ST. LOUIS (AP) — Early morning showers gave way to clearing skies today as the ground crew rolled back the tarpaulin at Busch Stadium for the 24th All-Star baseball game.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, just re-elected to a second 7-year term, was on the scene bright and early, inspecting the field.

Early birds snapped up the 250 standing-room tickets as soon as they went on sale. All other tickets had been sold for weeks, assuring a capacity crowd of 31,000-plus for the first such game at St. Louis since 1948.

Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees, who bosses the American League squad, was first to show up on the bench.

Stengel named Jim Bunning, lanky Detroit right - hander, to start against the Nationals.

Curt Simmons, Philadelphia's slick 28-year-old left-hander was the starting choice of Manager Walter Alston of Brooklyn for the National League.

Alston reversed two men in the batting order as announced yesterday. Alston said Ed Bailey, Cincinnati catcher, would bat fifth and Frank Robinson, Cincinnati left-fielder, would be sixth.

Pontiac State Bank Boosts Dividend Rate

Directors of the Pontiac State Bank last night voted to increase the bank's dividend rate, and declared a 50 cents a share dividend payable July 18 on the bank's common stock as of record July 8.

"This establishes a dividend rate of $1 a share annually," Milo Cross, president, said this morning. "We have previously paid at the rate of 75 cents a year and the increase is a reflection of our confidence in the community in the months and years ahead."

House Relents on Soil Bank

Appears Set to Permit President's Farm Plan Life One More Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House, which voted in May to kill the major part of the Eisenhower farm soil bank program after this year, appeared ready today to back down and grant it one more year of life.

The year's extension was contained in a Senate-House compromise on a $3,600,000,000 agriculture appropriation bill for the fiscal year that started July 1.

In addition to money for the current year, the compromise measure would provide authority for a 500 million dollar appropriation for next year's acreage reserve program. Under that program farmers are paid for taking land out of production of basic crops that are in surplus.

The compromise bill would limit sign-ups for acreage reserve contracts to crops normally planted by July 1 next year, and would halt all payments after Sept. 15, 1958.

★ ★ ★

Senate and House conferees said they expected the compromise to be passed by the House without too much trouble. Democratic and Republican conferees were united in their support of the bill.

★ ★ ★

The compromise would put a $3,000 limitation on the amount of Soil Bank money any one farmer can receive.

★ ★ ★

The bill also would direct the government to see that farmers make a genuine effort to reduce their total production by the amount of crop land they place in the soil bank.

★ ★ ★

The conservation reserve program also would be tightened up by a directive to the Secretary of Agriculture to "give careful consideration" to the value of the land converted to trees, grass and other long-range conservation purposes.

Annual GMC Truck Picnic Scheduled for Saturday

The 21st annual family outing of the General Motors Truck and Coach Division is slated for Saturday at Walled Lake Park.

Theme of the picnic is "Holiday of Sports." Professional woman golfer Patty Berg will conduct a clinic and put on a demonstration at 2 p.m. at the park athletic field.

A marine display of motors and boats will be held in the roller rink.

GMC's latest model trucks and coaches will be on exhibit at the park grounds.

Free rides, balloons and ice cream will be a few of the highlights of the day for the families' youngsters. Picnic games and contests are being planned for all.

★ ★ ★

Various sports events will be held throughout the day on the park's athletic grounds.

Detroit Begins Giant Task of Cleaning Mud, Debris

DETROIT (INS) — Detroit and Southeastern Michigan battled today to clean up, following torrential rains which locked Detroit in one of the worst traffic jams in history and caused damages running into the millions.

★ ★ ★

Officials of the Wayne County Road Commission reported the Ford Expressway was open today in time to handle the rush-to-work traffic.

★ ★ ★

Crews continued to clean up the debris left on the expressways by backed-up sewers. The Lodge Expressway, closed north of Hamilton for hours, reopened to traffic late yesterday.

The swollen Rouge River overflowed late yesterday, flooding the basements in hundreds of riverbank homes and closing several highways.

By nightfall most of the picnic and recreation areas in Rouge Park were under water and nearby residents watched the water swell over their lawns toward their homes.

State Police reported Telegraph and Inkster roads were closed to traffic today between Schoolcraft and Fenkell, causing heavy traffic to make detours around water-covered sections.

The death of 48-year-old Robin Sweatt Jr. of Ecorse was attributed to the storm. Sweatt was found face-down in his flooded basement by a neighbor.

Police estimated that more than 100,000 cars were stranded on Detroit streets at the peak of the storm that dumped up to six inches of rain in a six-hour period.

Early insurance claims filed today indicate the Detroit area's flood damage will cost companies up to $2 million dollars.

Dixie Talkathon Due in Senate

GOP Girds for Filibuster Against Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans girded today for around-the-clock sessions as Southerners stiffened their resistance to bringing the House-passed civil rights bill before the Senate.

Republican Leader Knowland of California asked his GOP colleagues to stand by for the beginning—possibly tomorrow but more likely later in the week—of 24-hour efforts to wear out Dixie opponents talking against the bill.

With Knowland directing the campaign to get the measure before the Senate for an eventual vote, GOP members were asked to sign up for periods when they will be on hand to sit out the Southern talk.

In a typical assignment, Sen. Allott (R-Colo) said he had been asked to be on deck from 10 until 12 o'clock, each morning and night. Sen. Morton (R-Ky) has said earlier he has day and night hours on a different shift.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), who is unenthusiastic about the House bill in its present form, said he had declined to accept any assignment outside the Senate's regular meeting hours.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga), commander of the Southern opposition forces, said he is ready to cope with round-the-clock sessions during the last half of the week with Southerners' speeches explaining the bill.

Russell declined to say whether these will continue until Knowland and other supporters decide to try to force the issue with a debate limitation vote. Knowland has indicated he will not attempt that until next week.

Soviet Leaders Visiting Czechs After Shakeup

Khrushchev, Bulganin Get Warm Welcome in Satellite Nation

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Soviet Premier Bulganin and party chief Nikita Khrushchev crossed the border into Czechoslovakia by train today to begin an official visit hard on the heels of the sweeping Kremlin shakeup.

Prague radio said the two Soviet leaders received a warm welcome at the frontier station of Cerna from Czech Communist party boss Antonin Novotny and a crowd of 15,000.

The welcome included greetings from a number of lesser Czech government and party leaders, an honor guard, children bearing flowers and "welcome kisses."

Both Soviet chieftains beamed as they stepped from their train into the bright sunshine.

Similar welcome demonstrations awaited them all along the route to Prague. The 500-mile journey to this Communist capital will take another 24 hours, giving Novotny plenty of time to talk over party problems with the visitors.

Bulganin and Khrushchev will be greeted in Prague by Czech Premier Vilem Siroky and other leaders. One of the first items on their Prague agenda is a courtesy call on President Antonin Zapotocky.

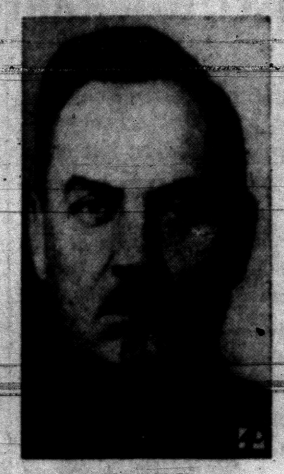

The official tone for the visit was set by the Czech Communist party newspaper Rude Pravo. The "Soviet comrades come to a country which will never leave the barricades of communism, where the Red flag is raised by the Soviet Union," the party organ said.

"Our meeting with the Soviet leaders will result in absolute agreements which will demonstrate a strengthening of the partnership of the Socialist states on all fundamental questions."

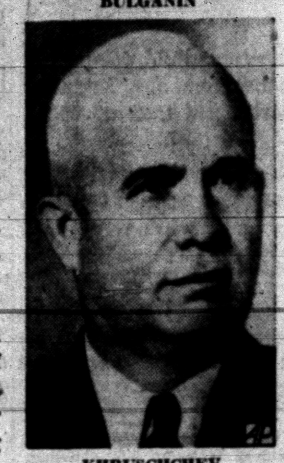

One Czech official said the visit "means big things." But another indicated no major developments were expected, saying, "It is simply the return of a visit our leaders made to Moscow. It is that and nothing more."

★ ★ ★

In the West, however, diplomats and unofficial observers watched the visit with unusual interest to see if it would result in any shakeup in the Czech Communist leadership.

88 Degrees Tops July Contest—22 Days to Go

Pontiac's top weather prognosticator thus far for our Hottest Moment in July contest is Mrs. W. H. Currier of 23 S. Jessie St.

She picked a time on Sunday afternoon, July 7, for her guess. On that afternoon the temperature rose to 88, highest this month to date.

Whether her guess will stand for another 22 days is something that only the daily record of those days can reveal.

Weather forecast indicates that we will continue to gain more heat from the sun during July than we lose, so it is likely that a higher reading will develop. Then again, there have been cold Julys!

July 31 will determine who wins this month's $100 savings bond.

Oakland, Livingston Are 'Disaster' Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Small Business Administration has declared Livingston and Oakland Counties in Michigan "disaster areas" as a result of tornadoes that struck July 4.

Owners of homes and businesses which suffered property damage are eligible to apply for loans repayable up to 20 years at 3 per cent interest. Applications may be filed at the administration's Detroit regional office, 211 W. Congress.

Rights of All GIs Rest in Balance, Lawyer Pleads

Verdict May Reverse Ruling to Let Japanese Try Serviceman

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court weighed the constitutional rights of GI William S. Girard today to determine whether they overbalance the government's decision to let him be tried in a Japanese court.

The court, which listened to nearly four hours of legal debate yesterday, gave no indication how soon it will hand down its decision.

In winding up arguments seeking to block Girard's trial by Japan, Earl J. Carroll, one of his lawyers, said that if such a trial were permitted "it probably would destroy the morale of our soldiers —forever."

Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin contended the executive branch of the government acted within permissible discretion in deciding to yield to Japan's demand that Girard be tried in its courts for the death of a Japanese woman.

Rankin said that among other factors considered was evidence that Girard enticed the woman to come forward and pick up scrap metal on a firing range. Rankin noted, however, that Girard has denied he induced the woman to approach him.

★ ★ ★

The woman, Mrs. Naka Sakai, was fatally wounded last Jan. 30. Girard is accused of shooting her in the back with an empty cartridge casing fired from a grenade launcher. He was assigned at the time to guard a machine gun and some field jackets.

PLEADS GI'S CASE

Carroll asked the court: "How can you turn over to Japan a soldier who carries out his duty?"

To do this, he said, might result in a situation where a State Department diplomat abroad, endangered by an advancing rioter, might turn to a Marine and say, "Shoot him as he comes over the threshold."

"The Marine," said Carroll, "might very well hand his gun to the diplomat and say, 'Here, shoot him yourself. I don't want to be tried."

Carroll's colleague Joseph S. Robinson ran into sharp criticism from the high bench.

Warren told the lawyer as he wound up his impassioned argument that the chief justice had the impression Robinson had accused Rankin of making "fraudulent,

Pumpers Work 24 Hours After Flood

Waterford Township Areas Hardest Hit

Advertised as "Lakeland's Paradise," parts of Waterford Township were anything but a paradise for residents after yesterday's torrential downpour.

This township was one of the hardest hit in the entire county, according to reports from Oakland County Drain Commissioner Dan Barry's office. The storm was the worst in many years.

Waterford Township volunteer firemen worked from 7 a.m. Monday until 6 a.m. today pumping out flooded basements, garages and subdivisions. Portable equipment and fire trucks were used in areas hardest hit.

Hundreds of new homes in the Whitfield Estates subdivision, on Williams Lake road near Airport road were threatened as mud and water swirled around their doorsteps.

In some parts of the subdivision, water reached a depth of five to six feet because of inadequate drainage, Supervisor Elmer Johnson said.

Richard Kruger, his wife, Jean and their baby, were evacuated by boat at 7:30 and their home, two cars, and other belongings were left to the mercy of the flood waters.

Grading and development in many new subdivisions in Waterford Township was the cause of most of the damage, Johnson said.

Building operations have taken away the natural drainage and the water either stands on top or rushes down to lower grade levels. With it goes tons of dirt and gravel, ruining lawns and gardens in the process, he added.

★ ★ ★

In the Huron Gardens area, near M59 and Telegraph road, streets were flooded to more than three feet in depth at one time. Only one home, belonging to the Howard Covyeou family at 1119 Lakeview, has a basement and there were two feet of water in theirs.

Next door neighbor Marvin Killian said, "Now I know how the people who live near the Mississippi River feel. We just sat and watched that water close in on us, and it wasn't good."

More complications arose when the three pumps at the sewer plant on M59 and Cass Lake roads, burned out. Firemen poured many gallons of chloride into the sewer, then adjusted an emergency bypass to control the on-rush.

★ ★ ★

Watkins Hills subdivision suffered flood damage when the 12-inch drain failed to carry off the excess water. Here too, drainage was hampered by mud and silt from new land development, Johnson said.

★ ★ ★

Residents living near the newly constructed Howard Johnson restaurant on Dixie Highway were deluged with mud and water when a small dam that property owners had constructed gave way.

Supervisor Johnson said that the restaurant land had been improperly graded and instead of the water draining into Loon Lake directly behind the building it was pouring down a 12-foot embankment onto the Sleepy Hollow Motel, and also the Charles Weiler property.

Johnson plans on meeting soon with the owner of the restaurant, S. A. Miller of Detroit, to see what can be done to improve this condition.

Floodwaters soaked dry wall material stored in the Burmeister Lumber Company at Cooley and Williams Lake roads.

WATERFORD'S WORST — The spot that suffered the most damage in Waterford Township, during yesterday's torrential downpour, was the Whitfield Estates, according to township officials. Richard Kruger, 3365 Homestead Ave., evacuated his family at 7:30 a.m., then assisted others in the area.

County Casts Critical Look at Storm Drains

Oakland County took a critical look at its storm drains today in the wake of yesterday's basement flooding.

Pontiac, where damage was relatively minor, has Providence to thank as much as its improved drainage system, City Manager Walter K. Willman said.

"I think the main reason we escaped was the fact we didn't have as much rain as the rest of the county," he observed.

He emphasized that the city still has "a long way to go" in improving its existing storm sewer system.

About 25 homes reported basement flooding, mostly in "scattered" location, Willman said. Straightening of the Pontiac Creek helped to carry off flooding waters from the storm early yesterday, he said.

The year-old Pontiac drain in the north-central section of town also did a good job, but its present outlet into the Clinton River might not have been adequate in a heavier rain, he added.

The city has nearly completed a study to improve the Clinton for drain purposes.

Willman said no effort had been made to estimate Pontiac damage. The southern part of the county was hardest hit. This is the area for which the big Twelve-Town Drain project is proposed.

The $38.9 million project to alleviate seasonal flooding in 13 communities has been held up by a court battle for the past eight months.

Two of the participating communities, Southfield Township and Troy, have objected to their allocated shares of the total cost.

Both communities escaped relatively undamaged by yesterday's flooding.

In other Twelve-Town communities, however, damage was greater. Hundreds of basements were reported flooded in Berkley, Hazel Park, Madison Heights, Oak Park and Royal Oak. Scores more were reported in Clawson.

In Lathrup Village, Pleasant Ridge, Birmingham, Ferndale, Huntington Woods and Royal Oak Township, basements were fairly dry.

In addition to the Twelve-Town proposal, the county is studying four other, smaller projects in Southfield Township and along Eight Mile road. Two of them are proceeding on schedule, said Donald W. Ringler, drain commission engineer. The other two are still in the planning stage.

Elsewhere in the county, Farmington reported the worst basement flooding in its history. Scores of basements were under water in Ksego Harbor and in Waterford Township.

Only one drain project is in the offing for Waterford Township, said Ringler, and this is a small one in the Drayton Plains area.

"We can only act on petitions from taxpayers," he observed. "There's been a great deal of inactivity on drain projects in the past two years."

Ringler said that it takes about 18 months to process a drain, once it has been petitioned for. "And if there are any hitches — which is not unusual — there may be delays."

★ ★ ★

With two exceptions, major Oakland County highways were open today to traffic.

Citizens Want Flood Relief

Residents of Waterford Show Up at Meeting to Protest

Many property owners in the Whitfield Estates subdivision on Williams Lake and Airport roads were present at last night's regular Waterford Township board meeting to protest the flooded condition existing at the end of Homestead and Whitfield streets.

★ ★ ★

For more than two years, residents told board members, they have been trying to get action on drainage in that section.

CHANNEL PLANNED

The township board told the group that, in conjunction with the Oakland County road commission, they propose to channel through a big hill and lay a drain into Maceday Lake.

★ ★ ★

The topic of a trial board hearing for dismissed Police Chief Frank Van Atta was discussed, after his letter was read to the board, requesting such procedure.

Van Atta has not yet contacted the trial board, according to a member, Andy Adams.

POLICE REPORT

In the June Police report, presented by Captain Millard Pender, there were 50 summons issued. Twenty-seven went to Justice of the Peace Donald Adams, and 23 were given to JP Willis Lefurgy.

★ ★ ★

There were 750 calls answered during June, 689 miscellaneous calls and 61 accidents. The police drove 13,299 miles.

The Rural Zoning ordinance discussion, scheduled for last night's meeting, was tabled for further study. An auditor will be asked to attend a future meeting to go over the annual audit which was presented to board members.

In the clerk's statement for June, presented by James Seeterlin, balance in the treasury fund totaled $74,302.14. June receipts were $18,943.25 and disbursements were $29,388.58.

Flood waters from yesterday's storm still were blocking traffic on Greenfield road between Ten and Twelve Mile roads and on Northwestern highway between Eight and Nine Mile roads.

Many subdivision roads and local roads in Southern Oakland County cities were still flooded, the county road commission reported.

The road commission, which does not have jurisdiction over local city roads, was satisfied that county roads held up "pretty well" in spite of the deluge of rain that struck early yesterday, chairman Sol Lomerson said.

Washouts and floods occurred mainly at spots usually hit during flash floods or torrential rains, said maintenance director Oscar Loomis.

Some major highways have partial barricades as a result of the storm, he said. But traffic was expected to move smoothly except in western Southfield Township, where Northwestern and Greenfield are barricaded.

The Day in Birmingham

Five Hearings Approved by City Commissioners

BIRMINGHAM — Approval was given on five of the six hearings which appeared before city commissioners last night.

★ ★ ★

John Rosso, who desires a zoning change from single family to income bungalow at the southwest corner of Pierce and Frank streets, won his request. Rosso pointed out that all other properties are so zoned and presented signed approval by nearby home owners.

Only one objection was heard on the necessity hearing for the Lake Park Storm Sewer. The gentleman was told that if he still felt the line will be of little value to him he may withdraw when the special assessment district is created.

An estimated cost of $572 was quoted for the Elm street sidewalk between Chestnut and Hazel streets. The work will be included in the 1957 sidewalk program.

Also approved was the request for an access drive at 14 Mile road and Pierce street. This will provide entrance to a small business section building up in that area.

★ ★ ★

Approval for supplementary road oiling on Shepardbush road was given for a total length of 900 feet of light asphaltic oil with chip coating.

Another adjournment was brought about in the necessity hearing for the Maple - Bates alley. This question will come before the commission again on August 5.

Following the request of residents on Pierce street in the Brown - Frank street area, police chief Ralph W. Moxley last week surveyed the parking problem there.

Residents have cited all - day parking as a hazard to their many children and an inconvenience and hazard to them as they tried to enter and leave their driveways.

City Manager Harold K. Schone saw his recommendation of a 30-day trial on a two - hour parking limit adopted. Schone pointed out that there is plenty of available parking space in a nearby lot.

He said that undoubtedly some vehicles will be parked on other streets and add to those problems, but that the lot is ample to accomodate all cars and should be so used.

Franklin Cemetery Association will hold its regular meeting Thursday. A potluck luncheon will be served at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Harold Grogg, 2291 Rosewood Dr., Pontiac.

