Dems to Ask Overhaul

LANSING (U) — The Democratic party will call for a thorough overhaul of election procedures and laws after the current recount of the new constitution is complete — regardless of the outcome.

Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency indicated in a speech in Marshall yesterday that his party holds out little hope of overturning the result by which the document was approved by voters April 1.

But he said ballot box irregularities discovered by recount teams are turning the procedure into "a complete farce" and added:

"When this recount is finished, we intend to issue a full and detailed report and analysis of our findings. Present indications are that it is going to make disturbing reading."

U.S. Assures India of Military Assistance

WASHINGTON (U) — The United States has given the Indian government assurances of long-range assistance in building up Indian armed forces to discourage any future attack by Red China and defend the country if the Reds do attack.

The long-range military aid, going beyond the present U.S.-British $120-million emergency program, will be tailored to strengthen India's permanent defense capacity, and presumably will be geared to an Indian army of at least 22 divisions.

In those short range emergency program, the United States and Britain are working to enlarge India's air transport, and other logistics capacity, and to bring six divisions of the present Indian army up to full strength as mountain-defense divisions, heavily armed with modern weapons and highly mobile.

Also under the short-range program, the United States is delivering 24 C119 transport aircraft to India to supplement the fleet of 50 of the cargo planes sold to India sometime back.

These are among the points nailed down, or projected into the longer future, during talks in Washington this week between India's defense and economic minister, T. T. Krishnamachari, and Kennedy administration officials. He talked particularly with President Kennedy, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

4-Point Plan Will Beef Up Defense Power

Okays Communique About Red Pressures in Cuba, Berlin, Laos

OTTAWA, Ont. (U) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations today ended a three-day parley with an agreed program to beef up the nuclear power of their forces.

A communique approved by the North Atlantic Council of Ministers also expressed disquiet about continuing Communist pressures in Cuba, Laos and Berlin.

The declaration warned that the presence of Soviet military personnel in Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's island is producing repercussions throughout the Caribbean area which still give cause for concern.

The ministers reaffirmed their resolve to defend West Berlin against any outside attack, just as if the divided and isolated city were part of their own territory.

A four-point program set forth in the communique heralded a new phase of North American-European cooperation in nuclear weaponry and it spelled out these moves:

• The assignment of Britain's V-bomber force and three American Polaris submarines, with their H-weapons, to Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, supreme Allied commander, Europe.

• Establishment by Lemnitzer at his headquarters near Paris of a deputy to take charge of nuclear affairs. The deputy has not yet been chosen although a Dutch general is being considered for the post.

• Arrangements for NATO member states to participate in nuclear activities in Allied commands and in coordination of operational planning at Omaha, Neb., headquarters of the U.S. Strategic Air Command.

• Interchange of fuller nuclear information from member countries, both in a military and policy sense.

The joint communique, which is expected to win formal approval of the NATO foreign ministers, said the four measures had been designed to:

"Increase the effectiveness of the nuclear capability at the disposal of the Alliance and to improve coordination and control of its nuclear deterrent forces."

The statement had been carefully negotiated between France and her partners during the past several weeks.

Ill-Matched Panels Stall Auditorium

Completion of the Oakland County Service Center auditorium, slated for June 15, will be delayed until September, Robert Lilly, secretary of the County Board of Auditors, announced today.

The delay resulted with the arrival of 50 ill-matched mahogany veneer panels from a Wisconsin mill, said Lilly.

The 4-by-16-foot panels, costing several thousand dollars, were meant to provide the finishing surface of inner walls of the nearly completed $600,000 auditorium.

However, it was discovered that the grain of the mahogany veneer failed to match in each instance.

The matching is important because the panels are to be lightly varnished, letting the natural grain show through.

Lilly said the panels will be replaced at no financial loss to the county. "The cost of replacement will be borne by the contractor," he said.

NEW PANELS According to County Engineer Joseph Joachim, new panels are expected from the Egger Plywood Co. mill at Two Rivers, Wis., in four or five weeks.

The additional delay results because other phases of final construction must wait until the new panels, said Joachim. Being held up are the laying of carpeting, installation of seating and final trim work.

Lilly said the error resulted from improper ordering by the contractor.

"The delay won't hurt the county too badly because we have few summer meetings," noted Lilly.

The 132-seat auditorium is intended primarily to serve the County Board of Supervisors.

The facility also will be available for other groups acting in the general interest of the community, according to the board.

Requests Order to Bar Wallace

U.S. Asks Ruling on Segregationist Threat

By United Press International A federal court in Birmingham, Ala., today was asked to issue an injunction blocking Gov. George Wallace from carrying out his vow to "stand in the school house door" when two Negroes enter the University of Alabama June 10.

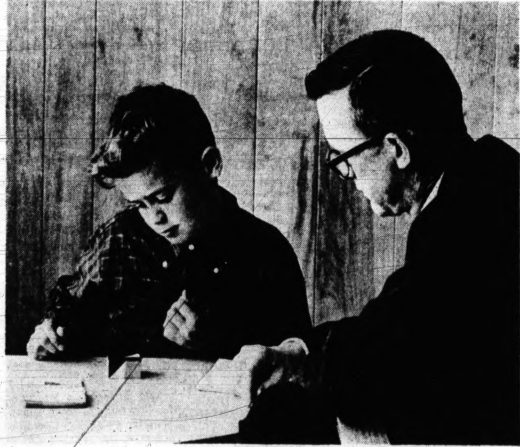

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced in Washington that an immediate court suit was desired on Wallace's announced position of "legal resistance and order defiance" of federal court orders to admit the two Negroes.

Federal Judge Saybourn H. Lynne set a hearing for June 3 to show cause why the injunction sought by the government should not be issued.

The federal complaint asked for both preliminary and permanent injunctions preventing Wallace, his agents, employees, subordinates or successors from interfering with the enrollment and attendance of qualified Negroes at the university.

This would include not only Vivian Malone and David McIlwain, who are scheduled to start the summer term next month, but any qualified Negro student.

Teachers' Pay Hiked

Salary boosts of $170 to $390 two-year agreement with the teachers' board last night by the Joint Teachers' Salary Committee.

The pay boosts, which take effect in 1963-64, were part of a

The committee is made up of teachers from the Pontiac Education Association and the Pontiac Federation of Teachers.

The new salary schedule raises the base pay of teachers with a bachelors degree from $4,830 to $5,000. Teachers already receive annual increments of 4 1/2 per cent to 8 per cent of their base pay.

School Supt. Dana P. Whitmer estimated the total cost of the pay increases at $211,601.

Whitmer said the new schedule would provide stability in teacher salary costs for two years. He said this would assist in financial planning by the school district.

COST-OF-LIVING ALLOWANCE

The two-year pact also includes a cost-of-living allowance in 1964-65. This would be calculated according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U.S. Department of Labor.

"The provision of a cost-of-living allowance," Whitmer added, "will prevent erosion of the 'real dollar earnings' of teachers during the second year of this period."

Whitmer said the schedule would improve the competitive position of Pontiac among metropolitan Detroit area school districts.

Under the new salary schedule, Pontiac will rank 29th out of 60 school districts at the bachelors degree minimum. The high for the area was put at $5,300 and the low at $4,350.

The school superintendent told the school board that the two-year agreement resulted from a series of bargaining sessions with the teachers' salary committee.

The World at a Glance

From Our News Wires

MOUNT CLEMENS — Macomb County Prosecutor George Paris today issued arrest warrants for two men he said made an illegal $1,000 contribution to the state Democratic party. (Earlier story, Page A-1.)

MONTPELLIER, Vt. — Police and more than 300 rioting Norwich University cadets traded blows for an hour last night as violence erupted during a party held at Vermont College, a 500-student girls school. Police fired warning shots and tear gas grenades at the height of the riot.

The school board increased the pay from $3 to $4 per day. Whitmer estimated the total cost of the increase for the first semester of this year at $7,041. He said the total cost for one year would run about $18,775, including summer school. This would be an increase of $4,689 over the present costs.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Ceylon today urged the United States and Russia to begin high-level talks aimed at resolving the U.N. financial crisis.

KATMANDU, Nepal — The American Everest expedition asked today for an emergency helicopter flight to take Barry C. Bishop and William U. S. Bishop to a hospital in Katmandu. A radio report from the base camp said they were frostbitten on all their toes during a night spent without shelter 25,000 feet up.

WASHINGTON — The House Education Committee approved today a bill to continue federal aid to "impacted" school districts but only if they desegregate their schools.

The officials said the condition of the 81-year-old Roman Catholic ruler was satisfactory and that he clearly was showing a steady gain of energy.

But the officials cautiously avoided speaking of a complete recovery. It was clear that they still were concerned that he might suffer a relapse again.

ALTERNATING PERIODS — His illness—anaemia and a stomach disorder believed to be cancer or cancer with hemorrhaging—has been marked by alternating periods of strength and weakness.

A Vatican official said Archbishop Agostino Dell'Aquila, Vatican substitute secretary of state, was with the Pope briefly this morning.

It was understood that the archbishop visited the pontiff on a current business matter.

The Pope's health—his causing concern for the future of the Vatican—has been a subject of speculation as the pontiff's health has been regarded as the climactic event of his reign.

Worried clerical circles said that if the Pope remains in poor health, there is little chance that he will resume on schedule Sept. 8. Should he die, the great assembly of bishops he launched last fall would be suspended automatically until a successor decided whether to reconvene it or to let it lapse.

The ailing pontiff began a nine-day spiritual retreat, or novena, today in preparation for Pentecost Sunday June 2. Physicians hoped the period of rest would help the Pope regain his strength.

Dr. Piero Mazzoni, the Pope's regular physician, kept the vigil for the third night inside the apostolic palace as the spiritual ruler rallied slowly from his latest setback.

The Pope reportedly has been getting abundant rest since Tuesday night, when he suffered a serious relapse and received the biggest of several blood transfusions administered since he was first stricken last November.

There is mounting concern whether the pontiff's uncertain health will permit the 2,300 fathers of the Ecumenical Council to return to Rome in September and finish their sessions by Christmas.

some skepticism as they waited for some "direct progress" in race relations from the administration of new Mayor Albert Boutwell.

In Jackson, Miss., Negro leaders called off plans for a news conference to announce whether civil rights demonstrations would be held in the Mississippi capital. Instead, a spokesman said, there would be no forwarding on the demonstrations and they could begin as early as Saturday.

Boutwell and a nine-man city council took over the city government yesterday, replacing a hard-core segregationist board of three commissioners.

Each group had claimed to be the legal government of the steel city following a change-of-government election.

The Alabama Supreme Court yesterday ousted the commissioners who had refused to relinquish power because of an apparent conflict in election laws.

CALL FOR SUPPORT

The new City Council immediately called upon Birmingham citizens for support and pledged to maintain order and work for solutions to Birmingham's racial problems.

Boutwell said the new government's attitude "will be sympathetic to harmonious solution to all problems."

Negro leader Martin Luther King Jr. said he was encouraged by Boutwell's statement and a top King aide, the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, said Negroes "look to the Boutwell administration for direct progress in the area of race relations."

Nearly 2,000 Negroes marched in Greensboro and Raleigh last night in demonstrations protesting segregation customs.

More than 1,400 marched through Greensboro in the 11th straight day of anti-segregation demonstrations.

Three Negro couples were arrested here during attempts to enter a segregated hotel. The first time hotels have been the targets in anti-segregation protests. Approximately 300 Negroes marched through downtown Raleigh singing an integration song.

Consent by that committee was required under the constitution of the Church before performing the marriage.

Minister Who

Married Rocky

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — The Presbyterian minister who married George Nelson A. Rockefeller to the former Margaretta F. Rockefeller was formally censured today by a board of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

The Rev. Marshall L. Smith was accused of failing to obtain the required permission of his presbytery to marry a person divorced less than a year. Rockefeller's bride received her decree on April 1.

The censure was the lightest of all five possible penalties that could have been meted out. The most severe was expulsion.

In a statement released following a hearing before 75 members of the presbytery of the Hudson River, the Rev. Mr. Smith confessed "his deep regrets at having failed to ask for advice and counsel of the presbytery's committee on Christian marriage."

Consent by that committee was required under the constitution of the Church before performing the marriage.

Seek Link to Liquor License OK

DETROIT (AP) — The attorney general's office and the state police are investigating a $1,000 contribution made last fall to the Democratic State Central Committee by the owners of a Roseville bar.

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley confirmed yesterday that the investigation is being conducted into the contribution made by Continental Lanes, Inc., last October shortly after the State Liquor Control Commission approved transfer of a liquor license to the corporation.

In addition, another contribution of $300, made at the same time, went to the Democratic party. It reportedly wound up in the campaign fund of a Macomb County Democratic candidate.

The attorney general said his staff is working with Macomb County Prosecutor George Paris. He added that he expected some action to be taken in the near future.

The $1,000 contribution was uncovered in a recent general investigation of liquor licenses in Macomb County.

$224,132 Budget Approved in Wixom

WIXOM—A $24,600 capital outlay allotment has been included in Wixom's new $224,132 budget adopted by the City Council last night.

The tax levy will be 6.26 mills. Last year's 5.88 mills supported a $204,099 budget.

Largest item on the capital outlay list is $75,000 needed to match a federal grant for the improvement of Wixom's three major roads.

Bids on the $150,000 job are to be opened June 4. The project will include the paving of West, Leon Lake and Beck roads.

The city plans to spend $3,500 for a city hall parking lot and $3,500 to acquire recreational land and transfer $12,000 to the capital improvement account.

Councilmen approved the figures after a public hearing attended by approximately 30 persons.

Breakdown of the budget includes $19,320 for general government, $17,000 for general operation, $9,140 for staff agencies, $30,618 for the police department, $5,000 for the fire department, $34,618 for the public works department, $10,958 for services, $24,600 for capital outlay and $4,000 for the contingency reserve.

Every city employee is to receive a $100-to-$200 raise this year.

Wheat Defeat Draws Praise

LANSING — The president of the Conservative Federation of Michigan believes the defeat of the Democratic administration's wheat program in Tuesday's referendum "is the first substantial setback dealt the proponents of bureaucratic planning in 30 years."

The federation has resolved to back Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Arizona, for the Republican nomination for president.

In a statement, Federation Chief Arthur J. Brandt Jr. of 612 Kennesaw, Birmingham, said the defeat "may well portend the ultimate rejection by the American people of all forms of statism and Socialistic experimentation."

Michigan's wheat growers showed only 30 per cent approval of the plan, which required a two-thirds national majority to take effect. The national vote was 47.8 in favor.

"We believe the American people have finally rebelled at both the philosophy and the immoral intervention of government," Brandt added.

"The Michigan Farm Bureau and other organizations and individuals who opposed the slavery inherent in the Kennedy-Freeman proposal are to be congratulated."

"... We urge every citizen of Michigan to unite against every effort to impose governmental controls over individual initiative, and to repeal all existing legislation which substitutes federal authority for the constitutionally guaranteed rights of individuals and of states," Brandt concluded.

Also working on preparation for the celebration was Ted Creque, associated with the Lafayette Tool & Die Co.; Merritt F. Cooley, Cooley Soft Water Co. and Donald J. Campbell, publisher of the Holly Herald-Advertiser.

The activities will be climaxed by a Coronation Ball on July 6, at which the queen and her court will be honored.

Fireworks, bonfires and old-time displays will also highlight the gala three-day affair.

General chairman of the event is Andy Priemer, co-owner of the Four Seasons Inn.

Other committee members include John P. Oldani, Holly Village president; Seeley Tinsman, township supervisor; and Clarence Lester, president of the board of commerce.

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—One of the most recognizable and least known things in our life today is the American flag.

We get an automatic lift of heart whenever we see that banner in the sky take each passing breeze in grandeur. Our inborn patriotism seizes us by the throat, particularly if a band is passing by with drums beating and bugles blowing.

But who can sit down and describe it? Very few of us.

Let us consider a few questions about it.

If you ask the average American what are the colors in his flag, he will immediately reply, "red, white and blue"—and look be 48, 49 or 50.

If you ask him what are the colors of the stripes, he will reply "red and white."

If you ask him how many stripes there are, after a dutiful search of his grammar school history memories, he'll reply, "thirteen—one for each of the original colonies."

So far, so good. Now ask him, how many red stripes are there, and how many white stripes?

After a long and doubtful mental consultation with himself, he may—eight out of ten—come up with the correct answer—seven red stripes, six white stripes.

AND THE STARS?

Well, you say, if the stripes are red and white, what color are the stars? The chances are that he will answer, without thinking, that the stars are blue.

If you point out that the stars are actually white against a blue background, he will begin to get mad.

Then, if you inquire how many stars there are in the flag, he'll begin to think you are making a fool of him. But his answer may be 48, 49 or 50. If he happens to give the correct answer, which at the moment is 50, you will hardly fluster him by asking him if he can draw the proper positions of the stars in the flag.

Why, that's simple," he'll say. "There are five rows down and 10 across—five times 10 are 50."

Well, in this world I guess we take many familiar things for granted. And I suppose it isn't as important to be able to draw the American flag as it is to feel its starry fingers wave in certainty above us all.

Mystery Fin Stumps Lake Erie Residents

DETROIT (AP)—People are seeing things in Lake Erie and Lake St. Clair. They aren't quite sure what they've seen, but one thing they are sure of—it's there.

The whole thing got started about four weeks ago when a Toledo, Ohio, fisherman called the office of the Marina News in Detroit to report seeing what appeared to be a sail-like fin sticking up about a foot above the water. What's more, he took a picture of it.

Since then the Marina News says it has received between 300 and 400 telephone calls from residents of the Lake Erie and Lake St. Clair areas reporting a similar sight.

All observers say they saw a "ribbed sail" which moved through the water, creating a slight wake. However, no one has been able to get a close look at the "creature" attached to the bottom of the "sail."

The reports have come from clustered areas, starting in the Lake Erie area with Toledo and gradually moving northward past Trenton and Gibraltar.

The latest reports came from the vicinity of Anchorville and Algonac, leading the observers to say the "creature" appears headed toward Lake Huron.

Several theories have been advanced. Most people believe it may be a sailfish or shark which may have entered the Great Lakes from the St. Lawrence River along with a ship.

The Marina News is just as stumped as everyone else. Plans are under way to submit the pictures taken by the Toledo man to scientists at Wayne State University in an attempt to learn what kind of a newcomer has ventured into the waters of the Great Lakes.

Utility's Atomic Plant in Pace With Progress

With foresight and $27 million, Consumers Power Co. put Michigan in front in the peaceful use of atomic energy.

The company has recently dedicated its boiling water reactor at Big Rock Point near Charlevoix. While the reactor is producing power, it is being used for experiments on extending the life of atomic material.

When another atomic plant opens near Monroe, Michigan will be the only state with two nuclear plants in operation. There are only 12 in the Nation.

It is singularly fitting that the state which contributed so much to the war efforts of this nation is leading again on the opposite front.

Consumers is to be congratulated on entering this difficult and often controversial field. It was a tremendous expenditure to even consider and indicates the company is looking far into the future, seeking cheaper power as supplies of coal and oil diminish.

Soundness of Economy Endangered by Deficits

It is with bewilderment that we have listened to and observed the shifting economic pronouncements of President JOHN F. KENNEDY.

As a candidate for president and during his early days in office, he was caustically critical of the fiscal policies and deficits of the preceding Republican administration.

Now, he defends Federal deficits—would actually contrive one—as the means to an economic end.

We agree with the Chief Executive that deficits could well be the means to an end. But unless deficits are checked, that end could be different from the one he envisages.

The end we envisage is that of our Country—as far as individual liberty, initiative and security are concerned.

Federal expenditures have exceeded revenue in 27 of the last 33 years. Over this period the Federal debt has been increased from $16.2 billion to $304 billion. Interest on the debt has risen from $659 million to $10 billion a year.

The latter figure approximates the total Federal budget in 1940.

Danger of inflation always lurks in Federal deficit financing. It is there now. The purchasing power of the dollar has dropped in every year since 1955. It is now worth about 45 cents compared with 1939.

There will be another deficit (irrespective of any proposed cut in income taxes) in the fiscal year starting July 1 unless expenditures are held to the level of revenue.

This could readily be accomplished if only the Washington bureaucracy could be indoctrinated with the WILL to cut out.

The chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Democrat Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, has performed yeoman service in keeping Federal deficits from rising higher than they are.

And he declares that the upcoming $107.9-billion budget could be feasibly trimmed at least $12 billion.

This would bring it in line with expenditures, might even provide a surplus, and would establish a base for a sound reduction in income taxes.

Hearings on the new budget are in progress, with the few voices of economy vainly crying out in the wilderness of governmental extravagance and waste.

