Pontiac Open Housing Law to Be Drafted

ONE COLOR

By BOB WISLER

City commissioners last night ordered the director of law to draft an open housing ordinance based on what are reputedly the two strongest in the state—those of Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

Enactment of the ordinance will be considered in the near future, commissioners said.

The commissioners voted 6-1 for drafting the ordinance with District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin dissenting.

Commissioners John A. Dugan, District 5, and Wesley J. Wood, District 6, said, however, they believed that the question of an open housing ordinance should be put to a citywide vote.

Related Stories, Page B-12

Irwin, a realtor, said he has always believed it is the right of the individual to sell "as he sees fit."

He said he didn't believe anyone else had the right to tell a property owner how to dispose of his property or what to do with it.

Irwin said as far as he was concerned they were voting on the ordinance last night.

District 1 Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr., who moved for adoption of the resolution, threatened resignation if the commission failed to pass the ordinance which will be drafted.

"I feel that this commission, the same as commissions in other cities, has a moral obligation," he said.

"Some said we would have a referendum on this. Let's cross that bridge when we come to it," he said.

The commissioners were urged last night to adopt an ordinance by representatives from the Pontiac Education Association, the Pontiac Council of PTAs, the Pontiac Area Urban League Guild, Pontiac Area Council of Churches, the north area advisory council of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity, the human relations committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, the Family Service of Oakland County, the Oakland Child Guidance Clinics, Inc.

Others are the Pontiac Chapter of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, the Oakland County Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers, the Voice of Oakland County Action League and three Baptist churches.

City Approves Creation of Area Planning Group

City commissioners last night authorized creation of an advisory body called the Pontiac Area Planning Council. The vote was 6-1.

The council will come into being when a joint resolution is passed by the Pontiac Board of Education. The board is expected to approve the resolution at tonight's meeting.

The resolution authorizes the mayor to begin implementation of the planning council by making five appointments to the 28-member board of governors.

The planning council, a relatively new idea in local government, was opposed by District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin.

He said the city would be implementing another layer of government and expressed fears that it would become far more powerful than the commission intended.

OBJECTED TO COUNCIL

A number of residents and spokesmen from groups objected to the council.

However, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., Mayor Pro Tem Leslie H. Hudson and Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, said the council was to be an advisory body only.

The resolution passed by the commission provides that the council's board of governors will "submit bylaws, operating procedures, major work plans and an annual budget to the City Commission and board of education for approval prior to their implementation."

Whitmer spoke of the need for an advisory body which could consider all facets of planning decisions that would affect the total community.

WHERE TO BUILD

As an example, he said the school board must decide where to build a new high school, possibly a "great high school" to serve the total school area.

This would bring thousands of people into its area, would affect transportation, demands for housing and possible new retail stores, he said.

The school district would be better off having advice on whether this is feasible for a certain site, or feasible at all, he said.

Scattered Frost Tonight

Gardeners better cover up tomato plants, gourds and other vegetables and flowers tonight as the U. S. Weather Bureau forecasts scattered frost and a low of 28 to 35. Warmer temperatures are expected tomorrow.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today 10, and near zero for tonight and tomorrow.

Red Sox Fans Pray for 6th Game Win

BOSTON (AP) — Red Sox fans today prayed for their team's comeback spirit to lead it to victory in the sixth game of the World Series against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Historic Park Street Church at Boston Common welcomed fans to a special service at "Brimstone Corner" outside the church at noon.

The church said its 75-bell carillon would play "The Impossible Dream" from the Broadway Musical "Man of La Mancha," with the Red Sox the object of such prayer and meditation as those gathered might wish to offer.

"The cry of 'play ball' will be heard in Fenway Park today," the U. S. Weather Bureau said in reporting that dry air pushing into the area would bring variable cloudiness with patches of sunshine and a high temperature in the low 60s.

St. Louis, installed by oddsmakers as 6-5 favorites to win today's game and 17-5 favorites to win the series, rested its hopes on right-handed pitcher Dick Hughes, who had a 16-6 record during the regular season and was the loser in the second game of the series.

Boston, counting on the ability to bounce back that helped it win the American League pennant, gambled on rookie right-hander Gary Waslewski in its bid to even the series 3-3.

FIRST INNING

SECOND INNING

Cardinals — Cepeda popped to third baseman Foy. McCarver grounded out short to first. Shannon grounded out short to first. No runs, no hits, none left.

Property Tax Vote Is Killed

City commissioners last night formally killed the special election — scheduled for Oct. 17 — to consider changing the charter to allow a four-mill property tax increase.

District 5 Commissioner John A. Dugan said that election was scheduled only in the event that voters in last month's tax advisory election had shown a preference for a property tax increase instead of an income tax.

The election then would have been necessary because the property tax levy for general funds is fixed by charter and can be changed only by a charter amendment election.

Commissioners last week enacted an income tax ordinance which takes effect Jan. 1.

Last night they spoke again of the financial pinch facing the city and advised against signing petitions that would force a referendum vote which would delay the effect of the income tax until July.

Car Talks Cloaked in News Blackout

DETROIT (AP) — A news blackout cloaked auto labor negotiations today, indicating a break could be near in the 35-day strike against Ford Motor Co.

The 24-hour blackout, announced in a joint statement by Ford and the striking United Auto Workers union, ends at 9 p.m. EDT. It was likely any joint talks before then would be held in total secrecy with no announcement.

Traditionally such a blackout has meant that one side — or both — has made a move in deadlocked talks, although immediate settlement has not always resulted.

The strike has idled 160,000 workers at Ford plants in 25 states, cut off the company's production at the critical period of model introduction and caused layoffs in some supplier industries.

The blackout was announced as both sides huddled separately last night in the vast Ford headquarters known as the Glass House in suburban Dearborn.

SINCE SEPT. 6

The sessions were the first at night since the strike began Sept. 6, climaxing two months of fruitless efforts to write a new three-year contract embodying what UAW President Walter P. Reuther has called the most ambitious demands in the union's history.

Although there was no joint meeting, a union spokesman said the two sides had been in touch "by various means."

Reuther and his top bargainers left the building shortly before midnight while the Ford team, headed by Malcolm L. Denise, remained until early morning.

Asked if the company had made a new proposal — it's made only one that has been publicly announced since talks opened in July — Reuther said: "I don't want to comment on that because we would be violating an understanding we have."

The joint announcement of the blackout said it was being set "in the hope that this might facilitate serious and meaningful collective bargaining."

House GOP Sees No Tax Hike in '67

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leaders said today they still believe Congress will not act this year on President Johnson's request for a tax increase.

The situation would change only if there is "meaningful activity" on the part of the President in cutting federal spending, Reps. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and John J. Rhodes of Arizona said in a joint news conference.

Ford added that he saw no evidence that Johnson would take the lead to reduce spending.

Walter Heller, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said meanwhile that without the tax increase, consumers are in for "substantially higher prices, substantially faster inflation."

Pontiac Division Is Hiring the 'Unhirables'

By DICK SAUNDERS

In a striking departure from traditional hiring practices, Pontiac Motor Division is hiring people previously classified as "unemployable."

BARNES SAMPLES

The new program is a joint venture of the General Motors division and the Pontiac Area Urban League.

It is aimed at replacing despair, frustration and rejection with hope.

It's not the kind of false hope that springs from vague promises. It's solid, tangible hope—employment, the chance to regain human dignity and again become more productive citizens.

This is why company and Urban League officials think the program will work.

PREVIOUSLY UNEMPLOYED

To date there are 202 previously unemployed persons working at Pontiac Motor Division. Another 15 are employed at the Pontiac Fisher Body plant.

"As far as we know, there is no other such program of this size in the nation," said Clarence E. Barnes, executive director of the Urban League.

Barnes feels that Pontiac Motor Division, by participating in the program, is "providing a bold new kind of leadership needed to solve urban problems."

RESPONSIVE PARTY

First, Pontiac Motor Division is acting as the responsive party; a major industry seeking to strike out at one of our major urban problems today — high rates of unemployment among minority groups.

Second, the Urban League is acting as a coordinator; trying, with the help of various parties in the Negro community, to reach into the ranks of the unemployed and produce job applicants.

Third is a nine-member follow-up committee. This group is headed by a Pontiac Fisher Body plant employe, Mansfield C. Samples of 185 Raeburn.

Those close to the program feel that much of its success will depend on this committee. The purpose of the committee members is to assist the newly employed to make a satisfactory adjustment to their job opportunities.

This is done through counseling and various contacts with the employe at the neighborhood level.

Road Crisis Averted by Loan

By ED BLUNDEN

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee came to the rescue of the County Road Commission yesterday by granting them a $500,000 loan.

The commission said it needed the money to stop contractors from walking off jobs for which they have not received payment.

The road commission claimed it has fallen $425,000 behind in payments to contractors currently on jobs.

Bills for $200,000 to meet cost of ordered materials and $80,000 for Social Security also were listed as due.

The commission reported it had only $175,000 on hand for October.

The full board of supervisors approved a loan of $500,000 to the commission last May, subject to Ways and Means Committee approval.

Approval was granted yesterday over the objections of two committee members, S. James Clarkson of Southfield and Harry Horton of Royal Oak.

Various interpretations of what the exchange of money really meant were offered and the funds were called a "loan," or an "advance" and it was suggested it may turn out to be a "gift."

Clarkson questioned whether the road commission legally can obtain a loan from the county.

State Legislators Get Down to Work

LANSING (AP)—With mixed praise and criticism for Gov. George Romney's agenda, the House and Senate today got down to the shirt-sleeves tasks of a special legislative session that will deal with everything from lower court reform to gasoline taxes and possibly open housing.

As the session got into full swing, legislative leaders agreed that court reorganization would be the toughest item called for by Romney in a 12-page message Tuesday.

The message covered many fields, but excluded a call for action on more money for the state's public schools. The only school appropriation called for was $5 million for underprivileged children, most of which is expected to go to Detroit.

There was no immediate reaction from the state's educators who had pressed hard for such action. But it was sure to come, especially from school districts where teachers recently won salary increases by striking.

OPEN HOUSING

The message also did not include a state open housing law, but it raised the possibility that Romney may call for one later this month.

Mixed with the praise and criticism was speculation over when the session would end.

Some leaders predicted it would be over by Nov. 15, but others said lower court reform alone could keep legislators here the rest of the year.

"You'll have so many judges and justices of the peace down here to lobby on this you won't be able to tell them from the legislators," said House Speaker Robert Waldron.

House Democratic leader William Ryan said he doubted that a $55 million package of gasoline and motor vehicle weight taxes—the so-called good roads package—can pass unless open housing passes, too.

The House and Senate, meanwhile, got into a quarrel immediately over the schedule for special session.

Majority Senate Republicans approved a set of deadlines under which the Legislature would only recess Nov. 15 and then come back Dec. 28 to adjourn the session.

Art Academy President Will Speak at Reunion

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Glen Paulsen, president of the Cranbrook Academy of Art, will speak at the first reunion sponsored by the newly formed Alumni Organization at 1 p.m. Saturday in the lecture hall.

There are over 2,000 alumni of the academy, but only 100 or so are expected to attend the organization's reunion.

Cochairmen Charlotte Quinn and Joanne Caverly said that Paulsen will speak on the academy's plans for preserving its standards of excellence and the expanding of its scope to meet changing times.

The all-day activities will begin at 9 a.m. with registration followed by tours of the academy. Election of an alumni board of directors will follow a series of notable speakers.

Champagne and dinner at 5 p.m. will round out the day.

OTHER SPEAKERS

Speakers slated besides Paulsen are: Henry Booth, trustee and son of founder George Booth; Wallace Mitchell, director of the academy; and Louis Redstone, alumnus and Detroit architect.

The academy was founded 40 years ago by George Booth when he decided to invest in such an institution rather than spend time and money on art collecting. Since then the famous school has drawn students from all over the world to study in one of its many departments.

The new organization hopes to create an agency through which alumni can exchange professional knowledge, obtain job opportunity information, and arrange summer seminars.

McNamara Against Bombing Haiphong

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara again says the war in Vietnam would not be shortened by U.S. bombing or mining of the enemy's port of Haiphong.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff and several Senate hawks have urged military action to knock out the North Vietnamese port, a key center for movement of supplies. McNamara has consistently opposed this.

McNamara, in Senate testimony Aug. 25, released Tuesday, said Hanoi would move its supplies over other routes to its forces and the Viet Cong in South Vietnam if Haiphong harbor were destroyed.

He declared the civilian heads of the American government would continue to base bombing decisions on the basis of value of targets, risk to American pilots and avoidance of direct confrontation with Red China and the Soviet Union.

DENIED 'NO-WIN'

And in a heated exchange with Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., he denied President Johnson's war policy is a no-win policy.

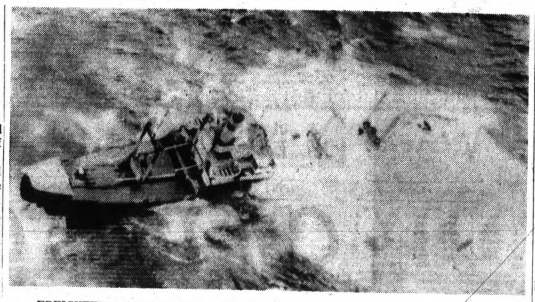

Thurmond maintained "we seem to be more concerned over the civilian casualties in the North than we are over our own casualties in the South."

McNamara replied he knew of no evidence to support such a conclusion and "I, myself, strongly object to such a conclusion."

Thurmond: "Mr. Secretary, I am terribly disappointed with your statement. I think it is a statement of placating the Communists. It is a statement of appeasing the Communists. It is a statement of no-win.

LEAVE NOW

"It seems to me that if we follow what you have recommended, we ought to get out of Vietnam at once, because we have no chance to win, and I deeply regret that a man in your position is taking that position today."

Boy Tells of Being Chained to Brother

A nine-year-old boy testified yesterday that he was once chained to a younger brother by a man for whom their mother keeps house in Independence Township.

The youngster, Frederick J. Lewis, told of the incident while being questioned by Asst. Prosecutor John Davey during the preliminary court examination of Paul M. Maczko and the boys' mother, Mrs. Florence Lewis.

Maczko, 57, and Mrs. Lewis, 29, both of 9052 Ortonville, were charged with cruelty last month for allegedly making four of Mrs. Lewis' five children live in a small building behind the main house.

Frederick was one of two witnesses who were called before the hearing was adjourned to Oct. 18. It will be determined at that time if Maczko and Mrs. Lewis will be bound over to Circuit Court for trial.

The boy, the oldest of Mrs. Lewis' children, said that he and his brother Richard, 8, were chained because they wanted to go along on a visit to their grandmother "but we made her nervous."

DESCRIBES SCENE

He described to Waterford Township Justice of the Peace Kenneth Hempstead how the chains were placed around his ankles, locked and then out around a beam.

When the dog chain was introduced, one of two defense attorneys, James Carr, asked the boy, "How can you be sure this isn't the chain to lock up the horses."

"It's not," replied Frederick. "He bought the chain for us."

Asked where the children stayed, the boy said "sometimes we slept in the house, sometimes in the back," . . . in a little house, not a playhouse."

'WENT TO RACES'

He said all the children stayed in the building, "except Joseph," an infant.

A neighbor and occasional baby sitter for the Lewis children, Roberta Howenstine, 13, of 5940 Ortonville, said that she had once cared for the youngsters in the "shed" while Maczko and Mrs. Lewis went to the races.

She said that the building had no plumbing that the children had to use a chamber pot.

Once she said she overheard Maczko tell Richard that if he didn't behave he would tie him up.

Roberta's mother was excluded from the courtroom at one point when defense attorneys objected that she was coaching her daughter from the back of the court. She was later allowed to return.

Housing Law to Be Drafted

In addition, the commission was presented with a petition from Ronald Covault, assistant county prosecutor and a Pontiac resident, with some 600 signatures urging adoption of an ordinance.

Covault said the signatures were gathered only over the weekend without benefit of any organizational backing. The great majority of signers were white, he said.

Hubert Price, vice president of the Pontiac Organization of Black Youth (POOBY), said in bidding for enactment of an ordinance "It is a pity that we have to ask for rights that are provided for us in the Constitution."

The Ypsilanti open housing ordinance is one which has been endorsed by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

It prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, religion, color, creed or sectional origin in sale or rental of dwelling units and calls for a penalty for violation of up to a $500 fine or 90 days in jail or both.

The Ann Arbor ordinance is similar although the penalty is less, up to $100 fine and 10 days, or both, and exempts from coverage rental of rooms in a housing unit where the owner or a member of his family lives.

Mayor William H. Taylor said the commission would proceed toward an ordinance along the guidelines he set up originally.

$3.5-Million Contracts Let for Mott High

Contracts totaling $3,527,104 were awarded last night by the Waterford Township Board of Education for construction of the district's Charles S. Mott High School.

Work was scheduled to begin today on the structure to be located on a 68½-acre site at Scott Lake and Pontiac Lake roads.

Awarded the architectural contract for $2,213,848 was the J. A. Ferguson Construction Co. of Farmington which outbid two other firms at last Thursday's bid opening.

The mechanical contract went to the Wilbur N. Williams, Inc., of Detroit for $917,873. Fourteen firms bid for the job.

Awarded the electrical contract for $395,383 was Cates Electric of Royal Oak, low among 11 bidders.

The board made some cuts and additions in reducing the low base proposal amounts from $3,550,103 to the $3,527,104.

Alternates for optional construction may be added if funds become available, according to school officials.

The 170,400-square-foot structure is scheduled for partial occupancy by next September to allow sophomores and juniors to attend class there. Target date for completion of the school is before classes begin in September 1969.

'Che Death Finishes Bolivian Guerrillas'

VALLEGRANDE, Bolivia (AP) — Bolivia's guerrilla revolt has been "virtually finished" by the killing of Ernesto (Che) Guevara, once Fidel Castro's top expert on revolution, the chief of Bolivian armed forces says.

Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia said Guevara died from wounds received in a near hand-to-hand battle with troops in Bolivia's southeastern jungle, and before his death told his captors: "I'm the Che and I've failed."

Ovando told newsmen brought to Vallegrande Tuesday to view the body that the rebels failed because they lacked the support of the peasants, they underestimated the Bolivian army and they chose to fight in an area strategically unsuited to them.

Col. Joaquin Zenteno Anaya said the guerrillas lost seven men in fighting Sunday and Monday near Higueras, 300 miles southeast of La Paz, and had only 10 men left in the area. Military sources said 29 guerrillas have been killed in the past seven months, including 15 Bolivians, 11 Cubans, an Argentine woman and a Peruvian doctor.

MANY SKEPTICAL

The story of Guevara's death met with skepticism in some quarters outside Bolivia. The Argentine-born revolutionary, who fought with Castro to overthrow Cuban President Fulgencio Batista in 1959, had been reported killed or captured in various parts of Latin America during the 2½ years since he mysteriously vanished from Cuba.

Argentine Foreign Minister Nicanor Costa Mendez said in Buenos Aires he doubted that Guevara was dead or that he ever had been in Bolivia.

Loan Averts Road Crisis in the County

Chairman David Levinson of Birmingham said the situation was now "an emergency" as contractors had reportedly refused to continue working unless payments were made.

With a 6-2 vote, a "memorandum of understanding" was passed which spelled out how the money would be paid back — over 27 months — and the county auditors were instructed to divert the money from general funds.

The road commission had asked the supervisors for $2 million during budget consideration. It has also proposed a county-wide eight-tenths of a mill levy to raise about $2 million per year to take care of road construction projects.

However, no road money was set aside in the budget for 1968. The commission operates separately from the board of supervisors and uses about $3 million in revenue from state gas and weight taxes and federal and community funds.

NOT ADEQUATE

This has not been deemed adequate in the last few years and the commission hopes to embark on a $7-million program to build new roads and enlarge older ones before 1970.

As was pointed out at the meeting, the proposed "Good Roads Package" will be before the State Legislature in the next few weeks.

Extra tax money would be coming to the counties for road purposes if the bill, which involves increased gas taxes, is passed.

The committee expects the road commission to be able to pay the county the loan from revenue.

Clarkston said it was possible the road commission may not pay the money back due to the possible legal entanglements in calling the appropriation "a loan."

He said he would vote yes on the measure if it was made an outright "gift" and would therefore be what he considered legal.

Countywide Phone Setup a Possibility

The Oakland County Board of Auditors is investigating the possibility of having a county-wide telephone dialing system for use of offices and citizens having business with the county courthouse.

Telephone officials outlined possible setups before the ways and means committee which requested the study. Such a system would save money on calls from areas that are currently toll calls, telephone officials pointed out.

City Okays Creation of Planning Unit

Taylor said an advantage of the council is that it would incorporate into it and make use of leading citizens — "the power structure of the community."

IN PRIVATE SECTOR

The problems of the community would then be brought to attention of persons who could do something in the private sector to solve them, he said.

This was one of the features that Irwin objected to. He said the 28-member board of governors would contain only four elected officials and consequently it could hardly be answerable to the voters.

"Does anybody here think an elected body would buck this group?" he asked.

He said that because of the number of built-in positions and the number of appointments made by the mayor and the president of the school board (five each) the board would of necessity contain influential persons whom those seeking election would need the backing of.

ANSWERABLE TO VOTERS

But the council wouldn't need the backing of the elected officials, he said.

Taylor and Hudson said that the mayor and school board president are answerable to the voters and can be voted out.

Their appointments serve at the pleasure of these elected officials consequently new officials could make new appointments, they said.

U.P. Counties Vote on Time

MARQUETTE (UPI) — Nine of Michigan's 15 Upper Peninsula counties have voted to comply with the Federal Uniform Time Act and go on Central standard time Oct. 29, leaving them one hour behind the Lower Peninsula.

Three counties voted to remain on Eastern standard time and thus violate the time act. The counties are Delta, Houghton and Ontonagon.

No Estimate on Stolen Gems

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—E. Dale Shaffer, of Birmingham, Detroit Race Track owner, said Tuesday he couldn't begin to estimate the value of jewels that mysteriously vanished from his plush high-rise apartment Sunday.

He scoffed at reports quoting him as telling friends the gems were worth $150,000.

"Only one item was insured and that was worth $20,000," the multimillionaire explained.

Taken were a platinum pin containing 40 diamonds, a diamond and emerald necklace, a bracelet of marquise and emerald cut diamonds, a diamond and emerald pin the size of a half-dollar, and a diamond ring.

Detectives said the gems were taken from a dressing table in a bedroom. A half dozen less valuable items were left behind. They said they found no forced entry.

Investigators found a key ring on the floor near the apartment door. Attached to the ring were three keys and a paper tag with "Florida Keys" written on it. The keys fit the apartment door, police said.

Shaffer lives at 1390 Woodland.

Study of School Needs Being Readied

By DICK ROBINSON

More than 100 citizens and school administrators are working feverishly to complete a report in 10 weeks that will shape the future of Pontiac's school system for years to come.

A comprehensive study being undertaken by the schoolboard's Finance Study Council will determine the educational and facility needs off the school district and how to finance them.

"We were created to determine the needs for additional school operating millage and new secondary schools," explains the council's chairman, Francis M. Webster.

"My key role is to create a dialogue among the people of Pontiac as to what they want to continue to provide quality education here," the West Bloomfield Township resident and Chrysler Corp. executive said.

School officials have said the district needs more school tax revenue and more school buildings.

DETAILED STUDY

But Webster emphasized no one now knows without detailed study how much additional revenue and what facilities will be necessary to meet increasing educational needs.

School planning in the next six months will probably be the most significant in Pontiac school history, administrators agree.

New and exiting ideas for school buildings have been talked about for the city of Pontiac. Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer elaborated:

"The possibility of building one large secondary school complex for all students in a central (downtown) location in order to meet enrollment increases, to replace obsolete facilities, to reduce de facto segregation and to contribute to the redevelopment of a Pontiac area deserves serious consideration."

Important topics being considered by the council, an advisory group to the board of education, are:

- Where and how to finance a Human Resources Center, revolutionary building complex to house schools and community and social service needs of adults. It would replace three elementary schools in southeast Pontiac.
- Analysis of the Advantages and disadvantages from a cost consideration for replacement of Central High School.
- Whether to provide other secondary facilities in a traditional manner of building separate facilities to provide housing for a specific geographical area of the community versus building one or two "great high schools" in the center of the district for all students.
- Construction needs to minimize de facto segregation throughout the school district.

RISING PRESSURE

Pontiac's challenges are all pressure for a big and costly overhaul of the nation's classrooms.

It is a move aimed at "equalizing" student achievement, integrating the races across neighborhood boundaries and making schools an important agency for solving social problems of the slums.

Pontiac's "great high school" idea came from Pittsburgh's plan to build five racially balanced super-high schools, each serving 5,000 or more students.

Webster alluded to racial challenges when he said:

"During recent years and especially this past summer, our community . . . has witnessed the mounting pressures for change in our society. (Jefferson-Washington boundary dispute).

GREAT CONCERN?

"I am sure that this will be a matter of great concern in our study."

The chairman remarked that he had "topnotch talent" on the council which includes about 32 school administrators.

A report from the body is expected to be ready Dec. 13 with a possible millage and-or bond referendum in March.

In talking on current expense needs, Whitmer said:

"Salary and wage levels for employes has, in the recent past, had the greatest impact on operating costs because about 84 per cent of the total annual budget is devoted to personnel costs."

The school district has financed its current operational expense since 1958 from the allocated millage and an 8.75 voted millage, school finance authorities point out.

"It appears that revenues produced from these millages will not be sufficient in 1968-69 and subsequent years," Whitmer said.

"In the current fiscal year, the school district is expending its unallocated cash reserve of $1 million to balance its budget. The gap between revenues and expenditures next year will probably be even greater unless additional revenues are available."

Enrollment growth necessitates additional junior and senior high school facilities along with expansion of elementary schools in a long range building needs, he said.

SINCE 1958

The school district has financed all construction since 1958 by the plan which enables schools whose debt is less than 2 per cent of their valuation to authorize and sell bonds by the initiative of the board.

Total debt of the school district will reach the 2 per cent maximum this fall. Monies for further construction after that time will require a favorable vote by the electorate in a bond issue referendum.

This plans for additional building will be finally determine through a vote of the people.

Police Officer Unconvincing

CINCINNATI (AP) — Thomas Bepler came close to being arrested for impersonating a policeman.

The irony about the incident is that he is a policeman.

Patrolman Bepler was dressed in plain clothes Tuesday as he attempted to investigate a series of housebreaks.

After he told a woman he was a policeman "on a stakeout" and asked to enter her kitchen, she refused to let him enter and called the police telling them someone was impersonating a policeman.

Two police cars responded to her home and identified Bepler.

Delay on Clarkston School Bond OK Hit

By JEAN SAILE

CLARKSTON — A school official has charged that a nine-month delay in bonding approval for Clarkston's proposed second junior high school cost the district $300,000.

So said Schools Supt. Dr. L.F. Greene as he awaited permission to sell $2.5 million in bonds voted by the people in June of 1966.

The target of Dr. Greene's attack is the much-disputed Michigan Municipal Finance Commission and its varying attitudes toward local financing.

"I have to assume it's either because the state wants to control everything, or the men making the decisions are not knowledgeable," said Greene.

"We have fought a paper war with them since January of this year," said Greene, "and they are backing around to the same position we took when we first opened proceedings."

WORDING MAY BE SNAG

Greene feels the hold-up is due in part to the traditional wording of the ballot for bonding elections in the Clarkston district.

"Believing that the local board is the best judge of district needs, and that the electors if not satisfied can remove members of the board, we have traditionally left the spending of bonding money to the discretion of the board," Greene reported.

'I Have To Assume It's Either Because The State Wants To Control Everything, Or The Men Making The Decisions Are Not Knowledgeable,' Charges Clarkston School Chief.

DR. L. F. GREENE

"For us it has been a means to fiscal stability."

The June 1966 ballot was worded as follows: ". . .borrow a sum not to exceed 2.5 million and issue bonds therefore for the purpose of erecting, furnishing and equipping school buildings and facilities and additions to school buildings, remodeling school buildings and acquiring school sites and additions to school sites and developing and improving the same."

Greene believes the ballot's lack of specifics has thrown the state commission for a loss.

While the money, plus $600,000 left over from a previous bond issue was intended and so announced publicly for construction and equipping of the Sashabaw Junior High School, a bus garage and new board of education offices, it was never so stated on the ballot.

"We have found that situations can change overnight to make another plan more economical and feasible," said Greene.

However, architectural plans for the proposed junior high school were submitted in January when state approval for the bond sale was sought.

"It boils down to whether the local board controls the future of the district or whether the state does," Greene averred.

Also a point of contention for the state has been the $600,000 left over from a previous $3-million bond issue which financed an addition to the Senior High School and an addition to Bailey Lake Elementary School and started the North Sashabaw Elementary School.

Greene said he's been told he should have spent the money entirely on the aforementioned items, that he could not start the second junior high school until all the funds were on hand even though he had voter approval, and most recently that the state commission will accept the $600,000 surplus in the new overall total.

"It's political infighting," charged Greene. "We have never availed ourselves of the school bond loan fund and see no need to do so for at least the next three years, so it's not their money they're worried about."

Other area districts have had trouble meeting the finance commission's changing requirements for loans over the state-approved 7-mill bonding levy.

This particular issue has not been involved in the Clarkston hassle.

LIMITS LOWERED

The district was one of the last in the area to lower its bonding limitation from 13 to 11 mills. A year ago the district reduced it even further to the state's 7-mill limitation.

"By holding off, we built up our debt retirement fund," said Greene.

He admitted that the reduction of bonding millage had not affected the total millage paid by Clarkston area residents.

"We have had to increase our operational millage in accordance with each bonding drop," Greene said.

$27.28 per $1,000

Clarkston school area residents pay and have paid at least a total of $27.28 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation for the last four years.

The district has in the past been rated high in the county for total millage imposed.

Meanwhile, the delay on the part of the state has put the district into a situation which may result in extended day sessions before the second junior high school is complete, according to Greene.

Enrollment in the district has risen at a rate of more than 6 per cent over the past eight years. Enrollment totals 5,806 with 3,464 students in the elementary schools.

4-YEAR SENIOR HIGH

The Clarkston Senior High School presently accepts ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades with the plan being to reinstate the ninth grade as part of the junior high once the second junior high is built.

Planned at a total cost of $2,524,580, the building as conceived would house 1,000 students in 117,820 square feet of floor space.

"We were ready to start construction last February," said Greene. "Since that time construction costs have risen on the rate of 10 per cent a year."

"We're a poor school district," said Greene. "We have about $8,000 in assessed valuation behind each student where the state average is $12,000 to $13,000."

"I don't think there's any district in the state with our financial valuation that can show as good a financial picture as we can."

For Somerset Park Expansion

Troy Planners Shelve Rezoning Bid

TROY — A request by the Biltmore Development Co. for rezoning of 200 acres for expansion of the Somerset Park Apartment complex east of Coolidge was tabled by the city planning commission last night. Over 120 residents attended the meeting in the City Commission chambers.

Biltmore is seeking rezoning to permit the building of a $125-million complex including low-and high-rise apartments, commercial space and a 65-acre golf course.

This is the second attempt at rezoning for the proposed expansion, the first was rejected last Mrch after vigorous home owner opposition.

After tabling the request, the planning commission passed a resolution recommending that the City Commission amend the rezoning ordinance to include easier handling of large development requests (over 150 acres) as well as better controls.

