52 Perish as Paralyzing Storm Sweeps East

2 Drivers Die in County; 4 Others Killed in State

Rescuers Free Thousands of Motorists Marooned by Snow in Southwest

By UNITED PRESS

A furious winter storm which paralyzed parts of the Southwest roared into the nation's heavily populated Northeast today with blasts of snow and sleet.

The vast storm system laid down an advance barrage which penetrated as far east as New York, where driving rain and poor visibility caused at least eight traffic deaths.

Rescue crews had freed thousands of motorists who were marooned by 6-foot snowbanks in Texas and Oklahoma. But a numbing cold wave was moving into the west and Midwest in the storm's wake.

The winter's first and most vicious storm was already blamed for a total of 52 deaths. They included 25 persons killed in traffic, four who froze to death or died of exposure, nine who died of heart attacks or exhaustion, and five who perished in miscellaneous accidents.

In addition, the crash of an Air Force Flying Boxcar during an Alabama squall killed nine men.

The storm was centered early today over southeast lower Michigan and forecasters said it would drive with unabated fury to southern Maine by tonight.

An ice slick covered most of Michigan and icy runways halted commercial flights at Willow Run Airport for more than six hours. Many Detroit streetcars were halted by ice on overhead wires.

Driving sleet and rain made roads hazardous in central and western Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. New Hampshire State Police asked motorists to leave their cars at home and Maine forecasters predicted 5 to 10 inches of snow by nightfall.

The storm dealt its most paralyzing blow at the Southwest, where late yesterday rescue crews broke through 6-foot drifts to rescue thousands of shivering motorists in Texas and Oklahoma.

Army tanks, helicopters, railroad trains and bulldozers were use dto free the marooned thousands.

At least 2,000 persons were rescued in the 100-mile area around Wichita Falls, Tex., alone. Between Vernon and Seymour, Tex., a helicopter picked up five persons in a stalled automobile.

In Oklahoma, where thousands more had been marooned, all major highways were reported clear. Many of the stranded motorists had been traveling on U.S. 66 to attend the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Calif.

Another cold wave whipped into Michigan today following snow and ice storms that left six dead in the state last night. Two persons were killed in Oakland County accidents.

Over two and a half inches of snow and sleet in the Pontiac area left roads dangerously slippery and caused several minor traffic accidents.

Joseph Marchand, 51, of Ypsilanti, was killed yesterday when a truck driven by John Pinko, 60, 269 W. Wilson, hit his car at 10½ Mile and Telegraph Rds.

Police said Pinko last control of his vihicle on ice, crossed the island in the middle of the road and hit Marchad's car. The truck then skidded into a third vehicle whose driver was not injured.

In a similar accident on M24 near Bald Mountain road this morning, Robert Downer of Lake Orion was killed.

Two other victims were Michigan Central section hands struck and killed by a diesel coach train last night in a blinding sleet storm. The two, Charles Loucks, 63, and James Giftopolus, 64, were salting switches in the railroad's Jackson yards.

Also killed in separate crashes on ice-coated highways were Calvin Christie, 79, of Lansing and Mrs. Grace Hart, 64, of near Coldwater.

Oakland County Sheriff's Department received seven other accident reports in this area, but only one injury resulted. Another traffic accident was reported in Waterford, and the State Police listed three, the Pontiac Police receiving calls on three others.

Despite heavy snow, the Oakland County Road Commission reports that no state roads were impassable, and sanding was started on county roads this morning.

The State Highway Department said that by noon today all highways were in good driving condition.

City Forester William Aho said damage to city trees was negligible despite icing and high winds.

Specialist Finds Pontiff Improved

VATICAN CITY (INS) — A specialist treating Pope Pius XII found the ailing pontiff today greatly improved since his last visit 10 days ago.

Dr. Antonio Gasbarrini, a specialist in gastro-intestinal medicine, called on the ailing Roman Catholic leader this morning with Dr. Riccardo Galaeazzi-Lisi, the pontiff's personal physician.

Gasbarrini found that the hernia of the Pope's esophagus, which caused the gastritis and hiccoughing which marked his illness, was reduced. Consequently, no surgery was foreseen in the near future.

To Sleep New Year In

NEW YORK (UP) — At least one hostelry in the heart of the Broadway area believes in a quiet New Year's Eve. Owner Irwin Kramer of the Hotel Edison says he's refusing to rent any rooms or suites for parties so his other guests can sleep the New Year in.

Ike Expected to Request $3 Billion for Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration was said today to be nearly ready with a request to Congress for at least three billion dollars to continue economic and military aid to friendly nations abroad.

Such an amount would be slightly more than the $2,780,000,000 Congress provided this year for grants, loans and arms shipments to more than 40 friendly governments.

President Eisenhower probably will unveil the new program in his budget message Jan. 17.

Informed officials reported government agencies have decided Congress should be asked to appropriate between 3 and 3½ billion dollars. The State, Treasury and Defense departments and the Foreign Operations Administration are expected to agree within the next week on a firm figure and also decide on where the money should be allocated by regions.

Any request for three billion dollars or more would certainly face critical scrutiny in Congress. Foreign aid programs have been trimmed considerably in recent years, and several key Congress members have said they will oppose any new funds for strictly economic aid.

Officials helping to draft the new program said it would seek to channel most of the U.S. dollars to the Far East but that it does not contemplate any massive assistance similar to the postwar Marshall Plan for Western Europe.

Paris Assembly Vote Approves German Arms

Newsmen Say 286-268 Unofficial as They Get Result From Tellers

PARIS (AP) — Unofficial tallies on the French National Assembly's vote on West German rearmament indicated the proposal had been adopted 286 to 268.

This 18-vote margin was on the basis of reports slipped out to newsmen in the assembly corridors from tellers handling the ballots.

The Assembly went almost immediately into the vote on the operative clause of the recent London-Paris accords when Assembly President Andre Le Troquer called the matter up shortly after 5 p.m. 11 a.m. EST.

Normally it takes about an hour to determine the outcome of an Assembly vote.

There were no deputies listed to speak. When Le Troque proposed proceeding to the vote at once, Jacques Duclos, floor leader of the Communist bloc, said he wanted to speak.

Le Troque cut him off saying there had already been enough speaking.

Premier Pierre Mendes-France who has made passage of this Western European Union treaty an issue of confidence in his government, said he did not want to prevent anyone from speaking.

But Le Troquer said the regulations permitted an immedaite vote without debate.

Once again the Premier called for a vote of confidence, requiring his government's resignation if the Assembly rejected the treaty. In the Assembly's previous week of wrangling over the treaties, Mendes-France survived two such votes.

The Assembly already has ratified the three other major sections of the London-Paris accords. Early today the weary

Restaurant Aids Bobbie's Fund

Hamburg Lovers Add to Collection for Lad Who Lost Both Legs

The Bobbie Dunn Fund has a pickle jar auxiliary.

Ground beef lovers began dropping in dollar bills Tuesday, when manager Cleil Morse first set the jar out at XXX luncheonette, 135 W. Huron St.

"It's half full and probably has $35-$40 in it," Morse said. "But we want to get it packed full before we turn it over to the family."

Meanwhile, Mayor William W. Donaldson reported his office and home phones have been kept ringing by persons wishing to contribute to the fund.

Contributions may be mailed to the Bobbie Dunn Fund, care of Mayor, Pontiac, Mich.

Contributions received so far have not been tabulated, since the unsealed envelopes are being turned over to an administrative committee composed of three local ministers.

Motorists Urged to Use Caution Over Weekend

The Pontiac Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee today was joined by local police agencies in an appeal to motorists for a safe holiday weekend.

Clyle R. Haskill, committee chairman, said that an estimated 20 persons are expected to lose their lives on Michigan highways and 240 in the nation may not see the New Year in, as based on past statistics.

Meanwhile, State Police of the Pontiac Post, Oakland County Sheriff's Dept. and Pontiac Police said they will carry on their strict enforcement by jailing all motorists driving under the influence of liquor.

Going along with the crack-down, judges here said they would make jail a mandatory sentence for drunk drivers.

Three persons, convicted of drunk driving after the Christmas weekend, received 30 days in the Oakland County Jail when they appeared before Municipal Judges Maurice E. Finnegan and Cecil McCallum.

To Halt Delivery of 'Junk Mail'

Summerfield Stopping City, Town Service on March 31, 1955

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Summerfield announced today that city and town deliveries of "junk mail" will be discontinued after March 31, 1955.

Such deliveries of what the Post Office Department calls "simplified address mail" were established on an experimental basis 15 months ago. The system allowed distribution on selected routes of advertising material addressed simply to "householder," "patron," or "boxholder," without specific street address.

The experiment, which had been tried previously by the Democratic administration, resulted in numerous protests that the result clogged the postal system.

Rep. Murray (D-Tenn), who is slated to become chairman of the House Post Office Committee in the new Congress assembling next week, said recently he had told Summerfield that unless "junk mail" deliveries were stopped, his committee would take steps to outlaw it.

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan), retiring chairman of the Senate Post Office Committee, only a few days ago issued a public statement calling for discontinuance.

The dropping of the simplified addressed mail, which is handled at a third-class rate of 1½ cents per piece, applies only to city and village delivery routes. Such mail will still be handled on rural routes and to boxholders at post offices where no city or village delivery service is available.

This type of patron has had the service since October 1934.

Autopsy Shows Death Caused by Pneumonia

Police Seek Identity; Trace Coat to Store in Toledo

The death of a middle-aged woman, whose body was found in a frozen swamp near Pontiac Lake late yesterday, was due to natural causes, an autopsy revealed today.

Dr. John J. Marra, Pontiac General Hospital pathologist, said the unidentified woman died of pneumonia of both lungs.

He said his examination of the woman, who apparently had been dead about three days, revealed no signs of violence.

Police were unable to explain how the body was in the swamp.

The body, discovered by three Redford Township brothers who were hunting in the state-owned park area near Gale road in White Lake Township, bore no identity clues.

Sheriff's Detectives Leo Hazen and Elmer McQuern said a label in the woman's full-length coat, bore the name "Mattox," a Toledo clothing store. They said the store owner has been contacted but no clues have turned up.

The body, which bore no jewelry, was fully clothed in a blue coat, light blue, two piece suit and pink blouse. One of her low-heeled shoes was found about 10 feet from the body.

Quality of the clothing was described as "good."

Her age was placed between 40 and 45. She was about 5 feet six inches tall and weighed about 100 pounds. Marra said she had suffered from tuberculosis but the disease apparently was cured at the time of death. A small bruise was found on the abdomen.

Nothing was found in the stomach but Dr. Marra said samples of the woman's digestive organs and brain will be sent to the Michigan Health Dept. at Lansing for further tests.

Fingerprints are being sent to Washington, D.C., Michigan State Police Post and local law enforcement agencies in an effort to identify the woman.

The spot where the body was found is located about 50 yards south of Gale road in a summer

Girl's Reason Obvious for Parking in Tunnel

ROSEVILLE, Calif. (AP)—It was a drizzly morning, Highway Patrolman Kenneth Armbruster said, and a car was parked smack in the middle of a narrow two-lane tunnel on U.S. 40 near here.

A pretty girl was working on a windshield wiper that squeaked.

"Why stop in the tunnel and create such a dangerous traffic hazard?" the officer asked.

Town Policewomen Make Meters Pay

JACKSON (AP)—Jackson motorists are learning that the three policewomen patroling downtown streets with their eyes on parking meters really mean business—to the tune of about $2,500 a month.

That's the average monthly take from fines paid by overtime parking violators said the city hired three full-time policewomen to man the meter patrol.

The women went on duty Oct. 5 and from that day on the number of parking violation tickets issued started climbing fast. In October they wrote out 3,860 tickets compared with 2,740 issued by regular patrolmen in October, 953.

Last month the number shot up to 4,908 as compared with 1,153 issued in November of last year.

1955 to Be Among Best

Babson Sees Good 1st Half; Year Slightly Under 1954

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Special to The Pontiac Press)

Dislocations in the automotive industry have unsettled business in Pontiac during the year just closing, and will continue to have a significant effect during 1955.

BABSON

There will be, in my opinion, two distinct parts to the coming year, the first part relatively stable and the second part considerably more spotty.

On the average, I would say that general activity will be somewhat below 1954 when final tally is made of the new year, perhaps 5 per cent.

This will, of course, still mean one of the four or five best years on record, especially when compared with prewar standards.

I must admit that I feel that the average will move off in several of your city's important lines: Automobiles, trucks, buses, automobile bodies, parts and accessories, construction of industrial plant and equipment, and residential building.

On the credit side of the ledger, I am optimistic about a few activities and even expect some to outdo 1954: Rubber molded products, paint, varnish, dairy products, steel products, and public construction.

Retail trade should hold up remarkably well, with variety chains, department stores, and food marts enjoying a turnover very close to 1954 levels.

The employment situation is volatile indeed, but I look for moderate betterment during the first half of the coming year. As 1955 moves towar dits close, I feel that unemployment problems may prevail in several important industries. Living costs will show little change locally, altho there may be some softening toward year's end.

In brief, Pontiac faces a relatively hopeful year, but one which will require astute planning to ensure profits.

My forecasts on the national scene include:

GENERAL BUSINESS—Despite wails from some quarters, 1954 saw a drop in the average physical volume of business of only 5 per cent from the record year 1953 and 1955 could see a rise of about the same amount. Certainly, the direction of business until mid-1955 will be upward.

Orion Man Dies in M24 Crash

R. W. Downer Killed as Car Skids Into Truck on Icy Pavement

A Lake Orion factory worker died today when his car skidded on icy M24 north of Bald Mountain road and crashed backwards into an empty gravel truck.

Robert W. Downer, 51, of 4446 Sunnybrook, the victim, was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Leon Cobb, deputy Oakland County coroner.

Downer was on his way to the Pontiac bus station with his son, Richard, 27, of Cincinnati, O., who was scheduled to leave this morning for Ohio.

Counters Heed Birds' Advice and Stay Inside

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UP) — Inclement weather forced postponement until today of the annual Tippecanoe County winter bird census.

A sleet storm struck yesterday and the census takers decided it was no use to start the count then.

"Those birds have got more sense than to go out in this kind of weather," said Mrs. Irving W. Burr.

From Our Birmingham Bureau

As was the case last year, the grand prize was awarded to the Arthur G. Weeber family, 219 Elm St. Four of the seven Weeber children took an active part in rebuilding, painting and garbing discarded mannequins to depict a lighted manger scene with carolers and a birthday card.

Other two-time winners were the Herbert J. Millers, 2134 Manchester Rd. and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steinle Jr., 1860 Humphrey Ave. The Steinles have a full Christmas scene in their front yard, while at the Miller home, Santa is heading down the chimney. Angels and carolers complete the picture.

Newcomers on the prize list are Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Skinner Jr., 932 Fairfax Ave., who added a Santa Claus to their lighting arrangement, and Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Gobeske, 1466 Birmingham Blvd., who garnished their garage door with a painted scene of carolers.

Claude Kidd, Jaycee president, said honorable mention went to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew G. Suhart, 1795 Cole St., for their unique lighting, and the Rolland G. Ohlins, 1456 Stanley Blvd., who decorated their yard with Santa and his reindeer. Kidd said outside decorations had been used on an estimated 2,500 Birmingham homes this year.

It is expected that major action will be demonstrated by William Watson, Dick Sheldon, William Sawney, Edmond Peters, Robert Isbell and Bob Goldsmith for Birmingham.

Edwin F. Kirbert, YMCA secretary, shares a recent true Christmas story that answered the prayers, literally, of a needy Birmingham family. Kirbert relates that the father, a former GI, is in poor health, as is the mother who is under the care of a physician and city nurse. The dad's temporary job ends this week.

After a church was notified of the plight of the parents and seven children, a basket of food was delivered a few days before Christmas.

Impressed with their needs, the food deliverer checked further with the city nurse and YMCA, with the result that the Y's men's Club purchased a ham, basket of fruit, shoes, boots, skirts and gym shoes for the family.

"A gift for the wife was made available and word was passed along that toys would be appreciated," Kirbert said. "Dec. 25 dawned and one family knew that their prayers had been answered and the spirit of the infant child born so many years ago still lives in the hearts and minds of men."

Two Drivers Killed in County Accidents

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. also reported no major trouble due to ice on wires and cables. Service calls this morning ran only five per cent above normal and these calls were all scattered.

The only serious damage reported was to a telephone pole at M59 and Pontiac Lake Road when a car skidded into it. This has been replaced. Wires elsewhere were not iced heavily enough to break.

No report of damage to power lines was received.

However, a barrage of calls hit the AAA this morning. Nineteen accident reports went into the office by 9:30 this morning, along with miscellaneous other calls as a result of weather conditions.

In other parts of the state, buses and trains were off schedule, planes were grounded and ice covered trees and power lines snapped in the wind.

Even the 60-foot Christmas tree in front of Detroit's City Hall was a victim. It crashed to the sidewalk at 7 p.m. last night with its lights still aglow.

State Police report six to eight inch snowfalls in the Houghton Lake, Muskegon and Rockford areas.

Detroit streetcar service was tied up when ice coated overhead wires, and traffic was snarled until the Department of Public Works crews dumped more than 700 tons of salt on main thoroughfares.

The U. S. Weather Bureau reports that most of the storm has passed and there will be only a few scattered snow flurries tonight and tomorrow. The low tonight will be 13 to 17 degrees in the Pontiac area with a high tomorrow of 26 to 30 degrees. Saturday will be partly cloudy and a little warmer.

This morning at 8 o'clock in downtown Pontiac the mercury stood at 28 degrees, going down to 26 at 10 a.m. and rising to 31 by 2 p.m.

According to Policeman Norman Dehnke, the boy escaped being crushed by about two inches when the vehicle overturned.

Treated for injuries received in the collision was Mrs. Norris, 25, of 60 N. Tasmania, Pontiac, the other driver. Carl Matheny, 22, of 2951 Voorheis, Pontiac, and Mrs. Norris' son, Adrian P., 7.

Police said Mrs. Norris' car was struck as she was crossing Franklin and "didn't see what hit me." Matheny told police he didn't think Mrs. Norris was going to pull out.

Harvard Scientist Honored by Mary Soper Pope Award

The Mary Soper Pope Medal for distinguished achievement in the field of plant sciences has been awarded to Prof. Irving W. Bailey, of Harvard University, by Cranbrook Institute of Science.

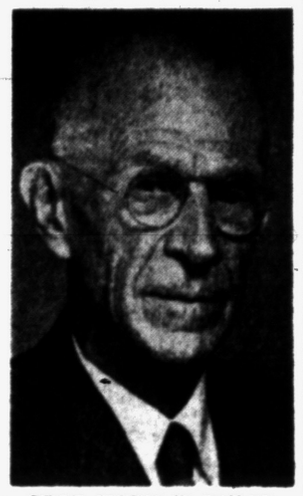

Presentation of the award is to be made this evening by Dr. Stanley A. Cain, former staff member of Cranbrook Institute, at the annual meeting of the Botanical Society of America in San Francisco.

Both forestry and agriculture are indebted to Prof. Bailey for his original studies of the cells of woody plants and how they develop. Experts are now able to predict growth rates of many trees and crops, and plan accordingly, Cranbrook scientists point out.

Early in his career he investigated primitive plants intensively to determine the probable origin and evolution of forms common in the world today. The theories he devised in this work are the basis of much current research.

The citation of Prof. Bailey reads, in part: "Cranbrook Institute of Science wishes to honor one of America's leading botanists, whose accomplishments and character are a beacon and inspiration to students and teachers alike, the world over."

Granted internationally to outstanding botanists, the Pope Medal has been awarded seven times since it was established in 1946 by the late Gustavus D. Pope, philanthropist and Detroit manufacturer, as a tribute to his deceased wife for her life-long devotion to botany.

Second Breakin Hits Birmingham Station

BIRMINGHAM—Just after a new pane of glass had been installed in a broken rear window following a Christmas Day breakin at Pinter's Service, 1585 N. Woodward, a second window next to it was found shattered. Police did not catch the thieves last night as they had before, and said $2.50 had been taken from a soft drink machine, plus two sets of wrenches valued at $19.

Ex-Reds Testify at Convention

3 Moral Rearmament Converts, Indian Solon Address Session

The comparison was offered by N. P. Rajabhoj, member of the Indian Parliament, in a speech before nearly 500 delegates from 23 countries attending a world assembly for moral rearmament.

The 10-day international conference turned its attention today to speeches by three former Communists who left the Red movement under the impetus of moral rearmament.

They are Max Bladeck, a former coal miner in the Ruhr region of Germany and for 28 years a Communist; Francis Smitherman, one-time young Communist cell leader in Birmingham, England; and Victor Laure, former merchant seaman from France.

Rajabhoj was among a host of speakers at yesterday's session emphasizing the theme that the Communist threat can be overcome and world peace achieved by a brotherhood of man based on "Golden Rule" conduct among individuals.

"When the East and West get together and start working together for what is right, then the might of the atomic bomb and the hydrogen bomb won't amount to anything," Rajabhoj said.

"I hope the time will come when we can work together to bring the principles of moral rearmament to the world and stop talking about bombs and war."

Paralyzing Storm Sweeps Toward East

Many of the motorists skidded into drifts because they were unused to winter driving and then spent the night in their cars as the storm howled about them. Near Lawton, Okla., a baby was born in a snowbound automobile.

Motorists had better luck in Kansas when the storm hit, but 25 inches of snow turned the city of Fort Scott into a ghost town.

The city's business came to a dead halt and National Guard troops were called out to clear the snow-clogged streets.

Farther west, a bone-chilling cold wave took the place of the storm and Wyoming temperatures weren't expected to get out of the zero to 10 above range today.