As a taxpayer, your present well-being, and that of your descendants, is vitally affected by the fiscal concepts of the national Government.

What to do? Write, wire or call your congressional representatives. Remind them that time is money—and that the Country could well be running out of both.

Gets Brushoff by the High Court

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—The Justice Department showed how much it thinks of the request of Alabama's segregationist governor, George C. Wallace, to the Supreme Court to declare the Constitution's 14th Amendment null and void.

The department brushed it aside in a single paragraph in a brief filed with the court Thursday.

This amendment, adopted in 1868, has been a foundation stone for the Supreme Court in deciding many racial cases. It guarantees all citizens, whites and Negroes, due process of law and equal protection under law.

Wallace, whose slogan is "segregation forever," opposes a lower federal court order to admit two Negroes to the University of Alabama and says he himself will keep them out.

"ILLEGALLY ADOPTED" The kind of argument Wallace makes against the 14th Amendment and it has been made by others—is that it was illegally adopted during the hectic reconstruction days after the Civil War.

This kind of argument never got to first base before and it won't now.

The Justice Department's single paragraph brushoff was actually a footnote in a brief filed with the court in answer to another request by Wallace to have a law, growing out of the 14th Amendment, also knocked out.

The department said: "The challenge to the validity of the 14th Amendment presents nothing of substance. The vitality of the amendment is sufficiently attested by the hundreds of cases decided under it for the greater part of a century."

This is the reasoning behind that: LONG VALIDATED

In more than a thousand cases the court has given decisions involving due process or equal protection under the 14th Amendment. Thus, by using the amendment, the court long ago validated it.

Further, the Supreme Court has held that: Once an amendment has been officially certified as the 14th was—for instance, when Congress agrees an amendment was approved by the necessary number of states and the secretary of state certifies that it was—that ends it.

In this case on July 21, 1868, Congress passed a concurrent resolution that "three-fourths and more" of the states had ratified the 14th Amendment and that it was thereby "declared to be part of the Constitution."

On July 28, 1868, the secretary of state certified that the 14th Amendment had become law.

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes remarked that: "This decision of the political departments of the government as to the validity of the 14th Amendment has been accepted."

But the Justice Department spent the rest of its brief on the second move Wallace made to get a law dating back to 1871—Article 16, Section 33 of the U. S. Code—declared unconstitutional.

Under this law a President can send troops into a state where there is "domestic violence" that hinders the execution of the laws of the United States.

For example if there should be a race riot in Alabama, where whites control the police, the President might decide that Negroes might be denied equal protection guaranteed them by the 14th Amendment.

In such a case the President, if he felt local authorities wouldn't or couldn't handle the situation, could send in troops. Recently there was a riot in Birmingham. After the riot Kennedy sent troops into Alabama.

Who Will Have The Last Word?

David Lawrence Says:

Now Even Judges Contradict Law

WASHINGTON—When there's a confused judiciary, there's bound to be a confused public. And how can anyone tell what "the law of the land" really is today when the judges themselves contradict each other in a matter of a few hours?

Thus, the first editions of two New York City LAWRENCE newspapers—which reach many subscribers or news stand buyers in Washington—said in their headlines Thursday morning:

"U. S. Judge Rejects Appeal to Reinstate Birmingham Pupils"—New York Times.

"Court Won't Bar Pupil Orders"—New York Herald Tribune.

Yet this wasn't the fact very long. A few hours later, these same newspapers were telling their readers in later editions in New York City that a U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals judge had, on the same day, overturned the earlier ruling.

The case in question arose when the board of education of the city of Birmingham ordered the suspension of the 1,081 Negro students in the public schools who had been arrested on May 7, during street demonstrations, on the charge of parading without a permit.

The city's policy has been to take such action against any student who is arrested for any reason until the charges are disposed of in the courts.

U. S. District Judge Clarence W. Allgood, who was appointed by President Kennedy, issued a ruling in which he said:

"This court feels that the board of education of the City of Birmingham has no interference from this court so long as it stays in reasonable bounds."

THEN, LATER

A few hours later on Wednesday evening, Judge Elbert P. Tuttle, of the Fifth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, issued a ruling at Atlanta, Ga., ordering the Birmingham school superintendent to tell the suspended pupils they could return to their classes yesterday morning even if the school superintendent had to advise them over the radio.

Judge Tuttle said his order does not affect the right of school officials to discipline any students for "acts of actual violence or actual breaches of the peace other than parading without a permit."

He declared that the students were "illegally arrested for exercising this constitutional right."

So now the federal judiciary, in effect, takes charge of a city's educational system and decided how children shall be disciplined. Yet there isn't a word in the Constitution which gives the Federal government any such power over the educational system in any state.

But the confusion isn't confined to the South just across the Potomac from Washington, another Federal judge, Oren R. Lewis, handed down a decision on Wednesday which, for the first time, emphasizes "equal rights for whites."

He ordered the commissioners of the District of Columbia to give white prisoners at the Lorton Reformatory a chance to decide whether they want to sleep in an all-white dormitory or in one for both whites and Negroes.

The policy for the institution had been that only the Negro prisoners could decide for themselves whether they wanted to live in an all-Negro dormitory or an integrated one.

No such right to make a choice had been granted by jail officials to the whites.

Bob Considine Says:

Goldwater's Just Waiting for the Right Wave to Build

WASHINGTON—A Goldwater-for-President office is openly burgeoning here, not far from the White House.

The handsome Arizona Republican, a Bob Taft endowment with Bob Hope's delivery, has sought no court order to have it padlocked. He has replaced his emphatic "No!" with an emphatic "well."

"Twice ever thus. The senator is experiencing just now the sensation and the phenomenon familiar to those who have done any surfboard riding off Waikiki Beach."

He has laboriously paddled his board from the beach to that point offshore where wavelets are born that have some prospects of developing into the marvelous onrushing wave that supports one of the most thrilling, exhilarating and exhausting rides on earth.

He has had to paddle through several such waves on the way, ducking beneath the punishing water mountains from time to time to avoid decapitation, then paddling on.

Now, poised in an area which he himself must decide is the proper place to wait for the big swell, he must keep a sharp eye out for signs, omens, hints, promises.

If he accepts one tiny suggestion of a great-wave-to-be, he counts himself to it, he does so with the sure knowledge (having been in those parts before) that it may dissolve into nothingness, evaporate into the anonymity of the sea long before the time and distance when it would know greatness.

Then, wallowing in the water, he would be forced to duck under again, as a great wave rolled over him, carrying a surfer who knew the ropes—and the waves—better than he.

When former Gov. Goody Knight of Alabama nonrepotently opened a Rockefeller-for-President headquarters he was promptly slapped down by Rocky.

Sen. Goldwater's decision not to do the same thing to his friend and admirer, Peter O'Donnell—the enthusiastic young Texan who is behind the opening of the Washington HQ—speaks for itself.

The senator is sensibly measuring those wavelets, not too impressed, not too unimpressed, by each that comes his way and offers the prospect of a rip tide.

This is the tide of the times and events that few men can successfully oppose by word or deed, and when they try they are not believed.

It is a tide that swells every four years in our land, sometimes spontaneously, sometimes induced, sometimes a bit of each.

But whatever its original impetus, no one questions its existence as it reaches inexorably toward its crest. It carries all before it.

If a man borrowed $20,000 to start a business and it ended up costing him over $45,000, we'd say he was the victim of mighty poor management.

We feel sorry when a man fails in a private venture. But that's a part of our free enterprise system—the freedom to take a risk in the hope of profit, but to fail if things go wrong.

Now add a string of three zeros to the figures in the first paragraph. In other words, a $20 million loan which ended up costing $45 million.

The victim in this case is you, and millions of other American taxpayers.

This is just one example of a costly burden that a branch of government socialism puts on you. Specifically, the Rural Electrification Administration (REA).

The government lends money to REA to build generating and transmission facilities. In many cases, these facilities duplicate private, investor-owned utilities. They compete unfairly.

The REA cooperatives pay only 2 per cent interest to the U. S. Treasury on money which costs the Treasury 4 per cent.

You and other taxpayers pay half the interest cost.

The cooperatives also are exempt from federal income taxes and a sizable portion of state and local taxes. Again, taxpayers generally have to share the burden of the taxes the cooperatives avoid.

Another example of waste is a $60 million loan made to a group of 16 Indiana electric cooperatives. The region already is being

Good Reply

The Tallahassee Democrat

The Governor of Connecticut was winking for it when he wired the Governor of Alabama that he was deeply dismayed by the racial difficulties and we have an idea that some Connecticut citizens share our satisfaction with the way their Governor was told to mind his own business.

Gov. George C. Wallace promptly wired Gov. John N. Dempsey of Connecticut: "I recognize that your telegram to us this date will serve some purpose in your local political ambitions, but my reaction to it is simply to ask you to mind your own affairs."

I assume that the State of Connecticut has ample problems to occupy your interests and talents."

Governor Wallace might have suggested that Governor Dempsey sit down and read thoughtfully from pages 67 to 84 of the 1961 Fifty-First State of Connecticut Report on Civil Rights.

It was written by eight prominent Connecticut men and women about racial discrimination in Connecticut.

"Connecticut must rank near the top of the list of States whose policies and attitudes toward integration, and whose opposition to discrimination may be classed as enlightened."

A poll has just revealed that a third of the white people didn't want integration in public places, three-fourths opposed integration in private restaurants, and 50 per cent expressed some reservations about all-out integration.

"Educational institutions do not practice discrimination, yet 1,700 graduates from the University of Connecticut in 1960, just two were Negroes," the committee reported.

As the Governor of Alabama pointedly put it, there seem to be enough racial problems at home to occupy the interests and talents of the Governor of Connecticut since he is so concerned about the damage "being done daily to the image of the United States in the eyes of people abroad."

We Southerners have our difficulties. They have complexities far beyond the ken of most Northerners; and we feel rather deeply that we could handle them better without the meddling of those who haven't been able to solve their own comparatively simple problems in a hundred years with all the laws they would impose on us.

To Get Advice on Traffic Toll

LANSING (P) — Suggestions on how to cut Michigan's growing traffic death toll, gathered from safety experts, will be presented to Gov. George Romney the first week in June.

Secretary of State James Hare, acting as chairman of the State Safety Commission, asked for the advice.

The general trend of answers indicates the experts feel the situation is going to become worse before it becomes better; that the death and injury rate will continue to soar, Hare said.

"Almost all of them indicate a deep concern over how to take fast action that would bring about an improvement before the end of the year," he said. "Almost all of them express a concern about the younger drivers, the condition of the cars on the highways and the need for stronger enforcement through road patrols."

Ike Laments Moral Decay of the Nation

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower sees a "seemingly widespread deterioration in our moral strength. Addressing the American Iron and Steel Institute Thursday night he said:

"We seem to be losing our capacity to bear our own responsibilities unflinchingly. That is, to stand solidly for what we know in our hearts to be right, decent and fair, and important to the nation's future."

"How are we to set about the enlightenment of a population when we see so many special groups eagerly embracing the cloaking effects of governmental subsidy at the expense of others and the loss of their own self-reliance?"

The former president received the Institute's first Benjamin F. Fairless Memorial Medal, awarded in memory of the onetime chairman of U.S. Steel who was president of the institute when he died last year.

Medical Services Intended for Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (P) — The Thomas Dooley Foundation will expand its medical operations to southern Laos.

Miss Zola Z. Watson of Portland, Ore., director of nurses for the foundation, announced today the Laotian government has given the organization permission to operate a 60-bed hospital at Thakhek, 180 miles southeast of Vientiane.

The foundation will also minister to the sick in adjoining rural zones.

The foundation is now running only a 14-bed hospital at Ban Houei Sai, in the remote north-west corner of Laos.

FLINT (P) — Carlton Bramlet, 31, was elected chairman of the Genesee County Democratic Committee yesterday, succeeding John T. Damm, who resigned to devote full time to his law practice.

Social Worker Killed as Result of Bomb Scare

OTTAWA (AP) — Louis Doucette, 26, a social worker, was killed in an elevator accident during evacuation of a downtown office building as a result of a phony bomb threat.

Police ordered all persons out of the seven-story building Thursday after a man speaking English with a French accent telephoned that there was "something" between the building and the Union Station next door.

When the crowded elevator stuck between the second and third floors, Doucette climbed through a ceiling escape hatch and was crushed when the elevator moved.

Police found no explosives. The underground Quebec Liberation Front, advocating secession of French-speaking Quebec from Canada, has staged a number of bombings in Quebec Province.

State Woman Thrown From Her Car, Killed

DECATUR (P) — Ruth Firestone, 45, of rural Dowagiac, was thrown from her car and killed yesterday when the vehicle struck a bridge guard post on M40 three miles west of here, state police said.

The victim, who was alone in the car, apparently lost control of the vehicle, officers said.

'Mobile Courts' New Terror for Red-Held Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Officially, they are "mobile courts" but the Cuban people call them "death on wheels."

This new type of court is taken by truck to spots where anti-Castroes are caught, and usually decrees death, Dr. Hector Carrio, a lawyer who recently fled Cuba, said today.

Comprising the courts, Carrio said, are five men named by Fidel Castro's militia and usually without legal knowledge.

"After a short procedure, they carry out the penalty asked by the prosecutor who always is a Communist lawyer," said Carrio.

35 Murdered Martyrs

Africa's First Saints Will Be Canonized

PORT PORTAL, Uganda (AP)—Africa's first saints below the Sahara are expected to be canonized later this year in Rome. They are the Uganda martyrs—22 Roman Catholic boys who, with 13 Protestant youngsters, died for the Christian faith between 1885 and 1887 in this middle-Africa country.

No exact date has been set for the canonization of the Catholic martyrs. However, the Vatican has said it expects the ceremony will take place after bishops gather from all over the world for the second session of the Vatican Council. The second session begins in September.

The story of the Uganda martyrs is one of the most stirring episodes in the annals of Christianity in Africa. It is also one in which both Catholics and Protestants take pride.

The youngsters were slain shortly after the white man first came to Uganda and Central Africa. British explorers were followed by missionaries of both faiths, the Protestants arriving in Uganda in 1877, and the Catholic missionaries, the White Fathers, in 1879.

The central and most powerful native figure at the time was the kabaka (or king) of Buganda, the main province of Uganda.

The leading missionaries of the respective faiths were Alexander Mackay of the Protestant Church Missionary Society and Father Simon Lourdell of the Catholic White Fathers.

Christianity had a small growth in the beginning. Because the kabaka wanted the missionaries near him, however, many of the pages in the kabaka's court became Christians. It was these boys who were to later die for their faith.

Then there came a time when the Christian missionaries lost favor with the kabaka and there were various persecutions against both faiths. A new kabaka, Mwanga, crueler than his predecessor, ascended the throne. This kabaka was known for his vices and for his opposition to Christianity.

One day he ordered the pages in his court to commit acts which they felt were against the tenets of their new-found faith. The pages refused to do them. To refuse the kabaka, an absolute ruler, anything, meant death.

Most of the boys were burned to death at the stake on June 3, 1886. Others met death by various means such as clubbing and beheading, between 1885 and 1887.

Visitors to Uganda today see shrines and churches erected near Kamungongo and other areas in memory of the boys.

There have been several books and papers written about the martyrs.

Many churchmen believe the rapid spread of Christianity in Uganda was spurred by the examples of the martyrs.

In a little more than 80 years, more than half of Uganda's 6.5 million people have become Christians in one of the fastest growths of Christianity on the African continent.

UAW Strike Fund Nears $60 Million

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union expects to have more than $60 million in its strike fund for the 1964 round of contract negotiations, Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, said yesterday.

The strike fund in 1961, when present three-year contracts were negotiated, totaled about $40 million, Mazey said.

Mazey said in an interview the fund is now $52 million and increases by as much as $1.50 million a month. A portion of the dues of the UAW's more than one million members goes into the strike fund.

EAST LANSING (AP)—The traditional separation between men's and women's divisions will be discarded under a reorganization plan adopted by the Michigan State University Dean of Students Office.

a quarter of the crews now required. Sen. Clair Engle conducted the hearings of ways of increasing trade.

Pontiac School Affairs

Community College Supported

The proposed Oakland County community college received the support of the Pontiac Board of Education last night.

Urging a yes vote on all three ballot proposals June 10, the Pontiac School Board approved a resolution endorsing the new junior college.

Other action saw the school board fill a principal vacancy with a promotion. The board promoted Alexander F. Stolzman to the post at McCarrall Elementary School.

In addition, the school board assigned Richard F. Hendershott, who was hired earlier this month, as principal at Herrington Elementary School.

Stolzman, a teacher at Webster School, received his master's degree from the University of Michigan in 1961.

A former U.S. Navy administrative officer and World War II veteran, Stolzman, 41, joined the Pontiac system in 1956.

OTHER ACTION

In other action, the school board heard a report on the learning readiness program, a project to aid beginning readers at seven schools.

The program, begun in 1962, was reported on by Gerald White, director of elementary education; Arnold Embree, guidance and pupil personnel services director; Mrs. Doris Storer, reading specialist; and Mrs. Louise Fournier, special reading teacher at Bagley School.

Mrs. Storer told the board that the project emphasized the early identification of reading problems and correction with specialized instruction.

The school board approved a half-day meeting for first grade teachers the first week of June. An in-service workshop will be held to inform teachers of a new basic reading program for first grade pupils.

Another report was directed to the board by the Pontiac Education Association (PEA), a teacher organization. The PEA objected to previous reports that the fall teacher institutes were poorly attended.

The PEA submitted a lengthy report showing that Pontiac teachers were fulfilling their professional obligations.

In other action, the Pontiac School Board set the first meeting next month for June 6 at 8 p.m. The previously scheduled June 13 had conflicted with other school activities.

The school board also approved a resolution honoring the retirement of 13 employees. The board commended them for their "excellent service" to the community.

Progress reports on school construction showed that new buildings were on schedule.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Miami Beach has been named the site of the American Legion's Sept. 6-12 national convention, shifted from New Orleans because of racial problems.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Daily Exercise Important

One of the seven keys to life is daily exercise. Some form of muscular activity, equivalent to walking from three to six miles a day, is indispensable to the man or woman who wishes to build or retain vitality—that is, functional efficiency, the characteristics of youth, good looks, sense of well being, and longevity.

The title of Volumette 16 in the Pocket Cyclopaedia of Health is the doddering old geezer who conducts this health service is "The 7 Keys to Vite," for which send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope. In it are described and illustrated setting-up exercises especially suitable for persons who do not or cannot get enough general exercise walking or playing.

A man who stops work abruptly when he reaches retirement age is likely to "go to pieces" or have a kind of "breakdown," but not because of "male climacteric" or "nervous exhaustion"—that's sheer nonsense, for there's no such thing as "nerve energy" to exhaust.

The breakdown or failure is cardiovascular degeneration—heart and artery degeneration, wearing out or death of cells in heart and artery walls, which are replaced by non-functioning fibrous or scar tissue.

Abbreviation for cardiovascular degeneration is "CVD," and this is the title for Volumette 2 of the Pocket Cyclopaedia. In it I explain in what I believe is plain language how the degeneration comes about. It's yours for 35c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

As smart as the vaudevilleian's cracks about his ulcer is the familiar Yankee wisecracker's opinion that the fellow with CVD just needs to get away for a while and completely relax.

The truth is that the uninterupted relaxation the poor fellow has suffered for many years is killing him.

To compensate or counter balance for every day at the office, store, school, or shop, you need an hour or two of general exercise, work, play, or muscular activity in order to restore "tone" to the unused muscles—which, of course, includes the smooth or involuntary muscle of heart and artery walls. This recovery of muscle tone improves circulation.

Please don't think I'm just beating my gums about this! I'm trying to teach physiology. During complete relaxation, fully one-fourth of all the blood in the body may stagnate in the splanchnic pool—the vast network of veins in the abdomen and the large trunk veins of the lower limbs and the great vein (vena cava) below the diaphragm.

One effect of such stagnation of the blood is a rise or a tendency toward increase of blood pressure. If you are preoccupied with high blood pressure, courtesy of some quack, my advice is as follows:

Never mind your blood pressure. Come, take a walk with me—preferably over to the bowling green.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 500 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to: The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan. (Copyright, 1963)

Cites Influence of Computer on Future Workers

DETROIT (AP)—A Burroughs Corp. executive said yesterday that virtually every student in our public schools today will work in fields directly affected by the computer.

Ken T. Bement, vice president of marketing, said that whether this means direct "hand-on" computer work or employment in fields that rely on the computer for operating information, the coming generation's jobs will require knowledge of data processing methods.

Bement made his remarks as 1,500 of Detroit's top high school science and mathematics students prepared to tour the electronics exhibit of the American Federation of Information Processing Societies at Cobo Hall.