"We are in favor of large developments such as this one," said City Planner George Peek, "but we want to establish more control over them. For example, in our rezoning amendment proposal, we would be in favor of low-rise town houses and garden apartments, but not the high-rise type."

GOES TO PLANNERS

The Biltmore request will again be considered at the next planning commission meeting after action is taken by the City Commission on the amendment, said Peek.

"Two of the major restrictions also included in the proposed amendment include a limitation of 4.4 units to an acre with distribution up to the developer and specific controls over open space to insulate neighboring single residence areas," he added.

Most of the residents attending last night's meeting still appeared to be opposed to the complex, but opposition has died down considerably since last March, said Peek.

Troy Police Chief Forrest Fisher and Fire Chief Lauren Ford both have said recently that the building of large developments would necessitate expansion of their protective services.

The planning commission approved a 50-town-house complex called Oakbrook Village on Kirts east of Crooks. Builder William Piper said the town houses would be in the medium-luxury category.

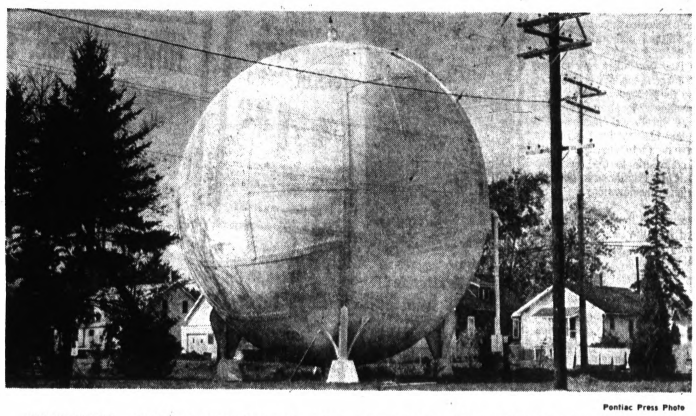

Police Watch Plotters

BOGALUSA, La. (UPI) — Police and the FBI said today they know the identity of members of an "extreme right-wing conservative group" who plotted to kill Mayor Curt Sieglin, safety commissioner Elmer Smith and four other city officials.

Smith said no arrests had been made but that the suspects "are under the closest surveillance."

Educator to Speak

Marvin Beekman, newly appointed director of the State Department of Special Education, will speak tomorrow at a meeting of the Oakland County Association for Retarded Children in the Ferndale High School cafeteria at 8 p.m.

Rochester Acting to Change Rule on Apartment Parking

ROCHESTER—An increase in the size of parking space for apartment usage will be required in the city if a proposed ordinance goes through in the next month.

Amendments requiring two parking spaces per unit rather than the present one-and-a-half and a slight increase in stall size have been put on first reading by the City Council.

The council also has voted to retain a 750-square-foot site area per room for apartments regardless of the number of stories in the building. The minimum had previously dropped to 500 square feet for a three-story building.

The request to vacate Short Street was tabled indefinitely by councilmen who recognized its usage by school-children in crossing from south of Romeo Road to the North Hill Elementary and St. Andrew's Catholic schools.

The cost of providing a planning consultant to aid the planning commission in determining the feasibility of individual requests will henceforth be borne by the submitting party, the council voted.

Septic System Survey Ordered by Council

CLARKSTON — A survey of the village septic system which serves the downtown business area was ordered by council members last night.

A fair reassessment of costs is the aim of members.

A second survey in regard to village lighting was asked of the Detroit Edison Co.

President protem Donald Cooper chaired the meeting in the absence of President Robert Wertman.

Post Filled in Wixom

WIXOM—Neil Taylor was appointed to the board of appeals by the City Council at its meeting last night.

Taylor is filling the opening left by John Lambert, who has resigned, reported Mayor Wesley McAtee.

Hearing Thursday on Walled Lake's Annexation Plans

A public hearing on the plans of Walled Lake to annex Wolverine Lake Village and parts of Commerce Township will be tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Walled Lake Junior High, 615 N. Pontiac Trail, Walled Lake.

The hearing, conducted by Boundaries Committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, will begin with presentations from two representatives each of Walled Lake, Wolverine Lake Village and Commerce Township.

They will each be limited to 10 minutes, said Boundaries Committee Chairman Philip Mastin, Jr.

The committee will then accept questions and statements from the floor.

The annexation petitions have been accepted by the Boundaries Committee. Early this month the committee had sent the issue to the Board of Supervisors to set an election date.

However, shortly before the board met, petitions for the incorporation of Wolverine Lake Village and parts of Commerce Township — including some of the same land considered for annexation — were filed.

The petitions are still being checked and have not been referred to the Boundaries Committee.

For Oxford District Vote

Meetings Set on School Issues

OXFORD — Jim Ricketts, chairman of the citizens steering committee for the Oct. 23 bond election, announced to the board of education last night a series of meetings designed to acquaint voters with the issues is in process.

The next meeting is slated for 8 p.m. tomorrow at Lakeville Elementary School, and another will take place at 8 p.m. Monday at the Oxford Senior High School.

Voters will be asked to approve $2.5 million for construction of a new junior high school and additions to present elementary structures.

The board voted last night to ask the State Department of Education for permission to borrow $120,000 to meet December operating expenses. State aid due the latter part of December is expected to alleviate the situation.

The board approved construction of 400 square feet of blacktopping at Clear Lake Elementary School which will join the three new portable classrooms to the main building. Total cost of the sidewalk will be $150.

HEARING SLATED

A hearing on a property transfer from the Oxford to the Almont School District is slated at 8 p.m. Oct. 26 at Almont High School.

The family asking the transwer cites handier transportation as the reason for the request. Their students now are required to walk a half a mile to meet the Oxford bus while the Almont bus passes their property.

The board confirmed the appointment of election workers for the Oct. 23 bond issue vote.

Working will be Mrs. Preston Yost, Mrs. Lee Clack, Mrs. Edward Bossardet, Mrs. Mary Liley, Mrs. Merwin Kintz, Mrs. Robert McCallum, Mrs. Robert McWilliams, Mrs. Donald Blain and Mrs. James Goodfellow.

'Brainwash' Tag Stays

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI)—Gov. Romney, an unannounced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, yesterday said he will continue to accuse President Johnson of "brainwashing" the public, regardless of the political consequences.

"I've been told that I shouldn't use the term 'brainwashing.' But Ive always called a spade a spade, regardless of the political consequences," he said at a Republican fund-raising dinner here.

Village After Police Badges

WOLVERINE LAKE VILLAGE — The Village Council will take legal action to retrieve two special police badges.

Within the last month, the Village Police Department has collected six badges given to residents over the last four years, reported Village Manager Clifford Cottrell at Monday night's council meeting.

The two badges outstanding belong to Mrs. Clarence Willett, wife of a former village police chief, and Oscar Fritz, councilman and former village president, said Cottrell.

Mrs. Willett has indicated that she would like to keep her badge because it was a gift. Fritz reported that he can't find his badge, said Cottrell.

These explanations were provided by Cottrell, drawing on information given him by Village Police Chief Don Vickery.

AGAINST ACTION

Fritz was the only councilman to vote against giving the village approval to take legal action in the matter, Cottrell said.

Residents who returned the badges upon request to the village include three former employes, a former police commissioner, and two former councilmen, said the village manager.

Theologian Gives OCC Lecture

Quit Viet, Help Cities—Pike

By DICK ROBINSON

Theologian Rt. Rev. James A. Pike last night called for the United States to get out of Vietnam and to apply the money being spent there to aid America's "rotten, decaying cities."

"It is amazing that $29 billion can be spent there and everything else still go on in this country," the resigned Episcopal Bishop of California told 600 people at an Oakland Community College lecture in Birmingham.

"Why not transfer this same amount of money to our cities?"

He supported the Episcopal Church's recent decision at its general convention in Seattle to aid urban Negroes in a $3-million-a-year program.

* * *

The controversial bishop proposed that this country let the United Nations go in and police South Vietnam.

OPPOSING VIEW

One of the panel members who questioned Pike after his talk on "The New Morality" took an opposite stand.

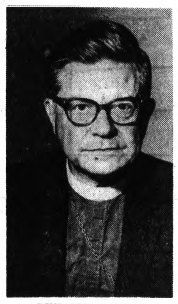

"I believe self-preservation comes first," remarked Rev. Charles Coughlin, pastor emeritus of the Shrine of the Little Flower Church, Royal Oak. "China will take over in 12 years if we don't stop her."

Bishop Pike retorted that the decision to be in Vietnam was an "ethical" one and that he felt a general animosity toward the situation growing in this country.

A pacifist, Pike advocated a "new morality" or situation ethics, an approach to moral decision making by analyzing the context of the situation and following through on a decision thought to be right.

WAY TO MATURITY

"New morality is one way to become mature, be yourself, be in charge of life, free of bondages. It is a conscious process that will make you more modest in judging others and less arrogant with yourself."

REV. JAMES PIKE

Bishop Pike warned that there is "trouble ahead" because young people are trying to decide issues today by new morality with results that they would rather go to jail than fight in Vietnam.

Situation ethics can be applied to everything in life, including sexual and interpersonal relations, according to Pike.

"When boy meets girl what is the 'TP and O. (Time, Place and Opportunity) thing to do?" he asked. "It's more complex than 'What is the loving thing to do?'

"You must think what you will do to the other person."

SOUNDER CODE

Situation ethics is sounder than code or consensual ethics, he advised.

Code ethics is a formal, unflexible structure that does not cover all important decisions in life, he said. But it is valuable in everyday decisions where the situation can't be weighted.

Consensual ethics is doing whatever most people feel like doing.

On other topics, the bishop had this to say:

Controversial faith healing in the Philippines: "I believe in this sort of thing."

Assassination of President Kennedy: "I don't believe the Warren Commission's report," hinting that he did not believe Lee Harvey Oswald was the assassin or lone assassin.

TRADITIONAL DOCTRINES

Bishop Pike has questioned the traditional Christian doctrines of the Trinity, the Virgin Birth and the Divinity of Christ.

He had demanded a heresy trial to challenge those attacking him for speaking out against various doctrinal beliefs, but his church finally agreed that the free thinking would not be tried for heresy.

At the same time Pike revealed that he had communicated with his dead son no fewer than six times, including a dramatic television senance in Toronto. Following this disclosure, Episcopal leaders were unwilling to discuss him.

"The trend of the messages seems to be a desire to convince that there is life after death," he has commented.

RATIONAL BASIS

Pike, who is now a theologian in residence at the Center for Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, Calif., has turned to psychoic phonomena in a search for data upon which man might find a rational basis for religious affirmation.

He advances this point in his new book, "If This Be Heresy," which he has been promoting on a speaking tour.

Pontiac Div. Hires 'Unhirables'

This self-help factor is one of the basic aspects of the program.

The program was initiated about a month ago when Barnes suggested to Theodore B. Bloom, divisional personnel director, that its hiring practices be re-evaluated in relation to the job that has to be done.

"Traditionally, our practice has been to hire the best available candidate for the position," Bloom explained.

TRADITIONAL CRITERIA

Traditional criteria include a person's prior employment, arrest and education records, according to Bloom.

"What we've done is reevaluated our prior employment requirements to try and give these people a second chance," Bloom noted.

"Once hired, they're like any other employee. They must follow the shop rules."

Only time will tell if the program will be an ultimate success, but results to date are very encouraging.

19 HAVE QUIT

Of 230 hired at Pontiac Motor so far, only nine have been released for unsatisfactory job performance. Bloom pointed out that an additional 19 have quit, some of them to go back to school and finish their educational requirements.

"The fact that we could stir up more than 200 unemployed, proved they were walking around out there and wanted to work," Barnes commented.

He recalled that many individuals in the Negro community wouldn't believe him when he first spread the word about the program.

"I told them I'd open the Urban League office from 8:30 a.m. to noon on Labor Day to assist them in taking advantage of these job opportunities," Barnes said.

"When I got there that morning, there were 18 men already waiting."

Barnes lists communications as one of the biggest obstacles to be overcome and feels the follow-up committee is well equipped to handle that job.

Samples said the committee was "formed by men who volunteered their time to work with the employes to encourage their success on the job.

"The committee members have been this route before. They know the frustrations and problems (of the unemployed) and among the nine members, someone knows every worker personally."

OTHER MEMBERS

Aside from Samples, the committee is made up of Lorenzo Perkins of 416 Moore, Alonzo R. Stewart of 343 S. Marshall, William Harris of 221 Hughes, William S. Samples of 350 E. Wilson, Ahmad Amir Milik Shabazz of 32 N. East Blvd., Kenneth R. Walker of 549 Judson, James E. Dyer of 668 Central and Willie G. Williams of 475 Fildew.

Samples feels the program has great promise.

"I've got a lot of faith in it," he said. "I feel it's having a good impact on the black community. It's workable and meaningful."

Speaking of the man who is "unemployable" because of a police record, he said:

"After a man had paid his debt to society, he became unhirable. He felt on his release from jail after paying his debt, he was banished from society. Industry wouldn't touch him.

'ONLY ALTERNATIVE'

"He felt the only alternative he had was to be a drifter, or an alien from society.

"Since he couldn't make a living within society, he had to make one outside it. Of the black masses confronted with this problem, many had a desire to work but couldn't get gainful employment.

"These people had applied for jobs and had been rejected. They saw committees formed and programs instituted, but still they remained unemployable.

"We felt the best way to communicate was to give these men something tangible and not mere promises.

"This way they're brought back into society and again become more productive citizens. We also feel this program will eliminate the excuse that they were unemployable because they didn't want to work."

Samples feels the program "is a giant step in communicating with the Negro community and finding equity for which the Negro is striving.

"It's a starting point," he said. "We would like to see the other segments of industry and business follow this pilot program and become part of it."

Oddly enough, the program has no name.

"We haven't really had time to think about it," Barnes commented. "We're more interested in results than a fancy name."

Four Trains Tie Up Rush-Hour Traffic

A rush-hour traffic tie-up on Huron this morning was blamed by a Grand Trunk Western Railroad official on the arrival of four trains at the same time at the Pontiac terminal.

Automobiles backed up for blocks around 8 a.m. for nearly 15 minutes while a freight train waited across the tracks for other trains ahead of it to move.

Robert Lighthall, trainmaster said the trains run on a tight schedule, and a few minutes either early or late will cause the problem. He said every effort will be made to prevent a reoccurence.

Downtown Plans Must Start Anew

Downtown Pontiac's rebuilding plan must start anew.

The coveted Taubman program did not meet the deadline and is apparently shelved. This gave the biggest promise by far of all the layouts that were offered and the Commission wisely clung to it until the end.

It embraced the most.
It was laid out by experts.
The financing was assured.

However, the entrepreneur declared that he had failed to land a key store. Hence, the Commission and the Community have unavoidably lost more than a year in rebuilding downtown. It was a worthwhile gamble from any business angle and one that would have been seized avidly by any other city anywhere.

The City Commission has had several other plans proposed by other reputable sources and these must be revisited and opened again if possible. No one of them was nearly as all-embracing as the Taubman concept, but they must now be studied again and a fresh start made.

The Press will wholeheartedly support any soundly financed project that may emerge for the rejuvenation of downtown Pontiac.

Let's go.

A Good American Speaks on Behalf of America

The attention of readers is directed to the guest editorial that appears today on this page.

MOORE

At a time when inflammatory utterances by both whites and Negroes assault the public ear, the temperate, enlightened thoughts of a successful and highly respected Negro on the racial discord of the day are of particular significance.

The career of ARCHIE MOORE, one-time light heavyweight boxing champion, is marked by exemplary sportsmanship in the ring and personal integrity of the highest order.

In recent years, he has devoted himself to a program he calls ABC — Any Boy Can. In his words ". . . by teaching our youth, black, white, yellow and red, what dignity is, what self respect is, what honor is, we have obliterated juvenile delinquency in many areas."

We commend him on his constructive outlook on a subject of paramount importance to the social welfare of the Country.

Children Fare Well Under School Lunch Program

The school lunch program enacted by Congress back in 1946 has proved over the years to be a happy example of dual public interests coinciding. Borrowing on experience with a forerunner program in the 1930s, America fashioned this one to provide better nutrition for its youngsters and at the same time reduce the farmers' growing food surpluses.

The program's 21st anniversary is being observed this week — Proclaimed by President JOHNSON as National School Lunch Week. The Agriculture Department estimates that this year 20 million youngsters are being fed at 72,000 schools, public and private. School children who can afford it pay from 20 to 50 cents for a nutritionally sound hot lunch. Costs vary because they are set locally.

Needy children are required to pay nothing, and yearly about 10 per cent of the total school lunch users fall into this category. Beginning last January, free breakfasts were added on a test basis at about 500 slum schools, 80,000 children receiving a second hot meal at school.

Even the children who pay fall short of reimbursing the $1.6 billion over-all lunch program by 40 per cent. The loss is split between Federal and local-state governments (21 per cent for the former, 19 per cent for the latter).

The Federal share includes $190 million in surplus foods, supplemented by cash payments to the local schools for the purchase of local foods and their preparation.

The school lunch program has well proved its efficacy. Just as an army is said to fight on its stomach, so, it has been demonstrated, do children study on theirs.

Tax-Spending 'Series' Deadlocked

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — While the Boston Red Sox and St. Louis Cardinals battle in the baseball World Series, two other teams are battling in a more serious game over taxes and spending. The score is now firmly deadlocked.

The team managers are President Johnson and Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The first pitch was tossed Aug. 3 when Johnson proposed a 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes. The administration promised $2 billion in spending cuts from civilian programs.

The ball was pitched back to the White House last week by the Ways and Means Committee. It temporarily shelved the surcharge plan by a 20-5 vote pending an agreement with the administration on spending cuts.

But Johnson whacked the ball right back late in the week, contending it's up to Congress to make cuts in a budget he considers already free from fat.

The administration applied a squeeze play about the same time. The Defense Department froze all new contracts unrelated to the Vietnam war.

The rival managers repeatedly spelled out their positions as the week wore on but stuck to their original lineups.

Johnson said he wouldn't yield to congressional demands for big spending cuts as the price of reviving the surcharge. Mills called for an overhaul in spending philosophy, not just now but for the future.

Then Saturday the White House confirmed the President had ordered Wednesday a temporary freeze on all federal spending commitments except for national defense and vital health and welfare programs, pending an end to the budget battle.

HOLDING ACTION

But the move was called only a holding action — not any kind of spending but designed to answer the congressional demand that Johnson strike out some dollar signs.

Chairman George Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee, could hold the key to the deadlock which might make both teams happy.

The signals could have been called not at a baseball game but at a round of golf Mahon played with Johnson two weeks ago, the President's first golfing in some time.

Mahon plans to scrutinize anew all appropriation bills in hopes of trimming more money. It's expected to bring postponements and deferrals of spending.

BLANKET CEILING

If that fails to satisfy the Mills' team, the tie could be broken later this month when the temporary spending authority of most government departments expires unless their appropriation bills are adopted.

Republicans, who earlier failed to tack a blanket ceiling on spending, are expected to try again at that time.

Meantime, some of the pro-administration fans expect Johnson to marshal his team quietly and win the day as he did so frequently in earlier political battles.

David Lawrence Says:

SE Asians Understand Threat

WASHINGTON — Many pastors in different churches throughout the United States have criticized American participation in the Vietnam war, but what do churchmen who live in countries close to Southeast Asia say about it?

LAWRENCE

A press association dispatch from Australia — whose young men are fighting in Vietnam — reports that an Anglican archbishop, M. L. Loane of Sydney, in his presidential address on Monday to the Sydney Diocesan Synod, warned against unconditional withdrawal of the allied forces from South Vietnam.

He said it would leave the Vietcong as masters of the area and would remove Communist inhibitions toward wider activities. He declared that the allied troops should hold out until a negotiated peace settlement can be achieved.

He stated further that the South Vietnamese "may not like the war, or the Saigon ruler, or the foreign intervention — but they like the prospect of Communist domination still less."

This is a succinct statement of the fundamental issue.

Many American critics have brushed aside as an "illusion" the idea that the security of Southeast Asia is in danger of being impaired. The peoples of the area, however, who are confronted with the possibility of a Communist take-over do not regard it as an "illusion" but as a realistic threat to their safety.

RECENT SPEECH

President Johnson in a recent speech took pains to quote the prime minister of Australia, the president of Korea, the president of the Philippines, the prime minister of New Zealand, the prime minister of Singapore, the prime minister of Maylasia, and the foreign minister of Thailand, who uniformly expressed their belief that the fate of Southeast Asia will be decided by what happens in Vietnam.

Those who favor withdrawal from Vietnam seem to think that the people of Southeast Asia should be left to struggle with their own problems, no matter what happens thereafter.

Such observations are understandable when they come from the lips of politicians who think they will gain votes back home from the parents of potential draftees. But it is surprising to find the same point of view expressed in sermons by ministers who argue that American participation in the Vietnam war in unmoral.

There are, however, plenty of pastors in the world who justify the necessity to use force in self-defense because it is directly related to the right of self-preservation.

Mac's Actions in Korea Criticized by Ridgway

NEW YORK — People . . . places . . .

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who succeeded Gen. Douglas MacArthur as supreme commander when the latter was relieved by President Truman, is critical of his one-time superior in his new book "The Korean War."

CONSIDINE

"In looking over the stubborn way in which MacArthur clung to his determination to push on to the Yalu, despite all evidence that prophesied disaster, I canaot help drawing a parallel with Custer's behavior at the Little Big Horn, when the commander's overriding belief that he alone was right closed his mind to all counsel," Ridgway writes.

"It simply cannot be argued that MacArthur was unaware of the enemy's presence or his capabilities.

"He himself at one point, in pushing for permission to take out the Yalu bridges and bomb Manchurian bases, warned the Joint Chiefs of Staff that the Chinese forces along the Yalu 'threatened the destruction of my command.'

"Nor can it be argued that he did not grasp the difficulties of the terrain that made it impossible for the separate commands in North Korea to render each other mutual support . . . "

P. S. — MacArthur once memo'd that of all the men under his command he considered Ridgway the best-fitted to succeed him — if the improbable day ever arrived when there was need for replacement.

Jersey reader, Alice Nicolay, throws a bit more light on the baffling mystery of the disappearance from the face of the earth of a noble beast called the airedale.

"I grew up with airedales and own one today," she writes. "There are few good ones bred in the East any more.

"When we got ours he caused a sensation because no one recognized the breed except those in the 40- to 50- to 60-year-old bracket who knew them from the 20s and 30s.

All the commercials and dog pictures you see never show an airedale, and I, too, am at a loss to know why.

"They are extremely attractive, probably the most intelligent dog that was ever bred, and a joy to behold to their few owners."

Voice of the People:

'Americans Must Unite to End War in Vietnam'

Never before has an armed enemy received so much encouragement from native Americans as the Vietcong. It is small wonder the war drags on with him refusing to come to the peace table. If we withdraw from Vietnam we leave the people who resisted him to his "mercies." The children will be educated in Communist theory and taught to hate and kill Americans and other capitalists. Our word will be worth nothing to people to whom we have given vast amounts of our treasure and promises, and all that we have sacrificed in work, money and human life will be forever lost.

Every war is murder and civilians cannot always get out of the way, especially when the enemy is among them. The best way to keep this carnage going is to present a divided front to the Communists. To end it we must have a solid public opinion so our boys can come home with honor and not have to fight again and again.

At a recent Waterford Township board meeting, Supervisor Elmer Johnson complained that he didn't have enough time or help to prepare his budget within the time prescribed by State law. It is time the Township board, using its right as a Charter Township, hires a professional township manager to take care of the township affairs in a businesslike manner. This will allow Mr. Johnson to spend his time on his other activities which apparently are so demanding.

I think it was a very intelligent question.

Take a Stand

The San Diego Union

By ARCHIE MOORE

The devil is at work in America, and it is up to us to drive him out. Snipers and looters, white or black, deserve no mercy.

Those who would profit from their brother's misfortunes deserve no mercy, and those who would set fellow Americans upon each other deserve no mercy.

I'll fight the man who calls me an "Uncle Tom." I have broken bread with heads of state, chatted with presidents and traveled all over the world.

I was born in a ghetto, but I refused to stay there. I am a Negro, and proud to be one. I am also an American, and I'm proud of that.

The young people of today think they have a hard lot. They should have been around in the '30s when I was coming up in St. Louis. We had no way to go, but a lot of us made it.

I became light heavyweight champion of the world. A neighbor kid down the block, Clark Terry, became one of the most famous jazz musicians in the world. There were doctors, lawyers and chiefs who came out of that ghetto. One of the top policemen in St. Louis came from our neighborhood.

We made it because we had a goal, and we were willing to work for it. Don't talk to me of your "guaranteed national income." Any fool knows that this is insanity.

Do we bring those who worked to get ahead down to the level of those who never gave a damn? The world owes NOBODY — black or white — a living. God helps the man who helps himself!

Now then, don't get the idea that I didn't grow up hating the injustices of this world. I am a staunch advocate of the Negro revolution for the good of mankind. I've seen almost unbelievable progress made in the last handful of years.

Do we want to become wild beasts bent only on revenge, looting and killing and laying America bare? Hate is bait, bait for the simple-minded.

Sure, I despise the whites who cheated me, but I used that feeling to make me push on. If you listen to the professional rabble-rousers, adhere to this idea of giving up everything you've gained in order to revenge yourself for the wrongs that were done to you in the past — then you'd better watch your neighbor, because he'll be looting your house next. Law and order is the only edge we have. No man is an island.

Granted, the Negro still has a long ways to go to gain a fair shake with the white man in this country. But believe this: if we resort to lawlessness, the only thing we can hope for is civil war, untold bloodshed, and the end of our dreams.

We have to have a meeting of qualified men, not some punk kid, ranting the catch phrases put in his mouth by some paid hate-monger.

There are forces in the wold today, forces bent upon the destruction of America, your America and mine. And while we're on the subject, do you doubt for a minute that communism, world communism, isn't waiting with bated breath for the black and white Americans to turn on each other full force?

Tycoon Sees Dim Future for Britain's Limping Papers

TOKYO (UPI) — Publisher Roy Thomson says he sees no alternative to a free enterprise system under which England's economically fit newspapers would survive and the others fold.

"Generally speaking, fit newspapers are the best newspapers," Thomson told UPI in an interview this week.

Thomson said a reduction in the number of England's daily newspapers "will not hamper freedom of expression."

"I could name four that could disappear now without anybody suffering," said the 73-year-old magnate whose $300-million empire includes 169 newspapers, 150 magazines, 28 radio and television stations, 21 printing concerns and seven book-publishing houses.

Sitting in a comfortable chair in a $12.50-per-day room on the eighth floor of the Toyko Prince Hotel, the Canadian-born tycoon, who talks like an American, minced no words in predicting a dim future for some of Fleet Street's limping dailies.

LEAN YEARS

He spoke of lean years ahead for some of his less affluent competitors.

There currently are nine morning dailies in London but Thomson said the market properly could support "maybe five, probably four."

There was no doubt he intends for the survivors to include the knowledgeable and Literate Times of London, a paper he acquired last winter with the approval of Britain's Monopoly Commission.

While the acquisition was under consideration, Welch publisher Claude Morris called Thomson "a most aggressive newspaper owner."

"I don't deny that," Thomson said in the interview.

Thomson said he considered that his buying the Times rescued it from extinction.

He explained that the paper's advertising lineage had been falling.

"The business had to be built back up," he said. "It needed know-how, brains. There really was nobody else who could handle it."

OLD FORMULA

Thomson said the old newspaper formula of "sex, crime and scandal" was not out of date but that his papers would not follow that pattern.

"There are different kinds of newspapers," he said. "There's a place for all of them These type of newspapers are really daily magazines."

But Thomson said the Times will not aim at the less serious readers.

"It's a hell of a good newspaper," he said, adding that people now are better educated and want more serious newspapers. "We're selling the Sunday Times in mining villages now."

Thomson said the newspaper industry in England is technologically backward and he blamed both union and management.

He said unions promote feather bedding in the pressrooms and called them "absolutely uncooperative."

"Collective management is very largely to blame," he said. "They won't get together" to fight for automation which he said would save labor costs.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson has said England needs "something like" its present number of newspapers and various solutions to provide for this have been offered.

'SCREWBALL IDEA'

Thomson calls nationalization of newspapers a "screwball idea" and he also opposes plans for the government to subsidize newspapers by paying bonuses to papers who restrict advertising.

"Is this a free enterprise business or isn't it?" he asked. "Journalists would like to have a thousand newspapers but the income must come from sales and advertising. How much advertising is there to go around?"

Americans in 1966 attended the nation's tourist attractions, areas of recreation and scenic beauty and historic shrines at a rate 27 per cent greater than in the corresponding period a year previously.

Word to Wise From West

Government Obfuscation Eyed

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Let's take note of a little paragraph Rep. Richard H. Poff, R-Va., ran across in a report issued by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

WEST

Poff reproduced it in a recent newsletter to his constituents. It says:

"Action-oriented orchestration of innovation inputs, generated by escalation of meaningful indigenous decision-making dialogue, focusing on multilinked problem-complexes, can maximize the vital thrust toward a nonalienated and viable urban infrastructure."

Which prompted Poff to comment: "That little dud from HUD is about as clear as mud."

Now we are infrastructured enough to recognize the paragraph as at least a semi-classical example of a lingual miscarriage commonly known as government gobbledygook.

Similar gems of obfuscation are constantly being produced by every federal agency where meaningful indignous decision-making dialogue is escalated. So the paragraph itself is not especially noteworthy.

What is noteworthy is a theory set forth by my friend Rogers, a newspaperman who has been exposed to his share of this sort of verbal harrassment.

STARTLING IDEA

By dint of inductive reasoning and other cerebral exercises too numerous to mention, Rogers arrived at the startling hypothesis that all of these benumbing masterpieces of gobbledygook are written by the same man.

"The prevailing belief that any given bureaucrat is capable of dashing off glutinous sentences simply won't hold gelatin," Rogers explained.

"The record will show that the typical bureaucrat speaks and writes clearly and concisely. When fog bank phraseology is required, he has to call in a ghostwriter."

According to the Rogers theory, the gobbledygook ghostwriter works in a small, unmarked office somewhere in the executive office building.

CIA PAYS SALARY

To preserve his anonymity, his salary is paid through the CIA.

Known only by his code name, "Mr. Frammis," he is at the back of any federal agency needing his service

Rogers contends that the nature of Frammis' work is revenge.

Say an agency has been criticized by the newspapers or is under fire from a congressman. The agency does not counterattack overtly. Mr. Frammis is called in.

He then prepares a press release or a report to Congress focusing on Multilinked problem-complexes with lots of orchestrated innovative inputs.

Which translated means "vengence is sweet."

City Man Found Guilty of Robbery

A Pontiac man was found guilty by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury yesterday of an unarmed robbery last November.

Amos Brown, 30, of 503 Franklin Road will be sentenced Oct. 31 by Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

The jury deliberated 35 minutes in finding Brown guilty of robbing Charles Mick, 161 N. Astor, of a suitcase containing $285 worth of personal items on Nov. 7, 1966.

Junior Editors Quiz on PREHISTORIC ANIMALS

QUESTION: Why did prehistoric animals disappear?

ANSWER: Many races of prehistoric creatures did not disappear; their descendants are still living today. Turtles are one example.

Scientists are uncertain why other ancient animals became extinct, but suggest several theories. One possibility is that some animals could not adapt themselves to the great changes taking place in the earth's climate.

