Move to Boost Welfare Fund Fails by 1 Vote

Plan Sought to Restore County-State Split From 70-30 to 50-50 Basis

A compromise move to alter the 70-30 per cent county-state split on welfare costs failed by a single vote in the Michigan House of Representatives yesterday.

Proponents of measures to return the formula to its previous 50-50 level gave up on trying to attach an amendment to this effect on an appropriation bill.

They tried a compromise 60-40 split, with the county still bearing the larger share, but this also failed to gain approval.

The old 50-50 formula was abandoned last year in return for a state appropriation to local hospitalization programs. Rising unemployment, however, sent welfare claims soaring, and many counties, including Oakland, were hard pressed to find funds for welfare costs.

Since the 70-30 agreement went into effect July 1 of last year, it has cost Oakland County $481,000 more of the taxpayers' money than what it would have under the old formula, said George H. Burt, director of the county's social welfare department.

Rep. Arnell Engstrom (R-Traverse City), chairman of the House Ways and Means committee, estimated the 60-40 compromise would have cost the state about $5 million over House - approved welfare appropriations totaling $63,310,426.

The 50-50 formula would have cost $9 million more. Blocking any change in the welfare cost splitup was the "hold the line" Republican budget, designed to ease the state's ailing financial position.

'Weep Not for Me, . . but . . for Yourselves'

And as they led him away, they laid hold upon one Simon, a Cyrenian, coming out of the country, and on him they laid the cross, that he might bear it after Jesus.

And there followed him a great company of people, and of women, which also bewailed and lamented him.

But Jesus turning unto them said, Daughters of Jerusalem, weep not for me, but weep for yourselves, and for your children.

Fierce Fight Looms as Congress Splits Over Pentagon Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Opponents of President Eisenhower's defense reorganization plan centered their fire today on the military spending powers he proposed for the secretary of defense.

An Easter recess postponed until April 15 — one day after Congress returns — what shaped up as a major battle over the plan.

Some Congress members approved the plan; others criticized some of its features both as threatening the continuance of the Army, Navy and Air Force as such and as taking over congressional functions.

Eisenhower asked Congress to make appropriations, effective July 1, 1959, to the secretary of defense rather than specifically to the separate services.

The secretary would be able to transfer funds among the various services.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH), senior Republican on the Senate Appropriations Committee, said that such action would "practically abolish the services" and amount to "a surrender on the part of Congress."

Congress long has held to its traditional power to decide how much money each service is to get.

Rep. Kilday (D-Tex) noting that defense money makes up nearly two thirds of the annual budget, said giving control of such an amount to one man "is probably greater economic power than should be possessed by one individual."

He added in a later interview: "One thing is sure — the man who controls the money is the boss."

Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Senate Armed Services Committee said he will support whatever steps are necessary to give the secretary administrative authority in the Defense Department, but added:

"I shall not favor any legislation that will destroy the identity of our armed forces."

Both Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense McElroy disclaimed any such intention despite the much broader powers McElroy

Death Toll Soars to 12; at Least 5,000 Homeless

Governor Declares State of Emergency, Seeks $5 Million Federal Aid

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — Hundreds of California communities braced today for a new Pacific storm expected to pound northern and probably central flood-ravaged areas tomorrow.

The state's known death toll soared, meanwhile, to 12, including six traffic deaths attributed to the storm in Los Angeles.

The homeless numbered at least 5,000 and Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, who declared the entire state a disaster area, called on President Eisenhower for five million dollars in emergency federal aid.

Knight reported to the President that highway and levee damage alone is 12 million dollars. Unestimated damage to crops and other property will run into many millions more.

Forty-foot high coastal waves in San Mateo County to the immediate south of San Francisco hammered buildings into splinters along a four-mile stretch.

And the merciless rain, which has turned towns into rivers, goes on.

The peril was evidenced in the rich San Joaquin Valley farmlands this morning where nearly 90,000 persons have been alerted to prepare for possible evacuation. Thousands of fertile acres are already blanketed by water and several hundred destitute families were forced to flee their homes for a roof over their heads.

In Stockton alone, Red Cross officials provided food and shelter for 1,100 homeless flood victims.

The record-breaking downpours created havoc with communications, so necessary in an emergency. Hundreds of miles of power and telephones lines were down.

In the High Sierras, snow piled up 22 feet in some areas, and ski

FREDERICK W. SWORDS

Youth Accused of Homicide

Rochester Boy Charged After Friend's Death in Car Accident

A warrant charging negligent homicide in the death of a 16-year-old companion in a car crash Wednesday night, has been issued against Frederick W. Swords, of Rochester.

Swords, 17, son of Mrs. Helen C. Swords and the late Mr. Swords, of 737 Ludlow St., was returned to the Oakland County jail following his appearance last night before Avon Township Justice of the Peace Luther C. Green.

Examination was set for April 15. The youth failed to post $1,000 bond.

Swords was the driver of the car which crashed, killing passenger Gary Bridge, of 138 Glendale St., Rochester, Wednesday night.

In a statement made to the prosecutor's office, Swords said he was driving at 80 miles an hour when he swerved to avoid something in the road. The car struck a utility pole.

Says State Road Funds Not Lost

Mackie Gives Answer to Broomfield's Charge on Federal Money

All of the nearly $72 million in federal funds for highway construction in Michigan next year will be apportioned in time and not lost, State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie declared yesterday.

Mackie was answering a charge by Congressman William S. Broomfield that he was still dragging his feet" in securing what federal funds have been allocated to the state for federal interstate road buildings.

The Democratic commissioner added that $1,079,000 out of $71,935,119 in federal interstate monies for the 1959 fiscal year have been obligated so far.

There is no immediate rush in obligating fiscal '59 balance at this time, Mackie stated, as the funds, on a 90-10 federal-state matching plan, cannot be collected by the state until the fiscal year begins July 1.

Broomfield said this delay leads to a delay in construction.

Mackie contends that the state's 1.4 billion dollar five-year road construction program announced last fall "is proceeding on schedule."

Water 3 Feet Deep

DETROIT (INS) — A flood, three feet deep in some places, inundated 18 blocks of residential Northwest Detroit last night when a 24-inch water main burst. The broken main poured as much as five feet of water into at least 20 basements and scores of automobiles stood in water up to the floorboards.

As Throngs Worship in Jerusalem

Churches Hold Tre Ore Services

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Easter hymns of Christians mingled with Moslem calls to Ramadan prayers in the Old City of Jerusalem today while Jews across the armistice line in the New City stocked up for Passover feasts tonight.

With celebrations of the three religions coinciding, the Holy City was bustling with pilgrims on both sides of the armistice line dividing it between Israel and Jordan.

About 5,000 Christians from a dozen nations gathered in the Jordan-held Old City, where Jesus was tried and condemned by Pontius Pilate. Breaking up into groups according to languages, they carried heavy crosses along the route Jesus followed to crucifixion. At each of the 14 stations of the cross they stopped for hymns and sermons.

As the Way of the Cross procession began, Moslems assembled nearby at the hallowed Dome of Rock for the usual Friday prayers during Ramadan, the holy month of fasting. The Dome of Rock marks the spot where the prophet Mohammed ascended on horseback into heaven. The rock was once the sacred altar of the Jewish temple from which Jesus drove the money changers.

At the other end of the Way of the Cross, the Church of Holy Sepulchre, Christians were to enter the church courtyard opposite the mosque of Amar as loudspeakers in the mosque's minaret broadcast sermons in Arabic.

Jews in the New City prepared for Seder, the feast just after sundown which opens the weeklong Passover festival. The traditional spring festival commemorates the emancipation from Egyptian slavery of ancient Israelites led by Moses.

Thousands crowded city and county churches this afternoon for the traditional Tre Ore services commemorating the sorrowful hours of Christ on the Cross.

Worshipers filled the auditorium of Central Methodist Church where the Pontiac Pastors Assn. held the annual Good Friday service.

The service was divided into sections with worshiper waiting to be seated at intermissions.

Speaking from the "Seven Words From the Cross" were Dr. Joseph I. Chapman of Bethany Baptist Church, the Rev. Paul T. Hart of First Methodist Church, Rev. J. Allen Parker of Newman AME Church, the Rev. Wayne E. Welton of the Parkdale Church of the Nazarene, Rev. Edmond I. Watkins of the Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian and Rev. Calvin C. Rice of Central Methodist.

Presiding at the three-hour service were the Rev. Galen E. Hershey, associate pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Rev. Carl W. Nelson of St. John Lutheran Church and Dr. Milton H. Bank, pastor of Central Methodist.

Parishioners jammed St. Michael's, St. Benedict's, St. Joseph's, St. Hugo of the Hills, St. Vincent de Paul and Our Lady of the Lakes for the Stations of the Cross, Mass of the Pre-Sanctified, and Veneration of the Cross.

Hundreds thronged to All Saints Episcopal Church on Williams street for the annual Tre Ore service.

Pontiac citizens filled the First Christian, Baldwin Avenue Methodist First Church of God and Trinity Baptist churches where the Oakland County Ministerial Fellowship observed Good Friday.

Eight Waterford Township congregations met in Christ Lutheran Church for a combined service with capacity crowds.

Offers Amnesty to Castro Rebels

Cuba Government Calls for Disarming, Nips Talk of General Strike

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba's government today held out an offer of amnesty to Fidel Castro's rebels if they disarm. A set of iron government degrees, meanwhile, nipped talk in Havana of a rebel general strike.

Castro made no immediate reply to the offer of a general amnesty announced last night by Prime Minister Gonzalo Guell.

Guell asserted that the rebels were a minority group going against the desires of the Cuban people, but he said the Batista government would negotiate with all elements to restore peace.

He again pledged full guarantees for all opposition parties in the presidential election now set for Nov. 3.

The Prime Minister added that the government would also agree to international supervision of the elections by a group such as the Organization of American States.

Although Castro's troops probably number less than 10 per cent of the government's forces, he has been threatening to call a general strike in an effort to unseat Batista.

Cuba's Batista Planning for Florida 'Vacation'?

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A large pink Moorish colonial style home here which President Fulgencio Batista of Cuba bought last year is being renovated.

Work reportedly has been going on since the middle of February and furniture was moved in a few days ago.

Neighbors say the swimming pool has been filled, telephones installed and floodlights set up on the spacious grounds.

Bewildered Tot Spends 2 Nights Alone at Home

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—"My mommy and daddy have left me," a bewildered little boy told a neighbor yesterday.

Jeffry Allan Easterday, 3½, apparently spent two nights alone at home. His father was on a flight to Texas; his mother is missing.

Easterday, arriving home, said he had sent $25 to his wife, also 26, by an acquaintance the day he left. The money was found at home. Mrs. Easterday's coat and glasses also were found in the home.

"She's just gone," said Sheriff Roy Sheppard. "We have no idea what happened."

The neighbor telephoned Sheppard after young Jeffry said he had spent two nights alone. He prepared meals for himself and his two dogs. He ate dry cereal, cocoa and oatmeal.

Easter shoppers are getting a break in the Pontiac area. The weatherman predicts for another day partly cloudy with little change in temperature.

Tonight's low will be near 36-40 and Saturdays high will reach 54-58.

Easterly winds at 12-22 miles an hour are predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

The lowest thermometer reading preceding 9 a.m. was 35 degrees. The mercury stood at 59 at 2 p.m.

From the Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A bone-chilling drizzle peppered the Augusta National Course today as the field set out in pursuit of young Ken Venturi in the second round of the Masters Golf Tournament.

The massive course, measuring 6,980 yards, played longer and tougher as the result of rain which began last night.

Indications were that the world's leading pros and amateurs, who gave Augusta's par 36-36—72 a record beating in the opening round yesterday, would find the going much tougher in the second round.

Officials announced that wet weather rules were in effect. Players could clean their golf balls on the greens but could not smooth out ball marks until putting was completed.

The weather forecast was for clearing later in the day.

Venturi, 26-year-old San Francisco professional who leads the year's money winning list, was a late starter with his leading score of 68, four under par.

Today's early scores:

3,000 Eggs Await Kids

Thousands of Easter eggs are awaiting Pontiac's youngsters tomorrow at four city parks.

Organized by the Dept. of Parks and Recreation, assisted by civic organizations, some 3,000 eggs will be the object of intensive search during the city-wide Easter egg hunt starting at 2 p.m.

The hunts will be staged at Jaycee Park, Joslyn at Walton; Murphy Park, East boulevard at Elm; Oakland Park, Montcalm and Glenwood; and Beaudette, near Orchard Lake, east of Telegraph.

Any youngster 11 years old or younger can participate and parents have been asked to take them to the park nearest their home.

Assisting in the egg hunt will be the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce, Northside Kiwanis Club and the Community Organizations of Pontiac.

Services were also held in other Pontiac churches.

Admits Forgery at Lapeer Firm

Worker Tells Judge He Embezzled $50,000 to 'Live Expensively'

George J. Fernea, 53, of Lapeer, who admitted embezzling "about $50,000" from the Bostick Foundry in Lapeer, pleaded guilty to forgery today in Lapeer County Circuit Court.

Sentencing was set for May 9 by visiting Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth of Genesee County. Lapeer Circuit Judge Timothy C. Quinn disqualified himself from hearing the case because he had served as a one-man grand juror in investigating the embezzlement.

Fernea was charged specifically with forging one check for $152 against the firm by which he had been employed for 28 years.

When Judge Roth asked him if there was more money involved, he said yes—approximately $50,000.

"What on earth did you use the money for?" Judge Roth asked him.

"For expensive living, new cars and drinking," Fernea replied.

Baby Missing From Hospital

Police Asked to Join Search for Nurse Who Sought Adoption

AURORA, Ill (AP) — A 3-week-old girl was reported missing from Copley Memorial Hospital late last night and police said a nurse may have taken the infant.

Police and sheriff officials in northern Illinois were asked to join in the search for Mrs. Margaret Pfiefer, 44, who was identified as the nurse sought for questioning.

Hospital officials said the baby, identified only as named Smith and a ward of the state, had been removed from the pediatrics room on the third floor of the five-floor, 300-bed hospital.

They said the baby had been fed at 9 p.m. and was in the room at the 10 p.m. check period. However, the infant was reported missing at 11 p.m.

Police said Mrs. Pfiefer had worked until 11 p.m. they said she had applied for adoption of a baby at the hospital a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Pfiefer, of nearby Yorkville, was reported separated from her husband and has filed suit for divorce.

would assume both over spending and over military activities under the proposal.

McElroy told a news conference he considered the spending proposal as meaning that if an emergency situation arose after a budget was completed, the secretary could change or transfer funds from one service to another.

The battle in Congress could become a tug of war between Eisenhower's military prestige and the insistence of the Army, Navy and Air Force on remaining as separate and powerful as possible.

In sending up his plan, Eisenhower said: "Strategic and tactical planning must be completely unified, combat forces organized into unified commands, each equipped with the most efficient weapons systems that science can develop, singly led and prepared to fight as one, regardless of service."

BETTER STAY INSIDE — There's a bit of water on the floor, but much more outside, so this young miss, Joyce Rayburn, is quite content to spend some time at this Sacramento, Calif. furniture store. The water on the floor seeped in during heavy rains before employes blocked the doors. Outside, waves settled six inches above the bottom of the store window and blocked traffic during the height of Thursday's storm. Residents say this is the most water they have seen in the Sacramento area, outside of river floods.

Soldiers Guarding Tomb See Christ Rise, Radiant

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

The Roman sergeant tossed more sticks on the campfire and stood warming his hands. Another soldier sat cross-legged, a sheepskin over his shoulders, munching a slab of cheese.

Their spears leaned against a square - shaped tent, pitched in a private grove outside Jerusalem where the crucified Nazarene had been entombed.

The watch had been maintained since late on the sixth day of last week. With the provincial Sabbath over at sunset, it now was near midnight in the new week's first day.

The sergeant pulled his hooded paenula closer about his neck, and slumped against a tree. What a weird business this was — guarding a corpse!

He glanced at the face of the tomb. It was dug into a 14-foot bluff, gray and cold - looking in the gloom. A huge circular stone, about five feet in diameter, completely covered the opening.

With a great hoisting and heaving, it had been rolled into a groove cut at the base of the opening, and sealed there with seven pegs.

To the sergeant, the extraordinary activity about the case — all this ado over a dead man — seemed ridiculous. And that babble about rising to life again! Great Caesar's ghost!

All at once, everything became quiet. Silence reigned, totally.

He felt an obscure uneasiness. He thought of moving about, scuffling his feet, to break the spell, but stood as if rooted. All life, himself too, seemed momentarily suspended, halted, pausing on the verge of . . . . he knew not what.

The stars still shone brightly, though. In fact, they seemed brighter than before. They were brighter. They were a great deal brighter. What was happening? That light . . . that light in the sky!

It appeared as if a fissure was forming on the roof of the world, with a white brilliance pouring through, a celestial door opening. Its blinding purity flashed downward, shimmering, cascading in a flood.

The sergeant flung his arm over his eyes, a strangled cry in his throat.

A shattering blast rent his eardrums, although he was not sure it was a sound at all, but as if lightning had burst in his own head. A violent shaking seized the earth and he felt himself falling.

He had no sensation at all of hitting the ground, but he realized he was there, flat on his belly, his face twisted to one side in the dirt, his eyes registering the gaping mouth of the tomb.

(Drawn in part from books outside the Christian canon, this is the story of the Resurrection told from the viewpoint of the Roman sergeant assigned as guard of the tomb. It is the last in a series on minor actors in the great Easter drama.)

The outlines of two figures took shape, like men but not like men, radiant, glowing heights of perfect light, and another appeared between them, taller, more resplendent still.

COULD SEE NO MORE

Then he could see no more . . .

When they had calmed sufficiently to be coherent, they told their story to their superiors, including Pilate, and also the ruling Sadducees, who paid them a large sum to conceal it, and to claim they had dozed, that the Nazarene's apostles must have stolen His body.

But there was this conversation related in the ancient but non-doctrinal gospel of Nicodemus between the priests and the sergeant.

"We were very much afraid, and lay like dead men," he said haltingly. "Afterward we heard the voice of the angel saying to the women at the tomb, 'Be not afraid'."

The priests demanded: "To what women did he speak?"

The sergeant: "We do not know who they were."

The priests: "And wherefore did you not lay hold on them?"

The sergeant: "We were like dead men from fear, not expecting to see the light of day again, and how could we lay hold on them?"

The priests: "As the Lord liveth, we do not believe you."

The sergeant: "Assuredly you have done well to swear that the Lord liveth, for indeed He does." The sergeant paused, his expression stubborn. He added quietly: "And Jesus is risen."

California Bracing for New Storm resort operators at the popular Donner Summit area, where more than a thousand skiers are stranded, called it the highest snow pack of all time.

The snow closed California's three major cross-state highways: U.S. 40, 40A and U.S. 50 and hopelessly blocked train traffic.

Southern California has not escaped the storm's fury either. Landslides have battered the Los Angeles area, causing thousands of dollars damage.

In Barstow, a normally dry desert town, 300 families were forced to abandon their homes when the Mojave River overflowed its banks and rushed inland.

But the greatest property toll was upstate in the central valley area from Stockton to Bakersfield where the Fresno, Chowchilla, Kaweah, and Tule Rivers approached flood stage.

As if nature's worst was not enough, the state health department reported that the pounding rain was mixed with radioactive elements 27 times greater than the accepted "safe" level for drinking water. But there apparently was no immediate cause for alarm.

Officials emphasized that radioactivity — harmful in itself — usually vanishes before it affects the drinking supply. The radioactivity was believed to have been caused by recent Soviet nuclear tests in Siberia.

Auto Industry Halts Talks for Holidays

DETROIT (AP) — Collective bargaining in the auto industry was in recess on all fronts today until after the Easter holidays.

General Motors and the International Electrical Workers Union recessed their talks yesterday until April 14 after the union completed presentation of its profit-sharing and other demands.

Negotiators for GM and the United Auto Workers will return to the bargaining table Tuesday, when the company is expected to renew an offer to extend the wage formula in the present contract. This provides an annual productivity increase of 6 cents an hour.

The UAW will resume negotiations at Ford April 11 and at Chrysler April 15.

News Flash

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower announced today the Veterans Administration is removing immediately the 2 per cent down payment requirement on VA-guaranteed home loans.

The down payment elimination restores the situation to what it was in 1954. In 1955 the 2 per cent down payment requirement was put into effect. Under the new program, veterans will continue to have to pay in cash the expenses of closing a home loan.

Elected to Blue Cross

DETROIT (AP) — Three new members were elected to the Michigan Blue Cross Board of Trustees Thursday. They are Dr. James W. Logie, Grand Rapids; Richard E. Pieratt, administrator of Central Michigan Community Hospital, Mount Pleasant; and Hoyt E. Hayes, president of trustees of Bay City General Hospital.

