Indians War on Klan

HAPPY HUNTING — Charlie Warriax, left, and Simeon Oxendine, Lumbee Indians who took part in the rout of a Ku Klux Klan rally near Maxton, N. C., Saturday night, smile over a KKK banner which they captured. The Indians were angered by burning of two KKK crosses near Indian homes the past week. Today Sheriff Malcolm McLeon said he would ask a grand jury to indict the Rev. James Cole, of Marion, S.C., a self-styled KKK leader, on charges of inciting to riot. Cole's rally ended with Klansmen and spectators scrambling for safety as hooting Indians emptied rifles, shotguns and pistols into the meeting field.

Ike Offers Economic Facts

Sees Upswing if Prices, Wages Not Excessive

President Asks Powers of Business to Avoid Hampering Excesses

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower acknowledged today that a business decline is taking place but said that promising trends point to an upswing soon if unjustified price and wage increases are avoided.

In his annual Economic Report to Congress, the President pointed to threatened excessive price and wage boosts as a possible roadblock to a business upturn which his advisers say should start this spring or in the early fall.

Eisenhower did not use word "recession" in the 199-page document. Administration officials admitted that what is happening is a minor recession, but they called it a "readjustment" which will end as soon as economic growth forces already present gain the upper hand.

The President appealed to powerful groups in the economy to allow these forces to become stronger by avoiding excesses that would hamper them.

He warned against excessive price and wage increases and said the alternative is either hurtful inflation or Government controls "incompatible with our free competitive institutions." This was not a threat to propose controls, but a warning that they may come eventually.

To provide the proper climate for new growth, the President laid down these "musts":

— Businessmen must avoid price increases that are not justified by costs.

— Labor must understand that wage increases that outrun improvement in productivity per worker or that cause higher prices

Williams Offers Amnesty for Returns by June 30

Bait for Unpaid Intangibles Tax

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams today announced a period of amnesty for persons who owe the state intangibles tax but have never filed returns.

He said those who voluntarily file a return and pay up before June 30 will be excused from penalties which the state revenue department can levy against delinquent taxpayers.

The governor said his action does not require legislative approval, but nevertheless that it would be included in an intangibles tax increase plan he will present to lawmakers tonight.

A boost of 21 million dollars will be asked for the current fiscal year ending June 30, and an equal amount in fiscal 1958-59, to tide the state over financial shoals immediately ahead.

"The state doesn't want the taxpayer's hide in the form of penalties," he said. "The state only wants the taxes owed and it needs the money now."

A spokesman for the state revenue department said its investigators have turned up an average of 3,000 delinquent taxpayers annually in recent years.

Williams said those who take advantage of the amnesty will be charged only the amount of their back taxes, plus six per cent interest.

The governor said the revenue department generally has followed a policy of forgiveness with respect to penalties, but not interest, toward those who pay up back taxes voluntarily.

Thus, in effect he will formalize a practice usually followed by the department, he said.

"However," he said, "people haven't known about this procedure, and a lot of them we assume are holding off payment because they are afraid."

Penalties assessed against those who do not pay voluntarily range up to 25 per cent of the tax owed plus interest of 12 per cent a year in civil cases, and up to 100 per cent of the tax bill in cases involving fraud.

The governor estimated that up to one and one-half million dollars might be paid over by delinquents as a result of the amnesty.

He said he also will ask the Legislature to authorize $250,000 for hiring of additional auditors to stiffen enforcement.

Revenue officials, he said, have estimated this would round up an additional two and one-half million dollars in the next fiscal year.

The governor reminded taxpayers the intangibles tax does not apply to government bonds at any level, social security, pensions and the like.

Anticipate 90 Per Cent Federal Funds for First Link in Super Road

The first 35-mile section of the proposed north-south expressway past Pontiac will be under contract by the second quarter of 1960, according to a $73 million Oakland County highway construction schedule disclosed today by State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

The section, running from east of Pontiac to a point just south of Flint, will cost an estimated $32.8 million, of which 90 per cent will be in anticipated federal funds, Mackie said.

Mackie revealed a schedule for spending a total $73 million in anticipated state and federal funds on Oakland County roads over the next five years.

The major projects contained in the schedule were announced by Mackie last fall as part of his proposed five-year plan for new Michigan highways.

Other details about the north-south expressway, planned as a link in four-lane, divided, limited-access route from Detroit to Mackinac and Sault Ste. Marie:

The portion from Pontiac south to a connection in the vicinity of 11-Mile road and Stephenson highway will be placed under contract in the second quarter of 1961 and will cost an estimated $22 million, according to the schedule.

Coordinated with these two sections, the southernmost portion, from the Detroit River north to Grand boulevard in Detroit (called the Walter P. Chrysler expressway), will be placed under contract in 1960. At the same time, Mackie said, plans will be drawn up and right-of-way acquired at that time to link the southern and northern portions of the road together sometime after 1962.

A breakdown of the estimated cost of the Pontiac to Flint section showed the 29-mile portion from Pontiac to Grand Blanc will cost $26.3 million, and the six-mile portion from Grand Blanc to the road's terminus at the new Fenton-Clio expressway will cost $6.4 million.

1. A proposed extension of Northwestern highway from Eight-Mile road north to the vicinity of 11-Mile road to be under contract by the second quarter of 1960.

2. Connected with this, a 9.5 mile east-west expressway in the vicinity of 11-Mile from the proposed Northwestern expressway to the completed Brighton - Farmington expressway, to be under contract by the fourth quarter of 1960. Ninety per cent federal aid is also anticipated for this road.

Landslides, Quakes Flay Peru, Ecuador

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

LIMA, Peru — Landslides, earthquakes, tidal waves and snow struck sections of Latin America this weekend, leaving a grim train of death, destruction and injuries.

Peru was hardest hit. Reports, some of them delayed, said at least 128 persons perished in two landslides and recurrent quakes.

An earthquake rocked northern Ecuador Sunday, heaving up a tidal wave that hit the Pacific port of Esmeraldas, and killing at least 12 persons. Some 45 were injured and four persons were missing.

Reports said three children were killed when a ward of a children's hospital collapsed in the quake. The governor of Esmeraldo Province said five customs officials drowned when a launch was sunk by a huge wave in the Esmeraldas harbor.

The governor also said 30 per cent of the buildings in Esmeraldas were damaged extensively.

The earthquake hit Esmeraldas at 9:08 a.m. (Pontiac time). Residents fled in panic into the streets, while ships and boats in the harbor sought safety in the open seas.

A report from Guayaquil said it was hit by the tidal wave and that the town of Las Palmas was under 12 feet of water for some time. It said the Enrique Dufer Hotel and several other buildings collapsed.

Searchers Scour Pacific for 2 Planes Carrying 17

HONOLULU (AP)—An armada of ships and planes continued into the second day today the search of 75,000 square miles of the mid-Pacific for a missing Military Air Transport Service cargo plane with seven men aboard from Travis Air Force Base, Calif.

The four - engined C97, flying from Honolulu to Kwajalein, last was heard from 385 miles southwest of Honolulu.

Eight Navy and Coast Guard vessels and 20 rescue planes combed the search area.

GUAM (AP)—SOS signals caused the Air Force to widen the search area to 50,000 square miles today in a hunt for a B50 weather plane that vanished while tracking a typhoon.

The signals were monitored yesterday from the area 600 miles west of Guam where the plane with 10 crewmen aboard disappeared Tuesday. The faint signals were heard in Guam, Hawaii, Anchorage and Adax.

The Air Force was having trouble pinpointing the signals,

You'd Better Keep Snow Shovels Out

Snow shovels may be in order today and tomorrow. The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts light snow accumulating up to 2 inches by tonight for the Pontiac area.

The prediction for Tuesday is mostly cloudy, with snow diminishing to flurries, and a little colder with a high near 26.

UAW Wants 80 Per Cent

To Ask Layoff Pay Hike

DETROIT (AP) — A high-ranking United Auto Workers official says the union will ask the nation's carmakers to hike supplemental unemployment benefit (SUB) payments to 80 per cent of take-home pay in new contract bargaining this spring.

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president and director of its General Motors Department, expanded on the proposal on the union's TV program last night. He said one of the main objectives in the contract talks would be extension of SUB.

The new plan would require auto firms to pay enough in addition to state unemployment compensation to give laid off workers 80 per cent of his take-home pay for 52 weeks. The average hourly pay in the industry is $2.40.

The present SUB program gives workers 65 per cent payment for the first four weeks and 60 per cent for the next 22.

Under the new plan, the 80 per cent would last for the entire benefit run.

Woodcock said present trust funds set aside for payment of SUB should be sufficient to handle the broader program. However, the auto makers would be asked to hike their contribution to the SUB fund if necessary, he added. The auto companies now allocate five cents for each hour worked.

Woodcock appeared on the program in answer to criticism of the UAW's recently announced bargaining program which includes a demand for a profit sharing plan.

Lines were being drawn today for a likely United Auto Workers Union family fight over the top leadership's attitude on the shorter work week.

Opponents of the decision of President Walter Reuther and co-officials to sidetrack the shorter week in this year's contract bargaining were reported mobilizing forces for the UAW's big special convention starting Wednesday.

The union will hold a two-day convention of 3,000 delegates to act on proposed demands in 1958

City Hit-Run Victim Dies as Police Hunt for Driver

Mrs. Anne Gilmore, victim of a hit-run driver Friday night, died at 10:45 a.m. today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital as police pressed their search for the motorist.

Mrs. Gilmore, 67, of 456 Harvey Ave. had been in critical condition with internal injuries and multiple fractures of her leg and arm since the accident.

She underwent surgery Friday night and again Saturday morning in an attempt to save her life.

He told police Mrs. Gilmore was crossing South boulevard from south to north when the westbound car struck her.

The impact knocked Mrs. Gilmore some 50 feet from the intersection.

The driver, according to witnesses, stopped about 100 feet from the scene, got out and examined his damage, picked up a piece of chrome trim knocked loose by the impact, and then drove off.

Police later found other bits of chrome trim and a hood ornament at the scene. The ornament was stamped with a serial number which is being traced.

Oakland GOP Meeting Tonight

South Dakota Governor, President to Address Party Gathering

Oakland County Republicans will gather this evening at the Elks Temple to hear an address by South Dakota's Gov. Joe J. Foss.

The governor's talk will preceed a closed circuit television address by President Eisenhower from Chicago which will be seen at similar gatherings throughout the nation.

The dinner marks the fifth anniversary of President Eisenhower's inauguration and proceeds will go for the party's 1958 election expenses.

Tickets for tonight's affair are $50 for men and $25 for women, and are available at Republican headquarters, 351 Woodward Ave., Birmingham.

By MAX E. SIMON

Larry Schwartz, the 23-year-old youth from Utica who defied a U.S. State Department ban on travel to Red China last summer, is home.

One of 40 American students who was invited by Chinese students to travel behind the Bamboo Curtain and see the Red Star first-hand, Schwartz said today during the six-week trip through China the Communists made no effort to talk politics with any of the group.

"We were too busy doing other things," he said. "I'm sure that if they had tried to get us to communist lectures, none would have attended."

Schwartz said that he had no interest in international politics prior to his trip, and was totally ignorant of who Premier Chou En-lai was when he came face to face with him.

Schwartz said that while the group was in Red China, they had almost complete freedom of movement.

"The Chinese never refused us anything," he said. "They went out of their way to help us. In various sections of the country, they'd tell us what we could do, and we did the actual deciding. They didn't try to influence us at all.

"Of course, there were certain areas in the country which we were not allowed to enter, such as the militarized zone close to Taiwan, but that was to be expected."

Schwartz said the only place that the Americans didn't get to, that they wanted to see, was Tibet. "They told us that the transportation facilities were not up to standard," he explained.

"Our visit in China created no great stir there," he said. "We weren't at all publicized. I'd walk into a town with an interpreter and the people on the street would be very surprised to meet an American.

★ ★ ★

Schwartz said that he knew nothing of the politics of the other Americans making the trip.

Schwartz' chief impressions of Red China were that it was a "vast, poor land. But you couldn't help get the feeling that things had improved since the Communists took over."

He said that American missionaries who had been in China for as long as 30 years said they had witnessed a surprising change in the Red nation.

"The institution of land reform in China, bringing the nation out of a state of feudalism, means a great deal to the people," he said.

Another highlight of the trip to China was a tour of the northern industrial section, where Schwartz saw the first auto factory there and where he drove a truck off the assembly line.

"The workers there were very proud of their product," he said.

He said that Chinese workers were housed in buildings connected to the plants. He described working conditions as good, and production low.

Schwartz told of meeting with Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, generlly consdered to be the most important leader in the Red regime behind ruler Mao Tse-Tung.

Schwartz, who had learned a few words of Chinese on the way to Peiping from the world youth festival in Moscow, said that he met the Chinese premier one evening at a reception being held for the students.

"I had no idea who he was when he walked in," Schwartz said. "But I figured that he was someone important because of the way people gathered around him.

"So I went up to him and said, 'How do you do.'

"He looked up in astonishment and replied, 'You speak Chinese.'

" 'Why not,' " I said. 'What is your name'?"

"He told me it was Chou En-lai.

"I then gave him this greeting: 'Long live Chou. Long live China.'

"And he replied, 'Long live Larry. Long live the United States.'

"That's all there was to it. I later found out what a powerful person I had been speaking with."

★ ★ ★

Schwartz said he saw Chou En-lai once again, when he granted a press interview to the students visiting in China. Schwartz said that he asked the Chinese premier the following question at the second meeting:

"Is it true, premier, as I have heard, that there is strong dissension, a strong disagreement among certain leaders of China concerning internal policy? What exactly are the disagreements involved, how can they be reconciled, and do you feel that there is any personal struggle for power going on."

Through an interpreter, Chou replied that "Much to his regret, he has heard nothing of that sort." The Red leader said, "It

Traffic Claims 11 Lives in State

Toll Covers Period From 6 P.M. Friday to Midnight Sunday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic accidents claimed 11 lives in Michigan over the weekend.

The Associated Press tabulations covers the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

Raymond A. Farmer, 42, of Route 1, Midland, was killed early Sunday when his car left M18 where it runs dead-end into U.S.10 north of Midland, and traveled 175 feet into a field.

Clarence Johnson, 45, of Monroe, died early Sunday when his car left U.S.24 in Frenchtown Township.

HEADON CRASH KILLS 2

Harold Frahser, 37, and Glenn Bowman, 47, both of Grand Rapids, were killed Saturday night when their car collided head-on with another on M21 near Grand Rapids. Critically injured was Roy B. McKervey, 26, of Route 2, Cheboygan, who police said was driving in the wrong lane of the divided highway.

Clarence Nybakke, 59, of Walled Lake, was killed Saturday night when his car left Pontiac trail where it runs deadend into Milford road in Oakland county and went into a field. A passenger, Otis Rhodes, 26 also of Walled Lake, was injured.

James Hall, 23, of Ecorse, was killed Saturday when his car piled into the offices of a Marine supply firm in Detroit.

Stanley Dombrowski, 69, of Hamtramck, was killed Friday night when struck by a car while attempting to cross a street at an intersection in Detroit.

* * *

Albert Feinberg, 52, and his wife Estelle, 48, of Grand Rapids, were killed Sunday night when their car crashed headon into a truck on slippery U.S.131, about one mile north of Saugatuck in Ottawa County.

A major demand for Reuther and the top echelon is for a profit-sharing arrangement with the auto companies. Their dropping of the shorter work week has brought criticism from rank and file leaders, however.

One of the most forceful critics has been Carl Stellato, president of the big Ford Local 600. Stellato and others are reported forming a convention caucus.

While a battle appeared almost certain, one group said this would have no effect on the UAW's ultimate stand in the bargaining effort.

Reuther and the UAW International have recommended that the shorter work week be dropped this year as a bargaining demand because of national economic conditions.

Woodcock says workers have been sharing in auto industry financial losses "for many years" through their layoffs.

He said that the workers lost income when the companies scheduled short work weeks to balance production with demand.

The union official, commenting on statements that the UAW proposal would deprive the auto industry of expansion capital, said the car makers could obtain capital for expansion by borrowing money on the interest market "like medium-sized and small businesses."

Four Killed, Four Hurt in Chicago House Fire

CHICAGO (INS)—Four persons, including an infant, were killed and four women—one of whom was 104 years old—injured today in a fire that swept a Southside Chicago rooming house, routing 50 residents.

Authorities said the persons who died in the blaze were trapped on the buildings' third floor, an attic converted to living quarters.

The dead were Stephanie Walker, 21 months, James McNeil, 45, his wife, Virginia, 40, and a man identified as Mrs. McNeil's brother.

Mrs. Louanan Walker, 24, mother of the dead child, was among the injured. She and two other women, Mrs. Ella Lowler, 104, and Mrs. Navaree Ladd, 47, were released from Provident Hospital after treatment for minor injuries.

* * *

A fourth woman, Mrs. Mary Matthews, 34, was transferred to County Hospital suffering first and second-degree burns.

