Widening Work on M24 to Start Here in Spring

Four-Lane Highway Will Be Built From Lake Orion to Opdyke Rd.

State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler revealed today that work will begin "as early as weather conditions permit" next spring on widening M-24 from two to four lanes over an eight-mile stretch from Lake Orion south to Opdyke road.

The project will cost about $1,350,000.

The widening is scheduled to be extended from Opdyke down the North Perry street business route to East Huron street in 1956 at an estimated cost of over $700,000.

Orginal plans called for the Orion-Opdyke section of the highway to be put up for contract bids this year, said Ziegler. But "this was delayed in the securing of necessary right-of-way."

All right-of-way will be purchased in time to let the contract during winter or early spring "so the contractor can start work . . . after the frost has left the ground."

"This is a definite commitment," Zeigler pledged, "and will be adhered to."

One of the most heavily traveled highways in Oakland County, M-24 in 1953 averaged 8,000 cars per day over the stretch to be widened.

Pontiac will pay 25 per cent or about $170,000 of widening costs for the section from Opdyke road to Huron street.

Michigan Roads Lead to Death for 14 Persons

Illinois Posts Highest Highway Toll, With 16 Losing Lives

From AP and UP Dispatches

Americans today posted a sorry Thanksgiving Day traffic record of more than 100 deaths on the highways.

A United Press count between 6 p. m. Wednesday and midnight last night showed 120 persons had died in traffic accidents. Fires killed 4 and miscellaneous mishaps 18 for a total of 142.

Illinois far outstripped other states with the dubious distinction of 16 traffic deaths during the one-day holiday. Michigan had 14, Texas 9, Kentucky 8 and New York 5.

The National Safety Council followed its usual practice of not making a prediction of traffic fatalities for the Thanksgiving holiday.

However, the toll was above the average for any given day and was likely to climb higher as reports of late accidents came in. It was also a discouraging preparation for "S-D" Day, less than three weeks away, when President Eisenhower has asked that no traffic accidents occur anywhere in the nation.

The count was boosted by a handful of multiple death accidents. A head-on collision near Mendota, Ill., killed five persons and smashups near Monmouth, Ill., Greencastle, Ind., and Ontario, Ore., killed four each.

Near Winona, Minn., Keith Fix, 23, died in a head-on collision just two hours after he became a father for the first time.

Bad driving conditions in parts of the nation played a part in the carnage. The upper Midwest, Northeast and Northwest were battered by snow and rain, and a fog-smog combination cut visibility to practically zero at Los Angeles.

Three members of a Kalamazoo family whose car collided with a steel truck while they were returning from holiday visit were among the 14 persons killed in Thanksgiving traffic in Michigan.

Killed instantly when their car was demolished near Three Rivers last night were Mrs. Rob-

Jap Premier Steps Down as Leader of Liberal Party

From AP and UP Dispatches

TOKYO — Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida today gave up the leadership of the Liberal party which he guided through more than eight years of the stormy postwar era, a Japanese news service reports.

Yoshida agreed to step down as president of the Liberal party in favor of Deputy Premier Taketora Ogata after party leaders decided yesterday that this was the best course of action, the Kyodo agency said.

The 76-year-old prime minister was reported to have conferred for an hour and 45 minutes with high officials of his party today before he accepted the executive board's decision.

Yoshida will retain the premiership but his strengthened opposition in the new Diet (Parliament) which convenes Nov. 30 is determined to unseat him and end Liberal party rule.

For the first time in his long rule his opposition has enough certain votes to topple him with a nonconfidence motion in the House.

Yoshida, a fighter, was said by the newspaper Asahi, Japan's biggest, to be ready with House dissolution that will hurl Japan's 467 representatives into a bitter and expensive election campaign.

Yoshida appeared ready to do anything to block his conservative archfoe, 71-year-old Ichiro Hatoyama, from forming a government.

Hatoyama, founder of the Liberal party, bolted with his followers for the second time last week and formed the new Japan Democratic party in coalition with the Progressives, led by wartime Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu.

The Socialists were apparently ready to support Hatoyama in the nonconfidence maneuvers as a means of bringing down Yoshida, whom they violently oppose.

Fog Smothers South California

Paralyzes Land, Sea and Air Traffic; Boat Rescued Dramatically

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The worst fog in years continued over the greater portion of southern California today, paralyzing transportation on land, at sea and in the air.

The Coast Guard made a dramatic rescue of a converted Navy crash boat, Harmony, that was groping in the murk and unable to radio its position. Using radar and radio bearings, a Coast Guard boat located the craft in the thick mists eight miles north of Isthmus Cove of Catalina Island and took it in tow. With it was a little cruiser that had tried to make the tow.

Most airports were closed, including the big Los Angeles International, one of the nation's busiest. Scores of traffic crashes were reported in the Los Angeles metropolitan area, but only one death was directly attributed to the smashups, probably because fog prevented speed.

Three babies, each 3 months old, died yesterday of respiratory ailments and the coroner ordered autopsies. Smog was suspected of

More Drizzle, Some Snow Due in Pontiac

Pontiac residents have more damp weather in store for them, the U.S. Weather Bureau says.

The forecast for tonight is snow mixed with rain and rain or snow tomorrow. There will be little change in temperature until tomorrow night, when cloudy skies and colder weather will bring snow flurries. Sunday also will be cloudy and cold with snow flurries.

It misted and rained off and on during the day, causing bad driving conditions and clouding windshields during the evening.

Tonight's low is expected to be from 30-34 with a high tomorrow of 38-42. Saturday night the low will be around 26-30.

At 8 o'clock this morning the thermometer reading was 36 degrees, rising to 38 at 2 p.m.

Radiator Has Shakes, Police Get on the Job

Three patrol cars, a patrol wagon and 14 policemen converged on the store. Inside the officers found the radiator system shaking itself silly on a cold day.

Blood Pictures Shown to Jury

Photographs Taken in Sheppard House Are Identified by Chemist

CLEVELAND (AP) — Photographs showing a trail of blood spots through the Sheppard house of murder were introduced by the state today.

There were 15 pictures. The defense objected unsuccessfully to four of them.

He was a prosecution witness at the first degree murder trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, the Bay Village osteopath who is accused of the July 4 fatal bludgeoning of his wife Marilyn, 31.

Chalk marks and pointing pencils were used to call attention to the blood spots, many of which were quite small.

The specks—from basement to bedroom and from door to door inside and out—were detected by a substance called luminol.

This is a liquid which Dombrowski said produces a bluish green fluorescence if the spot is blood, but does not indicate whether the blood is human or animal.

Selfridge Officer Defends Protective Value of Nike

The commanding officer of the Army's 28th Anti-aircraft Artillery unit stationed at Selfridge Air Force Base today denied that the "Nike" has become obsolete even before becoming established as part of the nation's defense against air attack.

Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott stated two days ago that Nike, an antiaircraft guided missile, had lost much of its protective value and was fast becoming outmoded by fast flying planes and "flying bombs," like the V-2 bombs of World War II.

"I would say categorically that Nike is not obsolete," declared Col. Walter C. Conway.

"There are always plans on the drawing boards even when a new weapon comes out," he said.

"But Nike is so revolutionary and offers such a high degree of protection that I think it is going to be a long, long time before it is obsolete.

"Once we've got our defenses established if planes come along at any known speed now, we can track them down and there would be a very high probability that we would be able to engage and shoot them down."

Meanwhile, the Army district engineer's office in Detroit reported that construction has begun on two Nike sites in Oakland County.

The sites, part of a 14-unit protective ring around Detroit, are located at Featherstone and Squirrel Rds., near Auburn Heights, and 11-Mile and Franklin Rds., near Franklin village.

Each site will include a launch-

Ocean Relinquishes 250-Year-Old Beer

SANDWICH, England (AP) — Eighteen bottles of beer believed to be about 250 years old have washed ashore here in the past week.

Ivor Noel-Hulme, an archaeologist, fixed the approximate age of the brew by examining the old handmade bottles. They were of a type used 2½ centuries ago.

The beer is believed to have come from an ancient wreck finally broken up by the sea.

Envoy Named to Assist Dulles

George V. Allen Moves From India to the State Department

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower today named George V. Allen, now ambassador to India, to be assistant secretary of state for Near East, South Asian and African affairs.

Allen will succeed Henry A. Byroade, who will become ambassador to Egypt, succeeding Jefferson Caffery, who is retiring.

The President announced at the little White House here, where he is spending a Thanksgiving weekend vacation, that the nominations will be sent to the Senate when the lawmakers convene again.

There had been speculation for weeks about the shuffling of top diplomatic posts. Some reports have suggested that John Sherman Cooper, Kentucky Republican defeated for re-election to the Senate, might get Allen's post in India. Press secretary James Hagerty had no comment on Allen's successor there.

Allen, 51, from Durham, N.C., has been a foreign service officer since 1931, starting as vice consul at Kingston, Jamaica. He rose to become ambassador to Iran in 1945; assistant secretary for Public Affairs in 1948; ambassador to Yugoslavia in 1949; and went to India in March, 1953.

Byroade, 41, from Maumee, Ind., goes to Egypt after serving as assistant secretary since 1952.

Charge 3rd Man in Prison Death

Norman Cagle Admits Assaulting Remington; Hiss Out Tomorrow

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The FBI today charged a third inmate at Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary today with the murder of William W. Remington, former government economist convicted of perjury, and in so doing provided the first clue to the motive for the slaying.

Norman H. McCabe, special agent in charge of the Philadelphia FBI office, announced that Lewis Cagle Jr., 17, of Chattanooga, Tenn., has been charged with the murder of Remington on Monday.

McCabe said Cagle admitted in a statement "that he, along with McCoy and Parker, planned to ransack Remington's room on Nov. 22 and the assault took place while they were in his (Remington's) room."

The other two prisoners referred to were George Junior McCoy, 34, of Grundy, Va., and Robert Carl Parker, 21, of Washington, D.C., who were charged with participating in the beating administered to Remington with a part of a brick wrapped in a sock.

Remington, who was serving a three-year sentence for perjury after denying he gave government secrets to Communists, died of a skull injury in the prison hospital Wednesday.

The clue as to the motive for the slaying ended speculation that the slaying might have been an act reflecting anti-Communist feeling in the prison.

The development came less than 24 hours before these same prison gates are scheduled to open for

Burglar Helps Himself to Thanksgiving Dinner

LIVONIA (INS) — Trustful Mrs. Marshall Metcalf's policy of leaving her front door unlocked made it a happy Thanksgiving for an intruder yesterday.

While Metcalf was at work, his wife and three children visiting friends, the uninvited guest finished off a fried chicken and brewed a cup of coffee to wash down a third of a pumpkin pie.

Nothing else in the home, including three bulging piggy banks, was touched.

Alumnus Might Have Trouble Finding Old UM Campus in Maze of New Buildings

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A University of Michigan alumnus who had a good idea where the campus was when he was a student would have some difficulty in putting his finger on its exact location now.

Geographical center of the campus used to be the diagonal walk cutting across what is now superficially called the "main campus." Where the geographical center of the present campus is located is anyone's guess, except that it is still in Ann Arbor.

For the university's building program, each year increasing its aims as enrollment continues to rise, has gone as far as mapping out a whole new campus about a mile and a half from the presently diffused center of activities where other additions to the physical plant are made constantly.

Called the "new north campus," the entire campus has been conceived as a whole, whereas the present campus has gradually grown through the years. The new campus is expected to take 25 years for completion.

But already the project has been started. The Cooley Memorial Building looks complete, although some work on the inside has yet to be done. Across the dirt road, the library Stack Unit nears completion. A $500,000 project financed by the state Legislature, the Stack Unit will house 300,000 volumes and the bindery now in the general library, thereby relieving congestion in the latter.

Next to the Cooley Building, work continues on a skeleton of timber and steel beams that will someday be the Phoenix Memorial Laboratory. A $1,500,000 part of the $7,500,000 Phoenix Project for research in peacetime uses of atomic energy, the lab should be completed by next July.

The Phoenix Laboratory will be unique in that it will have the only "caves" of any college campus. "Caves" are specially built structures with solid concrete walls constructed underground and windows to allow control of experiments from outside.

These "caves" will permit research involving the use of highly radioactive materials. Only other structures of the kind are located at the Oak Ridge atomic laboratory and the Atomic Energy Commission's Argonne National Laboratories in Chicago.

On the drafting boards for the new north campus are a new automotive engineering laboratory, an aeronautical engineering laboratory, a reactor building next to the Phoenix lab, and a music and fine arts center.

The new campus is intended to become the center of graduate studies and research at the university.

To house some of the personnel that will eventually be required for the operation of this tremendous new physical plant, the university has provided apartments for married students and staff members near the new campus.

One hundred units of the 600 units planned have already been begun. Started just recently, the project includes six apartment buildings providing 48 single-bedroom apartments, 40 of the no-bedroom type, and a dozen two-bedroom apartments.

Meanwhile, back of the "old" campus, students have become accustomed to passing construction in process on their way to classes.

Most noticeable is the recently begun construction of the $2,900,000 addition to the Michigan Union, center of the male students' campus life. Completely blocking off the previously popular entrance at the side of the Union, the project will have additional cafeteria and other facilities for students by July.

A few blocks down State street from the Union, the new athletic administration building is being built to the tune of $350,000 supplied by the board in control of intercollegiate athletics from football revenue. Proceeds from grid games were also responsible for approximately 97 per cent of the $1,000,000 spent for the new women's swimming pool finished last spring.

An alumnus at a football game could see for himself some of the building in process if he were to climb to the top of the university's huge stadium. Against the sky he could see an outline of orange steel girders representing the $675,000 addition to the law library.

Another library presently under construction is the new medical library being built as a wing on the Kresge Memorial Building on Kresge Foundation funds of $650,000. Purpose of the library is to concentrate medical books now diffused around the campus. The Kresge project is concerned with medical research.

Altogether the University of Michigan has $12,825,000 worth of buildings amounting to ten in number now under construction. Total cost estimates for further planned building are not available, but are no doubt equally impressive, if not more so.

Jaycees Plan Yule Contest, Business Directory of City

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — Swinging into action, the Junior Chamber of Commerce has lined up an impressive list of projects for the coming months, the nearest one at hand being the annual Christmas lighting contest.

But the most ambitious undertaking is the compiling of a directory new to Birmingham. Classed as another annual civic project, members are busy acquiring the necessary data for the cross-indexed book, which will list businesses only.

The approximately 60 - page guide will include inside its covers a map of Birmingham and a history of the city. March 15 has been set as the probable "publication date," according to Claude Kidd, president.

Most important, Kidd said, the directory will be distributed at no charge to every householder in Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield Village, Franklin and Beverly Hills.

Kidd added that the senior chamber is cooperating with the Jaycees in the venture and said Allan Keough has been named chairman of the project.

With traffic violations responsible for 27 of the 32 accidents shown in Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley's October report, Moxley commented that the accident toll has been mounting month by month this year.

He added that strict enforcement of traffic laws will reduce traffic violations, but pointed out that police officers do not enjoy issuing tickets and are not required to issue a certain number each day.

Moxley said he has "issued orders to all officers to enforce the laws more vigilantly than in the past . . . it will be very gratifying if we find that by better traffic law enforcement we have fewer tickets to issue and fewer accidents to investigate."

Two Dec. 14 public hearings were set by Planning Board members this week.

Three property owners will also be present when their request to rezone property on Woodward on the south side of Colonial Court from single family residence to terrace zoning, is considered.

For the last 48 hours eye-smarting smog has drenched the townlown Los Angeles area.

Fog blanketed the Pacific coast from San Luis Obispo to the Mexican border and pushed from 8 to 20 miles inland.

Four adults and five children were aboard the crash boat Harmony. Its skipper, Frank Champion, received assistance from a cabin cruiser, Jama Jan, which tried to tow her, but both were swallowed in the fog and did not know their position. Neither did an unidentified boat that radioed the Santa Barbara Coast Guard, saying it was on the rocks north of there. A search disclosed nothing.

Clerk Under Knife

Municipal Court Clerk Leo F. McDonald today is reported in good condition following an operation at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

HIGHWAY THREATENED—Airview of U. S. 12 near St. Joseph, comes close to edge of bluff overlooking shores of Lake Michigan. Note particularly in lower righthand corner. Cracks can be seen in face of bluff where highway comes near drop. Erosion of bluff in recent years has forced abandonment of several lake-front homes.

Goes to Prison for Plane Theft

Aerial Joyride Lands Gladstone Youth, 18, in Jackson

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Darryl Spaulding, 18, who piloted a Lear, Inc., airplane to Gladstone in an unauthorized flight two weeks ago, was sentenced today to Southern Michigan Prison.

Circuit Judge Fred N. Searl sentenced Spaulding to 18 months to five years and said the youth's past record failed to warrant probation.

Spaulding earlier had waived examination on charges of "wilfully and without authority taking possession of and using an airplane." He had been bound over to Circuit Court under $1,000 bond.

He was arrested at Gladstone after landing a Lear-owned single-engine Beechcraft plane which he took from its parking place at Kent County Airport.

During the flight Spaulding was pursued by Air Force jet planes but disregarded their attempts to make him land.

Judge Searl, commenting on the sentence, said:

"Just because the boy's act was spectacular, several persons have attempted to intervene for him."

He said it was unfortunate that few persons offer to intervene for the many youths who appeared before him during the year on lesser charges and who obviously could be helped with outside guidance.

Ronald V. Kennedy Gets Probation, Fine

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — Ronald V. Kennedy of Grand Rapids, last of the three defendants in the state land frauds, was sentenced today to two years probation and to pay $500 in costs and fine.

Kennedy, 44, dismissed state employe, was convicted by a jury Oct. 29 of conspiracy to defraud the State of Michigan of $600 in right-of-way land deals two years ago.

The sentencing was the final chapter in a series of court cases stemming from an investigation which Attorney General Frank G. Millard launched 10 months ago.

Earlier Kennedy's former boss in the Grand Rapids state highway right of way division office, G. Palmer Seeley, was sentenced to two and a half to five years in prison for similar land sales conspiracies in Muskegon County.

Today's sentencing of Kennedy was by Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith of Ottawa County. Kennedy had been free on $1,000 bond.

Third Man Charged in Remington Death

Alger Hiss who has spent three and a half years in the jail. His wife, Priscilla, was expected to meet him at the prison gates.

The 50-year-old former State Department official, who was convicted of swearing falsely when he told a congressional committee he had never passed secrets to a Communist spy ring, is leaving on a probationary basis. He was originally sentenced for five years, but he won an earlier release with a "meritorious" record.

As a convicted felon, he will be without the right to vote or hold public office.

Acting Warden Fred T. Wilkinson said he has had his "customary talk" with Hiss.

His itinerary for tomorrow is simple:

Prison guards have described Hiss' prison life as that of an extremely cooperative inmate.

They said he worked most of his prison time as a clerk on the clothing issue detail.

His spare time, they said, was devoted "almost exclusively" to reading in the prison library.

Dozens of newsmen are expected to be on hand to question Hiss on his plans for the future. He entered the prison claiming his innocence and some indications are his immediate future might be devoted to proving it.

But at least two congressional committees have indicated they may ask first call on his time.

Until March 21, 1956, Hiss will have to check with a parole officer and report various details of his personal life.

There were two charges in the indictment against Hiss — that he lied to a federal grand jury when he denied that he passed government secrets to Chambers who says he was a courier for a pre-war Red spy ring, and that he lied again in testifying he did not see Chambers after Jan. 1, 1937.

The first trial in 1949 resulted in a hung jury. At a second trial ending Jan. 21, 1950, he was convicted on both counts.

Students to Get Added Holiday

Pontiac Teachers Slate Conference for Monday; Pupils to Take Day Off

Pontiac public school students will get an extra day of Thanksgiving vacation Monday while their teachers hold an annual curriculum conference.

During the day designed to help improve classroom techniques, elementary instructors will study the areas of social studies, science, music integration and books and materials.

"The day has been divided into quarters to enable all the teachers to meet with the various consultants we have brought in to advise them," said Gerald White, elementary coordinator for the Pontiac schools.

Webster School will be the scene of this all-day conference for elementary teachers.

Special education personnel plan to meet with the elementary sessions in the morning and will hold their own departmental meeting in the afternoon.

Philosophies of what constitutes a good junior high school program have been formulated during the past few weeks by representative people from this school group in order to help plan the new junior high school. They will meet at Lincoln Junior High School.

"We are asking the senior high school teachers to begin to think about an ideal senior high school program on Monday," said Cecil J. Cox, assistant superintendent of schools.

Pointing out that a new senior high school will be constructed for this district within the next few years, Cox said it was important that planning begin now.

118 Traffic Deaths Mar U.S. Holiday

Not counted in the state toll were two Michigan residents killed in a holiday crash in Ohio. George O. Wentworth, 62, of Athens and his wife, Marion, 38, were killed along with an Ohio man in a collision at Kiefersville.

One of Michigan's traffic mishaps derailed six railroad cars two miles southeast of Plymouth in Wayne County.

Gerald Ross, 39, Plymouth, was injured critically when his car slammed into the 41st car of a 57-car Chesapeake & Ohio freight bound from Detroit to Toledo.

Three of the six derailed boxcars overturned, spilling perishables along the tracks. The Wayne County Road Patrol said Ross apparently fell asleep while driving. The impact threw him out of his car and he was found unconscious along the right-of-way.

Another holiday trip ended in tragedy only minutes after it began for the Walter K. Tiede family of Birmingham. Tiede's wife, Virginia, 43, was killed less than a mile from their home early yesterday when their car ran off a Bloomfield Township road during a dense fog and crashed into a tree. The Tiede family had just started out for Chicago.

Robert L. Grim, 26, Sturgis, and Voigt Mathews, 57, Albion, were killed Wednesday night in a head-on collision four miles south of Eaton Rapids.

Other traffic victims:

Mrs. Beverly E. Murphy, 36, Lapeer, killed when struck by a car on U.S.10 north of Pontiac.

Max Hutchins, 7, Fennville, struck and killed by a car while walking on M.89 near his Allegan County home.

Bersal A. Gunnell, 52, of Cedar Springs, killed Wednesday in a car-truck collision on a Kent County rural road near Sparta.

Henry Sturgis, 80, of Crystal Lake, killed Thursday in a two-car collision on M.21 near Fowler.

Four Nike batteries are already operating, Col. Conway said. Two are at Selfridge and two at an old naval air station north of Monroe.

Work is expected to be completed on the local sites by May, said Col. John E. Unverferth, of the engineer's office. Each site will cost approximately $500,000.

The Nike is a supersonic pilotless missile which tracks down enemy aircraft with its own electronic "brain," using information supplied from the ground.

The "brains" of the system consist of two radars and a computer.

Pictures to which defense attorney Fred Garmone objected were, he said, either duplicates of other pictures — closeups taken from a different angle — or there were other things in the pictures that he apparently felt did not belong there.

At the beginning of the session Judge Edward Blythin excused the jury while defense counsel William J. Corrigan renewed his motion for a continuance of the trial, now ending its sixth week.

Corrigan produced two copies of the Cleveland Press of Wednesday and yesterday. He said they contained "prejudicial statements" and that the material covered was "striking at the very foundations of jurisprudence."

The stories dealt with reporters' interviews — one with friends and relatives of the slain Marilyn Sheppard, the other a feature about a woman juror's family struggling along without her while she was on duty.

The juror, Mrs. Lois Mancini, was not at the home when her family was interviewed and pictures were taken, a fact Judge Blythin noted in overruling the motion.