Supermarkets Closing Sunday

End Four-Year Battle Involving More Than 200 Stores in State

Pontiac area chain supermarkets will close Sunday, ending a four-year dispute involving more than 200 markets in Michigan.

Major chains with operations in Pontiac and northern Oakland County have agreed to observe Sunday closing although a bill to order such action was recently defeated in the Legislature.

Kroger will close three stores in the area for Sundays, in addition to its downtown Pontiac store which has been closed Sundays for the past year.

National Food Stores also will join the movement and its four stores in the area will be closed.

Wrigley's, which has six stores in Pontiac, Rochester and Drayton Plains has been closing three of them and now will add the remaining three.

Food Fair, the fourth major chain participating in the Sunday ban on sales, has only one store, in the Miracle Mile Shopping Center, and it has never been open Sundays.

The new agreement goes into effect Easter Sunday.

Dress Up for Easter Winners Announced

Six winners were announced today in the "Dress Up for Easter" contest sponsored by the Downtown Pontiac Assn.

Awarded new spring outfits were Mrs. Arthur Tapp, of 2644 Squirrel Rd., Pontiac Township, Maxine Smiley, of 3935 Anoka St., Drayton Plains, Mrs. Adelino Martins, of 361 E. Tennyson Ave., John C. Austin, of 828 Pine Grove, Lake Orion, Mrs. Dorothy Elliott, of 159 N. Washington St., Lake Orion, and Arbelia L. Burney, of 70 Bagley St.

They won either wardrobes for adults, teenagers or youngsters, ranging in price from $100 to $50. The outfits totaled $450 given away by 40 downtown Pontiac stores.

City Police Arrest Three for Disorderly Conduct

Two youths and an adult were arrested yesterday for disorderly conduct and committing indecent acts in and around the Jefferson Junior High School.

The three, Joseph L. Murray, 21, of 234 Wessen St.; Wade L. Jones, 18, of 361 Wessen; and Rayford D. Busbee, 18, of 351 Howard McNeil St., were arraigned yesterday in municipal court.

They pleaded not guilty and Judge Maurice E. Finnegan set $100 bonds each pending trial.

The Day in Birmingham

Hope for Fair Weather During Easter Egg Hunt

BIRMINGHAM — While the Easter Bunny scurries around Springdale Park, hiding eggs, members of the Birmingham Recreation Board are keeping their fingers crossed that Saturday will dawn fair.

The first recreation - sponsored Easter Egg Hunt is scheduled for 2 p.m. tomorrow, when city youngsters will be invited to come and try their luck at finding them.

A number of eggs were received last week when the board asked children to vie for prizes at the regular Saturday matinee. More eggs were colored by board and Jaycee members to provide good hunting.

Robert Girardin, recreation director, said the gates will open at 2 p.m. for the young hunters. The park will be sectioned off in three age groups, 4-6; 7-9 and 10-12. The lucky hunters will find candy as well as the traditional eggs.

Girardin also announced that April 19 had been named for the second Carp Carnival at Quarton Lake. Fishing hours will be from 1-4 p.m., with prizes for both boys and girls for the youngest fisherman, largest fish, most fish and most unusual fishing tackle.

All officers of the Sheffield Estates Civic Assn. have been returned to office for the coming year.

They include John W. McGill, president; M. R. LaLonde, vice president; M. C. Shepherd, treasurer, and Miss Mary Bletcher, secretary.

Directors for the next three years are Charles E. Brodeur, Don Mitzel and McGill.

Kappa Delta Alumnae of South Oakland County will hold their next meeting April 8 at 8 p.m. at the Royal Oak home of Mrs. William E. Siebert. The business meeting will include the election of officers.

The KD annual White Rose Dance has been set for April 12 at the Harmony Club. Funds go to the rotating scholarship fund to help worthy girls further their education at Michigan State University, Albion College and University of Michigan.

The hostess will be assisted during the social hour by Mrs. F. Dale Buerstetta and Mrs. D. Ross Smith.

A floral arrangement demonstration will highlight the April 10 meeting of the North Suburban Alumnae Assn. of Chi Omega. The group will meet at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Beeler D. Higbie, 135 Clifton Rd., Bloomfield Township.

Melvin B. Kott, Royal Oak florist, will show how flowers may be arranged in dishes and other receptacles common to the home, without the use of "official vases."

Mrs. Oliver M. Strong Jr., committee chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Thurman W. Holloway and Mrs. Charles B. Gathers.

Edward J. Hill

Edward J. Hill, 65, a pioneer balloonist who died Wednesday at William Beaumont Hospital, will be buried tomorrow in Roseland Park Cemetery, Berkley, following a blessing at noon in St. Bede Church, Southfield Township.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the William Vasu Funeral Home, Royal Oak, and a Requiem Mass will be sung at 11 a.m. Monday at the Church.

Mr. Hill, who resided at 18275 Kirkshire, Birmingham, leaves his wife, Helen; a son, Dr. Edward J. Hill, a daughter, Mrs. Doris Ansteth, both of Birmingham; four sisters and two brothers.

Spring Bursts at Rockefeller Center Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Rockefeller Center burst into bloom today.

Hundreds of white easter lilies and yellow calla lilies suddenly appeared in the promenade gardens. There was a border of hundreds of bluebells.

Gardeners made the first of 10 seasonal plantings of flowers already full grown—a delight to the millions of annual visitors.

Flags of the United Nations were unfurled around the sunken plaza and the well-known statue of Prometheus emerged with a complete new gilding, the second since it was installed in 1934.

Dies of Heart Attack While Fighting Field Fire

West Bloomfield Township firemen were unsuccessful in their attempts to revive a Jackson man, Thursday, who suffered a heart attack while trying to put out a grass fire.

Harry C. Burk, 72, visiting friends here, was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital, it was reported. Firemen said he evidently walked out into the field at Middlebelt and W. Maple road to try to stamp out the fire as it began to spread from a rubbish burner.

Plot Possible Mars Road Map

Ohio State Scientists Work on Aid to Travel Through Space

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A handful of scientists here are working today on what may be the road-map to Mars for tomorrow's spaceman.

In their new research building a short walk from Ohio State University's campus, the scientists' campus, the scientists are beginning the enormous task. It calls for inspection and analysis of information that may help interplanetary travelers steer their way through space.

The work is being done by the university's mapping and charting research laboratory under a one-year, $44,843 contract with the Wright Air Development Center near Dayton. Research began March 1.

The job is basically paperwork. "We are not designing or producing the 'hardware' — the actual navigational equipment," said Arthur S. Cosler Jr., executive director of the laboratory.

Trained abstractors are going through the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C., and the famed John Crerar Scientific Library in Chicago carefully reading whatever has been printed on space navigation. They abstract only what is pertinent and useful, Cosler said.

Men were writing scientifically about space travel at least as far back as 1929, Cosler said.

"Some may have been crackpot ideas, some not. We're looking at all of them."

Once the pertinent material is abstracted, Cosler said, it is analyzed and tested here.

What sort of material are the researchers interested in?

"Any phenomena that might be used as a means of navigating a vehicle in space," Cosler said.

Joker's Prank Brings Only Temporary Joy

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP) — The practical joker who won the 750 pupils at Feaster Elementary School in nearby Middletown a half holiday yesterday didn't do them any favor.

School Supt. George W. Feaser said, after police searched the building and found no bomb, that the half-day would have to be made upat the end of the term.

Declares Open War on Young Hoodlums

DETROIT (UP) — Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel H. Olsen, stepping up action against hoodlumism in Detroit schools, says prison terms will be sought for offenders.

Olsen issued a two-count conspiracy warrant against three youths held in the attack Wednesday on a teacher at Washington Trade School. Each count carries a five-year maximum prison term.

Held on the conspiracy charge were Clarence Sailor, William Chisom and Thomas Hill, 18-year-old Negroes. The three, none of them a student at the school, were accused of attacking Richard Christian, 31, a white teacher.

21 States Up Taxes

CHICAGO — A survey by the Federation of Tax Administrators reveals that nearly half the State legislatures meeting in 1957 — 21 of 45 — raised the rates of major income or excise taxes. Five states lowered a single tax rate each.

Easter One of Year's Most Joyous Days

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Once again it is almost Easter. And, as an old egg-roller and rabbit recipient from Ohio, I cannot help looking upon it as one of the happiest, most joyous days of the year.

LIVE IT UP

Not all clergymen, nor all devout laymen, will agree with me, I'm sure. For—in New York particularly—there often is a confusion of terms regarding Easter. It is a day when Christians receive reassurance of an eternal life; but often, especially when the Easter parade is at its height, a few crackpots get "eternal life" mixed up with eternally "living it up."

Freakish costumes an outright commercialism can quickly take the bloom off an otherwise fresh and lovely celebration, and cafe society playgirls, who roll out of bed at 11 a.m. just in time to put birdcages on their heads for the photographers in front of St. Patrick's, ought to be boiled in their own greasepaint.

I've been a reporter for nearly 14 years, and in March or April of eight of them, have covered the Fifth Avenue Easter parade.

I have permanent wounds, testifying to the fact that not many years ago, man-sized rabbits carried sandwich signs. There is a reweave job in my lavender wool suit as evidence that in 1955 a clown from a 42nd Street girly show smoked foot-long cigars.

In 1954, the big bright parade was marred by a slit-and-run man who slashed 15 ladies' dresses with a double-edge razor blade. He, too, had a "pitch." It was, as he hollered to police: "I hate women!"

It was in '55 that the largest crowd in history turned out for the fashion show and free-for-all on America's most famous avenue. Two-million strutted the streets for hours, and a record number of them tried to poke their faces and commercials into the eye of the cameras.

SHOW DEBUNKED

It roused a Presbyterian minister to decry and debunk the Fifth Avenue show, and beg people not to consider it a symbol of Easter. "We've tinseled it, packaged it in purple and yellow, and crowded it with bunny rabbits and colored eggs. Our world has become a neighborhood, but not a brotherhood," he proclaimed. "Although we have knowledge, we do not have wisdom."

The whole problem to the clergymen is not, of course, in the parade itself. It also involves the unusual throngs of people who come to Easter services—the sea of curious, unfamiliar faces that churns before the priest's or pastor's eyes. It must be difficult for ministers to control a sense of cynicism at his sudden, seasonal popularity. And some of them don't.

Last year, at a church I attended, the rector announced: "I want to have a paper offering today. I don't want to hear any silver clinking in the collection plates." Dourly he pointed out that there was a year-ful of tithes to be made up by the "Easter annuals" in the congregation.

Another minister, it was reported, bade farewell to the congregation with a crisp, "See you next year."

Well, next year is here. And I trust, because it is such a time of gentle joy, that the paraders will be reverent, and the clergy will be forgiving, and God will see we're growing up.

U.S. Reviewing Disarmament

Ike Wants Decisions Soon to Prepare New Talks With Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration has started an urgent, top-level review of U.S. disarmament policies in preparation for new negotiations with the Soviet Union.

President Eisenhower wants early decisions by the National Security Council on whether the policies should be revised.

This country will consult with the NATO Allies — possibly at a NATO foreign ministers meeting scheduled for May 5—before any discussions are held with the Soviets.

One result may be a tentative softening of U.S. requirements for an agreement on suspending nuclear weapons tests under an international inspection system. This would mean weakening or dropping a link between test suspension and a cutoff in production of atomic weapons.

The Soviet Union already has announced on its own a suspension of tests subject, however, to resumption whenever any other nation goes ahead with nuclear testing. The United States plans a test series this spring and summer.

Any U.S. agreement to suspension of tests still envisions an international pact with guarantees through inspection.

No final U.S. decision on the issue is expected to be made until the summer test series is completed. Britain and France reported opposed to suspension now unless U.S. law is changed to permit sharing weapons information with them.

Wedding Plans on Belle Isle's Lagoons OK'd

DETROIT (AP) — Two years ago Nancy Youngblood and Irven Devore met while paddling their canoes on the lagoons of Belle Isle.

Today the City Council approved their plans to be married with a canoe - borne wedding party on those same lagoons May 31.

Seven flow - garlanded canoes will be used, but the vows will be repeated on the docks — not afloat.

"We'd like to be married under the conditions in which we met," the pair wrote the parks department.

"We think it would be a very beautiful setting and most appropriate."

City Council agreed.

Delinquents Start Earlier

BALTIMORE (AP) — The new trend in juvenile delinquency is toward more cases involving children from 9 to 12, says Juvenile Court Judge Charles Moylan. He reported nearly a fourth of all delinquency cases heard in Juvenile Court last year involved children under 12.

Where Does Easter Come In?

(Editor's Note: In keeping with our policy of publishing guest articles from time to time, we have asked the pastor of First Presbyterian Church to write our Easter editorial.)

—By DR. WILLIAM H. MARBACH

Easter is something more than a religious spring festival. It is something more than the birthday of the Christian Church. It is a witness to something deep and timeless in the heart of humanity for it fixes attention upon the assurance that God is the God of the living, and that righteousness, justice and love cannot die.

Easter is the sunrise of hope for a better humanity and for a better life for every man who will share his life with God.

What then, is it that Easter does for us? It points us to the unique Son of Man and Son of God whose radiant life sends out rays of influence and hope for any and every man. His spiritual power is such that He speaks to the doubting, the fearful, the disappointed, the lonely and the sinful soul with hope and helpfulness.

No one who comes to Him is denied help or is turned away. Consequently the Living Lord transforms and vitalizes all who look to Him. His physical presence is no longer with us as with the Galilean disciples but His spiritual presence is ever with us.

The workman at his bench or machine, the clerk behind the counter, the teacher in her schoolroom, the surgeon at his table, the patrolman on his beat, the editor at his desk, the woman at her housework, the mother with her little children and the taxi driver at his wheel, all these, when touched by the spirit of the Living Christ are the people who are keeping life sweet and clean and decent.

It is persons like these who through nineteen hundred years have kept society from lapsing into savagery, sordidness and bigotry. These are they who are the Body of Christ in a world of greed, cruelty and hatred.

The central personality of Easter who rose from the grave presented Himself as one whose authority did not rest upon compulsion, but on his power to win the minds of and persuade the hearts of men.

Not as one separated from them, but as one who shared his life with them in their poverty and privation, in their loneliness and distress He radiated the power of helpfulness. So much so that from sea to sea, from land to land He founded a kingdom that will last from age to age.

This Living Person should be at the center of the Christian's Life and at the center of the Christian Church. We must keep Him there, and not relegate Him to the borders of life. We must not wait until we come to the end of the road before we look for Him. He is Lord of both life and death. Not only in suffering and sickness, in emergencies and in the last ditch, but here and now, in the very center of our being and our civilization we must see that He holds the Key and that He is central.

In our daily lives we are to live the Risen Life with the Living Lord. We are to abide in Him whom cruelty, injustice, sin and death could neither defeat nor destroy. Easter then is something more than a Celebration: it ought to be for us the Great Consecration.

The Man About Town

$250 Is the Prize

Annual Baseball Contest Opens. Want to Win It?

Baseball: A perennial disease that assumes epidemic status in the spring.

This announces the 1958 Man About Town baseball contest. The prize is $250 in U.S. Savings Bonds. Would you like to win it?

It goes to the good sport who submits the nearest correct answer to:

What player who has been at bat at least 25 times will be leading the American League on the night of Thursday, May 1, and what will be his batting average?

Everybody is eligible to compete except employes of The Pontiac Press or members of their immediate family. It costs nothing to enter the contest, and every member of your family is eligible, but each entry must be on a separate piece of paper.

It is not necessary to clip a coupon, take part in a quiz, write an essay or do anything else except write down the name of the player and your estimate on his batting average.

This will require about one minute of your time, and you will be in line to receive $250 for that minute. Only one entry from each person is allowed.

All entries must be received in The Pontiac Press office by noon on Friday, April 18.

All contestants agree to abide by the decision of the judges which will be final. It all depends on your ability to pick the right man. Your chance is as good as that of anybody else.

Last year's contest was won by

of Oxford, on the eve of his entering the U.S. Army. In 1956 it was

of 275 Starr Ave., who copped the prize, which in 1955 went to

of 224 West Longfellow Ave. In 1954 it was divided between

Robert I. McCormick

of 76½ Newberry St., and

Mrs. Bernice G. Jozwik

of Drayton Plains. In 1953

Miss Betty Whitson

of 495 Harper Ave., was awarded the $250, which in 1952 had gone to

Miss Joyce McQuaid

of 129 Osceola Drive. In 1951

Mrs. Loretta Stricklin

of 2500 Silver Drive, got the bonds, and

Mrs. E. J. Peterman

of 38 Murphy Ave., won in 1950. In 1949

Donald Jo Lovse

of 142 Cadillac was the winner, and in 1948

Mrs. Marie Eggert

of 437 North Saginaw St., received the $250.

It will be noted from the above that the ladies have usually been carrying off the honors. They have seemed to be better forecasters than the men. Will it be that way again in 1958? Figure out your answer. It's easy money.

David Lawrence Sees:

Dangerous Situation in Pentagon

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The American people have never been told until now that a dangerous situation exists in the Pentagon in the event of the sudden outbreak of a World War. It is an open question whether the recommendations just made will remedy the situation.

LAWRENCE

President Eisenhower, in his latest message to Congress, wisely reveals the cumbersome, unwieldy command structure which has been in existence ever since the first so-called "unification" law was passed by Congress a decade ago. Mr. Eisenhower describes it as follows:

"Today the channel of military command and direction runs to the Secretary of Defense, then to the secretary of an executive agent department, then to a chief of service, and then, finally, to the unified commander.

"In time of emergency, the secretary of the executive agent department delegates to his service chief his authority over the stategic direction and conduct of combat operations. Thus, ultimately the chief of an individual service issues, in the name of the Secretary of Defense, orders to a unified commander."

This means that, unlike the manner in which World War I and World War II were fought under the direct orders of the President, the Defense Department now has been sandwiched, in the form of a huge bureaucratic organization, between the military commanders and the Commander-In-Chief.

In World War I and World War II, there was no such layer of authority between the service chiefs of staff and the President. In World War II both President Franklin D. Roosevelt and President Truman had at their elbows the three heads of the armed services.

No civilian secretaries were able to interfere with combat operations. Unified field commanders, irrespective of what services they happened to be in, reported directly to the joint chiefs.

Now everything is concentrated in the three civilian secretaries and in the Secretary of Defense. Mr. Eisenhower's plan would remove the three civilian secretaries from the chain of command but would increase the authority of the Secretary of Defense, making him, in effect, a deputy commander-in-chief.

This is a mistaken approach. No civilian understands military operations well enough to be given such a responsibility. What is needed is the establishment of the joint chiefs of staff as a part of the executive staff of the White House. As long as the Constitution makes the President also the Commander-In-Chief of all the armed services, this authority cannot be constitutionally delegated.

One of the proposed changes — to relieve the joint chiefs of administrative or command responsibilities in their respective services — is a step in the right direction. But, under the new setup, the joint chiefs become powerless and merely an adjunct of the office of the Secretary of Defense. They must go through an extra person before reaching the President of the United States.

The clumsiness of the present arrangement which Mr. Eisenhower emphasizes was just as noticeable five years ago when this correspondent pointed out in these dispatches the very same defects, only to find himself in the minority as the Congress enacted the laws that brought about the existing SNAFU.

The battle inside and outside the Pentagon has much to do with who shall control the money. This is what stimulates interservice rivalries. It will not be eliminated by the new plan.

Congress may debate many points of the new plan for a long time, but one thing seems imperative — to get rid as quickly as possible of the present chain-of-command, functioning as it does through a maze of civilian secretaries in each armed service and through many assistant secretaries of defense. Every week's delay in enacting a revised plan could mean a frightful debacle if war suddenly broke out.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Dr. William Brady Says:

Drink Fluoridated Water and Keep Teeth Intact

Sometimes it seems as though everything I recommend or approve in reference to personal health brings repercussions.

I have received in the past year or two a tremendous amount of information and misinformation from people who are opposed to the fluoridation of drinking water, and little or none from those who believe our drinking water should be fluoridated.

The people of Tristan da Cunha, who enjoy excellent health and have (or had prior to 1948) the finest teeth in the world, drink water from volcanic lakes.

The water is naturally fluoridated—that is, it contains from one part of fluorine in five million to one part in two million.

Fluoridated municipal water contains nearly one part of fluorine in a million.

I'd like to have Tristan da Cunha water for drinking water. Since that is not available, I'd be content with the fluoridated drinking water that is available in many American communities.

RIGHT TO VOTE

Nevertheless, I sympathize with people who do not believe fluoridated drinking water is good for the teeth or the general health. They should have at least the right to vote on whether the municipal water shall be fluoridated.

