FAA Rejects Plans for Area Jetliner Port

Letter States Lack of Air Space Makes Site Near City Unacceptable

The Federal Aviation Agency has rejected plans for the proposed multi-million-dollar jet airport north of Pontiac, U.S. Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County) announced today.

He quoted a letter he received today from J. M. Beardslee, FAA Central Region assistant administrator at Kansas City, as stating:

"Regarding the proposed Oakland County Airport, our preliminary study reveals that it would be unacceptable for lack of air space."

The letter further states, according to Broomfield, that the proposed airport in Pontiac and Orion townships, approximately a mile north of the city limits, would "conflict in instrument flight rules for air space to Flint's airport, Selfridge Air Force Base near Mount Clemens, Detroit City Airport, and the Air Route Traffic Control Center for Pontiac Municipal Airport."

★ ★ ★

Also, plans for an instrument landing system at Pontiac Municipal Airport, if approved, would provide for an east-west secondary approachway, which would be in direct conflict with the proposed airport less than eight miles away to the east-northeast, quoted Broomfield.

NO FURTHER INVESTIGATION

While the FAAs' rejection of the county's airport plans was based entirely on air space requirements, the letter stipulated that the FAA had no intention of proceeding further with its investigation.

The news was unofficial and had not been received yet by the County Board of Supervisors.

The board on Feb. 16 approved spending $367,710 to acquire the initial 445 acres comprising the private Allen Airport on Giddings Road and adjacent property. This property was intended to serve as a nucleus for further expansion as needed.

In exercising land purchase options, the county already has spent $147,654 and is bound by contracts to spend an additional $209,842, according to the auditors.

The purchases have been made at an average $600 per acre.

★ ★ ★

Each step of the board has been protested strongly by residents and businessmen in the area. United in a citizen's group known as the Oakland County Homeowners and Taxpayers Association, they have branded the board's actions on the proposed airport to date as detrimental to the community as a whole.

★ ★ ★

Furthermore, they have insisted that another major airport in the metropolitan area is unnecessary, maintaining that Wayne Metropolitan Airport near Ypsilanti is sufficient to handle the commercial air traffic for the entire area.

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors and a major proponent of the new airport plans, said the proposed airport still would meet the need for another general airport serving industry in the area.

The FAA has stated the need for four additional general airports in the metropolitan area, and has included plans for enlarging operations at Pontiac Municipal Airport as a part of these plans.

When the county's airport plans were first revealed Feb. 6, the Pontiac City Commission passed a resolution to proceed no further with development at the city's airport until the FAA should reach a decision on the county's proposal.

As spokesman for the county in Hamlin's absence today, Norman Barnard, corporation counsel, said that once the decision is officially known here it will be up to the board's aviation committee to recommend any further action.

The aviation committee recently lost its chairman former Pontiac mayor Philip E. Rowston when the City Commission rescinded his appointment as su-

Parents Drown in Futile Try to Save Son, 9, and Friend, 10

MIDLAND (AP) — A parked car, some picnic objects along shore and an empty inflatable raft led to the discovery yesterday that a family of three and a neighbor boy had drowned in a murky pond.

Fuller M. Lovett, about 56, of rural Bay County, and his wife Lottie, 47, apparently trying to rescue their son Ronald, 9, and Donald Curtis, 10, drowned with the youngsters in the pond beside a freeway under construction.

The bodies of Lovett and his wife were recovered still fully clothed. The two boys wore bathing suits.

Ervin Baker, 27, who lives near the pond, said he drove by about 3 p.m. and saw a parked car and some people in the water.

Baker said he drove by again two hours later and saw the car still there, but no one in the water. He found picnic objects, shoes, some coins and a woman's purse along the shore and saw an inflatable raft and a red object floating in the 150-by-400-foot pond.

★ ★ ★

After going home to call the Bay County Sheriff's Department, Baker returned, swam out and found Mrs. Lovett's body. The red object was her blouse. Baker said she still was wearing eyeglasses.

★ ★ ★

The tragedy headed a list of 15 drownings in Michigan over a warm weekend. One other person was missing.

TRAFFIC TOLL 15

A traffic toll of 15, a fire death and an electrocution brought to 32 the number of weekend accidental deaths in the state.

The Associated Press accidental death count covers the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

Alex Shibley, 40, Detroit, was the apparent victim of a heart attack before his auto collided with another at a Detroit intersection Saturday.

Malvin T. Frazier, 39, Crete, Ill., was killed Saturday near Three Rivers when his truck left the road and struck a tree.

Two Ohio men, James D. Fairbanks, 28, Delta, and Woodrow W. Culp, 36, Wauseon, and Geraldine Osburn, 18, of Morenci were killed when their car hit a utility pole and burned near Adrian Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Clayton Parrott, 46, of Grand Rapids, was killed Friday night when the pickup truck in which he was riding struck an asphalt roller near union pier.

John Hodges, 27, of Saginaw, was killed Saturday in a two-car head-on collision on M15 in Tuscola County.

An unidentified pedestrian, about 35, was struck and killed by a car on the Red Arrow highway in Watervliet Saturday.

Thomas Peterson, 22, a Hillsdale college student from Steubenville, Ohio, was killed Saturday when his car ran off a curve in Hudson Township, Lenawee County.

Frederick Schenk, 21, Livonia, was killed Friday night when his motorcycle struck an auto in Detroit.

Betty Smith, 19, of Kalamazoo, was killed Friday night when the car in which she was riding overturned five miles north of Kalamazoo.

Mrs. Agaethia Kulice, 71, of Benton Harbor, was killed Sunday when the car in which she was riding was involved in a two-car accident in Benton Harbor.

EDWARD G. ROBINSON

Edward G. Robinson Has Heart Attack

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Actor Edward G. Robinson was reported seriously ill in a hospital in northern Tanganyika after a heart attack early today.

★ ★ ★

Robinson, who is 68, is making a movie in the area. The company is camped at 6,000 feet on a 15,000-foot mountain near Mt. Kilimanjaro.

A heart specialist was flown there from Nairobi to attend the film star.

★ ★ ★

The film group's doctor had left to drive to Nairobi, 200 miles away, a few hours before Robinson became ill. The doctor himself is in the hospital now—his car crashed a few miles outside Arusha and he was injured.

A few weeks ago Robinson broke his right thumb when he shut a car door on it.

Moslems, OAS Halt Terrorism

Algerian Nationals and Secret Army Sign Pact Ending 'War'

ALGIERS (AP) — A pact between the Secret Army Organization and Moslem Nationalists brought a halt today to the Secret Army's scorched earth campaign in Algiers and Oran, the two major cities.

Neither arson nor bomb attacks had been reported in the greater Algeria area by noon.

The morning also passed quietly in Oran, the extremist European stronghold in the west.

A pirate broadcast from Oran, however, raised the prospect that the Secret Army group based there might not abide by orders from Algiers to end the campaign of destruction and death.

PEACE IN ALGIERS

There was unaccustomed peace within Algiers.

Groups of Moslems emerged from their barricaded quarters and mixed with Europeans in some parts of the city.

Half-tracks loaded with troops stood by for any emergency while helicopters hovered over the city.

"The news from Algiers must be heard with caution," the Secret Army in Oran said of an announced agreement with the Moslem National Liberation Front FLN.

"For the moment we do not have enough information to make any comment. We are keeping intact our means of action."

One Prisoner Is Found Dead; 30 People Hurt

Board of Inquiry to Make Investigation of Rebellion

MONTREAL (AP)—A prisoner wounded by rifle fire was found dead today in the hospital of the fire-ravaged St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, scene of a riot by 1,100 convicts that left 30 persons injured.

Troops stood guard amid the ruins.

Allen J. MacLeod, federal commissioner of penitentiaries, told a news conference the prisoner was the only fatality resulting from the riot Sunday.

The commissioner reported a three-man board of inquiry will make a full investigation. The investigation will include interviewing of all prison officials and guards as well as the prisoners involved.

None of the convicts managed to escape, but some were gunned down while trying to scale the walls.

"We had to shoot when they tried to escape or occupy other buildings," said Warden Michael LeCorre, "but we did not shoot to kill."

The six-hour battle was finally ended after more than 200 troops in full battle dress joined guards and police, herding the convicts at bayonet point into a group inside the compound.

Six of the 25 prison buildings were gutted. Others were damaged to varying degrees. Officials figured the damage to the old maximum security prison just northeast of Montreal would come to between $2 million and $3 million.

Firemen hampered by lack of water fought early today to quell flames in the main building housing cell blocks and administrative offices.

Twenty-seven prisoners were injured by flames or bullets as guards fired on convicts armed with stones, knives, zip guns and Molotov cocktails — gasoline-filled jars set afire by a rag wick. Three guards were hurt.

After the riot leaders were weeded out, about two thirds of the prisoners were put under some kind of shelter for the night. The rest were herded against a prison wall and had to spend the night outdoors in 50-degree weather because no buildings were available.

Prison officials said they had been unable to determine the cause of the riot, which flared in mid-afternoon during the exercise period.

Warden LeCorre said he was sure the riot had been well planned. He said flames belched from six of the 15 buildings simul-

TWA Talks Opened; Hope to Avert Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg opened new peace talks today aimed at averting a threatened flight engineers strike Tuesday afternoon on Trans World Air lines.

At Goldberg's request the Air Line Pilots Association, rival to the flight engineers in a dispute over jet plane cockpit jobs, sent along a team of negotiators.

H. S. Dietrich, chairman of the TWA chapter, failed to show up for the start of the talks.

★ ★ ★

Goldberg's office said he sent word he would be late. The engineers were represented by an attorney, Asher Schwartz, New York.

Working with Goldberg for a TWA settlement were Undersecretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Nathan P. Feinsinger, Wisconsin University law professor and a special government mediator.

★ ★ ★

Sunday the engineers withdrew strike threats on Pan American World Airways and Eastern Air Lines and decided to concentrate for the moment on TWA.

The TWA strike presently is set for 1:30 p.m. (Pontiac Time) Tuesday.

Last week the Flight Engineers International Association, AFL-CIO, postponed a strike against TWA and two other major carriers, Pan American World Airways and Eastern Air Lines, while Goldberg and a team of federal mediators tried to work out a settlement. The talks failed, but President Kennedy issued a stern warning to the flight engineers to settle the dispute without a strike.

★ ★ ★

Union President R. A. Brown took note of the President's admonition in a statement Sunday. He said the strike would be limited to TWA "out of respect for the concern of the President over the balance of payments situation and our concern for the unemployment hardships which would be inflicted on a large number of airline employes."

Brown said the strike would spread to Pan American and Eastern only if they "engage in an illegal lockout in the hope of achieving government intervention, seizure of the airlines and compulsory arbitration."

Crew Blamed for Air Disaster

'Collision of 2 Liners Traced to Distance Error by UAL Plane'—CAB

WASHINGTON (AP)—Most of the blame for history's worst air disaster—the collision of two airliners over New York City which took 134 lives 18 months ago—was placed today on the crew of one of the planes. A government report said the crew made a distance-judging error.

★ ★ ★

The Civil Aeronautics Board said in an accident report that the probable cause of the fiery collision was that the United Air Lines DC8 flew beyond the area for which it had been cleared, a holding pattern over Preston, N.J.

Contributing factors, the CAB said, was the plane's high rate of speed and a new routing issued just before the accident by the New York air route traffic control center.

★ ★ ★

A United spokesman said the report had just been received, and there would be no comment until executives have studied it.

On the morning of Dec. 16, 1960, the United jet, inbound from Chicago with 77 passengers and a crew of seven, collided in snow-choked, graying skies over Staten Island with a Trans World Airlines Lockheed Super Constellation, en route from Dayton and Columbus, Ohio, with 29 passengers and five crew members.

★ ★ ★

The jet was on an instrument approach to Idlewild International Airport; the propeller-driven craft under radar guidance to La Guardia Airport.

HIT NEIGHBORHOOD

On blazing impact, the United liner plunged into a crowded Brooklyn neighborhood and six persons on the ground perished.

The TWA plane came down in flames in an open field on Staten Island. Of the 128 persons aboard the two planes the sole survivor was a boy, but he died later of injuries.

★ ★ ★

After a lengthy investigation the CAB today issued its report, tracing the flight patterns of the two planes and attempting to assess the causes of the disaster. It found that when the DC8 crew informed the Idlewild approach control station that it was coming on the Preston intersection the plane actually was some nine miles beyond the point, to the northeast.

Rebel Teamsters Seek Election for New Agent

The four locals represent truck drivers and warehousemen in Philadelphia and nearby Chester, Pa.; Atlantic City, N.J.; Wilmington, Del.; and parts of Eastern Maryland.

James F. Doherty, lawyer for the dissident committee, said last night, "As far as I know, this is the first large group of truck drivers to try to break away from the Teamsters Union."

U.S. Readies Biggest Blast

N-Test Force to Fire Highest, Huge Bomb Over Ocean After Dark

HONOLULU (AP) — The U.S. nuclear testing force made ready to fire its highest and biggest blast over the Pacific after dark tonight—about dawn Tuesday in the eastern United States.

The mammoth explosion was expected to light the sky with a flash brighter than sunshine and to be visible in Hawaii, 750 miles northeast of the Johnston Island launch site.

It was scheduled for firing between 11 p.m. tonight—4 a.m. Tuesday (Pontiac Time)—and 2:30 a.m. Tuesday—7:30 a.m. (Pontiac Time).

Scientists say communications throughout the Pacific will be disrupted for almost two days after the shot, 50 to 500 times as powerful as the atom bomb dropped on Hiroshima. It will be exploded some 200 miles above the Pacific.

★ ★ ★

In New York, the Congress of Scientists on Survival appealed to President Kennedy Sunday to call off the high test because of "possibilities of hazard for mankind and his environment."

The group told the President in a telegram such tests "will disturb the Van Allen belt," bands of high energy particles several hundred miles above the earth.

The wire said qualified scientists in this and other countries had not had adequate opportunity to try to predict long-term effects of such a shot.

★ ★ ★

"They may be harmless. They may be destructive. To move ahead is to stake the future of mankind in an ill-considered game of chance," the scientists said.

To Study Ruling on Dixie Voting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to review a decision holding unconstitutional Georgia's county unit vote system used in Democratic primaries.

The decision, by a three-judge federal court in Atlanta, was appealed to the high tribunal by the Georgia state Democratic party and Eugene Cook, Georgia's attorney general.

The three-judge court declared the system as presently constituted resulted in an "invidious discrimination" against urban voters and in favor of those in rural areas."

The Supreme Court's action was announced in a brief order.

★ ★ ★

The issue will not come up for argument before the court's new term which begins Oct. 1.

★ ★ ★

The court turned down a request for an immediate hearing.

The Georgia Democratic primary is scheduled for Sept. 12.

The three-judge court ordered the Democratic party not to use the county unit system in the primary.

The court refused to review lower court rulings in connection with an 80-day cooling-off period ordered in a strike of West Coast seamen who sought a new working agreement.

The strike began March 16 and was halted by the U.S. District Court in San Francisco. It issued a Taft-Hartley labor law 80-day injunction that will terminate on June 30.

★ ★ ★

tary command are hiding in the Oran area.

★ ★ ★

In recent weeks they obviously have been acting independently of the Algiers group which carried on the negotiations with the Moslems.

The Algiers order called for a halt to arson and murder as of midnight.

This Secret Army broadcast followed separate announcements by the FLN and the Algiers extremists Sunday that they were ending their bloody feud to join forces in building a new Algeria.

Through Dr. Chewki Mostefai, FLN representative in the provisional Algierian executive, the Moslem nationalists promised an amnesty for the Secret Army terrorists who have killed an estimated 2,000 Moslems in the year or more that they have been operating. European settlers were promised a new future in the Moslem - led Algeria that will emerge from a referendum July 1.

NO DETAILS YET

Details of the agreement still must be worked out. The Secret Army broadcast called on the terrorist commandos to remain vigilant while holding their fire. "We have been cheated many times in the past," the announcer said.

At Montbellard, France, touring President Charles de Gaulle called the announcement "a decisive day for an agreement between the two communities, Moslem and Christian."

But in Paris, Marc Laurol, a deputy from Algiers and often a spokesman for right-wing Europeans, told newsmen, "I can tell you that I have nothing in common with what has just taken place in Algieria."

★ ★ ★

A former medical student, Jean-Jacques Susini, 28, represented the Secret Army in the negotiations. It was reported that Susini, Algierian-born, had the backing of at least two deserter colonels, Yves Godart and Jean Gardes.

Weary and tense Europeans were uncertain as to what attitude they should adopt.

Some felt Mostefai's announcement was not enough. They wanted a pledge by the nationalist government in exile in Tunis.

There was no immediate statement from the Tunis leaders. This could be interpreted either as a sign that they considered Mostefai's statement sufficient or that they did not wish to engage themselves more formally for fear of opposition from the Moslem masses.

In the forefront of the negotiations were a group of influential Algiers businessmen, headed by former Mayor Jacques Chevallier, shipping magnate Laurent Schiaffino and banker Jean-Marie Tinet.

Faces Charges Following Chase

To Arraign Holly Man for Reckless Driving After Wild Pursuit

A 22-year-old Holly man arrested following a bullet-studded police chase through Waterford and White Lake townships Saturday was to be arraigned today on a reckless driving charge.

Police said Lawrence E. Smith of 18174 Buckhorn Lake Road ignored pursuing police, ran three roadblocks and damaged two other autos — one of them an Oakland County Sheriff's Department patrol car.

The 10-mile chase, which started near Oxbow Lake in White Lake Township, ended when Sheriff's Deputy Roland Pless fired a shot into the trunk of Smith's car.

Township patrolman Kenneth Peppiant radioed sheriff's deputies while pursuing Smith north on Williams Lake Road. Deputy Henry Hansen pulled his patrol car across the intersection of Williams Lake and Pontiac Lake roads.

Hansen, who jumped out of his car and attempted to flag down the driver, said Smith's auto hit the front fender of the patrol car and kept going. Hansen shot at the car and joined the chase.

Peppiant fired two more shots as Smith ran a roadblock at Williams Lake and Highland roads. Pless started shooting when Smith evaded another road block at Crescent Lake and Highland roads.

The officers said Smith's speeding car forced other vehicles off the road and struck another auto driven by Mrs. Basil Haskins of 3353 Whitfield St., Waterford Township, as she was pulling out of a driveway on Highland Road.

Smith pulled his car to a halt and threw up his hands when the bullet from Pless' gun struck his trunk. He told arresting officers that he was trying to escape because he doesn't have a license.

Jet Airport Plans Rejected by FAA

pervisor. The committee has not met since.

However, both Rowston and Hamlin have previously expressed the futility of proceeding further if the FAA failed to approve the airport plans of the county.

The county board was counting on the federal government paying 50 per cent of airport cost and the state 25 per cent. Without FAA approval there can be no federal participation.

OAS Now Tries for Status

ALGIERS (UPI) — Probably no one knows exactly how many persons have fought for the Secret Army Organization (OAS) but its deeds have left an amazing and terrible imprint on the face of Algeria.

Scores of public and private buildings have been demolished by bombs. Since the first of the year more than 5,000 dead and 10,000 wounded have been laid to OAS gunmen.

★ ★ ★

The OAS came into being in Algeria in February 1961, and it made its debut in metropolitan France with the explosion of a plastic bomb in front of the liberal newspaper Le Monde in Paris on Feb. 16.

★ ★ ★

But it did not proclaim its own existence until early April last year, in a pamphlet passed from hand to hand in Algiers.

This followed a meeting of leaders of several rightwing movements at which they decided to coordinate the struggle to keep Algeria French.

With the abortive four-day putsch in Algeria in April 1961, the OAS came into the open. OAS men appeared in the streets of Algiers wearing gray uniforms with red, white and blue armbands.

The OAS drew its members from every corner of the Algerian European society. The wealthy gave funds. Others joined as gunmen, plastic bombers, couriers or informants.

STOLE ANYTHING

The OAS stole what it could not buy—plastic for the bombs, ammunition, rifles, tommy-guns, mortars, bazookas, radios, uniforms, medical supplies, jeeps and trucks. Many of its toughest men were deserters from the army and the Foreign Legion.

The worst blow the OAS suffered came when France and the Algerian rebels signed the agreements last March 18 at Evian-Les-Baines that ended the seven-and-a-half-year-old Algerian war.

They also committed France to Algerian Independence, based on the self-determination referendum to be held in Algeria July 1.

That same month, Ex-Gen. Edmond Jouhad was captured in Oran and, in April, Surete Nationale detectives captured the OAS leader, Ex-Gen. Raoul Salan.

Ex-Gen. Paul Gardy took over as the organization's figurehead leader and "the colonels," Antoine Argoud, Jean Gardes, Yves Godard, and Pierre Chateau-Jobert, took over the planning.

★ ★ ★

The killings increased to an average of more than 35 a day.

MORE, MORE CLEVER

The bombings grew diabolically clever in their execution—automobiles loaded with explosives and bits of metal that turned into whizzing fragments, gasoline trucks that spread rivers of fire when the bombs in them exploded.

One such booby-trapped automobile exploded on the Algiers waterfront last month, killing or wounding more than 150 persons.

Then, starting late last month or early in June, the OAS began a new policy: Scorching the earth, a plan by which it said it would leave Algeria with no better facilities than it had 100 years ago.

One afternoon the OAS blew up 10 schools in Algiers alone, with bombs rigged as incendiary devices so that fire would burn down what the blast had not destroyed.

Last week it did inestimable damage to Mustapha Hospital, the biggest and most modern in Algeria, wrecked a smaller neurosurgical hospital in Algiers, and virtually destroyed Algiers city hall—all in one day.

About two weeks ago, supposedly at the direction of its leading political thinker, Jean-Jacques Susini, the OAS began seeking contacts with the Moslem National Liberation Front (FLN).

★ ★ ★

Obviously, the OAS knew it had lost the fight to keep Algeria French. What it wanted now was a place in the political sun following independence.

This it appears to have done.

Parachutist Dies After Drifting Into Parked Car

A 34-year-old Macomb Township man who made his first sports parachute jump Saturday died this morning of head injuries suffered when he was blown into a parked car while landing at Romeo Airport, east of Romeo.

★ ★ ★

Richard T. Lagassa, 21240 22-Mile Road, died at Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, without regaining consciousness.

Romeo state police said Lagassa rode with the wind while descending under his parachute instead of floating down. Police believed he was the father of five children.

A member of the Detroit chapter of the All-America Sport Parachute Team, he jumped from a plane at 2,500 feet, according to police.

★ ★ ★

He was first taken to the Community Hospital near Almont after the 5:45 p.m. mishap, then transferred to Henry Ford Hospital two hours later.

★ ★ ★

It was the first fatality since the parachute group began jumping on weekends at the airport about two years ago.

Blast Injuries Fatal to Farmington Man

DETROIT (AP) — Robert Warren, 28, of 30900 Orchard Lake Road, Farmington Township, road construction worker who was burned in a paint drum explosion on the Ford Expressway June 5, died today.

★ ★ ★

Police said Warren was holding an acetylene torch at the time of the drum explosion. He was enveloped in flames. A motorist, Sheldon Myers of Redford Township, stopped and beat out the flames with the aid of a blanket.

To Reach Motorists

Antitax Leaders Open Fund Drive

DETROIT (UPI) — The donation-conscious Vigilance Tax Committee, in urgent need for funds to help fight in court its opposition to the Detroit 1 per cent income tax which goes into effect July 1, launched its financial campaign for that purpose today.

Leaders of suburban communities were posted at 50 key intersections leading into the city to seek contributions from suburbanites on their way into Detroit to work.

Under the Detroit plan, both Detroiters and suburbanites would share the burden in the taxing scheme.

★ ★ ★

The committee handed out assignments to 125 mayors, village presidents and other suburban officials for the three-hour (6-9 a.m.) fund drive.

Mayor George Kuhn of Berkley said he hoped collections from Detroit-bound motorists would swell the committee treasury by $5,000 to $7,500.

The committee already has collected $7,163 from 44 local governments and individuals, he said.

COURT FIGHT

A court fight already has been started by the committee with a number of suburbs included in the class action suit. It charged that Detroit's income tax is unconstitutional because no provision is contained in state law for such a tax and the legislature has never passed enabling legislation.

Briefs were filed early this week by both sides and answers to the briefs must be in the hands of Wayne County Circuit Judge Neal Fitzgerald by Tuesday.

Fitzgerald has scheduled oral arguments in the suit for June 25 at 9:30 a.m.

Kuhn said the committee will continue a canister campaign in business places through June 30 and is encouraging local governments to undertake door-to-door fund campaigns next Friday night.

Farmers Get Advice on N-Blast Protection

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A scientist for the Agriculture Department told farmers today how they could protect themselves and their livestock against radioactivity following a nuclear explosion.

Dr. Frank A. Todd, assistant to the administrator of the department's agricultural research service, said that many farmers already have facilities that can be utilized for protections against fallout.

The center of a barn built into the side of a hill affords the best protection for farm animals, Todd said. Another livestock shelter, Todd commented, is a millstory barn, with a loft full of hay or straw and earth or other shielding material banked against the outside walls.

Todd said 10 feet of baled hay provides as much shielding as one foot of earth.

He also recommended using an empty trench silo as a fallout shelter if it is converted by building a roof over it and covering it with two feet or more of earth.

Todd said livestock should be kept under cover at least 24 to 48 hours following a nuclear attack. He also said feed supplies and produce should be kept covered. He said fallout could be removed from some fruits or vegetables by washing, paring or brushing them.

Meet Today to Let Underpass Contract

NOVI TOWNSHIP — A special meeting of the Township Board will be held 8 p.m. today to award a contract for the construction of an underpass at the township park.

Five bids for the project were received Friday, according to Township Clerk Hadley J. Bachert. They ranged from $6,900 to $13,500.

The cost of the tunnel under South Lake Road has been estimated at less than $8,000.

The 60-foot underpass will allow movement from the picnic area to the beach on Walled Lake without having to cross the heavily traveled road.

Pledge $10,000 for Hospital

Junior Woman's Club of Rochester Makes Largest Donation

ROCHESTER — A gift of $10,000 to the Rochester Unit of the Crittenton General Hospital, Bertha Van Hoosen Segment, has been announced by the Rochester Junior Woman's Club.

The club's largest donation in its six-year history, the gift will go toward a wing of the proposed hospital near Rochester to be named in honor of Dr. Van Hoosen, a native of the village who achieved international fame in medicine.

An amount of $3,755 has already been contributed by the club, with the balance of the $10,000 pledge to be donated by 1965.

Dr. Van Hoosen was founder and first president of the Medical Women's National Association and author of the 1947 best seller, "Petticoat Surgeon."

Mrs. William Beardmore, president of the Junior Woman's Club, said $1,000 of the donation was given also as a "thank you" to the doctors and nurses of the area who gave their time to serve the $1-a-shot polio clinics, a club project for the past four years.

HOLLY — Seven burglaries apparently have been solved here with the apprehension of three 15-year-old youths.

The breaking and enterings, totaling about $500, occurred between January and April of this year. About half the loot has been recovered, according to Wood.

One of the three youths was picked up last week for allegedly stealing some fishing equipment from a boathouse. He implicated the others while being questioned.

Synod Okays 12 Ministers

Won't Change Status of College at Christian Reformed Assembly

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The annual synod of the Christian Reformed Church has approved the admission of 12 ministers from other denominations and rejected an overture "to change the status of Calvin College to conform to the principles that the church does not own a college."

The problem of Calvin College, where the synod is holding its sessions here, was debated at length in the 1957 synod. It is the only college operated by the denomination.

Nine of the 12 clergymen admitted by the synod formerly were pastors of the Protestant Reformed Church (D. D. Wolf group). Last year the Christian Reformed Church synod authorized a merger with the group.

Rev. Walter Hofman of Kalamazoo is one of the 12.

The delegates also approved action of synodical examiners who ruled that the work of the Rev. Eugene Bradford as executive secretary of Westminster seminary in Philadelphia is not "directly related to the ministry of the word."

The decision will terminate his position by July 1, 1963, if Rev. Bradford, who formerly served a church in Patterson, N.J., is to maintain his ministerial status in the denomination.

Reappointments were given to 26 members of the Calvin faculty whose terms had expired.

Jammed Elbow to Elbow in 90-Degree Heat

Billy Preaches to 116,000 in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Billy Graham capped his Chicago "Crusade for Christ" Sunday by telling the largest American audience of his evangelistic career, "The crusade has just begun."

Some 116,000 persons—jammed elbow-to-elbow in Soldier Field in 90-degree heat — heard Graham give his final sermon of the 19-day crusade.

Graham has addressed larger crowds only twice in 15 years of evangelistic crusading, both times in Australia in 1959. He spoke to 140,000 in Melbourne and 125,000 in Sydney. More than 100,000 persons heard the evangelist preach in New York City's Yankee Stadium in 1957.

He urged members of his Chicago audience to dedicate their lives to God, to put religion into their social, economic and civic lives, and to fight what he termed, "internal decadence of the culture."

★ ★ ★

"This crusade doesn't end today. It is only the beginning. Now you have heard the Gospel and you must go out and live as Christians. You are held responsible by God."

★ ★ ★

Graham listed several reasons why he thought America is backsliding morally in a manner similar to ancient Rome.

"America has gone on a sex binge that has no parallel in history. Divorce is shattering families—the heart of any nation.

"And we spend. The average American has no conception of the impending disaster caused by deficit spending.

★ ★ ★

"And our armaments. Rome was not defeated by military superiority. It was defeated by its moral and religious decay. Here in America we also have a decaying religion.

"Oh, we go to church," he continued, "but we serve God only with our lips. You believe in God with your intellects. You believe in Him with your hearts and with your consciences, but you haven't accepted Him.

★ ★ ★

"You're almost in the kingdom of heaven! But almost isn't good enough."

"You can't come to God anytime you feel like it. You can only come when God is with you spiritually. There may never be another chance.

ROME FELL

"Vaunted, shrewd, clever, sophisticated Rome fell. America can fall also. It's up to you."

At the sermon's conclusion 1,729 persons made their way through the crowded aisles to the speaker's podium to make what Graham calls decisions for Christ.

★ ★ ★

A total of 16,451 decisions were reported by the Graham organization during the crusade which started Memorial Day. The estimated total attendance was 703,000.

★ ★ ★

Graham said he will go to his home in Montreat, N.C., for a rest before conducting a special one-day rally, July 8 at the World's Fair in Seattle, Wash.

3 Mayors Join to Honor a City Named La Salle

MONTREAL (AP)—The mayors of three cities named La Salle—thousands of miles apart—met here Sunday for the first time.

Mayor Robert Bonport of La Salle, France, Mayor Maurice Lacharite of La Salle, Que., and Mayor D. B. Bruno of La Salle, Ill., opened a week of celebrations marking the Quebec municipality's 50th anniversary.

La Salle, Que., is a suburb of Montreal.

Hearts Sink When Poetry Leads to Clink

NEW YORK (AP)—Two alleged $100-a-night call girls kept a date with a couple of men, one of whom identified himself as an ad writer who composed jingles.

