Shunck Offers $5 Million Plan to Build Schools

Says Waterford Need Can Be Taken Care of Without Tax Hike

A plan for a $5 million Waterford Township school building program plus a 5-mill increase for school operation was presented by Superintendent William Shunck at last night's Board of Education meeting.

Shunck stated that a bond issue and additional millage covering the program could be put into operation without any increase in taxes provided the assessed property valuation in the school district remained the same.

Shunck emphasized that the suggestion was not complete but merely a working plan and that much consideration of other possibilities is still scheduled.

Board members authorized Shunck to proceed with the plan to gather facts relative to construction costs, and present specific recommendations to the board as soon as possible.

The proposal would be put to a vote of the people at a special election prior to the spring election or sometime in late February.

The possibility of just how the extensive school building program could be put into effect without a tax increase was explained by Shunck.

VALUATION INCREASING

He said, "Because of increasing valuation of the school district and the rapid reduction of previously incurred indebtedness a program such as this would not raise taxes."

He pointed out that within another year the present junior high and elementary school bond issues will be paid off, leaving only the last 25-year bond issue of $3½-million approved by voters in 1956.

In his report Shunck explained the present financial and school enrollment status, reviewed what had

Jet Clipper America Makes Historic Trans-Ocean Flight

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Pan American World Airways inaugurated American transatlantic jet passenger service today with a Baltimore-Brussels flight that averaged about 540 miles per hour.

The Boeing 707 jet airliner with its crew and 39 guest passengers landed here at 8:15 a.m. (2:15 a.m., EST), completing a 3,910-mile flight in 7 hours 15 minutes flying time.

The altitude was between 25,000 and 38,000 feet.

Before its takeoff from Baltimore Thursday night, the 165-passenger plane was christened Jet Clipper America by Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower in a Washington ceremony.

The 707 has a rated cruising speed of 575 miles an hour, and Pan American officials had hoped the trip would take only about 6 hours 15 minutes. Local officials of the airline requested a later landing so the official greeters would not have to get up so early.

Pan American plans to inaugurate regular transatlantic jet service Oct. 26 and to begin daily service Nov. 17.

FLIES WITH EASE

Basil L. Walters, executive editor of the Chicago Daily News, commented: "It was amazing to notice how easily the plane handles. We could hardly feel the takeoff and landing, and once in the air everything is so quiet on board. It is a great improvement over piston engine flying."

The passengers will stay here until Sunday.

British Overseas Airways' Comet jets got the jump on Pan American, inaugurating once weekly New York-London service Oct. 4. BOAC also had planned to be first with daily service, beginning Nov. 14. But maintenance men at London Airport struck Monday against the British airline, and BOAC said it would be unable to complete training of Comet crews in time to make the schedule.

For its first flight the Clipper carried a passenger load of editors, publishers, airline officials. Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind) and Baron Robert Silvercruys, the Belgian ambassador to the United States.

Pan American has bought six planes like the America and has ordered 17 others with somewhat more power. On luxury flights the big ship will carry 86 passengers. In economy service, 165 passengers can be carried.

Ike and Mamie on Flying Trip to West Coast

6-Day Campaign Opens With First Speech at Cedar Rapids Today

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP)—President Eisenhower, opening a political campaign tour, was greeted by a crowd of 75,000 at Municipal Airport here when his plane arrived from Washington.

Then he will visit Kansas and Colorado before going on to the coast for speeches in the vital California campaign.

He speaks Monday and Tuesday in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The concluding speech of the presidential tour will be Wednesday night in Chicago.

In advance of his own tour Eisenhower sent word to Vice President Nixon to keep on hammering away at Democratic attacks on administration handlings of foreign policy.

Mrs. Eisenhower accompanied the President. She wore a blue dress and blue hat and carried a fur coat on her arm. The campaigning chief executive was dressed in a gray suit, gray hat, and blue tie.

The President forgot to duck and bumped his head as he entered the plane from the ramp. The collision knocked his hat askew but apparently did not hurt him.

The Columbine III was due in Cedar Rapids in about 3½ hours.

At Cedar Rapids, in the heart of the farm belt, Eisenhower planned an informal talk at the National Corn Picking Contest.

Mrs. Eisenhower, making part of the tour with the President, will visit the Cedar Rapids school where she attended kindergarten.

From Cedar Rapids, the President and his wife travel to Abilene, Kan., for an overnight stay in the town of his boyhood. No formal speeches are scheduled there.

★ ★ ★

The Eisenhowers will spend Saturday and Sunday in Denver visiting with the First Lady's ailing mother, Mrs. John S. Doud. Mrs. Eisenhower will stay on for a time after the President leaves.

"The Abilene White House," answers the telephone operator at the Sunflower Hotel in Abilene.

The Sunflower doesn't have the Ionic portico or the famed Blue and East reception rooms of the White House, but tonight it will have President Eisenhower. For Abilene that's enough.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower can't stay in the frame house on the South Side where Ike lived as a boy. It has been a national monument since 1947 and

Outline Future Plan for Pontiac General

By PETE LOCHBILER

With the Pontiac General Hospital financial picture brightening this month, James Clarkson, chairman of the board of trustees, has outlined a three-point fiscal program aimed at keeping the hospital out of the red next year.

Occupancy is now at the highest point this year and, as a result, operating costs are reaching a more profitable level, trustees were told last night by Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator.

"We are still existing on a hand-to-mouth basis, so to speak," Euler cautioned, "but I can see a definite ray of hope now."

Euler said that he and City Manager Walter K. Willman are arranging a hearing early in November with the Detroit Area Hospital Council on a bid for a $300,000 grant to help cover unexpected repair costs in the building expansion program.

Clarkson said accomplishment of his fiscal program was his "major aim" during his coming year as board chairman. The three-point program calls for:

1 — A balanced budget for the first time since hospital finances were thrown out of kilter by the building program in 1956.

2 — A new, modern accounting system that can keep hospital records current and up to date on a daily basis, "eliminating guesswork and theory" about finances.

3 — The cost of operations must be brought into "proper proportion" so that it will be comparable to other hospitals in the Pontiac area.

Clarkson said these objectives "have got to be accomplished by us during the coming year. There is no question about this in my mind."

If accomplished, Clarkson said, the hospital would find itself in a position to begin rebuilding the cash reserves which today are non-existent.

"The utopia we are striving for is to be in position to fund depreciation, which means having actual cash on hand to draw upon when old equipment breaks down or new, modern equipment is desirable."

Clarkson warned, however, that hospital finances will remain in serious trouble next year unless the expansion program is completed.

"The completed building program would add 152 beds to the hospital and these would provide the cream of our revenues," Clarkson said.

Clouding the picture at present are extra costs to repair worn-out heating, plumbing and electrical installations in the old hospital building where the 152 beds would be located.

To meet the extras, the hospital and city are trying to cancel remodeling contracts and proceed with repairs on a time-and-material basis. Euler reported last night that contractors are still studying how much financial credit to allow the hospital if present contracts are canceled.

He said there was no assurance that the Detroit Area Hospital Council would be able to help the hospital out, but believed that it was worth while for the city to attempt to get a grant.

The city has held off forming a definite plan to raise money for the extra repairs until a final decision on their cost.

Euler reported that the hospital

TV Quizzer '21' Dropped, Victim of 'Fix' Charges

NEW YORK (AP)—The NBC television quiz show "21" was discontinued after Thursday night's performance a victim of rigging charges by former contestants on several TV quiz programs.

It thus joined two other big-money giveaway programs in oblivion—Dotto and The $64,000 Challenge.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for Pharmaceuticals, Inc., sponsor of "21" said the show's viewer rating had been falling steadily in the last five weeks.

He said the company had concluded that the widespread quiz show probe was the reason for the waning interest.

Pharmaceuticals, Inc., said it will replace "21" with Concentration, an audience participation show that awards mostly merchandise prizes. The program — 8:30 to 9 p. m., New York time, Thursdays — will have "21's" emcee, Jack Barry.

Concentration also will continue with its present daytime show, 11:30 a.m. to 12 noon, Monday through Friday. Hugh Downs will continue to emcee the daytime program.

Charles Van Doren first brought fame to "21" by winning $129,000. Elfrida von Nardroff later won $220,500, making her top money winner for any TV quiz program.

Both Van Doren and Miss von Nardroff have strongly denied any knowledge of answer-rigging or coaching on "21" as have a number of other former contestants.

The quiz show world was upset last August when Dotto, carried by both NBC and CBS, suddenly left the air. Subsequently it was announced that charges had been made that answers on the show were rigged.

More Fair Weather for Area Tomorrow

The weatherman predicts continued fair for Pontiac tonight and Saturday with little change in temperature. Tonight's low will be around 40 degrees.

For the next five days temperatures will average four degrees above the normal high of 61 and normal low of 42. Tomorrow's high will be about 68. Sunday and Monday will be a little warmer with Tuesday cooler. Precipitation will total about one-fourth inch with scattered showers Tuesday and Wednesday.

The mercury dropped to a cool 46 degrees before 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. At 2 p.m. the reading was 66.

1,600 Strike at Grand Rapids

American Motors, UAW Fail to Beat Pact Deadline

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp., only automaker to have a good year in 1958, bargained through the night with the United Auto Workers Union in an effort to reach agreement on a new labor contract.

The AMC agreement expired at 10 a.m. EST today after being extended on a day-to-day basis since last spring. Two weeks ago the union set today as the deadline for a settlement. The negotiators recessed for breakfast.

The 13,000 AMC union employes at American's plants in Milwaukee and Kenosha, Wis., and Grand Rapids, Mich., have authorized strike action. No strike date has been set.

In Grand Rapids, about 1,600 workers of the Kelvinator Division of American Motors Corp. walked off their jobs at 10 a.m. today when the strike deadline passed without an apparent settlement

The Kelvinator workers, members of Local 206 of the United Auto Workers Union, immediately set up picket lines outside the big appliance manufacturing plant.

Presumably, failure to agree by the morning deadline would leave AMC in the same position Ford, General Motors and Chrysler were in through the summer when they operated without UAW contracts.

Although it is nowhere near the size of the Big Three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—American Motors was the only U.S. carmaker that produced more cars in the slack 1958 year than it did the previous year.

Strike-troubled General Motors, biggest of the car makers, looked forward to its first production of 1959 model cars in two weeks.

Settlements of local disputes within the last few days have brought to 118,491 the number of UAW workers back on their jobs in 50 plants. At full speed, GM has 275,000 workers in 126 plants.

The local walkouts shut down GM's auto production completely for better than a week, despite a new national settlement with the UAW.

Chrysler had 5,000 workers in the Detroit area idled by three strikes yesterday.

The UAW and Chrysler still are negotiating portions of a national contract to cover 8,000 salaried office workers and engineers. They have settled on a contract for other UAW employes.

Ford, the first to come to terms with the UAW, is the only one of the Big Three with a semblance of steady labor peace.

Williams Meets Bagwell at Rally in Battle Creek

By The Associated Press

Gov. Williams and his Republican opponent, Paul D. Bagwell, met on the campaign path last night for the third time.

It was a peaceful enough meeting. They shook hands at the bidding of a photographer and then parted.

The meeting occurred at a Junior Chamber of Commerce political rally in Battle Creek. Both Williams and Bagwell were invited to deliver 15-minute speeches.

Warns Race for Moon Could Start New War

BAY CITY (UPI) — The race to determine who is going to own the moon could "become the basis for a great world war, the East Michigan Tourist Assn. was told yesterday.

B. F. Coggan, vice president and San Diego, Calif. manager of the Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp., told the association's 18th annual meeting, "In our life time our children will take the step of man's colonization of the universe. You and I have got to see to it that we are mentally ready."

Reds Find Mammoth

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet scientists are studying the bones of a mammoth believed to have lived 12,000 years ago. A skeleton 10 feet high and 12 feet long, with tusks 6 feet long, was found near Odessa on the Black Sea coast and turned over to experts for study, Moscow radio said.

Dr. Crane at PCH Tuesday

Students to Hear Psychologist

Students at Pontiac Central High are in store for a rare treat Tuesday in the way of school assemblies when Dr. George W. Crane, noted psychologist and lecturer, appears.

Dr. Crane's subject for the 2:30 talk will be "Be a Good Ape." Curiosity surely should encourage all students to attend to find out more about this unusual topic.

The speaker's appearance at the high school auditorium in the afternoon will be a prelude to a talk at the same place at 8 p.m. that day. The title of Dr. Crane's evening lecture will be "Sex Problems in Marriage."

Both appearances in Pontiac are being sponsored by The Pontiac Press.

Dr. Crane's advice to young and old alike is a popular feature in daily editions of The Press, Tuesday you can listen to the author and columnist in person. Both the student and evening lectures are open to the public free of charge.

DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Dr. Crane, who has earned degrees as a Doctor of Philosophy and Medicine, is recognized as one of the most outstanding psychologists in America today. His revised textbook "Psychology Applied" has had classroom adoptions in over 700 colleges and universities in 46 states and in Canada.

Downtown Market Set

Farm Displays Coming

From 100 to 150 Oakland County farmers and their families will invade downtown Saginaw street from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., bringing choice harvest produce into the heart of the city.

Chamber officials expect that tomorrow's scene will resemble a farmers' market.

The city has granted permission to close down Saginaw parking meters so that farmers' trucks, laden with produce, can line the curbs during the hours that "Downtown Farm Day" is scheduled.

In addition, most farmers are expected to lay out their offerings on sidewalk tables, in the same way that fresh produce is displayed at farm markets.

"We are sure that this colorful, unusual spectacle will be of great interest to Pontiac citizens," said John H. Hirlinger, chamber manager.

Behind "Downtown Farm Day" lie two aims, Hirlinger said.

The first is to promote the downtown area as an attractive place for shoppers.

The second is to encourage a greater feeling of cooperation and mututal interest between Oakland County farms and downtown merchants.

In this connection, he said, a banquet is being planned for participating farmers and the Downtown Merchants Assn., which is sponsoring tomorrow's event.

Eastman Hits Sound System

Orders Intercom Device Removed From Offices in Safety Building

Public Safety Director George D. Eastman disclosed today that he has ordered the removal of an intercommunications system device through which conversations in his office could be heard.

"The use of that type of device is not warranted," Eastman declared. "This department will be run on the basis of confidence among its members."

"I have private conversations in my office and I don't want anyone hearing them," he said.

Eastman said that he will have have any other such devices in the building removed as soon as possible.

Police Chief Straley's office houses one of five master control units which can pick up conversations in any room by tuning in on them. He said the system was set up as it is "as a matter of economics," and was recommended by the manufacturer.

Straley said there are approximately 10 other rooms in the Public Safety Building in which master control units can pick up talks whenever the person manipulating them desires.

Straley said the system had been placed in Eastman's office before his arrival when the office was occupied by the traffic division captain.

Eastman said that he had heard rumors when he visited Pontiac last December that the building was "bugged."

He asked Straley last week if he (Straley) was able to monitor conversations in his office and the chief replied he could not.

"I ran a test on Monday and found that he could listen at any time he desired," Eastman said.

Eastman then told Straley of his findings. He said Straley replied he had not understood what Eastman meant by "monitoring."

Eastman said he will issue orders to provide shutoff devices wherever intercom devices are located.

anyway, the Eisenhowers brought along too many people.

"It got so bad that some of the Secret Service agents had to be moved out into private homes," Biggs said. "I guess the press boys are going to sleep on cots wherever we can put them."

The President is only going to stay the night—a stopover on a nationwide tour. But the preparations started two weeks ago and more than likely there'll be hammering going on when Ike's motorcade enters town at 4:20 p.m.

The Sunflower looks like a communications office.

More than 40 news correspondents had to be accommodated, but the 19 telephones installed also are a security matter. Their primary purpose is to make certain that the President is instantly informed of important foreign or domestic developments.

"We got telephones in every color of the rainbow," said a telephone company spokesman. "We decided we might as well go first class and give them the best. Why use black when we had these?"

Kierdorf Trial Centers Around 'The Thing'

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

The "thing" is back and it has jurors and spectators in Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams' courtroom puzzled.

To any human eye the "thing" is a 10½-inch piece of pipe with two couplers on each end which narrow down to smaller threaded joints.

To the prosecution in the Herman Kierdorf trial, one joint is attachable to a 138 caliber German-type pistol, and is an effective silencer. On these grounds Kierdorf, 68, of Madison Heights is being prosecuted.

But over on the other side of the counsel table in Judge Adams' courtroom, a different story is being told.

According to Eric E. Zisman and William F. Dohany, attorneys for ex-Detroit Teamster aide Kierdorf, the mysterious exhibit is not a silencer but rather a plumbing fixture, or maybe even a muffler on a power lawn mower.

This muffler possibility became evident this morning when Dohany introduced into evidence a green and yellow rotary power mower belonging to Kierdorf.

There was not the customary muffler on the engine but there was a threaded joint. Does the "thing" fit there? That's a question that remains unanswered as the trial moves through its second day.

Defense attorneys this morning objected vehemently when witnesses referred to the "thing" as a silencer. It was called everything from a silencer, muffler, pipe contraption, plumbing fixture, to Exhibit 2, which it is marked.

Testifying for the prosecution this morning was Wilson Sullivan, investigator for the Alcoholic Tax Unit. He said a test at the Detroit Police Scientific Lab Aug. 5 showed that the pistol, with the "thing" attached, made "noticeably less" noise when fired.

Placed on the stand today was Judith Ann Tyler, 15, whose family lives next door to Kierdorf. She told how Kierdorf asked her to keep a "white paper bag" for him because, Judy quoted Kierdorf as saying, "I expect the police to come here."

This, she said, was on Aug. 4 when Kierdorf supposedly learned for the first time that his nephew, Frank, was near death in a Pontiac hospital with burns from head to foot.

Defense motions for adjournment and mistrial failed yesterday as the prosecution placed on the stand its first witness to testify.

Zisman claimed he couldn't get a fair trial due to all the headlines given the Kierdorf case.

Zisman also charged the prosecution with moving the trial of his client just before election to make a "political goat" of him. The judge said he found "no unusual" shuffling of the case on the criminal court docket to place it before him now.

Conviction of possessing a pistol silencer is punishable by five years in prison and a $2,500 fine.

Assistant Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry Jr. called for his first witness, late yesterday, John D. Tyler, 35, of 29078 Spoon St., a next door neighbor of Kierdorf's.

Tyler, a Teamster himself as a bakery salesman, identified a briefcase which he said Kierdorf asked him to keep last July after the former member of Joint Teamsters Council 43 learned he was to testify before the Senate Rackets Committee in Washington.

Tyler said he got curious as to the contents of the case two weeks later and opened it to find a holster with a .38 caliber pistol in it, blasting caps, and "a length of pipe with a fitting on the end of it."

Prosecution claims this "length of pipe" is a workable silencer attachable to the German luger. Kierdorf's co-counsel, William F. Dohany, says it is "a plumbing fixture."

It was Dohany, of Pontiac, that made the motion for a mistrial because he claimed Barry in his opening statement to the nine women and three men jurors had insinuated Kierdorf possessed an unregistered gun.

Kierdorf, who disappeared for 13 days after threatening to find the man who caused his nephew Frank to be burned, was described by Tyler as a "good, friendly neighbor."

Frank died Aug. 7 from burns suffered in what police believe was a bungled arson job on a cleaning establishment outside Flint. Frank Kierdorf was a business agent for Flint Teamsters Local 332.

CHARGES ILLEGAL SEIZURE

Backs Approval of Convention

Several From County on Committee Urging Constitution Confab

A group of citizens, including several from Oakland County, have formed a committee urging voters Nov. 4 to cast a "yes" vote for a constitutional convention.

Committee chairman is former United States Sen. Prentiss Brown Sr. of St. Ignace.

Among the local members on the committee are Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams; Mayor David C. Calhoun, of Huntington Woods, past president of the Michigan Municipal League; former Rep. Theodore Hughes, of Berkley; Mrs. Irene Murphy, University of Michigan regent from Birmingham; and Mrs. Howard Liverance, from Birmingham.

Included also is former Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner, also of Birmingham. "It is time for a change," declared Van Wagoner, who appointed a constitutional revision commission to make recommendations on the matter during his administration as governor.

The only state question on the fall ballot is for Michigan voters to decide whether the state's 50-year-old constitution should be rewritten. The issue appears on the ballot only every 16 years.

Businessmen, educators, clergymen, judges and attorney, municipal and township officials, housewives and salaried workers are also represented on the new committee.

Briggs Top Planner for VFW Conclave

Looking ahead to a deluge of Detroit visitors for the 1960 convention of Veterans of Foreign Wars, Walter O. (Spike) Briggs of Bloomfield Hills got plans under way yesterday.

Briggs took over the post of running the convention which is expected to draw between 30,000 and 80,000 veterans.

In case construction of Cobo Hall isn't finished, Briggs has secured Olympia and the University of Detroit Memorial building between Aug. 21 and 26.

Briggs heads the committee planning the convention.

The occupancy for the first half of October, he said, was 90 per cent, compared with 85 per cent last month.

As a result of increasing occupancy, Euler said, the per patient daily operating cost for September was $44.35, compared with $49.77 in August, the hospital's worst month this year.

T. W. Bradford, board treasurer and finance committee chairman, reported that his committee is studying question of installing a new system of mechanized accounting equipment. A recommendation may be forthcoming in 30 to 90 days, Bradford said.

The board adopted the committee's recommendation that next year's budget be prepared on the basis of four-week financial periods, instead of the monthly basis now in use.

This would give us financial periods of equal length, and provide a better comparison of one period with another," Bradford said.

Clarkson said the board definitely intends to submit a prepared budget to the city for next year. Faced with shifting financial problems this year, no budget was ever submitted, although seven tentative budgets were prepared, Clarkson said.

William P. Babcock, chairman of the personnel committee, said that an offer by the union to help out the hospital's finances would be considered when negotiations on the annual working agreement begin Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The union offered to let the present wage agreement ride until next July, waiving any raises it might obtain in January, when the agreement normally would expire.

LARRY SCHULTZ

Press Carrier Wins $100 Prize for Drawing

It wasn't just an ordinary drawing that a teenager might sketch, and to the Ford Motor Co. it was tops. It was so great that Larry Schultz captured first prize for it in the Ford Industrial Arts contest.

The Pontiac Press carrier's drawing was judged the best in the entire country for entries submitted in the seventh-eighth grade mechanical drawing division.

Larry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence H. Schultz, of 227 Chandler Ave., not only received the top award in his age division, but was leader on a team of 18 Eastern students who also walked off with prizes in the contest. These were from the 4,500 finalists of the 45,000 entries submitted.

Larry's drawing was of a spar clip, a piece of machinery, Lowry explains. It was drawn while Larry was a seventh grader in Lowry's class in mechanical drawing.

The Pontiac school won more prizes than any other single junior high school in the country.

Finishing right behind Larry was James Burwell, 13, of 508 Bay St., whose second prize drawing of a latch, staple and hook won him $80 in the same division.

Dem Senators to Visit

LANSING (AP)—Three Democratic senators from other states will visit Michigan next week to stump for the election of Democratic congressmen and to support the senate bid of Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart. Scheduled for campaign appearances are Sens. Wayne Morse of Oregon, Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Albert Gore of Tennessee.

Missile Program Hearing Called

Legislators to Probe Air Force Refusal to Open Up Books

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Government Information subcommittee today set hearings for Nov. 12-13 on Air Force refusal to make available to the General Accounting Office a report on management of the ballistic missiles program.

Air Force officials and Joseph Campbell, comptroller general, were called as principal witnesses.

Chairman John E. Moss (D-Calif) reported the controversy Oct. 3 after Campbell had protested to the committee that the Air Force had refused to give the General Accounting Office access to an Air Force inspector general's report on the missiles program.

The Air Force contends the report dealt with internal management matters and says its release would have an adverse effect on administration of the department. It offered to give Campbell a summary. Campbell said such an abbreviated report would not include information necessary to allow the General Accounting Office to make the studies required by law.

Moss agreed with Campbell that the Air Force refusal "constitutes a violation of the clear intent" of the budget and accounting acts.

Has $5 Million Plan for School in Area

been done in the past, and what to expect within the next five-year period.

Almost every school in the district is now operating capacity classroom loads, and with an anticipated 1,300 kindergarten enrollment each year the problem of housing pupils will become acute, he pointed out.

The suggested school program might include a second $3 million senior high school, three new elementary buildings and additions to four elementary schools for $1,700,000.

HANDLING OVERFLOW

The schools to have the suggested new additions would include Schoolcraft, Williams Lake, Monteith and Leggett.

Pierce Junior High School is now handling the overflow of pupils from Monteith School and Crary Junior High is housing Leggett pupils.

Shunck stressed the fact that the plan was not presented as a recommendation to the board; however, members authorized Shunck to proceed with further development to project the plan.

Rare Item for 10 Cents

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)— Mothers raising funds for the Parent-Teachers Assn. at the Whitehaven School Carnival Saturday may have a real money making idea going. Among the games, rides, hotdogs and general hoopla will be a new booth. It will offer 10 minutes of peace and quiet for a dime.

