Winds Carry Fallout South

N-Bomb Backfires on Russia

Size of Blast Estimated at 30 Megatons

British Expect Effects of Explosion in Week; Take Steps to Prepare

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union is getting a backfire of radioactive fallout today from its mammoth nuclear explosion, U.S. Weather Bureau scientists reported.

They said the fallout was carried on winds blowing south to southeast over the U.S.S.R.

The massive blast, triggered Monday in the atmosphere over the Novaya Zemlya region in the Arctic, may have been the 50-

megaton explosion that Soviet Premier Khrushchev had announced.

But the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said it doubts the detonation was that big.

LONDON (AP)—Defense Minister Harold Watkinson said today first scientific reports available to Britain indicate the Soviet Union's double H-bomb test yielded a total force of about 30 megatons—equal to 30 million tons of TNT.

The two tests, one in the atmosphere and one under the sea, were made Monday in the vicinity of the Arctic island of Novaya Zemlya.

"It must be some time before Western scientists can make an assessment of the over-all total yield of the two devices," Watkinson told the House of Commons. "Preliminary evidence suggests a yield of the order of 30 megatons."

If such proves to be the case, it may be assumed that the test of a 50-megaton device mentioned by Soviet Premier Khrushchev last week is still to come. The Soviet premier told the 22nd Communist party congress this test would be held at the end of October.

Delegates at Moscow Not Told About Blast

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

MOSCOW — Delegates to the 22nd Soviet Communist party congress spoke today of a future of peace and plenty, most of them unaware their government had detonated a super nuclear explosion which touched off a worldwide wave of fear and indignation.

With the probable exception of top officials in the Soviet hierarchy and those who might have gotten the word from foreign news broadcasts, Soviet citizens knew nothing of history's biggest atomic explosion in their own back yard.

The main theme of today's speeches was the glorious Communist future as mapped out in the new party program and Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's opening day report.

The abrupt departure Monday of Communist China's Premier Chou En-lai was bound to stir some uneasy speculation among the more than 4,000 delegates and their foreign Communist guests.

Despite the fact that Khrushchev and other high Soviet officials saw Chou off at the airport, it was clear that the Soviet attack against the Stalinist leadership of Albania — and Chou's defense of the little Adriatic country — had caused bitterness between Moscow and Peiping.

The dispute left the impression that the Communist world actually comprises two major camps in uneasy harness. Just how wide the split is or will become may take some time to ascertain.

Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky says the Soviet Union has "successfully solved the problem of destroying rockets in flight." Presumably he means his forces have an antimissile missile.

Malinovsky told the 22nd Communist party congress Monday that the U.S.S.R. "is capable of inflicting a crushing defeat upon the aggressor" with a new branch of its armed forces equipped with rockets and nuclear weapons.

Malinovsky contended that rocket troops will play the decisive role in any future war. But he added: "We believe that the final victory over the aggressor can be achieved only through joint action of all armed forces."

BETTER PREPARATION—West Berlin policemen on duty at the East-West Berlin border near Brandenburg Gate (background) carry submachine guns for the first time Monday. Previously only a few of the police force assigned to border posts carried carbines; others were armed with pistols. Submachine guns are being issued to all West Berlin policemen assigned to border posts, a police spokesman said.

Seize Goods on Way to Cuba

$500,000 Contraband Nabbed by U.S. Agents, Official Testifies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Commerce Department official told senators today that U.S. agents have seized $500,000 in contraband goods destined for Fidel Castro's Cuba.

Jack H. Behrman, deputy assistant commerce secretary, said the industrial products on the embargo list were confiscated in 17 seizures since Jan. 1, 1961.

Behrman said the Cuba-destined goods include automotive parts, machinery, diesel engines, valves and electronic items. This country prohibits all exports to Cuba except food and medicines.

His testimony came as the Senate Internal Security subcommittee held its second day of hearings into trade policies of the United States and its allies toward Communist bloc nations.

Behrman sought to answer criticism that American exporters were continuing to ship strategic items such as precision tools that strengthen the economies of Communist nations.

Explaining the department's export licensing practices, Behrman said enforcement has been tightened.

"We have broadened the base of our intelligence," he added.

FRUITS OK

He said the United States continues to import some fruits and vegetables from Cuba, adding about $30 million a year to Castro's income.

Figures were submitted showing that U.S. exports to Communist bloc countries amounted to $193 million in 1960. This figure did not include shipments to Yugoslavia and Poland, which Behrman said were not classified as Communist under the Export Control Act.

By far the largest exporter to Communist countries among the NATO Allies was West Germany. It shipped $765 million in goods behind the Iron Curtain last year, the statistics showed.

Call for Demonstration to Support Algerians

ACCRA, Ghana (UPI) — The All African Peoples Conference has called for a mass demonstration Nov. 1 in support of Algerian rebels.

Nov. 1 is the eighth anniversary of the war for Algerian independence. The conference called on all political parties, unions and civic organizations to join in protests to the United Nations and the French government.

Bonn Wants West to Press for Removal of Berlin Wall

WASHINGTON (UPI)—West German Ambassador Wilhelm Grewe indicated today that West Germany believes the Allies should press for removal of the wall between East and West Berlin in any negotiations with Russia.

Grewe talked with reporters at the White House after delivering a letter to President Kennedy from West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer on the Bonn government's policies on the Berlin crisis.

The ambassador's statements came as Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., said the wall was one of two negotiable issues in the Berlin situation. McGee, just back from Germany, listed the number of allied troops in Berlin in the same category.

Grewe met with Kennedy for 50 minutes to explain Adenauer's letter and his country's stand on Berlin.

The meeting had been scheduled to last only a half hour.

The ambassador, returning from 10 days of consultations in Bonn, told reporters after the meeting that "we think the removal of the wall is one very important request which the West should put forward."

He said he felt more hopeful after his consultations in Bonn and his call on Kennedy "because of the degree of agreement" between the Western Allies.

★ ★ ★

Adenauer's letter was in answer to a previous letter from Kennedy to the chancellor.

NOT OPPOSED

Grewe said the Bonn government was not opposed to continuing exploratory talks with Russia on Berlin.

"But we think it is necessary to find common ground, or a common line of exploration," he said. "We are working on this now."

Pleads Guilty to Manslaughter

John Haase, 19, Will Be Sentenced Nov. 14 on Reduced Charge

The slayer of an 18-year-old Pontiac girl pleaded guilty yesterday in Circuit Court to a reduced charge of manslaughter.

Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland, who accepted the plea, scheduled sentencing of John Haase, 19, of 181 S. Marshall St., for 9 a.m. Nov. 14.

The judge continued Haase's unposted bond at $500 and the youth was remanded to the county jail to await his sentence.

He admitted killing Janet M. Olsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Olsen, 115 Euclid St., with a 12-gauge shotgun during the course of a teen-age party in the Haase apartment.

Haase said the gun went off while in his hands as he was "playing around."

The girl was shot in the head.

In a statement at the prosecutor's office, Haase said he only intended to scare the girl by putting a shell in the gun, cocking it and then ejecting the shell. He added that he couldn't remember pulling the trigger.

★ ★ ★

The charge was reduced from first degree murder in Municipal Court last week when Judge Cecil A. McCallum ruled that there was no evidence of premeditation or intent to kill.

Sentence Leads to Flood of Words at Con-Con

LANSING (AP)—An argument over 24 words in Michigan's present constitution touched off thousands of words of oratory at the constitutional convention Monday night.

Center of the controversy was a sentence, first written in the Northwest Ordinance of 1787 when Michigan was still a territory. They were written again into the state's 1908 convention and read: "Religion, morality and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged."

The con-con committee on education, headed by former Congressman Alvin Bentley, R-Owosso, had urged the 144-man convention on Friday to adopt the 1787 words as the first item to be included in Michigan's proposed new constitution.

UF Drive Nears Half of Its Goal

The Pontiac Area United Fund Drive today neared half of its $672,500 goal with only one week of campaign completed.

"This is very encouraging," said Thomas F. Wiethorn, general campaign chairman. "It means we've got about one-half of the work done in one-third of the time we have to do it."

The drive, which began Oct. 17, ends Nov. 10.

Campaign chairmen have reported $290,475 already collected or pledged. This represents about 43 per cent of the total goal.

★ ★ ★

Already in the home stretch of its collection drive is the women's division. The women will conclude their drive Friday.

COLLECTED $12,717

To date the division has collected $12,717 of it's goal of $27,000 for Pontiac, Waterford Township and Lake Angelus.

"This represents 47 per cent of our goal," said Mrs. Walter Nofsinger, chairman. "More than 1,200 women been making calls and reports indicate we'll make our goal by Oct. 27.

★ ★ ★

CONTRASTING REPORTS

The industrial division is marked by contrasting reports. Pontiac's eight major industries have 52.7 per cent of their quota spoken for, but general manufacturers show only five per cent collected.

★ ★ ★

"Employes of the eight major industries are to be highly commended for their contributions," said Thomas E. Wilson, chairman.

"They have donated $232,000 to date. This is 77 per cent of the employes' goal and the total amount collected against the total big industry goal of $440,022.

"The firms have yet to make their contributions," he said. "The general manufacturers have donated $265 of their $4,520 goal."

Commercial division collections total $48,907.37. This represents 27.2 per cent of the commercial division goal of $179,876.33, according to Harry J. Woodman, division chairman.

★ ★ ★

Goldberg Is 'Man of Night'

Met Opens With a 'Western'

NEW YORK (AP)—A gun-totin', poker-playin' Westrun (sic) sung in Italian—and all those society folk making a big man out of a fellow who used to work for the CIO — what is the Metropolitan Opera coming to?

What the Met came to Monday night was one of the most exciting opening nights in its recent history — the opening night that nearly didn't happen at all.

The man who made it happen — Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg—was the big man of the night from the operagoers' parade at the start to the champagne hour in the exclusive Opera Club.

To explain why Goldberg took over the opera one must backtrack to last summer, when the Met was canceling its entire season because of a labor dispute, and Leontyne Price—who starred in Monday night's performance—was pleading: "Send us Goldberg."

MAN ON HAND

Goldberg showed up and ironed out the situation, and the opera went on. Some of the people who showed up at the Opera Club to pay tribute to Goldberg's talents were President Kennedy's mother-in-law, Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss; the President's sister, Mrs. Stephen Smith; Adlai E. Stevenson, Dr. Ralph Bunche and President Mongi Slim of the United Nations; CIA Director Allen W. Dulles, and former Ambassador to London Lewis Douglas.

Goldberg bore with him a message from the President: "The discord ended, let the harmony begin." Goldberg said he and the President both hoped the Metropolitan's near-miss of a season would help to point up the nation's need to do more to foster the arts.

As for the gun-totin' and poker-playin', one must backtrack still further — to 1907, when Italian composer Giacomo Puccini was in New York to see some of his operas performed at the Metropolitan, and in between operas went to see David Belasco's "The Girl of the Golden West" on Broadway.

Hold Meeting on U.N. Head

Agree on Burma Delegate, Differ Over His Advisers

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —U.S. and Soviet delegates scheduled another meeting today in an attempt to clear the final hurdle blocking agreement on an interim secretary general for the United Nations as the world body observed its 16th anniversary.

Diplomats hoped the meeting between Adlai E. Stevenson and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin, their eighth since Dag Hammarskjold perished in an African plane crash five weeks ago, might finally resolve the stalemate preventing the U.N. Assembly from naming a new head for the secretariat.

ONE DIFFERENCE

Zorin told reporters the only issue remaining was how many principal advisers the U.N. chief should choose from among his undersecretaries. Stevenson said it was not a question of numbers but of whether the advisers would be "geographical representatives or whether it's a political division."

Stevenson and Zorin agreed some time ago that U Thant of Burma should fill out Hammarskjold's term — expiring in April 1963—and that he should have principal advisers from the United States, the Soviet Union, Africa and Latin America.

PROPOSE 2 DEPUTIES

The United States proposed appointment of a fifth deputy from Western Europe. The Soviet Union insisted this must be balanced by a sixth deputy from Communist East Europe.

A group of black African nations readied a demand for a sweeping diplomatic and economic boycott of South Africa as debate began on the republic's white supremacist policies.

Ghana had originally included a demand in the resolution that South Africa be expelled from the United Nations but informants said a number of African countries had balked at such a drastic step.

In the assembly's main political committee Soviet opposition killed a move by Norway for an immediate vote on a demand that the Soviet Union cancel its 50-megaton hydrogen bomb test.

Katanga Peace Terms Ratified

Tshombe's Reaction Not Yet Known; Congo Pact Still Incomplete

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (UPI)—United Nations headquarters has ratified the Katanga cease fire and Katanga President Moise Tshombe has been informed of the terms, a U.N. spokesman said today.

Tshombe's reaction was not yet known.

It was not clear whether U.N. headquarters had specified further terms to which he must agree.

The U.N. ratification said the cease fire in no way affected the Security Council or General Assembly decisions concerning the unity, integrity and independence of the Congo.

It was described as a "purely military agreement with no political intentions or aims."

The ratification emphasized that the exchange of prisoners must take place before other clauses of the agreement are put into effect.

UNITY BOGS DOWN

The latest efforts of the central government at Leopoldville to bring Katanga back into the fold appeared today to have bogged down.

Two Katanga officials returned to Elisabethville Monday night with the central government's refusal to give Katanga de facto recognition as an independent state as a condition for political talks.

Tshombe offered to negotiate an arrangement that would establish economic, monetary and military unity but let Katanga retain its political independence.

Central government spokesman Joseph Ileo said Katanga could not be given any more status than other provinces of the Congo.

Fog Plus Rain Produce 'Frog' in U.S. Today

By The Associated Press

Fog, drizzle and light rain extended from the southern Great Lakes region south and southwestward into central Missouri and Indiana. The murky weather was associated with a slow-moving cold front that extended across northwest Ohio southwestward into Texas.

An undetermined number of deer hunters remained stranded in snow-covered sections of southern Idaho after a heavy weekend snowstorm.

It was chilly in most of the northern Rockies, the northern Plains and eastward into the upper Great Lakes and southward into northern Illinois. Temperatures were generally in the 30s. Lower marks, in the 20-30 degree range, were reported in northern New England.

In other parts of the country, readings were mostly in the 40s and 50s, with the 60s and 70s prevailing in Texas and Florida.

SAFETY BOYS LEARN SAFETY—Waterford Township police detective Arthur Holmes is shown explaining rules of safety to a group of Schoolcraft patrol boys. In a new program designed to educate boys and girls in conduct on and off the schoolgrounds, the Waterford police last night received unanimous support from the Township Board for the new instruction program.

School Safety Program OK'd

Waterford Board in Favor of 6-Point Plan Sponsored by Police

The Waterford Township Board last night gave its "wholehearted and unanimous approval," backing a six-point school safety program sponsored by the township police department.

Detective Arthur Holmes presented an outline for operation in 24 elementary and two parochial schools. He told the board that the program was already under way with safety talks and movies at each of the schools after initial instruction at the police department.

A code of basic safety rules will be made up and distributed to each pupil and a "patrol boy of the month" will be selected by a panel.

Further, the program will include a "safety citizen of the month," to be elected by the student council or chosen by the principal of the school with the panel to make selection in the same manner as the patrol boy.

There will be a safety poster campaign for all schools, too.

Safety talks at schools will be increased to two a year and given at assemblies.

The purpose of the program is to insure the safety of children, to educate the parents to safety rules and to reduce juvenile delinquency by giving youngsters a constructive goal.

Plan U. of M. Study of Chinese Red Law

NEW YORK (AP)— The first major study of Chinese Communist law in the western world is to be undertaken at the University of Michigan Law School.

Funds for the study were included in a $3 million grant to the University of Michigan announced today by the Ford Foundation.

The study will be undertaken by three legal scholars. They include Whitmore Gray of Monroe, University of Michigan expert on Soviet law; Tao Tai Hsia, head of the Far Eastern law division of the Library of Congress; and a third man yet to be selected.

It was understood that Prof. Kenneth Wang of St. John's University, New York City, former judge and law professor in Shanghai, was being sought for the open place.

Waterford to Settle on Tentative Budget

The Waterford Township Board will meet in "executive session" at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the town hall to iron out any possible flaws in a proposed 1962 budget that calls for no salary or personnel increases, according to Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson.

Actually, two tentative budgets will be presented for deliberation due to the change last month from a standard township to a charter township. Both budgets were presented at last night's regular township board meeting for consideration.

Under the old system the budget period was April 1 to April 1. Under the charter township form, the budget period will be Jan. 1 to Jan. 1.

This year's budget will end Dec. 31, or three months earlier than planned, to make way for the new charter township budget.

The township is expected to have an opening balance of $480,032, Jan. 1, 1962.

The proposed budgets may be changed by the Township Board tomorrow night, prior to the public hearing for the budget to be held at 7 p.m. Monday. In the meantime the township budget is available for scrutiny at the township clerk's offices.

"Although government operation will run more smoothly by starting the fiscal year Jan. 1, it has been rather a problem in revising the 1961-62 budget which began April 1," Johnson explained.

He added that with the new type of operation the township board will have more time to set up the annual budget for the allocation board than with the standard township operation.

However, the township does not receive the anticipated $75,000 sales tax and the local taxes until mid-February making it more difficult in government transition, Johnson said.

S. Viet Nam Says Red Troops Used

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam formally charged Communist North Viet Nam today with sending regular troops into this country to carry out a campaign of subversion against the pro-Western government of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Diem's government made its charges in a 16-page letter to the international commission and asked for an investigation.

The letter included documents purporting to be diaries picked up in clashes with Communist Viet Cong rebels, transcripts of prisoner interrogation, and records of Red agents who supplied North Vietnamese with food, guns and ammunition.

Members of the U.S. fact-finding mission led by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor were known to feel the documents present a significant and generally accurate report.

The South Vietnamese action could be a move to lay a legal basis for any U.S. intervention that might be decided on by Washington and Saigon to counter spreading Communist rebel attacks.

DECIDES ON PROPOSALS

Taylor, President Kennedy's special military adviser, has decided on the broad outlines of the proposals he will make to Kennedy, a U.S. spokesman said.

Little is expected to come of the South Vietnamese charges to the commission, a relatively ineffective agency consisting of representatives of India, Poland and Canada set up in 1954 to police the Geneva agreement under which Viet Nam was partitioned.

Autopsy Reveals Man Died Before Auto Accident

An autopsy today revealed that a 60-year-old Ferndale man whose car crashed into a Royal Oak home last night died of a heart attack and not as a result of the accident.

Royal Oak police were told by doctors at William Beaumont Hospital that Albert B. Cook of 2848 Horton St. apparently was dead before he smashed into a home at 2022 Lincoln St.

Witnesses told police that Cook's car was traveling slowly along Minerva Street when it went over a curb and struck the home of John McNeil. The accident caused only minor damage to the house.

The accident occurred about 6:30 p.m.

Five Hearings Slated Tonight

Commission Expected to OK Moves Vacating Shopping Center Site

Five public hearings on resolutions to vacate properties within the proposed site of the Glenwood Plaza Shopping Center will take up most of tonight's city commission meeting.

It is expected the resolutions will get final approval since property for expansion of the shopping center has already been rezoned to commercial.

This would be the final step in a three-month drive by developers to expand the center on Glenwood Avenue, just east of North Perry Street.

To be vacated by the city are parts of Grandview Boulevard, Omar and McGregor Streets, Gilmour Drive and a 30-foot alley.

Commissioners will also be asked to give City Manager Walter R. Willman authorization to file the city's application for a loan and grant to cover cost of Pontiac's second urban renewal project.

The application will go to the Urban Renewal Administration and Housing and Home Finance Administration offices in Chicago.

The Commission will also consider passing a resolution approving engineers for the preparation of an airport master plan and will renew the lease from General Motors Truck & Coach Division of property for Southwest Civic Park.

Reveal Red Underwater N-Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Soviet underwater nuclear test indicates the Soviet Union is making a major effort to counter the mounting force of U.S. Polaris submarines.

The report by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission that a relatively low-powered nuclear explosion was set off under water south of the arctic island of Novaya Zemlya was overshadowed by the rest of the AEC announcement.

That was that the U.S.S.R. also had detonated in the atmosphere over the Novaya area a nuclear device of very high yield, possibly as much as 50 megatons but more probably on the order of 30 megatons.

About the same time, the Soviet defense minister issued a statement that "the problem of destroying rockets in flight has been solved successfully." The ambiguous phrasing of Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky left in doubt his exact meaning.

LITTLE DOUBT

But there could be little doubt about the significance of the two other Soviet experiments.

The big bomb is intended as an offensive weapon to intimidate the West with the prospect of mass destruction.

But underwater nuclear weapons and antimissile missiles — if indeed the latter have been developed by the Soviets—are designed to repel retaliatory strikes which the United States promises to unleash if the Soviet Union makes war.

At least four atomic-powered Polaris submarines are on station within range of Russian targets. Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell Gilpatric said last Saturday that six such submarines were at sea, armed with 96 missiles. One or two of them may be en route or getting ready to head for stations off the northwest European coast. Eventually, 10 Polaris boats will be assigned to the missile watch.

The underwater test Monday was a trial of an antisubmarine warfare weapon — such as the U.S.S.R. would include in a strike against the Polaris fleet in event of war.

The Day in Birmingham

City Commission Okays Purchase of Land Tract

BIRMINGHAM — Approval was given by the City Commission last night to purchase a small tract of land in the western section of the city that would give the city a continuous strip of parkway almost from Lincoln Avenue to Maple Road.

Cost of the 1.2 acres, directly west of the Rouge River and south of Hawthorne Street, is $22,500. The property is owned by John H. Rosso.

The parcel will link two municipally-owned properties, Linden Park, south of the purchased tract, and the Rouge Parkway, which extends north to Maple Road.

City Manager L. R. Gare had recommended the purchase of the property even though the selling price was $6,500 higher than it had been appraised.

Gare said the additional money was for improvements that Rosso had done on the property when the city granted an access several years ago to the landlocked parcel in exchange for a city easement.

A court decision, however, revoked the earlier grant of the city, stating that the city had no right to provide an access across city-owned property.

The action made the parcel unusable for development.

The Birmingham Postcomers Club will hold its annual benefit bridge party 1 p.m. Thursday at the Community House.

Funds raised from the event will be used to purchase supplies for the Senior Ladies' Workshop; thread to sew cancer pads, yarn to knit sweaters and other materials to make items for Veterans Hospital patients.

The Senior Ladies' Workshop, which is sponsored by the Community House, meets every Friday at the service building.

Murray D. Jones Jr.