"Compose a jingle for us," said one of the girls.

He did:

"It's been quite a party, girls,

"We've pulled out all the stops.

"But we're not the guys you think we are,

"We're just a pair of cops."

The jingle writer was detective Frank Nallan, who had been stalling for time with his partner until uniformed police could arrive to arrest the women, aged 25 and 27. They were charged with prostitution.

Jurist to Appeal Bribe Conviction

N. Y. State High Court Justice Keogh Found Guilty of $35,000 Fix

NEW YORK (AP) — Attorneys for State Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keogh are laying plans to appeal the jurist's conviction with two others on charges of taking part in a $35,000-bribe plot to fix a federal court bankruptcy fraud case.

★ ★ ★

Keough, former chief asst. U.S. Atty. Elliott Kahaner and labor racketeer Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo were found guilty Saturday night of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Kahaner, 36, and Corallo, 47, have remained silent about their plans.

But Keogh, 56, a veteran of 12 years on the bench, declared immediately after the federal court jury announced its verdict that his attorneys "will press my appeal from this unjust conviction as soon as possible."

INSISTS 'I'M INNOCENT'

"I am innocent—nothing anyone can do or say will change that fact," Keogh told newsmen.

His status as a state supreme court justice was expected to come up for an early review by the appellate division in Brooklyn.

Keogh has been drawing his $34,500 annual salary since his indictment last Dec. 7. He has been without court assignments since that time at his own request.

U.S. Dist. Judge Edward Weinfeld set July 17 for sentencing Keogh and the two others. Each man could be sentenced to prison for five years and be fined $10,000.

Son of Lodge Gets GOP's OK

Opposes Ted Kennedy for Senate as Political Feud Rages On

BOSTON (AP)—The latest Lodge-Kennedy battle in a political feud which started more than 40 years ago was on today. Once again the goal is a seat in the U.S. Senate.

George Cabot Lodge won endorsement by the Republican state convention Saturday to run for the Senate.

Edward M. Kennedy got the Democratic endorsement for the Senate at his party convention a week earlier.

★ ★ ★

Lodge, 34, is the son of Henry Cabot Lodge, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Kennedy, 30, is the youngest brother of President Kennedy, who once held the seat coming up in the November election.

The President first won the seat in 1952 when he defeated Henry Cabot Lodge. Eight years later Lodge again was on the losing side as the Republican vice-presidential nominee in the 1960 national election.

The first bout between the families was years ago when the grandfathers of the President and Henry Cabot Lodge competed for the Senate. Henry Cabot Lodge Sr. won that time, defeating John F. Fitzgerald.

Battle of Millionaires for New At-Large Post

One of the hottest political races in the State pits two millionaires vying to become Michigan's only Congressman-at-large. Republican ALVIN BENTLEY and Democrat NEIL STAEBLER have announced their candidacies for this new post.

Neither could be called a neophyte in politics. STAEBLER is a wealthy Ann Arbor businessman and an 11-year state chairman. He steered the course of G. MENNEN WILLIAMS and, we might add, did a rather astute job.

BENTLEY

BENTLEY, an Owosso manufacturer, represented the Eighth Congressional District from 1952 to 1960 in Washington. He then entered state politics and ran against MCNAMARA for the Senate and was roundly defeated.

Both candidates are dedicated individuals and dead serious about wishing to remain in politics. The ensuing campaigns they wage should prove interesting since finances will not be a problem.

Each is well-known throughout the State, so it will not be like a couple of newcomers or perhaps an incumbent against a new man.

STAEBLER

The post was created this year because of population increases. A specified district for a nineteenth Congressman could not be agreed upon so the result is the Congressman-at-large seat.

Obviously, Bentley would like to get back to Washington, and Staebler is not looking for a blemish on his otherwise perfect political record in directing winners.

★ ★ ★

Both men are equally qualified to represent our State. At this early stage we are inclined to feel that their success or failure depends largely on how their parties run in the over-all State race.

Entire 'Change of Pace' Is Unwise for Vacation

With Memorial Day past, summer vacations are probably the number one item in the plans of most people. The Michigan Heart Association points out in a news release that a little advance planning is a wise idea.

Dr. Muir Clapper, president of the Heart Association, suggests that vacationers looking for a complete "change of pace" should go easy and not overdo physical activity.

★ ★ ★

This is especially true for most of us who spend a major part of a normal day at our desk and chair. Men are the guilty ones who will thump their chests when heading on a vacation and try to revert back to a 21-year-old varsity player.

If you are a desk worker and over 40, turning athlete for a two- or three-week vacation, puts an abnormal burden on your heart.

If you plan to do more than average exercising, start a gradual build up before departing.

★ ★ ★

The heart doctors recommend that if you can't find time to build up beforehand, then you should consider other vacation plans. Best of all, acquire the habit of taking exercise week in and week out.

Be especially careful not to overexert when there is a sudden onset of hot, humid weather. The heart has to work even harder under these conditions.

Plan your vacation well in advance and don't carry your worries and tensions with you. Everyone knows what he or she is generally accustomed to.

Don't overexercise during your vacation. Relax and have a wonderful time.

Newly-Made Citizens Feted by Elks

By HOWARD V. HELDENBRAND

An inspiring, heart-warming event took place last Tuesday evening when 225 attended the Elks 19th Annual Flag Day Dinner, honoring 58 newly-made American citizens.

The group comprising 26 nationalities, had been attending a three-to-four months indoctrination course conducted by Miss Janice Antona, teacher of Adult Education classes at Central High and guiding spirit for more than 25 years of the New Citizens League, during which time she has conducted citizens classes for more than 3,000.

The program, ably conducted by the Lodge's past exalted ruler

In presenting Verbal Orchids last Wednesday to Mrs. Edith Sparks, queen of five generations, on her 89th birthday, the column seems to have fallen a bit short in proper recognition of the lady and her fine contribution to her country. She boasts, justifiedly, of 10 living children, 43 grandchildren, 104 great-grandchildren and 2 great-great-grandchildren . . . She still keeps house, crochets rugs and reads easily.

While extending heartiest felicitations, the MAT wonders whether this could be a family-tree record.

ASKED at a press conference how much he was reading newspapers these days, President KENNEDY replied that he was reading more, but enjoying it less. We'd like to make a trade with Mr. KENNEDY—if he will refrain from wisecracking, we won't run for President in 1964.

IF a man who seemed to have been involved in the ESTES affair committed suicide by shooting himself six times with a bolt-action rifle, as alleged, perhaps the reason the Venus de Milo has no arms is that she cut them off herself.

Now to Walk That Little Ol' Straight Line

David Lawrence Says:

President's Audit Plan an Old Idea

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy may not have realized it, but some of the "new" and "sophisticated" ideas he expounded in his address last week at Yale University are throwbacks to proposals made and rejected in the 1930s.

LAWRENCE

The President perhaps decided anyway to advocate the changes in the system of auditing the government's expense and income which President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his "brain trust" sponsored.

★ ★ ★

The scheme is to list only a part of the government's annual outlay as "expenses" and to set up a lot of inventories and properties as "investments" or capital assets.

The purpose, of course, is to show less of a deficit, if not a surplus, in the principal statement of finances that gets public attention.

Such a change, it is argued, would be more like the methods of private business.

Daniel W. Bell, who was director of the budget for several years, beginning in 1935, and who now is head of the American Security & Trust Co. here, fought vigorously against the idea as unsound, and Congress didn't warm up to it either.

Again, in the early days of the Eisenhower administration, the plan received a big boost from Beardsley Ruml, who was finance chairman of Adlai Stevenson's presidential campaign in 1952 and who had gained fame in championing the present "pay-as-you-go" system of paying income taxes.

★ ★ ★

But even Ruml didn't claim that the "capital budget" idea was original. He said to the House Ways and Means Committee on Aug. 12, 1953:

"This change has been recommended for years by students of organizations, and government agencies."

DEFICIT A BAD WORD

But Kennedy may not know that the objective of the "capital budget" plan in the 1930s was exactly the same as he has in mind today —to get rid of the bad word "deficits" and to make a better political impression.

Sometimes the "capital assets" on the books prove to be a myth. Thus, the true deficit of the Reconstruction Finance Corp.—an independent agency founded in 1932—was not generally known for many years, but finally $2.8 billion had to be added to the public debt.

This writer the other day asked Sen. Harry Byrd, Democrat of Virginia, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, what he thought of the "capital budget" scheme. Sen. Byrd said:

"I am opposed to it. I think it's fantastic to try to take all the capital outlay and outright investments by the government in buildings and construction and appropriations for defense equipment and not charge them to regular expenditures. You would never know where you stood. It's just a way to cover up real deficits. We must not try to fool the people."

It would be hard, for instance, the senator added, to classify a Polaris-bearing submarine or a missile base as an "investment" and to figure out what the "depreciation" would be, especially since the government spends so much on a big military machine that isn't comparable to the plant and equipment of private business which yields an annual earning.

Also, the Treasury has a host of contingent liabilities and "guarantees" running into the billions. Trust funds would be subjected constantly to the temptations of "back door" borrowing and spending for unrelated purposes.

The President and three high administration officials nevertheless delivered last week a total of four public speeches designed to prepare the country to accept the theory of a "capital budget."

All this brings to mind the quip that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, head of the Conservative party in Great Britain, made in 1959 during his campaign against the Socialist Labor party. He said:

"The opposition has some sound and original ideas, but the trouble is that some of the original ideas are not sound and some of the sound ideas are not original."

The idea of a "capital budget" is not original with Kennedy, and it has been proved unsound every time it has been publicly debated from the days of FDR through the years of the Eisenhower administration.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Both Injection and Shot Have Place in Medicine

Q—Will you settle an argument for our high school class? Our biology teacher says that penicillin tablets are just as good as shots.

Yet most of us get penicillin shots when we have infections. If the tablets are just as good, why do we get "shots" that sometimes hurt?

A—Until a few years ago, we did not possess a penicillin that resisted digestion when swallowed. So, at that time penicillin had to be given by injection.

Now, we do have penicillins that are not destroyed or inactivated by stomach acid or by stomach enzymes.

When these preparations, such as phenoxybenzylpenicillin, are given by mouth, they are capable of producing sufficiently high and sustained levels in blood serum to destroy most of the common bacterial invaders, such as staphylococci, streptococci and pneumococci.

★ ★ ★

So, by and large, for the treatment of a mild to moderate infection with an organism that is responsive to penicillin, I would be inclined to agree with your biology teacher.

However, if the infection were of greater severity and the invading organism were known not to be particularly penicillin-sensitive, injection treatment would be distinctly in order.

Q—I had my eardrum blown out in a recent explosion. Can this damage be repaired, as I have constant buzzing and some loss of hearing?

A—Repair of ruptured drum membranes is being successfully accomplished by a variety of methods.

Some specialists, under certain circumstances, close the opening with grafts of skin or the wall of a vein.

Others attempt cauterization of the margins with acids after which a scaffold of cotton, membrane or polyethylene is laid down to direct the growth of the reactive tissues.

★ ★ ★

In expert hands, results are highly satisfactory, according to a report in the (March) Archives of Otolaryngology.

Q—Is it safe to sniff snuff or chew tobacco as a means for kicking the cigarette habit?

A—No. In a recent series of 112 patients with cancers of the mouth and throat, there were six snuff dippers and three tobacco chewers.

Only five who never used tobacco in any form were included.

And, of the smokers, 90 per cent used cigarettes, 8 per cent were predominantly cigar smokers and 2 per cent were pipe smokers.

In the not too distant past there was a good deal of rhubarb after the White House canceled its subscriptions to the New York Herald Tribune. (One report was the President was piqued because the Herald Tribune didn't carry an anti-Republican-type story in the early edition that reached the White House, but continued to ride the administration for the pecadilloes of Pecos Billie Sol Estes.)

Almost on the eve of becoming "read by the President," the St. Louis newspaper found itself in an editorial quandary over the prospects of having yet another Kennedy in Washington — this one as a U.S. Senator.

In commenting on Ted Kennedy's State Democratic Convention victory over Edward McCormack Jr., the P-D said, in part:

". . . The President took no personal part in the race, but he was deeply involved. Ted Kennedy let it be known that, win or lose, he would handle patronage in Massachusetts. There are 15 vacant postmasterships in the state and it became clear no McCormack supporter or his friend would get one.

★ ★ ★

"Ted Kennedy constantly reminded the public that he was the brother of the President. One of his favorite devices was to tell a delegate, 'You know, Jack was asking about you just the other day.' It should be said, however, that 36-year-old Ted Kennedy worked hard and may develop into a capable politician in his own right. Still, three Kennedys is a lot."

This first victory for Ted Kennedy is an "endorsement" by the party. He still must take his case to the people of the Bay State in the primary and the general election.

★ ★ ★

Though the young-at Kennedy certainly has a "leg up," some of the voters might remember the words of the "Father of Democratic Party," Thomas Jefferson, who once wrote: "The field of public office will not be perverted by me into a family property."

Forests Abused

Milwaukee Journal

The nation's forests are just loaded with surprises.

Agents of the general accounting office, sent out recently to survey the more than 160 million acres of federally owned forest land, uncovered: A nudist colony in the Boise national forest in Idaho, a house of ill repute nestled in the trees near Globe, Ariz.; unauthorized hunting lodges, rock museums, real estate offices and orchards. They even found several towns squatting on forest land in Washington and Idaho.

Red-faced forestry officials acknowledged that they might have been lax but explained that they don't have the manpower or resources to check on everything going on in the woods. The abuses occurred on small mining claims scattered all over the 160 million acres, they said.

★ ★ ★

The Wall Street Journal reports that anyone can stake out a mining claim of 20 acres almost anywhere in the federal forests.

★ ★ ★

The accounting office, in a bit of brilliant observation, reported: "Many mining claims are apparently being used for purposes not related to mining."

Reteach Jobless

Tulsa Tribune

When the Armour Co., closed down its meat packing plant in Oklahoma City a couple of years ago, 400 jobs disappeared. A retraining scheme was started, union and company working together.

Many didn't care to learn new skills. Of the 170 who did, however, it was discovered that more than half had neither the basic intelligence nor education to benefit from training. Their best chance of employment, the Oklahoma Employment Service told them, was as common laborers. Trouble is, the jobs the common laborer can do become fewer each year.

Here is the hard core of the unemployment problem. We have as many schools and as much economic opportunity as any nation in the world, and yet a quarter of our two million long-term unemployed are on the verge of illiteracy and not trainable for anything. What to do?

In Chicago, a drastic remedy is being tried. Some 50,000 relief recipients — the near-illiterate "unemployables" are being sent back to school to learn to read, write and do arithmetic. Anyone who fails to report to assigned classes will be automatically cut off relief.

This experiment should be watched closely. President Kennedy talks up bold new plans for retraining the unemployed, but the harsh fact is that, for too many, "retraining" is meaningless. Machines are taking over jobs once reserved for the uneducated. There is less and less place in our society for the blank stare.

Of course, a proportion of congenital illiterates will always be with us. But for the rest, this Chicago experiment could be the beginning of the long, hard climb to a useful life.

'Dems Keep Out of GOP Battle'

Gov. Swainson Is Told Hands Off in Fight in Wayne County

BELDING (AP) —Gov. John B. Swainson has been told "to keep your nose out" of Republican party in-fighting in Wayne County's 14th Congressional District.

State Sen. John H. Stahlin, R-Belding, who made the statement Saturday, said the state GOP is "capable of cleaning its own house."

Stahlin also said he was seeking a July 1 hearing by the Michigan Fair Campaign Practices Commission on his charges that extremist groups are trying to take over the Wayne County Republican organization.

He said bribery, intimidation, misrepresentation and threats of violence were some of the methods used in the alleged takeover attempt.

* * *

He named Richard Durant, GOP district vice chairman, as a leader among the extremists.

Stahlin asked the commission for a hearing after making the charges May 15.

He asked a delay, saying he did not want to reveal all his evidence before a court test, after Durant filed a $1-million libel suit against him.

He called Durant's suit a "Mickey Mouse, all the way."

He added that it would be eight months before a libel suit would reach trial.

Canadian Vote Looks Close

TORONTO (AP) — Both Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservatives and the opposition Liberals predict victory as Canadians vote today in their first national election in four years.

★ ★ ★

The Gallup poll and other surveys indicate an extremely close contest. A number of unknown factors—such as the strength of the minor parties—could have an important bearing on the results.

★ ★ ★

One possibility was the failure of either major party to get a clear majority of the 265 seats in the House of Commons. This would mean that the winner—Diefenbaker or Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson—could form a government only with the cooperation of the smaller parties.

Such a situation probably would result in a new election within a year, as happened after the Conservatives in 1957 ended 22 years of Liberal rule.

★ ★

Both the 67-year-old prime minister and Pearson, 65-year-old Nobel Peace prize-winner, claimed their parties would get more than the 133 seats needed for a majority in the House.

PREDICTS OUSTER

T. C. (Tommy) Douglas, leader of the New Democratic party, maintained that the Conservative government would be ousted. It appeared certain that his party and the Social Credit party, headed by Robert Thompson, would register substantial gains over the eight seats now held by the two groups.

The key to the outcome seemed to be the size of the gains the Liberals will make in populous Quebec and Ontario provinces, which together hold 160 seats in the House. It is generally agreed that the Liberals will win back many of the seats they lost in the Conservative sweep in 1958.

★ ★ ★

One of the things making the forecaster more cautious was the indication in the latest Gallup poll that the popular support of the Liberals had slipped in recent weeks. The latest figure showed the Liberals only two percentage points ahead of the Conservatives. They had been 10 per cent ahead early this month.

★ ★ ★

The Conservatives had 203 seats in the last House. The Liberals had only 51.

In Canada—as in Britain—the voter does not ballot directly for a prime minister but only for a member of the House of Commons to represent his own district. The leader of the winning party becomes prime minister.

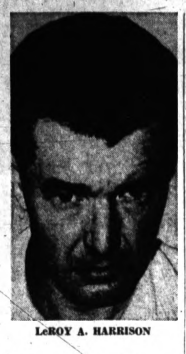
Although Pearson is a candidate in the Algoma East District on the northern shore of Lake Huron, he planned to cast his ballot in Ottawa where he now maintains his residence.

Diefenbaker, one-time country lawyer, returned to his home city of Prince Albert, Sask., to vote.

The campaign has been fought mainly on economic issues, with unemployment and the government's recent devaluation of the Canadian dollar generating the most heat.

A record number of 9.8 million voters were eligible to take part in the election. Some observers doubt the turnout will be as good as in 1958, when 80 per cent of the registered voters went to the polls.

Cotton fibers consist of about 91.3 per cent pure cellulose and 7 per cent water.



LEROY A. HARRISON

Faces Hearing in N. J. Slaying

Ex-Convict Is Charged With Murder of Pretty Student Actress

TOMS RIVER, N.J. (AP) — A 41-year-old married man who once served a prison sentence for rape faces a hearing on a murder charge in the death of pretty student actress Phyllis Ann Jones, 24.

★ ★ ★

No date has been set for the hearing for LeRoy A. Harrison, who was held today in Ocean County jail. Police said he admitted the slaying.

★ ★ ★

He was arrested Saturday night at his home in Hamilton Township, a Trenton suburb.

Police said Harrison, a printer and father of two boys, 11 and 5, admitted the crime in three hours of questioning.

★ ★ ★

The body of Miss Jones was found in a gravel pit near Toms River June 10. She was wearing only a bathing suit. The halter strap had been used to tie her hands behind her back.

SMOTHERED, STRANGLED

Autopsy reports indicated she had not been sexually assaulted. Police said she had been smothered and strangled.

★ ★ ★

The body was found on the mainland about 15 miles northwest of Long Beach Island, which is located off the New Jersey coast. Miss Jones had gone to the island with one of the drama teachers at Hedgerow Theater in Moylan, Pa. The young woman pursued an acting career when she wasn't working as a secretary. Her home was in West Norriton, Pa.

★ ★ ★

She and the teacher, Miss Rose Schulman, 52, had driven from Pennsylvania early Saturday morning, June 9. Miss Schulman said they had planned a one-day outing at the beach.

Miss Schulman told police that after their arrival Miss Jones decided to take a walk. She never returned.

The next evening a motorist spotted the body in the gravel pit and notified police.

Stops Constipation due to "Aging Colon"

Relief, doctors say, lies in new laxative principle that re-creates 3 essentials of youthful regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents dry out and shrink so they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Of all leading laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief:

(1) COLONAID prevents the formation of dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain; (2) helps restore flabby colon muscles with unique rebuilding action; (3) acts gently on the nerve reflex that stimulates the "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. Introductory Size 43¢

Policeman Dissuades Teens From Suicide

PORT HURON (AP) — Two Sarnia, Ont., teen-agers, who had climbed down to the girders under the roadway of the Blue Water Bridge here, were dissuaded from taking their own lives Saturday by a Port Huron police sergeant.

★ ★ ★

Sgt. Carl Wood talked Melvin Waller, 18, and Ronald W. Johnston, 19, out of the suicide pact. The Coast Guard waited 150 feet below while the grim drama took place.

Johnston returned to the road at once on Wood's orders. But it took about two hours of persuasion and cigarette smoking to get Waller to agree not to jump. Wood had tied a safety line around himself "so if he decided to go I could pounce on him."

Jackie's Visit to Camp David May Bring Changes

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — If the First Lady takes a fancy to Camp David during the upcoming Fourth of July holiday, there'll be some changes made.

The presidential hideaway is the sole surviving emolument of executive office that still bears the name bestowed on it by former President Eisenhower.

Few things in life are as transitory as the titles that U.S. presidents give to the planes, boats, camp sites and other "fringe benefits" that go with the job. Ike wasted no time in re-christening HST's fleet, just as Kennedy has done with Eisenhower's.

The yacht "Honey Fitz" in which the President cruises around Palm Beach in winter and Hyannisport in summer is named for his grandfather, John (Honey Fitz) Fitzgerald, former mayor of Boston. During the Eisenhower administration it was christened the "Barbara Ann" for Ike's eldest granddaughter.

★ ★ ★

JFK renamed the other presidential yacht the "Patrick J." to honor his paternal grandfather. Eisenhower had called it the "Susie E" for his second granddaughter, and President Truman had previously named it "The Margie" for his only daughter, Margaret.

President Roosevelt was the first chief executive to have a presidential plane. Because of wartime secrecy it bore no particular name, but FDR humorously dubbed it "The Sacred Cow."

REJOINS AF FLEET

Truman, who hails from Independence, Mo., christened his presidential plane "The Independence," and Eisenhower subsequently called his "The Columbine," after the state flower of Mamie's native Colorado.

The Columbine, stripped of its name, is now back in the Air Force fleet, and Kennedy uses any one of three government jets or a DC6 that are on first call to the White House.

Even mansions have presidential name-calling troubles. The historic townhouse which the government acquired during the Truman administration to house distinguished foreign visitors was called "Blair House," because it had always belonged to the Blair family.

Eisenhower, feeling that this lacked dignity, officially renamed it "The President's Guest House," and had a metal plaque mounted to that effect. Several months ago, all traces of the plaque and the name disappeared. It is now "Blair House" again.

The presidential retreat in the Catoctin Mountains of nearby Maryland was originally acquired as a wartime hideway for FDR, who called it "Shangri-la."

After his death the Trumans went there once or twice, but since Mrs. Truman was afraid of snakes, they used it so little that Truman did not bother to change its title.

LIKED PLACE

President Eisenhower took an immediate liking to the camp as a restful place for getting to know visiting heads of state without hampering protocol. He named it Camp David after his grandson, and put it on the map when correspondents began to refer to "The spirit of Camp David," after his amiable meeting there with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Since the Kennedy administration came to power, JFK has met at Camp David a couple of times with Ike, who came over from his Gettysburg farm. Mrs. Kennedy has visited it only once, on a chilly March weekend shortly after the inauguration, in company with her sister, Lee Radziwill of London.

Now, after sixteen months of absence, she has decided to pay another call. Her renovation of the White House is almost complete, and if Camp David should next capture her imaginative eye, she may suggest some decorating changes for presidential use on long weekends in the fall.

If so, "Camp David" will go the way of all presidential monikers, and since the family plane is already named for Caroline, perhaps the mountain lodge will soon become "The John Jr." or "Johnny Jump-Up."

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

School Closed in Colombia After Students Strike

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—National University's Academic Council has closed the school until Aug. 20 following a student strike and violence.

Authorities took the action Saturday when striking students armed with stones and clubs tried to break up classes attended by nonstrikers.

The strike was called June 14 to protest the expulsion of six students accused of leading a window-smashing spree in downtown Bogota. Authorities said the strike was about 50 per cent effective.

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Sinatra has returned from a world singing tour which he said he raised about $1.2 million for handicapped and orphaned children. He said he hopes to make another one within the next 18 months.

TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — A 20-room, 3-story fieldstone structure occupied by the Nigerian delegation to the United Nations was swept by fire Sunday. Damage was estimated at $250,000.

No one was in the building when the fire broke out at about 1 a.m. The delegation presently is in Nigeria. The blaze, which firemen said was caused by a defective oil burner, was discovered by a caretaker, who lives nearby.

Moms Fete Twins at Luncheon Party

Twin Mothers Club held their third annual picnic at the 4-H grounds on M-24 Sunday and enjoyed a cooperative luncheon, rides and look-alike contests.

Winners in the "blue ribbon twin contest," girls' division, were Janice and Jeanine, daughters of the Alfred Willockxes of Clarkston. They were judged the most identical.

Least identical went to Janet and JoAnn, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Russell of Auburn Heights.

The boys' division winners were Keith and Kevin, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Bradford, and David and Daryl, sons of the Delos Shanks. They were judged the most and least identical respectively.

Other winners included David and Darlene McNutt, son and daughter of the William McNutts, and Craig and Cindy, children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Julian.

The youngest pair at the event were Dennis and Douglas Edmunds, age seven months.

Mrs. Ronald Collins handled arrangements for the event.

In other activities, the club met Thursday at the 300 Bowl and heard guest speaker George Caronis, director of Youth Assistance program, City of Pontiac, discuss "Juvenile Delinquency."

* * *

Installed at the meeting were the officers for the coming year. Mrs. Collins of Clarkston was installed as president.

Assisting her are Mrs. Byron Bradford, vice president; Mrs. David Wilson, recording secretary; Mrs. McNutt, treasurer; Mrs. Russell, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Kenneth Deavey, parliamentarian.

* * *

Committee chairmen are: library, Mrs. Russell; publicity, Mrs. Jerry Hockey; membership, Mrs. Charles Hatter; remembrance, Mrs. Bradford; hospitality, Mrs. Robert Van Meer; and equipment, Mrs. Clarence Klein.

Two new members, Mrs. Lee Hathaway and Mrs. Donald B. Lovett were at the meeting and six candidate members were also present.

* * *

Lines Alive With 'Girls' State'

All Tied Up With Plans

Count Sarmi 'Tricky'

Secret's in the Fabric

(AP) — People who design for the rich, such as Count Sarmi does, have found a way to outsmart the rapidly growing numbers of fashion pirates — the talented American women who stitch up their own clothes.

When Jacqueline Kennedy proved with her trim figure and sheath "nothing" dress that in simplicity lies greatness, ladies at modern do-everything sewing machines ecstatically began to make their own.

At the opening of his winter collection Sarmi proved that purity of line can produce great fashion, still produce great big price tags, and — what's more — defy amateur copying.

* * *

The secret is in the fabrics.

Conceivably with tailoring talent and scissors sharp enough to snip rugs, the home seamstress might recreate heavy, hairy woolen coats, or looped wool suits and dresses vaguely like the kind shown today — that is, if she could find the ruggy materials.

LOW, LOW NECKLINE

But if a woman did successfully reproduce Sarmi's black faille dress with the panel-pleated skirt and the deep, deep decolletage, her husband would swear that the scissors had slipped. Would anybody's neckline be that low intentionally?

Sarmi's status symbols for restaurant table hopping, first nights, charity balls and the like include velour, brocade, matelasse, cut velvet beaded and embroidered satins and laces.

* * *

Draperies and upholstery around the house might yield heavy velvets and rich brocades for today's eager seamstress. But matelasse a fabric with a cushiony, quilted surface, and cut velvet like the designs on fancy wallpaper and Christmas cards are not easy to duplicate at home, and exorbitant to purchase.

Nor could a seamstress possibly recreate those intricately beaded satins and laces that Sarmi's models wore, unless she had a long lifespan and many nimble-fingered brownies on her side.

MINK PIPING

Even if she could, she'd need a mink ranch in the backyard for the finishing touches — black mink linings, white mink piping, or brown mink collars and cuffs.

Nor, when you're on a strict budget, is a sable ring collar a cinch to come by for a pale gold iridescent dinner gown.

* * *

The chandeliers might possibly be the source of supply for crystal teardrops like the ones that clinked tunefully as they bobbed from the bosom line of one rustly white satin gown. But sewing them on would be a task.

The simple truth is that to a wearer of a Sarmi design nobody will ever say, "Did you make that yourself?"

Despite Career Uncertainty

Continue Your Education

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE M-443: Charles H., 18, is planning to go to college.

"Dr. Crane, I wish you would talk to our youth club on vocational guidance," he telephoned me recently. "Many of my pals don't know what they want to be in life, so they figure it is foolish to go on to college.

DR. CRANE

"I don't even know myself, but my parents say I should continue with school, anyway. Is that wise?"

LADDERS TO SUCCESS

Most teen-agers don't know what they wish to select for a life career, so go on to college anyway, if you can afford to do so, even if it is only for one year.

In fact, one semester will widen your horizons and teach you to live away from Mama's apron strings.

* * *

That's far more critical than you may now realize, for literally thousands of fine young men and women drop out of college by Thanksgiving or Christmas in the fall term just because they are so homesick they can't stay on the campus any longer.

But you teen-agers need to change your idea concerning your future. There is no single ladder to success. Instead, you must climb many ladders before you reach the top.

To visualize what I mean, imagine a circular tower completely surrounded by ladders. But you can't see above the first rung on any ladder, for your limited age and youthful experience blindfold you beyond that point.

So take the ladder that is nearest at hand and climb upon the first rung. Then take your second step. If you then find you are on a stepladder of only 3 steps, you may then need to climb over to an adjoining ladder that offers more rungs upward.

* *

But if that second ladder stops with only 5 or 6 rungs, you then may climb over to an adjacent ladder which leads still higher.

ELBOW GREASE

Remember, there is no future in any job! For the future always lies in the worker who holds that job.

Jobs are just like rungs on a ladder, and the rungs never move. But you young people can progress upward by stepping on those rungs as you strive toward higher altitudes.

For example, suppose you are a new recruit as dishwasher in a large restaurant. That is like the bottom rung on a stepladder.

You may climb up to be first class dishwasher, but that's as far as the actual "dishwashing ladder" reaches.

CHANGE LADDERS

But if you have done a good job, including the use of plenty of elbow grease, your boss may then decide you can transfer to a rung on an adjacent ladder, such as learning to be a cook.