The Day in Birmingham

Lightning Strikes School, 2 Houses in Bad Storm

BIRMINGHAM — A school and two houses were struck by lightning during the severe storm which lashed the Birmingham area last night. Each was struck in the chimney.

They were the Vaughn Elementary School in Bloomfield Hills; the Henry Ziff home, 3590 Berkshire Rd., Bloomfield Township, and the Jack Boyce home, 459 Elmwood St., Troy.

The lightning also pierced the roof of the school, permitting rain to seep through it and causing the school to be closed today. There was no fire.

The Ziff home chimney was shattered into small pieces, firemen said. Damage to the chimney and the side of the house was estimated at $1,400 by firemen.

At the Boyce house, damage was set at $1,000. This included some fire damage at one end of the roof, Boyce said.

Bloomfield Hills still had hailstones on the ground this morning in some spots.

Willy Ley, one of the founders of the German Rocket Society and consultant at the Cape Canaveral Test Center in Florida, will speak at 8:15 p.m. Thursday at Cranbrook School.

Ley, who has written several books on rockets, missiles and space travel, will talk on the latest developments in space travel.

W. F. Newell, assistant program secretary for the Metropolitan YMCA, will speak at 8 this evening at the Birmingham YMCA's Young Adult Club's meeting.

He will show slides taken on his visit to Jamaica last spring.

Mrs. Albert G. Nancarrow of 559 Bennington Dr., Bloomfield Hills, will play hostess to the Monday noon luncheon meeting of the Birmingham Rotary Anns.

Dr. Harvey M. Merker, former director of scientific relations for Parke, Davis and Co., will speak on "Adventures in Medicine from Witchcraft to World Health."

Dr. Merker also has been associated with the Detroit Institute of Cancer Research.

Birmingham High School's yearbook today was awarded top honors in the National Contest for Yearbooks conducted by the Columbia University Scholastic Press Assn. in New York City.

"The Piper" won a medalist award for high schools with enrollments between 1,501 and 2,500. Miss Vida McGiffin is the faculty advisor to the yearbook staff.

Detroit's Servite High School was the only other Michigan school to win the top honor, taking the medalist award for high schools with enrollments between 301 and 600.

Eighteen other Michigan High schools won first place awards in the competition which drew more than 1,200 entries from 47 states. Entries were judged on a five-place system, ranging downward from the medalist.

In Tokyo-to-Miami Flight

Banfe Passes Aleutians

Banfe passed near Shemya Island in the Aleutians at 7:20 a.m. PST and radioed the Northwest Airlines base there that the plane's engine was functioning normally after running rough earlier in the flight.

The pilot reported he was 2½ hours behind his flight plan, however, in his attempt to set a nonstop distance record for single-engine planes.

Banfe, flying at 9,000 feet when he passed Shemya, headed over St. Paul Island in the Bering Sea; then planned to fly over McGrath and Fairbanks, Alaska.

Banfe took off from Tokyo at 7:31 a.m. (5:31 p.m., EST Thursday) and headed toward the Aleutians. His Florida destination — Miami, Fla.—was 7,022 miles and an estimated 52 hours away.

He radioed the engine report to a passing airliner 7½ hours after takeoff. A rough engine often smooths out by itself in flight, and the report did not necessarily mean serious trouble.

The airliner could not determine his exact position. An hour earlier Banfe told another plane he was 840 miles northeast of Tokyo and his speed and the weather were better than expected.

Counting on tailwinds, the 39-year-old flier hoped to be in Miami Saturday evening with five gallons of gas to spare.

The existing record was set last Aug. 1 by Marion (Pat) Boling, 43, who flew a slightly larger plane 6,979 miles from Manila to Pendleton, Ore. Both men live in Palo Alto, Calif., and both are commercial airline pilots, Banfe for Pan American and Boling for United Air Lines.

Trying to Reduce? They're 'Wonderful'

Pretzels: Saloon to Salon

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The latest twist in the pretzel industry is the push to get the pretzel out of the saloon into the salon—the reducing salon, that is.

"The pretzel is a low calorie, high protein diet item," said Donald McCollough, Lancaster, Pa., pretzel maker today. "Wonderful way to fill your stomach without adding pounds.

"Let's face it. In the old days, the pretzel was strictly for beer drinkers. It's no longer a barroom item. It's a family snack. Why, around Lancaster, doctors prescribe pretzels and ginger ale for babies with upset stomachs."

McCollough was elected to a second term Thursday as president of the National Pretzel Bakers Institute at its 18th annual convention.

MAY BE A BOOM

McCollough figures there's going to be a boom in pretzels if they catch on with folks trying to reduce.

"It's a hundred million dollar a year business," he said. "But it'll be up to between three and five hundred million dollars in the next five years. Why, business has increased 25 per cent in the last five years."

Pretzel makers are trying to get hotels to put pretzels on their dining room tables, next to the bread and cracker baskets.

"They're great with tomato soup," said McCollough. "But number one item among the new uses for pretzels is pretzel pie crust. Crumble them up, use it to top a pie. Great."

Reveal Moon Rocket Relays Radio Signals

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—The device hurled about a third of the way to the moon last weekend was used as a radio repeater station to relay signals between Hawaii and England.

The Air Force, disclosing this Thursday, said: "This accomplishment validates the idea of using space vehicles of various types to improve vastly the effectiveness and reliability of methods of worldwide communications."

The 84-pound instrument package named Pioneer was hurled 79,120 miles into space from Cape Canaveral, Fla., before it fell back and presumably burned up in the earth's atmosphere.

When it was near its farthest point out, a radio signal was beamed at it from the Hawaii tracking station, repeated by the transmitter in the device and picked up by the Manchester, England, tracking station. Signals also were similarly transmitted from Florida to England and Hawaii, a spokesman said.

Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, commander of the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division, said: "Improvement in worldwide communications by using a satellite or space station as a connecting link between two distant points on earth has been discussed by scientists for years as a genuine possibility.

Detroit Polio Cases Reach Total of 590

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's polio case count for 1958 stands at 590 with three new cases reported Thursday. Two new cases were reported in Wayne County outside the city, bringing the county total to 181.

There have been 19 deaths in Detroit and one in Wayne County attributed to polio this year.

Detroit had 174 cases and two deaths in the similar period of last year and the county had 74 cases and one death.

Refuses to Tell What Happened to Ike's Tooth

"I am not allowed to discuss anything about the President's tooth; that was told me by the commanding general," said Col. Robert B. Shira, who pulled a molar from the President's mouth last February.

★ ★ ★

"I don't know where it is; I'm not free to tell you where it is," he said.

He didn't say why the tooth was removed or why its whereabouts is secret.

Shira's remarks were made Thursday in response to a newsman's questions while he was here to address the Louisville District Dental Society.

Approaching Train Fails to Scare Boy on Bridge

But young Jack didn't panic.

As a matter of fact, said conductor Robert Kirby, "he was quite unconcerned about it all. He didn't get excited until we gave him a ride in the locomotive."

★ ★ ★

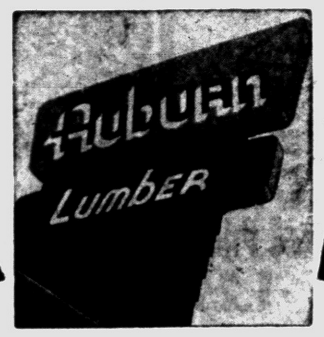

The train crew was able to stop the Baltimore and Annapolis Railroad freight in time, picked up the tike and deposited him on the other side of the span.

Supermarket Sales Up; Profits Show Increase

ATLANTIC CITY—Supermarket sales last year were 13 per cent higher than in 1956, and one of every six supermarkets in the United States grossed more than $3,000,000 compared with only one in seven in 1956.

Profits before taxes rose thirteen-hundredths of one per cent according to Curt Kornblau, research director for the Supermarket Institute.

North America Claims 6 Species of Sturgeon

MILWAUKEE — Sturgeons have no teeth. Instead they have an underslung mouth that acts like a vacuum cleaner. Of the 25 species of sturgeon, six live in North America.

At one time they were plentiful in the Hudson and Delaware rivers, but not any longer. Nor are they very plentiful today in the Great Lakes. A few Wisconsin and Minnesota lakes still have them.

10 Million Have Allergy

CHICAGO—An estimated 10,000,000 children under 16 in the United States have some form of allergy and 2,500,000 have "asthma or respiratory allergies requiring treatment," according to a new study. Asthma is one of the frequent causes of referral to pediatric outpatient clinics and children's hospital wards each year.

Munich, Germany, celebrated its 800th anniversary this year.

Turk Publications Up

ISTANBUL — During the first three months of 1958 there were 705 books and 195 other publications printed in Turkey, 327 more than during the comparable period of 1957.

That Foundation Was Securely Laid

They take precedence over what the merchants have themselves.

Over a century ago when Russell Sage, the greatest financier of his era, said that agriculture is the foundation of all wealth he expressed a truism that has carried down through the decades.

Long before it had any industry of much account Pontiac's very existence was dependent on the soil. It was a farmer's town. It still is.

Give this some sober thought and you'll have the same conclusion.

Our sustenance that comes from the soil enables us to promote and sustain industry and every other phase of a better life.

With our farmers pushed back by the amazing growth of our factories and incidental home development, we still are among the top agricultural counties in Michigan.

Forced to compete with factory wages, tilling a soil depleted by a century of cropping (making intensive fertilization a necessity), and ever dependent on a fussy market, our farmers often do not get the credit to which they are entitled.

In appreciation of all this, Pontiac merchants give them the opportunity to show that agriculture still is one of this area's basic occupations.

Business Recovery Setting New Pace

Only a few months ago it was believed that economic recovery would be a slow and gradual process. While recovery has been spotty, retail and wholesale sales are increasing and Government spending continues to rise. Manufacturing production has jumped 8.3 per cent since the recession hit bottom in April.

Labor Secretary MITCHELL cites as proof of recovery, steadily rising personal income, increases in plant and equipment expenditures, new construction and sharply declining unemployment all across the country.

Government sources indicate that by the end of October fewer than 4 million persons will be idle. However, manufacturing still is nine points under the last previous high reached in early 1957 and economist Dr. ARTHUR BURNS says that with an expanding population, the economy must go higher to create two million new jobs.

One startling figure in all this is that productivity, Government estimates indicate, is climbing at an annual rate of 12 per cent while the normal rate is 6 per cent.

To the $10 billion income expected from employment of two million new workers can be added another $10 billion for pay increases and longer hours of work for those already employed. About two billion will go for taxes and another two billion for savings and investments. This leaves $16 billion for goods and services, says U. S. News & World Report. These added dollars will be spent on food, clothing, cars, appliances and all of the things included in our high standard of living. The money will filter through the entire economy, bringing prosperity and still more jobs.

Talking of things nearer home—the new automobiles are selling unusually well. People in 1958 are spending at the annual rate of $13 million for cars. In an average year the total is $16 million but with the predicted increased employment and personal incomes, the auto industry should have a big year in 1959.

A DESIGNER of women's clothes says it is his job to keep women continually dissatisfied with the clothes they have. There are few, if any, easier jobs.

MAYBE an old dog can't be taught new tricks, but an old fool can learn for himself new ways of acting the fool.

The Man About Town

Few Offenders

But Some Office Seekers Are Violating the Law

Only a few of the political candidates are violating the law by posting their signs within the limits of our highways. Most of them are placed outside the area (usually four rods wide) that is highway property.

This column is endeavoring to rid our roadsides of this unsightly nuisance. If publicity can accomplish the task. Let us know of any violations you see.

The most flagrant case of this kind that has come to our notice is on Walton Boulevard, where many posters of a candidate have been nailed to trees within the highway limits.

The guilty candidate isn't gaining any votes in that locality, according to who phones that she must endure the ordeal of having their noxious sight inflicted upon her twice daily, and that many people are disgusted about it. She says, "Only God can make a tree, but a two-penny politician has the ego to desecrate it with his visage."

With the revival of that old song hit, "Cherry pink and apple blossom white," I am 100% in agreement with

Mrs. Anna Pickway

of Keego Harbor, who phones that the the composer got his colors mixed.

Good manners are said to be a gift. And we hope you'll exercise what you have when the United Fund solicitor calls.

"In compiling that list of the big things grown by your readers you did a wonderful job," phones of Auburn Heights, who asserts that I omitted the mushroom family. She recently found a puff ball in a Commerce Township woods that weighs 20 pounds.

Mrs. Hartley Manners

The best autumn color show in the Pontiac area has been at Holly where it still is good. It is especially appreciated this year because many of the myriad of maple trees for which the village is famous were threatened with destruction in a proposed highway project, but were saved by a concerted effort of civic minded citizens.

Outrunning His Interference

David Lawrence Says:

Red Infiltration Widespread in U.S.

WASHINGTON — Bombings in the South and then in the Middle West — Peoria, Ill. — and now also in Boston are part of the nationwide activity of those who want to make it appear the United States is denying religious freedom.

LAWRENCE

Not only Jewish places of worship, but a religious center of a non-Jewish sect have been bombed.

On the authority of a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee which last year heard testimony about Communist connections with the bombing of a home in Louisville, Ky., it can be stated that the Communists are busily engaged in infiltrating the churches, the parent-teacher associations, the colleges and the high schools as well as labor organizations.

The report filed in the Senate just a few months ago says that the subcommittee as a whole concurs in the findings of the chairman and ranking minority member who conducted the hearings in Memphis last year. The report says:

"Communist activity in the Midsouth area is not a matter of the past. Such activity goes on today.

"The pattern of this present-day Communist activity in the Midsouth is highly conspiratorial, deeply cloaked in secrecy. The Communist participants in the conspiracy have taken extraordinary security measures in order to protect their network from detection.

"Members of the Communist network in the Midsouth include men and women who are highly educated, efficient, and give every appearance of respectability.

"Members of the Communist network in the Midsouth apparently are able to transfer their employment from city to city and from state to state, with their transfers expedited by still other members of the network.

"The basic Communist operation in the Midsouth is directed against all generations; but there has emerged a pattern of a new and younger generation of Communist teachers who have been trained by older members of the Communist party, and are now carrying on the functions of the network."

The attorney general of the State of Kentucky, J. M. Ferguson, and A. Scott Hamilton, the prosecuting attorney at Louisville, testified before the Senate subcommittee about the bombings there and laid the blame on Communist activity. They pointed to recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States which had weakened the power of a state to prosecute for seditious activity. Hamilton testified:

"Now, we wanted to prosecute one of the men at least, or two of them for blowing up this house in Louisville and the Circuit Court, after the Nelson case (decided by the Supreme Court), ruled that we could not show the Communist end of this thing as the motive. Well, any lawyer knows, I am sure you all know, if you can't show the motive for the crime, 99 times out of 100 you are not going to be able very well to prove a crime."

This correspondent on April 30, 1958, wrote a dispatch about the bombing of a church at Jacksonville, Fla., and drew attention then to what the grand jury of Jefferson County, Kentucky, formally said in its report about the bombing there.

The report said:

"It is very significant to this grand jury that this case seems to follow the pattern used by the Communist Party to create trouble between the respective races in this country, and that one of the specific methods of doing this is by the purchase of property for Negroes in areas which normally are occupied by white persons, and then causing incidents such as this . . ."

A few persons involved in the bombing episodes now being reported in the press may be caught some day but, when prosecuted, there will be no chance for any state to punish the conspirators behind it all who hide in other states.

It isn't a Federal crime to bomb a church, and there is no effective way to inquire into the motives of those who direct the bombing conspiracies.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Alcohol Is Depressant, Medical Authorities Agree

Alcohol — in any form or quantity, under any circumstance — is a narcotic. It never acts as a true stimulant. On the contrary, its dominant influence is depressant.

DR. BRADY

The increased activity of thought and speech after its use is not due to stimulation, but to depression of the inhibitory nervous apparatus.

The activity is therefore due to lack of control and is not a real increase of energy — as the individual under the effects of the narcotic so readily imagines. After one or more drinks he (or she) feels more competent to drive a car, deal with a business or social exigency or perhaps negotiate a treaty.

Most of these facts I quote from Hare's "Practical Therapeutics." Lest you demur that Hare's book was published in the 19th Century and is not authoritative today, let me quote what Bastedo says in his textbook published in 1938:

"Alcohol is a true narcotic. It stands in the narcotic series between the general anesthetics (ether, chloroform etc.) and the hypnotics. Previous to the introduction of ether and chloroform, whisky in intoxicating quantities was employed as a preparation for major operations. Marin and others have reported successful general anethesia from intravenous alcohol."

Indeed, no recognized medical authority at present regards alcohol (beer, wine, whisky, brandy) as anything else than a narcotic drug.

And yet, in the 10th edition of Hare's Practical Therapeutics, the Professor, having described the narcotic effect of alcohol, insulted the intelligence of his readers by adding that "the chief uses of alcohol are as a rapidly acting stimulant in all forms of cardiac failure due to shock . . . alcohol is indicated in fainting, snake-bite, surgical shock . . .

HOW COME?

The reader wrote to ask the author how come, and the author replied:

"It is quite conceivable that alcohol acts as a stimulant upon other functions of which, as yet, we know very little, as, for example, the ability of the body to resist infection."

Whether later editions of Hare's Practical Therapeutics cleared up this discrepancy between 19th Century fancy and 20th Century fact I have never bothered to learn. I had lost confidence in my teacher.

For it seemed to me then and still seems irrational to give a patient a narcotic because it may have some effect on a function of which we know little or nothing.

'Here's What Ohioans Say About Michigan Industry'

★ ★ ★

"High state taxes and the definite prospect of even higher state taxes, plus the political dictatorship of UAW President Walter Reuther, have caused Michigan to lose industry to Ohio. New industry has been coming into Ohio at a great rate because our state's economic climate is favorable to business.

★ ★ ★

"New business means more jobs for Ohioans. Favorable business conditions in Ohio haven't happened by accident. Ohio has a governor in Columbus, William O'Neill, who has run the state government in the black. He hasn't asked for new taxes. He has a $38 million state treasury surplus. He's been doing other good things, bringing Ohio up to the forefront nationally in many fields of government.

'Right-to-Work Law Only for Turncoats'

In answer to Union Member Since It Was Founded, in Indiana, a so-called "right to work state," I personally know of a case where the employer, a big contractor, fires the whole crew every Friday night and hires a new one every Monday morning. The contractor doesn't have to pay all the fringe benefits due the workers by hiring a new crew every week.

★ ★ ★

One man I know keeps his job there by doing all kinds of hard labor that belongs to the "laborers' union." This man is a skilled tradesman in his field.

★ ★ ★

With the right-to-work law, commonly known as the right-to-scab law among real union members of good standing, Union Member Since It Was Founded might be working for 50 cents an hour or whatever the employer deems fitting.

★ ★ ★

Not wishing to be anonymous, I'll say this, Union Member and all of his kind who are turncoats when the chips are down should be expelled from the Union and sent to states where the right-to-scab law prevails, if that is what they so desire.

'Must We Get CPA to Keep Records?'

Does our Constitution say that the Internal Revenue agents can make each and every taxpayer belong to a church before deducting donations? I haven't and don't intend to, either.

★ ★ ★

And do the Internal Revenue agents limit the amount put into the Sunday School collection as just a nickel or a dime?

★ ★ ★

I guess we taxpayers need a CPA to record our every expenditure. Do you stop the usher at a church you visit for a written receipt as the collection is passed?

'Eulogy for Reuther Peak of Ignorance'

I've heard Reuther called many names, some of which I heartily concurred, but until Unemployed Auto Worker, I've never heard anyone ignorant enough or sacrilegious enough to compare him to the Son of God. Evidently he is quite happy with his unemployed status.

'At Least Truman Isn't Hypocrite'

Truman speaks from his heart and says what he thinks. A lot of people don't like that. They'd rather have a hypocrite like Ike. He can tell a lie and after the lie has been proven, some of these people that are soft-soaped so easily still believe him because they aren't able to think for themselves. How many of his promises has he kept? How can people be fooled so easily? The Republican party lets everyone know it's against labor.

★ ★ ★

I hope I shall always possess firmness and virtue enough to maintain what I consider the most enviable of all titles, the character of an "honest man." — George Washington.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Is Your Insomnia From Guilt?

Myra's sleeplessness had a deeper basis than is true in ordinary insomnia. She had a guilt complex so she imitated ancient Jacob, except she figuratively wrestled all night with a devil instead of an angel. Notice how her problem was solved, and send for the vital sex booklet named below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Z - 347: Myra Z., aged 29, is the neurotic mother mentioned yesterday who took sleeping pills to relieve her insomnia.

CRANE

She was soon to celebrate her 30th birthday. So she was now in what I call the female '29 panic!

The age of 30 seems so old! At least, to people on the under side of that figure.

Many wives, whose homelife has been rather drab and monotonous, then get afraid that they will soon be on the shelf and a has-been as regards romance and thrills.

THE '29 PANIC

Many of these fearful women then begin to imagine they have not had their proper share of excitement.

So they wonder if maybe they shouldn't steal a final fling before they are permanently "on the shelf" at the old age of 30.

In this indecisive mood, where they are subconsciously "toying" with the idea of a flirtation, they may sooner or later bump into a romantic opportunity.

So they may enter into an affair in a desperate attempt to have one final taste of youthful romantic excitement.

★ ★ ★

Actually, their motivation is not a basic sexual urge but a sop to their vanity. They are just scared about old age and are desperately trying to stave it off.

MYRA'S MISCHIEF

Myra had thus succumbed to the wiles of another man. She had gone driving with him a couple of times and had attended an afternoon movie.

But she knew she was doing wrong, which was why she lay awake at night and couldn't even banish her insomnia with sleeping pills.

You Bible scholars will remember that Jacob wrestled all night with an angel.

Well, Myra wrestled all night but with a devil. She wanted to feel young and kittenish, as evidenced by her clandestine dates.

But she knew this was not the proper pattern of behavior for a housewife with a good husband and two youngsters.

So she finally cried out her confession in my office. That's the first step in a psychiatric cure, namely, facing the problem and naming it in words.

MYRA'S CURE

The cure consisted in my reminding Myra that there is actually no deadline to our love life. Even the fear at the age of 45, when the menopause is reached, is largely a mistaken notion that has fettered womankind's happiness for thousands of years.

For love is not dependent on a woman's uterus. It is a matter of the brain, which doesn't die at 45.

Then I called in her husband and gave them a chart talk, as we medics do for young married couples, for they had never had any such preparation for marriage.

Churches nowadays are rendering a wonderful service by their Marriage Clinics and Cana Conferences. More power to them!

Send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

It has been used in training Catholic priests for Cana Conference leadership and is widely prescribed by physicians who do marital counselling.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Tiny Daughter of 2 Victims Unharmed

Find 3 Shot to Death in Cabin

MINAM, Ore. (AP) — Three persons were shot to death in a dingy mountain cabin Thursday night. A little girl later was found crying near the bodies of two—her parents.

★ ★ ★

The father of the 3-year-old girl was William T. Nickels, 53, whose body was found sprawled in an open doorway in a kitchen littered with dirty dishes.

A few feet away lay the body of his wife Delores, 40, who had begun divorce proceedings a few hours before.

The third victim was Miss Billie Johnson, 25. Her body lay face down on the rough board floor of the cabin's living room. All were from Enterprise, the county seat of this rugged mountain country in northeastern Oregon.

Police had dashed to the house after Archie Conrad, 53, a mill worker, had crawled 300 yards to a neighbor's house for help.

Conrad, wounded in the shoulder, was taken to a hospital at La Grande, 40 miles south of here.

"We don't know yet who did the shooting," Sgt. C. J. Casciato said. "We will question Conrad as soon as he comes out from the sedatives."

However, one state policeman, T. J. Botner, talked with Conrad briefly before the wounded man was put under the heavy sedation.

"Conrad said he and the two women were in the house when some guy came in and shot the women," the patrolman said.

"When I walked in the cabin, the little girl was just running around the kitchen and crying," the doctor said.

The fair-haired girl, clad in a print dress, was spattered with blood, which lay in big pools in the kitchen. In one of them, near her mother, was a big doll.

"I don't think that any attempts had been made to hurt the little girl. She wasn't harmed. The Welfare Department later came and got her," the doctor said.

Police said the murder weapon apparently was a 30-30 rifle that was found propped against a living room wall, muzzle down. It was about 10 feet from the bodies in the kitchen.

Only two shell casings were found. Both were under Nickel's body.

Preliminary examinations disclosed that Miss Johnson had been shot once in the breast. Nickels was shot in the chest. His wife also had been hit once, in the shoulder, with the bullet coming out in the chest.

The interior of the white cabin, where Conrad lived alone, was torn up, as if there had been a violent argument.

Guess He'll Be More Explicit From Now On

"You might find some there," he said.

The students did — a roof-high pile that took four hours and three truckloads to haul to the school.

★ ★ ★

They set fire to the pile, learning the grim facts from police too late: the tires they had taken were stored behind the service station for recapping. Their estimated value: $1,800.