No group of physicians, health officers or other functionaries has the right to iodize, chlorinate, fluoridate or otherwise meddle with the municipal drinking water. In every instance, I think, it is a question to settle by popular vote.

The fluoridation of public water supplies is hardly comparable with another question on which I receive a good deal of propaganda—the use of aluminum ware for cooking.

At our house much of our food has been cooked in aluminum utensils for many years. As a family we have to get up pretty early in the morning to persuade us to trade our aluminum ware for any other kind.

But this is a free country, and if you sleep late mornings you are entitled to scrap your aluminum ware and install the kind the salesman recommends.

Reuther says wages increased only 37.3 per cent since 1937 and productivity 83 per cent. I'm on the same job now as then, and my wages have increased from $1.00 an hour to $2.25, standard for both times. That's 125 per cent increase. If Reuther so grossly misrepresents that fact, he can and no doubt has twisted many others.

I was doing fine, buying a home, furniture, car, raising a family and even had $1,000 in bonds when the UAW decided to help us by calling the 1949 strike. Proposal to Charge Fee at State Parks Still Alive

LANSING (AP)—Given a new lease on life, a bill to charge a $2 annual admission fee to state parks moved back to the Senate today for action on amendments.

After rejecting it once, the House reconsidered the proposal yesterday and nudged it through 57-49, one more vote than the 56 needed for passage.

Democrats rounded up four Reublican votes in fighting the plan, which would bring in between one and 1½ million dollars annually for state parks expansion and improvement.

Motorists would finance it by paying $2 for a sticker admitting their car and its occupants to all state parks for a year. A house amendment provides a 50-cent daily admission fee as an alternative.

Democrats squelched a move to put the plan into immediate effect, thus cutting off any chance for substantial fee collections this year. If signed by the governor, it would not take effect until 90 days after the scheduled May 15 adjournment of the legislature—weeks after the peak of the camping and tourist season.

Gov. Williams already has given strong indication he will veto the bill as he did a similar measure last year.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Criticizes 'Ivory Tower' Thinking

Does the "honor" system in schools help the honest students or the crooks? And do honorable citizens object to having policemen on duty on our city streets? Does it injure the personalities of good folks to see policemen at the traffic corners? Yet that is one of the silly arguments of the "ivory tower" educators. Scrapbook this case.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case X-371: Some years ago Prof. L. W. Webb conducted a classroom experiment in his courses in the Department of Education at Northwestern University.

DR. CRANE

He gave all his students a true-false examination, and then collected their papers.

Before the next meeting of the class, he carefully scored all the papers but made no marks on them at all, so his students wouldn't realize he had recorded their grades.

Then at the next meeting of his various classes, he casually told the students he had been so busy over the weekend that he guessed he'd just let them score their own papers while he read off the correct answers from the front of the room.

They were thus on their "honor." And what happened?

Well, over 30 per cent of all the students cheated to the extent of changing at least two or more answers in order to boost their grades.

So the honor system may sound very beautiful to a lot of sentimentalists but it simply favors the crooks.

Honest people will be honest, whether or not a policeman or professor is watching them.

Crooks will be crooks and cheat when they get a chance. So it is arch folly to try to put crooks on their "honor."

"There is no honor among thieves," runs an adage from the wise psychologists of the past and Dr. Webb's experiment proves its truth in modern times.

But I will doubtless be attacked very bitterly by faculty members and especially gullible students who are devotees of the so-called "honor" system, for that is what happens every time I include a case on the "honor" system.

NO HONOR WITH THIEVES

The "honor" system actually handicaps the honest students and plays right into the hands of the crooks in the class.

Only frothy do-gooders and inexperienced youth can possibly say a word in defense of the disgraceful "honor" system.

Here is a current episode that will be duplicated thousands of times this very week in our colleges.

The teacher will give an exam. The students will be placed on their "honor," so the professor will leave the room.

Immediately the crooked students will start opening their textbooks and digging out the correct answers. The honest students, however, try to rely on their memories alone.

But in a German class or math course or physics class, the vocabulary in the book, as well as the other scientific laws and examples on the printed page, far excel the memories even of straight "A" pupils.

So the honorable students are penalized. And the false code nowadays prevents the honest students from snitching on the cheaters!

Since the teacher grades on the class average, the lazy, shiftless students who cheat simply make top grades. So they will rank higher on the exam than the honest, hard working students who had studied diligently all year.

Yet you will still hear "ivory tower" defense of the "honor" system.

Giving a free rein to a jungle tiger or to a city gangster, doesn't suddenly make him a saint! Yet that is the theory underlying the "honor" system.

If we took all the policemen off our city streets, would crime drop to zero just because the criminal element was on its "honor"?

It is high time educators got out of their "ivory towers" and got hep to reality. The "honor" system ALWAYS hampers the honest students and simply gives the crooks a free rein.

Honest citizens never object to having policemen on our city streets! No, it is only the crooks who would like policemen removed.

So will you teachers PLEASE start policing your exams and stop penalizing honest students by your inattention to cheating in your classrooms?

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Alaskan Youth Admits Killing 3

Boy, 13, Shoots Mother, Sister, Brother in Fit of Anger

NCHORAD, Alaska (AP)—An oral admission by a 13-year-old boy that he killed his mother, his brother and his sister in a fit of anger left Anchorage police and territorial officials wrestling with an involved legal problem today.

Under territorial law, according to U.S. Commissioner David R. Daines, a person under 16 years of age cannot be charged with a crime. Daines also said jurisdiction could not be waived by U.S. District Court here.

Robert L. Courtney, son of a prominent Anchorage businessman, told police after his capture Wednesday night he shot Mrs. Jesse Courtney; Jesse Jr., 9; and Bonnie Lowell, 7, after a quarrel with his mother.

Mrs. Courtney was killed outright in the front yard of the Courtney home as she tried to run from her young son and the rifle he had obtained in the basement of the home. He told officers he shot his brother and sister because "once I got started shooting I couldn't stop."

The boy said the quarrel developed after he told his mother he planned to quit working in his father's sheetmetal shop. He went for the gun, he told police, when his mother indicated she was going to whip him with a belt.

The boy's father was in Seattle when Mrs. Courtney and the two children were slain.

British Women Allowed Now in House of Lords

LONDON (AP)— A bill permitting women to sit in the House of Lords for the first time won final parliamentary approval. Queen Elizabeth II will sign it into law soon.

The bill permits the monarch to appoint men and women to the upper house with special titles which cannot be passed on to heirs. The House of Lords is now composed of hereditary seats for men only, plus places for churchmen of the established Church of England.

The Labor party opposed the bill on the ground it did not insure more Laborites in the predominantly Conservative upper house.

Ready Giant Blast to Ease Shipping

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C. (AP)— The largest nonatomic blast man has ever touched off is scheduled to liquidate Ripple Rock as a shipping menace tomorrow, weather permitting.

Engineers will detonate 2¾ million pounds of high explosive in a network of tunnels in Ripple Rock.

The explosion is expected to rip 370,000 tons of rock off the twin-domed submarine mountain whose top lies just below the surface of the water at mean low tide in Seymour Narrows, between Vancouver Island and the mainland 100 miles north of Vancouver, B.C.

Since 1875, two dozen large ships and smaller ones have piled on Ripple Rock, at the cost of 114 lives.

Bob Considine Says:

Members of CAB Perfectionist Coroners

NEW YORK (INS) — One of these days, soon, the men of the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) will put aside the pathetic rubbish of tin, steel and rubber and tell us precisely how and why Mike Todd, Art Cohn and their two pilots died March 22.

They are the perfectionist coroners, these CAB people. They must work with the knowledge that the dead will little note and that the bereaved will say, in effect, that the details of the calamity are of no importance compared to the calamity itself. Yet the CAB's sober-sided puttering in the wake of aerial disaster since man took to the skies by the millions has made air travel safer than taking a tub bath.

I have at hand the CAB's report on the case of a passenger who was blown out of a Western Air Lines Convair while in flight over a place named Daggett, Calif. It shows how painstaking this government body is.

CAB sent men scrounging about the countryside, picking up evidence. "The body of Mr. Binstock (the missing passenger) was found," the report states with scientific detachment.

"This body showed, in addition to pronounced effects of the fall, a marked mutilation of the left hand, from which finger ends were missing. Br. Binstock's coat in the area of the left arm and breast was cut and perforated as from the explosion of a blasting cap." Parts of the blasted plane (whose crew landed it safely at George Air Force Base) were distributed over a path about three miles long in the direction of flight and about a half mile wide.

"It was clearly indicated that there had been an explosion with its forces centered on the washbasin shelf," the report reads. "Nowhere was there any evidence of metal fatigue. Chemical analyses of smudge found on damaged parts disclosed that the explosion was dynamite, as determined positively by certain ingredients of dynamite which were present in the smudge.

"Investigation revealed that Mr. Binstock procured dynamite and blasting caps several weeks before the incident . . . accordingly, the board concludes that the dynamite was intentionally detonated by passenger Binstock."

There are a thousand more details, but the above will give you the general idea of the detective work involved in piecing together the reason for an air accident. It was CAB which first found and then ordered something done about icing conditions.

It ended the shortcuts through mountain ranges that killed Carol Lombard, helped rout the bugs from the first Constellations and DC6s, two important forerunners of today's great, safe airliners.

It made the DC3 the most remarkable airplane in history (no DC3 has ever worn out) and it put in the traffic system that makes all travel possible.

It guards every nut and bolt, and when something goes wrong it not only finds the trouble but does its utmost to prevent a repetition. Out of its findings in respect to the mockingly named "Lucky Liz" will come decisions which make flying safer in a world those poor guys no longer inhabit.

Comedian Turns Serious

Special Bob Hope Show Spotlights Soviet Artists

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—A strangely serious Bob Hope, playing his familiar role of American goodwill ambassador with new earnestness, takes his television audience behind the Iron Curtain tomorrow night for something more significant than just entertainment.

Hope returned from his recent mission to Moscow with some spectacular samples of Soviet-style show business, ranging from ballet to slapstick, for his hour-long NBC show.

The filmed acts—violinist David Oistrakh, Prima Ballerina Galina Ulanova, comedians Oleg Popov and David Raikin and the Ukrainian dancers—are "sensational" theater, Hope explained today.

But the purpose of unveiling their talents to an American TV audience goes deeper than merely demonstrating that theatrical genius knows no national or political boundaries.

"The emphasis of the show is on understanding," he said. "We'll close with shots of Russian children, fat ones, thin ones, all kinds. And I have a monologue in which I say we must have understanding so that people like these won't become obsolete."

Hope himself was so impressed by the need for greater understanding as a foundation for world peace that he is curbing his natural, world-famous knack for deflating pomposity and shattering foibles where the Russians are concerned.

"I can't help," he said thoughtfully, "by saying things to make relations worse.

"I said some things in the film we made there," he conceded. "For instance, I said they gave me quite a welcome at the airport; they fired 21 shots in my honor. Of course, they could have waited for the plane to land.

"And a few little things like that. I said I'd never seen so many TV aerials. They've got millions of aerials, but no sets. That hurt them a little bit, and rightly so. Their TV is really very good. I saw two pictures, a review and a hockey game. They have a finer line TV than ours, like the British.

But in general, Hope is restraining himself from poking too much fun at the Russians, fun they might misinterpret.

He steers clear of discussing politics and politicians and maintains that the Russians he met — entertainers, technicians and the men and women in the streets — were genial, gracious and helpful.

State Woman Dies, Husband Hurt in Ohio

OXFORD, Ohio. (UP)—Mrs. Merle Bystrom, 67, of Newberry, Mich., was killed in an automobile collision near here last night.

She and her husband Clarence, 72, were en route here to visit their son.

The husband suffered a fractured skull.

The son, Richard T. Bystrom, is director of the Miami University student center.

The elder Bystrom was superintendent of schools at Newberry 32 years and retired only last year. Mrs. Bystrom, a teacher in the kindergarten, planned to retire after this year.

Bobby Rodgers, 33, of Hamilton, driver of the other car, was not hurt.

Sheriff Paul Pell said Rodgers told him the Bystroms did not stop at a stop sign and that when he applied his brakes it was too late to avoid the collision.

Death Hovers Over Children; Both Survive

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP) — A motorist swerved his car to miss a little girl as she darted into the street.

Highway Patrolman Robert Parks said the incident touched off this chain of events:

The car, driven by John Wilke, skidded out of control and hit a boy on his bicycle.

The girl, 9-year-old Theresa Millaway, fearing she had been responsible for the boy's death, ran into the house and swallowed a household lye concentrate.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Bette Millaway, discovered what had happened and started for a hospital, but her car stalled.

A telephone lineman saw the stalled car, climbed a pole and called the highway patrol with his field telephone.

A patrol car rushed the girl to a hospital, where both she and the boy on the bicycle, 14-year-old Philip Nemeth, were reported out of danger.

Bound to Circuit Court on Bad Check Charge

A 32-year-old man was examined before Waterford Township Justice Donald E. Adams yesterday on a charge of passing a bad check and was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court for arraignment April 14.

Bernard Bluestein, alias George Baites, who gave his last address as Philadelphia, was returned to the county jail after Adams set a $10,000 bond. He is accused of forging a $36 check.

In Alexandria, Va., still stands the apothecary shop where George Washington had his medical prescriptions filled.

UNDAUNTED TRAVELERS — Two Romeo youths, who recently returned from an Easter vacation trip which was marked by a series of mishaps, say they are ready to start out again on a moment's notice. The two 18-year-olds are Burton Emmett (left), a senior at Romeo High School, and David Collon, a junior at Cranbrook School in Bloomfield Hills.

Harrowing Adventures Dog Romeo Youths on Trip East

By LEE WINBORN
Romo Correspondent

ROMEO — "Do it again?—Sure we would," said two Romeo youths who have just returned from an Easter vacation trip filled with a series of misadventures and fun.

The pair, Burton Emmett and David Collon, both 18, started out by car with Mrs. Edward B. Emmett, Burton's mother, on what promised to be a fabulous trip to Washington, D. C. and New York City.

Burton, a senior at Romeo High School, and David, a junior at Cranbrook School in Bloomfield Hills, planned to see all the historic landmarks in the nation's capital and take in several plays and television shows in New York City.

The trio left for Washington in beautiful, balmy weather, but this was not to last. For 20 miles before they were scheduled to leave the Pennsylvania Turnpike, it began to snow.

The roads became impassable, and it took almost eight hours to make the car trip over a mountain near Hagerstown, Pa.

The storm continued to cause problems for the young vacationers. When they arrived at their motel in Washington, D. C., there was no electricity, no hot water and no telephone service—all the lines were down.

"Then the generator of the car went bad while we were sightseeing. After being towed a couple of times, we were forced to buy a new one," David said. Later, after leaving Mrs. Emmett and the car, the boys' train to New York City was delayed by the same snowstorm.

Two nights later their room in a Times Square hotel was ransacked and their luggage stolen. A bellboy found their clothes and bags in an empty room. Electric shavers, cuff links and other items valued at about $140 were missing.

An unendorsed $100 check made out to young Emmett was returned at 3 a.m. by a stranger who said he had "found it." The boys were too sleepy to call the desk clerk until after the man left, they said.

"Just one thing after another—a fire in the hotel and taxi drivers who drove us to theaters just around the corner," Burt recalled.

The climax of the trip came when the boys' plane was preparing for a landing at Willow Run Airport. The pilot feared he had blown a tire and so advised the tower. Airport officials sent fire-fighting equipment and ambulances out near the runway to stand by in case of an emergency landing.

The plane landed safely on its rear landing gear, and the boys learned later that Mr. and Mrs. Emmett, who were supposed to meet them there, missed all the excitement and probably many anxious moments. They had been held up by traffic and an accident on the expressway, and were late keeping their appointment.

Despite all their harrowing experiences, the two boys have lost none of their enthusiasm for traveling and are planning a trip to the West next summer.

Will Hold Card Party

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — A luncheon and card party will be held at noon Monday at Our Lady of the Lakes Church in Waterford Township, according to Mrs. S. J. McIsaac, general chairman.

All proceeds from the affair will be put in the new school building fund. Area residents have been invited.

Claims She Died in Civil War Battle 96 Years Ago

Was Woman Once Reb Sergeant?

SHREVEPORT, La. (INS)—The parents of a Kentucky housewife were combing ancient records in Shreveport today in search for an answer to a weird question.

Had their 29-year-old daughter, Mrs. Patricia Jeanne Williams, of Louisville, Ky., once lived the life of a young Confederate sergeant who was killed in battle 96 years ago?

QUEST FRUITLESS

So far, the quest of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard E. Kord, of Indianapolis, Ind., has been all but fruitless. What clues they have been able to find are meager and far from conclusive.

Their search began in the living room of their home recently when Mrs. Williams was placed in a trance by her uncle, Richard P. Cook, an amateur hypnotist.

What transpired followed almost exactly the pattern of the famous Bridey Murphy case. Like the Denver housewife who was transformed, under hypnosis, to a young colleen living in Ireland 200 years ago, Mrs. Williams assumed an entirely different character.

ENLISTED AT 15

In her previous life, according to Kord, Mrs. Williams was a Confederate soldier named Gene Donaldson, who enlisted at 15.

In a tape recording, which Kord, president of a manufacturing company, said was made during his daughter's hypnotic trance, she stated she had been born a boy on a farm near Shreveport.

Throughout the recording, Mrs. Williams' voice was that of a southern farm boy, uneducated, though always respectful to the interrogator and laced with the idioms and figures of speech prevalent in the South during the last century.

Section of the recording dealing with the "death" of Donaldson:

Question: (by Cook) Please describe your death.

Answer: (By Mrs. Williams) It was on a ridge in Nashville, Tenn., a damn Yankee hit me in the eye with a bullet.

Q. Did you wait for help?

A. No sir, we ain't got no help to wait for. There was a whole lot of dead ones. It was (in 1862 at the battle of) Shiloh.

Q. Did you live through the night?

A. No sir.

Q. Did anyone come for your body?

A. No sir. Not for a long time. I was warm at last—comfortable.

Q. After your were dead, did you go back to see anyone?

A. Yes sir. My maw. I tried to talk to her. But they can't hear you.

Later on in the recording, which dealt with Donaldson's life on his farm, Mrs. Williams was asked what military unit, she—as Donaldson—served in.

Answering with military snap, she replied:

"Artillery division, sir. Second division. Under general (P. G.) Beauregard. I was a sergeant."

In the two days they have been searching records, the Kords have been unable to find any record of a Donaldson who lived in the area during the Civil War.

Only two faint clues were uncovered. One dealing with a family named Duncan found on an 1868 deed, which Mrs. Williams in her hypnotic trance said were neighbors of Donaldson.

The other was the name of a street—Water Street — found on the original 1839 map of Shreveport, but long since out of use, which was mentioned by Mrs. Williams.

Kord maintains that his daughter has never been in or near Shreveport and has no knowledge of the city.

Will Vote at Walled Lake on City Hall Bond Issue

WALLED LAKE — Voters in Walled Lake Monday will be asked to approve a $75,000 bond issue for the purchase or construction of a new city hall.

DIANE J. MUSSON

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Musson of Castel street, Rochester, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Diane J., to Arnold Sell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil E. Sell of W. Third street, Rochester. The bride-elect is a senior at Central Michigan College, Mt. Pleasant. Her fiance is a graduate of Highland Park Junior College. The wedding date hasn't been set.

The proposal will appear on the annual city election ballot along with the names of five candidates for four council posts.

The council has not decided yet whether it would use the money to construct a new building or purchase one already built.

At any rate, the present city office at 115 N. Pontiac Trail is inadequate, City Manager George A. Shaw said.

The city has no facilities for storing its road equipment or supplies, he said. The fire hall is the only real estate owned by the city.

The general obligation bonds would be paid for by a special tax levy of about 2½ mills for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation, Shaw said. This amount would decrease each year as the city's tax base broadens, he said.

Among the four posts sought on the council is that of Mayor clined to seek re-election.

The candidates include two incumbents, Marshall Taylor and Jerry Meade. Othrs are Harold N. Ackley, former building inspector; Michael K. Mahaney and Arnold W. Marens.

Three of the terms will be for two years. The candidate who runs fourth will be elected to a one-year term.

There are 1,377 registered voters in the city, according to Clerk Dorothy Lonsdale. The last presidential election drew the largest turnout, she said, when 1,169 ballots were cast.

Bloomfield Taxpayers Delaying Caravan

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The taxpayers caravan from Bloomfield Township, slated to go to Lansing Monday to protest higher taxes, has been delayed until Tuesday, Mrs. Margaret Begovich, spokesman for the group, said today.

Lawmakers will be meeting in committee sessions Monday, she said, and is doubtful that officials would be able to meet with them.

