2 Ships, 40 Men Missing as Gale Batters Europe

4 Dikes Crack Along North Sea; Dutch Isle Being Evacuated

LONDON (AP)—Two ships with 40 men aboard were feared lost today as hurricanes lashed the North Sea and the English Channel. The gale-driven seas breached dikes in The Netherlands and West Germany but so far there was no repetition of last year's disastrous floods.

Four breaks in the seawalls were reported from Texel Island, just off the northwest Dutch coast.

Mindful of the February 1953 floods in which almost 1,400 lives were lost in The Netherlands, workers rushed to bolster the crumbling dike. Officials began the evacuation of persons, cattle and supplies from part of the island.

Breaks in dikes at Pernis, near Rotterdam, and at Wilhelmshaven, in Germany, also were reported but these were not considered serious. The dikes in the Dutch province of Zeeland, worst hit area in 1953, were holding despite the abnormal tides.

Two nights of suspense were over for 23 American and 8 British passengers aboard the crippled English Channel ferryboat Cote d'Azur. The vessel was towed into Calais today with all aboard unharmed. The ferry crashed into a pier Monday night and smashed her propellers. Previous attempts to tow her into port had failed.

Scottish coast guardsmen said they "feared the worst" for the 1,352-ton Belgian freighter Henri Deweert and her crew of 18. The ship radioed she was sinking off the Dutch island of Terschelling and could not launch her lifeboats in the mountainous seas.

The 1,371-ton Swedish steamer Petra, with 21 men aboard, radioed before dawn that she had broken down off Terschelling and was "taking in water." Swedish coast guard stations said they feared the ship had gone down.

Numerous other ships were in trouble and the British Air Ministry predicted the high winds would continue.

Winds up to 112 miles an hour were recorded off the Swedish coast. Coast guardsmen along the

U.N. Chief Flies to U.S. to Plan for Peiping Trip

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold returns to the United Nations today to complete arrangements for his mission to Peiping on behalf of 11 U. S. airmen jailed as spies by Communist China.

Old Man Winter arrived officially at 4:25 a.m. today, bringing Pontiac area residents a welcome temperature rise and a promise of a white Christmas.

After three days of near-zero weather, winter brought a rising mercury which registered 16 degrees at 8 a.m. During the night, the lowest reading was 10 degrees, between 11 p.m. and 1 a.m.

The United States Weather Bureau, in a special forecast predicted new snow on the ground for Christmas from North Dakota eastward, except for the coastal plains, and from New Jersey southward through Virginia.

The local forecast calls for partly cloudy skies tomorrow with temperatures ranging from 16 to 34 degrees. No appreciable snow is forecast.

Tonight's low is expected to range between 16 and 20 degrees with a high tomorrow and Friday of between 30 and 34. Thursday night's low will be 20 to 24 degrees.

Winter's arrival brought some surprises too. In Wyoming and Montana, where residents are often digging out of snow storms at this time of year, temperatures were higher than in most of Florida.

Women in Miami put on fur jackets to do their Christmas shopping. But in mile-high Denver, the weather was so mild shoppers were going about in thin jackets.

A freak storm sweeping off Lake Huron dumped a foot of snow on an area extending 18 miles from Lexington Heights north to Forestville in St. Clair County.

The snow covered a 20-mile area along the shoreline and extended inland only eight to 10 miles. Lexington Heights is 18 miles north of Port Huron, which got 18 inches of snow Dec. 6 in a storm that dropped as much as 26 inches in some nearby sections.

The weather bureau reports this as the only snowfall in Michigan yesterday.

The first day of winter begins when the sun reaches the most southerly point of its sweep below the Equator — between the east coast of Africa and the southern part of the island of Madagascar.

It is the shortest day of the year, as the sun's warming rays slant across the Northern Hemisphere at their flattest angle. Actually, however, the sun is 3 million miles closer to the earth than in summer.

In a special advisory, the Mich-

Early Closings on Friday Will Give Longer Holiday

Many Pontiac area workers will be able to enjoy a long Christmas holiday due to early closings of offices and industrial plants on Christmas Eve.

County and city offices will close at noon Friday and open for business again on Monday.

Both the Community National and Pontiac State banks announced today that for the Christmas holidays, they will stay open from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Thursday and from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. Friday.

Some of the city's industrial plants will be closed all day Friday and others are planning only one shift for their employes.

General Motors Truck & Coach Division announced that both its offices and plant will be closed all day Friday.

Pontiac Motor Division said that they will have only one shift for plant workers and their offices will close at 2 p.m.

Fisher Body Division will work only one shift for both plant and office workers.

Leslie Dean Sr., acting Pontiac Postmaster, said that the parcel post and stamp windows at the post office will close at noon Friday with the General Delivery window staying open until 6 p.m.

Dean added, however, that necessary service such as special delivery letters and perishable articles will be delivered.

Pontiac Retail Merchants Assn. announces that downtown stores will close at 5:30 p.m. Friday to permit employes to have Christmas Eve free.

Most stores remain open until 9 o'clock tonight and Thursday night.

Public schools close Thursday afternoon and will not reopen until Tuesday, Jan. 4.

St. Frederick and St. Michael Schools closed for the holidays at noon today and will resume classes Jan. 3.

Pope Tells Catholics to Resist in Red China

VATICAN CITY (INS) — Pope Pius XII in an encyclical letter released today made an impassioned appeal to Roman Catholic clergy and laymen in Communist China to resist Red efforts to establish a "Chinese National Catholic Church."

The letter was dated Oct. 7, nearly two months before the Pontiff's most recent and severe gastric attack from which he still is recovering.

The encyclical told Catholics in China that it was impossible to serve two masters if these were in conflict and restated an ancient Christian principle:

"It is sometimes impossible to please both Jesus Christ and men."

Asks Big Vote on Paris Treaty

Mendes Tells Deputies France May Be Dropped as European Power

PARIS (AP)—Premier Pierre Mendes-France called on the National Assembly today to approve the Paris accords by a large majority, saying a feeble indorsement might have the same disadvantages as rejection.

He interrupted a critical speech by former Defense Minister Jules Moch in this third day of a four-day debate to press for ratification of the agreements which would free and rearm West Germany in the Western defense lineup.

Moch, a Socialist, had contended German rearmament may no longer be necessary in view of the development of atomic weapons.

He advocated further Big Four talks and said it might be less dangerous to hopes for peace to turn down the treaties than to try to set up negotiations after they are put into effect.

Mendes-France, who has been laying back in the debate, took issue immediately. He declared forcefully that the first necessity is for the West to define its position clearly. He said negotiations can be carried on more fruitfully between the East and West after the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which the rearmed Germany would join, is completely solidified.

If the Assembly refuses to ratify the treaties, the Premier warned, the idea of four-power talks may be ended forever. He declared that any future negotiations might be two-power or three-power talks, with France pushed aside as a major power, even in NATO.

Reds Deny Kidnap Story of Ex-Official

BERLIN (INS)—A former West German intelligence officer, who said last week he had escaped from Soviet Zone kidnappers, was reported today by the Communists to have been refused political asylum.

Col. Friedrich Heinz, ousted chief of the Bonn defense ministry's intelligence section, told West Berlin police last Saturday that he was lured into East Berlin by a former employe, Jacob Kolb.

Heinz told of a dramatic escape from a guarded room in Soviet headquarters in East Berlin, where he said he was interrogated about Otto John, the Bonn security official who defected to the Reds.

Today's East German government announcement said that both Kolb and Heinz had asked for asylum, but only Kolb's plea was accepted.

Miles Reports Home Owners File Complaints

Say Heating Is Faulty; Wrenn Warns Against Changes in Code

Admitting the city building code has "a lot of loose ends" and should be tightened, City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn last night warned the City Commission Pontiac faced an end to new home construction if standards were raised.

His warning came after Commissioner Floyd P. Miles told the commission he had received complaints that new homes being constructed here can not be heated adequately.

Wrenn inferred that the Pontiac construction code goes along with federal government loan codes in order to stimulate building of low-payment homes.

"The FHA and the VA have lowered their codes so the price of a house is reasonable, but they are getting to the breaking point," he said.

"If you tighten the code here, though, the builders will come along and say 'You won't let us go along with FHA and VA'. . Then you won't have any new homes in Pontiac."

Wrenn likened the situation to a two-edged sword:

"Workers here want homes at reasonable prices, then after they move in they find the houses aren't good ones," he said.

"But raise the standards and you won't have any new homes to offer the working man."

"One man told me he can't get more than 50 degrees out of his furnace," Miles said. "And his

Crazed Suitor Frees Woman

Surrenders to Police After 24-Hour Gunpoint Vigil Over Captive

WAKE FOREST, N.C. (AP) — A jealous suitor who had held his girl friend at gunpoint in a textile mill here for more than 24 hours released her this afternoon and gave up to police without a struggle.

The suitor, 40-year-old Graham Timberlake said he felt sick and needed medical attention.

Timberlake had held a pistol at the head or side of Miss Davis since 11:45 a.m. yesterday. He threatened to shoot her or anyone else who came near without his permission. They were in a tiny room piled hikh with packing cases.

Outside the room, police officers, the girl's relatives and friends of both pleaded with him to release her.

But Timberlake's retort, Wake Forest Police Chief W. R. Wiggs said, was that he "was going to hold her until he (Timberlake's rival) came and then he was going to kill him."

At one point Timberlake allowed Dr. George W. Corbin Jr. of nearby Rollsville to enter the cramped room and give the woman some food and a sedative. All the while Timberlake stood by, the small pistol pointed at the terrified woman.

Two efforts to give the half-crazed Timberlake drugged food and drink failed. Police finally passed in two undrugged soft drinks at Timberlake's insistence and he drank them. After 17 hours neither had any other nourishment.

Police said that Timberlake had been held in the Wake County Jail as a "mental patient" recently, but was not admitted to the state hospital and returned to work Monday.

Lansing Youth, 19, Dies Today Trying for Gun at Roadblock

ALLEN, Mich. (UP)—A 19-year-old gunman who killed one Allen policeman and pistol-whipped another was shot to death early today when he drew a gun at an Ohio Highway Patrol roadblock.

The gunman was identified from papers found on his body as Elmer Anderson Jr. of Lansing. Authorities also identified him as the bandit who held up a supermarket and hardware store in Indiana last night.

Hillsdale County authorities flashed a three-state alarm later last night after the fatal shooting of Policeman Ivan Wilson, 34, and the clubbing of his companion, Gerald Chase, 40.

Chase, who suffered a head injury, said he and Wilson stopped Anderson's car about 10:30 p. m. when they saw it darting in and out of traffic.

They said they suspected the auto was the "green convertible" used as a getaway car in the robbery of an Angola, Ind., supermarket.

As he and Wilson approached the car, Chase said, Anderson leaped from the auto and began shooting. Two bullets struck Wilson in the head.

Expect Refusal to Meet Motion Asking New Trial

Dr. Sam Still Affirms Innocence After Being Sentenced for Life

CLEVELAND (INS)—Dr. Sam Sheppard, labeled a wife-murderer by the verdict of a jury of seven men and five women, opened a long legal struggle today to upset his sentence of life imprisonment.

William J. Corrigan, chief counsel for the handsome osteopath convicted of second-degree murder in the bludgeon slaying of his wife, worked on motions he will present Dec. 30 for a new trial.

The move, which the defense expects, however, to fail, will start the ball rolling on a series of actions in higher courts to void the results of the 10-week Cleveland trial which ended late yesterday.

Experts predicted it could be a year before final judgement was rendered in the courts on Ohio's most spectacular murder case.

Before Judge Edward Blythin pronounced sentence, Dr. Sam, with his head held high and his eyes flashing, declared:

"I'd like to say that I am not guilty and I feel this case has been a great miscarriage of justice. The facts in this case prove I couldn't have performed this crime."

Later the 30-year old suburban Bay Village osteopath appeared little affected by the jury's verdict which doomed him to imprisonment for at least ten years before he can gain parole.

Guards at the Cuyohoga County Jail said he cleaned his plate of a dinner of bologna, sweet rolls and coffee and acted "normal" throughout the evening.

He went to bed as usual at 9 o'clock last night and at 2 a.m. bedcheck was reported "sleeping soundly."

Corrigan said he would ask the court of appeals to set aside Sheppard's conviction if his bid for a new trial were turned down by Judge Blythin, before whom he will argue his motion a week from tomorrow.

"This is a vicious case," declared Corrigan. "There are grounds for a new trial because of prejudice against the defendant, judicial error, admission of inadmissable hearsay evidence and Sam's trial by newspaper."

The white-haired defense attorney did, however, win a partial victory in defending the man he described as a gentle healer of the sick and the wounded.

If Dr. Sam had been found guilty of first-degree murder, as charged, he automatically would have been sentenced to the electric chair.

If convicted of first-degree murder with a recommendation of mercy, the osteopath would have been sentenced to life imprison-

Jittery Town in California Is Awaiting Aftershocks of $2 Million Earthquake

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—The 40,000 people of this redwood-logging country waited today in fear of expected aftershocks from yesterday's teeth-rattling earthquake which killed one man, injured 50 and caused an estimated two million dollars property damage.

A geology professor, H. D. MacGinitie of Humboldt State College, predicted the aftershocks but said they should be less violent than yesterday's rolling quake which twisted foundations and cracked walls across a 35-mile coastal area centering on Eureka.

One slight aftershock came at 8:58 p. m. last night but did no damage.

The big quake hit at 11:57 a. m. yesterday (2:57 Pontiac time) and lasted two minutes. During this time, from Blue Lake 15 miles to the north, to Ferndale, 20 miles to the south, chimneys toppled or cracked, the earth open in small fissures and movable objects in houses were jumbled. Injuries, however, were minor.

Pitched Carl Wilkerson, 42, to his death in a lumber mill pond. He struck his head on a log and drowned.

Hurled a woman across the hospital delivery room on an operating table while her new-born son went the other way in his bassinette.

Early Christmas Planned for Nation's First Family

WASHINGTON (INS)—Santa Claus will arrive at the White House tonight, two days before his exciting Christmas Eve visit to most folks.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower will open their gifts this evening around the big tree in their second floor living quarters.

Mrs. Mary Jane McCaffrey, Mrs. Eisenhower's news secretary, explained that the First Lady did not want to carry the presents to Augusta, Ga., where the Eisenhowers will spend the Christmas holidays. They plan to fly to Augusta tomorrow.

The presents are piled high under the floor-to-ceiling tree, which is trimmed with vari-colored lights in the old-fashioned way which Mrs. Eisenhower preferred.

Mrs. McCaffrey said that Mrs. Eisenhower hasn't "peeked" at a single gift, explained that it might be that the First Lady will not get her gift from the President until Christmas Eve. The presents under the tree are from friends and members of the Eisenhower family.

The First Lady's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, of Denver, who arrived in Washington Friday, will join in tonight's gift-opening.

Just before taking off for Augusta tomorrow, the Eisenhowers will give an early morning Christmas party for the White House staff, which numbers about 700 employes.

The party will be held around a 20-foot cedar tree which glitters in silver dress in the East Room. The bushy tree is 50 feet in circumference and has about 400 white lights.

With the Eisenhowers leaving, th decorations will be enjoyed mainly by Christmas tourists in Washington.

Supt. Ireland Describes Needed School Expansion

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — After showing a film on the history of the National Education Assn., including school needs to meet the recent heavy population growth, Supt. of Schools Dwight B. Ireland told board of education members last night he "will follow through after the first of the year with some local figures I think will be shocking."

As an example, Ireland said, "present estimates indicated the need of close to $7,000,000 for classrooms here, not including $2,000,000 for a swimming pool and auditorium at Birmingham High School."

This means that last June's $3.5 million bond issue is only half enough to meet current demands, Ireland explained.

He said the PTA Council already has a 450 signature petition requesting the swimming pool, but said he feels the community must be made aware not only of present but future needs, before committing itself to extras.

Ireland said he knows he will be criticized if he opposes the pool, but on the other hand, feels he has a moral obligation to say what he thinks is best.

"I don't see how the community can bear that load without sacrifice, until we weather the storm of this terrific growth," he said.

Looking for that last-minute Christmas gift? Then Junior Achievers think they have a solution. Students have been busy setting up and operating eight companies since the start of school. One group is turning out a wood and metal desk lamp in red, white and green.

Another company is offering gaily decorated wooden candle holders in the shape of Christmas trees. For both gift and home use a spot remover kit has been put on the market by still another youthful firm. These JA groups may still be reached tomorrow night at the Birmingham Theater Building.

Bloomfield Hills School Board members this week instructed Supt. of Schools Eugene L. Johnson and Swanson Associates, architects, to secure bids as soon as possible on equipping the science department of the new high school under construction.

Slated for a September opening, the $1,750,000 school is about five weeks behind construction-wise, Johnson reported. He added that a large portion of the building will be enclosed by next week so that inside work can proceed during the winter months.

YMCA volley ball enthusiasts will have one more playing session from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. tomorrow at Baldwin School gymnasium before recessing for the holidays. Interest has progressed to a point where intramural teams will be formed.

A $3,000 sum will be advanced to the Oakland County Drain Commissioner for engineering studies to be made by the firm of Hubbell, Roth and Clark, Inc., in connection with the proposed $2,740,000 Evergreen interception sewer.

In approving the expenditure this week, city commissioners were told the funds would be repaid from bonds sold for any construction work done on the project. Five other municipalities making up the district were asked to advance the same amount.

.32-caliber automatic behind and grabbed up Wilson's .38-caliber service revolver.

The .32-caliber weapon was identified as among the items stolen from a La Grange, Ind. hardware store earlier last night.

Anderson apparently lost his way over rural Hillsdale County roads after the fatal shooting and wrecked the convertible against an embankment. The car's license plates showed it was registered to Elmer Anderson of Lansing.

The youthful gunman stole another car, a Plymouth, at nearby Reading and continued his flight. Ohio authorities were alerted about midnight when Michigan State Police reported the stolen car speeding southward toward the Michigan-Ohio border.

Ohio troopers halted the car at a hastily erected roadblock just south of the state line at the intersection of U. S. 127 and U. S. 20. Anderson, who sat quietly in the car, was approached by Cpl. B. F. Cain, who asked to see his driver's license.

When Anderson reached for a gun on his lap instead, Cain whipped out his own gun and fired. The bullet struck Anderson in the stomach and he was pronounced dead on arrival at Detwiler Hospital in Wauseon, Ohio.

Defense to Enter New Trial Motion

ment with parole barred until he had served 20 years in the penitentiary.

Also, Corrigan convinced Judge Blythin to issue a stay of execution delaying the transfer of Dr. Sam from the county jail to the state penitentiary at Columbus to begin serving his life sentence immediately.

The stay will remain in effect until the defense motions are disposed of by the jurist, who had thrown out similar arguments during the trial which started on Oct. 18.

Judge Blythin refused Corrigan's plea to permit the brain surgeon's release on bail until the case is settled, perhaps eventually by the state supreme court.

Under the law, Corrigan has three days to file a notice of appeal from the time the common pleas judge rejects his motion for a new trial.

The jurist was loud in his praise of the jury, which debated for a record five days whether Dr. Sam was the man who killed his attractive wife or if it was the "phantom" the defendant claimed bludgeoned her to death with 35 devastating blows.

The verdict, sealed after 102 hours of deliberation, found Dr. Sam's family stony-faced and the osteopath a study of controlled emotion except for the contempt which blazed from his expressive eyes.

Case Number 64571 of the State of Ohio vs. Samuel Holmes Sheppard was, at long last, ended.

The jury, aware that Corrigan was to launch a new assault for another trial, firmly refused to comment about their lengthy deliberations in their locked jury room.

It was learned unofficially however, that at least 20 ballots were taken before the final 10-to-2 deadlock for conviction was broken.

Susan Hayes, the woman for whose love the state charged and the jury believed Dr. Sam killed his wife, said an hour after the verdict she had "absolutely no comment whatsoever" about the decision.

"It's a great miscarriage of justice," said his brother, Dr. Richard in an agitated voice.

Dr. Sam, weeks before his conviction, asked his brother, Dr. Stephen, to care for his little boy, Chip, 7, if he were imprisoned or sent to the chair.

Further Questioning Planned in Slaying

BIRMINGHAM — Further questioning about the Sept. 12 shotgun slaying and robbery of a Birmingham gas station attendant is planned for two Royal Oak girls being held by police in Tucumcari, N. M.

Detective Lt. Merlin Holmquist and Detective Frank Barkman of the Michigan State Police plan to leave immediately to talk to the pair.

Clippings of the $60 Birmingham hold-up and other Detroit area crimes were found in the possession of one of the girls, Rosemary Anderson, 17, when she and Dolores Voch, 20, and two youths were arrested for investigation of gasoline theft there.

Both girls admitted knowing the slain station attendant, 24-year-old Doyle Howe, during the original investigation of the crime.

EDWARD H. SHIGLEY

Ex-Policeman Gets New Post

Edward H. Shigley Will Work for Prosecutor January 1

Former Pontiac police captain, Edward H. Shigley, 52, will begin duties as an assistant Oakland County prosecutor Jan. 1, Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said today.

Shigley will succeed Arthur W. Kollin who is resigning to enter private law practice.

A 1941 graduate of the Detroit College of Law, Shigley resigned his police post Nov. 13 after 29 years service. But after discovery of an error in a city employes' pension plan voted on Nov. 2, Shigley asked for reinstatement.

He said the error made it impossible for him to receive an immediate pension. The Pontiac City Commission granted him a six-month leave of absence Nov. 18 saying by the end of that time the pension error would have been submitted to voters for correction.

Shigley was head of police administration when he resigned and chairman of the city employes pension board.

Before joining the force here Oct. 1, 1926, the new prosecutor graduated from Central Normal College and was principal of high schools in Kalkaska and Nashville. While still a policeman, he acted as city attorney in the absence of William A. Ewart.

"I enjoyed my years as a member of the Pontiac Police Department and am looking forward to further associations with city, county and state law enforcement agencies in my chosen field," Shigley said today.

A 1948 graduate of Wayne University Law School, Kollin has served as assistant prosecutor since August 1952. A World War II veteran, he received his B. A. degree from the University of Michigan in 1942.

Ross Tenny Remains on Critical List

Ross P. Tenny, 56, of 208 Cherokee Rd., general manager of the L. H. Cole Oil Co., remained on the critical list at Pontiac General Hospital today after being pinned yesterday between two trucks in the company's yard at 392 S. Sanford St.

Pontiac Police today quoted William F. Dedrich, 41, of 6607 Longworth, Drayton Plains, driver of an oil transport truck entering the yard, as saying he does not know how Tenny was caught between the vehicles.

Dedrich added that he had seen Tenny standing in the entrance of the yard before he was pinned between the rear of a parked truck and the forward section of Dedrich's trailer.

The victim suffered, according to hospital authorities, a possible fractured pelvis and internal chest injuries.

Two Receive Injuries in Four Car Smashup

BIRMINGHAM—Two men were treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, following a four-car accident at the Woodward-Lincoln intersection yesterday.

John J. Stanton, 62, of Royal Oak suffered a seven-inch scalp wound, and Robert J. Haugh, 18, of 684 Puritan Rd., received abrasions.

Police said Stanton went through a red light on south-bound Woodward, striking Haugh's auto, traveling west on Lincoln. Haugh's car was forced into one driven by Mrs. Olive E. Burns, 44, of 917 South Glenhurst, which went out of control and crashed into the car of Ray E. Painter, 38, of Royal Oak.

Storm in New England Causes Dozen Deaths

BOSTON (UP)—New England counted a dozen dead today after a snow storm which laid a blanket a foot deep in some sections. The weather bureau said there might be more snow at the weekend.

The majority of the deaths attributed to the storm were caused by over-exertion from shoveling or walking through the snow.

Britisher Guilty on Spy Charge

Clerk Is Convicted of Collecting Data Useful to an Enemy

LONDON (UP)—A 27-year-old clerk was convicted today of spying on Britain's antiaircraft defenses and collecting information "calculated to be useful to an enemy."

The clerk, John Clarence, was sentenced to five years in prison.

"I am innocent of this charge," Clarence told the court, "and I will maintain my innocence to my dying day."

At a previous hearing the most important exhibit was a sheet of blue paper, on which was the heading "Embassy Soviet Union, 23.1" It allegedly contained notes including a secret code word.

The four charges were brought under the rarely invoked official secrets act. Special permission from the attorney general, Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller, had to be gained for the charges to be made under the 45-year-old law.

The jury deliberated 30 minutes to convict the slight, bespectacled Clarence. He showed no emotion as the jury announced its verdict.

Most of the hearing was in secret. Today was the first time the public had been admitted to the trial since Manningham-Bullers statements last Tuesday.

Police found the document containing the secret code word and descriptions of military installations. Clarence worked at the headquarters of an antiaircraft regiment four months during 1953 and had access to secret information, police said.

Manningham-Buller also alleged Clarence had visited the Soviet Embassy offering to work and had sold Communist leaflets in London.

Clarence told the police he collected the material to write territorial army magazine articles. He said he dropped that idea when he learned some of the information was secret.

Change in Code May Halt Building

children are sick and his wife is pregnant.

"I don't know about the FHA and the Veterans' Administration, but we have a code in the City of Pontiac which says a heating unit must heat a house to 70 degrees in 10 below zero weather.

"What happens if they won't do it?"

Wrenn answered that the city tries to get the builder to correct the situation. He added:

"A furnace that will heat a good house won't heat one of these because the walls are so thin."

He told Miles he understood the builder involved had agreed to install new, larger furnaces. Miles said he had been told the builder was only going to install flue fans to increase the warm air flow.

Wrenn promised further investigation. Today, he reported the builder has agreed to make necessary changes.

He added, however, that the builder cannot be bound to do the work.

"The only thing you can do is condemn the building and that would mean the house would be condemned. Where would the family live?

"We could take away the builder's local license. But where would the relief be? The house would still be cold."

Wrenn said he could see no ready solution to the problem.

He said most of the new low-payment houses in Pontiac are on 30-year mortgages.

Pontiac's building code, formulated two years ago, is based on a standard code established for nationwide usage, Wrenn said.

"I think our code ranks very good," he said. "But it still permits things that are pretty skimpy."

Chip Wraps Present for Daddy in Prison

CLEVELAND (UP)—Seven-year-old Chip Sheppard stood a few feet from the Christmas tree in his uncle's home when they told him: "Your daddy won't be home for Christmas."

The boy heard the news quietly. Then he walked upstairs to his room. There, in the awkward fashion of youngsters, he wrapped a gift for his father, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard.

The gift will be delivered to a cell in county jail where Dr. Sheppard has been confined since July 30.

Dr. Richard Sheppard, oldest brother of Dr. Sam, told how Chip received the news.

Dr. Richard said he wasn't sure what Chip had for his dad's Christmas gift but thought "it was something he made in school."

5-Year-Old Boy Is Found Dead in Miami River

MIAMI, Fla. (UP) — A 5-year-old handicapped boy, who disappeared three days ago from a Christmas party, was pulled lifeless from the Miami River today.

The body of Shapley Lalor, dressed in a red jacket and green trousers, was found by George Brown, a fish dealer. The child who couldn't talk, had been described by newspapers, radio and television during the three days he was missing.

He was one of five children entertained at a Shrine Christmas party Saturday. When attendants were unable to find him, police were called and the search began.

Doom Prophet Looking for Job

Laughead Reluctant to Claim California Quake as Proof of Forecast

CHICAGO (UP) — Dr. Charles Laughead, whose predicted tidal wave didn't show up, closed up shop as a prophet today and went looking for a job.

Laughead credited an 11th hour reprieve by the "general" in outer space with saving Chicago from the tidal wave that was supposed to engulf it yesterday. He said he would have "nothing specific" to forecast henceforth.

The 44-year-old physician, who was fired from his job at Michigan State College because of his gloomy predictions, said he would spend Christmas with his family at East Lansing.

Then, he said, he will start looking for a new job, but he wasn't worried about finding one.

"I feel bigger things are in store for me," Laughead said. I'm not worried about a job."

Laughead was reluctant to claim that the earthquake that hit California yesterday confirmed his forecast of "cataclysmic" events to accompany the Chicago tidal wave.

However, Mrs. Dorothy Martin who claims to be in contact with other-world informants, said she had been told that "seismatic disturbances would accompany world-wide destruction."

Mrs. Martin, in whose home Laughead has been a guest since his ouster by Michigan State, said the West Coast earthquake "bore out" her prediction.

Wants Laugheads Ruled Mentally Ill

LANSING (UP) — A sister of Dr. Charles Laughead, ousted Michigan State College physician, today petitioned the courts to have he and his wife, Lillian, declared mentally ill.

Dr. Laughead received national attention with his predictions that half the continent would be wiped out by violent cataclismic changes Dec. 21.

The petitions were filed with the Ingham County Circuit Court at Lansing by Miss Margaret V. Laughead of Des Moines, Iowa.

Judge John McClellan said the sister also asked that a guardian be appointed to look after the Laughead estate, which includes a home in East Lansing, and to care for the couple's three children.

Dr. Laughead, 44-year-old former staff phisician at the MSC hospital, was fired after Dr. John A. Hannah, college president, reported he was preachcing to students that the world would end on Tuesday.

2 Vessels, 39 Men Feared Lost in Gale

North Sea said the storm looked worse than the great blow in which 100 seamen were lost at the end of November and the beginning of December.

The winds cut a path of destruction through northern Britain, uprooting thousands of trees, shattering windows and tearing masonry and roofs from buildings.

Two persons were known dead in Scotland. Scores of others were treated at hospitals for cuts and bruises.

The gales picked up seven 14-ton trucks in Glen Coe, north of Glasgow, and hurled them off a hill road inappropriately named "Rest and Be Thankful." Rescue men amputated one driver's foot to free him from the wreckage of his truck.

Prompt Mail Delivery Claimed Despite Load

The Post Office Department said a nationwide check shows that out of 276 communities polled, all but eight reported satisfactory postal service.

The department said it hopes to repeat last year's performance when no Christmas mail was stacked in post offices and left undelivered on Christmas Day anywhere in America.

Dr. Sam's Inlaws Say Their Opinions Are No Concern of Public

CLEVELAND, (UP)—The father and stepmother of the murdered Marilyn Sheppard today declined to comment on the jury verdict which convicted Dr. Samuel Sheppard of second degree murder in the slaying.

"We don't think that our feelings are the public's concern," said the stepmother. The father, Thomas S. Reese, said nothing to inquiring newsmen.

Reese, vice president of the Di-Noc Co., took this morning off from his job at the company, which employs about 200 persons in making photographic materials. He stayed at his University Heights home, where the door had been closed to newsmen during the long trial. His listed telephone was disconnected weeks ago.

Marilyn's stepmother—Marilyn's mother died when she was a small child—said she and Mr. Reese learned the verdict from the radio at their home yesterday. She would not say whether there had been any communication with the family of Dr. Sheppard.

"It's been hard on us," Mrs. Reese said, and added:

"Of course we have feelings and opinions, but we have felt right along that they should not be expressed publicly. We don't think that our feelings are the public's concern. We don't want the newspaper people to feel that we resented this publicity. In fact, we have commented on how they respected our feelings, although, of course, they had a job to do and had to ask questions."

Pontiac Deaths

Nelson Simkins

Word has been received of the death of Nelson Simkins, 75, a former Pontiac resident.

Mr. Simkins died at his home in Cass City Monday after a long illness. He had lived in Cass City since his retirement as an employe of the Pontiac State Hospital five years ago.

Surviving, besides his widow, are five children, Mrs. Burt Zimmerman of Lapeer, Mrs. Joe Doyle of Goodyear, Ariz., Charles of Tampa, Fla., Gerald of Louisville, Ky., and John of Pontiac. Also surviving are 23 grandchildren.

Service will be Thursday at 2 p.m. from the Zinger Funeral Home at Ubly with burial in the Ubly Cemetery.

Open New Dormitory

Town Awaits More Jolts From Quake

tric service had been cut off and gas mains damaged in several places.

Twelve small fires started by short circuits were quickly extinguished. Nearly every building in town was damaged, but due to wooden construction the loss was much smaller than it would otherwise have been. The stone and brick City Hall and the Humboldt County Courthouse were so cracked that they were evacuated and closed.

