

Khrushchev Calls for May 11 Talks on Berlin

Study Plans for MSUO Development

Public Program on MSUO Set

'On-to-College Night' Meeting Monday Will Explain Curriculum

The first in a series of special programs presenting a progress report on educational development at Michigan State University Oakland will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the auditorium of Pontiac Central High School.

Called an "On-to-College Night," the program has been prepared by the MSUO Foundation Community Relations Committee.

Among the subjects which will be discussed is specific information on the curriculum of the university. Questions of parents, students, teachers, counselors and school administrators will be answered.

Dr. Roy Alexander, director of MSUO student services, said questions of a general nature about college attendance also will be answered.

FIRST OF KIND

Anyone interested in the university is welcome to attend, he said, pointing out that the meeting will mark the first public discussion of MSUO's unique curriculum.

Chairman of the Community Relations Committee of the MSUO Foundation is Dr. Paul Cousino, superintendent of schools in Warren.

Similar "On-to-College Night" programs will be held at 8 p.m. March 31 at the Ferndale Community Center, 400 E. 9-Mile Rd., and at 8 p.m. April 9 at the Birmingham Community House, Wilts and Bates streets.

Chairman of the "On-to-College Night" programs is Richard Ernst, president of the Perryberry Co.

Answering questions at all sessions will be MSUO Chancellor D. B. Varner, assisted by Community Relations Committee members and MSUO administrative officials.

News Flashes

WASHINGTON (AP)—White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said there would be no comment on the Khrushchev statements. He did say, however, that President Eisenhower was aware of the Russian prime minister's remarks.

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—Oxygen-masked firemen are fighting a raging blaze in the engine room of the Canada Steamship Line's grain ship, the Collingwood, this afternoon. The 81-year-old vessel is tied up in a berth behind Hiram Walker and Sons Distillery for repairs.

PPOA Rebels Accused of Hamstringing Straley

By MAX E. SIMON

Suspended Police Chief Herbert W. Straley heard himself compared to a "thoroughbred race horse carrying a 300-pound jockey" last night.

The "jockey" giving the chief trouble was the Pontiac Police Officers Assn. (PPOA) which had openly declared war on Straley, Patrolman John A. Felts said last night.

Felts told the Civil Service Commission he was a member of the PPOA from 1953 to early 1957 when he quit the group because of its tactics and its opposition to Straley.

The Commission is taking testimony on ouster charges against the chief. Straley was suspended

Straley's Attorney Says He Won't Delay, Cites Possible 'Mock Trial'

The Herbert W. Straley hearing should be over within 12 days, in time for the Civil Service Commission to render a decision before the April 6 election, Atty. Clarence L. Smith said today.

But if the decision upholds Straley's Feb. 9 suspension as Pontiac police chief, it "undoubtedly" will be appealed to Circuit Court, Smith added.

Smith, who is Straley's counsel, gave assurances there was no attempt on his part to prolong the hearing past April 6, when voters will pass on repealing civil service for police.

"If civil service were repealed before the hearing was over, the Commission's authority would be terminated and the hearing would have been, legally, a mock trial. We don't want that."

One reason the hearing has taken as long as it has, Smith said, is that testimony is being taken before the Civil Service Commission that could be used later in Circuit Court, in case of an appeal.

Stuart A. Austin, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, urged an early end to the hearing.

"I've informed all the attorneys we want this hearing cleared up before the election. Delay past that date could mean that all the time and expense to the taxpayers would be wasted."

Winds Up Capital Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Sean T. O'Kelly of Ireland winds up his Washington visit today with the accent on art and education. The 76-year-old visitor and his party then go to New York City.

Feb. 9 by City Manager Walter K. Willman.

"Whenever the chief issued an order, the PPOA would oppose it," Felts declared.

"While I was in the organization I became aware of a combined effort against Straley. One of the ways I arrived at this conclusion was by the number of petitions circulated opposing the chief."

The patrolman said that when Straley issued an order the PPOA officers did all they could to "kill it instead of carrying it out."

He said he often heard PPOA members make derogatory statements about Straley.

Meetings of the PPOA were poorly attended, Felts charged, and said that often the officers were unable to start on time for lack of a quorum.

"It took only between 9 and 12 men to start a meeting and sometimes they waited an hour or more for that many to show up," Felts said.

He said a small band of officers appeared at all meetings and chartered the path the organization would take.

"Wild conversations" were common at meetings, Felts said, with PPOA members drinking alcoholic beverages before and during meetings.

"When a small pressure group made up its mind on what it wanted, the debate was over," Felts said. "No one else could get the floor."

The patrolman denied that he had been shown favoritism by Straley. He said that "not many officers have been dressed down more than I was by the chief."

Felts, introduced by Straley's attorney Clarence L. Smith as an 11-year Navy veteran of World War II and the Korean War, told commissioners he disapproved of commanding officers fraternizing with their men.

"Even an officer becomes buddy-buddy with those under him, he loses control of his subordinates," Felts said.

He said he had never been punished unjustly or reprimanded in public by the chief.

Felts, a former member of the department's now-defunct Traffic Bureau, said the chief wasn't getting much cooperation from Municipal Court judges in bringing in new methods to prosecute drunk drivers.

Felts told of only two specific policies which the PPOA resisted, one an order which would have rotated days off among the department's members.

Cross-examined by City Attorney William A. Ewart, Felts admitted he also opposed Straley's policy. "It wasn't a question of right or wrong," Felts explained. "I had Sundays off and wanted to keep them."

He said that the PPOA aided an officer against whom Straley brought charges before the Civil Service Commission. "I found it distasteful," Felts said.

A former PPOA officer, Sgt. Walter A. Baerwolf, also criticized PPOA actions.

N-Bombs Fired as Test Shield in U.S. Defense

Reveal 3 Devices Shot in September to Form Protective Sheet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three nuclear bombs exploded by the United States beyond the earth's atmosphere formed an electronic shield that circled most of the world.

A responsible official outside the Defense Department said the tests at tremendous altitude were an effort to spread a shield through which missiles could not fly.

Defense Department officials confirmed Wednesday night that the blasts had been set off secretly last September, for both military and scientific test purposes. But they declined to discuss the military angles.

TO OFFSET MISSILES:

Other sources reported, however, that the tests explored the possibility of generating at an altitude of about 300 miles a diffusion of neutrons which would offset the nuclear reaction in missile warheads.

Just how the electronic shield could halt a missile or keep it from exploding was not explained.

The shots were fired from naval craft in the South Atlantic late in September—more than a month before the United States started a one-year suspension of nuclear tests pending negotiations with the Soviet Union on halting all such testing.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles and Dr. Herbert York, director of Pentagon research, gave some details of the test shots after newsmen learned of them from other sources.

They said the explosions were of very low yield in radiation and would not disclose the altitude at which the tests were made.

Frantic Hunt Goes On for Kidnaper of 4

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The kidnap car in the Baldwin abduction case was found abandoned and empty at 1 p. m. today about 100 miles north of Charleston.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Police threw desperation resources into the search today for a crazed ex-convict who kidnaped a frantic mother and three children.

He threatened to torture and kill them unless the governor released a personal enemy from the state penitentiary so he could kill him.

Gov. Cecil H. Underwood flew to Washington today, as previously planned, to meet with federal highway officials. He declined comment, saying the case was in good hands with the State Police in charge and that they had full authority to act.

"Only you have the power to save them from certain death, by granting my demands," read the note left behind by a man identified as Richard I. Payne, 23.

He left a note behind in his victim's home, addressed to West Virginia Gov. Cecil H. Underwood. In the rambling, five-page tirade, he named another convict, Burton Junior Post, better known as Junior Starcher.

The note said:

"My purpose is to kill and to take the head of my worst enemy, who is now out of reach. He is in the W. Va. Penitentiary at Moundsville."

Payne proposed to use his captives as a wedge to force Starcher's release.

"To save the children," the note read, "I demand only the FBI work on this case."

Ah—Who Said Spring Would Never Come?

After a long, hard winter, weather in the Pontiac area began warming up for the official arrival of spring with the mercury soaring to a season's high of 60 at 2 p. m. today.

Spring will check in at 3:35 a. m. Saturday — nearly six hours later than last year.

The Weather Bureau predicted tonight will be mostly cloudy with a low of 40 degrees.

Friday's high is expected to reach near 48.

Thirty-two was the lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a. m.

Widow, 85, Succumbs in St. Joseph Hospital; Murder Weapon Found

Mrs. Mary Douglas, 85, found beaten in a downtown Mount Clemens apartment Tuesday night, died at 5:30 a. m. today in Pontiac's St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Police termed her death murder. They said a carpenter's heavy tape measure holder, found near the woman's body, apparently was the death weapon in the mysterious assault.

They theorized that the elderly widow may have been the victim of a burglar who fled after beating her.

Mrs. Douglas was found unconscious on the floor of the apartment of John DuBois, for whom she was a housekeeper. She lived in another apartment in the same building.

The victim was brought to the Pontiac hospital to undergo delicate brain surgery yesterday.

Also Urges 28-Nation Summit Conference

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev challenged the West today to come up with concrete ideas for a summit conference to blunt the threat of war over Berlin and Germany.

The Soviet Union is ready, he asserted. Khrushchev said the Soviet Union is willing to meet with the West May 11 to discuss problems of West Berlin and a German peace treaty.

He again advanced the Soviet idea that a conference include all the 28 nations that fought Hitler in World War II. This proposal has been rejected by the Western powers.

Khrushchev issued a statement evidently designed as his response to President Eisenhower's address last Monday.

He stuck to his previous contention that the broad meeting he proposed consider a German peace treaty but added significantly that if the West has "any reasonable proposals we are willing to consider them, along with our own."

He said the meeting should aim to conclude a peace treaty with Germany and "settle pressing problems."

The Soviet leader said he understood the Western powers have proposed that a conference of foreign ministers open May 11 and his government is ready to accept.

"I am convinced there will be meetings of both the foreign ministers and heads of states," he continued.

For two hours Khrushchev answered questions from more than 300 correspondents in Sverdlovsky Hall of the Kremlin.

Believe British Leader Will Ask More Flexible Western Policies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan arrived here today for four days of strategy talks with President Eisenhower on the German situation.

The jet airliner bringing the British leader from Ottawa sat down at 11:57 a. m. EST.

Vice President Nixon and Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter led a delegation of American officials who greeted Macmillan at the Military Air Terminal.

An Army security detachment and a color guard ringed the airport.

Macmillan was accompanied by a 25-member delegation which included Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

Their British Overseas Airways Comet airliner, the first to land in Washington, arrived ahead of schedule. The plane circled the airport for about 30 minutes so that Macmillan's appearance at the terminal would be at the scheduled time.

Eisenhower and Macmillan will begin their talks tomorrow. If the weather is good, they will fly by helicopter to Camp David, arriving at lunch time.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, in reporting this today, said Eisenhower and Macmillan will ride together.

Camp David is Eisenhower's retreat in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland. It is about 65 miles from here.

Four officials from each side will accompany the two leaders and remain at Camp David throughout the talks.

In the U. S. group will be Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, John H. Whitney, ambassador to London; Livingston Merchant, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, and Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpastor, White House staff secretary.

Composer Accepts God's Will

By JIMMIE DODD
Master of Ceremonies
Mickey Mouse Club

Nine years ago I learned what is meant by having to lose your life, almost, to gain it.

At the time I had a small band at the Golden Hotel in Reno, Nev.

One day I was stricken with a heart ailment that apparently stemmed from an old rheumatic fever attack.

When you lie on your back for weeks, facing the possibility of death, you can come to know God very well.

Finally, I was allowed to go home—skin and bones perhaps—but a man to whom something beyond healing had happened.

Somewhere in the process I learned what to do with my life. It was about time, too, because up to then I had spent a lot of time and energy getting nowhere.

"You are a song writer, band leader, singer, dancer, guitar player and actor," an agent once told me. "But what do you want to be known as? I can't sell a grab bag."

I didn't know how to answer him. For years, I took whatever job came along, always looking for the "big break."

Why had it happened? Ruth and I believed in a loving God and the abundant life, as promised by the Lord Christ. Since nothing could take away His power and presence, and since the fault could not lie with God nor with Ruth, I concluded that there had to be something the matter with me: my praying . . . my living. What was it?

The first step was facing the fact that I had been trying to run my life by myself and hadn't done very well. I had been saying, "Thy will be done" by rote, without (Continued on Page 16, Col. 1)

Bloomfield Man Named Library Week Chairman

A Bloomfield Hills man, William T. Gossett, has been named state chairman for National Library Week April 12-18.

Gossett, vice president and general counsel of Ford Motor Co., lives at 420 Goodhue Rd.

"I am convinced Americans everywhere must heighten their interest in reading," he said. "A better read, better informed America is imperative in these times."

"National Library Week affords us all an excellent opportunity to unite in a campaign to encourage reading and the development of libraries—in homes, in schools and for public use."

State headquarters at the Michigan State Library in Lansing is organizing local committees to promote reading and library use.

Planning for the new main Pontiac library will be emphasized during local observance of library week, said Phyllis Pope, Pontiac Librarian.

in the department, said he served as PPOA vice president in 1952, but quit in 1956.

"By then, only 10 to 17 officers were attending meetings and they were disgruntled over such matters as the chief's installation of new records," he charged.

"They grumbled and called it useless paperwork."

Baerwolf said five or six men have been running the PPOA for a period of years and "they're the ones stirring up the trouble now."

He said he had heard officers speak of Straley in vulgar and profane terms. "It didn't make any difference who was around," he said.

In the basement of the old police headquarters on Perry street, he said, he heard officers vow to "get even" and "get rid of" Straley.

He refused to name the officers. Under cross-examination, Baerwolf admitted that he had once

Opens Tomorrow in Waterford Set Sports, Builders Show

Final plans are being made for the fifth annual Waterford Township Sports & Builders Show Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Community Activities Center, according to Chairman William Goulet.

Sponsored by the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce, the show will open at 8 p.m. Friday with a "board-sawing" ceremony by Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson.

More than 50 area merchants will have displays and demonstrations in booths lined around the gymnasium and banquet hall. The Jaycees expect the show to top last year's record attendance of 5,000.

Exhibits will include the latest methods for home improvements, appliances and the newest type of hi-fi installations. Also included will be new trends in outdoor sports equipment.

A stage show will be presented during the weekend, and Waterford Township's "most beautiful girl" will be chosen Queen at 9:30 p.m. Sunday.

Thirteen girls are entered in the contest. Judges will eliminate all but five Saturday. They will be judged on personal poise and natural talent as well as physical beauty.

All admission fee proceeds taken at the door will be donated to community projects by the Jaycees, Goulet said.

West German Chancellor Adenauer's position—"He's old enough to know better"—and "bitterly condemned what he called appeals by U. S. Rear Adm. Arleigh A. Burke and Gen. Maxwell Taylor for atomic war against the Soviet Union."

After two hours of answering questions, Khrushchev had announced only one new point—his government's willingness to sit down with the West on May 11 at the foreign ministers level.

Khrushchev said the Soviet Union had agreed to the foreign ministers meeting "and now we are awaiting a reply from the West."

"We understand they are proposing a meeting May 11, and I am telling you a government secret when I say we accept," he said.

The Soviet leader made it clear he preferred to begin negotiations on Berlin at the summit level.

"Let's push in the heavyweights who can brush their way through and then let the foreign ministers take over and arrange details," he argued.

But if the West insists on a preliminary meeting of foreign ministers, he continued, "we will go along although I am afraid there have been so many notes exchanged, so many words said, the foreign ministers are likely to get lost in the labyrinth."

Repeatedly Khrushchev insisted that any thought of an ultimatum or deadline on West Berlin on the part of the Soviet Union was "a distortion by the West."

Questioned on the status of Soviet troops in East Berlin if the Kremlin signed a separate peace treaty there, Khrushchev said they would remain until agreement is reached with North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations for joint withdrawal of NATO and Warsaw Pact troops.

"We will not unilaterally withdraw our forces, nor will we again unilaterally reduce our forces unless the other side takes some similar action."

Khrushchev, wearing his customary blue suit, white shirt and gray tie, was flanked by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and the head of the ministry's press department, M. A. Kharlamov.

Khrushchev conceded "the legal right" of Western nations to station troops in West Berlin, but added that it is time for a change.

"These rights stem from the capitulation of Hitlerite Germany 14 years ago, and that's a long time ago. That's why we say let us have a treaty of peace to wipe out the last vestiges of war."

While recognizing the present Western right to occupy West Berlin, Khrushchev warned again that conclusion of a peace treaty between East Germany and the Soviet Union would automatically cancel that right and give East Germany sovereign status.

"It was his second news conference since he became prime minister—his first on Nov. 27 last was on the same subject. He began by reading a 15-minute statement on the question of Germany and world peace."

Since making his original West Berlin proposal to the West he said, "We have been patiently but insistently exploring this problem."

Tax Collections Coming In Faster Than a Year Ago

BIRMINGHAM—Tax collections in Birmingham are ahead of last year's pace, according to City Treasurer Russell Berger who said this morning it will be another month before delinquent lists are completed.

On the city levy of slightly over $1,200,000, more than 98 per cent has been collected, Berger said. School and county taxes with a levy of over $2,500,000 have exceeded 95 per cent collection, he noted.

The 1958 tax roll, according to City Assessor Clark Hagstrom, has increased $1,500,000 through construction of new buildings.

The total current roll is $65,285,480, said Hagstrom. In addition to a number of new homes, five apartment buildings and three industrial buildings have been constructed.

The city's first motel is nearing completion at the corner of E. Maple avenue and Hunter boulevard.

Both Hagstrom and Berger pointed out that Birmingham has but a few vacant parcels of land within the city limits.

The biggest share of the tax burden is carried by home owners because of the relatively small number of business and industrial buildings in the city, they agreed.

Present and past members of the Baldwin Library Board are paying tribute to Dr. Dwight B. Ireland, superintendent of schools.

Dr. Ireland who came to Birmingham 17 years ago was appointed to the Library Board almost immediately and has served continuously since that time.

He was cited for his work in helping with financial and building plans as well as with other aspects of library administration.

Dr. Ireland has announced that because of other commitments he will not seek re-election next month.

The First Presbyterian Church school staff is sending out an appeal for voluntary workers for vacation church school, junior day camp and summer sessions of the church school.

Camp counselors also are needed for camps near Oxford and Greenville. Volunteers are asked to register at the Christian Education Office or with the Rev. Robert Gibson, youth minister, at the church office.

Easter vacation for Birmingham schools will begin Thursday, March 26, according to Dr. Richard

Vote-Getting Ring in State Crisis Talk

LANSING (AP)—Words were flowing in the Capitol again today about doing something with the Veterans Trust Fund but they had the ring of pre-election talk.

What they amounted to was Democratic-Republican trading of invitations to come up with a specific proposal.

The $6-million-dollar fund, leaders of both parties have agreed, is the last hope of averting General Fund insolvency in about six weeks.

The latest flurry began yesterday with a bipartisan discussion initiated by Gov. Williams but stymied by a Republican assurance last week that the GOP stands ready to do what it can to avert payless paydays.

The Democratic governor called in Senate and House leaders to urge prompt action.

The letter concluded: "We would prefer a resort where young people (men) are!!!"

Fall on Gas Stove Asphyxiates Pair

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Police found two bodies in the apartment, Florence Hunt, 74, was dead on the kitchen floor. Her grandson Walter Nelson, 8, was dead on a sofa in the living room. The officers surmised this is what happened Monday:

Mrs. Hunt, preparing breakfast, had a heart attack or stroke. As she fell she knocked open gas jets on the stove. The boy, getting ready for school in the other room didn't realize what happened.

Both died of asphyxiation, said Dr. T. F. Hegert, Orange County medical examiner.

Detectives sought relatives.

They found Edna Clark, 35, serving 52 days in jail at Miami. She was convicted of drunken driving and causing an accident.

Freed from jail, her bus fare raised by Miami policemen and a bail bondman, Mrs. Clark came home for the funeral of her mother and son.

Sees Toy Comeback

NEW YORK (UPI) — The toy industry expects to score a comeback in 1939. Last year the industry's volume fell slightly to $1,400,000,000 as the recession took its toll. However, toy makers look for record sales in 1939.

Complicated Waterford Ballot Needs Explaining

Waterford Township election inspectors will have special instructions on explaining the complicated April 6 ballot to voters, according to Township Clerk James E. Seeterlin.

"Many people think they know how to read the ballot in the voting machine without assistance from the inspector, but this year it will be especially confusing to the average township voter," Seeterlin said.

This year's voting will require markings on several different places on the ballot. There are separate party levers for township candidates, as well as individual levers for state candidates.

On the left hand side of the ballot voters will find five different parties listed—Republican, Democrat, Socialist Labor, Socialist Workers and Prohibitionist.

Below the party names will be the Democratic and Republican party levers for each township. Directly in the middle of the ballot, in blue ink, will be the non-partisan judicial ballot of candidates for state supreme and circuit court judges.

Across the top of the ballot in seven separate boxes will be four state proposed amendments to the Constitution and three Waterford Township proposals relative to a new library.

There will be blank ballots available at the 18 Waterford Township precincts for voters to examine before entering the booth, Seeterlin said.

400,000 Children Look After Selves

ORONO, Maine (UPI)—Nearly 400,000 children in the United States under 13 have to care for themselves while their mothers work, and 138,000 of these children are less than 10 years of age.

Among those under 12, one child in 13 whose mother holds down a job must look out for himself for varying periods of time, said Dr. John G. Chantigny.

The extension service family life specialist at the University of Maine said that among youngsters 10 and 11, one in five goes without care while his mother is at work. The number of mothers in the labor force with children under 13 has more than doubled since 1950, Dr. Chantigny said.

During May, 1958, a total of 2,573,000 mothers were working full-time. They had 6,665,000 children, of whom 5,073,000 were under 12.

Fund-Raising Plan Fails

MINEOLA, N. Y. (UPI)—When police arrested William Obergfell, 19, on burglary charges, they said he told them he needed the money to pay for a lawyer who was representing him in another burglary case.

It's Been a Long Year

Spring Due 6 Hours Late

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—Just in case you hadn't already suspected — spring will be late arriving this year.

Hazel M. Losh, associate professor of astronomy at University of Michigan, says spring will arrive at 3:55 a.m. Saturday, March 21 — six hours later than last year.

The reason — it's been a long year—365.24222 days to be exact. Except that we counted only 365. That means spring is arriving .24222 days late.

Don't worry, though, spring will get back on the early schedule again next year when we insert a Feb. 29 in the calendar on Leap Year. Then spring will arrive early and start slipping back all over again until the next Leap Year in 1964.

Korea Bans Staging of 'Dr. Zhivago' Play

SEOUL, Korea (UPI)—"Dr. Zhivago," the controversial novel by Nobel prize-winning Russian author Boris Pasternak, has been banned for stage production in the Republic of Korea. The government announced its ban after a theatrical company said it planned to dramatize the novel in Seoul. It has been the government's policy to prohibit publication or stage or movie production of any literary works by persons presently living in Communist countries. Pasternak's residence is outside Moscow.

Yugoslavia's President Urges Neutralist Stand

It will be interesting to hear what Yugoslavia's President, Tito reports to his people after a three month tour of the Middle East and South-east Asia.

Purpose of his tour of Greece, Syria, Ethiopia, the Sudan, India, Ceylon, Burma and Indonesia has never been clearly stated but one reason could be to bolster his independent stand against Russia and China. Before starting out he had blasted Moscow and Peiping for their desire to dominate his country.

In Greece, the first country visited, President Tito was asked to revive the Greek-Turkish-Yugoslav treaties of friendship and mutual assistance which has been dormant during the Cyprus dispute. The first one, signed in 1953, provided for co-operation on economic and cultural matters and this Yugoslavia would like renewed but would not agree to reviving a 20 year 1954 military alliance pact. If the latter had been agreed on Yugoslavia would be aligned indirectly with the North Atlantic Alliance because both Greece and Turkey are members of that organization.

President Tito received a cordial welcome in all these countries where he denounced colonialism, preached independence, called for a halt to atom bomb tests and particularly urged non-alignment of newly independent countries with either East or West.

His larger purpose seemed to have been consolidation of uncommitted countries into a neutralist third force as a balance of power between the Red block and Western alliance. Whether or not he intended it, Tito may have done the free world a great service.

Judge Holland Is Right to Send Boys to Prison

Circuit Judge H. RUSSEL HOLLAND is to be commended on his swift action in imposing prison sentences on the four Waterford teenagers guilty of beating and robbing a 52 year old man.

It is unfortunate that these juveniles must interrupt their lives with a jail sentence. But in order to protect the citizenry from this vicious type of "mugging" it is necessary that they serve as an example.

Our courts are set up to protect society. By passing sentences such as this they are serving notice that they will not tolerate crimes of this nature.

This should serve as a warning to other young hoodlums in this area that age will not protect them from imprisonment when the crime justifies it.

Influence Peddling Bill Coming Up for Debate

Democratic Representative HARRIS, chairman of a House subcommittee which had been looking into influence peddling in connection with Federal regulatory commissions, finally has made some suggestions to curb such practices.

He would have placed in a public file any communication, oral or written, with a commissioner or staff member of a commission having to do with a pending case. This would also apply to Congressmen, executive officials or any favor seeking businessman. Stiff penalties are provided for not complying with publicity requirements.

Some time ago Atty. Gen. ROGERS proposed that any applicant who tried to approach a commission in any way in the interest of a pending case be disqualified forthwith. This should be added to the HARRIS proposals.

Influence peddling wouldn't be cured but publicity would curb those who use their influence in secret and would keep favor seekers under the public eye.

The Man About Town A Narrow Escape History Shows We Might Be Living in Cadillac

Spring: What officially sneaks in at an early hour Saturday morning.

When the agitation was started early in the last century to organize our county, it was felt that due honor had not been paid the founder of Detroit, Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac, who had made the first settlement there over 100 years before.

Detroit's influence was heavy in forming the new county "just north of our own Wayne County," and the name Cadillac seemed to be strongly pushed by its politicians who even then were trying to dominate Michigan.

Detroit men who had interests here helped draw up the petition for the new county, to be presented to the territorial legislature in session at the capital in Detroit in 1820. The name of Cadillac was inserted into it.

But the home folks here concluded that since the settlement he had made and the county in which it was located neither had thought enough of the memory of Cadillac to assume his name, there was no reason why our new county, "for which he had done little or nothing," could be obligated to do so.

In seeking a name to substitute for it, there was a strong sentiment in favor of giving the new county the name of Pontiac, the same as the location that was to be its county seat, and thus further honor the great Indian chief. But this was ruled out.

While in the overall Michigan territory the pine tree was supposed at that time to predominate, it was not the leading forest tree in the area to be included in the new county. Here were millions of gigantic oaks. Their endurance and prospects of what they would mean in building the commonwealth were visualized, so Cadillac, Pontiac and all other names suggested were put into the discard, and the name in the organizational document changed to Oakland.

On a day this winter when it thawed a little, George Fitts, writes that he saw some ants sunning themselves on a picnic table beside the Dixie Highway northwest of Pontiac, "just waiting."

Michigan is still the largest bean producing state. Not many years ago Oakland County was the top bean producing county in Michigan. But labor and soil conditions have reduced that crop to a mere fraction of what it was.

"Don't poke fun at Toledo," writes Jake Frostman, formerly of Pontiac, now living in the Ohio city. He asserts that if its glass factories were shut down for a few weeks we'd all be in a bad fix.

It seems quite a distance into the future, but State Highway commissioner John C. Mackie has practically announced his candidacy for another term. He says the job is so big that no man can do it justice in one term.

After Five Months, Still Warming Up

David Lawrence Says:

Free Speech, Press Are in Danger

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower says it is "ridiculous" for the Federal Communications Commission to require that equal time be given to political candidates on "newscasts" over radio and television.

He has asked Atty. Gen. Rogers to study the legal problems involved. But it is also incredible that the Congress by law actually specifies that all candidates for political office must be given "equal time" for their speeches during a campaign.

