FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

LONDON — President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan left it clear today that they still do not agree completely on a summit policy.

Although nothing they said in their joint radio-television chat yesterday indicated any serious friction, it was quite clear that Eisenhower's price for formal summit negotiations with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was higher than Macmillan's.

After winding up two days of cold war talks with the Prime Minister the President this morning took time out from his Euro-

He scheduled no more major political talks until he goes to Paris tomorrow to meet with French President Charles de Gaulle and Italian leaders.

Eisenhower probably will stop over in Scotland for several days after visiting De Gaulle, presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said.

In Bonn, Germany, President Eisenhower was reported today to have said he feels certain he and French President Charles

Branch Bank Opens in Romeo

New Facility Follows Merger of Community National, Macomb Firm

Community National Bank today opened a new branch in Romeo in the former Romeo Savings Bank building.

Merger of the two banks was completed yesterday, A. C. Girard, Community National president, announced.

The new bank is known as the Community National Bank, Romeo Branch. It is the first branch opened by the bank in Macomb County.

"The new branch will provide increased banking facilities for north Macomb County and is part of the bank's planned expansion of banking facilities throughout the metropolitan Pontiac area," said Girard.

Lawrence Kelly, president of the Romeo bank, was named vice president in charge of the new branch, and Robert Howland, former vice president, was named assistant cashier.

The merger involved more than $5,000,000 in assets of the Romeo Savings Bank and puts the total assets of Community National Bank over $112,000,000, Girard said.

Community National now has more than $7,200,000 in its capital structure, Girard said.

Community National has 10 other branches, all in Oakland County.

Brother-in-Law Explains Plight of Hermit Student

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—A Chinese student who hid for nearly four years in a church attic because he was flunking college courses went back into hiding today to think things over.

This time, however, 28-year-old Cheng Guan Lim of Singapore, was in seclusion at a private home near the University of Michigan campus.

Philip Loh, 34-year-old U. of M. research associate professor whose brother is married to Lim's sister, said:

"It must be hard for you people to understand how someone could survive that long . . . the pressure on him was terrific from his family.

"His father was a stern man, a teacher. His brother, Chung Chuan Lim, is a professor at Waterloo, Ont., college and both his sisters graduated from colleges.

"He felt he was a failure. He was ashamed, disgraced."

High Court Test of 1-Cent Tax Started Today

Detroit Attorney Asking Use Levy Be Rejected as Unconstitutional

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's new use (sales) tax law, only one day old, ran into a State Supreme Court test of its legality today.

The law went into effect today with the collection of an added penny on the three cent sales tax.

But even as millions of taxpayers started paying the higher rate, Detroit Attorney Charles P. Lockwood asked the high court to throw out the act as unconstitutional.

Lockwood and his son, Charles C., also an attorney, filed the suit as individual taxpayers.

Their brief contended that the new tax "in reality and substance is a four cent sales tax and is intended to circumvent (the Constitution)."

Lockwood said he expected the Michigan AFL-CIO counsel also would enter the suit.

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams, learning of the suit, announced at a news conference last night that his office would take part in the court test.

Adams assigned two three-man teams to the case. He personally will direct one group which will intervene in the name of the people of the state, contending the act violates a three-cent constitutional ceiling on the sales tax.

The other team will represent the Department of Revenue and argue for the tax on the ground that it actually is two separate taxes. Its captain is Stanton S. Faville, chief assistant attorney general.

Adams, a Democrat, guessed the court might make a decision "in six weeks or two months."

News Flash

WASHINGTON (UPI)— A Senate judiciary subcommittee tentatively approved legislation today to repeal the present two-term limitation on Presidents. It also voted for a proposed constitutional amendment to outlaw the poll tax in federal elections.

WESTON, Mass. (AP)— The Boston College observatory here reported two earthquakes early today, one "very strong," in the vicinity of the Dominican Republic.

Three From Bloomfield Hills

LOUIS C. GOAD

CYRUS R. OSBORN

ROGER M. KYES

Executive Changes Announced by GM

Louis C. Goad, a General Motors executive vice president associated for many years with Pontiac Motor Division, has been picked to head all the corporation's general staff activities.

number three position in the General Motors organization.

Several other organizational changes were announced today by the corporation's Board of Directors, including the election of two new executive vice presidents, one to be in command of Pontiac's automotive industry.

As head of the general staff, Goad has been assigned responsibilities second only to those of President John F. Gordon and Frederic G. Donner, Board chairman.

He will be in charge of distribution, engineering, manufacturing, personnel, process development, public relations, research and styling.

★ ★ ★

The position has been vacant since 1952 when Harlow H. Curtice was elevated to the presidency, succeeding Charles E. Wilson.

★ ★ ★

Goad has been associated with Pontiac Motor Division since 1945 when he was named group executive in charge of the Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac Assembly Division. He was named general manager of Fisher Body Division in 1946 and group executive in charge of body and assembly plants in 1948.

Since 1951, Goad has been executive vice president in charge of all automotive, body and assembly, and parts divisions.

Named executive vice president replacing Goad was Sherrod E. Skinner of East Lansing, Vice president of the GM accessory group since 1951, Skinner has had the GMC Truck & Coach Division assigned to him, too.

Skinner, therefore, will have supervision over all the General Motors activities in Pontiac.

Two other Bloomfield Hills men were affected by the organizational change.

Cyrus R. Osborn was elected an executive vice president and placed in charge of the engine divisions, the Dayton, Household Appliance and Electro-Motive Group, and the Overseas and Canadian Group.

Roger M. Kyes, a vice president, will replace Skinner as head of the accessory group.

Since 1954, Kyes has been vice president in charge of the divisions designated as the GMC Truck Group and Dayton, Household Appliances.

In the organization change, the old GMC Truck Group was split up, with GMC Truck & Coach Division going to Skinner's command and three other divisions being placed under the Dayton, Household Appliance and Electro-Motive Group. These include the Electro-Motive, Cleveland Diesel and Diesel Equipment divisions, as well as General Motors Diesel, Limited.

Named vice president of the new Dayton, Household Appliance and Electro-Motive Group was Nelson C. Dezendorf, who was also elected to the Board of Directors.

Dezendorf has been vice president and general manager of the Electro-Motive Division in La-Grange, Ill. since 1952.

Showers Will Keep Area Cool Tomorrow

The weatherman has forecast increasing cloudiness tonight for the Pontiac area, followed by showers and possible thundershowers tomorrow.

There will be little temperature change with 60 tonight's low. On Wednesday the mercury will climb to a moderate high of 78.

Winds easterly at 5 miles at 1:15 p.m. today are expected to become southeasterly tonight and tomorrow. No rainfall has been recorded for the last 24 hours.

Lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 62. By 1 p.m. the reading was 79.

House Unit OKs Gas Tax Hike

Hope to Have Bill on House Floor Thursday; No Opposition Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Public Works Committee today approved an immediate one penny hike in the federal gasoline tax to keep the superhighway construction program going. The vote was 25 to 6.

Chairman Charles A. Bucly (D-N.Y.) told reporters afterward he would ask the Rules Committee to clear the plan tomorrow so "it can go to the House floor Thursday.

The proposal, drafted by the tax-writing House Ways & Means Committee, provides for boosting the federal levy on gasoline from three to four cents a gallon for 22 months.

For a three-year period after the higher tax expired some of the receipts from automotive excise taxes would be shifted from general revenue into the highway trust fund.

Oakland Pares Welfare Fund by $608,700

Tax Rate Freeze Made Cuts of $1.279 Million Necessary This Year

Slashing $608,700 from its April appropriation of $2,733,700 for social welfare, the Oakland County Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee yesterday completed balancing of the county's 1960 budget.

Supervisors on Sept. 14 will receive their revised copies of the budget of $12,626,784 — some $1,279,800 less than the preliminary allocations they approved in April. They'll meet Sept. 21 to take final action on the revamped figures.

Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the Board of Auditors, and Leo M. Halfpenny, deputy chief accountant, have added and subtracted figures during five budget slicing hearings, necessary because the county didn't get the $6.47 of the 15 mill taxing limitation the preliminary budget was based on.

Fred W. Smith, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, supported the welfare fund cut on continued reports that Oakland's huge welfare program has been lessening.

"We hope it will continue," he said. "If it doesn't, we're going to be in the red just that much."

Merchants Prepare Gala Festival Days

Carnival rides, bands, dancing and clowns are some of the special features lined up for the three-day sales event, Sept. 17-19.

"Downtown Festival Days is the most active three-day sales period of the year," said Norman F. Pattison, general chairman.

"The Merchants Association is going all-out to make this year's festival the most successful ever."

Pattison listed some of the new events that are being planned:

FASHION SHOW SET

As usual, Pattison said, merchants are planning sidewalk sales booths, sidewalk cafes and street demonstrations of novelty products.

Beginning this Friday, merchants will distribute free tickets for carnival rides. Tickets are available to anyone making a purchase downtown.

In keeping with Pontiac's Indian tradition, the association has chosen an Indian theme in its downtown decorations this year. Store clerks will wear Indian costumes or western barb.

The sale will take place on a Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Most stores will remain open until 9 p.m. each night, Pattison said.

Drayton Plains Shopping Area as Seen From the Air

LOOKING NORTH ON DIXIE HIGHWAY — In its tour around Oakland County, The Pontiac Press aerial camera focused on this bustling business area in Drayton Plains. Another of the Pontiac area's rapidly growing shopping and business districts, this one has the excellent access of Dixie highway — one of the area's busiest thoroughfares. Sprouting residential neighborhoods are creating a continued demand for new shopping and service facilities.

Extra New York Officers Battle 'Cancerous' Youth Crime

Rockefeller Also Probes Killings

Meets With Staff as City Adds 1,400 to Its Police Force

NEW YORK (UPI)—The City of New York has declared war on teenage terrorism with an army of 1,400 extra policemen who will battle juvenile crime.

Voicing alarm over mounting teenage violence in the city, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller stepped into the situation today to see if the state can help local authorities combat it.

Rockefeller summoned his executive staff to an afternoon discussion of the outburst of savagery, which cost the lives of four youngsters in a week end and left a number of other injured.

"I am alarmed both in the terms of human suffering and about all of these young people getting off on the wrong foot in life," he said.

Authorities today waited to learn whether the move will curb the "cancerous growth" of rising youth violence.

Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy ordered the action yesterday after a week that saw four teenagers killed and a number of others injured in street clashes.

"The brutal murders by young people dramatize the rising tide of youth violence in New York City," Kennedy said. "These are not isolated cases."

Top city officials meanwhile prepared for a special City Hall conference on the rash of violence that Kennedy described as a "cancerous growth."

Mayor Robert F. Wagner summoned them to a meeting tomorrow to discuss what steps could be taken to counter the upswing.

A number of officials, including city councilmen, already were reviving talk of a curfew to keep youths off the streets during the violent nighttime hours.

TOLL RISES

Kennedy said there had been 30 per cent more youth murders so far in 1959 than in 1958. Last week's four murders were not included in this figure.

The police commissioner announced he was reinforcing the street force in areas troubled by juvenile outbreaks shortly after an angry crowd gathered outside a police station where four youths were charged with homicide in the knife slaying of two 16-year-old boys early Sunday morning.

Police had to move in to keep the insult-shouting crowd away from two youths held in connection with the crime who were riding in a police vehicle. The crowd apparently was made up of friends of the slain boys.

Sunday's attack took place in a darkened playground between 45th and 46th streets and 9th and 10th avenues—an area once known as Hell's Kitchen, but which had been relatively peaceful recently.

AVOCATIONAL ART — Like a sailor who rents a boat on his day off, many of the art directors of MacManus, John & Adams advertising agency paint in their spare time. An exhibition of their work hangs in the lobby of the Bloomfield Hills offices of the agency. The "show" has received many favorable comments from visitors and fellow workers.

Three Indicted for Radio Help

Ex-Official of Mutual Network Linked With $750,000 Propaganda

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Three former officials of Mutual Broadcasting System were accused today of accepting $750,000 to put out political propaganda favorable to the Dominican Republic over the radio network.

★ ★ ★

The accusation was made in an indictment charging them with failure to register with the Justice Department as agent for a foreign principal.

Hal Roach Jr., former Mutual chairman; and

India Defense Chief, Military Heads Quit

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — Defense Minister V. K. Khrishna Menon and the heads of India's army, navy and air force resigned today.

The internal dissension in the nation's armed forces erupted as fresh reports came in that Communist Chinese troops were massing along India's northern frontiers.

The resignations caused grave concern throughout the country, and threw the government and Parliament into turmoil.

The service chiefs quit because they said Khrishna Menon was playing politics with the armed forces. Khrishna Menon offered in turn to quit himself.

Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru has not yet accepted the resignations. But he is due to make a statement in parliament tomorrow, when he is expected to announce his decision.

It was reported that a fresh wave of Red Chinese troops backed up by mule-packed heavy weapons was advancing toward northeastern India.

DENIES INVASION

An Indian government spokesman, however, denied that the Red Chinese were beginning a mass invasion. He said the reports were "baseless."

But the Reds were reported ready for action, with Indian and Chinese forces only a stone's throw apart in some places. Thus far, there have been no major incidents, only minor skirmishes.

After an hour-long conference with Premier Jawaharal Nehru, Ayub told newsmen it is time for Pakistan and India to "forgive and forget" their differences.

In Washington Indian ambassador M. C. Chagla sharply criticized Communist China's aggression against Tibet and India's northern frontier and declared India is ready to fight to defend its territory.

"China will be making a terrible mistake if she thinks that because we are pledged to peace, we will not fight in defense of our country," the ambassador said in an address prepared for the National Press Club.

'Will Nominate Meyner'

NEPTUNE, N.J. (UPI) — New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner believes Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey will be one of the men who will be seriously considered for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.

FAA Deadline Date Extended

Three Months More to Ask for Federal Aid on Airport Construction

Pontiac and other United States cities will have a little more time than anticipated in which to submit their plans for airport expansion next year under the federal-aid-to-airports program.

The Federal Aviation Agency has granted a three-month extension of the deadline on requests for federal aid for building airports.

The FAA said it would receive requests until Nov. 30 for aid in the fiscal year beginning next July 1. The earlier deadline had been today.

Pontiac had sent in its application last January, but may make a few minor changes now that there is more time, said Homer D. Hoskins, airport manager.

The city is planning a $356,000 program, to be financed one-half by the federal government and one quarter each by city and state.

The new deadline for 1960 funds won't affect the Sept. 30 deadline the FAA has placed on 1959 funds the city wants for financing a new terminal and tower, Hoskins said.

City and state officials hope to have contracts awarded within 20 days after the state opens construction bids Sept. 10.

Pontiac Official to Attend Confab on License Tabs

Willis M. Brewer, Pontiac branch manager of the Secretary of State's Office, will attend a regional meeting in Detroit tomorrow to review plans for sale of the 1960 metal tabs which will substitute for new license plates next year.

Senate Prober Will Testify

On Stand Tomorrow in Scott Versus Barbers' Union Case

An investigator for the Senate Rackets Committee was among the witnesses scheduled to be called as the $150,000 damage suit case of Robert P. Scott versus the International Barbers' Union, AFL-CIO, opened this morning before Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

Scott, 53, of Waterford Township, charges he was booted out of the union because he had testified before the committee against Teamsters President James R. Hoffa.

The investigator, Pierre Salenger, is expected to take the stand Thursday to tell how he was with Scott May 19, 1958, before Detroit Local 552 of the International, when Scott allegedly was denied legal counsel and services of a court reporter during an appeal of his ouster before the Local.

Scott, a former vice president of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614, said he called Salenger to the hearing because Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel for the Senate committee, had promised him protection while he was still under subpoena.

FEARS FOR SAFETY

Scott said he feared for his safety "on account of what I said about Hoffa." He said his expulsion last year was Teamster-inspired.

Judge Beer recessed the trial until Thursday at 9 a.m. after conferring with attorneys. They said they agreed not to comment on what went on in the chambers.

However, it was hinted that an out-of-court settlement might be in the wind.

At noon today, attorneys for both sides were in the judge's chambers debating a legal point over whether Scott was suspended according to a certain section of the union constitution.

Judge Beer said he was "seriously concerned" about whether this section had been followed. It says a member must have been guilty of the same offense twice before he could be expelled.

Attorneys for the union admitted Scott was guilty of but one.

The one-time candidate for Democratic state representative filed suit in Circuit Court here a year ago seeking reinstatement with the union and $150,000 damages.

He charges the International, the Local and two union officers of denying him his constitutional rights under the union's charter. He said he was ousted because he once was a lobbyist for the rival state Barbers Assn., Inc.

The union claims it found Scott guilty of dual-unionism.

Schnelz said he would call the former president and secretary-treasurer of the association to testify that Scott was not a member at the time of his expulsion.

PLANS CASTLE STAY

It is the President's intention, if he does return, to stay at his own private apartment in Culzean Castle, Ayrshire.

Eisenhower has told Generalissimo Francisco Franco he hopes to be able to visit Spain on some future trip to Europe, informed sources said today.

The sources said this was the gist of the reply the President gave yesterday to Spanish foreign minister Maria Castiella.

A personal high spot of Eisenhower's tour comes tonight, when he plays host at a stag dinner for British military leaders and statesmen who were his associates in World War II.

Among the guests at Winfield House, the U. S. ambassadorial residence where Eisenhower is staying, will be Macmillan, Sir Winston Churchill and Field Marshals Montgomery and Alanbrooke. Both of the latter had critical things to say about Eisenhower's military ability in recent memoirs.

INSPIRES CONFIDENCE

The Daily Express commented that "in just five days, Eisenhower made sure of his place in the hearts of the British people. But affection and admiration have grown into something stronger—confidence."

"The President," said the Daily as a good man, sincere, plain-Mail, "impressed himself strongly spoken, able to feel the world's problems in simple terms of goodness and wickedness."

The Day in Birmingham

Assure Little Leaguers of 4th Baseball Diamond

BIRMINGHAM—Little Leaguers in the Birmingham area are assured of a fourth baseball diamond at Eton Park to meet a demand posed by their growing ranks.

City Commissioners voted unanimously at last night's meeting in favor of the new ball diamond. Construction is scheduled for completion this fall, so that it can be used in the spring.

Estimated cost of the diamond, complete with dugouts, bleachers and backstop, is $3,975. The Little League is giving $1,250 from donations toward this amount.

The Little League in Birmingham is open to boys living in the school district. This encompasses areas in surrounding communities as well as the city.

In other business, the commission agreed to split the contract for rock salt to be used on city roads this winter.

Both bidders, the Morton Salt Co. and the International Salt Co., will receive half of the contract. They both bid $8.90 a ton.

Commissioners agreed that this plan would enable the city to compare service and value offered for consideration in awarding next year's contract.

No action on bids for construction of an addition to the Baldwin Library was taken by the city commission last night.

In each case, bids submitted ran over the city's estimate of $151,800 for the job. The lowest bid was for $195,000, including architects' fees, but no landscaping.

The commission requested city architects to consider eliminating some parts of the project, to reduce the cost, in time for next week's meeting.

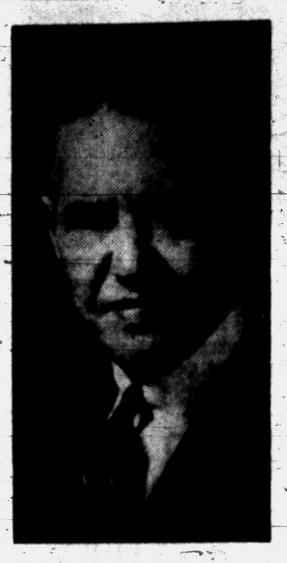

A public hearing on the proposed vacating of the alley between Merrill and Townsend streets was set by the commission for Sept. 28 at city hall, with the time to be announced later.

Two zoning requests brought before the commission were referred to the City Planning Board for consideration.

One of the requests is for rezoning of property at the southeast corner of West Maple road and Westchester way from one-family to two-family residential classification. It was submitted by Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Quinn of 3450 Burning Bush Dr., Bloomfield Township, owners of the property in question.

The other request, from Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Brennen of 209 Daines St., is for a zoning map change.

They wish to have the east half on lot 18 of Brown's Addition changed to permit a non-retail business. It presently is zoned multiple family residential.

DR. HAROLD A. OTT

Beaumont Hospital Fills Education Post

The Board of Trustees of William Beaumont Hospital has announced the appointment of Dr. Harold A. Ott, M.D., to the position of director of medical education.

Dr. Ott, who will continue in his private practice, will assume responsibility for coordination of the hospital's intern, resident, and extern medical education programs.

He will also assist the medical staff in implementation of the medical teaching programs.

Dr. Ott lives at 1090 Lake Park Dr., Birmingham.

Hoffa to Shift Bank Deposits

Half Million in Union Funds to Earn Interest as Jimmy Bows

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa today bowed to orders of court-appointed monitors that he shift a half million dollars in union funds from noninterest-bearing bank accounts to accounts paying interest.

Hoffa informed the monitors that he has taken steps to withdraw money belonging to his home local, 299 in Detroit, from Orlando, Fla., and Indianapolis, Ind., banks and redeposit them at interest in the Public Bank of Detroit.

About $400,000 has been on deposit without interest in the Florida National Bank of Orlando for several years and $125,000 in the Fidelity Bank and Trust Co. of Indianapolis.

The monitors said the money should have been drawing interest all along.

Tax Hike Not Enough to Buy Quart of Milk

In yesterday's story of comments by local residents on the sales tax increase, it was stated that "the sales tax on a $5 purchase would buy a quart of milk."

The existing sales tax of three cents on a dollar was 15 cents on a $5 purchase, and under the new sales tax, it will be 20 cents on the same purchase. This is an increase of only five cents, and the increase alone would not equal the price of a quart of milk.

Mrs. Robert D. Bird

Service for Mrs. Robert D. (Anna) Bird, 89, of 627 Purdy St., will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in Acacia Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Bird died yesterday at her home following several weeks' illness.

She was a member of the First Methodist Church and Order of the Eastern Star, Chapter 220.

She was the daughter of the Rev. Jesse Kilpatrick, who once was pastor of the Methodist Church. Her husband is the son of the minister who built it.

Surviving besides her husband are three daughters, Mrs. Emil G. Olin of Birmingham, Mrs. Ralph E. Ryder of Bradenton, Fla. and Mrs. John Hale of Royal Oak; three grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Nation's Weather Fairly Pleasant With Some Rain

By The Associated Press

The nation's weather showed only minor changes today, with temperatures fairly pleasant in most areas and rain across wide sections.

Thunderstorms rumbled through parts of the western plains, the mid-Mississippi and Tennessee valley and in southern New England. Some fog covered parts of the lower Mississippi Valley and in sections of the Northeast.

Nearly 2½ inches of rain doused Farmington, Mo., in a six-hour period during the night while about 1½ inches fell at Pine Bluff, Ark. Earlier Monday heavy rain fell in many sections in the eastern third of the country.

Pare County '60 Budget by Slashing Welfare Fund

met in an unscheduled session yesterday morning and voted unanimously to give the Child Guidance Clinic, which treats emotionally disturbed children $32,500 next year. Earlier it had been cut out of the '60 budget entirely.

Only last Thursday the committee voted 5 to 2 to stick to its guns because of a legal ruling casting doubt on providing public funds for private corporations like the clinic.