Expect Little Rock Group to Tell of School Opening

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—An announcement that a private, segregated school will open next week was expected today from the Little Rock Private School Corp.

★ ★ ★

Gov. Orval E. Faubus digressed from a TV speech appealing for support of the state's sales tax program Thursday night to tell Arkansans the corporation would have an important announcement.

In the same speech the governor called upon the people of Arkansas to avoid any acts of violence in their "fight to preserve our rights as a sovereign state."

Faubus noted the bombing of schools and churches in both the North and South and said Arkansas was waging its battle in the courts and for public opinion.

He urged the people to stick with democratic processes and to avoid overt acts of any form. "Acts of violence cannot help our cause," he said.

Even before the governor spoke there were reports that the private school corporation was ready to open an institution for a limited number of Little Rock's idled high school students.

A plan was ready to start registration Monday for seniors only because of a teacher shortage. The lower grades must wait until the teacher problem is solved, the informant said.

None of the teachers obtained for the school is a present Little Rock high school instructor. Teachers are under injunction from the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and have been advised by their attorneys not to participate in private school unless they are ready to resign their present jobs.

The governor closed the schools on the eve of the new school year to avoid court-ordered integration.

One possible hitch appeared in the private school corporation's plan. A suit was filed challenging the sale of an old University of Arkansas building, in Little Rock, that the corporation was considering as its site.

★ ★ ★

The building was sold Wednesday to a banker and he reportedly intended to lease it to the corporation. A plaintiff listed as Mrs. R. G. Taylor of Little Rock challenged the university's right to sell the property. She said the sale did not follow proper procedure.

Planning to Expand Soo Limestone Plant

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — The Drummond Dolomite Corp., producers of limestone, have announced plans for a $2,500,000 expansion program on Drummond Island which is expected to tap an additional 150 million tons of crushed rock for industrial purposes.

The company said the plans include construction of a six-mile railroad on the island between the old and new plants. The present plant produces about 2,500,000 tons of crushed rock annually.

Completion of the project is expected to take three years.

Husband Shoots Wife in Quarrel Over Visit

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Lucille Ward, 42, was shot last night after a quarrel with her husband about her plans to visit a step-daughter.

Wounded in the abdomen, she was hospitalized in critical condition.

U. of M. Specialist Speaks

Over 200 Cancer Types

YPSILANTI (AP)—Cancer has more than 200 different forms and is as difficult to understand and control as life itself, says a University of Michigan cancer specialist.

Dr. Howard B. Latourette, chairman of the university's Cancer Research Institute, told a district training school of the American Cancer Society yesterday that what it commonly called cancer actually is a complex family of diseases made up of perhaps 200 to 300 different types.

"Thees diseases differ widely in their characteristics and prognosis but all have the same fundamental basis, the uncontrolled growth of abnormal cells," Latourette said.

"An increasing number of facts are known about the causes of cancer and how it affects patients. Also scientists are constantly improving the methods of detecting and treating the disease.

"Using the best methods of treatment now available, many patients can be cured. However, the final understanding and control of the wohle family of diseases we call cancer will probably come when we understand and control growth and life itself."

Symbolic Coffin of Pope Pius XII Moved for Mass

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The symbolic empty coffin of Pope Pius XII was returned today to the center of St. Peter's Basilica for a Requiem Mass beginning the last three days of mourning.

The coffin had been in the Chapel of the Choir since the late pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church was buried Monday in the grottoes beneath the basilica. It was moved from the chapel at one side of the huge church to a position before the Altar of the Cathedral Chair.

Marcello Cardinal Mimmi celebrated the Mass. He was assisted by four other cardinals—Gregory Peter Agagianian, Angelo Roncalli, Joseph Wendel and James Francis McIntyre, the latter the archbishop of Los Angeles.

The nine-day mourning will end Sunday when U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and other representatives of foreign governments will attend the Requiem Mass.

Dulles is scheduled to fly into Rome Saturday. Unconfirmed reports circulated in the Vatican that he might hurry to St. Peter's to attend the 10 a.m. Mass Saturday in a private capacity.

In London, flags were at half staff on public buildings as the official Solemn Requiem Mass for the Pope was celebrated at Westminster Cathedral. Queen Elizabeth was represented by the Duke of Norfolk, Britain's Earl marshal and premier duke, who is one of the country's leading Catholic laymen.

To Vote on Local Issues

ALBION (AP) — Albion voters will decide four local issues in the Nov. 4 biennial city election. Mayor H. A. Rieger will seek a second term with former mayor Charles E. Hughes as his opponent. Four candidates are seeking two city council seats and three candidates are running in the race for two seats on the city board of review.

Detroit Schools Afire

DETROIT — Separate fires caused about 900 children to flee their elementary school twice yesterday. The fires, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon, were at Wingert Elementary School. Damage was slight and there were no injuries. Cause of the fires was not known.

Deaths Elsewhere

CLEVELAND (AP) — Abram Garfield, 85, last surviving child of President James Abram Garfield, died Thursday after an illness of several months. Garfield, youngest son of the martyred president, retired in 1951 as a member of a Cleveland architectural firm. He was born in Washington, D.C.

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Robert Redfield, 60, noted anthropologist and member of the University of Chicago faculty since 1927, died Thursday of lymphatic leukemia. Redfield, who was a former president of the American Anthropological Assn., was born in Chicago.

DENVER (AP) — F. E. Mollin, 71, for 26 years executive secretary of the American National Cattlemen's Assn., died Thursday of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was born in Genoa, Neb.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet army paper Red Star Thursday reported the death of Lt. Gen. Ivan I. Morozov, World War II artillery officer. The paper did not give his age or cause of death.

MOSCOW (AP) — The navy paper Soviet Fleet Thursday reported the death of Maj. Gen. Vasily Pavlov, 65, dean of the Leningrad Naval Academy.

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — Gerard Hordyk, 59, Dutch muralist and stage designer, died Wednesday of cancer in Amsterdam, Netherlands, his son, John G. Hordyk, disclosed Thursday. His home gallery in Rye was the Contemporary Art Gallery. His work also was exhibited in other American cities. He was born in The Hague.

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Walter Christie, who coached the winning U.S. Olympic games team of 1924, died yesterday at a rest home. He was 90. His greatest fame was gained at California where his teams won national intercollegiate championships in 1921-22-23. Before he retired here after the 1932 season, he had seen the Cal track layout grow from a wooden-bleachered oval to the $250,000 Edwards Track Stadium.

Sees Little Aid in 'Porkies' Plan

Resources Expert Says Copper Mining in Park Won't Help U.P. Much

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — A University of Michigan expert on state natural resources said Upper Michigan "won't gain much, economically speaking, if Porcupine State Park were opened to copper mining interests."

★ ★ ★

Prof. Kenneth C. McMurry, former chairman of the U. of M. Department of Geography and director of the U. of M. Geography camp near Seney, said:

"Mining in this area would probably employ relatively few people. I know those in favor of the move can argue that mining can be expanded, that copper is a strategic material for national defense and so forth; but then we enter the realm of opinion."

He continued, "I would be very doubtful that mining development in the Porcupine State Park would disturb things a great deal. Fumes, generally speaking, destroy vegetation, but this doesn't seem to have been a serious problem in Michigan during the past."

★ ★ ★

(At the last conservation commission meeting at White Pine in the U.P., a chemical engineer testified that "Fumes from the process of obtaining copper from low grade ore are very deadly, especially in hilly country like that in the Porkies.")

McMurry said the Bear Creek Mining Co. wants about 5,000 acres and "In my opinion this wouldn't seriously hurt the objectives of the park in the final story . . ."

He further stated that "The U.P. has gone all out over the past 50 years to produce something without too much success and its people (5 per cent of Michigan's population) are still looking for a straw. Opening the Porcupines to exploitation won't solve all their headaches."

Election Has Nationwide Importance

California Race Tingles With Dramatic Impact

By MORIE LANDSBERG
One of a Series

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California's election campaign carries dramatic impact and national significance probably unmatched in modern political history.

It spins around the races for governor and U.S. senators. Four leading figures and such controversial issues as "right-to-work" dominate the scene.

There is Sen. William F. Knowland, blunt, independent-minded Senate Republican leader. He renounced a virtual sure-thing re-election to run for governor—a risk that holds fateful consequences for a potential presidential contender.

There is his Democratic opponent, Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown, an amiable, self-styled moderate and his party's best vote-getter yet in California.

There is Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, an avowed candidate for re-election . . . until Knowland's decision to bid for his job prompted him to shoot, most reluctantly, for Knowland's Senate seat.

And there is Rep. Clair Engle, eight-time congressman from a 19-county mountain-valley district who calls himself a country boy. He's Knight's Democratic opponent.

In a state where political contradictions are normal, everything seems to favor Brown to become California's second Democratic governor of this century. Yet it wouldn't be surprising if Knight came through too.

Brown entered the fall campaign with a 662,000-vote lead over Knowland in the primary. Registration gains since then have pulled Democrats a record 1,199,000 ahead of the Republicans.

The Democrats are united behind Brown. The Republicans are split over Knowland.

The GOP senator apparently decided to stake all on a labor program, including "right-to-work," which swings away from the election-tested middle ground position of Republican former Gov. Earl Warren and Knight.

Other Republican candidates, principally Knight, differ with Knowland's advocacy of the "right-to-work" initiative which has aroused organized labor—a sizable vote—as never before.

Brown and all other Democratic nominees likewise oppose the measure to outlaw the union shop. The two-term attorney general calls it jungle law. He speaks of Knowland as a reactionary, pushing his way on a rule-or-ruin course set for the White House.

Knowland, in turn, warns that labor bosses are trying to take over the state, and that "Pat" Brown is their captive candidate.

Knight, whom even Democrats consider has been a "good governor," has made no secret of his own coolness toward the head of the GOP ticket. In fact, he has peppered away at Knowland on the labor issue and his supposed presidential ambitions.

Knowland, barnstorming furiously after his slow start, says the tide is beginning to turn away from Brown. He predicts the 6¾ million voters will choose the man, rather than the party, and that he will win by upwards of 125,000.

Brown has stayed away from the crystal ball but he's confident of his chances. His headquarters figures he'll top Knowland by no less than half a million—perhaps as high as 1,200,000.

Knight is probably the most optimistic of the Republican candidates. He trailed Engle by 560,000 votes in the primary, although he had competition for the Republican nomination for the Senate. Engle was unopposed within his own party.

The governor says a new statewide poll now gives him the lead. He says Engle made a serious miscalculation in strategy in assailing President Eisenhower's foreign policy, and that he has tried to wisecrack his way to the Senate.

The Democrats, far from conceding Engle's defeat, predict they'll pick up two more House seats—possibly three. The present lineup in the California delegation is 17 Republicans, 13 Democrats.

The Democratic challenge has brought two campaign swings by Vice President Nixon, who has more than a Californian's interest in the outcome. President Eisenhower's two-day visit to California next week also points up the national importance of the state's vote.

Knowland insists he intends to serve out his four-year term if elected governor. Clearly, though, a victory for the Republican senator would enhance his own, or his party's, chances in the 1960 presidential race.

Defeat could well shatter his political career—an undefeated 25-year span as a state legislator and U. S. senator. And it could make the second largest state as ripe for the Democratic column.

To Discuss Need for Convention on State Constitution

The one state question on the Nov. 4 ballot—whether or not a constitutional convention should be called to rewrite Michigan's 50-year-old constitution—will be the topic of a program Tuesday at Christ Lutheran Church on Williams Lake road in Waterford Township.

* * *

The Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service will not only stage a one-hour panel on this question (10 a.m.-11 a.m.), but will also have discussions following on township and county governments.

* * *

The sponsoring Extension Service has engaged a whole host of representatives of state, county and township government to take part in the program.

* * *

D. Hale Brake, president of the Michigan Institute of Local Government, will be moderator for the many discussions planned for the day. It is open to all free of charge.

After Trip Behind Bamboo Curtain, Strohm Finds:

Backyard Furnaces Boost Steel Output

By JOHN STROHM

NEW YORK (NEA) — Almost everywhere you go in Red China your nostrils are assailed by a sulphurous smoke that reminds you of Gary or East Chicago.

Red China is out to make the "great leap forward" in steel production by twin programs, one old, one new.

In farmyards, on school playgrounds, college campuses and vacant lots, the belching vest-pocket blast furnaces of the old way polka-dot the landscape with smears of smoke. And those who stoke them with hand-crushed ore, coal and limestone are the farmer and his wife, the schoolchildren and college kids.

STROHM

Thus did America produce pig iron in the mid-1800's on myriad "plantations" close to the land (for ore) and the forest (for charcoal). They are not new to China, but the program has exploded in size.

I must have seen, more than 1,000 of these furnaces during my tour of Mao's domain. They range from three feet to 30 feet high, their output from 100 pounds to 100 tons daily.

Red China's economists reasoned thusly: to save transport, take the furnace to the raw materials and only move the pig iron to the factory. The iron pigs are fed to the great new rolling mills like those I saw at Hankow and Anchan.

But Red China is by no means betting on its backyard ironmongers. At Anchan I visited a sprawling mill where 100,000 workers make an average of $32 a month turn out one-third of China's iron and steel.

They mine their own ore, get nearby coal and make pig iron, steel, iron rails, steel beams and seamless tubing.

* * *

Indeed, the Chinese are demonstrating an aptitude for manufacture that few Westerners once would have believed. I talked with businessmen from Denmark, Britain and Germany and the consensus was: "Chinese learn fast, can operate machinery well."

* * *

Several Red engineers and plant managers told me they keenly desired to see U.S. plants and methods but realized that was impossible, because, as one put it, "Your Mr. Dulles has erected a Bamboo Curtain that would prevent it." (This assertion that the Bamboo Curtain was erected by the U.S. and not Red China is a recurrent Red refrain.)

"Before the liberation," a Chinese plant official told me, "we produced only 923,000 tons of steel and 1,800,000 tons of pig iron. Last year we produced 5,300,000 tons of steel. This year's goal is 10 million tons and next year's is 20 million — almost as much as Britain."

Who knows whether the goals are solid prospects or wishful planning? One only sees today that there is a vast flexing of muscle, a tremendous state-directed upsurge of effort and that the first signs of an industrial civilization are beginning to stamp themselves upon mainland China.

China's industry may not look impressive to an American but there are indications the Russians have begun to sit up and regard it with some seriousness. (It could, if increased, make Peiping as independent of Moscow industrially as it has begun to be ideologically.)

And the visitors from the rice paddy and ox cart countries of Asia who come here to visit stand around in goggle-eyed amazement at Red China's trickle of industrial wonders.

There's an atomic reactor (which I did not see) and they're turning out television sets, jet planes, automobiles, tractors and machine tools.

* * *

Although they manufacture trucks, the bulk of commerce teeters along in baskets slung from shoulder poles or on two-wheeled carts drawn by two or three human horses.

* * *

China makes the "East Wind" automobile but you can't own a car in China so everyone except high government officials walk, bicycles or goes by pedicab.

An industrial exhibition showed a giant crane with a five square yard bite. But out on the dams and irrigation ditches construction by tens of thousands of men and women, digging, carrying and tamping in ways no different than when the Great Wall was built in 300 A.D.

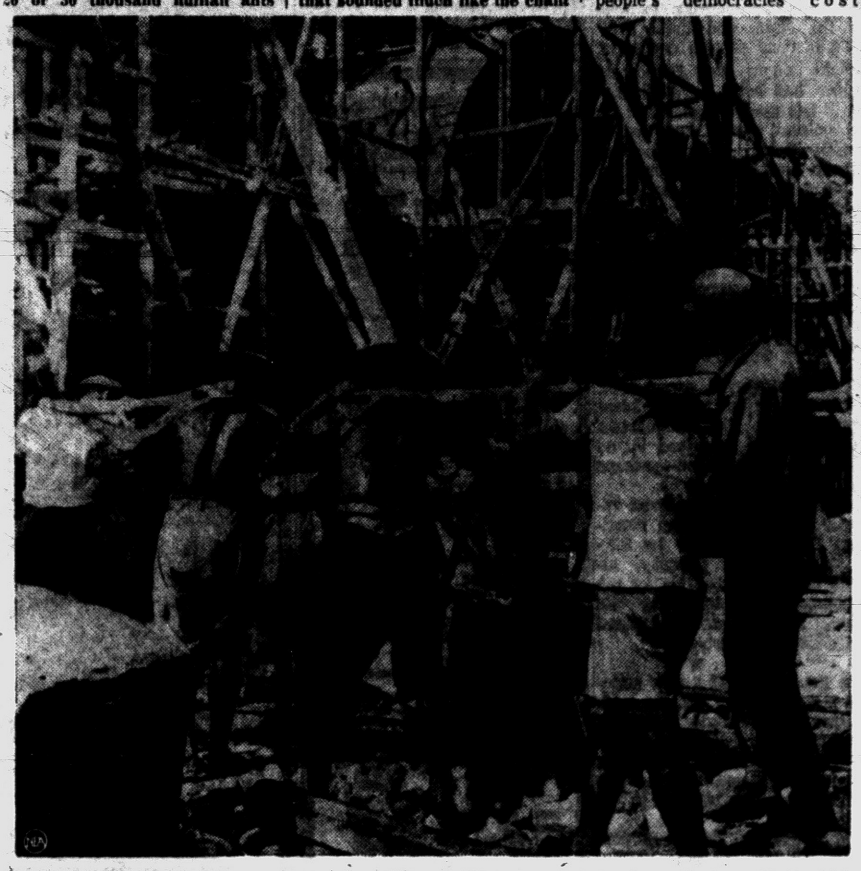

There is something that clutches the throat in the sight of 20 or 30 thousand human ants swarming over one of these great earth-moving projects. The earth is tamped by lifting a heavy concrete block and letting it fall, in time to a sad rhythmic song that sounded much like the chant I'd heard in a Peiping Catholic church.

The biggest problem seems to be capital. What help the Chinese get from the Russians and other "people's democracies" costs dearly. So therefore her industrial expansion must be based largely on what can be wrung from the hides of peasants who have struggled for centuries just to keep alive.

And over it all beams the benign face of Mao Tse-tung, who said four years before he took over the mainland government: "Without industry there can be no people's welfare and no national prosperity and power."

(Next: How the Chinese people live.)

(Copyright 1958, NEA Service, Inc.)

RED CHINA FLEXES HER MUSCLE — The big load still falls on the backs of human ants. These are laborers on a bridge project northwest of Peiping — not far from the Great Wall which was built in 300 A. D. in ways not much different from today's sweat and brawn.

Demands Examination on Break-In Charge

Lowell R. Hook, 17, of 5046 Hatchery Rd., Waterford Township, appeared before township justice Donald Adams yesterday and demanded examination on a charge of breaking and entering the Lake Pharmacy, 6891 Williams Lake Rd., Wednesday night.

Police said they captured Hook at his home a short time after a front window in the drugstore was Braken and $90 was taken from the cash box. They said he handed over the money after confessing the break-in.

Hook failed to furnish $5,000 bond and was remanded to Oakland County Jail until the examination, scheduled for Thursday.

Even Raises Beans in Car

Woman Minister Travels; Station Wagon a Home

NEW YORK (UPI) — Leila W. Anderson may be the only woman in the world who cooks her dinner on the front seat of her car while cruising along a superhighway.

Sometimes she switches on a dictating machine when a thought pops into her head between towns.

And she has a gabby parakeet for a backseat driver. It can speak several hundred words distinctly, and mumbles many more.

Miss Anderson is a minister — a traveling minister. She drives up and down the country in a station wagon, serving as a home missionary to Congregational Christian Churches. Her circuit is the entire U.S.A.

★ ★ ★

The green and white station wagon provided Miss Anderson bears the sign "Pilgrim Circuit Rider," and it is a familiar sight in towns large and small from Key West, Fla., to Seattle, Wash., and from Portland, Me., to San Diego, Calif.

★ ★ ★

Inside, the car is gray with tan bamboo curtains at the back windows and screens on the front windows. String beans and tomatoes grow in window boxes along one side of the station wagon. An Hawaiian garden of orchids and TI plants is along the other.

★ ★ ★

"As a farmer's daughter, I like growing things," Miss Anderson told United Press International in an interview during a recent visit to her church's headquarters here.

★ ★ ★

Miss Anderson, a cheerful, plump, gray-haired woman, said she has traveled more than 136,000 miles in 41 states on her station wagon circuit since 1953. For seven years before that, she drove a conventional automobile.

Her home on wheels contains a "kitchen" built under half of one seat, a refrigerator equipped to hold 20 pounds of ice, a pantry, a library, an office, and even an attic.

In her kitchen, Miss Anderson cooks on a one-burner, propane gas stove. She also has a pressure cooker and an electric beanpot, which plugs into a converter on the dashboard.

Her air mattress, sleeping bag and electric blanket are kept in a huge packing case on the roof, which she calls the attic. When she wants to sleep, she folds down the seats, makes up her bed and stretches out.

★ ★ ★

The office section of the station wagon contains bookcases filled with the literature Miss Anderson uses in her missionary work. The trunk is crammed with files. Miss Anderson's clothes are kept in "attic" packing cases along with audio-visual aides.

Miss Anderson usually spends her summer vacations on a farm operated b yher 93-year-old father, S. S. Anderson, near La Moille, Ill. There, she cans half-pints of fruits, meats and vegetables and stores them in the "pantry" under a seat in her car.

In her travels, Miss Anderson collects recipes that she knows she will never use, but she likes to pass them along to housewives on her circuit.

★ ★ ★

"I have something more in common with the people I visit," she said, "because I'm interested in housekeeping things."

Sculptor Earns Money as Usher at Vatican

ROME (UPI) — Vittorio Mariani, head usher at the Vatican City press office, holds that job "only to feed my family," he says.

For the 51-year-old usher actually is a professor and an expert sculptor and medal engraver who has won several prizes at exhibitions all over the country.

Mariani's problem is that he isn't interested in making money from his art. He likes to donate his medals and sculptures to anyone who admires them.

"I suppose I will always be a poor man," he says, "but I am content to have achieved some recognition with my art work."

More Cars to Norway

OSLO — Norway imported 29,520 automobiles last year, more than 5,000 above the 1956 total. In addition, 3,270 motorcycles and 7,532 tractors were imported in 1957. At the start of 1958 Norway had 257,515 cars and 105,115 motorcycles.

Needed to Burn Ballots in Electing Pope

Vatican's Papal Stove Lost, Strayed or Stolen!

Workmen looked everywhere, in the Vatican warehouses and outside. But they could not find it.

This stove is used to signal the outcome of votes at papal conclaves in the Sistine Chapel. And the meeting to elect a new Pope is just 10 days off.

It was a stove that had been used as long as anyone can remember for the burning of ballots. Smoke escaped through its chimney thrust through a window.

If the cardinals failed to agree on a new Pope, a little wet straw was mixed with the ballots. That produced a gray smoke. People watching from St. Peter's Square knew the cardinals had failed to elect a pontiff.

If two-thirds of the cardinals present plus one voted for a Pope, then the ballots were burned without straw. The result was white smoke. To the crowds in the square, that meant a new Pope had been elected.

Now today there is no stove, and no one has an idea what happened to it.

The stove was used only during conclaves. In between it was taken from the Sistine Chapel and returned to a warehouse. It was last used in 1939 and presumably had been stored away after that conclave had elected Pope Pius XII. Possibly it was just misplaced.

"It's hard to think that someone would steal it," a Vatican official said.

Vatican officials looking around Roman shops for a new one could find only modern electric or gas heaters without the old-fashioned stovepipe the missing one had.

They may have to have a stove made. Centuries ago the ballots were burned without a stove, and the smoke was permitted to escape from the Sistine Chapel without a chimney. That worked, but the famed "Last Judgment" painting by Michelangelo was smudged.

A stove just has to be found.

Auto-Lite Thinks of Closing Plant

Port Huron Employes Notified Move Hinges on Labor Negotiations

PORT HURON (AP) — Electric Auto-Lite Co., currently negotiating new wage contracts at two plants, notified its 625 Port Huron employes yesterday it is considering closing down its wire and cable division plant here or the one in Hazelton, Pa.

F. M. Wistert, Auto-Lite vice president for industrial relations, said a similar notice went to the firm's 250 Hazelton employes last June.

E. A. McNally, plant manager here, said a letter advising one shutdown was under consideration was sent 400 Port Huron production workers and 225 office and maintenance employes. It said at one point: "The decision will be influenced by labor negotiations at the two plants."

Auto-Lite's Port Huron production workers are represented by the Allied Industrial Workers of America, those at Hazelton by the United Auto Workers. Negotiations on a new contract have been under way here since May 29.

The company's Port Huron letter said it was considering combining the Michigan and Pennsylvania Wire Division plants into a single operation at one of the two sites. The Hazelton plant makes only wire. Wire, coils and some other products are made in Port Huron.

Rhine, Ruhr Industry Keeps Duisburg Busy

DUISBURG, Germany — Duisburg, at the junction of the Ruhr and Rhine rivers, claims to be the largest inland-waterway port in Europe. It unloads and loads 30,000,000 tons of good a year.