At the start, maybe you are only the 32nd assistant chef. But if you enjoy the culinary art, you can keep climbing till you become head chef, at $1,-000 or $1,500 per month, for chefs draw big pay.

But if you are still ambitious after you reach the top rung of the "cooking ladder," then move across to the "chain restaurant" ladder, and open up a chain of lunch rooms or hot dog stands or fancy motel dining places of your own.

And after that, you may decide you know so many people and are financially able to enter politics, so maybe you switch over to the "political ladder" and run for alderman or mayor or Congressman, etc.

But always do your present job well! For it is a rung on some ladder that will permit you to rise to a higher rung either on that same ladder or an adjacent one.

Every honest job can lead you to the top, ultimately.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope, and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Don't Believe All You Hear

Who Starts Such Lies!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I heard somewhere that if you throw a cat up in the air it will always land on its feet.

Well, something went wrong because I threw our cat up in the air and she landed on her head!

ABBY

She just laid there like she was dead, and I thought she was for a minute, but then she got up and ran off. Will you please tell me who started that lie about cats? I thank you.

JANIE JUNE, (age 9)

DEAR JANIE: I don't know who started it, but I hope nobody else believes it. And if you hear that one about cats having nine lives, please don't try to prove it on your cat.

* *

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a young aspiring business executive with a large well-known firm.

We would like to establish good relations with his co-workers and bosses, but what is proper? We have recently been transferred to a new community and are much younger than most of the executives and their wives.

Should I invite his bosses to dinner? Or would a Sunday brunch be in order? How about a dessert and coffee evening? I don't want to appear pushy but I'd like to help my husband advance in his business by helping him socially.

YOUNG WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You would be wise to sit back and wait for the wives of his co-workers to invite you first. Then return their invitations with similar ones.

Don't initiate social contacts with the "bosses" or you'll be labeled "eager beavers"—and that's fatal, both in business and the social swim.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: What has happened to the manners of our young people? I have seen unbelievable rudeness displayed by children in the presence of their parents, and not one word of reproach is said.

When I was a child, all my parents had to do was give me a certain look and I shut up and acted right, or I caught it.

MITCH

DEAR MITCH: Perhaps our young people aren't able to see the "looks" of their disapproving parents. Blame it on poor vision — probably the result of too much television.

Confidential to Joyce: Don't buy that story. "Where there is smoke there is NOT always fire." There could possibly be just someone with a burning desire to start trouble.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50c to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press.

Gain Health Too

Here's a warning for the teen-ager who wants to gain weight: Don't go overboard with sodas, pastries and chocolate. You may gain the additional pounds, but you'll ruin your complexion in the process.

300 Attend Hickman-Weston Rites

Couple Exchanges Vows and Rings

Gail Irene Weston and Jeremy J. Hickman exchanged wedding vows and rings before Rev. William J. Richards Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church in the presence of some 300 guests.

A church reception followed the candlelight ceremony.

* * *

Daughter of Mrs. Harold E. Weston, Clarkston and the late Mr. Weston, the bride was given in marriage by her brother Harold E. Weston. The bridegroom is the son of Donn L. Hickman, LaForest Drive, Waterford and the late Mrs. Hickman.

Pearl-frosted Alencon lace accented the portrait neckline and bouffant skirt of the bride's gown of white silk organza over taffeta. The straight panel front swept into a bustle back and chapel train. A crown of simulated orange blossoms secured her veil of silk illusion. She held a cascade of white rosemellias.

HONOR MATRON

Matron of honor, Mrs. Thomas Davies, Clarkston and bridesmain Mrs. Theodore Webster, Rochester, appeared in floor-length petal-pink silk organza. Their nosegays included pink roses and white carnations.

Best man was William R. Wood, Waterford. Thomas Davies, James Lesar, Waterford and Roger Meier, Chicago, were ushers.

After a honeymoon at Niagara Falls, the couple will make their home in Ann Arbor where the bridegroom is attending University of Michigan Law School. He is an alumnus of Wayne State University. His bride is a graduate of McAuley School of Practical Nursing.

A corsage of white roses complemented a dress of Wedgwood blue linen with white lace and bead trim for the mother of the bride.

Gail Irene Weston, daughter of Mrs. Harold E. Weston, Clarkston and the late Mr. Weston exchanged vows with Jeremy J. Hickman, son of Donn L. Hickman, Waterford and the late Mrs. Hickman, Saturday in the First Methodist Church, Clarkston.

In Evening Ceremony

Gail Blamy Marries

Pine Lake Country Club was the setting for the reception which followed the vows of Gail Ann Blamy to Donald M. Lucas Saturday evening in All Saints Episcopal Church, Rev. C. George Widdifield officiated.

Daughter of the junior John F. Blamys, North Glengarry Road, Bloomfield Village, the bride chose bouquet taffeta styled with draped bell skirt and chapel train. Pearl and crystal embroidery accented the narrow belt and skirt bows. Her veil of French illusion fell from an imported headpiece.

* * *

White orchids and stephanotis rested on the bride's prayer book.

ATTENDED BRIDE

Wearing aquamarine chiffon were maid of honor Lynne Benter and bridesmaids, Mrs. James Galbraith, Ypsilanti, Barbara Wheeler, Battle Creek; Mrs. William Hansen, Carol Esser and Marcia Galbraith. They carried yellow and white shasta daisies, yellow roses and ivy.

Peggy Knisely, Orchard Lake, was flower girl and Owen Murtagh, Bloomfield Hills, carried the rings.

Donald Lucas was best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lucas, North Marshall Street. Ushers were John Blamy, William Hansen, Stewart Loud, Birmingham, Michael Strang and Richard Hathaway.

Returning from a northern Michigan honeymoon, the couple will live in Ann Arbor. Mr. Lucas, a University of Michigan senior, is affiliated with Sigma Nu Fraternity. His bride holds a degree from Michigan State University.

For the wedding Mrs. Blamy chose imported champagne silk with bodice applique of Alencon lace leaf motif touched with seed pearls. The mother of the bridegroom wore an embroidered petal pink silk organza sheath dress. Both had purse corsages of white cymbidium orchids.

Santala-Monroe Nuptials

Couple Will Live at Sylvan Shores

White satin bows marked family pews in Gloria Dei Lutheran Church Saturday evening for the vows of Sharron Lee Monroe to Edward W. Santala repeated to Rev. Charles A. Colberg. White delphinium and carnations adorned the altar.

* * *

After the church reception, the couple left for Tahquamenon Falls and will return later to their home at Sylvan Shores.

*

White carnations, pale yellow rosebuds and stephanotis comprised her cascade bouquet.

Wearing identical dresses of maize Venise lace and taffeta, styled with dome skirts, were Sharon Nichols, maid of honor and Suzanne Monroe, her sister's bridesmaid. Petal veils fell from their rose headpieces and both carried stem-dyed yellow carnations in small white lace parasols.

*

The bridegroom, son of the Harry Santalas, Montroyal Street, Waterford, had Eugene Payne for his best man. The usher list included Theodore Santala and Albert Monroe, brothers of the bridal couple, also Jack Welch, Waterford, and William Rutila, Detroit, the bridegroom's cousin.

Apricot accessories complemented Mrs. Monroe's dress of champagne eyelet over taffeta. The mother of the bridegroom chose a pastel floral print. Both wore corsages of Mary Jo roses.

Sharron Lee Monroe exchanged vows with Edward W Santala Saturday evening in Gloria De Lutheran Church. Their parents are the Floyd Monroes of West Ann Arbor Avenue and the Harry Santalas of Montroyal Street, Waterford.

Plan Buffet and Invite Four Extra

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: Our son is soon to be married and my husband and I are planning to give the rehearsal dinner. The attendants include four bridesmaids and four ushers plus the maid of honor and best man.

All of the ushers are married bu the bridesmaids are not. The best man and maid of honor are also unmarried.

Is it necessary to invite the wives of the ushers to the rehearsal dinner? If we do, there will be nine women and only five men which I feel will be very awkward.

May the wives be ommitted and just the actual wedding attendants be invited?

A: Correctly, you should invite the wives. To overcome the difficulty of too many women, you might change your dinner to a buffet and invite four extra young men for the bridesmaids.

* * *

Q: I am going to have my wedding reception at a hotel. We will not have a private room as the number of guests we are having does not warrant one.

* * *

Instead, there will be one largge table set up in the corner of the dining room. I would like to know, since the reception will be in a public dining room, if it would be in bad taste to leave my wedding veil on?

A: You keep your veil on for as long as you wear your wedding dress and take it off when you change into your going-away clothes.

* * *

Q: My father died recently and my fellow employes (25 in funeral. Will you please tell all) sent a flower piece to the me to whom I should address a note of thanks and also how to word it?

A: You address your note to "The employes of Blank Company" (or department) and you need say no more than, "Thank you all for your sympathy and the beautiful flowers. I can't begin to tell you how much they meant to me."

* * *

Q: Will you settle a controversy about buttering a piece of bread? I think a piece of bread or roll should be broken off, but left on the plate to be buttered. Holding it aloft has always seemed awkward to me but some of my friends think not. Which way is really correct?

A: Hold it against the rim of your plate. You should not hold it in the air, nor should you let it lie flat on the plate — unless you are spreading it for someone else and therefore trying to avoid holding it in your fingers.

Styles Do About-Face

Forecast: Bundle Up

NEW YORK (AP) — No matter what kind of weather Indians, birds, and Poor Richard's Almanac forecast, the fashion industry is preparing for a cold winter.

Almost as if American designers are guilt-stricken about last year's pneumonia-inviting styles—coats with wide necks and short, kimono-type sleeves and dresses with necks down to here and no sleeves at all—they are busily making up for it with clothes that soon will encompass females from nose to toes.

Sunburned fashion writers in sleeveless pastel dresses watched a parade of heavy worsteds, tweeds and printed wools during Vera Maxwell's press show Friday, and noted that she also is a part of the current war against sore throats.

* * *

Pretty ladies in saddle-leather knee boots plodded to the center of the showroom in costumes with pleated skirts and wide, doublebreasted skimmer jackets. Either there were no collars on the jackets or they stood away from the throat to reveal Miss Maxwell's No. 1 weapon against the common cold, the turtleneck sweater.

SLEEVES OR NO SLEEVES

But under the jackets of certain dressier suits were black velvet, sleeveless doublets. With these, Miss Maxwell explained, extra fabric is being shipped to retail stores so that cold-blooded customers can guard against goose bumps.

Shifty little wool dresses skimming over the models' bodies ever so lightly were without sleeves too — this being a hot day in June. Nevertheless, when the mercury drops, the shifts can be worn as jumpers over cover-all blouses.

Most of Miss Maxwell's weapons against winter were spelled out in black and white. Bulky tweeds and checks and plaids in those contrasts were fashioned into coats, suits, and some coats that can be buttoned and belted to look like dresses. Bulky, fleecy fabrics, imprinted with black and white spots resembling dalmatians and psychological ink-spot tests, also were made into slightly flared Chesterfield coats and longsleeved dresses.

WARDROBE ON BACK

A spicy surprise was a strip tease demonstrating how a woman on the go can carry most of her travel wardrobe on her back.

A bronze tweed nor'wester coat whipped off one model to reveal a gold blouse and bronze wool skirt. After a quick zip, the skirt fell away to show that the blouse was actually the bodice of a gold silk dress.

MRS. ROBERT L. SADLER

Suzanne Kay Gordon, daughter of the Edward F. Gordons, Rosshire Court, and Robert L. Sadler, son of Mrs. George E. Schnaidt, Royal Oak and the late Louis D. Sadler, were wed Saturday afternoon in Bethany Baptist Church.

In Afternoon Rites

Repeat Wedding Vow

Dr. Emil Kontz officiated at the Saturday afternoon nuptial ceremony for Suzanne Kay Gordon and Robert L. Sadler in Bethany Baptist Church.

* * *

Daughter of the Edward F. Gordons of Rosshire Court, the bride appeared in floor-length white silk organza over taffeta, designed with basque bodice and pouf skirt. Her veil of imported silk illusion fell from a crown of sequins and pearls. She carried white roses and carnations.

Arpi Ann Dakesian, wearing aquamarine and turquoise taffeta, styled with redingote skirt, was maid of honor. She wore a taffeta picie hat with chin veil and carried pink roses and white carnations.

Ronald Sadler, Royal Oak, served his brother as best man. They are the sons of Mrs. George E. Schnaidt, Royal Oak, and the late Louis D. Sadler. Ushers were the bridegroom's half-brother, George Schnaidt Jr., Royal Oak, and Roger Krainock, Waterford.

* * *

After the reception in the Amvets Hall, Oakland Avenue, the couple left for northern Michigan. They will reside in Pontiac.

Pink carnations accented powder blue lace eggshell satin for Mrs. Gordon. The mother of the bridegroom wore coppertone carnations with her sheath dress of champagne silk shantung.

Brown Ground Beef, Add Kidney Beans to Gravy

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

At this season of the year all cooks are looking for quick recipes that will keep them over a hot stove a minimum length of time. Mrs. Roy Shadrick's way with ground beef is such a recipe. It's a favorite dish with the Shadrick family.

★ ★ ★

Because Mrs. Shadrick works full time, she has not outside hobbies. But she "adores" antiques.

BEEF 'N' BEANS
By Mrs. Roy Shadrick

1 pound ground beef
1 onion, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped
1 can kidney beans, drained

Brown meat. Add chopped onion and green pepper and a little water. Let simmer 30 minutes. Add kidney beans. Thicken with a little flour and water.

Serve hot on mashed potatoes. Cole slaw is good with this main course. Serves 4-6.

Judith Fink and Alfred Daisley Repeat Vows in Church of Christ

Judith Rae Fink exchanged wedding vows with Alfred C. Daisley Saturday evening in the Church of Christ. Brother Bude Little performed the candlelight ceremony in a setting of palms and white gladioli.

Parents of the bridal couple, the Carlton E. Finks of Bellevue Street and the Alfred S. Daisleys, Brightwood Court, Waterford Township, received guests in the church parlors.

Alencon lace formed the portrait neckline for the bride's gown of white silk organza and edged a Watteau back panel which fell over the chapel train. Silk illusion veiling was fitted to a pearl crown. She carried white orchids, stephanotis and ivy and wore the bridegroom's diamond gift pendant.

Wearing chiffon in pastel rainbow colors were the bride's sisters, Sharon, maid of honor, yellow, and bridesmaids Mrs. John Morgan, Clarkston, mint green; Mrs. Donald Isles, Waterford, ice blue, and the bridegroom's sister, Darlene Daisley, in pink. Bouquets of carnations matched their dresses.

Nieces of the bride, Gayle Morgan, Dawn and Pamela Fink, as junior bridesmaids, wore mint green, blue and pink, respectively. Cindy Isles was flowergirl and Jimmy Fink carried the rings.

James Johnson, Waterford, acted as best man. Ushering were the bride's brothers, Paul Fink, Orchard Lake and Arthur Fink; Donald Isles and the bridegroom's uncle, Donald Gardner.

Returning from a New York City honeymoon, the couple will live on Mechanic Street.

White cymbidium orchids complemented mauve lace over satin for Mrs. Fink and Bermuda blue chiffon over taffeta for the mother of the bridegroom.

Why Be So Defensive?

Don't Confuse Noise, Interest

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

I once knew a middle-aged bachelor who was acutely jealous of his privacy.

If you asked him where he was going for the summer, his face would stiffen and he would say, "I haven't decided." If you asked him if he had seen a mutual acquaintance, he would say shortly, "I don't recall."

If he wanted to come and see you, he would make such a mysterious production of the visit that he exhausted you before he got around to making it.

Before arriving, he would telephone at intervals to make sure that you were not entertaining someone he didn't want to meet.

He generally behaved as though he felt himself to be a secret agent operating in enemy territory.

★ ★ ★

And in a way he was. The only son of a woman who had used interest in all his activities to maintain control of them, he saw everyone else's interest in his doings through the distorting lens of his deep but unfocused resentment of her domination.

Unable to discriminate between friendly interest and prying, he regarded all interest in him with suspicion — an enemy territory through which he had to move in carefully guarded secrecy like a spy.

Similar confusion may be the problem of this reader:

★ ★ ★

"A new neighbor of ours is always asking nosy questions of my 9-year-old girl. I have never met this woman because we have just moved into this neighborhood, but my daughter has made friends with her child.

WAS VERY UPSET

She came home yesterday from their house very upset because she didn't know how to answer this woman. She says she was asked what her father's work is, what church we intend to join and other things that are none of her business . . ."

Why do you read malice into these questions? Perhaps they are expressing friendly interest instead of nosiness.

Instead of jumping to suspicious conclusions about your neighbor, why don't you take the time to call on her, and call, not with the expectation of meeting malicious curiosity but friendship, a friendship that will support the one that has already been made by the children?

★ ★ ★

There are certainly prying and malicious people in this world who intrude into our privacy for destructive reasons, but some of us are really capable of genuine interest in you.

We might want to know what your husband's work is as a basis for his acquaintance with our husband. We might ask your child what church you intend to join in the hope that you will join ours so that we can introduce you to other members.

If you cannot credit us with this friendly interest in your personal affairs, then you have to wonder what unfriendly interest in them has made you so defensive and suspicious.

You better try to locate the influence that has taught you that you live in enemy territory where you must move guardedly, holding tight the secrets we may use against you.

Come on out to us.

'Stitch in Time' Can Help

Fatigue Not Way of Life

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If we are tired, we cannot be our best in looks or efficiency, and we certainly cannot enjoy ourselves as we otherwise would. It seems to me that many people take chronic fatigue too much for granted. They accept it as a way of life when there is no need to do so.

This is the day of preventative measures. We have shots and vaccines to prevent disease. We watch our cholesterol blood level, hoping to miss heart and artery disease. We take care of a cold to avoid complications.

We use creams to prevent wrinkles and screening lotions and creams to avoid sunburn. Why don't we apply some of this "a stitch in time saves nine" philosophy to side-stepping fatigue?

REARRANGE ROUTINE

There are many reasons for fatigue other than disease. Often, the chronically tired person simply needs to rearrange habits of thought and daily routine. The problem may be malnutrition, too little sleep and exercise and too much worry and pressure. I think the latter is the secret of a great deal of fatigue.

Instead of becoming seriously tired and then trying to cure it, why not try to prevent it? Fatigue is not a natural adjunct to life. If we bring intelligence to the planning of our daily activities, we can live so much more vibrantly.

During the war some very interesting studies were carried on by efficiency experts in war plants. One experiment was put into action at a steel plant. It was found that frequent short rest periods zoomed production. The men and women never became tired.

Actually, you can cut down your total resting time during the day if you will take the little rests more frequently. This is true because rest is the body's repair time. If you become extremely tired before resting, the repair job takes longer.

It may not be possible to follow up this idea if you work outside your home, but women in the home would profit greatly by lying down quite often, even for five minutes. Why not try this?

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Pep," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 56 to Josephine Lowman, care of The Pontiac Press.

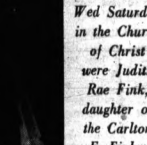
PERRY PHARMACY'S MEDICAL MIRROR

Scientific Vs. Religious Viewpoint



Send questions to: P.O. Box 1174, Louisville 1, Ky.

Medical Mirror

- Mental Illness
- Stomach Digestion

Q. Does the person who suffers a mental breakdown and then recovers remember the period of his illness?

A. No general statement is possible. However, in certain specific disorders, memory gaps are quite common. Time seems to stop when the patient becomes ill. With recovery it is difficult for him to accept the calendar date and his increased years. Patients frequently must adjust to the fact that they are ten or twenty years older than they remember themselves to be. These are indeed "lost years."

Q. If you have a "scientific viewpoint," can you also accept religious teachings?

A. Of course. There is no actual conflict between science and religion for those who can see both sides of the coin or, as one top physicist puts it, "two images of the same reality." This man, who possesses one of the greatest scientific minds of our times, is also an ordained minister in the Episcopal Church.

Q. Why doesn't the stomach digest itself?

A. Because nature provides us with a mechanism which regulates gastric secretion. Under normal conditions, the acid gastric juice is buffered and diluted by food. The mechanism which regulates gastric secretions provides for an abundant flow of gastric juice when food is in the stomach and also checks further secretion before the stomach contents become corrosive enough to damage the stomach lining.

Try a Weekly Supplement to Daily Facials

Even those women who adhere to a regular program of daily skin care will find it beneficial to give their complexions an extra thorough cleansing at least once or even twice a week to avoid or overcome minor skin problems.

According to a noted beauty authority, here is an easy and effective procedure to follow.

★ ★ ★

First, apply moisture plus cleansing cream to remove all make-up and surface soil. Next, give your skin a steam treatment by saturating a towel with hot water and holding it against your entire face. Now, smooth on another application of the cleansing cream and use a damp silk sponge to massage the cream over your face and neck in an upward, circular motion.

Pay special attention to the areas around your eyes, nose, and mouth. You may want to use an extra amount of the cleansing cream at these points and massage a second time.

After removing all the cream with cleansing tissues, finish by applying skin freshener to tone your complexion and make it feel fresh and firm. If your skin is oily, tone with astringent.

'Shaky Medicare Bill Set for Legislative Surgery'

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Welfare Abraham Ribicoff concedes the administration's medical care for the aged plan is in shaky health, and says he's ready for legislative surgery on it.

The president of the American Medical Association, meanwhile, has charged passage of the measure would undermine the nation's health care standards. Dr. Leonard W. Larson said that has been the outcome in every country that tried "politically controlled medicine."

★ ★ ★

Larson said Sunday the administration's program would swiftly mushroom into socialized medicine. He spoke in an interview on the Manion Radio Forum, broadcast from South Bend, Ind.

Ribicoff said Sunday night in a television interview—NBC—Meet the Press—that while the medical care bill is in difficulty in the Ways and Means Committee "I really think we have an opportunity to come out with a favorable report."

Ribicoff said the administration is prepared to accept changes in the bill, but will not compromise on its central feature—financing under the Social Security System. He said that "goes to the very heart of the program. Without the Social Security approach you don't have a program."

"There are a number of alternatives that in my opinion could be very beneficial to the bill," Ribicoff said. Among them, he said, are:

Provision for coverage for some 3 million elderly persons who would not come under the current version because they are not covered by Social Security.

★ ★ ★

Participation by Blue Cross, the private hospitalization insurance firm, in some aspects of the administration of the medical care program.

An option system, under which an elderly person could choose government coverage, or take cash equal to the Social Security protection to purchase private health insurance.

The administration plan, sponsored in Congress by Rep. Cecil R. King, D-Calif., and Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., would raise Social Security taxes one-fourth of 1 per cent to finance hospitalization and nursing home care for people 65 and over. It would not cover doctors' bills.

ATTACKS PLAN

Larson attacked the administration plan in these terms:

★ ★ ★

"What would start out as socialized medicine for a small segment of our population would soon become socialized medicine for every man, woman and child in this country."

He said socialized medicine has undermined medical care in England, where many physicians are leaving the country "because they do not like the system under which they must work.

★ ★ ★

"There is no reason why we should impose that type of system upon the people in this country," Larson said. "I do not believe our people would accept it if it ever came to pass."

★ ★ ★

Ribicoff said the bill introduced by Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., which embodies proposals of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, is the best of the Republican medical care bills, but "has basic weaknesses."

★ ★ ★

"If we could make sure that there wouldn't be a concentration of all the good risks into the private insurance, or the Blue Cross insurance alternative, I think we could work this out as an alternative," Ribicoff said.

This measure would provide Social Security financing, but under it, elderly persons adequately covered by private insurance plans could draw cash instead of benefits.

'Castro' Melts Under Heat From Coney Isle Fire

NEW YORK (AP) — Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro and 17 of his bearded cronies couldn't stand the heat put on them early Sunday in Coney Island.

They softened up and melted into huge globs of wax, when fire of an undetermined origin broke out in Coney Island's World in Wax Museum.

Lillie St. Angelo, who founded the museum with her husband 34 years ago, said a wax likeness of President Abraham Lincoln, murderess Ruth Snyder and dozens of other famous and infamous people escaped undamaged.

'Van Cliburn Matured'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Communist Party organ Pravda says American pianist Van Cliburn, winner of the 1958 Tchaikovsky piano contest here, has matured. Reviewing Van Cliburn's recent concerts here, Pravda said, "our listeners have happily convinced themselves that their favorite has matured and grown stronger and has advanced creatively."

Stony Creek Metropolitan Park Is On Its Way

The current major project of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority is the development of Stony Creek Metropolitan Park, located astride the Oakland-Macomb County line about 3 miles northeast of Rochester.

It will cover over 3,000 acres when completed. The first acreage was acquired in 1957.

★ ★ ★

Preliminary work now is being done on two artificially created lakes, located between 26 and 28 Mile roads, which will provide 700 acres of lake surface suitable for fishing, boating and swimming.

Park facilities also will include picnic tables, shelters, stoves, rest rooms, comfort stations, nature trails and a nature center, interior park roads for scenic drives and winter sports.

TO OPEN IN '64

The new park is not expected to be open until sometime in 1964 and then with only limited developments since it will take another 10-15 years to complete all major projects in the park.

★ ★ ★

Patterned after Kensington Metropolitan Park, southeast of Brighton, this site was selected because of the rolly, hilly countryside and because recreation studies stressed the need for a regional park in the northeast section of the Detroit Metropolitan area, which covers the counties of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne.

★ ★ ★

Major developments are:

Nov. 10, 1960 — $273,000 awarded for the construction of upper dam and bridge, located south of 28-Mile Road;

★ ★ ★

Feb. 9, 1961—The board of commissioners for the Authority officially adopted the name "Stony Creek Metropolitan Park" for the project;

★ ★ ★

Sept. 10, 1961—$344,000 awarded for construction of lower dam and bridge, located just north of 26-Mile Road; and

★ ★ ★

Dec. 14, 1961 — $84,775 awarded for construction of interior park road and $114,000 for clearing of lake bottom growth at both upper and lower lake sites.

In April the upper lake area just south of 28-Mile Road flooded due to spring rains and melting snow, but now has been drained to permit additional clearance of lake bottom area during summer months.

WORK ON PROJECT—These three men are guiding the work being done on Stoney Creek Park. They are (from left) Gordon MacDougall, 218 Ostrum St., Pontiac, project engineer; Charles Simmons, 3887 Lakeland Lane, Bloomfield Hills, field engineer for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority; and Richard Poljan Jr. 37121 Van Dyke, Washington, engineering assistant.

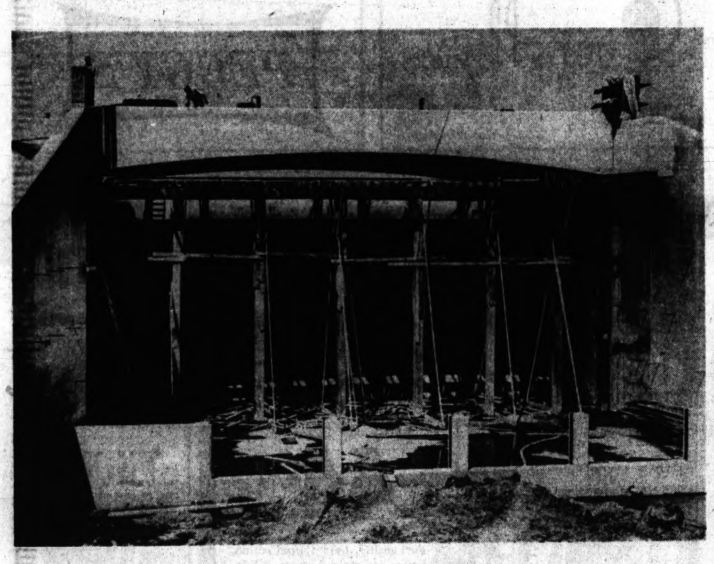
REINFORCE DITCH — Two workmen build up the ditch embankment along 28-mile Road after a recent washout. They are Melvin Bondie (left), 15860 13-Mile Road, Ray Township, and George Hock, 4050 Inwood Road, Washington Township. They are part of the 30-man crew currently working on the park project.



LOWER DAM — Workmen remove the supporting structures for the lower dam on the site which will hold the major lake area facing northwest in Stony Creek Park. A drum gate on top of the dam will allow the lake level to be raised or lowered six feet for uniform control. This is the second dam constructed in the park to regulate the water in the lake area. It is near 26 Mile and Mt. Vernon roads.

NATURE CENTER — This building, the former country home on the Charles H. Hodges Jr. estate, will eventually be converted into a nature center for Stony Creek Park. The house is located about a mile south of the park maintenance office on Inwood Road near Romeo. It will contain exhibits and be used for lectures by park rangers. Special classes will be conducted here for school children and adults in the area.

WATERS DIMINISH—When the spring thaw began a couple of months ago snow and ice melted in the lake bottom area between 26- and 28-Mile roads creating a lake that was slowly drained to allow further clearance of undergrowth. The whole site was wooded before construction was started on the dams. It will be flooded again in the fall to test the dams and water levels, and this scene will be repeated before the winter snow falls.

NOT NOW—BUT LATER—A "no swimming" sign is posted now near the combination upper dam and bridge which will separate the upper and lower lakes in the park. The lake site has been drained to allow additional clearance of the lake bottom this summer. An artificial lake will be created here at a later date. This is the section that was covered with trees and dense undergrowth before the clearing project began.

Set to Ask Tough Course in Guard Breakup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some high Army officials are ready to recommend a get-tough course if state governors insist on holding onto National Guard units the Army feels are necessary.

But they still hope the governors can be persuaded to go along with the Army's plan to break up four Guard divisions and eliminate 340 company and detachment-size units.

The record of virtually solid opposition by governors seems to indicate it is a slim hope.

It is questionable whether President Kennedy would permit the Army to get tough with the governors on this politically sensitive question in a congressional election year.

Intense political pressure has been directed against the planned elimination of 751 Guard and Reserve units and a related proposal to cut Guard and Reserve manpower from 700,000 to 642,000 men.

GOVERNORS WRITE

The Defense Department said nearly half of the 50 governors have written letters which have come to the attention of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. All were critical.

Thirty-three of the 100 senators have written—about half opposed and the rest either forwarding letters from constituents or asking information. Apparently none supported the reorganization plan.

Slightly fewer than 50 House members have written to McNamara on the question, the Pentagon said, with about one-third of them registering opposition and the rest sending along letters from the homefolks or seeking information. Here, too, there no known expressions of support.

In this fight, the Army has a powerful ally in McNamara, who has shown in the past he doesn't bend easily to pressure.

The Army believes the final language of a military money bill, already passed in different versions by the House and Senate, will permit it to go ahead with its controversial reorganization plan.

But the Army is braced for the distinct possibility that Congress may order it to keep the Guard at 400,000 men and the Reserve at 300,000. A House-Senate conference committee is expected to work out compromise language on this next week. The original House bill does not require these manpower floors, the Senate bill does —and in the past, the Senate view on this question has prevailed.

★ ★ ★

The Army's proposal to trim authorized Guard and Reserve manpower by 58,000 men—33,000 Guard and 25,000 Reserve—is only indirectly related to the plan for elimination of 751 units.