Reds Driven Off Nationalist Isle

Chinese Storm Wuchiu but Are Pushed Back in Heavy Fighting

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Reds stormed a tiny Chinese Nationalist island in Formosa Strait today but were driven off after an hours heavy fighting, the Nationalist Defense Ministry reported.

The ministry said many Communist soldiers were captured.

It was not clear whether the attack on Wuchiu Island was intended as an invasion, a hit-and-run raid or an effort to see what the U.S. 7th Fleet might do.

Press reports said the Reds stormed ashore from motorized junks under cover of shellfire from 10 gunboats. Nationalist warplanes raced to the island and helped drive the invaders back into the sea.

Wuchiu is a guerrilla base only a mile long and half a mile wide. It is 15 miles from the mainland and 10 miles south of Red-held Nanjin Island. It is 63 miles northeast of Quemoy and 66 miles southsoutheast of Foochow, capital of Fukien province.

The 7th Fleet has been patrolling the Formosa Strait since June 27, 1950, just after the outbreak of the Korean War. Its assigned task is to protect Formosa and the Pescadores from invasion. U.S. policy has been to keep the Reds guessing about what the fleet might do if one of the many offshore Nationalist outposts was threatened.

The first plot of ground for Arlington National Cemetery, Arlington, Va., was appropriated by the government June 15, 1864.

Pair Bail Out Friend, Wind Up Behind Bars

DETROIT (AP)—Two friends bailed L. G. Johns, 29, out of jail yesterday so he'd have something to be thankful for.

But as the three left, Johns picked up a jacket hanging in the police station hallway.

They met Patrolman Claude Robertson as they were heading out the door. It was his jacket.

THIS OWL CASTS A SHADOW

Owls see best at night—and that's when an owl hunts for food. Here's how to make this one:

1. Color the owl brown.
2. Cut out this whole square, use white library paste to fasten it on sitff paper.
3. Cut out the owl and the attached white bar. Cut the dark lines into the wings, so they make a fringe. With a pencil, poke holes in the owl's eyes.
4. Bend the white bar into a ring, pasting ends together to fit the first finger of your left hand.
5. When the ring is dry, slip it and the owl on your finger and go into a dark room with a flashlight. Hold the light close to the owl so its shadow will fall on the wall. You can also us a lamp to throw the shadow.

Paris Accords to Bring Wide Self-Rule to Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The Western occupation powers say ratification of the recent Paris accords on German rearmament will bring West Berlin the widest self-government compatible with the security of the Soviet-surrounded city.

In a "declaration of intent," the American, British and French commandants last night announced plans to amend the occupation statute to increase the authority of the West Berlin government.

Although the city has a completely organized administration, it still is classed as occupied territory. American officials said specific acts to implement the declaration have not yet been decided.

Disabled Hunter Found in Auto

Invalid Was Unable to Free Car From Rut in Backwoods Road

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A disabled hunter who has a special permit to hunt from his car was found by a Coast Guard helicopter Thursday, after being stuck for more than 19 hours on a backwoods road in Antrim County near Alden.

Lloyd Aemisegger, 30, of Alden, who is paralyzed from the waist down, drove his car into the woods Wednesday. The vehicle got stuck in a rut and he couldn't get it turned around.

A volunteer rescue party called on the Coast Guard after a fruitless night search for the hunter.

Meanwhile, the State Conservation Department said Thursday that hunters took one less deer south across the Straits of Mackinac in the first week of the big game season than they did in the same period last year.

This season's count stood at 7,365 as of 10 p.m. Monday.

The gunfire death toll among Michigan deer hunters remained unchanged at seven over Thanksgiving day with only five days left in the regular 16-day big game season.

Besides the gunfire victims seven persons have died of heart attacks and scores have been wounded since the season opened Nov. 15.

Last year 13 persons were shot to death and 61 were wounded during the season.

Eighteen National Guard infantry divisions — nine in Europe, nine in the far Pacific—were on duty during World War II.

Peiping Says 13 Admitted Spying

Claims That Americans Were Convicted After Public Trial

LONDON (AP)— Peiping radio said today the 13 Americans sentenced to prison terms as spies were given a public trial "at which they admitted having received specialist training in espionage and guerrilla warfare."

The Red Chinese radio was keeping up its drumfire of propaganda in the case of the 11 airmen and two civilians whose sentences by a military court to terms ranging from four years to life was disclosed by the Peiping regime on Tuesday.

All were captured during the Korean War. Both the American and British governments have denounced the charges as false and a violation of the Geneva convention on prisoners of war.

The United States is trying to arrange a face-to-face meeting at Geneva with diplomatic representatives to take up the case.

The Peiping radio said Col. John Knox Arnold Jr., of Silver Spring, Md., commander of a B29 shot down Jan. 12, 1953, over North Korea, confessed in court he was engaged in intelligence work. He was sentenced to 10 years.

"Arnold, colonel of the U.S. 581st Air Resupply and Communications Wing, stated in court that his wing had not been committed in the Korean theater and was attached to the U.S. secret intelligence agency," the broadcast said. It gave no explanation of the long delay between the capture of the men and their trial. The trial date was not specified but apparently it was only recently held.

Fails in Suicide Plot as Police Refuse to Shoot

NEW YORK (AP)—Said Sisinio Cruz: "I was despondent. I was sick of living. I figured if I hit a cop, the cop would shoot and kill me."

Cruz, 34-year-old mechanic, had that to say yesterday after police accused him of:

1. Driving for 15 blocks on the wrong side of Southern Boulevaed in the Bronx.

2. Punching photographer Alan Aaronson in the nose after trying to ram his car four times. Aaronson had been trailing Cruz in his car.

3. Punching one cop in the nose, biting another on the thumb and tussling with half a dozen other policemen.

After being treated for cuts and bruises, Cruz was booked on charges of assault and dangerous driving.

Thanksgiving Girl Born to Les Paul-Mary Ford

RIDGEWOOD, N.J. (AP)—Singer Mary Ford, wife of Les Paul, gave birth to a girl at Valley Hospital yesterday. The Thanksgiving Day baby, named Colleen, was the couple's first. The newborn girl weighed in at five pounds, nine ounces.

A spokesman at the hospital said Miss Ford reported that she and her daughter "both were doing fine." The Pauls live in nearby Mahwah.

Airport Project Revived

Thanks to a forward looking group of citizens efforts have been revived to give the Detroit area a modern airport within easy reach of most of its residents.

Among other things, petitions are being circulated in Oakland County supporting construction of a major airport in Warren township, Macomb County. It is hoped to obtain at least 50,000 signatures.

A citizens committee for the airport has been organized by residents of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties. There also will be an Oakland County committee, now in the process of organization, under the chairmanship of C. B. DEVLIEG, Ferndale industrialist.

The proposed tri-county airport would be an expansion to two square miles of the present Detroit owned Warren airport. It would be bounded by 12 Mile, Ryan, 14 Mile and Dequindre Roads and wouldn't cost Oakland County anything.

Warren Township is attempting to block this project by seeking to have the 74 acres of the original site condemned for park purposes. Hearings on this suit have been postponed until February.

There isn't any doubt about the need for this major airport. It would be only four miles from the Detroit city limits and 18 miles from Pontiac. Willow Run airport is about 40 miles away. As Chairman DEVLIEG points out, that facility conveniently serves only 35 per cent of the metropolitan area's population. The proposed new airport would provide air service for the other 65 per cent.

Let's get behind this project 100 per cent by signing the petitions. The metropolitan area is one of the largest and most important in the country. It can't afford any longer to be without first class air service and terminal facilities.

Red China's Dope Trade

Once again the question of Red China's iniquitous traffic in narcotics has come up in the Social Committee of the United Nations.

There is ample proof of Peiping's use of opium to earn foreign exchange. It has been supplied in well documented form by HARRY F. ANSLINGER, U. S. Commissioner of Narcotics. The evidence indicates that this trade is carried on by private companies which actually are agents of the government.

So far it has been impossible to combat this health destroying trade effectively. The Communist Nations refuse to have anything to do with a narcotics convention. They also deny that Red China has any part in the traffic. Because the Reds would not consider it, there has been no proposal that an inspection system be established.

A suggestion by the Nationalist Chinese delegate, Dr. C. L. HSIA offered some hope. His idea is that opium stocks be analyzed to determine their origin. This proved process eventually might mobilize such a volume of free world opinion that effective curbs on the traffic could be applied.

The situation has a discouraging aspect, however. Such a solution obviously would have to await abandonment by the Communists of their long time policy of considering political goals more important than human welfare.

WHEN a man was asked if his attempts to grow hair on his bald head by taking certain hormones were meeting with any success, he replied, "Oink."

Whaling Dispute Serious

Serious international complications have developed over Peru's military action to enforce its ban on whaling within 200 miles of its Pacific coast.

The ban was aimed at the whaling fleet owned by ARISTOTLE SOCRATES ONASSIS operating under the Panamanian flag. However, when the fleet en route to the Antarctic, ignored Peru's warning which had the support of Ecuador and Chile, the explosion came. Peru's fliers bombed the whaling ships and its sailors boarded them.

One complication is the fact that Peru, Ecuador and Chile do not belong to the International Whaling Commission. This body represents 20 interested Nations. Realizing that with modern equipment it would be possible to exterminate whales in a season or two, the commission has imposed strict conservation rules.

The situation would be much improved if these three countries would join the commission. This would make it easier to reach agreement on the control of whaling within the 200 mile limit.

Another possibility is the proposed action before the International Court of Justice which would be asked to rule on the validity of Peru's ban. Certainly any other method of seeking settlement would be preferable to that chosen by Peru's air force and navy.

Pontiac is a fortunate city. Seventy years ago when a young fellow went to see his girl, he probably drove to her home in a shining red buggy with bright colors on the panels and stripes on the wheels and the frame.

On the dashboard would be the name of the maker or perhaps a German silver plate engraved "C. V. Taylor Co., Pontiac, Mich." or "R. D. Scott Co., Pontiac, Mich." or very often "Pontiac Buggy Co., Pontiac, Mich."

Then after marriage it would be a surrey with the famous fringe and bright carriage which might have had the proud name "Pontiac Vehicle" on the body.

One of the first motor cars was the Welch Motor Car. Actors and actresses of national fame had these custom made for $9,000 or $10,000.

The Oakland Motor car and the Flanders Electric were as lovely for their time as anything today.

From a little acorn a great Oak grew, the Pontiac Car, our Pontiac, symbol of native strength and quality.

We are not forgetting the General Motors Trucks which are known in every corner of the world; heard from village to village but getting there in war or peace.

Teenager Agrees With 'Disgusted'

I agree with "Disgusted" 100 per cent. I'm a teenager and one who isn't allowed on the streets after a certain hour. We are tired of hearing about juvenile delinquency but it's like "Disgusted" said, people sit back and gripe but they don't do anything about it.

What about "Disgusted's" question, "Is it against the law to have a roller rink inside the city limits?" School kids could take a bus downtown much easier and get home earlier than if they had to take one outside the city limits.

I hope these letters do some good. And I hope "Disgusted" remembers the old saying, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

Well, here's one teenager who's behind "Disgusted." How about you?

Editor's Note—It is not against the law to have a roller rink in the City of Pontiac if it's licensed.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Child Who Spends Time With Mother Usually Slower in Learning to Talk

When children are slow to talk, do you know the reasons why? Did you ever feel the vibrations of your hat or a hymn book when a church organ plays? That is the method used in the Gault Teletactor, etc.

By GEORGE W. CRANE

Case M-377: Lewis, aged 3½, doesn't talk yet.

"I don't know what is wrong with him," his mother protested with some discouragement. "He just will not learn to talk. I have tried and tried to teach him, but he will not pay attention to me, or else he makes noises which are not intelligible.

"My mother-in-law says his daddy didn't learn to talk much until he was three years of age, but Lewis is now 3½, and still he cannot talk as well as children in the neighborhood who are barely one year old.

"Dr. Crane, I want you to examine him and tell me what you think is wrong, for at this rate he will fall behind in school when he begins kindergarten."

There are several reasons why Lewis might be delayed in his development of speech. This complex function usually begins in the average child at about one year of age and develops steadily thereafter.

But many youngsters do not have as much drill in speaking as do others. For example, a child with many playmates will hear far more speech than the youngster in the home alone with his mother most of the day.

Even though the parents take time out occasionally to talk to the child, their few hundred sentences daily do not make up for the thousands of repetitions which children make to one another during an afternoon's play.

If you have ever tried to learn a foreign language, you will remember that you could understand what others said to you long before you could speak the tongue fluently yourself.

So it is with babies. They hear language for almost twelve months before they are able to speak. And their ability to talk depends largely on the thousands or even millions of sounds which have fallen on their ears for the preceding twelve months.

Occasionally, however, a child in a family of several youngsters may refrain from talking because he gets his wants satisfied without having to articulate intelligible words.

Either he points or else makes up a baby talk vocabulary of his own, and compels his parents to learn his language.

By withholding objects until the child gives their names, a parent can usually force the child to talk, especially if he repeats the name once or twice to make sure that the youngster associates it with the food or toy which he wants.

Parents often fail to suspect deafness in their children, though this is often a cause for a youngster's failure to talk.

After five years of psychological research on the deaf, I was naturally interested in Lewis in this regard, and found that he was almost stone deaf in his right ear and so hard of hearing in the left that he could not understand most of our speech sounds.

I referred him to a specialist at Northwestern University who has for nearly 25 years conducted probably the most unique and profitable research in educating deaf people to talk, that has ever been attempted.

He catches a deaf child's interest and teaches him to control his voice by letting him "feel" speech with his fingertips against a vibrating instrument.

Pa can't see why I need a new coat. No man ever thinks a woman's coat is worn out if he can't see holes in it.

David Lawrence Says:

Alger Hiss Must Remove Cloud Surrounding Him

WASHINGTON — Alger Hiss has paid his penalty under the law. Anybody else in the same circumstances is entitled to be accorded by his fellow men a chance to rehabilitate himself. To pursue Alger Hiss to tell what he knows about Communist activities in the government may be a logical objective of some congressional committee in the future, but it would be wiser to leave a decision on further revelations—if, indeed, Alger Hiss can contribute any—to him alone.

As matters stand today, the statute of limitations has run on any crime committed before or in the five years after World War II, and there can be no prosecution of anybody in that connection. But any evidence of wartime acts in violation of espionage laws can be prosecuted.

So far as anybody here knows, there is no evidence concerning any wartime violation of law by Alger Hiss. This means there is no plan by the Department of Justice to try to make any further case against him.

Thus, the future of Alger Hiss is in his own hands. But what will the public think about him? Will he be accepted by his former friends? Rarely in American history has there been a case of one so prominent in government and in the collegiate world who, after serving a sentence for perjury, comes back to an atmosphere still surcharged with memories of his two trials and the sensational charges that surrounded them.

What attitude shall society take toward Alger Hiss? Somewhat the same problem was posed shortly after Hiss was convicted, when there was widespread criticism of Dean Acheson, then secretary of state, who said he refused to turn his back on his friend. This correspondent wrote at that time—February 1950—as follows:

"When the jury rendered its verdict of guilty, Mr. Acheson didn't attempt to dodge the inevitable recurrence of the same question when put to him by the reporters. He didn't say, however, as had been misrepresented since, that he believed Hiss innocent. He expressed no view on that phase of it but simply pointed out, in effect, that, irrespective of whether Hiss went to jail or not, he would continue to give him his friendship.

"This is a far cry from condoning treason or any other crime. It assumed merely that Hiss, by the verdict if nothing else, had already received more punishment before his countrymen than a jail sentence could inflict. It assumed, too, that the rehabilitation of a man gone wrong is an obligation imposed on society as a whole—now recognized as an enlightened attitude in penology. It assumed also that the Christian spirit is not something to which men pay lip service on Sundays, but which they sometimes forget on weekdays because it might bring down upon them cynical charges of mawkishness or softness."

Will the people who knew Hiss turn their backs on him now, or will they assist him in rehabilitation?

Much will depend on the attitude of the man himself. For he never has publicly conceded that the jury was right in convicting him of perjury. In the eyes of many people, therefore, he has not atoned for his sin, though he has paid the penalty of the law.

So far as the jury's judgment is concerned, it was based to no small extent on the flat statement by Hiss that he never was a Communist. Since his trial, at which witnesses testified that he perjured himself on this point, another witness—Nathaniel Weyl—who broke with the Communists, has stated under oath that he personally saw Hiss paying Communist dues several times.

There have been many ex-Communists who have been received into respected circles of American life but primarily because they "turned state's evidence," so to speak, and aided their own government by furnishing all the information they had about the Communist infiltration movement in which they had participated.

Alger Hiss should be left to make his voluntary atonement for his crime, but, if he chooses to remain silent altogether, he will not soon regain, even among his friends, some of the esteem he once had. For he is still the center of an unexplained mystery. He was prominent in the councils of the Department of State at a critical time. He was present at the Yalta Conference as a trusted adviser of Edward Stettinius, who was then secretary of state.

Whatever the scope of his wrongdoing and however narrow it may be, the future of Alger Hiss depends now on how much of the cloud that has enveloped his reputation he himself will remove. Public opinion is not charitably inclined toward anyone who does not voluntarily tell the facts about a crime committed by others of which he has firsthand knowledge. For today undisclosed information about the past relations between Soviet Russia and the American government is still of vital interest to the security of the United States.

Baering Down

With Zwicker in Japan and Schine in Alaska it looks like McCarthy has a fine start toward a travel bureau.

We'll also say with Kipling I wouldn't want to be the man who sent Jack Barrett there.

We've followed this nimble case from the time they started launching battleships indoors. For the next two years Schine will be skipping those weekends at El Clippo.

The intervening landscaping traversed by Zwicker and Schine demonstrates the centrifugal force of an official investigation. Twenty-three months in Alaska will cool off the kid's postcards.

We don't grapple the strategy of the Zwickerian expedition to Japan. There are closer beachheads.

It has been our contention that absence is an excellent lawyer and distance a wonderful argument. But why the polar expeditions? When the Army wants to quarantine you it strums a seven-meridian chord on the Aeolian harp. You're gone with the breeze.

The top brass polishes itself with friction. Nobody sees eye-to-eye at the squint level. We still hold it is a good thing for morale.

We stroll with Omar through the portals of bewilderment. When the zebras chase the lions it will be on carousels.

McCarthy was right in his statement to the press. No posse ever carried a skipping rope.

Nevertheloose, the committee would have lowered the boom gently if McCarthy hadn't piled up a log jam of non-retractable conversational gear.

Brady Says Tonsillectomy No Better Than Simpler Tonsillotomy at Home

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

In the richest medical journal in America appeared a description of a method for reducing the danger of hemorrhage after tonsillectomy, by a member of the Department of Surgery, Division of Otolaryngology, of one of the foremost schools of medicine and surgery.

The operation takes about 30 minutes for an adult, twenty minutes for a child. Main feature of the method is that after blunt dissection, and cold wire snare to remove tonsil tissue extending into the tongue the operator inserts four or five interrupted catgut sutures to close the wound completely but without undue tension. Then the whole procedure is repeated on the other side of the throat.

Whatdaya mean formidable? In 634 cases of "closed fossa tonsillectomy," as the method is called, most of them children from 3 to 10 years of age, there was no post-operative bleeding, except two accidental hemorrhages —a girl aged 7, three days after operation, slipped away from her mother and dived off the high tower with her mouth open, tearing the sutures out of the right side; and a man 65 who jammed his lower dental plate into the right tonsil fossa and tore out the sutures.

Children more often than not eat fair sized breakfasts the morning after closed fossa tonsillectomy. Swallowing is easier than it is after the ordinary atrocity. Healing is complete in four or five days. Adults can return to work in a week.

The questiton of the danger from buried tonsil tags is answered by the surgeon quite frankly: "If the tonsil is removed by careful blunt dissection by a competent surgeon, the number of remnants of tonsil tissue should be minimal."

Where have I heard something like that before?

The surgeon who describes closed fossa tonsillectomy does not explain, probably doesn't think it necessary to explain why we should make a major operation, out of what should be a simple office or home operation, as simple, as painful or painless and as safe as the extraction of a tooth — tonsillotomy, instantaneously "clipping" or slicking off the obstructing portion of tonsil.

I just can't understand why a physician, surgeon or throat specialist should attempt anything more than simply tonsillotomy for enlarged tonsils.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

General Bows to Lowest Rank

Private Beats Brass to Be Golf Champion of Ft. Meade

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON (UP) — What's new in Washington:

Lt. Gen. Floyd L. Parks of Ft. Meade, Md., 2nd Army commander, who once was senior golf champion of the U. S. Army, bowed to the lowest of rank.

Pvt. Dan Sikes of Jacksonville, Fla., took the brass over the bunkers and fairways. The private licked him good.

Sikes, in winning the Ft. Meade championship, shot a 71-72 for 143 over the rough course. The general, who usually shoots in the 70s, fired an 80-83—163.

Sikes was a soldier. He saulted. captain of the University of Florida golf team in 1950-51.

Congress finds that Army and Navy tickets are popular at the last minute. Each senator and representative is allowed to buy eight tickets from each academy. At six dollars a ticket that runs into money, which comes out of the law-givers' pocket.

John Erickson, administrative assistant for Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, put it this way:

"Sometimes at the last minute we find ourselves in trouble. All of a sudden the governor and his wife and the lieutenant goveror and his wife and every voter and his wife decide to come.

"But when it looks like a runaway, nobody wants to come and eating $6 tickets isn't much fun. This year, we are all sold out and you can tell the folks back in Arkansas, they needn't mind."

Maj. James Campbell of the Pentagon has a lovely wife named Amy. She is a model and a brunette. Jim is crowing around his own roost these days. Now he is a model, too.

He is among 22 Pentagon characters who have been selected to "model" the new Army blue, which the "models' can wear only when off duty.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon got his first Christmas card yesterday. It was from a man who wants some wealthy American to finance "for my folks about 5 or 10 thousand dollars as a Christmas present to buy a 40-acre farm on the Rhine in Germany.

The man said he would be happy to go along with the deal and raise a bunch of geese, some other poultry, and "one Jersey cow and a few pigs for home use."

All the man wanted in addition to that was a new tractor, and a pickup. The writer was nice enough about it. He added: "I can raise my own feed when I get there. But please, sir, I would like to hear from you before Dec. 1."

Guessing Contest Costs Bank Additional Prizes

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP)—When the bank held a contest to guess the number of coins in a miniature glass house, 15 youngsters and four adoults came up with the right guess—5,005 coins.

The bank decided the $25 prizes in the adult and children divisions would be too small split among the winners so it added additional $25 awards. A drawing was held with the winner getting $25 in each division and the losers splitting the other $25.

Broker Endows Medical Chair to Honor Doctor

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., (AP)—A New York investment banker has endowed a professorship of medicine at Harvard Medical School in honor of Dr. Samuel E. Levine, onetime Boston newsboy, now regarded as one of the world's authorities in heart diseases.

Charles E. Merrill, in making an initial gift of $400,000 to the university to provide the major part of the endowment, said of Dr. Levine, "He has helped me to a great degree from time to time — indeed, I believe he has saved my life."

Dr. Levine is clinical professor of medicine at Harvard. A native of Lomza, Poland, he once sold papers on the street of Boston and his education at Harvard College and Harvard Medical School was made possible by the Old Boston Newsboys Union.

$92,000 in Jewelry Is Reported Stolen

WEST ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Police last night reported the theft of $92,000 in jewelry from the home of wealthy manufacturer Anthony DeSiderio.

The loot, police said, was taken from a small wall safe in a bedroom closet by thieves who may have telephoned the home before they broke in through a window.