Asks Pact to Outlaw Nuclear Weapons

Russia Rejects H-Test Ban

LONDON (AP) — Brushing aside the U.S. proposal for a 10-month ban on H-bomb tests, Russia insisted yesterday they be suspended for at least two years and that an East-West formula be worked out completely renouncing nuclear weapons.

★ ★ ★

Russia's Valerian Zorin rejected key points of the latest U.S. proposals in a 90-minute speech before the five-nation U.N. disarmament subcommittee.

Taken aback by the stiffening in the Soviet attitude, Western delegates canceled today's session so they could study Zorin's remarks.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd termed the speech disappointing while Jules Moch of France said it "seemed propagandist."

★ ★ ★

One U.S. official said the speech would disappoint anyone looking for concessions from the Kremlin: But he contended that at least Zorin took no backward step.

Moscow radio had warned earlier this week that anyone who expected concessions as a result of the shakeup in the Soviet hierarchy would be disappointed.

MRS. GEORGE R. ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred Named UF Geographic Head

Mrs. George R. Eldred, 4075 Lakewood Drive, Waterford Twp., has been named Geographic Division chairman of the 1957 Pontiac Area United Fund campaign.

She will direct the door-to-door solicitation in the outlying Pontiac and Waterword Township areas during the fall campaign.

★ ★ ★

One of her first duties will be the appointment of geographic chairmen for the Pontiac and Waterford areas.

Mrs. Eldred has been a Pontiac area resident for seven years and has worked on the United Fund campaign for five years. Last year she was a district chairman for Waterford Township.

In addition to her UF work, Mrs. Eldred participates in the Daughters of the American Revolution, Girl Scouts and the Round Table of Pontiac.

Her son, Dick, is in the Marine Corps and her daughter, Julie, plans to attend Michigan State University in the fall.

The appointment was made by Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, campaign chairman.

Just for Practice

Tornado to Strike

A two mile square area in Brandon Township will be struck by a "tornado" tomorrow night.

★ ★ ★

This is only practice but it will be the situation which will confront 400 Civil Defense workers from Oakland, Lapeer, Macomb, and Genesee Counties.

POLICE MESSAGE

They will go through a simulated tornado disaster exercise beginning at 6:30 when State Police will report that the "twister" has cut through the township area plus a two block section of the village of Ortonville.

★ ★ ★

When the signal is given to the office of the Oakland County Civil Defense, 150 auxiliary traffic control police, 10 "ham" radio operators, 20 pieces of fire fighting equipment, American Red Cross volunteers, and many other CD workers will move into action.

There will be 40 "casualties" trapped in homes, offices, and cars waiting for medical attention.

"The exercise will test just how well prepared Civil Defense units are in case of a natural disaster like a tornado," explained Ransford Bromley, assistant Oakland County CD director.

★ ★ ★

"There will be two girls monitoring all emergency cars by means of tape recorders," he said. "After the problem we will evaluate it to see what personnel we were short and what mistakes we made."

Ike Picks Base at Narragansett as Vacation Spot

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower plans to vacation this summer—if and when he can get away—at the U.S. Naval Base in Narragansett Bay near Newport, R.I.

★ ★ ★

Announcing this today, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty made it clear that whether the President and Mrs. Eisenhower get there depends mainly on when Congress adjourns.

★ ★ ★

The principal uncertainty in that situation is how long Senate debate on civil rights, which started yesterday, will continue.

★ ★ ★

Shortly before today's announcement regarding the vacation site, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California told Eisenhower the debate may continue four to eight weeks, possibly longer.

The selected vacation spot is on Coaster's Harbor Island in Narragansett Bay, just northwest of Newport.

★ ★ ★

If they go on the trip, the President and the First Lady plan to occupy the home of the naval base commandant, Rear Adm. Henry Crommelin.

Top Court Ponders Decision on Girard

SMILE GONE

Warren's broad smile and his friendly manner were gone as he leaned forward and told Robinson he had listened "very attentively," but that the lawyer had not supported such accusations.

Robinson replied that he had made no reflection on Rakin. If his words were so interpreted, he said, he apologized.

Girard's lawyers want the Supreme Court to issue a writ of habeas corpus, releasing the soldier from Army detention at the camp.

The attorneys also want the Supreme Court to affirm the decision by U. S. Dist. Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy here.

McGarraghy said the government could not turn Girard over to Japan and if he is to be tried it must be by U. S. court martial.

The government is appealing from the part of the decision which forbids it to turn Girard over for a Japanese trial.

★ ★ ★

A U. S.-Japanese agreement gives the United States the right to handle criminal offenses committed in Japan by servicemen in performance of official duty. The agreement gives to Japan the authority to handle offenses not committed in a performance of official duty. Either country may waive its jurisdiction upon request of the other.

The United States decision to surrender Girard occurred under the section permitting the waiving of jurisdiction.

Lock Up Hoffa Jury for No Given Reason

WASHINGTON (INS) — The jury in the James R. Hoffa case was locked up last night for the first time since the trial of the Detroit Teamsters boss began two weeks ago.

★ ★ ★

Judge Burnita Matthews gave no reason for confining the jurors to the federal courthouse in the District of Columbia, and attorneys for both sides said they had not requested the move.

★ ★ ★

Chief Defense Counsel Edward Bennett Williams told newsmen yesterday he had never before seen a jury locked up in a non-capital trial. He also asked that the record show it was done over his objections.

When one juror complained, Judge Matthews said the U.S. marshal would take care of any inconveniences.

Hoffa and co-defendant Hyman Fischbach, a Miami, Fla., attorney, are charged with conspiracy and bribery to place a spy on the staff of the Senate Labor Racketeering Committee. Only one witness has been called so far.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

How can one learn to read the Beaufort arrow? What is it and who first used it?

★ ★ ★

The Beaufort arrow is a weather map arrow which reveals the force of the winds, their direction and the condition of the sky. It was first used by Sir Francis Beaufort, as we noted in an earlier weather piece, back in 1805.

The Beaufort arrow consists of a line, on the front of which is a circle. On the back is one or more barbs, which tells the velocity of the wind. The circle at the forward end of the arrow denotes the condition of the sky. If it's clear the sky is clear, if it's half darkened the sky is partly cloudy, etc.

★ ★ ★

The arrow points into the wind, of course. Six barbs are the maximum number to be found on the Beaufort arrow. That indicates a wind of hurricane force. Three barbs, for example, is a strong breeze, winds twenty-two to twenty-seven miles an hour. The Beaufort numbers go up to twelve, since each half barb is a number.

Thus force one winds are represented by arrows with a half barb, force five winds with two and a half barbs, and finally force twelve winds (hurricanes) with arrows with six barbs.

Government Must Continue to Function

'Operation Alert 1957' Provides Test for Washington During Nuclear 'Attack'

By ALVIN SPIVAK

WASHINGTON (INS) — What would happen to our government if nuclear bombs rained down on Washington in a sudden attack—obliterating the White House . . . the Capitol . . . the Pentagon?

A dramatic example of what might happen and defensive moves the government would take to stay alive and functioning will be given this Friday.

It is a major part of "Operation Alert 1957"—the most ambitious national civil defense exercise yet attempted by the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

"Operation Alert 1957" actually began yesterday, but only for civil defense personnel. Public participation will not be involved until Friday, following four days of intensive behind-the-scenes preparations.

This preparatory period is based on the idea that the nation, aware that an international crisis is coming to a military showdown, is mobilizing its home defenses.

Friday, the day selected for simulated all-out enemy attack, is "Survival Day." It is then the plans to save the U.S. government will be put into effect. What are those plans?

A lavish resort hotel in a scenic glen . . . a quiet college campus near a tiny country town . . . a massive cave-like shelter and a mountain-top retreat, along with some 80 equally remote locales, would be the capital of the United States if Washington were attacked.

LOCATIONS TOP SECRET

Their exact names and locations in a westerly arc ranging 30 to 300 miles from the capital are top secret, although some have leaked and local residents may be aware of others.

But there is nothing secret about their function which is: Keep the government running in case of war.

"Operation Alert" will test efficiency of these points and of federal personnel who would man them. It will test the highly classified "continuity of government program" which the office of defense mobilization (ODM) has devised and keeps bringing up to date behind locked, vault-like doors.

The program, in ODM's wording, is "limited specifically to those functions which must be continued in the event of war."

One hydrogen bomb, neatly placed, could wipe the White House, the Capitol and the Pentagon out of commission. These, and almost 40 lesser federal units, would be the nerve center of the nation in time of war. People in them would have to keep operating.

So, if a warning sounded—or possibly even before—they would have to be moved. Advance planning has given them places to go.

The President and his staff, Congress and its key aides and vital wartime agencies in each branch of the government would be relocated. Pre-determined headquarters, widely separated, would be used by them.

Many of the locations are government facilities regularly used as regional or field offices for various agencies. Others are colleges or hotels. More unique settings await the President and Pentagon leaders.

An elaborate communications network to tie all of them together is ready, and has been for some time. Skeleton crews are on permanent duty at each point, to get them ready at a moment's notice for full-time operation.

And, the ODM says: "Agencies, with few exceptions, have adequate indispensable records at safe locations readily available for use. These are kept current."

DEPENDS ON WARNING

When would the seat of government move? How would it go?

Both answers would depend on how much warning Washington would get in advance of an attack. Perhaps, even if Washington were unscarred by initial enemy raids, departments might be relocated on a precautionary basis.

This, an ODM spokesman says, would be done smoothly on a pre-arranged schedule through "all kinds" of transportation, including helicopters for the President and his aides.

But if the time is short—if enemy planes are on the way—run-of-the-mill officials would have to join the rest of Washington's population in an evacuation of the city.

Suppose there is no warning, or insufficient alarm. Suppose bombs fall and members of Congress and key government officials are killed before they can get away? Who would take over?

A line of succession for the presidency is established by the Constitution and by law. Special elections can be held for Congress, and governors can appoint interim successors for senators, and new cabinet members can be named.

Leukemia Victim to Visit Pompeii Ruins

Skelton's Son Gets Wish

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Young Richard Skelton, suffering from leukemia, is off to see the ruins of Pompeii. That's the sight the famed comic's son most wants to see in Europe.

The Skelton family—Red, wife Georgia, daughter Valentina, 10, and Richard, 9—left by Scandinavian Airlines early today for Copenhagen. Bo Roos Sr., business manager for the comic, also went along.

★ ★ ★

"I just want Richard to see some of the great wonders of the world," Red told a reporter as his carrot-topped son played nearby as vigorously as any other boy his age.

The boy's illness is in the so-called remission stage where the cancerous blood cells apparently lie dormant.

★ ★ ★

The boy's doctor has pronounced him in the pink for the trip. Specialists in Copenhagen, Zurich and other European cities will give the boy checkups en route.

"Our main concern is to see that he does not become overly tired on the trip," Mrs. Skelton said. That, she added, is a big job even when the child is home.

The itinerary has been arranged so that all European hops will be short ones and the stays in the various countries leisurely.

Countries to be visited will include Denmark, Sweden, Germany, Switzerland, England, France, Italy, Spain, the island of Majorca, the Azores and, finally, Mexico City and home.

★ ★ ★

The trip will take approximately six weeks or longer. Plans to visit the Far East have been postponed.

Richard's desire to visit Pompeii came about in typical small boy fashion. All last week, a local television station has been showing the old movie, "The Last Days of Pompeii."

Red said that his son watched it with childish fascination almost every night. The boy said he wanted to see the ruins and that was all his father needed.

Surviving Siamese Twin Recovering

BONN, Germany—An operation which cost the life of her Siamese twin sister may have cleared the way for a happy life for 5½-year-old Rosemarie Knaak, of Bonn, Germany. She is back at home with her parents, her sister Anke and her new baby brother Georg. A specially constructed surgical cap protects the great wound in Rosemarie's head—the only sign of her former union with her sister Lotti. Professor Roettgen, who performed the separating operation, said that while she has made an almost miraculous recovery, she will have to be watched closely for delayed action effects and nervous disturbances.

2 Suffer Minor Injuries as Car Misses Light

An accident at Walton boulevard and Perry street in Pontiac Township, yesterday sent an Oxford man and a Pontiac resident to Pontiac General Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

★ ★ ★

James D. Helton, 23, 1053 Stanley St., and John R. Leroy, 27, of 825 Drahner Rd., Oxford, collided at the corner as deputies reported Leroy missed a red light.

★ ★ ★

Helton suffered multiple cuts and bruises while Leroy's nose was fractured. Both were released.

Mother Held; Family Recovering

Cuts Children's Wrists

BALTIMORE (INS(— A 35-year-old Baltimore woman was held by police today after she slashed the wrists of her three children and then tried to commit suicide.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Gertrude Hoffman is under police guard at South Baltimore General Hospital. The mother and her children, Patricia and Paul, 6-year-old twins, and Adam, 16, are all expected to live.

No charges have been preferred against Mrs. Hoffman. Police quoted the mother as saying she tried to kill the children and take her own life because she felt her family might be breaking up and she might lose the youngsters.

Mrs. Hoffman told police she gave Adam and Paul sleeping pills and took four sleeping pills herself. Patricia was also sleeping when the mother attacked the children with a razor.

★ ★ ★

Neighbors rushed to the Hoffman home when they heard the children screaming.

Mrs. Hoffman said she had an argument with her husband, Adam, and he left the home shortly before midnight. She said her husband, a truck driver, had lost considerable money playing pinball machines.

Neighbors said the couple was despondent over the loss of their fourth child, John, 4, who died last year of cancer.

WOLF LAKE (AP) — Mrs. Zona Walter, 73, died yesterday of injuries received when an empty car rolled down a driveway on Wolf Lake road and hit her.

Accurate mapping of the Grand canyon was not completed until 1923.

Bees Not Like Rugs— Ruin Vacuum Cleaner

WINSTON SALEM, N. C. (AP) — B. M. Newman stuck the nozzle of his wife's vacuum cleaner in a hole to clean out a nest of bees that had settled in the weatherboarding of his home.

Within 10 minutes, the dead bees had gummed up the motor, ruining the machine.

It's going to cost Newman the price of a new vacuum to get out of the doghouse. The remaining bees still are living in the weatherboards.

She's Seen Odd Eggs, but This Tops 'Em All

LOS ANGELES (AP)—In her 84 years of experience Mrs. Ida B. Johnson has seen a lot of eggs, but never before yesterday had she seen one without a yolk.

Extra large yolks, yes. Two yolks, yes. But there was always a yolk. Yesterday it happened. An egg she brought to her daughter's home here from her own home in Yuma, Ariz., was without yolk. It was all white.

Hal Boyle Says:

Man of Faith Builds Eternal Home

ALCOA, Tenn. (AP) — William Andrew Nicholson is an 80-year-old carpenter who built an everlasting home because he confidently expects to live forever.

★ ★ ★

It is a fortress-like stone dwelling of 14 rooms and was built by Nicholson and his wife over an 8-year period. It is known locally as "Millenium Manor" and "The house that faith built."

"It cannot rust or rot," said Nicholson, whose keen blue eyes and white hair make him look like a patriarch in a striped sport shirt, "and if nothing wrecks it there is no reason why it shouldn't last a million years."

★ ★ ★

Nicholson himself is serenely certain that a million years from now he will be happy, alive and content with his house and lot.

His reason is simple. He loves Jesus Christ, and he accepts as a statement of literal fact that Bibeical promise that whosoever loves Christ will have everlasting life.

"I believe in the Bible, and I believe in life," he said. "I believe in preparing to live instead of preparing to die."

★ ★ ★

So it was that in 1938 the kindly carpenter and his wife, who had borne him 10 children, began at the age of 61 to build an eternal shelter for an eternal life on earth.

There was to go into it nothing but cement, rock and Tennessee pink marble.

Nicholson worked eight hours a day at his trade, then worked six to eight hours more on his home. He pushed 300-pound marble stones to their place in a wheelbarrow. His wife poured the mortar.

★ ★ ★

The house, completed in December 1946, is two stories tall. Its outside walls are from two to three feet thick. It has two bathrooms furnished with huge stone and cement chairs. The roof alone contains 432 tons of rock.

Six years ago Mrs. Nicholson died of cancer, leaving her husband lonely but still sure he himself will enjoy eternal life.

"It was hard to be parted from her after so many years," he said. "My wife believed in me, but her faith in eternal life was weak. She tried to believe, but she had her doubts. There came times when she talked of dying."

Nicholson's unusual home has become something of a tourist attraction. He says he has been offered $150,000 for it, but has no intention of selling.

"What would I want with the money?" he asked. "I have everything I need.

"I haven't been sick for 40 years. I don't worry about the atomic bomb — or anything else. I let nothing bother me.

★ ★ ★

"I keep healthy by serving God the best I know how. I don't go to church. I used to belong to a church, but got out. They didn't like my views."

One of Nicholson's views that have led some of his neighbors to regard him as eccentric is his conviction that the world will be destroyed soon — probably by 1959 — but that 144,000 righteous, including himself, will be saved.

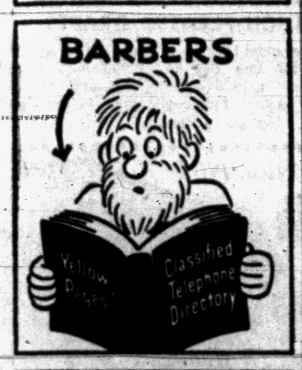

★ ★ ★

Nicholson himself doesn't mind what his neighbors think, or anyone else for that matter.

However long he lives himself, the rugged, picturesque home he built stands as a temple of love—a poor man's pyramid — the testimony in stone of a mighty faith that stirred a simple heart

TRADING'S TERRIFIC RIGHT NOW!

Treating a nerve disorder in 1889

This early engraving from the Culver Collection shows how inadequate hospital treatment was for nerve disorders in 1889. How fortunate we are to have the care our modern Blue Cross participating hospitals can give us.

...thank goodness times have changed!

In the long history of nerve disorders, one of the most unusual treatments of all was the suspensory treatment.

The unfortunate patient was virtually "hanged from the rafters" in an attempt to stretch his nerves back to normal and thereby relieve his condition.

While the suspensory treatment was not a success . . . it did serve a purpose. It was among the countless experimental treatments that over the years have given our doctors the knowledge and means to relieve so many nerve disorders today.

In neurology, our surgeons now perform sensitive operations that were thought to be impossible even a short ten years ago. Remarkable new miracle drugs are proving to be highly successful. And through physical therapy—now a wonderfully advanced science—many a patient who once might have been considered hopeless can lead a useful life.

Medical progress like this means better hospital care for all of us. The larger hospital staffs . . . the costly drugs and equipment . . . the skilled hands it takes to administer this care mean higher hospital bills, too.

But isn't the cost of living worth it?

If you are a member of Michigan Blue Cross, you need never worry about higher hospital bills at the time of your illness. For Michigan Blue Cross pays the full cost of basic hospital services. And Michigan Blue Shield—the companion plan—helps pay for the finest doctor care in the world today.

Tradition as Well as Heat Can Botch Up July Weddings

Superstitions Beset Bridal Couples

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—This is the sticky, irritable season of the year when most romantic couples, like retread tires, tend to experience blowouts.

★ ★ ★

An amour which is mightily ardent in June can be mighty arduous in July, and anyone who contemplates getting married before Labor Day—it seems here—is not only blinded by love, but dotty by nature as well.

Nevertheless, there are thousands of them, the happily blind and the dotty, mostly young and oblivious to humidity, who plan this month to trade in their bachelor buttons for a honeymoon amid the hives.

It is to these daring dreamers that these words are respectfully, admiringly and sympathetically directed.

★ ★ ★

Figuring that things will be tough enough for the earnest honeymooner, what with the resorts being filled up and the poison ivy in its shiniest glory, I will reveal some lesser-known pitfalls to avoid.

At no other time in life is one more open to superstititous persuasion than the day of (and week following) his or her wedding, so the following are some old "newwives' tales" to watch, lest tradition as well as heat botch up the sublimity.

