'Bloomfield Area Makes County Most Affluent'

There are more cars and more college graduates per household in the 31-square-mile Bloomfield area than in any community in the seven-county Detroit region, Irving J. Rubin, director of TALUS (Detroit Regional Transportation and Land Use Study), said yesterday.

★ ★ ★

"Oakland is the most affluent county in the region and income of the Bloomfield residents makes it so," Rubin told members of the Bloomfield Hills Rotary Club.

"Bloomfield Hills and Bloomfield Township are unusual in other respects, including the high amount of travel activity," Rubin said.

"The 'facts of life' about the Bloomfield area represent only a small segment of the tremendous bank of TALUS data.

"The bulk of this data was obtained during the 1965-66 regional travel survey by TALUS that included interviews with residents of every 25th household in an area encompassing 93 per cent of the 1.3 million households in Southeastern Michigan."

TALUS data shows that about 3,400 residents in Bloomfied Hills occupy 725 homes, for a 4.7 person-per-household average he said. Bloomfield Township has a population of about 37,000, living in some 8,300 housing units, for an average of 3.9 persons per household.

Comparative TALUS data shows persons-per-household average in the City of Detroit is 3.2, in all of Oakland County, 3.6 and all of Southeastern Michigan 3.5.

"Bloomfield Hills ranks third from the top in all Southeastern Michigan in the percentage of households with school age children," Rubin said.

"In 46 per cent of the households, the youngest child is from 5 to 17 years of age. In Bloomfield Township, 41 per cent of the households are in this category. The comparable figure for the entire region is 27 per cent."

In the percentage of three-car families, and in "person-trips-per-household per day," Bloomfield Hills far exceeds the average in Southeastern Michigan, Rubin said.

Moscow Likely Site for Viet Peace Talks

LONDON (AP) — Soviet informants said today they expect preliminary Vietnam peace talks to begin in Moscow next week. They said the North Vietnamese have already assured the United States privately they will launch no major offensive if all American bombing attacks are halted.

The sources, who cannot be identified by name, said Hanoi already has begun lifting the siege of Khe Sanh as a sign of its intentions.

The officials cautioned, however, against expecting an early end to the peace negotiations. They said they expected them to go for months.

Other sources recalled 12,000 Americans were killed in Korea while truce talks were going on.

★ ★ ★

The Russian informants said Moscow was not consulted by Hanoi before yesterday's conditional acceptance of President Johnson's call for peace talks.

PEKING NOT CONSULTED

They said that in view of Peking's present low influence in the North Vietnamese capital, they did not believe the Red Chinese were consulted.

"What you Americans seem to find hard to realize is that North Vietnam is a sovereign nation," one Russian said.

They said they expected preliminary talks to get under way "very quickly—probably next week."

★ ★ ★

They added that they believed the only possible sites for such talks were Moscow or Paris and that the Soviet capital has a 60-40 chance of being chosen.

ALL FACTIONS IN MOSCOW

Moscow is the only capital with American, North Vietnamese and Vietcong diplomatic representatives. Paris has a diplomatic mission from Hanoi but no official representative of the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Vietcong.

The Soviet informants said they believed a major stumbling block, once real peace negotiations get under way, will be an American commitment to withdraw from South Vietnam.

They said this is a prime issue with the North Vietnamese who want a definite agreement that U.S. withdrawal will start the moment a peace pact is signed and be completed within a fixed time.

★ ★ ★

The Russians did not believe Washington would easily agree, in view of the Manila agreement between the United States and its Vietnam allies that withdrawal would not begin until six months after the end of Vietcong resistance.

The sources said they expected preliminary talks to be short.

They said Moscow "has certain knowledge" that Hanoi has privately assured Washington that after a complete halt in bombing and other attacks on North Vietnam, the Communist forces, both Vietcong and North Vietnamese, will refrain from launching major offensives until conclusion or breakdown of peace negotiations.

STORM WRECKAGE SURVEYED — Chief Robert Mueller (USN-Ret.) studies the wreckage of his trailer home and lot at Millington, Tenn., today after it was demolished during the night by a tornado — one of many which churned out of a monster storm system which swept through the midcontinent. Mueller's wife, daughter, granddaughter and three sons were in the trailer when the tornado hit but none was seriously injured. Forty people were injured and 40 trailers demolished, at the park. Two Stages Fail in Saturn Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The third stage of America's Saturn 5 superrocket failed to restart in space today. Two second stage engines had quit earlier, in a troubled flight that could delay the country's man-to-the-moon program.

Despite the premature shutdown of the second stage engines, other engines took up the slack and the world's most powerful rocket shoved into orbit the satellite weighing 132 tons.

The satellite consists of an unmanned, 28-ton, Apollo 6 moon ship, a dummy lunar landing capsule and the third stage.

In all, the Saturn 5 has 11 engines: five first stage, five second stage and one third stage engine.

★ ★ ★

The rocket propelled the huge pay load into orbit but it was the wrong orbit—110 miles too high.

MOON SHOT WOULD BE ABORTED

If the Apollo 6 had carried men, a mission to the moon would have been aborted, said an official of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

After the malfunction of the second stage, too little fuel remained to propel the craft outward to the moon.

And he said the later failure of the third stage to restart would have prevented a moon shot in any event.

★ ★ ★

The restart was attempted more than three hours into the flight after the satellite had circled the globe twice.

NO RE-IGNITION

"We did not get a re-ignition," the mission control center reported.

Controllers immediately ordered the Apollo 6 separated from the third stage. This was done successfully.

Then the space craft engine—instead of the dead third stage engine—was called upon to propel the craft to a point 13,832 miles in space.

★ ★ ★

From this height, the space craft will make a flaming dive back to the atmosphere at lunar return speed of nearly 25,000 miles an hour. If all goes well it will parachute to a landing in the Pacific Ocean about 390 miles northwest of Hawaii about 4:50 p.m., EST.

State Senate OKs Open-Housing Bill

LANSING (AP) — The State Senate today approved a controversial open housing bill 22-14 after turning down two substitutes for the administration-backed measure.

The senators also defeated amendments to provide for a public referendum on the issue and exempt individual home owners.

LANSING (AP) — The State Senate braced for a showdown on open housing today as opponents of the controversial bill worked on a last-ditch attempt to water down or kill the measure, which already bears several crippling amendments.

The Senate raced through its work calendar yesterday, disposing of 50 items and setting the stage for the vote on the administration-backed bill which forbids racial discrimination in most real estate transactions.

Related Story, Page A-15

Republican and Democratic opponents of the measure worked Wednesday night, drawing up a bill which they hoped to substitute for the original, which was sponsored by Sen. Charles Zollar, R-Benton Harbor.

Backers of the Zollar bill expressed confidence they have the 20 votes necessary to remove from the bill amendments added in four days of debate, and then pass the bill.

The Zollar bill includes a lengthy list of proposed unfair housing practices and sets up civil procedure for State Civil Rights Commission enforcement.

4 Persons in Area Charged With Auto Insurance Fraud

By HUDSON WILLSE JR.

Investigators from the Detroit Automobile Inter-Insurance Exchange (AAA) and Michigan State Police have uncovered an alleged scheme in the Pontiac area in which AAA reportedly was defrauded of thousands of dollars.

Codefendants in the case are Kenneth R. Davis, 37, of 4308 Sashabaw, Waterford Township; Dr. Albert J. Berg, 31, of 457 Beverly Island, Waterford Township; James L. Sanders, 34, of 7153 Locklin, West Bloomfield Township; and his wife, Alice M., 37.

Charged as conspirators, but not codefendants, are Robert E. Evans, 43, and his wife, Dorothy M., 54, now of Orange, Calif.

Davis, formerly an adjuster working out of the AAA office at 76 Williams, was described by investigators as a key figure in the scheme.

The Sanderses own and operate a collision shop at 6846 Cooley Lake, Waterford Township.

ALLEGED ACCIDENT

One of the cases currently before the courts involves an alleged two-car accident Jan. 20, 1966, in which Evans' automobile reportedly was struck in the rear by a second vehicle driven by his wife.

State Police said the accident, reported to have happened in Waterford Township, never occurred.

However, Davis — assigned to the case by the Detroit Automobile Inter-Insurance Exchange — allegedly filed an accident report with the insurance firm.

★ ★ ★

The Evanses then allegedly were treated by Dr. Berg, who submitted a bill to AAA. Investigators contend the couple was not treated by Dr. Berg.

ALLEGED REPAIRS

The cars allegedly were repaired at Sanders Collision.

County Offers Medical Tests

By ED BLUNDEN

How's your health?

Are you a normal, working person in Oakland County who is not being treated for anything by anyone? And you're well?

Don't bet on it! The County Health Department has discovered that one in three seemingly healthy, working persons has an identifiable health abnormality that would show up in tests.

DR. CONDON

And health department officials, rather than shaking their heads over the statistic they've uncovered, are offering a battery of tests — free to everyone — to identify the abnormalities.

The tests are designed to discover many sorts of health problems ranging from improper body weight to more serious ailments such as diabetes, kidney ailments, heart trouble and cancer . . . conditions the victim is often unaware of.

Called the Adult Health Screening Tests, the examination includes X rays, blood pressure and analysis, vision and hearing tests, urine analysis, electrocardiogram screening and other tests including those of a highly specialized nature if the need seems to dictate, depending on age and sex groups.

The program was outlined by Dr. Frank J. Condon, associate health director of the South Oakland Health Center, Catalpa (11½ Mile) and Greenfield, Southfield. As director of the project he said anyone interested in taking the tests can obtain an appointment simply by calling the center.

Dr. Condon explained the new service is part of a changing role of public health agencies toward protection and improvement of the whole community's health. This program is in the forefront of public health programs in the state and nation, he said.

"This goes beyond the concept generally held of county health agencies merely fighting communicable diseases. This is aimed at improving the entire health picture," he said.

★ ★ ★

Discussing the value of the screening tests, he said: "In a large percentage of discovered health abnormalities, the victim was unaware of the condition."

PILOT PROGRAM

The new service is the result of a five-year pilot program carried on in the county from 1960-65, Dr. Condon said. Groups from industry, government, social organizations and individuals were invited to take the battery of tests.

Criticism Isn't Personal, Road Chairman Reasons

By BETTY ANN SCHULTZ

"Sure, we have plenty of criticism, but I don't take it personally."

Speaking is Frazer Staman, chairman of the Oakland County Road Commission. To many residents he represents a reason and an answer for erupted asphalt and rutted roads.

"Everyone complaining thinks he's got the biggest problem," says Staman, chairman since January, 1967. He does agree with gripers though, that they should have what they're willing to pay for.

The rub is that many people are just trying to find someone else to pay for their road repairs, Staman says.

★ ★ ★

He contends most complainers don't understand the state statute giving the county in general, not the road commission alone, responsibility for roads, he stresses.

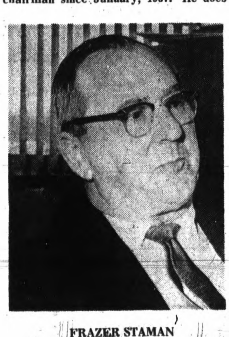

CAN'T DO IT ALL

Even so, he says, the road commission can't do all it should under the statute.

Sometimes — because of the commission's contract with the state — repair of state roads requires from one to 15 pieces of equipment which should be used on local roads.

The state has agreed to buy equipment it needs to maintain its own roads next year, Staman says.

FRAZER STAMAN

Money, he admits, is another bug. The small wood plaque on his desk reads: "Why is there always so much of the month left at the end of the money!"

County Offers Free Medical Examinations

From a test-group of 10,500, some 3,700 proved to have indications of health abnormalities — about 35 per cent.

Of the 3,700, many had more than one adverse finding and 70 per cent were confirmed as health problems by later testing.

★ ★ ★

A test group of persons over 65 showed a higher rate of abnormalities, 72 per cent, plus a higher number of problems per person, some with as many as three or four. In 21 cases, for instance, glaucoma, a serious eye disease, was discovered.

NO TREATMENT

Dr. Condon pointed out that the center does not provide treatment (except in cases of communicable diseases related to public health). In each case test results are sent to a private physician of the person's choice. "We find, they treat," Dr. Condon said.

He also added that in most abnormalities discovered treatment or cure could be successful with proper care — after, of course, the person has been informed.

All testing is confidential. The program has the cooperation of the Oakland County Medical Society, the County Osteopathic Association as well as the endorsement of many state and local agencies and private individuals, Dr. Condon stated.

★ ★ ★

In explaining the new service, Dr. Condon said it's part of a basic change in public health philosophy. "Where most communicable diseases are under control we can now direct our energies more toward other needs of the community.

NEEDS AREN'T MET

"We feel that the adult tests have shown many of our health needs were not being met."

★ ★ ★

The new program is a more direct and personal service that will reach more deeply into the needs of the county residents rather than deal with specific health problems alone as has been the previously held concept of public health functions, Dr. Condon said.

GI Force One Mile From Khe Sanh

SAIGON (AP) — The spearhead of a huge American relief force drove through sporadic enemy artillery and mortar fire today to within a mile of the U.S. Marine combat base at Khe Sanh.

★ ★ ★

A U.S. spokesman said he expected some of the 20,000-man relief force to link up with the 6,000 Marines inside Khe Sanh by nightfall for the first breakthrough in the siege of the fortress, now in its 11th week.

The force closed steadily on Khe Sanh from three directions. U.S. Marines were pushing due west along Highway 9 and were reported within 5.5 miles of the fortress.

Northeast and southeast of the Marines, helicopter - borne men of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry were pushing in ahead of the Leathernecks. Follow-up units brought the total force to about 20,000 men.

As the Marines moved along the long-closed highway, the cavalrymen searched the jungle for the enemy under a protective umbrella of gunship helicopters. Engineer support troops replaced destroyed bridges and shored up sagging ones. Bulldozers lurched down steep banks, moving huge masses of earth to create bypasses beside each bridge to take care of the heavy traffic.

The operation, named Pegasus after the mythical flying horse, began Monday with about 8,000 troops moving off from Ca Lu, 12 miles east of Khe Sanh but by today the force had more than doubled.

Aim of the operation was to open Highway 9, the land supply route to Khe Sanh which has been closed for nearly three months. Helicopters and C130 cargo planes have been the only means of supplying and reinforcing the 6,000 Marines and 1,000 South Vietnamese.

★ ★ ★

Recent intelligence reports have indicated some withdrawal of the enemy force around Khe Sanh, which last week was estimated at 16,000 to 20,000 men.

NAVY PLANE DOWNED

Meanwhile, the U.S. Command confirmed that a Navy patrol plane with 12 men aboard was shot down Monday in the Gulf of Siam, but it did not confirm reports from informed sources that a Cambodian navy ship's guns brought the plane down.

The announcement said it was "hit by antiaircraft fire" and the bodies of two crewmen were recovered.

★ ★ ★

Alleged Fraud Is Uncovered

State Police detectives said the insurance company paid more than $2,100 in claims to the collision firm and to Dr. Berg for repair services and medical expenses resulting from the "accident."

In another case, Dr. Berg allegedly received $266 from the insurance company for medical treatment received by June Kushion of 4635 Pelton, Independence Township.

★ ★ ★

Police contend professional services rendered by the physician amounted to only $36.

EMPLOYMENT

An employe of the insurance firm said he believed Davis had been employed with the company for about seven or eight years.

Davis is charged with two counts each of conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses and obtaining money under false pretenses.

Berg is accused of two counts of obtaining money under false pretenses and one count of conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses.

★ ★ ★

The Sanders are charged with one count on each charge.

COURT HEARING

Final arguments for both sides of the case involving Davis, Dr. Berg and the Evanses, are scheduled tomorrow in the court of Waterford Township Justice Kenneth Hempstead.

Preliminary examination of the case charging Dr. Berg with obtaining money under false pretenses as the result of the Kushion accident is scheduled April 25 before Hempstead.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanders and Davis have been bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court on the other charges and are awaiting trial before Judge Philip Pratt.

★ ★ ★

All of the codefendants are out on bond, according to police.

Deadline Is Tomorrow for Waterford Sign-Up

Tomorrow is the final day for unregistered voters of the Waterford Township School District to register for the May 6 millage renewal election.

The Waterford Township clerk's office will stay open until 8 p.m. for registration.

At stake is renewal of the district's 15-mill tax for operation.

S. Viet Hails Peace Talk Bid

SAIGON (AP) — The government of South Vietnam said today it welcomes current moves to bring about peace talks between the United States and Communist North Vietnam.

In its first official reaction to Hanoi's offer to meet U. S. representatives, President Nguyen Van Thieu's government said it is consulting with the United States and other allies "regarding the contacts to be undertaken with North Vietnamese authorities for the purpose of exploring the possibilities for eventual negotiations to end the war."

This was in sharp contrast to a statement by a largely Roman Catholic bloc in the Vietnamese House of Representatives.

It charged that Hanoi's offer was "only a trick to get the United States to stop the bombing unconditionally."

★ ★ ★

The statement by 21 of the House's 135 members called for resumption of full-scale bombing and expressed opposition to the visit to the United States planned by President Thieu.

HIGH-LEVEL HUDDLES

The government communique was issued after Thieu held a 7 a.m. conference with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and then met with Bunker and the ambassadors of the five other nations with troops fighting alongside the South Vietnamese — South Korea, Australia, the Philippines, Thailand and New Zealand.

The foreign ministry said they met to assess Hanoi's reaction to President Johnson's speech Sunday night.

Asked by newsmen if Thieu would attend President Johnson's weekend conference in Honolulu, Bunker replied: "Not to my knowledge."

'Crime, Liberties' Dem Session Topic

The second in a series of programs on important issues, sponsored by the Oakland County Democratic Committee, will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in supervisors' auditorium at the County Courthouse. The meeting is open to the public.

The topic, "Crime and Individual Liberties," will be discussed by four panelists.

★ ★ ★

They are Congressman John Conyers, D-Detroit; Pontiac Police Chief William K. Hanger; Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson; and Julian A. Cook, a Pontiac attorney and the newest appointee to the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

The program will be moderated by Prof. Roger Marz of Oakland University's political science department.

"We have been able to obtain a fine group of men to help present an open and frank discussion of this important issue," said County Democratic Chairman George Googasian.

★ ★ ★

"It will be of real value to all party members who seek responsible solutions to what has become a serious national problem."

A brief business meeting of the Democratic committee will precede the panel discussion.

Tornado Hammers Kentucky; Storm Death Toll Climbs to 10

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A baby tornado skipped across parts of Western Kentucky early today, killed a young couple, injured several other persons and caused widespread damage.

Other areas were lashed by violent rainstorms which drove creeks from their beds and left the 7,500 residents of Russellville cut off from the rest of the state.

Many were being evacuated by boat as water climbed to 10 feet in outlying sections of the Logan County community.

"We're in bad shape," reported one official. "People are being brought to higher ground as quickly as we can get help to them."

MONSTER STORM

A monster storm punched its way through the midcontinent after raking the middle Mississippi Valley with death-dealing tornadoes and burying parts of the Great Plains in a blizzard.

Eight persons were killed and scores were injured last night in a rash of tornadoes which churned out of the storm system and ripped hardest at Arkansas and Tennessee.

Foot-deep snows spilling out of the massive storm were whipped into 6-foot drifts by 50-mile-an-hour winds.

BIRMINGHAM — Negotiations between the board of education and the Birmingham Education Association (BEA) for the 1968-69 school year will begin Monday.

★ ★ ★

Budget Shows Tax Changes in Farmington

FARMINGTON — The proposed 1968-69 budget reflects this city's changed tax situation.

Taxpayers may seem to get a break with the anticipated millage reduction from $11 to $10 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

However, the proposed budget shows a $24,000 increase in revenues from property taxes. What has happened is that the assessed valuation of real estate and personal property has gone up an average 15 per cent, netting the city the added revenue.

Approximate figures show that the assessed valuation increased $6 million from $33.7 million in 1967 to $39.5 million in 1968.

Reassessment of real estate accounts for $4 million of the increase. New construction and newly purchased personal property make up the remainder, explained City Manager John D. Dinan.

STATE REQUIREMENT

The hike in reassessed valuation was imposed by the Oakland County Equalization Board to comply with the State's requirement to assess all property at 50 per cent cash value, said Dinan.

The tax rate drop takes up 10 per cent of the increase due to reassessment. The 5 per cent left over is being retained to pay the city's share in the proposed district library.

The balanced budget Dinan presented recently to the City Council anticipates $680,999 in both expenditures and revenues for 1968-69.

This is up from the 1967-68 anticipated expenditures and revenues of $670,192.

'RATHER CONSERVATIVE'

Dinan terms the proposed budget "rather conservative."

The increases over this year are planned to provide for $31,700 for a water department storage building; $25,000 for the district library share; $11,000 to match hoped-for federal funds for city park improvements; and $3,500 for a police pistol range.

★ ★ ★

The City Council has until May 20 to adopt a final budget. A public hearing will be held before this date, said Dinan.

Wixom Council Rejects Rezoning Bid for Multiples

WIXOM — A request to rezone 29 acres at the northwest corner of Wixom and Charms roads for multiple dwellings has been denied by the City Council after a public hearing.

The rezoning was contrary to the master plan, a city official said. There were no comments from the public at the hearing.

Virgil Cornwell, developer, requested the rezoning of the parcel owned by Dr. Harold Glen.

An agreement providing the city's sanitary sewer service to Walled Lake Western High School has been approved by the City Council.

★ ★ ★

Approval was necessary because the school, now under construction, is in Commerce Township. However, most students live in Wixom, reported a city official.

The high school is scheduled to open in the fall of 1969.

Walled Lake Schools Set Clinic on Sewing

WALLED LAKE — A sewing clinic open to any interested persons will be held tomorrow from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Clifford H. Smart Junior High School, 8700 Commerce.

★ ★ ★

Clinic topics include new ideas with zippers, lining and material selection.

The program is being put on by the Walled Lake Schools adult education department and the Bishop method sewing class instructors.

CLEAN SWEEP — Many are the signs of spring—those first crocuses peeping out of the ground, mushroom hunters tramping about in the woods, unpredictable weather. And spring cleaning. This seasonal scene was spotted along Peppermill Road near Lapeer, where an energetic householder had apparently roused up from hibernation and chucked out the old wheelbarrow, the old car and assorted other leftovers, including just about everything but his socks.

Taxpayer Group Sets Meeting

The Oakland County Homeowners and Taxpayers Associaton has asked organizations in the county to send representatives to a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Seaholm High School cafeteria, Birmingham.

The meeting will discuss the association's recently announced project to determine how funds are received and dispersed in the county and to inform the public how tax dollars are spent.

The ways and means committee of the County Board of Supervisors is currently reviewing a proposed $21.8-million budget, up about $4.3 million from last year.

A tax levy of 6.16 mills (higher by about ¾ mill) is indicated to yield the necessary amount.

Walter Chadbourne, chairman of public relations for the association, reports, "Our organization has asked for public hearings, both on the 1969 county budget and on the airport.

Both have been denied, even though the State Constitution provides for a public hearing on the budget and the people, who must pay for and live with the airport, have been given no opportunity to approve it."

Chadbourne said his group had been denied a hearing on the tentative budget this month on the basis that no monies are appropriated for expenditures in April, and that a public hearing is traditionally held in October.

He continued, "We feel that this distinction is overdrawn, since no actual expenditures are made in either April or October. But in April the taxpayer can protest the budget before the allocation is made and the tax rate set for the following year."

The county board recently resolved to delay the airport hearing "pending approval or disapproval of the Oakland-Orion Airport Master Plan by state and federal agencies."

Huron Valley Schools Start Try for Millage Hike Vote June 10

Efforts have begun to put a millage proposal to a vote in the Huron Valley School District June 10.

Members of a citizens' committee to plan and promote such an election will be selected next week.

Board of education President Arthur Burklund, Trustee Lyle B. Tyler and Schools Supt. Truman Owens were designated by the board to organize the committee.

The committee will include the 1966 citizens' committee, persons recommended by the board and staff, and other interested citizens, said Owens.

First meeting of the committee and other interested residents is April 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the Milford High School cafeteria.

The board of education has until May 13 to make the final decision on whether to go for millage June 10 and, if so, decide the amount, said the superintendent.

TWO MORE POSSIBILITIES

Owens has presented two other propositions as possible additions to a June 10 ballot:

- Changing the district from fourth to third class.

This change would allow the board to set up its own notification procedure regarding special board meetings, said Owens. A third class district can also record its own teachers' certificates, the superintendent added.

- Transferring $7,500 left over from the 1955 debt retirement fund to the 1966 debt retirement fund.

The next board meeting is Monday at 8:30 p.m. in Milford High School.

Buffet Will Honor Exchange Students

The Avondale Foreign Exchange Club will sponsor an International Buffet from 5 to 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Auburn Heights Boys' Club, 220 S. Squirrel, Pontiac Township.

The buffet is in honor of the district's foreign students and those local students who intend to study abroad. Tickets are available at the door.

Mrs. Russell William and Mrs. Lewis Bradbury are cohostesses.

Three foreign students are currently enrolled at Avondale. They are Helga Tutzinger from Braunau, Austria, living with the Gerald Augsburger family, 3631 South, Pontiac Township; Ricedla Maria Filgueira of Sao Paulo, Brazil, staying with the James Angus family, 3821 Livernois, Troy; and Fernando Guadalupe of Rivera, Uruguay, who is living with the Vern Russel family, 3156 Caroline, Pontiac Township.

Troy Group to Meet

TROY — The Northeast Troy Home Improvement Association will hold a general business meeting and election of officers tonight at 7 p.m. at Troy Union School, 1340 E. Square Lake.

Junior High Students to Speak Out at PTA Session in Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — "Youth Speaks Out" is the topic of a student panel to be held at the Walled Lake Junior High PTA meeting tonight at 8 at the school.

The students are planning to express their views on dating, curfews and school.

★ ★ ★

Officers for 1968-69 will be installed. They are: PTA council president-elect, Mrs. J. O. Sarto; president, Duane Hyatt; mother vice president, Mrs. Dorothy Button; teacher vice president, Mrs. Thomas Hanson; recording secretary, Mrs. Carmin Ginter; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Robert Upchurch; treasurer, Mrs. Floyd Mengel; and historian, Mrs. Arnold Wilcox.

Three School Issues in Lake Orion Vote

LAKE ORION — An election June 10 will seek to raise 2.75 mills for new school construction and 3.5 mills for operating costs in the Lake Orion Community School District.

The school board, meeting last night with financial consultants and bonding attorneys, voted to put three issues on the regular school election ballot.

★ ★ ★

The district will ask:

- A $4.5 million bond issue for a new elementary school, additions to present schools and future site acquisition.
- A $600,000 bond issue for a high school swimming pool.
- An additional 3.5 mills in operating funds for five years.

Schools Supt. Lewis Mundy said the projected 2.75 mills the bonds will cost should eliminate the necessity of borrowing from the state, at least during the first year of the building program.

★ ★ ★

He said the additional millage is needed to meet increased salaries, the cost of additional personnel and increased over-all costs of running the district.

THIS YEAR IN BLACK

Mundy expects the district to wind up this year's budget in the black, but the extra revenue will be necessary next year, he said.

Residents of the Lake Orion School District who live in Orion Township currently pay 18.46 mills for operation and 6 mills for bonds. The new total, if the vote is successful, would be 30.71 mills.

Recommendation of the increased millage was a result of work by an area school citizens' study committee.

Also on the ballot June 10 will be candidates for two expiring terms on the school board. Neither Lawrence Abbey and Donald Campbell, whose terms are expiring, have made announcements about their candidacy.

State Law Cited as Troy Delays Vote on Schools

TROY — The picture for passage of a millage request in this district remains cloudy, even though the board of education has reduced the amount to be asked from 6 mills — rejected by voters Feb. 19 — to 4.

Besides the specter of three defeats at the polls since last June, there is the attitude of board member Harold Janes, who said yesterday that he is uncertain as to whether to support the newest request.

"I'll have to see a tentative budget and get some estimate of our needs before I can make a decision," added Janes, who opposed other board members on the previous millage attempts.

The board voted, 5-1, Monday to raise its request from 2 mills for two years to 4 mills for two years. At the same time the election was rescheduled from May 6 to the annual board election June 10.

The postponement, according to Schools Supt. Dr. Rex B. Smith, was necessary because of a legal problem involving the May 6 date.

REGISTRATION LAW

Smith said a state law passed last year requires that voter registration books be open on the Saturday before the fifth Friday before the election.

Because of Troy's municipal election Monday, the books were closed March 30, which was the Saturday singled out by statute.

The same problem would have arisen in connection with the regular June 10 election, he said.

The books would have to be closed on Saturday, May 4, preceding the May 6 vote — again the Saturday before the fifth Friday before the June election.

The increase in the amount of millage to be asked, Smith said, was caused by the fact that the equalized valuation of the district for this year is about $14.5 million less than had earlier been anticipated by the city assessor.