There Were No Jewels; They Took the Watch

We Should Stop Progressing Ourselves Into Oblivion

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — Progress has simply got to stop! Nobody wants it, and it's time to call a halt before some candidate gets elected president on the slogan: "Let's stop America moving again."
Farmers, grown sluggish by having Uncle RUTH Sam pay them MONTGOMERY over for rocking on the front porch while their land goes fallow, have overwhelmingly rejected a big brother - is - watching - you plan to lick the wheat surplus.

Without progress, we would have had no farm surpluses any way. It's those bright red tractors, fancy moving machines, improved seeds and enlightened bug-killers that created the havoc by giving us too much to eat.
An equally critical problem faces the cities. Thanks to high-powered automobiles, progressive road-building equipment, and over-educated engineers, our metropolitan areas are blossoming out with so many freeways and over-passes that there's no place to live any more.

City folks can't move to the country, because it's already blanketed with clover leaf approaches to the circumferential highways.
Washington, once famed for its gracefully arched bridges spanning the Potomac and Anacostia rivers, is now busily throwing across-straight-line eyesores that resemble the first rats put together by Neanderthal man. We call it progress.

Our classic government buildings patterned after Greek temples of learning, lent a certain dignity to sprawling bureaucracy, are now being overshadowed by a bodge-podge of sleek, flat-sided monstrosities that present a glazed eye to the taxpayer. This is progress?
Airports, once a lary five or ten minute drive from our homes, are now located twenty or thirty miles away to accommodate the over-sized jet planes, which fly half-empty.
OUTMODED
Soon even these airfields may be outmoded, because recent "progress" in lifting man into earth-orbit dictates that he must be dumped into the ocean on his return.

Automation, we were told a few years back, represented real progress, but look at us now! The soaring juvenile delinquency rate is blamed on jobless teen-agers, who can't find work because of automation.
Educators are crying about the lack of summer jobs for school kids this year. Blame it on automation, which has made unskilled labor unnecessary.

Our hearts are daily being wrung by the problem of Negroes who, unable to find work for their idle hands, are turning to big-city crime. It's that automation bugaboo again.
President Kennedy, praising astronaut Gordon Cooper for his manually-operated descent into the earth's atmosphere after a mechanization failure, said this proved that "however extraordinary computers may be... we are still ahead of them and man is still the most extraordinary computer of all."
It is to laugh! Before Gemini or Apollo spacecraft ever leave the earth, some gargantuan computer will probably have spawned an even greater computer which can eliminate man entirely.

DISGORGING CONFETTI
We can see it now. Steel computers lining Pennsylvania Avenue and disgorging statistical confetti to welcome back the first computer from the moon.
Once upon a time, man lived in caves for safety and protection. Then progress reared its lovely head, and he began to build cities and skyscrapers. Soon we will have come full circle.
Some of our greatest minds are currently engaged in outfitting caves of the Blue Ridge Mountains for the President, the defense secretary, and a battery of other top leaders to live in in the event of atomic attack. Citizens are also being urged to dig cave-like bombshelters in their own backyards — the deeper the better.
The President wants everyone to discover his feet again, by fifty-mile hikes. Soon we may be asked to let our hair grow long, and arm ourselves with clubs.
Progress? You can have it!

Building Bids Approved for Baldwin Junior High

Low bids for the construction of the new Baldwin Junior High School were approved last night by the Pontiac Board of Education.

The school board accepted bids totaling $1,259,871 for the general trades, mechanical trades, electrical trades and kitchen equipment contracts on the school.

Richard C. Fell, assistant superintendent for business and staff personnel, said the bids were about $100,000 less than the estimated costs.

He said the new junior high school will run $50,000 less than the Madison Junior High School, the most recent junior high school construction.

Fell said the total cost should round out at about $12.85 per square foot, including equipment.

AWARD WINNERS
The general trades contract was awarded to A. N. Hickson, of Detroit, for $809,273, including three alternates in the project.

Fell said the alternates were added to the firm's base bid of $798,000, which was the lowest of the six bids.

The alternates include vinyl tile in place of asphalt tile, bleachers on one side of the gymnasium and ceramic tile floors in a locker room in place of finished concrete.

The mechanical trades contract was awarded to the Master Plumbing & Heating Co. of Royal Oak. The contract for $304,500 was the lowest of eight bids.

Electrical trades on the junior high school were awarded to the V. Jones Electric Shop, Inc., of Ferndale, for $111,902, including two alternates to provide a house telephone system within the school.

The contract for the kitchen equipment went to Great Lakes Hotel Supply Co., in the amount of $34,195. This was the second lowest of five bids.

Jap Farmers Allowed to Resell Property

TOKYO (AP)—A Tokyo court has ruled that Japanese tenant farmers allowed to buy property at rock-bottom prices under the American-ordered postwar land reform program are entitled to resell it for as much as they can get in today's booming market.

The ruling was a blow to some 2.5 million former landlords. Many of them are suing to get back an estimated 5 million acres redistributed under the reform program launched in March 1947.

Automation, we were told a few years back, represented real progress, but look at us now! The soaring juvenile delinquency rate is blamed on jobless teen-agers, who can't find work because of automation.

Travelers Most Forgetful

Major Airlines Have Extensive Lost-Found Centers

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Maybe it's the speed or the altitude or just that they're in a hurry. Whatever the cause, air travelers apparently are the world's most forgetful people.

Who else could, in the narrow confines of an airliner, forget a wooden leg, false teeth and glass eyes. Just last week, a woman passenger turned in a claim for a lost girdle and a point peeler.

All of America's major airlines have had to hire fulltime employees to handle lost-and-found departments.

At Municipal Airport here, Trans World Airlines maintains a lost-and-found center for all of its domestic services. It has a similar operation in Geneva, Switzerland, which shows that overseas travelers are no less forgetful.

The TWA center is a large room crammed with overcoats, hats, gloves, luggage, a veritable library, baby clothes, cameras, watches and rings.

There's a woman's fur coat, a movie projector, shoes, skiing equipment, golf clubs and fishing tackle.

What mystifies the two women who run the center is the hundreds of pairs of glasses.

They point out that many of the glasses are of such strength that surely the owner could not have found his way out of the terminal without them.

A quick examination of the lost items would indicate that men are more forgetful than women, or perhaps just that there are more men air travelers.

It was obviously a woman who lost the diamond ring which was appraised for $600. The ring was never reclaimed, and like all valuables, was kept four months and then sold through competitive bidding.

Gene Huff, manager of TWA's ticket office service, is in charge of the lost-and-found center. Despite the many valuables recovered and auctioned, he views the center as a costly service.

TWA, he said, makes no profit from the sale of unclaimed articles. The $600 ring, for example, was sold along with other valuables for $110.

Clothing is not sold, but divided among a number of charitable organizations.

Glasses are given to "Eyes for the Needy," a New York organization.

All military clothing is turned back to the appropriate military service after it has been kept the prescribed time.

Items that are checked, such as luggage, are kept six months. Nonchecked things, such as hats, topcoats and gloves, are kept three months.

Valuables, such as rings, watches and cameras, are kept four months.

BACK TO OWNERS

All lost articles, of course, are not given to charity or auctioned. The purpose of the center is to get lost items back to owners.

The two women who operate the center are quite successful at this.

A lost library book is returned to the library if not claimed. The owner of a topcoat or luggage may be traced through a tailor.

Glasses sometimes may be traced to the owner by an optometrist's prescription. A letter found in a pocket or suitcase, even if the owner's name is not mentioned, may lead to the owner via letters written by TWA to the address.

Huff said that in 99 per cent of the cases, the traveler simply walked off and left an article.

But he admits that sometimes the airlines are at fault.

Airline "goofs" usually involve instances when a passenger has to change planes and airlines to reach his destination.

When a TWA passenger loses something, he or she stand a good chance of retrieving it immediately by asking for it at the terminal destination within 48 hours.

If the terminal destination does not have it, a telegraphic check is made to the various points along the passenger's route which might have it.

SENT TO CONFER

After the 48-hour period, all lost articles are sent to the center here. A New York or San Francisco claimant then would have to fill out a claim form, which is sent to the center.

If it is here, TWA files it to the passenger, free.

Every Thursday, each lost-and-found center for every airline sends a list of lost items it has on hand to the other centers.

One center often finds that another airline has an item for which it has a claim. An international code is used for describing various lost luggage.

There is such a boom in the lost-and-found business that major airlines are working on a cooperative plan called ARCH, which means Air Recovery Clearing House.

Under ARCH, all lost items would be recorded on data processing cards at a central point.

The lost-and-found centers would continue operation, but ARCH would maintain files on lost items by all air travelers. When the forgetful passenger puts in a claim for a black briefcase, ARCH would electronically sift through its thousands of cards and pick out black briefcases of the type described.

'Don't Monkey With Monkeys ... They're Pests'

LANSING (AP)—Don't monkey around with monkeys as pets, advises Dr. Donald Cochon, State Health Department veterinarian.

"They are really pests rather than pets," Cochon said.

The very reason that monkeys are excellent laboratory animals makes them unsatisfactory as household pets, he said.

"Since monkeys are susceptible to so many human diseases, they are virtually indispensable as experimental animals. This fact, along with their poor personal hygiene habits, makes them undesirable as pets."

Veterinarians throughout Michigan and the United States are alarmed at the increasing number of monkeys being sold as pets, he said.

PARIS (AP)—France is cooperating closely with Spain in aerial defense, the French armed forces information bulletin disclosed Thursday.

It pointed out that although Spain is not a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, such cooperation was imposed by geography.

The United States has a bilateral defense agreement with Spain, as does Madrid's neighbor, Portugal.

State Department Plans New Try to Free 2 Fliers

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new attempt to free Capt. Charleston Volitz of Frankfurt, Mich., and a second American flier from North Korean Communists was planned today by the State Department.

The United Nations command at Panmunjon will make the effort through the Mixed Military Armistice Commission, the State Department said.

Capt. Volitz and Capt. Ben Weakley Stuts of Florence, Ala., were taken into custody by the Communists when their helicopter was forced down by ground fire May 17.

The captives landed just north of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

Navy to Retire Charged Spy

Accused of Selling
Secrets to Soviets

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. Navy Yeoman Nelson C. Drummond will be retired June 3 on charges of stealing secret documents from his post at the Newport, R.I., naval station and selling them to Soviet agents.

The Baltimore-born Negro—the first of his race to be tried for his life as a cold-war spy—remained under $100,000 bail after his first trial ended in a hung jury Thursday.

The only Negro on the jury, Edward L. Watkins, 35, said he was the lone holdout, with the other 11 jurors voting for conviction. He said race had nothing to do with it and that he would have voted guilty on the conspiracy count in the indictment, which carried a possible penalty of life imprisonment, if the others had voted acquittal on the espionage count, which carried a possible death sentence.

"I've never been on a jury before," said Watkins, "and here they were trying to get this man electrocuted. Well, I could see life imprisonment, but not electrocution."

Federal Judge Edward Weinfeld was obviously disappointed at the jury's failure to reach a verdict after 26 hours. He declined to thank the jury on dismissing it, as some judges do, but said that was because of his personal policy against such an expression.

Weinfeld kept the jury deliberations going even after the deadlock had become apparent, saying the case "is important to the government, and is equally important to the defendant."

But eventually he conceded there was "no purpose to be served by continuing deliberations."

Never Missed Ray of School

LA SALLE, Colo. (AP)—Dennis Grimes made it to school every day of classes for 12 years—without a single absence.

The remarkable thing, says Mrs. C. A. Grimes, is that her 17-year-old son worked in all the normal childhood diseases during the summer months.

"I often wonder why I never got sick during the school months," Dennis said. His graduation at nearby Valley High School this week completed 2,180 consecutive days in school without a miss.

Junior Editors Quiz on INSECTS

QUESTION: Is the ladybug a pest or a useful insect?

ANSWER: Many people think of insects as man's enemies, without realizing that less than one per cent of insects are harmful to man. Insects help us in many ways, especially by spreading pollen from plants so that the flowers can become fertilized.

Other insects help by eating harmful bugs. Among these useful insects, the attractive little ladybug holds a high place. These busy little beetles live by devouring the aphids which suck the juices from plants.

Once, the orange and lemon orchards of California were threatened with ruin from a certain kind of aphid. 140 Australian ladybugs of a kind known to eat the aphids were imported and within a few years had multiplied and eaten so many aphids that the orchards were saved.

There are many different kinds of ladybugs. As a whole they are most valuable to man, but there are some species which do damage plants.

The value of ladybugs has been known since the Middle Ages. In fact, it is said they were dedicated to the Virgin at that time, which is why they are called ladybugs, or as many people still call them, ladybirds.

FOR YOU TO DO: When you next eat an orange or drink a refreshing glass of lemonade, think of the friendly little beetles who have helped make it possible for you to enjoy these fine fruits—the ladybirds!

Consolidated Gas Starts New Pipeline

PETOSKEY (UPI)—The Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. yesterday started work here and in Charlevoix on the distribution systems for its new $4.3-million pipeline.

The work, which is expected to be completed June 15, was started now so the streets wouldn't be torn up at the height of the tourist season.

Construction of the 90-mile pipeline from south of Traverse City to Petoskey is scheduled to begin June 1. Completion is set for Sept. 1.

In addition to Traverse City and Charlevoix, the new pipeline will serve six more cities—East Jordan, Boyne City, Boyne Falls, Marcellona, Anttrim and Kalkaska.

Name Chairman for Next Year's Michigan Week

LANSING (U)—The general chairman of next year's Michigan Week will be Dale Sellers, vice president of the Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit, the Greater Michigan Foundation has announced.

The foundation also announced the dates of the 1964 Michigan Week as May 17-23.

Sellers is a director of the State Chamber of Commerce and a past president of the Detroit Rotary Club.

He entered the banking business in 1923 with the State Savings Bank of Caro, joined Manufacturers Bank in 1933 and is now vice president in charge of its Michigan division, which serves banks and industry throughout the state.

Detroit to Get Counterpart of Hyde Park

DETROIT (U)—Chicago's Bug-house Square and London's Hyde Park now may have their counterpart in Detroit.

City Council has decided—for a one-year period—to permit use of an unused stone stairway of the old Wayne County building by extemporaneous orators.

The city will provide a small platform at the front of the steps and deck the area with a few boxes of flowers.

Long disregarded by county building visitors, the stone staircase leads to the building's second floor. The public goes in on the ground floor and uses elevators.

Moscow's Lost Round to Red China

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
In Vietnam, sleepy capital of the sad little kingdom of Laos, Soviet diplomats this week appeared noticeably glum.

If so, they had good reason.

For it appeared that Moscow had lost an important round in its battle with Red China for Communist leadership, one that affected not only the Soviet position in Laos but one that would NEWSOM have repercussions throughout Asia.

It also seemed likely to have an important effect on the efforts of the United States and Britain to preserve the shaky neutrality of the little landlocked nation which appears small on the map of the world's power struggle but looms large in the future of Southeast Asia.

When on July 23, 1962, in Geneva, the foreign ministers of 14 nations signed an accord on the neutrality of Laos, it was done so by the West with the ironical knowledge that its success would depend upon keeping the Soviets in and the Red Chinese out.

The hope lay in the belief that Red Pathet Lao, leant toward Moscow than Peking in its political orientation and thus would be more likely to heed Soviet counsel.

North Vietnam's President Ho Chi Minh had been trained in Moscow to preserve his own status against any ambitions of his big Chinese neighbor.

HOPES DISAPPEAR
Whatever validity there was in the hope disappeared when Red China's No. 2 man, Liu Shao-Chi, chose the North Vietnam capital of Hanoi to deliver another bitter attack on Communist "revisionists" and on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's policy of co-existence.

The attack only could have been delivered by permission of Ho Chi Minh and so it meant that Red China, advocate of the export of violent revolution, had taken over as Ho's chief mentor.

If it meant a blow to Moscow's prestige in Asia and to allied hopes in Laos, there were others also to whom the Laotian States for its support of the pro-western government which preceded him, and who now also castigated the Reds for their violation of the Geneva accord.

One was neutralist Laotian Prince Souvanna Phouma who had castigated the United States for its support of the pro-western government which preceded him, and who now also castigated the Reds for their violation of the Geneva accord.

Quacks Cost $45 Million in Michigan

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Quackery costs Michigan more than $45 million a year, the Michigan Health-Council-State-Conference was told here yesterday in concluding sessions of a three-day run.

George Fowler, assistant director of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration's Detroit District, said there is a tendency for many persons in the public health and medical professions to minimize quackery.

Of the estimated billion dollars-plus spent each year in the United States on ineffective drugs and devices, Fowler said, "so-called vitamin and health food quackery amounts to possibly a half-billion."

Fowler claimed there is "no pat quackery remedy."

He explained that "citizens are afflicted with real or imaginary illnesses or excess weight, and it is human nature to seek the easy answers and to believe what they want to believe."

He called upon doctors to assist enforcement of the laws by reporting quackery when it comes to their attention.

Sgt. Stephen Tarcy, of the vice bureau, said about $1,200 in cash, 6,800 bet slips, eight automobiles and a gun were confiscated in the raids.

China Family Income, Cost of Living Low

EDITOR'S NOTE—Refugees from Red China report hopeless poverty behind the Bamboo Curtain, but there is another side to the coin. In the last of a special series of articles, a British author who just completed a travel agency tour of the country offers a glimpse of Red China's living standards.

BY RICHARD P. LESTER

PEKING (AP)—The average Chinese worker earns about 70 yuan a month—$30. At the Wuhan Iron and Steel Company, the lowest wage was $15 a month, for apprentices; the highest, for skilled workers, $50. The manager received just over $100 a month. These were basic wages, to which a production bonus might be added.

It does not sound like much. But what counts, of course, is what the worker can buy with it. If he has an apartment, or part of an apartment, in one of the new blocks that have sprung up in the cities and villages after the revolution, he will pay 2½ to 5 yuan a month for it—not more than $2. What he pays is based on his family income—3 to 7 per cent of it. On top of this he pays a fee for light and water, which averages out at about half a yuan per month, or 25 cents. Repairs are free. Having paid his rent, he has to buy his food, and this will cost him about $5.

He will in most cases be sharing his apartment with another family, but to a man who probably spent his boyhood years sleeping nine or ten to a room in a hotel, this is no particular problem.

He has a bed for his wife and himself, and separate beds for his children; a radio, tables and chairs, and a picture of Chairman Mao Tse-tung on the wall. The furniture is good quality, the rooms clean and bright; there are no carpets. His wife shares the kitchen with someone else, but the food she cooks there is enough for them all; and this is luxury in a land where "enough," for the majority, has always been a distant dream.

JUST SHOWPLACES

These, it must be remembered, are the showplaces, the best accommodation available to the more fortunate workers. Millions in the cities, must still live in the crowded old dwelling of yore.

Having paid his rent, and bought his food, the average worker has two-thirds of his wages left, about $30. What can he do with it? Here the picture is a little different. The goods are there—clothes, radios, bicycles, furniture—but the prices are not so very different from those for the cheaper ranges of similar goods in the West. Roughly speaking, he is in the position of a man with the wages of 1933 living in the world of 1963.

He is decently dressed in his blue jacket and trousers, with a shirt—but never a tie—and a roll-necked pullover if it is cool; a blue quilted cotton jacket for cold weather. But these are all the clothes he has and they serve him for feast days, holidays, and work days.

He does not even dream of possessing a car.

WANTS LEISURE

Before he needs a car, after all, he needs leisure; and Chang is not yet very rich in this commodity. He works eight hours a day, six days a week. A man is given four days off a month, a woman six. They have two weeks' holidays a year, if they are lucky—some have none—and this may be spent in visiting relatives. Their own children may be staying with grandparents, and be seen only on rare occasions. In the spring, one or two days must be spent in visiting the tombs of their ancestors, an annual honor that most Chinese pay to the spirits of the departed.

The idea of medical treatment available to all, ideally for nothing, was a surprise to the Chinese we saw. If a worker has to see a doctor or go to a hospital, the Chinese told us proudly, he gets his treatment free; but his family or dependents have to pay half the cost of their treatment. This can be rough.

Still, the cost of hospitalization is low, and comes to little beyond the cost of board and lodging. Chang, as a worker, receives his full pay when sick; and he retires at 60 on three-fourths pay. Mrs. Chang gets the same pay as her husband, but she gets two days more a month off, retires five years earlier, and has two months off on full pay when she has a baby.

At the Chao Yang workers' living quarter, outside Shanghai—a newly built residential and industrial area—we visited the homes of several textile workers and their families.