Essen, Bochum, and Dortmund are perhaps better-known German industrial centers, but Duisburg makes more iron and steel than any of them, employs more people, and produces a greater share of the national income.

Sweden Sees Record Set by '57 Immigration

STOCKHOLM — Immigration to Sweden reached a new high in 1957, when more than 33,000 people entered the country to live. The total was 5,000 higher than in 1956.

The largest contingents were refugees from Hungary. During 1957 about 15,000 people migrated to the United States; only 35 per cent of them were Swedish citizens.

Britain Scraps 85 Ships of Navy

Only 50 to Be Replaced; Fast Frigates, Patrols to Face Russian Subs

LONDON (UPI) — Economy-strapped Britain is scrapping or selling between one-third and one-half of her fleet — the Royal Navy that once claimed to rule the waves.

A total of 85 ships of the reserve fleet are falling under the economy ax. Only 50 are being replaced.

★ ★ ★

The replacements are largely small anti-submarine craft — fast destroyers, frigates and patrol boats designed to meet the threat of Russia's huge underwater fleet.

The great battlewagons of the past have all gone.

Last of these was the 44,500-ton Vanguard, completed in 1946 and held in reserve at Portsmouth since 1956. The government has disclosed that this ship — which never has fired at an enemy — is to be used as a training and headquarters vessel until she is ready to be scrapped.

The other four battleships of her class — the King George V, Duke of York, Anson and Howe — all have been scrapped. Last of these was the Howe which went to the junk yards only recently.

To replace the 85 vessels being scrapped, the government has promised during the next two years two aircraft carriers, two cruisers, 13 destroyers, 16 minesweepers and 17 miscellaneous craft — a total of 50 ships.

The active fleet today consists of the aircraft carriers Eagle, Victorious, Centaur and Albion; the cruisers Newfoundland, Ceylon, Birmingham, Sheffield, Bermuda and Gambia; 24 destroyers, 30 frigates, 39 submarines, 28 minesweepers and 14 other vessels.

The economy ax is falling not only on the ships but on the Navy's manpower. This is being cut back from its present strength of 112,000 men to 99,000 men by mid-1959 and 88,000 men by 1962.

Wives Need Sympathy or a Credit Card

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—As long as a woman is happy at home, she has no emotional urge to splurge on a new hat.

This is true. Ask any of a thousand miserable women, and they will swear it on a stack of milliner's bandboxes.

But men don't want to understand this. Most of them prefer to refer to the age-old philosophical cliche that woman is born and reared to be a spendthrift. Give them a dollar, and they'll spend it on a taxi to Saks where they can open a charge account.

The positive proof that men think in these terms (or that the majority of women are unhappy, and thus emotionally needy) comes today from a representative of American Express.

He brings to this office the results of an extensive poll of executives in a variety of fields in a variety of cities across the United States. The canvass was made by 108-year-old American Express to determine whether women were going to be good potential customers for AE's new credit card system.

"Specifically," said the American Express man, "the male executives were asked this: 'Are they willing to buy supplemental credit cards, at a cost of $3 a year, for the convenience of their wives?'

"Such a card would allow women to charge in hotels, motels, restaurants, nightclubs, car rental agencies, retail stores, cruises and tours around the world and even at the hautest haute couture places in Paris."

A resounding 67 per cent of the questioned men replied with an unqualified "no." Seven per cent begged for time to think it over. This left a flimsy 26 per cent of the men trusting their wives to spend their money judiciously.

"Another question we asked," the AE man continued, "was how about it—'would you take a credit card for your wife if it were free?' "

This time 53 per cent, rather than 26, said "yes." Which indicates strongly to us that a goodly percentage of American males are purely and simply tightwads who will take anything they can get for nothing and are incapable of thinking beyond their next three bucks.

The company, despite the discouraging male reaction, is putting out the supplementary wives' cards, of course. And I suspect that in the long run, it will result in husbands being gentler and more thoughtful with their women.

After all, now that she has an international credit card, her emotional unhappiness could be a very costly affair.

Instead of going home to mother, or buying a new hat, she can fly around the world, stopping at Dior's on the way. . .

1—Dress up rather than down when traveling. Europeans in general are more formal than we are.

2—Unescorted women can sit in French cafes alone, but in Italian cafes will need a male companion.

3—Ladies extend their hand first when introduced. Expect to have it kissed.

4—It is habitual for European men to walk on the inside, beside buildings when with a lady. Don't try to edge them to the curb.

5—If you're asked to dine out in Holland, remember that this is where the term "Dutch treat" comes from. They mean it!

France Unites Farms for Rational Cultivation

PARIS — The reparceling of more than 5,000,000 acres in the last 12 years in France has resulted in the elimination of more than a million small farm plots.

This enabled farmers who voluntarily joined this program to cultivate more rationally as one unit the same number of acres that previously were divided into a number of scattered patches.

The Order of Oddfellows originated in England in the 18th century.

Potter Lashes Back at Morse

Calls Oregon Senator a Man 'Without Party or Principle'

DETROIT (AP) — Sen Charles E. Potter (R-Mich) terms a fellow senator, Wayne Morse (D-Ore) as a man "without party or principle who swivels like a weather vane."

Potter's views were expressed in a statement issued here in reply to a Lansing speech by Morse Sept. 30.

★ ★ ★

The Oregonian, who switched from the Republican to Democratic party, said Potter had "one of the most reactionary voting records in the U.S. Senate," adding:

"He went down the line with the so-called big businessmen who have controlled the national administration since 1952."

Potter shot back in today's statement:

"The Oregon windbag staged a shabby personal attack, succeeding only in insulting the intelligence of the people of Michigan with falsehoods about Potter. He is a renegade, pure and simple.

"Morse is the man who on Aug. 27, 1957, voted with South Carolina's (Sen.) Strom Thurmond to commit the Civil Rights Bill to the graveyard of the judiciary committee. Had that motion passed, equal rights for Negro citizens would have gone down the drain.

"Morse's comments are even more reprehensible in the light of the fact that Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas of Illinois recently refused to come into Michigan to campaign against me because I was Republican anchor man in the civil rights fight last year."

Morse said at Lansing when told Potter had said some 20 senators and more than 120 representatives are influenced by United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther: "It shows the man suffers from a warped imagination."

Citing his voting record, Potter's statement said: "If that's what Morse terms 'the worst reactionary in the Senate,' he's a mental case."

Canadian Cooks Saw Frozen Milk in Chunks

FORT CHURCHILL, Manitoba — Milk shipped to the Canadian Army at Fort Churchill is quick-frozen at 45 degrees below zero and sent to the post in refrigerator cars. The camp cooks saw the milk into chunks the desired size.

After it has been thawed for a few days at room temperature, the milk is said to taste as fresh as when it left the dairy.

Whips Dread Disease

BRAZZAVILLE, French Equatorial Africa — In four decades the incidence of the dread disease, sleeping sickness, in French tropical Africa has been cut to 79 per cent from former local rates of 80 to 97 per cent. The previous mortality rate was 22 per cent; now it is just about zero.

Finds Deserter Hiding at Home

FBI Agent Presses Wall, Out Pops Man 'Over Hill' 7 Years

★ ★ ★

Out came 30-year-old Lloyd George Bell, who left the Army seven years ago and never came back. The FBI had been looking for him since the Army classified him as a deserter six years ago.

Bell will be arraigned today on the desertion charge. But as he crept from behind the phony wall in his parents' home, he protested his innocence.

"I did not desert the Army," he said. "The Army deserted me."

Bell explained that he had asked for an honorable discharge. He said he told officers he wanted nothing to do with the Army. He entered the Army Dec. 11, 1950, as a draftee and disappeared from Ft. Leonard Wood July 24, 1951.

FBI agent W. Mark Felt said the agency gave up the search for Bell three years ago. But, he said, recently the agency had received a tip that Bell was hiding in his parents home.

Agents obtained a search warrant, picked up Bell's father William L. Bell at the cab company where he worked and went to search the house.

An agent noticed that the wall beneath a stairway to the second floor moved when he pressed it. There was a small compartment beneath the stairway.

How long Bell had been hiding in his parents' home wasn't revealed.

Bell's mother Margaret bitterly protested the arrest.

"We feel that he deserves a medical discharge and a life pension," she said. "We want to know why the Army is holding up George's medical discharge. Why hasn't he received it?"

Mrs. Bell didn't explain why she thought her son was entitled to a medical discharge.

Adding Cardinals Question Ahead for New Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The new Pope will face the question of raising the College of Cardinals to its normal strength. But Vatican circles doubt he will move quickly to do so.

★ ★ ★

He may wish to delay appointing new cardinals until he can thoroughly study the qualifications of the possible candidates.

Normally the College of Cardinals has 70 members. Death has cut it to 55. Assuming the new Pope comes from the College of Cardinals, there will be one more vacancy.

Besides the vacancies, a number of prelates, aged and ill, are unable to devote full time to their duties. Fully a dozen of the 55 cardinals are more than 80. Only six are less than 60.

Some circles believe the college even at full strength is not adequate to meet the present-day needs of the church.

The number of 70 cardinals was set by Pope Sixtus V some 400 years ago. The question of increasing this number has come under Vatican consideration increasingly in recent years.

Pope Piux XII named no new cardinals until 1946, seven years after his reign started. However, six of those years were during wartime.

The new Pope need not fill all the vacancies at a single consistory. If he feels it necessary to have the immediate assistance of new cardinals, he could call a consistory at any time to name one, two or as many new princes of the church as he desires.

3 Children Killed, Wife Critically Shot

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Three children were shot to death and their mother lay critically wounded today.

Marilyn Frances Horne, 8, daughter of a plumbing company owner, died Thursday night. Her brothers, David Robert, 11, and John, 9, died today.

Ethel E. Horne, 42, the mother, was listed in critical condition with a wound from a .22-caliber pistol, the same weapon used to kill the children, police said.

Sgt. J. L. Packwood of the West Palm Beach Police Department, said the father, David E. Horne, telephoned Thursday night that he had found his family wounded.

No charges were filed immediately, Packwood said.

Fish in Lee of Carrier

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Dr. Frank J. O'Conor, president of the Izaak Walton League, and Rufus and Sam Tonelson were caught in a hard squall in Hampton Roads. They anchored in the lee of the aircraft carrier Randolph and caught 90 fish.

Ready Evidence for Grand Jury

Atlanta Police Hinting Move in Investigation of Jewish Temple Blast

ATLANTA (AP) — Police may present to a grand jury today the evidence gathered in the investigation of the dynamite blast at Atlanta's Jewish temple.

Capt. R. E. Little, one of the leaders of the concentrated police probe, hinted that might be the most favorable move in view of court action to free five men already held in the case.

Attorneys for the five are seeking their release on grounds they are being detained illegally. A hearing on the writs has been set for today.

1. Answer the writs and expose any evidence which may have been gathered thus far.
2. Fail to contest the writs and have the five men ordered set free.
3. Present the case before the grand jury, where witnesses would not be subject to cross-examination by defene attorneys.

Meanwhile, FBI agents were assisting police in the search for the person or persons who set off a big bundle of dynamite at The Temple before dawn Sunday.

Officers said they were seeking an expert in dynamiting as a central figure in the bombing but did not disclose his name.

Also wanted for questioning was a man reported to be financing anti-Semitic activity in the Atlanta area. He was identified only as a "fat cat" financier in a letter found in the home of one of the men now in custody. The letter came from Arlington, Va.

Four of the five men held are charged with suspicion of vagrancy. They are listed as George Bright, 35, Luther King Corley, 26, Robert A. Bowling, 25, and Kenneth Chester Griffin, 32. The fifth man, Wallace H. Allen, 32, is charged with suspicion of dynamiting, a felony which can carry the death sentence.

Madras Modernizes, Enlarges Port Facility

MADRAS, India — Madras' port is being modernized and enlarged so that it will be able to handle more than 4,000,000 tons of freight a year.

Madras, on the southeast coast, is India's third largest port; at present it handles about 2,500,000 tons. About 1,000 seagoing vessels use the port each year — 30 per cent more than before the war.

Less Pulpwood Used

Dairies Are Modern, but Fewer in Norway

OSLO — The trend in Norway is toward fewer but larger and more modern dairy plants. While milk sales, largely handled by dairy co-operatives, have doubled since 1930, the number of dairies has fallen from 643 to 390, of which 115 are actually collection depots.

During the same period the volume of milk production has nearly trebled and its value has increased elevenfold.

Fire Fighters Attack Oil Blaze Fatal to 7

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A fire-fighting team cleared away debris today as they laid the groundwork to cap a fire that has roared for nearly two days from an oil rig in the Gulf of Mexico.

Seven persons are believed to have died in the series of explosions that accompanied the fire Wednesday.

The offshore rig, operated by the CATO group of oil companies, was the central point for six wells already drilled. A seventh well was in the process of drilling.

Paul Adair, fire-fighting specialist for the M. N. Kinley Co. at Houston, Tex., has not announced any definite plans to put out the blaze.

The cause of the explosion has not been officially determined, but an injured crewman said an explosion of an oil tank on the deck set off the derrick fire.

Dangerous Preoccupation

DENVER (AP)—Tree trimmer Ernest Borquez, 27, climbed confidently out on the limb, attached his safety belt and began sawing away. When the limb fell, so did Borquez. He was on the wrong side of the cut. He was taken to a hospital with head and internal injuries.

Requests Drop on VA Housing

Appraisal Queries at Lowest Level Since Last April

WASHINGTON (AP) — Appraisal requests filed under the GI home loan program dropped during September to the lowest level since April.

★ ★ ★

The requests are regarded as the principal indicators of future construction or sale of housing under the Veterans Administration program.

The VA today said the drop in requests gave some evidence of the recent tightening in the supply of mortgage money.

Requests for proposed new housing numbered 26,680 units during September, down 6.5 per cent from the 28,522 in August. They had reached a monthly peak for the year at 29,170 in May and were 24,800 in April.

There were 12,442 apprisal requests for existing housing during September, down 8.1 from the 13,533 in August. The 1958 monthly peak had been 14,629 in July. There were 12,157 in May and 6,726 in April.

Applications for VA guaranty during September totaled 24,687, the highest for any month since April 1957, when there were 25,838. Such applications reflect the increased appraisal requests during previous months.

GI housing starts during September, also reflecting increased planning activity in prior months, numbered 14,355. This was the most in any month since December 1956 when the count was 14,987.

DICK MINEWEASER

North Pontiac Club Elects New Officers

Others elected to positions were: Jim Mann and Les Stanley, vice presidents; Art Mann, secretary; and Bill Dunsworth, treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors were Ken French, Glen Rogers, Floyd Losey, and Andy Stimer.

Hal Boyle Says:

You Can Eat With Clear Conscience at Sea

ABOARD THE S.S. BRASIL AT SEA (AP)—Anyone who wants to enjoy eating with a clear conscience can do no better today than to go to sea.

Ashore it is getting so a man is afraid to show any pleasure in food. If he eats more than five peanuts at a cocktail party, he winds up with a sense of guilt. He worries: "Am I shortening my life?"

Food is no longer food but a form of medical fuel measured in calories which one doles out to oneself as if he were an engine instead of a human being. As a matter of fact, many people feed their motor cars better than they do themselves.

But at sea, this attitude disappears. Food is recognized again for what it really is—one of mankind's greatest blessings. Good eating regains its true stature as one of civilization's finest arts.

My wife, Frances, and our daughter, Tracy Ann and I are embarked on a 31-day voyage to South America. It is the maiden voyage of the beautiful new Moore-McCormack liner Brasil, the largest passenger liner ever built in Dixie.

So far I have been gaining weight at the rate of half a pound a day, and loving every ounce of it. No one has mentioned aloud the word calorie.

If you put an extra pat of butter on your baked potato, no one thinks it is in compensation for mother love you missed in childhood. If you essay the salmon steak before wading into the rock Cornish hen and wild rice, no one suggests: "You're eating to hide a secret anxiety."

Dining is no longer an exercise in self-denial but a ceremonial ritual of robust healthy joy. Passengers who have to dose themselves with digestive pellets at home if they eat a biscuit for breakfast are now wading through five-to-seven-course dinners and going to bed feeling wonderful.

The once-ailing stomachs are holding up fine. It's the girdles that are showing signs of strain.

On a cruise it isn't the passengers who gain weight that worry the doctor. It's the passenger who insists on losing weight. He is a source of consternation to the whole ship's staff, but not to the other passengers. They recognize him for what he is—a show-off, an exhibitionist.

The true conservative is the passenger who, after downing the parfait Carmencita and the steamed ginger pudding, decides to wait until tomorrow night to call for the mocha layer cake and the parfait d'amour with petit fours.

At sea the air is like wine, and the wine is like air. You don't tell time by clocks but by your appetite. Breakfast's at 8; bouillon at 11; lunch at 1 p.m.; tea, with four kinds of cakes and cookies, at 4; and dinner at 8. Then, at 11:30 p.m. there's a loaded buffet table to snack on and keep from starving overnight.

On a cruise you have plenty of time to catch up on your heavy reading. The literary masterpiece I've enjoyed the most so far is one that begins "smoked Volga sturgeon" and winds up "nuts, dates, apples, oranges, figs and Santos coffee." What sensible man would not rather read a menu like that than "War and Peace"?

If this ship should sink unexpectedly, there's one consoling thought. They wouldn't have to hurry the rescue. The average passenger would float comfortably for at least five days.

But High Optimism Replaces Apprehension

Top U.S. Industrialists Fear Recovery Too Far, Fast

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)— Among the country's top industrialists, apprehension over the business outlook has been replaced by high optimism and even some fear that the recovery may go too far, too fast.

That view was expressed privately by some members of the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council, made up of the heads of nearly 100 of the country's biggest corporations. The council opened its fall meeting here with Secretary of Commerce Weeks.

Those interviewed agreed almost unanimously that full recovery is in sight, but they expressed fear that it will bring a revival of strong inflationary pressures.

Said one influential BAC member: "I hope we don't move directly into another big boom. The stock market already has gone wild."

Weeks and other high government officials were understood to have brought to the weekend conference—from which reporters are barred—optimistic new appraisals of the economic outlook.

Some of the Washington experts, it was learned, believe the country will achieve a record production rate in the neighborhood of 450 billion dollars annually in this final quarter of the year.

They also foresee for this month another substantial drop in unemployment, comparable with the decline of nearly 600,000 in September.

If this estimate is correct, joblessness would be reduced to about 3½ million, a considerable improvement from the average of about five million which prevailed in the first nine months of 1958. It still would be about a million higher than a year ago.

The forecast production rate of 450 billion dollars compares with the recession low of $425,900,000,000 in the first quarter of the year.

This would mean that the economy had gained back, in nine months, all the ground lost since the summer of 1957 when the production rate was slightly over 445½ billion dollars a year. However, some of the rise is attributable to price inflation.

Most of the key industries represented on the advisory council are enjoying rising backlogs of new orders, and neither government nor industry spokesmen here foresaw any early leveling-off of the rise in business activity.

Truman, Nixon Will Campaign in Same Places

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Truman and Vice President Nixon will be working roughly the same territory next week while stumping for rival Democratic and Republican tickets.

Meanwhile, Truman was due here today to begin a two-day visit while President Eisenhower headed West to begin a round of campaigning.

A schedule announced by the Democratic National Committee today puts Truman in New Castle, Pa., next Tuesday, Oct. 21, and in Wilmington, Del., next Wednesday. Truman then will go to Boston Thursday.

A Nixon itinerary listed appearances for the vice president in Wilmington and Baltimore Tuesday and stops Wednesday in Hartford, Conn., Burlington, Vt., and Providence, R. I. Nixon also was billed for visits to Mineola and Garden City, N. Y., on Thursday before swinging out to Wisconsin, South Dakota and Nebraska.

The Democratic schedule also listed speeches by Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's 1952 and 1956 presidential candidate, in the final stages of this year's battle for control of Congress. Stevenson is due in Milwaukee Saturday, and he is scheduled to address rallies in Chicago Oct. 27, a week before the elections.

Fly Bodies of 6 GIs Home for Identities

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)— The bodies of six U.S. airmen killed when their plane crashed in Soviet Armenia are being flown to America for identification.

The bodies have been in Wiesbaden since the Soviet Union handed them over Sept. 24. Failure to establish identities by now indicated they were burned beyond recognition when the C130 Hercules transport plane crashed and burned.

The Air Force said "additional facilities to assist in identification are available" in the United States. The announcement did not specify where the bodies would be taken in America.

The unarmed plane carrying 17 airmen was flying over Turkey when Soviet fighters forced it across the Soviet border, the U.S. government has said. The fate of the other 11 men has never been revealed by Moscow.

Native Drums in Africa Costly to Oil Companies

NEW YORK (UPI) — Petroleum Week says oil companies aren't enchanted one bit when they hear native drums rumble in South Africa. The drums are usually empty oil barrels worth from $9 to $15 apiece.

Petroleum Week said the natives also use the barrels for armchairs, bathtubs, washtubs, storage tanks, showers, roofs and even drainage culverts. Approximately 750,000 barrels have been written off as lost forever.

Man Backing Dems 'Votes Against Self'

Addressing a Republican rally here last night, Mitchell said:

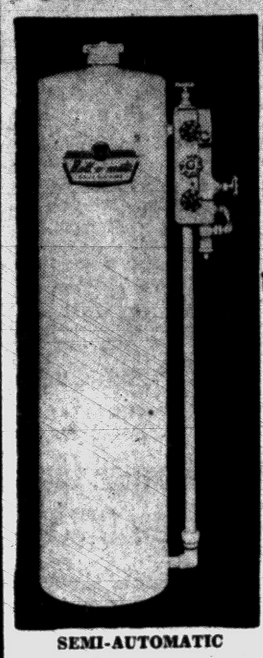

"As long as there is a Democratic Congress in which the committees are in the hands of those Democrats whose actions are hostile to working people and minority groups, the full social and economic progress of the working men and women of America will be stymied."

At a news conference before his speech, the labor secretary was asked if he thought the Republican Party ever would be as welcome in the labor halls as the Democratic party is today.

★ ★ ★

He answered, "I hope so," and added that Republicans will be in better standing with labor when "organized labor in its own interest realizes that having close political ties with one party is a disservice to labor itself."

Half of Pupils in Private Class

Closing of Schools in Virginia Sends 5,500 to Makeshift Facilities

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Nearly half the 12,700 pupils affected by Virginia's anti-integration school closures now are receiving instruction under private, emergency arrangements set up by their elders.

Estimates of the number of children enrolled in private classes today ranged from about 5,500 to 6,000. But for the rest of the pupils left without public classrooms in Norfolk, Front Royal and Charlottesville, the prospects were uncertain.

In the fifth week after Warren County High School became the first school in the state to close under Virginia anti-integration statutes, classes began in Front Royal Thursday for 102 Warren High seniors. The makeshift classroom was a local youth center; the teachers, substitute instructors to be paid with funds privately contributed.

Almost all the 1,700 pupils left without schooling in the university city of Charlottesville when Lane High School and Venable Elementary School were closed already were receiving private schooling. Classes in Charlottesville are being taught in basements and churches. Public school teachers —still on the state payroll—are being utilized.

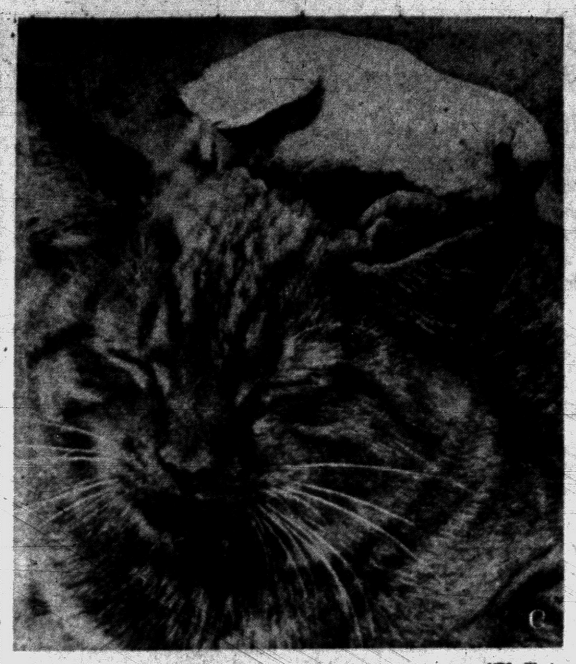

In Norfolk, schooling arrangements have been varied. Some 500 pupils from six closed schools are estimated to have enrolled in public schools outside the city. Another group of about 900 are being taught at night in the classrooms of South Norfolk High School. Perhaps 3,000 more are enrolled in private tutoring groups. Few public school teachers have volunteered to serve.

Charlottesville's educational setup appeared in danger of disruption, with the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People holding the key to continuation of the private classes there.

U.S. District Judge John Paul has ruled that public school teachers paid by state may not be used as instructors in private facilities not open to Negroes as well as whites. Presumably the application of a Negro to enter any one of the private schools in Charlottesville could close it.

Grave Problems Ahead

Many Cares for Next Pope

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The next pope faces problems perhaps as grave and far-reaching as any in the history of the Roman Catholic Church, Vatican sources said today.