The quake was the worst here in 25 years and was the second heaviest of a series of temblors which have shaken California and Nevada recently.

Study Planned on 'Junk Mail'

Postal Official Claims Office Will Reconsider 3rd Class Regulations

WASHINGTON (UP)—If you are peeved about your mailbox being stuffed with a growing volume of unaddressed advertising circulars, take heart.

A high postal official told the United Press today the Post Office Department will soon reconsider its regulations governing this so-called "junk mail."

The department ruled in August 1953 that such mail—usually circulars or other advertising matter—could be sent without names or addresses but marked merely "householder" or "postal patron."

A department spokesman said that in the past four months there has been a sudden spurt of complaints about "junk mail"—about 1,000 critical letters, to be specific. There also have been complaints from congressmen.

Chairman Frank Carlson (R-Kan) of the Senate Post Office Committee recently recommended the Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield scrap the "junk mail" order. Carlson said he would support such action "strongly."

The high postal official, who asked not to be identified, said Carlson's views will be given consideration, along with those of other congressional leaders who have written the department on the subject.

The issue, he said, "should be settled dispassionately and in the public interest."

The system of skipping names and address on bulk third class mail was designed as a time saver for businesses which advertise by mail and also for postal workers who sort it.

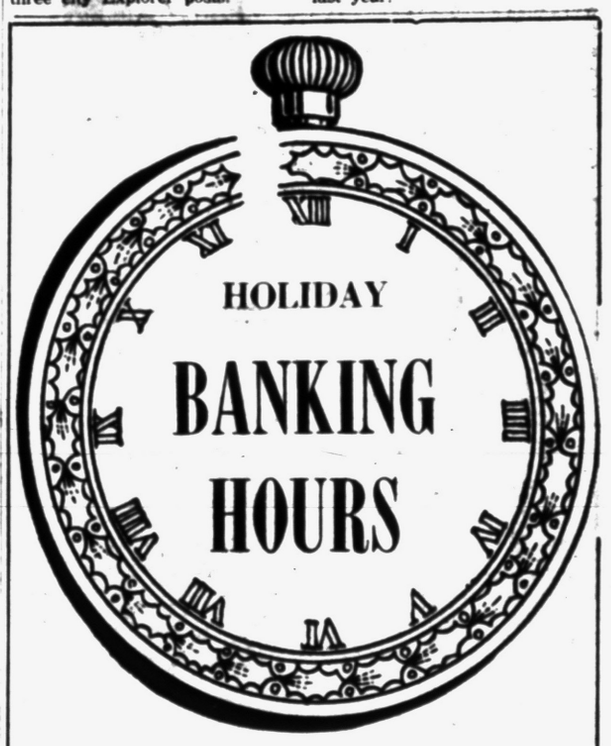

Unaddressed "boxholder" mail has been used on rural routes for many years. The department decided to experiment in extending the practice to cities because it gave promise of cutting operating costs, the official said.

The study is expected to show whether the practice has proved a money saver and how much it has increased the post office's third class mail business.

Michigan Prisons Home for 653 More Convicts

LANSING (UP) — Michigan's prison population has increased by 653 in one year, state corrections officials said today.

The last official count, taken Dec. 17, showed 9,601 inmates, compared to 8,948 at a similar date last year.

Las Vegas Publisher Charges Conspiracy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herman M. (Hank) Greenspun, publisher of the Las Vegas Sun, contends Atty. Gen. Brownell, Postmaster General Summerfield and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) are in a conspiracy to put him in prison.

Greenspun told a news conference yesterday he will stress the contention in a defense against a federal indictment accusing him of publishing an article which, the indictment says, tended to "incite murder or assassination" of McCarthy.

Greenspun said he had arranged an early arraignment on the charge before U. S. District Judge John R. Ross in Nevada.

A Justice Department spokesman said Brownell had no comment "while the matter is pending before the courts." Summerfield said "this is in the hands of the Justice Department" and he preferred not to discuss it. McCarthy could not be reached.

Sheppard's Own Money May Pay for Conviction

CLEVELAND (AP) — Money provided in part by osteopath Samuel Sheppard may be given the person or persons chiefly responsible for his arrest and conviction as a wife killer.

Posted by the convicted osteopath, his two brothers and his father was $10,000 as a reward for supplying information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Marilyn Sheppard. The money was put up shortly after the July 4 bludgeoning.

The funds were given to Cuyahoga County's three commissioners, who were to be solely responsible for distributing them.

The commissioners, Joseph F. Gorman, John F. Curry and Henry W. Speeth, have said the agreement under which they are trustees of the funds did not preclude distribution in the event that Sheppard was found guilty of the murder.

* * *

Only authorities acting in the case in their official capacities are excluded as possible reward recipients.

If no person is deemed eligible to receive the reward during the next five years, the money is to be returned to its donors.

Premeditated Slaying Ruled Out by Verdict

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Samuel Sheppard was convicted of second-degree murder, not first-degree murder as the state had charged.

The difference amounts principally to whether or not the crime was premeditated, mapped out in advance.

Under Ohio law, the state must prove premeditation to establish a first-degree murder case. Without such proof, it is second-degree murder, often refrred to in this state as a "crime of passion."

The greatest east-west distance across Texas is 773 miles from Newton county to El Paso county.

Jury Declares Dr. Sam Guilty

Here Is Summary of Probe and Trial

CLEVELAND (AP) — Verdict of guilty of second degree murder against Dr. Samuel Sheppard in the slaying of his wife, returned by a jury late yesterday afternoon, brought to an end a trial which has attracted widespread attention. Following is a summary of the case, starting with the finding of Marilyn Sheppard's body last July 4.

Marilyn Sheppard's body was found July 4 on a bloodsoaked bed in an upstairs room at her home in Bay Village, a prosperous suburb 12 miles west of Cleveland on Lake Erie. The state says she was struck on the head 35 times. A weapon never was produced.

The Sheppard home, a two-story white frame building, fronts on the lake. The backyard faces the shore highway to Toledo.

Sheppard, complaining of injuries he said he suffered in fights with a "bushy-haired" intruder, was taken almost immediately to Bay View Hospital. The osteopathic hospital, a converted brick mansion, is controlled by his family. His father, Dr. Richard A. Sheppard, heads the staff. His brothers, Dr. Stephen and Dr. Richard N., also practice there.

Two Cleveland detectives and Bay Village patrolmen questioned Sheppard briefly the first day. Four days later Coroner Samuel R. Gerber talked to him. William J. Corrigan, who headed the legal staff for Sheppard, was hired by his family July 6.

* * *

From the first, Sheppard said he fell asleep on a downstairs couch and was later awakened by his wife's cries for help. He said he ran upstairs, was knocked out, regained consciousness and found Marilyn had been beaten. Then, he continued, he heard a noise downstairs and ran down only to be knocked out again in a fight on the lake beach. He came to the second time in shallow water, he declared.

Marilyn was buried July 7 and on July 22 Gerber started an inquest at Normandy school in the suburb. Sheppard, wearing a leather and felt neck brace, denied intimacies with Susan Hayes who had been contacted by detectives nine days earlier in Los Angeles.

Miss Hayes, a pert, freckled 24-year-old laboratory technician who once worked at Bay View, testified during the trial that they had been intimate in Cleveland, had shared a room at a friend's home for seven days in Los Angeles. Sheppard, who declared he denied the intimacies at first to protect her reputation, later admitted them at the trial.

Corrigan was ejected from the coroner's inquest which was recessed indefinitely July 26.

On the night of July 30, Sheppard was arrested at his parents' home and taken to the Cuyahoga county jail to face an intensive questioning by detectives. The grilling, interrupted several times by Corrigan, started Aug. 2, the same day a writ of habeas corpus was denied. Detectives failed to learn anything of note and gave up the questioning.

The warrant for Sheppard's arrest was signed by Gershom Barber, acting mayor of Bay Village. Mayor J. Spencer Houk, friend and neighbor, was the first person called by Sheppard July 4. He stepped down temporarily because of that.

While plans were going forward for a preliminary hearing on the arrest warrant, Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan unexpectedly bypassed that legal method and took the case to the grand jury.

Sheppard was released Aug. 16 on $50,000 bail, only to be rearrested two days later when the grand jury returned a true bill charging first-degree murder. It was estimated the bail cost $2,500.

Until the trial started Oct. 18, the osteopath spent much of his time in jail reading hot-rod magazines. A husky former high school athlete, he also whiled away some time playing handball on a prison court.

Sheppard met Marilyn at Cleveland Heights High School where he was on the football, basketball and track teams. She was a year older than he was. They started going "steady" there and continued after he went to Hanover, Ind., College and later to Los Angeles General Hospital for his osteopathic training.

They had one child, 7-year-old Chip who was asleep in an adjoining bedroom when Marilyn was hacked to death. He did not wake up.

Find Inflammable Toys

DETROIT (AP) — Fire Marshal Mathew McNally says a shipment of highly inflammable mechanical toys imported from Japan has been found in Detroit. He said the toys have flooded cities from the east coast to Chicago and will explode into flame if a lighted match is held an inch and a half away. McNally identified the items as a Santa Claus in a sleigh pulled by reindeer, a jockey on a horse and a girl pushing a doll buggy.

Michigan Flier One of Air Crash Victims

RAPID CITY, S. D. (UP)—First Lt. Harry T. Ketchum, 33, of Gobles, Mich., recently divorced father of three children, was one of three men killed in the crash of a B-25 bomber near here Monday night, the Air Force announced today.

Ketchum was a B-36 co-pilot attached to the 717th Strategic Reconnaissance Squadron at Ellsworth Air Force Base. A veteran of 10 years service, he re-enlisted prior to obtaining a divorce from his wife last Saturday.

The other victime were Maj. Herbert Trost, 34, Jefferson, Iowa, the pilot, and Airman 1-c Robert V. Miles, 21, Earlington, Mass., the engineer.

Cadillac Blaze Damage Estimated at $100,000

CADILLAC (UP) — A costly blaze that raged through two buildings for three hours was brought under control early today by firemen who braved sub-zero temperatures.

The fire broke out shortly after midnight and caused an estimated $100,000 damage to the Montgomery Ward store and an adjoining building housing an insurance agency and a barber shop.

New Drug Affects Brain Cough Center

NUTLEY, N. J. (AP) — A new anti-cough drug seems to work by cutting down messages coming from a "cough center" in the brain, a pharmaceutical firm said today.

The drug, tradename romilar, is called the first specific, non-habit-forming cough - suppressing drug. It resembles narcotics, but cannot cause addiction, the firm said.

Morphine and other narcotics aid in controlling coughing by depressing the central nervous system. The synthetic drug seems to act only on the so-called coug hcenter of the brain which sends out cough signals. It apparently makes these signals weaker and fewer.

Drunk Elephants See a Pink Man

KAMPALA, Uganda (INS) — A herd of elephants in Uganda have seen a pink man.

That is, if drunken elephants have the same troubles as drunken men. A game department official (sober) reported sighting the tipsy pachyderms south of Lake Albert in this East African territory. They apparently had stuffed themselves with highly alcoholic overripe nuts from borassus palm trees.

The big beasts, on a pre-holiday celebration, had the staggers and were colliding with one another and caroming off the trees.

Names Pose Problem

SPOKANE, Wash. (UP) — Mr. and Mrs. Ray R. Barnes, Spokane, were having trouble today selecting names for their new-born twins.

Mrs. Barnes, 36, said "we've about run out of names" for their 17th and 18th children.

Ford Local OKs Big Strike Fund

$25 Million to Be Raised to Back UAW Demands on New Contracts

DETROIT (UP) — The executive board of the CIO United Auto Worker's big Ford local has announced its approval of a 25 million dollar strike fund proposed by the UAW's international executive board.

The UAW had proposed the fund be raised by an increase in union dues as a means of strengthening 1955 demands for a guaranteed annual wage. Industry spokesmen contend a guaranteed annual wage is "unworkable."

"UAW contracts with all major auto makers expire in mid-1955.

Carl Stellato, president of the Ford local executive board, said yesterday the board supported the proposed fund "in the hope that its very existence will help convince management" and that it will assure members "the minimum necessities of life" in event of a strike.

Stellato, who often fails to see eye-to-eye with UAW President Walter P. Reuther, said his board favored use of the proposed fund for "no other purpose except strike assistance." He said the board proposed that the international union's general fund bear the cost of administration.

Stellato also listed these as goals of his 60,000-member Local No. 600:

A 30-hour week with 40 hours' pay; an improved pension plan, with retirement at the age of 60 or 25 years' seniority; full comprehensive insurance coverage for all workers and retirees paid for by the employer; elimination of seven-day operations, with premium time for Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, as such; increased premium for foundry and forge work; an across-the-board wage increase; increased vacation pay and eight paid holidays.

Representatives of all Ford locals are scheduled to meet in Detroit Jan. 12 to draft 1955 contract demands. Representatives of General Motors locals will meet at the same time to draw up their demands.

Asks More Cash for Advertising Vacations in State

LANSING (UP) — The Michigan Tourist Council will ask the Legislature to appropriate $437,388 to attract tourists to Michigan during the next fiscal year.

Robert J. Furlong, executive secretary of the council, said the agency needs more money to meet keener competition form other states and vacation areas.

"Nationwide competition in the tourist industry has progressed to such an extent that it is no longer logical to believe that boom times in general will result in a boom year for Michigan's tourist business," he said.

Furlong said he hoped to get more money in the next few years to put Michigan "back in the parade" in the tourist industry.

He said surveys disclose that the states reaping the greatest harvest dollars are those that spend the most on advertising.

During 1954, he said, the council advertised Michigan tourist attractions in 24 nationally - circulated magazines, placed 750 advertisements in Michigan newspapers, and distributed 250,000 pamphlets on the state's vacation spots.

Post Office Submerged Under Christmas Mail

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—Post office officials estimated some 650,000 pieces of mail were piled up at the Grand Rapids post office yesterday. Postal clerks, attempting to keep up with the Christmas avalanche, were still processing matter mailed Sunday, George E. De Young, superintendent of mails, said.

He said the Christmas rush would be passed by tonight with cancellations running about 600,000 ahead of last year.

$4.35 Million Spent

BATTLE CREEK (UP) — The annual report of the W. K. Kellogg Foundation shows the organization spent $4,350,000, the most in its 24 years of operation, during the fiscal year ended last Aug. 31. The report disclosed the foundation assisted 150 programs and granted 149 fellowships during the year. The organization was founded by the late W. K. Kellogg, Battle Creek breakfast food manufacturer.

Radio-TV Ban for House

One of the changes certain to accompany shift of House control from Republicans to Democrats is a two year ban on radio and television coverage of committee hearings.

This announcement by Congressional Quarterly has the backing of a direct statement by Rep. Sam Rayburn, who again will be House Speaker. The Texan also plans to ban newsreels and recordings.

It is possible, of course, for the House to override Rayburn by voting to change the rules. But no veteran observer of the Washington scene expects such a development. One, in fact, said that "if Sam says no, that's the way it will be."

While serving as Speaker in 1952, Rayburn ordered a ban like the one he plans for the next session. His action was opposed by Rep. Martin of Massachusetts. When the latter became Republican Speaker of the House in 1953, he revoked the Texan's order.

The result was to leave the question of radio-television coverage to the chairmen of the separate committees. It is on that basis that the issue is handled in the Senate.

No House rule specifically bans or authorizes radio-TV coverage of committee hearings or floor sessions. But through usage, the Speaker has assumed authority over the matter. Rayburn's position is that House committees are subject to the same rules as the House. The House, he says, is free to bring in the microphones and cameras by passing a rules change, which he would oppose.

★ ★ ★

No legislative session of the House or Senate ever has been broadcast or televised. But for years it has been the practice to put the President on the air when he speaks before joint sessions. This also is the practice when distinguished visitors address joint sessions.

True Bipartisanship Near

There should be widespread satisfaction over the extent to which Administration and opposition consultation has improved the prospect for true bipartisanship.

It is further reassuring that the prospects for co-operation in the next session of Congress cover not only the fields of foreign policy and defense but that of trade. Also reassuring is the high degree of good will generated by the President's meeting with opposition leaders.

This doesn't mean that partisanship will be entirely missing from the next session. Such a development not only is unlikely but would be undesirable and harmful to our two party system.

The extraordinary degree of prior consultation with the Democrats forecast in Washington dispatches, is born of necessity, or belated retognition of that fact. The necessity always has existed.

The truth is that matters of foreign policy and national defense never have been proper subjects for partisan controversy. That is more than ever the case when the Administration is controlled by one party and Congress by the other.

Actually, maintaining a spirit of true bipartisanship in the next two years should be easier for both parties than most people realize. In the larger sense there is not much difference between the President's world views and those of the Democrats.

Their foreign trade policies are almost identical. They think alike about foreign economic assistance. Their differences over national defense are more matters of quantity than quality.

The late great Republican Senator Vandenberg put the matter succinctly when he told the Nation that politics should end at the water's edge.

GOC Post to Lose Chief

The high ranking Milford Post of the Ground Observer Corps, which recently celebrated its second birthday, is about to lose its organizer and supervisor, Mrs. Malvina Eberle.

In their short history the 150 members of this post have earned several distinctions. They include 25 individual awards for service records of from 150 to 1,500 hours.

★ ★ ★

Besides this, the supervisor received a 100 word telegram commending the work of the post from Gen. Benjamin Chidlaw of the U.S. Air Force, the Nation's air defense commander. She also was the first supervisor in Michigan to receive the special award for GOC promotion.

★ ★ ★

Fortunately Mrs. Eberle's resignation, effective January 3, won't end her volunteer work in this field. During 1955 she plans a busy schedule of speech making in the interests of Civil Defense.

"Do you believe school children should be made to study at home?", asks an educator. Yes, indeed — they should be made to study somewhere.

How to say, "I don't believe you," without running the risk of incurring a black eye: Ask, "Are you sure?"

Visitors Impressed

Modern Methods Make Car Manufacture Much Easier

Winter: A season officially scheduled to arrive at 4:25 this morning —but it checked in a couple of days ahead of time.

In the last issue of The Warrior,
semi-monthly publication for employes of Pontiac Motor Division,
they are congratulated by General Manager
Robert M. Critchfield
for their courtesy to the nearly 20,000 who visited the plant during the Golden CARnival Open House. In his greeting he also says: "According to all reports, those thousands of guests were impressed with the seeming ease with which our fine Pontiac cars are produced." Without doubt these remarks from the visitors were occasioned by their observations that modern pro-

-CRITCHFIELD duction facilities have largely eliminated the drudgery from factory work.

President of the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce,
John A. Benson
reminds young people planning to enter next summer's Jaycee teenage driving contest that they must have no moving traffic violations during the previous six months, to be eligible.

Although the ice on most lakes in the Pontiac area now is safe for skating,
Sheriff Clare L. Hubbell
points out that it remains treacherous throughout the winter near the course of a river where it flows through a lake. And, as for the rivers themselves it never is safe, even in the most extreme cold weather.

Appearing on the Detroit TV World Adventure series over the weekend was Ben East,
Oakland County outdoor writer and photographer. He also showed his color pictures of the Alaska Kodiak bear at the Detroit Art Museum

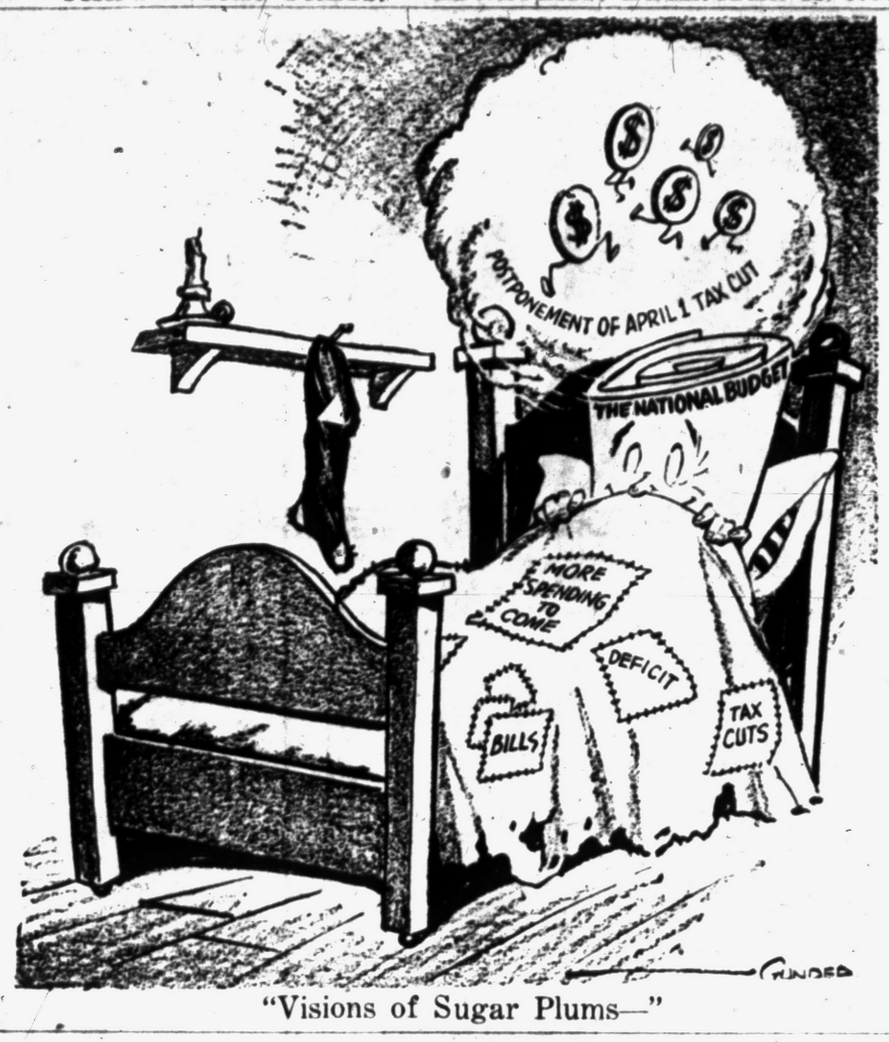

It has been found that the average automobile in this country consumes 8,000 gallons of gasoline during its lifetime, on which the state and federal taxes amount to over $600.

Drink Mixed With Gasoline Is the Cause of Slaughter on the Highways, Say Readers

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Much has been said about "Slaughter Hill," north of Oxford. In our opinion, the "Hill" is not to blame. "Drink" mixed with gasoline and our high powered cars slaughter the innocent as well as the guilty.

"The wages of sin is death" and "Whatsoever a man or woman soweth that shall he or she reap." It is a waste of taxpayer's money to cut down hills, widen roads and erect extra signs so long as the No. 1 killer "drink" is sold.

Let us place the blame where it belongs and seek to eliminate "drink."

Enjoyed Christmas Music Downtown

It is only because I have always believed in Santa and the true Christmas spirit, that I write this letter. I couldn't get to see what must have been a lovely parade, so I took a child to Pontiac to see Santa Claus but not to get gifts as some people do.

However, we did buy a few things, listened to the Salvation Army bells and the beautiful Christmas music that is everywhere.

Lionel Barrymore may not have had a stomach for the stage but let's thank God, today, that he had such a good voice and acting ability and that it has been recorded.

I think we always should have some good stage shows and movie productions in and about the theaters in Pontiac and Oakland County to keep many adults as well as teenager's entertained.

Some Stores Generous Concerning Gift Boxes

Donald Moore's letter concerning gift boxes in stores was very true and lots of people would like an explanation.

However, last week in a local store, I was given boxes for several separate purchases in the same department and there was no printing whatever on any of the boxes.

Loses Faith in Friends Over Death of Pets

Christmas is almost here and always before we have loved to buy gifts for our friends. This year we're afraid. Why? Because two of our friends deliberately killed five of our pet dogs.

They promised they had found good homes for them but instead gave them the needle. It's too painful to discuss, but who can we trust now? The Humane Society couldn't do anything as the dogs didn't suffer.

As long as we live, we will suffer though. We're not bitter, just numb. So how can we love our enemies as we're told to do. We were a dog's best friend. There never was a dog born since the beginning of time who could be as mean as some humans.

Mrs. J. N. Phillips

Recreation Is Nil in Pontiac, Says Reader

The only entertainment in Pontiac is provided by the theaters. There aren't enough places for the teenagers. The roller skating rinks are so far from town that it is hard to get there if you don't have a car.

I think if we had more places for recreation, there wouldn't be so many teenagers on the streets. The people fail to do anything to prevent the problem but they keep right on complaining about it.

We have the YWCA but that isn't enough for the size of our city. It seems that all our recreation is too far from town. Not only the teenagers our age have no recreation but also the ones younger and older than we are. Until this is taken care of, we will still have this problem.

Says Non-Union Worker Shouldn't Reap Benefits

I read with interest David Lawrences' article about the "unjust labor law." He is referring to the Taft-Hartley Law which requires a new employe to join the union in 30 days or be fired from his job.

He also mentions the "right to work" law passed by 17 states. In the 17 states where the "right to work" law has been passed, a man can work in a union shop and enjoy all the benefits the union has won for its members and, if for some reason he doesn't wish to pay dues to the union, he can still hold his job. This may be very well for the individual.

However, you might find a parallel in the "right to work" law and in our President's proclamation that every real American wants to pay his fair share of taxes. Now in 17 states, if you don't believe in unions you can work in a union shop and enjoy union benefits and not be forced to pay union dues because, of course, you as an individual don't believe in a union or what it may or may not stand for.

In 48 states and the District of Columbia, every man and woman who has an income must pay his or her share of taxes whether or not he believes in every single thing our government does.

It seems to me as if a man who doesn't wish to support a union should also be ashamed to accept the benefits the union has won.

No Peace in World 'Til Man's Rule Ends

Christmas is again at hand and reminds us of what the angels told the shepherds 2,000 years ago.

But instead of peace and good will to man, we have had wars and confusion. We are talking about peace at any price, but my staunch belief is that with Russia the greatest power today, there will be no peace in this world until the return of Our Lord.

Strike Would Be Futile Says 'Another Housewife'

"Union Man's Wife" wrote a very sensible article recently and I think every man should read it and study it carefully before voting for a strike in the spring.

When this country has more peace time employment than ever before, why should men strike and cripple big and little business alike?

Everyone in Pontiac would feel the affects of a big strike and no one would gain a thing. I think it is perfectly all right if a man wants to join a union, but the leaders have gone too far, asking for the impossible.

At Christmas time, especially, instead of preaching hatred towards the various plants, I think Walter Reuther would do well to preach kindness towards one another.

I think everyone should think twice before he bites the hand that is feeding him. I also think it is time the women get together and do something about strikes, high prices, etc.

Farmer's Market Built Very Poorly, Says Reader

Recently we went to the new Farmer's Market and found seven leaks in the roof and the cement floor cracked across the floor.

I do believe this should be brought before the public and also to the officials responsible for giving the contract to a very poor builder. Corrections should be made.

Did Wilson and Dulles Contradict Each Other?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Why are the American armed forces being cut in numbers—with most of the reduction in ground troops—from the present strength of 3,218,000 to 2,815,000 by mid-1956?

President Eisenhower has already given one explanation. He'll probably be asked for another because two of his right - hand men—Secretary of State Dulles and Secretary of Defense Wilson—gave explanations which didn't sound the same.

When he was asked about the reduction at a news conference Dec. 15, Eisenhower said the cold war may last 50 years and this country, in order to stand the long pull, must save on defense every dollar it can afford to.

* * *

On Dec. 20 Wilson told a news conference, after announcing the exact size of the cut, that it is being made because the Eisenhower administration believes the threat of global war has diminished.

Yesterday, Dec. 21, Dulles was asked at his news conference whether the military cutback was made because of any feeling war is further away or because this country has developed such powerful new weapons.

Dulles replied:

"The reductions are not due to the fact that we consider the threat has diminished but merely due to the fact that we think that we have other ways to cope with the danger."

* * *

Eisenhower's explanation was understandable as far as it went, because the administration has tried to cut defense costs where it could, but some newsmen thought they saw a conflict between the Dulles and Wilson explanations.

Dulles didn't say exactly he didn't think the danger of war had decreased but he put the reason for defense manpower cuts on new weapons while Wilson put it on less fear of war.

Had Dulles emphasized belief that war fears had decreased, this country's European allies might feel that if it was safe for the United States to cut its armed forces they could start cutting theirs.

* * *

As reassurance to the Europeans, Dulles stressed that this country has no intentions of reducing, or withdrawing, any of its troops in Europe.

Henry Suydam, Dulles' press officer, was asked how he could reconcile what appeared to be a conflict between the Dulles and Wilson statements. He said he saw no conflict.

Nevertheless, this would not be the first time that Wilson has made a statement which Dulles contradicted later.

* * *

In October 1953, Wilson told a news conference the development of new weapons would eventually permit this country to pull some of its troops out of Europe. Allies there were alarmed.

To calm them—in the fall of 1953—Dulles said this country had no plans to cut back its forces in Europe, a statement he repeated a number of times afterwards, including yesterday.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(International News Service)

Here's the political outlook for the night before Christmas. The Democrats own the ornaments but Ike trims the tree.

Whether the partisan stockings are filled depends on whether you're wearing 'em or not.

Chairman Butler touched off a nest of fissioned hornets in New Orleans stating Ike hadn't negotiated the grade. The crack was a stretched octave of corrosive criticism from the Bronx Philhamonic.

It was a queerful little earful and brought the Republican governors of Washington, Maryland and Illinois with warnings to Butler to go easy on the bouillabaisse.

We've been trying to get some goodwill to men worked up for the holidays. All we can say is the Democratic chairman is no White House Butler.

The Republican governors say they will run Ike for a second term in 1956 sure as a gun's iron. But they will have to rewrite that inscription over the Post Office portals to include smog.

Criticism of the White House by the Democratic national chairman isn't too copious provided the Republican national chairman doesn't get the habit too.

But it's in direct juxta-collision to Adlai Stevenson's statement that nobody would sly-rap Ike personally.

Butler went and done it so it looks like Mahommet's in for a bit of mountain climbing. It sure came to him.

If you hear a yodel from the White House it will be Ike sounding his P's and Q's.

So instead of an armistice for the Christmas holidays it looks like we'll be riding to hounds in an armored truck.

Smiles

All Even

The skipper and the engineer were arguing. The latter said steering a ship was far easier than looking after the engines, and the captain said looking after the engines was child's play compared with steering. They decided to settle the argument by changing places.

After ten minutes the captain had to admit he was beaten. "Macpherson," he shouted, "I can't get the engines to start!"

"That's all right," replied the engineer, "ye needna bother — we're aground."

Better Start

"I'm going to kiss you before I go," said the young man who had long outstayed his welcome.

"Do it now while I'm still young," replied the girl, wearily.

Cattish

A Hollywood film star sent her visiting cards to her former husband's new bride.

"I'm sending them by air mail," she wired, cattishly. "Trust they don't arrive too late to be of use to you."

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Then hear thou in heaven, and do, and judge thy servants, condemning the wicked, to bring his way upon his head; and justifying the righteous, to give him according to his righteousness.—I Kings 8:32.

Majority of Children 6 to 10 Years Old Need at Least 11 Hours of Sleep a Night

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Children from six to ten years of age need eleven hours of sleep. This is not an inflexible rule, but a child who conforms to it will live a healthier life. A few may thrive on less; we are discussing the majority. Children continue growing until they are from 18 to 23 years of age.

If school starts at eight or nine the child should be tucked in at from seven to eight. But in America we see on television, too frequently, groups of youngsters at these ages, participating in the entertainment, or as members of the audience, notably at wrestling matches, where liquor and its handmaiden, vulgar behavior, are in evidence.

One can conclude that the parents are indifferent or careless and that the youth group leaders who take their charges to such late evening entertainment (?) are—to be kind—ignorant of the needs of children.

Parents who have any voice in the choice of activities for their community youth groups ought to have also enough strength of character to turn thumbs down on any such unhealthy goings-on.

Following is a list of the sleep requirements of the average person; references to Thomas Edison notwithstanding:

Ages 6 through 10: Eleven and a quarter hours.

Ages 10 through 15: Ten hours.

Ages 15 through 20: Eight and a quarter hours.

Ages 20 through 25: Eight hours.

Persons sixty and over can do on seven hours.