Another cold wave was expected to sweep into the Midwest, where the storm left up to 10 inches of snow in Iowa and clashed with warm air to produce a weird lightning and snow storm over Chicago and southern Wisconsin.

The storm's impact was already being felt in the East.

At Toledo and Reno Beach, Ohio, strong northeast winds sent Lake Erie over the dikes at a dozen places, flooding streets and smashing a cottage.

Sleet and freezing rain slicked highways in much of New England, and in West Virginia steady rains and melted snow flooded a number of small streams.

The storm system also made its power felt deep in the South where tornadoes in Alabama and Mississippi injured 22 persons and caused widespread property damage.

In addition, the bitter weather threatened to raise the toll of highway deaths during the New Year's holiday this weekend. A total of 240 highway deaths for the period starting at 6 p.m. tomorrow had been predicted before the storm struck.

Young Women Get Car Insurance Cut

NEW YORK (AP)—An insurance firm says it is cutting auto insurance rates for New York state women drivers under 25 because "young girls don't take the chances on the highway that boys do."

The Allstate Insurance Co. said yesterday premiums on liability and collision insurance for women under 25 will be cut an average of 35 per cent.

A spokesman for the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters said later that rate reductions for young women drivers were being considered by 150 companies represented by the bureau.

Suspect Admits Molesting Girl

But Continues Denial of Kidnap Attempt, as Probe Continues

A Waterford Township man yesterday admitted grabbing a girl Tuesday at Huron street and Genesee avenue, but denied attempting to abduct a baby in her care.

Henry A. Creech, 28, of 3300 Elizabeth Lake Rd., made the admission to Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem who said he would question the suspect further today.

Meanwhile, Pontiac police are seeking an unidentified woman who the girl, Roenehl Babcock, said witnessed the incident. They ask anyone with information to call Chief of Detectives Clark M. Wheaton at FE 2-2426.

The girl, who lives with the Max Voughts at 80 S. Genesee Ave., was wheeling their son, Gerry Leon, 16 months. She told police a man grabbed her, then snatched the child when she pulled free.

A scream from the unidentified woman startled the attacker, Miss Babcock said, and she grabbed the baby back. The girl later identified Creech in a police showup.

Network Denies Firing of Marlowe's Fiance

NEW YORK (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System denies that coproducer Larry Puck lost out on an Arthur Godfrey television show because he got engaged to singer Marion Marlowe, another member of the Godfrey radio and TV family.

Amid reports that Puck got "fired" or "demoted" because Godfrey previously has frowned on romances within the cast, CBS President Frank Stanton issued a statement last night quoting Godfrey as follows:

• • •

"I did not fire Larry Puck. He is a very valuable member of our setup and I regret his inability to continue all the responsibilities he has exercised for the past six years.

"I'm sorry I did not know about his engagement to Marion Marlowe. To both of them my blessings and best wishes."

• • •

Last night on his television show Godfrey and His Friends—the program for which Puck has acted as coproducer—Godfrey made two references to the romance.

As he introduced Miss Marlowe for her first song, he took her by the hand, admired her 6½-carat diamond engagement ring and said:

"I sure do wish you and Larry all the happiness in the world. You are two wonderful people."

State to Spend $5,000 Pushing Sale of Apples

LANSING (AP)—The state plans to spend $5,000 to promote the sale of Michigan apples, the Agriculture Department said today.

Joe E. Wells, administrative assistant, said much of Michigan's 1954 apple crop is still in storage.

"October rains caused the 1954 crop of apples to ripen too fast," he said. "They don't seem to be selling because they're too pale."

The 1954 crop was estimated at 5,650,000 bushels, Wells said. As of Dec. 1, some 2½ million bushels were still in storage.

On Dec. 1, 1953, only 1,930,000 bushels were in storage, he said. The 1953 crop was larger than this year's.

Wells said he would attend a meeting in Grand Rapids Monday with the advertising agency for the Apple Storage Commission to plan an advertising campaign.

Most of the advertising, he said, would be placed in bakers' trade journals on the theory that more of the apples can be sold to commercial bakers than to housewives.

TRAFFIC CRAWLS — One lane traffic was the rule at Fort Scott, Kan., as the community started to dig out from a 26-inch snowfall which hit the area yesterday. Shown above is a line of trucks and automobiles slowly moving down one of the main streets after the street had been partially cleared. Some drifts were as high as parking meters.

Other officers are Horace Hatfield and Edwin Adler, both vice presidents, Al Benter Jr., secretary and Clayton Dennis, treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors are William Dunseith, James Harrington, Clifford Huntoon, Glenn Rogers, Merritt Morrison, Charles Paliaian and Harrison Miller.

Lincicome addressed the group on the subject, "Our Past Year" and toastmaster at the meeting was Harry Woodman of GMC Truck and Coach Div. Entertainment was supplied by David Norton, manager of radio station WPON, who is a professional magician. Installing officer was Lt. Governor Denton Hassell, past president of the Ferndale Kiwanis Club.

French Vote Okays Arms for Germany

deputies reaffirmed 287 - 256 France's acceptance of West Germany as a partner in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

On Monday the deputies approved the two separate articles of the NATO measure: 289-251; today the margin was cut by seven votes.

The other agreements, ending the Allied occupation of West Germany and putting the disputed Saar Valley under international control, were ratified quickly last Friday after the Assembly first voted down the German rearmament pact.

Because he had not made the latter pact a confidence issue, Mendes-France was able to call again for its ratification in a new bill. A showdown had been expected in last night's Assembly session. Intricacies of French parliamentary procedure, manipulated by the Assembly's Communist bloc, forced the postponement.

In Augusta, Ga., President Eisenhower is keeping in close touch with the voting. The White House staff spent most of yesterday near telephones.

Groves Heated 3 Nights

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Orchard heaters glowed for the third successive night as Southern California lemon and orange growers attempted to prevent freezing temperatures from damaging their multimillion-dollar crop. Warmer weather is expected for the weekend.

Judge Studies Retrial Motion

Sheppard's Attorneys Cite 41 Errors Made in Court Proceedings

CLEVELAND (AP)—Judge Edward Blythin today took under advisement a motion for a new trial by Dr. Samuel Sheppard, convicted of second degree murder last week in the July 4 bludgeoning of his pregnant wife, Marilyn.

The motion cited 4 errors which defense attorneys said were made during the trial of the Bay Village osteopath.

Another part of the same motion was filed today, a week after the original petition. In the new request, Sheppard's attorneys said they have "newly discovered evidence now known and not available to the defendant at the time of his trial."

Judge Blythin said he would hold a separate hearing Jan. 8 on that part of the motion. The attorneys did not specify what new evidence was discovered.

Sheppard has been sentenced to life in prison. Unless the jury verdict is upset, it will be 10 years before he is eligible for parole.

Sheppard appeared sleepy but confident as he was led into the courtroom, handcuffed to a deputy sheriff.

• • •

For the hearing today Sheppard's attorneys subpoenaed five witnesses. They were J. Spencer Houk, mayor of Bay Village and a close friend of the Sheppard family; George Dallas, a Cleveland Plain Dealer reporter who was one of the first newsmen to reach the scene of the slaying; and three members of the jury that convicted Sheppard.

One of the jurors, Mrs. Luella Williams, was asked by defense attorney William J. Corrigan whether she had received a letter during the trial.

• • •

She said she had turned the letter over to a bailiff. The hearing was recessed briefly while court attaches searched for the letter.

Presumably the letter was similar to the crank letters which were received by many of the prospective jurors before the trial began.

Corrigan also asked Mrs. Williams whether she ever told a woman friend that "you would fry Sheppard?" She emphatically denied making any such statement.

The other jurors subpoenaed were James C. Bird, the jury foreman; and Mrs. Louise Feuchter.

2 MSC Deans Planning Trip to Okinawa School

EAST LANSING (AP)—Two Michigan State College deans will leave Jan. 6 for Okinawa to review progress of MSC's "adopted" university, the University of Ryukyus.

Dean M. E. Mueller of the school of science and arts and Dean T. K. Cowden of the school of agriculture will make the inspection tour, expected to take about a month.

Michigan State, through a contract with the Army, has been helping the young university for the past four years. Six MSC faculty members currently are serving at the University of Ryukyus as teachers and advisers.

Cardinal Leaves Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, left for Okinawa today after nine days here and in Korea. Today he said Mass aboard the carrier Princeton in Yokosuka harbor.

It is estimated that in six months the progeny of a single pair of common houseflies, if all of them lived, could exceed about 100 quintillion in numbers.

Californians Convicted for Staging Accident

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two men accused of a fake accident insurance collection scheme were convicted yesterday of conspiracy and grand theft.

The state charged that Bill Goldstein, 38, of Culver City, and Jay Rich, 40, of Pacoima, arranged a collision in August 1953 between a truck driven by Goldstein and a car carrying Rich, then effected a $3,000 insurance settlement. Sentencing was set for Jan. 18.

Hal Boyle Says:

There Are Certain Signs Telling When You're Old

How can you tell whether you have become an adult or still remain a child?

Well, there are some signposts along the way. You show definite indications of being grownup when—

You start pondering whom you'd like to leave your money to—if you had any to leave.

The kids who used to call you "musclehead" have sons who address you as "mister."

You really start planning to see your dentist once a year, your doctor twice a year.

You've acquired three "Dear John" letters from girl friends who've fallen for other guys.

You learn that the surest sign of a woman's interest in a man is her willingness to lend him money.

You can meet an old flame and feel never a twinge of the old heartburn. In fact she honestly looks crumby to you.

You go to your monthly lodge meeting and somebody nominates you for the office of historian.

The laughter of strangers disturbs you, young lovers seem like fools, and children make you feel unreasonably cranky.

You no longer dare ask a pretty office secretary to lunch for fear of what the rest of the staff will think.

You find yourself aruging that no horse could be greater than Man O'War, and no fighter ever lived who could whip Jack Dempsey in his prime.

Somebody mentions McCarthy, and you think first of Charlie and then of Joe.

You begin to put foot powder into your shoes each morning, and carry cough drops in your pocket regularly.

The wife finally decides you're old enough to have a night out each week to play poker with the boys—and all you want to do is play poker with the boys.

Other people's children seem as pretty and smart as your own—and certainly better-mannered.

You go to the beach for a swim, but merely lie on the sand in the sun and never go near the water.

Your wife starts campaigning for a new fur coat. Nothing ages a man more than the realization that one fur coat won't last a woman a lifetime).

A Boy Scout abandons an old lady in mid-street to rush over and help you reach the sidewalk safely.

You'd rather brag about what you used to do than what you're going to be.

You read the diets on the women's pages, then the obituary notices before turning to the sports pages. It no longer seems odd to you that undertakers print ads giving funeral prices, and you muse over which is really the biggest bargain.

You carry your paycheck home without even thinking of opening it yourself to see what's inside.

Instead of being awakened at night by "growing up" pains, you find you no longer can doze at your work by day because of "growing down" pains.

A hatcheck girl smiles engagingly at you, and you don't smile back. You merely frown and wonder what's so funny.

You can read a piece like this in a newspaper and think, "The guy's got a point alright, though naturally most of what he says sure don't apply to me—yet."

Knight Buys Largest Paper in Carolinas

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — The Knight Newspapers have purchased the Charlotte Observer, largest daily in the two Carolinas, for seven million dollars.

James L. Knight, general manager of the Miami Herald, became president and publisher of the Observer. He said the paper would be politically independent.

Mrs. Curtis B. Johnson, who has published the paper since her husband's death in 1950, announced the sale yesterday. The purchase price includes the Observer Transportation Co., distributors of the paper.

The Miami Herald Publishing Co., one of the Knight papers, was the purchaser.

Early Sale Routs Thugs

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—James Revillini, auto parts dealer, was awakened at 3:30 a.m. by an apologetic customer who needed a truck tire right away. Revillini got to his store just in time to scare off a gang of burglars. They left behind $3,000 worth of auto parts that they had stuffed into nine burlap bags.

The former assistant pastor at Corpus Christi Cathedral here said yesterday he and Dorothy Rogers, local radio station employe, were married Dec. 20.

Miss America Ad Libs on TV Dramatic Debut

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—When "Miss America," Lee Ann Meriweather of San Francisco, made her debut as a dramatic actress on TV, she was not only calm—she proved she could ad lib. Another performer handed her her coat, but gave it to her backwards. Instead of getting flustered, she said, "No, I'm wearing it the other way this season."

All the same it was done for several days . . . but the mystery of her whereabouts may be settled now. Her attorney, Frank Delaney, was asked to have her report at 20th Century-Fox in Hollywood Tuesday for "additional photography" on "The Seven-Year Itch."

Delaney asked for a few days postponement. Marilyn's been traveling and "isn't too well." She's also indicated she'd like to spend New Year's with the Milton H. Greenes in Westport, Conn. Delaney's helping her adjust her film contract. She wants—among other concessions—story approval.

KIM NOVAK

TV Actor Eddie Hanley has been around smooching all the girls this holiday season. "I guess I just got the Kissmus spirit," he explained.

Beautiful Kim Novak sent the Wilsons a most imaginative holiday gift. Kim and her beau, Mack Krim, use a rubber stamp when they go calling which says, "Kim and Krim were here," and, on their return, another stamp that says, "Novack and Mack were back." She sent us a stamp saying, "E.W. and the B.W. were here. That's EARL and his girl, brother."

Jackie Gleason's manager, "Bullets" Durgom, was trying to explain the huge figure Jackie'll be earning from Buick to a reporter. "We call it $11,000,000 although actually it's only $10,500,000—but," he said, "we figure we'll need half a million for stamps."

To Add 4 Terminals

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—L. D. Rahilly, president of the Interstate Motor Freight System Co., said Wednesday his firm plans to build four new freight terminals and add 170 new truck trailers to its fleet in 1955. He said terminals, part of an estimated $2,000,000 program, will be built in Benton Harbor, Cincinnati, Ohio, Carlstadt, N. J., and Syracuse, N. Y.

Robot Tanks Planned

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The Army has given Lear, Inc., an M48 tank for use in experimental work on an electronic control system to pilot robot tanks. K. R. Hahn, manager of Lear's instrument contracts division, said the tank would be used in developing tank controls along the lines of automatic flight controls now used in aircraft.

More Jobs Reported

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The Michigan Employment Security Commission Wednesday reported an increase in employment in the Grand Rapids area during the period ending Dec. 15. The commission placed employment at 107,700—an increase of 900 over the last 30-day period ending Nov. 15.

Liquor Holiday Wins Applause

Only 2 Violations Mar State's 58-Hour Ban on Alcohol Sales

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's longest dry spell since prohibition, the 58-hour ban on the sale of all intoxicants over the Christmas weekend, passed off with only two violations.

Chairman Frank Blackford of the State Liquor Control Commission, reporting today on a statewide canvass, said "This is a truly remarkable showing and speaks well for the cooperation of the licensees. We didn't expect such obedience."

The commission had ordered all licensees to suspend from 9 p.m. Christmas Eve to 7 a.m. Monday morning.

Blackford said one package liquor dealer in Jackson sold a pint of whisky to a commission investigator and that the Detroit police cited a licensee for permitting people to remain in his establishment after the closing hour. No evidence of the sale of intoxicants was found, he said.

Establishments selling for consumption on the premises may stay open until 4 a.m. New Year's Day. Package beer, wine and liquor stores must close at their regular hours New Year's Eve, 11 p.m. For peckage liquor (SSD) licensees and 2 a.m. for package beer-wine (SDM) licensees.

1950 Security Act Upheld

A decision of the United States Court of Appeals upholding the Internal Security Act of 1950 will strike most Americans as sound legal approval of a necessary statute.

The effect of this two to one decision is to require Communists to register and to make public their membership lists and financial statements. It confirms the conclusions of the Subversive Activities Control Board that the Communist party in this country is Soviet controlled and seeks to establish a world dictatorship.

In other words the court sees nothing unconstitutional in requiring full publicity on membership and finances or withdrawal of protection from those who seek to overthrow our Government by force or violence.

Quite properly it has decided that Congress was within its rights in taking such protective action against the Moscow conspiracy. Judge Prettyman put it simply when he wrote in the majority decision "we perceive no basic reason why the Government must stand helpless before activities such as these described in this statute."

In his dissenting opinion Judge Bazelon doesn't seek to comfort the Reds. He merely views the requirement of registration as a violation of the Constitution's Fifth Amendment safeguard against self incrimination.

Whether or not such an argument is valid, the Communists aren't going to submit to the Appeals Court decision. This means that the final word on this statute will be handed down in due time by our highest court.

Italy Will Ratify

The overwhelming majority by which the Italian Chamber of Deputies approved the pacts of Paris is an historic and heartening event.

The manner in which all parties except the Communists and their sympathizers, endorsed the pacts makes final ratification by the Italian Senate certain.

★ ★ ★

The vote was a major victory for Premier Scelba and Western unity and defense. It also was a stunning defeat for the Communists who have fought everything Scelba has tried to do. The fact is, according to Rome dispatches, the Communists of late have been losing effectiveness because of the rising standard of living.

★ ★ ★

It is reasonable to believe that this latest evidence of democratic strength should lend effectiveness to Premier Scelba's openly declared war on Italy's Communist Fifth Column.

The vote also places Italy alongside Britain, Germany, Norway and Iceland which already have endorsed the Paris agreement in preliminary or final form.

Hate Groups Watched

A report by the House Un-American Activities Committee brings the reassuring news that operations of right wing extremists or hate groups are being watched.

It may be regretted that the committee did not hold regular hearings. As a result the groups under scrutiny had no opportunity to testify on their own behalf. But there should be general satisfaction in the knowledge that at least two such extremist organizations have been brought to public attention.

★ ★ ★

One of these is the virtually unknown National Renaissance party of New York. According to the committee's report this organization's membership today numbers between 200 to 700. Founded in 1949, the report says this party is avowedly Fascist and carries on anti-Semitic, pro-Nazi activities that are "clearly subversive and un-American."

★ ★ ★

The other group is headed by Conde J. McGinley, senior and junior. Its major activity is the publication of the paper, Common Sense, a sheet which blames everything wrong on the Jews. Its paid circulation is put at 15,796 and it regularly distributes 30,000 free copies.

The committee's conclusion is that Common Sense is "a vehicle for the exploitation of ignorance, prejudice and fear and a channel for hate propaganda being issued by numerous other individuals and organizations scattered throughout the country."

Commendation is due the committee for not overestimating the menace of these groups. That is the kind of publicity on which they thrive. But it has done a public service in pointing out that those who support the extreme right do as much violence to our national institutions as do those on the extreme left.

According to a conservative estimate, the chance of a New Year's resolution winning over a long-established habit is 1 in 37.

Until it proved to be a false prophecy, the recent prediction of the end of the world had the Old Sorehead torn between fear and hope.

It is our advice that you manage to live through 1955 if you can. If you don't do so, you'll most likely miss a lot of excitement.

About the "shivering dog," I am of the same opinion to some extent. At no cost, I could furnish a dozen or so doghouse fronts that can be attached in about a minute and would keep the house very comfortable, providing it was built well.

I have put these on houses previous winters and they helped a lot. Just call FE 2-8955 and state size of hole in the doghouse.

F. E. Hyde Recalls 1937 Speech by FDR

"I see millions of families trying to live on incomes so meager that the pall of disaster hangs over them day by day. I see millions whose daily lives in cities and on farms continue under conditions labeled indecent by a so-called polite society a half century ago.

"I see millions denied education, recreation, and the opportunity to better their lot and the lot of their children. I see millions lacking the means to buy the product of farm and factory and by their poverty denying work and productiveness to many other millions. I see one third of a nation ill-housed, ill-clad, ill-nourished."

This is quoted from a speech delivered by F. D. Roosevelt January 20, 1937, after he had been president four years, and after we had a Democratic Congress for six years.

I have two Reader's Digests that mention the fact that there were ten million men out of work in the summer of 1940. Maybe that looks good to your Democrats, but not to me. Now they holler when there are less than three million out of work.

And how about the Jap war equipment turned over to the Reds to use against our boys in Korea under Democrat rule? How about the national debt?

Respect for Laws Builds Character

The true objective of law is to promote justice, protect the innocent and punish the guilty. There are two kinds of law enforcement: One is to be forced to obey or be punished, the other is to volunteer to obey.

Do right because it is "right" to do right and refuse to do wrong because it is "wrong" to do wrong. This is self-discipline, the only kind of discipline that builds a good character. To respect the rights and feelings of others is to show culture and character.

Blushing a Sign of Self-Consciousness; Combat It by Giving Out Compliments

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Norma makes the mistake of many shy girls in her dilemma and shuns parties. Instead, she should be glad she blushes, for that gives her an advantage over the non-blushing girl. It makes boys feel superior, which is why they stay around her to tease her further.

Case N-310. Norma W., aged 18, is a college coed.

"Dr. Crane, I blush on the slightest provocation," she confessed.

"And because of that fact boys pick on me. They go out of their way just to tease me, knowing I'll blush as red as a beet.

"It makes my life so miserable that I shun boys and stay at home instead of going to parties.

"Is there any method by which to overcome blushing?"

Blushing is a first cousin to stuttering, as well as to spastic colitis and several other nervous effects.

But the person who blushes is more conspicuous since his flushed skin attracts attention.

The cause of the redness is the extra blood that suddenly accumulates in the vessels of the skin when they dilate.

Blushing is thus a natural reaction in an overheated person, for the body then dilates the blood vessels in the skin so the blood will cool off faster.

But Norma's type of blushing is the psychological sort which has developed as a nuisance habit and thus has become a "complex," akin to stuttering.

Whenever she feels acutely self-conscious and imagines that everybody is looking at her, she says she can then feel the warmth in her skin and knows that she is turning as red as a beet.