A Requiem Mass for Murray D. Jones Jr., 43, of 2852 Colonial Way, Bloomfield Hills, will be said 10 a.m. Thursday at Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church, Drayton Plains. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery, Arlington, Va.

A former resident of Drayton Plains, Mr. Jones died Sunday in Veteran's Hospital, Ann Arbor, after a long illness.

He was a glider pilot in World War II and held a commission as first lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force Reserve until 1957.

Mr. Jones was a member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Lodge No. 810, Pontiac; and Local No. 58, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Detroit.

The Rosary will be recited 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Manley-Bailey Funeral Home.

Surviving are two sons, Michael D. and Patrick D., both of Lake Orion; his father, Murray D. Jones; a sister, Mrs. Joseph S. Pinter, Bloomfield Hills; and three brothers, John J. and Gerald O., both of Birmingham, and Phillip A. of Pontiac.

Russia Getting Fallout From Giant N-Blast

is expected to reach the British Isles in about a week.

"The increase in radioactivity from the latest explosions," Watkinson said, "will depend on the make-up of the device. No accurate estimate can be made at this moment of the degree of radioactive fallout to which this country may be subjected as a result of recent tests."

Watkinson said the most immediate problem would be the amount of fallout containing radioactive iodine 131, which quickly contaminates milk supplies in areas where it lands.

Watkinson said the British government is taking steps to make substitutes for fresh milk—such as powdered or tinned milk—immediately available for infants if Iodine 131 contamination reaches a dangerous level.

ROME (AP) — The seventh world congress of Socialists today unanimously adopted a resolution protesting as a "monstrous crime" the Soviet Union's explosion of a superbomb.

The congress condemned the resumption of nuclear tests after Soviet promises never to be the first to resume tests, and deplored its refusal to accept American and British offers to conclude immediately a treaty banning tests in the atmosphere.

NEW YORK (AP)—The editor of the New York Post challenged the editor of Moscow's Communist party organ Pravda today to print the American's ideas about the Soviet's latest atomic explosion.

James A. Wechsler, the New York editor, offered in return to "make available the same amount of space to you for any rejoinder you care to make."

Pravda earlier had accepted Wechsler's challenge to publish the New Yorker's views on President Kennedy. In that article, Wechsler had said the President had no illusion that any nation could win an atomic war but that Kennedy would not allow the United States to accept defeat.

In the article he offered today, Wechsler said that "no 'superbomb' can change the fundamental fact of our time—that no nation can hope to achieve real 'victory' in an atomic war."

Warns Groups to End Dispute

Feuding Con-Con Units Told to Settle Row or Officials Will

LANSING (AP) — Two con-con committees which have differed over jurisdiction were told today to settle their differences promptly or have to con-con officials do it for them.

The committee on legislative power, headed by T. Jefferson Hoxie R-St. Louis, and the miscellaneous provisions and schedules committee, headed by Claud Erickson R-Lansing, aired their differences in an hour-long meeting with con-con president Stephen S. Nisbet, his three vice presidents and Richard Van Dusen R-Bingham Farms, chairman of the committee on permanent rules.

Van Dusen came up with a compromise proposal that the two committees divide up the five areas in conflict.

He would assign to the miscellaneous committee the jurisdiction over questions of eminent domain and the militia with the committee on legislative powers taking those sections dealing with tax exemptions and liquor.

On the mater of corporations, Van Dusen suggested that the miscellaneous committee take primary jurisdiction, with the legislative powers committee having concurrent jurisdiction.

When neither of the disputing chairmen showed complete enthusiasm for the suggestions, Nisbet told them to get together and try to work out a final solution.

He told both that if they could not agree very soon, he would make the decision himself although he preferred to let committee matters be worked out on the committee level.

Sentenced to Prison in Fatal Car Crash

Convicted of neglegent homicide in the March 17 auto death of a Pontiac youth, Milford S. Mullins, 29, of 3337 Queensbury Road, Orion Township, was sentenced to serve 1 to 2 years in Jackson Prison yesterday by Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

Mullins pleaded guilty Sept. 25 to having caused the fatal crash on Joslyn Road in Orion Township that took the life of Donald E. Rawlins, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Glendell G. Rawlins, 791 Second St.

The victim was killed when his auto was struck head-on by a car driven on the wrong side of the road by Mullins.

But Town Is Dead

Old-Time Miners Hang On

LOST CREEK, Pa. (AP)—A town is dying, but its older people refuse to abandon it. They like their homes. Their savings are tied up in them.

The death knell was sounded by the decline in the underground mining industry which began shortly after World War II.

Most of the young people have migrated from this Northeastern Pennsylvaia community, to Philadelphia, Bethlehem, Pa., New Jersey—anywhere they could find jobs.

YOUNG MEN GONE

Walk down the main road any day. You meet men and women who are 50 years old and more. The few young men who still live here are gone during the daylight hours. They work as much as 100 miles away from Lost Creek—up at 3 a.m. and home at 8:30 p.m.

Talk to Patrick McAndrew, 55, an unemployed miner.

"We used to have prosperous times here. But we're a dying town now. We have mostly funerals. No christenings."

★ ★ ★

Last year the community's only church, St. Mary Magdalen's Roman Catholic church, baptized five babies, the total number born during the year. Twelve adults, ll more than 50, were burd.ie a all more than 50, were buried.

★ ★ ★

The pastor of the church, Father Frederick Melley, will tell you the town started dying about 10 years ago.

At one time we had as many as 350 families in our parish. Now we have 110."

★ ★ ★

In the Lost Creek area more than 5,000 jobs have disappeared since shortly after World War II.

Why do the few young people stay?

SAVINGS FED UP

"The same reason we older 50, an ex-coal miner who travels 80 miles to his new work. We like our homes and we have all our savings tied up in them."

Barrett would be willing to move if he could sell his house or if he could get what he thinks it is worth from the strip mine operators now working in the area.

★ ★ ★

McAndrew and Barrett express the fear that grips the community—a fear the community will lose everything.

★ ★ ★

Electric Power Cut Off in Tampa as Car Hits Pole

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A young wife crashed her car into a utility pole Monday and caused the biggest electric power failure in the city since Hurricane Donna last year.

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Student rioters protesting a rise in gasoline prices stoned the building of the government organ La Nacion Monday night and set fire to its photo-engraving plant, it was reported today.

★ ★ ★

The extent of the damage was not immediately known.

Brushes Off Suit by Hoffa

Million-Dollar Libel Action Regarded as 'Amusing' by Meany

DETROIT (UPI — AFL-CIO President George Meany brushed off as "very amusing" a million-dollar libel and slander suit brought Monday against himself and most of the top AFL-CIO leadership by James R. Hoffa and the Teamsters Union.

The suit was filed in U.S. District Court here. It charged that Meany and 24 AFL-CIO Executive Council members falsely tried to portray Hoffa as "a perpetrator of a fraud" on American labor for the purpose of causing "hatred" of the Teamsters and holding them up to "public scorn, contempt, aversion, odium and ridicule."

It also contended that Meany and the AFL-CIO council made "wicked and malicious" statements about the Teamsters in a conspiracy to raid the Teamsters' ranks of members.

The actual purpose of these statements, the suit claimed, was to make a "smoke screen" to hide what it termed the AFL-CIO's "true condition as a tottering house of labor."

The charges were based in part on a statement attributed to Meany after a proposal to readmit the Teamsters was voted down at an Oct. 10 meeting of the AFL-CIO council.

Meany was quoted in the suit as saying that there was "every indication that the Teamsters Union was "more than ever now under the influence of criminal and corrupt elements."

Meat Packers Sign Contracts

New Labor Agreements Put Accent on Worker Security

CHICAGO (AP)—Contracts that put the accent on worker security have been completed with the major firms in the nation's meat packing industry.

★ ★ ★

Unions reported today that agreements have been reached with the national concerns. Negotiations now are in progress with smaller companies.

WORRIED ABOUT JOBS

The round of talks started last summer. Unions were worried about a drop of 30,000 in employment in slaughtering plants in five years. The reason: packers are modernizing with new plant layouts, new equipment and new processes that require less manpower.

Contracts reflect that trend.

A provision that has been termed unique in the packing field is a prime feature of the contracts between Armour & Co. and two unions, the United Packinghouse, Food and Allied Workers and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen.

It is called technological adjustment pay. Workers with at least five years seniority who are displaced by mechanized progress will receive $65 a week—minus unemployment compensation and any earnings from other jobs. The benefits will be paid for 26 to 39 weeks, depending on seniority. To be eligible, a worker must sign up for transfer to another Armour plant.

BRUNSWICK, Germany (AP)—An original Rembrandt, stolen nearly two years ago from West Berlin's Dahlem Art Museum, has turned up in a baggage locker of the Brunswick railroad station, police reported Monday.

They said they found the masterpiece, "Christ's Head," valued at $62,500, last Sunday after an anonymous telephone caller told them where to look. It was wrapped in a thick layer of newspapers and was undamaged, police added.

Thailand, Cambodia Urged to Settle Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department has appealed to Thailand and Cambodia for "statesmanlike" settlement of their differences in the face of a common threat from Communism.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White said Monday the United States holds both Cambodia's chief of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk and Thailand's Prime Minister Sarit Thanarat "in high esteem."

He said the United States did not have any information, to his knowledge, supporting Sarit's charges which touched off the latest flare-up in the Thai-Cambodian feud.

Sarit said in a speech Friday that the Communists planned to use Cambodia as a "jumping off place for attacks on neighboring countries." He also sharply criticized "a certain leader of certain country," which an aide identified as Shianouk and Cambodia.

McGuffeys Must Go, Rules School Chief

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The school board in the community of Twin Lakes has been told its McGuffey Readers must go.

State Supt. of Public Instruction Angus B. Rothwell, in a letter to the board ordered the books, first printed in 1879, dropped even as supplementary texts.

Rothwell said he has the authority to improve schools, exclude sectarian books, and to withhold state financial aids from schools not meeting standards.

The board at Twin Lakes, in Southeast Wisconsin, voted 4-1 last August to adopt the book as its basic reader. After a protest by parents, the board voted last week to drop the McGuffeys to the role of "supplementary readers" after taping over sectarian sections.

Police Fire on Mob in Peru; Man Killed

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Police opened fire Monday night on a group of striking teachers and university students breaking automobile windows during a demonstration outside the congress building. One man was killed and three were wounded.

The teachers are striking for higher salaries. The government announced pay increases but some of the strikers said they were not enough.

Twelve of the teachers had been on a hunger strike for five days. Such strikes are illegal in Peru, and police hauled the 12 to a hospital and had them fed forcibly Monday.

Zulu Chieftain to Accept Prize

Will Try for Passport to Go to Oslo Dec. 10, Despite Restrictions

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)—Zulu chieftain Albert Luthuli prepared today to apply for a South African passport in order to accept the 1960 Nobel Peace Prize in person.

Luthuli, 62, has been restricted to an area on the northern coast of the province of Natal since 1959 because of his opposition to South Africa's apartheid laws.

He learned he had won the prize Monday when he came home from cutting cane on his 44-acre farm.

Many Africans have been punished for their beliefs in freedom and justice, Luthuli said.

"We had not had many material triumphs but kept the spirit of freedom alive in ourselves and in others," he said.

"Now comes this new encouragement which makes us thank God and all our brothers throughout the world for remembering us."

The government restrictions on Luthuli, which have two more years to run, include a prohibition against his taking part in any political activities.

Luthuli said Monday he felt the Nobel Prize was meant for all Africans on the continent "who have tried to attain freedom along peaceful lines." He announced he would seek permission to travel to Oslo Dec. 10.

Plan to Modernize State Phone System

LANSING (AP)— Plans for modernization of the state government telephone system in Lansing have been announced by State Controller Ira J. Polley.

The new service will provide major state agencies with a combined dial system for inward and outward dialing and complete intercommunication between state offices. One central telephone number also will be provided for major state agencies.

The new system is scheduled to be installed by early next summer and will mean a savings of several thousand dollars a year, Polley said.

The weekly cost of family allowances in Canada is about $10 million.

U.N. Worthy of Praise for 16 Years of Service

Today the United Nations is celebrating its sixteenth birthday and undoubtedly this year will be the most trying to date. At the moment this international body has no real leader.

★ ★ ★

Over the years it has grown in size, strength and determination. Its ability to grow in wisdom through each succeeding international crisis has enabled it to gain the respect of the world.

★ ★ ★

Where it presently lacks the military strength to enforce its democratically approved decisions, it does have the force of world public opinion which few nations may not long ignore.

Too, its 101 members have the power, jointly or singly, to bring political and economic sanctions to bear upon those who would attempt to defy it.

The problems facing the world today are at an all-time high and to stop the Communist take over is a serious and critical business. To try and stabilize the many explosive situations that have arisen in recent years is a tremendous undertaking.

The U. N. has displayed great determination to work and help bring about peace around the globe. In a great many instances it is directly responsible for raising the standards of living in some of the lesser developed countries.

Through the United Nations much valuable technical and economic assistance has been given which has affected the lives of millions of people.

More than 83 per cent of the colonial peoples of the world have obtained their freedom, mainly through the efforts of the U. N.

Should U.S. Troops Be Sent to Viet Nam?

U.S. troops to Viet Nam is the $64 question which looms as potentially bigger than Berlin.

In all probability, we would be fighting today in the jungles of South Viet Nam were it not for the opposition of President Ngo DINH DIEM. Our troops would be a tacit admission that Diem was incapable of maintaining order in his own country.

For a regime that is already shaky this could be fatal.

The Kennedy administration decided last spring that, though no U.S. troops would be committed to the defense of Laos, it would not acquiesce in a Communist take over of South Viet Nam.

The President sent Vice President JOHNSON to study the situation. He talked with DIEM who said at the time that he would be satisfied with some increases in military supplies and American training facilities, plus funds to increase the size of his Army.

Recently DIEM has acknowledged that the struggle has grown, but as recently as Oct. 10 he assured American officials that he could handle the present threat. We are inclined to doubt this.

Now General Maxwell D. Taylor, President Kennedy's military representative is off to South Viet Nam on another fact-finding mission. It may well be that Taylor's task is to warn Diem that time is running out for him unless he calls for more direct aid.

In recent days the struggle has grown from guerrilla action to practically "real war." It now appears that our Government feels that sooner or later we'll be sending U.S. troops there. Probably we can't fend it off for another year.

Already it is a big little war and the Reds are tougher all the time. It's a messy and treacherous situation that does not appear to have an easy answer.

★ ★ ★

The fall of Viet Nam would be a calamity which the KENNEDY administration could not easily explain away on the ground that the DIEM government had not asked for troops in time.

The robins are ganging up by thousands, possibly for a southern migration, according to that very observant nature student, who says he encountered one such gathering in a Pontiac area rural section the other day. They were so numerous that they impeded traffic. Formerly this red breaster, state bird of Michigan, has been a rugged individualist, and did not gather in flocks.

Back from a Northern Peninsula vacation trip,

A House Built on Rock

David Lawrence Says Now It Comes Out:

U.S. Well Fortified for Retaliation

WASHINGTON — Sometimes it takes months for facts — even though reassuring — to permeate the consciousness of the American people. Maybe it's because those facts aren't properly launched in the first place.

LAWRENCE

An important speech was made last Saturday night by Roswell L. Gilpatric, deputy secretary of defense. It was "cleared for publication" by the President of the United States —which means he made the decision that its contents should be broadcast to the world.

Secretary of State Rusk said on Sunday that he went over the speech with Gilpatric before it was made and that the speech "served a very useful purpose."

Gilpatric's speech is the first statement of the true military power of the United States that has been issued in recent years.

It was released at this time undoubtedly to impress the Soviet Union, but one wonders how many misconceptions of American military power have been allowed to form in Nikita Khrushchev's mind heretofore because he never was told the facts or because some politicians in America sought to draw the picture of a weak America.

Gilpatric's carefully chosen words are truly startling. He says:

"The United States has today hundreds of manned intercontinental bombers capable of reaching the Soviet Union, including 600 heavy bombers and many more medium bombers equally capable of intercontinental operations because of our highly developed in-flight refueling techniques and worldwide base structure."

This is a lot of information packed into a single paragraph, but it is accompanied by facts even more meaningful, as follows:

"The United States also has six Polaris submarines at sea carrying a total of 96 missiles, and dozens of intercontinental ballistic missiles. Our carrier strike forces (naval aircraft carriers) and land-based theater forces (overseas air bases) could deliver additional hundreds of megatons.

"The total number of our nuclear delivery vehicles, tactical as well as strategic, is in the tens of thousands; and, of course, we have more than one warhead for each vehicle.

"Our forces are so deployed (located) and protected that a sneak attack could not effectively disarm us.

"The destructive power which the United States could bring to bear even after a Soviet surprise attack upon our forces would be as great as—perhaps greater than—the total undamaged force which the enemy can threaten to launch against the United States in a first strike.

"In short, we have a second strike capability which is at least as extensive as what the Soviets can deliver by striking first. Therefore, we are confident that the Soviets will not provoke a major nuclear conflict."

★ ★ ★

The preceding statement means that, if the Soviet Union strikes first, she cannot hope to destroy our power to strike back. When America does strike back, her power of destruction is so great that it will be more devastating in the damage inflicted on Soviet Russia and her people than the first blow against the United States would be.

THERE'S HOPE

Now it comes out — Americans need not be so terrified as so many have been that the "first blow" would be fatal and that it might be better to appease the Soviets after all.

The administration's frank disclosure is a significant move in the "Cold War." It should have a sobering effect in Moscow.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Diabetes Went to Her Feet for She Didn't Take Care

A reader writes me that her friend died of diabetes. Her friend never took care of her feet, and the doctor said that's why she got so bad — it went to her feet. What has sugar to do with the feet, and what are the symptoms of diabetes, the reader asks. Symptoms? In a health column? Instead, I'll quote the American Diabetes Association, Inc., says are signals which point to the possible existence of diabetes:

DR. BRADY

Excessive thirst
Excessive urination
Loss of weight
Intense itching
Excessive hunger
Changes in vision
Easy tiring
Pain in the extremities
Slow healing of cuts and bruises.

Diagnosis of diabetes is made on finding sugar (glucose, dextrose) in the urine and too much sugar (glucose, dextrose) in the blood. Remember that in a healthy person there is always a certain amount of sugar (blood sugar, glucose, dextrose) in the blood—from 12 milligrams per 100 cc. during fasting to 20 milligrams per 100 cc. after a full meal.

For every four cases of diabetes recognized by physicians, whether the patients are under treatment or not, there are at least three other cases undiagnosed either because physicians neglect to test the urine for sugar because the diabetic individuals choose to "try" this and that nostrum or just worry along without medical advice.

Most likely to have diabetes are people in whose family are known diabetics, people past forty, and people who are overweight.

Diabetic gangrene occurs in the feet of overweight individuals past middle age who have had diabetes for years. It usually begins in a toe or around a callus following some slight injury. Often, indeed, a sore toe is the first sign of unsuspected diabetes.

DON'T CUT CORNS

On account of the tendency of gangrene in diabetes one who has the disease should never attempt to cut corns or remove calluses or treat ingrown nail. Any such trouble should be treated by a qualified chiropodist, one the physician will recommend.

The tendency of gangrene or other complication to occur is minimized by careful regulation of the diet and by proper use of insulin or, for patients past 40, orinase, which, in many cases, is as effective as insulin and so much more acceptable to the patient because it is taken by mouth, in tablet form.

In this piece I am trying to say only what I think may be good and nothing I think may do harm. For anyone with more than general interest in diabetes I have a booklet titled Training for Diabetes. For a copy send me 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of The Pontiac Press.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Snoring Isn't Always Humorous

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case K-432: Roger B., aged 31, has been married only one year.

"Dr. Crane, he has only one real fault," his new bride informed me, "but it is driving me crazy."

DR. CRANE

"Roger snores! And that wakes me. I nudge him gently with my elbow and he rolls over on his side. Then he stops the snoring.

"But I barely get to sleep again before he is lying on his back once more and shattering the night with those awful noises.

"He sounds just like those saws they use at a lumber yard. And I lose so much sleep that I am irritable and jittery next morning.

★ ★ ★

"He says I have 'coffee nerves,' but I have quit coffee and still I am upset. So I know it is all due to his snoring. How can I break him of this habit?"

SNORING ADVICE

Dr. Morris Fishbein has estimated that there are 19,000,000 snorers in this country. Unfortunately, this affliction doesn't bother its victim.

No siree! It's the other occupant of the bedroom who suffers! So there must be close to 19,000,000 innocent victim's like Roger's wife.

Our great psychologist, Dr. Donald A. Laird, once measured the noise that snorers produce and found that it went as high as 40 decibels, which equals the racket in a busy street or noisy office.

Since the lower jaw tends to sag and thus pull the lips apart, you can often check the snoring by wearing an elastic mask. Even a rubber strip, as from an old inner tube, may serve as a makeshift device to solve the problem.

And to prevent the patient's sleeping on his back, they sell a rubber ball which has a whistle inside. This is fastened to the back of his pajamas.

Then, whenever he rolls on his back, the rubber ball is squeezed and then produces a sharp whistle, thereby wakening the snorer.

HORSE SENSE

Back in colonial days, they simply sewed a wooden spool on the back of the snorer's nightshirt. Whenever he rolled on his back, this spool proved so uncomfortable it would waken him.

Everybody may snore if he sleeps on his back. Some people, like myself for example, sleep on their abdomen with one cheek or the other flat on the mattress, so we escape censure for snoring.

But I have been accused of snoring if I fall asleep in a reclining chair. So snoring is not due to an anatomical defect, but to a habit of sleeping on one's back or in a chair where one's chin will sag.

If you snorers will omit your pillow, this straightening of the head may be enough to solve the problem.

But many fat people can't sleep comfortable without a pillow, so they better use a face mask or put a rubber strip under their chin.

Since divorces and even murders have been attributed to snoring, be on guard. But a husband who satisfies his wife's erotic hunger will leave her so relaxed, his snoring will seldom awaken her.

Since it is often the jittery, unsatisfied wives who lie awake

It may let you husbands continue snoring with impunity.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People:

Newspapers' Accuracy in Reporting Questioned

Your item in the Department of Cheers and Jeers probably caused a lot more thought than it did laughs. I refer to the jeers: "Jack Paar for giving the United States 24 hours to get out of town." I was under the impression that The Pontiac Press stood for truth and honesty.

★

I would ask again, as I did in a previous letter, which was not printed, how could three major New York City newspapers and the two Detroit daily newspapers report that the former Secretary General of the United Nations had met with a Katanga Province official after landing at a Ndola airport in Rhodesia when the man never landed there?

★ ★ ★

He was not there because he was already dead in an airplane crash!