If on rare occasions a person loses some sleep perhaps he can make up for it by getting to bed that much earlier the next night, but one who loses hours of sleep regularly or frequently, one or more nights each week can never make up for it. Impairment of health, vite, beauty if any, and functional efficency is inevitable if one gets insufficient sleep.

Sometimes students cramming for an examination keep awake far into the night by drinking quantities of strng coffee or by taking caffeine in medicinal form. Under the influence of caffeine (coffee, tea, cola, etc.) one can add or subtract, multiply or divide more rapidly—but less accurately. The drug makes one nervous. The student will probably do better in the examination if he studies for a reasonable time and then hits the cornhusks at his regular time.

On written request accompanied with stamped, self-addressed pamphlet, Ol' Doc Brady will send a pamphlet on Stage Fright and Examination Jitters. If you would like also the pink sleep—the pink slip How to Sleep Well, the two pamphlets will run into money, ten cents extra, and if you insist on sticking stuff on the coin there will be a 50 per cent surtax to cover the cost of laundring on dry cleaning your messy money.

My job here is to give personal health service, not medical advice. Please do not ask me to run a laundry or dry cleaning establishment in my spare time.

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

'Suspect'---Chapter 15

—by Hugh Lawrence Nelson

THE STORY: Everyone seems to be lying without reason, Jim Dunn thinks after the sheriff arrives to investigate the death of Mrs. Angelica Jones, whose body was found in the cellar of a mountain lodge occupied by Jim's client. Jim, a private detective, and his wife had been posing as caretakers at the lodge while working for Mrs. Kit Carlson, who thinks she is suspected of what may be an unsolved murder on the West Coast. Miss Wister, Dunn's secretary, arrives unexpectedly and seems not to be telling the truth about her association with Angelica. And even the woman sheriff, Mrs. Toby Argyle, seems strangely preoccupied.

"Think of it," Mrs. Gelstrap said. "A lady sheriff." She licked her lips, appeared happier. The aroma of good whisky was heavy, but the cook appeared in full possession of her faculties.

"In a hurry to clean up, weren't you?" Agnes Argyle demanded.

"I'm always cleaning up," Mrs. Gelstrap whined. "You ought to know how it is with housework. Let it get ahead of you and it's always ahead. And I'm not one to let things go. The missus likes things neat and clean. And I try to oblige, I'm sure."

"Your 'missus' is still sleeping?"

"She's had a little-bitty pill. Poor thing. When Mr. Dunn came breaking in with the news she was shocked. I had to give her a little pill."

"I didn't break in," Jim said. "The kitchen door was unlocked."

"Locked. I guess I ought to know. I locked it myself."

"You were plastered," Jim said bluntly. He turned to the sheriff. "The kitchen door was unlocked, and Mrs. Gelstrap was passed out at the kitchen table."

Mrs. Gelstrap objected. "Some people don't want other people to have any rest at all. Maybe I did have a little drinkee. What of it?"

Agnes Argyle asked, "Did you go to the basement at any time during the night?"

"I should say not. I wouldn't go down there after dark for all the money in the world."

"And your boss?"

"She slept right through. After I finally got her to take the pills. Poor thing, she didn't even stir until that Mr. Dunn came breaking in."

"But you two were alone here in the house?"

"Yes. He"—the ponderous head jerked in Jim's direction — "always goes away and leaves us about dark. Lets us shift for ourselves."

"I went to the caretaker's cabin," Jim said. "My wife and I stay there."

"Your wife? Where is she?"

"At the cabin," Jim said. "I told her to stay there."

Mrs. Argyle's expression said that such a command did not necessarily mean obedience. "I suppose you and your wife can prove neither of you left that house?"

"By each other's word, yes."

The sheriff turned again to Mrs. Gelstrap. "Are you the one who phoned?"

Dunn put in his explanation of that before the cook could make her denial. "My wife went to the house by the gate to phone. I tried the one over there, and it was out of order. Incidentally, my wife had to break in to use the phone."

The sheriff walked to the phone and reached inside the recess to turn a small crank vigorously. She lifted the French-type phone from its base, held it in position. Her eyes met Jim Dunn's, and he saw growing anger.

"Hello, Genie?" she said. "Yes. This is Agnes. Yes. Not right now. Tell me this. Has this phone been out of whack this morning? . . . Oh . . . Oh, you're sure? . . . I see . . . Yes. In a few minutes." She replaced the instrument, reached in automatically to turn the crank to announce the end of the talk, then faced Jim Dunn.

She did not give him a chance to explain. She was hopping mad, even paler with her rage. "I won't have it! I won't have you lying to me. What's all this about sending your wife to phone? What did you want in the gate cabin? What did you want so badly you rigged up that cock-and-bull story about the phone being out of order? She did not give him a chance to answer those questions before she went on. "And another time you lied to me! You lied about not touching or moving anything in the basement. You lied, you hear me? Because Angelica had been moved! The elevator had been raised off her. She had been underneath it, and you pulled her out and put her where you wanted me to find her!"

Jim smiled grimly. Perhaps it was not unfair, only natural. Agnes Argyle listened to whole tissues of lies without batting an eyelash. Her questioning of the truth might be logical.

"I should have remembered about the phone," Jim said. "I forgot it was necessary to turn the little crank to call central. Maybe it was the French-type phone that threw me off. Anyway that happened. And I didn't touch anything in the basement. I did not pull the body out from under the elevator platform. I did not raise that platform."

"Somebody did," Sheriff Agnes said. She looked thoughtfully at Miss Wister and Mrs. Gelstrap. "Possibly somebody attempted to help Angelica Jones. There's no reason that shouldn't be admitted, is there?"

"You believe this death was an accident?"

"It could have been. Another accident. Probably if the body had not been moved I would have considered the death accidental."

Jim's mind fastened on her use of the word "another." So the Junction Creek sheriff knew of the California death!

Twin Daughters Born to Wounded Woman

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tiny twin girls were born yesterday to a mother who remained unconscious from a bullet wound in the head. The smaller infant died four hours later.

General Hospital physicians offered little hope that the larger one would survive. She weighed 3 pounds 8 ounces, only 2 ounces more than her sister.

The mother, Mrs. Jayarre Spaulding, 22, was found shot in her apartment last Monday. Police said she apparently had attempted suicide. Her condition remained critical.

Bing Crosby Appears at New Film's Premiere

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bing Crosby made one of his rare appearances at a movie premiere last night, the first local showing of his new picture, "The Country Girl."

Proceeds of the affair went to the 1956 Olympic Games Fund.

Orphan Children Get Keg of Coins for Pocket Money

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The wooden keg was so heavy it took two men to carry it into the Presbyterian Home for Children at Anchorage

The lid was padlocked. Supt. Robert Haney accepted the key from the delivery men, opened the keg and found it about two thirds full of pennies, plus some quarters.

The donor, known only to one man, estimated the coins total about $350. He had left instructions earlier that the gift be divided evenly as pocket money for the 62 children in the home.

The Rev. Dr. W. R. Clarke said the money came from a young man who is a member of his church — Second Presbyterian. For years this man has been dropping his spare change into the keg and finally decided it was time to do something with the money.

He extracted one promise from Dr. Clarke: that he remain anonymous.

Pals Give Sick GI Best Yule Gift of All

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pfc. Leland Langloys says his fellow soldiers have given him "the finest Christmas present of all."

His mother, Mrs. Henry Langloys, of Rockwood, Mich., arrived here yesterday to visit her 17-year-old son in the Army's Letterman General Hospital.

Pfc. Langloys recently underwent surgery for a brain tumor.

Woman Beats Up Invalid

DALLAS (AP)—A woman knocked down Ernest Johnson, an amputee, robbed him of his wallet and $29, and fled. He told police one of his artificial legs, made of wood and aluminum, was shattered when he was knocked to the ground beside his shoe shine stand.

Iowa Boys Want Mother for Yule

Mom Vanished 5 Years Ago, Shortly After Dad Died in Crash

SHENANDOAH, Iowa (AP)—Mike Rhoades was only five years old when his mother vanished more than five years ago but "he still listens to every car and is always expecting her to come back," his grandmother says.

As a sixth motherless Christmas approaches for Mike and his three younger brothers, Shenandoah citizens have again intensified their efforts to locate Mrs. Elsie Mae Rhoades, 29.

* * *

The children's father was killed in an auto crash Aug. 2, 1949. On Sept. 27 that year their mother went to a dance at Sheridan, Mo. She never came back.

When Mrs. Rhoades disappeared her youngest son, Robert, was only two months old. Robert is now 5 years old. Along with Mike 10, his brothers are David 8, and Richard 6.

Mrs. Rhoades' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Woods, are rearing the four boys in their modest home near Shenandoah. Woods is a day laborer.

* * *

Mrs. Woods said that on a recent night she went to Mike's room and found him weeping.

"He said if his mother ever came back he would tie a chain to her so she could never leave again," Mrs. Woods said. "If tears could bring her back she would have been here long ago."

Mrs. Woods said she fears her daughter may have lost her memory.

"It's the awful uncertainty," she said. "If we knew she were dead we could rest easier than just not knowing."

* * *

Mrs. Woods said her daughter has red curly hair, dimples, gold in her front teeth and weighed about 200 pounds when she disappeared.

Mrs. Woods' task of caring for her four grandsons has been newly complicated. A few days ago, only a short time after she underwent major surgery for cancer, she fell and broke her ankle.

"But God never gives us more than we can bear," she said.

Texas has 15 oil fields that produced more than 10,000,000 barrels each in 1953, and 184 fields producing more than 1,000,000 barrels yearly.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL By Charles Dickens

Scrooge bounded out of bed to the window. "What's today, my fine fellow?" he shouted to a boy in the street. "Today?" replied the boy. "Why, it's Christmas Day!"

Scrooge ordered the biggest turkey in history sent to Bob Cratchit's house.

Meeting the two philanthropists, whom he had only yesterday pushed out of his office, Scrooge gave them a donation to charity that made their heads swim.

U.S. Loyalty-Security Program to Be Probed

NEW YORK (AP) — A committee set up by the Association of the Bar of New York will "review all aspects" of the federal loyalty-security program, Allen T. Klots, association president, said the survey would be financed by a $100,000 grant from the Fund for the Republic, which was established several years ago by the Ford Foundation.

Klots said a group of seven to nine men, mostly members of the bar, would be selected with "broad geographical representation."

Nationalists Shell American Airliner

TOKYO (AP) — A Northwest Orient airliner was fired on by Chinese Nationalist guns 23 minutes after it left Taipeh, Formosa, on a flight to Okinawa today, a Northwest official said.

The four-enging DC4, flying at 9,000 feet, was not damaged by the three shellbursts which the spokesman said "must have come from Nationalist shore batteries. They couldn't have come from anybody else."

The plane was piloted by Capt. Walter Bullock, of Minnesota.

Atom Hum in Outer Space Helps to Chart Universe

WASHINGTON—Astronomers listening to unseen stars can hear faint radio signals even from "empty" space.

They actually pick up, at one certain frequency on giant radio telescopes a high-pitched hum from hydrogen atoms thinly scattered in the interstellar void. In that "single significant note," physicists now find a new measuring rod to map the universe.

Radio astronomy, barely two decades old, already is probing new regions in the heavens, the National Geographic Society says. It pierces dark clouds in the Milky Way and hears galaxies colliding. It records what optical telescopes can never see, through a raido-wave window in the earth's atmosphere.

In December, 1931, a Bell Telephone Laboratories engineer, Karl G. Jansky, first discovered mysterious background hissing in his radio set while tracking down atmospheric static. He showed conclusively that the noise was coming from outer space.

Little attention was paid, for equipment was inadequate to show much about the signals. Then World War II accelerated development of radio and radar equipment. With big new dish-shaped antennae, astronomers began sweeping the skies. Not only did they find hissing from the heavens as a whole, but louder noises from certain spots.

These are the "radio stars." They broadcast energy, similar to light but at a longer wavelength. Of the several hundred known today, few can be identified with visible objects in the heavens.

An expanding shell of dust and gas called the Crab Nebula, remnant of a giant star explosion seen by Chinese astronomers in 1054, seems to hold one strong source. Others lie in the constellations Cassiopeia, Sagittarius, and Cygnus—the Swan. Two have been identified as turbulent gas clouds in the Milky Way.

Still another, according to Dr. Walter Baade and Dr. Rudolph Minkowski of Palomar Observatory, represents a vast collision between two entire galaxies.

Because radio waves have far greater length than light, radio telescopes must have far wider "mirrors." Even then they are less accurate than optical telescopes. To match the focusing power of a one-inch conventional telescope, a radio antenna 150 miles across would be required for some wavelengths.

At Jordell Bank near Manchester, England, a mammoth metal-mesh saucer 250 feet in diameter nears completion. Unlike a 220-foot predecessor, this great antenna can be turned, tilted, and aimed at particular radio stars. Another like it is being built in Austrialia.

In the United States, Harvard, Cornell, and Ohio State Universities, the Naval Reserach Laboratory in Washington, D. C., and the National Bureau of Standards pioneer in radio astronomy. At Seneca, Maryland, an X-shaped antenna with fixed arms 2,040 feet long is operated by the Carnegie Institution of Washington..

Bob Considine Says:

Looking Jury in the Eye Just Gives Astigmatism

CLEVELAND (INS)—I'll never look another juror in the eye. I was one of 50 reporters and other loiterers and vagrants who spent the dreary tail end of the Sheppard trial looking jurors in the eye. An incurable case of astigmatism, third class. That's what I have.

Think you're a student of faces, and the hearts and minds they conceal? You can think so only if you've never been called upon to read character under extreme pressure. Try it sometimes when it counts, and you'll wake up screaming.

Why wouldn't Mrs. Luella Williams look at Dr. Sam when she'd lead the jurors into their box before each luncheon, dinner and bedtime? Was she sore at him? Sore at others on the jury who were sore at him? Sore at at herself for getting into this mess in the first place?

And that quizzical look on the face of juror No. 10, Frank Moravec, the die-maker who made the jury chiefly because he said he knew nothing about the case? Confined his reading to the sports pages, Frank said.

Well, getting back to the quizzical look, what did it mean? Was he a'tremble with doubt whether Sam did in Marilyn? Was he puzzled over the conflicting testimony of Mayor Houk and Dr. Richard Sheppard? Or was he worried over how much ground Ralph Kiner could cover in left next season?

Now, how about juror No. 1—Howard Barrish, boy timekeeper? Was that a smile curling around the edges of his mouth one day just before lunch, as if he had voted to send Sam home to his family and friends? (The prosecution interpreted this appearance of a smile as sure proof that Barrish was on its side, and was pleased with the case it had presented against Sam.)

Or was Barrish licking his chops over the prospect of a free load of moo goo guy pan (sub-gum on the side) at the prominent Nationalist Chinese restaurant run by Tom Bong? Who knows? In fact, who knows what's or who's in moo goo guy pan, except that it tastes fine?

Well, what about Mrs. Borke? Mrs. Elizabeth Borke. For several sessions she was the only juror who would look at Sam, after the case was turned over to the panel. Before that, in the midst of an interrogation of Sam by his mouthpiece, Bill Corrigan, Mrs. Borke wanted to ask a question. Bill was all for it, but the prosecution snarled and the judge said nix.

Would she have asked something that would have caused a mistrial? Would she have inquired "Why did you kill her?" Would she have queried, "A sweet boy like you couldn't harm a flea, could you, Dr. Sam?"

Ray Sprigle, the Pulitzer prize winner who has seen them all, got quite vexed by the sluggish deliberation of the Sheppard jury. Ray remembered his tour of duty in "politics" in Pennsylvania. Among his many duties in that capacity was to purchase equipment for courthouses.

"Used to insure quick verdicts by ordering jury cots with blankets as thin as Turkish towels," the great reporter said.

Jaycees Seek Man of Year

Must Be Between 21-35, Have Record of Service to Community

Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce today announced the start of its 1954 "man hunt."

Being hunted is a male, between 21 and 35, with a record of community service who will be named "Outstanding Young Man of the Year" at the Jaycees annual Bosses' Night Dinner Jan. 10.

The gentleman need not be a Jaycee member to qualify, said Allan Peters, chairman of the Jaycee's distinguished service award committee.

Peters has asked organizations and individuals in the community to nominate men believed qualified for the award. A brief summary of the nominee's community service record should be included, he said.

Entries should be sent to the Jaycee office, 34 E. Pike. Deadline is Jan. 4.

You May Receive a Burro as Present

ATLANTA (AP) — That bray you hear Christmas morning may be a present.

R. G. West, general agent of the Railway Express Agency in Atlanta, reported today he had six Mexican burros waiting to be delivered as Christmas presents.

He said they were enroute from Western states to points in Georgia and other Atlantic Coast states and that others already had been delivered.

Several carried messages on tags, such as:

Police Give Motorists Christmas 'Summons'

WESTFIELD, N. J. (INS)—Westfield motorists appreciate their police department's understanding of the true Christmas spirit.

Overtime parking tickets are printed in Christmas red and bear the notation "Merry Christmas."

By the time the drivers have overcome the shock enough to read further, they are informed there will be no fine. They are "summoned" however to co-operate with the police for one year.

Real Personal Interest

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP)—Robert Carmack, Canon City High School senior, won an essay contest conducted by his English class. His subject: "Why I hate English."

Hal Boyle Says:

Inventing Small Gadgets Can Bring In Big Money

NEW YORK (AP) — There's big money in small gadgets today.

"Nobody can stop you from thinking—and thinking is money in the bank," says Albert Gelardin, one of the nation's most successful gadgeteers.

At the age of 8, when most children haven't even begun writing puppy love notes, Gelardin started a diary titled, "My Inventions." While still in knee pants he built his own radio loudspeaker and a motor-driven sled.

Now 49, Gelardin has invented scores of successful gadgets and is independently wealthy. But he says the art of successful gadgeteering is to know which inventions to file and forget because they are impractical.

"I get as least one new idea a day I'd like to explore," he said. "But you have to learn which are marketable, and which are not.

"Ninety-five per cent of the things I've brought out have been successful. But I reject four out of five of my own ideas as commercially impracticable even after I apply for a patent on them."

Gelardin was earning $6,000 a year as a consulting engineer for a sales and marketing firm in 1935 when he decided to go into business for himself. His first gadget was a tiny cardboard flashlight.

"I hocked our piano and household furniture for $300 to get started," he recalled. By the end of that year he had earned $25,000.

Since then he has sold 50 million pocket flashlights, 30 to 40 million cosmetic cases, and marketed dozens of other gadgets ranging from cigarette holders to dart boards, thread counters, and educational games.

Recently he sold one of his firms, Micro-Lite Company, Inc., which grosses a million dollars a year, so he could spend more time doodling.

His pet gadget right now is a new version of the old childhood game of "tic-tac-toe." It is played in three demensions, and parents find they have a tough time beating their children at it.

Gelardin, who has had to jettison hundreds of his own ideas, has nothing but sympathy for middle-aged, one-idea inventors who spend their life savings trying to put across a single gadget for which there is no real demand.

"Study the market first," is his tip. "If you can't adapt the idea to an existing market, drop it. Don't let it sour your life."

Gelardin could quit work now and spend the rest of his days sunning himself on a beach, but wouldn't think of it.

"How could you stay alive mentally?" he asked. "Inventing is fun. There could be no better life than to start from nothing and come up with something worthwhile."

Oriental Democrat

CHICAGO (AP)—Sey Sai Hip testified he filed an affidavit in 1952 falsely declaring himself a citizen because "I wanted to vote for Adlai Stevenson for prosperity and everybody to go to work." Federal Judge Win Knoch, a Republican, joined in the courtroom laughter and then sentenced Hip to a year's probation.

Judge Cancels His Resignation

Brennan Asks Board to Act at Once on Plea to Stay on Bench

DETROIT (INS)—Wayne County Circuit Judge Vincent M. Brennan, virtually forced to retire because of his drinking habits, today withdrew his application for retirement.

His move came within hours of an expected announcement from Lansing that Gov. G. Mennen Williams would appoint Wayne County Democratic Chairman Theodore R. Bohn to succeed Brennan.

By letter and telephone, the 64-year-old veteran jurist urged the Judges' Retirement Board to meet at once to act on his request to stay on the bench at a salary of $24,500.

It was believed the tangle may result in litigation or even impeachment proceedings against Judge Brennan if he is allowed to continue on the bench.

Brennan submitted his resignation Oct. 6, effective New Year's Day, following drunken conduct which his associates in Circuit Court called "filthy, obscene and disgraceful."

In 1952, Brennan was rebuked on similar grounds by the state Supreme Court.

Last October, the judge said: "I broke my promise to the Supreme Court not to touch the bottle. In asking retirement I am doing what I believe to be best."

Woman Given Penny for Every Day of Life

DETROIT (INS) — Mrs. Eleanor Kush of Detroit won't say how old she is, but for a birthday present, she received 16,436 pennies, one for every day of her life.

The present came from her husband, Walter, and her five children, along with a note that read: "You've been a wonderful mother and wife for 22 years. Most people hate to grow old. We want those years to pay off for you like they have for us."

The coins weighed 140 pounds. Mrs. Kush wouldn't discuss her weight, either.

Aw, Nuts

Officers Recall Famous Surrender Reply of 1944

FT. BENNING, Ga. (INS)—Ten years ago today Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe met German demands for American surrender at Bastogne, Belgium, with a simple, "Nuts."

Three of the officers who participated in passing the word along to the Germans during the Battle of the Bulge recalled the anniversary today at Ft. Benning.

Maj. Gen. Joseph H. Harper, now Ft. Benning commander, recalled interpreting Gen. McAuliffe's unique message for the German emissaries.

The battle of the Bulge had been under way five days. McAuliffe's 101st Infantry was holding up the late German counter-attack when four German officers advanced toward American lines over snow-covered Arlon Road.

Maj. Oswald Butler, who was then a platoon leader, blindfolded the Germans and took them to Lt. Col. James S. Adams, who was then a captain in command of F Company of the 101st.

Adams notified Harper, then a colonel, who presented the demands for American surrender to McAuliffe.

Harper recalled that McAuliffe's first words upon hearing of the German demands were: "Aw, nuts." He said Col. H. W. O. Kinnard, of McAuliffe's staff, suggested that the general let that stand as his formal answer to the German delegation.

"He (Gen. McAuliffe) figured he was giving the Germans one hell of a beating—and all his men knew it. The demand was out of line with the existing situation."

So, the formal message was drawn. It said:

"To the German commander: Nuts. The American commander."

Harper said the German puzzled over the message for some time, then finally asked: "Is it negative or affirmative?"

Harper said:

"I told them 'The reply is decidedly not affirmative, and if you continue this foolish attack your losses will be tremendous.'"

The 101st held its position and early in January other Allied units broke through to join in the engagement, ending Germany's last major offensive of the war.

Harper, Adams and Butler are all still in the service, all on duty at Ft. Benning.

Missing: One Building

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Armando de Quattro, of Johnston, R. I., has lost a building. He advertised for the 12x16-foot structure in a newspaper, saying it might have been carted off by mistake from his used car lot.

Marines to Be Replaced

CAMP ZAMA, Japan (AP) —The 1st Marine Division will be replaced by the U. S. 24th Division when it is pulled out of South Korea soon, Gen. Maxwell B. Taylor said today.

The 24th has been in the process of redeploying from Korea to Japan.

One of Most Wanted Felons Is Captured

FORT SMITH, Ark. (INS) — John Harry Allen, one of the nation's 10 most wanted criminals, was held by Fort Smith police today while officials decide who has first claim to the prisoner.

Allen, wanted for armed robbery and several prison breakouts, was captured yesterday while eating lunch in a Fort Smith diner.

He was picked up by Patrolmen Arthur Emmert and Earl Withers, who recognized the criminal as soon as they entered the cafe.

Allen was unarmed and did not resist arrest. Police Chief Jones Floyd said the prisoner at first denied his identity, but admitted it readily after he was fingerprinted.

Rayburn Tells Audience Army Cuts Too Drastic

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Sam Rayburn, who becomes speaker of the House when Congress convenes next month, calls the Republican administration's proposed reduction in the armed forces "much too drastic."

He also said last night that defense appropriations should be increased instead of cut.

His talk climaxed a Sam Rayburn day in Greenville.

State Gets $337,560 in Surplus in Month

LANSING (AP)—The federal government distributed $337,560 in surplus farm commodities to Michigan institutions and welfare agencies during November, State Controller John W. Lederle said today.

The November shipments brought the total for the first five months of the fiscal year to $2,185,161.

Lederle said shipments since July have included 746,386 pounds of cheese, 1,290,785 pounds of butter, and 504,000 cans of beef and gravy.

The surplus food is distributed to state institutions, the unemployed, welfare agencies and school children under the school lunch program.

Mrs. Papenguth Hostess for Party

Mrs. Loren Papenguth was hostess Monday evening to 27 members of the Pontiac Motor purchasing department staff, in her home on Lexington drive. Refreshments were served by the hostess following games and the exchange of Christmas presents.

Mrs. Earl Smith Jr. of West Lawrence street enjoys pausing during the busy holiday season to acquaint her children, Deborah and Timothy, with the duties of Santa Claus as related in the story book, The Night Before Christmas. Timothy seems quite interested in the story, but Deborah, who will celebrate her first birthday Friday, is concerned with the camera.

Pontiac WCTU Holds Yule Party

The Pontiac WCTU held its Christmas meeting at the home of Mrs. William Bradley on Ellwood street Monday evening. The hostess was in charge of the program and read from Micah, chapter five, during the devotion.

Mrs. Bertha Locke led the group in the singing of Christmas carols. Mrs. Ray Fleming, Mrs. Locke and Mrs. Henry Coin read Bible selections on the Birth of Christ.

Guild 10 Elects Mrs. Harrison

Guild Ten of All Saints Episcopal Church elected Mrs. Don Harrison president at the dinner meeting held Tuesday evening in Rose Kneale room of Stevens Hall.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Cyril Strang, vice president; Mrs. Furman Huston, treasurer and Laura Hunter secretary.

Fellowship Hears Rev. Havens

The Rev. Paul R. Havens of First Methodist Church gave an illustrated lecture on the Holy Land for the Tuesday evening meeting of the Fellowship Bible Class of First Baptist Church.

The colored slides were taken when the Rev. and Mrs. Havens toured the Holy Land this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Denio and their committee served the cooperative dinner for the evening. Dr. H. H. Savage gave devotions and Mrs. Havens was heard in a vocal solo. Julene Adlesman played Christmas carols on the violin. Mrs. David Gee was accompanist.

Betty Ann Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Hill of Adams road and George Marlin Qualls were married Saturday at Apostolic Church of Christ. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Qualls of Stanton, Tenn.

MR. and MRS. GEORGE M. QUALLS

Betty Ann Hill Married in Candlelight Ceremony

To reside on Adams road are Mr. and Mrs. George Marlin Qualls. The bride is the former Betty Ann Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Hill of Adams road, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Qualls of Stanton, Tenn.

The eight o'clock ceremony was performed Saturday evening by the Rev. L. A. Parent at Apostolic Church of Christ. Palms and fugi chrysanthemums decorated the altar for the candlelight ceremony which was attended by 175 guests.

The bride wore a floor length gown fashioned with a bodice of Chantilly lace with long pointed sleeves and turned back collar. Layers of net over taffeta formed the skirt which had a lace bustle.

A tiara of seed pearls secured her finger tip veil, and she carried a crescent bouquet of shattered carnations with satin streamers. Her jewelry was a pearl necklace.

Nelda Sue Hill attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing a floor length gown of yellow net and lace over taffeta. Her flowers were green carnations.

Other attendants wearing green gowns were Dorothy Mohn of Royal Oak and Viola Cork of Keego Harbor. Mary Erwin served as flower girl, wearing a green taffeta gown and Danny Newman was ring bearer.

The bride's mother greeted her guests at a reception held in the church parlors wearing a two piece dress of navy faille with corsage of pink carnations.

The new Mrs. Qualls changed to a gray suit with black accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet for the wedding trip.

Program Held by Music Club

Special arrangements of Christmas carols were played during the program by Susan Rogers, Judy McLane, Bruce Benter, Cathy Walters, Delores Miller, Linda Bleise, Wayne Barhardt, Electa Harris and Flora McCartney.

Also taking part were Dianna Mosby, Sharon Sue Steinbaugh, Jo-Ann Georgia, Carol Cotterman, Donna Douglas, Nancy Parsons, Pat McCartney, Joan Whims, Stephen Johnson, Shirley Bauer and Marijane Vollmar.

Refreshments were served under the direction of JoAnn Morris, Nancy McKown, Maryann Engelhard, Frances Spencer, Sarah Jo Faxon, Sandra and Jacqueline Griffin and Betty and Dennis McCartney.

Naomi Group Holds Christmas Party

The Naomi Group of First Christain Church met Tuesday evening for a Christmas party in the Josephine avenue home of Mrs. Harry Kunse. Mrs. Bruce Elam was in charge of the program and devotions were given by Mrs. Harold Hedges.

The group is donating Christmas gifts to the Cleveland Christian Home and to the women at the Oakland County Infirmary. Christmas carols were sung and gifts were exchanged by the group. Mrs. Gertrude Doney of Green street will be hostess for the January meeting.

Small File Helps

For women who have trouble keeping a handbag neat (is there a woman who doesn't?), there's a small alphabetical file with tiny cards on which to list engagements and dates that should be remembered but often aren't. Comes in leather and colors.

Music Groups Present Special Yuletide Program

A special Christmas program was presented by the music department of Eastern Jr. High School Tuesday evening.

Mrs. William Tompkins, Connie Kolb and Henry Elling directed this pageant of four hundred voices.

Dick Elshoz, President of Eastern Student Council, greeted the audience. He gave the theme of the program—story of the Nativity as told by a grandmother, portrayed by Judy Harmes, to her grandson, played by John Wibley.

The members of the Boys Glee Club and the Girls Treble Clef Club, dressed as carolers, appeared outside their windows and sang a group of Christmas carols.

As the 9th grade Girls Choir sang a tableau of Joseph and Mary on their way to Bethlehem was presented. James Freet portrayed the role of Joseph, and Frances Jean Ward was Mary.

The 7B Choir sang and the tableau changed to the scene in the stable with Mary and Joseph and the Christ Child.

The next scene showed the shepherds watching their sheep while the 8B Choir presented a selection.

The Angel that came and spoke to the shepherds was played by Mary Bitterling. Other choral groups taking part were the 7A Choir and the 9A Choir.

As the shepherds joined Mary and Joseph at the Manger, the Boys Glee Club, the Girls Treble Clef Club and the 8A Choir provided music. The program concluded with the combined groups singing "O, Holy Night."

Others assisting with this presentation were Mrs. Harry Hammerbeck, Helen Lapisch and her Girls Service Club, Mildred Loper, Ellsworth Sturdy and John Sluka.

Mrs. James Boyle, Jean Kimple and Wilma Webb, together with Francis Staley, principal of Eastern, completed this list.

Secret Pals Revealed at Sorority Meeting

Gamma Psi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority held its Christmas party Tuesday evening in the Whittemore street home of Mrs. Harry Bell.

A highlight of the program was the revealing of secret pals. Mrs. Robert Pritchett presented a program on the history of Christmas carols. Group singing was also held.

Three Circles Meet for Yule Programs

Three circles of Wilson Avenue Methodist Church met this week in the homes of members. Mrs. Adrian Thompson of Hillview road opened her home for a Christmas meeting of the Mary Eddy Circle.

The Mildred Pierce and Grace Wilson circles combined for a meeting in the Old Orchard drive home of Bernice Johnson. Devotions were given by Mrs. Sadie Potter and Mrs. Carrie Young. A review of the book, "The Little Mixer," was given by Mrs. Percy Jones.

Alpha Sigma Nu Has Yuletide Party

The Lake Angelus home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Evans was the setting for a Christmas party given by members of Alpha Sigma Nu sorority on Monday evening.

A Christmas story dating from the time of King Arthur was given by Laura Cobb, a guest of the group. Carols were sung under the direction of Mrs. Albert Kohn.

Committee members for the evening were Mrs. Evans, Mrs. B. H. Ogden, Mrs. Guy Donnell, Elsie Forney and Mrs. William Looney.

Beta Theta Phi Holds Yule Party

Alpha Chapter of Beta Theta Phi sorority met in the Sylvan Shores drive home of Mrs. John Kinzler Tuesday evening for a buffet supper.