The caravan, however, will form at the Bloomfield Township Hall about 7 a.m. Tuesday and leave for the State Capitol, she said.

Farm, Garden Club Schedules Fashion Show

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Foxcroft Branch, Women's National Farm and Garden Club, will hold a style show at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Franklin Community Church in Franklin.

The proceeds will go into the scholarship benefit fund for exchange students, said Mrs. G. W. Mack, chairman of the affair.

Baffles Police in Pontiac

Who Smashes Windows?

A window smashing binge that has driven two families to despair continues to baffle Pontiac police.

Every night for two weeks a variety of missiles has cascaded against the homes on Virginia street, shattering windows and wrecking asbestos siding.

The missile phantoms, none of whom have ever been seen, began "operation destruction" against the harassed householders on the evening of March 25.

Every half hour that night and all the next day rocks, bottles, pieces of concrete, cans of soup, jars of baby food, nuts and bolts beat a tattoo on the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Riley, 114 Virginia, and their next door neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Osender, 110 Virginia.

Their repeated calls had squad cars at the scene all through the day, but there was no sign of the culprits.

While officers were questioning some boys in the front of the houses, they heard crashes in the back and ran around to find more broken glass, but no sign of anyone.

Riley, 26, a determined man, spent two nights lying on the ground in the backyard, only to hear windows breaking in the front and again no culprits.

Mrs. Riley said that she has been frightened to death by the barrages. "One rock just missed one of our children. My husband has had to board up the bedroom windows for fear the kids might get hurt at night.

The spray of flying objects has hit the homes every night since it began.

Burley Gillett, 19, a nephew of the Osenders who lives in an apartment at the rear, says 18 windows have been broken in the building.

"We aren't replacing them because it would be a waste of money until they clear this thing up. They have even thrown rocks through the screens and broken the glass. Only the Venetian blinds have saved us inside."

He, too, has unsuccessfully laid traps for the rock - happy phantoms with the aid of his friends, but not a trace of the culprits has been discovered.

Among the objects thrown have been marbles, potatoes and even a piece of lead pipe.

The Rileys, who have four small children, and the Osenders, who have a 14-year-old son, are unable to give the police a clue as to who might have a grudge against them.

The official position of the investigating officers is: "We are baffled."

CEASE FIRE — Aaron Riley, 114 Virginia St., points to one of the bedroom windows smashed by phantom vandals. Riley boards the windows at night to protect his children from flying objects. The asbestos siding on his house also has been extensively damaged by missiles. Riley and his next-door neighbor, who have been victims for two weeks, hope whoever is doing the throwing will cease fire.

Vast Resources in Ocean Depths Remain Untapped

Look to the Sea to Provide Food for Billions of People

New Bedford Standard-Times
Written for The AP
Fourth in Series
By EVERETT S. ALLEN

If the world's population—about 2¾ billion—triples during the next century, and it is expected to, humanity must turn to the oceans for new sources of food to maintain its living standards.

The land masses of the world are being rapidly depleted of basic resources. The sea is still a bulging storehouse, not only of minerals and metals—which improved techniques could pry from the ocean bottom — but of enormous quantities of foodstuffs.

In terms of food, the sea can actually outproduce the land. A New England harbor, properly cultivated, could produce nine tons of clam meat per acre annually—three times the amount of comparable food an Ohio farmer could produce on one acre.

Eventually, marine scientists say, the oceans may be stirred artificialy to bring up nutrients from the bottom so sunlight can get at them and so increase the sea's productivity of food stuffs.

Here's one way in which this process is envisaged:

In most areas, a vertical pipe shoved down into the sea would carry a stream of water either up or down, once it was started, and if uninterrupted would go on indefinitely.

This is because ocean surface water is saltier and, therefore, heavier, than deep water, when the two are at the same temperature. As surface water goes down the pipe, it tends to be cooled to the same temperature as the water outside the pipe — but being heavier because of its salinity, it keeps on flowing downward.

It works in the opposite direction. If bottom water is started up the pipe, it tends to get warmer. But because bottom water is slightly fresher, it also is lighter than the surface water surrounding it, so it tends to rise and flow out the top of the pipe.

The French government is experimenting with a system of such pipes. In this instance, it is trying to produce fresh water from the ocean by applying the salinity differences to a distilling process. But the operation would serve very well to "stir" the sea for increased food production.

Presently, man is neglecting great areas of the ocean's nutritional potential. Of some 16,000 species of marine life, only a dozen or so are used commercially to any significant extent. Thousands of others, including such unlikely sounding candidates as barnacles, could make valuable contributions.

Some steps toward more intense exploitation of the sea are already being taken. The British are seeking to utilize the nutritional properties of seaweed in commercial quantities. The South Africans have a fish meal project providing an inexpensive protein source for human consumption.

A vital step in making the most of the ocean's food resources is finding a way to make fish less expensive. Virtually all modern developments in fishing—packaging, filleting, freezing — are keeping fish from going where they're needed most, to hungry people without much cash.

It is possible, marine scientists say, to make money with a fish product selling for as little as 1½ cents a pound; ways could doubtless be found to convert food fish into some form, perhaps like sausage meat, that could be stored and shipped without canning and freezing.

Further, in the ocean, the absence of fences or lines of ownership makes it difficult to introduce the element of systematic cultivation even though this is highly desirable from the standpoint of increased marine productivity.

But it is only a question of time before a marine-minded country in search of cheap foodstuffs will start a large-scale marine agricultural station.

Junior Editors Quiz on NEWS PICTURES

QUESTION: How are news pictures sent by wire?

ANSWER: Years ago, photographs were distributed to newspapers by train, plane, car, and even by carrier pigeon. It often took days for a picture to get there. Today a picture can be flashed thousands of miles in minutes.

Here's how it came about: In 1933, Bell laboratories developed a picture sending apparatus, which The Associated Press put into service two years later under the name of Wirephoto. In operating the apparatus, an ordinary photo is wrapped around a cylinder on the sending machine. In newspapers across the country unexposed negatives or photographic paper have been placed on receiving machines.

An attendant presses a button, the cylinder on the sending machine revolves, and a tiny beam of light moves across it. A photo-electric eye transforms the rays reflected from the photograph into electrical impulses that are recorded by the receiver at the same moment they are sent. Within minutes all the impulses have been recorded. Then a finished photograph is made exactly like the one at the ending station. It is then engraved for printing your newspaper, soon after the picture was taken.

FOR YOU TO DO: Study the pictures in your newspaper and note how quickly they appear after the news events occurred.

(Edurn Turuiki of Honolulu, Hawaii, wins $10 for this question. If you have one send it on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of The Pontiac Press. Tomorrow: Why doesn't Easter fall on the same date every year?)

Salary Deduction Error to Cost Someone $14,791

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Back in 1921, someone in charge of making out school payrolls forgot to deduct a small pension contribution from a new schoolteacher's salary.

The error was apparently never rectified, and the teacher, Gladys V. Markus, continued getting her checks through the years without contributing to the pension fund.

Last night, the Board of Education received a letter from the state teachers pension and annuity fund saying that someone owes the fund $14,791.

The letter added that unless Clifton pays up, the state may withhold school aid from the community.

The board said Miss Markus should be required to pay the tidy sum.

France Produces Bomb Plutonium

PARIS (AP)—French atomic experts today said France has produced enough plutonium to build her own atom bomb.

This information leaked out of a restricted meeting of the French Atomic Energy Committee today, at a review of France's atomic capabilities.

Rumors have circulated for several months in France and abroad that the French would soon test their own atom bomb.

U. S. Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill) said last week that France was capable of performing such an explosion within eight days but the French said this was without any foundation.

Chiang Gives Sermon

Urges Senate Form Committee to Aid Veterans

Veterans should write lawmakers in Washington, D.C., urging that a standing committee on veterans' affairs be created in the U.S. Senate, it was suggested today by Lynn D. Allen, Oakland County clerk.

Allen, who said he was speaking as a World War I veteran and not as a county official, urged this move when he learned that no such committee exists.

Charles L. Watkins, parliamentarian for the Senate, informed Allen by letter that, at present, any measures pertaining to veterans are usually referred to either the Senate Committee on Finance or the Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

"The some 15 million veterans are entitled to a separate committee to study all matters that might affect them," said Allen. He added that many proposals affecting veterans have been "piled under" because there was not the proper committee to refer them to.

Allen has made a request to Vice President Nixon, Sen. Charles E. Potter, and Congressman William S. Broomfield for establishment of such a committee. The U. S. House has a similar committee, Allen believed.

The birthstone for May is the emerald.

Eager Kiddies Await Easter Bunny's Visit

That perky loppy-eared bunny perched on the table seems as happy as his mistress, Deborah Rogers, about preparing the eggs for coloring. Deborah, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rogers of West Iroquois road, is just about to dip an egg into a bowl of vivid purple dye.

Cuddly pastel-colored animals are Eastertime favorites of all youngsters. Here, Carol Warrick, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. Carleton Warrick of Chippewa road, clutches one of her soft 'n' fuzzy little friends while admiring the bunny and colorful basket she has received.

Our miniature model may not be wearing a chemise, but Mary Kim Segula is right in style as she poses with a nosegay of stephanotis centered with a rose. Dr. and Mrs. Robert L. Segula of Williams Lake road are parents of this tot.

All Set to Enjoy Big Day

Almost as soon as a child is old enough to toddle and to understand at all any of the aspects of our society, he learns that there are certain days scattered throughout the year to which the adult world accords special attention.

There's thanksgiving when the family unites for a lovely dinner, Christmas when little ones are told of the miracle of Christ's birth, and New Year's Day with its colorful parades.

SIGNIFICANT HOLIDAY

But perhaps the most significant holiday children learn to anticipate is the one we are to celebrate Sunday. In many homes throughout the city tots will headquarter in the kitchen to help mother dye the Easter eggs which they will enjoy Easter Sunday.

Perhaps some inquisitive children inquiring as to "Why do we have Easter eggs, Mommie?" have been told the "why" behind this custom. Perhaps mother has explained to them how the egg from which they know come cuddly and downy baby chicks is a symbol of new life.

A story that children are often told is that the Easter Bunny lays the eggs and hides them for youngsters to find. This tale evolves from the pagan custom of regarding the rabbit as an emblem of new life.

Whatever children may be told about this holiday season, the stories they hear are helping to give them a glimpse into the real meaning of Easter.

Useful Sweaters

Women find the sweater an indispensable fashion. In some form, it goes to the office, shopping, out to dinner, on weekends. Handy protection against weather changes.

JOAN L. LaCLAIR

Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. LaClair of Chicago avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Louise, to Curtis Doil Watson, son of Bert W. Watson of Brownville, Ala., and the late Mrs. Watson. A July 26 wedding is planned.

No Need to Return Courtesy

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have been a bridesmaid in three weddings during the past three years. I am not extremely close to any of these young women although I do see them occasionally at social functions and visit with them every once in a while.

"I am going to be married this summer and would like to know if it would be improper to ask these girls to be in my bridal party. There are several other girls with whom I am more friendly and I would, of course, prefer to ask them.

"To include all would make the bridal party too large. Am I obliged to return the courtesy to the first three young women mentioned?"

Answer: You are not obliged to return their courtesy. A bride is expected to have her own very best friends for her bridesmaids and it would be unfair to replace any of these with someone else only because she had asked you to be her bridesmaid.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I spent the weekend at a friend's house and after returning home I discovered that I had forgotten a pair of brand new slippers. I wrote and told my friend about it and she mailed them back to me.

"After I received the package, I sent her the mailing cost. Now I understand she considered this an insult. Was I wrong in what I did?"

Answer: To send back a very few cents change was very petty. Had the sum been of importance, that would have been another matter.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have been invited to the 50th wedding anniversary of very dear friends of mine. I know the 50th year is gold, but I cannot afford to give anything expensive. Will you please tell me what else would be suitable to give on this occasion?"

Answer: Anything in gilt or brass or anything with gilt or gold ornamentation on it—or something in golden yellow—would be suitable.

Keep Your Spine Straight

Poor Posture Causes Neck Lines

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "I have lines on my neck. It has wrinkled very badly on the back and sides and the lines run on down under my chin in front. Many women of my age do not have these. Why do I and what can I do to get rid of them?"

A. The lines probably were caused primarily by poor posture. You have had the habit of "giving in" at the back of your neck. By this I mean that you have not kept the spine straight through the region of the neck. This is the secret of beautiful carriage and a youthful neckline.

Lessening of fat between the skin and the muscles and increasing dryness also play a part, but posture has a terrific role. Try the following exercise which is corrective and also gives you the feeling you should have at the back of your neck:

Lie on the floor with your arms resting on the floor at your sides. Bend both knees and place both feet flot on the floor. Try to flatten your neck against the floor, making your neck as long as possible. Hold while you count to 10 slowly. Rest and continue.

In order to do this push down with your neck and back with the top of your head. This is not a motion you can see but you will feel it. When you walk try to keep the spine stretched in this way.

I also suggest that you take exercises and lubricate the skin regularly. If you, or any of my readers, would like to have these exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 10 "Is Your Chinline a Pain in the Neck?" Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Q. "I have a very serious problem and would like to have your help. My husband tells me that he is in love with another woman. He is cross with the children. He doesn't want me to be close to him and never talks to me willingly.

"The only way I can get him to talk is to ask him questions. Sometimes he answers and sometimes he just shakes his head. I don't know what to do."

A. You certainly are in an unhappy situation. You do not say whether or not the two of you ever have talked this out at all, or whether or not he has asked for a divorce. You need expert help.

I suggest that you talk to your minister or go to the Family Service Association of America if they have a branch in your town. This organization has highly trained workers and has saved many a home from disaster. Perhaps later on you can persuade your husband to go with you for counseling.

Q. "Please tell me if my weight and measurements are correct. I am 5 feet 7 inches tall, weigh 150 pounds, and have a medium bone structure. My bust measures 38, waist 26 and hips 39½ inches. I recently have lost 20 pounds and am wondering if I should lose more."

A. If your frame is medium you should lose only from 5 to 10 pounds, no more. Concentrate on hip-slimming exercises for a little loss there.

Dear Abby . . . .

Dancing OK, but Squeezing Must Go

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We are a middle-aged couple who like to go square dancing. I am beginning to think my husband takes me along as a "front" so he can dance with all the young girls as he is still squeezing them after the music stops. Should I make him give up square dancing or what?

ABBY

SQUARE DANCER

DEAR SQUARE: Don't make him give up dancing—just squeezing.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my 15-year-old daughter. She is a wonderful girl in many ways but she keeps her room, closets, drawers and desk in such a mess it makes me ill.

I have threatened, held back her allowance and done everything I could think of to get her to be neater but nothing helps. I always wind up doing it myself.

She tells me it doesn't bother her, and I should close the door and leave it alone. Can a mother in her right mind accept this kind of an answer? Please tell me?

GOING MAD

DEAR GOING: Your threatening, nagging and scolding will get you nothing but an ulcer. Close the door, Mother. When your daughter realizes that neatness is nicer, she'll reform, and not until.

DEAR ABBY: Everyone thinks I'm crazy because I willed my body to the medical school. When I die I don't want anyone crying over my grave. I cried over too many myself, including my two children.

If doctors could learn something from my body maybe they could find out why my own children didn't live longer and another mother would be spared what I went through. If you think I'm wrong I'll change my will.

WILLED BODY

DEAR WILLED: If YOU feel this way, your decision is the only one that is important.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl, 14, and have two brothers who are 20 and 22 and they act like 2-year-olds. They each have a motorcycle and the way they race the motors and cut corners they cause a near riot where we live.

The neighbors hate us and I don't blame them. They show off and scare people and I am afraid they are going to get killed one of these days. What can a little sister do?

LITTLE SISTER

DEAR SIS: It's too bad you can't give your brothers a brain transfusion because they could use some of yours. Your parents should deal with them, and they had better hurry before the law does.

Parent-Child Closeness Can't Be Forced

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

That morning Chuck's mother phoned his father at the office to announce that his final measle had disappeared. That evening his commuter father dashed into his railroad terminal's bookstore and bought "The Wizard of Oz." After supper he read Chuck several chapters.

Reaching the point where Dorothy tries on the magic shoes of the squashed Witch of the East, he paused to turn a page. Chuck said intensely, "Hurry up, Daddy —go on, go on!"

His father raised his eyes from the book to look into the familiar 5-year-old face that fever had so recently made flushed and distracted — and between him and Chuck there flashed one of those moments of completed intimacy which, piled up, build our love for another person.

He thought, "This is extraordinarily satisfying. I shall read to Chuck after dinner every night."

He did. He read to Chuck when he was exhausted from defending ideas to his promotion manager. He read to him when he would have preferred to read his newspaper to himself. He read to him when his stomach was upset by a client's favor of a rich lobster lunch. But the moment of completed intimacy did not return.

STORIES DISCONTINUED

Finally he faced this — and the story hour was discontinued.

A week later he and Chuck were waiting for the car's oil to be changed at the garage. Suddenly he remembered a packet of butterscotch in his pocket.

As Chuck accepted his piece, he said incredulously, "Gosh, thanks, Daddy" — and abruptly again there was between them one of those unplanned moments of completed intimacy which, added together, enrich and deepen our love for one another.

These are vital moments between us and a child. But they come by themselves and can never be made to happen.

So we are foolish to try and make them happen by maintaining rituals of story hours, games and other activities with a child when we have ceased to enjoy them ourselves.

Indeed we stop them from recurring when we do.

Only experience proves this to us. But young parents can at least acknowledge the boredom they feel when they have allowed one experience of intimacy with children to turn into cut-and-dried habit. The children are as bored as they are — and are grateful to be freed from the need to pretend they aren't.

Two-year-old Mitchel Laine Hall is all set to place the last egg in the large bow-bedecked basket held by brother Michael, 4. The boys, children of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Hall of North Telegraph road, spent a busy morning helping mother select colors and designs for the eggs.

Leal Emes Unit Hears 2 Talks

"Luke, the Physician" was discussed by Mrs. Lawrence McDowell and "God's Plan for the World" by Eleanore Kellogg, when the Leal Emes Group of First Presbyterian Church met at the home of Barbara Hall on Evelyn Court.

Guests at the Wednesday meeting were Mrs. Alice Croy, Jean Miller and Mrs. Eleanor Zeitler. Mrs. Martha Mock assisted the hostess. Ethel Graham, group chairman, also participated in the meeting.

In May members will meet at the home of Josephine Seeley on Sylvester street, with Harriet Gates assisting.

Key U.S. Steel Executive Sees No Danger of Financial Collapse

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

NEW YORK (INS) — A key executive of the United States Steel Corp. said today that, in spite of the recession, the country is not headed for a financial collapse like that of the 1930s.

Robert C. Tyson, chairman of the Finance Committee of "big steel," and one of the best informed authorities on business conditions, pointed out that as a matter of fact there are "hopeful factors" in the current situation.

COMBAT SETBACK

"We should note that we have not had at this time, as we did in 1929, a great speculative market, financed on thin margins with borrowed money," he declared in an interview.

Moreover, he added, business men and government have learned from the experiences of the 1930s how to combat an economic setback—or at least, how to cushion a recession.

When will the recession end?

To this question, Tyson replied: "Some economists say we are over the hump. I'd call that extreme optimism. Others say the slump will last for months. That's extreme pessimism.

"I'd say the end of the recession will come somewhere in the middle. There is talk around that the business upturn will come early in summer—that is, late in the second quarter or early in the third quarter."

AUTHORITIES VIGILANT

Tyson, in discussing the hopeful factors, stressed that the monetary authorities have been vigilant in seeing to it that no great collapsible structure of speculative bank credit has been reared this time.

He also noted that it is true that we have had this time, as in the 1920s, a great postwar housing boom, financed with mortgage money. The spiraling collapse of real estate values with successive waves of foreclosures in the early 1930s, he explained, served greatly to aggravate the credit collapse which followed.

"But things are vastly different this time," he said. "Home mortgaging practice has significantly shifted from lump sum, short maturity loans, to monthly amortized, 20 to 30-year obligations, more like rent. Much of the debt is also guaranteed or insured by the government.

EQUITIES GROWING

"The owners' equities in their homes are thus steadily growing and big lump sum due dates have been eliminated.

"These two factors alone could be sufficient to guarantee that we are not headed into another nationwide financial paralysis."

Tyson also pointed out that businessmen as a whole are now conducting their affairs with far greater prudence and deliberation than ever before.

"This augurs well for the period ahead," he declared.

Another encouraging factor, he said, is that large volumes of construction in public roads, schools and utilities remain to be performed.

The inflationary effects we are experiencing now, according to Tyson, are the result of the increasing costs of products beyond the ability to increase the efficiency of those products' production.