In the primary school, we were led about by the hand by the ex-chanting children—two children per visitor, and if a hand was relinquished several more hands were always eager to grant it. They showed us the playgrounds, the swings, the fountains, the dancing classes. A little group sang to us what might be called the theme song of Chao Yang, in which the first line is:

"Mother is sleeping after the night shift."

It seemed to us to sum up the vigor and pathos of Chao Yang.

Chevy II Nova 400 6-Passenger Station Wagon

A Chevy II wagon looks this big when you load it up and this big when you gas it up

That, in the eyes of most Chevy II wagon owners, is just about the size of it.

A king-size appetite for cargo. But a dainty one for gas.

And this, we hardly need add, is just the kind of wagon we planned it to be. Just the kind of wagon that makes loads of sense, too, these bright beckoning days when you feel the urge to pack up and make tracks.

Taut and trim as it is on the outside, we went to great lengths to keep it BIG where a wagon should be BIG. The load platform extends a full nine feet from the back of the front seat to the tip of the lowered tailgate. Try that on your surfboards, camping paraphernalia and what have you.

And for all the pepper we packed into that 6-cylinder engine (you also have a choice of an even thrifter 4 in most models), we were careful to keep it simple, easy to service—and, as we say, a real stickler on fuel economy. From the way it nurses a gallon of regular, in fact, you'd almost think it makes its own.

Feel in a traveling mood? Well—happy coincidence—this is the time of year your Chevrolet dealer feels in his most generous trading mood. Looks like it's high time you two got together.

You Can't Win

Give Up Younger Girl

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a lovely, adorable girl who is 16 years younger than I am. (This could be the problem.)

This charming lady says she loves me, but her mother would never approve of our marriage because of the age difference.

She is devoted to her family and would never marry against their wishes. I waited 10 years after my last marriage before considering marrying again, and believe me I have found the girl. I am 38 and she is 22. I insist on an open courtship, but she refuses to be seen with me.

Is age that important? Do you think she loves me, or is she just being kind to an "old man"? How can I win her?

STILL TRYING

DEAR ABBY: You can't.

And if you're wise, you'll quit trying.

DEAR ABBY: When people drop in unexpectedly late in the afternoon, are invited to stay for dinner but refuse (saying they have another appointment) and yet continue to visit well past dinner preparation time, is it possible to start preparing dinner?

This has happened several times. Yesterday the company left two hours after our usual dinner time.

MRS. C. DEAR MRS. C.: If you permit uninvited guests to delay your dinner two hours, you are asking for the inconvenience they have caused you. What's wrong with saying, "Excuse me—I have to prepare my dinner?"

DEAR ABBY: In the two years I have been a widow I have learned more than in all the years I was married. I never realized there were so many frightened, unsure married women around. If I need someone to help with the household chores or heavy work, I look in the classified ads.

I'd rather pay $10 an hour than ask another woman's husband to do any favors.

SADDER BUT WISER

CONFIDENTIAL TO WILLING WIDOW: Make sure it's a gleam in his eye—not just the sun hitting his bifocals.

Just Faculty in Receiving Line at Fete

By The Emily Post Institute Q: Our school will be having a large dinner next month. We are going to invite members of the board of education, the wives and husbands of faculty members and others.

A question has come up in connection with the receiving line. I think that only bona fide members of the faculty should stand in the receiving line.

My opponents think that the husbands, or wives, should be asked to join their spouses in the line. What is your opinion?

A: I agree with you definitely that the husbands and wives of the faculty members should be present as guests only and should not stand in the receiving line.

Q: I would like to know the proper seating arrangement for two married couples dining in a restaurant that has sofa-seats along its walls.

Also how should they be seated in a theater? Do the husbands sit beside their own wives?

A: The wives sit on the sofa and their husbands on chairs, each man facing the other's wife. At the theater, the two men take the outside seats so that neither woman has to sit next to a stranger, the women sitting together between them, each beside the other's husband.

Q: My wife and I received a very handsome present from a business acquaintance on our 25th wedding anniversary. The card was signed with both his and his wife's names although we have never met her.

In acknowledging the present, would it be proper to write to the man, or must the note be sent to his wife even though she is a complete stranger?

A: Under the circumstances, it will be proper to write to the man, thanking him for the lovely present and his wife have sent you.

By MARY FEELEY

Consultant in Money Management

When the family budget breaks down, it usually doesn't come as a sudden dramatic collapse. Rather, this financial invalid creeps and totters along for quite awhile, getting weaker every year.

The family begins to worry in a half-hearted fashion. Then comes a day when worry turns into real alarm, and everybody agrees that something had better be done.

At this point, the diagnosis isn't always easy. Nor is the treatment, for that matter. But stern measures are better than none.

Many a sick budget that comes my way turns out to be suffering from the high cost of operating the family car. It's an ailment that's sometimes hard to recognize.

Without realizing it, a woman has gradually enlarged her shopping area, her husband drives more miles daily to and from work, the children have become teen-agers with driving privileges, community responsibilities create more reasons for using the car, the younger children must be chauffeured to scout meetings, dancing lessons, school.

Even if the family cars are paid for, gas, oil, and repairs steadily mount in cost. But the family income hasn't increased in the same proportion. One reader writes to say her car costs, including payments, are now exceeding her rent. One family of three pays $20 a week for food — but $40 for operating and paying for the car. Other families don't even know how much their cars are costing them.

Well, how about a few statistics. The American Bankers Association estimates that $ to 15 per cent of your net income is a reasonable amount to allow for transportation. The average is 12 per cent.

If, for instance, your monthly income is $600, your car operating expenses, plus car payments, might be around $72.

If they exceed that amount materially, go over your budget figures carefully. Of course, there are always exceptions to any estimate, and the necessity for car operation can vary widely in different households.

Some people make the mistake of taking on car payments that are too high for their incomes to absorb. (And there should be some plan for the future purchase of a new car.)

While lower payments do mean longer payments, and inevitably more money spent, nevertheless such lower payments could at least be supported without undue strain on the budget.

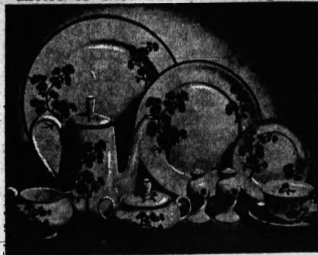

To those of you who ask: "Where does my money go?" I suggest you look to your car expenses. When you can say, My food bills haven't increased noticeably, I haven't bought any new clothes, the rent is still the same, . . . then look for the leak in this area.

If you spot it, you can often take measures to correct it. For instance, do you plan the

College Activity

Scholarships for a summer's study at the University of Paris have been given to two Oakland University students, Mary Finkelstein, a junior, of Auburn Road, and Roberta Lief, a sophomore, of Arlington, Va.

Dr. Francis Tafaya, head of OU language department, said, "It is quite an honor for the French Ministry of Education and the French Cultural Services in New York City to give Oakland these awards."

They are unusual in that they are undergraduate rather than graduate study awards.

Oakland's language department chose the two from all of the French students enrolled on the basis of their records.

In cooperation with the university, these government scholarships will pay the girls' tuition, approximately $90 a month living expenses at the University of Paris, also transportation to and from France.

Curtis Matthews Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Curtis Matthews, Bloomfield Hills, has been initiated into Franco-Californian Society, local creative writing organization at Denison University. He is a sophomore in the Granville, Ohio school.

Susan E. Smith, daughter of the Floyd H. Smiths, North Johnson, is among 16 Western Michigan University coeds tapped for membership in Mortar Board. The nation's newest chapter was installed on WMU campus in late April.

Fourteen students were honored at the College of Pharmacy Honors Convocation Tuesday at Wayne State University.

Janice C. Pietsch, Orchard Lake Avenue, received the women's auxiliary American Pharmaceutical Association Award and Thomas E. Lufkin, South Sanford, the McKesson-Robbins APA award and an APA certificate.

Two local coeds have been elected officers of their social sorority, Alpha Gamma Delta, at Central Michigan University. Joanne Dembinski, daughter of the Henry Dembinskis, Third Avenue, was elected housing chairman.

She is president of Kappa Delta Pi, the education honorary, and attended the recent Midwest marketing conference at Michigan State University.

Priscilla M. Dawe, daughter of the Ralph A. Dawes, Osceola Drive, was elected first vice president (pledge trainer). She was also elected treasurer of the Senior Women's Honor Board.

This group is the campus Mortar Board parallel, open only to senior women most outstanding in scholarship and campus activities.

It recently took first place in the Greek Week Sing and was awarded the scholarship trophy for the third consecutive semester.

Both girls participated in the pledging ceremony for the 91st chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta, installed this month at nearby Ferris Institute.

Ten awards were presented to seven graduating students at the annual honors convocation Wednesday at Northwood Institute, Midland.

Vicki Corpron was selected by Rho Omicron, a journalism and advertising fraternity, for the journalism award for contributing most to student publications.

Jack Graham of Pontiac received the Student Senate Activities Award for the Midland campus.

Greek Week, Carnival Top Activities at MSU

By SUE DORMAN
Greek Week and Water-Carnival arrived on Michigan State's campus bringing with them thousands of parents and spectators to view the exciting events which took place.

Sorority Sing was held first. Alpha Xi Delta sorority won the second place trophy with their presentation of the song "Bambo." Participating in the singing were Betty Conner, junior of Landsdowne; Sue Sommerville, junior of Rosedale; Sue Steinbaugh, senior of Owego; and Sandra Wray, junior of Osceola.

A tricycle race with sorority girls competing highlighted the Greek Week festivities. Following the tricycle race the renowned "Greek Feast" was begun at the Sigma Nu house. Three thousand people were served roast chicken and trimmings at the feast.

Delta Delta Delta sorority's float was awarded the first place trophy for originality in the Water-Carnival. Patricia Burns, sophomore of Owego, helped in the construction of the float which depicted the balance of power in the world today.

THIRD PLACE

"Some Day Someone Will Set The Spark Off and We'll All Be Blown Away" was the scene depicted on the third-place winner's float designed by the Sigma Kappa sorority. Sophomore Linda Ray of Thorpe aided her sisters in the construction of their entrance.

Claiming fourth prize for Water-Carnival float entries was the Delta Gamma sorority float. Carrying out the theme of "Panic!" a baby factory replica was designed upon their craft.

Karen Bronoel, freshman of Pioneer was instrumental in the construction of the Delta Gamma float, "My Son The Machine."

Ronald Stanke, a freshman, has been selected to become a member of the Phi Eta Sigma scholastic freshmen men's honorary on the campus. Members are selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and service. Ronald resides on East Hammond Lake Dr.

IN CHORUS

Judy Whitmer has been active in the chorus of the musical production of "Of Thee I Sing." Judy, a freshman, will be seen during the three performances of the play this weekend. She makes her home on Genesee.

A new Student Education Corps has been organized on the campus. The corps cooperates with local underprivileged schools and sends them Michigan State students as volunteer aids to teachers in the elementary through the new program.

Nancy Greenhagh, freshman of Ottawa, has become a tennis player for Landon dormitory this year. On sunny days she can be seen practicing on the spacious courts on the south campus.

South Telegraph; Mrs. Countryman; grandmother, Mrs. Thomas C. Bone, Sheland Way; mother, Mrs. Dean Perko, Wesbrook; and daughter, Tracy Anne.

From Pal to Wife

Change Was Electrifying

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE P-439: Marvin G. is an attorney who wanted to fall in love with the girl next door.

But they had grown up as pals, so they were more like brother and sister.

It even made him embarrassed just to think about kissing her.

"I clam up at the very idea," he stated.

"It would be like trying to grow romantic about my own sister, so I'd have to force myself even to try to kiss her."

But I urged him to take her to a drive-in movie where he could put his arm around her during the show.

Then I prescribed that he draw her close and kiss her.

"But don't give her a quick little peck on the cheek or a fleeting kiss on the lips," I warned.

Well, Marvin sheepishly grinned and vowed he'd follow orders, even if it did seem much like taking medicine.

"She is a wonderful girl and I'd consider myself lucky to have such a woman for my wife," he admitted, "if only I could shatter this palsy-walsy or 'sister' complex I have about her."

The following Friday night he invited her to a movie.

She was delighted and gaily maintained sparkling repartee till the show began.

Then Marvin slipped his arm around her shoulders and drew her close.

It was awkward for him to do so, as he admitted later, and she may have felt a bit self-conscious, too, for they had been so much like brother and sister that romance was alien to their relationship.

At the proper romantic climax of the movie, Marvin took a deep breath and kissed her.

"I don't know when it hit me, but possibly after five or six seconds I began to glow all over."

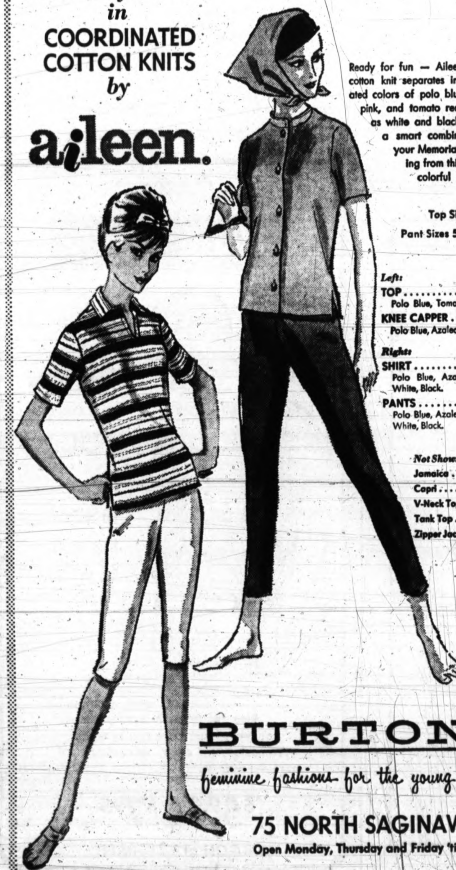

"Instead of feeling a veiled repugnance, I suddenly reacted to her as a sweetheart."

"So within 10 seconds our emotional attitude had changed entirely. This invisible barrier was swept away, as if by magic."

"And I kissed her some more. That first kiss was your prescription, Dr. Crane, but the next was my own idea."

"I was ardently in love with her all within half a

Hot-Tempered People Rarely Regret Rage

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My husband has a very hot temper that makes him do things he doesn't mean. A week ago he called our 15-year-old girl a bad name. She has hardly spoken to him since. This is making trouble for me. He says I am encouraging her to treat him like a nothing in his own home.
But she has not mentioned him to me and just claims up when I try to tell her he is sorry.
Answer: Oh, come on. He's not sorry for what he said. If he were, he wouldn't be complaining about its consequences.
People with "hot tempers" rarely regret them; they cherish them. They regard their capacity for rage as evidence of their superiority over cowed and contemptible persons who don't dare to rant and call bad names the way they can.

Though they may say they regret their rages, what they actually feel is indelible in their power to intimidate us.
I expect that this is what your daughter knows.
I don't have the slightest idea what you can do about it. Like your husband, hot-tempered people usually become very sorry for themselves when their rages don't produce submission. They are astounded by our refusal to respond like another of the softies who populate the world for them.

Sometimes, if their delight in power has not destroyed all honesty with themselves, hot heads may be able to confess their pleasure in terrorizing us. But this is rare in most hot temper addicts. Most have used violent rage to express their contempt for other people since their childhoods.

Realizing that we are not all the trembling rabbits their mothers were would confront them with the awful task of revising their judgment of the world and their power over it. They lose, of course, their children.

To anyone but a hot-tempered addict, the distance your daughter has already placed between herself and her father would suggest the possible loss of all sympathy for him. Not so for the addict.

In such a situation he can feel only an aggrieved sense of injustice that his rage has not produced what it's always produced—submission. This is his tragedy.

Polly's Pointers

Protect the Woolens

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY — With woolen storage time here, I find it convenient to put moth crystals in an old nylon stocking and tie the stocking to the hook of a coat hanger, thus suspending the crystals.
When a garment is hung over the hanger the crystals, which might stain some fabrics, do not touch the material and yet provide safe storage. —MRS. B. L.

DEAR POLLY—When I was expecting my first baby, I was given a bassinet as a shower gift.

I wanted to buy a frilly skirt for it but they were too expensive.

I took one of my old cancan petticoats, took the elastic out and sewed the skirt to the bassinet liner. I tacked a big bow with streamers on and had a beautiful and dainty skirt.—MRS. B. N.

DEAR POLLY — By making a "treat day" calendar, you can avoid the usual disappointment that ice cream-conscious youngsters feel when they are sometimes refused treats from the ice cream vendor.

Give them a calendar, with big numbers, and each day let them tape a penny onto that day's date.

Only when they have accumulated sufficient coins are they able to remove the pennies and buy ice cream with the money they have saved.

In this way the treat is bought at sensible intervals and is more appreciated. This also teaches the children the days of the week and how to read a calendar. —MRS. V. L. C.

Share your favorite homemaking ideas . . . send them to Polly in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll receive a bright, new silver dollar if Polly uses your ideas in Polly's Pointers.

Exercise Some Caution

Safety experts recommend caution when using insecticide sprays.

Keep spray away from food or food utensils and from open flames or electric sparks. Always wash the equipment with hot suds before storing it.

Follow Safety Rules While Mowing Lawn

Were you one of the 80,000 weekend gardeners who operated power lawn mowers carelessly and were hurt last year?

The estimate of injuries came from the American Standards Association and National Safety Council, which recommended "rigid manufacturing standards to cut down accidents. But lawn-mowers must adopt human safeguards.

Don't let your young children operate a power mower and keep them off the lawn you are cutting.

Remove all debris from the lawn before you start the mower. This includes stones, wood, wire, glass, clothespins and toys.

Learn how to stop the mower quickly. Mow only in daylight and never when the grass is wet, lest you slip. Wear shoes, not slippers or sneakers.

Follow the machine; don't pull it toward you.

Operate at the slowest speed that will cut satisfactorily. Don't tamper with the engine.

Start the mower when you are ready to cut, not before. Shut off the motor if you leave the mower. Aim the mower's discharge away from sidewalks.

Don't fill the gasoline tank indoors, or while smoking.

Pick Gardener Carefully

Consider sunshine, water and air circulation when selecting a plot on which to grow your own "lifers," beans and other vegetables. Well-drained soil is essential for the successful home garden, the Department of Agriculture reports.

Too much water will ruin the garden. Good soil absorbs water rather than letting it puddle on the surface.

It's a sign a plot's fertile if it is covered with grass and weeds. Most plots, however, need extra fertilizer. Your local nurseryman can tell you what you need.

After clearing your plot of bits or rock, wood and broken glass, squeeze a handful of dirt into a ball. If the ball of soil crumbles when you break it apart, the plot is ready for spading.

As you spade, mix in the fertilizer. For a 30-by-50-foot plot, use 50 to 60 pounds of a nitrogen-phosphorous - potash in mixture.

Once the fertilizer is in, spade and rake the garden into furrows.

Then, gently make an indentation about half an inch deep along the top of each furrow. This is where you will plant the seeds.

Once your garden sprouts, so will weeds. It's then time to use some pull. Weeds rob plants of water, nutrients, space and light.

Zittel Takes Over Basketball Post at PCH

Van Ryzin Steps Down After 17 Years as Head Coach

A basketball era ended for Pontiac Central last night with the announcement that Art Van Ryzin is stepping down after 17 years as head coach.

FIRST SEASON—This is Art Van Ryzin in 1946 when he took over the head basketball coaching job at Pontiac High School. The Chiefs were only 4-11 for the season, but won the regional tournament.

Class B Wins for Lakeland, Spencer Nines

Waterford Township softball action last night saw Spencer Floors and Lakeland Pharmacy post Class B wins.

Spencer went nine innings to edge Westside Lanes, 3-2, while Lakeland's Phil Pittman hurled a three-hitter to shutout Midgett Bar, 5-0.

El Sharrad's infield single off the pitcher's glove with the bases loaded brought in Spencer's winning run for reliever Jerry Thomas, who had stopped the three-hitter.

Tonight, Huron Bowl will play the Haskins Chevrolet at 7 p.m. and A&W Root Beer will play Dinky's Baltimore, and was voted the Hideaway at 8:30 p.m. on the Drayton Plains diamond.

to the top cage post were verified at last night's board of education meeting.

"I'm at the point where I want to relinquish the job," said the veteran mentor. "I feel that a basketball job is full time. I plan to travel each summer and I don't feel that I should leave the plans to my Jayce coach."

He plans to travel to the state of Washington this summer. "We've had great support from the administration and community," he said.

He will continue at Central as chairman of the physical education department and be an assistant coach in football. He also will handle the sophomore basketball team.