CROWNED WITH CAKE

(1) The wedding cake. For centuries, the cake has been considered a delicacy to enhance the marriage chances of the spinster guests, who slept on hunks of same, allegedly thus assuring themselves not only sticky bed linen but an early mate.

★ ★ ★

This ritual is not enough. The old Romans, who started it, insisted the cake be broken over the bride's head, allegedly assuring her wealth along with an early shampoo.

(2) Bride over the threshold. It is a bad omen to trip during the wedding day, said the Romans, and it is important for a bride to enter her new home with the left foot.

Because women are awkward and stupid (especially in orange blossoms and togas) bridegrooms are advised to cart them over the mat and drop them, port side first, where they belong.

★ ★ ★

(3) Bridal costume. If a bride is married in white, she's "chosen aright." If blue, her bridegroom is true; pearl, she'll live in a whirl. However, beware pink—her spirits will sink) yellow — she's ashamed of the fellow, and red—she'd better be dead.

SUN FOR CHILDREN

(4) Happy is the bride the sun shines on. It is scarcely necessary to comment upon this, beyond saying that the sun's rays are supposed to produce many children. It is suggested here that July marriages are more prolific than most.

★ ★ ★

(5) The best man. Roman custom made it necessary to have an extra man, beside the bridegroom, to fight off the angry relatives when a bride was captured by force. The best man to have around in July needs less strength, more talcum.

(6) Throwing rice at the bride. The Hindus started this tradition—the bride throwing three handfuls of rice at the bridegroom, and rice-versa. It was a religious rite, assuring fertility.

Today there is perfumed wedding rice for more festive flinging. It is a commercial rite, assuring nothing more than (you'll excuse the old traditional expression) a "stinkin' fine send-off" for the happy couple.

Social Security Payment Increase?

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

You can expect an effort to be made in Congress next year to raise Social Security payments and, perhaps, add a contributory hospitalization program to the Social Security Law.

Of course, whether either of the proposals will get any further than the talking stage is anybody's guess. And, if they do, there's no way of knowing now what form the changes might take.

A top Social Security expert, Prof. Wilbur J. Cohen of the University of Michigan, told me of changes he plans to suggest to Congress. Because of his recognition in the field his proposals could well become the basis for changes next year.

Cohen, who resigned about 18 months ago as director of research for the Social Security Administration, said he would propose that Social Security payments be increased an average of 10 per cent. He said he also would propose adding to the Social Security law a hospitalization plan for people over 65.

★ ★ ★

The payment increase would go to the more than 10 million persons now on Social Security as well as those who come on in the future.

RAISE MONTHLY PAYMENTS

It would raise the average payments now being paid from about $66 a month to between $72 and $74 a month. The top Social Security payment to an individual retired worker would be increased to $151.80 a month from the present top of $108.50. This means that a retired worker and his wife at 65 could receive as high as $227.40 a month.

Cohen's plan for Social Security hospitalization for people over 65 would require a worker to pay tax on his wages throughout his working years. The increase in payments also calls for an increase in the present Social Security tax.

Each of the programs would be financed by an increase in the present Social Security tax of ¼ of one per cent on a worker and his employer. Thus, the total increase in Social Security tax for the two programs would be one per cent. The tax would be levied on the first $6,000 of a person's wages, rather than the present $4,200 a year.

The tax for self-employed persons would be somewhat higher than the amount an individual worker would be required to pay.

WILL MEET RESISTANCE

Of the two proposals, the hospitalization program will probably meet the most resistance from congressmen and the administration.

There have been government medical and hospital care programs proposed before, but none has ever got very far. Such proposals, however, have generally been to provide for a program covering persons of all ages.

The main objection to these proposals has been that people should be covered by voluntary private health insurance. But, it's a widely accepted fact that voluntary health insurance doesn't meet the needs of people over 65, because very little of this insurance gives broad coverage to retired workers.

Cohen said he didn't know how his suggested Social Security changes would fare with Congress or the Eisenhower Administration, but that he felt both would be receptive.

In any case, he said they should be. The needs of today's older people have to be met in some way. It's better, he said, to meet them on a contributory basis under the Social Security law than to take the necessary money out of general tax funds.

Need Women in Public Life, William Says

DETROIT (AP) — The need for "more and more women in business, the professions, politics and public life" was emphasized by Gov. G. Mennen Williams Sunday because "our society is not really complete unless women participate fully in every aspect of it."

Williams spoke before some 600 women at a convention session of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

The governor said the social revolution, which was expected but did not take place when women were given the ballot in 1920, now is under way and although "the effect has been delayed, it is here."

He suggested "three directions in which the leadership of women can make itself felt to the betterment of our way of life."

They were: Working to bring about a "higher consciousness of public responsibility in the world of business"; keeping government "centered on its only real business—the well-being of the people," and, the exercise of female influence in all spheres of life "to keep our society family-centered."

Pennsylvania Dutchman Battalion Joins Navy

KUTZTOWN, Pa. (AP)—The Navy received another battalion of Pennsylvania Dutchmen over the weekend as the annual Pennsylvania Dutch Folk Festival ended here.

For the third year in a row a Distlefink battalion was sworn into the Navy — this time 198 strong. "Mother Distlefink" was there to remind them of the shoo-fly pies awaiting their return from the Navy. She was Mrs. Elsie Mertz, Easton, Pa., who earned the title in a baking contest with other Pennsylvania Dutch women.

The "Distlefink" title comes from the name of the mythical bird which is a symbol of Pennsylvania Dutch culture.

City, County Agencies in Startling Contrast

Pontiac citizens who may be wondering what is going on in their Police Department might well take a look at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. These two law enforcement agencies present a startling contrast at the present moment.

★ ★ ★

An organized group of city policemen is openly critical of Chief of Police Herbert Straley. These men say the Chief should be removed, and that they stand ready to prefer charges against him as soon as it is determined what body is to act in the matter. Chief Straley welcomes an investigation by any qualified man or board.

★ ★ ★

Over in Sheriff Frank Irons' Department, on the other hand, Oakland County's law enforcement men are working in peace and harmony. There is no bickering. No one is asking for the Sheriff's scalp, nor is anyone suggesting any need for an investigation.

It would be bad enough to have a squabble such as has torn the Police Department asunder in any other department of the city government, but it is particularly unfortunate to have it in a department charged with enforcing the law.

★ ★ ★

Five weeks have elapsed since the original controversy and no positive action has been taken. Currently the Police Department is operating without any top leadership with sufficient authority to make definite decisions. This includes the City Commission, City Manager and the Chief of Police.

The Civil Service Commission states that action will be taken in the next 30 days.

How long must a city the size of Pontiac go along without someone with authority heading up the protection of our citizens?

★ ★ ★

Because of the nature of its work this department takes on some of the characteristics of a military force. Discipline and a unified spirit with high morale are more vital than in offices where the work is largely clerical.

That is why it is highly important to all residents of the city that the situation be investigated and positive action taken to see that the proper spirit is restored in the Police Department.

★ ★ ★

The work of the department is difficult at best, even when the Chief and men are working together in harmony. When they are pulling at cross purposes, they clearly cannot do as effective a job, and they are not the ones who will suffer as a result. It is the citizens of Pontiac.

It is on behalf of all the residents of the city that The Press has urged that a fair, thorough investigation be made so that all may know where the fault lies. Once the facts have been determined, corrective action can be undertaken.

Power of Nuclear Blast Is Almost Unbelievable

Facts regarding the latest nuclear blast set off at the atomic test site in Nevada recently are so awesome as to be almost unbelievable.

The flash could be seen by practically everyone west of the Rocky Mountains, as far north as Canada, as far south as Mexico and as far west as eight hundred miles out in the Pacific Ocean.

It shattered windows and dented buildings thirty-five miles away. Heat of the explosion set fire to brush several miles to the north. Where newsmen were observing, thirteen miles away, it felt like passing the open door of a blast furnace.

★ ★ ★

The explosion rattled windows in Los Angeles, three hundred miles to the southwest, and shook the area so hard that many thought it was an earthquake. The resulting fireball was like a giant sun, then a huge mushroom-like cloud formed.

Perhaps strangest of all, was the fact that very little fallout occurred. This is a most encouraging development, reassuring to millions of people who have feared the effects of these continuing tests.

★ ★ ★

This latest explosion was the most powerful ever set off in the United States. It was, however, much less powerful than several that have been set off in earlier tests conducted in the South Pacific.

Cleaning up the bombs so that there is practically no fallout removes the greatest danger which has accompanied these nuclear tests. But the tremendous power revealed by them is an awesome thing to contemplate.

★ ★ ★

If a war ever is fought with such weapons, the resulting destruction will be almost too great to contemplate. Perhaps in this tremendous concentration of power lies man's greatest hope for peace. Few men would care to take the responsibility of touching off so terrible a conflict.

You Don't Have to Be There, but Your Dollars Do

David Lawrence Says:

'Phony' Idea Behind Rights Battle

WASHINGTON — The biggest "phony" in American politics—the idea that, if you favor particular racial or ethnic groups, you win their votes in the next election—is one of the main fallacies behind the so-called "civil rights" controversy in Congress.

LAWRENCE

Actually, every scientific poll taken shows that the Negro vote in the United States follows the pattern of economic influence as it usually affects other groups of comparable income.

★ ★ ★

Despite the attitude of Southern Democrats, a heavy majority of the Negroes in the North cling to the Democratic Party. Even in the face of the Republican effort to take credit for Chief Justice Warren's leadership in formulating the desegregation decision handed down in 1954 by the Supreme Court, Negro voters in the 1956 presidential election gave the bulk of their support to the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket.

★ ★ ★

Notwithstanding also all the fanfare of Republican speakers who pointed to President Eisenhower's prompt measures in putting "integration" into effect in the schools of the District of Columbia and other acts and speeches on his part between 1952 and 1956 avowedly opposing segregation, Negro voters gave the Eisenhower ticket in last year's election only 36 per cent of their vote, according to a post-election study and poll made by the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan and published last March.

★ ★ ★

It backs up the Gallup news release of Jan. 16 last, which showed Republicans as having obtained 39 per cent among Negro voters in 1956.

GAIN ONE POINT

While both these studies recorded a marked gain over 1952 for the Republicans, it is significant that, according to the University of Michigan study, Republicans in 1948 had 35 per cent of the Negro vote, while in 1956 they got 36 per cent—only one more percentage point than eight years before.

★ ★ ★

In fact, the research staff of the Republican National Committee in its summary report of the 1956 election issued in May of this year says:

★ ★ ★

"In spite of considerable improvement in the Republican vote among Negroes, indications are that more than three-fifths of the Negro voting population continued to vote Democrat in 1956."

★ ★ ★

Why isn't all the "civil rights" agitation by the Republicans more successful in winning Negro votes? The answer is to be found in looking at the same Michigan study with respect to low-income groups as a whole.

It shows that those voters earning below $2,000 a year—both White and Negro—went from 39 per cent Republican in 1948 to 58 per cent in 1952 and then to 60 per cent in 1956.

But in wards in and around Chicago which are composed predominantly of Negro voters with low incomes, election statistics show the Republican percentage of the vote to be 23 per cent in 1952 and about 32 per cent in 1956. This was a substantial gain, but still the Democrats got 68 per cent in 1956.

MORE NORMAL DIVISION

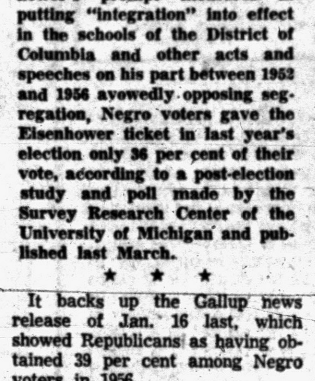

Looking, however, at the wards with Negroes of higher incomes, the Republican percentage was 40.1 per cent in 1952 and 43.7 per cent in 1956—a more normal division for a labor group. The Gallup Poll shows union labor throughout the country as 39 per cent Republican in 1952 and 43 per cent Republican in 1956.

★ ★ ★

The reason percentages for Republicans among lower-income Negro voters are below the lower-income group in the nation as a whole is because a higher proportion of individuals with lower incomes is to be found among Negroes than among whites.

There is still a feeling, moreover, among Negro voters that the New Deal was an economic emancipation for them. The WPA, for instance, and the vast relief appropriations happened to do more for the Negroes than for any other single group.

The Country Parson

"A man ought to be more interested in what religion can do to him than for him."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Reports One Nutrition Aid Cleared 4-Way Trouble

"Three years ago," says an Indiana reader, "I had neck and spinal trouble, pyorrhea and leg cramps. Following your suggestion, I started supplementing my diet with calcium and vitamin D in capsule form (6 daily). Now my arthritis (as the doctor called it after reading the X-ray) is all gone, gums and teeth are much better, and the leg cramps no longer occur."

DR. BRADY

At first blush, there may seem to be little or no relation between neck or spinal trouble, pyorrhea and leg cramps. It may seem so to most doctors and folks, I mean. Years ago it would have seemed so to me. We didn't know much about nutrition then.

I don't remember what suggestion I may have made three years ago, but today I'd advise the reader to study one or more of the folowing:

1. Volumette 1 of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health titled "Save Your Teeth."
2. Volumette 12, titled "Chronic Joint Disability."
3. Volumette 26, titled "The Calcium Shortage."
4. Pamphlet on Adult Tetany.
5. "Save Your Teeth," includes chapters on "pyorrhea."
6. "Chronic Joint Disability," deals with rheumatiz.

The Calcium Shortage gives what I believe is a fair and reasonable description of the everyday ailments or complaints which are manifestations of calcium deficiency.

"The Adult Tetany" pamphlet tells how to prevent such cramps, whether in the legs or feet or hands or arms or other muscles.

For 1, 12, or 26 send stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35c. For "Adult Tetany" pamphlet send, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

What the Indiana reader calls pyorrhea ("pyo" means pus, "rhea" means flow or discharge—the full name is pyorrhea alveolaris, flow or discharge of pus from tooth sockets) is not a disease, but physical degeneration of gums, tooth sockets, jawbone, muscles.

So is rheumatiz — and I do NOT mean "arthritis." If you think "arthritis" is something special or exclusive and that eventually one of these "miracle medicines" is really going to cure something, send for Volumette 12. At the same time, ask for the free pamphlet "Calcium and Rheumatiz."

I adopted the word "rheumatiz" to signify chronic joint disability.

Perhaps in one case out of a hundred, chronic joint disability may be genuine arthritis — joint inflammation. But in most cases, the trouble is physical degeneration of joint tissues — which I call rheumatiz for short.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Tells Van Atta's Interest in Waterford Teenagers

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Well, so now we can do without Chief Van Atta. Who says so? Certainly not the teenager. There's one man who is genuinely concerned about the welfare of us young adults.

He made himself known to us in a way seldom practiced by men of his station. He attended our games, trusted our good sportsmanship and good judgment and was only too glad to speak at our assemblies and lecture in our classes when asked. He gave many of his free hours to talk to teenagers about their troubles and difficulties and nothing was too small to bring to his attention.

You got the story right, but the facts wrong. The story, instead of reading "Chief loses job" should have read "law loses contact with youth."

Agrees Teacher Discussion Silly

I'll say the teacher discussion is getting ridiculous. Who do teachers think they're kidding when they say they get paid only three days they don't work? If we figured it on the basis of days actually worked, that would mean teachers get paid $114 a week at the very minimum. Maybe teachers don't realize it, but taxpayers figure they're paying teachers on a yearly basis, and even when it's figured that way, teachers don't have a gripe coming. It amounts to over $80 a week year around, and that's with no experience and just a bachelor's degree, with guaranteed raises.

We ordinary working people could figure we don't get a paid vacation, too, if we were to add our vacation pay to the rest of the year's wages, like teachers seem to be doing.

They're not very smart figuring it that way, though, because when the public realizes they're paying $114 a week to very Tom, Dick and Susy who comes out of college with a teacher's certificate, they're sure going to wait a good long time before they approve of any more raises. Teachers are going to cook their own goose with all their silly complaints.

White Collar Worker

I don't begrudge teachers one dime of the money they're getting, but I think it's about time they stopped talking about their poor salaries. If they were being paid as poorly as some areas, it would be different, but Pontiac's pay scale is excellent, even compared to other fields.

'Do They Grade All Oiled Roads?'

A group of people on Bald Mountain Road got together and had the road oiled in front of our property at the cost of $112 for 850 feet. About a month later the superintendent of roads at Lake Orion decided the road was too rough and had it graded, but only where the oil is, not where the county had put a thin coat of chloride.

Now our road is getting dusty. We called the superintendent about it, and he said the road was too rough and we should have had chloride put on it in the first place. The rest of the road is rougher, but they haven't graded it.

Do they grade other roads that people have gone to the expense of having oiled so they can keep their windows and doors open without having dust?

How seldom we appreciate . . . The health we have today! . . . We take it quite for granted, as . . . We go along our way . . . We sleep and rise, and go about . . . Our usual pursuits . . . With steps as confident as if . . . We walked in magic boots . . . Then suddenly we waver, with . . . A burning of the head . . . That is a certain warning we . . . Should get right into bed . . . And as our strength begins to ebb . . . We very clearly see . . . How vital and how valuable . . . Just being well can be . . . So let us think more frequently . . . About our daily health . . . And thank almighty God for this . . . Our most important wealth.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Tells Teens How to Win Friends

Although Edith has been a devotee of Emily Post she is still friendless and unhappy. So I suggested that she use a little simple magic which will always win friends and popularity for everybody with an average brain and just a normal chassis and paint job. Scrapbook this case and watch for tomorrow's follow-up.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-332: Edith L., aged 16, is a shy high school junior.

"Dr. Crane, I have a real problem," she began, timidly, "and it means everything in the world to me.

DR. CRANE

"For I am so unhappy I actually wish I were dead. I guess you would say I am average in looks, wouldn't you?

"But I am not average in friends, for nobody pays any attention to me: In fact, I don't even have any close girl friends.

"And the boys ignore me, too. Even if one of them sits beside me in class and speaks, I get confused and don't know what to say, so I may keep quiet, as if I didn't hear him.

"Is it possible to learn how to be popular? If so, I'll do anything you say to win friends."

HOW TO WIN FRIENDS

The winning of friends is much like playing harmoniously at the piano keyboard.

You don't inherit either accomplishment, but must learn the definite rules and then practice them frequently.

If you wish to get along harmoniously with people, you must realize a few simple facts concerning psychology.

First, everybody bears this invisible tattoo across his chest:

"I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT."

Edith has it indelibly branded across her chest, too, which is why she craves friends and popularity. And so do all her classmates.

But during the teens, young people are often shy and not very skillful in starting conversations, or carrying them forward, once they are begun.

So the second rule for winning friends consists of overcoming your fear about "breaking the ice" and thus launching a conversation.

BREAK THE ICE

"But I thought Emily Post recommends that girls wait for the boy to make advances?" Edith protested feebly.

"Suppose the boy is more shy than you are?" I countered. "Then what? If he sits there without a word, are you going to let him get away from you because of Emily Post's advice?"

"No, I don't want to," Edith replied.

So I gave her the practical strategy by which to get a boy talking in animated fashion.

Start out with a smile for him when he sits down in the seat next to you. For a smile is a non-verbal compliment.

★ ★ ★

It indicates that he is pleasing to you and that you regard him as an important personage, so that fulfills the invisible motto tattooed over his chest.

He'll grin back at you 9 times out of 10. Just count and see:

But a girl must not stop just with this exchange of smiles. She must get her vocal cords into action.

★ ★ ★

"You look so happy," Edith can add, "that I'll bet you have all your homework problems solved correctly. I wish I were as smart as you!"

SIMPLICITY WINS 'EM

"But wouldn't he see through that ruse?" Edith argued. "Your formula seems so simple, Dr. Crane."

But it is the simple rules of science that get results. The intellectual snobs or "stuffed shirts" try to confuse you with five-syllable words and complicated circumlocutions.

But magicians who work on the stage, as well as the vast army of "magicians" who sell merchandise and win friends, use the utmost simplicity to gain their ends.