Consumers Power Franchise Is OK'd in Rose Township

ROSE TOWNSHIP — Given a second chance, residents of this township voted recently to approve a 30-year nonexclusive irrevocable franchise for the Consumers Power Co., 101 votes to 35.

A previous election, held when the company's old franchise ran out in March 1966, ended in a tie.

At that time, Supervisor Milton Nelson said voters were apparently confused about some details of the election.

"Some people said they preferred Edison service, not realizing that they wouldn't be losing it," Nelson said.

A utility company can operate without a voter-approved franchise, he explained, as Consumers has done in the interval since the 1966 election.

However, the franchise in that case is not irrevocable.

Expert Claims

Land Use Studies 'Lacking'

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Present land use studies don't provide enough information to properly evaluate a site for retail use, a local urban land consultant has asserted in a trade magazine.

Howard L. Green, president of Howard L. Green & Associates, Inc., 1591 N. Woodward, writes in the "Journal of Retailing" that the high increase in commercial rent prices has made necessary a new approach to the field of land study.

What is needed, he says, is a look at the possible advantages which may be produced by the "cohesion of certain types of stores in a given business district."

In his article, entitled "The Structure of Outlying Retail Centers: Where Do Retail Functions Belong?" Green continues, "Is there a possible rearrangement of store types within shopping areas that strengthens and provides cohesion and stability to an area, and also offers an opportunity for greater profits for each store . . . ?"

In a recent interview, he amplified, "In the 30 years that land use studies have been going on, no one has yet tried to find out what the best possible mix of stores for a shopping center is, or what features of a center are which prolong its life."

Much work remains to be done, he concluded, in "charting the commercial landscape" to benefit both land economists and retailers.

Green was awarded a doctorate in geography and urban land use by Harvard University in 1952. He has served as corporate research manager for Montgomery Ward and Co. and, more recently, as distribution planning manager for the Ford Motor Co.

HOWARD L. GREEN

Walled Lake Sets Road Work Priorities

WALLED LAKE — A priority list has been set for improvement projects on 8½ miles of roads in this city.

The first project, resurfacing Decker from Maple to Pontiac Trail, is expected to begin somewhere between July 1969 and July 1970, said City Manager Royce Downey.

The improvements will be held off until these later dates because of construction of sewer and waterlines and installation of other utility lines, explained the city manager.

Completion date for the entire program costing an estimated $2,354,000 is 1978.

★ ★ ★

Special assessments will finance 25 per cent of the total costs; the city-general budget, 10 per cent; and gas and weight tax receipts, the remainder, according to Downey.

THREE FACTORS

The priority list approved recently by the City Council was set up on the basis of three factors:

Current deterioration of the road, flow of traffic and number of people served by the road.

Next steps in plans are establishment of special assessment districts, a public hearing on financing, approval of costs, and approval by the Oakland County Road Commission.

★ ★ ★

The priority list with estimated costs:

- Resurfacing Decker from Maple to Pontiac Trail and widening the intersection of the two roads to four lanes. Estimated cost is $63,000.
- Reconstruction of Maple from Pontiac Trail to the east city limits; to cost $520,000.
- Reconstruction and open drainage of Decker from 14 Mile to Maple; to cost $313,000.
- Resurfacing Walled Lake Drive from 14 Mile to Pontiac Trail; to cost $18,000.
- Reconstruction of Pontiac Trail from Maple to South Commerce; to cost $199,000.
- Widening to four lanes and resurfacing of Pontiac Trail from west city limit to Walled Lake Drive; to cost $351,000.
- Improving Pontiac Trail from South Commerce to east city limit including widening intersection at Decker to four lanes; to cost $48,000.

★ ★ ★

- Reconstruction and open drainage of S. Commerce from Pontiac Trail to north city limit; to cost $565,000.
- Resurfacing Decker from Pontiac Trail to S. Commerce including widening to four lanes at Maple and Pontiac Trail; to cost $77,000.

★ ★ ★

- Bituminous concrete resurfacing of Pontiac Trail from Walled Lake Drive to Maple; to cost $24,000.

★ ★ ★

- Reconstruction of 14 Mile from Walled Lake Drive to east city limit including four lanes at Walled Lake Drive and Decker; to cost $176,000.

McCarthy Says Hanoi's Offer Is Encouraging

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D Minn., said Wednesday that Hanoi's offer to discuss a bombing pause in Vietnam was encouraging.

He said President Johnson's bombing limitation order and the Hanoi counteroffer "seems to bring the two parties closer to a meeting than I have seen in the past two years."

But he said the President's order was "somewhat discounted by the extent of the bombing" by U.S. planes this week.

McCarthy campaigned briefly in South Bend en route to Hartford, Conn.

He said "We ought to respond" to the Hanoi communication and explore thoroughly its implications.

McCarthy declined to comment on whether the response of the Hanoi government to the President's new peace talk offer would help Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey if Humphrey becomes a candidate.

The senator said in his speech that the Vietnam war, unlike other conflicts, has depressed the nation's economy. He pointed to stock market advances on reports of peace talks.

★ ★ ★

In Hartford, McCarthy told a capacity crowd of more than 3,000 persons that America needs "a new politics" to "apply reasoned judgments to the problems before us."

The audience in Bushnell Memorial Auditorium reserved its loudest cheers for McCarthy's demand for the curbing of "the draft system under Gen. Lewis B. Hershey."

The audience also gave him a standing ovation when he called for the end of treatment of Negroes as "colonials" — in the way Britain and France treated their colonies in the past.

McCarthy made no specific comment on the Johnson administration's current moves for negotiating with Hanoi.

Boys' Clubs Rate National Salute

Now being observed by area clubs is the 64th annual National Boys' Club Week. In commemoration of it, the Pontiac, Auburn Heights and Waterford Township clubs have programmed a variety of special events involving both youthful members and their families. The 1968 celebration is keyed to the theme "Give Them Something to Sing About."

The Boys' Club concept was born in Waterbury, Conn., 112 years ago and has grown nationally to embrace 760 clubs with a membership of 750,000 youngsters in the 8-to-18 age range.

Approximately 3,000 boys represent the membership of our three community clubs, the activities of which have the objective of fostering the practice of "juvenile decency" while resisting juvenile delinquency.

The social turbulence of the times offers a particular challenge to a character-building agency such as the Boys' Clubs and there is abundant evidence it is being well met.

★ ★ ★

The PRESS warmly salutes this splendid organization of future citizens on its significant sociological role in American life, with a commendatory bow to its dedicated leadership — both professional and volunteer.

The Picture Changes . . .

College Doors Opened to Ghetto Inhabitants

It is a seller's market in education. With more and more youths clamoring for admission, no college today has to go out and recruit a student body.

Yet some are beginning to do just that, for there is a vast group of young people who are potential college material but who, for one reason or another, will never find out unless someone takes the trouble to help them.

A pioneer program of this kind is appropriately called SEEK, launched in 1966 by The City University of New York under mandate of the state legislature.

Its purpose is to provide a chance for high school graduates from poverty neighborhoods to be prepared, motivated and financially aided to enter one of the colleges of the university.

SEEK gives each candidate a protracted and individualized entrance process that can last a year or longer. During that time with the help of teachers and counselors, he either brings his scholarship up to college level or is encouraged to pursue some other goal.

During the first year, 1,400 students were enrolled, about 600 full time and 800 in part-time evening classes. Seventy-six per cent were Negro, 19 per cent Puerto Rican and 6 per cent "other." Most were between ages 17 and 20, but 10 per cent were over 26.

★ ★ ★

A similar effort in Cleveland, called Project Search, is stirring up interest among educators.

Financed by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and sponsored jointly with Cuyahoga Community College, the project has placed more than 100 people from the city's predominantly Negro Hough area in colleges and technical schools and has another 100 waiting.

David Lawrence Says:

Moves Finally Lead to Talks

WASHINGTON — All of a sudden the United States and North Vietnam, encouraged by the principal governments of the world, are going to sit down together and try to end the war.

LAWRENCE

Whether it was the persuasive arguments of Great Britain and the surprising support given by France or the realization by the Soviet Union that the time has come to halt a war which is proving so expensive to everybody, at last the North Vietnamese have agreed to come to the peace table.

The sequence of events which caused the Hanoi government to announce that it is ready to talk peace will probably not be known for a long time. But unquestionably diplomatic pressures behind the scenes were extensive.

It is to be noted that President de Gaulle of France, just a few hours before the Hanoi government broadcast its willingness to talk, proclaimed his support of President Johnson's initiative as a "first step toward peace and consequently an act of reason and political courage."

★ ★ ★

Great Britain has been having private conferences with Moscow about a formula for peace in Vietnam, and undoubtedly has been talking to Peking along the same lines.

JOHNSON'S DECISION

The turning point came when President Johnson announced that he would not run for another term because he wanted to take the Vietnam war issue completely out of partisan politics.

His carefully prepared address, intimating also a willingness to deescalate the war, gave proof to the North Vietnamese that this was an earnest peace effort which could not be ignored.

The Hanoi government, of course, reiterates its previous terms and insists that the United States must "end unconditionally its bombing and all other war action."

★ ★ ★

The North Vietnamese government, in its broadcast, nevertheless declares "its readiness to send its representatives to make contact with U.S. representatives" to discuss steps to end the war.

BOMBING HALT

This does not mean that the Hanoi government will make any concessions in the early stages. It is conceivable that the United States, on its own accord, may gradually curtail much of the bombing.

There doubtless will be considerable maneuvering before a complete cease-fire will be reached, and it may take a long while before such a result will be attained.

Unquestionably the war has been hurting the North Vietnamese, and there is a desire to find a way out now. The United States, on the other hand, has been under pressure internally to deescalate the war.

★ ★ ★

But the American position, which has been stated so often, still is that the peace must be honorable and cannot be any form of "surrender."

ON AND ON

It may turn out that some of the conditions will be unacceptable to both sides. If there is a cessation of hostilities, however, the discussions could go on indefinitely.

It could be that the North Vietnamese believe the United States now will soften its terms and that support will be given to a coalition with the Communist elements in South Vietnam.

President Johnson will not compromise on these issues.

★ ★ ★

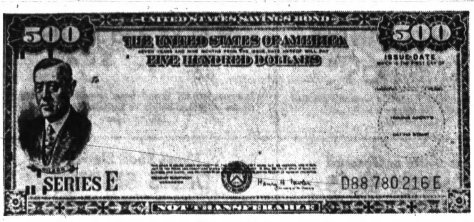

North Vietnam wants to control South Vietnam, and South Vietnam wants to remain independent. Maybe the final result will be a federation of states, set up as a stabilizing apparatus in all of Southeast Asia in order that Laos and Cambodia and Thailand, as well as North and South Vietnam, will be protected.

Stock Exchange No Pal, President Johnson Finds

NEW YORK—PEOPLE . . . PLACES . . . POLITICIANS. If the New York Stock Exchange was human, who'd want it as a friend? The greedy howls of its bull-pit rose in fiendish glee as a record 17.73 million shares were traded over the emboldened bers of Lyndon B. Johnson's political career.

CONSIDINE

It was not too many years ago that it blessed his name as the one Democratic president in history who really understood the needs of the business community. Now it danced in the flickering light of his pyre. Wall Street had Johnson, coming and going.

Exactly two years ago the market dropped dizzily on the strength, or weakness, of a report in Newsweek about "peace feelers" from Hanoi.

★ ★ ★

LBJ was furious. There had been no overture from the enemy. But on Monday it rose on the strength of a genuine peace feeler: the President's speech of the night before.

A stray item from this reporter's April 1966 notebook:

"Mr. President, do you ever dream of Jan. 19, 1973, or whatever the date will be, when you get on your hat and say 'goodby to this job this place?'"

The President, (after some eye-rubbing), "No. I keep going from day to day, taking things as they come. Of course, as everybody knows, a president — any president — "thinks of resigning two or three times a day."

Well, now, what becomes of Larry O'Brien, George Meany, Clark Clifford, Dean Rusk, Sen. Fulbright, and highway beautification?

Sen. Kennedy gave a rather odd answer to the bluntest question asked of him at his news conference at the Overseas Press Club.

The question was, in effect, would his stop-the-bombing position be altered if the North Vietnamese again double-crossed the allies by using the hiatus to build up their muscle.

★ ★ ★

"I've answered that question before," he said. "It would serve no useful purpose to go into any details now, in view of the President's statement."

Voice of the People:

Visit at Jefferson School Prompts Parent's Letter

Recently I visited Jefferson Junior High School on parent visitation day. It was unbelievable that at a school of more than 600 students only six parents attended. If parents are no longer interested in their children and what they do, how can we expect the boys and girls to be interested in themselves? Because of the many opportunities available, we should encourage our children to want to better themselves. We should motivate them toward seeking as much education as they can possibly acquire.

★ ★ ★

In the classroom I observed an extreme amount of rudeness and a sarcastic attitude on the part of too many students. If this goes on when visitors are present, can you imagine what the teachers have to put up with each day? Where does the blame lie for this behavior? Have parents lived up to their responsibilities?

★ ★ ★

Parents, get interested in what your child is doing and help develop a strong mind for things that are right. Junior high students, live and act in such a way that your parents can be proud of you. Learn to develop self control and a mind to do right.

Questions Romney's Views on Integration

Why does Governor Romney, who is continually extolling the merits of integration, elect segregation for himself and reside in one of the finest all-white neighborhoods in Michigan? If, as he proclaims, integration is the ideal state of existence, and he honestly wants to practice what he advocates, why isn't he enjoying the niceties of his Utopia by residing in an integrated section of Detroit?

Two Letters Support Recent Sheriff Action

Let's quit running down our policemen. They are told what to do and when. The officer who shot a dog was only doing what he was supposed to do. Unless people stand up for our policemen we won't have any decent ones on the force. No doubt the dog that had to be shot was a stray and had no license. Pets shouldn't be running loose.

'Agree With Youth's Viewpoint on Vietnam'

I liked the letter from the 18-year-old who is facing the draft, probably Vietnam and possibly death. He puts our President to shame for the wisecrack "we never had it so good." Why should a minority of our country do all the fighting and dying? Aren't 20,000 lives enough to tell us we are in a war? Why don't our leaders have the honesty and courage to declare war on Vietnam. Take this war out of the hands of the politicians and put it in the hands of the military to make the decisions that involve the lives of our boys.

In answer to the letter signed "Your Toy," for being 18 years old, you hit the nail on the head. This is a sad thing we have to go through. It's been like this since they nailed the "Prince of Peace" to the cross, and matters will get worse until His return. The only hope any of us have is to become a true born again Christian.

Question and Answer

I note with confusion that the wonderful cartoon, "Out Our Way" written by J. R. Williams (deceased) carries the by-line of Negley Cochran, but Mr. Williams' name appears from time to time. I know his work well enough to know those cartoons are his. What's the explanation?

R. M. BLOCK
TROY

REPLY

The news service from which we receive "Out Our Way" tells us "Negley Cochran draws the cartoons bearing his name, but due to repeated requests for reprinting of various Williams drawings, we redraw the old-timers occasionally. Usually these are Friday releases, which always are the 'shop' cartoons, featuring the Bull of the Woods. (Mr. Williams . . . based these on his own experiences working in a machine shop, and for this reason, no one else can quite do justice to the topic.) Since Mr. Cochran selects these, and does whatever redrawing is necessary, his name is always carried at the top of the cartoon. You can tell from the signature in the cartoon, who was the original artist."

Scientists Probe Possibilities

Space Signals Are a Mystery

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — A government space scientist says it's remotely possible newly detected mysterious signals from outer space may represent "galactic navigational beacons" being employed by an advanced civilization to guide their manned spaceships along the Milky Way.

* * *

Another admittedly far-out possibility, says Dr. Kenneth Kellermann, is that the radio wave signals may represent communications signals between four inhabited planets, as well as attempts by each to contact still other planets such as the earth.

* * *

Kellermann, of the government's National Radio Astronomy Observatory at Green Bank, W.Va., described the concepts in an interview Tuesday while attending a meeting of the American Astronomical Society at the University of Virginia.

He did so after first declaring that while it's much more likely the strange radio signals are coming from uninhabited star-like objects, the alternative possibility that they may represent signals from intelligent beings has not yet been definitely ruled out.

NEWLY DISCOVERED

The discussion concerned recently discovered "IILSARS"—four celestial objects of some kind that have been detected by pulsating radio waves they are emitting.

British radio astronomers discovered them last summer but didn't report their findings to the scientific world until late in February. Since then, American scientists have also detected them.

* * *

Declaring the discovery has astounded astronomers throughout the world, Kellermann said most radio astronomers in the United States and abroad—including himself—believe the signals are probably coming from "neutron states."

The latter are previously postulated celestial objects presumed to be a form of wreckage from supernovae or exploding stars.

STAR SOURCE HINTED

Some other scientists, he indicated, believe the signals may be coming from other types of dying stars known as "white dwarfs."

"But," he added, "it's probably fair to say that all of these scientists continue to think, in their own minds, of the possibility, however remote, that these signals may be artificial ones produced as a means of communication by some advanced civilization . . ."

* * *

In this connection, Kellermann disclosed tentative plans for a government-sponsored, unique doubleheader radio telescope experiment aimed at trying to help pinpoint more definitely the nature of the strange pulsating objects.

He stressed that the experiment is not expressly designed to answer the question whether an advanced civilization might be involved. But he said the results might have a bearing on the question.

2 TELESCOPES USED

Two giant telescopes, 1,000 miles apart, would be used—one in Puerto Rico, the other at Green Bank. They would be simultaneously and synchronously trained on the four objects. Hitherto, only single radio telescopes—unharmonized on timing—have been employed to study them.

War Seems Remote in S. Viet Capital

(EDITOR'S NOTE — For the last 20 years, correspondent Michael Goldsmith has reported on all kinds of violence in Europe, Africa and the Middle East. These are his impressions after a few days in Vietnam, where he is now on assignment for the Associated Press.)

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON — South Vietnam's capital is not the bastion of an embattled nation. It is an open city.

The enemy is at the gates — and within. Communist guerrillas lie hidden in the bush and rice paddies just beyond the city limits in all directions. Thousands are in the city itself, undistinguishable among the three million inhabitants.

Security precautions are haphazard.

To anyone familiar with the bloody urban terrorism that disrupted such cities as Algiers and Aden, the lack of security is hard to believe.

Only two months after the Vietcong almost overran the city, American soldiers nonchalantly stroll unarmed through the streets or ride bunched together on trucks without a single weapon to protect them.

Vietnamese sentries relax on chairs behind crumbling sandbag barriers, sipping lemonade or reading paperback novels.

Vietnamese guards at an army camp zealously examine the credentials of Western newsmen and consult their superiors by telephone — while truckloads of civilians drive through the gates unchecked.

Trucks loaded high with vegetables grown in the countryside roll unmolested into the city, past idle checkpoints theoretically intended to stop Vietcong infiltration.

UNDISTURBED

A heavy layer of red dust shows that no one has disturbed the loads since they left distant farms, many in areas where the Vietcong are active. A ton of arms or a dozen guerrilla fighters could be concealed on a truck.

Night after night, allied airmen drop flares and bombs over the outskirts, where they suspect guerrillas may be hiding or "infiltrating."

★ ★ ★

The targets are unidentified. The operation is known as H and I, for harass and interdict. Its effectiveness seems dubious at best. Any guerrilla can ride into town on a bicycle or a motor scooter.

In downtown Saigon the war seems remote — as though the nightly roar of bombs came from a foreign country.

U.S. CIVILIANS

American soldier photograph each other holding Vietnamese children. American girls in beach clothes stroll through shopping streets like tourists — the wives or girlfriends of U.S. civilians who remain unaffected by the evacuation of government dependents.

Bars and restaurants are still closed at night because of the curfew. Many Americans regard this as an irksome and unnecessary restriction.

Officials admit the city is riddled with Vietcong cells. But they believe the enemy is holding his fire to preserve a massive and constantly expanding infrastructure.

During the Tet offensive, when half the city lay virtually at Vietcong mercy, only a handful of Americans died out of the thousands who live and work in Saigon. Communist officials appeared on the streets as if from nowhere, identified by red arm bands. When the attack faded away, the officials went back underground. The government took prominent opposition leaders into "protective custody" — but the Vietcong infrastructure, barely grazed, is ready for the next dress rehearsal.

Bloomfield Area Hikes County Affluence

Three or more cars are availabe in 35 per cent of all Bloomfield Hills households, compared with 15 per cent in Bloomfield Township, 7.8 per cent in all of Oakland County, and 5.8 per cent in all of Southeastern Michigan TALUS data shows.

In Bloomfield Hills, residents average 14.6 trips-per-household-per-day. In Bloomfield Township the figure is 12.9, in Oakland County it is 9.8, and for all of Southeastern Michigan it is 9, TALUS data shows.

TALUS annual household income data was recorded by income classes, with the top category $20,000 or more, Rubin said. In Bloomfield Township, 53 per cent of the households are in this category, and another 20 per cent report income between $15,000 and $20,000.

"Income distribution of Bloomfield Hills household is, 'skewed,' to put it mildly," Rubin said. Twenty-one per cent report annual incomes between $5,000 and $10,000, 8 per cent report up to $20,000, and 71 per cent report incomes in excess of $20,000.

"Because there is so large a percentage of 'open-ended' income comes in the Bloomfield area, we cannot use our TALUS data to compute a 'median' income figure that would have any statistical validity," Rubin said.

"If, however, we assume that everyone in the $20,000-plus category had an actual income of $22,500 — and this is an extremely conservative assumption — the total annual income of the 40,000 Bloomfield area residents is $184 million — or $4,600 per capita.

* * *

"Oakland County's total population of 780,000 earn about $2.2 billion a year, or about $2,800 per capita," Rubin said.

ONE OTHER COMMUNITY

Grosse Pointe Shores is the only community in Southeastern Michigan with as large a proportion of households (71 per cent) in the $20,000-plus income category, he said.

A special project of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, TALUS has completed most of its fact-gathering and is now beginning to utilize known facts in planning regional growth to the year 1990.

"In about two more years, after more than four years of exacting work and the expenditure of about $4.8 million, TALUS will make specific planning recommendations," Rubin said.

* * *

"These recommendations will be guided by the needs and desires of the people of the region as revealed in our survey, and in our continuing contact with county and local officals.

"Our purpose is to propose a plan that will make the region a better place to live and work.

"We have faith that the people of Southeastern Michigan will have the understanding to recognize that adoption of the plan will be for the benefit of all residents of the region," Rubin said.

Among other TALUS facts about the Bloomfield Hills-Bloomfield Township area:

- In Bloomfield Hills, 26.9 per cent of the families have lived in their present homes 10 years or longer. The figure for Bloomfield Township is 14.6 per cent. The Oakland County average is 33.1 percent.
- Bloomfield Hills has the highest percentage of heads of households with college degrees of any community in the region. About 61.5 per cent are college graduates. The Bloomfield Township percentage is 58.4. The comparable Oakland County figure is 19.5.

* * *

- In Bloomfield Hills, 91.6 per cent of the heads of households are "white collar" workers. About 8.4 per cent are in the "blue collar" category. The Bloomfield Township ratio is 95.7 per cent "White collar," 4.3 per cent "blue collar." In Grosse Pointe Shores, 100 per-cent of the household heads are "white collar" workers. The Oakland County ratio is 53. per cent "white collar," 46.4 per cent "blue collar." In all Southeastern Michigan, it is 41.6 per cent "white collar," 58.4 per cent "Blue collar."

The percentage of American women who nurse their babies was found in a recent survey to have dropped by almost one-half in the last 10 years.

Road Cost Sluff Seen

Staman said he will propose a $2-million road construction program to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors early this month. New roads would be built throughout the county, he said.

His general duties as chairman put under Staman's direction about 450 road commission employes.

He also has charge of procuring rights-of way, purchasing commission material and equipment now worth $3.5 million, and serving as an ex-officio member of the county parks and recreation committee and the county aviation committee.

He was elected to the commission in January, 1963 by the board of supervisors. His six-year term expires next January.

The 63-year-old chairman, with a $12,500-a-year salary, says he puts in a "good 40 hours a week" and, sometimes night hours, for the commission.

His extra time at nights is taken up by his insurance business, the Staman Insurance Agency at 25912 Novi, Novi. His wife, Irene, and two solicitors operate the business during the day, Staman said.

Saturdays go to his real estate business, which includes some apartment buildings, his former house, a gas station in Detroit and the property the Novi Post Office previously rented at 25914 Novi. Both businesses were begun in 1959, said Staman.

A native of Farmington, he moved into politics when he was elected Novi Township supervisor in 1952. He ran on a Republican ticket and was still winning 10 years later when he took the road commission post.

Why the switch to county government? More pay — the supervisor's job was offering $5,400 a year compared to the $10,000-a-year commission post.

* * *

"There wasn't so much for the township government to do then," he said. But then, 98 per cent of the township became a village in 1957.

He says that he was responsible for the establishment in Novi Township of the Paragon Bridge and Steel Co. plant, the National Bank of Detroit branch and the local post office.

Staman and his wife recently moved from the township and now live at 3614 W. Maple, Wixom.

Canadian Liberal Confab Starts

OTTAWA (AP) — Justice Minister Pierre Trudeau was a big favorite today to become Canada's next prime minister as the Liberal party assembled for a three-day convention to pick a successor to Lester B. Pearson.

With the vote still two days away, Trudeau declined to predict victory on the first ballot, and other contenders were reported putting out feelers for a stop-Trudeau drive.

★ ★ ★

The withdrawal from the race Wednesday of Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp and his support of Trudeau failed to halt feverish behind-the-scene maneuvers.

Fifteen of 19 announced candidates for the post of party leader, and with it the prime ministership, were still in the race, including seven Cabinet members.

Informal polls indicated Trudeau would lead on the first ballot by a substantial margin, but Foreign Minister Paul Martin, Transport Minister Paul Hellyer and Trade Minister Robert Winters also registered significant strength.

★ ★ ★

The latest Gallup poll showed Trudeau far out in front in popular support in urban centers. Thirty-two per cent of the persons quizzed named Trudeau their first choice with 14 per cent for Martin, 10 per cent for Winters and 4 per cent for Hellyer.

★ ★ ★

This may be a factor in the convention voting since the Liberals face a national election, probably within a few months.

Sharp, listed fifth in most polls, expressed belief that a majority of his followers would switch to Trudeau, but this was disputed by all the other leading contenders. Martin, Hellyer and Winters all claimed they would get most of Sharp's delegates.

EFFECT OF SWITCH

Sharp's switch did, however, bring to Trudeau the finance minister's elaborate campaign organization, and it gave Trudeau a total of seven Cabinet ministers in his camp. Hellyer has four and Martin three.

Today's convention program was devoted mostly to worship meetings at which the eight leading candidates were given an opportunity to discuss domestic and foreign affairs and to answer questions from delegates.

★ ★ ★

The evening program was dedicated to Pearson, who is retiring at the age of 70 after five years as head of the government. He was to deliver his farewell speech to the 2,481 delegates, but was not expected to indicate which candidate he favors.

The convention will vote Saturday afternoon at its final session.

'Black Legion' Lifer Up for Parole

JACKSON (AP) — Convicted in what police described as an "Amusement murder" attributed to Michigan's infamous "Black Legion," Charles Rouse sought his freedom today from Southern Michigan Prison, where he has spent almost 32 of his 67 years.

He was among seven cases up for hearing before the State Parole Board. He is serving a life term for first-degree murder.

Rouse is the only one among more than a score sent to prison in "Black Legion" trials who is still behind bars. All the others, including 10 life-termers, have completed their sentences, have been paroled or have died.

Rouse always has insisted he never was a 'Black Legionnaire' and was not involved in the murder for which he was convicted.

★ ★ ★

The masked "Black Legion," a white skull and crossbones emblazoned on its black uniforms and hats, struck terror into the hearts of many over southeastern Michigan in the middle 1930s.

NEGROES SPECIAL TARGET

It burned and abducted and it flogged and killed. It even forced one member to throw out his German-born mother and fire his Catholic maid. Negroes were particular targets of its wrath.

Rouse, however, was convicted in the death of Silas Coleman, a 42-year-old Negro Veteran of World War I, shot to death on the outskirts of Dearborn May 25, 1935.

Lured from his home by a ruse, Coleman was used, according to the state, "to provide amusement at a weekend party of 'Black Legionnaires,'" whose leader was quoted as saying he wanted "to see what it feels like to shoot a nigger."

★ ★ ★

The "Black Legion" finally was torn asunder by a turncoat and an admitted trigger-man for it, Dayton Dean, 30, who was the state's star witness in several trials.

Dean was Rouse's brother-in-law, and it was Dean who put Rouse at the scene of the Coleman slaying, despite Rouse's denial. He also testified and Rouse denied that guns and robes used were taken to Rouse for hiding "when things got hot."

Wounded GI Total a High; Fewer Killed

SAIGON (AP) — The number of Americans killed in the Vietnam war dropped slightly last week but the total of U.S. wounded soared to the highest for a seven-day period during the conflict.