The most effective means of combatting such blushing is to avoid that self-consciousness.

"Yes, Dr. Crane, but how can

I quit feeling so self-conscious?" she begs.

The answer is to focus your attention diligently on other people, as by joining the "Compliment Club."

It requires you to become a social detective so you can pick out some desirable traits in your companions. Then pay them a verbal compliment thereon.

And as you search your neighbors for their virtues you meanwhile cannot be thinking acutely about yourself.

They must not flee from social contacts and shun parties or dates.

"Norma, do you know why boys tease you about your blushing?" I asked.

"Oh, it's because they want to embarrass me," she replied.

But that isn't the basic reason. They do it because Norma makes them feel happier. For as she blushes, they feel superior. They are more poised than she is.

"I Want To Feel Important" is the magic motto figuratively tattooed on the chest of all of us at birth.

So Norma's blushing makes the boys actually feel more assured and important, for they are not blushing as she is.

Norma actually has an advantage over non-blushing girls. She must remember, that boys tease her because they enjoy her company.

"Why are you blushing?" they may boldly inquire.

"Because I'm a red-blooded American," she should pertly learn to reply, with a smile, and then turn the spotlight on them by some compliment, such as "By the way, that's a beautiful tie you are wearing. Where did you get it?"

James Marlow Says:

Sen. McCarthy Previews What He'll Do in 1955

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), having dominated the news for much of 1954, wouldn't let the old year pass without a few more words and a promise of plenty to come in 1955.

After his attack on President Eisenhower Dec. 7 it seemed for a while he might sign off for the rest of the year. At leat he had nothing else to say for almost three weeks. This week he made up for lost time.

The general line he took in several statements wasn't exactly new: he wants this country to cut off aid to countries which trade with Red China. He had said the same thing before, more than a year ago.

But, judging from what he said, he may also have been giving a preview of the course he'll take in 1955. He may be shifting from fighting communism at home to fighting it abroad, although he could combine both.

There had been speculation after the Senate condemned him for some of his conduct Dec. 2 on what he would do next year. He had been working the fight against Communists at home steadily for four years.

There was always the chance he might become a bore if he stuck to the same line another four years, which is the amount of time he has left in the Senate before he has to face the voters again in 1958.

Besides in these next two years, with the Democrats running Congress and the Investigations subcommittee of which he has been chairman the past two years, his chance for making headlines will be rather diminished.

If he could find a new course, not necessarily divorced from communism, which he has made his special province, he might be able to win new public attention.

He has now said he will make a lot of speeches around the country in 1955, demanding a tougher policy toward the Chinese Communists. He could concentrate on that while at the same time taking swipes at communism at home.

If anyone, inside or outside the Eisenhower wing of the Republican party, had the notion McCarthy might retire into the background after his condemnation by the Senate and his attack on the President, he must have other ideas by now.

In a nationally broadcast reply to former President Truman, who had criticized him obliquely, McCarthy, in the fall of 1953, demanded the Eisenhower administration shut off aid to any allies trading with Red China.

(This government has an embargo on all trade with Red China, but a number of friendly nations allow limited trade.)

McCarthy didn't pursue that idea very often during 1954. Most of his time was taken up with the McCarthy-Army hearings and the Senate hearings and debate on censuring him.

On Dec. 7, five days after the Senate had condemned him, McCarthy accused Eisenhower of a "shrinking show of weakness" toward world communism.

He made this attack shortly after Eisenhower had congratulated Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), who had fought for McCarthy's censure. The President praised Watkins for his fairness.

Then McCarthy, nursing an injured elbow, disappeared on a vacation. He had nothing to say publicly until Dec. 26, when he announced a "lot of public speaking" in 1955 to force a tougher policy toward Red China. He also said he planned no further hearings on communism this year.

He followed this up in an exclusive interview with the Chicago Tribune on Dec. 27, attacking Eisenhower's advisers as the "palace guard" and saying some of the words Eisenhower spoke about him were thought up by those around him.

On Dec. 28 he reversed what he had said Dec. 26 by announcing he would hold all-day hearings Monday seeking Communists in defense plants. On Dec. 29 he returned to the theme of wanting to fight for a tougher policy toward the Chinese Reds.

She fascinated Congress, captivated the White House, hypnotized the top brass and went bingo on five o'clock diplomacy.

The pretty little Mandarin's Ming-toy was a hawk in butterfly's clothing.

That's how we got on dream street where they bivouac on the elbow around the aromatic campfire built on a bamboo mat.

This is not double-talk from the two-headed boy. Folks, an attractive importation wrapped Congress around her little finger like it was a handle on a teacup.

Believe it or the marching Ripleys that's as true as twelve to the dozen. I heard her talk once and this Circe of a thousand wiles signed me up as second engineer in the boiler room of a paper dragon.

That's how we got into the China mess up to our neck with our infatuated diplomutts making waves. When history is updated to contemporary level they will rate Tootsie Kai-shek over Delilah, Cleo and Helen of Troy.

Madam Kai-gimmic kcould give those dull dames kings and spades and beat 'em with the discard. She ran a travel agency just to get her old man on Formosa. He's the only exile in history who thinks he's winning.

Chiang was going like fire along a wool string until he got into a pearl-buttoned spat with Flossie Kai-shek. The result was he got first chop with the back of her hand.

60 Per Cent of All Heart Specialists' Patients Really Have Nothing Wrong

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

In reference to pain or distress wrongly attributed to the heart and disturbances of heart function Dr. J. A. Olle, Canadian internist, said: "Almost 60 per cent of patients who consult a cardiac ($10 word for heart) specialist are suffering either from an exaggerated or wholly unnecessary anxiety about their hearts, arising from suggestion and not based on reason. Most of the suggestions arise from careless or ill-considered remarks by doctors."

Out of 631 persons referred to the Work Classification Unit in New York because of employment difficulties attributed to heart disease, 175 were found to have no heart disease at all.

Weak heart is popular with neurotics, responsibility and work evaders, chiselers, draft dodgers and free loaders. When the doctor acquiesces in such a phony diagnosis it is not because he is willing to contribute to fraud or deception but because he lacks the skill to determine or measure the efficiency of the heart. Every heart is weaker or stronger than another heart, but an unqualified diagnosis of "weak heart" is as revealing as it would be to say "All I know is what the patient tells me."

If the trouble is just weak heart the cure is simple and certain—graduated exercise, that is, gradually increasing daily stints of exercise, play or work over a period of three or four months.

I believe this treatment should be compulsory for every individual purporting to have a weak heart, unless he or she is granted exemption by a medical board.

In Little Lesson No. 2 CVD about heart and artery troubles I recommend a real heart tonic for any weak heart, that is to say a remedy which restores enfeebled function and promotes vigor and a sense of well being. If this seems inconsistent, so long, it has been pleasant talking with you. On the other hand, if you study Little Lesson No. 2 carefully you will understand that I am as consistent as you could really expect a doctor to be.

I particularly recommend that any poor soul who thinks he or she must have a daily dose of digitalis to keep the heart working use my heart tonic as a vehicle for the medicine and then after a week or two, begin decreasing the daily dose of digitalis but keep on taking the tonic for a year, and I'll guarantee—no, no an honest doctor can never guarantee anything — I earnestly assure you that by the time you take the last dose of digitalis (within two or three weeks) your heart will be working so well and you'll be in such fine fettle that you'll wonder why that old fogy doctor ever planted in your alleged mind the morbid suggestion that you'd have to take digitalis as long as you live.

For a copy of the CVD booklet send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope. In it I say this about digitalis:

"Most good physicians still believe it is of value in the treatment of heart disease (decompensation, dilatatoin, congestive stage) and they seem pretty confident in the rationale of its use. But I would take it only if my doctor ordered me to take it or else. I don't know how long I'd be willing to take it, but I'd take it or else—fire the doctor."

This, I hope, will stop any reader who tries to heckle his doctor when or if the doctor prescribes digitalis.

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed. etc.

Keep Your Menus Simple for Welcoming New Year

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

One of the last food chores of the year 1954 may be the planning of food for a New Year's Eve Party. Maybe you're having a dinner to start the festive evening; maybe you're planning refreshments to serve as the old year slides into the new. What's the menu going to be?

If we could make just one suggestion, we would say: Make it simple!

If your calendar for the week between Christmas and New Year's resembled ours, it is already full of dates for this meal and that. We all eat too much, anyway, especially during the holidays.

For an early evening meal we suggest a buffet supper.

As always, we consider a casserole the perfect answer to the question of a main course. It can be made ahead of time, keeps hot during the meal and provides meat, starch and a vegetable all in one.

The first recipe is for a large crowd.

Company Spaghetti Creole

8 ounces long spaghetti
4 hard-cooked eggs
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup finely chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 can (17 or 20 ounces) tomatoes
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
½ cup water
¾ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
¼ teaspoon dried basil, crumbled
½ cup shredded cheddar cheese (2 ounces)
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender (about seven minutes). Drain and rinse. While spaghetti is cooking, melt butter or margarine in large saucepan or skillet. Add onion and green pepper and brown lightly. Stir in tomatoes, tomato paste, water, salt, pepper and basil.

Cook gently about 15 minutes. Chop three of the eggs and add to sauce. Continue cooking about three minutes longer.

Place spaghetti in bottom of a large heat-proof platter or shallow casserole. Spoon sauce over spaghetti. Slice remaining egg and arrange on top of sauce. Sprinkle cheese over top.

Place under broiler, about five inches from heat, until cheese is melted and lightly browned (about three to five minutes.)

Makes six to eight servings.

• • •

Ham Noodle Rolls

4 ounces medium noodles
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
½ teaspoon horseradish
1 cup milk
1 cup shredded American cheese
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
4 slices boiled ham
Buttered bread crumbs

Cook noodles in boiling salted water until tender (about five minutes). Drain and rinse. While noodles are cooking, melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in saucepan. Stir in flour, salt, mustard and horseradish. Add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add three-fourths cup cheese and stir until melted.

Toss noodles lightly with 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Place a generous spoonful on each slice of ham. Roll up and fasten with toothpick. Arrange in 8-inch square baking dish.

Arrange remaining noodles around ham rolls. Pour cheese sauce over all. Sprinkle with remaining cheese and bread crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (350) degrees about 30 minutes. Makes four servings.

• • •

Keep your salad simple too. Head lettuce is unusually nice this year. You might consider a platter of lettuce wedges served with a choice of dressings, or make a fruit plate from oranges, grapefruit, grapes, avocados and apple wedges and serve with a fruit dressing.

Either one of these salads provides good contrast to a casserole.

Citrus Salad Dressing

2 eggs, slightly beaten
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup lemon juice
½ cup orange juice
¼ teaspoon mustard
¼ teaspoon salt

Combine and cook in double boiler until thickened. Chill. If desired, fold in ½ cup cream, whipped. (Makes about 1 cup.) Serve with fresh fruit or molded salad.

• • •

Keep the dessert light. Many people prefer to pass it up entirely, so please don't feel it is any reflection on your cooking.

Thinly sliced fruitcake, a plate of Christmas cookies, a chiffon pie (perhaps eggnog?), or assorted crackers and cheese—any one will end the meal nicely.

Perhaps you'll skip dessert entirely and serve it later in the evening with that cup of coffee for the road.

• • •

Something in a chafing dish is good for late evening refreshments. After the heavy food of the Christmas week, Eggs a la Goldenrod on toast or hot biscuits would just hit the spot. Creamed dried beef, a Welsh rarebit or steaming hot soup might come from the chafing dish.

If you serve soup, make it oyster stew or mix your own combination of canned soups for a taste treat. With the soup, crackers, of course, or popcorn, Melba toast or hot French bread.

We've mentioned the Dutch lunch idea before, as our favorite way of feeding evening guests. Let your imagination be your guide as you choose cheese, cold meats and relishes.

With all these suggestions for food be sure to include plenty of hot coffee and a pot of fragrant tea for those who prefer it. Happy New Year's Eve!

Coppers Unable to Locate Lady's Stolen Choppers

While forks paused in mid-air, Mrs. Eversburg shoved about five or six chairs against the entrance and announced to about 30 customers and the hired help:

"Not one of you is leaving until I get my teeth back."

She was persuaded to desert her bastion, but she telephoned police. About 50 persons gathered on the sidewalk.

Mrs. Eversburg said she had put her $85 upper plate in a napkin before dinner. When she preapred to leave, the teeth were missing. An hour's search by police and the management failed to locate them. Mrs. Eversburg went home.

Wins House Seat by Drawing Number

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Abraham Sigman is the winner of a seat in the Pennsylvania House of Representatives because he won the flip of a coin and drew the right number from a pouch.

Republican Sigman and his Democratic opponent, incumbent Alphonso Parlante, agreed to the game of chance after their race in the city's 2nd Legislative District ended in a tie vote, 9,824 each.

A Pennsylvania law states election ties are to be decided "by lot." However, both candidates agreed beforehand that they would sign a stipulation giving them the right to appeal. Parlante immediately announced he would take the matter of his loss before the Democratic-controlled State House, which convenes next month.

Tidal forces of the sun and moon produce tides in inland lakes, but they usually are too small to measure. Lake Superior, for example, has a tide with a range of about two inches.

Hubby Should Help Wife With Chores Inside House

By MARGARET LATROBE

One young bridegroom said to his wife—"just don't ever expect me to help with the dishes." And she didn't. Each evening, this job took just a little bit longer and hubby waited impatiently for her return to the living room.

He poked his head into the kitchen—"Hey, hurry up. What's taking you so long?" Silly boy. Now he is cooking, paring vegetables, baking biscuits, souffles and pies. He has learned to clean up quickly.

But he wasn't going to get roped in on baby tending. "My foot is firmly down!" and he, trying hot to hear the wee one screeching Da-da-da-da. Silly man! Now he can mix the formula for the other additions, burp them, change them, bathe them.

All the fuss and furor about husbands being servants just adds up to one thing — they love it. What's with a man and woman doing work together at home? It seems to me that the best thing about modern living is that men and women no longer feel that great spearation of chores. No lines drawn on what is your job, what is mine. If hardship comes, the wife grabs her shorthand book and gets a job downtown. Why should it be so terrible if men have learned to enjoy housework?

I don't say they should learn to crochet afghans, although there is nothing effeminate about needlework—if they like it. I don't say they should become the doormats of lazy girls who don't carry their own stroke on the team. But to imply that husbands are doing two jobs while wifey entertains herself all day and shirks the housework doesn't ring any gongs in my head.

Anybody seen a few wives Or maybe toting a flagstone or mowing lawns in summer? Or digging weeds out of the garden? two while Pop widens the terrance? Anybody notice a wife painting woodwork or hanging a bit of wallpaper or replacing a shingle here and there?

Nobody complains about the poor female taking over man's work—why all the noise about Pop at the kitchen sink in a pretty white apron?

He likes it fine. He and the little woman are together. Having fun together. Who's complaining?

A winter cruise to South America may be beyond your means—but you can now have the tropics at your feet by walking into your favorite shoe store and stepping out in a pair of the new tropical leather shoes.

What's tropical leather, you ask? It's a wonderfully new feeling in shoe fashions—vibrant leather colors and novel leather textures in gay, highly-styled casual or dressy shoes for every pleasurable occasion. Shoes of leather inspired by the color and romance of tropical climes—a minor miracle wrought by the U. S. leather industry.

Some Fibers Tough

Cotton and linen can take the roughest washing treatment. They can stand a high temperature and be washed longer than other fabrics. Wools, silks, rayon, acetate and nylon fibers all need lower temperatures than cotton or linen and more gentle handling. Remember that rayon and acetate fibers are weakened when wet, so handle them with care.

New Cover Fabric Extremely Durable

Motorists who complain about low-wearing qualities of fiber seat covers may be in for a pleasant surprise. One company has unveiled a new cover that is water-resistant, washable and extremely durable even when wet. Treated with neoprene, a synthetic rubber, the new fiber covers offer the rider a cool and comfortable ride.

For beauty and health's sake, too, never apply powder with a soiled puff. Not only are soiled puffs unsightly, but they are known spreaders of infection.

Combination of Types of Work Often Answer for Occupation Desires

His Two Main Interests Are Gratified in One Job

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"My husband has made a career change which I think might interest you," a reader writes, "and he is so very happy in the new work that the whole family is purring.

"You see, John was always a kind of problem child. He loved the outdoors, and was always collecting stones and all kinds of things.

"But when he finished high school, there wasn't much money, so he went right into a clerical job in a bank. He worked at it for two years, and did really find finance interesting. But it was clear that, to get ahead, he'd have to go to college.

"By this time, the family's finances were looking up, so they could afford to pay his way through college. He went to the university, planning to major in business and finance, but just for the fun of it, in freshman year, he took a course in geology. He loved it. He loved it so much that he switched courses and graduated as a geologist.

"It was then that we met and married, and for several years, he was a geologist. But I could see he was unhappy. He felt he was in an ivory tower, far from the exciting world of business.

He didn't quite know what he wanted; he would miss the geology if he went into straight banking, and he would miss the finance if he stayed in straight geology.

"After worrying about it for a while, he suddenly saw that the right solution was right under his nose—to combine his two great interests.

He wrote a good letter to the large investment banks, and he got the dream job. He works as a geologist now, on the staff of a bank. When the bank is considering investing money in an oil well property, for example, they send John to investigate and see if it's good oil property. He does his geology, but he does it in a financial atmosphere, and he's happy as he can be!"

Shower Can Be Hazard in the Home

By HUBBARD COBB

We haven't had time to conduct much of a survey but our guess is that an awful lot of people in this country like to take showers. Now in the average home there are three hazards, as we see it involved in taking a shower. One is that if you have a combination bathtub and shower arrangement, you might slip while showering and get a nasty bump for your troubles. This can be eliminated by installing a grab bar on the wall high enough up to make is someting you can grab as you go down. The other two hazards involve water. One is that while you are taking a shower there will be a drop in the cold water pressure and you'll get a blast of boiling hot water down your back. This can be dangerous and has caused some nasty burns. This hazard can be eliminated by installing a thermostatic water mixer for your shower. With this sort of device, once you have set the water at a certain temperature, it stays at that temperature regardless of how many cold water taps about the house are turned on or there is a drop in the cold water pressure.

The other hazard involved with taking a shower is the "what's happened to the hot water hazard." This usually happens in homes where the domestic hot water supply comes from a coil in the boiler. When the house heating system demands heat, it gets the heat and this often leaves the guy in the shower without a drop of hot water to warm his freezing skin. The solution here is a special valve and control that won't allow the house to get any heat until after you have finished your shower.

Beauty Trade Treated Well

Customers at Lilly Dache's ultra swank New York beauty salon are being treated these days to the additinal luxury of wearing cover-robes made of new high fashion cottons while they are having their shampoos and facials.

Always one to do things up brown for her mink-coated clientele, Madame Dache asked a textile expert to design a special cotton for her customers' robes. The fabric had to be textured and tinted to blend in with the salon's new rosy pink and sea green decor, as well as crisp, crease resistant and launderable as only cotton can be.

The result: the lustrous and expensive "Half-Shell Pique" in a warm shade of pink flecked with white.

Fry a slice of potato in fat to remove odors of fish, onions, or other highly flavored foods.

Realization Love Is Gone Hits Girl

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

It's like racing through an exciting book only to turn the page and find it—and all the rest of the book—blank pages. There's nothing more to read. You'll never know how the thing turned out. Let down? Absolutely deflated!

The same way you feel when a romance ends abruptly and without warning. The next page is blank. You want to continue the story, of course. Particularly if the break descends on your unwilling head. You want to know why it had to end like this. But you don't know whom to ask. You're sunk in frustration, mired in hopelessness, panicky.

Just as this girl is:

"Dear Miss Woodward: Just yesterday I got a letter from my boy friend who's in the service. He told me he still loved me, but has met another girl he loves more. He's far away from here so it doesn't give me much of a chance.

"I love him very much and I just don't know what to think or do. It happened so fast that I can't believe he loves her that much. I'm a junior in high school, so please tell me what to do."

That's the kind of letter that takes a girl's breath away. Leaves her gasping and wondering what could have happened. How did it happen? Why did it happen? Then the bitter realization sets in—the horrible fact that it's over, that's all there is—the rest is blank pages.

For how can a girl argue with a boy when he says he loves someone else? If he's far away, how can she know how he's reacting to new people he's meeting? How can she balance his loneliness and susceptibility against the charms of some attractive girl who's handy? How can she underestimate the value of his today?

How can she hold him fast when he insists that he's through? She can't argue that he's being nasty. She can's plead with him to consider her, to remeber how he used to love her. She can't beg him to reconsider. She can't clutch at him. She just has to let him go. If she has any pride at all.

Your best bet is to hold your head high. No one need know of your hurt. No one can compare you with the new object of his affections. Your lost love can be your own secret.

Make up your mind to enjoy your own today, and see about insuring your immediate future. You're still in school, surrounded with boys. You've work to do, parties to go to, activities to keep you busy. So get busy—and look ahead.

Don't waste your time, your steam, and your sentiment looking back!

Hide the Clock for Fun

What are you going to do to celebrate the coming in of the New Year? It is fun to do a little something special.

Here is a game which is fun for players of all ages, and perhaps you will find it handy for tomorrow night. Have you ever played Hunt the Thimble or Hide the Button? This game is almost like these, but you hide a clock instead.

The clock gives you help in finding it, for you will hear the ticking if you get near it. Take turns in hiding the clock, but have in your game rules that things should not be moved until you hear the ticking. Use as small a clock as possible so that it can be hidden in and under things. Have fun!

You may want to have the players go into a different room while the hiding is done, otherwise have them cover their eyes.

