Fear 1,500 Toll From Jap Typhoon

56 Americans Among Victims; Others Missing

Storm Is Followed by Landslides, Floods and Costly Fires

By JOHN RANDOLPH
TOKYO (AP)—An estimated 1,500 persons perished in a howling typhoon which struck northern Japan last night, including nearly 1,000 who died when a huge sea-going ferry capsized.

Authorities said 590 bodies have been found and estimated that 500 will be recovered from the capsized ferry.

Report indicate 56 Americans lost their lives in the disaster, and many others are believed missing. Associated Press Correspondent Robert Eunson, who flew to Hakodate, said the search for survivors has ended and rescue squads are lining up bodies of the dead on rough straw mats in an old seamen's center.

The great storm, generating winds up to 110 miles an hour, apparently had whirled harmlessly into the Japan Sea when suddenly it curled back and struck the northern island of Hokkaido almost without warning.

The result was Japan's greatest maritime disaster.

Giant waves in Tsugaru Straits sank five big ferries, four of which carried no passengers, and hundreds of small craft.

A fire virtually wiped out Iwanai, a city of 23,000 on Hokkaido's west coast, and police reported disastrous landslides and floods throughout Hokkaido.

Communications and power lines were wrecked. Rail lines and highways were blocked.

The most terrible disaster occurred in Hakodate harbor, where the big ocean ferry Toya Maru, carrying 1,252 passengers and crewmen, smashed into rocks and turned turtle.

Forty-three railroad cars were buried about inside the hull.

A survivor described the stricken vessel as "a hell on earth."

The first newsmen to reach Hakodate harbor used a similar phrase in describing it—"a sea of hell."

Eyewitnesses said the sickle-shaped harbor and its mile-long coast resembled a great naval disaster scene of the Pacific war. Wrecks of five ships and literally hundreds of small craft littered the beach.

The sand was dotted with bodies, many wearing life jackets which had failed to save their lives in the raging surf.

Smashed lifeboats, shattered timbers, oil and all the flotsam and jetsam of a sea disaster covered the beach.

"We've got a terrible thing up there," said Col. John C. Randolph, commander of the U.S. Air Force (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Unused Auburn Road Store Suffers $6,500 Damage Saturday

Two eight-year-old Avon Township boys, who admitted setting a $6,500 fire Saturday night in an unused antique shop at 1421 E. Auburn Rd., are in custody of their parents today.

State Police of the Romeo Post said the pair admitted starting the 6:30 fire during a break-in at the cinder block store which has been unused for about two years.

When firemen from Rochester and Brookline arrived, the pair were attempting a break-in at a nearby home. The owner called police who took the youngsters into custody. They were turned over to their parents Sunday morning.

The building, owned by Mrs. Josephine J. Adams, of 1171 E. Auburn Rd., was gutted by the flames, firemen said. Mrs. Adams estimated damage to the building at about $4,000 and $2,500 to contents.

Strike Leader Jailed

Square D Talks Stymied Over Rehiring 27 Workers

DETROIT (UP)—Unionist Philip Saba, Square D Co. strike leader accused of running down a process server with his automobile, was jailed today for investigation of assault with intent to do bodily harm.

The 44-year-old Philadelphian, an official of the striking United Electrical Workers Union (Ind.), was arrested Sunday several hours after marathon negotiations aimed at settling the 105-day-old strike were broken off.

Federal Mediator E. Marvin Sconyers said he had no new talks were scheduled because of a stalemate over the company's refusal to rehire 27 workers accused of picket line violence and intimidation.

Saba, named in Congress as a "Communist functionary," was arrested Sept. 7 on grounds he participated in stoning a car occupied by non-striking workers at the strike-ridden electrical plant. His latest arrest was based on a complaint by George Cory, an attorney of circuit judge Frank B. Ferguson.

Cory said Saba backed his car into him Saturday when he tried to serve a writ charging violations of Ferguson's anti-mass picketing injunction. Cory said he suffered a bruised leg.

He said the incident occurred behind the UE headquarters building.

Negotiators, who began their weekend talks at 10 a.m. Friday, adjourned shortly before midnight Saturday with only one issue in the explosive dispute still to be resolved.

Sconyers said the biggest step toward settlement came when the company agreed to a modified no-strike clause.

1,000 Are Evacuated

Forest Fires Threatening Two Towns in California

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—Grimy crews ignited backfires and carved new firebreaks in heavy timber early today in their battle to stop flames threatening to invade two evacuated communities in the San Bernardino mountains.

The fire, which already has destroyed three small structures and 5,000 acres of brush and timber, forced nearly 1,000 persons from the resort settlements of Cedar Pines and Job's Peak in the San Bernardino National Forest yesterday.

The blaze is the most serious of eight forest and brush fires still burning in California. In five days these and other fires in the state have cost three lives, at least a dozen homes and 19,000 acres of watershed cover.

Only the fire near here and a 750-acre blaze near Los Padres national forest not far from Monterey remain out of control. More than 600 men on the firelines north of here were aided during the night by a rise in humidity to 35 per cent, and a drop in wind velocity. Unfortunately, the wind was expected to increase today.

Doctors credited 29-year-old Krishnama Chari, Sankar's brother, with bringing the patient back to life from a near-living death in which he refused to eat or cooperate with doctors for 24 days.

Sankar, eating a little more every day since he broke his fast Saturday, got outdoors in a wheelchair Sunday for the first time in three months.

Krishnama, who flew 9,000 miles from New Delhi, India, Friday to give his brother the "will to live," had a "long and encouraging talk" with Sankar as he pushed him around the MSC campus in the wheelchair.

"It is hopeful now because he is taking an interest in the future," Krishnama said. "It is now a matter of time."

Sankar was burned on almost 60 per cent of his body in a laboratory explosion June 25, and doctors later were forced to amputate his right leg below the knee when gangrene set in.

Believe 7th Tropical Storm Will Subside

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The year's seventh tropical storm boiled up yesterday in the western Caribbean Sea but there were indications it would subside without reaching hurricane force.

The storm, named Gilda for the seventh letter of the alphabet, was expected to pass inland near Belize British Honduras, this morning.

Father Returns to Miami Facing Murder Charge

Baltimore Lawyer Held in the Kidnap-Slaying of Daughter, 6

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—Atty. James T. Roberts, accused of killing his 6-year-old daughter and leaving her body on a lonely beach at Miami, waived extradition today and agreed to return to Florida.

The balding, burly, 43-year-old Baltimorean signed extradition papers before Circuit Judge J. Howard Murray.

Roberts told the judge he was returning to Florida "on my own."

"If I had known about this (the warrant) I would have gone long ago to clear myself," he said.

After signing the papers, Roberts left with sheriff's deputies from Florida. It was understood they would leave immediately for Florida by automobile.

There was no official word whether anyone else would be arrested.

Police have not given any motive for the little girl's slaying other than hints that she may have been kidnapped for ransom and slain when her abductors couldn't get away with her.

Roberts gave himself up shortly after midnight and indicated then he would be willing to return to Florida.

Roberts' 6-year-old daughter, Judith Ann, was stolen from the home of her grandparents in Miami July 1. Her body was found a few hours later in a thicket on Biscayne Bay. She had been beaten and strangled.

A grand jury returned a secret indictment in Miami last Friday. Its contents remained a secret until Brautigam made them public here last evening.

The two-count indictment accused Roberts, "John Doe and Mary Roe" of premeditated murder and "an attempt to perpetrate an abominable and detestable crime against nature or kidnapping."

Vice Raid Nets 29 Here Sunday

Home on West Wilson Hit for Second Time in 16 Days

Armed with a warrant, charging maintaining and operating an illegal liquor place, Pontiac Police vice squad officials raided a home at 319 W. Wilson Ave. and arrested 29 persons Sunday morning, only 16 days after the same home was raided by police on a similar charge.

Detective Sgt. Donny Ashley, leading the raiders, said police smashed a gambling table, chairs, beds and other equipment in the basement of the home.

Mrs. Rose Simmons, 31, of the Wilson avenue address, was charged with maintaining and operating. She also was held under the same charge following the Sept. 10 raid when 23 persons were arrested.

Charged with aiding and abetting an illegal sale of liquor is Earl J. Crocker, 22, also of the Wilson address.

The other 27, of whom six are women, were charged with loitering. They were released by Judge Cecil McCallum on $50 bonds each, pending arraignment in Municipal Court today.

Two Oakland County sheriff's patrol cars were called to the scene, said Ashley, when the five police raiders were unable to control the group.

Ashley said that several of those arrested started fights with Patrolmen Leroy Hartman and Hall B. Mercer when the policemen tried to direct them into the paddy wagon.

Ashley said two cases of whiskey and three cases of beer were confiscated.

State Accidents Claim 18 Lives

Michigan's Weekend Marred by Variety of Fatal Mishaps

By UNITED PRESS
A weird variety of accidents killed at least 18 persons in Michigan during the weekend.

The United Press tally sheet listed 12 traffic victims, two persons dead in fires, one drowning, one train victim and two persons killed in miscellaneous mishaps.

The body of a man found along the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad tracks 16 miles west of Ionia was identified today as that of James K. Warden, 52, a transient who listed his home as Anniston, Ala., and Utica, N. Y.

Detroit police were seeking to identify a man, about 40, found dead in a flaming automobile. Police said the parked car was registered to a Harry Stillwell of Detroit.

Another fire killed Frank Hann, 42-year-old Detroit junk collector. He suffocated early Saturday while trying to save his horse from a burning barn.

Two-year-old Druhar Baker, Detroit, was injured fatally Saturday night in a fall from a second-floor porch railing.

Earl Clear, 35, Portland, drowned Saturday when his outboard motorboat sank while he and a companion were fishing in Nevins Lake about four miles northeast of Stanton.

George Carmen, 50, Elsie, was killed Saturday at a sawmill near Chesaning when a log slipped from a load and crushed his skull.

The only reported multiple-death traffic accident killed two Charlotte brothers, Richard, 18 and Kenneth Hicks, 16. They died Friday night when their speeding hotrod automobile crashed into the rear of a gravel truck on U.S. 17 northeast of Charlotte.

Richard Kuhn, 19, Edmore, was killed Saturday night when his car (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Ferry Boat Tragedy Shatters Dream of Journey to U.S. for Japanese Bride

HAKODATE, Japan (AP)—She lay dazed and swathed in blood-stained bandages on a hospital bed. Emiko Champagne's dreams of a trip to the United States were shattered. Emiko is the 24-year old wife of Sgt. I.C. Charles Champagne of Homer, La. He was among the missing.

"We were on our way to Yokohama where we were due to take a boat on Sept. 27 to the United States," she said in a weak voice. "My husband had been stationed with the 7th Cavalry Regiment at Camp Crawford (Hokkaido) but he was transferred to the 49th Ordinance."

"We got on the Hakodate ferry at 1 a. m., and 30 minutes after leaving the harbor the boat returned because of the rough weather," she said.

Hits Contempt of Solons and Abuse of Zwicker

Senator's Lawyer Pledges Vigorous, Lengthy Fight at Nov. 8 Special Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special Senate committee recommended today that the Senate censure Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

Unanimously, the committee of three Republicans and three Democrats said that such public condemnation—which might have great effect on McCarthy's political future—was warranted by:

1. Incidents of a contemptuous attitude by McCarthy toward the Senate and its committees.

2. The Wisconsin Republican's abusive language about other senators.

3. His "inexcusable" treatment of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, the Army officer who was called before McCarthy's investigations subcommittee last February as a witness.

Actually, the committee lumped the contempt of the Senate and abusive language counts in a single count. Thus McCarthy was found "guilty" by the committee on only two of the five broad categories of charges considered by the committee.

It did not recommend censure on the other three.

But the committee reported that McCarthy "committed a grave error" and manifested "a high degree of irresponsibility" in connection with the controversial 2 1/4-page FBI "letter" which figured prominently in the McCarthy-Army hearings earlier this year.

And the special censure committee also described as "improper" McCarthy's appeal to government without regard to secrecy classifications.

There was no immediate comment from McCarthy. A copy of the report was delivered to his office at 9 a.m. But some time later the senator's office staff said he had not seen the report, so far as they knew, and that he was not expected to come to his office today.

McCarthy is suffering from a sinus ailment and has been taking daily treatments at Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital. He went to the hospital in the morning for a treatment.

Something over an hour after the report was made public, McCarthy's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, announced that McCarthy would make a "vigorous and lengthy fight" on the Senate floor in defense against the committee recommendations.

The Senate is to convene in special session Nov. 8 to consider the committee's report.

Williams said he expected McCarthy and other senators to present vigorous arguments on the Senate floor—including many which were barred by Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) during the censure hearings themselves.

McCarthy has several warm supporters in the Senate, and a vigorous debate is in prospect.

Williams told a news conference, "of course, we think the report is wrong where it recommends censure."

The six-member special committee, which held nine days of hearings on McCarthy's conduct, filed a 68-page printed report totaling about 40,000 words—a good part (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Slightly cooler weather coupled with possible showers is the U. S. Weather Bureau prediction for the Pontiac area tonight.

The low tonight is expected to be between 54 and 59 degrees with a high tomorrow ranging between 70 and 74.

Sunday the thermometer in downtown Pontiac registered a low of 56 degrees. High for the day was 72.

This morning at 8, the mercury stood at 50 but moved up to 75 degrees by 2 p.m.

SHIP TOLL 1,500—This is an air view of the Japanese railroad ferry, Toya Maru, which capsized in a typhoon off the northern Japanese island of Hokkaido with a death toll of around 1,000 persons. At least 56 Americans were reported aboard the ocean-going ferry.

Touchy Cyprus Isle Issue Could Split Allied Nations

By International News Service
Cyprus, the Mediterranean island tucked under a shoulder of Turkey, is a time bomb that can wreck Allied relations.

The Turks have been very restrained about this issue but their thinking, amid a flood of Greek statements about "self-determination," goes this way:

The demand of Cypriots is for "Enosis," or union, with Greece. But what about the Communists?

The Turks admit that the Cypriot people in the majority want union with Greece, but they see foreboding possibilities of maneuvers by the Reds.

They ask the world, especially the United States, to remember that Red politics dominate the island because 65 per cent of the popular vote is communist. Out of 13 municipalities, they say, nine actually are Communist-controlled.

Why should the Reds agitate for incorporation of Cyprus into the far distant mainland of Greece, where communism is outlawed?

There are 400,000 people on the island. The Turkish minority of 100,000 denounces the orthodox church-led idea of enosis between Cyprus and the Athens government 500 miles away. In fact, the Turkish minority thinks that the Athens government got propelled into a situation where it had to sponsor enosis.

The Turkish minority also thinks that if anyone has a true claim to the strategic island it is Turkey.

People of Greek descent dominate the island but in its violent history the Athens government never has had control.

There are many dangers in the problem of Cyprus, where the Greek government is battling against an ancient ally, Britain.

The Greek government has said it would grant long-term leases to Britain. But the latter knows through bitter experience that this arrangement might not work out.

Britain has had to leave the Suez Canal Zone because of the one-way breaking of a treaty by Egypt. Britain now is shifting its defenses and the defenses of the non-Communist world in this vital area—to Cyprus.

Cyprus is a British colony. The people have been offered a constitution of their own and they have rejected the idea. In their cry for union with Greece they ignore the fact that they are not self-supporting and neither is Greece. They also ignore the problem of Greek Communists who are waiting for a chance to seize the island.

3 Try to Break Genesee Jail

Prisoners Are Held in Solitary After Riot in Prison in Flint

FLINT (INS) — Three prisoners were held in solitary confinement in Genesee County Jail today following a riot and jail-break attempt in which cell block bunks and water pipes were ripped from their places.

One of the three men accused of plotting the break was James Styles, 26, one of the leaders in the 1952 Jackson Prison riots. He was being held for investigation of car theft.

His alleged accomplices in engineering the riot were Gusada Fidel, 24, and Richard Nichols, 18.

The attempted break was discovered last night by Deputy Francis Winslow, who noticed water trickling from the ceiling in the first floor jail offices.

Winslow traced the water to the third floor where he found newspapers pasted over windows leading to a day cell holding 15 rioting prisoners.

Winslow summoned help and he and nine other deputies and six Flint city policemen forced their way into the cellblock.

One bar on a window had been sawed half through and several of the prisoners were armed with lengths of water pipe. Two men had spoons whose edges had been ground razor-sharp.

All the rioters surrendered meekly.

Sheriff Don Carmichael said a new hacksaw and two extra blades were found in the cell. He said the prisoners apparently got the saw from an accomplice on the sidewalk below the cellblock windows.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Find Healing Substance That Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding — without surgery.

In case after case, pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne-S) — discovery of a world-famous research institute.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form under the name of Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores — money back guarantee.

"FOR WHITHER THOU GOEST..." — A man and his dog walk through the new front doors of the dormitory dedicated Sunday at the Leader Dogs for the Blind home in Rochester. Hundreds of other men and women have also walked away from this world renowned school with their dogs since its founding in 1939 to become self-sufficient and independent citizens. With the formal dedication of the new dormitory about 90 students a year will be handled in this brick building which cost $175,000. A non-profit institution, Leader Dogs for the Blind is supported by the United Health and Welfare Fund of Michigan, Inc., and by other public contributions. The Lions Clubs are the chief sponsoring organization.

Submit Charter for Walled Lake

December 7 Election Set for Vote, Officials Also to Be Named

WALLED LAKE — The newly completed charter for Walled Lake will be submitted to Gov. G. Mennen Williams this week for approval.

An election date has been set for Dec. 7 at which time residents may vote on acceptance of the charter, and elect seven councilmen and a justice of the peace.

Candidates for these offices will be nominated by petition. They are available from Clifford H. Smart, charter commission secretary, after Nov. 1.

Each petition must be signed by not less than 50 registered electors. At a recent meeting, the charter commission met with its attorney, Ray Munde, and approval was granted to chapter 18, which dealt with election procedures.

Report Knife Victim in Fair Condition

Walter Austin, 41, of 45 1/2 Hubbard Ct., is reported in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital today after suffering a knife wound in the chest Saturday night, during an argument in his apartment.

Austin also was quoted by Detective Sgt. John Williams as saying he would not sign a complaint in the stabbing.

Police, who said they found a 6-inch bread knife on the apartment floor, said they were notified by three women who reported they heard a quarrel while sitting on the front porch.