Once, warm, shallow seas covered areas which are now such states as Kansas, Wyoming and Montana. Grotesque flying reptiles, the pterodactyls, glided over these seas, using updraughts of warm air for support.

Later the land lifted up, the warm seas drained off and it became colder. Now there were not enough updraughts of warm air to keep the pterodactyls aloft. Unable to fly, they became extinct.

Changes in feeding habits may have also affected certain ancient animals. For example, once the great sabre-toothed cat, Smilodon, preyed on gigantic slow-moving mammals like mammoths. When the mammoths and giant sloths became extinct, Smilodon's food supply also vanished. Since he was too slow and clumsy to catch smaller, faster animals, he, too, became extinct.

S. Africa Schools Shun Dark-Complexioned Girl

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Sandra Laing is the girl that no schools want.

Her parents won an 18-month-long struggle to have her officially declared white, only to discover they can't find a school that wants her.

Angry parents of Sheepmoor, a tiny town in eastern Transvaal Province, have threatened to remove their children from the local white primary school if 11-year-old Sandra is sent there as directed by the Education Department.

* * *

South African schools are strictly segregated along racial lines. Trouble occurs in borderline cases where a child is of dark appearance, as Sandra Laing is.

BOARDING SCHOOL

Sandra was going to boarding school in the country town of Piet Retief 18 months ago. Parents of other pupils objected to her presence, children taunted her and eventually she was sent home by the school authorities.

* * *

Subsequently she was declared colored—that is, mulatto—by a government-appointed board, even though her parents are white. Then a change in the law provided that descent and not appearance is to be the deciding factor in borderline cases. She was reclassified white.

Sandra's storekeeper father, Abraham Laing, decided not to send her back to the same boarding school because of the scorn he felt she would meet.

He approached a number of convents, but they turned him down. Some said they had no vacancies, others said the Afrikaans-speaking girl would find the English-speaking situation in the convents difficult.

NEAREST TO HOME

Then the Education Department notified Laing he must apply for Sandra to be admitted to the Sheepmoor school, the nearest their home.

* * *

Principal L. Dreyer said: "This is a terrible situation. I have my instructions from the Education Department to admit Sandra Laing. My hands are tied.

"However, I have reason to believe that, if this happens, most of the parents (of the 53 other children at the school) will remove their children."

Mrs. E. Van Tonder, mother of two pupils at the school and a member of the School Committee, commented: "The day Sandra Laing sets foot in the school, my children will be taken home. And they will stay home."

Abraham Laing doesn't know what to do about his daughter.

'Bill to Curb Delinquency Is Crucial'—McDonald

Passage of new legislation aimed at preventing and controlling juvenile delinquency is critical at this time, said Congressman Jack McDonald of a $25-million bill adopted by the House and pending in the Senate.

The 19th District Republican said that the legislation is important not only because of the expiration of the Juvenile Delinquency and Youth Offenses Control Act of 1961, "but because the lessons of the past six years have reemphasized that juvenile delinquency is continuing to outrun the nation's capacity to deal with it."

The legislation is unique, according to McDonald, since it authorizes block grants of funds to states on a population basis instead of allowing the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to make grants to any qualifying agency on the basis of certain considerations outlined in the bill.

"I believe the block-grant method is a sound approach," said McDonald. "It will more directly involve the states and local communities. In the field of juvenile delinquency, as in other fields, we must provide the incentive for strong state and local action."

The bill also prohibits the receipt of any funds under the act by agencies administered, or in any part funded, or contracted by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

'SUPERIOR METHOD'

"The block-grant approach was contained in a major amendment offered on the House floor and I believe it is far superior to the narrow, specific, categorical method of distributing funds now in use," McDonald added.

* * *

"By implementing the block-grant system I am hopeful that the delinquency problem can be better dealt with. However, we must keep plugging for righting the federal-state balance in the U.S. through placing more weight, power, and responsibility on the state's shoulders."

Man in Uniform Cheats Widow of Viet Soldier

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — The 20-year-old widow of a Vietnam war casualty is broke because she trusted a man in uniform.

Mrs. Lucy McCorkle had been receiving monthly checks from the Army since her husband was killed. She saved $1,579.

She said a man dressed in a soldier's uniform came to see her last Saturday. He told her that she had been receiving the checks by mistake—that they should have gone to another Mrs. McCorkle in Greensboro, whose husband had been killed a month earlier.

Mrs. McCorkle went to the bank, withdrew the $1,579 and gave it to the man. She quoted him as saying he would be back with her money once he straightened things out at the Pentagon.

He didn't return. Army officials, contacted by the Gaston County police, said they don't know who the man was and that there is not a widowed Mrs. McCorkle in Greensboro.

Any window really. But what's a one-way draw? Simply a drapery that solves all kinds of decorating problems but allows no end of new decorating possibilities. Because it opens to the right or to the left instead of closing to the center. And our Flanders one-way draw draperies will be a proud addition to your home—made of Fiberglas® glass you can hand wash and hang back at the windows to drip dry. Without bringing an iron near them. With a Teflon® finish too, that's abrasion resistant to help them last longer. Available in beautifully versatile oyster and five special order colors. So, with a little imagination, Flanders one-way draw draperies and regular draperies too, you can come up with unique and attractive treatments for most any window in your home. Available at Hudson's Ready-Made Draperies, Pontiac, 2nd; available at Hudson's Downtown Detroit, Northland, Eastland, and at Hudson's Westland.

Corner windows become a real decorating asset because they provide the greatest amount of light in your rooms when you highlight your windows with Flanders one-way draw draperies.

Bay windows are no more trouble to do with Flanders one-way draw draperies on each side window and a regular two-way draw in the center. Great for keeping hot sun out of a room.

Sliding glass doors leading onto patios or balconies are increasingly popular in apartments. With Flanders one-way draw draperies you can open them to one side, leaving the doorway free.

Triple windows or a wall of windows take naturally to a lavish treatment of Flanders textured draperies. One-way draw draperies go on the ends with a stationary or two-way draw treatment in the center. Flanders are ideal for this much drapery treatment because their subtle pattern blends well into the room decor and provides a quiet backdrop for bright colors.

HUDSON'S

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Koella, Sylvan Lake, are in a happy frame of mind as they arrive at the opening concert of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra Tuesday evening. Donna Furlong, Silver Sands Drive, is the usher.

Charles Everett of Detroit is the new concertmaster of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra. A member of the U.S. Marine Corps band for four years, Everett is now an assistant concertmaster of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Larger Symphony Orchestra Is Excellent Foil for Young Pianist

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Felix Resnick, opened its 14th season last night at Pontiac Northern High School, with an exceptionally fine soloist, and an orchestra increased to 80 members.

A large and appreciative audience was on hand to hear and applaud an inspired performance of Beethoven's "Emperor" Concerto, by Gabriel Chodos, dynamic and accomplished pianist.

The demanding concerto, beloved of mature pianists, requires a massive tone, a depth of insight and a fluid interpretation to bring out its inner meaning and beauty.

MATURED

Since his successful appearance here in a solo concert several years ago, Mr. Chodos' playing has grown in stature and understanding. His large, penetrating tone is resonant, his technique is sure, his buoyancy is effective, and his sense of delicacy lends an intimate personal touch to his playing.

The accompaniment was handled deftly and capably by Mr. Resnick and the orchestra.

With new members in the string sections, the conductor has a better balanced orchestra to work with.

Especially effective in the new, smoother tone, is the presence of the new concertmaster, Charles Everett.

Included in last night's program were the Overture to Weber's "Der Freischutz," "London Suite" by Coates, and four dance episodes from Aaron Copland's "Rodeo."

The overture went well, although there seemed to be a lack of continuity and assurance in several sections.

With the dance episodes from "Rodeo," the orchestra marshalled its forces, and gave a more vital and definitive performance.

The orchestra really hit its stride in the "London" Suite which they played with breeziness, humor and charm.

COMMENTATOR

An innovation this year, to supplement the written program notes, is the oral commentary before each number, by William Belaney.

The orchestra's next concert, on November 28, will feature the Pontiac Tuesday Musicale Chorus.

Scared Woman Misses the Fun of Entertaining

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am one of those who has accepted many invitations but never reciprocates. I, too, have talked of having a party, but it never materializes. Would you like to know why?

ABBY

I'm frightened to death of having people in because when the conversation lags, I'm tongue tied. I can never think of anything clever to say. I am not sure that what I cook will be good enough, and I'm not sure I'll serve it right.

In school I was the quiet type who earned the reputation of being "stuck up" because I was so shy. I know I should have people over, and I really want to, but I'm scared. How does one overcome such fears? I am almost 40 and I'm STILL SCARED

DEAR STILL: Many people don't entertain because they're afraid they won't do it to perfection. Nonsense! Perfection isn't expected of anyone. There are any number of good cookbooks with suggested menus and full instructions on serving.

And get over the idea that every one in the room is waiting for the pearls of wisdom to drop from your lips. Say anything. If it's audible, kind, and honest, you'll get by. The longest march in the world started with one step. Forward — march!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old girl with an odd problem. I have a father who absolutely refuses to answer the telephone at home. He says he is not going to be an answering service for his family.

When he is home alone it is a real problem because kids call the house and when no one answers they think I am out of town or something.

I know I can't make him answer the phone, but maybe if you put this in the paper he will see it and change his attitude. Thank you, Abby. S. K.

DEAR S. K.: I'll give it a try, but I think it will probably take an emergency to change his mind.

Future Romance Ahead for Jackie?

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lord Harlech, one of the late President Kennedy's closest friends, is by all indications a serious suitor for Mrs. Kennedy's hand, according to sources close to the former First Lady.

Harlech, then Sir David Ormsby-Gore, was Britain's ambassador to Washington while Kennedy was President. He became the fifth Baron Harlech on his father's death in 1964.

REPORT DENIED

The report of a possible romance was denied by Nancy Tuckerman, Mrs. Kennedy's secretary. She said the President's widow had authorized her to say there was no truth in it.

In Norfolk, Va., where he made a speech Tuesday night, Harlech would neigher confirm nor deny the report. "I have no comment whatsoever," he said.

Mrs. Kennedy's feelings toward the 49-year-old Baron are still very much her own business, but the two were drawn closer together by the tragic death of Lady Harlech, mother of five, in an automobile accident last May.

Lady Harlech had been a friend of Mrs. Kennedy, who flew to England to attend the funeral and to console the bereaved husband.

Harlech, a dapper man with sharp, aristocratic features, visited the 37-year-old Mrs. Kennedy in Ireland while she was vacationing there last summer. She drove to Shannon Airport to meet him, and they were invited together as weekend guests by President Eamon de Valera.

They have since exchanged regular letters and phone calls.

The nobleman is a descendant through his mother, of the Cecil family, which has played a prominent role in British politics since the days of the first Queen Elizabeth.

He currently is Britain's chief film censor, the chairman of the new organization which is providing independent television programs for Wales.

Decoupage Topic

Mrs. Paul Finney spoke on Decoupage at a recent meeting of the Interlake branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

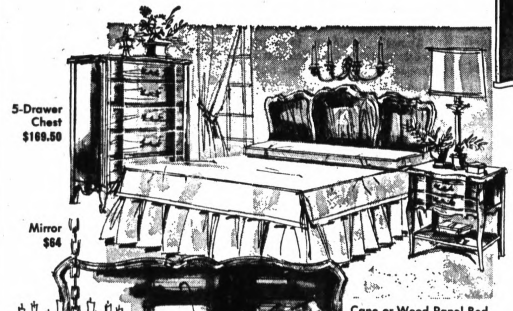

Mrs. Gordon Doule of Hammond Lake was hostess for the event with assistants, Mrs. Clayton Kerr and Mrs. Jack Strom.

Guests were Mrs. Charles Fletcher and Mrs. John King.

When Love Just Simply Isn't Enough

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

I have known her since her grammar school days and feel a deep affection and respect for her. But until last week I had not known that she had borne an illegitimate child. When she finally told me this, I wept and embraced her.

I asked no questions. For she is no victim of impulse. She is no fool seduced by the sweetness of masculine nothings. She is a highly intelligent girl who came to decision with her eyes wide open to the consequences of it as her 25 years of experience allowed them to be.

And there's the rub. Aye, there it is.

For, of course, it is the limit of her experience that has assured her "love is enough." It is never enough. And when Bruno Bettelheim, the noted child psychoanalyst, entitled one of his books "Love Is Not Enough" he was saying something that applies not just to parents and children but to all human relationship.

We struggling creatures are so constituted as to require realism and mutual trust in our dealings with each other, whether they are sexual, professional or friendly.

Loving this young woman as I do, I argued against this fact all the way home from our meeting. I said to myself, "Oh, come on now, marriage doesn't guarantee anyone happy motherhood." I argued and argued the case for my young friend's unlicensed maternity.

But I lost all the arguments. I lost them not to morality but to my older experience of human existence.

I lost them to knowledge of how it would be to look forward indefinitely to lonely weekends and holidays without the man who had fathered your child. I lost them to awareness of how it would be to live one's deepest experiences in hiding and isolation. I lost them to the future of that inevitably accusing adolescence when the child will say:

"Why should I honor you when the man who begot me didn't honor you enough to commit himself to you? Why should I consider your hurts when you didn't consider the hurt of my fatherless state?"

Yes, the lyrics of that old popular song notwithstanding, more is needed than that "Old Black Magic."

Child Hazard in Blind Cords

NEW YORK (UPI) — Venetion blind cords can be a hazardous "toy" for toddlers.

The alert is sounded by Dr. F. P. Bornstein, a Texas pathologist, writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association of the death of two-toddlers who lost their lives playing with the cords.

The mothers had placed the children in the cribs for naps, and put the cribs close to a window which had a venetian blind. When the mothers went to pick up the babies, they found the infants tangled and suspended in the blind cords "and there were strangulation marks on the neck . . ." Tip, as added by the Women's Medical News Service: Keep dangling cords out of reach.

Book Explores the Mystery of Babies Deaths

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The facts about a first class mystery are recorded in the new Public Health Service book — "Sudden Death in Infants."

The sudden infant death syndrome is a leading killer in children under one year old, taking as many child lives as lung cancer does in adults. Yet, how or why it so quickly snuffs out life is not understood.

The book explores the mysterious syndrome from the viewpoint of eminent pediatricians, pathologists, microbiologists and other experts from the U.S. and abroad. The book compiles what is known, but draws no conclusions.

'Smoking Ups Coronary Risk'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Men who smoke heavily or have high blood pressure or high blood cholesterol levels may be as prone to heart disease as men 15 years older, a National Heart Institute study concludes.

Being overweight also adds to the risk of heart disease, but it's of lesser importance than the other conditions, the study found.

Men between the ages 30 and 62 were studied. Risk increases were most striking between 30 and 39.

The institute scientists found, on the average, a man could be considered as great a risk for heart disease as a man 15 years older if he smokes more than a package of cigarettes a day, has a blood chloresterol level twice the normal or has a systolic blood pressure 50 per cent above the normal 120.

The findings are based on a 12-year study of 5,127 adults in Framingham, Mass.

Reporting the findings in the "Journal of Chronic Diseases," Dr. William Kannel of the National Heart Institute says, "A man can do little about his chronological age, but something can be done about these other factors that insofar as his risk of a heart attack is concerned, make him old beyond his years.

"With a physician's help, elevated blood pressure and cholresterol levels can be reduced."

And Kannel said that "even without a physician's help, a man who smokes cigarettes can substantially reduce his risk just by kicking the habit.

"If the cigarette smoking habit could be eliminated in this country, our death rate from coronary heart disease would fall substantially."

Doctors can reduce a person's blood pressure with drugs and special diets. Cholesterel in the blood also can be kept down by diet.

Cholesterol is a fatty substance which deposits itself on the walls of blood vessels. It can cause a heart attack if the deposits become so large that an artery feeding the heart becomes closed.

Police Search Hippie Haunts

At Least One More NY Killing Suspect Sought

NEW YORK (AP) — Detectives searched the coffeehouses, taverns and other East Village hippie haunts today seeking at least one more suspect in the LSD party murders of a Connecticut girl and her drifter companion.

Two men have been charged with homicide in the bludgeon deaths early Sunday of Linda Rae Fitzpatrick, 18, and James "Groovy" Hutchinson, 21, and a high police official said, "there may be more arrests."

A third man, Fred Wright, 31, was scheduled to appear in criminal court today for a hearing on charges of rape and robbery that police say are related to the murder investigation.

Miss Fitzpatrick was buried Tuesday beneath the tall, clean pines of a Greenwich, Conn., cemetery—far from the teeming East Village streets where she briefly cast her lot with the hippies.

TRAGIC LINK

None of those with whom she had formed a fleeting and tragic link was present in Greenwich's Christ Episcopal church for the farewell. Her final resting place was not far from her family's $150,000 mansion.

Hutchinson's body was returned for burial Friday to his native Central Falls, R.I., which he left two years ago on a cross-country hegira that ended in a garbage-strewn basement on Manhattan's lower East Side.

He and Miss Fitzpatrick, daughter of a wealthy spice importer, were found nude, beaten to death in the cellar of a tenement in the climax to a wild interracial LSD party.

Those charged in connection with the slayings were Donald Ramsey, 26, practitioner of African religious rites, and Thomas Dennis, 25, also a resident of the East Village.

On the streets of the East Village the hippies were talking quietly Tuesday about the deaths. "This murder has gotten everybody up tight," said a girl named Suzie. "The New York scene is very bad."

Australia is building a fish tank using eight tons of glass, to be the largest in the world, for whales. It will be 80 by 40 feet in size.

Color Peak Oct. 21-22

LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan Tourist Council predicts that autumn color will be at its best in northern half of Lower Michigan through the weekend of Oct. 21-22.

It said colors are beginning to fall and fade in the Upper Peninsula and are just coming on in southern Lower Michigan.

According to the council report, viewing will be "good" in the far north and far south this weekend, but that color peaks will be found north of the Bay City-Muskegon Line and South of the Straits.

Wind and rain are causing leaves to fall in some areas, but good color is expected through the end of October.

There are 450 identified viruses. The largest has a diameter of .0004 mm., and the smallest of .00025 mm.

Missile Defense Idea Hit

NEW YORK (AP) — A former presidential science adviser says the development of an antiballistic missile defense system and the use of multiple warheads would "increase the temptation for preemptive attack."

"I don't see how it can possibly stabilize the situation," said Dr. George B. Kistiakowsky, former adviser to President Eisenhower.

Dr. Kistiakowsky, nuclear chemist now at Harvard University, said Tuesday night on a televised news show that he has been opposed to plans to develop an ABM system because "the other side will wish to preserve their options to destroy us" and therefore encourage the arms race.

Dr. Freeman J. Dyson, research physicist at the Institute for Advanced Studies at Princeton, N.J., said a recent announcement by the United States of plans to develop a system to deliver several nuclear warheads on a single missile is a "really unstabilizing development."

Dyson, also appearing on the program, said "The first strike then becomes a very dangerous thing. Each side comes to feel very unsafe if he doesn't strike first."

NEW BREED — Here are some of the film stars who can virtually dictate the terms under which they will make movies. Top row: John Wayne (left) and Steve McQueen. Second row (from left): Audrey Hepburn and Frank Sinatra. Third row (from left): Jack Lemmon, Richard Burton, Paul Newman and Gregory Peck. Bottom row (from left): Barbra Streisand, Sidney Poitier, Julie Andrews and Elizabeth Taylor.

Fortunate Few Dictate Terms

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second article in a two-part series on the much-criticized star system in Hollywood.)

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The new economics of the film business has brought a breed of superstars who can virtually dictate terms under which they will make movies.

Who are these fortunate few?

THOMAS

These are stars who can and do earn between $750,000 and a million dollars per film, either in salaries or participation in the profits. Other stars may do as well on occasional films, but those listed above can consistently draw top terms on the basis of their eminence with film audiences.

Comments: Burton's draw as a single performer has not been completely tested; his most munificent deals have been made as part of a team with his wife, Miss Taylor. The position of Miss Streisand on the list is almost an absurdity, since she has not yet appeared on theater screens; but she has made three film deals averaging a million dollars apiece, and that's measurement enough.

RECENT ADDITION

Poitier is a recent addition to the list, his last three films having been smash hits. Lemmon, Peck and Sinatra remain, although their last few films have produced indifferent results. Their positions are threatened by Lee Marvin, who is coming up fast on the basis of his Academy Award and recent successes.

To this golden dozen should be added four stars who occupy special categories: Sean Connery, Cary Grant, Jerry Lewis, and Elvis Presley.

Comment: Connery is the screen's most consistent money-earner as James Bond, but his box-office value in other roles has not been proven. Grant still commands huge money, but makes only one picture every two or three years, usually for his own company. Lewis can earn upwards of a million as star-producer-director, etc., but his films are specialized. The same is true of Presley, who continues to draw a million dollars for three films a year.

In the next category are numerous stars, some of whom verge upon superstar classification. They include: Warren Beatty, Marlon Brando, Yul Brynner, James Coburn, Tony Curtis, Doris Day, Sandy Dennis, Kirk Douglas, Clint Eastwood, Henry Fonda, Glenn Ford, James Garner, Rex Harrison, Charlton Heston, William Holden, Bob Hope, Rock Hudson, Deborah Kerr, Burt Lancaster, Shirley MacLaine, Dean Martin, Lee Marvin, Walter Matthau, Robert Mitchum, David Niven, Kim Novak, George Peppard, Anthony Quinn, Debbie Reynolds, Rosalind Russell, James Stewart, Dick Van Dyke, Richard Widmark and Natalie Wood.

Comment: Some of these can attract top money but are limited in their characterizations to special kinds of roles—Harrison, Matthau. Some have slipped from superstar status because of vehicles but could rebound—Brando, Day, MacLaine.

Others have found great success in individual roles, but have not established themselves in versatile roles.

ORGANIZING CAMPAIGN — Shirley Temple Black, the former movie star turned political candidate, goes over some work with volunteer aid Judith Leavy in her Atherton, Calif., home.

Shirley's Platform Based on Harmony

WOODSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Shirley Temple Black is running for Congress on a platform that's against crime in the streets, the way President Johnson conducts the Vietnam war, and for racial harmony and moral regeneration.

If the onetime movie moppet can arouse enough voter support for these views, she will be the next member of the U.S. House of Representatives from San Mateo County, California's 11th Congressional District.

Mrs. Black, a Republican, is running against 12 other candidates, six Democrats and six Republicans. Her chances of victory in the special election Nov. 14 are regarded as excellent.

What this country needs above all else is a moral renaissance, says Mrs. Black, now 39, a bit plump, wife of wealthy businessman Charles A. Black, and mother of three.

'NEVER WORSE'

"I think it's never been worse—the personal hypocrisy, the lack of integrity, the apathy," she told an interviewer. "My personal opinion is that we don't have any inspirational leadership at the top."

Mrs. Black put part of the blame on the mass communications media, including newspapers.

"We're building up the Rap Browns and the Stokely Carmichaels," she said. "I would prefer to read more about American heroes, like our astronauts."

As for the war in Vietnam, Mrs. Black said: "President Johnson should rely more on the advice of the Joint Chiefs of Staff than on the advice of Defense Secretary (Robert S. McNamara."

MILITARY NEEDED

"Obviously, civilians make the policy. But after the policy is made, that's the time you bring in the key military leaders, in order to form the strategy and tactics of how to achieve your goals."

Aligning herself with the hawks in the debate over what to do in Vietnam, Mrs. Black said she thought U.S. forces should mine the approaches to Haiphong, the principal port, to cut off military supplies from Red China and the Soviet Union.

This may sound surprisingly hard-nosed to folks who remember Mrs. Black as the curly-dressed little darling who made a million dollars in the movies before she was 12.

Mrs. Black commented that she wasn't running as little Shirley Temple."

NAME CHANGE

Nevertheless, soon after she decided to file for Congress she had her name on the voting register changed from "Shirley J. (for Jane) Black" to "Shirley Temple Black." California law requires that a candidate's name on the ballot and the voting register be identical.

"I'm very proud of my past," said Shirley. "at least people know what I was doing as a child. I wasn't stealing hubcaps."

POLITICAL EXPERIENCE

Mrs. Black is by no means brand-new to politics. She has campaigned for Republicans in local and state elections for years, and helped carry San Mateo County for Ronald Reagan, another actor-turned-politician, when he was elected governor last year.

The congressional election is to fill a vacancy caused by the death last June of Rep. J. Arthur Younger, a Republican.

POSSIBLE RUNOFF

If no candidate wins a majority, there will be a runoff between the top two finishers, regardless of party, on Dec. 12.

Mrs. Black's leading Republican opponents are Sheriff Earl Whitmore, who has been elected six times, and Paul N. McCloskey, an investment company president who won the Silver Star and Navy Cross in the Korean War.

Her main Democratic rival is Roy Archibald, a San Mateo City councilman. Another Democratic hopeful is Edward Keating, former publisher of Ramparts magazine, making his second campaign for Congress as a "peace" candidate.

Mrs. Black has formidable financial backing. One member of her finance committee is a good friend from her Hollywood past, Bing Crosby.

TOP BACKERS

Others include Henry A. McMicking, director of the Transamerica Corp., William E. Roberts, president of Ampex Corp., and Ralph K. Davis, board chairman of American President Lines.

People in the News

By the Associated Press

Mrs. John F. Kennedy has denied through her secretary a report that she would soon announce her engagement to Britain's Lord Harlech, the former David Ormsby-Gore.

MRS. KENNEDY

The report was published yesterday by Women's Wear Daily.

Nancy Tuckerman, Mrs. Kennedy's secretary, later said in a statement in New York she had been authorized by the President's widow to say that there was absolutely no truth in the report.

"We don't know where this got started. I can assure you it is not true," Miss Tuckerman said, adding that Mrs. Kennedy was not about to announce her engagement to anyone else either.

Lord Harlech was a close friend of the late President and served as Britain's ambassador to Washington during the Kennedy Administration.

His wife died earlier this year and Mrs. Kennedy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., flew to England for her funeral. Lord Harlech is presently in New York on a lecture tour.

Davison's wife said last night her husband may still be able to depart on schedule for his annual tour of England Nov. 1.

Davison collapsed at his Hollywood home Oct. 2.

Joe Kennedy Entertains Baseball Wives

KENNEDY

Baseball fan Joseph P. Kennedy was host yesterday to a bus-load of the wives of the St. Louis Cardinals baseball team.

The wives had a boat ride on Kennedy's yacht, had lunch, and toured the cluster of Kennedy homes at Hyannis Port, Mass., including the one which was owned by the late President John F. Kennedy, and now is used in the summer by his widow and children.

The former ambassador to Great Britain did not want anybody to think he was being disloyal to the home team by entertaining the St. Louis visitors.

He attended the opening game for four innings last week, and is planning to see part of another—but he is rooting for it to be a seventh game on Thursday—with the Red Sox the winners.

Then he said he'll have the Red Sox team, with their wives and families, as his guests for a day.

James MacArthur Sued for Divorce

Actor James MacArthur, 29, son of actress Helen Hayes, has been sued for divorce by his wife of nine years, actress Joyce Collins MacArthur, 29.

Mrs. MacArthur, who filed suit in superior court in Van Nuys, Calif., yesterday charged mental cruelty and asked for all community property, alimony, child support and custody of their two children Charles, 7, and Mary, 2.

Listed as part of the community property were paintings by Diego Rivera and Henri Toulouse-Lautrec, several automobiles and the family home at Tarzana.

The princess, cousin of Queen Elizabeth of England, visited Dallas, San Antonio and Houston during her Texas tour. The official purpose of the visit was to promote British export trade.

Antisubversion Unit Faces Test in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Subversive Activities Control Board, praised as a necessary weapon against communism and condemned as "a pork barrel board for political appointees," faces a key test in the Senate.

The panel was thrust into prominence last July when President Johnson named Simon F. McHugh, a 29-year-old accountant who had married a presidential secretary, as a member at $26,000 a year.

It was set up 17 years ago to determine whether organizations reported to it by the Justice Department should be required to register as subversive. Court decisions abolished the registration procedure.

Some members of Congress called for abolition of the board when its current stage of inactivity was spotlighted by McHugh's appointment.

DIRKSEN PROPOSAL

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen proposed the board be empowered to identify Communist organizations without any registration requirement.

Dirksen moved in the Senate Tuesday to attach his plan to a pending $2.18 billion appropriation bill for the Justice Department and other federal units.

The bill includes a $295,000 appropriation for the five-member subversive control board and its staff.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., led opposition to the Dirksen plan.

Proxmire argued it had not been determined whether the Justice Department would bring cases to the board under the proposed new procedure.

Dirksen countered that President Johnson called him to the White House to urge that he press efforts to win passage.

Senators Renew Viet Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate critics are skirmishing anew despite President Johnson's blunt notice he is not going to change his Vietnam war policies.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., called the Senate Foreign Relations Committee together today to act on another invitation to Secretary of State Dean Rusk to testify publicly in defense of Johnson's Vietnam policies.

Fulbright told Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., another vigorous critic of Johnson's course, in Senate action Tuesday that Rusk had refused to answer policy questions in open sessions of the committee since February 1966.

The principal reason administration officials declined to appear, Fulbright said, is "because it would be very embarrassing to them." But the senator said he knew of no way to force Rusk to testify.

ALLIED COMMITMENTS

Fulbright said he wrote Rusk for an accounting of troop commitments pledged by South Korea, Thailand and the Philippines to aid South Vietnam. He also asked how much countries aligned with assistance to South Vietnam were trading with North Vietnam.

This fresh assault on the administration's claim that 31 nations are providing assistance in one form or another to Saigon came after the Senate had voted to ask Johnson to seek United Nations economic sanctions against Hanoi.

By a 74-15 vote the Senate wrote into a pending appropriation bill an amendment by Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., expressing the "sense of Congress" that the President act to get the United Nations to clamp economic sanctions on Hanoi.

Byrd laced into the amendment the proposition that since the United States supported economic bans on the all-white Rhodesian government, it could do no less against a nation which had caused "55,888 American casualties in the first nine months of 1967."

HARD TO VOTE

Senators who support the administration's efforts to bring down the Rhodesian government found it difficult to vote against North Vietnam sanctions.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., a Vietnam war dove, called this action "an exercise in futility." If the United Nations directed members not to trade with Hanoi, "against whom would the order be directed—the Soviet Union, Red China or our allies we say are helping us in the war?" he asked.

The critics' new attacks appeared triggered by the hard line Johnson took in a Saturday night speech.

Alpena Plant to Shut Down

ALPENA (UPI) — Boyne Products Co. said today it will permanently shut down its Alpena operation effective Oct. 13, ending the jobs of 800 persons.

The firm said it had been making plans to build a new plant in a new industrial center but changed its mind.

The plant, which made auto parts, said one of the reasons for the sudden decision to close was the Ford Motor Co. strike.

Nader Claims Plot Against Electric Car

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Auto safety critic Ralph Nader yesterday said a practical electric car could be marketed within five years but that the auto industry was conspiring to slow development of such a vehicle.

Nader told a news conference that, although the auto industry insists a practical electric car cannot be produced before 1980 or 1990, General Electric Co. presently has a prototype model that could be in use within five years.

He said emission of air pollutants by cars was a new kind of assault on public health and welfare, not unlike an attack by a criminal, and noted that internal combustion engines of cars were the major contributor to smog, particularly in Los Angeles.

"We must be looking at smog as a continual 24-hour assault on the person which endangers our bodily rights," he said.

"The two serious fallouts of the auto industry are accidents and death on the highways and smog."