Three of the injured, including Mrs. Lowler, were carried to safety by firemen.

John Hillebold, fourth division fire marshal, reported the blaze started from undetermined causes in a second-floor stairwell. He estimated damage at $6,000.

Coroner Walter E. McCarron said the converted attic did not have a fire escape and he declared his office would "fully investigate" the tragedy.

* * *

He said a lack of fire escapes and what he called division of the attic into 13 rooms was "one more case where money has been put ahead of human lives."

der contract by the second quarter of this year.

Mackie's announcement also confirmed the scheduling of the proposed Perry street widening in Pontiac to be under contract by the second quarter of this year.

This project involves about 3.5 miles of widening, grading and resurfacing from U.S.10 (Saginaw street) north to the city limits.

Also scheduled to be under contract this year are the extension of M24 as a four-lane divided highway from Lake Orion north to the county line; resurfacing of M15 from Clarkston north to the county line and widening of M87 in Holly.

Mackie said, "It should be clearly understood that this schedule is entirely contingent on three factors:

"1. That anticipated federal and state revenues are forthcoming. If the revenues are increased, the program can be accelerated. If they are reduced, the program will be delayed.

"2. That the state and local communities can reach agreement on route location and cost-sharing.

Lake Orion Man Injured in Crash; Condition Fair

A Lake Orion man is reported in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital today with possible internal injuries received in a car accident Saturday evening, according to Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies.

Arthur M. Bergman, 53, of 1342 Maple Point, was driving west on W. Clarkston Rd., Orion Township, when his car collided with one driven by Stanley B. Kubacki, 30, of 314 W. Clarkston Rd.

Kubacki, and his wife Margaret, 22, were treated for minor injuries and released.

President Offers Economic Facts

will promote inflation and slow down economic growth.

— The Government must follow policies which will foster growth "with reasonably stable prices." This would mean restraint by Congress in voting appropriations or tax changes, and the proper management of credit policy by the Federal Reserve board.

* * *

The President did not criticize the independent Federal Reserve. However, he commented that it continued its tight-money policy "unchanged until mid-October" although production and employment had leveled off and turned down in some lines in late summer.

Some administration spokesmen said they thought the Federal Reserve had been too severe in its credit restrictions, but they were hesitant to criticize the agency and did not blame it for the recession.

Looking ahead in 1958, the President said "There are grounds for expecting that the decline in business activity need not be prolonged and that economic growth can be resumed without extended interruption."

He said Administration policies "will be directed toward helping to assure that result."

* * *

The President based his confidence of a business upswing on a number of factors. Among them were continued high business confidence despite the minor decline that has taken place thus far, good consumer demand, easier credit, the defense build-up, prospects for greater spending by state and local governments and the outlook for a rise in residential and other construction.

However, White House advisers expressed the fear that, if wage and price increases are excessive, there will be a consumer resistance to the prices and a strong effort by the Federal Reserve to keep them from causing inflation. This many-sided struggle, they said, could lead to excessive unemployment.

* * *

Mr. Eisenhower's warning on prices and wages takes on special significance in view of the coming negotiations for new wage contracts in the automobile industry.

The Day in Birmingham

Recognition Event Feb. 6 to Honor 5 City Employes

BIRMINGHAM — Five Birmingham city employes will be honored Feb. 6 at the city's annual Recognition Banquet.

* * *

Awards will be made for valor and 30 and 25 years of service.

Police Sgt. Richard Brown, wounded in a gun battle with a burglar last fall, will receive the city's first award of valor.

Stanley Pepperell of the Birmingham Fire Department will be recognized for his 30 years of service.

* * *

Honored for 25 years of service will be Irene Hanley, city clerk, and Frederick Kemp and Samuel Snell, both volunteer firemen.

Miss Hanley, who practically has made a lifelong career at her post as city clerk, is a native of Birmingham. As the city has grown, so has her department. Today there are several clerks working under her supervision.

Among her other duties, Miss Hanley serves as secretary of the planning board and the taxicab board, and with the exception of schools, she handles all city elections.

City commissioners tonight will have one public hearing. It concerns the paving of Elm street from Hunter boulevard to Bower street.

Commissioners also will consider a request from residents of the Hunter boulevard area protesting the parking lot at the corner of Forrest street and Hunter, which is used for parking of buses.

The complaint states that the buses are started shortly after midnight and stand until early morning hours with motors running. The residents charge that this creates noise and noxious fumes and as such is a nuisance and health hazard.

Twice within a week, burglars entered the Mars Coffee Shop at 1393 S. Woodward Ave., Birmingham.

On the first visit last Wednesday night, they made off with a 25-caliber automatic pistol, between $400 and $500 in cash and eight reels of motion pictures.

Peter Nick, owner of the shop, said apparently either the burglars' curiosity was aroused by the films or they just like movies.

Sometime after 5:30 yesterday, the shop again was broken into and this time a 16-mm. film projector was taken.

Donald M. Teer

Service will be held tomorrow for Donald M. Teer, 60, a Jackson industrialist and banker who was a director of the Murray-Way Corp. of Birmingham.

Mr. Teer, who died yesterday, was board chairman of the Teer, Wickwire Co., manufacturers of airplane and auto parts, and was also director of the National Bank of Jackson.

Other corporations for which he served as director are Yardman Corp., General Products Corp. and Aeroquip Corp., all of Jackson.

Several programs have been slated for the Young Adults of the Birmingham YMCA. Tomorrow the group will go to Hayride Lodge in Rochester. On Jan. 24 pictures and a talk will deal with skiing and proper equipment.

Alwin Wied, assistant principal at Detroit Lutheran High School, will address the Jan. 22 meeting of the Parent-Teacher League of Our Shepherd Lutheran Church. The meeting will be held in the church's youth building at 8 p.m. Wied will speak on "Continuing Education after Elementary School."

Car Rams Utility Pole on Dead-End Street

A driver who did not realize he was on a dead-end street rammed a utility pole early this morning, slightly injuring himself and a passenger.

* * *

William P. Park, 49, of 273 Marion St. told police he crossed Franklin road on West Wilson avenue, because a car in front of him obscured his vision of the dead end.

* * *

Ike Goes on Air Tonight at Dinner for Republicans

The 67-year-old President arranged formal observance of the anniversary this evening at a $100-a-plate GOP dinner in Chicago where he will be guest of honor and make a nationwide television-radio political address (NBC) as the party's chief.

In Chicago, the President and the First Lady will stay overnight at the Stockyard Inn near the huge International Amphitheater where tonight's dinner is being held — and where Eisenhower was nominated for a first term in July 1952.

They plan to fly back to Washington tomorrow.

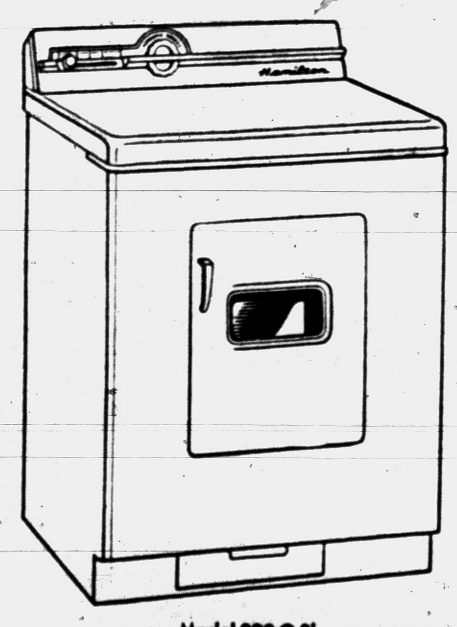

First white men to settle in Arkansas were French traders who in 1686, established a trading post which is now marked by a state park.

Bob Considine Says:

Paulist Fathers Order Formed by Convert

NEW YORK (INS) — How is a religious order formed? Is it primarily vision? Zeal? Luck?

There is no well-marked highway, of course. A great Roman Catholic congregation familiarly called the Paulist Fathers, now celebrating its first century, emerged from an extraordinary set of circumstances.

Its founder was a convert to Catholicism named Isaac Thomas Hecker, born on Hester street in New York City in 1819, the last of the five children of German immigrants. The father, John, was not a religious man. The mother was, indeed. She was reared a Lutheran, became a Methodist in this country and was a very devout one long after her son had made his spectacular mark in the Catholic Church. Another son, brother of the founder of the Paulists, was an Episcopalian. Isaac Hecker, as a boy, attended the Methodist church.

As a young and not well schooled boy, he nearly died of smallpox. But when told by his mother that he must resign himself to death, he said, "No, Mother, I shall not die now. God has a work for me to do in the world and I shall live to do it."

During the summer of 1842, with his mother's blessing, Hecker moved to Brook Farm, a sociological experiment at West Rosbury, Mass., but later he switched to the House of the Thoreaus at Conford, to study under George Bradford. It was while there that he decided to join the Catholic Church. He was received into it on Aug. 2, 1844, at old St. Patrick's Cathedral.

He must become a priest. He chose the Redemptorist Order and was sent to study at St. Trond in Belgium.

Fellow novitiates treated him as a fool. He became the servant-baker of the household. But at last he attained priesthood, was returned to America and assigned to a parish in Greenwich Village, to work among German immigrants.

He rebelled. Hecker protested that the congregation would grow more rapidly if he and the other priests were permitted to speak English. When his New York superiors rejected his suggestion he took off for Rome to put his case before the Redemptorist General.

On Aug. 30, 1857, while there, he was expelled from the order for disobedience. Pope Pius IX supported him, however, gave him (and four others who supported him) permission to leave the Redemptorist Order, encouraged him to form a new congregation. Hecker formed one of the most articulate, zealous missionary bands of all, the first religious society of men to flower from the American people and devote itself to them.

Chicken Causes $10,000 Accident Crossing Road

Mabe braked sharply to avoid the fowl. Behind him, James Robert Ricks, Negro minister of High Point, swerved to avoid hitting Mabe.

★ ★ ★

The State Highway Patrol said the truck clipped both cars, climbed an embankment and jackknifed. Ricks banged into Mabe and Mabe squashed the chicken.

The Patrol estimated the total damage at $10,000.

Frame Becomes Table

Old picture frames have many uses. They can be made into wall shadow boxes, for example. And if the frame is large enough, it can be converted into a coffee table with the addition of a leg at each corner, a base and a glass top.

Chattanooga School Damaged by Bomb

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—An explosion of a home-made bomb near a Chattanooga Negro school of 3,000 pupils caused damage estimated at about $1,000, police said today.

★ ★ ★

The explosion ripped apart two doors to the school's elementary division, shattered 23 windows, cracked plaster walls and damaged other doors and door frames. No injuries were reported.

★ ★ ★

Brown said police had no clues.

Principal C. C. Bond said school would resume Tuesday. Today was a scheduled off-day.

The building was constructed in 1954 at a cost of nearly $2,800,000. It is one of the largest Negro schools in the state.

★ ★ ★

The explosion was the latest in a recent series of incidents of violence in Negro-populated sections of Chattanooga and Hamilton County. A Negro home has been damaged by dynamite, a vacant house in a racially mixed area has burned, and a dynamite blast tore a hole in a field near a Negro section.

Police say they know of no reason for the incidents.

Los Angeles Growing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—This county's population increased nearly 600 a day in 1957, the county Regional Planning Commission reports. The population Jan. 1 was 5,614,212, an increase of 212,938 for the year, the commission estimated. The growth since the 1950 Federal census is 1,462,525. The commission reckoned the city's population at 2,366,457.

The Republic of Panama has a population of 650,000.

Hal Boyle Says:

Swat Those Fruit Flies, Save Your World

That, if you think rabbits know how to multiply, consider the fruit fly, which produces as many as 25 generations in a single year. If all the descendants of a pair of fruit flies lived and bred, in just 12 months they'd make a ball 96 million miles in diameter. So swat that fruit fly and save your world!

That Milton C. Herman, the mink furrier, says: "The only thing today's formal dresses leaves to the imagination is what's holding them up."

That some people are afraid of a smart doctor. After William Harvey published a paper early in the 17th century on his discovery of the circulation of the blood, almost all his patients deserted him, although he was still the trusted physician of two kings.

That if you need calcium here's a way to get it cheaply: save your eggshells, dry them thoroughly, then grind them fine enough for comfortable swallowing. But don't overdo it—you might sprout feathers.

That in old Hungary a bigamist was subjected to a cruel and unusual punishment. He was compelled to live with both his wives.

★ ★ ★

That if you're weary of paying laundry bills, cheer up. A textile-like paper that can be used for making clothing is being developed. ("I'm tired of pine shirts; don't you have anything new in elm?")

★ ★ ★

That the great ambition of little Princess Anne of Britain is to own a kitten. But she can't have one because Queen Elizabeth's spirited Corgi terriers won't allow a cat near Buckingham Palace.

That Monique van Vooren, the Belgian bombshell, has learned this about America: "Some people think the end justifies the means—if it means making ends meet."

★ ★ ★

That the pharse "cool as a cucumber" doesn't make much sense. Thermometer tests have proved that on a hot day the inside of a cucumber is warmer than th air outsid. Just what than the air outside. Just what can a man believe?

Right, Left Lead Guatemala Vote

But Election Outcome Won't Be Known Until Late This Week

GUATEMALA (AP) — Candidates of the right and left were leading today in first returns from the presidential election in this one-time Communist beachhead of the Western Hemisphere. But the outcome of yesterday's voting was not expected to be known until late this week.

★ ★ ★

Provisional President Guillermo Flores Avendano said no matter who won, the danger of Communist influence in Guateala probably is less than in the United States.

Unofficial returns from 94 of Guatemala City's 183 polling places gave 18,393 votes to Gen. Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes, 62-year-old veteran right-wing aspirant, and 13,811 to Mario Mendez Montenegro, 47, of the leftist Revolutionary Party.

Col. Jose Luis Cruz Salazar, 38-year - old middle-of-the-roader backed by the late President Carlos Castillo Armas' Democratic Nationalist Movement (MDN) had 6,861 votes. Col. Enrique Ardon trailed far behind with 457.

★ ★ ★

Ydigoras had been expected to score heavily in the capital, but returns from rural districts could change the trend. Ydigoras carried the city in the Oct. 20 presidential election which was voided after the general's supporters staged bloody riots protesting proclamation of a government candidate as the winner.

★ ★ ★

Voting yesterday was generally quiet. Flores Avendano warned that the Army stood ready to uphold the decision of Congress, which will make the official canvas of the election returns and choose between the two high men if no candidate gets a majority of the total vote.

Husband Makes Choice

DENVER (AP)—Mrs. Mary Asmus was granted a divorce when she told Dist. Judge Joseph E. Cook she gave her husband a choice between her or the chickens he kept in the house and quoted her husband as saying: "I'll take the chickens."

Cadillac

World's Best Answer to a Detour!

Pretty rough road, you'd say? Well, you certainly wouldn't be aware of it if you were sitting where these happy travelers are.

For they're riding in a new 1958 Cadillac—and here, without a doubt, is the world's best substitute for a new highway!

Just what is this special Cadillac magic that works such wonders on a rough roadway? Well, let's take a look and see what happens to a bump when it meets the wheels of a new 1958 Cadillac.

First of all, it is softened by big, buoyant Cadillac tires . . . then it is gently cushioned by those massive, perfectly balanced Cadillac coil springs . . . or, if the extra-cost option of air suspension is present, it is subdued by that miraculous cushion of air that cradles the frame . . . then it is diminished still further by Cadillac's new hydraulic shock absorbers and by its specially engineered system of rubber body mountings.

And, of course, should any suggestion of it still remain, it meets its final demise in those deep, luxurious, Fleetwood-crafted seat cushions . . . and in the car's marvelous steadiness and balance.

All in all, this is just one more good reason why a journey in a new Cadillac is the finest distance between any two points.

We invite you to try it—and to get the full facts about all of the new Cadillacs, including the distinguished Eldorado Brougham.

John L. Lewis Describes Today's Labor Leaders

Dean of American labor leaders JOHN L. LEWIS recently uttered some rather pithy observations on his fellow contemporaries. Just what this all proves is unknown, but it does point up his opinion of the big wheels of labor today.

★ ★ ★

The New York World Telegram and Sun commented in an editorial that Johin L. was the nearest American equivalent to the late George Bernard Shaw as an individualist and "phrase maker." We certainly agree with this description.

★ ★ ★

The newspaper carried the following three quotes made by Mr. LEWIS: GEORGE MEANY, President of the AFL-CIO, "An honest plumber trying to abolish sin in the labor movement"; WALTER REUTHER, President of United Auto Workers, "An earnest Marxist chronically inebriated, I think, by the exuberance of his own verbosity"; ANEURIN BEVAN, British labor leader, "He's trying to bring about an economic and political millennium in Great Britain entirely through the medium of political action—I prefer that while waiting for the millennium the American workman should enjoy a high standard of living."

★ ★ ★

While other labor leaders seem to be getting the lime light, JOHN L. is basking in his past accomplishments and playing the role of elder statesman for labor.