So send for my booklet "How to Become a Popular Conversationalist" enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents. And watch tomorrow's case.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Contrary to popular belief, porcupines do not shoot their quills. The erroneous notion probably arises from the animals habit, when cornered, of fighting back with lightning strokes of its dart-studded tail.

Bob Considine Says:

Dice More Dangerous Than Plane

NEW YORK (INS)—A comforting thought for the air traveler is that the pilot and crew of an airliner are every bit as concerned about their continued health as the traveler is about his own. More so, let's say, since some of the lines started serving booze on the long jumps.

★ ★ ★

We were an hour out of Las Vegas the other night, and leveled off at 17,000, and ready to settle down for the night. The lady in the berth across the aisle had taken her sleeping pill. Somebody commented on what a soothing sound the engines of the big Connie made.

But one instrument in the forest that is the cockpit of one of these great tin birds contradicted the last statement. No. 3 engine was getting too hot.

There was a brief burst of flame, seen by few, if any, on the plane. The pilot pushed a button that squirted a chemical solution through the engine, dousing the fire, and he turned it off and feathered the propellor.

We in the plane knew nothing about it until the seat belt sign came on. Three quiet chimes sounded, and one of the hostesses skipped up front. She came back a moment later.

"We're returning to Las Vegas," she said.

SQUAWKS OF ANGER

There were squawks of indignation, and demands for an explanation of this affront to individual time schedules. But back and down we came for a perfect landing on three engines.

★ ★ ★

As we hit the ground the bad engine flamed again, for all to see. And again the pilot put out the fire on the gas-loaded wing.

Nobody squawked after that.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch-like termbial building at Las Vegas, men connected with the airline had efficiently phoned Los Angeles for a fresh plane. A crew for it was awakened, sped to the Los Angeles International Airport, gassed it, and took off.

For passengers who now preferred to fly on to Los Angeles and pick up a New York plane from there, reservations were scrounged on three milk-run planes going out through the night, as well as reservations on the eastbound Los Angeles planes.

There would be a three-hour delay at the field nevertheless, the young man at the TWA counter said, after saying how sorry he was about the whole thin. "Would anyone care to return to Las Vegas proper?" he asked.

A SUPER HUNCH

Instantly, a gleam shone in the eye of every confirmed dice shooter in the party. Here, plainly, was the hunch to end all hunches. Man loses on dice, leaves Las Vegas in disgust, plane's working fine, suddenly returns. Why, it was all too plain, too much of a chance to let go by.

★ ★ ★

Only then did the passengers have casualties.

Nothing had happened to the dice downtown, it was soon apparent. They were still the only cold objects in a town that even at night seemed situated in an oven.

The hunch was . . . well, just a hunch.

"Did you lose all kinds of money?" the pretty red-headed stewardess asked of a bedraggled passenger as he climbed the steps of the fresh plane.

"Not at all," he said with the dignity and perseverance of the compleat craps-shooter, "only American money."

The first thing that impressed this reporter about the big shake-up in the Kremlin's batting order, moving Khrushchev into the clean-up spot backed by Zhukov, was that somebody in our cloak and dagger department booted one. We have a feeling that our diplomats were caught with their striped pants down, on this one.

★ ★ ★

The experts and soothsayers have had a good whack at this change over the weekend. So we might as well try our hand:

—Khrushy is to be trusted about as much as an adder. Anybody who can get as plastered as he can in public, and throw this weight around, is a dangerous guy to have as holder of the key to Russia's atomic arsenal.

TAMER VIEWPOINT

—Zhukov, who apparently has lots to say there because he has the army, has a tamer view on waging war and, like all generals, will never really feel that he has enough with which to start a serious engagement.

★ ★ ★

But this bum's no bargain either, as we measure bargains. He was so contemptuous of the life and well-being of his troops during World War II that he used to order men to march across fields the Germans had mined, to "clear" the fields for the tanks, trucks and cars to come.

The men, of course, were blown to bits.

Tricks of Trade Helpful in Making Trips Success

OMAHA, Neb. (INS) — There are tricks in all trades, including the art of planning a successful trip.

By a careful use of these tricks, satisfactory results can be reached without undue strains on the nerves or pocketbook.

THREE STEPS

These "tricks" can be carried out through the use of three easy steps: Foresight or planning ahead, coordination in selecting luggage, wardrobe and accessories, and elimination of the non-essentials. "If in doubt, leave it out."

★ ★ ★

This is what a travel consultant for one railroad suggests (Union Pacific Railroad). This travelling travel expert says make a check list of your needs. Be practical. If you or members of your family have sensitive feet and you plan to do a lot of walking, visit chiropodist. Pack one pair of comfortable walking shoes for each one, even if you eliminate something less essential. And don't forget sunglasses, prescriptions, camera.

It is advisable to find out as much as possible about the country you plan to visit. This may aid you in the choice of a wardrobe.

Carry a wallet, if you like, while traveling, but keep your tickets, travelers' checks, and important items in separate zippered compartments of a good-sized handbag. Keep a small purse readily at hand with not more than ten dollars in small bills and change for tips, taxis, etc.

FULL BENEFIT

Derive full benefit from the suitcase. Don't bulk your clothes towards the center, so that you have to sit on your case to close it. Pack in even layers with the heavy or bulky items on the bottom. Alternate the placement of your garments, packing from left to right and vice versa.

Overnight needs for the entire family can be placed in one bag so that your other luggage need not be disturbed. Suitcases should be locked and clearly tagged.

Finally, the traveler who really knows the "tricks of the trade" will be prepared for all extremes in weather and will pack an adaptable, interchangeable wardrobe, which is easily cared for, comfortable, and attractive.

Ike Picks Out Vacation Spot, Keeps It Secret

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House indicated today that President Eisenhower has picked a vacation site, possibly in a New England area.

"I think I know where the President will go and I hope to be able to make an announcement soon," press secretary James C. Hagerty told a news conference.

★ ★ ★

Hagerty noted that Eisenhower said two weeks ago he hoped to be able to get away some place "to the northward" of Washington. Hagerty said today that was the only clue he could provide at this time.

He did say in response to questions, however, that Secret Service agents have been checking "quite a lot of places" in the Cape Cod, Mass., vicinity.

Hagerty characterized as "not true" published reports that Eisenhower already had selected a site at Oyster Harbors in the Cape Cod area.

As for the timing of the President's vacation, Hagerty said he still had no information on that.

Bee's Mouthy Antics District Dog Lover

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP) — A ring judge was calling instructions at a dog show when he suddenly threw his hands to his mouth.

Eyes all over the arena flicked from champion dogs to Milo D. Pearsall of Holdbrook, N.Y. As they watched, a bee appeared at Pearsall's mouth, stung his upper lip and buzzed away.

Pearsall said the bee first stung the inside of his throat, after flying into his mouth. He was treated by a doctor and continued his duties, apparently suffering no ill effects.

DON'T BUY ANY CAR BEFORE YOU DRIVE A CHEVY... ITS BEST SHOWROOM IS THE ROAD.

Beauty in motion—Chevrolet Bel Air Sport Sedan with Body by Fisher.

Here's why Chevy's best showroom is the road!

World War II Bomb Perils German City

KASSEL, Germany (AP)—A World War II bomb discovered in the heart of this West German city was neutralized early today after several hundred frightened families had been removed from the area.

★ ★ ★

German authorities said the projectile was a 1,000-pound American bomb with a special type of acid fuse. Munitions expert Adolf Wenig said a special key had to be made to defuse the bomb. Of some 3,000 bombs that he has secured since the end of the war, it was only the third of its type he had seen, Wenig said.

Ouster of Red Leaders Seen as Counterattack

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Reports from Moscow circulating in this Communist capital say Russia's ruling Presidium actually voted to oust Nikita Khruschev but he turned the tables to dump his top opponents.

The Soviet Communist party chief was said to have had the powerful backing of Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov and First Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan in turning back the move against him.

★ ★ ★

This account, which originated with Communist sources in the Soviet capital, could not be confirmed officially but close observers of Russian affairs believe it probably is true. It goes like this:

★ ★ ★

A special ses ions ohe Presidium was held June 17. It presumably was called at the request of now ousted Deputy Premier V. M. Molotov and his supporters.

With three unidentified members absent, a majority supported a formal motion to remove Khrushchev and name a new Communist party hierarchy, including all new party secretaries.

Khrushchev — with only Zhukov and Mikoyan in his corner — challenged the vote. He declared he was elected first secretary by the party Central Committee, was responsible to and could be fired only by the committee.

Zhukov's support of Khrushchev's position carried special weight because the marshal spoke as head of the armed forces.

★ ★ ★

Faced with that opposition, the Presidium members agreed to call a meeting of the Central Committee. It opened June 22 and continued through June 29.

When the committee session ended, Khrushchev came out with its full backing and Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich were booted out.

★ ★ ★

From Warsaw came a report that the chief differences between Khrushchev and his opponents centered on agricultural policy.

The Moscow correspondent of the Polish Communist organ Trybuna Ludu said the Molotov group was "especially dogmatic and remote from reality" in opposing the decision to abolish compulsory delivery to the state of farm products from privately owned plots. This is a major plank in Khrushchev's program to increase agricultural production by giving the farmers more incentive.

★ ★ ★

Trybuna Ludu said the Molotov group demanded that Khrushchev delay his plans to match U. S. production of meat, milk and butter until the Soviet Union reached U. S. levels in steel, coal and other heavy industrial products.

★ ★ ★

The article also said Molotov was especially opposed to Khrushchev's pet scheme for the cultivation of vast areas of virgin land, claiming they were "often stricken by drought and it is not worth putting so much money and effort into them."

Another version of the story behind the Kremlin shakeup, published in the London Daily Express attributed it to the effect a "new leakage of U.S. atomic secrets to Russia."

★ ★ ★

Chapman Pincher, science writer for the Express, said the leakage convinced Khrushchev that current American stocks of hydrogenombs "could make almost the whole of Russia uninhabitable" and that the Kremlin therefore could not follow the Stalin-type foreign policy advocated by Molotov.

★ ★ ★

Pincher did not indicate by whom or how the alleged leak of atomic secrets occurred. He indicated his information came from "British intelligence authorities."

City to Consider Change in Barber Shop Hours

Should barber shops in Pontiac be allowed to remain open until 8 Friday and Saturday nights? That's a question which will be put before city commissioners tonight.

A petition signed by 80 South Side residents has been submitted seeking an amendment to Pontiac's 1947 barber ordinance to allow the extra two hours of business.

The petition was circulated by Andrew Culp, a barber at 141 W. South Blvd. Among the signers were three other barbers.

The City Commission adopted the present ordinance April 29, 1947, limiting shop's hours to between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. six days a week, and no business at all on six holidays.

★ ★ ★

The city has also scheduled public hearings tonight on special assessment rolls covering the financing of new concrete paving projects for Columbia avenue between Baldwin to Stanley, and for Featherstone avenue between Mt. Clemens and the east city limits.

HEARING ON SEWERS

A third hearing has been set for the financing of storm sewers on Featherstone between Mt. Clemens and eastern city limits.

Two other hearings will be on assessment rolls covering curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Jefferson street from Summit to Cadillac, and for a sidewalk on the north side of Second avenue from Joslyn to 171.4 feet east.

payments during confirmations of seven other public improvement jobs in the city.

★ ★ ★

Additional public hearings are on tap for the proposed rezoning of Lots 91 and 92 (assessor's plat 102) on Joslyn to Commercial 1, and for rezoning Lots 81 to 96 (assessor's plat 128) on Orchard Lake avenue to Commercial 1 also.

The City Planning Commission has recommended approval of these rezonings, along with a change to Commercial 1 and Residential 3 of part of Lot 1 (assessor's plat 85) on Branch street.

A sewer installation proposal for the Baldwin-Dixie Subdivision also has a place on a 24-point docket.

★ ★ ★

The Bemis Olsen Post 113 of the Amvets has submitted a request to hold a circus Aug. 8 on Oakland avenue.

Another request—this one by the Tel-Huron Merchants Assn.—to hold a festival July 15-20 will be considered by commissioners.

Grant 11th-Hour Stay to 'Mad Dog' Killer

DANVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Leslie Irvin, Indiana's "mad dog" killer, scheduled to die in the electric chair early today, was granted a last-minute stay of execution last night.

An indefinite delay of Irvin's execution was ordered by Judge Walter C. Lindley of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals five hours before the scheduled execution in the Indiana State Prison at Michigan City.

★ ★ ★

It was the fourth time Irwin's execution had been put off.

Judge Lindley delayed execution after conferring for 90 minutes with two of Irvin's lawyers at Lindley's Danville home.

The judge issued the stay until the 7th District Court of Appeals can decide whether it will review the case. The court now is iin summer recess and wil lnot reconvene until September.

EARLY ACTION IMPROBABLE

Court attaches said it was improbable that the court would be reconvened to hear the appeal.

Irvin, 33-year-old pipefitter, was convicted in the holdup-slaying of Wesley Kerr in an Evansville, Ind., filling station Dec. 23, 1954. He was given the death penalty by a Princeton, Ind., jury a year later.

Attorneys Ready Leopold Appeal

Launching Fourth Bid for Slayer's Parole Since 1953

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Attorneys for Nathan Leopold, imprisoned since 1924 for the thrill slaying of a teen-age Chicago boy, prepared today to plead for his parole. It will be his fourth bid for parole since 1953.

The 52-year-old Leopold, serving an 85-year sentence in Stateville Prison in Joliet, will not appear before the board.

★ ★ ★

The record of the savage murder of Bobby Franks, 14, by Leopold and his now dead colleague Richard Loeb, both brilliant university students and sons of wealthy families, will be unveiled once again in Leopold's latest effort to win freedom from prison. Loeb was slain in prison by another inmate nearly 20 years ago.

★ ★ ★

Leopold's participation in the wartime malaria experiments won him eligibility for parole, as former Gov. Adlai Stevenson cut his 99-year sentence to 85 years. His first parole plea in 1953 was denied, as were requests for rehearings in 1955 and last December.

Elmer Gertz, one of Leopold's attorneys, said a former University of Chicago classmate of the convict has offered him a job as head of a manufacturing firm's foreign department. Gertz said Leopold also had several other job offers.

Court-Martial Possible for Ten U.S. Marines

SASEBO, Japan (AP)—The U.S. Navy today said 10 Marines at this American naval base are under arrest and may be court-martialed on charges of mistreating prisoners in the brig.

A Navy spokesman said the 10 enlisted men were arrested after sailors—complained they had been slapped and "roughed up."

The Navy refused to reveal the names of those being held or details of the alleged mistreatment.

Accuses Jordanians

JERUSALEM (AP)—An Israeli army spokesman today accused Jordanians of machinegunning an Israeli plane spraying crops south of the Sea of Galilee.

The spokesman said one wing of the plane was hit but the pilot was not hurt and landed safely. He added that the plane was over Israeli territory when it was fired on yesterday near Gesher settlement.

Thousands of Children Enroll in Classes

Hungary Tolerates Religious Study

By CARL HARTMAN
For Hal Boyle

BUDAPEST (AP)—Thousands of Communist Hungary's children have registered for regular school classes in religion, including many whose parents did not dare let them apply before last fall's revolt.

★ ★ ★

The regime of Premier Janos Kadar, like all Communist regimes, is antireligious in principle. But in Hungary, as in Poland, the Communists and churches seem to be finding ways to get along.

In Hungary a decree was issued that the registration should be neither encouraged nor hindered. As in the past, two 50-minute classes are to be given weekly, either before or after regular school hours. Priests, pastors and rabbis do the teaching in the classrooms and are paid for it by the state.

★ ★ ★

Accompanied by a government representative, I visited three Budapest schools last week. In each I was told that registration for the classes in religion was three times what it was last July. A big majority of the children registered were Roman Catholic, as is well over half the country's population.

The Education Ministry said it had no over-all registration figures for this year yet, and it would not make last year's figures available.

★ ★ ★

One of the schools visited was in a middle-class district in Budu. Another serves a poorer section near Uelloei Street, where the heaviest fighting occured last fall. The third was in a factory workers' suburb, Angyalfoeld.

★ ★ ★

All three schools had registration notices posted on the doors, ample space for the registration work and plenty of volunteer teachers to help.

Principal Miklos Tavaszi at the Krisztina Square school in Budapest explained that a year ago representatives of Communist women's organizations were present and discouraged mothers from registering their children. This was not happening now, he said. He predicted that, as a result, more than 200 of his 586 pupils would register, instead of the 66 who did so last year.

★ ★ ★

When the schools first reopened in January after the fighting, children were allowed for a while to attend without registering. At the Angyalfoeld school, 300 joined the classes instead of the mere 30 on the lists. The woman principal explained with a smile:

"The political situation in January was not yet clear."

On Civil Rights Issue

Dixie Dems Fear Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The political shadow Southern opponents profess to fear most behind the civil rights bill is that cast by Vice President Nixon.

Nixon, a potential candidate for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination, took a leading part in helping place the House-passed civil rights bill directly on the Senate's calendar.

★ ★ ★

This action, taken by majority vote of the Senate, bypassed further delays in the Judiciary Committee and paved the way for efforts beginning today to get the measure actually before the Senate for an eventual vote.

★ ★ ★

Dixie Democrats are convinced, rightly or wrongly, that if Nixon had not indicated clearly his intention of going along with the short-cut move it might not have been made at all.

Nixon's cooperation in that move evidently has convinced the Southerners that the vice president would go all the way for enforcement of the civil rights bill if it is enacted and if he is in a position to do anything about that enforcement.

In that connection, the Southerners point to the always present possibility that Nixon might succeed to the presidency.

★ ★ ★

At this point, Nixon is looked upon by the southerners as just about as great a threat to their position as they believed former President Truman to be in 1948.

★ ★ ★

The Southerners think Nixon might be more inclined than President Eisenhower to go all out in enforcement if there is Dixie resistance to civil rights decisions by federal courts.

It can be said on good authority that was one of the reasons why Sen. Russell (D-Ga) raised such a vigorous protest in the Senate last week over the contention that the bill's terms would authorize the President to use troops to enforce school integration and desegregation in public places.

★ ★ ★

Atty. Gen. Brownell has denied there is any thought of using troops. Russell is reported to have told friends he had no fears on that score with regard to Eisenhower. But he is said to have added he is not so sure about Nixon.

Queen Elizabeth Watches Son in Sports Day

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II went to a London playground today to watch her 8-year-old son, Prince Charles, take part in his school's sports day. She saw him take some lusty strokes in a cricket match and finish fourth out of nine in a 50-yard race.

He goes to a privately owned boys' school near Buckingham Palace.

Charles was in a team of six boys which took part in a gun drill event, hauling a lightweight model of an 18 lb. field gun across a 20-foot chasm represented by scaffold poles on the grass. The Prince was the first to swing himself across the chasm on a steel bar, eight feet from the ground. Princess Anne led the clapping.

Oh Those Wonderful Snake-Killing Cops!

DALLAS (AP)—Mrs. T. H. Davenport was watching television last night when a copperhead several feet long slithered into the room. Mrs. Davenport called her husband, who called police, who killed the snake.

"I can say one thing," Mrs. Davenport said. "Those nice patrolmen who came out and got rid of the snake are certainly due to be commended. I didn't like that snake."

Branigin said 10,734 licenses have been issued so far this year.

Ford wins the battle of the builds

Sure! Many people buy Fords because of their long, low, whistle-collecting looks. Do you blame them? But beauty alone isn't enough to earn for a car the No. 1 spot in America's heart. And that's just what Ford has earned. The real secrets of Ford's success are the extra values that go into building a Ford. Let's look at a few of these features. Ford shares them only with a select number of America's most expensive cars. But you get them at low Ford prices.

1. Only Ford in its field offers a frame design that lets you ride within the frame side members for greater roominess, more smoothness and increased safety.

2. Only Ford in its field gives you a modern V-8 engine with rigid, deep-block design for quieter, longer-lived operation.

