessary for the owner to have the burner and the entire heating system checked at least once a year.

Even fuel delivery can be placed on a care-free basis with oil heating. Arrangements can be made with a fuel oil dealer to keep the oil tank filled. By means of a degree-day-system, the fuel oil supplier knows when the tank will need filling.

Frequently in a conversion job it is found desirable to replace the boiler or the furnace with new equipment. In such cases the installation of a boiler-burner or furnace-burner combination unit is always desirable.

HANGING DESK — This is a desk that may be used in any room in your home. It s'handy in a kitchen, den, living room or bedroom, wherever you wish to use it. If you liek, you may place your telephone and directory in it where they are out of the wdy. If you have students in your home this is a dandy place to do homework. For smaller students it may be hung low on the wall and then raised higher as they grow. Because this is a hanging piece of furniture, sweeping or vacuuming under it is no chore at all. Building it is easy when you use the full size pattern. All you need do is trace the pattern on wood, then saw out the parts and finally put them together. Required material and complete directions come with each pattern. The cost is very little. To obtain the full size hanging desk pattern No. 176 send $1.00 to Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, Calif.

They May Change Minds but Women Speak Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Space, lots of space, is the main thing housewives want in a new home.

That was the consensus of two separate women's housing conferences held here recently. Delegates expressed a desire for more rooms, bigger rooms and, especially, more closet space.

They preferred spaciousness to built-in planters, dishwashers, garbage disposals intercommunications systems and other appliances and gadgets. These, they agreed, could be added later.

Nearly 200 homemakers from across the nation attended the conferences. The women were chosen for knowledge of and interest in home planning. One session was sponsored by McCall's magazine and the other by the housing industry through the National Association of Home Builders.

Most homemakers considered a family room and two bathrooms as "musts" in a new house, along with eating space in the kitchen. Plus an entrance hall, patio and separate dining room.

★ ★ ★

Basements are a "must" with housewives from the north. Southern and western delegates expressed a wish for bigger utility rooms.

The women want trees on home lots, but advised builders not to attempt landscaping—they prefer to do it themselves.

Voted down were picture windows that look out on the street, the wall next door or trash cans. No picture window unless there is a picture to see, they said.

In general, the homemakers preferred a one-story house of colonial or subdued modern design to two-story or split-level houses. They didn't mind mixing different styles of architecture on the same street, if done with taste and restraint.

Banana Oil Works

Paint-hardened brushes can be soaked in "banana oil" (lacquer thiner) with satisfying results. Rinse with turpentine. The "banana oil" loosens the paint, and the turpentine will clean both out of the brush. In working with solvents it is well to remember to work only out-of-doors, or in a well-ventilated room, away from heat and flames.

Folding Screen Can Be Built at Home

Folding screens have many uses in the home. Readily and economically made in the home workshop, they can be both functional and good looking.

The usual style has three wings, six or seven feet high and about 16" wide, hinged together. The framework, if it's two-inch lumber, is wide enough to receive panels of Masonite plain or textured hardboard which will be held in place by means of small dimension quarter-round molding.

Smaller folding screens — and these can be miniature for use on a table or desk — follow the same construction principles of framing covered in the center or on one side with hardboard panels, except lighter lumber is used. Popular Peg-Board panels give the screens an additional function of holding things.

For a basic plan showing the construction of a conventional three part folding screen, write a postal to the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 W. Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., and request free drawing No. AE-320.

A large tin can open at both ends nailed to your work bench acts as a handy holder for an electric drill.

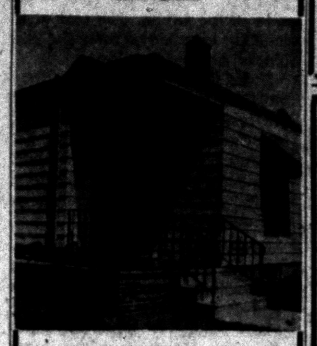

Spraying Saves Labor

Masking tape, a few newspapers, and a good quality spray gun make painting storm windows and doors easier and faster. Tape the newspapers carefully over both sides of the glass or screen, and spray away. A garage with the door left open makes a good spray "booth."

Average Lengths

Lengths averaged in flooring bundles. Hardwood flooring is bundled by averaging the lengths. A bundle may include pieces from six inches under to six inches over the nominal length of the bundle. As an example, a two-foot bundle of flooring will very likely include pieces 18-inches long, as well as pieces 30-inches long.

Another Hoop Season Gets Rolling Next Week for Local Teams

New Pontiac Northern, Central Debut Tuesday

An anxiously awaited and long-needed chapter in the history of Pontiac prep athletics begins next Tuesday night when new Northern High School opens its 1958-59 basketball season against Lake Orion at Orion.

It will be the first athletic venture of any kind for the north side school, which just opened its doors this fall. Northern, nicknamed the Huskies, will wait until next year to field its first football team.

Pontiac Central High, the city's time-honored institution on the other side of town, finds its season opener on the same evening almost overshadowed by the advent of a future athletic rival.

PCH, a highly-respected member of the rugged Saginaw Valley Conference, starts its 1958-59 cage campaign against the Thunderbirds of Dearborn Edsel Ford on the Dearborn floor in non-league warfare.

As might be expected with the opening of a new school and the necessary task of getting its athletic feet wet, the Northern cagers under coach Dick Hall will undoubtedly take their lumps this season.

In fact, it's a fairly safe bet that the Huskies will receive some hard knocks a season hence and maybe the one after that.

It's simply a case of building from scratch for Hall who must erect his court squad with a collection of "greenhorns."

The majority of Hall's candidates are sophomores and none of the 16 boys who reported for duty has enough playing experience to carry the team over the rough spots.

★ ★ ★

Hall's leading prospects as of the moment are forwards Mike Fedynik, Bruce Norton and Jerry Mineweaser, all sophomores; center Dennis Harbert, a sophomore; guard Marty Everett, another soph; forward Dennis Vincent, a junior, and guard Jim Dempsey and center Dick Eley, both seniors.

★ ★ ★

Only three members of this group, Eley, Harbert and Vincent, stand six feet or better with each boy measuring 6-1. One of the more experienced players on the roster is Mineweaser, son of the former St. Michael coach.