Television Entertains Visitors

Hostess Dislikes Program Choice, but Can't Do Much

By EMILY POST

A hostess writes me: "I had a friend stay with me for several days recently and during her entire visit she went to the television set any time she pleased and put on certain programs which I suppose she is in the habit of watching when she is at home. Most of the programs were ones that I myself never look at as they bore me very much. Wasn't this very bad manners on her part?"

I do think that she should have asked you whether or not you watch such and such a program, but then if you did not offer to turn on the television to watch it, she should most certainly have let the matter drop.

On the other hand, when a visitor is staying in your house, especially if it is a long visit, she is supposed to be as at home as though she were in her own house.

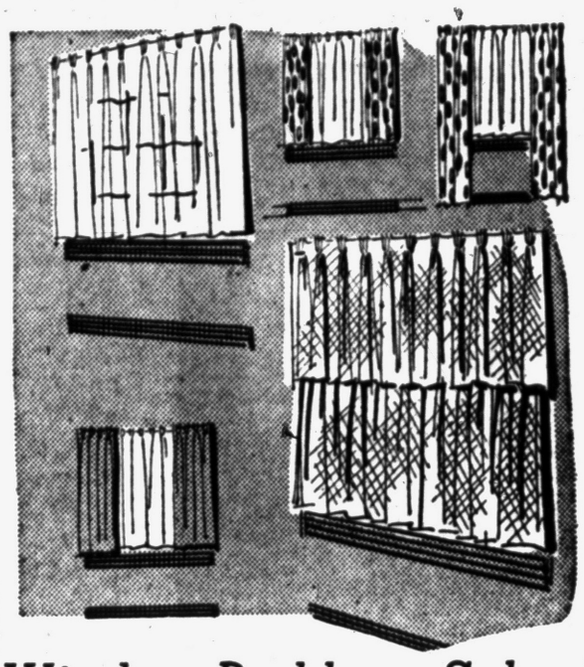

In this case if she chooses to turn on a program that happens not to appeal to you, there is little you can do about it except have something to do in some other part of the house until this particular program is over.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it bad form when meeting someone for the second time to say, "I've already had the pleasure"? It seems rather ungracious not to say something more than "How do you do" in such cases.

Instead of "I've already had the pleasure," say, "I think I met Mrs. Blank several years ago (or whenever it was.)"

Dear Mrs. Post: Does the guest of honor at a buffet supper lead the way to the table, or is it right for any one of the guests to go first?

A buffet supper is much too informal to have any one person go first. The guest of honor might be given the special attention of having the host bring food to her, and in fact, it would be the duty of all the men to notice whether she is being looked after.

Window Problems Solved With Picture for Today

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Even radiator grilles in the wall cause window problems. Should draperies be allowed to cover them? Mrs. M. E. C. writes: "Because my living room is small, I have used only glass curtains on the windows — short ones that end just above wall inset radiator grilles. I'd like draperies, but can they be short, too? I hesitate to cover the grilles, and it isn't possible to extend rods beyond the windows because furniture comes almost to the window frames."

Short draperies often do look oddly bobbed off, Mrs. C., especially if the fabric is somewhat formal, or the color or pattern is an eye-catcher in the room. Short draperies are most successful when they match the walls and smooth into the background, rather than contrast and thus make their shortness conspicuous.

Long draperies can be narrow to cover little glass area, and this way may not seem to crowd the furniture. But there is another answer to your problem in tier curtains of one of the new casement cloths. These look good in short lengths, filter in light and give more finish to the windows than the usual glass curtains alone.

Good in Men Does Live Amid Modern Tensions

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Shakespeare to the contrary notwithstanding, I am convinced that the good men do does live after them. This has never been more strikingly proved than in the case of blue-eyed, blonde-haired Marcia Slater who died two years ago of a disease which has so far baffled medical science.

Marcia was only eight when leukemia took her away from her parents and the friends who loved the gentle, friendly little child with that joyous spirit which is so endearing to the young.

Marcia spent her eighth birthday in the hospital and because they knew it would be the last the entire staff united to make it important and memorable. Marcia had that effect on people. She brought out the good in everybody.

When it was necessary to replace her rare type blood with a healthy quantity of the same, the volunteer was a young man in the death house of Sing Sing prison, a murderer awaiting execution in the electric chair. He offered himself as a guinea pig, not only to provide Marcia with the needed supply of his own blood, but to accept her ailing blood into his veins to give science an opportunity to study the effects of it in a healthy body.

The most wonderful part of this wonderful story though, is what happened among Marcia's neighbors. Spontaneously, children and grownups who had known the happy little girl began making plans to try to keep others from suffering in the same way.

They decided to raise a fund. It came a few dollars here, a few cents there. Women held afternoon parties and charged small admission prices. Marcia's little friends sold cards, magazine subscriptions and small articles from door-to-door.

Everyone solicited contributions from friends in other sections. Some wrote to me about the effort and I asked Marcia's mother to go on the air wtih me. She told, in simple words, about her daughter's short life and listeners sent money. There were stories in the newspapers. The fund grew.

A few weeks ago, the Marica Slater Labroatory, which will devote itself to a study of the cause and cure of leukemia, was formerly opened in Jewish Memorial Hospital in New York City. This was possible because the incredible sum of $50,000 was raised in thousands of small contributions ranging from a few cents to a few dollars.

Some day scientists will crack the secret of the dreadful disease and hundreds of boys and girls will enjoy long lives which they will owe to Marcia Slater, who died at eight, and to Marcia's loving, concerned friends.

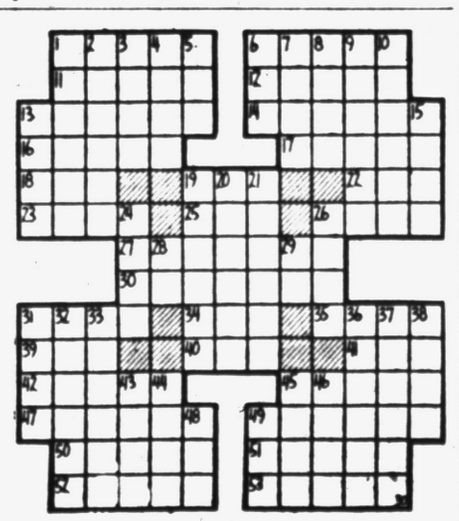

To me, the mere fact that there can be a Marcia Slater Laboratory in the world is heartening. We forget amid the tensions and terrors of modern living how good and generous people really are.

Those Who Wear Specs Take Heed

Makeup Plus Eyes Must Go Together for Right Effect

Glasses are no longer the blotch on the beautiful face that they used to be. Glasses have charm, color and good looks these days and women who don't wear them are often just a tiny bit jealous of the special look given by a sparkling pair of frames.

But at the same time there are hazards in wearing glasses. One young woman uses lavish and glamorous make-up behind hers to make sure that the good looks of her eyes comes through the glass.

But when she takes the glasses off, she looks as though she were wearing stage make-up off-stage. The appearance is overdone.

On the other hand is the young woman who depends solely on the glitter of the glasses to give her eyes spark. When she takes off the colorful harlequin frames, her eyes look mousey and hardly noticeable.

The happy medium comes from practice. Try making up your eyes with the glasses, using a large mirror and good light. Then take the glasses off and inspect. If the look is overdone, wipe off and try again.

If the frames of your glasses exactly coincide with your eyebrows, be sure you give your eyebrows a touch or two of whatever they need if you plan to take the glasses of.

If you like to wear eyeshadow, put on enough to show through your glasses, but not so much that you look garish unglassed.

If Carpet Is Beginning to Wear

Make Area Rugs and Polish Floors

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — All is not lost when the pup chews a hole in the carpet, adding to the moth damage in the corner and the worn path where the family has trod these many years.

Cut your carpet — the parts that are still good — into area rugs in round, oval or free form shapes. Polish your floors until they gleam and use them on the bare floors and you'll have a room that is very much in fashion now.

If your plans call for replacing the living room carpet with a new one, cut the worn carpet down to fit a small room or hallway or make a series of scatter rugs edged with fringe to use over spots receiving heavy wear.

For the process, you need strong, sharp shears, a sharp knife or single edge razor blade, and scissors to snip off ragged yarns or threads.

Carpet is cut with the pile face down along an outline drawn in advance with chalk on the back of the carpet.

An easy way to assure a perfect circle is to drive a slender nail through the carpet at the point which will be the rug's center. Tie a piece of string to the nail and a piece of chalk to the other end. The length of the string should be the size of the radius of your circle.

Pull the string taut, and, with the chalk in a perpendicular position, draw the outline of the circle, moving the chalk as you would the arm of a compass.

Two nails are required to make an oval. Drive the slender nails through the carpet in line with the length of the oval. Tie the ends of a piece of string together and slip the string around both nails. The length of the string and the distance between the nails will determine the size of the oval.

A fairly slack string makes a larger oval so experiment first on paper to get the size you want. Place the chalk inside the string and pull it taut and move the chalk across the carpet, always keeping it taut.

If the string is kept taut, the chalk will move in a parabolic arc and you'll have the perfect oval you desire.

Don't Let School Play Ruin You

Grease Paint, Heels Will Look Different Away From Lights

As the exciting rush of holidays dies, the class plays go into rehearsal. Juniors, seniors, even sophomores wander about the halls, holding battered scripts and muttering to themselves.

They're fun and certainly as universal as the knee sock. A few pointers on these plays are also universally needed, for as teeners get swept up in the excitement of painting flats, borrowing props and messing in the grease paint, they lose track of themselves.

For the budding actors among you: while medium heels are most suitable for your dress-up wear, this is one time you ought to wear sport heels of full height.

Whether you play the mother or the ingenue, you need heels to make your legs look like something from a distance and to add to your age.

If you don't own a pair, this might be a good time to buy a modestly priced pair. Be sure they're comfortable. Practice walking in them so you won't sprain an ankle onstage. If your family can quell its distaste, put them on when you get home and practice stairs, walking and sitting in them.

Second, about grease paint. It's a common failing for teeners to feel gay and important after a dress rehearsal or performance.

They leave the auditorium still covered with it. It is not becoming away from footlights, however theatrical it may make you feel. Take it all off with lots of cold cream and be sure you get under your chin and in your hairline.

Rochester Council Asks Incorporation, Annexation

Hammarskjold Off to Peiping

U.N. Chief Embarks on 1st Leg of Trip to Seek Release of U.S. Airmen

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold leaves today for the toughest assignment ever handed a U. N. secretary general—seeking the release of 11 U. S. fliers and other U. N. personnel imprisoned by Communist China.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate to the U. N., planned to be on hand to bid the secretary general farewell at Idlewild Airport. It was Lodge who spark-plugged passage of the Assembly resolution authorizing Hammarskjold to take "unremitting efforts" for the prisoners' release.

Hammarskjold will fly first to London, leaving there Saturday for New Delhi, where he will confer with Indian Prime Minister Nehru. He expects to arrive in Peiping Jan. 4 or 5 for his talks with Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

Favor Change to Eliminate Problems Created by Growth of Nearby Areas

ROCHESTER—A voluminous report recommending annexation of a portion of Avon Township and incorporation of the village of Rochester as a home rule city has been prepared and released by the Rochester village council.

In a move climaxing more than a year of discussion and study, the lawmakers advocate circulating petitions to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, asking that a date be set for the residents to vote on the idea.

The 36 page $2,500 report, is approved and signed by the full council, and 500 copies are being prepared for interested citizens.

In explanation of the report and project, the council stated its occupation with problems of Rochester brought about in many cases by the growth of areas just outside the village, which have an effect on the village.

Included in such "fringe area" problems are storm and sanitary sewer systems, fire and police protection, zoning and building codes.

Employed to do research work for the report was the Chicago firm of J. L. Jacobs and Company.

Three possible moves are outlined at length, including annexation of the proposed territory without changing to a city, changing to a city without annexation of the territory, and changing to a city which will include the proposed additional territory.

The council expresses favor in the third alternative, which would lift Rochester from a 1.6 square mile village to a 5.8 square mile city.

As outlined, the proposed Avon township area to be annexed would include extending the village boundaries on the north to the first east and west quarter section line north of Tienken road.

To the west, the new limits would stretch to a line a half mile west of and parallel to Livernois Road; on the south, to a line three hundred feet south of and parallel to Avon Road, and on the east, between one quarter and one half miles east of the southern extension of Sheldon Rd.

Such annexation would include the wealthy taxbase of the National Twist Drill Co., the new shopping center west of Rochester road, and the Detroit Broach Co. on the southern boundary.

"These boundaries were chosen because they include the entire area within which the Rochester community seems likely to grow in the foreseeable future, and they are regular and do not make an exception as to any areas which are logically within them," the report states.

"The wisdom of annexing the proposed territory will depend therefore on whether or not the proposal conforms to sound financing and well balanced, over-all development," it continues.

The annexation, if adopted, would be primarily for the purpose of providing a means of correcting present fringe area problems and preventing new ones, council members felt.

This solution would be possible if the new area were productive of enough income over and above the increase in general costs caused by the annexation to permit correction of existing problems without long delay and the improvement of the undeveloped area as the population grows.

As shown in the report, the council feels that the new area income over the increase in costs caused by the annexation will be more than enough to permit achievement of these goals.

The annexation would add approximately $4,400,000 of assessed valuation to the village tax rolls. Figures compiled to show the increase in general costs to the village if the area is annexed, and the increase in income, show income leading additional cost, $53,560 to $41,540, for the first year. Four other years project show similar margins in favor of excess income.

It was the opinion of the council and the survey group that a full complement of municipal services can be provided for the annexed area without long delay as the need therefore arises and the program would be within the financial ability of the village. The development need not take place at the expense of the area presently within the village limits, the report revealed.

Two disadvantages were listed for annexing the area and not incorporating as a city. One was that the annexation with incorporation would be costly to Avon Township, lopping off about $6,000 annual income, due to less population and therefore a smaller part of its share of the intangible tax and sales tax return.

The council also felt that the measure would have little chance of being adopted by the electorate. It would seem improbable that voters in the township outside the area to be annexed would favor the change.

The council disapproved incorporation of the present village without annexation, as placing additional burdens on the people of Rochester in that the new city, like the present village, would be unable to tax properties outside its boundaries which logically belong within them, the statement relates.

According to the report, those properties, representing an assessed valuation of approximately $4,400,000, are at the present time paying township taxes of approximately $7,700.

"They are, therefore, not at the present time paying in full for all the direct and indirect benefits which the mere proximity of the municipality brings to them," the document says.

Several of the reasons for the council's recommending annexation and incorporation are:

1—The new income brought into Rochester will be substantially in excess of that required to extend to the entire new area the same general expense services that the inhabitants of the present village enjoy.

2.—The excess of new income over the increased expense incident to the furnishing of such services will be sufficient to justify the immediate installation of a program of local improvements in the new area and the carrying forward of that program for a period of five years and more.

3—The program of local improvements will ultimately eliminate Rochester's fringe area problems.

The report concluded with an outline of the procedure which must be following if residents wish to have the county Board of Supervisors set a date for a vote on incorporation and the election of a charter commission.

Millard Snubs State Controller on Prison Issue

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen Frank G. Millard today snubbed State Controller John W. Lederle for saying he did not agree with a Millard opinion that the state had no right to hire architects for a survey of the Michigan prison system.

Millard wrote Lederle "It is immaterial whether or not you like this opinion. As stated many times previously, this office gives legal opinions and not political opinions."

Lederle had suggested that since Millard held the contract invalid he proceed to recapture some $23,000 already paid to the architects, Leinweber, Yamasaki and Hellmuth of Detroit.

Millard retorted "inasmuch as this is in the hands of the joint committee of the Legislature on audit and appropriations any further instructions as to the disposition of this matter will have to come from them."

The committee and Millard have condemned Lederle's department for spending $30,000 for the prison survey, contending that the Legislature provided only for a survey of a possible prison site at Ionia.

4 Breakins Reported in Waterford Area

Fleming's Gift Shop, 2536 Dixie Hwy., reported the missing pin. The shop had been entered through a window which had been kicked out.

A rock thrown through the window of Day's Sanitary Service, 2585 Dixie Hwy., opened the way for the culprits, but nothing was reported taken.

Windows were also smashed to gain entrance at the Silverhead Hardware, 2580 Dixie Hwy., and Taft's Barber Shop, 4391 Dixie Hwy. The owners reported nothing missing.

Avon Supervisor Protests Change

Suggested Annexation Meets Disapproval of Cyril E. Miller

AVON TOWNSHIP—"An attempt to rob the township of a major portion of its income, namely the National Twist Drill Co. and the Detroit Broach Co., was the description supervisor Cyril E. Miller gave for the incorporation and annexation plan recommended by the Rochester Village Council today.

He listed the National Twist Drill Co. alone as having an assessed valuation of approximately $3,000,000.

"The township board has studied incorporation, too," he added, but said he knew of no petitions being circulated seeking incorporation of the township.

"We have major industries that are opposed to the change, and we will try and protect them," he concluded.

'Club Flyer' Bus Attracts Notice Far From Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's Club Flyer bus service seems to be catching on—not only here but in other cities.

Officials of the Cincinnati Transit Co. said today they already have received inquiries from 20 cities on the reserved-seat, extra-fare bus line being tried out here.

In addition, 49 persons had signed up through last night for the service and another two score have been riding the bus this week on the free trial basis from the Mt. Lookout area.

* * *

The Cincinnati plan, being used only from the one area of the city, is this:

Subscribers pay $10 a month plus 10 cents a ride. In return, they are picked up and delivered right at their home doors, they have reserved seats and the buses operate on an express basis to and from the downtown district after the passengers have boarded the vehicles.

China Nationals Face Tense '55

Political Doom, Military Siege Both Threaten Uneasy Formosa

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Dangers both political and military face Nationalist China in 1955.

Politically, the Soviet bloc is expected to fire its big guns in an effort to give the Chinese Reds the United Nations seat now held by the Nationalists.

Militarily, the Chinese Reds probably will keep the vest-pocket war alive and may try to expand it, even at the risk of an all-out war with the United States.

Loss of its U. N. seat would be a severe blow to President Chiang Kai-shek's government, weakening seriously its international prestige.

* * *

Anything that enhances the Red regime is a blow to the Nationalists. That's the big reason for the dismay felt here over the impending mission to Peiping of Dag Hammarskjold, U. N. secretary general.

Hammarskjold's trip, an effort to secure the release of 11 American airmen convicted as spies, is depicted here as a shameful pilgrimage that will give Red China all-important face.

And the Nationalists don't like the increasing talk abroad of two Chinas. They want this government to be recognzied as the legal government for all of China.

* * *

On the military side, there appear to be four possibilities:

1. The Reds will be content to continue sporadic fighting and occasional hit-and-run raids in and about the offshore islands.

2. Red invasion of the offshore islands, but hands off Formosa and the Pescadores, which are under U. S. protection.

3. Red hit-and-run air attacks on Formosa.

4. Red invasion of Formosa, even at the risk of an all-out shooting war with the United States.

No. 2 seems the likeliest.

The Reds aren't apt to try invading Formosa unless they have the full support of Russia, and unless both Moscow and Peiping are ready to risk World War III.

World War II Bonus Deadline Is Today

LANSING (AP) — Today is the last day that Michigan World War II veterans can claim their state bonus.

Postal applications for the bonus, on an official form, must be postmarked before midnight, Dec. 30.

The state adjutant general's office at Lansing, which handles the claims, anticipated a last minute rush and will stay open after the end of the 5 p. m. working day if veterans are still in line at that hour.

As of Dec. 24, when the last tabulation was made, 622,915 World War II veterans had applied for the bonus, 615,924 applications were approved and $220,091,865 was paid out.

The state has been paying out the bonuses, which average $358 a claim, since April of 1947. Two previous deadlines were announced but both times the deadline was extended.

The bonus has been financed by the state cigarette tax.

Police Say City Man Attempted to Shoot His Wife to Protest Menu

William Dennis, 51, of 629 Markle Ave. is being held on a charge of attempted murder today after an argument with his wife over what he was going to have for supper.

According to police, Dennis, an unemployed factory worker, came home last night and asked his wife, Louise, 42, what was on the menu.

When she replied "soup," Dennis got his shotgun from the bedroom and calmly told his wife he was going to kill her as he stood loading the weapon, police said.

Mrs. Dennis told police that when her pleas of "please don't shoot" failed, she inched toward her husband and pushed the gun to one side as it discharged into the wall.

When her husband stopped to reload, she said, she ran to a neighbor's house and called police.

Police said Dennis admitted having a couple glasses of wine at a friend's home, but claimed that he was getting ready for a rabbit hunt and that his wife caused the gun to be discharged.

State Will Widen Slaughter Hill in '57

State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler said today a six mile stretch of M24 near "slaughter hill" in Oakland County will be widened to four lanes in 1957.

A delegation from the area asked state officials Dec. 6 to "do something" about the stretch in which eight persons have been killed in the last six months—five in one accident Dec. 5.

Ziegler, in a letter to Rep. Fred Beardsley (R-Oxford), a leader of the delegation, asked the group to realize "I'm only human."

He said there will be no funds for construction in this section until 1957.

Ziegler admitted the section, located north of Lake Orion, was "hazardous" but suggested "engineers cannot design roads which will protect drivers who are careless with their own lives."

"The stretch of M24 where the accidents happened was built by an entirely different administration in 1934," Ziegler added.

Hoosier Jailed in Theft of Car From Waterford

The conference is sponsored by Michigan State College, the University of Michigan and the Michigan College of Mining and Technology. It is open to the public.

Davey's Locker Far From Quiet

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—In those so-called silent deeps of the sea, fish beep, crackle, pop, whistle, moan, mew, bark, tap, creak and croak.