3. Only Ford in its field offers automatic variable-rate rear springs that automatically adjust to give a smoother ride no matter how rough the road conditions.

4. Only Ford in its field offers new swept-back ball-joint front suspension that "rolls with the punch" on bumps.

5. Only Ford in its field offers as many as five strengthening roof cross members for a more rigid roof . . . greater safety.

6. Only Ford offers such a savingful car. A Ford Six beat all other cars in the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run in the miles-per-gallon department.

7. Only Ford in its field offers a frame with three tubular cross members. There are five cross members in all . . . thus enabling the frame to withstand strain and stress from all directions.

8. Only Ford, among all makes, electronically balances every V-8 engine while it's operating under its own power.

9. Only Ford in its field offers so much soundproofing for a quieter ride under all road and weather conditions.

10. Only Ford in its field offers such a well sealed body for greater freedom from dust and weather wherever you travel.

11. Only Ford in its field offers rear door assist springs and two-position front door checks for easier entrance and exit.

Illusion of decolletage is in this evening dress designed by Nettie Rosenstein. The full gathered skirt is black silk taffeta and the bodice is of lace scalloped onto nude marquisette.

Fabric news comes from the Samuel Winston collection. Designer Roxane uses silk chiffon crocheted into lace over matching red satin. The slim dress has an open oval neckline and matching red satin cummerbund.

The coat costume is featured by Harry Frechtel. Of black and white tweed, the three-quarter-length coat, detailed by a row of buttons down the back, covers a black wool sweater banded at the neckline with matching tweed.

Jane Derby Plays Up Vivid Colors

Her Daytime Suits and Costumes Are 'Fur-Bearing

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—A red, white and blue plaid velvet dinner costume with shoes to match was the show today at Jane Derby's preview of fall fashions, on the first day of a crowded week of showings for the nation's fashion press.

★ ★ ★

The colorful and dramatic gown climaxed a showing of opulent dresses and suits designed for a prosperous and luxury-loving public.

Sensational is the only word for the Derby evening collection, which uses color with the abandon of a Fourth of July fireworks display, playing up shocker colors and brilliant metallics, along with unusual prints such as bold floral printed chiffons.

★ ★ ★

Daytime suits and costumes here are fur-bearing, slender and easy of fit. If the suits aren't fur-trimmed they are satin-trimmed, and sometimes both fur and satin are used for a luxury touch, such as a mink-collared suit tied with a big brown satin bow.

The belted and bloused silhouette is the pet of the Nettie Rosenstein collection, in marked contrast with the loose, unfitted lines predominant in most other showings. Mrs. Rosenstein likes a neat waistline, and although she doesn't cinch it, she marks it with a belt—wide or contoured but definitely shaping the silhouette.

★ ★ ★

The original advocate of the "little black dress," this designer again shows many sleek and sexy black outfits, notable among which is a long, slithery black crepe dinner dress with long sleeves and lowcut back, slit in front and looking like a suitable gown for a femme fatale.

Evening gowns here are luxurious and dramatic, the most effective being slender, draped and bearing trains.

★ ★ ★

Serving with Mrs. Henderson are Mrs. Ralph Cook of Royal Oak, first vice president; Mrs. Frederick C. Ziem, second vice president; Mrs. Carl Quick of Rochester, third vice president; Mrs. Herman Luhrs of Lathrup Village, fourth vice president, and Mrs. Robert F. Watt of Birmingham, fifth vice president.

Others elected to serve during the coming year are Mrs. Duncan McVean, recording secretary; Mrs. Bruce Garbutt of Ferndale, assistant recording secretary; Mrs. Daniel T. Murphy Jr., corresponding secretary; Mrs. Sadie Williams, assistant corresponding secretary; Mrs. Byron Cole of Waterford, treasurer, and Mrs. Arthur Vernon of Waterford, assistant treasurer.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Charles J. Barrett will perform the duties of auditor and Mrs. William A. Kennedy will serve as parliamentarian.

During the meeting Mrs. Kenneth B. Nichols of Franklin, retiring president, was presented with an honorary membership in the organization and a gift, in appreciation of her services.

Black Gown of Film Sirens Slinks Back Into High Style

By OLGA CURTIS
INS Women's Editor

NEW YORK (INS)' — The "little black dress" will play a great big part in your fall wardrobe, in a slinky, sophisticated role.

★ ★ ★

Designer Nettie Rosenstein, who specializes in "little blacks," has revived the black gown that movie sirens of the '30s always wore: The long-sleeved, low-backed, narrow-skirted black crepe.

Movie fans or people who watch old movies on TV will spot this immediately as the dress that identified the femme fatale, and it still makes a girl look mysterious.

★ ★ ★

The effective combination of long sleeves with open neck is something Miss Rosenstein definitely favors. She puts long sleeves and low oval necklines on afternoon and cocktail dresses for "across the table" glamor.

For daytime, however, this designer likes a belted silhouette that's wide on top, slim at bottom. She achieves it with dolman sleeves, bloused bodices and wide but not tight belts at the natural waistline.

UNUSUAL DETAILING

Black crepe with unusual detailing makes fashion news from Jane Derby for fall.

Miss Derby, showing her new collection to fashion editors, emphasized such trims as satin bows, hand smocking and fur collars or inserts.

★ ★ ★

In contrast to black afternoon dresses, the new Derby suits and evening gowns are ablaze with color.

Suits, in shades like strawberry and china blue, are trimmed with satin and fur for opulance. Evening gowns combine such brilliant shades as green and blue or red and blue.

STARRING ROLE

The jersey suit has a starring role in the fall collection at Harry Frechtel.

Done in black or high-fashion shades like almond green, butterscotch and royal blue, Frechtel's jerseys show Paris inspiration:

They have dropped shoulders, side-slit skirts, chiffon neckline fills, and either long, unfitted jackets or neatly belted body-outlining jackets.

GOES ORIENTAL

"My Fair Lady" has gone Oriental this year.

Designer Cecil Beaton, the man who launched the whole "Fair Lady" style cycle, has switched from drapes and chiffon to kimonos and crepe.

★ ★ ★

Beaton's dozen new dresses for Samuel Winston emphasize slim belted tunics with wide kimono sleeves and draped obi sash midriffs. There's one mushroom gray silk tunic with kimono sleeves over a pleated skirt, and another tunic of royal blue satin over a black underskirt.

The bulk of the Winston line for fall, seen by fashion editors yesterday, is non-Oriental. Instead, it's "Elizabethan" in honor of Queen Elizabeth's scheduled visit to the U. S.

★ ★ ★

Designer Roxanne likes everything regal from color to cut. Royal purple and royal blue are two pet colors seen in three-piece costumes and in dress-and-jacket ensembles.

★ ★ ★

The ensembles are made particularly striking through the use of matched fabrics of different weights. For example one "twin tweed" outfit of rich purple offers a heavy tweed jacket over a gently bloused sheath of thin tweed.

DRESS AND COAT

Another costume, in "twin velour," combines a royal blue - and - black plaid scarf-necked dress with a heavy matched coat.

Norwegian blue fox and big brass buttons are the trims for most day clothes at Winston, but evening wear is cued to color.

★ ★ ★

There are fancy lace dresses teamed with contrast satins: Blue lace over green satin, wine lace over navy satin or brick red lace over pink.

Roxanne also favors tiered skirts for dressy wear, especially with the tiers gathered into a rear bustle. She also has melon and keg-shaped skirts, but keeps bodices smooth, sleeved and ladylike.

★ ★ ★

There's news in coats from Monte-Sano and Pruzan for fall. This noted firm thinks coats should be bigger, bolder and shorter—so they're making them in colorful plaids and cutting them flared, bias or circular to a seven-eighths or three-quarter length.

Suit jackets, meanwhile, are longer — both in tubular and in belted versions.

The classic reefer coat is also present for fall, but with fur collars. Fur pops up in many of the Monte-Sano and Pruzan costumes, including raincoats. One rainy-weather greatcoat is lined in leopard.

The "white-collar coat" for evening features white mink. Designed in a new, full-bodied ribbed silk satin in glossy black, it is the same inside as out. From Monte-Sano and Pruzan's collection.

Model Teen Can Credit Happy Home

Fun and Authority Used in Upbringing of Judith Bernstein

By JOHN BARROW
INS Staff Writer

The tricky chapter of parenthood called "The Teenager" is being lived with relative ease by Phil and Jean Bernstein whose daughter Judith is 16.

★ ★ ★

Judy's teachers at Chicago's Hyde Park High School rated her at the head of her class of 350 students. Her fellow students voted her into the Student Council, Girls' Athletic Association and Leaders Club.

★ ★ ★

She plays violin with a university orchestra, counsels Girl Scouts and YMCA groups, works part time in a shoe store and helps her sister Michele, 12, clean the apartment and do the grocery shopping.

This spring the Junior Association of Commerce and Industry handed Judy a $500 scholarship as "Youth Citizen of Chicago for 1957."

★ ★ ★

In an era of puzzled parents and headstrong youth, one marvels over such a complete young lady. We found she is like her mother.

In trying to explain how family loyalty and respect for authority is salted into growing children, Mrs. Bernstein pointed to "a balance of discipline and fun — a habit of thinking of someone besides yourself."

"If you have a happy home," she said, "there's never any lack of harmony."

★ ★ ★

Issues are ironed out in family huddles. Mom and Dad always make a joint decision, never wedged apart.

Mrs. Bernstein believes children "feel lost without discipline — without knowing what's expected of them" and when explaining the whys, "a parent must view things as a child, not expect the child to be able to evaluate with adult eyes."

★ ★ ★

This foundation apparently has equipped Judy for making her own decisions, such as perceiving why her mother disapproved of "going steady" at 16 and deciding, on her own, that she was too busy anyway.

Shaped to dip slightly in back, this suit of sand-beige Lesur wool has a leopard-collared jacket. It was designed by Jane Derby.

Attractive Hat Is Wasted Unless It Fits Hair Style

Pairing up your new hairdo and your new hat is an idea that makes sense.

Any woman who has ever tried to jam the wrong hat onto the right hairdo knows that, however pretty the hat, it just won't look right.

That's why it's a good idea to buy your new hat after, not before, you have a new hair styling.

Make sure that the hat can fit smoothly over the hairdo. And when the hat comes off, your hair should not look like a bird's nest.

Experts at Coiffures Americana say that the right hairdo for this fall's new hat is head-clinging and smooth-crowned.

The hair should frame the hat becomingly. Little wings of hair at either side of the face will complement the hat and set it off.

The center-parted cap coif, with curls cut into a bang, is an ideal hairdo for many hats this summer.

Meet Job-Hunting Fears Head-on

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Forewarned is forearmed, as the old saying goes. This holds true—and then some!—for jobhunting.

★ ★ ★

If you know in advance what you're going to be up against, you aren't nearly as upset or caught off guard.

Among other things, what you're going to be up against, if you're a "mature" woman entering business for the first time, is a bad case of stage fright.

You'll be afraid you're too old, afraid the young workers won't accept you, afraid your skills aren't good enough, afraid the pace will be too hectic—afraid of just about everything connected with the business world.

★ ★ ★

This is a perfectly normal phase. Chances are you'll live through it and come out poised and self-confident.

WORKING GRANDMA

That's how it was with Mrs. Camille Jackson, one of the most attractive and poised "young" working grandmothers I've met in a long time.

Mrs. Jackson is a secretary to an executive in a large organization and has been working there for about a year and a half. For about 28 years before, she had been a wife, mother and homemaker.

How did she do it? She did it by facing up to her fear head-on!

"I married right after school," Mrs. Jackson told me, "and when—28½ years later—I decided to look for a job, I knew it would be no cinch.

★ ★ ★

"First of all, I faced the fact that I had to have a good, usable skill. I studied shorthand and typing and, two months later, I was ready for a job. I was still scared to death, but at least I had something to offer!"

JOB IN STENO POOL

Mrs. Jackson got a job which many younger women would turn down—it was in a stenography pool.

"Lots of people think it is difficult to begin in a steno pool," she told me, "but it's invaluable experience. After all, you meet a lot of the other stenographers as well as executives. You also get acquainted with many of the firm's departments.

"It is almost like a training squad. One day you're working in one department, the next day in an entirely different one!"

Also, of course, you get a chance to show what you can do.

After about six weeks, Mrs. Jackson was "tapped" by one of the executives. She is working for him now as an executive secretary. Her duties fascinate her and the salary is pretty pleasant, too.

SHE SEEMS YOUNG

In talking to her, you feel as if you are chatting with a young and competent business woman.

★ ★ ★

You have to keep reminding yourself that she's a grandmother and brand-new in the business world!

If you have this problem of jobhunting after years at home, remember that it's natural to be frightened. To overcome it, get some one specific skill and be willing to start at the bottom.

If you want more pointers, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I'll send you my pamphlet, "The Older Woman Goes to Business."

(Copyright 1957)

Whether you win at love or war, it usually means the real expense has just started.

Throat Neglected

Throat care often is overlooked, even by the most beauty-conscious woman. A complexion brush used with warm water and mild soap will stimulate circulation. Splash on cool water or a chilled astringent for further toning.

Make Popovers

Beat 3 eggs and 1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup together; add 1 cup sifted flour and beat again until smooth. (Batter will be thin.) Heat greased muffin pans until sizzling hot and fill ⅔ full with batter. Bake in hot oven at 450 degrees for 30 minutes, then reduce to 350 degrees and bake 10 minutes longer. Serve hot — makes 8 to 10 popovers.

The very word cleanliness suggests a pleasant place to invite your friends, and your children's friends, to come to and enjoy.

Letter Important

A letter of sympathy to one who has lost a member of his family is never easy to write. Nevertheless it is a letter you must not neglect to write simply becuase you think, "What can I say that will be of any help?"

Carol Sue Feneley became the bride of Lionel J. Bradley Thursday in St. Vincent de Paul Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene W. Feneley, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Bradley.

MR. and MRS. LIONEL J. BRADLEY

Carol S. Feneley Speaks Vows in St. Vincent Rite

One hundred and twenty-five guests witnessed the marriage of Carol Sue Feneley and Lionel Jerome Bradley, Thursday in St. Vincent de Paul Church. The Rev. Fabian Weber performed the 11 a.m. ceremony.

★ ★ ★

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene W. Feneley of Ellwood avenue and Lionel's parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Bradley of Center street.

The bride chose a ballerina-length gown of lace over white satin which featured a scalloped neckline, short lace sleeves and lace gauntlets.

Her fingertip veil was held by a lace cap embroidered with seed pearls and sequins. The bride wore a double strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, and carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

★ ★ ★

Amber Jean Feneley, the bride's sister, was the maid of honor. Patricia Lee Mann, a cousin of the bride, was the bridesmaid.

They wore identically fashioned gowns of white crystalette in ballerina length. The maid of honor's gown featured a pink neckline and pink back panel with a large bow. The bridesmaid's dress was accented in blue. They carried bouquets of white carnations.

ASSIST BRIDEGROOM

The bridegroom's brother, John Bradley, served as best man. Jack Sharpe, a cousin of the bridegroom, seated the guests.

★ ★ ★

The bridal party was entertained for breakfast at the Hotel Waldron. An open house was held at the Feneley home from 5 to 8 p.m.

Mrs. Feneley wore a light blue dotted Swiss nylon dress with blue lace. She chose white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The bridegroom's mother chose a navy linen suit dress with silver trim, white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

★ ★ ★

For a short trip to Canada the bride wore a blue linen sheath dress with white accessories. The newlyweds will live on Porter street.

Dinner Given for Newlywed John Hasseths

Mr. and Mrs. Einar Hasseth of Long Lake entertained at a buffet dinner Saturday in honor of their son, John, and his bride, the former Arlin Bernhagen of Waverly, Iowa.

The couple was married June 16 in Waverly where the bridegroom is stationed. Arlin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Bernhagen of Milwaukee.

★ ★ ★

An Oriental motif prevailed at the Saturday garden reception. Japanese lanterns lighted the setting. Sixty-five guests were served a buffet dinner.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bernhagen of Miami and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Perrson of Milford.

The bridegroom will leave for St. Johns, Newfoundland, on July 13. The new Mrs. Hasseth will join him in September.

SOPHIE COSMA

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cosma of Ogemaw road announce the engagement of their daughter, Sophie, to Frank Fotineas, son of Mrs. Christina Fotineas of Hill street.

Colors Should Blend

If your club intends to send a corsage to a guest speaker be sure to send her flowers that won't clash with any color. White is the best bet. Or find out what color dress she intends to wear so that you can select flowers that will go with it.

When you are pan-broiling meat, add only enough fat to coat the skillet and keep the meat from sticking.

Tank Reservists Return Home After 'Best' Training Session

Soldiers in Pontiac's reserve tank outfit were back home yesterday, pleased as punch.

Major Frank D. Thompson, Executive Officer of the 703rd Tank Battalion, said the reservists had every right to be proud of their record the past two weeks during annual training duty at the Army's reserve training center at Camp McCoy, Wis.

FINEST SESSION

"We have completed the finest training session in our history," Thompson explained, "and the men received nothing but praise for their efforts."

Hard work, long hours, sweat and enthusiasm paid off for the 138 area officers and enlisted men who made the long trip to polish up the training they have received during weekly drills throughout the year at the Lawrence Street armory.

The soldiers accomplished a big step in their overall training program, Thompson said. The significance of the step is explained by describing the tank battalon's role in the nation's defense picture.

Under the Army's new reserve training program, small outfits such as Pontiac's are given the job of training themselves to such a degree of battle proficiency that they can function as the skeleton of larger, combat-size units.

Officers and men, with corporal and sergeant's ratings, learn now so they can train other, inexperienced men quickly in times of national emergency.

In its first summer encampment under the new program, Thompson said, the tank battalion successfully passed the initial phase set up for it by the Army —coordinated operation by individual tank crews.

Next summer, he explained, the outfit hopes to pass the second phase — operation of groups of five tanks on a platoon level. In the more distant future, as basic skills are perfected, the battalion will learn to operate on a company and finally on a battalion level, he said.

That's in the future, though. During weekly drills the rest of the year, the outfit will concentrate on bringing all its crew activities 100 per cent up to snuff, Thompson said.

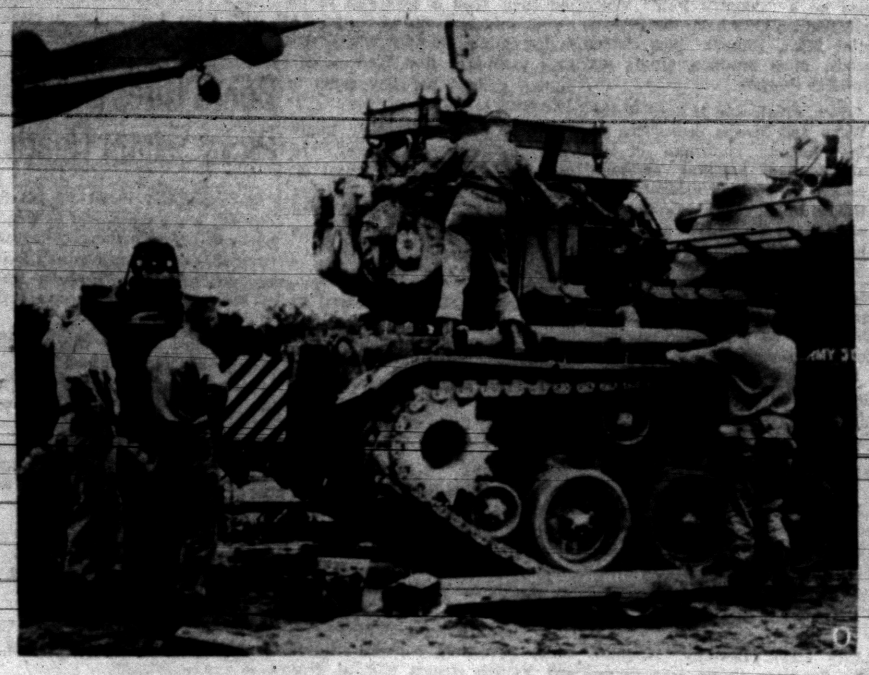

PAPERWORK GOOD

Not only was the 703rd praised for its talents in the Army's M47 tank, Thompson added, but also for the less glamorous — but equally important — job of maintaining its supply and personnel records.