★ ★ ★

The Army says the lower figure of 642,000 is about all it can expect to muster in the coming year, unless it undertakes an extraordinary recruiting effort and lowers its standards.

The men in the units to be disbanded would not be released, but would be assigned to other outfits or to a manpower pool available for use as reinforcements in any callup.

Even if Congress does not stand in the way, basic law requires that a governor must approve any change or elimination of a Guard unit in his state.

★ ★ ★

However, the Army holds a trump card:

It could withdraw federal recognition—and with it, federal drill pay and equipment—from any unit it decided had no place in the modern organization.

The governor could keep the unit as part of his state militia, but it would have no federal standing.

"If there is a clear case where the Army doesn't need a unit, I would certainly recommend withdrawing federal recognition," said one top official when pressed on what he would do if all else failed.

But the official, asking to remain anonymous, said "I don't think sensible men reach that point."

He said that ultimately he expects the Army will get cooperation from the governors.

The Army would like to state its case to the governors at their annual conference in Philadelphia early in July. But so far the conference has not extended an invitation.

The Army plan contemplates lopping from the rolls a total of 751 unneeded or out-of-date organizations, such as antiaircraft gun batteries.

It also involves breaking up four Guard and four Reserve infantry divisions and regrouping their men into eight more flexible brigades and supporting elements.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, the Army would select six of its better Guard divisions to be brought up to 75 or 80 per cent of their authorized strength—about 11,000 men as compared with current strength of about 8,000 each.

These priority divisions — plus the brigades of about 4,000 men each — would be tabbed for first callup to back the regular Army in an emergency.

The remaining 17 Guard and six Reserve infantry divisions would be kept at about 50 per cent of strength.

PREPARED TO PROCEED

Since the Reserve is wholly under the federal government, the Army is prepared to go ahead with that part of its reorganization plan.

It is under no legal obligation to consult the governors on the fate of reserve units in their states.

The big push for the reorganization came from high-level dissatisfaction with the readiness of units called to active duty during the Berlin crisis last year.

★ ★ ★

It was felt the Guard and Reserve organizations were geared to an outmoded concept of use in a total mobilization. The need, officials said, was for a streamlined organization ready to spring to arms in less-than-total war crises.

An Army official said the new plan would make sure the Guard and Reserve were "keyed right in with the active Army and ready to support it quickly during any national emergency, not just all-out war."

Hopes to Chop U.S. Stockpile

GSA Director Says $600-Million Disposal Rate Seen Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government hopes to dispose of $600 million to $800 million worth of surplus materials yearly from the big national defense stockpile.

★ ★ ★

Bernard L. Boutin, head of the General Services Administration, told a House Appropriations subcommittee that the Kennedy administration believes the stockpile can be reduced that much annually without disrupting domestic or foreign markets or crippling prices.

★ ★ ★

Surplus materials have been sold in recent years at the rate of about $80 million yearly.

Boutin said the government spent about $10.5 million this fiscal year on stockpile storage costs. He indicated these costs could be reduced by $3.5 million if the $3.5 billion worth of materials classed as surplus were sold.

The government has spent $8.7 billion for the strategic materials. In his testimony made public Saturday, Boutin estimated their worth at $7.7 billion at present prices.

President Kennedy has called for a reduction in the stockpile.

Polly Bergen Is Doing Well in 2nd Chance at Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "This was the scene of my failure. That's why I was hesitant to come back."

Polly Bergen was talking about her two Hollywood careers — a dozen years ago as a starlet and today as an accomplished actress.

The first time around started when she was barely 17. Discovered as a night club singer — she lied about her age, in reverse to what most women do — she was signed for movies by Hal Wallis. She was leading lady for Martin and Lewis back in the days when they were Martin and Lewis, then moved to MGM.

THOMAS

"In both cases, I quit the studios; they didn't drop me," she recalled. "In the last year I did five pictures at MGM, and I was bad in all of them. I was too young. I didn't know the first thing about acting.

★ ★ ★

"I hurried off to New York; I wouldn't even return for dubbing on the last picture. I didn't know what the future held, but I thought acting was not for me.

"One of the first jobs I had in New York was in an original musical-comedy on a television show. It was the first time I had ever played a role in sequence; in films I had always played the last scene first, etc. I discovered I could act after all."

Polly stayed in New York, doing Broadway shows, her own television series, guest appearances, plus a five-year run, "To Tell The Truth."

She made her biggest advance as an actress in "The Helen Morgan Story" on Playhouse 90. The movie offers started coming.

"But I didn't take them," she said. "I was married again (to agent Freddie Fields). My first marriage (to actor Jerome Courtland) never had a chance because we were always apart on movie locations. I didn't want to be separated again. I also had a stepdaughter, with whom I wanted to establish a good relationship. It's hard enough to do that without repeated absences."

So Polly stayed home in New York. But then the situation changed. Her husband left his agency to manage Judy Garland, Henry Fonda, Paul Newman Joanne Woodward, Marlene Dietrich and other stars. That meant much of his work could be done in Hollywood. When Polly got an offer to appear in "Cape Fear" with Gregory Peck and Robert Mitchum, the family moved west.

"I'll admit I was uneasy about returning here," she said. "I felt I had failed in Hollywood. Besides, I am a goer, and the pace of New York living fitted my temperament. For the first six months I didn't think I would be able to stand it here. Now I'm a confirmed Californian."

Her second film career is progressing well, along dramatic lines. She is now playing a "homicidal schizophrenic" in "The Caretakers," and that's about as dramatic as you would want to get.

Connecticut Theater Showing New Vigor

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic

STRATFORD, Conn.—Whims and wiles are out, robust vigor is in at the American Shakespeare Festival.

A sword-rattling pair of dramas, "Richard II" and "Henry IV, Part I," got the summer-long exhibit off to a lively, engaging start over the weekend.

With a repertory cast headed by Richard Basehart, Eric Berry and Hal Holbrook, the plays have been done with a sharp eye for colorful pageantry and sturdy reliance on their basic human conflicts.

The productions herald a new phase of management concept, best described as getting down to fundamentals.

★ ★ ★

The proscenium area has been redesigned by Eldon Elder. Costumed with highly effective lighting by Charles Elson, the effect is both theatrical and appropriate to the Shakespearean substance.

The plays have been richly gowned by Motley in the traditional robes of 14th-century England, and designed with effective simplicity by Elder.

Allen Fletcher directs "Richard II" with a keen eye for tableaux, and an ear for the poetic dialogue. The second play is staged by Douglas Seale with a freer flow of movement and—since Falstaff is on hand—considerable attention to rowdy ribaldry.

The performance level in both is strong and clear generally. Among the supporting players, Will Geer, Philip Bosco, James Ray, Richard Waring and Patrick Hines are particularly effective.

As Falstaff, Berry performs with the paunchy authority that comes from previous experience in the part.

★ ★ ★

Holbrook, a fugitive from long workout in his one-man Mark Twain show, ably enacts aging John of Gaunt in "Richard II," then shifts to the lustily youthful Harry Hotspur in "Henry IV."

The role of weak, vacillating Richard — who yielded his crown to the future King Henry — Basehart captures the exterior aspects convincingly. Somewhat blurred diction detracts from his over-all performance.

Hopes to Chop U.S. Stockpile
GSA Director Says $600-Million Disposal Rate Seen Possible
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government hopes to dispose of $600 million to $800 million worth of surplus materials yearly from the big national defense stockpile.
★ ★ ★
Bernard L. Boutin, head of the General Services Administration, told a House Appropriations subcommittee that the Kennedy administration believes the stockpile can be reduced that much annually without disrupting domestic or foreign markets or crippling prices.
★ ★ ★
Surplus materials have been sold in recent years at the rate of about $80 million yearly.
Boutin said the government spent about $10.5 million this fiscal year on stockpile storage costs. He indicated these costs could be reduced by $3.5 million if the $3.5 billion worth of materials classed as surplus were sold.
The government has spent $8.7 billion for the strategic materials. In his testimony made public Saturday, Boutin estimated their worth at $7.7 billion at present prices.
President Kennedy has called for a reduction in the stockpile.
A senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., has been investigating stockpile contracts. The hearings resume today.

New Mobility Project in Detroit to Employ 600 Personnel

GAYLORD (AP) — The Army was to begin moving personnel into the headquarters of its newly created Mobility Command in Detroit today and Michigan industry will benefit, a military spokesman says.

"We have all seen a similar concentration of defense-oriented industries flourish in areas of new major commands," Col. Rex White research and engineering, told the annual meeting of the Michigan Associated Press Editorial Association.

"We will have here a storehouse of information and data on Army programs that should open new opportunities and challenges to the industrial, business, scientific and engineering communities of the area," he pointed out.

The command's move into Detroit is expected to be completed in about 18 months, White told AP members. The staff eventually will include some 600 key executives, administrators and technical personnel operating on a budget of over $2.5 billion, he said.

FROM WASHINGTON

White, who flew here from Washington to attend the meeting, said it will be up to Michigan industry to know and understand the requirements of America's modern mobile army.

He said leaders should "bring to bear upon these problems all of the scientific, engineering and industrial geniuses for which Michigan has for so long been famous."

The mobility command, he said, will manage the entire spectrum of mobility equipment from research and development through production of more than 300,000 separate items, well over half of all items of the entire Army materiel command.

★ ★ ★

The command will be composed of eight major field installations, White said, operated by more than 12,000 military and civilian personnel.

★ ★ ★

Recalling that Detroit was called the "Arsenal of Democracy" during World War II, he said, "We now share the opportunity to expand its effort in other fields of mobility — air, sea and land — to make Michigan, in a word, the mobility capital of the free world."

Vietnamese List One Survivor of Commie Ambush

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — Government officials disclosed today that only one South Vietnamese soldier survived an ambush by Viet Cong guerrillas that claimed the lives of 2 U.S. Army officers and 26 Vietnamese soldiers.

The survivor was reported undergoing treatment in a Vietnamese hospital. The extent of his injuries was not given.

The well-laid ambush took place along a road north of here Saturday. There was no indication how many guerrillas participated in the ambush.

The government said that four of the guerrillas who staged the ambush were killed Sunday by pursuing government troops and an undetermined number were killed Saturday by air strikes.

FBI Arrests Suspect in Detroit Robbery

CHICAGO (AP) — James Gallagher, 44, seized by the FBI in a small hotel here, has been named in a federal warrant charging unlawful flight to escape prosecution for a $3,200 Detroit robbery June 10.

The FBI said Gallagher and an unidentified companion used a submachine gun in the robbery of a farmer's market. Gallagher, who was held under $10,000 bond after a hearing Saturday, had been employed as a laborer in Plymouth, Mich.

Pope Urges Editors to Clarify News

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII yesterday urged Catholic newsmen to live up to their responsibilities at a time when the press, radio and television are exerting a growing power on the minds of men for better or for worse.

The pontiff was addressing the staff of the Milan Catholic newspaper Italia, marking its 50th anniversary.

"The rapid spread of information, on contrasting stands of the organs of public opinion, the growing possibility of the press and of audio-visual media to form or deform consciences face Catholic journalism with a constant commitment of clarification, of enlightenment, or orientation," the pope said.

RIVALS AT RALLY — Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin, facing camera, and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer shake hands on the speaker's platform at a rally outside West Berlin's city hall yesterday. The rally was held to mark the ninth anniversary of the anti-Communist uprising in East Germany. Adenauer, 86, and Brandt, his 48-year-old political rival, addressed an estimated 100,000 people who packed the square outside the city hall.

On Anniversary of E. German Revolt

Remove Soviet Sentries at Berlin Wall

BERLIN (UPI) — The Communists today withdrew two Soviet sentries who were stationed at the wall between East and West Berlin on the ninth anniversary of the East German workers revolt yesterday.

West Berlin police reported the two Russians, both armed, left the wall during the night. One had stood atop the Brandenburg Gate and the other was posted in a lower overlooking a border canal, an escape route for refugees.

It was the first time Russians had stood sentry duty on the border since the Communists built the wall Aug. 13.

The action apparently reflected Russian fears that trouble might break out on the anniversary of the June 17, 1953, revolt but there were no incidents.

Western officials believed it was in line with the Soviet determination to take "appropriate steps" to back up East German border guards in view of recent shootings across the border.

West Berlin police have been returning the fire of East German territory trying to stop refugees.

The East Germans also withdrew reinforcements sent to the border yesterday. West Berlin police said about 200 border guards and five armored personnel carriers left the wall area at 6 a.m.

CALLED 'PROVOCATION'

The Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland denounced as a provocation West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's brief visit to West Berlin yesterday to speak to a rally of 150,000 persons marking the revolt anniversary.

The paper said the visit was "illegal." The Communists do not consider West Berlin a part of West Germany. The newspaper said the U.S. Air Force "misused" the air space over East Germany by flying Adenauer in.

Adenauer told the rally that reunification of the two Germanys would come eventually because the Western allies are standing behind the people.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt told his people that "we will not give up."

Soviet Sailors Drown in Sight-Seeing Mishap

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — A boat carrying sightseeing Soviet sailors capsized Saturday in the lower Vistula River, drowning six of the Russians, the Polish Press Agency reported Sunday night.

Polish rescue teams pulled 12 other sailors from the rain-swollen river.

Escapes 1 Hole Only to Land Back in Another: Jail

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — James P. Winton, the wandering convict of San Quentin Prison, is back in his cell today after a bizarre escape attempt.

He didn't get outside. Instead, the 23-year-old Fresno burglar buried himself alive for five days 30 feet inside the prison wall he intended to go over early Sunday morning.

Winton came out of his hole carrying a 25-foot garden hose and a grappling hook for wall scaling.

A guard on the wall spotted him in the moonlight and marched him back into the maximum security area.

For a hiding place, the prisoner had dug a 7-foot trench 2 feet wide and 1 foot deep and covered it with old boards, newspapers and dirt. Winton took with him a bottle of water and six candy bars.

Both 'Objection' and Rain Delay Laos' Installation

By ANTOINE YARED

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Installation of Laos' new coalition government was delayed today by bad weather and Premier-designate Souvanna Phouma's objection to a phrase in the royal installation decree.

★ ★ ★

King Savang Vathana had been scheduled to install Prince Souvanna's new Cabinet this morning. But bad weather prevented the takeoff from the Plaines des Jarres of the plane bringing Souvanna and his pro-Communist half brother, Prince Souphanouvong.

Souphanouvong and right-wing Gen. Phoumi Nosavan will be deputy premiers of the new government.

PLANE DELAYED

The International Control Commission, which sent a plane to get the two princes, could not say when they would be able to come. Rain had flooded the airstrip at the Plaines des Jarres.

★ ★ ★

Informed sources said even after he arrived, Souvanna would not go ahead with the installation until the king's decree authorizing the new government was modified.

The sources said the neutralist prince objected to a phrase saying that the Laotian National Assembly had approved the coalition agreement Souvanna, Souphanouvong and Prince Boun Oum of the right-wing Vientiane government reached on June 12.

Souvanna reportedly argued that the Assembly action last weekend should not be mentioned because he and his pro-Communist allies do not recognize the rightist-controlled Assembly.

A PRIVATE AUDIENCE

Souvanna sent Quinim Pholsena, who will be foreign minister in the new government, to Vientiane to put his viewpoint before Gen. Phoumi. The premier-designate also arranged a private audience with the king immediately after his arrival to discuss the matter.

★ ★ ★

The two princes were preceded to Vientiane by 110 of Souvanna's neutralist troops and the same number from Souphanouvong's Pathet Lao force.

★ ★ ★

Britain meanwhile proposed to the Soviet Union that the 14-nation conference on Laos meet again in Geneva July 2 and that deputies prepare a final agreement to be signed by foreign ministers of the nations concerned.

★ ★ ★

Completion of an agreement guaranteeing Laotian neutrality had been delayed for months by the failure of the three princes to agree on a coalition government.

Scrambles, Charges, Then Turns Conservative in Play-off at Oakmont

Nicklaus Steals Script From Palmer to Win U.S. Open

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

OAKMONT, Pa. — Jack Nicklaus, who zoomed to stardom in amateur ranks during his collegiate days at Ohio State, stole the script from one of golf's greatest names, Arnold Palmer, to win the USGA Open championship yesterday in an 18-hole playoff at Oakmont Country Club.

He scrambled for two rounds, played a charging offensive game for two rounds and then stuck to conservative errorless golf to best Palmer in the playoff, 74-71.

★ ★ ★

The story of Nicklaus' success at Oakmont was told on the Greens which conquered all the big names including Palmer. He three-putted only once in the entire tournament and made every putt within five feet.

This was different from his 1960 rounds at Cherry Hills in Denver when he three-putted nine times and was the top amateur and runnerup to Palmer.

At Oakland Hills last year he tied Mike Souchak for fourth place with 284 and three-putted six times.

For Palmer it was a different story. He missed four putts during the tournament which were less than three feet, and over-all took 12 more putts than Nicklaus needed in the 90 holes.

CHANGED GRIP

"I've had this putter for five years and I've been very happy with my putting until these last three tournaments," Palmer said. "I even changed my putting grip in the middle of this round," he added, "but that didn't help."

The putting statistics do tell an important story.

These were the differences between Palmer and Nicklaus in the four rounds and the playoff:

First round: Palmer 35, Nicklaus 29

Second round: Palmer 31, Nicklaus 32

Third round: Palmer 38, Nicklaus 34

Fourth round: Palmer 34, Nicklaus 34

Playoff: Palmer 36, Nicklaus 33

Total: Palmer 174, Nicklaus 162

Nicklaus, who admitted he went to the first tee intent to play conservative golf yesterday waiting to see who would make the early mistakes, did not have to change his plans as Palmer got into trouble on his opening drive.

The ball went into a deep rough and his second shot then went over the green. His chip shot went 15 feet past the cup and two putts gave him a bogey.

★ ★ ★

On the third hole, Palmer again drove through but scrambled for his par.

On the fourth hole, it was Nicklaus who teed into trouble as Palmer drove down the middle 20 yards ahead.

But the big red head, playing with caution of Middlecoff, got back into the fairway and the green. His chip shot stopped 6 feet short and he dropped it for a birdie-4 while Palmer missed a 5-footer to settle for par and two stroke deficit.

On the par-3, 6th hole, Nicklaus gained two more strokes. He drove 8 feet from the pin and made the birdie, while Palmer started his first putt from 30 feet. It went 30 inches by and he missed it for the bogey.

It looked like the Latrobe, Pa., pro was going to make one of his story book finishes when he started with a birdie on nine. He chipped to five feet and dropped it, while Nicholas took a par.

★ ★ ★

A birdie-3 on 11 and a birdie-4 on the 12th hole a 598 yarder, had the partisan crowd screaming encouragement.

BEGAN TO THINK

What did Nicklaus think of at this moment?

"I thought Arnie was starting his typical move for the finish," said Nicklaus, "and if he had birdied 13, I was ready to stop thinking conservatively."

Hole No. 13 however was Palmer's downfall. "This definitely was my key hole of the day," said Palmer. "I just made a bad decision."

Palmer referred to the fact that he pulled out a 5-iron, then decided on a 4-iron and hit it softly. The ball went over into the top of the green, 60 feet from the pin. He three putted for the 9th time during the tournment for a bogey-4.

On the final hole, two strokes behind, Palmer hit a poor approach. Nicklaus also fell short Palmer pitched long and when he saw Nicklaus had only two putts, even with a bogey, he took a back handed swipe at the ball and went to concede the victory to his rival.

★ ★ ★

However, the backhanded swipe did not go into the hole and USGA officials requested he put the ball in the cup, which he did and thus by rules he had to take 3-putts and a 74 total.

Nicklaus is the third player to win the USGA Amateur and USGA Open within a one year span. Bobby Jones did it in 1930 and Chick Evans in 1916.

At 22, he is the youngest player to win the Open since Jones in 1923 when he was 21. He is the 9th to win the Amateur and the Open.

THE CHAMPION — Jack Nicklaus, a rookie pro, holds his trophies after defeating Arnold Palmer yesterday to win the U.S. Open golf tournament at Oakmont Country Club. He bested Palmer 71-74 in the 18-hole playoff.

Youth in Forefront of U.S. Golf Scene

OAKMONT, Pa. — A new breed, made up of a trio of ex-college stars, is moving to the front of the U.S. golf picture.

The three, Jackie Nicklaus, Phil Rodgers and Bobby Nichols, all played a big part in the 62nd USGA Open at Oakmont Country Club the past five days.

Led by Nicklaus, the booming driver from Ohio State who won the National Collegiate championship only a year ago, and who yesterday won over Arnie Palmer in the Open playoff, the three young pros are among the top seven money winners on the PGA tour this year.

★ ★ ★

When the third round of the open ended Saturday, the big names of golf were pushed out of the picture and Nicklaus, Nichols and Rodgers were giving veteran Palmer a run to the wire.

Rodgers, who could pass for Nicklaus' brother by all physical standards, distinguished himself in collegiate play in 1958 by winning the NCAA championship and leading the University of Houston to the team title.

Meanwhile, at Texas A&M, Nichols was playing golf because he got a football scholarship. The school didn't offer golf scholarships and Henry Ransom one of the great names in golf persuaded football coach Bear Bryant to get Nichols in school by this manner.

Rodgers, who shot at 74 in the first round, fired 3-under par for the next 36 holes on the rugged Oakmont course and pushed ahead of Nicklaus and only one stroke behind Palmer and Nichols after 64 holes with a 213 total.

PRESSURE MOUNTED

In the pressure-packed final round, Rodgers started No. 1 with a bogey-5. On No. 2 he shot a birdie-3; on No. 5 he sunk a 16 footer for a birdie-3; on No. 6 he took a bogey and on No. 9 he dropped a 12 footer for a birdie-4.

"When I looked up at the board on the 15th, I was one under at the time, and the rest would have to par in to beat me," he said. "This is where I lost it," he added, "I played the wrong roll on the green and three putted it."

Rodgers had two frustrating moments in the four rounds. He took an eight on the par-4, 17th hole in the first round and four putted the 10th green in the second round, taking a double-bogey 6.

When Rodgers faded out of contention on the 15th green; Nichols took the spotlight after a bad front nine of the final round. When he birdied No. 11 and No. 13 with 15 foot putts, the gallery raced to the 14th hole when the big board flashed him 1-under par.

★ ★ ★

"When I got that bird on 13, I thought I'd try to stay at par," said Nichols, "because I thought 283 would be good enough to win."

The 458 yard 15th, started Nichols to his downfall just as it did to Rodgers. He missed the green and had to chip before two putting for the bogey.

Nichols and Rodgers each picked up $5500 for their third place tie at 285.

Immediately behind Nichols was the twosome of Nicklaus and Maxwell, the big Buckeye hit the longest tee shot of the tournament off the 18th tee. It traveled fully 300 yards and 24,492 watched with amazement. When his first putt from 15 feet went four feet by, Nicklaus played like a veteran of a dozen opens. He knew he had to drop it with Palmer breathing right behind.

★ ★ ★

"My confidence was real high, I only three-putted once in the entire tournament. This one was too big to miss," he said. When it fell, the pressure then moved to Palmer, whose approach stopped three feet closer than Nicklaus.

IMPORTANT PUTT

As far as the record-breaking crowd was concerned there was nothing else on the course of interest, even though another dozen twosomes followed.

His first putt went 20 inches by and the USGA Open went into its 20th playoff in its 62 year history.

Car in Another Win

DES MOINES, IOWA (AP)—Harold Leep of Wichita, Kan., drove an Offenhauser to its second successive Hawkeye Futurity 50-lap auto race at the Iowa Fairgrounds Sunday. His time was 24 minutes, 36.27 seconds for the 25-mile route.

Goldy's Bat Helps Snap Losing Streak

Socks 2 Homers in Opener to Pace 8-5 Win

Then Old Ways Return as Bosox Dump Tigers in 2nd Game, 5-0

DETROIT (AP) — June is fade-out time for the spring phenoms—but Purnal Goldy is only beginning.

★ ★ ★

The kid who enchanted — and then disenchanted — manager Bob Scheffing at the Tigers' training camp has broken into the big time with a loud roar.

Goldy rocketed his first two major league homers yesterday —and the Tigers actually won a ball game. They snapped their seven - game losing streak with an 8-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox. But in the nightcap of their doubleheader the Tigers lost 5-0.

The opening game was Goldy's third as a big league regular. His second time up he hit a towering drive into the lower left field seats.

This was the Purnal Goldy of spring training, the hero of Lakeland, the player Scheffing said was exciting him, the rookie he said had the flowing rhythm of Joe DiMaggio.

And until Al Kaline recovers from his fractured collarbone next month, Goldy is the Tigers' right fielder.

'NO PRESSURE'

In the first weeks of spring training when he was the most publicized player in the Tiger camp, Goldy said he was having the time of his life.

"There's no pressure on me, so I can swing freely without worrying," he said. "I don't think I'm going to make the club anyway, How can I? Detroit has one of the best outfields in baseball."

Goldy was right. He didn't make the club. He stopped hitting. Before the exhibition games ended, he was on his way to Denver.

Now Goldy is back under pressure. Kaline will be out another month or so, Billy Bruton has been out a week and may return tomorrow or Wednesday against Washington.

★ ★ ★

"Goldy will be my right fielder for a while if he keeps it up," said Scheffing after yesterday's split. "I can't afford to take a .375 out of the lineup."

Goldy's homers twice lifted the Tigers back into ties with the Red Sox in the early innings of the opener. The Tigers were behind a third time before Norm Cash's homer and Larry Osborne's pinch double tied it again at 5-5 in the fourth. In the fifth the Tigers rallied for three runs, with Rocky Colavito's two-run blast breaking the deadlock.

Hank Aguirre picked up the victory with the most impressive Tiger relief performance this season. The lanky lefty pitched the last five innings and didn't allow a batter to reach base.

But the Tiger hitting stopped in the nightcap. Ike Delock held the Tigers to seven singles — one by Goldy. It was the second shutout for the Tigers in the four-game series.

MOMENTS OF GLORY — Detroit Tigers' rookie outfielder Purnal Goldy (5) gets a warm welcome in the dugout (left picture) after hitting a two-run homer, his first in the majors, in the second inning of yesterday's first game against the Red Sox. In the other picture, Carl Yastrzemski of the Bosox slides safely into second for a stolen base as Detroit's Jake Wood dives for the wide throw. The teams split the doubleheader.

Baseball Resurrection in Cleveland

By The Associated Press

The resurrection of Cleveland as a baseball town seems to be complete. After years of disappointing attendance and frustrating play by the Indians, the Tribe led the American League by two full games today after sweeping a four-game series from the New York Yankees.

It was like the old days of Bill Veeck and Co. as a roaring throng of 70,918, largest in the majors this season, lapped up a double victory over the Yanks 6-1 and 6-3, Sunday.

With only five more games to play against New York this year, the Indians have a 9-4 edge and are assured of at least a tie in the season series with their hated rivals.

TOP POSITION

By winning nine of their last 12 games while the slumping Yanks dropped seven out of eight, Cleveland has moved front and center as a most important pennant possibility.

Although it looks like a race to the wire the Indians are sitting pretty while the second-place Minnesota Twins and third - place Yanks are stumbling. At the moment, the hottest threat is Los Angeles, only a half game behind the Yanks after sweeping two from Chicago 5-3 and 6-5. Kansas City, too, is charging.

Red hot Kansas City stretched its winning streak to six by defeating the Twins again 10-8, another victory for the surprising Dave Wickersham who owns an 8-2 record. Norm Siebern's two homers were the big blows of a 12-hit attack against Jack Kralick and a long line of relief men.

Baltimore continued to revel in the surroundings at Washington's new stadium, beating the Senators for the sixth straight time in their home park. Jerry Adair drove in three runs and Hoyt Wilhelm shut the door on relief in a 4-3 victory.

THREE HOMERS

Jerry Kindall, Bubba Phillips and Jim Mahoney put the big Cleveland crowd in a holiday mood by hitting successive homers off Bill Stafford in the second inning of the opener. Dick Donovan rolled to his 10th victory, first pitcher to hit that mark in the American League although he had to be replaced in the seventh when he strained a thigh muscle.

Willie Kirkland's two-run homer routed starter Jim Coates in the second game in which Pedro Ramos required late inning help from Gary Bell to win his fourth.

★ ★ ★

Two homers by Leo Wagner (No. 18 and No. 19) and a fine relief job by Bo Belinsky turned the trick for the Angeles in the first game at Chicago. It was the first relief appearance of Bo, the no-hit wonder, who has been having difficulties lately on and off the field.

★ ★ ★

Siebern and Joe Azcue each lashed three hits in the A's attack against the Twins. Wickersham, who left the game because he was bothered by a back strain, has a 5-1 record since he became a starter May 22.

Wilhelm retired the first eight men he faced at Washington. With two out in the ninth he gave up a single, hit a batter and let loose a wild pitch before he got the final out.

Indians Trim Yanks Twice, Take 2-Game Lead

'It's Early'---McGaha

CLEVELAND (AP)—"It's only June. It's early," said Cleveland Manager Mel McGaha after his Indians swept four games from the stumbling New York Yankees to take a two-game lead in the American League.

★ ★ ★

McGaha feels 100 victories will be enough to win the pennant. The Indians have a 36-24 mark and are more than one-third of the way toward their goal.

The 35-year-old freshman manager wants no part of pennant talk with 102 games still to play. But the 70,918 happy fans—largest gathering in the majors this season—buzzed with pennant fever after seeing the Indians trounce the Yanks 6-1 and 6-3 Sunday at Municipal Stadium.

BIG SERIES

"These were crucial ball games and winning all four gave us a big lift," admitted McGaha. "If we get some consistency in our pitching, we'll be tough all the way. This team will score runs.

"I liked the way the hitters picked up each other in this series. All of the hitting wasn't concentrated in one or two of them. And this is a sound defensive team. That shouldn't change unless somebody gets hurt. It's a constant factor."

★ ★ ★

The Indians are riding high with triumps in nine of their last dozen games. The Yanks, bounced to third, three games off the pace and a game back of runner-up Minnesota, have lost seven of their last eight.

"I wouldn't say they have us on the run, but at the moment you might call it a slow retreat," said Ralph Houk, manager of the world champions. "Our ball club doesn't feel it's finished and there's no use crying in our beer.

"It was a tough series and certainly didn't help us in any shape or form. You've got to give credit to the Indians. They played good baseball."

ISSUES WARNING

Houk, still proud in defeat, had this parting word for newsmen:

"Yankee ball clubs have been toughest with their backs to the wall."

Houk said Mantle, sidelined from full-time service since May 18, probably won't get back in the line-up until the weekend series in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Whitey Ford, troubled by a sore shoulder, tested his arm in the seventh inning of the nightcap and retired the side 1-2-3, striking out two. Houk said Ford, a 25-game winner last season but only 3-4 this year, will start Wednesday in Baltimore.

"I just wanted Whitey to get the feel of the mound again," said Houk. "He hadn't worked in about 10 days."