At the same time, U.S. troop strength increased by 5,000 to 516,000, the highest number ever listed for American forces in South Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

South Vietnamese government casualties were up sharply from the previous week, while the listing of enemy killed was in the same range as that of a week earlier.

The U.S. Command said 330 Americans were killed in action last week as compared with 349 a week earlier. The number of wounded was 3,886, spokesmen said, as compared with 1,965 wounded in the week ending March 23. Of that 3,886 total, 1,829 were hospitalized, but 2,057 did not require hospitalization, the Command said.

STUDY MADE

A spokesman said there was no immediate explanation of the sharp rise in the number of wounded, and that a study was being made in an effort to determine why the total had gone up so sharply.

Unofficial records showed the previous high for American wounded was 2,766 in the week ending last March 9.

South Vietnamese military headquarters listed its casualties for last week at 393 men killed, 1,160 wounded and 41 missing or captured. A week earlier, these totals had been 270 killed, 670 wounded and 49 missing.

The U.S. Command, in its weekly summary, said 3,289 enemy were killed last week by allied forces as compared with 2,223 a week earlier. The South Vietnamese command reported 2,872 enemy were killed last week but a week earlier, the South Vietnamese had listed enemy dead at 3,428. The total of enemy reported killed each week often conflicts in the separate reports issued by the two commands.

If You Can Afford It

Here's How to Beat the IRS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Slaving over that 1040 form trying to figure out how to save another $25? Here's one that's really going to hurt.

★ ★ ★

Eighteen Americans who each earned more than $1 million in 1966 didn't pay a single penny in taxes.

Worse yet, the Internal Revenue Service says it's all legal. The IRS estimates about the same number of million-dollar earners will probably slip through tax loopholes without paying a cent this year.

An additional 133 Americans who earned more than $200,000 in 1966, and are probably also millionaires, likewise didn't pay any taxes.

★ ★ ★

The government figures it lost $38 million in taxes from just these 151 persons.

Every year, Congress gets upset and speeches are made demanding that the loopholes for the rich be plugged.

USUAL RETORT

There is also the usual retort that to get these exemptions, a man has to spend great sums of money, which is good for the country anyway.

But big money earners use special loopholes which not only cut the taxes they pay, but reduce the amount of income they have to report for tax purposes in the first place.

Here are just a few of the ways a taxpayer earning big money can reduce his taxable income:

● OFF THE TOP — Depletion allowances and operating losses can be claimed, and tax-exempt securities bought—all requiring large sums of money for investment.

Ownership of mineral rights—especially oil rights — gets a write-off for depletion of the supply; tax-exempt government bonds can be purchased, and tax-free reserves of money can be applied against business losses to reduce the amount of taxable income a person reports each year.

CHARITY PAYS OFF

● OUT OF THE MIDDLE — Charitable contributions are the favorite item here. But again, large amounts must be used for real savings.

In fact, this loophole is available only to those who pay out more than 90 per cent of their income in taxes in a given year and during 8 of the 10 previous years (that means people with incomes of $1 million or more.)

The reluctant taxpayer can donate stocks or works of art or real estate which have increased in value from the original cost and have their present value deducted in full from that year's income totals.

★ ★ ★

● FROM THE BOTTOM—Credits can be claimed for foreign tax payments and tax-free reserves applied against bad debts.

A businessman can also recover taxes he has paid in three previous years or save income for five years ahead as a cushion against business losses.

LOSS FAR BIGGER

What it adds up to is that the government is losing far more than the $38-million estimate.

Other taxpayers who actually gross more than $1 million use these deductions to lower themselves from the 90 per cent tax bracket to the still-expensive—but less painful — tax levies in the $500,000 to $200,000 range.

When will Congress ever get around to closing these loopholes? How much money has the government lost because of them?

The answer is the same.

Nobody knows.

Harriman and Thompson Poised to Negotiate With N. Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two diplomats with more than 50 years of experience between them in dealing with Communists have been picked by President Johnson as his special envoys for any Vietnam peace talks.

* * *

Ambassador-at-large W. Averell Harriman, once ambassador to Moscow, and Llewellyn E. Thompson, the current U.S. Ambassador to the Soviet Union, are in Washington, poised to go whenever the White House signals them to launch discussions with the Reds.

* * *

Harriman has already carried out more special missions for presidents dating back to Franklin D. Roosevelt than anyone in government.

* * *

Born the heir of a rail fortune, Harriman tried some private enterprise in the Soviet Union during Moscow's short free-enterprise period during the 1920s.

JOINS ROOSEVELT

In the next decade he joined Roosevelt's New Deal. With the outbreak of World War II he shifted to the star assignment as a special diplomatic envoy that he holds today.

Harriman was ambassador to the Soviet Union during World Warr II. At other times he was Roosevelt's special contact with Soviet Premier Josef Stalin and Britain's Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

* * *

Now operating as ambassador-at-large, Harriman has a special interest in Southeast Asia because he helped negotiate the 1962 Geneva agreement for the neutrality and independence of Laos.

Thompson, a 63-year-old native of Los Animas, Colo., is regarded as a cool customer whether on a diplomatic hotseat or playing poker with friends.

He launched his career in a more modest way than Harriman, signing on as a junior foreign officer in 1929 after graduating from the University of Colorado.

"Tommy" Thompson transferred to the Moscow Embassy and soon became a top expert on the Soviets.

* * *

President Harry S. Truman later named him high commissioner in occupied Austria, an assignment which was changed to ambassador to an independent Austria after the Soviets withdrew from that country.

From Vienna, Thompson moved to Moscow as ambassador in 1957. He returned to Washington in 1962 for a stint as senior adviser on East-West affairs until Johnson sent him back to Moscow in 1966.

State Senate Approves Sex Education, Antiriot Bills

LANSING (AP) — Bills allowing school districts to authorize teaching of sex education and forbidding interference with a fireman while performing his duty were among a flood of measures approved by the Senate Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Rushing to clear the work schedule to allow consideration of the controversial open-housing bill, the senators dealt with 50 bills, approving 35, defeating two and postponing the rest.

★ ★ ★

The sex education bill, introduced by Sen. Lorraine Beebe, R-Dearborn, would allow individual school districts to decide whether their schools may teach such classes or hire teachers and purchase equipment for that purpose.

★ ★ ★

Although approved 29-3, the bill would have little effect since the senators killed a companion bill removing present legal restrictions on who may supervise teaching of sex hygiene in the public schools.

QUALIFICATIONS

The law presently requires such classes be supervised by a registered physician, registered nurse or a person holding a teacher's certificate qualifying him as a supervisor in this field.

Sen. Beebe requested that the 18-16 vote by which the companion bill was killed be reconsidered. Action on her motion was postponed.

★ ★ ★

The sex education bill would require the State Department of Education, aided by a 19-member advisory board, to draw up guidelines for such courses and determine who may teach them.

Approved, 33-1, was a bill which would make it a felony to interfere with or endanger a fireman or a public utility maintenance man in the performance of his duty.

RIOT MOVE

The bill, sponsored by Sen. James Fleming, R-Jackson, is one of several measures recommended by the special Senate Riot Study Committee, named after last summer's Detroit riot.

The senators also approved two measures dealing with state conservation commission authority over importation of fish into Michigan and sports and commercial fishing in the Great Lakes and connecting waters.

★ ★ ★

One bill, sponsored by Sen. Gordon Rockwell, R-Mount Morris, would allow the state conservation director to adopt rules to prohibit or restrict importation of such fish as might endanger public fisheries.

The bill's backers said it will allow the commission to more adequately maintain a proper ecological balance in Michigan waters.

Another bill would extend commission authority in protection and regulation of fish to those parts of the Great Lakes and their connecting waters which lie within the state.

The department presently has authority over inland lakes, streams and rivers.

Defeated, 12-23, was a bill which would have boosted from 15 cents to 25 cents the commission which private individuals such as hardware store and gasoline station operators receive for each hunting or fishing license sale.

The dresses were hung on racks and women patients of Pontiac State Hospital came to browse and to buy. Instigator of this new "personal purchase therapy" is Willie DuBose (far right), director of Patient Affairs Department. The program will allow more patients to do their own shopping and not be dependent on someone's taking them outside.

Mrs. Gloria McMurtry headed the J. L. Hudson Company staff that came to the first shopping day at Pontiac State Hospital. She shows a cotton dress to a patient who can choose the style in any of four colors. Seeing the actual clothes is more satisfactory to anyone than shopping from pictures in a catalog.

Chores of Shopping Welcomed by Patients

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

For some women, shopping is a chore; for others, it is a game and a means of passing time.

But for many women patients at Pontiac State Hospital, shopping has been one of the lost arts. They bought their clothes from catalogs, a practice that might be efficient, but can be unsatisfactory. A few women might be taken out to shop in local stores.

Willie DuBose, director of Patient Affairs Department, struggled with this problem for several years. Then late last fall he went to J. L. Hudson's at The Pontiac Mall.

George Geigle, store supervisor, was quick to see that here was a service the new store could render the hospital.

Mrs. Mary Clark, a buyer from Hudson's downtown store, came out to talk with DuBose and on her next trip to New York told manufacturers of the problems involved.

Because of laundering, only cotton clothes are worn by the women. Hudson's arranged to have a fairly large selection of dresses and underclothing brought into the hospital. It took three months to get all details worked out.

Working with the various ward staff members, DuBose set up "store" in a basement recreation room and chose the patients. Here, one afternoon last week, we saw the first shopping spree.

From the merchandise displayed, the women picked out what they wanted (they were spending their own money) and gave their orders to one of the six Hudson employes who were on hand.

DuBose says he wants to have a similar set-up for the male patients as soon as the women have been taken care of. Once begun, this service will continue as long as needed.

Dr. Donald W. Martin, medical superintendent of the hospital, calls this program "personal purchase therapy."

It is valuable, he says, because of the satisfaction patients receive in "browsing around" the shop and making their own decisions and selections, plus facing the reality of their economic purchasing power.

Prize Winner Opens Letters Meant for Son

By ELIZABETH L. POST

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to the writer who asked that her name be withheld.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: I agree with the principle of your statement on rights of the individual to privacy. There is, however, a menacing situation in today's freedom of the mails. My teen-age son somehow became listed on a pornographic mailing list. In order to protect him I opened mail that had no return address or a Box No. as a return. I then sent these letters to officials who were interested in curtailing pornography.

* * *

The obscenities included offers of contact with "other people whose interests were similar" — including deviations of all kinds, nude photographs, etc. I believe that a child should be protected from such exposures, and help from parents is one source of information for law enforcement officers who are trying to curb the penetration of filth into homes where it is not welcome.—Mrs. M. S.

Dear Mrs. S.: Your action in reporting and turning over the pornographic material was absolutely correct. Only through people like you can the Post Office Department and other authorities curb this type of filth.

Your letter did not make it clear, however, why you opened the first of these letters, and whether you discussed the matter with your son. Even if you were sure what the envelope contained (many innocent letters are sent without return addresses), I firmly believe you had no right to open it without your son's permission.

'Madman' Husband Is Acute Problem; Needs Immediate Professional Help

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a madman. If I fix him breakfast maybe he'll eat it, and maybe he'll throw it at me. If I don't fix him breakfast, he runs down the street cursing a blue streak. He gets raving mad over nothing and throws the patio furniture 100 feet over the fence. Then he runs out of the house and hides in alleys.

ABBY

Don't tell me to call the county authorities. I did and they said, "He sounds sick. Bring him in sometime."

And don't tell me to take him to a psychiatrist. He's too heavy to carry and too big to push. And have you ever tried driving a car with a man who is trying to jump out? You steer with one hand and hold onto his belt with the other and pray he won't jump out into the traffic when another car is near.

Abby, this is the FOURTH time I have written to you and have drawn three blanks, but you are supposed to give advice, so I am going to keep on writing until I get it. I suppose I could just kill myself to get away from this cursing man, but I have no such intentions. For God's sakes, Abby, help me! I am tired of hunting for a crazy husband in the alleys with a flashlight at 2 a.m.

MARGARET

DEAR MARGARET: Your letter gives no last name and no address, so the only "help" I can give you is to urge you to call either your family physician or your local police department. If you don't want to do that, identify yourself, and I will have your case investigated at once and keep it confidential.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My sister has two big, strong healthy daughters, ages 15 and 17. She also has a very beautiful home, but if you ever walked into the girls' room you would have the shock of your life.

It looks like a tornado hit it. Stacks of clothes thrown every which way, more clothes on every chair, one laid right over the other. Shoes all over the floor. The desk piled high with magazines, books and records. And enough cosmetics around to fill a store. The bed wasn't even made.

I asked my sister why she permitted this and she just shrugged her shoulders and said, "I am through eating my heart out. I've tried everything and it's hopeless, so now I just close their door and pretend that room isn't even there."

Abby, don't you think my sister is wrong to take that attitude? Shouldn't those lazy girls be made to clean up their room and keep it that way?

Please don't print my name or city as I have already been told it was none of my business. I would like your opinion.

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: If it were my home and the daughters were mine, I wouldn't give up until I had tried everything, but maybe your sister has. However, the home isn't mine and neither are the daughters. And may I remind you, neither are they yours, so don't pour any fuel on troubled waters.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SATURDAY'S CHILD": The man who is always talking about how great he is with women is doing what he does best. Talking.

* * *

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

* * *

For Abby's booklet "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1.00 to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

WSU Plans Salute to Retiring Director

Homer D. Strong of Gale Road will be saluted at the Women of Wayne Anniversary Headliners luncheon Saturday. Eight Wayne State University alumnae who made headlines in 1967 will also be feted at the event in Mauna Loa restaurant, Detroit.

Strong, who is retiring after 25 years as alumni director, has seen alumni activities progress at a remarkable rate.

The women to be honored are Marjorie Gibbs, at one time senior home economist of Pontiac Consumer Power Company; Sylvia Wayne, TV news reporter; Lois Benedict, Escanaba; Jessie Kennedy, Detroit regional school superintendent and Dr. Alice P. Pratt who spent two years teaching and caring for the sick in South Vietnam.

Others are Pat Russell, Grosse Pointe and Mary Ellen Stier of Richmond who was Michigan's 1967 "Mother of the Year."

* * *

Mrs. George Froczila of Utica will be awarded a special citation for her service to the national council of Women of Wayne.

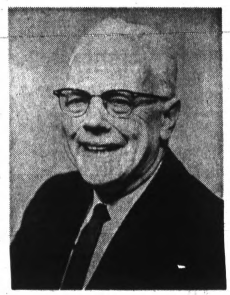

Tickets for the luncheon are available at Alumni House, Wayne State University.

Pianist Will Perform at One 'Pops' Concert

Arthur Fiedler has chosen pianist Jesus Maria Sanroma to perform as soloist at the April 24-25 Cabaret "Pops" concerts of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

The series of eight concerts take place in the Detroit Light Guard Armory. They are scheduled from April 17 to April 27.

James Tocco, Italo Babini and Gordon Staples will be guest soloists for each of the other twin concerts in the series.

Area Women Are Chairing Symphony Association Party

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

On April 17 at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club, a festive luncheon is being planned just for the Life Members of the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony. It is in honor of the 40th anniversary of the Women's Association.

Chairman of the luncheon is Mrs. Phillip R. Flanders, assisted by Mrs. Harry J. Nederlander. Mrs. Edward N. Cole is hostess-sponsor and Mrs. Herbert Sott is taking reservations.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Kiefer of Kennebec Court are rejoicing over their first grandchild who was born to Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy E. Kiefer Jr. of Saginaw on Jan. 27. Already little Jacob Howell Kiefer has spent several weekends with his grandparents.

His mother is the former Victoria Frank of Franklin. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce K. Frank, formerly of Franklin, but now residing in Kearsarge.

TRAVELERS HOME

Sunday at midnight 39 members of the Village Woman's Club returned to their homes after a six-day trip to New Orleans. Mrs. William H. Burlingame conducted the trip. Traveling was done by air but in New Orleans the group chartered a deluxe bus.

* * *

One of the highlights of the trip was the time spent in Natchez, Miss. where they visited the Colonial gardens and the homes of the early pioneers. The residences are filled with splendor reflecting the French influence prior to the Civil War.

Mrs. Burlingame who is an ardent garden lover said that many new ideas were obtained on garden design.

* * *

Among those on the trip were: Mesdames: Frank H. Boyer, Maxwell Fead, Robert Burgess, R. J. Corkery, James Hastings, Wendell S. Smith, Carl Black, Neil Barber and J. P. Judd.

DOROTHY SIMPER

Not This Week!

The performance of Mahler's Symphony No. 2 "The Resurrection" by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and Rackham Choir will take place April 11 and 13, not this week, as incorrectly announced in Wednesday's paper.

Artist Will Conduct Critique of Works

Mrs. Frederick Simper will conduct a critique on members' works at Friday's meeting of the Pontiac Society of Artists.

Mrs. Simper is a scholarship winner of the Detroit Society of Arts and Crafts and has exhibited in the Michigan Artists Show. She has participated in four two-man shows with her husband, as well as others.

The meeting takes place at 8 p.m. in the Community Services building on Franklin Boulevard.

Mental Health Explored in Day-Long Talks

By JUNE ELERT

"As many as 10 per cent of children in Michigan need some kind of preventive intervention within the family or school situation in order to head off development of incipient problems into serious mental conditions."

So said Dr. Ralph Rabinovitch, director of the Hawthorne Center, in his opening address at the one-day seminar on mental health Wednesday at Wayne State University.

* * *

Fifty communities of Oakland and Wayne Counties were represented by the listeners in the auditorium of the McGregor Memorial building.

EXTENSION-SPONSORED

The seminar was sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University.

Three psychiatrists addressed the group in the morning. Following luncheon, concurrent discussion sessions were held on each of the three topics moderated by resource people in each of the fields covered.

* * *

Dr. Rabinovitch spoke on "The Emotionally Disturbed Child."

* * *

He expressed the belief that facilities for the treatment of the mentally disturbed in Michigan have deteriorated in recent years and commented on the difficulty of getting sufficient appropriations through the legislature to keep up with increasing needs.

NO SPECIFICS

He said, "We are not telling people any more how to raise their children. We now recognize that the general tone of child care is probably a great deal more important than any particular technique."

Dr. Rabinovich stressed that groups such as extension study groups, the AAUW and other women's organizations could wield great influence in getting appropriations to support research programs and improvement of facilities.

* * *

The "Tensions and Pressures in Today's Society" and their effects upon mental health were discussed by Dr. Benjamin Jeffries of the Wayne State University medical staff.

He spoke of the problems of pollution in air and water, transportation, food production, distribution and war, saying "These are the good old days. If you think it's tough now—! Man is the only species which has ever possessed the power to eradicate itself."

Dr. Jeffries suggested that the age-old battle between the sexes is a waste of time. He said, "We have to establish ourselves on a realistic basis according to our own strengths and weaknesses.

SOOTHING WORDS

Words of comfort for women approaching the time of menopause were offered by Dr. Thomas A. Petty, who stated that 80 per cent of women get through the period without difficulty. The other 20 per cent, he said, suffer only mild symptoms.

He stressed that menopause is not the beginning of the end but is, rather, the end of fear of unwanted pregnancy. It is also the beginning of a greater sense of sexual freedom in the discarding of contraceptive preparations and the cessation of the monthly "nuisance" of menstruation.

* * *

The discomforts of menopause; hot flashes (due to a hormonal imbalance), nervousness, irritability, anxiety, fatigue, sleeplessness, excessive sweating, he said, are all temporary conditions and controllable under ordinary circumstances.

He urged his listeners to consult their gynecologists for guidance and help.

Dr. Petty suggested that the response to the changes of menopause is determined by the individual woman's personality.

* * *

The adjustment may be easy or hard he said, depending on whether a woman accepts this new period in her life as a fresh opportunity or glumly concentrates only on her loss of former capabilities. The latter attiude can lead, he said, to symptoms of mental stress, such as depression.

Alumni Getting Ready for Big Barn Sale

Posters for next month's "Barn Bizarre" sponsored by the North Oakland County chapter of the Valparaiso University Guild were released at Monday's meeting.

Mrs. Arthur Gau of North Rochester Road, Avon Township, opened her home for the evening affair, the agenda of which concerned final plans for the sale.

★ ★ ★

The setting for the Bizarre, slated May 4 will be a 100-year-old barn belonging to the Richard Albrechts also of North Rochester Road.

★ ★ ★

Quiet books, which were assembled at the meeting, will be among the items to be sold. Made of cloth, they are a treat for youngsters too young to participate in church services.

Shoppers will also find antiques, baked goods, attic treasures, usable household goods, boutique items and a geranium booth.

Wall Dispenser for Toothpaste

Now there's an automatic toothpaste dispenser to end the proverbial battle between family members who squeeze from the bottom and those who attack from the middle of the tube.

Tooth-brushing will be more fun for children, too, with this handy stick-on-wall fixture. After the tube is screwed into the dispenser, a push-button releases the required amount of favorite toothpaste right onto the brush.

Pediatrician Tries to Stem Tide of Infant Injuries

CHICAGO (AP) — "Don't let your baby be a fall guy."

This is the warning of a Chicago pediatrician who has opened a campaign to stem the frequency with which babies are falling from cribs, adult beds or dressing tables.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Harvey Kravitz, an assistant professor in the Pediatrics Department of Northwestern University School of Medicine, has studied the problem. He said the high incidence of "falls from high places" averages 47.5 per cent among first occurences.

FURNITURE REDESIGN

He said mothers should be warned about the dangers of falls, usually when the infant is untended. Nursery furniture also could be redesigned to lessen the risk of a baby's rolling off a dressing table or wriggling out of a crib.

How to Figure Support for Dependent

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Mrs. Feeley:

My husband's mother now makes her home with us. Can we claim her as an exemption on our tax return? I believe we have to show that we provide half of her upkeep, but I don't know how to figure it.

MARY FEELEY

Now age 62, Mom draws about $72 a month from Social Security. She uses this for personal necessities such as cigarettes, cosmetics, gifts, or just to pick up some little thing at the grocery. She also pays insurance on her car, $88 per year. According to the food costs breakdown you have given in your column, I believe we are in the middle bracket.

She had two bouts in the hospital this past year — one for $500 and one for $1,500. We helped her pay these off. She had no hospitalization but we're getting this for her now.

All I know is that we supply Mom with a home and food as the fifth member of our family! Can you help me in trying to make some kind of estimate? M.P., Fort Wayne, Ind.

Dear M.P.: This is a problem confronting many families for the first time this year when they make out their tax reports. You have to show reasonable proof that you and your husband are providing your mother-in-law with more than half — not just half — of her support. And her $864 Social Security benefits must be included in your figuring.

Start by establishing what would be considered a fair share of her expenses in your home. These expenses would include a prorated share of housing costs, a proportionate share of the cost of food and other household supplies, and the cost of clothing, medical expenses, transportation and other necessary items.

In your circumstances as a family of five, you could consider your mother-in-law's share as 1/5 of "the fair rental of your home." The Internal Revenue Service explains that even though you may own your own home you are entitled to allot a fair rental toward a dependent's support.

This is interpreted by IRS as "the amount you could reasonably expect to receive from a stranger for providing the same type of lodging you have provided your dependent."

Using this method you don't have to figure her share of heat, utilities, mortgage payments, taxes, insurance coverage. So if the fair rental value of your home, for instance, is $180 a month, then one person's share of this would be $432 a year.

As for food costs, the Department of Agriculture estimates that an adult in your mother-in-law's age range could consume about $435 worth of food a year on a moderate food plan. Of course, if you know your grocery bill runs about, say, $45 a week, you'll want to use 1/5 of this figure, which totals $468.

The cost of clothing I gather is not a large item. But your contribution to her medical costs last year, along with your own costs for lodging and food may show proof that you provided your mother-in-law with more than half of her support.

Party Scene 'in the Pink'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The romantic candlelight and roses look is the one to enhance that simple black velvet dress that will dominate the party scene.

* * *

The in-the-pink, shiny young look can be yours by adding a few drops of pink liquid rouge to a small bottle of baby oil, beauty experts suggest. Mix it well and with your fingertips spread a thin coat all over your face. Just the lightest dusting of translucent powder will set the look.

To clean white enamel, first wipe with a cloth moistened in turpentine, then wipe with a soft dry cloth.

Looks Aren't Everything

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE E-582: Nora Q., aged 17, is unhappy.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "nobody likes me.

"Why, I don't even rate well with girls, not to mention boys.

"And it is all because I am not beautiful.

"So what is the use of living if you can't be pretty?"

DR. CRANE

CHARM

Nora needed two things very badly, namely a new outlook on life, plus a "Charm Course."

For a lot of beautiful girls bemoan the fact that they can't rate a second date with the same man!

"Dr. Crane," many of my coed students at Northwestern University would exclaim, "I guess I am just what you call a one-date girl.

"Since I dress well and have even been entered in our campus beauty contest, I can usually get a first date with a new boy.

"But he seldom asks me for a second date, so what is wrong with me?"

★ ★ ★

Girls, it is smart to utilize all the natural beauty and reasonable cosmetic aids possible to enhance your "attention attracting" value.

But to rate that second and third date with the same boy, you need what advertisers call "attention holding" appeal.

Briefly, that is "charm."

★ ★ ★

For mere beauty alone may leave your personality flat, dull, stodgy and boring.

But "charm" adds the sparkle and dynamic appeal that keeps boy friends coming back for additional dates!

"Dr. Crane," Nora asked, "what is charm and how can I acquire it?"

Well, charm starts with a widened perspective. You must stop selfishly focussing on yourself. Instead, use your companions as the main target.

"I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT" is the invisible brand that is indelibly imprinted on their chests.

So smile!

For a smile is a non-verbal or "sign language" form of compliment which intimates:

"Your presence is pleasing to me so I hope we can be friends, etc."

And when you add a spoken greeting, like "Hello," don't drop to a lower tone on your fade-out.

Instead, rise at the finish, for that adds sparkle.

Then help your companion get conversation rolling without effort.

★ ★ ★

Use the "H-E-L-P" quick formula where "H" stands for "Hobbies"; "E" for "Entertainment"; "L" for "Literature" (including books, newspaper features and even comic books), and the "P" indicates the broad field of "Politics."

Deftly probe around till you strike a responsive chord.

A gay conversationalist who makes her companion feel important will automatically be rated much higher even in sheer cosmetic beauty.

★ ★ ★

But meanwhile, take a "Charm Course" so you learn the proper hair style to fit your face, plus how to walk and sit down gracefully, as well as how to pick clothes that enhance your figure.

Most girls blindly follow the latest fads, though the latter may make them look atrocious!

★ ★ ★

Their hairdo is often ghastly and their mini-skirts make them look like topheavy elephants, trying to cavort as graceful gazelles!

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Many women find that loneliness and the feeling of not being needed to be the real hardships of older age. After years of taking care of the constant needs of children and family, they are simply defeated by the new leisure and the absence of being called upon.

★ ★ ★

Well, you are needed! Wherever you live, you are needed! There are so many people who need your help. There are so many civic and philanthropic organizations which are eager for more volunteers.

Retired men are just as susceptible to this feeling of being on the sidelines of not being called upon. Today, I want to give both sexes two suggestions, and there are many more outlets for your energy, experience and understanding than these.

Not long ago I received a letter from the Chairman of the Motor Service Division of a chapter of The American Red Cross. He said, "I read with great interest your article about retirement couples and have the perfect answer. The American Red Cross has very great need for retired men who are good drivers to volunteer to drive for our motor service.

"They would drive Red Cross cars to take people to hospitals and doctors in the greater New York area, deliver blood to hospitals in this county and take equipment to blood donor sessions. There are also many other ways they could help. This would get retired husbunds out of the house and be doing a very worthwhile service for others."

So, get in touch with your local Red Cross. If the one in your community does not need you for this, they may for other services.

In the United States one of the most heartwarming federal programs is the Foster Grandparent Program. The object of this is to give part-time employment to low-income men and women 60 years and older. The foster grandparents give loving care and attention which overworked hospital staffs cannot give.

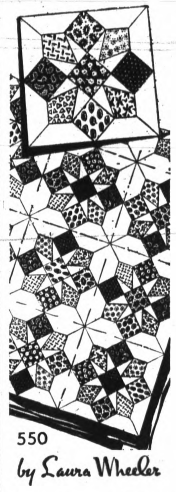

Often the older people get as much or more satisfaction and happiness out of this association with the children as the children do.

This program is now in operation in 38 states and in Puerto Rico.

A Reason for Seeking Mate Like Parent

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

I once had to stand by and watch a woman I know encourage a self-centered man to make a fool of her.

★ ★ ★

He gave her a promise of marriage but at the same time sabotaged its usefulness by insisting that they keep their engagement secret. If she visited friends for the weekend, he accused her of sexual infidelity though he himself made violently indignant scenes when questioned about his own unexplained absences.

If he misunderstood an arrangement to meet for dinner, it was her carelessness which had directed him to the wrong restaurant.