A native of Appleton, Wis., Van Ryzin graduated from Toledo University in 1941. He played football and basketball for Rockets and coached the frosh teams in both sports his last two years in college.

After two years as physical education instructor and coach at Buchanan High School, Van Ryzin came to Pontiac High in 1944 and trailed 35-9 going into the last period. Pontiac led 44-23.

The first victory came four games later at the expense of Saginaw, coached by Larry Laeding, who is dean of the Saginaw Valley Conference basketball coaches. Laeding has four years seniority on Van Ryzin.

The Chiefs ended the regular season with a rather dismal 4-11 record. Then something happened that was to become a trend and make Van Ryzin-coached Pontiac quints feared at state tournament time.

Pontiac High won its Class A regional but was defeated by Flint Northern in the quarter-finals.

The school, later to become Pontiac Central, collected additional regional trophies in 1949, '54, '56, '58, and '62. The Chiefs reached the state semi-finals twice.

In 1959 they lost to Hamtramck and the next year defeated ACHL Catholic 66-39 in overtime. PCH lost to Lansing Sexton, 60-56, in the 1960 championship game.

Van Ryzin's basketball handwork resulted in five district championships. The Chiefs were Saginaw Valley kings in 1957, '59 and '60.

The 1960 team was 19-3 overall. In 1957 the Chiefs were unbeaten in 10 Saginaw Valley games and 15-3 for the season. The 1959 team was 18-2.

The poorest season for a Van Ryzin coached team was 1953-54 when Pontiac High recorded a 1-9 Valley mark and was 2-14 overall.

11 STRAIGHT LOSSES

After losing their last 11 regular season contests, the Chiefs became the state tournament's Cinderella team by winning the regional. East Detroit was the stroke of midnight, however, in the quarter-finals.

Van Ryzin's style of play was a deliberate offense backed by strong defensive play. The result was 294 wins against 111 losses for Pontiac Central.

The 200th victory came against Pontiac Northern, 63-53, last February.

Zittel, 33, also graduated from Toledo. He taught and coached at Dublin school for one year before moving to PCH as social studies instructor and assistant basketball coach in 1953.

He compiled an excellent record as junior varsity mentor and for the last five years was assistant varsity coach. One of his duties was to handle the scouting of future foes.

"I played for Art here," said Zittel. "He was real good to me then and later brought me back as his assistant."

"Art helped me a great deal and I appreciate it. He did things for me he didn't have to do."

Ralph Grubb will continue as junior varsity coach.

Veteran school board member Monroe M. Osmon altered a resolution last night praising the Ryzin for his contribution to the school and community.

Van Ryzin was extended highest commendation and sincere thanks for his influence on boys on his squad. Osmon described the veteran coach as "one of the best men I've ever known, and he brought credit to Pontiac and set an example beyond reproach."

'Sophomore' Roberts Pitches Two-Hit Win

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maybe Robin Roberts has licked the sophomore jinx.

After failing in his first six starts and being charged with four defeats, the 26-year-old Baltimore Orioles right-hander has hurled three consecutive complete game victories, giving four runs and 11 hits.

Thursday night's two-hit 6-0 decision over the Washington Senators was one of the best games ever pitched by Roberts during a major-league career that includes 247 victories.

Roberts faced 29 batters, two over the minimum. He allowed edge Westside Lanes, 3-2, while Lakeland's Phil Pittman hurled a three-hitter to shutout Midgett Bar, 5-0.

El Sharrad's infield single off the pitcher's glove with the bases loaded brought in Spencer's winning run for reliever Jerry Thomas, who had stopped the three-hitter.

Tonight, Huron Bowl will play the Haskins Chevrolet at 7 p.m. and A&W Root Beer will play Dinky's Baltimore, and was voted the Hideaway at 8:30 p.m. on the Drayton Plains diamond.

Although Roberts suffered because Baltimore scored only four runs for him in the first six starts, some doubters insisted the veteran was over the hill after a four defeats, the 26-year-old Baltimore Orioles right-hander has hurled three consecutive complete game victories, giving four runs and 11 hits.

Then, with offensive support, he began to click. He beat Washington 6-1 on four hits, Chicago 4-3 on five hits, and followed with Thursday night's two-hitter.

It was the seventh complete game in 11 starts for Baltimore, which has won 9 of 16 games, and moved the Orioles into the American League lead one-half game ahead of the idle Chicago White Sox.

Roberts, who has an almost infallible memory about various aspects of his long career, could remember only one game that topped this latest effort.

"I remember one night Bobby Adams hit a home run off me to open the game," Roberts said. "I got the next 27 batters and beat Cincinnati 8-1. I didn't pitch from a stretch position all night because no one was on base."

Roberts threw only 98 pitches in recording his first American League shutout and the 36th of his career. With typical control, he threw 69 strikes and only 29 balls.

FIRST HEADACHE—Gil Hodges (14), who took over as manager of the Washington Senators last night, looks toward the bullpen as he makes his first pitching change. Starter Claude Osteen (center) was removed in the third inning. Robin Roberts of Baltimore spoiled Hodges' managerial debut by hurling a two-hit 6-0 win.

Rec Managers Call Diamond Practices

The cool, windy weather hasn't daunted the local enthusiasm for Saturday baseball practice sessions.

Tomorrow morning, the city Optimist baseball teams will have their first workouts and registration at 9:30 o'clock on Aaron Perry Park. All boys under 18 years of age may participate, or call PE 4-2629 for further information.

The same age group of Waterford Township boys is invited to practice and register at 9:30 a.m. on the WTHS diamond, or call 673-6306 for more details.

The Pontiac Boys Club Class D team will have tryouts at 1 p.m. tomorrow on the Columbia and Jody Avenue north baseball field, while on the south diamond from 2-5 p.m. will be the Talbot-Orie Inc., which stopped Lumber Company's Class A en-

BALTIMORE (AP)—When I walked to the mound the first time, then it hit me.

At that moment, Gil Hodges realized he had taken over as manager of the Washington Senators.

Hodges was describing his lone walk in the third inning of Thursday night's game to remove starter Claude Osteen after the Baltimore Orioles had rocked him for seven hits and five runs.

The short trip from the dugout deeply impressed Hodges, who was making his first pitching change since replacing Mickey Vernon as manager. He was released by the last-place New York Mets of the National League to take over the cellar-dwelling Senators of the American League.

GOOD RELIEF

The move to bring in reliever Jim Duckworth proved noteworthy. After permitting a sacrifice fly, which scored the final out, while on the south diamond from 2-5 p.m. will be the Talbot-Orie Inc., which stopped Lumber Company's Class A en-

"I didn't have to make many decisions, except defensive moves," Hodges said after the Senators lost 6-0 for the 11th defeat in 12 games.

Hodges didn't have any offensive maneuvering to do because Robin Roberts of the Orioles allowed only two base runners.

"There's not much you can say after that kind of game," Hodges said. "But I wasn't surprised by Roberts. I saw too much of him as a batter."

Hodges has no visions of accomplishing a miracle with the last-place Senators.

"It can't be done overnight, as a number of other clubs will agree," Hodges said.

"I've played for five outstanding managers. I just hope something has rubbed off on me, and I can contribute something to the success of the club."

MEETS PRESS

Hodges handled his first post-game press questioning with such ease, that someone suggested he must have had previous practice.

"I haven't, believe me," he answered with a grin.

"But I lost myself in the ninth inning," Hodges said, indicating he was doing better in the locker room than on the bench.

"I wanted to keep playing because I thought we were still in the eighth. I asked Sid (Sid Hudson, Senators' pitching coach) if Jim Coates was ready to come in to pitch. But the game was over."

"That won't be my last one," Hodges said of the mental error.

Gil Takes Long Walk

ST. LOUIS (AP)—There's never a dull moment for Pete Rozelle, 37, who has lived through three years of pressure since becoming the youngest commissioner in the National Football League in 1960.

"It's been an interesting job," said Rozelle.

Rozelle assumed his present position at 33 after the death of Commissioner Bert Bell. It was just in time for the wrangle over television broadcasting.

After that came the origin of the rival American Football League and its $10 million trust, which the NFL won. This past winter, Rozelle has had to settle the betting incident involving Green Bay's Paul Hornung and Alex Karras of Detroit. It rocked the sports world.

HE'S SATISFIED

"I've been satisfied with the way things have gone," said Rozelle. "We've been too busy keeping up with present things to even look too far into the future."

Rozelle, during the NFL owners meeting in St. Louis, announced the appointment of a Los Angeles police officer for surveillance of players in an effort to prevent further scandals.

"There are so many facets to this job that there is never a dull moment. This is the top job," Rozelle said.

Rozelle, who never got past tennis and baseball in high school, reached the top fast since his college days at San Francisco University. He was athletic publicity director and later assistant athletic director while the Dons went unbeaten in football in 1951 and the basketball team won the National Invitation Basketball Tournament.

After that, Rozelle went to the Los Angeles Rams in public relations posts and ended up general manager.

While he was at San Francisco, a friend covered sports for a local paper. His name is Pierre Salinger.

LAST CAMPAIGN—There were good moments and disappointments for Art Van Ryzin last season. The PCH cage mentor, who announced he is stepping down, was pensive when the picture was taken.

HEAD COACH—Fred Zittel, former Pontiac High athlete, moves up from the assistant's post to head basketball coach at Pontiac Central.

THE PALMER METHOD

THE FIRST MOVEMENT BACK TO THE BALL IS A CRUCIAL ONE

As you start for the bottom of the swing, give the club a downward pull. In this way, your wrists won't tend to break until they're forced to be the swing.

As you reach the top of the backswing and start back down toward the ball, your hips rotate, your shoulder turn, body weight shifts and your arms pull. Only the head remains stationary (see illustration 1).

In illustration 2, the wrists are unlocked with a snap into a straight line.

As it reaches the impact area, the clubhead picks up speed and your weight should shift from your right to your left side. Just at impact, therefore, your body should be in the position it was at address.

Tigers Play Bosox After 5-3 Triumph

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers return to the questionable comforts of the home field tonight, opening a three-game series with the Boston Red Sox. So brief is the home stay, however, that the Tigers hardly will have time to win redemption after their good trip in which they lost six of eight games.

After a third Boston game Sunday, manager Bob Sheffing's slumping club heads out again, flying to the West Coast for a series with Los Angeles that starts another foreign trip. Detroit paused from its string of setbacks by beating its Syracuse farm club of the International League in an exhibition game last night at Syracuse, N. Y., 5-3.

Paul Foytack, 6-1 in the American League from 15 innings of work, pitched the first five innings, giving up four hits and two runs, to claim the victory. Don Mossi and Bob Anderson finished.

Trades Made in National League

Another Kennedy in Washington

By The Associated Press

It wasn't an even exchange, but the New York Mets got Jimmy Piersall and the Washington Senators woundup with John F. Kennedy.

Completing a quick doubleplay without a fumble—the Senators fired the controversial Piersall over to the Mets Thursday in what appeared to be the conclusion of the deal in which Gil Hodges took over as Washington manager.

Hodges, of course, lost a ballplayer before he even got started with his new club, but the Senators gave him three in return by latching onto pitcher Pete Burnside, outfielder Barry Shetstone and an infielder named John F. Kennedy.

In another trade, Pittsburgh acquired Jerry Lynch, pinch hitter deluxe with the home run touch, from Cincinnati in a straight player deal that sent outfielder Bob Skinner to the Reds. SENT TO MINORS

At the same time, the Kansas City Athletics shipped outfielders Manny Jimenez, who hit .301 as a rookie last year, and Jose Tarrabulo to Portland while elevating Hector Martinez and John Wojcik from their Pacific Coast League farm club.

Piersall, who has had a stormy major league career that would fill a book, which he did, joins a club that really hasn't been the same since Marv Throneberry departed. He figures to be a fixture in center field and fits Manager Casey Stengel's description of "my type of player."

Piersall expressed little surprise at the deal. "I've been in baseball 16 years. You never know what's going to happen," he said. "I'm happy to go play for Stengel. He was my biggest booster when I was a rookie. He made the compliments on my fielding that caused people to begin to notice me."

Piersall did other things to make people notice him. He had frequent run-ins with umpires, exchanged words of an uncompromising nature with managers, and throughout his career has been a favorite target for hostile fans.

He should be well received by the Mets' fans, who love their own.

Piersall's credentials, despite his antics, speak well of Piersall the ballplayer. He carried a .274 lifetime average over a 15-year span into this season and is rated one of the finest fielding outfielders in the game.

To get Piersall, the Mets also sent along a bundle of cash and will ship a player to be named later to the Senators.

After completing the Piersall deal, the Senators optioned pitcher Art Quirk, called up Shetstone from their Columbus team in the International League, signed free agent Burnside and elevated Kennedy, a youngster with a famous name who last year broke in by hitting a homer in his first at-bat in the majors.

The Lynch-Skinner transaction he hit .302 last year with 20 homers and 75 runs batted in. Lynch has compiled an astonishing record as a pinch hitter. In 1961, when the Reds won the National League pennant, he collected 18 hits in 47 pinch-hit appearances and slugged five homers. He has a career total of 13 pinch homers, one shy of the major league record held by George Crowe.

That home run punch seemed to impress the Pirates. Said General Manager Joe L. Brown: "He carries a big bat and can do the job as a regular or on the bench. He's the kind of player that can spark a club."

Baseball Coach to Leave PCH

Meares Accepts Post at Centerline High

While one of the grand veterans among the coaches at Pontiac Central stepped down last night, one of the school's youngest head mentors stepped out completely. The resignation of baseball coach Louis Meares was accepted by the Board of Education. The 27-year-old diamond mentor has been at PCH for four seasons working with the school's football and baseball representatives. On the gridiron, he served PCH as team trainer and also worked with the ends. He also taught in the social studies department and it is here that he will concentrate his efforts in the future. Meares will take a teaching position at Centerline High School. Under his guidance the first three seasons, the Chiefs' diamond nines played 500 ball. The bottom did fall out this season, though, with the first victory in nine tries coming Wednesday. His replacement has not been selected.

HEADING HOME — Sophomore Greg Anderson rounds third and continues on home to score Bloomfield Hills' first run yesterday in a 5-1 win over Clarenceville that clinched at least a title tie in the Wayne-Oakland League for the winners. The Trojans' third baseman Timberlake points to the bag as though warning his mates that Anderson is heading for the plate on Dick Jantz' single to centerfield.

Avondale Wins Again; Barons Clinch W-O Tie

Avondale's late season drive carried it atop the Oakland A conference yesterday with an assist from Madison. The Yellow Jackets took Troy, 3-1, behind Dennis Acker's stingy pitching, while Madison upset Clawson, 1-0. Oak Park remained close with a 3-2 triumph over Lake Orion. Bloomfield Hills clinched a tie for the Wayne-Oakland title by pinning a 5-1 loss on Clarenceville; Clarkston swept its second straight from Brighton, 14-4; Holly surprised Milford, 5-1; and in the Inter-Lakes League Waterford bounced back at Southfield, 7-4. Kettering took Oxford, 11-4, and Romeo walloped Utica, 13-2, in non-league games.

Roger Hill singled home the only two runs Avondale needed in the fourth inning off Troy's Chuck Showalter. It marked the seventh straight win for the Yellow Jackets, and sixth in a row in the O-A. A two-out bloop single to right field scored the winning run in the seventh inning at Lake Orion. Oak Park's Zach was the winning hurler. Ron Stallings, the loser, had a first-inning trip to score one of the two Dragons' runs. John Augusten, Jay Shimmick and Jamie Miller divided the hurling for Bloomfield Hills which scored runs in the first three innings to beat O'ville. Augusten, the winner, also had a tie and single, and sophomore Greg Anderson singled two times.

RESCUE JOB
Dan Knapp rescued Holly from a third inning jam with a strike out and stopped Milford the last four innings. His mates iced the win with three runs in the sixth inning, two scoring on Robbie Wiechert's base hit. Clarkston took Brighton, 8-6 Wednesday, and 14-4 yesterday, with the aid of big second innings both days. Wolves' batters accounted for a seven-run inning the first time and 12 yesterday. Gary Pearson who won the first one, and Johnny Williams, Thursday's winner, both pounded home runs yesterday. The latter's came with the bags jammed. Larry McGuey won his third game for Waterford with the aid of three singles and three runs baited in by Dick Toles. The Skippers squared their record at 7-7 after four straight losses.

City Softball Publication Is Success

The same writing crew using a new syndicate name published its first major production of the season in the city softball American League. Harvey's Colonial House, formerly city champion SnoBol, pounded Dave's Boys, 15-3, take over the AL lead; while Howe's Lanes bounced back with a 13-3 verdict over 300 Bowl. Two International League contests saw Bud & Lou's Bar outslug Jet Bar, 18-13; and Local 683 outdid Pontiac Millwork, 13-10.

Six errors and nine hits helped Harvey's hand the Birmingham team its first loss. The winners were led by Jerry Hesse's three hits; they had three doubles and a triple, also. Eight runs in the fourth inning put Howe's out of the reach of 300 Bowl. Chuck Young had two of his three hits in the inning and scored twice. Each team yielded 10 walks and only four hits as the union team defeated Pontiac Millwork. Jet Bar hurlers walked 13 of Bud and Lou's men to lead to its five-run loss. None of the IL games count in the league standings, yet. No games are scheduled tonight.

Pontiac Northern tennis players headed for the regionals in Flint this weekend after losing a 3-2 decision to Farmington in an Inter-Lakes match yesterday. The Huskies won in singles with George Kovach defeating West Orr, 6-3 and 6-4, and in doubles with Larry Howard and Dayne Thomas taking a three setter, 3-6, 9-7 and 6-3 from Mike Bacon and Bob Clement. Barry Buffington lost the last set of a three-set match in the deciding points, 3-6, 6-3 and 8-10.

Final Practice Runs at 500

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Drivers hoping to qualify Saturday or Sunday for the 500-mile race May 30 take their cars out today for final practice runs at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Eighteen places in the 33-car starting lineup were filled tentatively last weekend. Speeds for the 10-mile qualifying run ranged from 151.153 miles per hour by Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., to 146.687 m.p.h. by Pedro Rodriguez of Mexico. Jones, who will start the race in the pole position, gave the pack some idea Thursday of what it will take to stay on the pace Memorial Day. He turned eight laps at 151 m.p.h. or better, and owner J. C. Agajanian said that is the way he will run the race. "It looks like we will have to make three pit stops judging from the tire wear we have been getting so far," Jones said. He quoted defending champion Roger Ward of Indianapolis as telling friends he plans "to take it easy and run a two-stop race."

Final Practice Runs at 500

Agajanian commented, "if they run easy enough to make a two-stop race, they'll be two laps behind us." Several other drivers topped 150 m.p.h. in Thursday's practice. Masten Gregory of Paris, who qualified last weekend in a Mickey Thompson car, the Harvey Alhimum Special, hit 150.4 m.p.h. in another Thompson car, the Harvey-Titanium Special. It was the first time one of the Chevrolet-powered Thompson had been over 150.

Snell to Face Tough Milers

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — New Zealand's world record holder Peter Snell faces a rugged task in the one mile run feature of the California Relay Saturday.

With American citizens record owner Beatty in the latest edition of the "Mile of the Century" are two of his teammates from the Los Angeles Track Club—Jim Grelle and Bobby Seaman, both also sub-four-minute milers.

Snell is "a little bothered" by possible strategy of the LATC runners, who can set up a race with deliberate pacing.

Still he recalls, "I've never been boxed yet, except in the 800 at the Rome Olympics and I won then, so it didn't matter. Perhaps there is a boxing situation, it will make me run better."

Snell, 24, usually runs off the pace and closes with a fast kick, the same as Beatty. So the strategy will be interesting to follow for the 8,000 fans in the Modesto Junior College Stadium and a national television audience (ABC) at 8:45 p.m. EST.

Log-Jam to Breakup in Memphis Open

MEMPHIS (AP) — With rising temperatures promising to aid back among the leaders.

The ace, Nicklaus' first as a pro and the fifth in his career, came on a sharp six-iron wrap down the 185-yard third hole. The ball hit a bank at the right of the green, took a hard kick left and slammed the pin.

A chill breeze most of the day sent scores soaring until an afternoon sun warmed the course. Only

Jack Nicklaus, the tour's leading money winner, put on the best show among early leaders with a hole-in-one on the short, par 3 third hole.

CLOSE BEHIND
In close pursuit at 68 were Jack McGowan of Largo, Fla., Dave Hill of Jackson, Mich., Miller Barber of San Antonio, Don Skis of Jacksonville, Fla., George Knudson of Toronto, and Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y.

Nicklaus, the pre-tournament favorite who won the Colonial Invitational Tournament on this same course as an amateur in 1960, almost took the lead for his own but a couple of late bogeys on 15 and 21 golfers broke par, compared to the 37 who beat it in the opening round last year.