The tank battalion is part of the larger, 70th Reserve Infantry Division, which has headquarters in Detroit.

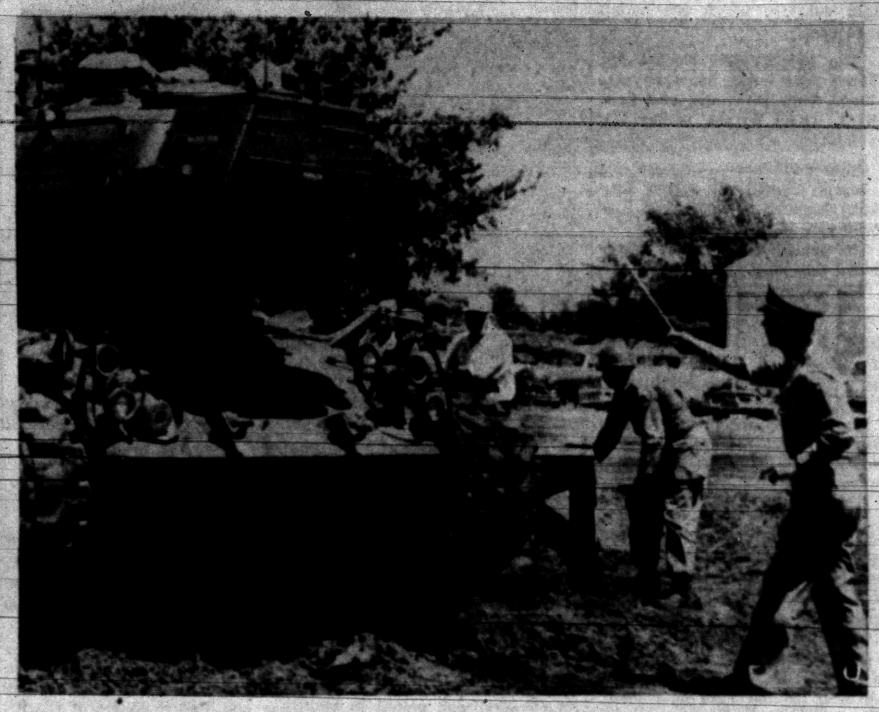

DEMONSTRATORS — As many visitors toured the giant Camp McCoy, Wis., Army post, tankers of the 703d Tank Battalion were kept busy demonstrating driving and firing procedures of the M-47 tanks. Crewmen lined up in front of a tank above to show correct mounting procedure are (l to r): Pfc. Philip A. Currie, of Mt. Clemens, tank commander; Sp-3 Ronald H. Laidlaw, Jr., Lake Orion, gunner; Cpl. MAJOR REPAIR JOB — While training in the fields with 49-ton tanks, crewmen might be called upon to make all kinds of repairs. Such was the case of the above tank which had to have its motor pulled out for repairs. Shown on the tank is M. Sgt. Dale Morse of Clarkston, being assisted by Lt. John Brink, 3820 Valley Hill Rd., Bloomfield Hills. At the left are Regular Army ordnance assistants. The motor in the M-47 tank above is an 810-horsepower, 12-cylinder Continental engine with an Allison cross-drive transmission and holds 16 quarts of oil. The tank gets from 3 to 4 miles per gallon of gasoline.

TAKE IT AWAY — Lt. Col. Lloyd A. Gabler, 18700 Autumn Lane, Birmingham, battalion commander of the 703d Tank Battalion, is shown waving off his driver as visitors are given a ride on the M-47 tanks. Besides the task of planning and participating in rigid training for his own tankers, Col. Gabler was also kept busy giving orientations and demonstrations to visitors on guided tours through the large Army camp while training at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin.

LINE FORMS TO THE REAR — As any member of the 703d Tank Battalion can confirm, a good tanker always keeps his tank in the best possible condition. That's why after every road march, the crews line up their tanks at the wash and grease racks to "pull maintenance" on the tanks. The crews above are waiting their turn at the racks after a busy day in the Wisconsin fields.

Japanese Protest Base Enlargement

TOKYO (AP)—Three hundred leftist-led Japanese students and labor unionists demonstrated outside the U.S. Embassy today in protest against enlargement of the U.S. Air Force's Tachikawa base near Tokyo.

There were no disturbances. More than 300 Japanese police kept traffic moving and the demonstrators, after handing a protest to embassy officials, moved on to Tokyo police headquarters to make another protest.

The U.S. officials told the five-member delegation admitted to the embassy that the Japanese government, not the United States, is acquiring the land to enlarge the base's main runway so it can handle latest type jet aircraft. The base eventually is to be turned over to the Japanese.

Owners of the property being taken over contend that the government is paying them a pittance.

2 Polish Sailors Ask Asylum at Stockholm

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Two sailors from a visiting Polish naval squadron jumped ship last night and asked for political asylum in Sweden.

"No Gomulka! No Gomulka! Not Poland when we have seen Stockholm!" they shouted after getting off a bus they took to the suburbs to elude any embassy personnel that might be after them.

Wladyslaw Gomulka is the "nationalist" secretary of the Polish Communist party who won some independence from Moscow for his government.

The squadron left Swedish waters early today after the first Polish naval visit to Sweden since World War II. In the group were the 2,144-ton destroyer Blyskawica and two smaller escort vessels.

Two other sailors who missed the sailing by mistake were ferried out to their ship by a Swedish helicopter.

Justice Allen M. Bulloch said that Southfield has started a new practice, wherein a person violating rules would be required to attend one-hour classes in safety once a week for 10 weeks, rather than spending 10 days in the pokey.

Justice Bulloch added "Offenders will learn more there than they will in jail."

'Us Afford a Drink? Not Now'—Irishmen

DUBLIN—There was bad news for Irishmen when higher taxes and higher wages for bartenders boosted prices of whisky, brandy and sherry. New prices in Eire (and these took some swallowing) were: whisky 50 to 55 cents; brandy 75 to 85 cents, and cheaper brands of sherry 28 to 36 cents.

"Who can afford to drink now?" commentators ask. "Americans?" Irish distillers are having some success with their drive to sell more Irish whisky in the States, but to do it right they must promote an expensive campaign.

They propose that the Government reduce the duty on whisky on the home market, thus stimulating sales, and that the distillers spend the extra profit on pushing sales in America.

Swiss Port City 2,000 Years Old

Basel Survived Quake, Fire to Become Center of Art and Commerce

WASHINGTON — Land-locked Switzerland's leading port, the city of Basel, celebrates its 2,000th birthday this year.

Although it is 500 miles from the sea, Basel's strategic location on the Rhine River at a point where the borders of Switzerland, France, and Germany meet enables it to handle four million tons of cargo a year.

FOUNDED BY ROMANS

The history-steeped city was founded in 44 B.C. by the Roman General Lucius Munatius Plancus. Its ancient Latin name, Basilia, meant "city by the water." Basel gained great prestige in the Roman world when the Emperor Valentinian I established temporary residence there in 347 A.D.

In 917 the city was sacked by Hungarian raiders; an earthquake in 1356 and two fires, the last in 1417, also devastated it. But in each case a larger, more flourishing Basel rose from the ruins.

The University of Basel, oldest in Switzerland, opened its doors in 1460. The philosopher Erasmus once served on the faculty, and is buried in the red sandstone cathedral—consecrated in 1019 — that dominates the city from a terrace overlooking the Rhine.

The great artist, Hans Holbein the Younger, was another noted resident of Basel. The city's Art Museum boasts Europe's finest collection of Holbein paintings.

COMMERCIAL CENTER

Modern Basel, with a population of more than 210,000, is Switzerland's second largest city. In addition to being a bustling harbor, Basel is a terminal of the important St. Gotthard railway and is one of the world's chief banking centers.

American Trainers Don't Fear Monster

New German Army Rises

MITTENWALD, Germany (AP) — A new German army is rising slowly out of the ashes of the Nazis' World War II Wehrmacht. In many ways it will be exactly the same.

American military officials, in Germany to help train this new fighting force along American lines, show no concern that it might turn into a Frankenstein's monster and attack its maker.

The German 1st Mountain Division, girding here in the Bavarian Alps against potential Soviet attak across neutral Austria, is a case in point.

Its officers and key noncommissioned officers are veterans of the 1st Mountain Division. Some of them fought the Poles, the Western Allies and the Russians in World War II. And with distinction.

Today, under a West German government decision condoned by the Americans, they may wear the battle ribbons they won in World War II. More traditional trappings are in the offing: A new Luftwaffe-like singlebreasted jacket, and boots on the order of the old German jackboot but made more comfortable for marching.

★ ★ ★

Brig. Gen. Hans Buchner, a veteran of the Old First, commands the division now. A few days ago, talking here to correspondents from the North Atlantic Treaty countries, he said: "We have a fledgling army, but we have one aim; to make it a success.

★ ★ ★

"It is really easy to train a soldier in the field. But it is diffiult to make a soldier out of a young man fresh from civilian life. There are a lot of psychological problems.

★ ★ ★

"We have every hope of making soldiers of the real old type, soldiers such as we had in the past, of good spirit and in the concept of the German soldier as he once was seen in the world."

★ ★ ★

The 300 are being gradually reduced and by 1958 will be gone, leaving the Germans to continue their training on their own.

Don't look now, but 30 days from today, sports fans will focus their attention on another All-Star game.

The football counterpart of today's American-National League clash will take place in Chicago's huge Municipal Stadium when the College All-Stars meet the World Champion New York Giants, August 9.

An even more prespiring thought is the fact that as of three weeks from yesterday, the Lions will be going through their paces at Cranbrook.

★ ★ ★

NEW TICKET RECORD FOR LIONS

Football fans must be adhering to the adage, "It's later than you think." They've been buying the season tickets at a pace about 4,000 seats ahead of 1956, all of which makes Anderson-Kerbawy-Parker and company very happy.

Last year the record of 36,586 season tickets were sold. "We may reach 40,000 this year," says Kerbawy.

JULIUS AND MICKEY IN TOWN

Fighter Mickey Crawford, young sensation from Saginaw who meets Pat Lowry in Saginaw Thursday night, was a visitor in Pontiac last night with promoter Julius Piazza.

★ ★ ★

There is a possibility that the winner of the Crawford-Lowry bout will headline the boxing show to be held at Wisner Stadium July 25th, sponsored by Iraq Grotto of Pontiac for the Cerebral Palsy fund.

The match Thursday in Saginaw is the result of a postponement from the rains last week.

A CONSTANT PHONE CALL QUESTION

For the umpteenth time we have been called by phone to answer a question on the first Joe Louis-Max Schmeling fight. It is a fact out of the Boxing Encyclopedia that Schmeling defeated Louis by a 12th-round KO on June 19, 1936 and Louis at the time was not the heavyweight champion of the world.

★ ★ ★

He did not win the title until June 22, 1937 when he defeated Jimmy Braddock on an 8th round KO in Chicago. When he kayoed Schmeling, June 22, 1938 in New York, Louis was already champion.

May this end the constant questioning about the Louis-Schmeling fights.

ANDONIAN OUT OF TOURNEY

Two-time state publinx golf champion Mike Andonian failed to submit his entry blank in time and is thus out of the state amateur which begins Thursday at Charlevoix.

Working at GMTC for the summer, Mike played in a tourney in Barberton, Ohio, over the weekend and took medal honors with a 72.

Nationals Favored to Stretch All-Star String

ST. LOUIS (INS)—Casey Stengel sends his American League shock troops against a favored National League team today in a 1957 All-Star game that promises to be a dramatic clash of power and pride.

Righthander Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers, a newcomer to this sort of thing, is scheduled to carry the starting pitcher banner for the American, opposed by All-Star-wise Curt Simmons, fastballing lefthander in the regular employ of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Manager Walter Alston's Nationals are hardly concerned over their rivals' desire to win this one for dear old Casey. The NL has won six out of the last seven of these summer spectaculars and is a 6 to 5 favorite to lengthen the chain.

Then, too, the older league is more than eager to continue to atone for its past deficiences. Winning all-star games is something of a recent-years novelty to the Nationals, who trail the AL in victories, 13 to 10.

The shooting and shouting began in Busch Stadium before a capacity crowd of 31,000 fans. Everyone concerned is certain that this here must be the place. This seething city of St. Louis is doing backflips over its league-leading Cardinals and is currently crazier than at any time since the exciting days of the Gashouse Gang.

★ ★ ★

A torrid battle is anticipated. Hot and humid weather is forecast with temperatures in the 90s, a not unfamiliar condition for St. Louis in July. The rest of the interested nation has the opportunity to be in on the action via the network radio and television (NBC) broadcast.

Stengel isn't exactly all shook up over the idea, but the triple-talking New York Yankee skipper doesn't boast of the fact that he has won the All-Star game only once in six tries.

Stengel said he selected the 25-year-old Bunning because "I have a righty to match up with their righthanded power."

Bunning, who cancelled a fishing trip when he learned that Stengel had picked him for the All-Star team, has compiled a 10-2 record with the Tigers this season. The six-foot-three righthander has an ERA of 2.03 and is second in the league in strikeouts with 93.

He was recalled by the Bengals in the middle of the last season from Charleston in the American Association and finished up with a 5-1 mark for Detroit.

Jimbo, whose most effective deliveries are a slider and sinker, escaped from the Tiger bullpen and became a starter when he proved to manager Jack Tighe that he had the endurance to go the distance.

Stengel will be satisfied if the young man from Carrolton, Ky., goes the maximum three innings against the Redleg-dominated starting NL nine.

After Bunning, Stengel plans to call on Billy Loes (9-4), Baltimore's "comeback" righty, saving Chicago lefty Bill Pierce (12-6) and his own Bobby Shantz (9-1) for spot appearances.

Johnny Antonelli of the New York Giants, Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette of the Milwaukee Braves, Jack Sanford of the Philadelphia Phillies, Larry Jackson of the Cardinals and Clem Labine of the Dodgers, will all be at Alston's beck and call to spell Curt Simmons.

The starting American League lineup—which must play three innings—features two of baseball's top sluggers, New York's Mickey Mantle and Boston's Ted Williams.

Birmingham Trio Pacing Golfers

(Special to Pontiac Press)

GRAND RAPIDS — Three Birmingham youths held the top three places today as only one of 12 entries from the Pontiac area failed to break 90 in the opening round of Michigan's 12th annual Junior Golf Championships being held at the Grand Rapids Country Club.

A total of 138 youths began play Monday for the 1st of two 18-hole rounds. The top four individuals, determined by medal scores in the tournament which ends today, will represent the state at the National Junior Golf Tournament Aug. 19 at Columbus, Ohio.

Mike Green, 16-year-old Maple senior, paced the Birmingham group and the tourney going into today's final round with a one-over-par 70 on the 6,272 yard course. A sparkling 33 on the back nine featured his performance.

Bud Badger, who starred last spring for Bloomfield Hills High, tied for 2nd with Charley Mitchell of Saginaw opening day at 73. Alone in 3rd place was Tom Grace at 74. Birmingham's 4th member, Joe Brisson who lives in Grosse Pointe, tied for 6th with 76.

Entries from Pontiac and Waterford failed to fare too well in the event sponsored each year by the Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce for youths under 18.

The Beaupre cousins, Larry and Russ, and W. Sumner of Pontiac, were in the 80s along with John Shaw, Sam Coleman, Joe Anderson and Charles Canterbury of Waterford. Others were higher. Pontiac was weakened by the absence of St. Fred star Ed Kast.

Don Cochran of Royal Oak gained individual honors in a pre-tourney driving contest with a 290-yard poke. Badger was 2nd reaching 270. Larry Beaupre had one sail 245 yards.

In team scoring, Birmingham scored a 296 total to take the lead. Host Grand Rapids followed with 314 and Lansing was 3rd with 315.

One of the highlights of the day was a hole in one scored by Lincoln Park's Mike Dennis on the 140-yard par three 17th. He took 10 on the next hole to finish with a 97.

Youngest competitors are 12-year-olds Roger Fors of Jackson and Tom Martin of Greenville. Fors, using his father's clubs shot a 108, Martin had 102.

Shaw	39-43—82
Coleman	44-41—85
Anderson	43-44—87
Canterbury	41-46—87

Canuck Open Wednesday

KITCHENER, Ont., (AP) — Two top Canadian golfers who developed on Kitchener courses, today fired under-par rounds as the continent's finest pros and amateurs warmed up for Wednesday's first round of the Canadian Open championships.

Last year's Canadian amateur champ, Moe Norman, toured the Westmount course here with a three-under-par 68. The open will be only his second tournament since turning professional last winter.

Gary Cowan, the Canadian junior champ and considered one of the country's most promising amateurs, checked in with a one-under-par 70.

Doug Sanders of Miami, the defending champion, will be among the competitors. So will Dow Finsterwald, the pro he defeated last year for the cup.

Dick Mayer, the U. S. Open champion, Paul Harney, winner of last week's open in Montreal, George Bayer, second to Harney in Montreal and Doug Ford, leading money winner on the PGA circuit, will be among the starters.

The gold cup and $25,000 in cash will be at stake, representing an increase of $10,000 from recent open tournaments.

At the end of 36 holes the field will be reduced to the low 100 and ties for Friday's play. At the end of 54 further reductions will limit the field to 60 and ties for Saturday's final 18 holes.

Seixas, Hard in West Open

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wimbledon stars Vic Seixas and Darlene Hard were scheduled for their first action today in the Western Open tennis tournament championships that followed the form chart in opening round singles matches yesterday.

The top matches saw Sammy Giammalva and Barry Mackay, third and fourth seeded respectively, win their first matches easily. Neither was scheduled to play until today, but went into action when several other matches were postponed.

Mackay, Big Ten champion from Michigan who recently won the collegiate singles, ousted Milwaukee's Charles Mulcahey, 6-2, 6-1.

Giammalva took a 6-2, 6-2 victory from Mexico City's Andre Donnediev.

In the top women's singles match, fourth seeded Barbara Davidson of Milwaukee scored an easy victory over Cuba's Pilar Herrereo.

Lions Sign 3 Players

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Lions have signed tackle Dave Liddick, quarterback Jack Kemp and halfback Carl Johnson.

Liddick was Detroit's eighth draft choice and starred at George Washington. Kemp, the Lions' 17th draft choice, played for Occidental College. Johnson was a South Dakota player and Detroit's 25th choice.

White Nine Wins 11-1

A one-hit mound performance by Jacobs and home runs by Leo Cook and Grant St. Amour led White Brothers Realty to a 11-1 victory over Weldon Thrifty in the Waterford Softball League last night.

New York Giant first baseman Gail Harris hit 24 home runs, drove in 82 runs and batted .270 for Minneapolis in 1956.

Home Team Edge Favors NL at St. Louis Today

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Figuring the All-Star game:

Ominous note for the visiting American Leaguers: the home team has won 16 of the 23 games played. And the last time the classic was held in St. Louis, in 1940, the NL won 4-0 with Paul Derringer of Cincinnati the winning pitcher and Red Ruffing of the New York Yankees the loser.

★ ★ ★

Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox will take a mild slump into today's contest. In his last 24 regular season times at bat, Williams collected only four hits and his batting average dipped from .362 to .343.

★ ★ ★

Milwaukee's Warren Spahn is the only pitcher among the 14 selected who has won an All-Star game. He was credited with the NL's 5-1 victory in 1953 at Cincinnati.

★ ★ ★

Mickey Mantle is trailing last year's pace in each of the important batting categories. The Yankees' slugger had a .371 batting average along with 29 homers and 71 runs batted in at All-Star time in 1956. His current record is .369 average, 22 home runs and 57 RBIs.