Nothing she could do or say was ever satisfactory. So you wondered and wondered what possible attraction she could find in him until you remembered how exactly he resembled her self-centered mother.

Never had her mother been mistaken, either. Just like her self-centered man, her mother had habitually promised her desirable things, promises she promptly made useless either by forgetting them or giving her things she didn't want.

★ ★ ★

And she was given to the throwing of violently indignant tantrums at any protest against her behavior.

Which is my probably unpalatable answer to the mother who writes, "Our 17-year-old son is so upset by the girl he is dating. She always puts him in the wrong. We know this because the phone is in the hall and we can hear him pleading with her whenever he talks to her.

We've tried to tell him that she is making a fool of him. But he gets so angry if we try to talk to him about her . . ."

Sure he gets angry. He's convinced that she "loves" him. And the why of that conviction is the problem.

However, it's a "why" we often prefer not to see. Yet it must be said that we befuddled humans, regardless of age, tend to credit our accusers with "love" for us for only one reason — our parents have made love and attack one and the same thing for us.

Mrs. A. N.

Dear Mrs. A. N.:

Sounds like you have spring fever and need to do something about it! I would suggest you go out and purchase some absolutely frivolous fabric that is completely different than anything you have ever made before.

You may choose a gay, colorful print and make some hostess pajamas, a toga, or any kind of fun garment that can be worn at home. If you've never done this, you have missed a very wonderful experience.

You may want to make a dress out of something completely impractical as to color. This too will probably surprise you and in the end you will find there is no such thing today as an impractical color.

What I'm trying to say in brief is this: You are in a rut and need a big boost to get out of it. Forget tradition and make one garment just for fun. Bet it won't be the last one.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. Paul Groerich, St. Louis, Mo., is this week's Tailor Trix pressing board winner for her following suggestion.

"I have found this a helpful tip to my scouts, both boy and girl. The badge sash always would slip down over the shoulder. I sewed a hook on the top seam of the badge sash at the neckline, then made a thread loop on the blouse or shirt of the uniform at the neckline. This type of loop allows for easier laundering and the badge sash is always in place."

Dear Eunice Farmer,

I have very sloping shoulders and have to slant the pattern at the shoulder seam and take out a corresponding amount at the lower armhole. Should the sleeve notches be lowered an equal amount to match with the back and front of the garment?

Mrs. D. C.

Dear Mrs. D. C.:

Yes; if you change the notches on one part of your pattern, you must make a corresponding change on the other or the two will not match perfectly. I think you will find my booklet "Your Pattern and You" very helpful in pattern changes.

You may obtain your copy by sending your request and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope plus 25 cents. Address to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Bride Holds Daisies for Ceremony

Carrying a bouquet of daisies, Sherrell Ann McAfee became the bride of Keith Herbert Mack Saturday evening in Evangel Temple.

For the double ring ceremony, the bride wore a satin Empire sheath accented with a lace overlay. A crown of drop pearls secured her veil.

* * *

Honor attendants for the couple were Mrs. Norman Greenfield and Charles Bowles with Thomas Folts and William Black serving as ushers.

Prior to their departure for a northern Michigan honeymoon, the newlyweds were honored with a reception in the church fellowship hall.

* * *

Author to Be at Hudson's

Phyllis Diller, one of America's leading comediennes, will be at Hudson's Pontiac book department Friday from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., to autograph copies of her latest book, "Phyllis Diller's Marriage Manual."

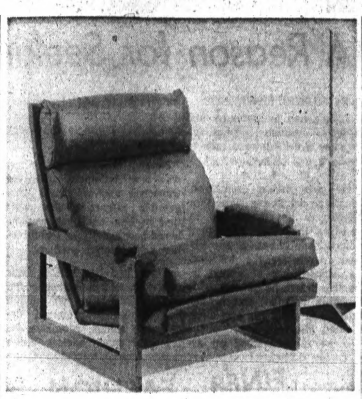

Miss Diller will be the first guest author to make an appearance at the local Hudson's store.

* * *

The "Phyllis Diller Marriage Manual" is a typically outrageous compilation of zany suggestions and whimsical advice on honeymoons, togetherness, arguments, the in-laws, and domestic tranquility.

* * *

Her first book of "Housekeeping Hints" which became a best seller, humorously challenged the homemaker's imagination and laughably destroyed most housekeeping habits.

Oak, one of the most important woods in the history of furniture, makes a good showing in the new exposed wood frame chairs. It is used in the bold design of the frame, which supports the arm rests and cradles the chair at a lounging angle. Designed for Directional's Sedgefield collection by Kipp Stewart. Available locally.

No Back-Seat Driver, Wife Keeps Spouse

WIGAN, England (AP) — Olive Rigby saw her husband driving off with another woman and jumped on the hood of his car.

John Rigby, 41, put on the brakes, started up, and stopped again. But he couldn't shake Olive off.

He took her for a five-mile ride at 25 miles an hour, with the other woman in the car, stopping repeatedly to plead with her to get off the hood. She wouldn't.

The Wigan magistrate fined the husband $60 Tuesday for carrying a passenger in a dangerous manner.

"I thought that if I got off the car, our marriage would go too," Said Olive, 39.

John decided to stay with her.

Secret for Peace: Better Warplanes

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—One of the best hopes for future world peace may lie in the development of better warpalnes.

If this strikes you as a rather dubious premise consider the case of the Air Force F111A.

It is America's newest and most advanced aircraft. Yet there was some reluctance about using it in combat.

FINANCIAL CONSIDERATION

One senator warned that if an F111A were forced or shot down over enemy territory and Communists were able to salvage its equipment, "a billion dollars" worth of research would go down the drain.

This concern apparently was not unfounded. Last week an F111A operating out of Thailand was reported missing. If it crashed in North Vietnam, the F111A's secrets may not be secret any longer.

* * *

We may assume that the Russians also are putting secret equipment into their war jets. Which is why I say that technological improvements could contribute to world peace.

Eventually, I expect, fighter aircraft will be so encumbered with secret devices that neither country will dare risk losing one.

EXTREME VIEW

Let us look ahead a few years. The scene is the ready room of the 1492nd Fighter Wing. Col. Fripple picks up the red telephone and speaks to Gen. Tuschnucker.

Fripple: "Sir, radar reports that unidentified aircraft are approaching Alaska. Should I send up a squadron of F1914s to intercept?"

* * *

Tushnucker: "Are you nuts, Fripple? Those F1914s are equipped with our secret K19 platformate simulator. Suppose one of them strayed over Siberia and was forced down."

Fripple: "But, sir, the unidentified planes may be the new Soviet MIG1812s."

* * *

Tushnucker: "That's most unlikely, Fripple. The CIA tells us that MIG 1812s have a secret stannous flouride control system. The Soviets wouldn't take a chance on letting that fall into our hands."

Fripple: "Then what shall I do, sir."

* * *

Tushnucker: "See if you can borrow a Piper Cub from the Civil Air Patrol. All of our planes are so highly classisied they're grounded."

DIANE GREEN

Teen of Week Is OLL Senior

A 17-year-old senior at Our Lady of the Lakes High School has been chosen Waterford Township's current Teen of the Week.

Recipient of the honor is Diane Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green of 3611 Lake Oakland, Waterford Township.

The school staff calls Diane "a high-spirited young lady with attractive red hair, the freckles and charm that go with it and a spirit that bubbles ever so gently, but forcefully throughout the school."

She is the oldest of seven children in the Green family. Staff members feel this probably has taught her to be the responsible person that they and students have found her to be.

* * *

Diane's teachers say that work never has seemed to bother her. She serves as a cheerleader and is a member of the varsity, sodality and glee clubs.

UNDAUNTED SPIRIT

A spokesman said that the faculty and students recognize that Diane's undaunted spirit is instrumental in enabling the school to publish another hopefully award-winning yearbook.

A good student, Diane carries a near-B average. She plans to attend Oakland University this fall. She wan's to major in secondary education and hopes to eventually become a French teacher.

Discretion Is Essential Part of Role of De Gaulle Aide

PARIS (AP) — Georges Pompidou is like a faithful son working for an autocratic father in the family business.

The initiatives come from Charles de Gaulle. Pompidou as premier is charged with pushing through the details. There's never any question who is the boss.

* * *

Discretion is an essential part of Pompidou's role. He never hints at how much he is taken into De Gaulle's confidence, and would never make known any disagreement between them. Unvarying respect that borders on adulation for De Gaulle has no doubt helped smooth Pompidou's path.

Pompidou's portly figure and large head with bulky nose and bushy eyebrows are well known to the French public. Not many pretend to know the man though he has been premier six years.

Outside France few see beyond the towering figure of Gen. De Gaulle. This is especially true since De Gaulle keeps the running of foreign affairs as a personal responsibility, with Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville as his operating aide. The premier has a predominant position in domestic economic policies, which tend to bore De Gaulle.

The president is reported to have prepared a political testament — on tape or paper — which will be revealed after his death. This testament presumably names Pompidou as his handpicked choice to succeed him, but Pompidou avoids talk on the subject. He says that he is shocked by talk of "after Gaullism" since it implies the death or incapacity of one of France's great heroes.

* * *

In any case, for Pompidou to succeed De Gaulle as president, he would have to be elected by popular vote. This might be a formidable challenge, since De Gaulle himself — with his reputation as a two-time savior of France — got only 55 per cent of the vote when he was reelected in 1965 to a seven year term.

McCarthy, Kennedy Scramble in 4 Primaries

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson's decision not to seek reelection has led to a wait-and-see attitude on the presidential candidates among his supporters in Indiana and Oregon, two key primary states.

In two others, supporters of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy already have staged a lightning raid on the Johnson delegate camp in California and have won over a few Johnson men in Nebraska.

The New York Democrat faces Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy in the four primaries, and first indications in an Associated Press survey are that Kennedy gained most from the President's decision.

The voters give their verdicts in Indiana May 7, Nebraska May 14, Oregon May 28 and California June 4.

This is how the fight for delegates looked in the four states a few days after Johnson announced his surprise decision:

INDIANA

The President's "stand-in" in Indiana, Gov. Roger D. Branigin, now says he's "running to win." At stake are 66 votes at the Democratic National Convention.

"When you read the ballot you know I'm a candidate for president," Branigin says. "There's nothing on there about being a stand-in."

A number of other Democratic leaders in Indiana declined to say who they may favor for the nomination. Sen. Birch Bayh, who had supported Johnson despite a close friendship with the Kennedys, said "I'm going to think about what this really means before I make a statement."

Delegates are bound to the winner of the Indiana primary for the first convention ballot only.

NEBRASKA

State Chairman John C. Mitchell, a Johnson backer, said he expects some Johnson delegates to wait and see what Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey does.

Some Johnson men, however, said they think his withdrawal frees delegates from commitments to him. There are 42 Johnson delegates among 103 running for 28 seats. Johnson's name also is on the ballot.

Nebraska's delegates to the convention are not bound by the presidential vote. Committed delegates stay with their candidate until he gets less than 35 per cent of the convention vote, until two votes are taken or until released by the candidate, whichever comes first.

Kennedy did not enter the Nebraska race in time to line up a delegate slate, but appears likely to pick up some from Johnson. McCarthy has a 31-man slate.

OREGON

President Johnson's name also remains on the Oregon ballot, where 35 first-ballot votes will go to the preferential primary winner.

"We are just standing by for the present," said Ross Morgan, a cochairman of the Oregon Citizens for Johnson-Humphrey.

* * *

Several Oregon Johnson backers indicated they wanted the vice president to enter the campaign.

"He is the one man, next to the President, who has the most knowledge and experience to guide this country," said Travis Stewart, a coordinator for the national Johnson-Humphrey Committee.

CALIFORNIA

The Kennedy forces in California worked to capture support on the Johnson delegate slate, led by State Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch.

"Join with us in the campaign that will make Robert F. Kennedy the next president of the United States," urged Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, Kennedy's campaign chief in California.

A 24-year-old soldier from Wixom was found guilty of willful disobedience and of being absent without leave in a court-martial at Ft. Gordon, Ga. yesterday.

Pvt. Neal P. Salo, of 2220 Nalone, Wixom, had claimed his conscience wouldn't allow him to wear the Army uniform.

He was sentenced to six months at hard labor fined $30 a month for the same period, and reduced to the lowest enlisted grade.

This sentence is the maximum possible under a special court-martial.

The soldier, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Salo, were present as the sentence was returned, was immediately confined in the post stockade pending action by the governing authority which can approve or reject part or all of the sentence.

Holdup Not Worth Time, Say Three Robbers(?)

Maybe they were big-timers.

Whatever the reason, it was mighty strange behavior for robbers.

The incident occurred at about 10 last night as Allan Olson of 2221 Columbia, Berkley, left Rip's BaRestaurant, Inc., 998 W. Huron, Waterford Township.

Olson told township police he was approached by three youths, about 18 years old, in the bar parking lot.

★ ★ ★

He said they ordered him to put up his hands.

ONE ARMED

Olson said one of the youths was armed with what appeared to be a revolver.

The armed youth asked him for his money, which consisted of $6.

★ ★ ★

After rifling through Olson's wallet for more money, the thieves returned the $6, saying it wasn't worth their time.

★ ★ ★

Death Claims Director of Detroit Zoo at 65

DETROIT (AP) — Frank G. McInnis, who aimed to keep animals "as happy as people," died today after serving for 24 years as director of the Detroit Zoo.

McInnis, 65, died in Henry Ford Hospital from a massive cerebral hemorrhage. He suffered the stroke March 30 while checking the grounds of the 122-acre zoo which he had helped develop as one of the finest in the world.

★ ★ ★

"You get to know these animals almost like you do human friends, and when they get sick and die you can't help but grieve," McInnis said.

He toured the park to observe his animal friends each morning and night, seven days a week.

CANDY DROP

At one moment he might reach into his pocket for a candy drop which he would feed to an ailing tigress, one of the 650 rare animals in the zoo. The zoo also has 2,600 birds and 500 snakes.

At another, he might visit a chimpanzee retired from performing and slip the chimp a cigarette to puff on.

★ ★ ★

At age 13, McInnis played on what later became the grounds of the zoo in suburban Royal Oak. "I laid traps and hunted rabbits here," he once said.

He arrived at the zoo in 1929 after graduating from Michigan State University with a degree in landscape architecture.

QUIET HABITAT

He built the moats, rock caves and miniature mountains which became the quiet habitat of the animals in the midst of a teeming metropolis and gained the Detroit Zoo renown for its botanical displays. In 1944 McInnis became director of the zoo.

McInnis is survived by his widow, Mary Ella; a daughter, Barbara Ballantyne; a son, Douglas; his mother, Dora McInnis, and a nephew, Scott Andrew McInnis, who lived with him.

State Sees Record Year for Driving

LANSING (UPI) — If Michigan drivers keep rolling as they did in January and February, they will log another record travel year by December, the State Highway Commission reports.

★ ★ ★

The commission said travel was up 9.4 per cent in January and that preliminary figures show it jumped by 12 per cent in February. At the same time, passenger car traffic over the Mackinac Bridge was up 47 per cent in January alone.

The commission said this was due to winter sports enthusiasts, who had better driving conditions in late January and early February than they had during and after the blizzard the year before.

★ ★ ★

The greatest increases were in the northern Lower Peninsula where travel jumped by 13.2 per cent. The lowest increases, about 6 per cent each, were in the western end of the Upper Peninsula and in southeastern Lower Michigan.

The trip from his home to the town square is eight blocks, and Reid said that burro power takes him the distance in 30 minutes.

Anita Ekberg Cleared of Tax Charge

Charges that Swedish film star Anita Ekberg failed to declare a taxable income of $91,000 in 1961 were dropped today in Rome under a presidential amnesty.

The state tax office had brought the charge and the public prosecutor asked that the actress be convicted and sentenced to two months in jail.

The court accepted the defense argument that the charge was covered under an amnesty on minor offenses effective for that year. The defense also contended that the state's report on Miss Ekberg's income was incorrect.

The couple was reported honeymooning in California. The friends said they will live in Boston and the bride will continue her studies at Radcliffe.

Phone Work Is Delaying City Traffic

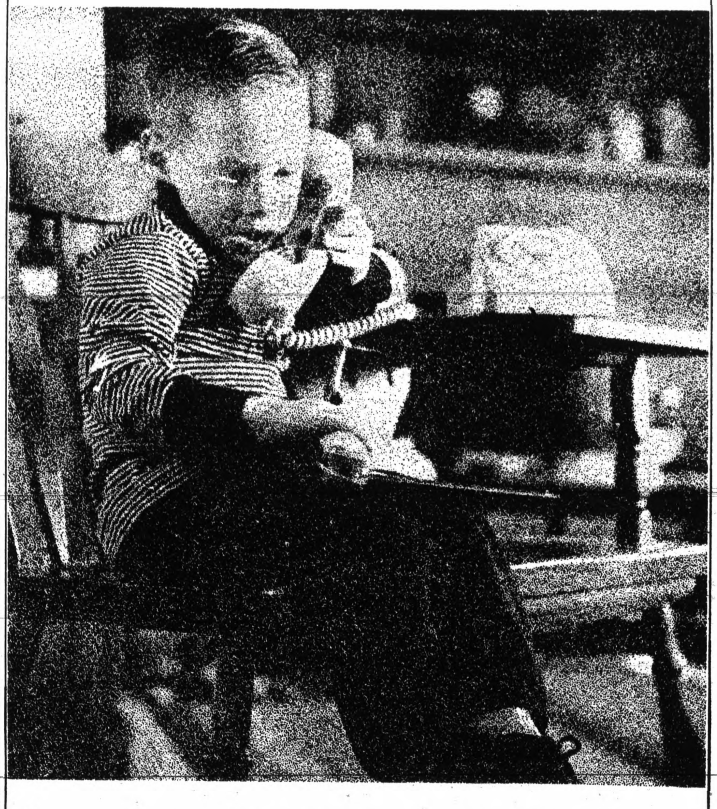

Traffic slowdowns on South Saginaw near South Boulevard are being casued by work on underground telephone lines by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., Joseph Koren, city traffic engineer, reported today.

He said he entrance to the lines is two lanes out in the street and traffic has to go around the manhole now being utilized by telephone workmen.

Koren said a meeting is scheduled with the telephone company for next week to work out a more suitable arrangement for workmen to get to the underground lines.

A telephone company spokesman said work on the project, employing two crews, has been going on for three weeks. When completed in about 2½ weeks the company will be able to provide better and more advanced service to the south end of the city, he said.

MAN OF MANY TALENTS — Gordon Parks, a professional photographer, author, poet and composer, discusses the movie version of his autobiographical novel, "The Learning Tree," which he will direct. He is the first Negro ever signed to direct a major production for release by a major movie company.

Negro First to Direct a Major U.S. Movie

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gordon Parks is a professional photographer, author, poet, composer—and the first Negro ever signed to direct a major production for release by a major movie company.

He'll direct the film version of his autobiographical novel "The Learning Tree" around Fort Scott, Kan., next August, for Warner Bros.-7 Arts. Parks already has composed the film's musical theme and will write its musical background.

★ ★ ★

"This is a tremendous breakthrough, a thing we've always fought for," he said of his directorial assignment's significance to Negroes. "It might encourage other black boys to say, 'My God, maybe I can be a director, too.'"

Parks, 55, a medium-sized man with a graying mustache and a born story-teller's natural eloquence, has been a Life magazine photographer-writer for 19 years. His cover piece on a Harlem tenement family was in a recent issue, shortly before a book excerpt, "Vietnam Diary," by his writer-photographer-soldier son David, 24, appeared in Look.

The elder Parks, a Minneapolis High School dropout, has composed piano and orchestral works performed in Venice and elsewhere. "I just picked up music like everything else," he says. "I was a natural piano player."

Puffing a pipe, tilting back in a chair in his rooms at the Beverly Hills Hotel, he told of his unlikely beginnings:

● Childhood "on the other side of the tracks" in Fort Scott as the youngest of a dirt farmer's 15 children, 6 of whom survive.

● Strong influence by his mother, Sarah, a religious woman who told him, "You can do anything a white boy does." She advised him to make every experience his "learning tree."

● Boyhood traumas like seeing two Negro women slash each other to death with knives and being locked by white morticians in a room with a trainmangled corpse.

YOUTHFUL INJURIES

A youthful enemy's knife-gash left one nostril still closed. In an eyelid Parks still carries a fragment of window glass from a clash with a white boy who called him "nigger boy."

A bartender-waiter's job enabled him to buy a $12.50 camera. A camera store in Minneapolis, where he lived briefly with a married sister after his mother died, displayed his first three photos in its window. This led to work as a fashion photographer, photography study on a fellowship, picture-taking for the Office of War Information, and the job with Life.

★ ★ ★

Ever since he photographed Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rosselini on the island of Stromboli for the magazine, Parks has wanted to direct.

He has directed documentaries for educational television.

Of his movie's cast of about 50, 10 will be whites. Does he anticipate difficulty?

★ ★ ★

"No, I've directed everybody for the magazine, all the big ones on the stage—Ethel Barrymore, Helen Hayes, Edward G. Robinson. I told them the expressions I wanted."

How are Negroes doing in movies? "Things are opening up, surely, but not fast enough. Negroes are being used in the theater, but, outside of Sidney Poitier, they somehow can't get a break in pictures."

Alma Symposium

ALMA (AP) — Archie Epps, an assistant dean at Harvard University, will give the keynote address at a symposium at Alma College entitled: "College and the Black Student." At least 13 colleges are expected to participate in the symposium to be held April 19-21.

Africanization Spurs Exodus of Kenya Asians

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — For the Asians in black Africa the writing on the wall is unmistakably clear — it reads: Get out."

Thousands are quitting in a panicky exodus as East African leaders force through a program of Africanization.

★ ★ ★

Commenting on the Asian exodus, Kenya's aging President Jomo Kenyatta said it had come about because of the Asian desire to remain in privileged positions in a massively black society.

"Foreigners who despise Africans because they are poor and wear tattered clothes will be told to pack their bags and leave," he said. "Those who thought they were the Bwana Mkubwas (big bosses) are not wanted here."

NEW LAWS

New laws aimed at curtailing foreign domination in Kenya's economic and business circles are designed to replace thousands of Asian traders who, for decades, controlled much of Kenya's finance.

All non-Kenya citizens now must apply for work permits and trading licenses and there are growing fears among them that Africanization will result in a massive take-over of Asian and white businesses by Africans.

★ ★ ★

"We've been labeled the Jews of Africa," said one turbaned Asian. "We are being forced to quit Kenya because the African wants to take over our homes and businesses. It is a type of racial persecution," he said.

In general, Kenya's economic structure consists of a small elite white class, mainly wealthy farmers. In the center are the Asians — Indians and Pakistanis — controling the bulk of the country's commerce, trading and transport.

ON LOWER RUNG

On the lower rung are millions of poorly clad, badly paid Africans who form a massive unemployed labor force.

The whites get richer, the Asians grow fatter and the blacks get poorer," said one African labor official.

Kenya's Africanization program is aimed at giving the 10 million Africans a better deal in the business and trading world.

For years the tight-knit Asian community has controlled prices in thousands of tiny shops. Would-be African traders have been forced out of the cities into poor tribal areas.

WHITE EXODUX

There also are fears of a large white exodus from Kenya. At independence four years ago, 60,000 whites remained in the country — approximately 30,000 have gone.

★ ★ ★

There is a growing realization among East Africa's 28 million blacks that freedom from colonial rule and black leadership hasn't brought them the promises of a better life.

★ ★ ★

Unemployment, poverty and illiteracy remain the barrier. Asians have filled the vacuum caused by departure of the former white colonialists.

But Kenya's crash program of Africanization which is forcing the exodus of Asian businessmen and artisans, may retard the country's growth.

SCRAPE A LIVING

The bulk of Kenya's 10 million Africans barely scrape a living from their small farms — once flourishing white - owned plantations. There are insufficient educated Africans to fill the trading stores vacated by fleeing Asians.

White and Asian businessmen view Kenya's future with uncertainty and some view the emotional Africanization program as akin to racialism.

"The African is tired of being the lowly laborer," said a British tea planter. "He wants to be the Bwana Mkubwa overnight. He wants the fulfilment of those promises made by the black leaders of independence. He's tired of seeing the white man and Asian riding around in big automobiles, while he walks.

"The problem is, the black leaders of Africa promised the masses far too much during the heady heyday of freedom — they forgot to tell them that independence means years of hard work, poverty and frustration."

Junior Editors Quiz on PRINTING FILM

QUESTION: How does one go about printing from negatives?

ANSWER: Many amateur photographers have their pictures developed and printed professionally. But it's lots of fun to do these jobs yourself. And you will learn a great deal about photography as you do so.

To print, you should rig a "safety light," wrapping red cellophane around an electric lamp. You will have the negative which has been developed, and light sensitive printing paper which you have bought.

Unpack a piece of this under the safety light. Lay the negative on paper (1) both with glossy sides up and place them between a bit of cardboard and a piece of glass, clipped together.

Expose under ordinary frosted light bulb for a few seconds. Turn off frosted bulb. Using the safety light, develop your print, checking instructions on the package.

You will need to use developer (3) and rinse (4). After this, you must immerse the print in a fixing bath (5) for 15 minutes. Then you can switch on the regular light (6) and wash your print, letting cold water run over it for at least an hour.

Prints can be dried on blotting paper or laid face down on a clean towel. If you're dissatisfied with the result, try again, using the same negative.

What's your idea of true religion

Unitarianism is a way of life, life of vigorous thought, constructive activity, of generous service—not a religion of inherited creeds, revered saints, or holy books.

Unitarianism is not an easy religion. It demands that people think out their beliefs for themselves, and then live those beliefs. The stress is placed upon living this life nobly and effectively rather than on the preparation for an after-existence.

If you have given up "old time" religion, Unitarianism has the answer for you.

Two 'Mickeys' Too Much for Houston as Tigers Post 3-1 Win

THE PONTIAC PRESS
SPORTS
THURSDAY, APRIL 4, 1968 C—1

Lolich, Ribant Pitch, Stanley Pounds Homer

Special to The Pontiac Press

COCOA, Fla. — Michael Lolich and Mitchell Stanley both carry the same nickname — "Mickey" — and yesterday they put their efforts together to defeat the Houston Astros, 3-1, in a Grapefruit League game.

Lolich, one of the starting rotation pitchers for the Detroit Tigers, went four innings and gave up three hits, and in 14 innings of exhibition pitching he has not given up a run, despite the fact that he missed two weeks of camp while serving with the U.S. Air Force reserves.

Stanley doesn't have a starting job cinched with the Tigers but he is making a strong effort to prove to manager Mayo Smith that he should have a regular assignment.

Stanley blasted his third home run of the spring to account for all the runs in yesterday's win.

★ ★ ★

The blast came in the third inning after Ray Oyler and Tom Matchick reached base on singles.

PLAYED FIRST

In Tuesday's victory over the White Sox, Stanley handled first base duties and had two hits and two runs batted in to help the 6-1 triumph. Sunday he homered with two on in a 6-5 victory and made a sparkling catch in the outfield.

Norm Cash, who was back at first base yesterday, failed to get a hit in four trips to the plate.

Larry Dierker, due to be Houston's opening day pitcher, worked seven innings and was charged with the loss.

Ribant, a Detroiter who is trying to make the grade with the Tigers, gave up two hits in the last five innings.

★ ★ ★

Jim Wynn whacked a home run off him in the ninth inning for Houston's only run.

The Tigers, now 13-14 in exhibition play, end their spirng training season with a three-game series against the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals.

FINAL SERIES

Today the Tigers have a day off, but tomorrow Earl Wilson, who is expected to be the opening day starter next Tuesday against the Red Sox in Detroit, will take the mound against the Cards in St. Petersburg.

★ ★ ★

Saturday, the two teams play their finale in Lakeland's Marchant Stadium and Sunday they will meet again in St. Pete.

The Tigers and the Cardinals will be the last two teams to leave Florida, several having already started their trip north.

PLATE PROBLEMS — Houston first baseman Rusty Staub drops his bat and jumps in an unsuccessful effort to dodge a pitch tossed by Detroit's Mickey Lolich in the fourth inning of their exhibition game in Cocoa, Fla., yesterday. The ball hit Staub on the right arm but he continued in the game. The ball fell to the left of Tiger catcher Arlo Brunsberg.

Detroit May Bid for LA Rams' QB

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

It's no secret that the Detroit Lions are out to get a quarterback and it would come as no surprise if they were to make a deal to sign Bill Munson of the Los Angeles Rams within the next few weeks.

After May 1, Munson will be free to bargain and deal for himself. This is when his option runs out and he has made it known that he is unhappy with a new contract the Rams have offered him, and he is especially unhappy in the reserve role to Roman Gabriel.

If he is allowed to deal for himself, Munson can choose to play for any NFL team he picks after May 1.

That team however must give the Rams a player who is acceptable to them with the approval of commissioner Pete Rozelle.