While the Huskies are expected to see rough going for a spell, the outlook is far brighter at Central where veteran coach Art Van Ryzin has a quintet figured to be a stout contender for Saginaw Valley honors.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs won the Valley crown two years ago, becoming the first school in conference history to go through the 10-game loop schedule undefeated, then they slipped to third place last season with a 6-4 record. Flint Central won the SVC title last year and is favored to repeat.

Four lettermen, all experienced campaigners, have returned to Van Ryzin from a squad which posted an overall 14-6 mark in 1957-58 and reached the finals of the Class A regional tournament.

The veteran holdovers are center Harrison Munson, guard Charlie Barge and forwards Bill Hayward and John Bandy. Munson at 6-foot-1½ and Bandy at 6-3 are the tallest of the quartet and more height is Van Ryzin's most pressing problem. If he can locate a big man to control the boards, the Chiefs should hold their own.

St. Mary Starts Things Monday, Others Follow

By CHUCK ABAIR

There is no holding back these Oakland County area basketball teams. They just can't wait to get into action again even though many of the players are still trying to shake off some football bumps and bruises.

Troy and Oak Park ripped the lid off the 1958-59 season last night and annual Suburban Catholic power Highland Park St. Benedict debuts tomorrow. Orchard Lake St. Mary will be the 1st Pontiac area school to open play. The Eaglets host St. Stanislaus of Hamtramck Monday.

Several others will follow Tuesday and still more Friday and Dec. 9. So local cage followers won't have to wait long before all the preps in this sector are cavorting on the hardwood.

St. Frederick joins Pontiac Central and the new Pontiac Northern as city schools starting Tuesday. The Rams begin their campaign to top or at least match last year's fine 11-5 season by taking on Detroit St. Elizabeth at home.

Cranbrook at Walled Lake, Romeo at Troy and Milford at Rochester will be among the most interesting 2nd-day contests. Others Tuesday will have Howell testing Wayne - Oakland favorite Brighton, Royal Oak St. Mary at Madison, Imlay City prepping for defense of its South Central crown at Yale, Berkley at Fordson, Millington the guest of Vassar, South Lyon taking on Fowlerville at home and Country Day at Oak Park.

★ ★ ★

Waterford, Southfield, Clarkston, Farmington, Bloomfield Hills and Holly head the list of schools who will appear for the 1st time next Friday.

Others are Clawson, Oxford, Northville, Utica, Dondero, Kimball and Shrine of Royal Oak, Van Dyke, Center Line St. Clement, Ferndale St. James and Ferndale High, Detroit St. Rita, the Southern Thumb schools, Hazel Park and Port Huron.

★ ★ ★

St. Michael unveils its new quintet for the 1st time against none other than city rival St. Fred Dec. 6 at Pontiac Central in what may be the best game of the December schedule here. Clarenceville also starts next Saturday.

Five county area contingents hold off until the 9th. They are Birmingham, West Bloomfield, Avondale, Lapeer and North Branch.

Besides Imlay, defending champions are Berkley (Inter-Lakes), East Detroit and Ferndale (Eastern Michigan), Troy (Oakland B), Clarkston (Wayne-Oakland), St. Benedict (Suburban Catholic) and Almont (Southern Thumb).

★ ★ ★

Only seven of the top 30 scorers in the county last year are back. They are Rick Moos of Madison (3rd), Earl Richardson of Ortonville (7th), John Lucadam of West Bloomfield (8th), Tom Derocher of St. Fred (11th), Holly's big George McDaniel (14th), Tom Ridley of Southfield (19)th and Pat McLaughlin of Shrine (21).

★ ★ ★

Among the schools on the rim of Oakland County, only three of the 1st 15 point-getters last winter are still in high school. The trio includes Jim Ward of Imlay City (4th), Terry Wills of Armada (8th) and Jim Ostrander of Almont (14th).

Racial Ban Lifted From Sugar Bowl

Federal Ruling Knocks Out Law Passed in 1956

However, Clemson Is Still Seen as Foe for LSU Eleven

NEW ORLEANS (UP) — The Sugar Bowl, freed from a ban on interracial sports, still was expected to choose Clemson today to face Louisiana State in the Jan. 1 game.

A Federal Court ruling yesterday knocked out Louisiana's 1956 law banning competition between white and Negro athletes.

However, a ruling by the LSU board of supervisors bans the team from playing integrated teams not only in Louisiana but also outside the state.

The Federal Court ruling did not touch on a phase of the law which bans segregated seating at sports events in the state. That was expected to rule out the possibility of getting eighh-ranked Air Force which was expected to go to the Coton Bowl anyway.

★ ★ ★

The Sugar Bowl, however, does no require racial identification before a ticket is bought; a few years ago it removed a stipulation printed on most of its tickets that they could be used "only by the Caucasian race."

Southern Methodist was another possibility for the Sugar Bowl, based on the combination of a victory over Texas Christian and a Furman upset of Clemson today.

The segregation ruling came in a case filed by Negro boxer Joe Dorsey who contended the law was jeopardizing his career. The decision was signed by judge John Minor Wisdom of the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals and U.S. District Judges Herbert Christenberry and J. Skelly Wright. The three judges also issued an injunction preventing further enforcement of the law.

★ ★ ★

State Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion said it was his mandatory duty to file an appeal. State Sen. William Rainach, Louisiana's top segregation leader, said he expected segregation to continue in sports regardless of any Federal Court action.

The segregation problem has also cropped up in the Tangerine Bowl yesterday as Buffalo rejected an invitation because two Negroes on the team would be barred from playing at the Orlando, Fla. site.

Meanwhile, Washington governor Albert D. Rosellini joined in the protests concerning the veto of Washington State's chance to go to the Sugar Bowl. He sent a telegram to California governor Goodwin Knight requesting he persuade UCLA to reconsider their opposition.

Hardin-Simmons virtually clinched a Sun Bowl berth against Wyoming last night by downing New Mexico A & M 26-20 while Alabama was expected to be the first team named for the Dec. 13 Blue Grass Bowl today.

Paper Says Williams Having Ankle Trouble

BOSTON (AP)—The Herald said today that Boston Red Sox slugger Ted Williams is having "more ankle trouble."

The paper said in a story under the byline of Sports Editor Ed Costello that the 40-year-old American League batting champion "has contacted a Boston doctor about his latest ailment."

The Herald story said that Williams' ailment is in the same area as a hairline fracture he suffered while fishing a year ago. That injury forced Williams to pass up much of spring training, but he finished with a .328 batting mark, 26 homers and 85 runs batted in.