Four strokes off the pace but Herbert of Lafayette, La., defending champion who fired a 71.

How do you know when your shock absorbers are dangerously bad? Your car "bottoms" on bumps, "lurches" at stops, "leans" on curves. There's uneven tire wear. Ask a United Delco serviceman to check your car now. He can spot trouble before it begins. He recommends Delco Superlide shock absorbers. They have a nylon-skirted piston which prevents metal-to-metal wear between piston and cylinder. Your car rides smoother longer.

Delco Superlide shock absorbers are distributed nationally through United Delco.

The 11th Frame

The warm weather takes its toll at the bowling houses as more and more winter indoor recreation enthusiasts seek the sunshine-and-fresh air life.

Many area bowling establishments have begun their curtailed schedules, opening much later in the day. League activity has diminished but by no means is at a standstill.

In fact, if the cool nights continue, there may be a rush back to the steadier atmosphere of the bowling houses by many discouraged "outdoors-lovers."

Even the rash of bowling banquets, very well put on and quite enjoyable to the palate, has subsided. A hearty, well fed "gracious" from the 11th Frame for all the kind invitations is deemed proper at this time.

Congratulations are in order, also, to all the league and tournament champions in the area, and to all the bowling organizations (there are many) who finished with all the books penned in black ink.

A recent tournament victory not previously recognized was the $500 win posted by Harold DeLongchamp and Allen Gault of Clarkson in the Milford Doubles Tournament at Fairgrounds Bowling.

NATIONAL SCENE
A national tournament of interest is slated for Wednesday at Madison Square Garden in New York. The one-day Ruppert-Brunswick Tournament of Champions will be bowled that day by Billy Golumbowski of Detroit the defending champion.

Billy "B" has won the affair the past three years. Defending her two-year string among the women will be Shirley Garms of Chicago. First place is worth $2,000.

The recent Bowling Proprietors' Association of America National Women's Doubles Championship entered the names of Mary Mochaeli, Livonia, and Ethel Hanna, Roseville, in its record book. The ladies rolled a 489 team game, good for fifth place on the tourney's all-time list.

At Skokie, Ill., this month, they had the U.S. Seniors Bowling Association tournament with 71-year-old Sam Somenzi of Highland Park, and Vic Deuble, 73, of Chicago, winning the handicap and scratch events, respectively.

Somenzi had a 632-60—603 total and Deuble rolled a 648 actual. In the Ninety Plus event, 90-year-old Fred Holmes only needed his 278 (three games) plus 246 handicap for 514 total to win.

LONDON (AP) — ... French G. Powers has been charged with espionage and Premier Nikita Khrushchev has promised "We shall try him—try him severely as a spy."

This was reported today by the Soviet news agency Tass.

The penalty for espionage is the death sentence.

36 years in prison to execution by firing squad.

The latest developments were announced in Tass broadcasts from Moscow today in the wake of the news conference Khrushchev held Wednesday at the Moscow exhibit of espionage articles which the Soviets say Powers carried when he was dropped May 1.

Part of Western correspondents' dispatches on the news conference had been held up in Moscow overnight. The Tass account of the news conference was carried after the news conference took place.

Q. "Will this plane incident influence Soviet public opinion when Eisenhower comes to Moscow?"

A. "I would not like to be in Eisenhower's shoes. I would not like to see what the reaction would be to his coming to Moscow."

questions will be asked of course. Animation, laughter.

"I would put it this way: One person, namely U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, has helped the President particularly in this respect. At his own request, Herter made a trip to Moscow."

that this will continue in the future.

"Only countries which have been at war can speak with authority on this subject."

Herter's statement has made our earlier conclusions that the President of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, to account, Dulles, (turf), would have exposed the government by saying he carried a plan approved by it, and, subsequently, endorsed by the government, I proceed to make that was made.

Taking a Breather

Stock Mart Stuck in Doldrums

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market wallowed in the doldrums after a brief Friday afternoon. Prices were mixed and changes of key issues were narrow. Trading was moderately active. Brokers said that although the business news background was considered favorable, the market apparently was taking a breather from the spring advance before the Dow Jones industrial average makes another attempt to surmount its historic highs.

To Investigate

Sugar Prices

Senate Unit to Probe Soaring Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Finance Committee will open an investigation into soaring sugar prices as soon as possible, Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said today.

He announced the inquiry after Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said the sugar prices in his state of Montana and urged that as study be made of whether speculators are trying to "rig" the market.

The Senate inquiry will parallel one already ordered by a House banking subcommittee. Byrd told a reporter his committee will start its investigation "as soon as we can."

Mansfield wrote Byrd that he understands there are "surpluses of sugar on hand and that most of the countries are fulfilling their quota agreements." He added:

"I would express the hope, Mr. Chairman, that there is no attempt being made by speculators or others to 'rig' the price of such a basic commodity as sugar."

Savings Aiding Credit

NEW YORK—Mounting savings of American citizens are keeping credit easy. And the results are beginning to spill over into many fields.

Easier terms for some borrowers, such as auto and home buyers and a corporate treasurer; isolated declines in the dividends of some stocks.

Savings began pouring into lending institutions about 18 months ago when they raised their interest payments. The trend was speeded up when the stock market crash a year ago frightened many small investors.

COMPETITION To pay higher interest on much larger savings accounts the banks began competing with the savings and loan groups for mortgages, which yield more than do government or corporate bonds.

This competition has kept the mortgage market easy. Rates still are low.

McNamara's Revamping of Military Almost Complete

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Structural change is under way at the Pentagon, Elton C. Fay, who has covered the Pentagon beat for the Associated Press for two decades, reviews the situation in the following article.)

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's vast revamping of the military establishment — its administrative organization, its chain of command, its multi-billion-dollar operation — is all but complete.

Reorganization of the Navy remains to be completed. Some final moving around of offices, furniture and people in other agencies to carry out consolidation plans will continue for some months more, although the broad changes have been made.

The revamping has been done without asking Congress for new legislation, with McNamara acting under provisions of the uniform law and its revisions.

Criticism by Congress members generally has been restrained.

But within the military, there have been stated objections by some officers, sharp private disagreement by others. One of the high commanders is on the way out, with McNamara opposing reappointment of Adm. George W. Anderson to a second term as chief of naval operations. And Gen. Curtis E. LeMay was given only half of a usual two-year tenure for his reappointment as Air Force chief of staff.

BRASS SILENT
A deep and pervading silence

has settled among generals and admirals.

Will this end disputes within the Pentagon? President Kennedy does not think so.

"I am sure there'll continue to be disputes," he says.

The people in the Pentagon are strong-minded men. Says Kennedy, but completely loyal to their country. He says, too, that "we have to have a secretary to make the final judgment."

Some officers worry that the thrust of McNamara's reorganization is toward eventual merger of the services into one single unit.

No, says McNamara's aides. "We aren't unifying the services. We are unifying the effort."

They mention his "package program under which each service with a similar function has been brought under central, coordinated direction. Examples are the strategic roles of the Air Force and Navy and the tactical roles of the Army and Air Force, now in a combined "Strike Command."

As a former automobile executive McNamara is a product of the industrial world. To him, the reorganization spells "cost effectiveness" — getting back the worst of investment in dollars and manpower for national defense.

In the uniformed military family, the objections are not more effectiveness, but to McNamara's techniques.

CIVILIAN STRATEGY

There is a feeling in the Pentagon that the military man, including those on the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is being downgraded and passed, that strategy is being devised by civilians and orders issued directly by civilians to military commands.

McNamara denies he ignores the Joint Chiefs of Staff in his decision-making. He was asked about his relations with the chiefs during a hearing by the House Armed Services Committee earlier this year.

He said he tries to anticipate "controversial issues" in advance and asks the chiefs to study and report their views. He then reviews their opinions and prepares a written report for the President.

"If in this memorandum the conclusions differ from those of the chiefs, I will also include the views of the chiefs, and if they are split I include the split views of the chiefs and the reasons for those views in contrast to the reasons for my own recommendations," McNamara says.

Reorganization, of course, isn't the only point of dispute that has shaken the Pentagon in these recent months.

There is the TFX.

In this argument, everybody has joined — the Pentagon civilians, the military, Congress and the public.

It almost certainly was an element in McNamara's disapproval of continuing Anderson in his job and cutting down the time left for LeMay.

Three chiefs — Anderson, LeMay and Gen. Earl G. Wheeler of the Army — recommended that the contract for development of the new long range fighter-bomber against him.

for the Air Force and Navy go to the Boeing Co., the lower of two bidders.

But McNamara, supported by the civilian secretaries of the Air Force and Navy, Eugene M. Zuckert and Fred Korth — held that Boeing's bid was unrealistic and awarded it to the General Dynamics Corp.

A Senate committee opened an investigation. It is still going on. McNamara testified early in the hearing, requested an opportunity to reappear later.

Only once during the hearing has there been anything reported that resembled courtroom drama. McNamara was described as showing emotion during one of the closed sessions, telling the senators that his young son wanted to know when he would be cleared of complaints leveled against him.

There are two versions of this incident. One said that McNamara impulsively telling the story to the senators, broke down and cried — an account denied by Pentagon officials.

The other version: McNamara, en route that morning to the hearing, told an associate that he would cite the incident as an example of the pressures which had come upon him as a result of the TFX matter.

Those who look upon McNamara as a computer-activated man — with a detailed plan for every contingency — like the latter version.

Others accept the first version, say it shows he is human and is struggling under the immense burden of administering the nation's largest government establishment.

Won't Reject Group's Award

But Broomfield Says He's Not Affiliated

William S. Broomfield said today he would not reject a citation from the Americans for Constitutional Action (ACA) as U.S. Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Traverse City, did yesterday.

However, Broomfield, Oakland County's Republican congressman, said he was "not affiliated with" ACA, a conservative group.

Griffin declined to accept the ACA's distinguished service award because, "I don't care to be labeled by any organization."

He said awards of this sort suggest a "special affiliation with the organization."

Broomfield did not agree that acceptance of the award indicated any affiliation. He added that ACA had never sought to influence his vote on any matter.

He and Griffin were among nine Michigan Republican congressmen named by the ACA for the awards on the basis of voting records ACA said indicated the congressmen "upheld principles of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution."

A total of 154 U.S. senators and representatives was named.

Other Michigan congressmen named were George Meader of Ann Arbor, August E. Johanson of Battle Creek, Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Grand Rapids, Charles E. Chamberlain of East Lansing, James Harvey of Saginaw, Elford A. Cederberg of Bay City and Victor A. Knox of Sault Ste. Marie.

Chrysler Says Saturn to Last

DALLAS, Texas (AP) — Chrysler's Saturn boosters will be the space age's work horses and are likely to enjoy "long term employment," H. W. Lowrey, president of the company's space division, predicted yesterday.

Lowrey spoke of Chrysler's contributions to space conquest and of a future moon landing with the aid of the Saturns in an address to the Aviation Space Writers Association.

He said that a lunar landing by itself will not tell all that must be known "if we are to reach the planets."

'Marilyn' Entertainment Lacking

HOLLYWOOD — "Marilyn" is the title of a new movie that 20th Century-Fox has fashioned out of some old ones.

Rocky to See if N.Y. Happy With 'Happy'

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, back from an 18-day honeymoon, says he plans to take his attractive, 36-year-old bride on a tour of the state after they "get settled."

Such a tour could test voter reaction to the marriage of the 54-year-old governor and the former Margaretta Fidler Murphy, both of whom had been divorced.

Numerous politicians and clergymen across the country have debated the propriety of the marriage and its effect on the political future of the governor, a likely contender for the Republican presidential nomination next year.

Rockefeller was silent on his wife's arrival at Idlewild Airport Thursday night from their honeymoon in Venezuela and the Virgin Islands.

The governor smilingly said, "We certainly are" when asked if he and Mrs. Rockefeller were happy. But he turned away from newsmen anxious to ask him about his political plans.

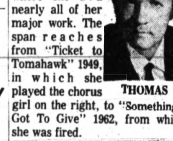

Ex-Con Sentenced for Plant Assault

A 37-year-old ex-convict from Detroit was sentenced to one year in the Oakland County jail yesterday for aggravated assault on a foreman at the Wixom Ford Motor Co. plant.

John E. Merritt, who once served six years in prison for armed robbery, was sentenced by Circuit Judge William J. Merritt's trial on a charge of felonious assault was in process when he entered a guilty plea to the lesser charge and Judge Merritt accepted.

He was accused of attacking George E. Haase, 29, of Detroit, with a wet sanding wheel.

It is an account of the acting career of Marilyn Monroe as seen in the films she made at Fox, where she did nearly all of her major work. The span reaches from "Ticket to Tomahawk" 1949, in which she played the chorus girl on the right, to "Something's Got to Give" 1962, from which she was fired.

As film entertainment, "Marilyn" has its limitations. The only element that ties it together is a murky narration delivered with as much grace as possible by Rocky Hudson. The film concentrates only on the Monroe acting career, which had little variety. Her personal life, which was more dramatic than anything she ever played on the screen, isn't mentioned.

Despite all this, "Marilyn" has a certain fascination as a saga of sorts. First we see Marilyn, still in the chorus, turning on the personality like chorus girls from time immemorial. Then she steps up in class with a bit in "All About Eve" ("The Asphalt Jungle," an MGM film, first caused her to be noticed). Despite the competition

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Botulism Is Worst Type of Food Poisoning

Food poisoning may be caused by several different kinds of contamination. The most serious type is botulism, which is caused by the poison given off by the germ Clostridium botulinum. Other kinds of food poisoning may make you very sick for a day or two, but botulism is fatal.

The germ itself is found in the soil and can be swallowed without harm. It will grow only in complete absence of oxygen.

When it finds its way into canned goods, it will grow if the heating of the food was insufficient to kill it.

That is why home-canned goods have been incriminated much more often than food commercially canned.

While the cans sit on the shelf, any of the germs that are present and alive have ample time to produce the poison which paralyzes the heart and the respiratory center of the brain.

This poison is odorless and tasteless and produces no fermentation or discoloration in the food. Thus it gives no warning of its presence.

If botulism is suspected in any canned goods, thorough heating to the boiling point will destroy the poison.

Recent cases of botulism food poisoning due to improperly canned tuna fish were the first instances in 35 years of botulism from commercially canned food in this country. What break in approved sanitary procedure was responsible had not been determined.

Although meats of all kinds are the foods most commonly responsible for botulism, this type of food poisoning has been found in string beans, corn, peas, spinach, olives and other foods that have not been properly canned.

If you were to eat a food that contained this poison, symptoms would usually appear within 18 to 36 hours. They would include pains in the chest, breathing difficulty, double vision, and sometimes vomiting.

Which this disease strikes, it is often not recognized in time to do any good.

If it is suspected, botulism antitoxin or toxin should be given to any other persons who have eaten the contaminated food. When the symptoms have developed, however, it is usually too late for these measures to help.

700 Refugees Arrive in Florida From Havana

PORT EVERGLADES, Fla. (UPI) — An estimated 700 Cuban refugees arrived today from Havana aboard the U.S. ship Morning Light. It was the sixth shipload to sail to freedom since last December.

The vessel left Havana at 5:40 p.m. yesterday.

Five other ships and a number of mercy flights have delivered hundreds of 7,000 refugees from Cuba since the launching of 1,113 Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners Dec. 23-24 started the exodus.

The allotment also includes funds for restoring the portraits of former Michigan governors. The portraits and flags are on display at the State Capitol.

19,000 Flock to See Vision of Virgin Mary

ALICE, Tex. (AP) — People are flocking to a farm near this South Texas town where a housewife says she saw a vision of the Virgin Mary on an old water tank.

County officials estimate 19,000 persons have visited the farm since Mrs. Tony Botello Sr. posted seeing the image April 17.

A charge of $1 per car by the farm owner hasn't reduced the traffic, they said.

Coop Allowed to Relax...a Bit

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Space hero L. Gordon Cooper, hoping for a bit of normal living, began a brief rest today before plunging into the job of preparing the technical report on his 22-orbit flight.

Manned Spacecraft Center would have little time for relaxing before it's back to work with doctors, engineers and others in completing the report.

Based on time spent by other astronauts, it should take four to six weeks to complete the account.

Cooper, his pretty brunette wife Trudy and daughters Camala, 14, and Janita, 13, returned Thursday and were cheered by thousands at a homecoming parade.

The Coopers had experienced similar celebrations in Washington, Cape Canaveral, Fla., New York and Honolulu since his space flight.

"It might be good to be back," he said. "Maybe we can settle down now to a little normal living."

"I am so happy to be back and so proud of my husband," Mrs. Cooper said.

300,000 ATTEND

The Houston parade was minor compared to the gigantic celebration Wednesday in New York, but the Houston police traffic chief, Tom Sawyer, estimated 300,000 persons lined the 32-block route. Perched on the back seat of a convertible, Cooper smiled and waved. Mrs. Cooper sat beside her husband. Their two daughters were below them in the seat.

Thousands of school children were dismissed from classes so they could watch the parade. It bouquet of red roses at the air-

ROMNEY SIGNS BILL TO RESTORE FLAGS

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney yesterday signed into law an appropriations measure allotting $13,500 for restoration of 211 flags carried by Michigan regiments in the Civil War, Spanish-American War and both world wars.

The allotment also includes funds for restoring the portraits of former Michigan governors. The portraits and flags are on display at the State Capitol.

Romney signed the bill just before today's "heritage day" observance of "Michigan Week."

The farm, owned by Jack B. Butler of Alice, is rented by the Botello family.

Mrs. Botello, about 35 and a mother of three, said she saw the vision about 7 a.m. as she gazed from a kitchen window. Some visitors claim they cause an image in the wood of the tank but others think it is a grain deviation.

Three areas of party activity were given priority for special treatment last night at a meeting of Republican leaders intent on keeping the GOP in top political trim for the 1964 elections.

Some 46 Oakland County GOP leaders and two representatives of GOP State Central discussed plans to emphasize research, education and finance in getting ready for 1964.

GOP State Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr. and his assistant, John A. (Jack) Gibbs, outlined the state party organization's plan to strengthen the state GOP by working closely with and assisting county and local party groups in these three areas.

Research activity will be focused on "profiles" of all counties and districts.

These are reports that will give candidates economic, social, ethnic and religious information about the people in the area in which they seek office.

The Oakland County GOP's program of economic "profiles" will be expanded to include the other types of information.

Elliott and Gibbs explained explained State Central's plan to supply educational materials to local party organizations, especially "position papers" explaining the party's stand on issues.

Discussion on stepping up fund-raising programs revolved about the universal policy of political party organizations — the need for more money.

ROLL YOUR OWN — If you haven't got a road, you can always roll one of your own, says the British Army, which demonstrated this truck laying a flexible track in front of it as it moves. The vehicle can put down 55 yards of road in 11 seconds.

Mission Has Ups and Downs

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In addition to having the astronauts to cheer about, we also can be proud of the dedicated young men who operate the elevators in the U.S. Capitol.

If such statistics were available, I believe they would show that your chances of getting where you want to go in a Capitol elevator are most as good as they are in a space capsule.

When astronaut L. Gordon Cooper visited the Capitol this week to address a joint meeting of Congress, elaborate precautions were taken to make certain the elevator he rode in was functioning properly.

WEST

Technicians carefully checked over the engine room equipment and then stood by in case trouble developed.

At approximately 7-minutes-20, an inspector from the elevator company rode up and down several times to make certain that everything was shipshape at the capsule.

THE PILOT

The mission of lifting Cooper from the street level to the second floor, a vertical distance of some 15 feet, was carried out by David Muchow, 18, of Winter Haven, Fla.

David runs an elevator to help pay his expenses at Georgetown University here.

He has only been in training since last August, but is generally agreed that he is one of the most skilled and reliable operators at the Capitol.

"I wanted to take him up," Muchow told me in an exclusive interview. "So Gene let me substitute for him."

Eugene Buccell, who normally runs the elevator at that hour, handed over the controls to Muchow and assumed the role of back-up operator.

At about 7-minutes, a secret service man told Muchow to "freeze" the elevator on the street level and cut off the buzzer and signal lights. When the lift-up finally came, Muchow was ready.

"It was a real smooth ride," he said. "There wasn't a hitch at all."

"Were you nervous?" I asked. "Not really," he said. "The secret service had thoroughly briefed me on the procedure. I never had any doubts that the mission would be a success."

Had he become flustered and pushed the handle to the right instead of the left, the elevator would have gone down instead of up.

But when the pressure was on and the chips were down, Muchow came through.