It is expected however, that the Rams may try to trade Munson before the May 1 deadline.

RAMS WANTED PAT

To get Munson, the Lions would have to give up a front line player, probably Pat Studstill whom the Rams tried to get several times in the past.

When the Rams obtained Roger Brown from the Lions last season, they gave up flanker Tommy McDonald for a high draft choice to the Atlanta Falcons, and then they obtained flanker Bernie Casey from the 49ers.

★ ★ ★

Several weeks ago, a story out of Detroit claimed disagreement between coach Joe Schmidt and general manager Russ Thomas over securing a quarterback.

Indications were that the Lions were interested in Gary Guozzo but lost a chance to deal when New Orleans traded him to the Minnesota Vikings.

There was also speculation that Jim Ninowski, once with the Lions, would be obtained from the Cleveland Browns where he is an understudy to Frank Ryan.

When George Wilson was head coach of the Lions he always regarded Munson as top pro prospect when the big 6-2 and 200 pound signal caller left Utah State in 1964.

He took over the quarterback's duties for the Rams in 1964 and 1965 and he threw for 3,200 yards and 19 touchdowns.

A knee injury forced him out of the final four games of the 1965 season and after surgery he was never able to regain the starting job from Gabriel, who guided the Rams to a 11-1-2 record last year.

★ ★ ★

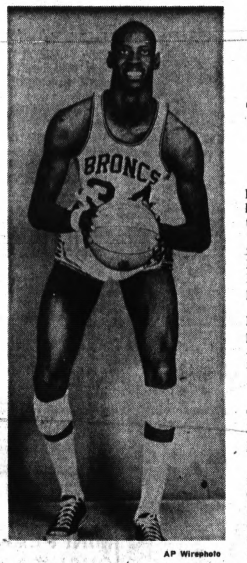

Hearing of Munson's announcement that he would try to deal for himself in letting his option run out, Rams' owner Dan Reeves said, "He's a real leader and we would never trade Bill if it were up to us."

★ ★ ★

Munson's decision leaves the Rams with only Gabriel, taxi squad member Billy Anderson and unsigned Heisman trophy winner from UCLA Gary Beban.

TOP CHOICE—The No. 1 draft choice of the Detroit Pistons was 6-11 Otto Moore of Pan American College in Edinburg, Tex. The Pistons took the 210-pounder in a special draft Monday. The remainder of the draft is slated for May 8 in New York.

Play Opens Tonight for Top Ice Prize

By Associated Press

The chase for the Stanley Cup, hockey's most cherished piece of hardware, begins tonight at four National Hockey League sites.

The Chicago Black Hawks, who finished a stumbling fourth in the NHL's East Division, play the second place Rangers at New York and East champion Montreal hosts third place Boston.

In the West Division playoffs, St. Louis, which finished third, visits champion Philadelphia and second place Los Angeles entertains Minnesota, which finished fourth.

All series are best-of-seven games.

Last year's Cup champions, the Toronto Maple Leafs, finished fifth in the East Division and did not qualify for the playoffs.

And the Black Hawks, last year's regular season champions, entered the Cup showdown with a host of problems, among them a six-game winless streak in the final two weeks of the regular season which slid them from second to fourth place.

Then there are injuries. Scoring champion Stan Mikita was a doubtful starter for tonight's opening game because of a back injury and Bobby Hull and Denis DeJordy also were nursing bruises.

"I'm having treatments," said Mikita, "but the worst thing is I don't know what the trouble is."

"It'll be awful if Mikita isn't able to play," said Billy Reay, coach of the Hawks. Also on Reay's mind are Hull's bruised left instep and the fractured middle finger on goalie DeJordy's left hand.

Emile Francis, coach of the Rangers, said he expected Jim Neilson, the husky defenseman who has been nursing two bruised knees, to be ready. He also was expecting to see Mikita and Hull in action for Chicago.

"I don't doubt that they're hurting," said Francis, "but I know those two. They'll be here even if they have to play in wheelchairs."

Boston's hustling Bruins — most of them with no prior Stanley Cup experience — are decided underdogs to Montreal but Canadiens' Coach Toe Blake wasn't so sure.

"I've been in enough playoffs to know anything can happen," said Blake, who has led the Canadiens to seven Stanley Cups in 13 seasons.

★ ★ ★

The last time the Bruins were in the playoffs was nine years ago and Johnny Bucyk is the only member of the current team still around from that playoff squad.

Flint Thinclads Defending Crown in Prep Relays

EAST LANSING (AP) — At least five teams are in the running for the Class A title now held by Flint Northern at the 5th annual Lansing Journal-Spartan High School Relays at Michigan State University this weekend.

Cross-town rival Flint Central will make a strong bid, depending heavily on Herb Washington, one of the best sprinters to perform in the state in recent years.

Washington has a share of the mark for the 60 yard-dash with a time of :06.2. He recently won the event in that identical time at the Huron Relays and earlier this year tied the world mark of :05.1 in the 50-yard dash.

Battle Creek Central, the Class A State outdoor champion, Ecorse and East Lansing also are threats for the team title.

Ecorse just advanced to Class A status after winning the B title last year. River Rouge winner in 1964 and 1965, and Willow Run, the 1966 titlist, are considered the class leaders.

More than 70 schools from each class will be entered for the B finals Friday night and the A finals Saturday night.

Class B also has a 60-yard dash threat to watch. Dave Hart, a member of the Class B basketball championship team, won the dash for his class in the Huron Relays after only a week of training.

Pistons Select 6-11 Pivotman in NBA Draft

DETROIT (UPI) — If height is what the Detroit Pistons want in a center, they have it in Otto Moore, a 6-foot-11 center from Pan American College in Texas.

Moore was the Pistons first-round pick in the National Basketball Association's unprecedented pre-draft of college basketball players.

The draft, consisting of only first-round choices, is a preliminary to the regular May 8 college player draft to be held in New York.

Moore, a second-team small college All-American, is Detroit's hope as a solution to their center problems. He is an excellent pro prospect with great jumping ability and great mobility.

But the Pistons will have to wait to get Moore's signature on a contract since he's seeking a spot on the U.S. Olympic team in the current trials at Albuquerque, N.M.

"Moore has told he'll play for the Pistons, but wants to hold up signing until after he knows whether he has made the U.S. team," said Edwin E. Coil, Pistons' general manager.

Moore played four seasons at Pan American. After averaging 5.6 points and 6.0 rebounds as a freshman, his marks swelled to 20.0 points and 20.1 rebounds as a sophomore, 21.9 and 19.3 as a junior and 24.6 and 18.5 in his senior campaign.

Moore weighs in at 210 pounds and is a native of Miami, Fla. He majored in physical education at Pan American.

Bullets' Monroe Top NBA Rookie

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl Monroe of the Baltimore Bullets was named the National Basketball Association's Rookie of the Year for the 1967-68 season, the league announced Wednesday.

Monroe, fourth highest scorer in the league during the season with 24.3 points a game, received 78 of the 79 ballots cast by sports writers and broadcasters. The lone remaining vote went to Bill Bradley of the New York Knicks.

Monroe, a small-college All-American at Winston-Salem College during his senior year, broke all Baltimore single game scoring records with 56 points against Los Angeles on Feb. 13.

He will receive $500 for winning the award.

Don Canham Agrees Senate Solution Wrong

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Don Canham, newly named athletic director of the University of Michigan, today came out in support of the rejection by the NCAA of a Senate compromise on the feud between the NCAA and the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) over athletic jurisdiction.

Canham, head track coach at Michigan from 1948 until his March appointment, said the NCAA was correct in rejecting the solution of a special arbitration board that would have set up three categories of track and field events with the AAU and United States Track and Field Federation USTFF having specific jurisdictions.

BIG PROBLEM

"The biggest problem in the decision was that it did not provide for freedom of competition," Canham said.

"It did not provide for cross sanctioning of track meets and it did not solve the problem with finances of track and field in the United States."

Canham, who will assume his new duties at Michigan July 1, was a founder of the USTFF in 1962 and is executive director of the U.S. Track Coaches Association.

Canham said he would welcome a proposal by Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich, that would forbid any sanctions against amateur athletes.

"In my opinion, the Griffin bill is the first step in solving the dispute between the two groups. It would give athletes a bill of rights and would be a logical move," Canham said.

FAVORS PROPOSAL

Canham said he was also in favor of a proposal by Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kans., that would set up a single governing body for amateur athletics if there were some "modifications" made.

Scholarships Earned by College Cagers

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Postgraduate scholarships worth $1,000 each were presented by the NCAA Wednesday to 15 basketball players with outstanding academic and athletic records.

Ohio State's Bill Hosket is a Columbus, Ohio, native with a 3.12 in marketing and one of the top players in the Big Ten. He led the Buckeyes to a Big Ten co-title and a surprise third in the NCAA tourney.

Kansas State's Earl Seyfert, 3.32 in history, is from Humboldt, Kan.; captained K-State to the Big Eight crown and has been accepted for graduate work in psychology.

Foes Climb on Northville Bandwagon

WAYNE-OAKLAND BASEBALL RACE
Coaches' Forecast
1. Northville 5. Clarkston
2. Milford 6. Brighton
3. RH Andover 7. Holly
4. West Bloomfield 8. Clarenceville

(This the second article in a series discussing the coaches' predictions for this spring's area high school baseball league races. Today the Wayne-Oakland League.)

It's unanimous in the Wayne-Oakland League baseball chase: Northville will repeat.

Last spring Clarkston, Bloomfield Hills Andover and the Mustangs battled to the final game of the season to determine a ruler and the Northville nine closed with clutch victories to take the laurels.

Six regulars return from the squad that posted 14 conquests and made a strong showing in the Livonia Invitational Tournament.

But perennial contender Milford should be ready to bounce back from a rare losing season and challenge the Mustangs. Andover again rates a lot of respect and is confident of battling all rivals.

West Bloomfield surprised last season by making the first division and has earned new-found respect in the diamond forecasts. Clarkston needs quick development by younger players to retain its contending role, particularly with the improvement by West Bloomfield and the return of key players at Brighton.

Clarenceville isn't expected to make a strong showing; while Holly, contrary to earlier reports, will play one more season of baseball before relinquishing its W-O berth to Waterford Kettering.

STRENGTH

Northville's strength is the return of regular hurlers Dennis Primeau and Bill Skelly, plus a veteran infield anchored by rugged first-sacker Randy Pohlman. Stan Nirider is back at the keystone sack and is a solid hitter.

Milford built a string of W-O diamond championships by not beating itself with mistakes. The trend was reversed last spring and so was the Redskins' success.

Coach Jerry Ganzel anticipates returning infielder Dave Dennis and experienced outfielders Bob Clinard and Bob McFarland will help settle the defense.

Andover's Barons lost three of their leading four hitters from last year's squad and must depend upon Larry Appleby, Mike Irving, Bruce Godfrey and Brian Parrott picking up the slack.

John Baumann is back as the team's leading hitter and hurler. Roger Hershman was valuable in relief and doubles as an infielder.

Nearby rival West Bloomfield will depend a lot, again, on the hurling of junior right-hander Mickey Ellwood (who won six of the Lakers' eight victories last spring) and the hitting of sophomore catcher Bill Bullock, a 5-10, 180-pounder.

Center fielder Robin Brennan is expected to spearhead the defense.

Coach Pete Thompson at Clarkston has senior hurler Dick Johnson and left-handed hitting Jerry Ostrom (first base) as the Wolves' mainstays. Returning regular Jeff Keyser faces a duel with senior Jeff Richardson for the catching job.

Holly has four regulars back and its hitting could surprise a few foes, but pitcher Phil Morse doesn't have much help on the mound. Outfielder Tom Hayes and first baseman Jeff Reagan are bright spots.

Kettering, usually a strong diamond power, is rebuilding after coach Tom Bryce's 19-4 debut last season. Twirlers Mike Harkey and Dennis Wooster will bear much of the burden.

The infield should be strong defensively and has a returning .300 hitter in Joe Danules (second base) but the rest of the batting could stand betterment. Bob Earl appears the top outfielder.

WKHS will sample its upcoming W-O competition by meeting Andover, Milford, Clarkston and West Bloomfield on an independent basis this spring. The 1968 loop season will begin Monday April 15; and the Wolves of Clarkston will be the first team in action when they visit Lake Orion tomorrow afternoon.

A discussion of finances and rules is on the agenda. League officials have requested that anyone interested in umpiring in the league should attend the meeting.

Sunnyvale '5' State Kingpins

Pontiac gained its first Christian Service Brigade state title in boys' basketball when Sunnyvale Chapel dominated Highland Park Baptist, 58-33, and North Baptist of Flint, 91-47, last weekend in Detroit.

Tony VanderMeer notched 51 points in the two games for the winners.

ABA-NBA Duel

Signing War Looms

By the Associated Press

An unholy war to sign college players was under way in pro basketball today.

The 22-year-old National Basketball Association announced it's first-round draft picks Wednesday with Westley Unseld, Tom Boerwinkle and Ron Williams among the top choices.

"I guess we have to enter into an unholy war of going after these players," declared George Mikan, commissioner of the rival one-year-old American Basketball Association.

FIRST CHOICE

Unseld, a 6-foot-8 two-time all-American at Louisville, was the No. 1 draft of the Baltimore Bullets in the NBA.

The Chicago Bulls chose the 7-foot Boerwinkle of Tennessee. Williams, 6-3 West Virginia star, was picked by the San Francisco Warriors.

None of the three has signed any contract. Each said they wanted to weigh all offers before deciding.

Unseld has been offered $500,000 over a four-year span to play with the Kentucky Colonels of the ABA. Baltimore did not reveal its offer although Buddy Jeannette, general manager of the Bullets, declared, "We're going to leave no stone unturned to sign Unseld to an NBA contract."

Boerwinkle, the No. 1 pick of Denver in the ABA, currently is playing in the Olympic trials at Albuquerque, N.M. "We certainly don't want to do anything to upset Boerwinkle's chances of making the Olympic team," said Dick Klein, Chicago general manager. "As a result we have had no direct negotiations with the boy."

WILL CONSULT

Williams, drafted by New Orleans of the ABA, said he would like to play with the Warriors. However, he plans to consult with Bucky Waters, his West Virginia coach, before making a decision.

The NBA did sign two of its top draft choices. Bill Hewitt, 6-6 Southern California star, signed a three-year-contract with the Los Angeles Lakers. Bob Kauffman, 6-8 Little All-American from Guilford, N.C., College, also signed for three years with the Seattle Supersonics.

Elvin Hayes, Houston's All-American was signed last week by the San Diego Rockets for an estimated $440,000 for four years. The only player signed so far by the ABA is Wayne Chapman of Western Kentucky by the Kentucky Colonels.

The other No. 1 choices in the NBA draft were Don Smith, 6-8 of Iowa State by Cincinnati; Otto Moore, 6-11 of Pan American by Detroit; Charley Paulk, 6-8, of Northeastern Oklahoma by Milwaukee; Gary Gregor, 6-7 of South Carolina by Phoenix; Don Chaney 6-5 of Houston by Boston; Skip Harlicka 6-1 of South Carolina by St. Louis; Shaler Halimon, 6-5 of Utah State by Philadelphia and Bill Hosket, 6-7 of Ohio State by New York.

None has been signed.

The NBA first-round draft was conducted over the telephone Monday by Commissioner Walter Kennedy. It was moved up from May 8 when the other rounds will be held.

The ABA draft is scheduled for April 27, but it held what Mikan called an evaluation meeting March 9. Each ABA team then named four college players it could consult before the draft.

LSU Flash Among Elite in Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Maravich, the All-American from Louisiana State, didn't reach Bevo Francis' heights, but he did shatter Frank Selvy's major college basketball scoring record, final statistics released Wednesday revealed.

Maravich, the sophomore scoring sensation whose father coaches the LSU team, finished the season with a 43.8-point average, eclipsing the 41.7 standard Selvy set at Furman in 1953-54.

The only player ever to average more points was the famed Francis, who scored 46.5 a game for Rio Grande, a small college, in 1954.

Maravich scored 1,138 points over-all, less than the 1,214 compiled by Elvin Hayes of Houston. But Hayes, the player of the year, played seven more games than Maravich and had a 36.8 average for third.

Cal Murphy of Niagara, another sophomore, was runner-up to Maravich with a 38.2 average.

Neal Walk of Florida, the 10th top scorer, was the country's top rebounder, averaging 19.8 a game to 19.7 for Garfield Smith of Eastern Kentucky.

Early Push Helps Ferndale '9' Win

Ferndale erupted for six runs in the first three innings and rolled to an 8-2 victory over Cranbrook yesterday.

Ray Fairbanks and Craig Fahome collected two singles apiece and chased home two runs each. Norm Lerchen's single sent two runs across for Cranbrook in the sixth.

In tennis, Cranbrook fared better. The Cranes turned back Edsel Ford, 4-3.

Jim Toiling for Pirates

New Challenges Awaiting Bunning

By United Press International

Jim Bunning is with a new club, which means it's time for him to come up with another spectacular.

The 35-year-old Bunning prizes two superlative efforts with his only two other major league affiliations prior to his acquisition by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

He pitched a no-hitter for the Detroit Tigers in 1958 and then bettered that performance with a perfect game against the New York Mets in 1964 as a Philadelphia Phillie moundsman.

Bunning still looks for the elusive 20-game winner's circle in the National League. He won 19 games on three occasions.

The big right-hander believes Pittsburgh's power hitters can back him to that elite position this year. He became the first Pirate pitcher to go the distance Wednesday as Pittsburgh edged the Cincinnati Reds 4-3.

HALTS REDS' RALLY

Bill Mazeroski keyed a two-run Pittsburgh fifth with a triple and added a single during the Pirates' winning two-run rally in the eighth.

★ ★ ★

Bunning issued 10 hits and snuffed out a Cincinnati uprising after the Reds scored their third run of the game in the ninth.

★ ★ ★

Pat Jarvis contributed a two-run single and allowed only five hits in seven innings as Atlanta routed the New York Yankees 7-1.

★ ★ ★

Rookie second baseman Jose Arcia banged out five hits to pace the Chicago Cubs' 7-6 triumph over the San Francisco Giants. Lou Johnson had four hits and Ernie Banks three in Chicago's 19-hit outburst.

★ ★ ★

Sam Bowens led off the ninth inning with a homer which enabled the Washington Senators to edge Baltimore 3-2. Camilo Pascual warmed up for his Monday American League opener with an eight-hit job in seven innings.

Sal Bando's ninth homer of the exhibition season with a man aboard in the first inning paced the Oakland Athletics to a 9-2 mauling of the AL champion Boston Red Sox. Mike Hershberger homered for the A's in the ninth.

★ ★ ★

Duke Sims and Vern Fuller homered for Cleveland as the Indians downed the Los Angeles Dodgers 10-8. Two unearned runs in the eighth inning off rookie pitcher Vicente Romo provided Cleveland's winning margin.

★ ★ ★

Philadelphia knocked off the St. Louis Cardinals for the third time in four starts on Mike Ryan's two-run double in the eighth inning that earned the Phils a 5-4 win over the world champions.

TESTING LEG — Pitcher Jim Lonborg of Boston, who suffered a leg injury in a December skiing accident, tests the leg under the watch of Dr. John J. McGillicuddy of Brighton, Mass., at the Red Sox' spring camp in Winter Haven, Fla. Dr. McGillicuddy said Lonborg may be able to start throwing from a mound within two weeks.

Tigers Get Nod in Flag Race

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — The best bet in the American League is that the Boston Red Sox will not repeat The Impossible Dream in 1968.

Everybody needs somebody somewhere. As a result the race could very well come down to the last day again.

Detroit needs a bullpen. Baltimore still has arm problems. Chicago always is short of runs. Minnesota has problems at shortstop and is concerned about Jim Kaat's arm. California still has to carry a full head of steam for an entire season.

★ ★ ★

Detroit appears to have the best chance of making it all the way.

The Tigers haven't won since 1945 and just missed by one game last fall. They have solid front-line hitting and formidable front-line pitching.

Here's the way it looks from here:

1. Detroit
2. Baltimore
3. Chicago
4. Minnesota
5. California
6. Boston
7. Cleveland
8. New York
9. Washington
10. Oakland

Mayo Smith's Tigers can throw good, if not spectacular, pitching at you every day with Mickey Lolich, Joe Sparma, Earl Wilson and Denny McLain in rotation.

The power of Al Kaline, Bill Freehan, Willie Horton, Norm Cash and Jim Northrup should provide enough margin to overcome late inning letdowns by the relief corps.

Baltimore has a real solid ball club all the way, except for that pitching department where Hank Bauer already has been having problems. The Robinson boys, Frank and Brooks, and Boog Powell and Curt Blefary, swing heavy bats that could take it all if the pitching holds up.

Eddie Stanky added a proven hitter in Tommy Davis but it still will be up to pitchers like Joe Horlen, Gary Peters and Tommy John, plus that great bullpen headed by Hoyt Wilhelm, to do the job.

The Twins' chances were hurt by Kaat's slowness in coming around after that elbow injury in late season. The left side of the infield is questionable although Cesar Tovar is available to plug any and all gaps.

California must get a super effort from Rick Reichardt and another big year from relief ace Minnie Rojas to stay in contention.

OTHER PROBLEMS

In addition to Lonborg's slow recovery from knee surgery, the Red Sox have to worry about the weak hitting by Ton Conigliaro during the spring. The young outfielder, coming off a serious head injury that kept him out of the World Series, now is in Boston for an examination.

Alvin Dark has his work cut out for him in Cleveland. If he can get maximum performance from his pitchers, especially Sam McDowell, he can make a stir.

Washington tore everybody apart in the South and may be underrated. Camilo Pascual is back on the beam and a couple of rookies have looked good.

The Yankees are worried about Al Downing's arm and have problems at short and third. Pitching should save them from the cellar and could be the factor to move them ahead of Washington. Mickey Mantle still is in there swinging.

Oakland's new scenery should pep up the A's but they have so many youngsters with limited experience that it will be tough to move up.

State Bowlers Hold 3 Leads

Keg Action Continues in ABC Tournament

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Michigan bowlers continued to lead in three categories after Wednesday competition in the American Bowling Congress tournament here.

Tony Ciocco of Kalamazoo led in the all-events category with 1923; Ted Bakatselos and Don Wray of Detroit had 1296 to lead in doubles competition; and Washtenaw Lanes. Ann Arbor, led the regular team with 3043.

★ ★ ★

Coon Bros. Rambler No. 1 of Detroit scored a 2,996 series Wednesday night to take over third place in the regular teams.

Coon's put together team games of 1,011, 933 and 922 to move in behind first-place Washtenaw Lanes and second-place Lyndora Hotel, Butler, Pa., with 2,997.

Ann Arbor is the only quintet to go over the 3,000-series mark here this year. Last year at Miami Beach, the ABC finished with 46 such totals.

Twenty-eight days remain in 1968 competition.

Yankees Drop Vet Pitcher Steve Barber

By the Associated Press

The New York Yankees cut veteran pitcher Steve Barber Wednesday as the Yanks and the 19 other major league clubs scrambled to reach their 25-player limit by opening day next week.

Barber, acquired by New York from Baltimore last July, was optioned to Syracuse and has been told he will be recalled if he can straighten out his control problems.

Only Simplicity has a line of non-scalp mowers

All Simplicity tractors (12 hp to 4 hp) have this patented anti-scalp feature. Mower is mounted on the front tilting axle . . . not on the tractor frame like other tractors. When front tires roll over bumpy terrain, front wheels act as a mower guide, allowing it to rise and fall and tilt from side to side. Anti-scalp rollers located under mower complete the job. In this way, Simplicity gives you true scalp-free mowing.

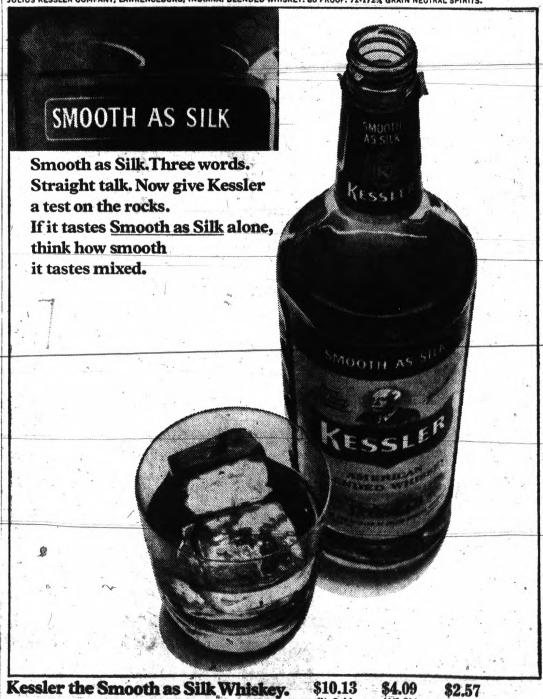

We invite your comparison! Come in and check our Tractor Value Yardstick. Take the exact measure of your yard and garden needs from the Simplicity line of six no-scalp deluxe tractors. Easy terms arranged.

Peggy Fleming Inks Rich, Multi-Phased Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Glamorous Peggy Fleming parlayed her Olympic gold medal into a gold mine Wednesday, signing a pro contract that should make her a millionariess in the next five years.

"Her potential is unlimited — she can become another Sonja Henie," said Bob Banner, West Coast television producer who joined with the National Broadcasting Co. in tieing up the world's figure skating queen to what they called a long-term agreement.

The details were not immediately announced, but Peggy's new sponsors left no question that the sky is the limit.

She will begin her career in a TV spectacular next fall in a show produced over NBC by Bob Banner Associates.

She will do more than skate on ice. She will do dramatic shows. She will perform in musicals. She will be primed for the movies. And, during breaks, she will do periodic guest appearances with one of the touring ice shows.

She has been made offers by three ice shows, she said — Icecapades, Ice Follies and Holiday on Ice.

Asked if she intended to perform with any of these shows, she said:

"I'd like to."

Exact terms of the contract were not disclosed. It is reported she was given a $500,000 guarantee with a five-year contract having renewal options.

Banner said he hoped to develop the 19-year-old beauty from Colorado Springs, Colo., into a show business personality.

"She has a delightful personality, she has an entrancing beauty and she is able to project," the TV producer said. "I cannot estimate how much money she can make. It all depends on how much she wants to work."

Miss Henie, a blonde Norwegian who won Olympic championships in 1928, 1932 and 1936, made millions as a show skater and movie star.

"Peggy will start dramatic lessons next month in Los Angeles," Banner said. "We have all sorts of plans for her."

Peggy, who made a tour of the world capitals after winning the Olympic medal at Grenoble and her third world ladies' championship at Geneva, was present at the announcement ceremonies at a midtown hotel.

"I am numb," she told the gathering.

★ ★ ★

She said that winning the Olympics had fulfilled a dream but that she still wanted to finish her college education and ultimately become an elementary school teacher.

She is a freshman at Colorado College. "I probably will take a correspondence course," she said.

As for marriage plans — on which she had hinted broadly, bringing in an unidentified medical student at the University of Texas — she said:

"I'm afraid that will have to wait."

Peggy, a demure 108-pound China doll with black hair and green eyes, began skating at the age of 9, won her first national championship at 15. Her father, a pressman, died three years ago. Since then, her mother, Doris, has scraped to maintain the family of four girls — Janice, 20; Peggy, 19; Maxine, 17, and Cathy, 13.

The mother has sewn all the clothes Peggy wore in her performances.

"It's been difficult, but very rewarding," said Mrs. Fleming, beaming at her famous daughter.

Says Noted Driver

'Dollars Make Winners'

BRISTOL, Va. (AP) — Lee Petty, head of the famed Plymouth racing team of Randleman, N.C., says the main reason Chrysler drivers have been unsuccessful against the Ford teams this season is because Ford is spending "10 times as much on racing as we are."

Petty, whose son, Richard, chalked up a record-breaking 27 victories in a 1967 Plymouth last season but who has only one win in six tries this year, says Ford has six or seven factory-backed cars to Chrysler's two this season.

CUT BACK

"Ford has cut back on its over-all racing budget for this season, but they are investing more money in their stock car racing program," Lee said.

"They have diverted money from their Grand Prix circuit efforts to stock car racing."

Ford, which this season is dividing its driving aces among Fords and Mercuries, has won five of the six grand national races this season, including the prestigious Daytona 500 and Atlanta 500.

★ ★ ★

Aside from Petty, Dodge and Plymouth drivers have a combined record of finishing in the top five only five times. Fords or Mercuries have finished in the top five 14 times. This was through the Richmond 250 race of March 24.

designed by Salvatore!

After years of designing and controlling the quality of America's most famous $95-$145 suits, Salvatore creates the 69.95 suit that should sell for $100.

Salvatore says:
"Our imported fabrics are equal to and many are superior to cloths used in the $100 and up men's suit."

Salvatore says:
"Our styling is as distinctive and forward-looking as the most expensive men's suits in the country."