California Soph, Oregon Hurdler Steal the Show

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—Four meet records were set Saturday at the 41st NCAA track and field championships but mighty Oregon's Jerry Tarr and California sophomore Roger Olsen stole the show.

★ ★ ★

Defending champion Tarr raced to victory in the high and 440-yard intermediate hurdles.

He won both in meet record times of 13.5 and 50.3 seconds, but the former was disallowed because of wind.

He outscored all but six teams as Oregon piled up 85 points to run away with the team championship.

The bespectacled Olsen, who had not won all season, came up with the meet's top clutch performance when he cleared 6 feet 10 inches on his final try in the high jump.

★ ★ ★

New meet records were set by Oregon's three-time mile champion, Dyrol Burleson 3:59.8; USC's Dallas Long, another three-time winner, who threw the shot 64 feet 7 inches; Villanova's Pat Traynor, who ran the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 8:46.8; and Tarr.

Phils Reversing Trend With Reds

By The Associated Press

What a difference a year makes in baseball.

If the Cincinnati Reds had to pick a team which contributed most to their 1961 National League pennant, Philadelphia would have won hands down. The Phils curled up and played dead at the mere sight of a Cincinnati uniform, losing 19 of 22.

The Reds are finding the Phils a different cup of tea in 1962. They came into Philadelphia fresh from shutout victories over the San Francisco Giants, only to lose three straight to the Phils.

WRECKING CREW

Roy Sievers and Don Demeter did the heavy damage Sunday, driving in five runs in a 7-2 rout of Jim O'Toole. The three straight gave Gene Mauch's young men an 8-5 edge over the '61 champs for the year.

While the Reds were stumbling, the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers finally snapped out of it and broke a three-game losing streak by beating Houston 6-2. The scrappy Colts had been making mischief in Walter O'Malley's splendiferous new stadium and had rolled up a four-game winning string.

★ ★ ★

The Dodgers needed that win, too, because the second-place San Francisco Giants polished off St. Louis 6-3 on a three-run homer by Tom Haller in the last of the ninth. As a result, the Dodgers still lead the Giants by one game.

Pittsburgh hopped on Warren Spahn, working with only three days rest, and banged out a 7-5 decision over Milwaukee behind little Harvey Haddix who struck out 10 Braves.

NEW SKEIN

The New York Mets, specialists in losing streaks, now have a new six-game string going after losing two to the Chicago Cubs 8-7 and 4-3. Home runs did the job for the Cubs. Rookie Lou Brock became the first player to hit a ball into the right center field bleachers in the Polo Grounds in the opener and Ron Santo cracked No. 10 with the score tied in the ninth inning of the second game.

★ ★ ★

Jack Baldschun of the Phils notched his second victory over the Reds in eight days when he came to the rescue of Paul Brown in the fourth inning at Connie Mack Stadium. Baldschun came in with the bases loaded and two runs in and struck out Leo Cardenas and got pinch hitter Wally Post on a pop fly.

★ ★ ★

Tom Davis' three-run homer enabled the Dodgers to come from behind against the Colts, Los Angeles, which had scored a total of six runs in its five previous games, broke out with five in the sixth inning against Ken Johnson, Dean Stone and Bob Tiefenauer. Ed Roebuck was the winner in relief of rookie Joe Moeller although Larry Sherry came on to get pinch hitter Pidge Browne on a game-ending double play.

EX-ILLINI STAR

Haller, a former University of Illinois quarterback, was the Giants' hero for the day with his homer off Ray Washburn. The Cards had fought back to tie the score at 3-3 in the eighth on a two-run homer by Red Schoendienst. Lindy McDaniel allowed only one hit in 5 1-3 relief innings before being lifted for a pinch hitter. Washburn quickly got into trouble in the ninth. He walked Jim Davenport and gave up a single to Jose Pagan before Haller hit his sixth homer.

★ ★ ★

Pittsburgh jumped on Spahn for three runs in the second inning, added one in the fifth and scored three more in the sixth. The big blow of the sixth was Cal Neeman's first homer of the year with a man on.

★ ★ ★

Brock's 460-foot homer was the talk of the day at the Polo Grounds. The rookie also doubled home the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning of the first game in which Ernie Banks slammed No. 18. Billy Williams' 14th homer tied the score in the seventh inning of the second game and Santo's shot off Vinegar Bend Mizell won it in the ninth.

2 Californians Favored in NCAA Tennis Duel

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Larry Nagler of UCLA and Rafael Osuna of Southern California rated as the singles favorites today as the NCAA Tennis Championships opened at Stanford University.

GOOD THINGS MUST END — Two unidentified young fans delayed the Cincinnati-Philadelphia game yesterday in Connie Mack Stadium when they ran onto the field to praise Frank Robinson of the Redlegs. Uniformed park attendants spoiled the fun by escorting the youngsters off the field and out of the stadium. The Phils won, 7-2.

Japanese Champs Next for Michigan

'Year of the Wolverine' at Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—As far as the newly-crowned NCAA baseball champions are concerned, it's the "Year of the Wolverine" and they plan to prove that when they journey to Hawaii this week to meet the collegiate champions of Japan.

All the way home from Omaha, Neb., it was "Hail, Hail to Michigan . . . the finest in the land," and the University of Michigan baseball squad went a long way to prove it when they took the collegiate world series from Santa Clara Saturday night, 5-4.

Now, the baseballers are faced with the enjoyable prospect of traveling to Hawaii for a best-of-three series starting June 22 and ending June 25.

★ ★ ★

The National Collegiate Athletic Association national baseball tournament final was a 15-inning marathon contest and relief pitcher Jim Bobel, who had had only one hit all year, broke the ice with a triple to score one run. He scored himself in the 15th with what looked like an insurance run when he scampered home on a wild pitch.

But Santa Clara's Broncos put the heat on in their half of the 15th and the wild pitch proved the downfall of Bob Garibaldi, who had pitched eight hitless innings in relief.

HELPED CAUSE

Bobel's two-out triple brought home Harvey Chapman, who had singled for the first hit off Garibaldi in his eight inning stint.

Sophomore Garibaldi was an iron man for Santa Clara, going 7⅓ scoreless innings Friday night when Santa Clara nipped Texas 4-3, to gain the finals in a 10-inning game.

In his two appearances Friday and Saturday, he struck out 20, 10 in each game.

He almost had a new life in the bottom of the 15th when John Boccabella singled, went to second on a wild pitch, moved to third on an error and scored on an infield out.

★ ★ ★

But Bobel, who shone in relief himself, was equal to the threat and struck out Ken Flanagan and got Reno Di Bono to pop out to end the longest collegiate diamond championship game in history.

Bobel gave up only two hits in the five innings he worked in relief in the final game.

It was a come-from-behind triumph for the Wolverines who spotted Santa Clara a single run in the second and then tied it in the fourth on Dick Honig's home run. Tom Arrieta delivered a two-run single in the fifth to five the Broncos the lead but Fritz Fisher, Michigan's starter, whacked a triple in the seventh to score two runs and tie the score, forcing the game into extra innings.

The longest previous championship game was the 1958 showdown in which Southern California nipped Missouri, 8-7, in 12 innings. In 1954, in a 14-inning prefinal contest, Oklahoma State defeated Arizona, 5-4.

Santa Clara's Boccebella was the only player on either team to get more than two hits. The big first baseman had a double and two singles in six times at the plate.

It was the second time that the Wolverines won the NCAA title. In 1953, their only other appearance, Michigan was the victor. The tourney has been played 16 times.

Rebuilt 'M' Nine NCAA Champions

OMAHA (AP) — Coach Don Lund's work in rebuilding Michigan after the major leagues stepped in with ready cash to take away two of his best players paid off in the NCAA Baseball Championship.

★ ★ ★

"I would have thought it questionable at the start of the season that we could go all the way," said Lund, whose Wolverines won the national championship Saturday night 5-4 in a 15-inning struggle with Santa Clara.

A year ago Lund developed a collegiate powerhouse, dominated by sophomores. His club won the Big Ten title, but missed making the NCAA tournament.

LURED ELSEWHERE

Then two of Lund's best sophomores succumbed to big league overtures and money. Catcher Bill Freehan, who set a Big Ten batting record with a .585 average, signed a $100,000 bonus contract with the Detroit Tigers, Mike Joyce, Lund's best pitcher, accepted a $35,000 offer from the Chicago White Sox.

Freehan and Joyce each had two years of eligibility remaining.

★ ★ ★

"It meant rebuilding what was a really good team," said Lund, a former major league and three-sport Michigan athlete himself.

"It was impossible to replace two guys like those we lost. They're championship ball players. But I guess my current crop is, too."

TWO CONVERTED

Lund took Harvey Chapman, a sophomore who didn't play freshman baseball so he could play spring football, and placed him at third base.

"I didn't know what he could do because I never saw him before," said Lund. "He did the job for me."

Lund reconverted Joe Merullo to catcher after he'd made him an infielder because he'd expected to have Freehan around three seasons.

West Siders Triumph to Retain Keg Lead

Using balanced scoring, West Side Recreation remained ahead of the pack in traveling league scoring by whipping Airway Lanes 11-5 yesterday. Huron Bowl nipped Wonderland 8-7 to tie Airway for 2nd.

Monroe Moore, Bob Richards and Jerry Perna each scored three points for West Side. Moore hit 224-209, Richards 224 and Perna 211-208. Arnie Osta led Airway with 215 for two points.

Six straight strikes by Joe Foster pulled out the Huron triumph. He had a 221 for four points. Bob Lowry added two on 212. Sid Harris garnered three points with 212 and Jack Ashton won a pair for 214 for winless Wonderland.

Top Putter Repeats

FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Neil Connor of Greenville, S.C., successfully defended his Professional Putters Association $5,000 eastern tournament title Sunday by firing a 58 for a 243 total. His first place money was $1,200.

Soccer Crown Stays in Brazil Due to Comeback

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Brazil fought back Sunday after being a goal down in the 11th minute and defeated Czechoslovakia 3-1 to retain the World Soccer Cup Championship.

★ ★ ★

The Brazilians won the title four years ago in Stockholm when they defeated Sweden 5-2. Only once before in the 32-year-old history of the championships has a team won two straight—Italy in 1934 and 1938.

★ ★ ★

The crowd of 70,000 saw Brazil forced to fight harder than at any time in the championship. Brazil scored twice in the second half after the teams tied 1-1 at intermission.

Frustrating 9-8 Loss for CIO in 'A' Loop

It was a most frustrating evening Sunday for the CIO Local 594 baseball team.

The CIO staged a gallant four-run rally in the top of the 7th inning to force an 8-8 deadlock, only to have Huron-Airway tally once in the bottom half of the same inning for a 9-8 Class A City League triumph at Jaycee Park.

Three times during the wild contest the Union squad fought back to tie the count, then saw all efforts go up in smoke.

Huron-Airway pitcher Jim Wagner won his own ball game in the 7th with a single which scored Chuck Johnson from 3rd base. The decisive run was unearned since Johnson reached 2nd on a costly infield error and moved to 3rd on a sacrifice.

★ ★ ★

Wagner was the 3rd Huron-Airway hurler to work. Larry Derrick started, gave way to Stan Krogulecki in the 6th and Wagner came to the hill in the 7th.

Joe Bosques, who relieved starter Larry Cates in the 6th, absorbed the loss.

The CIO was outhit, 8-6. Al Barkeley of Huron-Airway and the CIO's Mel Taylor each made two safeties.

AUBURN SOFTBALL WINNER

Auburn Bar tallied four times in the bottom of the 7th to nose out Bud & Louie's Bar, 9-8, in International division City League softball action last night at North Side Park. The losers scored four runs in their half of the 7th to take an 8-5 lead.

Chet Kubiak's single scored the deciding run for Auburn. Mike Fields blasted a solo homer in the 2nd for Bud & Lou's.

Jack Fisk hurled three-hit ball and his teammates gave him 10-hit support as Oakland Auto Supply trimmed Dixie Tool & Machine, 7-1, in another International game.

Defending city champion Sno-Boi thumped the Pontiac Police, 7-1, in American loop activity at Beaudette Park. Sno-Boi collected 13 hits, featuring three apiece by Cecil Hanes and Art Ruelle, and Floyd Hicks pitched a steady four-hitter.

Wightman Cup Won by Yanks; May End Series

LONDON (AP)—The 1962 version of the Wightman Cup Tennis Tournament, which has pitted the girls of England against those of the United States for 40 years, may have been the last.

This year's tourney ended Saturday with a 4-3 American victory.

★ ★ ★

The Cup was donated by Mrs. George W. Wightman who played on the first American team in 1923 and was non-playing captain from 1946-1948. The contest has been held yearly since 1923 except for the World War II period. The United States has won 28 times, Britain six.

Now there is general feeling the series is too exclusive. The girls want a tournament that is open to all and there is a plan afoot for starting a "DuPont Cup" tourney next year. The proposal is to come before the international tennis federation next month.

FOUR STRAIGHT

The DuPont Cup is to be donated by Mrs. Margaret Osborne duPont of Joseph, Ore., non-playing captain of this year's American Wightman Cup team.

★ ★ ★

The American girls, sparked by Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., ran off the first four matches of this year's tournament to a 4-0 lead. Then they coasted through, losing the final three.

Houston Ballplayers Dislike Various Tags

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Colts are unhappy because they are being referred to as the residue of the National League in some newspapers.

★ ★ ★

The Colts nade their feelings known to Houston Post sportswriter Mickey Herskowitz, who is traveling with the team, while in Los Angeles for a four-game series with the Dodgers.

The Dodgers came from behind to beat the Colts Sunday, 6-2, but that was after losing the first two games of the series. The Dodgers did, however, manage to hold a one-game league lead.

★ ★ ★

After two ex-Dodgers, Jim Golden and Dick Farrell, beat Los Angeles on successive nights, a story in one Los Angeles paper Sunday labled the Colts "castoffs" three times and "discount merchandise" once.

"If we're misfits," said catcher Hal Smith, "what does that make the clubs we've been beating?"

CURACAO, Netherland Antilles, (AP)—Bobby Fischer, teen-aged chess master from Brooklyn, N.Y., and Russia's Miroslav Filip drew after 23 moves in their Candidates tournament match Sunday night.

In other matches, Paul Keres and Victor Korchnoi, both of Russia, drew in 38 moves and Tigran Petrosian, the tournament leader, and Ewfim Geller of Russia drew in 18 moves.

Johansson to Rest After Title Victory

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Buoyant Ingemar Johansson took the European heavyweight title under his care today and said he had earned a rest before challenging either Floyd Patterson or Sonny Liston for the world championship.

★ ★ ★

Johansson was back as the pride of Sweden after demolishing tough Dick Richardson of Wales with an eighth-round knockout in the open air Ullevi Stadium Sunday night.

Ingo, boxing with cool calculation despite a cut left eye, dethroned the Welshman with a display of sheer power punching. More than 50,000 fans cheered him to the deep blue sky.

★ ★ ★

"Ingo is better now than he was in all of his three world title fights against Patterson," said Whitey Bimstein, Johansson's American trainer.

New Champion Certain in Southern Amateur

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The tradition-stepped Southern Amateur Golf Tournament starts a week-long grind today to name its 58th annual champion.

Most of the best amateurs in Dixie are in the .60-man field except Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., who decided not to defend his 1961 title because of his lumber business.

Cornell Rowers Win

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — "Bring on the Russians," whopped Cornell's Big Red today as they finished celebrating their decisive victory in the Intercollegiate Rowing Association Championships.

Now it was back to work for Coach Stork Sanford's strapping sweep swingers who voted to take on the Soviet eight in the Independence Day Regatta on the Schuylkill at Philadelphia.

HE WALKED AWAY — At first glance it appears that Finnish athlete Timo Koshela is crawling from under a pile of fallen bricks at a Helsinki sports meeting. Actually, the "bricks" are foam rubber blocks to break a pole vaulter's fall, which is becoming quite a problem since vaulters are going higher than ever before.

No Fences in College Ball Parks

Purnal's a Sprinter After Homers

DETROIT (UPI)—Purnal Goldy looked like a 100-yard dash man running the bases yesterday after his first two major league home runs.

★ ★ ★

"I'm used to college and semi-pro parks where they don't have fences," explained the Detroit Tigers' long-legged new outfielder. "You have to run fast or sometimes you don't make it. As you can see. I don't hit too many homers."

Goldy, the 24-year-old righter, has been hitting at a .375 clip since his promotion from Denver.

Although he started spring training at Lakeland, Fla., by hitting home runs and socked two yesterday, he doesn't consider himself a slugger.

"I'm strictly a line drive hitter," he says.

COLLEGE STAR

Goldy was scouted while on the Temple University campus by Ed Katalinas, chief Tiger scout, in 1958, and signed the same year by Rabbit Jacobson.

He hit .300 his sophomore year in college and batted .350 during his junior year. "I signed with the Tigers because they were the only major league club to show any interest," he said.

His unusual first name comes from his father's Scotch-English ancestry. When he pronounces it, the name comes out something like "Purrn-ll," with the accent on the first syllable. "If I ever become famous, they'll have to give me a name like Babe or Bud," he says.

When recalled from Denver this season, Goldy was hitting .302. His minor league home run totals don't jibe with his own appraisal of his slugging.

At Knoxville in 1960, he posted a .324 mark with 106 runs batted in and 20 homers for the league title. Last year he hit .351 at Birmingham in 88 games, and .305 at Denver in 40 games.

REGAN FINED

The umpires' get-tough policy with brushback pitches cost Phil Regan $50 and manager Bob Scheffing's second ejection this season yesterday.

The Tiger manager and Regan were steaming about it afterwards.

Regan plunked Jim Pagliaroni in the ribs with his first pitch after Pete Runnels cracked a home run in the 5-0 nightcap loss to Boston.

Plate umpire Larry Napp immediately went out and fined Regan $50 in accordance with American League rules. Scheffing stormed from the dugout and after a vehement argument, Napp booted him from the game.

Fires Closing Birdie for 2nd Tour Triumph in Succession

ROCKTON, Ill. (AP) — Sandra Haynie fired a birdie on the 54th and final hole of the Rockford Cosmopolitan Women's Golf Open Sunday to cop a two-stroke victory over runner-up Ruth Jessen.

★ ★ ★

The tiny winner from Fort Worth, Tex., went into Sunday's final round with a three-stroke lead and her par 72 on the final 18 gave her a total of 210. Miss Jessen of Seattle, Wash., broke par by a stroke to finish with a 212.

Betsy Rawls, the 1961 Rockford champion, came in three strokes over par at 219 for an 11th place finish.

The triumph was the second in a row for Miss Haynie. The 18-year-old newcomer to the women's tour won the Austin, Tex., Civitan a week ago. Sunday's victory was worth $1,200.

★ ★ ★

Defending amateur champion, Loi Draske of Lagrange, Ill., shot a final round of 78 for a 225 total, barely edging Ann Casey Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa.

The women professionals will play at Plainfield, N.J., beginning Thursday.

7-Irons Produce 3 Weekend Aces at Area Courses

Seven-iron shots produced three holes-in-one at Oakland County golf courses during the weekend. Two aces came at Bald Mountain and the other at Twin Lakes.

Andrew Cherewick of Southfield and Pontiac's Ed Jones were the hole-in-one makers at Bald Mountain.

Cherewick aced the 170-yard 17th hole, the 3rd ace on that hole this season, and finished his round with a 90. Jones posted his ace on the 155-yard 8th hole, the first on that hole this year. Jones shot 83.

While Bald Mountain's ace total was rising to four, Clarkston's Dave Westlund boosted Twin Lakes' total to three by sinking his tee shot on the 165-yard 4th hole. Tom Swanson and Dennis and Matthew Mahar were Westlund's witnesses.

Mickey Cochrane is working on a two-year scouting contract with the Detroit Tigers.

WLYA Winners Named

Charles Morris won the snipe race Sunday afternoon in the weekly Watkins Lake Yachting Association races. Ben Weber took 2nd and Fred Poole finished 3rd.

Thistle honors went to Carl Krietz in the WLYA's other divisional race. Norm Ledwan nosed out Harm Gillam by four inches for 2nd position.

Idyl Wyld's the Culprit

Bald Mountain Drops 1st

Bald Mountain went down to its first defeat and Morey's No. 1 broke into the victory column to highlight Sunday's team play in the Michigan Publinx Golf League.

Cecil Priest fired a 73 to pace Idyl Wyld's 13½-8½ victory over Bald Mountain. Pontiac's Ed Wasik shot a 75 in a losing cause.

Good scoring balance led Morey's to a 19-3 rout of Lilac Brothers. Ray Cane won the medal with a 73, followed by Charlie Barker's 74 and Glen Harding's 75.

Mike Andonian and Bill Martin each carded 76 to feature Sylvan Glen's 20½-11½ rout of Rammler.

Wakely Pepoon rifled 74 to pace Glenhurst to a 19-3 triumph over Romeo No. 2.

Morey's No. 2 stayed in the thick of the Red Division race behind front-running Sunnybrook with a 19-3 trouncing of Clarkston.

Bill Curtis shot a scorching 68 to lead the way while Roy Iceberg carded 75 and Ron Rothbarth 78.

REAL FIRST — A Florida course claims to have employed the first girl caddies in the United States, but Mrs. Anna MacArthur of Oakland, Calif., has proof it isn't so. Here's the lady in 1906, when she was a 13-year-old bag-toter at a hotel in Frontenac, N.Y. She got 25 cents a bag for nine holes.

19th Racing Slate Starts at Northville

More than 8,000 harness racing fans are expected to pour into Northville Downs tonight for the opening of a 42-night campaign.

★ ★ ★

For Northville, the state's pioneer standardbred track, it will be the 19th opening as the 'Downs shows off its enlarged multimillion grandstand and plant for the first time.

The $1,500 Inaugural Trot attracted a field of eight of the fastest trotters on the grounds including such standouts as Reyphell and Vera Riddell, fresh from successes in Canada and Practitioneer and Princess Aileen, who were tops in the Chicago area.

The local contingent lists Neil Boardman's Timely Way, Bob Farrington's Highley's Song, Joe Marsh's Ralph Abbe and Harold McKinley's Tonie Hanover.

Post time for the first race is 8:30 p.m.

Moving into the opening weekend, Northville Downs will present the first of six $5,000 invitational exchange events Friday night.

It will be pacers in the spotlight in the event with entrants from Ohio, Chicago and Canada as well as the regulars who headline the Hazel Park meeting which closed last Saturday.

Racing Secretary Bill Connors sights a field of eight for the inaugural invitational with Ronnie C. Grattan and Carolwyn Grattan, a pair of Canadian speedsters, as the early favorites.

Pitted against the pair from across the border will be Fortune's Treasure, from the Russell Thuney stable; Mary's Joan and Vite Volo, who arrived recently from Ohio; and Butch Harmony from the Joe Marsh Jr. barn.

★ ★ ★

Others in the field: Bill Rainbow, the fast-moving veteran from the Don Mc Ilmurray stable; Doug Ackerman's Peachadon, and Royal Worthy who carries the colors of Hoyt Wilson of Walled Lake.

Fisherman's Tale Told Like Beaver

LINCOLN, Neb. (NEA) — Donald Heck of Omaha has a new kind of fish tale to tell.

While angling below Gavins Point on the Missouri River, something hit his line hard. Heck set the hook and reared back — and the battle was on. After a prolonged struggle, his catch surfaced. It was a beaver, hooked by its front foot.

The Beaver took one look at the fisherman, dove and took off.

Heck wound up with a piece of fur.

Ex-Boxing Champ OK After Stabbing

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Rudy Lee Davis, winner of the 1961 heavyweight boxing title of the National Amateur Athletic Union, was listed in satisfactory condition at Temple University Hospital today with multiple stab wounds of the chest and back.

★ ★ ★

Davis, 23, who quit the ring because of a physical ailment after winning five of six professional bouts, was attacked by 10 thugs yesterday, while walking with two companions. Davis was a stabbing victim last March during a tap-room brawl.

Police said Davis was walking with James Coleman, 23, and Marvin Crump, 21, when one of the gang pointed to Davis and said, "That's the one."

Some of the men held Coleman and Crump while their confederates swarmed over Davis. Neither Coleman nor Crump was injured.

The Pittsburgh Pirates have the major league's oldest rookie in Diomedes Olivo, a lefthanded pitcher who had an 11-7 record last year with Columbus in the American Association. He describes his age as "fortyish."

THE PALMER METHOD

PACE YOUR SWING

Each time you step up to the ball, think of the pace you intend to use in your swing. Don't be anxious to swing; let your movements be deliberately smooth -- not hurriedly jerky.

Every backswing should be started with great thought, since there is time to think at this point. Keep the wrists passive and unbroken as you swing the clubhead away from the ball.

Even the downswing should be started deliberately. Save that "extra" power for the actual impact. There are many ways to start the downswing, but any method that keeps your wrists cocked and your right hand "out of action" until later is OK with me. Once you have started down -- concentrate on giving the ball a solid whack.

Prepare Right Now for College Study

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED.D.
Professor of Education, University of Southern California

June graduates, the time to start preparing for college is now — not September!

★ ★ ★

The difference between your senior year in high school and your freshman year in college represents the greatest single change in your educational life.

DR. NASON

For the first time, the responsibility for learning will be almost completely in your hands.

The way you accept it will set your study pattern for the next four years.

STUDENT DOWNFALL

The first semester of college has been the downfall of many students.

★ ★ ★

The teacher no longer outlines every step of the assignment. Parents no longer are on hand to supervise study. It seems so easy that students are lulled into a false sense of security.

And, worst of all, you will have to assume these new responsibilities in an atmosphere filled with new temptations — football games, sorority and fraternity rushing and parties, new friends, new entertainment opportunities.

★ ★ ★

For most students, the first shock of reality comes after six or eight weeks with the first tests. Don't wait for the midterm disappointment to learn what your college expects of you. Learn it now, before you are caught up in the new routine.

For the past few summers, I have helped many students prepare for the first shock of college work. All of them have been successful. Here is my recommended plan:

TRY THIS PLAN

—A month before the beginning of school, try to get copies of the textbooks used in the courses you will take. Study them in a general way so that nothing in the course will surprise you.

If any part of the text appears to be difficult, find other, more elementary materials that will give you better background. Some students go all the way back to books for children.

★ ★ ★

— Outline the first chapter in the college textbook. Learn all the new words. When college instructors start lecturing they expect their students to begin listening and understanding right away.

—Take a notebook to class the first day — and take notes in it the first day. The first day notes may not be important but the habit of note-taking is vital.

—Keep a careful watch on assignments, particularly due dates. Don't expect the instructor to keep reminding you. He will not spoon-feed you the way high school teachers did.

—Start a sensible study program on the first day of college. Learn when, what and how to study. Lack of these skills is responsible for most college failures.

A good way to start setting up a sensible study program is to get a copy of my booklet, "You CAN Get Better Grades," which contains the answers to most student study problems.

The first semester of college is the most important. Don't let failure shake your confidence at the very start. Don't let your instructors get a bad first impression of your abilities.

Be prepared!

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

When there is only one place to collect an important trick, that's the place to go after it. Don't give up merely because you don't see much chance to get it.

Had West opened a diamond, South's doubtful game contract would have collapsed immediately. But West was not clairvoyant and he opened a heart.

East took his ace and looked around for a way to set the hand. He could count on two sure trump tricks. Would repeated heart leads embarrass declarer?

They would if declarer had a four trump suit, but that was out of the question. He surely held five of them.

How about sitting back and waiting? Also hopeless! South surely held five spades and the ace and queen of clubs. Once South drew trumps he could drop his losing diamonds on dummy's club suit.

By a process of elimination, East had come down to the diamond suit as the only possible lead.

That did not look promising either, but East played his nine of diamonds hopefully. West did not hold any face cards, but he did hold the ten of diamonds and eventually East took a diamond trick and the contract was set.

★ ★ ★

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle up for SAGITTARIUS, CAPRICORN, AQUARIUS. Day when emotions rule when persons in limelight apt to make blunder. Best not to "bet" on favorites. Day appears to be spotlighted by the unusual, the "upset."

Profit Taking Halts Gains

Market Registers Sharp Loss

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market showed a fairly sharp loss early this afternoon as trading slowed following an active morning.

The list was up sharply at the opening in a resumption of Friday's rise, then profits were taken quickly and gains were converted to losses.

The ticker tape ran as much as 12 minutes late. One million shares changed hands in the first hour and a total of two million in the morning.

As trading wore into the afternoon, tobaccos still held a string of moderate gains. Steels were unchanged to slightly lower. All the motor stocks were off. Rails were mixed.

International Business Machines, after rising at the start, showed a loss of about 16 points at worst, then cut the decline to about 4.

American Telephone erased a fractional advance and showed a net loss exceeding a point.

Losses of more than a point were taken also by Sears, Roebuck, Woolworth, International Telephone, Santa Fe, and Johns-Manville.

Fractional gains were held by Reynolds Tobacco, Lorillard, and Liggett & Myers, American Tobacco was steady.

Among the auto stocks, Ford was off around a point while fractional declines were shown by General Motors, Chrysler, American Motors and Studebaker-Packard.

Radio Corp. was delayed in opening due to a large number of sell orders. It was off about a point in the afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Prices declined in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Losses of a point or so were taken by Symtex, Aerojet-General, Canaveral International, Permian, and Cinerama.

U.S. Bond Prices Down

NEW YORK (AP) — Government bond prices declined at the opening of trading today. Corporates were mixed in New York exchange dealings.

Over the counter dealers in treasury securities quoted long bonds off 4/32 to 6/32 and intermediates down 2/32 to 6/32 in quiet trading.

In exchange trading of corporates few moves amounted to a full point outside the convertible section. Rails appeared a shade higher and utilities a bit lower. Industrials were mixed.

She's Sue Lyon of 'Lolita'

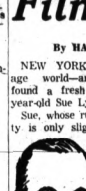
Filmdom Finds Cinderella

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The teen-age world—and filmdom—have found a fresh Cinderella in 15-year-old Sue Lyon.

Sue, whose ruinous blonde beauty is only slightly marred by a rash of adolescent pink chin pimples, is living proof that baby sitting is not a deadend career.

"As a baby sitter the least I made was 50 cents an hour, and the most I made was $1.75—when I sat six children," confided Sue, star of the controversial film, "Lolita."



BOYLE

Miss Lyon, who never took a real acting lesson in her life, is currently signed to a seven-year contract that will springboard her from $225 a week to $78,000 a year—and maybe much more.

The movie moguls who picked Sue Lyon to nowhere are wringing their hands in joy.

It cost them about $1.5 million to make "Lolita," the story of a middle-aged professor's obsessed love for a nymphet. But they confidently expect it will ring up $10 million or more at the box office.

2 TV ROLES

The had performed only two small television roles when she was picked over hundreds of applicants to portray "Lolita."

The swift transition from anonymity to stardom has left an inevitable mark on one so young. She swings from naivete to an almost breathless sophistication. One moment she talks like the girl next door—and the next moment like Tallulah Bankhead.

She now has the same hairdresser and the same clothes designer as Jacqueline Kennedy.