Liz'll Have to Buy Ticket to See Liz, Says Zanuck

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Darryl Zanuck believes there's a good chance that Liz Taylor and Richard Burton will attend the "Cleopatra" world premiere here June 12—but otherwise, they'll see it, he says, "when they buy tickets... like everybody else."

"Do columnists really have to buy tickets?" I asked D. Z.

"They sure do," he said. "I'm paying for my seats—at $100 a crack—for the charity premiere. For Elizabeth, who has 10 per cent of the gross, we might give her a discount."

"Why are there no free tickets?" "Very simple," Zanuck replied. "We can't afford it."

While predicting that "Cleopatra" will "gross as much as any picture will ever be capable of grossing," he said that if it grosses $50 million, Liz will get $5 million "but we will have lost $12 million," because 26th Century-Fox must gross $62 million to break even.

Sudden worry: I hope somebody remembers to invite Sibyl Burton... and Eddie Fisher.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

London papers say ex-Queen Saraya may do "Hamlet" on Broadway with Max Schell... Champion insultor Don Rickles'll portray Babe Ruth in a TV'er... Gen. de Gaulle unbent a little and had Marlene Dietrich in as a lunch guest... Joey Bishop's new Beverly Hills home is a 1900's shack.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Auto accident statistics prove that telegraph poles are getting more careless all the time.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "The people sensible enough to give good advice are generally sensible enough to give none."

EARL'S PEARLS: The weather has been so uncertain in Chicago, reports Jack Herbert, that the hardware stores are selling lawnmowers with snow tires... That's early, brother.

A New Bonanza

Famed TV Father to Take Wife

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK—Some pretty up-setting news has come out of the Old West: Adam Cartwright, the souful, dark and rather brooding son of the Ponderosa, will take a wife sometime next season.

HIGH LEVEL

The marriage has been arranged on a very high level—it was announced by "Bonanza's" producer and NBC—and auditions are in progress to find just the right girl for Adam. But as a veteran viewer, I wouldn't make any bets on Adam's Eve ever reaching the altar.

In the very first place, who ever heard of a married western hero? From the days of William S. Hart and Tom Mix, these brave boys in the big hats have loved their horses, their cattle, their land, justice and underdogs. Although they could get mighty attracted to the local schoolmarm or a neighboring rancher's daughter, when the windup came, they'd sadly but bravely climb back on their faithful steeds and go riding off into the setting sun.

Disabled Veterans Will Install Officers

Two years ago, a scheme to get a steady girl and perhaps even a wife ultimately for Chuck Connors, the widower of "The Rifleman," just didn't work out.

TIED DOWN

The romance was destroyed by the typewriters who fell their typewriters were tied down. So this season they came up with a new girl for him.

Matrimony, as a matter of fact, is stultifying for more than western heroes. Originally lawyer Laurence Preston of "The Defenders" was supposed to have a wife, but he suddenly became a widower after they shot the pilot film.

Those assuming office in the DAV include James W. Coward, senior vice commander; Andrew Spock, junior vice commander; James Feagles, treasurer; Herbert Schroeder, adjutant; and Charles Brevin, chaplain.

Auxiliary officers include Mrs. Edna Olmsted, commander; Mrs. Julia Thomas, senior vice commander; Mrs. Kate Tuson, junior vice commander; Mrs. Hilde L. Londe, chaplain; and Mrs. Ray Jewell, treasurer.

He has only been in training since last August, but is generally agreed that he is one of the most skilled and reliable operators at the Capitol.

"I wanted to take him up," Muchow told me in an exclusive interview. "So Gene let me substitute for him."

Rosy Forecast at Ford Meeting

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES
DETROIT—A rosy future for the automotive industry was forecast yesterday at Ford Motor Co.'s annual meeting. And Board Chairman Henry Ford II said certain weak spots which have shown up in the nation's economy justify a broad tax cut.

Newly elected Ford President Arjay R. Miller told the more than 1,000 stockholders who attended the meeting that the company anticipated car sales would average close to the seven-million mark for the next few years.

"Of particular importance in the outlook is the consistent increase in disposable income," Miller said.

"This is the income people have left to spend after they have paid their taxes. Disposable income has increased each year in spite of recessions. This year's income is almost 50 per cent higher than in 1955."

FORD'S VIEWS
After the routine business of the meeting was concluded, Ford gave his views on the national business situation.

He said that "despite the general prosperity we are enjoying, there has been a persistent slack during the last five years in employment, in business investments and in business profits."

Ford said the administration "has made some gestures to wards—but has not really committed itself—towards a program to strengthen the private economy."

Pontiac Motor Hitting Records

Boom Sales Continue Throughout Industry

Pontiac Motor Division continued to set divisional records during the mid-May sales period, as new car sales continued to boom throughout the auto industry.

There were 17,943 Pontiacs and Tempests sold May 11-20, said Frank V. Bridge, general sales manager.

"This surpasses the previous mid-May record of 17,324 established in 1955," he noted, "and is 21 per cent better than the same period last year."

It was the 16th sales record set in a 10-day period by Pontiac Motor this model year.

Elsewhere in the auto industry, major manufacturers reported mid-May sales were the highest in years.

Buick reported a 47 per cent gain over the period a year ago. This mid-May, Buick sold 14,927 cars, the best since 1956.

Chevrolet reported 78,277 cars and trucks sold during the period. This amounted to an average of 9,785 units delivered daily, within 560 vehicles of the record 79,214 cars and trucks sold during the same period last year.

The greatest increase reported, 108 per cent, came from Plymouth-Vauxhall dealers, who sold 14,796 cars in mid-May, the best for that period since 1960.

Chrysler Corp. reported the highest mid-May car sales since 1957. Sales of 28,337 cars topped the same period of 1962 by 77 per cent, Chrysler said.

Dodge sold 10,687 cars, an increase of 94 per cent over the 1963 period.

Ford Division earlier reported an all-time record mid-May sales total of 53,964 cars and trucks.

Rambler sales in mid-May were 13,254, up from 11,974 in mid-May last year.

Dems to Ask Overhaul of Voting Setup

Claim Irregularities Discovered in Current New-Con Recount

LANSING (AP) — The Democratic party will call for a thorough overhaul of election procedures and laws after the current recount of the new constitution is complete — regardless of the outcome.

Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency indicated in a speech in Marshall yesterday that his party holds little hope of overturning the result by which the document was approved by voters April 1.

But he said ballot box irregularities discovered by recount teams are turning the procedure into "a complete farce" and added:

"When this recount is finished, we intend to issue a full and detailed report and analysis of our findings. Present indications are that it is going to make disturbing reading."

Republicans and State Elections Director Robert Montgomery countered Ferency's statements by saying the criticisms were not justified, and GOP State Chairman Arthur Elliott Jr. accused him of "displaying sorehead, obstructionist tactics."

With recount totals in from 392 precincts and 14 of the 77 counties involved completed yesterday, figures showed a net loss of 108 yes votes in the original margin of 7,229 by which the constitution was adopted.

This was based on a loss of 62 yes votes and a gain of 46 no votes.

STILL AT WORK
Recount teams were still at work in 22 counties today, with few more expected to be completed.

The Democrats have petitioned for a recount of Ball Precincts and the coordinating committee for the new constitution has filed a counter-petition for 78 precincts.

Ferency, speaking to the Calhoun County Business and Professional Association, said the recount effort was being "hampered" by election workers' misreading of ballots on election night.

"There is hardly a county among the 77 we petitioned which did not have one or more precincts found uncountable due to such irregularities," he said.

Ill-Matched Panels Stall Center Finish

Completion of the Oakland County Service Center auditorium, slated for June 15, will be delayed until September, Robert Lilly, secretary of the County Board of Auditors, announced today.

The delay resulted with the arrival of 50 ill-matched mahogany veneer panels from a Wisconsin mill, said Lilly.

The 4-by-16-foot panels, costing several thousand dollars, were meant to provide the finishing surface of inner walls of the nearly completed $800,000 auditorium.

However, it was discovered that the grain of the mahogany veneer failed to match in each instance.

The matching is important because the panels are to be lightly varnished, letting the natural grain show through.

Lilly said the panels will be replaced at no financial loss to the county. "The cost of replacement will be borne by the contractor," he said.

NEW PANELS
According to County Engineer Joseph Joachim, new panels are expected from the Egger Plywood Co. mill at Two Rivers, Wis., in four or five weeks.

The additional delay results because other phases of final construction must await the new panels, said Joachim. Being held up are the laying of carpeting, installation of seating and final trim work.

Lilly said the error resulted from improper ordering by the contractor.

"The delay won't hurt the county too badly because we have few summer meetings," noted Lilly.

The 132-seat auditorium is intended primarily to serve the County Board of Supervisors. The facility also will be available for other groups acting in the general interest of the community, according to the board.

Pontiac Bids for Med School

Osteopathic Doctors Consider Local Sites

Pontiac made its bid yesterday for a proposed $30-million osteopathic medical college.

Officials of the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons (MAOPS) expressed pleasure at the "cooperation and interest displayed by local officials."

City officials and civic leaders met with osteopaths to outline local sites which could be available for the 80-acre campus here.

The college would graduate nurses and technicians as well as osteopathic physicians.

Representing the MAOPS were Dr. Donald L. Cummings of Grand Rapids, chairman of the College Development Committee, and Dr. Allen Polts, of Royal Oak, chairman of the Building and Sites Committee.

They said that tentative plans call for the MAOPS to spend $100,000 on land purchase and another $160,000 on improving the site before starting construction.

They estimated that about two-thirds of the cost of the college would come from federal aid to higher education.

Dr. Cummings said that he personally, hoped to start building in two years and enroll the first class by 1969.

FACILITY SIZE
The college would require a minimum of two hospital beds per student for training.

"We're thinking in terms of a 600-bed facility," Dr. Cummings said. "This can be accomplished either by building our own hospital or making use of an existing one."

The osteopaths are eyeing Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, with a current 406-bed capacity and room for more expansion.

The college site of most interest to them is an area immediately east of the hospital. This site is north and east of the civic center and could range from 60 to 100 acres in size.

Other alternate sites include a 34-acre parcel on Telegraph across from Pontiac Mall which the city is negotiating to buy from the state; a 137-acre site bounded by Giddings, Walton and Perry; and 421 acres south of Featherstone between the Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks and city limits.

Dr. Polts said he felt certain Pontiac would get "thorough consideration" from his committee when it comes time to select a site.

Detroit, Grand Rapids, Flint, Muskegon and Lansing are also being considered.

4-Point Plan Would Beef Up Nuclear Power

Atlantic Pact Stands Firm on Berlin, Tells of Cuba Concern

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP) — A draft communiqué prepared for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council of Ministers today set forth a four-point program to beef up the nuclear power of NATO.

At the same time, the document said the group remained concerned about the continued presence of Soviet forces in Cuba and recent threats to peace in Laos.

It served notice, too, that the 15 Atlantic Pact members stand firm on their 1953 pledge to guard the freedom and security of West Berlin against the persisting menace of a Red take-over.

As disclosed by diplomats, the program in the draft communiqué lays down:

1. The assignment of Britain's V-bomber force and three American Polaris submarines, with their H-weapons, to Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, supreme Allied commander, Europe.

2. Establishment by Lemnitzer at his headquarters near Paris of a deputy to take charge of nuclear affairs. The deputy has not yet been chosen although a Dutch general is being considered for the post.

3. Arrangements for NATO member states to participate in nuclear activities in Allied commands and in coordination of operational planning at Omaha, Neb., headquarters of the U.S. Strategic Air Command.

4. Interchange of fuller nuclear information from member countries, both in a military and policy sense.

AIM OF MEASURES
The joint communiqué, which is expected to win formal approval of the NATO foreign ministers, said the four measures had been designed to:

"Increase the effectiveness of the nuclear capability at the disposal of the Alliance and to improve coordination and control of its nuclear deterrent forces."

"The statement had been carefully negotiated between France and her partners during the past several weeks."

French President Charles de Gaulle was anxious to avoid any impression that the inter-Allied nuclear force represents a grand new structure heralding an era of closer North American and European cooperation.

SYMBOL OF READINESS
The American and British authors of the force, however, wanted to get it going as a symbol of their readiness to share some of their secrets and strike powers with the nonnuclear members of NATO.

On East-West problems, inside and outside the NATO area, the draft communiqué said "tensions and difficulties continue to exist" and "have a profound effect on the Alliance."

It went on:

"Soviet forces remain in Cuba; and the situation there, with its repercussions in the region generally, still gives cause for concern. Ministers also expressed their disquiet over recent events in Laos and stressed the importance of sustained efforts to secure respect for the Geneva agreements."

Turning to Germany and Berlin, the statement observed that the threat has certainly not disappeared.

In this declaration, the Alliance as a whole made plain any attack on West Berlin would be deemed an attack on NATO territory.

Appointed to Position for UF Drive

Stuart E. Whitfield, vice president of the Pontiac State Bank, has been named chairman of the commercial division of the 1963 Pontiac Area United Fund Campaign.

The appointment was announced today by E. M. Estes, general chairman of this year's drive, which begins Oct. 15. No goal has been set at this date.

Whitfield has been active in other United Fund campaigns, having previously served as commercial division chairman and also as chairman of the drive's gift committee.

A native of Pontiac, he lives at 286 Cherokee.

Active in civic affairs, he has been president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary and City clubs. He has been vice president of Pontiac State Bank since 1956.

Last year, the commercial division raised $196,188, or 104 per cent of its goal.

U.S., Canada Set Dedication of Soo Bridge

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—The flow of traffic over the newest bridge between the U.S. and Canada was to slow momentarily today while officials of both countries joined in formal dedication ceremonies.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan and Ontario Premier John P. Roberts headed delegations from their respective nations at ceremonies on each side in the middle of the St. Marys River.

The bridge was opened Oct. 21 in similar ceremonies and some 200,000 cars have used it since then.

Today's formal dedication, however, is being held as one of the many events of the 10th annual "Michigan Week."

The two-mile bridge, spanning over the St. Marys rapids at the west end of the world-famous Soo Locks, was built jointly by the United States and Canada and will be maintained by both nations.

A busy schedule of festivities was sandwiched between an opening parade in downtown Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and a closing parade in the sister city with American side.

From Our News Wires
NAIROBI, Kenya — Three Somalis were shot to death and others wounded today when police fired into an angry mob that surrounded voters in a polling booth in Isiole, on Kenya's northern frontier.

MONTPELIER, Vt. — Police and more than 300 rioting Norwich University cadets traded blows for an hour last night as violence erupted during a party held at Vermont College, a 500-student girl school. Police fired warning shots and tear gas grenades at the height of the riot.

WASHINGTON — Backers of a bill to provide federal funds for so-called impacted school districts, but barring them to racially segregated schools, pushed for final House committee action today.

KATMANDU, Nepal — The American Everest expedition asked today for an emergency helicopter flight to take Barry C. Bishop and William Ussell to a hospital in Katmandu. A radio report from the base camp said they were frostbitten on all their toes during a night spent without shelter 28,000 feet up.

WASHINGTON — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., today asked the Senate Finance Committee to investigate what he called skyrocketing increases in the price of sugar.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pope John XXIII continued to show progressive improvement today and did a bit of work before beginning a nine-day spiritual retreat, Vatican officials said.

The officials said the condition of the 81-year-old Roman Catholic ruler was satisfactory and that he clearly was showing a steady gain of energy.

But the officials cautiously avoided speaking of a complete recovery. It was clear that there still was concern that he might suffer a relapse again.

ALTERNATING PERIODS
His illness—anemia and a stomach disorder believed to be ulcer or cancer with hemorrhaging—has been marked by alternating periods of strength and weakness.

A Vatican official said Archbishop Angelo Dell'Aquila, Vatican substitute secretary of state, was with the Pope briefly this morning.

It was understood that the archbishop visited the pontiff on a current business matter.

The Pope's health is causing concern for the future of the Vatican Ecumenical Council which he regards as the climactic event of his reign.

Worried clerical circles said that if the Pope remains in poor health, there is little chance the council will resume on schedule Sept. 8. Should he die, the great assembly of bishops he launched last fall would be suspended automatically until a successor decided whether to reconvene it or to let it lapse.

He said a total of 21 uncountable precincts have been found thus far, and in the region of two counties — Ogemaw and Arenac. Where totals cannot be recounted, the original figures stand.

Montgomery said Ferency's claim that one branch county precinct "somehow managed to lose all 57 of its absentee ballots" was not true.

Dixie City Relaxes Partially

The racial situation at Birmingham, Ala., took on a more relaxed air today with the advent of a new city government, but Greensboro, and Raleigh, N.C.,

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government asked the courts today to prohibit Gov. George Wallace of Alabama from interfering with the enrollment of Negroes at the University of Alabama.

and Jackson, Miss., continued as sore points.

Mayor Albert Boutwell and a nine-man city council yesterday assumed control of government operations in Birmingham, replacing a hard-core segregationist board of three commissioners.

Each group had claimed to be the legal government of Birmingham following a change-of-government election in April.

The Alabama Supreme Court yesterday ousted the commissioners who had refused to relinquish office because of an apparent conflict in election laws.

CALL FOR SUPPORT
The new City Council immediately called upon Birmingham citizens for support and pledged to maintain order and work for solutions to Birmingham's racial problems.

Boutwell said the new government's attitude "will be sympathetic to harmonious solution to all problems."

Negro leader Martin Luther King Jr. said he was encouraged by Boutwell's statement and a top King aide, the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, said Negroes "look to the Boutwell administration for direct progress in the area of race relations."

NORTH CAROLINA
Nearly 2,000 Negroes marched in Greensboro and Raleigh last night in demonstrations protesting segregation control.

More than 1,000 marched through Greensboro in the 12th straight day of anti-segregation demonstrations.

Three Negro couples were arrested here during attempts to enter a segregated hotel, the first time hotels have been the targets in anti-segregation protests.

Approximately 300 Negroes marched through downtown Raleigh singing an integration song while followed by nearly 2,000 white spectators. Police kept the Negroes on one side of the street and the white spectators on the other.

IN MISSISSIPPI
Integration leaders at Jackson made tentative plans for a series of "massive and intensive" demonstrations, possibly beginning Saturday.

"There was no doubt but his two years in this small outpost had won the warmth, friendship and respect of the local people," Hamlin said.

From Bogota the Oakland County group flew to the City of Cali which is located in the fertile Cauca Valley. We were greeted by the mayor and the U.S. consul John Ohmans, and his staff members.

"The following day, a reception was held in the office of Governor Gustavo Bacanar, where an official welcome was extended.

"The local association of businessmen, called the Unidad de Accion Vallecaucana, has provided office space, individual desks and secretarial staff to the Oakland County party.

"The central office will permit conferences to be arranged and serve the group during the coming weeks."

TEAM MEMBERS
Hamlin's team comprises D. B. Varner, Oakland University chancellor; George B. Catlin, director of development for Detroit Edison Co.; and George Skrubbs, planning director of Oakland County Planning Commission.

The team is accompanied by Mark T. Jaroszewicz, an architect with the Bloomfield Hills firm of Tarapata, McManis Associates, which is paying his way.

He described Ciudad Techo as a complete, new city expected to house an eventual population of 90,000.

This project was inaugurated by President Kennedy and Colombian President Lleras-Camacho on Dec. 17, 1961, and will be substantially completed by August, Hamlin noted.

Nab Canadian in Rio After Hunt for Thief

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Rio police today arrested Douglas John Brown, an armored car driver from Vancouver, B. C., charged by Canadian authorities with theft of $325,000.

Local authorities said they picked up Brown at the request of the Vancouver police. His arrest was confirmed by the Canadian embassy.

There was no word whether any of the loot was recovered here or in Canada although the local agent of a New York bonding company said he had received telephoned instructions today to suspend his search.

Brown, 35, vanished after he and another man picked up nearly $550,000 from 48 supermarkets Saturday night. His disappearance was not discovered until Tuesday, the next time he was scheduled to show up for work.

The Loomis Armored Car Service said the other man was not implicated in the theft and the whole loss was covered by insurance.

Birmingham Area News Local Artist One of Ten to Be Honored at Show

BIRMINGHAM — Ten Michigan artists, including Birmingham sculptor, Marshall Fredericks, will be honored tomorrow in Flint during the first Michigan Week Youth Arts Festival.

Mrs. George Romney, wife of the governor, will present the awards.

Recent work by Fredericks includes "The Spirit of Detroit," a 150-foot metal mural at Ford Auditorium in Detroit; a 20-foot marble eagle at the Veterans Building in Detroit; and a water fountain-clock in Port Huron.

He also designed and executed a fountain for the new State Department Building in Washington, D.C.

The presentations will be a part of the 2 p.m. concert program in Flint's Industrial Mutual Association (IMA) auditorium.