The fight to the death against Communism and a need to shore up the inner structure of the Church were the two major problems threatening the Church.

GREATEST THREAT

The Vatican readily admitted that Communism poses the greatest threat to its existence the Church has faced. However, much of the speculation on the new pope to be selected by the conclave of cardinals meeting here Oct. 25 was based on problems not connected with the Communist menace.

★ ★ ★

A strong current in Vatican circles believes the new spiritual leader of the world's 496-million Roman Catholics should be a "Pastoria" pope who would concentrate on the major internal Church problems. Pope Pius XII, who was buried Monday, was regarded as a "diplomatic" pope.

A High Vatican source, after stressing the over-riding importance of the struggle against Communism to which the late pope dedicated himself, cited three main problems the new pope must face:

—A shortage of priests, missionaries and religious orders all over the world. The shortage is particularly grave in some Latin American countries and in Africa. Ireland and Spain are considered the only nations which do not have a serious lack of priests.

—The need to adapt the ancient machinery of the church to the vast changes in life during the current century.

—The restoration of the zeal that can propagate the church in such great territories as Africa, and the need to strengthen religious instruction and the participation of the faithful in liturgical rites.

The source, however, did not discount the Communist menace in the thinking of the men who will choose the new pope.

Since World War II Communism has liquidated the Church in Bulgaria, Romania, Albania and the Baltic states. It has gravely weakened the church in Hungary and Czechoslovakia and persecuted it in Poland.

Communist China's masters have eliminated the church as ruthlessly as it was wiped out in pre-war Russia.

It still was felt that the struggle against atheistic Communist could hold the key to the survival of the Catholic Church as a major influence in world affairs.

Barry Sullivan, Gita Hall Resume Married Life

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Barry Sullivan and his wife, actress Gita Hall, are back together again.

They were married secretly in Tijuana, Mexico, last July. They had separated by the time the marriage became known.

"We are going to make our marriage work," said Sullivan. "I don't see how we can fail."

Symbols Give Dems Big Edge in Navajo Tribe

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP)— It's hard for Navajos to understand the difference between the Republican and Democratic parties.

So Mrs. Annie Wauneka, a member of the Navajo Tribal council, decided to simplify her political teaching by using the party symbols—the Democratic donkey and the GOP elephant.

But, she said, this procedure gave the Democrats a big edge with the Navajos.

Navajos much preferred the donkey because donkeys are good workers "and you could eat the young ones." On the other hand, the Navajos had seen elephants only at circuses "and even then their hides were repulsive."

To Air Tax Charges Against Three Stars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The government will air its income tax claims against three entertainment celebrities in federal court Monday.

The Internal Revenue Service claims that Gordon MacRae is $139,939 in arrears for 1952 through 1954, Van Johnson $117,497 for 1953 and 1954, and Nanette Fabray $12,009 for 1952.

Ask Milford Voters to OK Home Rule

MILFORD — Voters in Milford will be asked in a special election Monday to approve a home rule charter, calling for a council-village manager form of government.

A five-member commission, headed by William McMachan, has been working on the proposed charter since early May, and council members have been discussing the project for more than a year.

They feel a full-time manager would more than pay for his salary by savings made in government operations and his knowledge of economy benefits from the federal and state governments.

The proposed charter would allow a manager to operate the village strictly on a business basis, with assistance from review boards, inspectors and direct contact with outside business sources. He would project policies adopted by the council.

Set up in the middle 1800's by the State Legislature, the present system of government in Milford has become obsolete due to the rapid growth of population, according to members of the Council.

Should the proposal be approved by the votes, the Council would be required to hire a manager within 60 days after the election, and home rule government would go into effect immediately.

Polls in Milford's three precincts will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Seeks Recount of Troy Votes

Group Claims Spoiled Ballots Defeated Hike of School Tax

TROY—Sixteen petitions are being circulated in the Troy School District today seeking a recount of Tuesday's election in which three tax increase proposals and one bond were defeated.

The petitions will be presented to the Board of Education tonight, according to Mrs. Wilford R. Schultz of 6074 Livernois Rd., a spokesman for the group seeking the recount.

She said petitions must bear the names of 10 per cent of the people who voted in the election, or in this case, 188.

Supt. Rex Smith pointed out this morning that only the millage increase vote would be affected. Defeated by a margin of 21 votes, there were 34 spoiled ballots.

★ ★ ★

Residents were questioning whether the election board had classified some ballots as spoiled where check marks had been converted into Xs.

Eastern Michigan College Votes Keego Girl as Queen

PATRICIA ANN DUNAWAY

★ ★ ★

A graduate of West Bloomfield High School, Miss Dunaway is affiliated with Delta Zeta Sorority and serves on the Buell Residence Hall Advisory Board at EMC. She is majoring in junior and senior high school education.

★ ★ ★

Among her court of four are two other Oakland County girls.

They are sophomores Andrea Tibble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Tibble of 2011 W. Big Beaver Rd., Birmingham, and Nancy Glassen, daughter of C. W. Glassen of 10095 Talbot, Huntington Woods.

Scottish Highland Cattle Interest Romeo Trooper

By LEE WINBORN
Romeo Correspondent

And well he might for a herd of this unusual breed — only one of its kind in Michigan — is being raised on the farm where he makes his home.

Trooper Rawley, attached to the Romeo Post, is caretaker of Glen Oaks Farms on Wolcott road, five miles southeast of Romeo. He and his family moved into the apartment in the main house last April, and since then have learned a lot about cattle, they say.

"Scottish Highlands are beef cattle. Their unique feature is their long hair which enables them to live outside in temperatures as low as 40 degrees blow zero," Rawley said.

"In fact," he added, "they can lie down and sleep in temperatures that would freeze a horse."

"Their hair, which is reddish-tan in color, is long and silky in winter. In the spring, when they are shedidng, it is much woollier," Rawley explained.

"We have 17 of this breed on the farm, and some 30 Black Angus and white face Herefords, too," the 28-year-old trooper said. "But the Scottish Highland breed is the most fascinating to study — if you can get close enough."

The lord of the herd, a mammoth bull weighing about 2,000 pounds, maintains a stoic calm until he is disturbed. Then he snorts and lowers his horns, each of which measures about four feet across, and defies anything or anybody to come any closer.

"And a heavy, wire fence would offer no obstacle for him if he should decide to go through it," Rawley said.

Owner of the 285-acre Glen Oaks Farms is E. B. Wilson, who also owns the Wilson Automation Corp. in Detroit. He imported this herd from Scotland two years ago via Canada, where the cattle were quarantined for 90 days before being shipped to Romeo.

The Romeo herd is one of a dozen similar herds in the United States and is kept in a field near the house so that passersby may stop and take a closer look. The herd remains outside all year round.

The farmer who tends all three herds at Glen Oaks Farms is the Rev. Fred Parr. He lives in nearby Riley Center and is pastor of the Disco Methodist Church, located between Utica and Romeo.

Trooper Rawley says he is very pleased with his present arrangement because the farm is a "wonderful place" for him and his wife Evelyn, 26, to raise their family. They have a 14-month-old daughter Marie and a six-week-old son Frank.

Parents to Get Free Dinner

Hamlin PTA Session to Include Duplicate of Students' Hot Lunch

ROCHESTER—Parents of pupils attending the Hamlin Elementary School will learn first-hand the type of hot lunches being served their children in the school cafeteria.

Sponsored in conjunction with the school's Parent-Teachers Association meeting Monday night a dinner will be served from 6 to 7 p.m. in the cafeteria. It will be identical to that served the children that day, except in adult portions, according to Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard Huizenga.

Mrs. Ella Stranahan, director of cafeteria services, will discuss the Rochester school system's food program following the dinner.

Reservations must be made this week.

After the PTA's regular business meeting, there will be a talk by a member of the Rochester Junior Chamber of Commerce on the Nov 4 election proposal for a convention to rewrite the state constitution.

CAROL L. HILLMAN

The engagement of Carol L. Hillman to Terry H. Walker has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clare R. Hillman, of 4308 Island Park Dr., Drayton Plains. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mabel Walker of 45 Pinegrove St., Waterford Township. A January wedding is being planned.

Completes Expansion

ALMA (AP) — Leonard Refineries Inc., has anounced completion of a multi-million dollar expansion program in the Alma area. The program included a 7,500 barrel-per-day fluid catalytic cracking unit, a 1,100 barrel-per-day alkylation unit and a 43 mile pipeline from Alma to Lansing. Leonard said a 140,000 barrel-products terminal also has been completed at Lansing.

Zoo Director Honored

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The American Institute of Park Executives installed Frank G. McInnis, director of the Detroit Zoological Park, as president yesterday.

Oakland County Salon Names Unit Chairmen

Presiding over the business session were Mrs. Eldon Showen, salon petit chapeau.

Chairmen are: Mrs. Carl Shindorf, Pontiac, child welfare; Mrs. Fordon Niles, Southfield, constitution and by-laws; Mrs. George Danuk, Ferndale, ritual and emblems; Mrs. George Ault, Milford, partnership, ways and means; Mrs. Stuart Capron, Oxford, trophies and awards.

Mrs. William Kramer, Royal Oak, finance; Mrs. Edward Myers, Pontiac, and Mrs. Horace Hughes, Berkley, flowers and sick calls; Mrs. Hugh McHugh, Birmingham, greeting card sales.

The autumn card party will be held Oct. 29, 8 p.m. at the Legion Home, 206 Auburn Ave., according to Mrs. Ault, general chairman.

Romeo Woman, Tot Injured in Smashup

ROMEO — A Romeo woman and her three-month-old granddaughter were injured last night when the car in which they were riding struck the Clinton River Bridge in Ray Township, seven miles southeast of Romeo.

Mrs. Lyman Heath, 52, of 370 Chandler St., suffered facial lacerations and chest injuries. Her granddaughter, Debra Enright received a fractured skull and scalp lacerations. Both were taken to St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens.

Driver of the car was baby's mother, Mrs. Gloria Enright, 21, of Richmond. She told Romeo State Police a front tire blew out as she approached the bridge, causing her to lose control of the car.

Mrs. Enright was unhurt. Damage to the car was estimated at about $1,000.

It's Biggest Homecoming in Years

Milford Celebrates Tonight

MILFORD — Tonight will herald one of the biggest homecoming celebrations for Milford High School students in many years.

A gigantic parade, featuring floats from every class and club in the high school, will get under way at 7 p.m. on the south side of town.

Milford High School's 60-piece marching band and last year's queen, Kay Grantham, will lead the procession to Memorial Field.

Milford businessmen will select the best float in the parade, and winners will receive an engraved plaque.

The last three Milford graduating classes have received individual invitations to the affair. More than 1,000 are expected to attend.

Milford Couple to Celebrate Golden Wedding

MILFORD — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edmonds of Milford will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the Christ Lutheran Church in Milford.

The couple has four daughters, Mrs. Lloyd Gilbert of Drayton Plains, Mrs. Lawrence Baker of Flint, Mrs. Hayward Rawlins in California and Mrs. Howard Dicks of Milford. There are 11 grandchildren and 9 great-grandchildren.

Church in Ortonville Will Start Addition

ORTONVILLE — Ground-breaking ceremonies for the $35,000 addition to Ortonville Methodist Church will take place Sunday immediately following the 11 a.m. morning worship, the Rev. Isaac McPhee announced.

A potluck dinner will be served at the church parlors at 12:30 p.m.

Contract for construction of the 10-room educational unit has been awarded to the Rendot Construction Co. of Ortonville. A two-story frame structure, it is designed to blend with the present church building, according to the Rev. McPhee.

Worthy Matron Rite Slated by Romeo OES

ROMEO — Mrs. John Ingersoll will be installed as worthy matron of Romeo Chapter 19, Order of the Eastern Star, in public ceremonies at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Masonic Temple in Romeo.

Charles Withorn will be worthy patron. Other officers will be Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Teal, associate patron and matron; Miss Mildred Treat, secretary; Marguerite Trieloff, treasurer; Mrs. Matthew Koth, conductress, and Earlie Grove, associate conductress.

Ex-Olympic Star Dies in Mishap

Swimming Champ Falls Under Moving Train Near New York

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — Walter Spence, 57, one-time Olympic swimmer who held world and national swimming titles in the 1920s and 1930s, was injured fatally last night as he leaped to catch a moving commuter train.

Spence stepped off the train at the North White Plains station to telephone his wife to meet him at the Hawthorne station of the New York Central Railroad north of here. The train was changing from an electric to a diesel engine.

As he finished the phone call and ran back to the train, it started to pull out. His grip slipped from a handhold on a car as he attempted to reboard the train, and he fell under the car.

Both legs were severed, and Spence died an hour and a half later at White Plains Hospital.

Spence, the father of five, lived in Hawthorne, a New York City suburb, and was employed as a salesman for the Security Mutual Life Insurance Co. in New York City.

Spench set swimming records in long-distance competition and in backstroke, breaststroke and freestyle swimming from the middle 1920s to the middle 1930s.

Symphony Assn. to Meet

SAGINAW (AP) — The Michigan Symphony Orchestra Assn. will meet in Saginaw Saturday and Sunday. Some 1,000 persons are expected to attend.

Pick Missionary to Head College

AVON TOWNSHIP—A veteran missionary and Christian educator from Texas last night was named president of the new North Central Christian College, located at 820 W. Avon Rd., southwest of Rochester.

He is Otis Gatewood, 47, of Abilene, Tex., who recently returned to the United States after directing a group of missionaries in Germany for the past 10 years.

Announcement of his appointment by the Board of Trustees was made during a Church of Christ lecture meeting at the Rochester High School auditorium by Wheeler Utley, director of the North Central Christian College Foundation.

Gatewood was the first American missionary to enter Germany after the second world war. He has preached in 27 foreign countries, traveling the equivalent of six times around the world. He has made two visits to the Soviet Union.

Born in Meredian, Tex., he holds a B.A. degree from Abilene Christian College and a M.A. degree from George Pepperdine College in Los Angeles, Calif. His educational background also includes post graduate work at the University of Utah, Texas Technological College and the University of Frankfurt in Germany.

Gatewood is the author of four books, "The Gatewood-Farnsworth Debate on Mormonism," "The Gatewood-Jensen Correspondence on Mormonism," "You Can Do Personal Work," now in its fourth edition, and "the Witchita Forum Sermons."

During the past eight years he has headed the Frankfurt Christian School, a Church of Christ training school.

Gatewood and his wife, the former Alma Morgan of Abilene, have two children, David Otis, 15, and Darlene, 11.

"I'm deeply grateful for the confidence the Board placed in me in asking me to come here to serve," Gatewood said today.

"I look upon this as one of the greatest challenges of my life, because one of the greatest needs of America is more junior Christian colleges that can give personal attention to the students.

"We will be stressing Christian living and Christian ideas at the school. There will be daily Bible classes and daily chapel services," he said.

A liberal arts college, offering courses in 15 fields, North Central is expected to open for classes next September. It will be a junior college at first, eventually expanding to a four-year institution.

There will be from 15 to 20 members on the faculty when it opens, according to the Board. This will be increased as the college grows, but will be kept at a ratio of about 20 students per instructor, Gatewood said.

Truman Follows Ike Down Political Trail

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former President Truman arrives here today on the political trail only a few hours after President Eisenhower leaves for a campaign junket to the West coast.

The former Democratic president was expected to get down to issues immediately at a lunch honoring Mrs. Truman and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

Truman, interviewed during a brief stopover at St. Louis, Mo., en route to Washington last night, complimented the President for learning "at last" that foreign policy should be kept out of political campaign speeches.

★ ★ ★

But Truman noted that "people are frustrated over foreign policy and particularly farm policy. Those living in agricultural states are worried, and they've got a right to be."

The Children Not Minding? Maybe They Don't Hear

LANSING (AP) — Mothers take note:

★ ★ ★

That's the word from the State Health Department which yesterday announced the surprising result of 15 years of testing the hearing of school children.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, said 7 to 10 per cent of Michigan's school children failed to pass hearing tests in the 10-year period.

★ ★ ★

A total of 2,052,942 children have been tested since the program was started in 1943.

County Nurses to Hear Sister Kenny Worker

Dr. Ethel Calhoun, a representative from the Sister Kenny Foundation for polio, will address the Oakland County Michigan State Nurses Assn. at 8 p.m. Tuesday at McAuley School of Practical Nursing.

Chiang to Have Deadliest Nike

U.S. Trains Nationalists in Use of Missiles for Formosa Defense

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nike-Hercules missiles, the most deadly U.S. antiaircraft weapon, will be turned over to the Chinese Nationalists in a year to 18 months, when they are trained to use them.

Maj. Gen. Leander L. Doan, commander of U.S. Army forces on Formosa, announced the transfer plans today. He said Nationalist soldiers are training in the United States to handle the missiles.

A battalion of U.S. Army missilemen is building launching sites on Formosa for 48 of the five-ton supersonic missiles. They will assist in training a Nationalist missile battalion, Doan said.

Doan said the missiles would be supplied under the U.S. Military Air Program which already has given the Nationalists some of the latest and best weapons in the American arsenal. These include Sidewinder missiles that have helped Nationalist fighters score lopsided victories over Chinese Communist jets, supersonic F100 Supersabre fighters, M41 Walker Bulldog tanks, and heavy artillery.

Doan announced the plans to turn over the ground-to-air missiles at a joint news conference with Gen. Peng Meng-chi, commander in chief of the Nationalist army. The American general said nuclear warheads are not involved.

Church Members Vote on Smoking at Big Convention

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The question of smoking came up at the International Convention of Christian Churches.

"But not as a moral issue," ruled the Rev. Robert W. Burns of Atlanta, the convention parliamentarian, Thursday.

Some of the 201 members of the Committee on Recommendations —ministers and laymen — asked for a ban on smoking at committee sessions. The meetings have been almost continuous since Thursday morning. The objectors said they didn't like to end the day reeking of smoke.

Smokers and nonsmokers who believe in freedom to smoke joined forces and beat the ban 67-56. Still, there was very little smoking.

Reunion in Paris

Ceremony to End Feud of Churchill, De Gaulle

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill and Premier Charles de Gaulle are arranging a reunion in Paris. It should finally end one of the hottest personal feuds of World War II.

De Gaulle will confer the Cross of Liberation for Churchill's part in freeing France from Hitler Germany.

The decoration, established by De Gaulle himself, is the highest France can bestow on a foreigner. The late President Roosevelt and King Mohammed V of Morocco are the only other non-Frenchmen to have received it.

The ceremony, despite overtones of sentiment and symbolism will be a simple one. Its date is still to be fixed.

The two leaders fought tooth and nail through most of their war-time association.

De Gaulle came to London in 1940 after the fall of France, with a clear concept of his own role and that of his countrymen. The aged Marshal Petain, who headed the Vichy government, stood for surrender to the Germans. De Gaulle stood for fighting on.

De Gaulle wanted the authority of a government - in - exile. He sometimes gave the impression that he suspected the British and Americans planned to steal the colonial possessions of fallen France.

Churchill considered that De Gaulle should do no more than lead a military contingent of free Frenchmen. Preoccupied with global issues, the British Prime Minister showed little sympathy for De Gaulle's concern over France's postwar status.

The relationship became so bad that the Allies landed in Algeria in 1942 without telling De Gaulle. An attempt even was made to replace him as French commander by the appointment of his then-superior, Gen. Henri Giraud, who had been smuggled out of France.

★ ★ ★

De Gaulle reacted characteristically. He hired London's Albert Hall for a speech in which he ignored Giraud and in effect dared the Allies to challenge his claims to lead free Frenchmen.

The Allies gave in to him.

Gambler Frank Costello Going Back to Prison

NEW YORK (AP) — Gambler Frank Costello must surrender next Tuesday and resume his five-year prison term for evasion of federal income taxes.

Costello, 67, had served nearly 11 months when he was released in $25,000 bail March 11, 1957, to appeal the sentence. Last Monday the U.S. Supreme Court refused to consider the appeal.

French Wines Gaining

MARSEILLE—French wine and liqueur exports in 1957 rose 12 per cent above the 1956 figure to total $185,700,000. Exports of champagne and other sparkling wines amounted to 13,000,000 bottles; another 31,000,000 bottles were consumed in metropolitan France.

An estimated 460 million persons speak the Mandarin language, more than any other in the world.

2,000 Area Women Poised for Big UF Kickoff Monday

More than 2,000 Pontiac area women are now engaged in final training sessions in preparation for Tuesday's tenth anniversary Pontiac Area United Fund drive.

Women from Pontiac, Waterford and Lake Angelus will begin ringing doorbells Tuesday following the kickoff show Monday evening.

The Women's division, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Donald White has a campaign goal of $20,790, which the volunteer UF workers hope to raise during the intensive 10-day residential solicitation.

PURPOSES OUTLINED

Mrs. White and her chief lieutenants, Mrs. Noel Buckner, Pontiac chairman; Mrs. Robert Giroux, Waterford chairman, and Mrs. J. S. Tuttle, Lake Angelus chairman, have advised their workers of the division's two-fold role:

1. Contacting every home to insure that everyone living or working in the area will have an opportunity to pledge.

2. Explaining the advantages of the fund's single campaign for 55 agencies and the many services provided by these agencies.

The Women's division has been reorganized since the 1957 campaign. Pontiac and Waterford have each been split into four geographical areas. The four Pontiac area chairmen are Mrs. Roderick Taylor, Mrs. Meyer Simon, Mrs. Merle Voss and Mrs. Glen Hartung. Waterford area chairmen are Mrs. Duane Lemaux, Mrs. Jack Dorman, Mrs. Milton Harrington and Mrs. Allen Howe.

The total number of districts has been increased from 40 to 95. Pontiac has 42 districts and Waterford has 53.

Solicitors have more than doubled last year's number, but each solicitor will make only 15 calls during the 10-day campaign.

Special campaign kits have been designed for the use of solicitors and supplies have been simplified and reduced in quantity.

Training techniques and a thorough explanation of agency services have highlighted this week's training sessions, which have drawn more than 700 workers.

E. W. McGovern, director of training at GMC Truck and Coach division has volunteered his services as training chairman for each of the four sessions.

Relatives May Have Erred

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I know you have said that an announcement of a wedding does not obligate the recipient to send a gift. Does this also apply to those who have received wedding gifts from the families of the bridal couple?

"Recently my daughter was married quietly and announcements were mailed to everyone. I have sent wedding gifts and baby gifts through the years and have always sent really lovely things. To say that I was hurt when these relatives ignored the announcements is putting it mildly.

"I really think it all goes back to the fact that they feel they are not obliged to send anything according to your advice. Did you really mean that it should apply under the circumstances as outlined above? I feel that when you accept a gift, common courtesy should hold that it should be reciprocated under the same circumstances. It would be different if people could not afford it. My relatives can. Am I wrong?"

Answer: A wedding announcement of itself does not obligate the recipient to send a gift. A gift should be sent because of other reasons, such as the ones you mention.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a man and his fiancee are out in a restaurant where there is dancing, and they have a friend (a lady) with them, is it proper for them to get up and dance any time during the evening, or would it be rude to leave their guest sitting alone?"

Answer: He might dance once, briefly, with his fiancee and it would be only polite that he also ask their friends to dance once.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I do not smoke, but, most of the girls I know do. When I have a date and the girl I am with runs out of cigarettes, is it up to me to buy them for her,

Canterbury Club Opening Dance Set Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Poole and Dr. and Mrs. John Pridmore will welcome new members of the Canterbury Club at the opening dance of the season Saturday evening at Glen Oaks Country Club.

A buffet supper will be served at midnight.

Applauds America's 'Chic'

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Neither New York skyscrapers nor Texas plains evoke undue amazement in the mind of Pierre Cardin, boy wonder of the Paris couture. After a five-week tour of the United States, the youthful Cardin exclaims:

"Such big women you have here in America!"

Pondering further on queen-size Americana, he adds:

"And they all look so expensive!"

Young Cardin, whose recent Paris collection was hailed as the sensation of the French openings, was invited to America by the pattern company for which he has designed a series of high-fashion dress patterns.

During his tour he visited Boston, Washington, Detroit, Chicago, Los Angeles, Seattle, Houston, Atlanta and St. Louis, in addition to New York. Says he:

"Everything is different here from Europe — especially the women. Here you see fashion in the street. In Paris you must go to the couture salons for this.

"I have seen more French fashions in America than ever I have seen in France. Here you put them in the show windows. There we keep them carefully out of sight of the public, each designer guarding his own creations."

Cardin also topples a few traditions when he remarks on American hats:

"American women are much more hat-conscious than French women. In Paris today you see women walking down the street bare-headed, but here every well-dressed woman wears a hat. It is wonderful. They look so much more chic.

Pythian Sisters Plan Card Party

Dear Abby . . .

It's Time to Curb His Appetite for Stolen Extra-Marital Dates

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Is it possible for a man to love two women at the same time? My husband started having lunch with an unmarried girl who works where he does. She's 22 and he's 43. He admits he's been seeing her a way from work for about a year and now he says he can't give her up because he's in love with her. I told him to get out and go to her but he says he also loves me and the children (we have three) and he can't give us up either. I am sick over this thing, Abby, and wish you'd tell me what to do."