The idea that a governmental agency can instruct a medium of public expression how it may judge news values or edit a program or a publication of any kind would appear on its face to be contrary to the First Amendment to the Constitution, which supposedly guarantees a free press.

But, strange as it may seem, the Supreme Court of the United States as far back as 1921 has held that the government can withdraw second-class mail privileges if a newspaper does not conform to a governmental order by law.

Similarly, the Supreme Court has ruled that the Federal Communications Commission has a right to withdraw radio or television licenses on the basis of "public interest, convenience and necessity."

This clause was written into the law when Congress prescribed how radio and television licenses should be allocated.

Chief Justice Hughes in 1933, speaking for a unanimous Supreme Court, held that the power to allocate radio licenses was confined solely to mechanical factors, so as to avoid collision of wave lengths and to provide an orderly method of awarding licenses, which are limited in number.

Justice Frankfurter, however, writing for the majority in a 5-4 opinion of the Supreme Court in 1942, proclaimed that the powers of Congress are much broader. In allocating licenses, he said, the Federal Communications Commission can consider all sorts of social and economic factors.

He implied, moreover, that the commission could exercise through the power to renew licenses periodically—a certain supervision over the policies of broadcasting and television stations.

Back in 1935, when the Federal Communications Commission interpreted the law passed by Congress the previous year as giving the commission the right to specify how program time shall be used in relation to political campaigns, this correspondent wrote that such regulation was an interference with freedom of the press.

The broadcasting industry at the time, however, was reluctant to wage a fight for its rights. Today the broadcasting and television stations, through their own trade organizations, have shown that they now perceive the dangers arising from the violation of this principle 25 years ago. They are at last ready to do battle on the issue.

Newspapers are by no means protected against similar interferences by the government. Their acceptance of the second-class mail privilege is analogous to the licenses granted television and radio stations.

Congress in 1912, acting under the postal power, passed a law requiring publishers to disclose the names of stockholders or bondholders owning more than 1 per cent of the total of each publication.

This law was upheld in 1913 by the Supreme Court, which said that the application for second-class mail rates by a publisher was in fact acceptance of a "privilege" from the government itself and hence renders publishers subject to federal regulation, notwithstanding the First Amendment.

It's a short step now to the passage of a law that says sources of information must be disclosed. Experience has proved that, by protecting sources of news, information can be published which challenges public authority to ferret out scandals and wrongdoing in the community.

Dr. William Brady Says:

America Has Overlooked Wonderful Health Game

Regularly once a week an enthusiast comes to our green to bowl. He likes to run up and down the green after the ball. This is some of his play-mates because they can't deliver their bows until he gets out of the way, but I don't mind it at all.

We're in no great hurry, and it is good to see a bowler so keen about his game.

After all, the mart is only 86 or 87 years old. Other days through the week he bowls on his own green—the green he built and gave to his city. The man is a millionaire.

Once a week he goes out for a walk—8 or 10 miles in the hills or mountains or wherever walking may be pleasant and not restricted by motor traffic. He has no silly notions about diet. He likes anything and everything that is good to eat, but he insists on one rule: meat three times a day. He does not smoke or drink.

I don't know, but I have the conviction that this octogenarian's VITE is attributable largely to his fondness for long walks and his fondness for lawn bowling—a game he can play himself. Both activities are sadly neglected by most Americans.

It stands to reason that this man has taken good care of his cardiovascular system—his heart and arteries.

Lawn bowling is more popular in Canada than it is in the United States. Many village or small town churches have their bowling greens. I suppose to promote companionship, fellowship or friendship among members. The game should be more popular in the United States, and I'm sure it would eventually become THE popular game if it were as well known to the public as golf or tennis.

Bear in mind, please, lawn bowls is a game you play, not a sport you pay to see. There are no professional lawn bowlers. It is a game strictly for amateurs.

As exercise, bowling on the green is equivalent to a walk around the block. Rolling a 3½ pound biased bowl in a curve on a green like a billiard table takes little muscular effort. It is a game of skill, rather than speed or strength.

Speaking of taking care of one's cardiovascular system, it is better for heart and arteries than timorous inactivity, "taking it easy" as the old timers advise, or walking on eggs if one has had a "heart attack."

Actual statistics show that the initial or subsequent coronary episode is more likely to occur when one is at rest than when one is taking a walk or doing chores about the house, yard or garden, or playing one's favorite game—barring tournaments or similar serious or prize contests.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan. (Copyright 1959)

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Tells Advantages of Pharmacy

A French pharmacist named Parmentier is one of the greatest Applied Psychologists of all history. And pharmacy is a time-honored profession that has been a scientific twin of medicine. If you high schoolers like chemistry, but also enjoy dealing with people, then consider pharmacy as a professional career.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case A-482: J. W. Lansdowne is an able executive of the famous Eli Lilly Company.

"Dr. Crane," he began recently, "I wonder if you would write an article for our house organ and show the advantages of the pharmacy profession?"

"We'd like it to be of profound interest to high school counselors, pharmacists and high school graduates, too."

Mr. Lansdowne deserves praise for his attempt to sell high school graduates on entering the honorable profession that has been the ally of physicians and dentists since Adam and Eve.

The modern pharmacist is really a versatile person, combining the talents of the pharmaceutical chemist, with business ability and a lot of tact.

"Dr. Crane, I bought a hotel recently," a friend of mine began, "and it has a good drug store on the corner."

"But I need a pharmacist to take over. I'd pay $10,000 per year and give him a per cent of

'Do Non-Property Owners Have Vote in Tax Issues?'

I'm an inspector at Pontiac Motor Division and several employees have been discussing whether all voters or only property owners are supposed to vote on raising millage for new taxes to build new schools, raise teachers' salaries, etc. Would this question of property-owners-only voting on increasing taxes vary from one place to another in the state? I've talked to officials in two townships with indecisive results.

What right do they have to cut my old age assistance because I'm not using a special diet which I know nothing about and which had never been prescribed for me by a doctor? It was reduced from $35 to $22, which caused a hardship for me because it doesn't buy very much today.

Another Complains of Waterford Dogs

I'm another Waterford resident who's fed up with the dogs running loose. It isn't fun to clean up after dogs all summer or see them make a mess of your garden and jump on your children, frightening them terribly.

I like dogs, but they belong at home. What steps can be taken to enact a law to keep Waterford dogs tied up in summer as other communities do? Laws must be made for the benefit of citizens, not dogs.

Maybe letters in this column will get the ball rolling. Lakeland Paradise? Canine paradise is more like it.

Income Tax Notes

MEDICAL, DENTAL EXPENSES

As defined in your Form 1040 instruction booklet, there is a deduction allowed for medical and dental expenses which is subject to certain limitations.

Medicine and drugs may be deducted to the extent that they exceed one per cent of adjusted gross income (line 11, page 1, Form 1040). This limitation applies to all taxpayers regardless of age.

In computing deductible medical and dental expenses for taxpayers under 65, you must remember that they are deductible only to the extent that they exceed three per cent of your adjusted gross income.

If either you or your spouse is 65 or over by the close of the taxable year, you need not reduce your medical expense deduction by three per cent of your adjusted gross income.

For taxpayers claiming medical expenses, there is a maximum deduction. The maximum deduction is different depending on the type of return you file.

The Form 1040 instruction booklet lists the maximum deductions allowable to all taxpayers, including the new maximum deductions for disabled taxpayers 65 years of age or over.

Read the instruction booklet, and if you still have a question, call the local Internal Revenue Service office.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Therefore now amend your ways and your doings, and obey the voice of the Lord your God; and the Lord will repent him of the evil that he hath pronounced against you.—Jeremiah 26:13.

You cannot repent too soon, because you do not know how soon it may be too late. — Thomas Fuller.

no crops could ever be raised on land once devoted to potatoes.

Even the priests thundered against potatoes from their pulpits:

One wealthy Britisher named Thomas Coke finally raised some potatoes to disprove the general opposition, but his farm tenants even then would only concede that perhaps "it wouldn't poison the pigs."

So Parmentier knew he was confronting a grave problem. But he had the merchandising skill of our best modern American pharmacists.

So he used some psychological strategy. It was so good, I have used it as an example in my college textbook. See tomorrow's followup.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long to stamped, self-addressed envelope and the to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Reds Like Map Shown by Ike

Chart He Used With Speech Has Present German Boundaries

Germany congratulated President Eisenhower today for giving his Berlin speech in front of a map which it said showed the present boundaries of Germany, rather than prewar boundaries.

The Red newspaper Berliner Zeitung printed a picture showing Eisenhower pointing at the map. Underneath, the paper wrote: "During his television address on the Berlin question, the U.S.A. President pointed to a map of Germany which clearly showed the Oder-Neisse boundary. This recognition of realities is not a bad preparation for a summit conference."

The Communist party organ Neues Deutschland in an editorial said Eisenhower's use of the map had shocked West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, whom it accused of trying to convince the world that Germany's eastern boundary should lie in the Ural Mountains.

Actually, West Germany — with the official backing of France, Britain and the United States — contends that the question of Germany's boundaries must be settled at a peace conference.

Under World War II surrender terms, the German provinces of East Prussia, Silesia and Pomerania were put under Soviet and Polish control pending a final peace treaty. The temporary border between Poland and East Germany was drawn along the Oder-Neisse rivers.

Since then, the Soviet Union, Poland and East Germany have frequently declared that the Oder-Neisse line is final and will not be changed at any peace conference.

West German government maps, and maps used in West German schools, all show the Eastern territories as part of Germany. Labeled "under Polish administration."

East German maps show the territories as completely integrated parts of Poland and the Soviet Union.

State GOP Plans Vote of Protest Over Cash Crisis

LANSING (U-P) — Republican State Chairman Lawrence B. Lindner says his party plans to organize a grass roots protest vote in the April 6 election over the "refusal of the Democrats to compromise" on a solution to Michigan's cash emergency.

The GOP spokesman said the executive committee of the Republican State Central Committee will lay plans for the protest vote at a special meeting in Lansing March 20.

John R. Stiles of Grand Rapids, executive committee chairman, said:

"The executive committee will lead a drive to let all citizens know how the Democrats refused to let the people vote on a sales tax increase even for six months to keep the state in business.

"Democrats are taking the irresponsible approach in their determination to force a graduated income tax on Michigan."

U.S. Auto Imports Top $½ Trillion in '58

WASHINGTON (UPI)—United States automotive imports jumped to an all-time high value of $551,371,000 in 1958, as factories in 10 countries catered to the growing demand of Americans for small passenger cars.

New cars imported in 1958 totaled 432,113 units valued at $486,983,000. In 1957 a total of 259,343 units valued at $301,286,000 was imported. As recently as 1954 imports were only 34,554 cars valued at $44,897,000.

The United Kingdom passed West Germany as the No. 1 supplier of passenger automobiles to the U. S. market in 1958. Purchases of French cars were more than doubled in a single year. Imports from Italy tripled, and imports from Japan reached a fairly sizeable number for the first time.

The only declines were from Canada and Ireland. Trucks imports in 1958 were 15,022 units valued at $17,436,000.

compared with 8,306 units valued at $9,660,000 in 1957. The principal suppliers were West Germany and the United Kingdom.

The above official statistics, obtained exclusively by the United Press International, showed a persistent upswing in United States imports of passenger automobiles through the last five years.

Experts regard this as perhaps the most significant international trade development in the post-war period, as it previously had been believed that American-made cars were almost immune from competition in the domestic market.

Continuation of the trend through 1959, experts said, will almost certainly compel United States manufacturers to produce smaller types of cars more directly competitive with the foreign products.

(The Ford Motor Co. already has indicated its intention to introduce an economy car in the 1960 model year. Chrysler and General Motors also have small cars on the drawing boards ready to go.)

In 1958 the United States imported passenger automobiles from Canada, Sweden, United Kingdom, West Germany, Italy, France, Japan, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, and Belgium.

Unofficial reports have indicated that the Soviet Union hopes soon to find a place in the United States market for its small cars.

United States imports of passenger automobiles from the United Kingdom in 1958 numbered 156,597 units valued at $194,072,000. In 1957 there were 95,510 units from Britain valued at $122,505,000.

Imports from West Germany in 1958 were 122,802 units valued at $145,974,000 compared with 100,042 units valued at $110,831,000 in the previous year.

Imports of passenger cars from France, the third largest supplier, in 1958 were 89,481 units valued at $86,120,000 compared with 37,205 units valued at $35,782,000 in 1957.

Stay With Cost of Living

By RAY HENRY

Notes for and about the older generation: Pensions which go up with the cost of living—That's what the Retail Clerks Union negotiated recently for 36,000 of its members working in southern California supermarkets.

After July 1, retired employees of the supermarkets will have their pensions adjusted every six months to reflect changes in the Los Angeles cost-of-living index.

In the same negotiations, the supermarket operators agreed to set up a fund—starting next Jan. 1—to provide health and welfare benefits, such as medical care insurance, for their retired employees.

Union officials figure the operators' contributions to the fund will probably give health and welfare benefits equal to what employees received.

Social Security payments now go to 12½ million Americans—one out of every 14 men, women and children in the United States.

Social Security came late for Mrs. Delcena Jordan of Marbury, Md. In February, she started getting payments just before she reached 101.

Born a slave, Mrs. Jordan says she spent most of her life as a midwife and brought some 3,000 to 4,000 babies into the world.

She's now getting payments because of a recent change in the Social Security law.

Several years ago the Social Security Administration responded to a request for a Social Security card.

A few days later, the card was returned with this notation: "You spelt my name rong."

Macmillan Optimistic, Unruffled Negotiator

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
LONDON 19—Just what kind of man is this British Prime Minister who has seemingly seized the initiative in an attempt to break the cold war stalemate?

Nikita Khrushchev found out last month that all the old clichés about the British certainly fit Harold Macmillan.

He's polished and soft-spoken, never gets ruffled and perhaps leaves one with the slightly uneasy feeling that he may not really be as friendly as he seems. And he won't be bullied.

The way British officials tell it, Khrushchev angrily rapped the Kremlin table. If the West gets in the way of Russia's plan for Berlin, he exploded, it could mean "war!"

Macmillan's silver mustache hardly quivered. Then he broke the hush to reply with equal force that the Allies never will surrender their rights in the menaced city.

Khrushchev apparently was impressed by Macmillan's quiet force.

Most British politicians have known for years that "Macmillan never flaps; he does not run; he keeps trying."

The British leader will keep trying in his talks with President Eisenhower this week—as he tried with Khrushchev—to insure that Washington and Moscow don't get into positions from which they might find it impossible to retreat.

That is because Macmillan seemingly took Khrushchev's talk of "war" seriously. And that is why he has been emphasizing the need for "flexibility."

He's convinced first that Khrushchev personally wants to do the talking for Russia—and primarily to the President—at a whole series of summit conferences beginning in July.

He's satisfied that a little success at first can lead to bigger ones—that the road to disarmament may well pass through Berlin.

He has a hunch that the Berlin powder barrel might become irrelevant if the city is "demilitarized" or "controlled" within a much wider, bigger zone across Europe where East-West forces could be frozen at agreed levels.

And finally he feels the Allies could come up with more imaginative—not necessarily gimmicky—proposals for things like a German peace settlement and an East-West accord to quit test-firing nuclear weapons.

Macmillan's new ambition to be a peacemaker may stem from his incurable optimism—an optimism that rarely has failed him in his rise to political leadership.

There have been suggestions at home and abroad that he also is being moved by vote-catching considerations at the time when his party almost certainly faces a general election within six months. And another likely explanation is that with Secretary of State Dulles ill, somebody else has got to get the Allies together.

Macmillan actually is relatively inexperienced in dealing with the hard-bargaining Russians. He accompanied then Prime Minister Anthony Eden to the 1955 summit conference in Geneva as foreign minister, sat in at a foreign ministers' conference on Germany a few months later, and in 1956 met with the Russian leaders again in London.

But that was about the limit of his first-hand experience in negotiating.

Since becoming Prime Minister he has made a point of arranging man-to-man talks with President Eisenhower as often as possible, with West German Chancellor Adenauer, with French President de Gaulle and with British Commonwealth and West European statesmen. And he has done his best to read all the official foreign office assessments of Soviet aims and purposes, especially in relation to Germany.

Amherst Invites All Namesakes

AMHERST, Mass. (UPI)—This town wants all the other communities with the same name to share in its birthday celebration this year.

It was founded 200 years ago in 1759 and was named after Lord Jeffery Amherst, commanding general of the British force in North America during the French and Indian War.

The bicentennial celebration committee has extended invitations to communities named Amherst in Colorado, Maine, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Ohio, South Dakota, Texas, Virginia, Wisconsin and Nova Scotia to participate in the bicentennial parade Oct. 25 and during birthday week, Oct. 17-25.

Scrub Wallaby Swapped for Pocket Gopher

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—The Minnesota Museum of Natural History and the National Museum of Victoria in Melbourne, Australia, swapped a few items recently.

The Australians sent the Minnesotans the skins of a spiny anteater, scrub wallaby, flying phalanger and the skull of a wombat. The Minnesotans sent the Australians the skins and skulls of a timber wolf, pocket gopher, flying squirrel, short-tailed shrew and several species of mice.

Expect English, Dutch Ships July 3

Royalty to Crowd Detroit River?

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—There is a strong possibility that royalty of two countries will sail up the Detroit River en route to Chicago on the same day this summer.

Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip are scheduled to leave Windsor July 3 aboard the royal yacht Britannia bound for Sarnia.

Aboard the new passenger-cargo ship of the Oranje Line will be Princess Irene of The Netherlands.

The new vessel, which was built in Holland this year and appropriately christened "The Princess Irene" will be in Montreal June 27, the same day as the Britannia.

However, because of security reasons the Princess will leave Montreal 12-hours behind the Britannia.

Officials of the Detroit Port Commission claim the two ships could arrive in the Detroit River the same day.

"The Britannia has scheduled several stops before arriving in Windsor so it is only reasonable to figure that the Princess Irene would gain time and make the Detroit River ahead of the Britannia," a Detroit spokesman said.

Both ships are scheduled to arrive in Chicago July 6 to take part in festivities for the official opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

U.S. Has 3 Trillion Tons of Soft Coal in Reserve

NEW YORK (UPI)—Total U. S. soft coal reserves amount to roughly two trillion tons—enough to last present users for more than 2,000 years, according to recent estimates. Approximately two-thirds of these reserves are estimated to lie west of the Mississippi.

Wrong Box, It Seems

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dr. Giovanni Perona, an atomic scientist from Italy, was accused of turning in a false alarm, but the case was dismissed when Perona explained he merely wanted to make a telephone call. Italian street phones, it seems, look remarkably like New York City fire boxes.

FEDELE F. FAURI

Family Service Plans Annual

U. of M. Dean to Speak, and Directors Elected at March 30 Meeting

Fedele F. Fauri, dean of the School of Social Welfare at the University of Michigan, will be the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Family Service of Oakland County to be held March 30 at Bloomfield Hills High School.

Dean Fauri, also a professor of public welfare administration, is a native of Michigan and a former director of the Michigan Department of Social Welfare. He received his bachelor of arts degree in 1930 and a bachelor of law degree in 1933 from U. of M.

After serving four years as director of the Michigan Department of Social Welfare, he went to Washington to serve as senior specialist in social legislation for the Legislative Reference Service of the Library of Congress.

Dean Fauri is currently president of the Council on Social Work Education and is chairman of the Federal Advisory Council on Employment Security.

The purpose of the county Family Service is to promote the services and participate in the community planning which will develop and preserve wholesome family life. The agency offers counsel to individuals needing help in making a satisfactory adjustment within themselves and their environment.

Family Service also shares in developing the social services necessary in the locality and in the cooperative working relationships between the various agencies and community leaders.

Fauri's address will be the highlight of the event marking the ninth annual meeting of the agency.

Mrs. Noel Buckner, president of the board of directors, will preside and introduce new Executive Director Robert James. Robert Snyder will present the names of new board members. The treasurer's report will come from John W. Hurlinger, managing director of the Pontiac area Chamber of Commerce.

Teachers, counselors, friends of the agency, and all those who are interested in knowing more about the work of Family Service, have been invited to attend. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the school, located at W. Long Lake and Andover roads.

Following Dean Fauri's address there will be an informal reception and social hour. Refreshments will be served by volunteers from the Birmingham Junior League.

Cherry Blossom Festival Date Puzzles Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI)—This is the time of year when officials of the Washington Board of Trade begin to cast nervous glances at the calendar, the thermometer, and the still-bare cherry trees around the Tidal Basin.

Will the cherry blossoms be late, like last year? Or early, like the year before? Or will they, miracle of miracles, be right on time?

On time, so far as the Board of Trade is concerned, would be April 7-12. That is when about 500,000 visitors are coming to Washington, at the cordial invitation of the Board of Trade, to attend the annual Cherry Blossom Festival.

This Festival, which began modestly in 1934, has burgeoned in recent years into one of America's top tourist magnets, rivaling New Orleans' Mardi Gras and Pasadena's Tournament of Roses.

On top this year is a six-day program of revelry, including a four-hour night parade with more than 200 floats, a two-day free pageant, national competition for high school bands and drill teams, and a grand ball at which one of the 52 princesses, representing each state and territory, will be chosen by the spin of a giant wheel to reign as Cherry Blossom Queen. It takes months of preparations to line up such a colossal spectacle, so the dates of the Festival have to be fixed far in advance. That means somebody has to guess when the cherry trees are likely to bloom, and a more perilous job of forecasting would be hard to imagine.

The National Capital Park Service has kept meticulous records for the past 30 years of the precise dates on which the famous pink and white blossoms have burst forth. The earliest date of peak bloom was March 20. The latest was April 12.

In the past, sponsors of the Festival consulted long range weather forecasts (and, according to local legend, almanacs and astrologers) in an effort to outfigure the trees.

If the outlook was for a severe winter, and a late spring, they planned the festival late in April. If a mild winter and early spring were forecast, they pitched the show for late March or early April.

These abstruse calculations frequently proved to be an exercise in futility. Last year, for example, the Festival was held March 24-30. The cherry trees bloomed in mid-April.

This year, the sponsors took a simpler approach. They looked at the Park Service records and noted that, over the years, the blossoms have been out on April 7 more often than on any other date. So they decided to play the law of averages and bet on April 7-12.

"So far, it looks like a pretty good guess," said Cornelius Heine, a National Capital Park official who helped to pick the date. "We have had an average winter, early to mid-April looks now like a reasonable time to expect the blossoms."

But Heine quickly added that a sudden streak of unusually cold or unusually warm weather could still upset the cherry cart.

"You really can't predict the blossoming date with any accuracy," he confessed, "until about two weeks before they actually come out."

Nor is there much that man can do to influence the trees, Heine added.

"We've experimented with all sorts of hormone sprays and other things to delay the bloom," he said. "They don't do much good."

"A few nice, warm days and those trees just burst forth like popcorn in a popper."

Moves Into Glass House

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—Rep. Evelyn S. Fisher had good reason to be mortified for being one of eight absentees on the opening day of the 279-member state House of Representatives.

Mrs. Fisher, who was sick, said woefully, "and I campaigned on my opponent's poor attendance record."

Antarctic Ship Used for Study of Colds

ABOARD THE U.S.S. STATEN ISLAND IN McMurdo Sound, Antarctica (UPI)—The frozen Antarctic has become the latest battleground in the fight against the common cold.

Doctors aboard this Navy icebreaker are working on a research project to increase knowledge of what causes colds and how to prevent them.

The program is aimed at identifying and, if possible, isolating viruses which cause colds and other upper respiratory infections.

The project, known as "Operation Sniffles," is being conducted by two British doctors.

They are studying closely some 50 crew members who volunteered to act as guinea pigs. In addition, any of the 250 persons aboard this rugged icebreaker who catch cold report to the doctors to supply them with additional information.

Plain Road English Urged

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—State Rep. John Shostak wants to establish a commission to make sure highway signs are written in plain English. He thinks such signs as "crossing medium divider prohibited" should be changed to "don't cross center strip."

State's Students to Be Cheated?

School Chief Alarmed by Growing Lag in Filling Needs

SAGINAW (AP)—Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett said today Michigan will find itself in the "morally indefensible position of short-changing its boys and girls" unless quick action is taken to fill school needs.

He said the state's public school enrollment is increasing by more than 60,000 pupils yearly and added that 11,000 new classrooms are needed.

He called for state and federal funds to ease the financial pressure on local school districts.

Bartlett was campaigning in Saginaw for re-election on the Democratic ticket to the state's public education post in the April 6 election.

Last night he told a Bay City audience that any further increase in college tuition rates could make education prohibitive to youngsters from average-income families.

He said tuition fees in many Michigan institutions of higher learning have almost tripled since 1950.

Bears Out Christ's Sayings in Bible

'Gospel of St. Thomas' Found in Egypt

NEW YORK (AP)—A document known as the "Gospel of St. Thomas," discovered in Egypt, contains 114 sayings attributed to Jesus—many of them previously unknown—a French scholar reports.

Existence of the document was disclosed Wednesday night by Dr. Oscar Cullman, professor of early Christianity at the Sorbonne in Paris, in a lecture at Union Theological Seminary.

The document, Cullman said, is "comparable in importance to the Dead Sea scrolls and of even greater significance to students of the New Testament."

He said the document was one of 44 treatises found in 1946 by Egyptian peasants in an old tomb cut in limestone cliffs about 60 miles from Luxor. Written in the Coptic language, the treatises were divided among 13 leather-bound, papyrus books.

Cullman, a visiting professor at the seminary this year, said many of the sayings found in the treatises could be traced word for word in the four Gospels of the New Testament—Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John.

One hitherto unknown saying quoted by Cullman was:

"Jesus said: If those who lead you say to you: behold, the kingdom is in heaven, then the birds of heaven will precede you; if they say to you that it is in the sea, then the fish will precede you. But the kingdom is within you and it is outside of you."

Contents of the document, Cullman said, were disclosed by Dr. Henry Charles Puech, professor of early Christianity at the College of France in Paris, who will publish them sometime this year.

Discovery of the treatises has been known, Cullman continued, but the contents of the document dealing with Jesus have not been previously disclosed.

Unlike the canonic Gospels, he said, the "Gospel of Thomas" does not give any personalized information about Jesus.

Cullman said he noted four kinds of sayings in the document:

1. Those which are word for word the same as in the canonic Gospels.

2. Those which provide independent variants to the sayings in the canonic Gospels.

3. Those not found in the canonic Gospels in any form, but which were known from citations of the church fathers.

4. Those which were formerly completely unknown.

Cullman said the Jung Institute in Zurich purchased one manuscript, and the others are now in the Coptic Museum in Cairo.

"The Coptic manuscripts were written in the third or fourth century, but go back to Greek originals which are much older," Cullman said.

Marilyn Worn, Unsightly, but They'll Keep Her

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI)—Marilyn is in a heck of a shape, the spokesmen said, and should be banished.

Worn out, said another. Always has a bunch of empty beer cans lying about, said still another.

But Marilyn is still needed, in spite of appearances, an opposition group argued.

AEC Approves Program

HOUGHTON (AP)—Michigan Tech's new graduate program in nuclear engineering has been approved by the Atomic Energy Commission for special AEC fellowships in nuclear science and engineering, the school announced.

Williams Won't Run, Wife Says

Nancy Thinks Husband Doesn't Want 7th Term, Silent on Other Plans

TOKYO (AP)—Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams' wife today said she doubted her husband would seek re-election at the end of his present term, his sixth in office.

Williams, 47, is considered a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. His wife said she had no idea whether he would seek any political office other than the governorship.

Mrs. Williams is in Japan for the first stop on a two-month observation tour of World Health Organization (WHO) activities in Asia.

Earlier today the Pacific Stars and Stripes, the unofficial servicemen's newspaper, quoted her as saying Williams "will not run for office again," that she thought he had had "enough."

"I didn't say that," she replied when asked about the Stars and Stripes report.