He said public interest in an electric car forced General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. into disclosing their experimental electric vehicle.

Rabbi Says Anti-Viet Ad May Have Misused Quote

DETROIT (UPI) — A rabbi whose name appeared endorsing a newspaper advertisement which quoted 31 prominent persons as deploring the Vietnam war today said the ad may have quoted Gen. Omar Bradley, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, out of context.

"I did not see the completed ad before it was placed in the newspaper," Rabbi Richard C. Hertz of Detroit said. "I did not personally check the quotations used."

Bradley said the six-column advertisement in yesterday's edition of the Detroit News had deliberately quoted him out of context. He said he does not oppose the U. S. action in Vietnam and in fact believes "We are fighting the right war at the right time and in the right place."

The advertisement, sponsored by a group calling itself the "Voices on Vietnam Committee" quoted Bradley as saying:

"I would hate very much to see us involved in a land war in Asia. I think we would be fighting a wrong war at the wrong place against the wrong enemy."

Bradley said the quotation was taken from testimony he made before the Senate Armed Forces and Foreign Relations committees in 1951 in their hearings on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's dismissal from his Far Eastern command.

'PERFECTLY CORRECT'

"I think the general is perfectly correct in his statements if the quote was out of context," Rabbi Hertz said. "It could not apply to the present situation if he said it regarding Korea."

"However, I think there are enough people here to get the idea across," he said. "People in Detroit are vitally concerned with the situation in Vietnam and are attempting to bring about a cessation of hostilities."

The names of Rabbi Hertz and four other Detroit area clergymen appeared as endorsing the advertisement, which included quotes from MacArthur, Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, Vice President Hubert Humphrey, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh.

The advertisement urged readers to write their congressmen and demand that the United States stop all bombing and escalation in Vietnam; use tax money "for U.S. cities, not for Vietnamese deaths"; start negotiations "unconditionally and with all parties to the conflict"; and observe the 1954 Geneva agreement.

Courts Wield Two-Edged Sword in Child Abuse Cases

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second in a three-part series on child abuse.)

By L. GARY THORNE
Asst. City Editor—Suburban

An outraged public demands vengeance, but compassion and reason must prevail.

This is the double-edged sword that governs court action growing out of child abuse cases.

There are, to be sure, penalties for child beaters. Two courts — a criminal court and a civil court — can take action. Often, in severe cases, both courts will act.

What are the ultimate penalties?

The maximum penalty in civil action, which is taken in Probate Coourt, is permanent termination of parental rights.

DIFFICULT TO GENERALIZE

"This is a most thoughtful determination," explained James W. Hunt, director of Oakland County's Juvenile Court and children's services.

Actually, Hunt added, there are a wide range of dispositions, making it difficult to generalize.

"Termination," he emphasized, "is used sparingly. It's a pretty final thing."

Hunt said Probate Court is limited in its jurisdiction over parents. The only jurisdiction is that which relates to the welfare of children.

PUNISHMENT VARIES

Punishment in Criminal Court for child abuse also varies. An actual child cruelty conviction, as opposed to neglect, carries a four-year jail term under Michigan law.

Ironically, simply abandoning a child can bring a stiffer 10-year jail sentence. Abandonment comes under the state's neglect statutes, according to John J. Davey, an assistant county prosecutor.

A member of Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson's "youth corps," Davey, 28, handles cases involving children through the office of the county prosecutor.

Davey notes sadly that in his 14-month tenure most of his cases have concerned children who have died of the perpetrated cruelties they suffered.

"Prosecution is difficult," he said, "and nearly solely dependent on medical testimony."

Describing the typical case, the youthful assistant prosecutor pointed out that the cruelty is perpetrated in the home and without witnesses.

Secondly, the victim is either dead or too young to testify in court or even accurately relate what happened.

Davey said common law sets seven years as the age when a child knows the difference between right and wrong, although he has known cases where a judge has permitted a 5-year-old to testify.

LACK OF EVIDENCE

Prosecution is further made difficult by the lack of physical evidence, such as finger prints, a gun or knife, or some other death instrument.

Thus, doctors, notably pathologists in cases of murder, provide the main means of winning court convictions.

Medical testimony, Davey indicated, can be very good or very bad. A pathologist after an autopsy often can give a definite opinion on the cause of a particular injury.

However, medical testimony frequently is less exact where there is not a homicide and the child is alleged to have fallen or sustained accidental injury, said Davey.

CAN COVER UP

If the offending parents are at all educated or sophisticated, they can usually cover their trail and avoid prosecution, he said.

"We get the obvious cases," Davey explained.

He said only a relatively small number of child cruelty cases reach the point of court prosecution.

Like an iceberg the smallest part of the problem is above the surface.

BIG PROBLEM

Davey rated child cruelty and corresponding problems of prosecution as one of the bigger problems in criminal law today.

"I think it's insolvable," he added, "as long as we are to proceed without confessions."

Although no less legal, there is no particular problem with medical testimony in Probate Court, according to Probate Judge Norman R. Barnard.

He attributed the difference to the type of proceedings.

Judge Barnard said that in criminal court proof must be "beyond a reasonable doubt," while probate courts generally adhere to a "proponderance of evidence."

A pioneer in the movement by the legal and medical communities to have child abuse legislation, Judge Barnard has developed a new doctrine, yet to be passed on by the state's high court.

Growing out of a Washtenaw County case, Judge Barnard theorizes that a set of circumstances can exist where a burden of proof is on the parent to provide a satisfactory explanation for a child's injury.

Probate Court proceedings move slowly, he admitted, adding that a case may take over two years to resolve.

Of the 13 reported abuse cases last year, which involved 23 children, only four youngsters have been returned home to date. In 19 abuse cases this year, which concerned 28 children, only ten youngsters have returned home.

"We can't be too careful," Barnard explained.

The court acts on petitions brought by an official agency. Usually, there is a removal from the home, at least initially.

"We are concerned about the immediate peril," the probate judge added.

Cases are thoroughly studied and investigated. Not to be overlooked is the possibility of rehabilitating the parents.

"We are operating in a delicate area," Barnard stressed. "We're invading the home."

PUTS TREATY INTO EFFECT — President Johnson signs a proclamation declaring formally in effect the international treaty signed yesterday at the White House East Room. The treaty bars nuclear weapons and military bases from outer space and prohibits any nation from claiming sovereignty in space. The treaty was signed by 13 nations. Next to the President is Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Soviets Tighten Arabian Ties

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is coming back stronger than ever in political influence on the Middle East.

Four months after the Soviets refused to intervene and save the Arabs from defeat by Israel, the Soviet Union is piling up points to establish itself as the Arabs' best friend in their post-war plight. More than just rebuilt, the Soviet position has been extended.

The most dramatic sign of this was the joint communique issued when King Hussein of Jordan left Moscow last week.

From cool suspicion and sometimes hostility toward Moscow's Mideast intentions, Jordan has swung sharly into a close relationship sweetened by Soviet economic and probably military aid. Jordan had been entirely dependent upon U.S. and British aid. The June war has also allowed the Soviets to tighten ties with Sudan, which will shortly sign its first agreement to get Soviet weapons.

ONCE ISOLATED

Yemen is expected to begin receiving Soviet weapons after years of being deliberately isolated from too-close Moscow contacts by Egypt's jealous guardianship.

Egypt may in the long run produce the biggest political gain for the Soviets. President Gamal Abdel Nasser has been a special Soviet friend for a decade. But he kept local Communists locked up, Soviet-trained military officers were shunted into minor jobs and the right wing was strong in Egypt.

Now the Soviets are working hard to bring about internal changes that will increase the influence of leftist elements in Egypt. The Soviet press has made clear that it expects favorable changes to rise from the ashes of Egyptian defeat.

Somewhat offsetting these developments, Soviet relations with Syria and Algeria have gone into temporary cold storage.

NOWHERE TO TURN

Syria in particular is unhappy with its Moscow friend, although its ultraleftist regime has nowhere other than Moscow to turn for the support it needs.

Syria and Algeria are unhappy because the Soviet Union has taken the line that a political solution is needed for the effects of Israel's victory, rather than a military one.

The Soviet refusal to move while Soviet-equipped armies were smashed by Israel caused great bitterness; but the Arabs had no other big, rich patron to whom they could turn.

OCC Hopeful Faulty Pipes Will Hold Up

Oakland Community College officials are crossing their fingers, hoping they can get through the winter without temporarily closing the Highland Lakes campus.

The campus' 43-year-old building heating pipes and plumbing system are so corroded and leaky that administrators and faculty are bracing themselves for the day when they will have no heat.

Some administrators and faculty members are doubtful that the pipes will make it through the winter.

Minor breaks have been happening continuously, reports Bruce King, director of new facilities. It keeps a maintenance staff busy almost daily repairing pipes. They fear a major break.

"We have warned the college employes at the campus Waterford Township that if a major break occurs, classes will have to be called off until the lines are repaired," said King.

OVERHAUL NEEDED

Dr. Stanley Hergenroeder, Highland Lakes provost, explained that the pipes in the main classroom building badly need an overhaul.

The building, built in 1924, was the old Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

King said the college hopes to replace the main building system next summer, if it lasts that long. It is budgeted for $360,000.

Heating and plumbing in the administration building is in "fair shape" and the instructional building is "bad," King said. The latter building will be abandoned and will probably not be overhauled.

European Cars Are a Tight Fit

By VIC WILCZIR

PARIS (UPI)—The 54th Paris Auto Show is a tribute to an old truth — Americans build a car around the driver, and Europeans build the cars first and then let the driver find his way in.

I'm 6 feet, 4 inches tall and I used muscles which only a contortionist is called on to exercise while trying out scores of cars at the current auto show.

One reason may be that, President Charles de Gaulle' aside, Europeans generally are smaller than Americans. Besides, De Gaulle doesn't drive.

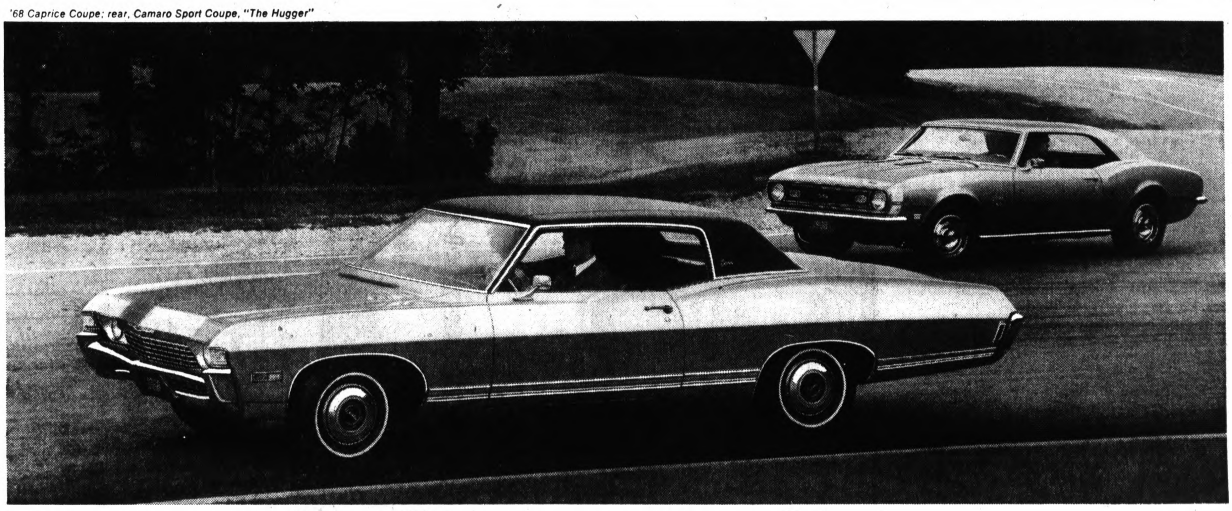

Aside from American models, the only cars I could get into comfortably were a Lamborghini Maura P400 and a Rolls-Royce. They were priced, respectively, at $20,000 and $38,000.

American cars were no effort to get in what with telescopic steering wheels which allow easy access for long-legged Americans.

Peugeot, Fiat, Porsche, Simca, Alfa- Romeo, Triumph and Aston-Martin proved to be tight fits.

I could put my foot on the gas pedal but getting it on the brake was another matter. The wheel was solidly in the way.

'68 Caprice Coupe; rear, Camaro Sport Coupe, "The Hugger"

Dramatically new! Astro Ventilation makes the ride as quiet as it is smooth.

Astro Ventilation: It wafts outside air freely through the car, even with all windows closed tight. So you get ample air without annoying drafts. And street noises stay where they belong—in the street. Astro Ventilation is standard on Camaro, Corvette and Caprice Coupe, also available on many other models.

New riding silence

We've gone all out to give you more peace and quiet. Computers showed exactly where to locate engine and body mounts to isolate vibrations. All models have improved shock absorbers and quieter exhaust systems, while many have wider wheel stance for greater smoothness.

The '68 Chevrolets are the best riding cars we've ever built.

Better performance

There are new and bigger standard engines, both V8 and Six. Also a new 250-hp V8 you can order that runs on regular fuel. There's a new rear axle ratio you can add if you're interested in extra economy. Most models with automatic transmission now come with a special heater that warms the carburetor air for more efficient performance in cold weather. Of course, every 1968 Chevrolet has the new GM exhaust emission control.

Many new safety features

Along with such safety features as the proved GM-developed energy absorbing steering column, folding front seat back latches and dual master cylinder brake system with warning light, you get many new ones for 1968. Among them: energy absorbing front seat backs, side marker lights, safety armrests that shield the door handles and more—even a buzzer to tell you if you've forgotten the ignition key when you leave the car.

Caprice offers new luxury, Camaro even sportier

Caprice for '68 is more than ever "The Grand Chevrolet." There's an elegant new formal roof line on the coupe above, a sweeping new hood line that conceals windshield wipers, new styling everywhere. There are stunning new interiors that combine luxury fabrics, soft vinyls, wood-grained trim and gleaming accents for a truly sumptuous look. Camaro interiors, too, have received special attention for '68. Instruments are professionally clustered for convenience. Supple vinyl trim climbs right up from deep-twist carpeting to window glass. "The Hugger" looks, rides and accelerates even smoother this year.

Action Is Delayed on Building Agency for Pontiac General

A proposal to consider authorizing a building authority for construction of new facilities at Pontiac General Hospital was postponed by the City Commission last night.

TThe building authority was proposed by city officials in recent weeks and the commission was prepared to act on a resolution last night to authorize the authority.

Director of Law Sherwin M. Birnkrant said further legal research is necessary to determine the exact legality of a building authority. He recommended postponement of the enabling legislation until certain questions can be answered.

The commissions also authorized an option on receiving a land parcel at 100 S. Johnson and ordered the law department to close the transaction.

The purchase is part of a program to have the city own the complete block which contains the hospital so that future expansions of facilities or parking can be effected.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other action, the commission:

- Gave preliminary approval to a change in the revenue bond ordinance covering the Galloway Creek Sanitary Sewer.
- Agreed to farm out some engineering work in preparation for water main extensions to the firm of Jones & Henry.

- Called for a public hearing by the Michigan State Highway Department on a state proposal to eliminate parking on Huron between West and East Wide Track, except for parking on the north side of Huron between Mill and Pike.
- Rejected bids for paving of Bradford Street in the city's industrial park area and deferred for one week acceptance of low bidder for sewage treatment plant equipment.

Director of Public Works and Service Joseph E. Neipling said that because of an increasing number of multiple housing projects and accompanying demand for new water mains the city engineering staff is unable to perform the necessary work.

STANDARD RATES

He recommended a contract with rates set by the standards established by the American Society of Civil Engineers for any work which would be performed by the Jones & Henry firm.

Neipling said the highway department intends to issue an order calling for the parking ban on Huron. He recommended the hearing — which is the city's right — to discuss city objections to parts of the suggested parking prohibition.

Bids for paving of Bradford from South Boulevard to Ferry were received yesterday from two companies, one for $39,979, the other for $41,527.

Neipling said they were about 25 per cent over engineering estimates, probably because of the lateness of the season when there are hazards to paving.

NEXT SPRING

On his recommendation, the commission agreed to include the paving in an over-all project to be taken next spring.

The sewage equipment bids were $70,400 and $89,500. Neipling asked for a week's delay to study the bids before making a recommendation.

Preliminary Rezoning Okayed for Area Bank

City commissioners last night gave preliminary approval to rezoning a parcel of land on Joslyn between Kennett and Raskob for construction of a Community National Bank branch.

A public hearing will be held before final approval is given.

The parcel runs the length of the street on the east side of Joslyn. Additional property set for rezoning for the bank construction is at 558 Rosobk and 557 E. Kennett.

Planning commissioners had recommended approval of the rezoning.

Commissioners also approved a change in the zoning ordinance which will allow the city to secure right-of-ways and easements for streets and utilities in muplitple developments after rezonings.

WILL BE SECURED

Under the change the planning commission will ensure that these are secured before site plans for the complexes are approved.

Previously the city had attempted to secure the easements and right-of-ways before authorizing rezoning and this often proved impossible.

Potential developers would not legally own parcels but would have options contingent on rezoning and thus could not secure them, officials said.

A ptetition to rezone a parcel on the southeast corner of Auburn and Paddock was denied by the City Commission on the recommendation of the planning commission.

The owner had requested the change to replace two residential buildings with a gas station. About 20 residents had objected at a planning commission public hearing.

Ailing Elephant Is Killed at Zoo in Rhode Island

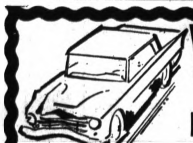

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A group of children, some crying, stood with their parents outside the elephant house Tuesday at Rogers Williams Park and heard the sound of four rifle shots.

"Alice is dead, Alice is dead," cried one little boy as he hid his face in his mother's skirt.

Alice, the park's 33-year-old elephant, was put to a mercy death by bullets from a police rifle. She had been suffering from incurably abssessed teeth and possible cancer.

She could not properly chew and digest her food, had lost 1,000 pounds in the past six months and had endured intense pain which made her potentially dangerous.

Kroger Workers Ratify Contract Overwhelmingly

DETROIT (AP) — Striking employes representing 1,600 workers voted overwhelmingly Tuesday night to end a 12-day strike in Detroit at the Kroger and Bi-Lo supermarket chains.

Some 400 employes striking the chains in Saginaw, Bay City and Flint areas are to vote on a new pact today.

Members of the Retail Clerks International Association, (AFL-CIO Local 876, ratified the Detroit contract 933-293.

The agreement gives them an 80-cent-an-hour average increase in wages and fringe benefits over a three-year span.

The workers, who had been out since Sept. 29, will receive benefits retroactive to April 15 when their contract expired. Outstate locals walked off the job Oct. 2.

A Kroger spokesman said the strike closed 72 of the company's 104 stores in Southeastern Michigan.

Taubman Plan 'Not Dead'

Although Pontiac's agreement with developer A. Alfred Taubman has ended, the Taubman plan for redeveloping downtown urban renewal land is not yet dead, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said last night.

He said he is still hopeful in that Sears Roebuck & Co. officials have indicated they will reevaluate the Oak Park developer's proposal made to the company.

Taylor, Mayor Pro Tem Leslie H. Hudson and five Pontiac businessmen met with top Sears officials last Thursday to outline the city's abilities and potential as a feasible site for a downtown enclosed mall shopping center.

The Taubman proposal for this center was contingent on the Sears company being the major tenant in the center. After much consideration the Sears management recently indicated they would not take part in the urban renewal development.

Taylor said the Pontiac representatives on Thursday "tried to explain some of the human factors" involved in a planned resurgence of Pontiac.

'ENCOURAGING'

Mayor Pro Tem Hudson said the decision of Sears officials to reevaluate the proposal was encouraging but not so much so that city representatives felt there definitely would be a change in the Sears decision.

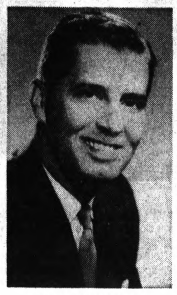

Taylor said he was promised that the Sears management would call him as soon as a final decision on the reevaluation was made. "They told us that this (Taubman's) proposal was most visionary. It can work in the urban renewal area, it's just about the only thing that can work.

"That's why Sears has been hanging on long as they have," he said. "It's been held alive because of his (Taubman's) ability, foresight and vision."

"I would say it's far from dead."

WILLIAM H. TAYLOR JR.

LESLIE H. HUDSON

Taylor and Hudson, however, said the city was certainly open to consider any other "concrete" proposal from potential developers for redeveloping the UR area but indicated none was immediately at hand.

The mayor said no decision has been reached by Sears as to relocating the downtown store at 154 N. Saginaw although he said "outside interests" are attempting to entice the Sears company to locate at a site out of the city.

Race Isolation Found in State Schools

LANSING (AP)—"Racial isolation in the schools persists and presents a serious barrier to quality education," said the state superintendent of public instruction today as results of Michigan's first public school racial census were released.

The survey, conducted by the State Department of Education and the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center, covers roughly 90 per cent of the pupils, teachers and principals in the state public school system, officials said.

"Almost three-fourths of all Negro pupils in Michigan attend predominantly Negro schools," Supt. Ira Polley told the State Board of Education. He classified "predominantly Negro schools" as those with 60 per cent or more Negro pupils.

NO NEGROES

"Almost three-fifths of all white pupils in Michigan attend schools where no Negro pupils are present," he said.

The survey report shows that in Detroit, for example, nearly one-third of the city's 220 elementary schools are mae up of at least 95 per cent Negro pupils. About one-fourth of the total elementary schools include fewer than 5 per cent Negro pupils.

Two of the four River Rouge elementary schools have no Negro pupils. Two are a least 95 per cent Negro. Officials termed this district "extreme."

'EFFECTIVESNESS HURT'

"When, for whatever reason, students in educational programs are segregated, we know that the effectiveness of our equality opportunity guarantee is impaired," Polley said.

The report, he said, would be used "in making policy decisions needed if we are to meet our commitment to achieve true equality of educational opportunity in Michigan."

The census also includes data on the racial distribution in Michigan public schools. Nearly 85 per cent of the pupils surveyed were white, nearly 14 per cent Negro, less than 1 per cent oriental or Indian.

RACES OF TEACHERS

Of the teachers included, nearly 90 per cent white, 8 per cent Negro and 2 per cent not ascertained. Racial distribution of principals was 97 per cent white, 3 per cent Negro.

"The survey indicates a striking relationship between race of pupils and race of teachers," Polley told the board. "In classrooms with no Negro children in them, 97.6 per cent of the teachers are white.

"The larger the proportion of Negro pupils in a class, the more likely the teacher is to be Negro."

Data also suggests, Polley said, that racial concentration in Michigan public schools has been increasing.

ATTITUDES SURVEYED

Surveyed also were teacher attitudes toward pupils.

"The findings suggest that teachers have more negative attitudes toward their pupils in classes with a larger proportion of Negro pupils," Polley said. "Based on teacher perceptions, it appears that the greater the proportion of Negro pupils in a class, the lower the teacher's rating of their pupils' academic ability and motivation."

Further data deals with the socio - economic background of pupils and numbers of pupils of Spanish - speaking background.

OU Hikes Fee 700 Pct.

Students Protest Parking Cost

Oakland University is having a hullabaloo. No, not a dance but a verbal battle over student parking fees that have increased 700 per cent this year.

Students are criticizing the increase in parking fees from $2 last year to $16 for this school year.

Fees were increased to pay most of the univesity's share of of $380,250 in a $700,000 project of $380,250 a $700,000 project to build 2,739 parking spaces in the next five years.

Heading the fee opposition is Bob Simmer, president of the Commuter Council. He contends a lower fee could be charged.

Chancellor Durward B. Varner explained that his self-appointed Parking Commission had recommended a fee of approximately $12, but that it had to be modified because initial bids were higher than expected.

PROTEST PETITION

Subsequently, Simmer and four student commuter representatives resigned from the 12-member advisory commission and presented a protest petition, signed by some 400 students, to the university's administration.

"I'm not going to take unilateral action to change the fees," Varner remarked. "But I have turned the petition over to Prof. Paul Tomboulian, commission chairman, for review."

Tomboulian, chairman of the chemistry department, had this to say:

"Although the particulars of the approved and recommended plans differed from the proposal in some ways, the spirit of the commission's deliberations was retained."

Varner explained that the problem facing the university is that it has a large number of commuters (about 2,500 cars on campus at peak periods) and not enough money to provide spaces.

'TOTALLY INADEQUATE'

"The Legislature has given us some money for parking, but it is totally inadequate," the chancellor said. "The only way to provide spaces is to charge a fee."

He said last year the university first started charging parking fees but found that the $2 cannot meet expenses.

OU now has 2,800 parking spaces. To build some 2,000 more spaces under the five-year plan will cost about $700,000, college sources indicate.

The state will pay about half of the $700,000 for spaces around new buildings. Student, faculty and staff fees of $16 are expected to pay about $250,000 of the $380,250 to be financed by the university.

ADDED REVENUE

Additional revenue will come from continuing education and MSU extension course parking money, fees from the 25 cent pay lots and traffic violations.

"At the end of five years we will have adequate parking and it will be paid for," said Varner. "Then we will add spaces on a pay-as-you-go basis."

Oakland had to borrow $200,000 to build this year's 842 new spaces and will again have to borrow money next year to finance 322 spaces.

A number of students who individually do not want to pay the $16 fee have banded together and bought one parking sticker to be used in car pools.

LBJ Tax Hike Given Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's former No. 1 economist says if Congress doesn't enact President Johnson's tax hike proposal, consumers are in for "substantially higher prices, substantially faster inflation."

Walter Heller, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, told a news conference Tuesday the question is whether "we're willing to take the bitter medicine" of a 10 per cent income tax surcharge to put brakes on the economy.

The House is holding up action on the tax bill. Members have demanded the President cut spending for this fiscal year by $5 billion. Johnson says he can't pinpoint cuts until Congress acts on his appropriations bills.

Heller said it wouldn't be politicaly realistic to expect Johnson to cut spending by more than $2 billion although technically up to $5 billion could be cut. Heller suggested cuts could be made in public works or "pork barrel" projects, highways, space and development of the supersonic transport plane, a multibillion-dollar project.

Successor Committed to Heritage

Schweitzer Hospital Changing

NEW YORK (AP) — The spirit of Albert Schweitzer still imbues the jungle hospital he founded in West Africa. But many things have changed there since his death—changes initiated by a young Swiss surgeon.

In the two years since Schweitzer died at the age of 90, his handpicked medical successor has embarked on a 10-year modernization program to train young African natives, improve preventive medical care, intensify the tuberculosis health service and construct a new therapeutic center.

For most men, following in the footsteps of the Nobel prize-winning doctor, musician and philosopher might seem an impossible task. But not to Dr. Walter Munz.

By his own admission, he is not another Schweitzer. But he is committed to the 53-year heritage Schweitzer left in the jungles of Lambarene at his death.

SENSE OF DEVOTION

"Our duty is to maintain the sense of devotion and the human quality of this heritage and to bring the hospital at the same time into a modern and functioning state," the 34-year-old surgeon said.

Already, the hospital has a new sanitation system, electric lights, a radio, a telephone and rows of renovated houses. But, says Dr. Munz, this is only the beginning.

Sitting in an office overlooking the bustling traffic of midtown Manhattan, Dr. Munz envisioned the new therapeutic center in terms of a modern city hospital—complete with two operating theaters, laboratories, an X-ray institute and intensive care ward.

Whether Schweitzer would have approved is doubtful. During his lifetime, the hospital at Lambarene was often criticized for its antiquated methods and relative lack of modern sanitation.

STRONG BELIEF

Local conditions made some problems unavoidable. But others were due to Schwetzer's strong belief that some reforms were too far removed from the primitive living conditions of his African patients.

This clash of ancient traditions and modern trends has been a major problem for Dr. Munz.

Since he became medical director at the hospital in February, 1965—seven months before Schweitzer's death—Dr. Munz said his most difficult task has been "to seek and find the union of the good of the old and the good of the new."

Asked whether he had found the right blend, the prematurely grey-haired surgeon paused, smiled and replied: "I think we have come to realize several of the main projects we had, but long range development has to go on."

While Dr. Munz has been a follower of Schweitzer since he was 10 years old, he scoffs at all attempts to deify the late doctor.

"He was near to us as a real human being, not as a near-saint or God," he said. "He never considered himself anything like that."

Many of Schweitzer's traditions are still maintained at the hospital, especially his love for music. But Dr. Munz said, "We do not do these things because he did them, but because they carry their value in themselves."

'MY FAMILY'

The tall blue-eyed bachelor, who says "the hospital is my family," is in the United States to receive the Lions International humanitarian award for service to mankind in Dallas, Tex., on Thursday.

This is his first visit to this country. After a two-month tour, he will return to Switzerland to study new medical techniques. By May, he expects to be back in Lambarene.

For the present, Dr. Munz said, "I am happy to continue the work of this great man, and the fact that I personally never had sought this position, but got it as a commitment with his full confidence gives me heart and joy to go on together with my colleagues."

Enjoy yourself. It's lighter than you think.

Invite the Gang in for an After-the-Game Gathering

MARKET BASKET

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

With football games scheduled for fall weekends, you have plenty of incentive to give a party. Whether your favorite team wins or loses, the mood of the day is informal and festive.

Invite the gang back to your house for good hearty food and plenty of time for the men to "post mortem" the game.

This is not the time to serve a formal dinner. What you want is filling food and plenty of it.

This is the perfect time for soups, chili, pizza and hot spicy beverages.

You'll want food you can prepare ahead of time. You'll want to keep your work to a minimum by using paper napkins—maybe even some of the excellent paper plates, bowls and cups now available in mod colors.

You'll be the champion—cook, that is—if you star some of the recipes on this page.

At serving time, pour sauce over rolls and bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes or until heated through. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Blender Meat Ball Chili

MEAT BALL MIXTURE

5 lbs. ground beef
10 slices bread, soaked in water
5 eggs
1 tablespoon salt
1½ teaspoon pepper

SAUCE

6 medium onions, cut in eighths
2 cups celery pieces
3 green peppers, cut in eighths
3 cloves garlic
4 No. 2½ cans tomatoes, with liquid
3 tablespoons chili powder
2½ tablespoons oregano
1 tablespoon paprika
3 tablespoons salt
1½ teaspoon pepper
1½ teaspoon fennel seed
4 No. 2 cans kidney beans, with liquid

Put ground beef into large bowl. Squeeze water from bread, add to meat.

Put eggs and seasonings into blender container, cover and process at low until light yellow in color. Add to meat and mix well.

Form into balls about the size of a walnut. Brown in oil, stirring to keep them round. When all meat bals are browned, set aside.

Mix vegetables and garlic cloves in a large bowl. Put one can of tomatoes with liquid into blender container, add one-fourth of the vegtables, cover and turn control quickly to high and off several times to coarsely chop vegetables.

Empty into large saucepan and repeat with remaining vegetables and tomatoes, adding seasonings to last containerful. Add meat balls and cook over low heat about 1 hour.

Add kidney beans, undrained, stirring lightly but well, and cook about 30 minutes more.

Serve with corn chips, bread sticks or Italian bread. Yield: 20-24 servings.

STUFFED HAM ROLLS—Robust refreshments for after the game . . . Stuffed Ham Rolls. Make the rice-stuffed rolls ahead and refrigerate, then oven-warm them in snappy canned tomato sauce.