SICK WOMAN

ABBY

DEAR SICK: If this cheap affair with a co-worker can be called "love" then it is possible for a man to love two (or as many as he finds time for) women at once. It's commonly known as "eating your cake and having it, too." Tell him to wipe the crumbs off his face and stay home where he belongs.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: What would you do about a brother who just walks up to the TV set when you are watching it and changes the program?"

BOBBY

DEAR BOBBY: Your BIG brother or your LITTLE brother?

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I go steady with a man who is supposed to be saving his money for our marriage, but he pays out more in traffic fines than he saves. He was caught going through stop signs twice in one day. He is constantly being picked up for speeding. Minor offenses such as overparking are an everyday occurrence with him. He's been before the judge nine times in three months. Should I break off with him for this?

DISGUSTED WITH HIM

DEAR DISGUSTED: Don't you break any speed records going to the altar with a man who parks where he pleases, goes as fast as he likes and doesn't know when to stop.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am 43 years old, divorced and plan to marry a man several years older than I. He is kind, considerate and will make a good husband. Here is my problem. He and his first wife had a wonderful life together and she passed away two years ago. He feels he should put flowers on her grave every Memorial Day. I say he is trying to hold a memory of love from the past and it hurts my feelings. Am I wrong to feel this way?"

BRIDE-TO-BE

DEAR BRIDE: A man who respects the memory of his first wife should not be made to feel guilty when he pays tribute to that memory. Your "hurt feelings" are uncalled for.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My problem is that my mother and I sound exactly alike on the telephone and whenever it's for me she pretends she's me and she keeps talking. She'll accept dates with boys I don't care to go out with and tells me afterwards. Please tell me what I can do about this without being too disrespectful."

JANE

DEAR JANE: If you are old enough to speak for yourself, Jane, inform your mother (in your most respectful manner) that you will not keep dates she has made for you.

Denying Child Helps His Mental Growth

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

As a baby, when John felt hunger, his mother behaved as though she felt it too. He'd wake up from a nap to roar for relief from his stomach's emptiness — and she'd rush to fill it. Sitting down with him and his bottle, she'd smile into his eyes, sharing his bliss as the warm milk soothed the hunger.

He was nearing three the day he discovered that his mother no longer shared his feelings.

She was pushing her shopping cart up the front walk when he spied a discarded lollipop half-hidden under the hedge. To find that it tasted like other lollipops thrilled him. It delighted, not just his sense of taste, but his sense of achievement.

But when his mother turned to see him sucking it, instead of sharing his bliss she ran to him, snatched it out of his mouth, crying, "Where on earth did you get that filthy thing?"

John fought her for repossession of his lollipop. The violence of his opposition upset her terribly.

Yet if a little child doesn't express opposition to us, he cannot grow. It is through his opposing feelings that he begins to develop his own identity.

Out of long experience as a child psychiatrist, Dr. Frederick H. Allen has written some very important words for parents.

"Through giving AND WITHHOLDING," he says, "the mother defines herself as a separate person and the child gains thereby a feeling of his own separateness."

I have deliberately captialized the words "AND WITHHOLDING." If we understand their importance, they can rid us of our fear of discipline.

We have to withhold things from children as often as we give them. If, every time we do say "no," we fear that we are being mean and unkind, our "no" becomes infused with anger at the child who forces us to say it.

This is very hard on him. He may begin to feel that there's something bad about differing with other people and, to avoid our angry "no," start pretending he feels no opposition to anyone.

That's when we start having real problems.

Have You Tried This?

Browned Pork Chops in Tangy Tomato Sauce

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Pork chops are good autumn fare. An easy way to prepare them is to follow Mrs. Lewis Wrenn Jr.'s recipe for spicing them. This is an oven dish and you can plan the rest of your meal accordingly.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Wrenn belongs to her sorority alumnae group and a Bridge group. Her hobby is a beautiful hooked rug she is making. The Wrenns have a year-old son.

SPICED PORK CHOPS
By Mrs. Lewis Wrenn Jr.

6 pork chops
1 cup catsup
½ cup vinegar
2 cups water
½ cup brown sugar
6 slices lemon

Brown chops. Place in shallow pan and put a slice of lemon on each one. Mix rest of ingredients and pour over chops. Bake one hour at 325 degrees.

Real 'Gone West'

Co-eds Are Riding Tall in Saddle These Days

Clothes that were once only at home on the range are big fashion news on campus.

The Western Look is an important new look for teen sportswear, according to a national magazine, which has corralled a collection of clothes and accessories that bear the unmistakable brand of the wide open spaces.

Among the fashions currently riding eastward are horse-blanket plaids and cowpunchers' jackets, the calf-high boot and the ten-gallon hat.

FANCY PANTS

But the clothes are no longer as rough-hewn as they were back at the ranch. Die-hard denims show up in lady-like shades of ivory, sturdy sheepskins turn out to be synthetic pile, riding pants have a sissy-sueded finish and the ten-gallon hat is more likely to be just one gallon deep.

Thus, a campus cowpuncher doing herself up in Western attire might wear the traditional cowboy shirt in a new paisley print, sport riding pants of vivid orange and complete her ensemble with boots of corduroy rather than leather.

"HORSY" HARDWARE

A girl who doesn't want to "go west" from top to toe might limit herself to a stirrup pin of shiny gilt, a red cotton bandana or a suede harness belt with "horsy" hardware.

Other fashionable possibilities borrowed from today's not-so-wild West are a gambler's weskit of jacquard red cotton paired with plaid-patched "hobo" pants or a "sheepskin" pullover coupled with blazing plaid wool paddock pants.

Don't Hedge, Parents, Say 'No'--and Mean It

By RUTH MILLETT

It's a parent's duty to decide what is right for a child and then see that he does it.

It is not a parent's duty to persuade the child that he "wants" to do what the parent says he must, or doesn't "want" to do what the parent says he can't do.

When parents once again accept that fact, then they won't be in such a constant turmoil, and bringing up children won't be such a frustrating business.

A widowed mother writes: "I would like your advice on how to make my daughter, 14, realize she is too young to date a boy of 19."

My answer to that is that the mother doesn't have to make her Daughter "understand." It very well may be impossible to make her understand.

What the mother has to do is much more simple and down to earth. She just has to say "No, you can't date him because he is too old for you," and make it stick.

If the mother is convinced she is right, she doesn't have to argue, or persuade, or explain, or try to make her daughter like her decision. Because if she is sure she is right she can be firm in her judgment. And if she is firm and refuses to argue, the girl will accept her "No" answer, whether she likes it and understands it or not.

It isn't a parent's duty to make a child see things from an adult point of view, yet a surprising number of today's parents feel that it is. And all too many of them end up by accepting the child's viewpoint instead of persuading him that theirs is right.

It's a wise parent who realizes that he doesn't always have to explain why when he says "No," and that it isn't necessary to make a child understand an adult decision. All that is required is to make it stick.

Former Resident Charlene J. Sund Is Married

Charlene J. Sund and James P. Ruhlig were married Saturday evening at St. John's Lutheran Church, Taylor. The Rev. Walter B. Strandes, formerly of St. Trinity Lutheran Church, Pontiac, and now of St. John's Lutheran Church, States Center, Iowa officiated.

Try Hair Cream

Weekly Shampoo May Be Wrong

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "All my life I have been troubled with hair that splits at the ends. I brush my hair and wash it once a week, but it splits just the same. Is there anything I can do?"

A. This is often due to extreme dryness. For this reason I suggest that you shampoo it less often and use a cream shampoo when you do. Brushing should be helpful since it distributes the oil of the scalp over the hair. If your scalp is very oily, use one of the tonics for the scalp.

Also every day apply one of the creams especially designed for dry ends to the ends of your hair. Be sure, too, that you eat a well-balanced diet.

Q. "Is it bad for the skin to change makes and shades of powder often?"

A. No, not so long as you are not allergic to some.

Q. "What is the difference between a deodorant and a non-perspirant?"

A. A deodorant simply takes away the odor of perspiration while a non-perspirant decreases perspiration.

Q. "I have black hair and brown eyes and a fair skin. I love red but do not know whether or not I should wear it."

A. Red is one of your best colors. You can wear many colors since your skin is fair. Yellow and cream and certain blues will be flattering also.

For dry hair that often splits at the ends, brushing should be helpful since it distributes the oil of the scalp over the hair.

Q. "I have heard that one should not cut the cuticle around the nails. Is this true?"

A. Sometimes it is necessary to cut a hang nail or roughened cuticle. However the ideal to shoot for is to keep the cuticle soft and away from the nail. In order to accomplish this you will have to use cuticle cream or oil each night if the cuticle is rough and push the cuticle gently back from the nails as a part of the treatment.

Q. "My hip bones stick out. What can I do to remedy this? It looks awful!"

A. We cannot change the bone structure. Usually this condition exists when a girl or woman is quite underweight. If this is true, gain those pounds!

Q. "I had an operation not long ago. How soon can I take exercises? I am anxious to diet and exercise because I was in the hospital some time and gained weight and spread out."

A. You must follow your doctor's advice in this matter. Do not begin exercises until he tells you it is safe for you to do so. He probably will be anxious for you to follow your routine as soon as you can.

Tomorrow: "Satisfy Natural Need for Creativeness, Expression."

Mothers Face Dilemma

NEW YORK (UPI) — The fact that she will live longer, and has completed her family earlier, has created a new problem for the modern mother.

That's according to a recently published book.

In 1900, the average American women had a life expectancy of 64 years. Today, chances are that she still will be alive at 75.

Fifty years ago, the average American mother had her last child at age 32. And the "baby" didn't marry and leave home until about 10 years before the mother could be expected to die.

Today, a mother has completed her family at age 26, and this youngest child enters first grade when Mom is 32, leaving her comparatively free to do as she wishes.

It adds up to the modern mother's dilemma: How can she use the next four decades of her life so that they will be of greatest benefit to her family and to herself?

According to the book, there are many reasons why a mother whose children no longer require her full-time care may choose to work. Chief reason is her desire to help her husband provide a higher standard of living for the family.

★ ★ ★

According to a member of the children's bureau of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, there should be no guilt complexes about mothers' working.

"It is not the amount of time spent with the child, but what happens during that time that really matters, so far as parent-child relations are concerned."

Babies Get Artificial Limbs

New Program for Congenital Amputees

By JERRY BENNETT

WASHINGTON (NEA)—A young mother and father nervously watch their crippled infant daughter as she gets ready to take her first step.

It's an agonizing moment, even for the trained doctors and nurses who never are able to shake the tension that grips them on these occasions.

"Wonder if the little kid can make it the first time?" they keep asking themselves. "How will her parents react if something goes wrong and—?"

And then the baby takes one step, followed by another — little steps made possible by two miniature artificial legs.

This scene is a common occurrence today in clinics which specialize in treating congenital amputees, children who have been born without arms or legs. It's the result of an amazing rehabilitative program which fits these unfortunate kids with artificial limbs soon after they are born.

This unique treatment is being successfully practiced by crippled children's centers in several states. The U.S. Children's Bureau provides financial support for these programs in Los Angeles, Grand Rapids, and New York City.

But just a few years ago this dramatic technique seemed unrealistic, almost impossible to perform.

Congenital amputees were usually forced to spend their early years on crutches or with armless sleeves pinned to their small shoulders.

Today, however, doctors have discovered that it's often harmful to make these children wait several years before teaching them how to use an artificial arm or leg. They explain that a child's healthy growth and development demand that he get exercise and participate in normal activity.

Also, older children have more trouble learning how to use mechanical limbs than younger kids, doctors say. They explain that children who are fitted at an early age seldom miss the loss of their real arms and legs since they grow up wearing the artificial ones.

Thus, infants are being given artificial legs as soon as they are old enough to stand and walk. These are often highly simplified limbs without even a knee joint. But as the child grows older, they are exchanged for more complex, movable legs.

This is also true of mechanical arms and hands. Some physical therapy experts believe these artificial limbs are necessary in preparing a child for walking and should be applied while he's still in the crawling stage.

They explain that in addition to providing balance, an artificial upper limb enables a child to pull himself into a standing position so he can take that always eagerly awaited first step.

Miss Clara M. Arrington, physical therapy expert for the Bureau's Division of Health Services, explains that some children become so used to their artificial limbs that they even wear them when they go to bed.

★ ★ ★

She credits much of the program's success to improvements that manufacturers are making in artificial limbs. Miss Arrington explains that new types of limbs are constantly being turned out that enable an amputee to perform more complicated movements with less effort.

Some of the congenital amputee centers teach crippled children to lead normal lives with a combination hospital-home care program.

At the hospital, the child is fitted with his new limb and taught how to use it. Instruction is also given to at least one of the parents to insure that the child operates it correctly when he goes home.

Such programs usually call for the child to return to the hospital periodically so physicians can see if he's ready for a longer or more complicated limb that corresponds to his normal growth.

Doctors explain that the most important way that parents can help is to realize the benefits of artificial limbs and always have an optimistic outlook towards their child's affliction.

Dynamite Little Used Before Work by Nobel

STOCKHOLM—Although Ascanio Sobrero invented nitroglycerin in 1846, it was so highly explosive and so little understood that it was not used much by either science or industry.

Then in 1867 Alfred Nobel was granted his epoch-making patent for "safety powder"—dynamite. It was prepared by mixing nitroglycerin with a suitable porous absorbent such as charcoal or siliceous earth.

Bomber Costs Soar to Nearly $50 a Pound

LOS ANGELES — Airplanes' growing complexity is shown by their increasing cost per pound. A World War II aircraft cost about $10 a pound, a Korean War plane cost $25 a pound, and today's supersonic fighter-bombers average about $50 a pound.

Some present-day jets require 26 times as much engineering as their World War II counterparts.

Dolphins Make Big Splash in Pontiac Central Pool

More Mermaids Join Swim Club

By JOANNE WOOD

Dolphins take to the water like a group of fish. The old members have chosen their new swimming partners for this semester. Initiation for the new members was held October 13. The new members were required to dress as sea animals and depict a story concerning their costumes during the initiation.

Election of officers was held and those elected were: Nancy Donaldson, president; Barbara Patterson, vice-president; Gail Gibson, treasurer; Kathy Hunter, secretary; and Shirley Hutchison, historian.

New members were selected from both Central and Northern schools. They are Carol Ashley, Kathy Beebe, Beckey Bryce, Karen Buchman, Carol Chamberlain, Linda Dorris, Susan Dunlay, and Johnnie Fort.

Still others are Charlotte DeRousse, Sheila Goldberg, Sandra Hilderley, Sally Huntoon, Judy Kern and Janet Johnson.

Pontiac Central's vocal department has organized a mixed choral group of 16 voices to be known as the "Song Spinners."

Tenors are David Sustin, Eugene Stone, Tom Schordi and John Watson. Basses and the baritones are Gary Bowers, Ed Haroutunian, Mike Godwin, and Don Mann. The vocal assistant is Michael Dempsey and Deanne Relyea is accompanist.

St. Frederick Pays Tribute to Pope

By JUDY COSGROVE

St. Frederick's paid its tribute to Pope Pius XII last Friday afternoon at assembly. A panel composed of seniors and moderated by Mike Metty, Student Council president, discussed the different phases of the Pope's life, his years in the papacy, and his many achievements.

★ ★ ★

Many high school students took part in confirmation Wednesday, acting as sponsors or singing in the glee club, under the direction of Edward Higbee. Joanne Goodsell, Carol Lawler, and Mary Louise Theeringer, all seniors, helped with Catechism instructions for the confirmation class.

Disc Data and Chatter

Music in the Round

by Dick Saunders

A rocking LP of good and happy jazz is "The Big Horn" (T-1098) by Sam Butera. Backed up by a swing outfit called The Witnesses, Butera (a sax man) has a ball with such standards as "Around The World In Eighty Days."

FIVE ACES: Tops in the Pontiac area is "Topsy" (Part 2) by Cozy Cole. There is no close race for first spot with Cole's little gold mine out in front by a long shot.

In second is "Tom Dooley" by The Kingston Trio, a disc that's been growing more popular in recent weeks. In third spot is "It's All In The Game" by Tommy Edwards, fading slowly from the limelight.

Fourth spot is a tossup. Tied for honors are "It's Only Make Believe" by Conrad Twitty and a new Ricky Nelson disc "Lonesome Town" and "I've Got A Feeling."

It looks like the Nelson disc is going to be another hot one. In fifth spot is "You Cheated" by The Shields.

★ ★ ★

Edged from the top five are "Poor Boy" by The Royaltones, "The End" by Earl Grant, and "Tea For Two Cha Cha" by the Tommy Dorsey Orch.

St. Michael's Newspaper Makes Bow on Monday

By SHELAGH O'ROURKE

The first edition of the school paper, the Michaelite, has been printed and is now being readied for distribution Monday.

The Michaelite is staffed by Shelagh O'Rourke, editor; John Fortier, co-editor; Pierre Masciccsi and Russell Greenless, business managers; and Barbara Ardelan, art editor.

Floats, Queens to Greet Avondale High Alumni

By CAROL MAZUREK

Homecoming is tonight at Avondale. Floats and queens promote the festive air that welcomes alumni. Homecoming queens are Pat Parker, Wanda Welch, Pat Castor, Sally Maddix, and Carol Mazurek. The Kim-Tones will play at the dance to be held in the gym after the game with Fitzgerald.

The cast for the senior play, "The Curious Savage," has been selected. Thespians are Bill Cassel,

Walled Lake Starts Special Program

By SALLY COLLINS

Progress in education is a byword at Walled Lake. This year for the first time an advanced English course is being offered the more capable sophomore students. Ninety sophomores are presently enrolled.

There are three classes of advanced pupils. Their studies include English grammar plus American literature, which is normally a junior subject. Students will be required to do advanced theme writing and special research work.

Those enrolled in these classes are serious academic students who have a very high reading and comprehension rate. For the first time, the faster students will be able to progress at their own rate rather than be held back by slower sophomores.

The combined choruses of the Walled Lake Senior High School will sponsor a dance, "The Fall Flip," from 8 to 11:30 p.m. tonight in the gymnasium.

Rochester High Girls Planning Charity Ball

By LOUISE HENRY

For the annual Charity Ball this year, the Jr.-Sr. girls of Rochester High have chosen "Candyland" as the theme. The ball will be held from 9 p.m. to midnight on Nov. 7.

Committees have been chosen, and chairmen appointed. The chairmen are as follows: Paul Simon, theme and decoration; Carolyn Adler, publicity; Mary Way, tickets, and Joann Hill, refreshments.

The group has contracted a fourteen-piece orchestra from Grosse Pointe.

Find Decision Hard to Make

Northern Students Ballot on Class Ring Designs

By BARBARA SHAVER

Getting class rings is a big event at any school, for it seems to give the feeling of getting closer to graduation day.

This week Northern seniors have been busy deciding on a crest for rings. This task has been difficult for the committee looking at styles. Those on the committee are, Anida Bowers, chairman; Richard Bradshaw, Bud Bihl, and Beverly Donato.

The student body was given a choice of four by the committee. Students were urged to look at the designs and decide on that they liked best. Designs were posted on the window of the school office all last week and this week.

Thursday the students passed by in homeroom classes to once again view the choices. Then they proceeded to vote.

The husky emblem was also chosen this week. Art instructor John Silvonen made a sketch of the design, which was then perfected by professional designers.

This emblem is going to be worn on the back of the basketball jackets. It is the head of a husky in the form of a "V" with the words Pontiac Northern under it.

Northern has been losing its shiny look from the inside, for drapes are being put up. Each classroom will gradually receive its own, but it takes a lot of time and hard work, so the only rooms to get them right now are the classrooms in the front of the building and the counselors' offices.

Troy High Planning for Homecoming

By JUDY FERGUSON

The queen will be chosen from three senior candidates—Sue Sloan, Naia Coons and Barbara Wass. The royal lady will be selected by the 30 varsity members of the football team. She will be crowned by co-captains Dave Stokes and Chuck Steele.

Members of the queen's court will be Sally Willcox and Ina Campbell, juniors, and Mary Jesson and Sharon Williams, sophomores. These girls were chosen by the students of their classes.

Waterford High Sophs Choose Class Officers

By JEAN REXFORD

Sue Kuhn and Dick Finkbeiner reigned over the various activities of the weekend. The royal pair were crowned at the "Coronation Ball which was held last Saturday.

The 1958 edition of the Waterlog, the school yearbook, received the highest rating given by the National Yearbook Association in Columbia, Missouri, which is sponsored by the University of Missouri.

WHO WILL REIGN? — One of these Brandon High School students will reign this weekend, and the other two will serve on the queen's court at homecoming festivities. The trio of candidates are (left to right) Helen Kreuzer, Alice Sutton and Sandy Ferguson.

Director Explains Reasons for Stock Credit Control

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

HARRIMAN, N.Y. (AP) — By raising the margin on stock buying on credit, the Federal Reserve Board has given the American Assembly's conference on United States monetary policies a timely topic at the outset.

Most of the 60 conferees at Arden House here agree today that control of credit in the stock market is only a sideline to the board's chief role in managing money and credit. But some hold that it is more effective than many in Wall Street believe.

That's because of the psychological effect of a credit curb on a speculative market that is attracting more novices now and the psychological effect of the market on an inflationary-minded public.

Ralph A. Young, director of the Division of Research and Statistics of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve system, puts the board's case in raising the margin requirements for stock purchase to 90 per cent cash and 10 per cent credit this way:

"Regulation of stock market credit by the margin requirement, though bearing directly on the lender, puts restraint on the borrower and thus dampens demand. A very important aspect of this restraint is the limitation it places on the amount of pyramiding of borrowing that can take place in a rising market as higher prices create higher collateral values and permit more borrowing on the same collateral."

In Wall Street, most brokers are saying that the new rule will have only a passing effect on stock prices, and probably very little on stock buying, since most of it is on a cash basis.

Total stock market credit—loans by brokers or banks to carry securities—had risen from 3½ billion dollars at the start of the year to 4½ billion at the end of September. Wall Street holds this is a small amount when the total value of outstanding stocks are remembered, and the total amount of stock trading is taken into account.

But Young sees the margin hiking as a precautionary step, like other measures against recurring inflation that the board has taken, such as tightening credit and raising interest rates. He says:

"The purposes of regulation through margin requirements are to minimize the danger of excessive use of credit in financing stock market speculation, and to prevent the recurrence of speculative stock market booms based on credit financing, such as culminated in the price collapse of 1929 and the subsequent severe credit liquidation.

"A stock market boom followed by collapse is always possible, but without excessive feeding by credit it is not likely to assume the proportions or to have the effects that it had in earlier periods."

Young's views were presented in a paper at the opening of the four-day conference. The group includes representatives of industry, labor, banking, education and various professions, as well as government officials.

Star James Mason Sues TV Producer for Libel

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A $3,575,000 libel suit has been filed by actor James Mason, who charges that a television producer accused him of being disloyal to England.

Defendants are producer Mort Abrahams, national television associates and two of its officers, Oliver Unger and Bert Kleiner.

Mason, British-born, said allegations by Abrahams reflecting on his patriotism, courage and integrity were published in the London Daily Express Sept. 29. He contends the publication damaged his career and his box office potential.

Rita Wins New Round in Legal Fight With Aly

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Actress Rita Hayworth has won another legal battle with her ex-husband Aly Khan despite his claim of diplomatic immunity as Pakistan ambassador to the United Nations.

A district judge ruled that the Moslem prince must pay three attorneys who arranged for the couple's daughter Yashmin to visit Aly in France in 1955.

The prince's Reno attorney, Kenneth Dillon, said he would appeal the ruling which ordered Aly to pay Bartley Crum of New York $18,300, Suzanne Blum of Paris 75,000 francs and a Reno law firm $3,036.

Nationalist Envoy Says:

Chinese Won't Abandon Offshore Island Posts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nationalist China's new ambassador said today abandonment of Quemoy and Matsu to the Chinese Communists would dishearten Nationalist troops and those holding the line against the Reds in Korea and Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Dr. George K. C. Yeh said his government has no intention of giving up those islands just off the Communist-held mainland "because the abandoning of them would mean a retreat for the entire free world."

Speaking of the Communist cease-fire now in effect, Yeh said this resulted from "a combined stand of firmness" by Nationalist China and the United States.

In a speech prepared for the National Press Club, Yeh made no mention of talk the Nationalists might trim their forces on the embattled islands. Both President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have been critical of heavy Nationalist troop concentrations there.

The Nationalist envoy said a gradual increase in such forces, beginning in 1949, came "in response to the steady challenging buildup of the Communist strength along the Fukien coast."

He stressed that forces stationed on the offshore islands "were at no time intended for offensive purposes" and that it was never the intention of the Nationalist command to use Quemoy and Matsu for operations against the mainland.

In explaining why the Nationalists attach such importance to the offshore islands, Yeh noted they lie in key positions facing the Red ports of Amoy and Foochow —ports he said would be convenient centers for assembling ships to invade Formosa and the Pescadores Islands.