"I just said I would doubt he would run for governor again because he has served six consecutive terms."

She added that she had not discussed the matter with Williams, whose present term has two more years to run.

Wrong Car but Right Keys Make Amusing Switch

LANSING (AP)—Did you ever mistakenly get into somebody else's car only to discover the error when your keys wouldn't fit the ignition lock?

That's almost what happened to Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, president of Eastern Michigan State College.

But Elliott's keys fitted and he drove the 75 miles to Ypsilanti Tuesday. When he arrived and looked in the glove compartment, a gasoline credit slip there identified the car as that of James W. Miller, state controller and former Michigan State University political science professor.

While Elliott drove along unaware, Miller searched 20 minutes for his state-issue, 1957 black Ford in the Capitol parking lot.

Then he surmised what happened, climbed into Elliott's car and drove home. Telephone reports from the respective parties came into the State Motor Pool superintendent.

Elliott drove back to Lansing yesterday for signing of the Legislative bill elevating Eastern to university status effective June 1, and he and Miller swapped cars again—this time deliberately.

Chucking about the incident, Elliott said he was told that the chances of his car keys fitting the lock of another vehicle of the same year and make were one in 5,000.

Appoint High Court Judges, Says Baldwin

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Michigan's Supreme Court justices should be appointed rather than elected, says a Republican nominee for the high court.

An appointment system "would avoid the indignity of political nomination and non-political campaigning," said William H. Baldwin of Birmingham in a talk before the Grand Rapids Bar Assn.

"Justices should hold permanent office during good behavior and should have a fixed provision for their support," he said.

"In this manner the judiciary, having neither the sword of the executive nor the purse of the legislative branch, may hold separate and aloof its power of judging."

Baldwin, one of two GOP choices to replace Democratic incumbents, noted Michigan abandoned partisan election of judges two decades ago. All candidates, however, still are nominated at party conventions.

Pair Named by College

MARQUETTE (AP)—Northern Michigan College has announced the appointment of Dr. William C. Hoppes as dean of education and Dr. Edward Plau to succeed him as head of the Department of Psychology and Education.

Dodd Understood: 'Let Go and Let God'

really understanding what it meant.

Over and over as I lay in my hospital bed came a phrase I had heard Dr. Wilson repeat in Christ Church Unity: "Let go and let God!" After many long, silent talks with God, finally I was able to do this with my physical body—to let God take it—or leave it with me to use for His purpose.

When I came out of the hospital I told Ruth about this experience. "I think it's time now for me to do that in every department," I told her. "To turn my life completely over to Him. This means in terms of my career, too."

We knelt down together, then, and prayed aloud, a thing we had never done before. We put into specific words our intention and asked that He help us. Where before I had prayed for success, dictating how and where I thought it should come, I now turned it all over to God.

One morning I read in Billboard magazine that there was to be a contest to select an official song for Washington, D. C. I prayed that if this were a door for me to open, that I be enabled to do it.

My song won.

Shortly after that another song was "given" to me in the same way. It was called "He Was There," and 11 different people recorded it. I hadn't knocked on a single door. Every morning before attempting any work, I simply turned the day over to God, offered Him the vehicle of my life, gave thanks that I knew He was there.

Ruth's cancer was arrested—that was eight years ago. My health improved until one could call me robust! And a friend brought that "big break" to our door.

Bill Justice had graduated from an animator to a director at Walt Disney Studios, and he called one day to say that Mr. Disney was looking for a certain type of song.

"Take a crack at it," he advised. Once again I asked, that if this be my door, I be given a song, and the song came. I had a momentary relapse of "own will" when Bill advised that I send him a demonstration record instead of coming over to sing it myself. "I think I can sell it better," I said.

"Maybe you can sell you better, but you are trying to sell the song," Bill advised. "Get out of your own way."

And I was able, with my new approach to life, to take his advice. The song was accepted, and I was offered a month's trial at the studio as a song writer. From that came the chance to be the adult guardian of the Mickey Mouse Club and the Mouseketeers on a national television show.

Here was an opportunity beyond my personal imaginings. I could use the whole grab bag—sing, dance, write songs. So Ruth and I wound up with a large and loving family quite beyond any limited expectations we might have had.

Best of all I could pass on to the children, at the close of each afternoon, something I had always believed but only recently proven. I could state with complete confidence that, if we let God's will for us—His goodness, kindness, love, wisdom—function in our lives, then truly our cup runneth over.

Crazed Man Holds Mother, 3 Children

night on the pretense of wanting to use the telephone.

Then he whipped out a pistol and threatened to kill the whole family, Baldwin told police.

The crazed ex-convict bound Baldwin, his wife Elma, 39, and their children, Susan, 5; Danny, 7, and Kenneth, 10. Methodically he gagged each one.

He ignored Mrs. Baldwin's mumbled pleas to release the gag, and composed his wild note addressed to Underwood.

Then he herded the mother and her three frightened children into Baldwin's 1935 model car. Baldwin was left tied up in the family's five-room house. He broke free and notified authorities.

"He said he would kill my wife and torture the children if I called police," Baldwin told authorities. State police Capt. W. R. Callaghan said Payne was released from the State Penitentiary at Moundsville last week. He had served seven years for an armed robbery in which he shot and wounded a motel owner.

Twenty patrol cars were assigned by state police to highways in southern West Virginia to try to track down the abductor. Authorities in six nearby states also were alerted.

Is Off-the-Cuff Remark Key in Kierdorf Death?

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL Jr.
FLINT — "Maybe we should touch a match to it."

Could this alleged off-the-cuff remark been the spark behind the Aug. 3 burning of the Latrelle Dry Cleaners pickup station, which police say cost Flint Teamsters business agent Frank H. Kierdorf his life?

The question hovered today over Circuit Court Judge Stephen J. Roth's courtroom during the third day of testimony against Jack D. Thompson, another business agent with the Flint Teamsters local, who is accused of aiding Kierdorf in the arson.

L. Keith Ketzler, owner of the building leased partially to the cleaners and partially to a dairy firm, admitted under cross-examination yesterday that it was from the dairy that the startling suggestion came.

SWORN STATEMENT

At first Ketzler said he would neither "deny nor affirm" that Harry Hartman, treasurer for the leasing McDonald Co., had made the remark while talking over the repair of a septic tank in the unoccupied building located at Davidson and Center roads, four miles east of downtown Flint in Burton Township.

Later, however, under further cross-examination by Thompson's attorney, James E. Haggerty Sr. of Detroit, Ketzler was confronted with a copy of a sworn statement he gave investigators Aug. 8, in which he mentioned that Hartman had said, "Maybe we should touch a match to it," apparently meaning the building.

Ketzler's memory was clearer earlier when he testified he did recall an old friend of his, Herbert L. Harrison, owner of a larger dry cleaners across from Latrelle's, asking him whether he couldn't close down Latrelle. Ketzler said he showed Harrison a lease which would have prevented this.

Harrison, Ketzler testified, was continually "needing" him about allowing a competitor to open up across from him.

Under cross examination by Haggerty, Ketzler testified he owed $44,000 on the property and building.

He said he had $6,500 in fire insurance on the building itself, and has received $5,700 from the insurance company for the building since the fire.

Thompson, a 42-year-old husness agent with Flint Teamsters Local 332, is accused of aiding Kierdorf in burning down Latrelle's branch station.

Kierdorf, 36, died from head-to-toe burns Aug. 7 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac.

OVERLOOKED SOMEBODY

Thompson appeared to be pointing the finger at Ketzler when he told a reporter at the noon recess, "I think they've (prosecution) overlooked somebody."

When questioned by the reporter which of the three morning witnesses he was referring to, Thompson said, "no comment."

Resides Ketzler, Kierdorf's son, Frank Jr., and George W. Latrelle, operator of the cleaners, testified. Latrelle sub-leased the building from the dairy company.

Ketzler, in leaving the court-house, disclosed to the same reporter that, "I guess I shouldn't have told about the remark in the first place."

Further, he said he felt at the time like criticizing firemen for attempting to save the cleaners.

Harrison is expected to tell his story either today or tomorrow, according to Jerome F. O'Rourke, Genesee County prosecutor.

At the pretrial examination of Thompson in December, it was brought out in testimony that Harrison and his wife visited Thompson at his Grayling cottage the day before the fire.

This conflicted with what Thompson had said in a statement he gave Aug. 7, in which he didn't include Harrison as one of his visitors.

Asked later why he hadn't mentioned Harrison, Thompson said he "didn't think it was important to drag him into the case."

At the close of testimony yesterday O'Rourke had called 13 of a possible 92 witnesses. Included in

TREATED FRANK KIERDORF

Also testifying yesterday afternoon were Mrs. Anna Mae Mullins of Port Huron, who, as a nurse at the Pontiac hospital, was one of the first to treat Frank Kierdorf.

Another witness was a next door neighbor of Kierdorf, Charles M. Baberack, who said he saw Kierdorf leave his Stowart street home with another man in a black Cadillac an hour before the fire. Thompson owns a black Cadillac.

Haggerty attempted to show another possible motive for arson while cross-examining Mrs. Maxine Saumier, who he claimed was on unfriendly terms with her former landlord.

Mrs. Saumier denied that George Patterson, the landlord, had said he would "get even" with her a month before the fire for having police evict him from her apartment. Mrs. Saumier operated the restaurant adjoining Latrelle's station.

There were four more witnesses called today to link Kierdorf and Thompson to the fire.

Firm Selling Iron Ore at Last Year's Price

CLEVELAND — The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. today announced that it is selling iron ore at the same price charged last year, but may review its prices later in the shipping season.

John S. Wilbur, Cleveland-Cliffs vice president, said substantial tonnages of Lake Superior iron ore have been sold for 1939 delivery. He pointed out that the company has absorbed increased labor, rail and vessel rates since the last price increase two years ago.

Battle Clouds Form Over Airport-Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats and Republicans squared off today for another budget battle likely to have repercussions in next year's election campaigns.

It's over a Democratic-backed airport-aid bill which calls for spending $7 million dollars more than President Eisenhower has recommended.

Republicans are backing a bill following the President's recommendations and providing for a four-year outlay of 200 millions for airport development.

They already have served notice that they will demand a separate roll-call on their measure to determine, in the words of GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, "who the spenders are."

Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts told the House there will be a roll-call vote on the Democrats' bill "and it will be interesting to see how Republicans vote."

Car Output to Hit '59 High This Week

DETROIT — Passenger car output this week is expected to reach a year's high of 136,250 units, Automotive News said today. The increase will result from overtime operations by Plymouth, Rambler, Studebaker, Lincoln-Thunderbird and five Ford division plants.

The highest previous week's output this year was 135,976 cars built in the week ended Jan. 17.

Last week 134,306 cars were built. In the comparable 1958 week assemblies numbered 80,480 units.

Truck production this week will be 24,564 units compared with 24,367 last week and 15,789 in the comparable 1958 week.

Automotive News said Canadian factories will build 10,142 cars and trucks compared with 9,369 last week and 8,571 in the same 1958 week.

One of them was Guy C. Colley, who lives near the cleaners.

Colley testified he heard the explosion, looked out his window and spotted two men at the rear of the burning building.

"They were about three feet apart and had a flaming object between them. One of them tossed it through a window into the building."

The men disappeared around a corner and soon after a two-tone station wagon pulled down the street, Colley said.

Another neighbor of Kierdorf's, Mrs. Edna Bergeron, said she saw a two-tone station wagon pull into the Kierdorf driveway about 30 minutes after the fire was supposed to have been set.

Two men whom she couldn't identify got out and a little later the light went on in Kierdorf's kitchen, revealing Kierdorf in a light-colored bathrobe, she said.

After putting the stationwagon in the garage, she continued, the pair began transferring eight or so objects — "they looked like pillow cases," Mrs. Bergeron said — into a late model black car in the driveway, either a Lincoln or a Cadillac, she said.

A half hour later, they drove off in the Cadillac, the women testified. This was about an hour before Kierdorf appeared at St. Joseph Hospital.

The witness said she wasn't able to identify the other man.

A third person, Mrs. Imogene Ross of Flint, testified she was driving by the cleaners when it went up in flames.

She said that she spotted two men running from the building, one of them with a "circle of sparks" on the left shoulder of his clothing.

Royal Oak Man Orders New Van

Agrees to Pick Up Tab for National Company to Carry Load

A Royal Oak man is rushing aid to the bogged-down Michigan 59ers en route to Alaska.

The caravan's 1934 moving van fell apart yesterday in Fort Nelson, a British Columbia town of 200 persons.

Overloaded from the start of the hometesters' journey from Detroit, the van has been a big source of trouble for the group. "It seems to have coughed its last," trekkers agreed today.

Curtis Potter of 2658 Bembridge St., Royal Oak, had given the van to the pioneers. Now he has agreed to pay the tab for a national moving company to pick up the van's load. The new truck is expected to catch the group by Friday.

"I started something and I guess I have to see it through," said Potter.

The 59ers have been faced with other troubles, including illness, bitter cold, other vehicles falling apart, leadership disputes and heavy snow.

Recalling they could use money, Harry Tachia of Detroit, who plans to make the journey to Alaska in June, has sent them $300.

"I'm sending the money because we know they can use it," he said. The group had hoped to reach their new homesteads by the end of this week, but they are several days behind schedule.

One of the pioneers, Leroy MacDonald, traveled ahead of the caravan to take his two sons to a hospital in Whitehorse, Yukon Territory.

The children, with frostbitten feet, were described by hospital attendants as in good condition.

REJOINS CARAVAN
After leaving the children, MacDonald headed back to rejoin the caravan. Temperatures in the Whitehorse area were around 40 degrees below zero.

MARQUETTE ON—Two laid-off Upper Peninsula miners are going to make the overland trek to Alaska for a future as homesteaders and businessmen.

Bernard Vellela, 32, father of two children, and Edward Juchench, 40, father of seven, will set off March 25 in a car-truck caravan on a 4,300-mile journey to Palmer, Alaska.

They say they expect to have at least two companions and that later six others may follow.

Besides homesteading, the group plans to set up a general repair shop and possibly also a sawmill.

RECEIVE APPROVAL
Vellela and Juchench, residents of the rugged Upper Peninsula most of their lives, said they have received approval from the Palmer Chamber of Commerce for their plans. Palmer, 60 miles north of Anchorage, has a population of 6,000.

Their preparations, carried on over a period of 3½ months, are elaborate.

Their caravan of two trucks, a car and house trailer will carry provisions for a 16-day trip. It also will carry spare parts as well as outdoor equipment.

Temporarily, the family is living in the home of Mrs. Hattis' parents in their absence, but will have to leave by May 1 as there won't be enough room then.

The club is hoping that through the fund they will be able to assist in obtaining a new home and furnishings for the Hattis'.

Donations to the Hattis Fund are being accepted by Mrs. Edwin L. Welch of 274 W. Walled Lake Dr. and by Mrs. Leslie Reimer of 1191 Wanda St.

The event will be staged at 3075 Orchard Lake Rd., next door to the Clayton's store. Mrs. Frank Bellows is serving as chairman.

KEEGO CLUB TO HOLD Rummage-Bake Sale

KEEGO HARBOR—The Business and Professional Women's Club here will sponsor a rummage and bake sale tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon.

The event will be staged at 3075 Orchard Lake Rd., next door to the Clayton's store. Mrs. Frank Bellows is serving as chairman.

Plenty of Incentive
MONROE, Wis. (UPI)—City officials were reported confident today that voters, snowed in twice this month, would approve purchase of the town's first snowplow.

American motor-vehicle manufacturers spend between five and six million dollars a year on engineering research to increase automobile safety.

PIONEERS' PROGRESS—This is the route of the 59ers, a group of 37 persons from Michigan who are heading for homesteads on Alaska's Kenai Peninsula. It is a 4,500-mile journey which they have more than two-thirds completed. Moving van troubles have stalled them.

Borrower Delinquent

RANDOLPH, Vt. (UPI)—Village foreman Dick Hedding issued a public plea for the man who borrowed the village's water pressure pump two years ago to return the machinery so area water pipes could be cleaned out.

Both attending Thurston High School and Heimo Byrgeston of Denmark attending Redford High School.

2 Stricken Families Get Neighbors' Aid

Good neighbors of two Oakland County area families stricken by disaster, are rallying to their financial aid at this time.

Neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Arvo Jarvi, of 4126 S. Mill St., Dryden, who lost their three sons in a fire Tuesday, have started a drive for funds for the impoverished family.

They are asking donors to send any monetary contributions to the Dryden branch of the First National Bank located on Main street here.

The money will be used to pay expenses of the funeral and burial of the youngsters, a spokesman for the group said.

HOME COLLAPSED
The Walled Lake Variety Club is sponsoring a fund to aid the Lloyd Hattis family whose basement home at 1193 Maple Rd., Walled Lake, collapsed due to floods on March 6.

Their furniture and nearly all of their personal belongings were lost by the Hattis' as the result. Although they had some insurance, they found it didn't cover floods.

Temporarily, the family is living in the home of Mrs. Hattis' parents in their absence, but will have to leave by May 1 as there won't be enough room then.

The club is hoping that through the fund they will be able to assist in obtaining a new home and furnishings for the Hattis'.

Donations to the Hattis Fund are being accepted by Mrs. Edwin L. Welch of 274 W. Walled Lake Dr. and by Mrs. Leslie Reimer of 1191 Wanda St.

School Board Studies Costs

Prepares for Meeting Monday to Discuss Teachers' Salaries

CLARKSTON—The Board of Education is presently studying a detailed report on the financial status of the Clarkston School System prior to discussing salaries with teachers here.

A meeting of the school board and faculty members has been scheduled for Monday at the teachers' request, at which time the latter have said they will present their proposals.

The financial report was prepared by Dr. Leslie F. Greene, county superintendent, and presented to the board at Monday's meeting.

Clarkston has a new $2,500,000 high school under construction at this time. It is scheduled for completion by June 16, 1960.

So far, the weather has slowed work on the new school, but the footings are in and the builders expect to meet the target date if there are no further delays on that score.

Commenting on the $1,450,000 school budget for '58-'59, Dr. Greene reported that at present the school system is "holding its own" in spite of the hazardous state aid program.

Final Polio Clinic Being Held Today

The fourth and final polio clinic sponsored by the Pontiac Council of Parent-Teacher Associations this week is being conducted today at Owen Elementary School, 43 E. Columbia St., from 1 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m.

Yesterday, 1,282 received Salk vaccine shots at Bethune Elementary School. This brought the week's total to 3,729.

Each polio immunization shot cost $1. Any county resident over the age of one year is eligible to receive the inoculations.

Would Sabotage Golf

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—State Rep. Richard Metcalf asked that caddies be exempted from a $1 hourly minimum wage bill during hearings on the measure. "It would ruin the game of golf by speeding it up," he explained.

News of Service Personnel

Promoted to Air Force Staff Sergeant March 1 was Donald E. Herron, husband of the former Elaine Baker of Pontiac, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Herron of 48 Coleman St.

Stationed at Wurtsmith Air Force Base, Osceola with the 412th CAMERON, Sgt. Herron will make the Air Force a career. His wife and infant daughter are with him at Wurtsmith.

He underwent training at Chute AFB, Ill., and has served overseas in Japan. Prior to reporting to Osceola, he was stationed in Massachusetts.

The bill would require registration of all radiation sources with the State Health Department. However, the health commissioner would have the authority to make exemptions by rule from this requirement.

At present the couple is in Davisville, R.I., where they will be until April 15 when Lt. Jones reports for duty at Charleston.

Heart Surgery Success, Boy Plays Happily

Today was the first time in his life that 11-year-old Gary Goans could ride his tricycle in the basement of his home and play with his new puppy.

Gary the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Goans of 564 Granada St., came home yesterday after spending 20 days in Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, following a delicate heart operation.

A victim of rheumatic fever four years ago, he has never attended school because of the poor heart condition he has had resulting from the illness.

The betrothal of their daughter, Jacqueline, to Harold Young is announced by Mr. and Mrs. John R. Watson of 944 E. 1887, Holly. The fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young of 2319 S. Fenton Rd., Holly. No wedding date has been set.

Ways Discussed to Better Board

Police Representatives, Mayor's Group Would Improve Trial Plan

The Mayor's Committee to strengthen the Trial Board met yesterday with Public Safety Director George D. Eastman and two Police Department representatives.

The meeting was friendly and cooperative," said Harvey M. Johns, newly elected chairman of the committee, which has the job of recommending changes in Trial Board rules and procedures that could be put into effect in case voters repeal Civil Service for police at the polls April 6.

Also meeting with the six-member committee were Sgt. Hugh Simpson, president of the Pontiac Police Officers Assn., and Lt. Charles Gale, representing the Fraternal Order of Police.

"Many suggestions were advanced by these men to make the Trial Board system more workable and acceptable to the men on the force and to administrative officers alike," said Johns.

"These suggestions, along with ideas originating from committee members will be given careful consideration."

Stinson said he had been asked by Eastman to make no comment on the meeting. Gale said he also had no comment, since the committee had requested that any announcement concerning the meeting be made by it alone.

It was the PPOA that fought the Trial Board two years ago and won Civil Service to replace it, over objections of the City Commission. When the commission decided last month to place repeal of Civil Service on the ballot, the PPOA announced it would fight to retain the act.

Johns announced his committee would meet with the officers again next Wednesday before disclosing its recommendations.

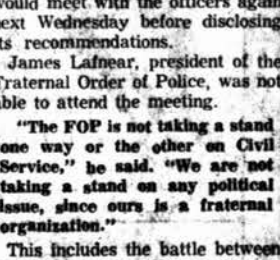

James Lafane, president of the Fraternal Order of Police, was not able to attend the meeting.

"The FOP is not taking a stand one way or the other on Civil Service," he said. "We are not taking a stand on any political issue, since ours is a fraternal organization."

This includes the battle between Eastman and Herbert W. Straley, Lafane said.

Would Control Nuclear Reactors, X-Rays

Propose AEC for State

LANSING (UP)—A new move was under way in the Legislature today for control of atomic energy and radiation from giant nuclear reactors down to shoe-fitting x-ray devices.

A bill submitted by Sens. Perry W. Greene (R-Grand Rapids) and Garland B. Lane (D-Flint) would use as its chief instrument an Atomic Emergency Commission composed of these five state officials:

The chairman of the Economic Development Commission, the state health commissioner, the State Police commissioner, the chairman of the Public Service Commission and the chairman of the Water Resources Commission.

The proposed new agency would be empowered, among other things, to "develop comprehensive policies and programs for evaluation of radiation hazards."

It also would have the duty of collecting and disseminating information relating to promotion of atomic energy for peaceful purposes and radiation protection.

It would have exclusive authority to approve or reject rules and regulations regarding radiation that any other agency of the state might wish to promulgate.

Under the Greene-Lane plan, enforcement functions would be delegated to various existing branches of government with interests in the several fields.

For example, enforcement in volving matters of disease control and protection of the public health would lie in the State Health Department.

Transportation and storage of radioactive materials would be the joint province of the State Police and the Public Service Commission.

The Water Resources Commission would oversee waste disposal procedures affecting public waters of the state.

GOVERNOR'S CHOICE
The commission chairman would be designated by the governor.

The chairman would be charged with the responsibility of advising the governor on all atomic energy matters, dealing with federal agencies and other states, and submitting annual reports to the governor and the Legislature.

Hundreds Flee Montana Flood

Oil Town of Glendive Hard Hit as Ice Dams Yellowstone River

GLENDIVE, Mont. (UP)—Ice gorges damming the Yellowstone River today sent flood waters rolling into this oil town. Hundreds of eastern Montana oilfield workers' house trailers were hauled to safety on higher ground in a swiftly organized mass evacuation.

Flood levels rose and ebbed as ice gorges formed and broke loose.

Upstream and south of Glendive, a number of farm homes were isolated by flood waters. Thousands of acres were inundated. It was the worst flood for the area in more than two decades.

No casualties were reported.

The historic Yellowstone is carrying to the Missouri River the melt water from snows which have covered vast areas of eastern Montana prairies with 12 to 18 inches only a few weeks ago. Since then daytime temperatures have climbed into springlike 50 and 60 degree levels.

The Glendive Marine Club was pressed into service as a working disaster organization and rescued many by boat.

The Yellowstone River reached 9½ feet above flood level at Glendive. At one time there were four ice gorges. One at Fallon caused a sudden build-up of eight feet of water.

Choirs Win Highest Ratings

PNH and Waterford Tops

More than 700 pupils from high schools throughout Oakland County competed in a choral contest at Pontiac Northern High School yesterday and First Division results were announced today by contest director Richard Meier of Waterford Township.

Sponsored by the Michigan Vocal Assn., first ratings were awarded to the Pontiac Northern High School Choir and the Waterford Township A Capella Choir.

Also included were Birmingham High A Capella Choir, Bloomfield Hills High Mixed Choir, Waterford Township Girls Glee Club, Milford

High Mixed Choir, Waterford Township Boys Glee Club and Oxford High School Mixed Choir.

The group represented the north section of District Four and other division ratings will be announced later, Meier said.

Lake Superior Ice Extra Thick

Troubleshooter Reports Freeze is Heaviest He Has Ever Encountered

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—The U. S. Coast Guard's respect for this season's Great Lakes ice fields grows almost daily. Commander E. J. Bodenlos of the Soo station, veteran ice-jam troubleshooter, yesterday described Lake Superior's ice as unprecedented in his experience.

"I've never seen Lake Superior frozen over so completely," Bodenlos said.

He said Lake Superior remains 85 per cent frozen over. But he said there are hopes for navigation by the first week of April.

The thaw and ice breakup on the lakes in general has not gone far enough for any accurate estimate on navigability, the Coast Guard said.

Four feet of ice is reported on the Canadian side of the upper end of the Soo locks. This tapers off to 22 inches at the lower gates. A trick of nature this year has contributed to the difficulty.

J. D. Bouchard, locks superintendent, said the wind has kept Lake Superior ice free of snow with the result that the ice had no insulation and it "froze deeper than usual."

Bouchard said April 15 is a possible date for locks opening.

Undecided on Senate Try Hawaii's Top Democrat Backed Alaska Entry 1st

WASHINGTON (AP)—A one-time policeman, milkman and liquor store proprietor has emerged as Hawaii's No. 1 Democratic party political figure.

He is John Anthony Burns, serving his second term as Hawaii's lone delegate to Congress.

He'd like to become one of the new state's first senators, but hasn't yet decided whether to run.

Congressmen of both political parties have described as courageous and statesmanlike his part in the strategy that won statehood for both Alaska and Hawaii.

Burns decided upon entering Congress in 1957—after Hawaii's first Democratic election sweep in decades—that the success of statehood bills for Hawaii and Alaska depended on keeping them separated.

At the risk of adverse political reaction at home, Burns agreed that the practical political situation demanded that Alaska go first.

It was a bitter pill for Hawaii to swallow. Hawaii had been petitioning for statehood longer than Alaska and felt a proprietary interest in the 49th star.

But Burns resisted all urgings, despite charges by his political enemies that he was a traitor to the Hawaii statehood cause.

"I had faith in the intelligence of the people of Hawaii," Burns said. "I believed they would understand the reason for what was being done."

With Alaska in, and Hawaii still out, Burns was re-elected to a second term last November.

Burns, nearing 50, is a lean six-footer with gray hair fringing a bald spot. Through regular exercise he has managed to maintain the physical trim achieved during 1½ years on the Honolulu police force.

Burns was born on March 30, 1909 in Ft. Assiniboine, Mont., the oldest of four children of an infantry sergeant who took him to Hawaii at age 4.

His colorful career includes a one-year hitch in the Army (1927-28) before he finished high school. He also has been bell boy on an Army transport, pineapple packer, real estate broker and Hawaii's civil defense administrator.

Burns joined the Honolulu police force as a patrolman in 1934 and rose to head the espionage bureau before and during World War II.

With Hawaii under martial law, Burns devoted extra energy to morale problems among Japanese-American citizens, organizing recreation programs, reacting Japanese residents to participate in the war effort.

