Flint Probe Hears Testimony From Pontiac City Manager

Pontiac City Manager Robert A. Carter testified for 1½ hours last night in Flint before a one-man grand jury probe into alleged conspiracy to violate state laws and the Flint city charter.

Carter, 47, is former Flint City Manager, serving in that post from Dec. 5, 1958 to March 1, 1963. He was hired by the Pontiac City Commission Nov. 12.

Emerging from the closed-door session at about 8 p.m., Carter declined to comment on the inquiry, as did others called to testify.

Locally, Mayor Robert A. Landry said a majority of the City Commission "is not dismayed in any way" over Carter's being subpoenaed to testify.

PROBLEM DISCUSSED
"This particular problem in Flint was thoroughly discussed with Mr. Carter before we decided to hire him. It was explained to the full satisfaction of most commissioners."

Landry pointed out that "whenever a grand jury is ordered, public officials are frequently asked to testify."

The grand jury probe began its second day at 8 a.m. today in a motel room at a Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge near Flint's Bishop Airport.

Genesee County Circuit Judge Donn D. Parker is the grand juror.

Old Newsboy Drive in Area Helps All to Enjoy Christmas

Old newsboys in Waterford Township and four other Pontiac area communities are on the streets today hawking Goodfellow editions of the Pontiac Press.

Proceeds of the annual sales will be used to provide a brighter Christmas for the less fortunate.

Capt. Clayton Soncrain of the Waterford Township Fire Department is chairman of this year's Goodfellow sale in Waterford. The goal is $3,000.

Among the groups participating in the sale and their locations are:

Eagles, M59 and Telegraph; police, Voorheis and Telegraph; Veterans of Foreign Wars, M59 and Crescent Lake Road; Firefighters Association, Elizabeth Lake Road and Telegraph; and Kiwanis, Dixie and Telegraph.

Others are Evening Optimists, Walton and Sashabaw; civil defense police, M59 and Airport; Breakfast Optimists, The Mall; and the Rotary Club, Dixie and Andersonville and Dixie and Walton.

PURCHASE FOOD

Receipts from the sale will be used to purchase food orders negotiable at area stores and to prepare Christmas food baskets.

The baskets will be delivered a few days before Christmas to an estimated 100 families.

Goodfellow sales of The Pontiac Press begin today in Pontiac Township where Metropolitan Club members seek $1,000, and in Highland Township where the drive is sponsored by volunteer fire department members.

Paper sales continue for the second day at Southview, Avon Township, Addison Township and Clarkston.

BOOSTS PONTIAC FUTURE — E. M. Estes, Pontiac Motor Division general manager, told an enthusiastic audience of several hundred at the Elks Temple yesterday that Pontiac had set a daily production record of 1,376 in 24 hours. Viewing the future with great confidence, Estes, who was honored at the interservice club luncheon, announced that Pontiac Motor next week will produce its first 600,000th car in a calendar year.

AFTER VERDICT — T. Eugene Thompson (center), found guilty of murder in the first degree in the slaying of his wife, is escorted to Hennepin County jail last night minutes after the jury returned the verdict. The jury deliberated just over 12 hours.

Detroit Dies as Truck Rolls Thompson Is Guilty; Gets Life in Prison

Morning Accident in Lyon Township

The driver of a small van was killed this morning when his truck went out of control on I-96 in Lyon Township.

Dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital, Livonia, was Jeronimo P. Garza, 31, of 521 W. Grand Blvd., Detroit, according to Redford State Police.

Garza was traveling west on the expressway when his truck, skidded sideways on the slippery pavement and off the road.

He was hurled from the vehicle as it overturned several times. It came to a halt 107 feet from where it went off the road.

The accident occurred at 8:25 a.m. between Old Plank and Wixom roads.

Kennedys Bid Farewell to White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy Jr., 3, carried a small American flag on a stick into his new Georgetown home.

He stood with his mother, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, at a second-floor bedroom window and tried out the shade cord. The shade zipped to the top. They waved to neighbors and passersby gathered across the street.

Thus had the Kennedys left the White House yesterday and begun a new life back on N Street—the street they left to enter the executive mansion. They now live in a residence turned over to them by Undersecretary of State and Mrs. W. Averell Harriman.

After the sorrow of the two weeks since President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, Mrs. Kennedy and the children, John and Caroline, 6, seemed caught up in the excitement of moving.

Two antique lanterns beside the front door were lit at a late hour last night, and Secret Service men prowled about the three-story brick house keeping watch over the family.

As they settled into the 11-room, 5-bath residence, Mrs. Kennedy sent word through her press secretary that she was very grateful to the Harrimans for the loan of their house, filled with art treasures.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—T. Eugene Thompson, 36, was convicted yesterday of arranging the brutal slaying of his wife, Carol, 34. He was sentenced immediately to life imprisonment.

The verdict and sentence ended one of Minnesota's most sensational murder trials. A six-man, six-woman jury took just over a day to convict the dapper attorney of first-degree murder.

The decision came nine months to the day after his wife was fatally beaten and stabbed in their fashionable home in St. Paul.

The state contended Thompson had hired the killer for love of another woman and for more than $1 million in insurance.

The blond, crew-cut lawyer remained in jail today pending his transfer to the state prison at Stillwater to serve the life sentence imposed by Judge Rolf Fosness. There is no capital punishment in Minnesota.

With good behavior, Thompson would be eligible for parole after 17½ years.

If his attorneys appeal—which they indicated is likely—and if the predictably heavy bond is met, Thompson could go free pending a decision by the State Supreme Court.

Prosecutor William Randall said he would recommend bond "substantially heavier" than the $100,000 under which Thompson was free during his trial.

The scene in the courtroom when the jury returned topped six weeks of steadily building emotion.

OUTWARDLY CALM

Thompson, outwardly calm, was searching the jurors' faces, but after brief glances at him, they looked elsewhere.

Clerk Frank Archambo took the sealed verdict from the foreman. After handing it to Judge Fosness, who read it without expression, Archambo read it aloud.

When he came to the word "guilty," Thompson's head dropped.

"Is there any word you would like to say, before I pronounce sentence?" asked Judge Fosness.

"No, your honor," said Thompson.

The jury took seven ballots to arrive at a guilty verdict. It was reported first split about 50-50.

Would Force Testimony and Give Immunity

Senate Gets Request as Texas Calls Off State Inquiry Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The probers of President John F. Kennedy's assassination are asking Congress for extraordinary powers to force testimony from any reluctant witnesses and to grant immunity from prosecution.

The sweeping resolution was introduced in the Senate late yesterday by Sens. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ind., members of the presidential commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren.

It came almost simultaneously with the announcement that Texas had called off its state court of inquiry at Warren's suggestion to avoid interference with the high-level investigation ordered by President Johnson.

Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said he had been invited to participate in the bipartisan presidential inquiry and will do so.

Files and evidence amassed by Texas state and city authorities already in the hands of the FBI, he said, and the Texas court will be convened if it can be useful to the Warren commission in questioning witnesses there.

AFTER PROBE
It also may be convened after the Warren group ends its work if this would serve any good purpose, Carr said. But he declared his belief that federal investigative requests are "being used to the fullest extent."

"It is our considered judgment that the Texas court of inquiry, if held at this time or in the immediate future, might bring about an interruption in the continuity of the nation's wide investigation," Carr said.

The Texan made public a letter from Warren asking if he (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Tight Security Set for LBJ Visit to NY

NEW YORK (AP)—Police and the Secret Service have set up one of the tightest security plans in the city's history for President Johnson's visit to New York tomorrow.

The President will attend the funeral of former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman at Temple Emanuel in Manhattan.

He will drive from Idlewild Airport to the temple—and back—in a special limousine, not the bubble-top car in which President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas.

Police refused to disclose the routes the 12-car motorcade will follow.

FAST ESCORT

After a three-hour private meeting with the Secret Service agents last night, police said the motorcade will have "a fast motorcycle escort of about 35 policemen."

"Special attention will be given to overpasses, overpasses and all large buildings along the route," a department spokesman said.

The precautions contrasted with the loose arrangements afforded President Kennedy—after Kennedy's request—on his last visit to New York Nov. 14.

K Prepares New Program

Must Win Approval at Party Meetings

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Premier Khrushchev plunges next week into one of the most important debates in his 10-year leadership of world communism.

He has pushed a panic button, and the Soviet leader will need all his resourcefulness as a politician to carry out an ambitious program requiring at least a pause in the Soviet-American cold war.

If Khrushchev has his way, the cold war pause can be fairly long. If his program bogs down again, new crises can be expected.

As its secretary, Khrushchev carries to the Communist Central Committee, hub of party power, his blueprint for dealing with economic woes which frustrate Red hopes for expansion.

The committee, which Khrushchev over the years has invested with great authority, convenes Monday in Moscow to struggle with problems of the economy and disastrous agricultural failures.

HAVE DOUBTS

Probably, Khrushchev will get his proposed remedies accepted by the committee, but obviously some in the Soviet leadership have doubts about whether they will work.

In addition, the committee will be throwing worried glances at the Red Chinese and how their anti-Khrushchev polemics diminish Moscow's image in the Red world. If the Chinese had their way on international Communist policy, Khrushchev's program would have little chance of succeeding.

would consider postponing the Texas court and suggesting that at this time it might be "more harmful than helpful" to the work of the presidential commission.

3 Men Face Dope Charge

Three Pontiac men were being held today for investigation of selling marijuana.

Acting Police Chief William K. Hanger said that there may be more arrests for the possession of the narcotic.

Arrested last night were Ralph Williams, 21, 559 S. Sanford; Willie L. Duncan, 22, of 569 S. Sanford; and Robert L. Reavis, 23, of 440 Midway. They are in the Oakland County Jail.

Williams and Duncan were picked up at 9 a.m. at Sanford and Whitmore. Reavis was arrested an hour later at Earburn and South Jessie.

MADE ARRESTS

Three members of the Pontiac police vice squad, Sgt. Robert Gaines and patrolmen Robert Rood and Charles Chaney, and three Detroit detectives made the arrests.

A total of 15 tin foil packs of the marijuana mixture were confiscated, according to Hanger, enough to make 30 cigarettes.

He said that the vice squad became aware a month ago that a supply of the narcotic was coming into Pontiac from a source in Detroit.

Undercover agents from Detroit were then called in and were able to make several purchases, according to Hanger.

STILL INVESTIGATING

Detroit police are continuing their investigation into the supply.

Mostly the sales were made on the street, Hanger said, but it is believed that the marijuana can be obtained from several commercial establishments as well as several private homes.

Hanger said he did not know just how big an operation was involved but added that "a pretty fair volume" enters the city, since the marijuana is purchased by the pound or larger quantities.

LT. Fred Gaines, head of the vice squad, coordinated the month-long investigation.

mission. Hearings had not yet been scheduled by Carr.

So broad are the immunity clauses in the Senate resolution offered by Russell and Cooper that some Capitol observers predicted it would undergo close scrutiny and possibly some modification. A less drastic bill, providing full subpoena powers without the immunity provisions already had been introduced by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y.

APPROVED DRAFT

However, Warren told reporters that his seven-member commission had scanned and approved the Russell-Cooper draft yesterday. Identical legislation will be offered in the House Monday by two other commission members, Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., and Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich. Approval by both houses is required.

The measure provides that no one subpoenaed shall be excused from testifying or producing evidence on 50th amendment grounds that do so might tend to incriminate him.

It provides that no person shall be prosecuted or penalized, except by denunciation or removal from office, because of testimony he is compelled to give or evidence he is forced to produce after he claims protection of the 50th amendment.

An exception to this immunity would permit the prosecution and punishment for perjury of anyone testifying in the commission's investigation.

COURT ORDERS

The commission's subpoenas would be enforceable by federal court orders, and failure to comply would be punishable as contempt.

Warren told newsmen yesterday that the commission still had not received the FBI's exhaustive investigation report.

It has been completed and reportedly indicates that Lee Harvey Oswald, acting on his own, killed Kennedy in Dallas Nov. 22 and that Oswald was slain by night club owner Jack Ruby who the FBI believes, also acted on his own.

The FBI is still investigating, and a new angle broke into print yesterday. This was the disclosure that Marina Oswald, the Russian-born wife of the accused ex-Marine, has told investigators her husband had boasted of firing at Gen. Edwin A. Walker April 10.

Reports of evidence linking Oswald to the incident were published by The Chicago Sun-Times and The Washington Evening Star.

NEWSMAN HONORED — Pontiac Press staffer Joseph Mullen (right) received a plaque last night in recognition of his coverage of the recent Waterford incorporation issue. Presenting the award is Dr. Joseph F. Naz, chairman of the Waterford Citizens' Action Committee for Incorporation. Naz praised the unbiased presentation of both sides of the issue.

The wall was built 28 months ago to stop the flow of refugees. Only a few West Berliners — mostly doctors, technicians and artists — have been allowed to pass through to East Berlin.

Although some officials here and at Bonn, the West German capital, expressed great optimism last night, West German government officials toned down their reaction today.

CONDUCT TALKS

Kurt Leopold, head of the office which handles trade with East Germany, has been instructed to conduct possible negotiations.

The West German government would avoid dealing directly with the Communist regime, which it does not recognize, by using Leopold as an intermediary.

A spokesman for the Western allies garrisoning West Berlin — the United States, Britain and France — said yesterday they were "extremely sympathetic to the understandable and legitimate desires of the West Berliners to visit their relatives and friends in East Berlin, particularly at this time of the year."

The Communists have in the past expressed willingness to issue passes to West Berliners, but demanded the right to set up permit offices at West Berlin elevated railroad stations.

OFFER REFUSED

However, the Western Allies refused to allow Communist agents to operate on western territory.

West Germans, as distinct from residents of West Berlin, have all along been allowed to enter East Berlin on permits issued by border guards at the wall.

Rumor of Berlin Walk Permits 'False'

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt today condemned published reports that issuance of Communist passes allowing West Berliners to visit their relatives and friends in East Berlin at Christmas was practically certain.

"These reports are not good," he said in a statement. "They are unfortunately false."

City officials said yesterday that the East German authorities sent a letter to Brandt offering to discuss the possibility of letting West Berliners through the Communist wall from Dec. 15 to Jan. 15.

A number of West German newspapers and a western news service said that issuance of passes was practically arranged except for minor details.

POSSIBILITIES

"We had received certain information which prompted us to decide to investigate whether new possibilities (for agreement) have arisen," the mayor said. "That is all and it is no reason for hope."

He said his administration will have to be sacrifices which the Soviet military may not like. Statements by military men insist the "imperialists" are intensifying the arms race and the U.S.S.R. therefore should continue raising its defense potential.

Khrushchev's side argues that Soviet defenses, with the weapons now at hand, are invincible. The implication is that the military side can spare something for the rest of the economy.

SEVEN YEAR PLAN

The Soviet leader proposed to invest the equivalent of $22 billion in the next seven years in new chemical plants. He proposes to increase chemical fertilizer output from 20 million tons to 35 million annually. The United States uses 35 million tons for far less land.

The plan envisages doubling the output of plastics and sharply raising chemical fiber production.