AGREES TO RULES

However, Smith, a former clinic director, said supervisors switched when Buckner consented to certain stipulations laid down before the money would be put back in the budget.

Major among the clauses was that the Board of Auditors would have "satisfactory budgetary control" over how this money is spent. Supervisors also asked and received Buckner's consent that the clinic should improve its administrative functions.

"These stipulations will be very beneficial for us," Buckner said. "Any help the auditors can give us in making our operation more workable will be most helpful."

He said a meeting already has been scheduled for Sept. 9 at which time a proposal to create one large board of directors, instead of separate ones for three branches, will be considered.

"All in all," he added, "we're very pleased with the interest the supervisors have taken in their reconsideration."

AUDITOR DISAGREES

The veteran auditor, who has been drawing up, and sometimes tearing apart, county budgets for 30 years, disagreed with the last-minute $32,500 appropriation considering that nearly all of the county's departments were forced to take a 10 per cent cut in their operating budgets for next year.

Included in the new budget supervisors will get in two weeks will be a $5,432,751 fund for county employes' salaries next year. It includes a pay raise of about four per cent for 1,198 employes, the first they've had since January of last year.

Also, as part of the county's austerity program, it includes room for but 10 new employes. Department heads had requested a total of 69.

The salaries report was made a part of the budget without any debate yesterday. Things might be different before the full board, however, some supervisors predicted.

Throughout four of the five budget hearings has sat Robert J. Huber, freshman Troy supervisor and mayor. In earlier board meetings he questioned keenly many county expenditures believing several to be too high.

Smith, in his 28th year on the board, figured the budget will be passed. "But we're going to get some kicks," he said. "These come from those who aren't familiar with the setup."

To meet the new operating budget of $12,626,784 — $341,061 more than the current budget — the county expects taxes on the $5.62 millage to bring in $10,244,784, while estimated receipts are hoped to return $2,382,000.

Moore and Smith's committee had to hike receipt expectations $181,000 over an original estimate of $2,201,000 in order to come out with their balanced budget.

Weather Battle Wilts Fans

Can Have This Contest!

Pontiac and vicinity came within three-tenths of a percentage point of tying a record nobody wanted.

The clouds and the rain defeated the sun in the closing stages of the contest to make last month only the second hottest August in the history of this area.

Since weather data began to be compiled in 1872, the sweltering August occurred in 1947.

The contender put up a dogged fight. The average high last month was 85.5 degrees, the average low, 67 degrees.

The August 59ers turned on the heat with the help of pressure from the humidity on August 20th in a blazing race for the flag.

There began seven straight days of 90-or-above temperatures. Maximum effort sparked the mercury to a peak of 94 degrees on the 28th and 30th.

Then it happened!

The 27th broke the streak with a high of 88. The fight was on! The 28th fought back with another 90.

The mercury was knocked from its perch on the following day to an 89. A supreme try netted the 59ers their last 90 of the month on the 30th.

"We got off to a slow start. We had too many high-70 days scattered in the first part of the month. And rain! That really dampened our spirit."

It rained on 10 days of the month with a total precipitation of 7.07 inches. This figured to be 4.45 inches above normal rainfall for an August.

Ike Visits World War II Memorial

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — President Eisenhower visited for the first time Monday a wartime memorial to the men it was his grim duty to send into battle.

* * *

Bearing the names of 28,000 American servicemen who fell while based in Britain during World War II, the memorial stands in the heart of old St. Paul's Cathedral.

For the wartime commander of the Western nations—standing bareheaded and motionless before the long mute list of his soldiers—it was a deeply moving moment.

"Ah," he said, "here is the book."

The vast hall of the towering cathedral was hushed as the President's eyes roamed over his own words, inscribed in the roll of honor.

* * *

Eight years ago, as Gen. Eisenhower, he had presented the roll to the dean of St. Paul's.

It is an eloquent focal point of the American Memorial Chapel dedicated on Nov. 26, 1958.

"Each name inscribed in this book," the President wrote on Aug. 23, 1946, "is a story of personal tragedy and a grieving family—a story repeated endlessly in white crosses girdling the globe.

"The Americans whose names here appear were part of the prices that free men have been forced a second time to pay in this century to defend human liberty and rights."

* * *

"To the glory of God and in memory of the Americans who gave their lives in military operations from the British Isles."

Aaberg, C. A., 2nd Lt. U. S. Air Force
Aanonsen, R. H. Jr., U. S. Naval Reserve
Aaron, W., Sgt. U. S. Air Force
Abady, C. I., Sgt. U. S. Air Force
Abate, A. G., Sgt. U. S. Air Force
Abatemarco, M. F., Pvt. U. S. Army
Abbatello, J., S1, U. S. Naval Reserve

* * *

For a moment the President closed his eyes. Then he turned and quietly walked away.

The bishop asked the President to add his signature to the only two in the distinguished visitors book—Queen Elizabeth II and her husband, Prince Philip.

French Government 'Suggests' Notes to Ike

PARIS (UPI)—The government told Frenchmen it would be a nice gesture for them to flood President Eisenhower with telegraphed greetings when he arrives in Paris tomorrow.

To make it easy for them to do so, the government said Frenchmen could send welcome greetings to Eisenhower for 125 francs (25 cents), half the regular fee.

Never Say Die Was GOP Motto

Tax Chronology . . . Feb. 5 to Aug. 29

LANSING (UPI) — Never say die — that was the motto of Republican supporters of a penny hike in the sales tax.

The proposal in one form or another was "killed" seven times before it cleared the Legislature as part of a compromise package Saturday.

IT ALL STARTED

It all started Feb. 5 when a resolution was introduced in the House calling for a constitutional amendment on the April 6 ballot to increase the sales tax by 1 per cent. It was killed Feb. 18. A similar Senate resolution was killed March 2.

New attempts were made in the House March 5 and the Senate March 12. Both failed, thus ending efforts to get the sales tax plan on the ballot.

Republican strategy shifted in early April when bills were introduced in both the House and Senate to increase the use tax by one cent and make it in effect a boost in the sales tax.

The use tax took the spotlight April 28 when the Senate announced it would not permit use of the Veterans Trust Fund until the House accepted the Senate use tax.

The House on May 7 defeated the Senate use tax plan. It was revived and defeated again six days later.

TWO DAYS LATER

Two days later — on May 15 — the Senate passed a second use tax bill. Another one was pulled out of Senate committee just to show the Senate would not give up.

Meanwhile, the income tax was getting nowhere. But on July 22 a flat-rate income tax plan squeezed through the house.

The next day a Senate GOP caucus announced it would be "dead and buried before sundown today," and it was. The Senate on July 23 clobbered the income tax with two decisive votes in what may be considered to be the turning point of the session.

* * *

Democratic ranks began to crumble and on July 24 the House passed two use tax bills.

The major break of the long deadlock came last Thursday when the Senate agreed to compromise slightly by allowing token business tax increases.

And on Saturday history was made.

Ferry Opposition Gets 15-Day Extension

LANSING (AP) — Opponents of a proposed new ferry service on Lake Michigan have been given a 15-day extension to Sept. 15 to file objections.

Interstate commerce commission examiner D. E. Stillwell granted the extra time to railroad interests, present ferry operators and steamship lines to file briefs originally due today.

K and K Ferries of Muskegon is seeking an ICC franchise to operate two surplus Mackinac ferries on which purchase options were obtained earlier this year.

Russia to See Plays by Miller, Laurents, Lee

MOSCOW (UPI) — Plays by American writers Arthur Miller, Arthur Laurents and James Lee will be produced in Russia later this season, it was announced today.

Gennady Osipov, chief of the theatrical section of the Ministry of Culture, said the plays scheduled for production were Miller's "Death of a Salesman," Laurents' "West Side Story," and Lee's "Career."

Miller's drama and Laurents' musical were successful Broadway productions. Lee's "Career" was produced successfully off-Broadway and recently was made into a motion picture starring Dean Martin and Anthony Franciosa.

Sno-Bol Firm Success Story Began in Laundry Tub

A new modern $70,000 Sno-Bol plant on W. Walton Blvd. is the latest chapter in the success story of a Pontiac firm which was born in a laundry tub.

The Sno-Bol Company has become the largest manufacturer of a toilet bowl cleaner in the country, according to its president and founder Thomas O. Render.

"We've come a long way since 1941 when I rented an empty store on Mill street and siphoned the Sno-Bol from a laundry tub into bottles on the floor," said Render, looking around his ultra-modern office.

The new one-story building, of steel, block, and brick construction houses 10,000 square feet of floor space divided into office space, a warehouse, and mixing and filling plant.

★ ★ ★

"Actually we have another 1,000 feet of space," Render says, "with a second story over the office section. The ceiling is 16½ feet in the rest of the building."

The new plant at 25 W. Walton, is a great step forward for the company, housing approximately $50,000 worth of modern equipment.

The bottle-filling line is almost entirely mechanically and electrically operated for the utmost in ease and efficiency. Behind the plant are two gleaming 10,000 gallon storage tanks for hydrochloric acid and two 1,500 gallon mixing tanks are housed in the mixing room at the rear.

The structure, with its cool air-conditioned offices, was designed by Eroh & Freidman Architects. The Bersche Construction Company built the sleek building. Both are Pontiac firms.

Lighting in the plant and warehouse is supplemented by overhead skylights, making use of available sunlight, while soft indirect lighting is used through the office portion.

Render's private office is a majestic, yet uncluttered work of art. The walls and acoustical tile ceiling in subtle pastel shades with matching draperies, offer a perfect backing for the Philippine mahogany paneling and furniture.

"When we first started out, I had no office," Render recalls. "But I couldn't have used one anyway, I was on the road so much."

In 1942 the first Sno-Bol plant opened at 23 Chamberlain St. It offered a mere 1,800 square feet of floor space. Render's "office" was a small 18 by 20 foot room with black walls.

"We originally sold Sno-Bowl on a commercial market, just for store owners, schools, and so on. One day Joe Perna, a local grocer, succeeded in talking me into giving him some to put on his shelves for sale to the public," Render explains.

The first order, the firm's first production quota, was for 10 cases, or 120 bottles of Sno-Bol.

"It sold," the trim 51-year-old Render says simply. "And people came back for more. Naturally, we started putting it in other stores."

Business was slow and hard during the war years but in 1946 things began looking up. A 600-foot storage platform was added to the plant.

As sales soared, the company added a 1,500 square foot warehouse. Today it rents space in 13 public warehouses in Michigan and out of the state.

From that first 120-bottle production figure, the company has skyrocketed to the production of 5-million bottles per year. With the new plant, they now have room and facilities to triple that figure as consumer demand rises.

Sno-Bol, which can be used on almost any type of file, glass, ceramics, and brick, is sold in 13 states and will soon move into its 14th, Kansas.

Aside from New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania in the East and Florida and Kentucky in the South, the states are centered in the Midwest.

"We've changed our bottle five or six times and within 30 days we will become the first in this field to use a plastic bottle," he says.

"All our packaging will be in the modern, unbreakable 16 and 24-ounce plastic containers with an exclusive no-drip controlled flow top."

This means simply that if someone knocks an uncapped bottle over, it won't break and won't spill.

Actually, over the years, the consumer more than anyone has kept the price of Sno-Bol down.

"Material and production costs have soared tremendously, creating a big drop in profit per unit," Render explains, "but the volume created by consumer demand has offset 80 per cent of this loss."

Pontiac Press Photo

HIGHLY EFFICIENT BOTTLING LINE — Part of the new production line at the Sno-Bol plant at 25 W. Walton Blvd., this highly mechanized bottling line has helped to raise the company's potential production level to approximately 15 million bottles of toilet cleaning fluid a year. Sno-Bol presently manufactures five million bottles every year. All the company's packaging will be done with modern, unbreakable plastic containers, designed to prevent spilling.

Separate Trial Asked for Carole

Finch Pleads Innocent of Wife's Murder at Arraignment Yesterday

POMONA, Calif. (UPI)—The red-haired mistress of a prominent society doctor charged with murder of his estranged wife was back in Los Angeles County Jail today while her attorney took legal steps to obtain a separate trial for her.

Carole Tregoff, 22, and her former paramour, Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 41, appeared together yesterday for arraignment on murder charges for the July 18 slaying of Finch's wife, Barbara, 33.

Finch pleaded innocent and was bound over for trial Nov. 24. The attractive Miss Tregoff, who admitted she had been Finch's mistress, entered no plea.

Miss Tregoff's attorney, Robert Neeb Jr., argued that the murder charge against her was based on her "simply being present at the scene of the crime and a few other little factors."

Neeb also sought to have Miss Tregoff released on bail but was turned down by Superior Judge James G. Whyte. Finch made no such attempt and the lovers were returned to nearby Los Angeles County Jail.

Neeb said he would seek a separate trial for Miss Tregoff if his motion for dismissal of charges against her was denied. He claimed she could not get a "fair and impartial trial" if she were tried jointly with Finch.

Deputy District Attorney Fred N. Whichello has charged that Finch and Miss Tregoff planned the murder of Finch's wife so the doctor would not have to share $750,000 in community property with her in a divorce settlement. He has requested that the defendants be tried together.

Find Driver in Accident Has 5 Warrants Already

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—When police arrested Edward Taylor, 38, after an auto accident Saturday they found he had five warrants outstanding for driving without an operator's permit and others for speeding, passing a red light and negligent collision.

★ ★ ★

In Saturday's accident he was charged with failure to stop and give information, negligent collision and operating without a valid license. For that Judge Abe Levy fined him $600 plus $1,050 for the previous offenses.

Editor Retires After 47 Years

John Walsh Leaves 'Temporary Job' at Kalamazoo Gazette

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A one-year job that lasted for 47 ends today when John K. Walsh retires as editor of the Kalamazoo Gazette.

The 72-year-old Walsh announced his retirement Saturday. He will be succeeded by Associate Editor Dan M. Ryan.

Walsh came to the Gazette in 1912. He was 25 then and agreed to accept the editor's post for "just one year" because he planned to return to his native Australia.

Walsh left Australia in 1904 for a tour of Europe that grew into a trek through the South African back country and then to the United States.

He attended the University of Illinois and Eureka (Ill.) College, before breaking into the newspaper business on the Peoria (Ill.) Herald Transcript. From there he went to the Galesburg (Ill.) Mail as news editor and then to the Gazette.

Walsh was a pioneer in pictorial journalism and was credited with introducing Associated Press wirephoto facilities in Michigan.

Ryan, 38, is a native of Kalamazoo, married and the father of two children. He graduated from St. Augustine High School and Kalamazoo College, with postgraduate studies in journalism at Michigan State and Columbia universities.

MEETING THE PEOPLE — French President Charles de Gaulle, wearing his general's uniform, was kept busy shaking hands in Saida last week as he began a four-day inspection tour of Algeria. Saida is a small hillside village some 100 miles southeast of Oran. De Gaulle is scheduled to confer with President Eisenhower Wednesday as the President continues his visits to European leaders before the Khrushchev get-togethers.

Several Escape Injury

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Several persons escaped possible injury Monday night when a two-level scaffold used in the "Holiday on Ice" show buckled during an intermission. Kenneth Stevens, manager of the touring show, estimated property damage at $60,000.

Paddle Only Way Some Understand

Thomas Bailey told a teachers meeting that "I wouldn't be a school principal again if I couldn't use a paddle."

Recently permission was given for Florida school officials to paddle pupils and some parents have threatened a court test.

Bailey said a basic need today is to teach children respect for authority.

"If we don't do it in the school system, God knows where the children are going to get it," he said.

Questioning $181 Million

U.S. Spends This Fund for Aid to Illegitimate Dependent Children

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government spends more than 181 million dollars for aid to dependent children in cases where illegitimacy is the cause of the dependency, according to statistics compiled by the Library of Congress legislative reference service.

This has led Sen. Herman Talmadge (D-Ga) to call for a Senate investigation to find out whether federal welfare payments may be encouraging an increase in illegitimate births.

The mounting rate of illegitimacy, Talmadge said, is one of the greatest social problems of our time.

He suggested a study by the Senate Finance Committee to provide recommendations for "whatever changes may be needed in the law to eliminate any sanction or encouragement of illegitimacy through federal welfare assistance."

Jersey Senator Bows to Mosquito Victory

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Okay, you pesky mosquitos — you win. They're throwing in the towel.

State Sen. Charles W. Sandman, bowing to the inevitable, has introducued a bill to change the title of county mosquito extermination commissions to county mosquito control commissions.

Nasser Forming Lines to Defend Arab Stand

President NASSER is again waving the flag of nationalism to help establish an air of unity in the Arab world.

For the past two years Egypt has poured our unbelievably vile propaganda directed at King HUSSEIN of Jordan. Plots against Jordan, Iraq and Tunisia backfired.

★ ★ ★

Feeling himself isolated, Nasser has reversed his tactics. Diplomatic relations with Jordan have been re-established and Tunisia may follow suit. King Saud of Arabia, too, will visit Egypt soon to patch up strained relations over an alleged plot on Nasser's life two years ago. Only Premier Kassem of Iraq refuses to play the game.

To strengthen his position in the free world as well as for his own protection, Pres. NASSER has cracked down on Communists in Syria and Egypt. Hundreds have been jailed. Many Reds are said to be choosing Arab nationalism ahead of loyalty to Moscow.

This mending of fences is in preparation for the next session of the United Nations General Assembly. At that time the Palestine refugee issue and the closing of the Suez Canal to Israeli shipping are due to be brought up. There is no promise of a settlement in all this intrigue.

Malays Are Assured of Stable Government

Election of the Alliance Party of TUNKU ABDUL RAHMAN, the 11-year-old Federation's first prime minister, assures Malayans of an enlightened and responsible government for the next five years.

In view of the dissatisfaction of the Chinese who make up 40 per cent of the population, the size of the victory is impressive. Malayan Chinese do not enjoy full equal rights. Under the law, there can be no more than one Chinese to four Malays in the civil service.

The Malay States, with a population of nearly 6 million, have many natural resources, being particularly rich in tin and rubber. Communist-inspired harassment which still persists has hampered development of all the islands.

The overwhelming support given by various factions provides the RAHMAN Government with an opportunity to improve education and to further integration of Chinese, Indian, Pakistani and other minority groups.

One of the most progressive and successful leaders in the Far East, the new Prime Minister is anti-Communist and pro-Western. His country could well set a further example of economic and political stability in that part of the world.

Is Your Driving Giving Your Emotions Away?

According to one authority on traffic safety, car "dents" or "bumps" are linked to the personality of the driver.

★ ★ ★

If one has dents in his car, it may be because he has a few dents in his emotions. Many drivers who cause accidents are emotionally not stable, they irritate easily and consequently are unfit to drive when in a temper tantrum.

★ ★ ★

Safety experts warn that people that are frustrated in daily life become aggressive and childish behind the wheel of a car. It is true that driving creates a certain amount of unbalance which can turn such a motorist into a monster.

★ ★ ★

We will all agree that these drivers are a menace to the rest of the sane and normal motorists. Let's all try to show the same courtesy that we expect from the other fellow.

Sheriff Gives Advice for Holiday Weekend

September: The month into which we all hope the August heat will not boil over.

The temptations offered the speedsters by the coming Labor Day weekend will be curbed, and the accident list will be negligible if Sheriff

He suggests that any sane person should know how to begin early to conserve his time, so it will not be necessary to break any speed limits. The watch for drunk drivers will be keener than ever before — and the jail yawns for them.

David Lawrence Says:

Ike, Mac Can't Hide Basic Split

WASHINGTON — Although President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan gave an impression of unity of purpose in their joint television-radio broadcast from London Monday night, there were plainly apparent some substantial differences as to what are the best tactics to use in dealing with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

LAWRENCE

Quite clearly the political undercurrents in Britain require a prime minister to favor "summit" meetings and personal negotiations with the Soviet Premier irrespective of the ultimate consequences, whereas Eisenhower seems to feel that even a "summit" meeting should be preceded by some show of progress toward peace with the Moscow government.

These postures are not new. London and Washington have made them plain before. But it was nevertheless significant that in this impromptu conversation between the two leaders of the West the same skepticism and doubts about Soviet policy that hitherto have been expressed by the United States government are accompanied by the same words of confidence uttered by the British that somehow by continuous talk with Khrushchev solutions will be found, even if it takes a dozen meetings of the top leaders of both sides.

Eisenhower, on the other hand, is troubled by the impression of weakness which a marathon of talks could produce. He was careful to point out that talk is all right in its place as a means of exploration or search for a solution but that principles cannot be abandoned.

Macmillan agreed broadly with this approach, but he left some doubt as to whether he believes principle is worth standing on indefinitely, when he said that "we have got to be flexible about the new conditions that arise and how to deal with each situation." The President graciously translated this into flexibility of "tactics," rather than retreat on the principle itself. He said:

'TACTICS CHANGE'

"In other words, you are saying strategic principle stays immutable—tactics change according to armed weapons and the different changes."

Eisenhower, then, as an example, emphasized the principle involved in West Berlin, where, he said, two million free Western Berliners cannot be abandoned—a case in which "we've really got to be firm, in my opinion."

While the British leader was trying hard to give the appearance of harmony, he still put in a boost just the same for his favorite concept—"flexibility." He commented:

"I agree with that, and I agree also with your other principle, that we've got to use the right tactical methods to achieve our purpose with a reasonable amount of adjustment that is necessary from time to time."

All this may sound as if the television broadcast was a kind of struggle with words and their finer meanings as applied to the diplomatic problems of the hour, but actually the differences are ingrained in the philosophy of the London government and in the point of view toward Europe taken by the United States in the last four decades.

Thus in Britain, as the President recognized, there is a pressure for more trade with the Soviet Union and a trend toward "adjustment" of differences on what is called a "practical" basis. But the United States has been able, in connection with the policies it followed in entering the two world wars, to disassociate itself from the material side and to emphasize its many sacrifices for the cause of human liberty and freedom.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Masks Are Good Idea for Those Who Have Cri

Cri (pronounced kree) is the proper name for any Common Respiratory Infection in the invasion stage before the subject or perhaps even a doctor can tell just what is developing. In the early hours, when one is coming down with heaven only knows what, cri is most communicable. So if the subject believes or pretends it is "just a cold," he or she is likely to spread the infection to any one unfortunate enough to come within spray range.

A spray of visible and palpable, as well as invisibly fine and impalpable droplets of moisture is given off when the unmasked cri sufferer coughs, sneezes or talks.

Of course a person who coughs or sneezes in proximity to other persons is constrained by simple politeness to cover his nose and mouth with hand, handkerchief or screen, lest spray droplets spatter on those within range.

The range of cough or sneeze spray is up to ten or twelve feet.

The range of polite conversational spray is up to five feet.

Many doctors, nurses, health officers, dentists, tellers, opticians, barbers, manicurists and hair dressers who might wear suitable masks do not because they cherish the idiotic notion that prevention of the cri is a matter of avoiding drafts, wet feet, going out without your chest protector or wearing comfortable clothes before or after official summer season. Wearing a mask while at work is a two-way precaution—it protects each from whatever the other may be coming down with.

It's not that I expect people rendering personal service to patrons within conversational spray range will adopt even the good-looking Silvers mask as part of their uniform. My purpose is rather to apprise people who don't know and remind people who do know about the danger zone, within the five-foot range of the unmasked so-and-so who purports to have taken "cold."