Hot 'n' Spice Pineapple Punch

4 sticks cinnamon
12 whole cloves
¼ cup brown sugar (packed)
2 cups water
1 (46-ounce) can pineapple juice
1 (16-ounce) bottle cranberry juice cocktail

Simmer spices, brown sugar and water 10 minutes. Remove from heat, cover and cool. Strain and discard spices.

Combine spiced syrup with pineapple juice and cranberry juice cocktail. Heat to simmering. Makes about 2½ quarts.

Pineapple Platters

3 sticks pastry mix
1 (1-pound 4½-ounce) can pineapple slices
⅓ cup brown sugar (packed)
⅓ cup flaked coconut
Nutmeg
Glaze

Prepare pastry according to package directions. Divide into 2 equal portions and cut each into 10 wedges. Shape each wedge into small ball, then roll to 4-inch circle.

Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Place slices on 10 pastry circles. Sprinkle with brown sugar, coconut and dash of nutmeg.

Cut small circle from center of each remaining pastry circle. Moisten edges and place over pineapple slice. Press pastry edges firmly together.

Arrange on baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 15 minutes, until browned. Remove to rack and brush with glaze. Makes 10 servings.

Glaze: Combine 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar with 3½ teaspoons reserved pineapple syrup and ½ teaspoon lemon juice.

Lemon Startletts

3 eggs
¾ cup sugar
⅓ cup bottled lemon juice
1 8-ounce package cream cheese
8 3-inch tart shells
⅓ cup chopped salted almonds or pecans

Beat the eggs until thick and fluffy. Continue beating while gradually adding the sugar and botted lemon juice. Cook in a heavy saucepan over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is thick and smooth.

Soften the cream cheese at room temperature and gradually bend in the hot custard mixture. Cool and fill tart shells; sprinkle with chopped nuts. Makes 8 tartlets.

Pepperoni Pennant Pizza

1 pkg. complete pepperoni pizza mix
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon minced green pepper
pimiento strips

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Add onion and green pepper to pizza dough mix. Then prepared dough as package directs.

Remove pepperoni pieces from canned sauce. Pour sauce over prepared dough. Arrange pepperoni pieces on top of sauce in pennant shape.

Form letter of pimiento strips in center of pennant. Bake as package directs.

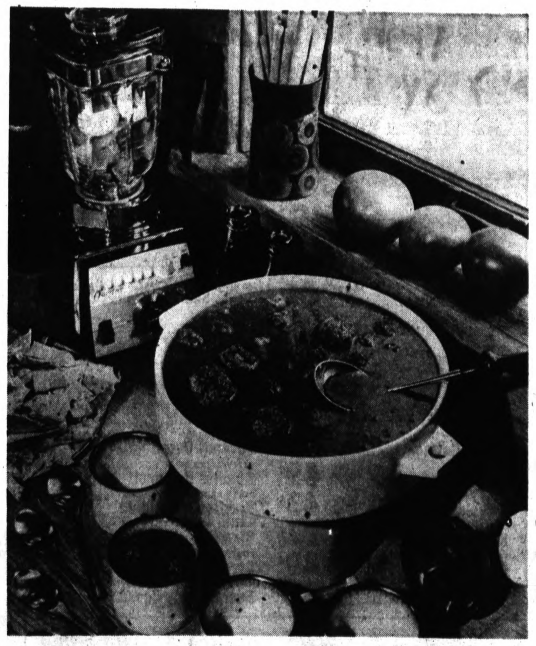

Take Your Choice Pizza

1 pkg. complete cheese pizza mix
¼ cup pickle relish
2 tablespoons canned sliced mushrooms
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
2 small white onions, sliced
2 black olives, sliced

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Make up pizza dough as package directs. Mark off pizza into six pie shaped sections.

Mix together mushrooms and green pepper. Mix together onion and black olives.

Put relish on two pie-shaped sections, mushroom mixture on two, and the onion mixture on the last remaining two. Bake as package directs.

BLENDER CHILI — With a blender you can mix ingredients quickly and thoroughly. It is used here to prepare part of the sauce that goes into chili. A steaming bowl of this longtime favorite is just the food for after-the-game parties.

TANGY BLUE DIP—Measure one cup dairy sour cream and mix a small amount with one tablespoon crumbled blue cheese until almost smooth. Stir in ½ teaspoon garlic salt, dash of pepper and the rest of the sour cream. Chill one hour. Serve with the new snacks — Bows — which taste like hot buttered popcorn. Recipe makes about one cup dip.

PUNCH AND PASTRY — Snappy hot punch is a combination of canned pineapple juice and cranberry cocktail with spices. The little platter pastries are made by putting a pineapple slice sprinkled with coconut and nutmeg between two pastry rounds.

LEMON STARLETTS — Make these tarts before you go to the game; at least have the pastry shells made and the filling ready to spoon in them. The filling is a creamy custard one flavored with bottled lemon juice.

PENNANT PIZZA — After-the-game pizza can be ready in minutes if you use a packaged pizza mix. Use pepperoni pieces to arrange a pendant on top of the baked pizza and pimiento strip school letters in the center. Serve with crisp relishes.

British Coffee Campaign Is on the Up and Up

LONDON (AP) — Britons who flee from tea can become lofty with coffee, a current campaign suggests.

The Coffee Promotion Council may not be an unbiased authority but it insists that coffee drinkers are among the up and coming in the world. Under the slogan "Coffee is the Up Cup" it is launching a year-long drive to win over this nation of tea lovers.

Britons drink five cups of tea for every cup of coffee. Consumption of coffee has doubled in the last 10 years, but the council isn't satisfied.

The council, aided financially by countries making up the International Coffee Organization, aims its campaign at young married women "in whose hands—and purses — lies the potential for Great Britain to become a nation of coffee drinkers."

PRIMARY TARGET

A primary target is the industrial Midlands, including Sheffield with its steel products, Coventry with its automobile industry, and Birmingham with automobile and arms industries.

The campaign's chief weapon is a series of advertisements showing coffee as an exciting, glamorous drink. One commercial shows a coffee drinker against the background of a jet airliner taking to flight while a commentator intones: "Lift off. Coffee gives you that wonderful lift."

A coffee wagon will go around housing developments serving free cups at community centers and encouraging young wives to get to know each other.

The campaign is aimed at increasing the consumption of coffee and not to promote any particular variety but about 80 per cent of Britain's consumption is of the instant kind which utilizes Africa-grown Robusta varieties.

BIG PRODUCER

Uganda is a big producer of Robusta coffee and as a member of the Commonwealth enjoying preferential treatment on the British market it will stand to gain from the campaign.

But the Coffee Promotion Council says any increase in consumption will benefit growers all round.

"Not only does an increase in the consumption of instant coffee produce an increase in the consumption of regular coffee, but if a country exports more to another country it decreases its exports to the rest and this provides greater outlets for other coffee producers," the council says.

1859-1967...108 YEARS YOUNG

WE STARTED IN 1859 BUT... WE'RE NOT 108 YEARS OLD!

We're 108 years young.

We're old enough to understand the soundness of time-tested basic ideas, but young enough to keep trying to improve them.

Modernization and keeping abreast of new ideas and techniques is a must for today's successful business.
We wouldn't be the world's largest food retailer
if we weren't constantly thinking modern, thinking young.

But some basic thinking never changes.
Take that of our founder for instance.
He was dedicated, as we are,
to bringing the most good food,
to the most people,
for the least amount of money.
To being fair, honest and trustworthy.
To caring about the people he served.

No matter how progressive, how automated, how modern we become,
we pledge to maintain these sound principles of our founder.

Even when we're 208 years young!

St. Kitts Braces for New Political Unrest

BASSETERRE, St. Kitts (AP) — St. Kitts, already troubled by the secession of its sister island of Anguilla, is bracing for possible new unrest over the trial of 12 men charged with joining a plot against the government.

Anguilla seceded in May from the three-island British associated state of St. Kitts-Nevis-Anguilla, citing dissatisfaction with the St. Kitts government of Prime Minister Robert L. Bradshaw.

In June, the St. Kitts police station and defense forces headquarters were fired on and 12 men were arrested soon afterward. They have pleaded innocent and their trial is to start Monday.

A leader of the opposition People's Action Movement — PAM — predicted an increase in party strength if the men are convicted. One defendant is PAM's head, Dr. William V. Herbert, 32.

One prominent businessman said their imprisonment would be "to set an example for the citizens so as to leave no doubts in their minds as to what could happen should it happen."

FEAR 'CLINK'

Most St. Kitts residents are cautious about discussing the case and one said they would rather "not see or say because they might end up in the clink."

One source said he doubted the defendants will receive a fair trial, adding, "It is an unhappy and unpleasant atmosphere to do justice."

Since Anguilla seceded May 31, Bradshaw has ruled under emergency powers allowing search and arrest without a warrant, deportation, disposal of bodies without an inquest and amendment of any law that does not conform with the purposes of the emergency powers.

St. Kitts, an island of about 50,000, received associated state status from Britain earlier this year and the British government maintains that the present situation is strictly St. Kitts' internal affair.

Man's dream of Space Flight (8)

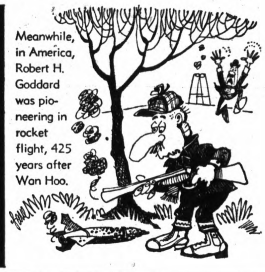

By Russ Winterbotham and John Lane

Lasswitz' fictional space satellite was 60 years ahead of time—a 40-year gain for science since Verne. Next, the Wright brothers closed the gap still more.

The Nazis banned the Lasswitz book, but captured documents showed the ideas were taken seriously.

Meanwhile, in America, Robert H. Goddard was pioneering in rocket flight, 425 years after Wan Hoo.

GALA GRITS BAVARIAN — Here's a glamorous dessert to serve with a proud flourish — Gala Grits Bavarian. Its creamy richness rates rave notices from family and guests.

Turn Hominy Grits Into Molded Dessert

Gleaming silver, delicate china and a dazzling dessert — these items set the stage for an elegant party.

Gala Grits Bavarian, a creamy molded dessert garnished with scarlet strawberries, is the exquisite highlight of a party table.

Enriched white hominy grits, a long-time favorite in the gracious South, are moving from a place of honor in Southern plantation menus to a cherished spot on menus all over the country.

Gala Grits Bavarian

½ cup enriched quick white hominy grits
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
3 cups milk
1 envelope (1 Tbsp.) unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold water
½ cup sugar
¾ teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup coarsely-chopped blanched almonds, toasted
1 cup whipping cream
1 pint fresh or frozen whole strawberries, sweetened

Place grits, salt, butter and milk in saucepan. Bring to a boil, stirring occasionally. Simmer about 10 minutes or until mixture is thickened, stirring frequently.

Soften gelatine in water. Add softened gelatine, sugar, lemon peel, orange peel and vanilla to grits mixture; stir until gelatine and sugar are dissolved.

Remove from heat; let stand about ½ hour or until lukewarm Stir in almonds.

Beat whipping cream until stiff; fold into grits mixture. Pour into 1½-qt. mold which has been rinsed with cold water. Chill until firm. Reserve 9 strawberries to garnish mold. Crush remaining strawberries.

To serve, unmold. Garnish with strawberries. Cut in 8 pieces; top each with crushed strawberries.

Experts Tell Why Not to Freeze Milk

Freezer storage of milk and cream is not recommended. When milk or cream are frozen and thawed, a flaky protein deposit shows up as fine flecks on the side of the glass. This does not affect the nutritional value of the product, but does change the appearance.

Fat separation which occurs on freezing also makes it difficult to obtain a smooth mixture after thawing.

However if milk or cream has been frozen, thawing should be done slowly by placing the carton in the refrigerator overnight or by immersing in cold water for several hours.

Date Layer Between Crust, Topping

Here is a delectable cookie recipe from a Canadian cook.

Meringue Squares

1 cup chopped dates
Juice of 1 lemon
½ cup water or brewed coffee
½ cup each butter and granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs, separated
1½ cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
¼ to ½ cup thinly sliced blanched almonds

Cook dates with lemon juice and water to a thick paste; cool.

Cream butter, granulated sugar and vanilla; add well-beaten egg yolks. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt; add to creamed mixture and work well together; press into well-greased 9-inch square cake pan. Spread with date paste.

Make a stiff meringue of the egg whites and brown sugar; spread over date paste; sprinkle with almonds.

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven about 50 minutes. Cool somewhat before cutting

Duckling and Orange

A Natural Pair Bound to Win

Duck and oranges have long had a delicious, natural affinity for each other.

A mixture of undiluted frozen Florida orange juice concentrate and honey makes a fresh-tasting, tart-sweet glaze that both flavors the meat and imparts an appeizing gloss to the duck.

Orange juice combines with current jelly and seasonings for a spicy sauce to serve with it.

As a change from the proverbial wild rice accompaniment to duck, orange rice is refreshingly different.

DUCKLING L'ORANGE

1 4- to 5-pound duck, quartered
1 teaspoon salt
1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
2 tablespoons honey

Place duck, skin side up, on rack in shallow open pan. Sprinkle with salt. Do not add water; do not cover; do not baste. Bake in 325 degree oven, 2 hours.

Remove 2 tablespoons orange concentrate from can and combine with honey. Brush on duck last half-hour baking time.

Reconstitute remaining orange concentrate with 2½ cups cold water. Reserve to use in Orange Rice* and Orange Sauce.

To serve, place duck on rice on serving platter. If desired, garnish with Florida orange slices. Yield: 4 servings.

Orange Rice

2 tablespoons butter or margaine
1 cup sliced celey
½ cup Florida orange juice
⅛ teaspoon Tabasco
1 tablespoon slivered orange rind, optional
1 cup uncooked rice
1 teaspoon salt

Heat butter in a saucepan; add celery and cook until tender. Substitute ½ cup orange juice for part of water called for on rice package directions for cooking 1 cup rice.

Add juice and water to saucepan. Add Tabasco and orange rind. Bring to a boil; add rice and salt. Cover tightly and cook over low heat according to package directions.

*Orange Sauce

2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
2 cups Florida orange juice
2 tablespoons currant jelly
⅛ teaspoon Tabasco

Mix together cornstarch, sugar, salt, nutmeg and dry mustard in saucepan. Stir in remaining ingredients. Place over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil; boil ½ minute. Yield: Approximately 2 cups sauce.

DUCKLING L'ORANGE — Duckling l'Orange, a translation from the French that has become an American classic, was one of the dishes served at the Florida Citrous Commission brunch on Sunday. The party honored editors attending the 25th annual Newspaper Food Editors Conference in Chicago.

Use Imagination to Vary Puddings

Instant pudding mixes may be made more fanciful with the addition of fruit. A child-pleasing one is Applescotch Pudding.

To make, mix ½ cup cold applesauce with 1 tall can evaporated milk. Add a four-ounce package of instant butterscotch pudding mix and beat slowly until well mixed, about 1 minute. Let stand about 5 minutes to set.

This amount of pudding will serve four to six people.

Pep Up Filling

A little dairy sour cream in the refrigerator? Add it to the mayonnaise you are going to use for a salad or sandwich filling.

GRAPE COOKERY — An addition to the fine tradition of grape cookery — which has long taken advantage of the delicate sauces provided by the little green berries — is Veal Marsala with Grapes. In the background is the perfect dessert accompaniment, Grape Tipsy Pudding.

Crumbs Cut Sweetness

Made With Crackers

Whether it be succulent lobster or a rib roast, when you are planning a dinner that features a rich or substantial main course, you will want to serve a satisfying but light dessert.

Macaroon Meringues

20 double crisp crackers
1¼ teaspoon double acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
4 egg whites, room temperature
1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon almond extract
1 package flaked coconut, 3½ ounces
Nut halves or Maraschino cherries, optional

Crush crackers into fine crumbs between two pieces of waxed paper. Stir baking powder into crumbs, mixing well; set aside.

Sprinkle cream of tartar over egg whites and beat until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in sugar. When mixture holds stiff peaks, beat in almond extract. Gently fold in cracker crumbs and coconut.

Drop by heaping teaspoons, about two inches apart, on greased cookie sheets. Top each with half a cherry or nut, if desired. Bake about 12 minutes in middle of pre-heated, moderately hot oven (375 degrees), or until golden brown. Remove from oven.

Grapes Are Used in Cooking

Everybody likes grapes. But most people think of them as something you put into a fruit bowl — to be trotted out at dessert time, or eaten for a between-meal snack.

But table grapes have a lot more versatility and character than they're generally given credit for.

Actually, there's a long and honorable tradition of grape cookery. These delightful little fruits make wonderful sauces for meat, poultry and fish — a fact that gourmet cooks have always taken advantage of.

For a special party dish — a culinary tour de force with little work — try Veal Marsala With Grapes.

Veal Marsala With Grapes

6 thick veal rib chops
Salt and pepper
½ cup butter
½ cup Marsala wine
3 cups stemmed Thompson Seedless grapes
1 cup (½ pint sour cream)

Sprinkle veal chops with salt and pepper. Brown chops on both sides in hot butter. Add Marsala and 2 cups of the grapes, which have been halved.

Cover and simmer until chops are tender. Add water a small amount at a time to prevent chops from sticking. Remove chops when they are tender, and keep warm on a serving platter.

Press pan drippings through a sieve. Return to pan and stir in sour cream and remaining grapes. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Reheat but do not boil.

Spoon sauce over chops. Serve with noodles. Makes 6 servings.

Just in order not to neglect dessert — the traditional course for grapes to shine at— here's a delightful recipe known as Grape Tipsy Pudding. Serve it as a mouth-watering finale to any meal, whenever you want to make an impression on family or guests.

GRAPE TIPSY PUDDING

2 cups stemmed and halved Thompson Seedless grapes
½ cup sugar
½ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 packages lady fingers
½ cup sherry
2 packages instant vanilla pudding
3½ cups milk
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
Additional halved Thompson Seedless grapes

Cook grapes, sugar and orange juice until grapes are tender. Mix cornstarch with ¼ cup water. Stir quickly into hot grape sauce. Cool and then chill.

Arrange a layer of lady fingers in a glass bowl. Sprinkle lady fingers with some of the sherry.

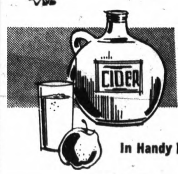

Prepare instant pudding pudding according to package directions, using 3½ cups milk. After pudding thickens, stir again. Spoon a layer of grape sauce over lady fingers and then a layer of vanilla pudding.

Continue layering ending with the pudding. Put halved lady fingers around the edge of the bowl.

Decorate top with whipped cream, sweetened to taste if desired, and Thompson Seedless grapes. Makes 6-8 servings.

Industrial productivity was up less than 1 per cent in the first quarter of 1967 over 1966.

Pulitzer Prize Reporter Recalls News Heyday in Shanghai

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Shanghai, once one of the world's great newspaper towns, has for many years been cut off from the Western world by the Communist government. Relman (Pat) Morin of the Associated Press began a newspaper career in Shanghai that eventually led him to two Pulitzer Prizes. In the following article, he recalls the Shanghai that was — an unbelievably bright jewel in the eyes of a cub reporter.)

By RELMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent

In the last decade before the Pacific war — an era that now seems only a little less remote than the reign of Rameses II — Shanghai undoubtedly was the greatest newspaper town in the world.

It was an international city, of course; in fact, a polyglot nation. Having its own government, courts, militia and tax system, it functioned as a sovereign country on Chinese soil. Shanghai was an enclave of Western domination in China, a political hippogriff.

The erstwhile citizens of perhaps 35 to 40 nations lived there. Since a passport wasn't needed to enter Shanghai, nobody knew for sure. Nobody so much as asked your name, rank or serial number.

Thus, along with the merchant who hoped to make a quick million (which many did), this sui generis city attracted soldiers-of-fortune, counterfeiters, kidnapers, card sharks, gun runners, Communist agents, White Russian refugees from Lenin and the later wave of refugees from Hitler, absconding embezzlers, professional bodyguards — one of the best known of these rejoiced in the name "Two Gun" Cohen—guys fleeing their wives, people of both sexes fleeing themselves.

Such a spectrum made for lively newspapers and Shanghai had some good ones in English and several other languages.

BRIEF STOPOVERS

In those days, an itinerant reporter could leapfrog across the Pacific to China, working on newspapers in Honolulu and then in Manila and/or Tokyo.

He stayed at each stop just long enough to put together the funds for passage on a westbound freighter.

But the city on the mud flats of the Huangp'u River was usually his last stop. The boys seldom came home, willingly at least, from Shanghai.

Alas, my ink-stained brothers, that Shanghai vanished forever when the war came in 1941. Otherwise, I daresay, most of them would be there yet.

IMPRESSIVE SKYLINE

I reached the city in the early 30s and like most new arrivals fell flat on my face with delight over it.

The skyline was not as big as New York's but nonetheless impressive in its own way.

Massive Edwardian buildings lined the Bund, that is, the waterfront. Beyond, you could see glittering hotels, high-rise apartments, theaters, fine restaurants, a racetrack, ladyswinthine Chinese department stores, and the incredible tangle of rickshas, cars, hand-drawn carts, trucks, bicycles, bulling their way through the hordes of pedestrians on Bubbling Well Road. Even the dark and odorous alleys looked exotic, as indeed they were.

By claiming to have been a reporter on the Los Angeles Times, I managed to wangle a job on the Shanghai Evening Post.

A BEIGE LIE

This was what might be called a beige lie. For my experience, in fact, was limited to a little sports writing and some feature pieces written about ports of call in the Far East. However, they gave me a job on rewrite.

The salary, paid in Chinese dollars known as "Mex," came to about $80, American, per month. It never occurred to me that this might be a trifle low; I was enchanted by the city.

The French Concession was like a miniature Paris. The factory district of Yangtsepoo, grim and forbidding, nevertheless was curiously fascinating.

RELMAN MORAN

At night in Hongkew, you could hear a samisen twanging behind the paper doors of a Japanese geisha house.

HAPPY AS A PUPPY

All this cried out to be written and I continually trotted in with another feature story, as happy as a puppy with a ball of yarn.

None of these stories was new, of course. But the managing editor told me to go on writing them, because, he said, "You are seeing this town the way we all did when we first came here. It'll remind the old-timers of their wasted youth."

So I wrote about the complexities of "big" money and "small" money whereby strangers were often gypped and rickshas coolies were short-changed . . . Know why the paws on the iron lions flanking the entrance to the Shanghai Club were always so shiny? Because the Chinese believed that rubbing them made a man more virile and a woman more prolific.

At night, in a thoroughfare aptly known as "Blood Alley," American sailors brawled with soldiers of the Black Watch and they ganged up together against roving bands of M.P.'s or the short patrol.

HUMAN FRAILTY

There was an establishment that catered to many forms of human frailty — absinthe, roulette, poker, fan tan, opium, etc., etc.; unhappily, it was beyond my reach, financially.

An Englishman went to hotel tea dances wearing the robes of a Buddhist monk but when I tried to interview him he talked Zen, or something equally incomprehensible. No story.

In the dance halls, the taxi-dancers were mainly Russian refugees, incredibly beautiful girls, all asserting they had been Princesses and Countesses in better days; nobody believed this of course, but one showed me a convincing family photograph that made a pretty good story.

And so on, world without end.

ABOARD FAMOUS TRAIN

But one of the great Shanghai stories did not come to me. It fell to a colleague who shall be called Larry.

He was aboard a famous train, the Blue Train (called "Shanghai Express" in a movie of that name) when a gaggle of bandits halted it, Wild West fashion, in a lonely part of Shantung Province.

They paid little attention to the second-class passengers. Larry was riding second-class and besides the Chinese know that robbing a reporter wasn't worth the trouble. Chinese bandits were smart and well informed.

But they went through first-class, scooping up all the passengers there. Object — kidnaping for ransom. When they vanished, the train continued on its way.

NAMES ON DOORS

Now, the Blue Train was a luxury train. On the door of each first-class compartment there was a slot with a card identifying the occupant or occupants.

Larry hastened through the cars, copying the names of those who had been kidnaped.

To his immense delight, one card read, "The Manichean Ambassador and Mme. Yogurt." Wow! The envoy of a major power kidnaped for ransom! He could see the black bannerlines. And he had the story all to himself.

As soon as he could reach communications, Larry filed the story. Naturally it was a sensation. When Larry returned to his paper he was the hero of the staff. Until—

NOT IDENTIFIED

Until it became known that the ambassador's wife had been in the Manichean Embassy all the time. History does not identify the ambassador's companion on the train, but it wasn't Mme. Yogurt.

Not long afterward, the ambassador appeared in the newsroom and asked to see Larry. He was carrying a heavy cane and wore a dark and bloody expression.

Somebody thought fast . . . Larry had returned to the States, he said, hired by a New York paper for a fabulous salary. Yes, the others vowed, they had given Larry a big going-away party at the Little Club two nights ago. The crisis passed.

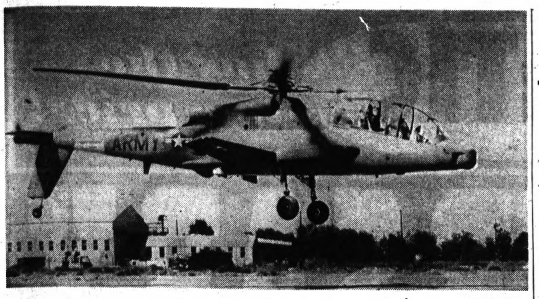

When the city editor heard about it, he was unhappy. But not for the reason you might expect.

'SWELL PHOTO'

"You should have let him whack Larry just once," he growled. "It would've made a swell photo and follow-up story for Page One."

Yes, Shanghai was a great newspaper town and we shall not see its like again.

HIGH-SPEED COPTER — The AH56A armed helicopter, developed by the Lockheed-California Co. for Army use in Vietnam, is shown during its recent first test flight at Van Nuys, Calif. The fixed-wing craft will go 250 miles an hour—nearly twice as fast as armed helicopters now in Vietnam. It is designed to escort troop-carrying helicopters and lay down suppressive fire in combat landing zones.

No Quick Relief Seen

Doctors' Fees Rise Feverishly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors' fees, which have increased spectacularly in the last year, are likely to continue rising sharply, government officials say.

And doctors' incomes—top among professions—are increasing even faster than their fees.

Federal officials express concern about doctor fees and other medical costs. They are encouraging such changes as more group practice by doctors and use of more physician assistants. But they say it will be years before such changes could have a major impact on fees.

OUTLOOK GRIM

The medical-cost outlook for the American public appears grim.

Demand for doctors' services is expected to increase by one-third between 1965 and 1975, according to the so-called Gorham Report on medical costs, submitted to President Johnson earlier this year.

The supply of doctors for the period is expected to increase by only 17 per cent—and not even that much for family doctors.

As the demand for doctors' services runs ahead of the supply of doctors, the report says "this exerts pressure" which leads them to raise fees.

JUMP IN 1965

Doctors' fees increased for years at about the same pace as wages. But in 1966, they jumped 7.8 per cent. And the latest Bureau of Labor Statistics figures show an increase of 8.9 per cent from August 1966 to August this year.

Doctors' income apparently has been rising much faster because they work more and because of medicare. Under medicare, doctors can charge full fees to elderly patients many traditionally had undercharged. The same is true for low-income patients qualifying for the new medicaid program.

Reliable figures on doctors' salaries are scarce. The Bureau of Labor Statistics, admitting its information is sketchy, says the annual income of doctors in private practice in 1966 appeared to be between $20,000 and $27,000 generally.

MEANY SPEAKS OUT

AFL-CIO President George Meany, charging last week "there is no excuse whatsoever for this relentless escalation in physicians' fees," said doctors make $35,000 to $40,000 a year.

Meany said in a letter to Secretary John W. Gardner of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) that medicare is in part responsible for the increases.

Earlier this year, federal officials were saying medicare, which began July 1, 1966, was not responsible for the increase in fees.

Now they're saying it's uncertain whether the new program is involved.

Doctors are paid under medicare on the basis of what they say is their reasonable and customary fee. Several private health officials say this is an open-ended invitation to higher fees.

Meany urged that controls be established to halt the fee escalation.

Bill Adding 7 State Judges Is Introduced

LANSING (AP) — A bill to add three judges to the nine-member State Court of Appeals and to scatter four more Circuit Court judgeships around the state was introduced in the Senate Tuesday.

Sponsored by Judiciary Committee Chairman Robert Richardson, R - Saginaw, the measure would add one judge to each district of the Appeals Court.

Wayne County is one such district. A 16 - county area of southeast Michigan makes up the second and the rest of the state comprises the third.

Richardson's bill would also add one circuit judge each in Berrien, Saginaw and Muskegon counties. Cass and Van Buren counties, now a single circuit with one judge, would each become a circuit with one judge each.

1968 ELECTION

The proposed new judges would be elected in November 1968 and would take office in 1969.

Other Senate bills introduced would add three judges to Detroit Recorder's Court and increase the Wayne County Probate Court bench from six judges to eight.

House Speaker Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, said the Appeals Court bill faces a hostile reception if it gets to the House.

"We don't cotton to it too well," Waldron said.

"If we pass the right kind of court reorganization bill, we may be able to reduce the workload of the Appeals Court," he added. "We think it's better to streamline our court system than to proliferate the number of judgeships."

Open Housing, Tax Issue Tied

LANSING (AP) — Legislative approval of a $55-million package of gasoline and weight tax increases depends on the fate of a state open occupancy law, House Democratic leader William Ryan said Tuesday.

Gov. George Romney put the tax boosts, the so-called "good roads package," on the agenda for the special fall session of the Legislature which began Tuesday. He did not include open housing, but said he might add it later.

Ryan said the two apparently unrelated issues are intertwined because:

—Many Republican legislators say they will not vote for the roads package unless Negro lawmakers from Detroit's inner city vote for it, too.

—The Negroes will be reluctant to "vote to take more money out of the pockets of their constituents" unless they get a state open housing law.

Some Republicans have said privately they are reluctant to vote the new taxes if the Detroiters oppose them because Detroit would get much of the financial benefit from them.

Woman Injured as Auto Flips

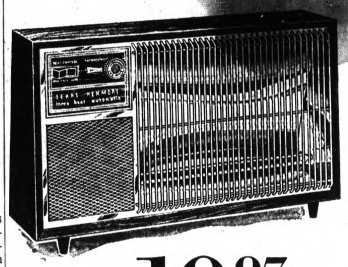

A Mason woman is reported in fair condition in Pontiac General Hospital as the result of an accident yesterday on I-75 in Independence Township.

* * *

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said Lorraine R. Lewis, 21, was injured when the car she was driving ran off the expressway near Baldwin and rolled over about 9 a.m.

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Harold Dugan, who probably hasn't changed in weight since he boxed as a flyweight pro in 1929, says it isn't fair for sports fans to criticize amateur boxing because of the bad image the pro ring has had in recent years.

"Amateur boxing is coming back and it is needed for our youth today," said Dugan.

"No one would eliminate high school or college athletics because of any wrong doing by professionals in a given sport," said Dugan,"so why can't we help the kids with boxing on the amateur level."

A native of Sault Ste. Marie, Dugan came to Pontiac in 1940 and immediately became engaged in local boxing, as promoter, manager, trainer and any other job which had to be done.

GOLDEN GLOVES

Golden Gloves were his big interests and he trained many young glovers to attain recognition in the sport.

Now employed with the county in juvenile services, Dugan wants very much to bring amateur boxing back to Pontiac.

A couple of years ago he reactivated the Golden Gloves locally and also promoted some open programs with reasonable success at the Pontiac Central gym.