Khrushchev's program has traveled a rocky road. In 1958 the government budgeted $4 billion worth of rubles for the chemical industry, but only about 3 per cent of it was allocated since then.

The trouble seemed to be that Khrushchev wanted the highly complex industry built before engineering and equipment were adequately available.

BAD PLANNING

Badly coordinated planning by men accustomed to plan for such things as steel production, and lack of experience with this sort of program, caused it to bog down.

Khrushchev's critics in the U.S.S.R. openly insist Moscow should first solve problems of distribution of fertilizers, of lack of storage space on farms, of lack of machinery to apply chemicals, and of poor delivery facilities before investing such a huge amount.

Nevertheless, Khrushchev, meeting with his council of ministers yesterday, pushed through a draft plan for 1964-1965 to "insure the priority development of the chemical industry, step up development of agriculture and further raise living standards."

It is to go through, there will do everything possible to "rectify the inhuman consequences" of the Red Wall.

Pontiac Lights Christmas Tree

Holiday Cinderella Performs the Honors

The north end of downtown Pontiac suddenly burst into a blaze of festive color last night as hundreds of tiny lights sprinkled over a 50-foot Christmas tree were turned on.

Doing the honors was Miss Downtown Cinderella, pretty, 7-year-old Sheila Hogg of 39 LeGrand.

Sheila was selected by Downtown Pontiac Business Association (DPBA) — leaders through cooperation with the local Salvation Army.

She lives with her mother, Mrs. Virginia Hogg; brother, Robert, 16; and sister, Rebecca, 11. Mrs. Hogg, a Pontiac State Hospital employee, has been on sick leave with a bad back.

Chairman Lou Surwitz of George's Department Store, said downtown merchants went all out for the whole family. Some 28 stores donated gifts for Mrs. Hogg and her three children.

Sheila spent the afternoon in a beauty shop getting a new hairstyle and was presented with a corsage just before the 6:30 p.m. ceremony.

Mayor Robert A. Landry and Monroe M. Osmun, president of the DPBA, had to admit they were only second best in the official party.

Postal Hours Changed for Yule Season

Postmaster William W. Donaldson announced special Christmas hours for local post offices today.

Window service at the main office, 735 W. Huron, will be from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., including Saturday, through Dec. 24.

Stamps and parcel post service will be available on Sundays from 1-5 p.m. at the main office until Christmas, Donaldson said.

Federal station, Huron and Perry, and the Auburn Heights branch, 2800 Auburn, Auburn Heights, will be open on Saturday, Dec. 14 and 21 from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. However, no Sunday service will be available he said.

MIRACLE MILE BRANCH

The Miracle Mile branch in the Yankee Store, 2135 S. Telegraph, West Bloomfield, will offer postal service from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. daily, except Sundays.

The M59 Plaza post office branch at Wayside Shop, 7524 Highland, White Lake Township, will be open 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. daily except Sunday.

Donaldson said the money order and postal savings windows will offer normal hours of service only. These windows will close at the normal 5 p.m. daily and at noon on Saturday with no Sunday service.

Barry Reports Mail Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said today he received a surprising number of abusive letters and telegrams immediately after the assassination of President Kennedy, but they "will not change my political plans or future."

"Any one in public life gets this kind of mail," said the Arizona senator, who had been urged to seek the Republican nomination to oppose Kennedy in next year's presidential contest.

The Chicago Tribune reported that Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., a principal backer of Goldwater, also received threatening letters and that friends of both men described them as "deeply disturbed" by such attacks.

RADIO COMMENTS

Goldwater told a reporter the abuse heaped on him and other conservatives resulted from inaccurate comments on some radio and television programs, immediately after the assassination, that right wing element may have been responsible.

Commission Meeting Is Reset for Monday

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The City Commission meeting involving a proposed zoning ordinance and conversion of Opdyke to a one-way street has been moved up from Tuesday to Monday night.

The date was changed to allow all commissioners to be present.

The governing unit is expected to set a date for a public hearing on the proposed ordinance.

City planners passed the code on to the commission in August after spending 2½ years preparing it.

BASIC ALTERATION

The commissioners, working in special study sessions this fall, have made one basic alteration in the proposed ordinance.

They slashed the provision for a slightly larger area designated for commercial office use, thus maintaining the present amount.

The proposed code would increase from three to 4½ the number of families allowed per acre in a multiple residence zone.

It would also allow three-story rather than two-story structures in that zone.

SIZE ALTERED

Minimum lot size would be altered in a few sections of the city, notably the area bounded by Lahser, Hickory Grove, Woodward and the Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

6. The Gift to the Adulteress

By JOHN J. STEWART

As Jesus sat teaching in the temple yard one morning, He was rudely interrupted by a crowd of scribes and Pharisees who dragged before Him a woman whom they had caught in the act of adultery.

So common a practice was adultery that no great concern was felt about it. But the cunning priests had trapped this unfortunate woman, hoping to use her in their effort to establish some charge against Jesus: Moses had said that those found guilty of adultery should be stoned to death, yet the Romans had decreed that Jews could not inflict the death penalty.

BEFORE JESUS

Scornfully, the priests shoved the wretched woman before Jesus. "Master," whined one, a smirk on his bearded face, "Master, this woman was taken in adultery, in the very act. Now Moses in the law commanded us that such should be stoned. But what sayest Thou?"

Jesus looked at the shamed woman, her eyes downcast. He looked at the scribes and Pharisees, smugly awaiting His answer.

Then He stooped down, and with His finger wrote in the dust on the stone floor, as though He had heard them not.

But the priests haughtily persisted in questioning Him as to what should be done to her. Finally Jesus stood up and quietly, firmly, He said, "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her."

WRITES AGAIN

Then He again stooped down, writing once more upon the ground, so that His eyes would not be upon them.

The priests had suddenly become silent. One by one they slunk away.

Soon only the adulteress remained.

Jesus arose and asked, "Woman, where are thine accusers? Hath no man condemned thee?"

Tearfully the woman lifted her eyes to the Master.

"No man, Lord."

had in a variety of colors and in simulated leopard skin.

The case for carrying the collapsible umbrella is molded right into the tote bag — and it's a sleek accessory with any costume.

Now there are special hand towels for golfers and bowlers (not crying towels), which are brand new this year. A new gentleman's cologne named "Canoe" is a popular gift in a small store at the Mall.

At the same store are new style chemises. They are made of a soft wool-like material and have leather handle-grips at each end for a fast-slapping shine.

Guns seem to again be a real popular gift from the toy departments. One store features the Monkey Gun which is really three guns in one.

PISTOL TO GRENADES
It is an automatic pistol, a Tommy gun and a long-range rifle grenade launcher.

It has motorized sound effects and is battery operated.

Also in toy departments is the new "Etch-A-Sketch" for less than $2. A youngster can draw, design or write like magic.

He can form pictures, or make charts just by turning the knobs. To erase, just turn upside down and shake.

LUXURY GIFTS

For the home, little marble-topped Victorian cigarette tables are a luxury gift. One Pontiac store has a brand new shipment of precious and always beloved Hummel figures.

Unusual barometers are always a welcome gift for office or den, and small Colonial record cabinets of hard rock maple now sell for less than $40, with matching cocktail tables for less than $30.

"Just for kicks," there is a wide variety of new boots for both men and women. The toes are pointy and heels sharp. Some are low down, while others reach almost to the knees in the French style.

4 Viet Nam Yanks Killed in Air Crash

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (U)—Vietnamese frogmen tried today to locate the bodies of four American airmen and a Vietnamese observer who were killed yesterday when their photo reconnaissance plane crashed into the Mekong River.

A U.S. military spokesman denied earlier reports that two bodies were taken from the wreckage located under five feet of muddy water about 35 miles south of Saigon.

Air Force officials are trying to determine whether the plane was shot down by Communist guerrillas or crashed because of mechanical trouble.

Waterford Hill Country Club

The sketch layout that you see is one of the areas' most beautiful golf courses. It is nestled north of picturesque Waterford Hill and east of Greens Lake just south of M-15 on U.S. 10.

Waterford Hill Country Club offers the public a lighted par-3 nine hole golf course, a regulation nine hole golf course, a lighted driving range, and a miniature 18 hole golf course. Ample parking space is provided. Leagues are now forming for the par-3 and the regulation nine and play will commence as soon as the 1964 season can get under way.

Waterford Hill Country Club also has dining and cocktail facilities and cater to parties, banquets, and meetings. Each Friday and Saturday evening you may dine and dance with entertainment being furnished by the Russ Stump Trio, featuring vocalist Miss Toni.

The Manager, Robert Schmude, extends a personal welcome to the public to come out and look the club over.

Schram Auto and Truck Parts

As we look back upon the industrial progress of our country, no one particular unit stands out as does the manufacture of automobiles. Getting a closer view of this industry and an analysis of its size, it is rather astounding to learn that there are many more people engaged in sales, service and maintenance of automobiles and trucks than in their manufacture.

Among the firms in this area that play an important part in supplying new parts for cars and trucks is Schram Auto and Truck Parts at 2549 Dixie Highway. Schram Auto Parts is known all over this part of Michigan, and they are always glad to have you drop in. Should you need a part for your truck or car, it will pay you to see Schram first because you will find that their stock is always complete.

Harold Schram, the congenial owner, is well known and highly regarded by people in this area. He has been fair in all his dealings and we find that the people that trade here have confidence in him.

DOWNTOWN AND DRAYTON PLAINS

Informal Rites Mark Pearl Harbor Day

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—Informal ceremonies were to be held today on the gleaming white memorial which marks the Battleship Arizona, sunk at its Pearl Harbor berth Dec. 7, 1941.

No official Navy ceremonies were planned, since the Navy here customarily salutes the country's war dead each Memorial Day.

Hundreds of persons usually ride out to the memorial. Wreaths are placed on the monument, and flower garlands are tossed on the quiet harbor waters in tribute to the memory of the 2,300 soldiers, sailors, Marines and civilians who died on this day 22 years ago.

For the first time since the end of World War II, the flag which flies above the Arizona is at half-mast, but not because this is Pearl Harbor Day. It salutes the memory of another dead U.S. Navy veteran who served as a lieutenant in the Pacific campaign, John F. Kennedy.

BENEATH WATER

The Arizona, which on a clear day can be seen beneath the blue tranquil waters of Pearl Harbor, is the symbol of the 1941 attack which plunged the United States into war with Japan.

It is the only one of nine battleships attacked this day 22 years ago still in commission.

The U.S. Navy considers her still commissioned because most of the crew—1,102 men—are still aboard. They lie entombed in the ship below the water's surface.

It is these men, plus 58 more entombed in the sunken USS Utah, and more than 1,100 others, who were remembered today—these, and President Kennedy, for whom the flag lies low on its staff.

Woman Grabs Wild Rice and Wins Contest

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Sonja McNeil of Reno found herself in a supermarket contest, one going to the woman who scoops up the highest-priced total of groceries in 10 minutes.

Sonja represented the neglected hunters' wife classification, and took two tips from her husband.

She scouted her quarry. Her husband reminded her, too, that wild rice goes well with game—and, boy, it is expensive.

Dressed in riding clothes, she concentrated on meats as the race started—61 hams, filet mignon and Canadian bacon—and all the wild rice in the store.

Result: In the 10 minutes she gathered $673.73 of groceries and won the prize.

Navy to Receive 14th Polaris Sub

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—The Navy prepared today to accept delivery of its 14th Polaris submarine, the nuclear-powered James Monroe, a mighty warship named for the author of the Monroe Doctrine and fifth president of the United States.

The vessel will be formally delivered to the Navy on the 22nd anniversary of Pearl Harbor.

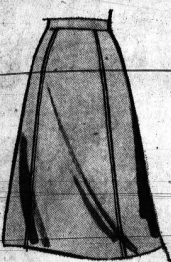

Rear Adm. Edmund B. Taylor, commandant of the 5th Naval Dist., will turn the vessel over to Cmdr. W. H. Sandford, Waynesboro, Ga., commander of one of the two crews assigned to the Polaris submarine.

Estes' Report Inspires Group

No brighter or cheerier Christmas sentiment could have been expressed for the local area than that highlighting the address delivered yesterday by E.M. (PETE) ESTES before an overflowing luncheon meeting of Pontiac service clubs and guests.

The general manager of the Pontiac Motor Division exuded optimism from every pore, and cited the establishment of so many new production records as to leave his audience dizzy.

Capsuling the amazing achievements of the Pontiac unit, Mr. Estes pointed out:

- That a 30-day supply of automobiles is considered a healthy figure. Pontiac's currently stands at nine days.
- That Pontiac is now solidly in third place in the industry by more than 100,000 units.
- That Pontiac's gain two years ago was 40 per cent — largest in the industry — and last year's topped it by 18 per cent.
- That next week's assemblies will hit 600,000 for this calendar year — first time in Pontiac history.
- That employment was 12,000 two years ago, increased to 14,000 last year, and now totals 16,500.

With the population of the Country expected to reach 214 million by 1970 with Gross National Product around $750 billion, the executive sees 7-million car years as average. Contributing factors to this forecast are the high annual scrapage of autos that has risen to 5 million

Planned Enterprises Need Citizens' Support

The first phase of Pontiac's two urban renewal projects is completed. The obsolete dwellings and buildings that were an area blight have been razed. The land lies ready and inviting for all sorts of development that will in time transform downtown Pontiac into a glittering and flourishing residential and commercial complex.

Now it is up to you. Why? Well, before developers can proceed with any of the planned enterprises they must understandably have assurance that large outlays of capital will be justified and a profit realized. This is just plain business.

In seasoned commercial areas, business organizations by means of traffic surveys, experience data and other slide rule projections can accurately determine the feasibility of contemplated investment.

But in something as new and unprecedented as the urban renewal concept, entrepreneurs must look to the ultimate market for such assurance.

Currently, plans are on the drawing boards for an ultra-modern high-rise apartment design, in a moderate rental range. The financing is all arranged. Ground breaking only awaits confidence that once the apartments are available there will be tenants for them.

This is why it is up to you as a prospective occupant to stand up and be counted. You can do so and help get things moving by contacting the Urban Renewal office in the City Hall.

and the huge army of war babies of the '40s now coming into the market for autos.

The speaker attributed the stunning progress of his division to superb styling and performance of the product; splendid cooperation from suppliers, with particular praise for the allied Fisher Body Division; a good, loyal, local work force; and fine support from the community citizenry.

The Press renders a hearty salute to Mr. ESTES and his entire organization and congratulates him on behalf of all for the outstanding accomplishments of Pontiac Motor Division.

What Can LBJ Get in Future?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Two questions persist about President Johnson after only two weeks in office: How is he doing? How will he do?

He became president in a time of national shock over President John F. Kennedy's assassination. The shock remained until after the funeral.

Until then, Johnson could do little. Then he went to work. If energy, earnestness, zeal and attention to the job count, he got off to a splendid start.

He addressed Congress and the nation on television and radio, met endlessly with top foreign visitors, government officials, congressional leaders of both parties, and leaders in the fields of business, labor and civil rights.

Meanwhile he had to worry about the budget — next year's estimate of government spending — which he must offer Congress in January. He has had a number of conferences on the budget. Kennedy had worked on it since August.