This fish talk comes in amazing variety, and some fish are downright loquacious. Some of it is love stuff; some just chatter to keep contact with others of the gang.

An underwater audition of fish and shellfish was played on a record today for the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science by Dr. Marie Poland Fish of the Narragansett Marine Laboratory, University of Rhode Island.

• • •

Very likely, she says, the myth of the song of the sirens came from ancient mariners in the Mediterranean who heard one kind of fish singing a breeding season chorus.

But only recently has the great variety of fish talk been appreciated and pinned down. Scientists had to get busy fast in World War II when the din and funny finny sounds threw curves at the sound-detection devices of submariners.

Now dozens of families of fish and crustaceans have been pegged as noisemakers. Shrimps click claws; some fish get verbal with air bladders or by rubbing together teeth, bones or fins.

• • •

Some selections from the auditions, made by Dr. Fish and William H. Mowbray, give you an idea:

Shrimp beds—crackle like burning fat; the tautog—deep thumps; Nassau grouper—booms; rock hind—muffled grunts; toadfish—coarse guttural growls or in breeding season some loud calls like a boat whistle.

Studies of the fish talk could have practical uses, Dr. Fish said. It could help in detecting schools of fish, and fish talk might be duplicated to attract fish. Certainly it could help in more efficient use of sound devices on submarines or other vessels.

Pella Sees Europe Heading for Union

PARIS (INS) — Belief that Europe is heading inevitably toward union was expressed today by the coal and steel community's Common Assembly.

In an exclusive statement to International News Service, the former Italian Premier said he saw no danger of failure for the great experiment in Western European economic unity that the coal and steel pool represents.

Pella refuted European press speculation that the rejection of the European Defense Community treaty, followed by the decision of Jean Monnet to retire as president of the coal and steel authority, indicated the great ideal of European unity was receding.

He said the success of the pool had "exceeded the most optimistic expectations," and added that the coal and steel authority was now "working on solid and safe ground."

Some Women Just Plain Shoppers. Others Are Choppers Who Mangle

By EDDIE CANTOR

This is the time of the year when women do most of their shopping. Having been around the female of the species all of my life, I am thoroughly convinced that a woman will buy anything she thinks a store is losing money on.

There are women shoppers and women "choppers." The latter is the type that mangles merchandise. Whatever she sees, even though she doesn't want it, she's got to pick it up and throw it down—pick it up and throw it down. She doesn't want it, but she wants to make sure no other woman gets it in good condition.

Come to think of it, it's about the same system a woman uses with a man. If she doesn't want him, she makes sure no other woman gets him in good condition.

Then there are the inveterate bargain hunters. I saw one lovely lady in the store slam a twenty-dollar cigarette lighter on the counter and tell the salesman, "I won't take it!" Then she slammed it down again and said, "I'd be a fool to pay twenty dollars for that!"

Finally, the manager came over—noticed the lighter had been damaged—marked it down to ten dollars—and the woman said, "Now I'll take it!" That Ida is so smart!!

I had an aunt who hunted bargains all her life. As a matter of fact, she won her husband in a raffle. Get me right, he wasn't the prize, but he picked the winning number out of the fish bowl and my aunt fell in love with him at first sight.

The ticket cost her fifty cents and my aunt never regretted it. In all the years they were married, never once did my uncle get up late in the morning to drive my aunt to work. When he passed on, my aunt had this put on his tombstone: "To Sam: Devoted husband—always true—I lost some bargain when I lost you!"

High Salaries Going Higher at Las Vegas

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When Joan Crawford gets $10,000 for greeting customers and Liberace earns $50,000 a week for playing the piano, you know there's a boom in Las Vegas.

Business has been skyrocketing in the Nevada pleasure town, and so have salaries for entertainers. With five big new hotels being added to the present seven in the next few months, star salaries will doubtless go higher. Already you hear the rumblings of a talent war that has Las Vegas worried.

• • •

Until recently, talent bookers at the Strip supper clubs operated more or less under gentleman's agreement. Stars who played one spot were generally considered that place's property; there was little attempt to rustle performers. Now that picture is changing.

With a dozen clubs seeking top talent, the competition should be terrific. The new Royal Nevada has lured Helen Traubel and Anna Maria Alberghetti away from the Sahara and Ben Blue from the Flamingo. The Flamingo has taken the Mills Brothers from the Thunderbird, and Nat King Cole has moved from El Rancho Vegas to the Sands.

With each move comes a higher salary. The most notable is Liberace's. He played the Last Frontier many times, his top price being $5,500. He'll earn $50,000 weekly for three weeks at the Riviera. The same hotel is giving Joan Crawford $10,000 and a free vacation for acting as hostess during the first four days of the opening.

"By the time you pay Liberace $50,000, plus a band, a line of girls, supporting acts and small combos for the bar, you've got a $90,000-a-week bill," says Schiller. "And that doesn't include the cost of publicity and exploitation. You can never support that kind of an outlay."

• • •

At least one new spot, the Dunes, has announced that it will concentrate on good shows, not star names. Schiller scoffs at this thinking.

"When Joe Blow drives in from Terre Haute, he wants to see a star he can recognize."

Some bookers are trying to solve the talent crisis by signing up performers to long-term deals. The Flamingo has signed Kay Starr at $300,000 for 40 weeks in the next five years and Keefe Brasselle at $400,000 for six engagements. The Royal Nevada is giving Miss Alberghetti $300,000 for 18 weeks in the next few years.

Canada is resuming production if nickel nickels, having made the coins of steel for some years.

Retiring Grocer Prefers 1950s

Petoskey Man Doesn't Miss 'Good Old Days' One Bit

PETOSKEY (UP) — A wholesale grocer who used to sell food to lumber camps by the carload said today he prefers the modern method of small ready-packaged meals.

"I certainly don't want to go back to what some people call 'the good old days,' " said Isaac Rehkopf, who plans to retire Saturday.

"Handling food for grocers is much easier today than it was. There is no comparison with the way it is handled now and the way it was done in the early 1900's."

Rehkopf started to work for the old Petoskey Grocery Co. at the turn of the century, when chewing tobacco was stacked 10 feet high along the entire wall of the warehouse.

Lumber camps were the best customers of the wholesalers in those days, Rehkopf recalls. Big camps at Pellston, Carp Lake, Boyne City, St. Ignace, Beaver Island, Mackinac Island and Cedarville stocked up on food and tobacco by train, boat and wagon.

"Those husky boys at the lumber camps must have had a terrific diet," the grocer laughed. "Beans and salt pork were the staples of the day."

The beans and salt pork were puchased by the 100-pound barrel, as were dry peaches and prunes, flour, dry peas and salted fish. Tea was sold to the lumber camp cooks in 80-pound chests, coffee in 10-pound boxes, and chewing tobacco came in 22-pound butts.

He still remembers when sides of meat weighing 200 pounds were wrapped in straw paper, molasses was sold in big drums, cheese in huge rings, and salt and pepper in bulk.

"There was no ready-mixed stuff for housewives or small packaged food," Rehkopf recalls. "But in those days most grocery stores and meat markets delivered by horse and buggy to homes.

"I believe women lug more stuff around now with cars and super-markets than they used to, even if it is in small packages and cans.

"And women buy a few slices of ham now and five pounds of flour. Why in the old days they'd get a whole ham and 100 pounds of flour at a crack."

Whisky-Soaked Rattlesnake Nips Medicine Maker

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A Texas rattlesnake immersed in whisky bit the hand of Chin Toy, 55, who was trying to pickle the snake for medicinal purposes.

Toy explained at Harbor Emergency Hospital yesterday he was preparing a potion according to an ancient Chinese recipe that would be valuable in curing any number of ailments.

Major ingredients of the recipe were a bottle of whisky and a live rattlesnake, both of which Toy poured into a crock and covered with a lid. When he looked in to see how his mixture was coming along, the snake bit him on the finger.

Fortunately the rattler's fangs had been removed. Toy was treated for a cut finger and sent home.

Japanese Baby Dies Despite GI's Blood Gift

TOKYO (UP) — An American soldier's donation of Rh factor blood failed to save the life of a Japanese baby, Japanese Red Cross hospital authorities said today.

They said the 5-pound, 4-ounce daughter of Mrs. Yohiko Tatake died of a congenital heart malformation 14 hours after all of its blood had been replaced with blood donated by Pfc. Johann Sliva, 25, of Little Rock, Ark. The 40-year-old mother lost 14 previous children at birth because of negative Rh factor blood.

Most new-born white babies have blue eyes because the pigment that causes other colors does not develop until some weeks after birth.

PINT-SIZE ARRIVAL—"Pudgie," a year-old pigmy hippopotamus from Liberia, takes a peek around as he arrives in New York City. When full grown, Pudgie will weigh only one-tenth as much as a full-grown hippo. Taking care of the animal is Betty D'Amore, an airline stewardess.

Utah Has 'Oddiences'

Regional Speech Oddities Usually Exist for Reason

CHICAGO (UP)—Many persons in Brooklyn say "boid" for bird and in Ohio "booshes" for bushes, and in Utah "oddience" for audience, and there's usually a reason, two speech experts said today.

These speech peculiarities they said, may be changed by a switch in environment when a person still is in a "speech formative stage."

For instance, said Dr. Bert Emsley of Ohio State University's Speech Department, "When I was at Harvard two students came up from Youngstown, Ohio, and laughed themselves silly at the way we talked. But they must have surprised the folks with their Harvard accents when they got back home."

Dr. Emsley and Dr. Claude M. Wise of Louisiana State, who has written books on the subject (phonetics), were interviewed at the National Speech Conference.

Every section of the country has some oddities about its speech, they said, some explainable and some not.

In New England the broad "A" is holding its own although it is fast disappearing in the rest of the country. That's because New England has a closer and more recent association with old England, the speech experts said.

They don't know what caused the southern drawl, and don't hold with the theory that the warm climate just made everybody too lazy to speak up. They can trace some of the localisms back to England.

The Mormons seem to have brought the hard "aw" sound to Wyoming, Idaho and Utah for such words as "Clod" instead of Claude and "oddience" rather than "audience."

Accents in Minnesota, the Hamtramck area of Michigan, eastern Pennsylvania and parts of New York City were greatly affected by the large influx of a certain nationality such as Swedes, Poles, the Dutch or Jews. These are called "speech islands."

The biggest trend in the nation as a whole is toward "nasality", the experts said.

Most languages of Romance or Latin extraction, of which English is one, tend that way, the most marked example being French. The vowel sounds tend to follow the nasal sounds such as "ing," "n," or "m."

"But no matter what the peculiarities," said Dr. Emsley, "America can be fortunate that its speech affords rapid, easy communications between each section of the country."

Key to Stolen Car Pays for $1.50 Meal

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UP) — The man ate a $1.50 dinner in a restaurant across the street from the police station and then explained to the cashier:

"I must have left my wallet in my other suit at the hotel, but I will leave the key to my Cadillac here until I can come back with the money."

When the man did not return, police checked and found the Cadillac where the man had told the cashier it was. They also identified the car as one stolen Dec. 24 from a motor company in Knoxville, Tenn.

City Manager Announces 1955 Improvement Goals

the word "competition." Sales will continue to be made only with real effort in most lines.

CONSUMPTION OUTLOOK — Consumption in a number of lines has been proceeding at a more rapid rate than has production. I forecast a better record in early 1955 for both steel and automobiles.

TEXTILE INDUSTRY — Textile industry operated at extremely low levels throughout most of 1954. Coal and railroad equipment also exerted a strong downpull. I forecast that the textile and coal industries will be in a recovery phase after their long stay in the doldrums.

PRIVATE CONSTRUCTION — I forecast that home building and general construction will be somewhat lower in 1955 than in 1954, but this important industry should still operate at high levels next year.

PUBLIC CONSTRUCTION — I forecast that public construction will increase during 1955. This should mean a rise in the output of cement.

AGRICULTURAL EQUIPMENT —This industry has been suffering from a decline in demand, but should now improve. Government-sponsored planting curtailment and crop loans have reduced free supplies, and may make for higher agricultural prices later in 1955.

ARMAMENT INDUSTRY—The armament industry will still be one of the main floors beneath the economy. The electrical and chemical industries will move at a rate close to that of 1954.

OTHER INDUSTRIES — I am somewhat optimistic on clothing, aircraft manufacturing, air-line transportation, office equipment, electricity output, petroleum production, natural gas, and shoes. I am also fairly bullish on rubber, paper, electrical equipment, certain types of building, and nonferrous metals.

WEATHER CONDITIONS—It is foolish for me to attempt to forecast rains, droughts, frosts, etc., for any special section. However, taking the nation as a whole, I look for better weather in 1955.

RETAIL SALES. I forecast that the outlook for retails sales is encouraging, at least through the first half of 1955.

PROFITS.—Stiffening competition is chipping away at the profit margin. Return on invested capital is in a long-term downtrend. The first few years after World War II were the golden years for the novice in business and for the inefficient. Those days are gone for awhile.

SELECTIVITY. — Higher labor and other costs, plut intensified competition, will continue during 1955.I forecast a high degree of selectivity in the effect of this trend on individual activities and companies. Victory will be for the nimble and for the strong!

DIVIDENDS—Recent high expenditures for new plant and machinery have left some concerns with very high depreciation charges. As new capital commitments are cut and depreciation remains high, cash inflow could expand. Such companies should be able to pay out in dividends a higher percentage of earnings in 1955 than in recent years, notwithstanding a moderate profits shrinkage.

INVENTORIES — Inventories have been permitted to run down during 1954. As total business expands, there will be a tendency to replace reduced stocks, especially during the first half of 1955. Total manufacturers' inventories, however, may build up more rapidly than total business inventories. I forecast that total wholesale and total retail inventories will show little change from 1954 levels.

PRICES OF MANUFACTURED GOODS—Even with the expected pickup in demand, I see no sharp markup in industrial prices next year. Over-all supplies are generally ample. Hence, I forecast that industrial prices in 1955 will show little change from recent levels.

FOOD PRICES —Food prices may firm later in 1955. The strong move into government crop loans this year has made free supplies of most agricultural items less burdensome. I forecast that new advertising programs by canners and other great food distributors will help farmers, stock raisers, and fruit growers.

CONSUMER INCOME—Consumer income will hold at satisfactory levels. Most goods should move readily into consuming channels.

LIVING COSTS—I forecast that during 1955 living costs will show little over-all change from present levels. There may be some firming during the first half, but the late months may again witness a minor softening.

RENTS, ETC.—I forecast rental expenses may edge somewhat higher; clothing costs should be steady to moderately higher. There is small chance that food expenses can be greatly reduced.

MONEY SUPPLIES—I forecast that money supplies will be ample for all legitimate business needs during 1955. With little likelihood of business getting out of hand on the upside, credit easing is more likely than credit curtailment in 1955.

INFLATION—Fears, or perhaps hopes, of an inflationary boom should be buried. Barring outbreak of war, or productive capacity is sufficiently large to meet all demands for goods. I forecast that no runaway inflation is probable, even if the money managers increase the supply of money or ease credit.

INTEREST RATES—Until the Treasury finds a way to balance the budget, hold business at high levels and unemployment at a minimum, I forecast little likelihood of higher interest rates.

BOND PRICES—With the possible exception of tax-free bonds, I see no reason for increased bond prices in 1955. I forecast an increase in the issuance of tax-free revenue bonds.

STOCK PRICES—After so sharp a rise, the market could have a reaction; but I am forecasting no crash in 1955 such as we had in 1929. In fact, the situation changed for the better Oct. 11, 1954.

WAGES—I forecast that the wage trend in organized industry will continue to move higher at least in the first half of 1955. During the first half year, when business will be improving, the labor chieftain will also be quick to resort to the strike weapon.

OTHER LABOR GAINS — I forecast that the heavy guns of the labor bigwigs will be trained on the guaranteed annual wage, shorter work week, and more pensions. With a better congressional control of appointments to the National Labor Relations Board, the decisions of that body will swing more toward labor than toward management.

NEW INVENTIONS — These will mostly be a labor-saving type. I forecast a marked increase in automation and other marvelous changes in production methods.

EMPLOYMENT — Unemployment outlook is brighter, since business will be on the upgrade during the first half. I forecast that local and seasonal unemployment will still prove a knotty problem.

FAILURES—The salient business characteristic of 1955 will be bitter competition. Many companies already weakened by competitive conditions will no longer be able to keep afloat. I forecast a rise in both the number and the total value of failures during 1955.

MERGERS — I forecast that mergers and consolidations will be encouraged by federal officials, if, by merging, a weak company can be saved. But while every effort will be made to prevent bankruptcies, Washington will frown on large mergers and consolidations.

GENERAL REAL ESTATE SALES—The time is already past due when real estate prices should have been falling. Only a fear of World War III and easy credit have prevented this. Therefore, I forecast that a downturn in prices cannot long be postponed.

URANIUM CRAZE—The greatest speculation will take place in the seeking and trading of land with uranium prospects. This is now centered in Colorado, Utah, and vicinity; but I forecast it will spread in a limited way to many other states and even to "offshore" property. It could exceed the gold rush of 1849. Another demand will be for woodlands which can be bought for a few dollars per acre.

COMMERCIAL FARMS — These have suffered a decline in price as a result of the slump in agricultural prices and farm incomes. Unless more is done politically for the farmers next year, I forecast that the recent decline in commercial farm prices may continue during 1955. Subsistence farms on the fringes of larger cities should hold up well in price as migration toward the suburbs continues.

VACANT LAND IN CITY AREAS —With the exception of parking lots, city vacant land should experience a continued slow reduction in price during 1955; but no marked change in suburban vacant land, except for parking. I am very bullish on land anywhere suitable for parking.

BUSINESS PROPERTY — I foresee little hope for improvement for such property in the larger cities during 1955. Business property in the suburbs has not been so inflated, and therefore will not be so vulnerable to declines and high taxes.

INDUSTRIAL BUILDING — The construction of new industrial plants gives every indication of continuing to mark out a downward course during 1955. I forecast that the brightest spot on the construction horizon for next year is the prospect for increased municipal construction—schools, hospitals, etc.

RESIDENTIAL CONSTRUCTION —The building of new homes has held at very high levels during 1954. Although I expect the trend of new home prices to be downward during the year 1955, they will still persist at very high figures, at least during the first half of the year. New homes will continue to be the choice of purchasers, even though older homes give better values.

TAXES — The Eisenhower Administration has clearly recognized that expanding business and increased expenditures for plant and equipment are the true sources for rising employment and more jobs. I forecast a continued aim during 1955 will be to have taxes aid business—and thereby help employees to more and better jobs.

INCOME TAXES — I forecast there will be no further relief, in 1955, of the double-taxation feature on dividends or of the 25 per cent capital gains tax. Furthermore, corporation income taxes will not be permitted to decline as scheduled next spring.

I forecast that, unless business slumps more than I anticipate during late 1955, there will be no reduction in personal income taxes next year, except to correct some technical errors. Any relief for the individual "small" taxpayer will be saved until the election year, 1956.

POLITICS—The really big political news in 1955 will not be made by the laws that will be enacted, but by the tremendous preparations for the 1956 presidential campaign. Those who claim that President Eisenhower is at heart a liberal and will get along well with a Democratic Congress should remember the lessons of politics.

WORLD WAR III—In my opinion, the initiative in international affairs still rests with Russia. The Kremlin is not yet ready for an all-out attack and no one in the West wants World War III. Malenkov is now pushing a "Peace Offensive." I am referring here to the year 1955—over the long term, I still feel that a major holocaust is inevitable, but I forecast no World War III in 1955.

FOREIGN AID—Our foreign efforts during the year will continue to aim at plugging the leaks and building new dykes against the flooding tides from the East. I forecast we will work hard to build up Europe, with Germany as the core; but Russia will make spectacular gains in the Far East, particularly in India.

FOREIGN COMPETITION — As Germany rearms and the Brussels Treaty Organization goes into gear, I forecast further improvement in Europe. Competition from European manufacturers will, however, intensify. Reciprocal trade deals will be pushed, I would not be surprised to see a decline in our exports in 1955 and an increase in imports.

CHURCHES AND CHARITIES —I forecast that the spiritual awakening which started in 1954 will continue into 1955 with an increase in church members. This is a very important sign. Gifts to charities will also increase, due to the more liberal allowance on taxes, up to 30 per cent provided 10 per cent goes to churches, schools, or hospitals.

TRAVEL AND SPORTS—I forecast more money will be spent on travel and sports in 1955. This is becoming an important new industry and should especially benefit Florida, California, Arizona, New Mexico, the Great Lakes Region, New England, and the Northwest.

NEW METALS AND ALLOYS—Next to air-conditioning, I expect great growth in the use of new metals and alloys. I forecast the rare-metals stocks will be sought in 1955 as were the oils in 1954.

ADVERTISING — I forecast business spending in this field will increase further in 1955. It not only is the salvation of individual businesses, but is the best stimulant for national prosperity.

POPULATION—I forecast the population will continue to increase during 1955, with a growing percentage of young people between 18 and 22. This means a greater demand for clothing, college education, and especially for new school buildings.

CONCLUSION — Develop faith, meditation, health, and good works —with more attention to your family—to create reserves for real trouble which some day will come. Go to church!

Society Seeking to Revise Retirement Rules

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The Gerontological Society, Inc., holding its seventh annual meeting here, is coming out stronger than ever against the practice of forcing workers and professional persons to retire at a specified age.

The society's president, Dr. A. J. Carlson, who will be 80 next month, called on universities to lead the way in retaining personnel until disability makes them unable to perform their professional duties.

"It is stupid and unbiological to dismiss faculty members at 65 or 70," he declared. "Universities should be the first to lead society in that direction."