"What we need most of all is a building where we can set up a training gym. There are a lot of vacant buildings around which could be put to use," said Dugan.

"We can get the manpower to supervise the gym and there are a lot of interested kids who would use it and take care of it. We would need to sponsor a few local boxing shows to raise funds to operate it," said Dugan, "and we would be very grateful if some local businessman or group could make some facility available to us."

Two years ago, Dugan and "his boys" received help from the Pontiac Police Association and "PAL" (Pontiac Athletic League).

Many professional people, plumbers, carpenters and others helped in setting up a gym on Perry Street for Golden Gloves training, but urban renewal has since deprived him of the facility.

Dugan has the heart and energy to do the job for youth, but has no place to expend them.

Central Runners Go Undefeated in League Meets

Pontiac Central's Chiefs wound up their second straight undefeated cross country season yesterday by downing Bay City Handy and Flint Northern in a triangular match.

In closing the dual meet schedule, the Chiefs (8-0) came in with 19 points, followed by Handy (47) and Northern (71).

Jon Costello set a record with a 10:07 clocking over the Handy course for the Chiefs, who now turn to the Saginaw Valley Conference meet where they'll be looking for their third title in a row. Trailing Costello for the Chiefs were Larry Hurst (2) and Jule Gloomis (3).

In other meets, Waterford downed Clarkston, 15-46, Cranbrook whipped Ecorse, 23-36, West Bloomfield's 27 took Holly (48) and Lake Orion (49) in a triangular outing, while Pontiac Northern finished eighth in the Redford Union Invitational.

Dave Galloway paced the Waterford victory, followed by Butch Fenlon, Bill Martin, Steve Moffat and Tim Martin. Clarkston's Bud Mumbower placed sixth.

Mike Koerner turned in a 9:36 time and teammate Chuck Craig placed second to pace the Cranbrook victory.

Bill Drew sparked the West Bloomfield win with a 10:52 clocking and had help from teammates Bill Schrader (2) and Jim Schnarr (4). Lake Orion's Chuck Reagan was fifth.

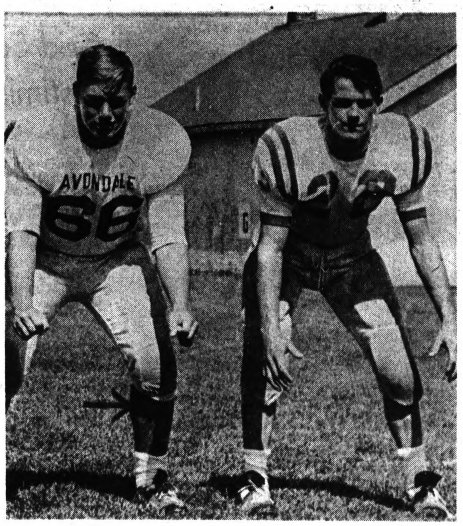

Gene Santos ran ninth for Pontiac Northern at Redford which has won by Hazel Park with 98 points. Hazel Park's Warren Kreuger won the event and Bloomfield Hills Andover's Bruce Evans placed second.

Cowboys' QB Ailing

DALLAS (UPI) — Don Meredith rested in a hospital today, recuperating from a cracked rib suffered in the Dallas Cowboys' 17-14 victory over the Washington Redskins. Teammates hoped he would be ready for the Cowboys' game with New Orleans Sunday.

Grid Famine Plagues Lake Orion

Pontiac Press Photo

TOUGH DEFENDERS — Manning a couple of the linebacker posts for Avondale Friday evening will be Gary Chevalier (left) and Bill Lester. Coach Bob Young gives the two a lot of praise for their play in the Yellow Jackets first four games.

By FLETCHER SPEARS

On the surface, Avondale's game at Lake Orion Friday is a contest between two teams that aren't going anywhere.

But there's much, much more. Below the surface both teams have a slow burn going and both could explode at any time.

"As soon as we win a game . . . watch out!" is the way Lake Orion coach Tom Prieur puts it.

Avondale has a 1-3 record, "But I can see where it could just as well be 3-1," says Coach Bob Young.

Both teams are young. Consequently, both are prone to errors and have trouble in tight ball games.

BOTH HOPEFUL

Going into this one, which brings the season to the halfway mark, Prieur is hopeful the Dragons can pull out a victory. Young is hopeful the Yellow Jackets can come back after a 28-6 loss to Troy last week.

Both teams have a lot of ability, but neighter has been able to put it together consistently.

For Orion, this could be the game of '67. If the Dragons can't pull one out here they may, indeed, have to start thinking of next year.

The victory-starved Dragons need this one. They haven't tasted victory in their last 18 games, and the only bright spot in those games was a 6-6 deadlock in the final game of '66 against Oxford. Their last win? That came in a 13-0 nod over Oxford in the 1964 finale.

Since 1950, Avondale has piled up a 10-6-1 edge in the series with the Dragons, and the Jackets have won four of the last five.

ATTITUDE GREAT

Despite their record, the Dragons come ready to play.

"The attitude is great," says Prieur, "in spite of the losing streak.

"Here's the way we look at it. We have them coming our way . . . if we play good football we could win most of our remaining games. And if they (Dragons) win Friday night, they can do the job the rest of the way."

Prieur credits much of the team and school spirit to the efforts of senior Kathy Smith, one of the candidates for Homecoming queen.

"She's done a tremendous job with the pep club," said Prieur. "The spirit and attitude have picked up 100 per cent since last year."

MOST JUNIORS

The attitude is important and so is having good ball players, and Prieur has several outstanding performers on the 34-man squad, 26 of whom are juniors.

Halfback Corky Groesbeck (5-7, 160) and tackle Dave Schiebel (6-0, 185) are the cocaptains and both are spuring the Dragons this week as they prepare for Homecoming and Avondale.

Quarterback Bill Baker, a junior, continues to improve, and junior Rick Toles leads the team in scoring with four touchdowns.

Along the line, Prieur ticks off the names of tackle Walt Hagelin (5-8, 220) center Dan Eichenberg (5-11, 185), guard George Trim (5-7, 160) and Jim Schippe (5-8, 155) along with tight end Mike Bracken (6-1, 195).

Avondale has lost some tough games. There was that 31-21 job to Milford, a 19-13 loss to Madison sandwiched around a 14-6 win over Romeo, and then last week's misfortune at Troy.

The loss at Troy wasn't as bad as it might seem. "Fumbles hurt us," Young was saying of the Troy game. "We fumbled the first three times we got the ball and they scored twice. You can't give that many points away."

Young wasn't alibiing, merely pointing out that the Jackets have a young team and that young teams make mistakes.

Young, in his first year at Avondale, has a good crop of players and he's particularly high on tackle Duane McLaughlin, a 6-4, 235-pounder.

"He's one of the best players I've ever coached," says Young. "He's big, strong, a terrifically hard worker. He has a lot of desire and he's exceptionally quick for a big man . . . he has that desire to excel."

That sounds like a selling job for young McLaughlin, but opponents have been impressed and several colleges have an eye on him.

Young has a couple of lightweights manning defensive positions in Stewart Fraser (5-8, 135) at safety and Billy Lester (145, 5-9) at linebacker.

Guards Gary Chevalier and Gary Monroe, along with center Gary Patterson and McLaughlin get the job done along the line on offense.

Pontiac Press Photo

DRAGON STARS — Anchoring an improving Lake Orion defensive line Friday evening will be tackle Bruce Eichenberg (left) and end Rick Toles, and both are likely to see a lot of action on offense, also. It'll be Homecoming for the Dragons, and Avondale will provide the opposition.

Rookie Could Make Lonborg Sleep Out

BOSTON (AP) — Jim Lonborg had to wait until the finish of today's sixth World Series game to find out where he'd be sleeping tonight.

There was nothing uncertain, however, about Gary Waslewski's day-before-the-game plans.

Waslewski, a 26-year-old rookie, had a lot to do with Lonborg's sleeping plans as well as being the pitcher who stood between extinction for the Boston Red Sox.

Lonborg, due for the seventh game start against St. Louis, abandons his apartment to sleep in a downtown Boston hotel before an important game.

"I'm pretty sure I'll go back to my hotel. I can't afford not to," Lonborg said when asked about his Wednesday night plans if the Red Sox are able to even the series at three games each.

BETTER ON ROAD

Lonborg started his pre-game hotel visit the night before he pitched Boston's pennant-clinching game against Minnesota. He vacated his apartment for a hotel because he wanted to simulate conditions on the road where he has pitched better this year.

He beat the Twins, then threw a one-hitter against St. Louis after taking the hotel treatment last Wednesday night.

Waslewski, on the other hand, didn't have time for any gimmicks Tuesday. Besides thinking of his assignement against the Cardinals and another rookie hurler, 29-year-old Dick Hughes, the Red Sox right-hander had other chores.

"I have a lot of work to do," Waslewski said as he prepared to run through a light workout Tuesday. "I have to take my wife to the doctor's. She's expecting in three weeks. And we don't have any food in the house.

"We've been away since Thursday. I also have some movies I took of the World Series that I'd like to take in and have processed."

Everyone was processing information about Waslewski after Manager Dick Williams named him as the sixth-game starter.

Waslewski was declared eligible for the series only the day before it began. The Red Sox added him to the roster because Darrell Brandon pulled a muscle, Bill Landis was called by the Army and Sparky Lyle hurt his elbow.

Weather Forecaster Has Series Favorite

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Somewhere in the U. S. Weather Bureau is an obvious St. Louis Cardinals fan.

The Weather Bureau printer at the Associated Press office in Indianapolis Tuesday night dutifully dispersed a "special forecast for the sixth and seventh World Series games."

It gave its prediction for today, then added the "outlook for seventh game on Thursday."

After a short pause came this footnote:

"The above was relayed from the Boston Weather Bureau. The word seventh is an obvious error."

N. Dame's Ara Laughs at Odds

CHICAGO (AP) — Top-ranked Southern California and fifth-ranked Notre Dame don't meet until Saturday in what could be the football game of the year but the Irish already have been guilty of one fumble.

It was committed by Coach Ara Parseghian who literally dropped the telephone Tuesday when he was asked how it felt to be favored by 12 points over the No. 1 team in the nation.

"Get off it," laughed Ara as he went on to relate the merits of both clubs and explain Notre Dame's 51-0 victory over the Trojans last year which sewed up the national title for the Irish.

Usually the oddsmakers and football pollsters are in accord but someone apparently blew it this week in a game which commands the national spotlight.

Southern Cal must win it or make a tremendous effort if the pollsters are to come up smiling.

Notre Dame, on the other hand, has to win rather easily if the oddsmakers are to save face.

Gil Hodges to Pilot New York Mets

BOSTON (AP) — Gil Hodges, one of baseball's most powerful sluggers with the old Brooklyn Dodges, was named manage of the New York Mets today.

Hodges, manager of the Washington Senators since 1963, reportedly was offered what Shirely Povich, sports editor of the Washington Post, termed "probably the richest managerial contract in all of baseball history."

New York Manager Wes Westrum resigned the last week of the season and the Mets asked the Senators for permission to talk with the former Dodger star this week.

Hodges had a year left in his Washington contract. He took over the Senators in May of 1963 and the club finished last that year, ninth in 1964 and eighth in the 1965 and 1966. This year, however, the Senators surprised the American League by finishing in a tie for sixth place.

Hodges, 43, finished his playing career with the Mets after playing 15 years for the Dodgers in Brooklyn and Los Angeles. He had a career batting average of .273 and hit 370 home runs, knocking in more than 100 runs in seven straight seasons.

His best year was 1954 when he hit .304 and had 42 home runs and drove in 130 runs. He played in seven World Series and was considered one of the best defensive first basement in baseball. He also played in left field on occasions.

FOUR HOMERS

Hodges best day came on Aug. 31, 1950, when he tied a major league record by hitting four home runs in a single game. Hodges owns a bowling alley in Brooklyn, N. Y., and it has been known that he wants to return to his home area.

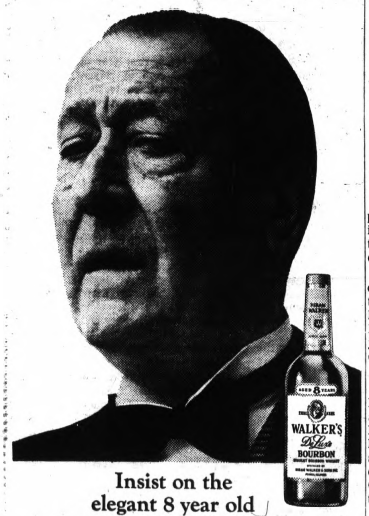

Last week Atlanta named Luman Harris to manage the Braves, replacing Billy Hitchcock, who was fired before the end of the season.

Expanded NHL Debuts Today

By the Associated Press

The most ambitious expansion program in sports history gets its first go-round tonight when the National Hockey League opens its 51st season.

Five games are on tap, three of them involving expansion teams which have doubled the NHL's size from six to 12 clubs. It marks the first time any major sport has doubled its size in one year.

Among the new teams, only Los Angeles is idle tonight. Philadelphia plays at California, Minnesota is at St. Louis and Montreal helps Pittsburgh get started. In games matching older teams, New York plays at Chicago and Detroit is at Boston.

Philadelphia opens as co-favorites in the NHL's new division with California. The Flyers, couched by Keith Atler, have ex-Boston goalie Bernie Parent and a defense built around youngsters Joe Watson, acquired from Boston, and Ed Van Impe from Chicago.

FORMER CANADIEN

California has Charlie Hodge, formerly of Montreal, in goal and a pair of ex-Toronto players, Kent Douglas and Bobby Baun, heading the defense. Bert Olmstead is the Seals' coach.

St. Louis, coached by Lynn Patrick, grabbed the biggest name in the expansion draft when it claimed goalie Glenn Hall from Chicago, but the Blues won't have Hall in the nets tonight. He's suffering from a severe reaction to a tetanus injection and will miss the opener with three other regulars, Don McKenney, Ron Schock, and Ron Stewart.

Minnesota has veteran Jean Guy Talbot, drafted from Montreal, heading the defense and goalie Cesare Maniago, picked up from New York, probably will start in the nets. The North Stars have also lured ex-Chicago defenseman Elmer Vasko out of retirement and he's expected to play regularly too. Wren Blair is the North Stars' coach.

Pittsburgh will open with a host of ex-New York players including forwards Andy Bathgate, Earl Ingarfield, and defensemen Al McNeil and Noel Price. It's no accident that the coach is also an ex-Ranger, Red Sullivan.

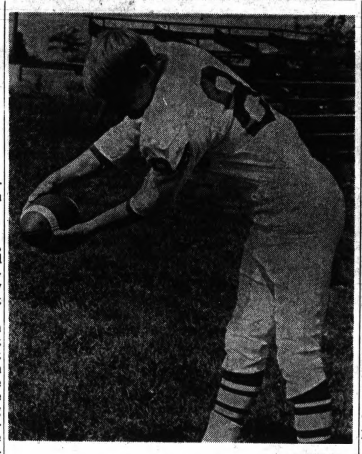

Montreal, with Toe Blake back as coach, has almost the same team which reached the Stanley Cup finals last season. The Canadiens are led by Jean Beliveau, whose next goal will be his 400th.

Detroit Coach Sid Abel is looking for a comeback by goalie Roger Crozier to lead the Red Wings back into the playoffs. They finished fifth last season, only the third time in the last 25 seasons that they missed the playoffs. Gordie Howe, the NHL's alltime leading scorer starts his 22nd season, also a record.

Boston has a host of new faces, including rambunctious Eddie Shack, picked up in a trade with Toronto, and three ex-Black Hawks, Phil Esposito, who was Bobby Hull's center last year, Fred Stanfield and Ken Hodge. Coach Harry Sinden will open with Gerry Cheevers in goal.

Chicago, which won its first regular season title ever last year under Coach Billy Reay, will open with young Dave Dryden in goal instead of regular Denis DeJordy, who is a holdout. The Black Hawks, of course, still have Hull, considered by many to be hockey's ultimate weapon.

ROUGH BRONCO — End Mike Tubbs has been one of the sparks in Holly's attack this season and the senior Bronco will be trying to give West Bloomfield some problems when the two teams collide Friday on the Holly field.

Wolverines Grid Squad Optimistic

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan Wolverines are looking forward to their 500th football victory, and have a good chance to get it Saturday, said coach Bump Elliott after a hard - hitting 2½-hour practice Tuesday.

But whether the Wolverines will be able to stymie fleet-footed Michigan State University quarterback Jimmy Raye is another question.

"This is always something where you know it's going to be a tough ballgame," Elliott said after the full equipment drill. "But I think we have a good chance."

NO CHANGES

The Wolverines have been trying for elusive No. 500 since winning their 499th game the first time they played this season. Since then, they have lost twice.

No team outside the Ivy League has won more than 500 games.

Elliott said he planned no lineup changes. "We're still planning what's best for use against State," he said.

One possible change in the lineup could be the inclusion of sophomore Mike Hankwitz as a linebacker. Regular starter Bob Wedge injured an ankle Sunday and may not be ready to play against the Spartans.

Hankwitz has been used primarily as a place-kicker.

But the biggest open question remained Spartan quarterback Raye.

"We must contain the wide game against State," says Y. C. McNease, defensive backfield coach. "The quarterback options will be our biggest problems."

Duffy Foresees Heated Game

'Need More Passing,' Says MSU Coach

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State football Coach Duffy Daugherty predicts a heated battle between two hot-and-cold teams when his Spartans take on Michigan's Wolverines Saturday.

"It's always a tough, hard-fought ball game," Duffy said. "I think it'll be another typical Michigan-Michigan State game.

Michigan "is a team that's a lot like us," he said. "They've played very well at times, just as we have on occasion, and neither of us has shown great consistency."

Duffy said Bump Elliott's Wolverines "have had real tough luck in the last quarter of a couple of their games. They could be undefeated right now."

Michigan is 1-2 so far this season. So is Michigan State.

"We've got to pass more effectively," Daughtery said. "I think we're throwing the ball enough. I just don't think we're completing enough."

Michigan State has completed 24 of 57 passes, or 42 per cent, in three games this year. No. 1 quarterback Jimmy Raye is 18 for 46, or 39 per cent. Raye's completions averaged just under 14 yards.

Raye "has been throwing the ball accurately," Daugherty said, "But I think sometimes we wait too long to throw.

"On some of these pass patterns," he added, "Your receiver is wide open for a while and then he gets covered. You've got to throw the ball while he's open.

"We've got to have a greater threat in our passing game to keep the pressure off our runners," Daugherty said.

In Rushing Race

USC Runner Leading

NEW YORK (AP) — O. J. Simpson of top-ranked Southern California holds a 45-yard lead in rushing over Eugene Morris of West Texas State, the latest major college football statistics disclosed Tuesday.

Simpson, a junior halfback, has gined 602 yards to Morris' 557, according to the figures compiled by National Collegiate Sports Services.

Bob Coble of Kansas State is the punting leader with a 45.7-yard average for 23 punts.

Boston Facing Elimination

Bosox Depend on Waslewski

"It's hard to believe," Waslewski said about the turn of events. "I've been in the big leagues only half a season, and here I'm starting a game."

Waslewski already has seen action in the series. He came on in relief last Saturday and pitched three perfect innings.

Drafted from the Pittsburgh organization in 1965, Waslewski started this season at Toronto of the International League, was called up by the Red Sox June 6, sent back to Toronto Aug. 1 and brought up again Sept. 6.

He posted a 5-6 record in the minors and a 2-2 mark in the majors. He also picked up tendenitis, a bad back and a sore elbow to go with his heart murmur, a collapsed lung he had in 1964 and rheumatic fever he had as a child.

ANOTHER PROBLEM

He also had a problem last season at Toronto where Williams was his manager.

* * *

"He'd get ahead of a batter and throw this slow curve up there instead of challenging him," Williams recalled. "I finally told him to forget the flop curve, to stop experimenting and throw the ball. He didn't use it as much after that."

Somehow Waslewski has survived both pitching problems and physical problems to reach the status he holds today.

Dick Hughes, his opponent, has survived nine seasons and 12 teams in the minor leagues to get where he is.

A 16-game winner during the season, the bespectacled Hughes started the second game against Lonborg and didn't pitch too poorly. But there aren't too many pitchers who beat an opponent who throws a one-hitter.

"I din't have my real good stuff last time," the right-hander said. "But I've had a lot of rest, and I think I have a better idea on the hitters than I did before."

* * *

If a seventh game is necessary, Schoendienst plans to send Bob Gibson against Lonborg. Each has won two games, Gibson the first and the fourth and Lonborg the second and fifth. Gibson will have had three days rest, Lonborg two.

"I don't care how much rest I'll have," Lonborg said. "I'll have all winter to rest."

At least he'll be able to do it in his apartment.

Jets' Offense Still Most Potent in AFL

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Jets retained their lead as the No. 1 team in passing and total offense in the American Football League last week. The Kansas City Chiefs also stayed on top in rushing offense.

The weekly statistics released Tuesday by the AFL show the Jets with an average net gain of 386 total yards and an average of 276 yards in passing. Kansas City's average in rushing is 150 yards.

Oakland, beaten by the Jets 17-14 last Saturday, remained the leader in total defense and passing defense. The Raiders have yielded an average of 197 yards per game over-all and an average of 108 yards in passing.

Boston became the No. 1 team defensively on the ground. The Patriots have yielded an average of 77 yards to 89 for Oakland.

GRAY DAY FOR GRIDDERS—Not only did the Wisconsin State College junior varsity gridders get soaked by a downpour while being drubbed, 26-13, at Albert Lea, Minn., last Saturday, the team bus became mired in the parking lot and the losers had to push the bus out onto the road after the game in order to return to LaCrosse, Wis.

Bronco Coach Smiling

Kent State at WMU 11

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—You don't need an analyst to figure out why Western Michigan Coach Bill Doolittle smiles all the time.

Western happens to be a member of the Mid-American Conference and Doolittle's Broncos have the uncanny knack of knocking off MAC opponents.

Take last year. Doolittle has said all along his Broncos were lucky in gaining a co-championship with Miami. Both posted 5-1 records.

Take this year. Western dropped Miami in the opener, 24-14, got clobbered on successive weekends by Arkansas State and Brigham Young and it looked like the bubble had burst.

STILL SMILING

Doolittle brought his team into Bowling Green last Saturday. His troops allegedly were battered, bewildered and bruised. Doolittle left Bowling Green still smiling—after the Broncos toppled the Falcons 10-6. That put the Michigan school atop the heap with a perfect 2-0 mark.

Now the popular Western coach will be out to continue his strange shenanigans in a home encounter Saturday against Kent State, obviously the most up-and-down team in the league.

If Coach Leo Strang has a puzzled expression on his face, you can understand why. The Golden Flashes 10 days ago toppled Ohio University from the ranks of the unbeaten with a key 21-14 triumph. And Kent did it impressively, playing in the tube to a Midwest regional audience.

On paper, at least, an expert would figure that Kent should have been ready to take Miami apart, particularly after the Redskins were stunned by lightly-regarded Xavier, 7-6. Coach Bo Schembechler's team had other ideas, springing a 21-7 upset.

NEEDS VICTORY

So now Strang takes his bewildered band of flashes to Kalamazoo and Kent needs a victory to stay alive. But can they erase Doolittle's smile?

After Saturday's games, the MAC scramble could be knotted in a five-way deadlock.

Toledo (1-1) goes to Bowling Green (0-1) Kent (1-1) visits Western (2-0) and Marshall (0-2) journeys to Miami (1-1).

Should Toledo, Kent and Miami prevail, the top five would be tied with identical 2-1 records, including Ohio, which entertains William & Mary after an impressive 30-15 triumph over Kansas of the Big Eight.

At this stage, it appears coach Bill Hess' Bobcats are the class of the league, but do they want to win a title badly enough?

Confused? Check your analyst.

Northwood Standout Moves Into Top Spot

By the Associated Press

A four-touchdown weekend elevated Northwood's Bill Davidson to the top of the list of scorers in Michigan college football this week.

Carrying 20 times to gather 165 of Northwood's 253 rushing yards in a 45-24 victory over Ohio Northern Saturday, Davidson scored on runs of 2, 2, 6 and 28 yards.

A. J. Vaughn, Wayne State quarterback, exploded for six touchdowns over the weekend to vault into third place among scorers, with Craig Tefft, who got three touchdowns for Central Michigan Saturday, taking the No. 4 spot.

Snead has hit on 65 passes in 107 attempts for 1,019 yards and eight TDs.

In rushing, Leroy Kelly of Cleveland maintained his No. 1 position with 342 yards in 69 attempts. St. Louis' Johnny Roland ranks second with 322 yards.

The Giants lead in offense and the Green Bay Packers are tops in defense.

Safety Keeps Touch League Deadlocked

A fourth-quarter mixup gave Tyson's Tigers a crucial safety and an 8-6 victory over Ron's Roost to remain tied Tuesday for first place in the city men's recreation touch football league.

Trailing 6-0 on a Bill Hayward-to-Larry Hayward pass for a 53-yard touchdown, the Tigers knotted the score on Larry Edwards' six-yard aerial to Bill Spain.

Then early in the final period, Lou Rogers caught Bill Hayward in the end zone when a penalty call confused the passer.

Earlier, Chuck Graves tossed scoring passes of six yard (to Don Kah and Tom Dabb) and 22 yards (to Kah), and Dick Perillo added a safety as Sashaw Products blanked winless Seagram's Seven, 20-0, on the Northside Park gridiron.

The Sashabaw team shares first place with Tyson's.

76ers Still Lack Wilt's Signature

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (UPI) — The Philadelphia 76ers hoped today that their superstar Wilt Chamberlain would join the team here like he did last year.

But the club emphasized that the 7-foot-1 center had not yet signed a contract. It was reported that Wilt was ready to sign a contract for $250,000, double his last year's salary and a new high for an American sports star.

"I hear there's a good possibility that he will join the team here like he did last year for the final exhibition game of the season," a club spokesman said. "But we haven't heard from him and we don't know where he is. He hasn't signed his contract yet."

Officials of the National Basketball Association champion club kept an all-day vigil at their Philadelphia offices on Tuesday hoping that the towering center would steep through the threshhold. But he never appeared.

Memphis Okays Campus' Plea for Goal Post

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — It didn't take a lot of muscle for Memphis State University to get the goal post — just a petition.

The City Commission agreed Tuesday to let the university have the goal post from the south end of Memorial Stadium.

Students, alumni and faculty members had petitioned the commission for the goal post as a memento of the Tigers' 27-17 football win over Mississippi Sept. 23. It was the first time in 23 tries that Memphis State had beaten the Rebels.

I Bet You Didn't Know

By John Carter

What was the strongest World Series ever played? . . . How about the one in 1960? . . . Did you know in that Series the Yankees scored 55 runs and the Pirates only 27, yet the Pirates won the series four games to three!

Did you ever realize that the distance just once around the bases in baseball is LONGER than the distance from one end of a football field to the other . . . In baseball, it's 90 feet between each base; and if so if a player started at home plate and traveled around the bases once and back to home, he would have gone 360 feet or 120 yards — or, 20 yards more than if he had gone from one goal line to the other in football.

Here's a football oddity . . . Don Hutson kicked 3 field goals in the entire 1943 season in the National Football League — and wound up leading the league in most field goals! . . . Today, you sometime see a player kick that many in one game . . . But in 1943, no one was able to kick more than 3 all year.

• • •

I bet you didn't know . . . that our snow tires are pounds heavier, thousands of miles better, and cost no more. No cheapies here, but rugged, long wearing treads that won't let you down when the going gets rough.

Heavy Cover Bothers U.P. 'Pat' Hunters

Plenty of Grouse Heard; Waterfowl Opener Rated Good

Grouse hunters returning from the eastern end of the Upper Peninsula report plenty of birds, but not too much success because of heavy foliage.

"If we could have seen all that we flushed down in the swamps we would have done much better," reported Elmer Seelbinder of Ortonville.

He bagged four 'pats' and one sharptail while being restricted because of rain. He was hunting north of Newberry and his comment on the cover was typical.

Other gunners report numerous sound flushes, but it will be another week before the leaves are down.

Pat hunting in the northern Lower Peninsula has been spotty with hunters bucking the same problem — too much foliage on the trees and bushes. Archers are having trouble seeing deer for the same reason. Numerous sightings were reported in the Houghton Lake area, particularly around the Deadstream Swamp.

The opening of the duck season Monday went just about as predicted. There were more local ducks than a year ago and more hunters on hand to greet them.

In addition, weather conditions the first two days were good with strong northwest winds pushing ducks and geese into the marshes at Saginaw Bay and keeping the ducks from retreating to the Canadian side of Lake St. Clair.

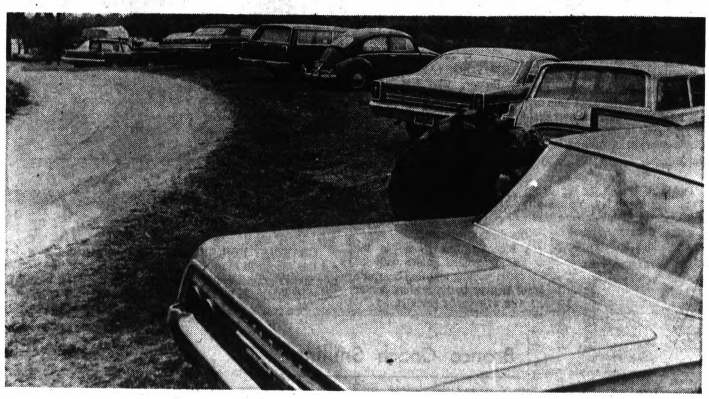

Gunners working Oakland County waters found more mallards than in 1966 and the harvest improved. Goose shooting also was better with Pontiac Lake and the Holly area the hot spots.

BONUS FOWL

Hunters ran into a goose bonanza at Saginaw Bay's Fish Point. Down in previous years, the goose flock was estimated at over 5,000 for the opener.

"Many limits of geese and ducks were taken around Fish Point," said law Supervisor Cyril Adams of the Imlay City district conservation office.

"The high winds kept ducks and hunters off the bay and both congregated at Fish Point with excellent results for the hunters. A lot of mallards were taken."

Pontiac Press Photo

WATERFOWLERS CONVENE — The heaviest concentration of hunters for Monday's opening of the duck season was at Pontiac Lake. The parking lot off Gale Road next to the marsh at the west end of the lake had 21 cars in it at 1 p.m. Other hunters parked along the road and walked into the lake.

Shots Rain on Marsh

Trap Sprung at Pontiac Lake

By DON VOGEL

The trap was set by 10:30 a.m. It was sprung 27 minutes later with a barrage that sounded like a pitched battle in a Viet Nam rice paddy.

Only this time the "paddy" was the marsh at the west end of Pontiac Lake. The barrage of gunfire was from about 75 hunters who were waiting in ambush for the unsuspecting ducks that had been settling among the decoys placed a good hour before Monday's 11 a.m. shooting hour.

It's true the firing commenced a little early, but no conservation officer was about to venture forth into the rain of shot that poured over the marsh for the first 15 minutes to issue a ticket.

Mallards, teal and woodies were caught in the cross fire.

Adult ducks that had survived at least one season scrambled and zig-zagged their way out in a hurry. Several didn't make it.

Young ducks, however, became confused and continued to fly around the marsh, easily within range of many shotguns. If the marksmanship had been any good, the toll would have been heavy.

Poor shooting was the order of the day and even the slow flying coots flushed by the opening volley were missed time after time by gunners who mistook them for ducks.