Hoffa's Endorsement of GOP Senator Rapped by Union Official

LOS ANGELES (AP) — James McDevitt, national director of the AFL's Labor League for Political Education (LLPE) took issue with James R. Hoffa, midwest teamsters union boss, over the weekend on the latter's endorsement of Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) for reelection.

Hoffa's endorsement threw AFL leaders into a tizzy during the weekend recess of the annual AFL convention. But for the moment they maintained an official silence to see what stand the Michigan Labor League for Political Education takes.

Some said privately they intended to support Ferguson's Democratic opponent, Patrick V. McNamara of Detroit, a long-time AFL member.

Normally the national LLPE makes no endorsements of its own but supports the political stands taken by state LLPE organizations. So leaders were awaiting with unusual interest the stand of the Michigan LLPE.

James H. Thorpe, secretary-treasurer of the Michigan State Federation of Labor, tentatively had set Oct. 1 as the date for a Michigan LLPE meeting to choose between Ferguson and McNamara.

But Thorpe left the AFL convention just ahead of Hoffa's announcement here last week that he was supporting Ferguson. This led to speculation among AFL leaders that the Michigan League, under Hoffa's influence, might refrain from endorsing either candidate.

Such action would be calculated to weaken McNamara's otherwise strong labor support.

Detroit to Hear Adlai Saturday

Stevenson Will Speak at Naval Armory for State's Dem. Candidates

By UNITED PRESS

Adlai Stevenson will come to the aid of his party in Michigan on Saturday with a campaign speech plugging Democratic candidates in the November elections.

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee will speak at a Detroit rally at 8 p.m. in the Brodhead Naval Armory, party officials said.

He will be joined on the speaker's platform by Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Patrick V. McNamara, Democratic senatorial candidate who hopes to unseat Sen. Homer Ferguson. (R-Mich.)

Meanwhile, campaign oratory flowed from both parties during the weekend.

Donald S. Leonard, out to wreck Williams' bid for an unprecedented fourth term as Michigan's chief executive, told a Republican rally at Muskegon that Democratic claims of unemployment in the state were "political fiction."

The former Detroit and state police commissioner said the only answer Democrats ever found to the unemployment question was a wartime economy.

Philip A. Hart, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, directed similar fire at the Republican party.

"I would question closely the quality of a candidate or political party that suggests that the only way to keep the American machine rolling is to have the false prop of a wartime economy," Hart told a Wayne County audience.

3 Motorists Injured in M-59 Accident

A three-car collision Sunday at M59 and Pontiac Lake Rds., injured all three motorists, when one driver tried to cross M59 during a break in traffic and struck another auto which glanced into a third car.

Mrs. Rebecca P. Baldwin, 51, of 72 N. Sanford St., who Waterford Township Police said tried to cross M59, was treated for head injuries at Pontiac General Hospital.

John F. Strong, 26, of 6383 Wilson, Waterford Township, driver of the car struck by Mrs. Baldwin's car, was admitted to the hospital with a rib fracture. His condition is listed as good.

Mrs. Elsie H. Gregory, 51, of 8216 Edworth, Detroit, operating the auto which smashed into Strong's vehicle, was admitted to the hospital with fractured right leg and knee, and left leg cuts. Her condition is reported as satisfactory today.

Clifton Metty to Head West Bloomfield UF

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Clifton Metty of Sylvan Lake will head the township's United Fund drive, according to directors of the Community Chest who met recently to plan the fall campaign.

A budget of $12,548 was approved for the drive, and a kickoff meeting at the township hall was scheduled for 8 p.m. on Oct. 7. The drive will open on Oct. 9.

Francis L. Ammerman was appointed as representative from the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the Community Chest directors.

Vorce Sentencing Slated for Today

William F. Vorce, 37, of 180 S. Paddock St., was scheduled to be sentenced today in Oakland County Circuit Court after pleading guilty last week to a negligent homicide charge in the death of his father, Ora F. Vorce, 63, of 1220 1/2 Baldwin Ave.

The elder Vorce died two days after a two-car crash June 19 at Telegraph Rd. and Orchard Lake Ave. He was a passenger in a car driven by his son, who later pleaded guilty to drunk driving before the negligent homicide warrant was issued.

Also scheduled for sentencing today is Wade Bartenbaker, 26, of 3025 Whitfield, Drayton Plains, on a breaking and entering charge.

One man will be arraigned on a robbery armed charge, two accused of carrying concealed weapons, another charged with breaking and entering and two who allegedly obtained money under false pretenses.

Police Arrest 3 Saturday Night in Liquor Raids

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — Three blind pigs raided simultaneously at 9:30 p.m. Saturday by Oakland County police brought the arrest of three men and confiscation of moonshine, home brew and liquor.

Held in the Oakland county jail for violation of the state liquor law are Booker T. Tate, 34, 10524 Hobart Court; Pete Dandridge, 35, 21614 Hewett Lane and McKinley Osby, 39, 10038 Gilmer Court.

Police said that they had been watching the places for several months, and the raids were conducted after evidence had been obtained. The three teams conducting the raids were Captain John Skidmore, Lieut. William Ware and patrolmen John Galins; Detective Samuel Wakefield, and Patrolmen Joseph Landino and Anniah Ruffin; Sgt. Edward Wilson and Patrolmen Hubert McInee and Larry Watkins.

Crash Blamed on Spider

MUSKEGON (UPI) — Mrs. Kathryn G. Gillard, 62, and two occupants of her car, were injured when a spider in the car distracted her and the vehicle overturned in a weekend accident, Muskegon Police reported today.

The United States now competes with China and Manchuria as one of the world's principal producers of soybeans.

State GI Reclaims Billfold, Romance

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A Monroe, Mich., soldier was ready to be married today to the girl he was supposed to have married Saturday. Ill luck intervened to cause the delay.

Sgt. Oakley Morrison, 24, en route to wed Doris Schatz, lost his billfold with $600 in travelers checks at Cincinnati, Ohio. Frantically he hunted, but couldn't find it. Two kindly women did, though, and took it to police.

Police traced it to Morrison. "Isn't it wonderful," Morrison exclaimed happily as he reclaimed his billfold and set off to marry the girl he met while both were serving in the armed forces, she as a Wac. They met in Paris, France where Morrison still is stationed.

Pole Explorer, 79, Back; Plans to Go Again in 1955

BOOTHBAY HARBOR, Maine, (AP)—Rear Adm. Donald B. Mac-

Millan, 79-year-old explorer returned only yesterday from his 30th trip to the far north, but already is making plans for another voyage there next year.

In the three months since he sailed from here, MacMillan said his 81-foot schooner at times bucked winds of 120 miles an hour on the trip to within 11 degrees of the North Pole.

Registration Week

With the registration deadline set for October 4, Mayor DONALDSON has proclaimed September 26 through October 2 "Registration Week."

His purpose is to persuade everybody not now registered, to qualify for voting in the State and Congressional election November 2.

County Clerk LYNN D. ALLEN has joined in urging everyone who has not voted in four years to make sure of his eligibility. The requirements are U.S. citizenship, six months residence in the State and 30 days in the County.

The vote this year in the County, State and Nation should be the largest in history. For the first time the number of Americans eligible to vote tops the 100,000,000 mark. In the State it is estimated there will be 223,000 more eligibles than in 1950. This is a percentage increase of 5.4.

In the midterm election of 1950 only 43.6 per cent of Michigan's registered voters went to the polls. Two years ago, however, 65.5 per cent of 4,229,000 cast a record total of ballots in the Presidential election. According to the Census Bureau, Michigan now has 4,360,000 civilians of voting age. This means that an all time high record vote should be cast here November 2.

Make sure you are registered.

Eisenhower in Hollywood

President EISENHOWER did more in his Hollywood Bowl address than ask voters to give him a Republican 84th Congress.

He pointed to several reasons, all vital to good government, why it is in the voter's interest to act on his appeal. Outstanding among them were the need of a Republican Congress to complete his legislative program and the efficiency that would be lost if control of the White House and Congress were divided.

Directing his appeal to disgruntled Democrats and independent voters as well as Republicans, the President listed legislation he hopes the 84th Congress will enact. In emphasizing the disadvantages of divided control, he said:

"The conduct of government tends . . . to deteriorate into an endless round of contests for political advantage—an endless round of political maneuverings, of stagnation and inaction, of half measures or no measures at all."

Other reasons listed by the President for voter support included his Administration's record of making good on its promises, budget paring, tax relief and improved defense.

"Today at a cost of billions less," he said, "we have an armed strength far more efficient and better organized than ever before—a defense stronger and readier in peacetime than it has ever been."

The President was in a fighting mood in Los Angeles and his address was reminiscent of his 1952 campaign speeches. We believe he is justified in his confidence that the voters will approve the excellent record of his Administration's first 20 months in office.

Killing the Tax Goose

There is a lesson for leaders of every tax levying community in how and why Tide Water Oil Company decided to solve its expansion problem.

On its plant at Bayonne, N. J., it was paying annual taxes of $1,800,000. Doubling the capacity of that plant to serve its seaboard customers would have increased the tax load to about $3,000,000.

Competitors operating along the Delaware River and on Chesapeake Bay pay taxes of only $300,000 to $400,000 a year. Tide Water, unwilling to shoulder the additional Bayonne tax handicap, decided to build an entirely new plant elsewhere.

There is no need to labor the lesson that stands out here. Undoubtedly there are many communities which operate on the mistaken notion that they can heap most of the tax burden on industry.

In so doing they not only kill their chances of attracting new industries but run the risk of driving out those they already have.

Crime at All Time High

An FBI report covering the first six months of 1954 shows crime in the United States at an all time peak.

In that period a total of 1,136,140 major crimes were reported. This is an increase of 88,850 or 8.5 per cent, over the same period last year. It means that a major crime is committed every 13.8 seconds.

Among the higher crimes, reductions were shown only in negligent manslaughter, rape and auto theft. Increases ranging up to 20 per cent were recorded in murder, robbery, assault, burglary and larceny.

The report doesn't estimate the financial cost of these crimes. But nothing is more certain than that they levy a hidden tax on every citizen.

The Man About Town
May Get a Strike

Prospects Appear Good in Nearest Oil or Gas Well

Education: A training that causes lazy minded people to try to get along without intelligence.

After nearly two years of work on Pontiac's nearest oil and gas well project, there now are indications that a strike may be made. In charge of the drilling on the Williams Farm in Springfield Township, Frank Summers says prospects are better around the 4,075 foot level than at the deepest point reached, 6,488 feet. If the indications at the lesser depth do not produce a satisfactory flow, the well will be pushed still deeper.

Residing on the same piece of property at 23 Grandle St. for 51 years,

He also recalls that the contractors paid the county a good sum for the gravel found on the courthouse site after the old brick building had been torn down to make room for the new one.

'Erect Court House on Present Site,' Says Attorney R. M. Corbit of Oxford

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I agree with the opinion of Attorney Clarence Patterson that the new court house should be erected at the present location.

With the removal of the old building now west of the present court house, there is ample space for the erection of a several story building ample for all needs and connected with the present building through an arch over the alley. By all means this is the logical location, in the center of the city.

The proposed new location is solely for parking advantages. The patrons of the present location find parking now which is all that the proposed new location could offer, with all of its greatly added inconvenience, for all patrons and employees.

Motorist Gives Her Views on the Traffic Situation

Now that school is in full swing, let's not blame our law officers for not catching more violators. If they had double the force they could not be in the right place all the time.

Parents, keep in mind our Creator will hold you responsible to do more than your duty as a parent. Sure, young children and teenagers can be very much in fault. I travel twice a day on one of the busiest highways. The traffic signs say 35 miles an hour and slow at schools, so we drivers must leave a bit early.

As I came to the four way stop at Sashabaw and Walton a lady came straight through—no stop for her, until she had to or hit me. I asked her why and the answer, "I have to get to work." Sure, this was a driver's fault but parents, you with children with bikes, warn them every day as they leave for school.

There were three boys on bikes the other day just ahead of me. I was driving 20 miles an hour with traffic behind me and them in front. No amount of my honking could make them move. Instead they called to me, "Try your lights" and "Let's beat her to the corner."

Drivers, with all these hazards we must double our caution. I for one want to watch the road instead of watching for the law. Remember, we will always have pedestrians and drivers that think they are smart to disobey the law.

Charles Crocker Agrees With Attorney Patterson

I thoroughly agree with Attorney Patterson in his remarks concerning the site of the proposed new court house.

The principle reason I voted against the proposal the last time was due to the proposed location, West Blvd. and Telegraph Rd.

Unless I am assured the new building will be erected on the present site of the old court house, I will again vote, "no."

Case Records of a Psychologist

Jealousy Based on Feeling of Inferiority in Most Cases of Troubled Marriage

Can you readers diagnose Jerry? His wife was actually worried lest he be losing his mind but he was simply berserk emotionally. She soon corrected his abnormality by the advice and bulletin mentioned today. You wives must be smart to avoid divorce.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
 Case M-325: Jerry L., aged 41, is a successful professional man.

"Dr. Crane, we have been happily married for 12 years," his wife informed me, "and have two boys in grammar school."

"I am five years younger than Jerry, and have been very active in the church and PTA work."

"He has been a wonderful husband to me in most respects. But from the very beginning of our marriage, he has been jealous."

"I didn't mind it so much at the start. Maybe I felt a little flattered at his concern over me. But in the last two or three years, Jerry has carried his jealousy to such extremes that I wonder if some thing may be wrong with his mind."

"He will leave for his office as usual about 8:30 in the morning. Then, without any warning, he may suddenly rush into the house at 11:15 or maybe 2:45 and look through all the rooms and closets, meanwhile claiming that I have been entertaining some other man."

"Dr. Crane, I have never looked at another man in a romantic way since my marriage and have never kissed one, so why should my husband make such absurd accusations?"

"He has lately begun to do all the shopping, too, for he says I am too friendly with the male clerks. He doesn't even want me to attend church lest I be flirting with the men I might meet. His charges are completely false, so I can't figure out what is wrong with him."

"My husband is a very passionate man, but I am the very opposite so his accusations seem all the more surprising. If I were a very passionate wife, maybe he might worry about me, but he knows I am not and has often called me frigid."

Jealousy is usually based on a feeling of inferiority. The victim is afraid that somebody else can influence his sweetheart more successfully than he can.

So he keeps a careful watch upon her in order to guard her against social contacts with these supposedly more masterful men whom he fears.

A man's feeling of inferiority often starts with the frigidity of his wife. He has heard many exaggerated stories about passionate women, so he expects his wife to react accordingly.

When she doesn't but is normally passive and relatively frigid, as average women are when measured by the normal male standard, such a husband thinks something must be wrong.

This makes him believe that maybe he is deficient in some manner, and therefore she doesn't get thrilled by him.

Then he imagines that other men are more adequate than himself, so he immediately begins to dread every male with whom she comes in contact.

He will torture himself with his wild jealousy and almost literally chain his wife to her own home. Jerry's jealousy is an excellent example of how far even a college trained man can go in his slavery to a false belief.

Jerry has become emotionally berserk until his wife actually wonders as to his sanity, and so might the neighbors if his wife hadn't kept her problem to herself.

The best cure for such jealousy is to learn the scientific facts about sex and thus discover the methods by which to change a frigid wife into an ardent mate.

Send for my medico-psychological bulletin "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus a dime. It contains the facts.

David Lawrence Says:
U. S. Is Making Promised
Reappraisal of Defenses

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The "agonizing reappraisal" — promised several months ago by the United States government in the event that France rejected the European Defense Community agreement—now is being made.

Serious consideration is being given here to an alternative strategy. This calls for the gradual withdrawal of the six divisions of American troops now stationed in continental Europe. It calls for an emphasis on air power to be applied from bases on land and sea encircling Soviet Russia.

Rejection of the European Defense Community agreement by the French Parliament is regarded curiously enough as a blessing in disguise by some of the military planners here.

All along they have felt that it was foolhardy to maintain six American divisions in Europe to be sacrificed in the event the Red army with its 200 divisions started to march toward France.

The London conference this week might conceivably offer on paper some new alignment of the European nations interested in defense including promises from France. But the chances of all this affecting the new American approach are remote. For the reappraisal has been carried to the point where any reversal would be regarded as a "gamble."

All this has been done without public announcement except some vaguely phrased warnings which probably are being mistakenly regarded in Paris as sheer bluff.

The United States government, moreover, is well aware that there may develop amid the confusing counsels in France a neutralist policy and even a drive for possible collaboration between Moscow and Paris. But such developments, instead of retarding or modifying the new American strategy, will only be regarded here as fortifying and justifying the "agonizing reappraisal" now in process.

What many Europeans have overlooked is that inside the United States for the last five years there has been a steady build-up of public opinion behind a movement to rely on the deterrent effect of air power as the best defense against the next war. Only a limited amount of money is available in the American budget anyhow if taxes are to be reduced. So the proponents of more air power have constantly been looking askance at the billions being spent, wastefully as they see it, to maintain a big American land army in Europe and to support the land armies of other countries.

The doctrines of the air-power enthusiasts fit in exactly with the latest developments in French policy. These are seen as demonstrating how unreliable the land-army situation can be when it is geared to France where 100 Communist deputies in the French Parliament can defeat a policy of defensive planning after more than two years of preparation.

American generals of ground forces have become impatient over the long delay in coming to a decision over the European Defense Community agreement. Now that the French have made their decision, the military planners here are switching their emphasis to what is called "peripheral strategy"—a strategy operated from bases on the outer edges of Europe.

This means reliance on land bases in Britain and the low countries and Germany in the approaches through the Baltic area. It means dependence on bases in Spain, Italy, Austria, Greece, Turkey, Iran and Pakistan, from which giant bombers can take off within a few hours flying time of the factories and military installations in the heart of Soviet Russia.

It means also more aircraft carriers for the Mediterranean and the north Atlantic. It means, in fact, the mobilization of Allied air power of all kinds to impress the rulers in the Kremlin that the real deterrent force is "massive retaliation." This phrase has been seized upon by the neutralists in Europe and a few misguided politicians in the Democratic party here as an object of ridicule. It is the core of American policy. "Massive retaliation" does not mean and never has meant intervention in "little wars" with atom weapons but a strategy for assisting the main attack that might come from the Red air force, means that airplanes of the United States carrying the superbomb will fly from places of their choosing but only in case of attack by Russia itself on the United States or any other member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Incidentally, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which has had its headquarters in Paris probably will be moved in the next few months to London or some other European center. For the United States as a result of the action of the French Parliament no longer feels committed to the kind of NATO command setup now in existence in Paris but only to the obligations of the treaty itself.