Others suggested the possibility of tests to determine when elderly persons should retire.

One speaker, Dr. J. Emming of Ohio State University, recommended tests designed specially for oldsters. He said subjecting older persons to tests designed primarily for students and new graduates is as unfair as it would be to expect them to compete with youngsters in athletics.

Set Trial Runs for Atomic Sub

Navy Says First Tests of Nautilus Scheduled for January

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sea trials of the atomic submarine Nautilus will begin in January, the Navy disclosed today.

The trials of the world's first atomic submarine had been scheduled to begin last October, shortly after the revolutionary new craft was commissioned with much fanfare. But red-faced Navy officials were forced to postpone the trial runs after a dock side explosion disclosed the wrong kind of piping had been used in the steam system.

Workers have spent the past three months in frantic rechecking and replacing of the piping at considerable—but as yet undetermined—cost.

The Navy said the extensive repair job is now nearing completion and that the Nautilus will move out to sea under its own power sometime in January.

The 2,800-ton submarine, built at a cost of more than $40,000,000, will first undergo surface and shallow dive runs in Long Island Sound, near the Gorton, Conn., shipyard of the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp. where it was built.

Later the submarine, which will be able to cruise at unprecedented speeds and ranges under the surface, will be put through deep-sea tests in the Atlantic.

While the Navy was admittedly embarrassed over the piping mixup, Rear Adm. B. E. Manseau, deputy chief of the Bureau of Ships, said that the 3-month delay "has not all been lost time."

While replacing the piping, Manseau said the Navy has also been able to work in "many improvements in the design and steam plant of the submarine."

FBI Probes Shortage in Maryland Bank Cash

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (AP)—The Citizens National Bank of Havre de Grace disclosed yesterday that a special audit showed "certain discrepancies" and the FBI announced it is investigating.

Charles L. Minker, bank president, would not say how much was missing but one source reported the shortage so far adds up to $2,000 with another week to go on the auditing job. No arrests have been made.

FETE BENEFACTOR — Some 75 students and "alumni" gathered at Northwood Inn last night to honor Sen. George Higgins (R-Ferndale) and to thank him for the help he has given them in going to college. Sen. Higgins, who never had the opportunity for higher education, gives aid and counsel to what he considers deserving young people who want to go to college. Pictured above just before the dinner are (left to right) Vivian Dean, 21004 Keimaville, Mike Rambus, 600 E. Webster, R. G. Michell, 1600 Bonner, David Pence, 885 W. Oakridge, Sen. Higgins and Betty Locke, 272718 Horton, all of Ferndale.

Students He Aided Honor Senator George Higgins

At the annual re-union of the "alumni" of State Senator George N. Higgins' Educational Foundation in Northwood Inn last night, 50 former recipients learned that the foundation's capital had been increased.

Roy G. Michell, head of the Eclipse Counterbore Co., of Ferndale, has affiliated with the foundation and contributed a "substantial" sum to help needy students.

"I have always felt that America's future rests with its youth and have been impressed with the success of Senator Higgins' single-handed undertaking," Michell told them.

Higgins first gave financial support to a worthy student in 1931, when a Lincoln High School counselor told him a sophomore girl was being forced to drop out of school because of lack of money.

Higgins, a successful Ferndale auto dealer, financed the girl through high school and college. Through the years, his support has been focused on college students.

In 1946, the Higgins Educational Foundation was incorporated, with Higgins, David C. Pence, of Pontiac, and Hugh White, of Detroit, as directors.

Prof Reports Russian Goal of 1,000 Subs

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Russia has a goal of 1,000 long-range submarines to use as chief weapons for world revolution, declares a history professor of the University of California at Davis.

Dr. Walter Hucul, who has made a study of intelligence journals and Russian publications, said yesterday that "Jane's Fighting Ships" reports that Russia already has completed 400 of the subs.

* * *

"Russia wants to have Soviet subs in all the major oceans and seas where they could roam uncontested and remain free to assist in revolutionizing country after country according to the dictates and timetable of the Kremlin," Dr. Hucul told the annual meeting of the Pacific Coast branch of the American Historical Assn.

He said it is known to United States intelligence sources that many of the 740 merchant ships flying the Panamanian flag are used as Russian merchantmen to train Soviet naval personnel in waters not familiar to them.

Lone Ranger Gets 1 Vote

STANFORD, Mont. (AP)—The Lone Ranger is a pretty popular guy with the kids—but some grownups like him too. At least someone voted for him as sheriff in a Montana primary election.

Parents Receive Demand for Ransom

NEW YORK (AP)—The parents of a 16-year-old schoolgirl who disappeared last Oct. 4 claiming she was eloping have reported receiving a note asking $25,000 in return for the girl's life.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Berg, of the Bronx, told police the note arrived yesterday in an envelope bearing a Shanks Village, N.Y., postmark. It read in part:

"Of the whereabouts of Jacqueline Berg, I would advise whoever cares about this girl that they cooperate with the sender of this letter. She is safe now, but not for long . . ."

France to Repay Loans

PARIS (AP) — Some 52 million dollars loaned to France by the United States and Canada since World War II will be repaid at the end of the year, the Finance Ministry announced.

State Democrats Prepare for Inauguration Saturday

LANSING (UP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who just cured one political headache and began complaining of another, today prepared for Saturday's inauguration ceremony.

Williams solved the problem of filling what most observers agree is the toughest job in state government yesterday when he appointed James W. Miller, Michigan State College professor, as state controller.

Miller succeeds John W. Lederle, who returns to his post at the University of Michigan Saturday.

But Williams also hinted at an intra-party squabble when he revealed Anthony J. Rathmaw, Detroit, "probably" will be replaced soon as a member of Michigan's three-man Liquor Control Commission.

Meanwhile, other Democratic teammates began assembling in Lansing for William's unprecedented fourth term inauguration.

The all-Democratic ceremony will be a rare occasion.

A complete Democratic team will take office:

Phillip A. Hart, lieutenant governor; James M. Hare, secretary of state; Thomas M. Kavanagh, attorney general; Sanford Brown, treasurer, and Victor Targonski, auditor general.

Two Republican holdovers, Charles M. Ziegler, highway commissioner, and Clair Taylor, superintendent of public instruction, didn't run in the November election.

Outgoing officeholders include Clarence Reid, lieutenant governor; Owen J. Cleary, secretary of state; Frank G. Millard, attorney general; D. Hale Brake, treasurer, and John Martin, auditor general.

Roads, Building Head Long List

Willman Says Solution to Water Supply Needs Will Be Sought

Completion of the first new municipal buildings since 1928 and the beginning of an important highway grade separation are chief among Pontiac's municipal prospects for 1955.

So says City Manager Walter K. Willman in his just-released annual preview of things to come in the new year.

Already completed but not yet fully furnished, the Adah Shelly branch library on South Rundell street, at Glenwood, is expected to be occupied by Feb. 1.

WILLMAN

More pretentious, Pontiac's new City Hall should be ready for business some time in the spring, Willman said. The million-dollar structure is at Pike and Parke Sts.

Willman reports that the State Highway Dept. has informed the city it plans to begin construction of the long-sought grade separation at Telegraph Rd. and Orchard Lake Ave. The city will pay a portion of the cost.

The widening of Perry street from Huron to the city limits is also on the road program for 1955, Willman said.

Planning and perhaps actual work will begin on two other municipal structures next year, the city manager said.

"Necessary action has been taken by the voters in approving the millage for the expansion of Pontiac General Hospital and this project should move ahead immediately," Willman said.

"The architect has been retained, a few matters in connection with design are yet to be settled by the City Commission and hospital board, and then the way should be clear for the letting of contracts to cover construction."

Willman expressed hope that plans will be completed and approved for a public safety building adjoining the new City Hall.

The building will house the police department, municipal courts and fire department administrative offices.

Willman indicated the city is seeking new sites for more public parking lots.

"The tremendous success of the initial venture indicates that we have merely scratched the surface relative to needs," he said.

A permanent solution to the city's water supply problem will be sought during the year, Willman said.

"It will be necessary to continue our exploratory work in the interest of added water and we hope to come up with some additional supply during 1955," he said.

" . . . Definite work must be accomplished in the interest of a portable, permanent and sufficient water supply for this city in the very near future.

"Our economic future depends upon the solution of this problem and we cannot expect success simply by adding a few wells a year in an effort to keep our heads above water. (No pun intended.)

"A definite effort should be made to get plans under way during 1955 which might involve other communities in our area tending toward the construction of a permanent system."

Willman also sees a continuation of the city's parks program.

"There is still a lot of work to be done and we hope to continue this program to the end that the attractiveness of the city's park system will stimulate a still greater use," he stated.

Also seen by the manager is "a good start on the reconstruction of our maintenance yard and building at the proposed location on Saginaw and Montcalm on city-owned property."

Willman concludes his report with a brief financial statement, declaring that as of now the city has on hand sufficient funds and invested funds to retire all outstanding general obligation debts.

He notes, however, that the city will be assuming $3,000,000 in general obligation debt when the hospital bonds are sold.

He expects the tax rate for municipal purposes to be between $13.70 and $13.80 during 1955. This compares with a 1954 rate of $13.70 per thousand assessed valuation and the 1950 rate of $13.98.

"In looking over and analyzing this report," he commented, "it seems to stack up fairly well for an aggressive and progressive city, but there are still many things to do.

Airport Business Booms; Nearing Peak

Though operations at Pontiac Municipal Airport have continued to increase during the past 11 months, Manager Homer D. Hoskins believes the upward spiral will soon level off — by necessity.

"From now on, our continued growth depends on whether we can get a new east-west runway," Hoskins said.

He explained that the airport's present runways are generally too short for the larger two-motor planes like the Douglas DC-3, popular with many business concerns.

"We do land some DC-3s now, but it takes a pilot with a good deal of experience in short field landings," he said.

"Our runways have reached the saturation point," he continued.

"We have had requests from corporations to base planes here but they won't do business on this type of runway. And that's good business we are forced to turn away.

"A new east-west runway is the turning point. It means we do a considerable amount of new business or stay where we are."

Hoskins said the airport's yearly deficit of $12,000-$15,000 would probably be erased within five years after the runway and accompanying facilities were installed.

(The annual loss is made up through a city budget appropriation.)

In addition to the runway proper, the present 1,800-foot east-west strip would have to be coated with a prime and seal cover and extended 2,200 feet to serve as a taxi strip. The cost would be $22,500.

Runway lights and a new beacon, costing $9,000, would permit the airport to operate around the clock.

But Hoskins is thinking primarily about the runway itself. The taxi strip and lights could come later, he said.

"The runway would bring in more corporation - owned aircraft and would also increase the volume of air cargo business since regular two - engine freight planes could use it," Hoskins said.

"Better facilities would also bring nearer the possibility of attracting an intra-state airline service," he added.

The city several years ago purchased 80 acres of land to the west of the airport, with an eye toward construction of a 4,000-foot east-west runway.

Earlier this year, it seemed likely that the strip would be built.

The state had promised to put up a quarter of the cost to match the city's $15,000 portion, and the city was on the list of 14 Michigan applicants for federal airport grants.

The federal grant would have paid the other 80 per cent of the runway's total cost of $60,000.

"But when the allocations were made, six airline airports in the state got it all," Hoskins explained. "The other eight (including Pontiac) got nothing."

Hoskins listed three means of getting the runway built:

1. A matching grant from the federal government under next year's budget.

2. A grant from the state to foot 50 per cent of the bill (depending on whether the state has any money left in its aeronautical department budget).

3. Construction by city DPW crews working with airport personnel. This would take about three years.

Hoskins said, though its longest runway measures but 2,500 feet, the Pontiac airport is the third most active in the state, topped in activity only by Willow Run and Detroit Municipal Airport.

"And we could have considerably more activity if we could take care of the people who would like to come in here," he said.

During the first 11 months of 1954, the airport handled 40,066 operations (takeoffs and landings), compared to 35,736 for the same period in 1953.

Personnel and cargo trips jumped 65 per cent from 2,618 to 4,350. Gasoline sales reached 97,859 gallons for the 11-month period, while 8,532 quarts of oil were sold.

Hangars are 100 per cent occupied, Hoskins said, as they have been since 1950. There is a waiting list of more than 40 applicants.

In addition to the single - and double - engine planes which set down at the field during the past 11 months, the airport hosted its first four-engine aircraft.

The plane was a British - built DeHavilland Heron, smaller than the DC-3, but powered wth four engines for greater safety.

Six Detroiters Placed on AP's All-Pro Eleven

NEW YORK (AP)—Otto Graham, whose brilliancy paced the Cleveland Browns to the National Football League championship and Joe Perry, ace fullback of the San Francisco 49ers, are the top men on The Associated Press 1954 All-Pro football team announced today.

• • •

Graham was chosen as quarterback for the mythical 22-man two-platoon team for the sixth season while Perry, an All-Pro in 1953 as well, was the top vote getter in the poll of AP member paper football experts and AP staff men.

• • •

The Detroit Lions, trampled 56-10 by the Browns in last Sunday's playoff, placed six men on the squad. The Browns gained three positions as did the Philadelphia Eagles and 49ers. The Pittsburgh Steelers had two men voted to the squad while the Los Angeles Rams, New York Giants, Chicago Cardinals, Green Bay Packers and Baltimore Colts each placed one player.

• • •

Lions named were halfback Doak Walker, tackle Lou Creekmur and guard Dick Stanfel on the offensive unit and safety Jack Christiansen, linebacker Joe Schmidt and guard Les Bingaman on the defensive setup.

Browns beside Graham who were chosen are Lou (The Toe) Groza, a fine tackle and an expert on placements, and Len Ford, great defensive end.

Bruno Banducci, a veteran of 11 years as a guard, and tackle Leo Nomellini were the others named besides Perry from San Francisco. The three Eagles chosen were end Pete Pihos, an eight-year veteran, Charley (Chuck) Bednarik and Norm Wiley. Bednarik, a former All-America at Penn, made the team for the fifth straight year. A center in one-platoon football he now is a linebacker. Willey is a defensive end.

• • •

• • •

Others selected were halfback Ollie Matson of the Cardinals, end Boy Boyd of the Rams, tackle Art Donovan of the Colts, Tom Landry of the Giants as a defensive halfback along with Bob Dillon of the Packers.

• • •

Fourteen players on the team have made the All-Pro before. After Graham and Bednarik the veterans of the mythical squad are Walker, Pihos, Creekmur, Nomellini and Ford. These five have made the team for the fourth year.

Those chosen three times are Christiansen, Groza and Bingaman. Selected twice are Banducci, Matson, Stanfel and Perry.

The Chicago Bears and Washington Redskins failed to make the team although each squad had standout players.

Perry was the one player who appeared to have the fullback post nailed down when half the votes were counted. Of 38 ballots, Perry's name appeared on 36.

Bednarik and Christiansen were the next most popular choices with 29 and 28 votes, respectively. Others who garnered 20 or more writers' votes were Ford and Walker, 26 each; Bingaman (24), Creekmur (23) Willey (22), Groza (21) and Matson (20).

Wolfpack, TCU Are Victors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Undefeated North Carolina State, collegiate baketball's second-ranking team, and unheralded Texas Christian shared the tournament spotlight today after capturing championships in a pair of holiday classics.

• • •

North Carolina State nipped Minnesota 85-84 last night to win the Dixie Classic for the fifth time in six years. Everett Case's Wolfpack extended their winning streak to 12. But it took a field goal by sophomore reserve John Maglio with nine seconds to play to pull State through after underdog Minnesota had overcome an eight-point halftime deficit.

The Gophers' Dick Garmaker, who wound up with 24 points, had put the big 10 representatives in front 84-83 on a basket with 17 seconds to go.

Texas Christian, also paced by a sophomore, stunned favored Alabama 77-62 to win the Southwest Conference Tournament. Dick O'Neal, a 6-7 center, scored 24 points in the first half for the Horned Frogs and the Crimson Tide never recovered. O'Neal wound up with 30 points.

• • •

LaSalle, No. 3, and Duquesne, No. 8, were victorious in the semi-final bracket of the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York. The Philadelphia Explorers, sparked by All-America Tom Gola's 29 points, turned back 15th-ranked UCLA 85-77. A 39-point performance by Dick Ricketts — including 19 of 19 free throws — featured Duquesne's 90-75 rout of Dayton, No. 4.

• • •

Two other members of the top 10 breezed to victories in tournament play. George Washington, No. 9, whipped William and Mary 87-73 in the semifinals of the Richmond Invitational as Corky Devlin and Joe Holup scored 56 points between them. Niagara, No. 10, trounced Syracuse 91-71 in an ECAC consolation round game.

Big Seven (Kansas City) — Three-time champion Kansas State coasted into the final with a 70-60 conquest of Iowa State. Kansas State will meet Missouri, 95-87 victor over Oklahoma, for the championship tonight.

All-American (Owensboro, Ky.) —Defending champion Maryland disposed of Rhode Island 83-66 and will face Cincinnati, 82-62 victor over Evansville, in tonight's championship game.

Plenty for All

U.S., State, City, Sponsors, Competing Schools Share in Receipts From Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Ever wonder about what becomes of the receipts taken in at a major New Year's football bowl game?

The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. has a set of rules on how the money is divided and how the tickets are distributed if the bowl game involves a member college.

So let's take the expected figures for Saturday's Sugar Bowl game here, in which Navy and Mississippi will compete, as an example.

The total cash receipts, which includes money from ticket sales, programs, hot dogs, radio and TV rights, will approach the half-million mark.

First come the taxes. Uncle Sam gets 51 cents for every $6 seat. The City of New Orleans 26 cents and the State of Louisiana 15 cents. Their aggregate will be about $41,000 to the United States, $21,000 to the city and $12,000 to the state.

• • •

Of the remainder, the NCAA rules permit the sponsoring organization to keep 25 per cent. That will be roughly $125,000 and out of this the Sugar Bowl fathers make a voluntary gift of $25,000 to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The rest goes for operating expenses.

If the sponsoring group is not involved in any stadium indebtedness, all the remaining 75 per cent must be distributed to the two competing colleges.

However, if there is a stadium debt, the NCAA allows the sponsoring group to take another 20 per cent, for payment on such debts with the remaining 5 per cent going to the two teams.

The Sugar Bowl people still owe for enlarging Tulane Stadium to about 81,000 seats so another estimated $100,000 is taken out of the pot.

That leaves 5 per cent, or about $320,000, to be split equally between Navy and Mississippi. Navy has said its cut of the melon will go to the Navy Athletic Department. Missisippi is committed by a Southeastern Conference rule to pay that circuit $25,000.

Even the ticket distribution is regulated by the NCAA. Each of the competing colleges this year, for instance, got 26,950 tickets. Distribution of the rest gave Sugar Bowl officials a mild case of insanity with demand running about 5 to 1 over availability.

Gattuso Will Start for Navy

Erdelatz Picks Second Half Star of Army Tilt at Fullback

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Both Coach Eddie Erdelatz of Navy and Johnny Vaught of Mississippi named their probable starting backfields today for Saturday's Sugar Bowl football game.

Erdelatz named Joe Gattuso, squat 175 pounder, as his fullback. It was Gattuso who starred in the last half of the game with Army after Dick Guest had started the game as the plunger.

Georgia Tech Team Flies to Cotton Bowl

ATLANTA (AP)—Thirty-nine Georgia Techsters planned to fly to Dallas today and get on with sharpening up their finer points of football fr the Arkansas battle in the Cotton Bowl Saturday.

Coach Bobby Dodd hoped for Texas weather that would allow a stiff, outdoor workout after the final work session here was washed out.

But Tech had other worries beside the weather. Six players are nursing the flu and several others are recovering from other ills.

Lions' 3rd Division Title Rated Tops by UP Writers

DETROIT (UP) — Successful march of the Detroit Lions to a 3rd straight Western Division title in the National Football League was singled out today by state sports editors as the top sports story of the year in Michigan.

Half of the sports editors who participated in a United Press poll rated Detroit's drive to the division crown for the 3rd year in a row as the biggest sports news in Michigan in 1954, even though the Lions were humiliated by the Cleveland Browns in their bid for a 3rd straight league championship.

Parker Under Consideration as Rams' Coach

Lions' Mentor, Shaw Reported in Line to Fill Pool's Job

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Choice of a new head football coach for the Los Angeles Rams was reported to lie today between Buddy Parker of the Detroit Lions and Buck Shaw, recently deposed mentor of the San Francisco 49ers.

A report that Buff Donelli of Boston University was under consideration for the Rams' post held by Hampton Pool until his resignation following a dissension-torn season, was denied by president Dan Reeves.

Reeves said:

"We definitely have not been in touch with Donelli or many of the others who have been reported in line for Pool's job."

He added, however, that any qualified coach who desires to apply for the job will be given an audience.

Parker's availability was disclosed when Reeves and Ram co-owners Ed Pauley and Hal Sealey learned the highly successful Detroit mentor is opposed to the Detroit policy of tendering only one-year contracts to members of the coaching staff.

By telephone from Detroit, Parker said:

"I feel my record justifies more than a one-year contract. That is the only point on which the Detroit owners and I disagree," Parker added.

"Believing that any coach is entitled to more security so that he can work under a minimum of mental stress, I am receptive to offers where contracts are for more than one year.

"I am honored that the Rams, who are not adverse to giving longer contracts, have taken my name under consideration."

'Rocket' Could Face Trouble Following Bout

By UNITED PRESS

Tempestuous Maurice (Rocket) Richard of the Montreal Canadiens faced possible league action today as the aftermath of a brawl with rookie Bob Bailey of the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The fiery Richard, who scored the 401st goal of his career in a 1-1 tie, exploded in the 3rd period in a fight with Bailey, recently recalled from Pittsburgh of the American Hockey League.