The theft first became known through a 13-state alarm sent out yesterday by West Orange police but actually was committed last Friday night. Details of the crime were withheld at first by local officials.

DeSiderio and his family had been out of the 15-room house when the thieves forced a window on a rear porch.

Jailing of 13 May Backfire

Move Seen as Injurious to China's Bid in U.N., Formosa Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington officials were hopeful today that Red China's imprisonment of 13 Americans as "spies" would boomerang against Peiping in the diplomatic struggles of the cold war.

Authorities here looked for two likely results:

1. Communist China will lose support for its drive to wig general diplomatic recognition and a seat in the United Nations.

2. British efforts for a compromise between Washington and Peiping on Chinese Nationalist-held Formosa will be dropped at least for the present. British officials indicated they shared this view.

The 13 Americans—11 airmen and two civilians—were captured during the Korean War and this week, according to Peiping radio, got sentences ranging from four years to life.

Of particular interest in Washington was the British government's sharp condemnation yesterday of the imprisonments as an "outrageous" violation of international law. In much the same vein as earlier U.S. protests, London accused the Chinese Reds of bad faith in deliberately concealing the detention of the 13 men for more than a year after the Korean armistice.

A personal Thanksgiving Day message was sent by President Eisenhower to the wives and mothers of the 13.

Eisenhower pledged again that every "feasible" effort would be made to free the 13 and any other Americans in Communist hands.

In New York, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., top American delegate to the U.N., issued a statement denouncing the Communist sentences as "a new act of barbarism" and still another reason why Red China should not be seated in the U.N.

The U.S. government has already laid the groundwork for delivering a stiff protest to Peiping through its representatives in Geneva, Switzerland—the only point affording direct diplomatic contact between the two governments.

Should efforts at Geneva fail, State Department officials were scanning other avenues through which they might exert pressure on Red China short of military action. (Eisenhower has talked only in terms of "peaceful" means).

One alternative under study was to seek the good offices of some government which recognizes Red China, such as Britain or perhaps even Russia. Another was to bring the case before the U.N.

Soviets Restore Church Damaged During War

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union, which recently has soft-pedaled its long campaign against religion, today announced the restoration of a noted Catholic church in the Ukrainian city of Lvov which was damaged by a World War II German bomb.

A Moscow radio broadcast identified the structure as the Church of Mary Magdalene, "a monument of 17th century architecture." The broadcast said:

"This restoration work was done by the parishioners with the assistance of the city architectural board. Religious services have been resumed."

Charlie Chaplin Deserves All Russians Can Provide

By MARGARET LATROBE

They tell me Charlie Chaplin is planning a new movie describing the harsh fate of "the little man in America." Hot dog! Herewith is my check for a block of reserved seats and a bushel of large juicy tomatoes.

Just to be perverse about it, I was never one who fell on my face over the fey Chaplin, self-styled genius. Always hoped he would fall on his or tumble over the cliff or whatever peril seemed imminent in those early day flickers of his.

Jackie Coogan playing the pathetic waif stooge could bring honest tears to my childish eyes —but Chaplin looked just like Hitler to me, even then. Before Hitler, that is.

Some 50 thousand people have just been welcomed as new citizens of America. They pledged themselves to defend their country, to do honor to it, to love it. But Chaplin? He's laughing. He knows what a "disillusionment" life in America can be.

When he left our shores, with the lucky girl he married (4th? 5th?) and the kids (the last batch, that is; there are some still unaccounted for, here and there) he didn't exactly renounce America. He had it jerked from under his out-size flat feet.

After sending wife Oona back home to fetch the rest of the movable money, he let the world know what a shabby place America really is. But whatever disappointment he may have felt about getting the skiddoo from Uncle Sam was made up by Uncle Ivan, who placed Russia's peace prize on Charlie's noble brow.

When this grand gesture hit the front pages, choked up with emotion I could only murmur — "It couldn't have happened to a nicer guy!" A guy who deserves all the bounties Russia can provide. A real gent, who doubtless will move the wife and kids to a swell apartment right in the center of Moscow where he can keep close tab on the other peace-loving characters we all admire.

Can't think of a better fate for Charlie than the charms, the freedoms, the gaiety and good times of — Russia.

For this new home (which he, of course, isn't about to leave for) shall we send him a little housewarming present? Maybe that bushel of tomatoes, even if slightly overripe? Presents should be useful as well as ornamental, eh?

Indian-American Friction Felt Mainly in New Delhi

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—American and Indian relations are severely strained, but it should not take much to bring about a new period of good will between the two countries. This conclusion emerges from a curvey of diplomats, officials and businessmen—including some Americans—working and residing in India.

Most of these observers agree differences in foreign policy are the main cause of American-Indian antagonisms.

"There's no anti-Americanism among us," said an Indian official with finality. "We do not like your government's foreign policy, and there was considerable irritation when you gave arms aid to Pakistan; but that doesn't mean we're anti-American."

An American educator, here several years, seconded this opinion and added:

"Sure, many Americans here complain of anti-Americanism. But those who complain loudest usually do so for personal reasons. If something goes wrong in their work out here, or if they fail in their jobs, they find it easy to blame Indian 'anti-Americanism.'"

However, a European diplomat, whose view seemed to be supported by most surveyed, felt that in New Delhi at least there is a certain amount of anti-Americanism. He commented:

"On an individual level most Indians and Americans get along beautifully. Outside New Delhi there is nothing like 'anti-Americanism.'

"It's in New Delhi where it's felt. There have been so many attacks on American foreign policy by the Prime Minister (Jawaharlal Nehru) and other high officials that many Indians in New Delhi cannot help but be stirred emotionally against Americans."

India has never agreed fully with the U.S. policy of building up an anti-Communist coalition. Washington, on the other hand, always has been cool toward India's advocacy of peaceful coexistence with the Reds. Despite this dispute, India and the United States have maintained fairly good relations.

The foreign policy disagreement exploded with the U.S. decision to give military aid to Pakistan. But an Indian newspaperman said:

"Nehru could change the whole attitude in this country toward Americans by a single statement."

Storm in England Halts Sailing of Queen Mary

LONDON (INS)—Gale winds and torrential rains hit many sections of England today and prevented the scheduled sailing of the liner Queen Mary from Southampton for New York.

The Cunard line said it hoped the big ship carrying 820 passengers, could leave at 11 a.m. (6 a.m., EST) Saturday.

There were reports of flooding in some parts of the country as a result of the heavy downpour.

Polio Susceptibility Studied by Doctor

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—A professor at Tulane University has begun a study to see whether susceptibility to paralytic polio can be inherited.

Dr. H. Warner Kloepfer, who will make the study under a $8,030 grant of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said that although polio could not be inherited, there might be certain hereditary traits that might allow some persons to get polio more easily than others.

He said a theory that such susceptibility might be carried in the genes has never been accepted or ruled out.

Dr. Kloepfer's study will include an examination of records of 75 to 100 families. Each will consist of parents of four or more living children in which at least one child has had paralytic polio.

Vicar Objects to Clergymen's 'Crowlike' Attire

MERTON, England (UP) — Clerical clothing, says a vicar of the Church of England, make clergymen look "like so many old crows." He wants reform, maybe a snappy but dignified waistcoat with checks.

The vicar is the Rev. Denis Large of St. James Church. In an article in his parish magazine, published today, he said:

"The garb of the cleric is probably the most unsightly, comfortless garment that has ever been devised. Must the clergy hop about like so many crows creating the impression that religion is a dreary affair associated wth funerals and public mourning?

"At least the cloth might proclaim a cergyman to be a man of good cheer, and I see no theological reason why it should not also proclaim him a man of good taste."

Gas, Oil Taxes Eyed for Roads

U.S. Is Seen Favoring Plan to Use Revenue for Highway Projects

WASHINGTON (INS) — The administration is reportedly favoring a plan today whereby a billion dollars in federal taxes paid by motorists every year would be used for highway building and improvement.

Officials said the plan is looked on with favor by a special presidential commission headed by Gen. Lucius Clay which is charged with finding a way to meet the nation's future road needs.

As the diversion idea now appears, the government would set up a roads authority which would issue government - guaranteed bonds to pay the government's share of the projected ten-year road building program over a long period of time.

The government's share will probably run to 25 billion dollars over and above its current contributions to road building.

These bonds would be repaid from federal taxes on gasoline and lubricating oil now bringing the federal government a billion dollars a year in revenue.

The plan has the advantage of spreading out over a great number of years the cost of a program which could not be paid for from regular revenue.

Boy, 12, Is Injured in Two-Car Crash

Ronald E. Jones, 12, of 7290 Engleman, Centerline, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital after he was knocked unconscious during an auto accident at US10 and Telegraph road yesterday.

Jones, treated for head injuries and scalp cuts, was a passenger in a car driven by his step-father, Richard Potter, 31, which was struck from behind by another auto as Potter waited for the traffic light to change.

Potter and the other motorist, Freddie Blakely, 44, of 4189 Canton, Detroit, were not injured.

According to Michigan State Police of the Pontiac Post, both motorists were northbound on US10 when Blakely lost control of his auto and skidded into the rear of the Potter car.

Norway OKs Treaties for Rearming Germany

OSLO, Norway (UP)—The Norwegian Parliament last night approved German rearmament and membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The vote was 126-7 for ratification of the Paris accords. There were 17 absentees.

Denmark also has ratified the agreements and a House of Commons vote has assured British approval.

Funeral to Be Saturday

Manistee Forest Group Picks Festival President

MANISTEE (UP) — The Manistee National Forest Festival Association has chosen Erwin Bark as president of the 1955 festival which will be held July 2-4. He succeeds Floyd Clement.

The 1954 festival made a profit of $550 which boosted the festival's balance to $1,500.

Although the first U. S. fountain pen patent was issued in 1830, such pens were not considered practical until the 1880s.

Another Hiss Case Today 'Highly Unlikely'---Nixon

WASHINGTON (UP)—Is another "Hiss case" possible?

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who played a major role in bringing Alger Hiss to book, thinks it highly unlikely under present government security programs.

Nixon also feels that Hiss, former state department official, never would have gone to prison except for the tireless investigations of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

The vice president has refused to comment on the release tomorrow of Hiss from the Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary. Nor will Nixon discuss publicly the details of his own role—as a member of the Un-American Activities Committee—in the case which eventually put Hiss behind bars for perjury and skyrocketed Nixon to high office.

But Nixon's recent remarks in campaign speeches and elsewhere clearly underline his belief that the Eisenhower administration's security program will trap loyalty suspects such as Hiss who might have been cleared under former regulation.

The vice president's harping on that point provoked bitter controversies between him and the Democrats during the recent congressional campaign. But he stuck to his attacks.

He once said:

"Under the security risk program of the previous administration, Alger Hiss probably would have been cleared due to the fact that his connections (with subversive groups) were secret, although there was evidence of association which indicated some doubt about his security. His personal loyalty could not have been disproved because it was his word against that of someone else."

Under the Eisenhower program Nixon said recently, "it is very unlikely that another Hiss case would occur," although there is always the possibility because—as he put it—real espionage agents "don't go around carrying cards."

Nixon was a little-known congressman in 1948, only two years from the obscurity of a smalltown California law practice when the House committee was digging into charges that the government once was honeycombed with secret Communist spy rings.

A writer and admitted former communist, Whittaker Chambers, named Hiss.

A dramatic "confrontation" followed. Hiss coolly denied Chambers' charges. The committee appeared willing to believe Hiss. But Nixon and some other members remained skeptical.

Largely through Nixon's efforts, which turned up corroborating evidence, Hiss eventually was indicted for perjury and convicted.

The vice president is known to feel strongly that all congressional investigations of subversive activities should be concentrated in one committee. He has told friends that the committee might be either House, Senate or joint, but it should be given the responsibility and manned with able lawyers for members.

Holiday Recess for High Schools

St. Fred's Give Party, Mike's Make Donation and PHS Plans Play

St. Frederick

Seniors have been spending their religion periods all week practicing for their Dec. 8 program which includes a skit and hymns. Following, in the evening, will be a procession of seniors in caps and gowns and the crowning of Our Lady.

One day this week sister told her junior boys that she didn't want them to talk any more while they were walking over from Mass to school. The next morning not a word was uttered. They were all too busy whistling, "Shake, Rattle and Roll."

All the cheerleaders and football players are still licking their chops, thinking of the delicious spaghetti dinner given them by their parents Saturday night in the hall.

The parents said it was in return for the many hours of long practice and hard fought battles during the football season. Thanks are in order for the parents—everyone appreciated it.

MARLENE

The entire student body was busy congratulating the junior class this week on thier successful Fall Frolic.

Two new blackboards erected on second floor this week for all announcements kept students floundering for excuses when not on time for special doings.

Leading the parade in junior high was the eighth grade in room 209, while the second graders topped their competitors in the grade school. All the funds from this contest will buy new books for the school library.

Because of school being in session only three days this week, little is known of what happened on Thursday and Friday except from student predictions on Wednesday. Thursday was spent sleeping late, stuffing on nice brown turkey, dressing, gravy, cranberries and various Thanksgiving treats, while Friday was spent wishing they hadn't made such gluttons of themselves on Thursday.

St. Michael

The smiles of Michaelites were not unfounded this week as they enjoyed a two-day vacation on Thursday and Friday to celebrate the Thanksgiving holiday.

Last Friday night Michaelites, accompanied by Father Immel, boarded the school bus and headed for the Rolladium where they skated away the evening at the CYO gathering.

Everyone from frosh to seniors contributed to the annual Red Cross drive this week. Contributions were over the top, and each student proudly carries the card of the American Junior Red Cross.

Speaking of contributions, Michaelites' pockets were really emptied this week as they all dug deep for the Christmas play and as seniors sent a Christmas goodwill box to a mission in India.

Subscription drive for the Michaelite is under way this week.

MARCEE

St. Mike's girls were really busy this week as basketball practice started. Milly Robak will coach this year. A Vocations Day trip to Nazareth College last Sunday added to the girls' busy schedules.

Michaelites were surprised to see Fr. Wilbur Seudkamp over TV last Sunday night. Fr. Seudkamp was a former CYO director at St. Mike's.

Seniors were very busy this week deciding on their motto: "The road alone is ours to conquer; hold high the torch that lights the path." They also selected their graduation announcements.

Pontiac High

Thoughts of turkey and cranberry sauce in the minds of PHS'ers will continue until Monday, as their vacation this year for the Thanksgiving holiday includes Thursday, Friday and Monday.

Tuesday the 2400 students at PHS visited the Genera Motors plants thoughout the city, celebrating GM's 50 millionth car. Taking time out for cider and doughnuts, students returned to school after a two and a half hour tour.

While most clubs took a breather for the holiday, the newly organized Fencing Club has been quite active. Officers were recently elected, with Arthur Schulz as president, Don Hegeman vice president. Vicky Micu is the new secretary and the armor is William McPherson.

VICKI

Club officers have been working on a constitution, and posters and emblems have been submitted for approval.

Recently elected officers for the Booster Club are Dixie Tharp, president, vice president, Delores Turnbull, secretary, Juanita Neidrick, treasurer, Salley Roth, historian, Marilee Minesinger, and sergeant-at-arms are Jacie Pyle, Alex Seckles.

Thespians held a hayride followed by a potluck supper at Mary Parrish's Wednesday evening. Ten couples attended and plans for the year were discussed.

Ron Cummings takes charge of the stage crew and Barbara Welch is chairman of the wardrobe committee. Ron Cummings, Don Hegeman and Ken Lonigan are doing the lights. Sound is by Dick Ramsdell and Myrna Paul will take care of properties.

Hit-and-Run Pedestrian Chased for Four Blocks

PARIS, Ky. (AP)—You've heard of a hit and run driver. But have you heard of a hit-and-chase motorist? O. A. Johnson's car struck an 8-year-old girl after she darted from a sidewalk. She was knocked down, but got up screaming. Then she fled with Johnson in pursuit.

He caught her after four blocks and took her to a hospital. She had only a minor bruise.

Julie Terrien Wears Satin for Wedding

Reception Held in Church Following 2 o'Clock Rite

Julie Terrien wore a gown of white silk crystalette over satin made by her mother as she approached the altar of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church Thursday afternoon to become the bride of Robert Kieft Klopenstein.

The Rev. William Klerekoper of Detroit performed the two o'clock ceremony. He is the son of the minister who married the bridegroom's parents on Thanksgiving day 31 years ago.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. Terrien of East Montcalm street and he is the son of the C. J. Klopfensteins of Battle Creek.

Imported lace medallions trimmed the skirt and bodice of the bridal gown and were repeated on the cap which held a fingertip veil of silk illusion. The bride wore the bridegroom's gift of pearls and carried a cascade arrangement of white fuji chrysanthemums and English ivy.

Charlotte Ward was maid of honor and the bride's cousin, Judy Terrien was junior bridesmaid.

Their ballerina length gowns, also made by the bride's mother, were fashioned of iridescent mauve and green silk crystalette. They wore velvet headpieces and carried cascade arrangements of lavender fuji chrysanthemums with erotan foliage.

Renata Keiss of Toledo sang the bridal recital. John Larson of Kalamazoo was best man and seating the guests were Gene A. Zerlaut of Grant and Phillip Kinsella of Sylvan Lake.

WCTU Outlines Activities at 18th District Session

The executive board of 18th district WCTU met Tuesday afternoon in the Dwight avenue home of Mrs. John Veneman.

Mrs. Joseph Green of Royal Oak, district president, offered for consideration and analysis plans for the coming year's activities as recommended by the state officers in session during the state convention held recently in Holland.

Mrs. Green disclosed the need for more and different branches to take care of the work as outlined. She also pointed out the need for qualified directors and personnel to take charge of the additional duties.

A workshop has been scheduled by the group for mid-January. Purpose of the activity is to bring all groups together and to correlate work as outlined.

A spring institute to be held in February or March is also on the agenda. Mrs. Frank Deaver was proposed as new director of the character building branch of temperance work.

A branch for soldiers and sailors welfare will be activated. Work of the groups will include visitations to homes and hospitals.

Mrs. Greene has been made a life member of the State WCTU. The honor was conferred upon her by Mrs. John J. Little, past president of the 18th district. Mrs. Elva Ashley was appointed house committee chairman, Mrs. Orlie Mason of Drayton Plains was named assistant treasurer.

Dec. 7 is the date for the Pontiac federation meeting. Others attending the Tuesday meeting were Mrs. Little, Mrs. Earle Cunningham of Birmingham, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. William H. McCullough of Farmington, recording secretary.

Designer Says Style Returns

NEW YORK (INS) — American fashion is in the grip of "bosomania," and a noted designer thinks we're in danger of losing the long-favored "long-legged American look."

Ceil Chapman, who's quite a neckline expert, complained:

"There has been so much fuss and confusion lately about the bust line that we seem to have forgotten the rest of the figure."

Mrs. Chapman added that for her holiday collection she's letting the curves remain in their natural places. She said:

"Slinky clothes are coming back."

Buying on Impulse Not Always True

Women may buy many things on impulse, but when it comes to table glassware the ladies know what they want.

A survey shows that out of 1,000 women who made purchases of glass stemware, 69.3 per cent had decided what they wanted before they entered the store.

Problem Faces Teeners

A girl just beginning her teens writes of her discomfort over her undeveloped figure. Most of her friends look like young ladies and she feels awkward because she doesn't yet.

Both sides of this problem are common: The girl who seemingly lags behind her classmates and the one who develops before her friends.

This is completely natural. Just as one girl's height shoots up when she's in the sixth grade and another doesn't grow until she's starting high school, so do girls round out at different ages.

The embarrassment concerns not being completely "average," which no one ever is. There are no exercises that can start a girl on her path to a woman's figure before her body is ready.

There are medical treatments, true, but these are for the very rare girls who haven't matured at all as they enter their twenties. No young teen-ager need seek a doctor. Her problem is waiting.

While she waits, there are many courses she can take. She may wear a padded bra, if she wishes. It will make her clothes fit better. She can start making her clothes at home so that she may have styles that fit her figure but are still appropriate to her age.

She may select camouflaging styles, pleated and ruffled blouses worn with jumpers. The very popular shrug sweaters that look like boleros and button at the neck can make a girl appear to have a larger bosom.

The body works at its own pace. The next corner the flat-bosomed girl turns may be curves.

Fame of Corner Turns to Dust

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Little Jack Horner achieved fame by sitting in a corner but the modern housewife usually finds that corners contribute nothing except to catch dust.

The San Francisco architectural firm of Malone and Hooper have done something about this . . . and provided just what every homemaker needs, more storage space in the kitchen.

Their design is a kitchen corner that is an ideal place for condiment storage and vegetable bins.

They have placed the cabinet and storage drawers on the diagonal corner space to use it to the fullest advantage and have made use of revolving shelves for condiment storage to make life simpler.

The condiment cabinet is over the work level of the drain board-work shelf that circles the two sides of the kitchen, and below the work shelf, they have placed ventilated drawers for vegetables.

The vegetable drawers have air holes on the sides and bottoms and on the outside wall, vent holes have been drilled into the exterior and covered on the inside with a fine mesh screen to keep out insects.

Woman Plumber Makes Good

HANOVER, Mass. (INS) — The only licensed woman plumber in the state of Massachusetts is a 47-year-old Hanover Center housewife who thinks there should be more female plumbers.

Mrs. Grace Norwood points out that history tells how the lead pipes which carried water to the palaces of the Roman emperors were made by women. And she hopes her own record will make it easier for modern women to enter the plumbing field.

Mrs. Norwood had to study three years and pass the master plumbing examination to qualify for her license. She said one of the problems she encountered was the fact that most people thought it was a gag, and another problem was to break down the prejudice of male plumbers who thought plumbing was no place for a woman.

Concert Set December 8 by AAUW

Goldkette Will Be Presented in Special Matinee

Parents of school children in Pontiac area may note with interest that a special matinee performance of the Dec. 8 Jean Goldkette concert is scheduled for the children.

Pontiac Chapter of American Association of University Women is bringing this well knwon American pianist to the city to raise funds for a special project. Proceeds will be turned over to a scholarship fund to bring foreign women to this country for further study.

The children's matinee begins at 3:45 p.m. at Pontiac High School. Besides enjoyment, the concert will serve as a musical education period for the young people, for Mr. Goldkette is planning to explain the music and its composer before it is played.

The evening concert will begin at 8 p.m. Faye Donelson is general chairman for the event. Mr. Goldkette will donate his proceeds to the National Artists Foundation to provide music scholarships to worthy, talented and deserving students.

The artist has been a favorite of American music lovers through millions of records and tours. For a number of years he was absent from the concert stage.

This time was spent in conducting one of the most famous swing orchestras in the country and was among the first to discover such names as Jimmy and Tommy Dorsey, Glen Miller, Bix Beiderbecke, Artie Shaw, Russ Morgan, Glen Gray, Hoagy Carmichael and many others.

He returns to the concert stage in a coast to coast tour to help raise funds for the hundreds of service clubs and organizations who are active in civic work. AAUW promises that he will present a most versatile piano concert with programing designed for popular appeal.

MRS. KENNETH ALLEN KLEYN

Janet Caryl became the bride of Kenneth A. Kleyn of Ann Arbor, Wednesday evening in the Oxford Congregational Church. The Basil J. Caryls of Birmingham and Mrs. George A. Kleyn of Oxford and the late Mr. Kleyn are their parents.

K. A. Kleyn Claims Bride

BIRMINGHAM — At a family wedding Wednesday at six-thirty o'clock in the Oxford Congregational Church, Janet Lillian Caryl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Basil J. Caryl of Watkins St., Birmingham, was married to Kenneth Allen Kleyn of Ann Arbor. He is the son of Mrs. George A. Kleyn of Oxford, and the late Mr. Kleyn.