Building Outlook Good

President EISENHOWER'S budget for the next fiscal year calls for more financing for special housing projects for the elderly; raising the ceiling on FHA home mortgages to $30,000 and addition of $3 billion a year for the next five years to FHA's mortgage insurance authority.

A construction news and marketing agency reports that contracts for future construction totaled $298 million in November, an increase of 14 per cent over a year ago. Contracts for the first 11 months of 1957 showed nonresidential building up 19 per cent; residential, 8 per cent and heavy engineering, 19 per cent.

The omnibus housing bill signed by the President on July 12 reduced to three per cent down payments on the first $10,000 of the cost of a new home. Previous to that the rate had been 7 per cent. Down payments also were reduced on amounts over $10,000. The provisions of the bill checked a two year slide in private residential construction. Outlays rose steadily throughout the rest of the year although over the entire year such construction was down about 10 per cent from 1956 due to shortage of mortgage money.

★ ★ ★

However, in August the maximum interest rate on FHA insured loans was raised and down payment requirements lowered as authorized by the 1957 Housing Act. Then in December FHA Commissioner Mason notified branch offices to go easier in applying standards as to how large an income a family must have to qualify for a loan.

★ ★ ★

More recently the commissioner announced that home buyers no longer would be required to furnish their own cash to cover the closing costs on purchase of a house. Discount rates on FHA insured mortgages were adjusted regionally to encourage lending. These steps designed to stimulate home building have been received enthusiastically by the industry.

Government forecasters say that total 1958 construction should be $49.6 billion. This would mean an increase of 5 per cent over last year's total of $47.3 billion as estimated by the Departments of Labor and Commerce. The construction industry, a major segment of our economy, has good prospects for the coming year.

'Motor Scooters Should Be Banned From Highways'

I'd like to suggest a method to cut traffic deaths. In October our 15-year-old son lost his life in a needless accident. Why must we have motor scooters on our highways when they are such death traps to our youth? Any boy with the ambition we expect him to have can, on a part time job or paper route, save enough money to buy a scooter, and he can get a license at 14. Yet they can't get insurance for it.

★ ★ ★

Since my son's death I've read of many accidents resulting in death to boys 14 to 16. We didn't permit our son to own one, but he was invited to ride home from school, and like any red-blooded boy of 15, he accepted. He was killed instantly, the driver injured, and police records show the accident was the driver's fault. He was a boy of 14, and his driving experience was not adequate, yet he applied and received his driver's license the day before the accident.

★ ★ ★

Parents cannot control the lure of scooters when they are all around, but if they were taken off the highways, more boys could grow into adulthood and the fear mothers know as their sons reach this age could be spared. I'd like to see a move made to ban motor scooters from our highways and save Michigan's youth.

'Job Not Finished but We Get a Bill'

Are we the only residents in Perry Park who object to being billed for storm drains before they're finished or even working? Or could it be we're the only ones that can't afford to pay for them right now; therefore we yell the loudest?

I didn't think anyone got paid for a job until it's finished, and the way it looks out here now, they'll be lucky to have it done by summer.

I just hope it works better than our sidewalk they put in last year. (I think it's still there, but we haven't seen it since the day the cement dried, as it has either been covered with mud or water, and we paid $100 for that.) Of course we could always move if we could find a sucker to buy this place with all the mess going on.

Pontiac Area Excels in Another Winter Sport

Winter: Not such a bad season, if you avail yourself of this area's great possibilities.

A sharp slap on the wrist comes in a letter from

of Pontiac Lake. He writes: "In your praise for Oakland County as a winter resort, you haven't been strong enough on ice fishing."

And Seymour's right. A little study shows that over 5,000 anglers already are pulling the finny tribe through the ice of our 423 lakes. Over a thousand fish houses dot these lakes in numbers from a lone individualist to several dozens on some lakes. Thousands more do it without the shelter of a house. And there's room for as many more.

Can any similar area in Michigan (or the entire nation) show a better setup for this health building and meat budget saving winter sport?

David Lawrence Says:

Ike's Letter Not Revealed in Russia

WASHINGTON — How can the course of peace be advanced in the world when the very words of the President of the United States, seeking settlement of outstanding issues, are not even printed in the newspapers of the Soviet Union?

LAWRENCE

How can there be solidarity and understanding and mutual helpfulness exerted between our own allies when the newspapers of Great Britain and France, for instance, do not print the full text of such an important document as the one President Eisenhower sent last week to Bulganin discussing how a "summit" conference can be successful?

These are practical questions that could have more of a bearing on whether there is adequate defense against aggression than all the discussion in our congressional committees about how to get missiles produced fast or in the sessions of the parliaments abroad about whether missile bases are going to be established there.

For, unless peoples can restrain the impulses of dictators in Eastern Europe, there is danger of a miscalculation that could lead to global war. The most important way to advance the cause of peace is to keep peoples well informed. Moral force can be a real deterrent of war.

The very fact that many days now have elapsed without publication of the Eisenhower text in the Soviet Union illustrates dramatically that the Communists fear the American viewpoint may possibly be given support by the Soviet people.

The press of the United States gave extensive space to the Bulganin letter to the President, many newspapers printing it in full text.

The President's reply was issued about 3:30 p.m. last Sunday, Washington time—which is 8:30 p.m. London time and 9:30 p.m. Paris time—but it took more than an hour for it to be transmitted, so the text did not get to either capital early enough for the editorial writers there to read it in full before writing their comments for Monday morning papers. Editorial appraisal was made on the basis of fragmentary summaries.

Here was a document important enough for every editor in Europe to read in full before making any comments. Yet, because of a tradition that yesterday's news is not treated again the next day, the full text of the American letter has not yet been printed by any newspaper in Great Britain or France.

How, then, can the important people of Great Britain, including the members of parliament and the news writers and the commentators abroad, still get the full text of President Eisenhower's letter?

The United States Information Service cabled the document to its European stations and the cost of cable tolls was thereby saved for the European press. But this does not help much unless the general public, too, can read the full text of such an important document.

★ ★ ★

While the West German, French and British press gave more than normal space in handling long extracts from the Eisenhower letter, the spirit of candor and sincerity and the constructive suggestions contained in the Eisenhower letter cannot be conveyed by summaries, fragments or excerpts. It has to be read in its entirety.

Here is a cause for real concern. If ideas are not transported fully from country to country, the road to understanding is blocked by unnecessary barriers.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Iron Plus B Vitamins of Aid in Gray Sickness

I may be wrong, but I believe I invented the name, the gray sickness, for what physicians call hypochromic anemia, nutritional deficiency anemia or iron deficiency anemia many years ago.

DR. BRADY

This common type of anemia occurs chiefly in women in the forties. At 35 or 40 a woman should be at her best, at the peak of perfection.

In days gone by, a type of anemia called chlorosis was common in teenage girls. Chlorosis, otherwise called "the green sickness," was characterized by a peculiar greenish pallor.

In many cases the physician could recognize it at a glance, because of the greenish pallor. Examination of the blood showed only moderate diminution in the number of red corpuscles but a great diminution in the hemoglobin (iron coloring matter).

Dr. Osler asserted that "the treatment of chlorosis affords one of the most brilliant instances of the specific action of a remedy—it is a minor matter How iron cures chlorosis."

All I have to say about it now is that I never observed such extraordinary effects of iron. But never mind—chlorosis is so rare today that some physicians have never seen a case.

★ ★ ★

A similar type of anemia—number of red corpuscles only moderately diminished, but amount of hemoglobin (coloring-matter) disproportionally diminished — seems to have taken the place of chlorosis. This is called hypochromic anemia, nutritional deficiency anemia or iron deficiency anemia.

CALLED GRAY SICKNESS

Because of the grayish pallor of the girl with this type of anemia, I call it the gray sickness. It occurs generally in women in their forties.

The gray sickness is caused, not by iron deficiency alone, but by insufficient daily intake of iron and other essentials of good nutrition, particularly vitamin B complex. Therefore the remedy must not be just iron but also an adequate daily ration of the B vitamins.

For further information and advice send me, in care of this paper, a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and ask for the pamphlet on the Gray Sickness.

A third type of anemia is called secondary anemia. It is the consequence of bleeding, frequent slight bleeding as from internal hemorrhoids, or occasional or periodic excessive bleeding as in menorrhagia, or occult bleeding, from peptic ulcer. The color of secondary anemia is white.

Pernicious anemia, cause of which I do not know, is characterized by a greater proportionate diminution in the number of red corpuscles than in the quantity of hemoglobin. The skin or complexion of pernicious anemia is waxy lemon sellow.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

Cost of Superhighways Doubled in Eight States

WASHINGTON (AP)—New Bureau of Public Roads figures showed today that eight states have doubled—in two years—cost estimates of their parts of the nation's 41,000-mile superhighway system.

On the other hand, four states now figure their portions of the interstate system of expressways will cost less than they originally estimated.

ESTIMATES IN TABLE

The estimates were in a new table submitted by the bureau to Sen. Gore (D-Tenn), chairman of the public roads subcommittee which has been conducting a study of progress on the big highway program.

Gore asked for the figures so state-by state comparisons could be made with the old estimates.

The new cost figures are particularly important since future allocations of federal funds to the states will be based on them. Washington pays 90 per cent of the cost of the interstate program.

STUDY FIGURES

Gore has said his subcommittee will study the figures carefully before voting on them. Congress must approve the new estimates before they can be used as a basis for apportionment of money to the states.

The eight states which reported their estimates have doubled are: Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, Tennessee and Virginia. Those with cost figures below the original level are: Connecticut, Michigan, New Jersey and Oklahoma.

For the nation as a whole, the average increase in estimated costs was 37 per cent. The old estimates added up to $27,600,000,000. The new figures total $37,600,000,000.

Bureau of Public Roads officials have cautioned that the new estimates are not strictly comparable to the old. In some cases mileage of the interstate system within a state has been altered, and standards have been changed.

Many states have contended their original estimates were hastily prepared and faulty. These estimates were submitted to a commission headed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay. The commission was named by President Eisenhower in 1954 to recommend a highway program.

The original estimates were used as the basis for the 1956 law which set up the 90-10 financing ratio for the superhighway network.

Neither the old nor the new estimates are based on the full 41,000 miles of the interstate system. The old figures are based on 37,760 miles, all that had been allocated at the time these estimates were made. The new ones are based on 38,548 miles, which was the total allocated prior to Oct. 18, 1957.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Investment in College Pays Off

Herbert is at the educational crossroads. Should he go to college or take a job? He says he doesn't know what he wants to pursue as a life work, so he wonders if it is sensible to spend money on higher education while in that uncertain state. Read the advice below. Scrapbook this case for later discussion.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, I get out in February," he began. "My mother wants me to go right into college, but my Dad thinks I ought to go to work in his store.

DR. CRANE

"And I actually don't know what I want to do as a life work. So would it be sensible for me to go on to college and spend all that money, since I still have no special career in mind?

"If so, what kind of college should I select?"

COLLEGE FACTS

If you are smart enough to make passing grades, by all means go on to college for at least a year.

Dr. Paul C. Glick, of our Census Bureau, analyzed the educational background of Americans and compared it with their future earning power.

★ ★ ★

Please notice his challenging dta, tabulated below:

Education	Life Income
1-4 yrs. grade	$ 72,000
Grammar Grad.	116,000
High School Grad.	165,000
1-3 Yrs. College	190,000
College Grad.	268,000

Your high school diploma is thus worth $49,000 in future earnings so by all means graduate from high school.

And then take a minimum of at least one year of college, for you will thereby add at least $25,000 more to your income in later life.

Teenagers who quit high school to make some quick money for the purchase of a jalopy to impress a girl friend, are actually pulling the financial rug out from under their future wife and children!

So be smart! Get more education both for your cultural growth and also to give your family a better living standard through all the years ahead.

"An investment in knowledge," said wise old Benjamin Franklin, "always pays the best dividends."

★ ★ ★

WHAT COLLEGE

"But where should I go to college?" Herbert asks, "especially since I don't know what I want to do in later life?"

In this situation, you can profitably attend a Business College, where stress is placed on valuable practical subjects, such as Business Law, Applied Psychology, Public Speaking, as well as Accounting, Typing, Medical Secretarial courses, etc.

Unless you expect to spend four years in college preparatory to teaching or entering the professions, such as law, dentistry, medicine, etc., you will get better dividends from Business College than from one or two years of general subjects in the Liberal Arts colleges.

Even if you go to a Liberal Arts college for only a year, however, you will profit all through later life in a broader outlook, plus a wider cultural horizon.

And your confidence will be greater, which is one reason why

Dr. Glick's data showed that even one year of college adds $25,000 to one's later lifetime income.

You teenagers have a life expectancy nowadays of about 55 more years after you graduate from high school, so don't rush into teenage weddings and quick jobs. Look ahead. Plan for the long pull.

And to help you, send for my "Vocatonal Guidance Kit," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

It also contains some excellent Rating Scales that are suitable for discussion material or even party games for your church groups.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain, Stops Itching as it Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Despite General's Protest

Senators Persist in Grilling Officers

WASHINGTON (INS)—Senate defense probers made it clear today they will continue to ask military witnesses the kind of questions that Gen. Nathan F. Twining protested as a "hell of a note."

The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in secret testimony before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee made public late yesterday, charged that congressional committees put military officers in a position of being "insubordinate" to President Eisenhower or of perjuring themselves.

He said that senators have a duty to get information but he protested that once the President has made a decision on how much money the services are to get, military witnesses should not be asked "is it adequate." He said this line of questioning is a "hell of a note."

But Sen. Francis Case (R-SD), told an interviewer he will continue to ask such questions. He said his subcommittee on military construction will want to know next week if emergency funds Eisenhower has asked for for the warning system and bomber dispersal are "adequate."

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-MO), former air secretary, said that "if Congress can't get the opinion of military officers, then I don't see the point of their coming up here (to testify) at all."

Both Case and Symington pointed out that Congress has the responsibility for the "purse" as well as of the "sword." Symington said this responsibility would be crippled if a witness is not allowed to speak up "after the President says 'This is it.'"

Symington told reporters: "What worries me most is that now the problem isn't only the people's right to know but also Congress's right to know."

The preparedness subcommittee will try to wind up next week its lengthy hearings on missile-satellite progrss.

THE STORY SO FAR: A blind in a train passing hers snaps up and respectable Mrs. McGillicuddy, on a prosaic trip to visit her friend, Miss Marple, fluttery old lady with a shrewd brain and a gift for solving crimes, see a man strangling a woman. After several trips over Mrs. McGillicuddy's route Miss Marple figures the body must have been thrown out as the train passes the neglected park of Rutherford Hall, built by Mr. Crackenthorp, rich manufacturer. She asks Lucy Eyelesbarrow, brilliant young woman who has made for herself a unique profession—taking temporary charge of households and running them like magic—to get herself employed at Rutherford Hall. Emma, Crackenthorpe's daughter, engages her, and Miss Marple is installed in the neighborhood posing as Lucy's aunt. On pretense of playing golf, Lucy searches for the body and finds a piece of fur on a bush below the railroad tracks. In a barn Lucy pries open a sarcophagus and finds the body of a murdered woman. Mr. Wimborne, Crackenthorpe's attorney, tells Emma the murdered woman was probably a foreigner. Emma asks if she was French. Police question members of the Crackenthorpe family but decide they wouldn't have planted the body on their own doorstep. Inspector Craddock goes to see Miss Marple.

CHAPTER 16

"Sir Henry got me to tell all about the Little Paddocks business," Inspector Craddock told Miss Marple. "Do you want to hear what he said next?"

"Please tell me," Miss Marple said, "if it is not a breach of confidence."

★ ★ ★

"He said, "Well as this seems a completely cockeyed business, all thought up by a couple of ladies who've turned out, against all probability, to be right, and since you already know one of these ladies, I'm sending you down on the case.' So here I am! And now, my dear Miss Marple, where do we go from here? This is not, as you probably appreciate, an official visit. I haven't got my henchmen with me. I thought you and I might take down our back hair together first."

Miss Marple smiled at him.

"I'm sure," she said, "that no one who only knows you officially would ever guess that you could be so human, and better looking than ever—don't blush — Now what, exactly, have you been told so far?"

"I've got everything, I think. Your friend Mrs. McGillicuddy's original statement to the police at St. Mary Mead, confirmation of her statement by the ticket collector, and also the note to the stationmaster at Brackhampton. I may say that all the proper inquiries were made by the people concerned—the railway people and the police. But there's no doubt that you outsmarted them all by a most fantastic process of guesswork."

★ ★ ★

"Not guesswork," said Miss Marple. "And I had a great advantage. I knew Elspeth McGillicuddy. Nobody else did. There was no obvious confirmation of her story, and if there was no question of any woman being reported missing, then quite naturally they would think it was just an elderly lady imagining things—as elderly ladies often do—but not Elspeth McGillicuddy."

"Not Elspeth McGillicuddy," agreed the inspector. "I'm looking forward to meeting her, you know. I wish she hadn't gone to Ceylon. We're arranging for her to be interviewed there, by the way."