Salvatore says:
"Seven of the $100 and up men's suit makers use the same inner canvas we have in our $69.95 suit."

Salvatore says:
"There are details in the $100 suit that add to the price without adding to its appearance or life. We put the significant details in our 69.95 suit."

Salvatore says:
"We use the same shoulder pads found in the $100 and up suit."

Salvatore says:
"Our hand-tailored shoulder work is found in suits that sell for $100."

Salvatore says:
"The $100 and up men's suit has the same sleeve-head construction as our suit at 69.95."

State Reports Deer-Car Toll Heavy for 1967

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department reports there were 7,077 known deer-car accidents in 1967, a 14-per cent increase over the previous year. Three motorists died in such accidents.

Deer are attracted to highways, partly because they have discovered the highways are a source of salt, sprinkled on ice in winter months.

More than 3,000 of the accidents were near heavily populated areas, with heaviest tolls reported near Howell, Jackson, Battle Creek and in Barry County.

Grounded F111 Is Headed for New Round of Senate Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen John L. McClellan says he'll hold a new round of hearings on the problem-plagued, multibillion-dollar F111 warplane, grounded by the Air Force and well on its way toward being junked as a Navy weapon.

The promise of more public hearings before the Senate investigations subcommittee headed by the Arkansas Democrat—who characterized the F111 program as a "tragic blunder"—closely followed these developments:

• Two of the first six Air Force F111As sent to Southeast Asia for combat duty were lost within a week after entering the Vietnam war, perhaps handing the Communists the fruits of U.S. research that alone cost $1 billion.

• The Senate Armed Services Committee voted to junk the Navy's F111B program on which $400 million reportedly has been spent. It approved instead $287 million to start work on a substitute plane.

AIR FORCE ONLY

If Congress goes along as expectd, the action means that the F111—originally known as the TFX—will become exclusively an Air Force fighter-bomber and not the joint Air Force-Navy plane that Robert S. McNamara ordered and insisted upon throughout his tenure as secretary of Defense.

There is no independent estimate of how much the cancellation of the Navy's F111B program would cost because the Pentagon has refused to provide cost figures on the over-all F111 project.

However, McClellan said in an interview that estimated costs have tripled in the past five years, and now stand at more than $12 billion.

McClellan would not say when his new hearings would start, although he said they were planned before—and would not be limited to—loss of the two Air Force F111As. But the ranking Republican member of the subcommittee, Sen. Karl Mundt of South Dakota, has made it plain that he questions the wisdom of the decision to deploy the planes in combat.

6 SENT TO VIETNAM

Six of the 1,500 mile-an-hour jets reached Thailand March 17 in a secrecy-cloaked operation with the code name of "Harvest Reaper." On March 26 the planes began flying combat missions.

Four days later one of the jets vanished. North Vietnam claimed it was shot down. U.S. officials have said only that the plane and its two crewmen are missing.

★ ★ ★

Then, last Sunday, the Air Force announced that a second F111A had crashed "after an in-flight emergency." Both crewmen were rescued. The four remaining F111As were grounded as the Pentagon dispatched a special investigating team to Thailand.

In a preview of what can be expected at the new hearings, Mundt charged that the normal Air Force test program was not completed before the six jets were sent into combat.

FOUND EARLY

During stateside tests last January pilots discovered "serious faults" in the F111A, Mundt said, "yet, only two months later, the airplanes were sent to Vietnam with these faults unremedied."

Mundt also said current plans call for 160 F111As to be built before all planned modifications are incorporated, and he urged that production be halted.

★ ★ ★

"If this drastic step is not taken," Mundt said, "then we will truly be committing another billion-dollar blunder in this TFX program which already has cost the American taxpayer many, many fruitless billions of dollars."

Mundt called for renewal of the subcommittee's hearings. Asked about this, McClellan said: "That will be done in due course, but I won't say just when." He said subcommittee investigators have continued the inquiry while hearings were in recess.

BLUNDER CHARGED

McClellan charged that McNamara made a "tragic blunder" by attempting to force upon the services "a weapon so useless it would imperil the lives of the pilots and the security of the country."

Since McNamara left the Pentagon Feb. 29 there have been indications that McClellan would soon end his often-stormy five-year inquiry.

The 72-year-old senator has told friends he believes he was vindicated when the armed services committee voted 11 to 2 to deny the Navy's request for $588 million for the F111B.

The belief is widespread on Capitol Hill that the new defense secretary, Clark M. Clifford, is willing to drop the Navy version without a fight. Clifford has not stated his views publicly, but even before the armed services committee this week voted funds for the substitute plane—called the VFX1, he had approved a Navy plan to start work on such a craft.

Four major manufacturers—McDonnell Douglas Corp., Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp., Ling-Temco-Vought Inc., and North American Aviation Inc.—already have submitted designs for the substitute. General Dynamics Corp., which holds the prime F111 contract, has not.

Ford Group Boosts TV Aid

NEW YORK (AP)—The Ford Foundation said Wednesday it would increase its grants to noncommercial broadcasters to stimulate local cultural and public affairs programs.

The program is to sustain noncommercial broadcasting and improve programming before a new corporation for public broadcasting begins functioning.

McGeorge Bundy, foundation president, announced the project for new television programming, with $5 million set aside for the first year.

He said the program would raise the foundation's funding of public broadcasting this year to about $25 million.

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Expert South's bid of seven no-trump was an overbid and he knew it, but he also had great confidence in his ability to play the dummy. When he looked at dummy he counted 12 top tricks. The grand slam would be a cinch if hearts broke. Otherwise he needed some sort of squeeze for his 13th trick.

JACOBY

He ran off three more diamond tricks to start proceedings. East discarded the four of spades, West, the four of hearts. Dummy's last diamond was played next. East had a problem here but let the 10 of spades go while West dropped the five of hearts.

South's three discards had been the jack and two other clubs. South decided that East was holding five hearts and would keep on holding them.

Therefore, if he played the king of spades and continued with the ace, East would be down to one black card and it surely would be a club. Sure enough East followed the first spade but dropped a club on the second.

Now South ran off his top hearts. On the fourth heart West had the choice of holding two black queens or letting the queen of spades go. Since dummy was back of him with the ace and one club and the nine of spades, it didn't matter. Either play was death.

"Nice squeeze," said East. "Too bad my partner didn't open a club and break it up."

4-CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	1 ♦	Pass	1 ♠
1 ♥	Pass	3 ♥	4 ♣
4 ♥	Dble	Pass	5 ♦
Dble	Pass	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ 6 ♥ A K Q 5 5 4 ♦ K Q J 10 7 4
What do you do now?

A—Pass or redouble. You expect to make this contract and should redouble if you think your opponents will stand for it. If you think one of them will run, then take the satisfactory doubled contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding one heart, West passes over one diamond. Your partner bids one spade. East passes. You bid three clubs and your partner bids four spades. What do you do now?

Hospital Bill in Heart-Swap $28,845.83

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — The hospital bill of Mike Kasperak, America's first adult heart transplant patient, totaled $28,845.83, it was revealed for the first time yesterday.

This amounted to about $1,600 a day for his 2½-week stay at Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital. The retired Cleveland steelworker died 14 days after receiving a smaller heart from a housewife on Jan. 6.

A hospitalization plan taken through the United Steelworkers of America while he worked for Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. in Ohio paid $21,580 of the bill.

Mrs. Kasperak's co-workers at Amplex Corp. plan to make up this balance by donating 288 pints of blood to the hospital.

Dr. Norman E. Shumway and all other members of the medical team who performed the transplant donated their services. They are all salaried members of the Stanford University faculty.

World Hopefully Optimistic

Reaction to Peace Bid Varied

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hopeful mood has spread around the world in the wake of an apparent step toward peace in Vietnam.

The hopeful comments came from such critics of U.S. war policy as French President Charles de Gaulle and Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

★ ★ ★

Pope Paul VI and Secretary General U Thant of the United Nations, both of whom have long urged a peaceful settlement, also expressed cautious optimism.

But there was an element of skepticism, too, about North Vietnamese and U.S. motives.

KIND WORD

De Gaulle said the U.S. bombing curtailment over North Vietnam is the apparent "first step in the direction of peace." It was his first kind word for the United States in months in connection with the war and reportedly was pronounced after consulting with North Vietnam on its intention to move toward peace talks.

Fulbright said he hoped U.S.-North Vietnamese discussions "would lead to a cessation of war acts, and I would hope to a cease-fire and a solution to the war."

★ ★ ★

"It's the first break—it's the only break—we've had in 3½ years," said Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield.

But Sens. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., Stuart S. Symington, D-Mo., and Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, were among those urging caution until Hanoi's motives were clearer.

PROPAGANDA MOVE

Reflecting this mood, Percy said in Chicago: "This could be a propaganda move. Or they may be really ready to talk. If so, we should press forward."

Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan of California said a Hanoi peace feeler to President Johnson may have preceded the chief executive's Sunday night announcement of a limited bombing pause and his announcement he will not seek re-election.

★ ★ ★

If so, Reagan added, the recent developments might be "a brilliant strategic ploy" aimed at gaining Johnson's renomination. "Only one person knows, the man himself," Reagan added.

At the Vatican, it was announced Pope Paul VI was following the developments with particular interest "and with hope of future positive developments."

OPTIMISM

Japan's government and ruling party leaders expressed optimism. Foreign Minister Takeo Miki voiced hope both parties will patiently work for peace.

Radio Moscow reported the developments without comment.

Thant welcomed Hanoi's expressed willingness to meet with the United States and offered the U.N. facilities in Geneva for any talks.

★ ★ ★

Canadian Foreign Minister Paul Martin said there is reason to hope—even expect—an end to the war.

Formula for School Success: How to Get 2 Issues Passed

By DICK ROBINSON

Pontiac School Distric is the envy of every other in Oakland County — and many in the state and nation.

Voters last week narrowly passed a 6.5-mill property tax increase by 39 votes and a $23-million bond issue by a close but wider margain.

All this normally would not be too earth-shaking, but voter trends in 1968 show this to be a significant victory.

Oakland County's electorate has defeated five out of six millage increases — 83 per cent of the proposals — since Jan. 1 A number of them by 2-to-1 margins.

Things are not much better in the rest of southeastern Michigan, the rest of the state or nation. Nearly 63 per cent of millage elections in the state between Jan. 1 and March 24 have been turned down.

★ ★ ★

Just how does one school district get a millage and bond issue passed in days of a general taxpayer revolt?

EARLY START

Initial work in Pontiac began six months before the election The board of education named 90 citizens and 32 school administrators to the Finance Sudy Council (FSC) to study buiding needs and operating costs for the next five years.

Members represented a broad cross section of the community. Most of them have children. Named to head the group was Francis M. Webster Jr., a Chrysler Corp. operations research manager.

When the study group completed an exhaustive, 225-page report in three months, the real work began — informing the public of the school system's needs.

★ ★ ★

"We wanted to make this the most imformed electorate possible," Charles W. Buck, FSC's community relations chairman and owner of a local publishing firm, explained the campaign philosophy.

"We knew a few talks to the PTAs and a few newspaper stories would not be enough. We had to attract more attention."

INFORMATION SATURATION

School district property owners were saturated with information in what some veteran observers consider the most highly united campaign the city has seen.

To some insiders the campaign seemed to be organized down to a science. The pulse of the community was so well known that some school administrators even privately predicted the election outcome, precinct by precinct.

Each campaign speaker before PTA and civic groups submitted a written report detailing the attitudes of the audiences.

And at the polls, school principals watched the voters to get an indication on how the election was going. They knew how some people would vote.

"We knew a job had to be done, and we just figured out how to do it without any special training or guidelines," said the 45-year-old Buck, sitting in his 13th floor office overlooking the city.

SOFT SELL—HARD SELL

The entire information campaign was built around the old public relations idea of the soft sell-hard sell pitch:

First give the voters general information about the school system, then plug the real issues in the last three weeks.

School administrators were to stay out of the campaign, except to provide technical answers for stumped campaigning citizens. Buck calls the FSC report a "citizens audit of school operations."

Techniques used in what Buck politely refers to as "the grass roots movement" campaign were:

- PTA manpower. Some 500 PTA workers urged voters to register. After a training session, where they go such hints as don't argue with voters, they conducted a widespread door-knocking and telephone campaign.

Elementary schools competed with each other to see which could make the most home contacts. Nearly 7,000 homes were reached by visit or mail and almost 3,000 telephoned. Elementary children took home "I voted" cards which parents were to return for tabulation.

Malkim, Emerson, McConnell and Crofoot schools got out the largest percentage of voters in their areas.

- A speakers bureau. FSC volunteers made 180 presentations to explain the issues to about 3,000 persons. They visited each school twice in three months, using a slide presentation in the second go-round. "If two people made a crowd, we wanted to have a speaker there," Buck remarked.
- An information sheet for ministers. It reviewed the issues and suggested a text on schools as a personal obligation, including a listing of appropriate Bible passages.
- Gimmicks. They included two slogans, "Vote yes twice" and "six and a quarter for your son and your daughter," and "the cup of coffee a day" strategy.

Equating millage increase cost to the average property owner to a cup of coffee a day was used widely in the advertising campaign.

- School programs. A student in each of the two high schools, serving on the community relations committee, presented the issues at student assemblies "in their own language." Elementary and junior high schools used limited materials.
- Telephone question line. For two days before the campaign, the voters had a chance to ask questions by telephone. There was also one general information session for the public.
- News media. Extensive news and editorial coverage was given the issues in a series of articles in The Pontiac Press. Interview programs were heard on a local radio station.

The Press published a 12-page supplement summarizing the issues just before the election. It was paid for by the board of education. Advertising was placed in both media.

CAMPAIGNERS' HONESTY

One reason for the campaign's success, besides little organized opposition, was honesty by the campaigners in answering questions, according to board member Mrs. Lucille Marshall.

When the campaign was over, about $800 in citizens' donations had been spent. The PTA got $100 for its scholarship fund from left over monies.

A number of observers viewed the outcome as a turning point in the history of Pontiac.

The school district's second largest election turnout had given a renewed faith in the city overcoming a "defeatist attitude" many in the community held in the past.

QUICK STEW—Oyster Ham Stew is a cinch this easy way: with canned condensed frozen oyster soup, leftover ham and Tabasco liquid red pepper sauce, you'll have a delicious meal in no time at all.

Base of Oyster Stew Cuts the Cooking Time

In culinary terms, a stew is a combination of foods that is cooked slowly over a long period of time in a covered pot. That's wonderful if you can stay home all day to cook, but what happens if you work and are too tired to think of lengthy preparations by the time you get home?

What you need after a long day at the office is a quick stew that's hearty and well-balanced. Next Saturday when you do your weekly shopping pick up a couple of cans of condensed frozen oyster stew soup.

★ ★ ★

With other ingredients you already have on hand, plus some of Sunday's leftover ham, you have the makings for Oyster Ham Stew. And with the addition of diced ham, a totally new but complementary taste, it becomes a savory treat indeed.

★ ★ ★

The creamy broth has the essential piquant spiciness of Tabasco, the liquid red pepper sauce that blends in so smoothly. Tabasco has been the constant companion of the oyster ever since it was first bottled in Avery Island, Lousisana, a centruy ago this year.

Oyster Ham Stew

2 cans (10 ounces each) frozen condensed oyster stew soup
2 soup cans milk
2 cups diced cooked potatoes
1 cup diced ham
3 tablespoons chopped scallions
⅛ teaspoon dried leaf thyme
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon tabasco

Place unopened cans in hot water about 10 minutes before opening. Empty contents of cans into large saucepan. Add milk and heat slowly until partially thawed. Add remaining ingredients. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally until heated through. Do not boil. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Leftovers Will Be Kept to Minimum

For a small family, half of a leg of lamb will be right.

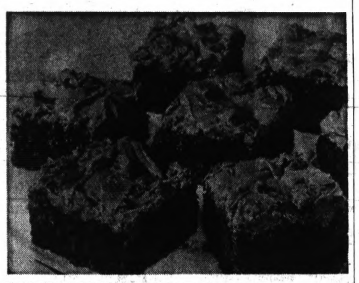

Lila's Roast Lamb

⅓ oven-ready leg of lamb, about 3 pounds
1 large clove garlic, crushed
1 tablespoon soy sauce
¼ teaspoon sugar

Cut away any fat from top surface of lamb. Mix together the remaining ingredients; with a small spatula spread mixture over top and sides of meat.

Insert meat thermometer in lamb. Roast in a moderate (375 degrees) oven to desired doneness — 170 to 175 degrees will produce medium-done meat.

You may find that your youngster enjoys mashed potato mixed with another vegetable—carrots, beets, peas or green beans.

COCOA AND COLA — You mix cola and marshmallows into this chocolate cake's batter, then they disappear . . . leaving behind a rich moistness that's topped only by the fantastic flavor of this Cocoa and Cola Cake. The recipe is a prizewinner from The Pillsbury Company's Employe Bake-Off held recently.

Cola Drink Is Surprise in Cake

The Pillsbury Company scheduled two Bake-Offs this year.

The food company gave its employees a chance to show off their cooking skills in the first Employe Bake-Off, limited to Pillsbury people. Three top prizewinners received expense-paid trips to Dallas to watch 100 finalists compete for the $25,000 grand prize.

★ ★ ★

A very moist chocolate cake with a peppy cola zing took first place in the flour category. Cocoa and Cola Cake, developed by Mrs. Verlos Huckeba of Little Rock, Ark., has buttermilk in the batter; miniature marshmallows are folded in just before baking to melt into each rich crumb of cake.

Mrs. Huckeba is the wife of a grocery products merchandiser.

COCOA AND COLA CAKE

1 cup butter or margarine, softened
2 cups all purpose flour
1¾ cups sugar
3 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
½ cup buttermilk
1 cup carbonated cola beverage
1½ cups miniature marshmallows

★ ★ ★

Combine all ingredients except cola and marshmallows in large mixer bowl. Blend at low speed of mixer; beat 1 minute at medium speed. Add cola; blend well. By hand, stir in marshmallows. Pour batter into greased 13x9-inch pan.

★ ★ ★

Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool about 30 minutes. Spread with Cola icing.

★ ★ ★

Cola Icing: Combine ½ cup softened butter, 3 tablespoons cocoa, ⅓ cup cola, 4 cups confectioners' sugar in small mixer bowl. Beat until smooth. Stir in 1 cup chopped toasted pecans.

Tip: Pecans may be toasted while oven is preheating.

Passover Foods Prepared Without Leavening

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Passover and Easter are celebrated at the same time this year. The Passover dates are April 13-20 and Easter, of course, is April 14.

In homes where Jewish ritual is strictly observed, there is great preparation ahead of time.

* * *

Since food containing baking powder, baking soda and yeast are forbidden, the house is cleansed of leaven. Dishes and kitchen utensils, especially reserved for Passover, are brought out to replace the regular dishes.

The first two nights of Passover are celebrated with family feasts called "Seder."

Symbolic foods are placed at the head of the table: matzos; a roasted lamb bone; a roasted egg, bitter herbs (usually horseradish roots); a combination of apples, nuts and wine; sweet herbs and salt water. Everyone drinks wine during the ceremony.

* * *

To replace leavened foods, cooks use matzo meal, matzo meal cake flour and potato flour. Passover food is delicious.

One of the most tasty is the chremslach or Passover pancake-fritter. This is a verstaile pancake which can be eaten at any meal.

The first recipe is for a breakfast chremslach; the second for a dessert version.

PRUNE CHREMSLACH
Batter
6 large eggs
1 cup warm water
3 tablespoons melted shortening or oil
2 teaspoons salt
1½ tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
3¼ cups matzo meal
Filling
2 jars (1 lb.) cooked prunes
¾ cup chopped walnuts
¾ cup pineapple or apricot preserves
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Beat eggs; add water and melted shortening or oil. Beat in salt, sugar, cinnamon and matzo meal. Chill until firm enough to shape (1-2 hours).

Roll half of dough on a board or surface sprinkled with matzo meal, to ⅛-inch thickness. Cut into 24 three-inch circles.

Place 1 rounded tablespoon prune filling in center of each. Roll out remaining dough. Cut into 24 three-inch circles. Place atop filling and seal edges.

Pan fry in oil until golden on both sides. Makes 2 dozen filled Prune Chremslach.

Prepare filling while dough is chilling: Drain prunes, reserve liquid. Pit and chop. Combine with walnuts, preserves and lemon juice. Make 1¾ cups filling.

CHREMSLACH WITH ALMOND-MARMALADE FILLING
6 eggs
1½ cups plus 2 tablespoons matzo meal
6 tablespoons cold water
3 tablespoons melted shortening (Vegetable or schmaltz)
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup whole natural almonds
1 cup orange marmalade or apricot jam
¾ teaspoon almond extract

Beat eggs fluffy, about 3 minutes. Stir in 1½ cup matzo meal alternately with water. Mix in shortening and salt. Chill 2 hours to make it easy to handle.

Coarsely chop almonds; combine with remaining 2 tablespoons matzo meal, marmalade and almond extract. Chill this filling about ½ hour before using.

After batter has been chilled, form into 16 flat cakes, about 3 inches in diameter. Place 8 cakes on well greased cooky sheet, and drop a heaping tablespoon of filling onto each cake. Top with remaining cakes and press edges of cakes together gently with fork.

Bake at 425 degrees 20 to 25 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve warm with any remaining filling dolloped on top or dusted with powdered sugar and cinnamon as you wish. Makes 8 servings.

Gefilte fish and borscht are both traditional Passover foods. In the following recipe, the former is used to make a different kind of pizza.

For those on low-sodium diets, both the fish and the borscht are now available in unsalted style.

GEFILTE FISH "PIZZA"
2 jars (15½ ounces each) unsalted fefilte fish
2 eggs, separated
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon basil
3 cans (1 lb.) whole tomatoes or 12 small tomatoes, cooked
1 tablespoon potato starch
¼ teaspoon sugar
Oregano
3 slices American cheese

Drain fish and discard broth. Cut fish into small pieces and put through food mill or sieve. Combine fish with egg yolks, pepper and basil and blend well.

Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into fish mixture. Press mixture into a well-greased 9-inch glass pie plate, building fish up on sides and at the top edge.

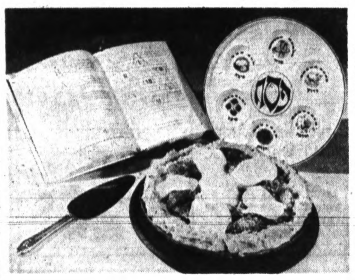

Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for 15 minutes or until "crust" is lightly browned.

While fish is baking, drain tomatoes very well. (Reserve juice for future use). Cut tomatoes in half and sprinkle lightly with potato starch. At the end of 15 minutes, remove "crust" from oven.

Arrange tomatoes in fish shell overlapping tomatoes slightly. Sprinkle tomatoes with sugar and oregano. Cut cheese slices in half and place one piece in the middle and five equally around the surface.

Bake another 15-20 minutes, or until tomatoes are hot and crust is well browned. Cool about a minute and cut pie into wedges. Serves 8 for luncheon or supper.

Fish, Borscht Make a Salad

Introduced for this Passover, there is a new unsalted borscht available in your market. Combine it with unsalted gefilte fish in a Passover salad and you have a low-sodium treat. Both the fish and borscht are kosher and pareve and Special Passover kosher.

GELFILTE FISH A LA BORSCHT
1 jar (15½ ounce) unsalted gefilte fish
1 jar (quart) unsalted borscht
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Sour cream (optional)
Egg slices (optional)
Horseradish (optional)

Drain fish and discard broth. Strain borscht for liquid (about 3 cups). Reserve beets.

Put 1 cup of the strained borscht into a saucepan and sprinkle gelatin into it to soften. Put pan over low heat, stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in remaining strained borscht, add lemon juice and refrigerate until cool, but still liquidity.

Rinse an 8x8x2-inch pan or 10x6x2 glass baking dish with cold water. Pour in a thin layer of borscht mixture; refrigerate until stiff.

Arrange gefilte fish pieces equally apart on jellied borscht. Slowly pour in some of the borscht mixture and refrigerate until set. (This holds fish pieces in place.)

Chill remaining borscht until slightly thickened. Fold in reserve beets and spoon over fish. Chill until firm.

Two Hands Are Not Enough

Don't try to make Baked Alaska in individual form unless you have a helper in the kitchen.

The final part of this dessert needs to be prepared in jigtime, and it's easier to layer a large cake with ice cream and then cover with meringue than it is to handle individual cakes and top with ice cream and meringue.

Celery seeds and dry mustard are excellent additions for an oil-and-vinegar dressing that is to be served with fruit salad.

Empress, the skinny tuna.

Why do we take the finest cuts of plump white Albacore tuna and call it skinny tuna?

Because of the way we pack it. Most tuna comes packed in oil. Fatty oil. You can pour off the oil but not the calories.

We pack Empress the natural way. In water. Non-fattening, no-calorie water. That gives Empress less than half the calories of oil-packed tuna. And with no oil to disguise the taste, Empress has a fresher, more natural flavor.

Empress, the water-packed tuna. Half the calories of the oil-packed kind.

Quick Dessert Layers Crackers

Combine peanut butter with apricots, coconut, honey and orange juice. Whip some heavy cream and fold into peanut butter mixture.

★ ★ ★

Spread on graham crackers to make a double decker sandwich. Then frost the sides and top with additional whipped cream to make a miniature torte.

Refrigerate to let cream set and allow flavors to blend. Garnish with whole peanuts.

Snipping dried fruits is a snap if you dip the knife or scissors in cooking oil or fat.

LIME PARTY PUNCH — For the lovely bride-to-be choose refreshments that are quick and easy for you the hostess, but wonderfully gay and delicious for the guests.

Creamy Punch Lime-Flavored

Choosing a party refreshment that is as gay and wonderful as the bride-to-be is no problem if the accent is on lime. Not only is the color of Lime Party Punch in tune with the pastel colors of the bridal shower, but the wonderful cool and refreshing flavor of lime is found in ample quantities.

★ ★ ★

There are only four ingredients in this quick to prepare punch. The tangy flavor of buttermilk finds a flavorful companion in frozen concentrated limeade. Add sugar and a little whipped cream for froth, and the punch is complete.

For those of you that also think about calories, buttermilk, one of the chief ingredients, has long been known for its low calorie content!

Of course, you need not wait for a bridal shower to serve this lime-flavored punch. Here's a refreshing beverage that will be great throughout the warmer summer months. Add small finger cakes or petits fours to complete the party menu.

Lime Party Punch

1 quart buttermilk
1 can (6 oz.) frozen concentrated limeade, partially defrosted
¼ cup sugar
½ to 1 cup whipping cream, whipped

Combine buttermilk, limeade and sugar; beat well. Fold in whipped cream. Garnish, if desired, with shredded lime rind. Serve in chilled punch cups. Makes about 6 cups of punch.

Gilded Walnuts

For a table centerpiece at Easter that's both edible and decorative fill a lacy basket with chocolate and colored candy eggs plus lots of in-shell California walnuts which have first been sprayed with gold. Attach narrow velvet ribbons in a complimentary color to the underside of the basket and run them to the placecards.

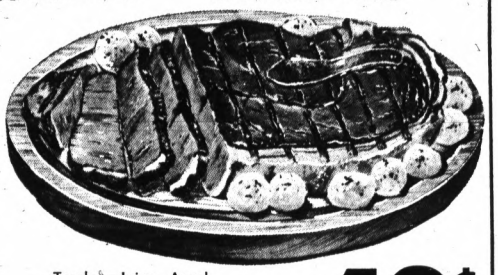

Raisins Please Kids

Youngsters like raisins added to muffins. A half cup of the raisin will be plenty for a standard two-cup flour recipe.

Autopsies Major Problem in County Death-Probe System

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second in a three-part series on the procedures of the Oakland County medical examiner's office.)

By BOB WISLER

The Oakland County system of investigating deaths to determine causes is outmoded and inadequate, according to Dr. Bernard D. Berman, county health director and medical examiner; his aides; local police officials; and Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson.

WISLER

One of the biggest problems the system has is in handling autopsies.

In most cases a deputy medical examiner, after being called to the scene of a death, can immediately determine the cause.

Sometimes, however, he feels this can not be done without an autopsy — a postmortem examination of the body.

The county health director, can, under limits of state law, order autopsies. But Oakland County has no personnel or facilities of its own to conduct autopsies.

The county relies on pathologists from Providence Hospital in Southfield, Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak and St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and Pontiac General Hospital in Pontiac. They conduct autopsies on a fee basis—$100 per case.

400 AUTOPSIES LAST YEAR

Last year more than 400 autopsies were conducted for the medical examiner.

The autopsy fee is below national standard of $125—some states pay $175—and does not cover the time or effort involved, Howard A. Whaley, an administrative assistant to Dr. Berman and an ex-State Police captain, said.

The pathology departments have their primary obligations to the hospitals and only conduct autopsies because there is no other way to do it.

* * *

These are performed only after the obligation to the hospital has been fulfilled, and this frequently means long delays.