DOMESTIC GOALS
So far, Johnson has announced these domestic goals: he wants Congress to pass Kennedy's civil rights and tax cut programs; he wants to reduce government spending; and he wants jobs increased by 3 million — to a goal of 75 million, although he set no date.

Johnson has taken over and backed, without deviation, Kennedy's programs. His talks to Congress and the nation made an excellent impression. But Congress always was Kennedy's biggest bottleneck.

Johnson, in Congress far longer than Kennedy, knows its people and workings better. As Senate leader before becoming vice president, he set an extraordinarily good record.

Nevertheless, after two weeks of talking and pressuring Congress, the same opponents of civil rights and tax cut who blocked Kennedy show no signs of going faster for Johnson.

NO FAST START
If Johnson had hoped to get off to a blazing start by getting at least one of those programs through before Jan. 1, he's wrong. He's probably too realistic to think he could do it that soon.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOOD ISHMAEL

The Road to Bethlehem. II

It was faith that caused the Three Wise Men, kings from the East, to travel far in order to worship the infant Jesus and bring Him gifts. It was faith also that led them to steal silently away. The warning they received in a dream that they should not return to Herod and tell him the whereabouts of Jesus only strengthened their belief in what they had seen.

Days of All Faiths:

Protestants Mark Bible Sunday

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

The season of Advent has to do with Christ's Second Coming, but this second Sunday in Advent has, throughout most of Protestantism, become Bible Sunday, which seems to have little connection with the Advent theme.

The reason tomorrow has a special reference to the Bible is that in the ancient mass-books one of the Bible readings was taken from the fifteenth chapter of Romans, in which St. Paul writes about the Scriptures. At the time of the Reformation the Church of England added a prayer for the day which definitely gave this Sunday a relation to the Bible that no other single Sunday has.

Most Americans are more familiar with the King James Version of the Bible than with any other, though many of them mistakenly call it the Saint James Version. King James I of England (who was no saint) appointed 47 scholars to make a new translation, though several English Bibles were already in existence.

The royal order, was given in 1604, but it was 1607 before the scholars got to work. Using older English texts — Tyndale, Matthew, Coverdale — and ancient Hebrew and Greek manuscripts, they had finished by 1610, and the new Bible, which has been the standard and beloved version for three and a half centuries, was finally published in 1611.

This was in the time of Shakespeare, when the English language reached its all-time peak of grandeur and majesty. Less than a hundred years before men were put to death in England for merely possessing a Bible.

OTHER BIBLES

There is a copyright on the King James Version, but it is held by the British crown and does not apply anywhere except in England and Scotland. It did apply in the American Colonies, of course.

There was never a Bible printed in America until 1782, six years after the Declaration of Independence. Robert Aitken of Philadelphia ignored the King's copyright and went ahead and published one.

Aitken apparently had not yet been indoctrinated on the separation of religion and state. He took his Bible to Congress for approval. Nor did the Congress consider the matter to be outside their scope. They approved it. Copies of Aitken's Bible are now even rarer than Gutenberg's, which was the first one of any kind ever printed.

The Gutenberg Bible, which appeared about 1456, was not only the first Bible but the first large book of any kind ever printed. The German Johann Gutenberg invented movable type in 1422. His Bible was, of course, in Latin.

Printers in the early days made mistakes, just as printers do now. One publisher, in 1631, left the word "not" out of Exodus 20:14 and the commandment came out "Thou shalt commit adultery." This Bible came to be known as the Wicked Bible, also the Adulterous Bible and the Devil's Bible.

Another printer, in 1717, got his type mixed up and titled Luke 20 "The Parable of the Vineyard." The right word, of course, is "vineyard."

In 1580, in Geneva, there was published "The Breches Bible," so named because in it Genesis 3:7 said Adam and Eve made themselves "breches" of fig leaves. The King James Version says "aprons."

And in 1551 there was "The Bug Bible." It got its name from its translation of Psalm 91:5, which says "Thou shalt not need to be afraid for any bugs by night." This is not as ridiculous as it sounds. In those days "bug" meant "ghost." We still have the same idea in our words "bogey" and "bugaboo." (Copyright 1963)

The Almanac

Today is Saturday, Dec. 7, the 31st day of 1963 with 24 to follow.

The moon is at its last quarter.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1787, Delaware became the first state to ratify the United States Constitution.

In 1805, James Madison won the presidential election, receiving 120 electoral votes, 47 received by Charles Pickens.

In 1931, President Herbert Hoover refused to see a group of so-called "hunger marchers" at the White House.

In 1941, Japan struck suddenly in the Pacific, bombing Pearl Harbor, the Philippines, Wake and Guam Islands, and the British possessions of Singapore and Hong Kong.

A thought for the day—President Franklin D. Roosevelt said: "Never before have we had so little time in which to do so much."

selfes "breches" of fig leaves. The King James Version says "aprons."

And in 1551 there was "The Bug Bible." It got its name from its translation of Psalm 91:5, which says "Thou shalt not need to be afraid for any bugs by night." This is not as ridiculous as it sounds. Washington Notebook:

How to Rile a Lady Reporter

By WASHINGTON STAFF
WASHINGTON (NEA) — In the west lobby of the White House, a newsmagazine accosted Sarah McClendon, reporter for several Texas newspapers. He ribbed her with this line:

"Let's see now, Sarah, Lyndon Johnson is the first Texan to be president since, er, who? General Eisenhower, isn't it?"

Like, of course, was born in Denison, Tex., though he claims Abilene, Kans., as his home town.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., is not about to concede the 1964 presidential race to the Democrats.

"In my many years of observing politics," Scott says, "I've always watched the Connecticut towns. Over and over again, in the year before a presidential election, they have given a pretty clear signal."

"This year, the Republicans came out a lot better in those Connecticut towns than anyone figured. The results weren't conclusive, but I think they indicate a close race next year."

His Pennsylvania colleague, Democratic Sen. Joe Clark, interrupted him:

"You remind me of a drawing man reaching for a straw. Hugh, you Republicans used to say, 'As goes Maine, so goes the nation.' Then you started to say, 'As goes Maine, so goes Vermont.' And now you're saying, 'As goes the Connecticut towns.'"

"That's what I call real progress."

Let's Pray for Guidance for President Johnson

Let us pray that President Johnson will walk in President Kennedy's path. May God guide him and show him the right way.

President Kennedy was a man of God. He was accomplishing something that no one could do.

'Christmas Festivities Start Too Soon'

I would like to inject a little thought to those responsible for the beautiful, festive decorations, plus all the music which fills the air. It helps us to have Christmas spirit.

Yet, when the day arrives and we have the children home and mothers can breathe a sigh of relief, what happens? There isn't a single trace of anything left to make us realize that this wonderful season is upon us.

Where I come from it would have seemed almost profane to sing "Silent Night" before Christmas Eve. With this change it makes me wonder a little if we aren't putting the almighty dollar before the Almighty Savior.

I like to celebrate the great feast from Christmas to New Years instead of Thanksgiving to Christmas.

Tells About Women Taking Plywood'

A lady picked up a sheet of plywood which fell from my truck. The board was intended to be a door on a new barn. It was my misfortune to lose the plywood, but I turned around in time to prevent her from taking the other piece, too.

Her action must have looked good to two small children waiting in the station wagon while a man who thought she lost the plywood helped load it.

Have a Merry Christmas, Lady. You have a fine piece of plywood. How is your conscience?

'Must Continue Fight Against Polio'

Many people of good will make up a great team that has been responsible for the fight against polio. Our deepest gratitude and thanks goes to Dr. Jonas Salk. We must continue through "March of Dimes" to support Dr. Salk in his newest endeavor, the Salk Institute for Biological Study. "March of Dimes" is our battle against disease. As chairman of the "Mother's March" for 1964, my trust is in your support.

The Better Half

"Do they have crutches that match?"

ably nobody at Draft Goldwater headquarters in Washington imagined one use now planned for it by one of his young fans.

The enthusiast is Carole White, 12, daughter of F. Clinton White, executive director of the draft committee.

In her bedroom in the Whites' home in Rye, N.Y., Carole plans to paper the ceiling with the big Goldwater picture.

Commented her mother:

"There may be just enough room left for a little border trim."

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., under an unusually heavy appointment schedule the other day, told his secretary, "Get the Senate dining room to send me over a low-calorie lunch just as fast as they can."

The secretary placed the order, stressing the need for promptness. A male voice replied:

"Tell Sen. Proxmire that the Majority Whip, who's nothing but a workhorse around here anyway, will see that he gets his lunch right away."

The speaker was Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., who had picked up the dining room phone when it rang.

Auto Exec Will Retire in January

DETROIT (AP) — Clare E. Briggs, vice president of Chrysler Corp. and general manager of the Dodge car and truck division, will retire Jan. 1, the company announced Friday.

Philip N. Buckminster was named to replace Briggs in the general manager's post. He has been assistant general manager of the Dodge car and truck division since 1961.

Briggs, 62, will be retained by Chrysler as a sales management consultant. A Chrysler spokesman said company policy allows employees elective retirement after age 60.

AUTO VETERAN
Briggs, a veteran of 27 years in the auto industry, joined Chrysler in March 1955, as assistant to the president in charge of sales for the Chrysler Division. Under his direction, sales of the passenger cars from the Chrysler-Plymouth division have shown steady increase, the company said.

Buckminster, another industry veteran, had been named president and general manager of Chrysler International S. A. in Geneva, Switzerland, when it was formed in 1958.

Rebel to Get Algeria Post

ALGIERS (AP)—Col. Mohamed Ou el Hadj, military leader of the Berber rebel uprising in October, will be named minister of veterans affairs in the Algerian government, government sources reported Friday night.

The official announcement is expected within the next few days.

President Ahmed Ben Bella said in an interview Thursday that Col. Ou el Hadj had renewed a pledge of support. But rumors in the capital persisted that the former Guerilla leader had returned to his opposition group in the Kabylie Mountains. The government announced Nov. 13 that Ben Bella and Ou el Hadj had agreed to restore unity.

The post of minister of veterans affairs has been vacant since the September elections, when the previous minister, Mohammed Said, became third vice president.

Car Designing Talk Subject

Bart Cotter, 1915 Rathmor, Bloomfield Township, general director of engineering for Fisher Body, will discuss design of the 1964 cars before Society of Automotive Engineers Detroit chapter Monday.

Cotter will tell about Fisher Body's role in designing General Motors car bodies, including Pontiac Tempest and innovations to achieve a new-size vehicle.

A Fisher engineer since 1936, he held important posts during wartime production and became chief engineer in 1957. He assumed his present job last May.

Reader's Digest Editor

Dies in New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Little, 67, a senior editor of Reader's Digest, died Thursday at the home of relatives. For the past 14 years he had been based in Paris for the magazine which he joined in 1937.

He was a war correspondent for the publication during World War II. From 1922 to 1927 Little was a staff member and then associate editor of The New Public.

Old Cowboy Actor

Dies in N. Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Tom London, 81, an actor who portrayed the role of sheriff in scores of Western movies, died Thursday at his North Hollywood home.

London came to Hollywood in 1917 and began his career in "The Great Train Robbery."

Detroit Tree Lighted

DETROIT (AP) — Six-year-old Brenda Hicks lit Detroit's 65-foot Christmas tree Friday, her eyes shining almost as brightly as the thousands of lights she turned on. Brenda is a polio victim.

Antismoking Class for Detroit Students

DETROIT (AP) — Experimental classes, designed to deter youngsters from cigarette smoking, will begin in 18 Detroit area public schools in February.

The program will include students from the fifth through the 12th grades in Detroit and suburban Dearborn.

The program germinated when health experts and educators here became alarmed over statistics on childhood smoking released by Dr. Daniel Horn of the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Horn reported that 5 to 7 per cent of all fifth and sixth grade pupils experiment with cigarettes; 10 per cent of regular cigarette smokers develop the habit before age 15; 21 per cent smoke by the end of their freshman high school year; and 44 per cent smoke by the end of their senior year in high school.

SMOKING MACHINE

The elementary school instruction will include construction of a smoking machine. Children will be shown how tar remains on tissue paper and darkens the tissue.

Junior high classes will have discussion groups and study normal and cancerous cells under microscopes. Senior high students will get a crack at consumer education studies on advertising and marketing of tobacco products.

Reinstein said the text book will be revised again at the end of the spring semester, based on teacher recommendations. The program is expected to become part of most Michigan schools by next fall.

'Leftist Singer Coming Home'

Robeson Is Reported
Preparing to Return

By JUNIUS GRIFFIN
NEW YORK (AP) — Controversial Negro singer-actor Paul Robeson, now ailing in Communist East Berlin, is reported ready to return to this country after living abroad for the last five years.

Negro author Louis Lomax, who spent a week last month in East Berlin with Robeson, said Friday night, "Robeson is coming home soon, and I don't mean just physically."

Lomax declined to elaborate.

Now 65
In 1947 Robeson, who is now 65, was accused by the House Committee on un-American Activities of supporting Communist-front organizations.

The U.S. government withdrew the singer's passport in 1950 because he had declined to sign a non-Communist affidavit required by the State Department. The requirement was later knocked out by a Supreme Court decision.

Eight years later, on July 11, 1958, Robeson went to London and made his home there until he went behind the Iron Curtain to seek medical attention.

Before going to East Germany, Robeson had been seriously ill and confined in a London nursing home. His British agent, Harold Davidson, did not say what Robeson had been suffering from but hinted that nervous strain might have had something to do with it.

CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT

Asked once by a newsmen in London if he were a Communist, Robeson replied: "I'll never answer that question. I have a constitutional right to be a member of any party."

In 1952 Robeson received the International Stalin Peace Prize complete with a diploma showing a picture of Joseph Stalin.

The citation read: "For outstanding services in the struggle against warmongers and for the strengthening of peace." Accepting the award, Robeson said: "I have always been, I am, and I always will be, a friend of the Soviet Union."

Book on JFK Back on Sale

NEW YORK (AP) — Distribution of "J.F.K.: The Man and the Myth," best-selling nonfiction book in the country before President John F. Kennedy's assassination, will resume Monday.

The Macmillan Publishing Co. which suspended distribution of the book by Victor Lasky after the assassination, said there will be no active promotion of it when distribution resumes.

Parts of the book are considered critical of the late president.

LIST NAMES — Mrs. Roswell Curtis of 8270 Golside Drive, Union Lake, left, and Mrs. Frank J. Soave of 8453 Golside Drive check names of North Oakland County residents requesting Christmas baskets from the Salvation Army. Doris C. O'Berry of 720 Sheridan Place does the typing.

The Pontiac Area Christmas Clearing House has set a deadline for receiving applications for Christmas aid as Dec. 16.

Christmas for Everyone

Salvation Army Plans for Holidays

In thousands of American communities Salvation Army leaders, dedicated to practical service in God's name, help millions of people regardless of race, color or creed.

Lt. Gary Crowell of Salvation Army Citadel, 29 W. Lawrence and workers are checking names of needy families throughout the Northern Oakland County Area to see that each family whose name is turned in, receives a Christmas basket.