MR. and MRS. ROY MORRIS

Church of Christ Setting for Evening Wedding

Church of Christ was the setting for the Saturday evening wedding of Margaret Louise Williams and Roy Morris of South Anderson street.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Powell Williams of Norton avenue, and his parents are the J. H. Morris' of Hazel Green, Ala.

The Rev. Walter E. Bankes of East Detroit Church of Christ performed the 7:30 ceremony.

A gown of white satin with a chapel length train was chosen by the bride. The bodice featured a sweetheart neckline surrounded with tear drop pearls. The bride's headpiece held a fingertip veil.

Mrs. Alger Wolfe, the bride's sister was matron of honor. She wore a gown of pink satin and net and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Mrs. Bell Yates was another attendant wearing a dress of blue taffeta and net, and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations.

Glen Carlton was best man and the other attendants were Kenny Buchanan, Glen Hastings, Gene Moore, Al Waters, Bob Allen, Al Jones, Virgil Clubb and Damon William.

A black and white floral crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations and roses was chosen by the bride's mother for the wedding.

Sorority Gathers at Sanft Home

The Zeta Eta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority gathered for a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Clyle Haskill of Drayton Plains Monday evening. Games and group singing of Christmas songs were enjoyed. Secret pals were revealed through gifts and new names were drawn.

A Christmas basket of food and toys was made by the group for a needy family. The next business meeting will be held Jan. 3 at the home of Burt Rockwell on Pioneer drive.

Mrs. Jerry May Hostess to Group

Mrs. Jerry May was hostess in her Auburn avenue home when Beta Alpha chapter of Sigma Beta sorority held its annual Christmas party.

Secret pals were revealed and gifts were exchanged at the recent party. A money-making project was presented to the group to aid the convention fund.

Mary McLean Weds Robert Rembach

Mary McLean and Chester Robert Rembach spoke their marriage vows Saturday evening in Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Roy McLean of Summit street, and the late Mr. McLean. His parents are the Joseph Rembachs of Holly.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Emunal Randle of High River, Alberta, Canada, wore a gown of nylon tulle and Chantilly lace. The fitted lace bodice was designed with a wide bertha collar edged in iridescent sequins and pearls. Pannier sides and front and back panels of lace edged in sequins and pearls highlighted the skirt.

A tiara crown held the bride's fingertip veil of English illusion. She wore a platinum and diamond broach belonging to her mother and carried a white orchid on a Bible.

Joan McLean, the bride's sister was maid of honor. She wore a red taffeta ballerina length frock with a bustle back, and carried a matching muff with white carnations.

Shirley Gillett, the bride's cousin from Detroit, and Barbara Moull were bridesmaids. Their gowns were similar to the honor maid's, but were emerald green. They carried matching muffs with red carnations and holly.

Joseph Rembach, the bridegroom's brother from Holly was best man, and ushers were Stan Rembach, another brother, from Davisburg, and Donald McLean, the bride's brother. Carl Matheny sang the bridal recital.

For her daughter's wedding the bride's mother wore a dress of light blue lace with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a purple dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Married Saturday in Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church were Mary McLean and Chester Rembach. She is the daughter of Mrs. Roy McLean of Summit street and the late Mr. McLean, and his parents are the Joseph Rembachs of Holly.

Humorist Establishes Popularity by Telling Stories About Real People

All Purpose Joke Hint Requested

Bennett Cerf Has Edge on Popularity With McBride

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Mrs. Otis B. Hunter of Boaz, Ala., writes that she is making a collection of favorite jokes and most embarrassing moments and wants one of each from me.

The embarrassing moment is easy. It was the time the door slammed and locked when I stepped outside my Hollywood hotel room with nothing on but a flimsy nightgown.

The favorite joke is harder. I wish I COULD find an all-time, all-purpose joke. It would come in handy so often. But, alas, I am one of the unfortunates who invariably forgets the point. All my life I've envied those with total recall for apropos stories—lucky creatures who at the drop of a word are reminded of something hilarious.

I listen, I laugh uproariously and try to take mental notes, all to no avail.

Mrs. Hunter's letter came just when I was reading my friend Bennett Cerf's wonderful new book, "An Encyclopedia of Modern American Humor." Among the authors Bennett has picked as writing most humorously today are special favorites of mine, too: James Thurber, Corey Ford, H. Allen Smith, Frank Sullivan, E. B. White, John Mason Brown and Cornelia Otis Skinner, covering themes from skating to sin.

Inevitably Bennett, who is famous as a collector of tellable jokes, has a section called "A Whiff of Grease Paint," filled with anecdotes about theater people. One story that I particularly like—I suppose because food is involved—is about the time DeWolf Hopper, actor, complained to Frank Case, owner of the famous Algonuin Hotel, that nowhere in New York could he find his favorite dessert, brown betty.

"I'd have it here for you," Case said, "if I thought there'd be a reasonable demand for it."

"Put it on your menu tomorrow night and I'll see to it that the demand develops," promised Hopper.

Case agreed and the following evening the actor stopped at every table in the dining room.

"I am DeWolf Hopper," he told each diner, "I personally urge you to sample the brown betty this evening. It's delicious."

Then he barely tasted the steak he'd ordered because he was looking forward so jubilantly to the brown betty.

"Now," he said to the waiter, rubbing his hands, "I'll have a double order of that brown betty."

"I'm very sorry, sir," said the waiter. "It's all gone."

This story is funny to me partly because it happened (or is supposed to have happened) to a real person. And that, I think, is one reason why everybody likes Bennett Cerf's jokes better than the ordinary joke-book ones with no names attached.

One more sample from the "Encyclopedia of Modern American Humor": Harry Brand, a well-known Hollywood press agent, picked up a black-eye, explaining he'd run into an open door. Immediately, however, he sent to a columnist friend a photograph of himself with black-eye prominently displayed. The picture was inscribed: "Nobody can talk that way about you when I'm around."

If Bennett will forgive me for stealing his stories, I'd like to offer Mrs. Hunter her choice of these two.

Who Calls? Inquiry Is Annoying

Practice Alright, but Should Stop if He Objects

By EMILY POST

A wife writes me as follows: "When someone telephones my husband and asks to speak directly to him, I always ask, "Who is calling" before asking him to come to the telephone.

My husband thinks that this is wrong and says that not only do people resent being questioned but that this "screening" of all telephone calls gives the impression that he is not trusted by his own wife.

He thinks that asking who is calling is in order only when he is not at home but when he is there to take the call, I should say, "Just a minute please" and call him without any further ado. We would like your opinion on this matter."

You ask "Who is calling?" for his protection, so that he may say he is "not at home" if he does not wish to talk to the person calling. If he does not care for this protection you, of course, should do as he wishes.

Dear Mrs. Post: I, along with several other boys, was seated around the television set in our boys club the other day waiting to watch a football game. Before the start of the game our National Anthem was played. None of the boys stood up so I didn't either. I have been wondering since if we were wrong in not getting up.

In a situation of this kind it is not necessary to stand. The only time we must stand is when the National Anthem is played directly in our presence.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me just what an entree is? I always thought it was the main course of a meal.

Literally it means "something brought into the meal." That is, it is neither soup, roast or salad, but a hot dish brought in between one of these courses or used as a substitute for the fish or the roast. It is usually a made-up dish such as mousse, or a vol-au-vent or croquettes or sweetbreads. On menus of modern restaurants it has come to mean the main course of the meal.

Rosy Salad Served on Pineapple

Francille Schymik Molds 3 Fruits With Nuts in Gelatin

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

You will be having cranberries in some form this weekend, won't you? They are so much a part of the Christmas scene with their cheery color and their affinity for poultry. This salad recipe comes from a newcomer to Pontiac, Francille Schymik, whose home town is Indianapolis.

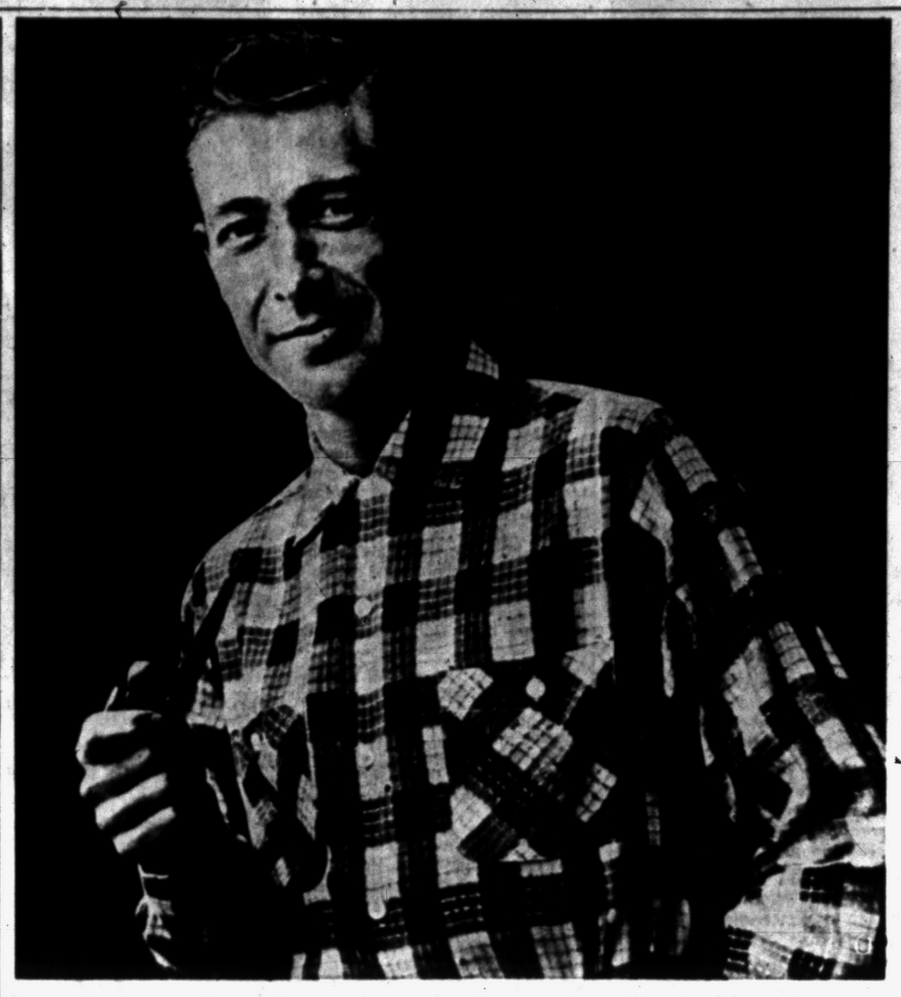

Francille is getting a great deal of enjoyment out of her first teaching experience at Lincoln Junior High School. Her students have caught some of her enthusiasm for homemaking. On the side, this attractive young teacher makes her own clothes, sings in the church choir, works on a patchwork quilt and thinks up surprises for her twin brother in service.

CRANBERRY MOLDS

By Francille Schymik

1 cup ground raw cranberries
1 cup ground unpared apple
1 cup sugar
1 package lemon gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup pineapple syrup
½ cup seeded Tokay grape halves
¼ cup broken walnut meats
6 pineapple slices

Mix cranberries, apple and sugar. Dissolve the gelatin in the hot water, add the pineapple syrup and chill until partially set. Add the cranberry-apple mixture, the grapes and the nuts. Pour into individual molds. When ready to serve, unmold on pineapple slices. Makes 6 servings.

If he's an outdoor man he'll like this smart Scottish plaid sport shirt. This one is tailored in a new kind of rayon fabric that looks new longer. Men like the soft feel of rayon, and its extra absorbency adds up to more comfort. Bright colors remain fresh and new looking throughout wash after wash.

'Bossy' Friend Can Stir Initiative

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

George's shyness recently provoked such "bossiness" from an older boy that his mother ended their friendship. Now he's being "bossed" about by a little girl his own age who's moved into the neighborhood.

The first time Lida came to play with him, he showed her his Indian chief's headdress. Instead of admiring it, she grabbed his paintbox, spat into it, and rubbing red and yellow smears on her face, yelled, "No, I'm the chief! See me dance my war dance? Look at me!"

She has ignored George's skill with his electric train system, insisting that he play train her way. With helpless admiration, George submits to this "bossiness." Contentedly, he sits on a porch step in his role of passenger while Lida runs up and down shrieking the names of stations.

His discouraged mother wonders whether she'd better put an end to this friendship, too.

I hope she won't. George needs his admiration for enterprising Lida to help him overcome his shyness. Already it has begun to stimulate initiative in him.

The other day, for example the two children were coloring Christmas pictures in the living room. Ture, when Lida demanded George's green crayon, he surrendered to her as usual. But having yielded his crayon, he didn't just wait until she'd finished using it.

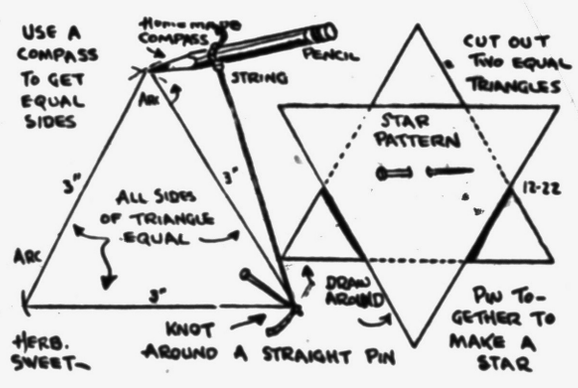

Instead, he went and got his can of modeling clay—and from it fashioned a nose which he affixed to his Santa Claus picture. Lida was deeply impressed by the effect. Indeed, she was so impressed that she demanded some clay for her own picture.

Unfortunately, George's mother noted only that he had again yielded to Lida's demands. And later, she chose to scold him for his submissiveness, instead of commending him for the initiative he'd shown when deprived of his crayon.

Why didn't she see the initiative Lida did? Her demand for his clay was her respectful tribute to it.

Well, maybe George's mother doesn't want to see evidence of initiative in him as much as she thinks she does. Occasionally, if we're parents of a shy child, we don't. We may want to keep him shy. For as long as we can convince ourselves that his shyness exposes him to "bossy" abuse by his friends, we can keep him to ourselves and away from the friends.

Unless we are jealous of George's admiration for Lida, we will not deprive him of his friendship with this enterprising little girl. It's just what he needs to stimulate his own enterprise.

Here Is a Star Pattern

Have you often wanted to make a star for a badge, a tree ornament, or for a design and not be able to get a perfect one?

Let's talk about an easy way to make a Christmas star. If you look at the drawing you will see that a star is two triangles, one on top of the other facing different ways. With your ruler and pencil draw a three-inch line. If you have a compass you can use it to complete your triangle. If not, tie a string around a straight pin then tie, the other end to your pencil, making sure the string is only three inches long. Put the pin at one end of your line and make an arc, do it at the other end. Finish your triangle by drawing lines up through where the arc lines cross. Cut this out and use as a pattern for the other triangle, put in opposite directions, and you have your star!

Traditions Don't Just Happen

Enhance Enjoyment of Holiday by Little More Kindness

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

Young people hold more stock in traditions, seems as if, than older people do. Just let something happen for several years in a row and it becomes the regular thing—a real tradition. They resist changing it with a mighty roar.

The other day I listened in on some friends' Christmas planning. The mother proposed to do away with a tree since the boys weren't babies any more. And such a howl as went up. Of course, they had to have a tree. They'd always had a tree. They would always have a tree.

"Well," said Mother (with an eye on her newly decorated living room) "if we must have one, how 'bout getting a small silver tree, putting it on that table in the corner and trimming it with just tiny green balls?" No indeedy. That didn't go down at all. If they had to move all the furniture around, they'd find room in the traditional corner for the traditionally-big tree they'd lug down from the attic all the trimmings of all colors. The young were balking at innovation!

As you look back over past Christmases you remember most vividly the things you always did. You remember it as home and family, traditional things to eat, traditional ceremonies and activities. They surround the day and the season with familiar feelings. They're feelings you want to recapture year after year. And when you leave home and start your own, you carry over as many of your own family's customs as will happily merge with your spouse's.

In some respects you may not be conscious of tradition as such. You may think it's just accident that things always turn out pretty much the same each year. You take your big Christmas dinner pretty much for granted. The cookie making, tree trimming, carol singing, opening of packages and Christmas cards all seem to fit into their usual places on the schedule without anybody's effort.

But there's somebody behind it who's again cutting out the tried and favorite pattern for your family's celebration. Just who does it at your house? And what are you adding to their doing?

Right now is the time to start your own tradition making. Now's the time to start some thoughtful, considerate gestures of your own; gestures you can repeat next year and the year after. Until they become part of your own personal and private tradition. What to do?

Go to church with Dad on Christmas Eve instead of making a date. Insist that your mother open her packages first in the morning. Ask your boy friend to bring his whole family over to say Merry Christmas in the afternoon. You clean up the confusion of wrapipngs and ribbons while your mother catches her breath. Make a tradition of giving generously of yourself to your family at Christmas—and stick to it through the years.

Merry, merry Christmas to you all!

American Buying Crimps Spanish Christmas Menu

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Christmas turkeys have gone up here due to heavy American buying at Thanksgiving time.

• • •

The hundreds of American families who have arrived here since the signing of the "aid-for-bases" pact last year took fowl dealers by surprise about the middle of November — just when growers were fattening birds for Christmas sales.

There haven't been any loud complaints yet over the high prices of turkeys, even though it hits the Spanish in one of the best parts of their Christmas celebration.

This holiday here is mainly religious. Santa Claus doesn't give presents here. That is done by the three Magi kings on Jan. 6.

Traditionally, however, there is the big feast, usually the night before Christmas, or "Nochebuena." A typical menu includes hot boiled cabbage, roast fish, roast turkey with olive and apple dressing, fresh and candied fruit and the traditional almond paste called "turron."

All this is washed down with plenty of wines and liquers.

In poor homes, roast lamb replaces the turkey but most of the rest of the menu remains the same.

• • •

Relatively few Spanish homes have Christmas trees but nearly all have some form of scene of the nativity.

For children the American equivalent of Christmas begins the evening of Jan. 5 with a parade through the streets of the three kings, Melchior, Gaspar and Balthazar, on white horses (substituting for camels), followed by soldiers in ancient costume.

Children lining the streets scream with delight, should one of the kings wave in their direction. Its a sign there'll be lots of presents the next day.

And then they all troop home to polish their shoes. That's where the kings put the presents.

Man Granted Divorce Over Loss of Weight

BALTIMORE (AP) — Edward R. Miller won a divorce here yesterday after testifying he lost 80 pounds during 13 months of married life. The 26-year-old warehouseman attributed the weight loss to his wife's failure to cook his meals and to his having to walk the streets at night while a girl friend of his wife occupied his half of the bed.

He said he's down to 150 pounds.

General Raps Weapons Ban

Creasy Says America Should Use Everything at Disposal in War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maj. Gen. William M. Creasy, the Army's chief biological and chemical warfare officer, says it would be "an act of barbarism against our own people" to forbid American forces to use weapons which would save American lives, should war come.

* * *

The general declares that "within the Soviet arsenal there is a massive potential" for attacking with atomic and hydrogen bombs, guided missiles and "radiological and biological munitions."

In an article written for the Army Information Digest, an official publication, Creasy says the advent of the high-altitude, long-range bomber extends the battlefield to the home fronts, and he adds:

"Under such circumstances, biological warfare agents offer a weapon which can add measurably to war's impact on the civilian population."

It would be a mistake to assume "this unscrupulous enemy" would begin a war by using any single weapon, Creasy cautions, apparently referring to frequently expressed fears that Russia would open fire with a nuclear weapon attack.

Creasy calls biological warfare a potential weapon whose capabilities have not been tested and cannot be determined unless tried in actual war.

Imminent War Unlikely: Adlai

But Nation Should Not Relax Vigil, Stevenson Warns in Predictions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said today that although he does not regard war as imminent there is "little prospect that we can safely reduce our defenses or relax our guard" in 1955.

Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, set forth this view in a Look magazine symposium of predictions for the new year. He said he sees "no present prospect for a change in the Communist policy of creeping conquest" short of an all-out world war. And he added:

* * *

"We will have to coexist with our ruthless, ambitious, implacable Communist neighbors whether we like it or not, for it is either coexistence or no existence in the atomic-hydrogen age."

In the symposium, Sen. Knowland of California, GOP Senate leader, singled out as the "overriding question" in 1955 the turn this country's policies will take in dealing with international communism.

* * *

"We must face up the fact that the Communist concept of 'peaceful coexistence' means that the United States and other free nations will be allowed to exist only until communism has been able to subvert them from within or destroy them by aggression from without," he said.

He said the best hope for world peace lies in showing "firm and united resistance to any further Communist aggression, whether of the external or internal variety."

Says 120 Americans on Red Slave Farm

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The official Nationalist pews agency Tatao reported today about 120 American prisoners of war were working as slave laborers on a farm near Mukden, Manchuria.

There was no confirmation of the report, nor any prospects of getting it verified.

The agency's account, attributed to underground sources in Mukden, described the prisoners as thin and pale; their hair long and their bodies poorly clad.

Commission Delays Rezoning Decision

Action Put Off Another Week

Resident to Commercial Zone Shift Is Cause of Long Dispute

A decision on the controversial rezoning of tracts of land in northeast Pontiac was delayed for another week by the City Commission last night.

For a time the gallery full of property owners from the Joslyn-Peacock-Grace-Fuller area thought the decision finally might be made after weeks of hearings and discussion.

A question as to the ownership of some 40 per cent of the property by Roy Annett, Inc., raised by George A. Cram, attorney for those opposing the rezoning from residential to manufacturing, had been slapped down by Commissioner Harcourt S. Patterson.

Patterson, an attorney, produced certification that title insurance was issued to the Annett real estate firm for the property it claimed to own in the original rezoning petition. Cram said a title search showed the company did not.

After some discussion, in which Commissioner John A. Dugan again vigorously opposed the rezoning, it appeared a vote would be taken.

But Commissioner Roy V. Cooley demanded that the Annett firm turn over the deeds for a 60-foot setback from the center line of Joslyn avenue for lots 93, 94, 137, 138 and Grace street before a vote.

The 60-foot deeding for future street widening was stipulated by the City Plan Commission in its recommendation to rezone the land, which is proposed to be used by a haulaway firm.

Cooley also demanded assurance that Annett would turn over to the city enough land to extend Arlene street, since a portion of Fuller street is to be vacation by the city.

Fuler bisects the Annett-owned property which the trucking company reportedly wishes to purchase. Cutting it off would bottleneck north-south traffic unless Arlene, which now ends at the property's east limits, is continued north, Cooley said.

On Cooley's motion, action was delayed a week until the deeds had been turned over to the city and until Annett was asked about the Arlene extension through the property.

In other business, the commissioner heard a report from City Attorney William A. Ewart on a setback agreement with Harry Wood for use of a strip of land reserved for future street expansion.

Ewart also recommended the city accept a deed for 30 feet of Palmer drive owned by Joseph Istrate.

Istrate was one of several property owners who did not deed the property to the city when the majority petitioned to make it a public thoroughfare. Condemnation proceedings are under way to obtain the remaining portions of the privately owned street.

In other action, transfer of three package alcoholic beverage licenses was approved.

The package beer and wine license of James Citino was transfered to Charles DeSantis at 424-430 S. Jessie St. The package beer and wine and liquor licenses of Leslie and Frances Hudson and Clarence Uhan were shifted to Ernest Cosmos at 1461-1463 Baldwin Ave.

A communication form Orrin McQuaid requesting vacating a 20-foot alley east of Stanley avenue was referred to the City Plan Commission.

Public necessity was declared for a storm sewer on Blaine avenue from the alley southeast of Montcalm street to High street, and on High from Blaine to Euclid avenue.

Public necessity was declared for a sanitary sewer on the southeast side of Montcalm from Oakland avenue to Corwin avenue, and on Corwin from Montcalm to a point south of lot 56.

7 Detroit Fire Engines Attend in Birth of Baby

DETROIT (INS) — Seven of the Detroit Fire Department's shiniest trucks, with sirens blarring and lights flashing, last night attended the birth of a baby boy to Mrs. Carrie McCance, 21.

A tenant in the apartment building heard screams and turned in the alarm. Lt. James Burke, in charge of the rescue truck that answered, took mother and child to Receiving Hospital where both were reported doing well.

READY FOR POLE TRIP — Col. John F. Stanwell-Fletcher, Arctic explorer, adjusts a parka on his wife, Peggy, slated to be the only woman in history to go to the North Pole, at a press conference in New York. On the trip, to be made next year, Peggy will supervise the expedition's radio and movie activities including a short-wave broadcast from the North Pole. Stanwell-Fletcher will take a party of 14 scientists, four Eskimos and 81 dog sleds on the $400,000 expedition, which is being financed solely through private contributions.

Oakland County Plan Commission Mapping Highway Building Plans

By BURDETT C. STODDARD

To build roads in the wrong places can be worse than not building roads at all.

That's why Oakland County needs a detailed, longe-range plan for highway construction covering the whole road system including state, federal and county, according to George N. Skrubb, director of the county plan commission.

The plan commission has launched such a study in cooperation with the county road commission, he explained, with the plan group's newly acquired highway engineer, Robert A. Larson, laying the groundwork.

But the limited personnel and facilities of the two groups will probably prevent completion of the study for five to ten years unless outside help is obtained, said Skrubb.

With this in mind, Skrubb has suggested hiring a highway engineering firm to do the study. "I contacted three such companies who said they could do the job for $50,000 to $80,000," Skrubb stated.

"If the plan commission could provide $30,000 over the next three years and the road commission do the same, we could have a complete study in about 2½ years.

"The study would include and benefit every city, township and village in the county and I feel the road situation is critical enough to warrant speeding the project to completion. Our traffic problem is such that an area person hardly knows what it is to drive on a non-congested road."

If the board of supervisors should decide to approve the plan, an additional $10,000 would have to be allocated to the plan commission above its original 1955 budget request, the planner explained.

"A principal part of the study will be compiling facts already gathered by the road commission, state highway department, Michigan Turnpike Authority and county governmental units.

"These groups have plans for their individual systems which we can integrate into an overall view."

The integrated plan should assure that every dollar put into road expansion goes toward work that is needed.

"When every group is operating with the complete picture and future plan in mind, we can expect roads to be built where most needed with no duplication of effort," said Skrubb.

A thorough road development plan is a complex affair. The present traffic conditions and road layouts must be studied.

Traffic volumes on all roads have to be determined along with high-accident areas. Origin and destination surveys are required showing spots in the county converged on by motorists daily and where these drivers come from.

* * *

Road widths must be evaluated plus problems of obtaining necessary right-of-way to widen them where needed. Minimum standards have to be set under which highways will be adequate to handle both present and forecast traffic volumes.

Once the data is gathered, it must be analyzed, population growth predicted and areas pinpointed where heavy growth will occur. Locations for commercial, industrial and recreational use have to be forecast.

The expected increase of traffic on roads in areas slated to thrive must be computed and these roads analyzed to determine what expansion of them will be needed.

"New state roads and the planned toll road would be given particular attention in relation to the location of new and existing roads in the county," said Skrubb.

"After the program is completed, individual groups can push their part of the project, but it will benefit the whole county.

"The sooner we get this thing done, the sooner we'll know exactly where we're going," he concluded.

What Religion Means to Our Family

Their Church, Christian Experience Meant Everything to the Jesse Rosses

By LULA B. OGDEN

Because a Sunday School worker called at their home with an invitation to church and Sunday School, the Jesse Ross family of 231 S. Jessie St. can say today, "Our Church and our Christian experience means everything to us."

"Everywhere the world is seeking peace," they added. "Not only peace without war, but peace of mind and soul.

"By our belief in God and Jesus Christ we have found that peace of mind and soul. That is why our religion means so much to us," they said.

In the Ross family, besides the parents, are two sons and two daughters. The sons are Phillip, who is married and lives in Cleveland and Clairmonte, who is stationed in Korea.

PHILLIP

At home are Hyla, a graduate of Bethel College, who in May will receive her AB degree in pre-dental studies from the University of Detroit, and Vonda, who is in Pontiac High School.

Besides these four children, 14, others have come and gone in the Ross household during the years. Here they shared the love and understanding of their "Mama and Daddy" and the children.

CLAIRMONTE

At the present time, Stanley and Leslie Allison, 4 and 3 years old, are the pride and joy of the household.

Except for the difference in age one would think the boys were the Rosses' very own.

At the present time the family interest on Sunday mornings is at the mission recently organized by their church, the United Missionary, in the Stonecrest Building at Walled Lake. Here Mr. and Mrs. Ross and Hyla are Sunday School teachers. Hyla also is song leader and on the music committee.

Sunday evenings find them in their own church on Prospect street, where the father is a member of the trustee and executive boards.

Here Hyla is pianist for the Youth Fellowship and Vonda is corresponding secretary for the Queen Esther Missionary Society.

Hyla is planning to take her specialized training into the mission field and at the present time feels that Africa is her chosen calling.

Family of 19 Draws Lots for Christmas Presents

JOLIET, Ill., (INS) — There will be a lottery going on in a Joliet home on Christmas Eve but police won't interfere.

The lottery is a part of the Yuletide celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baker, who have 17 children. Because there are so many Bakers, each buys a gift and then names are drawn to see who gets what.

Europe's Rabbit Population Periled After Experiment

PARIS (AP)—Prof. Paul Armand-Delille forgot about the habits of rabbits when he started his experiment. The result was a success on such a scale that he's been in trouble ever since.

Armand-Delille was annoyed by rabbits' munching on the flowers and vegetables in his garden. A man of science, he imported some myxomatosis virus from Australia, where it had been used to reduce the rabbit population. Myxomatosis kills rabbits with up to 99 per cent certainty in 10 to 12 days.

* * *

The professor's garden promptly was freed of rabbits. But once started, there was no way to limit the spread of the disease among the sociable rodents. It spread and spread until rabbits were dying all over France. They died in Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, Germany and finally in Britain.

Hunters and manufacturers of hunting equipment cried murder. People who make at least part of their living from wild rabbits—hunters, hunting clubs, shotgun and shell manufacturers, furriers, gamekeepers, etc.—claimed that the professor had done 60 billion francs ($171,428,500) worth of damage.

It has been two years since the professor set out to purge his garden of rabbits, but the end is not in sight.

The Superior Council for Hunting, which has a special man to study the myxomatos situation, says France is spotted with islands where wild rabbit life is extinct.

* * *

There's not much that can be done to save wild rabbits. Tame rabbits can be inoculated.

* * *

The hunting people seem about the only ones who are worried. The Ministry of Agriculture scarcely conceals its pleasure. It says wild rabbits are harmful animals because they eat young plants, destroy the boundary marks between fields, and chew up tree sprouts in the forests.

Armand-Delille has been sued by a woman who claims her domestic rabbits were wiped out by the disease. An association of hunters has joined in the suit. The professor was ordered to pay damages to the woman, but he has appealed the case.

Leaves Clear Trail

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Police followed a trail of black and white footprints and picked up Keith Lannigan, Portland, Maine, who was held on a charge of housebreaking. They said a man who broke into a service station fled through a window and on the way out landed with one foot in a bucket of black paint and the other a bucket of white.

United Press Photos

CAUGHT IN THE ACT—Throughout the world youngsters and oldsters just can't resist snooping around for the gifts they'll find in their stockings Christmas morning. Bobby Gorman, 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gorman of Mill Valley, Calif., is no exception. In the top photo, Bobby, having found what he's looking for, casts a wary eye to make sure he hasn't been discovered. Drooling with anticipation (second photo), Bobby pulls down gift for easier inspection. Having thrust aside the wrapping Bobby holds up teddy bear with an air of achievement as he peers into package to see if he's missed anything in the third photo. In the final photo, Bobbie finds the jig is up as mother suddenly appears and points an accusing finger at the culprit who expresses a look of remorse hoping for light punishment. Mother remembering she did the same thing when she was a youngster, settled on a scolding.

Berries Star in Christmas Cake

Fruit Fills Rolled Dessert

Whipped Cream Tops Holiday Roll, Makes Holly Trim

For a new twist in holiday desserts, try frozen red raspberries in an enticing dessert roll—it's really something special. Attractive and luscious—yet not as rich as many traditional favorites—this Frozen Raspberry Roll will capture everyone's fancy.