But success has its price. She has to ration her chocolate sodas and lobster casseroles.

"Rich foods mar the complexion," she said wistfully.

Sue also said the morning after the premiere of her maiden film performance:

"I'm not worried about ever being out of work again. I was so excited I read the reviews 60 times.

★ ★ ★

"I hope this doesn't make any real difference in my life. I'm as happy as I am.

"I just stopped biting my nails.

"I adore Marlon Brando, Jewish food and baseball.

"I think television is a terrible waste of time for the American teen-ager.

"I wear my hair half-up and half-down and with bangs—because foreheads aren't pretty. I always wear a velvet bow, and I make the bows myself.

WANTS MARRIAGE, CHILDREN

"I cook, clean and sew. My upper lip vibrates when I'm nervous.

"At this point I want to be an actress, have a happy marriage and children. But I think marriage is the most important thing in life to a woman, whether she is a waitress or an actress or a ditch digger—or anything.

"The reason I want a lot of children is that it is a marvelous thing to grow up in a big family and know that all of them love you.

★ ★ ★ ★

"I used to sing in the church choir. Math is my favorite subject—I got 96.5 in algebra.

★ ★ ★ ★

"My favorite poet is Edna St. Vincent Millay. Sometimes I cry when I read poetry. I like any film that has a happy ending.

"No, I'm not going steady now. I did for a while, but I decided it was like having clamps on.

"I don't know what I'll do next. I've only played one part, so I've got a long way to go before I run out of things to do.

★ ★ ★ ★

"I've never been in a hot rod, or ridden on the buddy seat of a motorcycle."

★ ★ ★ ★

Sue is the youngest of five children. Her father died when she was 10 months old.

Linda Has Simple Title for Her First Book

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Modest, self-effacing Linda Christian is planning to title her first book — which concerns many of her romantic adventures — by the simple, homey title, "Linda . . . or perhaps: "Linda Christian."

We have never seen a book brought out merely with the author's name as the title . . . but why not?

Husband Edmund Purdom says, furthermore, that the book may be illustrated by a picture of Linda done by Diego Rivera. One day in Mexico Linda, then a young girl, met Rivera, who, without preliminaries, said, "You will pose for me!"

"If I can watch you paint me," bargained Linda . . .

WILSON

Darryl Zanuck, back in NY from Europe, is being urged by some stockholders to "become the saviour of your company" and return to the helm of Century-Fox. He is refusing, at the moment, at least, "for personal reasons" . . . More and bigger heads are to roll at 20th-Fox . . . Another raiding party is going to LA, may lop off certain other executives. . . . Joan Bennett sided with her ex-husband Walter Wanger in the battle over his "Cleopatra" pay slash, Wanger assured her he'll stay in Rome working on the picture till it's finished.

Lady named Mrs. Morris Bauer phoned from Houston to say: "I just think it's awfully nice, you trying to help Eddie Fisher make his comeback. He's just had so much punishment from that girl!" I asked whether she's go to see Liz Taylor on the screen again. "NEVER!" she said.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Saverio Saridis, the cop-turned-singer, visited voice coach Carlo Menotti — and then found a parking ticket on his car. The "Lolita" producers told James Mason not to bring his daughter to Portland to the N.Y. premiere — she's under 18 and wouldn't get in . . . Tony Perkins donned dungarees and helped rebuild his house in the W. 50s. . . . Carol Burnett was asked at the Voisin how she liked her TV spec, and she said, "Well . . . I loved Julie Andrews . . ."

Shirley Jones'll invest some of her "Music Man" loot in tennis courts . . . The State Department wants Connie Francis to tour Poland.

EARL'S PEARLS: It's easy to recognize the fellow who owns his own home—he's always coming out of a hardware store.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Henry Lascoe says his daughter has her summer all planned — she found an airconditioned phone booth.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Good breeding is what enables a person to wait at the counter in well-mannered silence—while the loudmouth gets the service.

Money travels so fast these days, notes Quote, that the germs on it get airsick. That's earl, brother.

Parents Fail, Drown, Too

MIDLAND (AP) — A parked car, some picnic objects along shore and an empty inflatable raft led to the discovery yesterday that a family of three and a neighbor boy had drowned in a murky pond.

Fuller M. Lovett, about 56, of rural Bay County, and his wife Lottie, 47, apparently trying to rescue their son Ronald, 9, and Donald Curtis, 10, drowned with the youngsters in the pond beside a freeway under construction.

The bodies of Lovett and his wife were recovered still fully clothed. The two boys wore bathing suits.

Ervin Baker, 27, who lives near the pond, said he drove by about 3 p.m. and saw a parked car and some people in the water.

Baker said he drove by again two hours later and saw the car still there, but no one in the water. He found picnic objects, shoes, some coins and a woman's purse along the shore and saw an inflatable raft and a red object floating in the 150-by-400-foot pond.

★ ★ ★

After going home to call the Bay County Sheriff's Department, Baker returned, swam out and found Mrs. Lovett's body. The red object was her blouse. Baker said she still was wearing eyeglasses.

★ ★ ★

The tragedy headed a list of 15 drownings in Michigan over a warm weekend. One other person was missing.

TRAFFIC TOLL 15

A traffic toll of 15, a fire death and an electrocution brought to 32 the number of weekend accidental deaths in the state.

The Associated Press accidental death count covers the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

Alex Shibley, 40, Detroit, was the apparent victim of a heart attack before his auto collided with another at a Detroit intersection Saturday.

Malvin T. Frazier, 39, Crete, Ill., was killed Saturday near Three Rivers when his truck left the road and struck a tree.

Two Ohio men, James D. Fairbanks, 28, Delta, and Woodrow W. Culp, 36, Wauseon, and Geraldine Osburn, 18, of Morenci were killed when their car hit a utility pole and burned near Adrian Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Clayton Parrott, 46, of Grand Rapids, was killed Friday night when the pickup truck in which he was riding struck an asphalt roller near union pier.

John Hodges, 27, of Saginaw, was killed Saturday in a two-car head-on collision on M15 in Tuscola County.

An unidentified pedestrian, about 35, was struck and killed by a car on the Red Arrow highway in Watervliet Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Thomas Peterson, 22, a Hillsdale college student from Steubenville, Ohio, was killed Saturday when his car ran off a curve in Hudson Township, Lenawee County.

Frederick Schenk, 21, Livonia, was killed Friday night when his motorcycle struck an auto in Detroit.

Betty Smith, 19, of Kalamazoo, was killed Friday night when the car in which she was riding overturned five miles north of Kalamazoo.

Mrs. Agaethia Kulice, 71, of Benton Harbor, was killed Sunday when the car in which she was riding was involved in a two-car accident in Benton Harbor.

Hope Today's TWA Talks May Halt Tuesday Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg opened new peace talks today aimed at averting a threatened flight engineers strike Tuesday afternoon on Trans World Air lines.

At Goldberg's request the Air Line Pilots Association, rival to the flight engineers in a dispute over jet plane cockpit jobs, sent along a team of negotiators.

H. S. Dietrich, chairman of the TWA chapter, failed to show up for the start of the talks.

Goldberg's office said he sent word he would be late. The engineers were represented by an attorney, Asher Schwartz, New York.

Working with Goldberg for a TWA settlement were Undersecretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Nathan P. Feinsinger, Wisconsin University law professor and a special government mediator.

★ ★ ★

Sunday the engineers withdrew strike threats on Pan American World Airways and Eastern Air Lines and decided to concentrate for the moment on TWA.

The TWA strike presently is set for 1:30 p.m.' (Pontiac Time) Tuesday.

Last week the Flight Engineers International Association, AFL-CIO, postponed a strike against TWA and two other major carriers, Pan American World Airways and Eastern Air Lines, while Goldberg and a team of federal mediators tried to work out a settlement. The talks failed, but President Kennedy issued a stern warning to the flight engineers to settle the dispute without a strike.

Union President R. A. Brown took note of the President's admonition in a statement Sunday. He said the strike would be limi-

EDWARD G. ROBINSON

Edward G. Robinson Has Heart Attack

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Actor Edward G. Robinson was reported seriously ill in a hospital in northern Tanganyika after a heart attack early today.

★ ★ ★

Robinson, who is 68, is making a movie in the area. The company is camped at 6,000 feet on a 15,000-foot mountain near Mt. Kilimanjaro.

A heart specialist was flown there from Nairobi to attend the film star.

★ ★ ★

The film group's doctor had left to drive to Nairobi, 200 miles away, a few hours before Robinson became ill. The doctor himself is in the hospital now—his car crashed a few miles outside Arusha and he was injured.

A few weeks ago Robinson broke his right thumb when he shut a car door on it.

Hoffa Out to Fight JFK on Pay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, has accused President Kennedy of using police-state tactics to freeze workers' pay scales at less than a living wage.

★ ★ ★

Hoffa also said Kennedy is trying to cripple the labor movement and that the Teamsters are going to organize politically to do something about it.

★ ★ ★

He expressed his views at a news conference Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The union can muster four million votes for the 1964 presidential election, Hoffa claimed. It would do so through the proposed political arm of the Teamsters—DRIVE Democrat Republican Independent Voter Education.

★ ★ ★

DRIVE's purpose, said Hoffa, is to weld Teamsters and their families into a solid bloc for local, state and national campaigns. Included in the plan of action are massive letter-writing efforts to congressmen that Hoffa estimated could produce one to two million letters on any issue.

★ ★ ★

Hoffa said DRIVE would not be a third, or labor party. He added that he had no plans to run for political office himself.

FAA Rejects Plans for Area Jetliner Port

Letter States Lack of Air Space Makes Site Near City Unacceptable

The Federal Aviation Agency has rejected plans for the proposed multi-million-dollar jet airport north of Pontiac, U.S. Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County) announced today.

He quoted a letter he received today from J. M. Beardslee, FAA Central Region assistant administrator at Kansas City, as stating:

"Regarding the proposed Oakland County Airport, our preliminary study reveals that it would be unacceptable for lack of air space."

The letter further states, according to Broomfield, that the proposed airport in Pontiac and Orion townships, approximately a mile north of the city limits, would "conflict in instrument flight rules for air space to Flint's airport, Selfridge Air Force Base near Mount Clemens, Detroit City Airport, and the Air Route Traffic Control Center for Pontiac Municipal Airport."

★ ★ ★

Also, plans for an instrument landing system at Pontiac Municipal Airport, if approved, would provide for an east-west secondary approachway, which would be in direct conflict with the proposed airport less than eight miles away to the east-northeast, quoted Broomfield.

NO FURTHER INVESTIGATION

While the FAAs' rejection of the county's airport plans was based entirely on air space requirements, the letter stipulated that the FAA had no intention of proceeding further with its investigation.

The news was unofficial and had not been received yet by the County Board of Supervisors.

The board on Feb. 16 approved spending $363,710 to acquire the initial 445 acres comprising the private Allen Airport on Giddings Road and adjacent property. This property was intended to serve as a nucleus for further expansion as needed.

In exercising land purchase options, the county already has spent $147,654 and is bound by contracts to spend an additional $209,842, according to the auditors.

The purchases have been made at an average $600 per acre.

RIOT-TORN PENITENTIARY — Aerial view of St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary near Montreal shows smoke from fires set by inmates during a violent riot yesterday. The prisoners set fire to their cells and lower floors of the prison. The blaze destroyed six buildings in the prison compound and the inmates had to spend the night in the open under the guard of armed troops.

Troops Guard Inmates After Bloody Revolt

30 Persons Wounded in Penitentiary Near Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) — Steel-helmeted troops stood guard today amid the smoking ruins of St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, set ablaze by 1,100 convicts in a bloody riot that left 30 persons wounded.

None of the convicts managed to escape, but some were gunned down while trying to scale the walls.

"We had to shoot when they tried to escape or occupy other buildings," said Warden Michael LeCorre, "but we did not shoot to kill."

The six-hour battle was finally ended after more than 200 troops in full battle dress joined guards and police, herding the convicts at bayonet point into a group inside the compound.

BUILDINGS DESTROYED

Six of the 15 prison buildings were gutted. Others were damaged to varying degrees. Officials figured the damage to the old maximum security prison just northeast of Montreal would come to between $2 million and $3 million.

Firemen hampered by lack of water fought early today to quell flames in the main building housing cell blocks and administrative offices.

Twenty-seven prisoners were injured by flames or bullets as guards fired on convicts armed with stones, knives, zip guns and Molotov cocktails — gasoline-filled jars set afire by a rag wick. Three guards were hurt.

After the riot leaders were weeded out, about two thirds of the prisoners were put under some kind of shelter for the night. The rest were herded against a prison wall and had to spend the night outdoors in 30-degree weather because no buildings were available.

Prison officials said they had been unable to determine the cause of the riot, which flared in mid-afternoon during the exercise period.

Warden LeCorre said he was sure the riot had been well planned. He said flames belched from six of the 15 buildings simultaneously and at the same time

Moslems and OAS Join to Halt Terror

ALGIERS (AP)—A pact between the Secret Army Organization and Moslem Nationalists brought a halt today to the Secret Army's scorched earth campaign in Algiers and Oran, the two major cities.

Neither arson nor bomb attacks had been reported in the greater Algiers area by noon.

The morning also passed quietly in Oran, the extremist European stronghold in the west.

A pirate broadcast from Oran, however, raised the prospect that the Secret Army group based there might not abide by orders from Algiers to end the campaign of destruction and death.

PEACE IN ALGIERS

There was unaccustomed peace within Algiers.

Groups of Moslems emerged from their barricaded quarters and mixed with Europeans in some parts of the city.

Half-tracks loaded with troops stood by for any emergency while helicopters hovered over the city.

"The news from Algiers must be heard with caution," the Secret Army in Oran said of an announced agreement with the Moslem National Liberation Front FLN.

"For the moment we do not have enough information to make any comment. We are keeping intact our means of action."

Most of the deserter colonels forming the Secret Army's military command are hiding in the Oran area.

In recent weeks they obviously have been acting independently of the Algiers group which carried on the negotiations with the Moslems.

The Algiers order called for a halt to arson and murder as of midnight.

This Secret Army broadcast followed separate announcements by the FLN and the Algiers extremists Sunday that they were ending their bloody feud to join forces in building a new Algeria.

Through Dr. Chewki Mostefai, FLN representative in the provisional Algierian executive, the Moslem nationalists promised an amnesty for the Secret Army terrorists who have killed an estimated 2,000 Moslems in the year or more that they have been operating. European settlers were promised a new future in the Supreme Court Agrees to Eye 'Unconstitutional' Georgia Unit System

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to review a decision holding unconstitutional Georgia's county unit vote system used in Democratic primaries.

The decision, by a three-judge federal court in Atlanta, was appealed to the high tribunal by the Georgia state Democratic party and Eugene Cook, Georgia's attorney general.

The three-judge court declared the system as presently constituted resulted in an "invidious discrimination" against urban voters and in favor of those in rural areas."

The Supreme Court's action was announced in a brief order.

The issue will not come up for argument before the court's new term which begins Oct. 1.

★ ★ ★

The court turned down a request for an immediate hearing.

The Georgia Democratic primary is scheduled for Sept. 12.

The three-judge court ordered the Democratic party not to use the county unit system in the primary.

The Supreme Court's order gave no further clarification of the status now of the primary.

Justice Harlan noted that he thought the Supreme Court should have gone a step further today and granted the Georgia state Democratic party and the state's attorney general permission to apply to the high tribunal for a stay of the injunction by the three-judge court.

Candidates for governor, U.S. senator and state house officers are to be nominated in the primary.

Dobrynin Arranges Talk Before Rusk Sees Allies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin arranged a talk with Secretary of State Dean Rusk today, just ahead of Rusk's trip to Europe.

U.S. Readies Biggest Blast

N-Test Force to Fire Highest, Huge Bomb Over Ocean After Dark

HONOLULU (AP) — The U.S. nuclear testing force made ready to fire its highest and biggest blast over the Pacific after dark tonight—about dawn Tuesday in the eastern United States.

The mammoth explosion was expected to light the sky with a flash brighter than sunshine and to be visible in Hawaii, 750 miles northeast of the Johnston Island launch site.

It was scheduled for firing between 11 p.m. tonight—4 a.m. Tuesday (Pontiac Time)—and 2:30 a.m. Tuesday—7:30 a.m. (Pontiac Time).

Scientists say communications throughout the Pacific will be disrupted for almost two days after the shot, 50 to 500 times as powerful as the atom bomb dropped on Hiroshima. It will be exploded some 200 miles above the Pacific.

★ ★ ★

In New York, the Congress of Scientists on Survival appealed to President Kennedy Sunday to call off the high test because of "possibilities of hazard for mankind and his environment."

The group told the President in a telegram such tests "will disturb the Van Allen belt," bands of high energy particles several hundred miles above the earth.

The wire said qualified scientists in this and other countries had not had adequate opportunity to try to predict long-term effects of such a shot.

'STAKES FUTURE'

"They may be harmless. They may be destructive. To move ahead is to stake the future of mankind in an ill-considered game of chance," the scientists said.

The 20th announced detonation in the current series in the Pacific was exploded Sunday in the area of Christmas Island, some 1,200 miles south of Honolulu.

It was an intermediate-range device of a force equal to that of 20,000 to one million tons of TNT.

An auroral effect, much like the northern lights, is expected to flash across the Pacific when the big blast disrupts the Van Allen belt.

The device will be boosted aloft atop a Thor intermediate range missile, the same type used June 4 in the first Johnston Island test which failed when the missile's tracking system malfunctioned.

Park Appointed Korean Premier

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—South Korea's military strong man, Gen. Chung-Hee Park, got a new title today. The ruling junta named him premier.

★ ★ ★

Park is already chairman of the ruling junta and acting president. Both the premiership and the presidency are largely figurehead posts, and the junta retains the real power.

The junta announced Park's appointment as premier was temporary, until another was named. There was no indication when this would come.

Premier Song Yo-Chan resigned Saturday. He praised Park's leadership but said he himself had not been able to develop the government's administrative structure as he wanted.

He was reported to have differed sharply with Finance Minister Chun Byung-Kyu over economic policy.

The entire cabinet resigned with Song, but the junta accepted only the resignations of Finance Minister Chun and Information Minister Oh Chae-Kyung.

Kim Se-Ryun, president of the Seoul Industrial Bank, was named finance minister, and Oh's assistant, Lee Won-Woo, a professor of political science, was named information minister.

★ ★ ★

The junta also filled the vacant posts of vice premier and construction minister. Kim Hyun-Chul, finance minister under President Syngman Rhee, was made vice premier, and Lt. Gen. Park Im-Hang, a junta member, was named construction minister.

The 18th annual Community Activities, Inc., Fair concluded last night with the naming of the "CAI Queen" for 1962 and the selection of the World's Fair trip winner.

Mrs. Hazel Griffin who polled 57,803 votes in the queen competition to 16,307 for runner-up Marguirte Sidock, will receive an expense paid weekend trip for two to New York. Mrs. Griffin lives at 4360 Marcus St., Waterford Township with her husband William and their son.

Leon R. Skelley, 1745 Woodland, is the winner of the 10-day trip to the Seattle World's Fair, the grand prize.

Robert Bauer, director of CAI and manager of the annual fair, said the turnout this year was excellent.

Proceeds from the fair will be used for improvements and maintenance of the CAI Building, according to Bauer.

Each step of the board has been protested strongly by residents and businessmen in the area. United in a citizen's group known as the Oakland County Homeowners and Taxpayers Association, they have branded the board's actions on the proposed airport to date as detrimental to the community as a whole.

★ ★ ★

Furthermore, they have insisted that another major airport in the metropolitan area is unnecessary, maintaining that Wayne Metropolitan Airport near Ypsilanti is sufficient to handle the commercial air traffic for the entire area.

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors and a major proponent of the new airport plans, said the proposed airport still would meet the need for another general airport serving industry in the area.

The FAA has stated the need for four additional general airports in the metropolitan area, and has included plans for enlarging operations at Pontiac Municipal Airport as a part of these plans.

When the county's airport plans were first revealed Feb. 6, the Pontiac City Commission passed a resolution to proceed no further with development at the city's airport until the FAA should reach a decision on the county's proposal.

As spokesman for the county in Hamlin's absence today, Norman Barnard, corporation counsel, said that once the decision is officially known here it will be up to the board's aviation committee to recommend any further action.

The aviation committee recently lost its chairman former Pontiac mayor Philip E. Rowston when the City Commission rescinded his appointment as supervisor. The committee has not met since.

However, both Rowston and Hamlin have previously expressed the futility of proceeding further if the FAA failed to approve the airport plans of the county.

The county board was counting on the federal government paying 50 per cent of airport cost and the state 25 per cent. Without FAA approval there can be no federal participation.

TROOPS WATCH PRISONERS — Armed troops of the Royal 22nd Regiment sit on wooden crates through the night at St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary near Montreal, guarding prisoners who staged a violent riot yesterday. The prisoners had to spend the night in the open because fires they set destroyed six buildings in the prison compound.

Fire Guts 6 Buildings in Revolt at Prison

hundreds of shouting prisoners went into action with a variety of makeshift weapons. Firemen from St. Vincent de Paul, the first outsiders to reach the scene, were met by a hail of shots at the gates.

First sign of trouble came when a group of prisoners stormed out of the kitchen and through the library and psychiatric section.

STARTED FIRES

As guards moved to stop them, other convicts set fire to buildings.

An emergency call brought in Quebec provincial police, then Canadian mounted police and finally the army as firemen from four cities fought the spreading fires.

The guards opened fire as prisoners tried to form pyramids to scale the 40-foot walls.

At least 10 convicts were shot when they refused to get away from a crane whose boom they were trying to move to a wall. Others were burned when caught between burning buildings after ignoring orders to get out.

★ ★ ★

When prison staff members tried to fight the fires, the convicts snatched knives from the kitchen and slashed the hoses.

Police sealed off the St. Vincent de Paul area and closed the bridge connecting it with Montreal Island to all but emergency traffic.

A stream of ambulances roared in and out of the prison, rushing wounded and injured to Montreal's Queen Mary Veterans Hospital.

Witnesses at the hospital described "convicts with towels wrapped around their heads and blood streaming down their faces."

Moslem-led Algeria that will emerge from a referendum July 1.

NO DETAILS YET

Details of the agreement still must be worked out. The Secret Army broadcast called on the terrorist commandos to remain vigilant while holding their fire, "We have been cheated many times in the past," the announcer said.

At Montbeliard, France, touring President Charles de Gaulle called the announcement "a decisive day for an agreement between the two communities, Moslem and Christian."

But in Paris, Marc Laurol, a deputy from Algiers and often a spokesman for right-wing Europeans, told newsmen, "I can tell you that I have nothing in common with what has just taken place in Algeria."

A former medical student, Jean-Jacques Susini, 28, represented the Secret Army in the negotiations. It was reported that Susini, Algerian-born, had the backing of at least two deserter colonels, Yves Godart and Jean Gardes.

Weary and tense Europeans were uncertain as to what attitude they should adopt.

Some felt Mostefai's announcement was not enough. They wanted a pledge by the nationalist government in exile in Tunis.

There was no immediate statement from the Tunis leaders. This could be interpreted either as a sign that they considered Mostefai's statement sufficient or that they did not wish to engage themselves more formally for fear of opposition from the Moslem masses.

In the forefront of the negotiations were a group of influential Algiers businessmen, headed by former Mayor Jacques Chevallier, shipping magnate Laurent Schiaffino and banker Jean-Marie Tinet.

They urgently sought a truce as the secret army's "scorched earth" campaign increased in ruthlessness and tens of thousands of Europeans fled in panic to the continent, fearful of a Moslem "day of reckoning."

Faces Charges Following Chase

To Arraign Holly Man for Reckless Driving After Wild Pursuit

A 22-year-old Holly man arrested following a bullet-studded police chase through Waterford and White Lake townships Saturday was to be arraigned today on a reckless driving charge.

Police said Lawrence E. Smith of 18174 Buckhorn Lake Road ignored pursuing police, ran three roadblocks and damaged two other autos — one of them an Oakland County Sheriff's Department patrol car.

The 10-mile chase, which started near Oxbow Lake in White Lake Township, ended when Sheriff's Deputy Roland Piess fired a shot into the trunk of Smith's car.

Township patrolman Kenneth Peppiant radioed sheriff's deputies while pursuing Smith north on Williams Lake Road. Deputy Henry Hansen pulled his patrol car across the intersection of Williams Lake and Pontiac Lake roads.

Hansen, who jumped out of his car and attempted to flag down the driver, said Smith's auto hit the front fender of the patrol car and kept going. Hansen shot at the car and joined the chase.

Peppiant fired two more shots as Smith ran a roadblock at Williams Lake and Highland roads. Piess started shooting when Smith evaded another road block at Crescent Lake and Highland roads.

The officers said Smith's speeding car forced other vehicles off the road and struck another auto driven by Mrs. Basil Haskins of 3353 Whitfield St., Waterford Township, as she was pulling out of a driveway on Highland Road.

Smith pulled his car to a halt and threw up his hands when the bullet from Piess' gun struck his trunk. He told arresting officers that he was trying to escape because he doesn't have a license.

6 African Nations Meet; Ask West Halt N-Tests

CAIRO (AP) — Six north and west African government chiefs have wound up a three-day summit conference here with a call to the big powers to halt nuclear tests.

The six countries—known as the Casablanca Powers—also denounced the white supremacist South African government and the "policy of terrorism" they said Portugal was conducting in the African colony of Angola.

OAS Now Tries for Status

ALGIERS (UPI) — Probably no one knows exactly how many persons have fought for the Secret Army Organization (OAS) but its deeds have left an amazing and terrible imprint on the face of Algeria.

Scores of public and private buildings have been demolished by bombs. Since the first of the year more than 5,000 dead and 10,000 wounded have been laid to OAS gunmen.

★ ★ ★

The OAS came into being in Algeria in February 1961, and it made its debut in metropolitan France with the explosion of a plastic bomb in front of the liberal newspaper Le Monde in Paris on Feb. 16.

★ ★ ★

But it did not proclaim its own existence until early April last year, in a pamphlet passed from hand to hand in Algiers.

This followed a meeting of leaders of several rightwing movements at which they decided to coordinate the struggle to keep Algeria French.

With the abortive four-day putsch in Algeria in April 1961, the OAS came into the open. OAS men appeared in the streets of Algiers wearing gray uniforms with red, white and blue armbands.

The OAS drew its members from every corner of the Algerian European society. The wealthy gave funds. Others joined as gunmen, plastic bombers, couriers or informants.

STOLE ANYTHING

The OAS stole what it could not buy—plastic for the bombs, ammunition, rifles, tommy-guns, mortars, bazookas, radios, uniforms, medical supplies, jeeps and trucks. Many of its toughest men were deserters from the army and the Foreign Legion.

The worst blow the OAS suffered came when France and the Algerian rebels signed the agreements last March 18 at Evian-Les-Bains that ended the seven-and-a-half-year-old Algerian war.

They also committed France to Algerian independence, based on the self-determination referendum to be held in Algeria July 1.

That same month, Ex-Gen. Edmond Jouhad was captured in Oran and, in April, Surete Nationale detectives captured the OAS leader, Ex-Gen. Raoul Salan.

Ex.-Gen. Paul Gardy took over as the organization's figurehead leader and "the colonels," Antoine Argoud, Jean Gardes, Yves Godard, and Pierre Chateau-Jobert, took over the planning.

The killings increased to an average of more than 35 a day.

MORE, MORE CLEVER

The bombings grew diabolically clever in their execution—automobiles loaded with explosives and bits of metal that turned into whizzing fragments, gasoline trucks that spread rivers of fire when the bombs in them exploded.

One such booby-trapped automobile exploded on the Algiers waterfront last month, killing or wounding more than 150 persons.

Then, starting late last month or early in June, the OAS began a new policy: Scorching the earth, a plan by which it said it would leave Algeria with no better facilities than it had 100 years ago.

One afternoon the OAS blew up 10 schools in Algiers alone, with bombs rigged as incindiary devices.

Parachutist Dies After Drifting Into Parked Car

Rebel Teamsters Seek Election for New Agent

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rebel Teamsters, claiming the support of a majority of the 8,000 members of four union locals, say they will seek an election and try to replace the Teamsters union as bargaining agent.

The four locals represent truck drivers and warehousemen in Philadelphia and nearby Chester, Pa.; Atlantic City, N.J.; Wilmington, Del.; and parts of Eastern Maryland.

James F. Doherty, lawyer for the dissident committee, said last night, "As far as I know, this is the first large group of truck drivers to try to break away from the Teamsters Union."

Battle of Millionaires for New At-Large Post

One of the hottest political races in the State pits two millionaires vying to become Michigan's only Congressman-at-large. Republican ALVIN BENTLEY and Democrat NEIL STAEBLER have announced their candidacies for this new post.

Neither could be called a neophyte in politics. STAEBLER is a wealthy Ann Arbor businessman and an 11-year state chairman. He steered the course of G. MENNEN WILLIAMS and, we might add, did a rather astute job.

BENTLEY

BENTLEY, an OWOSSO manufacturer, represented the Eighth Congressional District from 1952 to 1960 in Washington. He then entered state politics and ran against MCNAMARA for the Senate and was roundly defeated.

Both candidates are dedicated individuals and dead serious about wishing to remain in politics. The ensuing campaigns they wage should prove interesting since finances will not be a problem.

Each is well-known throughout the State, so it will not be like a couple of newcomers or perhaps an incumbent against a new man.

STAEBLER

The post was created this year because of population increases. A specified district for a nineteenth Congressman could not be agreed upon so the result is the Congressman-at-large seat.

Obviously, Bentley would like to get back to Washington, and Staebler is not looking for a blemish on his otherwise perfect political record in directing winners.

★ ★ ★

Both men are equally qualified to represent our State. At this early stage we are inclined to feel that their success or failure depends largely on how their parties run in the over-all State race.

Entire 'Change of Pace' Is Unwise for Vacation

With Memorial Day past, summer vacations are probably the number one item in the plans of most people. The Michigan Heart Association points out in a news release that a little advance planning is a wise idea.

Dr. Muir Clapper, president of the Heart Association, suggests that vacationers looking for a complete "change of pace" should go easy and not overdo physical activity.

★ ★ ★

This is especially true for most of us who spend a major part of a normal day at our desk and chair. Men are the guilty ones who will thump their chests when heading on a vacation and try to revert back to a 21-year-old varsity player.

If you are a desk worker and over 40, turning athlete for a two- or three-week vacation, puts an abnormal burden on your heart.

If you plan to do more than average exercising, start a gradual buildup before departing.

★ ★ ★

The heart doctors recommend that if you can't find time to build up beforehand, then you should consider other vacation plans. Best of all, acquire the habit of taking exercise week in and week out.

Be especially careful not to overexert when there is a sudden onset of hot, humid weather. The heart has to work even harder under these conditions.

Plan your vacation well in advance and don't carry your worries and tensions with you. Everyone knows what he or she is generally accustomed to.

Don't overexercise during your vacation. Relax and have a wonderful time.