★ ★ ★

Mr. Paar has touched a tender spot. Members of your own profession have been telling lies and evidently you condone them. You certainly haven't said you don't approve. It just makes a reader wonder.

Mrs. Sireta Neighbors

Oxford

(Editor's note: World news services and private correspondents bungled on this Hammarskjold item. After the airplane in question landed, the control tower announced Hammarskjold was descending the steps. He was further identified by a British correspondent. Reporters accepted this as official and raced to file dispatches.

Later the Associated Press filed a correction and explained the blunder—which it was. The Pontiac Press did not print the item in question but we recognize that it's highly regrettable. We face the AP error squarely. However, the incident merely emphasized the tremendous accuracy of the Associated Press in general. It's really incredible.

And just to keep the record straight on errors and accuracy, the letter above says her previous communication wasn't printed. Madam, it ran Oct. 10.)

'Strap Would Work Wonders in Schools'

I come out strongly for a return of the "strap" in schools. When I attended public school more than 25 years ago, the teachers were able to spend their time teaching. If a pupil got out of line, a quick trip to the principal's office and a taste of the strap soon cured him. I speak from experience. For the last six years I have worked with children. I know kids. I feel they are not entirely to blame for this whole issue. What about putting the blame where the child stems from — the home?

Three Brothers Sent to Prison for City Burglary

Minimum sentences of one year in Jackson Prison were passed on the three Scribner brothers of Pontiac today in Circuit Court for burglarizing the Moose Lodge in Pontiac last May.

In passing sentence on Anthony, 19, and Larry, 18, both of 44 Forest Ave., and Charles Scribner, 23, of 900 Mt. Clemens area, Judge William J. Beer said "I have entirely ignored your past records, feeling that you should be judged for this crime alone."

The brothers were found guilty at their trial Oct. 5. They had been apprehended inside the building by Pontiac police after closing time.

Judge Beer directed that the three brothers not be released simultaneously from prison and that they are not to associate with each other while on parole.

UAW Aiming at Local Units

Head Back to Chrysler Hoping 'Only Few Will Be Out of Fold Tonight'

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union headed back to the Chrysler Corp. bargaining table today with the announced intention of reaching agreement at most key local bargaining units.

The UAW said Monday night it had settled with Chrysler at 42 local bargaining units. The union says it has 88 local units at Chrysler, while the firm figures there are 102.

Norman Matthews, UAW vice president who heads the union's Chrysler department, said that by tonight "There should be only eight or 10 key plants left."

Subcommittee meetings were scheduled this morning, followed by a general session this afternoon as Chrysler and the UAW try to reach agreement on a new three-year contract.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, said, however, "We've got some real tough ones left. Some key plants are quite close, some are not."

* * *

The union has reversed the bargaining tactics it used at General Motors and Ford. The UAW is trying to settle local problems before coming to grips with national issues of wages and fringe benefits. Strikes hit both GM and Ford because of local issues after national economic agreements had been reached.

NO DEADLINE SET

Reuther has said he hopes to wrap up the entire Chrysler package by Friday night, when the executive council of the international union is scheduled to meet.

No strike deadline has been set at Chrysler.

* * *

Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, was sent to Twinsburg, Ohio, to help iron out problems at a Chrysler assembly plant there.

Top union and company officials met for three hours Monday and discussed noneconomic portions of the national contract.

Meanwhile, the UAW sent Leonard Woodcock, a vice president, and Brendon Sexton, Reuther's administrative assistant, to Kenosha, Wis., to help sell the union's historic profit-sharing agreement with American Motors Corp. to members of Local 72 at the AMC assembly plant. The local rejected the contract Oct. 8 and the UAW has ordered another vote. No date for the second vote has been set.

AMC Vice President Edward Cushman and George C. Cullen, the firm's labor relations director, also went to Kenosha. They were invited by local 72 leaders to help sell the new contract to the members.

Water Storage to Be Studied

Waterford Twp. Board Told of Extra Amount Needed for Mall

Waterford Township Board members were informed by Water Supt. Kenneth Squires that the township's largest water system was in "critical" condition due to lack of storage space.

In a detailed report, Squires pointed out the deficiency of well capacity and elevated storage particularly in the near future when 22 new services will be connected to the Pontiac Mall Shopping Center.

* * *

At present there are 2,627 connections serving approximately 9,195 in Water System 1 in the Huron Gardens area.

The board decided to proceed with financial consultants and determine just how much the township may require for two supply tanks to alleviate the water problem in that section.

In other business, about 25 residents from the LaSalle Park Subdivision were present—some protesting and others for—the establishment of a special street lighting district.

* * *

A public hearing on the project was held from 7 to 9 p.m. for the 430 assessments which would require $4.58 apiece annually.

After more than an hour of discussion, the board finally postponed the hearing to Jan. 8, so that new petitions could be circulated.

* * *

The board approved the rezoning of five lots of Cass Lake Highlands Subdivision from recreation to residential, and rezoned 35 feet of seven lots in the Floradale Subdivision from residential to commercial.

Rehearing Is Ordered in Suit Against Diggs

DETROIT (AP) — A rehearing has been set for Friday on a suit accusing Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr., D-Mich., and his father of fraud in handling insurance company funds.

Mrs. Lida Glover of Detroit said Monday Circuit Judge Joseph A. Moynihan Jr., was in error when he dismissed the original suit Oct. 9 on the grounds he had no jurisdiction. Moynihan ordered the rehearing.

Seek to Develop UP Industry

Leaders Air Possibility for Economic Growth; Swainson Hears Plans

ESCANABA (AP) — Gov. Swainson met with 40 leaders of business and research Monday to survey industrial development of Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Swainson said organization was the first need for economic growth. He cited a recent request for a $150,000 state appropriation as a way in which the state could assist development of industry in the Upper Peninsula.

Leaders of industry and education forecast growth in the wood and mineral industries.

* * *

F. H. Werling, vice president of Kimberly Clark Corp., said his firm has two developments planned which could boost consumption of Upper Peninsula hardwood.

Mill expansion is under way at Kimberly Clark's Niagara, Wis., mill and when completed it is expected to boost the mill's consumption of Upper Peninsula hardwoods, Werling said.

He also revealed Kimberly Clark plans to build an experimental pulping mill at Munising or in Wisconsin that may create a larger demand for hardwood.

ORES RESEARCH

Earl Golin, director of ores research at Michigan Tech, said Tech researchers are investigating the possibility of direct reduction of iron ore. He added that some Upper Peninsula ore can be used only if such a process is developed.

Ted Derse, general manager of Escanaba's Harnischfeger Corp., which produces excavators, said his company has 1,200 job applications on file, an indication of the Upper Peninsula unemployment situation.

Ask Early Vote on Walled Lake School Needs

Citizens Group Favors Bond Issue and Tax Hike

By JIM LONG

WALLED LAKE — An early vote on a proposed $2.4-million school bond issue and three-mill tax increase was urged of the Walled Lake Board of Education last night by a citizens study committee on school needs.

A decision on the two proposals and vote is expected to be made following a review of the recommendations by the school board at a special meeting next week. No date has been scheduled for the special session.

Four detailed reports, the results of a 6-month survey of school facilities, were presented to school board members at a meeting in the Walled Lake High School.

Included in the reports on senior, junior, elementary and service facilities were plans for new construction, renovation and remodeling of existing facilities and proposed purchase and improvement of sites.

Tentative estimates indicate the over-all construction program would cost property owners an additional 3 or 3½ mills annually over the present school tax of $20.35 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

★ ★ ★

Should the school board decide to schedule a vote on the original recommendations of the citizens committee, it probably would be necessary to ask for the three additional mills plus a continuation of two mills for operation which expires in December, said School Supt. Clifford H. Smart.

★ ★ ★

Of the total current tax levy, the school district receives 8.35 mills from the county as its share of school funds, six mills for operating and six mills for debt retirement.

OUTLINES EXTRA MILLS

The proposed tax schedule will have the district receiving the same amount from the county but would have two more mills for operation and one additional mill for debt service.

★ ★ ★

Attention was given elementary facilities with a projected 5-year enrollment estimate that showed an increase of 390 pupils by 1965, for a total of 4,168.

It was pointed out that this school year four sixth grade classes occupy space in junior high school buildings.

By September 1962, 10 elementary classrooms will be needed, four to take care of those in the junior highs and an additional tax for the increased enrollment.

★ ★ ★

Three additional elementary classrooms were proposed to be built the next two succeeding years and one in 1965.

TALK OF NEW SCHOOL

The citizens group recommended the school board consider a new elementary school with a maximum of 20 classrooms. A site for the new school was not proposed.

The senior high school committee recommended that the facility be renovated and remodeled to handle a capacity of 1,600 students. Currently there is an enrollment of 1,200.

Another recommendation that will be investigated further is the proposed construction of a $400,000 auditorium at the senior high school.

★ ★ ★

Recommendations for the junior high school included the addition of a physical education room and the addition of a dual home economics, cafeteria, drafting and faculty room. Also proposed was an addition to the shop.

★ ★ ★

The service facilities study showed that the administration office and garage-central maintenance facility are inadequate.

★ ★ ★

It was proposed that the administration and garage facilities be housed in a new building somewhere in or near Walled Lake and the maintenance shop be housed in the present bus garage.

Says Not Guilty to Ax Charge

Rochester Man Is Out on Bond in Alleged Attack on Wife

Accused of attacking his wife with an ax, a 65-year-old Rochester man pleaded not guilty in circuit court yesterday to a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

C. O. George, 147 Highland St., will remain free on $20,000 bond pending the outcome of a pretrial hearing, Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland ruled.

The hearing is expected to come up before Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams during the November-December Court session.

George is accused by his wife of attacking her with an ax Sept. 11. She quoted him as screaming, "This is the day I'm going to kill you," during the course of an argument between them in their home.

Attracted by the woman's screams, neighbors chased off George, who became the object of a two-day search by police and sheriff's deputies. They found him at a relative's home.

Mrs. George was admitted to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac with multiple cuts and bruises on her head and arms. She has since recovered.

Seek to Settle Problems

Troy Appoints CD Board

By ROBERT NESTER

In its major action last night, the Troy City Commission created a five-man committee to hammer out an effective civil defense organization for Troy.

★ ★ ★

The study committee is composed of Mayor Robert J. Huber, Mayor Pro Tem Vincent J. Mc-Avoy, City Manager David E. Firestone, present Civil Defense Director Clarence F. Long and a representative to be appointed by the school board.

This group will meet to iron out differences of opinion on authority and duties of civil defense administration.

Long charged in a half-hour speech from the floor that past division of interest between the commission and his own organization has resulted in Troy's slowness to have an effective civil defense program.

Huber denied that "politics" were involved in the commission's organization of civil defense. He stated that the "dissension" which Long attributed to the commission was instead due to his own public statement regarding the alleged indifference of department heads (police and fire chiefs, etc.) about civil defense.

HEATED DEBATE

Heated debate began when the mayor opened discussion on civil defense with the announcement that he is presently enrolled in a series of classes at the University of Micnigan dealing with problems of civil defense as it affects the community.

In a talk with R. S. D'Amelio, acting head of Michigan Civil Defense, Huber said he was told that community civil defense must be integrated and subordinated to existing government just as police or fire protection.

Huber demanded that Troy's civil defense be organized on this principle and charged that Long's department had acted without due regard for the City Commission's lawful authority.

LONG'S CHALLENGE

Long's challenge on civil defense's autonomy rested on the statement that the commission should "keep an eye" on civil defense but should pay more attention to its own immediate duties of governing the city.

He recommended the appointment of a 10-man "policy and advisory" committee, under the civil defense director, to review matters of difference between the director or his deputy and a "technical staff" who would initiate programs for the organization.

In addition, Long outlined five areas of CD activity. These would be emergency, a training, medical, administrative and area manpower coordination departments of the overall civil defense effort.

'BURY THE HATCHET'

In closing, Long repeated his plea to "bury the (alleged political) hatchet" and to "get away from these petty things," referring to the commission's insistence upon his previous failure to submit adequate written reports on the progress of his civil defense programs.

Huber set Nov. 2 as the date for a visit of D'Amelio and two other men from the State Civil Defense organization to meet and instruct the commission on all aspects of the community Civil Defense organization.

★ ★ ★

This meeting will clear up all misunderstandings about the purpose, organization and operation of civil defense, the mayor said.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Easlick Wins Mayor's OK; Back In as Consultant

SOUTHFIELD — The City Council last night again hired Gerald Easlick as assessing consultant — this time, however, with the support of Mayor S. James Clarkson.

How long Easlick will be able to keep the post is questionable.

His present contract is a revision of the original contract which states that he is to provide technical advice and assistance to the assessor's office, council and the board of review, pending appointment and approval of a city assessor.

The former city assessor was fired in June by Clarkson over disagreements in assessing procedures.

The council then hired Easlick as assessing consultant but Clarkson refused to sign the contract.

WITHOUT PAY

For the past eight weeks Easlick has been working without pay.

Clarkson indicated to the council last week that he would approve Easlick's appointment, provided that it would be on his terms.

Also, Clarkson wants an outside appraising firm hired to do a partial reappraisal of the city to aid Easlick in his work.

The reappraisal would be on vacant land in the city zoned now or in the future for commercial or industrial use.

The mayor asked the council if his approval of Easlick as assessing consultant would squash the suit which the council had threated over the controversial issue of the mayor's veto powers.

The council agreed that it would.

The city clerk was directed to pay Easlick the salary due him today.

New Patrolman Added to Romeo's Police Force

ROMEO — The village police commission last night hired a new full-time patrolman and set up a program of training for future police officers.

The hiring of Arthur L. Banghart, 248 Ewell St., brings the present force up to four.

The special training program is designed to train part-time police employes who can fill permanent posts when vacancies occur.

★ ★ ★

It is also geared to offer property owners more security and provide added safety for school children, commission members said.

Methodist Women Set Dinner at the Church

ORION TOWNSHIP — The Woman's Society of Christian Service will serve a dinner at the Howarth Methodist Church, Bald Mountain and Silver Bell roads at 5 p.m. tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Home baked goods and small articles will be on sale. Proceeds will go toward buying a parsonage.

U.N. Winners Picked by Rochester Council

ROCHESTER — Just prior to last night's regular meeting, village councilmen judged entries in United Naitons Day poster, flag-drawing and essay contests for local grade school children.

The judging was a forerunner to today's area-wide observance of the 16th birthday of the U.N. to be held at 8 p. m. in the Municipal Building, 400 Sixth St.

Winner of the flag-making contest was Brenda Sigman of 335 Walnut Boulevard. A sixth grader at McGregor Elementary School, she fashioned an Ethiopian flag out of colored paper.

In the "U.N.-We Believe" poster contest, first place honor was awarded to Debbie Perkins of 427 Tienken Road. She is a third grader at Woodward School.

Judged the best entry in the U.N. Day message competition was that of Judy Taylor, who is in the sixth grade at Baldwin School.

DR. APPLETON TO SPEAK

Tonight's U.N. Day program, co-sponsored by the village council and the Rochester League of Women Voters, will feature an address by Dr. Sheldon Appleton, who teaches in the area studies and political studies programs at Michigan State University Oakland.

The topic of Dr. Appleton's address is "The U.N. at Not-So-Sweet Sixteen."

Jay Eldred, village president, will deliver a tribute to the late U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

Following introductory remarks by Eldred, ninth grade students from Central Junior High School, led by Bernard Leshley, will sing international sings.

Mrs. William C. Chapman, LWV president, will explain the league's concern for the U.N. organization.

A question and answer period will follow Dr. Appleton's address.

In the council meeting that followed the U. N. contest judging, members decided to encourage the building of fallout shelters by either waiving building permit fees or charging a token fee of one dollar.

The village attorney and manager were instructed to draw up a suitable resolution for family shelters, in which it will be specified that they meet Office of Civil Defense Mobilization specifications.

Another condition will be that the shelters meet local building requirements.

By drawing up the resolution, council members said their chief aim is to show village concern for the public's safety and not to determine whether the shelters will be adequate or not.

They also want the resolution to be flexible enough to allow new federal regulations to be incorporated.

Approval was given to village manager Paul York's proposal to change the water and sewer ordinance to bring fees more in line with actual costs and give better control over services being replaced.

Local contractor Frank Rewold was named to fill a vacancy on the village's zoning board of appeals. The five present members were reappointed for another three years.

They are Francis King, Leslie Aris, Neil Rosso, Charles Melick and Leslie Jones.

The program, to be held in the Walled Lake Junior High School, is open to the public.

Roberts, who was a member of the interim committee on mental health this summer, will speak on legislation in regard to the mentally retarded.

There will be a Christmas booth, a toy booth and a country store with home-made candies and antiques.

Red Congress Reveals Flaws in K's Plans

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Events of the 22nd Communist Party Congress in Moscow have disclosed important, although not necessarily fatal, weaknesses in the house Nikita Khrushchev is attempting to build.

The weaknesses are both economic and political.

On the political side was his attack on Albania for that little country's continued adherence to the "Stalinist cult" first denounced by Khrushchev at the party's 20th congress in 1956.

Khrushchev's attack in effect was an invitation for the removal of Gen. Enver Hoxha as Albania's strongman.

★ ★ ★

Accompanying it also have been rumors that Albania already has been read out of the Warsaw Pact nations, the Russian and satellite counterpart of NATO.

CHOU DISAGREES

With one important exception, other leaders followed Khrushchev to the speaker's stand to continue the attacks on Albania. That important exception was Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

For two days, Chou had sat on his hands while other delegates vigorously applauded not only Khrushchev's attacks on Albania but also his renewed attacks on the antiparty group which Khrushchev purged from high office in 1957.

There were important ties. The antiparty group led by V. M. Molotov, former Premier Georgi Malenkov and other opposed Khrushchev on his plans for decentralization of industry and peaceful coexistence with the West.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev's coexistence theme also is the basis for opposition now from Red China and Albania.

So, when Chou took the stand, he not only listed Albania among Red China's friends but also remonstrated Khrushchev for washing the party's dirty linen in public.

In a harsh attack against the United States, he also in effect once more renounced the coexistence theme.

BIG DEPARTURE

When Khrushchev triumphed in 1957 over attempts by the "antiparty" elements to oust him as first secretary of the Communist party, he made one important departure from the practices of Josef Stalin. The purged leaders are still alive, although relegated to retirement or minor posts.

However, in his renewed attacks against them, Khrushchev indicated their influence has not disappeared entirely.

In his lengthy review of party affairs, Khrushchev also recalled the 1957 ouster of Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov as minister of defense.

In his charge that Zhukov attempted to lead the army away from party leadership, Khrushchev left open the possibility that elements of opposition to the party still remain in the army and needed a warning.

Despite rosy promises of a future still 20 years away for the Soviet people, Khrushchev admitted failure in certain other areas of his program.

He admitted continuing meat shortages, a confession that agricultural results have been disappointing.

MSU to Build Big Cyclotron

University Also to Get New, Faster Electronic Computer

EAST LANSING (AP) — A pair of new machines at Michigan State University is expected to:

1. Put MSU among the leaders in at least one area of nuclear and electronic research.

2. Give the university one of the nation's best computing laboratories.

3. Draw research-orientated industry to the state.

The machines are a 50-million-watt-range cyclotron and a new electronic computer. The cyclotron is expected to be 10 times better than present models of the same size in most applications, said Vice President Milton E. Muelder. The computer will be faster and more versatile than the present 4-year-old MISTIC (Michigan State Integral Computer), spokesmen said.

The university has received a $700,000 grant for construction of the cyclotron and a $400,000 grant to help purchase the computer, both from the National Science Foundation.

William R. Carlyon, division manager for the Consumers Power Co., and chairman of the Greater Lansing Chamber of Commerce Industrial Development Committee, said:

★ ★ ★

"This is not only a big step in the research of what the atom can do for people, but it will give significant help in the attraction of electronics related industry to the community."

The cyclotron was designed at Michigan State by Dr. Henry G. Blosser and Dr. Morton M. Gordon.

Both are veterans of the Oak Ridge, Tenn., National Laboratory.

The cyclotron, to cost an estimated $1.25 million, is slated for completion in 1963.

It will enable MSU scientists to carry out basic experimental research on the fundamental interactions that occur when protons and heavy ions strike nuclei of various elements.

It will produce radioactive isotopes which can be used in a wide range of biological and other scientific research.

Only five other cyclotrons of this type are being built in the United States, officials said, and only one has reached the trial stage. Several are under construction in Europe and at least two have been completed in the Soviet Union, spokesmen said.

ABNORMAL AIR WAVES — An official of Japan's Central Meteorological Agency measures scale of abnormal air vibrations on its recorder Monday. The agency announced the vibration is believed to be caused by a 50-megaton nuclear explosion by the Soviet Union. The agency also said an earthquake believed to be caused by the Soviet explosion was felt in Matsushiro, about 20 miles northwest of Tokyo.

Irradiation Therapy to Be Given Rayburn

★ ★

Announcement of the treatment Monday was the first mention that the 79-year-old Texas Democrat has an abdominal tumor. Doctors said after Rayburn entered the hospital Oct. 2 that he was suffering from incurable cancer.

Dr. Ralph Tompsett, chief of internal medicine told a news conference the abdominal tumor has been making Rayburn feel sick.

We consdier this to be a major problem at the moment," Dr. Tompsett said. "We hope the irradiation therapy will be successful, but the chances of success are hard to predict."

Agriculture Dept. Cuts Sugar Import Allocation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department has moved to bolster domestic sugar price by cutting 100,000 tons from import allocations for India, Brazil, and Nationalist China.

In a similar move to reduce supplies reaching the U.S. market, the department on Oct. 13 reduced Peru's 1961 allocation by 30,000 tons. The new cuts were: India, 50,000 tons; Brazil, 30,000 tons; and China, 20,000 tons.

The Worm Will Turn

ALIQUIPPA, Pa. (AP)—There was no school for 3,700 students of the Hopewell-Independence-Raccoon Township school district Monday. Pranksters let the air out of the tires on 25 school buses. But the "holiday" will have to be made up—next June.

What is a

PROTOZOAN?

The study of the protozoan is a part of our scientists' attempt to solve the mysteries of living matter. Their findings could affect the lives of all of us in the years ahead.

For America's well-being we need all the scientists we can develop. Yet many potential scientists may never go on to higher education because there may not be room for them in college. Many colleges are overcrowded and in 10 years applications will double. We will need more and better college laboratories and thousands more of the highest quality professors.

Move Out So Hubby Can Make a Choice

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was faithfully married to a man for 13 years. I did not look at another man because I was satisfied with just him. The feeling was mutual. Then a pretty young redhead started to work in his office. She threw herself at him, and he fell for her.