★ ★ ★

AL Manager Casey Stengel will have the services of two crack defensive shortstops in Gil McDougald of the Yanks and Joe DeMaestri of Kansas City. McDougald has made only four errors in 381 chances and DeMaestri only five miscues in 314 chances. McDougald last erred on June 13.

★ ★ ★

The first team to score has won 15 times.

Feller Says LA Top Area for Baseball

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bob Feller says he believes Los Angeles would be the most fertile baseball territory in the national, if a Major League club moved here.

"In my opinion, if Major League ball cannot succeed in Los Angeles it should not be successful anywhere," he said yesterday.

The former Cleveland Indian fireball pitcher came here on his national tour, working with youngsters interested in baseball. He reiterated his recent blasts at Major League owners.

Brethren, St. Luke's Gain Close Victories

Gerald Roerinck hurled Church of the Brethren to a 3-hit 3-0 win over Central Christian and Russ Poole of St. Luke's Methodist edged Vernon Tate of Columbia Ave. Baptist in a 1-0 mound duel in a pair of close Church League softball games last night.

The only other loop action saw First Presbyterian slam Stone Baptist 23-3 with Fred Roeser and Bill Hampton driving in five runs each.

City Games Postponed

Monday's heavy rains washed out games scheduled in the City Softball League as well as two Midget League baseball contests. Loop officials hope to arrange makeup games for future dates.

Packers Sign Massey

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Defensive end Carlton Massey, acquired in a trade with the Cleveland Browns, has signed with the Green Bay Packers for the 1957 National Football League season, it was announced today.

German Upsets Akins in St. Louis Fight

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Franz Szuzina, a rugged Teuton, unanimously decisioned Virgil Akins, fourth-ranked welterweight contender, in a bloody upset here last night.

Middleweight Szuzina, from Bremen, Germany, knocked down the faster-moving Akins in the fourth round with a hard overhand right.

In that same round, Szuzina cut Akins under the left eye. Akins rallied late in the 10-rounder but couldn't overcome the edge which Szuzina had built up.

In War of Nerves

New Pro Hoad Signs for $125,000

NEW YORK (AP)—A professional just one day, Lew Hoad today found himself the middle-man in a war of tennis nerves that reached halfway around the world.

★ ★ ★

Hoad, the big Australian Davis Cup star, signed yesterday to play for Jack Kramer's trouble for the fattest figure ever given a pro player — $125,000 for two years.

★ ★ ★

The ink still was wet on the contract when in rapid-fire order:

1. Pancho Gonzales, the man Hoad was signed to play, said he would not appear in Kramer's "Tournament of Champions" starting Saturday in Forest Hills.

★ ★ ★

2. The Lawn Tennis Assn. of Australia launched a move to ban Hoad and Kramer's entire tour from playing on any official courts down under.

The sudden turn of events left Hoad, who only last Friday won his second straight Wimbledon championship, bewildered. He was especially hurt at remarks by officials in Australia, accusing him of breaking his word.

Don Ferguson, president of the LTAA accused him of "causing great disappointment to the tennis public and officials in Ireland, Europe and America in which countries we had arranged for him to play as a member of the Australian team."

★ ★ ★

"I don't know why Mr. Ferguson said those things," said Hoad, obviously distressed. "I had to be guided by my own interests. I didn't know when my back might act up again."

He was referring to the fact that his back had bothered him on numerous occasions in the past year and on occasion, he has been forced to take long layoffs.

Gonzales, the pro champion, said in Los Angeles that he would not be in either the Forest Hills tournament or one scheduled to start in Los Angeles YK, July 29.

Ruler Out of Rich Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons is looking ahead to racing Bold Ruler in the Saratoga meeting which begins Aug. 5 now that the Preakness winner has definitely been withdrawn from Saturday's $100,000 added Arlington Classic at Chicago.

"I'm not going to take any chances with him, the trainer of Wheatley Stable's candidate for the three-year-old championship said. "I don't know when he'll run next, but we might have to wait until Saratoga if there is nothing else around. I'm not going to make it any worse by running him right away.

Bold Ruler seemed "distressed" following a workout over three-quarters on Belmont Park's strip last Saturday. Although the exact trouble was not known, Mr. Fitz said he did not think it was the small splint the colt had after the Belmont Stakes. The injury responded to treatments of paint.

★ ★ ★

"He took an awful long time cooling out after that work," Sunny Jim said. "Just what the situation is with him, I don't know. I do know it isn't that splint." All plans for the trip to Chicago were cancelled.

Wimbledon Champ Now Weighing Many Offers

NEW YORK, (AP) — America's newest tennis champion, Althea Gibson, arrived here this morning from London with some of the dilemmas often faced by newly-crowned and long-trying champions—namely "what to do next."

Beside the sundry offers she will have to compete in tennis tournaments in this country during the rest of the summer, and on the international scene during the coming fall and winter, the first Negro ever to win at Wimbledon also has a chance to be a nightclub singer, or possibly settle down and be a housewife.

The former stems from a couple of impromptu songs she did at a party in her honor in London Saturday night, after she had beaten Darlene Hard, of Montebello, Calif. in the singles final, 6-3, 6-2.

In fact, she did such fine renditions that Bertie Green, manager of the swank Astor Club of London's West Side, told her she could get a daté at his club any time she wants one. An English band leader made her the same offer with hisorganization.

★ ★ ★

As far as her tennis plans are concerned, she said she plans to play in the United States Clay Courts Championships in Chicago beginning next Monday. She had been invited to play in the Irish championships but had declined.

100 Fishermen Compete Today

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP)—Luxury fishermen from across the continent, Mexico, Puerto Rico, Panama and Cuba sought white marlin today with the common angler's prayer, "hope they're biting."

Nearly 100 fishermen set out in a fleet of 33 charter boats to start three days of competition in the 12th annual International Light Tackle Tournament.

Each boat carried a three-man team with the United States represented by clubs from New Jersey, Rhode Island, California, North Carolina, Florida, Maryland, Texas, New York and the District of Columbia.

Frick Given 7-Year Pact

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, re-elected to a seven-year term at $65,000 per, thinks it is "inconceivable" that New York should become a one-club town.

★ ★ ★

In the face of consistent reports that the Brooklyn Dodgers are going to Los Angeles and the New York Giants to San Francisco, the commissioner expressed a "purely personal opinion" today on the New York situation.

"I think it is inconceivable that an area with a population of 15 million should have only one franchise," he said. "If the Dodgers and Giants should move—and I am not saying they will—I think the territory should be left open for another team. I think it should be declared open territory for any league.

"Brooklyn was always considered a separate franchise. That went for the schedule, the radio and TV rights and everything else. Why shouldn't we still consider it that way. It wouldn't make any difference if the team that came in would be in the National or American League.

"Understand this is my personal feeling not any official statement from my office."

The matter of franchise moves came up at the National League meeting, shortly before the 62-year-old Frick was re-elected at the joint meeting of the two leagues for a term running to Sept. 21, 1965. His current term expires in 1958.

Race Canceled as Entries Lag

NEW YORK (AP)—The lure of a $50,000 purse has failed to stem the shortage of trotters operating at Yonkers Raceway.

Martin Tananbaum, Yonkers president, said yesterday not enough entries were received for the long-planned $50,000 Transamerica Pace. So he cancelled the race.

He announced the cancellation after a Federal District Court Judge denied a motion to punish members of the Standardbred Owners Assn. for contempt in allegedly failing in concert to enter horses at the raceway.

Moore Must Sign to Fight by Noon

NEW YORK (AP)—Archie Moore, the old guy who wrote thousands of letters to sports editors before getting a shot at the world light-heavyweight boxing title, has to write his name on a contract by noon today to keep it.

★ ★ ★

Unless he signs for a title defense against Tony Anthony of New York by the deadline he'll be stripped of the championship.

★ ★ ★

That ultimatum was laid down yesterday by Julius Helfand, president of the World Championship Boxing Committee, who doubles in brass as Chairman of the equally powerful New York State Athlet Commission.

Moore, in Los Angeles, reportedly reached a verbal agreement on contract terms for the fight last night. In deference to the

Miteff Wins, May Fight Rademacher

NEW YORK (AP)—Teddy Brenner, an imaginative matchmaker, today sought to match Olympic champion Pete Rademacher and Argentina's Alex Miteff, the 1955 Pan-American king, for New York in August.

"I'm wiring Rademacher an offer of $10,000 to fight Miteff in August," said Brenner after watching the unbeaten Argentine stop Philadelphia's Fernando Fala on cuts in two rounds last night.

"If Rademacher agrees, I'll try and rent Madison Square Garden for the fight."

Series Thrilled Hunter

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Shortstop Billy Hunter of the Kansas City Athletics says his greatest baseball thrill came last fall when he was with the Yankees and watched the World Series from the bench.

"I didn't get to play last fall because of a broken leg and I missed the 1955 series with the Yankees," says Hunter, "but being part of the World Series last fall was my top thrill. As a kid I thought the greatest thing that could happen to me was to be a part of a World Series."

Yacht Missing in Ocean Race

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Coast Guard cutter Gresham, accompanying the Transpacific Yacht race fleet, is looking today for the trouble-plagued schooner Nanaimo.

Apparently there was only mild concern for the Nanaimo, skippered by William B. Palmer of the Los Angeles Yacht Club. He reported all was well on the radio roll call yesterday afternoon. But the schooner failed to make the 5 p.m. roundup contact later yesterday.

Jose Says Dreyfus Case Still Stirs Up Frenchmen

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Some controversies, like old soldiers, never die. That's especially true when the controversy is about an old soldier named Alfred Dreyfus.

He was the French officer, sent to Devil's Island late in the 19th century, whose case was taken up as a crusade by French intellectuals who accused high government and army officials of anti-Semitism. Dreyfus, a Jew, was vindicated after a long battle.

You wouldn't think that such a long-ago affair would still be alive, but Jose Ferrer claims that it is. He has just finished directing and starring in "I Accuse," the Dreyfus story.

"Apparently, Dreyfus is still a big issue in France," commented Ferrer. "Nobody took any direct action against us, but you could feel an undercurrent of resentment."

Producer Sam Zimbalist got the cold shoulder on requests for filming locations in France, Ferrer reported. The major part of the film was made in England, but certain locations were desired in Paris.

★ ★ ★

"We waited and waited for permission to come through," the actor said. "Finally, we couldn't wait any longer. We had to shoot the exteriors in Brussels. . . ."

He added that one French official was quoted as saying a film about Dreyfus was not in the interests of national security.

"I got violent reactions from French people I know," Ferrer said. "One man asked me what I was doing and I told him I was making a picture about Dreyfus. 'I didn't know you were anti-French,' he said.

★ ★ ★

"I really teed off on him. I told him: A. The picture tells the truth about Dreyfus; B. Other nations know the truth; C. That France herself awarded Dreyfus the Legion of Honor and he served with distinction in World War I as a lieutenant colonel.

"They make a great to-do over the Hiss and Rosenberg cases in this country. Why shouldn't the Dreyfus case be discussed?"

★ ★ ★

The script, Ferrer said, has had a good reaction from women.

"It appeals to their sense of fair play," he commented, "and that is a side that women seldom display."

Shakespeare Plays Face Union Trouble

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Money, men and working conditions. Those were the questions in a union dispute involving stagehands at the Shakespeare-Under-The-Stars production in the Toledo Zoo Amphitheater.

The issues are the number of union stagehands to be employed, their wages and the conditions under which apprentices should be allowed to work.

Martin Janis, president of Shakespeare-Under-The-Stars, said the company now employs three union stagehands, the same number as last year, and several student apprentices.

The union stagehands are members of the International Alliance of Stage Employes and Motion Picture Operators.

Grain Trading Eases Slightly

CHICAGO (AP)—A slightly easier tone prevailed in grain futures today after yesterday's sharp rally which had carried wheat futures upward four cents or more on the Board of Trade.

Hedge selling and continued favorable harvesting weather caused a slight downturn in most wheat futures in fairly active trading.

Good growing weather in most of the belt was a selling influence in corn and soybeans, although the July soybean contract held comparatively steady. Weakness in corn caused a downturn in oats.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was ⅛ to 1¼ lower, July $2.13⅝; corn was ¼ to ½ lower, July $1.32¼; oats were unchanged to ⅝ down, July 68½; rye was ¾ to 2¾ lower, July $1.29¼; soybeans were ¼ to ⅞ lower, July $2.40¾; and lard was 23 cents a hundred pounds lower to five cents higher, July $13.57.

Believe Customers Will Come to Rescue

Metal Men Not Fazed by Industry's Dull Days

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Dull days in the metal industries aren't fazing the optimists.

They predict today that steel should see a marked revival this month. The battered copper industry talks of getting supply and demand back on speaking terms before the summer is gone. Only in the zinc and lead industries do the optimists look wistfully to a much later date.

★ ★ ★

Steel's problems are mostly domestic. Copper's plight is a worldwide one with U.S. producers caught in a bind. Lead and zinc men feel their current troubles are due to government action, or lack of it.

In all the industries there is growing belief that their customers are about to come to the rescue.

A return to conspicuous health in the metal industries would boost confidence throughout the economy.

★ ★ ★

Steel men report that orders are picking up, chiefly from auto and the appliance makers.

Steel's plight isn't very severe anyway, and its distribution among the various companies is notably irregular. Some are still producing near capacity while others are far below that.

Those who make large structural shapes, heavy plates, oil pipes mostly have full order books.

★ ★ ★

Makers of sheet steel have been the worst hit by the recent letdown. And they are the ones who today are reporting the most heartening news.

★ ★ ★

Customer resistance to the new higher prices hasn't shown up yet, partly perhaps because many of the users haven't been ordering ahead during the days they are closing up shop for mass vacations. It may be fall before steel users test out their ability to pass along part or all of the new costs in the form of higher prices on consumer goods.

★ ★ ★

Copper's plight is different. Its worst phases are worldwide. It seems to stem from two things: (1) the price was forced up so high (46 cents a pound) that possible users of copper turned to substitutes; and (2) production around the world was speeded up.

★ ★ ★

The result was a growing supply and a shrinking demand. When supply topped demand the price began skidding. But supply kept piling up. With the price here now around 29 cents, efforts are being made to bring world output into line. Some of the British companies are cutting back in Africa. Some of the U.S. companies have trimmed output a bit, mainly by cutting back to a five-day week.

Reports from Chile tell of talk of cutting production there by 10 per cent in the American-owned mines.

Gasoline Station Owner Flies Navy Jet Fighters

LODGE GRASS, Mont. (AP) — Harold Green operates an oil and gas business, except for two days each month when he becomes a flier.

That's when he rides a commercial airliner to Denver where he flies a jet fighter as part of the U. S. Naval Reserves. Green figures each trip to Denver costs him $85. His flight play from the Navy is $87 a month, so he nets just $2.

Green says it's worth it. "I like to fly, I like Navy life," he said. "I spent 10 years learning to fly and I don't want to throw all that time away."

Shipyard Strikers Work in Houses

BELFAST — The recent British shipyard strike, which idled millions, was a sort of "busman's holiday" for many of the 20,000 strikers in Belfast, Northern Ireland. Housewives took advantage of having a man around the house for spring cleaning and interior decoration.

There was a great jump in paint and wallpaper sales, for the workers had plenty of money—to start with, anyway. Shipyard men who got their home work done during the strike figured they would have more time for vacation later on. A wallpaper store owner with 12 stores said business was well above normal. "This, I believe, is due to the strike as many husbands and wives are calling at our stores," he said.

Market Settles After 1957 Highs

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market settled back gently in early trading today after a brief opening push further into new high ground for 1957.

Leading stocks showed an irregularly lower pattern as the stock market paused for breath. Losses ran from fractions to around a point but there was a good sprinkling of small gainers.

The high-speed ticker tape fell a minute behind transactions in the early rush of buying, but the pile-up ended quickly. Then a spell of quiet profit-taking took over.

Brokers said it looked like a temporary climax in the market's latest upsurge which brought the average to a new 1957 high yesterday.

Aircrafts continued their rise in opening transactions following yesterday's rejection by Russia of the Western plan for suspension of nuclear tests. But they backed away from their gains. Boeing and Douglas Aircraft remained fractionally higher. United Aircraft was off a bit.

★ ★ ★

Most leading rails, oils, steels, rubbers and base metals slid off a bit. Motors were about unchanged.

Fractional losers included U.S. Steel, Goodyear, Anaconda, Du Pont, General Electric, Southern Railway, Texas Co. and Royal Dutch.

Down around a point were Illinois Central, International Nickel and Zenith. Minneapolis-Honeywell dropped five of its 10-point gain of yesterday.

Sovereign Ghana Faces Problems in Near Future

GHANA — Now that Ghana has its freedom, many Europeans and Ghanaians wonder how the new state will fare.

They wonder if Dr. Kawme Nkrumah, Prime Minister, can hold the country together, whether Ghana can stay solvent, and whether Africans can really run a modern state of their own? The Ashanti tribes have been troublemakers heretofore.

★ ★ ★

Now they are satisfied. But any attempt to deprive them of their local powers might bring trouble. Solvency depends on the price of cocoa and with what can be done with Ghana's huge deposits of bauxite, the ore for aluminum.

These can be exploited only by the Volta River project, which now seems a doubtful starter. Ghana is full of African lawyers and bureaucrats, but short of men who can build a road or a factory. They will need to bring in technicians, it is agreed.

Still Selecting 'Clinton' Jury

U.S., Defense Lawyers Maneuver Carefully in Segregation Case

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A jam-packed crowd was expected in federal court today to watch opposing lawyers continue their cautious maneuvers toward completing the jury for the "Clinton trials," a key test in the battle over segregation in public schools.

★ ★ ★

Three men and a woman were accepted for duty yesterday after searching examinations, pivoting on the words, "prejudice," and "mixing the races."

The jury will hear the story of the rioting last autumn in the little town of Clinton, Tenn., when Negro students were enrolled under court order in the high school, previously all white. It is the first state-supported secondary school in Tennessee where integration was attempted.

★ ★ ★

As a result of the violence, 15 Tennesseans and a Northern segregationist, John Kasper, were indicted for criminal contempt. They are charged with violating a federal injunction against interference with integration.

The trials, which opened Monday, immediately took on a unique and highly dramatic character.

★ ★ ★

Five, six and sometimes more attorneys from Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana and Maryland crowded together around a table on the right of Federal Judge Robert L. Taylor—who issued the injunction the government claims was knowingly flouted.

Before accepting or rejecting the candidate, the defense lawyers would huddle, heads close together, conferring.

It was defense by committee decision, and it took time.

Thoughtful Detective Fouls Up Boy in Court

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Municipal Judge Harper Harb recessed the hearing after the defense persistently contended three teen-aged boys were innocent of a charge of attempting to steal gasoline from trucks.

As the teen-agers started to leave the courtroom, a detective called to one: "Don't forget your gas can."

The boy picked up the can and started out of the courtroom with it. Then he put it down and went out without it.

Weekend Vandals Hit City's Wisner Stadium

Wayne Woods, of 94 Pingree St., reported to Pontiac Police last night that vandals had caused an estimated $500 damage at Wisner Stadium between 7 p.m. Saturday and 6 p.m. Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The rest rooms had been entered and had the windows broken out. There were also four windshields and four aerials on driver training cars damaged. The cars were dented.

Grim Gag on Highways

BALTIMORE (AP) — The fact that Maryland's highway death toll this year reached a near record apparently didn't phase some vandals near here. They altered a 30-mile-an-hour speed sign on a street near the Ritchie Highway to read "80 m.p.h."

Air Academy Grows Quickly

USAF School Located on Mesa in Shadow of Pikes Peak

WASHINGTON — America's $125-million Air Force Academy, matching West Point and Annapolis, is growing majestically atop a mile-and-a-half high mesa in the shadow of Colorado's Pike's Peak.

Structural steelwork for buildings where the nation's future air leaders will be housed and trained rises six stories above the sage and buffalo grass. Giant earth-moving machinery, sometimes working around the clock, is pushing and forming the resistant Colorado earth into shapes suitable for landing fields, parade grounds, and all the amenities and facilities necessary to a great university of the air.