Those activities helped to steer him into politics. He was elected as Hawaii's nonvoting delegate to Congress in 1956 on his third try.

A Roman Catholic, Burns attends Mass daily before reporting for an average day of 12 hours at his Capitol office.

He was married in 1931 to Beatrice Majors Van Vleet, a former Army nurse whose great uncle, the late Thomas Majors, was once lieutenant governor of Nebraska and chairman of that state's Republican party.

Stricken with polio in 1935, Mrs. Burns is still a wheel chair invalid. They have three adult children.

Conservation Job Demanding

Officer Covers 500
Square Miles, on 24
Hour Call, for $83.20

ALL OUTDOORS, Mich. (UPI)—One of the most demanding and financially unrewarding jobs in the state today is the job of a conservation officer.

There are only 165 officers in Michigan, 35 less than 200 men force the department says it needs to adequately protect the state's natural resources.

"The cash situation is hurting us, too," said Durward Robson, chief of field administration. "We don't have enough money to replace officers who have quit or retired. So, we have to get along with the present force."

An officer covers an average of 500 square miles; is responsible for all conservation law enforcement and forest fires in his area; is sometimes responsible for two to six subordinates and is on call 24 hours per day.

Also, briefly, he is a public relations man; a big brother to youngsters in his area; a full-time representative and often the only tangible sign of the "conservation department," when in fact to the general public he is the department and all it stands for. He bears the brunt of public opinion and is the first one to be bombarded when Joe the hunter or Sam the fisherman is unhappy about something someone in Lansing is doing.

And all this for a starting pay of $83.20 a week.

Compounding the Grief

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—A fire was blamed on faulty wiring of lights set up to warn pedestrians of damage caused to the same building by another blaze three weeks earlier.

Battles for Hospital for Mental Illness

Each passing week Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore sees more reasons why Oakland County should open up a short-term diagnostic service center for the mentally ill in the unused former Contagious Hospital.

Judge Moore is continuing his efforts in this direction, although a committee looking into the future use of the 80-bed hospital on Telegraph road is against it.

The committee, headed by Fred W. Smith, Royal Oak supervisor, was sidetracked temporarily last month when the Board of Supervisors refused to accept its recommendations against using the hospital solely for the mentally ill.

More than 30 municipalities and civic organizations have jumped on Moore's bandwagon in seeking conversion of the hospital for this use. In an effort to reinforce his position, Judge Moore has sent a letter to Smith listing briefly four of 22 cases which recently came before his Probate Court involving persons he believes show "dangerous tendencies and need for immediate care."

Under the judge's proposed program, the hospital would care for such persons until beds were made available for long-term care at state mental hospitals, like Pontiac State Hospital.

Judge Moore cited the case of a 42-year-old housewife of four children who three times has tried to take her own life, and does nothing all day but lie on a couch sleeping and smoking. Once she ordered a daughter sent home from school with a temperature of 101 into the cold to purchase more cigarettes.

Another case Moore listed was that of a 36-year-old woman, so distracted by voices only audible to herself that she drives her car recklessly and wanders barefooted in bitter cold weather outside her home.

A 40-year-old factory worker threatens his family with death if they don't give him the money from his pay check, which he accuses them of stealing although he has just cashed it himself, was another case cited in the letter to Smith.

A fourth was that of a 9-month-old child who "cannot control her head, arms, or legs, and appears completely disoriented."

Officer Kills Pal of Convict Brother

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Frank Burns is one of St. Louis' best policemen, a lieutenant in charge of the hoodlum squad. His brother, Robert, is a criminal.

Wednesday night, Lt. Burns shot and killed a man believed to be trying to slip a gun to Robert Burns, about 25, a prisoner in city jail awaiting an appeal hearing on a 75-year sentence for armed robbery.

David Eugene Richardson, 22, of St. Louis, a two-time ex-convict, was dropped by shots from a riot gun when he didn't heed Lt. Burns' command to halt. Just before, he had slipped a revolver through a jail commissary window. Chief of Detectives Frank Chapman said the window had been left open by prearrangement.

Richardson had been out of jail since last Monday, freed on bond while awaiting trial on charges of possessing burglary tools. Robert Burns has served two prison terms for robbery.

Province Would Bar Picketing Its Offices

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP)—The attorney general of British Columbia Wednesday night introduced legislation to make it unlawful to "picket or beset" any government building in the province.

This followed by six days the four-hour strike of 11,000 provincial employees which tied up governmental services and was halted when an anti-picketing injunction was issued. A Supreme Court justice is deliberating on the government's request for continuation of the injunction granted last Friday.

The British Columbia Government Employees Assn., which called last Friday's strike, has applied to have the injunction set aside.

TOLLY STEWART

A military service for Tolly Stewart, a former resident of Waterford Township, will be held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Johnston Funeral Home in San Diego, Calif.

Mr. Stewart, 53, died in his sleep of a heart attack Monday at his home in San Diego.

After retiring five years ago after 30 years of Navy service, he made his home for several years with his brother, Clarence of 1880 Orchard Dr., Waterford Township. Surviving are two sisters and four other brothers.

MRS. RAY DENNISON

LAKE ORION—Mrs. Ray (Anna) Dennison, of 329 E. Jackson St. died this morning at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, following a heart attack.

Funeral arrangements are being made by the Flumerfelt Funeral Home.

MRS. GEORGE FERNS

LAPEER—Service for Mrs. George (Sophia) Ferns, 98, of Lapeer, will be held at 3:30 p.m. Saturday at the Baird Funeral Home. Burial will follow in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Mrs. Ferns died Wednesday at a convalescent home in Lapeer following a long illness.

MARIO E. C. GONZALEZ

KEEGO HARBOR—Service for Mario E. C. Gonzalez, 25, of 2975 Moss St., will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday at St. Joseph Church. Burial will follow in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

The Rosary will be recited at 8:30 p.m. Friday at the Melvin A. Schutt Funeral Home, Pontiac.

Mr. Gonzalez died Tuesday at the University Hospital in Ann Arbor following a one month illness. He was a member of St. Joseph Church and was employed at the GMC Truck and Coach Division, Pontiac.

Surviving are his wife, Olga; a son, Richardo Gonzalez of Pontiac; five sisters, Irene, Oralia, Adelita, Esperanza and Rosa Gonzales, all of Keego Harbor and a brother, Raul of Keego Harbor.

MRS. CLYDE HENDRICKS

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP—Service for Mrs. Clyde (Iva Belle) Hendricks, 66, of 750 W. Predmore Rd., will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday at the William R. Potere Funeral Home, Rochester.

Mrs. Hendricks died Tuesday at a Pontiac hospital following a long illness.

Surviving are her husband, Clyde; four sons, Lloyd of St. Louis, Mo., Cecil and Lovell, both at home and Hollis of Royal Oak; a daughter, Mrs. Eulo Bell of Madison Heights; a sister, six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

JOSEPH L. PELTIER

CLARKSTON—Service for Joseph L. Peltier, 63, of 41 Baldwin Rd., will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Community Bible Church. Burial will follow in Square Lake Cemetery.

The body will be at the Pursley Funeral Home, Pontiac, until Saturday morning and then it will lie in state from noon until time of the church service.

Mr. Peltier died Wednesday at Pontiac General Hospital following a two year illness. He was a member of the Community Bible Church in Clarkston and was employed as a riveter at the Pontiac Motor Division.

Surviving are his wife, Anna; two sons, Lyle J. of Pontiac and Glen of Lake Orion; a stepson, Donald Duby of Pontiac; a daughter, Mrs. Clyde Swift of Pontiac; a brother, a sister and three grandchildren.

ELTON A. STOCKER

LAPEER TOWNSHIP—Service for Elton A. Stocker, 54, of 2373 S. Lapeer Rd., will be held at 1:30 Saturday at the Baird Funeral Home. Burial will follow in Metamora Cemetery.

Mr. Stocker died Wednesday at Lapeer County General Hospital following a cerebral hemorrhage. He was a life-long member and worker in 4-H and was a self-employed contractor and carpenter.

Surviving are his wife, Marion; a son, Burton at home; four daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Schuman and Mrs. Donald Mosher, both of Lapeer, Mina Stocker of Ann Arbor and Barbara, at home; two brothers, and two sisters, Mrs. George Grover of Hadley and Elma Stocker of Holland; and three grandchildren.

ERNEST ST. CLAIR

OXFORD—Service for Ernest St. Clair, 57, of 2495 Dramer Rd., will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at Bogardus and Reid Funeral Home. Burial will follow in Seymour Lake Cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, Edith; four sons, Robert of Auburn Heights, William of Oxbow Lake, John of Oxford and James of the U. S. Army; four daughters, Mrs. Marion Reese of Oxford, Mrs. Francis Buckley of Pontiac, Mrs. Betty Buckley of Oxbow Lake and Mrs. John Sprague of Oxford; a brother, a sister and 20 grandchildren.

Find Hicks Innocent of Liquor Charge

George D. Hicks, 52, of 16 N. Johnson Ave., was found innocent of the illegal sale of liquor in a jury trial yesterday before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum.

Hicks was arrested March 5 by vice squad officers. He was accused of selling beer Feb. 13 to a 17-year-old youth without asking his age at the West Side Canteen, 12 N. Johnson Ave.

Hicks works at the store. A Pontiac policeman for 22 years, Hicks has run unsuccessfully four times for Oakland County sheriff on the Democratic ticket.

Woman's Clothing Taken From Waterford Home

Pontiac State Police today are investigating a break-in of a Waterford Township home in which more than $300 worth of women's clothing—mostly lingerie—was taken.

The home of Mrs. Roy Wilson of 2377 Silver Lake Rd. was entered sometime between Saturday and Tuesday while the Wilsons were away, police said. Entrance was gained by breaking a one-foot-square glass in the front door and then reaching through and unlocking the door.

The theft was discovered yesterday.

Dean of Rubber Industry Dies

P. W. Litchfield Was Honorary Chairman of Goodyear

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Paul Weeks Litchfield, dean of the American rubber industry and honorary chairman of the board of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., died in a Phoenix hospital Wednesday night.

The 83-year-old industrialist had undergone surgery at the hospital a week ago. After a career spanning 61 years in the industry, Litchfield retired last October as board chairman and chief executive officer of Goodyear.

He had joined the firm in its infancy in Akron, Ohio, at a salary of $2,500 and played a leading role in its growth to one of the largest in the world with plants throughout the United States, at Sydney, Australia; New Toronto, Canada and Wolverhampton, England.

During World War II, he played a major part in the American program of synthetic rubber production.

Litchfield was born in Boston July 26, 1875. He graduated with a bachelor of science degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1896. His first job was as a $9-a-week engineer in a tire factory at Reading, Mass. Two years later he became involved in experimental work with rubber tires and in 1900 joined the infant Goodyear concern in Akron.

Bob Considine Says:

Ike's 'Firm Stand' Berlin Speech Magnificent

NEW YORK—The President said we are going to stand firm on Berlin. I thought he said it magnificently, and sent him a telegram to that effect. Many others shared my sentiments, hopes.

Then I ran into a fellow and reiterated this enthusiasm. He is not an ordinary bloke. He is one of the nation's top military authorities.

He asked me not to use his name, a request usually to be scorned, but I'm chickening out and respecting his wishes only because of this reason: Others have asked the same disturbing questions. He and they are worried over what lies beyond "stand firm."

"It means apparently that we are staking the lives of 50 or 60 million Americans in order to protect, presuming we can, two million Berliners," my friend said. "These Berliners are hostages because of us," he went on. "They were made hostages by our idiotic policy at the time, which was carried out by Generals Marshall and Eisenhower."

"We could have taken Berlin without trouble. There was no real opposition where our armies stood, about 100 miles short of Berlin, and the capital itself. The Germans were eager for us to come through there and take it."

"They were surrendering by the droves, and welcoming the very sight of us. But it was decreed that we would camp there, 100 miles short, and let the Russians fight their way into the Nazi capital."

"When that terrible decision was made, we forfeited any real right we have had since to maintain a garrison in Berlin and any right to say we would have to go to war later if a certain section of Berlin which thinks as we do is tampered with."

"We made a historic goof-off and now we are trying to defend our indefensible decision of 1945. We are ready to face war, and personally I am as ready as I was in earlier years we've fought, in order to 'stand firm,' which means fight to preserve the status quo in Berlin."

"But for Pete's sake, how long are we going to defend the status quo in Berlin? Throughout this current crisis? Throughout the next dozen crises the Russians will think up concerning Berlin? For 100 years? Will we keep our garrison there a thousand years—defending something we could have had and dominated politically if somebody in Washington had not let the Communists overrun it?"

"We sold out East Germany and Berlin to the Russians long before the end of the war. Our aim and philosophy at that time was the utter destruction of German military power, for once and all."

"We didn't give a damn who destroyed it, as long as it was destroyed. We never gave a thought to what might succeed in its place. Now we find ourselves in the position of promising to defend, at the risk of nuclear war, two million people we made hostages of in the first place."

I said, huffily, "Well and good, major, but what is your great solution? What have you come up with that all the military and political and diplomatic brains in Washington could not think of?"

"There are no solutions," he said, solving the whole situation. "We gave this area to the Communists without considering what the people therein wanted. Then we had to run a million-dollar-a-day airlift 10 years ago to support people we should never have gotten into such a fix.

"We might have to do it again, and many times thereafter. It might be cheaper, over the decades or centuries, for us to move those two million Berliners to West Germany, since we don't plan to take the intervening territory which could have been ours without a scratch."

It is very disconcerting to talk to a fellow like this. I am seriously considering having his name deleted from Nick Kenny's birthday greetings.

Sailors Drinking Less

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia liquor sales are declining and at least a part of the slump is believed due to a change in the drinking habits of sailors. The most significant decline has been in the Hampton Roads area, headquarters of the Navy's Atlantic fleet.

Won't Be Part of Scene

GEARY, Okla. (AP) — For 42 years students have entered the Geary High School building through the rear door. The front faces vacant lots and a railroad track. Old timers said the school was built facing the tracks so passengers on passing trains would have a pleasant view.

In the heart of Paris there is a late-night place called The Crazy Horse. It is a French version of an American Wild West saloon.

Elvis' Singing Enough to Drive Seagulls to Drink

LONDON (UPI)—Elvis Presley's singing is enough to drive any seagull to distraction, the Ministry of Supply reported today.

In fact, it has become the number one weapon in the ministry's drive to get rid of gulls which have become a flying hazard at Staines, near London Airport.

A ministry spokesman said it found out about Elvis' effect on seagulls when it sent one of its men to Holland to record the cry of a gull in distress. He took a tape recorder, which had been used to record a children's Christmas party at his home. One of Elvis' records had been a highlight of the party.

When Elvis' voice unexpectedly popped out of the loud speaker, the gulls took off in a flurry and weren't seen again for 24 hours.

Yankee Atomic Plant Tourist Attraction

ROWE, Mass. (UPI) — Town officials here are speeding improvements on the only road leading to the nuclear plant being built by the Yankee Atomic Electric Co. The facility has become a tourist attraction.

The $50,000,000 nuclear project is scheduled for completion in late 1960. Engineers say it differs from the other three major power reactor enclosures being built in the U. S. in that it is elevated. The others are partially buried in the ground.

Cotton constitutes nearly three-fourths of all fiber used in the United States. Wool and rayon rank next.

auto dealers and transporters with thousands of cars to be delivered to the south for the winter tourist trade. A letter or phone call to such companies, listed in your friendly phone book, can lead to the assignment of chauffeur for a gleaming new auto to Miami.
Many outfits will permit you to take your family and friends with you.

This is the word from Robert Christopher, who is a member of the Globetrotters Club of London and a man who knows the value of a ha'penny.
He has written a book called
"100 Ways to Save Money
Traveling in the U. S., Canada and Mexico," and it's rich with sensible ideas—as well as being delicately spiced with tidbits of chicanery.

Like where to pack the golf shoes so the airlines can't charge you overweight.

Mr. Christopher guarantees on the cover to refund the cost of the book if the reader does not save the unusual sum of at least $29.65 a week on his next trip. He can scarcely be caught red-faced on the refunds, considering some of his spiffy cash savers.

WATCH NEWS ADS

Like: You want to make a trip across country, say from New York to Los Angeles. Watch the "public and commercial notices" and the classified ads in major newspapers.

Not only individuals, but organizations are constantly searching for dependable drivers to transport their cars. They may even pay a salary, besides saving you hundreds of dollars in transportation.

Everyone must know by now that thrift rates and family plans can save hundreds of dollars on air travel. Christopher not only lists the airlines and their top bargains, he considers how to pare down expenses to and from the airport.

In certain cities, such as Newark, N. J., transportation from plane to town is a major item: $10 by cab, $1.50 by limousine. Always ask, he says, about local bus service. (From Newark, a 44-cent bus ride to Manhattan is often

STUFF POCKETS

To economize on excess baggage—an awesome expense—one usually is wise to wear a bulky travel coat—with heavyweight items such as travel clocks, shoes, and telephone books in the pockets. Or to save even more time and inconvenience, have the excess shipped by bus or railway express a few days prior to your departure.

Should you get homesick and want to place a long-distance call, wait, of course, till the night rates come on.

Of course, when traveling anywhere in your own car, writes Christopher, always inquire which states are currently holding "gas wars," and plan your itinerary accordingly.

It is well also to consider the cost of the respective turnpikes and suit your route to the thrifty toll booths.

One last tip: It is safer to carry credit cards than cash, and they are valuable in helping you show the government that on this trip—you meant business!

And did you know that you can take your wife along if you can prove that she is acting as your secretary? Christopher points out. Many businessmen do it.
Wives arrange appointments, handle telephone calls and correspondence, he adds. (Ed. Note:

But watch out for the new, stricter internal revenue system.)

If, after reading this book, you cannot bamboozle the government or the airlines or the missus out of $29.65, you're just a spendthrift
... the kind of guy who, before a vacation, would forget to turn off the electricity and neglect to tell the phone company to put you on a reduced summer rate!

Area Astronomers Club to Study 'Spring Skies'

The Pontiac-Northwest Detroit
Astronomers Assn. will hold its monthly meeting this evening in the Planetarium at Cranbrook Institute.

Association meetings usually take place in a meeting room at the institute, but this month's gathering will move to the planetarium for a special demonstration entitled "Spring Skies."

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m.
Anyone interested in astronomy is invited.

County Seat Visitor

RIPON, Wis. (AP) — In the last 12 years, Bruno E. Jacob has visited 2,580 of the 3,066 county seats in the United States. Jacob, whose job as secretary of the National Forensic League takes him on trips throughout the country, makes a hobby of visiting county seats.

France claims the world's first bicyclist, Dr. Elie Richard, who lived on the Ile de Re, off the Brittany coast. His first ride is said to have taken place in 1645.

ROAD HOGS? — Living nicely in the trunk of a car, these youngsters make happy little pigs of themselves at a reasonable facsimile of mother in Nashville, Tenn. They're helped by Fred Scott, a caretaker at the Cumberland School, who decided to raise the porkers when their mother died. Scott bedded them down in the old auto because school rules don't allow a shed to be built in the area.

Heiress of 2 Scions Dies in Connecticut

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Funeral service will be held Friday for Mrs. Muriel McCormick Hubbard, an heiress to both the Rockefeller and McCormick fortunes who served in the U.S. Women's Army Corps during World War II.

She died Wednesday of a heart ailment at the age of 56. Mrs. Hubbard was the granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller Sr. and Cyrus McCormick, inventor of the reaper. Her personal estate was estimated at $4 million dollars.

She died in Grace-New Haven Hospital, which she entered three weeks ago. Funeral service will be held at Holy Trinity Church in Middletown, Conn., where she maintained one of her five homes.

Truman Is Honored as 50-Year Mason

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman was honored by the Masonic Lodge Wednesday night as a 50-year Mason.

Truman was made a master Mason March 18, 1908. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Missouri in 1940-41.

The 50-year-pin was presented by Grand Master Robert L. Aronson of the Grand Lodge of Missouri.

Truman also was made an honorary grand master of the Grand Lodge of Israel and an honorary member of the Grand Lodge of France.

Hawaii to Cause 6-Mile Shift U. S. Center Will Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The entry of Hawaii as a state is moving the geographic center of the United States six miles but it will remain in Butte County, S.D.

The coast and geodetic survey announced today the new center is six miles west southwest of its old location. It's now about 17 miles west of Castle Rock, S.D.

The center was moved last July when Alaskan statehood was voted. At that time it was re-located 439 miles northwest of its longtime site near Lebanon, Kan.

Rear Adm. H. Arnold Kero, survey director, said the new location is at latitude 44 degrees 58 minutes north and longitude 103 degrees 46 minutes west.

Here's how the new center was plotted:

1. Survey mathematicians determined the geographic center of the Hawaiian Islands, in effect finding their center of gravity.
2. A line was then drawn from the Hawaiian center to the old geographic center of the United States.
3. The survey then calculated the point along this line at which the United States and Hawaii would balance.

Atlas Firing Tests New Nose

AF Hopes to Recover Warhead From Atlantic If All Went Well

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force has fired a "new look" Atlas ICBM on a flight to test a new nose cone—the same type that would shield a deadly thermonuclear warhead in combat.

If all went well on Wednesday night's planned 4,500 mile flight the Air Force hoped to recover a complete Atlas warhead from the Atlantic depths for the first time. It was not known whether the results would be announced because of the strict security wraps around the military launching.

The huge white cone, a radical change from the blunt-shaped device that usually tops the Atlas, was the center of attraction when the giant war rocket blasted aloft from a pool of swirling flame and smoke.

The mission on this 22nd Atlas shoot in 21 months was to check the performance of the new warhead cover during a brief space flight at 15,000 m.p.h. and the red hot re-entry through the earth's atmosphere to the target. The launching marked another major stride in an accelerated program to make the nation's first intercontinental range ballistic missile operational early next year.

In addition to its capability as a war weapon, the Convair missile is being groomed for a busy scientific space job that will start this June with the launching of a probe to the planet Venus.

The 120-ton Atlas also has been selected to push up satellites weighing more than a ton and eventually carry the first man from this nation into space as a climax to Project Mercury.

On previous Atlas nose cone re-entry tests small data capsules were recovered, but the bulky warheads were abandoned in the ocean.

The new cone is described as "ablative"—the type that wears away on contact with severe friction as the missile returns to earth. This would allow a thermonuclear payload inside to survive the fiery re-entry unscathed.

'Noncoronary' Course to Be Built for Golfers

NORTHBORO, Mass. (AP) — Two physicians are planning what they call a noncoronary golf course.

Drs. John Delecco and Pasquale Tomalio asked the Northboro selectmen Wednesday night for permission to construct a nonhilly 18-hole course.

They said they also would need a permit from the Westboro selectmen as the course would straddle both towns.

Is She Embarrassed With Only 42 Carats?

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Zsa Zsa Gabor went to Trader Vic's naked (without her 42-carat diamond engagement ring). "A week ago I gift it back, dolling," she said—sitting with her supposed fiancé, Hal Hayes, who nodded and said, "Yes, I sent it back to the jeweler." Zsa Zsa explained, "I don't want people to think I'm marrying him for a ring. Vy, I can buy rings for myself, dolling!" She insisted they still plan to marry Apr. 17. Hayes' story was different: "I sent it back to get her a bigger one!"

Henie casually mentioned that she had too many homes (including one in Norway)—and sold her showplace in N.Y.

Hey, dig this! Art: USA exhibit at the Coliseum next month'll have nude models posing—for anybody with a pad and pencil... Steve Allen says he'd be glad to switch to Monday nights. "With some evenings that are dull on TV, it seems silly for 3 of the best shows (his, Ed Sullivan's and 'Maverick') to be on the same night at the same hour." If he should go on Monday at 10:30 for a half hour he'd barely precede his buddy, Jack Paar.

Anne Bancroft of "Two for the Seesaw" may become a regular on the Jack Paar show. She goes on again March 27 and Jack has said he's "never seen such electricity"... Herb Shriner says "Color TV'll never get anywhere until they issue real gaudy aerials with each set—so all the neighbors can see you've got one."

"I lead a very uninteresting life," insists TV star Walter Cronkite. "My phone isn't even tapped"... Slugger says one of his schoolmates has some kind of a complex. "He doesn't gripe about anything!"... One of Dr. Ralph Sockman's parishioners at Christ Church told him, "Suffolk County is one of the least church-going counties anywhere. Maybe we ought to send some missionaries out to their golf courses."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

Lana Turner, due here to publicize "Imitation of Life," warns she won't do interviews "if they ask the wrong questions"... Jayne Mansfield had Larry Mathews make up pink wigs for her daughter... Sal Mineo dated pretty Jacqui Haswell.

Chicago mining tycoon Robert Schaefer, who ruined some scenes in Frank Sinatra's "Hole in the Head" by running his motorboat nearby, sent Frank an apology—mining stock...

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: At a local cafe a guest cattily described an aging glamor gal: "Well, it's probably true that as a girl she was very young."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Lou Brecker left on a round-the-world trip, explaining, "I want to see it while it's still there."... That's earl, brother.

Oil Well Firefighter Has Fire in Own Well

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP) —

M. M. Kinley, world-famous oil well firefighter, has a special interest in an oil well fire near here.

He owns part of the well. The well in the Torch Field, named for Kinley's firefighting exploits, exploded Tuesday as drill pipe was being pulled from the hole. Driller Joe Whitaker was burned as flames shot 150 feet.

Four Children Die in Washington Fire

GRANGER, Wash. (AP) — Flames raced through a frame house occupied by a Texas farm worker's family of 14 Wednesday night, killing four children.

Officers identified the victims as Maria Sandavol, 9, her sisters, Enedila, 6, and Eva, 3, and a brother, Aleja, 4.

The father, Pedro Sandavol, 42, was hospitalized at nearby Sunnyside with burns but was reported in fair condition. He escaped with his nightclothes after rescuing some of his children.

Samona Sandavol, 38, the mother, and the other children escaped unharmed and were taken to a relative's home.

Except for the war head, the United States Air Force's huge Atlas missile is made almost entirely of stainless steel.

Next-to-Last Vet of Civil War Is Buried Today

GATE CITY, Va. (AP) — They lay John Salling to rest today in the earth of the southwest Virginia hill country he loved and called home for 112 years.

Funeral services for the old Confederate, next-to-last Civil War veteran, will be held here and at the family cemetery near Salling's home at Slant, a dozen miles to the north.

Salling's death Monday of pneumonia left Walter Williams, 116, Houston, Tex., another of the boys in grey, the only surviving Civil War veteran.

Across a spray of red and white flowers near Salling's casket in the National Guard Armory here lay a ribbon with the words "My Comrade." The flowers were from Williams and his family.

Salling has lain in state since early Tuesday. Eight thousand persons filed by his bright copper casket Tuesday and Wednesday. Salling, who dug saltpeeter in southwest Virginia mines for the manufacture of gunpowder, was dressed in the crisp uniform of an honorary Confederate general.

Ike Will Be Lacking Williams' Counsel

LANSHING (AP) — Senate Republicans yesterday killed a Democratic proposal to urge President Eisenhower to seek Gov. Williams' counsel on unemployment compensation programs.

The President Tuesday invited nine governors to confer with him on the subject, but not Williams—only the nine members of the executive committee of the Governor's Conference.

Within an hour after the introduction of a resolution by Sen. Harold M. Ryan (D-Detroit) nominating Williams to take part, the Senate Business Committee tossed it into the waste basket.

In which season are newspapers read

ONE OF A SERIES
ANSWER: THERE'S PRACTICALLY NO SEASONAL CHANGE AT ALL! An analysis of newspaper circulation over a three-year period showed that the newspaper habit is constant throughout the year. There is no "off" season for the newspaper habit, either in size of audience or in amount of reading. Therefore, advertisers can rely on their audience always being present—come rain or shine, come cold weather or hot.

Telegraph Road Link to Expressway Readied

LANSING (AP)—State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie reports his department has completed plans for a $2,714,000 connection from the Detroit-Teledale expressway to Telegraph road in southern Wayne County.