ABBY

Now he says he can't give her up, but he still loves me, too. In other words, he wants both of us. My world has fallen apart. I can't give him up, either. This has gone on for almost twelve months. What is the solution?

OLD FAITHFUL

★ ★ ★

DEAR OLD FAITHFUL: I am sure you have heard the fable about the donkey that starved to death, while standing between two haystacks, because he couldn't make up his mind which one to eat. Move your haystack, lady, and the donkey won't have such a tough time making a decision.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I certainly do agree with that person who wrote in to say she was disgusted with the way the merchants are rushing the seasons. In July I was invited to a wedding to be held in August, and I couldn't find a decent summer dress to save my neck. Once, when I tried to buy overshoes in March, the clerks looked at me like I was crazy. There was snow three feet deep outside and they were showing "summer sandals." They start in with the Christmas decorations so early that they have pushed Thanksgiving right off the calendar. Where is everyone rushing to?

MAD IN MINNEAPOLIS

DEAR ABBY: We have a problem with our mother. She smokes all the time. She tells us how bad cigaretts are for your health, but she lights one after the other, and coughs and smokes and coughs. She is not very careful, either. Almost every chair and table has little burns in it where she put down her cigaretts and forgot it. We love our mother very much and don't want her to hurt her health. It says in the Bible that you should honor your mother, so how can we tell her?

THE TWINS (age 10)

★ ★ ★

DEAR TWINS: Tell your mother that you love her very much, and want to keep her a long, long time, so would she please try hard to quit smoking. This is one way truly to "honor" her.

Bringing Up Baby®

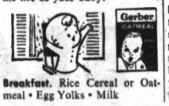

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

When does baby go on a 3-squares-a-day schedule? Usually between 6 and 8 months, depending on your doctor's advice and baby's readiness. Things to remember when you start this new baby routine:

- A 3-meal schedule means a gap of 4 or 5 hours between meals. You can help baby "wait it out" by giving him his Gerber Juice at midmorning—a Gerber Teething Biscuit at midafternoon.
- Reasonable regularity is important, but you don't have to be a complete slave to the clock.

Variety is 'specially important now to keep baby interested in his meals. Gerber offers over 50 delicious varieties for your baby's eating pleasure and nutritional well-being. All are specially prepared to preserve the utmost in flavor and nutritive values. Typical Gerber menus for a day in the life of your baby:

Breakfast. Rice Cereal or Oatmeal • Egg Yolks • Milk

Dinner. Ham or Turkey High Meat Dinner • Peaches • Milk

•

Variety is also important because it exposes baby to the many different foods that help establish good eating habits. And, if baby should balk at one food or another, Gerber offers any number of alternate choices with similar nutritive values. For example: Squash can be substituted for Sweet Potatoes—Chicken Noodle Dinner for Macaroni, Tomato, Beef and Bacon.

•

Point to remember: little appetites usually fare better if you serve small portions . . . and if the mealtime atmosphere is smiling, unhurried and unworried. And bon appetite to both baby and you. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Eating Isn't Everything

It Takes Will to Diet

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The following letter states very simply and sincerely some of the benefits of weight reduction, and also the attitude which is necessary to succeed. This reader says:

★ ★ ★

"I started dieting in January 1961. I weighed 220 pounds. I was so miserable that I could hardly breathe. My muscles ached and I would get up in the morning just as tired as when I went to bed.

"Now, in August 1961, after dieting, I weigh 160 pounds. After a loss of 60 pounds I feel like a woman again. I can even go swimming and not feel conspicuous. I went from a size 24½ dress to a size 18.

"If I can do it, others can. I just decided that eating wasn't everything. I am still working toward my goal of 120 pounds.

"I am writing this letter so that I may inspire others. Please print it in your column, but omit my name."

It is inspiring to read what another woman has done. It makes it seem much more possible to do it yourself, if you need to, doesn't it? It seems to me that the secret of this reader's success is reflected in her statement, "I just decided that eating wasn't everything."

As much as we enjoy it, after all, eating ISN'T everything. In fact, if it is overdone it can spoil some of life's greatest satisfactions. It can lead to lack of self-confidence, to disinterest in personal appearance and to a shy, retiring personality.

It also can lead to fatigue, that great dampener of enthusiasm and vibrant living. I have a friend who is about 30 pounds overweight. He experienced such devastating fatigue that he feared he might have heart trouble and went to see one of the world's famous specialists.

The expert found nothing wrong with his heart, but told him that he would lose his fatigue if he lost his excess poundage. My friend now is working on this project, and is feeling better with every pound he loses. You have to count calories to lose weight.

★ ★ ★

If you would like to have my calorie chart, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 36 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

'Controversial' Reading Material Meets Some Opposition

CHICAGO (UPI)—". . . Communism (attracts) many disappointed idealists who have become convinced that democracy has betrayed its values . . ."

★ ★ ★

Some Americans might agree with this statement. But does it have any place in a seventh or eighth grade reader? Parents and educators are asking questions like this about a relatively new collection of reading material now used in numerous schools across the country.

In Ventura County, Calif., some of the statements made in the reading material have been branded "too controversial" for 12- and 13-year-olds and withdrawn from use in the schools.

In the Chicago suburb of Glencoe, on the other hand, a reading consultant to the town's four elementary schools believes that throwing some controversy into reading matter causes pupils to pay better attention to what they are reading.

The material in question is called "Reading for Understanding" and and is published by Science Research Associates (SRA) in Chicago. It is intended as a teaching tool, like a reading text, for developing improved reading skill.

The material, somewhat comparable to a workbook, consists of 440 cards, each with 10 statements. Some of the statements relate to the social sciences, others to the natural and physical sciences, others to the arts, philosophy and mathematics.

The statements are incomplete and pupils demonstrate their understanding of what they have read by selecting one of four endings to each statement.

MUST BE SELECTED

For example, the statement about communism reads: "It is unwise to underestimate the attraction that communism has for many disappointed idealists who have become convinced that democracy: A—can admit no defects. B—is the hope of the oppressed. C—will work if given a chance. D—has betrayed its values. Only the last ending preserves the sense of the statement. It must be selected for this reason, whether or not pupils or teacher feel the statement is justified or true.

Other statements in the material suggest that many present moral standards may be obsolete; that democracy has failed to bring peace, brotherhood, clean politics or honest, capable officials; and that the United States has sometimes been the aggressor on the world scene.

Dr. Thelma Gwinn Thurstone, professor of education at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, and a noted author of tests, compiled the "Reading for Understanding" material. She took the 4,400 statements in the series from various sources, rewriting some. No attempt was made, she said, to make the statements acceptable as social science or physical science or any other subject as taught at the seventh or eighth grade level.

She said the statements were chosen purely as reading comprehension exercises. They were selected to emphasize points in reasoning, inference, interpretation or meaning.

Dr. George Beauchamp, professor of education at Northwestern University, is among the experts who believe this is good educational practice. He said children are never too young to begin reading controversial material.

"It is propaganda, not education, to show youngsters only one side of a question," Beauchamp said. "I should like to see kindergarten-age children exposed to some controversial ideas in school.

★ ★ ★

"How else are we going to educate a democratic populace to go to the polls and resolve controversy intelligently?".

CONSULTANT AGREES

Mrs. Lillian Stevenson, reading consultant to the Glencoe schools, goes along with Beauchamp's view, but sees some justification for Ventura County fears about the use of controversial reading matter.

"Children do have a tendency to believe that anything in print is true," she said, "particularly if it is used in school."

But Mrs. Stevenson also feels that, by its very controversial nature, some of the SRA material demands careful attention from pupils and improves their reading comprehension.

She said she was impressed by how well the material was prepared for the specific purpose of improving reading rather than testing facts or knowledge of any subject.

"Pupils are less likely to be able to complete controversial statements from their own background of experience," she said.

"So they are forced to read a controversial statement carefully to complete it in such a way as to preserve its meaning rather than express a truism."

John O'Keefe, editor and director of SRA's educational test department, said it was possible the material might contain some overly controversial matter.

NOT TOO MUCH

"But it is unlikely that much of it could be offensive to many teachers," he said. He said at least two editors were assigned to every stage of the material's preparation and that all statements finally used were tested on thousands of school children.

The tests are run, O'Keefe said, to determine whether various statements are too difficult or too elementary for pupils of a given age.

"But the tests also insure that many teachers see the material before it is nationally released and have a chance to complain about any or all of it," he said.

"It is hard to imagine that our staff and all the teachers who preview our material would fail to note anything like a systematic attack on our government or a back-door attempt to propagandize our children," he said.

O'Keefe suggested that if a statement did appear to be controversial, teachers might seize on it as a basis for discussion, thus tying in reading with other subjects.

Numerous teachers in the Chicago area said they were using the material in this way. In Christ the King Catholic School, Sister Mary Suzanne said she found occasional controversial statements most useful as a springboard for launching class discussions of social sciences, in particular.

The material was put on the market three years ago, and has been used increasingly in schools across the country. Many teachers said they urged its purchase on the basis of SRA's reputation in the educational publishing field.

China Leads Lonely Life in U.N.

In 12 years the delegation from Formosa has been snubbed by more colleagues than any other member. It also has been the target of some of the bitterest invective ever heard in U.N. halls.

★ ★ ★

Neutral delegations have sought to portray the Nationalist group as usurpers who rob 600 million people of the right to U. N. representation.

China is one of the five permanent powers in the U.N., with full veto power in the Security Council, but Russia refuses to recognize the Nationalist regime as a rightful member to the United Nations. It contends the seat belongs to the Communist Chinese who took over the mainland in 1949.

FROZEN OUT

It is the only member from the Far East not admitted to the powerful, 47-nation Asian-Africa bloc.

The Nationalists encounter the cold shoulder in other ways.

The U.N. cocktail party is a traditional gathering place for delegates who want to relax or indulge in a little quiet diplomacy. Nationalist delegates are seen at few of the 60 or more parties held during each assembly session.

The Soviet bloc never invites the Nationalists to functions and most Neutrals keep them off their guest lists. Parties given by the Nationalists are sparsely attended.

The freeze is most apparent in the General Assembly and its seven main committees.

Under U.N. procedure it is customary for a committee chairman to recognize a delegate wishing to speak as "the distinguished representative of . . . " and name his country.

If a Communist bloc member happens to be in the chair and Ainglu Tsiang, vetern Nationalist chief delegate seeks the floor, he is recognized as "Mr. Tsiang" and no more. No mention is made of his country.

ATTACK COMMUNISTS

The Nationalists are rarely asked to cosponsor a U.N. resolution because it would be certain to run into opposition from the Communists and many neutrals.

In return, the Nationalists vote against virtually all proposals that have Communist backing and usually attack them on the floor.

The Nationalists enjoyed a relatively normal existence in the U.N. until the Communists took over the mainland. Since then the Soviet bloc, with the backing of India and other Asian-African members, have been waging a perennial campaign to oust the Nationalists and seat the Reds in their place.

For years the United States managed to shelve the issue from one assembly to the next. This year, for the first time, the United States agreed to give the thorny question a full assembly airing.

Yankees Keep Lips Tighter 'n a Drum

CHICAGO (UPI) — Just like you've always heard, New Englanders, at least according to a survey made by the Social Research Company of Chicago, do not like to talk to strangers.

One of the directors of the survey noted: "New Englanders are very reserved . . . their reputation for taciturnity is based on fact." It was noted that Midwesterners were friendlier and that residents of small towns generally were more approachable than big-city folks. Residents of New York, Boston and Los Angeles tended to be shy of strangers, while those in Philadelphia and in Atlanta were less so.

Experts Claim 'Syndicated' Crime Growing

CHICAGO (UPI) — Organized crime exists in every American community, thriving on citizen apathy and an outmoded system of law enforcement, two experts on syndicate operations says.

Richard Ogilvie, a Chicago lawyer and former special assistant United States attorney general, said, "we're trying to combat 20th century crime with 18th century law enforcement."

Ogilvie, who as a government investigator helped convict reputed Chicago crime boss Anthony Accardo last year for income tax evasion, appeared on a television program with Dupage County Prosecutor William J. Bauer.

Bauer said organized crime is present in "every community in the United States."

Ogilvie echoed Bauer's statements. He laid part of the blame for the situation on a lack of police coordination and a refusal of politicians to take the syndicate seriously.

Open 40-Point Gap on Rebels in Weekly Poll

Alabama Moves Ahead of Iowa; Ohio State Gains Sixth Place

By The Associated Press

Michigan State widened its lead over Mississippi among major colleges today in the weekly poll of The Associated Press' 48-man committee off football writers and sportscasters. A 17-7 victory over previously unbeaten Notre Dame gave the Spartans a 40-point edge over Mississippi, which had trailed by only two points last week.

★ ★ ★

Coach Duffy Daugherty's sturdy Michigan State team, led by fullback George Saimes, collected 29 first place votes on the strength of their second half performance against Notre Dame. In the point score it was Michigan State 444, Mississippi 404.

Despite a 41-0 romp over Tulane in a night game, powerful Mississippi lost some support and received only 11 first place ballots, compared to its 21-16 edge over the Spartans last week.

Texas held tight to third place with three firsts after manhandling Arkansas 33-7 and Alabama moved ahead of Iowa, taking over fourth position on its 34-3 triumph over Tennessee. Iowa dropped a peg to fifth, despite its 47-15 smothering of Wisconsin.

Ohio State took over sixth place after beating Northwestern 10-0 while Notre Dame, No. 6 a week ago, tumbled to eighth. Louisiana State, a 24-14 winner over Kentucky in a Saturday night thriller, advanced from a 10th place tie to the No. 7 spot.

Georgia Tech, which just got by Auburn 7-6 in a real tough game, was ranked ninth and Colorado, a 13-0 winner over Kansas State, was tenth.

The only top ten member of last week to be displaced was Arkansas which fell from a 10th place tie to no votes.

Six of the top ten, the first five and Colorado, are unbeaten and untied. Ohio State has a 3-0-1 record including an opening game 7-7 tie with Texas Christian. LSU had lost to Rice, Georgia Tech to LSU and Notre Dame to Michigan State.

Spahn, Donovan Win ERA Crowns

NEW YORK (AP) — Warren Spahn of Milwaukee and Dick Donovan of Washington are the major leagues' earned run leaders for 1961.

But Spahn probably doesn't know just how proud he should be of his accomplishment. He gave up 88 earned runs in 263 innings for a 3.01 mark, the highest ever for a National League leader.

The veteran left-hander also won the title in 1947 and 1953.

Donovan, on the other hand, has plenty to crow about. Associated Press statistics compiled Monday showed he yielded 45 earned runs in 169 innings for a 2.40 mark.

He thus became the first Washington pitcher to win the crown since 1938 when Garland Braxton led the league. Donovan recently was traded to Cleveland.

Jim O'Toole of Cincinnati was second in the National League with a 3.09 record, followed by Curt Simmons of St. Louis with 3.12, Mike McCormick of San Francisco, the 1960 leader, with 3.20 and Bob Gibson of St. Louis with 3.24.

Bill Stafford of New York finished second to Donovan in the American League with 2.68. Then came Don Mossi of Detroit with 2.96, Milt Pappas of Baltimore with 3.03 and Juan Pizarro of Chicago with 3.05.

Northville, Kimball, Ferndale in Top 10

By The Associated Press

Bay City Handy and Manistee were the No. 1 high school football teams in Michigan for the third straight week today.

Handy, in Class A, and Manistee, in Class B, again were accorded top ranking by the Associated Press' panel of sports writers and sportscasters across the state. Each leader has a 6-0 record forged by opposing styles of play.

Manistee features defense and has yielded only six points in its six games. Handy, a 33-0 winner over Pontiac Central Saturday, has a whirlwind offense that produced 148 points in its last three games.

Handy led Lansing Sexton (6-0) by 14 votes in the Class A balloting. Bay City Central (5-1) moved up a notch to third while Port Huron (5-1) fell out of the top 10 from third after its 33-7 loss to eighth-ranked Ferndale (6-0).

Midland (5-1) climbed from 10th to seventh by dropping Flint Central 23-0; Flint Central (4-2) fell from sixth to ninth.

Northville displaced Bad Axe in second while Marysville (6-0) remained in third. Bad Axe (5-0-1) fell to fourth because of a 6-6 tie with Caro (5-0-1). Caro actually moved up a notch from seventh to sixth on the basis of the tie.

The poll results on the basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for a second, etc., through 1 point for a 10th-place vote:

NAIA Probes Northern Michigan Case

MARQUETTE (UPI) — A storm over Northern Michigan fullback Gene Valesano continued today as the NAIA probed into whether the Wildcat star used up his eligibility before this season.

Northern officials revealed yesterday that they asked the NAIA to investigate the matter last Friday after rival coaches complained that Valesano played for Superior State of Superior, Wis., in 1955.

The 24-year-old back from Wakefield, Mich., is in his fourth varsity season at Northern. He played in the Wildcats' first five games this season, scoring 36 points, but was benched for last Saturday's 47-0 triumph over Illinois State when the eligibility question came up.

Northern, 5-1 for the season, was rated the nation's No. 1 small college football team by United Press International last week.

NAIA Executive Secretary Al Duer said last night at the association's Kansas City headquarters that its national committee "hoped to have something definite on the matter within a week or 10 days."

Superior State coach Merts Motorelli confirmed last night that Valesano lettered in football there in 1955 as an 18-year-old freshman. "He was a real good prospect before he left school to go into the Army," Motorelli said.

Another coach, Howie Kolstead of St. Norbert in Wisconsin, said Valesano had played against his team and Michigan Tech in 1958—the fullback's first year at Northern.

Kolstead said Valesano had intercepted a pass against St. Norbert that year. "Michigan Tech has movies to prove it," he said.

The St. Norbert coach said that he understood that Northern officials claimed Valesano played "only briefly" in 1958—and only against Michigan Tech—using that to support their claim that the fullback had only three seasons at Northern.

Northern coach Frosty Ferzacca said Valesano would be kept out of action "until he gets a clean bill of health."

AAU Battles for Survival in Cage Control Dispute

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union are involved in a life and death struggle that probably will be settled early next year.

If the NCAA wins, it probably will mean the end of the AAU as an effective administrative body over United States amateur sports.

If the AAU wins, the organization will emerge stronger than ever.

The battlefield is the control of basketball in this country.

The NCAA has proposed the formation of a United States basketball federation to govern the sport. There would be five parties. In addition to the NCAA, it would be composed of the AAU, the interservice council (for the armed forces), the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations (for high schools) and the YMCA.

Under the proposed federation, all five organizations would have a say in the governing of the game. If it goes into effect, the AAU would be stripped of its current authority.

However, the catch is this: In order to function, the federation would have to be recognized by the International Amateur Basketball Body. Right now the AAU is the United States representative.

"We have held four meetings with the AAU in order to try to put this thing though," said NCAA Executive Secretary Walter Byers today as the group's council went into second day of its fall meeting. "We have made no appreciable progress.

"Maybe we are naive. But we thought that the AAU would realize how deep the unrest was and figured they would welcome more representation.

"We came to the conclusion that they didn't know of the unrest. This all comes from the coaches and we had nothing to do with it."

★ ★ ★

Byers said the NCAA and the AAU would hold one more meeting on Dec. 6 in Washington in connection with the AAU convention. Then, if things are not settled and there appears little hope that any progress will be made), the new federation will apply to the FIBA for membership.

Newhouser to Join Cleveland's System

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians announced Monday that Hal Newhouser, former star pitcher for the Detroit Tigers, has joined the Tribe as a liaison man in the club's farm system.

General Manager Gabe Paul indicated Newhouser, recently a scout for the Baltimore Orioles, would do scouting and act as a pitching coach in the Indians' minor league organization.

During the 1940s Newhouser was one of the outstanding pitchers in the majors and helped win pennants for Detroit in 1940 and 1945. He had a 29-9 record in 1944, was 25-9 in 1945 and 26-9 in 1946.

Gentile Named American Loop Soph of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Gentile of the Baltimore Orioles, who tied a one-season major league record with five grand slam home runs in 1961, was named American League Sophomore of the Year today.

The strapping first baseman was picked by 149 of the 170 members of the Baseball Writers Association taking part in the annual poll conducted by The Associated Press. Pitcher Steve Barber, a teammate of Gentile's, was a distant second with 12 votes.

Others mentioned in the balloting included patchers Bill Stafford of New York 6; Frank Funk of Cleveland, Jack Kralick of Minnesota and catcher Jim Pagliaroni of Boston 1 each.

TKO FOR ARCHIE—Pete Rademacher goes down for the 8th and last time in his non-title bout with Archie Moore Monday night in Baltimore. Moore was awarded a TKO in the 6th round.

'Common Punches' Win TKO for Archie Moore

BALTIMORE (AP) — After knocking down Pete Rademacher eight times en route to a six-round technical knockout Monday night, ancient Archie Moore apologized for not putting on "a more classic performance."

"I tried, but this man is a very awkward fighter," Moore said. "It's hard to hit him with one of those clean, classic punches that people like to see. I couldn't get a clean shot at him."

★ ★ ★

But Moore landed lots of more common punches as he floored Rademacher once in the fourth round, five times in the fifth, and twice more in the sixth before referee Benny Goldstein mercifully ended the one-sided bout at 2:10.

Moore, the recognized light heavyweight champion in New York, Massachusetts and Europe, fought at 198, well over the 175-pound limit in the scheduled 10-round non-title bout.

Midway through the fourth, Rademacher bounced off the ropes and took Moore to the floor amid flailing arms and legs. Archie looked up in disgust, mumbled something as he arose, and before the round was over Rademacher was well on the way to defeat.

Rademacher, at 33 some 11 to 14 years younger than Moore, went down the first time after absorbing a left hook to the stomach near the end of the round. The bell rang as the count reached 4. "He was guarding everything carefully except his hunch counter," Archie explained after the fight. "After I hit him there (the stomach) several times, he couldn't move as well and he was an easy target."

★ ★ ★

Monday afternoon Rademacher suggested waiving the rule which requires a bout to be stopped if a fighter is floored three times in a round.

"I appreciated that," Archie said. "It gave me a chance to knock him down some more."

Rademacher, who suffered a cut over the left eye during the punishing bout, said he found Moore "a lot stronger than I thought he would be.

"He has great power when he's moving forward," Pete said. "That's when he hurts you."

Moore said he would fight another heavyweight bout before deciding "once and for all" whether to continue as a light heavy. He will meet with Montreal promoters Thursday to discuss a possible bout with Bob Cleroux, the heavyweight champion of Canada.

Bathgate Holds Scoring Margin

Ranger Forward Leads Wings' Litzenberger by Three Points

Official NHL statistics released today show Bathgate, 29-year-old right winger, scored one goal and collected six assists in four games to extend his league-leading point-total to 15.