★ ★ ★

Thus the dream of such pioneer airmen as the late Billy Mitchell and Henry H. "Hap" Arnold, general of the Air Force, becomes reality. (General Arnold headed the Army Air Forces during World War II and for many years prior to his death was a life trustee of the National Geographic Society.)

It was the dream, too, of the late Secretary of Defense James Forrestal who took the first step toward creation of the Air Force Academy in 1949, when he appointed a Service Academy Board to plan such an institution.

The board, whose members included Charles A. Lindbergh, inspected 400 proposed sites in every section of the country. The location ten miles north of Colorado Springs — where high prairies meet the Rockies — finally was chosen because of the vast acreage available, community facilities near the site, topography, climate, water supply, and transportation.

★ ★ ★

The Academy, when completed, will be an added attraction to one of the most picturesque areas in the United States, the National Geographic Society says. Colorado Springs, with an area population of more than 100,000, already is host to 1,500,000 vacationists each year. It is the usual point of departure for the climb to the summit of 14,110-foot Pike's Peak.

Boy, 6, Suffers Cuts When Struck by Car

Six-year-old Carl M. Wiles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wiles of 81 E. Auburn Ave., suffered cuts and bruises when struck by a car near his home Monday afternoon.

The child was hit as he stepped out from behind a truck to cross Auburn Ave. about 100 yards east of Martha St., police said. The car was driven by Cameron Stewart, of 65 Whitfield St., who said he was unable to stop in time to avoid the accident.

The boy was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital where he was treated and released.

Showboat Trips Slated

CHESANING (AP) — The Chesaning Showboat will begin a seven-night run at Showboat Park on Shiawassee River here July 15. The 80-foot showboat will make a half-mile trip each evening.

Humans Helping to Test Vaccines

Seek Standard Shot for Use in Combatting Asiatic Flu

WASHINGTON (AP)—Human volunteers are helping to test experimental vaccines designed to combat Asiatic flu—and another week or so may reveal whether one can be standardized for practical use.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the U.S. Public Health Service said today that five manufacturers have submitted samples of proposed vaccines to the service's Communicable Disease Center at Montgomery, Ala. "Potency" tests are under way there.

★ ★ ★

The spokesman cautioned, however, that even if one or more of the vaccines passes the tests, it will not be possible to produce them in unlimited quantities by fall — when influenza usually is most prevalent.

He said a few "relatively localized outbreaks" of the disease—which has reached epidemic form in Asian nations—already have occurred in the United States. Other outbreaks of influenza-like diseases are suspected of being the Asiatic type, though not yet confirmed as such.

★ ★ ★

The malady is a relatively mild one in that it seldom produces complications, but patients have high fevers and "ache all over." No deaths stemming from it have been reported in this country.

The spokesman said vaccine samples from one manufacturer, whom he declined to identify, have been under test at Montgomery for "two or three weeks," but that samples from the other four were received only last week. He said it takes a month or more to complete the tests.

★ ★ ★

In the tests, the spokesman said human volunteers are injected with the vaccine, and tested at weekly intervals to determine how much resistance they have developed in the form of "antibodies" in their blood.

★ ★ ★

He stressed that there is no danger of the volunteers developing the flu itself as a result, because the infective route for the disease is by way of the nose and throat.

Rescue Injured Man From Lofty Ledge

SEQUOIA-KINGS CANYON NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP)—John F. Scott, injured while hiking, was rescued from a 13,000-foot mountain ledge last night.

The 23-year-old graduate student at the University of California had been trapped on the ledge for more than 24 hours while a hastily formed rescue party beat its way by horse and on foot into the rugged North Palisade country of the High Sierra.

★ ★ ★

Scott was hiking with companions when he slipped and fell 40 feet onto the ledge, injuring both ankles and an arm.

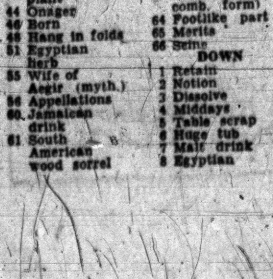

One companion spent the night with him while others went for help.

★ ★ ★

A searching party formed in Bishop, Calif., spent yesterday getting to the injured man.

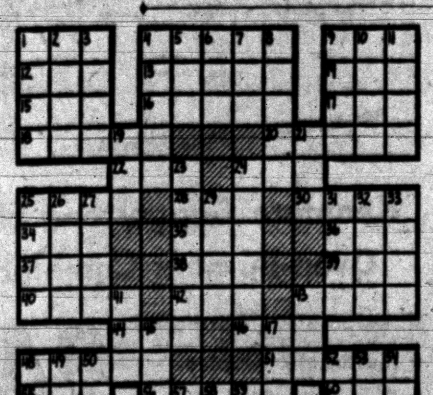

Scott's injuries included a fractured left ankle and right wrist, possible fractured ribs and internal injuries, shock and exposure.

Junior Editors Quiz on TOTEM POLES

QUESTION: Why did Indians carve totem poles?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Various American Indian tribes carved totem poles, but they were particularly popular with Indians of the Pacific northwest.

Some of their beautiful totem poles still stand today. They generally show symbols of important members of the family or of Indian legends or animals, birds and other things the clan considers sacred.

Many Indians believed that the figures on their totem poles represented guardian spirits who would protect them from danger. When a man grew up, he would go without food and live apart, until he saw his guardian spirit in a dream.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: You can make a totem pole of clay. Mold the clay around a stick so it will support your totem figures. Shape the clay into heads and other figures. Paint them with bright reds, blues, blacks and whites.

John Kirkpatrick, Cleveland, Ohio, won the $10 award for his idea. Send your idea to this newspaper. Tomorrow: What American here became a Russian Admiral? Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures.

Plan Quiet Funeral for Mrs. Coolidge

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP) — Just as she desired it in her final wish, funeral services tomorrow for Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, widow of the former President, will be quiet and simple.

★ ★ ★

The former First Lady died early yesterday at the age of 78. The funeral will be held at 2 p. m. in Edwards Congregational Church, where services for the late President were held Jan. 7, 1933.

The body will be cremated Thursday and the ashes will be sent to the hamlet of Plymouth, Vt., for burial Friday beside the graves of her husband and their son Calvin, who died at the age of 16 just 33 years ago while Coolidge was in the White House.

★ ★ ★

The only surviving son, John, now 51, said there would be no callers and requested that no flowers be sent. Friends were urged instead to make donations, if they wish, to the Heart Fund.

Mrs. Coolidge died of a heart condition and kidney ailment.

Swerves Airliner Fast to Avoid Jet Collision

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A United Air Lines pilot reported he had to swerve his DC6 airliner violently yesterday to avoid a jet fighter over Oxnard, Calif.

Eight passengers were injured slightly when pilot C. H. Thompson threw his big airliner into a climbing turn. Others were unhurt but shaken.

Thompson, of Los Altos, Calif., said he was flying from Los Angeles to San Francisco at 11,000 feet when he saw the military plane bank and head directly toward the airliner. It screamed by underneath after Thompson swerved.

Name Woman Sheriff

MARKLEEVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Lucille Brown has been named California's only woman sheriff. The Alpine County supervisors appointed her yesterday to serve the unexpired term of her husband Orrin Brown, who died July 2.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams and 19 top Michigan Democrats, including the full State Administrative Board, are expected at a Democratic fund-raising affair in Pontiac Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The officeholders, plus four members of the State Supreme Court and the chairman and vice chairman of the State Central Committee, will be the big attraction at a picnic sponsored by the Oakland County Democratic Committee from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the home of Pontiac State Representative Leslie H. Hudson, 361 Gallogly Rd. on Lake Angelus.

Profits from tickets at $2.50 a person will help build up the committee's financial resources for next year's elections.

The governor, for whom state Democrats have named Sunday as Gov. G. Mennen Williams Day, is expected to be on hand from noon to 3 p.m. Others invited:

Sen. Patrick V. McNamara; Justices George Edwards, Eugene Black, John Voelker and Talbot Smith; Neil Staebler, State Central Committee chairman, and Mrs. Adlaide Hart, vice chairman.

Jan B. Vanderploeg and Don Stevens, board of agriculture; Carl Brablec and Mrs. Irene E. Murphy, U. of M. regents, and Chris H. Magnusson, board of education, also will attend.

Oakland County Democrats and their families are invited, said Carlos G. Richardson, chairman of the county committee.

Buffet dinner will be served from 12:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Age No Barrier After Couple's Love at 1st Sight

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — "It was just love at first sight," explained Thomas Henderson, 21, after his marriage yesterday to the former Mrs. Florence Norris, 65.

"I remember when I first saw her," the grinning bridegroom said at a wedding dinner in a friend's house. "It was about two or three weeks ago when I rode my bicycle by this house.

★ ★ ★

"Last week I asked her to marry me."

Mrs. Norris' reaction to their first meeting was somewhat different.

"I remember when he came by," she said. "He kept staring at me and I was wishing he'd quit and go on.

"Now I wouldn't take anything for him. I sure was tired of living alone."

The couple paid for their $5.50 marriage license with money saved from shelling beans at the city market.

★ ★ ★

"I guess we'll just go on shelling beans for a living," said the bride, who has eight children by a previous marriage.

Asked if he was planning on a family, Thomas replied, "Yes, a boy and a girl." His wife grinned but declined to comment.

ABC Will Film Most Programs

Ray Milland to Direct and Star in Two NBC 'Crisis' Dramas

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — "A Night With Marlene Dietrich" may be a 90-minute network spectacular next season . . .

ABC-TV will have almost 85 per cent of its fall shows on film . . . One of them will be a Van Johnson series, "Amazing Stories," filmed in Europe . . .

Ray Milland will star in and direct two of NBC's big Monday night "Crisis" dramas replacing Robert Montgomery . . .

Sets in use Saturday nights have dropped to 28.5 per cent, meaning the summer excursions away from home are in full swing . . . In the hot spell, folks really should watch the warm weather misfits foisted on TV, for they're certainly not so hot.

Billy Graham has extended his ABC-TV "crusade" through July 20 . . .

DIRECTOR SOUGHT

The Frank Sinatra ABC-TV show can't find a director . . .

Red Skelton's TV writers, Sherwood Schwartz and Cecil Barker, have a Broadway play for June Havoc, about the distaff half of a Mr. and Mrs. broadcasting team . . .

There'll be no "test" of pay-TV. It would cost too many millions, and therefore will start in earnest, and don't bet against its happening soon . . .

Columbia Pictures' TV arm, Screen Gems, paid $1,500,000 for 100 old "Wild Bill Hickok" telefilms . . .

Dorothy Olson won the regular (we hesitate to say "permanent") job as gal singer on NBC's "Bandstand" musicale . . .

'LUCKY LADY'

ABC-TV has its first afternoon show set to go . . . "Lucky Lady," a fun-and-games frolic starring Keefe Brasselle and Virginia Graham . . .

CBS sportscaster Herman Hickman was appointed to President Eisenhower's "Citizens Advisory Committee on Fitness of American Youth."

Phil Rizzuto has taken over Hickman's radio sportscasts, but CBS says Hickman will return in the fall . . .

One of the networks has a big newscasting shakeup due . . .

Victor Borge bought a castle and huge estate in Denmark . . .

On the Broadway stage "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter" was a travesty on Hollywood and Marilyn Monroe, but the Hollywood film will be a travesty on New York television . . .

Lady Bullfighter Likes Bull More Than People

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — It wasn't easy but I did it — I found something that isn't crooked . . . the Mexican bullfights down in Mexico City and Tijuana.

Bullfighter Bette Ford, the former Broadway and Hollywood model and actress, tells me the Mexicans almost apologize for the fights being honest.

★ ★ ★

"You see," they shrug sadly, "you can't get together with the bull."

BETTE

Bette has slain 134 bulls so far and from this vast experience she adds, "But there are plenty of rackets.

"There are 33 newspaper critics who have collectors. I pay off half a dozen every fight — $50 to $75 each, about $500 in all.

"The 'honest' ones you don't bribe — you just buy pretty gifts for them."

Bulls are nicer than people, according to Bette, who's had her back broken, her right shoulder dislocated and her chest torn open.

★ ★ ★

"People are morbid. They come to see blood — they don't care whose. Bulls are honest. They're out to get you but they're not deceitful.

"When you get caught on a horn and are tossed 10 feet in the air, it's not very funny. But people've laughed when I landed sitting down right on my tailbone. Not only that, I've heard women yell at me, 'You're so cruel, I hope the bull gets you!'"

Coming from McKeesport, Pa., Bette became a bullfighter out of curiosity and now has a big home in Mexico City with servants and furs.

Bette generally fights two bulls the same day . . . and between the first and the second, she says, "What am I doing here, anyway?"

Her answer frequently is, "Because, like all women, I'm insane."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Steve Allen says regarding Ed Sullivan's blast at him and his manager Jules Green as being "two punks"—"When I first heard it I laughed and we even went around calling each other 'punks' as a joke. Then I realized it was said in anger and I don't imagine he'd have said it if he'd had time to think." Jules Green said, "I'm sure Steve wouldn't have anything ungentlemanly to say about Ed and on that he wouldn't have to be coached."

EARL'S PEARLS: Perfecting a "clean" H-bomb is something like building an upholstered electric chair.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Money's so hard to get, and still harder to keep, that it's downright astonishing anybody would be fool enough to work for the stuff . . . That's earl brother.

Gas Bill Supporters Predict Win Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—After weeks of pro and con testimony, the House Commerce Committee votes today on the controversial Harris-O'Hara natural gas bill.

Supporters were predicting approval by a narrow margin. The bill would free natural gas producers from utility-type federal regulation.

★ ★ ★

The bill, sponsored by Chairman Harris (D-Ark) of the committee and Rep. Joseph P. O'Hara (R-Minn), has been hotly attacked by some consumer groups.

It is similar to one vetoed last year by President Eisenhower.

★ ★ ★

Agitation for the measure developed after the Supreme Court ruled in 1954 that under present law the Federal Power Commission had not only the authority but the duty to regulate gas producer prices.

Cure Paralysis by Removing Tick From Scalp

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—University of Mississippi Medical Center physicians say a 3-year-old Indian girl has been cured of almost complete paralysis by the removal of a tick from her scalp.

★ ★ ★

Doctors said a pregnant tick of a certain species secretes a venom that can cause paralysis and could cause death.

★ ★ ★

The little girl, admitted to the hospital July 4, had lost speech and movement. The paralysis began in her feet and spread through her entire body.

Doctors found the tick in her scalp. When the insect was removed, the girl was cured.

The West German Republic will buy 12 million tons of American coal in 1957, according to industry estimates.

A-Bomb Holds Still More Secrets

By BOB CONSIDINE

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (INS) — After watching Test Hood in the present A-bomb series, it's easy to understand why this peace-loving nation of ours wants very much to carry on with its experiments in the field of so-called small nuclear weapons.

★ ★ ★

We're still scratching the surface of the atom. We're still probing scores of mysteries associated with its imprisonment of colossal power.

To cease such work now in the field of military application (which is closely related to what we're trying to achieve in the peaceful line) would be akin to stopping surgical research at the time of the invention of anesthesia.

Hood was something completely new in a fission bomb. It was the work of the brilliant Dr. Edward Teller, father of the H-bomb that this new bomb could compactly and efficiently fuse, in all probability.

★ ★ ★

As far as a reporter can learn, Hood involved new engineering, new mixtures of uranium-235 and plutonium, new methods of bringing those elements to their critical point, and perhaps a new bomb casing or added luminescent ingredient.

DESERT ABLAZE

Though small enough to be carried aloft by a modest balloon, Hood set the desert at Yucca Flat ablaze, shook Los Angeles 350 miles away, scorched reporters and cameramen 13 miles away, created an ungodly and long-lived light that illuminated the Western United States from here to Oregon and down to Mexico—and which was seen by a United Airlines pilot halfway between Honolulu and the coast.

★ ★ ★

Nothing quite like that had happened before in an atomic test. Something new and bewilderingly complex had panned out, after perhaps years of paper work and dreaming.

There have been other surprises in the Plumbbob series. Hood was the sixth shot of the series. It was unlike the fifth, a smaller bomb that blew heavy doors off their hinges at 13 miles. And unlike any of the others, as they in turn were individualistic endeavors.

Half a dozen more bombs are scheduled, including one to be set off atop a 700-foot tower, another in a tunnel dug 1,900 feet into the side of a mountain, and a third in the nose of a rocket which apparently will be launched from a jet fighter and explode at 50,000 feet among a hypothetical group of enemy bombers.

Though we've tested more than 50 devices through the years, we've hardly begun to extract from the fissionable material its true power.

It was said of World War II that the Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombs were so inefficient that only one-tenth of the 1 per cent of their atomic powder actually fissioned. Hood, probably a midget compared in size with either of those bombs, yielded three and more times the blast power.

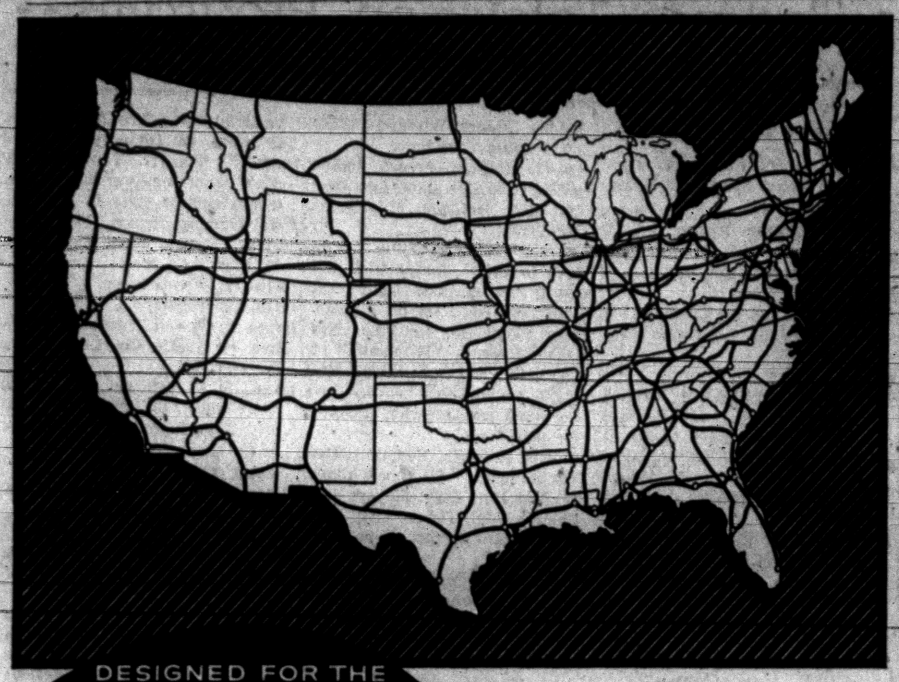

Much of today's placid use of the atom is a direct result of lessons learned in the grimmer business of developing portability and violence in atomic bombs.

★ ★ ★

It is not likely that we could now be embarked on the President's atoms-for-peace plan if a predecessor had not spent $2,000,000,000 building the world's first such bomb.

The impression one gets here is that the U.N. would give up testing H-bombs tomorrow, if the Russians showed any believable promise to respond equally.

We've learned enough about them, really.

DESIGNED FOR THE FUTURE

Concrete for the Interstate System

The Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1956 has given to the people of the United States the greatest road building program in history. Men of vision have planned the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways as a legacy to future generations for the unlimited progress and full mobility of an America on wheels.

Concrete roads of modern design will save lives and dollars far into the future—long after inferior road surfaces crumble and collapse. No other paving material can approach the durability, safety and economy of concrete. It's the one pavement that meets all the needs of today's and tomorrow's traffic . . . when driving will again be a pleasure on long-lasting, safe, smooth-riding modern concrete highways.

Michigan needs concrete highways to move heavier traffic. Concrete roads outlast all others two to one yet cost no more to build than other types of equal load capacity. For smooth rides, tax economy and greater safety, durable concrete roads have proved best for Michigan.