The bride wore white Chantilly lace over tulle and taffeta in an ankle length gown. A lace cap held a tiered shoulder veil, and she carried a white prayer book with white spray orchids.

Mrs. Caryl's gown was of sheer wool. She wore a white hat and a corsage of rubrum lilies. Mrs. Kleyn wore navq shantung with a matching satin hat and rubrum lily corsage.

Pleats Can Hold Experts Tell Us

Wondering if the pleats in your "permanently pleated" skirt will hold if washed? Clothing specialists of the Department of Agriculture report good results in laundering pleated fabrics with about 50 per cent man-made fibers.

Hot water, mild soap or detergent will not harm the pleats or the fabric. If an automatic washer is used, remove the skirt before the spin dry cycle and simply press the pleats into place with the fingers before hanging the skirt straight to dry. If the skirt is washed by hand or in a non-automatic washer, hang it up to drip-dry and finger-press the pleats after some of the moisture has dripped out.

The clothing specialists suggest first laying the skirt flat on a towel and patting out excess water, then hanging it straight to dry. This speeds drying and also prevents the weight of the water from stretching or pulling the skirt out of shape.

Blue Star Mothers Plan for Needy

Plans were made to pack a Christmas basket for a needy veteran and his family when Blue Star Mothers, Chapter 4, met recently in the YMCA. Mrs. Wilbert Fitzthomas reported on packages sent to servicemen overseas and in the states. It was voted to send cards and gifts to veterans in the TB sanatorium.

The group honored Mrs. George Cervenka who is leaving soon to make her home in California. Mrs. John Yungk was in charge of refreshments. A Christmas party will be held Dec. 8.

Promenaders Hold Dance

Guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Owen Rindfuz of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department Square dance class. Callers for the evening were Oscar Forslund, Harry Anderson, Ralph Erland, Warren Allen and Engel Groenberg.

Decorations were taken care of by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilcox and Mr and Mrs. Kenneth Wilcox. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hahn and Pat Wolfe were named honorary members of Promenaders.

Club members will donate items for a Christmas basket, to be presented to a needy family, when they gather on Dec. 14 for their Christmas dance.

There's Always Enough Room

There's always room for a stove, refrigerator and sink in your home, says a West Coast manufacturer, even if all the space you can spare is 37 inches wide, 38 inches high and 26 inches deep.

A three-in-one installation offering all the necessary kitchen equipment for just this small a space was exhibited at the Merchandise Mart in San Francisco.

It is designed for the small apartment, or the weekend cabin. The top has a sink, work space and two burners, and the base is a refrigerator with a freezing compartment and vegetable bin, and a storage cabinet for supplies and pots and pans.

The burners can be either gas or electric.

The December meeting will be advanced to Dec. 4 and will be held at the home of Betty Whitson.

Red Wears Red

A redhead should wear red, too, not just green. But it should be orangey rather than bluish, to bring out the good colors in her hair. A blue-red will drain it off.

Nice compromise on the storm coat: in dark colors, it has a furry collar, double breast. It doesn't look as dreary as the old overcoat-brown one, but it's as warm and weatherproof.

New Kind of Business Venture Proves Interesting to One Inquirer

Her Luxury Thrift Shop Needs Careful Planning

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"Some months ago," a reader writes, "you mentioned a shop that sold secondhand clothes, nice ones, and had a good clientele. There is no such place in our city, and I am thinking of starting one.

"Can you tell me how to go about it? I don't want a junk shop, or the usual kind of thrift shop. I'd like to handle really good dresses that have been renovated, and sell them to nice people."

First of all, you'll have to get in touch with the really rich women in the city. You might check with the swankier women's clubs, or perhaps, if you tell why you want it, you might buy such a list from the top jeweler.

Then approach these women by writing each a note, giving some idea of what you have in mind, and asking for an appointment with them.

When you see them, tell them that there are many women in the city who would love fine clothes, but cannot afford them. Ask if you can have their dresses, when they have finished with them, to handle on consignment.

You will clean and repair them if necessary, and sell them, in your shop, to other women. You will give the original owner a percentage of the sales price. The percentage varies, and I'd suggest you consult with a good accountant on this matter.

Many of the wealthy women will refuse, at least at first, but some will agree, since almost anyone likes the idea of a little extra cash for something that might otherwise be thrown away. Also, many of them will be glad to help make it possible for business girls to dress better.

Then, get a tiny shop, or, if zoning permits, you might operate from your own home. Notify the business and professional club members in your city. It might be nice to have a small opening party, and invite the women's page writers of your local papers, and women interviewers on radio and television, as well as the business and professional women. Advertise in your local papers, and perhaps get a listing in your classified telephone book.

And—tell everyone about it. All your friends, and all the people with whom you do business. Maybe your accountant's wife would like to buy a French original at low prices. Tell your cleaner, and all the tradespeople in your neighborhood. Let the word get around.

But plan to build slowly, since it does take time. In the beginning, you'll probably have to do your own minor repairs, because you won't be able to afford a seamstress.

Exhibition Is Problem to Mother

Told to Consider Where She Plans to Hold Display

By EMILY POST

The mother of a young artist writes me: "My daughter has painted quite a few pictures for which she has received prizes. I would like to exhibit these pictures so that our many friends and neighbors can see them.

Will you please tell me how I go about inviting them to this exhibit, and also if it is necessary to serve some sort of refreshments? As this is all new to me, I would appreciate any help you can give me."

If there are many pictures and they are being hung in a gallery and shown to the general public, no refreshments would be served. You merely have a card printed, "Exhibition of pictures by Miss Mary Smith at such and such a gallery," and the day (or days) and hours on which they are to be shown.

If they are being shown at your house, then you write across the top of your visiting card the day and time the pictures are to be shown and in the lower left corner, "To see Mary's pictures," or to those who do not know her intimately, "To see my daughter Mary's pictures." It would be nice to serve either tea, or punch, with small cakes or sandwiches.

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiance and I had planned to announce our engagement within the next two weeks, when his father died suddenly one week ago. I have my ring but do not feel I should wear it until our engagement has been officially announced. I would like to know how long we should wait (out of respect to his father) before announcing our engagement?

You may announce your engagement any time. That is, tell your most intimate friends the news and send a notice to the newspaper. But no party should be given for at least several weeks.

Dear Mrs. Post: May I invite some of my office associates to my wedding and not others without causing bad feelings? There are too many to ask all.

If there are certain ones whom you know better than others, it would be quite all right to invite these without risk of hurting the feelings of those you do not know really well. But if there are not some who are known to be your especial friends, you should invite all or none.

A long, low whistle has the same effect on a girl as a shot of adrenalin.

Forgiveness Is Real Test of Our Own Self Trust

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. R. and Don's father were divorced soon after he was born. A year later, she married Mr. R. Until last week, Don believed him to be his father.

Then Mr. R.'s sister told him he wasn't. She blurted the truth at him, wrecking his parents' plan to tell it to him gently on his forthcoming seventh birthday.

Writes his mother: "It was deliberate malice. She wants to destroy my marriage. Our minister says I must forgive her. He kept reminding me that Jesus said, 'forgive them for they know not what they do.' I can't forgive her."

If the people who crucified Jesus didn't know what they were doing, He knew exactly. He recognized the uselessness of their behavior with surpassing clarity. And with absolute trust in His judgement of it; was able to forgive it.

Mrs. R. doesn't have that kind of trust in her judgement of her sister-in-law's behavior.

That is why she can't forgive it.

If she doesn't believe me, let her ask herself why she wrote to me. Isn't her letter really an appeal to me to confirm her judgement for her?

Of course it is. So let's try and figure out what is obstructing her trust of her own judgement of this malice.

Her sister-in-law has said, in essence: "You are not a real family. My brother is a fool; you and your child are interlopers who exploit him."

What self-accusation in Mrs. R. is responding to this malice? Does she doubt that her love for Mr. R. is sufficient reward for Don's support? Is she accusing herself because she may not be able to give him a son of his own? Did Don's father leave her with a feeling of worthlessness?

Let's put aside forgiveness of Mr. R.'s sister until we are absolutely certain that her accusation is a lie.

Then forgiveness will come of itself.

It's a great mistake to worry because we can't forgive people who call us bad. Very few of us possess Jesus' serene certainty of goodness. So most of us fear that the people who call us bad may be right, and thus we cannot judge the stupidity of their accusation.

It might be helpful if we'd stop talking about forgiveness as though it were a greeting card to be bought at the corner. Actually, it's a tremendous test of our self-trust. It springs from knowledge that the badness Mr. R.'s sister sees in us is her badness, not ours.

Custom Look in Leather Is Popular Now

NEW YORK (NEA) — The custom-made look in leather appears in the resort collections in combination with pastel colors, imported cashmere and fine handloomed woolens.

The colors have the glowing beauty of the tropics. There's a special emphasis on pale pink, blue, lilac and green for both daytime and formal wear. But there are stronger shades, too, and the muted colorings: Pale beige, smoky gray, tangerine, purple, a softened yellow and charcoal and black in the velvety suedes.

Suits demonstrate great variety in jacket types: Bloused, spencer, boxy and gently fitted. Most are fitted to the figure by careful cut and detailing. The coat silhouette most liked is full and flowing but there are some wraparounds and some that have a belted-in fullness.

Shoulders are gently rounded and there's lots of collar interest with variations on the shawl, notched and petal collars.

Many daytime suits get companion tweeds for skirts and for jacket trim. Or, beautiful cashmeres are dyed to match the leather. Some of the formal greatcoats have fur and jewels as trimming.

Make Door Pocket

Door pockets fastened to the inside of your closet door are good space savers. You can use a regular shoe bag for the pockets are just about the right size. Or, you may want to make your own set of pockets from a sturdy material, like denim. These little pockets will hold many odds and ends — clothes brush, whisk broom, hankies, artificial flowers and so on.

Manners

MAKE FRIENDS

If you remember just two rules making introductions will be easy. One is to present the man to the woman. The other is present the younger woman to the older woman or the younger man to the older man.

With those rules in mind, it's as simple as one, two.

Her Mother Sincerely Likes Boy

She Merely Shows She Considers Him Casual Friend

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: When Mark is over at our house my mother can't do enough for him. That's very nice — but when we have company or go to visit relatives she knocks him. She'll say he's not so cute or some such remark. This is very embarrassing.

I'll admit he's no movie star but he is cute and a wonderful person. I've begged and pleaded with my mother to stop, but to no avail. Can you help me?"

You can't bear the merest whisper of a breeze of criticism about Mark, can you? Most girls bristle mightily when mention of the boy friend's name isn't bedecked with bouquets. Your mother's remarks embarrass you.

But do you notice that she doesn't preach what she practices? She's all apple pie to Mark. She acts as though she likes him and approves of your going together. Her comments, I suspect, are to persuade her friends and relatives that she doesn't take you two very seriously. She doesn't want them to think she considers it a BIG THING.

You take her knocking very seriously, of course. You take it very personally when your treasure is blasted. And your hurt has shown itself in your very serious pleading with your mother to stop torturing you.

It's become quite a mountain. But you might get a different perspective on it if you'd ask your mother very quietly and calmly what she's trying to prove by running Mark down to her friends. See if you can get her to explain why she's one way to his face and another behind his back. If you tackle her in grown-up fashion she might give you her grown-up reasons for her teasing. Understanding each other will give you a different angle — and will make it much easier to laugh it off.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm 15 and I've gone out with boys quite often so I'm not usually in need of help where one is concerned. But I have met a really nice boy that I like very much.

Last week he wrote me saying he likes me very much and he wants me to be his girl friend. Though I like him very much, I don't know what to say to him. I get very flustered when I'm near him, so the only way I could tell him I like him is by letter. But I'm at a loss for words. Please help me."

"It's funny how you're attracted to some people on first sight, while other people make no dent in you at all. I liked you right off the bat, and I'm so glad you liked me too. I hope you'll like me more and more, the better you get to know me."

That's making it easy — to say, or to write. Why make a mountain out of it when he said what you wanted to hear, and you're eager to tell him what he's waiting for?

PETUNIA!

I take the clothes and blankets out
And then I sand it well —
For what's a cedar chest without
Its lovely cedar smell?

Fine idea, Petunia! In time, cedar chests and drawers lose their aroma because the pores of the wood become dust-clogged. Sand lightly but thoroughly.

The candle caddy is a useful and decorative accessory. It carries its own candle and box for safety matches. It's extremely handy in the event of a power failure and is perfect for lighting after-dinner smokes. A wonderful gift for the host or hostess, the practical and charming ornament has an overall height of six inches and is available in either gold plated or silver plated finishes.

Anticipate Christmas With Salad

Milwaukee Visitor Sends Recipe for Frozen Delicacy

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

When a promised recipe comes in the mail it's like getting a present. It's nice to have people remember.

With Thanksgiving behind us—but just—our thoughts turn to Christmas. Today's recipe is for a Frozen Christmas Salad. You may certainly serve it at any time, but consider it in the days ahead as part of your holiday menus.

Mrs. Arthur E. Miller of Milwaukee is today's contributor. She was a recent visitor in Pontiac. We know she is an active member of the PEO Sisterhood.

FROZEN CHRISTMAS SALAD
By Mrs. Arthur E. Miller

2 egg yolks
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons terragon vinegar
1 can (No. 2) crushed pineapple, drained
¼ pound marshmallows, cubed
½ pound pecan meats, cut
¼ pound candied cherries, cut
1 pint whipping cream, whipped stiff

Mix egg yolks, sugar and vinegar together and cook until thickened. Cool. Add rest of ingredients. Pack into freezer pans and freeze. Serve on slices of lettuce leaves.

To make the salad a real Christmasy one use both red and green candied cherries.

The basic black dress, by a change of accessories, can head for the office, and on toward evening gaiety.

Miss J. G.—The basic black dress depends to a large extent for its effectiveness on accessories. The mood of the dress can be changed by a change in accessories, creating an office outfit and smart looking evening dress.

Get Garden With Home in 'Frisco'

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — Buy a home in a new subdivision south of San Francisco and you get a complete professionally-planned garden thrown in—with one slight hitch.

What you get are do-it-yourself garden plans and a manual of instructions, drawn up by professionals.

Andres F. Oddstad, president of Homes by Sterling, developers of the Rollingwood subdivision, explained that his firm believes that indoor-outdoor living is no longer an editor's cliche but a present actuality. He said:

"The California home buyer is gradually realizing that outdoor areas properly developed serve as a extra 'living room' and can be developed at a fraction of similar indoor space."

The subdivision of some 400 homes has eight exterior variations in each of three plans and garden designs for each of the three plans include three variations of planting, making the number of combinations practically limitless.

When a Rollingwood resident moves into his home — from $11,950 up — he receives a blueprint of his patio area including isometric details of benches, fences screens, barbecues, etc.

Plans for planting include types of flowers and shrubs most suited for best effects, a detailed manual explaining exactly how to go about building the garden and how to care for it. Even fertilizers and watering schedules are suggested.

Experience Is Hidden in Corners

Self-Search Can Be Helpful in Finding Career Starter

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

If helping others is as much fun as it's supposed to be, Sidney and Mary Edlund are undoubtedly among the world's happiest folk. For these two, starting from a sparetime hobby, have made a business out of aiding thousands of men and women to choose, and then land, the jobs they want.

Back in the depths of the depression years, Edlund and his wife were fooling around with a fairly revolutionary idea: That a job hunt was really a sales campaign and the job-seeker should build himself up as if he were, say, soap, real estate or a refrigerator.

"Instead of asking for work," Edlund explains, "you offer a service and you expose yourself and your capabilities for performing the service to as many prospects as possible."

In support of the theory, the Edlunds set up a non-profit Man Marketing Clinic which almost immediately was taken over by New York City's Sales Executives Club. Clinics have also been established in other cities. Through the clinics and their book, "Pick Your Job—and Land It!" the Edlunds have given literally thousands of vocationally unhappy men and women a shove in the right direction.

Like most of the real boons to mankind, the Edlunds' job-hunting assists aren't hand-outs. They point the way and describe various techniques, but most of all they stimulate the job-seekers to dig down into their equipment and dredge up experiences which demonstrate usefulness as an employe—or as president of the company, as the case may be.

The Edlunds have even dreamed up a few ways to beat that old bugaboo question which young people have despaired of answering: "What experience have you had?" The real-life story of one 22-year-old applying for a sales job illustrates this. The young man who had never held a selling job was rebuffed immediately by the manager who said firmly, "We want someone with at least a year's experience."

"May I please tell you a story?" asked the young man politely. Permission given, he launched into the tale of a 12-year-old boy named Tim who wanted to buy a sailboat that cost $200.

Tim's dad told him that if he could make $25, father would supply the rest. Tim canvassed the neighborhood to see what was most needed and then suggested that their house pets needed fresh meat and within hours had set up a horse-meat delivery route to dog and cat owners. A shrewed deal with a butcher gave him a profit of a nickel a pound.

"The boy used his bicycle for deliveries and built a route," the young man related. "Then he put two other youngsters to work. He kept this up for three years and the neighbors found they could trust him. He paid for his boat all by himself without calling on his father and two years later bought a bigger one that cost $900.

"Now, you know this boy only through his story. But wouldn't you say he has initiative and knows how to sell a service? That he is reliable and hard-working? And that he is definitely a self-starter?"

The manager had to agree and when he found as he by that time guessed that the boy had grown into the young man sitting before him, of course the bright youth got the job.

That demand for experience is the toughest thing about getting started on a career. Just how on earth do you get experience if no one will hire you without it?

In connection with this, I've got a problem I wish the Edlunds would tackle: A young, ambitious actress fresh out of college, with only a little apprenticeship in a summer theater. Nobody wants to hire an actress without real professional experience. In Judy's case, what would the Edlunds substitute for Tim's horsemeat route? Judy can't think of anything and neither, alas, can I.

Think of Pipes in Remodeling

CHICAGO, Ill. (INS)—You can't "slipcover" your old-fashioned bathroom to bring it up to date economically, but you can remodel this important room without making the budget wince.

The key to economy is hidden in your walls — the original piping system. By planning to put new equipment directly in the position of old fixtures, you avoid costly wall-breaking and new pipes.

A plumber's "Sketchbook of Ideas" will show you typical old bathrooms with problems in remodeling ranging from slanted roofs to awkward door openings.

If your bathroom has a slanted roof, you can paper the one wall leading to the slant and the angle itself in striped or plaid wallpaper to give a "cottage" effect.

I your problem is floor space, plan on radiant baseboard heat on floor or ceiling.

Bob Considine Says:

Hiss Will Enter New Life as Man Marked by Crime

NEW YORK (INS) — Alger Hiss out; Whittaker Chambers in. The accused leaves the federal pen at Lewisburg, Pa., Saturday. Chambers may never leave the bedroom of his Maryland farm, to which he is confined by a heart attack.

For Chambers the story seems done. He has told all he knows on the witness stand and in his bulky book, a massive purge of the odd complexes and quirks that enabled him to sit pondering long on a bench at Columbia University "and get up a Communist."

For Hiss, the other end of one of the most significant ideological clashes of the 20th Century, a new life begins. It will not be one he alone can shape or steer.

Unless fully pardoned, he cannot pursue the profession for which he was finely tooled: The law. He cannot hold public office, leave New York for a year without the permission of his probation officer; cannot vote or accept jury service.

Tossed into the U. S. manpower working pool, cold, he might have trouble finding any kind of work, because his name has come to be almost as much of a epithet as that of the late Quisling.

It's terribly hard for almost any former con to make a living, no matter how obscure the crime and the character involved. Hiss's sin marked him through the free world.

He'll not starve. It will be surprising if he does not wind up in some unofficial capacity with the law firm of the former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who stood up for him in public. Donald Hiss, his brother, is part of the firm.

Alger Hiss has important friends in Washington and New York. Some of them, like Acheson, were prominent in the administrations of Presidents Roosevelt and Truman. Others are commentators. He'll not want.

Apparently there never was any difficulty finding the money to pay the charges of his two trials and appeals, though his attorney for a long time was Lloyd Paul Stryker, who has been known to demand and receive $1,000 a day.

When the "Hollywood 10" were convicted, the scriptwriters among them continued to work. Their scripts were sold under the table to sympathetic, frightened or just plain knuckle-brained studio heads — but always under the name of some "safer" writer.

In this connection it may be interesting to note that Dalton Trumbo, one of the better writers among "the 10," ghosted the speech which the late Secretary of State Ed Stettinius delivered at San Francisco during the formation of U. N. Hiss was secretary-general of that conference.

Few men who have served time came closer to escaping the penalty than did Hiss. Nobody wanted to believe Chambers. Physically and from a personality standpoint, his was ostensibly the finer specimen. One of his boosters when he was being considered as president of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace was John Foster Dulles.

In his first appearance before the House Un-American Activities Committee, in response to an indignant wire sent when Chambers named him as part of a prewar Communist apparatus in Washington, Hiss made such a fine showing that the committee considered extending him a congressional apology.

Even after the damning microfilm was turned over by Chambers, who melodramatically hid it in a pumpkin in his garden, it appeared that Hiss could not be nailed.

A man from the Eastman Company examined the coded perforations at the end of the films and told the committee the film had been manufactured in 1947. The committee had been contending that Chambers microfilmed the documents in 1937.

With newsmen pounding the door and demanding an explanation, it appeared that the committee would have to confess that it had been the victim of a monstrous hoax, and that Hiss was innocent.

Congressman Richard Nixon and Chief Investigator Bob Stripling called Chambers on the phone and spoke very sharply to him, practically accusing him of fraud.

But in the midst of this the man from Eastman called back. He had made a slight mistake, he said. The code mark meant 1937, not 1947.

And Hiss was on his way.

Phantom Cat Reports Keep St. Joseph Residents on Edge

ST. JOSEPH (UP) — Reports of a "phantom cat" roaming these parts had many residents jumpy today.

First reports of a huge, snarling cat started five years ago. At that time, the animal was said to be living in the woods along Lake Michigan 10 miles south of here.

New reports have moved the "phantom" farther inland. The cat is believed by some to be responsible for the slaying of more than 100 rabbits and the vicious clawing of a dog in the area.

There even has been talk of forming a posse to flush the woods and decide once and for all whether the cat is fact or fiction.

Edward Gunn, a native of the Pacific northwest who now lives at Benton Harbor, said reports indicate the mysterious animal might be a cougar.

The first of the recent reports on the cat came Oct. 22 from three amateur radio operators on the Don Martin farm. Martin, 29, John Wirth and E. G. Weed told police they spotted a cat near a barn.

They said it was five feet long and stood three feet high.

Only a few nights before that, Martin said his dog was mauled and clawed by a mysterious intruder.

A week later, Kenneth Murphy, 16, and his brother, Richard, 13, said they saw a huge cat and fired five .22-caliber bullets at it. They said it snarled at them and stole off into the darkness.

Another reported sighting came from George Neumann, who said he saw the cat sneaking around his garage. He made a plaster cast of a big footprint to back up his story.

Police became aroused when William Hodder, a Lincoln Township patrolman, and Sam Lamunion said they saw a cat in a field about 15 miles south of here. Two Berrien County patrol cars sped to the scene and joined them in a futile search. They said they found tracks — but no cat.

Since no one reported seeing the cat during daylight hours, descriptions of the "phantom" were sketchy. But enough reports have come in recently to put rural dwellers on edge.

Some deer hunters in southern Berrien County have taken to looking for a cat rather than bucks. Many other suburban residents are keeping their guns loaded just in case.

