ROBERT A. SOBLEN

Soblen Escapes Life Sentence —in Death

Brain Damage and Exhaustion Fatal to Fugitive Spy

LONDON (AP) — Fugitive spy Robert A. Soblen died in a London hospital today.

He thus escaped the life sentence that awaited him in a U.S. federal prison for wartime espionage for the Soviet Union.

Soblen died in Hillingdon Hospital, where he had lain unconscious since last Thursday.

He had taken an overdose of barbiturates just before he was removed from Brixton Prison for deportation to the United States.

Dr. Cyril Barnes, who was in charge of Soblen's treatment, told newsmen Soblen's death was due not to the drugs he had taken but rather to "exhaustion following convulsions and damage to the brain, presumably caused by hemorrhage."

The leukemia which Soblen claimed was killing him was one factor in the case but if the overdose had not happened, Soblen might have lived for some years, Barnes said. Leukemia is cancer of the blood.

"The leukemia was not in a very advanced stage. He had had the disease for three years. It was one of those which was running a slow course. The treatment he had had elsewhere in the past had been very effective in keeping the disease under control," Barnes said.

Scotland Yard homicide detectives were called in to track down the person who smuggled the lethal drug to Soblen. Officials at Brixton Prison Hospital, where Soblen was held for two months, established that it was not stocked at the hospital.

No official explanation was given for the assignment of the homicide men, but one source suggested a murder charge might be filed under the suicide law, which deals with criminal liability for complicity in another's death.

The Daily Herald speculated that Soviet agents might have smuggled the drug to Soblen to prevent him from talking further, though he had insisted ever since his arrest that he was innocent.

Scientist Hails Saturn Rocket

Man-on-Moon Missile Progresses According to Schedule, JFK Told

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Missile expert Dr. Wernher von Braun told President Kennedy today that the Saturn rocket would put an American on the moon in this decade as the President has promised.

Briefing the President on the Saturn program, the German-born Von Braun pointed to a drawing of the huge rocket and said:

"This is the vehicle designed to fulfill your promise to put a man on the moon in this decade. And, by God, we'll do it."

Kennedy had flown into this massive missile center for a look at what some of the nation's keenest military and civilian minds are doing to push the United States ahead in space.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, traveling in another plane, came in five minutes earlier for the start of the whirlwind, two-day survey of space installations.

Oldsmobile Previews '63 Models

The showing for 200 newsmen from around the country was held in connection with the opening of Engineering Center.

As in other General Motors divisions, the standard size Olds and the compact F85 have been modestly restyled in the grille, rear end, side paneling and instrument panel.

The big Olds will offer, as will some other GM models, a steering wheel which tilts up and down and an alternator instead of the conventional generator.

The F-85 will be lengthened about five inches. The change is in line with the industry trend this year.

Remove Bodies From Isolated Mountain Spot

44 Die as AF Jet Crashes

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Crews worked down a steep timbered slope at daybreak to search for the remaining dead and remove bodies from the isolated spot where a giant jet tanker crashed on a fog-shrouded mountain yesterday with 44 aboard.

There were no survivors and before the air force gave up the search for the night, 33 bodies had been located.

Today crews began the job of bringing the bodies out a torturous mountain road to the ski lodge on Mt. Spokane, which rises above 5,271-foot Mt. Kit Carson where the KC135 sheared off trees as it crashed and burned.

The Strategic Air Command tanker from the 28th Air Refueling Squadron at Ellsworth Air Force Base, S. D., carried 40 passengers and a crew of four.

Most of the passengers were SAC combat crewmen and maintenance workers, including a single civilian.

The plane, headed for Fairchild AFB west of here, was lost to radio and radar contact before noon yesterday as it made an instrument approach in the mountain area about 20 miles northeast of Spokane.

Bad weather and lack of roads kept the wreckage from being found until evening.

Col. Floyd R. Creasman, ground control search commander at the scene and one of the first to view the wreckage, said the pilot, Capt. Frank A. Johnson, Philadelphia, apparently tried to pull the tanker up as the mountain loomed out of the fog.

Bert Smith, Irving Hamann and his son Wayne, all from Spokane, started searching after they had heard a report the plane was missing and apparently down in the Mt. Spokane-Mt. Kit Carson area.

"We decided to work our way down the steep slope" said Smith. "And as we did, the smell of smoke got stronger.

"Finally, we came across the first of the wreckage. It was smashed to pieces. Then we saw three bodies on the ground—all badly burned."

Reserve Call-Up Authority Step Closer to Approval

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

WASHINGTON — The Senate Armed Services Committee has given speedy and unanimous approval to President Kennedy's request for stand-by authority to call up 150,000 reservists if the international situation worsens.

The committee gave its voice vote, bipartisan backing Monday after Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara testified the authority could be crucial if the international situation deteriorates suddenly and specific crises occur.

His position was backed up by Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The committee acted after 2½ hours of testimony and interrogation.

Aware of family disruptions and other problems that developed from the call-up during last year's Berlin crisis, the committee wrote in language that would give priority in any call-up to men who have had only six months of active duty and who are on pay drill status.

Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Committee, said he hoped to get the measure up for Senate action Thursday.

The House Armed Services Committee will consider the proposal Thursday, with McNamara and Gen. Lemnitzer, scheduled to testify.

The resolution is designed to let the President act if developments worsen in such trouble spots as Cuba and Berlin while Congress is out of session. It would give him authority to:

—Call up 150,000 ready military reservists to active duty for one year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department warned it may have to resort to the doctor draft again unless it gets enough volunteers to make up an expected shortage of about 1,000 general practice medical officers. The shortage is forecast for the fiscal year starting July 1. It cuts across all the armed services.

Soviets Charge U.S. Provoking World Disaster

Foreign Office Note Calls On America to 'Use Common Sense'

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government warned the United States today that an attack on Cuba would be the beginning of a war that might turn into a world nuclear war.

In a statement read to a special Foreign Office news conference, the Soviet government accused the United States of staging provocations "which might plunge the world into the disaster of a universal world war with the use of thermonuclear weapons."

"One cannot now attack Cuba and expect that the aggressor will be free from punishment for this attack," the statement continued. "If such an attack is made, this will be the beginning of unleashing war."

The statement appealed to the United States "to display common sense, not to lose its self-control and soberly to assess what its actions might lead to if it unleashes war."

It said the Soviets would not follow the path of the United States in calling up 150,000 reservists.

But the Soviet government, it continued, "considers it to be its duty to remain watchful in this situation and order the Defense Ministry as well as the command of the Soviet army to take all measures to put our fighting forces into the highest degree of fighting readiness.

"This is exclusively a precautionary measure. On our side we shall do everything not to violate peace."

The statement added an appeal to all nations to raise their voices against the alleged aggressive plans of the United States and to

Rusk Calm Under Red Thunder

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today this country is not frightened by Soviet Premier Khrushchev's warning against any American attack on Cuba.

"We are a great country," Rusk told reporters. "We are not nervous or afraid. We'll proceed as we find it necessary."

Rusk made his observations after leaving a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee where he briefed members on the agenda for the forthcoming United Nations General Assembly session.

★ ★ ★

The secretary did not elaborate on the reamrks, explaining that he had not read the full text of the Soviet government statement at the time he left the State Department.

'PROPAGANDA'

His observations came on the heels of congressional reaction ranging from descriptions of the Soviet statement as sheer propaganda to demands for sterner U.S. action to prevent the establishment of a Communist military beachhead in Cuba.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, led off for those who saw sheer propaganda in the Kremlin declaration, saying the Soviets "know full well they have erected a straw man for the purpose of knocking it down."

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, stated the case for the other approach. He promised support for "whatever firmer action" President Kennedy decides to take with respect to Cuba.

"We cannot continue to be pushed and pushed offensively by Khrushchev and Castro while we are retreating and retreating," he said of Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, backed him up.

Miller said that whether the Soviet weapons in Cuba are defensive or offensive depends on the whims and plans of the leaders in the Kremlin.

"The sooner we all recognize that Cuba is just a cog in the international Communist conspiracy, and not an independent country, the better it will be," Miller said.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota said that in its "breast-beating threats" the Soviet Union is "behaving in as ridiculous a manner as those Americans who have also worked themselves up into an emotional frenzy about Cuba."

The development is labeled worth $3 million and is partly completed. At left is K-Mart joined by a roofed-over passageway to Savon Foods Store at right. Undeveloped area at right is scheduled to be built up with service-type stores including dry cleaners, drugstore and laundromat. This aerial view was shot by photographer-pilot Homer Tinney for The Pontiac Press series on the changing face of the Pontiac area. Developers plan eventually to have 30 retail outlets at Glenwood Plaza. K-Mart is the largest type of S. S. Kresge Co. chain store in the nation. Sprawling over some 30 acres, or more than 1.1-milion square feet of total land area, the plaza will devote about 290,000 square feet to retail space. Total parking for 2,000 cars will cover about 857,880 square feet.. A year ago construction at the site was just getting under way. Today it is a major East Side shopping center, and is still growing.

Cuba Claims Shooting at 2 Ships, Links U.S.

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Havana radio charged today a ship which allegedly attacked Cuban and British freighters off the north coast of Cuba came from the United States.

The radio said the incident took place at 2:50 a.m. yesterday and called it the "second time in a month that armed ships coming from the United States have committed acts of piracy."

The first such act, said the radio, was the Aug. 24 shelling of Havana by a group of anti-Castro Cuban exiles.

The broadcast said the Cuban vessel, the San Pasquale, not only was fired upon but a bomb was tossed "into its interior" from the "pirate ship."

'FUNNEL PIERCED'

The British vessel, indentified as the "Newlane" or "New Land," had its funnel pierced by shots, the radio said.

Earlier, the radio said the British ship had a cargo of sugar for Socialist countries. However, the later version said the freighter was taking the sugar to England.

The captain of the British vessel was identified as S. A. James. The crew members were said to be Hindus.

Calling the alleged incident "a cowardly attack against the Cuban government," the broadcast said a second British ship—with a name which sounded like "Apple Sultan"—escaped the attack because it was delayed in reaching the area.

The report came in the wake of an offshore shelling of Havana Aug. 24 by anti-Castro Cubans. The youth who led the Aug. 24 attack said last week that ships with Communist flags would be considered military targets. Juan Manuel Salvat, the attack leader, made that statement to newsmen in Caracas, Venezuela.

The spotlight has been focused recently on shipping to and from Cuba by an increase in military shipments from the Soviet bloc to Fidel Castro's regime and reports that much of this is being carried in ships chartered from NATO allies of the United States.

Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill. said last week 61 vessels of four NATO countries are delivering Communist supplies to Cuba. He said congressional leaders were informed at a White House briefing that most of the military material comes in British, German, Norwegian and Greek ships.

Cuba Warning Issued

The statement declared that the Soviet Union is sending military supplies and military technicians to Cuba but is not establishing a base there.

"We state and we repeat," the statement said, "that if war is unleashed, if an aggressor attacks one or another state, and this state turns to us for help, then the Soviet Union has the possibility of giving aid from its own territory, to any peace-loving state, and not only to Cuba.

"And let no one doubt that the Soviet Union will give such aid."

In the statement, the Soviet government also declared it wants a settlement of the Berlin question and a liquidation of the occupation regime in the divided city.

"The occupation regime must be liquidated, and it shall be liquidated," the statement said.

"The Soviets hinted they are willing to wait until after the U. S. congressional elections in November. The statement noted that East-West talks on the Berlin crisis had paused recently.

"They say that it is difficult for the United States of America to conduct negotiations on a German treaty since elections to the American Congress are coming up in November," the statement said.

MENTIONS U2

The Soviets said many statements by American politicians might have been considered the normal development of an election year. But in view of President Kennedy's request for authority to call up Reserves, "the Soviet government must receive in a different light" the flight of an American U2 which it claimed trespassed over the island of Sakhalin, off the east coast of Soviet Siberia.

The statement ridiculed the claim of the United States that developments in Cuba might justify a call-up.

It said no similar call-up was going to be made by the Soviet Union in response, but that it was responding by ordering all forces to be at the ready.

"We cannot help taking into consideration the preparation by the United States of an aggressive act," the statement said.

The Soviet government said its ships were carrying not only munitions but machinery and agricultural equipment to Cuba to help build up the country. What these ships contain, the government declared, is the affair of the Soviet Union and Cuba.

"Don't put your nose into other people's affairs," it said.

Commenting on reports in the United States that the Soviet Union is building up a base in Cuba, the statement said such a base is not needed since Soviet nuclear weapons can reach any place on earth and aid can be given to any country on earth directly from the territory of the Soviet Union.

"At the request of the Cuban government, and in response to continued threats, the Soviet Union is delivering to Cuba a certain amount of armaments," the statement said.

"Cuban statesmen have asked the Soviet Union also to send military specialists and technicians to teach Cubans how to master modern weapons. Cuba does not possess such experts."

It said it was not Cuban arms which threatened the United States.

'FEAR REVOLUTION'

"The revolutionary spirit is what you are afraid of, not military means," the statement said.

The statement declared: "Only a madman would think that it would be hard only on the people who were attacked."

"This war would be 100 times more dnagerous than other wars," it said, "and it would bring to the people of the United States not less but perhaps greater hardships than to the country attacked."

SQUIRE WAGON — The four-door Squire wagon shown here is one of five different Falcon station wagons to be introduced in Ford dealers showrooms Sept. 28. The Squire features wood-grained exterior paneling and all metal, single unit construction. In addition to the Squire models, the Falcon line also will include a standard wagon, a station bus, a club wagon and deluxe club wagon.

Planes Invade, Say Chinese

TOKYO (AP) — Red China claimed two U. S. planes flew over its territory today and issued what it called is 213th warning against such "provocations."

The Communist New China news agency report did not identify the type of American planes or say whether any attempt was made to shoot them down — as in the case of a Chinese Nationalist U2 plane claimed to have been downed Sunday over the China mainland.

The agency said one U. S. plane intruded into Red China's air space over Chengssu Islands in Chekiang Province for three minutes. The other plane was accused of flying over Yunghsing Island of Kwangtung Province for nine minutes.

★ ★ ★

The Communist propaganda machine hammered at the United States about the flight of the American-built U2 plane piloted by a Chinese Nationalist reportedly shot down.

But neither the Nationalists nor the U. S. government gave any indication they would halt Nationalist reconnaissance flights over the mainland.

Communist Chinese newspapers called the flight an intrusion and aggression. The downing of the craft over East China Sunday, they said, "should serve as a good lesson to the American aggressors."

★ ★ ★

In Washington, the State Department and the Chinese Nationalist Embassy declined comment. U2 flights over the Soviet Union were halted after pilot Francis Gary Powers was shot down in 1960, but there was no indication the high-altitude reconnaissance flights over Red China would be stopped.

The 1963 Falcon

Offering 17 Models

The 1963 Falcon scheduled for introduction in dealers' showrooms Sept. 28 will be available in more models than any other compact line in the auto industry, Ford Motor Co. officials said today.

O. F. Yando, Ford Division general sales manager, said the Falcon will offer 17 model choices for 1963, five more than this year.

The new models, all in the sports-inspired Futura line, include two-door and four-door sedans, a sports sedan, a convertible and sports convertible.

Dealers in this area who will have the 1963 Falcons on display later this month are John McAuliffe Ford, Inc., 630 Oakland Ave.; Beattie Motor Sales, Inc., 5806 Dixie Highway Waterford Township; and Jerome-Ferguson Inc., 215 Main St., Rochester.

Ford officials say all Falcons have a Thunderbird-type roofline. The Futuras will be available with luxury car interior appointments, according to company spokesmen.

★ ★ ★

The standard engine for all models except convertibles, station buses and club wagons is an 85-horsepower six cylinder engine. Standard on the convertibles and van-type vehicles is the 101-horsepower "Six."

Both the standard 144-cubic-inch power plants and the optional 170-cubic-inch engine are equipped with new carburetors.

Other mechanical refinements, said Yando, eliminate the need for the traditional 1,000-mile new car inspection.

The interval between lubrications and replacement of radiator coolant, fuel filter and oil cleaner element now will be every 36,000 miles, said Ford officials. They added that the oil-change interval has been raised to every 6,000 miles.

office said an inquest will open at 10 a.m. Thursday.

In British inquests, this usually means that the first session is confined to bare details of the death under scrutiny, and that most of the evidence is introduced at a later date, after a recess.

Dr. Barnett Stross, a Laborite House of Commons member who supported Soblen's petition to the home secretary for freedom, told newsmen he believed the spy took the drugs in a genuine desire to die. Soblen's lawyers have said he just wanted to ease his plane flight back to New York.

"It seems to me that as a medical man he knew what he was doing," said Dr. Stross. "This was really an attempt to kill himself. This time obviously he had made up his mind he would rather die than go back to America."

Sterilization Program Attacked by Graham

Two Negro Girls Wounded by Blasts

RULEVILLE, Miss. (UPI) — Shotgun blasts ripped through the window of a home last night and wounded two Negro girls active in the voter registration of Negroes in the Mississippi delta.

The pellets struck one girl, Vivian Hilley, in the leg and the other girl, Marylene Burke, in the scalp. The victims were taken to hospitals for treatment.

Mayor C. M. Darr said neither girl appeared seriously hurt.

He said local and Sunflower County law enforcement officers were looking into the incident and he had personally asked the FBI to join the investigation.

The Day in Birmingham

Only 2 Residents Object to Sewer System Plans

BIRMINGHAM — Objections from only two residents were raised at a public hearing last night to determine the necessity for a new $144,900 storm relief drain — sewage system in the southeast corner of Birmingham, according to City Clerk Irene E. Hanley.

★ ★ ★

"The new system is something that has been needed for a long time," Mrs. Hanley said.

"It will tie in with the 12-Town Storm Relief Drain when the main pipeline to Detroit is completed sometime next year."

Two letters of objection were placed on file, and city engineers were instructed by the commission to prepare construction drawings for the system.

TO SERVE 500 HOMES

It will serve some 500 homes in an area west of Troy, between Lincoln Avenue and 14-Mile Road over to Woodward Avenue.

The letters were from two residents who claimed that their own homes were adequately served by the present system. The objectors failed to appear at the meeting.

The Birmingham Branch of the American Association of University Women will hold its 35th annual used book sale Sept. 24-29 in Demery's Birmingham Room.

Hours of the sale are 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily and until 9:30 p.m. on Thursday and Friday.

Over 300 women are actively involved in the sale which has become a model for other AAUW branches to copy. Many rare books as well as first editions and whole libraries are donated to the sale.

There also will be fine collected works, children's books, mysteries, foreign language books, as well as books on cooking and gardening.

The sale has always drawn buyers and collectors from all over the Greater Detroit area and for several years has earned a profit of over $4,000, all of which is used for graduate fellowships for women, both on the international and local level.

In the past five years, 30 local teachers have been given money for further summer study in their fields at colleges all over the country.

Mrs. Charles Shaw and Mrs. David Goodfellow are cochairmen of the sale. Mrs. Kenneth Kesler, transportation chairman, will handle between 20,000 to 25,000 books with her committee before the sale is over.

Donations of books and records may be made by calling Mrs. Kesler, of 1027 Suffield Road, for pickup service, or donations may be brought to Demery's any time during the sale.

The Birmingham Rotary Anns will meet for 1 o'clock luncheon next Monday at the home of Mrs. Wallace Reid, 2160 Northlawn Road.

Mrs. Reid will be assisted by Mrs. William C. Rowland, Mrs. Lewis W. Morely and Mrs. M. M. Rosenberger.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kirkby, executive director for the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, will tell of the camp activities of crippled children.

MISS MARY E. MITCHELL

Retired Schoolteacher at Wisner School for 38 Years

Miss Mary E. Mitchell, retired teacher of Pontiac Public School System, was taken ill suddenly yesterday morning, and was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital. She was 69.

Miss Mitchell of 466 Oakland Ave., was the daughter of the late Samuel and Annie Mitchell.

A graduate of Alma College, she had taught at Wisner School for 38 years before retiring in 1958. She was a member of Central Methodist Church, the official board and Wesleyan Guild of her church, and past president of the Business & Professional Women's Club.

Miss Mitchell belonged to the American Federation of Teacher's Clubs; and the city, state and national education associations. She was also a member of the American Childhood Association.

The family suggests that memorial contributions be made to the building fund of Central Methodist Church. Her body is at the D. E. Pursley Funeral Home.

Private Clubs Resume Service in Detroit Area

DETROIT (AP) — Approximately 20 Detroit area private clubs began restoring bar and dining room services today with settlement of a barmen and waiters strike.

Some of the clubs had been without the services for the better part of six weeks.

The Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union accepted a new three-year contract offer from the Detroit Club Managers Association yesterday by a vote of 836 to 50.

Settlement terms included wage increases of 2 and 3 cents an hour for each of the three years, a pension fund plan, and fringe benefits along with increased premium pay for holiday work and work beyond five days a week.

50 Volunteers for India

NEW DELHI (AP) — Fifty more Peace Corps volunteers will arrive in India by the end of October to bring the total in this country to 76, Joseph Wheeler, Peace Corps director for India, said yesterday.

Astronaut's Flight Postponed 3 Days

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr.'s intended six-orbit flight around the globe has been delayed three days until Sept. 28 to permit further time for preparation.

★ ★ ★

The decision came Monday after Project Mercury officials evaluated the readiness of all aspects. It was reported unofficially that the primary Pacific tracking ship, the Rose Knot, was not ready.

The Atlas booster rocket and Schirra's spacecraft were reported in excellent condition. They were joined together on pad No. 14 Monday and extensive compatibility checks were begun. Schirra continued training here for the flight, which is to keep him aloft for nine hours.

U.S. Plans More Tests in Pacific

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has cleared the way for the resumption of atmospheric nuclear test explosions over the Pacific.

A spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission said Monday night the tests probably will resume later this month or early in October. He indicated, however, that there probably would be no detonation until after Sept. 28, the date set for the six-orbit flight of astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr.

A joint announcement by the AEC and the Defense Department said the off-limits safety zone around and above Johnston Island in the Pacific would be reactivated Sept. 22 "in connection with the completion of the Pacific test series."

Test shots from the island were discontinued July 31 after a Thor missile bearing a nuclear warhead for high-altitude detonation was destroyed on the launch pad July 25. The AEC spokesman said the badly damaged launch area would be repaired by late this month.

The statement did not say how many tests will be conducted but said they "will include a few high-altitude events and a few in which the devices will be dropped from an airplane."

President Kennedy said at his news conference after the July 25 failure that there might be three more tests over the Pacific.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Occasional rain is expected tonight in the north Pacific states, the northern Rockies and western portions of the northern Plains with some snow in the higher elevations of the Rockies. Thunderstorms are forecast for the western sections of the southern Plains. It will be cool in the northeast; warmer in the northern and central Plains.

Soviets Deny U.S. Charge of Space N-Blast

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The United States said today that Russia exploded a nuclear device in space last year. The Soviet Union denied it.

U. S. Ambassador Francis T. P. Plimpton told the 28-nation U.N. committee on the peaceful uses of outer space that the Soviet Union's complaint yesterday that the U.S. explosion in space last summer endangered astronauts was nothing but "crocodile tears."

"Although the Soviet government never announced it, it is a fact that the Soviet government itself carried out high altitude nuclear tests during its series which began a year ago this month," he said.

President Kennedy, in a speech on March 2, said that in the test series with which Russia broke without warning a three-year moratorium, the Soviet Union had conducted an explosion at a height of upwards of 100 miles. No further details on the Soviet space blast were known here.

Commission Planning to Award Water Bonds

Bids will be opened on the sale of $3.77 million in revenue bonds, to finance Pontiac's water system improvement program, at tonight's City Commission meeting.

Proceeds from the sale of bonds will finance a portion of the $3.9-million project, the difference being paid by present surpluses in the water fund.

The bond issue was approved by commissioners last May and given an okay by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission in August.

It will run until 1996 with the first call date being Jan. 1, 1972. The entire debt will be paid with revenues from water and sewage charges to consumers and won't affect taxes or the capital improvement fund.

★ ★ ★

Contracts for construction of new water lines, a water plant and pumping station and several storage tanks have already been awarded.

TO BE READY JULY 1

Actual construction must be completed by July 1 next year when Detroit water is to begin being used in Pontiac.

Barring unexpected complications, the bids should be tabulated and sale awarded to the lowest bidder before the close of tonight's meeting.

Also up for approval on tonight's lengthy agenda is a loan and grant contract for Pontiac's R44 urban renewal project.

Plans for R44 have been approved by the Urban Renewal Administration and official approval of this contract is standard procedure to set the project in motion.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners will also hear a report from City Manager Robert A. Stierer on steps taken recently to improve traffic movements in Pioneer Highlands subdivision.

★ ★ ★

Approval is also slated for an agreement with S.B.S. Builders, Inc., to construct water lines to two homes on Clara Avenue from the city main on Columbia Avenue.

TO TALK REZONING

Commissioners will be requested to act on five recommendations from the city planning commission regarding rezoning proposals and vacating of several alleys and portions of city streets.

★ ★ ★

Public hearings are also slated on the city's plans for street or sidewalk improvements on parts of Hollywood and Harvey avenues and Waldo Street, and on a special assessment roll for curbs and gutters on Stanley Avenue.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners will also be asked to act on a request from George Antos, owner of the New York Grill, 20 E. Pike St., to erect a canopy over the sidewalk at that address. Antos plans to open a new restaurant adjacent to the grill.

County Bows to School Districts

Aid Loss Confirmed

By DICK HANSON

Oakland County Board of Education Superintendent William J. Emerson today confirmed that the county is losing money to school districts under the state's financial aid per pupil program.

★ ★ ★

But he denied any attempt by the districts to purposely take advantage of the county in this respect.

Emerson acknowledged that state aid collected on the basis of the fall school census was retained by the districts although some pupils later became county wards, to be educated at county expense.

The reason for this, he said, is that the approximately $175 per pupil paid by the state can't be forwarded to the county along with the pupils because the school districts already have spent the money for teachers' salaries.

VOICE SUSPICIONS

Suspicions that the county is losing the money were voiced by members of the County Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee prior to presenting their recommendation for next year's county budget yesterday.

Emerson blamed the county's loss on the fact that the school census by state law must be taken each fall.

He said there was no way of knowing at this time how many pupils would be shifted over to the county during the remainder of the school year for one reason or another.

In presenting the recommended $15.5-million county budget to the board of supervisors yesterday, Ways and Means Chairman David Levinson, supervisor from Birmingham, noted that education costs comprised 2 per cent of the total budget.

His committee recommended that the board instruct its legislative committee to study existing state laws to learn how they would have to be changed to rid the county of all education costs in future budgets.

"The committee feels that educational expenses, including the costs of educating children who come under the jursidiction of the juvenile court as well as the expenses of the County Board of Education, should be financed from funds allocated to the schools rather than charged to the insufficient millage allocated each year to the county," Levinson said.

"I think Levinson's resolution probably contains some merit," said Emerson. "Certainly county financing ought to receive some periodic scrutiny at the hands of the legislature."

He said he felt that legislative study of the "organization and financing of all departments of county government, including the board of education, is long overdue."

ATTENTION OVERDUE

"Oakland County hasn't received the amount of attention warranted since the 1908 constitutional convention," Emerson said.

The board of supervisors has until next Monday to study the recommended county budget for next year before deciding whether to adopt it or to alter it.

The board will reconvene for this purpose at 9:30 a.m. Monday in the supervisors auditorium of the County Office Building at 1 Lafayette St.

Do Reds Plot Sabotage of U.S. Space Test?

By BOB CONSIDINE

David Sentner, chief of the Washington bureau of the Hearst papers, has produced one of the most chilling stories we've read in a long time.

★ ★ ★

His sources in the capital fear, he wrote, that a chief activity of the colony of Russian technicians now forming in Cuba may be the sabotaging, via radio beams, of space tests and experiments at Cape Canaveral.

We did a piece from the Cape last year on the marvels of our "destruct" system. Every missile and booster launched from that is, turn out to sea. It kept climbing straight up. If it had not have been destroyed it would have spent its fuel and fallen back on perhaps Orlando, for the earth was turning under it as it rose.

If we can do it you can be pretty certain the Russians can do it. And if they do it, we will probably go to war.

The Russians must have the same know-how.

Conceivably, they could sit in Cuba and detonate our costly missiles at will once the rockets poke their noses over the horizon to the north. Or they could dump an astornaut long before his Atlas booster found that "keyhole in the sky." Or blow it AND its strapped passenger to smithereens.

EQUIPMENT NEEDED

We could not "scramble" a radion "destruct" command from Cuba without adding a mass of equipment to each rocket.

We could not very well send our fiery monsters aloft without the means of destroying them if they go off beam over Florida or down the Atlantic firing range.

★ ★ ★

A Titan was knocked out by beam as it veered and started across Florida instead of out to sea. An Atlas with an unmanned Mercury capsule was hit with the ray while high over the cape not long before Alan Shepard made his sub-orbit.

★ ★ ★

The Atlas failed to "program," means of destroying itself, explosive charges that can be set off by radio beams from the command post.

There is an additional beam which can activate the escape tower attached to Mercury capsules and separate capsule and astronaut from a booster which goes haywire.

FBI Picks Up Murder Suspect

Arrested in San Diego, After Discovery of Two Buried Bodies

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Mrs. Iva Kroeger, who had been sought throughout the nation since two bodies were found buried in her San Francisco home, was arrested by FBI agents last night in the apartment of a San Diego couple.

★ ★ ★

The 44-year-old mystery woman had successfully evaded police and federal agents since the bodies of a Santa Rosa, Calif., couple were unearthed in the Kroeger basement Aug. 21 and 22.

The FBI said Mrs. Kroeger, who had been using the name June Price Smith, readily admitted her identity.

"I'm glad it's over," she told the arresting officers.

The San Diego couple, whose identity the FBI has refused to disclose, told agents they met Mrs. Kroeger on the street Saturday, befriended her and took her into their home.

★ ★ ★

But they became suspicious about their guest when they read an article about Mrs. Kroeger in a San Diego newspaper. They notified the FBI which made the arrest shortly afterward.

Mrs. Kroeger's husband Ralph, 61, was being held in San Francisco on a murder charge in connection with the deaths of Jay Arneson, 70, and his former wife Mildred, 58.

Vote for Works Bill

CUTTIN' KAYEPERS — Entertainer Danny Kaye presents the perfect picture of a shoe salesman as he offers Mrs. Earl Warren a pair of shoes "that were just made for her." They were her shoes. The wife of the Supreme Court chief justice had removed them to compare her height with that of 13-year-old daughter of Justice and Mrs. William J. Brennan. The incident took place at a concert to publicize a benefit concert of the National Symphony Orchestra which Kaye will conduct at Constitution Hall Oct. 19.

Danny Does It Hard Way

Music May Be Off-Kaye

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There are two ways to become a symphony orchestra conductor, assuming that you are too poor to buy your own orchestra.

★ ★ ★

One way is to enter a conservatory and study music, hoping that you will some day be hired as a conductor. That is the hard way.

The other way is to start out as comedian, which is even harder.

The only comedian currently functioning as a symphony conductor is Danny Kaye. That shows you how hard it is for a comedian to get ahead in the conducting racket.

There are, of course, some conductors who might qualify as comedians, but that doesn't count. The comic aspects of their conducting usually is unintentional.

★ ★ ★

Kaye was in Washington this week beating the drums, or tympani, in connection with his forthcoming appearance as guest conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra.

★ ★ ★

The performance will be a benefit concert for the orchestra's sustaining fund.

"I don't know what that is, but it sounds great to me," Kaye said.

I caught up with the maestro at the Supreme Court where he was having lunch with some of the justices. The lunch was arranged by Mrs. Justice Byron White, a member of the concert committee.