ASKED at a press conference how much he was reading newspapers these days, President KENNEDY replied that he was reading more, but enjoying it less. We'd like to make a trade with Mr. KENNEDY—if he will refrain from wisecracking, we won't run for President in 1964.

Now to Walk That Li ttle Ol' Straight Line

David Lawrence Says:

President's Audit Plan an Old Idea

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy may not have realized it, but some of the "new" and "sophisticated" ideas he expounded in his address last week at Yale University are throwbacks to proposals made and rejected in the 1930s.

LAWRENCE

The President perhaps decided anyway to advocate the changes in the system of auditing the government's expense and income which President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his "brain trust" sponsored.

★ ★ ★

The scheme is to list only a part of the government's annual outlay as "expenses" and to set up a lot of inventories and properties as "investments" or capital assets.

The purpose, of course, is to show less of a deficit, if not a surplus, in the principal statement of finances that gets public attention.

Such a change, it is argued, would be more like the methods of private business.

Daniel W. Bell, who was director of the budget for several years, beginning in 1935, and who now is head of the American Security & Trust Co. here, fought vigorously against the idea as unsound, and Congress didn't warm up to it either.

Again, in the early days of the Eisenhower administration, the plan received a big boost from Beardsley Ruml, who was finance chairman of Adlai Stevenson's presidential campaign in 1952 and who had gained fame in championing the present "pay-as-you-go" system of paying income taxes.

★ ★ ★

But even Ruml didn't claim that the "capital budget" idea was original. He said to the House Ways and Means Committee on Aug. 12, 1953:

"This change has been recommended for years by students, organizations, and government agencies."

DEFICIT A BAD WORD

But Kennedy may not know that the objective of the "capital budget" plan in the 1930s was exactly the same as he has in mind today—to get rid of the bad word "deficits" and to make a better political impression.

Sometimes the "capital assets" on the books prove to be a myth. Thus, the true deficit of the Reconstruction Finance Corp.—an independent agency founded in 1932—was not generally known for many years, but finally $2.8 billion had to be added to the public debt.

This writer the other day asked Sen. Harry Byrd, Democrat of Virginia, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, what he thought of the "capital budget" scheme. Sen. Byrd said:

"I am opposed to it. I think it's fantastic to try to take all the capital outlay and outright investments by the government in buildings and construction and appropriations for defense equipment and not charge them to regular expenditures. You would never know where you stood. It's just a way to cover up real deficits. We must not try to fool the people."

It would be hard, for instance, the senator added, to classify a Polaris-bearing submarine or a missile base as, an "investment" and to figure out what the "depreciation" would be, especially since the government spends so much on a big military machine that isn't comparable to the plant and equipment of private business which yields an annual earning.

Also, the Treasury has a host of contingent liabilities and "guarantees" running into the billions. Trust funds would be subjected constantly to the temptations of "back door" borrowing and spending for unrelated purposes.

The President and three high administration officials nevertheless delivered last week a total of four public speeches designed to prepare the country to accept the theory of a "capital budget."

All this brings to mind the quip that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, head of the Conservative party in Great Britain, made in 1959 during his campaign against the Socialist Labor party. He said:

"The opposition has none sound and original ideas, but the trouble is that some of the original ideas are not sound and some of the sound ideas are not original."

The idea of a "capital budget" is not original with Kennedy, and it has been proved unsound every time it has been publicly debated from the days of FDR through the years of the Eisenhower administration.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Both Injection and Shot Have Place in Medicine

Q—Will you settle an argument for our high school class? Our biology teacher says that penicillin tablets are just as good as shots."

Yet most of us get penicillin shots when we have infections. If the tablets are just as good, why do we get "shots" that some times hurt?

A—Until a few years ago, we did not possess a penicillin that resisted digestion when swallowed. So, at that time penicillin had to be given by injection.

Now, we do have penicillins that are not destroyed or inactivated by stomach acid or by stomach enzymes.

When these preparations, such as phenoxybenzylpenicilin, are given by mouth, they are capable of producing sufficiently high and sustained levels in blood serum to destroy most of the common bacterial invaders, such as staphylococci, streptococci and pneumococci.

★ ★ ★

So, by and large, for the treatment of a mild to moderate infection with an organism that is responsive to penicillin, I would be inclined to agree with your biology teacher.

However, if the infection were of greater severity and the invading organism were known not to be particularly penicillin-sensitive, injection treatment would be directly in order.

Q—I had my eardrum blown out in a recent explosion. Can this damage be repaired, as I have constant buzzing and some loss of hearing?

A—Repair of ruptured drum membranes is being successfully accomplished by a variety of methods.

Some specialists, under certain circumstances, close the opening with grafts of skin or the wall of a vein.

Others attempt cauterization of the margins with acids after which a scaffold of cotton, membrane or polyethylene is laid down to direct the growth of the reactive tissues.

★ ★ ★

In expert hands, results are highly satisfactory, according to a report in the (March) Archives of Otolaryngology.

Q—Is it safe to sniff snuff or chew tobacco as a means for kicking the cigarette habit?

A—No. In a recent series of 112 patients with cancers of the mouth and throat, there were six snuff dippers and three tobacco chewers.

Only five who never used tobacco in any form were included.

In the not too distant past there was a good deal of rhubarb after the White House canceled its subscriptions to the New York Herald Tribune. (One report was the President was piqued because the Herald Tribune didn't carry an anti-Republican-type story in the early edition that reached the White House, but continued to ride the administration for the peccadilloes of Pecos Billie Sol Estes.)

Almost on the eve of becoming "read by the President," the St. Louis newspaper found itself in an editorial quandary over the prospects of having yet another Kennedy in Washington — this one as a U.S. Senator.

★ ★ ★

In commenting on Ted Kennedy's State Democratic Convention victory over Edward McCormack Jr., the P-D said, in part:

"... The President took no personal part in the race, but he was deeply involved. Ted Kennedy let it be known that, win or lose, he would handle patronage in Massachusetts. There are 15 vacant postmasterships in the state and it became clear no McCormack supporter or his friend would get one.

★ ★ ★

"Ted Kennedy constantly reminded the public that he was the brother of the President. One of his favorite devices was to tell a delegate, 'You know, Jack was asking about you just the other day.' It should be said, however, that 30-year-old Ted Kennedy worked hard and may develop into a capable politician in his own right. Still, three Kennedys is a lot."

This first victory for Ted Kennedy is an "endorsement" by the party. He still must take his case to the people of the Bay State in the primary and the general election.

★ ★ ★

Though the youngest Kennedy certainly has a "leg up," some of the voters might remember the words of the "Father of Democratic Party," Thomas Jefferson, who once wrote: "The field of public office will not be perverted by me into a family property."

Forests Abused

Milwaukee Journal

The nation's forests are just loaded with surprises.

Agents of the general accounting office, sent out recently to survey the more than 160 million acres of federally owned forest land, uncovered: A nudist colony in the Boise national forest in Idaho, a house of ill repute nestled in the trees near Globe, Ariz.; unauthorized hunting lodges, rock museums, real estate offices and orchards. They even found several towns squatting on forest land in Washington and Idaho.

Red faced forestry officials acknowledged that they might have been lax but explained that they don't have the manpower or resources to check on everything going on in the woods. The abuses occurred on small mining claims scattered all over the 160 million acres, they said.

★ ★ ★

The Wall Street Journal reports that anyone can stake out a mining claim of 20 acres almost anywhere in the federal forests.

★ ★ ★

The accounting office, in a bit of brilliant observation, reported: "Many mining claims are apparently being used for purposes not related to mining."

Guest Editorial

(Tulsa Tribune)

When the Armour Co., closed down its meat packing plant in Oklahoma City a couple of years ago, 400 jobs disappeared. A retraining scheme was started, union and company working together.

Many didn't care to learn new skills. Of the 170 who did, however, it was discovered that more than half had neither the basic intelligence nor education to benefit from training. Their best chance of employment, the Oklahoma Employment Service told them, was as common laborers. Trouble is, the jobs the common laborer can do become fewer each year.

Here is the hard core of the unemployment problem. We have as many schools and as much economic opportunity as any nation in the world, and yet a quarter of our two million long-term unemployed are on the verge of illiteracy and not trainable for anything. What to do?

In Chicago, a drastic remedy is being tried. Some 50,000 relief recipients — the near-illiterate "unemployables" are being sent back to school to learn to read, write and do arithmetic. Anyone who fails to report to assigned classes will be automatically cut off relief.

This experiment should be watched closely. President Kennedy talks up bold new plans for retraining the unemployed, but the harsh fact is that, for too many "retraining" is meaningless. Machines are taking over jobs once reserved for the uneducated. There is less and less place in our society for the blank stare.

Of course, a proportion of congenial illiterates will always be with us. But for the rest, this Chicago experiment could be the beginning of the long, hard climb to a useful life.

At the opening of his winter collection Thursday, Sarmi proved that purity of line can produce great fashion, still produce great big price tags, and — what's more — defy amateur copying.

★ ★ ★

The secret is in the fabrics.

Conceivably with tailoring talent and scissors sharp enough to snip rugs, the home seamstress might recreate heavy, hairy woolen coats, or looped wool suits and dresses vaguely like the kind shown today — that is, if she could find the ruggy materials.

LOW, LOW NECKLINE

But if a woman did successfully reproduce Sarmi's black faille dress with the panel-pleated skirt and the deep, deep decolletage, her husband would swear that the scissors had slipped. Would anybody's neckline be that low intentionally?

Sarmi's status symbols for restaurant table hopping, first nights, charity balls and the like include velour, brocade, matelasse, cut velvet beaded and embroidered satins and laces.

★ ★ ★

Draperies and upholstery around the house might yield heavy velvets and rich brocades for today's eager seamstress. But matelasse a fabric with a cushiony, quilted surface, and cut velvet like the designs on fancy wallpaper and Christmas cards are not easy to duplicate at home, and exorbitant to purchase.

Nor could a seamstress possibly recreate those intricately beaded satins and laces that Sarmi's models wore, unless she had a long lifespan and many nimble-fingered brownies on her side.

MINK PIPING

Even if she could, she'd need a mink ranch in the backyard for the finishing touches — black mink linings, white mink piping, or brown mink collars and cuffs.

Nor, when you're on a strict budget, is a sable ring collar a cinch to come by for a pale gold iridescent dinner gown.

★ ★ ★

The chandeliers might possibly be the source of supply for crystal teardrops like the ones that clinked tunefully as they bobbed from the bosom line of one rusty white satin gown. But sewing them on would be a task.

The simple truth is that to a wearer of a Sarmi design nobody will ever say, "Did you make that yourself?"

Despite Career Uncertainty

Continue Your Education

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE M-443: Charles H., 18, is planning to go to college.

"Dr. Crane, I wish you would talk to our youth club on vocational guidance," he telephoned me recently.

DR. CRANE

"Many of my pals don't know what they want to be in life, so they figure it is foolish to go on to college.

"I don't even know myself, but my parents say I should continue with school, anyway. Is that wise?"

LADDERS TO SUCCESS

Most teen-agers don't know what they wish to select for a life career, so go on to college anyway, if you can afford to do so, even if it is only for one year.

In fact, one semester will widen your horizons and teach you to live away from Mama's apron strings.

★ ★ ★

That's far more critical than you may now realize, for literally thousands of fine young men and women drop out of college by Thanksgiving or Christmas in the fall term just because they are so homesick they can't stay on the campus any longer.

But you teen-agers need to change your idea concerning your future. There is no single ladder to success. Instead, you must climb many ladders before you reach the top.

To visualize what I mean, imagine a circular tower completely surrounded by ladders. But you can't see above the first rung on any ladder, for your limited age and youthful experience blindfold you beyond that point.

So take the ladder that is nearest at hand and climb upon the first rung. Then take your second step. If you then find you are on a stepladder of only 3 steps, you may then need to climb over to an adjoining ladder that offers more rungs upward.

Editor's Note—The Dr. Crane series which formerly appeared on The Press' editorial page will now run regularly in the Women's Section.)

★ ★ ★

But if that second ladder stops with only 5 or 6 rungs, you then may climb over to an adjacent ladder which leads still higher.

ELBOW GREASE

Remember, there is no future in any job! For the future always lies in the worker who holds that job.

Jobs are just like rungs on a ladder, and the rungs never move. But you young people can progress upward by stepping on those rungs as you strive toward higher altitudes.

For example, suppose you are a new recruit as dishwasher in a large restaurant. That is like the bottom rung on a stepladder.

You may climb up to be first class dishwasher, but that's as far as the actual "dishwashing ladder" reaches.

CHANGE LADDERS

But if you have done a good job, including the use of plenty of elbow grease, your boss may then decide you can transfer to a rung on an adjacent ladder, such as learning to be a cook.

At the start, maybe you are only the 32nd assistant chef. But if you enjoy the culinary art, you can keep climbing till you become head chef, at $1,000 or $1,500 per month, for chefs draw big pay.

But if you are still ambitious after you reach the top rung of the "cooking ladder," then move across to the "chain restaurant" ladder, and open up a chain of lunch rooms or hot dog stands or fancy motel dining places of your own.

And after that, you may decide you know so many people and are financially able to enter politics, so maybe you switch over to the "political ladder" and run for alderman or mayor or Congressman, etc.

But always do your present job well! For it is a rung on some ladder that will permit you to rise to a higher rung either on that same ladder or an adjacent one.

Every honest job can lead you to the top, ultimately.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long, 4-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 30 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Don't Believe All You Hear

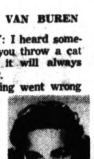
Who Starts Such Lies!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I heard somewhere that if you throw a cat up in the air it will always land on its feet.

Well, something went wrong because I threw our cat up in the air and she landed on her head!

She just laid there like she was dead, and I thought she was for a minute, but then she got up and ran off. Will you please tell me who started that lie about cats? I thank you.



ABBY

JANIE JUNE, (age 9)

DEAR JANIE: I don't know who started it, but I hope nobody else believes it. And if you hear that one about cats having nine lives, please don't try to prove it on your cat.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a young aspiring business executive with a large well-known firm.

We would like to establish good relations with his co-workers and bosses, but what is proper? We have recently been transferred to a new community and are much younger than most of the executives and their wives.

Should I invite his bosses to dinner? Or would a Sunday brunch be in order? How about a dessert and coffee evening? I don't want to appear pushy but I'd like to help my husband advance in his business by helping him socially.

YOUNG WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You would be wise to sit back and wait for the wives of his co-workers to invite you first. Then return their invitations with similar ones.

Don't initiate social contacts with the "bosses" or you'll be labeled "eager beavers"—and that's fatal, both in business and the social swim.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: What has happened to the manners of our young people? I have seen unbelievable rudeness displayed by children in the presence of their parents, and not one word of reproach is said.

When I was a child, all my parents had to do was give me a certain look and I shut up and acted right, or I caught it.

MITCH

DEAR MITCH: Perhaps our young people aren't able to see the "looks" of their disapproving parents. Blame it on poor vision — probably the result of too much television.

Confidential to Joyce: Don't buy that story. "Where there is smoke there is NOT always fire." There could possibly be just someone with a burning desire to start trouble.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press.

Pearl-frosted Alencon lace accented the portrait neckline and bouffant skirt of the bride's gown of white silk organza over taffeta. The straight panel front swept into a bustle back and chapel train. A crown of simulated orange blossoms secured her veil of silk illusion. She held a cascade of white rosemellias.

HONOR MATRON

Matron of honor, Mrs. Thomas Davies, Clarkston and bridesmain Mrs. Theodore Webster, Rochester, appeared in floor-length petal-pink silk organza. Their nosegays included pink roses and white carnations.

Best man was William R. Wood, Waterford. Thomas Davies, James Lesar, Waterford and Roger Meier, Chicago, were ushers.

After a honeymoon at Niagara Falls, the couple will make their home in Ann Arbor where the bridegroom is attending University of Michigan Law School. He is an alumnus of Wayne State University. His bride is a graduate of McAuley School of Practical Nursing.

A corsage of white roses complemented a dress of Wedgwood blue linen with white lace and bead trim for the mother of the bride.

Daughter of the junior John F. Blamys, North Glengarry Road, Bloomfield Village, the bride chose bouquet taffeta styled with draped bell skirt and chapel train. Pearl and crystal embroidery accented the narrow belt and skirt bows. Her veil of French illusion fell from an imported headpiece.

★ ★ ★

White orchids and stephanotis rested on the bride's prayer book.

ATTENDED BRIDE

Wearing aquamarine chiffon were maid of honor Lynne Benter and bridesmaids, Mrs. James Galbraith, Ypsilanti, Barbara Wheeler, Battle Creek; Mrs. William Hansen, Carol Esser and Marcia Galbraith. They carried yellow and white shasta daisies, yellow roses and ivy.

Peggy Knisely, Orchard Lake, was flower girl and Owen Murtagh, Bloomfield Hills, carried the rings.

Donald Lucas was best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lucas, North Marshall Street. Ushers were John Blamy, William Hansen, Stewart Loud, Birmingham, Michael Strang and Richard Hathaway.

Returning from a northern Michigan honeymoon, the couple will live in Ann Arbor. Mr. Lucas, a University of Michigan senior, is affiliated with Sigma Nu Fraternity. His bride holds a degree from Michigan State University.

For the wedding Mrs. Blamy chose imported champagne silk with bodice applique of Alencon lace leaf motif touched with seed pearls. The mother of the bridegroom wore an embroidered petal pink silk organza sheath dress. Both had purse corsages of white cymbidium orchids.

Santala-Monroe Nuptials

Couple Will Live at Sylvan Shores

White satin bows marked family pews in Gloria Dei Lutheran Church Saturday evening for the vows of Sharron Lee Monroe to Edward W. Santala repeated to Rev. Charles A. Colberg. White delphinium and carnations adorned the altar.

★ ★ ★

After the church reception, the couple left for Tahquamenon Falls and will return later to their home at Sylvan Shores.

★ ★ ★

White carnations, pale yellow rosebuds and stephanotis comprised her cascade bouquet.

Wearing identical dresses of maize Venise lace and taffeta, styled with dome skirts, were Sharon Nichols, maid of honor and Suzanne Monroe, her sister's bridesmaid. Petal veils fell from their rose headpieces and both carried stem-dyed yellow carnations in small white lace parasols.

★ ★ ★

The bridegroom, son of the Harry Santalas, Montroyal Street, Waterford, had Eugene Payne for his best man. The usher list included Theodore Santala and Albert Monroe, brothers of the bridal couple, also Jack Welch, Waterford, and William Rutila, Detroit, the bridegroom's cousin.

Apricot accessories complemented Mrs. Monroe's dress of champagne eyelet over taffeta. The mother of the bridegroom chose a pastel floral print. Both wore corsages of Mary Jo roses.

'Shaky Medicare Bill Set for Legislative Surgery'

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Welfare Abraham Ribicoff concedes the administration's medical care for the aged plan is in shaky health, and says he's ready for legislative surgery on it.

The president of the American Medical Association, meanwhile, has charged passage of the measure would undermine the nation's health care standards. Dr. Leonard W. Larson said that has been the outcome in every country that tried "politically controlled medicine."

★ ★ ★

Larson said Sunday the administration's program would swiftly mushroom into socialized medicine. He spoke in an interview on the Manion Radio Forum, broadcast from South Bend, Ind.

Ribicoff said Sunday night in a television interview—NBC—Meet the Press—that while the medical care bill is in difficulty in the Ways and Means Committee "I really think we have an opportunity to come out with a favorable report."

Ribicoff said the administration is prepared to accept changes in the bill, but will not compromise on its central feature—financing under the Social Security System. He said that "goes to the very heart of the program. Without the Social Security approach you don't have a program."

"There are a number of alternatives that in my opinion could be very beneficial to the bill," Ribicoff said. Among them, he said, are:

Provision for coverage for some 3 million elderly persons who would not come under the current version because they are not covered by Social Security.

★ ★

Participation by Blue Cross, the private hospitalization insurance firm, in some aspects of the administration of the medical care program.

An option system, under which an elderly person could choose government coverage, or take cash equal to the Social Security protection to purchase private health insurance.

The administration plan, sponsored in Congress by Rep. Cecil R. King, D-Calif., and Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., would raise Social Security taxes one-fourth of 1 per cent to finance hospitalization and nursing home care for people 65 and over. It would not cover doctors' bills.

ATTACKS PLANS

Larson attacked the administration plan in these terms:

★ ★ ★

"What would start out as socialized medicine for a small segment of our population would soon become socialized medicine for every man, woman and child in this country."

He said socialized medicine has undermined medical care in England, where many physicians are leaving the country "because they do not like the system under which they must work.

★ ★ ★

"There is no reason why we should impose that type of system upon the people in this country," Larson said. "I do not believe our people would accept it if it ever came to pass."

★ ★ ★

Ribicoff said the bill introduced by Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., which embodies proposals of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, is the best of the Republican medical care bills, but "has basic weaknesses."

★ ★ ★

"If we could make sure that there wouldn't be a concentration of all the good risks into the private insurance, or the Blue Cross Insurance alternative, I think we could work this out as an alternative," Ribicoff said.

This measure would provide Social Security financing, but under it, elderly persons adequately covered by private insurance plans could draw cash instead of benefits.

'Castro' Melts Under Heat From Coney Isle Fire

NEW YORK (AP) — Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro and 17 of his bearded cronies couldn't stand the heat put on them early Sunday in Coney Island.

They softened up and melted into huge globs of wax, when fire of an undetermined origin broke out in Coney Island's World in Wax Museum.

Lillie St. Angelo, who founded the museum with her husband 34 years ago, said a wax likeness of President Abraham Lincoln, murderess Ruth Snyder and dozens of other famous and infamous people escaped undamaged.

'Van Cliburn Matured'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Communist Party organ Pravda says American pianist Van Cliburn, winner of the 1958 Tchaikovsky piano contest here, has matured. Reviewing Van Cliburn's recent concerts here, Pravda said, "our listeners have happily convinced themselves that their favorite has matured and grown stronger and has advanced creatively."

Stony Creek Metropolitan Park Is On Its Way

The current major project of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority is the development of Stony Creek Park, about 3 miles northeast of Oakland-Macomb County line Rochester.

It will cover over 3,000 acres when completed. The first acreage was acquired in 1957.

★ ★ ★

Preliminary work now is being done on two artificially created lakes, located between 26 and 28 Mile roads, which will provide 700 acres of lake surface suitable for fishing, boating and swimming.

Park facilities also will include picnic tables, shelters, stoves, rest rooms, comfort stations, nature trails and a nature center, interior park roads for scenic drives and winter sports.

TO OPEN IN '64

The new park is not expected to be open until sometime in 1964 and then with only limited developments since it will take another 10-15 years to complete all major projects in the park.

★ ★ ★

Patterned after Kensington Metropolitan Park, southeast of Brighton, this site was selected because of the rolly, hilly countryside and because recreation studies stressed the need for a regional park in the northeast section of the Detroit Metropolitan area, which covers the counties of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne.

★ ★ ★

Major developments are:

Nov. 10, 1960 — $273,000 awarded for the construction of upper dam and bridge, located south of 28-Mile Road;

★ ★ ★

Feb. 9, 1961—The board of commissioners for the Authority officially adopted the name "Stony Creek Metropolitan Park" for the project;

★ ★ ★

Sept. 10, 1961—$344,000 awarded for construction of lower dam and bridge, located just north of 26-Mile Road; and

★ ★ ★

Dec. 14, 1961 — $84,775 awarded for construction of interior park road and $114,000 for clearing of lake bottom growth at both upper and lower lake sites.

In April the upper lake now has been drained to permit additional clearance of lake bottom area during summer months.

WORK ON PROJECT—These three men are guiding the work being done on Stoney Creek Park. They are (from left) Gordon MacDougall, 218 Ostrum St., Pontiac, project engineer; Charles Simmons, 3887 Lakeland Lane, Bloomfield Hills, field engineer for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority; and Richard Poljan Jr. 57121 Van Dyke, Washington, engineering assistant.

REINFORCE DITCH — Two workmen build up the ditch embankment along 28-mile Road after a recent washout. They are Melvin Bondie (left), 13860 13-Mile Road, Ray Township, and George Hock, 4050 Inwood Road, Washington Township. They are part of the 30-man crew currently working on the park project.

LOWER DAM — Workmen remove the supporting structures for the lower dam on the site which will hold the major lake area facing northwest in Stony Creek Park. A drum gate on top of the dam will allow the lake level to be raised or lowered six feet for uniform control. This is the second dam constructed in the park to regulate the water in the lake area. It is near 26 Mile and Mt. Vernon roads.

NATURE CENTER — This building, the former country home on the Charles H. Hodges Jr. estate, will eventually be converted into a nature center for Stony Creek Park. The house is located about a mile south of the park maintenance office on Inwood Road near Romeo. It will contain exhibits and be used for lectures by park rangers. Special classes will be conducted here for school children and adults in the area.

WATERS DIMINISH—When the spring thaw began a couple of months ago snow and ice melted in the lake bottom area between 26 and 28-Mile roads creating a lake that was slowly drained to allow further clearance of undergrowth. The whole site was wooded before construction was started on the dams. It will be flooded again in the fall to test the dams and water levels, and this scene will be repeated before the winter snow falls.

NOT NOW—BUT LATER—A "no swimming" sign is posted now near the combination upper dam and bridge which will separate the upper and lower lakes in the park. The lake site has been drained to allow additional clearance of the lake bottom this summer. An artificial lake will be created here at a later date. This is the section that was covered with trees and dense undergrowth before the clearing project began.

Scrambles, Charges, Then Turns Conservative in Playoff at Oakmont

Nicklaus Steals Script From Palmer to Win U.S. Open

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

OAKMONT, Pa. — Jack Nicklaus, who zoomed to stardom in amateur ranks during his collegiate days at Ohio State, stole the script from one of golf's greatest names, Arnold Palmer, to win the USGA Open championship yesterday in an 18-hole playoff at Oakmont Country Club.

★ ★ ★

He scrambled for two rounds, played a charging offensive game for two rounds and then stuck to conservative errorless golf to beat Palmer in the playoff, 74-71.

★ ★ ★

The story of Nicklaus' success at Oakmont was told on the Greens which conquered all the big names including Palmer. He three-putted only once in the entire tournament and made every putt within five feet.

This was different from his 1960 rounds at Cherry Hills in Denver when he three-putted nine times and was the top amateur and runnerup to Palmer.

At Oakland Hills last year he tied Mike Souchak for fourth place with 284 and three-putted six times. But Palmer it was a different story. He missed four putts during the tournament which were less than three feet, and over-all took 12 more putts than Nicklaus needed in the 90 holes.

CHANGED GRIP

"I've had this putter for five years and I've been very happy with my putting until these last three tournaments," Palmer said. "I even changed my putting grip in the middle of this round," he added, "but that didn't help.

The putting statistics do tell an important story.

These were the differences between Palmer and Nicklaus in the four rounds and the playoff:

First round: Palmer 35, Nicklaus 29

Second round: Palmer 31, Nicklaus 32

Third round: Palmer 38, Nicklaus 34

Fourth round: Palmer 34, Nicklaus 34

Playoff: Palmer 36, Nicklaus 33

Total: Palmer 174, Nicklaus 162

Nicklaus, who admitted he went to the first tee intent to play conservative golf yesterday waiting to see who would make the early mistakes, did not have to change his plans as Palmer got into trouble on his opening drive.

The ball went into a deep rough and his second shot then went over the green. His chip shot went 15 feet past the cup and two putts gave him a bogey.

★ ★ ★

On the third hole, Palmer again drove through but scrambled for his par.

On the fourth hole, it was Nicklaus who teed into trouble as Palmer drove down the middle 20 yards ahead.

But the big red head, playing with caution of Middlecoff, got back into the fairway and the green. His chip shot stopped 6 feet short and he dropped it for a birdie-4 while Palmer missed a 5-footer to settle for par and two stroke deficit.

On the par-3, 6th hole, Nicklaus gained two more strokes. He drove 8 feet from the pin and made the birdie, while Palmer started his first putt from 30 feet. It went 30 inches by and he missed it for the bogey.

It looked like the Latrobe, Pa., pro was going to make one of his story book finishes when he started with a birdie on nine. He chipped to five feet and dripped it, while Nicholas took a par.

★ ★ ★

A birdie-3 on 11 and a birdie-4 on the 12th hole a 598 yarder, has the partisan crowd screaming encouragement.

BEGAN TO THINK

What did Nicklaus think of at this moment?

"I thought Arnie was staring his typical move for the finish," said Nicklaus, "and if he had birdied 13, I was ready to stop thinking conservatively."

Hole No. 13 however was Palmer's downfall. "This definitely was my key hole of the day," said Palmer. "I just made a bad decision."

Palmer referred to the fact that pulled out a 5-iron, then decided on a 4-iron and hit it softly. The ball went over into the top of the green, 60 feet from the pin. He three putted for the 9th time during the tournment for a bogey-4.

On the final hole, two strokes behind, Palmer hit a poor approach. Nicklaus also feel short. Palmer pitched long and when he saw Nicklaus had only to two putt, even with a bogey, he took a back handed swipe at the ball and went to concede the victory to his rival.

★ ★ ★

However, the backhanded swipe did not go into the hole and USGA officials requested he put the ball in the cup, which he did and thus by rules he had to take 3-putts and a 74 total.

Nicklaus is the third player to win the USGA Amateur and USGA Open within a one year span. Bobby Jones did it in 1930 and Chick Evans in 1916.

At 22, he is the youngest player to win the Open since Jones in 1923 when he was 21. He is the 9th to win the Amateur and the Open.

Goldy's Bat Helps Snap Losing Streak

Socks 2 Homers in Opener to Pace 8-5 Win

Then Old Ways Return as Bosox Dump Tigers in 2nd Game, 5-0

DETROIT (AP) — June is fade-out time for the spring phenoms—but Purnal Goldy is only beginning.

★ ★ ★

The kid who enchanted — and then disenchanted — manager Bob Scheffing at the Tigers' training camp has broken into the big time with a loud roar.

Goldy rocketed his first two major league homers yesterday —and the Tigers actually won a ball game. They snapped their seven-game losing streak with an 8-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox. But in the nightcap of their doubleheader the Tigers lost 5-0.

The opening game was Goldy's third as a big league regular. His second time up he hit a towering drive into the lower left field seats.

This was the Purnal Goldy of spring training, the hero of Lakeland, the player Scheffing said was exciting him, the rookie he said had the flowing rhythm of Joe DiMaggio.

And until Al Kaline recovers from his fractured collarbone next month, Goldy is the Tigers' right fielder.

'NO PRESSURE'

In the first weeks of spring training when he was the most publicized player in the Tiger camp, Goldy said he was having the time of his life.

"There's no pressure on me, so I can swing freely without worrying," he said. "I don't think I'm going to make the club anyway. How can I? Detroit has one of the best outfields in baseball."

Goldy was right. He didn't make the club. He stopped hitting. Before the exhibition games ended, he was on his way to Denver.