Michigan, U. of D. Open Monday Night

State Quints Start Seasons

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

College basketball kicks off the major season Monday night in Michigan with U. of M. and U. of D. the early starters and the rest of the state quinters following during the week.

Michigan, with good average height but not extremely tall, initiates the new court at Yost Fieldhouse against the Panthers of Pittsburgh.

Pitt still has All-America Don Hennon, the 5-9 guard who had a big night as the Panthers defeated the Wolverines in Pittsburgh last year.

Coach Bill Perigo, starting his 7th season as Michigan head coach, will start a team averaging 6-4, however the tallest man is Gordie Rogers at 6-6.

★ ★ ★

Forwards are 6-4 George Lee and 6-5 M. C. Burton along with 6-4 John Tidwell and 6-foot Terry Miller.

Recent loss was that of Jack Lewis, captain, who was suspended after being involved in football parlay card incident.

Big loss is that of center Pete Tillotson and Perigo figures if Rogers does not come through he may have to move Burton to the pivot spot.

★ ★ ★

The Wolverines have two tournaments in December before starting league play Jan. 3.

They play in the Kent State tournament along with Tennessee, Wyoming and Kent State, Dec. 5-6 and also the 8th annual Motor City Classic with Army, Princeton and U. of D.

The Motor City tourney will be held at U. of D. fieldhouse Dec. 29-30.

★ ★ ★

The Titans start the season Monday night at home against Assumption College of Windsor.

The big game next week takes place at East Lansing where the Spartans play host to Detroit Saturday night, Dec. 6.

Coach Bob Calihan will have one of the tallest teams in history of U. of D. but on the 17-man squad there are only three seniors, the rest being sophomores and juniors.

★ ★ ★

Captain John Belholovek of Chicago and sharpshooting guard Ray Albee of Lackawanna, N.Y., are Detroit's outcourt men. They along with forward Ralph Uchison are the returning regulars.

Sophomores Bob Wright of Center Line and center Pete Corbett of Syracuse, N.Y., will crack the starting lineup. Corbett is a 7-foot center who lacks polish and weighs only 185 pounds.

The Titan game next Saturday is Michigan State's opener at Jenison Fieldhouse and coach Forddy Anderson will have a situation similar to that of Michigan's.

★ ★ ★

MSU will have good average height but no giant. John Green at 6-5 is the tallest starter and with him will be guards Tom Rand, 6-2, and Lance Olsen, 6-4. Forwards are Bob Anderegg, 6-3, and sophomore Horace Walker, 6-3.

Valparaiso at Hope

2nd Stringers Win for Pistons

DETROIT (UPI) — Usually it's "as George Yardley goes, so goes the Pistons," but last night Yardley netted only seven points while the second stringers took up the slack and gave Detroit a 101-93 victory over the Syracuse Nationals. Minneapolis drubbed Cincinnati 114-93 in the only other game in the NBA.

The triumph pushed the Pistons to the .500 mark on a 9-9 record, the second time this season they've been all even.

Chuck Noble, Joe Holup and Dick Farley combined for 51 points as the Pistons beat the Nats for the first time this season and stretched Syracuse's losing streak to six.

Tonight the Pistons continue their five-game series with the Eastern division clubs meeting the Celtics at Boston. Detroit hosts Philadelphia on Tuesday and New York on Friday and then plays the Knicks in New York next Saturday.

Colts Can Clinch Tie for Title Sunday

United Press International

John Unitas, Lenny Moore and the other frisky Baltimore Colts are 13½ point choices to clinch at least a tie for the National Football League's Western Division title Sunday by defeating the visiting San Francisco Forty-Niners. A capacity crowd of 57,557 will attend the game.

The Browns, a game ahead of the New York Giants in the Eastern race, are 13½ point favorites to defeat the Washington Redskins at Cleveland before about 50,000.

Each of the 12 teams will have two more regular season games after Sunday's contest.

The Colts (8-1) are two games ahead of the runnerup Chicago Bears (6-3) and will capture the Westeran crown outright if they win and the Steelers (5-4) defeat the Bears at Pittsburgh. The Bears are 3½ point favorites but the Steelers, much stronger since they obtained quarterback Bobby Layne from the Detroit Lions, now are the league's hottest club with four straight victories.

★ ★ ★

New York (6-3) entertains the Philadelphia Eagles (2-6-1). The Giants are nine-point choices but must stop Norm Van Brocklin, one of the league's busiest and best passers. The Los Angeles Rams (5-4) are seven-point favorites to defeat the Cardinals (2-6-1) at Chicago in the other game.

The Lions (4-5-1) and Green Bay Packers (1-8-1) are idle after playing Thursday with Detroit winning, 24-14.

San Francisco faces a stiff chore at Baltimore. The Colts have swept seven home games extending into last season and currently lead the league in scoring with 306 points while allowing the fewest, 124.

Unitas, Baltimore's No. 1 quarterback, was sidelined two weeks with cracked ribs but returned to action against the Rams last week and threw two touchdown passes to bring his 1958 total to 14. Moore has turned 37 catches into 809 yards and six touchdowns and also ran for six. One defensive man cannot cover Moore. Two men have trouble covering him—and the Colts have two other topnotch receivers in Raymond Berry and Jim Mutscheller. Berry has caught seven touchdown passes and Mutscheller five.

★ ★ ★

The Browns (7-2) face a return tussle with a Washington team they defeated two weeks ago, 20-10, by scoring 10 points in the last three minutes. Jim Brown, Cleveland fullback who already has collected an all-time season rushing high of 1,229 yards this year, gained 152 yards and scored two touchdowns in the mud during that game. The Redskins (3-6) have been hampered all season by injuries. The Brownies are in good shape.

New York probably will play again without Alex Webster, its No. 1 offensive right halfback. Webster has been sidelined two weeks with knee and ankle injuries. Charley Conerly, the team's No. 1 quarterback, has a back injury which may hamper him if he plays. Van Brocklin, the Philadelphia quarterback, has completed 164 of 308 throws this season for 2,010 yards and 13 touchdowns. He figures to test New York's defense but will miss one of his key receivers, Tommy McDonald. McDonald suffered a shoulder injury at Cleveland last Sunday.

The Bears must stop Layne's passes and also will be weakened by the loss of one of their top receivers, Harlon Hill. Hill is injured and out for the season.