The Pontiac Area Christmas Clearing House has set a deadline for receiving applications for Christmas aid as Dec. 16.

No applications will be taken after this date but the office will remain open to process names already received and to check with other agencies, Lt. Crowell said.

All agencies giving Christmas gratuities are asked to come in or phone the Salvation Army office by this date.

The Salvation Army will be glad to record the name of families being helped so no one else will duplicate, or report if someone else is already taking care of the family.

"After closing Dec. 16 the Salvation Army will assume responsibility for all approved families not taken by some other group. As the Salvation Army mails food orders, in check form, such orders must be in the mail in time to assure delivery before Christmas. "All families will thus have been assigned to groups or will have an order in the mail by Dec. 16," the lieutenant added. Last year 1,272 families were taken care of with a Christmas dinner supplying 5,875 people.

PINE HILL
The Sunday School of Pine Hill Congregational Church is collecting canned goods which will be donated to a deserving family before Christmas.

"The Visit of the Magi" will be the theme of Rev. Harry Clark's sermon at 11 a. m. Sunday in Pine Lake Elementary School, West Long Lake Road, Orchard Lake.

The altar of the church is draped in black in memory of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack J. Marshall will be greeters at the morning service tomorrow.

"As Late as We Watched," based on an Austrian folk melody, will be the anthem under the direction of Bernard Ernst.

Lester Olmstead will be host to the board of deacons at 8 p. m. Wednesday at his home, 700 Commerce Road, Orchard Lake.

The board of Christian education will meet Thursday in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bradley Barnes, 194 Bloomfield Terrace.

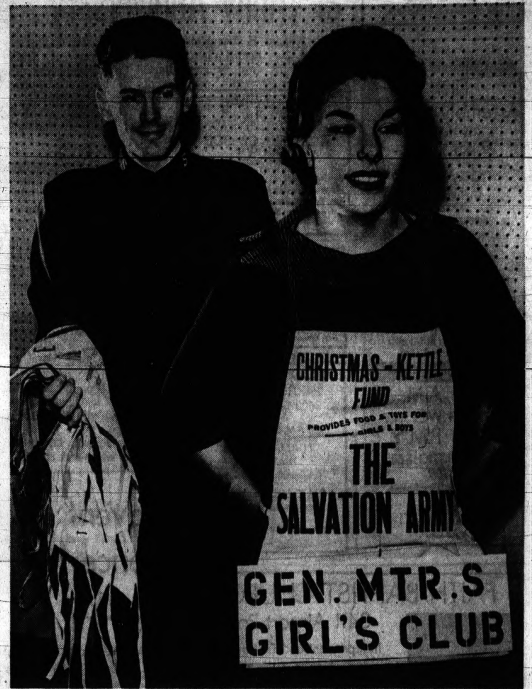

Members of Pine Hill Youth will meet at the home of Lee Marshall, 5575 Westwood Lane, Birmingham at 7 p. m. Sunday. The group will discuss "Spiritualism" under the leadership of Tom Lovell.

The youth group also has a project, styrofoam snow men about two feet high, decorated and for sale. The proceeds will be used for support of special missions.

The very first thing an executive must have is a fine memory. Of course it does not follow that a man with a fine memory is necessarily a fine executive. But if he has the memory he has the first qualification, and if he has not the memory nothing else matters.

Education isn't play — and it can't be made to look like play. It is hard, hard work. But if it can be made interesting work.

—Thomas A. Edison.

GIRLS AT KETTLES — Girls of the General Motors Girls' Club will don special Salvation Army aprons to man the kettles Dec. 14 on Pontiac area street corners. Catherine Walser of 1123 Myrtle of Pontiac Motor Division tries on an apron for fit. Lt.

Gary Crowell, head of the local Salvation Army Citadel, has aprons ready for other General Motors girls. Contributions received will provide Christmas baskets for needy families.

Sunnyvale Chapel Presenting Picture

"In His Steps" a new feature motion picture based on the novel of the same name, will be shown at a special service at 5 p. m. Sunday in Sunnyvale Chapel, 5311 Pontiac Lake Road, Waterford Township.

A second showing will follow at 7 p. m.

According to Pastor V. L. Martin the story originally appeared as a book by Charles N. Sheldon around the turn of the century. More than 30 million copies translated into dozens of languages across the world have been sold, the pastor said.

"In His Steps" as a novel came in the time of American history when vigorous reforms were underway especially in industrial communities. The film updates the situations giving the story a contemporary approach, he said.

Rev. Allebach Preparing Congregation

For the remainder of the Advent season in Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church, Pastor Theodore R. Allebach will preach to prepare the congregation for Christmas Day.

"What the Prophets Said About Jesus' Birth" will be his message at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Youth groups will meet at 5:45 p. m. with the Pioneers discussing, "Remember Thy Creator." "Avoid the Exam-Cram" will be the Builders' theme.

"Dealing With a Real World" will be the pastor's topic at the 7 p. m. worship.

The Oakland Avenue Church will be responsible for the service at Pontiac Rescue Mission at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Teachers and officers of the Sunday School will hold a session at 8 p. m. Wednesday. Mrs. Thomas Mackie membership chairman of the Sunday School, will present "The Living File System."

Everything comes to him who hustles while he waits.

—Thomas A. Edison.

CHRISTMAS BOX — Packing the Christmas box to be sent to an African family in Harbel, Liberia are Mrs. Johnnie McCathern and Rev. Amos G. Johnson, pastor of New Bethel Baptist Church. The Missionary Society of New Bethel Church is sponsoring the gifts of clothing being sent to Africa.

Pastor Promises Education

African Girl to Attend Pontiac School

Little did Reverent and Mrs. Amos G. Johnson realize when headed for the Sixth Baptist Youth World Conference in Beirut, Lebanon in July that they would promise a Christian education to a 12-year-old African girl. But they did.

Their stay in Monrovia, Liberia took them out to the Firestone Rubber Plantation where they met little Darlene J. Savice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Savice, who are parents of 12 children.

Darlene was such a bright child and so interested in obtaining an education the Johnsons told her parents they would be responsible for her coming to Pontiac.

Rev. Mr. Johnson promised the parents he would adopt her, that is, until she received a teacher's degree. She then would return to Liberia to teach others.

RECEIVES LETTER
Pastor Johnson has received letters from Darlene's family anxiously waiting to know the details. Here is a letter Darlene wrote to Pastor and Mrs. Johnson:

"Dear God parents:
Since you left I have been thinking of you both every day. As soon as you left I wrote you people but I haven't heard anything from you.

God parents I want to come over to America for education. My father is poorly paid and we need help. We are 12 in number, six boys and six girls. So I am asking you to help us.

Maybe you have forgotten me but I am the girl that you gave 10 cents to for showing you at Harbel. And I come from the Krut tribe. My mother said hello to you all.

Thanks please let me hear from you. I will be the most happy girl to hear good reply from you. I am 12 year old Nov. 10. Thanks and I am in the 4th grade and I close with much luck.

Yours truly,
Darlene J. Savice."

The Johnsons have made arrangements for Darlene to come here and just waiting for news when she will arrive.

Members of the Missionary Society mailed a box of new clothing to the family for Christmas.

Education isn't play — and it can't be made to look like play. It is hard, hard work. But if it can be made interesting work.

—Thomas A. Edison.

Rev. Robert Shelton • Pastor

Holding forth the Word of Life since 1821 - Michigan's FIRST Baptist Church

speaker at the 45th anniversary and homecoming of Trinity Baptist Church tomorrow. The service will begin at 3:30 p.m.

Rev. Donaldson served as pastor of Trinity from 1953 to 1955.

A graduate of Roger Williams University, he received degrees from American Baptist Theological Seminary and American University in Nashville, Tenn.

He was given a theological degree from Seminary College of Bible and homonymy from Baptist College at West Point, Miss.

A tribute and memorial service to deceased members will be at 7 p.m. A coffee hour will follow evening worship.

Church School is scheduled for 9:15 a.m. and morning worship at 10:45 with Rev. Lee A. Gragg, the new pastor of Trinity preaching. Music will be by the combined choirs.

Autographs Book — Rev. Edward D. Auchard, pastor of Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian, autographs his book, "The Path of Prayer," for Terry and Tim Brennan of 5124 Commerce Road, Orchard Lake. The boys are at the church for further study with their pastor toward earning the God and Country Award of Boy Scouts. Pastor Auchard's book consists of the series of Lenten sermons delivered in the spring. His board of deacons suggested they be published in book form and sent to boys from the church in service.

Advent Concert Sunday

An Advent concert sponsored by the Oakland County Chapter of the Valparaiso University will be presented at 4 p.m. Sunday in Grace Lutheran Church.

Choirs from Cross of Christ, St. Paul, St. Trinity and Grace Lutheran Churches will participate.

Mitzi Schroeder will sing the "Introit" for the Second Sunday in Advent and Martha Forman will play "Offertoire for Flute" by Donjon.

Numbers by the combined choirs include "Kyrie," "Hosanna to the Son of David" by Praetorius; "Wake Awake, for Night Is Flying" Bach; and "How Brightly Shines the Morning Star" Nicolai.

Selections also include "O Come, O Come Emmanuel," 12th century plain song; "Hosanna, Blessed Is He That Cometh," "Lo, He Comes With Clouds Descending," Williams; "Beautiful Saviour," Christiansen; and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You," Lutkin.

Mrs. Ralph Tetel is chairman of the tour which follows the program in Fellowship Hall.

Faith never fails: It is a miracle worker. It looks beyond all boundaries, transcends all limitations, penetrates all obstacles and sees the goal.

Missionary Speaks

Sunday will be Woman's Day at First Christian Church.

Miss Jessie Trout, executive secretary of field liaison for the Division of World Mission of the United Christian Missionary Society, will be guest speaker, and leader of the question and answer period at 6 p.m. tomorrow in First Christian Church.

From 1921 to 1940 she served as a missionary in Japan.

During five years of this time she was on a special assignment with Dr. Toyochika Kagawa, noted Japanese Christian leader who died in 1961.

Miss Trout has written numerous articles, devotionals, booklets and books. Among her books are "Like a Watered Garden" and "Bertha Fidelity: Her Story" as told to Miss Trout by a missionary who had lived and worked in Japan for 40 years.

Ministries of the United Christian Missionary Society of which Miss Trout was vice president from 1940 to 1961 are carried on through the voluntary cooperation of the Christian churches.

Restlessness is discontent and discontent is the first necessity of progress. Show me a thoroughly satisfied man — I will show you a failure.

—Thomas A. Edison.

'In His Steps' Film at Northern High

The film "In His Steps" will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday in Pontiac Northern High School. The movie was made from the book of the same name by Charles N. Sheldon.

Presenting the showing are members of the Youth for Christ group at Northern High.

Produced by Kenneth Anderson the picture is a full length production. It takes 75 minutes to present.

The North Star Trio of Flint will offer special music Friday night. The Gospeltones of Emmanuel Baptist Church will sing Saturday evening.

CHANUKKAH PLAY — Practicing for the play "Reporting on Chanukkah," are Marsha Goldman of 941 Canterbury Drive, (left), Cathy Crone of 70 Chippewa, Arnie Finkelstein of 1038 Argyle and Mike Sarokin of 873 Menominee. Arnie portrays the part of a newspaper reporter getting facts concerning the Jewish holiday, Chanukkah or Feast of Lights. The young people will present the play at Congregation B'nai during holiday festivities.

Jews Celebrate Chanukkah

Jews throughout the world will celebrate Chanukkah or the Feast of Lights holiday beginning at sundown Tuesday.

The festival which lasts for eight days is marked by the kindling of lights in the Jewish homes and synagogues.

The occasion commemorates the miraculous victory achieved by the Jews in 168-165 B.C.E. under the leadership of Judas Maccabaeus and his brothers over the Syrian Greeks.

King Antiochus IV tried to force them to abandon their religion and adopt Greek beliefs and practices. Finally the altar of the Temple in Jerusalem was purged of idolatrous influence and rededicated to the service of the one God.

In modern times the feast is observed with song and mirth, and children are given presents throughout the season.

At Congregation B'nai Israel the Religious School Assembly Dec. 15 will be dedicated to the feast with all regular classes called off.

At Temple Beth Jacob a family service will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday with Chanukkah as the theme.

Special music from George Handel's oratorio "Judas Maccabaeus" will be performed by Duncan Sells, cantorial soloist, and Charles Wilson, organist and music director.

PLAY DREIDLE

The game of "Dreidle" or top is played by children using pennies or match sticks.

On each side of the dreidle are the Hebrew letters "nun," "gimmel," "hay" and "sheen," representing the four words "Nes Gadol Tahyah Shavon" (A Great Miracle Happened There).

This refers to the miracle of the oil burning some 2,000 years ago when the warriors having driven the Greeks from the Temple, rededicated it to God. Their supply of oil for the eternal light would last but one day; yet until a messenger returned with a new supply, the oil lasted for eight days.

Each letter on the dreidle stands for a numerical value in the game: Nun (none); Gimmel (takes from the pot); Hay (take half from the pot); and Sheen (put one penny in the pot).

During the festival candles are lit every night beginning with one on the first night, two on the second, until finally on the eighth day, eight candles blaze with special services, prayers and music in synagogues, homes and religious schools.

The Hebrew word Chanukkah means rededication and the holiday is also known as the Days of Rededication.

'In Earthen Vessels'

Little Group Entertain in 'Parlor'

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: I would like your opinion on something that has been a pet peeve of mine for some time. Quite a few of our friends have finished basements and do all their entertaining in them.

I can see using this room for an occasional big party, but at other times I think guests should be entertained in the living room.

To me it is still a cellar no matter how it is fixed up and, in my opinion, no place to entertain company. What do you think about this?

A: I agree with you that when only a small number of guests are present, they should be entertained in the living room and the basement used only for large informal parties.

Q: I would like to invite a boy who lives about 75 miles from here to a dance. He will be unable to return home that same evening because of the distance and the late hour the dance will be over. Am I supposed to ask him to stay at my house or take a room for him at a hotel and pay for it?

A: If you can accommodate him at your parents' house, you should do so. If lack of space does not permit this, you should explain when inviting him that he will have to stay at a hotel and offer to reserve a room for him.

If your parents can afford it, it would be proper as well as generous of them to pay his hotel room. If not, he pays for it himself.

Q: I have always understood that when one has finished eating, the knife and fork were laid side by side on the plate with the prongs of the fork pointing up.

My husband always places the fork prongs down. He said he was taught to do this at boarding school and that it means you have finished eating. Which way is correct?

A: The fork is placed on the plate with the prongs pointing up.

Clothes' Trial Run
It's worthwhile to actually wear and wash travel clothes ahead of time. This "trial run" will tell you how they will perform en route.

Christmas cards always add cheer to a home whether on mantels, mirrors, draperies or tables. One card company now has cards designed especially for the brightest spot in any holiday home—the Christmas tree. Just add ribbon and some cellophane tape and let them bob their greetings from the branches.

Hills Prepare Festivities

By SIGNE KARLSTROM
Mr. and Mrs. Gustav von Reis of Westview Road have returned from a month in their winter home at Hillsboro Beach, Fla.

Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Altschul are expected to arrive from New York City next week to spend several days here.

With another daughter, Mrs. von Reis Newlander, the group will attend the Detroit Symphony concert, going on to the reception in the Hotel Whittier, for the Hon. Gunnar Jarring. He is Sweden's ambassador to the United States.

Michigan Students Progress, Achieve

Some 30 Michigan State University senior women are undergoing a seven-week training program designed to prepare them for careers in retailing.

The sojourn from classroom to department store is an annual one for girls studying retailing of textiles and clothing in MSU's College of Home Economics.

TO VISIT STORES
Demetra Mehas, assistant professor at MSU, will visit the stores in Detroit, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton and Toledo to assess the progress of her students.

Candidates participating are Andrea Bass of Hazel Street; Nancy Louis, Birmingham; Julie Smith, Franklin Village; Marylyn Johnson, Farmington and Elisabeth Short of Highland.

Jane Guest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Guest Jr. of Bingham Lane has been elected vice president of the pledge class of Alpha Phi national sorority at Denison University, Granville, Ohio. She is a freshman.

Central Michigan University students won a second place sweepstakes award in individual events during the annual speech tournament at Bradley University, Peoria, Ill.

For the third straight year, CMU has won honors and lost first place this year by a single point.

Good ratings went to Douglas Stranahan, Drayton Plains freshman, for oratory, and to Mary Jean Millick, Romeo junior, for discussion.

KEUKA COLLEGE

Meta Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Reynolds of Birmingham is one of more than 550 women students from Keuka College, Keuka Park, N. Y., participating in the college's yearly fall field period.

Off-campus study locations include 23 states, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Washington, D. C. Field period runs through Dec. 21, with classroom work resuming on Jan. 6.

Miss Reynolds, a sophomore at Keuka, majoring in English is also completing a vocational requirement at the Rochester (N. Y.) Public Library.

May vows are planned by Joan Valerie Milewski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Milewski of Dearborn, and David Joseph Dumas, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. David Dumas of Oakdale Street. They are graduates of Mercy College and Western Michigan University, respectively.

JOAN VALERIE MILEWSKI

Airman Weds Today

Airman J.C. and Mrs. William Jay Crossman III left for a northern honeymoon following their marriage and reception today in the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Lake Orion.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Radecki of East Walton Boulevard, Mrs. William Skinner of East Boulevard South and the late William J. Crossman Jr.

The bride appeared in a floor-length gown of white chiffon fashioned with Chantilly lace overjacket and a tiered skirt. A lace pillbox secured her fingertip veil of silk illusion and red rosebuds centered her cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Mrs. Larry Morrison, as matron of honor, wore blue chiffon over taffeta and a matching hat.

Edward Crossman assisted his brother as best man. Airman Crossman will be stationed in Minot, N. D.

Starch Prevents 'Little Reminders'

Holiday guests will thank the thoughtful hostess who provides table napkins or cocktail napkins that don't shed lint on dark wool clothing. The secret is a light touch of starch to smooth down the surface fibres and prevent lint from shedding. To starch napkins and other table linens, which the freshly-washed damp-dry linens with spray-on starch. Roll up, then unroll immediately and iron.

Yet the first commercial uses were for toothbrush bristles, fishing lines and surgical sutures.

American women had just got used to the luxury of the gossamer hosiery yarns when the urgent requirements of World War II shunted the nylon supply into parachutes, ropes and tires on tanks and planes.

The new Symphony maestro Sieten Ehring and Mrs. Ehring will be among the honored guests.

Mrs. M. M. Burgess after spending Thanksgiving holidays in Florida returned to her home for two days and then departed for New York City. She will be back at her Country Lane home tomorrow. Mrs. Burgess' sister and brother-in-law, the Alfred Mackeys are presently staying with her until they move into their new home around Dec. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Colman have returned to their Rathner-Road home after a longer stay at their home in Scottsdale, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Packer have scheduled a large cocktail party at Bloomfield Hills Country Club on Dec. 23.

A children's Christmas party will take place at the club on Dec. 21 with Mesdames: Frank Audette, Robert Fisher and Gail Smith in charge.

Parents Club Sponsors Meal at Parish Hall

The St. Frederick Parents Club is sponsoring a pancake breakfast Sunday in the parish hall on South Parke Street.

Proceeds from the 7:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. affair will be used to purchase girls' varsity basketball uniforms.

Cochairmen for the event are Mrs. Frank Scully and Mrs. Roland Larson. Other committee chairmen include James Valier, Charles Dean, Mrs. Leonard Daugherty, Kathy Carry, and Mrs. Jack Murphy.

Rev. Robert Shelton and Rev. Kyle Wilson sang duets with Mrs. H. L. Stout at the piano. Mrs. John Toroni was heard in "O, Holy Night" with violin accompaniment by Rev. Toroni.

Mrs. Murray Deighton of Birmingham gave the Christmas message.

Suzanne Rae Koren was honored at a recent buffet supper and bridal shower in the Loveland Building on Cass Lake Road. Hostesses were Jean Golding and Kay Chatterton.

Among the 24 guests were the bride-elect Mrs. Michael Koren of Schoolhouse Drive and Mr. Edmond G. Payne of Lincolnshire Drive.

Her son Gary is the future bridegroom. The couple is planning a Dec. 28 wedding.

A perfect cake has a crust that is uniform in color; has a level or slightly rounded top; uniform fine crumb structure and light texture; is tender and moist. The blending of ingredients brings out exactly the right flavor, and it has an attractive appearance.

Rho Chapter

A "Blitz Kuchen" made from a recipe published by The Pontiac Press in 1950 was served to 16 members of Rho chapter, Alpha Delta Kappa sorority, Thursday evening.

The hostess, Mrs. Walter Sheffield of Schoolhouse Road, was assisted by Margaret Scott.

Mrs. Theodore Fauble told the stories "Christmas Apple" by Ruth Sawyer and "A Korean Folk Tale" from Courlander's collection.

Group singing was led by Mrs. Melvin Boersma.

Chorus Gives Concert

The MacDowell Male Chorus, under its new director Jerry Libby, will present its annual holiday concert. Monday at 8:15 p.m. in Pontiac Northern High School.

For over 30 years, the chorus has been entertaining Pontiac audiences. This year's program will include both Christmas and standard male chorus repertoire.

Mr. Libby holds a bachelor of music education degree from the University of Michigan. He has taught vocal music with the Pontiac School System for five years. His accomplishments also include radio, television and theater drama.

Eggs Place First

Puddings and sauces thickened with eggs have better flavor than those thickened with cornstarch or flour.

There are 16 grandchildren.

The couple have three daughters, Mrs. Robert May of Adrian and Mrs. Donald McMorris and Mrs. Fred Schedlbower of Pontiac, and two sons, Jack McGuire of Dania, Fla., who will travel to Pontiac for the occasion with his family, and Thomas McGuire of Pontiac.

Church Group Sees Program

Judith Perry directed the Girls' Octet and the Girls' Ensemble from Pontiac Northern High School.

man; and Mrs. Keith Mitterdorf, all of Drayton Plains. They were installed during ceremonies at the Christian Missionary Alliance Church.

Buy a Cheap, Sturdy Chair for Your 400-Pound Friend

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: We have a problem for which there seems to be no solution.

I asked my minister, and he just laughed and said, "That's a good one for Abby!"

We are very friendly with another couple and we visit back and forth very often. When they come to our house they bring along an in-law who recently lost his wife and is lonely.

This in-law weighs about 400 pounds. He is a very nice person and we truly enjoy his company but, Abby, our furniture is beginning to break down under his weight.

Can we diplomatically ask our friends not to bring this man to our home and explain why?

We have had to replace the spings in our best chair, and now the other one is going. Please help us.

DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE: There are no words diplomatic enough to salvage a friendship after asking friends to leave a lonely in-law at home because he's too heavy for one's furniture.

Go to a second-hand store and find the sturdiest and least expensive chair available. Buy it and call it "his" chair.

No one will care what it looks like. They'll love you for it.

DEAR ABBY: We are not kids. I am 25 and he is 29. He says he wants to marry me, but he wants to be sure we are compatible first. So he has suggested that we have a trial living-together period for about three months to be sure.

We have gone together for 13 months and it never occurred to me that we wouldn't be compatible when married.

He tells me that automobile dealers let you drive a car before you buy it, and candy dealers always give samples, and I can't think of a logical reply.

Only I know he is wrong. Can you help me?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: A woman is neither an automobile nor a batch of candy. Tell him nothing doing.

He will have to take his chances with you, just as you are willing (or had been) to take yours with him. (P.S. Give this prospect some more thought.)

DEAR ABBY: When should a girl's father stop kissing her on the lips? Many girls have this problem, but I don't want to solve it my own way for fear of hurting Dad.

Please print this, as I know it would benefit many.

"SAY WHEN"

DEAR SAY: If Dad's embrace is innocently offensive, tell him so, and offer your cheek. There are no other rules. That's a family affair.

CONFIDENTIAL TO KAREN: He sounds like a "swell" boy — with a head to match. Ask him to return your bracelet.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, in care of The Pontiac Press, for ABBY's new booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

Counting Christmas pennies? You can make an almost "free" gift by cutting a good section of a worn bedsheet to apron shape and finishing the edge with bias tape.

Then use colored rick rack braid to decorate it in a holiday motif — adding ball fringe for holly berries or tree ornaments. Your gift will be attractive — and also practical, if you choose colorful trim so the apron can be popped into the washer after each wearing.

Religious Cards Used Since 1875

The first religious Christmas cards were published in Belfast, Ireland in 1875, the same year that Louis Prang, a prominent Boston lithographer, became the first American to produce Christmas cards on a commercial scale. About 35 per cent of this year's Christmas cards contain religious designs.

Undercover Yule Gift

The Waterford Fashion Your Figure Club members will sponsor a sale of baked goods from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday in the C.A.I. Building on Williams Lake Road.

Members will present gifts to residents of the Oakland County Youth Home.

Mrs. Harold Adams won the week's trophy for weight loss.

Square Dance Club

Callers were Oscar Denham, Bert Denham, William Schmuel and John DePauw. Guest caller was Howard Upton.

The next dance will be the Christmas party in the Schmel home on Marlborough Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Tibbitts of Oxford announce the engagement of their daughter, Roberta to Howard Edward Parker, son of the Carl E. Parkers of South Merrimac Street.

Add Spice to Your Holidays

For a "different" house plant, open a tiny red pepper and plant the seeds from it. They will grow fast into a glossy green plant sprouting white star-shaped blooms that gradually turn into tiny green and then red peppers. The plant blooms continuously and is especially effective as a Christmas decoration.

Grooming Pays in Many Ways

A lively restaurant chain in the mid-west can prove on its books that clean, well-groomed waitresses ring up more sales.

Five Generations Gather Here

Five generations stand all in a row. Starting with the youngest, they are: Rosy Mary and her mother Mrs. William Jones of St. Louis;

Mrs. Ed Hager, Poplar Bluff, Mo.; Carl Parsons, Bardley, Mo.; and Mrs. Annie Green, Flint. All are former Pontiac residents.

Mrs. Annie Green of Flint spent a memorable 85th birthday during which she was honored by four younger generations.

Mrs. Green has 2 daughters and 2 sons, 30 grandchildren, 73 great grandchildren, and one great great grandchild.

Mrs. Arthur E. Johnson of Waterford Township gave the birthday dinner for her grandmother, Mrs. Johnson's parents, Mrs. Green's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Parsons of Bardley, Mo. and their daughter Ruth were also honored guests.

Christmas Fashion Message

Holiday Lingerie Is Long

The fashion message in holiday lingerie and loungewear is long. The comeback of the ankle-length nightgown, which began quietly a couple of seasons ago when evening fashions started inching toward the floor, has now picked up enough momentum to push the long robe back in style too.

In a season when virtually everything in a woman's daytime wardrobe is under the spell of sportswear, sleep and lounge fashions are flowing and out-and-out romantic.

Many of the newest gowns for gift-giving are shaped to an Empire line in tricot of "Antron" nylon or batistes of "Dacron" polyester fiber and cotton-trimmed luxuriantly or not at all.

More old-fashioned in feeling are pristine shifts in crepes of nylon, silk and "Dacron" that look as young as visions of sugarplums.

Robes also show the influence of the free and easy shift, although there is a definite swing toward the subtle fit achieved through bias cuts that flatter the figure, or with sashes that can be belted high or low.

Fabric news in loungewear centers on velvety tricot of "Antron" nylon in rich vibrant shades. Equally important is a new Christmas wrappings are cuddly robes of trench-coat styling in deep piles of "Orlon" acrylic fiber and, for holiday hostessing, glamorous coat-and-pants costumes in jerseys of "Orlon" and wool.

The most enchanting boudoir shapes for Christmas gift giving are high waisted, long, and very young. Pretty example of this age of innocence influence is the sleepdress shown above. By Ralph Montenero for Schrank, it is available locally for about $7.

Christmas Landmarks in America

Traces of Christmas can even be found in Uncle Sam's Official Postal Guide.

"Santa Claus," Ind., "Bethlehem," Conn., and "Christmas," Fla., are a few of the more familiar post offices which each year handle floods of mail from senders wishing to obtain appropriate Yuletide postmarks on their greetings. One card company estimates that more than 3½ billion Christmas cards will be sent this season.

Indiana's "Santa Claus" is the only town so designated in the United States. The privilege is reserved to its post office by Congressional Act. There is, however, "Santa" in Idaho, but only one "Christmas" — the one in Florida, plus a "Christmas Cove," in Maine.

SEVEN BETHLEHEMS

On the other hand, seven "Bethlehems" answer the seasonal roll call. They can be found in Connecticut, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, New Hampshire and Pennsylvania.

There are two "Noels" — in Virginia and Missouri.

Beads Burst Into Spring

Spring will be a big season for the bauble fancier, according to the more than 300 manufacturers who displayed their costume lines at the United Jewelry Show here.

Beads will take on carved looks in plastics and imported glass, and in many baroque shapes. There will be satin raffias and luminous colors. Pastel plastic beads will be combined with dark wooden beads.

Insects will be everywhere as enameled and painted pins, pendants, vent as earrings. Floral motifs, also painted enamel, will have competition from equally colorful enamel garden vegetables.

Still in the style picture is the jangle jangle bracelet, with witty charms reminding the wearer to hang onto her charm by counting her calories.

Even for Cards: Wife Costs More

More "To My Wife" Christmas cards at 50 cents are sold each year than "To My Husband" cards at the same price, reports a greeting card company. The popular "Husband" price category is 35 cents, says the company.

Castro Denies Venezuela Terror

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro has ridiculed charges Cuba is behind the pro-Communist campaign of terror in Venezuela.

Addressing thousands of students in Havana's Sports Palace Friday night, Castro asked: "How can we be accused of promoting rebellion in Venezuela? Who can believe that? We are many miles from Venezuela."

He charged that the terrorism is a reaction to U.S. monopolists who, he said, are sacking the country.