The 2.6 mile connection will serve as a north-south outlet for the expressway and allow traffic to avoid the Detroit area.

Mackie says the target date for letting bids on the project is the third quarter of 1960.

Terror Network Ended

ALGIERS (AP)—French authorities say they have destroyed a nationalist terror network that operated out of a Koranic school and a mosque in the heart of the Algerian Casbah.

1 More Chance, Ed Robinson Jr. Warned by Judge

"This is it," Superior Court Judge Allen T. Lynch told him Wednesday. "There aren't going to be any more excuses."

Robinson, 26, appeared for a probation hearing as a result of a disturbing the peace arrest last November. He has been on probation since serving 60 days on a drunk driving conviction in 1957.

Shanghai Gets Flowers

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China today said 40 million new trees and flowering shrubs have been planted in Shanghai, its largest city.

Dems Ask More Aid to Jobless

Solons Would Broaden House-Passed Measure to Extend Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.) says the Senate Democratic leadership has decided to support a broader jobless pay aid bill than the three-month extension just voted by the House.

McNamara told this to newsmen yesterday after 18 Democratic Senators supporting a stronger bill met in a closed session to decide on strategy. The Michigan Senator declined to go into details as to what the leadership might back.

The 18 Senators met after Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), Finance Committee chairman, notified them he would agree to their requests for a public hearing on the House bill. They wrote him yesterday this measure was totally inadequate.

McNamara said he would urge his proposal for an extension of the temporary federal unemployment compensation program to June 30, 1960. His proposal also calls for federal grants to the states, instead of loans, for the extra payments.

However, he said he believes his group may have to settle for something less than this.

The 18 Senators decided to write all governors in states with 6 percent or more unemployment, asking their support in efforts to broaden the House bill.

Washtenaw County to Probe Justices

ANN ARBOR (AP)—An investigation of all municipal and justice of the peace courts in Washtenaw County was ordered yesterday by Circuit Judge James R. Breakey Jr.

Judge Breakey said the only reported improprieties were in the justice courts in Superior and Salem Townships. However, he said he extended the investigation in order to determine the possibilities for early bail for persons arrested on or near weekends.

He said he was informed there is no provision for holding court sessions in Ann Arbor or Ypsilanti on Saturdays.

Justice William Kelly of Salem Township awaits sentence on a charge of converting fees to his own use.

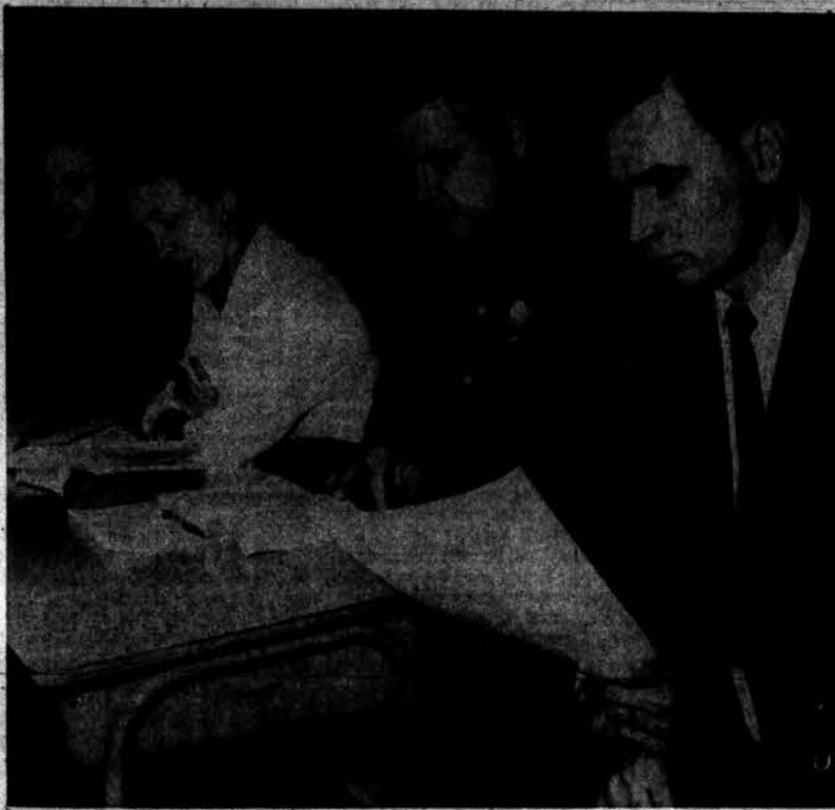

Judge Breakey said that Justice Robert Cowling of Superior Township has announced he will quit May 1 and hear no further cases in the interim. The Washtenaw County Bar Assn. has investigated complaints that Cowling made quick judgments in favor of credit firms.

Court Clerk Arrested for Parking Misdeeds

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP)—Clifford G. Hall handles a lot of court business for others—he's serving his third term as clerk of the Caly County Circuit Court.

Now he's got some personal business. He was arrested Wednesday on charges of failing to pay 45 overtime parking tickets. Hall pleaded innocent in police court, and will have a trial March 26. The city ordinance calls for a fine of $1 to $30 on each of the charges or jail terms of one to 90 days on each.

Hall said: "I used to pay 'em, but I quit."

Effective Date Set on School Retirements

LANSING (AP)—The Attorney General's department has issued an opinion clarifying the effective date of disability retirement allowances of Michigan public school employees.

The opinion holds that the allowance shall be dated the first day of the month following an application initiated by an employee.

On the other hand, the allowance shall be dated from the effective date of the retirement if initiated by the appointing authority.

Majestic Meadow Brook Hall, on the campus of Michigan State University in East Lansing, is a monument to European architecture and culture and American ingenuity.

Army Will Send Second Redstone Unit to Germany

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is sending a second Redstone missile unit to Germany to buttress North Atlantic Pact ground forces in Europe. It will leave next month.

In announcing this Wednesday the Army said the move was planned some time ago.

The Redstone, currently the Army's longest range surface-to-surface ballistic missile, has a range of 200 miles and can carry a nuclear warhead.

The unit tapped for the transfer is the 46th Artillery Group, now stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla. The 46th has 650 officers and men and two Redstone firing batteries—each equipped with one launcher. The first Redstone unit was sent to Europe last year and is attached to the 7th Army in Germany.

On Capitol Hill, Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy was quoted Wednesday as saying the United States has the military power to back up a firm stand at Berlin. McElroy appeared before the House Foreign Affairs Committee in support of President Eisenhower's foreign aid program.

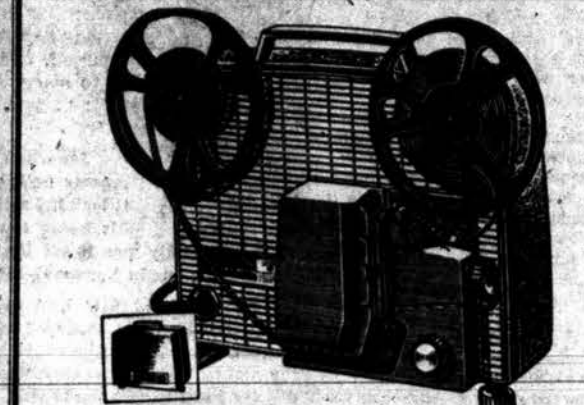

A limited number of scholarships and student loans will be available to students when Michigan State University in East Lansing opens next fall.

Bavarian Village Beefs 'Meat Strike' Efforts

KONRADSRUTH, Germany (UPI)—Residents of this Bavarian village have beefed up their "meat strike" against the town's four butchers.

shops and other places of employment conduct a morning sandwich search every day. They confiscate any slices of meat found in lunchboxes, leaving the offenders with only the bread of their sandwiches. Most of the 2,300 villagers have been on a vegetable diet for more than 10 days, protesting the high prices of meat.

'The Babe and I'

By MRS. BABE RUTH with Bill Slocum

(Condensed from "The Babe and I" Copyright, 1959, by Mrs. Babe Ruth and published by Frontline Hall, Inc.)

"Just a big kid . . . but also very much a big man."

Baseball teams on the road do not carry wives. But the day we married, Col. Ruppert, said: "By all means you must go to Boston. After all, it's your honeymoon."

Then, quite seriously: "The Yankees would like very much for you to travel with the Babe. We feel you have done a great deal for him since you two met."

So I traveled. And the other wives didn't like it.

The Yankees' gratitude at no time reached such heights that they forgot to bill the Babe for my expenses.

REFORMS IN ORDER

Now that I was Mrs. Ruth, I felt I had a few reforms to institute.

The Babe ate too much. He sometimes drank too much. Whisky, perhaps. Or beer. Or, as often as either, too much soda pop.

He would no more go anywhere without a box of bicarbonate of soda than I would without a lipstick.

He didn't like to go to bed. And there were always a lot of people around to help him keep out of bed.

When Paul Gallico wrote his "Farewell to Sports" he said of the Babe, "He merely has disciplined his appetites and desires. He never got over having them."

Actually, the Babe took discipline very easily. It just happened that until I came along people let Babe run loose.

Or they bent to the opposite extreme with publicly proclaimed fines or belittled usages. The Babe took to public pressure rather badly.

I had on my side a potent weapon. We liked and trusted each other.

SHUCKING OLD FRIENDS

Quite frankly I set about getting rid of some of Babe's friends.

People liked to show the Babe off. He didn't know he was invited everywhere to be shown off. I set a 10 o'clock departure curfew.

The Babe's close friends were as anxious for him to be in tip-top form as I was. But I recall one swank penthouse party where the host set back his clocks.

He neglected, however, to set back my wrist watch.

In the beginning, the Babe would grumble something about the host feeling badly. I had a stock answer: "You strike out four times tomorrow and you'll feel badly."

No ball player ever got a high ball in our home. If we were having a few teammates over, the Babe would send for a keg of draught beer. During the season, he slipped only beer himself.

The curfew and drinking rules were in-season ordinances, although life in the Ruth home was pretty quiet in the off-season, too.

Throughout the year I was the All-American wet blanket. On New Year's Eve, however, I chose to show I could throw a party when I wanted too.

A WOMAN AMONG MEN

In a way, we had three homes.

One in New York. One when the Yanks were in St. Petersburg training. And the one on the road.

A ball club on the road traveled in three Pullmans. The lower berths went to the senior players. The Babe and I always occupied a drawing room.

I stayed very much to our drawing room. The players and writers were not used to traveling in a car with a woman and never bothered much about what they were bedtime or in the morning.

The Babe's favorite time to eat a gargantuan meal was about 11 p.m. It took a lot of persuading but I got him to settle for a club sandwich and a glass or two of milk.

Babe ate a big breakfast wherever he was. He was fond of thick English mutton chops or a breakfast steak. Lunch was a light sandwich and milk because that was all he should eat before playing.

When I chided him about hot dogs and pop at the ball park, he would look wounded and say, "But I was hungry."

PREDATORY FEMALES

I took all the Babe's phone calls on the road. At first I assumed they were vestiges of his gay bachelor days, and there is no reason to assume a lot of them weren't exactly that.

But I was to learn that the Babe brought out the best in a lot of ladies, and I enjoyed setting them straight on their problem.

The Babe was always amused and rarely failed to point out this was further evidence that I was the luckiest of women to have snared so desirable a man.

The Babe never opened a window. I told him, "You might strain your back or a wrist. I'll open the windows."

For the same reason the Babe rarely shaved himself. And when he did I changed the blade. Nor would he ever be permitted to use a can opener.

If these restrictions seem a little silly, remember that the Babe's very fine livelihood depended upon being able at all times to field and hit.

NONSTOP ATHLETE

It always surprised me that the Babe had a serious weight problem. Even in the off season, he bowled, golfed, fished, hunted and went trap-shooting. Still the weight came.

I tried to play golf with him but gave it up when I realized that my duffer play ruined his own excellent game.

I went hunting with him one year and decided that hunting was for boys. I did do a little deep-sea fishing with him.

Babe possessed a unique social gift for a fellow raised in an institution. He could carve a joint of venison with the skill and aplomb of a headwaiter.

As I watched, I was always hung between pleasure and fear. I enjoyed his dexterity. But that knife was so long and so sharp!

I freely, in fact proudly, admit that I moved in and changed a lot of the Babe's habits.

I wanted to make Babe a happy man. I knew he was happiest when he was playing ball up to his extraordinary potential.

This he often missed because he wasn't in shape. If I curtailed a few of his pleasures I certainly didn't curtail his greatest pleasure—playing major league baseball.

Medical Examiner's Powers Fuzzy

Who Can Arrest a Sheriff?

LANSING (AP)—Suppose your sheriff and undersheriff, riding together, crack into a culvert, and both are killed. Who takes over?

The question is a poser in 19 Michigan counties that have gone to the medical examiner system. Of course, in the other 64, the answer is easy—the coroner designated by the circuit or county judge.

As to the 19, Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) set out yesterday to clarify a legal problem that has its roots in ancient statutes put on the books 113 years ago.

Hutchinson filed a bill declaring that in counties under the medical examiner system, the examiner "shall have all the powers and duties vested in the office of coroner relative to performing the functions and duties of the sheriff of the county."

In these same counties, he observed, the law is not clear who has the physical power to arrest the sheriff should this become necessary.

"We attempted to clear these things up in bringing the medical examiner act up to date in 1953," he said. "But a Supreme Court opinion a couple of years ago raised grave doubts about the situation."

In his researches, the senator discovered that if a sheriff and the undersheriff both are removed from the scene, duties of the sheriff's office devolve upon the coroner designated by the court.

But interestingly, the 1846 statute provides that if a sheriff should be thrown into the clink, the coroner residing nearest the county jail shall become keeper of the jail so long as the sheriff remains locked up.

Blushing Paint on Norwegian House Baffles

HARSTAD, Norway (AP)—Even the houses are blushing at the fishing village of Bleik near this northern Norwegian town.

Not that the village has anything more to be ashamed of than any other place. Chemical engineers are, in fact, puzzled as to why white houses there should suddenly start turning pink.

The village, sheriff said the transformation started before Christmas and has continued ever since.

Most houses are frame buildings with oil paints on wooden walls. The red color appears evenly over whole sides of the houses, but not necessarily on all sides of a house.

A scientist suggested that a coat of bad red paint under the white might be the cause. But several of the houses have never had any red paint on them.

A high concentration of calcium bromide in the sea air might also turn white paint red, but to do that, the concentration must be so great, that it would have killed off the population a long time ago.

Samples of the blushing paint have been sent to laboratories and scientists are working on the problem.

U.S. Uses 170 Billion Gallons of Water Daily

NEW YORK (UPI)—It takes 170 billion gallons of fresh water every day to quench America's thirst, according to a study by the Twentieth Century Fund.

The report said total daily water consumption by U. S. agriculture and industry as well as in the home is four times as great as it was 50 years ago. The nation's population only doubled in the same period, according to the census.

Black-Light Traps Catch Beetles

GENEVA, N. Y.—Entomologists at the Agriculture Department's research service at Geneva report that traps using fluorescent black light as bait promise much aid to scientists in their war on grassland-destroying European chafer beetles.

Use of this insect-attractant light to capture the beetles is considered a definite breakthrough in the search for an effective means of determining the extent of infestation and the need to establish quarantine areas.

Black-light traps tested last summer captured up to 70 times more adult beetles than chemically baited traps. The light traps caught about 1½ times more females than males, indicating a difference in their response to light. Chemically baited traps catch mostly males.

Do Fats Cause Heart Disease?

Physicians Disagree on Too Much Cholesterol Being the Bad Boy

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Whether you should pass up that serving of thick sausage gravy in order to stay alive is one of the questions that medical scientists hope to answer as they try to find the exact cause of heart disease.

During recent years, fats have been strongly suspected as the cause of atherosclerosis, the most common form of hardening of the arteries.

Atherosclerosis is a disease that causes fatty deposits to form inside the arteries. When these substances start to harden, they narrow an artery so that its ability to handle the flow of blood is destroyed or severely hampered. This condition often leads to the formation of a blood clot which can prove fatal if it takes place in vessels that nourish the heart or brain.

The fatty material which often shows up in the largest amounts is a vital chemical called cholesterol which the body uses to make sex hormones. It's this evidence that's responsible for the indictment of some of your favorite foods and one of the biggest controversies in medical history.

Many doctors believe that drastic changes should be made in the average American's diet. They base their beliefs on studies that show that fats increase the amount of cholesterol in the blood.

To further support their arguments, they point to statistics that show a direct relationship between the consumption of fats and a country's heart attack rate.

For instance, medical studies show that the average American gets about 45 per cent of his calories from fats while a Japanese gets only 10 per cent. This dietary difference could be responsible for Japan's heart attack rate being only one-fourth that of the U.S., these doctors say.

Laboratory experiments have revealed that only certain types of fats raise the cholesterol level of the blood. These are saturated fats which are derived from animals and appear in bacon grease, butter and milk.

Other tests have shown that unsaturated vegetable fats, like corn oil, actually reduce the amount of blood cholesterol. That's why some specialists believe that people should substitute these products for animal fats whenever possible.

They explain, however, that the vegetable products often lose their cholesterol lowering powers when put through a special chemical process called hydrogenation which hardens them.

Many heart specialists, however, believe that it's still too early to recommend that healthy individuals shun animal fats to avoid heart disease. They explain that there are too many unexplained factors involved in coronary attacks to place all the blame on fats.

For instance, they report that the people of Denmark, West Germany, the Netherlands, Norway and Sweden eat about the same amount of fats as U.S. citizens. But the heart attack fatality rate of those countries is only half that of the U.S.

These doctors also explain that cholesterol has never been proved to be the chemical ring-leader in causing atherosclerosis and that other blood substances may do as much or even more damage.

100-Candle Cake Brings Smiles to Centenarian

GARDEN CITY, Kan. (AP)—"I've smiled 100 years," said Mrs. Alice Wilcox, who claims to be the oldest living native Kansan, when she saw her huge birthday cake Wednesday.

The huge cake, sparkling with 100 candles, was presented by her

Sunday School class at a party. In poor health but alert, Mrs. Wilcox lives with a daughter, Mrs. Herbert Olsen, Near Garden City.

Mrs. Wilcox was born in Lin County in 1859, two years before Kansas became a State. She has lived in Finney County since 1905.

Nine of her 13 children are living. She also has 29 grandchildren, 53 great-grandchildren and 14 great-great-grandchildren.

QUICK STRAWBERRY SURPRISE—This delicious gelatin dessert makes its own top layer as it chills. Frozen strawberries are added to hot strawberry gelatin. When fruit has separated, beat the mixture. The result is a two-toned dessert. The new family size package of gelatin is used in this recipe.

Gelatin Dessert Is Two Layered

A new 6-ounce package of gelatin is now available in the three top flavors, Strawberry, Cherry and Raspberry. Just twice the size of the regular gelatin dessert package, it can be found in all large and small food markets in the Detroit area. All 10 flavors—Strawberry, Cherry, Raspberry, Grape, Black Cherry, Black Raspberry, Apple, Lemon, Orange and Lime are still being marketed in the regular 3-ounce size.

This strawberry dessert makes two pretty layers in tall sherbet glasses. By whipping the gelatin before it starts to thicken it separates as it cools. Economical frozen strawberries are used along with the new large package of strawberry gelatin.

Quick Strawberry Surprise
 1 large package (6 ounces) strawberry-flavored gelatin
 2 1/2 cups hot water
 1 package (10 ounces each) quick-frozen strawberry halves (not thawed)

Dissolve gelatin in HOT water. Add the frozen blocks of strawberries and stir gently until strawberries have completely separated. Beat with egg beater for 1 full minute; then pour into sherbet or other serving glasses. Chill until firm. Makes 14 to 16 servings.

Easy to Serve This Meat Loaf in Squares

One of our best meat loaves: Square Meat Loaf

2 eggs
 1 cup milk
 1/4 cup minced parsley
 2 tablespoons minced green pepper
 2 tablespoons plus 2 teaspoons finely grated onion (juice and juice)
 2 teaspoons salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
 2 cups soft bread crumbs (lightly packed)
 3 pounds ground lean chuck beef
 2 tablespoons chili sauce

In a large mixing bowl beat eggs enough to combine yolks and whites; add milk and beat enough to combine. Stir in parsley, green pepper, onion, salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce and mustard.

Stir in bread crumbs; allow to stand about 5 minutes. Add beef; mix thoroughly. Pack into heat-resistant glass baking pan (about 8 by 8 by 2 inches); spread top with chili sauce.

Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour. Pour off fat at sides of pan; cut in squares and serve from baking dish. Makes 8 servings.

Note: Remove crusts from bread before crumbling.

Small onion rings make attractive garnishes for vegetables, meat and fish.

HAM AND NOODLE SKILLET—This delectable dish of ham steak served on a combination of noodles, canned apples and sour cream makes fine fare for those mid-season menus when the weather's particularly unpredictable.

Apples, Noodles Dress Browned Ham Steak

Calendar-wise, Spring is on its way; but weather-wise, you can't be too sure. For those days when you want to serve something between a light salad and a hearty beef and dumpling stew, try this tempting Ham 'n' Apple Noodle Skillet... a delectable combination in any weather.

A ham steak is sautéed until brown and glistening; then cooked noodles, canned apples and sour cream are added to the drippings. It's quick to fix, too... this dish plus a green salad can be done in about 30 to 40 minutes from first stir to first bite.

A kitchen well stocked with macaroni products is a kitchen ready for any emergency in all kinds of weather... from a cool summer salad when the temperature soars, to a hot and hearty beef and macaroni casserole when the mercury's flirting with the zero degree mark.

Ham and Apple Noodle Skillet
 1 tablespoon salt
 1/2 quart boiling water
 2 ounces wide egg noodles (about 4 cups)
 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 1 ham steak, about 1/2-inch thick
 1 pound 4-ounce can apple slices
 1 cup sour cream
 Salt and pepper to taste
 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Meanwhile, melt butter or margarine. Add ham steak and cook over low heat until browned on both sides. Remove ham steak; place on heated platter. Add noodles, undrained apples and remaining ingredients to butter or margarine; mix well. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, 5 minutes. Serve noodle mixture with ham steak. Makes 4 servings.

Caramel Mix Tops Bread Custard

For a busy-day dessert that's tops in flavor and nutrition, serve Caramella Pudding.

To prepare the buttery-good Caramella Topping, cream together 1/4 cup brown sugar and 1/4 cup butter or margarine until fluffy. Add 2 teaspoons water. Spread mixture evenly into 6 custard cups.

To make the pudding, mix together 1 slightly beaten egg, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon vanilla extract and 1 cup milk. Add 2 1/2 cups enriched bread crumbs and 1/4 cup raisins and mix lightly.

Place in custard cups which contain Caramella Topping. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 15 minutes. Remove from pans immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Light Must Fit Tightly

Waterless cooking can be done with any pan with a tight-fitting lid. Use a moderately low heat, though, to prevent sticking or burning of vegetables.

Twisted Foil Holds Easter Cake Baskets

For an Easter party refreshment make cup cake baskets. Top the cup cakes with green grass (cocoanut that has been tinted with green food coloring) and colored jelly bean eggs.

Fold aluminum foil strips six and one half inches long and two inches wide until they are only a quarter of an inch wide then twist all the way down. Attach to the cup with horizontal strips of cellophane tape.

Good soup tastes better with that GOOD "KRISPY" FLAVOR!

Enjoy Great Variety of Fruit Dishes

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Aren't you glad you live in an age when you can buy fresh fruit the year round? It would be difficult to plan interesting menus if we had to rely solely on canned fruit most of the time.

Think of the monotonous meals the 50ers have in store for them up in Alaska. They won't be able to take their pick of apples, oranges, grapefruit, pineapples, grapes, avocados, bananas, strawberries, and winter pears. That is the assortment we saw on our shopping trip last week.

Seasons overlap one another in these days of refrigeration, rapid transportation and forced production. There are only a few fruits that are available for just a short time.

Bananas have been accused of having more calories than they do. Dietitians who dislike giving up one of their favorite fruits should be happy to know that a medium banana has only 88 calories. We never forget it as we have some banana earrings that dangle from a gold figure 88.

How about baking a banana for a gourmet-type dessert? Fixed this way, the dish has 100 calories.

Baked Banana Caramel
1 medium banana
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon brown sugar
Place peeled banana in baking dish. Brush with lemon juice. Sprinkle top with brown sugar. Bake 10-12 minutes in 450 degree oven. Serve hot. Makes one serving.

Use some of the oranges you bought when you last shopped to make Orange Bread. This is good sliced thin and spread with butter or made into cream cheese sandwiches for the lunch box. It freezes well, we know.

Florida Orange Bread
1/2 cup orange rind

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 cup orange juice
1 egg, well beaten
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt

NOTE: Use the rind of eating oranges not juice oranges. Although the law has just been passed about only safe edible dyes being used to color juice oranges, it is wise not to take chances. The eating oranges have not been colored. Save the peel from your breakfast fruit.

Cut orange rind into very thin slivers with scissors. Combine sugar and water, add the rind. Stir constantly over heat until sugar is melted. Cook slowly about 5 minutes. It will burn easily so watch it! Peel and syrup should then measure 2 1/3 cups.

Add butter; stir until melted; add orange juice and beaten egg. Sift together into mixing bowl, flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add orange mixture and mix just enough to moisten ingredients. Batter should be lumpy.

Bake in greased loaf pan, 9 1/2 by 4 1/2 by 3 inches, in 325-degree oven for 1 hour and 15 minutes, or until done. Turn out on rack to cool. Makes 1 loaf.

USE CANNED FRUIT TOO
Just to show you that we aren't AGAINST canned fruit—Heaven forbid!—here's a recipe for a tangy Pineapple Frappe.

A frappe may be a drink or a dessert; it's a French word meaning chilled or iced. This frappe would be excellent as the light dessert to climax a heavy meal.

Pineapple Frappe
1 No. 3 can crushed pineapple
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup shredded coconut
1 7-ounce bottle lemon-lime carbonated beverage
2 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon salt

Drain crushed pineapple and reserve pineapple; heat drained juice to boiling. Combine gelatin and sugar in a large bowl. Stir in boiling juice and continue stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Cool. Mix in reserved pineapple and coconut; quickly stir in lemon-lime carbonated beverage.

Pour into a large freezer tray or loaf pan and freeze mixture until mushy. Beat egg whites with salt until stiff. Stir partially frozen mixture with a fork and gently fold in egg whites. Freeze until firm. Makes 6 servings.

WHAT A LUNCH—The man who carries this lunch box looks forward to fast days! The hearty South African rock lobster sandwich is an inspiration.

Fast Days Mean Treat of Lobster for Lunch

A carried meal should be worth carrying. It should, if anything, be given more thought than any other, since it's apt to be consumed in somewhat unappetizing surroundings.

On fast days, particularly, the breadwinner is entitled to have some loving thought packed into that lunch box.

The only problem facing the man who carries this South African rock lobster sandwich in his lunch box is the envy of his colleagues. He not only has a loving wife, but a smart one!

This lunch-box treat has more to offer than the obvious advantages of taste and variety and appetite appeal. It's inexpensive. One South African rock lobster tail makes a hearty meal for a man. It's quick and easy. A batch of frozen rock lobster tails can be boiled up and refrozen, ready for sandwich-making at any time.

For the children, the homemaker who cares makes a sandwich spread of those same South African rock lobster tails from this same recipe. Just omit (perhaps!) the hint of onion and shred the rock lobster meat into the delicious, non-soggy cottage cheese base.

South African Rock Lobster Sandwich
1 (3-4 oz.) South African rock lobster tail
1 tablespoon cottage cheese
1 small carrot, grated
1 slice green pepper, grated
1 teaspoon onion juice
Dash aromatic butter
Butter or mayonnaise for spread

Drop frozen South African rock lobster tails into boiling, salted water. When water reboils, cook tails 3 minutes. Drain immediately, drench with cold water. Remove meat from shells in one piece. Chill rock lobster tails and refreeze extra cooked tails for future use.