About 70 coots were on the marsh and they all took to the air. Many landed in brush along the shore and several were seen scurrying over hill and dale on foot to the sanctuary of nearby swales.

STARTED TO LEAVE

Hunters with decoys began pulling out about shortly after noon, but others were ready to take their place. Boats moving about the marsh and in open water, some with motors running, didn't deter the ducks.

Singles and pairs kept trying to get into the marsh. Most came from the west. The skybusters, those hunters who fire as soon as they see a speck in the key, went into action about 1 p.m.

Hunters on the marsh implored, in loud voices, to "let them come down." The reply was more volleying at ducks well over 100 yards in the air.

And so it went for the remainder of the afternoon. Hunters would come and go, but the number on the marsh seldom dropped below 50.

The total went back up to around 75 when factory workers got off work and joined the hunt.

At about 6 p.m. the geese started chiming in. The big Canada honkers came over the marsh at tree top level and were met by heavy anti-aircraft fire. At least 14 were downed from the six waves that flew over.

In between, ducks tried to move into the area for the night. They, too, were greeted by heavy shotgun flack. This continued until slightly after the sunset closing hour.

It was a typical opening day on Pontiac Lake.

Deer Permit Drawing Slated for Saturday

With nearly 300,000 applications for special hunting permits, "everybody available" in the State Conservation Department sorted antlerless deer and turkey hunting applications last week.

Following the Oct. 2 mailing deadline for deer applications, "huge piles" of the forms were stacking up in the administration services division, according to Henry Nichols.

Last year about 277,000 applications for antlerless deer permits were submitted and this year's pile looks no smaller.

Nichols said they probably will be counted this week, and the drawing is scheduled for next Saturday, because nearly all areas are expected to be oversubscribed as usual.

For the whole state, 187,385 permits are authorized, leaving about 100,000 applicants disappointed.

"We expect to start mailing permits Oct. 23 and 'so-sorry' notices the 24th, so everybody should know by the 28th whether or not he gets a permit, "if all goes well," Nichols said.

Last year, a breakdown in the sorting machine and damaged application forms delayed notices several days.

OVERSUBSCRIBED

Added to the stack of deer permits were 10,860 applications for permits to hunt turkeys in the special season Nov. 3-11 in the Mio, Baldwin and Beaver Island areas.

Allegan is excluded this year, because of an apparently poor nesting.

Conservation Director Lauds Work of Titus

"This man, through his words and far-sighted actions, was a prime mover in pioneering Michigan's Conservation movement into an era of dynamic progress and enlightment."

This tribute by Ralph A. MacMullan, director of the Conservation Department, was paid to Harold Titus who died Monday at his Traverse City home.

Service was today for the 79-year-old conservation editor of Field and Stream magazine who helped organize the Izaac Walton League in America and was a former member of the Michigan Conservation Commission.

"He leaves to this state a philosophy of wise natural resourse management that is timeless in shaping a wide spate of benefits for generations to come," said MacMullan.

"He was Michigan's sage of conservation."

Bow Hunters Score on Deer Near Posen

Two area bow hunters bagged deer last week while hunting near Posen.

Jerry Shook, 9409 Cherrywood, Clarkston downed a six-point buck Friday. It was the second deer taken with a bow by the Pontiac Motor employee.

A doe taken Wednesday by Bob Albright, 10025 King, Davisburg, was the first deer killed by the GMC employee as an archer.

Although numerous deer are being sighted on state land in the Holly area, very few bow hunters have been observed by Conservation officers.

Stag Dinner Slated

The annual stag dinner of Michigan Ducks Unlimited will be next Tuesday in Detroit's Sheraton-Cadillac hotel at 6 p.m. Featured will be a display and auction of waterfowl paintings.

PAC Members to Hear 'Story'

Jim Hallauer will present The Michigan Audubon Story Thursday at the monthly meeting of the Pontiac Audubon Club in All Saints Episcopal church at 7:30 p.m.

PAC also has been notified that it will host the annual meeting of the Michigan Audubon Society Jan. 27, 1968.

NATO Moving Political Headquarters

PARIS (AP) — North Atlantic Treaty Organization officials are closing down NATO's political headquarters here, widening the distance between France and her allies.

Movers have started crating and carrying 140 tons of documents and the office furniture to NATO's new home in Brussels.

Scheduled for completion Oct. 22, the move will reunite the political directorate with NATO's military headquarters, installed in Belgium since April because President Charles de Gaulle expelled allied troops and commands.

Allied foreign ministers decided last December to transfer the civilian headquarters.

COST OF TRANSFER

The cost of the transfer, to be shared by all 15 NATO members, is estimated at $14 million—$8.5 million for new quarters in Brussels, and $5.5 million for direct moving expenses and severance pay for 350 staff members, mostly French, who will not follow NATO to Belgium. A French company, which won the job by bid, is moving the documents and furniture.

The French government is negotiating to buy the headquarters building, completed in 1959 at a cost of $11 million. NATO's secretariat is said to be asking $20 million with the French offering "considerably less." The matter may go to arbitration.

France retains a tie with the Atlantic alliance as a signatory of the April 4, 1949 North Atlantic Treaty, pledging mutual aid as each party "deems necessary" if a member is attacked. In 1969 any member can renounce the treaty and withdraw on a year's notice.

Though Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville has said France has not decided to renounce the treaty, many political observers feel de Gaulle will complete the process he has begun, and withdraw.

Tests indicate that a new group of antibiotics will be effective for as long as eight weeks instead of only two days.

Opening lead—♥ K

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Board six of the world match gave Italy a two International Match Point profit when both sides played one no trump contracts.

JACOBY

The Italian declarer made two overtricks; the American barely made his contract. Board seven gave Italy two more IMPs but you be the judge whether they deserved them.

Kehela and Murray bid the fine six diamond contract which was a laydown. Sammy won the heart lead and went after trumps.

Once he had pulled trumps he was able to discard three of his spades on dummy's ace-king-queen of clubs.

The bidding in the box shows how Italy reached the very inferior contract of six spades.

Norman Kay could have beaten this slam had he opened his singleton diamond but, year in and year out, this type of play leads to the poorhouse, and not to success. He opened his king of hearts.

D'Alelio still needed a spade break and a successful guess as to the location of the queen but he was equal to the occasion, as he was throughout the whole match.

He led a low spade and finessed dummy's ten. Then he cashed dummy's ace, discarded his small heart on the ace of clubs, drew the last trump and conceded a trick to the ace of diamonds.

Probably his decision to play Kay for the queen of spades was based on the fact that Norman had overcalled or maybe d'Alelio was just using a crystal ball.

But we feel that if Norman had not stuck in his overcall, Italy would have reached the correct six diamond contract.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
		1 ♠	Dble
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♦
2 ♠	Pass	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ 2 ♥ K Q 10 8 ♦ A Q J 5 4 ♣ K 6 5

What do you do now?

A—Pass. You have doubled and bid. A further bid may get you into trouble.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of passing your partner bids three diamonds over West's two spades. East bids three spades. What do you do now?

Shopkeepers Fight to Stay Psychedelic

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Four shopkeepers are fighting City Hall to keep the psychedelic decorations they painted on their storefronts. Municipal officials want the decorations removed and hundreds of businessmen are up in arms about it.

The shop owners applied the psychedelic paint to attract teen-aged customers. Along with the teen-agers came Copenhagen's Fourth Office, in charge or preserving the appearance of the old city.

The Fourth Office referred the shopkeepers to an old statute that says, "If architectural consideration require it can be demanded that the outward appearance of a building is maintained as it is."

The retailers called in their lawyers but city officials warned that if the decorations aren't removed quickly, fines will be imposed.

"Apparently the people in City Hall are victims of some conformism," businessman Jorgen Norgaard said. "This is an unhappy form of regimentation from above."

The newspaper Politiken commented that "it is screamingly psychotic to go to war" against shopkeepers. It said the "sour ideology of conservatism reigns at City Hall.

ENCOURAGEMENT FROM VEEP — Vice President Hubert Humphrey puts a fatherly arm around pretty blonde Paula Balberchak, 20, as she sought words in presenting a hard hat to the vice president yesterday at the Lockheed plant in Sunnyvale, Calif. The vice president addressed an estimated 12,000 employes at the plant during his tour of the aerospace firm.

4 Fined for Crossing ABC Picket Lines

NEW YORK (AP) — The AFL-CIO American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA) has levied fines totaling $48,000 on four of its members for crossing picket lines of the striking technicians' union and appearing on television here for the American Broadcasting Co.

AFTRA had ordered its members not to cross picket lines of the AFL-CIO National Association of Broadcast Employes and Technicians (NABET), which has been on strike against the ABC television and radio networks since Sept. 22 in a contract dispute.

The four men fined are among numerous performers, announcers, newscasters and disc jockeys who have individual contracts with ABC. The company contends these contracts take precedence over the employes' obligations to their union.

The fines were made public yesterday, a few hours before NABET announced that its members employed by the National Broadcasting Co. had voted by mail, almost 2-to-1, to approve a new three-year contract with NBC.

The contract was worked out by negotiators recently without a strike. It increases the average weekly basic pay from $218 to $260 by next October and reduces the work week from 40 to 37½ hours starting next year.

DISCIPLINARY ACTION

The 18,000-member AFTRA said that in addition to fining the four local television men, it was considering disciplinary action against several other members for crossing NABET picket lines.

The fines leevied were: Jimmy Breslin, commentator, $10,600; Tex Antoine, weatherman, $14,000; Bill Beutel, newscaster, $12,000, and John Schubeck, newscaster, $11,400.

Ted Fights Sub to Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., says a southern senator's substitute proposal would water down a House-passed bill designed to protect persons exercising their civil rights.

Kennedy said he would fight the substitute measure, sponsored by Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., when it comes before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The Senate constitutional rights subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee voted 5 to 1 for Ervin's proposal Tuesday.

The House bill, part of President Johnson's civil rights legislative program, would impose federal criminal penalties for injuring or intimidating a person because he is exercising specifically enumerated rights and because of his race, color, religion, national origin or political affiliation.

Ervin's substitute would eliminate any requirement for showing that racial or other discrimination was involved. Just using violence or threats of violence to interfere with anyone's exer-rights would be a federal crime.

Soviet Consumer to Get Priority for the First Time

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government is giving the consumer priority in 1968 for the first time.

Deputy Premier Nikolai K. Baibakov, chairman of the state planning committee, told the Soviet Parliament Tuesday that output of consumer goods next year would increase 8.6 per cent while production of heavy industry would increase 7.9 per cent.

It will be the first time that the growth rate, one of the chief priority indices in Communist economies, has been higher for consumer goods than for heavy industry.

National income is planned to rise 6.8 per cent next year, less than half the 15 per cent rate of increase in defense spending to aid North Vietnam and reequip Arab armies. But an increase of 6.8 per cent in the national income means some 25 billion rubles, or 11 times as much as the defense increase of 2.2 billion rubles.

The ruble is valued officially at $1.11.

The emphasis is on the rising living standard from the national income growth. Ever since Joseph Stalin started industrialization, it has been the other way, machine tools being more important than shoes.

The people were told that 6 billion rubles is going to be spent on higher wages and special payments in the far north next year.

Much of this will go to pulling up the minimum monthly pay from 40 rubles to 60 rubles.

Slide Is Continued

Stock Mart Continues Lower

NEW YORK (AP — The stock market continued lower early this afternoon. Trading was active.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 3.88 at 922.73.

The market was lower from the start in a resumption of Tuesday's slide.

The lower prices level at the end of the first half hour remained roughly the same as the morning ended. No particular selling pressure was evident although the ticker tape lagged briefly at the start.

Losses outnumbered gains at a ratio of about two to one.

Rails continued to give ground but at a much lesser degree than on Tuesday.

Weakness in the rails was cited as one reason for Tuesday's sharp setback. Concern over the weak bond market and rising interest rates as well as the taking of profits by large investment funds were cited as among reasons for the current market decline.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .8 at 333.9 with industrials off 1.4, rails off .2 and utilities off .2.

Ling-Temco-Vought, off 6, was a very active loser. The company said it plans an offering of 600,000 shares of its stock.

Prices were generally lower on the American Stock Exchange. Fractional losses were taken by Federal Resources, Great Basins Petroleum, Reeves Industries, Rusco Industries, Brazilian Traction and Canadian Export Gas & Oil. Gulf States Land advanced more than a point. Fractional gains were made by Dynalectron, AMK Corp. and Equity Corp.

The foregoing is a statement of the accounts of Oakland Schools for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1967. Expenditures reflect the activities of the district in providing special education for handicapped children, for operating a speech clinic, a reading clinic, a psychological center, and a vocational rehabilitation center. It afforded highly qualified professional attention to the academic areas of reading, language, arts, mathematics, science, the social studies, and as well dealt with guidance, and most extensively, with educational testing. Operations in the year to come will continue to give emphasis to these fields and their excellent, orderly development throughout the district.

TRAVELING CONGRESSMAN—Apt to drop in anytime on constituents in his sprawling 21st district in Southern Illinois is Congressman Kenneth J. Gray, this country's only helicoptering congressman. Only two other districts among the nation's 435 are larger than Gray's 22-county constituency. Since 5,000 persons in his district chipped in to help him buy a four-place Bell Model 47J-2A, which he later traded for a faster, turbine-powdered model, he can reach any point in the district in less than a half-hour. With the heli-hopping congressman is (bottom, left) George Sampson of the Washington-Baltimore Helicopter Airways, who gave him his helicopter instruction.

Retract or I'll Sue, Mackie Tells Romney

LANSING (AP) — Former State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie has threatened to sue Gov. George Romney for what Mackie termed Romney's "irresponsible, malicious statements about him.

Mackie, now head of a Virginia engineering firm, wrote Romney that, "Unless a public retraction and apology are forthcoming from you, I will have no recourse but to seek legal remedies as a private citizen."

Romney aide Jack Vandenberg said the letter had arrived at the governor's office. He added Romney had no comment on it.

Romney has called for an Ingham County grand jury to investigate the State Highway Department, and has indicated he wants the probe to center on Mackie's administration of it.

Mackie was elected highway commissioner in 1957 and re-elected in 1961. He resigned to run successfully for Congress in 1964 and was defeated in the 1966 congressional election.

Household 'Bottle' Is Valuable Antique

LONDON (UPI) — It was just a pretty little bottle that had been around the house as long as anyone could remember, until antique porcelain expert Anthony du Boulay spotted it in the Yorkshire country home.

He told the owner — unidentified — that he had something, and he did. It was a 15th century Ming flask, one of only three known to exist in the world.

House Honors Hero, Lobbyist

Airman From Beecher, Romney Aide Cited

LANSING (AP) — A Vietnam hero and a woman lobbyist were honored by the House of Representatives Tuesday as the Legislature's 1967 special session began.

The hero was 19-year-old Airman 1.C. Duane D. Hackney of Beecher, described in a unanimous House resolution of tribute as the most decorated person serving in Southeast Asia.

The lobbyist, Lucille Kapplinger, an aide to Gov. George Romney, works with lawmakers to help Romney bills through the Legislature.

Miss Kapplinger is leaving Nov. 4 to marry John S. Fligsteel of Blind River, Ont.

'NEW LIAISON'

The resolution said the Legislature "is reluctant to release her even to such a good neighbor as Canada, but recognizes thereby a new liaison for international good will."

Hackney, in uniform and with a chest full of medals, received a standing ovation from the House and Senate and a copy of the resolution passed in his honor.

The resolution lists him as holder of the Air Force Cross, Silver Star, Bronze Star, Distinguished Flying Cross with two oak leaf clusters, Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters, Airman's Medal for heroism, Air Force Commendation Medal, National Defense Service Medal and Purple Heart.

"You'll notice he doesn't hold the good conduct medal," said Rep. James Callahan, D-Mount Morris. "That's because he hasn't been in the service long enough."

Beulah Finds Wreck, Starts Treasure Hunt

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex- (AP) — Hurricane Beulah has uncovered the wreckage of an ancient ship on Padre Island and a treasure hunt has started all over again.

The same craft also was uncovered by Hurricane Carla in 1961.

Photographer Lill Pennington said he was on the site Monday and saw Jim Preston and other Corpus Christi developers recover two silver bars black with age. He said Preston reported finding three other ships nearby.

Padre Island Park Manager Paul Harris said the ship appears to be a double-hulled Spanish warship of about 1800 and it was originally about 80 feet long. He said the vessel never has been identified.

METAL METTLE — "A joke" is what Soviet news sources called it when the owner of this robot, Oleg Sokol, put the mechanical cop to work at an intersection in Arkhangelsk, U.S.S.R. In view of the presence of the Russian circus that had just come to town, featuring the robot, could it also have been a slightly capitalistic promotional stunt as well?

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO THANK OUR MANY friends, relatives and neighbors for their many acts of kindness and floral offerings during our recent bereavement in the loss of our son Bruce. Special thanks to Rev. Winnie and the Lewis E. Wint Funeral Home for their service. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Milkey and Family.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY HUSband, Julius Tavolacci, who passed away Oct. 11, 1965.
Loving memories will never die.
As years roll on and time does pass by,
In our hearts memories are kept,
Of one we loved and shall never forget.
Sadly missed by wife, Luella and relatives.

IN MEMORY OF OUR MOTHER and Grandmother.
Our mother need a special day, to bring her to our minds.
The days we think of her,
are very hard to find.
No one knows the silent heartache only those who lose can tell.
The grief we bear in silence,
for the one we loved so well.
Sadly missed by entire family of Rose Fricano.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ROSE Felice who passed away one year ago today on October 11, 1966.
Oh dear sweet loving mother,
God's precious gift reclaimed
His will" has drained our lives of joy.
Left us shattered and maimed—
But sorry happiness is knowing that You're with God above,
Our greatest sorrow — our hearts
bursting with unrequested love —
The shock and disbelief still now by loneliness painfully endured.
The smile covered mourning, accepted.
Never to be cured.
Oh pride of mine — so perfect—
Devoted mother and wife,
Only to someday prove worthy of you.
While I miss you all my life.
Sadly missed by husband, Joe, by daughters Virginia, Betty and Carmelina, by sons Paul and Joseph.

IN MEMORY OF OUR SON, TOMmy, who passed away Oct. 11, 1966;
Dear is the grave, where our darling is laid;
Sweet is the memory that never will fade.
His little soul, so pure and sweet,
Will blossom at the Saviour's feet.
Mother, Daddy, Patty and Mark
Appreciations.

Earl's Memoirs Will Span '50 Years in a Phone Booth'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I'm going to call my memoirs "50 Years in a Phone Booth."

Maureen O'Sullivan tells me she and her son-in-law Frank Sinatra both approve Mia and Prudence Farrow going to India in January to study and meditate with a famous mystic.

"I'd like to go myself. We're all interested in religion and philosophy," Maureen says. "Whether I'd go would depend on whether I get a show to do. And I'm sure Mia wouldn't go without Frank's approval."

Maureen adds cheerfully: "Oh, everything's just fine in that department," Meaning marital relations.

WILSON

Such news flashes a columnist gets! With only 15 minutes to go in "I Do, I Do!" Mary Martin walks off the stage, unable to complete the show through trying desperately to come back after missing two performances due to virus. Robert Preston soberly tells the audience she's in a state of exhaustion, and the dejected audience arises quetly and leaves without seeing the end.

Out of the phone booth and to the Copacabana where Peggy Lee, after a great opening, sings out the names of the celebrity guests . . . actually to music . . . Ethel Merman, Judy Garland, Liza Minnelli and husband Chris Allen, Nancy Ames who did her Plaza show early to get to Peggy's opening, Anita Louise, and Joe E. Lewis who had a request: "Roll Out the Barrel." Peggy sang it. Peggy forgot the Duke and Duchess of Bedford—or maybe she couldn't put that combination to music.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Secret Stuff: A married socialite had a scene with the help in a hotel where he had a date with a beauty . . . Eddie Fay, wrestling's former "Golden Terror" and now the Crystal Room's host, may join Morton Swirsky in managing recording artists . . . Don De Leo, who took over the lead in "Don't Drink the Water" during the Jewish High Holy Days from Lou Jacobs, got this wire from him, "Don't be too funny."

Charlotte Ford Niarchos and mother, Mrs. Anne Ford, left for Paris and Rome . . . Angela Lansbury went from "Mame" to the Riverboat to applaud Buddy Rich . . . In his next film, "Tony Rome," Frank Sinatra gets clobbered by a husky attacker, who also overturns a table on him. Sounds familiar? His longtime bodyguard, Frank "Pucci" Shaw, left him and now sells autos on L. I.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Not only are teen-agers a comfort in your old age," according to George Kirby, "they help bring it on."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: She summed up her new suitor, "If I marry him, I'll really have a man around the house. He refuses to work."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: No one can build his security upon the nobleness of another person.—Willa Cather.

EARL'S PEARLS: They exchanged rings. He gave her one for her finger; she gave him one for his nose.

Morocco, the Roundtable's belly star, said her insomnia's so bad she cant' even fall asleep during a political speech . . . That's earl, brother.

Panel Sets Trial Check of Motorist Registration

LANSING (AP) — The Department of State said today it will conduct a trial check program along Michigan's borders in an effort to make sure vehicles are registered in the proper jurisdiction.

Secretary of State James Hare said the program will involve persons traveling back and forth across the Michigan border from Ohio, Wisconsin, Indiana and Ontario.

He said vehicle owners suspected of violation will be questioned on several points to determine if they should register their vehicles in Michigan.

Hare pointed out that in some cases, where an individual lives in Michigan and operates businesses in both Michigan and a bordering state, he must have Michigan license plates for his private vehicle regardless of whether or not the other state requires him to do likewise.

Points on which a suspected violator will be questioned include:

- Where and how long he has been employed and whether the employment is permanent or temporary.
- Where he is registered to vote.
- Whether he has children of school age and where they go to school.

- Where he resides and whether he is renting or leasing and how long the lease has to run; and, if he owns or is buying a home, how long the mortgage has to run.
- Whether he has established a Michigan residence under any other Michigan law as in purchasing a Michigan hunting or fishing license.
- Whether his children are enrolled at a state college or university and are paying Michigan tuition rates rather than out-of-state rates.
- Whether he has a Michigan driver license.

In the Philippines

Politicking Is Colorful

MANILA (AP) — The name of the favorite game in the Philippines is politics, and it's played for keeps.

In other countries in Southeast Asia politics is subdued, controlled or suppressed, but Filipino politicians wage rousing, colorful, name-calling campaigns. It may reflect the half-century of U.S. rule which ended in 1946.

A candidate for governor was shot dead in Manila recently. A spate of political killings has been reported in the provinces.

There's a saying here that "campaigning begins the day after elections." And elections are held every two years.

This year's is Nov. 14. The presidency and the House of Representatives are not at stake. Eight of the 24 Senate seats are, along with many governorships and municipal posts that mean prestige and patronage. Senators are elected on a national basis.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos, barely halfway through a four-year term, is acting like a candidate on the run, making vigorous forays into the countryside in support of his Nacionalista party's senatorial candidates.

His beauty-queen wife, Imelda, takes her turn at the microphone much as she did when she helped boost her husband to the presidency.

Marcos, 50, is gambling on the outcome of the senatorial races, predicting that his party will win at least six, if not all, of the eight positions. This would assure him control of the key upper chamber of Congress, which now is split.

TIME FOR CHANGE

The opposition Liberal party has taken up Marcos' challenge and made the president's administrative record the major issue. Slogans like "It's time for a change" and parodies on Marcos' 1965 campaign cry, "The Philippines can be great again," add to the illusion of a presidential contest.

Foreign policy, based on the Philippines' traditional pro-Western attitude, has not figured in the campaigning. Even the Filipino military commitment to the Vietnam war, a subject of hot debate in Congress, has not cropped up.

Marcos' main platform is his R-and-R, Rice and Roads, program. He points with pride to hundreds of miles of newly constructed main and feeder roads, prefabricated school houses and advances toward self-sufficiency in rice, the staple food.

Liberals insist it's all window-dressing. They accuse Marcos of spending more time at politicking than at being president, and note his success in swinging oppositionists into the Nacionalista camp. Marcos himself switched parties when he failed to win the Liberal nomination two years ago.

'SOCIAL CONSCIENCELESS'

The Liberals dispute Marcos' claims of having shored up the economy, and of having made inroads into graft, corruption and large-scale smuggling, the country's biggest headaches. "Vindictive, corrupt and social conscienceless" are among the terms flung at the president and his administration.

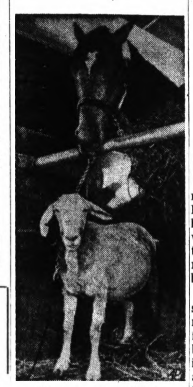

One Liberal senatorial candidate declared at a rally: "It is an irony that Mr. Marcos, who claims to be the most decorated Filipino hero of World War II, should be the first to sell his countrymen down the river."

Marcos and his Nacionalistas throw it right back at the Liberals. Stop talking and get down to work" is one of Marcos' pet rebuttals. This refers to opposition tactics in Congress.

The charges and counter-charges have a familiar ring.

Says one leading political commentator: "Dig into the old newspaper files. Change the name 'Marcos' to 'Macapagal' (Marcos' predecessor). In place of 'Liberal' read 'Nacionalista' and you'll be as knowledgable as the next guy about what's happening."

Pretty Student Gets to Keep Her Miniskirts

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Mrs. Cathy McNeight's Clemson University campus wardrobe of slacks and miniskirts has been cut in half.

The slacks at least must go.

The Clemson student court has ruled that the slacks are improper for class dress but Susan Deloney's contention that Mrs. McNeight's miniskirts also must be banned.

Mrs. McNeight, 20, an architecture student, is a pretty, 5-foot-7 brunette. Her miniskirts leave about 7½ inches of leg showing above the top of the kneecap.

"My skirts aren't short," she told the student court. "My legs are long."

Officials Irked by 'Lockout'

CARROLLTON, Ill. (AP) — Green County sheriff Donald Vinyard has taken to chaining the courthouse doors at night after finding the building "wide open" several mornings.

But other county officials don't like being locked out. So they got the Green County Board of Supervisors to get the states' attorney to get the sheriff to remove the chains.

But Vinyard said no—he is responsible for the property at the courthouse and the chains stay on until he is proven legally wrong.

Vinyard added this: "If it's too much trouble for anyone to get the key at the jail, then he doesn't have any business at the courthouse."

Open Housing Hit

MUSKEGON HEIGHTS (AP) —A petition drive was launched in Muskegon Heights Tuesday for a referendum on an open housing ordinance approved by the City Commission two weeks ago.

One of the world's richest deposits of iron ore has been lying unexploited in Western Australia, although its existence was suspected more than a decade ago.

GM Recalling 16,000 Trucks

Brake Booster Defects Cited in '67s, '68s

Owners of some 16,600 GMC medium duty 1967 and 1968 Model E and S 4500-6500 trucks have been asked to return their vehicles to dealers for inspection and correction, or replacement, where necessary, of the brake booster assembly.

GM Truck and Coach Division in making the announcement today, said possible defects in the assembly, provided by a supplier, may be leakage in the vacuum chamber due to a malfunctioning check valve, faulty welding of the diaphragm assembly, or improper installation of an airseal retainer.

Officiasl said the basic brake system remains operative but any of these conditions could reduce or eliminate a power assist and would require extra brake pedal effort to make a stop.

A few of the early 1967 models could also contain an undersized seal in the brake power booster master cylinder which may result in insufficient braking pressure and loss of braking control, they said.

Space, Aviation Pioneers Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Smithsonian Institution is recording narratives by American pioneers in aviation and space. Assistant Director Ernest Robischon of its air and space museum said Tuesday more than 100 tape recordings already have been completed. Aviation pioneers of Grover Loening, Igor Sikorsky and Jimmy Doolittle are among the narrators.

Break Could Be Near in Ford Talks

ONE COLOR TAKE OVER PAGES

DETROIT (AP) — A news blackout cloaked auto labor negotiations today, indicating a break could be near in the 35-day strike against Ford Motor Co.

The 24-hour blackout, announced in a joint statement by Ford and the striking United Auto Workers union, ends at 9 p.m. EDT. It was likely any joint talks before then would be held in total secrecy with no announcement.

Traditionally such a blackout has meant that one side — or both — has made a move in deadlocked talks, although immediate settlement has not always resulted.

The strike has idled 160,000 workers at Ford plants in 25 states, cut off the company's production at the critical period of model introduction and caused layoffs in some supplier industries.

The blackout was announced as both sides huddled separately last night in the vast Ford headquarters known as the Glass House in sububan Dearborn.

SINCE SEPT. 6

The sessions were the first at night since the strike began Sept. 6, climaxing two months of fruitless efforts to write a new three-year contract embodying what UAW President Walter P. Reuther has called the most ambitious demands in the union's history.

Although there was no joint meeting, a union spokesman said the two sides had been in touch "by various means."

"I hope I'll be back Wednesday," said Reuther as he left.

Asked if the company had made a new proposal — it's made only one that has been publicly announced since talks opened in July — Reuther said: "I don't want to comment on that because we would be violating an understanding we have."

Denise refused to confirm or deny that the company had made a new offer.

The news blackkut came on the eve of the regular Ford Board of Directors meeting.

EXPECTED TO END

The session, at which contract offers or counterproposals could be considered, was expected to end before the embargo is lifted.

The joint announcement of the blackout said it was being set "in the hope that this might facilitate serious and meaningful collective bargaining."

The night session already had given rise to speculation that a break could come.

Bargainers had been scheduled to meet at 2:30 p.m. yesterday with Reuther set to make one of his infrequent appearances.

Speculation increased with a second postponement of that session, plus prolonged caucusing by the separate sides.

The union has not publicly put a dollar value on its list of demands that include parity for Canadian workers, a guaranteed annual income, improved pensions, a big wage boost and an even bigger pay hike for skilled workers.

But Reuther has said an increase of 80 cents an hour in wages and fringe benefits in a three-year contract would not be enough.

In its one announced offer, made a week before the strike, Ford proposed a 13-cent-an-hour wage hike immediately with an additional 2.8 cents in the second and third years of the contract plus various improvements in benefits.

Open Housing Law Is Ordered Drafted

By BOB WISLER

City commissioners last night ordered the director of law to draft an open housing ordinance based on what are reputedly the two strongest in the state—those of Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

Enactment of the ordinance will be considered in the near future, commissioners said.

Commissioners John A. Dugan, District 5, and Wesley J. Wood, District 6, said, however, they believed that the question of an open housing ordinance should be put to a citywide vote.

Related Stories, Page B-12

Irwin, a realtor, said he has always believed it is the right of the individual to sell "as he sees fit."

He said he didn't believe anyone else had the right to tell a property owner how to dispose of his property or what to do with it.

Irwin said as far as he was concerned they were voting on the ordinance last night.

District 1 Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr., who moved for adoption of the resolution, threatened resignation if the commission failed to pass the ordinance which will be drafted.

"I feel that this commission, the same as commissions in other cities, has a moral obligation," he said.

"Some said we would have a referendum on this. Let's cross that bridge when we come to it," he said.

The commissioners were urged last night to adopt an ordinance by representatives from the Pontiac Education Association, the Pontiac Council of PTAs, th Pontiac Area Urban League Guild, Pontiac Area Council of Churches, the north area advisory council of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity, the human relations committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, the Family Service of Oakland County, the Oakland Child Guidance Clinics, Inc.

Others are the Pontiac Chapter of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, the Oakland County Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers, the Voice of Oakland County Action League and three Baptist churches.