Mr. Justice White, who presumably had inside information, was out of town.

Asked how he goes about preparing for a symphony concert, Kaye explained that he had a big advantage over most conductors. He can't read music.

MEMORIZES TUNE

He therefore doesn't have to bother with learning the score. What he does is play the symphonies on phonograph records until he memorizes the "tune."

"Do you conduct the same number that the orchestra is playing, or does that matter?" I asked.

Kaye said it didn't make much difference to him. He said he had found that an orchestra doesn't really need a conductor — just someone to start it off.

In recent years, Kaye has guest conducted about six other orchestras, each time to critical acclaim. After his appearance with the New York Philharmonic, a critic for the New York Times wrote:

★ ★ ★

"Conducting will never be the same again. Neither will the New York Philharmonic."

From all indications, however, Kaye himself was unchanged.

Lansing Negroes Prefer Own Neighborhoods

LANSING (AP)— Negroes in Michigan's capital city prefer to remain in their own established neighborhoods rather than move into predominantly white neighborhoods, according to a study by a Michigan State University graduate assistant.

Walter R. Banks, an MSU graduate assistant in sociology and anthropology, told the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Sunday that "racial pride" is the chief reason for the Negroes' unwillingness to integrate.

★ ★ ★

Banks said his findings were based on a survey of 150 Negro homes as part of a research project for the MSU Institute of Community Development.

He said Negroes questioned in the survey showed an unwillingness to take "aggressive action" toward integration.

Early Camp Fire Girls had pockets in their hats. In fact, virtually every uniform article except the bathing suit in the 1910-20 period had pockets.

Utilities Quiz Professor in Rate Hearings

LANSING (AP) — Cross-examinations in the hearings on the accelerated depreciation practices and rate-structures of Michigan's public utilities began yesterday before the State Public Service Commission.

At the initial hearings, conducted in May, the contention was made by economics professor Robert Eisner of Northwestern University that accelerated depreciation write-offs should result in lower rates for public utilities customers.

Yesterday Eisner was questioned by Consumers Power Co. about his so-called "flow-through" ideas (the name comes from the idea that the depreciation allowance should "flow through" to the income statement).

★ ★ ★

Eisner will be questioned by Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., Detroit Edison Co., and Michigan Bell Telephone Co. this week, a public Service Commission spokesman said.

Must Withhold Tax on B-Girl Earnings

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)— The Internal Revenue Service has set its sights on taxing the earnings of B-girls.

★ ★ ★

Laurie W. Tomlinson, district director of IRS, said Monday a ruling has been issued that B-girls are considered employes of the establishments in which they work. Employers are required to withhold income and Social Security taxes on amounts paid either as salary or commissions, he said.

★ ★ ★

The Internal Revenue Service defines a B-girl as one who mingles with customers in bars or nightclubs and encourages them to buy drinks.

NY 'Cabbie' Loses His Job on First Fare

★ ★ ★

The trouble, police said, was that:

(1) He drove off with the cab.
(2) The cab was not his.

There was a third difficulty, too. Margulies' first fare was Jose Sierra, owner of the cab.

"Pull over for a minute," Sierra told Margulies shortly after getting into the cab Monday night. "I have to call my wife."

Margulies pulled over. Sierra got out and made a call. Police arrived soon and arrested the Connecticut youth on a charge of grand larceny. They said he had been drinking.

Electric Circuits Fail, Power Workers Holiday

MSUO Receives Generous Gift From the Harry M. Pryales

Mr. and Mrs. HARRY M. PRYALE have just set an all-time record for local generosity and benefactions with their gift to Michigan State Univeristy Oakland which totals $450,000.

★ ★ ★

In fact, this stands third in all major contributions to the local university, exceeded only by the original gift from the WILSON'S and the KRESGE Library.

★ ★ ★

PRYALE

At this formative period in MSUO's brief but triumphant existence, the gift is doubly welcomed. "We can find so many uses for this money," declares Chancellor D. B. Varner, "that it took considerable study to let us evaluate all the pressing needs and decide which of the vast list should have priority. Happily, we worked out the most logical points and our apportionments will bring the greatest good to the greatest number of students."

★ ★ ★

The PRYALES have long been residents of this community and HARRY M. PRYALE has been the top administrative officer at the Baldwin Rubber Company for years, taking the institution when it was virtually bankrupt and closed.

He has always figured as an especially public-spirited citizen and has had a part in a host of important community activities. In fact, during the height of the depression thirty years ago, along with C. B. Wilson and Charles Stiffler, he gave full time to the pressing and humanitarian problem of Oakland County welfare and actual bread lines. He has been associated with the Pontiac Area United Fund since the original group met to organize, and his intelligent and helpful contributions to many incidental public affairs are noteworthy.

★ ★ ★

The PRYALES are especially popular here personally as they successively lived in Pontiac and nearby Bloomfield Hills. Mr. PRYALE'S health necessitated a curtailment of business activities fairly recently, but he still maintains his keen and active interest in local and far-flung affairs. Possessing a delightful sense of humor, he is one of the area's greatest companions in hunting and fishing camps.

★ ★ ★

Generosity has always been a conspicuous characteristic and many people and institutions have been quietly helped along rough paths here and there completely unknown to the world in general.

With this great contribution to the education of younger people who lack ready finances and who are counting pennies as they get a collegiate degree, the Pryales stand forth as Pontiac's greatest benefactor. Citizens everywhere bow before this grand gift and warmly applaud the generous spirit and big-hearted approach and the assistance provided for lesser fortunate mankind.

Leaders Hard at Work Preparing for UF Drive

A challenge has been accepted by local civic leaders. Without fanfare, a number of area business and professional men are preparing for the upcoming Pontiac Area United Fund Campaign.

Well in advance of the actual drive, they have been hard at work for sometime. These dedicated leaders are doing this on their own time, and at their own expense.

They are being thoroughly indoctrinated in the United Fund way. The background they are getting is to enable them when the proper time comes, to guide properly the volunteer workers under them.

The actual campaign date is just a short time away, but this year's leaders are now hard at work drawing up the final plans. It is this type of volunteer civic service that makes possible the hard hitting campaign which benefits our whole area.

Each agency request has been carefully screened by a budget committee and this year's goal represents the minimum needs of the Fund's agencies.

The goal this year is $706,125, $33,625 more than last year. Everyone should do some honest soul searching and be prepared to dig down when the campaign workers call.

Remember, the contribution you make is to help support local agencies. Your money will be used to finance area projects and assist local people.

Due to illness the Man About Town column will be discontinued for several days. It will be resumed when Mr. Howard V. Heldenbrand returns to work.

Baby's 1st Steps Create Chaos

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Riddle:

Answer:

Your baby, taking his first steps. It comes so quickly, so unexpectedly.

★ ★ ★

The next, he is a giant destructive force capable of destroying an entire community of vases ashtrays and lamps.

AH, THE FALLOUT

His tremendous discharge of energy can be heard as far away as Fifth Avenue, and the fallout—ah, the fallout. Everything has fallen out, from the insides of toys to the outsides of books.

A baby's first walking days are ceremoniacal.

But there is one thing adults can learn from a baby's giant first steps toward independence (and the wedgewood china.)

And that is this: Adults collect a great deal of knick-knack nonsense, and most of it is dispensable. It has to be.

GLEEFUL? NO, FURIOUS

We were sweeping it up when the alabaster powder box was partially destroyed. Along with the parquet floor it fell on.

Was the baby gleeful at his destructive ability? Nonsense. He was furious.

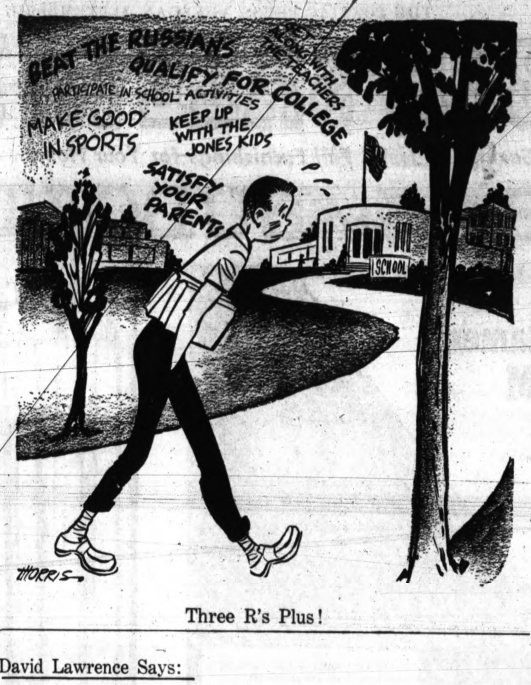
He does not car for loud noises, and crashing objects make loud noises. He would rather, he decided, rip up books.

Crackling noises are pleasant to babies.

Another fact of life parents learn from 10.5-months-old infants:

The aisles of supermarkets are too narrow.

A month ago, when the baby was only a part of the family commonwealth and before he became a newly-emerging entity with secessionist instincts, he was docile in the supermarket cart.



Three R's Plus!

David Lawrence Says:

U. S. Policy Dangerously Unsure

WASHINGTON — Vacillation, indecision, irresoluteness and a policy of wavering from day to day by the Western powers brought on World War I and World War II.

History may be repeating itself. The West is again giving the impression of weakness.

LAWRENCE

The United States, the most powerful military force in the West — without whose aid World War I and World War II could not have been won by the allies — is wobbling in its policies.

★ ★ ★

This could lead to a gross miscalculation by Nikita Khrushchev, just as indecisiveness on the part of Washington misled Kaiser Wilhelm in 1914 and Adolph Hitler in 1939 as each assumed that the United States would not go to war over any European question.

★ ★ ★

Today the situation seems to be growing more serious, as it is being assumed in Moscow that the United States will not even go to war over an American question — the taking over of control in Cuba by the Soviets, who are supplying military equipment to the Cuban regime under an open agreement between the two governments.

This defiance of the Monroe Doctrine has been ignored by President Kennedy. He has made no public protest over Soviet policy.

★ ★ ★

He has announced, in effect, that he agrees with the Soviet viewpoint that Cuba is merely engaging in a "defensive" operation with Soviet help.

STARTLING CHANGE

This startling change in America's historic policy has apparently been accepted by supporters of the Administration in Congress, though here and there some exceptions are noted.

The President, in his public statements, shows that he considers the Cuban situation not to be an American question by itself, but as somehow directly related to the Berlin crisis.

★ ★ ★

The Soviets may be interpreting this stand to mean that Kennedy is hesitant to do what he would perhaps like to do in Cuba for fear that the Soviets might intensify the East German problem and might be tempted to take chances on a belligerent move against West Berlin.

★ ★ ★

President Kennedy doubtless hoped to give an impression of resoluteness when he asked Congress for "standby authority" to call up 150,000 Reservists.

The trouble with the move is that it implies vaguely that sometime in the future he might use the troops somewhere — he doesn't say whether in Berlin or in Cuba.

The Reserves aren't actually being ordered up now, Kennedy says he might call them up if matters get critical somewhere.

POLICY AMBIGUITY

This ambiguity in American policy implies that the United States isn't really acting on principle, but is feeling its way expediently from one crisis to another while it waits for its adversary to continue step by step with its aggressive course.

Not a word has been spoken publicly to Moscow by the Washington Government about her violation of the Monroe Doctrine in shipping to Cuba arms and "technicians."

Does this mean that the Administration acquiesces in the Soviet move and that all that's necessary now for the Communists to gain a foothold in a Latin-American country is to infiltrate a government there, call the military build-up "defensive," and the United States will not object?

The same hesitation and vacillation that characterized American policy between 1914 and 1917 and between 1939 and 1941 are being repeated.

The end result then was war, because America was believed to be unwilling or unable to fight.

At least in those days, however — both with respect to protesting the violation of American rights on the high seas and in supplying destroyers to the British Navy — the United States wasn't entirely inactive or inarticulate, though at no time in the prewar period was the German government convinced that the United States would fight.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Fast Lift From Sugar Lasts but Short Time

The concept of kids without candy is as incongruous as movies without cigarettes or TV Westerns without liquor.

BRADY

Yet there is a portent of such a revolting development in the report of the Council on Foods and Nutrition. The council "is particularly opposed to the sale and distribution of confections and carbonated beverages in school lunchrooms.

Expenditures for carbonated beverages and most confections yields a nutritional return greatly inferior to that from milk, fruit and other foods included in the basic food groups."

One reason why my teaching capacity has been greatly restricted and will be still more restricted is that I have endeavored to make people realize the truth of what the Council on Foods and Nutrition now avers:

"Availability of confections and carbonated beverages" (candy and pop) "on school premises may tempt children to spend lunch money for them and lead to poor food habits."

The sugar in candy and pop is the source of the quick refreshment or energy a youngster gets from these cheat-foods. Sugar is quickly absorbed and quickly converted into energy — this is the reason why mountain climbers, marathon racers and football players use it to stave off exhaustion.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Youngsters who take sweets or pop for refreshment usually confuse the brief "lift" they get from sugar with the lasting satisfaction one gets from real food — milk, eggs, meat, vegetables, bread and butter, fruit, nuts.

APATHY RETURNS

If you watch youngsters who are allowed to indulge in pop instead of real food, you will see how each drink produces a spell of liveliness which lasts perhaps half an hour, and then listlessness or apathy returns.

Substitution of sweets and pop for real food is responsible for the wide prevalence of malnutrition in American teen agers. Teeth are affected, also.

Adults whose breakfast does not include milk, eggs, meat, fish or cheese are likely to suffer from malnutrition.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

In Washington:

Cuba in Power Politics Chess

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The most optimistic Washington appraisal of Soviet Russia's stepped-up program of military and economic aid to Cuba is that it is intended to create a strong Communist bargaining position with the United States.

The most pessimistic appraisal is, of course, that the Russian build-up in Cuba must necessarily lead to a showdown and even a shooting war which not even the Russians will want.

★ ★ ★

In between these two extremes, many interesting alternatives are being studied. The highly controversial differences between the United States and Russia include not only Cuba itself, but also Berlin, a nuclear test ban, disarmament and almost every item on the agenda of the coming United Nations General Assembly session in New York.

So what is at stake here is a complicated game of power politics chess, in which every possible move must be carefully considered from both sides before a play is made.

From the viewpoint of Communist strategy, the Russians may consider it no more hostile for them to give military aid to Cuba than it is for the United States to give arms aid to West Germany and all the other North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries. For Russia has long considered NATO a threat against her internal security — not just a defensive alliance.

From the Communist point of view, the Russians are just beginning their massive build-up in Cuba. The United States, however, has poured over $45 billion into Europe since 1948 — $15 billion in military assistance, $30 billion in economic assistance, of which $10 billion has been loans.

Also, the Russians maintain they are sending only "technicians" to Cuba, whereas the United States has troops in uniform, jet aircraft and missile bases in west Europe.

From the American point of view, however, Russian aid to Cuba is by no means small potatoes. The Russian line that only defensive antiaircraft missiles are being supplied to Cuba fools no one, even if it is true.

★ ★ ★

Here is a potential threat against the United States Naval base at Guantanamo. Cape Canaveral is only 300 miles away from Havana and it would take only one small nuclear warhead to destroy the principal American missile launching site.

Conversely, from the Communist point of view, Cape Canaveral, Key West and Guantanamo are potential bases for moves against Cuba. So here are prime weapons on both sides, loaded if not yet cocked.

All the pieces are in place for a game of power politics as played by Communist rules. If the Russian presence in Cuba is considered a threat to the United States, the Russians can offer to withdraw — in exchange for, say, American withdrawal from Guantanamo as a minimum concession.

If the game is to be played for larger stakes, withdrawal of Western forces from Berlin could be the asking price. Or if the bargaining is to be on a strictly bilateral basis, withdrawal of all American forces and bases from western Europe would be asked in exchange for Russian withdrawal from Cuba.

All this is highly speculative, obviously. But it is a necessary part of the exercise of trying to anticipate Communist strategic moves. All the alternatives offered would be bad deals for the United States because they would be appeasement and even surrender. They would be good deals for the Russians because they would lose nothing by getting out of politically and economically bankrupt Cuba.

There is another school of thought here, however, that the Russians are playing for bigger stakes — the Communist domination of all Latin America, operating from a Cuban base.

According to this theory, the only real reason the Russians have for trying to save Cuba is that Communist prestige is at stake. Having failed in their attempted take-over in Guatemala, operating indirectly through Latin-Americans, the Russians themselves are moving into Cuba to prevent another setback in their penetration of the Western Hemisphere. This is now considered a far more realistic motive for the Russian's direct move into Cuba.

'Does City Commissioner Want to Stand Alone?'

I wasn't surprised to hear that Commissioner Henry wants to have Captain Ashley of the police department fired for merely carrying out his duty. At the rate he wants officials and officers fired, pretty soon he will be the only one left in the city. Maybe that is what he wants.

★ ★ ★

It wasn't long ago he wanted to fire our personnel director Mr. Marshall. Before that he wanted Straley fired, but did an about face and fought for Straley's reinstatement and made a motion to fire George Eastman our former public safety director.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Stierer and Mr. Ewart may be next.

'Cuba's So Great— Why the Refugees?'

A letter stated that in Cuba, high school students and college students pay no tuition and get free books, clothing and lodging. The writer wants to know why our country cannot provide the same.

In this country high school students do not pay tuition and as yet the parents are responsible and have the privilege of educating their children. I like it this way. We must not lose our ambitions. The right of each individual to rise to whatever height his own ambition, ability and training can take him must never be taken away.

Surely the writer must know of government grants and loans. A student can borrow up to $1,000 per year and after graduation if he goes into certain professions, such as teaching, 50 per cent of the entire loan is forgiven. You have 10 years to repay the loan at 3 per cent interest. Any student truly wanting a college educating can achieve his goal. Our son is attending college under this plan. One with a will, will find a way.

If the Cuban government does so much for its countryman, why do so many revolt and race for freedom to the United States? Could it be because Americans have the best plan on this globe?

Hubby in Dutch Over Editorial

Please have my paper boy drop a ring bologna at my house when he delivers my paper. My predicament was caused by the editorial about how unsafe women drivers are.

Your advice was followed. Mrs. F wasn't told until after dinner. "According to The Pontiac Press," I said, "men are safer drivers than women."

★ ★ ★

She only glared and I knew she wouldn't be impressed by all those big statistics . . . how men drive 10,000 miles per year and have 42,600 accident free miles. Also, she could never understand about women only driving 3,000 miles per year, with 23,500 accident free miles. This is where improvement was needed, if the message was to register.

★ ★ ★

"Men can drive 14 years, 2 months, 1 week and 6 days without having an accident . . . if they drive as little as women do," I said, eying that saucer, not yet airborne. She didn't throw it, or even look at your editorial. Tell our carrier to yell when he gets here. He can toss that bologna through an upstairs window. I'm locked in.

Also, tell him that all that paper on the lawn is her cook book, but if he finds our can opener I need it desperately.

Frightening Asthma Attacks End In Minutes As New Formula Unblocks Lung Passages Fast

New Medical Formula Restores Free Breathing Without Vaccines, Shots Or Narcotics. Calms Anxiety. No Prescription Needed.

New York, N.Y. (Special) — A team of scientists has announced a new formula that stops frightening asthma attacks in minutes and unblocks lung passages fast.

Medical tests prove this formula promptly restores free breathing, so calms anxiety and relieves the worst symptoms of asthma — the straining for breath, the gasping, the wheezing, the terrible fear of suffocation. All without vaccines, painful shots or habit-forming drugs. This formula is so safe when used as directed, it can be sold without prescription in tiny tablets called BRONITIN®.

Doctors know that when asthma strikes, breathing tubes become swollen, lung passages become blocked, so air is "trapped" inside lungs and less and less oxygen can enter. Now BRONITIN, with two asthma relieving medicines that doctors prescribe for their patients, acts quickly to open bronchial tubes and loosen the mucus that blocks lung passages. Trapped air is released and new vital oxygen enters the lungs.

The result is: free breathing is restored, tension eased and so fears are calmed in minutes. Sufferers can now look forward to restful sleep.

Get BRONITIN — available at all drug stores without prescription.

4-Year-Old Reads, Parents Discover

FLINT (AP) — Most children begin to read in the first grade, but Joyce Marie Williams of Flint, who will be five in November, couldn't wait.

Joyce, who began kindergarten this week, can read almost anything put before her. Although she understands only the simpler material, she still enjoys reading aloud from newspapers, magazines and her parents' books.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmon Williams, discovered Joyce's reading ability on a vacation trip four months ago, when she began reading the signs along the road. By the end of the trip Joyce was reciting from everything she could get her hands on.

The only explanation her father can give is the children's television shows that Joyce likes to watch. None of her two brothers or three sisters began reading early and her 6-year-old sister still does not read as well as Joyce.

★ ★ ★

Joyce recites in a soft, low voice but shows no hesitation and pronounces most of the words correctly. Her only difficulty is skipping lines and words.

Her favorite book is a children's encyclopedia set in which she likes to read the wildlife sections.

Diefenbaker on the Spot in London

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Canada's tall, gray-haired Prime Minister John Diefenbaker is a prairie lawyer who has been described as having an almost mystical belief in an almost mystical institution.

That institution is the Commonwealth of Nations formerly known as the British Commonwealth whose 13 indpendent member nations represent more than half a billion people on nearly every continent of the globe.

As a champion of this family of nations bound by no legal ties but only by past association with Britain, it was natural then that Diefenbaker should take over leadership of those who fear its imminent dissolution.

His target as commonwealth prime ministers assembled in London was Britain's effort to join the European Common Market, a six-nation super-market at present composed of France, West Germany, Italy, Luxembourg, Belgium and the Netherlands.

The ultimate goal of "the six" is European political unity as well as economic.

Those who oppose British entry do so on both counts.

TWO FEARS

They fear the end of the Commonwealth as a force for world stability and they fear for the effect on their own economies should Britain disappear behind a Common European tariff wall.

In Diefenbaker's mind there also undoubtedly was more than the question of the Commonwealth as a powerful, although somewhat intangible world force.

Most Commonwealth foodstuffs, raw materials and manufacturers enter Britain free of duty. Canada exports $1 billion worth of goods a year to the United Kingdom and under the present system enjoys a highly favorable trade balance.

★ ★ ★

MUST FIND WAY

He suggested the prime ministers' conference find a plan to vastly increase Commonwealth trade and thus provide Britain with an "alternative" to the Common Market. He conferred urgently with the prime ministers of Australia and New Zealand.

There were many who cheered him.

★ ★ ★

The London Express headlined "The Diefenbaker Way."

But actually there were few who believed Diefenbaker could change Britain's course.

The liberal Manchester Guardian commended his "more constructive" approach but doubted if he could come up with a workable plan.

Britain has said that if she is forced to choose between the Commonwealth and the Common Market, she will decide for the Commonwealth.

But there was also the uncomfortable conclusion that Britain neither could provide the growing outlet that Commonwealth producers need, nor were Commonwealth markets growing fast enough to absorb all the goods that Britain must export.

Kennedy to Lunch With U. N.'s Thant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced today that President Kennedy will be host at lunch for U.N. Secretary General U Thant at the White House Thursday.

Kennedy will hold a news conference at 5 p.m. (Pontiac time) the same day.

The White House gave no details on the lunch for U Thant, but the meeting will give the President a chance to discuss with the U.N. officer a global array of problems.

U Thant will confer with a number of other government officials Thursday, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said.

Named to Group on Equal Job Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy yesterday designated Hobart Taylor Jr. of Detroit as executive vice chairman of the president's committee on equal employment opportunity.

Taylor, 41, a Negro, has been serving as executive assistant to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who is chairman of the committee. He will continue to hold that post while serving as executive vice chairman.

As executive vice chairman, Taylor will succeed Jerry Holleman, who resigned several months ago as assistant secretary of labor.

Holleman resigned after acknowledging he accepted a gift of $1,000 early this year from Billie Sol Estes.

To Take Over Space Capsule Recovery Units

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Rear Adm. Harold G. Bowen, Pentagon deputy director of naval intelligence for security, takes over Wednesday as commander of the ships which are the recovery force for the nation's man-in-space program.

Bowen, 49, a Naval Academy graduate, will head up cruiser-destroyer Flotilla 4, the Project Mercury recovery force, which recovers America's spacemen from the seas after their flights.

He will relieve Rear Adm. John L. Chew, 52, who goes to the Pentagon as deputy director joint staff operations for the joint chiefs of staff.

Novelist James Jones Thinks Mankind Is Finished

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Novelist James Jones, who enjoys life hugely himself, feels the human race is a lost cause.

BOYLE

"I'm pessimistic about mankind," he said cheerfully. "I think mankind is a dead race — one way or the other."

"Either he'll be springboard to a greater race that will be as much above present man as man is above the animals, or else he'll kill himself off," Jones says.

"In either case man as he is now goes. The question is not whether to save man kind, but whether mankind has the guts to change."

Jones, a soldier turned author, startled the literary world in 1951 with "From Here to Eternity," which sold more than four million copies. Critics now are hailing as an able sequel, a raw, realistic story of combat on Guadalcanal, where Jones himself was wounded.

Jim, the most powerful writer to emerge from World War II, looks like his prose sounds. He's a slugger — thick-chested, muscular, with a chin like a concrete dam.

HARD WORKING WRITER

Now married and the father of a 3-year-old daughter, Jim roams between Paris and the island of Jamaica. He likes to box, skin dive, and collect guns, knives, jazz records and Indian carvings.

Stubborn, toughly sentimental, he likes to go on an occasional binge. But he is a laborious craftsman to whom the production of a novel is usually a lonely, arduous one-man military campaign, lasting from three to four years.

"I don't wait for inspiration—no real writer can," he says. "I just sit my behind down at the typewriter and work. It takes me an hour to get started. I just sit there until I get geared up. Then I keep at it for five more hours.

"I also like to keep in good physical shape. But I wouldn't give up living to stay in shape. There are a lot of enticements in living."

* * *

Jim put in five years in the Army, and knew some lean post-war years before book and movie sales flooded him with a tide of dollars, which he enjoys spending with both hands.

"Success hasn't changed my basic viewpoint," he said, opening a can of beer in his hotel room. "It has given me money, and I live better — which I'm not against.

"But success is like history. It's just one big lie—except for the money."

He likes to feel that he looks at the world honestly and without illusion or hypocrisy.

'LIFE A JUNGLE'

"Life has been great to me," he acknowledged, "but it is still scarey. And for most people it is nothing but a jungle.

"You get that feeling when you are skin diving. Things sting and hurt you and don't even know it. They have no conception of what they do.

"People are like that too. But there is a hunger in man, as he is made up now, to perpetuate cruelty.

"Morally, man is now the same in peace as he is in war. The only difference is that in peace the knives people stick in each other are only verbal.

* * *

"But man has to learn to be better than that. If he is going to evolve into a higher type of life form, he has to become a type that would prefer to accept pain rather than inflict it on others.

"Unless man does evolve, he is likely to kill himself off. But evolution takes time, and the question is whether he has the time left."

'No Move Planned' for Guantanamo Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy said today it is not looking for a new site for its base now at Guantanamo Bay in Cuba.

"The Navy is not seeking an alternative site for its Guantanamo base," it said in a statement.

"There is no proposal under consideration for a new naval base at any site in the Caribbean."

The statement was issued after publication of a story saying the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo "may be moved to the more friendly island of Jamaica."

Senate to Debate Negro for Appeals Court

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Presidents have appointed four Jews and six Catholics to the Supreme Court. But none has ever named a Negro to this highest tribunal.

★ ★ ★

The closest to that for a Negro has been the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

One is there now, Judge William Hastie on the Appellate bench in Philadelphia. Today another comes before the Senate for approval.

This is Thurgood Marshall, whom President Kennedy appointed over a year ago to the U. S. 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals which serves New York, Connecticut and Vermont. Marshall has led a dedicated life.

Since the 1930s — as chief counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People — he steered this nation's most famous racial desegregation cases to success in the Supreme Court.

A LONG FIGHT

It was a long, historic fight. It made possible the more direct action being taken today in the South by Negroes and whites in freedom rides, passive resistance and other forms of protest against racial segregation.

Almost certainly these protests would have been impossible without the work done by Marshall and the NAACP. Ironically, some anti-segregationists today seem to think the Marshall-NAACP tactics too slow, too negative.

Kennedy named Marshall to the 2nd Circuit Court Sept. 23, 1961. It was a cinch he would run into some bottlenecks, before he got approval, in a Senate where Southern Democrats hold powerful positions.

The Senate quit for 1961 without acting on the Marshall nomination. Kennedy on Oct. 23 gave him an interim appointment, which put him on the bench until the Senate returned this year.

★ ★ ★

From January until last week a Senate judiciary subcommittee, headed by Olin D. Johnston, South Carolina Democrat, dragged out consideration of Marshall until finally Kennedy and Northern liberals protested.

VOTE 11 TO 4

Last week the full committee, headed by Sen. James Eastland, Mississippi Democrat, approved Marshall. The vote was 11 to 4. Four Southern Democrats voted against.

Then the nomination went to the full Senate for approval or disapproval and, no doubt, debate.

The fight Marshall made had its immediate roots in 1896 when the Supreme Court made racial segregation in the United States official with a decision which said it was all right to segregate Negroes in public places provided the treatment they got was equal to that given whites.

1896 VERDICT

In a country which prides itself on equal justice under law Negroes, in view of that 1896 court verdict, could take one of two courses:

Direct action — even though peaceful — in the form of demonstrations or passive resistance. Or, fighting in the courts in hope of overturning eventually the decision of 1896.

Marshall and the NAACP took the road through the courts, knowing it would be a long, case-by-case struggle, based on the idea of chipping away at the 1896 verdict by repeated victories in a later Supreme Court.

This was not a fantasy. If the Supreme Court in the end reversed the ruling of 1896 it would not be the first time in history that the court had done that to itself.

TAKES SLOW ROAD

So Marshall began the journey through the courts, fighting segregation in the higher levels of education — and in other public places, like buses, housing, trains — and finally getting down to the primary schools.

Those who think a more direct course would have been the faster road seem to overlook a few realities.

In the decade of the 1930s—when Marshall and the NAACP began their long fight — 119 Negroes were lynched in this country. These figures are cited by the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights.

Besides, at a time when the 1896 decision still made segregation the general law, direct actionists would have been under a handicap. The American attitude toward segregation underwent a slow change.

Marshall's greatest victory came on May 17, 1954 when the court undid the work of 1896 and ruled out segregation in public schools.

When the government backed up this ruling resistance in the South began to crumble. It is not all gone but it is mortally dented.

Lauds Food Plan

By The Associated Press

Richard W. Reuter, director of the U.S. Food for Peace program, told representatives of 30 nations attending the fifth International Food Congress in New York: "The people of America believe in this program, that the peace we seek can best come from a world of equals—living with dignity and freedom. I believe they dare to look toward the day we have banished hunger rom the face of the earth."

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and his daughter, Mrs. William Strawbridge Jr., previewed a new collection of primitive art at the Museum of Primitive Art in New York City with a mixture of pride and sadness. The collection was gathered in Dutch New Guinea by Michael Rockefeller, the governor's son and Mrs. Strawbridge's twin brother.

Michael, 23, disappeared in the New Guinea jungle 10 months ago and is presumed dead. Rockefeller and Mrs. Strawbridge, who supervised the search for Michael for a time, said they were proud of his work.

W. Walton Butterworth, 59-year-old career diplomat, is expected to be nominated new U.S. ambassador to Canada, according to Washington sources. Wine From K to Kennedy? Must Be Red

LONDON (AP) — Five crates of Russian wine — a gift from Premier Khrushchev — are en route to the White House today, and U.S. embassy officials here are somewhat puzzled.