For example, the attorney, physician, counseller, broker or manager can generally arrange to have clients sit perhaps six feet away, or vice versa, without appearing nutty.

I'm telling you just what I think about it. This is a free country and if you think you know more than I do about such things you are privileged to go on indiscriminately catching and spreading whatever you please to attribute to the weather.

Some of the gauze masks worn by surgeons and their assistants in the operating room are too skimpy to be spray proof — they are worn for show purposes. If such a mask is made of less than ten layers of gauze with a mesh of 16 to the inch it might as well be worn in the hip pocket.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Promotes All-Family Camp Plan

Willard Wade's stress on "all-family" summer camps under auspices of the YWCA, is superb. For good modern homes now need to be re-unified. Parents and kids are going in separate directions too much so we need a return to the all-family recreation of a generation ago. And start "Fear Parties' as outlined below.

By GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE C-432: Willard Wade, aged about 55, is the dynamic YMCA Secretary at Covington, Kentucky.

★ ★ ★

Earlier this spring he invited me down there to make four addresses under the Y's auspices.

DR. CRANE

Mr. Wade is a great pioneer for all-family camping by Dad, Mother and all the kids, at a special Y camp near Covington.

And the idea is superb, for modern families go their separate ways so much we are losing the family camaraderie that formerly held parents and kids together.

For example, Dad now rushes to luncheon meetings and golfing, while Mother attends church women's societies or bridge parties.

★ ★ ★

The children madly dash off to their special parties or recreations, so the all-family type of recreation at a church or YMCA camp is vitally needed nowadays to unify our good homes, where we don't normally look for juvenile delinquency.

FEAR PARTIES

My second address was at 2:30 p. m., before a large crowd of parents and teachers, plus clergymen.

We had a snappy forum afterwards, but one of the points I wish to reemphasize is the great value of "Fear Parties."

Children in the early grades usually cherish some secret phobia. They dread snakes or the dark, or lightning or barking dogs, etc.

Yet they try to hide such an inner fear, mistakenly thinking ALL the other kids are bold and brave.

Thus, they begin to develop an inferiority complex and imagine that they alone are chicken hearted and cowardly, while all other folks are without a worry in the world.

The teacher in the 3rd grade, for example, can casually tell about the time when she was 8 or 9 years of age and terrified about sleeping in a dark room.

Or, if her phobia was of snakes or mice, etc., she can focus the room's attention on her misery and inferiority complex.

Then she can calmly inquire if any of the children in the class now have any such fears as she did at their age.

Soon some little girl will put up her hand and admit a secret dread. Then another will do likewise. And it will not be long till the boys join the confessional.

Many teachers have reported to me that before the end of the hour, every one of their 30 youngsters has named his inner terror and thus brought it out into the open.

VACCINATE AGAINST INSANITY

The very best way to prevent insanity, as well as juvenile delinquency, is to face the facts early and thus vaccinate youngsters by sound information.

And public confessionals are an ideal type of vaccination. In fact, Alcaholo. juiogeETAOIN ETAOI Alcoholics Anonymous gets much of its value from weekly confessional meetings.

Our schools should schedule them every term! For what will it profit us to teach grammar or geography and graduate delinquents or institutional cases.

★ ★ ★

And include home dilemmas, too. Send for my 200-point "Tests for Parents" enclosing a stamped, return envelope and 20 cents (non-profit).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Public Needs Two Kinds of Schools to Be Satisfied'

It's very interesting to witness the occurance of public schools' most conscientious and honest teachers so often becoming these schools' worst baby sitters.

It has often occurred to me that the public should have two types of schools — one for academic learning and one for social learning and baby-sitting proper.

Under this system, of course, there would be no complaints from students who want only entertainment, nor from parents who want their children (ages 5 to 18) spoiled at school as they are at home.

'Can This Mother Care for Children?'

What kind of a mother would let her children play in the road and stop traffic, rather than move. I was driving in the Carroll Lake subdivision and there were about eight children playing in the road. They wouldn't move when I drove up and I had to stop and wait.

★ ★ ★

It's quite plain this mother and others like her have no regard for their children or other people. They had an extra large yard they could have been playing in if they had the right kind of mother.

★ ★ ★

If she can't take care of them, then she should let someone who can.

Readers Balk at Buying Water

Now Pontiac is concerned with getting water from Detroit. Mr. Willman doesn't seem a bit worried about the many who have invested in their own softeners or who are still paying on them. Then, too, there are a lot of people who don't like to and can't drink soft water.

★ ★ ★

After all the trouble a while back from communities buying this wonderful water from Detroit and then couldn't water their lawns with it while Detroit had plenty, are we going to be put in this position.

What about it, taxpayers? This is our town, too, you know, not just a selected few.

Now they want to buy water from Detroit. What's wrong with the hundreds of wells under us and close to Pontiac? Do you want to know why we vote no on so many issues? It's because those who run things in Pontiac are money hungry.

Pontiac Police Probe Robberies

City Man Loses $79 at Knife-Point; Ring, Cash Stolen in Bar

Pontiac Police detectives today were investigating several break-ins, larcenies and one armed robbery reported in Pontiac Monday and early today.

Audrey B. Butler of 320 S. East Blvd. told police he was robbed of $79 by an unidentified man who held him at knife-point in his auto shortly before 3 a. m. today.

Butler said the man got into the rear seat while he was eating in a restaurant at Auburn avenue and Marshall street.

"When I got into my car the man got up off the floor, put a knife to my neck and told me to give him all my money," Butler said. He jumped from the car and escaped afoot.

Walter Taylor of 4835 Filer St., Waterford Township, told police yesterday that someone stole $900 worth of traveler's checks and a diamond ring valued at $1,800 from his pocket while he was at a tavern on S. Woodward avenue.

Police also reported the theft of $300 from a cash box in the office of the Munson Iron and Metal Co., 64 Wessen St.

Marshall Crossett, owner of C & V TV, 158 Oakland Ave., reported to police that a portable television set valued at $60 was stolen from his store.

Mrs. Paul Hart of 38 E. Iroquois Rd., told officers that someone stole a purse containing $100 from a table in the hallway of her home yesterday while she was away.

Laborer Wrecking Orpheum Theater Falls 4 Stories

Pontiac Police rushed John Shannon, 26, of Detroit to Pontiac General Hospital. The extent of his injuries was not immediately known.

Shannon was conscious, said Patrolman Lon Peters Jr. who talked with him briefly in the hospital's emergency ward.

He said he was working up in the peak section at the front of the theater with a pneumatic drill when the portion of roof he was standing on gave away, Peters said.

Shannon is an employe of the Starr Wrecking Co. of Detroit, which is leveling the building on S. Saginaw street.

Patrolmen had earlier this morning transported barricades to the scene to protect passers-by from falling debris.

42 Injured by Bears in Yellowstone Park

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK (UP) — Forty-two persons have been clawed or bitten while attempting to feed the park bears this year.

None of the injuries were serious, park ranger Jim Valder said today. Only one person was hospitalized. Valder said it was a man with a weak heart who suffered minor scratches and a heart relapse when he allowed a bear to climb on his dinner table.

How to control your tensions, and live happier

If you can't stop thinking about your problems . . . if you're easily upset by little things . . . if you're often nervous and fretful . . . then your tensions may be getting the best of you and it's time to do something about it!

The first thing to do is to realize this: you're not alone! At least one out of ten Americans have emotional problems that are so serious they need medical attention. And millions more of us have these minor emotional problems which don't need medical treatment, but do make us unhappy.

The second thing to do is to send for the new free booklet, "How To Deal With Your Tensions". In it, you'll find proven suggestions that will help you control your tensions, so you can lead a happier, fuller life.

Promises Bus Rider Better Lights Inside

It's going to be a lot easier for the bus traveler to read his paper and he won't have to squint when he peers over it to catch a glimpse of the pretty face across the aisle.

* * *

General Motors Truck and Coach Division has announced that high-frequency fluorescent lighting now is provided as standard equipment in its new line of transit coaches.

The new system will give passengers 70 per cent more light than conventional systems and promises substantial savings for operators, according to C. F. Dick, general coach sales manager.

Under development three years by GMC electrical engineers, the transistorized system eliminates shadowy areas in the coach and bathes the interior with a soft white light instead of the harsh yellow light provided by incandescent systems.

"The lighting installation is standard in all of the new GMC city coach models," says Dick. "These coaches have capacities ranging from 45 to 53 passengers and numberous modern features that set new standards in performance, styling and riding comfort."

Among the features are foam rubber seats covered with a bonded plastic. Individual pads made of the same material are used as back rests.

* * *

The seats were tried and approved yesterday when Detroit Street Railway officials confirmed an order of 150 new coaches from General Motors Corporation. The officials described them as "premium seats."

The fluorescent lighting system is a boon to the bus driver as well as his passengers.

"It gives the driver safe, nonglare visibility and makes the coach interior much more inviting to evening riders," says Dick. "Glareless and shadowless, the new lighting system employs the latest techniques known to electrical engineers."

* * *

There are less lighting units to replace in the new system, as five fluorescent tubes take the place of 28 light bulbs in the largest coaches. The rated life expectency of each tube is 15 times greater than that of a regular coach light bulb.

Local Agents Picket Life Insurance Office

Clifford E. Maison, office general manager, identified the pickets as local agents of the company who are involved in a national battle for better salary and commission rates.

"These men are not on strike," said Maison. "They are engaged in a publicity tactic."

Only about nine of the company's 35 local agents were involved in the demonstration, he said.

* * *

The contract between Prudential and the International Workers Insurance Union (AFL-CIO) expired last month. Since then, the agents have turned down one new offer by the company, Maison said.

To Okay Plans for City Airport

Bids to Be Opened on Sept. 10 for Building Terminal-Tower

City commissioners tonight are expected to give ready approval to plans for the $3,900,000 terminal-tower project this fall at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

The plans were prepared by William C. Zimmerman Associates according to federal specifications and under state supervision.

The Federal Aviation Agency and Michigan Department of Aeronautics already have approved them.

Construction bids are to be opened by the state Sept. 10. Contracts must be approved by the city and federal governments, with the city signing them.

No delay in approval here was expected, since the federal government has set Sept. 30 as the deadline for federal participation in the project.

About half the project is to be financed federally, with the state and city each sharing one-quarter in the cost.

Back on the agenda is a proposal to give City Manager Walter K. Willman executive control over the installation of new parking meters downtown and around Pontiac General Hospital.

The Commission itself controls new meters at present. The proposal was first brought up two weeks ago and tabled after commissioners called for time to study it.

Ford Motor Reports '59 Production Total

DETROIT (UPI)—Ford Motor Company, which wound up production of 1959 models Aug. 26, turned out 1,462,140 Ford passenger cars, final figures revealed today.

Ford wound up '59 assemblies prior to changeover for the 1960 models with a production record for August of 106,387 units, compared with 71,021 in Aug. 1958.

Waters of the Great Salt Lake in Utah are said to be about 23 per cent salt in content. By contrast the salt content of the Atlantic ocean is about 3.5 per cent.

Michigan Historian Dies in Auto Crash

SAULT STE. MARIE (UP)—Dr. Milo Quaife, prominent Michigan historian and author, was killed today in a three-car collision seven miles south of here.

The 79-year-old Quaife wrote "I Remember Detroit" and collaborated on the historical novel about Michigan, "River of Destiny." He was a lecturer at Wayne State University and the University of Detroit.

Waterford Twp. Board Hears Track Complaint

McLain, who said he represented 20 residents in the Oakland Hills Subdivision area, claimed that David Senter, owner of the track at Telegraph Road and U.S. 10, was not operating it under specifications in the license issued by the Board two weeks ago.

Residents complained that adequate noise-throttling mufflers had been removed, races were being held and the loudspeaker was turned on so loud that it was creating a traffic hazard at the intersection.

The Board presently is revising a loudspeaker ordinance, along with a speed track and other township ordinances.

In other business, the Board opened two bids for a purchase of a township tractor.

The Great Lakes Company presented a bid of $7,217, including a trade-in, and the Pontiac Tractor Co., submitted a bid of $6,242 with trade-in.

Four bids on a half-ton truck were opened. The lowest bidder was Haskins Chevrolet Co. with a bid of $1,497. All bids opened were tabled for further study.

Several residents from the Schoolcraft School area were present to request that a signal light be installed near a curve on Williams Lake road for protection of their children crossing en route to and from school.

They told the Board that the State Highway Department, Oakland County Road Commission and the Waterford Township Board of Education have been contacted and all admitted the need for such a traffic signal.

They were told, however, that the big problem was lack of $1,500 for installation. The matter was tabled until next Tuesday evening.

Kills Man Chopping on Door With Ax

PALMER (UP) — Uno Pilto, 46, was shot and killed today as he tried to force his way into the Clifford Pleau home in this Marquette County community.

State Police at the Marquette post said Pilto was shot by Earl Pleau, 20. They said Pleau fired through the door five or six times with a .22 caliber rifle as Pilto beat on it with an ax.

Officers said Pleau told them Pilto was shouting that he intended to kill the Pleau family.

100 Will Join Soviet Premier on Tour of U.S.

WASHINGTON (UP) — An entourage of around 100, including Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and his wife, will accompany Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to the United States.

This was announced by the State Department today. Press officer Lincoln White said 50 or more will be in the official party and another 39 are newsmen.

MAMMOTH ADDITION — Addition to the State Department Building in Washington, right, is three times the size of the present building, left. The completed headquarters will be second in size only to the Pentagon in the nation's capital. Eight stories high, it will feature an auditorium seating 1,000 and basement parking for 800 cars. It will provide for 8,000 employes and enable the State Department to gather under one roof all its workers who are now in 29 separate buildings.

Not Like Old DC3 Days

Douglas Faces Fight in Jet Airliner Field

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — "I don't suppose we'll ever dominate aviation again the way we did with the DC3," says planemaker Donald Douglas, "but we intend to have our full share of it."

Douglas, at 67 close to retiring as head of an aircraft empire he founded almost 40 years ago, made this comment Sunday aboard one of his newest four-engine planes, a huge, all-jet DC8.

The DC8, capable of carrying 144 passengers non-stop across the continent at speeds up to 600 miles an hour, won federal certification in Sunday's 4-hour and 34-minute flight from Los Angeles to Baltimore.

"It's been a long hard row," Douglas said in an interview. "The jet airliner was the first real breakthrough in air travel since the DC3. I am very happy to see this day."

The 21-seat, two-engined DC3, workhorse of U.S. overseas forces in World War II as the C47, at one time carried 90 per cent of the world's airline passengers.

Douglas was virtually without competition in those days, but times changed. His four-engined DC6 met a tough opponent in Lockheed's Constellation and today his DC8 is a late starter in the jet transport race. Boeing's 707 jet has been in commercial service for several months.

Douglas did not say so but it was obvious that much of his hope for future success of his company hangs on public acceptance of his new plane, now scheduled to go into commercial service on United Air Lines Sept. 18 and on American Air Lines in November.

It's Nice, but Just How Do You Start the Thing?

NEW YORK (NEA) — Actually, if you can't say anything nice, you should not say anything at all. But:

Most of the instruction and operation manuals for most appliances are stupid, uninformative, misleading, silly, wasteful, hazardous, and sly.

And most of the people who produce most of these manuals must be either fools or potential fiction writers.

This is no idle pleasantry. It is the documented sentiment culled from long years of survey by this reporter on buses, trains, planes, in repair shops, basements and first aid stations.

And it holds true for too many of these things we need and buy at considerable expense: many of our cars, refrigerators, stoves, television sets, typewriters, lawn mowers, vacuum cleaners and like that.

A recent Cornell University study, for example, shows that wage-earning housewives have as much or more spare time each week than full-time housewives. Reason: working mothers have had to learn how to use their home appliances to full capacity.

But too often the manual gets in the way of this education. The trade press has for years been battling manufacturers to stop selling the merchandise after it has been bought and get down to what's what.

"You have just bought the most wonderful, remarkable advanced and eternal (fill in the blank)," the miserable booklet often begins. And there follow several thousand words by the manufacturer approving of his workmanship, mechanics, serviceability and emotional stability.

Eventually — somewhere toward the end—you learn how to operate the on-and-off switch and magnitude controls. But:

1. Where does it say how the thing works inside?
2. Where are the specifications of parts that may wear out?
3. In fact, where the the lists of hazards?

And what about those assemble-it-yourself jobs? There is in most department stores today a kit manufactured by a reputable firm to be worked out by a 12-year-old boy. And I know three 35-year-old boys who haven't been able to work it out yet.

But the appliance people don't really have to worry. After all, modern styling will make the item obsolete next year. And why dwell on any imperfections or hazards? It will only discourage the consumer and interfere with the service man—who has to live, too.

Besides, market surveys show that most women — the major purchasers and users—don't read the manuals anyway.

Lansing Dairies OK Despite Milk Strike

LANSING (AP) — Three Lansing dairies reported today they were getting adequate milk supplies despite a five-day boycott by the Lansing Milk Producers Assn. (LMPA).

The LMPA has asked its members to withhold milk from the Heatherwood, Sealtest and Quality Dairies in an attempt to boost prices by 40 cents per hundredweight to $4.85.

★ ★ ★

The producers claimed 50 per cent of normal milk supply for the three dairies was being diverted.

Moscow Radio Hits U.S., Praises Talks

LONDON (AP) — Moscow Radio Monday night predicted the forthcoming Khrushchev - Eisenhower talks could initiate "a radical improvement in the whole international situation."