"My own process of reasoning was not really original," said Miss Marple. "It's all in Mark Twain. The boy who found the horse. I just imagined where I would go if I were a horse and I went there and there was the horse."

★ ★ ★

"You imagined what you'd do if you were a cruel and cold-blooded murderer?" said Craddock looking thoughtfully at Miss Marple's pink and white elderly fragility. "Really, your mind—"

"Like a sink, my nephew Raymond used to say," Miss Marple agreed, nodding her head briskly. "But as I always told him, sinks are necessary domestic equipment and actually very hygienic."

"Can you go a little further still, put yourself in the murderer's place and tell me just where he is now?"

Miss Marple sighed.

"I wish I could. I've no idea—no idea at all. But he must be someone who has lived in, or knows all about Rutherford Hall."

"I agree. But that opens up a very wide field. Quite a succession of daily women have worked there. There's the Women's Institute—and the A. R. P. Wardens before them. They all know the Long Barn and the sarcophagus and where the key was kept. The whole set-up there is widely known locally. Anybody living roundabout might hit on it as a good spot for his purpose."

"Yes, indeed. I quite understand your difficulties."

Craddock said: "We'll never get anywhere until we identify the body."

"And that, too, may be difficult?"

"Oh, we'll get there—in the end. We're checking up on all the reported disappearances of a woman of that age and appearance. There's no one outstanding who fits the bill. The M. O. puts her down as about thirty-five, wealthy, probably a married woman, has had at least one child. Her fur coat is a cheap one purchased at a London store. Hundreds of such coats were sold in the last three months, about sixty per cent of them to blonde women. No sales girl can recognize the photograph of the dead woman, or is likely to if the purchase were made just before Christmas. Her other clothes seem mainly of foreign manufacture, mostly purchased in Paris. There are no English laundry marks. We've communicated with Paris and they are checking up there for us. Sooner or later, of course, someone will come forward with a missing relative or lodger. It's just a matter of time."

"The compact wasn't any help?"

"Unfortunately, no. It's a type sold by the hundred in the rue de Rivoli, quite cheap. By the way, you ought to have turned that over to the police at once, you know—or rather Miss Eyelesbarrow should have done so."

Miss Marple shook her head.

"But at that moment there wasn't any question of a crime having been committed," she pointed out. If a young lady, practicing golf shots, picks up an old compact of no particular value in the long grass, surely she doesn't rush straight off to the police with it?" Miss Marple paused, and then added firmly: "I thought it much wiser to find the body first."

Inspector Craddock was tickled.

"You don't seem to have ever had any doubts but that it would be found?"

"I was sure it would. Lucy Eyelesbarrow is a most efficient and intelligent person."

"I'll say she is! She scares the life out of me, she's so devastatingly efficient. No man will ever dare marry that girl."

"Now you know, I wouldn't say that . . . It would have to be a special type of man, of course." Miss Marple brooded on this thought a moment. "How is she getting on at Rutherford Hall?"

★ ★ ★

"They're completely dependent upon her as far as I can see. Eating out of her hand—literally as you might say. By the way, they know nothing about her connection with you. We've kept that dark."

"She has no connection now with me. She has done what I asked her to do."

"So she could hand in her notice and go if she wanted to?"

"Yes."

"But she stops on. Why?"

"She has not mentioned her reasons to me. She is a very intelligent girl. I suspect that she has become interested."

"In the problem? Or in the family?"

"It may be," said Miss Marple, "that it is rather difficult to separate the two."

Craddock looked hard at her.

"Have you got anything particular in mind?"

"Oh no—oh, dear me, no."

"I think you have."

★ ★ ★

Miss Marple shook her head.

Dermot Craddock sighed. "So all I can do is to 'prosecute my inquiries' — to put it in jargon. A policeman's life is a dull one!"

"You'll get results, I'm sure."

"Any ideas for me? More inspired guesswork?"

"I was thinking of things like theatrical companies," said Miss Marple rather vaguely. "Touring from place to place and perhaps not many home ties. One of those young women would be much less likely to be missed."

"Yes. Perhaps you've got something there. We'll pay special attention to that angle." He added, "What are you smiling about."

"I was just thinking," said Miss Marple, "of Elspeth McGillicuddy's face when she hears we've found a body!"

"Well!" is what Mrs. McGillicuddy said. "Well!"

Words failed her. She looked across at the nice spoken pleasant young man who had called upon her with official credentials and then down at the photographs that he had handed her.

Junior Editors Quiz on KING ARTHUR

QUESTION: Was there really a King Arthur?

ANSWER: King Arthur was the hero of many legends of the Middle Ages. According to most of them, he ruled the Britons in the sixth Century A.D. and his knights sat with him at a round table.

One of the legends says King Arthur's sword, called Excalibur, was given him by the enchanted arm of a lady which rose out of a lake. Here is a picture of Arthur receiving the sword.

There may have been a real King Arthur, although most historians doubt it. Those who believe he existed say the early history of England is not thoroughly recorded, and they contend Arthur could have ruled one of the many kingdoms that flourished in England in the sixth century.

FOR YOU TO DO: The story of King Arthur has been retold by modern writers in some of our very best story books. Ask your librarian for one.

(For submitting this question, Donna McCloskey of Clearfield, Pa., receives $10. If you have one, send it to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper. Tomorrow: How do cats purr?)

Reports Record in Jobless Pay

But U. S. Bureau Notes That More Workers Are Now Insured

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says 2,809,300 workers claimed unemployment compensation in the week ended Jan. 4 — an increase of 448,900 over the previous week and a new record total.

★ ★ ★

The Bureau of Employment Security said yesterday that although the figure topped the previous high mark set in January 1950, the current rate of unemployment among insured workers is 6.8 per cent, compared with 7.3 per cent in 1950.

Considerably more workers now are covered by the insurance system than were in the program eight years ago.

The Bureau said the largest increases in claims were reported in Illinois, Pennsylvania, Michigan, California, New York and North Carolina. Increases were reported in all but four states.

The agency said the rise was due mainly to job cutbacks in metals, machinery and automobiles.

Initial claims by newly unemployed workers rose by 78,600 to a total of 609,600 during the week ended Jan. 11, the Bureau said. That was another high, but the Bureau again pointed out that more workers now are insured.

CONSTIPATED?
New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Most constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that loses so much moisture that its contents become so dry they block the bowel; so shrunken they fail to stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE colon to action; to a normal urge to purge. And, of all laxatives, only new COLONAID, possesses its great moisturizing capacity plus its stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so gentle it has been hospital proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablets, today! Introductory size, only 98c, at all druggists.

GEORGES - NEWPORTS—SENSATIONAL NEWS

LOOK!

$200,000 STOCK DISPOSAL SALE

Use Our CREDIT TERMS

HERE'S THE REASON FOR THIS SALE!

We must buy goods anticipating your needs. This fall, winter and Christmas we bought the finest nationally advertised goods for you . . . but unforeseen record warm weather (December recorded a high of 58 degrees) did not allow us to move sufficient amounts of warm clothing for winter needs. The New York Transit Strike further complicated our delivery on Christmas goods. This created an overloading of goods; our policy is not to carry goods over to next season. We have decided to clear our store to make room for Easter goods (Easter comes earlier this year). Our loss is your gain.

Rescues Baby From Flames

Father Saves Son as Blaze Ravages Home in Waterford

A father is credited with saving his 9-month-old son when fire swept through a Waterford Township frame home at 11 a.m. Saturday.

George Chakroff and his five children were in the living room of their home at 7480 Elizabeth Lake Rd. when one of the boys stepped out on the front porch and saw flames burning a southeast bedroom.

Chakroff managed to get the children and his aged mother outdoors and then remembered the baby, Richard, was asleep in a back bedroom.

He dashed back into the flaming home and rescued the child as smoke and flames consumed the room. His face and hair were burned. Mrs. Chakroff was shopping at the time.

★ ★ ★

Three Waterford Township fire trucks were summoned and they were assisted by the Union Lake Fire Department.

Cause of the fire is still unknown and firemen said there was $6,000 damage to the $10,000 dwelling. It is covered by insurance.

3 Persons Injured in Crash on Maple

Three persons were injured in a headon collision Sunday night on West Maple road just east of Haggerty road in West Bloomfield Township, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

★ ★ ★

One of the drivers, Andy Griffith, 23, of 143 Reese St., South Lyon, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for minor injuries and released.

His companion, Jamees A. Oaks, 20, of the same address, was admitted with a possible concussion and is reported in satisfactory condition.

Patricia L. Kwolek, 19, of Detroit, a passenger in the other car, was also treated and released. The driver, Harold G. Dahl, 19, of Dearborn, was uninjured, said deputies.

Utica Youth Back From Red China

is a rumor which has for its purpose the sowing of discord."

He added that "if anyone should entertain such a hope that among the leaders of the Chinese Communist party there would be such dissension, he would be sorely disappointed."

To which Schwartz replied through the interpreter, "He must not regret that it is not true. I am happy to hear it."

★ ★ ★

Why did he want to visit Red China? Schwartz said that he was interested in people, and how they reflect their existence in art, music, literature, the theater and their general living atmosphere.

"I guess you might say that I'm interested in human nature," Schwartz said.

Schwartz, a 1956 graduate of the University of Michigan, was invited to visit Red China by Chinese students whom he met at the Communist-sponsored World Youth Festival.

He, along with 40 other Americans, accepted the offer to travel through China. The group left Moscow Aug. 13 and arrived in Peiping on Aug. 24. Schwartz stayed in China for six weeks, and left Peiping for Rangoon, the capital of Burma, on Oct. 3.

Most of the other Americans were flown back to Moscow, or went to India. Schwartz said he asked to be taken to Rangoon as he wished to make his way to Indonesia. He explained that he wanted to visit some students there he had met in Moscow.

But because of the difficulty in getting a ship bound for Indonesia plus the internal crisis in that nation, Schwartz changed his mind, boarded a ship for Singapore and another for Hong Kong, where he boarded a ship for San Francisco.

He docked in San Francisco Dec. 8.

He quietly returned to Michigan and has been working in the Michigan Employment Security Offices in Mt. Clemens.

Schwartz attacked the critical attitude of the State Department in discouraging the students from traveling into the No. 2 Communist country in the world. "They played into the hands of those who intended this for propaganda purposes," he said.

He pulled out a Communist Chinese publication in English and pointed to the following paragraph:

"Unlike the United States Government, China welcomes visits from peoples of all lands. The attitude of the United States State Department shows that it is not China who blocks the road to friendly reciprocal visits between Chinese and Americans."

★ ★ ★

"It was a point which they could easily capitalize on," Schwartz said.

Although the invitations in Moscow came ostensibly from a group called the All-Chinese Federation of Democratic Youth, Schwartz says he realizes that the money for their trip probably came "from the top."

"The group which invited us probably has millions of dues-paying members," he said. "It's almost impossible to pinpoint those who financed the trip."

Only 10 Americans were originally asked to make the trip. Schwartz said that it was the Americans themselves who asked that more of their delegation be allowed to visit Red China.

Schwartz said the trip was intended to be a "tour of the industrial and social reforms of the last eight years."

"Before we accepted the invitation," Schwartz said, "we consulted the American embassy in Moscow to find out what the position of our government would be on such a trip.

"Embassy representatives were hedging about this. They wouldn't be positive in not letting us go. In fact, they hinted that they couldn't do anything about it. I felt that it really didn't matter."

Schwartz said that a message was received in Moscow from acting Secretary of State Christian Herter pointing out that the passports of the American students "might be" taken away if they went to China. Schwartz felt that even this letter was "weakly phrased."

"After I found this out," he said, "I felt that they could do whatever they wanted with me after I had gone into China. I didn't care anymore and made up my mind to accept the Communist invitation.

Schwartz surrendered his passport to an immigration officer aboard the ship back to the United States. Otherwise, he says, he has heard nothing about his trip from the State Department.

He says that he has written the State Department recently, asking for the return of his passport.

He expects that it will be returned.

He won't be needing it soon. The Army will handle all his passport problems for the next two years. Schwartz has been ordered to report for induction Feb. 6.

'Crime Spree' Brings Arrests

Two Would-Be Bandits Held Following Chase Through Downtown

Two would-be bandits went on a short "crime spree" last night and led police on a chase that resulted in their arrest in a bar.

★ ★ ★

Police are holding David C. Mower, 30, and Walter J. Burnes, 53, both of 118 W. Lawrence St., for attempted armed robbery.

The pair was sitting in the Honey Bee Restaurant, 19 W. Pike St., at 8:35 p.m. when the conversation, according to Burnes, got around to money.

"We had been drinking some," Burnes told the police, "and the next thing I knew Dave pulled out this gun and said, 'I got a .45, let's get some money.'"

The two approached waitress Verble Starns and said, "This is a stickup." Miss Starns, who was not impressed by the pair, told police she laughed and turned her back.

★ ★ ★

The gunmen took to their heels and ran up to Saginaw street. In front of Lynn Jewelry at the corner of Saginaw and Pike they encountered Gertrude Tear of 639 Stirling Ave. and Clifford Snead of 70 Sanderson St.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT

Mower stuck his gun in Miss Tear's middle and barked, "Don't move or I'll shoot you," according to Miss Tear.

Burnes then said, "You're crazy," to Mower who promptly put the gun back in his hip pocket and ran off again with Burnes close behind.

★ ★ ★

By this time seven police officers had responded to the robbery call from the restaurant and had begun to trace the men.

Led by Lt. Donny Ashley, the police tracked the bandits through the front door of the Wayne Hotel and out the back door, up an alley, through a parking lot and finally into the Crystal Bar, 18 N. Perry St.

Lt. Ashley made the arrest but found no gun. A search of the pair's trail was begun and finally Ashley spotted it in the parking lot next to the attendant's shed.

The weapon turned out to be a pellet gun which superficially resembles a Colt .45 automatic pistol.

Detectives today said they would seek a warrant against the "robbers," but did not know if it would be for attempted armed robbery, carrying an unregistered gun, or just being drunk and disorderly.

Cranbrook Rink Attracts Students

Pontiac Press Photos

Weekends find much activity at the Cranbrook ice-skating rink. Area students find time to do a little skating whether they can cut fancy figure eights on the ice or need friends to hold them up. From left to right, Floyd Bunt Jr. finishes lacing Starr Walker's skates as Lynne Norvell receives an assist with her skates from Gary Downey.

Time out to get warmed up a bit seems to be the order of the day for Joan McDonald and Tod Williams. At the rink there is a cabin where weary skaters can relax for a while.

Taking a whirl around the Cranbrook rink together are Susan Fead and Jim Canfield. Kingswood-Cranbrook students find this a good place to spend some time on weekends.

Pancake Supper Slated by Washington PTSA

Committees have been announced for the Washington Junior High School PTSA pancake dinner to be held Thursday evening.

★ ★ ★

The dinner will be served in the cafeteria by parents and students. The flapjacks will be prepared by a group of fathers.

CHAIRMEN NAMED

Ofrin Huntoon, general chairman of the affair, has named as student chairman, ninth grader Earle Van Dyke; publicity and promotion chairman, Roger Gunn, assisted by students Peggy Warren, Ann Hodges, John Huntzinger, Ruth Ann Hoffman and Sally Huntoon.

Mrs. Ruby Brewer, clothing class teacher, is heading ticket distribution and sales. Assisting her are various homeroom treasurers, plus Mrs. Ronald Doig and Mrs. C. Richard Smith.

★ ★ ★

In charge of making house arrangements are Dan Murphy, Donovan Gillmore, Harry Arterburn, William J. Tiberg and student Ronald Boyce.

★ ★ ★

The Girls' Service Club, sponsored by Mrs. George Yansen, will be serving the meal. In charge of the cleanup committee is Phillip Rowston.

Missionary Is Speaker for Society

Mrs. Noah Brannen, who along with her husband serves as a missionary to Japan, was guest speaker when the Women's Society of the Bethany Baptist Church met in the past week.

★ ★ ★

Home on a furlough after serving five years in the Inland Sea area, Mrs. Brannen opened her talk by presenting a fairy tale in Japanese and then giving the translation to show that fairy tales generally are the same regardless of the country in which they are told.

PRESENT MUSIC

Soloist for the afternoon was Mrs. Mildred Manns, accompanied by Elda Sutter. Also participating in the program were Mrs. Edward Lewis, president of the society; Mrs. Joseph L. Chapman, Mrs. Hayden Henley, Mrs. Clarence Myers and Mrs. Harry Buehring. Luncheon was served by the Naomi Group.

★ ★ ★

Thursday unit meetings included Ruth Group which met at the Seminole avenue home of Mrs. William Shirley, with Mrs. Andrew Pepper participating in the program. The group sewed cancer pads during the evening.

Dorcus Group members gathered at the home of Mrs. Charles Fortune on Shirley avenue for a salad luncheon. Mrs. Frank Marsh participated in a program for the 14 members present.