"This is news to me," an American Embassy spokesman said, "but if Mr. Khrushchev sent the wine it must be good."

As for the wine being some sort of peace token for President Kennedy, the spokesman said: "I don't know about that, but giving wine is a move in the right direction."

British Overseas Airways, which brought the wine from Moscow yesterday, said it knew nothing about the present. The crates are due to arrive in New York late today.

Issue Stamp Marking Centenary of O. Henry

MOSCOW (AP) — The Ministry of Post and Telegraph yesterday issued a memorial postage stamp to mark the centenary of the birth of American short story writer O. Henry (William Sydney Porter), whose works are widely known in the Soviet Union.

Car Kills Boy on Bike

DETROIT (AP) — Larry Wolcanski, 12, of Van Buren Township was killed last night when an auto struck a bicycle. Police said Roy Bledsoe, 14, of Van Buren Township, was riding the bicycle with young Wolcanski when it was hit by an auto. The driver, Gordon Brauninger, 27, of Detroit, suffered cuts and shock. The bicycle went through the windshield. Young Bledsoe was reported in critical condition.

Red Broadcasts Triple in 5 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Information Agency reported Monday that clandestine Communist radio stations tripled their broadcasts to the non-Communist world during the past five years.

★ ★ ★

A USIA report on Red broadcasting also said that Communist broadcasts beamed abroad totaled 3,680 hours a week as of mid-1962, an increase of more than six per cent in six months.

★ ★ ★

Twice Blessed Mothers Like to Get Together

"Prez" tells "prez." Mrs. Alfred P. Willockx, Davisburg, must be giving some advice to incoming president, Mrs. Ronald J. Collins, Clarkston. The presence of 3-year-old Jeanine and Janice and 2-year-old Barry and Bruce tells you that this is the Twin Mothers' Club. The twins might make a meeting more interesting, but they don't contribute much to concentrated thinking.

Twins' Moms to Meet

Thursday, Sept. 13, is the date set for the opening fall meeting of the Twin Mothers Club of Oakland County. Mothers of twins will assemble (minus twins) in the Community Services Building on Franklin Boulevard at 8 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Sorority Installs Officers

Officers were installed Monday evening when Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority, Beta Chi Chapter, met at the West Side Recreation Hall.

Guiding the group during the year will be Mrs. Donald Stone, president; Mrs. Jack Holler, vice president; Mrs. James George, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James Vincent, recording secretary; and Mrs. Rudy Mazza, treasurer.

The schedule of rush parties was announced by Mrs. Holler. A benefit sale is planned Monday.

Committee chairmen named include Mrs. Ralph Allen, Mrs. Edgar Plympton, Mrs. James Stone and Mrs. James Newport. Others are Mrs. Ben Sweeny, Mrs. John Christoff and Mrs. Harry Rhodes.

Concluding the list are Mrs. Harvey Schroeder, Mrs. Fred Mueller and Mrs. Jerry Strang.

Reveals Plans for the Year

Announcement of plans for the year were made when Psi Chapter, Sigma Beta Sorority held its September meeting. Mrs. Ezio Bisogni, Aquarina Street, Waterford Township, was hostess. Shirley DeFlorio acted as cohostess.

A bazaar is planned for November. In March the group will hold a style show. The April special event will be a dance and a benefit sale will conclude the year in May.

Rebekah Lodge Slates Dinner

Mrs. Vernon McFarland, noble grand of Welcome Rebekah Lodge No. 246, will open the fall season at the Malta Temple on Perkins Street with a public penny dinner from 5 to 7 Thursday evening.

The lodge's regular meeting will follow at 8 p. m.

Cookies on Paper Plate OK

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I baked some cookies recently and sent a batch of them over to a neighbor. I put them on a paper plate. My daughter remarked that this was not very polite and that I should have put them on a china plate.

She holds that sending them over on a paper plate implied doubt on my part as to the neighbor's returning the plate. Will you please tell me if what I did was wrong?

A: Strictly speaking your daughter is right, but it is a matter of so little importance that you need not give it another thought. In fact, what you did was really more practical because a paper plate need not be returned whereas a china one must be both washed and returned.

Q: When friends come in to see me in the afternoon I would like to know if it is in good taste to prepare the tea in the cups using the little tea bags.

I think it simplifies matters to be able to do this but I have been told that this is not the correct way to serve tea. May I please have your opinion on this matter?

A: The sight of a used tea bag being lifted, limp and dripping, by its string out of a cup is very unattractive. Furthermore, I cannot see that it is any easier to drop the tea bags in the cups than it would be to put them where they belong, in a tea pot, and pouring boiling water on them, let them steep properly and then pour the tea.

Q: I would like to know if you think it proper for my boy friend and me to stay home alone watching television for several hours while my parents are out visiting friends.

My mother does not object but my father does, strenuously, saying it does not look right and people will start gossiping.

A: Your father is right. Your being alone in the house with your boy friend for several hours is just the kind of food local gossips thrive on.

Teen-agers Must Be Willing

GILBERT YOUTH SERVICE

More teen-agers would grow up to be tycoons if they were willing to make the extra effort needed to forge to the top.

But regrettably, says Philip J. Sagona, one teen-ager, now tycoon, few seem to have the ambition to push onward and upward.

"Kids today think whom you know is more important than what you know. It isn't so. If you really want to achieve something badly enough, you'll do it on your own. But it takes discipline."

Sagona suggests a "Plan Ahead" approach to help any teen-ager find his goal. "Make a list every week of your projected plans, and study it to see which ones are more important to you.

Honesty Always Best Policy —Abby Tells 'Country Girl'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am shocked and somewhat confused at the advice of a woman I thought to be a very fine person. I am a very young widow, 27, have no children, and recently moved to a new community to start a new life. I am employed in a small office.

ABBY

A co-worker (unmarried) took me under her wing and promised to introduce me to some eligible young men. Then she told me NOT to tell them I was a widow. I should say I am a divorcee.

She said a divorcee had a much better chance of remarrying than a widow. Is this true? Or am I just a country girl?

WIDOWED

DEAR WIDOW: Honesty is always the best policy. The truth will not only set you free —it might also get you married.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who will lie about his age?

KNOWS ONE

DEAR KNOWS: I would try not to think about him at all.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: A friend of ours invited us to a "surprise birthday party" he is planning for his wife. Here are the facts.

★ ★ ★

He has invited 22 people to come to his home, and told us each to bring refreshments to feed 22. He also suggested we each bring a birthday gift. Now this man is by no means in the poor house.

★ ★ ★

In fact, he is better off than most of the people he invited. Have you ever heard of a "pot luck birthday party?" He has pulled stunts like this before.

★ ★ ★

We don't want to offend his wife by not coming because we like her, but we want to know what to do about an invitation like this.

★ ★ ★

PERTURBED

DEAR PERTURBED: Tell your friend that if he is planning a surprise party for his wife, it is up to him to furnish the refreshments. He is due for a "surprise" himself if he makes a practice of abusing friendships.

★ ★ ★

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press.

Gold Rush Takes to the Campus

Gold is the rule for school belies this fall, as the gold rush takes to the campus.

Gold jewelry, real or costume, the season's big news in high fashion circles, finds a natural affinity for school and college clothes, reports the Fashion Coordination Institute. Bold gold link chains in necklaces and bracelets team up with the new bulky sweaters for the biggest accessory news in and out of the Ivy League.

Gold pendant necklaces are new and right with either sweaters or shirts, and there are new versions of the classic gold pins — monogrammed discs or circles—beloved by all smart scholars. Enameled gold heraldic shield pins are popular accents for the classic button-down shirts, worn centered just below the open collar.

Girls are wearing tie pins this fall, in strictly feminine versions. These are big, bold and worn on a solid-color four-in-hand tie, which is worn in turn with a plain oxford shirt and leather-belted skirt.

The golden handcuff shares popularity honors with the scarab bracelet this fall. It's a plain gold wrist band engraved with name or initials —wide and flat, sometimes fastened with a jingle-bell clasp. In the same spirit are plain, wide gold rings, worn on the pinky finger.

Hi ho, and she went to the fair. The day was gloomy, but members of the Bloomfield Hills Women's National Farm and Garden Association held a county fair before their meeting Monday. Mrs. John B. Hammond (left) was hostess to the organization in her Hillwood Drive home. Here she greets Mrs. Rodney Lockwood, Bloomfield Hills, who came prepared with her shopping basket. Gay hats were the order of the day.

To Open Art Season

The Pontiac Society of Artists will open its fall season Friday evening, Sept. 14 at 8 p.m. at the Community Services Building on Franklin Boulevard.

The Pontiac Society of Artists is beginning its 15th year, having been organized in the summer of 1948 at the home of Mrs. L. L. Sterling.

★ ★ ★

In 1947 free art classes were started in the Pontiac Public Library with J. Hart Gould as teacher. Adah Shelly, then head librarian, had noticed an increase in the circulation of art books and offered space to Gould for the classes.

Mrs. Sterling was the society's first president. Other officers were Mrs. Cecil Shaw, Mrs. Ralph Kuenzel and Mrs. Herbert Danielson.

★ ★ ★

In 1948 a constitution and by-laws were prepared, membership cards designed and a state charter obtained.

June 1949 was the occasion of the first public show with 19 members exhibiting. Annual shows have been held ever since.

The society includes both painters and sculptors who must be working artists.

Bridal Shower Given for Miss Lamphere

Judith Lamphere, bride-elect of Phillippe R. Landry, was honored with a miscellaneous shower Saturday evening at the Marquette Street home of Mrs. Dennis P. Duross. Eleanore Duross and Mary Ann Buckley were cohostesses.

Judith announced her bridal attendants at the party. Patricia Lamphere will be her sister's maid of honor at the Oct. 6 wedding in St. Michaels Church.

Bridesmaids will be Jeanne Landry, sister of the prospective bridegroom, Miss Buckley and Miss Duross.

★ ★ ★

Present at the shower were Mrs. Grant A. Lamphere, the bride's mother, and Patricia; Mrs. Robert A. Landry, the bridegroom's mother, and Jeanne; Mrs. Vincent Buckley and Mrs. James Demski. Others were Mary Wilhelm, Pamela Woolever, Nancy Rick, Mrs. Lawrence Traynor and Shirley Robac.

Concluding the guest list were Diane Hope, Janice Strong, Mrs. Benjamin Carline, Shannon Donnelly, Pamela Arcello, Joan Klinkhamer and Kathleen and Patricia Duross.

English Association Holds Annual Tea

The annual membership tea of the Waterford Township Schools English Association was held Friday afternoon at Waterford-Kettering High School. Robert Kaminskis, president, extended an invitation to new faculty members.

The next meeting of the group will be Oct. 10 at 8 p.m. at John D. Pierce Junior High School.

Institute Club Meets

Cohostesses were Mrs. S. E. Minard and Mrs. Don Beutler.

D. G. Boice Wed in Wayne Rite

Wearing a gown of white dull luster satin that she had made, Saundra Elaine Sears was married Saturday evening in the First Congregational Church at Wayne to David G. Boice of South Edith Street.

Rev. E. A. Britton performed the ceremony before two hundred guests in a setting of white gladioli and carnations.

Long pointed sleeves and a bodice accented with Alencon lace were features of the bridal gown. Saundra's shoulder veil fell from a pillbox crown. She carried white carnations, rosebuds and ivy.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Meredith Van Valken of Ypsilanti, sister of the bride, and Marilyn Love of Wayne, were bridesmaids. Kathryn Sears, another sister of the bride of Tulsa, Okla., was maid of honor.

The attendants wore rust crystalette sheaths with over skirts, and velvet and tulle headpieces. They carried orange and yellow pompon mums.

Arthur Schultz served as best man. Larry Boice, brother of the bridegroom, and Thomas Lufkin were ushers.

★ ★ ★

After a reception in the Civic Hall in Wayne, the bride changed to a navy linen suit with red accessories and a rosebud corsage. A home in Wyandotte awaits the couple upon their return from a northern Michigan honeymoon.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Sears wore a blue silk-and-cotton flowered dress and a blue hat. Mrs. Boice's dress was moss green lace and chiffon. Both mothers wore Cymbidium orchid corsages.

Saundra is a graduate of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital School of Nursing in Ann Arbor. David is an aviation electronics technician, SC U.S. Navy.

Women's Faces Follow Current Fad

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fashions in faces change just as fashions in hemlines and waistlines run in cycles, says an artist who has sketched some of the world's most beautiful women.

This year's "in" faces belong to such "offbeat" types as typified by Mrs. John F. Kennedy, the First Lady, and by Sophia Loren, the actress, says Jon Whitcomb, painter, writer and art teacher.

The face that's "in," says Whitcomb, is the one currently in the greatest circulation. And certainly these two women are among the most consistent to decorate magazine covers in the early 1960s.

Whitcomb called Mrs. Kennedy's face with its wide-set eyes "marvelous." Miss Loren's, he said, is "sensual" and coupled by thousands of women because of its "animal vigor."

These he called current facial types, but through the years you can trace the ever-changing measurement of beauty.

He cited some examples — the Cupid's bow face of the silent screen beauty, the wide gash of a mouth copied from early Joan Crawford, the penciled brows also of early Crawford, Dietrich and Harlow, and today, the "pendulous" lower lip of Miss Loren.

"If you look at Crawford pictures over the years," said Whitcomb, "you'll find her face right in the mode every minute."

Whitcomb, in an interview, said one of the factors in change was "who's currently got the money." That is why today's affluent teenagers are partly responsible for two types of faces — the one, wholesome, the other frankly made up to the nines.

Almost all of Jon Whitcomb's life has been a study-in-depth of Pretty Girls.

A slightly built, boyish looking illustrator now living in Darien, Conn., and New York City, Whitcomb recalled that he'd been drawing feminine faces since his childhood. "I had three sisters at home to start on," he said.

Whitcomb, a graduate of Ohio State University, has done theater posters, illustrated short stories and cover girls for most of the big slick magazines, has written short stories, done illustrations for advertisements, is a contributing editor to Cosmopolitan Magazine, and is one of the founders and still faculty members of the Famous Artists School, Westport, Conn.

Now, he has set down some of his observations on females famous and not so famous in a book called "All About Girls" (Prentice Hall).

"I started out to make it an attack on women," said Whitcomb, "because the publisher figured that type of book would sell. It ended up more of a love letter to them."

* * *

We asked Whitcomb what to him was the essence of female beauty.

"It's difficult to say," said the artist who has painted such well-known faces as those of Debbie Reynolds, Eve Marie Saint, and Audrey Hepburn. "Every face has a million variations . . . I don't think it's possible to catch the same one even twice.

"But to me, the nose is the most important feature, for purposes of beauty. The late Marion Davies had one of the most beautiful noses I ever saw. Small, tilted . . .

"When the nose is good, a woman can get by with a lot of other faults. When it's bad, even beautiful eyes won't save the face."

Rich Pastry Enfolds Apple Nut Filling

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Use some of those good apples you bought the last time you shopped to make Apple Squares the way Mrs. Harold Chapman of Orchard Lake does. These make a good dessert or an evening snack.

Mrs. Chapman is active in a book club.

APPLE SQUARES
By Mrs. Harold Chapman

Dough:
3 cups flour
½ pound butter or margarine
3 egg yolks
⅓ cup sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder juice of 1 lemon
¾ cup sour cream

Filling:
¾ cup cracker crumbs
4-5 apples, sliced
sugar to taste
grated lemon rind
½ to ⅔ cup ground nuts

Mix butter and flour as for pie crust. Add slightly beaten egg yolks and rest of dough ingredients. Roll or pat half of dough into 8x8 greased pan.

For filling put sliced apples, cracker crumbs and nuts on top of dough. Sprinkle with sugar and lemon rind. Cover with other half of dough.

Married Under Trellis of Flowers

The marriage of Margaret McAlister to Nile Hunt was performed by Rev. Estel Moore under a trellis of white gladioli in the Pontiac Church of God Saturday evening.

★ ★ ★

Her bouffant veil was held by a circle of orange blossoms. She carried white carnations, centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Ann Denton and Mrs. Betty Latham, sisters of the bride and Joyce Pack were honor attendants. Mrs. Denton, as matron of honor, carried pink carnations and the bridesmaids blue ones. All wore light blue nylon dresses with lace jackets.

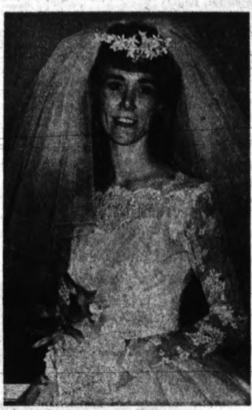
The bride's going-away dress was aqua taffeta. The couple is honeymooning in northern Michigan after which they will live on Williams Street.

Parents of the bride are Albert McAlister of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Lola McAlister, North Anderson Street. Mrs. McAlister wore beige taffeta brocade with matching accessories for her daughter's wedding.

The bridegrooms parents are Ernest V. Hunt, Milford, and Mrs. Marcella Weaver, Clarkston. For her son's wedding Mrs. Weaver was dressed in turquoise taffeta brocade.



MRS. NILE HUNT

Margaret McAlister became the bride of Nile Hunt Saturday. Albert McAlister, Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. Lola McAlister, North Anderson Street, and Ernest V. Hunt, Milford, and Mrs. Marcella Weaver, Clarkston, are the couple's parents.

Auxiliary Meets Head of Hospital

★ ★ ★

She outlined plans for hospital expansion and renovation of the old building. She also stressed the need for nurses and the desirability of nursing scholarship grants.

Mrs. Charles Kleinsmith reported on the progress of the new lobby gift shop, in business since May.

A membership tea at the home of Mrs. E. M. Estes in Birmingham is planned Oct. 11. Mrs. Meyer Simon, social chairman, and membership chairman, Mrs. Henry Simpson, will be in charge of this affair.

PTAs in Action

The Pontiac PTAs are beginning to move into high gear with first meetings and executive board sessions.

WILLIS SCHOOL

Willis School PTA will hold its first meeting of the fall season, Thursday, Sept. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the multipurpose room.

Perry Ninotti, principal of the school, will introduce the teachers and Mrs. Willis Schnekenburger, PTA president, will present her officers.

Mrs. Leah Herveat of Wisner school will be guest speaker with her subject, "Teaching of French in the Elementary Schools." A question and answer period will follow.

Refreshments will be served by the executive board.

WILL ROGERS BOARD

An extensive report on the activities planned for the coming year in the Will Rogers School PTA will be presented at the executive board meeting Thursday evening, Sept. 13.

Plans for the first general membership meeting for the Fall Festival will be presented. Mrs. Ted Lewis is chairman of the festival.

Mrs. Bernard Gauthier will serve as president of the group this year. Vice presidents are Mrs. James Severs, Arthur Dalby and Mrs. Alice Henry. Mrs. Wilson Garner is secretary; Alex Glygoroff is treasurer and Mrs. Roger Pomeroy is historian. Council delegates are Mrs. Elber Granflaten, Mrs. Alex Glygoroff and Mrs. Glenn Weiler.

★ ★ ★

LE BARON

A "get acquainted" meeting has been planned for the LeBaron PTA Thursday at 7 p.m. Teachers will be in their classrooms to greet the parents.

Mrs. Golda Holecheck, principal will introduce her staff. Mrs. Charles Wheeler, PTA president, will take over the business meeting and present her officers for the coming year.

These include Mrs. Charles Yates, vice president; Everett Fletcher, father vice president; Mrs. Hollis Henry, teacher vice president; Mrs. Charles Esralian, secretary; Mrs. Benjamin Shelton, treasurer; Mrs. Robert McAtee; and auditor, M. W. Farnsworth.

The executive board will serve refreshments in the multipurpose room.

Read Directions

Remember that even something so easy-to-serve as a prepared frozen dinner has directions on its label that should be read. One way the various labels differ is in whether to heat with the cover on or with the cover off. This difference is important, as certain foods such as fried chicken and fried seafood need the crisping of uncovered heating, while the vegetables heat better in the steam that is formed when the cover is over them.

Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Frequent question that pops up in the warm and wonderful letters I get from mothers: "Are you real, or just a make-believe person?" Well, I'm happy to report that I'm a very much alive, proud mother of five, and a several-times grandmother, too. We're a close and happy family and down to the last one of us, we think babies are the very nicest things that can happen to people.

•

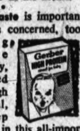
Mealtime memo. I loved feeding time with all my children. (And still do when I feed my adorable grandchildren.) Somehow that's the time when you're in closest communication with your baby. Feeding time also gives you a welcome "breather" from the normal hectics of the day. Point to remember: if you're relaxed, baby will relax, and feeding will be more fun for both of you.

•

Taste-testing – baby style. Once baby has become accustomed to the feel and swallow of solid foods, taste becomes a big factor in the acceptance or rejection of foods. Fortunately Gerber makes so many good-tasting varieties of strained foods (over 50) you have plenty of alternates with similar nutritive values to choose from. In Gerber's several food categories you will find enough variety to keep any baby happy—and well-nourished. P. S. The more variety you offer baby, the more foods he will learn to like . . . the more interest he'll show in his meals.

•

A change of taste is important where cereal is concerned, too. By rotating Gerber Rice Cereal, Barley, Oatmeal, Mixed Cereal and High Protein Cereal, you help keep baby interested in this all-important baby basic. And why are these special cereals so important, from the infant age through the toddler stage? Because they provide these needed nutrients: calories, iron, calcium and important B-vitamins. All contribute to your baby's nutritional well-being. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.



Clothing Men Hope to Open New Front

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

News item with a New York dateline: "The men's clothing industry has almost despaired of teaching old dogs new tricks and has begun to work on the fashion-conscious teen-agers in an effort to raise the American male's standard of dress."

Poor papa. He already has a fashion-conscious wife and clothes-crazy daughters who throw out round-toed shoes when Paris says toes have to be pointed and then throw out pointed toes when Paris cuts off the point.

Now the clothing industry is going to try to make his son as clothes conscious as the feminine members of his household.

If the men's clothing industry can just manage to make teen-age boys as wardrobe-happy as teen-age girls already are, the industry will be sitting pretty.

But what about poor papa who has to foot the bills? Isn't it going to be a bit hard on him to have sons as well as daughters claiming they haven't got a thing to wear and that they wouldn't be caught dead in "that old thing" and that if they can't have a new suit for Saturday night's party they would rather stay home?

Boys have always been a pretty big drain on a family budget. They eat a lot, they need money for dating, and they put a good many miles on the family automobile, or on their own if they have been able to talk their dad into providing them with one.

But at least when it came to clothes, a man could thank his lucky stars that clothes for a boy aren't the big item that they are for a girl.

But if the men's clothing industry manages to make a clothes horse out of junior the way the women's clothing industry has managed to make a clothes horse out of sis, it is really going to be rough on papa.

It's a good thing they say they have almost despaired of getting papa interested in clothes for himself. Because there's not going to be much of the clothes budget left for the poor man to spend on himself, once his sons are as clothes conscious as his daughters.

Well within your budget is Ruth Millett's booklet, "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, care of The Pontiac Press, P. O. 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

Mrs. Mahaffy New President of Figure Club

Installed as president was Mrs. Charles Mahaffy. Assisting her will be Mrs. Edward Bowers, vice president, Mrs. Alfred Post, secretary; Mrs. Odes Case, treasurer; Mrs. Howard Hicks, corresponding secretary; Mariam Lawrence, weight recorder, and Mrs. Conrad Burlinson, scales manager.

The new president named her committee chairmen as program, Mrs. Ralph Seiling, and Mrs. Joseph Jenkins, Mrs. Pat Whitt, and Mrs. Wavel Hilborn, telephone.

Mrs. Seiling announced next week's program will be entitled "Helpful Hint Night."

Good Investment

The latest food survey the U.S. Department of Agriculture showed families to be spending an average of 15 per cent of their food money for milk, cream, cheese and ice cream. For this expenditure, they got 64-per cent of their supply of calcium, 45-per cent of their riboflavin, about 25-per cent of their protein, and many other nutrients besides.

Young, striking "Mayfair" . . . This is an important new shoe boot from the "Cafe Boot" Eskiloos collection. "Mayfair" is trim and tailored from toe to ankle, then it breaks into a soft, shirred top that's high enough to keep wind and weather out . . . it's waterproofed to keep feet dry. Another important feature . . . "Mayfair" is made of an exclusive new material—"Royalon"—that's lightweight, soft and flexible, resists scuffing and cracking—wipes clean. "Mayfair" comes in deep club brown or rich black in narrow or medium widths.

Town or country boot news . . . You'll like the side opening snap fastener that makes it easy to slip "Monza" on and off and adds interesting detailing. "Monza" is completely fleece lined for comfort and warmth, with an insulating layer of cellular sponge. This trim, smart ankle-height boot is great to wear with ski pants, to slip over stretch pants, and to wear to town too. Four colors . . . deep club brown, soft bark brown, rich ivory and black in narrow and medium widths.

Bouffants Fade Out

Photos of the new straight hair styles may cause you to despair of every being able to wear them. It's true that in their extreme form, only high-fashion models or those of us fortunate enough to have beautiful bone structure can carry them off with a flair.

But an expert hairdresser can give you a modified version that will have enough softness and still create the illusion of a sleek, new coiffure. Whatever you do, don't decide that you must still wear a full bouffant style in order to look your best.

Everything's pretty much habit. You've become accustomed to the fullness after the past few years. Only about five years ago, you'd never heard of a bouffant hairdo, and you weren't happy with the way you wore your hair then.

Have it styled in a smooth, chic fashion for fall. You'll find it easier to manage and better for your hair for you can omit harmful teasing.

Which Is Which?

Two frequently confused terms in meat cookery are panfrying and panbroiling. Actually, both methods are used for tender cuts of meat, and in both the meat is cooked in a heavy frying-pan. However, in panfrying, fat is either added or allowed to accumulate in the pan, and is not poured off during cooking.

Newlyweds, the Gary C. Evans, Driving East En Route to Virginia

Planning to live in Portsmouth, Va., following a honeymoon in northern Michigan and a tour through the East, are newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Gary C. Evans. The couple exchanged vows Saturday noon at St. Michael's Church with the Rev. Charles Cushing officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coleman of Opdyke Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evans of Willard Street.

A chantilly lace bodice was paired with silk organza skirt for the bridal gown which featured a tiered lace chapel train. The bride's fingertip veil of silk illusion was secured by a rose cluster of seed pearls, petals and iridescent sequins.

Her pearls were a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a cascade arrangement of pompons with a corsage of yellow roses, mums and ivy in streamers.

All the attendants were gowned alike in dresses of aqua silk organza over taffeta with scoop necklines and bell skirts. Cascade arrangements of yellow and white pompons comprised the matron of honor's bouquet, while the others held yellow mums and white carnations.

Serving as best man was Jack Crawford, and seating the 200 guests were Larry Evans, the bridegroom's brother, Frank Beattie and Patrick Fitzgerald.

MRS. GARY C. EVANS

Dorothy Ann Coleman was married Saturday noon in St. Michael's Church to Gary C. Evans. Rev. Charles Cushing performed the ceremony. The Edward Colemans, Opdyke Road, are the bride's parents. Charles Evans, Willard Street, is the bridegroom's father.

Ione Wright Wed in Hills Church Rite

St. Paul Methodist Church in Bloomfield Hills was the setting for the Saturday evening marriage of Mrs. Ione Wright to Donald A. Tews. Rev. James A. McClung officiated at the ceremony in the presence of some 400 guests.

★ ★ ★

The bride approached the altar wearing a sheath dress of petal pink silk organza with overskirt of matching Chantilly lace. She chose a flowered silk hat with matching veil, and carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations and pink sweetheart rosebuds.

★ ★ ★

Honor attendants were her daughter, Lynette, and her cousins, Mrs. William Bigler and Mrs. Donald V. White, gowned alike in sheath dresses of turquoise iridescent taffeta, featuring bell shaped overskirts. Matching flower petaled and veiled headpieces completed the costumes. They carried white and pink mums on turquoise fans.

★ ★ ★

Performing the duties of best man was William W. Powell. Ushers were Aaron Wright, son of the bride and Lawrence Toutant Jr. of Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Daily Dozen Adds Up

Exercise Does Pay Off

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

In the fairly recent past the value of exercise in reducing has been downgraded. You have read that you cannot reduce with exercise, that you must walk a very long distance to lose a pound. Because of this, many overweight women have failed to make exercise a part of their daily routine. That's one reason they are fat.

It is true that it would be impossible to exercise enough to lose many pounds but it also is true that a moderate amount of regular exercise counts up over a year just as a moderate reduction in food intake does.

Suppose it is your daily habit to have one item such as a soft drink or a candy bar, or anything which is not essential to your health. Suppose you give this up. This is the only change you make in your diet.

Even if the item gives you only 80 calories (and most have more) let us see what that does to your weight in a year. This will count up to about ten pounds lost in a year.

If you give up one tablespoon of butter daily it will count up to about twelve pounds in a year. Naturally you must keep your caloric intake the same except for this one exception.

★ ★ ★

The same is true of exercise in reverse. When you exercise you spend calories. If you add a moderate amount of exercise to your days, it will count up to a sizable difference in a year's time.

★ ★ ★

Suppose you have been taking no exercise other than that required by leading the life you do. Add a two mile walk or a 15- or 20-minute session of special exercise, and this adds up to a big increase in the calories you spend over a 12-month period.

Think then, if you cut down just a little on your regular daily caloric intake and add a little to your regular daily caloric expenditure, what it will do for you!

Not only this, but exercise also tones the body and brings the measurements into more perfect ratio, and more is being learned continually about its value in health.

If you want to try exercise and would like to have my leaflet "Perfect Daily Routine for Women" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

More Likely to Get an 'A'

Encourage Child to Read

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE N-420: Lillian L., aged 27, is the children's librarian in her city.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I know you are quite right in saying that the youngsters who patronize our library are the better students in school.

"And I can give you some exact data to prove that. Some years ago when you mentioned this same idea in a chapel talk at our college, I asked my psychology professor if I could use it as the basis of my term paper.

★ ★ ★

"So I analyzed the records of children in a nearby grammar school and compared their class standing with how many library books they took out.

★ ★ ★

"And I found that the more reading a child did, the greater was his likelihood of making 'A' grades. There was a direct correlation.

"I wish you'd stress this again for the benefit of all parents."

BOOK 'HALO'

Many busy fathers take out college insurance policies to finance four years on the campus for their youngsters.

So those same youngsters become second rate students or almost flunk out. As a result of their poor grades, they dislike school and don't even want to attend college.

★ ★ ★

If their fathers still prod them into going to the university, then these same poor readers drop out by the end of the first semester.

★ ★ ★

Comic pages thus are the only doorway the newspaper opens to children from 7 to 12 years of age.

Alas, most of the comics aren't slanted to children! For 25 years I have made a close psychological study of comics.

And I can truthfully tell you I can't name more than 3 or 4 comics that appeal to grammar schoolers.

Oh, many of them contain child characters. But they are primarily "dialogue" or "balloon" comics, with the language far over the comprehension of children.

Many of these comics are excellent for adults, such as "Peanuts" and "Dennis the Menace."

But the humor in those strips is not apparent to a child for it requires adult experience to see the ludicrous nature of such child antics.

A superb children's comic must be slanted to the comprehension level and vocabulary of those who are 7 to 12 years old. And a "perfect" comic will interest all age groups, from ages 7 to 77.

Remember, too, that readers make more independent thinkers than mere listeners. They analyze facts for themselves. Listeners, as the average TV audience, are swayed by the narrator, as Marc Antony stampeded the crowd at Caesar's funeral.