REPEATED DENIAL

Castro also repeated a denial of Venezuela's charge that an arms cache recently found be-said the arms had been shipped by Castro for the terrorist armed forces for National Liberation (FALN). The Organization of American States voted this week to investigate the charge.

ya, Guinea and Ghana in late January and early February.

Nixon Essay Hailed in N.Y.

Cities Decentralization in Bar Exam Paper.

NEW YORK (AP)—A veteran court official says Richard M. Nixon wrote the best essay for admission to the New York bar that he has seen in 28 years.

Lowell C. Wadmond, chairman of the State Appellate Division's committee on character and fitness, released the text of the former vice president's 500-word essay yesterday, after getting clearance from presiding Justice Bernard Botein.

Ordinarily, admission papers are sealed by the court.

Nixon, who was admitted to the bar Thursday, submitted, like every other applicant, his answer to the question: "What do you believe the principles underlying the form of government of the United States to be?"

DECENTRALIZATION

Nixon said they are "decentralization of power, separation of power and maintaining a balance between freedom and order."

He said the latter was the "greatest achievement of the American constitutional system," because too much freedom or too much control lead inevitably to dictatorship, as demonstrated in Latin America, Africa and Asia.

Nixon is expected to become one of four senior partners in a reorganized and renamed firm of Mudge, Stern, Baldwin & Todd. Nixon's name is expected to be put first.

Full Blame on College in Fund Use

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Michigan Tech's board of control said Friday it accepts full responsibility for failing to obtain proper authorization to use certain funds to reconduct the college president's residence.

Aud. Gen. Billie Farnum had reported the college used $29,000 in maintenance funds on the remodeling project without obtaining a work order or approval of the State Administrative Board.

"The board is taking immediate steps to prevent future occurrences of this nature," the college administrators said.

They added, however, "it should be emphasized that the funds involved were spent for a purpose which is a proper and essential part of the responsibility of the college and the state of Michigan, namely, provision of an adequate and appropriate home for the president."

"There is no question of fraud or of diversion of state funds to uses not clearly associated with the essential purposes of the college," it said.

background for LIVING

Homes Built for Retirement

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Two neat modern homes in the area are serving the same purpose although they are situated miles apart. The homes were built with retirement in mind.

The James Highbaughs liked their big lot on Scott Lake in Waterford Township, so they decided to build their dream house there.

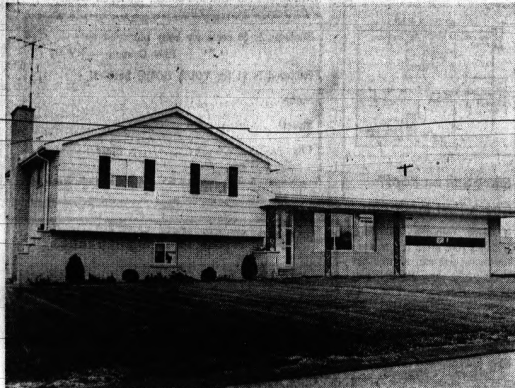

Besides comfortable relaxed living, the couple has more leisure time for fishing, boating and swimming in the summer—mostly because of the efficiency of their house.

Light colors in walls and carpetings accent bold contrast in definite browns, aqua and gold colorings. The furniture is simple in design as well as being comfortable. Many built-ins alleviate the placing of awkward heavy furniture.

When son William and his family, Mary Lou—home from Michigan State University—and 17-year-old Suzanne, a Waterford Township senior high student, gather for Christmas dinner, there will be plenty of space in this home to move about.

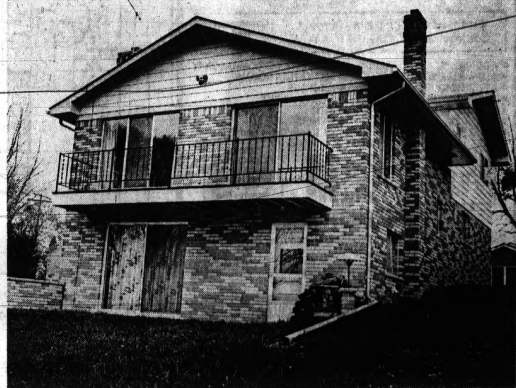

The first thing you notice in the Robert Walls home on Brindle Drive, Bloomfield Township, is the sea of light green carpeting that spreads out like a cool winding stream. The sculptured effect keeps footsteps from showing.

The couple have mixed Italian and French Provincial with a touch of Early American that is artistic as well as refreshing.

WALLS HOUSE—Trim, neat and efficient on inside and out, this clean-cut home was built especially for two people who planned on living here for the rest of their lives. The black shutters are accentuated by the white siding and light-tan bricks. The rear of the house has a large patio for summer enjoyment.

Pontiac Press Photos by Edward R. Nible

THE HIGHBAUGH HOUSE—This house was built with a nonmaintenance idea in mind, and the Highbaughs have achieved the ultimate in their house that "works for them." It's not fancy, cluttered with treasures collected in the many years of married life, or filled with nonessentials. The balcony is a place for viewing boaters on Scott Lake, dining or summertime relaxing.

COZY CORNER—In the lower level of the contemporary-styled Walls house is the relaxing area, and already fires burn brightly on cool fall nights. It's also a favorite place for the four married Walls children, their eleven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren—especially during the festive holidays.

A LITTLE ELEGANT—The smooth crisp lines of this French Provincial dining room set reflect an era of days in a foreign land. The style is always a welcome sight and particularly beautiful as well as useful in the neat Walls home.

STRICTLY MODERN—There's little doubt about the style of decor used in this clean-cut room. Being music fans, the Highbaughs got the biggest and most versatile stereo they could afford. Light beige carpeting is complemented by the four-seater Danish modern brown sofa and matching chair. Light sandstone draperies let in plenty of light even when closed.

NEW AND NEAT—It will be a long time before the newness or neatness of this uncluttered home wears off. The two-toned beige sofa is long and comfortable enough for a big man to stretch out on after a hard day's work. Sea-green sculptured carpeting stretches through the living room, into the dining L and up the stairs of the Walls trilevel home.

BUILT FOR COMFORT—This neat room is a carefree place for the genial Highbaughs. Stereo music floats through every room, adding warmth and beauty to the atmosphere.

Easy maintenance here provides more leisure time for boating, fishing and traveling—which is just the way the Highbaughs planned it.

2-Story House Features a Novel Arrangement

Take a second look at today's House of the Week. Notice anything unusual?

Customarily in a two-story home the bedrooms are directly above the living room area.

In this house, the living room,

roofed by a one-story section, and the garage is tucked under the house proper instead of attached to one side.

Architect Herman H. York who designed the lovely five-bedroom home as H6 in the weekly series, offers several convincing reasons for the novel arrangement.

LOOKS LONGER

In the first place, the house looks considerably longer because of the garage location.

More important, the portion of the house beneath the two-story section is unexcavated, a big saving to the builder.

York was able to accomplish this by a carefully planned stair arrangement, moving the one-story section up a step above

Typical of York designs, this one has "total kitchen planning," as he terms it, which means the entire housekeeping area is treated as a unit for well organized daily living.

LAUNDRY

To illustrate, just off the family room which adjoins the kitchen is the laundry (complete with the chute from the upstairs bathroom), mid room, lavatory, plenty of closet space and doors leading to both the garage and rear terrace.

The kitchen also has its own service entrance.

The upstairs is equally well planned for either a four- or five-bedroom family; the owners' room would become a complete suite with sitting room until the fifth bedroom is needed.

The house contains 1,286 square feet of living area on the first floor, 1,069 square feet on the second floor, and over-all dimensions are 63 feet 6 inches long by 34 feet deep.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS

The daily living area of this house revolves around the large family room which stretches from the front vestibule all the way to the rear terrace and includes a massive fireplace.

Thus a visitor can go directly from the foyer either to the formal living room or to the informal area.

A slate vestibule floor adds richness as well as practicality to the important entrance, and a coat closet nearly seven feet long assures convenience.

The kitchen is extra large.
 fast table overlooks the rear terrace.

EXPOSED WALL

The back of the chimney provides an exposed brick wall which further enhances the kitchen.

Both the formal living room and the dining room are in dead-end areas; neither over-has to be used as a passagway to any part of the house.

Another fine feature downstairs is the design of the garage.

It has two alcoves for storage and a work bench, and one of the alcoves has an outside opening for garden equipment.

DOORS ON SIDE

If the lot size permits, the garage doors could be located on the side, presenting a more attractive front view.

 well arranged with four corner bedrooms, a hall of generous width for housecleaning ease, and a truly family-sized bathroom which not only has a dual vanity but also is partitioned into bath and lavatory sections.

Lions' Draft Takes Back Seat

Play Browns in Big Game Tomorrow

DETROIT — Amid the furor created over the loss of top draft choices, the Detroit Lions have been preparing for their important National Football League game tomorrow with the Cleveland Browns.

The Lions will host the Browns in their final home game of the season and the Browns' hopes for their first Eastern division crown since 1967 could ride on the results.

Coach George Wilson is worrying more about how to contain Jimmy Brown than about the draft choices.

"I've told them to forget about all that stuff, we've got a big game to play Sunday," he said.

The Lions, crippled by a series of injuries to their pro defensive unit, lost three straight games before rallying to tie the Green Bay Packers in the last 16 seconds, 13-13, on Thanksgiving Day.

The Lions now expect their defense to be even tougher for the Brown game since Yale Lane and Dick (Night Train) Lane have had another 10 days for their ailing legs to heal.

With both Lane and gone, the Lion pass defense was only a shadow of its usual effectiveness and the Lions were being rattled by passing.

Cleveland is tied with New York (7) first place in the Eastern division and both teams only have two games remaining.

Detroit has always been a jinx team for the Browns. Cleveland has won only one of the nine regular and postseason games the Browns have played since the Browns entered the league and they have never won at Tiger Stadium.

Michigan Favored by Bald Eagle

LANSING — Michigan has the proud honor of being one of the states favored by the bald eagle, that is our national emblem—the bald eagle.

Conservationists and members of the Audubon Society are concerned, however, because the number of the majestic birds is declining in the continental United States.

Alaska still has bald eagles in good numbers. The last survey showed only 515 known active bald eagle nests in the continental United States. Michigan, with 56 nests, rated second only to Florida with a total of 257.

The reason for the decline is still being debated. It is known that callous and careless hunters kill a few.

They are killed although the birds are very distinctive and are protected both by state and federal law.

An adult bald eagle was recently shot down near Monroe. The yellow legs and talons had been cut off. Only two bald eagles were known to remain in the southern Lower Peninsula—both in Monroe County.

The birds, which love the freedom and space of wilderness country, are concentrated in the Upper Peninsula. They forage over the Great Lakes and fish form a staple of their diet.

It also is suspected that pesticides—mainly DDT—are a factor in the decline in the bald eagle population. Several eagles have been picked up, found dead of unknown causes. A check showed they contained significant amounts of DDT.

DDT IN FOOD

Although they often catch live prey, eagles also will feed on fish or birds that have been killed by pesticides poisoning or pollution. It is thought this poisoning might cause unfertile eggs.

Experiments with other birds have shown DDT does reduce egg fertility.

Eagles will catch small game such as rabbits, squirrels and pheasants. They also are bold hijackers and often will chase and harry a fish hawk that has just made a catch. When the hawk drops the fish, the eagle will catch it before it hits the ground or water.

The bald eagle can be spotted by his white head and tail feathers.

An adult will weigh up to 10 pounds and have a seven-foot wing spread.

Don Douglass, of the State

Conservation Department game division, dismisses stories of eagles carrying off adult sheep or even small children as pure fantasies.

Tests showed that eagles can lift only a weight of about seven or eight pounds. An eagle conceivably could pick up an infant child but couldn't carry it more than a few feet, Douglass said.

Michigan conservationists are distributing about 5,000 posters asking the public to help save the bald eagle. They will appear at rest sites, parks, schools and sporting goods stores.

The public is asked not to disturb nesting sites or even get too close to try to photograph the birds. Above all hunters are asked, don't shoot at our national emblem.

Buzzer Shot Nips Shrine

Detroit St. Ambrose pinned a 34-7 defeat on Royal Oak Shrine Friday night when Mike Erickson tipped in a shot at the buzzer.

The bucket gave Erickson 28 points for the contest and enabled him to offset the 16- and 10-point efforts, respectively, of Tim Seymour and Pat Mohey of Shrine.

The Royal Oak quintet led 37-33 at halftime, and 54-46 after three periods. Shrine now has lost two of three starts.

Trade Traffic Light at Baseball Meeting

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Trade traffic was not as heavy as expected but several important player deals were consummated at the baseball convention that ended Friday which may have a bearing on the 1964 major league pennant races.

Here is the scorecard of the player deals transacted during the minor league meetings in San Diego and the major league sessions here:

1. The Los Angeles Dodgers sold first baseman Bill Skowron to the Washington Senators for an estimated $25,000.
2. The Los Angeles Angels traded outfielder Leon Wagner to the Cleveland Indians for pitcher Barry Latman and veteran first baseman Joe Adcock.

3. The Indians traded right fielder Willie Kirkland to Baltimore for left fielder Al Smith.

4. The San Francisco Giants traded outfielder Felipe Alou, catcher Ed Bailey, pitcher Billy Hoelt and an unnamed player to Milwaukee for pitchers Bob Hentley and Bob Shaw and catcher Del Crandall.

5. Detroit traded pitcher Jim Bunning and catcher Gus Triandos to the Philadelphia Phillies for outfielder Don Demeter and pitcher Jack Hamilton.

6. The New York Mets purchased catcher-outfielder Bob Taylor from the Braves for an estimated $30,000 on a conditional basis.

Michigan Keeps Rolling

Nebraska Stall Can't Stop 'M'

Northern, Tech Win Cage Contests

By The Associated Press Michigan, eighth-ranked in the nation, let Nebraska control the ball 4 1/2 minutes and then roared off to a quick 9-0 lead on its way to an 80-55 basketball victory Friday night.

Meanwhile, the Upper Peninsula's teams whipped invaders from Wisconsin. Northern Michigan downed Stevens Point 72-58 and Michigan Tech beat Superior State 96-85.

In out-of-state action, Western Reserve trounced Eastern Michigan 83-60 at Cleveland, the University of Windsor beat Aquinas 111-97 and Washington and Jefferson beat Wayne State 73-67.

Michigan, which pushes its season record to 3-0 with the victory, had 17 points from Bill Buntin, 15 from Cazzie Russell and 12 from Jim Myers.

Michigan pulled steadily ahead all the way, taking a 34-22 lead by halftime.

PULLED AWAY

Michigan Tech led all the way — except for a brief period with about three minutes left. Superior took a two-point lead then, but Tech quickly pulled away again.

Northern took an early 10-1 lead and never fell behind as it handed Stevens Point its first basketball loss.

Western Reserve took over in the second half, after a see-saw battle against Eastern Michigan during the first 20 minutes.

Fast breaks and stolen passes featured the high-scoring Windsor-Aquinas game. Bernie Friesmuth led Windsor scoring with 27 points, while the losers had two men above 20—Ray Bauer with 23 and Jim Alexander with 21.

Wayne was playing its season opener, but counting last season's games, Friday night's loss gave the Tartars a 14-game losing streak.