Father of Seven Held in Killing

Indiana Man Charged With Shooting Stepson, Wounding Brother

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP)— A father of seven small children was in jail today charged with the fatal shooting of his teen-age stepson and seriously wounding the youth's brother.

The shooting occurred at the suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett H. King as their seven children and Mrs. King's three sons by her first marriage prepared to eat their Thanksgiving dinner yesterday.

Sheriff Harold Zeis said King, 45-year-old factory worker, admitted the shotgun slaying of Gerald Landis, 16, and wounding his brother Glen, 17. He was held on a charge of homicide.

Zeis said King told him the stepsons were "trouble makers" and "didn't treat the other children right." The Kings' children range in age from 8 years to 18 months.

The Landis boys, with their brother Jack, 15, came to visit their mother for the holiday from nearby Logansport, where they have been living with an uncle for several months.

Zeis said Mrs. King told him the Landis boys had quarreled with King since their arrival Wednesday.

The sheriff said Mrs. King related that after she summoned her family to dinner, her husband said: "Feed the hogs first and I'll eat the leavings." She said she told her sons to leave and her husband also ordered them out of the house. When they refused to leave, the sheriff said Mrs. King told him, her husband got a 12-gauge shotgun and a .22-caliber revolver.

Mrs. King said she ran to a neighbor's house to call the sheriff but heard shots before she returned home. She said she met her husband in the yard and he threatened to shoot her "and the whole mess of you." She quoted him as saying:

"Isn't this a great way to spend a Thanksgiving!"

RECORDS RAINFALL—Donald Ringler, engineer in the Oakland County drain office, takes a reading from a rain gauge installed on top of the county office building at 1 Lafayette St. The device is one of 13 being set up by the county to take rainfall measurements which will aid in planning future drain construction.

New Rain Gauges Will Help Determine Need for Drain Installations Here

The Drain Commission is now installing 13 rain gauges throughout Oakland County to take measurements which will aid in future sewer and drain installations.

Costing about $200 each, seven of the devices are now operating with three to be installed in North Oakland County, according to Drain Commissioner Ralph A. Main.

"By measuring rainfall at various points we can trace the most frequent storm-path through the county," he explained. "This will indicate where the most water is likely to fall and we can plan bigger drains in those areas."

"When drains become overloaded and a flood results, we can check rainfall measurements for that area to determine if the flood resulted from unusually heavy rainfall or from inadequate drains."

Oakland County's figures will be turned over to the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission to be compared with other rainfall totals from areas surrounding Detroit.

The gauge is a simple device which catches water in a bucket resting on scales. As weight in the bucket increases or decreases, the scales moves an inked pen arm up or down to record rainfall amounts on a revolving drum.

Parties Reveal Vote Expenses

Dems, Liberals Spend Over $1 Million in N.Y. Campaign

ALBANY, N. Y. (UP)—The election campaign of Averell Harriman and fellow Democrats and Liberals in New York cost more than a million dollars, and the party's state committee ran up a deficit of $434,499.

The Republicans, whose gubernatorial nominee, Sen. Irving M. Ives, lost to Harriman by a narrow margin, spent at least $884,679 for the statewide campaign and the state committee recorded a surplus of $50,146.

These figures were filed with the elections bureau of the state department. However, any organization or candidate may file an amended report early in January.

Expenditures by Democrats totaled $1,007,944. Of this $761,166 came from the state committee, which listed receipts of only $326,667.

The Liberal Party, which backed Harriman, spent $73,452, as against receipts of $44,585—a deficit of $28,867.

Harriman and family gave or lent a total of $113,044 to the Democratic campaign.

Harriman listed personal expenses of $17,494. Ives said he had no personal expenses.

Among contributors to the Republican side was Mrs. E. Roland Harriman, wife of the governor-elect's brother. But her husband, although a Republican, chipped in for Averell.

Democratic committee expenditures were almost twice as heavy as those of 1952, while the GOP committee outlay rose only about five per cent.

Six Are Injured in Holiday Brawl

Fight Climaxes Other Flareups Between Two Unions at Plant

DETROIT (UP) — Members of two feuding AFL unions who engaged in a bloody Thanksgiving Day battle at the McLouth Steel Corp. plant worked side by side today under a "nearly perfect agreement" aimed at preventing further trouble.

The holiday brawl, which sent six workers to the hospital, raged until suburban Trenton Police fired bullets into the air to quell the fist, pipe, wrench and club swinging.

Fifteen of the 50 men who participated in the fight were taken to two hospitals. However, only six were admitted for treatment.

Only one of them, David Mann, 40, of Detroit, remained in the hospital overnight for X-rays. Doctors feared he had a broken jaw.

Union spokesmen said the riot was the climax of a series of less serious flare-ups among members of Riggers Local 575 and Millwrights Local 1102. Members of both locals are employed by Eichleay Corp. of Pittsburgh, which contracted to replace an old rolling mill at the McLouth plant.

The locals' day shifts were sent home after the jurisdictional battle. The company told the men not to return until they had settled their differences.

W. E. Short, Eichleay superintendent, said the night shift resumed normal operations after the unions reached a "nearly perfect agreement" on "technical" jurisdictional problems.

There had been ill feeling between the two unions during the past year over the allotment of work in which the Pittsburgh firm was engaged.

Although he expected no more trouble, Short said union meetings would continue until the agreement was "perfected."

Meanwhile, Trenton Police, State Police and members of surrounding police departments remained vigilant for any possible new outbreak.

State Police plainsclothesmen were ordered to the plant from the Redford Post after Trenton Mayor Gordon Strohm appealed to Gov. G. Mennen Williams for reinforcements to bolster his small force.

A forman said the holiday melee started when the riggers invaded the millwrights' construction shack seeqing revenge for an alleged pipe-beating administered to a fellow rigger.

"Our men were changing clothes in our tool shanty and the riggers stormed in looking for trouble," millwright Tim Bies said.

"They spotted the man who slugged the rigger and four or five jumped him. We came to his aid and the battle started."

West Berliners Are Urged to Fight Reds With Morals

BERLIN (INS) — Former President Herbert Hoover told democracy's outpost behind the iron curtain today that resistance to communism must be based on moral and spiritual strength.

He also stressed that "one of the greatest resistances to communism has been the increase in productivity in the western world."

In a speech prepared for delivery to the West Berlin Municipal Senate, the 80-year-old Republican cited three problems with which he said the Communists still confront the western world.

He listed them as "their declared amoral basis of relations between nations," "increasing armament," and "their militant promotion of the Communist faith."

Hoover, on a six-day trip to West Germany, arrived in Berlin last night and was greeted at the airport by Mayor Walter Schreiber who publicly extolled the American good-will ambassador for his relief work in helping Germany rise out of the ruins of World War II.

The one-time U. S. chief executive told the city's lawmakers that despite the dangers presented by the "malign ideas" of communism, the problem "cannot be met by suppressing our own freedom."

"Our governments can take care of tangible conspiracies to overthrow them by violence," he said. "But the organized infiltration of Communist ideas into disturbed and weak minds can be met only by moral and spiritual resistance.

"The first bastion of that resistance is religious faith, whether it be Mohammedan, Jewish or Christian."

Hoover said that the sum of all the industrial, technical, scientific discoveries and advances made in the free world since the end of the war amounted "to an industrial revolution in only one decade of time."

He added that those improvements contributed to finding "solutions to many social ills which prepare the soil" for the "evil growth" of communism.

Hoover paid tribute to the West Berlin population for its courage in facing "an enemy who lives just across the street," and added:

"You have seen your duty and performed it well. Thanks to the spirit and courage of men like your late great Mayor (Ernst) Reuter, you can, like the men of ancient Athens, hold your heads high and say:

"'I am a Berliner'."

Ike Encourages Kin of Jailed Americans

WASHINGTON (UP)—The families of 13 Americans imprisoned by the Chinese Communists had assurance from President Eisenhower today that the government is "using every feasible means" to obtain their freedom.

The President sent Thanksgiving Day telegrams to the families from Augusta, Ga., where he is spending the holiday.

"You may be very sure that your government is using every feasible means to bring your (husband or son) and all other Americans now in Communist hands to freedom and to secure their proper treatment so long as their confinement continues," Eisenhower said.

School Expansion OK'd

MOUNT PLEASANT (UP)—School district voters approved a $1,500,000 expansion program Tuesday by a 2-1 margin. Mount Pleasant Board of Education officials said it was the fifth election held on the proposal since May 1953. They said the approval, by a count of 1,512 to 844, allowed the board to chart plans for a new high school.

Dem Governors to Attend Parley

New Party Chairman to Be Named at Victory Meeting

WASHINGTON (INS) — Democratic governors and governors-elect from 12 states—the biggest turnout in recent years—will attend the Democratic victory meeting in New Orleans next week at which a new party chairman will be elected.

Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell has announced his intention to resign and expects the National Committee to elect his successor when it convenes.

Governors who have accepted Mitchell's invitation to attend the meeting are Hugh L. White, Mississippi; Robert B. Meyner, New Jersey; William C. Marland, West Virginia; Dennis J. Roberts, Rhode Island; G. Mennen Williams, Michigan; Lawrence W. Wetherby, Kentucky.

Foremost in the running for the job are ex-price administrator Michael DiSalle of Ohio; National Committeeman Paul Butler of Indiana, and Sen. Carle C. Clements (D-Ky), who is now senatorial campaign chairman.

Clements figures as a possible compromise candidate if agreement cannot be reached on DiSalle, Butler or some other prospect. He could hold both the party chairmanship and his Senate seat, as former Attorney General Howard McGrath did for a time when he was senator from Rhode Island.

Mitchell made it clear again today that he wants to step out and return to his Chicago law practice before the year is out.

Wagon Ride, Oil Lamps Recall '90s to Grandma

Mrs. E. M. Rusk, mother of nine and grandmother of 27, was scheduled to have Thanksgiving dinner with one of her sons, Chadwick Rusk.

When they called for her it was in an old spring wagon drawn by two horses. Members of the son's family, dressed in costumes of the 1890s, were sitting on a straw in the wagon bed. A turkey was in a coop on the trail gate.

The grey-haired grandmother joined the party for the drive to the son's home — with one stop to buy "nosegays" (chrysanthemums) for the ladies.

At the son's antique-filled home, the heavily laden table was lighted by kerosene lamps—and the delighted sparkle of Grandmother Rusk.

The judge said Henry's conduct was "abominable and treacherous" and awarded Ernest Haterly, 55, $1,400 damage for loss of his wife, Hilda, 50. The couple had been married 30 years.

Texas Oilman's Biography Shows World's Opportunity

Hugh Roy Cullen
A Story of American Opportunity
by Ed Kilman and Theon Wright

Hugh Roy Cullen proved this to his own satisfaction by jumping into a river whirlpool and coming to the top a few seconds later.

He used this symbol of selfconfidence all the restof his life . . . when he was a cotton broker, a real estate man, and finally an oil producer.

Cullen barely finished the fifth grade but he made college possible for thousands by giving away $160,000,000. He is the most fabulous of all Texas oil barons and one of the greatest philanthropists of our time.

Ed Kiliman and Theon Wright have written his biography in the book, "Hugh Roy Cullen . . . A Story of American Opportunity" to be released Nov. 29. The style of the book is clear, concise and almost sparkling.

The authors tell of Cullen's wildcat search for oil and how he often ignored well-versed geologists in favor of his own "creekology"—a sense of down-to-earth clues which he patched together until he had a map in his mind of the formations of the earth far down below.

This creekology was a study of the courses of the rivers and creeks winding around hard formations of the land, which revealed the action of the pressures of deep rock in the earth.

In all of Cullen's work, his moves were the result of courageous thinking and decisions.

Perhaps the secret of his success could be summed up in one of his own statements—"I never tried to out-trade anyone in my life and I never let anyone out-trade me if I could help it."

Another—"the station of life does not make the man; on the contrary, it is the man who must make the station."

Cullen believed strongly in the Republican party pilosophy of free enterprise and he fought hard hard for those principles.

In his later years—he is now 76—he carried on a voluminous correspondence with Gen. Eisenhower and was most instrumental in inducing him to be a presidential candidate, and in aiding in his election. He felt he had helped save the American form of government.

And in his philanthropies, Cullen called himself "selfish." He "enjoyed" seeing his money spent for the good of others. So hospitals and schools benefited to the sum of millions.

Ag Board Member Succumbs in Florida

NILES (UP) — Winfred George Armstrong, a member of the Michigan Board of Agriculture and the Michigan Tourist Council, died today at Homestead, Fla., of a heart attack.

He was 78 and arrived in Homestead only Monday with his wife, Julia, to spend the winter.

Armstrong was a former president of the National Assn. of Rural Letter Carriers, a past treasurer of the National Grange, and a former president (1939-53) of the Michigan State Grange.

Armstrong retired as a mail carrier in 1941 after 23 years service. He worked out of Niles and Berrien Springs.

All-Red Military Confab Seen for Moscow

LONDON (UP) — 'All indications pointed today to the convening of a conference in Moscow Monday to weld a formal military alliance of the Soviet bloc nations.

In the past two days four of the East European satellites — Czechoslovakia, Poland, Romania and Bulgaria — have announced the makeup of their delegations to the "All-European Security Conference" the Kremlin had proposed convene Nov. 29 in either Moscow or Paris.

Experts for the Western Big Three finished drafting their governments reply to the Soviet invitation last night. Informed sources said the notes, expected to go to Moscow this weekend, would reject the Communist proposal.

Only the Soviet bloc has agreed to the meeting.

East European representatives at the Stockholm meeting of the Communist-dominated World Peace Council said that despite the Western rejection the meeting would begin Monday in the Soviet capital and that a military alliance would be discussed.

Albania, Hungary, East Germany and Communist China also are expected to attend.

The Soviet bloc nations are bound together formally by treaties of mutual assistance and friendship. But so far as the West knows they have no official single military command like the West's North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Presumably a counterpart organization for the Communists would be the prime aim of an all-Red Moscow meeting.

This was indicated in Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's declaration last week that the Soviet Union and her allies would take countermeasures for their own security if the West went ahead with the Paris agreement to rearm West Germany.

Wheat State Buys Some

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska is shipping wheat into milling centers in Kansas, normally known as the "Wheat State." The unusual situation results from the fact Kansas was not able this year to produce enough of the high-protein wheat demanded by millers, say state Aricultural Stabilization and Conservation officials.

Radio Gives Lots of Kicks for Medium That's 'Dead'

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

NEW YORK (INS)—Lots of television executives and stars tell you "radio's dead"—but if it is, I've been having lots of fun recently with a corpse.

Even if it's only mortally wounded, it's quite a fabulous invalid, with more life in its veins than any emergency blood transfusions could possibly account for.

This is a personal opinion that I'm now broadcasting, of course, but I'm basing it on a couple of recent experiences I've just had myself, experiences I can vouch for on a whole stack of portable radios.

One concerns an NBC half-hour evening program called "Conversation," with Clifton Fadiman, and the other a CBS 15-minute morning show called "Make Up Your Mind," with Jack Sterling the daily MC and Dr. Norman Vincent Peale the guest panelist on the day of which I speak.

"Conversation" is "dedicated to the art of good talk," with such guest gabbers as Bennett Cerf, Faye Emerson, Arnold Toynbee, Emily Kimbrough, Jacques Barzun—and occasionally even yours truly—like last Saturday night and tomorrow night!

Originally, "Conversation" was a Sunday evening show, and my story concerns the first week it was switched to Saturdays instead. Despite all the usual ads and spot announcements of the change, a couple people must have tuned in at the usual time Sunday evening.

"A couple?" That's my evidence about how dead our little corpse is, for at the home studio alone, over 1,000 calls came in that evening saying, "Wha' hoppened? Is my set broken? Where's Conversation?" And all the other nice things you ever dreamed of.

I wasn't even slated to appear that weekend, so any bragging I'm doing is strictly on behalf of that old-fashioned little miracle the TV boys slander!

But the testimony that really wound up the case for me came one morning just after I'd been on a national hookup with no less a personage than Dr. Norman Vincent Peale.

Dr. Peale, as everybody knows, is the minister whose book, "The Power of Positive Thinking," has perched right up on the top rung of the best-seller ladder for 109 weeks as the No. 1 non-fiction title in the nation — having achieved the heavenly sales of some 800,000 copies.

"Make Up Your Mind" is 15 minutes of batting around opinions on some amusing and/or human problems submitted by letters from listeners all over the country, and Dr. Peale's positive thinking and power of expression certainly were the star performers of that special show.

Such fun was it that I was sorry it lasted such a short time, and as we shook hands all around afterward, I cheerily said, "I simply adore this little radio show!"

"Little radio show!" a voice shouted in my ear. It was the voice of Arthur Henley, the producer of the show.

"Little?" asked still other voices—belonging to various executives of the network and the client.

"I meant 'short'," I hastily amended. "Brief, quick, a small span of time—that's the only 'little' I had in mind."

"We get nearly 10,000 letters every week," they all said. "Week in and week out—that's how little this little 15-minute show is!"

I turned to Dr. Norman Vincent Peale for sustenance, guidance and help in my moment of shame. He tactfully shifted the subject to something more positive than embarrassment—for which he has my eternal thanks.

But is radio dead? You should live so long!

There are about 2½ million widowers in the United States.

Secret Parleys to Be Held on Atomic Control Agency

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Encouraged by a unanimous vote in the U. N. Political Committee, the United States is looking to new secret negotiations for the quick formation of an international atomic energy agency.

The 60-nation General Assembly is slated to meet next week and give final and unanimous approval to the U. N. endorsement of President Eisenhower's program of atoms for peace.

The Assembly's Political Committee voted unanimously Wednesday for a resolution approving creation of the agency and calling for an international scientific conference by next summer.

The United States already has set up machinery to pursue negotiations with the Soviet Union, which still has not entered the plan in full and with other interested countries.. These talks likely will take place in Washington.

President Eisenhower picked a New York industrialist, Moorehead Patterson as his special ambassador for atoms. Patterson will work out of the State Department and will be assigned exclusively to the negotiations.

Patterson got his first baptism in international negotiations earlier this year when he served as the U. S. representative on the U. N. disarmament subcommitte which studied ways of controlling and eventually banning atomic weapons.

The subjects of disarmament and atoms for peace have been kept separate by the U. N. at the special request of the United States, and the United States is looking for a new representative in disarmament talks which will be resumed in January.

The Russians voted for the resolution sponsored by the United States yesterday but served notice they were not satisfied with parts of it and would press their views in the coming negotiations. They want the agency made repsonsible to the General Assembly and the Security Council. The United States and its atomic partners, Britain, France, Canada, Belgium, Australia and South Africa, do not agree and are insisting there must be no link by which anyone could cast a veto in the agency operations. Long and hard negotiations are in prospect.

Man Exhumes Frogs Alive From Concrete

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — John J. Kealey, manager of a florist's greenhouse, knows all about plants but admits that frogs have him puzzled.

"I don't see how they got air, food or water," Kealey said, explaining that two frogs jumped out when he tore up a concrete strip which had been in place twenty years.

Solon Urges Arms Pact in Talk to Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) has told the Russians they should go along with the U.S. plan for disarmament under inspections so that the people of the world can be freed of the cost of arms.

In a Voice of America Thanksgiving Day broadcast beamed directly to the Soviet people, Flanders said America covets no new territory but is spending "huge sums" on armaments because she fears further Russian aggression.

The alternative to a costly and dangerous arms race, he said, is the U. S. program for world disarmament. The Communists have countered with disarmament proposals based on pledges rather than the U. S. plan for policing through the use of inspectors.

Walled Lake to Vote on $825,000 School Bond Issue

Ballot Monday on Tax Increase

2 Year Building Plan for Additional Rooms Calls for 2 Mill Boost

By ELEANOR DUCKWITZ

WALLED LAKE — Electors in the Walled Lake School district will go to the polls Monday to vote on an $825,000 bond issue to finance school buildings to be constructed during the next two years.

Voting hours will be from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Electors must vote in the precinct in which they are registered. Voting will take place at the junior high building in Walled Lake, Union Lake school, Commerce school, Wixom school, and Glengary school.

All persons registered with the township by November 19 and who voted in the last election are eligible to vote.

Buildings to be constructed if the bond issue is approved are six classrooms each at Glengary and Commerce schools; high school gymnasium and offices, a multi-purpose room at Twin Beach, a kindergarten at Walled Lake elementary, and an additional 13 classrooms to be constructed in 1956 either as additions to present structures or as a new elementary unit.

Approval of the issue will increase taxes three dollars per thousand of the equalized valuation.

Although the ballot will read six dollars per thousand as required by law, school officials point out that the actual increase will only be three dollars because existing debt levies will be reduced by three dollars.

This reduction is partially possible because of the increased valuation in the district. School officials further stress that approval of the issue will still keep the bonded indebtedness of the district under ten per cent. The legal limit is 15 per cent.

Enrollment in the Walled Lake schools is increasing at the rate of 500 students a year. The board has pointed out that with this many new children each year, it is impossible to maintain full day sessions unless new classrooms are built.

The proposal to be decided Monday has the approval of all of the PTS's in the district, and the Citizen's Advisory, and Save Our Schools committees.

If approved, bonds will be sold as construction progresses saving interest costs and making it possible to obtain more favorable interest rates.

Also, the board points out that if the proposal is approved, the tax increase will not appear on the tax bills until December of 1955, as the rolls for this year have already been closed.

Voters will face two proposals—one to authorize the millage increase, and another to authorize the borrowing of the $825,000.

The bond issue would be spread over a 15 year period if approved, with the last five years callable. This would permit full payment in ten years, if the area's valuations increase as anticipated.

Urging a yes vote on both ballots are Supt. of Schools Clifford H. Smart, and Board of Education members Walter Horstman, president, Joseph Long, secretary, Julius Nelson, treasurer, and Dwight Wiseman and Robert Shores, trustees.

Avon Center Hospital Set to Open Sunday

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

The official opening of the doors of this 56-room institution Sunday represents the realization of a dream for Dr. E. E. Ludwig, builder, owner, and director of the board of trustees for the new non-profit organization.

Located at the south entrance to the village, on the east side of Rochester road, the new hospital will accommodate 20 to 29 patients now with expansion to take place in the near future.

"It was the dire need on the part of this area for hospital facilities close to home which prompted me to get into this," said Dr. Ludwig, a young osteopathic physician and surgeon who has been in Rochester for more than a decade.

He acquired the land in 1946 and planned the hospital as part of a complete building program. The Ludwig Clinic, which will in no way be associated with the hospital, is located near the roadside of the site.

The hospital, a modern one-story structure is set back from the road and is surrounded with a high board fence providing privacy from the surrounding countryside.

All area doctors have been notified by Dr. Ludwig that they are welcome to use this facility.

The institution is equipped to handle emergency cases, usual surgical procedures, medical and diagnostic treatment, pediatric care, obstetric and nursery areas. All plans are based on the requirements made for hospitals by the Michigan Public Health Department.

Dr. Ludwig performed some experimental engineering in the designing of his building. By combining radiant heat and air conditioning in a ceiling unit, he has been able to cut construction costs considerably.

Hospital architect, John F. Ripplinger, incorporated Dr. Ludwig's ideas with standard hospital building ideas and came up with the plan which gives each room 84 square feet per bed and the single rooms, 126 square feet.

Each room has individual bathroom facilities and oxygen is piped to each bed with a central speaker system connected to all rooms in the building.

Of block construction, the building is fireproof. A flat roof has weight-bearing walls, a floor of concrete with radiant heat installed and above this, floor covering of plastic and rubber tile combination.