So listeners are more easily regimented and swayed, politically. Beware!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Soup Into Dressing

For an especially good salad dressing try this: Stir a can (11 ounces) condensed Cheddar cheese soup until smooth; gradually blend in 1 cup salad oil, ½ cup vinegar and 1 teaspoon sugar. Makes 2½ cups dressing.

Lemons and Limes Are Best When Real Glossy

If you are buying fresh lemons remember light yellow ones are usually preferred over deep yellow ones. Light lemons are more acid while the deep yellow give more juice. The lemons should have fine textured skins and be heavy for their size. Avoid fruits with shriveled and hard skins and those that are soft and spongy.

★ ★

Balloons to Lift Telescope Up

Lens to Peek at Mars 80,000 Feet Above Earth Next Year

NORWALK, Conn. (AP)—Scientists will float a telescope 80,000 feet above the earth early next year, and, by television, view the universe.

★ ★ ★

Twin balloons will hoist the telescope next February or March, when Mars is comparatively close to the earth.

The scope's 36-inch quartz mirror will have sharper vision of Mars than the giant 200-inch telescope atop Mt. Palomar, Calif.

At a distance of 1,000 miles, it will be able to view an object about six inches wide. At the same distance, it will be able to distinguish two spots of light only 30 inches apart.

★ ★ ★

The entire apparatus, weighing more than six tons and dubbed Stratoscope II, will be launched from the new scientific balloon flight station at Palestine, Tex.

Later this month, the L-shaped 18-foot-long telescopic mount will be disassembled at the Perkin-Elmer Corp. plant here and the parts shipped to Texas.

EYE ON VENUS, MARS

Once aloft, the entire balloon contraption—stretching in length to nearly the height of the Washington Monument, 555 feet, 5 inches—will sway to and fro like a clock pendulum.

But motors and special television cameras will keep the telescope pointed at a single spot.

Dr. Martin Schwarzchild of Princeton University, director of the project, hopes his apparatus will enable him to get a close look at the "white dots" on Venus and the "canals" of Mars.

Stars should be visible as shapes rather than as mere pinpoints of light, and it may be possible to see how they are created.

Each flight will last just one night. At dawn, the balloons, radio-controlled by aircraft, will be valved down to 5,000 feet by releasing some helium. There a helicopter will take over and lower the apparatus.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Schwarzchild proved the effectiveness of sky-high viewing with Stratoscope I. Its 12-inch telescope was lifted by balloons to above 80,000 feet in 1957, and again in 1959, to obtain the sharp photographs of sunspots.

★ ★ ★

The Office of Naval Research, which is supporting the new project with NASA and the National Science Foundation, said the venture next year will inaugurate a revolution in astronomy.

Out in Hollywood it's hard to hold onto a good housekeeper—even if you're married to her. . . . Artist Strokes With Time Brush

By RALPH P. HUMMEL

Thirteen years ago, Robert A. Thom had already painted himself into a comfortable corner as a top-notch illustrator, ranging from fashion models in furs to new-car catalogs.

He escaped the corner by turning his paint brush into a time machine.

His trips spanning 10,000 years and 400,000 miles of travel around the globe, always start and end in a quiet Bloomfield Township studio, where he lives with his wife and two sons.

Few of his neighbors know that the home at 6160 W. Surrey is the likely well-spring of their own impressions of the history of medicine and pharmacy.

Yet, take them to a drugstore or a doctor's office and who hasn't seen the colorful reproductions of "Great Moments in Pharmacy" and "Great Moments in Medicine."

IN DRUG ADS

Or turn the pages of a magazine and an ancient Egyptian physician pops out of an advertisement of Parke, Davis and Co., as if photographed only yesterday.

Last week, Thom took a visitor into his studio where he is now finishing the last three paintings of his series in medicine.

With him was Dr. Lowell Eklund, dean of Michigan State University Oakland's Continuing Education Division, where Thom will teach a course in illustration this fall.

THE SETTING

In this studio through a wall-wide, ceiling-high window the afternoon light falls on woodpaneled walls, woodplank floor and on the wide easel in the center.

The painting on the easel has felt the time brush of Thom. On the canvas it is a summer day in 1922.

The scene is coldly exact. Reality then and now merges into one. There is the fullness of a historic moment: Two men—their eyes on a filled hypodermic.

The viewer thinks he sees the next moment . . . sees the men turn to a dog resting mournfully at the picture's right side. The needle sinks . . . a diabetic dog lives.

The moment—the picture—tells the story of the lives of millions of diabetics saved since the first successful use of insulin by two men—Charles Herbert Best and Frederick Grant Banting.

"I was there recently, and as I walked down the hall with Dr. Best many people would greet him.

'MORNING, DOCTOR'

"They'd say, 'Morning, Dr. Best,' and he'd say, 'Morning, Joe,'—and when they passed out of earshot, he'd say, 'He's a diabetic, too.'

"I found out 65 per cent of the workers there are diabetics. They'd all be dead—and millions like them—except for Banting and Best."

History weighs heavily on Thom.

On field trips with collaborating writer George Bender of Grosse Pointe, Thom takes hundreds of photographs of even the smallest momentos of a bygone day. He sketches avidly and has his work checked by experts in medicine and pharmacy.

AS IT WAS 'WHEN'

In crannies of museums where no man enters, he is allowed to touch ancient instruments and set up laboratory equipment as it was "when." But all this does not satisfy him.

★ ★ ★

"It is cultural research I center on," says Thom, "—architecture, costumes, artifacts. You can't just walk green into 400 B.C. To know what goes on inside a lab, you've got to know what goes on outside, even though it won't show in the picture."

When he had almost finished his oil of "Avicenna—The Persian Galen," an expert pointed out that the Arabic writing in the ancient physician-philosopher's hand was 300 years out of phase.

"You learn to be careful," Thom grins wrily.

There is another kind of pressure on the 47-year-old Thom, who sold out one of the nation's top five illustartor studios in Detroit to concentrate on recording history.

★ ★ ★

"I could do 500 little things a year, but not more than six significant works. You realize you haven't got many left. This brings the pressure to an almost unbearable weight every time you life a brush.

★ ★ ★

"I consider every painting my last chance to do anything lasting."

★ ★ ★

With his latest series nearly finished — three oils more within a year—he won't say what is next. But it is bound to be another series in history, he hints.

"When I had my own commercial studio, I realized I was doing throw-away art," he muses, "—a painting of a car doesn't last beyond the model year.

★ ★ ★

"Now I'm doing keeper's art. It's going to last for a trillion years. History does not age."

ARABIC ERROR — Need for detailed accuracy in representing historic scenes was emphasized, when Thom was told the tiny writing in this ancient scientists' hand was 300 years out of phase. The writer is Avicenna, a philosopher-physician known as "The Persian Galen." Thom painted over the error with the correct Arabic script.

Pontiac Press Photos by Edward E. Noble

PREVIEW FOR STUDENTS — Thom gives some pointers in the illustrator's art to Dr. Lowell Eklund (left) dean of the continuing education division at Michigan State University Oakland, where Thom will teach a course on illustration this fall. "The illustrator is mainly a storyteller," says Thom. "It's up to him to excite the viewer's interest."

Expect Siege of Flu in Area

County Health Official Stresses Vaccine Can't Cause Disease

The deputy county health director today joined the U.S. and Michigan health services in warning that a new outbreak of Asian flu is expected this winter.

He decried as false a widespread notion that preventive flu shots may give people the flu.

★ ★ ★

What may be mistaken as flu after the vaccine is given, he admitted, may be "a reaction which resembles flu." This may include fever and chills.

★ ★ ★

But such reaction is suffered only by people who are allergic to eggs or egg products, he said. Since the vaccine is grown in eggs, the allergy may result from an injection.

The shots should be requested from a family doctor, who should be advised if a person suspects he is allergic to eggs or egg products, he said.

He added, "We haven't had a good amount of flu in the county for four years; we're due for it."

★ ★ ★

The County Health Department is only immunizing county employes at this time. Last year, 400 employes were vaccinated.

Waterford Twp. Board

To Vote on 1.34 Millage

A tentative 1962 tax rate of 1.34 mills was approved last night by the Waterford Township Board.

The rate includes one mill allocated by the county and .34 mills spread by board action. It compares to a rate of 1.26 mills for 1961.

As equalized the 1962 rate amounts to $2.99 per $1,000 valuation compared to the equalized figure of $2.85 a year ago.

As a charter township Waterford is empowered to spread millage without public vote.

Not formally on the agenda, the proposed rate was presented at the regular meeting by Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson who advised that the Oakland County Board of Supervisors would have to have the figure for final consideration at that body's Oct. 8 meeting.

Township Clerk James Seeterlin objected to taking final action on the proposal last night because the needs of the various township departments for the calendar year 1963 had not been reviewed.

Seeterlin agreed to tentative approval of the rate. Final consideration by the board is scheduled for next Monday.

DISCUSS FOOD ORDINANCE

In other business last night the board spent nearly two hours discussing the proposed food handlers ordinance but deferred a decision until next Monday.

Several details of the ordinance patterned after similar ones now in force in about 70 per cent of the county were discussed at length. An inspector from the Oakland County Health Department which would enforce the ordinance was present to answer questions.

Don L. Hine representing the Michigan State University Extension Service read a letter he addressed to the board commending the proposed action that would tighten controls where they were needed, especially regulating the operations of transient peddlers.

Proposed license fees of $25 for groceries and $10 for restaurants are included in the ordinance.

The board also reviewed a proposed retirement fund plan for the police and fire departments and scheduled action on the measure for Sept. 24.

The plan calls for a first year annual expenditure of $32,796 by the township amounting to 19.4 per cent of the total salaries of the 29 participants.

Salary deductions of five per cent would be withheld from employes totaling $8,418 the first year.

IN OTHER BUSINESS

In other business the board authorized planning director Robert Diebali to attend the Oct. 14-19 convention of the National Institute of Planners in Los Angeles by a 3 to 2 vote.

Trustee Loren Anderson voiced strong opposition to the trip as he has done in recent months when other proposed trips by department heads were brought before the board. Anderson again called for the establishment of a definite policy on conventions.

Johnson joined in the opposition but the trip that will cost an estimated $375 was favored by trustees Joseph McGee, Seeterlin and treasurer Mrs. Dorothy Olson.

McGee said he felt conventions were excellent sources of knowledge. Anderson held the opposite viewpoint saying that a summary of convention activities was readily available for study.

OK to Transfer Any Section of School District

LANSING (AP)— The Michigan Supreme Court yesterday unanimously upheld the State Board of Education in approving the transfer of a portion of a small suburban school district to the school district of Lansing.

★ ★ ★

The high court said it found no basis for the Lansing district's contention that the transfer of 1½ square miles of the neighboring Community School District violated the state constitution.

The issue was whether a portion of one school district can be transferred to another without being politically attached through annexation as well. The court said, in effect, that it can.

First sought in 1955, the transfer was made last May after the Lansing district informed Community that it could no longer accept students of the seventh grade and above on a tuition basis.

YM Facelifting Ready This Fall

Strike Delayed Work; Pool Done by October, Entire Project Nov. 19

Facelifting and expansion of Pontiac's YMCA to the tune of $650,000 will not be completed until Oct. 1 in some parts and Nov. 19 in others.

The delay is due to last spring's building workers' strike and the extent of repair needed at the old building at 131 Mt. Clemens St., said T. N. Slosson, general secretary.

"We hope sections of the old building will be ready by Oct. 1," he added. "Nov. 19 is our target date for completion of the entire project."

The Oct. 1 date is set for the start of classes in the swimming pool and gym.

The major work is in the addition of a two-story building which will double the existing floor space.

On its ground floor will be a youth department, including locker, shower, club, game and television rooms.

On the second floor will be an instructional swimming pool which will be connected to the larger pool in the old building. Also located here is an adult area, including a club room, a kitchen and a banquet room to seat 140, along with offices.

The banquet room and kitchen on the top floor of the old building will be remodeled into an auxiliary gym and equipment room.

UNDER CONSTRUCTION — The sun is still shining through the top floor of the Pontiac YMCA's new addition into the shower rooms included here. Completion of the $650,000 improvement program is set for the middle of November.

Primaries End Campaigns in 9 States

By The Associated Press

New Hampshire's blistering four-way race for a Republican senatorial nomination and nominating campaigns in eight other states come to an end today as voters make their choice in primary elections.

★ ★ ★

The biggest primary day of the year will see candidates nominated for 39 House seats, eight Senate seats and six governorships in New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Utah, Washington, Arizona and Colorado.

★ ★ ★

Georgia Democrats Wednesday ballot for governor, senator and 10 House members.

4 SEEK GOP NOD

Most of the attention has been focused on New Hampshire, where four candidates have been seeking the GOP nomination for the remaining four years of the late Sen. Styles Bridges' term.

The candidates:

Sen. Maurice J. Murphy Jr., conservative former state attorney general who was appointed to serve out this session by Gov. Wesley Powell.

Dolores Bridges, the late senator's widow, who has campaigned strongly on a conservative platform featuring opposition to the U.N. bond issue and trade program proposed by President Kennedy.

Rep. Perkins Bass, a self-styled moderate who has supported the President on foreign trade and foreign affairs.

Rep. Chester E. Merrow, a liberal Republican running with the backing of organized labor.

Political observers say Bass and Mrs. Bridges seem to be the front-runners in the normally Republican state.

New Hampshire Republicans will also pass judgment on Powell's bid for a third term. His hard-hitting challenger is State Rep. John Pillsbury.

In Utah, J. Bracken Lee, the two-time former governor, is rated an underdog to Sen. Wallace Bennett, who never has lost an election and is bidding for a third term in the Senate. But Lee, who once read himself out of the Republican party to make an unsuccessful try for governor as an independent, has pulled political upsets before. Both are conservatives.

In Arizona, Stephen Shadegg, former Democrat and later state Republican chairman and campaign manager for Sen. Barry Goldwater has waged a stiff fight with state Sen. Evan Mecham. Both are conservatives. Goldwater has said he will back either man in November against the likely Democratic nominee, Sen. Carl Hayden.

Hayden, 50 years in Congress, is opposed in his bid for a seventh Senate term by W. Lee McLane, Phoenix attorney.

In Wisconsin three Republicans seek the right to oppose State Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds, who has no primary foe for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. The GOP candidates are Philip G. Kuehn, Wilbur N. Renk and Robert La Follette Sucher, a grandson of the state's late senator and governor, Robert La Follette Sr.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin is unopposed for the Democratic senatorial nomination to meet Republican Sen. Alexander Wiley, also unopposed.

MINNESOTA CONTEST

In Minnesota, Rep. H. Carl Andersen, in Congress for 24 years, is battling for his political life against State Rep. Robert Odegard in the 6th District Republican primary. Odegard picked up party organization support when it was disclosed that Andersen had sold Billie Sol Estes, the Pecos, Tex., financier, some mining stock.

★ ★ ★

Incumbent senators who have little or no opposition include Democrats Warren G. Magnuson of Washington and John A. Carroll of Colorado and Republicans George D. Aiken of Vermont and Norris Cotton of New Hampshire.

Georgia Democrats will choose from among five candidates for governor, with former Gov. Marvin Griffin and State Sen. Carl Sanders apparently the front-runners.

Sen. Herman Talmadge seems certain of renomination, but a veteran House member, Rep. James C. Davis, has strong opposition.

It will be the first primary in Georgia since courts struck down the county unit rule system under which rural areas dominated the Democratic primaries.

HOLLYWOOD — What is a "new" Jayne Mansfield?

Following her separation from husband Mickey Hargitay the bosomy blonde announced she was a changed woman. She was, in fact, a new woman.

If so, there appears to be nothing new nor rearranged about her superstructure. Her measurements are as awe-inspiring as ever, her voice as filled with promise and her walk as wiggly.

Asked point blank about the "newness," Jayne responded:

"While I was in Italy this summer I discovered a whole new concept of life. It was like taking off a pair of dark glasses through which I had been looking at the world."

"With it came the feeling that there is no necessity for displaying one's voluptuousness because it is no longer important," she explained. "It is better to have your soul on display than your bosom."

★ ★ ★

Jayne dispatched a vodka martini with a soulful sigh. You could see that she was, indeed, a changed girl.

Did this mean that her famed plunging necklines would plunge no more? Would rumor spring up that she had turned to falsies?

"I don't think so," Jayne said, again soulfully.

"Part of the new Jayne Mansfield is that I won't work at being a sexpot anymore, I guess I can't keep it from coming through, but it will have to come through a lot of material."

Here was a Mansfield death knell for her bikini swim suits. It was almost like watching Joe DiMaggio hang up his glove or hearing that Brendan Behan had taken the pledge.

COLLEGE GIRL

Jayne herself was moved by the enormity of the occasion. She removed the olive from her second martini and set it on the table.

★ ★ ★

She finally broke the silence to observe, "the new Mansfield will be playing some serious roles in pictures. I've had some wonderful critical reviews of my comedy parts, but now I want to use the training I got at three colleges, UCLA, the University of Texas and SMU.

"People don't think of me as a college girl, and I'd like to have a chance to prove that I can do just as well with dramatic roles as I have with comedy."

Jayne indicated she and the estranged Hargitay had no immediate plans for divorce. Neither are they particularly close to a reconciliation.

The question arose whether there was a place for the muscle man in the future of the new Jayne. Tune in next week . . . er, Jayne won't really know until she has had time to live with her new image for a time.

Proof positive that a "new" Mansfield exists is a man named Curt Frings, her new agent. He handles such other serious actresses as Elizabeth Taylor and Audrey Hepburn. According to Jayne he already has refused four pictures as unsuitable for the new Mansfield.

"You see," Jayne concluded, "I am a different girl. I'm going to Italy this week to accept the award for the most popular film entertainer of 1962. Last year Elizabeth Taylor won it."

JAILED IN FRANCE — Dr. Harvey Lothringer of New York and his secretary Theresa Carillo are shown at dinner earlier this year in New York. Dr. Lothringer and the girl were arrested yesterday in the State of Andorra by French police. He was jailed in nearby Perpognan, France, in connection with the abortion slaying of a teen-age New York girl in 1961. No charges were filed against the girl.

Find Abortion Suspect

PERPIGNAN, France (AP)— A New York law official flew to France today, seeking the return of Dr. Harvey Lothringer, a New York physician sought in the abortion death of a 19-year-old college girl.

★ ★ ★

Lothringer, 41, and his attractive secretary, Theresa Carillo, 24, were arrested Sunday in Andorra, a tiny state in the Pyrenees on the French-Spanish border. They were jailed in Perpignan, 65 miles to the east in France.

Queens County Dist. Atty. Philip Chetta flew from New York Monday night and said he would try to get Lothringer and Miss Carillo to return voluntarily.

★ ★ ★

French police said the arrests followed a Europe-wide alert from Interpol, the international police organization. The couple disappeared three months ago, a few days before parts of the dismembered body of Barbara Lofrumento and the remains of an unborn baby were found in the sewer of Lothringer's $75,000 office-home in Queens.

Lothringer, described by U.S. authorities as a member of a New York abortion ring, was held on a warrant charging him with a 1961 abortion prior to Miss Lofrumento's death.

No charges were filed against Miss Carillo, a former airline hostess described by authorities as the doctor's girl friend.

U.S. authorities said Miss Lofrumento was taken to Lothringer by her parents, who paid $500 in advance for the abortion. When the parents later sought the girl, she and the doctor had disappeared.

42 Independence Acres Annexed to Clarkston

By JOE MULLEN

CLARKSTON — By vote of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday 42 acres of Independence Township were annexed to the Village of Clarkston.

A petition signed by 22 residents seeking the annexation had been presented to the board of supervisors' boundaries committee Aug. 3.

A vote of 43 to 36 by the full board following an hour-long public hearing yesterday authorized the land transfer.

Because the village is older than the 1909 Home Rule Act of Michigan, no public vote was required for Clarkston to annex the land immediately south of the village limits.

Only two other villages, Holly and Ortonville, are old enough to come under the 1895 Village Act, according to County Corporation Counsel Norman E. Barnard. All others must hold an election for annexation, he said.

Supervisors Harry W. Horton of Royal Oak and Carl F. Ingraham of Birmingham suggested during the hearing that the village reincorporate under the more modern act to bring about a vote. No action was taken on the suggestion, however.

EYE BLACK TOPPING

In presenting the petition last month, Village Atty. Ronald A. Walter said residents in the proposed annexation area had asked for the action.

Walter explained that villagers supporting the move hoped to achieve black topping on their roads through annexation. Portions of the subdivisions now within the village limits already have black topped roads.

The chief objector to the annexation was Kenneth K. Hempstead of 6085 M15, who cited four reasons at the hearing for his opposition. He was particularly critical of the 1895 act under which action was taken.

Hempstead said he felt those affected didn't have adequate notice of what was happening and added that annexation was definitely of no advantage to residents on already paved M15.

He also expressed the opinion that annexation was of doubtful advantage and suggested that by becoming a charter township a real solution to present and future problems could be attained.

Now that annexation has been approved the village must have private roadways in the area dedicated at public roads. The procedure to be followed in taking this action will be discussed at Monday's meeting of the Village Council.

Rochester Sets League Day

Thursday Will Mark Women Voters Unit Fund Drive

ROCHESTER — Thursday has been officially proclaimed as League of Women Voters Day in Rochester by the Village Council.

This day, set during League of Women Voters Week which began yesterday, will mark the annual drive of the Rochester league to raise funds to carry out their nonpartisan volunteer services for the coming year.

The goal of $705 will be partially met by $250 in member contributions. The remaining $455 must be raised by contributions from friends, businessmen and other interested persons.

"A portion of these funds," explains Mrs. Robert Leinenger, finance chairman, "will be used for publishing factual information on candidates and ballot issues, conducting candidates meetings and working to get out the vote.

"$100 will be used to purchase informative and timely publications which will be used by league members in their study of local, state and national issues," she added.

A few of such publications will be on display throughout the Rochester area during league week.

Every league member is an unpaid worker for the league's causes.

League members include housewives, and working women, professionals and amateurs, those able to give only a few hours, and those able to give a large amount of volunteer time to promote informed citizen participation in government.

Eligible for Renewal Aid

U.S. Approves Rochester Plan

ROCHESTER — This village's "workable program" for community improvement has been approved by the Housing and Home Finance Agency in Washington, D.C., making it eligible to receive federal aid for urban renewal projects.

Announcement of the approval was made today by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich. and U.S. Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland.

The favorable action completes the first step in Rochester's plan for rejuvenating the East Third Street area between two railroad tracks with the help of federal funds.

A "workable program" application includes a preliminary survey of the project, evidence of citizen support and participation in the form of committee to work with planners, and information showing that village ordinances, planning facilities and enforcement capabilities are up to standards.

Rochester has a 14-man citizens committee that was appointed May 11 to join with planning consultants Vilican-Leman & Associates, Inc., in preparing plans for the project.

If the project is approved by final form, three-fourths of its cost will be paid by the government.

NOT COMMITTED

Approval of "workable program" does not commit the village, however, to proceed with the project. It only means that Rochester is assured of being qualified to receive aid if it decides to seek it.

The urban renewal program for the E. Third Street area, recommended by the Avon-Rochester Planning Commission and by Vilican-Leman, would include construction of a new bridge.

Other plans affecting the future of Rochester will be discussed at a meeting of the Avon Township-Rochester liaison committee next Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Municipal Building. The committee will discuss the possibilities, problems and costs involved in bringing Detroit water into the area.

★ ★ ★

Gerald Remus, general manager of the Detroit Water Board will attend the meeting along with engineers for the township and the village, and financial consultant Louis P. Schimmel of Pontiac.

Village Council last night rejected a request by North Hill Lanes for relief from its agreement to pay 1½ times the normal water rate as well as real and personal property taxes to the village for water and sewer service outside the village limits.

★ ★ ★

NEWS OF THE AREA

Apple Growers May Revolt

Hectic Battle Rages With Processors Over Marketing Agreements

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan apple growers may join the "revolt of the farmers" if processors refuse to sign marketing agreements outlining price and other terms of sale.

★ ★ ★

Apple growers, working within the Michigan Agricultural Cooperation Marketing Association (MACMA), have pledged that this year's crop will go only to processors who come to terms with the association.

Robert Braden, field services representative for the MACMA, said that several of the major processors have indicated satisfaction with the contract offered by the growers.

However, some processors may be reluctant to sign any agreement that could conceivably bind their actions which to date have been largely unhampered in the area of price, according to the Michigan Farm Bureau.

PRICE ONLY PART

Braden said that price was only part of the consideration as growers in return would agree to provide a quality product in a specified amount and accept grade standards in line with processor needs.

★ ★ ★

The prices are based on a nationally determined minimum of $3.10 per hundredweight for preferred varieties of two-and-a half inches and up in diameter and $2.70 for standard varieties of two-and-a-half inches and up.

The grower committee adjusted the minimum national price on Michigan's Northern Spies upward to $3.60 per hundredweight for apples of two-and-three-quarter inches and up.

Henry Nelson, an Ionia grower, and chairman of the MACMA Processing Apple Committee, said, "We wish to emphasize that this is not a 'withholding' action such as you have heard about (National Farmers Organization).

"We are a responsible group of growers whose interest is in establishing a reasonable price for our product before delivery."

Rollin-Zachary Vows

Newlyweds Home

Parents of the bride, the former Dolores Ellen Zachary, are Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Zachary, 2730 Welch Road. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Rollin and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Glatt, 1410 Oakley Park Road.

MRS. CHARLES H. ROLLIN

Mrs. Joseph Woloszynski, cousin of the bride, attended her as matron of honor. Robert Glatt served his cousin as best man.

Seating the guests were John Kuehl, also a cousin of the bridegroom, and William Zachary, brother of the bride.

A dinner and reception for the bridal party and 50 guests was held after the ceremony in Rotunda Inn at Pine Lake. The couple honeymooned in northern Michigan.

Ham Dinner Thursday

LAKE ORION — The Women's Department of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will hold a baked ham dinner Thursday at the church, 531 E. Flint St. The meal will be served family style from 5 to 7 p.m.

Ex-Highway Worker Arrested in Forgery

LANSING (AP) —Ingham County Prosecutor Leo A. Farhat has issued a warrant charging a State Highway Department employe with forgery of four payroll and expense checks totaling $256 belonging to other members of the department.

Paul P. Wood of Lansing was charged with forging and cashing the checks following an investigation by the attorney general's office. Kelley said Wood admitted the charge.

Wood, a project clerk at the Dimondale office, has been fired, the Highway Department said.

Allegan Fair Opens

Plan Emergency Training

A 13-week medical emergency training course sponsored by the Oakland County Office of Civil Defense and the County Health Department is scheduled to start in four county communities within the next 10 days.

The course will begin tomorrow in Oak Park at the Public Safety Building, 13600 Oak St. Anna Mary Fox, R.N., is coordinator.

Classes are scheduled to start Sept. 18 in Clarkston, Sept. 19 in Farmington and Sept. 20 in White Lake Township. The course will be conducted from 8 to 10 p.m. in each of the four locations.

The medical emergency course is designed to prepare area residents for any medical emergency whether it be natural—or enemy-borne disaster, accident or family illness.

★ ★ ★

Classes are conducted by doctors and registered nurses with special training in disaster techniques. There are no fees involved and no examinations are given.

The program utilizes demonstration material as well as film for all of the classes.

Because Oakland County is considered within a potential enemy target area, knowledge of disaster techniques is considered extremely valuable for area residents. The government has urged all citizens to be informed of medical survival.

Mrs. Robert Phillips will serve as coordinator of the Clarkston course scheduled for Clarkston Elementary School on Waldon Road.

Coordinator of the Farmington program will be Mrs. Nila Lutz. The course will be held at Alameda Elementary School, 32400 Alameda St.

White Lake Township's program will be coordinated by Mrs. Ferdinand Vetter and will be held at the Township Hall, 7525 Highland Road.

No advance registration is required. Interested persons should be at the course location at 7:45 p.m. on the starting date. Classes last from 7 to 10 p.m.

Perinoff-Anthony Rites

Wed in Waterford Twp.

CLARKSTON — United in marriage Saturday noon before an altar banked with white gladioli and chrysanthemums in Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church, Waterford Township, were Patricia A. Anthony and Albert C. Perinoff.

Rev. Frederick J. Delaney read the service.

The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Perinoff and the nephew of the Alexander Perinoffs, 13615 Greenwald St., Southfield.

A floor-length gown of peau satin with lavalier neckline, waistband trimmed with Alencon lace and short cap sleeves was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The domed skirt and chapel train were appliqued with Alencon lace.

★ ★ ★

Her chapel veil of silk illusion was fastened to a crown of crystals and pearls. She carried a cascade of white orchids, Stephanotis and rosebuds.

Sue Ann Heiseer of Pontiac was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Dolores Perinoff of Southfield, Arlene Tribbe of Milford and Patricia Bergman of Pigeon.

Serving as best man was Joseph Siemiantowski of Detroit. The guests were seated by Michael Wheeler of Grosse Pointe, Kenneth Roche of Detroit and Kenneth Rutley of Redford.

★ ★ ★

A luncheon reception was held at the Clarkston Community Center immediately following the ceremony. Upon their return from a short honeymoon trip to northern Michigan, the newlyweds will reside on Murphy Street in Pontiac.

MRS. ALBERT C. PERINOFF

Lesinski Sorry Romney Debate Off at Oak Park

DETROIT (UPI) — Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski last night said he "regretted" that George Romney, republican candidate for governor, would not debate him tomorrow night in a suburban Oak Park church.

Lesinski, seeking his second term as Michigan's No. 2 figure in state government, said he had been notified by the sisterhood of Congregation Beth Shalom that the scheduled meeting had been canceled.

"I agreed to adjust my schedule to accept the invitation to address the meeting with a definite assurance that Mr. Romney knew I would be the one appearing for the Democratic party," Lesinski said.

★ ★ ★

Romney, in a statement last week, said his understanding with the group was that he would be debating Gov. John B. Swainson, not Lesinski.

Southfield Unit Given Building

Upper Teens Presents Recreational Hall to Parks Commission

SOUTHFIELD — The Southfield Parks and Recreation Commission is the new owner of its first recreational building valued at some $27,000 presented to the city last night by Upper Teens, Inc.

Along with the title to the building a check for $1,000 also was given to the city to pay for moving the 80-foot portable building from its location on Nine Mile Road near Beech Road to the site of Southfield's new 116-acre civic center site at 10½ and Evergreen roads.

It will be moved to the foot of the proposed man-made hill in the civic center plot.

The Upper Teens building and program is one of the oldest and best known civic projects in the City of Southfield. Its sponsors through the years number in the hundreds.

Scheffing May Resort to Using 'Yankee Killer' Lary

From The PRESS BOX

Joe Pepitone, an early season sensation with the Yankees, bonus baby Jake Gibbs and Al Downing, reported to the New York club last night from minor league teams.

★ ★ ★

Al Kaline of the Tigers and New York's Mickey Mantle each collected 26th homers and 100th hits of the season last night. Mantle's blast, the 400th of his career, carried 450 feet. Kaline's traveled 350. "The big showoff," said Kaline. "His homer made mine look like a popup."

★ ★ ★

Campbell (Ky.) County sheriff George Ratterman, former pro football quarterback, will be admitted to law practice in Kentucky Friday.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Sheds No Tears Over One-Hitter

"I'm just glad we won," he said. "These games are all so important now."

★ ★ ★

Acknowledging he had pitched one of his finest games of the first anniversary to the day of his debut in the majors, Chance credited a sharp curve, good fast ball, and pinpoint control for his performance.

He blamed a high fast ball for the only hit the Minnesota Twins collected as Chance whitewashed them 5-0.

BID RUINED

But he gave full credit on the hit by Zoilo Versalles with one out in the eighth inning that ruined his bid.