Since other ways of implementing the treaty seem desirable changes in its military strategy are inevitable also. It would appear that the United States government refuses to "gamble" any more with a hesitant, vacillating procrastinating France.

There is no bitterness toward France in all this but merely a regrettable reappraisal of the weakness of France which now regarded realistically as too tot from within by Communist-inspired dissension to play a full part in the defense of Europe in the year immediately ahead.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Many Doctors Disregard Death Rate When Ordering Tonsillectomy for Child

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Many times I have said that the major operation, tonsillectomy, is not necessary for satisfactory treatment of enlarged tonsils in children.

Tonsillectomy means removal of the tonsils. The ever ready operators boast that when they perform tonsillectomy they "get every bit of tonsil." If you don't know much about physiology and pathology—and many doctors don't—this sales talk may sound reasonable enough to lure you into the operating room. But I tell you it is preposterous.

The very idea of trying to "get every bit of tonsil" and leave no tonsil (lymphoid, adenoid, round cell) tissue in the throat commends that tonsil tissue in itself is malignant, harmful or likely to do harm. This is absurd.

So far as the enlarged (hypertrophic) tonsils of children are concerned, a doctor is no more justified in an attempt to dissect out "every bit of tonsil," in the major operation called tonsillectomy, than one would be in an attempt to remove any part of perfectly normal tonsils lest such tonsils give trouble in the future.

Mind, doctors and folks, we are talking about simple enlargement of tonsils in children. Tonsillectomy (instantaneously clipping or slicing off the obstructing portion of tonsil) is the best treatment for this in many instances—but by no means the only adequate treatment.

The sole purpose of treatment, of course, is to relieve obstruction of nasal breathing or to relieve obstruction of the eustachian tube, through which the middle ear cavity housing the hammer, anvil and stirrup, is ventilated and drained.

When such obstruction occurs from enlarged tonsils or from small masses of tonsil, adenoid, round cell tissue around the orifice of the eustachian tube in the naso-pharynx, the child suffers some impairment of hearing—which is too often ascribed to inattention or stupidity.

Alternatives for tonsillectomy are X-ray treatments or radon (radium emanation) treatments, which are painless and reasonably effective in shrinking the enlarged or swollen tonsils and/or adenoids.

Tonsillectomy is a major operation. I call it an atrocity.

Tonsillectomy is a minor operation.

Tonsillectomy has its own death rate—a dreadful fact, which I am afraid some doctors regard as insignificant, until tragedy happens.

The obstructing portion of tonsil may be snipped or sliced away with the tonsillotome almost instantaneously, under local anesthesia, or under light general anesthesia, or without an anesthetic—it hurts less than the extraction of a tooth without anesthesia.

It is conceivable that this minor operation, tonsillectomy, might prove fatal, but so might extracting a tooth or cutting a corn. In all my study and experience I encountered just one instance of tonsillectomy with fatal outcome.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 150 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, sent to disease, diet, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Pittsburgh to Handle Water Bill for Fountain
 PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pennsylvania has established a state park here complete with plans for a huge fountain. But it does not want to pay the water bill.
 The fountain is designed to shoot a column of water 100 feet or more in the air. The column will eject 6,000 gallons of water a minute, but the water will be recirculated and there will be little loss. The city council, after investigation, agreed to pay the water bill.

THIS LIGHT PREVAILED—Tall Cape Hatteras lighthouse, which is located in Cape Hatteras, N. C., owes its existence to the breeze-bent grain growing along the sandy beach. During the 1930s, the sea threatened to erode the ground away from the picturesque tower, and it was abandoned for a newer one further inland. National Park Service attempted to save the lighthouse, tallest on the Atlantic Coast, by planting grasses and sea oats in the sand dunes. Now the oats have stopped the mighty ocean's approach. The lighthouse has been reactivated.

Two Pontiac Men Meet Newsmen Freed by Reds

Two Pontiac men flew to Detroit on the same plane that carried Richard Applegate and Don Dixon, released Communist captives, to the east coast recently. Dixon and Applegate, both newsmen, were released two weeks ago after 18 months' imprisonment.

Robert B. Oliver of 278 W. Iroquois and D. E. Edstrom, 2335 Whitfield Dr., boarded the plane in Spokane. They had been in Canada on a hunting trip.
 "We discovered the two in the plane's lounge," Oliver said, "talking with a group of people."
 "They were very affable and not at all reluctant to answer questions," Edstrom added. "Also they were very happy and very tired. Their pallor was something I'd never seen in a human being before."

Oliver noticed that Applegate wore his ring on his index finger instead of the little or ring finger, indicating just how thin the men were.

Dixon told the men that he had seen his first sunset in 15 months the night before the Pontiac men boarded the plane.

The newsmen told the Pontiac hunters that the Communists questioned and brainwashed them daily. They were given no idea what they were supposed to confess. Finally, after 13 months, Applegate learned the Reds wanted confessions that the U.S. had used germ warfare in Korea. He finally did sign a confession.

"I'd never hold it against them," Oliver stated. "They were in terrible shape, and they had no idea what was going to happen to them—whether they were going to die or spend the rest of their lives in prison."

"After spending an hour and a half with them, I'll go along with that," Edstrom confirmed. "Applegate got more of the going over because he was older, and liable to know more."

To expedite movement of freight, 429 express freight trains are run daily on British railways. This is 138 more than before World War II.

Songstress Can't Resist the Sight of a Man's Legs

By PHYLLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK (NS) — Songstress Martha Wright is a keen observer of mankind and in that capacity she has something keen to observe about men's legs.

"I like them," is how she puts it.

Now this may seem curious—Martha's discoursing on such a knotty subject—because she's one of those lady-like types, a peach from Washington state.

But she has just completed a summer of barreling from coast to coast in her first convertible and, sort of in self-defense against the whistles she was grateful but embarrassed to receive, she and her traveling secretary began looking for their own whistle bait.

"And what did we find?" confides the peach in the manner of one who has just discovered uranium in her petunia patch. "We found hundreds of men swaggering around in Bermuda shorts, they looked better than in trousers."

They have a delighted, devilish little boy look about them—and any woman who can resist that look is long dead!

But the average male knee, Martha? Isn't it?

"It's marvelous," says Martha firmly. "I don't know why women should think they have a corner on nude knees. Why, only the really spindly-legged men look poor in shorts. The average to heavier men look delightful—which is more than you can say for us girls, most of whom were simply not designed for pants."

Martha, star of "South Pacific" and her own TV show, has no commercial interest in shorts for men—"Honest, lady, my sponsor (on TV) is an auto maker"—but she's taken the Bermuda shorts trend to her heart and has gone so far as to encourage her dates to wear same when they take her out to cocktails and dinner.

"Some of them may think I'm crazy," she says tolerantly, "but that's because they don't understand. For years, I've felt simply terrible—guilt complex, y'know—when I'd go out in a sleeveless dress with no hose and two scraps for shoes, while my dates were wrapped in wool from chin to ankle."

"Now, if they wear shorts, I feel they are every bit as stylish."

And yet they have that all-important draft-in-the-middle makes the difference between life and listlessness on a hot day."

On thing depressed Miss Wright as she reminisced about her cross-country crusade. Knee-length shorts are not being adopted—"not even by the sports"—in the midwestern states. Which is silly, she says. Because it's hotter there than in the East and West where the exposed knee is catching on, so to speak.

"What the Kansans and their neighbors need more than anything is that draft-in-the-middle. But the few times I got a chance to recommend it to a man, he'd always say shucks he'd feel foolish. But they'll get the word," says Miss Wright brightly. "I believe by next summer this shorts thing'll be hotter than the weather."

There are still plenty of opponents to the trend. "I hear they won't allow even the most conservative knees in the Stork Club," mourns Martha. "And some of my friends—women, yet—are still denying their men the right to wear them."

"But the opposition will finally crumble, I predict, because this thing is really rolling and men are getting less inhibited by the summer."

They'll probably never wear shorts in place of evening clothes, however, concedes Miss Wright. "Men are too vain—much vainer than women, really," she explains. "When they go out for the night, they want to dress fit 'em—even if it kills them."

Victim of Crash to Get $250,000 for Paralysis

NEW YORK (NS)—As a federal judge put it, the government has shown it has "a heart" by awarding $250,000 damages to a civilian consultant who was severely injured in the crash of an Air Transport Command plane in 1951.

The award goes to Samuel Mazzarelli, 33, of Newburgh, N.Y., who was permanently paralyzed in all four limbs after the plane went down near Fort Dix, N.J. Mazzarelli, an Air Force veteran and father of a 5-year-old son, had been a $5,000 a year engineering adviser employed by United Aircraft Corp. and assigned to the ATC.

Judge Irving R. Kaufman signed the award yesterday and commented:

"I commend the U.S. attorney in this case for having the fortitude and strength to put through a settlement like this one. It shows that the government is not run by mechanical people but by persons who have a heart and conscience."

Homicide Witness Kills Self Before Trial Opens

FREDERICK, Md. (NS)—A woman under bond as a material witness in a homicide killed herself yesterday after she had called to her employer, "I think I'll shoot myself."

Sheriff Horace Alexander said Reva Wiles Clary, 38, was to have testified at the trial of William W. Bennett, shot herself in the head. She had testified last week before a grand jury which indicted Bennett on a charge of "assault with intent to murder" Charles H. Harmon.

At West Point, in the days when every room of the United States Military Academy had a fireplace, loose bricks were commonly found in the hearth. The space behind could be used as a hiding place for "boodle"—forbidden food or drink.

AFL May Ask Fund ProtectionDelegates Expected to Demand Unions Guard Against Welfare Fraud

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The American Federation of Labor convention headed into its final session today with delegates expected to demand that AFL unions safeguard member welfare funds from fraud.

A strong statement readied for expected convention approval was reported to condemn as "traitors" any union officials who dip into the rich funds for their own use.

The convention statements reportedly will pledge AFL cooperation in new welfare fund investigations launched by the Senate and House, but suggest the probes include employer and insurance company practices in administering the funds.

Delegates were expected to steer clear of calling for federal legislation to establish welfare fund checks as President Eisenhower has suggested.

However, most AFL leaders indicated they are not opposed to such legislation. Two AFL vice presidents, David Dubinsky and George Harrison, have publicly called for legislative curbs. Dubinsky expressed doubt that unions can do an adequate safeguarding job on their own.

A rush of resolutions was due at final convention sessions with AFL president George Meany and other officers expected to be re-elected.

Mom Finds 3 Tots, Sitter Asphyxiated

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A Scranton woman returned home yesterday from a wedding party to find her three small children and their elderly baby sitter dead.

Dr. Paul E. Kabasko, Lackawanna County coroner, ruled the deaths were caused by accidental asphyxiation.

Mrs. Ruth Gospoderek told police she returned home at 1:30 Sunday morning to find the dead bodies. Patricia Ann, 21 months, was in her crib; Mary Jane, 5, was in bed, and 4-year-old Kathleen Ann was snuggled against the baby sitter, John Bell, 65, on the divan. Mrs. Gospoderek said she found an oven jet partially opened. Her husband, Jack, died last April.

Hal Boyle Says:New Comic Books Czar Takes His Job Seriously

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Any parent who has to read the comics aloud regularly to his children may sympathize with Judge Charles F. Murphy.

In the new few weeks Judge Murphy, the new czar of the comics book industry, intends to study every comics publication in America, line by line, drawing by drawing.

"There are 350 titles," said the judge, a tall, big-framed, 44-year-old Irishman, "and I intend to read every one of them myself, until I can assemble a staff."

Disturbed by criticism that the so-called "funnies" had become a bad influence on children, the Comics Magazine Assn. of America, headed by John Goldwater, decided the 200-million-dollar-a-year industry needed a code of ethics and a strong man to enforce it.

Because of his record for helping youth, they offered the post to Murphy, former legal advisor to Mayor LaGuardia and a city magistrate for the last 9 years. They promised him complete authority, full cooperation and a $100,000 annual budget to do the job.

"I wouldn't have considered it at all if I weren't given a free hand," said Murphy. "Even so, it was a difficult decision to make."

"So I put it up to my wife and three children. We had a family council. I asked them whether they thought I could fill the role naturally, and after we talked it all over, they decided I could."

Murphy, who has neither false pride nor false modesty, said he would use his authority forcefully. "I don't intend to let any family down in this job, and certainly not my own," he said.

"The publishers who conform to the code will carry an approved seal on the covers of all their books. Those that don't conform will be denied the seal—and they'll be publicly expelled from the association."

Many educators already have offered help in drawing up the code, which Murphy says will be stringent but simple.

"There will be no more horror and terror books," he said. "They will have to conform to the ordinary standards of good taste. 'Criminals won't be glamorized

There will be no more suggestive art. Family life will be shown in the right perspective."

In his years on the bench Judge Murphy organized several projects to combat juvenile delinquency.

"I found that once a kid landed in court there were a number of agencies to help him," he said. "But there weren't enough agencies working to keep him from getting into the kind of trouble that led him to a courtroom."

Murphy founded a weekly radio program, "Youth Talks It Over," in which high school pupils could talk over their own adolescent problems with him. He is also founder of Teen Plan Inc., a private organization devoted to helping teenagers find suitable careers.

"Paramount in my mind in dealing with young peoples," the judge said, "was the desire to avoid the frustration many people feel throughout their adult life because they got off to the wrong start."

"All kids, whether they show it or not, are deeply troubled over what they are going to make of themselves."

"They all need an adult with whom they can talk over these problems. But they can't stand to be laughed at. And no matter how ridiculous their dreams may seem to a grownup, he should never laugh at them."

An example of Judge Murphy's thoroughness was the case of a young boy who said he wanted to become a yo-yo salesman.

"He was serious about it—he wasn't joking," said the judge. "So I located a firm that made yo-yos and had one of the men talk with him about it, so the boy could decide for himself, after investigating, whether he really wanted to go into that field."

Murphy doesn't believe that comic books in themselves are ever "the initial cause" of juvenile delinquency.

"It all goes back to the initial training in the home," he said. "You have to housebreak a child as you do a dog, except that you go farther—you teach him he must live up to the standards of the community as well as those you set in your home."

"Home training is forever basic. If children don't get the right discipline from the start, they'll later get into trouble by the hundreds, no matter what kind of homes they come from—rich, middle class or poor."

Believe Wanderer Suffering Amnesia

KALAMAZOO (U) — Lawrence O'Brien, 38, assistant manager of a Kalamazoo supermarket who had been missing eight days, was found last night as he walked along railroad tracks near Vicksburg.

Police Chief Victor Smoke of Vicksburg said O'Brien apparently was suffering from amnesia.

Chief Smoke said O'Brien apparently didn't remember anything, except that he once worked in a store.

Except for exhaustion, Under-sheriff Bertram K MacGregor said O'Brien appeared in good health and apparently had lived on fruits and vegetables taken from farms and gardens.

Sophisticate Hildegard in Her Debut at Pierre

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — People are waiting on street corners today to read about Hildegard—the dear that made Milwaukee famous—and her new partner, Jack Whiting, the beloved singing and dancing father-in-law of Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

You're not? That's the wrong attitude, Mac.

They made their joint debut at the Pierre. They were sleek, slick, sophisticated, good-looking, and had talent to burn. They didn't burn any of it, though.

Hildegard's jokes have improved, although I admit I even liked 'em years ago when they were lousy—and, boy, weren't they!

"The management wishes to announce that all money taken in Monday night, Tuesday night and Wednesday night," she says, "will be taken to the bank Thursday morning!"

Or: "Las Vegas is the only town in the world where people sit in Cadillac and count nickels."

She's even got Jack, Broadway's creak-less dancing star and perennial juvenile, doing it, as when he says:

"Years ago when Hildegard first came to this country from Milwaukee..." Me old heart palpitated at her gifted pianoing and Jack's inspired soft-shoeing. Jack wound it up by singing:

"If you think that driving a truck is hard then try doing a dance with Hildegard"

HILDEGARDE

After a toupee was plastered on Leo Durocher to wear, as a gag, on the Red Skelton TV show, Leo looked at it and said: "The guy who picked this for me must have been a Brooklyn fan." The makeup man spoke up: "He is!"

JACK WHITING

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

The Lord Tarleton Hotel in Miami Beach, favorite spot of Al Jolson and other stars, may change hands. Walter Jacobs reportedly has a $1,500,000 offer... Jackie Gleason has a big deal to star at the Paramount over Thanksgiving. But it may be changed because "A Star Is Born," scheduled there, conflicts.

ABC fired a whole platoon of executives... Sugar Ray Robinson's reported back in training, secretly. Rocky Graziano's comment: "He'd be nuts to fight again"... Former model Betty Metcalf, who's in the movie "New Wine" with Ingrid Bergman, is here to become a TV fashion commentator.

A wealthy New Yorker won 12 G's on roulette in Las Vegas—betting via phone from Dallas... Newest bra name: Inside Curve... Martin & Lewis get the Friars' testimonial dinner in March... Zarah Cunningham, who quit the Gleason TV'er to join "Fanny," is back with Jackie. (She plays Mrs. Van Gleason.)

EARL'S PEARLS: Lettuce and tomatoes go together—but the kind of tomato you get depends on the kind of lettuce you have.—J. X. Townley.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Ted Steele advises: "Love thy neighbor—he may get a color TV set before you do." "In dieting," suggests Jackie Kannon, "the thing to remember first is to forget seconds."

... That's earl, brother.

Industrial Aid Is Sought Abroad

Appeal to World Bank Subsidiary to Assist Private Enterprise

WASHINGTON (U) — The World Bank was confronted today with a swelling appeal from underdeveloped countries for new sources of money to speed their industrial expansion.

Creation of a proposed "international finance corporation," as a World Bank subsidiary, was being pushed by more than 30 of the 57 nations represented at the joint annual meeting of the bank and the International Monetary Fund.

Several delegations were expected to speak up on the subject at today's meeting of the bank's Board of Governors which will take up the annual report of President Eugene R. Black.

Black's report, filed Saturday, indicated progress has stalled on organization of the proposed corporation which, unlike the bank, would lend to and invest in private enterprises in less-developed countries without obtaining from the governments concerned any guarantees of repayment.

Black reported that the countries on which the corporation would have to depend for its funds—the United States would be foremost—"are not at the present time prepared to commit themselves to subscribe the capital."