The county has no facilities at present for storing bodies and must entrust them to the hospitals' facilities, which are severly limited.

BODIES MAY DECOMPOSE

Prosecutor Bronson said that at times some bodies are not kept at the temperatures required to keep them from decomposing.

There are plans for morgue facilities in the proposed county jail building, but that building is not expected to be completed for two years.

Whaley said in addition to the physical problem of conducting autopsies there are certain legal problems involved.

* * *

Under the law, he said, the medical examiner must obtain permission of the next of kin, who in some cases is suspected of the murder of the deceased and may not be willing to give permission.

The only alternative—a time consuming one—is to convene a six-member coroner's jury to conduct an inquest. The jury can then order an autopsy, he said.

OTHER DIFFICULTIES

In some cases the family of the deceased is unknown or not available. Even the county prosecuting attorney is presently without clear legal authority to order an autopsy.

Delays between the time of death and official announcement of the cause are too frequent, according to critics.

"We've had to wait weeks for an autopsy report to determine whether a person was a suicide, an accidental death or a murder victim," said Pontiac Police Chief William K. Hanger. "This certainly doesn't lend to effective law enforcement," he said.

* * *

There is also a certain inadequacy in depending on volunteer physicians to act as deputy medical examiners.

Deputy medical examiners, while they can be highly competent physicians, receive no special training for their roles and are, without exception, not pathologists—doctors trained to deal with dead tissue.

SENSE OF SERVICE

They perform their duties much out of a sense of service to the community and the fee paid them hardly covers their time and effort.

In addition they are frequently unavailable for court testimony and are unfamiliar with legal aspects of medicine.

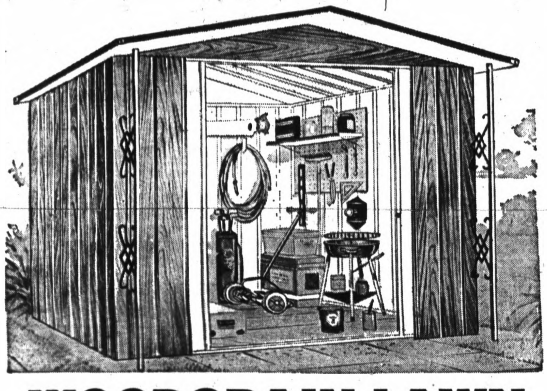

According to Whaley, pathologists who perform autopsies at the hospitals don't have training in forensic medicine, a specialized branch requiring years of training in legal aspects of medicine and death investigation.

God Solves Business Problems, Too

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 32nd in a series of 40 articles to be published by The Pontiac Press during Lent telling personal stories of faith in action in the lives of sincere people. Some contributors are famous, others relatively unknown.)

Tomorrow — Jeane Dixon, a vivid explanation of the faith and philosophy of the woman who prophesied the assassination of President Kennedy. By Fred Bauer.

By WALLACE E. JOHNSON
President of Holiday Inns

I once heard a religious philosopher say something to this effect: "The man who asks God to help him in his business is praying wrong. He is simply trying to use God for his own profit."

If this is true, then I have been praying wrong for a long time. For it is my practice to take everything to the Creator in prayer — problems concerning health, family, friends, church and the $4,000,000 loan I need to construct a new housing development.

I admit quite openly that I am totally dependent on God for help in everything I do. And if I kept Him out of my business I honestly believe it would start to fall apart in a matter of months.

I haven't always felt this way, however.

The turning point in my life came back in 1939 when I was a building supplies salesman earning $37.50 a week. I was frustrated and discouraged. Nothing seemed to go right.

SPECIFIC PRAYER

Although I went to church and believed in God, I had somehow dissasociated my job from my religion.

One night I made my prayer more specific: "Lord, I've been trying to make a go of it as a salesman, but I'm not doing very well. What am I doing wrong?

Show me, Lord, the direction I should go, the people I should see, the way I should use my time."

★ ★ ★

From the moment I stopped trying to accomplish everything with my own resources and prayed to God for guidance, things were different. Names of people to see, places to go, popped into my mind.

Where did these suggestions come but from God? Ideas certainly hadn't flooded my mind before I asked Him for help.

SCRIPTURE

One passage of Scripture so summed up this experience for me that I always keep it on a card in my billfold to refer to frequently:

"Ask, and it shall be given to you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: For everyone that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened." (Matthew 7:7-8.)

These words from Matthew provide us with one of God's greatest promises. Yet it is a little one-sided. It provides us with a philosphy of receiving, but not of giving.

★ ★ ★

One day while my wife Alma and I were seeking God's guidance for a personal problem, I came across a verse that has ever since been a daily reminder to me of what my responsibility as a businessman is to God. The verse reads:

"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." (II Timothy 2:15.)

SAW A WAY

Not too long after my first prayer for guidance, I saw a way in 1940 to change from salesman to builder. By 1945 there was a great demand for housing. I firmly believe that the home is more than just a physical shelter; it is the spiritual center of our culture, almost more so than the church.

I remember asking for guidance to construct 2,000 homes in 1945: it seemed like a fantastic goal. Where was the money to come from? There were endless difficulties.

We actually built 3,000 homes in 1945. And we have built an average of 1,000 homes every year since.

★ ★ ★

In 1952, our firm built the first Holiday Inn in Memphis, Tennessee. With so many people on the move in automobiles, we saw the need for clean, wholesome places to stay — a home away from home. Our effort was met with enthusiastic response and more hotels followed.

FATHER ILL

One day back in 1953 Alma received word that her father, Ernest McCool, was very ill and needed institutional care. The problem was that in all of Memphis we did not then know of any acceptable institution that could give him the long-term care he needed.

In desperation we placed him in a general hospital, although he did not require intensive treatment. For the last five years of his life this fine old gentleman lived in a hospital.

At that time, Alma and I said that, if the Lord would guide us, we would build a convalescent center for others having ailments similar to those of her father.

We envisioned an attractive complex of buildings set off by trees and gardens. The facilities would feature ramps, comfortable furnishings, a recreation area and modern decor throughout. Inpatient care would be provided at moderate rates.

ELEVEN OPEN NOW

The first convalescent center was built in 1961 in Memphis, and 11 more have been opened in the past six years.

These were the forerunners of the new concept my partner Kemmons Wilson and I are developing with Medicenters of America, Inc. (Forty-some Medicenters are now under construction or on the drawing boards).

Today, whether in Memphis or San Francisco or Rome, I still use a paper and pencil to write down special concerns for prayer.

★ ★ ★

The list may be long, but Alma and I do not want to overlook anything. For we are grateful that God honors our prayers by reaching into our minds with His guidance and using us as instruments for His work.

Overhaul Upgrades Veterans' Pensions

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press News Features

WASHINGTON—The big veterans' pension overhaul passed by Congress means a bit more money for about 1.5 million people next year. And it will ease the impact of pensioners' income from other sources on their VA pensions.

BAULCH

A few dollars more will flow starting next Jan. 1 to most now receiving non-service connected pensions and 248,000 parents of servicemen receiving dependency and indemnity compensation. And it will bring over 10,000 more onto the VA pension rolls through higher maximum income limits.

But there will also be an immediate effect. Any increase in income or a pensioner's estate from any source will not affect his VA pension until the end of the year in which he gets the increase.

Under the old rules, this applied only to retirement income, such as Social Security and company pensions; increases in any other type of income under the old rules meant a cut in VA pensions the following month.

One feature of the bill is designed to keep the Social Security increases that went into effect in March from cutting down or killing off VA pensions.

★ ★ ★

Actually this is a postponement tied into the new rate scale which is more flexible than the old rule—and less traumatic to the pensioner.

BIG JUMP

At present there are only three levels of income to measure how much pension a veteran, his widow or children get: up to $600, up to $1,200 and up to $1,800 for single pensioners and up to $1,000, up to $2,000 and up to $3,000 for those with dependents. When you go up or down from one bracket to another there's a big jump. You get the same whether you're at the top, middle or bottom of your bracket.

The system going into effect next Jan. 1 will bring a change in pension payments with each $100 rather than the giant change of the old system. People at the top of the old bracket will get no increase.

More people will be brought in by raising the top allowance for pension eligibility by $200 a year.

★ ★ ★

The limit will be $2,000 a year income for a single veteran or widow, $3,200 for a veteran or widow with dependents. And there are $200 raises in the annual maximum eligibility figure for the various classifications of parents drawing dependency and indemnity compensation as a result of the death or total disability of a child in military service.

IMPORTANT CHANGE

There's also an important change at the bottom of the scale of annual income. Now a single veteran gets $104 a month no matter what his annual income if it is below $600. The new scale allows a veteran with annual income of $300 or less to get $110 instead of $104 a month.

Similarly, a veteran with a wife now gets $109 a month no matter how far below $1,000 his income is; but the new system provides a $120 a month pension for such a veteran if his income is $500 a year or less.

The 40,000 pensioners still under the old pre-1960 VA pension plan will continue to have only two levels of income measure for eligibility. The maximum income for eligibility, however, will be raised by $200—to $1,600 a year for a single veteran and $2,900 for one with dependents.

Counting the recent Social Security increase as income in measuring eligibility is merely being postponed from going into effect next Jan. 1. In 1970 the increase will begin to be taken into account gradually—$100 of a person's increase being noted each year until all of it is used as measure of VA pension eligibility.

This will mean most will lose only a few dollars, rather than a whopping $25 to $50 a month as would have been the case at the beginning of 1969 under the old law. And the $200 a month increase in annual income eligibility measurement will prevent most pensioners at the top scale from losing their pensions entirely.

The new system keeps the provision that 10 per cent of retirement income does not count in figuring VA pension eligibility.

About 600,000 men and women on the military retired rolls get an increase in pay, probably in their May checks, of 3.9 per cent due to the increase in cost of living index. Another 30,000 will get a 2 per cent increase. And regular retired officers who work for the government will be able to keep about $80 more a year of their retired military pay under the dual compensation law.

Key Federal Consumer Protection Laws Outlined

(EDITOR'S NOTE—"With all the hoopla about consumer protection, what does it all add up to." That question was asked in a recent Associated Press Managing Editors Association survey of what readers are talking about. Here is a summary of how federal laws affect you.)

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Let the buyer beware, the old saw says. And the government is trying to help him do just that in an ever-expanding number of fields.

At the same time government pressure is rising on the producer, the seller and the provider of services to give the consumer a fair shake.

Most of the laws are designed to give more information to the buyer. They assume the buyer cares enough to read—that is, that he will beware.

Betty Furness, special assistant to President Johnson for consumer affairs, has been the administration's leading spokesman in the drive for enactment of many new proposed laws.

'COOLING OFF'

One would permit a "cooling-off" period in which a householder could change his mind after signing a purchase agreement with a door-to-door salesman. Miss Furness wants three days for "cooling off." This awaits congressional action.

Another proposal to help buyers on the installment plan would require that they be told the interest charges in terms of annual percentage—for instance, 18 per cent a year, instead of 1½ per cent a month, which sounds small. Stores no longer would be able to say "$5 down, $5 a week." They would have to say how many payments were required and what the rate of interest was. This bill is in conference after being passed by the House and Senate.

This guide for consumers—and that includes just about all of us—summarizes key federal laws.

PACKAGE LABELING

Passed last year, this law is for the housewife, as she pushes her shopping cart down supermarket aisles jammed with an array of items that carry too many bewildering descriptions of their size and contents.

In brief, the buyer is to get more and clearer information on packages and labels.

The effects of the new law are just now beginning to show since industries were given leeway in using up old packages and labels.

The following information is required on labels and packages:

- Identity of the food in bold type and its common name, such as beets or peaches, along with a statement of whether it whole, sliced, chopped, or such.
- Identity of the manufacturer, packer or distributor, complete with ZIP code.
- Net quantity of contents without qualifying terms like "jumbo pound."
- If the label gives the number of servings, it must give the size of the servings.
- Ingredients must be given by their common name in decreasing order of predominance.

MEAT, POULTRY, FISH

In the past, the federal government could inspect meat for wholesomeness only when it was shipped across state lines. A law passed last year extends federal inspection to packing plants that sell only within a state. It also gives the Agriculture Department power to seize and destroy uninspected meat.

Pending in Congress are proposals to similarly extend inspection of poultry.

* * *

As for fish, President Johnson said this year that fish inspection was virtually nonexistent and he proposed a bill to permit the federal government to work out a program.

PACKAGE SIZE

The new packaging law tries to bring some order to the myriad number of sizes of packages that beckon the shopper.

The law sets no standards for package sizes but says if the Commerce Department finds that there are too many kinds, it must seek industry help in developing voluntary standards.

TOYS

It is unlawful to ship hazardous toys and other children's articles containing hazardous substances in interstate commerce.

AUTO SAFETY

In perhaps the most widely publicized consumer protection effort, the government sets safety standards for new cars, starting with the 1968 models. They include front shoulder belts, shock-absorbing steering columns, dual brake systems, stronger door locks and laminated windshields.

TEXTILES, FURS

The law requires that textiles and furs be labeled as to what they are made of. Fur labels must give the true English name of the animal producing the fur, the country of origin, whether it is bleached or dyed and whether it is composed of paws, bellies, scrap pieces or waste fur.

FLAMMABLE FABRICS

The law was passed in 1954 to protect the public against specified items of clothing such as highly flammable sweaters. It prohibits the movement in interstate commerce of items which flunk flammability tests. Last year Congress broadened the law to include wearing apparel such as gloves, and bedding and other household furnishings.

DECEPTIVE PRACTICES

The Federal Trade Commission keeps a lookout for false advertising and trickery.

For example, the FTC conducted an investigation to determine whether consumers were being misled by the use of "cents-off" pricing by the coffee industry. In many instances, the FTC said, the "cents-off" price had become the regular price.

FOOD, DRUG LAWS

Federal agencies say enforcement of all the consumer laws would be impossible if it weren't for the fact that the vast majority of businessmen voluntarily comply with the law.

Agencies say, too, that individuals and private and civic organizations help by calling attention to wrongdoing.

VIET SWIMMING POOL — An Australian soldier tries to prop up a mortar in its flooded emplacement after a monsoon rain descended in the area east of Saigon.

Legislator Loses Appeal on Driving

LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan Court of Appeals said Wednesday Rep. James Del Rio, D-Detroit, must lose his driving privileges for six months for a 1966 traffic conviction.

* * *

Del Rio appealed the six-month probation handed down by Judge Richard M. Maher of the traffic and ordinance division of the Detroit Recorder's Court.

* * *

He was arrested Sept. 3, 1966, for going through a red light at an intersection in Detroit and convicted without a jury in Maher's court Oct. 10, 1966. Instead of imposing a fine or jail sentence, Maher put Del Rio on probation for six months and ordered him not to drive.

After Opening Flurry

Market Bullish, Cautious

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued to rise hesitantly early today, but a spurt of heavy trading was soon gone, and it was apparent Wall Street was becoming more cautious about the prospects for eventual peace in Vietnam.

Gains had a 5 to 3 advantage over losses, and the Dow Jones Industrial Average rose a little more than a point.

The ticker tape, which lagged a record of 47 minutes behind transactions Wednesday, was two minutes late for a while but caught abreast first half hour.

Profit - taking was apparent as Wall Street, recalling the 18 months of negotiations before the fighting in the Korean war actually stopped, anticipated that the road to peace in Vietnam would also belong and hard.

Xerox rose nearly 2 points while gains of a point or so were made by Johns - Manville, Texaco, Polaroid and Public Service Electric & Gas.

Small fractional gains were well within the pace set by many of the leading stocks among motors, rubbers, utilities, chemicals, airlines and building materials.

Gold - mining stocks continued weak as there was a further drop in the price of gold bullion on the London market.

Balloonist Blows It a Third Time

LAS PALMAS, Canary Islands (UPI) — Francis Brenton's balloon took off for a riderless cruise across the Atlantic today after dumping the British adventurer in the sea.

As he waded ashore, Brenton vowed, "I shall never surrender."

The two-time loser in an attempt to make Jules Verne's fiction of ballooning across the Atlantic come true said he would get a new balloon from Texas for his third try.

The balloon was launched prematurely when a tugboat started to tow it out to sea to catch the breeze before mooring lines ashore were cast loose.

★ ★ ★

The lines tore free, injuring a Spanish Air Force colonel and a woman spectator.

DUMPED

The basket under the balloon tipped, shooting Brenton into the sea.

The tug crew cut the basket free and the tinfoil-topped gasbag soared into the night skies where the northeast trade winds were expected to carry it to the Bahamas.

The first attempt by the former Chicago, Ill., resident to fill his balloon with home-made hydrogen gas ended when it blew up in his face, sending him to hospital for a short time.

★ ★ ★

Brenton, undaunted, said he would go to Texas for a third balloon.

INJURED

Injured in the accidental launching were Col. D. Carbo, chief of staff of the Spanish Air Force Canary Islands Zone, who was slammed into rocks by the flailing mooring lines.

He was reported suffering serious head injuries.

An unidentified young woman on the beach with a crowd of well-wishers, was cut on a leg, by another line swinging through the spectators.

Today's balloon was apparently the result of an error in launching maneuvers, it was said later.

★ ★ ★

The tug had been standing by to tow the balloon 10 miles offshore to stronger breezes before setting it free.

LINES RELEASED

Through some mix-up, the tug started off before the lines to shore were released.

Brenton wore two corduroy shirts and corduroy trousers in preparation for a two week trip which has only been achieved in fiction when Jules Verne plotted a similar trip, at the same speed, in fact, Brenton hoped to log.

Brenton planned his trip for over a year and has included minute details in his preparations. The adventurer hoped to succeed by sailing at a fixed height and by dragging a raft and emergency rations in the water below him.

Brenton christened his craft "The Spirit of Gran Canaria" and flew the Spanish flag from it in gratitude of the help he has received from local residents. The local naval base ordered scouting ships five miles out in the ocean in case of mishap during the first phase of the trip.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, the Spanish air force built a launch pad for Brenton. But it had to be abandoned because his balloon had to be inflated directly from hydrogen sources.

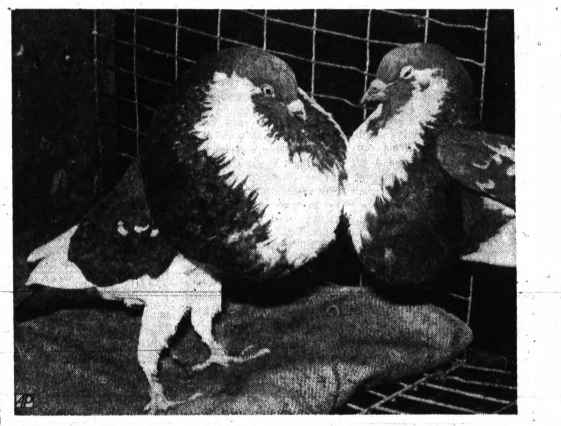

A local fertilizer company built 100 yards of special piping into the beach of "Salinetas" to simplify the inflation process which began this morning.

Whether you spend your "get-away-from-it-all" week in the south or on a ski slope, your complexion will feel the effect. Any vacation means a change of climate, more outdoor exposure, and probably changes in your skin.

'Open Meeting' Bill Approved

LANSING (AP) — The House passed Wednesday a measure which backers said would guarantee that local governing bodies conduct their business in the open.

Opponents said the bill would let the boards hide more often from scrutiny of the public and the pres. One press spokesman said he doubted the measure would make much difference.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Roy Smith, R-Ypsilanti, involves the governing bodies of counties, cities, villages, townships, school districts, state-supported colleges and universities, and state and municipal authorities and commissions which perform "an essential government function."

It provides they must open their meetings to the public while voting on any measure or taking other official action dealing with money or other valuables "or the fixing of personal or property rights, privileges, immunities, duties or obligations of any person or group of persons."

OBJECTION LITED

The House passed the bill 85-18 on Tuesday, then reconsidered the vote after Rep. J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, charged it would actually restrict freedom of information.

Traxler said that by spelling out when board meetings must be open, the bill implies that at other times they may be closed.

★ ★ ★

The House passed the bill again Wednesday, 82-12, and sent it to the Senate.

Elmer White, executive secretary of the Michigan Press Association, said today the MPA was not particularly concerned about the bill.

'WHAT THEY DESERVE'

"Our position is that the people in the community get the kind of meeting they deserve," White said. "If the people and the newspaper in the community complain about secret meetings, there won't be any. If they don't, then it's hard to pass federal or state laws that will have much effect."

Chalk Is Useful Household Item

Tailor's chalk is wonderful to use when sewing. As it brushes off easily, use it to mark on woolens and velvets such as darts or notches. It is useful in marking through pattern perforations.

★ ★ ★

Place several sticks of blackboard chalk in the silver chest to prevent tarnish. And also place a piece of chalk in your jewelry box and it will help to keep jewelry from tarnishing.

Glass-Making Looked Upon as Magical

NEW YORK (AP) — What kind of magic is involved in transforming an opaque, porous and essentially dirty substance into a transparent, non-porous, clean material?

★ ★ ★

The answer is no magic at all. It is simply the 3,500-year-old process that takes place when glass is made.

★ ★ ★

The makers of bottles and jars, the largest segment of the U.S. glass industry, complete this process 32 billion times a year reports the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute.

The average bottle or jar is composed of about 70 per cent silica or common sand. The sand is melted with limestone and soda ash and then molded into glass containers that are transparent, impermeable and chemically inert.

★ ★ ★

Although the early results of glass-making were considered magic, today's wide use of glass containers is taken for granted. GCMI notes that the average American family opens some 1,500 glass containers of all kinds each year.

Stitch and Press

A "stitch and press" sewing motto gives finished garments a professional look, report Extension clothing specialists. Set the iron temperature control to correspond to the fabric being pressed. If sewing on wool or heat sensitive fabrics, use a steam iron or press through moist cheese cloth.

Q. Why has Holiday Inns declined to about 42 since I purchased 100 shares at 52? I'm 38 years old, interested in capital growth. I also own Universal Oil Products at 54. Do you recommend holding both these stocks? — R. O.

A. Yes, indeed. I think that they are both well suited to your objective. As a relatively fast growth issue, Holiday Inns was perhaps more vulnerable to a general market decline. Your shares lost about what the market gave up percentage-wise. You must also take into account a rather large second-ary offering that was registered with the SEC in February and went on public sale March 15 at $42.375. Until this block is disposed of — on behalf of some management stockholders wanting cash for personal reasons— market action will tend to be sluggish. I understand the offering has gone well.

When the market stabilizes, Holiday Inns should again move up on earnings that are expected to show another sizable gain for fiscal 1968, ending June 30. The best quarters of the year have customarily been those ending in June and September. You have done very well with Universal Oil Products which is about to be split 2-for-1. Shareholders vote on this proposal in May. After the split, a somewhat higher dividend is expected.

Q. I would like to buy Admiral Corp. I never invested in plastic before. Would I be doing wrong? — I. C.

A. Admiral Plastics Corp., now called APL Corp. (American Exchange), is not totally involved in plastics, as this operation represents only one of four main divisions. Activities also include manufacturing and distributing health and beauty aids, some drugs and vitamins. Although long-term earnings growth should develop from APL's many and varied acquisitions — a fair start has already been made— two issues of convertible preferred plus outstanding options and warrants could dilute earnings by approximately 50 per cent. In my judgment your investment funds would be better employed in a growth stock like Talon Corp.

Hearings On for County's 1969 Budget

Hearings continued today in the Oakland County Courthouse conference room on a proposed county budget for 1969. It was being presented by the board of auditors to the Board of Supervisors Ways and Means Committee.

The tentative budget was set at $26,202,955, up about $4.3 million over last year. This would require a millage levy of 6.16 mills or 1.44 mills increase in taxation according to preliminary figures.

The Tax Allocation Board and the entire Board of Supervisors will have to review the budget before its acceptance next October.

The road commission was again asking for about $2.5 million in tax money for road projects. This amount was not placed in the total budget figure and was not recommended by the board of auditors for inclusion, however.

Nepalese Man's Ability to Withstand Cold Cited

LONDON (UPI) — It was below freezing, high in the Himalayas, and the British scientific and mountaineering expedition was shivering in its double-ply clothing when a cheerful Nepalese hove on the scene.

Although the British camp was pitched at an altitude of 15,300 feet, the 35-year-old visitor had climbed up by himself — and even more remarkable, he had neither shores nor gloves, and the trousers and shirt, which were all he wore, were of thin cotton.

That night the temperature dropped to nearly zero, and there was a snowstorm, but when the expedition went looking for the "body" of the strange visitor they found him sleeping quite comfortably near a glacier at 17,500 feet.

The cold which the Britishers found so uncomfortable apparently bothered the Nepalese man not at all.

★ ★ ★

Naturally, since there were scientists in the expedition, they studied the man who has gone down in medical literature as "the Nepalese pilgrim."

CASE IS CITED

And his case was cited by Dr. Ralph Johnson in a report to the British Medical Journal on "factors in human endurance."

Dr. Johnson said there are several basic factors which can operate in individual response to stress — heredity, sex difference, height and strength, age and experience and psychological factors among them.

Adaptationn to environment comes under heredity, and the Nepalese pilgrim is matched by the Ama women of southern Korea who feed their families on edible seaweed and shell fish for which they dive deep into the ocean winter and summer.

★ ★ ★

A study of some of the 30,000 Ama women showed they had a higher metabolic rate than other South Koreans.

Dr. Johnson found that age also appeared to be important in relation to endurance.

★ ★ ★

But the supreme quality for endurance may be psychological.

★ ★ ★

"A man's character may be of overriding imporatnce," Dr. Johnson said ". . . . it is on the qualities of a man's personality that his ability to survive ultimately depends".

Two More GIs Return From Swedish Exile

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — U.S. 7th Army headquarters announced today that two more young soldiers returned voluntarily from Sweden after more than a month's absence without leave.

The Army identified the two as Pfc. James L. Butler of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Pvt. Donald L. Lloyd of Fawn Grove, Pa. Both are 22 years old, and had been absent from duty with the 1st Battalion, 64th Armored of the U.S. 3rd Infantry Division at Kitzingen, West Germany, since March 1.

★ ★ ★

Headquarters said the pair called the U.S. Embassy in Stockholm and asked for help in returning to their unit. Aid—apparently including commercial air flight tickets—was supplied and Butler and Lloyd were met at Frankfurt's Rhine-Main airport by military police officers.

They were taken into custody and returned to their unit where they are presently under restriction, the Army said.

PONTIAC MAN SENTENCED

The announcement of the soldier's return came only a day after Pvt. Roy Ray Jones, 21-year-old Negro from Pontiac, Mich., had been sentenced to four months' hard labor for being absent without leave for more than a year.

Jones had been the first U.S. soldier based in Europe who was granted asylum in Sweden because of his opposition to the Vietnam war.

★ ★ ★

Unlike Jones, the Army said Butler and Lloyd had not identified themselves publicly with war resisters' groups in Sweden.

A New Clue to Presence of Leukemia

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A new test for leukemia has been developed by two doctors at the University of California's San Francisco Medical Center.

Drs. Rudolf E. Noble, clinical instructor in medicine, and Hugh Fundenberg, professor of medicine, say their test may reveal the disease earlier than standard diagnostic methods. It also indicated progress of the disease.

* * *

The test for presence in the blood of an enzyme, lysozyme, which is lower than normal in leukemia patients, takes about one hour, they report.

Development of the test resulted from Noble's lysozyme research in connection with other diseases. He found, for example, that the amount of lysozyme in urine can indicate kidney function.

FLEMING

Lysozyme was identified by Sir Alexander Fleming, discoverer of penicillin, and has been shown to play an important role in fighting infections. A further understanding of its decrease in leukemia patients may help explain their lowered resistance to infection.

Educator's Idea

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Otto Kraushaar, retiring at the end of this school year after 19 years as president of Goucher College, all-girl college, had this to say about education:

"My idea of how to produce a good college is to get the best people you can and then give them the maximum amount of freedom. Our purpose is to train students to think, to encourage them to make their own fresh appraisal of what the truth is.

"You've got to have a lot of trust in human nature," Kraushaar added, "a lot of trust in young people. You've got to trust their intelligence to find a better way than we have found in our generation."

LBJ Bow-Out Is Called Classic in Public Relations

By EARL WILSON

CHICAGO — President Johnson pulled the master public relations stroke of all time in announcing he would not seek reelection, in the opinion of the geniuses gathered here for the convention of the National Association of Broadcasters, which he came to Chicago to attend.

The around-the-world headlines will give him a chapter in history, they all agree.

Some professional skeptics here wondered if the President wouldn't reconsider.

"No, he's an astute politician, and he sensed he was going to be defeated," said showman George Jessel. "The crime today is to lose, whether it's in love, sports or politics. And his policies have been losing."

WILSON

Bobby Kennedy's aide Pierre Salinger, in the whirl of celebrities at the Pump Room, said he believed the President was in earnest. "But so many others don't," this columnist said.