To cottage cheese, add carrot

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Beef Standing Ramp Pot Roast.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. It comes from the rump section of the carcass. The meat cut is triangular in shape; consists of several layers of meat interspersed with fat and the outer surface has a thin fat covering.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. By either roasting (high quality) or braising. In roasting, the meat is cooked to the desired degree of doneness in a 300 degree F. oven. In braising the meat is first browned, a small amount of liquid is added, it is covered tightly and cooked slowly until done allowing 3 to 4 hours for cooking.

When you read that all red meats are about the same to slightly higher priced on the wholesale market this week, what does this mean to you? It means that in most cases you will find retail prices of red meats about the same as the week before. Of course you can expect stores to feature some cuts, and you might expect a slight price increase on some cuts by the end of this week or during the next week. A close study of the market information and a look at food adds before making the shopping list will help you decide the foods you wish to check in the food market.

Meats need not be drab. There is meat variety at costs to fit every family. Starting with beef, you will probably buy some ground beef at 14 to 18 cents per serving. Liver may range from 11 to 20 cents to serve each family member. Pot roast or Swiss steak will add up to 30 or 40 cents a serving.

Large seasonal pork supplies bring liver at 10 to 20 cents per serving; Boston butt at 13 to 18 cents; rib-end roast for 16 to 18 cents; loin-end roast for 20 to 22 cents and ham at about 24 to 28 cents per serving.

You can find a leg of veal at 24 to 33 cents per serving. The boneless frozen veal rolls may be a chance for roast at 15 to 23 cents per person.

Want a lamb roast? Leg will cost 23 to 26 cents per serving; shoulder 20 to 24. Barbecued ribs from the breast will be 13 to 20 cents per person. If the family wants poultry meat, tom turkeys are about 23 to 25 cents per serving. The small turkeys vary from 29 to 45 cents per serving this week. Fryers are 25 to 33 cents, stewers are 20 to 25 and roasters 23 to 30 cents per serving.

You may find special prices on turkeys in March, for the supply in cold storage is 20 per cent larger than average for this month. New crop turkeys will be coming in large numbers and more breeders are expected to be marketed than a year ago.

There is a wide price range in fish depending upon the variety you choose. Most will fit the 13 to 26 cent per serving bracket. Figure that a 10-ounce package of frozen fillets will serve three people. Catches of fresh lake perch are increasing.

Plenty of pork means plenty of bacon and sausage. A hearty breakfast of meat and eggs can be yours for less than 20 cents a serving. Large Grade A eggs continue to be a good protein buy at 45 to 51 cents a dozen.

What's the prospect of fruits and vegetables in this week's menus? It's bright.

More bananas are being imported; supplies are heavy. Avoca-

Colorful Sauces Flavor Broiled Fish Steaks

Broiled fish steaks make a welcome alternate to meat. They are firm, delicious and easy to prepare. When dressed with lemon juice or a special sauce, they make fine eating—a menu favorite for meatless days in Lent.

Broiled Halibut Steaks With Pimento Sauce
For 4 servings, plan on 4 small halibut steaks or 2 large ones. Place halibut on greased preheated broiler pan about 2 inches from heat. Brush with melted butter.

Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Broil 5 to 8 minutes. Turn carefully and repeat seasonings. Broil 5 to 8 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Pour hot pimento sauce over fish.

Pimento Sauce
Saute 1 chopped pimento (about 2 tablespoons) in 1-3 cup of butter. Add a tablespoon of lemon juice. Halibut Steaks With Herb Butter
2 large halibut steaks, or 4 small ones
1/4 cup soft butter or margarine
1/4 cup minced parsley
1 teaspoon grated onion
1/2 teaspoon thyme

1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
Few drops Tabasco
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
If steaks are large, cut in two. Arrange in greased baking pan which can be used for serving. Combine butter with remaining ingredients. Spread on halibut steaks. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serve immediately.

Lenten Sandwiches

Cut the tops from frankfurter rolls; hollow out the crumbs. Fill with salmon salad and garnish with mayonnaise and sweet pickle slices. Delicious for lunch!

Tomato Juice Seasons Flank

The Bolivians have a way with the less expensive flank steak. A scored steak is sprinkled with salt, pepper, parsley, garlic and grated cheese, then baked in a sauce of tomato and oregano. The tomato tenderizes the flank and seasons it through and through.

Latia Flank Steak
1 1/2 to 2 pounds flank steak, scored
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons minced parsley

1 small clove garlic, minced
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 can (6-1/2 ounces) concentrated tomato juice
1 can water
1/4 teaspoon oregano leaves
Sprinkle one side of flank steak with salt and next 4 ingredients. Roll steak tightly, jelly-roll fashion; secure with string. In a skillet or Dutch oven, brown in oil on all sides.
Combine concentrated tomato juice, water and oregano leaves; pour over steak. Simmer, covered, about 2 hours or until tender. Add additional water if sauce becomes too thick. Slice meat; serve sauce separately. Makes 5-6 servings.

Float a bit of grated orange or lemon rind on top of soups.

Mix Dessert, Chill 12 Hours, Cut to Serve

Here's a thought for a dessert that would be just as sure to please the grown-ups at dinner as the children at a party. It's easy to make, too, and requires no cooking.

It's a roll made of dates and marshmallows and sweetened condensed milk, chilled as long as overnight. So it is one of those convenient desserts that can be made ahead of time—it needs at least twelve hours' chilling. One roll makes ten servings.

After thorough chilling, the roll is cut in slices. Garnish with whipped cream.
Marshmallow Roll
22 marshmallows (1/4 pound)
1/4 cup water
1/4 cup sweetened condensed milk
1/4 cup chopped nut meats
1/4 cup finely chopped dates
1/4 cup graham cracker crumbs (30)
Cut marshmallows in quarters and put in mixing bowl. Add water. Add sweetened condensed milk, nut meats and dates. Blend well. Add cracker crumbs and blend well. Form into roll about 6 inches long and 3 inches in diameter. Cover with waxed paper. Chill in refrigerator 12 hours or longer. Cut in slices. Garnish with whipped cream if desired. Serves 10.

Teenage Guests Enjoy Preparing Refreshments

When your teenagers' friends come calling let them make their own sandwiches from a tray of sliced bread, soft butter, sliced ham and corned beef, mustard and relishes.
Have bowls of carrot sticks and potato chips on hand for munching, soft drinks for a beverage and frosted cupcakes or cookies for dessert.
You can make cheese straws by adding grated cheddar cheese to packaged pastry mix; serve with tomato juice or some other before-dinner beverage.

'He's a Little Older Than You, but...'

It Seems I've Heard That Song Before

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks single girls get tired of hearing—or overhearing:

"How come a pretty girl like you never got married?"

"Seriously, dear, don't you think you're being too choosy?"

"Now, Harry, you can't tell that joke. Remember, not all of us here are married."

"Sorry, miss, we don't serve unescorted ladies at the bar."

"If that loud-mouthed sister of hers could land a man, I don't see why—"

"He's a little older than you, but—"

"He's a little younger than you, but—"

"I just love your premature gray hair. It is premature, isn't it?"

"Stop grumbling, Harry, and pick up her check."

"Cheer up, honey, he's not the only pebble on the beach."

"Why do you waste your time on him? Can't you see he's not the marrying kind?"

"Why don't you try the Virgin Islands this year, Cecily? You've been everywhere else."

"I'd like to give you a raise, Cecily, but I've got to take care of the married men first."

"Isn't it ironic? In high school we all thought she'd be the first to get married."

"She's such a comfort to her mother."

"I envy you unmarried women. Your apartments are always so neat and clean."

"It's this way, Cecily. My wife just doesn't understand me. Have another martini."

"If you just had a husband, Cecily, you wouldn't be so nervous."

"Oh, it's no trouble, Miss Jones. I'll be glad to see you home. You do—uh, uh—live alone, don't you?"

"Maybe if you took up golf, dear, you'd meet—"

"I know what you need, Cecily. You need a cat. They're wonderful company."

"She's at the awkward age—too young for old men, too old for young men."

"It says here in the paper there are 1,564,328 more women than men in America. Isn't that funny?"

Rules Club Hears Dr. Eklund

Speaker at Annual Luncheon

Dr. Lowell Eklund, director of continuing education at Michigan State University Oakland, was guest speaker at the annual luncheon and election of officers of Parliamentary Study Club.

At the affair, held Wednesday afternoon at Ted's Restaurant, Dr. Eklund spoke on "Continued Adult Education." He emphasized that education should be continued even after one's formal education is completed and that we must learn to be wise leaders or enlightened followers.

Officers elected for the coming year are Mrs. John McNeely, president; Mrs. Lee Hill, first vice president; Mrs. Lester Oles, second vice president; Mrs. William Pfahler, recording secretary; Mrs. Russell Aulen, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert Dorman, treasurer; and Mrs. John Braid, auditor.

Committees appointed were Mrs. Robert Nienstedt, Mrs. John McConnel and Mrs. Lewis Swartz, membership; and Mrs. C. W. Crawley and Mrs. Oles, publicity.

On the program committee are Mrs. Dale Nolf, Mrs. Ervin Christie, Mrs. J. R. Shaffer, Mrs. Pfahler and Mrs. Joseph Phillips.

Mrs. G. Robert Scharf, Mrs. Frank Anderson and Mrs. Leonard Saari are on the house committee. Mrs. H. N. Watson is historian, and Mrs. John Gemmel, custodian.

The telephone committee members are Mrs. Harry Eaton, Mrs. Gorman, Mrs. Harold Schingek, Mrs. R. Earl Springer, Mrs. Grover McVean, Mrs. Harold Knisley and Mrs. Forrest Brown.

Mrs. Gray Re-elected by Club

Mrs. George W. Gray was elected to serve for her sixth term as president of Wever-Owen-Hawthorne Community Club when directors of the club met Monday evening at the Gray home on East Yale street.

Others elected were Robert Norberg, vice president; Mrs. Ford Drumm, recording secretary; and Mrs. Gordon Allison, treasurer.

NEW DIRECTORS

Directors elected were Mrs. Norman Bolton, Ronald Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dugas, John Emerson, Mr. Gray, Donald Hatcher, Lester Hendly, Floyd P. Miles, Mrs. Cordie Hereim, Mrs. Oscar Norgren, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Oltesvig, Mrs. Merle Parent, Jack Price, Mrs. Raymond Scarborough and Alfred Tollefson.

The group discussed the city sewage proposal to appear on the April 6 ballot.

Mrs. Hereim and Mrs. Norman Bolton have been appointed membership co-chairmen for the card party to be held at 7:30 p.m. April 3 at Owen School.

Hawthorne Park comfort station development committee were L. R. Stanley, Mr. Scarborough, Mr. Norberg, Ronald Carr, Mr. Gray, Floyd Miles, John Emerson and Mr. Tollefson.

Earl Oltesvig and Mr. Norberg will be delegates to the Greater Pontiac Community Council.

Beth Jacob Unit Hears Panel Talk 'Social Action' Is Discussion Topic at Meeting

A "Social Action Panel" was featured on the program when the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Jacob met Tuesday at the synagogue on Elizabeth Lake road.

Mrs. Herman Stenbuck, moderator, introduced the program.

Panelists were Dr. Ivan LaCore, former medical superintendent of Pontiac State Hospital, whose topic was mental health; Everett Spurlock, executive secretary of the Urban League, who discussed housing; and William McCarthy, former director of Children's Services for Oakland County, who spoke on juvenile delinquency.

The speakers stressed the importance of an enlightened community.

DELEGATES NAMED

Announcement was made of the convention of the Michigan Federation of State Sisterhoods which will take place April 6, 7, and 8 at Flint. Delegates for the event are Mrs. Nathan Hershfield, Mrs. Sam Chafets, Mrs. Sam Stolorow and Mrs. Harold Chapman.

Members of the nominating committee are Mrs. Irving Steinman, Mrs. Harry Arnkoff, Mrs. Irving Gordon, Mrs. Sam Stolorow, Mrs. Eugene Ketchel and Mrs. Meyer Fine.

Assisting with the meeting were Mrs. Rudolph Hartman, Mrs. Abe Zamek and Mrs. Malcolm Kahn, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Meyer Fine, and Mrs. Sidney Shertzer.

Moose Group Enrolls Two

Mrs. Robert Terry Jr. and Mrs. William Cavalier were enrolled in the Women of the Moose Tuesday when the group held enrollment night at the Moose Hall. The class was in honor of Mrs. George Harshbarger.

Members have accepted an invitation to attend Taylor Township's Academy of Friendship enrollment April 5.

The Moosehaven committee announced that a penny supper will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Moose Hall.

Also being planned is an Easter party for Moose children, to be held March 28 at 2 p.m. at Moose Hall.

Church Group Has Birthday Luncheon

Members of the January-March Group of First Presbyterian Church observed their birthday luncheon Tuesday at First Congregational Church.

Mrs. W. J. Baumgartner was in charge of the Bible study. Readings were given by Mrs. Robert K. Boggs, with arrangements by Mrs. H. J. McGrath. Several former members were present, as well as guests from Detroit and Birmingham.

OES Past Leaders Meet for Dinner

Past matrons and patrons of the Oakland County OES for 1957 and 1958 met at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building for a cooperative dinner. Hosts for the Saturday affair were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sharpe and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Glascock.

The next meeting will be held at the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building with Mr. and Mrs. William Studt and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barrick as hosts.

Checks always may be counted on to attract admiring glances, and this slim, crisp, black and white combination dress does just that.

Couple Speak Marriage Vows

Mrs. Lewis H. Humphries and W. Robert Harrell were married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Dodge of Coesbourn drive, Drayton Plains, by the Rev. Donald C. Andrews of the United Presbyterian Church of the Atonement.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elmer E. Day and the late Mr. Day. Mr. Harrell is the son of William R. Harrell of Pontiac and the late Mrs. Harrell.

The couple will live on Bow Lane drive in Pontiac.

Walk Right

Important Tips on Foot Comfort

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Today I want to give you a few follow-up hints about foot comfort. I already have mentioned the importance of wearing shoes which are properly fitted. In most cases you can depend on the salesman to help you. However, there are some things you might remember. First your feet are shorter when sitting than when standing. Therefore they should be measured when standing.

Also, usually one foot is larger than the other and shoes should be comfortable on the larger foot. The widest part of your foot should rest in widest part of your shoe and the turn of the sole should come at the big toe joint. Your shoes should extend from one-half to three-fourths of an inch beyond the end of your big toe.

If your heels flop up and down when you walk, you do not have a good fit.

Stockings which are too short in the foot can damage the feet almost as much as too-short shoes. Be sure that they also extend well past the end of the big toe and be certain to make allowance for shrinkage when laundered. Stockings which are too short in length will pull against the garters and cause fatigue or aching legs.

INGROWN TOENAILS usually are due to incorrectly fitted shoes. However, sometimes the way you cut your toenails makes a difference. They should be cut straight across, not rounded.

CALLUSES AND CORNS may come from wearing shoes which are too tight or too loose or have the wrong vamp for you so that pressure points develop.

Stockings which are too short in the foot can damage the feet almost as much as too-short shoes.

Revolutionary New Look

Britain Exhibits Male Styles With Flare

By EDDIE GILMORE

LONDON (U)—Don't glare if people stare, or even swear—it's just the flare.

Britain's arbiters of male styles—the Men's Fashion Council—today decreed a new look for man's 1959 Easter suit.

The coat, the vest, the pants, the topcoat—all will flare.

To illustrate, the council hired the ballroom of a big London hotel and trotted out a team of male models, all decked out in the new line.

Coat lapels, coat cuffs, coat hems, vest edges and pants bottoms all flared.

"You can move in this new style," said Leonard Ostling, chairman of the council. "It's not like those Continental tubular things which curl up all the time."

SARTORIAL SNIP This was a sartorial snip at the Italian line—the short coat and the drainpipe trousers.

In addition to flaring, the suits for 1959 are as colorful as an explosion in a paint factory.

One model wore a red-checked flare suit. The coat was lined with hunting scenes that would frighten a fox—all dogs and galloping horses.

Another wore a Prince of Wales check jacket with the lining striped like an awning, in green, scarlet and royal blue.

Still another sported a gray and black diamond weave that ran riot with fox heads.

A puzzled reporter asked just what flare meant.

"Well," said Ostling, "Like this." He made a downward and outward wave of his hands.

If you still haven't got it, Webster says of flare: "To stream, or flutter as hair or ribbon, to open, or spread outward. To project beyond the perpendicular."

The paisley-pattern slippers which are popular now had their beginnings in the mid-Victorian era.

Calluses, especially, may develop because you do not walk correctly. Take a good look at your shoes. They will tell you a lot about how you walk. For instance, if your heels are run over on the inner side of your shoe, you are placing too much weight on the inside edges of your feet.

Runover heels should be repaired. You cannot walk properly if your shoes are in this condition. After your heels are corrected, try to correct your walk.

When you have a union your big toe joint is dislocated and inflamed. In the case of corns, calluses or bunions it is best to see a podiatrist or a chiropodist for expert treatment.

If you would like to have my exercises for the arches, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 14 to Josephine Lowman in care of this paper.

Tomorrow: "Deplatories are Fine, but Check First for Allergy."

Woman's Club Views Slides of Holy Land

Dr. C. I. Chapman narrated and Mrs. Chapman showed slides of their trip through the Holy Land at the Monday afternoon meeting of the Pontiac Woman's Club. Mrs. Forrest Brown was the chairman for the day when the group met at the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building.

Mrs. Harry Stowell was appointed delegate to the district convention which will be held in Detroit April 5 through 7.

Members of Mrs. Brown's committee were Mrs. Ray Haertler, Mrs. Ralph Gix, Mrs. H. F. Going, Mrs. Alfred Danton, Mrs. Thurman Huston, Louise Padlock and Mrs. Ray Ward.

Good Grooming Is Rewarded

High schools are scheduling numerous spring dances so it is time to brush up on being a wholesome, pleasing date.

A young girl should remember not to overdress or use heavy makeup since this embarrasses her date.

Be considerate of his tastes and pocketbook and perhaps he will return the compliment with pleasant, thoughtful suggestions for an evening of fun.

Blond shoes are one way to lighten a winter costume. The blond-and-black combinations are pretty, too.

Wound Treatment

Bruised and battered dollies need care just as their mistresses do when they have a scratch. One doll hospital reveals how it heals wounds with "shellac and sunshine." Cover a doll's scratch with white shellac and she'll wear no scars.

How to Launder Luxurious Look Corduroy

Corduroy, so popular for covering casual pillows and for draperies and couch throws, has a truly luxurious look.

Beneath its plush pile, however, corduroy harbors the most practical affinity for soap or detergent suds.

The method is to shake out loose dust, then put the corduroy through the washing machine. If machine-dried, remove while still slightly damp. A gentle shaking from time to time will fluff up the nap.

Stylists Dream Up 'His-Hers' Color Rinses

Earthmen With Green Hair? You Bet!

NEW YORK (AP)—If you hurry, mister, you may be the first fellow or your block to sport green hair—or if you like it better, mauve or apricot.

It is not only the latest mode, as evidenced by demonstrations at the current international beauty show, but it is the living end of togetherness, for the new line feathers fashion is being launched as "his" and "hers" hair rinses:

Mother and father not only can turn out now with the same colored hair, but they can change the hair colors by a simple shampoo. After all, daddy might feel like tickled pink one day but more like green envy, merry apricot or—possibly—blue mood the next.

Pioneers were three brave executives of the rinse company. One, Myron Gaffen, is a natural brunet who had to have his locks bleached before he could turn up for the show in red riot—a crimson, not henna shade. "I feel frisky," he insisted.

Other beauty notes of special interest to the male is a new type of permanent wave roller, made on the bobbin principle, which eliminates the need for setting the hair after each washing.

"It is wonderful for men," said its inventor, Mrs. Michael Amalzone, a Buffalo, N. Y., hairdresser. "They can take showers, go in swimming or anything else and their hair won't frizz. Before, men have been afraid of permanent waves because they made their hair too curly and too obvious."

"And it is a great boon for men with sparse hair—a permanent makes it look more full—or short men, who can gain height with their curls."

On the distaff side of the beauty business, however, things are more normal. The show, expected to attract some 25,000 professionals, has the usual exhibits of equipment, rinses, dyes, soaps, unguents, uniforms and comfortable work shoes.

Hair stylists are introducing during the week a series of 1939 coiffures, called "the radiant look," which generally involves hair piled high on the head and big, fat curls.

"It is a change," declared Mr. William, a Staten Island stylist, "from the short masculine look of last year."

Organza Fused to Wool, Silk Gauze Makes Debut

Whether or not you feel Paris has lost its hold as the one and only fashion inspiration center, there is no doubt that the French fashion collections are the proving ground for future trends in fabric. Here the great European textile creators share their secrets with the Parisian designers, and the first sight of a new and sensational texture comes when a dress makes its entrance in one of the well known collections.

This season, silks made news. One of the most interesting innovations is by Schers, a new name in woolen design, who backed his bulky, loose-knitted dark fabrics with white silk organza and mysteriously fused the two contrasting surfaces together.

A delectable silk gauze named "Gazar" also made its debut. It has the loose uneven weave of cheesecloth and comes both in plain colors and in big, watery prints with lots of white in the background.

Mat-textured weaves are also news, taking the place of the slubbed and nubby silks of past seasons.

A Color Pageant

Spring Jewelry Outlook

White makes a big splash in the spring scene, both as a dress and suit color and in jewelry.

The "frosted" look of white mixed with color is a fresh and beautiful thing in every type of jewelry. There is little "one color" look to jewelry—rather it is a diffused, completely new color effect, much like stained glass.

Pink gets a high color rating in many different shadings ranging from a "hot" geranium shade to clear, soft rose. Turquoise, that flattering touch to all skin tones, is a big jewelry color used by itself, or as an accent to other colors. Green—ranging from a lovely, soft, tender, milky shade through jade and emerald—is emerging as a big accessory color and is at its loveliest in jewelry.

Yellow, as clear and bright as sunshine, lends a beautiful accent to all spring colors. No color at all is a big jewelry note—for clear crystals, cut in lovely, sparkling, new shapes and often treated with an aura borealis finish, gives a glittering, cool look to the new clothes.

A surprise color note is the appearance of autumn colors the tobacco browns, yellows and deep oranges. Black and white—combining jet with pearls, crystals or beads—is a high-fashion color note and startlingly beautiful when paired with the new white clothes.

Suds, Toothbrush, Flannel Do the Job

By their very nature, most copper coins turn green from oxidation. This "rust" can be removed with acid, but that also pits the surface.

There's a safer and easier method—which also leaves a nicer finish. Scrub the coins with soap or detergent suds and a stiff toothbrush. Dry immediately and rub to a soft, warm patina with flannel. Incidentally, this is the way all antique brass and copper should be polished.

Unconventional Courtship

Future Empress Hard to Win

(This is the second of three dispatches about the next Empress of Japan. Michiko Shoda.)

By RONALD F. KRIS

TOKYO (UPI)—Behind the gay, outgoing personality of the next Empress of Japan is a girl completely serious about the position which soon will be hers.

Michiko Shoda, 24-year-old daughter of a wealthy Tokyo family, will marry Crown Prince Akihito April 10, to become the first commoner on the Japanese throne in its 2,618 year history.

"I don't believe commoners should be united with the Imperial family," Michiko wrote her mother during the days of Akihito's courtship. "I doubt if such a move would bring good results. The history of royalty in Europe proves this."

But once her decision was made, she told her parents and friends, "Every marriage, after all, is the same in essence."

Miss Shoda, a trim brunette, was an honors scholar at the Catholic Sacred Heart schools she attended in Tokyo; and began her interest in tennis, through which she met her future husband, because her doctors recommended exercise to cure a childhood illness.

Her friends and teachers remember her as a sensitive and reflective girl—an avid reader of historical novels, and just as enthusiastic a reader of A. A. Milne's "Winnie the Pooh" books. Also interested in the paintings of Van Gogh and Cezanne, she tried her hand at art but "somehow I never worked on one (painting) to the finish."

Once in an essay competition, she looked back on the tumultuous world in which she had grown up and described it as a "worm-eaten apple." But she shrugged off pessimism and her wish on reaching 20 was for "a bright future."

"I would like to live each day filled with a lively expectation," she wrote, "imbued with the spirit that I would constantly strive to create a new self and a new future through my efforts."

Michiko met Akihito on the tennis courts of Karuzawa—matter of fact, she and a partner once trounced him and his partner in a mixed doubles match.

By the summer of 1938, Akihito was seeing her regularly, and the knowledge that he wanted to marry her disturbed the young Michiko. She hastily left her native land without even seeing him—ostensibly to attend an international convention of Sacred Heart graduates in Belgium. But actually, her friends say, she wanted time to think things over.

Shortly after she left on an eight-week trip to Europe and the United States, an emissary from the Imperial household board—whose job was the painstaking search for a future Empress—asked the Shodas unofficially for their opinion. Urgent phone calls and letters passed between Michiko and her parents. The decision—"No"—was relayed to the board.

PERSISTENCE WINS OUT

But the Crown Prince was not so easily put off. When she returned to Tokyo in October, Akihito was on the telephone daily—an unheard-of procedure in Japanese courtship.

His persistence finally overcame her doubts about commoner marrying royalty; in November, she said "Yes."

Today, Michiko is caught up in a dizzying whirl of preparations for her wedding and a life of pomp and ceremony.

Tutors are giving her lessons in court ritual and etiquette, preparing her for the different future. Those who know Michiko say she will make the transition smoothly.

Mother Miyoshi, Michiko's history teacher and guidance counselor at Sacred Heart, summed up her feelings: "As a person, Michiko is perfect for the role if you don't think in terms of commoner or nobility."

Checked Dress Is Neat When Dressed Down

NEW YORK (NEA)—The neat and disciplined check, done in fine worsteds or silk-and-wool mixtures, could very well be your first spring dress this year.

In black-and-white or navy-and-white, the check lends itself to slender, simple lines and therefore is ideal for many versions of the Empire. In brown-and-white or beige-and-white, checks start small and wind up giant size in fashions for daytime, evening and sportswear.

The checked dress looks best with neat, uncluttered accessories: the simple calf pump and handbag, a piece or two of gold jewelry, a coat in a harmonizing solid color.

League Set for Annual Meeting

Mrs. Peter B. Loomis of Birmingham will be guest speaker at the annual meeting of Pontiac League of Women Voters to be held at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday at Ted's Restaurant. Mrs. Fred Steinbaugh is in charge of the dinner.

Mrs. Loomis has been a league member in Birmingham since 1942 and was president of the Birmingham League from 1953 to 1955. She is president of the Birmingham Board of Education and is vice president of Oakland County School Board Association.

She also is a member of Birmingham Community House Board and chairman of the City Plan Commission.

TO ELECT OFFICERS

Election of officers and directors, adopting the budget for 1959-1960 and choosing a topic for local study for the year will be included in the program for the evening.

Mrs. Herman B. Stenback will be mistress of ceremonies, and Amy Krueger will preside.

Mrs. Donovan Gillmore and Elizabeth Halsey will assist with dinner arrangements.

Dry Cleaners Need to Know About Fabrics

A warning to sew-it-yourself dressmakers comes from the National Institute of Drycleaning. A homemade graduation dress shrank while it was being dry cleaned.

Come to find out, the dress was made from leftover drapery material. Had the dry cleaner known this, he would have given it special handling, as he does draperies, to prevent shrinkage.

Drapery material is often not prshrun. Use it to dress windows, not graduates, warns the Institute.

The melting colors of pink, violet and blue have been combined in pretty little hats of velvet for dressy wear.

Have Courage to Confess—Abby

Guilty Conscience Is Whip That Truth Alone Can Curb

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR, ABBY: This has been on my mind for seven months and I am determined to get it off. I have been taking money from the office where I work. I've done this for the past two years but I've always put it back before the end of the month. I am now so far behind I will never catch up. It would be difficult to catch me but that is not my problem. I would like to make a confession to my boss and make arrangements to pay it back if it takes me the rest of my life. I can't live like this any longer. I am half-loaded right now or I wouldn't have nerve enough to mail this. Please tell me if you think I should take a chance on going to jail. My boss has been wonderful to me and I think he would understand."