Students at Wylie E. Groves High School returned to classes this morning after a brief, unexpected shutdown yesterday afternoon.

The 1,923 students were released at 1:30 p.m. when a break in the water main cut off the school's entire water supply.

The break was east of Evergreen at an excavation site where water lines were recently installed.

The architectural firm to design and supervise construction of a major addition to the Community House will be named June.

The board of directors will announce its decision at the annual dinner meeting of the Community House Association.

All residents of the Birmingham-Bloomfield-Beverly Hills-Franklin area are invited to the 6 p.m. event.

Principal speaker will be a senior member of the architectural firm.

Reservations can be made at the Community House.

Detroit May Lower
Car Fines Paid Early

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Common Council yesterday ordered the corporation counsel's office to draw up an amendment to the traffic code which would allow a $2 reduction in fines for parking-meter offenses.

Parking violators would pay only $1 instead of the present $3 if the fine was paid within 72 hours of the offense. The council will vote on the proposal Tuesday.

Hamlin Reports on Colombia

Efforts of an Oakland County governmental team to insure the wise expenditure of U.S. foreign aid in Cali, Colombia, are proceeding smoothly, according to Delmo Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors.

Heading the group which is active for the U.S. State Department, Hamlin described in a letter to The Pontiac Press how the team was received in Hamlin.

Hamlin said the welcoming committee at Bogota, capital city of Colombia, was Associated Press newsmen James Dewey, former with The Pontiac Press. He is now in his third year with the Colombia assignment.

The group spent four days in Bogota being apprised of conditions both there and in the Cali region by members of the Colombian government and the local U.S. embassy.

The group visited slum areas in Bogota and many new housing projects including Ciudad Techo, Hamlin wrote.

He described Ciudad Techo as a complete, new city expected to house an eventual population of 90,000.

This project was inaugurated by President Kennedy and Colombian President Lleras-Camacho on Dec. 17, 1961, and will be substantially completed by August, Hamlin noted.

We Should Stop Progressing Ourselves Into Oblivion

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — Progress has simply got to stop! Nobody wants it, and it's time to call a halt before some candidate gets elected president on the slogan: "Let's stop America moving again."
Farmers, grown sluggish by having Uncle Sam pay them for rocking on the front porch while their land goes fallow, have overwhelmingly rejected a big brother - is - watching - you plan to lick the wheat surplus.

Without progress, we would have had no farm surpluses any way. It's those bright red tractors, fancy mowing machines, improved seeds and enlightened bug-killers that created the havoc by giving us too much to eat.
An equally critical problem faces the cities. Thanks to high-powered automobiles, progressive road-building equipment, and over-educated engineers, our metropolitan areas are blocked coming out with so many freeways and over-passes that there's no place to live any more.

City folks can't move to the country, because it's already blanketed with clover leaf approaches to the circumferential highways.
Washington, once famed for its gracefully arched bridges spanning the Potomac and Anacostia rivers, is now busily throwing across straight-line eyesores that resemble the first railroads together, by Neanderthal man. We call it progress.

Our classic government buildings patterned after Greek temples of learning, lent a certain dignity to spawning bureaucracy, are now being overshadowed by a hodge-podge of sleek, flat-sided monstrosities that present a glazed eye to the taxpayer. This is progress?
Airports, once a lazy five or ten minute drive from our homes, are now located twenty or thirty miles away to accommodate the over-sized jet planes, which fly half-empty.
OUTMODED
Soon even these airfields may be outmoded, because recent "progress" in lifting man into earth-orbit dictates that he must be dumped into the ocean on his return.
Automation, we were told a few years back, represented real progress, but look at us now! The soaring juvenile delinquency rate is blamed on jobless teen-agers, who can't find work because of automation.
Educators are crying about the lack of summer jobs for school kids this year. Blame it on automation, which has made unskilled labor unnecessary.

Our hearts are daily being wrung by the problem of Negroes who, unable to find work for their idle hands, are turning to big city crime. It's that automation bugaboo again.
President Kennedy, praising astronaut Gordon Cooper for his manually-operated descent into the earth's atmosphere after a mechanization failure, said this proved that "however extraordinary computers may be... we are still ahead of them and man is still the most extraordinary computer of all."
It is to laugh! Before Gemini or Apollo spacecraft ever leave the earth, some gargantuan computer will probably have spawned an even greater computer which can eliminate man entirely.

DISGORGING CONFETTI
We can see it now. Steel computers lining Pennsylvania Avenue and disgorging statistical confetti to welcome back the first computer from the moon.
Once upon a time, man lived in caves for safety and protection. Then progress reared its lovely head, and he began to build cities and skyscrapers. Soon we will have come full circle.
Some of our greatest minds are currently engaged in outfitting caves of the Blue Ridge Mountains for the President, the defense secretary, and a battery of other top leaders to live in the event of atomic attack. Citizens are also being urged to dig cave-like bombshelters in their own backyards - the deeper the better.

The President wants everyone to discover his feet again, by fifty-mile hikes. Soon we may be asked to let our hair grow long, and arm ourselves with clubs.
Progress? You can have it!

About 53 cents of every philanthropic dollar in the U.S. goes to church groups.

Building Bids Approved for Baldwin Junior High

Low bids for the construction of the new Baldwin Junior High School were approved last night by the Pontiac Board of Education.

The school board accepted bids totaling $1,559,871 for the general trades, mechanical trades, electrical trades and kitchen equipment contracts on the school.
Richard C. Fell, assistant superintendent for business and staff personnel, said the bids were about $10,000 less than the estimated costs.
He said the new junior high school will run $50,000 less than the Madison Junior High School, the most recent junior high school construction.
Fell said the total cost should round out at about $12.85 per square foot, including equipment.
AWARD WINNERS
The general trades contract was awarded to A. N. Hickson, Inc., of Detroit, for $809,273, including three alternates in the project.
Fell said the alternates were added to the firm's base bid of $798,000, which was the lowest of the six bids.
The alternates include vinyl tile in place of asphalt tile, bleachers on one side of the gymnasium and ceramic tile floors in a locker room in place of finished concrete.
The mechanical trades contract was awarded to the Master Plumbing & Heating Co. of Royal Oak. The contract for $304,500 was the lowest of eight bids.
Electrical trades on the junior high school were awarded to the V. Jones Electric Shop, Inc., of Ferndale, for $111,903, including two alternates to provide a house telephone system within the school.
The contract for the kitchen equipment went to Great Lakes Hotel Supply Co., in the amount of $34,195. This was the second lowest of five bids.

Fell explained that the firm that submitted the lowest bid was not acceptable to the school system. He said there was only a $400 difference in the bids.
He said work by the unsuccessful low bidder had been "less than desired" in the past.

Jap Farmers Allowed to Resell Property

TOKYO (AP)—A Tokyo court has ruled that Japanese tenant farmers allowed to buy property at rock-bottom prices under the American-ordered postwar land reform program are entitled to resell it for as much as they can get in today's booming market.
The ruling was a blow to some 2.5 million former landlords. Many of them are suing to get back an estimated 5 million acres redistributed under the reform program launched in March 1947.

McNamara's Revamping of Military Almost Complete

(EDITOR'S NOTE)—Structural change is under way at the Pentagon. Elton C. Fay, who has covered the Pentagon beat for the Associated Press for two decades, reviews the situation in the following article.

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's vast reworking of the military establishment—its administrative organization, its chain of command, its multi-billion-dollar operation—is all but complete.

Reorganization of the Navy remains to be completed. Some final moving around of offices, furniture and people in other agencies to carry out consolidation plans will continue for some months more, although the broad changes have been made.

The revamping has been done without asking Congress for new legislation, with McNamara acting under provisions of the unification law and its revisions.

Criticism by Congress members generally has been restrained. But within the military, there have been stated objections by some officers, sharp private disagreement by others. One of the high commanders is on the way out, with McNamara opposing reappointment of Adm. George W. Anderson to a second term—chief of naval operations. And Gen. Curtis E. LeMay was given only half of a usual two-year tenure for his reappointment as Air Force chief of staff.

BRASS SILENT

A deep and pervading silence has settled among generals and admirals.

Will this end disputes within the Pentagon?

President Kennedy does not think so. "I am sure there'll continue to be disputes," he says.

The people in the Pentagon are "strong-minded men," says Kennedy, but completely loyal to their country. He says, too, that "we have to have a secretary to make the final judgment."

No, say McNamara's aides, "We aren't uniting the services. We are uniting the effort."

They mention his "package" as a former automotive executive McNamara is a product of the industrial world. To him, the reorganization spells "cost effectiveness"—getting back the worst of investment in dollars and manpower for national defense.

In the unformed military language, the objections are not to more effectiveness, but to McNamara's techniques.

CIVILIAN STRATEGY
There is a feeling in the Pentagon that the military man, in cluding those on the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is being downgraded and bypassed, that strategy is being devised by civilians and orders issued directly by civilians to field commands.

McNamara denies he ignores the Joint Chiefs of Staff in his decision-making. He was asked about his relations with the chiefs during a hearing by the House Armed Services Committee earlier this year.

He said he tries to anticipate "controversial issues" in advance and asks the chiefs to study and report their views. He then prepares a written report for the President.

"If in this memorandum my conclusions differ from those of the chiefs, I will also include the views of the chiefs, and if they are split I include the split views of the chiefs and the reasons for these views in contrast to the reasons for my own recommendations," McNamara says.

Reorganization, of course, isn't the only point of dispute that has shaken the Pentagon in these recent months.

There is the TFX. In this argument, everybody has joined—the Pentagon civilians, the military, Congress and the public.

It almost certainly was an element in McNamara's disapproval of continuing Anderson in his job and cutting down the time left for LeMay.

There are two versions of this incident. One said that McNamara impulsively telling the story to the senators, broke down and cried—an account denied by Pentagon officials.

The other version: McNamara, en route that morning to the hearing, told an associate that he would cite the incident as an example of the pressures which had come upon him as a result of the TFX matter.

Those who look upon McNamara as a computer-activated man—with a detailed plan for every contingency—like the latter version.

Others accept the first version, which shows he is human and struggling under the immense burden of administering the nation's largest government establishment.

Won't Reject Group's Award

But Broomfield Says He's Not Affiliated

William S. Broomfield said today he would not reject a citation from the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) for his role in the 1954-55 case of the House Un-American Activities Committee (HAC).

However, Broomfield, Oakland County's Republican congressman, said he was "not affiliated with" HAC, a conservative group.

Griffin declined to accept the ACLU's distinguished service award because, "I don't care to be labeled by any organization."

He said awards of this sort suggest a "special affiliation with the organization."

Broomfield did not agree that acceptance of the award indicated any affiliation. He added that HAC had never sought to influence his vote on any matter.

He and Griffin were among the Michigan Republicans in Congress named by the ACLU for the awards on the basis of voting records. ACA said indicated the congressmen "upheld principles of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution."

A total of 154 U.S. senators and representatives was named.

Other Michigan congressmen named were George Meader of Ann Arbor, August E. Johanson of Battle Creek, Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Grand Rapids, Charles E. Chamberlain of East Lansing, James Harvey of Saginaw, Elford A. Cederberg of Bay City and Victor A. Knox of Sault Ste. Marie.

Chrysler Says Saturn to Last

DALLAS, Texas (AP)—Chrysler's Saturn boosters will be the space age work horses and are likely to enjoy "long term employment," H. W. Lowrey, president of the company's space division, predicted yesterday.

Lowrey spoke of Chrysler's contributions to space conquest and of a future moon landing with the aid of the Saturns in an address to the Aviation Space Writers Association.

He said that a lunar landing by itself will not tell all that must be known "if we are to reach the planets."

NEW QUARTERS—The new office of Dr. Harry L. Riggs, located at 149 Franklin Blvd., is perhaps the most modern doctor's office in the city. It contains 4,200 square feet of work space. This is broken down into a large reception and office area, six examination rooms, two consultation rooms, X-ray and laboratory sections, plus a basement of similar size, yet unused. Urban renewal forced Dr. Riggs to move from his previous location at 31 Orchard Lake.

Concentrates on Career

'Marilyn' Entertainment Lacking

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD—"Marilyn" is the title of a new movie that 20th Century-Fox has fashioned out of some old ones.

It is an account of the acting career of Marilyn Monroe as seen in the films she made at Fox, where she did nearly all of her major work. The span reaches from "Ticket to Tomahawk" 1949, in which she played the chorus girl on the right, to "Something's Got to Give" 1962, from which she was fired.

As film entertainment, "Marilyn" has its limitations. The only element that ties it together is a murky narration delivered with as much grace as possible by Rock Hudson. The film concentrates only on the Monroe acting career, which had little variety. Her personal life, which was more dramatic than anything she ever played on the screen, isn't mentioned.

Despite all this, "Marilyn" has a certain fascination as a saga of sorts.

In the first, we see Marilyn, still in the chorus girls' grind, in the personality like chorus girls in time immemorial. Then she steps up in class with a bit in "All About Eve." ("The Asphalt Jungle," an MGM film, first caught her to be noticed.) Despite the competition of a big-powered cast, she made her brief scenes count.

OTHER WOMAN
Then comes "Love Nest" as the sexy other woman in the marriage of Gene Haver and William Lundigan. The sex image content to build as she plays a beauty contest winner in "We're Not Married" and a street-walker in "O'Henry's Full House."

Her first drama is "Don't Bother to Knock"; poignantly, she enacts a poor girl enjoying her first taste of high life.

"She plays a comic sexpot in 'Monkey Business' with Cary Grant and then a sultry sexpot in 'Niagara,' her first starring role. Now she is on top. She is starred with another reigning sex queen, Jane Russell, in a jazzed-up version of 'Gentlemen Prefer Blondes.' She demonstrates in 'How to Succeed in a Business Like Show Business' in which she does a tasteless 'Heat Wave' number."

"The Seven Year Itch" brings her flowering as a comedienne. In "Bus Stop" she plays her first character role and carries it off. Finally, the prophetic "Something's Got to Give." We see the famous nude bathing scene.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Botulism Is Worst Type of Food Poisoning

Food poisoning may be caused by several different kinds of contamination.

The most serious type is botulism, which is caused by the poison given off by the bacterium Clostridium botulinum. Other kinds of food poisoning may make you very sick for a day or two, but more often than not botulism is fatal.

The germ itself is found in the soil and can be swallowed without harm. It will grow only in complete absence of oxygen.

Thus when it finds its way into canned goods, it will grow if the heating of the food was insufficient to kill it.

That is why home-canned goods have been incriminated much more often than food commercially canned.

While the cans sit on the shelf, any of the germs that are present and alive have ample time to produce the poison which paralyzes the heart and the respiratory center of the brain.

This poison is odorless and tasteless and produces no fermentation or discoloration in the food. Thus it gives no warning of its presence.

If botulism is suspected in any canned goods, thorough heating to the boiling point will destroy the poison.

Recent cases of botulism food poisoning due to improperly canned tuna fish were the first instances in 35 years of botulism from commercially canned food in this country. What break in approved sanitary procedure was responsible had not been determined.

Although meats of all kinds are the foods most commonly responsible for botulism, this type of food poisoning has been found in string beans, corn, peas, spinach, olives and other foods that have not been properly canned.

If you were to eat a food that contained this poison, symptoms would usually appear within 18 to 36 hours. They would include pains in the chest, breathing difficulty, double vision, and sometimes vomiting.

Settle Westinghouse Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department said yesterday it has settled out of court with Westinghouse Electric Corp. for $800,000 in damage claims stemming from the 1961 price-fixing conspiracy cases in Philadelphia.

Attorney Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) had agreed to the settlement, which covers the purchase of nine kinds of heavy electrical equipment from Westinghouse by federal agencies.

A spokesman for Westinghouse said the company was "gratified that it has been possible to resolve these claims without the necessity of long and costly litigation."

700 Refugees Arrive in Florida From Havana

PORT EVERGLADES, Fla. (UPI)—An estimated 700 Cuban refugees arrived today from Havana aboard the U.S. ship Morning Light. It was the sixth ship in a series to sail to freedom since last December.

The vessel left Havana at 5:40 p.m. yesterday.

Five other ships and a number of mercy flights have delivered upwards of 7,000 refugees from Cuba since the ransoming of 1,113 Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners Dec. 23-24 started the exodus.

Romney Signs Bill to Restore Flags

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney yesterday signed into law an appropriations measure allocating $13,500 for restoration of 21 flags carried by Michigan regiments in the Civil War, Spanish-American War and both world wars.

The allotment also includes funds for restoring the portraits of former Michigan governors. The portraits and flags are on display at the State Capitol.

Romney signed the bill just before today's "heritage day" observance of "Michigan Week."

19,000 Flock to See Vision of Virgin Mary

ALICE, Tex. (AP)—People are flocking to a farm near this South Texas town where a housewife says she saw a vision of the Virgin Mary on an old water tank.

County officials estimate 19,000 persons have visited the farm since Mrs. Tony Botello Sr. reported seeing the image April 17.

A charge of $1 per car by the farm owner hasn't reduced the traffic, they said.

The farm, owned by Jack B. Butler of Alice, is rented by the Botello family.

Mrs. Botello, about 35 and a mother of three, said she saw the vision about 7 a.m. as she gazed from a kitchen window. Some visitors claim they can see an image in the wood of the tank but others think it is a grain of Mrs. Botello said she was afraid of the snakes on the farm and had planned to move. But, she said, the image spoke to her in Spanish, saying:

"Daughter, do not leave. Do not be afraid. Stay here. Happiness will be in this place."

Coop Allowed to Relax...a Bit

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Space hero L. Gordon Cooper, hoping for a bit of normal living, began a brief rest today before plunging into the job of preparing the technical report on his 22-orbit flight.

Manned Spacecraft Center would have little time for relaxing before it's back to work with doctors, engineers and others in compiling the report.

Based on time spent by other astronauts, it should take four to six weeks to complete the account.

Cooper, his pretty brunette wife Trudy and daughters Camala, 14, and Janita, 13, returned Thursday and were cheered by thousands at a homecoming parade.

The Coopers had experienced similar celebrations in Washington, Cape Canaveral, Fla., New York and Honolulu since his space flight.

"It is mighty good to be back," he said. "Maybe we can settle down now to a little normal living."

"I am so happy to be back and so proud of my husband," Mrs. Cooper said.

300,000 ATTEND

The Houston parade was more compared to the gigantic celebration Wednesday in New York, but the Houston police traffic chief, Tom Sawyer, estimated 300,000 persons lined the 32-block route.

Perched on the back seat rest of a convertible, Cooper smiled and waved. Mrs. Cooper sat beside her husband. Their two daughters were below them in the seat.

19,000 Flock to See Vision of Virgin Mary

ALICE, Tex. (AP)—People are flocking to a farm near this South Texas town where a housewife says she saw a vision of the Virgin Mary on an old water tank.

County officials estimate 19,000 persons have visited the farm since Mrs. Tony Botello Sr. reported seeing the image April 17.

A charge of $1 per car by the farm owner hasn't reduced the traffic, they said.

The farm, owned by Jack B. Butler of Alice, is rented by the Botello family.

Mrs. Botello, about 35 and a mother of three, said she saw the vision about 7 a.m. as she gazed from a kitchen window. Some visitors claim they can see an image in the wood of the tank but others think it is a grain of Mrs. Botello said she was afraid of the snakes on the farm and had planned to move. But, she said, the image spoke to her in Spanish, saying:

"Daughter, do not leave. Do not be afraid. Stay here. Happiness will be in this place."

Lewis Cutler and Oleta Culp Hobbs, president and editor of the Houston Post, and a former secretary of health, education and welfare.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and three Texas Congressmen—Reps. Albert Thomas and Bob Casey of Houston and Jack Brooks of Beaumont—flew here in another plane.

GOP Leaders Prepare for '64

Three Party Areas Top Priority Items

Three areas of party activity were given priority for special treatment last night at a meeting of Republican leaders intent on keeping the GOP in top political trim for the 1964 elections.

Some 40 Oakland County GOP leaders and two representatives of GOP State Central discussed plans to emphasize research, education and finance in getting ready for 1964.

GOP State Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr. and his assistant, John A. (Jack) Gibbs, outlined the state party organization's plans to strengthen the state GOP by working closely with and assisting county and local party groups in these three areas.

Research activity will be focused on "profiles" of all counties and districts.

These are reports that will give candidates economic, social, ethnic and religious information about the people in the area in which they seek office.

The Oakland County GOP's program of economic "profiles" will be expanded to include the other types of information.

Elliott and Gibbs explained explained State Central's plan to supply educational materials to local party organizations, especially "position papers" explaining the party's stand on issues.

Discussion on stepping up fund-raising programs revolved about the universal plight of political party organizations—the need for more money.