In so doing, he earned a major penalty for fighting, a misconduct for arguing and another misconduct for what appeared to be an accidental slapping of Hayes' face with his glove.

Richard's goal late in the 1st period was a classic. He started the play himself by passing to Ken Mosdell. Then he took the puck back while traveling at full speed in front of the net and tumbled head over heels into the twine after fooling leaf goalie Harry Lumley with a short shot.

Orange Bowl 11s Are Ready

Nebraska, Duke Teams in Best Condition of Year, Say Coaches

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Coaches Bill Murray of Duke and Bill Glassford of Nebraska reported their football squads in the best condition of the season today as they conducted their final drills for the Orange Bowl game.

• • •

Bronco's Barkeley Ranked 20th in Field Goal Scoring

KALAMAZOO, (Special)—In the 1st figures released by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau for the basketball season Alan Barkeley, Pontiac junior forward on the Western Michigan College basketball team is listed as 20th player in the nation among the major basketball teams in percentage of field goals.

In the first seven games for Broncos up to the holidays, Barkeley scored 27 field goals in 50 attempts to get his place among the nation's leaders.

While only 21 players were listed in free throw percentages it is certain that Barkeley also ranks high in this respect. No free throw tosser is listed who has made less than 84 per cent in the select list of 21, but Barkeley, who has scored 46 free throws in 56 chances, has an average of .821 from the free throw line. He undoubtedly ranks among the 30 top men of the nation.

The Bronco team in its entirety has scored 197 fielders in 465 chances for a .424 percentage and in free throwing the team has made good on 161 of 219 chances for a .735 percentage.

Santa Claus Bowl Is Won by Nebraskans

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Lincoln, Neb., a team of alert small boys who know an opportunity when they see it, is the 1954 Santa Claus Bowl Football Champion.

But in that one minute in the third period Wayne Kubert, a 109-pound fullback, found a big hole at center and plowed straight ahead from his 28 for 64 yards to the Houston 8, where he was caught from behind by Billy de Woody.

Neither before nor afterwards was Lincoln able to make 8 yards in any series of downs. This time Arthur McWilliams, a 100 - pound Negro speedster, made it all in one trip, flashing off tackle and cutting back as defenders grabbed for him in vain.

Uconns, Dartmouth Set for Cage Title Battle

STORRS, Conn. (AP)—Connecticut and Dartmouth, who met a year ago for the New England College Invitation Basketball title, battle it out for the title again tonight with Connecticut a strong favorite to repeat.

They'll take the floor in Connecticut's new 5,000 seat arena with a flawless record in which the Huskies have rolled up eight in a row, two more than surprising Dartmouth.

It's Time Out!

Last Period Fatal

USC, Other Coast Rose Bowl Teams, Have Tendency to Fold in 4th Quarter

PASADENA, Calif. (INS) — If someone should suddenly alter the rules of football to limit games to only three quarters, the odds that Ohio State will humiliate Southern California in Saturday's Rose Bowl game probably would nosedive.

The last 15 minutes of grid gamboling has cost the Trojans two of their three defeats this season, and the figures on the final quarters of the eight past Big Ten-Pacific Coast Conference jousts in the Rose Bowl are enough to make a Western football fan quail.

Against UCLA, for example, the Trojans were trailing by only one touchdown and going strong when the fourth period got under way. When the final gun sounded, they were on the embarrassingly short end of a 34-0 count.

And against Notre Dame a week later, the underdog Trojans fought the Irish fang and claw and actually were leading in the fourth period—until Jim Morse sprinted 72 yards with six minutes left to play to pave the way for Notre Dame's 23-17 win.

This weakness is by no means the sole property of USC. In the last quarters of the past eight Rose Bowl games, Big Ten teams have scored a total of 99 points.

The PCC representatives have racked up a nice, round six points.

The Trojans believe they are ready to play the full four quarters on New Year's Day, but in Ohio State they face a team that is deep and powerful at every position.

If the USC defenders can behave for four periods against the Buckeye running game as effectively as they did for three periods against UCLA's ground attack, Trojan coach Jess Hill may be able to preserve his record of never having lost a game to a Big Ten team.

PLANS TO RETIRE — Quarterback Otto Graham of the Cleveland Browns kisses his helmet after his team beat the Detroit Lions, 56-10, to capture the National Football League title. Graham says the game, played in Cleveland, was his football finale.

Championship Material in U. of Chicago Meet

CHICAGO (AP)—Some of the nation's brightest Olympic hopefuls will show their wares today and tonight in the University of Chicago track club holiday meet.

Spends Millions

Hialeah race track has spent $4,310,628 in improvements since 1947. Major item was a $2,340,628 clubhouse with three acres of floor space.

National League batting champion Willie Mays hit .348 against right handers and .337 against lefties in compiling his .345 average.

Celtics Are Again Victims of High-Scoring Cage Loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When it comes to losing high scoring games, the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Assn. must hold some kind of record.

Time and again this season the Celtics had gone over 100 points only to drop the decision. There was Wednesday night, for example, when they lost to the Minneapolis Lakers 129-118 in overtime at Hibbing, Minn.

• • •

The Lakers' score, with Slater Martin setting a personal record of 35 points, was a new high for Minneapolis. And the combined score of 247 points fell only a point short of the league mark set by Syracuse and Anderson in 1949 after five overtimes.

Bob Cousy, who tied Ed Macauley for Boston scoring honors at 24 each, tied the score at 111-111 just as the bell sounded ending the regulation game. In the overtime Martin counted seven points, Clyde Lovellette five and Whitey Skoog six.

By contrast, the other two games were low-scoring affairs. Philadelphia edged Syracuse 72-70 on Neil Johnston's field goal with 10 seconds to play and the Rochester Royals staved off a last-minute New York rally to beat the Knicks 93-89 with veteran Odie Spears accounting for six of the Royals last seven points.

Brown, Moylan Play in Sugar Bowl Final

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Tom Brown Jr., of San Francisco and Edward Moylan of Trenton, N.J., two veterans of Sugar Bowl tennis, meet today in the finals of the annual invitational tournament.

This will be Brown's third time in the singles final. He lost in 1952 to Gardnar Mulloy and defeated Fred Kovaleski last year. Moylan won the title in 1946 and 1951.

Heinsohn Stars for Crusaders

Scores 33 Points as Bradley Bows; Irish Top Loyola

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The classy Crusaders of Holy Cross, showing an All-America prospect in center Tommy Heinsohn, bid for their second straight Sugar Bowl Basketball title tonight against Notre Dame.

Heinsohn put on one of the top scoring shows in the 17-year history of the tournament Wednesday night, producing 33 points as the Crusaders topped surprising Bradley 89-81.

Heinsohn, a 6-7 junior, drew accolades from the crowd of 6,500 with his maneuvering under the basket and his domination of the backboards. His performance was even more remarkable since he sat on the bench for the last six minutes of the first half and the first six of the second half with three personal fouls.

Glory, Humiliation Feature 'M' Cagers' Western Trip

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan's basketball team is back after a western trip which began in glory and ended in humiliation.

"The Brigham Young game was played Dec. 22—three days before Christmas," he said. "Most of the boys wanted to get home. We all wanted to, in fact."

High altitude and the lack of oxygen helped Brigham Young as much as Christmas. "The boys were complaining of shooting pains in their chest," Perigo said, adding:

"The thin air kept them from resting as much as they should. They'd get tired, but their legs and arms wouldn't get enough oxygen to recover fully. They just weren't used to it."

CASE—Palm-On-Top Grip.

that it could be what you need in case your own style isn't working satisfactorily.

As the ball goes downward and into the backswing after the push-away, the wrist turns easily to the right without conscious effort on your part. The weight of the ball turns the wrist into the groove.

67-Run NL Opener

East-West Teams Done With Full-Scale Drills

The shortest punt in the history of the National Football League is four yards. It was kicked by Joe Muha of the Eagles against the Cardinals on Dec. 28, 1947.

Andrews Beats Smith on Sixth Round TKO

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—Cold, methodical Paul Andrews earned a light heavyweight title fight with a spectacular sixth-round technical knockout of Boardwalk Billy Smith last night, but his new trainer Joe Louis says he isn't ready for it.

"He's got to learn up here," the former heavyweight champion said, pointing to his head. "Paul needs a lot more work experience before he'll be ready for a champion like Archie Moore."

It was a new Andrews who broke Smith's eight-fight winning streak with a smashing victory in 2:49 of the sixth round. The 24-year-old Buffalo, N. Y., fighter flattened Smith three times before Referee Eddie Coachman halted the slaughter.

• • •

Andrews gave full credit to Louis. It was his 29th victory in 33 professional fights.

"He taught me how to deliver my punches," Andrews said. "He told me I was too timid and I had to get more vicious if I was going to get some place in the fight game."

• • •

Andrews, fifth-ranking contender in the division, fought much like the old Louis as he shuffled and dead-panned, driving home punches so devastating that once Smith, dazed by a left to the jaw, turned and fled. He was given an eight count as he cowered against the ropes.

Smith, the No. 1 title contender, said he had Andrews "analyzed wrong. I thought he was a meek and timid man and he turned out to be a tiger. I was mighty surprised."

Top Score 40-9

High-Flying UD Cagers Handed 5-Day Respite

DETROIT (UP) — University of Detroit basketball squad, gunning for national recognition on the strength of its 9-1 season record, today started a brief vacation from practice.

The Titans, who Tuesday night won the Motor City basketball tournament, were given a five-day respite from drills by coach Bob Calihan. The team is idle until next Wednesday when Loyola of Chicago invades Detroit.

It will be the last home game before the Detroit squad returns to Missouri Valley competition. Their lone loss of the season was to a conference team, Houston.

Smythe Asks for Meeting

Toronto Boss Seeking Stiffer Penalties for Ice Brawlers

TORONTO (UP) — Conn Smythe, chairman of the National Hockey League club owners' committee, said last night he has asked league president Clarence Campbell of Montreal to call a meeting of officials to talk over enforcement of rules of the game.

Smythe, president of Maple Leaf Gardens Ltd., sent a telegram to Campbell yesterday asking referee-in-chief Carl Voss, club owners and referee representatives to attend the meeting.

The action apparently stemmed from recent games in which brawls had broken out. Some referees were criticized for not calling stiffer penalties against the offending players and overlooking some rule infractions.

The telegraph was sent hours before last night's game between the third-place Leafs and Montreal Canadiens, when Maurice Richard of Canadiens and Bob Bailey of Leafs engaged in a fight.

Rival Coaches Believe Their 11s Are Ready

Both Teams Will Be Near Full Power for Saturday Test

PASADENA, Calif. (UP) — Ohio State and Southern California started the easy, downhill glide today toward Saturday's 41st Rose Bowl game.

Only tapering-off and loosening-up drills were on tap as the clubs wound up two weeks of intensive weight - shedding and precision priming workouts.

• • •

"Well, that's it. We're as ready as we'll ever be."

Both coaches said they would field practically full - strength clubs. Only casualty on the Trojan squad is second-string end Chuck Leimbach, 6-5 sophomore, who has been abed three days with a virus infection. He's up now, but may not play.

• • •

Hubert Bobo, Ohio State's sophomore fullback, is still favoring an injured leg, and his No. 1 replacement, Jack Gibbs, is minus a half-dozen teeth lost in Monday's workout. Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, All-America halfback, is expected to be at top speed although he's missed the week's contact work because of a touchy rib.

• • •

Southern California, boasting a 9-2 record in the Rose Bowl—and the only coast conference club to win there in the past 12 years—is a 13-point underdog. The Trojans must find a way to overcome the fourth-quarter blues which have haunted seven of the eight coast teams since the pact with the Big Ten was signed.

• • •

Ohio has been a great finisher this season, outscoring the foe 84 to 14 in the final quarter. In eight previous clashes between the Trojans and Bucks, Ohio has won 4, lost 3 and tied 1, outpointing the Californians 134 to 84.

The Rose Bowl foes met three mutual opponents this year, Ohio piling up a 61-20 point margin in defeating Pittsburgh, Northwestern and California, and the Trojans building a 68-41 edge in wins over the same trio.

Hamtramck Girl in Indoor Title Match

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UP)—Defending champion June Stack of Hamtramck, Mich., and Norma Harris of Brooklyn, N. Y., meet today in the finals of the National Girls Indoor Tennis championships at Longwood Cricket Club.

Miss Stack, top-seeded in the older girls division — ages 18 and under — defeated Nancy O'Connell of Chicago, 6-4, 6-3 in Wednesday's semifinals. Miss Harris defeated 14-year-old Gwen Thomas of Shaker Heights, Ohio, 7-5, 1-6, 6-4.

Home-Grown Talent

Saperstein Seeking to Boost Defensive Action

CHICAGO (INS)—Barn-storming Abe Saperstein, popular owner-impressario of the world famous Harlem Globetrotters declares that the current style of basketball played "is strictly a game of offense and one that leaves the spectator out in the cold."

Speaking before a Chicago meeting of the Basketball Writers Association, the diminutive leader of one of the game's greatest playing units, referred to himself as a "lone voice in the wilderness." He said:

"We definitely must do something about the defense. The achievement of making a goal means nothing. These scores we see today both on the college scene and on pro basketball floors are ridiculous.

"It is true that we have better shooters today but what does it mean. It simply means that we will continue to have these high scores and it also means that the game will drag on."

The Globetrotter owner said that "the game belongs to the spectator." However, he emphasized that he did not want the game to return to the 1918 level of play but "we must strike a happy medium."

He explained that the officials have done much to take much out of the game by their constant whistle blowing but pointed out that a referee would "have to be a magician to see everything that takes place on the floor."

Saperstein said that he wishes a rule could be devised to allow a defensive man to legally use his hands. In this way, he said, the offense could better be halted.

Gator Bowl Game Looms as Close Tilt

Lawmakers May Act on 1-Year Bowl Regulation

Coast Displeased by Outlawing of UCLA From Pasadena

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—The California legislature will be asked to put the heat on the ruling which prevents a team from playing two successive times in the New Year's Rose Bowl game.

Under the rule, UCLA, top team of the Pacific Coast Conference, cannot play against Ohio State, winner of the Big Ten crown, in the Pasadena platter next Saturday. That's because UCLA played in the bowl last year.

State Senator James E. Cunningham says he will introduce Legislation at the session opening next Monday in Sacramento that would prevent state supported schools (UCLA and the University of California) from being parties to any future Big Ten-Pacific Coast Conference agreement that outlaws a football team playing two years in succession in the Rose Bowl.

"I have received many complaints about that agreement," Cunningham said last night. "My proposal would not affect the current contract between the two conferences, which has two years to go after Saturday's game."

He said it would, however, forbid any state-supported university from taking part in the renewal of the contract in its present form.

Biggest Walleye

LANSING (UP) — Biggest walleye reported this season — a 30-inch, 9¾ pound fish from Houghton Lake — was caught last week by Charles Lockwood, 18, Houghton Lake, conservation officers said today.

NEW YEAR TOAST — "Newport Dream," winner of the 1954 Hambletonian, drinks a toast to a Happy New Year on the track at the Newport Stock Farm Stables in Pinehurst, N. C. The toasting cup is the huge Hambletonian trophy, held by the winning owner until the next running of the classic. Looking on are owner Octave Blake of Plainfield, N. J., and Worcester, Mass. (left), and Del Cameron, driver and trainer of the champion. The other cups are a duplicate of the Hambletonian trophy, kept by the owner (center), and the Hambletonian Breeders Trophy, which Blake won.

'Pants' Rowland Seeking Harmony in Cub 'Family'

The bustling, personable Rowland—whose baseball career has included every phase, from umpire, scout and club owner-manager, to piloting the Chicago White Sox to the 1917 World Series crown—has now devoted himself to pulling the Cubs up from the depths of the 2nd division.

To do this, Rowland is working for harmony in the front office and for a winning spirit on the field—both of which observers believe have been lacking in the past.

A rift in the executive department reportedly developed in 1950 when Wid Matthews was brought in from the Brooklyn Dodgers organization as personnel director and Jim Gallagher was shifted from general manager to business manager.

As for the team, Rowland says the Ralph Kiner deal — which he calls "an error chargeable to the front office"—hurt morale.

Officials May Give 'Magic Eye' a Trial

First-Down Sighter Might Be Employed in East-West Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A sighting device to eliminate guesswork — and official backache—from first-down measurements may get a tryout in the Shrine's East-West football game Saturday.

It has been tried in 21 college, junior college and high school games this season, including three games at College of the Pacific and one at San Jose (Calif.) State.

East-West officials said today the instrument would be given a thorough testing before kickoff time. If the referee and other officials approve, it will be used in the game.

Peresenyi's four-power scope is mounted on the head pole of the standard 10-yard chain. It is sighted in with goal line targets so it is always aimed squarely across the field.

Arnelle Featured as Spartans Meet Lions

EAST LANSING (AP)—Jesse Arnelle, the football end and basketball center, will be the star attraction as the Michigan State basketball team takes on Penn State tonight.

Penn State, with a 6-2 won and lost record, is favored to beat the Spartans on their home court. MSC has won only two against three losses so far this season.

Grinda, Harum Matched in Junior Net Feature

State Quints Fare Badly at Holland

HOLLAND (AP)—Michigan entries fared badly in the Holiday Cage Classic last night. Lake Forest of Illinois trounced Hope, 103-73, and Beloit of Wisconsin thumped Albion 84-62.

Tonight it will be Beloit vs Hope and Lake Forest vs. Albion.

Little Ev Cocallas tossed in 25 points to lead the smooth Lake Forest team to victory. Teammate George Wolz contributed 20 as the Illinois squad boosted its season won-lost mark to 4-2. The visitors led 54-28 at halftime.

Sikes Leads Tourney

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Dan Sikes, former University of Florida golf captain now an Army private at Ft. Meade, Md., took a 5-stroke lead into today's final round of the Gator Bowl Amateur Golf Tournament.

Sikes was the only one of 119 players to better par 72 for the 6,282 - yard Municipal course Wednesday. He shot 71 to go with his opening round 68 for 139.

Michigan State's only undefeated basketball season was in 1902-03.

Loss of Pyburn, Ace End, Hurts Auburn's Cause

Both Entries Boast Versatile Backfields and Tested Lines

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The nearer it gets to kickoff time in the Gator Bowl football game Friday the more it shapes as an even match between Auburn and Baylor.

Auburn is reconciled to the fact that Jim Pyburn, All-Southeastern Conference end, won't be able to play his usual starring role—if he plays at all.

Another reason is the fire of the Baylor Bears on the practice field. This first team to represent the Southwest Conference in the Gator Bowl is eager to win.

Auburn, too, is keyed up to wipe out the stigma of a 35-13 loss to Texas Tech in the Gator Bowl a year ago.

• • •

Even the probable loss of Pyburn, much as it means to the Tigers from the plains of Alabama, hasn't dampened spirits.

Jerry Elliott, sophomore who stepped up to first-string left end when Pyburn twisted his right leg in practice two weeks ago, continued to run with the Varsity in final drills. Pyburn stayed on the side-line.

Coach Ralph Jordan says Pyburn will start if he is able to play at all.

• • •

Baylor Coach George Sauer solved a problem by indicating he will start Dugan Pearce at right guard if his team kicks off and Henry Rutherford if it receives.

The position was held down most of the season by Dan Miller, who was dropped from the squad with center Jimmy Taylor two weeks ago for violating training rules.

• • •

All-Around Leader

Manny's 5 Suffers Season's 1st Defeat

Harry's Recreation handed Manny's Ringside its first loss of the season in Waterford Township Recreation basketball league play at Crary Junior High School Wednesday night.

The score was 65-33. Jerry O'Shaughnessy sparked the Recreation quintet with 12 points.

Play resumes Monday, Jan. 3, with Manny's meeting Drayton Drug at 7:30 p.m. and Harry's playing J-A in the nightcap.

'Suspect'--Chapter 21

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

Over the fireplace mantel was a glass-fronted case about four feet long. It held a willow branch, tapering from the thickness of a man's thumb to a splintered, fragile end. The wnad was old now, dried to a delicate gray, had the same inoffensiveness as an antique musket which held at one time the power of life and death. A polished brass plate reading, "The Carlson Conscience," was screwed to the wood of the case. Smaller letters were more difficult to read. The heat of the fire was intense as Jim moved around close enough to make out, "Spare not the rod, and fear God."

Mrs. Hilton smiled as Jim turned and moved to a more comfortable position. She nodded toward the case, said, "Grandfather's. My husband's grandfather, that is. An old-fashioned idea of what to do that was handed down intact to Hilton's father. Not the original switch, of course. That's sacred. Even though we moved it up here to the summer lodge years ago, where it wouldn't be seen so much."

Jim said, "Out of sight, out of mind?"

"You mean the switch of our conscience? But it doesn't matter. Your statement isn't true. I'll never forget the nightmares my dead husband used to have about that switch." She closed her eyes and licked her lips again. "It's strange, but those nightmares are about all I can remember about Hilton."

Sheriff Agnes said, "We want to talk to you, if you'll stop making a holy show of yourself."

Mrs. Hilton's languor vanished in sudden motion. Muscles moved smoothly under the brown satin of her skin as the housecoat flared away from her body in the lithe violence. One second she was relaxed on the couch. The next she had pounced across the space between her and Agnes Argyle, had delivered an open-handed slap across the sheriff's cheek and mouth.

For a moment Jim thought he was going to witness another battle between two women. He remembered Agnes's comments on Miss Wister, on what had been called the Carlson temper, and he realized now the "temper" sprang from the fact that with the shelter of Carlson prestige and money, there was no need for the usual control.

The fierce glare died away in Mrs. Hilton's eyes. She returned to her former position on the couch, each movement a thing of grace and of invitation. She laughed.