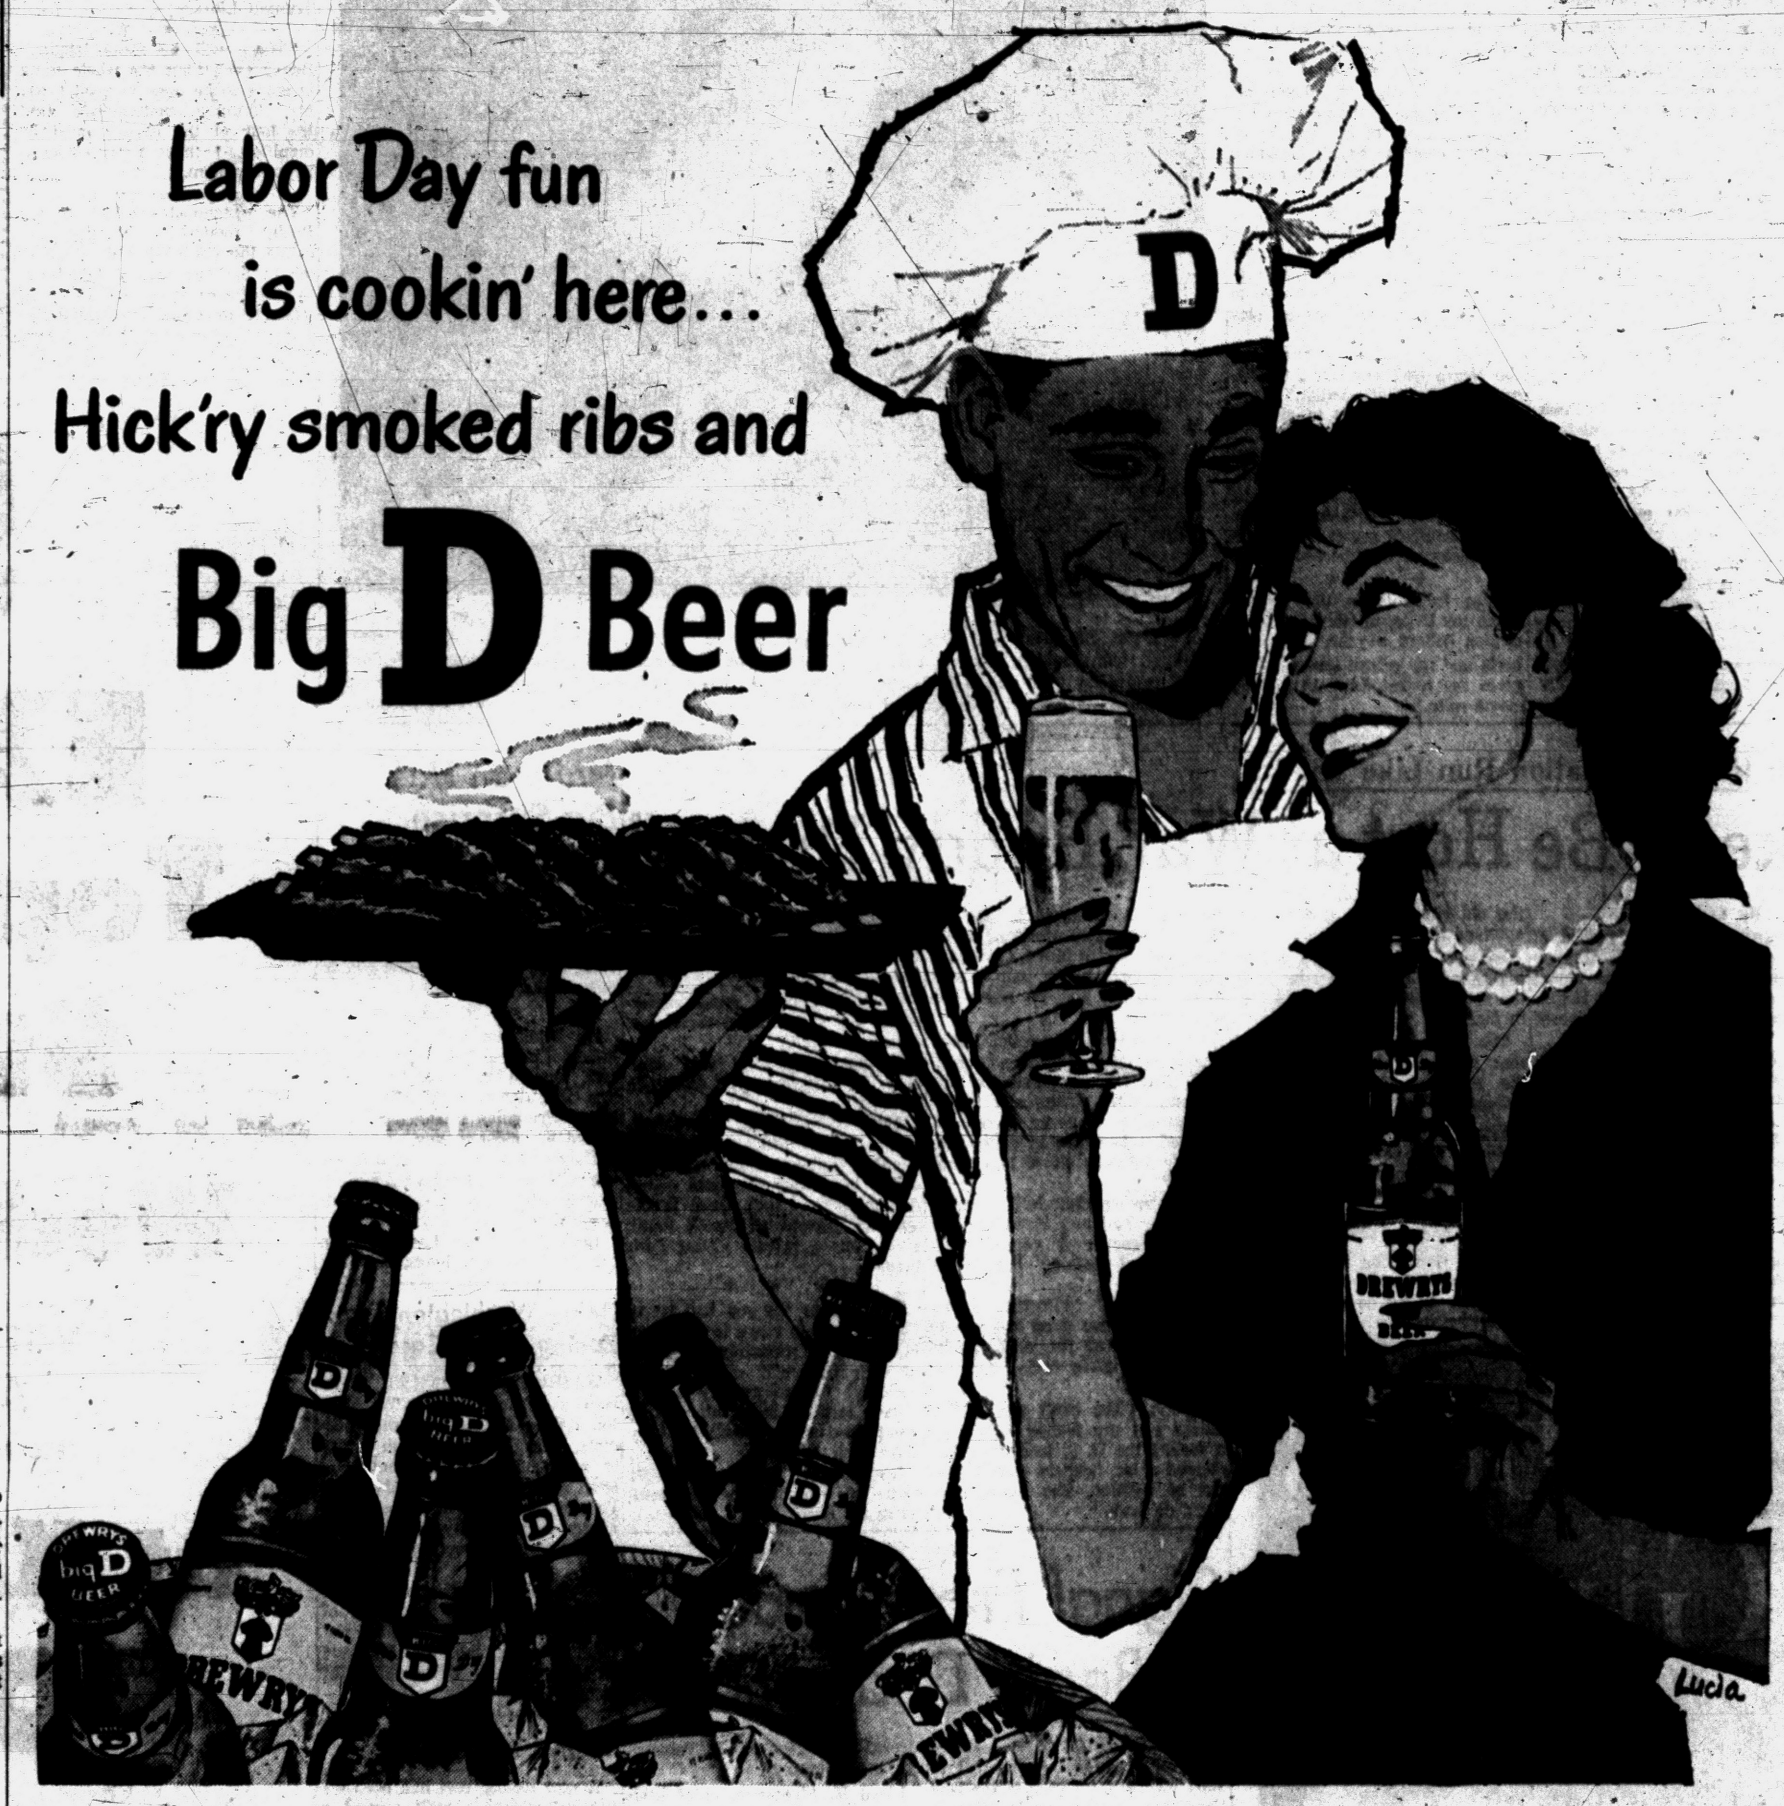

At the same time the broadcast accused "certain forces across the ocean" of trying to obstruct any thawing of the cold war.

"During the past few days," said a commentator in Moscow's southeast Asian service, "some U.S. Senators have been making slanderous statements concerning events in Laos and Chinese-Indian relations . . .

"The provocative aim of their campaign is obvious. There can be no doubt, however, that their pitiful efforts to cast aspersions on the peaceful policy of the Soviet Union and People's (Red) China will end in complete fiasco."

Department Due for 2nd Probe

Highway Official Says Faults Corrected but Senate Gets Busy

LANSING (AP) — A state highway official says faults in the agency's administrative procedures uncovered by an auditor general's investigation have either been corrected or were of little importance.

Fred E. Tripp, director of administration, issued the statement as the department braced for another investigation by a six-man Senate committee.

Sen. John H. Stahlin (R-Belding), a frequent critic of the road agency, will head the committee, which will devote much of its time to investigation of right-of-way purchases.

Tripp reported the department met 16 of the auditor general's 35 recommendations before the report was issued in June and steps have been taken to effect 11 more.

★ ★ ★

Eight of the nine instances in which the department was criticized for paying more than the appraised price for highway property occurred in 1957 before the department adopted a "one price" policy for right-of-way purchase, he said.

★ ★ ★

No "excessive" prices were paid for any of the property, he added.

Tripp took issue with two recommendations. One criticized use of highway funds to build a tourist information center at Mackinaw City. An attorney general's opinion supports the action, he said.

The department also ignored a recommendation to turn in receipts from vending machines at weighmaster stations to the highway fund instead of a flower fund for weighmaster personnel. Currently, the fund amounts to $40.38, Tripp said.

Hal Boyle Says:

Belafonte Weary of Negro Conflict Drama

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Are you a bit weary of heavy dramas showing the Negro in violent conflict with the white world?

Well, so is Harry Belafonte.

BOYLE

"There have been too many lately," he said. "I'd like to be in a Cary Grant type of picture—something light and frothy.

It seems to me audiences would welcome a Negro in an easy-going, delicious, humorous story. I'm not talking about the Amos and Andy kind of things, but something more sophisticated — about an average guy with an average job in an average situation, but one filled with humor."

★ ★ ★

Belafonte, who has been acclaimed as one of the greatest Negro performers of his generation, made it clear he wasn't forsaking the area of heavy drama altogether.

★ ★ ★

"But I think it would be just as commercial, and contribute just as much to social advancement," he said, "for the Negro to be seen in light and pleasant roles for a change.

"After all, in other countries, the Negro isn't restricted to dramas about racial conflict."

"I'm lucky—I can afford to be selective," said Belafonte, whose gross income is reported to be in the pleasant neighborhood of a

"I'm fortunate in that I can make my living in television, con- million dollars a certs and my record albums. This gives me a free hand in picking movie roles."

"Racial conflict is not a major part of my personal life, but it still of course is a major part of my social life," he said.

"I can choose whom I want to meet and be with — and Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas isn't one of them.

"I am angry about many things but I am bitter at none, because I see progress being made. If it weren't for that progress, I'd probably be very bitter, too."

At 32, he says his biggest worry is he won't live long enough to do all the hings he wants to.

At 7, he had to quit the piano because he couldn't afford the 50-cent lessons.

"To this day when I hear a fine pianist play, I have a feeling of denial and frustration," he said.

"I hate to know that time has passed me by, that in some creative field I must remain forever merely a spectator.

"This doesn't mean I don't find satisfaction in what I do. I do. If I could choose to start all over, I'd still choose again as I did.

★ ★ ★

"I feel a tremendous frustration if I do a thing wrong, a tremendous elation when I do it right."

Belafonte, who has been married twice, has three children.

★ ★ ★

"To me, children are the most important thing in life," he said. "There isn't anything in my career, done or undone, that means half as much to me as they do."

Nixon Pooh Poohs Fears

'Nikita Won't Outwit Ike'

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Vice President Richard M. Nixon Monday dismissed as unrealistic fears that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may outwit or trap President Eisenhower in forthcoming talks.

Nixon, in a speech prepared for the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention, said "to answer these charges bluntly, I think it is time for us to recognize that the Communists are not so smart and we are not so dumb as this kind of talk would imply."

★ ★ ★

"We have learned a lot in our dealings with the Communists over the past few years. While we will always treat a guest in our country with courtesy, we know that charm, flattery, and gracious toasts have no effect whatever in changing the rigid positions of the Communist leaders," Nixon said.

★ ★ ★

"We have learned that in our meetings with them we have to be just as hard-headed, tough-minded and realistic as they are. This is an approach Khrushchev respects and understands and this is the kind of a man he will face in President Eisenhower."

Truman to Show Benny Library for Video Tape

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Jack Benny arrived here Monday night to tape a television program on which former President Harry S. Truman will be guest star.

★ ★ ★

There is little chance that Truman will play the piano or Benny the violin. Truman will conduct the comedian on a tour of the Truman Library.

★ ★ ★

"There will be some laughs," Benny said, "but the whole thing is going to be done in good taste. Mr. Truman understands that the tour of the library must be dignified. I think we'll strike a happy medium."

Will the Conversation Run Like This . . .

Ike to Be Host at War-Buddy Dinner!

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP)—The smoke of good cigars wafts gently through the chandeliers above the dining table of London's Winfield House. The brandy passes, and the room hums with talk.

At the head of the table sits President Eisenhower. Around him are 23 of his British associates from the days of World War II.

That will be the scene tonight when the President gives a stag dinner for his wartime colleagues at the residence of U. S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney.

Since the war days, though, a number of books have been written and speeches made in which the old chums have given frank opinions about each other.

Some of the opinions have been highly critical. Tonight several of the critics meet their targets face to face.

The imaginary conversation that follows is constructed from the memoirs and other public statements.

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery: "Ike and I were poles apart when it came to conduct of war. He thought we British weren't doing our share of the fighting and he said so."

Maj. Gen. Sir Francis de Guignand: (Monty's wartime chief of staff): "Why on earth do you keep saying how much you like Ike but still go on attacking him."

Monty: "I sent him a Christmas card, much warmer than I sent anybody else, and he never acknowledged it."

Field Marshal Viscount Alanbrooke (chief of the imperial general staff when Eisenhower was supreme Allied commander): "Eisenhower had never even commanded a battalion in action. No wonder he was at a loss what to do."

Sir Winston Churchill: "Generals never had any ideas of their own. Whenever I raised ideas they raised nothing but objections."

Alanbrooke: "Winston sometimes thinks one thing one minute and another at the next. He is quite incorrigible and I am exhausted."

Monty: "You can't win battles unless you are feeling well. I've a feeling the U. S. leadership has slipped a bit. Soldiers should stay out of politics. The same man can't do both."

Alanbrooke: "He (Eisenhower) caused me great anxiety. I had little confidence in his ability to handle the situation."

Monty: "I could never understand why Ike could never understand my plan."

Alanbrooke: "Yes, he (Montgomery) is a difficult mixture to handle. Brilliant commander in action but liable to untold errors due to lack of tact. Once in the war he insisted on Bedell Smith giving him a private Flying Fortress.

Alanbrooke: "If you had heard Ike express his views to me about it, you would certainly have had no such illusion."

Monty: "I am awfully sad. If I have lost the friendship of that great good man it will be very distressing to me."

Eisenhower: "Why does he have to do it? Why can't he wait until we're all dead?"

Mailman Has Big Surprise for Ohio Pair

CINCINNATI (AP)—How would you like to open a letter and find $260 in brand new $10 bills? Or open another one and find $65 in new folding money?

★ ★ ★

Ed Brinkman and his brother-in-law, Charles Roth, got the letters, mailed in plain envelopes. The bills bore consecutive numbers. Brinkman's envelope contained the most money.

They called police, who will ask the Federal Reserve system where the bills came from originally.

Police say there has not been any bank robbery hereabouts.

Delay Washington Twp. Zoning Laxity Case

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP—The court case brought by a Washington couple against township officials, charging them with laxity in zoning law enforcement, has been postponed until next Monday. The hearing originally was scheduled for yesterday in Macomb County Circuit Court.

★ ★ ★

Reason for the adjournment was the recent death of the father of the attorney who is handling the case for the plaintiffs, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Fettig of 64707 Mound Rd.

Signal From Space to Begin Dedication

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A signal from outer space is scheduled to start official dedication of the new Lear, Inc., Instrument Division in suburban Paris township near Grand Rapids.

The ceremony at the five million dollar plant will be held Sept. 25.

Lear group vice president R. J. Benecchi today said the signal will originate from a United States satellite orbiting some 23,000 miles from earth.

The satellite is one of those already in orbit and being monitored, Benecchi said the U. S. Army Signal Corps still must designate which one's signal will be used.

It will be picked up through the Astro Observation Station at Fort Monmouth, N.J., and bounced to the new plant.

". . . The signal will be used for the first time to open an American facility dedicated to progress in air and space science as well as human security," Benecchi said. Lear designs and manufactures various high precision products for aircraft, missiles, space vehicles and helicopters.

Lloyd H. Manamon, chief engineer in charge of the Astro Observation Station, said the signal will activate mechanisms to open the doors and drop draperies covering the new plant's dedicatory plaque.

Either Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy or Deputy Defense Director Thomas S. Gates will call in the signal from the satellite, Lear officials said.

Five Youths Charged in Crime Roundup

ROMEO — Five area youths have been arraigned in Justice Court at Mount Clemens on charges ranging from breaking and entering in the daytime to possession of stolen property, in a roundup by state and local police, Romeo State Police Detective Paul Brabant reported today.

★ ★ ★

Two youths from Romeo are charged with breaking and entering in the daytime. They are Robert Mulholland, 21, of Main street and Elmer Spencer, 18, of 11333 30-Mile Rd.

Bert Beal, 21, of 19½ S. Main St., Romeo, and Rodney Bird of New Haven, are charged with possession of stolen property.

The fifth youth is Patrick Daugherty, 23, of 2030 Grace St., Rochester, who faces a charge of breaking and entering in the nighttime.

Mulholland and Beal waived examination and were bound over to Macomb County Circuit Court, and the other three have demanded examination. Bird, Daugherty and Spencer will appear for examination on Sept. 8.

Bond for all five was set at $1,000 each which was furnished by Bird and Beal. The other three remain in jail.

Alice Janicki, Robert Maura Wed in Utica

SHELBY TOWNSHIP—St. Lawrence Catholic Church at Utica was the setting for the recent wedding of Alice Janicki and Robert Maura. The Rev. Edward J. De Keyser performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Janicki, of 53740 Schoenherr Rd. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Achille Maura, of 2995 Crooks Rd., Avon Township.

For her wedding the bride chose a silk organza gown fashioned with an Empire waistline sequin and pearl trimmed bodice and sleeves and full skirt embroidered with appliques of flowers.

Maid of honor was Nancy Maura, and Patricia Przywara was bridesmaid.

Oxford Post Office Has Job Vacancies

To apply for the civil service examination applicants for the jobs must be at least 18 years old and residents or bona fide patrons of the Oxford postal district.

Starting pay for clerks and carriers is two dollars an hour. Benefits include automatic annuel incrases, night pay differentials, liberal vacation and sick leave, low cost insurance, a generous retirement plan and a uniform allowance.

Complete information and application forms may be obtained from the local post office or from the office of the Executive Secretary, Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners, Room 402 Federal Bldg Detroit 33, Mich.

Vote on Library in Bloomfield

Special Election Will Decide if Township Is to Get $90,000 Building

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Whether a new public library will be built in the township is being decided at the polls today.

If approved by voters in the special election, the library will be built on a one-acre site on Orchard Lake road just north of Walnut Lake road.

It would cost an estimated $90,000 and would provide 5,100 square feet in the one-floor building with an additional 1,100 square feet in the basement for storage space, utilities and a garage should a bookmobile be added to library facilities at some future date.

Taxpayers would be assessed an additional one-mill to be spread over the next three years if the project gets a green light from voters.

Bid for Xway Loses Again

Southfield City Council Registers Split Vote, Needs Majority

SOUTHFIELD — The State Highway Department's bid for approval of a section of the proposed east-west expressway, between 11½ and 12 Mile roads, lost again at last nights' meeting of the Southfield City Council.

The city's Highway Committee had recommended at last Monday's meeting of the council that they approve the proposed section. At that time there were only five councilmen present and their 4-1 vote was held in abeyance.

At last night's meeting six members were present. Three voted for the recommendation and three against. City Attorney James T. Allen told the council that a two-thirds vote was necessary to make it legal. The matter was then turned over to the Planning Commission.

The City of Southfield has continually withheld approval of this small section of the proposed expressway from Detroit until it has been decided by state highway authorities which route the traffic will take beyond 12-Mile road.

CROWN FITS — Trying on the crown she won last night as the Michigan Mushroom Queen is Carol Sue Kirkindall, 18, of Roseville. She was chosen over 17 other contestants at Utica. Letting the new queen see how the crown fits is the 1958 Queen, Gail Barney, 18, of Utica.

Carol Sue Kirkindall to Reign

Pick State Mushroom Queen at Utica

The new queen's two attendants are Ardis Dickerson, 17, a senior at L'Anse Creuse High School near Mount Clemens, and Lu Ann Schlussler, 18, a recent graduate of Utica Community High School.

Ardis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dickerson of 26410 Ballard St., Harrison Township. Lu Ann's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Schlussler of 45088 Hecker Dr., Shelby Township.

All of the contestants were judged on poise, appearance, neatness and personality.

NARROW FIELD

After considerable deliberation the five judges narrowed the field down to nine. Then the members of this group were interviewed individually again until the three top winners were picked.

The competition was held at La Honda Lounge, regular meeting place of the Utica Kiwanis Club. This local service club and the Mushroom Growers Assn. are cosponsors of the annual celebration.

Utica is approximately the geographical center of the mushroom growing belt in Macomb and Oakland County. It runs from Rochester to Warren along Dequindre and Ryan roads.

★ ★ ★

Approximately one and a half million pounds of mushrooms are produced annually in this district. A marked increase in production has been noted during the past year because of the installation of air conditioning units in mushroom houses, industry officials said.

JUDGES LISTED

Contest judges were Solve Zanardelli of Shelby Township, president of the Mushroom Growers Assn.; Joseph Boyce of St. Clair Shores, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis District II; Richard C. Stavoe, and Fred Mathiak, both of the Utica Kiwanis Club; and Fred Hahn, president of the Roseville Kiwanis Club.

★ ★ ★

The other six girls, who were finalists in the competition, besides the queen and her two maids of honor, were Rose Mary Bennett, 21, of Utica; Carole Cameron, 18, of Richmond; Joyce Catherine Malinky, 18, of Utica; Patricia Ann Mount, 17, of Utica; Joanne Niedzielski, 20, of Roseville, and Patricia Borowy 18, of Warren.

Pick Northern Michigan for Their Honeymoon

MILFORD — Honeymooning this week in Northern Michigan are newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Glen York. They were married Friday in the Wixom Baptist Church at Wixom.

Formerly Donamae Balay, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence O. Balay of 2330 Glengarry Rd. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James York of 3180 Brisbane Rd., Oakley Park.

Her crown was trimmed with seed pearls, sequins and lace, and secured a fingertip veil of French silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white carnations in a cascade with a rose corsage in the center.

Assisting the bride as maid of honor was Sharon Roberts of Milford. Bridesmaids were Cathy Barnes of Farmington and the bridegroom's sister, Barbara York of Oakley Park. The bride's niece, Laura Balay of Redford, was flower girl.

Duties as best man were performed by Arnie Sundmark of Walled Lake. Ushers were Don Munro, also of Walled Lake, and the bridegroom's brother, John of Oakley Park.

Heavy Rains Refill Ponds at Milford— What Next?

MILFORD — The three mill ponds that lent their beauty to the heart of this village until they were suddenly drained off last spring have been refilled to their brims.

★ ★ ★

Villagers are smiling again as they view their favorite scene restored. And, families living along the Huron River, where it feeds from the ponds, are happy to see the water level rising back to normal once again.

★ ★ ★

These people were shocked one weekend in April when they woke up to find that the owner of the ponds and the controlling dams had opened the sluice gates to let the waters run off.

Gaping mudholes replaced the picturesque ponds and the river was reduced to little more than a trickle. Mosquitoes moved in to breed more mosquitoes.

Just as swiftly and quietly as the water poured out, so has it returned.

THE RAINS CAME

James Robbins, who gained possession of the ponds and dams when he purchased the old Ford Motor Co. plant and property here for his plastics processing firm, shut the dam gates over a month ago. But his action went unnoticed until recent rainstorms quite suddenly restored the water level.

Robbins had told the village council in April that he was draining off the ponds for inspection of controlling dams by his firm's insurance company, and that he was not certain about refilling them.

For more than four months, village officials — spurred by aroused public sentiment — were trying to figure out what would become of the unexpected eyesore near Main street.

They found out that Robbins owned the water rights and legally could do as he wished with the ponds.

Village Manager Oliver Taylor and the village council admitted that they were stumped. "I'm still totally confused as to what's going on regarding these dams and ponds," said Taylor yesterday.

After touring the site, Taylor reported that the dam on the Huron River has been partially closed and that the water has risen about four feet.

Robbins said that engineers are working on land-filling estimates and that several groups of businessmen were interested in purchasing the ponds and property, after possible land-fill operations had been completed.

Robbins concluded, "There is absolutely nothing definite at this time, regarding what is to be done with the mill ponds on a permanent basis."

Southfield Gets First Postmaster

Rep. Broomfield Says Charles Curtis to Head New Office

SOUTHFIELD — A 26-year career employe of the Postal service has been named Southfield's first postmaster.

Announcement came today from Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County) that Charles L. Curtis of 25525 Edgemont Rd., will become acting postmaster here tomorrow when Southfield's first post office opens its doors for business.

Curtis, a member of the Postal Transportation Service between Buffalo and Detroit, was formerly in charge of air mail at Detroit.

He is the father of two sons. Gerald, age 18, was graduated from Southfield High School an is a student at Olivet College. Douglas, age 12, attends the seventh grade at Angling Road School.

Mrs. Curtis is the president of the Southfield area council of Parent-Teachers Associations and has been active in cub scout activities.

Broomfield said that Curtis is "one of the many fine applicants considered by the post office department for this position. I feel certain that he will see to it that Southfield residents get the best in postal service."

The new Southfield post office will mean an end to multiple mailing addresses for the new city's residents. Southfield officials have been seeking a separate mailing address for its residents since its city charter was accepted by voters after three elections.

Curtis is neighborhood commissioner for the Detroit area council of the Boy Scouts of America, a member of the Optimist Club of Southfield, and secretary of the board of education of Southfield Public Schools.

County Fire Destroys Barn, Farm Equipment

ORION TOWNSHIP—Fire which started about 8 p.m. yesterday and flared up again at 4 this morning destroyed a large storage barn and thousands of dollars worth of equipment at 2541 Clarkston Rd.