"It was a hit all the way," the tall, slender hurler said. "If they had called it an error it would have been a cheap no-hitter. Jim (Fregosi) made a hell of a play on it."

★ ★ ★

Versalles slapped a hard grounder to the second base hole. Fregosi broke to his left and barely speared the ball before it went into center field. He whirled and threw late and wild to first. Versalles was already across the bag and wound up on second—the only Minnesota base runner to get that far.

★ ★ ★

RIGHT PLACE

Manager Bill Rigney, referring to Versalles as "the rabbit," said the Twins infielder "just hit in the right place." Rigney said he couldn't fault with the scoring on the play.

Mele and Rigney both vowed their teams are in the close American League pennant race to stay, although the Twins dropped 3½ games back of New York by losing. The Angels trail by four.

★ ★ ★

"How can you be out of it until it's over?" Mele asked, but added, "it hurt us to lose tonight, I know that."

Both managers pointed to the Chicago White Sox as the team they feel will help them press closer to the Yankees.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

'Big Three' Entered in Seattle Tourney

SEATTLE (AP) — Pro Golf's "Big Three," Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player, will compete in the $35,000 Seattle Open starting Wednesday, tournament officials announced Monday night.

★ ★ ★

Player, South African star who sent word Sunday night he was canceling out to return home, will be on hand, a spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Nicklaus won the World Series of golf match at Akron, Ohio, Sunday and Player and Palmer tied for second.

CELEBRATES NO. 400 — A smiling Mickey Mantle poses in the Yankees' dressing room with numerals illustrating the 400th home run of his major league career. He is only the seventh big league player to reach that mark.

Tigers Falter Before Mantle, Terry by 3-1

Aguirre's Pitching Tops Until Mickey Connects With 400th Homer

DETROIT (UPI) — Bob Scheffing still had high hopes of slowing the Yankee pennant express despite a 3-1 loss last night and debated coming up with a show-stopper for tonight's scheduled drama.

The Tiger skipper kept it a well-guarded secret but he was giving strong consideration to starting Frank Lary, his old Yankee-killing ace, in tonight's series final.

Lary, recently returning from the disabled list following season-long shoulder miseries, limited the Minnesota Twins to just two hits in an impressive 4 1-3 inning stint. The 23-game winner of last season was not throwing as hard as he could but still shackled the Twins.

Yankee manager Ralph Houk also couldn't name his starting pitcher for tonight. Bill Stafford, his No. 1 choice, is suffering from a virus condition and was an uncertain pick. Paul Foytack for Detroit and Jim Coates of the Yankees were other possibilities.

Mickey Mantle's value to the New York cause was never more obvious than it was last night. Sparked by the slugger's 400th career homer and 26th of the season and his great catch in centerfield, the Yankees went on to hand the Tigers a 3-1 setback.

LONG BELT

The homer washed out a 1-0 Tiger lead which came on Al Kaline's 26th blast in the first inning and set the stage for New York's ninth inning rally that won it.

Returning to the bomber lineup after missing six games with a pulled muscle in his side, he also aided Ralph Terry toward his 21st triumph with a great catch of Dick Brown's sinking liner in the eighth to prevent a possible run-scoring double.

★ ★ ★

Aguirre, who was involved in a minor traffic accident with Foytack on their way to the ballpark, stirred casual talk of immortality the way he set down the Yankees in order through the fourth, striking out six of the first 12 men he faced.

★ ★ ★

Terry and Aguirre continued their duel until the ninth when both weakened but it was New York that finally got the better of it.

Aguirre, who had limited New York to five hits for eight innings, was tagged for two runs and Terry Fox was required to get the final two outs. The Yankee runs came on Bobby Richardson's single, Tom Tresh's sacrifice, an intentional pass to Mantle, Hector Lopez' single and Elston Howard's grounder.

Knicks Obtain Center Conley

Zephyrs Get Jordan, Rookie Cliff Luyk From New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Gene Conley, one of those rare athletes who has made it in two big league sports, is set to make another switch in his varied pro career.

The New York Knickerbockers acquired the 6-foot-8 center in a National Basketball Association trade with Chicago Monday, sending center Phil Jordan and rookie Cliff Luyk to the Zephyrs.

Currently, Conley is pitching for the Boston Red Sox, with whom he has compiled a 13-13 record this season. He's combined pro baseball and basketball since 1952. The towering right-hander has pitched for the Boston and Milwaukee Braves and the Philadelphia Phillies in addition to the Red Sox.

SHORT VACATION

The 31-year-old Conley says he will take a couple of weeks off after the baseball season.

"I want to get my mind off sports for a little while," he explained. "But after a rest, I'll probably get the urge to run again."

Hamtramck Youth Gets Colts' Bonus

Paciorek is a husky 200-pound shortstop who recently was voted the most valuable player in the DABF tourney in Louisville, where his team won the national championship.

Twelve major league scouts, including the Tigers, were on Paciorek's trail. Houston scouts Eddie Robinson and Walt Laskowski finally landed him.

"I sort of wanted to play with the Tigers, but the Colts met the figure my parents decided on," he said.

Part of the deal offered him by the fledgling National League team was a four-year college scholarship, Paciorek said. He expected to enroll at the University of Michigan this fall but now is not sure he will go to college.

Driver Killed on Salt Flats

Had Jet Racer Over 400 MPH

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP)—California dragster Glenn Leasher, who rode a jet-powered racer to his death on these Western Utah salt flats, probably was traveling at more than 400 miles per hour—the goal he had hoped to achieve.

★ ★ ★

The 25-year-old Leasher was killed instantly Monday in the fiery crash of the car—described as little more than a jet engine on four wheels.

Joe Petrali, chief timer for the United States Auto Club and with years of experience on the salt flats, said he thought Leasher was traveling more than 400 miles per hour. Some estimates on the speed of the jet through the one-mile timing trap went as high as 475 m.p.h.

AFTER RECORD

Leasher had hoped to crack the 15-year-old mark of 394.6 m.p.h. set by the late Sir John Cobb of England in a piston driven machine.

The drag racer from San Mateo, Calif., had been scheduled for only a test run.

But his crew suspected something different when Leasher, alone in the cockpit, let the car build up power for a longer than normal period. Then he let off the brakes and the car shot forward.

NOT MUCH LEFT

Suddenly there was a sheet of flame just after the car entered the measured mile and it began to break into little pieces as it bounced down the course, digging deep gouges in the salt every 40 to 50 yards.

It was the second death on the salt flats in two years. Salt Lake City racer Athol Graham was killed in 1960 when his car went out of control.

DEATH CAR — This vehicle, powered by an F86 Sabrejet engine, exploded on the Bonneville Salt Flats yesterday while going an estimated 475 miles an hour and killed its pilot, Glenn Leasher, 25, of San Mateo, Calif. The mishap came while Leasher was putting the "jet engine with four wheels" through a test run in preparation for an assault on Sir John Cobb's land speed record of 394 miles an hour.

Clubhouse Celebration After Victory

When Mantle's in Stride, So Are Yanks

His knees and side ached—but he was Mickey the magnificent again Monday night.

Mantle returned to the lineup and revived the staggering, weary Yankees with an inspirational performance. The Yankees, in a rare display of emotion — for them—whooped it up in their clubhouse after eking out a 3-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

★ ★ ★

Manager Ralph Houk puffed his cigar happily and smiled broadly, leaving the impression for visitors that the pennant race is nearing its end.

KEY TO RACE

"Any ball club would be better with Mantle in the lineup," said Houk, "Not just ours. Sure, we're a lot better with him in there. But you don't win pennants on the play of just one man. The key to the race is what the other guys do."

But it was apparent the other Yankees play better with Mantle in there. They didn't seem like the club that played .500 ball during the six games Mantle missed since last Tuesday and lost a Sunday double header to eighth-place Boston.

★ ★ ★

1. He belted his 400th career homer, skyrocketing the ball 450-feet. It was the first hit off Hank Aguirre after the Tiger southpaw had pitched four perfect innings. It wiped out the Tigers' 1-0 lead.

2. He raced in on his painful knees in the eighth inning and robbed Dick Brown of a possible double that probably would have broken the 1-1 tie.

3. He drew an intentional walk in the ninth before Hector Lopezs first hit in 23 at-bats brought in the tie-breaking run. Mantle's sore legs carried him to third on Lopezs single and he scored an insurance run on Elston Howard's grounder.

STILL HURTING

★ ★ ★

Houk, now that the Yankees have upped their lead, can afford to keep Mantle on the bench. He wouldn't let Mantle bat right-handed against a right hander.

"Never," blurted Houk. "The curves come in differently. I wouldn't think of letting him do it."

Bill Stafford, bedded with a virus Monday, also may miss his scheduled start tonight. Houk will bring Jim Coats out of the bullpen if necessary.

"That bothers me," said Houk. "We have an easy schedule the rest of the way—what with five off days, Stafford's virus can hurt. I had my pitching set up so he, Ralph Terry and Whitey Ford would have started all but one of our remaining 15 games.

"My bullpen was just getting strong—and now I may have to go into it for another starter."

Palmer Still Leads Official PGA List

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Arnold Palmer's hold on golfdom's money crown for this year appears to be more certain as each week goes by.

★ ★ ★

The Pennsylvania belter has played in 20 tournaments and won eight from a record $80,198. This is nearly $5,000 more than the record he set in 1960.

Nicklaus' $50,000 victory in the World Series of Golf over the weekend does not count on PGA statistics. Only money won in PGA co-sponsored tournaments is counted in the top 10 list.

Davis Cup Comes First However

Laver Awaits Net Offers

FOREST HILLS, N. J. (AP) — Rod (Grand Slam) Laver of Australia sat back today and waited for the professional tennis offers to roll in while he decides what he's worth in dollars and cents.

"But," he said, "right now I'm interested in the Davis Cup and I definitely won't consider any professional contracts until the challenge round in December."

Laver became the second man in history to score the coveted grand slam—Australian, French, Wimbledon and U.S. championships—when he whipped his Aussie Davis Cup mate, Roy Emerson, 6-2, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4, under the cheerless, grey skies of the West Side Tennis Club for the U.S. title Monday.

ONE BEFORE

"He's the most valuable properety in tennis," said ex-pro czar Jack Kramer. "But now that I'm out of it, I don't see how the pros can guarantee Laver more than $75,000. Personally, I'd go for more, but I don't think they are in a position to go higher."

Laver noted that $75,000 "isn't fantastic. I have a good arrangement now," and indicated his asking price is $150,000. However it turns out, though, Laver is certain to become a member of the pro troupe around the first of the year.

"I'd have to work three times as hard as a professional," Laver said, "but I would like to face players like Pancho Gonzales, Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall."

SEVENTH STRAIGHT

So, as has become the custom, an Australian won the U.S. title for the seventh straight year. Tony Trabert, in 1955, was the last American to win it. He, in fact, was the last native-born finalist.

That was hardly unexpected. But now new troubles loom in the women's division. Margaret Smith, a tall, 20-year-old blonde from Melbourne, also took the women's crown down under when she defeated two-time defender Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., 9-7, 6-4, in the women's final.

It marked the first time in the 82-year history of the event that an Australian girl has won the championship.

From the very outset, there was no real question of the outcome of the Laver-Emerson match. After falling behind 0-40 in the first game of the first set, the 5-foot-9, 158-pound Laver, blasted three straight returns past Emerson and finally broke him. He broke again in the seventh game when Emerson double-faulted twice.

BROKE, BROKE

Emerson began to get the feel in the second set, but Laver got a break-through in the seventh game. Emerson had two breaks in the third set, but Laver didn't waste any time in the fourth set when he broke in the first game when Emerson double-faulted the last point. Emerson broke in the fourth, but Laver broke back in the fifth and that was it.

"You know," volunteered Laver, "I've really only been playing this steady since the River Oaks tournament in Houston. Before that I was beaten three times—by Antonio Palafox at Bristol, Eng., by Ulf Schmidt in Stockholm and by Ingo Buding in Austria.

"I was confident against Roy right up until the final point. Then I really began to shake and I guess I lost some of my concentration.

★ ★ ★

"So he's going to turn pro after the challenge round," grinned Emerson. "Good. It will be nice to play someone else in these finals."

Emerson was Laver's victim in three of the four big ones—Australia, France and the United States.

Miss Hard had her troubles with both her service and the officials. She double-faulted no fewer than 16 times and in the fifth game of the second set when a call upset her, she rushed to the wall at the stands and began to weep. Miss Smith won the final game at love when Miss Hard didn't even try to keep the ball in play.

TENNIS KING — Australia's Rod Laver holds the big trophy symbolic of the U.S. Tennis Championship after beating fellow Aussie Roy Emerson 6-2, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4 yesterday to complete a grand slam of the world's tennis championships — Australian, French, Wimbledon and United States.

Lopat Replaces Bauer as KC Manager

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eddie Lopat is Kansas City's new manager for 1963, replacing Hank Bauer, the man he worked under this season, it was earned today.

Lopat, who is finishing out the year as the Athletics' pitching coach, already has okayed terms under which he will make his major league managerial debut.

The 40-year-old Bauer is being let go because he was unable to boost the A's any higher than ninth place, the position the club occupies today and promises to wind up in.

Owner Charlie Finley denied last night that Lopat is about to take over although it is known he feels a change may make a difference in the A's fortunes next season.

Bauer and Lopat declined to confirm — or deny — the planned change. Said Bauer: "Nobody has told me anything yet," said Lopat: "I know nothing about it."

HITTING POTENTIAL

Finley believes KC has the necessary hitting to move up next year in such men as Norm Siebern, Jerry Lumpe, Ed Charles and Manny Jimenez and he thinks that with eYankee southpaw Lopat at the helm, the pitching will be vastly improved, too.

Lopat's previous managerial experience has been confined to Richmond of the International League. He piloted the Yankee farm club to fifth place in 1956, third place in 1957 and sixth place in 1958.

Bauer, who used to be a teammate of Lopat with the Yankees, lasted only a season and a half as manager of the A's. He came to Kansas City from the Yankees in the Roger Maris deal during December of 1959, played the outfield for the A's in 1960 and part of last year before being named to succeed manager Joe Gordon in mid-season.

Finley raised a lot of eyebrows when he sacked Gordon and moved Bauer into the head chair.

Only a week before the switch, the KC owner insisted that in his opinion Gordon was a prime candidate for "manager of the year" honors in the American League.

Gordon was let go because he couldn't get along too well with the ambitious, eager-to-move-up Finley. Bauer got along a bit better with Charlie but there was some disenchantment on both sides as the season went along.

After taking over for Gordon last year, Bauer guided the A's to a ninth-place tie with the Washington Senators and those same Senators appear to be the only team Kansas City will beat out this year.

Keg Doubles Enters Final Four Rounds

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Dennis Chapis and Ray Orf of St. Louis took a substantial lead into the final four rounds of the National Men's Doubles Bowling Championship today.

Chapis and Orf racked up a 13-3 won-lost record Monday night in four rounds of the eight-round final, logging a B.P.A.A. point total of 80-56. They had 6,756 points.

Joe Joseph of Lansing, Mich., and Detroit's Billy Golemiewski were in second place with a 10-6 record and 75-72 points.

Don Carter of St. Louis rolled a 300 game, the fourth in the four-day tournament and the fifth in its 20-year history. Bob Thiel of Gary, Ind., Ed Lubanski of Detroit and Larry Oakar of Cleveland turned the trick in the qualifying rounds.

★ ★ ★

Carter and Tom Hennessey of St. Louis were locked in a three-place tie with Bill Welu and Harry Smith of St. Louis and Glenn Allison and Dick Hoover, also of St. Louis.

Base Stealer Wills Pilfers Three More

Four Players Lead NL Contenders

By The Associated Press

From among an exclusive circle of four players—Tommy Davis, Maury Wills, Willie Mays and Frank Robinson 8 likely will emerge the locksmith with the key to the National League throne room.

Each member of the quartet, making a strong bid or most valuable player honors, put on outstanding performances Monday as Los Angeles, San Francisco and Cincinnati, all won and remained 1-2-3 in that tight struggle for NL supremacy.

Davis hit a grand slam homer and wound up with five runs batted in as the first-place Dodgers walloped the Chicago Cubs 8-1, remaining a half-game in front of second-place San Francisco and 5½ ahead of third-place Cincinnati.

3 MORE THEFTS

At the same time, Wills continued his assault on Ty Cobb's stolen base record. The swift Dodger shortstop pilfered three, running his total to 89—only seven short of the record established by the Detroit Hall of Famer in 1915.

Mays, the majors' home run leader, hit No. 43 in the first inning as the Giants got off to a quick start against Pittsburgh and held it all the way behind Billy O'Dell's five-hit pitching for a 4-1 triumph.

LEADING LEAGUE

Robinson, last year's MVP, provided the defending champion Reds with a 4-3 decision over St. Louis by tagging his second home run of the game and 36th of the season in the 11th inning while raising his batting average to a league-leading .341.

★ ★ ★

In the NL's only other game, home runs by Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron powered Milwaukee to a 5-2 decision over the New York Mets. Houton and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

Davis, who went 1-for-3 and dropped into second place in the batting race with a .339 mark, provided the Dodgers with the big blow—a bases full homer in the third inning off Cubs' starter Dick Ellsworth (8-18) that built their edge to 5-0. Don Drysdale (24-7) took it from there, allowing only three hits until Manager Walt Alston decided to give him a rest after eight innings and brought in Jack Smith to finish up. Davis' RBI splurge gave him a 137 total, 11 more than runner-up Robinson. Mays has 123.

Wills made it 13 stolen bases in the last five games with his three steals. He has 17 games in which to tie or surpass Cobb, who stole 96 in a 156-game schedule. The Dodgers have played 145 games.

ONE ABOARD

Mays connected off Harvey Haddix (9-6) with Felipe Alou aboard in the first inning and that was all O'Dell (17-12) needed as he allowed only singles and went the route for the 18th time. The Giants made it 3-0 in the fourth on a double by Orlando Cepeda and Jose Pagan's single before the Pirates finally broke through for a run in the seventh. Chuck Hiller got it back in the bottom half with a homer.

Alou has stroked nine consecutive hits, moving to within one of the NL record. The mark is held by seven players and was last accomplished by Cincinnati's Woody Williams in 1943. The major League record is 12.

Robinson drove in three of the four Reds' runs, starting his heroics with a second inning homer, then sending Vada Pinson home with a single in the fourth before providing the game-winner in the 11th with a homer of Cardinal starter Ernie Broglio (11-8). The Cards had tied it in the eighth on Gene Oliver's homer off Joe Nuxhall.

Mathews broke a 2-2 tie with a one on homer in the seventh and Aaron followed with his 39th for the Braves. The two homers made it 181 against the Mets this season, tying the NL record set by St. Louis in 1955.

Battle Creek 9 Ousted in Great Lakes Tourney

BATTLE CREEK (UPI)—Cleveland eliminated Battle Creek and Louisville ousted Lakewood, Ohio, in second round play yesterday in the Great Lakes Regional of the American Baseball Congress.

Cleveland ran roughshod over Battle Creek, 18-3, in the lone night game after Louisville clipped Lakewood, 13-1. Melrose Park, Ill., defeated Genoa, Ill., 6-3, and Milwaukee, Wis., whipped East Chicago, Ind., 8-6, in afternoon games.

Injured Woman Loses Case

Court Upholds Two-Inch Sidewalk Rule

LANSING (AP)—A woman who was injured when she stumbled on a one-inch sidewalk depression in Detroit has learned that sinking must be at least twice as deep before damages can be collected.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's Supreme Court, in a 5-3 decision, upheld, Wayne County Circuit Judge Joseph Moynihan Jr. yesterday in dismissing a damage suit against the City of Detroit because the depression in the sidewalk was less than two inches.

The woman, Eliza Harris, sought to recover damages after she tripped.

She contended Michigan's long-standing "two-inch rule"—which exempts a city from liability for a depression less than two inches — was designed for the days of wooden sidewalks and should not apply under modern conditions.

NO REASON TO CHANGE

But the majority opinion, written by Justice Thomas Kavanagh, said Miss Harris was asking that the court abolish the long-established rule of law without citing any reason or authority for the change in position.

"We find no reason for doing so," said Kavanagh, who noted that most of the long list of two-inch rulings were unanimous opinions of the court.

High-heeled spike shoes worn by the modern-day woman came in for some pungent comment from Justice Eugene Black, who agreed with the majority but wrote his own opinion.

"I would gently suggest," Black observed, "that there is indeed another modern and possibly overlooked condition which has a direct bearing on questions of duty and risk occasioned by walking on any kind of a sidewalk, wooden or concrete, split or broken, young or old.

"In the days of old, so we are told, milady walked with sturdy shoes and serviceable heels, designed for safe ambulation over those wooden sidewalks and other less stable municipal footings.

"Now, speaking only as a discreet and respectful observer, I marvel that she is able to stay upright on the newest and best of walkways, wooden (we still have them) or concrete, as those spikes called heels gets longer and sharper.

GREATER RISK

"No, brothers, there is no change of condition or risk suggesting overthrow of the two-inch rule.

★ ★ ★

"There is a change, and an even greater risk, over which city fathers have and will have no control whatever. Such are not of the kind which leads courts to overrule earlier decisions."

"I don't care about the ten per cent rule! Eighteen cents is too much to leave for a tip!"

Opening lead—see article

By OSWALD JACOBY

When Garrozzo of Italy opened one spade with the South hand on deal 54 of the World Championship he made a bid that few Americans would approve of. But it worked out beautifully for him. West doubled, Forquet jumped right to four spades and West doubled, this time for business.

JACOBY

West opened his singleton trump. This lead took care of his partner's queen and made it easy for South to gather in 10 tricks. Of course, South might well have played East for three spades to the queen and made his doubled game against some other lead, but we will never know because South was never faced with the problem.

The American South opened the bidding with one club. West doubled. North redoubled and South bid one spade. North merely raised to two spades. I imagine North thought he had shown all his strength by his redouble.

South could find no further bid and the hand played at two spades. West opened the diamond ace and continued with the ace and another heart. South had to attack the spade suit himself and because he did not find East's three to the queen South made only nine tricks, so it was just as well that he wasn't in game. Still the difference between 590 and 140 gave Italy another 10 International Match Point pickup.

What do you do?

A—Bid three spades. Your partner should not play you for a spade suit because you would have bid it earlier and you want to force him without going past three no-trump.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Wednesday

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): You permit things to slip through your hands if you are not careful. Means be cautious where favors are concerned. Make sure you have what you want before offering concession.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Conversation with one in authority proves beneficial. Communicate, express ideas. Do not count on others to perceive or guess your meanings. Excellent for seeking changes. Don't take second best.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Harmony is key. Strive to reach agreement with family members. Very good for improving home, personal appearance. At work, impress associates with your willingness to cooperate.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Settle financial affairs as quickly as possible. Give green light to one who is competent. But refuse to completely ignore details. Be aware. Settle debts. And insist on receiving what is due you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Avoid impatience today. Take time to think, even if others press for quick action. Important decision are made. You may not realize the gravity of the situation. So be sure you really desire what you go after.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Better for finishing rather than beginning new projects. Extend influence showing off abilities, hobbies. Aggressive associate apt to irritate you. Be wise, stay out of disputes. Bide your time!

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Change, travel, romance highlighted today. Excellent for writing, reading, creative activity. No time to be buried with details. Good day for putting across ideas.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Intuitive intellect rates high today. Means you should trust impressions concerning persons, situations. Better to handle details yourself. Avoid embarrassing situation by seeing funny side.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Look for action on recent request concerning career, ambition, aspiration. Your answer should be YES. Excellent for making new contacts. And for proving you are charming individual.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Friends prove of tremendous aid. Proposal may seem radical at first hearing. But try to see situation as a whole, not in separate bits and pieces. Could be banner day!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Cycle continues high. Recent pressures are relieved. You are able to make views clear. Friend could help through valuable introduction. Be alert to opportunities. Express appreciation for recent favor.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Be independent. Express thoughts in original manner. Prepare report that envisions FUTURE possibilities. Don't be tied down by what others did in past. Relax so that subconscious can "express" needed information.

★ ★ ★

IF WEDNESDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you are perceptive, able to obtain answers from persons who ordinarily are very discreet. Beginning next month, you may find yourself busier than usual. Be prepared!

★ ★ ★

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle up for AQUARIUS, PISCES, ARIES. Special word to VIRGO: You may want to "lash out," but if you exercise restraint you gain more.

Poultry and Eggs

DETROIT POULTRY

Heavy type hens 18-20; light type hens 9; roasters over 5 lbs. 30-32; broilers and fryers 3-4 lbs. whites 20-22; barred rock 21-22; turkeys: young hens 24-25½; toms 21½-22½.

Comment: Market steady to firm. Demand fair. Prices range 3 cents higher on roasters as supplies fairly light. Heavy type hens barely ample. Fryers and turkeys are adequate.

DETROIT EGGS

DETROIT, Sept. 11 (AP) — Egg prices paid per dozen at Detroit by first receivers (including U.S.):

Comment: Market full steady to firm ranging 1-2 cents higher. Some nervousness noted at advancing prices but a fairly good demand is readily absorbing available supplies.

Electronic Activity Rises

Market Shows Slight Increase

NEW YORK (AP)—Aerospace, aircraft and electronic issues were improving in a mixed stock market early this afternoon.

Activity picked up a little from the quiet opening and was running ahead of yesterday's pace when the total was the lowest of the month.

The list opened mixed and showed little movement until about the time Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges reported new records for corporate profits and personal income. Then more plus signs began to appear among key stocks.

PROFITS REACH PEAK

Hodges reported before - tax profits of corporations reached a peak annual rate of $50.9 billion in the June quarter and that individual income was up $1 billion in August from July, on a seasonally adjusted basis.

Steels, rails, metals and motors maintained a slightly lower tone. Chemicals were a bit higher. Utilities and oils were mixed.

McDonnell Aircraft led the airplane makers with a gain of nearly 1½. Lockheed and North American Aviation were ahead major fractions and United Aircraft, Boeing, Douglas and General Dynamics advanced smaller amounts.

Among the electronics, RCA picked up about 1 and Litton Industries was higher by a little more than that.

Bond Mart Prices Lazy

NEW YORK (AP) — Bond markets showed few major price changes early today although trading was fairly active.

★ ★ ★

An over the Counter dealer in U.S. Treasury issues quoted some distant maturities unchanged to 2/32 higher, intermediates unchanged to 1/32 higher and short term issues mostly unchanged.

Leading the advance was a 1-point gain to 63½ by Trans World Airlines 6½s of 1978F. Armour 5s of 1984F rose ½ at 90 and General Motors Acceptance 5s of 1977 rose ⅝ at 106.

In new financing, Pacific Northwest Bell accepted a bid of 101.31 for $50 million of 40-year, 4⅜ per cent debentures due Sept. 1, 2002.

Lesinski Tops in News Poll

GOP Opponent Reid Trails by Narrow 1.6 Pct. Margin

DETROIT (AP) — Democratic Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, seeking reelection Nov. 6, holds a narrow edge at this time over his Republican opponent, Clarence A. Reid, the Detroit News said today in announcing the result of its third poll of statewide races.

The newspaper's first two polls indicated George Romney, Republican nominee for governor, and Alvin Bentley, Republican nominee for congressman-at-large, would win by slight margins if the election were held today.

The latest poll shows Lesinski would take 49.9 per cent of the vote against 48.3 per cent for Reid, a former lieutenant governor.

WAYNE COUNTY EDGE

The poll for lieutenant governor, the News said, "shows Lesinski matching Gov. Swainson's 88.5 per cent of the Negro vote.

"It also indicates he would outrun Swainson in Wayne County, the home county of both, taking 66.7 per cent of the votes."

The News said, "Lesinski matches Swainson's 68.2 per cent of the statewide foreign born vote. His 66.2 per cent of the unskilled labor vote is 2.2 per cent below that of the governor.

Grain Futures Prices Show Small Drop

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices eased into general weakness today in quiet early transactions on the board of trade.

Setbacks were held mostly to small fractions during the first several minutes, however, with offerings described as light.

Brokers said there appeared to be no tendency to press the short side very strongly with the government's September crop report to be issued after the close of today's trading.

Speculators usually preferred to even up positions in the hours prior to such government reports. Indications were that some transactions were in that direction.

Do Funds Affect Mart? Officials Debate Issue

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Widening popularity of stock ownership among Americans—either as individuals or collectively through mutual funds or pension funds—can in itself have been a factor in the sharp ups and downs in stock prices that have this year confused many of the new owners.

The large inflow of individual savings into the funds and then into the markets helped boost prices, some economists hold. And then this year switching of issues has added to the unsettlement.

★ ★ ★

Statisticians say that the buying and selling policies of the mutual funds, and even more of the pension funds, are giving the market a new look. Part of the funds' buying of stocks was compulsive, they hold, because the funds themselves were growing so fast and had to put money to work.

FUNDS ON DEFENSE

Mutual fund managers stoutly rejected any implication that the operation of the funds hasn't been to the best interest of their shareholders, or that their stock market activities caused the price breaks in May and June or the dawdling of the market in recent days.

Contending that mutual fund purchases significantly affected price movements of individual stocks is Douglas Vickers, one of the University of Pennsylvania professors who worked on the controversial Wharton School survey of mutual fund performances for the Securities & Exchange Commission.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

And the flow of mutual and pension fund money into the stock market also has affected flotation of new issues of stocks and bonds, both hold. When the funds support prices on the market by their purchases, they say, a greater offering of new issues has followed. When the funds sell, offerings dwindle.

Vickers says funds tend to buy on balance prior to upswings and to sell on balance prior to downswings. Since this is what investors in mutual fund shares expect from expert management, they can't quarrel with that.

ONE FACTOR

But Vickers' contention is that such buying or selling seems to have contributed to the changes, whether up or down. So the growing holdings of common stocks by the funds in recent years has added another and important factor to the many that the individual investor must take into account when assessing his own portfolio.

★ ★ ★

Natrella says the pension funds are really the most influential institutional group in the stock market, since they have been growing spectacularly since 1950 and are putting more than half of their new receipts into common stocks. Such purchases increased a bit in the first half of this year despite the faltering of the market.

★ ★ ★

The pension fund money flows into stock more regularly than assets of the mutual funds, Natrella says. Since they often concentrate on the popular issues, their holdings tend to cut the floating supply of these stocks. The resultant thin market is credited with causing some of the wide swings in prices that have characterized the market in recent months.

Both Vickers and Natrella offered their findings as statistics and nothing more — no accusations, no recommendations.

But the validity of the findings may be disputed and any implications challenged by the funds—depositories for the savings of millions of Americans.

'Could Be Better'

Profits, Incomes Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges announced today new records for corporate profits and personal income.

He described them as "not entirely satisfactory but still good."

Hodges told a news conference that before-tax profits of corporations reached a peak annual rate of $50.9 billion in the April-June quarter. The January-March rate was $50.1 billion and some observers had been dubious that the second quarter would be able to show much of a gain because of sluggishness in the economy.

The commerce chief also reported that personal income—the income of individual Americans — rose by $1 billion in August to a record annual rate of $443 billion.

Hodges, while expressing the view that he would have preferred even stronger showings in profits and income, said he foresees good business at least through Christmas.

BUSINESS BETTR

"I'm inclined to think business has picked up a bit," he commented. "July and August are encouraging. Over the short-term, I think business is going to remain good."

Although corporate profits showed a second-quarter gain, the secretary described the "profits squeeze" of which businessmen complain as "still one of the larger problems facing the nation as a whole."

He said the April-June profits rate was "not anything like what it ought to be if we are to get funds for investment."

Most of the important monthly measures of the economy will be made public by the end of the week. Hodges' department had announced yesterday that retail sales dropped by $100 million in August, to $19.6 billion. This decline of about one-half of 1 per cent followed a 3 per cent advance in July.