Tyson switched to labor policy. Parenthetically, he remarked that some labor leaders would not agree with what he was about to say. He went on:

"As long as you pay more to get the same thing you have inflation. As long as you pay more to produce a thing and sell it at a higher price you have a spiral. The basic costs are employment costs. These costs are inclusive of items such as pensions, fringe benefits, etc., which have grown in leaps and bounds.

COSTS GO UP

"If you increase employment costs too rapidly, it is easy to see why other costs go up with it. Employment costs underlie virtually all other costs. Costs push up the prices of products. That's why this is called 'cost-push' inflation."

He called attention to the rapid growth of giant labor unions and claimed that the "seemingly endless and irresistible wage-cost-price spiral of inflation" is wrought primarily through labor power.

"I see this spiral manifest in the affairs of U.S. Steel," he said. "Year after year, in peace and in war, in periods of good business and in periods of bad, the employment cost marches steadily upward and carries all other costs with it. "Surely a resourceful American people can find a way to check this institutionalized inflation and do it with justice to every one concerned."

Discussing the transition that has come about in the country, Tyson said he fears that the once self-reliant American people have come to rely blindly upon government to take care of everybody. "Is this what we really want in this country?" he asked.

Seeks to Delay Trial of Beck

Attorney Says Senate Report Lends Prejudice and Hostility

SEATTLE (AP)—Contending a recent Senate committee report provoked hostility and prejudice against Dave Beck Sr., the attorney for the former Teamsters Union president yesterday asked that Beck's federal income tax evasion trial be delayed six months.

Beck is scheduled to go on trial in Federal District Court in Tacoma May 5 on charges he evaded $254,000 in income taxes for the years 1951-53.

Beck's attorney Charles S. Burdell said prejudice against Beck had been stirred up by a Senate Rackets Committee report issued March 25 which said Beck had stolen at least $370,000 from the Teamsters Union.

Beck contends the money was a loan and has since been repaid.

In asking for the continuance, Burdell challenged the U.S. district attorney to back up the Senate committee report. Burdell said if the district attorney concurred in the committee statment, the government would have no tax case against Beck.

The federal courts have ruled, Burdell said, that embezzled money is not taxable.

Waterford High Girls to Sell Easter Eggs

By SANDY CLEMENCE

Members of the Waterford Township High School Girl's Athletic Association are spending part of their Easter vacation working to raise money for various school projects.

The girls will be on duty all day today selling colorfully designed Easter eggs in the township super markets. Sally Fawcett and Cathy Lobb are co-chairmen of this annual money-making project.

Yesterday, the annual Easter assembly was held. Principal speakers were: James S. Fry, principal; Lanny Younger, student council president; Paul O'Neill, principal of the junior high; and Jim Green, Linda McDowell, and Tom Hatfield, WTHS students.

Other portions of the assembly included selections by the A Cappella Choir and a film showing the high school and various activities.

PRESENT ONE ACT

A one-act play, "The Valiant," by Holsworthy Hall and Robert Middlemass, was also presented by the Speech II class. The cast included: Terry Walker, Sharon Del Montier, Bill McDonald, and Jim Fish.

Members of GAA Letter club attended the National Collegiate Athletic Association swimming meet at the University of Michigan Saturday.

Making the trip were: Laura Terry, Carol Ponn, Elaine Chapman, Judy Kent, Barb Martin, Carole Huff, Sue Springer, Linda Harrison, Carole Moore, Linnea Hedlund, Marcia Adair, and sponsors Barbara Frank, Patricia Vannorsdall, and Norma Feiler.

Elections of the senior class motto, song, flower, and colors were held in senior homerooms Tuesday.

Tentative plans are being made for a joint panel of the Future Social Workers clubs from Waterford, Pontiac Central, St. Frederick and St. Michael High Schools to discuss the accomplishments of the various clubs during the past year.

A special edition of the school paper, called "The Anchor Goes 'Mad'," was distributed Wednesday. It was a take-off on the popular "Mad Magazine."

Wednesday, three teams of students from Waterford Township High School put on an orientation program for ninth graders at Isaac E. Crary Junior High School. These teams talked to the social studies classes to inform them of the courses that are offered at the high school.

TELL WHAT'S WHAT

They discussed college prep, special courses and graduation requirements, general and business courses plus the student council, school activities, clubs, and sports.

WTHS students on the teams were: Don Tate, Dusty Smith, Brenda Lewis, Carole Wade, Gayle Coffey, Diane Golding, Carolyn Ball, Dave Gustafson, Tim Patterson, and Joyce McCullougl.

Others were: Coila Anderson, Julia Dovre, Bill Poffenberger, John Herrington, Lanny Younger, Lois Pearsall, Sharleen Peters, Larry Ettinger, and Sally Fawcett.

16 Junior High Wrestlers Prepare for Tournament

Eastern Junior High School's newest activity, wrestling, has really gained popularity since its beginning three weeks ago.

Already 16 boys in all three grades have participated in two matches, one with Lincoln and one with Madison junior high school students.

They are now preparing to compete in an all junior high school tournament April 12 at Pontiac Central High School. This will be the first year Eastern has participated in wrestling.

The boys gave demonstrations of headstand routine, forward roll, backroll extension, skip up, neck snaps, head snap, hand spring, flip, distance diving, dive roll, high dive, and three-man dive.

Since the season for tornados in Michigan is approaching, Easterners are making plans for a series of practice tornado drills. The plan for this type of drill is that the pupils march to the designated tornado safety station and remain seated there, away from windows, until the "all clear" signal is given.

The Easter season was observed at Eastern with a special assembly yesterday. The Rev. Paul Hart of First Methodist Church, was guest speaker. The choir sang "Let There Be Music" and James Pointer gave a reading, "The Legend of the Dogwood." Other hymns sung by the assembly were "Palm Branches" and "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today."

Dr. Russell Curtis, Coordinator of Secondary Education, sang a solo, "I Walk Today Where Jesus Walked."

AT WASHINGTON

As a prelude to the Easter vacation of today and Monday, the students at Washington Junior High School attended a musical assembly yesterday.

The secular portion of the program consisted of "April Showers," sung by the newly formed Girls Triple Trio and "Easter Parade," done by the Girls' Glee Club. The latter group also sang "The Green Cathedral" and "All Things Bright and Beautiful."

Fred Fink acted as narrator for the Ninth Grade Chorus which performed the following sacred numbers portraying the Crucifixion: "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," "Lovely Appear," "The Palms," "Fairest Lord Jesus," and "Were You There." Willie Jo Sain and Harold Reynolds were soloists for the last two numbers.

Student accompanist for the group was Deanna Relyea. Julia Hollyer and Gordon Wilder, music instructors, were in charge of the program.

AT MADISON

Members of the Madison Junior High School music department have really been busy during the past week. All vocal groups are preparing for the annual Spring Concert to be presented on April 23.

Yesterday, the Ninth Grade Chorus, under the direction of David Stimac and accompanied by William Coffing, presented an Easter Assembly.

The program, which was broadcast from the Little Theater, consisted of a number of appropriate songs and readings. The script was written by William Coffing. Speech students who participated in the program were Sharon Stickle, Clara Dawson, Penny Pritchard, and Winfred Miracle. They were directed by Patricia Clark, speech instructor.

Tuesday, Madison students and faculty assembled in the gym to watch a wrestling demonstration by the Pontiac Central High School Wrestling Team. The group is coached by Bill Willson.

Wednesday, the Bowling Club will hold a banquet and trophies will be awarded to the year's top bowlers.

Misses Osmun, Kline to Head Central's J-Hop

By WILLIAM BANK

Charlotte Osmun and Patricia Kline are the co-chairmen for the Pontiac Central High School J-Hop which will be held May 10.

Other committee chairmen elected this week to plan the dance sponsored by the junior class include Isabel Hawn and Patricia Watson, tickets; Carol Haire, publicity and programs; Vasiliki Sekles, music; Samuel Hartman, refreshments; Judy Thies, patrons; Barbara Paterson and Pauline Herron, decorations; and Bruce Bergstrom, post dance.

The Latin students have decided how they will distribute the funds raised by the sale of their Latin newspaper.

They will give $15 to the American Red Cross and Boys' Town (Nebraska), $46 to Starr Commonwealth, $33 to Girls' Town (Texas) and the Pontiac Soldiers War Memorial which they started in the Washington Cathedral. The group's donations to charities now total $3,600.

HOLD CONCERT DINNER

The Senior and Junior Girls' Ensembles gave an all religious dinner concert at the YWCA Tuesday. The Junior Girls sang "O Boni Jesu" and the "Crusaders Hymn" in which Sandra McDowell had a solo part.

The senior group sang "Bless the Lord, O My Soul," "God So Loved the World," and "Oh For the Wings of a Dove." Marilyn Vernon sang "Thanks Be to God" and Chrisanthy Annas was the piano accompanist.

The Vocal Music department presented an Easter assembly Wednesday. "Meditation" from the score of Gunfare and "May Thy Blessed Spirit" were sung by the Boys' Glee Club. The Junior Girls' Ensemble sang "O Boni Jesu" and the Selective Girls' Glee Club sang "God So Loved the World." The Senior Girls' selection was "Oh For the Wings of a Dove."

Peter Cox sang "Were You There" and Vickie Whitecar ended the assembly on a highly religious note by singing "The Lord's Prayer."

The staff of the Student Union has been increased by seven. These new members are Sue Clark, William Kath, Richard Jackson, Charlotte Osmun, Barbara Strang, Judy Castell, and Shelby Murphy.

The Hi-Y and Y-Teen Clubs are planning a combined hay-ride and dance for April 19. The dance, which follows the hayride, will be held in the YMCA.

Clarkston Clubs Give to Needy

Future Teachers, Hi-Y Members to Present 262 Easter Baskets

This weekend will be a more pleasant one for the children living in the Oakland County Children's Center.

Members of the Clarkston High School Future Teachers and Hi-Y Clubs will present them with 262 Easter baskets they have prepared.

Mary Inman and Paul Bennett received the senior high school trophies Saturday for their entries in the Clarkston Science Fair. John Gettel was presented with the elementary school trophy.

Medals for superior work in science in the junior high division were given to Joan Payne, Nancy Walker and Tom Wells. Ronald Fusilier, John Allen and Tom Kno received medals in the elementary department.

Bill Jacobs received a special award in mechanical drawing. Superior ribbons were awarded Sharon Collick, Lucy Oakley, Jody Wilford, Larry Morgan, Betsy Osgood, Judy Ellibee, Pat Anthony and Shanna Stewart. Several of the superior projects will be entered in the State Science Fair at Hillsdale College.

Michael Biallas Wins MSU Scholarship

By MICHAEL BUCHANAN

St. Michael High School senior Michael Biallas has won the Alumni Distinguished Scholarship Award to Michigan State University.

The scholarship entitles Michael to $1,000 per year for four years if he maintains the university's specified grade point average.

Those students who received all A's on their report cards which were distributed this week include: Ronald Andrews, Michael Biallas and Mary Ann Johnson, all seniors;; Ruth Kovacik and Jane Rindfusz, juniors; and Marilyn Biallas, sophomore.

Classes ended Wednesday noon this week for the beginning of Easter vacation. Students will return to school April 14.

Milford Club Keeps Busy

"Besides being a very active organization at Milford High School, the Future Nurses Club is a definite asset to the entire community," according to Mrs. Elda LaVoy, sponsor and biology teacher.

There are two boys among the membership of 22 which meet twice a week and each donates three hours of work weekly to some activity outside of the school.

Major institutions benefiting from these future nurses are the convalescent homes in the area. They assist doctors and registered nurses in serving food, making beds, and many other duties.

The first aid room in the new $2,000,000 high school is operated by the club. Future nurses are on duty during all study periods and records are kept on all pupils who become ill.

"If a pupil goes to the first aid room too many times because of illness, he is reported to the principal and the seriousness of his case is brought to the attention of his parents for further medical attention," Mrs. LaVoy said.

Club members were in charge of the recent polio drive conducted in the Milford area and this year's project proved to be one of the most successful, she added.

They have just finished assisting the Oakland County Tuberculosis Association with the diagnostic and X-ray work in the area. The filing of each report plus directing individuals in X-ray procedure proved very beneficial, she concluded.

During a recent fluoride treatment program in the elementary schools, Dr. Robert J. Lawrence was assisted by the group who "did a magnificent job," he said.

15 Emmanuel Christian Pupils Receive Letters

Nine basketball players and six cheerleaders each received a school letter at an assembly at Emmanuel Christian High School this week.

The athletes include: Charles Marion, Ted Wickman, Harvey Keith, Clarence Groner, Bill Pittman, Jim Pittman, Phil Wood, Howard Bolin and Bob Knisley.

Glenda Locke, Carolyn Ludwig, Lillie Wilson, Pat Morris, Joy Malone and Judy Jones were the cheerleaders who received the awards.

Disc Data and Chatter

Music in the Round

by Dick Saunders

The battle to be the most popular of pop records produced a shuffling of current favorites this week, and "Lollipop" finally got licked.

Sitting on the sideline, waiting for her chance, Laurie London walked into the melee and came up with a touchdown on the first play with "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands."

All I can say is "Wow," and "Mahalia sings it better!"

Local record shops list "Twilight Time" by The Platters, as second in sales this week, and this number looks like a "rrrreeely big wun" (as a certain TVMC would put it).

In third are the Chordettes with "Lollipop." Fourth place is solidly nailed down by Ricky Nelson with his coupling of "My Bucket's Got a Hole in It" and "Believe What You Say."

Fifth is Huey Smith and "Don't You Just Know It" which is obviously vying for "Worst Record of the Year" honors.

MAD BULL DEPT.: Coming on like one are "Chanson D'Amour" by Art and Dotty Todd; "Return to Me" by Dean Martin; "Crazy Love" by Paul Anka; and "Witch Doctor" by David Seville.

POP ALBUMS: Selling in the Pontiac area are "Warm" (Columbia CL-1078) by Johnny Mathis; "Come Fly With Me" (Capitol W-920) by Sinatra (a mixed up LP, not his best); "I Remember Buddy" (Columbia CL-1114) by Jerry Valé; and "After Hours" (King 395528) an Earl Bostic bouncer.

THE JAZZ NEST: If you like on-the-spot concert recordings, you'll go for "Just Jazz" (Decca DE-9055). This is the third in a series of "Just Jazz" LP's.

If you are in a contemporary vein, it will be a well received item. Don't let the cover fool you if you like Lionel Hampton. He's only on one cut (sad, but true).

PLAN YOUR GARDEN — Mrs. John Rundell, 4700 N. Rochester Rd., Rochester, the horticulture chairman of the Rochester Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Assoc., Inc., first makes a mental plan of her proposed garden and then puts it down on paper to see if it's workable. She uses a scale of one half inch to each foot of the garden.

Area Gardener Tells How, Why

Sees Beautiful Picture With Flowers, Shrubs on Any Plot Size

By MRS. JOHN RUNDELL

Rochester Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Assn., Inc.

(This is the third in a series of articles by a member of one of the 27 branches of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Assn., Inc., throughout the area which will be printed on the farm and garden pages this year.)

Many people have hoped to do some landscape painting, and thus capture some of the beautiful scenery which nature's artistry provides. For various reasons, they never reached their goal.

It is possible for any person with a plot of ground, be it large or small, to create a beautiful picture with the use of flowers and shrubs. Simply develop a wide border of perennials, one of the garden's most attractive features.

There are many things to be considered in making this garden picture. First, select a location with a good background and thus save yourself time and effort in planting one. This background may be a wall, fence or a border of shrubs and evergreens. Follow this by taking measures to put the soil in the best possible condition, as this is to be a long-range project.

Now you are ready for a planting plan drawn on paper. A scale of one half inch to the foot should be workable. Compile a list of the bulbs, plants and shrubs to be used.

PLANT TALLEST FIRST

In placing the material it is well to begin by using the taller growing varieties in the background with plenty of space for development. Follow with the medium tall plants and finally the low growing materials in the foreground. Place them all according to the time of bloom.

Here is a list of plants which can be used in a border: early dwarf iris, Virginia bluebells, spring flowering bulbs, coral bells, pentstemon, scarlet bee-balm, anchusa, hardy asters, roses, clematis, sweet scented lavender hidcote blue, blue globe thistle and hemerocallis.

Lilies are greatly prized for the perennial border. The madonna must have a shallow planting to insure bloom; the regal is a must because of its beauty and fragrance and is easily grown from seed; the rubrum bloom in late summer.

One learns with experience the many combinations which go together. We have one combination of pink climbing rose, delphiniums and the madonna lilies.

In another part of the garden, the old fashioned bleeding heart, cherished for its sturdiness as well as beauty and the single pink peony and primrose are delightful together. The bleeding heart has been handed down in the family for four generations.

Blooming at the same time in early June are: the single pink peony, the tall bearded iris with the Siberian iris in white and deep purple; hardy alyssum (basket of gold), sweet rocket, shasta daisies, lemon lilies and double buttercups. Red oriental poppies can be used for accent.

REPETITION DESIRED

Repetition is extremely desirable in this plant. Because of variation in height and time of bloom it is advisable to use the same type of plant at several points throughout the border. Phlox is good for this purpose. It may be moved even when in full bloom. Seeds should not be allowed to form as they reduce the amount of bloom.

Special plants should be used in wet, dry, sunny or shady locations. Plants which do well in the shade include: keeria for the background, nicotiana, day lilies, balsam, impatiens, tuberous begonias, aquilegia and lobelia.

The border can remain gay in the fall by using masses of mums, zinnias, marigolds, calendulas, and alyssum.

One last suggestion . . . when your Easter lily has faded, plant it in the border where its feet will be shaded. You may be rewarded with bloom in the fall.

When the ground freezes cover it with mulch for winter protection.

Landscape Gradually

Don't try to completely landscape a new home in one year. In the first year concentrate on developing a good stand of grass and tree planting. If you are planning a terrace surfaced with colorful and permanent quarry tile, it is best to have it laid before extensive plantings of shrubs. Unless you are eager for plenty of outdoor work, don't plan intricate landscaping—it's not the installation, but the upkeep.

Although Science Cuts Work Gardens Aren't Automatic

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeature Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. — Each year, in this magic world of science, we're introduced to new gardening miracles. Each year there are more fertilizers, insecticides, herbicides, improved varieties of plants, more gadgets.

And each year we gardeners feel a little closer to that state in which all flowers and vegetables grow perfect, tall straight and unblemished and we work just a little and spend happy hours sitting back and surveying the beauty we have created.

Alas, we're still a long way from the instant, automatic garden. Fertilizer must still be spread, lawns must still be mowed, hedges clipped, weeds dug, mulches put on, taken off, dug in.

However, improvements and mechanical aids have made it possible for us to do more gardening than one person could in the old days. Fortunately the improvements have come along to help us while the old fashioned gardener has been disappearing from the scene.

Now that spring has officially arrived, there are still a lot of the basic chores to be accomplished. It is just about time, in many areas, to sow peas—sweet and eating.

Beforehanded gardeners dug their sweet pea trenches last fall, and it is now just a matter of putting in the seed and setting up either brush or a trellis for the vines to climb during the warming weeks and months ahead.

It is time too, to sow those hardier seeds—larkspur, spinach, California poppy, ageratum, calendula, portulaca, for a few — to get a head start on the season.

TRANSPLANTING TIME

It is time to make the first transplantings so the young plants will have growing room. My favorite potting soil consists of two parts sifted garden soil, one part sifted compost, one part light sand or peat moss, laid down carefully in a box with a bottom layer for drainage.

The trick is to have the soil of the seeding box thoroughly moist and to use a cleft stick (a wooden popcicle stick, with a V cut in the end does nicely, aided by a paring knife) to dig the plant and all its delicate root system, and move it with as little disturbance as possible. Water thoroughly, and cover for a day or so to give the plant a chance to recover.

Other seeds, on the hardy side, may be sown in the cold frame.

Something new for spring — a shrub, a tree or even digging up a new flower bed — does something for the gardener's soul similar to what a new hat does for every woman.

Six Transplanting Rules

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
County Horticulture Agent

How often have you suddenly realized, "If only I had put that shrub on the other side of the house" or, a friend has remarked, "I've got an extra one of these bushes if you would like to have it?"

All too often this challenge is avoided because you just "aren't lucky" with plants, or you don't know how to do it. If you know certain fundamentals it becomes a question of experience and skill. These are the fundamentals:

1. Transplant when dormant.
2. Never "bare-root" transplant unless forced to.
3. Root prune the previous summer if possible.
4. Severely prune after transplanting to remove 1-3 to ½ of branches.
5. Do not put fertilizer in bottom of pit.
6. Always mulch a new planting.

Transplanting when dormant is so common a rule it rarely is violated. Whenever new shoots begin to appear or blossom buds have begun to develop, our chances are often very poor. This new growth is very succulent and quickly wilts and dies when roots are cut. Many times most of the strength goes into the new growth leaving little reserve food for new root growth.