Area Ski Resorts Plan for Big Winter Season

Backed by yesterday's and today's snowfall, plus machine-made snow, Mt. Holly opened today, Mort Graddis, operator of the Dixie highway area reported at noon. Limited skiing is available on a 4-5 inch covering. Gampian Mt. also was expected to open, Sunday.

By H. GUY MOATS

Friday's snowfall that laid down the season's first general covering of "the beautiful," has served to accelerate preparations for one of winter's most popular sports, skiing.

Operators of the several ski resorts in this section hoped the snow would continue. If it continues to fall in any considerable quantity, they indicated there might be some skiing during the weekend. However, there will have to be a decline in predicted temperatures for the period, and none of the area operators would make any definite decision early today.

Improvements have been effected at all clubs in this section; Grampian Mt., north of Oxford! Mt. Holly, north of Pontiac, and at the Summit Club, Fenton; Teeple Hill Club (Highland Recreation area); Bald Mt. Recreation area; Kandahar Ski Club (Pontiac Lake).

At least one new professional will be on hand. Grampian Mt. Club today announced the appointment of Gerry Monod, formerly at the Otsego Ski Club. Monod is a Swiss, has a long experience as skier and teacher.

Grampian Mt. has installed a new pomalift, has a number of rope tows and this winter offers a new, longer and wider slope. Additional parking area has also been provided. A ski shop and warming lodge is operated by Norm Archer, and Monod will conduct a ski school. Equipment is available at the shop.

Annual downhill and slalom races have been set for Jan. 30.

Mt. Holly has widened its fine beginners' slope and added a bit more zest to its other slopes, which have been given a steeper pitch.

Grampian Mt., Mt. Holly and Summit have snow machines, and these aids to putting down and keeping good skiing surfaces, will go into action as soon as conditions warrant.

Caberfae, Boyne Mountain and Snow Valley, upstate centers, opened today and two others hoped to open by tomorrow.

Caberfae, near Cadillac, has five to seven inches of snow, including nearly two inches of base. It planned to have four practice and three regular runs open.

Big Deer Derby Ends on Sunday

State's Season Also Closes Nov. 30 After 15-Days Hunting

There's just one more day of hunting for Oakland county nimrods who expect to bag entries for The Press' big deer derby. The Michigan regular gun season winds up Sunday, and the "derby" also ends at the same time.

However, eligible hunters (full-time Oakland county residents) have until Tuesday noon, Dec. 2, to get their entries to The Press sports department.

Present leader is a 235-pounder downed on Drummond island by Clyde Hazen, Walled Lake storeman.

Entries must be accompanied by a certified weight slip from food locker, market or fuel yards, signed by person weighing deer, by a disinterested witness, and by the hunter who shot the buck, which must be taken in legal hunting area of Michigan.

Reward for the winner is $150 in U. S. Savings bonds.

Veteran winger Bert Olmstead will be coaching the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight after being named to replace Billy Reay who was fired last night.

★ ★ ★

Defensive tackles Bob Miller and Gil Mains may be finished for the season due to injuries suffered against Green Bay Thursday. Former Wayne star Ben Paolucci may be added to squad to strengthen that department.

★ ★ ★

A Memorial Vesper service will be held Sunday afternoon at 4 at the Outer Drive Faith Lutheran Church in Detroit for the late Mel Ott. Officials of the Tigers will attend. Mrs. Ott is improved and is expected to recover completely from injuries suffered in the accident which took the life of the famed baseball star.

★ ★ ★

Ham Richardson, suffering recurring reactions from diabetes, today was forced out of next week's Victorian tennis championships.

★ ★ ★

The Detroit chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association has voted 2nd baseman Frank Bolling the most valuable player on the Detroit club during 1958. The writers gave Bolling 19 of 25 votes cast. He will be presented a trophy.

Navy basketball captain John Mascali has been dropped from the team as part of his punishment for running football betting pools. "Pools may be all right at other schools but not here," said an Academy spokesman today.

Must Find Way to Meet Federal Bills

Treasury Housekeeper of Finance

(The following is the last of six dispatches on the subject of money.)

By CLYDE H. FARNSWORTH

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Treasury — the nation's financial housekeeper — exerts a tremendous power on the buying and selling of money. To see this influence in action, take a look at some key figures.

The best guess is that the Federal government will spend $79 billion in the year ending next June 30. But revenues, largely from corporate and personal income taxes, are expected to come to only $67 billion, leaving a deficit of around $12 billion.

In addition, more than $40 billion of government bonds are coming due in the next seven months. This means the Treasury must find a way to get the holders of these bonds to buy new bonds instead of turning old ones in for cash.

The first National City Bank of New York says the Treasury will have "all its talents tested to invent securities that people will buy" and at the same time not to pay too much in interest rates for the money. Like any housekeeper, the Treasury is cost conscious.

The kind of securities the Treasury will offer and the reception investors accord them will have a big effect on interest rates throughout the nation.

If there is demand for the government bonds, the price of the bonds will rise on the market place and their yields will fall. Conversely, if demand is weak, prices will fall and the yields will rise.

Interest rates on many kinds of investments throughout the country generally hinge on government bond yields. Since government debt is about as safe as a debt can be, it becomes a bench mark for all other debt.

In its big refunding Aug. 1, the Treasury had to secure the aid of the nation's super bank or Federal Reserve System to support the market for government securities. This meant the super bank had to buy many of the securities itself.

The severe drop in governments had occurred largely because speculators, expecting prices to rise, had borrowed heavily to buy the bonds.

What they forgot about was the rapid recovery in business. With the recovery, they realized that borrowing would be needed for the growth of production. This in turn would work toward pushing up interest rates and pushing up bond prices. So everyone wanted to sell.

In addition, some investors, anticipating inflation as well as recovery, drew their money out of government bonds and bought common stocks.

★ ★ ★

Economists expect that the Treasury probably will offer a large number of short-term securities — those with a life lasting no longer than a year — to meet its coming financial needs.

These economists say investors probably will not be willing either to buy (or swap for maturing securities) long-term bonds except at interest rates higher than the Treasury can pay.

The Treasury, which has to compete with other big borrowers for money, faces on the one hand a business recovery pushing up the demand for credit all around, and on the other hand an interest rate limit of 4¼ per cent on securities it offers of more than five years' maturity.

But large offerings of short-term securities cause a swelling of bank reserves which in turn can bring about an increase in the money supply faster than goods and services are produced. The result is inflation.