But Litzenberger did even better. He played only three games in which he scored three times and helped set up four other goals to run his point production to 12.

Bathgate leads the league in assists with 11 while Litzenberger is tied with the Montreal Canadiens' Ralph Backstrom for the lead in goals. Each has six.

Litzenberger's linemate, Gordie Howe, and New York's Earl Ingarfield also had seven-point performances last week and are tied with Claude Provost of Montreal for third place at 10 points.

Veteran Johnny Bower of Toronto tops the goaltenders. Bower, winner of last year's Vezina Trophy as the NHL's leading goalie, has a 1.60 average. He has given up only eight goals in five games.

The scoring leaders:

	G	A	Pts.
Bathgate, New York	4	11	15
Litzenberger, Detroit	3	6	12
Provost, Montreal	6	4	10
Ingarfield, New York	3	5	10

Sharman in Hassle With Boston Celtics

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bill Sharman, general manager-coach of the Los Angeles Jets of the American Basketball League, says the Boston Celtics owe him $3,400 as his share of last year's National Basketball Association playoff receipts.

The Celtics have announced they will sue Sharman if he plays for the Jets. He has been playing in exhibition games and says he will be in the lineup for the ABL opener here Oct. 30.

PCH Coach Unhappy

By BILL CORNWELL

Paul Dellerba, head football coach at Pontiac Central, intended no disrespect toward powerful Bay City Handy when he expressed keen disappointment in his team's play last Saturday night at Wisner Stadium.

★ ★ ★

"Bay City Handy has an excellent football team," Dellerba said. "They carry out their assignments and they do everything real well, but I don't think they were 33 points better than us."

"I personally feel that our boys played their poorest game of the season," Dellerba continued, "and we couldn't make a bad showing against a team like that and hope to win."

This was not a case of "sour grapes" from a downcast coach. He simply felt that his team performed way below par against the state's No. 1 club.

It was conceded by the PCH coaching staff that the Chiefs would need a supreme effort to upset the unbeaten-untied Wildcats. Dellerba and his staff didn't receive it.

The Chiefs have played many better games than they did before a friendly Homecoming audience —Michigan's top-ranked team notwithstanding.

They didn't run with their usual authority on offense and there were numerous defensive blunders by what had been a basically sound unit. They didn't block and their tackling was shoddy.

Except for a little attacking flurry at the start, they were a lifeless club. It's also known as being "flat."

Everyone at PCH thought that the Chiefs would be up for the battle with Handy. If they were, it never asserted itself. Maybe they were too tense.

At any rate, some hidden force will have to rally the PCH forces this week or the Chiefs will run the risk of finishing in the Saginaw Valley Conference cellar.

The Chiefs journey to Saginaw this Friday night to meet the Saginaw High Trojans, whose plight in the standings is equally sorry. Each team has won only once this season, both against winless Flint Northern, and the loser is virtually a cinch to finish in the basement.

One thing is certain—the Chiefs will be using a new fullback against Saginaw.

Andy Roach, expelled from school last February for disciplinary reasons, has been suspended from the football team for the same reasons by Dellerba and PCH administrators.

Roach, readmitted to school this fall, was suspended for the remainder of the season by Dellerba for unsportsmanlike conduct against Handy. The incident occurred at the conclusion of Saturday's game. Principal Francis Staley announced that the suspension applies to all athletics at PCH.

★ ★ ★

The fullback job may go to Paul Holsworth, who started at that position when the season began but moved to the defensive unit with the return of Roach, or Gene Luppino, a versatile performer who has played quarterback and halfback as well as starring on defense.

List of County Prep Unbeatens Stands at Four

Only four Oakland County high school football teams can still boast perfect records as the 1961 season heads into the closing weeks.

The four elite outfits are Ferndale and Royal Oak Kimball, tied for 1st place in the Eastern Michigan League; Walled Lake, one step away from its 3rd consecutive Inter-Lakes Conference title; and Northville, driving toward another Wayne-Oakland crown.

All proudly list spotless 6-0 records. Ferndale, Kimball and Northville have three games remaining apiece while Walled Lake has two left.

Among area prep squads, only St. Clement and St. Rita of the Suburban Catholic loop are flawless. They're waging a hot battle for the championship this year with defending champion St. Clement standing 6-0 and St. Rita 5-0.

Large Field Enters Sahara Pro-Am Golf

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A field of 88 pros and three times that many amateurs tee off today in the $19,500 Sahara pro-am golf tournament.

Injury-plagued Doug Sanders—third top money winner on this year's circuit with $56,000—was unsure whether he'd be able to play. He has had neck trouble.

Hand in Wrong Place

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ron Horn, the St. Louis Hawks' No. 2 choice in the National Basketball Association draft, suffered a broken bone in his right hand Monday when a car door accidentally slammed shut on it.

Dr. Stan London, team physician, said the 6-foot-7 former Indiana star would be out of action four weeks.

Pointer Loses All-Star Chance

Shirley Pointer of Huron Bowl dropped from 4th place to 10th by losing her last four matches Sunday night in the finals for women's state match game honors and a berth in the National All Star.

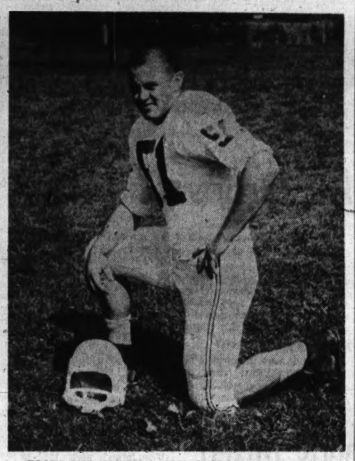

Hindered by the flu, she had little success at the finish at Paw Paw. The top eight will go to the All Star in January.

Helen Shablis of Detroit was 1st with a 196 average, 17 wins in 24 matches and 111.09 Petersen points. Gladys Dempsey of Detroit followed with a 13-11 record and 105.05 points.

Connie Powers and Juanita Compton of the Motor City, Pat McBride and Marty Roberts of Grand Rapids and Selma and Marion Jell of Ann Arbor made the list.

Shirley avraged 182.9, took 10 matches and compiled 97.27 Petersen points.

Local men's hope Paul George heads into the 1st of two rugged weekends in men's All-Star competition Saturday at Alpena.

Four Area Men Elected to PGA Advisory Board

Four area men long prominent in state golfing circles have been appointed to the Sectional Advisory Board for 1962 by the Executive Committee of the Michigan PGA, according to an announcement by Don Soper, State PGA president.

Named to the sectional board were Judge John O'Hara of Oakland Hills, chairman of the U.S. Open tournament or three occasions; Bob Poole of Farmington Country Club, an active tournament committeeman this year; Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile, five-time Michigan Amateur champion; and Ralph Ellstrom of Dearborn, USGA district representative.

Other members of the advisory board for 1962 will be Dennis Boyle, Harold Kelly, Fred Riggin Sr., Burt Shurly, J. D. Standish Jr., G. A. Florez, Hugh Radar, Carl Ruebelman, Glenn Sisler and Art Zebredee.

Soper was reelected as Michigan PGA president at the recent fall meeting of the state association at St. Clair. Soper is a driving range pro from Royal Oak.

Cliff Good of Midland was elected secretary and treasurer while Ron LaParl of Battle Creek was named first vice president. Detroit's Alex Sinclair was named second vice president.

Completing next year's official PGA family will be Tom Talking of Washtenaw Country Club, director; Al Watrous of Oakland Hills, director; Hal Whittington of Grosse Ile, director; Joe Belfore of C.C. of Detroit, honorary president; Warren Orlick of Tam O'Shanter, honorary vice president; and Horton Smith of Detroit C.C., honorary vice president.

Appointed to serve as vice presidents at large were John Barnum of Blythefield, Western Chapter president; Bill Fassezke of Owosso; Wayne Henrickson of Atlas Valley; and Larry Tomasino of Barton Hills.

Soper appointed Whittington as tournament chairman and named Mac McElmurry of Knollwood as National Golf Day chairman.

In one other appointment, the Executive Committee named Al Betz of Tam O'Shanter as the State PGA's General Counsel for next year.

Discouraged Selling Causes Slip

Stock Market Drops Sharply

NEW YORK (AP) — Discouraged selling put the stock market sharply lower early this afternoon. Dealings were light.

* * *

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.30 at 256.20 with industrials off 1.50, rails off .80 and utilities off .70.

* * *

Key stocks fell from fractions to more than a point. Only a few stocks bucked the downtrend.

The market was mixed with a slightly lower tendency in early trading but fell away as bids up. The main business factor seemed to be the disappointment over failure of the steel industry to mount a vigorous upturn as widely predicted for this quarter.

DAMPENS ENTHUSIASM

Sentiment was dampened further by a published report that a gathering of economists expressed doubts about the vigor of the economic advance in 1962.

Yearend tax-loss selling and profit taking continued to weigh on the market. Opinions of security analysts were not bullish for the present. Some likened the present situation to a year ago October when the list took a sharp dip before going into a prolonged upswing.

* * *

Motors, steels, rails, utilities, rubbers, tobaccos, retails, electronics, coppers and electrical equipments were lower. Aircraft-missiles were up moderately. In a mixed oil group, Standard Oil (New Jersey), which rose as yesterday's most active stock, added another fraction. Texaco also rose slightly but Amerada, still under profit taking, sank about 2 points.

* * *

Prices were mixed in quiet trading on the American Stock Exchange. Losses of more than a point were taken by Seeman Brothers and Aerojet - General. Mead Johnson slipped more than 3. National Manufacturers & Stores rose more than a point. Also on the upside were Royalite, Cletrac, Rio Algom Mines, Teleprompter and Colonial Corp.

Corporate Bonds Mixed

* * *

Among corporates rails continued fairly active but like gains and losses were about even. The utility section showed an early tendency to push upward. Industrials held mixed.

Among moves of a point or more were gains of 1 by Texas & Pacific Railroad 3⅞s at 70 and New York, Lackawanna & Western Railroad 4½s at 49 and an Initial jump of 2 by Dayton Power & Light 2¾s at 82½.

* * *

Congo Remains in Chaos After 16 Months of Bloodshed

(Editor's Note—The lives of many men, along with some of your tax dollars, have gone into the effort to end the chaos that has thrusted the Congo since it won independence 16 months ago. What are the results? What is the outlook? Here is the first of three articles giving a penetrating look at the Congo today. The writer won a 1961 Pulitzer Prize for his dispatches on African affairs.)

By LYNN HEINZERLING

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo—(AP)—Sixteen months of bloodshed, political chaos and near bankruptcy—not to mention millions of dollars — have failed to awaken the Congo to reality.

AP Photofax

ONE COLLAPSED

The back-yard government set up by Antoine Gizenga in Stanleyville with the help of Communist governments collapsed and Gizenga joined the Adoula government as vice premier. He contributed little and has gone back to Stanleyville. Nobody knows when or whether he will return.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The United Nations has reached a cease-fire agreement in the secessionist province of Katanga, whose rich copper deposits are the nation's greatest asset. It is desperately trying to bring President Moise Tshombe of Katanga into negotiations with Adoula.

MORE PROVINCES?

The Congolese Parliament considers its most important order of business is to arrange to chop up the jungle land into still more provinces with diverse tribal urges. There are not enough skilled Congolese to run the central government and administer the present six provinces properly.

The new nation still does not have its own constitution, but is operating under a fundamental law worked out with the former Belgian colonial masters. Parliament is amending this law so that the six provinces laid out arbitrarily by the Belgians can be cut up to accommodate and perpetuate tribal groupings.

★ ★ ★

It is a labor based on the ancient hates of the Congolese that will further impede the Congo's entrance into the world of the 20th century.

★ ★ ★

The shadow of the first prime minister, Patrice Lumumba, still lies across the Congo. The tall, flamboyant nationalist leader was slain in Katanga more than eight months ago while being held by Tshombe's government.

The newspaper of the Lumumba forces in Leopoldville in a recent issue described him as "that grand liberator, that Caesar — leader of leaders, hero of heroes, sage of sages, savior of saviors."

ALL WANT JOB

Lumumba's top lieutenants — Gizenga, minister of Interior Christophe Gbenye and Chamber President Joseph Kasongo, all leftists — are contending for the grand liberator's mantle. They hope, too, to seize power from Adoula.

Western diplomats, who have watched the while incredible story unfold in the Congo, believe the Adoula government is the best the country can achieve in the circumstances. Some consider Adoula the most impressive man in the Congo.

★ ★ ★

He seems in control although Interior Minister Gbenye, the Lumumbist, is pressing him hard. Lumumbist youth movements are springing up. Communist money is coming into the country to finance trouble, diplomats say.

Recently in Leopoldville's African quarter pamphlets have been circulated urging the black Congolese to attack whites.

Antiwhite excesses last year started an exodus of Europeans which almost paralyzed the economy and threatened to turn the Congo back to the jungle. They are coming back now — Belgian teachers, businessmen, technicians. The Congo can hardly survive without them.

Adoula must keep the Congo calm and solve the Katanga problem to survive. The central government cannot hope to operate this huge country of 900,000 square miles without a share of Katanga's rich copper profits.

United Nations officials are confident. They expect that preliminary contacts between Katangan emissaries and the central government will be followed by a meeting between Adoula and Tshombe.

Despite his statements, Tshombe himself is known to feel that the days of his private state are numbered. Not a single nation has recognized the proclaimed independence of Katanga.

The central government, under great pressure from leftists and Lumumbists, still thinks grandiosely of sending Mobutu's troops to the Katanga border and seizing the recalcitrant province. Mobutu is known to regard such an adventure more soberly.

★ ★ ★

It was Mobutu, with the backing of President Joseph Kasavubu who expelled Russians, Czechs and Poles from the country last year after they openly supplied war materials to maintain Lumumba in power.

LACKS SUPPLIES

Mobutu's forces do not have the equipment or the supplies for a drive to Katanga. Although the United Nations might regard such an action as a legitimate police maneuver of the central government, it would be bound to prevent civil war.

Mobutu and members of the central government know that a defeat in Katanga or even a long stalemate could mean the end of the Adoula government. The time would then be ripe for a takeover by the extremist Lumumbists.

There are bright spots. The Communist threat is recognized and it is still less real than in the days of Lumumba's gaudy reign.

President Kasavubu, although no political genius, is still a moderate and stabilizing force with a solid backing. The Adoula government has kept in office such friends of the West as Vice Premier Jason Sendwe, Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko and Information Minister Joseph Ileo. there are other moderate, if less sophisticated, members of the Cabinet.

Sweden's Dr. Sture Linner remains at the head of the U.N. operation. He probably is closer to the Congolese leaders than any other white man in the Congo and he is a man dedicated to his job. He is optimistic about the future.

He was asked if he did not want to step down from his difficult and frustrating duties.

"I think it is my obvious duty to carry on as long as they want me to do it," he said.

Tony Randall's Quarters Ideal

It's Not Just a Room, It's Status

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — If you really want to know how Tony Randall happened to get a dressing room in the female stars' building at MGM, he'll tell you.

THOMAS

Randall's quarters are in the hallowed halls that once housed Garbo, Crawford, Garson, Garland, Allyson, Gardner, etc. His apartment is cozily adjacent to those of Lana Turner and Doris Day.

"It's a housing jam," he explained over sauerbraten and noodles in the studio commissary. "They couldn't fit me into the male stars' building."

As a matter of fact, Randall said with a shudder, the studio tried to house him in the featured players' building when he reported for work with Kim Novak and James Garner in "Boys' Night Out."

HAD TO HOLD OUT

"For three whole days I could not go to my own dressing room," he said. "I had to hold out for another on. Status."

Randall explained the divisions of dressing rooms:

1. Actors—a plain room, no bathroom.

2. Featured players—A room, dressing room and bathroom but no shower.

3. Stars—A handsomely decorated suite complete with shower.

★ ★ ★

"But there are degrees of star dressing rooms, too," Randall added. "Do you have a bar in your dressing room? Further, does the studio stock it with liquor? Do you have a refrigerator—with ice?

★ ★ ★

"An actor must consider these things. So you end up demanding things you don't even want, all because of status."

WALKING DISTANCE

He went on to explain that routine actors must dress in their permanent dressing rooms and walk to the set. Featured players are housed in trailers outside the shooting stage. Stars have four-walled rooms right on the stage, so they have only to walk a few steps to the scene.

Super-stars like Doris Day and Rock Hudson, with whom Randall stars in "Lover Come Back," have massive trailers on the set.

"Rock's was a sort of love-gift from the studio after signing a new contract," reported Randall. "It has the works—hi-fi, stereo, refrigerator, telephone, etc. But he had to wait two years to get it."

Both Randall and his agent, Abby Greshner, agree that his room in the female stars' building is suitable to his status. It allows him all the privileges of the male stars' building "except that I can't walk around the halls nude."

Defense Relies on Warning Net

Soviet Aircraft Attack Would Be Detected by DEW Line System

How much warning could be expected if the Soviet Union should launch an attack?

Despite the development of rockets, the American Air Defense Command believes that for some time yet Russia would have to rely largely on delivering the basic attack by heavy aircraft.

The warning time could range from four to six hours. The outermost continental warning net, the Distant Early Warning (DEW) line across the Arctic, stretches some 1,700 miles north of key U.S. targets. Some stations are farther north in Greenland.

★

The continental nets are part of a virtually unbroken warning system that runs across the world from the Far East, through the Arctic and across the North Atlantic Treaty areas of Europe from Scandinavia to Turkey. In view of these warning systems and worldwide radio monitoring devices, authorities doubt that the Soviet Union could mount a massive, coordinated bomber attack without being detected in its beginning stages.

Suspends School Dances

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (UPI) —All high school dances were suspended by City School Supt. Fendall Ellis Monday after four Negro girls sought permission to be escorted to a dance at an integrated school by nonstudents. School authorities must authorize the presence of nonstudents at school dances.

Who said investing is a man's world?

More women than men own stocks

*To invest or not to invest?

The answer to this question is not easy, quick, or foolproof. There's a right way and a wrong way. First, ask yourself what you need for living expenses and emergencies. Do you have a surplus after that? This is money you might consider investing. Secondly, talk to a Watling, Lerchen & Co. representative for facts and advice. Tell him what you want your money to do for you. If your goal is income during the year, you'll probably want to know about stocks with a good record of paying dividends. If you want your money to grow for future use, one thing to discuss is stocks with a reasonable chance to increase in value over the years. For greater safety of income and principal you might find your best investment in bonds. There's also a Monthly Investment Plan which lets you invest with as little as $40 every three months.

Sound interesting? It is. And it can be rewarding. But remember, nothing is for sure. Stocks can go down as well as up, and your money deserves to be treated with care. Turn a deaf ear to tipsters. Talk to Watling, Lerchen & Co.

Studies indicate that more women than men own stock. If you believe that you are one of the many women for whom investing wisely can make good sense, start right—with the help of a Watling, Lerchen & Co. representative.

Or Was Speech Flash-in-the-Pan

Will U.S. Keep Talking Tough?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The Kennedy administration has now talked very rough to Russia but whether this is just a flash-in-the-pan or the beginnig of a new policy of toughness remains to be seen.

For months Premier Khrushchev, while demanding the Allies back up on Berlin, has waved his nuclear weapons and cut loose with a whole series of tests. He has been the tough one.

President Kennedy, by comparison, has been mild. In the past couple of months some Republican critics have complained he wasn't firm enough, even suggesting he was an appeaser. This, reportedly, got under the President's skin.

Last week Khrushchev topped things off by announcing Russia soon would explode a 50-megaton nuclear bomb which would dwarf previous blasts. Monday Russia exploded two nuclear devices — one of them described by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission as possibly as high as 50 megatons but more likely about 30 megatons.

NOT PRACTICAL

American officials — Secretary of State Dean Rusk, for instance —professed to see no practical reason for such an explosion although one simple explanation seems to be reasonable enough: Khrushchev is doing this as a terror tactic.

Saturday night, as if replying to this tactic, Roswell L. Gilpatric, deputy secretary of defense, made the toughest speech delivered by any Pentagon official since Kennedy took office.

The speech was first approved by Rusk and the White House. The administration took pains beforehand to let newsmen know the speech had this approval to show Gilpatric was talking for the administration.

Gilpatric not only said the United States is superior to Russia in nuclear weapons — he went into some detail to explain why—but warned the Soviets that if they start a nuclear war, even with a sneak attack, this country's nuclear resources would still be powerful enough to wipe them out.

MAKES POINT

This kind of talk would have had a much greater impact here and abroad if someone higher up the official ladder in the administration—like Kennedy, Rusk or Defense Secretary Robert McNamara—had delivered it.

But, even though it came from a lesser official like Gilpatric, the fact that the administration let it be known he had full approval got the point across.

This speech serves to fry several kinds of fish:

1. Just in case Khrushchev has any doubts about American power—and officials here don't think he does—the Gilpatric speech would set him straight.

2. Khrushchev has been making propaganda hay—in trying to impress the world with Russia's power—and the Gilpatric speech may take some of the edge off it.

3. It is also a nudge to American allies, particularly in Europe, if they suspected American weakness because Kennedy didn't try to match Khrushchev in waving nuclear weapons.

★ ★ ★

4. It may take some of the steam out of the complaint by some Republicans that Kennedy hasn't been tough enough.

Unless the Gilpatric talk is the beginning of a consistently tough Kennedy policy this one effort isn't apt to mean much since Khrushchev can be expected to continue with his own tough line.

The fact that Kennedy and Rusk let a lower-echelon man like Gilpatric do the talking in this case — instead of one of them — can still be interpeted as something less than an all-out willingness by the administration to be tough.

Russia Hurrying N-Tests to Lighten World Criticism

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russia appears to be speeding up its current atomic test series to head off an avalanche of adverse world criticism, western observers said today.

In this way, they said, the Kremlin could accept the inevitable protests from abroad — including a possible condemnation by the United Nations — without having to bear the additional burden of further outcries against future Russian nuclear experiments.

Some observers said that the current test series was evidence that the Kremlin considered its own power and security interests paramount over its concern for world opinion. This view was backed up by the fact that the Soviets exploded their first test atomic bomb since the moratorium on the eve of the summit conference of unaligned nations in Belgrade last month.

There was calm in Moscow today because the Russians, unlike westerners, had not been informed of the explosion of the giant Soviet nuclear device. Furthermore they have been insulated by the Soviet propaganda apparatus against the wave of western protests about radioactive fallout dangers.