GUILTY CONSCIENCE

DEAR GUILTY: You'll have no peace of mind until you settle this matter. Talk to your boss before he talks to you.

"DEAR ABBY: I love my family dearly but they get me terribly embarrassed. Especially my mother who uses improper grammar. She says "SHE DON'T" instead of "SHE DOESN'T" and "YOU WAS" instead of "YOU WERE." Should I correct her or leave her say what she pleases?"

RITA

DEAR RITA: Correct her in private... but don't LEAVE her say what she pleases in public... LET her say what she pleases.

"DEAR ABBY: I am a very well-to-do widow who is quite lonely and would like to meet some gentleman who isn't a gold-digger. My husband left me with three apartment buildings and six fourplex dwellings. I own one square block of commercial property in the center of town and have a 50-50 interest in a used car business. I have not touched my capital and don't intend to. How can I get a man?"

LONESOME

"DEAR LONESOME: Don't put the cheese out where the rats can smell it. What else have you got to offer?"

"DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and a senior in high school. I worked last summer and have a serious problem. I fell in love with my boss. He's single and lives with his mother. He is considerate and very sensible. He doesn't want to see me hurt so he never takes me out in public although he says he loves me.

"You see he is 34 (twice my age) and it's gotten so that I can't sleep nights thinking about the next time we'll see each other. We've been dating secretly. Nobody (but you) knows about us. Is there any future in this for me? Please be honest.

LOVESICK

DEAR LOVESICK: Face the facts. He's too old for you, and if he were thoroughly decent he wouldn't be dating you secretly. Break off right now before you get into serious trouble. It only hurts for a little while.

"How can I get him to notice me?" Get ABBY'S booklet, "What Every Teenager Wants To Know." Send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY in care of this newspaper.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Words Don't Always Mean What They Say

By RUTH MILLETT

Social Dictionary of much-used phrases and their actual meanings:

"Do come by and see us some time." Not to be taken literally. The person issuing that vague invitation would be mighty surprised if you did happen to turn up next day.

"Don't go to a lot of trouble." This is a phrase used not to lighten your load, but to ease the conscience of a person putting you to trouble.

"It was a lovely party." This is a remark women guests use to describe all parties, good, bad and indifferent.

"How interesting." A useful phrase, for it can be used when you can't find any other word. It's especially helpful when you are being shown a contemporary painting, an obscure gadget or even when you are told a long-winded, pointless story.

"We're having a few people in." A "few people" can be six, 16 or 200, depending on your hostess. Women, for some reason or other, never admit to having a big party.

"About eightish." When your hostess uses that phrase, don't arrive on the dot of eight. If you do, she probably won't even be dressed to receive guests. Women who say "eightish" instead of eight are never on time, even for their own parties.

"We really should be going." That doesn't mean that guests are planning to leave. And you'll insult them if you jump to your feet and start showing them to the door. The thing you are supposed to say after that remark is, "It's early yet. Do stay a little longer."

What Young People Think

Drum Majorettes Kick Up Big Controversy

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Does the high-kicking short-skirted drum majorette marching at the head of the high school band fill you with admiration? Or do you feel like telling her to go home and put some clothes on?

If you are like a sampling of teenagers across the country, you have pretty definite ideas on this controversy—and plenty of people to argue with.

For, in a nationwide survey of high school boys and girls, we learned that 53 per cent of the youngsters are solidly behind the pretty drum majorette and a militant 44 per cent would prefer to see less of her.

Objections to the attire of the trim twirlers range from moral to physical considerations. Some think they are shocking; others are afraid they will catch cold.

"People might get the wrong idea," protests 15-year-old Linda Friedman of Washington, D. C. "A band should be for school spirit, not a burlesque show."

look just great," said 16-year-old Maureen Nolan of Valley Stream, N. Y.

DETROITER'S VIEW

Mary Cutting, 16, of Detroit, proudly announced that her school band "is good enough without a lot of silly girls flitting around."

And 16-year-old Boyd Michalevsky of Exeter, N. H., commented that drum majorettes in short skirts are necessary only for bands "that can't play or march."

Speaking for the health faction, 15-year-old Gail Greenberg of Elkins Park, Pa., pointed out that "it gets awful cold during football season. More clothes are desirable as far as I'm concerned."

Sam Rubin, 15, San Francisco dismissed the whole costume controversy with four deft words: "It's not ladylike."

Only 1 per cent of the girls interviewed said they were drum majorettes, but 28 per cent said they would like to be.

Dianthe Merriman, a 13-year-old San Francisco freshman, said she would like to be a drum majorette because "it means more popularity."

But 17-year-old Clare Briert of New Orleans wanted no part of it: "I don't care to be put in front of a band on exhibition."

On the boys' side of the field, 4 per cent said they had a girl friend or a sister who was presently a drum majorette.

BOYS OBJECT

But a whopping 42 per cent said they certainly would object if their sister or girl wanted to be a drum majorette.

"I don't want people to gawk at my girl," answered 17-year-old Richard Pierce of Miami.

This seemed to be the major objection of all those who preferred their women folk to remain on the sidelines when the band went by.

"I wouldn't want the boys in school and around town making remarks," said 16-year-old Larry Pickens of Colverdale, Ind.

Ian Gilbert, 16, of Washington, D. C., took a man of the world attitude toward the issue. "Let her do what she wants to do," he remarked.

Of those interviewed, 27 per cent said their parents would object to girls in the family joining the band as drum majorettes.

"My parents," said Mark Cutting, 16, of Detroit, "don't feel it's correct to go through the confections majorettes do." Most of the other objections were concerned with the brevity of the costumes.

Only 12 per cent of the teenagers said the attire of drum majorettes had become an issue in their school.

"After our principal had the final word—slacks—there was nothing to do," ruefully commented 16-year-old Sue Kingsley of Detroit.

Most of those who attended school where majorettes have been banned did not know the reason for the decision. They suspected, however, that short skirts had a lot to do with it. From the tenor of the survey, it would appear that they were right.

It's Thought, Not Size That Counts

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The recent death of the mother of a friend of mine has brought to mind the question of what obligations I have to this friend. The friend is someone I have known for a long time but is not really a close one. We live on the same street, go to the same church, our children attend the same school, yet we are probably not together at social functions more than a couple of times a year."

"Are flowers or other donation to a charity a requirement? Flowers can become rather expensive and while we are not poor, we don't have too much left for these extra expenses. I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: Unless the obituary notice in the newspaper states No Flowers, you would normally send some to the funeral, but you certainly are not expected to seriously strain your finances to do so. A note of sympathy to your friend and your presence at her mother's funeral is all that can be expected of you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a middle-aged woman is seated at a party and a woman guest arrives who is a stranger to her and she is brought over and introduced to her, is it necessary that she rise from her chair to acknowledge this introduction?"

Answer: No, she remains seated.

Governments, Business Fear Him

Italian Oil Empire Built by Self-Made 'Santa Claus'

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Editor

ROME—An international mystery man is the spark behind one of Italy's most dramatic post-war economic developments.

He is Enrico Mattei, 53-year-old head of the Italian oil monopoly. And he is a mystery man only in the sense that he is regarded with a certain disquiet both by governments, including the Italian government, and international business.

The U. S. government keeps an eye on his activities out of a fear that his steadily pyramiding activities might prove to be a two billion dollar bubble which could blow Italian prosperity to smithereens.

International industry watches him because he has not hesitated to under-cut world markets in order to force his own entry. In any event, he is one of the most powerful men in Italy.

Mattei is a forceful, self-made man who has acquired the art of wearing his clothes well and being at ease in any company.

At 14, he went to work as a partner in a bed factory in his native northern Italy. At 19, he was a director of the company.

Later Mattei fought as a Christian partisan against the Germans, commanding 8,000 men. Those forces added their strength to post-war governing Christian Democratic Party.

With this political and economic background, Mattei was called upon to eliminate the oil monopoly set up under Mussolini.

It was then a collection of buildings with no oil and physical assets worth about a million dollars. It was Mattei's job to liquidate those holdings.

But he reversed his field and began intensive explorations. He found deposits of methane natural gas and began building an empire. Holdings have been expanded to an estimated two billion dollars.

But what ever disquietude Mattei causes, as one critic said: "You can't quarrel with Santa Claus."

MSU Dean Says Agitation Is Aim Reds Won't Fight on Berlin

EAST LANSING (AP)—The current Berlin crisis will not result in war, a Michigan State University administrator who was a former top U.S. official in Germany predicted today.

"Basically, Russia is not ready to go to war over this issue, America and her allies do not want war and I don't think a war will break out," said Dean Milton E. Muelder, head of the MSU College of Science and Arts.

Muelder served on a commission which determined the composition and size of military government units in the American zone of Germany, served as chief of the program branch in the control office of the U.S. military government there and was a deputy director of educational and cultural relations with Germany.

"The current crisis is merely one more in the long series of events designed to keep the Berlin scene agitated and confused," Muelder said.

"Nonetheless," he added, "we must be ready to call the Russian bluff if necessary."

Atomic Freighters May Travel Seaway

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nuclear-powered merchant ship N.S. Savannah, to be launched in July, may be seen in some Great Lakes ports, Rep. William K. Van Pelt (R-Wis.) reported today.

Van Pelt said Secretary of Commerce Strauss had promised him every consideration will be given to his request that the ship, under construction at Camden, N.J., be sent into the Great Lakes.

Special crews are being trained for the ship. Strauss said the vessel is expected to be in operation in early 1960.

Van Pelt said special care would be necessary in moving the Savannah into the Great Lakes through the new St. Lawrence Seaway since it approaches the maximum size which can move through the locks.

The ship is being constructed by the government. Van Pelt is a member of the House Merchant Marine Committee which approved building of the vessel.

Hollywood Headlines

Annette, Idol of Teeners, Leads No Glamor Life

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What's this — Annette afraid of teenagers? The idol of millions of youngsters says it's true. Though she is the picture of self-assurance in movies and TV, she's really shy.

"It's not easy for me to meet other teenagers," she said. "And when I'm in a crowd and they start staring at me, I really get scared."

"I'm much more at ease with grown-ups, because I've been with them most of my life. I seldom see teenagers. I'm the only one of the Mouseketeers left at the Disney Studios, so I go to school there alone. It's almost like having a private tutor."

"Naturally, I miss the proms and other school activities that school kids have. I can't have many dates when I'm working, and I don't get to meet many boys, anyway. When I have to go to a social affair for the studio, I have to ask a boy myself."

So you see the life of a teenage star is not all velvet. But lest you shed a tear for Annette, let me add that the velvet part is nice indeed. What other 16-year-old girl has her own white Thunderbird?

There is satisfaction aplenty for Annette in her work, too. Right now her third record, "Tall Paul," is on the best-seller list. She is being seen in her first feature movie, "The Shaggy Dog," and scored a hit with four guest appearances on Danny Thomas' TV show. Her fan mail tops anybody at the Disney Studio, including Zorro and Mickey Mouse.

Her success may be due in large part to her naturalness. No show biz child, she happened on a career by accident. She was taking dancing lessons when Walt Disney organized the Mouseketeers. Her dancing teacher took her along with other students to try out for the youthful troupe.

Annette was one of 24 chosen out of thousands.

She talks rather wistfully of her Mouseketeer days.

"It was a lot of fun when we were all working together," she said. "I still see many of the kids when we have reunions."

About the name. It's really Annette Funicello, and she sometimes goes by that.

"I've wanted to change it," she remarked. "When I suggested getting a new name to Mr. Disney, he wouldn't hear of it. I kinda like just plain 'Annette.' It's different — like Margo or Hildagard."

Fremont to Get Help in Building Sewer

LANSING (AP)—Detroit and Fremont will benefit through failure of a community with a higher priority to take advantage of a federal grant for sewage disposal system construction.

The state Water Resources Commission reported that New Baltimore, on Lake St. Clair, Macomb County, did not arrange financing in time to meet provisions for a $219,600 federal grant.

Fremont, Newage County, was next on the priority list and will receive $38,500 in federal funds for expansion of a sewage treatment plant.

The remainder, plus unspent balances from other projects, totaled $185,000 and will go to Detroit to aid in construction of the Rouge River interceptor sewer.

For every one that asketh receive.

Rural State Voters Protest Plan to Abolish Primary School Districts

By TOM SHAWVER
LANSING (AP)—Cries of "dictatorship" rose from the House floor last night as rural voters from across the Lower Peninsula joined in protest against a plan to abolish Michigan's 1,815 primary school districts.

Backers of so-called "little red schoolhouse districts" whistled and applauded spokesmen for farmer and rural education groups who lit into a bill to put every school age child into a high school district.

Opposing them, a solid phalanx of powerful education organizations and a wide scattering of school district representatives called on the Legislature to enact the measure without delay.

Nearly 600 citizens jammed the big House chamber for a three-hour hearing called by Rep. Raymond C. Wurzel (R-Port Huron), chairman of the House Education Committee, to get grassroots viewpoints on the measure. Seventy-nine speakers testified.

Under the proposal, dubbed the K-12 plan, all school districts offering only eighth grade education would have until Jan. 1, 1962, to form their own high school districts or join existing ones.

County school boards would map the pattern of reorganization with approval of the state superintendent of public instruction.

In the six months after the deadline, county boards would step in to force annexation or consolidation of holdout districts. Any district, however, could appeal its place in the reorganization program to the State Board of Education, the final authority.

The plan would go into operation July 1, 1962. Only 225,000 of Michigan's 1½ million school children would be affected. But they represent 77 per cent of the 2,360 school districts.

Sharpest protest came from Stanley M. Powell, legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau. Noting his organization had adopted a resolution opposing the K-12 plan at its last convention, he said:

"In almost every instance, the larger the district the less interest parents and taxpayers take in its affairs."

"A large school inevitably becomes a very impersonal and professional system in which the average parent or taxpayer has little voice and takes a minimum of interest."

In 40 years, the number of school districts in Michigan has dropped from 7,200 to a third that number, he said, giving indication the goals of the K-12 program will be reached without forceful legislation.

Backing Powell were Joseph F. Parid, executive director of the Michigan Townships Assn.; W. J. Brake of the Michigan State Grange, and several spokesmen for the Assn. for Rural Education.

SOUNDS THEME

Sounding the theme for rural voters, Frank Nevins Jr. of Dowagiac asserted the program would set up "a complete dictatorship by the office of the superintendent of public instruction."

"This is a violation of a fundamental freedom—letting the people decide what education their children should have," said Harmon Croyce of Decatur.

Joseph Lovey, Lansing city attorney, complained the proposal "put the cart before the horse" by failing to provide a uniform assessment and millage allocation system for districts covering more than one municipality.

It also would strip cities of a weapon to force political annexation, he said.

Others protested the system would boost taxes in primary districts and raise bus transportation costs.

Lowest pleas for enactment of the measure came from Cass County residents whose children were "orphaned" last year when nearby cities refused to enroll them in high school unless the districts agreed to annexation.

"My grandfather may have had to sit on an old wooden privy seat when he went to school, but that's no reason my son has to do the same," said Robin Smith of Cassopolis, chairman of the County Citizens Group for Better Education.

His wife Carol accused the Assn. for Rural Education of waging "a fear campaign of outright propaganda" to block an annexation move in her district.

Mrs. Clayton Dinger of Vandana said her son must ride 40 miles to Three Rivers twice a day to attend high school because crowded districts nearby wouldn't accept him. Other area pupils attend school in Indiana for the same reason.

Also lining up in support of the bill were the office of the state superintendent of public instruction, the Michigan Education Assn., the Michigan Congress of Parents & Teachers, Michigan Assn. of School Boards, the Michigan Assn. of County School Administrators, the Michigan Federation of Teachers and the Michigan Assn. of School Administrators.

If enacted, they said, the plan would:

1. Enable schools to offer a larger curriculum and better education.
2. Assure every child access to a high school district in his own area.
3. Give voters in present primary districts a voice in running high school districts.
4. Allow smoother operation of school transportation systems.
5. Save the state four million dollars a year in tuition paid to districts that enroll nonresident pupils.

Probers Call Teamster

Quizzed on Insurance Deal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor-Management Committee called Teamsters official John T. O'Brien today for questioning about whether he secretly profited from union health-welfare insurance deals.

O'Brien is second vice president of the International Teamsters Union, an ally of the union's president James R. Hoffa, and head of Teamsters Local 710 in Chicago which bought some of the insurance.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said O'Brien faces questioning about his efforts to take command of a Peru, Ill., Teamsters local, and about whether collusive dealings marked the bitter and still continuing fight that resulted.

Kennedy said witnesses will include President Barney Mutual of Peru Teamsters Local 46, which was ripped apart by the row, and John J. Clinch Jr., counsel for the Union Star Brewery in Peru which was involved in a labor dispute with the local.

Kennedy said many members rebelled against orders which sought to give O'Brien absolute powers to take over Local 46 and run it during the labor dispute.

He said some of them quit the local, joined the rival Local 50 of the United Mine Workers Union, and kept on picketing Union Star. Kennedy said he has evidence that "collusive arrangements involving some high Teamsters officials" figured somewhere in the controversy.

O'Brien has been named in the hearings as one of four union officials who allegedly became silent partners in the Dearborn Insurance Agency of Chicago, then swung profitable union insurance contracts to the firm.

Dearborn's president, Harland Maris, refused Wednesday to tell the committee whether any unionists were his secret partners, or whether he made payoffs to them. He also refused to say whether his firm overcharged various unions by nearly $500,000 for health and welfare insurance issued by the Occidental Life Insurance Co. of Los Angeles.

Bill to Use TB Hospitals for Others Given Praise

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Tuberculosis Assn. today praised Senate action in passing a bill to open state TB hospitals to non-TB patients.

"This is the logical and economical step in continuing the fight against TB," said J. Irwin Nichols, association executive secretary. "Michigan needs to maintain TB hospitals conveniently located to serve citizens in every part of the state."

The tuberculosis group has been campaigning against economy proposals to close some of the hospitals with unfilled beds. The Senate-approved bill would open empty beds to certain mental patients.

Could Be Meaningless If General Fund Stays Low on Cash

LANSING (AP)—Proposals to pump more money into the state school and welfare programs for the remainder of fiscal 1958-59 were ready today for a passage vote in the Senate.

However, Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield), appropriations committee chairman, cautioned yesterday that the school aid bill will be meaningless until more cash is dumped into the anemic state General Fund.

The education measure, depending on possible other legislative developments later on, would cost the state from 17 million to 27 million dollars.

Its passage is necessary for a payout of the $190 a pupil 1958-59 school aid formula at 100 per cent.

The welfare bill, already approved by the House, will supplement nearly exhausted funds now available for poor relief and other welfare programs by 15 million dollars.

Of the total, Porter said $9,247,000 is for poor relief, mostly for Detroit and Wayne County where unemployment has been unusually high.

In another action yesterday, the Senate passed and referred to the House a bill to authorize the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium Commission to lease some of its facilities to the State Mental Health Commission.

The mental health agency has been eyeing space, now unoccupied, in the Northern Michigan Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Gaylord, desirous of housing mentally retarded patients there.

Newest Bomarc to Be Given Test

Interceptor Expected to Destroy Enemy Craft
400 Miles Away

SEATTLE (AP)—An advanced Bomarc interceptor, designed to fly so far and fast it could destroy enemy planes and some missiles 400 or more miles away, will be harness tested soon at an east-central Washington base.

Boeing Airplane Co. announced the test plans today for the Model B Bomarc, a solid-fuel propelled ground-to-air weapon being produced here for the Air Defense Command.

Up to a dozen of the supersonic interceptor missiles will be given reliability tests at Larson Air Force Base near Moses Lake, Wash.

The missiles, complete except for ramjet engines and warhead, will be harnessed to a concrete base. The booster rocket will be set off while parts are monitored electronically, and engineers watch the action on a closed television circuit from a specially equipped trailer.

In flight the Bomarc is boosted to supersonic speeds by the rocket. As it levels off for cruise to the target it is propelled by twin ramjet engines.

The new Bomarc is an advanced version of the Model A, liquid-fueled missile which has intercepted targets in scores of tests over the Atlantic Ocean and Gulf of Mexico.

The Model A has a range of around 250 miles and speed estimated at about 2½ times that of sound. Interceptions as high as 60,000 feet have been reported.

Favored Teams Win in Bridge Tourney

SEATTLE (AP)—The favorite team won and piled up international points in the opening double elimination competition for the prized Vanderbilt Cup and a chance to represent the U.S. in bridge at the 1960 Olympiad.

Twenty teams were eliminated in the second round knockout matches Wednesday, but there were no upsets.

The top seeded team, captained by Charles H. Goren of New York, won its first match by 80 international points. The No. 2 team, headed by Jay Becker of New York and including Tobias Stone whose tournament ban was withdrawn at the last minute by the American Contract Bridge League won by 48 points.

The third-seeded team, captained by Oswald Jacoby of Dallas, piled up 53 points in winning. New Yorker Edgar Kaplan's No. 4 team got 11 points in its initial win.

The 80 teams will be cut to eight for the finals next Monday.

10 'Big Boppers' Remain Suspended

JACKSON, Ala. (AP)—Ten seniors who remain suspended from a Negro high school here for seeking to disrupt classes through a "Big Bopper" club will meet with county school officials next Thursday.

The other 36 members of the class—suspended en masse March 5—were reinstated Wednesday after they and their parents pledged there would be no further trouble.

The Clarke County school superintendent, Forrest Lee Mathews, said the class was suspended from the new Harper High School for sitting with arms folded and refusing to answer questions of teachers.

The Negro principal, James Nichols, quoted letters taken from members of the "Big Bopper" club as saying:

"I hereby solemnly swear by all my ability and power to erupt (sic) the entire student body of the school. I intend to overthrow the functions of the school—as my power is unlimited, and I defy anyone who interferes with my plans."

Chiefs Beat Fordson, 57-48; Broncos Edge Romeo, 54-53 in Quarterfinals

East Lansing Next Cage Stop for PCH, Holly

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

As far as Art Van Ryzin, Pontiac Central basketball coach is concerned, there's nothing to the "13" jinx which brings fear to the BOOSC (Benevolent Order of Superstitious Coaches).

"This is my 13th season and it has been a good one for me," said Van Ryzin.

"Even if we had been beaten by Fordson, I would have to say these kids have worked hard all season and this is the best unit I have coached," he added.

For the second time in the school's history and the first occasion for Van Ryzin, the Chiefs move into the state tournament semi-finals — and what a "dream" game it should be.

All season long Pontiac Central and Hamtramck have shuffled between first and second positions of the wire service polls.

PCH finally took the mythical title, but now must prove its worth of the position tomorrow night against its closest competitor.

DITTO FROM THE PRESS BOX

If you've noticed the city of Detroit "has five teams" in the state tournament semi-finals. Of course this includes Pontiac, River Rouge, Hamtramck, Holly and Grosse Pointe St. Paul.

Yesterday Romeo was included among the "Detroit schools" and Holly was an "outsider." Today, however Holly has suddenly become one of "our Detroit schools." Such is the price of fame. Aren't the folks in Holly just "thrilled"?

POSTSCRIPTS: "What's the magic number now?" Van Ryzin asked his squad at the post-game snack. "Two," was the reply in unison. "I can't believe this is all happening," said Leroy Decker, Holly coach, who stood dripping wet after his victorious team gave him a dunking last night. And in conclusion—an observation—the Pontiac Central student body was the quietest of the four sections at the U. of D. fieldhouse last night.

What's the matter kids? They're still the same Pontiac Chiefs who have won 18 of 19 thus far.

Bulldogs See 11-Point Lead Whittled Away

County 'B' Power Plays Strong Sault Ste. Marie in Friday Semifinal

By CHUCK ABRAHAM

The Holly Broncos proved last night they have the stuff that good tournament teams are made of by bouncing back in an apparent hopeless situation to nip Romeo 54-53 in a Class B quarter-final fight to the finish before 3,000 fans at Birmingham.

Making their 1st bid for state honors in 36 years, the Oakland County team was up against the combination of an 11-point deficit and the fact that steady scoring star George McDaniel was not up to his usual standards. But the charges of new coach Leroy Decker overcame both obstacles in impressive fashion.

Their next stop will be the Michigan State court where they take on strong Sault Ste. Marie tomorrow afternoon at 4:30. The Sox five walloped Ludington 51-35 at Grayling Wednesday. River Rouge and Plainwell meet for the other "B" berth.

No more complete team effort was ever responsible for a victory than that posted by Holly over Romeo. Sophomore Ron Morlan, the only non-senior in the lineup, and Darrell Kinney tallied 13 apiece. McDaniel and Glenn Grommet added 11 apiece.

Each boy seemed to take his turn in leading the way. It was all Kinney in the opening half when he got 12 of his total hitting his 1st four shots. His early shooting paced the victors to a 12-7 quarter lead as Romeo started missing early from outside.

Morlan was just the opposite swishing 12 in the last half—8 in the final eight minutes. McDaniel had taken only four shots before tallying nine in the last two quarters.

Grommet, who can fire long set shots with the best of them, helped sink the Bulldogs with some high-arching goals from far out canning eight of his total in the last half. George Coggins got the other six including a big layup with three minutes left.

Romeo put all its play into one period piling up a 22-8 edge in the second stanza with all five starters having a hand in the assault. Even the strongest Holly supporter was fearing the worst when Bud Brobeck's boys returned from the halftime break with a 29-20 lead and immediately scored to start the 3rd period. It looked like all the wind had gone out of the Broncos' sails following a string of 17 straight triumphs.

Holly began whittling away at the lead aided considerably by the rebounding of the 6-6 McDaniel.

There was still a difference of eight at 44-36 going into the final when Decker called for an all-court press. Good defensive play helped change the issue.

Morlan hit successive jump shots. He and McDaniel each converted two free throws and Grommet clicked on a long one while the losers were making one basket to deadlock the count at 46-46 after only two minutes.

Romeo regained the edge on a foul but a McDaniel hook and another long heave by Grommet put HHS in front to stay although they almost gave it away by twice taking shots while in a semi-stall and losing ball both times.

A layup by Ritter after the 2nd occasion made it 54-53 with 50 seconds remaining. Romeo got the ball again with 37 to go but missed two chances to pull it out. First sharpshooter Reid Olszak missed a jump shot. With the ball bouncing towards the sidelines, he made a miraculous save batting it in to Fowler but the 6-2 forward missed right in close.

Good foul shooting paid off for Holly as Romeo made three more field goals.

Laker Rush Sinks Pistons 129-102 in Detroit Finale

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—The Detroit Pistons folded up their tent for the season last night before an overpowering Minneapolis Laker fourth period rush that gave the Lakers a 129-102 victory and eliminated Detroit from the playoffs. The Lakers, paced by Elgin Baylor, swept clean the boards and potted 46 per cent of their shots. Minneapolis held a 71-47 rebounding edge over the Detroiters.

TWO FOR CHIEFS—Bill Hayward (41), Dearborn Fordson's 6-foot-6 center who gave Pontiac Central lots of trouble on the backboards last night at U-D Memorial Fieldhouse, eyes the basket for a shot as George Fed of the Chiefs plans on doing something to stop the big Tractor from getting it away. The Chiefs scored a 57-48 triumph over Fordson to enter Friday's state semifinals at East Lansing against Hamtramck.

Moore Captures Featherweight Title

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Triumphant Davey Moore, the world's featherweight crown perched on his head, today received the plaudits of the fight world for his 13th round knockout victory over Hogan Kid Bassey of Nigeria last night in a bruising title bout.