★ ★ ★

On other subjects, Hodges said:

—He hopes President Kennedy's tax-cut legislation, which will go to Congress early next year, will be "simple and not too complicated, so we can get it without too much delay."

—He expects the administration's major tariff-cutting and trade bill will emerge from the Senate "pretty much as the President wants it," and very similar to the bill already passed by the House.

—He believes business suspicion of the Kennedy administration has been greatly reduced in recent weeks. He no longer hears businessmen complain directly about last April's steel-price crisis.

—The United States is seeking "better agreement with our Allies" on what types of goods will be shipped to Iron Curtain customers.

—He believes Kennedy was disappointed by last week's tariff-commission recommendations against increasing duties on imports of cotton-textile products. And some other well-posted sources say the President was not at all disappointed.

Business Notes

Van der Meer

Van der Meer, former assistant director of public information, will be responsible for implementing the company's preparedness program and for coordinating plans throughout principal departments to maintain operations in event of emergencies.

The new civil defense head has been with Edison since 1939 except for a two-year leave of absence from 1954-56 when he directed the organization of a public relations program for the Brazilian Traction-Light and Power Co., South America's largest electrical utility outfit.

Arthur E. Ericksen, assistant advertising manager of Brown and Williamson Tobacco Co., Louisville, Ky., has joined MacManus, John & Adams, Inc., Bloomfield Hills, as account executive on Standard Oil Co., (Indiana) and American Oil Co., Chicago, accounts, according to Fred J. Hatch, senior vice president of the agency.

ERICKSEN

Ericksen's major responsibilities at B&W have been the administration and supervision of its multimillion-dollar broadcast activities.

In his new position, he will supervise all advertising activities of the oil company accounts handled by the agency.

News in Brief

Twenty sheets of marine plywood and 20 gallons of gas valued at a total of $136 were reported stolen yesterday from a construction site near the I-75 freeway and Doris Road, Pontiac Township, by Fred Young, superintendent of the Taber Construction Co. of Grand Rapids.

$ Successful Investing $

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q: "I am 80 and in poor health; my wife is 62 and in good health. We own a $16,000 house with a $3,400 mortgage. My income is only $90 a month, and we are literally eating up our savings. Should we sell our home and live off the proceeds or place another $10,000 mortgae on it at 6 per cent, using this money for eating expenses? I'm in a heck of a fix." L. J.

A. You are indeed, and I'm profoundly sorry for you and all others who find themselves in your predicament. There is, unfortunately, no pat answer to your very serious problem. A joint annuity — because of your wife's relatively young age — would not take care of you.

I think in your position I would sell my house outright for a lump sum. I suggest that you live on that and your other savings until the total has dropped to a level where you can apply for Old-Age Assistance. That may hurt your pride, but I know of no other solution.

Q. "In a recent column, you made a mistake regarding American Telephone convertible debentures. The conversion price is $47 1-3 per share, but the important point is that conversion is through tender of debentures plus a cash payment. Each $1,000 bond is convertible into 30 shares of common upon payment of $420 in cash. Actually, this means the bonds are selling virtually on conversion parity." R. W.

A. You are entirely right, and I apologize for a factual error which was due to unwarranted carelessness with a slide rule. American Telephone convertible 4¼'s sell at around 309. Each $1,000 bond would cost $3,090, and $420 added to this figure would allow conversion into 30 shares at a total cost of $3,510. At recent market the 30 shares of Telephone were worth around $3,400, so that no large premium is attached to the conversion privilege.

I am very grateful to you for bringing this mistake to my attention.

J. L. Hudson Co. Opening Store on 12-Mile Road

At a press preview at the new store yesterday, Joseph L. Hudson Jr., company president, said that "experience gained in the Hudson's Budget Store at Pontiac Mall will undoubtedly aid in operation of the new store."

The one-story structure will house 75 selling departments and operate largely on a self-serve basis with checkout counters, much like the Pontiac Mall store.

One of the largest of Hudson's Budget Stores, it will offer more than 60,000 square feet of selling area, free parking for 2,000 cars, kiddie rides and a food bar. Store hours will be 9:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. Monday through Saturday.

A&P to Revamp Dixie Hwy. Store

An extensive remodeling and expansion program in A & P Food Stores' supermarket at 4724 Dixie Highway in Drayton Plains was announced today by Vice President Edward J. Vogel.

The present building will be converted to A & P's Early American design, which has been symbolic of the company's stores in recent years.

An addition to the building will provide more than 25 per cent more floor space.

The revamped supermarket will incorporate modern equipment throughout the store, including automatic doors, new mirrored bakery department and power checkout system.

The renovation program is scheduled for completion some time in December, Vogel said.

Fugitive Flunks State Lie Test

Chicago Theft Suspect Seemingly Is Doomed to Extradiction

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Nick Guido seemingly has exhausted his last remedies to avoid extradition to Illinois where he is wanted in connection with a series of Gold Coast robberies in Chicago.

Guido, 41-year-old ex-convict, flunked a lie-detector test given to him yesterday by Detective Sgt. Frank Barkman of the Michigan state police.

Barkman said the results "conclusively showed that Guido was lying" as to his whereabouts last June 3 when Mr. and Mrs. Jack Delott of Chicago were robbed.

The extradition request of Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner asked that Guido be returned to Chicago specifically for his part in the Delott robbery. Guida claimed he was in Milwaukee at the time of the crime.

Now that Guido has been examined by polygraph, his fate is in the hands of Michigan Gov. John B. Swainson, who will rule, probably this week, on Kerner's request.

Guido was arrested near Ypsilanti last month when he and Frank Yonder, 23, wanted for the same series of crimes, were picked up for traveling the wrong way on I-94. Yonder waived extradition and was returned to Chicago almost immediately.

De Gaulle Eyes Change in French Constitution

PARIS (AP) — President de Gaulle reportedly will ask that the French Constitution be revised to provide for popular election of the president.

★ ★ ★

Informants said, however, that De Gaulle, target of several recent assassination attempts, does not feel that France should have a vice president.

★ ★ ★

De Gaulle reportedly will ask Parliament, which meets Oct. 2 to set a nationwide referendum Oct. 21 or 28 providing for a popular presidential vote.

The constitution of the fifth republic provides for election by an electoral college of about 50,000 persons, mostly members of Parliament and mayors.

De Gaulle's own seven-year term runs until 1965, when he will be 74.

The sources said he feels that by broadening the base of the president's electoral mandate more strong chief executives will follow him.

The president was said to have pushed up his plans for electoral reform after gunmen hit his car in an assassination attempt Aug. 22.

★ ★ ★

The informants said De Gaulle feels the constitution provides adequately for a successor in case the president dies or is disabled.

★ ★ ★

500 Realtors to Convene

GRAND RAIDS (AP) — Approximately 500 realtors are expected tomorrow through Friday in Grand Rapids for the 48th annual convention of the Michigan Real Estate Association.

'No Cuba-Berlin Deal'

Sen. Keating Chided

WASHINGTON (AP) — High administration spokesmen have assured Sen. Kenneth B. Keatiing, R-N.Y., that his fears of a possible U.S.-Soviet diplomatic deal involving Cuba and Berlin are groundless.

Official sources said Secretary of State Dean Rusk personally advised Keating that no such deal was under consideration, and Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana chided Keating on the Senate floor.

Mansfield said the New Yorker should not have cited such rumors without facts to back them up.

Mansfield, like Rusk, denied there was any truth to such rumors.

Keating replied, "Of course I accept the majority leader's statement as fact."

He said when he expressed his fears on a weekend television appearance he was careful to state that they were based on rumor.

Assurances that such rumors were untrue were exactly what he had been asking, he said.

Mansfield agreed that he too had heard rumors that Cuba and Berlin were being linked in over-all negotiations with the Soviets, but "never with the connotation of a deal."

Court Gives Worker Years of Interest

LANSING (AP) —The claim of a former industrial firm employe that he was entitled to five years of 5 per cent interest on workmen's compensation for a disabling heart attack was affirmed yesterday by the Michigan Supreme Court.

In a 5-2 decision with Justice Paul L. Adams abstaining, the court rejected the argument by Norge division, Borg-Warner Corp., that it was being "punished" for failure to pay the interest on five years of back payments.

He said a doctor originally had told him that the heart attack was not job-connected and it was not until 1958 that he finally learned he was eligible for compensation.

In 1960, Drake was awarded weekly benefits, medical expenses and five per cent interest on past payments due by the Workmen's Compensation Appeal Board.

The company's appeal to the high court took issue with the obligation to pay interest on compensation due Drake from 1953 to 1958.

Extended Care Insurance Plan Under Study

DETROIT (AP) — State Insurance Commissioner Sherwood Colburn had under advisement today a Michiagn Hospital Service plan offering extended nursing home care coverage at higher rates for senior citizens.

The commissioner rejected as discriminatory yesterday a Blue Cross-Blue Shield plan to increase rates by 50 per cent for new subscribers 65 years and older.

He called the rate increase discriminatory between members of the same class.

But the commissioner said he would delay for several days a decision on the nex extended benefit plan for senior citizens.

The plan Colburn has under study cost $359 per elderly couple —$156 more than the $203 per couple now charged—but would provide nursing home care for 70 days within a 90-day period after illness.

70 Viet Cong Killed, Says Saigon Release

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The offiical Viet Nam press claimed today 70 Communist Viet Cong guerrillas were killed in a mopup in Kien Phong Province about 100 miles west of Saigon.

The news agency said seven government soldiers were wounded. Air Force fighter planes and armored river boats participated in the operation.

Dems to Hear 3 Candidates

Hopefuls to Appear Before Avon Club at Rochester Library

AVON TOWNSHIP — Three candidates for public office in the November election will speak at tomorrow night's meeting of the Avon Township Democratic Club.

On the program to be held at 8 p.m. in Woodward Memorial Library, Rochester, will be George J. Fulkerson of Birmingham, Kenneth G. Hirt of Ferndale and David S. Lees of Troy.

Fulkerson is currently a candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives from the 18th District. He was appointed special assistant attornery general of Michigan in November 1960. The same year he was Democratic nominee for proscuting attorney of Oakland County.

A candidate for Oakland County Sheriff, Hirt is a graduate of two police schools and a former sheriff's officer in the county.

Hirt headed the Mounted Division in the county and was active in coordinating and establishing the police department in White Lake Township.

Coast Waits and Wonders About Alcatraz Trio

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A few weeks ago a group of radio disc jockeys took part in a charity softball game on San Francisco's marina green, a spot from which Alcatraz Federal Prison, squat and stolid, is visible a little more than a mile away in the bay.

Suddenly springing onto the field came three men clad in gaudy black and white prison stripes, waving spoons at the spectators and trying to appear menacing.

It was all in fun, but nonetheless it was another reminder that the three men who picked their way out of Alcatraz with tablespoons exactly three months ago may still be at large.

The search for the three bank robbers—Frank Morris, Clarence Anglin and his brother John—is still a top priority item for the San Francisco FBI office.

Maybe they drowned, as have several would-be Alcatraz escapees before them, and maybe they didn't.

If they didn't, they would be the first — and probably the last — prisoners to make good an attempted escape from the fortress-like home of the nation's toughest convicts, soon to be closed.

Those taking part in the active search, including associate director Fred T. Wilkinson of the U. S. Bureau of Prisons, have decided that the three drowned trying to reach Angel Island, separated from Alcatraz by two and a quarter miles of bone-chilling, swift-moving bay.

But the FBI has sent descriptions of the men to law enforcement agencies throughout the country, which allows for the possibility that they survived.

Since news from Acatraz is usually guarded as carefully as the inmates, word of what changes or repercussions have occurred at the prison has come from convict "leaks" and other unofficial sources.

One generally accepted report is that two guards were given 30-day suspensions a month after the escape. Warden Olin Blackwell, declining comment on the suspensions, said, "It's not fair to discuss the private lives of guards."

OTHER CLAIMS

Other sources claim:

—The convicts didn't use spoons, as the prison announced, but an electric drill to bore through the cement around ventilator openings in their cells.

—Eight prisoners took part in the actual plot, and a fourth man was ready to go when the three escapers did, but couldn't wriggle through the opening in his cell.

One thing is definite — the holes in the cells are still there.

Associate Warden A. M. Dollison said Congress has not yet appropriated the money necessary for repairs.

Some candid observations on the prison and escape came from an inmate who was released last month when the law under which he was convicted was ruled unconstitutional.

Charles Benton Russell, an ex-jailbreaker and auto thief, said the prison "tightened up considerably" after the break. He said Morris and the Anglins spent six months preparing for their getaway.

Russell said a fourth convict, an auto thief from Atlanta named Allen C. West, planned to escape with the trio but was unable to. West since has spent about 40 days in a punishment cell, according to Russell.

Unit Names Woman Chemist of the Year

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—The American Chemical Society has named Dr. Milldred Cohn of the University of Pennsylvania Woman Chemist of the Year.

The honor was conferred on Dr. Cohn at a session of the society's national meeting yesterday. The society announced that she has been chosen winner of its Garvan Medal, which also provides a $1,000 honorarium.

The scientist specifically was honored for pioneering work in the use of "heavy" atoms to trace the flow of energy through many life processes.

Seeks 'Saline Solution' in Suit Against County

A suit based on a "salty" issue was filed in Circuit Court yesterday against the Oakland County Board of Road Commissioners.

Thomas E. Gawne of 1109 Bald Mountain Road, Orion Township, is seeking an injunction to prevent the road commission from storing rock salt on property near his home unless measures are taken to keep it from polluting his well water.

Gawne also is asking $20,000 damages to compensate him for alleged expense, aggravation and annoyance of having to haul water for domestic use.

He claims the salt stored on road commission property at South Lapeer and Clarkston roads has seeped into the ground and ruined water from the well he dug in 1959 when he built his home.

Sol Lomerson, road commission chairman, said this morning that the road commission has been aware of the problem and is investigating to see how serious it is and what can be done about it.

The salt, stored in the open during the winter for use on icy roads, would not be a problem if it were enclosed or covered, Lomerson said. A building on the property, however, is used for equipment storage.

He said the road commission may have to find a new storage area either for the salt or for the equipment.

According to Roscoe Martin, a Rochester attorney representing Gawne, his client thought the problem was to be eliminated as a result of a previous lawsuit by a neighbor, Emil Baum, of 1019 S. Lapeer Road.

That case, however, was settled out of court without a change in the salt storage situation, Martin said.

Play Politics With Pens

Then There Were 2

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—It cost only 98 cents.

But why, said the reporter, should he allow former resident Harry S. Truman to make off with his old ballpoint pen?

★ ★ ★

So the Hartford Courant's Jack Zaimah asked Truman to search his pockets when the pen vanished after the ex-President used it to sign an autograph at a Democratic dinner Saturday.

Zaiman refused to shrug off the loss, lamenting the pen in Monday's paper.

Local Republicans gave Zaiman another pen and urged him to be wary of whom he lends it to.

★ ★ ★

The missing pen was returned via a Democratic courier. Truman had found it after the dinner.

2 Major Space Centers Today's Stops for JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy visits two of the nation's major space centers today on the first leg of a two-day tour of U.S. projects aimed at overtaking the Soviet Union in space.

Kennedy's four-state tour is billed by the White House as a non-political business trip. The White House says it will enable him to examine work on space programs and provide background for consideration of next year's space budget.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Space Administrator James E. Webb and Congress members directly concerned with space programs are accompanying Kennedy.

The President's interest in U.S. booster capabilities was underscored by the first stop on his schedule — Huntsville, Ala. He planned to visit Cape Canaveral, Fla., later in the day.

At Huntsville, where the Army and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration operate space development projects, Kennedy will view Saturn and Titan rockets.

Saturn is currently the U.S. hope for shooting a man to the moon before 1970. Titan is the booster for the planned Gemini project to loft two men into space and orbit them for as long as two weeks at a time.

At Huntsville, Kennedy's party will be briefed by Dr. Wernher von Braun, director of the NASA space flight center. From a vantage point some 2,500 feet away, they will observe from a concrete blockhouse a ground test of a Saturn's engines.

At the Cape, Kennedy may chat with astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., who is scheduled to be launched Sept. 28 on a six-orbit flight.

Kennedy goes to Houston, Tex., tonight and will deliver a speech, probably on his administration's space aspirations, at Rice University Wednesday morning. Later he will tour the new manned space flight center at Houston and visit the McDonnell Aircraft plant at St. Louis, Mo., before returning to Washington Wednesday night. He will address several thousand workers at the McDonnell plant, which produces capsules for U.S. astronauts.

Dulles' Advice on Cuba 'Bad'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., said in a book released yesterday that President Kennedy got bad advise from Central Intelligence Chief Allen Dulles prior to the abortive Cuban invasion.

The book, entitled "Inside the New Frontier," was written by Hartke, head of the senatorial campaign committee. He was assisted in the writing by former deputy national chairman Jack Redding.

"President Kennedy, misled by Allen Dulles and others, had been led to believe the abortive Cuban invasion would be followed immediately by a revolution," Hartke said.

"The Bay of Pigs changed the attitude of many members of Congress toward the new President. Dulles said that the CIA expected the Cuban people would rise against Castro when the invaders waded ashore . . . Thus misled, Kennedy sent the invaders off on their mission of failure.

★ ★ ★

"It was at this point the President showed his maturity and his character . . . Kennedy said simply — 'It was my fault. The full responsibility belongs to the President. I accept it.'"

★ ★ ★

Hartke said, "Even among those who oppose him (Kennedy) bitterly there is a curiosity about him personally and a reluctant admiration for his iron nerve.

"The Trade Expansion Act of 1962 will be recorded in history as a high-water mark of the Kennedy administration." Hartke said.

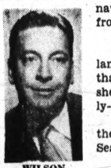
This Traveler Finds Tales Aren't All True

By EARL WILSON

RAIATEA, Society Islands, South Seas — I would like to explode the myth that the beautiful females of the South Seas bounce around through the villages naked from neck to navel, like a gal from the Folies Bergere, or from a Las Vegas nightclub.



WILSON

It's just not true—drat, and double drat.

I was strolling on oneof these Society Islands near Tahiti when I spotted a woman in that semi-naked condition, but, seeing me, she quickly covered herself up with her loosely-hanging blouse.

That's probably what they mean when they say the jet is going to "ruin" the South Seas.

An American woman, a divorcee, married one of the stalwart South Sea boys and had a big wedding. The bridegroom insisted that his bride wear white.

"You'll wear white!" he insisted. "It may not be your first marriage—but it's mine."

★ ★ ★

Civilization is really coming to Bali Hai. You even see poolrooms out in the bush. Some brave man—or woman—will arouse the populace with a slogan, "Millions for poolrooms but not one cent for plumbing!" which is another way of saying that much here is "early American," and most powder rooms are outdoors.

EARL'S PEARLS: It'll be nice, sighs Jack Herbert, when winter arrives, and we can go back to eating steak that's cooked on a stove.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A couple of flannel-suiters told their waiter: "We'll have the regular businessmen's lunch. Very dry."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A small town's a place where, if you don't know what's going on, nothing is.—Tony Pettito.

There are two things that hardly anybody will believe—how a man got a black eye, and how a girl got a mink coat.—That's earl, brother.

Expects 4 Pct. Rise in Auto Registrations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of automobiles registered for use on American highways is expected to increase this year by nearly four per cent to 65,644,000.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Signs and portents point to a television year which may well send the women in the evening audiences scurrying back to the lending libraries for their entertainment. It will be long on war stories and lusty masculine-type comedy but painfully short on the sort of shows most women enjoy—heart-warming drama guaranteed to wring a tear or two, and glamorous sophisticated tales.

LORETTA SERIES

One lush oasis in this desert promises to be "The New Loretta Young Show," a CBS series in which the ageless Miss Young plays a widow with seven children.

★ ★ ★

"We've always had her whirling through a door wearing the latest fashions," explained John London, the producer who also served as overseer of the old Loretta Young Show.

"This time she'll be wearing Jean Louis clothes most of the time. And in the show she'll be an upper middle-class woman. You just can't paint Loretta as a middle-class housewife."

By "upper middle class," London obviously means rich—and the only time you'll catch Miss Young in an apron bending over a hot stove will be on what is obviously cook's day off.

★ ★ ★

The series was suggested by a story, "Christine's Children" and Christine now has developed so that she's a successful writer—articles and mystery stories.

HER PUBLISHER!

The man in Miss Young's television life will be James Philbrook, who plays her publisher. Although some of the episodes, obviously, will be built around one or another of her large brood, London will see how things work out. There's a chance that the emphasis may soon shift away from the children to concentrate on the two adults of the story.

★ ★ ★

In addition to wearing glamorous clothes and living in luxurious surroundings, Miss Young will further titillate her large feminine audience by making some sort of a moral point in each episode, said London. That is another carryover from the old Loretta Young Show.

Cuba Buildup Stirs Senator

'Even Graver Than Indicated to Public,' Dodd Believes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., said today he has reason to believe that Communist Cuba's military buildup "is even graver than has yet been indicated to the American public."

He told the Senate it cannot be dismissed as a defensive measure.

Dodd said "it can be stated as a matter of fact" that the recent delivery of Communist bloc men and munitions to the Castro government of Cuba was not the first.

He said the Soviet arms delivered to Havana are being transshipped through clandestine routes to other Latin American countries for use by their leftist extremists.

CITES PANAMA PLOT

He pictured a Communist overthrow of the government of Panama, "thus placing the Panama Canal under the direct control of Moscow," as one objective of the shipments.

"I find it difficult to understand the assurances that were initially given to the American public that the Communist bloc personnel who entered Cuba aboard the ships which recently docked there were technicians in the nonmilitary sense," Dodd said.

"President Kennedy did the right thing in his statement of last Tuesday, when he set the record straight on this point and spelled out some of the details about the recent shipments.

"But I have reason to believe, on the basis of information from reliable sources, that the situation in Cuba is even graver than has yet been indicated to the American public."

Dodd advocated a six-point program, including an embargo on Red arms shipments to Cuba but short of invasion of Cuba by U.S. forces.

Russia Warns Against Cuba Attack

44 Killed in Crash of SAC Jet Tanker

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—All 44 persons aboard a Strategic Air Command jet tanker plane apparently were killed when the KC135 plowed into a fog-shrouded ravine on 5,271-foot Mt. Kit Carson about 20 miles northeast of here yesterday.

Thirty-three bodies had been recovered when nightfall halted the search of the 500-yard deep ravine.

★ ★ ★

SGT. RAY A. MARTIN

Aboard the plane were 39 Air Force men, all members of the 28th Bomb Wing at Ellsworth Air Force Base, S.D.; one civilian and four crewmen.

The tanker, based at Ellsworth, was carrying the airmen to Fairchild Air Force Base near here, where they were to stay while Ellsworth runways were repaired. The jet was only 10 minutes from its destination when it crashed.

Col. Floyd R. Cressman of Fairchild, one of the first to view the wreckage, said the pilot apparently tried to pull up the tanker at the last minute. Visibility was near zero at the time.

Bert Smith, Irving Hamann and his son Wayne all from Spokane, started searching after they had heard a report the plane was missing and apparently down in the Mt. Spokane-Mt. Kit Carson area.

"We decided to work our way down the steep slope" said Smith. "And as we did, the smell of smoke got stronger.

SMASHED TO PIECES

"Finally, we came across the first of the wreckage. It was smashed to pieces. Then we saw three bodies on the ground—all badly burned."

★ ★ ★

"I'm glad we didn't look any farther than we did," Smith said. "I couldn't have looked any more."

Ex-City Man on Plane List

Body Not Among Those Identified in AF Jet Crash

A former Pontiac resident was listed as a passenger aboard the Air Force jet tanker plane that crashed near Spokane, Wash., yesterday.

He is S-Sgt. Ray A. Martin, 34, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noel E. Martin of 101 Rutgers St.

Sgt. Martin's body was not among those identified so far by authorities from Ellsworth Air Force Base, S. D., where he was stationed.

His wife and 2-year-old daughter Dianne live at Rapid City, S. D., near the air base. He also has five sisters and two brothers.

An aircraft mechanic, Sgt. Martin served during World War II and the Korean Conflict, his sister said.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 11 (UPI) — The United States said today that Russia exploded a nuclear device in outer space last year. U.S. Ambassador Francis T. P. Plimpton denounced the Soviet Union in the U.N. committee on the peaceful uses of outer space for its "crocodile tears" about the dangers to astronauts caused by an American nuclear explosion in space.

ROBERT A. SOBLEN

Death Takes Fugitive Spy

Soblen Escapes Life Sentence

Brain Damage and Exhaustion the Cause; Wife With Him

LONDON (AP) — Fugitive spy Robert A. Soblen died in a London hospital today.

He thus escaped the life sentence that awaited him in a U.S. federal prison for wartime espionage for the Soviet Union.

Soblen died in Hillingdon Hospital, where he had lain unconscious since last Thursday.

He had taken an overdose of barbiturates just before he was removed from Brixton Prison for deportation to the United States.

Dr. Cyril Barnes, who was in charge of Soblen's treatment, told newsmen Soblen's death was due not to the drugs he had taken but rather to "exhaustion following convulsions and damage to the brain, presumably caused by hemorrhage."

Barnes explained that Soblen had taken a quick-acting barbiturate and "it had been eliminated from the body chemically 24 hours before death."

★ ★ ★

Barnes said Soblen's wife, Dr. Dina Soblen, a psychiatrist like her husband, was at his bedside when he died. She flew to London and had been at the hospital with him since Friday.

★ ★ ★

"Just before 10 a.m. there was a severe turn for the worse. I asked that Mrs. Soblen should be kept in the room. She was with him at the end," Barnes said.

Oldsmobile Previews '63 Models

The showing for 200 newsmen from around the country was held in connection with the opening of Engineering Center.

As in other General Motors divisions, the standard size Olds and the compact F85 have been modestly restyled in the grille, rear end, side paneling and instrument panel.

The big Olds will offer, as will some other GM models, a steering wheel which tilts up and down and an alternator instead of the conventional generator.

The F-85 will be lengthened about five inches. The change is in line with the industry trend this year.

Traffic Fatalities Down

EAST LANSING (AP) — Traffic accidents have killed 1,027 persons in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The toll at this date last year was 1,057.

Stand-By Call Over 1st Hurdle

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The Senate Armed Services Committee has given speedy and unanimous approval to President Kennedy's request for stand-by authority to call up 150,000 reservists in the international situation worsens.

The committee gave its voice vote, bipartisan backing Monday after Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara testified the authority could be crucial if the international situation deteriorates suddenly and specific crises occur.

His position was backed up by Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The committee acted after 2½ hours of testimony and interrogation.

★ ★ ★

Aware of family disruptions and other problems that developed from the call-up during last year's Berlin crisis, the committee wrote in language that would give priority in any call-up to men who have had only six months of active duty and who are on pay drill status.

Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Committee, said he hoped to get the measure up for Senate action Thursday.

TO COME UP THURSDAY

The House Armed Services Committee will consider the proposal Thursday, with McNamara and Gen. Lemnitzer, scheduled to testify.

The resolution is designed to let the President act if developments worsen in such trouble spots as Cuba and Berlin while Congress is out of session. It would give him authority to:

—Call up 150,000 ready military reservists to active duty for one year.

—Extended for one year the enlistments or service periods of any member of the armed services or national guard whose tour of duty expires before Feb. 28, 1963 — about six weeks after the new Congress convenes.

★ ★ ★

Although both branches of Congress were expected to approve the President's request, there was less enthusiasm in the House.

Many House members still were unhappy over the Pentagon's handling of the first reserve call-up last year and fearful that the same problems might arise if the authority is used again.

Astronaut's Flight Postponed 3 Days

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr.'s intended six-orbit flight around the globe has been delayed three days until Sept. 28 to permit further time for preparation.

★ ★ ★

The decision came Monday after Project Mercury officials evaluated the readiness of all aspects. It was reported unofficially that the primary Pacific tracking ship, the Rose Knot, was not ready.

★ ★ ★

The Atlas booster rocket and Schirra's spacecraft were reported in excellent condition. They were joined together on pad No. 14 Monday and extensive compatibility checks were begun. Schirra continued training here for the flight, which is to keep him aloft for nine hours.

Steal Police Aide's Car

Fall Weather Slipping Into Pontiac Area

Temperatures are gradually slipping downward as the fall season approaches. Tonight's low will dip to a cool 50.

But Wednesday will be fair and warmer the high climbing to 75. Thursday will continue warm and partly cloudy. Morning westerly winds at 10 to 20 miles per hour will diminish tonight.

From 10 a. m. yesterday until the same hour today one-tenth of an inch in rain fell on the downtown Pontiac area.

Fifty-eight was the low temperature in Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The reading was 68 at 1 p.m.

CRENSHAW, Miss. (AP)— Two crewmen were killed when a southbound Illinois Central freight train slammed into the rear of another freight near here.

Killed in the crash Monday were engineer J. P. Barnes, 67, and fireman Will Taylor, 60, of the trailing train, both of Memphis, Tenn.

'Would Mean Beginning of Critical War'

U. S. Told Nuclear Battle Could Spring From Such Action

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government warned the United States today that an attack on Cuba would be the beginning of a war that might turn into a world nuclear war.

In a statement read to a special Foreign Office news conference, the Soviet government accused the United States of staging provocations "which might plunge the world into the disaster of a universal world war with the use of thermonuclear weapons."

"One cannot now attack Cuba and expect that the aggressor will be free from punishment for this attack," the statement continued. "If such an attack is made, this will be the beginning of unleashing war."

The statement appealed to the United States "to display common sense, not to lose its self-control and soberly to assess what its actions might lead to if it unleashes war."

It said the Soviets would not follow the path of the United States in calling up 150,000 reservists.

But the Soviet government, it continued, "considers it to be its duty to remain watchful in this situation and order the Defense Ministry as well as the command of the Soviet army to take all measures to put our fighting forces into the highest degree of fighting readiness.

"This is exclusively a precautionary measure. On our side we shall do everything not to violate peace."

PLEA TO ALL NATIONS

The statement added an appeal to all nations to raise their voices against the alleged aggressive plans of the United States and to prevent the "American aggressors" from starting a war.

The statement declared that the Soviet Union is sending military supplies and military technicians to Cuba but is not establishing a base there.

"We state and we repeat," the statement said, "that if war is unleashed, if an aggressor attacks one or another state, and this state turns to us for help, then the Soviet Union has the possibility of giving aid from its own territory, to any peace-loving state, and not only to Cuba.

In the statement, the Soviet government also declared it wants a settlement of the Berlin question and a liquidation of the occupation regime in the divided city.

"The occupation regime must be liquidated, and it shall be liquidated," the statement said.

"The Soviets hinted they are willing to wait until after the U. S. congressional elections in November. The statement noted that East-West talks on the Berlin crisis had paused recently.

"They say that it is difficult for the United States of America to conduct negotiations on a German treaty since elections to the American Congress are coming up in November," the statement said.

MENTIONS U2

The Soviets said many statements by American politicians might have been considered the normal development of an election year. But in view of President

GLENWOOD PLAZA — This shopping plaza on curving Glenwood Avenue near North Perry Street (street at bottom of picture) is one of a number providing shopping ease for Pontiac residents. The development is labeled worth $3 million and is partly completed. At left is K-Mart joined by a roofed-over passageway to Savon Foods Store at right. Undevelop area at right is scheduled to be built up with service-type store including dry cleaners, drugstore, laundromat, etc. Areal view was shot by photographer-pilot Homer Tinney for The Pontiac Press series on the changing face of the Pontiac area. Developers plan eventually to have 30 retail outlets at Glenwood Plaza. K-Mart is the largest type of S. S. Kresge Co. chain store in the nation. Sprawling over some 30 acres, or more than 1.1-million square feet of total land area, the plaza will devote about 290,000 square feet to retail space. Total parking for 2,000 cars will cover about 857,880 square feet. A year ago construction at the site was just getting under way. Today it is a major East Side shopping center, and is still growing.