Pistons End Slump in Overtime Game

DETROIT (AP)—It took five extra minutes of work, but the Detroit Pistons snapped their seven-game losing streak Friday night.

Their 112-106 victory over the St. Louis Hawks in overtime also knocked the Hawks out of first place in the National Basketball Association's western division.

Behind by as much as 16 points in the second quarter, the Pistons tied the score 105-103 at the end of regulation time on two free throws by Rao Scott.

Bailey Howell paced Detroit's scoring with 36 points. He had scoring help from only six other players. Three Pistons regulars were out with injuries, and Eddie Miles was hurt in Friday night's game before he scored any points.

Central, Kettering Wrestlers Downed

Pontiac Central's matmen locked horns with Hazel Park Friday and came away on the short end of a 30-12 score.

Other matches on the Friday schedule found Cranbrook downing Birmingham Groves, 41-13, and Kettering losing to Ypsilanti, 32-12.

The Chiefs won only four of 12 events in losing their second match in a row. Bill Roach, 112-pound class, Reuben Rice, 133 pounds, Dan Rodriguez, 148 pounds, and Larry Ragsdale, 180-pound division, turned in victories for the Chiefs.

Kettering suffered similar

Two-Way Tie in Mixed Golf

SEBRING, Fla. (AP)—First round leaders Jo Ann Prentiss and Tommy Bolt went into today's third rounds of the $40,000 Scotch Mixed golf championship tied with upcoming Bert Weaver and Sandra Spuzich.

Bolt and Miss Prentice shot a 72 Friday for a 96-hole total 136. Weaver and Miss Spuzich, a pro only two years, shot a 66 for a total of 136.

The Bolt-Prentice team started out as though they meant to duplicate their opening round 64. They birdied No. 1 when she sank an eight-footer. They barely missed birdies on No. 2 and No. 3.

The rest of the field began closing in. Twelve teams shot below-par golf. Six more matched it.

Tied at 138 going into the third round were the teams of Sam Snead and Shirley Englehorn, and Joe Campbell and Kathy Cornelius. Four teams had 139: Mason Rudolph - Kathy Whitworth, Dave Regan - Mickey Wright, John Barnum - Betsy Rawls, and West Ellis - Judy Kimball.

St. James Victimized by Early Shortcomings

St. James spotted Detroit St. Cecilia 13 points before it could score Friday night, and Ferndale squig never caught up in a 54-38 beating.

Ex-Champ Wins Easy Decision; Wants Pastrano

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"I'd like to sneak up on Pastrano."

That was former light-heavyweight champion Harold Johnson's way of saying today he wants another shot at Willie Pastrano, who dethroned him in a hotly disputed decision last June 1.

Johnson used Henry Hank of Detroit as a stepping stone to ward his goal last night, winning a unanimous 10-round decision in their nationally televised fight.

The 39-year-old Johnson, a master boxer, was the superior throughout, winning seven of the rounds and drawing two others. It was his first bout since he lost the title.

On the basis of a five-point per round must basis, referee Pete Tomasso scored it 49-42; Judge Dave Beloff 50-41; and Judge Jim Weston 48-44. The Associated Press had Johnson ahead 49-43.

Brother Rice Wins, 66-51

With Paul Jagels, one of the county's top scorers last year clicking for 24 points, Brother Rice scored a 66-51 victory over DeLaSalle last night.

Brother Rice led all the way after holding a 27-22 halftime advantage, and 45-33 after three quarters.

Jagels received help from Bill Moore who added 20 and did a fine job rebounding along with Dave Slater and Terry Finn.

Pontiac Northern's Huskies will make their 1963 home cage debut tonight with Livonia Franklin facing the opposition.

Elsewhere in the area, Orchard Lake St. Mary journeys to Royal Oak St. Mary to battle the 1962-63 Northwest Parochial champion, Detroit-Thurston.

travels to Clarenceville, MI. Clemens plays host to Warren and Lakeview moves to Roseville.

The Huskies looked sharp in their opening performance last week. They trimmed Flint Southwestern, 76-64, with eight players denting the scoring column.

The Huskies' big point producers in the opening tilt were Roger Hayward (28) and Mike Burklow (24). Both are expected to see plenty of action to night.

The game will also serve as a tuneup for the Huskies who open Inter-Lakes conference play next week at Berkley. Northern bagged the 1962-63 loop crown with a 9-1 record.

Hayward (64), Dick DeWeese

And this height could be a problem for the visiting Franklin quintet.

ON SHORT SIDE
Franklin dropped its opener last Tuesday to Wayne, 79-59, and the Patriots' lack of height was one of the big factors in the game.

Sam Antonazzo, at 5-10, is the tallest Patriot and the club's top scoring threat. He canned 15 markers in the opening loss.

OL St. Mary's Eagles take on ROSM in a contest with the winner moving into a favorite's position in the Northwest Parochial League race.

20-Mill Tax Ceiling Set

County Committee OKs Home Rule Bill

By DICK HANSON

A proposed bill for county home rule scraped through the County Board of Supervisors Legislative Committee by a 2-1 vote Thursday when two members were absent from a meeting.

called "an act to provide for establishing a home rule county and revising and amending its charter."

Modeled after an existing act for home rule cities, it supposedly would enable streamlining of county government for greater efficiency.

The proposed act must now be voted on by the board of supervisors before being sent to the State Legislature.

ALONE IN OPPOSITION
Committee member Seelye Tinsman, Holly Township supervisor, was alone in voting against submitting the bill in its present form to the board of supervisors Tuesday.

The committee's proposal is of the proposed bill. These would set a 20-mill ceiling on county property taxes and permit county employees to come under civil service.

The major objection to civil service is that employees cease to be responsible to elected officials.

Tinsman said the 20-mill ceiling on taxes is too high.

If approved by the legislature and later adopted by county voters as part of a home rule charter, it would enable the county to levy up to $20 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

PRESENT SET UP
At present, the county receives 5.25 mills within a 15-mill limitation for schools, townships and county government.

He objected to two sections in all likelihood, if the county, under home rule, got its own limitation. Its former share of the 15 mill would be gobbled up by the schools and townships, according to Committee Chairman Carl Ingraham, supervisor from Birmingham.

If so, county taxpayers could find themselves paying as much as 20 mills more under the committee's proposal.

Just prior to yesterday's meeting, Avon Township Supervisor Cyril Miller, third member of the committee present, objected to the 20-mill limitation.

He also said the figure was too high.

BEFORE FULL BOARD

During the meeting, however, he moved for adoption of the committee's recommendation, explaining that he did so in order to bring the proposal before the full board of supervisors.

Ingraham seconded the motion, and then joined Miller in approving it over Tinsman's objections.

Warned that the board might kill the entire home rule proposal because of the 20-mill ceiling, Ingraham urged any objecting members to seek an amendment from the floor instead.

White Lake Township Supervisor Edward Cheyz, presented at the committee meeting, though not a member, said he planned to offer such an amendment.

MORE REALISTIC

He said he thought a 10-mill ceiling would be more realistic.

The tax ceiling isn't necessarily what the county would wind up with if it ever went to a home rule form of government.

The legislature will be asked to set the ceiling, county voters will decide whether the county can levy more taxes by going to home rule.

Their decision would be made when a proposed home rule charter is presented at the polls.

CHARTER COMMISSION

The charter will have been prepared by a duly elected commission.

The commission's proposed charter would have a provision that the county be able to levy so many mills annually without a further vote of the people.

The ceiling being proposed now by the legislative committee would restrict the commission from asking for more than the act allows.

If the voters think the tax provision in the proposed charter is too high, they can turn it down by voting against home rule, in which case the county will continue to operate within the existing 15-mill limit.

COUNTY-MANAGER SYSTEM

Besides setting a 20-mill tax limit the committee's proposed act would enable the charter commission to recommend a county-manager-form of government that would strengthen the administration.

The act also would enable county government to meet local needs without first seeking legislation from Lansing.

Under the present system, counties are restricted to performing only those tasks specified by the legislature.

The difficulty here lies in trying to meet the daily problems of administering to the needs of a growing urban community at the local level, according to Delos Hamlin, chairman of the board of supervisors.

In order to provide more and more urban services, the board has to request a constant stream of legislation from Lansing, he said.

The process has been described by Hamlin and other supervisors as unnecessarily long, arduous and expensive.

Flint Probe Hears Testimony From Pontiac City Manager

Pontiac City Manager Robert A. Carter testified for 1½ hours last night in Flint before a one-man grand jury probe into alleged conspiracy to violate state laws and the Flint city charter.

Carter, 47, is former Flint City Manager, serving in that post from Dec. 8, 1958 to March 1, 1963. He was hired by the Pontiac City Commission Nov. 12.

Emerging from the closed-door session at about 8 p.m.,

Rain Tonight; Snow Sunday

The area will have a tropical winter tonight — rain — and a Michigan winter tomorrow — snow — says the weatherman.

The July December mercury is expected to climb only three degrees tomorrow from its predicted low of 35 this evening.

Skies will be mostly cloudy to morrow and partly cloudy Monday.

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac prior to 9 a.m. was 31. At 1 p.m., the thermometer registered 44.

This morning's southerly winds became southwest at 15 to 30 miles this afternoon. They will shift to northwest at 15 to 25 miles late tonight and tomorrow.

Old Newsboys Hawk Papers for the Needy

Revenue to Assure All May Enjoy a Merry Christmas

Old newsboys in Waterford Township and four other Pontiac area communities are on the streets today hawking Goodfellow editions of the Pontiac Press.

Proceeds of the annual sales will be used to provide a brighter Christmas for the less fortunate.

Capt. Clayton Soncrainte of the Waterford Township Fire Department is chairman of this year's Goodfellow sale in Waterford. The goal is $3,000.

Among the groups participating in the sale and their locations are:

Eagles, M59 and Telegraph; police, Voorheis and Telegraph; Veterans of Foreign Wars, M59 and Crescent Lake Road; Firefighters Association, Elizabeth Lake Road and Telegraph; and Kiwanis, Dixie and Telegraph.

Others are Evening Optimists, Walton and Sasholaw; civil defense police, M59 and Airport; Breakfast Optimists, The Mall; and the Rotary Club, Dixie and Andersonville and Dixie and Walton.

PURCHASE FOOD

Receipts from the sale will be used to purchase food orders negotiable at area stores and to prepare Christmas food baskets.

The baskets will be delivered a few days before Christmas to an estimated 100 families.

Goodfellow sales of the Pontiac Press begin today in Pontiac Township where Metropolitan Club members seek $1,000, and in Highland Township where the drive is sponsored by volunteer fire department members.

Paper sales continue for the second day in Southwest, Avon Township, Addison Township and Clarkston.

City Hears Success Story From Pontiac Head

Secretary C. E. Wilson, former Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield and Dr. John Hannah, president of Michigan State University.

Detailing Pontiac Motors continuing success story, he said:

As you all know, I am sure, Pontiac sales in the past few years have been extremely good. Two years ago we had a 40 per cent increase over the previous year — the largest gain in the industry.

On top of this, we had an 18 per cent gain last year and we're still climbing.

SOLIDIFIED STANDING

We had produced an all-time record 990,000 units in the 1962 model year and had solidified our third-place standing to where today we lead our nearest competitor by more than 100,000 units.

We have made many changes and improvements — both styling and engineering — in our products. We are constantly striving to give the customer more for his dollar.

Morning Accident in Lyon Township

The driver of a small van was killed this morning when his truck went out of control on I-96 in Lyon Township.

Dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital, Livonia, was Jeronimo F. Garza, 31, of 521 W. Grand Blvd., Detroit, according to Redford State Police.

Garza was traveling west on the expressway when his truck skidded sideways on the slippery pavement and off the road.

He was hurled from the vehicle as it overturned several times. It came to a halt 107 feet from where it went off the road.

The accident occurred at 8:25 a.m. between Old Plank and Wixom roads.

Bandit Was 'Nervous'

DETROIT (AP)—A lone bandit who told a teller "I could kill you because I am very nervous," escaped with $300 Friday from a crowded branch of the National Bank of Detroit.

Thompson Is Guilty; Gets Life in Prison

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — T. Eugene Thompson, 36, was convicted Friday of arranging the brutal slaying of his wife, Carol, 34. He was sentenced immediately to life imprisonment.

The verdict and sentence ended one of Minnesota's most sensational murder trials. A six-man, six-woman jury took just over a day to convict the dapper attorney of first-degree murder.

The decision came nine months to the day after his wife was fatally beaten and stabbed in their fashionable home in St. Paul.

The state contended Thompson had hired the killer for love of another woman and for more than $1 million in insurance.

The blond, crew-cut lawyer remained in jail today pending his transfer to the state prison at Stillwater to serve the life sentence imposed by Judge Rolf Fosness. There is no capital punishment in Minnesota.

With good behavior, Thompson would be eligible for parole after 17½ years.

COULD BE FREED

If his attorneys appeal—which they indicated is likely—and if the predictably heavy bond is met, Thompson could go free pending a decision by the State Supreme Court.

When he came to the word "guilty," Thompson's head dropped.

City Hears Success Story From Pontiac Head

The Tempest has been an unqualified success and I predict we will break all Tempest sales records this model year. Our November Tempest sales hit an all-time high of 18,000 units.

Last year we built Tempests in three plants. Anticipating a greater demand this year, we added a fourth plant and still we can't keep up with the demand.

Many of you in this audience today — as well as people all over the country — have been asking those of us connected with Pontiac two questions.

They are:

1. Has there been any adverse reaction from customers to the changes in the Tempest?

2. To what can Pontiac's sales success be attributed?

TEMPEST FIRST

First, let's talk about the Tempest. Criticism has been all but nonexistent. I have to admit I am surprised. I expected some.

Our dealers are happy. They say they now have a Pontiac lineup that is balanced with the price and size of the Tempest in proper position.

Eighty per cent of our Tempest sales are what we call conquest business. In other words, they involve trade-ins of rival makes. Over-all, our dealers are taking in on trades about 43 per cent Pontiacs and 57 per cent competitive cars.

Tempest currently is accounting for 30 per cent of our sales.

Strong Powers Requested by Oswald Probe

Witnesses Would Be Forced to Testify and Could Get Immunity

WASHINGTON (AP) — The probers of President John F. Kennedy's assassination are asking Congress for extraordinary powers to force testimony from any reluctant witnesses and to grant immunity from prosecution.

The sweeping resolution was introduced in the Senate late yesterday by Sens. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., members of the presidential commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren.

It came almost simultaneously with the announcement that Texas had called off its state court of inquiry at Warren's suggestion to avoid interference with the high-level investigation ordered by President Johnson.

Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said he had been invited to participate in the bipartisan presidential inquiry and will do so.

Files and evidence amassed by Texas state and city authorities already are in the hands of the FBI, he said, and the Texas court will be convened if it can be useful to the Warren commission in questioning witnesses there.

AFTER PROBE

It also may be convened after the Warren group ends its work if this would serve any good purpose, Carr said. But he declared his belief that federal investigative powers are "being used to the fullest extent."