Members of the Martha Group met at the church, with Mrs. I. M. Lewis and Mrs. Walter Krause as hostesses. The group honored Mrs. Elizabeth Peck on the occasion of her 90th birthday and presented her with a cake and a gift. Also participating in the program were Mrs. Forrest Brown and Mrs. Jack Walser.

OTHERS GATHER

Esther Group met at the home of Mrs. Clifford Mossey on Mark avenue, with Agnes Hilton and Mrs. Clarence Myers participating in the program. Mrs. Grover McVean opened her Murphy avenue home for the meeting of the Naomi Group, with Mrs. James Crew and Mrs. Basil Hart taking part in the program.

Avoid Asking Personal Questions

If you don't want to be thought rude don't go around asking a lot of personal questions.

If people want you to know how much they paid for something, how much they earn, how old they are, etc., they'll tell you without your asking. If not, they will resent being forced into a corner where they either have to tell or refuse.

Club Has Hayride

Scene of the annual hayride of the Allemanders Square Dance Club was the farm of the Sam Millers on Davisburg road. Cards and a luncheon followed the Saturday evening affair.

'Weaker Sex' Should Guard Health Zealously

Men, Here's How to Stay Youthful and Well

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This is essentially a woman's column but a lot of men read it, too; in fact so many that once or twice a year I spend a week bringing information which is of special value to them.

Actually, many of the subjects I write about are equally vital to men. They, too, age, become overweight, develop poor posture, become malnourished or frustrated and are subject to problems of health and personality.

I also give a week or so every year to men because their wives are greatly intrested in keeping them youthful and well, in helping them avoid the greatest masculine health hazards, in getting them to take better care of themselves.

In the past a man who admitted to any interest in his physical appearance was considered to be somewhat less than manly. This conception has disappeared. Many of the most successful and virile men now have an intelligent concern for weight control because of appearance as well as because of energy and efficiency.

Women used to age more rapidly than men. And, men of 50 or so looked younger than their wives of approximately the same age. This picture has changed. Women are years ahead of men in the art of remaining young.

OUTLIVING MEN

Even more frightening is the fact that women are outliving men. At the beginning of the century, the average woman lived 2 years and 10 months longer than the average man. Today her life expectancy is six years longer than his.

It begins to look as though man is the weaker sex and must take good physical care of himself if he is to prolong the youthful portion of his life and live to a ripe old age.

This week we will investigate some of his hazards. In the meantime, have the man in the house check himself against the following list.

1. Do you have a regular yearly or semi-yearly physical checkup? This is important. Examinations of the employes in some of our large companies have uncovered startling facts. A large percentage of the employes had serious impairments of which they were unaware.

Early treatment is essential in so many instances. It is also necessary to recognize the background conditions which lead to chronic diseases.

2. Are you overweight? We now know that this is a definite health hazard and greatly increases your susceptibility to many of those diseases to which man is most apt to fall prey.

3. Moderation in everything is the watchword for youth after 40.

REALISM REWARDING

I do not want to make my masculine readers feel that they are practically in wheelchairs but realism in facing some of the threats to their health and youthfulness will be rewarding to them.

★ ★ ★

Here are some interesting facts: The death rate is higher for males than for women — in every age group. More than twice as many men as women suffer from diseases of the heart, blood vessels and kidneys, and more than 100,000 more men than women die of these each year.

Did you know that among men past 40 heart disease accounts for about one-third of all deaths? Heart disease is on the increase and men seem to be especially subject to it.

As you no doubt have read, the part which fats play in causing heart attacks and other circulatory troubles is a highly controversial subject. Nevertheless, it seems certain that all of us would do well to cut down on our fat consumption in a sensible way from middle age on, for weight control as well as for health.

Some fats are essential but most men habitually eat meals too heavy in fat, such as fat meat, fried potatoes, gravy, pastries and such well-loved dishes as pie a la mode.

TOO TECHNICAL

The subject of cholesterol deposits in the blood vessels is too unresolved and technical to detail. There evidently are many factors which enter into our cholesterol blood levels and the deposits which form in the blood vessels.

Some folks have faulty fat metabolism. Also cholesterol can be produced from foods other than fats. Tensions raise the cholesterol levels. It is wise to eat less food as we grow older because we require less and we should keep out fat intake reasonably low.

Overweight greatly increases a man's susceptibility to heart attacks and to diabetes and many other killing or crippling diseases. One of the first health measures you should adopt is a loss of any extra pounds you may have.

If you would like to lose 7 to 12 pounds, in 12 days, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for my Tubby Hubby Diet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Avoid Making Remarks That Will Hurt Someone

Remember, There Are Many Times When Silence Is Golden

By RUTH MILLETT

Don't say it—

The mean little dig that is hidden in a phony compliment.

The "piece of your mind" you are tempted to give someone who irritates or inconveniences you.

The juicy bit of scandal you can either keep to yourself or pass along to become more malicious the farther it travels.

The "for your own good" bit of frankness that may just be your hidden desire to knock the props from under somebody you have always thought a little bit self-satisfied.

The sly remark that shows you have never forgotten, or really forgiven, an old hurt.

The "frank opinion" you've been asked for, when by being frank you will have to be uncomplimentary without being really helpful.

The comment that will make someone feel less pleased with himself or with his possessions.

The price tag or label dropping that will let someone know you can afford something that he can't.

The unkind remark about a boring party someone invited you to with the kindest intentions.

The generalization that might hurt someone who hears it, or make him mark you as prejudiced or snobbish.

The hurt little reproach intended to let someone know your delicate feelings have been bruised.

★ ★ ★

The personal questions you have no right to ask, and which the person you ask may not want to answer.

Mom's Divorce Used to Justify Defiance

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Eight years ago the T.'s were divorced. Mr. T. remarried; Mrs. T. didn't. Now 15 and dating boys, their daughter uses her mother's marriage failure to justify defying rules on when to get home at night.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. T. writes, "Just this week she said to me, 'Why should I listen to you? You couldn't even keep Daddy in love with you.'"

Why is this failure so discouraging that Mrs. T. experiences hurt when it's brought to her attention?

Does she think she should have been able to make Mr. T. love her despite his inclination not to? Does she feel she should have shown him more understanding and patience?

★ ★ ★

If so, her child's resistance is not her problem. The real one is her own conscience and its unrealistic insistence that she should have somehow managed, eight years ago, to be a person that she was not.

UNJUST CONSCIENCE

She could do nothing about her limitations as they existed eight years ago. A conscience that ignores this fact as well as the very real difficulties of marriage to a man who didn't want it is unjust as well as unmerciful.

★ ★ ★

If we take its reproach seriously, it can create guilt in us that will attract our daughter's attack as surely as blood attracts sharks.

But once our conscience allows us to accept that old failure, the child's reproach can find no responsive self-reproach in us to inflame. Under her attack, we'll be able to think instead of experiencing a rush of hurt and resentment.

We can say, "I see your point. It's reasonable for you to feel some distrust of my ideas on sex and dating. So let's do this. Let's write to those magazines you subscribe to and ask them when they think people of 15 should get home from dates.

"Then you ask the opinion of that nice new physical ed. teacher you're so crazy about. When you've collected all these opinions, you can put them together—and decide on the right thing to do."

★ ★ ★

This end to conflict with our daughter will really demonstrate the end of conflict with that childish, reproachful conscience of ours.

Dear Abby....

This Debate Will Rage From 'Hair' to Eternity

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I get a kick out of you! We wrote and complained because the people upstairs made so much racket they bothered us.

ABBY

They had no floor covering and dragged chairs around and it sounded like a gang of horses were running up there. Well, you wrote and said, "Tell your landlord." How can we—THEY own the building?

THE PEOPLE DOWNSTAIRS

DEAR PEOPLE: Tell them anyway—and in the meantime, better look for another apartment.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother. She doesn't let me comb my hair the way I want to. She thinks "flat tops" are gangster-like, and she doesn't like ducktails, either.

I am 16 years old. Don't you think a boy my age should be able to comb his hair the way he wants to comb it without his mother ordering him around to comb it another way?

My Ma says if I don't comb it her way she won't give me my allowance. Do you think my mother is being fair?

HAIRDO CHARLIE

DEAR HAIRDO: The male coiffure will be a topic for debate from "hair" to eternity. I say, if a 16-year-old keeps his hair clean and neatly combed, he should be able to wear it any way he likes.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband didn't come home for dinner last night so I started to worry and I waited up for him. I happened to look out my kitchen window and saw him coming out of my next door neighbor's back door (eleven o'clock at night).

I know my neighbor's husband was out of town. When I asked him to explain himself he said he was over there fixing her hot water heater.

I want to know how come they are so chummy that he knew it needed fixing and what do you think I should do about it?

HILDA

DEAR HILDA: Unless fixing hot water heaters is your husband's business, he has no business over there. Better have a nice warm talk with your husband . . . but keep it below the boiling point.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 years old but I feel like 90. I have been married to this fellow two years and we haven't had a honeymoon yet.

His father is always around and he doesn't leave us alone for a minute. We would like to get away for just one night but his father says he is afraid to stay alone. What can we do? We live with him.

BETH

DEAR BETH: If your father-in-law is "afraid" to stay alone, hire a sitter—or get a relative to stay with him (or take him to their house.) Your honeymoon is long overdue!

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO EILEEN: You could reduce him and reduce him and reduce him some more—but he still would be no bargain.

★ ★ ★

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of The Pontiac Press. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Would Cake Be Insulting to Hostess?

Woman Considers Taking Present of Her Baking

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: We have been invited to dinner at the home of friends who recently moved to the suburbs. When they lived nearby we visited them often but never had dinner with them. I would like to know if it would be proper for me to take a homemade cake for the hostess.

"I am considered a very good baker and I thought it would be nice to take a cake. However, I have been told that it is very rude to the hostess to take food when invited to anyone's house for dinner as it implies that she might not have enough to eat. I certainly don't want to do the wrong thing and will appreciate your advising me on this matter."

Answer: I think it would be better not to take one of your cakes unless your hostess knows how good they are and has told you how much she would like to taste one of them.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to return a gift of money received from a relative? Every year this party sends me a small amount of money for my birthday and I do not feel happy about accepting it. I feel the smallest gift would be much more appreciated. How can I do this and still not appear rude?"

Answer: It would be very rude to return the money. You might, however, before your next birthday say to your relative, "Dear Aunt Jane, if you are going to give me something for my birthday, please, instead of money, send me some small present because I really love the excitement of opening a package to see what is inside."

"Dear Mrs. Post: When I resigned from my job some of my co-workers took me out to dinner and gave me a lovely gift. Is it necessary for me to write each one a note of thanks after having thanked them personally at the dinner?"

Asks for ICBM Launching Sites

Upper Peninsula Seeking More Defense Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan's Upper Peninsula has launched a campaign here for increased defense spending to pep up the area's economy, it was disclosed today.

Upper Michigan has asked for intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) launching sites, atomic installations and generally increased defense spending.

AEC VISITED

A representative of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau this week visited the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), Civil Defense Administration and Defense Department offices in quest of a variety of projects.

Gerald L. Johnson, who heads the bureau's industrial department, was here Monday to push the Upper Peninsula's fight for natural gas.

But he told a reporter today he stayed through the week in an attempt to convince federal officials that the peninsula's geographic remoteness makes it ideal for defense establishments.

RECEPTION GOOD

"There was a good reception to our presentation," Johnson said. He declined to give further details of the officials' reaction.

Specifically, Johnson asked for:

1. One or more ICBM launching sites.

2. Underground atomic storage projects and atomic reactors.

3. Underground storage projects of medical supplies by Civil Defense authorities.

4. More air bases in addition to the existing Kinross Base near Sault Ste. Marie and K. I. Sawyer Base near Marquette.

"We're trying to make the things work for us that have always been problems for us," said Johnson.

Traditionally, Upper Michigan's industrial development has been hamstrung by its extreme northerly position and the lakes that surround it.

But Johnson said the government now wants remote areas for defense projects. The lakes will become revived roads of commerce with the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway next year, he added.

He said abandoned iron ore and copper mines, and some active ones, could be utilized as underground storage areas.

In arguing for atomic installations, Johnson pointed to the proximity of Canadian uranium veins and the availability of large tracts of federally and state owned forest land.

Johnson was to pay another visit to Defense Department offices today before returning to Michigan.

"LOOK, MOM, NO HANDS!" — Milking cows isn't as much of a manual chore to farmers these days. They do it via electricity now. Douglas, 13, has just attached the milker to Aggie, his three-year-old Holstein cow which has won several first place spots in the 4-H county fair.

FROM NATURE TO MECHANIZATION — According to Douglas, driver of this tractor, he and many other farm boys have an extra job during this time of year when the animals are kept inside. Referring to the fertilizer truck attached to the tractor, he said, "during the warmer months, the animals automatically spread the fertilizer, but in the wintertime we have to do it with the mechanized spreader."

What Do Farmers Do in the Wintertime?

Throughout spring, summer and fall, farmers are kept busy keeping up with the weather to plant, cultivate, fertilize, irrigate and eventually harvest.

One of Oakland County's 2,000 farmers is Carlos Long, 42, of 287 Sleeth Rd., Milford. He, his wife Norma and their four children spend the winters much the same as any typical county farm family.

Dairy products and livestock rank the highest, percentage-wise, for the Oakland County farmer. These two total more than 50 per cent of all the farm income throughout the county.

Long is a livestock and dairy farmer. His 65 head of Holstein cattle in 1957 produced 216 tons or 216,000 quarts of milk alone.

★ ★ ★

Wintertime finds many farmers cleaning barns more often since the animals are kept inside. More feed must also be ground to feed the animals because they are not grazing.

It's the time to repair all machinery for the busy seasons ahead. One finds many farmers sawing wood to use and sell for fireplaces.

The tedious task of figuring out the almost never-ending forms for everyone's relative, Uncle Sam, also comes at a special time for the farmer when he isn't so busy.

Just about now all farmers are busy working on their income tax reports which are due February 15 instead of the April 15 deadline for non-farmers.

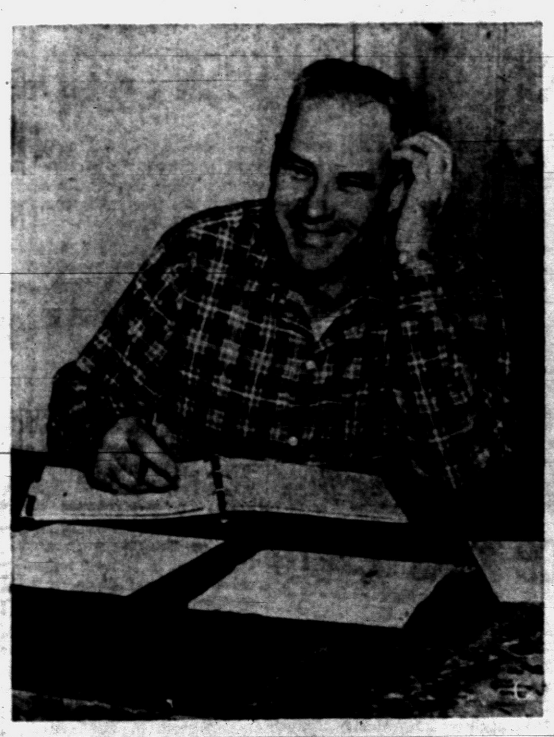

The feminine sex in the farmer's family spends much of their time canning and freezing foods during the summers to prepare for the cold winters. They also have a chance to catch up on their sewing, knitting and mending.

Many farm children stay inside to work on 4-H projects during the cold season. After their daily chores and school lessons have been completed, they also have time for more entertainment such as skating parties and square dances.

This is the party-giving and going season for the farmer. The family has more time for social clubs too.

For three seasons, he and his family have been meeting one deadline after another. Now, although thir job still keeps them busy with the routine year-round chores, they aren't as rushed and they do have more time to enjoy the "fun things" in life.

Press Photo Story by Sylvia de Steiger and Tom Gerls

BOOKKEEPING FARMER — Carlos Long, 42, is one of the 2,000 Oakland County farmers who at this time of year scratches his head when he becomes an accountant and bookkeeper. Unlike city folks who file their income tax reports by April 15, farmers have a February 15 deadline. Long lives with his wife Norma and their four children at 287 Sleeth Rd., Milford.

WOODCUTTING TIME — During the winter, many farmers like Carlos Long take time out to saw wood. Some is done to clean the fence row, while other wood is sold for use in fireplaces. This job has also eased with the use of the power driven saw.

"COME ON, IT'S GOOD FOR YOU"—So says four-year-old Claudia who often bundles up to go out to the chicken house to help Daddy out by feeding the chickens during the cold winter months.

FEED GRINDER — More food must be prepared by farmers for the animals in the wintertime since they don't graze in the fields. Janet Long, 16, is about to put a shovel full of corn in the automatic feed grinder. A mixture of corn and oats is ground up for the cattle.

East Favored to Beat West

15,000 Fans Expected for All-Star Contest at St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The East is the favorite in the annual National Basketball Assn. All-Star Game tomorrow night but the hot St.Louis-Boston rivalry may be a factor favoring the West.