Dr. Ludwig's brother, Dr. B. L. Ludwig, will work with him in the hospital and is a member of the board of directors. Other board members include Mrs. Ruth Ludwig and Fred Maynard, all of Rochester.

The hospital staff will include 27 people. This covers office personnel, laboratory technicians, nursing staff, dieticians, and maintenance workers.

Eugena King, R. N. of Roseville, has been appointed superintendent of nurses with E. T. Kiphart of Garden City named as laboratory head and X-ray technician.

A teacher in the school music department, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Personius of Elmira, N.Y. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight P. Orr of North Branch.

Mrs. Richard Allen of Chicago Heights, Ill., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Sally Scupholm of Detroit and Judith Hunter of Lansing.

Clare Orr of North Branch attended his brother as best man, assisted by William Simmons of North Branch and Roy Stacey Jr. of Goodrich. Richard Allen of Chicago Heights and John Gilbert of Wayne seated the guests.

Seek Ferndale Girl, Missing Four Days

FERNDALE — Search continued today for a 13-year-old Ferndale girl, Marbeth McElroy missing from her home since Monday.

According to the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. McElroy of 264 Withington, Marbeth left home after an argument Monday. She was last seen walking north on Woodward near her home, carrying an overnight bag with the initials M.M.S. on it.

Marbeth is 5 feet tall with brown hair and hazel eyes, and has a dark complexion. Her parents believe she may have left the state, and possibly may have changed her name to correspond with initials M.M.S. on the bag.

Anyone knowing her whereabouts is urged to contact the Ferndale police.

Farm Bureau Convention Set

5-Day Meeting Opening Dec. 12 in New York to Back Benson Program

WASHINGTON (INS) — The American Farm Bureau Federation, largest of U.S. farm organizations, has mapped out an elaborate program for its 5-day annual meeting opening in New York Dec. 12.

This year's sessions of the AFBF delegates from 48 states and Puerto Rico are likely to be less frenzied than those of the past, for the farm bureau is pretty much in accord with policies laid down by the Eisenhower administration.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson is to be a featured speaker at the convention, along with Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, who is president of Pennsylvania State College.

Those attending the meeting are sure to reaffirm their endorsement of flexible price supports as embodied in the GOP-sponsored Agricultural Act of 1954.

General satisfaction of the AFBF high command with existing farm legislation is eloquently expressed in a cartoon in the organization's current news letter.

Among other things for which agriculture has to be thankful, the cartoon cites congressional acceptance of farm bureau policies, an opportunity to earn a good income and self-help programs.

The annual meeting will include an election of directors to replace those whose terms expire.

AFBF President Allen B. Kline who has had a relatively long and successful tenure in that office is not up for re-election. He serves a 2-year term.

In addition to Benson, Dr. Eisenhower and Kline, the convention speakers will include Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla), a senate agriculture committeeman; Sir Roger Makins, British ambassador in Washington; Inland Steel President Clarence Randall, who headed a special presidential commissiono on foreign trade policies, and Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi, former Hungarian finance minister and now head of Bradley University's Department of Economics.

Epitaph for an Idealist

'Sometimes Liberals Go Too Far Left,' Judge Once Told William Remington

WASHINGTON (INS) — William Remington was given his own best epitaph nearly two years ago, months before he died.

The trial judge looked down with sorrow at the tall, well-dressed defendant, shook his head and told him the story of his life in nine short words: "Sometimes liberals may go too far to the left."

Then he ordered a three-year prison term for Remington, who traveled a depression-era road from college radical to an important post as a government economist.

The road began some 20 years ago when Remington, bright beyond his years, entered Dartmouth College at the age of 16. It ended early yesterday when he died a convicted perjurer in a bleak prison hospital ward.

Associates, in one way or another, picture Remington as a man who clutched tight to ideals of his youth as history went whirling by. Those 20 years which brought vast changes to the world brought fame, despair, hope and disgrace to the man they knew.

"I was getting to be a big shot. I was getting to be an important guy," Remington told the jury which convicted him of lying under oath at his first perjury trial.

Prosecutors had asked him why he passed on information from the War Production Board to Elizabeth Bentley, an admitted former courier for a Russian spy ring.

He took the stand to deny Miss Bentley's charges that he turned over secret information on aircraft production and a formula for making synthetic rubber out of garbage. Remington said he thought the woman was a writer, who could help him in his career.

"I thought I knew more about the War Production Board than anyone else," he testified. "I felt I was being an important guy. There were people coming to me and asking me questions. I wanted to become known as an economist and it looked like I might get my foot in the door."

The man who thus attributed his downfall to ambition had already risen far since the bleak days when he first entered Dartmouth. Then it was a time of social ferment, of breadlines and unemployment, of pacificism and the Oxford pledge.

William Remington plunged into it all. Zealously he joined discussion groups, clubs and the student paper. Time and again he reached into his pocket to aid China, Spain and even the marble workers in Vermont.

But two years of sheltered Ivy League life were enough, and at 18 he began his government career as a messenger for the Tennessee Valley Authority, spending his spare time reading Lenin and Marx, and making speeches at union meetings.

From there he went to an important post at the National Resources Planning Board, then to the Office of Price Administration, and in 1942, to the War Production Board.

The war gave new impetus to Remington's career. Commissioned in the Navy in 1944 he was promptly loaned to the economic staff at the U. S. embassy in London. When peace came, he went to the Council of Economic Advisers back in Washington.

Remington's star was rising fastest just as it began to falter and fall. He went to the Commerce Department at $10,000 a year in 1948, but the FBI was already hot on his trail, and the pressure never ceased.

In two years Remington went before three federal grand juries, the House Un-American Activities Committee and the Senate Investigating Committee. In February, 1949, it looked like a clear road ahead when a loyalty review board cleared him of all suspicion.

In May, 1950, came the first perjury indictment, his resignation was demanded and accepted and the road down began. On Jan. 27, 1953, he was convicted on two charges of perjury. At a previous trial, he was also convicted, only to have the case reversed on a technicality. His divorced wife was a key government witness.

Last April 15, Remington surrendered to begin his prison term. "It is my hope that some day my innocence will be established," he said. "I know that in some future walk of life I shall demonstrate my deep loyalty to our American form of government."

In a grim prison hospital ward yesterday, the bright-eyed college dreamer of two decades ago died unconscious as history went whirling by.

Ike Dedicates Week to Salvation Army

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower designated next week as National Salvation Army Week, and urged all citizens today to honor the organization during the week for its humanitarian work over the last 75 years.

Eisenhower said: "Let us remember that the banner of this organization, and the principles for which it stands, are stalwart bulwarks for the physical and spiritual needs of our people, and let us salute this great body of unselfish men and women during Salvation Army Week . . . "

Something Wonderful Has Happened At Pfeiffer's!

Here is exciting news about beer!

For the first time in brewing history, complete, refreshing mildness has been combined with deep satisfying flavor in the finest beer ever brewed.

It was a real challenge to combine two opposite qualities—mildness and deep flavor in one great beer. But patience and hard work have been rewarded. Pfeiffer's discovered a way to brew a milder beer and still retain that much-wanted, deep, true flavor!

Today's Pfeiffer's proves that beer can be mild yet distinctive in taste—can have true character and deep, satisfying flavor without being heavy or filling! This achievement sets a new standard in the brewing industry. Never before has there been a beer like this!

The moment you taste this clean, sparkling brew you'll know something great has happened to beer. Here is a smoother, subtle mildness you wouldn't have believed possible—yet with a mellow, more pleasing flavor that can only be described as d-e-e-p!

We are very proud of today's Pfeiffer's Beer, and those who have compared it with other beers share our enthusiasm. People are actually calling us at the brewery to say, this is the finest beer they have ever enjoyed.

We urge you to make a side-by-side comparison of this great brew with any other beer. Note today's Pfeiffer's inviting clear golden color, its sparkling liveliness, its pleasing mildness, with a deep flavor character that is so completely satisfying.

Once you've discovered the wonderful mildness and the deep flavor of this brew, you'll agree . . . that the big difference in beer is today's Pfeiffer's.

Try it and judge for yourself!

Eddie Fisher Ran Vegetable Wagon Now Has the Cabbage and a Peach

By EDDIE CANTOR

Outside of Niagara Falls, the Grand Canyon and the Champs Elysees, the most beautiful sight this guy Cantor has seen is Eddie Fisher and Debbie Reynolds looking into each other's eyes. Vivacious, talented Debbie typifies young America.

Eddie Fisher who, not too many years ago sold fruit and vegetables from his father's wagon, now finds himself with plenty of cabbage and the most gorgeous peach in Hollywood.

Born on April Fool's Day, Debbie has all the answers to the million and one wisecracks concerning this birth date. As a recent guest on "What's My Line?" she had the audience and the famous panelists applauding and laughing at her ad libs.

The gal is smart. She must be. She's crazy about cokes so she falls in love with the company's head salesman.

Her biggest thrill, next to meeting Eddie, was being selected to appear opposite Gene Kelly and Donald O'Connor in "Singin' in the Rain." Laying no claim to talents as a dancer, she was personally coached by Kelly and is now quite expert in both ballet and tap.

Along with the rest of America, I can hardly wait until Eddie slips the ring on Debbie's finger.

When young Fisher gave his concert at the Hollywood Bowl, Debbie sat with Irving Berlin in front of Ida and me. At the finish of the performance, when the audience was cheering young Fisher, I said out loud, "Now there's a boy I'd like to own." Debbie turned around, smiled and whispered, "You took the words right out of my mouth."

Romance Hinted as Nun Quits Buddhist Monastery

TOKYO (INS)—A Japanese abbess has broken tradition by leaving a Buddhist monastery in the ancient city of Nara over a reported romance with a young college student.

The abbess is 35-year-old Sonsho Ichijo who gave up her vows and returned to her mother in Kumamoto on the island of Kyushu. She was described as beautiful despite her closely-cropped hair.

The abbess comes from a noble family and was born the daughter of Viscount Tokiharu Hiramatsu and later adopted into the family of Prince Sanetaka Ichijo while a child.

The Ichijo family was one of the five families from which the Emperor's future bride was traditionally picked in the old days.

In a move almost unheard of in Japan, the abbess disappeared from the Chuguji Temple two weeks ago. She entered the temple, which is a monastery, when she was only 7 years old.

The abbess joined her sweetheart after leaving the monastery and left behind a note saying she wanted to be relieved of her responsibilities.

She met the student, named Hiroski Nakagawa, when he came to take calligraphy lessons at the temple. Men were allowed to enter the monastery in the postwar period to allow the Buddhist nuns to teach ancient forms of Japanese art such as tea ceremony and flower arrangement because of financial hardships.

The abbess was united with her student sweetheart for only a brief period as her relatives quickly whisked her off to her mother's home in Kyushu.

But the student brushed aside reports of the romance and said, "I have seen her only twice since she left the monastery, she seemed to be depressed over an internal squabble in her parish."

The abbess, somewhat saddened by the publicity she received over reports of her tradition-breaking romance, said she left the monastery because of "bad health."

Man's Hand Is Injured When Gun Blows Up

Clarence Watterworth, 32, of 7445 Bridge Lake Rd., Springfield Township, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital yesterday for injuries received after the gun he was using for target practice near his home blew up in his hand.

The .38 caliber revolver could not take the high-powered .38 automatic ammunition which Watterworth and a companion, Edward Jacobs of 303 Avalon, Highland Park, were using in the gun, according to Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy Shelton Stites.

The index finger of Watterworth's right hand was cut and broken when the cylinder exploded, Stites said.

Why 10c Juke Box Play in Oakland County?

The basic financial year adopted by all the nation's economists as the year of comparison with all the years that have since followed is 1939.

The reason the economists chose 1939 is because in 1939 the U. S. dollar was actually worth a full and complete dollar: 100 American cents.

In 1939 the juke box operators charged 5c per play. In 1954 fifteen years later, the very greater majority of juke box operators still charge only 5c per play.

But, during those 15 years a great many changes have come about in the nation's economy, of which all are aware, and today, the juke box operator is paying 300% more for his machines and all his other necessities, as well as for his own living expenses —but is still charging only 5c per play.

At the same time the American nickel, too, went down in value, as inflation swept the nation, and today, the 1954 nickel, compared to the 1939 nickel, is worth only 2.3c.

In short, the juke box operator is paying 300% more for everything he buys, and sells it for half of what he used to charge in 1939.

Several major cities in the U. S. have converted their music equipment to 10 cents as long as 4 years ago.

If the music operators were to continue operating at 5 cents per play they would be forced to operate only old obsolete phonographs, and ultimatly fade out of business due to public's reluctance to play old worn out obsolete equipment.

If it was worth a nickel in 1939, it should be worth a dime today, inasmuch as a dime today is worth only 4.6 cents in our present economy.

Monty Leaves Ike's Retreat

President Remains at Little White House for Brief Holiday

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower today bade goodby to his old comrade, Britain's Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery, and then attacked a deficiency in his golf game.

Montgomery, who flew down with the President Wednesday for a Thanksgiving vacation at the National Golf Club, headed back for Washington early today in the President's new plane.

Eisenhower remained at the Little White House here to get in a little work at his office and try the links again. He returns to Washington Monday.

The President played golf yesterday, with Montgomery put-putting around the course in a motor scooter. But the President "didn't do very well," in the words of Press Secretary James Hagerty.

Hagerty voiced a familiar golfer's lament—the President was out of practice, having played only once since he returned to Washington from Denver Oct. 15.

Eisenhower carved his Thanksgiving turkey, a 43-pound bird called "Kentucky Colonel," at an evening dinner with friends in the trophy room of the clubhouse. The menu included cranberries and other traditional Thanksgiving trimmings.

After dinner he played bridge in the two-story frame house built for his use just off the 10th tee.

In the foursome with the President yesterday were Ed Dudley, former Professional Golf Assn. champion and now pro at the National club; Clifford Roberts, New York investment banker and chairman of the club; and retired Col. Thomas Belshe, a golfing companion of the President at the Burning Tree Club in Washington.

Montgomery, now deputy commander of Allied forces in Europe, will meet later today with the Joint Chiefs of Staff in the Pentagon.

Justice Displays Costly Whisky Bottle in Window

"This cost the man who drank it $266."

Among his accomplishments is the sale to M-G-M of the original story for "The Prodigal," which earned him $1,500 and an introduction to Lana Turner. Miss Turner, who has one of the starring roles, is pictured with Larsen here. The movie is reportedly one of the biggest of the year.

Turtles Stop Traffic While Truck Burns

PEABODY, Kan. (AP) — Terrified turtles—hundreds of them—stopped traffic on U. S. highway 50 here yesterday.

The snapping turtles were turned loose after a trailer carrying more than two tons of them caught fire.

David Young, 25, a sailor at the Hutchinson, Kan., Naval Air Station, said he and a companion had spent several weeks gathering them and were on their way to the Chicago market when the trailer caught fire.

Peabody firemen extinguished the blaze and then helped round up the turtles. About a third of the load perished.

Heir Freed for Holiday; Enjoyed Stay in Prison

SANTA ANNA, Calif. (AP)—Sugar heir Adolph Spreckels II was released from the Orange County Jail in time to have his Thanksgiving dinner in his Ojai home. He had served 25 days of a 30-day sentence for beating his fifth wife, actress Kay Williams.

"I had a good time here; I'd even like to come back some time," quipped the 43-year-old millionaire.

Docking Pact Offers Hope of Peace Without Rackets

NEW YORK (AP) — New hope for labor peace and for an end of rackets on the Port of New York waterfront was expressed by officials today as machinery was set in motion for ratification of a two-year union-company agreement.

Terms for a contract covering the 30,000 dock workers in the port will be put to votes of the union members and 170 employers.

Commissioner John A. Burke of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service says the agreement practically eliminates the "shape-up" system of hiring which has been blamed for a major part of the evils that have infested the docks for many years.

A no-strike-no-lockout-no-work-stoppage clause in the pact caused optimism in the maritime industry which has been plagued by strikes that caused multi-million-dollar losses and diversion of commerce to other harbors.

Agreement on terms for a contract were reached at 5 a.m. yesterday, after 14½ hours of continous negotiations, by committees of the International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA) and the New York Shipping Assn. The association represents the 170 major waterfront employers.

The agreement came less than three days before the scheduled end at midnight tomorrow of a 45-day truce period in the industry. The truce followed a two-day strike last month.

The agreement gave the dock workers a union shop, the first in the industry on the North Atlantic coast; a wage, pension and welfare package of 17 cents an hour; and a clause requiring an employer to notify the union a day before a man is to be hired, and to guarantee him at least four hours of work in most cases.

Burke said the notification and work guarantee will practically wipe out the "shape-up" system, under which a hiring boss blows a whistle, the men line up at the pier, and he picks those he wants for the work gangs.

This system for many years has led to favoritism, blacklisting, pay kickbacks and other evils which have been assailed by reform groups and highlighted in federal and state investigations of waterfront crime and racketeering.

East and West Violin Contest Ends in Draw

LONDON (AP)—The East-West violin sweepstakes ended in a draw today as far as London's critics were concerned.

The contestants were the Soviet Union's fiddling pride, David Oistrakh, and Jascha Heifetz, also Russian-born but a resident of America for many years.

Heifetz played the Brahms Violin Concerto here last week in what was popularly considered the first round of an East-West musical battle. Oistrakh was soloist in the same concerto here last night.

This morning only two critics drew a comparison.

Andrew Porter of the Daily Express said Oistrakh gave "just an ordinary run-of-the-mill performance, not to be compared with that given by Heifetz."

But the anonymous critic of the Times said Oistrakh's treatment "had more personal feeling and more identification of himself with the composer than Heifetz's."

Critics of the other morning papers said Oistrakh was great and drew no comparisons.

Town Teaches Refugees About Thanksgiving

FREEDOM, Pa. (AP) — Turkey-stuffed and happy, Nicholas Tagjoru and Aline Pop can return to New York now after a full day of learning about and living an old-fashioned American Thanksgiving.

Yesterday this western Pennsylvania community of 3,500 opened its hearts to Nicholas, 12, and Aline, 14, who not too long ago lived behind the Iron Curtain, in Romania.

Through the sponsorship of the American Heritage Foundation, Freedom, Pa., decided to turn over Thanksgiving Day to the refugees and their mothers.

They were greeted yesterday morning by the local schoolchildren, who waived American flags and sang "God Bless America" as the honored guests motored in from the Greater Pittsburgh Airport.

Later, some 150 residents and officials of the town joined them in a turkey feast, with all the trimming, at Freedom High School.

Can Psychiatry Improve Actor's Movie Career?

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can psychiatry improve an actor's career?

Tony Curtis thinks so. And that's one of the reasons he has been consulting a psychiatrist for the past seven months.

Now don't get the idea that the current heart throb of the bobby-soxers is blowing his top. He isn't.

"I'm not insecure," he explained on the set of "The Purple Mask." "I don't have a split personality. It's just that I wasn't as happy as I should have been. Little things bothered me. A friend of mine suggested I consult a psychiatrist he was going to.

"I tried it, and I've been going once or twice a week ever since. It has done wonders for me. I don't lie on the couch or anything. I just go to this fellow's office and we talk about all kinds of things. I tell him what's bothering me and we dig back into my past and find the reason for it."

The result has brought him happiness, he said, not only in his career but in his married life with Janet Leigh. And he feels it will be a wise investment for his future.

"Look— I want to be in the movie business for the next 30 years," he remarked. "I think this is a good way of helping my chances.

"Some people work with their hands. Me, I've got to use my imagination. I've got to project emotion on the screen. I, Bernard Schwartz (his real name), am the only one who can do it; no one else can do it for me. It figures that the more I know about my emotions and why I react the way I do, the better actor I would be."

Tony is already projecting his career far into the future. In 10 months, he ends his exclusive deal at Universal-International, where he rose from a brash Bronx boy to a star of worldwide fame. He'll then be obligated to do a couple of pictures a year for the following three years, after which he'll be a free agent.

As soon as he starts the two-a-year deal, Tony will be able to make outside deals of his own.

National Guard divisions made up two-fifths of the American Expeditionary Forces in Europe during World War I.

Lions Win, Thankful They're Done With Packers

By JACK SAYLOR

DETROIT — The Detroit Lions went home Thursday afternoon thankful for at least one thing—they have no more business this season with the Green Bay Packers.

For the 2nd time in 5 days, the pesky Packers extended the Lions to the utmost before bowing by 4 points. A holiday crowd of 56,532 in Briggs Stadium watched Detroit squeak by, 28-24, to move within a game of clinching its 3rd straight NFL western division title.

Defensive back Jack Christiansen scored twice and Bobby Layne tossed a pair of touchdown passes, the 100th and 101st of his NFL career to account for the Lion scoring, as Detroit's usually potent running game gained only 85 yards.

Poor offensive line play was partly responsible, but the Packers also presented a stout defense led by tackles Jerry Helluin and Dave Hanner and linebackers Clayton Tonnemaker and Roger Zatkoff.

Also damaging the Lion cause were 11 penalties for 90 yards, many coming at inopportune moments. Lion coach Buddy Parker was particulary incensed by the officiating.

Meanwhile, Lions were having their hands full of Tobin Rote, Packer passing ace. Green Bay flooded the secondary with eligible receivers, yet got fine protection from his 5 interior linemen.

Rookie Bill Stits, in particular, had trouble following the Packer pass patterns as one touchdown was scored and another set up in his territory. Al Carmichael and Max McGee also dropped passes in the open that might have spelled defeat for the Detroiters.

Green Bay opened scoring late in the 1st quarter. Carmichael lateraled to Floyd (Breezy) Reid who went 48 yards to score. Layne's 10-yard scoring aerial to Doak Walker, after set-up passes to Dorne Dibble and Leon Hart, tied the count on the 1st series of the 2nd quarter.

Rote hurled 49 yards to Howie Ferguson, then sneaked over from the one to put Packers in front again. Mid-way in the period, Sonny Gandee rushed Rote and his misdirected toss was intercepted by Christiansen, who returned 30 yards to make the half-time score, 14-14.

In the 3rd period, Green Bay went ahead again on Fred Cone's 26-yard field goal, but Layne passed 30 yards to Dibble, then threw for the touchdown on a 10-yard swing pass to Lew Carpenter.

Christiansen's brilliant 61-yard punt return opened the gap to 28-17 with only a minute left in the 3rd quarter, but 2 plays later Rote found McGee wide open, hit him with a spectacular 60-yard pass and McGee completed the 82-yard scoring play.

Detroit nursed the 4-point lead through the final period, but not without some anxious moments. Lions close their home schedule against Philadelphia, Dec. 5, before traveling to Chicago and Cleveland.

Thursday's loss added to the frustrating record of Packer coach Liz Blackbourn. He now has lost 6 games by a total of 27 points. Including his mark last year at Marquette (losses to 3 Big 10 schools by 9 points), Blackbourn's teams have dropped 9 games by a total of 36 points.

Played in Mud

Acorns Down Maples in Traditional Game

Heavily-favored Royal Oak swept to its 3rd straight victory over Birmingham in their traditional Thanksgiving Day football game yesterday, 12-0.

Game was played under what probably was the sloppiest conditions in the long history of the series. Inadequate drainage facilities at Birmingham's new field turned the gridiron into a quagmire.

Both teams' attacks bogged down in the mud, with the Acorns gaining only 88 yards and Birmingham picking up 46 yards from scrimmage.

Royal Oak pushed across its 1st touchdown in the 2nd period. Passes from quarterback Frank Finney to halfback Darrell Harper set up the score and fullback Roy Soldan rammed over from the one.

Soldan sliced over from the 4-yard line for the 2nd marker in the following quarter, after Acorn end Bud Allen partially blocked a Maple punt on the 27.