Either late fall or early spring plantings have very good survival. Occasionally deep freezing injures fall plantings, but mulching and heavy watering in the fall will prevent much of this.

Bare root transplanting certainly is tempting, particularly when nurseries commonly practice it. An outstanding difference is that the nursery plant usually has only a single branch. Often our home grown plant has many branches. Usually nursery grown plants have been root pruned to develop a thick fibrous root system. Home grown plants usually have two to three long top roots with few fibrous roots.

USE SOIL BALL

Whenever a soil ball is possible, it always will improve the chances of survival. If the soil ball can be kept compact by wrapping it with burlap, this too, improves survival. Whenever burlap has been used, it is not necessary to remove it to transplant your plant. This burlap quickly rots and new roots easily pass through it.

Root pruning the previous summer has proven extremely beneficial. A long spade or shovel is used to cut the larger roots. When done in June, this causes many small fibrous roots to develop close to the crown. When the plant is lifted the following fall, or spring, all of these new fibrous roots quickly aid re-establishment.

Severe pruning after transplanting is an attempt to balance the top to the roots. Very often as much as one-half of the roots are left behind. This means the surviving roots must work twice as hard to maintain the large top.

If tops are pruned by cutting off the tips of branches, this does not effectively reduce the top by one-third and often ruins the basic shape of the plant. It is much better to thin out the branches by removing whole branches, yet preserve the original shape. If the plant survives, new growth will quickly thicken out the plant.

Fertilizing is always a useful practice in transplanting. The primary aim is encouraging new root growth. Putting fertilizer, manure, or compost or a combination of these in the bottom of the pit seems an ideal location for young developing roots. Yet sometimes these new roots are killed because of too much fertilization.

When the fertilizer or manure is placed on top of the soil beneath the branches, rains and watering gradually wash this fertilizer down to the young roots. This provides a continuous yet modest supply throughout the growing season.

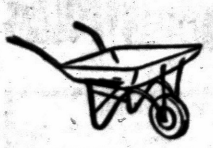

A 10-10-10 fertilizer, applied at the rate of one tablespoon per 12 inches of diameter or heighth (whichever is greater), at transplanting time will be beneficial.

Pentagon Plan In for Trouble?

Ike's Proposal Stands Fine Chance of Being Smashed by Congress

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's plan to streamline the armed forces stands a fine chance of being smashed on the rocks of Congress. He outlined it yesterday in a special message.

It avoids the extreme of creating a single, top military commander. But it would enormously increase the power of Defense Secretary McElroy, giving him more authority than any secretary ever had.

It would make better over-all military planning possible. But it's no cure-all. It does'nt seem to be the kind that could put a final stop to the notorious Army-Navy-Air Force rivalry for money, size, weapons and missions.

The plan would leave the Army, Navy and Air Force intact. But Eisenhower talked of "unified commands" that might have the effect of merging the three services to a far greater degree than appears in the message.

Just how far Eisenhower would go in "unified commands" isn't clear. Neither is the plan as a whole. It won't be spelled out in detail for 10 days or so, when McElroy sends Congress exact language for changing existing laws.

Briefly, this is the present setup and how Eisenhower would change it:

He made it clear he's fed up on the way the three services try to get what they want — through their individual publicity campaigns and the lobbying in Congress by the military brass. He'd curb the publicity.

And to put the lobbying under some kind of leash Eisenhower suggested a civilian be put in charge of dealings with Congress. Whether even that could stop the military lobbying would have to be proved.

The secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force — although they serve under McElroy and have lost much of their authority in recent years — still have a big fistful of power.

Eisenhower would reduce them pretty much to the role of caretakers while increasig nMcElroy's authority over them and the armed forces as a whole.

Jewelry, Gowns Posted as Bond by Judy Garland

NEW YORK (AP) — Judy Garland has turned over valuable jewelry and theatrical gowns in lieu of $10,000 bond guaranteeing her appearance in court Monday to clear up a claim for back state income taxes.

New York State claims Miss Garland owes $8,673 in taxes dating back to 1952.

A warrant was issued Wednesday for the singer's arrest to insure her appearance yesterday in State Supreme Court, Jamaica Queens. Through her lawyer, Miss Garland promised to appear voluntarily, but the state took no chances. She was picked up by an undersheriff at her Manhattan hotel and brought before Justice William B. Groat.

Agents of the State Tax Commission, after a private session, told Justice Groat further conferences were required and asked that Miss Garland be placed under $10,000 bond to insure her return.

Her lawyer Maurice Greenbaum said the actress didn't have the money and could not raise it. The agents informed the court that Miss Garland had in her hotel room an $18,000 diamond bracelet, other jewelry, and several thousand dollars worth of theatrical costumes.

It was agreed that the jewels and gowns be turned over to authorities as a guarantee against Miss Garland's leaving the state.

Her 'Dead' Father Answers Telephone

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—"When I heard his voice, I could only think—'Someone's dead . . . but who is it, me or him?'"

Sgt. Jacqueline Walker told of a long-distance telephone call she made from Phiadelphia to advise her family she was en route home from Germany for her father's funeral.

Her father, the Rev. W. E. Walker, answered the telephone.

The sergeant said she was called by phone Monday at her Wiesbaden station: "A girl said I had a telegram. . . . She started reading 'Dad passed away March 30th. . . .'"

An emergency leave was arranged and the sergeant arrived by plane in this country Wednesday.

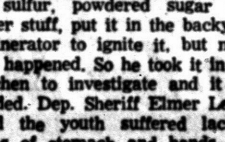

When she called her home at Henning, Tenn., she heard her father say, "Go ahead and put her on."

Sugar Rocket Explodes

SALT LAKE CITY —Fifteen-year-old Robert Henderson last night made himself a rocket out of sulfur, powdered sugar and other stuff, put it in the backyard incinerator to ignite it, but nothing happened. So he took it in the kitchen to investigate and it exploded. Dep. Sheriff Elmer Leake said the youth suffered lacerations of stomach and hands and was placed under the care of the family doctor.

Hollywood Headlines

Feldman Near Closing '2 for the Seesaw' Deal

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—From New York I hear that Charlie Feldman's deal to buy the motion picture rights to "Two for the Seesaw" is about to be closed.

Of course, the picture couldn't possibly be made until 1960 because the play on Broadway is a smash hit.

As I understand it, Charlie wants Bill Holden for the picture and he hopes to get Anne Bancroft, who is in the stage play.

According to my New York source negotiations were made directly with Arthur Penn who staged the play which has only two people, Miss Bancroft and Henry Fonda.

Penn would direct it if the deal goes through, which it looks now as if it will any edition.

Rosalind Russell was offered the world with a fence around it to do a two-hour spectacular of her stage play "Wonderful Town" for CBS.

"I accepted," Roz said, "because my motion picture 'Auntie Mame' opens at the Music Hall Dec. 15, and 'Wonderful Town' is booked for Nov. 27. We have five weeks of rehearsal and I have to get into my singing and dancing act again."

"Freddie will be in New York with his plays and my son is there in school, so that's another reason I acctpted," said the busy Roz. Many of Roz's original Broadway cast are being corralled for the show.

Two stars are born in "The Proud Rebel." Samuel Goldwyn Jr., whom I have know since he arrived in this world, emerges as a top-flight producer — and Alan Ladd's son, David, is the most appealing young actor I have seen since Richard Barthelmess made history in "Tol'able David."

"Proud Rebel" is a story of the love between a father and son, and it's been many a day since Alan has been cast with such warmth and appeal.

Olivia de Havilland, as the farm woman who comes to the rescue of the proud confederate (Alan) and his boy, is Livvy at her sympathetic best — and that's plenty good.

Frankly, I love this picture with it's simple, direct drama (minus "message" or arty effects, thank heavens) — even old meanie Dean Jagger, the villain of young Goldwyn's, is so good.

Potter Heads Home for Speaking Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Potter (R-Mich), not officially a candidate but running hard for re-election, left today for a week of speechmaking in Michigan.

Potter will open the intensive pre-campaign activity in friendly territory, his home town of Cheboygan, Mich., and wind up in the not so friendly confines of a United Auto Workers local.

Potter has been running for re-election for more than a year although the official announcement of his candidacy isn't expected to be made during the 10-day Congressional Easter recess that starts today.

After spending the Easter weekend with his family in Cheboygan, Potter will embark on a swift tour of the state that will take him into all of Michigan's 18 Congressional districts.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Bill Veeck, the man who has been often criticized for taking the dignity out of baseball, visited Pontiac yesterday as luncheon guest of the Optimists.

The former Cleveland boss, who set all sorts of turnstile records at the huge Lakefront Municipal Stadium with his promotions, gimmicks and give-aways, has another side to his personality of jokes and laughs.

Veeck can be serious. He never ridiculed the dignity which belongs to the nature of baseball. He has had too much respect for many individuals in the sport to break up the nine innings into a three act circus.

BILL VEECK

Veeck has been known to surround the game with an atmosphere of comedy and color, catering to baseball's fandom, something that many owners and clubs have come to neglect.

"A few laughs never hurt anyone and millions of fans loved it enough to come back for more," said Veeck. "We did nothing to change the game itself, I have too much respect for baseball."

Veeck admitted he is not happy out of baseball. "Guys like Leo Durocher and myself aren't happy out of baseball, we'll come back," he said.

'I'm just like a vulture, just waiting to get my hands on some club," he admitted.

Veeck was not too long ago one of the strong bidders for the Detroit Tiger organization. "Would you have run the organization differently," he was asked? Without explanation Veeck said, "I probably would."

While with the old St. Louis Browns, Veeck related how he goofed the opportunity to get Al Kaline while the Tiger star was still playing in Baltimore prep circles.

"We were making our plans to move the Browns' franchise to Baltimore and we told one of the prominent officials in that city to deliver Kaline to us. It was a natural attraction for Baltimore.

"Just before moving however we got another look at Kaline in one high school game and we dropped the amount of the offer because he didn't look too good."

"I must say that was a sad mistake," he added. "I sure was wrong there."

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Our wishful thinking about catcher Charley Lau didn't last too long. Before the ink was dry yesterday, Lau was shipped to Charleston on 24-hour recall. Still we can't go along with the thought that Tim Thompson could help the Tigers more than Lau, and the Romulus native is eight years younger.

Venturi Fires Blistering 68 for Masters Lead

Chick Harbert and 3 Others Locked at 69

Fleck Holds 4th Place With 71 as Tournament Enters 2nd Day

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The scene was the same but the principal actor was different today as the world's greatest golfers swung into the second round of the Masters Tournament.

Ken Venturi, it seems, definitely has come of golfing age.

"How does it feel to be leading the first round?" the lean, good-looking San Francisco youngster was asked after he had posted a four-under-par 68 for a one-stroke edge.

"The lead means nothing now," Venturi replied coldly. "There are 54-holes to play."

Two years ago, Venturi, then a damp-eared amateur of 24, shot a 66 to lead the first round of the tournament no amateur ever has won. He led the second day and the third. Then he skied to a harrowing last round 80 and pro Jack Burke Jr. sneaked through to the championship.

Sixteen players are bracketed within three shots of him—the greatest array ever to break par on a single day in the Masters. The sprawling 6,980-yard Augusta National Course, which has defied the best, plays a par of 36-36—72.

Four men are tied at 69. They are Norman Von Nida, the little bespectacled pro from Sydney, Australia; Jimmy Demaret, three-time winner of this title; bull-shouldered Chick Harbert, former PGA champion from Northville, Mich., and Bo Wininger of Odessa,, Tex., one of the last to be invited to compete.

Another stroke back at 70 was the formidable trio of Cary Middlecoff, ex-Masters champion and twice National Open king; Arnold Palmer, a young Latrobe, Pa., pro, and 45-year-old Flory Van Donck, debonair Belgian who has been winning European titles for years.

The 71 bracket includes an amateur who is playing excellent golf, Bill Hyndman III of Abington, Pa.; Jack Fleck of Rochester, Mich., who beat Ben Hogan in the 1955 National Open; ex-champions Byron Nelson and Claude Harmon; current PGA champion Lionel Herbert; Roberto de Vicenzo, the former Argentine now playing for Mexico and touring pros Fred Hawkins, Billy Maxwell and Art Wall Jr.

Hogan and Sam Snead were in a cluster of 14 tied at even par 72. Doug Ford, the defending champion, was well back at 74.

The tournament field will be cut to the low 40 and ties at the end of today's round. There were 41 players at 73 or under starting the second day. The tourney ends Sunday.

Middlecoff Discusses Slammer's Round

Ailing Hand Bothers Snead

By CARY MIDDLECOFF
(Special to The Pontiac Press)

AUGUSTA NATIONAL GOLF CLUB, April 3—My playing partner Sam Snead had a fine round going here at the Masters Thursday until he reached the top of his backswing for his tee-shot on the par-three No. 16. At that point something popped in his hand and he flinched. What followed was no doubt one of the worst looking iron shots Sam ever hit.

Sam hit two more horrible looking tee shots on No. 17 and No. 18, but sandwiched in between those two was as fine a golf shot as I ever saw, and one that only Sam Snead could make.

He duck-hooked his drive on No. 17 and wound up in a sand trap over near No. 7 green. With a five-iron, he picked the ball out of the sand so cleanly that he hardly disturbed a grain. The ball streaked 175 yards or so and wound up on the green.

The hurt hand just shows how things can pop up from nowhere and spoil a round of golf. Ours is a goofy game.

My only round of 70 included the remarkable feat of hitting the green in two on all four of the Augusta National's par-five holes. Thus I two-putted for all four of my birdies of the day.

The two bogies, at the 10th and 17th, were both brought on by mental lapses. On the 10th I underclubbed myself on the second shot, and on the second shot on the 17th I tried to "wish" the ball up on the green instead of hitting it up there.

It appears that young Ken Venturi is as hot as the pre-tournament locker room chatter made him out to be. His is a wonderful golf swing and it's a cinch he'll be very hard to beat here this week.

Jimmy Demaret continues to make a joke of everything—particularly time. That 69 he turned in is pretty close to his age. He will be mighty tough to beat here, too.

JOB WELL DONE — Jack Burke Jr., (left) who played the first round with Ken Venturi, congratulates his partner for firing the 68 in the Masters Tournament to take an early lead. Burke carded a 74 yesterday. Venturi, from San Francisco, was picked as a favorite in the tournament.

Judge Is a Giant Fan, but Must Do His Duty

NEW YORK (INS) — New York State Supreme Court Justice Harry B. Frank, admittedly a Giant fan, has dismissed a suit aimed at stopping the National League team from moving to San Francisco.

The suit was brought by attorney Julius November, who holds 20 shares of Giant stock and who claimed that the team's board of directors voted to make the franchise shift without consulting the stockholders.

But justice Frank dismissed the suit on the ground that November had failed to make out a legal case.

In a 12-page opinion, justice Frank wrote in part:

"This case, in truth, has been a most difficult one for the court to resolve, for beneath the judical robes beats the heart of a Giant fan.

"As the spring breezes bring closer opening day of the great American pastime, nostalgic memories spring sharply into focus — from the far past the unsurpassed exploits of 'iron man' McGinnity, Roger Bresnahan, Christy Mathewson, 'Chief' Meyers and Rogers Hornsby, and closer to our own times, the glory of ten pennants under the great John 'Muggsy' McGraw, the inimitable screwball of Carl Hubbell, the affable Mel Ott, the less than speedy Ernie Lombardi, the irrepressible Willie Mays and the drama of Bobby Thomson's winning home run in the 1951 playoffs against the 'Bums,' to carry on the tradition . . .

"The court readily admits that its sympathies lie wholly with that 'dyed-in-the-wool' giant fan who is the plaintiff, and fully understands the emotional upset experienced by him.

"And so it is with heaviness of heart that the court, as distinguished from the fan, must find that plaintiff's contentions, while sentimentally 'four-baggers,' are legally 'outs.'

Rigney Still Has Trade Thoughts

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Manager Bill Rigney says the San Francisco Giants still aren't through angling for deals to improve the club before the April 15 start of the National League campaign.

"I have a couple of ideas," he said shortly after the club announced that veteran right handed outfielder Bobby Thomson had been traded to the Chicago Cubs for left handed hitting Bob Speake.

Rigney didn't divulge what those ideas might be except to say additional pitching strength might be among them.

Valdes Split Winner

DENVER (INS) — Nationally-ranked heavyweight Nino Valdes won a split decision over Wayne Bethea last night in a listless 10-round bout at Denver.

Penalty Record Set in 6-1 Contest

Bruins Need 1 More Win

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins Coach Milt Schmidt still was trying to pinpoint today the reason his Bruins are either "awfully hot or awfully cold."

"It's a feast or a famine for us," Schmidt said last night after the Bruins belted New York 6-1 to move within a game of clinching their best-of-seven Stanley Cup hockey semifinal series.

"I can't put my finger on it — and I've been trying all winter," Schmidt added. "It's great when things go this way, but it's a nightmare when we're cold."

The Boston coach said that the deciding factors in Boston's easy fifth game triumph were "the puck bouncing for us and our hustle."

"We outhustled them from the opening face-off and kept on the pressure even when we had them beaten," he said.

New York Coach Phil Watson apparently agreed with Schmidt that the Rangers were outhustled. Watson continued his feud with Boston writers, but talked with New York newsmen.

"The Bruins must be hungrier than we are," Watson said. "They are hungrier and that's the reason they beat us. Apparently, we're satisfied and don't want that $1,250 that goes with getting into the finals."

The Boston players were all smiles but were looking ahead to Saturday night's game. The Bruins must win one of the next two while the Rangers are faced with the task of taking two straight on Boston ice.

The Boston-New York series already has gone into the record books as the most penalty-filled in Major League history.

The number of penalties in the series soared to 67 last night.

The previous high total of penalties in a single playoff series was 61 set by Boston and Toronto in 1951.

Study Area Olympic Plan

LANSING (AP)—The Senate today sent to a study committee a resolution aimed at encouraging the bid of Detroit for the 1964 Olympic games.

Sponsors had suggested that the games could be held at the State Fair Grounds in Detroit and wanted more definite action. They also wanted a definite commitment from the state, declaring that a site and a stadium would be available.

The Legislators balked, however, at earmarking any funds, commended the group for their efforts on behalf of the state of Michigan and tucked the entire matter away for study.

Basilio Will Leave Hospital Bed Today

CHICAGO (AP) — Carmen Basilio, looking like himself again, today was to leave the hospital after being treated nine days for an eye injury.

Basilio's left eye became a swollen, discolored bulge when Sugar Ray Robinson dethroned him as middleweight champion in their bristling 15-round battle in Chicago Stadium March 25.

Dr. Richard Perritt, eye specialist, said Basilio's eye had made excellent recovery and the former champion could fight again when he chooses.

YOU'RE THE MANAGER

(Twentieth of a series)

By BEN OLAN

Frank Thomas is one of the hardest-working and most versatile players in the National League. The Pittsburgh star is also among the circuit's leading sluggers. Last season he batted .260 and hit 23 homers. A former outfielder, he played at first and third base.

Thomas had a key role in the following situation that led to a Pirates' victory. If you were the Pittsburgh manager, what would you have done? Here's a chance to see how good a baseball strategist you are.

It's the last of the 10th at Pittsburgh. Cincinnati and the Pirates are tied 3-3 with Tom Acker (R) on the mound for the Redlegs. Dee Fondy starts off the inning by drawing a base on balls. Frank Thomas (R) is the next batter with Bill Virdon (L), Gene Freese (R) and Bill Mazeroski (R) to follow.

Would you:

a. Have Fondy try to steal second?

b. Order Thomas to sacrifice?

FRANK THOMAS

c. Let Thomas swing away?

d. Try a hit-and-run with Thomas at bat?

(Other data: Thomas has two hits in three tries in the game; Virdon is 0-for-4 and Freese 1-for-4 in the game; Fondy has six steals in 48 games.)

Result: B — Thomas sacrifices and it pays off. Virdon is walked intentionally and Freese hits Acker's first pitch for a single to left scoring Fondy. Pittsburgh wins 4-3 (June 13).

Birds' 25 Hits Stop Tribe Twice

Dodger Homers Trip Braves

The Associated Press

The good-pitch, good-field Baltimore Orioles finally have come around to peltin' the ball, the one item that checked their surprising surge at .500 and fifth place last season in the American League.

After losing four in a row on the exhibition trail, the Orioles busted out with 25 hits yesterday and swept a doubleheader from the Cleveland Indians 10-5 and 11-10. They managed to score only 10 runs in the losing string.

What they needed, it turned out, was a crack at ex-Oriole Don Ferrarese, the young lefthander swapped to the Indians this week.