The West will have the support of a partisan St. Louis Arena crowd, expected to reach 15,000. The East has an edge in height, experience and scoring power.

The Boston Celtics, NBA champions, placed three men among the East's starting five picked by sportswriters and broadcasters—as many as the rules allow. The St. Louis Hawks placed two on the starting West team.

The coaching jobs went to the head men of the two division leaders—Boston's hot-tempered Red Auerbach and St. Louis' fiery Alex Hannum.

Two Eastern starters, Boston's flashy Bob Cousy and 6-foot-8 Dolph Schayes of Syracuse, were picked for all seven previous All-Star games. Bill Sharman of Boston has played in five. The other two starters, Bill Russell of Boston and Willie Naulls of New York, are playing their first All-Star game.

The East has won five of the seven games in the series, started in 1951 by Boston owner Walter Brown.

AP Facsimile

KING AND QUEEN — The All-Star bowling tournament in Minneapolis had an old king, Don Carter of St. Louis, and a new queen, Merle Mathews of Long Beach, Calif. The pair won their divisions, with Miss Mathews defeating defending champion Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids.

New York Bombards Wings, 6-1

Detroit Loses Ground on 2nd Place in NHL Battle at Olympia

By BILL CORNWELL

New York's hustling Rangers exploded for five goals in the 3rd period to hand the Detroiters a thorough 6-1 licking in their National Hockey League battle before 11,923 spectators at Olympia Stadium.

The Rangers, Detroit's current rival for the runner-up position, now hold a three-point edge in the wake of last weekend's NHL action. Two Detroit losses and a like number of New York wins have shoved the Wings into 3rd spot.

Goalie Terry Sawchuk was bombarded with everything but the kitchen sink in the disastrous 3rd stanza as the Detroit defense collapsed.

Lorne (Gump) Worsley, playing his 3rd game in the nets for the Rangers since rejoining the club from Providence, missed his shutout in the 14th minute of the final period when Jack McIntyre drilled a sizzler at 13:16.

Until the roof fell in on the Wings, the two teams had staged a hard-skating dogfight with the Rangers protecting a 1-0 lead which Andy Bathgate had accounted for with a blast from the Detroit blue line at 12:02 of the 1st stanza.

Guy Gendron started the 3rd period landslide at the seven-minute mark by flicking in Gerry Foley's rebound to complete a three-on-two rush. Three minutes later Andy Hebenton made it 3-0 by knocking home a Red Sullivan rebound as Sawchuk was left unprotected.

McIntyre's goal came next with the puck caroming into the net off Bathgate's skate. Instead of reviving the Wings, the counter only made the New Yorkers come racing back for three more.

Parker MacDonald beat Sawchuk less than a minute after McIntyre's effort, Foley punched the disk home at 15:34 and defenseman Lou Fontinato completed the rout with an unassisted goal in the last 17 seconds.

Two apparent goals in the waning minutes of the 2nd period were disallowed. A shot by Harry Howell was ruled out because the puck hit MacDonald's stick which was raised over his head. Gordie Howe's blast also did not count since Johnny Wilson pushed it into the cage with his hands.

Forbes Kennedy came close to scoring for the Wings when his shot hit the inside corner of the post and slid outside.

Twelve penalties were called, eight against New York, but only two figured in the scoring — McIntyre's goal and the solo by Fontinato.

County Pro in Senior's Title Defense

Watrous Tops Field

DUNEDIN, Fla.—A record field of 260 golfers, led by defending champion Al Watrous of Oakland Hills Country Club of Birmingham, get their last practice session out of the way today for the annual PGA Senior's Championship.

Because of the large field and the tiring four straight days of golf for players at least 50 years old, the first two rounds will be played in shifts.

The tourney will cover six days, instead of the usual four days for a 72-hole affair.

Golfers 55 and older will play their first rounds tomorrow and the second rounds Wednesday and Friday.

After that the low 100 scores and ties will continue with the third round Saturday and the final 18 holes on Sunday.

The 58-year-old Watrous has won three PGA Senior's titles and finished runnerup twice in eight years. Last he won the championship by defeating Jim Barfield of Grand Rapids, and as a result Watrous represented the United States and won the International Senior's title by defeating John Burton in Glasgow, Scotland.

Watrous has won the state PGA Senior's Championship three of five times with Barfield as the winner the other two times.

★ ★ ★

He qualified for the National PGA and went all the way into the quarter-finals before bowing in a feature match to veteran Sam Snead at Dayton.

Also part of the Senior's tourney in Dunedin is the Quarter-Century trophy which goes to best score for 36 holes to the golfer who has been pro for 25 years and longer. Watrous also won this honor last year by downing Bob Tuttle in a playoff. Their scores were 67-69—136 before the playoff.

Geoffrion Hits Charmed Circle

Montreal Beats Bruins as 'Boom-Boom' Scores 201st Goal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The league-leading Montreal Canadiens bowled over the Boston Bruins last night with Bernie Geoffrion hitting for two goals.

In another game of the National Hockey League, the cellar-dwelling Black Hawks whipped the Toronto Maple Leafs, 5-3.

Geoffrion scored his 200th and 201st goals to power Montreal. Geoffrion, in his eighth season, became the 29th player to achieve 200 or more goals. Among the active players, he joins teammate Maurice Richard, Detroit's Gordie Howe and Chicago's Ted Lindsay in the select 200-goal circle.

Geoffrion's first goal gave the Canadiens a 1-0 lead and his second tally—his 26th of the season—climaxed a five-goal third-period uprising by the flying Frenchmen.

Eaglets Away Tonight

Orchard Lake St. Mary seeks its 6th victory in seven games and a repeat of an earlier conquest meeting St. Stanislaus at Hamtramck in only prep game slated for area teams tonight. The Eaglets won a two-point verdict here earlier.

Yardley Fouls Out

Pistons Drop 118-111 Tilt

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — George Yardley, ace Detroit Pistons pointmaker was the spark that died in the last quarter and let the Minneapolis Lakers rally to a 118-111 National Basketball Assn. victory here yesterday.

Detroit went into the final stanza with a 92-85 lead and was ahead 98-86 when Yardley fouled out with 7:14 remaining in the contest. From that point on the Pistons were hapless before the rampaging Lakers.

With Dick Garmaker, Rod Hundley and Bob Leonard showing the way, the Lakers dropped in shots from every angle, outscoring the Pistons 11-2. Hundley, a rookie, scored 22 points in the last three periods.

Phil Jordan, who shared Detroit scoring honors with Yardley with 24 points, paced the Pistons to a 62-53 halftime advantage, dumping in 17 points in the first two periods.

The Pistons had things their own way in the third period—and then they ran into the aroused Lakers in the fourth. When the period was over, Minneapolis had outscored the visitors 34-19.

It was a battle between two low run teams. The Lakers are at the bottom of the NBA's western division with an 11-31 record and Detroit is third in the four-team conference with a 17-27 mark.

The rampaging St. Louis Hawks own an imposing eight-game lead in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn. today — thanks to their supremacy over the runnerup Cincinnati Royals.

The Hawks humbled the Royals 108-90 yesterday for their sixth straight victory over Cincinnati. The Royals, who do well against the rest of the league, have won just one game from St. Louis this season in seven starts.

In other action yesterday the Boston Celtics edged the Philadelphia Warriors 114-113, and the Syracuse Nationals downed the New York Knickerbockers 112-108.

Westcrag Warrior Best-in-Show

'Frisco Terrier Wins Press Trophy

By H. GUY MOATS

A little terrier with lots of class walked off with the Pontiac Kennel Club's best-in-show honors, Sunday evening, and also won the top award of the day, The Pontiac Press Best-in-Show award.

Westcrag Warrior, a Lakeland terrier, a small edition of the one-time, popular Airedale breed was named the show's best in competition with 537 other dogs of many sizes, breeds, colors and dispositions.

The brown-gray coated terrier first won its group honors as best-of-breed, went on to defeat a classy field of five other group winners for the big award. Joseph C. Quirk of Greenwich, Conn., 40 years a dog-show judge judged the best-in-show.

Show, held in the Pontiac Retail Store, Mt. Clemens street, had a record entry, enjoyed a fine "gate" and proved an entirely successful event, according to Ed Kraft, PKC prexy and other show officials, who commented very favorably on the fine location and its facilities for such a show. Among the day's visitors were Henry Gotham and family. Mr. Gotham is operator of the Retail Store.

The 1958 "champion" is a three-year-old female, handled by George Ward of Constantine, Mich., for the owners, the Kerryall Kennels of San Francisco, Calif. Only Lakeland terrier in the show, Westcrag is an English import, who will go next in the big Westminster show in New York.

Only one Oakland County entry cracked the top lists. Sad-looking, but with a most pleasant disposition, Rocky of Longview Acres, a two-year-old Basset hound which went best-of-breed also, in Saturday's Progressive Dog Show in Detroit topped his class for owner Chris G. Teeter of Birmingham.

One other Michigan entry was among three group winners. Ch. Bouquet Nouvel Ami, a white French bulldog, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph West of Detroit, was best-of-breed in the non-sporting group.

WORKING BREEDS — (2) St. Bernard Ch. Brylon's Damocles Von Kris (Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Breyfogle); (3) Welsh Corgis Ch. Greythorne's Fleetfoot of Wex (W. M. Schmick).

Outsiders Pace Elks Event

Lyle Bailey held 2nd place in singles and the Wooliever Fawns ranked 9th in team play as Pontiac's leading performers on the opening weekend of the 1st annual Elks Ladies National Invitational bowling tournament at local Lodge 810.

The Bailey woman missed by only two pins of sharing the lead in singles with Alpena's Esther Cohen who rolled 652, including the top one game mark of 232.

Dorothy Daniell of Pontiac is 5th with 630 and Ruth Smith 10th at 609.

Three local women teamed with outsiders to gain places among the top eight doubles units. Dorothy Gutzke and Kalamazoo's Margaret Hale hold the runnerup slot with 1205. Barbara Hickson and Detroiter Ella Rathbun are 6th at 1159 and Fran McCallum and Gary, Ind., partner Julia McKay are 8th with 1153.

Doubles leaders, Madeline Osborne and Pat Mills of Battle Creek, featured the high tourney game of 448 en route to their 1237 total. Lodge 1152 of Gary topped the teams with a 2879 total and 1029 game. Action resumes Saturday for the 2nd of four weekends of competition.

Jill Misses Dog Show

'Thataway' Loses Herself

By H. GUY MOATS

A prospective championship went glimmering Saturday night for a fine Pontiac-owned black cocker spaniel, on the pattering feet of "Jill," two-year-old dog that had been entered for the big Pontiac Kennel club show on Sunday.

"Jill," kennel name Mari-Bean's Maid Thataway, was taken by a Detroit man and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barclay, by mistake, believing it to be one of their own dogs which had been shown at the Progressive club show in Detroit Saturday evening.

Elinor Strehle, N. Johnson avenue, Pontiac, owner of "Jill" said this morning that when the Barclay's opened their car, the dog "took off," and hasn't been found yet. She had been seen several times, Miss Strehle reported, but was still at large today. "'Jill' is a shy dog," says the owner, who has posted a reward for her return, "and she will not go to strangers, unless she gets hungry. We hope to get her back. She's just shy three points of her championship, and might have achieved it in the PKC show on Sunday." "Jill" has been a winner in Roosevelt Hotel show, N. Y., and in several Florida shows. She had compiled 13 points towards her championship.

"This is the first time she has ever been away from home like this," Miss Strehle says.

Except for three years as a lieutenant commander in the Navy, Ed Jeremiah has been Dartmouth hockey coach since 1937.

Carter Wins 4th All-Star Tournament

Old King, "New Queen" of Bowlers

MINNEAPOLIS —The king of bowling retained his crown but a new queen was admitted to the kegling throne room last night.

In the sixteenth and final round of the finals Carter's foe was his fellow St. Louisian and former Detroiter, Buzz Fazio, who went into the round with a slim 1-30 Petersen point advantage.

In the first game of the match Carter fell farther behind as Fazio outshot him, 245-227. The second game was Carter's, 236-189. In the third line Fazio fell to a wretched 168 while Carter hit 212. Carter's 194 finale bested Fazio by one pin.

Carter ended the tournament finals with a Petersen point total of 311-03, reflecting a 37½ won—26½ lost record. He felled 13,678 pins in the 64 games encompassing the finals, an average of nearly 214.

Her last foe, Mrs. Ladewig, has long been considered the most imposing name in feminine bowling annals. Despite the fact that she had a 1-41 point advantage, the Californian knew she was in for some rugged stretch shooting.

The Californian polished off the finale first with a 159 game. This time the pressure was on the formidable grandmother. She needed a double in the tenth to win.

Mrs. Ladewig got her first strike. On the second toss she seemed to bury the ball deep in the pocket. Nine pins fell down, but the 10-pin just wiggled tauntingly.

Junior Hockey Final Saturday

Dean's Hardware and the Walled Lake Wings will clash Saturday morning at the North Side ice skating rink at 9 o'clock for the championship of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's annual Junior Hockey Tournament.

The hardware team forced the double-elimination tourney to the limit on North Side ice yesterday by rallying to hand the Wings their 1st defeat, 3-2, in sudden-death overtime.

Crowd Turns Out for Skating Party

CLARKSTON—Residents from 6 to 60 turned out Saturday afternoon for the community skating party at Clarkston Mill Pond and, with an assist from the weatherman, the event was an oustanding success.

★ ★ ★

Highlighting the affair was an ice show put on by the Peggy Bowman's Skating Club of Pontiac, and the appearance of Terry Browne, former world champion barrel jumper.

Recreation Commission Chairman Bill Godfrey said the commission hopes to make the party an annual affair. The organization's work won't stop here, however.

Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Community Center Building, the commission will meet with interested citizens to organize hockey leagues.

Bob Martin and Harold De Longchamp will be in charge of the session. They urge all persons interested in hockey or skating lessons to turn out at the meeting.

Enrolling will be done Thursday evening at the center for toboggan and ski trips. This will be handled by Jack McGowen.

There also will be instruction to insure maximum safety in winter sports, McGowen said.

QUEEN HIGHLIGHTS PARTY — The appearance of Pontiac Ice Queen Sandra Stockton, right, and her attendant, Jeannie McEnery, helped to make the community skating party Saturday afternoon at the Clarkston Mill Pond an outstanding success. Also performing with them at the party were other members of Peggy Bowman's Pontiac Skating Club. The sponsoring Independence Township Recreation Commission hopes to make the affair an annual event.

Walled Lake Seeks Centennial Day Choir

WALLED LAKE—Cameron Rose, chairman of the centennial committee of the Walled Lake Methodist Church, announced that a choir of 100 voices is being sought to participate in the Centennial Day celebration.

Under the direction of Charles Hutton, an organizational meeting of the choir will be held on Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. at the church.

Membership in the centennial choir is open to everyone. Anyone who cannot be present at the first meeting but who wishes to join the group, should contact the Rev. John Mulder at the parsonage.

To Continue Antarctic Crossing

Fuchs Team Gets to Pole

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Dr. Vivian Fuchs and his British ground team reached the South Pole today and announced they firmly intend to press on to the other side of Antarctica.

Tough and fit despite their gruelling 57-day trek across more than 900 miles of snow and ice, the British explorer said he would go on as planned to Scott Base, on McMurdo Sound, for the first overland crossing of the continent. But he added that he had no idea when he would reach the end of his journey.

Rear Adm. George Dufek, U. S. chief of Operation Deep Freeze, and Sir Edmund Hillary, who reached the Pole overland 16 days earlier, were on hand to greet the 12 Britons who had brought their tractor train over 940 miles of terrain no man had set foot on before.

Hillary and some other experts had advised Fuchs against making the 1,200-mile second leg of the trip because they believe bad weather is in the offing.

"Hello, Bunny," said the conqueror of Mt. Everest, and the two men shook hands warmly.

The hearty exchange of greetings appeared to discount reports of coolness between Hillary and Fuchs. The New Zealander had started out from Scott Base with a New Zealand party, establishing a chain of depots to supply Fuchs after he passed the Pole.

He was to wait for Fuchs at the last depot, 500 miles from the Pole, but when bad weather and poor snow conditions delayed the Britons, Hillary and four others pushed on to the Pole.

Roald Amundsen of Norway made the first successful trek, hitting the Pole Dec. 14, 1911. Traveling by dog sled he beat out Capt. Robert F. Scott of the British Navy who arrived Jan. 17, 1912.

Salk Vaccine Producer to Appeal Court Award

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Cutter Laboratories, faced with 44 more lawsuits from polio victims charging its Salk vaccine was defective, warns that drug firms "cannot take the gamble" if law courts hold them absolutely accountable.

Cutter also has announced it would appeal an award Friday by an Alameda county superior court jury of $147,300 to the families of two California children who contracted polio in 1955 after using Cutter-produced Salk vaccine.

Parents of 8-year-old Anne Elizabeth Gottsdanker of Santa Barbara received $131,500. Those of James Randolph Phipps, 4, of Monrovia were awarded $15,800. Jointly they had asked $365,000.