Police Seek Slayer of Boy and Sitter

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (U)—While police sought a frenzied slayer, funeral services were scheduled today for 4-year-old Stephen Goldberg, who died with his pretty teen-age sister Saturday night in a savage knife assault.

Friends of slain Lynn Ann Smith, 14, were questioned by authorities yesterday on the theory she and the Goldberg youngsters, son of a well-to-do wholesale meat dealer, might have been stabbed to death by someone who knew the young sister.

The bodies of the two victims were found by the slain youngster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Goldberg, when they returned from a night out, Stephen's 6-year-old brother, Robert, slept unharmed in a rear bedroom.

Police, who ruled out robbery as a possible motive, said their one tangible clue, is a girl's hat found on the Goldberg's front sidewalk. They questioned several girls in an attempt to establish ownership.

There are only 24 bandy-legged whooping cranes in all of North America.

Newsman Finds East Germans Boiling With Hatred for Communist Masters

(A trip deep into East Germany on the occasion of the annual Leipzig State Trade Fair enabled Joseph H. Singer, Berlin bureau manager for International News Service, to take a good, long look at what life is like on the other side of the Iron Curtain in Germany. The following article is the first of three in which Singer tells what he saw and heard.)

By JOSEPH H. SINGER

LEIPZIG, East Germany (INS)—"I'd rather be a prisoner in America than be living here in East Germany."

Those words, carefully whispered into your ear, jolt you.

You're an American. You're standing on a street corner in Leipzig, deep in the heart of Communist East Germany. Thousands of foreigners are bustling about this dreary gray city.

It's "Leipzig Fair" time, the yearly big propaganda industrial fair the Communists stage to lure Western businessmen.

Once yearly, during fair time, foreigners can enter the Red Reich and feel the true atmosphere of communism. Unlike the Soviet Union, here you can talk quite freely to the people.

In fact they insist on telling you how horrible life is under communism.

East Germans take to you like a father confessor. Why?

You listen to one of them. He's a dark-haired fellow in his middle 30's. His thin trenchcoat is belted tightly around his threadbare suit. At first you suspect he is a secret policeman trying to bait you.

But you change your mind as he goes on:

"I was a prisoner-of-war in America in 1945. It's a good country. I want to go back."

Still not believing him, you ask him where he was kept in the United States.

"St. Leonard Wood, Missouri. Camp Hill, Colorado, and in Nebraska."

He speaks English because the crowd of other East Germans standing around probably has at least two or three informers listening for just such conversations. His English is slow but understandable. He says he learned it while in the U.S.

"It's good to be able to say these things," he tells you with a sigh of relief that comes from the tips of his toes.

"We can't say what we think to another German. We can't trust our neighbors anymore. Here if you criticize the government, tomorrow, flick! You disappear. It's horrible how we have sunk to hate and distrust everyone else."

He goes on saying that since you are American, he knows he can trust you. So he gets "it" off his chest. As he speaks you notice he seems to be relaxing slightly. Lines in his face soften.

This you see happen time and time again as people in the street stare at your American car, check the license plates carefully, and then cautiously, but hopefully ask:

"Are you a foreigner? An American?"

As soon as you say yes, the flood gates open and out comes a flood of misery and hate:

Misery inflicted by the harsh rule of communism which is turning people into animals, they tell you.

Hate for the Communist overlords who have beaten down their subjects.

You not only hear it—you feel it with every pore of your skin.

Despite all the whitewash put up for the fair, you can easily see through the false fronts. Stores apparently with full windows are besieged with East Germans buying, buying, buying what normally is seldom seen in East Germany.

A middle-aged housewife tells you:

"Sure, all this looks good to foreigners. But the day the fair ends, there will be nothing more left for us. We have to wait for the next fair to get these things."

For this reason, Leipzig residents were happy to hear that the Red government intends to hold two fairs a year, as was done before the war. This means they will be able to stock up on scarce items, mostly essential foods, twice a year instead of just once.

Sculptor Exhibits Work

By DONNA ANDERSON
A man interprets the life about him—in this finding an occupation for his hours.
We, in turn, look upon the objects he creates and enjoy the rhythms of his plans through our powers of sight and touch.
Those who consider this pleasure a justification, in itself, for art, may note with interest that a new exhibition opened Saturday at the museum of the Cranbrook Academy of Art.

The museum is presenting over 35 of Glenn Chamberlain's works of the last decade. He is currently head of the sculpture department at the academy.
Coming to Cranbrook as resident sculptor in 1932, the artist's previous teaching appointments have included Des Moines Art Center, Bard College and the University of Colorado. His works have been shown in the major American sculpture exhibitions.
Eva I. Gattling, curator of the museum says of Mr. Chamberlain's work, "It covers a wide range—from stylized realism to complete abstraction."

"He uses most of the major media (versatile treatments of various woods; terra cotta, bronze and welded metal) in harmonic relationship between material and object created. In all, the sensitivity and integrity of his aesthetic vision shows clearly."

A native of Missouri, the artist began his formal education as a student of Grant Wood in Stone City, Iowa. Later he entered the Minneapolis School of Art and in 1937 worked with Zarach in the Art Students League.
His studies have taken him to Mexico and to Europe where a brief period was spent in the studios of Zadkine.

Mr. Chamberlain's work is modern, revealing, it appears, a definite personal outlook on expression as he relates the history and philosophy of art to the changing times.

This exhibition will continue through Oct. 25. The museum is open to the public daily 2 to 5 p.m. except Mondays.

Rhoda Henshilwood Wed in Episcopal Ceremony

A platinum satin gown was worn by Rhoda Henshilwood as she approached the altar of All Saints Episcopal Church Saturday evening to become the bride of Kendall D. Taylor.
The bride is the daughter of Mrs. George Henshilwood of North
Perry street and Mr. and Mrs.
Paul B. Taylor of West Iroquois road are his parents.

The bride's gown was fashioned with molded bodice, buttoned with tiny self-covered buttons from collar to fitted hipline.
Opalescent sequins and seed pearls surrounded the Peter Pan collar and deep rounded yoke of lace. The skirt ended in a cathedral train.

The cathedral-length circular-cut veil was secured by a hand-smocked Juliet cap of satin trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of stephanotis, shattered carnations and vines, centered with a white orchid.

The bride was given in marriage
by Robert A. Bilton of Grosse Pointe.

Mrs. Quinten Evans of Detroit attended the bride as matron of honor, wearing a floor-length gown of aqua crystal with matching jacket and an aqua headpiece of feathers. She carried a modernistic bouquet of bronze poms and crocus leaves.

Bride Wears Chantilly Lace for Her Wedding Saturday

A blush pink gown of nylon tulle
Nancy Jayne Bruck Saturday evening as she approached the altar of Christ Methodist Church, Detroit, to become the bride of Park Leigh Watson.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Bruck of Barrington road and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Watson of Lincoln avenue.

The Rev. John L. Adams performed the candlelight service at 7:30 before an altar decorated with vases of white gladioli, carnations and chrysanthemums;
pinks and candelabra.

The bride's gown was fashioned with a scoop neckline and ballerina-length skirt. A nylon tulle veil was secured by a skull cap of Chantilly lace edged with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bou-quet of white roses, stephanotis and variegated ivy, centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Douglas F. Watson attended the bride as matron of honor wearing a ballerina-length gown of silk chiffon in bonbon pink fashioned with a molded bodice and bouffant skirt. She wore a pink veil and carried a semi-colonial cascade arrangement of Happiness roses tied with matching ribbon.

Stanley D. Watson served as his brother's best man and Douglas F. Watson, brother of the bridegroom, and Robert Irwin acted as the groomsmen.

Receptions were held in the parlors following the ceremony and in the Barrington road home of the bride's parents.

The bride's mother wore a champagne peau de soie silk cocktail dress with a pink velvet rhinestone studded hat and matching gloves.
Her corsage was a lavender orchid.

The bridegroom's mother chose a periwinkle blue velvet dress fashioned in princess style with matching hat studded with bugle beads and a lavender orchid corsage.

The new Mrs. Watson changed to a charcoal gray, worsted and silk-tailored suit with amethyst velvet hat and black accessories for a trip to Washington, D.C., and Virginia Beach. She carried a fur scarf and wore a white orchid
corsage.

Upon their return they will reside on North Perry street. The bride attended the Business Institute and he attended Alma College where he was affiliated with Zeta Sigma fraternity.

Mrs. Robert Croza Honored Saturday

Mrs. Sam Xenos was hostess in her New York street home Saturday evening for a farewell party honoring Mrs. Robert Croza. Mrs.
Croza will leave for France on Oct. 30 to join Mr. Croza.

Guests were Mrs. Joseph Bowers, Mrs. Norval Gee, Mrs. Marguerite Appart, Mrs. Eugene Nobile, Mrs. Howard Guelker, Janice Antona, Mrs. Clarence Kitson and Mrs. Maxine Ascelpiade.

Spreads Less Linty

Woven candlewick bedspreads are more practical than ever from the sudsing standpoint. This is due to having the tufts made of rayon which sheds less lint than cotton during laundering.

DIANE SMITHSON
Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smithson of Mott street announce the engagement of their daughter, Diane, to Marion A. Shepard. He is the son of Grant Shepard of Rochester.

Laverne Kielack Becomes Bride

James Joseph Richards of Augusta avenue claimed Laverne Ruth Kielack of Prall street as his bride on Sept. 18 in St. Michael church. She is the daughter of the Walter Kielacks of Chicago, Ill.

The bride wore a blue-gray suit with white and blue accessories and a corsage of white gladioli.
Christine Irvin was her only attendant. Michael Byron attended the bridegroom.

Cater to Baby Hates

If baby "wears" his carrots instead of eating them (turns the dish upside-down in rebellion), don't worry. He'll live nicely without them for a week or two, and then he'll probably suddenly relish carrots and abhor some other item of food.

The wise thing to do is to give your highchair gourmet a "vacation" from the food currently on his "hate list," and casually introduce it into his diet at a later time.

Missionaries Present Program

Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of First Baptist Church heard a message by Mrs. Herbert Smith, missionary to Venezuela, at the Thursday meeting held in the educational building.

Pictures of missionary work were shown by Mr. Smith and greetings were given by Leone Fletcher, missionary from Bolivia and by Mrs. George Kennedy who will return to the Belgian Congo on Oct. 15.

Plans for the year were made and it was announced that the Christmas program and offering for the missionaries will be held Nov. 17.

Dr. and Mrs. Dana P. Whitmer were honored at a tea Sunday held at Lincoln Junior High School. At right is Mrs. William Wright of Chippewa road who served as general chairman of the tea. Photographed with Dr. and Mrs. Whitmer are their children Richard and Judy. Dr. Whitmer is the new superintendent of Pontiac schools.

School Head and Family Are Honored

Open House is Held at Lincoln Junior Sunday Afternoon

Seven educational groups combined to honor Dr. and Mrs. Dana P. Whitmer with an open house Sunday.

Those who helped receive the hundreds of guests arriving at Lincoln Junior High School included Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. DuFrain, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cecil Cox, Mrs. William Wright who was general chairman of the open house, Mrs. Paul Gorman, Henry Elling, John Buchanan, Josephine Stilwell, Gerald White and Glenn Griffin.

Serving with Mrs. Gorman and Mrs. Harry King on the hospitality committee were Mrs. Socrates Sekles and Mrs. Forrest E. Brown.

The program was planned by William Coffing, Mrs. Thomas Dodson, Josephine Stilwell, Mrs. Kenneth Healy and Mr. Elling.

Refreshments were arranged by Mrs. William Mihalek, Mrs. Wayne Weaver, Mrs. Merlin Sanderson, Mrs. Lyle Cox, Mrs. Donald North, Mrs. Jack Hodges and Mrs. William Thomas.

Mistress of ceremonies was Vera Mae Adams and the Pontiac High School Senior Girls' Ensemble directed by Mrs. Jeanette Weston, sang two selections.

Mrs. Carl Leonard sang two solos accompanied by Charles Wilson, and William Coffing sang accompanied by Joanne Wilson.

Background music was furnished by Melvin Staebler and Ray Ebey. Sponsoring organizations were the Pontiac Council of Parent Teacher Associations, the Pontiac Board of Education, Pontiac Administrators and Supervisors Association, and the Association for Childhood Education.

Other groups included the Pontiac Education Association, the Pontiac Federation of Teachers and the Federation of Women's Clubs.

Circles Entertained

Several circles of the WSCS of Wilson Avenue Church met recently. Mrs. Henry Gabert was hostess in her Jessie street home for members of the Mary Eddy Circle. Agnes Hilton, Mrs. Harry Going, Mrs. I. A. Woodard, Mrs. E. G. Clark and Mrs. Harry Chapman, members of the General Richardson Chapter of DAR traveled to Cadillac Saturday where they took part in the dedication of 100 acres of memorial forest.

Mrs. Chapman, chairman of nature conservation for Michigan DAR presided at the ceremony. Michigan DAR has financed the planting of small acreages of seedlings in the Manistee National Forest over a period of years as memorials to deceased members.

Mrs. Ralph Newland of St. Joseph, state regent, gave the dedicatory speech and unveiled the marker.

Last week, Mrs. Melville H. Luttrell joined other board members for regional meetings in various cities in the lower peninsula of the state. General Richardson chapter had 15 members attending at Lathrup. Mrs. Frank Geris, regent of the Pontiac chapter and Mrs. Chapman took part in the program.

Electric Misuse Causes 12 Pct. of Home Fires

WASHINGTON (INS) — Twelve per cent of home fires have been blamed on the misuse of electricity according to safety experts with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

They reported that overloaded wires have become an increasing home hazard as families plug in more electrical equipment, especially high-wattage and automatic appliances, without modernizing household wiring systems.

Overloaded wires, the specialists explained, blow fuses or over-heat and damage insulation, then may start fires smoldering in the walls.

According to some estimates, as many as half the U. S. home wiring systems need modernizing to keep pace with air-conditioners, clothes dryers, television sets, home freezers and many other appliances.

By 1955 well-equipped homes are expected to be using twice as much electricity as in 1945.

Sisters Plan Event for Parents

Sample Invitation Given to Answer Girls' Questions

By EMILY POST

A daughter writes: "My parents will soon celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. My two sisters and I would like very much to give a reception for them but we are puzzled as to how the invitations should be worded."

"I am single but my other two sisters are married. Also, we don't want any of the guests to feel that they have to bring a present. Would it be proper to include 'No presents, please' at the bottom of the invitations?"

All three names are used at the head of the invitation in the order of your ages—your oldest sister first:

Mrs. Oldest Sister
Mrs. Next Sister
and Miss Young Sister
hope you will come in on Friday evening, March 1st at 9 o'clock to help celebrate their parents' Golden wedding Anniversary. "No presents, please."

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to display a portrait of the founder of a company in the reception office of that company while he is still alive?

I think that this is proper only after his death, or retirement, from the company and that as long as he is still active in the firm, displaying his portrait in this way is not proper. Will you please give your opinion?

It is entirely proper to display the portrait now.

Dear Mrs. Post: If a boy friend brings me a corsage to wear to a dance he is taking me to, is it proper to wear it regardless of whether or not it goes with the dress I am wearing that particular evening?

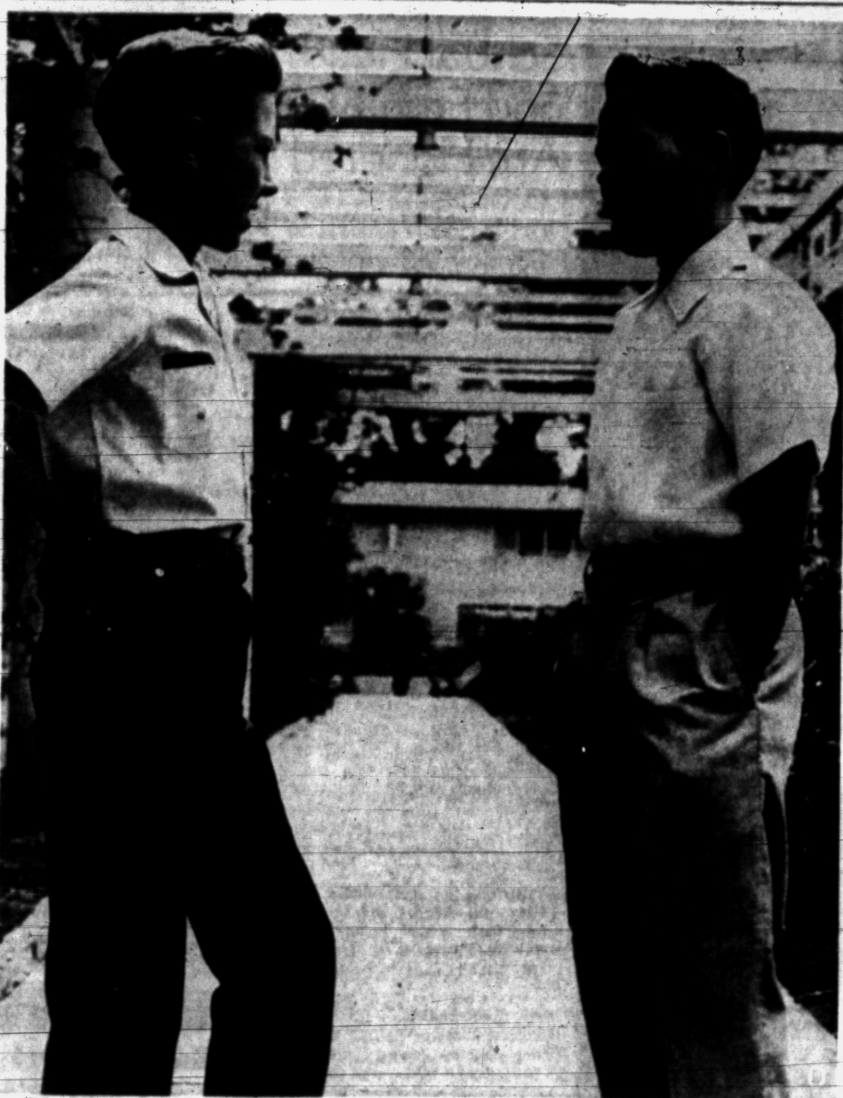

If possible you wear a dress becoming to it. If you can't, you must wear the corsage anyway.