Ferrarese was through in two innings of the opener, leaving with an 8-1 deficit. Jack Harshman, the lefty the Orioles got from the Chicago White Sox last winter, worked five innings in the seven-inning opener and drove in four runs with three singles while giving up two of the Tribe runs.

Brooks Robinson belted his third homer of the spring for the Birds while Joe Ginsberg and Foster Castleman hit their first in the twin bill. Rocky Colavito rapped a pair for the Indians, who blew a 6-4 lead in the nightcap.

The Los Angeles Dodgers made the most of one of their infrequent looks at southpaw Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves in a 5-3 decision over the world champs. Charlie Neal hit two homers and rookie Dick Gray one for the Dodgers, who built a 4-2 lead against Warren the Wonder. Del Rice and Eddie Mathews homered for the Braves, but Clem Labine was steady in relief to save it for Fred Kipp.

A walk, Nellie Fox's single and Ted Beard's ground ball broke a 3-all tie for the Chicago White Sox in the seventh for a 4-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. The White Sox picked up six of their nine walks from starter Sam Jones and also had the help of an error by Stan Musial.

Starter Early Wynn went seven for the victory, although it took a good peg by right fielder Jim Rivera to cut down the potential tying run at third in the ninth inning.

Pittsburgh blew a 5-2 lead, then came from behind on Jim Pendleton's three-run homer off Arnie Portocarrero in the seventh for a 9-7 victory over Kansas City. Washington tagged southpaw Harvey Haddix for three runs in the first four frames, but had to settle for a 3-3, rain-called tie after 12 innings against Cincinnati. Rookie Vada Pinson and Alex Grammas each had three of the Reds' 10 hits, while Jim Lemon homered for the Senators.

Ernie Banks and Dale Long homered for the Chicago Cubs and drove in seven runs between them in a 10-5 victory over San Francisco. Bobby Thomson, swapped for the Cubs' Bob Speake yesterday had two singles in three trips, while Speake grounded out and walked for the Giants.

Age Doesn't Stop Longden

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Johnny Longden, the 47-year-old Grandpappy who says, I'll keep riding as long as I feel good and maybe I'll win 6,000," is still piling up victories and adding to his stature as the winningest jockey of all time.

The still sprightly 4-11½, 112 pounder rode two more winners yesterday at Golden Gate Fields. He was up on True Poise in the second race ($4.50) and then guided Solid Rae from last place in a field of six fillies and mares to a neck victory over Matkea in the $4,000 feature.

Only eight months ago, Longden suffered a broken right leg and some experts said that he would never ride again. The injury sidelined him for five months.

But the gritty competitor came back and has had more than 100 winners since then to move past the 5,100 mark.

Former Mates Rib Woodling About Trade

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Gene Woodling, former Cleveland and New York outfielder before returning to the Baltimore fold this week, took a long distance ribbing from former Yankee teammates.

Four of them at the New York training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla., sent this telegram to him yesterday:

Dear Gene, would like to know value of your livestock and farm. Have wonderful farm in Baltimore would trade. (Larry) Doby interested in your apartment in Cleveland. Will contact you again later."

It was signed by Sal Maglie, Hank Bauer, Ralph Houk and Mickey Mantle.

Woodling has a 76-acre dairy farm at Medina, Ohio, with 30 head of cattle and nine calves.

McHale Looking for New Faces

Detroit's GM Hopes to Swing Another Deal

Trade Talks Conducted With Phillies, Indians at Lakeland Camp

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Detroit Tiger Gen. Mgr. Johnny McHale hasn't given up yet on his all-out campaign to bring the Tigers north with a new look for 1958.

McHale wound up his activities with more trade talks here yesterday after rain had washed out a scheduled game between the Tigers and Philadelphia.

He first met with Roy Hamey, general manager of the Phillies and Mayo Smith, Philadelphia manager. Also in conference with McHale was Frank Lane, Cleveland general manager.

Lane advised McHale he would like to make another swap with the Tigers. Detroit and Cleveland have completed two trades.

Just what Hamey and Lane had in mind wasn't disclosed. However, both Cleveland and Philadelphia are in need of a first baseman. And that caused speculation they were eying Ray Boone, the Tigers' 34-year-old slugging star.

In addition to his conferences, McHale sent four players back to the Minors and welcomed two to the club roster.

McHale has given the Tigers a shakeup they haven't had in years. He still wants another righthanded pitcher.

His latest player shuffle sent pitchers Harry Byrd, Chuck Daniel and Don Lee and catcher Charley Lau back to the Minors.

The move left just 12 players around who were on the roster when spring training opened in 1957. They are the core of the team McHale and manager Jack Tighe expect to challenge the New York Yankees for the pennant.

In the group are pitchers Paul Foytack, Jim Bunning, Billy Hoeft, Frank Lary and Joe Presko, infielders Reno Bertoia, Frank Bolling and Boone, outfielders Al Kaline, Charley Maxwell and Harvey Kuenn and catcher Bob Wilson.

Among the other 17 Tigers in camp this year, three were picked up during 1957, one is up from a farm club, and 13 are brand new faces for 1958.

McHale says he has no objections to adding a few more new faces to the Tigers' 1958 roster if the right deal can be made.

Over 100 boys 9 through 12 years of age reported for the first session of the clinic. Age group 13 through 18 will meet Saturday afternoon at 1 p. m.

Father-Son Banquet Monday

Boys' Club Sets Sports Program

The annual Father-Son banquet Monday will begin activities at the Pontiac Boys' Club next week which has been designated around the country as National Boys Club Week.

Leading speaker for the evening will be basketball coach Forddy Anderson along with guests, Walter Dukes and Sweetwater Clifton of the Detroit Pistons and Jack Fleck, pro at Rochester Golf and Country Club.

Awards will be presented for various honors on the Boys Club athletic teams, and another sell-out of 450 is expected for the affair.

Next Wednesday, April 9th, a program of boxing and wrestling will be held at the Boys Club with such figures as Chuck Davey and Chuck Speiser making introductions of the participants.

Ex-glover of local note, Gene Linscott will also be present along with Floyd Stevens, chairman of the State Boxing Commission.

Pontiac Central wrestling coach Bill Willson will officiate the mat events which include:

Mel Nosanchuck versus Dave Payne; Johnny Huron versus Sam Wiscomb in the 160 pound class; Duke Relyea versus Duane Thomas in the heavyweight class and Ernie Slade versus Ray Ronquillo as a 125 pound feature.

Boxers from Pontiac and Auburn Heights Boys' Clubs will face each other on the card.

Under the direction of Johnny Ferro the card includes: Jimmy Singleton of Pontiac versus Terry Douglas, 126 pound featherweights; Bob Ragland of Pontiac versus Ronnie Ellan of Auburn Heights in the 135 pound lightweight division; Dick Compton of Pontiac versus Larry Douglas of Auburn Heights in 147 pound welterweight class; Dave Blower, middleweight Golden Glove district champ will be featured against Herbert Harris of Auburn Heights.

Tickets, which are limited to 500 people, can be purchased at Griff's Grill or at the Boys' Club.

Cawley Sets Three Farmington Records

Three Farmington High track records went by the boards, yesterday, when Farmington defeated Wayne High in a nonscheduled meet at Farmington 70-39, the season's opener.

All were set by one athlete, Farmington's bright junior star, Rex Cawley, who erased former marks for both hurdles, which he had previously set, and hung up a new high jump figure at 5-10. His high hurdle (120-yards) mark is 15 flat, lows (180-yard) 20.2.

Host team took all but three firsts, visitors winning the medley relay, half-mile and the shot.

Mike Agee of Farmington was a double winner, taking the 100 and 220 in 10.8 and 23.8, respectively.

Walter Named President

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—John Walter of The Detroit News has been elected president of the Golf Writers Assn. of America at the associations' annual meeting held at the Masters tournament.

State NAIA Tourneys Scheduled for May 27

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — Central Michigan College will be the site of the first annual state NAIA tennis tournament on May 27.

The state National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics track and field meet, the second annual such affair, will be staged at Eastern Michigan College in Ypsilanti on the same day.

The Hurons also will be the host team for the first state NAIA golf tournament on May 27.

Undecided About Baseball Opener

Ike May Pass Up 1st Ball Custom for Golf

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower's fondness for golf appears to be in conflict for the second time with his taken-for-granted custom of tossing out the first ball to open the baseball season on April 14.

News Secretary James C. Hagerty disclosed that the President may pass up the opening game after he received his customary season passes yesterday from the Washington ball club.

Eisenhower was invited to attend the season opener at Griffith Stadium between Washington and Boston to throw out the first ball—a custom performed by presidents since the days of William Howard Taft.

Hagerty said, however, that the President would like to go to the Augusta National Golf Club at the end of next week because Congress will be in recess. He said the final decision will depend on Mr. Eisenhower's work load.

The Chief Executive usually takes his spring golfing vacation at the conclusion of the Masters Tournament in Augusta. This year the tournament is expected to end Sunday, but the President will definitely not go there until at least a few days later.

In his first year in the White House, Mr. Eisenhower stirred up a sports controversy when he passed up the baseball opener to play golf in Augusta. However, the regularly scheduled 1953 opening game was rained out and the President was able to be on hand when Washington opened the season a few days later.

State Bowler Tops All Events

Grand Rapids Cab Driver Takes ABC Lead With 1,931

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A 30-year-old Grand Rapids, Mich., taxicab driver held the all events lead today as the American Bowling Congress tournament wound up its first week.

Fay Haraburda, who only at the last moment entered the tournament as a fill-in, churned out doubles and singles aggregates of 628 and 642 last night for a 1,931 finish.

Haraburda took over the lead from Sam Walker Jr., previous all events pacesetter, who fired 1,910 on April 1.

The 62-2, 205 pound Haraburda became an eleventh-hour replacement on the Ben Duthler's team of Grand Rapids when a regular member was unable to make the trip to Syracuse. His 661 sparked the Wolverine team to the open division lead Wednesday night as it shot a new first-place total of 2,975.

Another member of Duthler's, Benny Vereecken, moved into seventh place in all events with 1,838 and Ray Osborn of Shelby, Ohio, grabbed eighth with 1,830.

Saginaw's Buhl Says He Is Not in Top Form Yet

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Righthander Bob Buhl, the Milwaukee Braves' fastball specialist from Saginaw, admitted yesterday he's not in peak form and said he needs more work.

"I'm not as fast as I should be at this stage of spring training," Buhl said. "And my control isn't what it should be, but three more outings should have me ready when the season starts."

With an 18-7 record last year, Buhl thinks he can win 20 games this year if he gets enough assignments.

OCSC's Rifle Squad Sets Scoring Mark

Members of Oakland County Sportsmen's club rifle team last night concluded their Southeastern Michigan Rifle League season, with a record victory.

Firing the OCSC indoor range, the squad turned in a 956-1046 to 938-1001 victory against a good team from Great Lakes Steel Gun club of Ferndale. Win leaves OCSC tied for 3rd in league handicap, tied for 4th in actual.

Top gun was Nancy Newman, who hurried over and back to Ann Arbor where she is a University of Michigan student. Nancy fired 196 actual a figure she has hit several times this winter.

Scores: OCSC—E. Henry 191-204; K. Danielsen 192 (act); Margaret Meston 218 (hcp); Nancy Newman 196; D. Marnel 208 (hcp); M. P. Guy 188-204; O. McCutcheon 212 (hcp); D. Postma 189 (act). Great Lakes—A. B. Blakeley 184 (act); G. Hynet 200 (hcp); K. James 199 (hcp); J. Kormendi 191-201; R. Prater 185 (act); E. Turner 188-200; H. Zymjewski 190-201.

Streak Ends for Deacon

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The loss of shoe last night ended the string of 32 consecutive mile victories Charles "Deacon" Jones had compiled in intercollegiate dual track meets for the University of Iowa.

Jones lost the shoe on the first lap of the mile in the Arizona-Iowa meet won by Arizona 75½-55½. He finished a distant fourth as his teammate Jack Hill won in 4:26.8.

HELPING HAND — Murray Rose of Australia, a University of Southern California freshman, is helped out of the pool after winning the 1500 meter event in the AAU meet in New Haven, Conn., yesterday. Peter Daland, swimming coach at USC welcomes Rose at the finish line. His time was 18:28.5.

PGA Offered 2 Tourneys to Replace Tam Events

Fight for Golf in Chicago

CHICAGO (INS) — A fight to keep big time golf in Chicago may be decided today when officials of the Professional Golfers Association meet to discuss the offer of two Chicago golfers.

The golfers are John and Edwin McNulty who operate the Glen Eagles course in Lemont, Ill., 15 miles southwest of Chicago.

John McNulty announced last night that he has offered to sponsor a $50,000 golf tournament this summer to "replace" the tourneys dropped by Tam O'Shanter club owner George S. May. McNulty said he might go as high as $100,000 "if the plans can be worked out."

May stunned the golf world Monday night by dropping the All-American and World Championship of Golf tournaments. He said he was "being discriminated against" for what he said "was the PGA's plan to make me turn over the entry fee money to them."

The McNultys are being aided by James Hart, chairman of the board of the Ambassador's East and West hotels, and Thomas Haviland, a Chicago radio station executive.

Asked where the money was to come from to sponsor the tournament, McNulty told Interntional News Service:

"There are enough people around who want to see big time golf kept in Chicago who will see that the money is put up." He said, "don't worry, we'll have the money, all we want to do is to get the PGA sanction."

PGA tournament chairman Edwin Carter and PGA president Harry Sargent will discuss the matter in Augusta, Ga., later today, site of the Masters tourney.

McNulty, president of the Illinois Steel Tank Company, said his Glen Eagles club has two excellent 18-hole courses, each of which is 6,300 yards long.

He said he does not know if he will adopt the Tam O'Shanter tourney style of holding four tournaments at once—men's and women's divisions in both the pro and amateur ranks.

McNulty said he would like "to only hold a male pro tourney."

He did not ask for a specific date but said it would be staged either from July 24 through 27 or July 31 through Aug. 3, dates of the two Tam meets.

Harry Pezzullo, Illinois president of the PGA and member of the national executive group, has expressed satisfaction with McNulty's plan.

May yesterday reaffirmed his stand not to hold any tourney this year. He still maintained "it was the principle of the thing and not the money."

Gridder Killed in Auto

He Walked — Only to Die

MIKE KARAS

BEAVER, Pa. (AP)—Mike Karas, 23-year-old triple threat quarterback of the Geneva College football team, was killed early today when his car plunged off a rural road near this Western Pennsylvania town.

Karas played freshman football at West Virginia University in 1954. He transferred to Geneva College and in 1955 was named the nation's leading small college passer, completing 57 of 104 passes for 616 yards. In addition to his passing ability, the quarterback was an excellent runner and punter.

In July, 1956, Karas was hit by a truck while working on a construction project. He suffered multiple fractures of the pelvis and gall bladder lacerations.

He was never expected to walk again but he returned last season, scoring 7 touchdowns, throwing 3 touchdown passes and gaining 453 yards. He had a 37-yard punting average.

Sugar, Bassey Wins Aid Ring Status Shuffling

NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson's reconquest of the middleweight championship earned the New York marvel the "Fighter of the Month" honor in the monthly Ring Magazine boxing ratings today.

Robinson's victory over Carmen Basilio, featherweight king Hogan "Kid" Bassey's successful title defense against Mexico's Ricardo "Little Bird" Moreno and many other important bouts in the past month resulted in a shuffling of the ratings in most divisions.

The middleweight division, in particular, had several boxers shifted around. Basilio dropped to Robinson's No. 1 spot among the contenders. Holly Mims' upset victory over Spider Webb moved Mims, of Washington, back into the elite ten in the No. 7 spot.

Victories by Virgil Akins over Isaac Logart, Sugar Hart over Tombstone Smith, and young Mickey Crawford over Gil Turner, brought these changes in the welterweight class:

Logart, of Cuba, fell from second to third in an exchange with Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J.; Hart, of Philadelphia, advanced from 10th to fifth; Turner, of Philadelphia, dropped from sixth to seventh; Crawford of Saginaw, Mich., was ranked for the first time in the No. 9 position, and Mexico's Gaspar Ortega advanced from seventh to fourth.

Weightlifters at Pontiac 'Y'

Musclemen from all over Michigan will visit Pontiac next Saturday to participate in the state YMCA Weightlifting Championships.

Pontiac YMCA will be host to the state event for the first time, and more than 30 entries from Michigan are expected to flex their muscles with the iron bars.

John Rhodes, state senior AAU champion from Pontiac, who lifts in the 181 pound class, is one of the leading contenders in the meet.

He currently holds the military press record at 265 pounds, the snatch record at 260 pounds and the clean and jerk record at 320 pounds for a total of 845.

Rhodes, who was born in Pontiac, lived in Chicago for several years and there he won the Windy City metropolitan weightlifting championships.

Other area weightlifters who will participate in the meet are Gary O'Neil of Waterford in the 148 pound class, Ken Howell of Pontiac in the 148 pound class and Dick Wisniewski of Clawson in the 198 pound class.

Entries for the meet close next Wednesday and there will be competition in seven divisions. T. J. Marty Martinez of the Pontiac YMCA heads the state meet.

Featured guest as master of ceremonies will be Clarence Johnson, manager of the U .S. Olumpic Weightlifting team.

Starting time next Saturday evening is 7:30 p.m. with invitation extended to the public.

Detroiters Could Make Phils Threats

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Stan Lopata, Ted Kazinski and Bob Miller—three Detroit players who are a little too old to be "Whiz Kids," will have much to do with the 1958 showing of the Philadelphia Phillies.

While all the talk centers around Robin Roberts, and whether the veteran righthander can regain his old stuff, the Phillies hope Lopata, Kazanski and Miller can solve some of the club's problems.

Miller won only two games last season and lost five, Kazanski played in 62 games and batted .265, Lopata, the burly receiver, hit .237 but drove in 67 runs and hit 18 homers and as many doubles.

A look at the Philadelphia roster and the 1957 performances listed alongside the names makes one wonder how the Phillies did as well as they did.

Led by rookies Harry Anderson and Ed Bouchee at the plate and Jack Sanford and Dick Farrell on the mound, the Phillies actually occupied first place in the National League as late as July 15.

"We didn't stay long up in that thin air," says manager Mayo Smith. "But it was fun while it lasted. We're hoping we can make it last a little longer this year."

The Phillies were beset by all kinds of trouble last year—injuries to Lopata and Rip Repulski, the two big power men in the lineup.

Kazanski is the "fill-in" man who can play at most any infield position. It almost boils down to a case of him playing wherever somebody else doesn't fit.

The Phils have added Wally Post, the ex-Cincinnati slugger, to get more punch in their lineup. They feel they have enough good pitching.

But Smith is a conservative manager. He isn't picking anything or predicting any certain spot for a finish.

"We'll be an exciting club," he confesses.

57 Canine 'Graduates' Receive Their Diplomas

This week, and next, is graduation time for canine "students" taking the courses of study provided by the 10 Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club classes. In exercises held the last two nights, at Waterford and Daniel Whitfield schools, 57 dogs of assorted sizes, ages, colors and breeds received their diplomas.

Trophies, certificates and ribbons, plus some other rewards, went to the graduates. Exercises wind up the winter's obedience classes which have been in operation since last fall. New classes will be set up in September.

Graduation at Bloomfield high and advanced class graduation at Emerson Junior High are set for next Monday and Tuesday nights, respectively. After that, SMOTC officials said today, will come the annual "fun trial," to be held in June at a date to be announced.

Owners of top dogs in the Whitfield first novice group were all under 16 years of age. Most owners in the Waterford exercises were adults.

Top winners in each "graduation," 1st four, in order:

Whitefield — Novice 1: Marlene Prochastka of Walled Lake, Scotty (Heather); A. Silverthorn, Pontiac, min. poodle (Jet); Barbara Vahlbusch, W. Bloomfield, stand. poodle (Fi-Fi); Lina Armstrong, Pontiac, cocker (Gay); 2nd novice — Eugene Hilyard, Pontiac, Germ. shepherd (Mitzie); Tom Fairbrother, Pontiac, Weimaraner (Tom's Smoke Signal); Francis Guellec, Pontiac, toy poodle (Shardawn's Wee-Pee-Pea); Mrs. George Gerard, Walled Lake, collie (Lassie); advanced class — Joan J. Dombrowski, Walled Lake, dalmation (Gretchen); Mrs. Fred Platman, W. Bloomfield, Germ. shepherd (Pritzie).

Waterford — first novice: Joan Martin, Pontiac, golden ret. (Judy); Donna Richardson, Pontiac, boxer (Queenie); L. C. Weeks, Ortonville, Germ. shepherd (Turck); Beatrice Bellaires, Drayton Plains, collie (Lady); No. 2 novice — Keith Ellibee, Clarkston, boxer (Cindy); Tom Peterson, Clarkston, collie (Polly); James Karambetson, Pontiac, Germ. shepherd (Czar); Capt. S. B. Netzler, Pontiac, mixed breed (Honey Bear).