A crowd of 6,000 turned out to watch Royal Oak post its 8th victory in nine starts this season.

City Parochial Cagers Drilling for SCL Season

Shamrocks Have Four Starters Back; Freds Lack Experience

Pontiac's two parochial squads both are now working out in preparation for the 1954-55 Suburban Catholic League basketball campaign which gets under way two weeks hence.

St. Michael coach Bob Mineweaser has four starters back from the team that broke even in 12 SCL games and finished 3rd in the league last season.

Forming the nucleus for the club will be forward Joe Wilhelm, center Bud Schwartz and guards Bob Anderson and Marty Keller. Another forward, John Keller, who saw considerable action last year will round out the 1st five.

Dan Dropps and Duane Priebe, reserves who came up to the varsity in time to win a letter, also are back as are Bill Hall and Jack O'Dea, mainstays of the Shamrocks' 1953-54 reserve squad.

Ken Hulslander, starting his 1st season as St. Frederick basketball coach, has only two lettermen back from the Rams' 1953-54 squad that placed 5th in the SCL. Dick Doyon, 6-foot 1-inch junior forward, and 6-2 center Lionel Bradley, this year's captain, are the returning veterans.

Other promising candidates are Del Chavez, who saw limited varsity action at guard last year, Larry Morrow, a junior who didn't play last season, and Pat Stinson, a sophomore up from the reserves.

Wolverines Will Be Loaded in 1955; Walker, Cline, Baer Principal Losses From 1954 Team

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A Michigan team, overlooked by the experts in pre-season surveys, surprised Big Ten football circles this year, winning five and losing two.

Next year, they may well dominate the entire schedule.

Probably no team in the Big Ten suffers less this year by graduation than Michigan. The Wolverines lose only six top seniors.

Gone will be halfback Danny Cline and fullback Fred Baer, the leading ground gainers as Michigan held off Ohio for three full quarters of last week's championship battle.

Gone also will be passer Duncan McDonald, a T - formation quarterback who went to a single-wing formation school, tried hard to adjust, but never quite reached his best performance.

Others who will leave include rugged, fast Art Walker, a tackle who might have been an All-America had Michigan's football fortunes been better; John Veselenak, an end, and Ted Cachey, a diminutive guard who was team captain.

Back for more action will be Tony Branoff, recovered from a knee operation; Lou Baldacci, who will probably hit his peak running from the fullback slot.; Jim Maddock, improved at quarterback; Terry Barr, expected to be a powerful double threat man at left halfback.

He needed help and found it this year in All-America candidate Ron Kramer, Tom Maentz, Mike Rotunno and Charlie Brooks. Jerry Williams will return to action after a shoulder separation.

Center will be equally strong with two sophomores Gene Snider and Jerry Goebel coming back as juniors. Jim Bates also has one more year of eligibility.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY

CASE—Choice of Deliveries.

There are three ways to deliver a bowling ball, any one of which could take you pleasantly and easily right up the ladder of success. Practice will soon give you the right method.

Topflighters use them all: Spot, board (line), and pins. It's a case of keeping your eye on

I use the standard board on the first ball, for example, and look at the pin or pins on spares. That's pretty much the general case.

In spot bowling you merely pick a spot just over the ball line on which to release the ball. In line (board) bowling, you select a board along which to send the ball, and in pin bowling you keep your eye on the pin steadily.

Skyline Conference Stars Dominate All-Rockies 11

DENVER (INS) — Skyline Conference players dominated the 1954 International News Service Rockey Mountain football team announced today.

Ten Skyline Conference players were on the first squad and one Rocky Mountain (Little Six) star. The same league distribution was noted on the second team selection.

Dick Imer, Montana University halfback, merited the highest accolades. Imer, 5-6 and weighing 170 pounds, set a new Skyline record for ground gaining.

He also was high on the list of punt returners with a 27.2-yard average.

Gary Glick of Colorado A&M, Fred Mahaffey of Denver, and Bill Westhoff of the Colorado School of Mines were other backs named to the first team.

Glick repeatedly buoyed up the second division Rams, Mahaffey was the big cog in the pioneers' best season in years, and Westhoff drew the envious eyes of big league coaches as he burned up the Little Six.

Erdelatz' Navy Team Named Desire Is Ready for Army

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The outfit Coach Eddie Erdelatz has dubbed "The Team Named Desire" sallied forth from the Naval Academy Friday with its destination Philadelphia and its object to trample Army.

Thirty-six hundred midshipmen gave the football team the traditional vocal send-off, tagging along behind the busses from Bancroft Hall, the midshipmen's dormitory, to the academy's main gate. The team boarded a train in Baltimore.

Erdelatz planned to send his Middies through a light drill at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium, scene of Saturday's annual clash, about 2:30 p.m.

Navy put the finishing touches on its passing and kicking games and its blocking assignments at a two-hour workout Thursday, capping it off by dunking Line Coach Homer Hobbs in the Severn River.

Thursday night, the brigade of midshipmen was joined by 2,000 townspeople and Maryland Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin at a pep rally in Thompson Stadium.

Team Capt. Phil Monahan told the crowd, "I never like to make a prediction, but I can tell you one thing, our boys aren't going up there (to Philadelphia) to lose."

Erdelatz, who has credited his squad with having an unbounded desire to play football and to win, said it "has indeed been a pleasure for me to be associated with the 'Team Named Desire.'"

He paid tribute to Monahan, who has spent most of the season riding the Navy bench because of leg injuries, as a team captain who "hasn't played much football this year, but has played a lot of leadership."

Trojans Flying to South Bend for ND Game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern California's Trojans leave fog-bound for Los Angeles by plane today for South Bend and a go at the Notre Dame Irish Saturday afternoon.

If the game were to be played in Los Angeles in the prevailing murk it might be an Even-Stephen affair, but in the cold clear Indiana ozone the Trojans are 14½-point underdogs.

Irish Hockey Invaders Blanks American Squad

Eleven players from seventeen American teams entered in the meet will be named Saturday night to an all-American team to play the Irish women Sunday.

Southern Cal 11 Meets Irish

Upset of 4th Ranked Notre Dame Would Aid Trojans' Ego

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Southern California, which gets in the Rose Bowl through the back door, so to speak, will try to boost its ego with a victory over Notre Dame Saturday.

A Trojan triumph over the once-beaten Irish, ranked fourth nationally in The Associated Press poll, would somewhat ease the pain of being flattened 34-0 by UCLA last week.

UCLA, unbeaten Pacific Coast Conference champion, is ineligible to return to the Rose Bowl this time, having appeared there last New Year's day. So, runner-up USC, with six league victories, has drawn the assignment to meet undefeated Ohio State.

Argentine Lifts Flyweight Title From Jap Boxer

Perez Wins Unanimous Decision Over Yoshio Shirai in Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — Pascual Perez, a terrific little terrier from Argentina, won the flyweight championship of the world tonight by battering heavier and rangier Yoshio Shirai of Japan into a stumbling daze in 15 violent rounds.

U. S. Army Major Jack Sullivan, referee, scored it 146-139. Judge Bill Pachecho of Hawaii had it 143-139 and Judge Kuniharu Hayashi of Japan 146-134.

The Associated Press card had it 143-140.

He rushed to a microphone at ringside and shouted "I won for Peron! I won for my country! I won for Argentina!"

Shirai weighed 111½. Perez 107¾. The limit is 112 pounds for boxing's smallest division. Shirai at 5 feet-5 towered 5 inches over little Perez.

Lacing Handed Missouri Worries Maryland Coach

By GEORGE BOWEN

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The greatest beneficiary of one of Maryland's most breathtaking football scoring shows, coach Jim Tatum, was in the role of a reluctant recipient Friday.

He appeared to be worrying nearly as much over Thursday's 74-13 score against Missouri as if he had lost.

"Gosh, Coach Don Faurot of Missouri and I are like brothers," he fretted afterwards. "I tried as hard as possible to keep from scoring that much."

Coach Faurot agreed. "There wasn't any attempt to run up the score," he said. "Maryland's three teams played good, that's all."

It was the highest score a Maryland team has posted in eight years under Tatum and the most ever scored against Missouri. Maryland generally was rated only a two-touchdown favorite, at the most, before the game.

The compassion was praiseworthy, but the performance couldn't have been timed better for Maryland's football reputation.

It was on a national television network (ABC) and wound up a season in which Maryland's 1954 grid fortunes dipped early but still might end in the Orange bowl.

Battle Creek Central Tops UP Football Poll

Battle Creek Central today was named the No. 1 Class A high school football team in the state in the final United Press poll of the season. Central was unbeaten but tied once in nine games.

Army Prepared for Any Navy 'Surprises'

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP) — In past years, Navy has been able to spring a surprise or two on Army in their annual service football game. Not in 1954, though.

frowned Cadet Coach Earl Blaik before stepping aboard a bus that was to transport the team from the plains to Newark on the first leg of its journey to Philadelphia Thursday.

"I will say one thing. We are as well prepared for Navy as we have been at any time since I've been coaching here (he's going into his 22nd fray as assistant or head coach). There is less reason to make a strong prognostication than in any year since the 1948 tie.

"I can assure you that it won't be the same as in 1951 when Navy, after using the T-formation all season, came up with the single wing. Before they could even get the boys out there they had scored two touchdowns against us. I had to map defenses on the ground along the sidelines. That won't happen this year."

The coach didn't seem at all worried about Navy's strong running attack and the passing and ballhandling in the option series of quarterback George Welsh. Blaik, in fact, thinks the West Pointers will have to be more on the alert for the passing game. He has been impressed by Welsh.

Just out of the hospital where he fought off an attack of pneumonia, Blaik was greeted by a squad that was in the best shape of the year. His first-string backfield of Pete Vann, Tommy Bell, Bob Kyasky and Pat Uebel is perhaps the most explosive since the days of Blanchard and Davis.

* * *

Blaik said he doesn't expect Navy to deviate too much from its normal split-T pattern and he is expected by observers here to stay primarily on the ground with his passing attack under the direction of Vann, taking a secondary position.

Texas Wins, Dims Shouts for Coach Price's 'Scalp'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Texas continues its hoary jinx over Texas A&M in their ancient Southwestern football rivalry and it probably has dulled for the time being at least the cries for Texas Coach Ed Price's scalp.

The Longhorns beat Texas A&M 22-13 Thursday to preserve the tradition of Memorial Stadium — no Aggie team ever has won there in its 30 years. Sixty thousand fans saw the game.

Texas, at the fag end of a disastrous season during which Price came under fire of the alumni, wound up in fifth place in the Southwest Conference standings while A&M finished last without a victory. It was the worst season Coach Paul Bryant ever has had. Bryant came to A&M from Kentucky this year. He has a six-year contract.

* * *

Texas had a season record of four victories, five defeats and one tie whereas it had been the heaviest pre-season favorite to win the championship in the history of the conference. This was the reason Price was so severely criticized although in his previous three seasons he had won one championship and tied for another.

Berkley Tabbed Inter-Lakes Favorite

(Editor's note: This is the first in a series of articles discussing the forthcoming basketball season and the prospects for Oakland County area teams and leagues.)

By JACK SAYLOR

Berkley High School started the athletic year 1954-55 in great style by winning six out of nine football games as well as the Inter-Lakes' Conference championship with a 5-0 record.

Now under a new coach, Jim Beadle, the Bears are installed as favorites to add the circuit's basketball crown to their football laurels. Under Lloyd Houden, Berkley won cage titles in 1952 and '53 before yielding to Farmington last winter.

Houden has dropped basketball to concentrate on football. Beadle is one of two new coaches in the Inter-Lakes this season. The other is Don Beedle at Waterford.

BEADLE

Berkley's Beadle is a Western Michigan College graduate and moves to the varsity after handling the Berkley reserves. The Skippers' Beedle is a Pontiac High School and Bowling Green (O.) University graduate. He spent two years at Memphis High before joining the Waterford athletic department last year.

Other schools in the league have the same coaches, Niles Freeland at Walled Lake, Bob Burtch at Farmington, Bob Watts at Southfield and George Ward at Van Dyke.

Top man on the Berkley scene is 6-5 center Dick Radatz. One of the area's top scorers, he is a mid-year graduate but will be available for six of the Bears' 10 conference games, including both with defending champion Farmington.

Regular guard Lou Lemack (5-8) returns and Berkley has Bob Blackwell, Don Biggott, Max Roe and Bill Donohoe all 6-foot or near.

Farmington has three of its starting five back, but will be shorter than last year. Center Jerry Rice is tops at 6-2, Ron Donoghue adds rebound strength and Capt. John Fawcett, 5-11 guard, is a good outside shooter and driver.

Van Dyke and Walled Lake appear relegated to also-ran roles. Only Myrel Taulbee and Charles Aughenbaugh are back on Freeland's Viking team. Lettermen John Reid and Mike Tierney and 6-2 junior Bob Hess likely will complete the first five. Other prospects are football star Dick Woodworth and a trio of sophomores, Larry Hughes, John Walker and Larry Dion.

Hopes of Waterford and Southfield rest with the development of underclassmen. Skipper returnees include Bob Jacober, Dave Larkin, Dick Gilchrist, Myles Watkins and Joe Umphrey, all seniors.

Skippers also have Roger Asbury, a 5-11 transfer from Milford. Jacober, who holds school records of 243 points for a season and 29 for a single game, will miss at least two games with a wrist injury.

Southfield has a junior team which might be a year away from title contention. Bluejays were hurt by the loss of 6-2 Steve Klamek from a sandlot football injury, but still have good height with Eric Leighton and Ray Fillar both hitting 6-4.

Ken Moser and Bob Evans will handle the guards, while foremost contenders for forward berths are Dick Deleruyelle, 6-1 transfer from Center Line, and Leonard Lamb, 6-2 sophomore.

Leafs Blanked by Red Wings

Win Sawchuk's Third Straight Shutout, Sixth for Season

DETROIT (AP) — Terry Sawchuk blanked the Toronto Maple Leafs 2-0 last night to give the Detroit Red Wings undisputed possession of 2nd place in the National Hockey League.

Alex Delvecchio and Ted Lindsay sniped in the two Detroit goals.

Lindsay's was the clincher and came in the last seconds of play after Toronto goalie Harry Lumley was pulled off the ice for an extra attacker.

The goal was Detroit's 1st against Lumley in three games.

Bob Feller leads the active hurlers in this organization. He has fanned 2,538. Hal Newhouseer is next on the Tribe with 1,788. Early Wynn has 1,172. Bob Lemon made it this year. He now has 1,030.

Poachers Threat to Turkeys

By ROBERT E. VOGES

ALLEGAN (AP) — Conservation workers were keeping an especially sharp lookout for possible poachers in the Allegan State Forest during the last few days.

Think of the Thanksgiving season and you think of turkey. And there are some 200 turkeys running around loose in the Allegan State Forest.

Fifty 1-year and 2-year old birds were released in the forest last spring in an effort to re-establish the wild turkeys that once roamed the Michigan hardwood forests in almost unbelievable numbers.

Michigans last wild turkey was shot around the turn of the century. Both the birds and the eggs were imported from Pennsylvania, where a good start has been made at bringing back the big game bird.

Dr. C. S. Whitlock of the research division of the conservation game department said the turkey flocks are prospering in Pennsylvania—so much that hunters are allowed an open season.

About 10,000 were shot two years ago and last year more than 15,000 were taken.

Dr. Whitlock was in a party of five that bagged three birds. He reports they are a little gamier than the domestic brand of turkey most people enjoyed on Thanksgiving but will make good eating.

"They are a sporty bird to hunt," he said. "They have excellent eyesight and very good hearing. They will run and dodge in the underbrush when they hear or see you coming and also are surprisingly fast in flight."

Conservation people are a little skeptical about the possibility of restoring wild turkeys to Michigan. They require wild, hardwood forests and a wide area to range in since a flock needs about 3,000 acres.

Experiment isn't expensive, however, so the game men are willing to give it a try. If the turkeys take hold in the Allegan area, there's a chance they may also be tried out in sections of Lake, Newaygo and Wexford counties where deep woods furnished the needed cover and food.

So far, the turkeys seem to be doing well. About half a dozen have been found dead, three the victims of disease and others killed by predators and st arvation.

Two-legged predators also are expected to take their toll of the flock. One hunter was seen to shoot a turkey and carry it off but the poacher got away before his license number could be taken.

Mail Carriers Will Start Bird Count

LANSING (AP) — Some 700 Michigan rural mail carriers will begin a post-season count of pheasants Nov. 29, the conservation department said Thursday.

Hold Winning Edge

In the 26 years Iowa University stadium has been used, the Hawkeyes have won a total of 53 football games, lost 45 and tied eight.

Hunting Survey to Be Extended to Small Game

LANSING (AP) — Department of conservation's hunting poll will be extended this year to include small game, the department said Thursday.

Until this year, the poll asked hunters to report their success with deer and pheasant hunting only. The survey is conducted by mailing out postcards requesting information from a cross-section of hunters.

Department officials say the postcards, which will be mailed out in early December, will ask sportsmen to report their success in all types of hunting through Dec. 1.

Next year, a separate poll may be conducted on cottontail rabbit and snowshoe hare hunting in the state, the department said.

Indianapolis Manager Named Outstanding in Season of 1954

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kerby Farrell of the Indianapolis Indians was the overwhelming choice of American Assn. Baseball Writers as the league's outstanding manager of 1954.

Farrell took a squad composed primarily of rookies in his first season at the Indians' helm and won a pennant and a victory in the all-star game.

Farrell's accomplishments made him the consensus of choice of writers in six of the Association's eight cities. Single votes went to Mike Higgins, who guided Louisville to the Little World Series championship after finishing second in regular-season play, and to John Keane, whose Columbus team ranked fourth.

Airplane passenger service in the United States was started in May of 1919.

All this—and more miles per gallon too!

MAYBE—among the upcoming crop of new 1955 models—there's another car with an advance that can hold a candle to this one.

But we doubt it. We doubt it because nowhere—among the rumors of what's cooking in automotive laboratories—is there anything to compare with what's actually happened at Buick.

It all started with the fact that modern air liners get two big advantages because they can change the pitch of their propellers.

Second, they can stretch their gasoline by setting propeller blades at just the right "pitch" for cruising.

So Buick engineers asked themselves—"If you can do it with air, why can't you do it with oil—the oil inside a Dynaflow Drive?"

And to make a long story short—they could, and they did.

They designed and engineered the propeller-like blades inside the "stator" of a Dynaflow Drive so they can change their pitch as much as 75 degrees.

That provides one setting for more-miles-per-gallon, and another for an instant safety-surge of power when it's needed.

All you have to do is push the accelerator pedal the last half-inch beyond the full throttle position—and a-way you go!

Of course, there's a lot more to make a visit to our showrooms the "must" of the new-car year.

But the thrill of the year is Buick's latest engineering "first"—and what it does for the man or woman who drives the latest and greatest Dynaflow Drive.

Buicks today go a lot farther on a gallon of gas, thanks to constant improvement in Dynaflow and in engine design. Even the new 236-hp ROADMASTER averages 4.8 more miles per gallon than Buicks of six years ago.

Duke 11 Shoots for ACC Title, Orange Bowl

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

Action is skimpy but important. Heading the program is the Army-Navy game before more than 100,000 in Philadelphia. This year's contest is more important than usual because the winner will be rated the unofficial champion of the East.

Bowl-wise, they still need a host team for the Orange Bowl, two teams for the Sugar Bowl and the visiting outfit for the Cotton Bowl. The Atlantic Coast, Southeastern and Southwest conference races are to be decided.

Nebraska, the Big Seven runner-up, already has been installed as the Orange Bowl visitor. The Atlantic Coast Conference will vote on its representative after Saturday's games. If Duke beats North Carolina, the Blue Devils will win the title and the voting will be a mere formality.

If North Carolina wins, then Maryland will take the title and should get the nomination, especially after its 74-13 trouncing of Missouri yesterday.

The Sugar Bowl nomination traditionally goes to the Southeastern Conference winner. Mississippi can take it by whipping Mississippi State. Other important SEC games pit Auburn against Alabama at Birmingham and Georgia Tech at Georgia.

Baylor can tie Arkansas for the Southwest Conference crown by getting past Rice. But Arkansas already has been selected for the Cotton Bowl, having beaten Baylor earlier in the season.

Notre Dame entertains Southern California, which will be warming up for its Rose Bowl tilt against Ohio State.

Oklahoma, perennial ruler of the Big Seven, goes after its 19th straight victory, playing Oklahoma A&M.

Army is a slight favorite over Navy, although the two teams appear almost evenly matched on paper. The Cadets have a 7-1 mark and the Middies 6-2. The West Pointers' slim advantage lies in their backfield.

Other games on the slim schedule have Holy Cross at Boston College, Miami at Florida, Wake Forest at South Carolina, Louisiana State at Tulane, Tennessee at Vanderbilt, West Virginia at Virginia, Texas Tech at Hardin-Simmons, Arkansas at Houston and Texas Christian at Southern Methodist.

LONG, SHORT OF IT — Here are the opposite extremes on the House of David basketball team that meets Pontiac Shaw's Jewelers in an exhibition game at Ortonville High School next Thursday night. "Moose" Gordon, a near-7-footer, is shown with the team's leader, Bobby Roth.

House of David Five Plays in Ortonville

House of David's touring basketball team will make its first appearance of the season in the Oakland County area Thursday, Dec. 2, at Ortonville High School.

The bearded clowns, led by little Bobby Roth and big Moose Gordon, will meet Shaw's Jewelers of Pontiac at 8 p.m. in the Ortonville gymnasium. A preliminary at 7 o'clock will match Davis Machinery of Ortonville and an opponent to be named.

Army Given Three-Point Edge Over Navy Squad

By HARRY WISMER
(Copyright 1954)
(International News Service)

College football season ends to all intents and purposes this weekend with a handful of contests that includes the traditional service classic between the offense-minded Cadets of Army and defensive wizards of Navy. I feel the men from West Point have a 3-point bulge in this affair.

Villanova-Fordham . . . A battle royal with Villanova having a slight edge. Boston College deserves the nod over Holy Cross by seven points. Florida-Miami . . . I like the Miami team by two points. Georgia Tech-Georgia . . . I like Tech by 10 points.

Mississippi - Mississippi State . . . Ole Miss should finish in a blaze of glory against a real rugged team, winning by seven points. L.S.U.-Tulane . . . Another statewide battle with Louisiana State the favorite by 14. Vanderbilt-Tennessee . . . Volunteers of Tennessee have a 7-point edge. Baylor-Rice . . . A great intercollegiate contest in the offing with Rice my choice by six.

Arkansas-Houston . . . Razorbacks have lost their last two games, but should win this one by 20 points. Oklahoma is a solid 30 point choice over Oklahoma A&M.

Southern Methodist is a 3-point choice over Texas Christian. Notre Dame-Southern California . . . I like the Irish by 14.

And, now, to the pros.

Chicago Cardinals can take Pittsburgh by 10. Philadelphia Eagles by 21 over Washington. San Francisco can spill Baltimore by 28 points. Cleveland Browns should beat New York by 14 points. Los Angeles should win by 11 points over the Chicago Bears.

'Slicer's Nightmare' Removed From Links

CONCORD, N. H. (AP)—For years golfers and duffers alike swore loud oaths at a lone pine tree in the par-4, fifth hole of the municipal golf course.

Hal Boyle Says:

NEW YORK (AP) — Throughout history most men rarely have been certain where they'd get their next meal.

The problem in America for the next few days is just the reverse. Practically every husband will be only too sure where his next meal is coming from—the ruins of a Thanksgiving turkey.