Cuba Blames Pirates for Firing on 2 Ships

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Havana radio said today a Cuban freighter and a British cargo ship have been attacked by what the broadcast labeled a pirate ship.

★ ★ ★

No mention was made of casualties or the extent of damage.

The broadcast, monitored in Key West, said the ships were fired on off the northern coast of Cuba, but did not specify the time.

The Cuban vessel, identified as the San Pascual, was hit 18 times and eight shots whistled through the crew's cabin, the radio said. The British ship, the name of which sounded like "New Land," took 13 hits, the Havana account said.

POSSIBLE IDENTIFICATION

The British vessel may have been the Trafalgar Steamship Co. sugar cargo freighter Newlane. In London, Trafalgar said the Newlane left Havana Monday night under charter. The company said it did not know the 7,043-ton ship's destination because the charter had been arranged by its agents for the Caribbean area.

Havana radio said the Cuban vessel was carrying a load of molasses, the British freighter a load of sugar for Socilist countries.

Calling the alleged incident "a cowardly attack against the Cuban government," the broadcast said a second British ship—with a name which wounded like "Apple Sultan"—escaped the attack because it was delayed in reaching the area.

The report came in the wake of an offshore shelling of Havana Aug. 24 by anti-Castro Cubans. The youth who led the Aug. 24 attack said last week that ships with Communist flags would be considered military targets. Juan Manuel Salvat, the attack leader, made that statement to newsmen in Caracas, Venezuela.

★ ★ ★

The spotlight has been focused recently on shipping to and from Cuba by an increase in military shipments from the Soviet bloc to Fidel Castro's regime and reports that much of this is being carried in ships chartered from NATO allies of the United States.

61 VESSELS CITED

Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill. said last week 61 vessels of four NATO countries are delivering Communist supplies to Cuba. He said congressional leaders were informed at a White House briefing that most of the military material comes in British, German, Norwegian and Greek ships.

The British Foreign Office said Monday, however, that no arms shipments had left British ports for Cuba, and that as far as it knew British ships have not carried arms to Cuba from ports outside Britain.

Cuba Warning Issued

Kennedy's request for authority to call up Reserves, "the Soviet government must receive in a different light" the flight of an American U2 which it claimed trespassed over the island of Sakhalin, off the east coast of Soviet Siberia.

★ ★ ★

The statement ridiculed the claim of the United States that developments in Cuba might justify a call-up.

It said no similar call-up was going to be made by the Soviet Union in response, but that it was responding by ordering all forces to be at the ready.

"We cannot help taking into consideration the preparation by the United States of an aggressive act," the statement said.

The Soviet government said its ships were carrying not only munitions but machinery and agricultural equipment to Cuba to help build up the country. What these ships contain, the government declared, is the affair of the Soviet Union and Cuba.

"Don't put your nose into other people's affairs," it said.

Commenting on reports in the United States that the Soviet Union is building up a base in Cuba, the statement said such a base is not needed since Soviet nuclear weapons can reach any place on earth and aid can be given to any country on earth directly from the territory of the Soviet Union.

"At the request of the Cuban government, and in response to continued threats, the Soviet Union is delivering to Cuba a certain amount of armaments," the statement said.

"Cuban statesmen have asked the Soviet Union also to send military specialists and technicians to teach Cubans how to master modern weapons. Cuba does not possess such experts."

It said it was not Cuban arms which threatened the United States.

'FEAR REVOLUTION'

"The revolutionary spirit is what you are afraid of, not military means," the statement said.

The statement declared: "Only a madman would think that it would be hard only on the people who were attacked."

"This war would be 100 times more dnagerous than other wars," it said, "and it would bring to the people of the United States not less but perhaps greater hardships than to the country attacked."

Britain Denies Deal for Entering Mart

LONDON (AP) — Britain denied today that she was prepared to support French President de Gaulle's proposal for a three-powered directorate within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as part of a deal for gaining British membership in the Common Market.

★ ★ ★

A foreign office spokesman told newsmen "there is no connection whatsoever" between the two subjects.

★ ★ ★

The spokesman denied the portion of a Washington dispatch to the London Times which suggested such a connection. This dispatch said that British Defense Minister Peter Thorneycroft, now in the United States for discussions with American officials, was prepared to back de Gaulle's proposal for a directorate within NATO made up of the United States, Britain and France.

Sterilization Program Attacked by Graham

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham has joined the Roman Catholic archbishop of Washington in condemning the voluntary sterilization program in Fauquier County, Va.

★ ★ ★

"We are in serious danger when we take on ourselves to sterilize women even with their permission," Graham told a news conference Monday.

World-wide production of oxygen has reached 73,000 tons a day, about half of which is used in the manufacture of chemicals, chiefly ammonia.

Two Inmates Escape From Jackson Prison

JACKSON (AP) — Two inmates of Southern Michigan State Prison were reported missing last night.

Officials said the pair, Dwayne Maxon, 30, sentenced from Jackson County, and William K. Speimelker, 27, of Detroit, disappeared from the kitchen of the trusty division. Maxon was serving 7½-15 years for breaking and entering and Speilmelker 5-10 years for armed robbery.

SQUIRE WAGON — The four-door Squire wagon shown here is one of five different Falcon station wagons to be introduced in Ford dealers showrooms Sept. 28. The Squire features wood-grained exterior paneling and all metal, single unit construction. In addition to the Squire models, the Falcon line also will include a standard wagon, a station bus, a club wagon and deluxe club wagon.

Reds Complain of U.S. Flights

Two American Planes Accused of Passing Over China Mainland

★ ★ ★

The Communist New China News Agency report did not identify the type of American planes or say whether any attempt was made to shoot them down—as in the case of a Chinese Nationalist U2 plane claimed to have been downed Sunday over the China mainland.

The agency said one U.S. plane intruded into Red China over Chengssu Islands in Chekiang Province for three minutes. The other plane was accused of flying over Yunghsing Island of Kwangtung Province for nine minutes.

The Communist propaganda machine hammered at the United States about the flight of the American-built U2 plane piloted by a Chinese Nationalist reportedly shot down.

But neither the Nationalists nor the U.S. government gave any indication they would halt Nationalist reconnaissance flights over the mainland.

Communist Chinese newspapers called the flight an intrusion and aggression. The downing of the craft over East China Sunday, they said, "should serve as a good lesson to the American aggressors."

In Washington, the State Department and the Chinese Nationalist Embassy declined comment. U2 flights over the Soviet Union were halted after pilot Francis Gary Powers was shot down in 1960, but there was no indication the high-altitude reconnaissance flights over Red China would be stopped.

U.S. Plans More Tests in Pacific

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has cleared the way for the resumption of atmospheric nuclear test explosions over the Pacific.

A spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission said Monday night the tests probably will resume later this month or early in October. He indicated, however, that there probably would be no detonation until after Sept. 28, the date set for the six-orbit flight of astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr.

★ ★ ★

A joint announcement by the AEC and the Defense Department said the off-limits safety zone around and above Johnston Island in the Pacific would be reactivated Sept. 22 "in connection with the completion of the Pacific test series."

★ ★ ★

Test shots from the island were discontinued July 31 after a Thor missile bearing a nuclear warhead for high-altitude detonation was destroyed on the launch pad July 25. The AEC spokesman said the badly damaged launch area would be repaired by late this month.

The statement did not say how many tests will be conducted but said they "will include a few high-altitude events and a few in which the devices will be dropped from an airplane."

President Kennedy said at his news conference after the July 25 failure that there might be three more tests over the Pacific.

The 1963 Falcon

Offering 17 Models

The 1963 Falcon scheduled for introduction in dealers' showrooms Sept. 28 will be available in more models than any other compact line in the auto industry, Ford Motor Co. officials said today.

★ ★ ★

O. F. Yando, Ford Division general sales manager, said the Falcon will offer 17 model choices for 1963, five more than this year.

The new models, all in the sports-inspired Futura line, include two-door and four-door sedans, a sports sedan, a convertible and sports convertible.

Dealers in this area who will have the 1963 Falcons on display later this month are John McAuliffe Ford, Inc., 630 Oakland Ave.; Beattie Motor Sales, Inc., 5806 Dixie Highway Waterford Township; and Jerome Ferguson Inc., 215 Main St., Rochester.

★ ★ ★

Ford officials say all Falcons have a Thunderbird-type roofline. The Futuras will be available with luxury car interior appointments, according to company spokesmen.

★ ★ ★

The standard engine for all models except convertibles, station buses and club wagons is an 85-horsepower six cylinder engine. Standard on the convertibles and van-type vehicles is the 101-horsepower "Six."

Both the standard 144-cubic-inch power plants and the optional 170-cubic-inch engine are equipped with new carburetors.

Other mechanical refinements, said Yando, eliminate the need for the traditional 1,000-mile new car inspection.

★ ★ ★

The interval between lubrications and replacement of radiator coolant, fuel filter and oil cleaner element now will be every 36,000 miles, said Ford officials. They added that the oil-change interval has been raised to every 6,000 miles.

Fugitive Spy Soblen Dies; Wife With Him

but came as his strength gradually failed."

Later, Soblen's wife was admitted to the hospital as a patient. A spokesman said she was being treated for shock.

The death of the 61-year-old New York psychiatrist ended a 10-week battle to escape deportation to the United States, where he faced a life sentence as a wartime spy for the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

Soblen took an overdose of barbiturates apparently just before he was put in an ambulance last Thursday to be taken to a plane for the United States.

★ ★ ★

En route to London Airport he lapsed into unconsciousness in the ambulance. At the airport he was transferred to another ambulance and rushed to nearby Hillingdon Hospital.

★ ★ ★

He never regained consciousness, and on Saturday he developed convulsions which persisted.

His doctors said this was evidence of brain damage, apparently resulting from a shortage of oxygen. The doctors explained the overdose of barbiturates reduced the supply of oxygen to the brain and probably caused a brain hemorrhage.

Two Negro Girls Wounded by Blasts

RULEVILLE, Miss. (UPI) — Shotgun blasts ripped through the window of a home last night and wounded two Negro girls active in the voter registration of Negroes in the Mississippi delta.

The pellets struck one girl, Vivian Hilley, in the leg and the the other girl, Marylene Burke, in the scalp. The victims were taken to hospitals for treatment.

Mayor C. M. Darr said neither girl appeared seriously hurt.

He said local and Sunflower County law enforcement officers were looking into the incident and he had personally asked the FBI to join the investigation.

The Day in Birmingham

Only 2 Residents Object to Sewer System Plans

BIRMINGHAM — Objections from only two residents were raised at a public hearing last night to determine the necessity for a new $144,900 storm relief drain — sewage system in the southeast corner of Birmingham, according to City Clerk Irene E. Hanley.

★ ★ ★

"The new system is something that has been needed for a long time," Mrs. Hanley said.

"It will tie in with the 12-Town Storm Relief Drain when the main pipeline to Detroit is completed sometime next year."

Two letters of objection were placed on file, and city engineers were instructed by the commission to prepare construction drawings for the system.

TO SERVE 500 HOMES

It will serve some 500 homes in an area west of Troy, between Lincoln Avenue and 14-Mile Road over to Woodward Avenue.

The letters were from two residents who claimed that their own homes were adequately served by the present system. The objectors failed to appear at the meeting.

The Birmingham Branch of the American Association of University Women will hold its 35th annual used book sale Sept. 24-29 in Demery's Birmingham Room.

Hours of the sale are 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily and until 9:30 p.m. on Thursday and Friday.

Over 300 women are actively involved in the sale which has become a model for other AAUW branches to copy. Many rare books as well as first editions and whole libraries are donated to the sale.

There also will be fine collected works, children's books, mysteries, foreign language books, as well as books on cooking and gardening.

The sale has always drawn buyers and collectors from all over the Greater Detroit area and for several years has earned a profit of over $4,000, all of which is used for graduate fellowships for women, both on the international and local level.

In the past five years, 30 local teachers have been given money for further summer study in their fields at colleges all over the country.

Mrs. Charles Shaw and Mrs. David Goodfellow are cochairmen of the sale. Mrs. Kenneth Kesler, transportation chairman, will handle between 20,000 to 25,000 books with her committee before the sale is over.

Donations of books and records may be made by calling Mrs. Kesler, of 1027 Suffield Road, for pick-up service, or donations may be brought to Demery's any time during the sale.

The Birmingham Rotary Anns will meet for 1 o'clock luncheon next Monday at the home of Mrs. Wallace Reid, 2160 Northlawn Road.

Mrs. Reid will be assisted by Mrs. William C. Rowland, Mrs. Lewis W. Morely and Mrs. M. M. Rosenberger.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kirkby, executive director for the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, will tell of the camp activities of crippled children.

MISS MARY E. MITCHELL

Retired Schoolteacher at Wisner School for 38 Years

Miss Mary E. Mitchell, retired teacher of Pontiac Public School System, was taken ill suddenly yesterday morning, and was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital. She was 69.

A graduate of Alma College, she had taught at Wisner School for 38 years before retiring in 1958. She was a member of Central Methodist Church, the official board and Wesleyan Guild of her church, and past president of the Business & Professional Women's Club.

Miss Mitchell belonged to the American Federation of Teacher's Clubs; and the city, state and national education associations. She was also a member of the American Childhood Association.

The family suggests that memorial contributions be made to the building fund of Central Methodist Church. Her body is at the D. E. Pursley Funeral Home.

Private Clubs Resume Service in Detroit Area

DETROIT (AP) — Approximately 20 Detroit area private clubs began restoring bar and dining room services today with settlement of a barmen and waiters strike.

Some of the clubs had been without the services for the better part of six weeks.

The Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union accepted a new three-year contract offer from the Detroit Club Managers Association yesterday by a vote of 836 to 50.

Settlement terms included wage increases of 2 and 3 cents an hour for each of the three years, a pension fund plan, and fringe benefits along with increased premium pay for holiday work and work beyond five days a week.

50 Volunteers for India

NEW DELHI (AP) — Fifty more Peace Corps volunteers will arrive in India by the end of October to bring the total in this country to 76, Joseph Wheeler, Peace Corps director for India, said yesterday.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Occasional rain is expected tonight in the north Pacific states, the northern Rockies and western portions of the northern Plains with some snow in the higher elevations of the Rockies. Thunderstorms are forecast for the western sections of the southern Plains. It will be cool in the northeast; warmer in the northern and central Plains.

Factions Agree on Make-Up of Algeria Ballot

ALGIERS (UPI) — Vice Premier Ahmed Ben Bella moved Algeria a step closer to the long-awaited parliamentary elections today with an agreement with the army on the make-up of the ballot.

A spokesman for Ben Bella's civilian political bureau, the current ruling authority, said the controversial question of the electoral lists has been settled. He gave no details.

The spokesman made the statement last night after Ben Bella met secretly with his aides at the political bureau's headquarters. Among those who attended the meeting was Col. Si Hassan, commander of the Algiers military district where Ben Bella won a test of strength last week.

★ ★ ★

The proposed composition of the single-slate electoral candidates list was a basic cause of the dispute between the political bureau and willayas (military districts) three and four.

Commission Planning to Award Water Bonds

Bids will be opened on the sale of $3.77 million in revenue bonds, to finance Pontiac's water system improvement program, at tonight's City Commission meeting.

Proceeds from the sale of bonds will finance a portion of the $3.9-million project, the difference being paid by present surpluses in the water fund.

The bond issue was approved by commissioners last May and given an okay by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission in August.

It will run until 1996 with the first call date being Jan. 1, 1972. The entire debt will be paid with revenues from water and sewage charges to consumers and won't affect taxes or the capital improvement fund.

★ ★ ★

Contracts for construction of new water lines, a water plant and pumping station and several storage tanks have already been awarded.

TO BE READY JULY 1

Actual construction must be completed by July 1 next year when Detroit water is to begin being used in Pontiac.

Barring unexpected complications, the bids should be tabulated and sale awarded to the lowest bidder before the close of tonight's meeting.

Also up for approval on tonight's lengthy agenda is a loan and grant contract for Pontiac's R44 urban renewal project.

Plans for R44 have been approved by the Urban Renewal Administration and official approval of this contract is standard procedure to set the project in motion.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners will also hear a report from City Manager Robert A. Stierer on steps taken recently to improve traffic movements in Pioneer Highlands subdivision.

★ ★ ★

Approval is also slated for an agreement with S.B.S. Builders, Inc., to construct water lines to two homes on Clara Avenue from the city main on Columbia Avenue.

TO TALK REZONING

Commissioners will be requested to act on five recommendations from the city planning commission regarding rezoning proposals and vacating of several alleys and portions of city streets.

★ ★ ★

Public hearings are also slated on the city's plans for street or sidewalk improvements on parts of Hollywood and Harvey avenues and Waldo Street, and on a special assessment roll for curbs and gutters on Stanley Avenue.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners will also be asked to act on a request from George Antos, owner of the New York Grill, 20 E. Pike St., to erect a canopy over the sidewal: at that address. Antos plans to open a new restaurant adjacent to the grill.

County Bows to School Districts

Aid Loss Confirmed

By DICK HANSON

Oakland County Board of Education Superintendent William J. Emerson today confirmed that the county is losing money to school districts under the state's financial aid per pupil program.

★ ★ ★

But he denied any attempt by the districts to purposely take advantage of the county in this respect.

Emerson acknowledged that state aid collected on the basis of the fall school census was retained by the districts although some pupils later became county wards, to be educated at county expense.

The reason for this, he said, is that the approximately $175 per pupil paid by the state can't be forwarded to the county along with the pupils because the school districts already have spent the money for teachers' salaries.

VOICE SUSPICIONS

Suspicions that the county is losing the money were voiced by members of the County Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee prior to presenting their recommendation for next year's county budget yesterday.

Emerson blamed the county's loss on the fact that the school census by state law must be taken each fall.

He said there was no way of knowing at this time how many pupils would be shifted over to the county during the remainder of the school year for one reason or another.

In presenting the recommended $15.5-million county budget to the board of supervisors yesterday, Ways and Means Chairman David Levinson, supervisor from Birmingham, noted that education costs comprised 2 per cent of the total budget.

His committee recommended that the board instruct its legislative committee to study existing state laws to learn how they would have to be changed to rid the county of all education costs in future budgets.

"The committee feels that educational expenses, including the costs of educating children who come under the jursidiction of the juvenile court as well as the expenses of the County Board of Education, should be financed from funds allocated to the schools rather than charged to the insufficient millage allocated each year to the county," Levinson said.

★ ★ ★

"I think Levinson's resolution probably contains some merit," said Emerson. "Certainly county financing ought to receive some periodic scrutiny at the hands of the legislature."

He said he felt that legislative study of the "organization and financing of all departments of county government, including the board of education, is long overdue."

ATTENTION OVERDUE

"Oakland County hasn't received the amount of attention warranted since the 1908 constitutional convention," Emerson said.

The board of supervisors has until next Monday to study the recommended county budget for next year before deciding whether to adopt it or to alter it.

The board will reconvene for this purpose at 9:30 a.m. Monday in the supervisors auditorium of the County Office Building at 1 Lafayette St.

Cookies on Paper Plate OK

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I baked some cookies recently and sent a batch of them over to a neighbor. I put them on a paper plate. My daughter remarked that this was not very polite and that I should have put them on a china plate.

She holds that sending them over on a paper plate implied doubt on my part as to the neighbor's returning the plate. Will you please tell me if what I did was wrong?

A: Strictly speaking your daughter is right, but it is a matter of so little importance that you need not give it another thought. In fact, what you did was really more practical because a paper plate need not be returned whereas a china one must be both washed and returned.

Q: When friends come in to see me in the afternoon I would like to know if it is in good taste to prepare the tea in the cups using the little tea bags.

I think it simplifies matters to be able to do this but I have been told that this is not the correct way to serve tea. May I please have your opinion on this matter?

A: The sight of a used tea bag being lifted, limp and dripping, by its string out of a cup is very unattractive. Furthermore, I cannot see that it is any easier to drop the tea bags in the cups than it would be to put them where they belong, in a tea pot, and pouring boiling water on them, let them steep properly and then pour the tea.

Q: I would like to know if you think it proper for my boy friend and me to stay home alone watching television for several hours while my parents are out visiting friends.

My mother does not object but my father does, strenuously, saying it does not look right and people will start gossiping.

A: Your father is right. Your being alone in the house with your boy friend for several hours is just the kind of food local gossips thrive on.

Teen-agers Must Be Willing

GILBERT YOUTH SERVICE

More teen-agers would grow up to be tycoons if they were willing to make the extra effort needed to forge to the top.

But regrettably, says Philip J. Sagona, one teen-ager, now tycoon, few seem to have the ambition to push onward and upward.

"Kids today think whom you know is more important than what you know. It isn't so. If you really want to achieve something badly enough, you'll do it on your own. But it takes discipline."

Sagona suggests a "Plan Ahead" approach to help any teen-ager find his goal. "Make a list every week of your projected plans, and study it to see which ones are more important to you.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am shocked and somewhat confused at the advice of a woman I thought to be a very fine person. I am a very young widow, 27, have no children, and recently moved to a new community to start a new life. I am employed in a small office.

ABBY

A co-worker (unmarried) took me under her wing and promised to introduce me to some eligible young men. Then she told me NOT to tell them I was a widow. I should say I am a divorcee.

She said a divorcee had a much better chance of remarrying than a widow. Is this true? Or am I just a country girl?

WIDOWED

DEAR WIDOW: Honesty is always the best policy. The truth will not only set you free—it might also get you married.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who will lie about his age?

KNOWS ONE

DEAR KNOWS: I would try not to think about him at all.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: A friend of ours invited us to a "surprise birthday party" he is planning for his wife. Here are the facts.

★ ★ ★

He has invited 22 people to come to his home, and told us each to bring refreshments to feed 22. He also suggested we each bring a birthday gift. Now this man is by no means in the poor house.

★ ★ ★

In fact, he is better off than most of the people he invited. Have you ever heard of a "pot luck birthday party?" He has pulled stunts like this before.

★ ★ ★

We don't want to offend his wife by not coming because we like her, but we want to know what to do about an invitation like this.

PERTURBED

DEAR PERTURBED: Tell your friend that if he is planning a surprise party for his wife, it is up to him to furnish the refreshments. He is due for a "surprise" himself if he makes a practice of abusing friendships.

★ ★ ★

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press.

Gold Rush Takes to the Campus

Gold is the rule for school belles this fall, as the gold rush takes to the campus.

Gold jewelry, real or costume, the season's big news in high fashion circles, finds a natural affinity for school and college clothes, reports the Fashion Coordination Institute. Bold gold link chains in necklaces and bracelets team up with the new bulky sweaters for the biggest accessory news in and out of the Ivy League.

Gold pendant necklaces are new and right with either sweaters or shirts, and there are new versions of the classic gold pins — monogrammed discs or circles—beloved by all smart scholars. Enameled gold heraldic shield pins are popular accents for the classic button-down shirts, worn centered just below the open collar.

Girls are wearing tie pins this fall, in strictly feminine versions. These are big, bold and worn on a solid-color four-in-hand tie, which is worn in turn with a plain oxford shirt and leather-belted skirt.

The golden handcuff shares popularity honors with the scarab bracelet this fall. It's a plain gold wrist band engraved with name or initials —wide and flat, sometimes fastened with a jingle-bell clasp. In the same spirit are plain, wide gold rings, worn on the pinky finger.

Hi ho, and she went to the fair. The day was gloomy, but members of the Bloomfield Hills Women's National Farm and Garden Association held a county fair before their meeting Monday. Mrs. John B. Hammond (left) was hostess to the organization in her Hillwood Drive home. Here she greets Mrs. Rodney Lockwood, Bloomfield Hills, who came prepared with her shopping basket. Gay hats were the order of the day.

To Open Art Season

The Pontiac Society of Artists will open its fall season Friday evening, Sept. 14 at 8 p.m. at the Community Services Building on Franklin Boulevard.

Guests are welcome at the meeting.

The Pontiac Society of Artists is beginning its 15th year, having been organized in the summer of 1948 at the home of Mrs. L. L. Sterling.

★ ★ ★

In 1947 free art classes were started in the Pontiac Public Library with J. Hart Gould as teacher. Adah Shelly, then head librarian, had noticed an increase in the circulation of art books and offered space to Gould for the classes.

Outgrowing the library's limited space, classes were transferred to Pontiac Central High School the next year.

Mrs. Sterling was the society's first president. Other officers were Mrs. Cecil Shaw, Mrs. Ralph Kuenzel and Mrs. Herbert Danielson.

In 1948 a constitution and by-laws were prepared, membership cards designed and a state charter obtained.

June 1949 was the occasion of the first public show with 19 members exhibiting. Annual shows have been held ever since.

The society includes both painters and sculptors who must be working artists.

Bridal Shower Given for Miss Lamphere

Judith Lamphere, bride-elect of Phillippe R. Landry, was honored with a miscellaneous shower Saturday evening at the Marquette Street home of Mrs. Dennis P. Duross. Eleanore Duross and Mary Ann Buckley were cohostesses.

Judith announced her bridal attendants at the party. Patricia Lamphere will be her sister's maid of honor at the Oct. 6 wedding in St. Michaels Church.

Bridesmaids will be Jeanne Landry, sister of the prospective bridegroom, Miss Buckley and Miss Duross.

★ ★ ★

Present at the shower were Mrs. Grant A. Lamphere, the bride's mother, and Patricia; Mrs. Robert A. Landry, the bridegroom's mother, and Jeanne; Mrs. Vincent Buckley and Mrs. James Demski. Others were Mary Wilhelm, Pamela Woolever, Nancy Rick, Mrs. Lawrence Traynor and Shirley Robac.

Concluding the guest list were Diane Hope, Janice Strong, Mrs. Benjamin Carline, Shannon Donnelly, Pamela Arcello, Joan Klinkhamer and Kathleen and Patricia Duross.

English Association Holds Annual Tea

The annual membership tea of the Waterford Township Schools English Association was held Friday afternoon at Waterford-Kettering High School. Robert Kaminskis, president, extended an invitation to new faculty members.

The next meeting of the group will be Oct. 10 at 8 p.m. at John D. Pierce Junior High School.

Institute Club Meets

Cohostesses were Mrs. S. E. Minard and Mrs. Don Beutler.

D. G. Boice Wed in Wayne Rite

Wearing a gown of white dull luster satin that she had made, Saundra Elaine Sears was married Saturday evening in the First Congregational Church at Wayne to David G. Boice of South Edith Street.

Long pointed sleeves and a bodice accented with Alencon lace were features of the bridal gown. Saundra's shoulder veil fell from a pillbox crown. She carried white carnations, rosebuds and ivy.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Meredith Van Valken of Ypsilanti, sister of the bride, and Marilyn Love of Wayne, were bridesmaids. Kathryn Sears, another sister of the bride of Tulsa, Okla., was maid of honor.

The attendants wore rust crystalette sheaths with over skirts, and velvet and tulle headpieces. They carried orange and yellow pompon mums.

Arthur Schultz served as best man. Larry Boice, brother of the bridegroom, and Thomas Lufkin were ushers.

★ ★ ★

After a reception in the Civic Hall in Wayne, the bride changed to a navy linen suit with red accessories and a rosebud corsage. A home in Wyandotte awaits the couple upon their return from a northern Michigan honeymoon.

★ ★ ★

Saundra is a graduate of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital School of Nursing in Ann Arbor. David is an aviation electronics technician, SC U.S. Navy.

Anything Interests Him

GILBERT YOUTH SERVICE

Long, lanky Christopher Cherniak doesn't think he's very bright. His grades aren't astronomical. His friends regard him as a genius.

But despite all this, Chris walked off with the biggest award in the Westinghouse Science competitions, $7,500 in scholarship help.

★ ★ ★

The young scientist, who has just graduated from Melbourne, Fla., high school, explains he's not an all-A student because he's more likely to spend after-school time on his own research projects, rather than in boning up on prescribed subjects.

★ ★ ★

Nor is the world of science his only interest. One day he picked up a paper back on the life of Machiavelli. He's never heard of the Italian statesman, but immediately decided he was the father of political science.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

In fact, at Harvard Chris may ignore science for a time, and concentrate on philosophy and religion. "There's so much that interests me," he says.

★ ★ ★

The son of a Cape Canaveral engineer, and resident of a community that's heavily loaded with rocket know-how, Chris reports that many of his friends likewise will bypass a scientific career.

★ ★ ★

"My parents left me alone to see what interested me," he says. "Then they helped me find a way to do my work."

Newlyweds, the Gary C. Evans, Driving East En Route to Virginia

Planning to live in Portsmouth, Va., following a honeymoon in northern Michigan and a tour through the East, are newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Gary C. Evans. The couple exchanged vows Saturday noon at St. Michael's Church with the Rev. Charles Cushing officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coleman of Opdyke Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evans of Willard Street.

* * *

A chantilly lace bodice was paired with silk organza skirt for the bridal gown which featured a tiered lace chapel train. The bride's fingertip veil of silk illusion was secured by a rose cluster of seed pearls, petals and iridescent sequins.

Her pearls were a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a cascade arrangement of pompons with a corsage of yellow roses, mums and ivy in streamers.

All the attendants were gowned alike in dresses of aqua silk organza over taffeta with scoop necklines and bell skirts. Cascade arrangements of yellow and white pompons comprised the matron of honor's bouquet, while the others held yellow mums and white carnations.

* * *

Dorothy Ann Coleman was married Saturday noon in St. Michael's Church to Gary C. Evans. Rev. Charles Cushing performed the ceremony. The Edward Colemans, Opdyke Road, are the bride's parents. Charles Evans, Willard Street, is the bridegroom's father.

MRS. GARY C. EVANS

Ione Wright Wed in Hills Church Rite

St. Paul Methodist Church in Bloomfield Hills was the setting for the Saturday evening marriage of Mrs. Ione Wright to Donald A. Tews. Rev. James A. McClung officiated at the ceremony in the presence of some 400 guests.

* * *

The bride approached the altar wearing a sheath dress of petal pink silk organza with overskirt of matching Chantilly lace. She chose a flowered silk hat with matching veil, and carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations and pink sweetheart rosebuds.

* * *

Honor attendants were her daughter, Lynette, and her cousins, Mrs. William Bigler and Mrs. Donald V. White, gowned alike in sheath dresses of turquoise iridescent taffeta, featuring bell shaped overskirts. Matching flower petaled and veiled headpieces completed the costumes. They carried white and pink mums on turquoise fans.

* * *

* * *

Daily Dozen Adds Up

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

In the fairly recent past the value of exercise in reducing has been downgraded. You have read that you cannot reduce with exercise, that you must walk a very long distance to lose a pound. Because of this, many overweight women have failed to make exercise a part of their daily routine. That's one reason they are fat.

It is true that it would be impossible to exercise enough to lose many pounds but it also is true that a moderate amount of regular exercise counts up over a year just as a moderate reduction in food intake does.

Suppose it is your daily habit to have one item such as a soft drink or a candy bar, or anything which is not essential to your health. Suppose you give this up. This is the only change you make in your diet.

Even if the item gives you only 80 calories (and most have more) let us see what that does to your weight in a year. This will count up to about ten pounds lost in a year.

If you give up one tablespoon of butter daily it will count up to about twelve pounds in a year. Naturally you must keep your caloric intake the same except for this one exception.

* * *

The same is true of exercise in reverse. When you exercise you spend calories. If you add a moderate amount of exercise to your days, it will count up to a sizable difference in a year's time.