What's more, the bright and cheery frozen red raspberries are more than welcome out-of-season, with their wonderful fresh flavor. With tantalizing appeal, this gay and tempting treat is sure to please.

Frozen Raspberry Roll

Cake:
3 eggs
3 tablespoons water
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
Powdered sugar

Beat the eggs and water together until frothy. Gradually add sugar while continuing to beat. Beat in vanilla. Sift flour, salt and baking powder together and fold into egg mixture.

Pour batter into a 15½x10½x1-inch jelly roll pan which has been lined with waxed paper then oiled well. Bake. Temperature: 400 degrees. Time: 15 to 18 minutes.

Turn while hot onto cloth sprinkled with powdered sugar. Remove waxed paper quickly and roll. Let cool; unroll and spread with raspberry filling.

Filling:
1 (10 ounce) package frozen red raspberries
1 package raspberry flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water

Defrost raspberries just enough to separate. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add raspberries and juice and chill until about the consistency of jelly. Unroll cake, spread with raspberry filling and re-roll.

Wrap in waxed paper and chill in refrigerator until gelatin is firm. Frost with sweetened whipped cream and serve. Amount: Six to eight servings.

Pudding Requires No Fuss or Bother

Christmas shopping is a tiring business. And of course though you mean to get home in time to prepare dinner, you spend until the last minute downtown deciding whether or not you have found the right tie for Uncle Joe.

But still if you plan ahead, you can serve a tasty, wholesome meal to your family. Broil lamb chops and serve on toasted enriched yeast-raised bread.

Heat frozen green beans with a few mushrooms. Season stewed tomatoes with salt, pepper and a little sugar; top with a lump of butter and you'll have a dinner in just 15 minutes that will win your family's praise.

And here's a dessert to have tucked up your sleeve all the time. It takes no cooking, no fuss, no bother. It can be squeezed into your time schedule any time of the day before your shopping excursion.

English Fruit Pudding

Butter
2 cups canned berries, sweetened to taste
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Remove crusts from bread. Spread bread with butter; then cut into 1½ inch strips. Line a buttered 1-quart baking dish with some of the bread, buttered side up. Combine berries, salt and cinnamon; pour into baking dish, cover with remaining bread strips. Place a plate on top and weight it with a heavy object. Let stand in a cool place about 24 hours. Serve with whipped cream or hard sauce. Makes 8 servings.

Relish Blends Cranberries and Pineapple

What could be easier? Chop raw cranberries with a triple-bladed spring - action chopper, combine them with other fruits, and you have a wonderful relish to serve with holiday turkey, chicken, duck or ham.

This good raw cranberry relish has an extra advantage—it benefits from being made ahead of time.

Put it into a covered container, in the refrigerator, so its flavors will blend and mellow. All the fuss out of the way at serving time, and you have such a delicious accompaniment to ladle into your prettiest dish.

Cranberry Pineapple Relish

1 No. 2 can (1 pound and 4 ounces) crushed pineapple
2 pounds fresh cranberries
½ cup sugar

Drain pineapple and empty into refrigerator dish. Wash and pick over cranberries.

Place cranberries on several thicknesses of waxed paper on wooden board. Rumple edges of waxed paper. Chop cranberries with triple-bladed spring-action chopper.

When Current Is Cut Off, Keep Home Freezer Shut

If a hurricane or other violent storm disrupts the electrical power supply to your home, you may be able, just by keeping the home freezer closed, to hold all your frozen food at safe temperatures until power is restored.

Owners of home freezers are advised that food will stay frozen for 24 to 48 hours after the current cuts off, provided the freezer is not opened.

The food acts as its own block of ice for a time, and entry of outside heat is checked by thick insulation in the walls.

In any situation where power is likely to be off for a long period, it is advisable to obtain dry ice for the freezer if possible.

The dry ice, wrapped in a dozen or more sheets of newspaper or other paper, should be distributed throughout the freezer, but most heavily near the top. This procedure may be repeated if necessary.

When warnings are issued that a severe storm is approaching, it is wise to find local sources of fry locker services and frozen food centers are among businesses likely to stock it.

Frozen foods of all kinds are all right to refreeze as long as some ice crystals remain, according to the home economics institute of a freezer company.

Should food become completely thawed, though still cold to touch, it may be refrozen, but the planned maximum storage life of such foods should be cut to one-half of the normal period.

In emergency conditions where electricity is off, cooking facilities also may be impaired or lacking. Precooked and other ready-to-eat foods from the freezer, even if served at room temperature instead of hot, will provide nourishing and tasty meals.

Foods that thaw and reach more than 40-degree temperature despite all precautions to keep them frozen or chilled should be cooked thoroughly and eaten within 12 hours.

If there is more than your family and neighbors can eat, the surplus probably can be sold for at least cost to institutions, restaurants and hotels, whose food supplies may be interrupted by the local disaster.

Or arrangements may be made to turn the food over to the Red Cross or other agencies ministering to storm victims.

Golden Nugget Held by Every Burger

The word "favorite" sometimes seems to be over-used, but no other word can describe this main course.

Once it has been eaten it is repeatedly requested by the junior members of the family as well as by mother and dad. Ready in a hurry and gone from the plate in a hurry are Golden Nugget Hamburgers.

Golden Nugget Hamburgers

2 slices bread
¼ cup milk
1 egg
1 small onion
1 pound ground beef
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ pound American cheese
2 tablespoons fat
1 can condensed tomato soup

Shred bread and mix with milk. Add beaten egg, grated onion, beef and seasonings. Cut cheese into six cubes and shape meat mixture around them to form cakes.

Brown on both sides in fat. Pour soup over meat cakes and simmer gently about 15 minutes. Six servings.

Mrs. Aldo's Method Insures Creamy Fudge

Make sure that your fudge is creamy rather than sugary. Put the required amount of butter in the mixing bowl of your mixer, then pour in the hot cooked fudge mixture.

Start beating immediately. Beat for several minutes until it is smooth, but not thickened. Remove beaters, add vanilla and finish beating by hand.

This is contrary to all recipes for fudge. But Mrs. Peter Aldo, who makes some of the best fudge we've ever eaten, always beats hers in this way.

Use Center Rack

When you are baking a cake or cookies, place the pan on the oven rack that is nearest the middle of the oven. This way your cake and cookies will rise and brown evenly.

Coarsely shred rutabagas and use in a salad. Team it with celery, dress it with mayonnaise and add a little grated onion for extra flavor.

Serve Company Celebrity Fare

You needn't be stumped for hostess presents during the holidays as long as your bookstore has on its shelves "Carolyn Coggins' Company Cookbook," published by Hanover House, Garden City, New York, $2.95.

The fortunate owner of this book will find more company food suggestions than she has ever dreamed of, under such chapter heads as "Soup — Canned but Different," "The Art of Movable Cookery," "Chuck-Wagon Fare," "The Spirit of Christmas."

All chapters are full of recipes, suggestions and culinary hints drawn from Mrs. Coggins' years of experience as a hostess, world traveler and writer

The book itself is divided conveniently into parts. For instance, the chapter "Seafood Celebrities," included in the part called "Luncheons, Fireside Suppers and Food for the Family," features a fish-in-lemon-sauce recipe written in such a way that you know it can't help but be a "celebrity."

Fish in Lemon Sauce

Flounder or cod fillets, halibut or salmon steaks are good in this recipe. Use fresh or frozen.

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ pound mushrooms, sliced
3 tablespoons cornmeal
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
⅛ teaspoon paprika
1 pound fish fillets
½ medium onion, thinly sliced
½ bay leaf
4 peppercorns
½ cup lemon juice
1¼ cups light cream

Place butter and mushrooms in casserole. Put in hot oven (400 degrees) 15 minutes. Meanwhile combine cornmeal and seasonings. Dip pieces of fish in mixture and coat thoroughly; place over mushrooms.

Separate onion into rings and place over fish. Add bay leaf and peppercorns. Pour lemon juice and cream over. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) 30 minutes, basting occasionally. Makes four to six servings.

Use Exotic Figs for Yule Cookery

Exotic California dried figs lend a holiday air to simple dishes—a boon to the homemaker caught up in the hustle and bustle of pre-Christmas days.

These luscious figs are actually 55 per cent natural fruit sugar as well as plump to bursting with rich flavor and healthful goodness.

When you are marketing for the holidays, buy lots of dried figs. You'll need them for your best holiday cookery.

A fine way to use California dried figs for a holiday dinner is to pickle them in a double-rich, sweet-sour syrup and to serve them in your loveliest dish with little sticks of cinnamon and lots of whole cloves floating temptingly in the syrup.

Sweet-Sour Pickled Figs

24 California dried figs
2 cups sugar
1 cup cider vinegar
Several sticks of cinnamon, broken into inch lengths
2 teaspoons whole cloves

Combine all ingredients, stirring together thoroughly. Place over medium heat and simmer, stirring often. Keep covered.

When the figs are somewhat transparent, and rich in appearance, they are done. Add a little water if necessary but the syrup should be rather thick.

Make Brown Stew

Brown meat cubes, when you are making stew, in plenty of fat as they will have a rich brown color and good flavor. Pour off fat before adding the other ingredients for the stew so you won't have a greasy dish.

Make Honey Sauce

A different taste treat in hard sauce can be had by creaming one-third cup butter and beating in three-fourths cup honey. Add just a little lemon juice and serve over any steamed pudding.

Broiler Meal Is Boon to Tired Yule Shoppers

Hurry home from Christmas shopping and serve a sumptuous meal to your family. Let the broiler do the work!

Line broiler pan with aluminum foil to cut dishwashing. Then pour two 1-pound cans (1¾ cups) spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese into broiler pan. Place four hamburger patties on broiler tray. Place tray over pan and broil until patties are browned on one side; turn. Continue broiling until patties are cooked through.

Bake Ham Slice in Sweet Sauce

Ham seems to be a national favorite and we are always on the lookout for a really luscious ham recipe for a small family.

You will be glad to know that you do not have to buy a whole ham for a gala dinner. Try this ham slice and you will put the recipe in your file of special favorites.

Orange Ham Slice

1½ pounds ham steak
1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet
1 tablespoon fat
1 cup orange juice
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1-3 cup orange marmalade
¼ teaspoon ginger

Have meat dealer cut a slice of ham about 1 inch thick. Trim excess fat and score remaining fat around edge. Brush all over with kitchen bouquet.

Melt fat in frying pan and brown ham on both sides over moderate heat. Meanwhile combine remaining ingredients and cook over moderate heat for 15 minutes, stirring constantly.

Place browned ham in shallow baking dish or in heat-proof serving platter. Pour sauce evenly over ham and bake in moderate oven, 375, until ham is tender, about one hour.

Serve immediately cut in crosswise slices. Yield: four servings.

Vitamin C in Juice

Apple juice packed in four-ounce cans for babies is being enriched with natural vitamin "C" from the juice of the Puerto Rican fruit called acerola. The maker, Bib Corp. of Lakeland, Fla., says that acerola contains 80 times more vitamin "C" than oranges and enough is added to the apple juice to provide 30 milligrams of vitamin "C."

The government of New York state earns on dollar ever second on the money it has invested.

Merry Christmas

STANDING RIB ROAST— Standing rib roast of beef is a traditional Christmas treat for many families. It is an easy meat since it needs no watching once it is in the oven. With it, serve Yorkshire Pudding if you like and whole cooked onions, carrots and green beans. Brown your potatoes with the roast.

Follow These Eight Tips to Save Marketing Time

Here are eight tips from experts that will save you 30 per cent of your shopping time at your neighborhood supermarket. These common sense suggestions have been prepared by the consumer education department of the Hudson Pulp and Paper Corporation to make your marketing easier and faster:

1. All multi-specials—Two boxes for 25 cents or three cans for 49 cents—should be kept together in the cart. Don't miss out on a bargain because one of these items lost its mate and had to be checked in separately.

2. If you place the groceries in the cart so that the price marks are on top, the checker can see at a glance what price to punch on the register. This will speed you through the checking stand.

3. Make up your shopping list by departments so that you can pick up all your dairy products in one stop, all the baked goods in another, etc.

4. Steer the shopping cart up and down the aisles like a train on a track, following the layout of the store all the way across to the checking stand. This way, you stand less chance of missing anything you won't find yourself going the wrong direction against traffic.

Use Pineapple in Spicy Fruit Punch

Holiday Punch: This spicy Pineapple Juice Punch is unusual in flavor, but easy to make.

Simmer ½ cup sugar, 1 1-3 cups water, 4 sticks of cinnamon and 12 cloves for about 30 minutes. Strain and add to 1 (46 ounce) can of pineapple juice and 1½ cups of canned or fresh orange juice and ½ cup lemon juice. Pour over ice or frozen pineapple juice cubes. Makes 2 quarts of punch.

5. Load the cart so that heavy cans are all together on the bottom—the more fragile items such as bakery products and eggs on top. The little shelf on the bottom of the cart is just right for heavy bags of potatoes or cartons of soft drinks.

6. When you stop at a department, be sure you and your cart are tucked in out of the main stream of traffic. A bottleneck in an aisle can be caused by just one carelessly parked cart.

7. If you take the youngsters to the store, keep them right with you all the time, either sitting in the little chair on the back of the cart or walking beside you. Falling cans and bottles can be mighty dangerous to little hands.

8. If you unload your own cart onto the checking stand, arrange the different items in the order you will want them packed in paper bags. Then, the heavy cans and packages will be on the bottom and the lighter articles on top.

Finally, remember that many shoppers will be in a tremendous hurry to get home and start dinner, even if you have all the time in the world. Even if you are making a whirlwind trip, courtesy and a smile take no extra time and help make shopping more pleasant for everyone.

For Quick Chop Suey

Rich brown chop suey is a cinch to fix with a can of beef gravy and some cooked beef. For seasoning, first cook 1 chopped onion and a diced green pepper in 1 tablespoon shortening. Add a small can of sliced mushrooms too. Onion and pepper should cook until slightly tender.

Then stir in 1 can (1¼ cups) beef gravy and 1 cup cubed cooked beef. Season with one-half teaspoon soy sauce for a taste of the Orient. Just heat to blend. Scoop hot meat mixture over chow mein noodles or buttered cooked rice to serve six.

Fish Sticks Win Great Acclaim

The popularity of fish sticks has been so phenomenal that, according to government figures, by the end of 1954 we Americans will have consumed more than 50,000,000 pounds of these oblong pieces of breaded fish.

It was less than a year ago that distribution of these sticks became national, and now more than 45 fish companies are making them at the rate of more than 4,000,000 pounds a year and shipping them throughout the United States.

First sticks were made of cod, haddock and ocean perch. Now they are being made of halibut, salmon and swordfish, and no doubt other species will soon appear on the market.

Closely resembling French-fried potatoes, fish sticks can be bought cooked and uncooked, — both kinds frozen in consumer-sized packages.

It's best to follow directions on the package for cooking them. But variations in the form of seasonings and sauces are almost limitless and make appetizing, easy-to-prepare main courses.

Seasoning Suggestions for Fish Sticks

Before the sticks are placed in the oven or under the broiler flame, sprinkle them with a commercially prepared seasoned salt, grated cheese, onion or garlic salt, or celery salt.

Sauce Suggestions for Fish Sticks

Serve fish sticks immediatly after they have been prepared according to directions with a seafood cocktail sauce, a tartar sauce, or a cup of medium white sauce to which has been added one of the following:

½ cup finely chopped cooked shrimp
½ cup minced clams
¼ cup horseradish, drained
1 tablespoon curry powder

New Twist Given Cheese Spread

Here's a cheese spread with a new "twist."

Cream together, ½ cup grated Cheddar cheese, ½ cup butter, 1 teaspoon each of anchovy paste, caraway seed, chopped capers or gherkins, chopped olives. Add 1 clove of garlic, minced. A dash of salt and paprika. Let stand 1 hour to blend flavors — yummy!

Fish are the most numerous of the vertebrates with about 20,000 species.

Beef Rib Roast, Pudding Star on Christmas Table

Get only the finest of standing ribs of beef for this great day. The prized ribs are the first five ribs cut from next to the loin or steak section.

The sixth and seventh rib roasts are cut from the section near the shoulder "pot roasts" and often are less tender and usually lower priced. Many stores trim the roasts closely and remove the shirt ribs.

The amount of trimming and whether or not these short ribs are removed should be taken into consideration in judging the price per pound of the meat.

Cooking is a simple matter. Because the meat has a built-in rack, it requires only to be placed fat side up in an open pan with a roast meat thermometer placed in the center of the meat.

Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees) until the meat thermometer indicates the degree of doneness desired, 140 degrees rare, 160 degrees for medium, or 170 degrees well done.

After the roast reaches the desired temperature, remove to a platter and keep warm. If allowed to set approximately 30 minutes, the meat will carve more easily.

Yorkshire Pudding

1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 cup milk

Sift flour and salt, and mix to a batter with the unbeaten eggs and milk, beating until the mixture is smooth and creamy. If made an hour or more before baking, the pudding will be lighter than if prepared at the last moment.

Pour beef drippings into a shallow pan and place in oven until sizzling hot. Then turn batter into pan.

Bake about 45 minutes, having the oven hot (450 degrees) for the first 15 minutes, after which reduce the heat to 375 degrees.

Make Apple Candy for Holiday Giving

Ever tasted fresh apple candy? It's a delicious Christmas confection that's so decorative you'll want to make extra batches and pack them in gay, ribboned boxes as gifts for family friends, junior's favorite teacher and as a special treat for Dad and the youngsters.

The Washington apple growers, who sent us this easy-to-do recipe, say that these candies may be made in bright holiday reds and greens and a variety of other gay colors, and we especially like the lime, cherry and strawberry-flavored gelatin which accents the fresh apple flavor.

Christmas Apple Candies

1 pkg. lime, cherry or strawberry gelatin
Delicious red apples to make 1 cup strained apple sauce
1 cup sugar
½ cup broken walnuts or ½ cup chopped almonds
Confectioner's sugar

Combine applesauce and sugar and cook over low heat until very thick, about 15 minutes. Stir constantly to avoid scorching. Remove from heat.

Dissolve gelatin in hot applesauce and add nuts. Turn into greased 9x5x2-inch loaf pan. Chill in refrigerator.

When firm, remove from refrigerator, cut into 1-inch cubes and roll in powdered sugar. Let stand overnight at room temperature to dry. Then roll in additional confectioner's sugar.

Store in two layers between waxed paper in a covered container. Makes about 2½ dozen candies.

After you've finished baking, leave your oven door open for five minutes or so to let any moisture evaporate.

Heat Waffle Sauce

Try this when serving pancakes and waffles for brunch or luncheon. Heat a 1 pound can of jellied cranberry sauce with 2 tablespoons butter and ¼ cup brown sugar. Serve hot.

Cooking Meat Unthawed Does Not Affect Flavor

Most frozen meat may be thawed during cooking, and meat so prepared is not noticeably affected in flavor, tenderness or juiciness, according to the home economics institute of a freezer company.

Longer cooking time must be allowed, of course, for meats not thawed ahead of time. A meat thermometer is particularly helpful to obtain the exact degree of desired doneness inside roasts.

An opening for the thermometer may be formed by inserting a heavy wooden skewer into the meat before freezing.

A table of comparative cooking times for pre-thawed and unthawed meats has been prepared by home economists.

It shows that standard rib roast, for example, to reach medium doneness in a 300-degree oven takes 22 minutes a pound if thawed and 47 minutes a pound if unthawed.

Other typical comparisons in preparing roasts at 300 degrees include the following cooking times per pound:

Rolled rib roast, 38 minutes thawed, 57 minutes unthawed; chuck roast (braised with water) 40 minutes thawed, 55 minutes unthawed; leg of lamb, 30-35 minutes thawed, 45-55 minutes unthawed.

A 1-inch porterhouse steak must be broiled 8-10 minutes a pound if thawed, 21-33 minutes if unthawed. Braised pork chops take 45 minutes a pound thawed and 60 minutes unthawed.

Fresh ground meats to be made into loaves or patties should be thawed ahead to permit easy mixing and molding.

Liver, heart or any meat to be dredged in flour or coated with batter or eggs and crumbs also should be thawed, so that the coating will cling satisfactorily.

Meat to be defrosted should be left wrapped to thaw slowly either in a refrigerator or at room temperature.

Meat takes 5 to 10 hours a pound to thaw in the refrigerator, or about 2 hours a pound at room temperature.

An electric fan may be used to hasten thawing, but meat never should be put into cold water for that purpose.

Casserole Made With Canned Food

Round up from your shelf 2 cans of spaghetti (the kind with tomato sauce and cheese), and a can of spaghetti sauce with meat for one of the dandiest casseroles. It's a triple feature of canned foods.

Mix the 2 cans of spaghetti (1¼ cups size) with a can of whole kernel corn (2 cups); a can of spaghetti sauce with meat (1¼ cups); and ½ cup shredded cheese. Heap it all into a casserole. Sprinkle another ½ cup cheese on top. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) about 30 minutes. There are 6 generous servings.

Wreath Tastes, Looks Delicious

Of all the holiday wreaths seen during December, one of the most beautiful and certainly the most irresistibly edible . . . is the one shown on this page. It's a dramatic wreath of edible beauty because it has green Iceberg lettuce that sets off the different colorful fruits like jewels in a ring.

For a special holiday luncheon or a lovely Yuletide buffet . . . this salad, so delightful to look at and so delicious to eat, will add both distinction and glamor to the menu.

For 12 servings, buy three heads of fine Iceberg lettuce and keep it crisp and chilled until ready to cut into quarters at serving time.

Chill one large can each of whole apricots, pear halves, spiced whole peaches, pineapple chunks and preserved figs. Choose several kinds of fine grapes, cut into small clusters, wash and chill.

Prepare a "creamy-dreamy" dressing. Mash one small package cream cheese with one-half cup heavy cream and one cup Roquefort cheese. Blend until smooth. Work in one tablespoon lemon juice, one-half teaspoon salt and one cup mayonnaise. Pour into small deep bowl, to form center of wreath, on large round platter.

Now, ready to serve? Place quarters of head lettuce around platter in groups of three. Drain fruits, place some of all fruits together between lettuce groups. Top fruits with grape clusters.

For a delicious menu, serve the Wreath Salad with platters of cold sliced ham and turkey, hot rolls or muffins and a large bowl of hot spiced cider or mulled wine.

Give Pies That Professional Look

You can put a glaze on your pies by lightly brushing the top pastry with water, milk, or cream, and a sprinkling of sugar.

An egg yolk blended with ½ teaspoon water also will give a rich-looking glaze to the crust. You may like to try each method.

Frozen Foods Don't Contain Inedible Parts

A 10-ounce package of commercial frozen cauliflower, for example, is equal to 40 ounces of the vegetable in fresh form.

It takes 28 ounces of fresh brussels sprouts to match a 10-ounce frozen package, and 36 ounces or more of baby lima beans or peas to make the equivalent of a 12-ounce frozen package.

To equal 1-pound packages of frozen fillets, it takes the following amounts of fresh fish: Halibut, 2 pounds; cod and haddock, 3 pounds, flounder, 4 pounds; red perch, 5 pounds.

Frozen poultry also is worth more than its weight, so to speak. One pound of frozen chicken broilers equals 1½ pounds of fresh fowl.

With ducks, the comparative figures are 4 pounds and 5¼ pounds, and with turkeys, 9 pounds and 12 pounds.

Deviled Ham Good in Bread Stuffing

If you have a favorite poultry stuffing recipe, try adding 1 or 2 cans of deviled ham to the basic ingredients depending on the quantity of bread or crumbs used. Deviled ham adds a deliciously different flavor to bread and other stuffings.

Everyone will like cauliflower if you top the cooked flowerets with well-buttered bread crumbs mixed with minced pimiento.

CHRISTMAS STAR CAKE—Here's a delicate dessert that requires no cooking. It's Christmas food only in its shape. Made as an ordinary cake, it would do wonderfully for any time of the year. Baker's pound cake is filled with a whipped cream, gelatin fruit mixture, then chilled.

Let the Yule Star Shine From Your Holiday Table

"Star of Wonder, Star of Light, Star with Royal Beauty Bright." So runs the beloved old carol. Its popularity is understandable, for the star has been a symbol of hope and joy ever since the Three Kings first saw its radiance in the sky.

Lest its message of hope be lost among the reindeer and the Christmas trees, make sure that it has a prominent place in your Christmas festivities.

Here's one way to introduce the simple beauty of the star onto your Christmas table. It's a Nesselrode star, an airy - fairy dessert that's as pretty as a baby cherub.

It is not a traditional Christmas food, but after all you can't eat plum pudding and mince pies every day of the Christmas season can you? The truly traditional touch can be supplied by the pot of steaming coffee that accompanies it to the table, for coffee has spelled out Christmas hospitality for generations.

In addition to being delicately beautiful, the Nesselrode star requires no cooking, being a refrigerator cake.

It would be perfect to serve after any main meal where a small serving of a delicate dessert is indicated, just to keep the coffee company. So when you bring on the Christmas coffee, that's the time to let your star shine.

One small piece of advice about serving: If you cut off each arm of the star then divide the remaining cake into three you will have eight equal portions.

Christmas Star Cake

1 baker's pound cake
1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
½ cup broken pecan meats
⅛ cup chopped Maraschino cherries
1 teaspoon rum flavoring

Select a star-shape mold. Grease lightly. Cut cake in thin slices then cut slices to fit mold making enough for three or four layers. Crumble cake scraps to sprinkle in any spaces left between cake pieces or to use as last layer.

Prepare gelatin as directed on package. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Whip until light and fluffy. Fold in remaining ingredients.

Arrange one layer of cake pieces in mold and spoon a layer of filling on top. Arrange another layer of cake pieces then filling then cake again then filling then cake or cake crumbs.

Chill several hours. Unmold. Frost top with additional whipped cream and garnish with colored sugar and maraschino cherries. Makes eight servings.

Pour Wine Sauce on Broiled Halibut

Steaks of halibut, one of the most delicious fish ever to swim the seven seas, are extremely plentiful right now, according to the National Fisheries Institute's latest reports.

Although these flaky, white, firm-meated fish steaks may be baked, sauteed or poached, the ideal way to prepare them is broiling, and the ideal sauce to serve with them is of wine, like this one of red wine and mushrooms. The recipe makes enough sauce for two large steaks, or four small ones.

Halibut Steaks

If steaks are frozen, let them thaw on refrigerator shelf or at room temperature. Preheat broiler and broil steaks five to seven minutes on each side, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork.

Red Wine-Mushroom Sauce

1 small can sliced mushrooms
1 tablespoon butter
1 onion, sliced
1 carrot, sliced
1 sprig parsley
⅓ cup dry red wine
1 tablespoon butter
½ tablespoon flour

Drain mushrooms and reserve liquor. Melt butter, add onion and carrot, cover pan and simmer a few minutes or until vegetables are soft. Add parsley, wine and liquor drained from mushrooms. (Add enough water to liquor to make one-half cup.)

Cook slowly until reduced to about three-fourths cup. Add butter creamed with the flour and bring back to the boiling point. Add the mushrooms. Season to taste and pour over the fish.

Mallow-Cherry Cupcakes Look Extra Festive

Bright touches on cakes that can be eaten always make things seem more Christmasy to children.

Marshmallow Cherry Sandwich

One 1-pound, 4-ounce package white cake mix
½ pound marshmallows
¼ cup water
⅓ cup chopped marschino cherries (about 20 cherries)
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons cocoa
1 cup heavy cream
1 cup heavy cream, whipped and sweetened
Red and green maraschino cherry halves, well drained.

Prepare cake mix according to package directions. Pour into a greased and floured 13x9x2-inch pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 35 to 40 minutes; or until cake tests done. Cool 10 minutes.

Turn out on cake rack and cool thoroughly. Cut into 2½-inch rounds with biscuit or cookie cutter. Split each round into two layers. Combine marshmallows and water.

It's Baked Alaska

Try Pretzel Stuffing in Holiday Turkey

Pretzel Stuffing

9 cups pretzel crumbs (coarsely crushed)
1½ cups chopped onions
1½ cups butter, margarine or turkey fat
2 cups diced celery
1½ teaspoons poultry seasoning
¾ teaspoons ground sage
½ teaspoon ground pepper
4 cups turkey stock or bouillon.

To make crumbs, crush pretzels, placed between double folds of waxed paper, with rolling pin or milk bottle. Crumbs should be about size of grain of wheat or corn.

Saute onion in butter, margarine or turkey fat until soft, but not browned. Meanwhile, blend celery, seasonings and crumbs.

To pretzel crumb mixture add sauteed onion with the fat and enough stock or bouillon to blend ingredients well and give desired moistness.

Use fork to mix stock and ingredients. Taste, and add more seasonings if desired.

Sardine Filling Is Zesty

Mash sardines and mix with finely diced celery and a little mayonnaise for a good sandwich filling. To make this spread extra tasty add a little sweet pickle relish.

JOY TO THE WORLD—Girl Scouts of Commerce Troop 34 brought the spirit of Christmas to those at the Pontiac State Hospital Monday evening with a selection of traditional yuletide songs. Reaching for a high noël note here are Carol Pickard, Marilyn Behlke, Marlaine Williams, Virginia Thompson, and Pat Hall. Twenty girls with their leaders, Mrs. Gay Hall and Mrs. Donald Crawford presented the program. The girls also created 120 tray favors for the patients, and presented them.

'Copter Future Rosy as Ever

Boy Who Started Firm at 19 Says Helicopter to Be Available to All

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UP)—When the 29-year-old "boy wonder" of the helicopter industry takes to dreaming, he conjures up a picture of unlimited horizons liberally specked with whirling 'copters of all sizes and shapes.

Stanley Hiller Jr., who made the world's first co-axial helicopter flight at an age when his contemporaries were more concerned about making a college fraternity, has lost none of his zest for invention in the past 10 years.

He admits that the business of running Hiller Helicopters, which he founded as a $1,000,000 corporation in 1942 when he was 19, has taught him to take a long look at his earlier ideas about putting a helicopter in every American garage.

However, he doesn't feel this long look is the same as a dim view.

Hiller Helicopters today has a $10,500,000 annual chunk of a U.S. industry that is grossing $150,000,000 a year. In its constantly expanding plant in Palo Alto, now employing 700, Hiller Helicopters turns out about one $38,000 plane per day.

The company produces three models of one production helicopter while building other types of experimental models and envisioning several others on the drawing boards.

The production helicopter features Hiller's revolutionary "rotormatic" control brought out in 1947. It permits fingertip control of the 'copter by means of two paddles which rotate in the same plane as the rotor blades and govern their path. It was this method of control that enabled Hiller to make his sensational stunt flights a few years back, flights in which Hiller would climb out of the cockpit and allow the plane literally to fly itself.

The Army model of this helicopter, called the H-23B, is the company's most important production model because the Army is Hiller's best customer.

Experimentally, Hiller, is flying the Hiller-Hornet, which is propelled by ram jets on the tips of the rotors. A realization of young Hiller's constant striving for simplicity in his planes, the Hornet presents the appearance of a helicopter without a source of power.

Certification of the ram jets is expected soon for the Civil Aeronautics Authority, and certification of the plane itself is anticipated before the end of the year.

Hiller says that acceptance of jet propulsion in helicopters opens up a whole new field in design. The support now given the industry by the Armed Forces means research can continue on a high level.

Aerial buses to carry 40 or 50, "or maybe 100," passengers over crowded urban areas are definitely a part of the helicopter's future, Hiller said.

And what about the modest-sized 'copter for the family garage? That too is coming, he added, but don't rush it. In the first place it's going to take some time before the cost of production of a helicopter can be brought down to "less than the price of a Cadillac," as Hiller predicts it will.

Public demand must precede large scale production for the consumer market, according to Hiller. Because of the long and costly "lead time" (time it takes to get a plane from the drawing board into production), the helicopter industry can't afford to fill showrooms with commercial models in hopes there will be buyers.

In addition, there are a myriad of social problems to consider—aerial traffic regulations, parking, licensing, etc.

But didn't Henry Ford solve a lot of these problems in the early days of the automobile simply by producing cars with the confidence they would sell? Yes, that's true, Hiller says, but for reasons of cost the helicopter industry will be slower.