Want to See a Gold Heart That Beats?

Dali's Sculpture Earning Money for Art Galleries

NEW YORK (UPI) — Salvador Dali is getting a sort of remote-control job raising money for hard-pressed art galleries.

★ ★ ★

Nearly $1,000,000 worth of jeweled sculptures designed by Dali actually will do the work.

The Owen Cheatham Foundation announced today it had bought two Dali collections of art-in-jewels One, completed in 1953, includes a gold heart that beats.

The other, finished early this year, has as its main attraction a diamond and gold cluster of flowers that open and close.

Cheatham, chairman of the board of Georgia-Pacific Corporation, a forest product producer, and his wife established the foundation in 1934, mainly to aid religious and educational projects.

★ ★ ★

Most of the 28 Dali art-in-jewels objects are religious in nature. Several are highly ornamented crosses.

The Cheatham Foundation bought the first collection from the Catherwood Foundation of Bryn Mawr, Pa. The second was bought from Alemany & Co., a New York jewelry firm.

The collections will be lent to any galleries desiring to show them as a means of raising money to improve facilities or buy new works of art.

A spokesman for the Cheathams said that tickets would be sold to admit persons to see the collection and the exhibiting museum would get all the proceeds.

★ ★ ★

"The Cheathams wanted to own the collection and at the same time do something constructive with it," the spokesman said.

Purchase price of the two collections was not disclosed but it was said to be somewhere near the million-dollar mark.

★ ★ ★

The most expensive piece is "The Living Flower," which stands 17 inches high, including the base, and contains 1,381 diamonds. The flowers open and close by means of an electrically operated system of levers and pulleys, designed by Dali. Current is supplied by a wire from a wall socket.

"The Living Flower" was said to be worth about $100,000.

Perfect Device for Astronomy

Meter Will Be Used to Measure Extent of Magnetic Fields

CHICAGO (AP)—A portable device for measuring the magnetic fields of the earth and heavenly bodies has been described here for the first time.

Dr. Peter A. Franken, a University of Michigan physicist, said the magnetometer will be suitable for use in space exploring rockets and airplanes alike.

He told a Midwestern meeting of the American Physical Society the device is superior to similar instruments because it is more sensitive, compact, light and rugged.

The magnetometer designed by research at the university differs from other such instruments because it uses helium in a special gaseous state called metastable helium, Franken said. He added that the helium makes possible the magnetometer's compact size.

★ ★ ★

Franken said the new device eventually will aid in determining the moon's magnetic field. It is extremely sensitive, he said, and could be attached to planes for mineral exploration on earth.

State Tax Take Still Runs Low

But Percentage Drop in November Smaller Than Previous Months

LANSING (AP) — Sales and use tax collections, the major source of state revenue, continued a slump in November that has persisted all year.

November collections totaled $26,036,190, down $824,581 or about 3.1 per cent from the total of $26,860,771 during the same month last year.

The total has been down from the previous year every month since last December.

Clarence W. Lock, deputy director of the State Revenue Department, said there was one ray of encouragement in the figure.

"The drop of slightly more than 3 per cent is encouraging from this standpoint," he said. "Collections during the last four months have been running about 7 per cent off."

"We're starting to close the gap and maybe by next month we'll be breaking even with the collections of a year ago. Previously we've been making our comparisons against good months. Now we'll be going against months when the slump was under way."

Lock said a pickup in automotive sales was mainly responsible for the lesser drop.

The first automobile to travel more than a mile a minute sped down a straightway course on Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, N. Y., on Nov. 16, 1901.

Several Jobs Offered – Potter

I Haven't Made Up My Mind Yet, Says Loser in State Election

DETROIT (AP) — Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich), who was defeated by Philip A. Hart in the Nov. 4 senatorial election, says he has been offered jobs in both government and private industry.

He declined to name the government post he had been offered.

"I've got several balls in the air but haven't made up my mind," Potter said.

Prior to his election to Congress as a representative in 1947, Potter worked as a rehabilitation advisor with the Veterans Administration.

After his defeat for re-election as senator, it was rumored that he had been offered the post of Undersecretary of Commerce, made vacant by the resignation of Louis S. Rothschild. There was no official confirmation either by administration sources or Potter of the rumor.

GM, Union Continue Canada Wage Talks

TORONTO (AP) — Wage negotiations between General Motors of Canada and United Auto Workers of America will continue during the weekend in an effort to reach agreement.

Talks between the company and Local 22 again bogged down yesterday. The company and the union issued a joint statement that said both parties "have agreed to meet continuously over the weekend in a sincere attempt to arrive at an agreement."

The union has rejected an offer of six cents an hour increase in wages in each year of a three-year contract. The union wants an additional wage boost to help close the gap — now about 40 cents an hour — between Canadian and U.S. wage rates.

Basic rate for General Motors employes in Canada is $1.85 an hour.

New Car Sales Enjoy Big Spurt

Ward's Auto Reports Note Biggest Activity Since Late June

DETROIT (AP) — A big spurt in new car buying developed in the second 10-day period of November, Ward's Automotive Reports said.

The agency said retail deliveries in the Nov. 11-20 period numbered 145,700 against 94,000 in the preceding 10-day period. "Not since June 21-30 this year when 17,775 cars were sold daily, has such new car market activity been noted," Ward's said.

It predicted 370,000-plus sales for all of November. That would top October by 100,000 (T) units. Ward's said dealer inventories are rising, topping 460,000 units on Nov. 20.

Output this week, curtailed by the Thanksgiving Day holiday, is placed at 120,733 cars and 19,246 trucks. Last week's production totaled 138,727 cars and 24,838 trucks. In the comparable 1957 week, 114,795 cars and 17,312 trucks were built.

Ward's estimated November car production at 500,000 (T) units, top month's volume since December 1957 when 534,714 cars were built. It said December production will go higher than this month's volume as overtime operations continue on a wide scale basis.

Nuclear Talks Due on Sunday

East-West Delegations Meeting at Geneva in Special Session

GENEVA (UPI) — A special weekend meeting of the Geneve nuclear test ban talks was called today, presumably to receive the Western reply to secret Soviet proposals on the nuclear controls controversy.

Soviet sources claimed the Russian plan offered a "major concession" to the West on the controls issue. However, details of the proposals, presented to the British and United States delegations two days ago, were kept secret.