"It is our considered judgment that the Texas court of inquiry, if held at this time or in the immediate future, might bring about an interruption in the continuity of the national wide investigation," Carr said.

Tight Security for LBJ Visit

N.Y. Police to Take Extra Precautions

NEW YORK (AP)—Police and the Secret Service have set up one of the tightest security plans in the city's history for President Johnson's visit to New York tomorrow.

The President will attend the funeral of former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman at Temple Emanuel in Manhattan.

He will drive from Idlewild Airport to the temple—and back—in a special limousine, not the bubble-top car in which President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas.

Police refused to disclose the routes the 12-car motorcade will follow.

FAST ESCORT

After a three-hour private meeting with Secret Service agents last night, police said the motorcade will have "a fast motorcycle escort of about 35 policemen."

"Special attention will be given to underpasses, overpasses and all large buildings along the route," a department spokesman said.

The precautions contrasted with the loose arrangements afforded President Kennedy at his last visit to New York Nov. 14.

6. The Gift to the Adulteress

By JOHN J. STEWART

As Jesus sat teaching in the temple yard one morning, He was rudely interrupted by a crowd of scribes and Pharisees who dragged before Him a woman whom they had caught in the act of adultery.

So common a practice was adultery that no great concern was felt about it. But the committing priests had trapped this unfortunate woman, hoping to use her in their effort to establish some charge against Jesus: Moses had said that those found guilty of adultery should be stoned to death, yet the Romans had decreed that Jews could not inflict the death penalty.

BEFORE JESUS

Scornfully, the priests shoved the wretched woman before Jesus. "Master," whined one, a smirk on his bearded face, "Master, this woman was taken in adultery, in the very act. Now Moses in the law commanded us that such should be stoned. But what sayest Thou?"

Jesus looked at the shamed woman, her eyes downcast. He looked at the scribes and Pharisees, smugly awaiting His answer.

Then He stooped down, and with His finger wrote in the dust on the stone floor, as though He had heard them not.

But the priests haughtily persisted in questioning Him as to what should be done to her. Finally Jesus stood up and quietly, firmly, He said, "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her."

WRITES AGAIN

Then He again stooped down, writing once more upon the ground, so that His eyes would not be upon them.

The priests had suddenly become silent. One by one they slunk away.

Soon only the adulteress remained. Jesus arose and asked, "Woman, where are thine accusers? Hath no man condemned thee?"

"No man, Lord."

Flint Grand Jury Probe Hears Testimony of Carter

Samuel Catsman, owner of a Flint concrete supply firm, also testified.

Catsman has supplied concrete and associated materials for major public improvement projects in Flint and Pontiac.

He told his Pontiac office, Catsman Pontiac, Inc., 339 S. Paddock, in 1961.

Although vague in regard to names and specific incidents, one portion of Leonard's petition does refer specifically to land acquisition by the city of Flint for a pumping station near Port Huron.

The land is part of Flint's proposed Lake Huron water supply project.

In the petition, Leonard charged that in July 1961 "certain person, both known and unknown, conspired to violate the laws of the state . . . relating to the land purchase."

He further charges that from 1955 until now, certain public officers and employees "did conspire to corruptly solicit and did receive certain gifts, gratuities, money, property and other valuable things from diverse other persons."

The purpose of these actions was "to influence . . . the votes, opinions, decisions and judgments" on matters which came before them, according to the petition.

It also pointed out that the witnesses "are unwilling to appear without subpoena and are unwilling to make statements . . ." except at a grand jury inquiry.

Two Horses Are Killed in Bruce Twp. Fire

Two horses were killed last night in a barn fire about midnight at 7841 36 Mile Road, Bruce Township.

Romeo Fire Chief Walter Worth said the barn, owned by James Fetter, same address, was a total loss. Firefighters spent about three hours battling the blaze, believed started from a hot water heater.

Rumor of Berlin Wall Permits 'False'

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt today condemned published reports that issuance of Communist passes allowing West Berliners to visit their relatives and friends in East Berlin at Christmas was practically certain.

"These reports are not good," he said in a statement. "They are unfortunately false."

City officials said yesterday that the East German authorities sent a letter to Brandt offering to discuss the possibility of letting West Berliners through the Communist wall from Dec. 15 to Jan. 15.

A number of West German newspapers and a western news service said that issuance of passes was practically arranged except for minor details.

POSSIBILITIES

"We had received certain information which prompted us to decide to investigate whether new possibilities (for agreement) have arisen," the mayor said. "That is all and it is no reason for hope."

He said his administration would do everything possible to "rectify the inhuman consequences" of the Red Wall.

The wall was built 28 months ago to stop the flow of refugees. Only a few West Berliners — mostly doctors, technicians and artists — have been allowed to pass through to East Berlin.

Although some officials here and at Bonn, the West German capital, expressed great optimism last night, West German government officials toned down their reaction today.

CONDUCT TALKS

Kurt Leopold, head of the office which handles trade with East Germany, has been instructed to conduct possible negotiations.

The West German government would avoid dealing directly with the Communist regime, which it does not recognize, by using Leopold as an intermediary.

A spokesman for the Western allies garrisoning West Berlin — the United States, Britain and France — said yesterday they were "extremely sympathetic to the understandable and legitimate desires of the West Berliners to visit their relatives and friends in East Berlin, particularly at this time of the year."

The Communists have in the past, expressed willingness to issue passes to West Berliners, but demanded the right to set up permitted offices at West Berlin elevated railroad stations.

OFFER REFUSED

However, the Western Allies refused to allow Communist organs to operate on western territory.

West Germans, as distinct from residents of West Berlin, had all along been allowed to enter East Berlin on permits issued by border guards at the wall.

Pontiac Lights Christmas Tree

Holiday Cinderella Performs the Honors

The north end of downtown Pontiac suddenly burst into a blaze of festive color last night as hundreds of tiny lights sprinkled over a 50-foot Christmas tree were turned on.

Doing the honors was Miss Downtown Cinderella, pretty, 7-year-old Sheila Hogg of 59 LeGrande.

Sheila was selected by Downtown Pontiac Business Association (DPBA) leaders through cooperation with the local Salvation Army.

She lives with her mother, Mrs. Virginia Hogg; brother, Robert, 16; and sister, Rebecca, 11. Mrs. Hogg, a Pontiac State Hospital employee, has been on sick leave with a bad back.

Chairman Lou Surwitz of George's Department Store, said she was the whole family. Some 28 stores donated gifts to Mrs. Hogg and her three children.

Sheila spent the afternoon in a beauty shop getting a free hairdo and was presented with a corsage just before the 6:30 p.m. ceremony.

Mayor Robert A. Landry and Monroe M. Osmon, president of the DEBA, had to admit they were only second best in the official party.

Topping the list of notables was Santa Claus himself.

The tree is a Norway Spruce donated by Mrs. Lee Johnson of 531 Alps, Pontiac Township.

Teen Couple Tab Area Man Hurt in Crash for GOP Post

A truck-car crackup on Telegraph near Humphreys in Bloomfield Township early last night injured two Pontiac teenagers, Carlton Flowers, 16, of 93 E. Cornell and Gail M. Edwards, 17, of 213 W. Ann Arbor.

Flowers sustained multiple injuries, including a broken hip, his car collided with a truck driven by Fay T. Close, 49, of Swartz Creek. Flowers is in serious condition, while Miss Edwards is in fair condition with multiple injuries.

Police said the car apparently pulled out in front of the northbound truck.

Birmingham Area News Commission Meeting Is Reset for Monday

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The City Commission meeting involving a proposed zoning ordinance and conversion of Opdyke to a one-way street has been moved up from Tuesday to Monday night.

The date was changed to allow all commissioners to be present.

The governing unit is expected to set a date for a public hearing on the proposed ordinance.

City planners passed the code on to the commission in August after spending 2½ years preparing it.

BASIC ALTERATION

The commissioners, working in special study session this fall, have made one basic alteration in the proposed ordinance.

They slashed the provision for a slightly larger area designated for commercial office use, thus maintaining the present amount.

The proposed code would increase from three to 4½ the number of families allowed per acre in a multiple residence zone.

It would also allow three-story rather than two-story structures in that zone.

SIZE ALTERED

Minimum lot size would be altered in a few sections of the city, notably the area bounded by Lasher, Hickory Grove, Woodward and the Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

Also on Monday night's agenda is a proposal to change Opdyke into a one-way street running north.

About half of the inquiries sent to persons living along the road have been returned, Kephart said. Those received by the city indicate that opinion is divided on the proposed change.

The meeting Monday night is scheduled for 8 p.m.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee Friday changed a House-passed military construction bill by adding a $1.5 million project to provide 100 rooms of family housing at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, Marquette.

It approved other Michigan projects contained in the House version. These were Army-Detroit Defense Area, $654,000; Ford-Custer Air Force Station, $224,000; Kincheloe AFB, Sault Ste. Marie, $995,000; Wurtsmith AFB, Isosco County, $547,000.

The House bill, with the committee's revisions, now is before the full Senate.

General Electric Exec Dies Before N.Y. Talk

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur Vinson, 56, of Scarsdale, N.Y., a vice president and group executive of General Electric Co., died in his room at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel Friday shortly before he was to address a gathering of businessmen.

Vinson was a director of the National Association of Manufacturers and a group executive in charge of GE's industrial group based in Manhattan.

Of words, nearly one out of every five cars sold is either a Pontiac or Tempest.

The figures for the City of Pontiac are even more impressive. Nearly 60 per cent — or four out of every ten cars registered — bears a Pontiac nameplate.

Compare that to our 8-per-cent national penetration and you see what a fine job all of you are doing for us.

To you, our loyal users and supporters, our sincere thanks.

CONFIDENT VIEW

We at Pontiac Motor view the future with great confidence and with determination to make the best of our opportunities.

We look forward, too, to continuing the fine relationships that have existed through the years between Pontiac and the people of this fine community — relationships that have been of unquestioned mutual benefit.

Collectively speaking, we value your help and cooperation. The Pontiac Motor has been our greatest boosters.

At the same time we feel that we have made a very real contribution to the community progress. We expect to do no less in the days ahead.

KENNEDY DEATH

In closing, there's one more observation I'd like to make. The recent death of President Kennedy was a tragic happening for our nation.

However, tragedies to either communities or families occur daily in this country. And, indeed, a real case might be, there is a need to carry on, a need for confidence in the future.

You and I, this community and its people, must continue to work hard, to look forward with determination and desire to build Pontiac into a model after which other cities will be molded.

Estes Tells of Record, Says Thanks

Now, to the second question — what makes Pontiac go?

I would have to say a combination of styling and performance — and a good, loyal work force.

Important, too, has been the help we have received from our suppliers — the local Fish-Body plant is an outstanding example of this, the co-operation we have received from all our employees, our dealers and the community of Pontiac.

To single out one over another would be unfair. All have played an integral part.

Overall, both production and sales are outstanding.

SHORT SUPPLY

Short supply of our cars has been a problem. However, we consider this happy trouble.

We feel a 30-day supply is a healthy figure based on the current rate of sales. Before coming down here today, Frank Bridge, our sales manager, told me that our dealers had a 9.3 days net supply on hand.

Incidentally, this is one of the lowest days' supply in both General Motors and in the industry.

In October we built 62,000 cars and sold 75,000. In November we sold 16 more cars than we built. I don't know how long we'll be able to do that.

LOOKS GOOD

I don't want to be overconfident, but the immediate future looks very good. It's pretty difficult to be pessimistic about the automobile industry.

Last year was a 7-million-year; this year certainly will be another one, and I can't see why 1964 shouldn't be the third consecutive 7-million year.

Donaldson said the money order and postal savings windows will offer normal hours of service only. These windows will be open 10 a.m. — 6 p.m. daily, except Sunday.

of the industry through the years. Seven million is just where we should be.

This total could drop to 6 million in an off-year or go up to 8 million in a good year, but there shouldn't be any more of those 4- or 5-million slump years.

WAR BABIES

There are several reasons for this — a high scrapage rate of more than 5 million cars annually and the war babies of the '40s are just now coming into the auto-buying market.

Then, too, multiracial families have become common-place. Remember when anybody with two cars was considered a plutocrat?

Now, two cars have become a necessity, not a status symbol — in many families. Can you imagine taking the family car to work and marooning your wife and kids at home? Some families even need three or four cars.

Further looking ahead to the longer term, our industry's future prospects, of course, depend quite closely upon the progress of the economy as a whole — the fundamental growth factors of population and income.

WHAT TO EXPECT

Here is what we believe may reasonably be expected:

Population nationally will increase to a total of 214 million by 1978, up 13 per cent from 1963.

During the same period, gross national product may rise as much as 25 per cent.

With more people and bigger incomes, we expect 2 million additional new or used car prospects to enter the automobile market every year in this decade.

YOUNG MARKET

More important, however, is the number of young people

who'll be shopping for automobiles. In the next seven years, the adult population in this country should increase by 13.4 million. Of these, hardly 50 per cent, or 6.6 million, will be in the 18- to 24-year group.

We also expect an increase in the rate of car-owning families owning two or more cars — from just under one-fourth today to nearly one-third by 1970.

By that time the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads estimates that the country's total motor vehicle population will have risen to almost 97-million units, an increase of 18 per cent over today's level.

I realize such large figures aren't too meaningful unless they are translated into "what will all of this mean to us living in Pontiac?"

HOME PLANT

So, let's briefly talk about our plant at the home plant where we make about 40 per cent of all the Pontiacs built in this country.

You can drive past our foundry almost any hour of the day or night and find some smoke — not much, mind you — coming from the smoke stacks.

That always is a reassuring sign. It's a good indicator that we're busy pouring iron which will soon be turned into engine blocks which in turn will soon be put into a new Pontiac.

Inasmuch as the bulk of our work force comes from Oakland County and spends a large share of its earnings here, I know you'll be interested in hearing some of our employment figures as well as our production plans, both present and future.

CITY EMPLOYMENT

Let's look at Pontiac employment.

Two years ago we had approximately 12,000 on our payrolls. One year ago employment had been increased to 14,000. Today, I am happy to report that more than 16,500 are on the Pontiac payroll.

And, as I mentioned on previous occasions, it is our employment policy to give definite employment preference to Pontiac area residents. We will continue operating on this principle.

Our employment picture looks steady. Our average monthly payroll in this community is now a record $10 million. That should be good news to both Pontiac merchants and Santa Claus.

Of course high employment and high production go hand in hand.

As you all know, things were going pretty well for Pontiac a year ago at this time. In November a year ago we produced 53,500 units. This November we built 61,500 cars, a 15 per cent increase.

In the past 24 hours we built 3,110 cars nationally.

And, our production people tell me we will assemble more than 16,800 cars this week, topping the previous weekly record of 14,000.

So far, this has been pretty much a state-of-the-nation report. Let's turn to our own backyard.

Inasmuch as this is a gathering of the leaders of this very fine town, I'd like to take a moment to pay each and every one of you on the back. You have done a great job supporting us.

When I first came here from another area of Michigan, Pontiac was conspicuous by their absence in the streets of this community. This isn't true today.

Oakland County, so far this year, Pontiac is getting 19.6 of all new car registrations. In other