Early Explanation of Life Is Best

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Howard was four and a half when he learned he was to become a brother. Some time later, he commented one day on his mother's changed appearance. Instead of ignoring him, she recognized her appropriate opportunity to tell him how babies were born.

He accepted the information without great surprise. Two days before, he had felt much greater astonishment to discover a hatched butterfly in the box in which he'd been keeping a chrysalis.

Two years later his mother seized another appropriate moment to increase his sex information. It came the afternoon the baby of a pretty young neighbor was born.

Before the neighbor left for the hospital, she was greatly agitated because she couldn't reach her husband at his office telephone. Howard was disgusted with her.

That evening, as his mother was telling his father what a hard time she'd had locating the young neighbor's husband, he exploded. He said: "What's the matter with her? Why couldn't she have her baby by herself without bothering her husband? Gee, I think she's an awful fussy."

He accepted the news of the male role in conception as easily as he'd accepted the female's in the giving of birth.

I believe in early sex instruction of children.

Those of us who don't might try to remember what it was like to be four, six and seven years old.

At these ages, we are so used to new marvels that they are commonplace. We are so accustomed to a miracle a minute in this Place of Wonders that the miracle of conception and birth is accepted as naturally as others.

Our first snow falls: soon we are playing in it as though we'd always played in snow. One minute we scream at the vacuum cleaner's roar; the next, we are demanding rides on it.

Watch a child at the seashore. How long does it take him to make friends with the waves? After the first encounter with the sea, he doubted five minutes ago, is he happy with it—or isn't he?

This blessed readiness to make friends with new things, people and ideas is the special gift of early childhood that has not been poisoned by adult confusions.

If we are wise, we use it. We seize our appropriate chances to unfold to little boys and girls the great wonder of conception and birth before evil gets its chance to contaminate their innocent trustfulness. If we tell it simply, it is always simply received.

Make More Closet Room With Double Deck Rods

By ELIZABETH HILLIER

The usual place may not be the best place for a hanging pole in a well-organized closet. Are inches above it going to waste? What about the extra square inches below hanging garments?

Use them and they may make a big difference in the efficiency of the closet. In a man's closet, for example, a double-deck plan with two hanging poles can double the room for his suits and jackets—even make room for those hunting and fishing jackets that there never is a place for.

In the closets of homes that have high ceilings, extra hanging poles just below the ceiling can take garment bags full of clothing, and perhaps draperies and slipcovers, that are not in current use.

Double-deck hanging is helpful for children's closets, too. Raising the pole even a few inches may make a big difference in the closet of ordinary ceiling height.

Shoe racks there wasn't room for before, and perhaps storage boxes, may fit in.

Little storage cabinets might be placed on one side of a woman's closet under her jackets and blouses.

You May Profit by Getting Fooled

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Thank you, Wetumkans, for paying his hotel bill.

For a long time I've believed that it's better to be a sucker than to be perpetually scared somebody is going to do you. I know so many suspicious-minded, miserable human beings who are always on the agonized alert because they are sure they will be cheated or over-charged.

On the other hand, I've also known delightful men and women who occasionally are taken advantage of simply because they are so open-hearted, generous and kind. I prefer them.

The citizens of Wetumka, Okla., are in that category. Four years ago they were so trusting when the traditional smooth-talking stranger came to town that they believed every word he said. He identified himself as an advance man for a circus which he promised would be along soon.

He sold advertisements in a projected program to local merchants, ordered many yards of hot dogs from the butchers, thousands of buns from the bakers and seven tons of hay to feed elephants. He finished by leaving town without paying his hotel bill.

The gallant Wetumkans, minus considerable money, plus too many hot dogs, buns and hay, had a good laugh at themselves and whipped up a little circus of their own, complete with refreshments composed of their overstock. Every year since, they have celebrated "Sucker Day," and invited the confidence man to come back to town and get a $100 suit of clothes.

He never replies but they have fun speaking of him familiarly and even affectionately as if he were a fellow townsman.

I was discussing this whole subject not long ago with an expert on the subject of grabbing from life what you want.

"A person should really be glad every time he is fooled or deliberately misled," I philosophized. "He learns something and is never fooled that way again."

The expert shook her head decisively. "Oh, no," she demurred. "Nobody should allow himself to be exploited. Life is competitive. Many people are out to do others. It is not good to be too suspicious, but neither should one be too naive. I'm for more self-love, more self-centeredness. Such qualities give a better sense of balance."

Even as she spoke I thought of two examples to disprove her point. One is a woman whose disposition has been completely transformed by a single experience with a dishonest employee whom she trusted implicitly. Ever since her experience with treachery, as she calls it, she has been suspicious of everybody's motives. And she's a miserable woman as a result.

The other woman who never trusts anybody, hasn't a close friend to her name. Even her relatives dread being with her. She makes the grocery checker go through her bill twice and then checks it herself.

Nobody has ever satisfied her, and strangely enough (or perhaps it's not so strange) workmen employed by her do seem to skimp on time and effort. Therefore she's always disgusted and complaining—and being cheated. So who's the sucker?

Happy-days, Wetumkans, I do believe you're on the right track!

Girl Scares Boy Away by Chasing She Should Stay Away So Lad Will Really Miss Her

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm going with a boy I like very much, but he lives 15 blocks away from me. We used to meet in the park until his father forbade him to go there any more."

Since then I've been walking up to his house every day, except when it was too hot during the summer. I've been calling him up every day. One night, not long ago, I called him up and he got mad over nothing and hung up. I like him a lot, but I'm not sure he likes me now. Do you think I should call him up and find out?"

You've chased the lad mighty hard. You've worn a lot of leather off your shoes in his behalf. You've called him regularly. You've gone out of your way to get in his. He might just be sick to death of it!

It's one thing to like a boy—but it's another to be all over him like a tent. A little of that long walk to his house might have pleased him. But day after day was too much. Calling him very night was a bother. The lad probably felt cornered—he couldn't get away from you—felt you'd track him down no matter where he hid.

That last call of yours was one too many. It struck him wrong. Came at a bad time, maybe. Getting cross and hanging up was his way of showing you, at long last, that you were out of order. You were too eager, too persistent, too much in evidence.

When he begins to miss you, he'll call you. And until then still that mighty urge of yours to check upon him. Don't go near his house. Stay away from that phone.

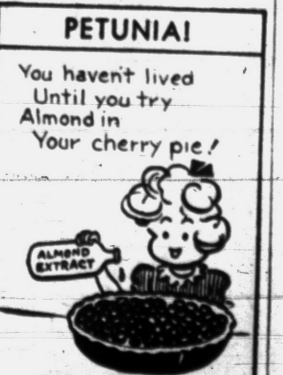

Chasing is more becoming to the male of the species!

"Dear Miss Woodward: I met a boy about two weeks ago, and I didn't like him at first, so I was very cold with him. Now I find myself liking him very much. I sit on my front stoop a lot and he keeps passing by on his bike, but never stops."

I have tried to make him realize I like him by coming out every time I see him outside, but still he doesn't stop. I would like to let him know I like him. I'd talk to him if I knew what to say. I think he likes me, but thinks I don't like him. What can I do about him?"

All of that riding by your house might be an indication that he is interested in you. But he's apparently too shy to stop without definite encouragement from you. It's not enough that you should appear when he does. Why not speak to him.

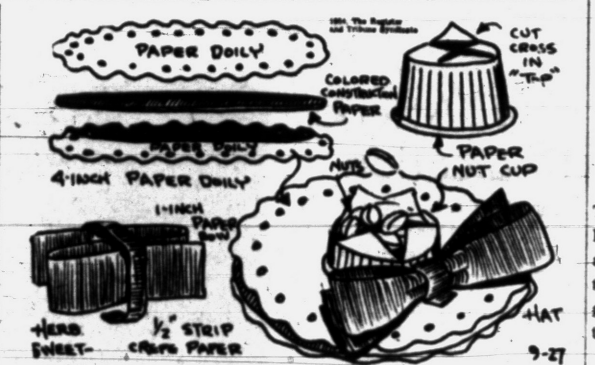

"Hi" would be enough to make him realize you're aware that he's there. "Hi" would bridge the distance between you, and make him stop his bike at your front stoop to talk to you. Speaking politely to a boy you've met is not chasing him, really.

Scotch Sweet Makes Treat for Autumn

Greta Miller Brings Recipe from Land of Kilts and Heather

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor A pudding recipe from a transplanted Scotchwoman is today's contribution. Greta Miller came from Scotland last year to make her home with relatives in Sylvan Lake City. We wish we could give you this recipe with the same delightful accent in which it came to us. As swimming and walking are favorite diversions, Greta Miller is happy with her new home.

Scotch Dumpling is a hearty pudding, excellent fare for these brisk days. It isn't a dessert you whip up at the last moment, but well worth the extra time it takes to make.

SCOTCH DUMPLING

By Greta Miller

1 cup sifted flour
1 cup sugar
1 cup milk
1 cup currants and raisins
1 cup nut, chopped
1 cup bread crumbs
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 apple, chopped
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon allspice

Mix all together and steam for 3 hours. Serve plain or with a tartar sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Selling Aprons Helped to Ease a Family Budget

By ANN EHEYWOOD

One of my readers in Newark, New Jersey, named Mrs. Celia Duardo, has an extremely interesting home project, which she has given me permission to tell you about. In fact, she has written me a letter about it, and here it is, pretty much in its entirety.

"First of all," she says, "I don't think I'm alone in the category of young mothers and housewives who want to fully care for the home and children, and yet be able to earn some needed extra money."

"Before my boy, now three and a half, came along, I worked in a photographer's darkroom, was a laboratory assistant in a beverage company, and sold and wrapped gifts in a department store."

My hobbies include poetry writing, cooking and baking, antiques, interior decorating, reading, sewing—all creative, never with patterns—and concert singing, which I studied for four years. I have a mezzo-soprano voice, and sang in concerts, recitals, churches and choral groups."

That's enough of a combination to floor most women, but not Mrs. Duardo. She says:

"I thought sewing seemed the best bet, and aprons most of all," and so she specializes in making aprons and does very well for herself.

"Some features of my aprons include oversized pockets with double thickness of material for sturdiness and strength; the whole apron double-stitched for thorough reinforcement; a pocket which I call an oversized ice cream cone, and extra fullness in the skirt. Each apron is one-of-a-kind, extemporaneously designed and cut."

Some are made with a row of pockets along the hem, and pot holder to match. Another is a ballerina type for a little girl, with an exact replica for her doll. Still another is a party or hostess apron.

Most of them are decorated with buttons. For materials, I use anything from the sturdiest muslin and denim to the most shimmering satin.

"Sales come from friends and their families, and on holidays I post notices, with miniature aprons, on the bulletin boards of the different buildings in the gigantic private development where I live."

Mrs. Duardo has a very successful home enterprise because she chose an activity she loved, brought imagination and skill to it, and most of all, because she specialized!

CRAZY, MIXED-UP SIGN—Everything these days seems confused and there's probably some political leader in Chicago, Ill., who is really scratching his head and wondering what to do. A painter puts the finishing touches to a campaign billboard that says elect Thomas Godfrey, who is a Republican and in small print says to vote a straight Democratic ticket.

Capital's Race Integration Is 'Amazingly Successful'

WASHINGTON (INS) — Dr. Herbert M. Corning, superintendent of District of Columbia schools, said today that initial integration of Negro and white teachers and students has been "amazingly successful."

The program, which brought a commendation from President Eisenhower last Thursday, may give the Supreme Court a clue on how schools can be integrated without friction.

Corning said Negro and white teachers have been installed in one-fifth of the schools and unsegregated students are enrolled in about two-thirds of the classrooms.

The District's smooth compliance with the court's ruling against segregation contrasts with a wait-and-see attitude in most of the affected states, active political opposition in others and threats of violence which have closed the schools at Milford, Del.

The great question remaining before the Supreme Court, to be argued beginning Dec. 6, is whether integration should be effected immediately or gradually in the twenty-one states which, like the District, have maintained separate schools for Negroes.

The court is to issue a decree early next year stating how integration must be carried out. Corning's system involves elements of both the immediate and gradual proposals. Here is his program affecting just over 100,000 students, about 60,000 of whom are Negroes, and 3,620 teachers, of whom 1,943 are Negroes:

1. On the first day, Sept. 13, children were ordered to report to the same school they had attended, except in cases where they had been traveling unusually long distances. But children entering for the first time were required to go to the school nearest them.

2. Before the end of October, parents will be given the option of sending children either to the school they have been attending or to the school to which they belong geographically. If the child lives in the school district where he is attending, there is no option.

3. Teachers have generally been

Actress-Bullfighter Stages Best Show

PIEDRAS NEGRAS, Mex. (U)—Former New York actress Bette Ford won applause here yesterday in what critics said was the best appearance of her brief career as a woman bullfighter. She was rewarded two ears and the tail of one bull for her excellent performance, but got only applause for her second bull—a stubborn black animal that took numerous sword thrusts to dispatch.

Miss Ford said she would fight Oct. 3 in Ciudad Acuna where Patricia McCormick, a Texas coed turned bullfighter, was critically gored by a bull.

BLUE CROSS-BLUE SHIELD to protect your family against the cost of hospital-medical care

We say it's your idea because... the fact is... BLUE CROSS-BLUE SHIELD really belongs to you!

It belongs to its 3 million members!

You see, Blue Cross-Blue Shield is a voluntary organization... not a commercial one! It serves the public on a strictly non-profit basis.

Its directors are fellow members of your community, people you know and respect in the business and professional world. They serve Blue Cross-Blue Shield without pay.

This means that every penny which comes in, above routine administrative expense, can be set aside for member benefits.

So, it stands to reason, doesn't it, that only Blue

Cross-Blue Shield can give so much protection at so low a cost... a cost of only pennies a day!

Blue Cross pays for hospital room and board, plus essential services... at Blue Cross-participating hospitals, representing 99 per cent of all the general hospital beds in Michigan!

Blue Shield pays a generous specific amount directly to your doctor, for specified procedures.

Ask your employer or union representative how you can get low-cost group enrollment. A company with as few as 5 employees may qualify as a group.

Segregationist Pledges
Court Battle if School
Admits 11 Negroes

By BILL LOFTUS
MILFORD, Del. — A pro-segregation organization official today promised a battle — in the courts — if the integration of 11 Negro pupils continued as scheduled with the reopening of this southeastern Delaware community's high school.

Joseph M. Deanes of Hartley, Del., vice president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of White People, said a court injunction would be sought to keep the Negroes — six boys and five girls — from attending classes with white pupils.

Deanes' statement came shortly before the scheduled reopening at 8:30 a.m. (EST) of the city's two schools, which house 237 elementary grade Negro pupils at the Benjamin Banneker school and more than 1,500 elementary and high school pupils at the Lakeview Ave. school.

But the unanswered question in this town of 5,700 was: will the white children report for classes?

There was an increasing number of reports that parents of white pupils will not send their children to the Lakeview Ave. school — either because they fear violence might occur or because they were opposed to integrating their sons and daughters with Negro pupils.

Some 1,500 residents of the area met on Sept. 17 to protest the integration of the 11 Negro pupils which started Sept. 8. The school board closed the schools Sept. 20, tried to reopen them on Sept. 21, changed its plan but kept them closed "until further notice" after telephoned threats of violence.

Last Thursday night the Milford board met with the State Board of Education and was told it had the right to integrate the pupils. However, it was reprimanded for doing so without first consulting the State Board. The local board resigned in a body.

Gov. J. Caleb Boggs issued a strongly worded statement the next day calling for the carrying out of integration without delay on a law-abiding basis.

India's Premier Shifting to Pro-Red China Policy

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru apparently is shifting his foreign policy sharply toward closer cooperation with communist China as the result of the South-east Asia Defense Pact.

Nehru is to go to Peking, the Red Chinese capital, about Oct. 16 for what he calls "a friendly visit to neighbor country."

The visit, said officially to be by invitation of the Chinese, was announced three days before the opening of the Southeastern Asia Conference in Manila.

But there is every indication that it was arranged as an answer to the Manila meeting.

Nehru seems intent on arranging a "co-existence" agreement which will cover the 1,000,000,000 people in India, Red China, Indonesia, Burma and Ceylon.

Nehru has long seen himself as the leader of a bloc of East Asian countries comprising India, Indonesia, Ceylon and Burma.

The policy of this bloc, as Nehru sees it, would be basically that Asia belongs to the Asians, and that Western colonialism and imperialism must go. That also is Red Chinese policy.

Presumably, in any co-existence agreement with Red China, Indonesia would be recognized as within the Chinese sphere of influence.

Nehru lost no opportunity before, during and after the Manila conference to let the world know that he disliked the idea of South-east Asia Defense Treaty.

He said in a speech on Sept. 9, the day after the Manila treaty was signed, that he feared it would reverse the process of peace set in motion in Indochina, perpetuate colonialism and weaken the United Nations charter.

Nehru holds that Western powers sponsored the Southeast Asia Treaty and that they did not represent the people of Asia. He sees it as a new manifestation of Western "colonial" policy.

Now advisers received from New Delhi quote well informed sources as saying that "a virtual revolution" is going on in the Indian foreign office.

"This revolution is one of change from Western influence to Eastern influence," the advisers said. There seems no reason to doubt this, or to doubt that Nehru will find himself in agreement on many points of policy with Red Chinese leaders Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai.

It was even reported in an Indian newspaper that Soviet Premier Georgi M. Malenkov might drop in at Peking during Nehru's visit. No substantiation of this report has been given.

But Red China is allied with the Soviet Union and any agreements Nehru reached in Peking would be good news to the Kremlin and bad news for the West.

MSC Enrollment Hits 15,173 for Autumn Term

EAST LANSING — An enrollment of 15,173 students for the fall term, an increase of 1,019 over last year, was reported at Michigan State College.

Late enrollments are expected to bring the total to more than 15,600, compared to the final figure of 14,600 last year.

Those registering included 10,907 male students and 5,166 coeds. There were 336 World War II veterans and 1,450 Korean veterans, compared to 616 World War II veterans and 581 Korean veterans last year.

113 Criminal Cases Are Scheduled in Circuit Court

By BURDETT STODDARD

Some 113 criminal trials are now scheduled for the fall term of Oakland County Circuit Court beginning Oct. 5, according to Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

All cases will be heard before Judge H. Russel Holland, said Ziem, including four first degree murder trials.