The farm property is leased by Charles Buster Young of 108 Schorn Rd. The barn is used mainly to house tractors, graders, brushers, elevators, burlap and paper bags. It also contained a large supply of potatoes and rye, Mrs. Young said.

Firemen from the Orion and Gingellville departments battled both blazes and got the tractors out before flames forced them back.

In Lake Orion the fire siren was out of order so night dispatcher Stephen Toth manipulated the civil defense whistle by hand to get the firemen out of bed.

Fire chiefs of the two departments were investigating the cause of the fire today.

Dryden Group Changes Dinner Meeting Plans

With Rubber, Glass and Meat Workers

Labor Stage Brighter; 3 Industries Sign Contracts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's labor picture, darkened by the long and costly steel strike and its effect on allied industries, appeared a little brighter today as threatened walkouts were averted in three major industries. Another strike was halted.

Agreements were reached Monday night was strike deadlines neared in the rubber, glass and meat packing industries. They ended possible walkouts of more than 100,000 workers. Already idled by the steel strike are a half million steelworkers and some 150,000 other workers in allied industries.

Also on the brighter side were the ending of two strikes involving more than 5,000 workers and the 24-hour postponement of a threatened walkout against Pan American Airways.

At Cleveland, a general wage settlement giving 24,000 Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. employes a 10-cent-an-hour wage increase was announced by the company and the United Rubber Workers.

MUST BE RATIFIED

The settlement must be ratified by a majority of locals representing a majority of the union's membership in the company's 11 plants. The old contracts, which expired at midnight Monday, provided for straight time hourly wages of $2.61.

The Goodyear settlement could set a pattern in the rubber industry. Wage talks are under way between the union and U. S. Rubber in Cincinnati, Firestone in Cleveland and Goodrich in Canton, Ohio.

A walkout by 70,000 workers against the country's meat packing industry appeared averted at least temporarily after two unions reached agreement on a tentative contract with Armour & Co. shortly before the Monday midnight strike deadline. The pact with the big meat packing firm covers 14,000 workers at 27 plants. Details of the new agreement were not disclosed but a union spokesman said it included a wage increase and some novel features.

Arrangements also were made by two other major firms, Swift and Co. and Wilson and Co., for further contract talks at Chicago today with the two unions. A spokesman for the unions, the United Packinghouse Workers of America and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, said no strike had been called. He added, however, he did not know if workers at Swift and Wilson would work without a new contract.

Agreements reached with the major packers generally govern the contracts with the smaller packing firms. A federal mediator expressed confidence the unions would reach agreement with Wilson and Swift.

A scheduled strike at midnight Monday was delayed by some 2,000 moldmakers in 80 glass plants across the nation as union and industry negotiators at Pittsburgh agreed to a contract extension. The contract will be on a day-by-day basis.

The talks, deadlocked over issues of wages, weekend work schedules and handling of grievances, are to be resumed today in the glass container industry.

A 25-day Teamsters strike at San Francisco ended with a two-year contract providing $4.20 a day in wage increases for 5,000 members of Teamsters Union Local 85. The new pay scales range from $22.20 to $24.20 a day.

At Scranton, Pa., a 10-week strike at Capitol Records ended when the International Assn. of Machinists accepted a three-year contract for more than 600 workers. The new contract provides a nine-cent-an-hour pay hike the first year and seven-cent increase in each of the next two years. Wages under the old pact were not available.

At New York, the Flight Engineers International Assn. said it had postponed the threatened strike against Pan American Airways after the airline agreed to discontinue the training of third pilots as flight engineers aboard jet liners.

Two small strikes were started Monday night. Some 800 members of Local 130, United Auto Workers, struck the Kaiser Metal Products Co. at Bristol, Pa., in a dispute over wages and working conditions. At Utica, N. Y., the International Assn. of Machinists struck the Utica Drop Forge Tool Co. in a dispute over a new contract. About 100 union members picketed the plant. Details of the dispute were not disclosed.

Atom Energy Official Dies of Pneumonia

Before he joined the AEF, Vance was chairman of the executive committee of the Studebaker-Packard Corp.

He had been with the company since 1911 and retired as president in 1954. He was born at Port Huron, Mich.

From 1952 to 1955, Vance was a consultant to the office of defense mobilization.

Mostly in Border States

Many More Integrated Schools Open

By The Associated Press

School integration has started in several Southern cities without the violence which marked the opening of classes in some sections in the past.

An increasing number of Negro youngsters are trudging off to integrated schools. They are expected to be joined by others later this week and next.

The changes are mostly in the upper and border states. Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina are holding firm to traditional separate schools for white children and Negroes.

Potential trouble at the Dollarway School District near Pine Bluff, Ark., has been postponed temporarily. The Sept. 8 opening date was put off until after a hearing Sept. 21 in St. Louis on an appeal from an integration order by a federal judge.

The advance of at least token integration in many parts of Dixie has been accompanied by a barrage of law suits. In Virginia the massive resistance pattern appears to have been replaced by a policy of maximum containment.

Integrated schools open in several cities today.

At Arlington, Va., 16 Negroes are scheduled to attend classes with white pupils under federal court order. Three schools are affected. Most Virginia schools open after Labor Day.

School Superintendent W. H. Oliver estimates 325 Negroes and 2,000 white pupils are eligible to attend formerly all-white elementary schools under the grade-a-year desegregation plan. There was no indication how many of the eligible Negroes planned to register. Last year only 28 out of 230 eligible Negroes attended integrated classes.

★ ★ ★

Classes also start at the previously all - white elementary school at Sturgis, Ky., where 44 Negro children registered Monday under a federal court order to integrate all Union County elementary schools. Attempts of Negroes to enter white schools at Sturgis resulted in violence three years ago.

Heart Stopped for 45 Minutes

Boy Survives Surgery After His Temperature Is Dropped to 57

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A hospital spokesman today told how an 8-year-old boy's heart was stopped for 45 minutes while a successful operation was performed to remove a block in the aortic valve.

The operation, performed Aug. 20 on Clifford Poyorena of nearby El Monte, was said to be the first of its kind in which a heart was stopped so long. Clifford was released from the hospital yesterday with every indication he will be able to lead a normal life.

The operation, which took place without the use of a heart-lung machine, was performed by a team of four surgeons assisted by a staff of 10 other doctors and nurses.

"The child's heart was stopped for 45 minutes without danger of brain damage, giving the surgeons ample time to make the correction," a hospital spokesman said.

"This was made possible by using a new technique developed in Children's Hospital laboratories whereby the patient's body temperature was lowered to 57 degrees through hypothermia, in which the body is packed in ice.

"Under routine hypothermia, the patient's body is lowered to only 85 degrees and the heart can be stopped no longer than 10 minutes," explained the spokesman.

Rickenbacker Giving Up Title of Airline Officer

NEW YORK (AP)—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, 68, is giving up the title of chief executive officer of Eastern Air Lines.

He will continue as chairman of the company in which he has been prime mover for a quarter-century.

The company said it was part of a realignment of top management "for the oncoming jet age."

Homemade Rocket Blows Up at Boy

SANDUSKY (AP) — A homemade rocket exploded yesterday and seriously injured a 13-year-old boy as he attempted to fire it.

Police said the boy poured the powder into the steel casing of the rocket. Douglas was standing over the device when it blew up after he ignited the fuse.

Boys Discover $1,000 Worth of 'Pretty Glass'

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Bob Brickman, 8, thought the little pieces of glass lying in the alley were real pretty. His pal, Mel Hall, 11, thought so too. So did a startled jeweler Monday night when the boys brought in $1,000 worth of unset diamonds and asked him what they were.

Police have the gems but don't know of any diamond theft or loss. If unclaimed the boys will have some diamonds.

'The Evidence Indicates . . .'

Adds 13 Names to Toll of Deaths in Earthquake

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. (AP) — "The evidence available indicates they probably were in the slide area."

With those words Monday, Sheriff Donald J. Skerritt added 13 names, raising to 28 the probable death toll in the mammoth landslides set off by earthquakes Aug. 17-18.

★ ★ ★

"We've checked and checked every lead on all these people," the sheriff said. "We've found no trace of any of them since."

Among the 13 were Robert J. Williams, 32, his wife and three children, Michael, 7, Christy, 3, and Steven, 11, of Idaho Falls, Idaho.

Williams was due back to work Monday as manager of the plumbing and building department of an Idaho Falls store. He did not report. Twenty-four hours before the quake he registered at Virginia City Museum near the center of the disaster.

Also on the list are Roger Prodad, Calif., medium security prison, his wife and two sons.

"We are camped on Madison River 30 miles from Yellowstone," Provost wrote. "It's a beautiful place. Fishing fair."

Millions of tons of rock and earth crashed down on that area, damming the river and forming a new lake.

Knoxville Police Have Own Version of Hit, Run

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—The Cooke County sheriff's office reported Sunday night there had been three arrests for hit and run.

"Hit and run?" asked a reporter.

Labor Day Holiday

Will 450 Persons Die?

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council estimated today that traffic accidents might kill 450 persons during next weekend's three-day Labor Day holiday.

The estimate, covering 78 hours from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday, is 30 higher than the actual toll for Labor Day weekend last year.

The Council said virtually all the 71 million motor vehicles in the United States are expected to be on the road, rolling up about seven billion miles of travel, during the weekend.

State Bar to Consider Altering Commission

LANSING (AP)—A recommendation to change the state Fair Employment Practices Commission to a commission on civil rights will be considered by the state bar at its Sept. 24 meeting in Detroit, President Raymond H. Dresser reported today.

The bar's committee on civil rights will also ask approval in principle for enlarging the commission's scope to cover unfair practices instead of merely unfair employment practices.

This would extend the commission's jurisdiction to public accommodations, public education and publicly assisted or multiple housing accommodations.

Bills to do this died in the current legislature when the House state affairs committee failed to report them.

Hollywood Headlines:

Cllown Business Dying but Kelly Has an Idea

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

"They're dying off," says Emmett Kelly, one of America's great clowns. "A lot of them have left the business. There aren't many new clowns coming up because the young kids don't see any future in clowning.

THOMAS

"In the old days, there were 26 circuses on rails. Even the smallest would have about 25 clowns. The Ringling Circus was split into two units with 40 clowns apiece.

★ ★ ★

"A clown could look forward to moving up then. He'd start with a carnival, and as he perfected his act, he'd get offers from bigger shows. Eventually he could work up to the big show. But now Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey has gone in for auditorium presentations and carries only about 35 clowns."

It's significant that Emmett Kelly is out of the circus and having the longest run in one place of his 38-year career. He is officially vice president in charge of fun at Pacific Ocean Park, where he spends his days mingling among the kids and making them laugh.

I saw him during a break in his chores, and he was worrying about his extravagantly tattered cosume. He explained that he couldn't risk washing or dry-cleaning it and the colognes he poured onto it didn't always do the job on a hot day.

PLAYED EVERYWHERE

"This is the first time I've ever played an amusement park," Kelly remarked. "I've done just about everything — carnivals, circuses, baseball and basketball games, movies, TV. But I've never been able to stay in one place so long. I'll be here 19 weeks."

His comments on the decline of the clown are significant because of the recent death of Grock, the great European clown. Many others here and abroad are no longer at their ancient profession. Is there any hope for a revival?

"I know of only one new field that offers possibilities," Kelly remarked. "That's the shopping center. Entertainment for those neighborhood centers is getting to be a big thing. I'm thinking of getting up a unit to tour them."

Hitler Attacked Poland Sept. 1, 1939

World War II 20 Years Old Today

(On Sept. 1, 1939, Adolf Hitler unleashed the blitzkrieg invasion of Poland that touched off World War II. Joseph W. Grigg, now chief European correspondent of UPI, was a member of the Berlin bureau of the United Press the day war broke out just 20 years ago. Later, after Pearl Harbor, he was interned by the Nazis for five months.)

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

LONDON (UPI) — At 5:45 on the morning of Friday, Sept. 1, 1939, the "Hellschreiber" teletype printer of the official German news agency in the Berlin office of United Press began grinding out a communique.

"Proclamation to the German armed forces," it began.

Over the streets of Berlin a gray rainswept dawn was breaking. The few early workers hurrying along the broad, empty expanse of Unter den Linden saw the street lamps go out and continued on their way.

They did not know it would be six years before the lights went on again in Europe. They did not know that at that moment two air fleets of Nazi Heinkel and Dornier bombers were sweeping across Germany's eastern frontiers to unload destruction and death on sleeping and defenseless Polish cities.

In the great mausoleum - like Reich Chancellory, which he had built in hope of perpetuating himself for all time in concrete and yellow plaster and bronze, the man who signed that communique, Adolph Hitler, Fuehrer and Reich Chancellor and Supreme Commander of the German Armed Forces, went to bed.

He had just signed the proclamation which set his armies and air fleets in motion across the Polish frontier and unleashed the second World War.

For weeks Europe had hurtled down the precipitous slope to war. All communications between Berlin and the Western European capitals had ceased. International trains stopped running, long distance telephone lines were cut.

In London and Paris the blackout already had begun and anti-aircraft guns were mounted on roof tops. Tens of thousands of women and children were being evacuated hurriedly from the cities. Bomb-proof trenches were dug in London's parks and gas masks were distributed to every Briton.

What touched off the crisis?

Since he came to power in 1933 Hitler had rearmed Germany illegally, reoccupied the demilitarized Rhineland, seized Austria, Memel and Czechoslovakia.

Now he was demanding restoration of the Free City of Danzig and a road through the corridor of Polish territory that separated East Prussia from the rest of Germany.

Earlier that summer Hitler's Propaganda Minister, little club-footed Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, taking the salute at a mass torchlight demonstration of thousands of swastika-toting Nazis in Danzig, told this correspondent with supreme confidence: "There will be no war. Britain is bluffing. Anyhow, she is too cowardly and weak to fight."

Hitler believed that, too.

Eleven days before he gave the order to his armies to march into Poland, Hitler pulled out what he believed to be his ace - in - the-hole. On the sultry night of Aug. 21 he rocked the world with the announcement that he was sending his Foreign Minister, former champagne salesman Joachim von Ribbentrop, to Moscow to sign a non-aggression pact with the Soviets.

From that moment war became inevitable. The pact meant Hitler could attack Poland without fear that Russia would come to its aid.

HITLER MEETS COHORT — Adolph Hitler is greeted by the man sent to Danzig to prepare for the Nazi coup in 1939, Albert Forster did his job effectively, as indicated in the sign overhead which welcomes Der Fuehrer. This took place 20 years ago, at the start of World War II.

On Aug. 24 Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the British House of Commons that — pact or no pact — Britain would fulfill her treaty pledges to defend Poland if she were attacked.

That same day the British and French began leaving Berlin.

Next day, Aug. 25, Nazi Germany secretly completed its mobilization. At the same time, Hitler made a last desperate bid to bribe Britain into staying neutral when he attacked Poland.

He summoned Britain's ambassador, Sir Neville Henderson, to the Chancellory and offered him a treaty under which Nazi Germany would "guarantee" with its own armed forces the integrity of the British Empire. In return, he demanded restoration of Germany's former colonies and a free hand to attack Poland.

On Aug. 26 the German people, still blissfully unaware of the crisis about to engulf them and, ultimately, the whole world received their first rude warning of what was in store. The government announced cancellation of the annual Nazi Party Congress at Nuremberg.

A still ruder awakening came the next day — Sunday — when the Berlin papers published a government announcement imposing strict rationing on food, clothing, shoes and soap.

All over Berlin, correspondents saw anti-aircraft guns being mounted on tall buildings. Sandbags were piled in front of plate glass windows. Crowds of young men carrying suitcases and mobilization orders jammed Berlin's main railroad stations. Massed Nazi bomber squadrons roared over the Olympic stadium swimming pool and the Wannsee lake beaches.

On Aug. 26, Henderson flew back to Berlin with a note from Chamberlain accepting the broad idea of an Anglo-German "slate wiping," but reiterating Britain's commitments to Poland.

But on Aug. 29 Hitler upped his demands. He handed Henderson another note announcing that he no longer would be satisfied with the return of the city of Danzig and a road through the so-called Polish corridor. He demanded immediate surrender of the whole corridor by Poland and gave the Polish government 24 hours to send a plenipotentiary to Berlin to sign the surrender.

The German ultimatum was passed on to Poland, but she already had ordered general mobilization herself.

At midnight on Aug. 30 Henderson drove to the Nazi Foreign Office, told Ribbentrop that Poland had been informed of Hitler's demands and added that the British government considered it impossible for a Polish plenipotentiary to reach Berlin on time. Ribbentrop's answer was to read to Henderson in German a long document outlining what would have been Germany's terms if a Polish plenipotentiary had reached Berlin on time.

Late the next evening, Aug. 31, the text of Hitler's terms was published. At that very moment the official German news agency put out an utterly untrue report of an attack by Polish irregulars on the Gleiwitz radio station in Silesia. This provided Hitler with his excuse to announce that the Nazi armed forces were "firing back."

The invasion orders already had been given. At 5:45 a.m. on Sept. 1 World War II began.

At 10 a.m. that same day, Hitler appeared before a specially summoned session of the rubber-stamp Nazi Reichstag.

He looked pale and haggard and his face was strained from lack of sleep. For the first time he wore a sort of field-gray uniform in place of his usual brown tunic and swastika armband.

Dwarfed by a huge golden eagle surmounted by a black swastika, he cried, "I will wage this struggle, no matter against whom, until the security of the Reich and its rights have been guaranteed."

That night Berlin was blacked out for the first time and there was a practice air raid alert.

The British and French ambassadors handed Ribbentrop identical notes demanding withdrawal of the Nazi forces from Poland. Next day Benito Mussolini of Italy tried to stage another "Munich" conference and France declared general mobilization.

At 9 a.m. on Sunday, Sept. 3, the British ambassador paid a final call on Ribbentrop and handed him an ultimatum warning that if Germany did not withdraw her troops within two hours, Britain would consider herself in a state of war with Germany.

At exactly 11 a.m., the Nazi radio broke into its program and announced that Britain had declared war. France joined her later that afternoon.

But many Germans refused to believe that warm autumn day that Britain or France would really fight. "England is just bluffing," they reassured each other.

But this was no bluff.

Stalingrad and El Alamein, Sicily and Normandy and the ruined bombed-blasted hulks of a hundred German cities were the final proof that this was indeed for real.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A $125,945 fund has been raised to help dependents of the six men who died in a gasoline fire Aug. 18 and others who were injured.

Five of the dead were firemen. The sixth was a truck driver, Francis J. Toomes, who was helping the firemen.

State Must Put Economics First

Politics Gets Minor Role When Future at Stake—Merritt Hill

PRUDENVILLE (AP) — Warning that a good economic climate must come before politics was sounded today by Merritt Hill, Ford Motor Co. vice president.

Hill, chairman of the executive committee of the Michigan industrial ambassadors, spoke at a training conference of the ambassadors and manufacturers of northern Michigan counties.

He said an agressive program to sell Michigan as a place to locate industry was needed because "the rest of the country is working too hard for us to sit back and let our prospects find us."

"I think we have been fairly effective in convincing others that a good economic climate must transcend political considerations," Hill said. "Such a climate is a permanent need of a state which has so much to lose if industry is not made to feel welcome."

Rackets Probe of Auto Union Is Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rackets Committee has postponed again the resumption of its hearings on the United Auto Workers Union.

They had been scheduled to start up again today.

Sens. John F. Kennedy and Barry Goldwater, rackets committee members, are serving on the conference committee which is trying to hammer out a compromise on the labor control bill.

The UAW hearings were put off until both of them can attend.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said he would announce a new date for the Rackets Committee inquiry after the conference picture has been clarified.

Theft of Salk Vaccine Shocks Health Officials

MONTREAL (AP)—Health officials were puzzled and shocked today by the theft of 75,000 shots of emergency Salk vaccine sent here to help check a polio epidemic.

Officials said four masked gunmen who robbed a research center of 10,000 vials Monday would have a hard time selling the vaccine—even though it is valued at $50,000.

The vaccine must be kept at 40 degrees Fahrenheit or it will degenerate after 48 hours. If given then it coud cause a violent reaction, but doctors said it would cloud over and could be spotted easily.

Officials said the theft is a severe blow to the anti-polio campaign. "Children will be the victims," said Dr. Adelard Groulx, head of Montreal's Health Department.

The vaccine was sent from Toronto for 59 municipal clinics planning to give second shots to children and teen-agers.

With 17 new cases admitted to Montreal hospitals over the weekend, the polio total for the year is 554. There have been 30 deaths.

There was speculation that the robbers planned to set up a black market operation.

Dr. Forte said the robbers probably had a ready market for the vaccine but "no medical person would buy it from an unknown."

Paris Left Bank 'Ain't' What It Was

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

Here he could drink coffee and illegal absinthe to his itchy heart's content, here find the crumpling pad he prefers to a middle class Hollywood bed, here proclaim loud and free his frustrations against — well, against whatever beatniks are disillusioned about.

But no. The beatniks tried living here, for a short time, when they first began their monotonous movement, and they found it was not for them.

The trouble was that on the Left Bank of Paris no one disapproved of the beatnik. And what fun is that? The only thing an anarchist cannot bear is to be looked upon with approval by moral men.

So the Left Bank, according to my sources here in Paris, is not the same as it was 30 years ago, or 20, or even 12 months ago. More and more it is being watered-down by young people whose only claim to artistic instinct is a beard.

There are about 5,000 American "Expatriates" here now, most of them apparently GI's who traded in their uniforms for the drifters' pseudo artistic life.

Some are students who convinced their parents that Paris is still the mecca for the imaginative and gifted. They are playing like Bohemians, as eight-year-old boys play at being Indians — convincing themselves momentarily that this is what they are, but becoming civilized again when it's time for dinner.

★ ★ ★

"They live in $25-a-month garrets," said a local friend. "They bum drinks from one another freely. Occasionally, they write a line of poetry or sketch a nude. They appear to be suffering dramatically for their art. But all the time, I think, they are saving up an allowance from home. That security helps keep them from doing anything really creative . . ."

GOLDEN BOHEMIANS

"They know they're not Hemingways or Scott Fitzgeralds, yet they hang on, hoping inspiration will hit them one day. Ridiculous. They don't even know how to get drunk!"

Your pocketbook, which remained thick and wholesome under the Norway and Denmark prices, becomes thin and sickly. In Copenhagen, your breakfast of ham, eggs, cheese, pate de foi gras, herring, kippers, pastry, bacon and plattersful of fruit cost less than one dollar.

In Paris, your breakfast of orange juice, croissant and coffee is nearly three dollars.

Your social self-confidence suffers even more wiltingly than your pocketbook. To the Norwegians and the Danes, you were something to laugh with; to the Parisian, you are something to laugh at.

★ ★ ★

It probably is unfair to make a comparison because, after years of contented isolation, the Scandinavians fairly worship foreign visitors — whereas, after years of bitter struggle for survival against foreigners, the French are naturally wary.

It has made them worldly, cynical and more than a little hungry.

Fair or unfair, considering the circumstances, I must admit that I've fallen in love with Scandinavia. Because it is still beautiful and innocent. Along with the Rockefellers (get that, Ma) I recommend it highly.

Ribicoff Pledges Support

Sees Kennedy Victory

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — Democratic Gov. Abraham Ribicoff says Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass) will get the support of all New England delegates and win the Democratic nomination for president.