With Quemoy and Matsu in Nationalist hands, he said, "the Communists will not be able to initiate their invasion preparations in that immediate area facing Taiwan (Formosa) without being immediately detected and deterred."

Furthermore, Yeh said possession of those two outposts "enables us to gain a radar distance of over 100 miles in advance of Taiwan."

Want Saved Soviets Kept Out of Britain

WICK, Scotland (AP)—A Soviet fishing boat with 13 persons reported aboard sank in the stormy North Sea today, and Soviet authorities on other ships repeatedly radioed demands that no survivors be landed in Britain.

Tough Scottish seamen manning coast guard rescue operations here said they weren't taking orders from the Soviets. They rescued three Russians, sighted three bodies and combed the rocky shores of the island of Unst for the others.

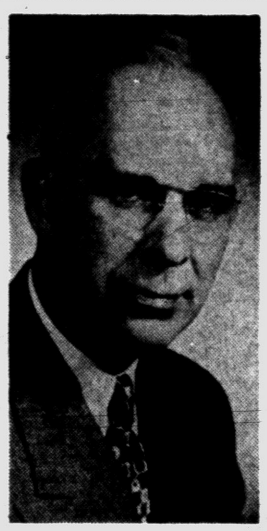

The Scots said they also would have to disregard a Soviet request that the survivors be transferred immediately to other Soviet vessels. The seas were too rough.

The storm sank at least one other ship. The 2,990-ton Danish steamer Th. Adler Svanholm went down in the North Sea this morning. A British fishing boat rescued 25 crewmen, but the captain went under with his ship.

Small Nations Prod Big Three in U. N.

Push Nuclear Test Ban

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — A move grew among the U.N.'s small nations to prod the Big Three into working out a common plan for halting nuclear weapon tests. The idea is to get the Geneva talks off to a good start.

Sweden is spearheading the move, which has received enthusiastic support from many small countries and was noted with interest by the major Western powers.

Swedish Foreign Minister Osten Unden has pointed out that there are marked similarities in the three rival resolutions to halt nuclear tests authored by the United States, India and the Soviet Union.

Unden suggested to the 81-nation Political Committee debating disarmament that the three resolutions be molded into one proposal that would win unanimous U.N. support and enhance the chances of success at Geneva.

★ ★ ★

Liberia, Yugoslavia, Greece and a parade of other small nations echoed his view. They pointed out that no U.N. disarmament resolution that failed to win approval of all the nuclear powers has ever gotten anywhere.

No gray horse ever won the Kentucky Derby until Determine, the 1954 champion, broke the jinx in the 80th running of the classic.

WALT DISNEY'S True Life Adventures

Party Chairmen Debate Issue

Butler, Alcorn Disagree on Using Foreign Policy as Campaign Material

CHICAGO (AP) — The Republican and Democratic national chairman expressed opposite views Thursday night on foreign policy being an issue in the 1958 political campaign.

★ ★ ★

GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn said the Democrats have injected foreign policy into the campaign when it should not be there.

Paul M. Butler, Democratic national chairman, said the Republicans are responsible for it being an issue because they are campaigning on the issue of peace in which foreign policy is a prime consideration.

The two chairmen made their remarks in a question and answer period after their fourth 1958 campaign debate at a dinner meeting of the Radio and Television News Directors Assn.

Alcorn earlier had said preservation of the peace is "the great overriding issue" of the campaign.

(In Salt Lake City, Vice President Richard Nixon told a news conference that foreign policy was not only a legitimate campaign issue, but a primary one. President Eisenhower had told Nixon earlier he could answer any Democratic charges against the policy. And Nixon said the answer to critics of administration foreign policy is that the policy works—there is peace.)

Hollywood Headlines

Brynner, Brigitte Bardot to Make Film Together

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD—What a welcome relief to get news of a glamor film to be made, among all our present horror, war and overrealistic pictures being produced. That's what Yul Brynner plans for his first personal production.

My friend with the shaved head has selected the French classic of Alphonse Daudet's, "The Nabob," a story of Paris in 1870, a mysterious oriental potentate and a French gamin. Naturally, Yul is casting himself as the potentate and for the gamin—guess who. None other than Brigitte Bardot. Yul is willing to take a chance on her moods, even though Frank Sinatra wasn't.

Yul calls his company "Alciona" which is Greek for peace. If he can achieve this quality with Brigitte, he's a miracle worker. He starts shooting in Paris next spring for United Artists release.

The role of Thrasher in "The Last Angry Man" is still not cast. Jack Lemmon begged out because he said he had made five pictures this year and he was exhausted. He's still in Marilyn Monroe's "Some Like It Hot," so Freddie Kohlmar granted his request.

Gary Cooper and Doris Vidor have a $500 bet on that they can go without cigarettes for six weeks. In the meantime Gary has gained five pounds and is eating like crazy on location for "They Came To Cordura" at St. George, Utah.

Jack Benny has the permission of "The Millionaire" show to put a sketch with Marvin Miller on his own show. He'll have Dennis Day inherit the million which is a funny premise right there. Marvin started his career as my radio announcer and there was never a nicer boy.

I hear through the grapevine that Dave Chasen was offered a healthy sum for 49½ per cent of his restaurant by Las Vegas resort owner Beldon Katleman.

There's a report that Ray Stark would like very much to get Debbie Reynolds for "Westside Story."

The Friars Club spreads its philanthropic activities abroad with the proceeds of its 10th annual dinner honoring Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, being sent to the leper colony operated in Kentung, Burma, by the missionaries of St. Peter and St. Paul.

Diane Varsi looked anything but like a movie queen when she arrived for work in a 1950 Ford pickup truck, loaned her by Tab Hunter, a friend of Diane's having wrecked her car.

Plan Balloon Ascent to Peek at Planets

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—A Navy officer and an astronomer plan a balloon ascent next month to 80,000 feet to take a look at the sky through a 16-inch telescope.

Cmdr. Malcolm D. Ross and Dr. John Strong of Johns Hopkins University will man the metal gondola for the 12-hour flight. They will be taking man's clearest look at the planets.

Plans for the ascension from a point near Rapid City, S.C., were told during the closing session Thursday of the first National Conference on the High Atmosphere, sponsored by the American Meteorological Society.

★ ★ ★

Ross said he expected the telescope to do a much better job, because of the thinner atmosphere at that altitude, than one much larger on the ground.

Politician Tells Farmers to Sell 'Jersey Dozen'

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) —Rep. James C. Auchincloss (R-NJ) suggests that New Jersey farmers start selling eggs by the "Jersey dozen"—giving two small bonus eggs in each carton.

Aunchincloss, whose district includes a large poultry area now in economic difficulties, said no woman would be hard-boiled enough to resist such a bargain.

Non-Sitter Biltz Hopes He'll Work Again, Standing

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Harry Biltz hopes to go back to work in six months.

If he does, he'll be able to walk, perch at work on a high stool and go to bed. But he never will sit again.

His pelvis was smashed in a traffic accident 11 months ago and has given the 32-year-old father of nine children constant pain ever since.

★ ★ ★

Three other operations failed to correct his crushed pelvis and surgeons gave him a choice of fusing the hip joint in a sitting or standing position, thus easing the pain. Biltz chose to stand.

Bloomfield Bulb Theft Complicated Affair

A Bloomfield Township man may have quite a wait before determining who stole $4,500 worth of gladiolus bulbs from him.

According to Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies, Andrew C. Maier, of 4835 Dover St., reported yesterday the theft of 3,000 bulbs valued at $1.50 each.

Although detectives have a suspect in the theft, Maier said a speedy identification of the bulbs might prove difficult.

If the tags have been removed from their containers, definite identification could be made only by planting the bulbs and waiting for them to sprout next year.

To Tear Down City Eyesores

Scout Leaders to Take Kennett Rd. Buildings to Camp Agawam

A "wrecking bee" is set for Saturday when Boy Scout leaders of the Clinton Valley Council gather on Kennett Road to dismantle buildings recently donated by Oakland County supervisors.

Ten buildings are to be torn down and the lumber transported to Camp Agawam for camp construction work. The site vacated will then be leveled and "spruced up."

Eight other old houses, in fairly good condition, will be transported in a few days to the camp, which is near Lake Orion.

Pontiac City Manager Walter Willman announced "the wholehearted support of the City is in this activity which will relieve a blight on the Kennett Road neighborhood. The Scouts benefit from the buildings and lumber," he said, "and Pontiac residents gain by the removal of a public eyesore."

At the camp additional construction on the foundations which already have been laid for placement of the eight buildings will be made.

Several of the new buildings will be used for staff quarters during the summer season and as troop lodges during the rest of the year. Other buildings will be used for a workshop for the camp ranger, hospital and tent storage.

Car Output Estimated at 45,343 This Week

DETROIT (AP)—Automotive News has estimated this week's U.S. car production at 45,343 units, compared to 72,180 units in the same week of 1957 and 34,834 cars last week.

A loss of a workday due to the Thanksgiving holiday will hold Canadian vehicle output to 4,395 units this week, compared with 5,294 cars and trucks built last week and 3,096 in the like 1957 period.

Airport Bomb Kills Bearer

Man Carrying Package Dies as Blast Rocks Wichita Terminal

No other casualties were reported immediately. Dozens of windows were shattered but there was no fire.

Mrs. Joann Embree, clerk for a car rental firm, witnessed the blast and said she narrowly escaped picking up the bomb a few seconds before it exploded.

Mrs. Embree said McCustion approached her counter and asked for change for a quarter.

"I gave him the change and watched him make a brief telephone call," she said.

After the phone call, McCustion came back to the car rental desk and asked Mrs. Embree where he could find the lost-and-found department.

Mrs. Embree gave him directions, and he placed a brown paper-wrapped package and a leather brief case on the counter.

She said she reached out to take the package and actually touched it when McCustion said, "no," and grabbed the brief case and package, then walked away.

Mrs. Embree said he had walked about 40 feet when the bomb exploded.

Pond said every available man was immediately placed on the case. The FBI also was at the scene.

The leather brief case carried by McCustion seemed to be undamaged, police said, and was taken to the police laboratory by police investigator Clyde Bevis.

The brief case was taken to an open area first because police feared another bomb might have been in it.

22 Arrested in Raid

DETROIT (AP)—Police raided seven establishments in River Rouge and Ecorse and 22 persons were charged with gambling and liquor law violations last night. Paul Slack of the Wayne County rackets squad said about $1,000 was seized in the raids. He said the gambling charges were based on numbers operations. Of the 22 arrested,

Drayton Plains GI Hurt in Auto Crash

A Drayton Plains GI was listed in fair condition today after being involved in an auto accident near Fort Chafee, Ark., Thursday.

Specialist 4 C. Robert F. Bickford, 24, of 5297 Dixie Highway, was admitted to the base hospital at Fort Chafee, where he is stationed.

Bickford, son of Mr. Donald Bickford, was inducted into the Army January 1957.

He was in a car that reportedly plunged down a 12-foot embankment. Killed in the smashup was Specialist 4 C. Franklin D. Barnett, 21, of Fort Gibson, Okla.

Condition Satisfactory After Auto Overturns

Alfred Spreeman, 47, of Vanderbilt, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital, after his auto overturned Thursday.

State Police said Spreeman was turning onto U.S. 10 from M15 when his wheels locked. He suffered a fractured hip.

AP Wirephoto

LEADS NATION — The nation's top ball carrier Dick Bass, 185-pound junior halfback at the College of the Pacific, has averaged 10.6 yards per carry in three games for the unbeaten COP team. He is making a runaway of the national rushing statistics with a total of 562 yards, including five touchdowns, a 38-yard average on punt returns and 15 yards on kickoff returns.

No Franchise Shift
Indians Decide to Stay

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland owners are confident baseball fans here can and will support the Indians better than any city seeking a franchise. That's why the club is staying at its Lake Erie home.

William R. Daley, chairman of the board of directors, made the announcement yesterday, ending speculation the team would be shifted.

"We're here to stay," Daley told a news conference. He cited "attractive" offers from other cities, but added.

★ ★ ★

"The potential here is as great—if not greater—than any place else. We hope to restore Cleveland to the point where it is again baseball's leading city."

The board chairman stressed that "this is not a one-year idea" and said he hoped the thought of moving the club "will never be brought up again."

If the Indians get into the thick of a pennant fight in the American League and if the front office can drum up a good promotional program, Daley said he was certain the club could draw one million fans.

Declining attendance was the reason the question of moving came up. Several weeks before the season ended Daley declared "we can't go on like this," referring to the meager crowds in the 73,811-seat Municipal Stadium.

The Indians drew only 663,804 in 1958, a far cry from the major league record the Indians set in 1948 when 2,620,627 swarmed into the park to cheer a team that won the world championship.

Purdue Press Labeling MSU as Pushovers

Duffy's Gridders Are Angry at Boilermaker Pre-Game Propaganda

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — The Michigan State football team was boiling mad today as the Spartans prepared to meet the Purdue boilermakers.

The reason:

All the remarks from Indiana down-rating State as a team Purdue can push over any time.

★ ★ ★

There are some recent scoreboard figures to back that contention. For instance, Purdue ended a 28-game Michigan State win streak in 1953, 6-0, helped gray Duffy Daugherty's hair with a 27-13 beating in 1954 and last year cost State a share of the Big Ten title with a 20-13 decision.

★ ★ ★

Purdue has the best record of any recent opponent, winning three out of the last five games.

But what has been making the players real mad is quotes like this:

"Michigan State is just as good defensively as it was last year." It was a tongue in cheek comment since Purdue won last year.

"The name Michigan State may strike fear in a lot of collegiate football centers, but hereabouts it usually is greeted with a guffaw and a chortle of 'we sure got their number.'"

★ ★ ★

The story went on to say that the loss to Wisconsin was shrugged off with "We'll make up for that next week."

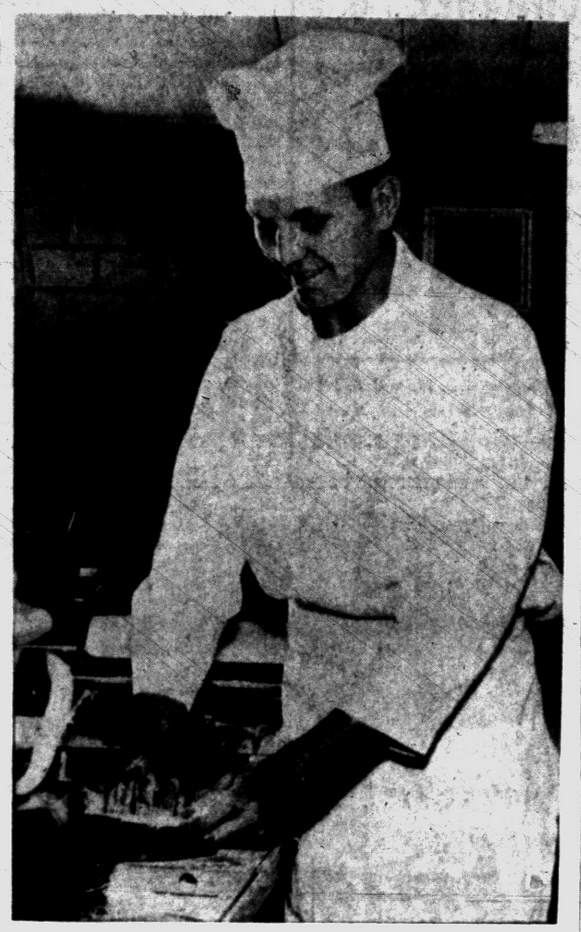

It said the Boilermakers face no foe with more confidence than "the vaunted Spartans from East Lansing."

"Not only at Purdue but all around the Big Ten this year the word is that Michigan State hasn't got it on the offense, particularly in the air," the story read.

★ ★ ★

That was the supper-time reading for the MSU players after their last practice yesterday.

Mad—they're boiling!

AP Wirephoto

GRID COOK — Believe it or not, this is Michigan State's great end Sammy Williams who is busy at work putting together a pie in cooking class at MSU. The big 6-5 and 218 pound end, who is married and has a son, is 27-years-old and is majoring in restaurant management at MSU.

Evanston Boys Led Wolverines to 1957 Victory

Michigan's Brad Myers Also Gridiron Product From Wildcat Doorstep

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Michigan has whipped up another batch of home brew for its game with unbeaten Northwestern tomorrow.

The Wildcats know too well the sting of the Wolverines' concoction. Home brew sent Northwestern reeling last year when quarterbacks Jim Van Pelt and Stan Noskin led the way for a 34-14 Michigan victory.

This time Michigan's home brew is somewhat weaker. Van Pelt, who climbed out of a sick bed to star in last year's game, has graduated. Noskin is troubled with a bruised hip and may not play tomorrow.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan has watered down Michigan's home brew by nominating two starters from neighboring Chicago. They are guard Jerry Marciniak and fullback Tony Rio. Rio has replaced the injured John Herrnstein.

Michigan is a somewhat shaky four-point favorite over the Wildcats. Northwestern has won all three of its games while Michigan has won only one. And that was by a single point.

But the Wolverines also tied Michigan State and they're still basking in the glory of that accomplishment.

Northwestern hasn't been able to beat Michigan since 1951. The game tomorrow will attract an expected 45,000 to Dyche Stadium, many curious to see if the 1958 Wildcats are for real.

Coach Ara Parseghian has taken a team that lost all nine games last year, beefed it up with sophomores and hasn't lost this season.

Michigan yesterday appointed quarterback Bob Ptacek and end Gary Prahst to fill in for Herrnstein as honorary co-captains until the end of the season.

Sawchuk Goes It Alone

Detroit Defense Absent as Hawks Rout Wings, 7-2

Terry Gets No Support From Teammates in NHL Massacre at Olympia

By BILL CORNWELL

That's a pure statement of fact. It would be far more correct to say, however, that goalie Terry Sawchuk opposed the Black Hawks while his teammates gave him token support.

There were 9,027 cash customers watching Detroit's pitiful exhibition of "big league" hockey and Sawchuk probably felt like the man at the carnival who falls into the water trough when the ball hits the bullseye.

Sawchuk was thoroughly soaked most of the evening and the Wings were definitely "all wet" as the revitalized Hawks skated to a ridiculously easy 7-2 victory.

Detrot's defense was conspicuous by its absence and the deserted Sawchuk was left to face the wrath of the hungry Chicago skaters who swarmed around the cage all night long.

Lorne Ferguson, a Detrot castoff, and Eric Nesterenko, formerly with the Toronto Maple Leafs, scored two goals apiece to pace the onslaught and Ken Wharram, Danny Lewicki and Dollard St. Laurent divided the remaining tallies.

The Hawks held a 2-0 lead entering the 2nd period, maintained their two-goal edge at 3-1 going into the 3rd session and poured four goals past the bewildered Sawchuk in the finale.

Detroit's "kid" line of Len Lunde, Bill McNeill and Claude Laforge scored both Wing counters. Lunde clicking in the 4th minute of the middle stanza and McNeill finding the range at 13:04 of the final period.

The great Gordie Howe, who received the Hart Trophy between the 2nd and 3rd periods in a presentation ceremony at mid-ice, connected for a goal in the 16th minute of the 3rd stanza but it was disallowed because his teammates were interfering with goalie Glenn Hall in the crease.

Nesterenko opened the scoring midway through the 1st period with a hard shot which Sawchuk juggled and let slip through his pads into the net. Ferguson fired his 1st goal at the 16:36 mark and the slaughter was under way.

Lunde closed the gap to 2-1 with his nifty 15-footer, but Wharram canceled it just 17 seconds later with a 25-foot backhander.

Ferguson counted again and Levicki's goalmouth jab hoisted Chicago's margin to 5-1. After McNeill beat Hall with a 25-foot shot. St. Laurent tapped in a loose puck at the goalmouth and Nesterenko made his 2nd goal on an unassisted dash down the middle while the Hawks were shorthanded.

Only six penalties were called, three on each side. Hall made 24 saves in the Chicago net and Sawchuk was credited with 23 as the badly-outplayed Wings let him go alone.

All-Star Midget Grid Games Saturday Night

The annual All-Star Night for Pontiac's Midget football players will be held Saturday at Wisner Stadium with a total of 10 games scheduled.

★ ★ ★

Co-sponsored by the Parks and Recreation department with the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the midget gridders will play six minute quarters on a 50-yard field with two games being played simultaneously for one half.

While the boys of the first two games rest for a half, games three and four start their first half.

The program will feature three hours of continuous football with the kickoff for the first games at 7:00 p.m.

More than 400 boys participated in six weeks of football activities for 5th and 6th grade boys from 19 elementary schools in the city.

The program was conducted by a staff of physical education teachers in the school system during the week and on Saturday mornings.

The Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce in promoting the program hopes to raise funds to support projects for youth and with the intent of boosting the grid fortunes of the city.

The public is invited to attend the All-Star Midget games tomorrow evening.

THE PROGRAM:

Game No. 2—North End—Wever, Hawthorne and Malkim (Blue & Gold) versus McCarroll (Red & White).

7:40 and 8:00 p.m.—Teams return for alternate halves.

9:00 and 9:20 p.m.—Teams return for alternate halves.

GENERAL RULES: Six minute quarters, field goal line to 45-yard line kickoff—35 yard line and 10 yard line; clock does not stop, all penalties five yards.

Moore's Tally Beats Toronto

Third Period Counter Gives Canadiens 4 to 3 Victory

MONTREAL (AP) — Dickie Moore's goal at 17:09 of the third period Thursday night pulled the struggling Montreal Canadiens to a 4-3 National Hockey League win over the scrappy Toronto Maple Leafs.

Moore's goal, his second of the night, climaxed a third-period uprising by the Canadiens, who blew a two-goal lead late in the opening period and found themselves trailing in the third.

Bernie "Boom Boom" Geoffrion pulled Montreal even at 7:41 while the Leafs were shorthanded and Moore whipped in his 20-footer for the winning tally.

★ ★ ★

Bob Pulford of the Leafs drove in two goals less than a minute apart in the opening period after Maurice "Rocket" Richard and Moore had given Montreal a 2-0 lead.

Auburn Steak on Line at Georgia Tech

Defense--College Keyword

By The Associated Press

To save a lot of unnecessary discussion over Sunday breakfast, one word will probably sum up the weekend's football activity: Defense.

The only activity tonight finds Richmond at George Washington but tomorrow there will be some gigantic tugs of war between some defense minded giants.

The offensive giants will have their say too but they don't figure to be bothered too much.

The game at Madison, a regionally televised affair in the Midwest, features unbeaten, and third ranked Wisconsin playing host to once-tied Iowa, in the Big Ten's top game. The Badgers defense has given only one touchdown — last week to Purdue in a 31-6 victory. Iowa is fifth in total offense and seventh in rushing offense.

At Atlanta, second ranked Auburn, first in total defense, first in rushing defense and second in passing defense, meets equally defense-minded Georgia Tech, fourth in overall defense, in the Southeast Conference game of the day.

Top-ranked Army, known more for its offense than for its No. 9 ranking in total defense and No. 3 in passing defense, plays Virginia, who travels to West Point minus ace passer Reece Whitley.

Sixth-ranked Navy, minus All America tackle Bob Reifsnyder, meets winless 0-4 Tulane in the Oyster Bowl at Norfolk, Virginia. The Middies are undefeated in three games.

Texas, No. 7, is still in the clouds after last week's upset of Oklahoma, and may get a jolt from Arkansas, winless in four tries, in a Southwest Conference tilt. Something has to give when Mississippi, eighth ranked, and No. 3 in rushing defense, meets Sammy Baugh's Hardin-Simmons Cowboys, the No. 2 passing team in the nation.

Louisiana State puts its 4-0 record, and No. 9 ranking on the line against a tough Kentucky team, who is 2-2, while 10th ranked Clemson, seventh in total offense and third in rushing offense, plays South Carolina in an Atlantic Coast Conference game.

There are some not-so-slumbering giants in the second ten. Oklahoma, No. 11, dropped from first place after last week's loss to Texas, plays Kansas in its Big Eight Conference opener, and looks for its 61st consecutive conference game without a loss. It is the Big Eight region television game.

Notre Dame, No. 12, plays Duke for the first time in history, aching to get some more offense started after its 14-2 loss to Army last week.

Oregon, No. 14, a defense-minded team of the highest caliber, plays Washington State. The Webfeet are No. 7 in total defense, fifth in pass defense and eighth in total offense. The Cougars are hoping ace passer Bobby Newman will see at least limited service to help their top-rated passing offense.

GMC Team Favored

Industrial Golfers Meet

This is the year five competing industrial golf teams hope to end the domination of the annual tournament by General Motors Truck and Coach.

Since 1948 the GMC golf team has won the Industrial Championship eight times. Only other victors in this period were Pontiac Motor in 1953 and American Forge in 1950.

Saturday the six teams will compete in their annual tournament but GMC, with Chuck Cappell, Walt Latozas, Charley Barker and Paul Bada, is again favored at Pontiac Country Club.

This will be the third year of competition for the Philip Monaghan trophy. Previously the teams vied for the Babcock trophy.