Chiefs in CMC Meet April 11

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — The annual Class A indoor invitational track meet will be staged at Central Michigan College next Friday.

Twelve of the state's foremost track powers will take part in the meet that often is a preview of the state championship finals.

Flint Northern is defending champion in the invitational meet and will be trying to make it two straight, something only one other school has been able to do. Pontiac did it in 1955-56 when Hayes Jones, now a star at Eastern Michigan College, was doing most of the point-getting for the Chiefs.

In addition to Northern and Pontiac, the field includes Lansing Eastern, Bay City Central, Midland, Saginaw, Bay City Handy, Muskegon, Saginaw Arthur Hill, Alpena, Flint Central and Traverse City.

1st Drill for Los Mayos

The Los Mayos baseball team will hold its first practice session of the year this Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m. at Jaycee Park's No. 2 diamond. Anyone interested in playing with Los Mayos this season is invited to attend the workout.

Playoffs Finished, Loop Title Is Next

Waterford Recreation Basketball League has finished its playoffs, with White Swan defeating the Drayton Drugs 55-44 in the single elimination event, last night, at Crary Junior High. The league championship will be at stake next Thursday, at 8 p.m. with the same teams involved. Each finished the season with a 9-3 record.

Swans led all the way, last night, taking a 14-12 first period edge, boosting it to 39-21 at halftime, and staving off a last period, 18-point, rally by Drugs. Swans got only 10 in the finale.

Mel Karrigan, with 15, Dennis McConkey, 10 and Harry Dearborn, 10 led the winners. Bob Walters' 14 was Drugs' best. Bob Pickett had 11.

A-Powers Asked to Follow Soviets

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru today asked atomic powers to follow the Soviet example by suspending their own nuclear tests.

He said the "biggest scientists in the world" should be appointed to determine whether any nation could cheat on an agreement suspending tests.

Holding his first news conference since October, Nehru took note of the criticism that the Soviets had announced their suspension only after they had completed a test series.

"But a good step is a good step whenever it is taken," he declared.

The Indian leader said he viewed Nikita Khrushchev's taking over the post of premier as evidence of continuing liberalization in the Soviet Union.

State Man Dies in Air Accident

Navy Plane Crashes on High Mountain Slope; Co-Pilot on Critical List

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The body of a Navy flier has been removed from the wreckage of his plane by state police and military personnel who had to use a snow tractor and snow shoes to get through the deep snow on Mt. Greylock.

The body was that of Navy Lt. Eugene B. Ganley of Grosse Ile, Mich., co-pilot of a Navy C45 which crashed Wednesday high on the wooded slope of the 3,500-foot mountain.

Cmdr. Robert R. Vanderberg, 38, also of Grosse Ile, pilot of the plane, survived the crash but is in critical condition at North Adams Hospital.

Vanderberg gave himself first aid and then waved weakly to a helicopter search crew.

The helicopter crew, unable to land because of the trees, lowered a rope which Vanderberg tied around himself. The craft landed at a nearby clearing and took the injured airman aboard.

Vanderberg, father of three children, suffered a fractured skull and many cuts on his head, face and legs. Doctors, however, give him a good chance to live.

He was quoted as saying he had just turned the craft over to Ganley and was looking at some maps when the crash came.

The plane was flying from Grosse Ile to the Naval air station at Weymouth, Mass. It was last heard from when it checked in at Albany, N.Y., at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday.

The search for the plane began at dawn yesterday and it was spotted several hours later.

Admits Protein Count Too Low in Baloney

Robert Buffmyer, owner of Lakeside Packing House Supermarket, 255 Ladd Rd., Walled Lake, pleaded guilty yesterday to having too low a protein content in his homemade baloney.

West Bloomfield Justice Elmer C. Dieterle fined him $15 and $10 costs. The complaint was made by James McCollum, state food inspector.

College Building Bond Bill Up

$50-Million Proposal Squeaks by Senate, Now Before House

LANSING — A 50 million dollar building bond issue proposal for state colleges was up to the House today after staggering through the Senate.

Known as the Faulkner Plan, it is a Republican answer to Gov. Williams' demand for a broader, 114 million dollar public works program with the accent on economic pump priming.

On the decisive roll call yesterday, the bill squeaked through 18 to 10, drawing the bare passage requirement. Later, a belated Democratic vote made the recorded count 19 to 10.

An anemic capital outlay bill calling for just over $5,000,000 in general funds followed the Faulkner bill to the House, unerscoring its significance.

The capital outlay bill carried 20 million dollars in 1957 and 36 millions the year before. The 1958-59 measure by itself would prolong a moratorium declared last year on new building starts.

Critics questioned the constitutionality of the bill by Sen. Robert E. Faulkner (R-Coloma) to set up an educational building authority, a new state agency.

One, Sen. Cairence F. Graebner (R-Saginaw), called it a "hoax on the public."

The proposed five-member authority would be empowered to issue 3 per cent revenue bonds and exchange them for U. S. securities holdings in the big Veterans Trust Fund set up in 1946 from a post war state surplus.

From proceeds of liquidation, money could be loaned to both two- and four-year state colleges and universities for use on projects specifically approved by legislative resolution.

Lease fees paid to the authority by the schools out of annual legislative appropriations would service and ultimately retire the bonds.

Detroit Mayor Returns

DETROIT — Mayor Louis Miriani, absent for three days because of a virus infection, returned to work Thursday, saying he had not fully recovered and would work on a part-time schedule.

3 Rare Cranes Whooping Way Toward Canada

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Three of 26 rare whooping cranes left their Texas nesting grounds yesterday on their 2,500-mile annual journey to their summer home in Canada.

Claude Lard, manager of the Aransas National Refuge near Austwell, Tex., said the cranes' departure was eight days earlier than last year.

The 26 white whoopers—with jet black wing tips, red head crowns and long protruding legs—winter at the Gulf Coast refuge. Four others are in captivity. It is against the law to kill a whooper.

Two adults and a year-old whooper started the trip for the Wood Hole National Park area in Canada, Lard said.

An aerial and ground survey showed three cranes missing yesterday after a check Wednesday showed all were present.

Willys Eyes Brazil as New Plant Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — Willys Motors is reported studying the possibility of producing its small Willys passenger car in Brazil. It already has a Jeep manufacturing plant there.

The move presumably would involve the transfer to Brazil of dies and other equipment for the Willys, last manufactured in 1955. Willys is a division of Kaiser Industries.

The Kaiser office here, asked about the report said:

"Because a large percentage of Willys' market is in the export field, the company is constantly exploring new areas in which to produce and sell its line of vehicles. This is particularly true in Brazil."

$2,000 in Tools Stolen From Area Gravel Pit

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies reported yesterday that tools valued at an estimated $2,000 were stolen from a gravel pit at Sashabaw and Stickney Rds. in Independence Township.

Al Valentine, owner of the concern, told deputies the tools had been taken from a building housing the main office and storage space.

The thief or thieves had broken in through a door to the storage room, then backed a pickup truck up to the door and loaded the tools and equipment onto the truck.

5 of 6 Transmitters in Moons Sound Off

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ground stations are receiving regular radio reports from five of the six transmitters in three American satellites now circling the earth.

Soon after the Army's Explorer III went into orbit March 26, radio tracking stations found difficulty in getting regular reports from the tiny tape recorder built into its nose.

At one time, it was thought the relatively unusual shape of Explorer's orbit was to blame. But Navy scientists said today most of the trouble was located in a triggering device activated by ground receiving stations.

Scientific information also is being received from a conventional transmitter in Explorer III.

The larger of two transmitters in Explorer I, launched by the Army Jan. 31, failed after a few weeks when its battery burned out, as expected. The second transmitter in Explorer I continues to send out signals, and is expected to do so for about a month longer.

Stockbrokers to Get Higher Commissions

NEW YORK (AP)—Members of the New York Stock Exchange, by a 646 to 593 vote, have approved a boost in broker commission rates.

The results of the balloting were announced yesterday, after a two-week voting period to decide the issue.

G. Keith Funston, exchange president, said the increase "is designed to offset in part a significant rise in recent years in the overall cost of conducting a securities commission business."

There were many objectors to the increase, amounting to about 13 per cent. Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, the largest brokerage firm, opposed the boost on grounds that it was unnecessary and might tend to discourage many smaller prospective investors.

Waterford Restaurant Broken Into Overnight

The Eatmore Restaurant, at 926 W. Huron St., Waterford Township, was broken into last night and $80 in change plus $50 from a cigarette machine was stolen.

Entrance was gained by breaking a front window, said police.

Testing Theory Among Eskimos

High-Fat Diet Desirable?

expedition to the North seeking

MONTREAL (AP)— A Montreal physician, veteran of 17 trips to the arctic, has left on another evidence among the Eskimos to support his theory that a high-fat diet is desirable rather than dangerous.

Dr. Ray Lawson, 43, labels unproved a current idea that eating lots of fat is a major cause of heart and arterial diseases.

He is one of a seven-man government medical-dental team which will travel 15,000 miles examining and treating the nomadic tribes of the Victoria Island region northwest of Hudson Bay.

He aims to investigate particularly the eating habits of the Back River tribe — as yet virtually untouched by the white man's influence.

"These Eskimos are especially important because their entire diet consists of food they kill, a diet which I have reason to believe is high in fat content," he said in an interview.

For more than a year Dr. Lawson's diet has supplied 80 per cent of his calories from fat.

He recently told a meat-packing convention in Toronto: "No one will quarrel with insurance statistics, accurate and quantitative, that show fat people die sooner, but this does not prove that eating fats makes one fat. In my own limited observation, fat eaters do not gain weight."

The fact that cholesterol—a type of fat—is found around arteries afflicted with hardening is no indication high fat consumption is a cause, he added.

Opera Replaces TV Advertising

No More Commercials on 'Climax' as Beauty Trains Her Voice

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Mary Costa, the world's comeliest car salesman, is forsaking huckstering this month to push art, with a capital A.

The blonde, blue-eyed beauty of the Thursday night "Climax" commercials wants to take a crack at show business' toughest division — opera — and she means to do it while she's still young enough to be the most glamorous diva who ever drowned out a tenor.

It means giving up a steady paycheck from CBS, a very tidy one, too, for a girl with only about three years of professional theatrical experience, and it means battling the still prevailing American notion that the import market provides most of the real operatic talent.

But those things don't worry Soprano Mary. For one thing, her producer-husband, Frank Tashlin, does so handsomely at his trade that most of Mary's income winds up in Uncle Sam's wallet anyway. For another:

"Singing opera and concert is something I've always wanted to do," explains Mary in her softly cornpone - and - molasses accented voice. "I've always loved opera particularly.

LACK OF RESPECT

"I know it's hard to break into it in this country. They seem to have lots of respect for people coming from overseas, but not so much for native sons and daughters.

"But I'm really studying hard. I'm a real student, if I do say it myself. I'm studying Italian now."

Oddly, Mary began studying voice seriously only three years ago, when she joined the "Climax" crew in the capacity of commercial captain Bill Lundigan's chief aide-de-camp.

Mary admits that she got the "Climax" job through sheer "ignorance." When she was summoned for a tryout, she assumed that doing commercials was a lead pipe cinch — and won the job over veteran performers who were flustered by their knowledge of how tough it really was.

She launched her operatic career by singing the lead in "Martha" for the local Euterpe opera reading group and then repeated it by popular demand for a benefit.

LARGEST AUDIENCE

Next she did Desdemona in "Otello" for the same group at the famed Hollywood Bowl, which drew its largest audience of the season for her performance.

"I feel I should make the change now or never," Mary says. "I'm doing 'The Bartered Bridge' next, and then I may do the role of Jenny Lind in a feature picture on the life of P. T. Barnum. I also have been asked to audition at MGM this spring or summer."

FROM SALES TO ART — Mary Costa is abandoning her career as a television saleswoman to take a crack at show business' toughest division — opera. Mary, who has been doing commercials on "Climax" (CBS-TV, Thursday, 8:30 p. m.) for the past three years, is studying voice and already has sung several operatic roles.

139,211 People in Texas Receive Welfare Food

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The State Department of Public Welfare said yesterday 58 counties are handing out free food to 139,211 persons.

"There has been no sharp trend upward" in distribution of federal surplus food to the unemployed, but 13 counties have been added to the list in the past six months, W. E. Moore, assistant director of the division of commodity distribution said.

Opens Lakes Navigation

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (AP) — The Gordon C. Leitch entered from Lake Erie yesterday to officially open the Great Lakes navigation season.

The ship was carrying a cargo of coal from Sundusky, Ohio, to Hamilton. Capt. C. C. Clattenburg said ice on Lake Erie was negligible.

Broadway Turns Out to Give Helping Hand

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Maybe you never knew Billy Vine, the plump comedian who died not long ago, but everybody on Broadway did and everybody on Broadway came to the benefit for Billy's family.

WILSON

The cafe rang with the belly-laughs Billy would have liked to get himself, and often did.

Phil Silvers used Milton Berle as a straight man—Berle, the fellow who used to be his big Tuesday night rival on TV.

Sid Caesar, Jan Murray, Buddy Hackett, Joe E. Lewis, Henny Youngman and others clowned for hours. Up stepped Comedian Alan King to mention "the new singing star, Sam Cook."

"Sam Cook is the name of a singer!" he exclaimed. "He became as a singer so fast they didn't have time to change his name!"

DARCEL

Oh, there was plenty of sex appeal there, too: Polly Bergen, Dagmar, Eileen Barton, Geene Courtney and Denise Darcel who's just followed Judy Garland into the Town and Country.

"Darleeng, I had two zouse-and peoples there tonight!" boasted Denise.

"But the place only holds 1,700," I mentioned.

"Zen, darleeng, say I had 1,900 peoples there," said Denise.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Ben Maksik of Town & Country says he'll sue Judy Garland for around $20,000 . . . Aly Khan hired a tutor, is learning Russian . . . New fad: Chain letters with savings bonds instead of dollar bills . . . George Raft's final take on his Post series'll be 100Gs . . . Grace Kelly turned down the invitation to attend the opening of Monte Carlo's Int'l Sporting Club . . . Ginny Simms' ex-husband, Hyatt von Dehn, is dating Eva Gabor.

EARL'S PEARLS: There was big excitement in one of the TV studios. They caught some sponsor-less comedian putting real bullets in the cowboy actors' guns.

Our missile program has licked its problem, notes Myron Cohen. They're now using stronger rubber bands. That's earl, brother.

People spend more for their daily newspapers than for any other form of reading matter. They spend 17 per cent more for newspapers than for books, and almost twice the amount they spend for magazines.

Hal Boyle Says:

Billionaire Told to Chop Wood for Health

NEW YORK (AP)—Once upon a time there was a poor young woodcutter named Emil Q. Hardeman.

He was the son of a woodcutter, and the grandson of a woodcutter.

Emil was sturdy and strong and he worked hard. But he hated his work. He was so busy cutting down the trees he could not see the forest.

On his 21st birthday his father gave him a new ax for a present. It did not please the ambitious young man.

"There is more to life than woodcutting," said Emil, throwing the ax into a corner of the hut.

He left and went to the big city and got himself a job collecting for a small loan agency.

Thanks to his stern honesty and his sterner muscles, Emil at 25 owned the small loan agency.

At 35 he owned a small bank.

At 40 he owned a big bank.

At 50 he owned a chain of banks, hotels, shooting galleries, ship lines, oil fields, and diaper laundries.

At 60 he owned—well, if it wasn't nailed down it belonged to Emil. He had a billion dollars, but all of a sudden he was desperately unhappy.

His hands shook. He no longer enjoyed chorus girls, caviar or yachts. He couldn't eat. He could not sleep. He even lost pleasure in counting his money—and it was perhaps this symptom that worried and puzzled his doctors the most.

Emil sailed the world seeking the best medical advice. He gulped tranquilizers by the dozen. Nothing helped. Finally he heard of a famous missionary doctor in an African jungle. He sent emissaries to fetch the doctor, but the doctor refused to come.

Finally, Emil went to the jungle to see him.

"I will build you a hospital if you will take me as a patient," he promised. The doctor agreed.

He did not give Emil any laboratory tests. He merely felt his pulse, listened to his heart and asked him to stick out his tongue.

Then he inquired: "When were you healthiest in your life?"

"When I was chopping wood," said Emil.

"Well," said the doctor, "Go back and chop some more wood."

"For this advice I should build you a hospital?" asked Emil.

"You should build two," said the doctor, turning to a native with a broken arm.

So Emil went back to the hut of his father and picked up the ax he had flung into the corner long ago. He began to chop wood.

This time he was in no hurry. He had time to look at the forest and tell it from the trees. He had time to listen to the birds sing and to pause and watch the chipmunks play.

That night he ate three plates of bread, bacon and canned beans. His muscles ached, but he slept as he had not slept since he was a boy.

Emil gave up the big city forever. He moved the headquarters of his vast enterprises into his father's hut. In the morning he would get up at dawn and go out and cut down a tree. In the afternoon he would confer with his secretaries and buy another big bank, big steel mill or a big chain of restaurants.

And so, content with his lot—and he did have a lot—Emil lived happily ever after.

Starting 5th Year of Kohler Strike

Prospects of Settlement in Wisconsin Dispute Growing Dimmer

KOHLER, Wis. (AP)— The bitter strike at the Kohler Co., entangled in issues and personalities, begins its fifth year tomorrow with prospects of a settlement growing dimmer.

The nation's oldest major labor dispute, the strike has developed into a grinding of the energies of the plumbingware firm and the United Auto Workers.

The principles grimly defended by each side were underscored recently before the Senate Rackets Committee.

"We will not bargan with a gun at our back," a company officer said.

"The company position has been not to settle the strike, but to break the union," a UAW official testified.

Both sides were described as "pretty obstinate" by Committee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark).

Also recorded in the past 12 months were the collapse of a mediation effort by three prominent clergymen, a determination by a National Labor Relations Board examiner that the company prolonged the strike by unfair labor practices, and a rejection by the firm of a UAW offer to settle on the basis of the examiner's finding.

Just last month there was a renewal of the sporadic vandalism that has been linked to the strike.

The strike began when an estimated 2,600 members of Local 833 refused to work in a dispute over union security, wages and fringe benefits. The firm has been in production with nonstrikers and new workers since two months after the strike started.

In an appearance before the McClellan committee, Herbert V. Kohler, 66-year-old company president, said the issue now is "compulsory unionism," and the UAW demand that strikers be reinstated. Kohler has insisted he will not displace present workers with strikers.

The next important development is expected when the NLRB acts on the company's appeal of the examiner's findings.

Woman Leaves Church Meeting to Have Baby

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Mrs. Wade Merrill, 23, Provo, Utah, attending a primary conference of the Latter-Day Saints Church retired to the ladies room of the conference hall, where she gave birth to a baby girl. The baby was premature and weighed less than five pounds.

Policeman David Bradfort rushed to give assistance. He and Mrs. Evelyn Distalano worked together to deliver the child. An ambulance crew rushed Mrs. Merrill and the infant to a hospital, where the child was put into an incubator.

The unpertrubed lecturer, Mrs. Lou Groesbeck, who had been discussing "Ways of Teaching Music to Children," announced there would be another primary child to which the group could sing.

Grace's Dad Reminded, 'Prince Comes 1st Now'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — John B. Kelly, father of Princess Grace of Monaco, was down at Gulfstream Park racetrack in Florida recently and failed to pick a winner in six races.

In the seventh race, in seventh post position, was a horse named "Happy Princess." Kelly and fellow Philadelphia businessman Arthur C. Kaufmann put a bundle on her nose.

Happy Princess finished second. Said Kaufmann to Kelly: "We forgot, Jack. The new prince comes first now."

Brushes With Death Crash-Landing Plane

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Robert T. Mumme Jr., 30, was flying from Houston to Lake Charles, La., when his generator and radio went out.

Visibility was poor, he said, and he narrowly missed a power line when he tried to come down in the dark Wednesday night. Mumme said he followed a road, reading the instrument panel of his light plane with a flashlight, until he managed to crash-land in a field beside the road near Winnie, Tex.

Sharp-Eyed Tot Spots Man Hiding Under Bed

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Paul Jacks took his 5-year-old son Paul Jr. with him when he returned to the office of a lumber company to catch up on some work. While papa was making a phone call, the youngster suddenly tugged on his sleeve.

"Daddy, there's a man under the desk," he said.

Jacks looked. A man crouched in the knee hole of the desk from which Jacks was phoning. Jacks got a hammer and held the man at bay until police arrived.

Police held Leo A. Holloway, 41, Amarillo, Tex., on an open charge.