Loan Averts County Road Crisis

By ED BLUNDEN

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee came to the rescue of the County Road Commission by granting it a $500,000 loan.

The commission said it needed the money to stop contractors from walking off jobs for which they have not received payment.

The road commission claimed it has fallen $425,000 behind in payments to contractors currently on jobs.

Bills for $200,000 to meet cost of ordered materials and $80,000 for Social Security also were listed as due.

The commission reported it had only $175,000 on hand for October.

The full board of supervisors approved a loan of $500,000 to the commission last May, subject to Ways and Means Committee approval.

Approval was granted yesterday over the objections of two committee members, S. James Clarkson of Southfield and Harry Horton of Royal Oak.

Various interpretations of what the exchange of money really meant were offered and the funds were called a "loan,' 'or an "advance" and it was suggested it may turn out to be a "gift."

Clarkson questioned whether the road commission legally can obtain a loan from the county.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Principals in the steel haulers' walkout begin acting today on a strike-ending proposal fashioned by a mediation panel with trucking companies apparently holding the key in ending the violent, eight-week walkout.

City OKs Creation of Planning Council

City commissioners last night authorized creation of an advisory body called the Pontiac Area Planning Council. The vote was 6-1.

The council will come into being when a joint resolution is passed by the Pontiac Board of Education. The board is expected to approve the resolution at tonight's meeting.

The resolution authorizes the mayor to begin implementation of the planning council by making five appointments to the 28-member board of governors.

The planning council, a relatively new idea in local government, was opposed by District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin.

He said the city would be implementing another layer of government and expressed fears that it would become far more powerful than the commission intended.

OBJECTED TO COUNCIL

A number of residents and spokesmen from groups objected to the council.

However, Mayor William H. Taylor, Mayor Pro Tem Leslie H. Hudson and Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, said the council was to be an advisory body only.

The resolution passed by the commission provides that the council's board of governors will "submit bylaws, operating procedures, major work plans and an annual budget" to the City Commission and board of education for approval prior to their implementation."

Whitmer spoke of the need for an advisory body which could consider all facets of planning decisions which would effect the total community.

WHERE TO BUILD

As an example, he said the school board must decide where to build a new school, possibly a "great high school" to serve the total school area.

This would bring thousands of people into its area, would affect transportation, demands for housing and possible new retail stores, he said.

The school district would be better off having advice on whether this is feasible for a certain site, or feasible at all, he said.

Property Tax Vote Is Killed

City commissioners last night formally killed the special election — scheduled for Oct. 17 — to consider changing the charter to allow a four-mill property tax increase.

District 5 Commissioner John A. Dugan said that election was scheduled only in the event that voters in last month's tax advisory election had shown a preference for a property tax increase instead of an income tax.

The election then would have been necessary because the property tax levy for general funds is fixed by charter and can be changed only by a charter amendment election.

Commissioners last week enacted an income tax ordinance which takes effect Jan. 1.

Last night they spoke again of the financial pinch facing the city and advised against signing petitions that would force a referendum vote which would delay the effect of the income tax until July.

Pontiac Division Is Hiring the 'Unhirables'

By DICK SAUNDERS

In a striking departure from traditional hiring practices, Pontiac Motor Division is hiring people previously classified as "unemployable."

BARNES SAMPLES

The new program is a joint venture of the General Motors division and the Pontiac Area Urban League.

It is aimed at replacing despair, frustration and rejection with hope.

It's not the kind of false hope that springs from vague promises. It's solid, tangible hope—employment, the chance to regain human dignity and again become more productive citizens.

This is why company and Urban League officials think the program will work.

PREVIOUSLY UNEMPLOYED

To date there are 202 previously unemployed persons working at Pontiac Motor. Another 15 are employed at the Pontiac Fisher Body plant.

"As far as we know, there is no other such program of this size in the nation," said Clarence E. Barnes, executive director of the Urban League.

Barnes feels that Pontiac Motor Division, by participating in the program, is "providing a bold new kind of leadership needed to solve urban problems."

There are three integral parts of the program.

RESPONSIVE PARTY

First, Pontiac Motor Division is acting as the responsive party; a major industry seeking to strike out at one of our major urban problems today — high rates of unemployment among minority groups.

Second, the Urban League is acting as a coordinator; trying, with the help of various parties in the Negro community, to reach into the ranks of the unemployed and produce job applicants.

Third is a nine-member follow-up committee. This group is headed by a Pontiac Fisher Body plant employe, Mansfield C. Samples of 185 Raeburn.

Those close to the program feel that much of its success will depend on this committee. The purpose of the committee members is to assist the newly employed to make a satisfactory adjustment to their job opportunities.

This is done through counseling and various contacts with the employe at the neighborhood level.

Red Sox Fans Pray for Victory

BOSTON (AP) — Red Sox fans today prayed for their team's comeback spirit to lead it to victory in the sixth game of the World Seres against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Historic Park Street Church at Boston Common welcomed fans to a special service at "Brimstone Corner" outside the church at noon.

The church said its 75-bell carillon would play "The Impossible Dream" from the Broadway Musical "Man of La Mancha," with the Red Sox the object of such prayer and meditation as those gathered might wish to offer.

"The cry of 'play ball' will be heard in Fenway Park today," the U. S. Weather Bureau said in reporting that dry air pushing into the area would bring variable cloudiness with patches of sunshine and a high temperature in the low 60s.

St. Louis, installed by oddsmakers as 6-5 favorites to win today's game and 17-5 favorites to win the series, rested its hopes on right-handed pitcher Dick Hughes, who had a 16-6 record during the regular season and was the loser in the second game of the series.

Boston, counting on the ability to bounce back that helped it win the American League pennant, gambled on rookie right-hander Gary Waslewski in its bid to even the series 3-3.

Washlewski had a 2-2 season record in between trips to the minors, but retired nine Cardinals in order as a reliever last Saturday until he was lifted for a pinch hitter.

State Legislators Get Down to Work

LANSING (AP)—With mixed praise and criticism for Gov. George Romney's agenda, the House and Senate today got down to the shirt-sleeves tasks of a special legislative session that will deal with everything from lower court reform to gasoline taxes and possibly open housing.

As the session got into full swing, legislative leaders agreed that court reorganization would be the toughest item called for by Romney in a 12-page message Tuesday.

The message covered many fields, but excluded a call for action on more money for the state's public schools. The only school appropriation called for was $5 million for underprivileged children, most of which is expected to go to Detroit.

There was no immediate reaction from the state's educators who had pressed hard for such action. But it was sure to come, especially from school districts where teachers recently won salary increases by striking.

OPEN HOUSING

The message also did not include a state open housing law, but it raised the possibility that Romney may call for one later this month.

Mixed with the praise and criticism was speculation over when the session would end.

Some leaders predicted it would be over by Nov. 15, but others said lower court reform alone could keep legislators here the rest of the year.

"You'll have so many judges and justices of the peace down here to lobby on this you won't be able to tell them from the legislators," said House Speaker Robert Waldron.

House Democratic leader William Ryan said he doubted that a $55 million package of gasoline and motor vehicle weight taxes—the so-called good roads package—can pass unless open housing passes, too.

The House and Senate, meanwhile, got into a quarrel immediately over the schedule for special session.

Majority Senate Republicans approved a set of deadlines under which the Legislature would only recess Nov. 15 and then come back Dec. 28 to adjourn the session.

Art Academy President Will Speak at Reunion

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Glen Paulsen, president of the Cranbrook Academy of Art, will speak at the first reunion sponsored by the newly formed Alumni Organization at 1 p.m. Saturday in the lecture hall.

There are over 2,000 alumni of the academy, but only 100 or so are expected to attend the organization's reunion.

Cochairmen Charlotte Quinn and Joanne Caverly said that Paulsen will speak on the academy's plans for preserving its standards of excellence and the expanding of its scope to meet changing times.

The all-day activities will begin at 9 a.m. with registration followed by tours of the academy. Election of an alumni board of directors will follow a series of notable speakers.

Champagne and dinner at 5 p.m. will round out the day.

OTHER SPEAKERS

Speakers slated besides Paulsen are: Henry Booth, trustee and son of founder George Booth; Wallace Mitchell, director of the academy: and Louis Redstone, alumnus and Detroit architect.

The academy was founded 40 years ago by George Booth when he decided to invest in such an institution rather than spend time and money on art collecting. Since then the famous school has drawn students from all over the world to study in one of its many departments.

The new organization hopes to create an agency through which alumni can exchange professional knowledge, obtain job opportunity information, and arrange summer seminars.

McNamara Against Bombing Haiphong

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara again says the war in Vietnam would not be shortened by U.S. bombing or mining of the enemy's port of Haiphong.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff and several Senate hawks have urged military action to knock out the North Vietnamese port, a key center for movement of supplies. McNamara has consistently opposed this.

McNamara, in Senate testimony Aug. 25, released Tuesday, said Hanoi would move its supplies over other routes to its forces and the Viet Cong in South Vietnam if Haiphong harbor were destroyed.

He declared the civilian heads of the American government would continue to base bombing decisions on the basis of value of targets, risk to American pilots and avoidance of direct confrontation with Red China and the Soviet Union.

DENIED 'NO-WIN'

And in a heated exchange with Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., he denied President Johnson's war policy is a no-win policy.

Thurmond maintained "we seem to be more concerned over the civilian casualties in the North than we are over our own casualties in the South."

McNamara replied he knew of no evidence to support such a conclusion and "I, myself, strongly object to such a conclusion."

Thurmond: "Mr. Secretary, I am terribly disappointed with your statement. I think it is a statement of placating the Communists. It is a statement of appeasing the Communists. It is a statement of no-win.

LEAVE NOW

"It seems to me that if we follow what you have recommended, we ought to get out of Vietnam at once, because we have no chance to win, and I deeply regret that a man in your position is taking that position today."

Boy Tells of Being Chained to Brother

A nine-year-old boy testified yesterday that he was once chained to a younger brother by a man for whom their mother keeps house in Independence Township.

The youngster, Frederick J. Lewis, told of the incident while being questioned by Asst. Prosecutor John Davey during the preliminary court examination of Paul M. Maczko and the boys' mother, Mrs. Florence Lewis.

Maczko, 57, and Mrs. Lewis, 29, both of 9052 Ortonville, were charged with cruelty last month for allegedly making four of Mrs. Lewis' five children live in a small building behind the main house.

Frederick was one of two witnesses who were called before the hearing was adjourned to Oct. 18. It will be determined at that time if Maczko and Mrs. Lewis will be bound over to Circuit Court for trial.

The boy, the oldest of Mrs. Lewis' children, said that he and his brother Richard, 8, were chained because they wanted to go along on a visit to their grandmother "but we made her nervous."

DESCRIBES SCENE

He described to Waterford Township Justice of the Peace Kenneth Hempstead how the chains were placed around his ankles, locked and then out around a beam.

When the dog chain was introduced, one of two defense attorneys, James Carr, asked the boy, "How can you be sure this isn't the chain to lock up the horses."

"It's not," replied Frederick. "He bought the chain for us."

Asked where the children stayed, the boy said "sometimes we slept in the house, sometimes in the back," . . . in a little house, not a playhouse."

'WENT TO RACES'

He said all the children stayed in the building, "except Joseph," an infant.

A neighbor and occassional baby sitter for the Lewis children, Roberta Howenstine, 13, of 8940 Ortonville, said that she had once cared for the youngsters in the "shed" while Maczko and Mrs. Lewis went to the races.

She said that the building had no plumbing that the children had to use a chamber pot.

Once she said she overheard Maczko tell Richard that if he didn't behave he would tie him up.

Roberta's mother was excluded from the courtroom at one point when defense attorneys objected that she was coaching her daughter from the back of the court. She was later allowed to return.

Housing Law to Be Drafted

In addition, the commission was presented with a petition from Ronald Covault, assistant county prosecutor and a Pontiac resident, with some 600 signature urging adoption of an ordinance.

Covault said the signatures were gathered only over the weekend without benefit of any organizational backing. The great majority of signers were white, he said.

Hubert Price, vice president of the Pontiac Organization of Black Youth (POOBY), which proposed an ordinance recently, said in bidding for enactment of an ordinance "It is a pity that we have to ask for rights that are provided for us in the Constitution."

The Ypsilanti open housing ordinance is one which has been endorsed by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

It prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, religion, color, creed or sectional origin in sale or rental of dwelling units and calls for a penalty for violation of up to a $500 fine or 90 days in jail or both.

The Ann Arbor ordinance is similar although the penalty is less, up to $100 fine and 10 days, or both, and exempts from coverage rental of rooms in a housing unit where the owner or a member of his family lives.

Mayor William H. Taylor said the commission would proceed toward an ordinance along the guidelines he set up originally.

$3.5-Million Contracts Let for Mott High

Contracts totaling $3,527,104 were awarded last night by the Waterford Township Board for construction of the district's Charles S. Mott High School.

Work was scheduled to begin today on the structure to be located on a 68½-acre site at Scott Lake and Pontiac Lake roads.

Awarded the architectural contract for $2,213,848 was the J. A. Ferguson Construction Co. of Farmington which outbid two other firms at last Thursday's bid opening.

The mechanical contract to the Wilbur N. Williams, Inc., of Detroit for $917,873. Fourteen firms bid for the job.

Awarded the electrical contract for $395,383 was Cates Electric of Royal Oak, low among 11 bidders.

The board made some cuts and additions in reducing the low base proposal amounts from $3,550,103 to the $3,527,104.

Alternates for optional construction may be added if funds become available, according to school officials.

The 170,400-square-foot structure is scheduled for partial occupancy by next September to allow sophomores and juniors to attend class there. Target date for completion of the school is before classes begin in September 1969.

'Che Death Finishes Bolivian Guerrillas'

VALLEGRANDE, Bolivia (AP) — Bolivia's guerrilla revolt has been "virtually finished" by the killing of Ernesto (Che) Guevara, once Fidel Castro's top expert on revolution, the chief of Bolivian armed forces says.

Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia said Guevara died from wounds received in a near hand-to-hand battle with troops in Bolivia's southeastern jungle, and before his death told his captors: "I'm the Che and I've failed."

Ovando told newsmen brought to Vallegrande Tuesday to view the body that the rebels failed because they lacked the support of the peasants, they underestimated the Bolivian army and they chose to fight in an area strategically unsuited to them.

Col. Joaquin Zenteno Anaya said the guerrillas lost seven men in fighting Sunday and Monday near Higueras, 300 miles southeast of La Paz, and had only 10 men left in the area. Military sources said 29 guerrillas have been killed in the past seven months, including 15 Bolivians, 11 Cubans, an Argentine woman and a Peruvian doctor.

MANY SKEPTICAL

The story of Guevara's death met with skepticism in some quarters outside Bolivia. The Argentine-born revolutionary, who fought with Castro to overthrow Cuban President Fulgencio Batista in 1959, had been reported killed or captured in various parts of Latin America during the 2½ years since he mysteriously vanished from Cuba.

Argentine Foreign Minister Nicanor Costa Mendez said in Buenos Aires he doubted that Guevara was dead or that he ever had been in Bolivia.

L'Unita, the Italian Communist party newspaper, said the Bolivian army announcement "does not seem to have dispelled all doubts yet."

Bolivian army officers insisted that they were fully satisfied that the body they displayed on a stretcher in an outdoor hospital washroom was Guevara's. There were bullet holes near the heart and in the neck.

Gen. Ovando said the proofs included the dead man's fingerprints and his diary. He invited newsmen to check the fingerprints anywhere but there was no immediate indication whether they had been compared with copies said to have been given to Bolivian authorities by Argentine officials in Washington last month.

Loan Averts Road Crisis in the County

Chairman David Levinson of Birmingham said the situation was now "an emergency" as contractors had reportedly refused to continue working unless payments were made.

With a 6-2 vote, a "memorandum of understanding" was passed which spelled out how the money would be paid back — over 27 months — and the county auditors were instructed to divert the money from general funds.

The road commission had asked the supervisors for $2 million during budget consideration. It has also proposed a county-wide eight-tenths of a mill levy to raise about $2 million per year to take care of road construction projects.

However, no road money was set aside in the budget for 1968. The commission operates separately from the board of supervisors and uses about $3 million in revenue from state gas and weight taxes and federal and community funds.

NOT ADEQUATE

This has not been deemed adequate in the last few years and the commission hopes to embark on a $7-million program to build new roads and enlarge older ones before 1970.

As was pointed out at the meeting, the proposed "Good Roads Package" will be before the State Legislature in the next few weeks.

Extra tax money would be coming to the counties for road purposes if the bill, which involves increased gas taxes, is passed.

The committee expects the road commission to be able to pay the county the loan from revenue.

Clarkston said it was possible the road commission may not pay the money back due to the possible legal entanglements in calling the appropriation "a loan."

He said he would vote yes on the measure if it was made an outright "gift" and would therefore be what he considered legal.

City Okays Creation of Planning Unit

Taylor said an advantage of the council is that it would incorporate into it and make use of leading citizens — "the power structure of the community."

IN PRIVATE SECTOR

The problems of the community would then be brought to attention of persons who could do something in the private sector to solve them, he said.

This was one of the features that Irwin objected to. He said the 28-member board of governors would contain only four elected officials and consequently it could hardly be answerable to the voters.

"Does anybody here think an elected body would buck this group?" he asked.

He said that because of the number of built-in positions and the number of appointments made by the mayor and the president of the school board (five each) the board would of necessity contain influential persons whom those seeking election would need the backing of.

ANSWERABLE TO VOTERS

But the council wouldn't need the backing of the elected officials, he said.

Taylor and Hudson said that the mayor and school board president are answerable to the voters and can be voted out.

No Estimate on Stolen Gems

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—E. E. Dale Shaffer, of Birmingham, Detroit Race Track owner, said Tuesday he couldn't begin to estimate the value of jewels that mysteriously vanished from his plush high-rise apartment Sunday.

He scoffed at reports quoting him as telling friends the gems were worth $150,000.

"Only one item was insured and that was worth $20,000," the multimillionaire explained.

Taken were a platinum pin containing 40 diamonds, a diamond and emerald necklace, a bracelet of marquise and emerald cut diamonds, a diamond and emerald pin the size of a half-dollar, and a diamond ring.

Detectives said the gems were taken from a dressing table in a bedroom. A half dozen less valuable items were left behind. They said they found no forced entry.

Investigators found a key ring on the floor near the apartment door. Attached to the ring were three keys and a paper tag with "Florida Keys" written on it. The keys fit the apartment door, police said.

Shaffer lives at 1390 Woodland.

Theologian Gives OCC Lecture

Quit Viet, Help Cities—Pike

By DICK ROBINSON

Theologian Rt. Rev. James A. Pike last night called for the United States to get out of Vietnam and to apply the money being spent there to aid America's "rotten, decaying cities."

"It is amazing that $29 billion can be spent there and everything else still go on in this country," the resigned Episcopal Bishop of California told 600 people at an Oakland Community College lecture in Birmingham.

"Why not transfer this same amount of money to our cities?"

He supported the Episcopal Church's recent decision at its general convention in Seattle to aid urban Negroes in a $3-million-a-year program.

The controversial bishop proposed that this country let the United Nations go in and police South Vietnam.

OPPOSING VIEW

One of the panel members who questioned Pike after his talk on "The New Morality" took an opposite stand.

"I believe self-preservation comes first," remarked Rev. Charles Coughlin, pastor emeritus of the Shrine of the Little Flower Church, Royal Oak. "China will take over in 12 years if we don't stop her."

Bishop Pike retorted that the decision to be in Vietnam was an "ethical" one and that he felt a general animosity toward the situation growing in this country.

A pacifist, Pike advocated a "new morality" or situation ethics, an approach to moral decision making by analyzing the context of the situation and following through on a decision thought to be right.

REV. JAMES PIKE

"New morality is one way to become mature, be yourself, be in charge of life, free of bondages. It is a conscious process that will make you more modest in judging others and less arrogant with yourself."

Bishop Pike warned that there is "trouble ahead" because young people are trying to decide issues today by new morality with results that they would rather go to jail than fight in Vietnam.

Situation ethics can be applied to everything in life, including sexual and interpersonal relations, according to Pike.

"When boy meets girl what is the "TP and O. (Time, Place and Opportunity) thing to do?" he asked. "It's more complex than 'What is the loving thing to do?'

"You must think what you will do to the other person."

SOUNDER CODE

Situation ethics is sounder than code or consensual ethics, he advised.

Code ethics is a formal, unflexible structure that does not cover all important decisions in life, he said. But it is valuable in everyday decisions where the situation can't be weighted.

Consensual ethics is doing whatever most people feel like doing.

On other topics, the bishop had this to say:

Controversial faith healing in the Philippines: "I believe in this sort of thing."

Assassination of President Kennedy: "I don't believe the Warren Commission's report," hinting that he did not believe Lee Harvey Oswald was the assassin or lone assassin.

TRADITIONAL DOCTRINES

Bishop Pike has questioned the traditional Christian doctrines of the Trinity, the Virgin Birth and the Divinity of Christ.

He had demanded a heresy trial to challenge those attacking him for speaking out against various doctrinal beliefs, but his church finnally agreed that the free thinking would not be tried for heresy.

At the same time Pike revealed that he had communicated with his dead son no fewer than six times, including a dramatic television senance in Toronto. Following this disclosure, Episcopal leaders were unwilling to discuss him.

"The trend of the messages seems to be a desire to convince that there is life after death," he has commented.

RATIONAL BASIS

Pike, who is now a theologian in residence at the Center for Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, Calif., has turned to psychoic phonomena in a search for data upon which man might find a rational basis for religious affirmation.

He advances this point in his new book, "If This Be Heresy," which he has been promoting on a speaking tour.

This self-help factor is one of the basic aspects of the program.

The program was initiated about a month ago when Barnes suggested to Theodore B. Bloom, divisional personnel director, that its hiring practices be reevaluated in relation to the job that has to be done.

"Traditionally, our practice has been to hire the best available candidate for the position," Bloom explained.

TRADITIONAL CRITERIA

Traditional criteria include a person's prior employment, arrest and education records, according to Bloom.

"What we've done is reevaluated our prior employment requirements to try and give these people a second chance," Bloom noted.

"Once hired, they're like any other employee. They must follow the shop rules."

Only time will tell if the program will be an ultimate success, but results to date are very encouraging.

19 HAVE QUIT

Of 230 hired at Pontiac Motor so far, only nine have been released for unsatisfactory job performance. Bloom pointed out that an additional 19 have quit, some of them to go back to school and finish their educational requirements.

"The fact that we could stir up more than 200 unemployed, proved they were walking around out there and wanted to work," Barnes commented.

He recalled that many individuals in the Negro community wouldn't believe him when he first spread the word about the program.

"I told them I'd open the Urban League office from 8:30 a.m. to noon on Labor Day to assist them in taking advantage of these job opportunities," Barnes said.

"When I got there that morning, there were 18 men already waiting."

Barnes lists communications as one of the biggest obstacles to be overcome and feels the follow-up committee is well equipped to handle that job.

Samples said the committee was "formed by men who volunteered their time to work with the employes to encourage their success on the job.

"The committee members have been this route before. They know the frustrations and problems (of the unemployed) and among the nine members, someone knows every worker personally."

OTHER MEMBERS

Aside from Samples, the committee is made up of Lorenzo Perkins of 416 Moore, Alonzo R. Stewart of 343 S. Marshall, William Harris of 221 Hughes, William S. Samples of 359 E. Wilson, Ahmad Amir Milik Shabazz of 32 N. East Blvd., Kenneth R. Walker of 549 Judson, James E. Dyer of 668 Central and Willie G. Williams of 475 Fildew.

Samples feels the program has great promise.

"I've got a lot of faith in it," he said. "I feel it's having a munity. It's workable and good impact on the black commeaningful."

Speaking of the man who is 'unemployable" because of a police record, he said:

"After a man had paid his debt to society, he became unhirable. He felt on his release from jail after paying his debt, he was banished from society. Industry wouldn't touch him.

'ONLY ALTERNATIVE'

"He felt the only alternative he had was to be a drifter, or an alien from society.

"Since he couldn't make a living within society, he had to make one outside it. Of the black masses confronted with this problem, many had a desire to work but couldn't get gainful employment.

"These people had applied for jobs and had been rejected. They saw committees formed and programs instituted, but still they remained unemployable.

"We felt the best way to communicate was to give these men something tangible and not mere promises.

"This way they're brought back into society and again become more productive citizens. We also feel this program will eliminate the excuse that they were unemployable because they didn't want to work."

Samples feels the program "is a giant step in communicating with the Negro community and finding equity for which the Negro is striving.

"It's a starting point," he said. "We would like to see the other segments of industry and business follow this pilot program and become part of it."

Oddly enough, the program has no name.

"We haven't really had time to think about it," Barnes commented. "We're more interested in results than a fancy name."

Four Trains Tie Up Rush-Hour Traffic

A rush-hour traffic tie-up on Huron this morning was blamed by a Grand Trunk Western Railroad official on the arrival of four trains at the same time at the Pontiac terminal.

Automobiles backed up for blocks around 8 a.m. for nearly 15 minutes while a freight train waited across the tracks for other trains ahead of it to move.

Robert Lighthall, trainmaster said the trains run on a tight schedule, and a few minutes either early or late will cause the problem. He said every effort will be made to prevent a reoccurence.

Retired Justice Clark to Speak in Pontiac

Retired U.S. Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark heads a list of six speakers who will appear in Pontiac for the University of Michigan's Industrial Relations Lecture Series beginning next month.

Clark is scheduled to appear March 12 at a dinner meeting at Fortino's Restaurant, the location of all the lectures.

Clark, a former U.S. attorney general, retired from the Supreme Court in June, when his son, Ramsey was appointed attorney general. This avoided any conflict of interest that might involve himself and his son.

A specialist in antitrust and business oriented cases, Clark will discuss "Business and the Courts," past, present and future.

Other speakers, the titles of their talks and the dates they will appear are:

Management consultant Kenneth Hopper of London and New York, "The New Style Foreman," Nov. 6; Dr. Charles A. Myers, professor of management, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, "The Impact of Computers," Dec. 11; and Geary A. Rummler, director of the Center for Programmed Learning for Business, University of Michigan, "Applying Behavioral Technology," Jan. 8.

William F. Butler, director of Economic Research, Chase Manhattan Bank, "Business Growth in the 1970s," Feb. 12; and Dr. Martin L. Schotzberger, dean, University College, Richmond, Va., "The Corporate-Community Crisis," April 8.

'Bill to Curb Delinquency Is Crucial'—McDonald

Passage of new legislation aimed at preventing and controlling juvenile delinquency is critical at this time, said Congressman Jack McDonald of a $25-million bill adopted by the House and pending in the Senate.

The 19th District Republican said that the legislation is important not only because of the expiration of the Juvenile Delinquency and Youth Offenses Control Act of 1961, "but because the lessons of the past six years have reemphasized that juvenile delinquency is continuing to outrun the nation's capacity to deal with it."

The legislation is unique, according to McDonald, since it authorizes block grants of funds to states on a population basis instead of allowing the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to make grants to any qualifying agency on the basis of certain considerations outlined in the bill.

"I believe the block-grant method is a sound approach," said McDonald. "It will more directly involve the states and local communities. In the field of juvenile delinquency, as in other fields, we must provide the incentive for strong state and local action."

The bill also prohibits the receipt of any funds under the act by agencies administered, or in any part funded, or contracted by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

'SUPERIOR METHOD'

"The block-grant approach was contained in a major amendment offered on the House floor and I believe it is far superior to the narrow, specific, categorical method of distributing funds now in use," McDonald added.

* * *

"By implementing the block-grant system I am hopeful that the delinquency problem can be better dealt with. However, we must keep plugging for righting the federal-state balance in the U.S. through placing more weight, power, and responsibility on the state's shoulders."

Man in Uniform Cheats Widow of Viet Soldier

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — The 20-year-old widow of a Vietnam war casualty is broke because she trusted a man in uniform.

Mrs. Lucy McCorkle had been receiving monthly checks from the Army since her husband was killed. She saved $1,579.

She said a man dressed in a soldier's uniform came to see her last Saturday. He told her that she had been receiving the checks by mistake—that they should have gone to another Mrs. McCorkle in Greensboro, whose husband had been killed a month earlier.

* * *

Mrs. McCorkle went to the bank, withdrew the $1,579 and gave it to the man. She quoted him as saying he would be back with her money once he straightened things out at the Pentagon.

He didn't return. Army officials, contacted by the Gaston County police, said they don't know who the man was and that there is not a widowed Mrs. McCorkle in Greensboro.

NATO Moving Political Headquarters

PARIS (AP) — North Atlantic Treaty Organization officials are closing down NATO's political headquarters here, widening the distance between France and her allies.

Movers have started crating and carrying 140 tons of documents and the office furniture to NATO's new home in Brussels.

Scheduled for completion Oct. 22, the move will reunite the political directorate with NATO's military headquarters, installed in Belgium since April because President Charles de Gaulle expelled allied troops and commands.

Allied foreign ministers decided last December to transfer the civilian headquarters.

COST OF TRANSFER

The cost of the transfer, to be shared by all 15 NATO members, is estimated at $14 million—$8.5 million for new quarters in Brussels, and $5.5 million for direct moving expenses and severance pay for 350 staff members, mostly French, who will not follow NATO to Belgium. A French company, which won the job by bid, is moving the documents and furniture.

The French government is negotiating to buy the headquarters building, completed in 1959 at a cost of $11 million. NATO's secretariat is said to be asking $20 million with the French offering "considerably less." The matter may go to arbitration.

France retains a tie with the Atlantic alliance as a signatory of the April 4, 1949 North Atlantic Treaty, pledging mutual aid as each party "deems necessary" if a member is attacked. In 1969 any member can renounce the treaty and withdraw on a year's notice.

Though Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville has said France has not decided to renounce the treaty, many political observers feel de Gaulle will complete the process he has begun, and withdraw.

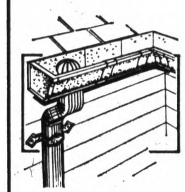

Tests indicate that a new group of antibiotics will be effective for as long as eight weeks instead of only two days.

To Produce Parts for AMC

600 Ford Strikers OK Return

DETROIT (AP) — Some 600 striking Ford Motor Co. workers have agreed to return to work and cross their own picket lines to turn out parts for American Motors Corp.

Members of Local 898, United Auto Workers, AFL-CIO, agreed Tuesday to man Ford's Rawsonville plant near Ypsilanti, Mich., some 35 miles west of Detroit, after a meeting with top union officials.

Ray Overall, Local 898 president, said approval came after top UAW leaders, including Irving Bluestone, administrative assistant to Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, explained the importance of keeping AMC and other Ford competitors operating while the union strikes Ford.

AMC told the UAW last week it might have to shut down production if it could not get some parts that it normally purchases from Ford.

Reuther said the union would cooperate with Ford in restoring partial production at the Rawsonville, Ypsilanti and Sandusky, Ohio, parts plants.

Local 898 members had balked Monday at the thought of returning to work while the strike against Ford continues.

"The feeling is that we're on strike and nobody should go in there until the strike is settled," Overall said Monday before international union officials persuaded the men to return to work.

Overall said Tuesday he and other local officials would meet with Ford representatives to determine when parts production will be resumed. He said about 350 of the 4,500 unionrepresented hourly workers at the plant would be needed to produce the parts.

Details on reopening the Ypsilanti and Sandusky plants have not been worked out.