Mrs. Hilton said, "Hand me my drink, will you, Mr. Dunn? Thanks." She sipped, looked at the sheriff. "I wish you'd move away, Aggie. I'd much rather look at this handsome Mr. Jim Dunn than you."

Jim felt his face freeze into a mask. He thought for a moment of telling Mrs. Hilton she should use a towel to lay it on that thick. He said instead, "It isn't my fatal beauty, Mrs. Hilton. Complete cooperation, that's what you want, isn't it?"

Agnes made a croaking sound which might have been a chuckle. "Mrs. Oswald said to tell you you were stupid."

Mrs. Hilton looked up at Jim again. The smile on her lips did not cover the blaze of rage which touched her eyes. She yawned then. "Brains can be a hindrance in many ways." She recited in a monotone the exact story Philip and Mrs. Oswald had told.

Mrs. Kit sat up in bed, sipping coffee while Mrs. Gelstrap hovered around fussing. She pushed the cup at the fat cook irritably when Jim and Agnes came into the bedroom.

It seemed to Jim a good time to speak before she worked herself over the borderline into the full clutches of the unreasoning fear she so obviously felt.

"Is trying," she said listlessly. "But Peter—my husband—loves me."

"He helped you with The Spires? I mean he gave you the deed, made out in Mrs. Gelstrap's name?"

"Yes."

"Surely as the wife of J. Peter Carlson, you would have the right to come up here any time you wanted to?"

"The right? What does that have to do with anything? I wanted to be near Mrs. Hilton, but I wanted it to be a secret. I hired you to get evidence that she's immoral. I wanted to use that when she tries to make Peter think I—I killed that man in San Francisco. I didn't kill him. And Mrs. Hilton must know I didn't."

"An accident?" she made the word a scornful thing. "An accident? No. One of the Carlsons got away with murder. They—they can get away with anything."

"Have you any proof that Gregory Stoneman's death was actually murder?"

"Proof? No. If I had proof, I wouldn't have needed to hire you."

"That means you think Mrs. Hilton actually killed him?"

"What difference does it make what I think? I tell you everyone in the whole Carlson clan knows it was murder."

Hidden Truck Scale Is Tested in Oregon

SALEM, Ore. (UP)—An electric device for wieghing trucks in motion has been installed on the Pacific highway north of here.

Concealed under the surface of the road, the truck scale cannot be distinguished from an ordinary crack in the pavement. Oregon is the first state to install such a type of scale on a highway. R. H. Baldock, state highway engineer, said:

"This in-motion weighing device might enable us to do some pioneering in highway research. At present, weighing trucks for highway planning and design purposes involves stopping vehicle and getting a sample measure. Truck operators often object to being delayed.

They have used circuitous routes to avoid the weighing stations, even where no law enforcement is involved and the data are used only for highway planning."

Steady Prices Ruling Grains

CHICAGO (AP) — Steady prices ruled for grains in the Board of Trade today as the market righted itself after the previous session's spill.

The urgent selling pressure noticeable in several grains right at the close yesterday did not reappear today. Instead, there was some timid buying on the belief the market's technical condition has improved.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅝ to 1 cent higher, March $2.32⅝; corn ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, March $1.56¼; oats unchanged to ¼ higher, 79⅞; rye ¼ to 1¼ higher, March $1.20½; soybeans ¼ to 1¾ higher, January $2.87¼, and lard unchanged to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher, January $13.32.

State Judges Slam Door on Brennan

LANSING (AP) — The State Judges Retirement Board today slammed the door behind the retirement of Wayne County Circuit Judge Vincent M. Brennan, refusing to allow him to withdraw his retirement application.

Arthur H. Rice of Detroit, attorney for Judge Brennan, indicated he may take the case to the State Supreme Court. Rice said he would initiate court action in the Supreme Court or Ingham County Circuit Court this afternoon or tomorrow.

Can't Learn Too Young

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — Bimby Lentz has learned to glide on roller skates his grandfather gave him for Christmas, and when he falls down — occasionally — he gets up all by himself. Remarkable? Bimby's folks think so. Bimby's only 1 year old.

Market Loses Pep After Push

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP) — The stock market lost its pep today after two strong sessions and turned mixed in the late morning.

Prices were spread out over a range of around a point in either direction. A few individual issues pushed higher than that limit.

The pace of trading was not so pronounced as yesterday when the total at 4,430,000 shares was the highest in four years.

The market started out with a rush of higher prices that put the tape several minutes behind in reporting actual floor deals. Within a matter of minutes, the rush was over and profit-taking appeared.

PAPER SNOWFLAKES

High up in the clouds on winter days moisture gathers and begins to fall. If the air is warm this moisture falls as rain. When cold, it sometimes forms flakes and comes down as snow. Each snowflake is a six-sided crystal, and no two are ever exactly alike. If you live in a colder region, put a piece of dark paper or cloth on the ground the next time it starts to snow. By looking at them closely you can see their beautiful designs. Use a magnifying glass if you can.

These snow crystals will last only a short time. But you can make some similar ones out of paper. Here's how:

1. Draw a circle of any size on a sheet of white paper. Cut it out, and then fold it as shown in the small drawings in today's picture. Fold it first in half (A), then fold that in half (B). Fold this section in three parts as in "C".

2. Using the dotted lines in "D" as a guide, cut out odd sections along the folded edges of your cirlce. Don't cut all the way through the piece of paper. When you have finished cutting, you should have a folded piece of paper that looks something like "E".

3. Unfold the cut paper, and you'll find a snowflake similar to that shown in "F". Draw as many circles as you like, and the bigger the circle the bigger the snowflake you'll have when you finish cutting. Try to make each design different from the last.

Speaker for Railways Says Airlines No Longer Deserve Subsidies

Plea for easing of long-time restrictions on rail transportation and for removal of subsidies to other forms of transportation, to place all on an equal, competitive basis was made by Roob H. Allie, in an address before the Lions Club here Wednesday.

"America's railroads are not fighting the trucks as competitors or institutions; rather they are quarreling with a governmental policy that places all competitive handicaps on the railroads," Allie said.

"Actually the railroads have no direct complaint against the trucks and many of the railroads themselves operate trucks on the highways, either directly or under contract.

"The railroads are asking that the movement of goods and persons on their lines not be penalized by government to a greater degree than similar movement by other forms of transportation."

Allie said the airlines, carrying only one-nineteenth of the country's first class mail, received $56,000,000 in 1949. The railroads, which carried eighteen-nineteenths of the mail had received only $27,000,000.

"We think the so-called glamour girl of transportation, the privately owned commercial airlines, now has grown to the point where she no longer rates aid from the taxpayers. If any agency of transport cannot stand on its own two feet, then it has no right to survive," he said.

Honest Boy, 8, Rated as 'First-Class Citizen'

NEW YORK (UP) — David Rudnick is only 8 years old, but in the eyes of Mayor Robert Wagner he's a "first-class citizen."

David sent the mayor two one-dollar bills representing money he removed from two broken parking meters in his neighborhood, and asked the mayor in a note written for him by his mother to "please be good enough to have the meters checked."

The mayor thanked David on behalf of the city and said he'll have the traffic department look into the situation right away.

Excellent Year Seen by Curtice

GM Chief Is Confident About the Long-Range Outlook for Nation

DETROIT (UP)—General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice predicted today 1955 would be "an excellent year" for American business and said he was "equally confident about the long-range outlook for our country."

He said there was every indication to believe employment will increase from its current 62,000,000 level, more disposable income will be in the hands of consumers through a personal income rise and lower taxes, both government and private construction will remain high, capital investment by industry will continue at record levels and new and improved products will increase the consumers' incentive to buy.

As for the auto industry, Curtice said 1955 car production could well be 10 per cent above that of 1954.

Noting that General Motors recently turned out its 50,000,000th vehicle, he gave two reasons why GM will produce an equal number in one-third of the time.

"First, that our rate of technological advance is constantly accelerating, which means that every year we can build better cars and build cars better than we could build them before," he said. "And second, that the market for automobiles is expanding steadily."

Curtice said the two factors "hold good not only for the automobile industry, but for business generally."

Attempt at Holdup Fails After Scuffle

Police said the attempt was made by a youth between 18 and 20, 5 feet 10, 185 pounds, black curly hair, and wearing a maroon corduroy coat and tight fitting blue jean trousers.

News in Brief

Melvin C. Yenglin, 25, of 4712 Hillcrest, Bloomfield Township who pleaded guilty yesterday to drunk driving, was taken to Oakland County Jail when he failed to produce $100 bond set by Pontiac Judge Cecil McCallum, who deferred sentencing Yenglin until today.

Edward Klinesmith of Mayville told Pontiac Police yesterday that someone took a radio from his auto while it was parked in the Pontiac Motor Parking Lot near Kennett road. Value of the radio, Klinesmith said, was $40.

Reporter Hints Ouster Reason

Says Ladejinsky Fired Because His Anti-Red Writing May Be Front

DES MOINES (AP) — The Des Moines Register said today that a former Army intelligence officer, who believes a long record of anti-Communist writings might be a front for a Red agent, made the official recommendation to label Wolf Ladejinsky a "security risk."

John G. Cassity, Department of Agriculture security chief, made the recommendation to Secretary of Agriculture Benson, the newspaper said in a story from its Washington correspondent Clark Mollenhoff.

• • •

Benson recently refused to let Ladejinsky, a Russian-born land reform specialist, continue as an agricultural attache in Japan.

The Register said Cassity stated there was no evidence that Ladejinsky is disloyal or that he has violated security.

"We've just taken the position that with his background he might be a security risk," Cassity was quoted as saying.

Benson on Dec. 16 fired Ladejinsky from the agricultural attache job he had held for four years. Last spring, the State Department cleared Ladejinsky in a security check of its own.

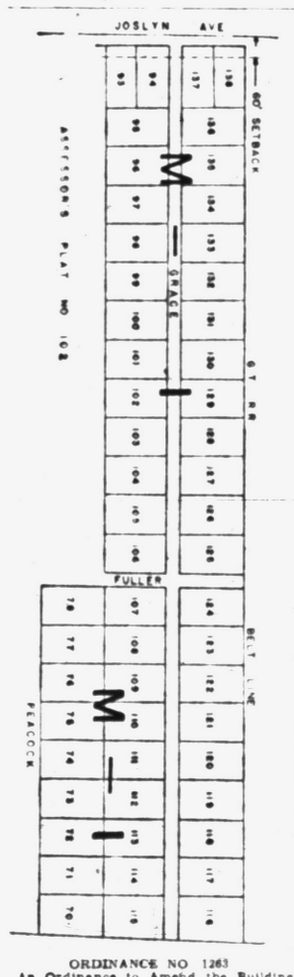

The Agriculture Department last week put out a statement listing various grounds for its action in the Ladejinsky case. It mentioned, among other things, that Ladejinsky visited Russia in 1939 despite his having previously written strong anti-Communist articles. The statement also referred to Ladejinsky's three sisters it said still are in Russia and it spoke of his having worked in 1930-31 for Amtorg, a Soviet trading Company. Furthermore, it alleged that Ladejinsky had belonged to two Communist-front groups.

• • •

Outside of the security realm, the department said Ladejinsky does not meet its technical standards for agricultural attache.

Sullivan Will Toast AP Wirephoto Net

NEW YORK (AP)—A 20th anniversary tribute to the Associated Press Wirephoto will be presented Sunday night on Ed Sullivan's Toast of the Town television program.

• • •

Representing The AP on the program will be F. A. Resch, general newsphoto editor; Harold Carlson, head of The AP's engineering laboratory; Murray Becker, chief photographer; and Frank Noel and Max Desfor, both Pulitzer Prize winners for photography.

The first picture was transmitted over the AP Wirephoto network Jan. 1, 1935. It was the first leased wire circuit to transmit news pictures simultaneously to many points.

To Free Trotsky's Killer

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Officials say Jacques Mornard, convicted of assassinating the Russian revolutionary Leon Trotsky in 1940, will be released from prison next month. Mornard, sentenced to 20 years, was eligible for parole after serving two thirds of his term.

Aftershock Jolts Eureka

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — The heaviest aftershock since the violent earthquake here Dec. 21 jolted this lumber town at 1:18 a.m. today. Buildings shuddered but there was no discernible damage.

Spot Opposite Berle, Bishop Sheen Is Fate of 'Life With Father'

NEW YORK (INS)—Gloria Swanson's demands to star in Lux video's "Sunset Boulevard" were so high and mighty, the management has settled for Miriam Hopkins in the role Gloria gloried in films . . .

"You Are There" switches to H'wood and film along with William Dozier Jan. 15 and commentator Walter Cronkite may bow to a picture personality.

CBS-TV saved the Kingfish, Amos 'n' Andy from a fate worse than cancellation—Tuesday opposite Milton Berle and Bishop Sheen—and in its place limps, reluctantly, wonderful "Life With Father."

CBS permitted the new Gleason act to steal the headlines—while its proven champ "I Love Lucy" was signing a two-year extension deal totaling far more than its original $8,000,000 purchase.

Victor Borge's hotter-than-hot position gives him a fantastic fee for a half-hour one-shot TV appearance New Year's Day when he'll follow the Rose Bowl game on NBC-TV with what probably will set the pattern for a future TV series of his own.

Real treat for the new year: Disneyland's Jan. 5 and 12 telecasts will be Walt's full-length "Treasure Island," with Robert Newton and Bobby Driscoll, split down the center for the week-long intermission.

The Lone Ranger is the only TV show on two major networks—ABC-TV and CBS-TV. With a combined rating that would push it into the top ten easily.

"Half Pint Panel" is the title of a new quiz starring youngsters from four to ten years of age who'll sit and discuss their favorite recordings plus a mystery-guest sequence (a sports figure) reminiscent of What's My Line's star-guessing gimmick.

Sure and just in time for St. Patrick's Day, NBC-TV will have Eamon de Valera, Eire's first prime minister, appearing March 13 as part of its "Elder Wise Men" series.

Also due in this parade of the patriarchs will be Sir Oliver Sitwell next Sunday; Edward Steichen Jan. 30 and John Hall Wheelock Feb. 13.

Nature Relaxes in Italy

MESSINA, Sicily (AP)—Inhabitants of the lonely Sicilian islands of Lipari and Stromboli and on the slopes of Mt. Etna breathed easier today as minor volcanic and earthquake activities eased after 72 anxious hours.

TVA Head Studies Financing Methods

WASHINGTON (AP) — Brig. Gen. Herbert Vogel says the Tennessee Valley Authority management is "engaged in very serious studies trying to determine the best way" of making its new power projects self-financing.

Vogel, named earlier this year to be chairman of the TVA, said in a telephone interview from Knoxville, Tenn., that no final conclusions are likely before the end of January.

The idea, he said, is to get away from the past TVA practice of relying upon Congress for appropriations to finance new plants. He said TVA has under study a number of plans involving bond issues. He said he did not anticipate they would bring any increase in TVA rates.

Coroner Has New Title

ALLEGAN (AP) — The Allegan County Board of Supervisors Wednesday appointed Dr. Clyde A. Dickinson of Wayland as county medical examiner. Dickinson has ben coroner since 1941. County voters abolished the coroner system last November.

$3,000 Is Limit; She Asks $7,500

NEW YORK (INS)—Gloria Swanson's demands to star in Lux video's "Sunset Boulevard" were so high and mighty, the management has settled for Miriam Hopkins in the role Gloria gloried in films . . .

La Swanson demanded $7,500 (Lux pays $3,000 as its top fee) plus transportation from N.Y., wardrobe and other perquisites.

"You Are There" switches to H'wood and film along with William Dozier Jan. 15 and commentator Walter Cronkite may bow to a picture personality.

CBS-TV saved the Kingfish, Amos 'n' Andy from a fate worse than cancellation—Tuesday opposite Milton Berle and Bishop Sheen—and in its place limps, reluctantly, wonderful "Life With Father."

CBS permitted the new Gleason act to steal the headlines—while its proven champ "I Love Lucy" was signing a two-year extension deal totaling far more than its original $8,000,000 purchase.

CBS-TV is making up its corporate mind whether to curtail or even quit colorcasting for a while.

Victor Borge's hotter-than-hot position gives him a fantastic fee for a half-hour one-shot TV appearance New Year's Day when he'll follow the Rose Bowl game on NBC-TV with what probably will set the pattern for a future TV series of his own.

Real treat for the new year: Disneyland's Jan. 5 and 12 telecasts will be Walt's full-length "Treasure Island," with Robert Newton and Bobby Driscoll, split down the center for the week-long intermission.

The Lone Ranger is the only TV show on two major networks—ABC-TV and CBS-TV. With a combined rating that would push it into the top ten easily.

"Half Pint Panel" is the title of a new quiz starring youngsters from four to ten years of age who'll sit and discuss their favorite recordings plus a mystery-guest sequence (a sports figure) reminiscent of What's My Line's star-guessing gimmick.

Sure and just in time for St. Patrick's Day, NBC-TV will have Eamon de Valera, Eire's first prime minister, appearing March 13 as part of its "Elder Wise Men" series.

Also due in this parade of the patriarchs will be Sir Oliver Sitwell next Sunday; Edward Steichen Jan. 30 and John Hall Wheelock Feb. 13.

Nature Relaxes in Italy

MESSINA, Sicily (AP)—Inhabitants of the lonely Sicilian islands of Lipari and Stromboli and on the slopes of Mt. Etna breathed easier today as minor volcanic and earthquake activities eased after 72 anxious hours.

TVA Head Studies Financing Methods

WASHINGTON (AP) — Brig. Gen. Herbert Vogel says the Tennessee Valley Authority management is "engaged in very serious studies trying to determine the best way" of making its new power projects self-financing.

Vogel, named earlier this year to be chairman of the TVA, said in a telephone interview from Knoxville, Tenn., that no final conclusions are likely before the end of January.

The idea, he said, is to get away from the past TVA practice of relying upon Congress for appropriations to finance new plants. He said TVA has under study a number of plans involving bond issues. He said he did not anticipate they would bring any increase in TVA rates.

Coroner Has New Title

ALLEGAN (AP) — The Allegan County Board of Supervisors Wednesday appointed Dr. Clyde A. Dickinson of Wayland as county medical examiner. Dickinson has been coroner since 1941. County voters abolished the coroner system last November.

Sullivan Will Toast AP Wirephoto Net

NEW YORK (AP)—A 20th anniversary tribute to the Associated Press Wirephoto will be presented Sunday night on Ed Sullivan's Toast of the Town television program.

A spot news picture will be received on stage during the show, demonstrating the operation of a Photofax machine. The machine is The AP's specially designed unit to receive pictures directly off the Wirephoto network, ready for instant use.

• • •

Representing The AP on the program will be F. A. Resch, general newsphoto editor; Harold Carlson, head of The AP's engineering laboratory; Murray Becker, chief photographer; and Frank Noel and Max Desfor, both Pulitzer Prize winners for photography.

The first picture was transmitted over the AP Wirephoto network Jan. 1, 1935. It was the first leased wire circuit to transmit news pictures simultaneously to many points.

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

NEW YORK (INS) — All week long the lists have been popping up — the ten best movies of the year, the ten best plays, the ten best novels, the ten best cookbooks, the ten best resolutions to make for 1955!

I may be crazy but the whole kit and kaboodle strikes me as the ten most boring things you could be marooned with on any ten desert islands!

What is this passion, anyway, to name the ten best this or that? Why not the eleven best, just for once, or the sixteen best?

We all understand the instinct to add up and summarize at the end of any year, of course, and in some ways there's lots of value to be found in doing just exactly that.

All business offices which I happen to have worked in did a year-end totting up of costs and liabilities, and all human beings I call my friends are pretty apt to give a good long annual look at the checkbook and the budget right after Christmas.

But movies and plays and books and such aren't supposed to come under the heading of business and budgets and liabilities! They're part of the seven lively arts, of the world of imagination and creativeness, of no-business-like-show-business etc., etc.

Then why treat them all precisely like so many items in an inventory?

Wouldn't you find it refreshing yourself if one of the leading critics in the country, for instance, varied the calendar of the ten best sometime, just for the heck of it, and came out with that annual pronouncement on a real hot day in midsummer?

Why not, after all? It's nothing but the good old fiscal year that lots of our best citizens follow anyway. Nothing revolutionary in choosing that particular span of time, you know.

You thing I'm just joshing and making wise-cracks? Well, maybe, but in all seriousness, I'm also suggesting one of my pet theories at the same moment, sort of between the lines.

The plea for non-conformity can't be made too often, or in too many different ways — there just aren't any ten best ways to make it, nor any ten best times to get in a lick for it.

There's scarcely a field where the established patterns haven't become more rigid and codified than they were a few decades ago—so rigid and codified sometimes, that you're considered either queer or subversive or freakish if you try to break through them.

Not only in politics — it's just another example of how rigid and codified we can get, that if you even talk about being non-conformist these days, right away half the people listening to you leap to the conclusion you're talking about politics!

In the arts, in the schools, in the making of movies or television shows, which usually aren't the arts exactly — everywhere one looks, it often seems, there we find the drab tired little marks of the conforming and the expected and the familiar.

It's rather a pity — and in this young, vigorous, inventive and courageous country, it's just silly nonsense as well. So my ten best dares for 1955 are all to the effect: Be yourself, friend. Patterns are for seamstresses, and lists for sinking ships.

Same House, New Lot

STURBRIDGE, Mass. (UP) — A meeting house built by the Quakers in 1796 in nearby Bolton was rededicated at Old Sturbridge Village recently. The building was disassembled and moved the 30 miles to Sturbridge "to establish a suitable memorial to the faith, fortitude and devotion of those who built and maintained it."