"But the day is coming," he added with that same sureness that has turned so many dreams into the realities of helicoptering today.

Junior Police Being Organized in Waterford Township

WATERFORD TWONSHIP — A Junior Police department devised to acquaint township boys with the police department and gain the assistance of the youths in controlling the juvenile problem is under way.

Police Chief Frank VanAtta says the program will also include recreation for the boys under police supervision.

The township will be divided into precincts, and boys between the ages of 12 and 16 will be eligible to join.

Each precinct will have its own command officers and patrolmen. Command officers will be changed every three months to allow each boy earning a promotion to receive one.

Chief VanAtta said promotions will be based on attitude toward other boys, and cooperation given to parents, school teachers, and the police department.

CHIEF FRANK VANATTA

Each boy will have an identification card similar to that carried by regular police officers.

At the present time, 14 youths have signed up in precenct 1, which is the Cass Lake area. The boys meet every two weeks at the police office.

Plans are progressing for a second precinct in the Williams Lake area, with possibly four or five across the township eventually, if the plan is well accepted, Van Atta said.

Following organization of the groups, it is planned that juveniles getting into trouble will be placed unde rthe supervision of the precinct in which he lives.

The boys can belong to the group only so long as they keep a clean record, Chief Van Atta stated. "It does not mean that just because a boy has been in trouble he cannot belong, but once he has taken his oath, he must live up to it," he concluded.

Deep-Breathing Unhealthy for High Speed Jet Pilots

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP)—Suffering from dizzy spells due to hyperventilation? Chances are it won't be fatal—unless you're a jet pilot.

Hyperventilation is a comparatively new medical term. It affects many people. But fortunately, the medical profession won't have to come up with a new drug to combat it. All doctors have to do is to get the patient to breathe properly.

Hyperventilation is the term used by the medical profession to indicate a person is breathing too deeply and losing carbon dioxide too fast. That usually isn't anything to worry about, unless the deep breathing is prolong.

But in jet pilots, it's different. Fractions of a second often mean the difference between life and death. And by breathing too deeply during anxious moments, a pilot can induce a slight dizziness.

That's what the School of Aviation Medicine has discovered. Col. William H. Lawfon surgeon of the Flying Training Air Force, recently asked the school to look into the connection between hyperventilation and impaired performance of jet pilots.

The school, under direction of Dr. Robert T. Clark, Jr., devised a transparent box, about the size of a portable radio, to measure the amount of carbon dioxide exhaled and the oxygen inhaled by a jet pilot.

They are now making tests, comparing the amount of oxygen and carbon dioxide with the performance of a student pilot in tense situations.

Tests also will be made with pilots at Webb and Big Spring Air Bases, both in Texas.

The average person who suffers from hyperventilation need not worry much. About all he has to do is to resume normal breathing when he finds that anxiety has caused him to breathe unnaturally, inducing dizziness.

A person suffering from hyperventilation may have a tingling sensation in the fingers, slightly fogged vision and poor coordination. His breast will probably heave like that of an old-time movie vamp.

According to Air Force studies, the best and quickest cure is to stop worry and resume normal breathing. It's that simple.

May Level M24 Danger Spot

Broomfield Will Urge Widening With Hill Cut as Alternative

If funds can't be found to extend the planned widening of M24 to "Slaughter Hill," a mile north of Oxford, a proposal to level the treacherous dip will be made to State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler.

Oakland County's state senator, William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak), yesterday said he would take the problem up with Ziegler immediately after the holidays.

"If extension of the widening is out of the immediate picture, then I'll propose that quick action be taken to remove the dip and allow drivers clear visibility," Broomfield stated.

"The leveling cost should not be prohibitive and the work would probably have to be done anyway when the road is widened."

Broomfield's action came after he inspected the site. Residents of Lake Orion and Oxford have wired the governor asking that the situation be eliminated.

"I'm going to let the problem be known in Lansing and bring it before the State Senate's highway committee when the Legislature convenes Jan. 12," he said. "I'm convinced the widening should be done as soon as possible."

State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler has said his department doesn't have the money to extend scheduled improvements on M24 to the hill.

Oxford Village President Ted Pearson Jr. said today, "The people of Oxford are not unreasonable in their request to correct the highway death traps in our community.

"The state highway department answers our pleas by saying there is no money available. If there is money available for building beautiful expressways to speed up traffic, there certainly must be some method to produce revenue to correct conditions such as this and slow down our highway death rate."

He added that if funds cannot be allocated, safety devices in the area like large warning signs and blinking lights should be installed.

A long record of traffic deaths at "Slaughter Hill" was climaxed Dec. 5 when five Oxford residents were killed there in a headon collision, bringing the total to nine in the past year.

The highway department plans to widen M24 from two to four lanes from Opdyke to Lake Orion next spring. In answering a request from Oxford citizens that the widening be extended, Ziegler said the $500,000 needed to do the work is not available.

Check Your Car Carefully If Planning Long Yule Trip

Driving home for the holidays? If you're one of an estimated several thousand Pontiac residents planning to drive back to the old home town for Christmas, then you might be interested in a few tips to make that trip a little safer.

With snow blanketing most of the nation's northern half, highways and streets are likely to be slippery, while secondary roads are almost certain to be covered with ice and snow.

By taking a few simple precautions, however, you can greatly increase your chances of arriving safe and on schedule for Christmas with the folks back home.

Take your car, for instance. Is it ready for a trip of, say, several hundred miles?

Before undertaking a long drive, any time of year, you should have your car lubricated and the oil changed, plugs checked and tires gone over carefully for breaks or cuts.

For winter driving, it could be fatal to overlook windshield wipers, defrosters and particularly brakes.

If your car pulls to one side when you push the brake pedal, or if one wheel has a habit of grabbing when the brakes are reapplied, then a trip to the repair shop is in order.

It takes a mechanic only minutes to equalize your brakes, but unbalanced brakes could send your car into skid at any turn of the road.

Winter tires are almost a must if you have much back-road traveling ahead. If most of your trip will be on main highways, chances are you can get by with regular treads, but take along a set of chains or a box of sand. A small shovel is handy, too.

Other gear you'll want to check includes spare tire, jack and wheel wrench, in case you have a flat; a flashlight or electric lantern for emergencies, and a tow-chain or stout rope.

Don't forget to check your lights, too. Headlights, both bright and dim; tail lights, and turn signals should be in perfect condition.

If there's no one handy to help you, back up against a garage door or light-colored wall to see if the stop signals are working.

If your car has wheel skirts on the rear fenders, it's a good idea to remove them before starting on a long trip. Aside from making twice the usual trouble in changing a tire, they also form pockets that have a strong tendency to fill up with ice and snow.

And if you've noticed your heater doesn't seem to be making much headway against the chill weather, just stop at the corner gas station and have a high-temperature thermostat installed. It'll take about five minutes and cost up to $2.50, but you won't shiver any more.

Tomorrow—What you take along makes the difference between comfort and misery.

Story of Santa Helps Children in Development

DALLAS (UP) — A psychiatrist believes most children will be happier if they find out about Santa Claus themselves.

Preserve your child's faith until he reasons that it's not the be-whiskered gent but the spirit he represents that puts those gifts under the Christmas tree, says Dr. James S. May.

That way, May advises, your youngster won't be let down abruptly.

May, director of a child guidance clinic, thinks Santa Claus is mighty important to the younger crowd and should be handled deftly.

He offers these pointers:

When little Beauregard first asks, "Is there a Santa Claus?", he's usually worried and fishing for reassurance. Maybe he has spied two St. Nicks on the street or heard playmates' gossip.

Don't disappoint him at this point by blurting "No, there isn't any Santa Claus," or make him suspicious by dodging the question. Reassure him. Say something like, "Of course there is a Santa Claus. He means everything that's good."

"The child may want this reassurance one or two years. As long as you think he does, give it. Try to handle it in terms of what you think he knows."

As the youngster's reasoning develops, he will usually learn the answer himself and be mature enough to accept it. Now he wants to see what you'll say.

"When you see that's the case, don't ease him along any more. Tell him."

How?

"Be forthright. Tell him there is no real Santa, that it has been a game you've been playing. And you know he wouldn't want to spoil it for the younger children."

That should settle it, May says, with the child not hurt — and pleased because he came on the answer himself.

As a psychiatrist, May approves the Santa Claus myth if it is handled correctly.

"When used to give the child a concept of good will it is helpful. But Santa Claus should not be set up as a judge in the child's mind. You know what I mean: 'Be good, Johnny, or Santa won't bring you anything for Christmas'."

The psychiatrist says it could be tough on a child for his parents not to let him believe in St. Nick.

"It's so much a part of our cultural pattern the youngster who does not believe is on the outside," he says. "It is important for children to have things in common. And the more pleasant experiences the better prepared a child is to meet the inevitable unpleasant experiences of life."

Dr. May believes Santa Claus and Christmas help the child feel closer to his parents by sharing an enjoyable event.

Baptist Church Wedding Unites Area Residents

NORTH BRANCH — Marjorie Thompson became the bride of Donald Hagemeister in rites at the Baptist church at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Thompson. Mr. and Mrs. Basil Hagemeister are the parents of the bridegroom.

Planning School Party

LEONARD—The Leonard School Christmas party will be held Thursday at the school building, with the Leonard PTA furnishing the candy.

Bowling is one of the oldest of all sports, its origin being traced to the Egyptians of 5200 B. C.

Church Slates Service

TROY TOWNSHIP — The Troy Methodist Church will hold a candlelight service Christmas Eve from 11 p. m. to midnight.

There will be carol singing and special music by the church choir.

Romeo Youth, 16, Confesses Breakin

ROMEO—A 16 year old ninth grade student has admitted to police the Saturday night breakin of the Romeo High School. Nothing was taken.

He confessed entering the school two other times which went undetected. The youth betrayed himself to Police Chief Gordon Osgood and State Police Detective Ray McConnell when he said they would not find his fingerprints at the scene because he wore gloves.

Returned to his mother, the youth faced a hearing in Mt. Clemens Probate Court Jan. 11.

Ford of Canada Urged to Reopen Strike Talks

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) — The CIO United Automobile Workers said yesterday it has asked Ford Motor Co. of Canada to resume negotiations in an effort to settle a two-months-old Ford workers' strike.

Emil Mazey, UAW international secretary-treasurer, announced in Windsor and Brantford, where Ford Oakville workers met, that the union is "making efforts" to reopen negotiations.

Visit to Mother Proves Rougher Than Expected

POULTNEY, Vt. (AP)—It seemed just like another family visit when Robert Woodward, 36, and his sister Mrs. Viola Wetherby, 35, started out yesterday for the home of their invalid mother.

But as the dump truck in which they were riding with Paul Robbins approached the Woodward cottage it went out of control, struck a tree, bounded across the road and smashed into the house, lifting it from its foundation.

* * *

Inside the cottage, Mrs. Alice Woodward, 70, bedridden for the past two years, was hurled from her bed, knocking down another son, Ronald.

The elderly woman was taken to Sumner Nursing Home, where Dr. John Prednergast said she was suffering from shock and a knee injury but was in good condition.

The others escaped with minor bruises and a shaking up.

Still Counting Names on Censure Petitions

NEW YORK (AP) — Tabulation of petitions against the censure of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy still continues, sponsors of the drive report.

The group, "10 Million Americans Mobilizing for Justice," said yesterday volunteer workers are now sorting the signed petitions by states prior to tabulating a cumulative total.

The organization reported on Dec. 4 it had counted 2,287,143 signatures opposing the Senate censure of McCarthy. No later figures are available.

Tells of Cleanup Plan for Detroit Skid Row Area

DETROIT (AP) — Within the next few years Detroit's downtown skid row area along Michigan avenue may be replaced by luxury apartment buildings, a heliport, fashionable stores and a night-club row.

Charles A. Blessing, director of the city planning commission, said plans are being drawn up for the transformation, which he says could be completed within five years.

Requests already have been made to federal agencies for funds to condemn land in the skid row section, long a blight in the downtown area. Blessing said he hoped to obtain more than three million dollars in federal funds.

The skid row plan is being prepared for presentation to the Detroit council. The project also would include theaters, a hotel, parking garage and office buildings.

The heliport would enable helicopters to shuttle airline passengers from Willow Run Airport to the heart of Detroit.

Brooklands Slates Yuletide Gathering

BROOKLANDS — Traditional children's Christmas service will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the parish school of Gethsemane Lutheran Church.

Sunday school superintendent Elmer Grund and his staff will distribute gifts to all Sunday school children present.

The Christmas Eve midnight worship at the church will begin at 11 p.m., and one Christmas day service has been scheduled for 10:45 a.m. The regular church schedule will continue Dec. 26.

Yule Breakin Ruins Imlay Pupils Plans

IMLAY CITY—Christmas came and went last night, much too early for 26 pupils of the Webster school.

A theif broke into the school last night, and stole the priceless gifts the youngsters had toiled over for hours.

Mostly pot holds and tie racks for mothers and fathers, the gifts were slated for a surprise party Thursday night.

To make things even darker, the intruder took the school's Christmas tree, and the string of lights for it.

Asia's population ratio averages 77 persons per square mile.

Lapeer Woman Repeats Vows in Saturday Rites

LAPEER—Mrs. Margaret Armstrong Markwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay M. Armstrong of 707 Monroe St., became the bride of Stanford T. Crapo, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Crapo of Grosse Pointe Farms on Saturday evening, in the First Presbyterian Church.

The bride chose a street length dress of ice blue satin and carried flowers of red and silver ivy. She was given in marriage by her brother, Joseph A. Armstrong of Hammond, Ind.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Richard N. Hamme, of Ann Arbor and Mr. Hamme assisted the bridegroom as best man.

Seating the guests were Henry H. Crapo, brother of the groom and Carl Happ, of St. Clair Shores.

Mr. and Mrs. Crapo will be at home after Christmas at 10 Cumberland Road, Belmont, Mass.

Hotel Is Cited as Fire Hazard

State Police Assert Owner at Lake Orion Failed to Comply

Michigan State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs is attempting through Oakland County Circuit Court action to force a Lake Orion hotel owner to make changes in his building deemed necessary for fire protection.

In a bill of complaint, Childs states that Frank Dunaski, owner of the Veradee Hotel at 44-46 Broadway, was ordered to make structural changes and install additional fire-fighting equipment within 30 days after Dec. 28, 1953.

Dunaski has failed to comply, Childs asserts and the building "continues to be a serious fire hazard and dangerous to public safety."

The hotel operator was ordered to stop using the third floor for human occupancy or install an automatic fire detection system through the whole building.

He was also required to provide exit signs on the second and third floor, install additional fire extinguishers and change the design of several doors.

An order was issued yesterday for Dunaski to appear and attempt to show why the changes should not be made. No date has been set for hearing on order.

Hospital Given $80,200

DETROIT (UP) — A grant of $80,200 was awarded Grace Hospital today by the John A. Hartford Foundation, Inc., to finance research in surgery and development of a two-year family physician residency program. The foundation was established by Hartford, former president of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., before his death in 1951.

Something Fishy Here

WASHINGTON (UP)—Tape recordings of noises made by almost 200 species of fish have been gathered to assist Navy men who make underwater soundings in distinguishing such noises from the sounds created by vessels. The research was conducted by Dr. Marie Poland Fish, of the University of Rhode Island's Narragansett Marine Laboratory.

New Device Suggests Picture-on-Wall TV

NEW YORK (UP) — "Picture-on-the-wall" television screens have been suggested as a possible use of a new General Electric Co. development providing direct amplification of light without electronic tubes.

GE demonstrated its amplifying screen yesterday. A similar development was announced the day before by Radio Corp. of America but there has been no public showing of the RCA method.

For the GE demonstration, a phosphor - covered screen about four inches square was used. A faint image was then projected on the screen. This image grew several times brighter when an electrical field was applied to the screen.

In the GE demonstration, the image was produced in yellowish tones. However, Dr. F. E. Williams of GE said further developments will make it possible to control the color of the amplified image.

Anti-Leftist Group Formed in New York

NEW YORK (UP) — Hamilton Fish, a former Republican congressman from New York, has announced formation of a committee to fight what he called "domination of both major parties by leftwing internationalists."

Known as the American Political Action Committee, the group is dedicated, Fish said, "to exposing and combatting communism, Marxism, socialism, leftwing New Dealism, American handouts to foreign nations, one-worldism and super-internationalism."

"It will be directly opposed on a much larger scale to the Fabian socialistic policies of the Americans for Democratic Action," he added.

Wreck Ties Up NYC

MARSHALL (UP) — A gondola car in a 95-car New York Central freight train was wrecked Tuesday when a shifting load of steel coils overturned three miles east of Marshall. None of the train crew was hurt, but the wreck damaged tracks used by westbound trains, causing passenger train delays.

Robber Leaves Greeting

TACOMA, Wash. (UP)—A holdup man robbed a grocery of more than $300 last night and left a note wishing store owner Johnny Karangas "A Merry Christmas."

Chamber Plans Probe of Jet Air Base Shift

BEULAH (UP) — John Marshall, president of the Beulah-Benzonia Chamber of Commerce, says his group is investigating circumstances which led to selection of a site near Cadillac for construction of an eight-million-dollar jet Air Force base.

Marshall said the chamber wants to know why the Cadillac site was chosen over one in Homestead Township, Benzie County, which also was under consideration by the Air Force. He said the group is "gathering facts and investigating the circumstances surrounding the sudden switch in sites, and the manner in which it was accomplished."

Hold Auto Worker for Slaying of Wife

DETROIT (UP) — A 41-year-old auto worker was held for investigation of murder today in the fatal slashing of his wife, whose body was found in an alley.

Inspector Edward R. Reiley said he believed Mrs. Mary Burns was stabbed elsewhere and her body dumped in the alley. He said tests turned up traces of blood in her husband's car.

Reiley said the husband, Thomas had fresh scratch marks on his chest. A car answering the description of the husband's auto was reported in the alley shortly before the body was found last night.

Centenarian Dies

LUDINGTON (UP) — Joseph Brunk, who observed his 100th birthday last March 24, died here Tuesday at the home of his son-in-law, H. L. Alvesteffer. Brunk, a former lumberman, farmer and city employe, leaves 140 descendants. He had been bedridden the past 18 months.

Speeder Goes to Jail

Carl Budrow, 25, of 3262 Chenoa, Walled Lake, pleaded guilty to speeding yesterday and was sentenced to 10 days in Oakland County Jail when he failed to pay a $15 fine and $10 costs assessed by West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle.

Lily Pons Ridicules Rumors of Divorce

EL PASO, Tex. (UP)—Opera star Lily Pons left El Paso by train last night for Palm Springs, Calif., ridiculing reports she was here for a divorce at neighboring Juarez, Mexico.

With a smile, she told newsmen as she left that the rumors were a "dream of a New York newspaperman. Rumors of divorce simply aren't true."

There were reports while she was here that a divorce from her orchestra-conductor husband Andre Kostelanetz was in the offing.

Double Guard Ordered to Watch Seductive Spy

BERLIN (INS) — Irmgard Schmidt, the East German femme fatale convicted of spying for Russia, was kept under double guard today to prevent her using her techniques on a single guard.

Reliable sources said that American intelligence authorities instituted the two-man watch before Fraulein Schmidt's trial yesterday.

Insurance Branch Holds Annual Christmas Party

Yemen to Build Port on Red Sea

Call on U.N. for Advice to Construct a Harbor for Ocean-Going Ships

WASHINGTON—The Near East, where man built some of his earliest harbors, will soon add a modern port along the scorched shores of the Red Sea.

Yemen, the Arabian kingdom along the sea's southeast coast, has called on the United Nations for advice in constructing a harbor for ocean-going ships. At present Yemen possesses no such facilities. Freighters are obliged to anchor miles off Hodeida and transfer their cargo to small dhows. In two or three feet of water goods are again unloaded, this time into the arms of scantily clad Yemenis who wade ashore.

The United Nations responded by dispatching Captain Hans Hansen, a port expert, to help Yemen on site selection, letting contracts, harbor construction and training of operating personnel, says the National Geographic Society.

The port site is expected to be only 15 miles northwest of Hodeida along a low lying, sandy coast that must be improved by breakwaters. The project calls for expenditure of approximately $45,000,000. About two years' work will encompass erection of several warehouses as well as docks. Large-scale dredging will probably not be necessary at first, for the water there can already accommodate 6,000-ton freighters.

A modern road will be constructed from the new port to Hodeida, principal city of Yemen's hot lowlands.

Previously Yemen has depended largely on foreign ports for handling of her trade: Massawa in Eritrea, Port Sudan in Sudan, Djibouti in French Somaliland, and Aden in the Aden Protectorate. Consequently, Hodeida receives only 25,000 tons of cargo a year and Mocha, the city farther south that gave its name to coffee, even less.

The new port may boost Yemen's foreign trade to 125,000 tons a year, much of it in the kingdom's chief exports of coffee, dates, hides, wool, rock salt and grain or in its imports of oil, textiles and cotton.

Finnish-born Captain Hansen anticipates a stay in Yemen of almost a year. He estimates actual work could begin four months after letting of a contract. Last year he paid his first visit to the country to make preliminary surveys.

Captain Hansen thinks Yemeni will learn to handle cargo quickly under a training program, but he believes Arabic-speaking Egyptians must be brought in at first to act as foremen.

Employers Urged to Hire Older Men

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell says that unless employers hire more older workers half the nation's adult population may be unemployed by 1975.

Summarizing a year-long department study, Mitchell said last night the number of persons 45 years old and over is expected to increase nearly 40 per cent in the next 20 years.

"We have added many years to life expectancy but have not yet figured out what to do with the extra time," he said.

Almost Didn't Make It

DENVER (UP)—Police are hunting some burglars who almost didn't get away with $1,420 worth of silverware from the Acme Silver Plating Co. In lowering themselves through a skylight, the thieves barely missed a large vat full of a deadly cyanide solution, used in silver plating.

Expecting Testimony of Beach Heiress

CHARLOTTE (UP) — Mrs. John Beatty, a niece who inherited most of Fitch H. Beach's $500,000 estate, was expected to testify today at the resumption of an inquest into her uncle's death.

Municipal Judge Angus MacLeod, sitting as coroner, adjourned the inquest last Saturday.

Another witness expected to testify was Fred W. Beach of Chicago, a disinherited cousin of Fitch Beach. Fred obtained exhumation of the wealthy industrialist's body on grounds he believed death was due to poison. Fitch died in 1952. Cancer was listed as the cause of death.

Lansing Pathologist Dr. C. E. Black performed an autopsy on the body. Preliminary report on results of the autopsy attributed death to a kidney disease.

UM President Predicts Colleges Must Double

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Harlan Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, says that Michigan colleges must double in size to take care of coming waves of students.

Hatcher, speaking on a recent university radio broadcast, said that children born during World War II will boost enrollment in Michigan colleges to 200,000 by 1970—about double what it is now.

Otto John Finds Red Life Lonely

Former West German FBI Chief Among Ranks of Unemployed Now

BERLIN (AP)—Otto John, unemployed . . . That seems to be the status today of West Germany's former FBI chief who fled to the Soviet zone last July. He was a propaganda jewel for a few days. Now, he's a political white elephant.

East German sources say John, ex-head of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's top security office, is living in complete obscurity in Potsdam.

He is working on memoirs. The rent on his little house is paid by the East German Communist government. He has a pension to pay for his food and incidental expenses. A car and chauffeur are provided.

The Communists extracted every ounce of propaganda value possible out of John when he defected to the East. Then the East Germans searched around for ways to use him. Informants now say the search was fruitless, for these reasons:

1. He turned out to be sincere, however misguided, in his attacks on the West and was equally sincere in maintaining that this did not make him a Communist.

2. A high-tension intellectual, he demonstrated a stubbornness toward Communist methods and ideas that made him untrustworthy by Red standards.

The net result is that he is not allowed to make any public speeches nor are any of his writings being circulated. His work on his memoirs merely gives him something to while away the time without any sign the East intends to let them reach publication.

Draft Head's Yule Cards Give Recipients Chills

WASHINGTON (INS)—The word "greetings" comes naturally to Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey, but his latest use of it is giving some of his younger friends a momentary chill.

"The members of the staff of the Selective Service System join with me in sending to you greetings," says an official-looking announcement from the major general, whose "greetings" usually mean induction into the armed services.

But the statement quickly adds that these greetings are extended "at this holiday season" with "our very best wishes for the new year."

Despite Its Past Victories United Nations Is on Trial

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The United Nations faces a big and possibly historic test in its attempt to free the 11 American airmen sentenced to prison terms by the Chinese Communists.

It has successfully withstood two comparable tests in past years.

First came the Iranian crisis of 1946, then the Korean crisis of 1950.

Had the U. N. failed in these two tests it might not remain today a 60-member world organization.

In the present instance, the delegation to U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold of the task of trying to effect the release of the airmen is just a first move.

If Hammarskjold succeeds in his mission to Peiping, if he can get Chinese Premier Chou En-lai to set a reasonable price for freeing the airmen, the prestige of the U. N. will soar. If he fails, it will be up to the U. N. to take further action. It can not possibly let the issue drop.

Incidentally, Hammarskjold will try to negotiate for the freeing of all U. N. military personnel still held in violation of the Korean armistice.

There is an atmosphere of optimism at U. N. headquarters.

The resuts of the Iranian and Korean tests certainly were good.

Early in 1946, when the U. N. was less than seven months old, Iran complained to the U. N. that Russia was interfering in its internal affairs.

Russian and other Allied troops had occupied Iran during World War II. The Russian troops were still there, and the Kremlin had no idea of pulling out.

The dispute dragged on for months. Russia, under pressure, agreed to get its troops out. But it kept dragging its heels, and the U. N. Security Council refused the Russian demand that it drop Iran's complaint. In the end the Russians did get out, angrily, and they stopped their meddling in Iran's affairs. It was a momentous victory for the infant U. N.

Then came the Communist attack on South Korea in 1950, President Truman put United States forces into action. The United States took the issue to the U. N. The United States defense of South Korea became a U. N. defense. The United States, of course, bore the brunt of the war throughout. But 15 countries sent fighting men to Korea. In the end, the Russians took the initiative in proposing an armistice. The Korean crisis, too, was a victory for the U. N.

But despite its victories, the U. N. still remains on trial.

SANTA AND THE MARS KING

By Lucrece Hudgins Beale

AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 17
THE BIG STORM

Tom walked with the children of Mars in their golden palaces.

"Why do you not let your kings rule as kings should?" he asked.

The children laughed. "When people grow old enough to become kings they become blind and weak. You see for yourself. How can they rule?"

"What do little girls do when they grow up?" asked Tom.

"Oh, they go to school."

"School?" exclaimed Tom. "I do not understand this land at all. Everything is backwards. Children command. Kings obey. Mothers go to school. You even talk backwards!"

"You certainly would not expect us to go to school when we are children!" retorted the youngsters. "We are supposed to have fun when we are little."

"Why, you don't know what fun is," replied Tom. "In fact, you are not really children at all."

"We don't understand you!" snapped the children irritably. "Anyway, we are about to get rid of the kings once and for all. We are tired of their stumbling ways."

"What are you going to do?" asked Tom in alarm.

"We will put great heat to the golden mountain and it will melt and bury the kings in gold. Come along. You can see the fun."

* * *

The children dashed away. Tom watched them until they were out of sight. Then he set down the vacuum machine and pointed it carefully into outer space. He set the controls and checked the connections.

Then he pulled the switch and waited.

Meantime, it was Christmas Eve in Santa Land.

But it was not like any other Christmas Eve that had ever been before. Santa's reindeer would not fly and Santa could not make his rounds that night.

With head bowed Santa stood at the stable door. His bags, stuffed with gifts, lay beside him. His workers gathered glumly around. No one spoke. No one knew what to do.

Suddenly a breeze sprang up. It grew stronger and stronger. Soon it became a storm, and, finally, a tornado. The workers rushed for cover. The buildings shook. The reindeer cowered.

But Santa stayed at the stable door. He was no longer unhappy. He was smiling. He held tight to the door to keep from being sucked away by the wind.

He knew what the wind was. He knew it was caused by something on Mars. His eyes never left the skies. Soon he saw what he had been waiting for.

Twelve saucers were sucked one by one from the earth's sky. At one instant they could be seen whirling upwards and the next instant they were gone into outer space.

The storm lasted only a moment. Then, as quickly as it had come, it died away. The workers burst from their hiding places.

"Look! Santa is packing the sleigh!"

* * *

"Bring out the reindeer!" he shouted merrily.

"But—but!" protested the elves. "You've forgotten. The reindeer won't fly!"

"They will fly now. The flying saucers have gone for good. The reindeer have nothing more to fear."

The little folk cheered. They took the deer from the stable and hitched them to the sleigh. In some strange way the deer knew without being told that there was no more danger in the skies for them.

A moment more and they started on their rounds.

"The first stop—Mars!" cried Santa.

Best-Known Red Cap Dies at 60 in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Joe Banks, former head red cap at Union Station who was acquainted with many of the nation's important figures, died Monday night of a heart attack at Missouri Pacific Hospital. He was 60.

Banks retired as head red cap in 1952 and entered the station master's office as a clerk.

Among those he served and knew as a red cap were the late President Roosevelt, who once sent him his picture; Al Smith, who gave him a brown derby; former President Truman, who always called him Joe, and opera singers Enrico Caruso and John McCormack.

Once when a woman stopped Banks in the station and asked if he knew he was carrying the suitcases of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, he replied:

Real, Live Santa Claus Goes by Name of Mike

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—There's a 7-year-old boy here named Santa Claus. He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Claus, and his middle name is Michael.

His sister Wanda Lou, now 23, suggested the name Santa because there had never been anyone in the family with that name. Young Santa says he likes it all right but most people don't believe him so he just tells them his name is Mike.

He was born in Kilgore, Tex.

450-Pound Spouse Not as Advertised

BALTIMORE (AP)—The youthful-looking lonely hearts club photograph advertised the husband-seeker as 5-feet-4 and 118 pounds.

But when he met the woman, 62-year-old Herbert Jackson testified before a Circuit Court examiner yesterday, "she was about 450 pounds and is over six feet tall."

Jackson was awarded an absolute divorce from Bonnie Jackson, 54, after telling how his wife shot at him, scalded him and said he "didn't appreciate a fat woman."

The local steel worker said he knew he "was stuck bad," but he went through with the wedding. "She was too much for me," he added.

People With Pivot Teeth Suffer Silently in Public

By MARGARET LATROBE

It's a fact, I guess, that birds of a feather flock together. Even though the feathers may be of varying degrees of moult and unlikelihood.

Old football memories may bind men together for life. It may be Irish descent, politics, or rheumatism which forms the bond of shared experience.

Personally, I belong to the pivot tooth set, and no stronger alliance exists. We are different from our fellows, and not to be confused with the gold inlay crowd who, comparatively speaking, don't know what trouble is.

Those possessed of pivot teeth are set apart, particularly at a fried chicken dinner when the hostess glibly cries, "Now everybody eat with their fingers — we don't stand on ceremony!" Even at picnics we are reduced to knife and fork lest the favored tooth fall out.

A pivot tooth, for those fortunate not to know, is a storebought fang residing squarely in the most conspicuous front line of defense. It hangs precariously on a pin, fastened with questionable security upon the remaining part of the incisor. The originals have usually been lost in combat or accident. One slip on the edge of a swimming pool will do it. Brief encounter with baseball bat, door or other weapon will knock out the very tooth most prized and well-placed. Then comes the pivot.

Since few enjoy pointing out their own deficiencies, those in our club suffer silently for the most part, except in the dentist's office. Eventually we all recognize each other by our one-sided smiles, muffled speech or other inept attempts at concealment. For these boughten teeth do not perform as genteelly as advertised. They fall out.

With horrible accuracy a pivot-wearer can predict the hour when disaster will strike. It is usually just before your niece's wedding, at which smiles are obligatory. Or, if you are fool enough to have agreed to speak at the bingo club's annual dinner, that is the morning when the pivot loosens, falls in the sink and goes sweeping into the drain.

Our most trying moments are in the presence of others who have all their own molars. These thoughtless folk are wont to grab a handful of hard caramels, chomping away in unholy abandon while we sit by, glum and keenly aware that one false move toward the candy would send the pivot into fatal cahoots with the peanut brittle.