Accused in the murder trials are Walter Banks, 45, formerly of 116 Wessen St.; Antone Bombagi, 48, of 161 Pingree Ave.; Theodore Edwards, 35, of 21011 Fenner Ct., Royal Oak Township; and Air Force Sgt. Robert J. King, 37, of Dolomite, Ala.

Banks was previously convicted of the May 2, 1951 slaying of Alexander Bell, 53, a local pool hall owner. Banks' case will be retried, Ziem explained, because of an error in the first jury's findings.

Bombagi is accused of the fatal stabbing July 17 this year of George Spencer, 30, of 1255 Baldwin Rd., Orion Township, following an alleged argument over Bombagi's wife.

Edwards is charged in the shooting June 20 this summer of Mrs. Willie H. Spencer, 31, of 20797 Woodside Rd., Royal Oak Township. Edwards claims self defense. He told police the shooting followed an argument.

Sgt. King is accused of slashing to death Mrs. Laura Marshall, 37, of 58 Chapman St., June 15 in her home.

The total number of trials may be slightly reduced following a series of pre-trial conferences slated to begin Sept. 28.

The pre-trial conference has been used the past two terms of court by his office, said Ziem. He meets with the attorney for an accused person and the judge who will hear the case.

Each of the accused intends to plead guilty," the prosecutor explained. "Many times we get prepared to try a case, with a jury assembled, then the accused simply pleads guilty making all preparation or by all concerned."

"If it's indicated in a pre-trial conference that a person will plead guilty, we can avoid necessity of preparing for a trial thus saving time and expense."

Other major cases scheduled, besides the murder trials, are one manslaughter trial and two involving negligent homicide. The remainder includes:

Robbery armed, 3; breaking and entering in the night time and larceny in a building, 10; fugitive from justice, 3; forgery, 1; larceny by conversion, 2;

Others are, felonious driving, 1; reckless operation of a motorboat, 1; possession of gambling equipment, 1; intentional discharge of a fire-arm, 1; removing and concealing mortgaged property, 1; driving under the influence of liquor, 2; possession of burglary tools, 1; uttering and publishing, 5; carrying concealed weapons, 2; obtaining money under false pretenses, 4; issuing checks without sufficient funds, 3; larceny, 2; drunk driving, 1; and non-support, 2.

One man is charged with violating the corporation and security laws and three with violation of the liquor laws. One case involves charges of larceny by conversion.

BEST OF SHOW—Winners of the big trophy at Saturday's Pooch Party were 12-year-old Patricia Hayes of 802 Pensacola and her beagle, Pep. In addition to winning the main prize, the two took first in the best informed and best groomed categories, second in the best dog-owner competition and third in the best trick class. Pictured with them is Burt Johnstone, president of the Pontiac Kennel Club, which co-sponsored the affair with the city Parks and Recreation Dept.

BEAUTY TREATMENT—While Karen Oxley, 12, of 81 N. Ardmore was off studying for the best informed owner contest at the Pooch Party Saturday, Charlene Holdridge of 537 Judson Ct. put the finishing grooming touches on Karen's three-year-old cocker spaniel, Tippy. Tippy and Karen placed third in the best groomed, best informed and best combination divisions and first in the best trick category of the show.

Adult Education Courses Ready

Night School to Offer Vocational and Special Studies

Pontiac area adults are going back to school—in the evenings for 12 weeks beginning Sept. 30. Annual night school classes in the Pontiac Senior High School will offer courses in commercial areas, languages, hobby and vocational classes plus citizenship training courses.

Vocational industrial classes are to be given for people employed. These are designed to supplement daily employment experience.

Specific courses will be offered in accounting, bookkeeping, computer, office machines, typewriting, shorthand, tailoring and dress-making, conversational Spanish and modern photography. These classes will meet Thursday evenings.

A tip reading class is scheduled for Monday nights for 10 weeks beginning Oct. 4 and the class for expectant parents will convene on Thursday nights.

Citizenship classes meet on Monday, Wednesday evenings with Americanization classes for Thursday nights. There is no registration fee for these two courses.

Starting on Oct. 4 a special class for those wishing help in planning for successful retirement and later life years will be held on Monday evenings for six weeks.

In the vocational and industrial offerings, there will be automotive diagnosis and tune up, shop mathematics, blueprint reading, tool and die design, drafting, sheet metal layout, electrical maintenance and machine shop. Welding, too, is proffered.

Driver education for adults will be given on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 4 to 6 p.m.

Weird Fireball Creates Traffic Jam at Midnight

SAND SPRINGS, Okla.—A mysterious ball of fire that "darts up and down at the stroke of midnight" has created a serious traffic problem near here.

For three straight nights police have found no less than 150 cars parked on the highway with their occupants gazing skyward. The patrolmen are told a blue-green object with a phosphorescent glow appears in the east, screams westward with incredible speed, and disappears through the nearby hollows.

Police chief Jack Daniels said reports vary from a ghost to a flying saucer.

All in all some 25 persons have told him they saw the mysterious ball of fire at midnight, but, he confides, "I don't think much about it, myself."

Meantime troopers are having a hard time keeping the highway cleared.

Indians Elect Chief to Press Old Claim

KALAMAZOO (UP)—The Potawatomi Indian tribe had a new chief today to press its long-standing financial claim against the U.S. government.

Jacob Sprague, the tribe's first chief since Shawbecung died a half-century ago, was elected during the weekend at the Indian Mission Church near Bradley.

The tribe contends the federal government still owes it money under terms of a treaty signed 100 years ago. The tribe now has about 500 members.

went to Patricia Hayes of 802 Pensacola, a 12-year-old Lincoln Junior High School student, and her two-year-old beagle, Pep.

First prize winners in the party's four categories for the junior division were Larry Collier, 7, of 216 E. Stewart, and his dog, Frits (best groomed); Margaret Melzer, 8, of 149 Franklin Blvd., and her dog, Baby (best trick); Steve Ewalt, 8, of 284 Voorhis (best groomed); and Carol Wood, 18, of 4889 Lockhardt Dr. and her dog, Lils (best combination).

Winners in the senior division were Patricia Hayes and Pep (best groomed and best informed), Karen Oxley, 12, of 81 N. Ardmore, and Tippy (best trick) and Nancy Robinson, 11, of 308 Nelson and Dawn (best combination).

The event was sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept. and the Pontiac Kennel Club, which supplied the judges.

Churchill Mum as World Ponders His Retirement

LONDON (UP)—Winston Churchill was always a man who could keep a secret and the doughty old gentleman seems to be enjoying himself hugely keeping one of the biggest of all—he is going to retire?

Churchill will be 80 in a few weeks. He began his political career when Victoria was queen. He has outlived all his contemporaries—Roosevelt, Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini.

His health has been failing. He has suffered two strokes in the past four years. He has been pushing his almost certain successor, Anthony Eden, more and more into the forefront.

But Churchill has not been acting like a man about to step aside. His forceful personality will be one of the dominant factors behind the scenes at the nine-nation conference opening here tomorrow to try to fit Germany into the west's military structure.

Just the same, as it does every year about this time, the gossip is buzzing that the "old man" is about to call it quits.

The speculation comes at this time because the Conservative party holds its annual convention Oct. 8. Churchill will speak on the final day. It is in this setting that the prime minister would be most likely to tell of his future political plans.

A party member in his own constituency, Capt. John Thirkell, said this month that Churchill would stay in office.

"I have it on good authority that Sir Winston Churchill plans not only to continue in office as prime minister but he also intends to represent Woodford Division in parliament for a considerable time to come," Thirkell said.

But whether Thirkell's "high authority" was Churchill himself is doubtful.

Friends report privately that recently Churchill growled: "Those who want me to retire will have to wait for the next stroke."

The prime minister suffered a stroke four years ago at the Riviera villa of his longtime friend, Lord Beaverbrook. The second, and much more serious one, was little over a year ago when his scheduled Bermuda meeting with President Eisenhower had to be postponed suddenly.

A close friend said that he was almost completely paralyzed then and that his family and physician despaired.

But by sheer will power he came back. Since then he has flown both to Bermuda and the United States to meet Mr. Eisenhower. And he has left no doubt that his is the hand which guides the affairs of Britain.

Churchill is, first and foremost, a politician. He is the precept that statesmen, no matter how great, are of little use out of office.

FBI Checks Every Angle in Probing Pasts of Accused, Known Communists

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (UP)—What's an FBI report? How is it gathered? What goes into it? What's a raw file? Does the FBI evaluate its findings?

There's been heat, often more heat than light, in arguments over those questions as the FBI searches for subversive and security risks in government.

Say Jones works for a government agency in Baltimore. The FBI, with field offices all over the United States, gets a tip Jones is a Communist. It tells its Baltimore office to investigate.

Perhaps the information came from several FBI undercover agents in the party in Baltimore. They can't be called to testify at a hearing for Jones. So the FBI tries to get other information and witnesses that can be used.

Or perhaps the information comes from a man named Smith. The FBI goes to him at once. Does he know for a fact Jones is a Communist? No. He heard it from Kelly. The FBI checks Kelly. He doesn't know either. Schwartz told him.

Schwartz is checked. He never told Kelly that Jones was a Communist. He had heard—he can't remember where—that Jones was at a party meeting June 1.

The FBI checks further, finds Jones couldn't have been at the meeting. He was in Florida on vacation June 8. The FBI Florida office found out that.

Since the FBI had picked up no other information linking Jones with communism, all along the line of its investigation, it drops the case. But suppose the opposite had happened.

Suppose Schwartz, although unable to recall who told him, had stumbled on accurate information and the FBI finds Jones was at a party meeting. The investigation widens.

Besides the FBI's Baltimore agents now digging deeper into Jones' life, the help of FBI agents in half a dozen states may be required to investigate him through people who formerly knew him or worked with him.

In addition to checking on Jones, the FBI checks on informants to see if there is any motive, besides wanting to help the government, for what they say. A rumor given to the FBI might be based on a grudge.

In some cases the information will come from its own undercover men in the party. In others, the information will be from people who have proven to be reliable—or unreliable—in the past.

The agents put every scrap of information in the reports which they send to the FBI headquarters in Washington. There a special section examines them. They divide their reports into two parts: administrative and investigative.

These two parts together are called the raw file. The administrative section is locked up in FBI files and is never disclosed outside the FBI. The investigative report is sent to the government agency which employs Jones.

That administrative section contains information on investigative techniques, information on why the agents went to the various informants and people who wouldn't make statements at all, the names of confidential informants who never want their identity revealed outside the FBI, and the unconfirmed rumors and gossip which the agents have picked up but which have no direct connection with the case.

When an FBI agent gets information from an individual he tries to get the statement in writing, and signed. If the individual makes a written statement but doesn't want his name disclosed, the statement goes into the investigative report but his name is kept secret in the administrative report in FBI files.

In the investigative report which goes to Jones' agency, the FBI notes that this particular information came from an individual who has been reliable in the past, appears reliable from a check made on him, or has proven to be unreliable.

Says Alcoholism High

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—An Alcoholics Anonymous convention speaker said Sunday there are 50 per cent more persons suffering from alcoholism than there are tuberculosis patients. He also told his audience drinking caused 19 per cent of absenteeism in industry and business. The state group's second annual convention ended Sunday. Spokesmen said the third annual conference will be held next year in Lansing.

No Room for Any More

PATNA, India (INS)—Stranded flood victims made no effort to get aboard a boat which was drifting along with only one passenger in the recent North Bihar floods. The single occupant of the boat was a frightened and angry tiger.

NEW GMC TRUCK ORDER—The largest truck fleet order of such equipment in the industry's history has been announced by the GMC Truck and Coach Division with delivery of the first 1,000 four-speed hydramatic equipped GMC trucks purchased by the Railway Express Agency. Since introducing the four-speed hydramatic about two years ago, GMC has offered an eight-speed hydramatic for medium-duty trucks and twin hydramatic for heavy-duty trucks, to round out the first and only complete line of hydramatic trucks.

Martha Scott Must Film TV to Do Picture

By LOUELLA Q. PARSONS HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Quietly, Martha Scott slipped into town a few days ago to test for the role of Eleanor, wife of Fredric March in "The Desperate Hours." The test so pleased William Wyler, the director, and Don Hartman, Paramount's production head, that they telephoned Martha that she was selected.

There was one fly in the ointment, however. Martha is committed to a fall series of live television shows out of New York. She solved this problem by paying to have her portion of the show filmed on the coast and flown to New York; that's how much she wants to play the housewife who tells Humphrey Bogart off in the picture. Naturally, Paramount is paying her a large enough salary to make this cross-country TV stunt possible.

Obviously "Green Mansions" has been postponed or forgotten at MGM because Vincente Minnelli will direct "The Cobweb." This story is very similar to "Private Worlds" which Walter Wanger made some years ago and has to do with an institution for mentally ailing people.

Very fortunate for Grace Kelly to have Vincente directing her, because I think he's one of our best directors and one of the most painstaking. What a lucky girl she's been with Hitchcock and all the rest who have helped her get Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The Joanne Gilbert-Danny Arnold romance is on again, with Danny playing stage-door Johnny at the Mocambo and taking the pretty girl home these nights.

My great regret is not getting to Las Vegas to see Ann Blyth at the Sahara. Her show, and the way she closes with "Auld Lang Syne," brings down the house, she's so good.

Merle Oberon is off for New York Wednesday to do a television show. She stays three weeks.

Zasu Pitts flew in over the weekend to appear with Monty Woolley in the TV version of "The Man Who Came to Dinner" in the Best of Broadway TV series.

Debie Reynolds appears in the role of narrator at the final summer "pops" concert series Oct. 2. The concert will be a battle of jazz vs. symphony. Debie, former member of the Burbank Symphony, will narrate a script on the evolution of music.

Katharine Cornell, the great stage star, will be seen as the Statue of Liberty in David Selznick's big TV show.

There has been many changes in the theater business in the past few years. No longer do the projectionists have to grind out a show by hand. At least not in our theater. We are equipped with the most modern equipment of this date. All automatic rewinds, changeovers, etc.

A projectionist in this day should be considered a profession. He receives that kind of wages.

Laborites Favor China Commies

But English Party's Unity May Be Split on German Issue

By TOM OCHILTREE

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP)—Britain's opposition Labor party opened its annual conference today on a note of unified friendliness toward Communist China. But the show of unity was a prelude to serious divisions certain to break into the open later over the issue of rearming Germany.

The main business at today's opening session was a discussion of the recent visit to the Soviet Union and Red China by the party's moderate chief, former Prime Minister Clement Attlee, his bitter rival, leftwinger Aneurin Bevan, and six other party leaders.

Attlee set the tone for the party's approach on Red China at a rally here last night at which he called for immediate admission of the Peiping regime to the United Nations.

The West, he declared, must seek ways of coexisting with the Communist world, for the only alternative "to coexistence is co-death" in a third World War.

The big fight between Attlee's moderates and Bevan's radicals shaped up for the conference session tomorrow, when rival resolutions on the proposed rearmament of West Germany will be debated.

The party's national executive committee, dominated by the Attlee group, has submitted a carefully worded resolution to continue the party's support of German rearmament with safeguards.

The Bevanites lumped more than two dozen opposing proposals into one resolution to "condemn all proposals of German rearmament."

M'Carthy Foe Vows to Fight Communism

CHICAGO (AP)—Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, who once termed Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) an ineffective headline hunter, says he will devote all of his available time and resources to fight for freedom against Communist tyranny.

Bishop Sheil, 66, Roman Catholic auxiliary bishop of Chicago, said in a statement last night his aim will be "to show the destructiveness of communism to individual morals and to the political morality of the world."

The statement said the bishop's participation as director and an actor in the Freedom Festival, a pageant to be presented at the International Amphitheatre Sunday, will be "a first big step in this fight against tyranny."

Duke of Windsor Collects Records Made by Jive King Cab Calloway

By EDDIE CANTOR

In 1938, after reading Cab Calloway's "Hepster's Dictionary," New York University gave Cab academic recognition by awarding him the title, "Honorary Dean of American Jive." I go along with that. It takes a lot of imagination to compete with Webster!

He's a clever-comment man, too. One time, we were having a cup of coffee together. I was scanning the afternoon paper and came across an item about a newlywed who was already battling with his bride over some bills she had handed him for dresses—suits—furs—perfume—that she's bought before their marriage.

Cab observed, "Man, I'm with the husband! Why should he pay for those things? Did you ever see a fish pay for the bait that caught him?"

Calloway has distinguished himself in so many fields: As an actor, who will long be remembered for the lusty life he gave the role of "Sportin' Life" in "Porgy and Bess"—as the leader of one of our greatest swing bands, whose records are still avidly sought by people like the Duke of Windsor who once bragged that he had the largest collection of Calloway records in the world—as a songwriter who, before noon one morning, wrote the enduring "Minnie the Moocher."

Four or five years ago, when the Hi-de-ho kid still had his band, I understand he personally contributed $100 for every baby born to a member of the orchestra.

One of the musicians, whose wife was in the hospital "expecting momentarily"—arranged with the stage manager that if the good news was phoned in, he was to slip the musician a note.

In the middle of a number, he was handed a note, reading: "You're the father of a baby girl." The musician showed it to Cab, who smiled. Ten minutes later, the musician was surprised by another note. "You're the father of twins," it read. He relayed this to Calloway who smiled again, but not too happily—about $200 worth.

Before they finished another number, a third note informed the musician that he was the father of triplets. Cab put down his baton and started offstage. The new father whispered, "Where you going?" Cab said, "To see my lawyer—there must be some way to put a stop to this!"

Reds Shoot for Moon in Rocket Projects

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio says Soviet scientists are confident they will be able to send a rocket to the moon "in the near future."

A weekend broadcast said Russian experts already have fired rockets to an altitude of "around 400 kilometers"—near 250 miles.

They are so sure they will be able to reach the moon, and later Mars and Venus, that they are now working on ways to protect their space ships from collisions with meteors, the broadcast said.

Dublinski Shines as Lions Win Opener

By JACK SAYLOR
DETROIT—Tom Dublinski had a "coming out" party at Briggs Stadium Sunday as the Detroit Lions opened defense of their National Football League title with a 48-23 victory over the Chicago Bears.

A crowd of 52,343 watched as the 24-year-old former Utah collegian stepped from obscurity into a starring role, well-assisted by a pair of "old pros," Doak Walker and Bob Hoernschmeyer, and brilliant rookie fullback, Bill Bowman.