The plan has been discussed at two closed-door meetings of the heads of the East-West delegations, but the West withheld its reply until today.

Western members of the 10-nation conference on surprise attacks also were preparing a reply to a Soviet proposal—an omnibus ground and aerial inspection proposal presented by Russia and its satellites yesterday.

The first Western reaction to the plan, which called for ground control posts in the NATO and Warsaw Pact nations and "open skies" aerial photography in Central Europe, was extremely skeptical.

Avon Community Chest Drive Ends Today, Still Short

ROCHESTER — Today marks the close of the Avon Community Chest Drive although the $25,000 goal had not been reached as of yesterday.

Mrs. William Potere, chest chairman, announced that $23,300 has been collected. Some solicitors in the Women's Division are still expected to turn in money and pledges this weekend, she added.

Freighter Is Safe After Sending SOS

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — The Coast Guard reported today that the Canada Steamship Lines freighter City of Windsor was safe in a Lake Superior island shelter waiting for her listing cargo to level.

The ship radioed for help Thursday night after 50-mile winds shifted the cargo.

The grain carrier T. R. McLaglen escorted the ship to the shelter of Michipicoten Island.

The package freighter Fort York and the Coast Guard Cutter Mesquite also answered the call for help.

The Mesquite resumed her original route after Capt. M. J. Corkey of the City of Windsor radioed he was remaining in the shelter until the cargo leveled.

File Suit for $150,000 After Bleachers Collapse

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — Forest B. Brooks filed a $150,000 damage suit yesterday in connection with the collapse of wooden bleachers at a football stadium in September.

Brooks said he suffered a broken leg and other injuries. Authorities had reported at the time of the accident that 72 persons were injured, some seriously.

Deserts Navy but FBI Finds Him on Ranch

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"I just lived in an outer world by myself," said Carlton Vance (Jiggs) Mings, describing his life since deserting the Navy during World War II.

The 37-year-old Yuba City, Calif., ranch hand—who before his desertion at Vallejo in 1945 had seen action in the Aleutians, at Iwo Jima and Tarawa—technically could receive the death penalty.

During his long absence without leave, Mings fathered three children. After his arrest he married the mother of his children in the brig at Treasure Island.

"I felt better when the FBI arrested me," Mings told newsmen Friday. A relative notified the FBI at Mings' own request.

California Blaze Being Held Off

Roughly 4,000 Acres Left Charred by Fire in Mountains

LOS ANGELES (AP) — About 500 fire-fighters, aided by subsiding winds, brought a Santa Monica mountains blaze near control today.

Approximately 4,000 acres lay smoldering and blackened near Calabasas, some 25 airline miles northwest of here. The fire, feeding on parched brush and trees, destroyed a small home, a cabin and a house trailer, anl injured two firemen. It started from undetermined cause Friday afternoon.

Sixty-foot flames driven by 40 mile-per-hour gusts burned to within about a mile of comedian Bob Hope's ranch. They consumed grass on Director John Huston's ranch property. The blaze swept across the Warner ranch, where firemen saved sets used in many Western movies.

★ ★ ★

Sheriff's deputies evacuated eight persons from homes in Stokes Canyon and about 12 others left voluntarily.

Two hot spots lingered on the southern edge, but firemen hoped to contain the blaze later today.

Firemen Walter Black was taken to Malibu Emergency Hospital with face and hand burns. Capt. A. F. McCrary was burned on the hands but stayed on the fire line.

★ ★ ★

Another fire about 18 miles farther northwest in Ventura County was contained late Friday night. It had charred more than 1,250 acres. Firemen kept it from reaching an oil field northeast of Moorpark in the Simi Valley.

Robbers Shoot Policeman, 29

Young Patrolman Dies After Gunfire With 2 New Jersey Thieves

RAHWAY, N.J. (AP) — A 29-year-old policeman surprised two men breaking into an auto agency Friday night and was killed in the gun battle that followed. The men escaped.

★ ★ ★

Patrolman Charles Bernoskie, a father of five, was shot four times, but he emptied his six-shot revolver. He staggered to the nearest house, stumbled into the kitchen and collapsed. He died 15 minutes later.

Louis Rupino, 32, was doing some upholstering in his garage nearby.

"I heard some voices in back of Miller's (the auto agency)" he said, "and I heard someone say 'Are you going to stop?'"

Then there was a burst of gunfire.

★ ★ ★

It was the Rupino apartment that the policeman stumbled into.

He had been shot twice in the head and twice in the chest. The patrolman died on the way to the hospital.

Police said the auto agency had been robbed, but they didn't know how much was taken.

Bernoskie had been on the force three years.

Robbers Treat Man for Heart Attack

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—A businessman says two robbers who held him up in his home may have saved his life with an act of mercy.

Ray Bloch, 57, told police the robbers stopped long enough to give him medicine when he suffered a mild heart attack, then fled with $4,000 in jewelry and cash.

Bloch, owner of a coal and coke company, said the men forced their way into his home Friday when he was alone.

He suffered the attack when they tied him up on the floor of his bedroom.

One of the robbers apparently recognized the symptoms, and asked Bloch if there was any medicine for him in the house.

The robber got the medicine and gave him some.

Police reported Bloch in good condition.

DETROIT (AP)—There are approximately 57 million automobiles on the nation's highways; more than 25 million of them are five years old or older.

These facts are shown in an Automobile Manufacturers Assn. survey. The association expects a sharp upturn in new car demand next year.

Harry A. Williams, managing director, says that while preliminary forecasts have put 1959 production at 5½ million cars, signs of unexpected strength in the market indicate the figures may be in for an upward revision.

The replacement market represents a large part of the demand the industry counts upon each year for its new car sales volume. The cars that go to the scrap heap each year usually are more than five years old, but overall scrappage is increasing.

The Auto Makers Assn. says the junk pile got approximately 4,200,000 cars in 1957. Their average age was 11.1 years and they had an average of 104,000 miles behind them.

Another interesting statistic developed by the survey is that 2,200,000 of the cars now in use were built before World War II.

Counting trucks and coaches, 68,470,000 motor vehicles are registered in the United States. This is more than three-fifths of the world's motor vehicles.

The figures show there is one car in the United States for every 2.6 residents. In China the ratio is one to 4,461 and in the U.S.S.R., one to 61.