Well, that is life, as we say in our club.

2 Workers Turned Into Human Torches

ELIZABETH, N. J. (AP)—Screaming wildly, two men with clothing afire rushed out of the Army Steel Construction Co. plant into shopping crowds last night. Police and pedestrians grabbed them and snuffed out the flames with coats and a rug.

The men, John Valiga, 30, and Edward Lied, 23, were listed in fair or critical condition at Elizabeth General Hospital.

Their cloths had become soaked with a turpentine derivative while they were removing paint from steel plates. Lied's clothing burst into flames when he went to an oil stove, and Valiga's clothes caught fire as he tried to help Lied. The plant was undamaged.

Brown Still After 1st Win Over Lions

DETROIT (UP) — Studious Paul Brown, perhaps the most successful football coach of all time, doesn't want a thing for Christmas.

He'll take his present the following day—in the form of a victory over the Detroit Lions in the National Football League championship game in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium.

In a remarkable 25-year period, Brown has won 280 games while losing a mere 39 times. That's an amazing percentage of .877.

Brown has been an outstanding winner at Massillon (Ohio) High School, Ohio State, Great Lakes Naval Training Station and with the Browns.

• • •

But his record, gaudy as it is, lacks one big item: a victory over Coach Buddy Parker of the Lions.

The Brown-Parker series is a familiar story. They have met eight times and Brown is still searching for victory No. 1. His best was a 24-24 exhibition tie last year.

• • •

In the last two years, Parker's Lions have beaten the Browns in the NFL title game. They are favored by 2½ points to do it again.

Brown, a man of hard football facts, insists Parker holds no hoodoo, jinx or whammy over him. The Lions, Brown maintains, merely have played better football than his Cleveland team.

• • •

But the jinx, if you want to call it that, hasn't centered itself on Brown. It has hit quarterback Otto Graham, and with savage force.

The Lions and Browns have played four "money" games in the last three seasons—two during the regular season and two for the title. Detroit won each time. And in each of those games, Graham failed to pass for a touchdown.

Last Sunday, for example, Graham tried six passes and completed only one. Brown explained this strategy:

• • •

"We had the lead twice and, with all that snow on the ground, we tried to sit on that lead. It didn't work."

• • •

In contrast, Bobby Layne of the Lions tried 37 passes and completed 18—two going for touchdowns.

• • •

"We knew the ball would be dry," Parker said. "They use a different one on each play and keep it covered with a towel. So we relied on passing."

• • •

What'll it be this Sunday? No one knows, but you may be sure Graham will throw more than six passes, rain, snow or hurricane.

Maples Rally to Win

Birmingham rallied in the third quarter to come from behind, then beat down a Southfield surge in the fourth quarter to gain its 3rd victory in four basketball starts, 58-48, Tuesday night in the spacious Southfield gym.

It was the only prep game played in the county last night, but two other county teams ventured away from home — and probably wish they hadn't. Holly suffered a 70-42 drubbing at Grand Blanc and Clawson was laced by Center Line, 72-40.

At Southfield, Bob Watts' Bluejays trailed by five points in the second period, but pulled ahead on the sniping of Bob Evans, a sharp-shooting little guard, to take a 33-30 edge at halftime.

However, the Jays' shooting eyes failed and their free throw production went dry as Birmingham relied on balanced scoring to pull ahead.

Bob Goldsmith's 3-point play and a side set shot by Dick Sheldon put the Maples in front to stay about mid-way through the 3rd quarter.

Southfield rallied briefly in the 4th period to cut Birmingham's lead to four points, but Goldsmith's fast break basket and a pair of free throws by Bill Watkinson put the verdict in the bag.

Evans took scoring honors with 21 points. For Birmingham, Sheldon had 16, Ed Peters 14, and Watkinson 13.

Honored Again

Babe Zaharias Is Named Top Female Athlete

TAMPA, Fla. (UP) — "It really should go to God and my doctors."

Fast-talking Babe Zaharias slowed down when she came to those words after being told that for the sixth time she had won the female Athlete of Year award in the annual Associated Press poll.

The Babe was proud of her athletic achievements during 1954 but she's prouder still that she was able to win five major golf tournaments while still shaking off the effects of a serious operation for cancer 20 months ago.

• • •

"It sort of proves that if you have the desire to come back you can do it," and she meant this not for athletes but for fellow sufferers with cancer.

• • •

Then in typical Babe fashion she quipped:

"I'm real proud. I guess I really have a lot of friends among sports writers."

When she was reminded that sympathy played no part in selection of the top woman athlete, she added:

"This is a real honor—an honor not to be sneezed at. It's the biggest thrill since winning the Serbin Open at Miami Beach and will top the Serbin in my book.

"You know, it was in the Serbin that I proved to myself I could play golf again and win."

Detroit Lightheavy Gets Big Chance

DETROIT (UP)—Marty Marshall, newest member of the 'I Knocked Out Bob Satterfield Club," gets his big chance tonight.

The 29-year-old Detroiter, a struggling small-club fighter for nine years, meets Harold Johnson of Philadelphia in a nationally televised 10-rounder in Olympia Stadium. Johnson ranks second among the light heavyweights.

Mantle's Speed Not Confined to Baselines

PRYOR, Okla. (INS) — New York Yankee outfielder Mickey Mantle was fined $17.50 for speeding on U. S. Highway 69. He was clocked by police at 80 miles an hour.

His cousin, Max Mantle, also was fined $17.50 for speeding at 70 mph on the same road at the same time in his car. They were fined yesterday in Pryor, Okla., Justice Court.

Tigers Get 3-I Farm

TERRE HAUTE (UP) — Vern McMillan, vice president of the Terre Haute club of the Three-I league, announced yesterday the club will operate next season under a working agreement with the Detroit Tigers of the American League.

Swimmer Gets Nod as Canada's Leading Athlete

TORONTO (UP) — Marilyn Bell, a pretty, laughing-eyed Toronto swimmer who stroked her way into the hearts of millions and to international fame three months ago, is Canada's outstanding female athlete of 1954.

The freckle-faced 17-year-old blonde reached the heights of the aquatic world Sept. 9 when she became the only human to conquer frigid Lake Ontario between New York and Ontario. The 40-mile grind, completed in 20 hours, 56 minutes brought the plaudits of a nation and money and gifts totalling nearly $100,000.

Canada's sports editors and sportscasters added their tribute to the courageous teenager in the 20th annual Canadian Press year-end sports poll released today.

Perry, Van Brocklin Take Individual Honors in NFL

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Joe Perry of the San Francisco 49ers won the ground-gaining title for the second straight season and Norman van Brocklin of the Los Angeles Rams took passing honors in the National Football League this year, final loop statistics disclosed today.

Perry gained 1,049 yards in 173 attempts for an average gain of 6.1 yards. John Henry Johnson, also of San Francisco, finished second to Perry with 681 yards on 129 attempts for a 5.3 average. Paul Younger of Los Angeles was third with 610 yards and a 6.7 norm.

Van Brocklin took the passing laurels with 139 completions for 2,637 yards and 13 TDs. He completed 53.5 per cent of his passes and had 21 intercepted. Otto Graham of Cleveland, last year's passing champion, was second with 142 completed for 2,092 yards and 11 TDs. The Browns' ace had only 17 intercepted and compiled a 59.2 per cent completion record.

• • •

Third place in the passing division went to a rookie, Ed (Zeke) Bratkowski of the Bears with 67 completed for 1,087 yards and 8 TDs. He had 17 intercepted and a 51.5 per cent completion mark.

Navy's Mascot Sure of Place at Sugar Bowl

Room Shortage Isn't Bothering Bill for New Year's Game

NEW ORLEANS (INS) — There may be a shortage of hotel rooms for the throngs who are overflowing New Orleans for the Sugar Bowl game between Navy and Mississippi, but the Middies mascot, Bill XIV, was assured today of accommodations.

George Douglas, superintendent of the Audubon Park Zoo in New Orleans, said he has readied his finest quarters for the famed goat.

"We're delighted to have Bill as our guest," Douglas said, adding "we'll have him behind a 7-foot wire fence under 24-hour guard. Those rebels won't kidnap this kid."

Bill XIV is en route to New Orleans from Annapolis and is making the 1,100 mile journey with 7,500 pounds of Navy football equipment. He'll check into his new quarters Thursday.

No Outstanding Golfers?

That's Walter Hagen's View of Current Crop as Haig Reaches 62nd Milestone

DETROIT (UP) — It's been 10 years since Walter Hagen last swung a golf club but the former king of the links still follows the game closely and he doesn't need much prodding to reminisce about the days when he dominated the fairways.

Hagen, who celebrated his 62nd birthday yesterday, gave up golf during the mid-1940's without explanation but the thought of losing to a new generation of golfers was believed to have hastened his decision.

The reason for his retirement is his secret. How he got his start in golf is not a secret.

"I was about five at the time," Hagen recalled. "Pa used to play euchre with one of the men from the Country Club of Rochester (N. Y.) which was just down the lane from our place.

"The man always carried a long cleek on his visits to our house. One day he brought along three golf clubs. I broke a lamp, hit the man on the shins, put a few dents in the woodwork and lost a decision to ma."

From that start, Hagen rose to become one of the most successful golfers the world has ever known. He won the PGA crown five times, the British Open title four times and the U. S. Open championship twice.

"The Haig," was only 21 when he won his 1st major tournament—the U. S. Open at Chicago in 1914. In the three decades that followed, the fun-loving Hagen won more than 75 tournaments. His earnings were estimated at more than $1,000,000.

What does Hagen think about the present game and golfers?

"The game is a lot longer now than it was in my day," Hagen said. "That's due to better equipment. But there isn't one outstanding golfer now that Ben Hogan has quit the tournament trail. I'd say that Gene Littler and Pete Thompson have a chance to become outstanding golfers. But they'll have to work on their game to do it."

Police, Slaybaugh's and Rosa Teams Win Easily in Junior Loop

Lop-sided contests marked last night's City Basketball League Class D play at Eastern Junior High.

Police team won its 2nd straight victory, routing West Bloomfield Kiwanis, 77-20. Police, who led 37-3 at halftime, were led by Paul Emerson and Johnson, who collected 21 points each.

Irwin-Rosa Real Estate coasted to a 52-10 triumph over Hornets as Schwartz threw in 23 points. Slaybaugh's throttled the Hawks, 37-8, with Jim Albright scoring 11 points. Bad Cats forfeited their game to Elks to round out the card.

Two Quintets Collide Tonight for Title in All-College Test

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP) — San Francisco, which surprised everyone with an amazingly well-balanced basketball team, and George Washington, the nation's No 8-ranked quintet, will meet tonight for the championship of the 19th annual all-college tournament.

The teams from opposite ends of the country come together in the oldest of all holiday tournaments.

San Francisco ran over Oklahome City University 75-51 and George Washington turned back Tulsa 66-61 in the semifinals Tuesday night. The two losing clubs meet in the first game of today's doubleheader for third place.

Fisheries Workers Ask Increased 'Gill Limit

LANSING (UP)—Michigan fisheries workers recommended Tuesday that a creel limit of 25 instead of 15 fish per day be established on bluegills.

Fred A. Westerman, state fisheries chief, said the present daily limit of 15 is "unnecessary."

Next to yellow perch, the bluegill is believed to be the most numerous of all species found in Michigan waters.

Lessie Watkins was high for Washington with 14 points.

Defending City Junior High Basketball League champion Eastern won its 2nd straight start yesterday afternoon, dumping Wever, 45-18.

Jim Skinner paced the victory with 20 points, while Ken McClintock added 13. Eastern's starters played less than half the game.

Washington, beaten by Eastern in overtime last week, was involved in another extra-session battle Tuesday. Braves won this time, edging Jefferson 35-29.

West - Siders overcame a 23-17 3rd-quarter deficit in the 4th period and tied the score at 27-all on two free throws by Alex Whitlock in the final 15 seconds. Dick Whitmer scored four of Washington's eight points in the overtime period.

Maple Tankers Win

Birmingham High School won its second swimming meet in three tries Tuesday by downing Ferndale, 52-32, in the Ferndale pool. Jay Lewis swept the 50 and 100-yard free style events for the Maples, while Denny Ford of Ferndale won the 100-yard breast stroke and 150-yard individual medley.

While playing for the Cincinnati Redlegs in 1949, Walker Cooper made six hits in seven times at bat during one game. Three of the hits were homers.

Captain Talbert Predicts 5-0 Davis Cup Win for Americans, Says Trabert, Seixas Are Sharp

SYDNEY, Australia (UP) — The war of nerves between rival Davis Cup Captains Billy Talbert of the United States and Harry Hopman of Australia continued unabated today.

• • •

This time it was Talbert's turn to take the offensive.

"I think we will shut them out, 5-0," cheerfuly opined Billy, while reporters gasped.

Talbert, himself an ex-cupper, made his ambitious forecast just five days before the challenge round, and it came after he watched Tony Trabert and Hamilton Richardson give impressive demonstrations at White City.

"Trabert is playing so well, I can't see how anyone can beat him," Talbert continued. "Vic Seixas also is at his keenest and his only problem will be to break his long-time jinx against Ken Rosewall."

• • •

The dark-haired little Aussie ace has beaten Seixas eight times in a row in the past couple of years and for all intents and purposes "owns" Vic. This will be a big psychological advantage for Rosewall.

• • •

"We know how many times Rosewall has beaten Seixas," Talbert said. "But we also think we have found a flaw in Ken's armor. I am sure that Vic has found the answer to the problem this week.

"Our surest point is in the doubles. We have the greatest doubles team in the world."

• • •

Aussie leader Hopman is on record as predicting a 4-1 victory for his team. He has given Trabert a chance to win one singles and concedes America an equal chance in the doubles.

Talbert said his optimism was based on both the excellent showin of his own team in recent weeks and the apparent slump of Lewis Hoad, the Aussies' No. 1 player.

Herb Smith Replaces Zarza as Wayne Football Coach

DETROIT (UP)—Wayne University, a college of 17,296 enrollment and an average football gate of 850 this year, dropped another notch down the big time football ladder yesterday by firing its head football coach, Lou Zarza.

The move apparently was a compromise between no football at all, which Wayne's president Clarence Hillberry ardently promoted recently, and big time football, which failed miserably.

Zarza, a $10,000-a-year man who Smith calls a "big time" coach, says he knew his days "were numbered" when Wayne embarked on a new "president's conference" last Saturday with three Cleveland schools — Western Reserve, Case Tech and John Carroll.

The conference demands that coaching duties be handled by regular faculty members as part of a teaching assignment, thus deemphasizing football to the utmost and leaving Zarza jobless as he is not an instructor but a coach.

Smith, on the other hand, said "I don't believe in big time football. I don't have the know-how to handle it and I think we can be happier by putting the game on a small time basis."

Oddly, Smith, who receives $7,920 yearly for his services, gave up the coaching job in 1948 to Zarza after handling it on a 1-year basis. He formerly coached Detroit's Cooley High School and accepted the Wayne job on a temporary basis.

Zarza, formerly considered by the Ottawa Roughriders in the Canadian Football League for coaching duties, said, "I'd have had to take a 1-year contract with Ottawa and turned that job down. I don't have one prospect now and the only thing I was interested in at Wayne was to make sure my contract doesn't expire until April 27."

Illini Romps to 6th Straight Cage Victory

Buckeye Five Falls From Unbeaten Ranks; Freeman 'Held' to 23

CHICAGO (UP)—Illinois, the nation's No. 3 team, rollicked to its sixth straight victory Tuesday night and remained the only unbeaten team in the Big Ten as Ohio State's Buckeyes fell before California.

• • •

The Illini were never in trouble as they smashed Rice, defending champion in the Southwest Conference, 86-54. Little Bill Ridley and Bruce Brothers led the attack with 16 points each.

For the first time this season Ohio State failed to score at least 90 points and was beaten by California, 74-63.

Robin Freeman, Buckeye ace who has been averaging 40 points a game this season, was held to 23 points by a doubled-up defense.

• • •

Purdue rolled to its fourth straight victory and sixth in seven games by drubbing Washington of St. Louis, 72-44. The Boilermakers have been beaten only by Penn, a club which also holds decisions over Iowa and Michigan State.

• • •

Indiana's defending Big Ten champions continued their fumbling ways and were beaten by Kansas State 91-74. It was Indiana's fourth setback of the season. The Hossiers lost only four games all last season, including play in the NCAA tournament.

• • •

Minnesota evened its season record with its second victory in four games. The Gophers, led by Chuck Mencel and Dick Garmaker, downed Southern Methodist, 89-72.

LaSalle Meets Kentucky Team in Tournament

Explorers Take 49-38 Victory Over Trojans; 'Cats Edge Utah

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UP)—LaSalle's Tom Gola and Co., out to regain top spot in the national cage rankings, gets a crack tonight at Kentucky, the new favorite of Associated Press pollsters.

The Explorers made a move in the right direction Tuesday night when they disposed of Southern California, 49-38, in a first-round game of the University of Kentucky's Invitational tournament.

Kentucky followed suit by scoring a hair-raising, 70-65, decision over Utah, whose 79-69 verdict Saturday night over LaSalle caused the Explorers from Pennsylvania to slip to fourth place in the ratings.

Utah, which impressed 10,000 mostly partisan Kentucky fans by the way it went after the Wildcats, engages Southern Cal in tonight's consolation game, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. (CTS).

The Kentucky-LaSalle showdown follows at 9:25 p.m.

The evening's action, however, is anticlimatic to that served up in the first round. The luck of the draw pitted the nations' top basketball giants, No. 1 Kentucky and No. 2 Utah. And the game was all that it was advertised to offer.

Wolves Still Hold Own in Michigan

As of Nov. 30, trappers had collected bounties on 23 wolves, the department said. Trappers collected bounties on 27 wolves during each of the last three years.

Walker Returns to Cards in Swap With Mike Ryba

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Dixie Walker returns as a coach for the St. Louis Cardinals next spring in a swap of jobs with Mike Ryba who will replace him as manager of the Texas League Houston club.

Redbird Manager Eddie Stanky, who made the announcement Tuesday, said Coaches John Riddle and Bill Posedel will be retained.

Three for Kurtz

MIAMI (UP)—Jockey J. Kurtz rode three winners at Tropical Park Park Tuesday. He won with Ultimatum $12.60 in the first race, Ace Captain $9.30 in the eighth and Safio $14.20 in the ninth.

Experiment Proves Deer Are Crafty

LANSING (UP) — Here's proof the deer is a crafty one:

"These men were all good hunters," S. C. Whitlock, game research chief, said "and the deer were inside a fenced area. It simply shows how difficult the deer can sometimes make this business of deer hunting."

Furgol Selected for Ben Hogan Golf Award

NEW YORK (INS) — National open champion Ed Furgol will receive the Metropolitan Golf Writers' Association Ben Hogan trophy, awarded annually to a golfer who has overcome physical handicaps.

Furgol, whose left arm is much shorter than his right as the result of a childhood playground accident, will receive the award—announced last night—at the writers' annual dinner Jan. 27. Babe Didrikson Zaharias was the 1st recipient last year.

Split Arranged for Lions' Playoff Fund

DETROIT (UP) — Players, coaches and a trainer will receive 41½ per cent of the Detroit Lions 1954 world's championship playoff fund, it was announced today.

Lions general manager Nick Kerbawy said a full one per cent share would go to each of the 33 players, the five coaches, the trainer and equipment manager. Voted a half share was defensive halfback J. Robert Smith. In addition, Dick Kercher, sidelined with an elbow injury, was voted a full share.

Bannister-Landy Race 'Thrill of Year'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Whirling into the final 100 yards of the "Mile of the Century"—featuring the only two runners ever to break the four-minute mile—Australia's record - holding John Landy led Britain's Roger Bannister in the climax event of the British Empire Games at Vancouver.

Landy had been in front almost all the way and seemed headed for victory in the greatest mile ever before a packed crowd of 35,000 in the sun drenched stadium. He peeked to the left to see where the Briton was and in a flash the long striding, tall, slender Bannister passed him on his right.

"I looked back on the inside," said Landy afterwards, "and just then he passed me on the outside. I shifted into high gear but I couldn't catch him."

The 25-year old, 6-1 Bannister—1st man to crack the four-minute mile barrier—breasted the tape four yards in front of Landy as the two both finished in less than four minutes, another track 1st. Bannister was timed in 3:58.8 and Landy in 3:59.6.

The race matched the studious Englishman who made headlines around the world when he ran the 1st four minutes or better miles—a 3:59.4 performance at Oxford, England, on May 6—and the Australian student-teacher who broke Bannister's record with an electrifying 3:58 run at Turku, Finland June 21.

The Bannister-Landy mile was named the high spot of the year by 21 of 117 sports writers and sportscasters, while another 18 thought Bannister's pioneer sub-four minute performance in the quiet of Oxford was 1st.

The thrilling feats of the giants in the World Series rated the next places. Third place went to the exciting pinch-hit clouting of Dusty Rhodes in the 1st three games, 4th to the Giants' four game sweep of the Indians, and 5th to Willie Mays' incredible back-to-the plate catch of Vic Wertz' 450-foot drive in the opening game of the series.

Then came the great offensive football battle between the Army and Navy and won by Navy 27-20 after a 21-20 half.

Spartan 5 Tested by Strong DePaul

EAST LANSING (AP)—De Paul of Chicago, one of the strongest squads in the Midwest, is the Michigan State basketball opponent at East Lansing tonight.

Guard Jim Lamkin is the main scoring threat. Going into this season, Lamkin had 1,088 points, 2nd only to the great George Mikan in De Paul history.

Loss of George Ferguson, sophomore forward, is seen as a blow to MSC chances. Ferguson put in 14 points against Pennsylvania. He has been declared ineligible because of scholastic troubles.

Conference Set to Arrange for Hockey Tourney

A meeting of all managers or team representatives of hockey teams entering the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's junior hockey tournament will be held tonight at 7 p.m. in the department's offices at 35 Hill street.

Team members must not reach their 19th birthday by March 1, 1955 to be eligible. Games will be played during the Christmas holidays at the North Side Rink.

Ice Fishermen Find 'Gills, Bass Biting

By JACK PATTERSON

Any grumbling you might have heard about the cold weather of the last few days didn't come from ice fishermen. Near-zero nights have added a comfortable substance to ice on nearby waters and most local lakes are now fishable, but ordinary precautions should still be observed. Watch it particularly around marshy shores or near inlets and outlets.

PATTERSON

Bass are responding rather well to small minnows on tip-ups, but we haven't been able to find much activity from pike to date.

If this doesn't turn out to be a banner year for ice activities, both below and above the surface, it won't be because people aren't trying, according to local sporting goods operators who report they've had a real run on all sorts of ice gear. In fact depleted shelves in all departments of the stores are quite the order of the day, which brings us to part two of today's lesson: Advice to wives and other interested parties on last-minute Christmas shopping details for sportsmen.

Outdoorsmen are at once the easiest and the hardest critters to buy presents for. Easy because there is such a multiplicity of gear designed for every outdoor sport; hard because every sportsman is apt to have profound likes and dislikes in regard to the tools of his avocation.

Fortunately there exists a ready-made gimmick which reconciles these mutually exclusive propositions—the gift certificate. A boon to the laggard shopper and harrassed clerk alike, the gift certificate may be used either for a specific purchase or as a specified amount for the recipient to fritter away as he sees fit.

Gift certificates are not limited to merchandise as we ordinarily think of it either. Any airline with southbound routes will be only too happy to oblige if you'd like to get rid of the old grouch for a week or two and ship him off to one of the better southern fishing spots. Who knows? He might appreciate the gesture so much he'll take you along with him.

If you want to go whole hog in this department, and can spare the old pot for a month, there's still time to get him on a fishing trip to Chile leaving the latter part of January.

The inclusive cost is a couple of spring hats under two G's and we'll leave it up to the individual to decide whether or not catching big rainbows and browns in some of the world's choicest scenery is worth it.

Be that as it may, we'd like to offer those loyal readers who suffer through this column with us best wishes for a very Merry Christmas.

Titans' Goldstein Proves 'Little Man' Is Still Useful

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Detroit's Ralph Goldstein, the only under-6-footer among the Missouri Valley's top 10 scorers, is proving that the little man still is useful in basketball.

At 5-feet 11-inches, Goldstein is like a sprout among trees compared to the other top scorers. The next "shortest" man is Cleo Littleton of Wichita, who is 6-3½ but has arms longer than most 6-6 players.

Seven-foot Don Boldebuck, Houston's transfer from Nebraska Wesleyan, dropped in 58 points during a two-game series with Detroit to keep his average over the 30-point mark.

But Detroit gained a split in the second game, 83-80, as Goldstein led the Titan scoring with 20 points and climbed to No. 5 in Valley scoring at 16.4.

A check of starting lineups and rosters shows you how rare the under-6-footer is. There are only three little men among 30 starters in the Valley, and just 13 out of 107 are listed on rosters.

Detroit has two of the three regulars — Goldstein and 5-foot-10 Dan Halling. The other is Fred Babb of Oklahoma A & M, who is 5-9.

* * *

Goldstein scored 343 points and Halling 305 last year as a sophomore-guard combination. That put them second and third behind Guy Sparrow in Detroit scoring.

Sparrow has hiked his aveage to 21.3 this season and Tulsa's Bob Patterson is up to 25.0, but Boldebuck, the Nebraska boy who never played high school basketball, is having things his way. He's averaging 30.2.

Spartans Lose 5-4

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo (AP)—Colorado College battled its way to a 5-4 Western Intercollegiate Hockey victory over Michigan State last night in a game marred by 22 penalties.

Bunt Hibchik's 3-goal hat trick gave the league-leading Tigers their third straight conference victory.

International Bout Set

BANGKOK (AP) — Orient welterweight champion Somdej Yontrakit will fight British welterweight Wally Thom in a 10-round bout here Jan. 16, it was reported today.

Thom, listed by Ring Magazine as the 10th ranking welterweight contender in the world, is expected here early next month.

Blue Team Boasts Two Top Passers and Nine Receivers

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Southern linebackers can plan on a busy Christmas if they expect to knock down a fair percentage of Yankee aerials in the Blue-Gray football game.

The North has nine expert receivers who specialize in pulling down the hard-to-get passes. The Yanks also have two of the nation's top passers in Missouri quarterbacks Vic Eaton and Tony Scardino.

All five of the Northern ends and four of their halfbacks are experienced pass catchers. This gives the passers at least four good targets to throw at on almost any play.

Among the ends, Notre Dame's Paul Matz had the most impressive record last season with 16 catches for 256 yards.

But the North isn't depending entirely on aerials to defeat the Confederates for the first time since 1948. Their ground offensive is rated as strong as any ever brought south of the Mason-Dixon during th 16-year history of the intersectional rivalry.

The game, which starts at 2 p.m. (CST) Christmas Day, will be televised (NBC) for the first time.

'Midget' Cager Is Power for Columbia

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Lou Rossini of Columbia's Ivy League Lions prefers his basketball players six feet or taller but if he can get a midget who averages better than 3 points a game he'll take him.

Kennedy Is Loser on Split Decision

DETROIT (AP) — Welterweight Jimmy Perrault of St. Paul, Minn., took a split decision from Alan Kennedy of Bay City last night in a 6-round bout at Motor City Arena.

Kennedy forced the fighting all the way in the co-feature bout, but Perrault's sharp-stabbing left hand enabled him to pick up a slight edge. There were no knockdowns. Perrault weighed 149¼ and Kennedy 148½.

Buckeyes Plan 2 Drills Today

Coach Hayes Taking Advantage of Warm California Sun

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Ohio State Buckeyes scheduled two workouts today as Coach Woody Hayes took advantage of a hot sun to work out the muscle kinks of his squad.

The Bucks are going through their drills behind locked gates at the East Los Angeles Junior College stadium. This was the last two-a-day drill for the Big Ten champions, but the Ohioans will work out Christmas morning while their Rose Bowl opponents, the Southern California Trojans, stock up on turkey at Los Angeles' select Town House.

Ruth Connolly Wins in Red Pin Classic

Yankee Left Signs

Denies Suicide Try by Maxene Andrews

CHATSWORTH, Calif. (UP)—Maxene Andrews of the singing Andrews Sisters, treated yesterday for what police called an overdose of sleeping pills, took them accidently says her sister, LaVerne.

"Maxene loves life too much to end it," said LaVerne, adding that her sister was "completely exhausted" from a recent tour through Australia with LaVerne. Neighbors quoted Maxene as saying she took the pills because she was despondent, police said.

Marla English Will Star in 'Desert Sands'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — There's been no more publicized girl in our town than Marla English. She was signed by Paramount and then never made a picture there. The only picture she made was "Sheild for Murder" for Aubrey Schenck, and he likes her well enough to put her opposite Ralph Meeker in "Desert Sands." This is a story of the modern French Foreign Legion which will be produced by Howard Koch in association with Schenck.

Meeker, by the way, has become quite the ladies' man. In one week he dated Gaby Rogers, Lori Nelson and Maxine Cooper. But maybe this is because his most serious romance, Marian Carr, was in New York. She's back now.

They're all at work on "Soldier of Fortune"—Clark Gable, Susan Hayward, Gene Barry and the rest. They were joined today by Tom Tully, and let me tell you about Tom.

He played the first skipper in "Caine Mutiny," and they have every reason to believe that he will be nominated for a best supporting role when the time comes to nominate the prospective Academy Award winners.

Tom is also very good as the professor on Danny Thomas' TV show. In other words, he's a good, good actor.

The French have chosen John Wayne, Marlon Brando, Ava Gardner, Janet Leigh, and Danny Kaye.

Raoul Bertrand, French consul general, presented the citation to Janet Leigh last week, and will present the others this week. Wayne was a big No. 1 with French audiences.

This story might never have come to light if Raft had not put his $175,000 Coldwater Canyon home on the market for sale. When George built the house many, many years ago he was deeply in love with Virginia Pine and believed he might get his freedom to marry her. The beautiful bedroom he furnished for her still has her name on the doorplate—and no one has ever used it.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Julie Harris is expecting a baby. From London I hear that everyone likes her husband and Julie is no longer the shy flower since her marriage.

Jon Hall and Linda Danson soaking up the desert sunshine at Howard Manor in Palm Springs. Linda says that Jon is the only man in the world for her.

Elaine Stritch lost the magnificent engagement ring and Christmas present Gig Young gave her. She lost it Christmas shopping and hasn't had a trace of it, and she couldn't be sadder.

Governor Knight's pretty daughter Marilyn, and her husband, Bob Eaton, were at the holiday season party given by Arlene Dahl and Fernando Lamas.

Ann Miller and her best beau, William O'Connor, looked very happy, as if they were sharing a secret — and I happen to know they are.

George Gobel and Jack Carson, who have appeared together on their respective TV shows, are having conferences about co-starring in an independent movie.

Mrs. Edmond Purdom invited a few friends in to say au revoir to Norma Shearer and Marty Arrouge who go to Sun Valley for Christmas and then on to Europe.

Jimmy Stewart's father, Alexander Stewart, and his bride arrive tomorrow by train from Washington, D. C., to spend the holidays with Gloria and Jimmy.

SO THIS IS PARIS — Gloria De Haven looks like this as a Parisienne cabaret star, singing and dancing "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby" in "So This Is Paris." The upcoming Universal-International musical co-stars Tony Curtis, Gene Nelson and Corinne Calvet.

Show Business

20,000 People Taste Jazz, Opera, Ballet Served in Hollywood Bowl

By EDDIE CANTOR

Did you ever have a bowl of something so good that you smack your lips when you think of it? That's what happens whenever I get a helping of ballet—jazz—opera—or any of the entertainment that's dished up in the Hollywood Bowl.

It's the world's best, which is fitting for the world's most spectacular open-air theater. Twenty thousand people sit in the lap of a mountain. Nature lends a lavish hand, and there's no more breathtaking sight than an evening performance—tall trees towering all around, and gleaming stars spilling across the purple ridge of the mountain.

As sparkling as any of the stars overhead are those on stage. Just mention anybody in the field of show business—I'm sure they've appeared at the Bowl: Al Jolson, Fred Astaire, Eddie Fisher, Arthur Rubenstein, Jose Iturbi, Frank Sinatra, Leopold Stokowski, Peggy Lee, Edward G. Robinson, Lily Pons, Stan Kenton's Orchestra, Marian Anderson, Liberace, Hazel Scott, Barbara Ann Scott, the skater.