Spurling for 34 points in the last period, the Lions broke wide open what had been a close, bitterly contested battle. While Sunday's performance could not be counted as one of the Lions' best, they again displayed a happy faculty for coming from behind.

A porous pass defense kept Lions in hot water for 3 1/4 quarters as Chicago's George Blanda and Zeke Bratkowski registered a total of 348 yards passing. Bears took a 10-0 lead on Blanda's 9-yard field goal and a 64-yard pass play from Bratkowski to rookie end Harlon Hill.

On the subsequent kick-off, Bowman electrified the near-capacity crowd by grabbing the ball on the goal line and sprinting 100 yards for Detroit's first touchdown. Late in the period, Jim Martin's 44-yard field goal tied the score.

Blanda's passing artistry set up the Bears' 2nd quarter tally, scored by Chick Jagade from the one.

Then Dublinski, a bench warmer for two seasons, replaced Bobby Layne and engineered the tying TD. His passing highlighted a 72-yard drive, capped by Hoernschmeyer's 6-yard payoff pitch to Dorne Dibble.

Blanda gave the Bears a 20-17 lead in the 3rd period with a 21-yard field goal but Dublinski directed an 81-yard march for another Lion—tally. Walker took passes for 53 and 21 yards, then "Hunchy" hit Bowman for the touchdown.

Numerous penalties marred the rest of the quarter. One nullified a Bear touchdown, and Chicago settled for Blanda's 3rd field goal, a 15-yarder. The 4th period was all the Lions' show.

Dublinski's flat pass to Lew Carpenter was good for 13 yards and a touchdown. Bill Stits' interception set up a 28-yard field goal by Walker, and one minute later, the Doaker scooted 20 yards with a punt return to score.

Sonny Gandee's pass interception set up the final touchdown in the last minute. Walker carried over from the 3.

Detroit held the Bears to a net 39 yards rushing, but the pass defense needs sharpening up. Return of ace quarterback rushers Jim Doran and Thurman McGraw, both out with injuries, should help.

4 Top Teams Beaten

By The Associated Press
Notre Dame, apparently headed for new glories under young Terry Brennan, may just stand aside and watch other top contenders for national football honors kill themselves off.

State and Georgia Tech—already beaten—have been beaten.

Another Oklahoma has had a tight squeeze, having to score twice in the fading minutes to beat Texas Christian 21-16 and the Sooners may not be as fortunate Oct. 9 against Texas at Dallas.

At least one other recognized power, and possibly more, will fall this weekend when action increases with an imposing intercollegiate schedule featuring a clash of two bowl giants—Maryland and UCLA.

Maryland, last year's mythical national champion, and UCLA, rated the best on the Pacific Coast, tangle Friday night at Los Angeles in a game which is bound to throw new light on the national picture.

Wisconsin is at Michigan State, Tennessee at Duke and Mississippi at Villanova in other games involving teams which have caught the early fancy of those looking for a hand-wagon.

Notre Dame, meanwhile, looks like a solid bet to survive its own rugged schedule and go through to the honors for which the team was picked in the pre-season Associated Press poll.

The Irish entertain an old state rival, Purdue, this week and are expected to duplicate approximately last year's 37-7 score.

Illinois, the No. 5 team, was stunned by Penn State, 14-12. Michigan State, No. 6 and 1954 Rose Bowl champions, fell before Iowa 14-10. Georgia Tech, the class of Dixie and rated No. 7 before the season began, lost to aroused Florida, 13-12.

Tech was rated fifth in the weekly poll based on results of the first Saturday. Illinois was No. 6 and Michigan State No. 7 in this lineup which was headed by Oklahoma.

Another big upset saw Army, figured to cop Eastern honors this year, fall before an underrated South Carolina team 34-20. Navy showed unexpected strength in whipping William & Mary 27-0.

Duke emerged as possibly the South's best bet for the national crown by crushing Pennsylvania, 52-0. The Blue Devils faced a stern test, they again displayed a happy faculty for coming from behind.

BLOCKED PASS—Iowa's Earl Smith (14) knocks down a pass intended for Michigan State's John (Big Thunder) Lewis in the 2nd quarter of Saturday's game, won by Iowa, 14-10.

Irish Blank Longhorns, but Purdue, Pitt, MSC Loom on Horizon

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame fans can relax now that young Terry Brennan successfully made his college coaching debut but there'll be little relaxation for the 26-year-old successor to Frank Leahy. Highly pleased with his team's 21-0 conquest of powerful Texas, Brennan unquestionably was thinking of Purdue, Michigan State, Navy, Penn and Iowa when he said "I'm happy, but remember this is only September."

Last spring when the Irish opened drills under their new coach, Brennan, worried about Texas, displayed clippings from Texas newspapers which heralded the Longhorns as one of the best teams ever to spring from the Southwest Conference. His Texas worries were spread over a six-month period.

This week his only worry is Purdue. Pitt comes next, then Michigan State and so on. The Boiler-makers, always tough for Notre Dame, served notice Saturday they'll be no pushovers by thumping Missouri 31-0.

Leahy, who called the Irish schedule "brutal" when he retired, was one of the first to shake Brennan's hand after the Texas victory.

"They were just terrific," said Leahy. "They showed wonderful spirit and good coaching."

Good coaching had a lot to do with the Irish victory. The blocks were hard and the tackles sharp. In fact, under constant Notre Dame pressure Texas never could get a long drive rolling. Twice the Longhorns fumbled within striking distance—once on the Irish 7 in the first quarter and again on the Notre Dame 5 in the second half.

While Hatfield isn't known as a home run slugger at all (this was only his 2nd homer of the season), that blow and a single gave him a .294 final batting average for the year for the 3rd best among the Tigers.

In that connection, Harvey Kuenn wound up as the only Tiger in the .300 class. He finished with .306 with his 201 hits.

Bengals Beat Champs, but Fail in Try for 4th Spot

DETROIT (AP)—Well, the Tigers tried but missed—for 4th place in the American League—but were home today at least with a better record than a year ago.

Concluding the 1954 season at Cleveland yesterday, Detroit beat the champion Indians 13-11 in 13 innings only to miss out on a tie for a coveted 4th-place position because 4th-place Boston also won.

This left Detroit one game down to the Red Sox with a record of 68 games won and 86 lost as the season passed into history.

Manager Fred Hutchinson's Tigers were this eight victories better as a team than last year and in 5th place—one notch higher in the standings. Last year Freddie's team was 6th. For title-pride Cleveland, the villain of yesterday's piece was utility man Fred Hatfield of the Tigers.

Hatfield, from whom such things are hardly to be expected, hit a home run off Indian relief pitcher Ray Narleski with Tiger reliever Bob Miller on base from a double in the 13th.

While Hatfield isn't known as a home run slugger at all (this was only his 2nd homer of the season), that blow and a single gave him a .294 final batting average for the year for the 3rd best among the Tigers.

In that connection, Harvey Kuenn wound up as the only Tiger in the .300 class. He finished with .306 with his 201 hits.

Frank House and Jim Delsing were Detroit's heaviest guns in the 1954 finale. Each got four hits, including a homer apiece.

Costa, Smith in Important 'Feather' Bout

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP)—Undeclared Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn gets his toughest test tonight when he faces Gene Smith, once a top-ranking featherweight contender, in a 10-rounder at Eastern Parkway Arena.

The 22-year-old Brooklynite, gunning for a title shot at featherweight champion Sandy Saddler, is a 1-2 favorite to turn back the little Washington Negro.

Starting at 10 p.m. (EST), the bout will be telecast by ABC-TV.

League Batting Kings to Meet in World Series

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Editor
For the first time since 1951, the two league batting champions will meet in the World Series with Willie Mays (345) of the New York Giants and Bobby Avila (.311) of the Cleveland Indians topping the hit parade.

Mays beat out teammate Don Mueller and Brooklyn's Duke Snider with a three-hit outburst on the final day of the season after trailing both Saturday night. Willie rolled into Philadelphia pitching yesterday for a triple, double and single and a final .345 average. Mueller wound up at .342 and Snider at .341.

The last time two batting champs met in the series was in 1951—Al Simmons of the Philadelphia A's and Chick Hafey of the St. Louis Cardinals. The only other time it happened was in 1909 when Honus Wagner of Pittsburgh and Ty Cobb of Detroit were in the lineups.

As Cleveland had clinched the American League pennant a week ago Saturday and New York eliminated Brooklyn a week ago, the chief interest in Sunday's final games was a scrap for fourth place and a chunk of World Series cash—in each league.

The Boston Red Sox, helped by Williams' 29th homer in a five-run seventh, sewed up fourth in the American League by bopping Washington 11-2. Detroit, with a chance at fourth place if Boston had lost, topped Cleveland 8-7 in 13 innings on Fred Hatfield's 8-run homer.

Philadelphia wound up fourth in the National despite a defeat by New York Giants 3-2 in 11 innings. Cincinnati, needing a victory to tie the Phils, lost to Chicago, 5-2.

Karl Spooner, Brooklyn's brilliant rookie southpaw, proved his 15-strikeout job against the Giants Wednesday was no fluff in the pen. The 23-year-old Fort Worth grad fanned 12 Pittsburgh batters for a new National League record of 27 in his first two starts. Gil Hodges' 42nd homer gave Brooklyn a 1-0 edge.

Wally Moon's 400-foot home run gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 2-0 victory over Milwaukee in 11 innings.

Writers Favor Indians by More Than 2-1 Edge

NEW YORK (UP)—Among the nation's baseball writers, it's the Cleveland Indians by a vote of more than 2 to 1 to beat the New York Giants in the 1954 World Series.

A United Press poll of 92 writers in every league city and vicinity showed today that the Indians are favored by 66 "experts" and the Giants by 26. The odds on the series favor Cleveland 17 to 10.

Both Pontiac parochial football squads bowed in their opening Suburban Catholic League openers yesterday.

St. Michael, defending co-champion in the circuit, lost to Orchard Lake St. Mary, 8-0, in a ragged game marred by a total of 12 fumbles and 175 yards in penalties.

After the two teams played to a scoreless standoff in the 1st half, St. Mary's drew 1st blood when Mike's quarterback Bobby Mineweaver was trapped behind his own goal-line for a safety in the 3rd period.

Eaglets wrapped up their victory in the final period, with fullback Gerald Lesszynski plunging the final yard in a 68-yard scoring drive.

Shamrocks managed to penetrate St. Mary's 44-yard line only once, driving to a 1st down on the Eaglets' 17-yard stripe in the 2nd quarter. Capt. Stanley Wierloch intercepted a Shamrock pass two plays later to end the threat.

St. Mary's outgained St. Michael, 228 yards to 52, in combined offensive yardage.

St. Frederick dropped its 2nd straight start, 19-13, at Royal Oak. St. Mary's Irish halfback Al Belanger scored TD's on runs of 40

This Year's Series to Be Richest in History

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees will be missing from the scene for the first time in six years as the Cleveland Indians and New York Giants come to grips Wednesday in what is almost certain to be the richest of all World Series.

With two huge arenas — Cleveland's Municipal stadium seating

$5,000 and New York's Polo Grounds seating $2,000—this could produce a record pool for the players with each winning share totaling $10,000 and each losing share about $8,000. The players share in the receipts of the first four games.

Should the series go the full distance of seven games — and many experts believe it will — a new attendance mark is certain to be set. The first two games in the best-of-7 series will be played at the Polo Grounds, Wednesday and Thursday. All games will begin at 1:00 p.m. (EST).

With no interruption for travel, the battle-ground will shift to Cleveland where the third, fourth and fifth games will be played on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Should the issue still be undecided, the scene will shift back to New York for the sixth and seventh games next Monday and Tuesday.

The series should develop into one of the most exciting and closely fought in many years. Led by two colorful managers — Al Lopez and Leo Durocher — the Indians and Giants are both opportunist clubs, featuring standout pitching, tight defense, clutch hitting and ability to come from behind with last ditch rallies.

The Indians already have been established as 17 to 10 favorites, mainly because of the brilliant pitching of their "big eight" that was so instrumental in setting an American League record of 111 victories.

Lopez bases his hopes for victory on the pitching of Bob Lemon (23-7), Early Wynn (23-11), Mike Garcia (19-8), Art Houtteman (15-7), Bob Feller (13-3), Hal Newhouse (7-2), Don Mossi (6-1) and Ray Narjeski (3-3) and the hitting of Bobby Avila, Larry Doby, Al Rosen and Vic Wertz. Avila's .341 was the league's top mark, Doby paced the circuit with 32 homers and 126 runs batted in and Rosen swatted 24 homers while batting an even .300.

The Giants can't match the Indians' pitching in numbers but they have three outstanding hurlers in Sal Maglie (14-6), southpaw Johnny Antonelli (21-7) and Ruben Gomez (17-9). They've got a pair of aces-in-the-hole, however, in star relievers Hoyt Wilhelm (12-4) and Marv Grissom (10-7) plus a "dark horse" entry in lefthander Don Liddle (9-4).

As in recent years, all games will be broadcast (Mutual) and televised (NBC) over nation-wide networks. This is expected to bring about $1,200,000 to the central fund out of which the Players' Pension Fund is paid.

World Series Facts, Figures

Contestants—Cleveland Indians, American League champions (won 111, lost 63), and New York Giants, National League champions (won 97, lost 67).
Managers—Al Lopez, Cleveland, and Leo Durocher, New York.

Schedule—Wednesday, Sept. 28, and Thursday, Sept. 29, at New York's Polo Grounds; Friday, Oct. 1, Saturday, Oct. 2 and Sunday, Oct. 3 (if necessary) at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium; Monday, Oct. 4 (if necessary), and Tuesday, Oct. 5 (if necessary), at New York's Polo Grounds.
Game Time—1 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time).
Favorite—Cleveland, 17 to 10.
Series standing—American League 23, National League 17.
Previous series records—Cleveland 3-0, New York 4-0.
Probable opening day pitchers—Cleveland, Bob Lemon (23-7), vs New York, Sal Maglie (14-6).
Radio broadcast—Mutual.
Television—NBC.
Probable attendance at 1st game—38,000.

Red Wings Return Home

SAULT STE. MARIE (UP)—Red Wings, unbeaten in four exhibition starts against their Edmonton farm club, broke camp here today and headed for Detroit to await Saturday night's National Hockey League All-Star game.

Wibel Wins 3rd Title

Dick Wibel won his 3rd consecutive Bloomfield Hills Country Club championship yesterday by defeating Dick Strickland, 2-up. Wibel shot the final nine in 35 to overcome his 4-down deficit at the 27-hole mark.

Wolverines Shut Out Huskies 14-0 in '54 Opener at Seattle

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan's football team went West with a helmetful of problems. It returned home with those same problems, plus some more.

Despite defeating the University of Washington, 14-0, in Saturday's opener at Seattle, the Wolverine team remains a question mark.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan deserted tradition and relied mainly on the T-formation instead of the single wing, an ancient trademark of Michigan football. Oosterbaan's team won, but he's not convinced the T-formation is the answer to his problems.

"I'm not sure whether we'll stay with the T," Oosterbaan said. "I thought the team showed good potential but it is not as advanced as last year's team at this time."

Adding to Oosterbaan's problems was a hip injury sustained by Ron Kramer, the promising sophomore end from East Detroit. Kramer picked off two of Duncan McDonald's passes, then was injured. He left the game in the 1st quarter. He may miss one game.

Oosterbaan said he was satisfied with the performance of McDonald at quarterback. The Flint senior tried 14 passes and completed eight for 103 yards.

Lou Baldacci, playing fullback for the 1st time, scored both Michigan touchdowns. He went 21 yards in the 1st quarter and one yard in the third. Baldacci also was forced from the field late in the game with a shoulder injury but it is not considered serious.

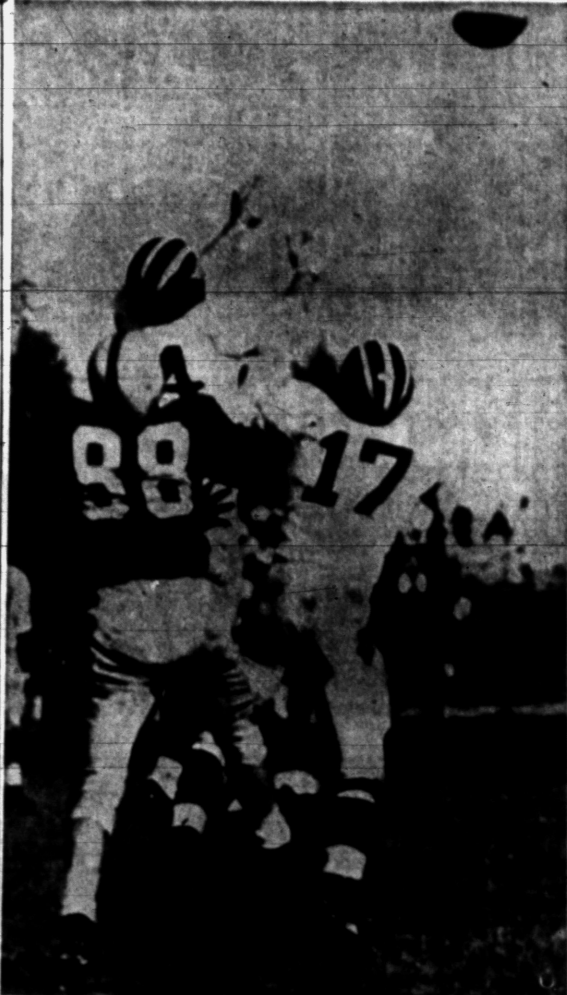

After their test in the Northwest, the Wolverines return home for two consecutive games in Ann Arbor. They meet Army Saturday and play Iowa the following week.

Army dropped its opener Saturday to South Carolina, 34-20. Duffy Daugherty can tell Oosterbaan all about Iowa.

Wins Baton Title

DETROIT (UP)—Nancy Stern of Inlay City won the Detroit Lions' baton twirling championship Sunday at Briggs Stadium in competition with nine of Michigan's top majorettes.

A crowd of 52,343 selected the champion by applause, clapping loudest for Miss Stern in the half-time twirling contest.

Chief Harriers to Open Season Against Waterford

Pontiac High's defending Saginaw Valley Conference champion cross-country squad opens its 1954 season tomorrow with a non-league run against Waterford.

Meet is set for 4 p.m. at the Beaudette Park course.

Coach Wally Schlorke has only two lettermen—senior Bill Imboden and junior Bill Douglas—back from the 1953 team that swept top honors in the Valley and state regional meets.