* * *

Suppose you have been taking no exercise other than that required by leading the life you do. Add a two mile walk or a 15- or 20-minute session of special exercise, and this adds up to a big increase in the calories you spend over a 12-month period.

Think then; if you cut down just a little on your regular daily calorie intake and add a little to your regular daily calorie expenditure, what it will do for you!

Not only this, but exercise also tones the body and brings the measurements into more perfect ratio, and more is being learned continually about its value in health.

If you want to try exercise and would like to have my leaflet "Perfect Daily Routine for Women" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

More Likely to Get an 'A'

Encourage Child to Read

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE N-420: Lillian L., aged 27, is the children's librarian in her city.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I know you are quite right in saying that the youngsters who patronize our library are the better students in school.

"And I can give you some exact data to prove that. Some years ago when you mentioned this same idea in a chapel talk at our college, I asked my psychology professor if I could use it as the basis of my term paper.

* * *

"So I analyzed the records of children in a nearby grammar school and compared their class standing with how many library books they took out.

* * *

"And I found that the more reading a child did, the greater was his likelihood of making 'A' grades. There was a direct correlation.

"I wish you'd stress this again for the benefit of all parents."

BOOK 'HALO'

Many busy fathers take out college insurance policies to finance four years on the campus for their youngsters.

So those same youngsters become second rate students or almost flunk out. As a result of their poor grades, they dislike school and don't even want to attend college.

* * *

If their fathers still prod them into going to the university, then these same poor readers drop out by the end of the first semester.

* * *

Comic pages thus are the only doorway the newspaper opens to children from 7 to 12 years of age.

Alas, most of the comics aren't slanted to children! For 25 years I have made a close psychological study of comics.

And I can truthfully tell you I can't name more than 3 or 4 comics that appeal to grammar schoolers.

Oh, many of them contain child characters. But they are primarily "dialogue" or "balloon" comics, with the language far over the comprehension of children.

Many of these comics are excellent for adults, such as "Peanuts" and "Dennis the Menace."

But the humor in those strips is not apparent to a child for it requires adult experience to see the ludicrous nature of such child antics.

* * *

A superb children's comic must be slanted to the comprehension level and vocabulary of those who are 7 to 12 years old. And a "perfect" comic will interest all age groups, from ages 7 to 77.

Remember, too, that readers make more independent thinkers than mere listeners. They analyze facts for themselves. Listeners, as the average TV audience, are swayed by the narrator, as Marc Antony stampeded the crowd at Caesar's funeral.

So listeners are more easily regimented and swayed, politically. Beware!

* * *

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Lemons and Limes Are Best When Real Glossy

If you are buying fresh lemons remember light yellow ones are usually preferred over deep yellow ones. Light lemons are more acid while the deep yellow give more juice. The lemons should have fine textured skins and be heavy for their size. Avoid fruits with shriveled and hard skins and those that are soft and spongy.

* * *

Balloons to Lift Telescope Up

Lens to Peek at Mars 80,000 Feet Above Earth Next Year

NORWALK, Conn. (AP)—Scientists will float a telescope 80,000 feet above the earth early next year, and, by television, view the universe.

★ ★ ★

Twin balloons will hoist the telescope next February or March, when Mars is comparatively close to the earth.

★ ★ ★

The scope's 36-inch quartz mirror will have sharper vision of Mars than the giant 200-inch telescope atop Mt. Palomar, Calif.

At a distance of 1,000 miles, it will be able to view an object about six inches wide. At the same distance, it will be able to distinguish two spots of light only 30 inches apart.

★ ★ ★

The entire apparatus, weighing more than six tons and dubbed Stratoscope II, will be launched from the new scientific balloon flight station at Palestine, Tex.

Later this month, the L-shaped 18-foot-long telescopic mount will be disassembled at the Perkin-Elmer Corp. plant here and the parts shipped to Texas.

EYE ON VENUS, MARS

Once aloft, the entire balloon contraption—stretching in length to nearly the height of the Washington Monument, 555 feet, 5 inches—will sway to and fro like a clock pendulum.

But motors and special television cameras will keep the telescope pointed at a single spot.

Dr. Martin Schwarzchild of Princeton University, director of the project, hopes his apparatus will enable him to get a close look at the "white dots" on Venus and the "canals" of Mars.

Stars should be visible as shapes rather than as mere pinpoints of light, and it may be possible to see how they are created.

Each flight will last just one night. At dawn, the balloons, radio-controlled by aircraft, will be valved down to 5,000 feet by releasing some helium. There a helicopter will take over and lower the apparatus.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Schwarzchild proved the effectiveness of sky-high viewing with Stratoscope I. Its 12-inch telescope was lifted by balloons to above 80,000 feet in 1957, and again in 1959, to obtain the sharp photographs of sunspots.

★ ★ ★

The Office of Naval Research, which is supporting the new project with NASA and the National Science Foundation, said the venture next year will inaugurate a revolution in astronomy.

Out in Hollywood it's hard to hold onto a good housekeeper—even if you're married to her. . . . The most frustrated person in town is the girl who tries to get her high, high hairdo into her boy friend's low, low compact car. A hospital patient got his bill, saw it was high, and said, "No wonder they wear masks in the operating room."—Earl Wilson.

Artist Strokes With Time Brush

ARABIC ERROR — Need for detailed accuracy in representing historic scenes was emphasized, when Thom was told the tiny writing in this ancient scientists' hand was 300 years out of phase. The writer is Avicenna, a philosopher-physician known as "The Persian Galen." Thom painted over the error with the correct Arabic script.

PREVIEW FOR STUDENTS — Thom gives some pointers in the illustrator's art to Dr. Lowell Eklund (left) dean of the continuing education division at Michigan State University Oakland, where Thom will teach a course on illustration this fall. "The illustrator is mainly a storyteller," says Thom. "It's up to him to excite the viewer's interest."

By RALPH P. HUMMEL

Thirteen years ago, Robert A. Thom had already painted himself into a comfortable corner as a top-notch illustrator, ranging from fashion models in furs to new-car catalogs.

He escaped the corner by turning his paint brush into a time machine.

His trips spanning 10,000 years and 400,000 miles of travel around the globe, always start and end in a quiet Bloomfield Township studio, where he lives with his wife and two sons.

Few of his neighbors know that the home at 6160 W. Surrey is the likely well-spring of their own impressions of the history of medicine and pharmacy.

Yet, take them to a drugstore or a doctor's office and who hasn't seen the colorful reproductions of "Great Moments in Pharmacy" and "Great Moments in Medicine."

IN DRUG ADS

Or turn the pages of a magazine and an ancient Egyptian physician pops out of an advertisement of Parke, Davis and Co., as if photographed only yesterday.

Last week, Thom took a visitor into his studio where he is now finishing the last three paintings of his series in medicine.

With him was Dr. Lowell Eklund, dean of Michigan State University Oakland's Continuing Education Division, where Thom will teach a course in illustration this fall.

THE SETTING

In this studio through a wall-wide, ceiling-high window the afternoon light falls on woodpaneled walls, woodplank floor and on the wide easel in the center.

The painting on the easel has felt the time brush of Thom. On the canvas it is a summer day in 1922.

The scene is clodly exact. Reality then and now merges into one. There is the fullness of a historic moment: Two men—their eyes on a filled hypodermic.

The viewer thinks he sees the next moment . . . sees the men turn to a dog resting mournfully at the picture's right side. The needle sinks . . . a diabetic dog lives.

The moment—the picture—tells the story of the lives of millions of diabetics saved since the first successful use of insulin by two men—Charles Herbert Best and Frederick Grant Banting.

"I was there recently, and as I walked down the hall with Dr. Best many people would greet him.

'MORNING, DOCTOR'

"They'd say, 'Morning, Dr. Best,' and he'd say, 'Morning, Joe,'—and when they passed out of earshot, he'd say, 'He's a diabetic, too.'

"I found out 65 per cent of the workers there are diabetics. They'd all be dead—and millions like them—except for Banting and Best."

History weighs heavily on Thom.

On field trips with collaborating writer George Bender of Grosse Pointe, Thom takes hundreds of photographs of even the smallest momentos of a bygone day. He sketches avidly and has his work checked by experts in medicine and pharmacy.

Pontiac Press Photos by Edward R. Noble

AS IT WAS 'WHEN'

In crannies of museums where no man enters, he is allowed to touch ancient instruments and set up lyaboratory equipment as it was "when." But all this does not satisfy him.

★ ★ ★

"It is cultural research I center on," says Thom, walk green into 400 B.C. To know what goes on inside a lab, you've got to know what goes on outside, even though it won't show in the picture."

When he had almost finished his oil of "Avicenna—The Persian Galen," an expert pointed out that the Arabic writing in the ancient physician-philosopher's hand was 300 years out of phase.

"You learn to be careful," Thom grins wrily.

There is another kind of pressure on the 47-year-old Thom, who sold out one of the nation's top five illustartor studios in Detroit to concentrate on recording history.

★ ★ ★

"I could do 500 little things a year, but not more than six significant works. You realize you haven't got many left. This brings the pressure to an almost unbearable weight every time you life a brush.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

With his latest series nearly finished — three oils more within a year—he won't say what is next. But it is bound to be another series in history, he hints.

"When I had my own commercial studio, I realized I was doing throw-away art," he muses, "—a painting of a car doesn't last beyong the model year.

★ ★ ★

"Now I'm doing keeper's art. It's going to last for a trillion years. History does not age."

Expect Siege of Flu in Area

County Health Official Stresses Vaccine Can't Cause Disease

The deputy county health director today joined the U.S. and Michigan health services in warning that a new outbreak of Asian flu is expected this winter.

He decried as false a widespread notion that preventive flu shots may give people the flu.

★ ★ ★

What may be mistaken as flu after the vaccine is given, he admitted, may be "a reaction which resembles flu." This may include fever and chills.

★ ★ ★

But such reaction is suffered only by people who are allergic to eggs or egg products, he said. Since the vaccine is grown in eggs, the allergy may result from an injection.

The shots should be requested from a family doctor, who should be advised if a person suspects he is allergic to eggs or egg products, he said.

★ ★ ★

The County Health Department is only immunizing county employes at this time. Last year, 400 employes were vaccinated.

Waterford Twp. Board

To Vote on 1.34 Millage

A tentative 1962 tax rate of 1.34 mills was approved last night by the Waterford Township Board.

The rate includes one mill allocated by the county and .34 mills spread by board action. It compares to a rate of 1.26 mills for 1961.

As equalized the 1962 rate amounts to $2.99 per $1,000 valuation compared to the equalized figure of $2.85 a year ago.

As a charter township Waterford is empowered to spread millage without public vote.

Not formally on the agenda, the proposed rate was presented at the regular meeting by Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson who advised that the Oakland County Board of Supervisors would have to have the figure for final consideration at that body's Oct. 8 meeting.

Township Clerk James Seeterlin objected to taking final action on the proposal last night because the needs of the various township departments for the calendar year 1963 had not been reviewed.

Seeterlin agreed to tentative approval of the rate. Final consideration by the board is scheduled for next Monday.

DISCUSS FOOD ORDINANCE

In other business last night the board spent nearly two hours discussing the proposed food handlers ordinance but deferred a decision until next Monday.

Several details of the ordinance patterned after similar ones now in force in about 70 per cent of the county were discussed at length. An inspector from the Oakland County Health Department which would enforce the ordinance was present to answer questions.

Don L. Hine representing the Michigan State University Extension Service read a letter he addressed to the board commending the proposed action that would tighten controls where they were needed, especially regulating the operations of transient peddlers.

Proposed license fees of $25 for groceries and $10 for restaurants are included in the ordinance.

The board also reviewed a proposed retirement fund plan for the police and fire departments and scheduled action on the measure for Sept. 24.

The plan calls for a first year annual expenditure of $32,796 by the township amounting to 19.4 per cent of the total salaries of the 29 participants.

Salary deductions of five per cent would be withheld from employes totaling $8,418 the first year.

IN OTHER BUSINESS

In other business the board authorized planning director Robert Dieball to attend the Oct. 14-19 convention of the National Institute of Planners in Los Angeles by a 3 to 2 vote.

Trustee Loren Anderson voiced strong opposition to the trip as he has done in recent months when other proposed trips by department heads were brought before the board. Anderson again called for the establishment of a definite policy on conventions.

Johnson joined in the opposition but the trip that will cost an estimated $375 was favored by trustees Joseph McGee, Seeterlin and treasurer Mrs. Dorothy Olson.

McGee said he felt conventions were excellent sources of knowledge. Anderson held the opposite viewpoint saying that a summary of convention activities was readily available for study.

OK to Transfer Any Section of School District

LANSING (AP)— The Michigan Supreme Court yesterday unanimously upheld the State Board of Education in approving the transfer of a portion of a small suburban school district to the school district of Lansing.

★ ★ ★

The high court said it found no basis for the Lansing district's contention that the transfer of 1½ square miles of the neighboring Community School District violated the state constitution.

The issue was whether a portion of one school district can be transferred to another without being politically attached through annexation as well. The court said, in effect, that it can.

★ ★ ★

First sought in 1955, the transfer was made last May after the Lansing district informed Community that it could no longer accept students of the seventh grade and above on a tuition basis.

YM Facelifting Ready This Fall

Strike Delayed Work; Pool Done by October, Entire Project Nov. 19

Facelifting and expansion of Pontiac's YMCA to the tune of $650,000 will not be completed until Oct. 1 in some parts and Nov. 19 in others.

The delay is due to last spring's building workers' strike and the extent of repair needed at the old building at 131 Mt. Clemens St., said T. N. Slosson, general secretary.

"We hope sections of the old building will be ready by Oct. 1," he added. "Nov. 19 is our target date for completion of the entire project."

The Oct. 1 date is set for the start of classes in the swimming pool and gym.

The major work is in the addition of a two-story building which will double the existing floor space.

On its ground floor will be a youth department, including locker, shower, club, game and television rooms.

On the second floor will be an instructional swimming pool which will be connected to the larger pool in the old building. Also located here is an adult area, including a club room, a kitchen and a banquet room to seat 140, along with offices.

The banquet room and kitchen on the top floor of the old building will be remodeled into an auxiliary gym and equipment room.

UNDER CONSTRUCTION — The sun is still shining through the top floor of the Pontiac YMCA's new addition into the shower rooms included here. Completion of the $650,000 improvement program is set for the middle of November.

Primaries End Campaigns in 9 States

By The Associated Press

New Hampshire's blistering four-way race for a Republican senatorial nomination and nominating campaigns in eight other states come to an end today as voters make their choice in primary elections.

★ ★ ★

The biggest primary day of the year will see candidates nominated for 39 House seats, eight Senate seats and six governorships in New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Utah, Washington, Arizona and Colorado.

★ ★ ★

Georgia Democrats Wednesday ballot for governor, senator and 10 House members.

4 SEEK GOP NOD

Most of the attention has been focused on New Hampshire, where four candidates have been seeking the GOP nomination for the remaining four years of the late Sen. Styles Bridges' term.

The candidates:

Sen. Maurice J. Murphy Jr., conservative former state attorney general who was appointed to serve out this session by Gov. Wesley Powell.

Dolores Bridges, the late senator's widow, who has campaigned strongly on a conservative platform featuring opposition to the U.N. bond issue and trade program proposed by President Kennedy.

Rep. Perkins Bass, a self-styled moderate who has supported the President on foreign trade and foreign affairs.

Rep. Chester E. Merrow, a liberal Republican running with the backing of organized labor.

Political observers say Bass and Mrs. Bridges seem to be the front-runners in the normally Republican state.

New Hampshire Republicans will also pass judgment on Powell's bid for a third term. His hard-hitting challenger is State Rep. John Pillsbury.

In Utah, J. Bracken Lee, the two-time former governor, is rated an underdog to Sen. Wallace Bennett, who never has lost an election and is bidding for a third term in the Senate. But Lee, who once read himself out of the Republican party to make an unsuccessful try for governor as an independent, has pulled political upsets before. Both are conservatives.

In Arizona, Stephen Shadegg, former Democrat and later state Republican chairman and campaign manager for Sen. Barry Goldwater has waged a stiff fight with state Sen. Evan Mecham. Both are conservatives. Goldwater has said he will back either man in November against the likely Democratic nominee, Sen. Carl Hayden.

Hayden, 50 years in Congress, is opposed in his bid for a seventh Senate term by W. Lee McLane, Phoenix attorney.

In Wisconsin three Republicans seek the right to oppose State Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds, who has no primary foe for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. The GOP candidates are Philip G. Kuehn, Wilbur N. Renk and Robert La Follette Sucher, a grandson of the state's late senator and governor, Robert La Follette Sr.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin is unopposed for the Democratic senatorial nomination to meet Republican Sen. Alexander Wiley, also unopposed.

MINNESOTA CONTEST

In Minnesota, Rep. H. Carl Andersen, in Congress for 24 years, is battling for his political life against State Rep. Robert Odegard in the 6th District Republican primary. Odegard picked up party organization support when it was disclosed that Andersen had sold Billie Sol Estes, the Pecos, Tex., financier, some mining stock.

★ ★ ★

Incumbent senators who have little or no opposition include Democrats Warren G. Magnuson of Washington and John A. Carroll of Colorado and Republicans George D. Aiken of Vermont and Norris Cotton of New Hampshire.

Georgia Democrats will choose from among five candidates for governor, with former Gov. Marvin Griffin and State Sen. Carl Sanders apparently the front-runners.

Sen. Herman Talmadge seems certain of renomination, but a veteran House member, Rep. James C. Davis, has strong opposition.

It will be the first primary in Georgia since courts struck down the county unit rule system under which rural areas dominated the Democratic primaries.

What's Up Front Doesn't Count Anymore

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — What is a "new" Jayne Mansfield?

Following her separation from husband Mickey Hargitay the bosomy blonde announced she was a changed woman. She was, in fact, a new woman.

If so, there appears to be nothing new nor rearranged about her superstructure. Her measurements are as awe-inspiring as ever, her voice as filled with promise and her walk as wiggly.

Asked point blank about the "newness," Jayne responded:

"While I was in Italy this summer I discovered a whole new concept of life. It was like taking off a pair of dark glasses through which I had been looking at the world."

"With it came the feeling that there is no necessity for displaying one's voluptuousness because it is no longer important," she explained. "It is better to have your soul on display than your bosom."

★ ★ ★

Jayne dispatched a vodka martini with a soulful sigh. You could see that she was, indeed, a changed girl.

Did this mean that her famed plunging necklines would plunge no more? Would rumor spring up that she had turned to falsies?

"I don't think so," Jayne said, again soulfully.

"Part of the new Jayne Mansfield is that I won't work at being a sexpot anymore. I guess I can't keep it from coming through, but it will have to come through a lot of material."

Here was a Mansfield death knell for her bikini swim suits. It was almost like watching Joe DiMaggio hang up his glove or hearing that Brendan Behan had taken the pledge.

COLLEGE GIRL

Jayne herself was moved by the enormity of the occasion. She removed the olive from her second martini and set it on the table.

★ ★ ★

She finally broke the silence to observe, "the new Mansfield will be playing some serious roles in pictures. I've had some wonderful critical reviews of my comedy parts, but now I want to use the training I got at three colleges, UCLA, the University of Texas and SMU.

"People don't think of me as a college girl, and I'd like to have a chance to prove that I can do just as well with dramatic roles as I have with comedy."

Jayne indicated she and the estranged Hargitay had no immediate plans for divorce. Neither are they particularly close to a reconciliation.

★ ★ ★

The question arose whether there was a place for the muscle man in the future of the new Jayne. Tune in next week . . . er, Jayne won't really know until she has had time to live with her new image for a time.

Proof positive that a "new" Mansfield exists is a man named Curt Frings, her new agent. He handles such other serious actresses as Elizabeth Taylor and Audrey Hepburn. According to Jayne he already has refused four pictures as unsuitable for the new Mansfield.

"You see," Jayne concluded, "I am a different girl. I'm going to Italy this week to accept the award for the most popular film entertainer of 1962. Last year Elizabeth Taylor won it."

JAILED IN FRANCE — Dr. Harvey Lothringer of New York and his secretary Theresa Carillo are shown at dinner earlier this year in New York. Dr. Lothringer and the girl were arrested yesteerday in the State of Andorra by French police. He was jailed in nearby Perpognan, France, in connection with the abortion slaying of a teen-age New York girl in 1961. No charges were filed against the girl.

Being Held in France

Find Abortion Suspect

PERPIGNAN, France (AP)— A New York law official flew to France today, seeking the return of Dr. Harvey Lothringer, a New York physician sought in the abortion death of a 19-year-old college girl.

★ ★ ★

Lothringer, 41, and his attractive secretary, Theresa Carillo, 24, were arrested Sunday in Andorra, a tiny state in the Pyrenees on the French-Spanish border. They were jailed in Perpignan, 65 miles to the east in France.

Queens County Dist. Atty. Philip Chetta flew from New York Monday night and said he would try to get Lothringer and Miss Carillo to return voluntarily.

★ ★ ★

French police said the arrests followed a Europe-wide alert from Interpol, the international police organization. The couple disappeared three months ago, a few days before parts of the dismembered body of Barbara Lofrumento and the remains of an unborn baby were found in the sewer of Lothringer's $75,000 office-home in Queens.

Lothringer, described by U.S. authorities as a member of a New York abortion ring, was held on a warrant charging him with a 1961 abortion prior to Miss Lofrumento's death.

No charges were filed against Miss Carillo, a former airline hostess described by authorities as the doctor's girl friend.

U.S. authorities said Miss Lofrumento was taken to Lothringer by her parents, who paid $500 in advance for the abortion. When the parents later sought the girl, she and the doctor had disappeared.

Bobwhite quail are found in small coveys and prefer fairly open, cultivated or pasture land with patches of brush for shelter.

Monday Rally Doesn't Carry Over

Stocks Mixed in Slow Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market settled into a mixed price pattern in slow trading early today.

There was a tendency for some key issues to dip but most changes were extremely narrow.

Russia's warning to the United States on the Cuban situation was one more foreign news development with which investors had to contend.

UNSTEADYING INFLUENCE

A few of the higher-priced issues showed early losses of more than a point. These included IBM, down more than 2, and Polaroid, off about 1½.

Other rails were mixed, however, with Southern Railway and C&O gaining a bit and Santa Fe losing a fraction.

Bond Mart Prices Lazy

★ ★ ★

An over the Counter dealer in U.S. Treasury issues quoted some distant maturities unchanged to 2/32 higher, intermediates unchanged to 1/32 higher and short term issues mostly unchanged.

Leading the advance was a 1-point gain to 63½ by Trans World Airlines 6½s of 1978F. Armour 5s of 1984F rose ½ at 90 and General Motors Acceptance 5s of 1977 rose ⅝ at 106.

Move to Speed New Trade Bill

Senate Group Pointing for Friday Release of Revised Measure

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee goes back to work on President Kennedy's trade expansion bill today with hopes for an adjournment this month apparently hinging on how fast it can get the job done.

★ ★ ★

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va. told newsmen he would do his best to get the bill out of committee by Friday. He said he hopes to hold morning and afternoon sessions.

Senate supporters of the administration trade bill were hopeful they would be able to give Kennedy the broad new tariff-cutting powers and other authority he asked, as the House did earlier this year.

★ ★ ★

LAID ASIDE

The Finance Committee began voting on the trade bill on Aug. 23 but laid it aside so that members could take part in the two-week floor debate on Kennedy's tax revision measure.

If the trade bill can be brought up for floor action next week, leaders in both branches said they would drive to wind up the 1962 session by Sept. 29.

★ ★ ★

The Senate passed by a 45-22 vote Monday another of the must items on President Kennedy's legislative list and sent it to him to sign into law. The bill authorizes the President to spend $900 million on short-range public works projects to combat unemployment.

★ ★ ★

The measure was approved exactly as the House had passed it last month, including a clerical error. Senate Democrats feared that if it was returned for correction it would be blocked in a House committee or otherwise delayed.

Grain Futures Prices Show Small Drop

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices eased into general weakness today in quiet early transactions on the board of trade.

★ ★ ★

Setbacks were held mostly to small fractions during the first several minutes, however, with offerings described as light.

Brokers said there appeared to be no tendency to press the short side very strongly with the government's September crop report to be issued after the close of today's trading.

★ ★ ★

Speculators usually preferred to even up positions in the hours prior to such government reports. Indications were that some transactions were in that direction.

Do Funds Affect Ma[illegible] Officials Debate Issue

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Widening popularity of stock ownership among Americans—either as individuals or collectively through mutual funds or pension funds—can in itself have been a factor in the sharp ups and downs in stock prices that have this year confused many of the new owners.

★ ★ ★

The large inflow of individual savings into the funds and then into the markets helped boost prices, some economists hold. And then this year switching of issues has added to the unsettlement.

★ ★ ★

Statisticians say that the buying and selling policies of the mutual funds, and even more of the pension funds, are giving the market a new look. Part of the funds' buying of stocks was compulsive, they hold, because the funds themselves were growing so fast and had to put money to work.

FUNDS ON DEFENSE

Mutual fund managers stoutly rejected any implication that the operation of the funds hasn't been to the best interest of their shareholders, or that their stock market activities caused the price breaks in May and June or the dawdling of the market in recent days.

Contending that mutual fund purchases significantly affected price movements of individual stocks is Douglas Vickers, one of the University of Pennsylvania professors who worked on the controversial Wharton School survey of mutual fund performances for the Securities & Exchange Commission.

★ ★ ★

Even more influential is stock buying by the pension funds, says Vito Natrella, assistant director of the SEC division of trading and exchanges.

★ ★ ★

And the flow of mutual and pension fund money into the stock market also has affected flotation of new issues of stocks and bonds, both hold. When the funds support prices on the market by their purchases, they say, a greater offering of new issues has followed. When the funds sell, offerings dwindle.

Vickers says funds tend to buy on balance prior to upswings and to sell on balance prior to downswings. Since this is what investors in mutual fund shares expect from expert management, they can't quarrel with that.

ONE FACTOR

But Vickers' contention is that such buying or selling seems to have contributed to the changes, whether up or down. So the growing holdings of common stocks by the funds in recent years has added another and important factor to the many that the individual investor must take into account when assessing his own portfolio.

Natrella says the pension funds are really the most influential institutional group in the stock market, since they have been growing spectacularly since 1950 and are putting more than half of their new receipts into common stocks. Such purchases increased a bit in the first half of this year despite the faltering of the market.

The pension fund money flows into stock more regularly than assets of the mutual funds, Natrella says. Since they often concentrate on the popular issues, their holdings tend to cut the floating supply of these stocks. The resultant thin market is credited with causing some of the wide swings in prices that have characterized the market in recent months.

Both Vickers and Natrella offered their findings as statistics and nothing more — no accusations, no recommendations.

But the validity of the findings may be disputed and any implications challenged by the funds—depositories for the savings of millions of Americans.

'Could Be Better'

Profits, Incomes Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges announced today new records for corporate profits and personal income.

He described thim as "not entirely satisfactory but still good."

Hodges told a news conference that before-tax profits of corporations reached a peak annual rate of $50.9 billion in the April-June quarter. The January-March rate was $50.1 billion and some observers had been dubious that the second quarter would be able to show much of a gain because of sluggishness in the economy.

The commerce chief also reported that personal income—the income of individual Americans — rose by $1 billion in August to a record annual rate of $443 billion.

Hodges, while xpressing the view that e ould have preferred even stronger showings in profits and income, said he foresees good business at least through Christmas.

BUSINESS BETTR

"I'm inclined to think business has picked up a bit," he commented. "July and August are encouraging. Over the short-term, I think business is going to remain good."

Although corporate profits showed a second-quarter gain, the secretary described the "profits squeeze" of which businessmen complain as "still one of the larger problems facing the nation as a whole."

He said the April-June profits rate was "not anything like what it ought to be if we are to get funds for investment."

Most of the important monthly measures of the economy will be made public by the end of the week. Hodges' department had announced yesterday that retail sales dropped by $100 million in August, to $19.6 billion. This decline o about one-half of 1 per cent followed a 3 per cent advance in July.

On other subjects, Hodges said:

—He hopes President Kennedy's tax-cut legislation, which will go to Congress early next year, will be "simple and not too complicated, so we can get it without too much delay."

—He expects the administration's major tariff-cutting and trade bill will emerge from the Senate "pretty much as the President wants it," and very similar to the bill already passed by the House.

—He believes business suspicion of the Kennedy administration has been greatly reduced in recent weeks. He no longer hears businessmen complain directly about last April's steel-price crisis.

★ ★ ★

—The United States is seeking "better agreement with our Allies" on what types of goods will be shipped to Iron Curtain customers.

—He believes Kennedy was disappointed by last week's tariff-commission recommendations against increasing duties on imports of cotton-textile products. And some other well-posted sources say the President was not at all disappointed.

Business Notes

Van der Meer

Van der Meer, former assistant director of public information, will be responsible for implementing the company's preparedness program and for coordinating plans throughout principal departments to maintain operations in event of emergencies.

The new civil defense head has been with Edison since 1939 except for a two-year leave of absence from 1954-56 when he directed the organization of a public relations program for the Brazilian Traction-Light and Power Co., South America's largest electrical utility outfit.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q: "I am 80 and in poor health; my wife is 62 and in good health. We own a $16,000 house with a $3,400 mortgage. My income is only $90 a month, and we are literally eating up our savings. Should we sell our home and live off the proceeds or place another $10,000 mortgae on it at 6 per cent, using this money for eating expenses? I'm in a heck of a fix." L. J.

A. You are indeed, and I'm profoundly sorry for you and all others who find themselves in your predicament. There is, unfortunately, no pat answer to your very serious problem. A joint annuity — because of your wife's relatively young age — would not take care of you.

I think in your position I would sell my house outright for a lump sum. I suggest that you live on that and your other savings until the total has dropped to a level where you can apply for Old-Age Assistance. That may hurt your pride, but I know of no other solution.

Q. "In a recent column, you made a mistake regarding American Telephone convertible debentures. The conversion price is $47 1-3 per share, but the important point is that conversion is through tender of debentures plus a cash payment. Each $1,000 bond is convertible into 30 shares of common upon payment of $420 in cash. Actually, this means the bonds are selling virtually on conversion parity." R. W.

A. You are entirely right, and I apologize for a factual error which was due to unwarranted carelessness with a slide rule. American Telephone convertible 4¼'s sell at around 309. Each $1,000 bond would cost $3,090, and $420 added to this figure would allow conversion into 30 shares at a total cost of $3,510. At recent market the 30 shares of Telephone were worth around $3,400, so that no large premium is attached to the conversion privilege.

I am very grateful to you for bringing this mistake to my attention.

J. L. Hudson Co. Opening Store on 12-Mile Road

At a press preview at the new store yesterday, Joseph L. Hudson Jr., company president, said that "experience gained in the Hudson's Budget Store at Pontiac Mall will undoubtedly aid in operation of the new store."

The one-story structure will house 75 selling departments and operate largely on a self-serve basis with checkout counters, much like the Pontiac Mall store.

One of the largest of Hudson's Budget Stores, it will offer more than 60,000 square feet of selling area, free parking for 2,000 cars, kiddie rides and a food bar. Store hours will be 9:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. Monday through Saturday.

A&P to Revamp Dixie Hwy. Store

An extensive remodeling and expansion program in A & P Food Stores' supermarket at 4724 Dixie Highway in Drayton Plains was announced today by Vice President Edward J. Vogel.

The present building will be converted to A & P's Early American design, which has been symbolic of the company's stores in recent years.

An addition to the building will provide more than 25 per cent more floor space.

The revamped supermarket will incorporate modern equipment throughout the store, including automatic doors, new mirrored bakery department and power check-out system.

The renovation program is scheduled for completion some time in December, Vogel said.