When Eddie Fisher played at Hollywood Bowl, he commented, "One thing about playing here—if I don't make good I can sneak out the back, hide in these woods, and nobody will ever find me." The Fisher lad had no cause to worry. Over 20,000 people jammed the Bowl and gave him the biggest thrill of his life.

I sat with Irving Berlin, and Irving beamed when Eddie finished the program with "God Bless America" in which the entire audience joined.

The biggest hit the bowl has had in years is—you guessed it, Liberace. What a smile this guy has! His ivories sparkle more than the piano keys! Groucho Marx once said, "Liberace is the only man I know who has three hundred teeth and shows all of them."

The Bowl was the setting for the marriage of orchestra conductor, Percy Grainger, and some years ago, the birthplace of a child. One of the avid concert patrons couldn't resist her night at the Bowl, even though the time for her baby's arrival was close—how close she didn't know until she was forced to the shell under the orchestra, and there, to the strains of Bach and Beethoven, her baby was born.

The Bowl executives were very nice about it—didn't charge the baby admission—said he came in on his mother's ticket! Can you imagine that kid in school, being asked where he was born? He was probably called a fibber every time he answered, "The Hollywood Bowl."

Average American Works Third of the Day for Taxes

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

NEW YORK (INS)—If you punch the time clock every morning at 8 a.m., when do you start earning your living?

Hang on to your hats, fellow workers, you start at 10:36 a.m. or just about 2½ hours later.

Up to that time, you've been paying taxes—both direct and indirect. With the 5½ hours left, you get to earn the wherewithal for food and housing and transportation and medical care and "other goods and services."

Who says all this? Why, the Kentucky Tax Research Association of Louisville—and they based their studies on "Mr. Average" who works an 8-hour day and earns $4,500 per year.

They reckoned up a whole lot of factors, and before they announced their startling results, I'm sure they worked straight through from 10:36 a.m. for quite a long time.

Their economic educational bit just happened to hit my eye shortly after I'd seen another bit, also about economics, and also educational, but this time from Buffalo, N. Y.

"Third of Workers Unhappy" was the headline over the report I read, and it went on to expand this flash.

The report was described as a "new scientific study presented to the American Public Health Association" by Dr. Lawrence H. Hinkle Jr. and Dr. Norman Plummer, both assistant professors of clinical medicine at Cornell University Medical College at New York Hospital.

The study was based on health records of two groups of industrial workers, the doctors stated, and the records spanned about 25 years of employment. Minor illnesses and major were recorded, accidents on and off the job, surgical operations, disabilities.

"The presence of good health or poor health during an adult life," they concluded, were closely tied up to an individual's relation to his environment.

"Health, happiness and satisfaction with the job were related," they said, "as were unhappiness, poor health and job dissatisfaction."

"What a coincidence," I thought.

Coincidence that this press report from Buffalo should have caught my eye one morning at 10:36 or so, just a short while after I'd come across and clipped out the other item from Louisville about "Mr. Average."

How could Mr. Average, I wondered, feel "health, happiness and satisfaction with the job" if he stopped to think about that 2 hours, 36 minutes off the top of the bottle every single morning, for direct taxes or indirect taxes?

The wonderful thing, of course, is that Mr. Average doesn't really take time to stew over them at all.

And neither does Mrs. Average. They may both know those taxes are perched right up there on the top of the machine or the typewriter, saying an unheard "Good Morning" every single day—but they manage the great trick of remaining reasonably healthy, happy and satisfied with the job just the same.

Two thirds is lots more of "Mr. and Mrs. Average" than one third—and the doctors say "one third of workers unhappy."

Unless, that is, any scientist, researcher or doctor is going to think that grousing and griping over taxes isn't the nice average thing to do!

New Ranger Twice Size of Old Carrier

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—The super carrier Ranger, under construction here, could take two carriers the size of the old Ranger on her deck.

The last Ranger, the first ship ever constructed from the keel up as an aircraft carrier, was completed in 1934 and scrapped after outstanding service in two oceans during World War II. The name Ranger is a famous one in naval history, the first being commanded by John Paul Jones.

The new Ranger, of the Forrestal class, was started in one dry dock and after the mid section is finished it will be moved to another dry dock. This will advance construction at least six months by avoiding the wait for the Forrestal to be completed in the larger dry dock.

Grains Static in Slow Trade

CHICAGO (AP) — In a slow trade grain prices stayed pretty close to previous session closing prices on the Board of Trade today.

At the opening most cereals were a little lower with oats a prime exception. December oats again got off to a strong start. This was the last day for trading in all December futures.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅛ to ⅜ higher, December $2.28⅛; corn unchanged to ¼ lower, December $1.52⅞; oats unchanged to ⅜ lower, December 82; rye unchanged to ½ lower; December $1.12; soybeans unchanged to ⅝ lower, January $2.82½; and lard 8 to 30 cents a hundred pounds lower, December $13.30.

Locomotives, Boats Feel Radar's Pinch

FOND DU LAC, Wis. (UP)—Motorists are used to radar-equipped traffic police, but the new speed detection units are now hunting law-breakers on water and rail.

The Fond du Lac police department flags down speeding motorboat operators on Lake Winnebago and it plans to use radar to get the goods on locomotive engineers who race their giant vehicles through the city.

Mayor Edwin F. Weis said the city always has had a speed limit for boats in the harbor, but it has been difficult to tell how fast the craft were going.

"But now with radar, we can tell exactly how many miles an hour they are making," he said.

Poultry

DETROIT POULTRY

DETROIT, Dec. 22 (AP)—Prices paid per pound f.o.b. Detroit for No. 1 quality live poultry up to 10 a.m.

Heavy hens 18-20, tight hens 11; heavy roasters (over 4 lbs) 25; heavy broilers or fryers (2½-3½ lbs): Whites 22, gray crosses 26, Barred Rocks 26½-27; capons-ettes (5-6 lbs) 27-29½; geese 25-27; heavy ducks 25, light ducks 20-23.

Breeder turkeys, young heavy type hens 33-36, toms 24-26; small type (includes Betlsville whites) hens 34, toms 25.

Market steady on heavy hens. Receipts moderate and barely ample to a fair demand. Light type hens not wanted. Fryers in light supply and fair demand. Roasters in light supply and demand generally displaced by caponettes. Heavy supply of caponettes moving good. Ducks in fair demand and geese in short supply. Few swan geese taken in at 19 cents.

Turkeys: Market unsettled to weak. Supplies liberal to excessive and freely offered. Demand fair with best interest on desirable small hen turkeys, but overall trading discouraging considering the weak price structure and liberal farm offerings generally at lower prices.

CHICAGO POULTRY

CHICAGO, Dec. 21 (AP)—Live poultry. Barely steady to weak on young stock and caponettes, balance steady; receipts 922 coops (yesterday 1,675 coops, 200,106 lb); f. o. b. paying prices unchanged to 1 lower; light hens 12.5-13.5; heavy hens 17-18.5; fryers and broilers 21-25; old roosters 12-12.5; caponettes 24-26; hen turkeys 37-38; fancy tom turkeys 26.5-28; young tom turkeys 23-26; ducklings 30; geese 23-24.

SEC Ends Hearings on Power Contract

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) yesterday ended two weeks of hearings on some of the proposed financing for the controversial Dixon-Yates private power project.

SEC Chairman Ralph H. Demmler gave opposing attorneys until Jan. 18 to file their final written arguments. He said the commission would hear oral arguments the following day.

Demmler said it may take another two weeks for the commission too reach its decision on an application by sponsors of the project for approval of a 5½ million dollar stock issue. The bulk of the financing—102 million dollars—is to come in the form of long term loans.

The project has aroused the ire of public power advocates who view the proposal to furnish private power to the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) area as a possible move toward destruction of TVA.

Early Market Trading Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was mixed today in early dealings.

Most changes were small, but gains ran to around 2 points at the outside. Losses were fractional.

Almost all major divisions were mixed. Motors were unchanged to lower. Oils were higher on balance.

The market was mixed at the opening with a higher tendency, and this trend persisted.

There were a great many large blocks on the tape at the start, and for a brief time the tape was unable to keep pace with floor transactions.

Red Bombers Make 10 Sorties Over Isle

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The Nationalist Defense Ministry reported Communist MIG jet fighters and Russian-built LA11 bombers made more than 10 sorties near the Tachen Islands today.

One Red flight was reported directly over the Nationalist-held Islands 200 miles north of Formosa.

Landlord Is Generous

DES MOINES (AP)—When policeman Frank Bunce, who owns a small apartment building here, heard that the apartment of one of his tenants had been burglarized of $32 and a carton of cigarettes, he knocked $10 off the tenant's rent for the following month.

Santa's Spirit Lives in Indiana

Millions of Eager Kids Write to Town Named After Yule Saint

SANTA CLAUS, Ind. (INS) —A day in this southern Indiana town is enough to convince the most dubious Virginia or Virgil there is a Santa Claus.

Postmaster Elbert Reinke figures the total number of letters that will be handled by his picturesque little post office by Dec. 25 will be around last year's three million figure.

It was this letter-answering angle which first stamped Santa Claus, Ind., on the public mind in the 1920s when the project of a former postmaster, James F. Martin, was given national attention.

When he job of replying to the letters became too much for Martin, postal authorities in Washington thought closing the post office at this century-old little town would solve the problem.

The resulting public clamor convinced them otherwise, and the American Legion solved the letter - answering problem by volunteering to be Santa's aides. Many other groups since then have joined the army of volunteer letter - answerers.

To each little boy and girl goes a colorful letter, and in cases which seem to require more than that, there are several groups which try to step into the breach.

For instance, the New Mexico Department of the American Legion was asked to answer the distressed plea of two little girls in Cerro, N. M., who wrote:

"Our daddy and momy die in car wrek. We don't never get candy and toys for Christmas. Please send us candy."

Amkng the thousands of requests also comes an occasional thankyou for past Christmas gifts. But mostly, the letters are from youngsters more concerned about the approaching Dec. 25 and a little contrite about past behavior.

New Chrysler Director

DETROIT (UP) — John P. Mansfield, Chrysler Corp. vice president and president of its Plymouth Division, will become a Chrysler director Jan. 1, it was announced today. Mansfield, who has been with Chrysler 22 years, will succeed retiring director B. E. Hutchinson.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—Mrs. A. L. Tucker complained to police that a thief took a clean pair of her husband's trousers from her clothesline and left a dirty pair of dungarees in their place.

Hearing Slated on Picketing

Southfield Firm Asks Court to Limit Number to Six

A hearing is slated for Jan. 17 in Oakland County Circuit Court at which Local 157, UAW-CIO, will attempt to show why an injunction limiting their picketing of Simplex Industries on W. 12 Mile road in Southfield Township should not be made permanent

In a bill of complaint, the company claims 30 of its 50 employes went on strike Dec. 14 without giving ten-days notice and taking a formal strike vote as required by law.

The strikers have been picketing the plant, the firm asserts, blocking the driveway so trucks cannot enter and threatening bodily injury to the 15 employes wishing to work. Sheriff's deputies have been called in to prevent violence, it declares.

The company says it is doing rush work for the U. S. Government Arsenal at Oak Ridge, Tenn. and the Atomic Energy Commision and the contract "contains a penalty clause if not completed on schedule."

The firm asks an order limiting pickets to six at one time, ruling out violence and restraining the strikers from blocking the driveway.

Dealer Decides to Give Away Christmas Trees

Whoever the man who said they took the "Christ out of Christmas" is not entirely correct. This Christmastime, in this very city, every evidence of loving kindness, which Christ himself taught, is being demonstrated over and over again.

One sees it, not only in all the good deeds being done by various club and organizations, the Goodfellows' work, but also in the deeds of various individuals.

Take even one case, for instance, that of Bill Paulson, South Perry Street car dealer, who called the Press yesterday to learn where he might give away about three hundred Christmas trees.

Paulson explained that this was the first year he had bought trees, 500 of them, and laughingly admitted he was no good as a tree salesman.

He told how, as large or needy-looking families came in to buy a bargain tree, he ended up giving one to them. Having "sold" about 200 trees for much less than he paid for them, the dealer decided to give the other 300 to institutions, hospitals or other worthy parties. He has a truck he said, and even offered to deliver them.

Paulson was referred to the Goodfellows for a list of names.

Avery, Cadillac-Soo Comes to Agreement

MILWAUKEE (INS)—An agreement has been reached between Sewell L. Avery and the Cadillac-Soo Lumber Co. in a dispute over payment of dividends by the firm.

Avery, Montgomery Ward & Co. chairman, was ousted as head of the lumber company last June. After he was replaced he filed a suit against Cadillac-Soo in which he asked that a dividend voted July 14 be adjudged illegal.

Under terms of the new agreement announced in Chicago yesterday, Cadillac-Soo will be allowed to declare and pay dividends up to Dec. 31.

However, the lumber company has agreed that no further dividends will be paid after that date until a plan for liquidating the firm is adopted in compliance with Michigan State Law.

GM Signs Bob Hope for Motorama on TV

DETROIT (UP) — General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice said today GM had signed Bob Hope to serve as master of ceremonies for its 1955 national television show at its Motorama in New York Jan. 19.

Curtice said Hope would guide television viewers on a tour of the Motorama and exhibits of experimental "dream" cars, the "kitchen of tomorrow" and the 1955 models.

Eden Charges Soviets Trying to Divide West

LONDON (INS)—British Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden told the House of Commons today that Soviet policy still was aimed at confusing, dividing, and weakening the West.

He made the statement in the course of reviewing last week's Paris meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council.

Degree of Guilt Delayed Verdict

Cleveland Press Story Recounts Deliberations of Sheppard Jurrors

CLEVELAND (UP) — What took the Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard wife-murder jury so long in reaching a verdict was deciding just how guilty the osteopathic surgeon was, it was disclosed today.

The Cleveland Press said it had learned in talks with the jurors and those associated with them that they took 18 ballots during their five-day deliberation.

Two women jurors voted to acquit on the first ballot last Friday night, but by Saturday afternoon they had joined the rest in concluding that Dr. Sam bludgeoned his pregnant wife, Marilyn, to death, the newspaper said.

It took three days of deliberation to work out the degree of guilt — second - degree murder. The jury foreman, James C. Bird, pressed the buzzer late yesterday afternoon disclosing were unanimous in a verdict.

The jury got the case Friday morning. They deliberated 102 hours before deciding on guilt in the second degree, which made a life prison sentence mandatory.

None of the jurors had served on a jury panel before. When they first began deliberations, some of them were "sorry for Sam."

The panel went over the testimony of 70 trial witnesses, point by point, and examined all 214 exhibits, which they kept in the room with them.

The jurors suspected they were setting a record for lengthy deliberation but were determined "to take our time . . . this is a big responsibility."

From the second ballot, the only issue was how guilty Dr. Sam was. It took three days to thrash that out.

Cost of Living Rises Slightly in November

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today that its consumer price index rose one tenth of one per cent in November. But if you didn't buy a new car your living costs actually went down.

New car models arriving on the market, although list prices were virtually unchanged, boosted the auto price index sharply because 1954 models had been selling at big discounts.

Tells Ulterior Motive

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Entrants in a contest to win an automatic clothes dryer were asked to say why they wanted to win. One frank housewife said she wanted to trade the dryer in on a TV set.

Former Teller Admits Thefts

Pontiac Man Awaiting Federal Sentence for Stealing From Bank

Faced with a possible five-year prison term today is John P. Sheridan, 27, of 49 Oak Hill, who pleaded guilty yesterday in Detroit Federal Court to making false entries to conceal his $7,900 theft while a teller at Pontiac State Bank.

No sentencing date was set by Judge Theodore Levin who referred the case to the court's probation department for investigation.

Sheridan told Judge Levin that he is ready to make restitution. He said friends in Pontiac have said they will assist him.

The teller was arrested on the charge Dec. 2 while in Ingham County Jail serving a drunk driving sentence. He had told bank officials he was going on vacation. The shortage was discovered when he left without first checking out his cash.

A seven-year bank employe, Sheridan told federal agencies he had taken the cash in $50 and $100 lots over a three-year period. He said he used it for liquor, horses and a 1952 vacation.

Funeral Tomorrow for James Hilton

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Private funeral service will be conducted tomorrow morning for James Hilton, who wrote "Goodbye Mr. Chips" and originated the word Shangri-la to describe a never-never land in the Tibetan mountains.

Hilton, scenarist and novelist, died of liver cancer at the age of 54 on Monday.

The Rev. F. Benson Bellis, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, will officiate. Entombment will be in Sunnyside mausoleum.

One of the most widely read novelists of the past 20 years, he probably is best known for his beloved character, Mr. Chips and his book "Lost Horizon," in which Shangri-la appeared.

SAN FRANCISCO OF THE FUTURE?—This is an artist's idea of what a quiet section of downtown San Francisco would look like after engineers came up with a brand-new idea for a transit system. The elevated trains would move along a modern boulevard, traveling silently and without disturbing street traffic. The rubber-tired vehicles would be powered by electricity.

Facts Belittle Gold's Worth

Annual Production Is Valued at Fraction of Coal Output

WASHINGTON (UP) — Consider gold.

In men's minds, gold is precious, a belief dating back to antiquity. Yet a year's production of the metal in the United States is valued at only about $70,000,000. This compares with coal production worth $3,000,000,000, copper production of $378,000,000, and lead production of $116,000,000.

Gold is associated with the once "wild and wolly" West. Yet the greatest gold-producing state is South Dakota, a part of the Louisiana Purchase and not usually classed as a real western state.

"Gold is where you find it" is an expression used far and wide. Practically all the gold mined in South Dakota comes from one mine—the Homestake.

The second largest gold-producing state is Utah. Here gold is merely a by-product of copper. Practically all of Utah's gold comes from the Utah copper mine. The copper ore, containing gold and silver, is crushed and treated by electrolysis. Pure copper results. The gold and silver remain as anode slimes, or muds.

There is a steady, reliable market for gold. The U. S. Treasury insists upon buying all gold produced in the United States. It pays a steady, reliable price—$35 a troy ounce.

There is no standard size for a gold brick. The Bureau of Mines says each mine that processes gold ore into pur gold for sale to the Treasury can choose its own packaging. But the bureau says, also, that most gold bars, or bricks, usually are proportioned one inch by four inches by 10 inches.

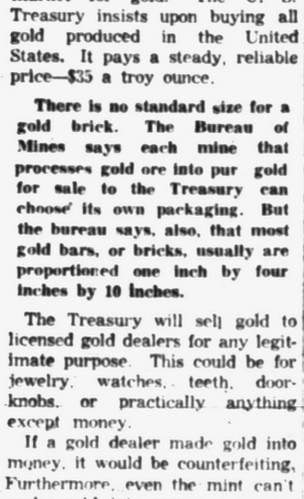

The Treasury will sell gold to licensed gold dealers for any legitimate purpose. This could be for jewelry, watches, teeth, doorknobs, or practically anything except money.

If a gold dealer made gold into money, it would be counterfeiting. Furthermore, even the mint can't make gold into money anymore. Gold was demonetized in 1934.

Gold refineries usually are licensed gold agents and can sell gold without it actually being in possession of the Treasury.

Gold is mined three ways—by straight gold mining, as a by-product of copper, lead, and zinc, and by placer mining. Practically all gold produced in Alaska is by placer mining. California production is divided about half placer, half straight mining for gold ore. All the South Dakota production is straight mining.

Most of this country's gold is deposited at Fort Knox, where about $15,000,000,000 worth of the yellow metal now lies. Several additional billions are scattered at mints and smaller repositories.

Singing Since 4, Likes a Change

Her Own Four Children Help Her Feel at Home in Mother Portrayal

NEW YORK (AP) — You'd think a glamorous singing star of musical comedy might be hesitant about playing a supporting role to a dog star but pretty Jan Clayton says "I love it."

It was a complete change of pace for Miss Clayton when she took the part of the widowed mother of a small boy in the filmed "Lassie" show on CBS television, after a succession of film and stage musicals.

But slender, vivacious Jan is enthusiastic about the transition because "acting always was my first love."

* * *

"I know I'm a better actress than a singer," she continues. "And besides, I've been signing since I was 4, and I'm tired."

"It's hard to convince anyone in show business that a singer can act," she said on a trip here from Hollywood, where the film is made.

Another reason she doesn't mind playing second fiddle to Lassie is "I love the darn dog so much," although she says, "I know that with a dog and a darling boy like Tommy (Rettig) in the program, not even my mother would look at me."

* * *

Miss Clayton, born in New Mexico, got to Hollywood first by winning a beauty contest but failed to win a contract with the studio that sponsored it. She did get a week's singing engagement along with Maxie Rosenbloom in a supper club and that resulted in roles in several Hopalong Cassidy movies.

During the war she did a USO tour of the Aleutians and on her return was signed for a lead role with Wallace Beery in "This Man's Navy." Following further overseas tours giving performances for servicemen, she was signed by the Theatre Guild for the part of Julie in "Carousel" on Broadway.

She played in "Carousel" for nine months and the night after closing in that one she opened in the revival of "Showboat" and had been cast in musical roles since, until "Lassie" came to TV.

* * *

But playing the role of a mother was no great change for Jan. She and her husband Robert Lerner, an attorney, have four children of their own — Sandra, 14; Robin, 6; Karen, 5, and Joe, 4.

Plan Yule Meal Beside Daughter Inside Iron Lung

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Santa will set a special table for pretty, 2-year-old Andrea Cappaert, so she can have Christmas dinner with her mother and father.

Andy, ill since August, is locked in an iron lung where she will be spending her first Christmas as a polio patient.

Right now, Andy's father, Leroy, a junior high school teacher in Ann Arbor, is home trying to shake off a cold so he can spend Christmas with his daughter. Visitors with colds are banned from the respirator center at the University of Michigan's University Hospital.

Every day has been a sort of Christmas for Andy. Her mother brings her gifts wrapped in bright Christmas paper. But Andy can't open them. Her hands are imprisoned with her body in the giant metal home that helps her breathe.

"She's only been here four months," Andy's mother says, "but she's matured an awful lot." "Thanksgiving," she adds, "we had dinner beside Andy on a card table. Christmas we're going to do the same thing. Then we'll have a special treat — won't we Andy?"

Through a window in the lung you can see Andy's hands move, feebly caressing a small toy car. Even the little movement in her limbs pleases doctors who say she was paralyzed from the neck down at first.

Red Lingerie Is Perfect Gift for Girls, Wives

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Red lingerie's the big thing for gals and wives this Christmas—Janis Paige tells me—and every red-blooded guy'll buy his babe some. But for the "friend who has everything," send him or her a note saying you've spent the money buying food and clothes and toys for a poor family—and try it.

Our little tribe did it last year—and found it our biggest Christmas satisfaction.

Johnnie Ray and ex-wife Marilyn Morrison smooched madly at the premiere of "Show Business"—which was a great crowd-pleaser. Earlier at a benefit, when Dan Dailey sang, Johnnie ripped off his earphone and kiddingly said, "I won't listen to that!"

Frank Sinatra is being urged to go to Australia after his Copa engagement . . . Tommy Manville likes blondes, but he'd like Lolita De Carlo, the brunette Montreal dancing doll, for Christmas.

Jackie ("Mr. No. 1") Gleason was offered any TV time spot he wanted in his $11,000,000 deal to take over Milton Berle's sponsor—but he's about decided to stick to Saturday—though he may switch from 9 to 9:30 for his new half-hour CBS show.

LOLITA De CARLO

Confirming the big money deal, Mike Kirk, of Kudner Advtg., who's switching from Berle to Gleason late in 1955, says Buick will spend $11,000,000 in 2 years for time and talent—and that talent usually costs half.

So Gleason'd get around $5,500,000 to produce his show for 2 years—but his new show, "The Honeymooners," without dancers, etc., would cost him less—so he'd wind up with even MORE money. Out of this he'd pay for his whole show, of course.

In the new A.R.B. ratings, Gleason's No. 1, "Lucy" 2nd, "Dragnet" 3rd, Groucho Marx 4th, Berle 5th.

Emerald green'll be the popular color for men's dinner jackets and suits in '55, states Irving Heller of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Men's Clothes, who adds that the "natural shoulder" trend'll fall flat like Dior. "Men can't get along without their falsies," says he.

Boy's Signal Halts Train Short of Car on Tracks

SHARON, Mass. (AP) — William Kingsley, 15, was doing his homework last night when he spotted an auto skid off an icy road and stall on New Haven Railroad tracks. He snatched a light from his bicycle and ran to the tracks.

He stood on the tracks waving the light back and forth in time to halt an oncoming train. The train proceeded after the car, owned by Dr. Vincent P. Ryan, was pushed from the tracks.

Voters Give Up School Rights

Mississippi Legislature Can Abolish System to Maintain Segregation

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississipi gave its Legislature life-or-death power over its public schools yesterday, voting 2-1 for a constitutional amendment to permit legislators to abolish state-supported schools if necessary to retain racial segregation.

Gov. Hugh White, one of the amendment's strongest backers, said he expected to call today for a special legislative session Jan. 11 to provide funds for bringing separate Negro schools up to the level of white schools.

* * *

Returns from 1,140 of the state's 1,825 precincts showed 81,940 votes for the amendment and 36,008 against it. The turnout was light.

Gov. White said public schools would be abolished only as a last resort. The amendment would permit the Legislature to turn school facilities over to private groups and to subsidize private schools.

* * *

The amendment is similar to those approved by Georgia and South Carolina in efforts to dodge the U. S. Supreme Court ban on public school segregation.

Opponents favored a plan used in Louisiana which placed segregated schools under the state's "police powers." They said counties with heavy Negro populations in Mississippi would use the amendment to abolish public schools and thus relieve themselves of much of the cost of Negro education.

Says Ike Deserves More Active Support of Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Duff (R-Pa) says Republican congressmen must give President Eisenhower "more than lip service" if they want to re-elect him in 1956.

Duff, one of the Republicans urging Eisenhower to run again, said in an interview, "Most Republicans know there is a very strong sentiment in this country for the re-election of Eisenhower."

Women in Legal Battle for Possession of Meteorite

SYLACAUGA, Ala. (AP)—Twenty-two days ago Mrs. Hulitt Hodges, a plump, pleasant-faced matron of 31, lay down to take a little nap.

In the back of her mind was a jumble of plans—visiting friends, getting ready for Christmas, household duties. But they could wait. She had a cold and needed rest. She dozed.

* * *

She had been struck by a fragment of a shooting star which had hurtled to the earth from outer space. Scientists said she was the first person in recorded history known to be hit by a meteorite.

She still has to spend part of each day in bed because of the severe bruises she suffered. She has nightmares, in which "it seems like I hear the sound."

She and her husband moved out of their comfortable frame residence to a smaller house after her landlady Mrs. Birdie Guy filed suit for the meteorite, for which more than $5,000 has been offered.

* * *

Mrs. Guy's lawyer said the Supreme Court has held that a meteorite belongs to the owner of the property on which it falls.

"The meteorite is personal property," argues Atty. Huel M. Love for Mrs. Hodges. "It didn't come to rest on Mrs. Guy's property—it came to rest on Mrs. Hodges and on her studio couch."

Both the Smithsonian Institution and Alabama State Museum at the University of Alabama want the fragment, but the Smithsonian says the meteorite itself isn't worth $500.

"Suing is the only way she'll ever get it," said Mrs. Hodges of Mrs. Guy's suit. "I feel like the meteorite is mine. I think God intended it for me. After all, it hit me."

Less Restful Night Is Passed by Pope

VATICAN CITY (INS) — Pope Pius XII spent a less restful night than he has had in several days, but Vatican sources expressed no concern.

The ailing 78-year old Roman Catholic leader was disturbed by a slight recurrence of the hiccoughs which have plagued him off and on since he first became ill last January.

This morning the pontiff's doctors administered another transfusion of blood plasma to aid in strengthening his general condition. The Pope's ailment has been diagnosed as a small hernia of the esophagus with accompanying gastritis

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

This is Pancho, the central figure in an old and well-loved game played by Mexican children at Christmas time.

1. Fill a large, strong paper bag half full of hard candy or popcorn.
2. Just above candy, tie bag tightly with strong string as in (B), making a round ball that will be Pancho's body. Leave the tie string long.
3. Fill bag above the tie with cotton or crumpled paper, and tie again as in (C) to form a smaller ball for the head.
4. Use black watercolor to paint on eyes and hair of a funny face, red watercolor for the cheeks and nose. The light brown bag will be just right for complexion. Paint the larger ball white to look like Pancho's shirt.
5. Make a Mexican blanket or serape (pronounced sir-appy) out of brown wrapping paper, with a hole in the middle and short slit down front as in (A). Color in bright stripes with all kinds of crayons you have.
6. Slip serape over Pancho's head, and over the dangling tie string.
7. Draw on white bond paper arms like those in picture, with white shirt sleeves and big clumsy white hands. Fasten to body with glue or transparent tape.
8. Draw legs like those in picture, with white pants, brown feet, and red sandals, and fasten to lower part of body.
9. Make a hat by tying the end of a small bag into a bunch as in (D), cutting off the bottom part and turning up the edge like a cuff. Make a hat brim of brown wrapping paper like (E), slip it down over the hat, and paste both to Pancho's head. Or you can make the whole hat out of brown wrapping paper.
10. Now hang the figure in a doorway with the tie string. Blindfold each person in turn, give him a stick, turn him around three times, and lead him for Pancho. He gets two chances to break the bag. When it is broken, everybody scrambles for candy or popcorn.

Drop Robbery Case Against Actor's Son

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A robbery case against Edward G. Robinson Jr., 21, son of the actor, has been dismissed.

He had been tried in November but the jury disagreed, standing 11-1 for acquittal. Retrial had been scheduled for Feb. 14 but yesterday the prosecution recommended dismissal.

Robinson was charged with robbing two taxicab drivers on two nights last July of a total of $38. They identified him but he claimed it was mistaken identity. He testified, with corroboration from his wife Frances and friends that he was at a movie one night and baby-sitting with his daughter Francesca the other night.

Ancient Court Reconvened for British Theater Case

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)—The City of Manchester won a decision today at the first session of a Court of Chivalry in England in more than 200 years.

A company of wondrously attired gentlemen gathered in the Royal Courts of Justice to hear a charge from the city fathers that a theater, known as Manchester Palace of Varieties, Ltd., had used without authorization for 60 years the coat of arms of the City of Manchester.

The court, so old that no one is quite sure how it started in the first place, was regarded as the only tribunal in the land fit to try the action.

* * *

The high officers, clad in ermine, scarlet and gold, decreed the theater must cease using the coat of arms over its stage and pay costs amounting to 300 pounds—$840.

Ordinary laws relating to patents and copyright don't apply because coats of arms are something special and are conferred only by the heralds of the College of Arms. Anciently the Court of Chivalry settled disputes. But the last action was 217 years ago and there was some question as to whether the court had died of inactivity.

* * *

But it seemed very lively and decorative this morning. It was summoned by the Duke of Norfolk, who as earl marshal managed the pageantry of the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II. The Duke appointed Lord Goddard, the lord chief justice, as his surrogate and assessor, and named a variety of other functionaries, such as ushers and criers. He summoned, among others, the Rouge Dragon Pursuivant, the Blue Mantle Pursuivant, the three Kings of Arms—Clarenceux, Garter and Norrov—and the heralds of Lancaster, Somerset, York and Chester.

* * *

The court first considered whether the earl marshal has authority to call the court. Letters patent issued by King Charles II in 1672 seemed to prove that point.

The bewigged counsel for the theater caused some confusion by introducing precedents which went back to Norman days. Some of these documents were in Norman French, which the chief justice didn't read very well, but which seemed to be practically the mother tongue of the earl marshal.

Actress' Ex-Husband Told to Boost Support

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Carlyle L. Ahrens, 61, wealthy Long Beach physician, has been ordered by Superior Court to boost support payments for his son to $175 monthly.

He had been paying $150 monthly since he and actress Joyce Reynolds, 30, were divorced in March 1953.

Miss Reynolds claimed in court yesterday costs for caring for their 23-month-old son had increased since the original payment was set.