★ ★ ★

Ribicoff said he feels a united New England delegation will be a nucleus for Kennedy that will more than offset New York and California delegates.

★ ★ ★

Ribicoff said he thinks Kennedy will also have a substantial number of the New York delegates.

At the 1956 Democratic National Convention, New York had 98 votes, California 68. The six New England states — Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island—had a total of 104 votes.

Explain Vote, Court Demands

State Board Must Tell Why Con-Con Proposal Didn't Get Approval

LANSING (AP)—The State Board of Canvassers today was under order from the State Supreme Court to show cause why it should not certify that a proposal to call a state constitutional convention carried last summer.

The court yesterday gave the board until Sept. 18 to file an answer.

Board members are defendants in a citizens suit brought by Carl P. Stoliker of Port Huron. He seeks to throw out their decision that the con-con question failed to carry.

It won a majority vote from those voting on the proposal but not a majority of those who voted in the election. The Supreme Court ruled in 1948 that a majority of those going to the polls must vote for a constitutional convention before it can be ordered.

Ohio Tomatoes Lead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio leads the nation in production of greenhouse tomatoes—almost two-thirds of the total, based on wholesale value. Ohio growers produce between 500 and 600 acres of tomatoes under glass.

House pets, such as dogs and cats, need more water during winter months because furnace heat dries body moisture.

A blazing blazer of multi-colored stripes is worn with tapered pants for crisp fall country days. The jacket in cactus, red, desert, Windsor blue or black stripes is lined in acetate taffeta, set off by flap pockets, cuffed three-quarter sleeves and golden buttons. Here it combines with cactus pants, but it would look equally as well in any other related color. Both pieces in flat knit of 100 per cent wool are by Cortina Knits.

Knits Are Color News

The girl who loves knit fashions can fill her wardrobe with them this fall. There are knitted separates, coats, dresses, suits, sweaters and late day dresses.

Knitted fashions have reached the point where it's difficult to tell a knit from a fabric. They never wrinkle, they don't cling and they wear beautifully.

* * *

Colors are rich, deep and glowing this fall rather than sharp and vivid. They run to the grayed vintage reds, slate blues and middle browns. The neutrals include hammered bronze, pewter gray, tempered brass, metallic brown, burnished copper and quarry black.

For leisure wear, loose and bulky tops are shown with slim pants. The designs for the tops differ widely. There are plaid pop-overs, slip-ons with big bertha collars, jackets with a cape collar and shock - patterned pull-overs, all designed to be worn in a spirit of fun.

* * *

The sportswear separates have been designed to coordinate for town and country living. Sweater tops, jackets, pants, skirts, blazers and suits in 100 per cent wool worsted flat knit can be mixed or matched. They can be dressed up or down, and ready to pack and wear anywhere in the world all year 'round.

* * *

* * *

Everything is planned to coordinate with readily interchangeable parts. Tops are adaptable to many skirts and pants in a wardrobe. Jumpers are popular and the indispensable "odd" jacket may fill in as a handy extra with trousers or an alternate skirt.

* * *

Neutral combinations feature the use of camel and gray together with the careful pairing of "near" matches, especially in off-beat colors, muggy greens, heathery browns and subdued brasses.

* * *

Giant plaids appear in brilliant colors. Used in full skirts and pants, they are also featured in ponchos, sometimes hooded and always hip length and often reversible.

Some reversibles are convertible, as in stoles that button to form jumpers, ponchos that slide down into skirts, and sweaters that are pullovers one day and cardigans the next. Scoop - necked, full skirted jumpers change into short dance dresses, especially when they are in velveteen.

* * *

Newest in skirts is the revival of the stitched - to - the - hip skirt. Others, pleated from the waistband, feature pleats worked toward an inverted front panel. Box, twin, flared, and scissor pleats are popular. Full skirts with unpressed pleats are shaped, often domed.

Ancient tartans are the strongest of the plaids. In taupe, black and white, or dim green and blue combinations they appear in every line, sometimes with a coordinating tweed and sweaters and jerseys knit to match so that yarn colors may incorporate as many as three subtle tones of a companion tweed.

Knitted separates combine for a costume that might travel to any city street in the world. Casual accessories extend their wearability even further. The demi-fitted jacket with widened collar, three-quarter sleeves and golden buttons is worn here with a matching Windsor blue skirt. Try it with matching or contrasting tapered pants as well. Both jacket and skirt are lined in acetate taffeta.

It's Too Late to Accuse Baby Sitter

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Last evening a neighbor of mine came over to babysit for me. It wasn't until after she had gone home that I noticed a cigarette burn on my leather top end table which definitely was not there when I left.

"However, she never mentioned a thing about it. Can I properly call it to her attention, or must I just ignore the situation and remain silent. Needless to say I am upset over the matter."

Answer: She should, of course, have told you about it, but I don't think any good can come of your accusing her of burning your table top now.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I seem to have run smack into trouble. I selected materials and models for the dresses of my wedding attendants, ordering them without saying anything to the girls beforehand. Later I merely let them know what they were wearing.

"Several of the girls are upset and said the colors and models would be most unbecoming to them. I thought this was my right. I know I've accepted it as such the several times I was bridesmaid.

Answer. You are right. It is customary for the bride to choose the dresses for her attendants, and their obligation to pay for them. Although it might for this reason seem fair to let them choose their dresses it would be impossible to do this because each would like something different.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is considered in bad taste for a bride (in bridal clothes) to smoke at her wedding reception?"

Answer: A generation ago it would have been in bad taste but times have changed and I doubt if anyone today would even notice that she smoked.

Wool bids for fame any time—any place. And what could be newer for country wear than Haymaker's turf color wool plaid matching tapered slacks and caboodle? The fringed-sleeve caboodle, softly shawl-draped, can also be pulled up and worn over the head.

Hospital Auxiliary Sets Fashion Show at Elks

Lighted candles, silver tea sets and the tune "Tea for Two" will set the stage for the tea and fashion show to be given Sept. 23 by the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Auxiliary. Sixteen models will parade on the one hundred and fifty foot ramp at the Elks Temple beginning at 1:30 p.m. The ramp will be banked with chrysanthemums and colored lights. Red velvet curtains will form a backdrop and a black patent hat box carrying Kerns fashions will dominate the stage.

* * *

There will be one and two-piece cashmeres in multiple colors by Country Tweeds and dark town dresses by Kimberly Knits will be highlighted with reds and whites.

Reversible raincoats by Laurence of London will feature colors like ocelot, electric blue and vivid red; the new black velvet raincoat showered with red roses and the new French greens that anyone can wear.

* * *

There will be cocktail suits by Zelink Matlick and a mannish suit by Rothmoor.

* * *

New metallic dresses and leather trimmed mink by Lazowitz and Blair will be featured, and a draped 5 o'clock dress by Martini.

* * *

Hats by Lily Dache, Howard Hodge and Chanda will be shown. Among them will be the new white satin Coachman's hat, the soft delicate Maline and the new beehive shape. There will be a Podre done in velvet, fur-trimmed velours and a derby a la Auntie Mame.

* * *

All sizes and prices will be featured during the 50-minute show. Narrator will be Irwin Weiss, well-known fashion commentator.

Prizes will include a cherry handmade needlepoint chair, a knit suit, a custom hat and 35 other prizes.

Proceeds will be used for the Free Clinic at the hospital.

* * *

The public is cordially invited to attend. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the St. Joseph Hospital Auxiliary. For further information contact Mrs. F. O. Rorabaugh of Lancaster street.

The Pontiac Duplicate Bridge Club met Monday evening at the Elks Temple for their regular weekly game. There were 14 tables in play.

Winners were Mrs. Beulah Cress and Dr. W. H. Barron; Mr. and Mrs. Ericson Lewis; Mrs. Robert L. Segula and Ernest L. Guy, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Waterman.

Test Fabrics for Drying

Remember, drying times given are approximate, and may vary according to weight and size of load, type of fabric, brand of dryer and homemaker's preference.

When testing articles for dryness, pull a corner of the garment completely out of dryer. Inside the fabrics seem more moist than when tested out in the air.

Frequent shampoos are necessary to keep hair healthy and the scalp clean. However, an eye specialist points out that shampoos also may help ease an eye condition that seems to be related to dandruff. He advises shampooing twice a week for a month. If the condition persists, consult a dermatologist.

Fashions Stress Poise, Not Rebellion

It's a Sophisticate's Fall

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS (NEA) — Now that the fanfare of the Paris collections has died away, it's time to take a look at the fall and winter fashions they launched in terms of the photographs just released.

The single most impressive fact about all the collections, with the sole exception of Dior, is that Paris is stressing sophisticated clothes for the woman over 30.

It's also clear there is no "revolution" this time — no big "trend" but just many sound ideas.

The 1959-60 silhouette is long and slim, poised and elegant. It has widened shoulders (without padding) which tend to make hips look slender.

To wear it, a woman must stand tall and carry her head high. This broad look at the top is most often achieved by the introduction of wide sleeves with armholes extending down to the waistline.

There is no controversy, really, over the waistline. It moves about from high to low with no very extreme examples of either.

★ ★ ★

Coats get a big play this year. They are either roomy and bulky or fitted along easy lines in redingote fashion.

The short evening dress is with us, of course, but very formal gowns are longer. The newest length stops just at the ankle. Both sheaths and wide skirts are shown but the latter are not the billowing affairs of yesterday. This year's wide skirt is built over a stiffened lining.

Necklines for evening are often cut high at front with a deep plunge at back. These new decolletes make necklaces important; the newest is a modern version of the dog collar. It creeps up toward the ears in three, five or even more strands of rhinestones or jet beads.

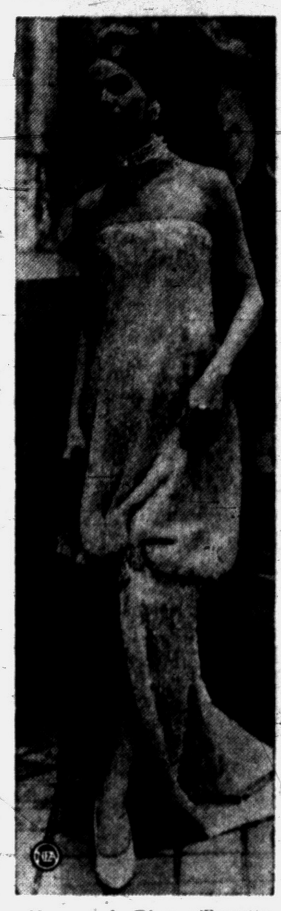

Paris fabrics range from woolens that look thick and are feather-light to knobby tweeds, giant plaids and duvetynes.

For formal wear, there are new chenille-surface weaves, velvet and satin, metallic brocades and filmy chiffons. The new soft styles have brought about the return of satin-back crepes.

★ ★ ★

Colors are sophisticated, of course. They run from the browns (chocolate, beige and sand) to the greens (fern, moss, olive and light bronze) to the yellows (mustard, saffron, and sunflower). There are Burgundy and Bordeau reds, purple, violet, parma and pale lilac.

House of Dior silhouette, which others ignored, is combination of sack, hobble skirt and train, as shown in this strapless nylon tulle evening gown.

Nina Ricci's Jules Crahay uses crinkled gray nylon organza for afternoon dress, which has cowl back and deep sleeves cut in one piece. Wide cummerbund wraps bodice.

Guy Laroche's wide coat is collarless, dramatizes big sleeves, arched shoulders. It's gray and black tweed of wool, nylon, orlon blend, has wide and flat back.

Kitchen Shower Given Future Pontiac Bride

Foil Hides Blemish

Strictly in the emergency repair department: if silvering on back of a mirror is chipping off, cover exposed area with aluminum foil and tape in place. It won't fool anyone, but it will make the blemish less noticeable.

ISABELLE G. EVANS

Some a Pain in Neck

Headaches Vary in Origin

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When you have a headache you probably have a swelled head, although not in the sense in which that term is generally employed.

There are all sorts of headaches and sometimes it is even difficult for the physician to diagnose them. The occasional mild headache usually disappears when one of the everyday painkillers is used. However many people suffer with a much more severe and more frequently occurring head pain without getting the relief which their doctor could give them. Remember that a headache is not a disease but a symptom.

The sinus-ocular-toxic headache is one classification. In this type congestion, infection, allergies or eye muscle fatigue may play a part. Sinus and ocular headaches usually affect the front parts of the head. Most of the "eye headaches" come simply from fatigue of the eye muscles. However some diseases such as glaucoma can cause great pain.

Then there are "Pain-in-the-Neck" headaches. These come from tension or sustained contraction in the muscles of the neck and shoulders and head. Relaxation of these muscles is essential to relief. Heat applied to the neck and shoulders is often quite effective.

Doctors Harold G. Wolff and M. Martin Tunis point out that "most headaches result from an altered state of certain vascular and muscular tissue within and about the cranium as part of the reaction of some individuals to their life experience." They feel that these changes in the tissues about the head, face and neck and the mucosa of the upper nasal passages account for more than 90 per cent of headache problems.

What makes your headache? Dilated blood vessels in the head pressing membranes which cover the brain and line the skull and distort nerve endings. Part of the pain may also come from dilation of the blood vessels outside the skull, in the temples, scalp and head.

There are drugs which can be used most effectively by a well-qualified physician. No matter what type headache you are enduring, today practically all headaches can be banished or controlled if the individual will consult a doctor.

Apple Slices Delicious for Sunday Night Supper

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Since we have had controlled atmosphere storage of apples, they are on your grocer's shelves all during the year. But the first apples in the fall always taste better than any others.

Mrs. Leo Atwell of Lake Orion shares with us her recipe for an apple dessert. We're naming it Apple Roll.

An active mother of two youngsters, Mrs. Atwell loves to swim and golf in the summer. She enjoys sewing and knitting and being with people.

APPLE ROLL
By Mrs. Leo Atwell

1 cup sifted flour
1 tablespoon sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons shortening
½ cup milk
4 apples, peeled and chopped

Sift first four ingredients. Rub in shortening. Add milk to make a soft dough. Roll into a rectangle on a floured board. Cover with chopped apples. Sprinkle with 4 tablespoons sugar and one teaspoon cinnamon. Dot with 2 teaspoons butter or margarine.

Roll up as for jelly roll. Slice into 4 or 5 pieces. Put cutside down, in a well buttered pan. Cover with sauce.

Bake 35 minutes in a 375-degree oven. If desired, increase heat to 400 at the last to brown rolls. Serve hot with 1 quart of very cold milk, 2 tablespoons sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla mixed together.

Sauce

1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 cup hot water
Dash of salt

Journalism Opportunity for Women

NEW YORK (UPI)—Journalism, once a male stronghold, rapidly is becoming a wide-open field for women, says Jacob H. Jaffe, professor of journalism at Long Island University.

He cited an estimated 15 per cent rise in recent years of the number of women in editorial positions on newspapers.

He estimated that there are 30,000 female editors, reporters and copy-readers on newspapers and magazines.

"There are serious misconceptions about the opportunities for women," he said. "Magazines, from technical journals to consumer publications, offer excellent opportunities right up to the top, where many women serve as editors in chief."

Jaffe listed these facts to show the growing role of women in journalism: about 50 per cent of the staffs of professional and trade magazines are composed of women; about 20 per cent of technical writers are women; about 30 per cent of public relations personnel are women; women lead the field in editorial research.

Jaffe suggested that high school students pre-test their skill by working on school papers. In college, he said, it is necessary to get a good background in literature, the arts, history, and science.

It is imperative, he explained to combine formal education with writing experience, doing any kind of writing regardless of how modest or unrecognized it may be — while you are going through college.

A journalist never stops learning. Her classroom after formal education, is the whole world and all the people and problems in it, he said.

Some professions, he said, may pay better than journalism, but few offer the creative satisfactions.

Korean Woman Pilot Alone in Field

By MARY PRIME

NEW YORK (UPI) — A pretty Korean miss makes it a habit to break tradition.

Captain Kyung O Kim is the only woman pilot in her country and the only female member of the Korean Air Force Reserve. She soon will be the first Oriental woman to receive an American pilot's license.

And she will be the first to set up a flying school for her countrywomen.

Although she is one of three woman pilots in Korean history, Miss Kim is the only one surviving. One woman was killed, and the other was captured by the Communists and has not been heard from since.

LIVES IN NEW YORK

The dimpled, 28-year-old flier has been in the United States for nearly a year, studying English at Guilford College, Greensboro, N.C., and preparing for her American license test next December.

Miss Kim had wanted to fly since childhood—a desire inherited from her mother who never has flown, the pilot said in an interview.

She volunteered for flight training in the Air Force, shortly before the Communist invasion of South Korea. Because qualified pilots were scarce, she was accepted.

"Everyone thought a woman can't fly. They were very worried and surprised when I succeeded. I was surprised, too," she laughed.

Whenever she landed at an airfield, men were shocked to see a woman jump out of the plane. She was teased by her friends, family and fellow air force officers.

AWARDED 6 DECORATIONS

She never had an accident, and received six decorations for her service from both the air force and the government.

After her discharge two and a half years ago, Miss Kim taught flying theory at an institute in Seoul.

A member of the International 99s, a club for women pilots, she plans after her return home to set up a Korean women's civil aviation club to teach women to fly.

Although Miss Kim has been flying seven years, she has been nervous in the air only three times—once when she first soloed and again during the war when she got lost.

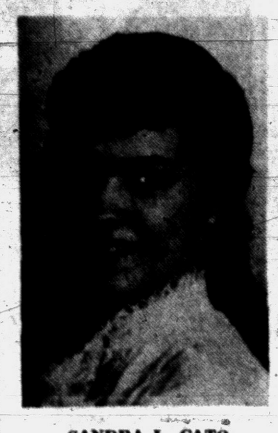

The plane was running out of gas, and she thought she would have to crash land until she found a break in the clouds and got her bearings.

LANDING FRIGHTENING

The third time was when she flew into Greensboro for the first time. Because of her faulty English and static on the radio set, Miss Kim could not understand instruction from the control tower.

What happened?

"I knew the direction of the wind and what to do, so I just went ahead and landed," she said.

SANDRA L. CATO

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Cato of Waterford Township announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Lee, to Frederick Eugene Boyce. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Boyce of Waterford Township. An Oct. 10 wedding is planned.

Baby Bedding Needs Sudsing

A new infant in the house calls for a small basket crib on wheels. Keeping the quilted plastic lining and mattress clean and fresh is no problem.

A sudsy cloth will clean both the lining and mattress. Rinse and wipe dry, and put baby back in the basket after a few moments.

Dear Abby Listens:

Her Husband Becomes Angry Over Those Yearly Operations

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Last year I had a serious operation. Last week my doctor told me I needed another operation. When I told my husband, he hit the ceiling. He's been mad ever since.

ABBY

He says there is always something wrong with me. Lord knows I don't like the idea of getting cut up every year. But what can I do? My husband says it is a lot of expense for nothing.

Should I just forget the operation? My husband keeps telling me I should have married a doctor.

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: Does your husband think that if you married a doctor you could be SICK for nothing? (And if you married a minister, could you be GOOD for nothing?)

If your husband doubts the doctor's diagnosis, he should get the opinion of another doctor. Leave the medical decisions to the qualified medical experts.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 52-year-old man who carries a picture of his dancing teacher around in his wallet? He never carries mine. I had some made especially for this purpose and he printed a number underneath it and that's the last I saw of it. He makes a big joke out of everything.

Don't you think he is making a fool out of me? Should I take the picture out of his wallet and tear it up? Or should I pretend I don't care?

HURT WIFE

DEAR HURT: He is making a fool out of himself, not you. Don't tear up the picture (he can get more) and don't pretend you "don't care." Get him in a good mood and then call a spade a spade. (Dig me?) You can catch more flies with sugar than you can with vinegar.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Certain friends come to visit and bring their children who are the ages of my own. I feel it is not my place to correct somebody else's children, but listen to this: They pulled all my drawers out (my children never do this) and helped themselves to anything within reach in my cupboards and refrigerator.

They wrote on my walls and wiped their hands on my curtains. They tore up my new magazines and lost my silverware outside. Should they have been corrected, and who should have done it?

WEARY

DEAR WEARY: Their parents should have corrected them. But in the absence of "correction" from the parents, the hostess should have stepped in, and asked the children to step out. Then she should have stepped ON the parents of the ill-behaved children. Youngsters cannot be blamed for not knowing what they haven't been taught.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO PONY-TAIL: If you are wise you will not try to "make him jealous." That technique went out with the horse and buggy.

★ ★ ★

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

New Headbands to Match Saris

A perfect mate for the new sari evening gowns is the "Bijoux-Band." Designed by Lynn Carol, it is a black velvet band worn at the hair line. A pearl or 14-karat gold heart dangles from a gold chain on the forehead.

Miss Carol, a former fashion model, also shows fancy tiaras for fall. The tiaras have black velvet bands anchored by grip-tooth combs, and are trimmed with bows, feathers, brocade, velvet flowers, or cultured pearls.

State College Teams Get Football Drills Started

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Lights are going on rapidly for college football teams across the country.

More and more, major colleges are turning to night football to get out of the reach of Saturday afternoon telecasts.

On Friday night September 25th, there are 11 night games and the following evening, on Saturday, there are 74 scheduled under the arcs.

Many are small college games, but there are more major schools than ever before scheduling night affairs.

Tulane and Miami have entire night home schedules, while such schools as UCLA, Southern Cal, Kentucky, Baylor, South Carolina, Texas, Texas A&M, Oregon State, LSU, Washington, TCU and many others have several Saturday night dates this year.

If this trend continues your television sets may be stuffed with college and pro football from Friday night through Sunday.

The new American pro football league has openly made it known it will wage its war for television attention against the colleges rather than the Sunday sanctuary of the NFL.

Knowing this, and also realizing that the new pro circuit has plenty of oil money to back its threat, the colleges would have to counter with day and night telecasts.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

In regard to night football, many high schools are now sprinkling their schedules with Saturday night contests.

Friday nights have long been conceded to the high schools, but many prep athletic offices, hoping to help their programs financially, are mixing a few Saturday evening games on the schedule.

Friday nights have been taken over by shoppers who than look for an excuse to go out Saturday nights.

Pontiac Central will try Saturday night for one of its games this season, meeting River Rouge, October 3rd, at Wisner Stadium.

With classroom space problems evidenced in the city's parochial schools, the drums again have started beating for a Catholic Central.

An October meeting has been set to bring the matter to a head and St. Mike, long opposed to the merger idea, is now reported showing interest in the plans.

SPORTS

Former County Prep Stars on Grid Rosters

Bump Elliott Welcomes 77 Candidates; Duffy Greets 71

Football moved into the college scene around the state of Michigan yesterday with many Oakland County area boys expected to gain positions on the varsity rosters when the gridiron wars begin in a few short weeks.

Yesterday's activities were devoted mainly to interviews and picture sessions. In most instances twice-daily workouts started this morning.

At Ann Arbor, new head coach Chalmers "Bump" Elliott greeted 77 candidates with the word they had a lot of work ahead before the Sept. 26 opener against Missouri.

Oakland County boys John Walker of Walled Lake and Darrell Harper of Royal Oak could wind up in the starting backfield at fullback and halfback, respectively. Both saw considerable action last fall.