Now Goldy is back under pressure. Kaline will be out another month or so. Billy Bruton has been out a week and may return tomorrow or Wednesday against Washington.

★ ★ ★

"Goldy will be my right fielder for a while if he keeps it up," said Scheffing after yesterday's split. "I can't afford to take a .375 out of the lineup."

Goldy's homers twice lifted the Tigers back into ties with the Red Sox in the early innings of the opener. The Tigers were behind a third time before Norm Cash's homer and Larry Osborne's pinch double tied it again at 5-5 in the fourth. In the fifth the Tigers rallied for three runs, with Rocky Colavito's two-run blast breaking the deadlock.

Hank Aguirre picked up the victory with the most impressive Tiger relief performance this season. The lanky lefty pitched the last five innings and didn't allow a batter to reach base.

But the Tiger hitting stopped in the nightcap. Ike Delock held the Tigers to seven singles — one by Goldy. It was the second shutout for the Tigers in the four-game series.

MOMENTS OF GLORY — Detroit Tigers' rookie outfielder Purnal Goldy (5) gets a warm welcome in the dugout (left picture) after hitting a two-run homer, his first in the majors, in the second inning of yesterday's first game against the Red Sox. In the other picture, Carl Yastrzemski of the Bosox slides safely into second for a stolen base as Detroit's Jake Wood dives for the wide throw. The teams split the doubleheader.

Youth in Forefront of U.S. Golf Scene

OAKMONT, Pa. — A new breed, made up of a trio of ex-college stars, is moving to the front of the U.S. golf picture.

The three, Jackie Nicklaus, Phil Rodgers and Bobby Nichols, all played a big part in the 62nd USGA Open at Oakmont Country Club the past five days.

Led by Nicklaus, the booming driver from Ohio State who won the National Collegiate champion ship only a year ago, and who yesterday won over Arnie Palmer in the Open playoff, the three young pros are among the top seven money winners on the PGA tour this year.

★ ★ ★

When the third round of the open ended Saturday, the big names of golf were pushed out of the picture and Nicklaus, Nichols and Rodgers were giving veteran Palmer a run to the wire.

Rodgers, who could pass for Nicklaus' brother by all physical standards, distinguished himself in collegiate play in 1958 by winning the NCAA championship and leading the University of Houston to the team title.

Meanwhile, at Texas A&M, Nichols was playing golf because he got a football scholarship. The school didn't offer golf scholarships and Henry Ransom one of the great names in golf persuaded football coach Bear Bryant to get Nichols in school by this manner.

Rodgers, who shot at 74 in the first round, fired 3-under par for the next 36 holes on the rugged Oakmont course and pushed ahead of Nicklaus and only one stroke behind Palmer and Nichols after 54 holes with a 213 total.

PRESSURE MOUNTED

In the pressure-packed final round, Rodgers started No. 1 with a bogey-5. On No. 2 he shot a birdie-3; on No. 5 he sunk a 16 footer for a birdie-3; on No. 6 he took a bogey and on No. 9 he dropped a 12 footer for a birdie-4.

"When I looked up at the board on the 15th, I was one under at the time, and the rest would have to par in to beat me," he said. "This is where I lost it," he added, "I played the wrong roll on the green and three putted it."

Rodgers had two frustrating moments in the four rounds. He took an eight on the par-4, 17th hole in the first round and four putted the 10th green in the second round, taking a double-bogey 6.

When Rodgers faded out of contention on the 15th green, Nichols took the spotlight after a bad front nine of the final round. When he birdied No. 11 and No. 13 with 15 foot putts, the gallery raced to the 14th hole when the big board flashed him 1-under par.

★ ★ ★

"When I got that bird on 13, I thought I'd try to stay at par," said Nichols, "because I thought 283 would be good enough to win."

The 458 yard 15th, started Nichols to his downfall just as it did to Rodgers. He missed the green and had to chip before two putting for the bogey.

Nichols and Rodgers each picked up $3500 for their third place tie at 285.

Immediately behind Nichols was the twosome of Nicklaus and Maxwell, the big Buckeye hit the longest tee shot of the tournament off the 18th tee. It traveled fully 300 yards and 24,492 watched with amazement. When his first putt from 15 feet went four feet by, Nicklaus played like a veteran of a dozen opens. He knew he had to drop it with Palmer breathing right behind.

★ ★ ★

"My confidence was real high, I only three-putted once in the entire tournament. This one was too big to miss," he said. When it fell, the pressure then moved to Palmer, whose approach stopped three feet closer than Nicklaus.

IMPORTANT PUTT

As far as the record-breaking crowd was concerned there was nothing else on the course of interest, even though another dozen twosomes followed.

His first putt went 20 inches by and the USGA Open went into its 20th playoff in its 62 year history.

Baseball Resurrection in Cleveland

By The Associated Press

The resurrection of Cleveland as a baseball town seems to be complete. After years of disappointing attendance and frustrating play by the Indians, the Tribe led the American League by two full games today after sweeping a four-game series from the New York Yankees.

It was like the old days of Bill Veeck and Co. as a roaring throng of 70,918, largest in the majors this season, lapped up a double victory over the Yanks 6-1 and 6-3, Sunday.

With only five more games to play against New York this year, the Indians have a 9-4 edge and are assured of at least a tie in the season series with their hated rivals.

TOP POSITION

By winning nine of their last 12 games while the slumping Yanks dropped seven out of eight, Cleveland has moved front and center as a most important pennant possibility.

Although it looks like a race to the wire the Indians are sitting pretty while the second-place Minnesota Twins and third - place Yanks are stumbling. At the moment, the hottest threat is Los Angeles, only a half game behind the Yanks after sweeping two from Chicago 5-3 and 6-5. Kansas City, too, is charging.

Red hot Kansas City stretched its winning streak to six by defeating the Twins again 10-6, another victory for the surprising Dave Wickersham who owns an 8-2 record. Norm Siebern's two homers were the big blows of a 12-hit attack against Jack Kralick and a long line of relief men.

Baltimore continued to revel in the surroundings at Washington's new stadium, beating the Senators for the sixth straight time in their home park. Jerry Adair drove in three runs and Hoyt Wilhelm shut the door on relief in a 4-3 victory.

THREE HOMERS

Jerry Kindall, Bubba Phillips and Jim Mahoney put the big Cleveland crowd in a holiday mood by hitting successive homers off Bill Stafford in the second inning of the opener. Dick Donovan rolled to his 10th victory, first pitcher to hit that mark in the American League although he had to be replaced in the seventh when he strained a thigh muscle.

Willie Kirkland's two-run homer routed starter Jim Coates in the second game in which Pedro Ramos required late inning help from Gary Bell to win his fourth.

★ ★ ★

Two homers by Leon Wagner (No. 18 and No. 19) and a fine relief job by Bo Belinsky turned the trick for the Angeles in the first game at Chicago. It was the first relief appearance of Bo, the no-hit wonder, who has been having difficulties lately on and off the field.

★ ★ ★

Siebern and Joe Azcue each lashed three hits in the A's attack against the Twins, Wickersham, who left the game because he was bothered by a back strain, has a 5-1 record since he became a starter May 22.

Wilhelm retired the first eight men he faced at Washington. With two out in the ninth he gave up a single, hit a batter and let loose a wild pitch before he got the final out.

Indians Trim Yanks Twice, Take 2-Game Lead

'It's Early'---McGaha

CLEVELAND (AP)—"It's only June. It's early," said Cleveland Manager Mel McGaha after his Indians swept four games from the stumbling New York Yankees to take a two-game lead in the American League.

★ ★ ★

McGaha feels 100 victories will be enough to win the pennant. The Indians have a 36-24 mark and are more than one-third of the way toward their goal.

The 35-year-old freshman manager wants no part of pennant talk with 102 games still to play. But the 70,918 happy fans—largest gathering in the majors this season—buzzed with pennant fever after seeing the Indians trounce the Yanks 6-1 and 6-3 Sunday at Municipal Stadium.

BIG SERIES

"These were crucial ball games and winning all four gave us a big lift," admitted McGaha. "It we get some consistency in our pitching, we'll be tough all the way. This team will score runs.

"I liked the way the hitters picked up each other in this series. All of the hitting wasn't concentrated in one or two of them. And this is a sound defensive team. That shouldn't change unless somebody gets hurt. It's a constant factor."

★ ★ ★

The Indians are riding high with triumps in nine of their last dozen games. The Yanks, bounced to third, three games off the pace and a game back of runner-up Minnesota, have lost seven of their last eight.

"I wouldn't say they have us on the run, but at the moment you might call it a slow retreat," said Ralph Houk, manager of the world champions. "Our ball club doesn't feel it's finished and there's no use crying in our beer.

"It was a tough series and certainly didn't help us in any shape or form. You've got to give credit to the Indians. They played good baseball."

ISSUES WARNING

Houk, still proud in defeat, had this parting word for newsmen:

"Yankee ball clubs have been toughest with their backs to the wall."

Houk said Mantle, sidelined from full-time service since May 18, probably won't get back in the line-up until the weekend series in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Whitey Ford, troubled by a sore shoulder, tested his arm in the seventh inning of the nightcap and retired the side 1-2-3, striking out two. Houk said Ford, a 25-game winner last season but only 3-4 this year, will start Wednesday in Baltimore.

"I just wanted Whitey to get the feel of the mound again," said Houk. "He hadn't worked in about 10 days."

California Soph, Oregon Hurdler Steal the Show

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—Four meet records were set Saturday at the 41st NCAA track and field championships but mighty Oregon's Jerry Tarr and California sophomore Roger Olsen stole the show.

He won both in meet record times of 13.5 and 50.3 seconds, but the former was disallowed because of wind.

He outscored all but six teams as Oregon piled up 85 points to run away with the team championship.

The bespectacled Olsen, who had not won all season, came up with the meet's top clutch performance when he cleared 6 feet 10 inches on his final try in the high jump.

Phils Reversing Trend With Reds

By The Associated Press

What a difference a year makes in baseball.

If the Cincinnati Reds had to pick a team which contributed most to their 1961 National League pennant, Philadelphia would have won hands down. The Phils curled up and played dead at the mere sight of a Cincinnati uniform, losing 19 of 22.

The Reds are finding the Phils a different cup of tea in 1962. They came into Philadelphia fresh from shutout victories over the San Francisco Giants, only to lose three straight to the Phils.

WRECKING CREW

Roy Sievers and Don Demeter did the heavy damage Sunday, driving in five runs in a 7-2 rout of Jim O'Toole. The three straight gave Gene Mauch's young men an 8-5 edge over the '61 champs for the year.

While the Reds were stumbling, the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers finally snapped out of it and broke a three-game losing streak by beating Houston 6-2. The scrappy Colts had been making mischief in Walter O'Malley's splendiferous new stadium and had rolled up a four-game winning string.

★ ★ ★

The Dodgers needed that win, too, because the second-place San Francisco Giants polished off St. Louis 6-3 on a three-run homer by Tom Haller in the last of the ninth. As a result, the Dodgers still lead the Giants by one game.

Pittsburgh hopped on Warren Spahn, working with only three days rest, and banged out a 7-5 decision over Milwaukee behind little Harvey Haddix who struck out 10 Braves.

NEW SKEIN

The New York Mets, specialists in losing streaks, now have a new six-game string going after losing two to the Chicago Cubs 8-7 and 4-3. Home runs did the job for the Cubs. Rookie Lou Brock became the first player to hit a ball into the right center field bleachers in the Polo Grounds in the opener and Ron Santo cracked No. 10 with the score tied in the ninth inning of the second game.

★ ★ ★

Jack Baldschun of the Phils notched his second victory over the Reds in eight days when he came to the rescue of Paul Brown in the fourth inning at Connie Mack Stadium. Baldschun came in with the bases loaded and two runs in and struck out Leo Cardenas and got pinch hitter Wally Post on a pop fly.

★ ★ ★

Tom Davis' three-run homer enabled the Dodgers to come from behind against the Colts. Los Angeles, which had scored a total of six runs in its five previous games, broke out with five in the sixth inning against Ken Johnson, Dean Stone and Bob Tiefenauer. Ed Roebuck was the winner in relief of rookie Joe Moeller although Larry Sherry came on to get pinch hitter Pidge Browne on a game-ending double play.

EX-ILLINI STAR

Haller, a former University of Illinois quarterback, was the Giants' hero for the day with his homer off Ray Washburn. The Cards had fought back to tie the score at 3-3 in the eighth on a two-run homer by Red Schoendienst. Lindy McDaniel allowed only one hit in 5 1-3 relief innings before being lifted for a pinch hitter. Washburn quickly got into trouble in the ninth. He walked Jim Davenport and gave up a single to Jose Pagan before Haller hit his sixth homer.

★ ★ ★

Pittsburgh jumped on Spahn for three runs in the second inning, added one in the fifth and scored three more in the sixth. The big blow of the sixth was Cal Neeman's first homer of the year with a man on.

★ ★ ★

Brock's 460-foot homer was the talk of the day at the Polo Grounds. The rookie also doubled home the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning of the first game in which Ernie Banks slammed No. 18. Billy Williams' 14th homer tied the score in the seventh inning of the second game and Santo's shot off Vinegar Bend Mizell won it in the ninth.

GOOD THINGS MUST END — Two unidentified young fans delayed the Cincinnati-Philadelphia game yesterday in Connie Mack Stadium when they ran onto the field to praise Frank Robinson of the Redlegs. Uniformed park attendants spoiled the fun by escorting the youngsters off the field and out of the stadium. The Phils won, 7-2.

Japanese Champs Next for Michigan

'Year of the Wolverine' at Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—As far as the newly-crowned NCAA baseball champions are concerned, it's the "Year of the Wolverine" and they plan to prove that when they journey to Hawaii this week to meet the collegiate champions of Japan.

All the way home from Omaha, Neb., it was "Hail, Hail to Michigan . . . the finest in the land," and the University of Michigan baseball squad went a long way to prove it when they took the collegiate world series from Santa Clara Saturday night, 5-4.

Now, the baseballers are faced with the enjoyable prospect of traveling to Hawaii for a best-of-three series starting June 22 and ending June 25.

★ ★ ★

The National Collegiate Athletic Association national baseball tournament final was a 15-inning marathon contest and relief pitcher Jim Bobel, who had had only one hit all year, broke the ice with a triple to score one run. He scored himself in the 15th with what looked like an insurance run when he scampered home on a wild pitch.

But Santa Clara's Broncos put the heat on in their half of the 15th and the wild pitch proved the downfall of Bob Garibaldi, who had pitched eight hitless innings in relief.

HELPED CAUSE

Bobel's two-out triple brought home Harvey Chapman, who had singled for the first hit off Garibaldi in his eight inning stint.

Sophomore Garibaldi was an iron man for Santa Clara, going 7⅔ scoreless innings Friday night when Santa Clara nipped Texas 4-3, to gain the finals in a 10-inning game.

In his two appearances Friday and Saturday, he struck out 20, 10 in each game.

He almost had a new life in the bottom of the 15th when John Boccabella singled, went to second on a wild pitch, moved to third on an error and scored on an infield out.

★ ★ ★

But Bobel, who shone in relief himself, was equal to the threat and struck out Ken Flanagan and got Reno Di Bono to pop out to end the longest collegiate diamond championship game in history.

Bobel gave up only two hits in the five innings he worked in relief in the final game.

It was a come-from-behind triumph for the Wolverines who spotted Santa Clara a single run in the second and then tied it in the fourth on Dick Honig's home run. Tom Arrieta delivered a two-run single in the fifth to five the Broncos the lead but Fritz Fisher, Michigan's starter, whacked a triple in the seventh to score two runs and tie the score, forcing the game into extra innings.

The longest previous championship game was the 1958 showdown in which Southern California nipped Missouri, 8-7, in 12 innings. In 1954, in a 14-inning pre-final contest, Oklahoma State defeated Arizona, 5-4.

Santa Clara's Boccebella was the only player on either team to get more than two hits. The big first baseman had a double and two singles in six times at the plate.

It was the second time that the Wolverines won the NCAA title. In 1953, their only other appearance, Michigan was the victor. The tourney has been played 16 times.

Rebuilt 'M' Nine NCAA Champions

OMAHA (AP) — Coach Don Lund's work in rebuilding Michigan after the major leagues stepped in with ready cash to take away two of his best players paid off in the NCAA Baseball Championship.

★ ★ ★

"I would have thought it questionable at the start of the season that we could go all the way," said Lund, whose Wolverines won the national championship Saturday night 5-4 in a 15-inning struggle with Santa Clara.

A year ago Lund developed a collegiate powerhouse, dominated by sophomores. His club won the Big Ten title, but missed making the NCAA tournament.

LURED ELSEWHERE

Then two of Lund's best sophomores succumbed to big league overtures and money. Catcher Bill Freehan, who set a Big Ten batting record with a .585 average, signed a $100,000 bonus contract with the Detroit Tigers, Mike Joyce, Lund's best pitcher, accepted a $35,000 offer from the Chicago White Sox.

Freehan and Joyce each had two years of eligibility remaining.

★ ★ ★

"It meant rebuilding what was a really good team," said Lund, a former major league and three-sport Michigan athlete himself.

"It was impossible to replace two guys like those we lost. They're championship ball players. But I guess my current crop is, too."

TWO CONVERTED

Lund took Harvey Chapman, a sophomore who didn't play freshman baseball so he could play spring football, and placed him at third base.

"I didn't know what he could do because I never saw him before," said Lund. "He did the job for me."

Lund reconverted Joe Merullo to catcher after he'd made him an infielder because he'd expected to have Freehan around three seasons.

West Siders Triumph to Retain Keg Lead

Using balanced scoring, West Side Recreation remained ahead of the pack in traveling league scoring by whipping Airway Lanes 11-5 yesterday. Huron Bowl nipped Wonderland 8-7 to tie Airway for 2nd.

Monroe Moore, Bob Richards and Jerry Perna each scored three points for West Side. Moore hit 224-209, Richards 224 and Perna 211-208. Arnie Osta led Airway with 215 for two points.

Six straight strikes by Joe Foster pulled out the Huron triumph. He had a 221 for four points. Bob Lowry added two on 212. Sid Harris garnered three points with 212 and Jack Ashton won a pair for 214 for winless Wonderland.

Top Putter Repeats

FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Neil Connor of Greenville, S.C., successfully defended his Professional Putters Association $5,000 eastern tournament title Sunday by firing a 58 for a 243 total. His first place money was $1,200.

Soccer Crown Stays in Brazil Due to Comeback

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Brazil fought back Sunday after being a goal down in the 11th minute and defeated Czechoslovakia 3-1 to retain the World Soccer Cup Championship.

★ ★ ★

The Brazilians won the title four years ago in Stockholm when they defeated Sweden 5-2. Only once before in the 32-year-old history of the championships has a team won two straight—Italy in 1934 and 1938.

★ ★ ★

The crowd of 70,000 saw Brazil forced to fight harder than at any time in the championship. Brazil scored twice in the second half after the teams tied 1-1 at intermission.

Frustrating 9-8 Loss for CIO in 'A' Loop

It was a most frustrating evening Sunday for the CIO Local 594 baseball team.

The CIO staged a gallant four-run rally in the top of the 7th inning to force an 8-8 deadlock, only to have Hpuron-Airway tally once in the bottom half of the same inning for a 9-8 Class A City League triumph at Jaycee Park.

Three times during the wild contest the Union squad fought back to tie the count, then saw all efforts go up in smoke.

Huron-Airway pitcher Jim Wagner won his own ball game in the 7th with a single which scored Chuck Johnson from 3rd base. The decisive run was unearned since Johnson reached 2nd on a costly infield error and moved to 3rd on a sacrifice.

★ ★ ★

Wagner was the 3rd Huron-Airway hurler to work. Larry Demerick started, gave way to Stan Krogulecki in the 6th and Wagner came to the hill in the 7th.

Joe Bosques, who relieved starter Larry Cates in the 6th, absorbed the loss.

The CIO was outhit, 8-6. Al Barkeley of Huron-Airway and the CIO's Mel Taylor each made two safeties.

AUBURN SOFTBALL WINNER

Auburn Bar tallied four times in the bottom of the 7th to nose out Bud & Louie's Bar, 9-8, in International division City League softball action last night at North Side Park. The losers scored four runs in their half of the 7th to take an 8-5 lead.

Chet Kubiak's single scored the deciding run for Auburn. Mike Fields blasted a solo homer in the 2nd for Bud & Lou's.

Jack Fisk buried three-hit ball and his teammates gave him 10-hit support as Oakland Auto Supply trimmed Dixie Tool & Machine, 7-1, in another International game.

Defending city champion Sno-Bol thumped the Pontiac Police, 7-1, in American loop activity at Beaudette Park. Sno-Bol collected 13 hits, featuring three apiece by Cecil Hanes and Art Ruelle, and Floyd Hicks pitched a steady four-hitter.

Wightman Cup Won by Yanks; May End Series

LONDON (AP)—The 1962 version of the Wightman Cup Tennis Tournament, which has pitted the girls of England against those of the United States for 40 years, may have been the last.

This year's tourney ended Saturday with a 4-3 American victory.

★ ★ ★

The Cup was donated by Mrs. George W. Wightman who played on the first American team in 1923 and was non-playing captain from 1946-1948. The contest has been held yearly since 1923 except for the World War II period. The United States has won 28 times, Britain six.

Now there is general feeling the series is too exclusive. The girls want a tournament that is open to all and there is a plan afoot for starting a "DuPont Cup" tourney next year. The proposal is to come before the international tennis federation next month.

FOUR STRAIGHT

The DuPont Cup is to be donated by Mrs. Margaret Osborne duPont of Joseph, Ore., non-playing captain of this year's American Wightman Cup team.

★ ★ ★

The American girls, sparked by Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., ran off the first four matches of this year's tournament to a 4-0 lead. Then they coasted through, losing the final three.

Houston Ballplayers Dislike Various Tags

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Colts are unhappy because they are being referred to as the residue of the National League in some newspapers.

★ ★ ★

The Colts nade their feelings known to Houston Post sports-writer Mickey Herskowitz, who is traveling with the team, while in Los Angeles for a four-game series with the Dodgers.

The Dodgers came from behind to beat the Colts Sunday, 6-2, but that was after losing the first two games of the series. The Dodgers did, however, manage to hold a one-game league lead.

★ ★ ★

After two ex-Dodgers, Jim Golden and Dick Farrell, beat Los Angeles on successive nights, a story in one Los Angeles paper Sunday labled the Colts "castoffs" three times and "discount merchandise" once.

"If we're misfits," said catcher Hal Smith, "what does that make the clubs we've been beating?"

Teen Chess Master Even With Russian

CURACAO, Netherland Antilles, (AP)—Bobby Fischer, teen-aged chess master from Brooklyn, N.Y., and Russia's Miroslav Filip drew after 23 moves in their Candidates tournament match Sunday night.

In other matches, Paul Keres and Victor Korchnoi, both of Russia, drew in 38 moves and Tigran Petrosian, the tournament leader, and Ewfim Geller of Russia drew in 18 moves.

Johansson to Rest After Title Victory

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Buoyant Ingemar Johansson took the European heavyweight title under his care today and said he had earned a rest before challenging either Floyd Patterson or Sonny Liston for the world championship.

★ ★ ★

Johansson was back as the pride of Sweden after demolishing tough Dick Richardson of Wales with an eighth-round knockout in the open air Ullevi Stadium Sunday night.

Ingo, boxing with cool calculation despite a cut left eye, dethroned the Welshman with a display of sheer power punching. More than 50,000 fans cheered him to the deep blue sky.

★ ★ ★

"Ingo is better now than he was in all of his three world title fights against Patterson," said Whitey Bimstein, Johansson's American trainer.

New Champion Certain in Southern Amateur

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The tradition-stepped Southern Amateur Golf Tournament starts a week-long grind today to name its 56th annual champion.

Most of the best amateurs in Dixie are in the 60-man field except Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., who decided not to defend his 1961 title because of his lumber business.

Cornell Rowers Win

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — "Bring on the Russians," whopped Cornell's Big Red today as they finished celebrating their decisive victory in the Intercollegiate Rowing Association Championships.

Now it was back to work for Coach Stork Sanford's strapping sweep swingers who voted to take on the Soviet eight in the Independence Day Regatta on the Schuylkill at Philadelphia.

WEEKEND FIGHTS

NEW YORK—Carlos Hernandez, 136, Venezuela, stopped Paoli Rosi, 136, New York, 7.

As Profit Taking Sets In

Mart Mixed After Early Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rallied briskly at the start today but turned mixed in early trading after some backing away from the best gains.

★ ★ ★

The momentum generated by Friday's strong rally carried through temporarily before some quick profit taking set in.

Gains of fractions to a point or so among key stocks outnumbered losers in the same range.

International Business Machines rose 1¼ to 334½ on an opener of 4,000 shares, then erased the gain and showed a net loss of more than 10 points.

American Telephone rose ¼ to 106¼ on an opener of 5,000 shares, then showed a net loss of about 2 points.

Gains of more than a point were held by Lorrillard, Reynolds Tobacco and Boeing. U.S. Borax was up about 2.

Early gains by motors and steels were trimmed or erased. Ford converted an early gain to a small loss. General Motors, unchanged at the opening, was down a fraction later.

It was a turbulent, trading market with the ticker tape running five minutes late in the first hour.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Reliance Insurance, Kawecki Chemical, and Anlen Chemical rose about a point each.

Fractional gainers included Arkansas-Louisiana Gas, Southern Materials, Ogden Corp., Giannini Controls, Draper and Breeze.

U.S. Bond Prices Down

NEW YORK (AP) — Government bond prices declined at the opening of trading today. Corporates were mixed in New York exchange dealings.

Over the counter dealers in treasury securities quoted long bonds off 4/32 to 6/32 and intermediates down 2/32 to 6/32 in quiet trading.

In exchange trading of corporates few moves amounted to a full point outside the convertible section. Rails appeared a shade higher and utilities a bit lower. Industrials were mixed.

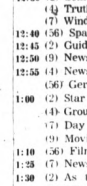
She's Sue Lyon of 'Lolita'

Filmdom Finds Cinderella

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The teenage world—and filmdom—have found a fresh Cinderella in 15-year-old Sue Lyon.

Sue, whose ruinous blonde beauty is only slightly marred by a rash of adolescent pink chin pimples, is living proof that baby sitting is not a deadend career.



BOYLE

"As a baby sitter the least I made was 50 cents an hour, and the most I made was $1.75—when I had six children," confided Sue, star of the controversial film, "Lolita."

Miss Lyon, who never took a real acting lesson in her life, is currently signed to a seven-year contract that will springboard her from $225 a week to $70,000 a year—and maybe more.

The movie moguls who picked Sue Lyon from nowhere are wringing their hands in joy.

If cost them about $1.5 million to make "Lolita," the story of a middle-aged professor's obsessed love for a nymphet. But they confidently expect it will ring up $10 million or more at the box office.

2 TV ROLES

The had performed only two small television roles when she was picked over hundreds of applicants to portray "Lolita."

The swift transition from anonymity to stardom has left an inevitable mark on one sd young. She swings from naivete to an almost heartless sophistication. One moment she talks like the girl next door—and the next moment like Tallulah Bankhead.

She now has the same hairdresser and the same clothes designer as Jacqueline Kennedy.

Sue success has its price. She has no ration her chocolate sodas and lobster casseroles.

"Rich foods mar the complexion," she said wistfully.

Sue also said the morning after the premiere of her maiden film performance:

"I'm not worried about ever being out of work again. I was so excited I read the reviews 60 times.

★ ★ ★

"I hope this doesn't make any real difference in my life. I'm as happy as I am.

"I just stopped biting my nails.

"I adore Marlon Brando, Jewish food and baseball.

"I think television is a terrible waste of time for the American teen-ager.

"I wear my hair half-up and half-down and with bangs—because foreheads aren't pretty. I always wear a velvet bow, and I make the bows myself.

WANTS MARRIAGE, CHILDREN

"I cook, clean and sew. My upper lip vibrates when I'm nervous.

"At this point I want to be an actress, have a happy marriage and children. But I think marriage is the most important thing in life to a woman, whether she is a waitress or an actress or a ditch digger—or anything.

"The reason I want a lot of children is that it is a marvelous thing to grow up in a big family and know that all of them love you.

★ ★ ★

"I used to sing in the church choir, Math is my favorite subject—I got 96.5 in algebra.

★ ★ ★

"My favorite poet is Edna St. Vincent Millay. Sometimes I cry when I read poetry. I like any film that has a happy ending.

"No, I'm not going steady now. I did for a while, but I decided it was like having clamps on.

"I don't know what I'll do next. I've only played one part, so I've got a long way to go before I run out of things to do.

★ ★ ★

"I've never been in a hot rod, or ridden on the buddy seat of a motorcycle."

★ ★ ★

Sue is the youngest of five children. Her father died when she was 10 months old.

Linda Has Simple Title for Her First Book

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Modest, self-effacing Linda Christian is planning to title her first book — which concerns many of her romantic adventures — by the simple, homey title, "Linda" . . . or perhaps: "Linda Christian."

We have never seen a book brought out merely with the author's name as the title . . . but why not?

Husband Edmund Purdom says, furthermore, that the book may be illustrated by a picture of Linda done by Diego Rivera. One day in Mexico Linda, then a young girl, met Rivera, who, without preliminaries, said, "You will pose for me!"

"If I can watch you paint me," bargained Linda . . .

WILSON

Darryl Zanuck, back in NY from Europe, is being urged by some stockholders to "become the savious of your company" and return to the helm of Century-Fox. He is refusing, at the moment, at least, "for personal reasons" . . . More and bigger heads are to roll at 20th-Fox . . . Another raiding party is going to LA, may lop off certain other executives. . . . Joan Bennett sided with her ex-husband Walter Wanger in the battle over his "Cleopatra" pay slash, Wanger assured her he'll stay in Rome working on the picture till it's finished.

Lady named Mrs. Morris Bauer phoned from Houston to say: "I just think it's awfully nice, you trying to help Eddie Fisher make his comeback. He's just had so much punishment from that girl!" I asked whether she's go to see Liz Taylor on the screen again. "NEVER!" she said.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Saverio Saridis, the cop-turned-singer, visited voice coach Carlo Menotti — and then found a parking ticket on his car. The "Lolita" producers told James Mason not to bring his daughter to Portland to the N.Y. premiere — she's under 18 and wouldn't get in . . . Tony Perkins donned dungarees and helped rebuild his house in the W. 50s. . . . Carol Burnett was asked at the Voisin how she liked her TV spec, and she said, "Well . . . I loved Julie Andrews . . ."

Shirley Jones'll invest some of her "Music Man" loot in tennis courts . . . The State Department wants Connie Francis to tour Poland,

EARL'S PEARLS: It's easy to recognize the fellow who owns his own home—he's always coming out of a hardware store.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Henry Lascoe says his daughter has her summer all planned — she found an airconditioned phone booth.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Good breeding is what enables a person to wait at the counter in well-mannered silence—while the loudmouth gets the service.

Money travels so fast these days, notes Quote, that the germs on it get airsick. That's earl, brother.