Licensed to drive motor vehicles in the United States are 81 million adults, of whom 40 per cent are women. The 25 to 29 years of age group accounts for 10,200,000 of the licensed drivers.

The association says sales totaling nearly 50 billion dollars will be made by automotive retail merchants in the United States this year. It puts sales by motor vehicle dealers at 31 billion dollars; gasoline service stations $14,700,000,000 and parts and accessories dealers, $2,300,000,000. In 1929 automotive retail sales amounted to less than nine billion dollars.

Biggest market for America's automobiles continues to be California. The Auto Makers' Assn. reports California had 5,808,837 registrations at the latest count. Other larger markets are New York State with 4,272,518 cars; Pennsylvania 3,433,134; Ohio 3,350,063; Texas 3,259,896; Illinois 3,075,578; Michigan 2,823,146; New Jersey 1,890,340.

Design and engineering refinements in bodies, chassis, engines, suspensions, steering and brakes, the association reports, have enhanced general vehicle stability, balance and control in 1959 model cars.

A marked characteristic of the 1959 cars is the lower center of gravity. This provides better "cornering" ability and resistance to roll over. Several models have wider treads in addition to lower overall height.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD McINTYRE

TO OBSERVE GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. Edward McIntyre of 5669 Corunna Rd., Waterford, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at a dinner party at Devon Gables, Bloomfield Hills, tomorrow. Their four sons, Matthew, Edward, Hans and Vernon and two daughters, Mrs. Howard Driller and Mrs. John F. Williams and their families will join in the celebration. The couple has three grandchildren.

Andy, 9, Parks Car in Kitchen, Not Garage

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—When nine-year-old Andrew Hernandez' father asked him to park the family car in the garage he did just that—and then some.

He parked it in the Hernandez garage, went right through the wall and parked in another garage, belonging to Mrs. Ida Baron, and then continued on into Mrs. Baron's kitchen, knocking her off a rocking chair.

Mrs. Baron, 64, was not injured and the boy received only minor injuries.

Andrew's father was booked on a drunk charge at Lincoln Heights jail.

State's 'Mac' Apples Enjoy Bumper Year

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan apple growers came up with a record 2,600,000 bushels of McIntosh variety this year, making that type the leading variety for the first time in 10 years.

The Michigan Crop and Livestock Reporting Service yesterday said this total is a 40 per cent increase over last year's production and was 22 per cent of the state's 11,600,000-bushel total apple crop.

The Jonathan production was down 14 per cent from 1957 at 2,500,000 million bushels and took up 21 per cent of the total. The amount of Northern Spies was 1,900,000 million bushel, an increase almost twice over last year while the Delicious variety was up just seven per cent over a year ago.

These four varieties totaled 71 per cent of the crop.

The service said the 1958 production of fruit in Michigan totaled 504,000 tons, about two per cent more than last year. There were "sizable declines" in amounts of cherries from 1957 but a record pear crop and a good apple and grape crop offset this loss.

John J. Robinson, 45, of 40 Maple St., pleaded guilty before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum yesterday to drunk driving and was sentenced to two days and $100 or 22 days.

Bridge Queen on Honeymoon at Mackinac

EAST LANSING (UPI) — A Mackinac Straits Bridge queen will brave drifting snow and slippery roads tonight to return to the mighty span—on her honeymoon.

Georgia Cotsikas, Ingham County queen for the bridge dedication last June, was scheduled to be married to James Archer at 7 p.m. in the Michigan State University Chapel.

They will drive as far as possible toward the bridge tonight.

"I hardly got to see the bridge in June," Georgia said.

The 20-year-old bride is a MSU cheerleader. Archer, 21, is now employed at the Michigan State Police headquarters and hopes later to become a State Trooper.

The couple will spend most of their time in the Straits area, and will return to East Lansing Wednesday.

Consul in Japan Captures Thief

KOBE, Japan (AP)—U. S. Consul George O. Kephart of Washington, D. C., cornered and captured a would-be thief who entered his home early today.

Police reported Kephart was awakened by a noise about 2 a.m. He grabbed a hunting gun, located the intruder and forced him into a corner. The consul later turned him over to police.

Meader Wants USIA Put Back

State Representative Sees Confliction With State Department

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. George Meader (R-Mich) said today he thinks the U.S. Information Agency and the State Department frequently work at cross-purposes.

"I would like to see USIA put back into the State Department where it belongs," Meader said. "It has no business as an independent agency."

★ ★ ★

Meader said two recent examples of what he called USIA failures to mesh with State Department policy occurred in Mexico and Iran.

In Mexico, he said, USIA distributed literature praising the benefits of outside development of oil resources.

"This naturally met with strong objections in Mexico, where the oil industry is nationalized," Meader said.

He said the Voice of America also erred in playing up the recent divorce of the Shah of Iran while Iranian information media were generally ignoring it.

"The USIA should be an arm of the State Department. It should not be in the independent news business competing with the established press services," Meader said.

★ ★ ★

He stated he was thinking of drafting a bill which he expected would correct the situation, but planned first to investigate further.

Meader is a member of a government operations subcommittee currently studying Voice of America operations.

You Really Aren't Well

LONDON (UPI) — Antarctic explorer Sir Vivian Fuchs told an audience yesterday "If you really look like your passport photo, chances are you aren't well enough to travel."

It's Really Simple

Hot Water Well Mystery Is Solved

MONMOUTH, Ill. (UPI) — The fear of the unknown had turned many an anxious glance toward Chalmer Lovedahl's tenant farm.

People whispered about the Lovedahls' earth-locked secret. Shrewd minds were perplexed. Wagging tongues were taxed. Wits laughed—nervously.

Some warned of fearful phenomena brewing under this western Illinois community. News commentators spoke of it in hushed, solemn tones.

The Lovedahls, their 10 children, every resident within rumor distance of the farm, scientists, newspaper readers across the country —all wanted to know why Lovedahl's well produced hot water.

For four months the 36-year-old well had been producing water as hot as 110 degrees. It was hot enough for a bath, hot enough to be overlaying a burning coal vein, even hot enough to suggest a volcano.

★ ★ ★

"We have to put it in the refrigerator to cool it for drinking," said Lovedahl's wife, Rachael.

A letter-writer in Ottumwa, Iowa, urged the Lovedahls to abandon the farm before the well water was transformed into gas, and "when that happens, you'd better all stand back!"

The mystery is no more. It was solved yesterday.