Another Oakland area boy who could move into the picture is 210-pound Bill Tunnicliff. The ex-Ferndale St. James ace is only a sophomore but he may give Walker and Rio plenty of opposition at that fullback slot.

Elliott is high on his sophomore crop and he expects several of them to come along fast. The group includes Southfield center Todd Grant, Lou Pavloff, end or tackle from Hazel Park, and end Hewitt Hornbeck of Royal Oak.

Coach Duffy Daugherty greeted 71 green-shirted Spartan warriors yesterday at Spartan Stadium and newsmen and photographers kept the coaches and players busy for more than three hours.

Four gridders from Oakland County and the surrounding area dot the MSU roster this season and three of them are sure to make their presence felt before the 1959 campaign is over.

Quarterback Tommy Wilson of Lapeer is certain to give Dean Look a battle for the signal-calling job, State's chief weakness last year, and guard Mickey Walker of East Detroit has a starting guard position practically in the bag.

While Wilson and Walker are juniors, halfback Gary Ballman of East Detroit is only a sophomore and the fleet-footed ball carrier is already highly regarded by the MSU coaching staff, both offensively and defensively.

The most local product at MSU, Pontiac's Jerry Ohngren, has a tougher path to a regular spot in the lineup than the others. Only a sophomore, the former St. Mike star has more experienced performers to fight for a tackle berth.

But he is definitely not being overlooked by the coaches. Freshman coach Gordon Serr, who worked with Ohngren last fall and spring, says, "Jerry has tremendous potential and he really likes to mix it up out there."

Jim Miller, University of Detroit's new head coach from Purdue, would like to improve on last year's disappointing 4-4-1 record under Wally Fromhart.

The Titans had 58 players dressed in their colorful Red and White uniforms, including six gridders familiar to area prep fans.

Jerry Leszczynski, former Orchard Lake St. Mary ace, and Grady Alderman of Madison High appear to have first team jobs sewed up.

College Football

by "RED" BLAIK

(This is the first of a series of twice-weekly articles by Col. Earl H. "Red" Blaik dealing with college football. The former Army head coach will survey and discuss all phases of college football and when the season gets underway he will list his choices for the top games in the country.)

When I retired from coaching last January 13, after 25 years — 18 at West Point and seven at Dartmouth — I said it was unthinkable to overstay a career. But it would be just as inconceivable for me to sever completely my connections with the greatest of American games, which has been inseparable from most of my 61 years. That is why I was pleased and challenged when The Associated Press invited me to write two articles a week for the newspapers of the country.

While one is coaching, he is necessarily preoccupied with the football problems of one school. Although he is aware that the college game, like any human operation of which the dollar sign is part, is not without its weaknesses and requires continuing revaluation and modification, the individual coach is in a position to contribute relatively little, much as he would like to do more.

In this invitation, I see an opportunity to try to help college football, not in any one school or area or within one peripherized philosophy, but in a broad, objective manner to help all colleges everywhere.

College football today, while not without some abuses, has reached a plateau of excellence in its general conduct, unmatched in any era of the past. This emphatically bespeaks the love of and concern for the game by all its levels of administrators everywhere, and they deserve, therefore, every measure of encouragement and help. I hope to contribute in this way.

WON'T DUCK CONTROVERSY

My article will very frequently be of a controversial and critical nature. But I assure you the controversy will be real, not fabricated, and that the criticism will always be constructive.

It will be directed never at an individual but at something I feel stands correction and improvement. I repeat I am concerned with what is good for all the colleges, remembering that what is good and practical in one area is not always so in another.

The articles I am preparing to appear between now and Friday, September 18, the eve of the first major Saturday of play, will appraise the strength of teams and players in various sections, but they will also treat of changes and trends, good and bad, affecting the game both on and off the field.

Each Friday, beginning September 18, I will analyze where I believe the strength lies in the big game of the next day, yet more often than not I plan to include in the analysis a controversial or behind-the-scenes factor that has a relation to it.

ESTABLISHING FELLOWSHIPS

Whatever financial remuneration I receive for these articles will be used to help college football. I am establishing eight fellowships for post-graduate work. They will be awarded to those eight boys, one from each of the National Collegiate Athletic Association districts, who have been adjudged as best meeting the following four qualifications:

They must be seniors. They must be leaders in academics as well as football. They must exert a fine influence on their campuses. They must be staunch in their devotion to the welfare of amateur sports.

The fellowships will be administered by the National Football Foundations Awards committee, headed by Vincent Draddy. The Foundation Committee will be assisted by an awards committee from each of the eight NCAA districts, each nominating a candidate from its district.

These fellowships should help project what I believe to be a fact about college football, yet one seldom emphasized: that championship performance and superior scholarships are entirely compatible.

Former Hoop Coach Leaps to His Death

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (UP) — Lon Walter Jourdet, 70, former head basketball coach at the University of Pennsylvania, Monday leaped to his death from a third story window of a tuberculosis hospital at South Mountain.

Jourdet, who had been admitted only 16 days ago, died of a broken neck. Franklin County Coroner J. D. Goshen issued a certificate of death of suicide.

Jourdet was associated with Penn for 25 years as a player and coach and in 1949 was one of a group of 32 selected by the Helms Foundation to a college basketball hall of fame.

Tigers Have Chicago Fretting

Detroit Opens 3-Game Series in Windy City

Dykes Names Bunning to Meet Flag-Minded White Sox

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago White Sox, who appear to have the American League pennant sewed up, are afraid of the Detroit Tigers.

After their weekend sweep at Cleveland, it would seem the White Sox would have nothing to fear from any team. Especially the Tigers, who are far back in third place, a long 15½ games out of first.

But the men of Comiskey Park are edgy nonetheless.

The Tigers are the only team in the league with a winning record (3-2) over the Chisox in their own park, and Detroit finished last year's season series here with a 6-5 record.

When the two teams clash tonight in the opening encounter of a three-game series, both will be riding high on a glittering wave of victories.

The Tigers wound up a three-game stand in Kansas City Sunday with a 4-0 victory over the Athletics which gave them a clean sweep of the series and vaulted Detroit from fifth to third place in the standings.

Chicago is also flushed from a highly successful weekend. The Sox left the second-place Cleveland Indians without a win in the series, stretching their lead to 5½ games. The Sox are now 31 games over the .500 mark and have beaten the Tribe 13 times in 18 meetings.

Anything can happen tonight when Tiger manager Jimmie Dykes sends Jim Bunning to the mound. Bunning has marked up 13 wins against 10 losses this year and has won four straight. He has fanned 156 batters and has given up only one home run in his last 47 innings.

Opposing him will be Bob Shaw, who is admittedly one of Detroit's major mistakes of the season. Shaw, who the Tigers traded to the White Sox in June, has posted a 14-4 record for the Chicago team.

AP Wirephoto

BRAVO! — A tired but pleased Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers acknowledged the wild cheers of 82,794 fans last night at Los Angeles as he walked to the dressing room after striking out 18 San Francisco Giants for a new National League record. The Dodgers won the game, 5-2.

Exhibition Losses Are No Laughing Matter to Wilson

George Wilson can't sluff off the Detroit Lions' defeats by saying "it's a good thing they don't count," as Stanley (Bucky) Harris used to say about the Detroit Tigers' Grapefruit League losses.

"We're just lucky they don't count," Wilson muttered. "If we played this way in the regular season, we'd be in bad shape. We have to perk up, and in a hurry."

There was little respite for the Lions this week. The coaches looked at movies of Saturday night's 38-0 loss to the New York Giants, ran the club through routine drills and buckled down to work for Thursday night's contest in Toledo against the Washington Redskins.

Two other decisions were made — to switch Charlie Ane back to offensive center and to move Jerry Reichow back to end.

Ane would have remained at tackle had Allen, or one of the rookies, come through at center. With Tobin Rote and Earl Morrall to fight for the signal-calling job, it was almost a foregone conclusion that Reichow would wind up back at end.

More and more it appears that the Lions will have to be satisfied if three rookies come through. Currently topping the rookie list are fullback Nick Pietrosante, guard Mike Rabold and defensive back Jim Steffen.

Wilson and his aides are battling the same problem they battled all of last season with little success — that of getting blocking and providing protection for the passers.

True, the Giants' line is regarded as the strongest defensive unit in the Eastern Division, but it poured through the Lions' forward wall with ridiculous ease Saturday night. Time after time, the Detroit quarterback had little or no time to spot a potential receiver.

Betsy Rawls Tourney Victor

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP) — Betsy Rawls of Spartansburg, S. C., became the biggest single year winner on the Ladies Professional Assn. golf tour Monday when she won the Waterloo women's open with a 282, two strokes ahead of Fay Crocker of Uruguay. It was her ninth LPA victory.

Miss Crocker's 71 was a stroke better than Miss Rawls' final round but could not overcome a three stroke advantage the slender South Carolina golfer carded after Sunday's round.

Miss Rawls' winnings for the year went up to $22,477.69 when she added a purse of $1,247.

Detroit Legion Team in Sectional Finals

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP) — Detroit crushed West Allis, Wis., 20-8, yesterday and drew even with the Wisconsin team in the Sectional C Junior American Legion baseball tournament.

The two teams will play tonight for the championship of the double elimination tournament and the right to advance to the Little World Series at Hastings, Neb., this weekend.

Koufax Ties Strikeout Mark, Beats Giants

United Press International

It took Sandy Koufax a long time to develop but now that he has it may be just in time to put the Los Angeles Dodgers in the World Series.

A 23-year-old left-hander from Brooklyn who got a $25,000 bonus in 1955 and once sprained an ankle when he "tripped over a foul line," Koufax Monday night pitched his way into the record book and the Dodgers to within one game of first place in the National League with a spectacular 5-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

A crowd of 82,794 at Los Angeles, including 60,194 paid, saw the 210-pound southpaw strike out 18 batters to equal the Major League mark set by Bob Feller Oct. 2, 1938, and break the National League record of 17 held by Dizzy Dean since 1933. Since he struck out 13 batters in his previous start a week ago, Koufax also set a Major League record of 31 strikeouts in two consecutive games.

Koufax' great effort appeared doomed to end in defeat — even as Feller's 18-strikeout effort did in 1938 — until the last of the ninth when Wally Moon's three-run homer off Al Worthington gave the Dodgers their 11th win in 18 meetings with the Giants this season. The Dodgers had tied the score in the eighth with the help of two wild pitches by Jack Sanford.

Koufax, who has struck out 150 batters in 127 innings while fashioning an 8-4 record, struck out the side in order in the sixth and ninth innings and also sandwiched three strikeouts around McCovey's homer in the fifth. He yielded seven hits and walked two batters.

"I had two good pitches working for me tonight," Koufax said. "A fast ball and a curve. It was my best game and my luckiest."

Pete Runnels' 10th-inning homer gave the Boston Red Sox a 4-3 victory over the Washington Senators in the only other Major League game played Monday. Mike Fornieles picked up his fourth win for Boston in relief of Bill Monbouquette. Jackie Jensen homered for the Red Sox in the fourth inning to lift his runs batted in total for the year to 95.

OCSC 'Lights Up' for Night Shoots

Installation of lights at Oakland County Sportsmen's Club skeet and trap fields, at Waterford, has been completed. Night shooting on a regular basis will get under way tomorrow (Wednesday) night.

Schedule for the fields includes fields open at 4:30 p.m. Wednesdays and on Saturdays from noon until 10:30 p.m. These times are in addition to the regular Sunday firing, starting at 10 a.m., continuing until 5 p.m.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: "I've lost my putting touch!

DIAGNOSIS: Specialized practice needed!

TREATMENT: I think of "putting touch" as meaning the unconscious ability to hit the ball at the right speed, neither leaving the ball short of the cup nor hitting it so hard that it has small chance of staying in, even if it hits the hole.

If your touch has deserted you, go to the practice putting green and practice hitting the ball SOLID. Forget about direction for a while and concentrate on speed and roll. Try to make the ball just reach the cup, or to get even with it, on the last turn of the ball.

New Montcalm Classic Meeting Wednesday

The new Montcalm "900" Classic will hold an organizational meeting Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at Montcalm Centre. A few franchises are still available for the league which will bowl on Wednesdays at 9 p.m. All bowlers or captains interested in taking part are invited to attend the meeting. An election of officers is planned.

Johansson Will Play in Movie With Alan Ladd

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — World heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson makes his screen debut in a Korean War drama that stars Alan Ladd, Sidney Poitier, Mort Sahl and James Darren.

"The pay appealed to me," the ruggedly-handsome Swede said at his home in Goteborg. "The contract will be signed one of these days but it is already clear that I will go to Hollywood."

Columbia Pictures confirmed that it asked Johansson to appear in "All the Young Men" but said no contracts have been signed yet. Just how much pay Ingemar will get is not known now.

Miami Seeks Place in New Loop Today

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Miami interests will push their bid for a place in the American Football League today.

Lamar Hunt, young Dallas oilman who is organizing the league and already has six members, meets with a Miami representative. There are three groups seeking an AFL franchise in the Florida city and Hunt will talk with a representative of the second group at Houston tomorrow.

The Orange Bowl already has been committed to the use of the Miami group that gets an AFL franchise.

NBA Will Hear Retirement Plan

Garden Prexy Proposes Fund for Boxers Who Close Ring Careers

NEW YORK (AP)—Plans for a retirement fund for boxers will be outlined to delegates attending the National Boxing Assn., convention in Toronto Tuesday by Harry Markson, general manager of boxing at Madison Square Garden.

The plan was developed by Adm. John J. Bergen, president of the Garden, and calls for contributions from the Garden, the sponsors of the Friday TV fights and the participants of all televised bouts. The money would be held in trust until the boxer retired.

Bergen said he got his idea from a suggestion made by Abe J. Greene of Paterson, N.J., NBA commissioner, and that they had been turned over to an insurance company for further development.

"We hope to have this retirement fund in operation within several months," said Admiral Bergen Monday. "such things as taxes and repayment, however, will take a lot of study. But it is something that should have been done long ago and I am proud that the Garden will have a part in this new venture."

'Red' Beats TB, Gets Back Into Uniform Today

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Veteran infielder Red Schoendienst puts on a Milwaukee Braves uniform today and returns to the active player list for the first time since the World Series.

"Red will be out there tonight," General Manager John McHale said, "and he'll be available for the game with the Philadelphia Phillies. It's good to have him back."

Schoendienst, regarded by many as the top second baseman in the major leagues, has recovered from his bout with tuberculosis. His recovery was speeded by surgery coupled with heavy doses of antibiotics at a St. Louis hospital.

1st Ace at Springdale

Ted McFarlane of Birmingham scored a hole-in-one yesterday at Springdale Park, the first of the year at the Birmingham municipal golf course. McFarlane made his ace on the 6th hole with a 6-iron and he carded 52 for nine holes.

Jones Wins Hurdles in 'Record' Time

U.S. Dominating Pan-Am Medals

CHICAGO (UPI) — The United States was piling up gold medals at a record pace in the Pan American games today.

With 30 championships decided, U. S. athletes had won 26 of them and were favored to win most of the nine on the program for the fifth day of competition in this athletic carnival among the nations of the Western Hemisphere.

Yesterday, led by two Californians, Ray Norton of Oakland and Mrs. Earlene Brown of Los Angeles, each with a second triumph, the U.S. won eight of nine titles decided.

Norton, in world record tying time for the run around a turn, won the 200 meter dash to add to the 100 meter crown he had taken the previous day. The husky Mrs. Brown added the shot put championship to the discus title she had won previously.

They brought the total U. S. victories to 16 in the 18 track and field events which have been decided, and in 12 of them, the U. S. set new records for the Pan American games.

They have scored six sweeps in track — first, second and third places — with every nation limited to three entries in the events. Three of them came yesterday.

It won two more weightlifting titles — Tommy Kono of Honolulu in the middleweight class and James George of Akron, Ohio, in the heavy-middleweight class—and two in the English rifle shooting competition. Arthur Cook of Adelphi, Mo., won the individual title in that event and the U. S. took the team championship.

In track and field, the U. S. had two winners in addition to Norton and Mrs. Brown, Al Oerter of West Babylon, N. Y., won the men's discus, and Hayes Jones of Pontiac, Mich., took the 110 meter hurdles.

Jones' time of 13.6 actually bettered the Pan-American record but was disallowed because of a 5.7 mile an hour backing wind. Hayes defeated arch-rival Lee Calhoun, the former Olympic champion, for the 7th time in 12 meetings.

A desperate lunge at the tape by Jones decided the tight duel. Hayes had edged ahead at the 9th hurdle but was matched stride-for-stride the rest of the way. He went sprawling on the track after his lunge. Elias Gilbert ranked 3rd.

In team competition the U. S. was doing okay, too. Its basketball teams won their third consecutive games, the men beating Cuba 114-46 and the women defeating Brazil 55-38.

In soccer the U. S. upset Brazil 5-3; in water polo it was the U. S. 8, Brazil 2; in women's volleyball Puerto Rico was the victim 3-0; the same score by which the men beat Puerto Rico.

The only gold medal the U. S. failed to win yesterday was in women's foil fencing, where 19-year-old Pilar Roldan of Mexico defeated 42-year-old Maxine Mitchell of Los Angeles.

MAN OF THE HOUR — Australia's Neale Fraser holds the Davis Cup high after he defeated Barry MacKay of the United States yesterday at Forest Hills, N. Y., in the singles match that decided possession of the trophy. Scores were 8-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Aussies Regain Davis Cup as Fraser Defeats MacKay

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Neal Fraser, well-to-do son of a prominent Melbourne judge, waited patiently six years for his chance to play in a Davis Cup challenge round.

The handsome left-hander completed a 3-2 Australian triumph yesterday when he whipped Barry MacKay, former University of Michigan star, 8-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4. The first two sets were played Sunday but darkness intervened and the rest of the match had to be put off until yesterday.

Fraser thus won both his singles matches — against Olmedo and MacKay — and teamed with Roy Emerson to capture the doubles from Olmedo and Earl Buccholz of St. Louis. Olmedo and MacKay both beat Rod Laver for the two U.S. points.

It was a solid Australian victory and Harry Hopman's lads deserved to win. They whipped America's ace-in-the-hole, Olmedo. Even Hopman was inclined to concede two singles to Olmedo and place his hopes on the doubles and beating MacKay twice.

MacKay tried to bowl over Fraser with his cannonball delivery, but he couln't get it in. He double faulted 10 times in the last two sets and that spelled his undoing.

Fraser, on the other hand, double faulted nine times in the first two sets, but only once in the last two. That was the difference between the two players.

"Barry was very tense," said Perry Jones, 71-year-old U.S. captain. "He had time to think it over when the match was called because of darkness. The tension got him."

MacKay had only two chances to get in the match against Fraser. In the third game of the third set, he had Neale down 15-40 on the Aussie's service. But Fraser pulled it out.

In the fifth game of the fourth set, Fraser was down 30-40 on his service, but again he pulled it out after it went to deuce twice.

PYC Juniors Sail to 4th, 7th in Sears Races

Three junior saailors from Pontiac Yacht Club yesterday finished fourth and seventh in the first two races for the Sears Cup on Long Island Sound off Noroton, Conn. These races determine the North American junior sailing championships.

Getting two seconds in the opening races, Cottage Park Club crew of Winthrop, Mass., is leading with 14 points. The 8-race event is sailed in lightnings.

Members of the PYC crew are Don and Tom Van Doren, Birmingham brothers, and Joan Gray of Bloomfield Hills. This trio won the Interlakes Assn. junior championship at Put-in-Bay, Ohio, several weeks ago to qualify for the Sears Cup test.

October Looms Closer

Industry Getting Steel Strike Jitters

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel strike drags into another month and today even those with big stockpiles are getting nervous.

About three-fourths of the users say they can keep going until mid-October. But they also know they must stretch their stocks not only over the length of the strike but also for several weeks more before the steel mills can promise normal deliveries.

In industries tied closely to steel production, strike effects are still spreading. First came layoffs in the mines and on the railroads serving steel mills. Now salary cuts for executive personnel are being announced by such railroads as the Pennsylvania and Boston & Maine.

In a tally by the financial staff of the Research Institute of America only 30 out of 300 steel users report they've already been hit by shortages. But by the middle of this month 100 expect to be. And by the middle of next month 225 say they'll be hurting.

★ ★ ★

Some metalworking companies also are facing up to labor troubles of their own which could close them even if steel stocks hold out.

Only about half of the companies are able to say when they expect normal shipments after the strike. Many of the others say they have tried to find out and can't.

Half of those thinking they know say they expect to be getting regular supplies in about a month after the mills start up. The others are more pessimistic.

And the institute says: "Some firms tell us they've been notified they won't be on the mills' fourth quarter books at all, no matter what happens."

The institute is a business advisory organization supported by private industry. Member firms polled are assured of anonymity — a practice regarded as making for more frankness.

For the long term, the picture is much brighter. Three months after the strike ends the steel industry and steel-using industries will be making up for lost production and rebuilding depleted stocks. This is expected to push the economy as a whole into new high ground well into 1960.

But the institute takes a dimmer view of the immediate outlook. Its financial staff says: "We've already passed the point where trouble can be avoided, even if the strike ended right away. Metalworking companies have passed the point of no return because it will be three to six weeks after the furnaces start again before the average customer can get normal deliveries, let alone rebuild inventory."

Those other than metalworkers already hurt include, beside the obvious ones of coal mines and railroads serving steel mills:

Chemical producers who may be running low of steel containers and must cut back on production of some items.

Truckers who, like the railroads, have business in moving steel from mills to customers.

Writers Break in TV Easier Than Movies

By PATRICK McNULTY

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Next time you tune in "Gunsmoke," "Rifleman" or the other TV shoot-'em-ups, think of Sam Pecinpah. He's the fellow who puts the brave words in the hero's mouth.

★ ★ ★

Writers for movies and Broadway usually are established professionals. And it's difficult for a barefoot boy with typewriter to break in.

Not so in television. Many of TV's brighest writing names, Paddy Chayefsky and Rod Serling among them, began just where Sam did four years ago — broke and hungry.

And many, Chayefsky, Serling and Arron Spelling to name three, have graduated into the production end of the business. They are busy writing, directing and producing their own brainchilds.

Sam got the message after an agency hired him to write a movie scenario from the novel, "The Authentic Death of Hendry Jones." Sam's script was sold as "One-Eyed Jacks," a Western in which Marlon Brando directed and starred in.

Sam got $4,000 for his trouble. The agency got $150,000.

Sam writes only Westerns. And he comes by his cowboy lore naturally. He was reared on a cattle ranch near North Fork, in California's rugged Madera County.

After four years in the Marine Corps, Sam had a brief fling as a drama student at the University of Southern California. He was working as a stagehand at a local TV station when a friend suggested he try to adapt an old "Gunsmoke" radio script for TV.

Sam did and the producers liked it. He wrote 12 more "Gun smokes" and a score of half hour Westerns.

★ ★ ★

The lean and hungry years when Sam worked into the wee hours to finish a script for early morning shooting are over. Sam has pretty well arrived.

He is one of the creators of the "Rifleman" series and twice has been nominated for the Writers Guild of America's best Western award.

Harry Karl Will Marry Harry Cohn's Widow

CHICAGO (AP) — Joan Perry Cohn, widow of Harry Cohn, former president of Columbia Pictures, will be married hede tonight to Harry Karl, wealthy California shoe manufacturer, local newspapers reported.