The jury said it did not find Cutter negligent and eliminated punitive damages. Jurors said they had no choice under superior court judge Thomas J. Ledwich's instructions "but to conclude that Cutter-marketed vaccine caused the plaintiffs to come down with poliomyelitis."

After the verdict plaintiffs' attorney Melvin Belli announced he would proceed in two weeks with the next set of suits. In addition to the 44 suits pending against Cutter, others have been filed elsewhere against four other firms which make Salk vaccine.

3 Dead, 6 Hurt in Blast at Plant

Gas Explosion Rocks United Rubber Works at Baytown, Texas

BAYTOWN, Tex. (AP)—A thunderous explosion rocked the United Rubber & Chemical Co. plant near here yesterday, killing three men. Six others were injured; three seriously.

Flames shot 100 feet into the air following the blast. A plant official blamed it on butadiene gas, which is used in making synthetic rubber. Two of the dead were buried under tons of debris somewhere in the two buildings destroyed by the blast.

The plant, located on a 47-acre site about three miles from here, is some 25 miles from Texas City where a series of ship explosions killed more than 500 in 1947.

The victims were identified as J. E. Owens, 32, Highlands, Tex., Chester Trahan, 41, and Ed Stokley, 59, both of Baytown.

Howard Dunaway, 51, Channelview, Tex.; Miller Day, 44, Mont Belvieu, Tex., and Louie F. Fisher, Baytown, were hospitalized. The other injured men were not seriously hurt.

★ ★ ★

Gordon F. Harriman, one of 40 persons working at the plant when the blast occurred, said "I saw it blow right out the roof of both those buildings. It blew the windows out of my building, knocked off our front door and threw me on the floor."

★ ★ ★

Firemen controlled the fire about an hour and a half later. The explosion was felt 12 miles away.

3 New York Musicians Among 5 Killed in Crash

WRIGHTSVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Three members of a New York orchestra on the way to Florida for a series of engagements were among five persons killed in an automobile collision shortly before dawn yesterday.

Killed were Philip Colosimo, 31, and his wife, 25, of Woodside, N. Y., and Salvatore Carbone, 27, of East Meadow, N. Y., members of Ray Eberle's orchestra; and Herbert Jackson, 45, and R. W. Jackson, 26, Negroes, of Bartow, Ga.

Blaze Kills Man, 35, Burns Wife, 2 Tots

MONROE (AP)—Lewis Brockway, 35, perished and his wife and two children were injured when a flash fire destroyed their home near suburban Petersburg yesterday.

Brockway's wife Donna, 35, and two daughters—Linda 5, and 19-month-old Carol—were taken to University Hospital at Ann Arbor. They were reported in serious condition.

Police said Mrs. Brockway and a roomer, Homer C. Banks, 43, broke windows in the one-story frame structure and rescued the children. Brockway's body later was found on a bed by firemen who said he apparently was overcome by smoke before burning to death.

Young Scot, Would-Be Cowboy Gets Wish

By OLGA CURTIS

NEW YORK (INS)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City had a bang-up correspondence recently with a 9-year-old Scotsman named David Ashcroft.

Master Ashcroft wrote the mayor that he "would very much like to own a real cowboy's gun and holsters."

"We have no cowboys in Scotland," the boy explained, "So I wondered if you could help me. I am sure you know lots of cowboys."

Mayor Wagner reacted to this request like a true saddle pal and a man who happens to have two juvenile gun-toters in the family.

"Do the best you can for this boy," he told the range-riders down at city hall.

The would-be cowpoke received not one but two guns: Genuine cap-shooting imitation old frontier 45's, complete with two-gun belt and holsters, snappily metal-studded. David also got a lariat, a yellow string tie, a brown checked shirt, a black and tan vest and genuine imitation black-and-tan cowboy chaps.

Young David should be mighty happy rounding up the rustlers in Invernesshire unless he happens to look at the labels in his gear. Those frontier guns were made in Woodside, New York. And the cowboy outfit was stitched in Telford, Pa.

★ ★ ★

The sad truth, which sooner or later must come to every budding Wyatt Earp, is that cowboys have almost disappeared in the United States except on the TV screen.

"Automation has taken the range-rider off the range," sighs Mike Swift, information director for the Rodeo Cowboys Association of America.

Swift estimated that there are possibly 5,000 genuine cowboys still around in the fast-shrinking wide open spaces. He counts the 3,200 members of his association, plus "maybe another thousand working on ranches."

Young Master Ashcroft would also be shocked to learn that real cowboys seldom wear fancy vests and metal-studded belts. "Blue jeans and a colored shirt" is Swift's description of the 1958 cowboy's clothing.

As for branding, roping, shooting and all the other talents displayed nightly on television by a variety of strong, silent actors, Swift says sorrowfully:

Reports U. S. Leads Reds in Air Power

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Gen. Otto P. Weyland, commander of the Tactical Air Command, says the United States is "definitely ahead of Russia in overall air power."

★ ★ ★

Weyland said the Russians may be ahead in "several phases of their missile program," but he said he is certain they have no long range missile in operational use.

"Getting a satellite up there is one thing but giving the powerful rocket that launched it an effective guidance system is another," Weyland said. He said the U.S. is well ahead of Russia in nuclear weapons development and has an offensive weapons system which will remain effective for the next few years.

★ ★ ★

The average husband will testify that it's a man's world—in his wife's name . . . Better pay attention when a woman driver signals for a turn to the left. She may go that way.—Earl Wilson.

Debbie Better Relax Now, With New Role in the Mill

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Debbie Reynolds (Fisher), who is going to have her baby any minute now, had better relax and "enjoy" becoming a mother for the second time. She'll be a busy girl as soon as MGM can put her back to work. One of my first telephone calls of the morning came from Eddie Grainger who tells me MGM has bought "A Time For Paris" for Debbie. Yes, it's a light comedy about an American girl's pursuit of love in the gay French capital and at the Brussels Fair in Belgium.

I might add that George Goodman's "A Time For Paris" novel won't be made until Mrs. Fisher completes "The Boy Friend" on the MGM lot.

I don't know whether Ernest Hemingway knows it, but redheaded, green-eyed, Swedish-born Gita Hall (Miss Sweden of 1952) has taken the name of Gita Hemingway, and this is because her first assignment is "The Gun Runners," adapted from Hemingway's Cosmopolitan magazine novel, "One Trip Across.

The idea comes from producer Clarence Green, who is co-starring Gita with Audie Murphy and Eddie Albert in the Seven Arts production of "The Gun Runners." This will be Gita's first picture in this country since 1953.

There is a wave of optimism among the producers in spite of the many changes being made at the studios. Eric Johnston, head of the Association of Motion Picture Producers says, "For Hollywood, 1958 is a real upbeat year."

★ ★ ★

Johnston bases this enthusiastic remark on the fact that Buddy Adler has announced that 20th Century-Fox will put $65,000,000 in their films. United Artists will shoot $50,000,000 into its productions. Warner Bros. and Columbia are engineering big production plans, and MGM has made announcements of important coming pictures, with the million dollar "Ben Hur" being one of the first to be scheduled.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The former Edna Anhalt's honeymoon took a very unhappy turn last week when her bridegroom, Patrick O'Rourke, broke his back while water skiing in Acapulco. He is still hospitalized there.

★ ★ ★

Inside the compartment was an arsenal of 60 pistols and hundreds of rounds of ammunition which police said may have been placed here by gangsters during the Prohibition Era. Along with the guns and ammunition were six deep sea fishing rods wrapped in a Philadelphia newspaper dated May 24, 1932.

★ ★ ★

Det. Inspector George Kronbar said the bullets were of various caliber and included wooden dum dum types. He said some of the weapons were loaded.

Add Touch of Realism

Boys' Alibi Won't Hold Water With Policemen

SALT LAKE CITY (UP) — Police halted two boys, 11 and 8, and asked them what they were doing out at 4:10 a.m. They said they had a job scrubbing floors in a downtown hotel.

The skeptical officers checked, learned the two had been making nightly raids on a charity wishing well in the hotel basement. Explained one officer, "their hands were too dirty" for scrubbing floors.

Paulette Goddard Flies to Wed Erich Remarque

DETROIT (UP) — Actress Paulette Goddard flies to New York today, having quit as co-star in "The Waltz of the Toreadors" in order to hasten her marriage to author Erich Maria Remarque.

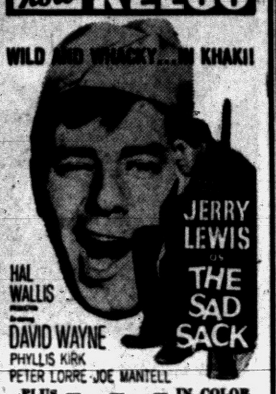

"I love the part," she said, "but I told them a month ago I would have to leave to marry Erich."

Miss Goddard said the date has not been set. She previously was married to Charles Chaplin and Burgess Meredith.

The Bel Air 2-Door Sedan. Chevrolet's the only car in its field with Body by Fisher and Safety Plate Glass all around.

CHEVROLET IS LOWEST PRICED OF THE LOW-PRICED THREE!

In every one of the most popular models, Chevrolet costs less than the other two low-priced cars*. And you get more for your dollars in every Chevy model. They're all lower, wider and a full nine inches longer!

You notice a whopping big difference as soon as you start comparing cars in the low-price field and checking off Chevy's advantages. To begin with, Chevrolet's the only one that's truly new, with boldly sculptured new beauty and everything new to go with it. Even the lowest priced models bring you full measure of Chevy's new length. And all Chevrolets are wonderfully lower and wider.

Ride? Chevrolet's new Full Coil suspension and strong new Safety-Girder frame design give you that kind of solid, smooth ride that's strictly in the high-price car class. And when it comes to performance, Chevrolet offers you a choice of the most budget-minded six in the business and the year's most advanced V8 engines, ranging up to 280 horsepower.

Drop by your Chevrolet dealer's and you discover still another advantage. Besides giving you more for your money in any model, Chevrolet's the lowest priced of the low-priced three in the models most people buy.

Republican Asks Business Tax

Rep. Sallade Proposes Excess Profits Levy, Challenges Williams

DETROIT (AP) — A "Young Turk" Republican proposes a "business profits tax" to replace Governor Williams recommended intangibles profits tax increase.

State Rep. George Sallade (R-Ann Arbor) said in a TV interview yesterday that the Democratic governor's tax proposal is unsound. He said it limits taxation to a small percentage of people.

Under his proposed business profits tax, Sallade said, "only the businessmen who made money would be required to pay a percentage of profits for taxes."

Williams has advocated for years a corporation profits tax without success. The Legislature finally passed a business receipts tax which he let become law without his signature.

According to the present business activities tax, Sallade said, "The businessmen who pays the tax on added value (the difference between the wholesale and retail price of goods minus certain allowable deductions) whether he makes a profit or loses money." Sallade said this form of taxation is unfair.

Sallade said Williams' idea of an intangibles tax increase was developed without careful consideration. Under the levy, persons holding certain amount of "paper wealth" would be taxed on their monetary returns.

Regarding his own political ambitions, Sallade said:

"I'd just as soon take on the champ (Williams) this year as in 1960. Nobody is unbeatable and I feel that after 10 years anyone has been in office too long. I don't think his ideas are still fresh and original."

Solons OK Wolcott as FDIC Chairman

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Senate Banking Committee today approved the appointment of former Rep. Jesse P. Wolcott (R-Mich) as chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

★ ★ ★

The committee also approved Tom B. Coughran as U. S. executive director of the International Bank and John S. Patterson as deputy director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

All three men have been serving under interim appointments since late 1957. Their nominations are subject to Senate confirmation.

Ford Motor Promotes Three Executives

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford division of the Ford Motor Co. has promoted three executives to new positions.

L. E. Krieg was apopinted associated operations manager. He formerly served as assistant manufacturing manager of engineering production in the Lincoln and Mercury division.

G. B. Price, former associated operation manager and executive assistant to the general manufacturing manager, was named manufacturing planning manager.

H. C. Sullivan was appointed assistant manager of the Dallas, Tex. assembly plant. He formerly was manager of master scheduling and material control for the Ford division.

Lake Street Watchman Struck in Robbery Try

Phillip Ewald of 75 Green St. told police he was making his rounds at 9 a.m. across the yard when someone struck him from behind and threw a pair of coveralls over his head.

Ewald said he felt the man try to pull his wallet from his hip pocket but when Ewald struggled with him, the bandit ran off.

TOWNSHIP OF WHITE LAKE
OAKLAND COUNTY, MICHIGAN
NOTICE OF HEARING ON COOLEY BEACH DRIVE PAVING IMPROVEMENT
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN

Action Expected on Water Fees

Waterford Twp. Board to Discuss Charges for Land Developers

One of the most important items on the agenda for tonight's regular Waterford Township Board meeting will be the establishing of a policy to charge land developers for use of water from township hydrants.

★ ★ ★

Clerk James Seeterlin has a report from Royal Oak, Birmingham and Pontiac as to the rates they charge for this service, and definite action on the matter is expected.

Doberoff is objecting to paying for a 12-inch water main running from Lake Oakland to the Lake Angelus subdivisions. The main is a source of water supply to his subdivision.

Action is expected to be taken on the Lorraine Manor sewer system. There are some 25,000 gallons of sludge to be pumped out and contractors will be considered for this project.

A discussion will be held regarding the distribution of insurance policies to various companies in the township, and fire insurance will be issued for township-owned buildings and equipment.

Walled Lake Driver Killed; Rider Hurt

A Walled Lake man was killed and his companion critically injured Saturday night when their car ran off the end of Pontiac Trail at Milford Rd. in Lyon Township, according to State Police at the Brighton Post.

Police said the Nybakke car apparently was traveling at a high speed and missed the stop, hurtling over a ditch into a field.

Farley Falls, Breaks Small Shoulder Bone

Farley, 69, a Democratic political figure for 40 years, and board chairman of the Coca-Cola Export Corp., said he tripped over a food serving cart as he was leaving the hotel's main ballroom.

The injury continued to pain him Sunday so he went to St. Clare's Hospital were X-ray pictures disclosed the break.

City Woman Hurt by Backing Auto

An 81-year-old woman was injured when a car backing out of a private drveway on Seneca St., struck her as she walked on the sidewalk.

Jerry Powers, 16, the driver, told police he had pulled into the drive to turn around, and was backing up when he felt the impact.

Mrs. Cora Hess, 81, of 27 Seneca, suffered a broken left hip. She is in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

Rails Declining on Mixed Mart

NEW YORK (AP) — Rails backed away from recent gains as the stock market was mixed in moderately active early trading today. The rails were off by small fractions with seaboard down about a point.

Leading issues throughout the list showed small plus and minus signs, generally within a 1-point range.

American Telephone was actively traded and ahead around 2 points as trading on a when-issued basis began in the rights to its huge issue of convertible debentures.

Some steels, coppers and oils moved ahead a bit. Motors, rubbers and aircrafts were mixed while airlines and radio-televisions were lower.

With the Washington hearings on the railroads' difficulties ended, shares of the carriers backed away from gains apparently based on expectations of Federal help. Latest reports were to the effect that such aid would be limited.

Fire Ruins Church at Morning Service

OIL CITY (AP) — While firemen and the congregation watched helplessly, the 20-year-old Assembly of God church burned to the ground yesterday.

The single-story frame structure burst into flames while the Rev. Jack Honeycutt was conducting morning services. The congregation, warned by the crackling of flames, filed from the building safely.

Firemen from nearby Mount Pleasant were called to the scene but were unable to fight the blaze because of a lack of water in the rural Midland County community.

New Type of Auto Heater in Use at Drive-in Theater

The first installation of a new type auto heater for use at drive-in theaters has been completed at the Pontiac Drive-in, 2435 Dixie Highway, Waterford Township.

According to Eldon Samuels, owner, the theater is the first in Michigan to use the Benz-O-Matic heater which is flameless, odorless and noiseless.

The heater is attached over the car window without cumbersome pipes or wires, Samuels said.

Navy Programs Under Scrutiny

Senate Preparedness Unit Hears Testimony on Missiles, Subs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate preparedness subcommittee looks into the adequacy of the Navy's submarine and missile programs today as it opens the final week of its current phase of hearings.

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, and Rear Adm. W. F. Raborn, who is supervising development of the Navy's Polaris missile, were among witnesses called for closed-door testimony.

While Congress members argued variously that more money, more clearly defined authority and more creative thinking are needed to spur United States defenses against Russian scientific gains, the weekend brought these developments:

1. Sen Jackson (D-Wash) said Senate Democrats are considering a two billion dollar package proposal to increase appropriations for long-range jet bombers, both intermediate and medium range ballistic missiles, and missile-firing submarines.

2. Sens. Humphrey (D-Minn) and McClellan (D-Ark) prepared a bill to establish a cabinet-level department of science and technology to include the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), National Science Foundation, Bureau of Standards, Patent Office and other agencies.