* * *

"That's why I do," said Salinger, amid frequent phone calls from Bobby. Salinger believed that Bobby undoubtedly had discussed the President's withdrawal with Chicago's Mayor Daley, who would now be free to back Bobby with the big Illinois vote.

* * *

Comedian Joey Adams, who has become a friend of the President in the last year, said LBJ called him the day before the announcement in Minneapolis, where he'd gone to make a speech, and the President was in a depressed mood. Although he gave no hint of his intention to withdraw from the running, the President did say to him, according to Joey, "I guess the only way they'll be happy is if one of my kids is killed."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Henny Youngman snapped at a heckler, "I'm going right out and have a tree uprooted in your name!"

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Men can't hide behind women's skirts—and nowadays, neither can women.—Arnold Glasow.

EARL'S PEARLS: "My home town," says Charley Comer, "was pretty backward. The highlight of our cultural season was the arrival of a singing telegram."

Red Buttons told 250 Frenchmen in his Latin Quarter audience, "I tried to boycott French goods, because of De Gaulle. I really tried—but have you ever seen an Eskimo postcard? . . . That's earl, brother.

ABC Stands Out on Viet

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — The American Broadcasting Company, alone among the networks, preempted a prime-time program on Wednesday evening for a half-hour news special evaluating the response of Hanoi to the American moves to start peace talks.

The reported willingness of the North Vietnamese to talk about the problem came at the end of 72 hours of domestic drama and crisis. So the program performed a real public service.

It presented George W. Ball, former State Department official, and assorted senators, all recommending a go-slow attitude. Ball said in a matter-of-fact way that the Hanoi response represented in his view, merely "some movement" in a sluggish situation, and he cautiously offered hope that it was "the beginning of a process" that might eventually lead to peace.

Important events have tumbled over each other with such rapidity in recent days that one reacted with extra amusement to Dick Cavett Wednesday morning as he opened his new ABC variety-conversation show by remarking: "I haven't seen the papers yet this morning. Have any more presidential candidates quit?

'Bloomfield Area Makes County Most Affluent'

There are more cars and more college graduates per household in the 31-square-mile Bloomfield area than in any community in the seven-county Detroit region, Irving J. Rubin, director of TALUS (Detroit Regional Transportation and Land Use Study), said yesterday.

★ ★ ★

"Oakland is the most affluent county in the region and income of the Bloomfield residents makes it so," Rubin told members of the Bloomfield Hills Rotary Club.

"Bloomfield Hills and Bloomfield Township are unusual in other respects, including the high amount of travel activity," Rubin said.

"The facts of life' about the Bloomfield area represent only a small segment of the tremendous bank of TALUS data.

★ ★ ★

"The bulk of this data was obtained during the 1965-66 regional travel survey by TALUS that included interviews with residents of every 25th household in an area encompassing 93 per cent of the 1.3 million households in Southeastern Michigan."

TALUS data shows that about 3,400 residents in Bloomfield Hills occupy 725 homes, for a 4.7 person-per-household average he said. Bloomfield Township has a population of about 37,000, living in some 8,300 housing units, for an average of 3.9 persons per household.

Comparative TALUS data shows persons-per-household average in the City of Detroit is 3.2, in all of Oakland County, 3.6 and all of Southeastern Michigan 3.5.

"Bloomfield Hills ranks third from the top in all Southeastern Michigan in the percentage of households with school age children," Rubin said.

"In 46 per cent of the households, the youngest child is from 5 to 17 years of age. In Bloomfield Township, 41 per cent of the households are in this category. The comparable figure for the entire region is 27 per cent."

In the percentage of three-car families, and in "person-trips-per-household per day," Bloomfield Hills far exceeds the average in Southeastern Michigan, Rubin said.

Moscow Mentioned as Peace Talk Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has agreed to direct contacts on peace between North Vietnamese and U.S. representatives and will fly to Hawaii tonight to discuss peace and war prospects with American officials from Saigon.

Washington is understood to have messaged Hanoi informing the government of President Ho Chi Minh of U.S. readiness for initial contacts on peach talks.

Officials indicated the first Hanoi-Washington contact probably would be between top U.S. and North Vietnamese diplomats in Moscow, Vientiane, Laos, or some other capital where both countries have embassies.

First purpose, in the U.S. view, would be to set a time and place for talks on scaling down the war and eventually negotiating a settlement.

★ ★ ★

The situation has developed with such speed, since Johnson ordered a partial halt in the bombing of North Vietnam Sunday night that U.S. government leaders are not sure what will happen next.

CAUTIOUS OPTIMISM

They voiced cautious optimism about peace prospects but appeared by no means certain the United States and North Vietnam can reach agreement soon.

As if in response to their doubts, North Vietnam's Communist newspaper warned the United States today not to expect concessions in return for a total bombing halt.

A dangerous element, officials said privately, is possibility of a split between the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments over how far and how fast to go in the search for peace. South Vietnamese leaders, almost totally dependent on U.S. military and economic support, have sometimes been outspokenly critical of U.S. efforts to find a way to peace.

★ ★ ★

In Saigon, South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu met with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and the envoys of five other allies to discuss Hanoi's offer. The session was preceded by hints in the National Assembly of South Vietnamese dissatisfaction with events.

LONDON (AP) — Soviet informants said today they expect preliminary Vietnam peace talks to begin in Moscow next week. They said the North Vietnamese have already assured the United States privately they will launch no major offensive if all American bombing attacks are halted.

The sources, who cannot be identified by name, said Hanoi already has begun lifting the siege of Khe Sanh as a sign of its intentions.

None of these statements could be confirmed in official Western circles.

MIDWESTERN STORM DAMAGE — Unidentified onlookers check out the damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Austin of Country Club Acres, a subdivision in the Beleville, Ill., area. The subdivision was one of many towns in the southern Illinois area hit last night by a monster storm which punched its way through the midcontinent. Eight persons were killed and scores injured in a rash of tornadoes which churned out of the storm system and ripped hardest at Arkansas and Tennessee. Parts of the Great Plains were buried in a blizzard.

2nd Stage Fails in Saturn Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's Saturn 5 super-rocket flung a 132-ton satellite into orbit today, despite the loss of two second stage engines that left a question mark over whether the huge booster is ready to carry men into space late this year and to the moon in 1969.

Had astronauts been aboard today, they would have reached earth orbit — but it would have been a wrong orbit.

There were speculations that had it been a manned moon mission it would have been aborted because of fuel shortage.

To compensate for the loss of power in the second stage, the third stage burned longer than intended, thus preventing the Saturn 5 from orbiting a record 142-ton satellite.

★ ★ ★

The satellite, weighing 264,055 pounds, consists of an unmanned Apollo 6 moon ship, a dummy lunar landing capsule and the third stage.

WEIGHT-LIFTING MARK

If the third stage had not burned longer, consuming extra fuel, the satellite would have topped by two tons the weight-lifting record of the first Saturn 5 last November.

Because of the additional third stage burn, the satellite did not achieve a desired orbit, an intended circular path 115 miles high.

Instead, it swung into an elliptical path ranging from 110 to 222 miles above the earth.

The purpose of the flight was to qualify the huge booster, the most powerful in the world, for launching astronauts on earth orbit flights late this year and to the moon in 1969.

State Senate Nears Fair-Housing Crisis

LANSING (AP) — The State Senate braced for a showdown on open housing today as opponents of the controversial bill worked on a last-ditch attempt to water down or kill the measure, which already bears several crippling amendments.

★ ★ ★

The Senate raced through its work calender yesterday, disposing of 50 items and setting the stage for the vote on the administration-backed bill which forbids racial discrimination in most real estate transactions.

Related Story, Page A-5

Republican and Democratic opponents of the measure worked Wednesday night, drawing up a bill which they hoped to substitute for the original, which was sponsored by Sen. Charles Zollar, R-Benton Harbor.

Backers of the Zollar bill expressed confidence they have the 20 votes necessary to remove from the bill amendments added in four days of debate, and then pass the bill.

The Zollar bill includes a lengthy list of proposed unfair housing practices and sets up civil procedure for State Civil Rights Commission enforcement.

4 Persons in Area Charged With Auto Insurance Fraud

By HUDSON WILSE JR.

Investigators from the Detroit Automobile Inter-Insurance Exchange (AAA) and Michigan State Police have uncovered an alleged scheme in the Pontiac area in which AAA reportedly was defrauded of thousands of dollars.

Codefendants in the case are Kenneth R. Davis, 37, of 4388 Sashabaw, Waterford Township; Dr. Albert J. Berg, 31, of 457 Beverly Island, Waterford Township; James L. Sanders, 34, of 7153 Locklin, West Bloomfield Township; and his wife, Alice M., 37.

Charged as conspirators, but not codefendants, are Robert E. Evans, 43, and his wife, Dorothy M., 54, now of Orange, Calif.

Davis, formerly an adjuster working out of the AAA office at 76 Williams, was described by investigators as a key figure in the scheme.

The Sanderses own and operate a collision shop at 6846 Cooley Lake, Waterford Township.

ALLEGED ACCIDENT

One of the cases currently before the courts involves an alleged two-car accident Jan. 20, 1966, in which Evans' automobile reportedly was struck in the rear by a second vehicle driven by his wife.

State Police said the accident, reported to have happened in Waterford Township, never occurred.

However, Davis — assigned to the case by the Detroit Automobile Inter-Insurance Exchange — allegedly filed an accident report with the insurance firm.

★ ★ ★

The Evanses then allegedly were treated by Dr. Berg, who submitted a bill to AAA. Investigators contend the couple was not treated by Dr. Berg.

ALLEDED REPAIRS

The cars allegedly were repaired at Sanders Collision.

County Offers Medical Tests

By ED BLUNDEN

How's your health?

Are you a normal, working person in Oakland County who is not being treated for anything by anyone? And you're well?

Don't bet on it! The County Health Department has discovered that one in three seemingly healthy, working persons has an identifiable health abnormality that would show up in tests,

DR. CONDON

And health department officials, rather than shaking their heads over the statistic they've uncovered, are offering a battery of tests — free to everyone — to identify the abnormalities.

The tests are designed to discover many sorts of health problems ranging from improper body weight to more serious ailments such as diabetes, kidney ailments, heart trouble and cancer . . . conditions the victim is often unaware of.

★ ★ ★

Called the Adult Health Screening Tests, the examination includes X rays, blood pressure and analysis, vision and hearing tests, urine analysis, electrocardiogram screening and other tests including those of a highly specialized nature if the need seems to dictate, depending on age and sex groups.

The program was outlined by Dr. Frank J. Condon, associate health director of the South Oakland Health Center Catalpa (1½ Mile) and Greenfield, Southfield. As director of the project he said anyone interested in taking the tests can obtain an appointment simply by calling the center.

Dr. Condon explained the new service is part of a changing role of public health agencies toward protection and improvement of the whole community's health. This program is in the forefront of public health programs in the state and nation, he said.

"This goes beyond the concept generally held of county health agencies merely fighting communicable diseases. This is aimed at improving the entire health picture," he said.

★ ★ ★

Discussing the value of the screening tests, he said: "In a large percentage of discovered health abnormalities, the victim was unaware of the condition."

PILOT PROGRAM

The new service is the result of a five-year pilot program carried on in the county from 1960-65, Dr. Condon said. Groups from industry, government, social organizations and individuals were invited to take the battery of tests.

Says Road Chairman

'Many Try to Sluff Costs'

By BETTY ANN SCHULTZ

"Sure, we have plenty of criticism, but I don't take it personally."

Speaking is Frazer Staman, chairman of the Oakland County Road Commission. To many residents he represents a reason and an answer for erupted asphalt and rutted roads.

"Everyone complaining thinks he's got the biggest problem," says Staman, chairman since January, 1967. He does agree with gripers though, that they should have what they're willing to pay for.

FRAZER STAMAN

The rub is that many people are just trying to find someone else to pay for their road repairs, Staman says.

★ ★ ★

He contends most complainers don't understand the state statute giving the county in general, not the road commission alone, responsibility for roads, he stresses.

CAN'T DO IT ALL

Even so, he says, the road commission can't do all it should under the statute.

Sometimes — because of the commission's contract with the state — repair of state roads requires from one to 15 pieces of equipment which should be used on local roads.

The state has agreed to buy equipment it needs to maintain its own roads next year, Staman says.

One of Staman's biggest problems in the townships is "paper roads" — roads shown on maps but never built. His solution: "If these people want blacktop, they should do it by special assessment."

Money, he admits, is another bug. The small wood plaque on his desk reads: "Why is there always so much of the month left at the end of the money!"

County Offers Free Medical Examinations

From a test-group of 10,500, some 3,700 proved to have indications of health abnormalities — about 35 per cent.

Of the 3,700, many had more than one adverse finding and 70 per cent were confirmed as health problems by later testing.

★ ★ ★

A test group of persons over 65 showed a higher rate of abnormalities, 72 per cent, plus a higher number of problems per person, some with as many as three or four. In 21 cases, for instance, glaucoma, a serious eye disease, was discovered.

NO TREATMENT

Dr. Condon pointed out that the center does not provide treatment (except in cases of communicable diseases related to public health). In each case test results are sent to a private physician of the person's choice. "We find, they treat," Dr. Condon said.

He also added that in most abnormalities discovered treatment or cure could be successful with proper care — after, of course, the person has been informed.

All testing is confidential. The program has the cooperation of the Oakland County Medical Society, the County Osteopathic Association as well as the endorsement of many state and local agencies and private individuals, Dr. Condon stated.

★ ★ ★

In explaining the new service, Dr. Condon said it's part of a basic change in public health philosophy. "Where most communicable diseases are under control we can now direct our energies more toward other needs of the community.

NEEDS AREN'T MET

★ ★ ★

The new program is a more direct and personal service that will reach more deeply into the needs of the county residents rather than deal with specific health problems alone as has been the previously held concept of public health functions, Dr. Condon said.

Alleged Fraud Is Uncovered

State Police detectives said the insurance company paid more than $2,100 in claims to the collision firm and to Dr. Berg for repair services and medical expenses resulting from the "accident."

In another case, Dr. Berg allegedly received $266 from the insurance company for medical treatment received by June Kushion of 4635 Pelton, Independence Township.

★ ★ ★

Police contend professional services rendered by the physician amounted to only $36.

EMPLOYMENT

An employe of the insurance firm said he believed Davis had been employed with the company for about seven or eight years.

Davis is charged with two counts each of conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses and obtaining money under false pretenses.

Berg is accused of two counts of obtaining money under false pretenses and one count of conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses.

★ ★ ★

The Sanders are charged with one count on each charge.

COURT HEARING

Final arguments for both sides of the case involving Davis, Dr. Berg and the Evanses, are scheduled tomorrow in the court of Waterford Township Justice Kenneth Hempsfead.

Preliminary examination of the case charging Dr. Berg with obtaining money under false pretenses as the result of the Kushion accident is scheduled April 25 before Hempstead.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanders and Davis have been bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court on the other charges and are awaiting trial before Judge Philip Pratt.

★ ★ ★

All of the codefendants are out on bond, according to police.

GI Force One Mile From Khe Sanh

SAIGON (AP) — The spearhead of a huge American relief force drove through sporadic enemy artillery and mortar fire today to within a mile of the U.S. Marine combat base at Khe Sanh.

★ ★ ★

A U.S. spokesman said he expected some of the 20,000-man relief force to link up with the 6,000 Marines inside Khe Sanh by nightfall for the first breakthrough in the siege of the fortress, now in its 11th week.

The force closed steadily on Khe Sanh from three directions. U.S. Marines were pushing due west along Highway 9 and were reported within 5.5 miles of the fortress.

Northeast and southeast of the Marines, helicopter-borne men of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry were pushing in ahead of the Leathernecks. Follow-up units brought the total force to about 20,000 men.

★ ★ ★

As the Marines moved along the long-closed highway, the cavalrymen searched the jungle for the enemy under a protective umbrella of gunship helicopters. Engineer support troops replaced destroyed bridges and shored up sagging ones. Bulldozers lurched, down steep banks, moving huge masses of earth to create bypasses beside each bridge to take care of the heavy traffic.

The operation, named Pegasus after the mythical flying horse, began Monday with about 8,000 troops moving off from Ca Lu, 12 miles east of Khe Sanh but by today the force had more than doubled.

Aim of the operation was to open Highway 9, the land supply route to Khe Sanh which has been closed for nearly three months. Helicopters and C130 cargo planes have been the only means of supplying and reinforcing the 6,000 Marines and 1,000 South Vietnamese.

★ ★ ★

Recent intelligence reports have indicated some withdrawal of the enemy force around Khe Sanh, which last week was estimated at 16,000 to 20,000 men.

NAVY PLANE DOWNED

Meanwhile, the U.S. Command confirmed that a Navy patrol plane with 12 men aboard was shot down Monday in the Gulf of Siam, but it did not confirm reports from informed sources that a Cambodian navy ship's guns brought the plane down.

The announcement said it was "hit by antiaircraft fire" and the bodies of two crewmen were recovered.

★ ★ ★

S. Viet Hails Peace Talk Bid

SAIGON (AP) — The government of South Vietnam said today it welcomes current moves to bring about peace talks between the United States and Communist North Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

In its first official reaction to Hanoi's offer to meet U.S. representatives, President Nguyen Van Thieu's government said it is consulting with the United States and other allies "regarding the contacts to be undertaken with North Vietnamese authorities for the purpose of exploring the possibilities for eventual negotiations to end the war."

This was in sharp contrast to a statement by a largely Roman Catholic bloc in the Vietnamese House of Representatives.

It charged that Hanoi's offer was "only a trick to get the United States to stop the bombing unconditionally."

★ ★ ★

The statement by 21 of the House's 135 members called for resumption of full-scale bombing and expressed opposition to the visit to the United States planned by President Thieu.

HIGH-LEVEL HUDDLES

The government communique was issued after Thieu held a 7 a.m. conference with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and then met with Bunker and the ambassadors of the five other nations with troops fighting alongside the South Vietnamese — South Korea, Australia, the Philippines, Thailand and New Zealand.

The foreign ministry said they met to assess Hanoi's reaction to President Johnson's speech Sunday night.

Asked by newsmen if Thieu would attend President Johnson's weekend conference in Honolulu, Bunker replied: "Not to my knowledge."

'Crime, Liberties' Dem Session Topic

The second in a series of programs on important issues, sponsored by the Oakland County Democratic Committee, will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in supervisors' auditorium at the County Courthouse. The meeting is open to the public.

The topic, "Crime and Individual Liberties," will be discussed by four panelists.

★ ★ ★

They are Congressman John Conyers, D-Detroit; Pontiac Police Chief William K. Hanger; Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson; and Julian A. Cook, a Pontiac attorney and the newest appointee to the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

The program will be moderated by Prof. Roger Marz of Oakland University's political science department.

"We have been able to obtain a fine group of men to help present an open and frank discussion of this important issue," said County Democratic Chairman George Googasian.

★ ★ ★

"It will be of real value to all party members who seek responsible solutions to what has become a serious national problem."

A brief business meeting of the Democratic committee will precede the panel discussion.

A Reason for Seeking Mate Like Parent

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

I once had to stand by and watch a woman I know encourage a self-centered man to make a fool of her.

★ ★ ★

He gave her a promise of marriage but at the same time sabotaged its usefulness by insisting that they keep their engagement secret. If she visited friends for the weekend, he accused her of sexual infidelity though he himself made violently indignant scenes when questioned about his own unexplained absences.

If he misunderstood an arrangement to meet for dinner, it was her carelessness which had directed him to the wrong restaurant.

Nothing she could do or say was ever satisfactory. So you wondered and wondered what possible attraction she could find in him until you remembered how exactly he resembled her self-centered mother.

Never had her mother been mistaken either. Just like her self-centered man, her mother had habitually promised her desirable things, promises she promptly made useless either by forgetting them or giving her things she didn't want.

★ ★ ★

And she was given to the throwing of violently indignant tantrums at any protest against her behavior.

★ ★ ★

Which is my probably unpalatable answer to the mother who writes, "Our 17-year-old son is so upset by the girl he is dating. She always puts him in the wrong. We know this because the phone is in the hall and we can hear him pleading with her whenever he talks to her.

We've tried to tell him that she is making a fool of him. But he gets so angry if we try to talk to him about her . . ."

Sure he gets angry. He's convinced that she "loves" him. And the why of that conviction is the problem.

However, it's a "why" we often prefer not to see. Yet it must be said that we befuddled humans, regardless of age, tend to credit our accusers with "love" for us for only one reason — our parents have made love and attack one and the same thing for us.

No Back-Seat Driver, Wife Keeps Spouse

WIGAN, England (AP) — Olive Rigby saw her husband driving off with another woman and jumped on the hood of his car.

John Rigby, 41, put on the brakes, started up, and stopped again. But he couldn't shake Olive off.

He took her for a five-mile ride at 25 miles an hour, with the other woman in the car, stopping repeatedly to plead with her to get off the hood. She wouldn't.

The Wigan magistrate fined the husband $60 Tuesday for carrying a passenger in a dangerous manner.

"I thought that if I got off the car, our marriage would go too," said Olive, 39.

John decided to stay with her.

Area GI Guilty, Is Sentenced

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A 24-year-old soldier from Wixom was found guilty of willful disobedience and of being absent without leave in a court-martial at Ft. Gordon, Ga. yesterday.

Pvt. Neal P. Salo, of 2220 Nalone, Wixom, had claimed his conscience wouldn't allow him to wear the Army uniform.

He was sentenced to six months at hard labor fined $30 a month for the same period, and reduced to the lowest enlisted grade.

This sentence is the maximum possible under a special court-martial.

The soldier, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Salo, were present as the sentence was returned, was immediately confined in the post stockade pending action by the governing authority which can approve or reject part or all of the sentence.

Tests by scientists of stone age tools and the methods for producing them have indicated 20 per cent or less efficiency by the tools and production techniques.

Holdup Not Worth Time, Say Three Robbers(?)

Maybe they were big-timers.

Whatever the reason, it was mighty strange behavior for robbers.

The incident occurred at about 10 last night as Allan Olson of 2221 Columbia, Berkley, left Rip's BaRestaurant, Inc., 998 W. Huron, Waterford Township.

Olson told township police he was approached by three youths, about 18 years old, in the bar parking lot.

★ ★ ★

He said they ordered him to put up his hands.

ONE ARMED

Olson said one of the youths was armed with what appeared to be a revolver.

The armed youth asked him for his money, which consisted of $6.

After rifling through Olson's wallet for more money, the thieves returned the $6, saying it wasn't worth their time.

★ ★ ★

They then proceeded to walk north on Tilden.

Death Claims Director of Detroit Zoo at 65

DETROIT (AP) — Frank G. McInnis, who aimed to keep animals "as happy as people," died today after serving for 24 years as director of the Detroit Zoo.

McInnis, 65, died in Henry Ford Hospital from a massive cerebral hemorrhage. He suffered the stroke March 30 while checking the grounds of the 122-acre zoo which he had helped develop as one of the finest in the world.

★ ★ ★

"You get to know these animals almost like you do human friends, and when they get sick and die you can't help but grieve," McInnis said.

He toured the park to observe his animal friends each morning and night, seven days a week.

CANDY DROP

At one moment he might reach into his pocket for a candy drop which he would feed to an ailing tigress, one of the 650 rare animals in the zoo. The zoo also has 2,600 birds and 500 snakes.

At another, he might visit a chimpanzee retired from performing and slip the chimp a cigarette to puff on.

★ ★ ★

At age 13, McInnis played on what later became the grounds of the zoo in suburban Royal Oak. "I laid traps and hunted rabbits here," he once said.

He arrived at the zoo in 1929 after graduating from Michigan State University with a degree in landscape architecture.

QUIET HABITAT

He built the moats, rock caves and miniature mountains which became the quiet habitat of the animals in the midst of a teeming metropolis and gained the Detroit Zoo renown for its botanical displays. In 1944 McInnis became director of the zoo.

McInnis is survived by his widow, Mary Ella; a daughter, Barbara Ballantyne; a son, Douglas; his mother, Dora McInnis, and a nephew, Scott Andrew McInnis, who lived with him.

State Sees Record Year for Driving

LANSING (UPI) — If Michigan drivers keep rolling as they did in January and February, they will log another record travel year by December, the State Highway Commission reports.

★ ★ ★

The commission said travel was up 9.4 per cent in January and that preliminary figures show it jumped by 12 per cent in February. At the same time, passenger car traffic over the Mackinac Bridge was up 47 per cent in January alone.

The commission said this was due to winter sports enthusiasts, who had better driving conditions in late January and early February than they had during and after the blizzard the year before.

★ ★ ★

The greatest increases were in the northern Lower Peninsula where travel jumped by 13.2 per cent. The lowest increases, about 6 per cent each, were in the western end of the Upper Peninsula and in southeastern Lower Michigan.

An automobile accident two years ago convinced Dalt Reid, 82, of Hyrum, Utah, to give up driving. Now he gets to town in a burro-drawn cart.

"I don't have much width vision, so I decided not to try to renew my driver's license," he said.

The trip from his home to the town square is eight blocks, and Reid said that burro power takes him the distance in 30 minutes.

Anita Ekberg Cleared of Tax Charge

Charges that Swedish film star Anita Ekberg failed to declare a taxable income of $91,000 in 1961 were dropped today in Rome under a presidential amnesty.

The state tax office had brought the charge and the public prosecutor asked that the actress be convicted and sentenced to two months in jail.

The court accepted the defense argument that the charge was covered under an amnesty on minor offenses effective for that year. The defense also contended that the state's report on Miss Ekberg's income was incorrect.

Phone Work Is Delaying City Traffic

Traffic slowdowns on South Saginaw near South Boulevard are being casued by work on underground telephone lines by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., Joseph Koren, city traffic engineer, reported today.

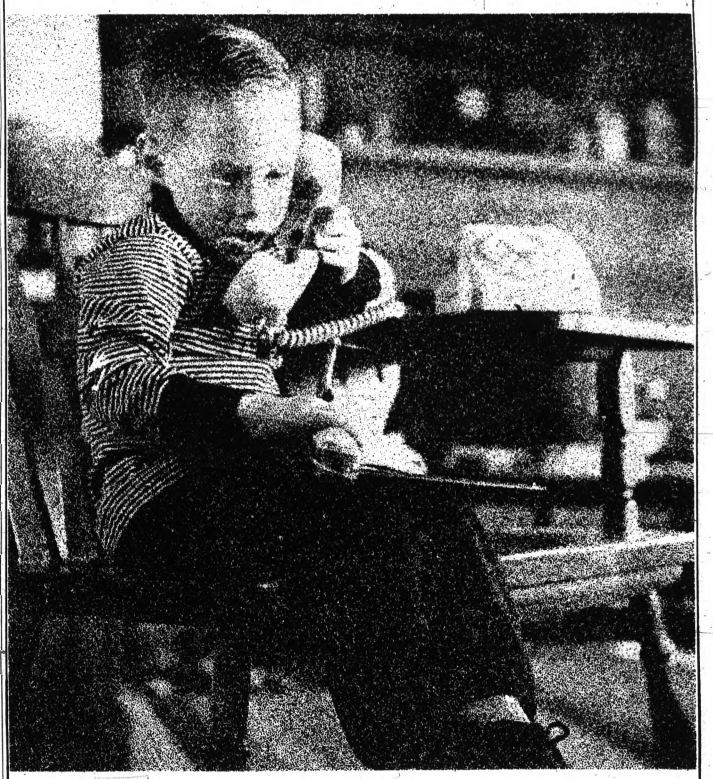

He said he entrance to the lines is two lanes out in the street and traffic has to go around the manhole now being utilized by telephone workmen.

Koren said a meeting is scheduled with the telephone company for next week to work out a more suitable arrangement for workmen to get to the underground lines.

A telephone company spokesman said work on the project, employing two crews, has been going on for three weeks. When completed in about 2½ weeks the company will be able to provide better and more advanced service to the south end of the city, he said.

House Says No, 75-30

Dog Racing Bill Is Defeated

LANSING (AP)—The House sent its dog bill back to the kennel Wednesday, slapping a measure to legalize greyhound racing in Michigan with a 30-75 defeat.

It would have authorized up to eight dog tracks in the state, with at least one to be in the Detroit metropolitan area and one in the Upper Peninsula.

Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, estimated the tracks would yield more than $25 million a year in state revenue. He predicted Monday that 70 members would support it.

After burying the bill, the House brought it back to life at the request of Rep. Bill S. Huffman, D-Madison Heights, who said he wanted to salvage from it a provision that all employes of horse tracks be licensed and fingerprinted. His district includes Hazel Park Race Track.

The measure defeated Wednesday would also have allowed winter racing at both horse and dog tracks, Location of a dog track in a city or county would have required approval of the local governing body.

Defeated also were bills requiring more schooling for student barbers and forbidding any firm except a bank or trust company to use such terms as "bank rates" and "bank financing" in advertising.

Approved were measures governing the refilling of prescriptions for habit-forming drugs and allowing banks to charge more money for their loans.