The Illinois Water Survey said, after pumping the well dry and examing the water, that nobody need worry about a catastrophe.

A leaking hot water pipe was draining into the well.

Roz Starring in 'Wonderful Town' Sunday

NEW YORK — Rosalind Russell will recreate her Broadway role in "Wonderful Town" when the hit musical comedy comes to the CBS television network as a live, two-hour special from 9 to 11 p.m. tomorrow. Joined by Jacquelyn McKeever as her sister Eileen, Sydney Chaplin as her romantic vis-a-vis, and members of the original Broadway cast, Roz is expected to score in this new medium (to her) just as she has taken over on the stage and in motion pictures.

On Broadway the New York Drama Critics' Circle voted "Wonderful Town" the top song-and-dance show of the 1952-53 season, and in Variety's annual poll of first-string critics Rosalind Russell was cited for giving the best female performance in a musical.

Miss Russell, who professes she can neither sing nor dance, chalks up her success in "Wonderful Town," her first musical role, to vitality. "The first requisite for lasting success in show business is vitality!

"Talent may get you started," she says, "but it takes vitality to absorb the shocks and knocks, make the soul-jarring adjustment laugh off the mistakes, and stay in there punching."

★ ★ ★

Miss Russell started out talented and built up her vitality along the way. She grew up in a Waterbury, Conn., home where her father fostered in his seven children an awareness of others: Each child had to give part of his allowance to, and take an active interest in, a charity.

James E. Russell, a distinguished trial lawyer, also taught his children the economic facts of life. His will, for example, stipulated that after completing school each child be required to make his own way for three years before coming into his share of inheritance.

Roz decided to make her way in the theater, and upon graduation in Tarrytown-on-the-Hudson she enrolled at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York City. In the summer she wangled a spot iwth a stock company and played a different role every night in a tent at Lake Placid.

As a result of one of her portrayals—as a Southern belle—one critic wrote that "this lovely Connecticut girl deserves some sort of prize—a gag, perhaps."

★ ★ ★

No one since has suggested gagging Rosalind Russell — and it couldn't be done, anyway. Her fine command of English continually triggers a cascade of knowing words on many subjects. She loves to talk and to write.

She is a member of the Authors League of America, and one of her original screen stories, "The Ungarded Moment," was made into a motion picture by Universal-International. Miss RUSSELL'S wr have also been published in leading magazines.

As an actress, however, she was not discouraged by her nomination for a gag, and has indeed gone on to become considerably more famous as an actress than as a writer.

Smallest Straits Ferry Likely Sold at $25,000

LANSING (AP) — The first of the Straits of Mackinac ferries to be sold as surplus by the state is scheduled to wind up its days as a storage bin for potatoes.

Sidney M. Woolner, chief deputy commissioner of the State Highway Department, said an offer of $25,000 has been received for the City of Cheboygan — oldest of the now-retired ferries.

★ ★ ★

The State Highway Department and the transportation committee of the State Administrative Board have recommended approval of the sale, Woolner said. The administrative board is expected to formally approve the transaction next week.

The City of Cheboygan, a converted car ferry built in 1906, is the smallest and oldest of the surplus vessels. It has a gross tonnage of 1,780 tons.

The best previous offer for the vessel was $10,850 from the International Export Co. last spring. This was rejected.

The $25,000 offer was made by Edward H. Anderson of Chicago, described as a potato merchant.

A spokesman for the state administrative division said he understood Anderson planned to rip out the inside of the vessel and use it for the storage of potatoes.

"We figure it's about the best offer we'll get," said Woolner. "It isn't doing us any good lying idle right now and the insurance alone costs $1,000 a year."

The state still is trying to sell four other vessels from the ferry fleet, put in mothballs since the opening of the Straits Bridge. These are the City of Munising, the City of Petoskey, Straits of Mackinac and the Vacationland.

Woolner said some queries have been received about the other vessels "but nothing definite enough to talk about at this time."

State Sales Tax Revision Urged

Change Would Benefit Low-Income Groups, Professor Asserts

LANSING (AP)—Dr. Harvey E. Brazer, Associate Professor of Economics at the University of Michigan and the chief architect of the latest plan to revise Michigan's tax structure, says this proposal would benefit both business and low-income groups.

He said the plan, if adopted, would ease the "unfair" tax burden on low income groups with large families and improve Michigan business climate.

Brazer was research director for the 18-month study of Michigan's tax setup by a citizens advisory group.

A novel feature of the plan to p... a nine dollar rebate from sales tax collections to persons in low-income brackets would provide relief to those now hardest hit by the three per cent sales tax, Brazer said.

"The major objection to the sales tax has always been that it bears heaviest on those least able to afford it," he said. "A rebate is the most efficient way of easing the burden on these people."

"Businessmen," Brazer continued, "will also find something to compensate them for the dreaded corporation profits tax. The program should vastly improve the tax climate for business. Some corporations may be paying a little more, but overall business taxes will be cut.

Brazer said people with incomes of more than $5,000 will carry most of the load under the proposed plan.

"These are the people who are the principal beneficiaries of many state services—such as higher education," he said.

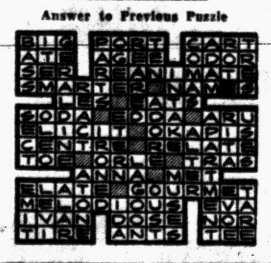

"Michigan's tax structure now bears heavily on the lower income groups. The plan would be a step toward correcting this iniquity."

Gov. Williams, Wife Plan Trip to Florida Dec. 11

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams plans to leave Dec. 11 with his wife, Nancy, for a week's vacation at a secluded place near Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Mrs. Williams still is convalescing from a virus infection that hospitalized her for more than two months earlier this fall.

Captain Lands DC6 Safely on Foam

BOSTON (AP)—A calm United Air Line captain landed a big DC6 plane on a blanket of foam Friday night after circling Logan International Airport for an hour while his flight engineer manhandled the wheels into landing position.

★ ★ ★

The plane, en route from Chicago, skipped a scheduled landing at Hartford, Conn., when the hydraulic system operating the landing gear failed to function.

There were 41 aboard, including the crew of four with Capt. Loras Diedrich, 37, Winfield, Ill., in command.

★ ★ ★

He brought the four-engined plane down smoothly in a three-inch thick blanket of foam spread by emergency crews for a slide in case the plane made a belly landing.