SURROUNDED—Dave Scott (center), Dearborn Fordson's beefy 6-foot-6 center, is hemmed in by a couple of Pontiac Central defenders as he tries to move with the ball in last night's quarter-final action at U. of D. Memorial gym. Bill Hayward of the Chiefs moves up from the ger followed up his advantage in the next round to cut up the champion even more. He then piled up a big margin of points through the 13th round when Bassey's manager, George Biddies, stopped the fight because the champion could not see from the blood flowing into his eyes.

The Springfield, Ohio, challenger followed up his advantage in the next round to cut up the champion even more. He then piled up a big margin of points through the 13th round when Bassey's manager, George Biddies, stopped the fight because the champion could not see from the blood flowing into his eyes.

"I knew at the end of the sixth round that I was going to win the title," Moore said happily as he received congratulations in his dressing room. "I was tense in the early rounds and Bassey's left hooks were stinging although I was never in real trouble or hurt."

"It feels great to be champion. Next time I'll be more confident. I would like the return bout to be here in Los Angeles, but London or Liverpool is all right with me."

The fight agreement called for a return match within 90 days — if the champion lost. For the first few rounds last night, Bassey had command as Moore took the majority of the champion's best punches and once in the second round was staggered by a left to the head that bobbed him on his heels. But Moore, who has never been knocked out and only once downed in his pro career, recovered quickly.

But it was not until the sixth round that Moore unleashed his barrage of lefts and rights to the head and body that so dazed Bassey he couldn't find his corner for a moment. And the follow-up in the seventh clinched it for Moore, barring a reversal of the trend of battle that never materialized.

Pontiac Central to Face Cosmos in State Semis

Hamtramck Wins 67-57 Over East Detroit Five; Hayward Stars for PCH

By BILL CORNWELL

DETROIT—Pontiac Central is on its way to the semifinals of the annual Michigan high school basketball tournament for the first time since 1941 and the Chiefs owe it all to a defense made of granite.

Pontiac's fortress-like defensive wall plus some well-balanced scoring carried the Chiefs to a 57-48 victory over Dearborn Fordson here last night in the state Class A quarter-final round at U. of D. Memorial Building.

Hamtramck, which pressed PCH for Michigan's top rating during the season in the news wire polls, will be Pontiac's sturdy foe in the state semis Friday evening at East Lansing.

The Cosmos came from behind to conquer surprisingly strong East Detroit 67-57 in the opening game of last night's all-Class A doubleheader at the U-D fieldhouse before 6,800 spectators.

Central and Hamtramck clash head-on Friday at 8 p.m. in Michigan State's Jensen Fieldhouse. Grand Rapids Central and Lansing Sexton collide in the other semifinal at 9:30 with the two winners squaring off Saturday evening at 9 o'clock for the state Class A championship.

Pontiac's shooting was spotty yesterday, but it was always timely and a superb defense, particularly in the 2nd half, kept the Tractors moving around the outside in efforts to work the ball inside for a "sure" shot.

Bill Hayward, who has stayed in the shadow of his more illustrious teammates from an offensive standpoint, was Pontiac's most brilliant all-around performer.

Hayward was the ringleader of the defense, a dynamo on the backboards and the team's stabilizing force on the floor at all times. His four tip-in baskets in the 1st half were key factors in Pontiac's 33-28 halftime lead.

The Chiefs were never behind in this contest, but the stubborn Tractors made them work hard for their victory.

Dave Scott, Fordson's beefy 6-foot-6 center, gave the Chiefs plenty of trouble under the boards and he took individual game scoring honors with 17 points, most of them finding the target from close range.

Joe Hamood tallied 13 points and Roger Oberg added a dozen to the Fordson cause, but a better balanced attack paid off for the Chiefs. John Bandy, held to four points in the 1st half, finished as high man with 14, followed by Harrison Munson with 13 and Phil Rabaja with 12.

The Chiefs jumped off to a 9-4 lead, then wasted it and led by only two at the end of the 1st quarter, 15-13. The score was tied six times in the 2nd period before the Chiefs moved into their five-point edge at intermission.

Pontiac increased its margin to 41-33 during a slow 3rd quarter and let Fordson rally within three midway through the 4th stanza, 46-43, before pulling away to a 10-point cushion in the final minute.

Big Don Petroff was a one-man show for East Detroit, but the Shamrocks couldn't match Hamtramck's scoring balance and team speed. Petroff fired 34 points in defeat while Art Reid hit 20 for the Cosmos, who faced a 26-22

Comiskey Aims to Block Meet

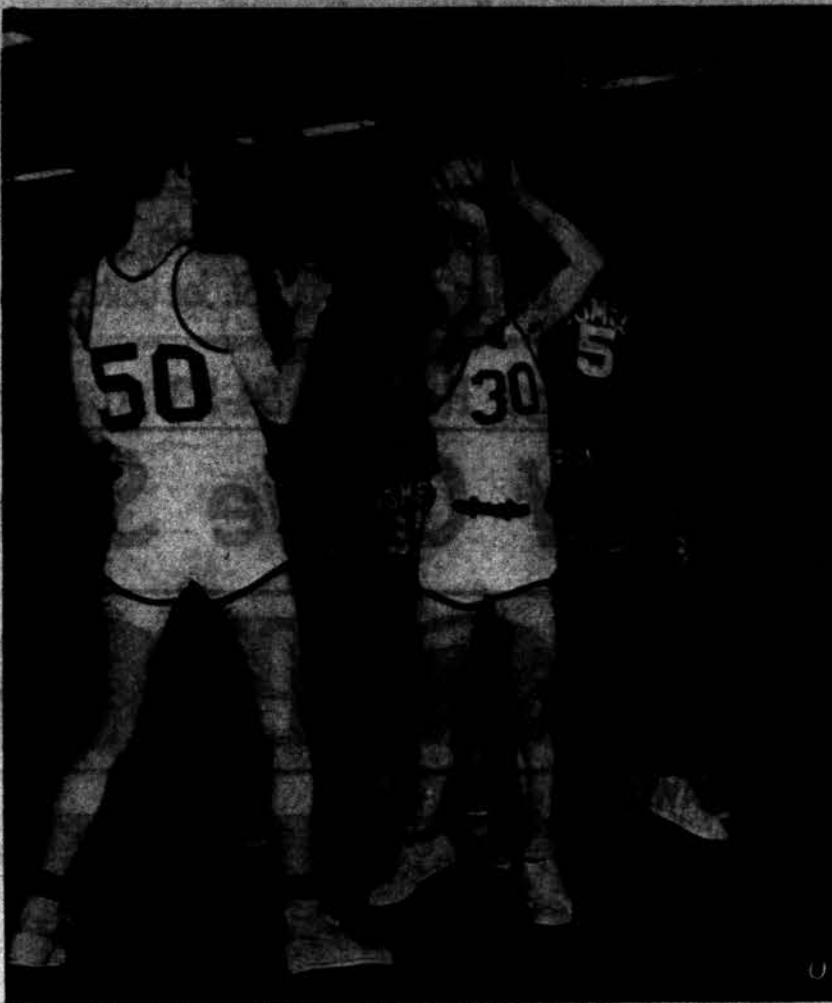

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Veeck made his first move as the Chicago White Sox new majority stockholder yesterday by asking for a stockholders meeting Friday to fill a vacancy on the club's four-member board of directors.

But before the announcement had a chance to cool, co-vice president Chuck Comiskey, who owns 46 per cent of the stock, petitioned in Circuit Court for an injunction to prevent the stockholders' meeting. Comiskey's petition asked for a hearing Thursday.

Veeck headed a syndicate which last week purchased 54 per cent of the White Sox stock from Chuck's sister, Dorothy Rigney.

Mrs. Rigney, Chuck and attorney Roy Egan are present members of the board of directors. Mrs. Rigney's husband, John, is the club's other vice president but is not a member of the board.

Mrs. Rigney, as secretary of the club, called the stockholders' meeting. But who will actually preside is conjectural. The club presidency has not been filled since the death of Mrs. Grace Comiskey in 1956.

WHERE'S THE BASKET — That's what Holly forward Darrell Kinney was wondering in the opening minutes when he tried to get a shot off with Romeo's Don Fowler leaping up in front of him. Big George McDaniel (50) of Holly and Dave Watterson (35) are watching ready to get in on the act but Kinney got the ball away and threw the hoop. His 12-point 1st half and an all-out team drive in the final period earned the Broncos their initial bid at state honors since 1923.

Red Sox Happy as Sun Shines

Bosox Exhibition Pace Continues With 14-7 Win Over Tribe

By The Associated Press
It's beginning to look as if the Boston Red Sox were right as rain when they forsook Florida for Arizona this spring.

The Red Sox ran their exhibition game record to 9-1 yesterday with a 14-7 victory over Cleveland, while rain washed out the Florida training games for the third consecutive day.

If nothing else, the Red Sox must be giving American League managers in Florida something to think about between cancellations.

With only four teams training in Arizona, their records naturally are not as representative as those of the 12 Florida clubs who meet a wider variety of opponents.

The Red Sox victory breakdown shows 4 over the Indians, 3 over the San Francisco Giants and two over the Chicago Cubs. Only Cleveland has beaten the Bosox, and the Tribe did it with the benefit of a ninth inning error.

Lakeside's balanced offense placed three cagers in double-figure scoring, paced by Clifton McCoy's 17 points. Bill Lee came through with 13 and Larry Douglas contributed a dozen.

The Royals led all the way, but never far enough to relax. Lakeside's halftime edge was 31-28. The Royals swing into semifinals action tonight at 7 o'clock at Lasky gym, 13200 Fenelon, in Detroit. It's a single elimination tourney.

Dodgers Farm Out 10
VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers sent 10 squad members to their farm clubs Wednesday.

Manager Walt Alton sent south-paw pitcher Bob Gialombardo to Montreal; infielders Earl Robinson and Gene Wallace, pitcher Roger Craig and the ailing relief hurler Ed Roebuck to St. Paul; and Frank Howard, catcher Norm Sherry and pitcher Larry Sherry to Spokane.

Jones in Hurdles Classy Field in Meet

CLEVELAND (AP) — The big star is missing, but there's still a classy field for the 19th annual Knights of Columbus track meet at the arena tomorrow night.

Ron Delany, the indoor mile champion, pulled out of the meet because of what he said were "study commitments" at Villanova University where he is a graduate student.

Aside from track fans—who were looking for a possible sub-four-minute mile—the most disappointed man was Istvan Rozsavolgyi, Delany's most persistent challenger all winter. The former Hungarian army officer chased Delany to a 4:01.4 world record in New York two weeks ago.

The 50-yard hurdles has a crack field that includes Lee Calhoun, the U.S. Olympic champion; Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan; Willie May of Indiana, the Big Ten kingpin; and Keith Gardner, the Jamaica Olympian from Nebraska.

Disaster Plan

Draft System Set Up in Event of Travel Accident

DETROIT (AP)—National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell
Wednesday disclosed a disaster plan which would keep the league going if a travel accident wiped out one of the six teams.

"Our plans call for an immediate draft of players from the five other clubs," Campbell said.
"The draft price is $50,000 a player and the money would come from a one million dollar insurance policy."

Campbell said the plan was worked out and immediately made effective a few days ago. He said it was necessary because five teams use at least some air travel to fulfill schedule commitments.
Montreal is the only club that does not fly. Several of the Canadiens have clauses in their contracts making it mandatory for the club to keep them on the ground.

Pigeon's 21-Game Streak Ends; Rouge Rolls On

Last Unbeaten Falls Out of Tourney

By JERRY GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Pigeon, last of the vanishing undefeated teams, tumbled off the state high school basketball tournament bandwagon while 16 other teams clawed their way into tomorrow's semifinals.

The pride of Michigan's Thumb area was knocked off 60-53 last night in the quarterfinals by Gross Pointe St. Paul (23-1). Pigeon had won 21 straight.

The quarterfinals were marked by clutch rallies, surprises and narrow battles decided in the final minutes.

Pigeon's defeat set up an unusual championship weekend at Lansing and East Lansing, sites of tomorrow's semi-finals and Saturday's title game.

The three deposed defending champions—Detroit Austin (Class A), East Lansing (Class B) and Chassell (Class D)—claimed their crowns last year as unbeaten.

Muskegon Christian (23-2), class C winner last year, remains the only defending champion entering the semifinals. Muskegon led Grand Rapids Lee (16-6) all the way and turned in a 62-45 quarterfinal victory with Larry Weesles netting 16 points. The defending champs will meet St. Paul in the semifinals.

Plainwell (20-1), possessor of a 20-game winning streak, ended the Class B hopes of Sturgis (15-7), the tourney's Cinderella team. Sturgis battled into the quarterfinals with three straight upsets, the last over defending champion East Lansing. But Plainwell overcame a 27-24 halftime disadvantage and rolled to a 58-48 victory.

River Rouge (23-3), the Class B favorite, qualified to meet Plainwell tomorrow by dumping strong Detroit Holy Redeemer (23-3) 60-50. The Rouge let a nine-point half-time lead wither to one point with 5 1/2 minutes left before pulling out the victory. Elton Fowler led the way with 19 points while Redeemer's heavy scoring Bill Chmielewski fouled out midway in the third quarter with 19 points.

Maple City Glen Lake (21-3) rubbed out a 13-point Brimley (23-3) margin with a furious rally and earned a 55-36 Class D triumph. Glen Lake twice was the beneficiary of backfiring Brimley strategy. Brimley tried protecting its lead with a freeze and it didn't work. Then it tried to hang onto the ball for a last shot with the score tied 44-44. Glen Lake stole the ball and Dave Rogalski, who had 20 points, sank the winning shot with 10 seconds left.

Coldwater St. Charles (11-8), which started the tourney with a losing record, will play Glen Lake in the semifinals. St. Charles continued its upset way with a 68-64 triumph over Britton (16-5) after letting a 13-point halftime lead slip away.

Pontiac Central (19-1), Hamtramck (19-1), Lansing Sexton (13-7) and Grand Rapids Central (19-2) pushed into the semifinals. Pontiac ousted Dearborn Fordson (12-8) 57-48. Hamtramck nullified Don Petroff's 34-point performance for East Detroit (18-5) with a 67-57 triumph. Sexton upset Adrian (15-4) 64-57 and Grand Rapids Central downed Flint Central (15-5) 66-57. Holly (19-2) wiped out a 19-point deficit in the last quarter and moved into the Class B semifinals with a 54-53 verdict over Romeo (18-4) Sauli Ste. Marie (20-1) led all the way in a 51-53 defeat of Ludington (16-4) and will play Holly in the Class B semifinals.

Kalamazoo Christian (21-3) blew a nine-point margin and then traded the lead several times in the fourth quarter before downing East Jackson (19-4) 50-52 in Class C. John Oosterbaan was Christian's big man with 25 points. Alcona (19-2) became Kalamazoo Christian's semifinal rival with an easy 67-40 triumph over Crystal Falls (12-9).

Baldwin (20-1) was forced to come fast in the third quarter and then swapped the lead before knocking St. Joseph Catholic (14-7) off 56-53 on Jack Rynn's basket with 30 seconds left in Class D. Rynn scored 17 points. Fowler (20-3) joined hands in the semifinals with Baldwin by swamping Flint St. Matthew (12-10) 63-52.

Rains Hurt Chances for Bengal Rookies

LAKELAND, Fla. (U)—Four straight days of rain may have damaged the chances of some rookie pitchers trying to make the Detroit Tigers' 1959 squad.

Manager Bill Norman said last night he is sending some of the 19-man staff back to Tiger town with the Minor League players. The rain has kept him from getting a thorough look at even the veteran hurlers who are certain of a job.

"When we leave Florida I expect to have three or four pitchers who are in condition to put in nine innings of hard work," said the manager. "It's unfortunate but the rain has set us back so that we must concentrate now on our front liners. This doesn't mean we're not going to be watching all of them, though."

Floyd Favored Over Britisher

Patterson Rated 1-6 for April 'Warmup' in Las Vegas

NEW YORK (U)—World heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson today was made a prohibitive 1-6 favorite to whip Britain's burly Brian London in a "warmup" title fight at Las Vegas, Tuesday, April 21.

Broadway bookmakers set the odds shortly after Patterson's manager, Gus D'Amato and fledgling promoter Cecil Rhodes Jr., a Cranford, N. J. steel firm executive, announced the television (NBC) fight was set for the new Convention Hall in the Nevada resort city.

D'Amato stressed that Patterson's June fight in New York (probably June 25 in Yankee Stadium) with Ingemar Johansson, Sweden's undefeated European champion, still was on his meal ticket's schedule.

"Patterson, if victorious—and I'm confident he will be—not only will fight London and Johansson, but probably will have other fights this year," said the white-haired, crewcut manager. "And I can assure you they will be against ranking contenders."

London, a 24-year-old, 209-pound brawler and former British and British Empire champion, currently is ranked fifth by the NBA and ninth by Ring. He lost his titles last Jan. 12 to Henry Cooper, a Cockney plasterer, by a whopping margin in a bloody, 15-round bout in London.

The Tigers' B squad game at Clearwater was rained out yesterday and another downpour in Lakeland forced cancellation of an intrasquad game. Players were able to get in only a few minutes of throwing and running.

The way things look now, Norman will carry 10 or 11 pitchers this season. It appears jobs are certain for Hank Aguirre, Jim Bunning, Paul Foytack, Bill Hofer, Frank Lary, Tom Morgan, Don Mossi, Ray Narjeski and George Susci. It is doubtful if Wyman Carey will make the club this year.

Herman Wehmeir still has not pitched because of arm trouble. That leaves one or two spots open and the leading contender now is Peter Burnside, the club's most effective pitcher in Grapefruit League competition.

Gerry Davis and Don Lee are battling for another spot. It doesn't do any good, but the Lakeland Chamber of Commerce is embarrassed about all the wet weather. "What can I say, after I say I'm sorry," said Chamber Director John Bryson.

Average March rainfall here is 3.80 inches. In the last four days, 5.12 inches have fallen on the city. The Tigers were to play against the Philadelphia Phillies at Clearwater with Paul Foytack as the starting pitcher.

KUPPENHEIMER—an investment in good appearance

The "FEELING" of fit

An intangible thing . . . the feeling you get when you know your suit fits to perfection. It's an "inner man" pride that says you're out in front with your Kuppenheimer suit. A Kuppenheimer's like that: with a long tradition of handcraftsmanship that makes every fine-tailored detail count. Tailored sleeves and trousers give that natural, slim look . . . just-for-you comfort, trim-tailored by men whose hit-the-mark experience pays off in perfect fit . . . all ways and always.

PNH Hosts AAU Mat Event

State Tourney
Scheduled Here Friday, Saturday

Several Top College and Prep Stars Will Be in Action

Pontiac Northern High School will host the Michigan A.A.U. wrestling championships Friday and Saturday with some of the state's outstanding college and prep matmen slated to compete here.

Michigan State's 1958 NCAA champion Ken Maidlow of Lansing, a 191-pounder, ex-Michigan standout Mike Rodriguez and Pete Michienzi of Canada will be among the standouts performing here.

Maidlow was National A.A.U. king in Greco-Roman competition in 1956 and just missed a trip to the Olympics at Melbourne that year finishing 3rd in the trials. He was state champ twice at Lansing Sexton.

Rodriguez ranks with the all-time standouts at Michigan. Michienzi, a 125-pounder, holds the Canadian and Ontario YMCA crowns.

All champions will be honored Saturday night following the final bouts. The Pontiac Civitan Club is sponsoring the medals and trophies for the event.

The tournament is open to all amateurs including anyone from outside Michigan, according to director Bill Willson. The PNH coach plans separate divisions for high school and open entries. There will be 12 weight classes for preps ranging from 96 through unlimited and eight for open contestants starting at 114.5.

A weigh-in session starting Friday at 3 p.m. will get things under way. Competition tomorrow will be from 7 p.m. to 12 midnight. It will resume Saturday at 2 p.m. Saturday night action starts at 7:30.

The top four boys in the high school class will earn medals as will the 1st three "open" finishers.

Sawchuk Helps Jaycees Honor I-L Skaters

Dick Anderson of Wolverine Lake was named the most valuable highlighting the awards presented by Detroit Red Wing goalie Terry Sawchuk at a banquet for members of the Inter-Lakes Hockey League at Walled Lake High School last night.

Each member of the champion Lower Straits Lake team received a belt buckle while all the loop coaches were given honorary plaques sponsored by the Commerce Township Osteopaths. The coaches are Bernie Boman, Vic Schauer, Bob Gilmore and Wayne Anderson.

Sawchuk also showed films of the 1958 Stanley Cup finals and made a donation towards the construction of a new rink next season. The league is operated by the Walled Lake Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Louisville NCAA Favorite

NIT in Semi-Finals

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Take a hot team like Louisville, blend in a heaping portion of home court advantage and you have the probable favorite in the NCAA basketball championships at Freedom Hall here Friday and Saturday.

Or do you? Coach Pete Newell of California's Pacific Coast conference champions—for one isn't buying the Louisville advantage.

"In a tournament like this," Newell said today, "a home team doesn't have nearly the advantage it has for a regular season game."

"For one thing, the men of different sections of the country. The rules sometimes are interpreted differently and whatever advantage a team might have would tend to be minimized."

"For another," Newell added,

"with a tournament like this, the folks are here to see the championship decided—not to root solely for the home team."

"Sure the crowd's going to be with them (Louisville) and rightly so. But there ought to be a pretty good bunch down here for Cincinnati, too. It's not so far away."

Newell's Golden Bears, who swept past Utah and St. Mary's in the Far West NCAA regional last weekend while pushing their winning streak to 14, face Cincinnati and the great Oscar Robertson in the second game of tomorrow's semifinal program.

Louisville, a surprise survivor after successive upsets of defending champ Kentucky and Big 10 king Michigan State in the Mid-East regional, meets West Virginia's Southern Conference champions in the opener at 8:30 p.m., EST.

Top-seeded Bradley faces New York University in the first game of the National Invitation Tournament semifinals tonight. But look for Providence to hog the spotlight from these two giants when they meet St. John's (NY) in the windup.

The Bradley-NYU fracas appears to be the most evenly matched game so far, and one that has the experts around Madison Square Garden picking the home team by four points.

St. John's is a four-point choice over the Rhode Island team that Tuesday knocked off second-seeded St. Louis in two overtimes and has captured the fancy of the usually blasé New York fans.

Tell ABC Sites Today

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Selection of the best cities for the 1961 and 1962 American Bowling Congress tournaments were to be announced today by the organization's executive board.

Next year's ABC meet is scheduled for Toledo, Ohio, Detroit appears to be a solid favorite for the 1961 tournament. However, there is a battle for the 1962 meet between Des Moines, Iowa; St. Paul, Minn., and Columbus, Ohio, with Des Moines holding a slight edge going into the balloting by the board members.

In yesterday's tourney action, a bowling writer for the Pasadena (Calif.) Independent, and Jim Todd, a Los Angeles radio announcer appearing in his first tourney, teamed up to crash their way into second place in the doubles standings.

Smith, 66, making his 15th ABC tourney appearance, rolled a 687 series and Todd chipped in with 647 to give them a total of 1,334. A split in the 10th frame of Todd's final game kept them from jumping into first place ahead of brothers Bob and Glenn Gersch of Chicago, who have 1,316.

Smith and Todd, who is farm director for Radio Station KFI in Los Angeles, had games of 404-453-427.

The writer-announcer team had stayed up all night to take instructions from famed professional Don Carter. Todd claimed the help added 100 pins to his score. Smith improved his accuracy.

Imposing 100-Foot Marble Tower, Carillon on Capitol Hill to Honor Taft

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, who had to be "Mr. President" but had to settle for "Mr. Republican," is now being honored as few men have.

An imposing new capital monument—a slim 100-foot pink marble bell tower—will be dedicated April 14 in his memory.

Taft's tower, with its 27-bell French carillon and a 10-foot bronze statue of the late senator, was built at a cost of about one million dollars donated by his friends and admirers.

Selections from his speeches are being cut into the marble.

By order of his Congress colleagues, the tower stands on Capitol grounds. In all the 151 acres that comprise Capitol Hill, there is but one other outdoor statue.

That is the seated figure of John Marshall, who served longer than any man as chief justice of the United States.

Not even Franklin D. Roosevelt, who served longer than any other president, has such a Capitol marker.

Marshall's statue was erected by fellow members of the Bar and Congress in 1884—49 years after his death.

Taft's memorial was constructed within six years of his death from cancer, July 31, 1953, at the age of 63.

In all of the District of Columbia, where there are 94 outdoor statues, only five honor senators—and two of them became presidents, a national Capitol Parks spokesman reported.

President Eisenhower and former President Herbert Hoover are among those scheduled to participate in the tower's dedication next month.

The tall, slender fluted shaft—13 feet wide, 32 feet long and 99.6 cubic feet of Tennessee pink marble. It has a stainless steel roof, and an intricate lightning arrester system.

75-100-year-old English boxwoods collected by nurserymen from some historic Delaware, Virginia and North Carolina plantations.

Besides the tower itself and the two-ton bronze statue of Taft, a major feature of the memorial is a carillon, hung in a 15-foot chamber with seven openings front and back.

The carefully tuned bells, costing about $70,000, were imported from the famous Paccard foundry in the Alpine Valley village of Annecy, France. It is said the 27 bells, ranging from the 6-ton "G" note to the 200-pound smallest size, may be expected to give out the same tones for centuries.

The bells will be ready to sound the hour, toll in memorial or pour out a golden symphony of music. The carillon can be played electronically with the pre-set bronze tapes like a player piano, or at the touch of a 30-inch piano keyboard.

The tower, surrounded by boxwood and a fountain-filled moat, is to be floodlighted at night.

The Taft Tower is just one of a three-part memorial project planned by the Taft Memorial Foundation, headed by Rep. B. Carroll Reece (R-Tenn).

The others are a fund for educational scholarships and an institute for government to supply lecturers, publish books and conduct research in bipartisan fashion consistent with Taft's ideals. Neither of these projects is yet under way.

Hats Tell Story in Middle East

Fez Is Symbol of High Social Status; Kaffiyah Worn by All Classes

BEIRUT (UPI)—In the Middle East, the key to a man's character may often be the hat on his head. Centuries of blazing sun, desert storms and evening chills have made wearing a headpiece a necessity and custom has stamped them with traditional colors and patterns.

Sheikhs or religious leaders of the Middle East's two great Moslem sects wear different colored scarves wrapped around their turbans—white for Sunni Moslems, green for Shites.

There are two basic kinds of headgear in the Middle East—the cylindrical red felt fez, or tarboosh as it is called in Arabic, and the flowing desert headdress of Lawrence of Arabia, the kaffiyah.

Under the Ottoman Turks, the fez was a symbol of advanced social status reserved. Gradually it became the badge of the city dwelling white collar worker or merchant, and the village elders. The fez is in use all over the Middle East with the exception of the Arabian peninsula. There, in Saudi Arabia, Yemen, Oman and other Persian Gulf sheikdoms, the kaffiyah is worn by all social classes.

SHABBY OR ELABORATE

It can vary from the shabby flapping cloth of a goat herder to the elaborate gold encrusted white silk headdress of Arab princes.

Basically, the kaffiyah is a piece of cloth about a yard square which is folded in half, then placed over the head to cover the hairline and allowed to flow down the wearer's back.

It is kept in place by rope-like strands of black goats' hair piled one on another and called an agal.

The kaffiyah gives the wearer maximum protection from the sun, and can be whipped around his face leaving only a slit open for his eyes in a desert dust storm.

The fez is not only worn by itself, but forms the basis for the Arab turban.

When it is being worn as a turban, a skullcap, or taqiyah is placed underneath. Then a long scarf is wrapped layer on layer around the fez. The folds are usually at least an inch thick and come up even with the edge of the fez, but leave its red top exposed.

In Turkey, homeland of the fez, the hat is almost extinct, a victim of the drive for modernization started under Kemal Ataturk. Ataturk himself started the banish-the-fez drive by appearing in public in a fedora.

School Named for King

LORAIN, Ohio (UPI)—A new high school here will be named for this city's most distinguished son—the late Admiral Ernest J. King, who was Chief of Naval Operations during World War II.