UNAWARE OF NUMBER

The Russian people learned of the plans to conduct a 50-megaton test but they presumably are largely unaware of the exact number of Soviet nuclear tests, conducted thus far since the testing was resumed Sept. 1.

★ ★ ★

Considerable anxiety is expected when word of the latest Soviet explosion seeps through into Russia via foreign radio broadcasts and the resulting grapevine channels. But Russian domestic reaction is not expected to reach the level of outcry in the rest of the world.

Moscow Radio's morning home service broadcast carried summaries of speeches made at Monday night's congression session but made no reference to a 50-megaton explosion.

In Moscow's foreign colony, immediate concern over Soviet radio-active fallout prompted some westerners to avoid eating Soviet meat or drinking Russian milk which might be contaminated.

These could be replaced by imported frozen or canned meats and powdered milk. At least one head of a western household said he was seriously considering keeping his wife and children indoors until the major fallout danger subsides.

As far as Russian citizens are concerned, although official directives call for civil defense training for Soviet civilians, it is unlikely that in the event of atomic danger they would have the slightest idea of where to go for shelter against hazardous fallout.

U.S. Quite Calm Over Red Brag

Army Insists America Has Antimissiles Also and Can Retaliate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Russia's claim that it can shoot down missiles caused no flurry in military circles here.

A high-ranking military officer, familiar with problems of missile bombardment and interception, said it would be serious if Russia had antimissile missiles in any quantity.

But he said it would not mean that Russia could stop a retaliatory attack from the United States.

There was no immediate official U.S. comment on Soviet Defense Minister Rion Malinovsky's claim before the 22nd Communist party congress in Moscow that Russia had "successfully coped with the task of destroying missiles in flight."

U.S. CAN TALK

The U.S. Army can make the same claim if the statement is taken literally. The Army's Nike-Hercules missile, designed to knock down enemy planes, has been used to bring down both Corporal and other Nike-Hercules missiles.

★ ★ ★

The Hawk antiaircraft missile has knocked down Honest John and Little John free-flight rockets and Corporal guided missiles.

The Army was likely to find in Malinovsky's statement further justification for pushing development and production of its Nike-Zeus antimissile missile.

About $1 billion already has been spent on this program, but both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations declined to allow production until the weapon has proven itself more thoroughly.

★ ★ ★

The Air Force reaction to Malinovsky's statement was likely to be a louder clamor for more sophisticated intercontinental ballistic missiles and continued development of manned bombers.

Convicts End Hunger Strike

Three-Day Protest Over as Officials Promise to Examine Grievances

STORMVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — The 1,366 inmates of the maximum-security Green Haven State Prison were eating regularly today, and perhaps even a little more than usual. They have a three-day hunger strike to make up for.

★ ★ ★

The convicts agreed to end their strike Monday night when the prison warden and the state commissioner of correction promised them their grievances would be looked into.

The grievances, said Warden Edward Fay, involved dissatisfaction with actions of the State Parole Board and with medical treatment at the prison.

NOT STRIKE ISSUE

The incident which actually touched off the strike Saturday—the solitary confinement of three prisoners involved in a recreation yard fight—was not an issue in the strike, Fay said.

The convicts ended their fast after Fay and the state correction commissioner, Paul D. McGinnis, spoke to them through a intercom system.

Pontiac Man Charged in Fatal Auto Mishap

A Pontiac man was charged with manslaughter yesterday in the death of a 16-year-old Keego Harbor youth who was fatally injured in a Waterford Township traffic accident Sunday.

James Walker, 26, 51 S. Paddock St., demanded examination on the charge yesterday afternoon in a hearing held at his bedside in Pontiac General Hospital.

Waterford Township Justice of the Peace Patrick Daly set Walker's examination for 1:30 p. m. Nov. 8.

Walker, who is reported in satisfactory condition at the hospital, contends that he was not the driver of an auto which struck a car parked by the side of Cass Lake Road early Sunday morning.

Occupants of the parked car included James M. Crawford Jr., 60; his wife, Irene, 58; and their sons, Danny, 18; and James A. Crawford, 16.

★ ★ ★

The youngest Crawford boy died of a broken neck suffered in the accident. Mrs. Crawford is in fair condition. Her husband and her other son were treated and released at the hospital following the accident.

Walker told police he was sleeping in the back seat of his auto when it struck the rear of the Crawfords' car. Walker said he picked up two men at a bar and that one of them was driving. He did not know their identities, he said.

THIS IS NO KITTEN—Sharon Mauchley of Salt Lake City snuggles her 4-month-old pet lion, gift of a friend, after it was captured in the "jungle" of a fashionable residential area. Miss Mauchley, who often takes the lion for rides in her car much to the shock of passers-by, was visiting the neighborhood and let the pet out for a stroll. Mrs. Robert G. Weaver spotted the cub in her yard and called police. Officer Donald B. Lindsey showed up, borrowed Mrs. Weaver's beagle for a hound and cornered the lion. Then, along came Sharon and retrieved her furry friend.

Home Rule for Counties Asked in New Constitution

LANSING (AP) — Home rule for counties will be authorized in Michigan's proposed new constitution if former State Treasurer D. Hale Brake gets his way.

Brake, Republican delegate from Stanton, submitted a proposal to the constitutional convention today which would permit counties to adopt charters putting them on a par with home-rule cities. Approved of county voters would be necessary.

"They could adopt a county manager form of government if they chose," Brake said. "They could determine their own policy on public works, highways, sewers, buildings and grounds, personnel and other similar functions.

"But they could not abolish such offices as sheriff, prosecutor, clerk, treasurer and register of deeds. These are all subject to state law."

Brake, who took a leave of absence as education director for the state association of supervisors, already has submitted a proposal calling for home rule for townships.

STATUS OF CITIES

"Rural counties are doing all right with the present form of government," Brake said. "But the big counties like Wayne and Kent have organization and finance problems that could be handled better by giving them the same status as cities."

Another proposal, authored by John E. McCauley, D-Wyandotte, would nullify the effect of a recent State Supreme Court decision wiping out immunity of municipal governments to negligence suits.

McCauley's proposition would decree that neither counties nor other local governments could be held liable for negligence "unless otherwise provided by the legislature."

Richard A. Austin, D-Detroit, would limit introduction of tax bills in the legislature to the House of Representatives. The Senate would retain only veto and amendment powers.

★ ★ ★

"This follows the federal constitution," he said. "It seems to be that the house in which representation is based on population should originate all tax measures."

Another Brake proposal would permit members of the legislature to run for another office if the term of office would start after his term as a lawmaker expired.

Robert Kennedy Eyes New Club

Attorney General to Aid in Forming Group for Men; No Bias Allowed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, who recently resigned his membership in a Washington men's club which has racial restrictions, is going to help direct a new club.

★ ★ ★

"That's right" said a query of Kennedy's staff to a query about a story by Washington Star columnist Betty Beale stating Kennedy will be a director of the new Federal Club.

Miss Beale also said Kennedy's brother-in-law Stephen Smith will be a director of the club being organized by Charles Bartlett, report on the Chattanooga (Tenn.) Times.

RESIGNED RECENTLY

Both Bartlett, a friend of President Kennedy, and Robert resigned from the Metropolitan Club recently. The attorney general said he could not support the club's traditional policy against Negroes as guests or members.

Delegates Fete United Nations

Hold 16th Anniversary Concert Today; Other Events to Follow

The concert is a highlight of a nationwide series of special events observing the 16th anniversary of the official establishment of the United Nations. Many communities are holding events throughout the week.

Sir Ernest MacMillan will conduct the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation symphony orchestra in the concert beginning at 3 p.m. Assembly President Mongo Slim of Tunisia will address the audience on the occasion.

This is the eighth U.N. Day to be celebrated by a concert here. Most English-speaking U.N. delegates of the 101 missions have been asked to make speeches at various places during the week.

Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson was the speaker at a public meeting in San Francisco, where the U.N. Charter was framed in 1945. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, chairman of the board of the American Association for the United Nations (AAUN), planned to interrupt a heavy speaking schedule to attend the concert here.

★ ★ ★

U.N. Day and Week were originated by the AAUN in 1946. The AAUN is the major U.S. membership organization designed to build U.S. citizen support for the world organization.

★ ★ ★

As part of the observance here, the International League for the Rights of Man sent to the permanent representatives of the 101 missions its annual report on a balance sheet for the forward and backward steps for human rights.

Norstrom operated the MacNord orchestra with a partner, blind-pianist Rod MacDonald. The band played at most Upper Michigan resort and recreation areas.

Funeral service will be held in Calumet Thursday. Norstrom is survived by his wife, two sons and a daughter.

Big Bomb Brings Angry Reactions

By DOUG ANDERSON
United Press International

Soviet detonation of history's biggest nuclear explosion Monday touched off angry demonstrations in fallout-threatened Europe. A Japanese newspaper called the blast a "crime against mankind."

★ ★ ★

Youths hurled a Molotov-cocktail incendiary at a Soviet trade office in Rome. Police in Oslo and Copenhagen broke up "marches on the Soviet Embassy" by angry young men.

Editorial reaction was swift and savage. Newspapers around the world denounced Soviet tactics of terror and accused the Kremlin of poisoning the atmosphere with deadly radioactivity.

The U.N. General Assembly dallied with efforts to lock the stable door despite general belief the horse had been stolen.

U.N. ACTION FAILS

Last night, more than 12 hours after the Russians set off the biggest explosion ever engineered by man, eight nations failed in efforts to persuade the assembly's political committee to act urgently on an appeal to the Kremlin not to explode its multimegaton bomb.

The Russian people had not yet been told of the explosion, and it was not certain that even the Communist leaders attending the current party congress in Moscow had been informed.

While Western observers were unable to say definitely that the blast was the 50-megaton explosion predicted last week by Premier Nikita Khrushchev, it appeared certain that it had at least the force of 30 million tons of TNT—half again the power of any previous bomb.

'ACT OF TERRORISM'

The London Daily Herald described the Soviet test as "an act of terrorism which will arouse loathing throughout the earth."

Japanese newspapers accused Khrushchev of "megatomania" and assailed the "frivolity" of his announcement that Russia has a 100-megaton bomb which it will not set off "because it might blow in our windows."

"It is absolutely intolerable that these hellish blasts should be set off with such frivolous thoughts," said the Tokyo Asahi. "Even if the intention is to threaten his opponents, he seems to be completely unconscious of the crime that is being committed against mankind."

★ ★ ★

Experts in Washington said fallout from the blast would reach the U.S. West Coast Thursday or Friday, and continue to fall on the United States for more than 6 months.

The premiers of Sweden and Denmark deplored the explosion, and the Norwegian parliament adopted a strong protest resolution.

The London Daily Telegraph accused Khrushchev of using "plain, crude terror" against "the world at large." Copenhagen's Berlingske Tidende predicted, however, the "big bomb certainly will not reduce aversion to aggressive Soviet policy."

The Swedish newspaper Dagens Nyheter said the big blast may produce "fatalism and an indignation that will make the world immune to further nuclear blackmail."

Marguerite Is Giving Serious Competition

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Glamorous Marguerite Piazza should be the Mother of the Year—for she's expecting her sixth in the spring . . . which makes her a serious competitor of such mothers as Rosemary Clooney and Jeanne Crain.

WILSON

Everybody was talking about it at the Plaza Persian Room when lovely red-haired Italian Katyna Ranieri opened. Because Miss Piazza (wife of William Condon, of the American Snuff Co., Memphis) is part of a pattern. Eartha Kitt and Gigi Grant — also Persian Room stars—are also expectant mothers.

When the Plaza announces a new star now," somebody remarked, "it adds, 'Providing she's not expecting at the time.'"

Miss Ranieri didn't attract attention by any such announcements. She sang well, used an echo chamber on two numbers, kissed Maestro Emil Coleman, and put on something over her gown which all men thought was a nightgown or negligee but which she called a "cape." As one man said, "Some CAPE."

Actor's Stepfather and Mother Injured

INDIO, Calif. (AP)—The mother and stepfather of actor John Wayne were injured Monday when their car ran off a highway and smashed into a cement marker post 4 miles east of here.

★ ★ ★

Officers said the Preen car apparently went out of control on a curve on a steep grade.

Woman Injured in Crash, Gives Birth to Child

RUPERT, Idaho (AP) — Mrs. Hyrum Bell of Rupert was critically hurt in an automobile accident en route to a hospital Monday, but gave birth to her 12th child, an eight-pound boy.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Bell, 36, was reported in fair condition after delivery. The hospital said the infant was doing fine.

★ ★ ★

The father also was hurt in the accident. Elbert Yazzie, 19, of Heyburn, Idaho, was in the truck with which the Bell car collided. He was killed.

Soviet Flag Removed From Utah U.N. Display

★ ★ ★

Secretary of State Lamont Toronto, custodian of the building, said he ordered it removed because of complaints and "because of the insults Mr. (Soviet Premier) Khrushchev has given President Eisenhower and President Kennedy."

Plan Public Hearing on U.S. Dunes Park

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — A public hearing on a controversial plan to turn 77,000 acres of the Sleeping Bear Dunes country into a national recreation area will be held here Nov. 13 by a Senate interior subcommittee.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said Monday that Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, would head the committee. He said witnesses both for and against converting the area would be heard.

Hart, the author of a bill to place the 45.5-mile strip of Lake Michigan shoreline under the jurisdiction of the National Park Service, was expected to appear at the hearing to testify in favor of his bill.

He said the subcommittee probably would visit the dunes area either before or after the hearing.

Hart has sent a letter to area residents urging them to support his plan. He said the park service would not confiscate any inland lake shoreline property and such a park would close the area to commercial exploitation.

ADDITIONAL TOURISTS

He also said the park would attract 1.5 million additional tourists to Northwest Michigan each summer.

Hart said:

"This would protect the beautiful vistas and give very real protection to present home and cottage owners around the inland lakes. In addition, special park roads are planned to take visitor travel away from existing private residential property."

Ove Jensen, spokesman for the citizens council of the Sleeping Bear Dunes area, listed six points why the group opposed creation of the park. They were:

OPPOSING SIX POINTS

—"If this becomes a national park, and we decided we don't want to live in it, we have no assurance of getting fair market value if we sell our property to the park service.

—"Under the piecemeal condemnation permitted in this bill a property owner could be forced to give up some or all of his property at anytime or he could be kept dangling for years.

—"In Leelanau and Benzie counties we have fine new consolidated high schools in Honor and Glen Lake. If these two districts lose this big chunk of tax base they are going to be in serious trouble for operating expenses and to pay off their borrowings.

★ ★ ★

—"If the bill becomes law people living in the park will have to obey zoning restrictions that border on the ridiculous.

—"As everyone who has visited the area knows, we have plenty of facilities to take care of vacationists now and for years to come without federal intervention."

Millionaire Held on Drug Charge

Man Who Used Money to Aid Derelicts Was Housing Addicts

NEW YORK (AP) — A millionaire who used his fortune to help derelicts faced arraignment in felony court today on charges that he fed and housed six drug addicts in his Harlem shelter.

★ ★ ★

John S. Cram, 51, a former student at Princeton and Oxford universities and the descendant of distinguished family that included a mayor of New York, was arrested in a raid on the shelter Monday.

6 OTHERS ARRESTED

He was taken into custody with six derelicts who were charged with possession of narcotics.

Two narcotics squad detectives who visited Cram's shelter in a loft building at 2 E. 110th St. found a score of men sitting or lying on mattresses. Among them were several suspected addicts.

★ ★ ★

Told to go along with the police, Cram first removed three armloads of clothing from a closet, tossed them on the floor and invited his charges to "help yourself."

'DEEPLY CONCERNED'

A friend said that from his college days Cram has been deeply concerned with poverty and has devoted his time and money to relieving the poor.

Cram said he paid $200 a month rent and spent about $100 a day to care for the vagrants.

Police quoted Cram as saying he was aware some of the men used narcotics but he did not know it was against the law to shelter an addict.

Cram was charged with having permitted his premises to be used for the congregation of narcotics addicts and with possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

Wine Producer Tries to Stop Cork Popping

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of the wartime French underground has held an underground news conference to relay a suggestion about champagne corks—don't pop them.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

While making clear he's all for jollity, M. Joseph Dargent is firmly against cork-popping.

'IT'S A PITY'

"I know the pop is rather popular," said Dargent, a director of the French Champagne Producers Association. "But we think it is a pity to lose so much good wine."

"It takes all the fun out," came a complaint in a feminine voice.

★ ★ ★

Dargent, presiding in the wine cellar of a downtown hotel, then demonstrated how to open a bottle without getting a pop—not even a poof. He just hung onto the cork and twisted. No noise, no gush—and no fun.

Delegates at Moscow Not Told About Blast

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

MOSCOW — Delegates to the 22nd Soviet Communist party congress spoke today of a future of peace and plenty, most of them unaware their government had detonated a super nuclear explosion which touched off a worldwide wave of fear and indignation.

With the probable exception of top officials in the Soviet hierarchy and those who might have gotten the word from foreign news broadcasts, Soviet citizens knew nothing of history's biggest atomic explosion in their own back yard.

The main theme of today's speeches was the glorious Communist future as mapped out in the new party program and Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's opening day report.

The abrupt department Monday of Communist China's Premier Chou En-Lai was bound to stir some uneasy speculation among the more than 4,000 delegates and their foreign Communist guests.

Despite the fact that Khrushchev and other high Soviet officials saw Chou off at the airport, it was clear that the Soviet attack against the Stalinist leadership of Albania — and Chou's defense of the little Adriatic country — had caused bitterness between Moscow and Peiping.

★ ★ ★

The dispute left the impression that the Communist world actually comprises two major camps in uneasy harness. Just how wide the split is or will become may take some time to ascertain.

★ ★ ★

Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky says the Soviet Union has "successfully solved the problem of destroying rockets in flight." Presumably he means his forces have an antimissile.

Malinovsky told the 22nd Communist party congress Monday that the U.S.S.R. "is capable of inflicting a crushing defeat upon the aggressor" with a new branch of its armed forces equipped with rockets and nuclear weapons.

Malinovsky contended that rocket troops will play the decisive role in any future war. But he added: "We believe that the final victory over the aggressor can be achieved only through joint action of all armed forces."

BETTER PREPARATION—West Berlin policemen on duty at the East-West Berlin border near Brandenburg Gate (background) carry submachine guns for the first time Monday. Previously only a few of the police force assigned to border posts carried carbines; others were armed with pistols. Submachine guns are being issued to all West Berlin policemen assigned to border posts, a police spokesman said.

JFK, Bonn Ambassador Confer on Berlin Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — West German Ambassador Wilhelm Grewe indicated today that West Germany believes the allies should press for removal of the wall between East and West Berlin in any negotiations with Russia.

Grewe talked with reporters at the White House after delivering a letter to President Kennedy from West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer on the Bonn government's policies on the Berlin crisis.

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy conferred with West German Ambassador Wilhelm Grewe today, presumably to discuss Bonn's terms for Berlin negotiations with Russia.

Grewe, who returned last weekend from consultations in the West German capital, also was understood to have brought a message from Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The White House meeting, Kennedy's second with Allied ambassadors in successive days, began shortly before 9:30 a.m. Late Monday the President had an unannounced meeting with French Ambassador Herve Alphand.

In Berlin, East Berlin border guards backed down Monday night when three Americans defied a new Communist restriction on travel through the Berlin wall.

After a dispute Sunday between the border guards and the deputy chief of the U.S. occupation mission in Berlin, East Germany's Red regime announced all Allied personnel in civilian clothes would have to show identification papers to East German police when passing between the Soviet and Allied sectors of Berlin.

Megaton Size Uncertain but Biggest to Date

Scientists Disagree on Eventual Landing Spot for Radioactive Dust

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union is getting a backfire of radioactive fallout today from its mammoth nuclear explosion, U.S. Weather Bureau scientists reported.

They said the fallout was carried on winds blowing south to southeast over the U.S.S.R.

The massive blast, triggered Monday in the atmosphere over the Novaya Zemlya region in the Arctic, may have been the 50-

megaton explosion that Soviet Premier Khrushchev had announced.

But the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said it doubts the detonation was that big.

The AEC said the blast's yield "was very high, possibly as high as 50 megatons." But it added that preliminary analysis "indicates it was more probably on the border of 30 megatons."

There has been no word from the Soviet Union on the explosion.

★ ★ ★

But, either size, it was biggest man-made explosion in history. A 30-megaton bomb releases energy equivalent to 30 million tons of TNT. It would carry more punch than all the previously announced 21 tests in the current Soviet series.

10 to 20 MEGATONS

The largest previous Soviet test was estimated at about 10 megatons. The biggest U.S. nuclear test has been reported at 15 to 20 megatons.

Robert List, chief of the Weather Bureau's atmospheric radiation activity project, said the Soviet Union "would get more of the immediate fallout" from the explosion than other areas.

Since it was likely the bomb was fired high in the atmosphere,

Pleads Guilty to Manslaughter

John Haase, 19, Will Be Sentenced Nov. 14 on Reduced Charge

The slayer of an 18-year-old Pontiac girl pleaded guilty yesterday in Circuit Court to a reduced charge of manslaughter.

Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland, who accepted the plea, scheduled sentencing of John Haase, 19, of 181 S. Marshall St., for 9 a.m. Nov. 14.

Haase could receive a maximum sentence of 15 years in Jackson Prison.

He admitted killing Janet M. Olsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Olsen, 115 Euclid St., with a 12-gauge shotgun during the course of a teen-age party in the Haase apartment.

Haase said the gun went off while in his hands as he was "playing around."

The girl was shot in the head.

★ ★ ★

In a statement at the prosecutor's office, Haase said he only intended to scare the girl by putting a shell in the gun, cocking it and then ejecting the shell. He added that he couldn't remember pulling the trigger.

★ ★ ★

The charge was reduced from first degree murder in Municipal Court last week when Judge Cecil A. McCallum ruled that there was no evidence of premeditation or intent to kill.

UAW Aiming at Local Units

Head Back to Chrysler Hoping 'Only Few Will Be Out of Fold Tonight'

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union headed back to the Chrysler Corp. bargaining table today with the announced intention of reaching agreement at most key local bargaining units.

The UAW said Monday night it had settled with Chrysler at 42 local bargaining units. The union says it has 88 local units at Chrysler, while the firm figures there are 102.

Norman Matthews, UAW vice president who heads the union's Chrysler department, said that by tonight "There should be only eight or 10 key plants left."

Subcommittee meetings were scheduled this morning, followed by a general session this afternoon as Chrysler and the UAW try to reach agreement on a new three-year contract.

The union has reversed the bargaining tactics it used at General Motors and Ford. The UAW is trying to settle local problems before coming to grips with national issues of wages and fringe benefits. Strikes hit both GM and Ford because of local issues after national economic agreements had been reached.