3. Pending establishment of its Advanced Research Projects Agency (ARPA), the Defense Department ordered its missiles director, William Holaday, to coordinate the development of devices to detect and destroy enemy missiles.

4. The magazine Aviation Week predicted the Air Force would attempt "within the next few months" to send a payload rocket to the moon, and said the Army will test nuclear explosions up to 50 miles above the earth in experiments this summer in the mid-Pacifice testing grounds.

5. Censored testimony of defense contractors, released by the Senate subcommittee, reported that the Air Force has ordered development on "a limited basis" of "large scale satellite vehicles" for reconnaissance.

6. Dr. Ralph Swann, an Army rocket fuel expert at Huntsville, Ala., disclosed in an interview that in laboratory tests, solid fuels for rockets are showing almost as much thrust as liquid fuels.

2 Hurt in Accident at Madison, Perry

A two-car accident yesterday evening at Madison Ave. and Perry St. injured two persons.

According to police, Clifton E. Herndon, 50, of 463 N. Saginaw St. ran a stop sign and struck the car of Gary C. Wyllie, 19, of 436 Lowell St.

Wyllie was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for a cut forehead, and a passenger in his car, Dolores Cook, 19, of 927 N. Perry St., was treated for an ankle injury.

★ ★ ★

Herndon pleaded guilty this morning to drunk driving. Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum fined him $100 and two days in jail, or 22 days.

Jet Passenger Planes Pushed

Manufacturers in Britain Step Up Sales Drive in United States

LONDON (INS) — British aircraft manufacturers are stepping up their sales drive in the United States to sell new shorthaul 600 m.p.h. 100-passenger pure jet aircraft.

Sir Frank Spriggs, managing director of the huge Hawker Sidderley group which is associated with the Bristol Aeroplane Co. in building the new plane, announced that a sales and engineering team is already en route to the U.S.

Sir Frank said the team went "at the invitation of a prominent American airline" to discuss plans for a fleet of projected Bristol aircraft.

The latest bid for a slice of the American domestic market is a direct result of Hawker and Bristol working together to nudge out DeHavilland, which is in the running for a fat European airways order.

Body of 4th Victim Brought Out of Mine

SPRING CANYON, Utah (INS)—Weary miners recovered the last body today of four men who died in a coal shaft explosion early Friday at Spring Canyon, Utah.

The body of Keith Anderson, 30, of Spring Canyon was brought out, ending more than 48 hours of nonstop rescue efforts.

Also killed in the accident at the Spring Canyon coal mine were Cecilio Garcia, 36, of Helper, Utah, and William Daniels, 47, and Dean Nielsen, 29, both of Spring Canyon. The quartet was sealing off a shaft when the blast occurred.

Utah mine inspectors said today there was no negligence on the part of the company in the tragedy and that the mine had been inspected a week before the accident and appeared in good safety condition.

Officials said the blast that caused the cave-in resulted from an accumulation of coal dust which apparently was ignited by a short circuit in one of the mine's wires.

Local Family of 4 Loses Home in Fire

ROCHESTER — A mother and her three small children were driven from their home here Saturday afternoon by an explosion and fire which destroyed their house.

Mrs. Rita Ketterer, of DeBaehe Court, 510 Main St., said she heard what sounded like an explosion in the basement, and ran to a neighbor's house with her children. No one was injured.

When the Fire Department arrived, flames and smoke were gushing out of the windows of the two-story frame dwelling.

The cause of the fire is undetermined, the Fire Department said. The house and contents were a total loss.

Ford Starts Layoff at Canadian Plants

OAKVILLE, Ont. (AP) — Ford of Canada plant officials here said 2,600 of the plant's 3,000 workers start a five-day layoff today.

The men will return to work next weekend before another two-day layoff next week.

Officials in this town midway between Toronto and Hamilton said the cutback is due to a slow sale of passenger cars. Truck production will not be affected, they added.

A company official said similar layoffs will take place in Windsor.

Suffers Minor Injuries Skidding Car Into Tree

Frank V. Vickery, 29, of 1436 Sharpe St., Lake Orion, was treated for minor injuries at Pontiac General Hospital this morning and released after his car hit a tree, reported Oakland County Sheriffs Deputies.

Vickery told deputies that he slid on ice, losing control of his car and striking the tree while traveling on Conklin Rd., just south of Miller Rd., in Orion Township.

County Credit Union Annual Banquet Set

More than 200 are expected to attend the fifth annual banquet of the Oakland County Employe Credit Union Wednesday.

Heavy Snows Blow Eastward From the Plains

★ ★ ★

La Junta, in the heart of southeastern Colorado's farmlands, received more than seven inches. The grazing lands of eastern New Mexico, western Texas and the Oklahoma Panhandle were blanketed with more than three inches.

The snowfall over croplands of western Kansas, eastern and southern Nebraska, northwestern Iowa and southern Minnesota was nearly as heavy.

Agricultural leaders said the storm would give winter wheat needed moisture and provide nourishment for withered plains grass.

★ ★ ★

In the Northeast northerly winds continued to pour cold air into the area bringing temperatures to below zero in most of the interior sections of New York and New England. The chill winds accounted for temperatures in the teens and low 20s as far south as northern Virginia.

Three Children Safe in Runaway Airplane

NEW SMYRNA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Three children were passengers in a runaway plane that bounced across the municipal airport yesterday and nosed down in a wooded area a short distance from the field. None was seriously hurt.

The father, Claude P. Collier, strapped them in the rear seat of a small plane preparatory to a ride with an instructor. Collier said he was checking the craft and was pulling the propeller around when the engine started.

Collier was knocked down as the plane headed across the field. The craft left the ground at least twice, witnesses said, and was about 30 feet in the air when it crossed a ditch at the end of the field just before crashing.

The children — Claude, 10; Fred, 9; and Linda, 7—crawled from the wreckage. Linda was admitted to a hospital for observation. The boys received scratches and bruises.

Starves With $40,000

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—Henry W. Rose, recluse found dying of starvation in his shabby quarters here, had $40,000 among his personal belongings. Rose, 95, was found Dec. 5. He died 10 days later. Police said written instructions were found stipulating $3,000 go to five youth organizations and the Salvation Army. The remainder was left to relatives.

Comic Scores With 'Tonight'

Wins America's Heart as Successor to Allen and Kovacs

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Those late and late, late movies are finally receiving some competition from a gentleman named Jack Paar who has lately been discovered by a host of midnight television viewers.

The discovery—if you can call it that—of Paar on "Tonight" (NBC-TV, 11:30 p.m.—1 a.m., EST) is rather astonishing since he's been around for quite a time doing just what he is doing now—talking and being amusing without displaying a doltish coltishness or coltish doltishness.

Yes, the heartland — meaning everything west of the Hudson and east of San Bernardino — seems to have clasped Paar to its board bosom.

Some ABC-TV and CBS-TV stations are even showing Paar's NBC-TV show in cities where local NBC stations which are committed to late movies have granted permission — the first time such a thing has happened, so far as anybody can recall.

★ ★ ★

The reason for this late discovery, says Paar, is that he never stayed up until midnight before. Or, to put it more factually, nobody ever gave him the incentive to stay up so late until NBC assigned him to the time spot generally credited with bringing Steve Allen and Ernie Kovacs to wide attention.

WATCH AT MIDNIGHT

"I'm not really doing anything different than I was a couple of years ago on the CBS-TV morning show," he says. "The credit goes to the newspaper people who are able to watch the show at midnight hours and never saw me in the daytime."

★ ★ ★

That's unduly modest of Paar, who worked afternoon as well as morning television and appeared in numerous guest nighttime spots before taking over "Tonight." Numerous critics agree that Paar has a refreshingly aseptic wit, a ruthless candor, and—as a Cleveland boy — a genuine knowledge of what interests people beyond the shodow of Broadway.

"Tonight" has been a more popular show since Paar purged it of some of the ideas he inherited when he took it over. It's no longer a gathering place for jazz aficionados or for people suffering from Broadwayitis. "We simply seek people who are as interesting as possible to as many people as possible," says Paar.

Although Paar has lived in suburban Bronxville, N. Y., for a long time, he never has become a member of what many people think of as the New York "smart set."

Deeply devoted to his wife, Marion, and 8-year-old daughter, Randy, he is a rare bird of the species comedian: Totally domesticated, socially shy, intellectually omnivorous.

KEEPING HUMILITY

Paar gets home to Bronxville from the New York studio about 2 a.m., talks to his wife and reads until 3 a.m. He sleeps about seven hours "and then I wake up and can't go back to sleep again." He calls for his daughter at school and eats lunch with her and his wife before driving to New York to work on the evening show.

★ ★ ★

He's had his ups and downs in the entertainment world. Ascendent now, he remembers his days of descent, and says, "I'm not doing anything to get a big head about. I'm just here, feeling sort of tired and wondering when they'll give me a vacation."

Michigan Man Dies in Indiana Accident

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP) — Lester Allyn, 20, of Clinton, Mich., died last night of injuries suffered early Sunday in a one-car accident on the Indiana toll road about 1½ miles east of the South Bend entrance.

State Police said Allyn was a passenger in a car driven by Daniel L. Pratt, 19, also of Clinton. Pratt apparently went to sleep and the car struck an embankment, police said.

Now He's Wondering Which Is Weaker Sex

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Like most New Yorkers, I get my principal exercise by lifting a check or raising my voice.

★ ★ ★

But they finally got me into Reilly's Health Club in the RCA building the other day—by promising me the famous beauty, Tina Louise, of TV stage and cinema would be there in gym togs.

"Well, well" I said as soon as I saw Tina. "I'd like to take a half hour of setting-up myself."

WILSON

And he mentioned that Eleanor Holm, Shirley Booth, Jinx Falkenberg and Bea Wain also take real workouts—and that men are in danger of becoming the flabby, paunchy weaker sex if they aren't already.

"Maybe I should settle for a massage." I mumbled.

Tina sniggered. She was now working with 20-pound dumbbells. "I don't believe in massages. I believe in doing the exercise myself."

TINA

He fell back in dismay. Her biceps are 13½ inches. Her highness—she's 5-8½ weighs 140, and measures 38-25-37½ if you care for such childish facts.

Deciding to show Tina I've got a pretty good physique myself, I began getting my jacket off—which itself is a little difficult lately.

"Have you compared muscles with Faye Emerson and Rita Hayworth, the judo experts?" I puffed to Tina.

"I don't think I'd ever use judo on a man. I like men too much to throw them around," she said.

Jane Mansfield and 'Muscles' Return From Trip

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Recently-married Jayne Mansfield and Mickey Hargitay flew home last night from the first week of what they call their "80-year honeymoon."

They looked very happy. They were met at the airport by the actress' daughter, Jayne Marie, 7, who gave both her mother and her new stepfather a big hug.

Jayne said that the child had been looking forward for months to the time when she could call the former Mr. Universe daddy.

Protestant Clergy Meet in Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Protestant clergymen from some 50 Michigan communities gathered here today for the annual general assembly of the Michigan Council of Churches and the 19th annual Michigan pastors conference.

★ ★ ★

Among the main speakers at the three-day event will be the Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Michigan, Bishop Marshall R. Reed, Episcopal head of the Methodist church in Michigan.

Other speakers will include Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers union; Dr. E. G. Homrighausen, dean of the Princeton theological seminary; and Prof. Wilbert J. McKeachie of the University of Michigan.

The meetings also will observe the 100th anniversary of religious programs at the University of Michigan.

Urge General Strike in Troubled Caracas

★ ★ ★

A group which calls itself Junta Patriotica has urged a general walkout of workers tomorrow to proclaim "a great day for freedom and for repudiating usurpation."

Junta in the past has been linked to demonstrations by university students.

An underground group calling itself the Venezuelan Student Front has circulated leaflets urging a walkout beginning today of students and professors "from kindergarten to university." Police broke up student demonstrations last week.

Chiang Party Wins in Most Balloting

TAIPEI, Formosa (UP) — Chiang Kai-Shek's ruling Kuomintang party has won clear majorities in 20 cities and county council elections on Formosa but will retain control in Taipei only with the cooperation of independents.

Running 59 candidates for the 77-seat Taipei City Council, the Kuomintang elected 37 in yesterday's balloting—two short of a majority.

Other seats were won by two minority parties and by independents. But at least six of the independents elected are members of the Kuomintang and are expected to vote with the party on major issues.

Sees Meteorite Setting Off War

Scientist Explains That One Could Easily Be Mistaken for ICBM

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Meteorite tracker Dr. H. H. Nininger of Sedona, Ariz., says a falling meteorite might cause the extermination of the human race by setting off atomic warfare.

Dr. Nininger, head of the American Meteorite Museum since its founding in 1946, offered this explanation in an interview today in support of his terrifying idea:

"Those charged with the defense of our nation never have made meteorites the subject of study. A falling meteorite very easily may be mistaken for an intercontinental ballistics missile.

★ ★ ★

"Each spectacular fireball continues to create misunderstanding, even terror, among those witnessing it. Airplane pilots mistake fireballs for burning planes or report them as unidentified flying objects. Military personnel on sentry and lookout duty report flying saucers and unidentified radar blips. Personnel of the Civil Air Patrol continually are sent in search of falling planes and grounded unidentified flying objects where none exist.

"Until the advent of the ballistic missile and the Sputniks, such errors were dangerous only to a few. Today the situation has changed. A meteorite could explode over Los Angeles today and we might find ourselves engaged in warfare before the true identity of the object was ascertained.

"Likewise, an unarmed missile could be launched by an aggressor to determine range and accuracy before launching a more lethal weapon, and with the present lack of adequate recognition and investigatory knowledge and procedure by our defense forces, such fact would not be known until potential attack had become a reality."

Dr. Nininger, who has been engaged in the study of meteorites for 37 years, said all military defense personnel should be thoroughly familiarized with the known auditory and visual characteristics of falling meteorites as differentiated from the characteristics of ballistic missiles. He said radar technicians should be instructed in recognizing both the blip of the meteorite and the ionization trail left by the meteorite's passage.

Laos Chief in London

LONDON (UP)—Prince Souvanna Phouma, prime minister of Laos, flew to London from Montreal today for a two day visit to Britain. He is on his way home after visits to Paris, Washington and Ottawa.

Americans have had bottled carbonated soft drinks for the past 150 years. Dr. Benjamin Silliman, professor of chemistry at Yale University, was the first to bottle the effervescent waters in this country.

Powder Extinguishes Fire

In Elmira, N.Y., American La France Corp. comes up with a fire extinguisher styled for the home. The fire killing agent is a clean, pure white dry powder which is expelled by compressed air. It is said to smother the fire before it gets started. Unlike some liquids used in extinguishers, it is described as harmless to people, pet and food.

Shoot Missile Into Air—Privately
Boys' Rocket Successful

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two teen-age pioneers of the space age announced last night they had accomplished in private what those four young Connecticut boys failed to do Saturday with the eyes of the nation upon them. They shot a rocket into the air.

Owen Lee, a farmer from Monkton, Md., confirmed the announcement. He said the rocket was fired at his place, in the rolling hill country just north of Baltimore.

The boys used the same propellant—powdered zinc and sulphur—used by the quartet of Connecticut youngsters at just about the same time on Wallop Island, just off the Virgiia coast.

"There was a long whoosh and a big puff of smoke," said Lee. "The rocket went straight up, about 600 or 700 feet, and landed about 300 or 400 feet away in the woods."

The Monkton rocket was 15 inches shorter and an inch thiner than the one taken to Chincoteague last week by David Gay, 16, Neill Buckley, 17, Charles Svenberg, 17, and William Bayne, 16, all of Wallingford, Conn. Thwarted by local officials in their plans to launch their missile, they drew sympathy and help from Navy officials and were flown to the Chincoteague Naval Aviation Ordnance Testing Range, where the project fizzled. They plan to have another go at it.

Continuing Strike Hits Tourist Trade

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Crown officials say the Nassau general strike—which showed no signs today of a letup—is costing the British Colony's tourist industry at least $112,000 daily.

Nassau's tourist industry — the key to its prosperity—has come to a stop," a government statement said.

"Even if the strike is ended promptly, the tourist business in Nassau will be a long time getting started again."

A week ago hotel and utility workers walked off jobs in sympathy with taxi drivers who struck in a dispute with tour companies over who should carry passengers between hotels and the airport. All of the luxury hotels are closed.

No Trouble Tracking These Three Escapees

GRAND HAVEN (AP)— Three prisoners escaped from the Ottawa County jail Sunday. But their freedom was brief. A few hours later they were recaptured.

The trio included George Pierce, 26, his brother Alden, 21, and James Holden, 28. They were captured nearby after police followed their footprints through the snow.

Japanese Report Heavy Radioactivity in Pacific

TOKYO (AP)—Unusual radioactivity was observed in the air over the central Pacific today by a Japanese naval fleet on a training cruise to the Hawaiian Islands.

The flagship Harukaze reported that its Geiger Counter recorded radiation of 7,200 to 10,000 counts per minute 300 miles northwest of Wake Island.