He lost four men through graduation and a fifth, junior John James, to the PHS football team.

Chief harriers won five dual tests last year to extend their 5-year undefeated streak to 28 meets.

Mechanical Errors Are Damaging to Spartans 14-10 Setback at Iowa

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State football rosters had one crumb of consolation today following coach Duffy Daugherty's debut as head coach with a 14-10 defeat by Iowa.

They recalled that athletic director Biggie Munn, in his 1st game as football boss here, also went down to defeat. This was the 55-0 walloping by the University of Michigan back in 1947.

But Munn snapped back after the defeat to compile an outstanding coaching record.

Daugherty, however, will have a rough assignment again next week. The Spartans go against Wisconsin, which smothered Marquette 52-14 last Saturday.

"Certainly we're disappointed," Daugherty said of Saturday's loss. "We were sorry to let the fans down."

"I'm proud of the team, though. They fought right down to the last play. We made a lot of mechanical errors that we'll have to straighten out. We'll be working hard this week to prepare for a tough Wisconsin team next Saturday."

Some MSC squad members were blaming themselves for the defeat after the game. The players felt they had Iowa on the hook at one time and then left them off.

MSC was completely outplayed in the 1st half and trailed 7-0 at the intermission, Iowa scoring on a 33-yard sideline run by Earl Smith.

In the 3rd quarter, the 1954 team reminded stadium and TV watchers of the squad that made a stirring comeback in the 2nd half of the Rose Bowl game. Spartans went 75 yards in nine plays to score with LeRoy Bolden making the touchdown.

A field goal by Jerry Planutis put MSC briefly ahead 10-7. But Elden Mathewson, substitute Iowa halfback, made a 52-yard punt return to the MSC goal line and Iowa punched over for the victory.

Boston College '11 Defeats Titans, 12-7

DETROIT (UP)—University of Detroit isn't a 4th period football team based on the results of its 1st two games this season.

Titans were only 14 yards from a possible winning touchdown against highly-regarded Boston College in the final period Saturday night. But the drive bogged down and Detroit suffered a 12-7 loss.

Boston College, rated the top team in New England, dominated play during the 1st half. Halfback Ed De Silva sprinted 60 yards to score on the 3rd play from scrimmage and quarterback Henry Sullivan boot-legged four yards for a 2nd period touchdown.

Titans scored on a 44-yard march in the 3rd period with Bob Burgmeier going the last two.

Nats to Reveal New Manager

Dressen Believed in Line as Replacement for 'Resigned' Harris

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Washington Senators arranged to make an announcement today about next year's manager — and all signs were that it would be the signing of Chuck Dressen, former Brooklyn pilot.

Bucky Harris, the Nats' manager for the past five years, was let out Friday in what the Washington baseball club called a resignation and Harris implied was a firing. The Nats wound up the season in sixth place in the American League.

Calvin Griffith, vice president of the club, announced a news conference in New York City late today.

Dressen, who managed Oakland, Calif., of the Pacific Coast League this year, was reported to be seeking a three-year contract at $42,500 a year.

Bob Considine Says:

World Series Covers Up the Rolling of Many Heads

NEW YORK (INS) — When the Supreme Court ruled that organized baseball is a sport, not a crassly commercial enterprise — and therefore must not be subjected to federal laws which operate against arrogant monopolists — nobody raised the question of the game's pitiless methods of firing old hands.

If you can read fine print in the fading light of our era, you'll notice at World Series time there will be a series of wordy heads sent rolling in the sawdust.

This is open season on managers and elderly players. Their bones know they can cut them adrift, sell them or burn them with little notice. The World Series brassily blows out other sports news.

Bucky Harris is a case in point. The Washington Senators let him go without a thank-you the other day, and it got less attention than the story from Cleveland that the Indians received seven times as many ticket applications as they can fill.

Harris, fired, is a better manager today than he was just 30 years ago this fall when, if Washingtonians could have voted, he would have been elected mayor in a landslide.

Bucky was the boy wonder that year. Won Washington's first pennant and then beat the Giants of John McGraw in the series. He won because he was given a team of outstanding ball players.

He won a couple of pennants and another World Series after that again in Washington in 1925, and then with the Yankees in 1947.

And he'll win again somewhere. If he's lucky enough to be hired into an organization which is honest enough to concede that money must be spent for ball players or the Almighty Himself would have trouble managing them into a pennant.

This, to repeat, is a sad time beneath the surface in baseball. Over the fluttering bunting, the oomp-pah-pah of the band grouped around the flagpole in center, the splendid turnouts at the box-office, and the hysteria caused by events on the field, there hangs the spectre of men done in quietly by owners wholly bereft of gratitude for homeric services rendered in the past.

Fired managers and let-out gaffers in general are as much a part of the World Series tea-

2 Church Founders Pirated for a Living

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The intentions of the 36 men who founded Old Christ Church in Philadelphia in 1702 when land was deeded for the historic edifice were honorable. The deed provided the church and premises "are to be perpetually appropriated and used for the public worship of God . . . and to no other purposes whatsoever."

Revolutionary War heroes worshipped in Old Christ. It is world-famous, carrying out the provisions of the deed.

The 36 good men and true who founded the congregation and extolled the virtue of the church were from many crafts. Those listed in the record provide interesting reading. Of greatest interest are the names of Adam Birch and George Thompson.

Their occupation—pirate. The town's tongue is attached in front, not at the rear of the mouth. This allows it to be flipped out from back of the throat and as quickly flipped back to the opening of the throat.

Pontiac Man, 28, Killed in Fight

Lawrence Freeman Shot During Argument; Police Hold Suspect

A 28-year-old father of five children died of a bullet wound at Pontiac General Hospital Saturday night about three hours after he scuffled with another man who, police say, has admitted the shooting in a home at 29 Iowa St.

The victim, Lawrence Freeman of 476 Dittmar Ave., died at 9:05 p.m. after one of two bullets struck him in the right lung. Pontiac Police said they are holding Charles R. Herron, 37, of 357 Rockwell Ave., booked for investigation of murder.

Herron, according to Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem, will be charged Tuesday pending further information.

Four witnesses, including Freeman's wife, Dorothy, 27, told Detective James LaPonsie the victim came to the Iowa street address in an attempt to effect a reconciliation after nine months of separation.

According to statements to police, Herron pulled a .38 revolver from his belt and fired twice after Freeman slapped his wife when she refused to return home with her husband.

One of the bullets struck the kitchen wall behind the victim while the second hit him in the chest, said police.

Both men, according to witnesses, fought briefly in the kitchen after the shooting. The scuffle ended in the backyard when Freeman passed out. Witnesses also told police that Herron beat the victim on the head and neck with a board after Freeman collapsed.

Herron, who fled from the home, was seized by police about 10 minutes afterwards at South Boulevard and Bagley street. Police said he readily admitted the shooting.

Cancer Victim Gets Help From VFW

DETROIT (U)—Veterans of Foreign Wars took assistance yesterday to the cancer-stricken daughter of a Battle Creek gold star mother.

Finding the Detroit Welfare Department would be unable to assign a worker until Monday, two VFW representatives visited the family of Mrs. Bonita Shekka in the family's tiny apartment. They took a basket of food and a crib for Mrs. Shekka's 4-year-old son who had been sleeping with his ill mother. They also gave her $100.

Mrs. Shekka is the daughter of Mrs. Lela Lowe of Battle Creek, who lost a son in World War II.

PONTIAC KIDS DAY—Among 1,500 kiddies entertained at the Oakland Theater Friday during Kids Day, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of North Pontiac, was young James Denison of 435 S. Squirrel Rd. He is flanked by Kiwanians Charles Kaggs (left) of 81 Henry Clay Ave. and Horace H. Hatfield of 876 Spence St. The local group held the event in connection with National Kids Day.

Ike Helps Cook Beef Stew Says Defense Orders

DENVER (U)—President Eisenhower, playing the role of supervising chef, invited more than 175 guests to a beef stew lunch today.

The guests included several long-time friends who have been Eisenhower neighbors the many years he has been spending Colorado vacations at the home here of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John S. Doud.

Invited, too, were quite a few Denver business men who are golfing pals of the President. Also asked were a couple of fellows who make a living at golf and give Eisenhower a few pointers — Ed Dudley, the pro at the Augusta National Club in Georgia and at Colorado Springs, and Ralph (Rip) Arnold, pro at Denver's Cherry Hills club where today's luncheon was being held.

The President also invited about 40 newsmen who have been covering his activities here. He said they were to have a half holiday today and gave instructions that everything at the luncheon, except the beef stew recipe and guest list, was off the record.

Close friends of Eisenhower have been telling for years about his beef stew, a ritual-like preparation usually several days in the making. The recipe the White House made public is for 60 people, but assistant White House press secretary Murray Snyder told apprehensive newsmen enough stew was being cooked to provide even "seconds" for the more than 75 guests. Here's the recipe:

First off you get 20 pounds of prime round steak — something considerably better than the "stewing meat," the White House calls it. Also eight pounds of small Irish potatoes, six bunches of small carrots, five pounds of small onions, 15 fresh tomatoes, three gallons of beef stock made from marrow bone with a bit of meat on it, salt, pepper, and a bunch of bouquet garnie, made of thyme, garlic and bay leaves.

With the ingredients ready, you start your beef stock two or three days ahead of your beef stew party. At Cherry Hills it was being simmered since Saturday.

Several hours in advance of the dinner hour put in the stew meat and cook it slowly in the beef stock until tender. Cook that mixture until the vegetables are done.

Then draw off two gallons of beef stock and thicken it slightly with beef rue. In this case, the rue is a mixture of about a pint and half of the fatty substance on top of the beef stock, and about a pound of flour. The rue should simmer 10 to 15 minutes before being used to thicken the stew. After it has simmered, pour it back into the stew. Then let the whole concoction simmer for an hour and a half and serve.

Claims High Taxes Following Red Line

BREITON WOODS, N. H. (U)—A tax expert today described the federal income tax as a "method of national suicide . . . comparable to the theories of the Communist Manifesto."

Dr. Harley L. Lutz, Princeton University professor emeritus of public finance, said "the objective of Marx and Engels was liquidation of the middle class through heavy progressive taxation of incomes and inheritances."

"The income tax scale now in effect with higher taxes on higher incomes is well calculated to accomplish this result."

Lutz told the 47th annual National Tax Assn. conference that higher taxes on higher incomes are imposing too many squeezes on the country. They impede capital formation by draining off income that would be saved and invested and defeat the incentive to apply the small amount of income remaining after taxes.

Warsaw Reports Spies Volunteered Information

LONDON (U)—Warsaw radio claimed today a number of spies have given themselves up in Poland and voluntarily exposed attempts by American and West German intelligence services to organize espionage and sabotage.

The broadcast said three men who "gave exhaustive testimony and presented documents concerning the criminal activity of foreign intelligence services" had been "permitted to resume a normal life and work in the country."

An engineering formula rates one horsepower of machine energy as equivalent to the work of 20 men.

Police Capture Pontiac Escapade

Detroit Officers Arrest Man Who Flew From Prison Camp Thursday

DETROIT (U)—An escaped convict was captured today by two suspicious Detroit policemen.

He is Donald Williams, 24, of Pontiac, who was serving two to five years for stealing an automobile in Alger County when he walked away from a Southern Michigan honor camp near Grayling last Thursday.

Policemen Sylvester Lingeman and Robert Cady said Williams admitted committing two car thefts and two burglaries since his escape.

Lingeman and Cady arrested Williams because they became suspicious when he pulled the car he was driving to the curb and turned off the lights after passing them. The car, they said, turned out to have been stolen.

The policemen said Williams admitted that he broke into a gas station in Mt. Pleasant and obtained $63, and abandoned the first stolen car at Mt. Vernon, where he broke into a house and took a shotgun and $33.

Southfield PTA Group to Hold First Meeting

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP—The high school Parent Teacher Student association will hold its first meeting of the fall season Tuesday, at 8 p.m. at the high school. Mrs. B. Frank Gidley, president of the association, will introduce Alice Anderson, 8th grader, who will give the invocation and James Shippee, who will interpret and explain the new version of the Pledge of Allegiance.

Marius Van Ameyde, principal, will introduce the 63 members of the teaching staff.

Club Officers Elected

ALMONT — New officers of the Current Events Club are Mrs. Ina Kidder, president; Mrs. Fred Payne, vice president; Mrs. Ida Payne, secretary; Mrs. Charles Waltz, treasurer; and Bess Reid, corresponding secretary.

Lecture Series Opens Tuesday

"World We Live In" Is Title of First in Fall Schedule

"The World We Live In" the story behind Life Magazine's extensive science series, will be the title of the kickoff lecture of the 1954 Kiwanis lecture series.

David Keith Hardy, world traveler and news analyst will present the illustrated lecture tomorrow night at 8 in the Pontiac High School auditorium.

Some of the drama, humor and excitement experienced by the life staff members in their travels for facts and pictures for the series will be given in the 30-minute lecture.

Hardy, Irish-born, was educated in England and served as a member of the Commandos in Asia in World War II, seeing duty in the Middle East and Burma.

"The World We Live In" series began in 1952 with the first installment entitled "The Earth Is Born." Since then it has illustrated the story of the earth's origin and development including the land, sea, atmosphere and animal and plant life.

The lecture will take the audience from beneath the ocean's waves to the Canadian tundra to South American rain forests.

Believe Arsonist Setting Fires in Hillsdale Area

HILLSDALE (UP)—The State Fire Marshal's office investigating a series of barn fires said today it believed an arsonist was responsible.

The investigation was started when flames destroyed a barn on the Roy Frank farm four miles south of here Sunday morning. It was the sixth barn fire in the Hillsdale County area in the past three weeks.

Changed His Job on Sudden Urge

Decided He Could Act Better Than the Actors So He Went to Tryouts

NEW YORK—Six months after Ethel and Albert started as a radio serial in 1944, Alan Bunce took on the role of Albert—and has been playing the patient spouse ever since.

Alan's contribution to the program's success has been considerable. Ethel and Albert became a nationally televised show in April, 1953. Bunce co-stars with Peg Lynch, who plays Ethel.

Bunce made his mark in television with "Ethel and Albert," but he was a seasoned performer of the legitimate stage and on radio long before the comedy series began.

His decision to become an actor was a sudden one. He had been, in turn, an assistant broker on the Cotton Exchange; and a candy salesman; and then, one night, while watching a play at the Broadway Theater, he concluded he was as good an actor as the principals on the stage.

He auditioned for a role in the play, got it and, in a matter of six weeks, was doing the lead. The Cotton Exchange and the candy industry never saw him again.

Instead, he became one of the theater's most ardent students. He worked diligently with summer stock companies, read all the books available on acting and the theater and saw as many plays as time and money would allow.

As an actor on the legitimate stage, Alan has appeared in more than 30 plays, including the Theater Guild's production of "Valley Forge," Fine Lady starring Grace George, and Tommy, Howard Lindsay's first Broadway play.

His total radio appearances exceeded 10,000. For six years he played the title role in the Young Doctor Malone series. Following "Dr. Malone," he became Albert in the "Ethel and Albert" series, which has become a favorite of families all over the U. S.

Bunce was born in Westfield, N. J. He attended high school in Melrose, Mass., a suburb of Boston. His jobs with the Cotton Exchange and selling candy followed shortly thereafter.

Not long after his debut as an actor he met and married Ruth Nugent, sister of writer-actor Elliot Nugent, and a talented actress. They have three children: Alan Nugent, a sophomore at college; and John and Virginia, who are in high school. The family lives in Stamford, Conn.

Viennese Cool to Dior

VIENNA: (INS)—Vienna fashion experts are following a middle-of-the-road policy in the current battle of the bosom. They explained at a fashion show that they haven't rejected Christian Dior's controversial H-line entirely, but added that most Viennese women have "Jane Russell figures" and shouldn't be made to look "like ironing boards."

Kefauver Raps 'Great Crusade'

Oregonians Told Nation Must Return to Dem, Vandenberg Policies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) has told voters in Oregon, visited last week by President Eisenhower, that he believes "the great crusade of the Republicans has spluttered, backed up and stopped."

Taking the stump for Oregon Democrats in the Nov. 2 congressional election, Kefauver Sunday night told a Klamath Falls audience, "if the day is to be saved, we've got to get back to the policies of Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D. Roosevelt and that great Republican senator, Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan."

At the summer White House in Denver, an Eisenhower aide said yesterday the President's three-day swing through the far west drew "tremendously enthusiastic" responses from GOP leaders all over the country.

Vice President Nixon will begin his second campaign tour this week, in the Northeast, and his office yesterday announced plans for a third swing, Oct. 4-14. Nixon's third tour will take him to Kentucky, Iowa, Ohio, Colorado, California and Texas.

A statement by Nixon at Huron, S.D., a week ago was termed "an outright lie" yesterday by Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman.

Mitchell jumped on Nixon for saying the Eisenhower administration has "kicked the Communists out of government, not by the hundreds, but by the thousands."

More than half the Americans drowned each year are rural people.

Ground Swells Injure Hundreds on Beach

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ten-foot ground swells injured hundreds of bathers who flocked to the beaches yesterday to escape a temperature of 91 degrees.

Six persons required hospital treatment after being buffeted by the booming combers. Lifeguards rescued 80 persons at Los Angeles County beaches.

Blowing Soap Bubbles

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (UP)—Scientists at a General Electric Co. metallurgy laboratory have built special glass cells for blowing soap bubbles.

Dr. Robert L. Fullman, research associate in the lab, says it's not all in fun. He said soap bubbles resemble crystals, or grains, of metals, and laboratory bubbles are used to explain metal behavior. Heating of metal causes some grains to enlarge and others to shrink and disappear, just as in soap bubbles, Fullman said.

There are no statutory holidays in Mississippi, although by common consent the Fourth of July, Thanksgiving and Christmas are observed as such.

182 Soft Drinks a Year

NEW YORK (UP)—The average American drinks 182 soft drinks a year, 106 of which are a cola of some sort.

A study of the nation's pop industry by a cola maker shows that cola's closest challenger is ginger ale, averaging 18 drinks per American annually. Third in favor are root beer, lemon and lime, each at 13.

Orange rates 11 drinks, grape averages about four, and five other flavors together trail with 17 drinks among them.

Potatoes can be kept from turning black after boiling by adding a teaspoonful of lemon juice or vinegar to each quart of water in which they are to be boiled.