NO DEADLINE SET

Reuther has said he hopes to wrap up the entire Chrysler package by Friday night, when the executive council of the international union is scheduled to meet.

No strike deadline has been set at Chrysler.

Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, was sent to Twinsburg, Ohio, to help iron out problems at a Chrysler assembly plant there.

Top union and company officials met for three hours Monday and discussed noneconomic portions of the national contract.

Meanwhile the UAW sent Leonard Woodcock, a vice president, and Brendon Sexton, Reuther's administrative assistant, to Kenosha, Wis., to help sell the union's historic profit-sharing agreement with American Motors Corp. to members of Local 72 at the AMC assembly plant. The local rejected the contract Oct. 8 and the UAW has ordered another vote. No date for the second vote has been set.

AMC Vice President Edward Cushman and George C. Cullen, the firm's labor relations director, also went to Kenosha. They were invited by local 72 leaders to help sell the new contract to the members.

UF Campaign Nears Half of Total Goal

The Pontiac Area United Fund Drive today neared half of its $672,500 goal with only one week of campaign completed.

"This is very encouraging," said Thomas F. Wiethorn, general campaign chairman. "It means we've got about one-half of the work done in one-third of the time we have to do it."

The drive, which began Oct. 17, ends Nov. 10.

Campaign chairmen have reported $290,475 already collected or pledged. This represents about 43 per cent of the total goal.

Already in the home stretch of its collection drive is the women's division. The women will conclude their drive Friday.

COLLECTED $13,717

To date the division has collected $12,717 of it's goal of $27,000 for Pontiac, Waterford Township and Lake Angelus.

This represents 47 per cent of our goal," said Mrs. Walter Noffsinger, chairman. "More than 1,300 women have been making calls and reports indicate we'll make our goal by Oct. 27.

"We're looking forward to a big victory at our report luncheon Oct. 31," she said.

CONTRASTING REPORTS

The industrial division is marked by contrasting reports. Pontiac's eight major industries have 52.7 per cent of their quota spoken for, but general manufacturers show only five per cent collected.

"Employes of the eight major industries are to be highly commended for their contributions," said Thomas E. Wilson, chairman.

"They have donated $232,000 to date. This is 77 per cent of the employes' goal and the total amount collected against the total big industry goal of $440,022.

"The firms have yet to make their contributions," he said. "The general manufacturers have donated $265 of their $4,520 goal."

Commercial division collections total $48,907.37. This represents 27.2 per cent of the commercial division goal of $179,876.33, according to Harry J. Woodman, division chairman.

"Most of this is from advance gifts," Woodman pointed out. "Our division solicitors should remember we have only two weeks left and a long way to go."

Sentence Leads to Flood of Words at Con-Con

LANSING (AP)—An argument over 24 words in Michigan's present constitution touched off thousands of words of oratory at the constitutional convention Monday night.

★ ★ ★

Center of the controversy was a sentence, first written in the Northwest Ordinance of 1787 when Michigan was still a territory. They were written again into the state's 1908 convention and read:

★ ★ ★

"Religion, morality and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged."

★ ★ ★

The con-con committee on education, headed by former Congressman Alvin Bentley, R-Owosso, had urged the 144-man convention on Friday to adopt the 1787 words as the first item to be included in Michigan's proposed new constitution.

Goldberg Is 'Man of Night'

Met Opens With a 'Western'

NEW YORK (AP)—A gun-totin', poker-playin' Westrun (sic) sung in Italian—and all those society folk making a big man out of a fellow who used to work for the CIO — what is the Metropolitan Opera coming to?

What the Met came to Monday night was one of the most exciting opening nights in its recent history — the opening night that nearly didn't happen at all.

The man who made it happen — Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg—was the big man of the night from the operagoers' parade at the start to the champagne hour in the exclusive Opera Club.

To explain why Goldberg took over the opera one must backtrack to last summer, when the Met was canceling its entire season because of a labor dispute, and Leontyne Price—who starred in Monday night's performance—was pleading: "Send us Goldberg."

MANY ON HAND

Goldberg showed up and ironed out the situation, and the opera went on. Some of the people who showed up at the Opera Club to pay tribute to Goldberg's talents were President Kennedy's mother-in-law, Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss; the President's sister, Mrs. Stephen Smith; Adlai E. Stevenson, Dr. Ralph Bunche and President Mongi Slim of the United Nations; CIA Director Allen W. Dulles, and former Ambassador to London Lewis Douglas.

Goldberg bore with him a message from the President: "The discord ended, let the harmony begin." Goldberg said he and the President both hoped the Metropolitan's near-miss of a season would help to point up the nation's need to do more to foster the arts.

As for the gun-totin' and poker-playin', one must backtrack still further — to 1907, when Italian composer Giacomo Puccini was in New York to see some of his operas performed at the Metropolitan, and in between operas went to see David Belasco's "The Girl of the Golden West" on Broadway.

Working to Name New U.N. Head

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —U.S. and Soviet delegates scheduled another meeting today in an attempt to clear the final hurdle blocking agreement on an interim secretary general for the United Nations as the world body observed its 16th anniversary.

Diplomats hoped the meeting between Adlai E. Stevenson and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin, their eighth since Dag Hammarskjold perished in an African plane crash five weeks ago, might finally resolve the stalemate preventing the U.N. Assembly from naming a new head for the secretariat.

ONE DIFFERENCE

★ ★ ★

Zorin told reporters the only issue remaining was how many principal advisers the U.N. chief should choose from among his undersecretaries. Stevenson said it was not a question of numbers but of whether the advisers would be "geographical representatives or whether it's a political division."

★ ★ ★

Stevenson and Zorin agreed some time ago that U Thant of Burma should fill out Hammarskjold's term — expiring in April 1963—and that he should have principal advisers from the United States, the Soviet Union, Africa and Latin America.

PROPOSE 2 DEPUTIES

The United States proposed appointment of a fifth deputy from Western Europe. The Soviet Union insisted this must be balanced by a sixth deputy from Communist East Europe.

A group of black African nations readied a demand for a sweeping diplomatic and economic boycott of South Africa as debate began on the republic's white supremacist policies.

Ghana had originally included a demand in the resolution that South Africa be expelled from the United Nations but informants said a number of African countries had balked at such a drastic step.

In the assembly's main political committee Soviet opposition killed a move by Norway for an immediate vote on a demand that the Soviet Union cancel its 50-megaton hydrogen bomb test.

SAFETY BOYS LEARN SAFETY—Waterford Township police detective Arthur Holmes is shown explaining rules of safety to a group of Schoolcraft patrol boys. In a new program designed to educate boys and girls in conduct on and off the schoolgrounds, the Waterford police last night received unanimous support from the Township Board for the new instruction program.

Hearing Reveals U.S. Firms Selling to Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) —A research specialist has told a Senate subcommittee that U.S. firms are selling "perhaps 150 to 200 items of significance" to Communist-bloc nations.

Among the items, he said, are rubber, scrap metal and vehicles.

The research expert, Joseph A. Gwyer, now on leave from the Library of Congress, testified before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee Monday as he group reopened the hearings it began earlier this year on U.S. trade. He also said U.S. allies have been expanding the trade with Iron Curtain countries.

Gwyer said he believed the United States should end all trade with the Soviet Union and the Communist bloc.

Fog Plus Rain Produce 'Frog' in U.S. Today

By The Associated Press

Fog, drizzle and light rain extended from the southern Great Lakes region south and southwestward into central Missouri and Indiana. The murky weather was associated with a slow-moving cold front that extended across northwest Ohio southwestward into Texas.

It was chilly in most of the northern Rockies, the northern Plains and eastward into the upper Great Lakes and southward into northern Illinois. Temperatures were generally in the 30s. Lower marks, in the 20-30 degree range, were reported in northern New England.

The driver of the car said that when an East German policeman stopped him, "I told him I was not going to show him my papers. There was a brief argument and then I was allowed to pass."

The trio returned three hours later and again refused to show their papers. After another argument, they were allowed to pass into West Berlin.

Also in Berlin, West Berlin police, freshly armed with automatic weapons and tear-gas grenades, were prepared today to give the Communists some more of their own medicine if they persist in lobbing tear-gas grenades into the Western sector.

Last night, West Berlin police hurled six tear-gas grenades at the Communists in retaliation for five gas grenades the Red border guards tossed at a West Berlin sound truck that was sending news and music across the Iron Curtain.

School Safety Program OK'd

Waterford Board in Favor of 6-Point Plan Sponsored by Police

The Waterford Township Board last night gave its "wholehearted and unanimous approval," backing a six-point school safety program sponsored by the township police department.

Detective Arthur Holmes presented an outline for operation in 24 elementary and two parochial schools. He told the board that the program was already under way with safety talks and movies at each of the schools after initial instruction at the police department.

A code of basic safety rules will be made up and distributed to each pupil and a "patrol boy of the month" will be selected by a panel.

Further, the program will include a "safety citizen of the month," to be elected by the student council or chosen by the principal of the school with the panel to make selection in the same manner as the patrol boy.

There will be a safety poster campaign for all schools, too.

Safety talks at schools will be increased to two a year and given at assemblies.

The purpose of the program is to insure the safety of children, to educate the parents to safety rules and to reduce juvenile delinquency by giving youngsters a constructive goal.

Plan U. of M. Study of Chinese Red Law

NEW YORK (AP)— The first major study of Chinese Communist law in the western world is to be undertaken at the University of Michigan Law School.

Funds for the study were included in a $3 million grant to the University of Michigan announced today by the Ford Foundation.

The study will be undertaken by three legal scholars. They include Whitmore Gray of Monroe, University of Michigan expert on Soviet law; Tao Tai Hsia, head of the Far Eastern law division of the Library of Congress; and a third man yet to be selected.

It was understood that Prof. Kenneth Wang of St. John's University, New York City, former judge and law professor in Shanghai, was being sought for the open place.

S. Viet Nam Says Red Troops Used

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam formally charged Communist North Viet Nam today with sending regular troops into this country to carry out a campaign of subversion against the pro-Western government of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Diem's government made its charges in a 16-page letter to the international commission and asked for an investigation.

INCLUDES 'DIARIES'

The letter included documents purporting to be diaries picked up in clashes with Communist Viet Cong rebels, transcripts of prisoner interrogation, and records of Red agents who supplied North Vietnamese with food, guns and ammunition.

Members of the U.S. fact-finding mission led by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor were known to feel the documents present a significant and generally accurate report.

The South Vietnamese action could be a move to lay a legal basis for any U.S. intervention that might be decided on by Washington and Saigon to counter spreading Communist rebel attacks.

DECIDES ON PROPOSALS

Taylor, President Kennedy's special military adviser, has decided on the broad outlines of the proposals he will make to Kennedy, a U.S. spokesman said.

Little is expected to come of the South Vietnamese charges to the commission, a relatively ineffective agency consisting of representatives of India, Poland and Canada set up in 1954 to police the Geneva agreement under which Viet Nam was partitioned.

Southfield OKs Application for Planning Grant

SOUTHFIELD—The City Council last night agreed to apply for the 701 urban planning study grant, a federally sponsored program to aid cities in developing a master plan.

The action follows Mayor S. James Clarkson's recommendation of Sept. 21 when he appointed the firm of Vilican-Leman and Associates of Southfield as the city's first full time city planners.

A community renewal program is proposed by the mayor for the 26½-square-mile area of Southfield which has a population of less than 50,000.

The main advantage of the program is the low cost, as the federal government would pay three-quarters of the plan, according to city officials.

The overall cost of the three-year program is $70,000, with Southfield's share being $17,120.

Third of Selfridge Unit Activated for 60 Days

About 30 of the unit's 90 members are involved, Selfridge officials said, details of where the unit will be located are secret. The 3065th is the Air Force's major air rescue unit in the Great Lakes area.

Five Hearings Slated Tonight

Commission Expected to OK Moves Vacating Shopping Center Site

Five public hearings on resolutions to vacate properties within the proposed site of the Glenwood Plaza Shopping Center will take up most of tonight's city commission meeting.

It is expected the resolutions will get final approval since property for expansion of the shopping center has already been rezoned to commercial.

This would be the final step in a three-month drive by developers to expand the center on Glenwood Avenue, just east of North Perry Street.

To be vacated by the city are parts of Grandview Boulevard, Omar and McGregor Streets, Gilmour Drive and a 30-foot alley.

Commissioners will also be asked to give City Manager Walter R. Willman authorization to file the city's application for a loan and grant to cover cost of Pontiac's second urban renewal project.

The application will go to the Urban Renewal Administration and Housing and Home Finance Administration offices in Chicago.

The Commission will also consider passing a resolution approving engineers for the preparation of an airport master plan and will renew the lease from General Motors Truck & Coach Division of property for Southwest Civic Park.

Katanga Peace Terms Ratified

Tshombe's Reaction Not Yet Known; Congo Pact Still Incomplete

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (UPI)—United Nations headquarters has ratified the Katanga cease fire and Katanga President Moise Tshombe has been informed of the terms, a U.N. spokesman said today.

★ ★ ★

Tshombe's reaction was not yet known.

It was not clear whether U.N. headquarters had specified further terms to which he must agree.

The U.N. ratification said the cease fire in no way affected the Security Council or General Assembly decisions concerning the unity, integrity and independence of the Congo.

★ ★ ★

The ratification emphasized that the exchange of prisoners must take place before other clauses of the agreement are put into effect.

UNITY BOGS DOWN

The latest efforts of the central government at Leopoldville to bring Katanga back into the fold appeared today to have bogged down.

Two Katanga officials returned to Elisabethville Monday night with the central government's refusal to give Katanga de facto recognition as an independent state as a condition for political talks.

Tshombe offered to negotiate an arrangement that would establish economic, monetary and military unity but let Katanga retain its political independence.

★ ★ ★

Central government spokesman Joseph Ileo said Katanga could not be given any more status than other provinces of the Congo.

R. J. LONGPRE

Longpre Plans to Retire Soon

Production Manager Joined GM's Pontiac Division in '27

Ray J. Longpre, production manager of Pontiac Motor Division, will retire on Oct. 31, following 34 years of service, it was announced by S. E. Knudsen, Pontiac general manager and vice president of General Motors today.

Longpre joined the Pontiac Division Oct. 17, 1927, as material supervisor of the sheet metal plant and later became general material supervisor. In 1946 he was named production manager and was appointed to the general manager's staff in 1956.

As production manager, Longpre has been responsible for general material control at Pontiac and the six Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly plants across the country, parts warehouse operations nationally, central stores and traffic operations.

He has been responsible for many of the new developments in scheduling and materials handling techniques.

★ ★ ★

A native of Lake Linden, Longpre has been active in civic affairs and is a member of the Pontiac Elks Club and Knights of Columbus. He has two sons, Robert and Ray, Jr., both California businessmen, and a daughter, Mrs. Virginia Stevenson, of Ludington.

The Day in Birmingham

City Commission Okays Purchase of Land Tract

BIRMINGHAM — Approval was given by the City Commission last night to purchase a small tract of land in the western section of the city that would give the city a continuous strip of parkway almost from Lincoln Avenue to Maple Road.

Cost of the 1.2 acres, directly west of the Rouge River and south of Hawthorne Street, is $22,500. The property is owned by John H. Rosso.

The parcel will link two municipally-owned properties, Linden Park, south of the purchased tract, and the Rouge Parkway, which extends north to Maple Road.

City Manager L. R. Gare had recommended the purchase of the property even though the selling price was $6,500 higher than it had been appraised.

Gare said the additional money was for improvements that Rosso had done on the property when the city granted an access several years ago to the landlocked parcel in exchange for a city easement.

A court decision, however, revoked the earlier grant of the city, stating that the city had no right to provide an access across city-owned property.

The action made the parcel unusable for development.

The Birmingham Postcomers Club will hold its annual benefit bridge party 1 p.m. Thursday at the Community House.

Funds raised from the event will be used to purchase supplies for the Senior Ladies' Workshop; thread to sew cancer pads, yarn to knit sweaters and other materials to make items for Veterans Hospital patients.

Murray D. Jones Jr.

A Requiem Mass for Murray D. Jones Jr., 43, of 2852 Colonial Way, Bloomfield Hills, will be said 10 a.m. Thursday at Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church, Drayton Plains. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery, Arlington, Va.

A former resident of Drayton Plains, Mr. Jones died Sunday in Veteran's Hospital, Ann Arbor, after a long illness.

He was a glider pilot in World War II and held a commission as first lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force Reserve until 1957.

Mr. Jones was a member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Lodge No. 810, Pontiac; and Local No. 58, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Detroit.

The Rosary will be recited 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Manley-Bailey Funeral Home.

Surviving are two sons, Michael D. and Patrick D., both of Lake Orion; his father, Murray D. Jones; a sister, Mrs. Joseph S. Pinter, Bloomfield Hills; and three brothers, John J. and Gerald O., both of Birmingham, and Phillip A. of Pontiac.

Three Brothers Sent to Prison for City Burglary

Minimum sentences of one year in Jackson Prison were passed on the three Scribner brothers of Pontiac today in Circuit Court for burglarizing the Moose Lodge in Pontiac last May.

In passing sentence on Anthony, 19, and Larry, 18, both of 44 Forest Ave., and Charles Scribner, 28, of 900 Mt. Clemens area, Judge William J. Beer said "I have entirely ignored your past records, feeling that you should be judged for this crime alone."

The brothers were found guilty at their trial Oct. 5. They had been apprehended inside the building by Pontiac police after closing time.

★ ★ ★

Fallout Sifts Down on U.S.S.R. Area

List said only a small fraction of the fallout would sift down immediately, that the greater portion of it would be sucked into the stratosphere and would come down perhaps next spring.

★ ★ ★

But considering the size of the blast, said List, the amount of radioactive debris blowing over Soviet farms, villages and towns would be appreciable.

★ ★ ★

Two U.S. scientists said, however, that in the long run the United States will get most of the fallout.

In Rochester, N.Y., physicist Ralph Lapp said "because of the latitude at which they test, we get most of the fallout from the Russian bombs."

★ ★ ★

He replied: "I can only answer that with a qualified yes. It depends on the construction of the bomb."

Water Storage to Be Studied

Waterford Twp. Board Told of Extra Amount Needed for Mall

Waterford Township Board members were informed by Water Supt. Kenneth Squires that the township's largest water system was in "critical" condition due to lack of storage space.

In a detailed report, Squires pointed out the deficiency of well capacity and elevated storage particularly in the near future when 22 new services will be connected to the Pontiac Mall Shopping Center.

At present there are 2,627 connections serving approximately 9,195 in Water System 1 in the Huron Gardens area.

The board decided to proceed with financial consultants and determine just how much the township may require for two supply tanks to alleviate the water problem in that section.

In other business, about 25 residents from the LaSalle Park Subdivision were present—some protesting and others for—the establishment of a special street lighting district.

A public hearing on the project was held from 7 to 9 p.m. for the 430 assessments which would require $4.58 apiece annually.

After more than an hour of discussion, the board finally postponed the hearing to Jan. 8, so that new petitions could be circulated.

★ ★ ★

The board approved the rezoning of five lots of Cass Lake Highlands Subdivision from recreation to residential, and rezoned 35 feet of seven lots in the Floradale Subdivision from residential to commercial.

Waterford to Settle Flaws in '62 Budget

The Waterford Township Board will meet in "executive session" at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the town hall to iron out any possible flaws in a proposed 1962 budget that calls for no salary or personnel increases, according to Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Actually, two tentative budgets will be presented for deliberation due to the change last month from a standard township to a charter township. Both budgets were presented at last night's regular township board meeting for consideration.

Under the old system the budget period was April 1 to April 1. Under the charter township form, the budget period will be Jan. 1 to Jan. 1.

This year's budget will end Dec. 31, or three months earlier than planned, to make way for the new charter township budget.

The township is expected to have an opening balance of $480,032, Jan. 1, 1962.

The proposed budgets may be changed by the Township Board tomorrow night, prior to the public hearing for the budget to be held at 7 p.m. Monday. In the meantime the township budget is available for scrutiny at the township clerk's offices.

"Although government operation will run more smoothly by starting the fiscal year Jan. 1, it has been rather a problem in revising the 1961-62 budget which began April 1," Johnson explained.

He added that with the new type of operation the township board will have more time to set up the annual budget for the allocation board than with the standard township operation.

However, the township does not receive the anticipated $75,000 sales tax and the local taxes until mid-February making it more difficult in government transition, Johnson said.

To Counter U.S. Polaris Threat?

Reveal Red Underwater N-Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Soviet underwater nuclear test indicates the Soviet Union is making a major effort to counter the mounting force of U.S. Polaris submarines.

The report by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission that a relatively low-powered nuclear explosion was set off under water south of the arctic island of Novaya Zemlya was overshadowed by the rest of the AEC announcement.

That was that the U.S.S.R. also had detonated in the atmosphere over the Novaya area a nuclear device of very high yield, possibly as much as 50 megatons but more probably on the order of 30 megatons.

About the same time, the Soviet defense minister issued a statement that "the problem of destroying rockets in flight has been solved successfully." The ambiguous phrasing of Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky left in doubt his exact meaning.

LITTLE DOUBT

But there could be little doubt about the significance of the two other Soviet experiments.

The big bomb is intended as an offensive weapon to intimidate the West with the prospect of mass destruction.

But underwater nuclear weapons and antimissile missiles — if indeed the latter have been developed by the Soviets—are designed to repel retaliatory strikes which the United States promises to unleash if the Soviet Union makes war.

At least four atomic-powered Polaris submarines are on station within range of Russian targets. Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell Gilpatric said last Saturday that six such submarines were at sea, armed with 96 missiles. One or two of them may be en route or getting ready to head for stations off the northwest European coast. Eventually, 10 Polaris boats will be assigned to the missile watch.

The underwater test Monday was a trial of an antisubmarine warfare weapon — such as the U.S.S.R. would include in a strike against the Polaris fleet in event of war.

Sentenced to Prison in Fatal Car Crash

Convicted of negligent homicide in the March 17 auto death of a Pontiac youth, Milford S. Mullins, 29, of 3937 Queensbury Road, Orion Township, was sentenced to serve 1 to 2 years in Jackson Prison yesterday by Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

★ ★ ★

Mullins pleaded guilty Sept. 25 to having caused the fatal crash on Joslyn Road in Orion Township that took the life of Donald E. Rawlins, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Glendell G. Rawlins, 791 Second St.

The victim was killed when his auto was struck head-on by a car driven on the wrong side of the road by Mullins.

Meat Packers Sign Contracts

New Labor Agreements Put Accent on Worker Security

CHICAGO (AP)—Contracts that put the accent on worker security have been completed with the major firms in the nation's meat packing industry.