A turkey, for the average small family, is a cavern of depressing plenty. Just when everybody hopefully believes the bird has yielded up its last morsel, you turn another corner of the carcass—and there are three more meals.

The poultry industry is no help. It is always putting out lists of 1,012 appetizing ways a wife can disguise leftover turkey. But every way ends up with the man of the house staring moodily into another plate of turkey rubble.

This seems to me a short-sighted approach to the problem. If I were head of the poultry industry I'd put a little tag on ever Thanksgiving turkey that said:

When you drink wine, you don't drain the dregs, do you? Well, treat this fine turkey as if it, too, were a fine wine.

"After you have dined off it well once, don't paw through the debris for days, insulting your palate and the memory of a mellow, wonderful Thanksgiving dinner. If you throw away the dregs of this bird by nightfall of the day on which you cook it, you'll appreciate your next turkey that much more."

However, since housewives are too traditionally thrifty to go for this line of patter all at once, it is up to the husband himself to find some way to deal realistically with this problem of what to do about leftover turkey.

Here are a few untested tips:

1. Do a real job of disguising it. Put a red stocking cap and a white beard on it, and tell your kids it's Santa Claus. Naturally they will start to cry, as no child wants to eat Santa Claus. This will force your wife to get rid of the bird.

2. The morning after Thanksgiving, lure your neighbor's dog to the door, throw the turkey at him, and swear to your wife that he stole it. This may take a big of doing, because if the dog sees the turkey in your hand first, he may refuse to come near. He is probably as fowl-stuffed as you are.

3. Make a game of it. When your wife leaves the house, call in all the surrounding kids, and offer a dollar reward to the one who can hide the turkey where nobody will ever find it.

4. Make the turkey a lottery prize in your office. You pay 50 friends a quarter apiece to take a ticket. The one whose number is pulled from a hat has to agree to take the turkey. Don't accept a ticket yourself. If you do, you're bound to be the unlucky winner.

5. Don't try to sabotage the turkey remnants by pouring library past on them. A friend of mine who did this found the strategem backfired. His wife never even noticed the difference, and he had to eat turkey-a-la-library-paste for three days. That kind of food really sticks with a man.

6. Pick a quarrel with your wife until she gets so angry she packs up and goes home to visit her mother. Then mail the turkey to her mother.

7. If nothing else works, bundle up the used turkey and go to a psychiatrist. Don't tell him your real name. Tell him you're John Doe. As you lie down on the couch, put the bundle unobtrusively by the couch. Then tell him that your big problem in life is that you can never get enough leftover turkey. As he listens in fascinated amazement to this strange tale, you unobtrusively nudge the bundle out of sight underneath the couch with your foot.

Then you arise, pay him quickly, and when you leave his office, run away as fast as you can. I'll admit this is a dirty trick to play on a psychiatrist who is probably already sick of leftover turkey himself. But it at least will give him material for an article entitled, "A Case Study of Amnesia in a Turkey-Philiac."

Your turkey may even end up in a medical museum, and is that bad?

Light Pressure Boosts Grains

CHICAGO, Nov. 26 (UP) — A persistent, although relatively light, demand sent grains higher on the Board of Trade today in the absence of any heavy selling pressure.

The one-day session sandwiched between the Thanksgiving holiday and the weekend didn't produce anything in the way of heavy trading but it did indicate a firm demand for cereals. Gains were general in all pits although mostly limited to fractions.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ½ to 1⅛ higher, December $2.28⅛; corn ⅝ to ¾ higher, December $1.56½; oats ¼ to ⅜ higher, December 84⅜; rye ⅝ to ⅝ higher, December $1.29; soybeans unchanged to 1¼ higher, January $2.88; and lard 2 to 27 cents a hundred pounds higher, December $14.65.

Doubt Shadows Ike Appointment

Some Believe Senate Won't OK Kammholz as NLRB Counsel

WASHINGTON (UP)—An air of uncertainty surrounds President Eisenhower's nomination of Theophil C. Kammholz, Chicago attorney, to the important post of general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board.

Some Senate sources, declining to be quoted by name, said today Kammholz may not be confirmed at all, either at this session or next year by the Democrat-controlled Senate.

The position is a key one in administering the Taft-Hartley labor law because the NLRB general counsel has exclusive power without consulting the NLRB itself—to decide whether to prosecute unfair labor practice charges against a union or employer.

So far no official objections have been reported filed against Kammholz, whose nomination formally went to the Senate when it convened in special session Nov. 8. The four-year term of the present Democratic-appointed general counsel, George J. Bott, expires in four weeks.

But AFL and CIO officials have said privately that, while they consider Kammholz able and fair, they are not keen to have him in the job because his law clients have been mostly on the management side. And Democratic senators have indicated they would want lengthy hearings on the appointment—thus apparently ruling out action this session because of the Senate's current informal agreement not to take up "controversial" nominations.

1. The White House notified neither Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) nor Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) of the appointment before sending it to the Senate. Failure to officially inform home state senators in such cases is considered a serious breach of legislative-executive etiquette.

2. Two days before Congress adjourned last Aug. 20, Sherman Adams, the President's assistant, telephoned Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), Labor Committee chairman, asking him to call his committee together that day to receive and pass on the Kammholz nomination. Smith said this did not allow enough time. He was piqued at what he considered an unreasonable request.

3. Kammholtz is reported reluctant to quit his law practice in Chicago for a recess appointment next month because of the possibility that the Senate may never confirm him.

Auto Makers Beating November '53 Totals

DETROIT (UP)—Ward's Automotive reports said today the production of motor vehcicles for November will come to 501,700 cars and 89,600 trucks. The year's peak level is indicated for December, the agency said.

This year's November output will compare with production of 361,815 cars and 762,228 trucks in the like month of 1953.

Ward's estimates this week's assemblies at 112,282 cars and 18,128 trucks. Last week 133,917 cars and 22,043 trucks were built. In the corresponding 1953 week 52,227 cars and 16,927 trucks were made.

So far this year U. S. factories have built 4,814,180 cars and 922,064 trucks. In the comparable 1953 period, 5,718,996 cars and 1,101,681 trucks were built.

Finally Says Thanks for Sweater of WWI

BOSTON (UP) — It took Harry Seiber of New York City 37 years to offer his thanks for a sweater a woman knitted for him.

In World War I he received a sweater knitted and donated by Mrs. L. L. Haywood of Worcester, Mass. He wore the sweater throughout the campaigns in France and when he returned to the United States attempted unsuccessfully to contact Mrs. Haywood.

This year Seiber finally reached Mrs. Haywood's husband and offered his sincere though belated gratitude. Mrs. Haywood is dead.

Bills Dyed Green Trap Pilfering Store Employe

A few hours later Halpen noticed that (1) the money was missing, and (2) one of his employes was rather green. A confession and a petty larceny conviction resulted.

Santa Claus Visit to Be Delayed for $100 Finders

Two 12-year-old boys, who turned over to authorities a $100 bill they found in a hardward store, will have to wait five more months before collecting the money, Pontiac Police said today.

The youngsters, Warren Norlund of 142 Lincoln St., and Wayne Carmichael of 51 Spokane Dr., found the $100 bill in a bin of nails Oct. 23 and promptly notified police.

The money was placed with the property custodian and the boys were given a receipt for their find. They would receive the $100 after 30 days in the event no one claimed it, the boys claim they were told.

However, the boys were notified this week — when police retrieved the notes signed by an officer — that a mistake had been made and that the customary waiting period is six months instead of 30 days.

Further, since the money was found on private property, it will have to be returned to the proprietor who will decide the fate of the $100 bill.

The boys' mothers, Mrs. Henry Norlund and Mrs. Monroe Carmichael, said the youngsters should have been told of the six-month waiting period in the first place.

In explaining the situation, police again praised the honesty of the pair.

Also lauding the boys honesty was Arthur Barnes, owner of the hardware store, who said he would stick by the original agreement made between police and the boys and will give the youngsters the money when it is returned to him by authorities next spring.

Expert Doubts Frogs at War

UM Zoologist Believes Report From Malaya Entirely False

ANN ARBOR (UP)—Reports that two armies of frogs were fighting it out in Malaya last week were called very unlikely today by a University of Michigan zoologist.

Associate Professor Norman E. Hartweg, curator of the reptiles and amphibians in the University of Michigan Museum of Zoology told an Ann Arbor radio audience he believed the report was false.

"If it is true, it would certainly be the first time. To the best of my knowledge, it is not true," he said.

"Frogs just don't go around killing because they don't have the weapons to kill."

Prof. Hartweg pointed out that one species of frog in South America does have a powerful poison which it uses for defense, "but they're the only ones."

The report said that two armies of frogs were staging open war and the battlefield was covered by thousands of their iny bodies. The report added that they were all about the same size, but one group was black and the other brown.

Prof. Hartweg said that the sameness in size indicated the frogs were of the same species, the report stated. Color, he said, was probably the difference in sex.

He said ttoo that it was unlikely that poisonous frogs were involved, since the report stated that frogs of both armies were reported dead. He said the poisonous frogs, if they had been present, would have been immune to their own poison.

He suggested that the probable reason for the dead frogs were a poisoning, by some means, of their swampy habitat. "It is possible too that there was a mass movement of frogs away from the poisoned area, giving the impression of a battle, " he concluded.

Predict 1955 Food Prices Will Be Slightly Lower

WASHINGTON (INS) — Marketing specialists said today that recent declines in such items as coffee, pork and lard indicate that average food prices in 1955 are likely to be a little lower than this year.

The sources noted, however, that so many foods at the corner grocery now include service costs—special processing, and the like—that only a slight decline should be expected.

Ample supplies forecast for the coming year include beef, chicken, butter, milk and potatoes.

But even though the farmer may receive a smaller share of the consumer's food dollar, the experts say there isn't much likelihood that marketing costs will go down, largely because labor involved is not inclined to take wage cuts.

Estimates are that about five million persons are employed in the process of moving food products from the farm to the consumer. The retailer, the distributor, the packager, the processor, and the transportation worker are all involved and each naturally expects his cut.

Here is what the Agriculture Department expects to happen in some of the major commodities:

Cattle—Prices in the next few months may hold at least as high as a year earlier. Supplies of top grade cattle may be slightly smaller until spring.

Hogs—Prices for at least the next six months or so will continue below unusually high levels of a year earlier. A moderate upturn in prices is forecast after the early winter marketing peak.

Corn—Prices expected to advance later in the season.

Potatoes—Fewer will be available this winter and prices are expected to rise accordingly.

Wheat—Prices in mid-November were about at the high level for the season up to this time.

Lard and other food fats—Production this food year is likely to exceed domestic use and exports, and prices probably will continue lower than a year earlier.

Wants Europe to Assist Asia

Senator Proposes That Other Lands Join U.S. in Providing Aid

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) has proposed that France and the British Commonwealth nations join the United States in a "cooperative approach" to aiding underdeveloped, non-Communist Asian countries.

Mansfield's views, given in an interview yesterday, marked the second public suggestion this week by a Washington official that others step in with this country in assisting Asian economics.

Foreign Aid Director Harold E. Stassen told a new conference Monday that Western European countries have recovered sufficiently from the effects of World War II to join the United States in an Asian aid program.

Stassen said there would be "many advantages in a coordinated economic approach"—the tack taken by Mansfield.

The Montana senator, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he would oppose any "one-way aid program" in Asia.

"We would do far better," he said, "to go into this thing on a cooperative basis . . ."

Britain, France and the Commonwealth nations should make the "principal" contribution to such a program, he said.

Mansfield said he would favor an economic aid program costing the United States 100 to 500 million dollars for the next two years, "with emphasis on the smaller figure."

Mansfield, a recognized congressional specialist on Southeast Asia, said he does not believe Congress would approve an Asiatic aid program patterned on the postwar European Marshall Plan.

"A Marshall Plan," he said, "would not be feasible in Asia and it would cost far too much."

France Asks Compensation

Wants U. S. to Pay for Use of Five Patents in Atomic Energy Field

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission said today the French government has applied to the United States for "reasonable" compensation for five abandoned patent applications dealing with uranium fission.

An AEC spokesman said this is the first time any foreign power has brought such a claim. It will take a long time, possibly years, to settle the claim.

The action was taken by the Commissariat l'Energie Atomique, the French atomic energy agency. Its petition was based on patent applications dating back to 1939.

The earliest of these five applications was filed by Dr. Jean F. Joliot, Dr. Hans von Halban and Dr. Lew Kowarski, nuclear scientists who were leading figures in French atomic development. Their interest in the patents has been turned over to the Commissariat.

The AEC spokesman said that the applications were abandoned at a later date, but offered no explanation why this was done.

The application by the French agency was filed with the AEC's Patent Compensation Board, which was set up by Congress to handle such claims. Under law, the AEC has four months to answer the claim, after which hearings presumably would be held.

The French argue that the principles set forth by the foreign scientists have been used in atomic development in the United States.

Large Foreign Group Studying at Renssalaer

Churchill's 80th Birthday to Stir Britain's Heart

His health will be drunk in pubs and clubs throughout Britain. The two houses of Parliament will join in a session of tribute.

There will be gifts for the doughty old Prime Minister ranging from a few tea leaves to a check for something like a million pounds. This $2,800,000, to be spent as Churchill pleases, represents a worldwide shower of donations to the Sir Winston Churchill Birthday Presentation fund. One guess is that Churchill will use the money to set up a new international humanitarian fund.

The Prime Minister must sandwich the festivities into a busy round of affairs of state. The birthday coincides with a formal opening of the new Parliament.

The usually late-to-bed Churchill will start his birthday celebration with a special cup of tea. The tea —two spoonsful in a grubby, screwed up envelope with a little sugar — was sent to Churchill as "the only present I can afford" by someone signing himself "An Old Age Pensioner."

Organizers of the birthday fund said the Prime Minister, touched by the gift, was reserving it to be drunk in bed as an eye opener.

Karl Marx Reburied at Site of Memorial

LONDON (UP)—The body of Karl Marx, father of communism, has been dug up and reburied in a different plot in London's Highgate Cemetery. A bigger site was needed for a large memorial to be erected shortly.

The coffin was moved in the darkness early Tuesday by five gravediggers, working by the light of oil lamps. Officials said the home office, in okaying the transfer, specified that the reburial must take place at night. Also reburied in the new site were the bodies of Marx's wife Jenny; his grandson Harry Longuet; and Helena Demuth, a family servant.

Marx died here in exile from Germany in 1883 at the age of 65. His most famous book, "Das Kapital," is a bible of communism.

John W. Morgan, secretary of the Marx Memorial Committee, said the monument to be erected over the new grave will be of polished black granite with bronze figures on the base.

Lawmaker's 32nd Will Cuts Off Wife and Son

LONDON (UP)—Maj. Peter Stapleton Shaw, former Conservative member of Parliament, wrote 32 wills before his death last August.

The 32nd will left his $112,000 fortune to a friend, Miss Emily Hutchinson. Justice Charles Collingwood said it was legal. He overruled a petition by Shaw's widow and son to make will No. 31 binding.

Past Growth Is Prelude to Move

Recalls Favorite Stars and Growing Pains of Infant Media

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK (AP)—This is goodbye.

After nearly three decades—more than two at the helm of this column—chronicling the living history of radio and television, I've decided to take it easy.

I am retiring to Lakeland, Fla., to concentrate on a couple of neglected hobbies and to be just an everyday radio-TV fan. Altogether, counting other assignments, I have been with the AP 35 years—long enough to make one feel like a veteran.

This column was born when television was in diapers. It recorded those first eye-strain flickerings of the scanning disc days and was sort of a nurse's aide to many of TV's growing pains.

Now television is blossoming out into all colors of the iris, and it's only the beginning.

There is no reason why TV some day will not take on a true third dimension, even add the pleasing aroma of a rose garden (somebody has called it smell-o-vision); why it can't be as simplified a gadget as today's pocket-sized radios; why it can't put truealife, full color pictures on the living room wall.

Yet television is more than broadcasting. It has many commercial applications, only a few of which have emerged so far. The telephone engineer long has dreamed of the time when TV and the telephone will be one. That awaits only more research.

Union of TV and the X-ray for use in internal medicine and surgery isn't as impracticable as it may seem. The experts already are at work on the beginnings, so the future may make possible an electronic operation without a drop of blood.

Then there's wireless transmission of power. What a boon that will be when and if it comes. Then all you'd need to light your house would be a small antenna on the roof. It could even replace the fuel tank in your automobile or airplane.

These are only a few of hints of the future to indicate the electronics art still is in its infancy. This despite the fact it has accomplished so much in its first 50 years or so.

Today it has reached the stage where every gain pyramids, each development opening wider and wider vistas for exploration and invention. There is no foreseeable end.

Highly significant has been the growth of radio and TV broadcasting. Many of the impressions it has made on the pages of history I saw develop first hand. Many a fond memory of association was gained in the process.

Never will I forget Ed Wynn's good, clean humor; Rudy Vallee's heart-fluttering songs; Kate Smith's broadcast charm; Graham McNamee's Rose Bowl football descriptions; Vincent Lopez' piano playing; Paul Whiteman's musical feats; Amos and Andy's popular black face skit; Red Barber's authentic sportcasts; Morton Downey's tenor voice and so many others it would take a broadcast who's who to detail them all.

It goes without saying I leave with a tug at my own heartstrings. The paths I have worn to network headquarters and other radio-TV sources which have become so familiar now will hear the sound of new footsteps.

They will be those of Wayne Oliver, a younger man but no stranger to the field, about which he has been writing authoritatively for the AP the last seven years.

I hope you treat him as kindly as you have me.

Jackie Gleason Wanted for Movie With Lana

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—TV Star Jackie Gleason may soon make a movie—playing Lana Turner's leading man.

Jack Benny, George Burns and Norman Krasna want him for "The Jack of Spades," which they'll produce. Benny and Krasna made the offer in Gleason's Paramount Theater dressing room. Gleason's considering it—along with other Hollywood overtures.

Benny, a Gleason fan, went on Jackie's TV show voluntarily. As he rehearsed his violining, Gleason shouted: "Does Mary have to listen to this?"

Gleason was in "The Desert Hawk" in 1950. "I made money on that picture," he says. "I had the hot dog concession on the set."

Rocky Graziano's described this way by Comedian Jack E. Leonard: "Every time he opens his mouth, he sticks his glove in it" . . . Tallulah Bankhead now shows off her bust-lift to close friends.

Beauty isn't all on the B'way stage. Claudette Thornton, of Dallas, Houston and Hollywood, one of the world's purtiest gals, with lots of Hollywood experience, has tried for 6 months to get into a good stage show. She's about to give up and return to Hollywood. We hope some producer seeing her picture will give her a chance, 'cause beautiful girls are nice to have on the stage, too.

Hear about the secretary of the Girl Scout troop who said: "I'll now read the menace of the last meeting?" . . . "Frozen foods have caused such a revolution in the kitchen that husbands no longer ask their wives 'What's cookin'? but 'What's thawin'?"—Charles Mortimer, president of a food company, says.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Noel Coward's agent turned down a $37,500 offer from The Sands . . . Martha Raye and husband Ed Begley, rumored in Splitsville, were together the other night . . . The "I Feel Wonderful" revue in the Village offers such beauts as Phyllis Newman.

Socialite Dick Cowell darkened his hair 'cause his date, Barbara Nichols, liked it that way . . . B'way description of "Desire": "Oh, it's about some character who thinks he's Napoleon" . . . Confidence: Frances Langford's already signed for a Milwaukee night spot "for World Series week."

Linda Christian said at Little Bohemia she'll get custody of her semi-nude statue . . . Roy Cohn'll get $500 per speech at Harvard and Wharton next semester . . . Jose Ferrer may direct the next Irvin Berlin musical.

Earl's Pearls . . .

Gallery Pays $19,698 for Portrait by Matisse

LONDON (AP)—The Tate Gallery today paid $19,698 for a portrait by French artist Henri Matisse, who died this month.

Vishinsky's Ashes on Public Display

MOSCOW (UP)—Soviet officials today placed an urn containing the ashes of Andrei Y. Vishinsky in the Hall of Columns at the House of Trades Unions and invited the public to see it.

Doors of the vast building in the heart of Moscow were opened to the public between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. (2 a.m. and 6 a.m. EST). Vishinsky's body had lain in state in the same hall yesterday.

Vishinsky's funeral was scheduled to be held in Moscow's Red Square at 3 p.m. (7 a.m. EST).

A government funeral committee announced that Vishinsky's body was cremated after the doors of the Hall of Columns were closed at 11 o'clock last night.

The U.S. embassy said Walter N. Walmsley Jr., charge d'affaires, would represent Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, who now is in the United States on a brief visit, at the funeral.

Muskegon Buses Start Limited Night Service

MUSKEGON (UP)—Muskegon, which has gone without night bus service for more than a month, will start getting it two nights a week beginning tonight.

People's Transit Co. said it would restore night service on Fridays and Saturdays until Dec. 16 when it will operate buses every night except Sunday during the Christmas shopping period.

It's a Man's World

PALMYRA, Pa. (AP)—For two straight years fireman George W. Wallace has won first prize for the best white cake entered in annual flower and hobby show. And the ladies of the Plamyra Women's Club are still blushing.

60,000 Argentines Take Peron's Side

BUENOS AIRES (UP)—Some 60,000 wildly cheering Argentines last night gave President Juan D. Peron what amounted to blank-check support in his dispute with Catholic churchmen who oppose his regime.

A crowd of 30,000 in the Luna Park Arena and an overflow crowd of about equal size outside roared approval and shouted "Peron, yes! Priests, no!" when Vice President Alberto Teisaire said:

"All we Peronistas want is our marching orders from General Peron. We will not analyze the situation. If Peron wants something, that is enough."

Police buards were stationed at the Buenos Aires Cathedral and various downtown churches hours before the mass meeting began, but fears of widespread religious riots abated when Peron told the crowd to "go home quietly, and think no more of this problem."

Despite the evidence of crowd support for Peron, a pastoral letter declaring that priests will take a hand in any matter which they feel affects the basic principles of the church will be read from pulpitis throughout Argentina Sunday.

Accident Drowns Freight Engineer

BIG ISLAND, Va. (AP)—A freight train engineer who pulled extra Thanksgiving Day duty because the regular engineer was on vacation drowned when his Chesapeake and Ohio freight locomotive rammed into a rock slide yesterday and plunged into the James River.

William A. Hill, 52, of Clifton Forge, Va., was removed from the submerged cab about 1½ hours after the accident. Two other crewmen swam ashore.

Higher Employment Seen for Rest of '54

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Labor Department says it expects fewer persons to be unemployed during the balance of 1954, but it foresees some seasonal lag in employment early next year.

The department said last night its latest survey of manpower conditions and employment prospects shows that the number of jobless has been declining at a rate greater than normal for this time of year.

However, it said increased unemployment would be normal after the first of the year because of winter curtailment in construction and other outdoor activities.

Religious Leader Dies in Retirement

LAKEVILLE, Conn. (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, 77, former president of the Union Theological Seminary in New York and once moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, died at his home here yesterday.

Before his retirement in 1945, Dr. Coffin was the annual preacher at several universities, among them Yale, Harvard and Princeton.

He was a member of the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church, a trustee of Robert College in Turkey and a director of the church extension of the Presbytery of New York.

Moscow Reports Work on Central Asia Tracks

LONDON, (AP)—Moscow radio reported today that a 1,250-mile railway line is under construction in north Kazakhstan, Central Asia, where thousands of virgin acres were put under the plow this year in a drive to increase Soviet agricultural output.

Other new railroads, the broadcast said, are being built in Siberia and the Ukraine.