Karl was divorced a year ago from actress Marie McDonald, now appearing at a Chicago summer theater. The papers said she had not been invited to the wedding.

Oil Well Peters Out in Houston Prison Farm

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Houston is out of the oil business—its well ran dry.

The well, dug on the city prison farm in 1957, produced some 30,000 barrels of oil. The city collected $25,000 in the venture.

Interest Hike Socks Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market backed down early today as stiffer interest rates went into effect. Trading was quiet.

The First National City Bank of New York took the lead in boosting the prime lending rate to 5 per cent from 4½ per cent.

A boost in this rate, which is what the rate leading banks charge to their major borrowers, has been anticipated in view of the growing trend to higher interest rates.

Fractional losses were taken by General Motors, Ford and American Motors.

The list as a whole was irregularly lower. Small gains were held California Edison and International Telephone. Kennecott and Allied Chemical were ahead about a point each.

Chrysler dropped about a point. Du Pont lost more than that.

Sells More Trucks Than Expected

SAINT CLAIR (AP)—The truck industry has sold more trucks than it expected to in 1959 and will sell even more next year.

Herman P. Sattler, head of Chevy's truck sales, estimated the 1960 market at 1,075,000 including some 50,000 imports. For 1959, he said, the total should run around 970,000, including 35,000 imports.

Although Sattler made no particular point of it, the import figure, mainly Volkswagen, has been growing steadily. Still not as spectacular as the increase in foreign passenger cars, the continued growth of the import truck population could become a significant factor in the industry.

Grain Prices Take Turn Up

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market shook off its general bearish trend today and all contracts started off on the plus side with September contracts the best gainers on the Board of Trade.

Soybeans led the advances with gains running to more than a cent while wheat, corn and oats all moved ahead major fractions in the September deliveries.

The buying was described mainly as short covering and an improved demand from cash dealers. Reports continued that selling of wheat by producers, especially in the southwest, has almost halted despite advancing prices there. Corn receipts also dropped off.

Wheat was ¼ to ⅞ cent a bushel higher after about an hour, September $1.91⅝; corn ⅛ to ¾ higher, September $1.18½; oats ⅞ higher to ⅛ lower, September new type contract 66⅞; rye ¼ to ½ higher, September $1.29⅝; soybeans ¼ to 1 cent higher, September $2.09½.

Chevrolet Reveals Retirement, Changes

DETROIT (AP) — Chevrolet announced two appointments and a retirement Monday.

A. R. Roskilly, manager of the Detroit gear and axle and forge plants, retired after 36 years with the General Motors division. Roskilly, who started at Chevrolet as a grinder, was a former manager of Tonawanda, N.Y., aviation engine and forge and foundry operations.

★ ★ ★

Sylvester J. Thrasher was named Roskilly's successor as boss of the gear and axle and forge plants. He had been Chevrolet's director of quality control.

★ ★ ★

News in Brief

Richard L. Parks, of 22 McNeil St., reported to Pontiac Police Sunday that someone had stolen clothing valued at about $230 from his auto while it was parked at 22 Kennett St.

About $20 was reported stolen from the cash register of the Tom Thumb Restaurant, 2446 Williams Lake Rd., Waterford Township, scene of a break in over the weekend.

Thieves broke into Ted's Market, 7371 Orchard Lake Rd., West Bloomfield Township, yesterday and stole $7 worth of stamps, an estimated $10 in money orders and about $15 cash, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Arnold R. Larm, 19, of 742 Central St., Lake Orion, yesterday pleaded guilty to a drunk driving charge before Municipal Court Judge Cecil B. McCallum. He was sentenced to pay a $100 fine plus 7 days or 25 days in the Oakland County Jail.

Six windows were broken by vandals at Bagley Elementary School, 320 Bagley St., Pontiac police reported Monday.

EUGENE HENDREN

ALBERT W. FOSTER

PROMOTED — Two Pontiac police officers were promoted recently by Public Safety Director George D. Eastman. Det. Eugene Hendren was promoted to sergeant and Patrolman Albert W. Foster Jr. to detective. Hendren, 37, of 449 E. Tennyson St., has been on the local force eight years. Foster, 28, of 233 W. Hopkins St., has been a Pontiac officer six years.

Parolee in Deposit Case to Be Examined Friday

SOUTHFIELD — A paroled convict accused of setting up his own portable night deposit box outside a bank here to collect $3,200 from an unwary customer will be examined Friday on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Vichos is accused of duping the manager of a furniture store into depositing his day's receipts in a box he carried instead of using the night deposit box at the Detroit Bank & Trust Co. branch at Northland Shopping Center.

Vichos told the man the lock on the deposit chute was jammed and that the bank had sent him over to collect the night deposits. Police said Vichos used an Army ammunition box stenciled with the name of the bank to carry the deposits.

George Vichos, 27, stood mute at his arraignment yesterday, Southfield Municipal Judge Clarence Reid Jr. entered a plea of innocent for him. Vichos was returned to the Oakland County Jail when he was unable to post $2,500 bond.

Break Ground to Add Saginaw GM Unit

SAGINAW (AP)—Ground breaking ceremonies were held yesterday for a 236,000 square foot addition to the Saginaw Steering Gear division of General Motors. The new unit, an addition to the division's No. 4 plant, will be completed next April.

GM officials said the division's current work force of 4,200 will be increased by 800 when the new unit goes into operation.

GOP Regains Split in House

Count Now 55-55 in State Legislative Body as Farmer Wins Vote

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Dairyman Martin D. Buth smothered his opponent with nearly a 5-to-1 vote margin yesterday, apparently ending the Democrats' slim three-month grip on the Michigan House of Representatives.

Buth, 41-year-old Republican, led Democrat George Murray 4,902 to 868 today with 43 of 44 precincts reported in the third district's special election.

The suburban Comstock Park dairy farmer's apparent triumph restored the House to a 55-55 split. The Democrats had held a 55-54 margin since June 1 when Rep. Glenn Hunsberger (R-Grand Rapids) died of a heart attack.

Buth is not expected to be sworn into office until Sept. 16 when the House reconvenes after a recess called last Saturday when the Legislature enacted a new set of taxes.

Buth had not previously held state office. He recently resigned as a member of the Plainfield Township Board of Supervisors to wind up his campaign for representative.

CAME TO SEE HOW IT'S DONE — Longtime Pontiac owner, spanning 42 consecutive years and 16 Pontiac and Oakland automobiles, visited the Pontiac home plant last week to talk cars with company officials. J. C. Lane (left), Seattle, Wash., Mrs. Lane, and their daughter, Mrs. John D. Lembcke, view a 1959 Bonneville in the Pontiac lobby with their host, J. F. Malone, advertising manager. Lane, who recalls traveling 160,000 trouble-free miles in a 1941 Pontiac without ever removing the head from the engine, estimates he has compiled a total of more than 1,000,000 Pontiac miles since 1917.

Labor Bill Still Up, Senate to Try Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees failed again to reach agreement on the labor bill but announced that they would try again later today.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), conference chairman, announced he had offered some new proposals in an effort to break the stalemate. He said there was no final agreement on any of them.

Kennedy and Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz), on opposite sides of the fence on many of the issues involved, both told a news conference they were trying to narrow the area of their disagreement to simplify the issue if it is finally carried to the Senate for settlement.

As the conferees went into session for the 11th day, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) said that if they show signs of final agreement he will be willing to put off the floor fight indefinitely.

Senate Democrats fighting for modifications in the House-passed Landrum-Griffin bill leaned on an unusual ally, Republican Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, in the battle over one of the most heavily disputed points.

1. Whether unrestricted picketing at a construction project should be exempt from the general ban on secondary boycotts.

2. Whether unrestricted organizational picketing should be allowed if the employer involved is guilty of an unfair labor practice.

Waterford's Police to Be Independent

The Board accepted the resignation of all 13 policemen in the department as traffic officers, effective Sept. 15.

At that time they will all be sworn in as township peace officers.

This action means the officers will be working only under the township department and not the Oakland County Sheriff's Dept.

Because of recent state legislation and an attorney general's opinion earlier this summer, township police departments may now operate as a separate unit if they so desire.

According to township Supervisor Elmer E. Johnson, the action was merely a formality of changing the title of traffic officer to that of peace officer.

Even though Waterford Township police no longer will be deputized, the sheriff still remains the chief law enforcing agent of the county.

"Although technically the Waterford Township Police Department has become independent of the Sheriff's Department, the cooperation of the township police will remain the same," said township Clerk James Seeterlin.

The township pays a jailed-prisoner fee of $2.70 per prisoner to the county and will continue to do so.

Due to a curtailment in the county police funds, photographic services were discontinued in Waterford Township two weeks ago, according to Police Chief Millard J. Pender.

It has been necessary for the county, as well as the township police departments, to be bonded for $5,000.

Under the new setup, Waterford Township will pay a cost of $450 annually for bonding the department for the necessary $5,000.

Socialist 'Realism' Violated

Invitation From Nikita Ends Book Ending Rift

NEW YORK (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev's invitation to novelist Mikhail A. Sholokhov to accompany him to the United States apparently ends an unpublicized dispute over the author's latest book, the New York Times said today.

Times correspondent Harrison Salisbury said publication of Sholokhov's book, a sequel to "The Virgin Soil Upturned," had been held up for a year because Communist party powers didn't like its tragic ending.

Salisbury, a former Times bureau chief in Moscow who recently visited the Soviet Union, said Khrushchev apparently decided to step in before the incident ballooned into another Boris Pasternak case. Khrushchev was said to be determined the Soviet government would not be embarrassed by any more such publicity.

Salisbury reported that Sholokhov, who established himself as a leading novelist with his novel "And Quiet Flows the Don" in 1928, is believed to have held up completion of his new book until after Stalin's death for fear it might not please the dictator.

Excerpts from the book which have appeared in the Communist party organ, Pravda, indicate the plot deals with a Communist named Davydov who is sent out to head a collective farm in the early 1930s.

The end of the book has not been published. But Moscow writers who have seen it say Davydov is arrested on false charges in the purge of the 30s and commits suicide in prison.

Khrushchev visited Sholokhov at his home in the Don country over the weekend and while there announced he had asked the writer to accompany him to America. This, Salisbury wrote, "is thought to indicate that the controversy has now been settled to the mutual satisfaction of Mr. Khrushchev and the author."

School Districts Can Borrow . . . but That Interest!

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan's 2,300 school districts, assured of a record high state support level for this fiscal year, can "plan realistically" for the coming school year, state school chief Lynn M. Bartlett said today.

Bartlett said the $205 per pupil aid level combined with a 3.25 deductible millage factor was "an absolute minimal program" and won't solve all the problems of school districts.

But passage of the bill by the Legislature will make it possible for schools to borrow on anticipated aid payments.

"However," said Bartlett, "the sooner we are able to make state payments to schools, the less will be the necessity for them to borrow and thereby have to pay interest costs."

Fire Chiefs Asking Public Not to Chase to Disasters

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—A resolution urging radio and television stations to tone down their coverage of disasters was expected to be approved today by the International Assn. of Fire Chiefs.

At the same time, a former New York state fire chief had high praise for the nation's newspapers and wire services and the role they play in fire safety.

"The nation's newspapers and wire services save more lives each year than all the firemen and fire equipment in the country through their promotion of fire safety," said former Larchmont N.Y. fire chief Roi B. Woolley.

Woolley was a fire chief for many years and then served as fire coordinator for Westchester County, N.Y., and was New York state fire administrator. He later was editor of a firemen's magazine and is now a contributing editor.

The radio-TV resolution, which was to be considered by nearly 2,000 fire chiefs attending the 86th annual convention, pointed out that "the widespread distribution of news and emergency bulletins by radio and television stations . . . has been intensified during the last few years."

"Such news broadcast bulletins, through public response and interest, is seriously hampering and impeding the fire services in meeting such emergencies," the resolution said.

Recent disasters which have been widely covered by radio and TV have "created chaos and heightened the emergency," the resolution added.

The resolution called on the broadcasting industry "to cooperate with this association and its members in discouraging the public going to the scene of fire or disaster emergencies."

Says Drag Brake May Work Well to Drop Satellite

LONDON (UPI) — An American scientist said today that manned space flight might be achieved more quickly through use of a simple, umbrella-like "drag brake" which could lower a manned satellite gently to earth.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Ralph Detra of the Avco-Everett research laboratory of Everett, Mass., told the 10th International Astronautical Congress the device represented a "fresh approach" to the design of man-carrying space vehicles.

★ ★ ★

He said his laboratory, through experience gained in working on re-entry problems for the Atlas ICBM had found the drag brake offered a relatively simple means of returning a satellite crew safely to earth.

But Court Won't Allow Plea

Shouts Guilt to Judge

RIVERHEAD, N.Y. (AP) — "I want to pead guilty," Francis Bloeth shouted at the judge, "I'm going to get the chair anyway. Why can't I plead guilty?"

The judge explained to the hulking, 27-year-old construction worker Monday that state law doesn't allow a guilty plea to a charge of first-degree murder.

When he was ordered to be quiet, he shouted, "Don't I have some rights of free speech? What happened to freedom of speech in this country?"

Finally he subsided and his attorney, Sidney Siben, was granted a request for 60 days to determine if Bloeth is sane enough to stand trial. The lawyer entered a plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

Bloeth is accused of three holdup-slayings on Long Island. He told police he liked to kill, that he used to strangle cats when he was a child, and that he would have gone on killing if he hadn't run out of ammunition.

Reporter in Des Moines Breaks Neck in Crash

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI)—Clark Mollenhoff, Pulitzer Prize winning reporter for the Des Moines Register and Tribune, was in fair condition today from injuries suffered in an auto accident.

Mexican Markets at Last Selling Instant Beans

Called frijol al minuto, they're not just plain beans. They're cooked granulated, spiced and ready to be made into the frijoles refritos or refried beans so popular in Mexico.

According to instructions, you just pour half a cup of al minuto into a half cup of hot milk, heat up a bit of lard or butter, mix together and cook one minute—or to taste.

Andy Griffith Returns to Will Rogers Style

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Andy Griffith, the slow-talkin', philosopher-like star of "Destry," thinks the public's already sick of sick comedians.

He's been doing a daily five-minute radio monologue with the Will Rogers approach . . . pointing out for example, that "nowadays schools are different than when you and I went."

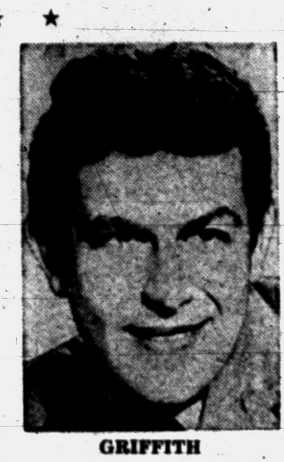

"They don't have reading, writing and 'rithmetic nowadays . . . they've got Group Behavior, Receptivity to New Ideas, Aesthetic Perception, Economic Viewpoint and Marital Adjustment," drawls Andy.

"Now, mind you, these are for kids five years old. Now, supposin' a five-year-old boy gets marked poor in socio-economic initiative. That's a terrible thing for a five-year-old boy to have. How do you go about telling a little innocent child he lacks socio-economic initiative?

"These fellows came in to fix my TV set. Had on white uniforms and went after it like it was major surgery. One fellow, he's the helper, or assistant surgeon, he opens up the back, then the specialist puts on his rubber gloves and looks inside and says 'Aha! . . . 'screwdriver' . . . and then 'pliers' . . . and then 'soldering iron' . . . and he gets very serious.

GRIFFITH

"Then I get very serious and say, 'Hold on there, I don't want to disturb you fellows, but that's the washingmachine. I know it's got a round glass thing on the front, but the TV's upstairs.'"

★ ★ ★

Edye Gorme, who's expecting in January, found while singing in Las Vegas that she got violently ill after every show. "I don't understand," she said to her obstetrician, "why after every show I do." The doctor replied: "The baby doesn't dig your act."

★ ★ ★

Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy told of a famous Hollywood carhop who was discovered while working as a movie star.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Gypsy Rose Lee bought a $30,000 Rolls Royce in London . . . Prince Albert of Belgium and his bride will honeymoon here in October . . . Shelley Winters got a fat bonus for her work in "Odds Against Tomorrow" . . . Ex-gangster Roger (The Terrible) Touhy will fly to N.Y. for a TV guest shot when he's released from jail in November . . . Elizabeth Taylor flew back to London from France for dental work . . . Lady Iris Mountbatten says she'll organize an all-girl Dixieland band . . . Henry Fonda's daughter, Susan tried to buy a partnership in a Manhattan cafe espresso shop.

News Chief Answers 'The Ugly American'

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Regardless of the new Communist-led insurrection's outcome in Laos, ABC news chief John Daly is determined that the sacrifices of Americans working there shall not go unnoticed on television.

Daly toured southeast Asia last year and was tremendously impressed with the sacrifices of comfort and career made by Americans toiling in the area. His desire to tell their story on television was translated into action when he read "The Ugly American," a best seller chronicling mistakes made by our foreign service personnel.

Daly insists that his "The Splendid American," an hour-long documentary to be presented Sunday, Sept. 27, is "not an answer to 'The Ugly American.' The book was a collection of errors and personality clashes that made us look stupid and fat-headed. It only triggered my conviction that something should be done for the Americans I saw there.

"Certainly mistakes were made and we had a few venal people out there, but you have venal people everywhere. The Soviets made mistakes too, far worse than ours.

"The people I met were working selflessly, out of kindness and dedication, at great personal sacrifice in one of the most primitive countries on earth to keep the Communists from getting a foothold. Conditions in Laos are roughly equivalent to our pioneer West a century ago, and the people are still living in the 15th Century. There is no railroad. The roads are nothing more than trails. I doubt if there are five flush toilets in the whole country. The weather ranges from sodden summer heat to the terrible drenching rains of the monsoon season."

"The Splendid American" deals with the work, among others, of Dr. Thomas A. Dooley, who founded three hospitals in the tiny country, one within sight of the Red Chinese border; Dr. Ras Johnson, head of the U.S. education program, and engineer Clyde Searl, who has built canals and other projects to help develop the primitive country.

Only Dr. Johnson is a government official. The rest are affiliated with the International Volunteer group and receive only $60 a month to cover subsistence. All are subject to constant abuse from Radio Hanoi and Radio Peiping.

JOHN DALY

Enumerating Soviet blunders in the same area, Daly told of a Soviet deal to barter cement for rice that back-fired when the cement was delivered in single ply bags at the height of the rainy season.

"The Soviet Union overstepped itself in Cambodia by trying to brainwash young Cambodians sent to universities in France and to make them leaders of an upheaval. The Prime Minister got on the air and denounced this insidious infiltration in a series of speeches," he added.

"The Splendid American" is part of a series of 26 planned documentaries that Daly is still hoping to find a sponsor for and present on a biweekly basis. Others in the series will treat of the life and times of Premier Khrushchev, microscopic life in a Central Park pond and the vast untapped mineral resources on the floor of the ocean.

Lumber Worker Dies After 4, 5 Wasp Stings

THOMASVILLE, N.C. (UPI)—Luther Copley, 55, a lumberyard worker, died yesterday after he was stung by wasps.

Copley told doctors he was stung four or five times. He died two hours later. Doctors said death was caused by anaphalactic shock induced by the wasp stings.

Laos Recaptures Red-Held Fortress

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Laotian government forces have captured a Communist field fortress in Phongsaly Province, about 120 miles north of the royal capital of Luang Prabang, reports reaching here said today.

★ ★ ★

The government strike was reported to have taken place Sunday at the village of Sop Nao, but no other details were available. It was believed the Communist Pathet Lao rebels no longer held any fortresses in Phongsaly and are now based in the jungle.

★ ★ ★

Informed sources said in Manila that the SEATO council will convene in Bangkok, Thailand, next week to discuss the Red uprising in Laos.

Khrushchev to Do Radio, TV Speech

NEW YORK (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev will deliver a one-hour speech over the NBC television and radio networks during his visit to this country this month.

Khrushchev's talks will be broadcast live from 5 to 6 p.m. EST Sunday, Sept. 27, it was announced.

His speech at the windup of his U. S. tour apparently will be similar to an address Vice President Richard M. Nixon made over Russian radio and television at the end of Nixon's visit to the U.S.S.R.

William R. MacAndrew, NBC vice president in charge of news, said Khrushchev's statements will be translated a few sentences at a time.

To Talk With Austria

VIENNA (UPI)—U.S. Undersecretary of Trade Henry Kearns will visit Vienna this Wednesday for trade talks with Austrian officials, it was announced today. Kearns will try to persuade Australia to liberalize its trade laws to allow more imports from the U.S.

On 3 TV Networks

New Night Programs Starting Next Month

NEW YORK (UPI) — The three networks have scheduled 40 new nighttime programs of the series type for the season that will begin next month.

In addition, NBC has opened up one hour on each Sunday, Tuesday and Friday night for the "specials" type of programming of varied dramatic and musical fare.

That means that the NBC specials will not be pre-empting regular series' time. Also, NBC has one series new to it but that has been a regular on another network, and ABC has two such.

SUNDAY — "River Boat," one-hour pre-Civil War, Mississippi River adventure stories with a few continuing characters; 6 p.m., Sept. 13.

MONDAY — "Love and Marriage," situation comedy centering around Tin Pan Alley character; 7-7:30 p.m., Sept. 21.

Kids Have a New Game: It's Cowboys and Girls

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rory Calhoun, portraying Bill Longley in the western series, The Texan, launched his second CBS-TV season with a kiss last night.

And it wasn't just a peewee peck that pretty Lori Nelson gave him. It was a chap-jangling, dust-raising smack that may start trouble. In how many living rooms did the following scene take place as Rory and Lori smooched?

Junior: Rugged? Then how come we don't have that stuff when we play cowboys and Indians?

Seriously, it's not just the kiss that warrants attention. Some of Calhoun's other achievements during his 1959-60 opener: Camped out overnight with Miss Nelson—in separate sleeping bags; watched Miss Nelson bathe in a nearby river; stripped to the waist before Miss Nelson.

All this catering to the peeping Tom instincts seemed stringely out of place in a western, where sex has never been a staple in the plot department.

Can it be that this is the answer to the problem of winning a bigger rating? Have Calhoun and his co-producer, Vic Orsatti, decided to lower their sights in order to create a greater impact and avoid the label of dullness? Have they turned away from good plots and tighter characterization in a shabby grab for sensationalism?

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Premier Nikita Khrushchev will close out his American visit with a one-hour radio-TV talk on Sunday, Sept. 27, from 6 to 7 p.m. (EDT) over NBC.

The stars of Gunsmoke, James Arness and Dennis Weaver, have agreed to handle the host chores for CBS-TV's Christmas at the Circus special on Thursday, Dec. 10. The Ringling Brothers Circus will be featured.

Stars Perkins, Stockwell Announce Engagement

No date or place was set for the wedding of the 20-year-old star of "The Diary of Anne Frank," and her fiance, who is three years her senior. Stockwell costarred in "Compulsion" and has had other top movie roles.

Miss Perkins lives in Fairlawn, N.J. with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Perkins. Stockwell was born in North Hollywood, Calif., and comes from a show business family.