★ ★ ★

Unions reported today that agreements have been reached with the national concerns. Negotiations now are in progress with smaller companies.

WORRIED ABOUT JOBS

The round of talks started last summer. Unions were worried about a drop of 30,000 in employment in slaughtering plants in five years. The reason: packers are modernizing with new plant layouts, new equipment and new processes that require less manpower.

Contracts reflect that trend.

A provision, that has been termed unique in the packing field is a prime feature of the contracts between Armour & Co. and two unions, the United Packinghouse, Food and Allied Workers and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen.

It is called technological adjustment pay. Workers with at least five years seniority who are displaced by mechanized progress will receive $65 a week—minus unemployment compensation and any earnings from other jobs. The benefits will be paid for 26 to 39 weeks, depending on seniority. To be eligible, a worker must sign up for transfer to another Armour plant.

BRUNSWICK, Germany (AP)—An original Rembrandt, stolen nearly two years ago from West Berlin's Dahlem Art Museum, has turned up in a baggage locker of the Brunswick railroad station, police reported Monday.

They said they found the masterpiece, "Christ's Head," valued at $62,500, last Sunday after an anonymous telephone caller told them where to look. It was wrapped in a thick layer of newspapers and was undamaged, police added.

Thailand, Cambodia Urged to Settle Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department has appealed to Thailand and Cambodia for "statesmanlike" settlement of their differences in the face of a common threat from Communism.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White said Monday the United States holds both Cambodia's chief of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk and Thailand's Prime Minister Sarit Thanarat "in high esteem."

He said the United States did not have any information, to his knowledge, supporting Sarit's charges which touched off the latest flareup in the Thai-Cambodian feud.

Sarit said in a speech Friday that the Communists planned to use Cambodia as a "jumping off place for attacks on neighboring countries." He also sharply criticized "a certain leader of certain country," which an aide identified as Shianouk and Cambodia.

McGuffeys Must Go, Rules School Chief

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The school board in the community of Twin Lakes has been told its McGuffey Readers must go.

State Supt. of Public Instruction Angus B. Rothwell, in a letter to the board ordered the books, first printed in 1879, dropped even as supplementary texts.

Rothwell said he has the authority to improve schools, exclude sectarian books, and to withhold state financial aids from schools not meeting standards.

The board at Twin Lakes, in Southeast Wisconsin, voted 4-1 last August to adopt the book as its basic reader. After a protest by parents, the board voted last week to drop the McGuffeys to the role of "supplementary readers" after taping over sectarian sections.

Police Fire on Mob in Peru; Man Killed

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Police opened fire Monday night on a group of striking teachers and university students breaking automobile windows during a demonstration outside the congress building. One man was killed and three were wounded.

The teachers are striking for higher salaries. The government announced pay increases but some of the strikers said they were not enough.

Twelve of the teachers had been on a hunger strike for five days. Such strikes are illegal in Peru, and police hauled the 12 to a hospital and had them fed forcibly Monday.

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Edmund Davison Soper, 85, president of Ohio Wesleyan University from 1928 to 1938 and Methodist minister and missionary, died Monday. At one time he was vice president of Duke University and dean of its school of religion. He had taught at several other colleges.

Zulu Chieftain to Accept Prize

Will Try for Passport to Go to Oslo Dec. 10, Despite Restrictions

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)—Zulu chieftain Albert Luthuli prepared today to apply for a South African passport in order to accept the 1960 Nobel Peace Prize in person.

Luthuli, 62, has been restricted to an area on the northern coast of the province of Natal since 1959 because of his opposition to South Africa's apartheid laws.

He learned he had won the prize Monday when he came home from cutting cane on his 44-acre farm.

Many Africans have been punished for their beliefs in freedom and justice, Luthuli said.

"We had not had many material triumphs but kept the spirit of freedom alive in ourselves and in others," he said.

"Now comes this new encouragement which makes us thank God and all our brothers throughout the world for remembering us."

The government restrictions on Luthuli, which have two more years to run, include a prohibition against his taking part in any political activities.

Luthuli said Monday he felt the Nobel Prize was meant for all Africans on the continent "who have tried to attain freedom along peaceful lines." He announced he would seek permission to travel to Oslo Dec. 10.

Taylor Decides on JFK Report

Meets Viet Nam Chief to Go Over Proposals He Will Make

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor has decided on the broad outlines of the proposals he will make to President Kennedy for swift action against the Communist threat to South Viet Nam's independence, a U.S. spokesman said today.

★ ★ ★

Taylor, Kennedy's special military adviser, met with South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem for two and a half hours in what was possibly their final business session.

REVIEW PROPOSAL

The spokesman said the head of Kennedy's save Viet Nam mission and Diem "reviewed in very general terms the proposals to be made to President Kennedy" when Taylor returns to Washington, probably late this week.

Earlier today the Socialist Union group in the National Assembly appealed for American troops to be sent to South Viet Nam. Because the group generally follows the line set by Diem, its statement was considered possibly significant.

★ ★ ★

The statement could indicate a change in Diem's position since last spring, when he reportedly told Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson he did not want U.S. troops here. Since Johnson's visit the Communist Viet Cong have been mounting heavier and more widespread attacks and the American-trained South Vietnamese army has found it increasingly hard to cope with them.

AMA Commends Safety Campaign on Plastic Bags

CHICAGO (UPI) — The American Medical Association (AMA) has commended a public education campaign which has substantially reduced the death toll from suffocation by plastic bags.

But the AMA has warned parents to be careful when using the plastic bags around the house. It said parents should not give children the airtight bags to play with or use them as make-shift bed spreads or pillow cases.

The medical group said 100 persons died from plastic bag suffocation in 1959.

Con-Con President Proposes Deadlines

LANSING (UPI) — Two proposed items in the timeable of the con-con convention were laid before committee chairmen Monday night by President Stephen S. Nisbet, R-Fermont.

One would set Nov. 15 as a tentative deadline for delegates to introduce proposed new sections of the constitution. The other would set Jan. 1 as a deadline for public hearings on various sections of the constitution.

Both dates were tentative. Nisbet explained he put them out to 1—Get the feeling of the convention and 2—to have some sort of timetable on which the convention could base its operations.

Rocky Says Kennedy Won't Be Unbeatable

BARRE, Vt. (AP)—New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he does not believe President Kennedy will be unbeatable in 1964.

Here to attend a Republican dinner, he was asked at a news conference about GOP prospects of ousting the Democratic administration in the next national election.

"I don't think anyone is unbeatable," said Rockefeller, who is expected to bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

Udall to Climb Famed Mt. Fuji

Luggage Loaded With Gear for Attempt on Visit to Japan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Of all the baggage being readied for a visit to Japan by five Cabinet members, that of Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall will probably be the heaviest.

Udall and his four fellow Cabinet members will head a delegation that leaves next week for a meeting of the U.S.-Japan Joint Council on Trade and Finance. The others are Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, originally scheduled to make the trip, has decided to send Undersecretary Henry Fowler in his place.

On Nov. 5, Udall hopes to scale 13,000-foot Mt. Fuji, even though heavy snows usually cover the mountain by then. That explains the luggage.

Repeat Vows

Three hundred guests attended an evening reception in the UAW-CIO Hall for Joseph C. Csizmadia and his bride, the former Marilyn Ann Lesperance who spoke vows before Rev. James L. Hayes Saturday in St. Michael Church.

Parents of the bridal couple are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lesperance of East Hopkins Avenue and the Carl Csizmadias of East Tennyson Avenue.

MRS. JOSEPH C. CSIZMADIA

Floor-length white Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta for the bride was appliqued with Venice lace touched with seed pearls. She wore illusion veiling secured by a jeweled tiara and carried white carnations and sweetheart roses.

Maid of honor Sandra Klapowich, Windsor, Ont., wore turquoise taffeta with velvet bodice. Attending their sister and sister-in-law as bridesmaids were Mrs. George Gibson and Mrs. Marcel Lesperance, wearing shocking pink. Ball-shaped bouquets of carnations, held by linked raffia handles, matched their dresses.

Brown-tipped white carnations complemented Mrs. Lesperance's dress of beige lace over taffeta and toast Chantilly lace over apricot taffeta for the mother of the bridegroom.

The newlyweds will reside in Pontiac.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

When does baby go on a 3-square-a-day schedule? Usually between 6 and 8 months, depending on your doctor's advice and baby's readiness. Things to remember when you start this new baby routine:

- A 3-meal schedule means a gap of 4 or 5 hours between meals. You can help baby "wait it out" by giving him his Gerber Juice at midmorning—a Gerber Teething Biscuit at midafternoon.
- Reasonable regularity is important, but you don't have to be a complete slave to the clock.

Variety is 'specially important now to keep baby interested in his meals. Gerber offers over 50 delicious varieties for your baby's eating pleasure and nutritional well-being. All are specially prepared to preserve the utmost in flavor and nutritive values. Typical Gerber menus for a day in the life of your baby:

Lunch. Beef or Chicken • Squash • Orange Pudding • Milk

Dinner. Ham or Turkey High Meat Dinner • Peaches • Milk

Variety is also important because it exposes baby to the many different foods that help establish good eating habits. And, if baby should balk at one food or another, Gerber offers any number of alternate choices with similar nutritive values. For example: Squash can be substituted for Sweet Potatoes—Chicken Noodle Dinner for Macaroni, Tomato, Beef and Bacon.

Point to remember: little appetites usually fare better if you serve small portions . . . and if the mealtime atmosphere is smiling, unhurried and unworried. And less appetite to both baby and you. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Breakfast. Rice Cereal or Oatmeal • Egg Yolks • Milk

Eating Isn't Everything

It Takes Will to Diet

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The following letter states very simply and sincerely some of the benefits of weight reduction, and also the attitude which is necessary to succeed. This reader says:

"I started dieting in January 1961. I weighed 220 pounds. I was so miserable that I could hardly breathe. My muscles ached and I would get up in the morning just as tired as when I went to bed.

"Now, in August 1961, after dieting, I weigh 160 pounds. After a loss of 60 pounds I feel like a woman again. I can even go swimming and not feel conspicuous. I went from a size 24½ dress to a size 18.

"If I can do it, others can. I just decided that eating wasn't everything. I am still working toward my goal of 120 pounds.

"I am writing this letter so that I may inspire others. Please print it in your column, but omit my name."

It is inspiring to read what another woman has done. It makes it seem much more possible to do it yourself, if you need to, doesn't it? It seems to me that the secret of this reader's success is reflected in her statement, "I just decided that eating wasn't everything."

As much as we enjoy it, after all, eating ISN'T everything. In fact, if it is overdone it can spoil some of life's greatest satisfactions. It can lead to lack of self-confidence, to disinterest in personal appearance and to a shy, retiring personality.

It also can lead to fatigue, that great dampener of enthusiasm and vibrant living. I have a friend who is about 30 pounds overweight. He experienced such devastating fatigue that he feared he might have heart trouble and went to see one of the world's famous specialists.

The expert found nothing wrong with his heart, but told him that he would lose his fatigue if he lost his excess poundage. My friend now is working on this project, and is feeling better with every pound he loses. You have to count calories to lose weight.

If you would like to have my calorie chart, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 38 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

'Controversial' Reading Material Meets Some Opposition

CHICAGO (UPI)—". . . Communism (attracts) many disappointed idealists who have become convinced that democracy has betrayed its values. . . ."

★ ★ ★

Some Americans might agree with this statement. But does it have any place in a seventh or eighth grade reader? Parents and educators are asking questions like this about a relatively new collection of reading material now used in numerous schools across the country.

In Ventura County, Calif., some of the statements made in the reading material have been branded "too controversial" for 12- and 13-year-olds and withdrawn from use in the schools.

In the Chicago suburb of Glencoe, on the other hand, a reading consultant to the town's four elementary schools believes that throwing some controversy into reading matter causes pupils to pay better attention to what they are reading.

The material in question is called "Reading for Understanding" and is published by Science Research Associates (SRA) in Chicago. It is intended as a teaching tool, like a reading text, for developing improved reading skill.

The material, somewhat comparable to a workbook, consists of 440 cards, each with 10 statements. Some of the statements relate to the social sciences, others to the natural and physical sciences, others to the arts, philosophy and mathematics.

The statements are incomplete and pupils demonstrate their understanding of what they have read by selecting one of four endings to each statement.

MUST BE SELECTED

For example, the statement about communism reads: "It is unwise to underestimate the attraction that communism has for many disappointed idealists who have become convinced that democracy: A—can admit no defects. B—is the hope of the oppressed. C—will work if given a chance. D—has betrayed its values. Only the last ending preserves the sense of the statement. It must be selected for this reason, whether or not pupils or teacher feel the statement is justified or true.

Other statements in the material suggest that many present moral standards may be obsolete; that democracy has failed to bring peace, brotherhood, clean politics or honest, capable officials; and that the United States has sometimes been the aggressor on the world scene.

Dr. Thelma Gwinn Thurstone, professor of education at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, and a noted author of tests, compiled the "Reading for Understanding" material. She took the 4,400 statements in the series from various sources, rewriting some. No attempt was made, she said, to make the statements acceptable as social science or physical science or any other subject as taught at the seventh or eighth grade level.

She said the statements were chosen purely as reading comprehension exercises. They were selected to emphasize points in reasoning, inference, interpretation or meaning.

Dr. George Beauchamp, professor of education at Northwestern University, is among the experts who believe this is good educational practice. He said children are never too young to begin reading controversial material.

"It is propaganda, not education, to show youngsters only one side of a question," Beauchamp said. "I should like to see kindergarten-age children exposed to some controversial ideas in school.

★ ★ ★

"How else are we going to educate a democratic populace to go to the polls and resolve controversy intelligently?"

CONSULTANT AGREES

Mrs. Lillian Stevenson, reading consultant to the Glencoe schools, goes along with Beauchamp's view, but sees some justification for Ventura County fears about the use of controversial reading matter.

"Children do have a tendency to believe that anything in print is true," she said, "particularly if it is used in school."

But Mrs. Stevenson also feels that, by its very controversial nature, some of the SRA material demands careful attention from pupils and improves their reading comprehension.

She said she was impressed by how well the material was prepared for the specific purpose of improving reading rather than testing facts or knowledge of any subject.

"Pupils are less likely to be able to complete controversial statements from their own background of experience," she said. "So they are forced to read a controversial statement carefully to complete it in such a way as to preserve its meaning rather than express a truism."

John O'Keefe, editor and director of SRA's educational test department, said it was possible the material might contain some overly controversial matter.

NOT TOO MUCH

"But it is unlikely that much of it could be offensive to many teachers," he said. He said at least two editors were assigned to every story of the material's preparation and that all statements finally used were tested on thousands of school children.

The tests are run, O'Keefe said, to determine whether various statements are too difficult or too elementary for pupils of a given age.

"But the tests also insure that many teachers see the material before it is nationally released and have a chance to complain about any or all of it," he said.

"It is hard to imagine that our staff and all the teachers who preview our material would fail to note anything like a systematic attack on our government or a back-door attempt to propagandize our children," he said.

O'Keefe suggested that if a statement did appear to be controversial, teachers might seize on it as a basis for discussion, thus tying in reading with other subjects.

Numerous teachers in the Chicago area said they were using the material in this way. In Christ the King Catholic School, Sister Mary Suzanne said she found occasional controversial statements most useful as a springboard for launching class discussions of social sciences, in particular.

The material was put on the market three years ago, and has been used increasingly in schools across the country. Many teachers said they urged its purchase on the basis of SRA's reputation in the educational publishing field.

Caution Key Word in Early Trading

Market Takes It Nice and Easy

NEW YORK (AP)—Caution reigned in a mixed stock market early today. Trading was slow and the tendency was toward the downside.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional. A number were unchanged.

The continued decline in steel production and a report that a gathering of economists have reservations about the strength of the expected business upturn in 1962 bred hesitation.

Steels were easy, motors unchanged to lower. Oils continued fairly steady. Jersey Standard, which rose as the most active stock in Monday's sharp market reverse, continued to make fractional progress. Texaco gained slightly.

S-P Tells Loss Over $10 Million

Third Quarter Not as Bad as One Year Ago; 1962 Lark Helps

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Studebaker-Packard Corp. today reported a net loss of $10,282,994 for the first three quarters of 1961, equal to 84 cents per share.

The third quarter deficit of $1,442,822 compared with a loss in the July-September period a year ago of $3,254,799 and was the smallest quarterly loss of the year.

Studebaker lost $6.5 million in the first quarter of this year and $2.3 million in the second quarter. Third quarter earnings, reported for a period which covers the changeover to new models, normally are the lowest of the year.

Sherwood Egbert, S-P president, attributed what he called a sharp turn-around in earnings performance to "the successful introduction of attractively styled 1962 Lark and Lark Daytona models in September."

Third quarter sales totaled $63.6 million this year compared with $63.3 million in the similar quarter a year ago. Sales for the year total $198 million compared with $241.4 million in the first nine months of 1960,

Rising Profits Spread Joy in Business World

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Profits on the rise with still better prospects ahead spread joy today among a majority of the nation's business firms. Considerable mending of the sag in margin of profits on sales also is reported in manufacturing industries. And dividend payments continue to run a bit higher than last year.

The flow of earnings statements now moving toward a peak show the big profit gains over previous figures for most companies came in the third quarter. Two out of three did better than in the like 1960 period.

TOP '60 FIGURES

For more than half of the companies reporting, the July-September increases were enough to pull returns for the first nine months above the 1960 figures, although total earnings of industry in the January through September period hold just about even with last year. This reflects largely the bad showing in the opening months of this year.

Prospects for the final months of 1961 seem even better to the majority of firms wagering a guess. And most economists are now predicting that 1962 will see total business earnings setting new highs.

Of 252 corporations reporting on third quarter net income after taxes only 81 show declines from a year ago. Eleven firms operated at a loss against 20 in 1960. Combined, the 252 firms netted $1,042,633,000 this year, a 12.9 per cent raise over the July-September of 1960 when the same companies earned $923,227,000.

SLIGHT DECREASE

For the first nine months of the year 296 companies show net income of $2,023,002,000 this year against $2,029,020,000 a year earlier for a decline of 0.3 per cent. But 155 of the firms were ahead this year and 141 behind. In each year there were 14 firms reporting a net loss.

★ ★ ★

The bulk of the nation's business, including many of its largest companies, have still to report, and final figures doubtless will show different percentages.

NEW HIGH SEEN

The record annual rate of pretax earnings was set in the second quarter of 1959 at $51.5 billion. In the April-June period this year the annual rate was $45 billion. Next year the 1959 record is expected to topple.

★ ★ ★

Profit margins of U.S. manufacturers which slumped badly last year and slid further in the first three months of 1961 to 3.5 cents on the sales dollar, have bounced back. The Securities and Exchange Commission reports that the margin was 4.4 cents per dollar of sales in the second quarter this year. Most economists think further gains are in store, as cost cutting and mechanization offset rising wage scales.

INCREASED MARGINS

Among companies showing increased profits for both the third quarter and the longer period this year were: American Telphone & Telegraph, International Business Machines, Douglas Aircraft, Allegheny Ludlum Steel, Caterpillar Tractor, Crane, Lorillard, Reynolds Tobacco, Wrigley, Safeway, Ex-Cell-O, Scott Paper, Continental Can, Electrolux, Peabody Coal, Schering and Ideal Cement.

Among those lagging in both the quarter and the first nine months were Liggett & Myers Tobacco, Penn Dixie Cement, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Pullman, Parke Davis, Libbey-Owens-Ford, Rayonier, Upjohn, Allied Chemical, Wyandotte Worsted, American Airlines, Rohm & Haas, Federal Paper Board.

But a long list of others whose nine months total still drags a bit were able to pull ahead smartly in the third quarter. And many corporations reporting for the shorter period only show earnings well ahead of the pevious year.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The nation's leading mutual funds and investment companies put the accent on "quality" issues in their third quarter stock purchases while paying less attention to 'glamor" stocks, according to Arthur Wiesenberger & Co. This continues the trend set in the second quarter, the firm said.

Utilities, electronics, chemicals, oils and autos were the most sought after industry groups. Among the chief selling targets during the third quarter were insurance, retail and agricultural machinery stocks.

Recent liquidation in many of the ex-glamor issues seems to have run-its course, while investment interest has been centered on the standard blue chip industrials, leading western rails and utilities as a group, according to the Alexander Hamilton Institute.

★ ★ ★

Joseph Granville of E. F. Hutton & Co. says the gold and silver stocks are expected to become active features before long.

★ ★ ★

J. W. Sparks & Co. says the heavy overhead supply zone that exists at the 710-720 level is slowly being absorbed and it should not be long before a full-scale rally comes into being.

★ ★ ★

The market remains deeply skeptical about a boom in the immediate future, despite dogmatically optimistic statements by many leading economists, James Dines of A. M. Kidder & Co. tells clients.

★ ★ ★

International Statistical Bureau still believes that auto, steel, chemicals and retail trade stocks will make a better showing than other industries. Says the action of the stock market during the past week was favorable.

★ ★ ★

Spear & Staff has noted renewed vigor in many top specialty stocks and feels it is the strongest growth issues which will lead the next broad market advance.

Car Output Creeping Up to Match Week of 1960

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT—With luck the auto industry should come closer this week to matching production of the similar 1960 week than at any time since the new model run began.

Even last week, when assemblies of 134,873 cars set a high mark for the calendar year, the total fell short of the comparable 1960 week by almost 12,000 units.

A year ago this week the industry turned out 149,525 cars. General Motors built about 74,000; Ford almost 44,000; Chrysler 18,000; American Motors almost 11,000 and Studebaker 2,500.

General Motors expects to top that figure but Ford, which got back into production last week for the first time following a 13-day strike, may be pressed to hit 40,000. Chrysler has been building in the 18,000 weekly range and Studebaker has been duplicating year-ago figures almost exactly, but American Motors continues to trail last year.

Ford still hasn't put its two new cars, the Ford Fairlane and the Mercury Meteor, into volume production. The Fairlane was supposed to go on sale Nov. 2 but reliable sources say that date will be moved back at least two weeks and probably three. "The Meteor still is due in late November or early December.

CORVAIR AHEAD

Meanwhile Chevrolet is moving very slowly with its new compact Chevy II. Only 17,694 of these cars had been built through last week and production still is well below the company's other compact, the Corvair.

★ ★ ★

The industry's calendar year total finally passed the four-million mark last week. At this time a year ago the total stood at 5.4 million.

One interesting note in production of compact cars: The Buick Special has been matching or surpassing the Pontiac Tempest each week of 1962 model output. In 1961, the Tempest held a big edge.