Lowest score ever shot in the tournament was in 1955 when the team made up of Paul Bada, Charley Barker, Mike Andonian and R. Murphy fired a 286 total. Barker and Andonian had 67's, Bada a 75 and Murphy a 77.

Last year GMC, with the same team as will play together Saturday, won the title with a 293 total, followed by Baldwin Rubber with 295 and Pontiac Motor with 299.

In 1953 when Pontiac Motor won the title the scores were high. The Pontiac Motor team posted a 298 with Baldwin Rubber firing 312 as runnerup and GMC shooting 313 in third place.

Tee-off time tomorrow at PCC is 11:00 a.m. with Pontiac Motor, Bell Telephone, GM Truck, Fisher Body, Baldwin Rubber and American Forge as the six-team entry.

Kipke in Grid Hall of Fame

Michigan Star Among Nine Named Thursday; Give Medal to Ike

NEW YORK (AP) — Football's Hall of Fame today numbered 162 following the selection of nine new members.

The National Football Foundation, headed by Chester J. Laroche yesterday named Charles Barrett, Cornell; David C. Campbell, Harvard; Marshall Goldberg, Pittsburgh; Harry Kipke, Michigan; Francis Lund, Minnesota; Frank John "Dutch" Schwab, Lafayette; Harry Stuhldreher, Notre Dame; Harry Killinger "Cy" Young, Washington and Lee, and Thomas Albert "Tad" Jones, Yale.

The six living members of the group, all except Barrett, Campbell and Jones, will be honored along with President Eisenhower at the foundation's first award dinner in New York, Oct. 28.

By CHUCK ABAIR

A chance for sole possession of first place and a strong shot at the Suburban Catholic League championship holds the spotlight, but Sunday's 24th renewal of the St. Michael-St. Frederick football rivalry will mean much more to the staunch supporters of the two schools.

The traditional fever that hits this city a few days before each annual battle is starting to take over Pontiac again as the young and old alike look forward to the annual classic.

Prestige, winning the city parochial crown and gaining a leg on the Steven Griffin Memorial trophy are as important as the league race to the fans when these teams get together.

People who have been following the rivals over the years have seen loads of thrills in the big Wisner Stadium contests. Sunday's game is expected to add many more.

St. Michael will take a 13-7 series victory edge into the contest. The other three previous meetings ended up in ties, two of them in 1939, the only year they played twice.

The Shamrocks have built that edge by winning the last eight years over St. Frederick. St. Mike has won four Griffin cups to a pair for the Rams. The trophy is awarded to the team winning three times in a series. A new series begins Sunday.

St. Frederick last beat its cross-town opponents in 1949 romping 26-7. The Red and Black have not won a Griffin award since '46.

★ ★ ★

The most one-sided rout in history was the Mikemen's 34-0 waltz in 1954. The Freds won 25-0 in 1942 and 25-0 the next time.

St. Michael holds a 288-239 scoring advantage in the 23 duels. The Shamrocks went pointless in five of the 1st nine encounters but have tallied at least once every game since. Rams have failed to make the scoring column nine times—the latest being in 1954.

Jim Niebauer and Mike Slivensky are new to the classic as coaches but the SM bosses are familiar names as former stars at the school. Their play featured the 26-24 victory in 1950. Slivensky's two extra point kicks provided the margin of victory. Each scored a TD to help overcome a 12-0 St. Fred lead achieved on tallies by Bill Leahy and Nick Zdunic.

Dave Kline and Al Serra (Rams), Marty Cronan, Duane Priebe and Chuc Steinhelper (Shamrocks) are a few of the many boys who have starred in these great tussles.

Kline's last minute pass to Chuck Oertel pulled the 1948 game out of the fire. It tied the count and his pass to Zdunic won it 7-6. Serra also excelled through the air in the St. Fred 26-12 triumph in 1946.

Cronan was a standout in defeat in '46. Priebe matched St. Fred alone in 1948 with 2 six-pointers. Steinhelper accounted for 18 of the winners' points last November and has been the team spark plug this fall.

St. Frederick is hungry for revenge. The Rams appeared on their way to turning the tide a year ago before blowing a 14-12 edge in a 19-6 donnybrook. St. Mike's has been overshadowed thus far by the Ram power and the Lewis street gridders will be out to regain some of the limelight. Both are 3-0 in loop competition.

500,000 State Hunters Await Pheasant Season

LANSING (AP) — It's that time of year again for the Michigan pheasant hunter and all signs point to a good season.

Well over 500,000 hunters are expected to try their luck in the 21-day season that opens Monday throughout the Lower Peninsula. The season north of the Straits, where pheasants are few and far between, was restricted to parts of Menominee and Delta counties.

With pheasant populations apparently on the upswing in recent years, the total cock kill should equal or surpass last year's 1,250,000.

As always, the Thumb district produced the biggest pheasant populations, even more this year than last. Apparent increases are reported in most sections of the main pheasant hunting country south of the Bay City-Muskegon line except in a few central Michigan counties.

For one thing, weather last spring and in the early summer was good for pheasant production, not excessively wet or cold. Bird counts in later winter and early spring showed a good increase in the spring breeding population and a rise in the number of hens per cock as well.

Crowing counts in April, May and June showed a 20 per cent increase in cock pheasants. Farmers taking part in another survey indicated brood production jumped 22 per cent from last year.

Peak of the pheasant hatch this year occurred about June 9, some two weeks before the mowing season reached a peak. Most chicks, therefore, would have been old enough to escape from hay mowers.

Tempering forecasts of an improved outlook for hunters, however, is the report from more than 500 rural mail carriers. It's considered one of the most reliable barometers of the potential pheasant kill, usually accurate within 10 per cent. Overall, it showed a 6 per cent drop in production from a year ago.

Monday also is the opening day for other small game species in zone three — the southern third of the state south of highway M 20. On that day, woodchuck, squirrels, rabbits and ruffed grouse also become legal game.

Pontiac Skiers Elect Officers and Set Plans

The Pontiac Ski Club, which will operate at Teeple Hill in the Highland Recreation Area for the 9th season, elected officers for the season and have laid plans to sell memberships for 1958-59.

The annual membership meeting will be held November 5th at the club. Interested members can call Kollin at FE 8-4558.

Monroe Stops Marquez

Xavier Called Dangerous Club

Up and Down Titans Face 'Downer' in Tilt at Detroit, Saturday

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The up and down University of Detroit Titans will tangle here tomorrow with an Xavier football team that has been mostly down this season.

If the Titans follow the alternating win-lose pattern they have set so far this season, Xavier is in for a rough afternoon.

The Titans won their first game 21-6 over George Washington, then lost 37-6 to the Air Force Academy, beat the Quantico Marines 26-13, and last week lost 7-0 to Villanova.

"In their losses," he said, "they made some costly mistakes and found themselves behind early in the game. Then they never were able to catch up.

"But they've got a fine running club and they're dangerous," he said.

OCSC, Multi-Lakers Divide SRPA Match

Indoor shooting teams representing Oakland County Sportsmen's club and Multi-Lakes Conservation Association, split honors in the recent league opening match. OCSC marksmen won the actual side with M-L taking the handicap section on scores of 945 and 1009, respectively (OCSC handicap 1009; M-L actual 941).

Match was shot at Multi-Lakes gallery, opening the Southeastern Rifle & Pistol Assn. Indoor Gallery League season.

Pistons Award TV Rights

DETROIT (UPI) — Radio and television rights to the Detroit Pistons home and away games were sold to the National Brewing Co. and Speedway Petroleum Co. yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Nick Kerbawy, Pistons general manager, said there will be no telecasts of home games.

Frank Sims was named to handle the play-by-play accounts of the game for both radio and television.

Kerbawy said 15 stations have been signed to the Piston network for the 72-game regular season schedule and playoffs as well. He said more stations will be added later.

Memories of last year's exciting St. Michael-St. Frederick football game still linger in the minds of those who watched it on a Sunday afternoon in late November at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium.

The fact that the contest was postponed more than a month by an epidemic of Asian flu which invaded the territory was purely incidental and meaningless to the titanic 48-minute struggle on the Wisner turf.

Of all the many thrilling chapters written in the St. Mike—St. Fred gridiron book, the 1957 edition was probably the most action-filled and drama-packed episode of the long and colorful series.

It was quite some time after that bitter dog-fight before arm-chair quarterbacks stopped questioning and debating St. Fred's 3rd quarter strategy which led to the Rams' eventual defeat.

Only a mighty forgetful southsider could forget what happened in that hectic 3rd period. The Rams held a 14-12 lead when the Mikes kicked off to start the 2nd half.

The Rams were put into a hole immediately when halfback Tom Nesbitt fell on the St. Fred 12. Three plays later St. Mike's Ed Lauinger recovered a fumble on the Rams' 20 but this time the generous Shamrocks failed to capitalize.

Moments later a St. Fred punt was expected with a 4th-and-3 situation on the Ram 11. The Rams stunned all onlookers by passing and falling one yard short of a 1st down. St. Mike took possession on the 13 and once again let the Rams off the hook by losing the pigskin on the three.

Backed up to the wall, St. Fred gambled again and Jim Fox intercepted a 3rd down pass for the Shamrocks and carried it to the five. This time the determined Mikes capitalized on their opportunity and scored what proved to be the winning touchdown.

St. Fred rallied furiously in the 4th quarter in a desperate effort to break the grid mastery of its intra-city foe, but the Shamrocks hung on doggedly and when St. Fred's Jack Lyon was stopped inches short of a 1st down in Mike territory with just seconds remaining, the Rams' doom was sealed.

The St. Fred coaching staff has since staunchly defended its tactics in that crazy 3rd period. It's one of those situations where you're a hero if you succeed and a bum if you fail. Gambles are always like that.

Many of the St. Fred gridders who will face the Shamrocks this Sunday at Wisner were part of that 1957 drama. It's a cinch they haven't forgotten the heart-breaking loss, either.

St. Mike has a new head coach in young Jim Niebauer and several holdovers from last year's conquering team then directed by Bob Mineweaser. It's nice to have help from the enemy, but Niebauer and the Mikes will try to rely on their own skill Sunday in an attempt to make it nine in a row.

Chiefs Invade Saginaw Tonight

Winless Trojans Oppose PCH 11 at Alumni Field

Redemption from a miserable performance last week and victory No. 1 in the rugged Saginaw Valley Conference will be Pontiac Central's goals tonight when the Chiefs face Saginaw Eastern on Saginaw's Alumni Field at 8 p.m.

It's the 2nd straight journey to Saginaw for the PCH gridders, who were shackled by Arthur Hill, 27-0, in their Valley opener a week ago at the up-state city. The loss was Pontiac's 1st in four games.

In Saginaw the Chiefs are meeting a foe which has yet to taste victory in four outings. The Trojans are hungry for a win and it's Homecoming at Saginaw so the task will not be easy for coach Jessie MacLeay and his PCH legions.

Bruce Hill, a quick and shifty halfback, was the only returning regular at the east side school and Blenkhorn has watched his inexperienced charges give up 147 points while scoring only 13.

Only five letter winners returned to Blenkhorn—quarterback Norm Schrah, ends Jim Gronski and Lou Economou and halfbacks R. A. Stephens and Hill. Economou, a strong 170-pounder, has been switched to fullback this season.

Saginaw is primarily a running team since Schrah, who directs the attack, is a good ballhandler and faker but only a so-so passer. Hill is the top running threat.

Quarterback Fred Staley, Central's 1st string signal-caller last year, will be ready to play tonight for the 1st time this fall after recovering from a pre-season shoulder injury.

Wayne-Oakland, Inter-Lakes Highlighted

Big Games on Tap

Wayne-Oakland conflict which could decide the ultimate champion heads tonight's schedule following the big Walled Lake at Farmington afternoon contest.

The Walled Lake-Farmington contest was expected to determine who would replace twice-beaten Southfield atop the Inter-Lakes standings this season. All four schools involved are unbeaten and untied.

Here's how the other leagues schedules look:

EASTERN MICHIGAN

Unpredictable Birmingham seeks its 3rd straight league win against defending champion Hazel Park. Ferndale invades Mt. Clemens while East Detroit is host to Port Huron.

Speed and the steady scoring of Ed Busch has made the Maples a strong threat to keep rolling towards a title.

OAKLAND B

SOUTH CENTRAL

Oxford has everyone sitting up and taking notice and should keep rolling at Ortonville. Loop favorite Imlay City takes on a "down" North Branch eleven at home. Millington goes outside the league to play Howell.

SOUTHERN THUMB

Perennial power Almont is smarting from its defeat by Imlay and anxious to take out on Thumb foes. The Raiders host Armada today. Both are unbeaten in the league as is high-scoring Brown City which hosts New Haven. Memphis is at Capac in the other game. Dryden is at home against New Baltimore Anchor Bay, a future STL member.

OTHERS

Red-hot Lapeer travels to Romeo with all intentions of ruining Homecoming for the Bulldogs in the first Tri-County game. Rochester will have another game before loop play but that will be far from a tuneup. The Falcons tangle with highly-rated Centerline at home. County Central Suburban entries Country Day and Madison Lamphere have home loop games against Huron and Harper Woods, respectively. Royal Oak Dondero attempts to keep its high state ranking by best Wyandotte. Oak Park hosts Thurston. South Lyon is home for a League of the Lakes clash with Manchester. Utica has a Bi-County tussle against Lake Shore at Utica.

SATURDAY

Winless Cranbrook is on the road again hoping to make Western Reserve its initial victim. Royal Oak Kimball, a suprising Class A power so far, takes on Grand Rapids South at home.

VIKING — Walled Lake has a potent backfield this year and a key figure in today's deciding Inter-Lakes clash with Farmington is big Mike Wurst, hard running fullback.

Lions Have Backs to Wall in NFL Race

Baltimore Has Thoughts Set on '58 Crown

Briggs Stadium Game Is Key to Detroit's Stay in Chase

Kickoff is 1:30 p.m. (EST) and a crowd of 55,000 seems assured for the second meeting of the year between the two clubs.

Baltimore opened the season with a 28-15 decision over the Lions and has continued to roll with consecutive victories over the Chicago Bears, 51-38, and Green Bay, 24-17. Detroit, meanwhile, is looking for its first triumph of the year after losing to the Colts, tying Green Bay, 13-13, and dropping a 42-28 decision to the Los Angeles Rams.

The Colts must be considered as definite title timber on the strength of their victory over Green Bay last week. Down 17-0 early in the game, Baltimore retained its poise and fought back to tie the score on a field goal in the last four minutes and then go on to the win on a long pass interception return for a touchdown by Andy Nelson.

Detroit and Los Angeles staged one of the most hotly-contested offensive battles in recent years before the West Coast club stopped a Lion drive with a pass interception late in the fourth period and went on to win in the closing minutes.

As was the case i 1957, the Colt game may well hold the key to whatever success the 1958 Lions are to enjoy. Last year, Detroit scored a sensational 31-27 come-from-behind victory with two touchdowns within a 75-second period and with less than a minute remaining. The Colts had raced to a 27-3 edge in the middle of the third period, only to see that margin vanish when Bobby Layne and Hopalong Cassady combined efforts for two scoring aerials in the closing moments.

Walled Lake Winner of I-L Harrier Title

In one of the closest Inter-Lakes harrier meets in years, Walled Lake high's runners yesterday ran off with their 6th straight league crown. Don Smith's boys were paced by Jack Hobbs who finished 6th. Other Vikings in the top list included George Beeman, 8th, and Chet Valentine, 10th, Ray Taulbee, 11th, and Mike Cosgrove, 13th.

Individual winner was Berkley's fine Steve Meyers at 10:59.5, followed by Southfield's Don Karr, Al Krumm of Berkley, Jerry Liebler of Southfield, Larry Chapman of Waterford (5th), Dale Perry of Berkley (7th), Charles Teaney of Van Dyke (9th). Meyers went into the lead over Karr at the last 600-yards, finished well up.

Team standings were: Walled Lake 48, Berkley 59, Southfield 61, Waterford 77, Van Dyke and Farmington tied at 133.

Activities at PCH

Rec Program Is Offered

Four recreational programs are being offered by the Pontiac Recreation department and the Board of Education at Pontiac Central for children and teenagers.

A swimming program for beginners is offered for all 5th graders at Mark Twain, Herrington Hills, Kennett Road, Malkim, Emerson, Trinity Lutheran, Emmanuel Baptist, St. Frederick, St. Michael and Franklin Schools each Monday and Wednesday at the PCH pool.

Girls meet at 6:30 on Mondays and boys on Wednesdays. Children must have their own towels, suits and caps for girls.

For physical fitness or weightlifting, boys can join the program held at PCH on Tuesday and Thursday sessions from 3:30 to 6:00 p.m., under the supervision of Al Thomas.

A fencing program under the guidance of Eldon Gardner is offered each Wednesday in the girls' gym from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. at PCH.

Experienced and novice fencers are welcome to attend the sessions which includes instruction in foil, epee and sabre. Tennis shoes are required.

An organized table tennis instruction and league program is also under way at Pontiac Central. Activity takes place in the girls' gym each Thursday evening from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. under the supervision of Perc Secord and the Pontiac Table Tennis Association.

Those desiring to participate in these programs can inquire about registration by calling Leonard Buzz at the Recreation Department at FE 3-7131.

Hagan Paces Hawk Win

HERRIN, Ill. (AP)—Cliff Hagan scored 24 points Thursday night in leading the St. Louis Hawks to a 125-98 victory over the rookie-studded Minneapolis Lakers in a National Basketball Assn. exhibition.

Chief Harriers Trail Indians in Valley Meet

Facing a terrific job against a quartet of runners generally regarded in prep circles as the state's best, Pontiac High's harriers turned in a fine effort, yesterday, in the annual Saginaw Valley Conference cross-country meet. Flint Central's favored squad won the title with 23 points and Dean Wilson's Chiefs were runnersup with 67 over the Swartz Creek CC course.

Central's harriers took the first three places, plus eighth and ninth, led by Bill Milum who set a meet record of 10:26 to erase the former mark of 10:28 made by Darby of Arthur Hill. George Fredericksen was 2nd, Gary Crenshaw 3rd, Bill Foster 8th and Buck Wiley 9th.

Other teams finished as follows: Flint Northern 90; Arthur Hill 95; Bay City 104, and Saginaw High 137.

Northern's reserves won the JV meet. Order of finish was — Northern 20, Central 37, Pontiac 109, Arthur Hill 122, Saginaw 202 and Bay City 244.

Strikes and Spares

By Joe Wilman

In teaching students the finer points of bowling, I always emphasize the importance of natural speed. Forcing extra speed or forcing any other part of your bowling game can only result in poor timing and often in tired, strained muscles.

★ ★ ★

The right arm, for instance, should deliver the ball as we show in today's drawing — with no strain or effort. Keeping the right arm relaxed may sound difficult when you consider that it's swinging a 16-pound ball. Actually it's easy. Let the arm swing back and forth naturally with the ball. The weight of the ball and the pushaway motion will give you initial momentum. Just avoid forcing the arm at any point of the arm swing or delivery.

Another tip for avoiding strain on your bowling arm or hand is to cradle the ball in your left palm before starting the approach. Don't support the ball with your bowling hand.

You'll enjoy bowling more if you avoid straining. If you catch yourself committing this fault, check your footwork and your armswing for smoothness and coordination.

32 Yankees, 31 Braves Get Shares

First Division Teams Split Series' Money

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Yankees sliced their World Series melon like world champions, but they're pikers alongside the Pirates.

Maintaining their traditional world series generosity, the Yankees cut in such part-timers as Sal Maglie, Virgil Trucks and Murry Dickson for huge chunks in the division of the series spoils made public by commissioner Ford Frick yesterday.

All told, 32 members of the Yankees will each collect a full share of $8,759.10 in the mail today while 31 members of the losing Braves each will receive $5,896.08.

The Pirates, who finished second to the Braves in the National League race, came through with the most generous gesture of the year—and maybe even in World Series history—when they voted a full share of $1,507.04 to their batting instructor, George Sisler.

Sisler, a hall of famer, is not a regular member of the Pittsburgh coaching staff but he puts in long hours teaching Pirate batters how to hit, is immensely popular with all of them and the size of his share was a token of their appreciation.

"I think this is the first time a batting coach ever was so appreciated," Frick said. "I think it's a fine thing."

Frick also said he thought both the Yankees and Braves were "very generous" with their splits.

The Yanks voted a half share ($4,379.54) to Maglie although he left the club June 14; three-quarters of a share ($6,569.33) to Dickson, who joined them Aug. 22, and full shares to Trucks and Duke Maas, who were obtained from Kansas City on June 15.

Yankee pitcher Ryne Duren will find $250 deducted from his winning share as a result of a fine levied by Frick for a "check-up" gesture he made at umpire Charley Berry during the sixth game of the series. And 22 members of the Braves will find $50 missing from their shares for prematurely disclosing how they voted to split their money.

Both the winners' and losers' share were the fourth highest in history. The record high for a winner was $11,147.90 each member of the Giants received in 1954 and the record loser's share was $6,934.34 set by the 1956 Dodgers.

The third-place Red Sox drew $995.90 for a full share while the third-place Giants, who voted fewer full shares, netted $1,031.14.

Europe's Best Racer Goes in International

NEW YORK (AP) — Irish-bred Ballymoss, generally rated the best race horse in Europe, Thursday was announced as a definite starter in the $100,000 Washington, D.C. International at Laurel, Md., Nov. 11.

Ballymoss, owned by John McShain of Philadelphia, was entered in the rich 1½-mile grass race last year but was forced to withdraw because of illness.

Hollywood-Type Shows for Olympians

Plan Fun for Athletes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Hollywood-type entertainment by movie, stage and television performers is planned for competitors at the 1960 Winter Olympic Games at Squaw Valley.

William H. Carr, chairman of the Olympic Village Committee, today announced the plans and the appointment of California resort and hotel executive Robert Minerich as managing director for the village and public facilities.

Principal item in the expansion of the Olympic village is the addition of a recreation hall where the more than 1,200 athletes and officials can spend leisure hours.

Other additions to the village: A Finnish steam bath; a hut designed exclusively for the care of skis, skates and other equipment; a post office; international bank, beauty, barber, tailor and boot shops, soda fountain and a drug store.

These facilities are in addition to the four 300-person dormitories, the 600-seat dining hall and the reception center already completed or under construction at the Olympic site.

Slugger vs. Boxer in TV Bout Tonight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Slugger George Chuvalo and boxer-puncher Pat McMurtry, two eager aspirants to the heavyweight crown, make their television and New York debuts tonight in a 10-round fight at Madison Square Garden.

McMurtry of Tacoma, Wash. — an Irish ex-Marine sergeant with crew-cut brown hair—will depend upon his Gene Tunney style and his greater experience to lick the Croatian clouter from Toronto, Ont.

This battle of the handsome "new faces" will be televised and broadcast nationally by NBC at 9 p.m.

Robbins Becomes Pro

Robbins, 26, now an Air Force lieutenant at Shaw AFB, Perrin, S.C., said he will hit the play for pay circuit next May, soon after he resumes civilian duds.

State Historical Society Hears Amazing Saga

Girl Served as Man in Civil War Army

EAST LANSING (AP) — The amazing saga of a 22-year-old girl who enlisted and served in the Civil War as a man was related here today to the State Historical Society meeting.

BORROWED CLOTHING

The girl, Emma Edmonds, ran away from her home in Canada at an early age to escape a tyrannical father. She borrowed men's clothing from a neighbor boy to make traveling easier.

Emma called herself Franklin Thompson and obtained a job as a Bible salesman in the United States.

She was in Flint when the Civil War started. President Lincoln called for 75,000 volunteers. One of them was Emma Edmonds, alias Franklin Thompson.

★ ★ ★

In June of 1861 the Second Michigan Infantry moved toward the battlefields of Virginia.

Emma was with them. The men of the Second Michigan had the fear of all soldiers before their baptism of fire. Emma had an added fear. A battle wound would make discovery of her sex certain. But, she survived the regiment's first engagement at Blackburn's Ford and subsequent battles without injury.

Reporting the accident would have resulted in a doctor's examination. Emma silently endured the pain until she was well again.

The following spring Emma deserted. Years later she said she took this action rather than go to a hospital when a furlough application was not approved.

Twenty years later the Second Michigan Infantry held a reunion at Flint. Emma appeared and startled her wartime buddies by revealing that she was the Franklin Thompson that had served with them so many months.

Her former comrades supplied testimonials to her character and service. Congress removed the charge of desertion from Franklin Thompson's record. Emma's name was placed on the Civil War pension roll.

After her desertion Emma traveled back to her old home in New Brunswick, Canada. There she married Linus Seelye, the neighbor boy who had lent her the men's clothes in which she ran away from home.

The couple traveled about the country and finally settled in Texas. Before her death in 1898 Mrs. Seelye was enrolled in the George B. McClellan Post No. 9 of the Grand Army of the Republic at Houston. She was the only woman ever to be regularly received into the G.A.R.

Her body lies in the G.A.R. portion of Washington Cemetery in Houston. A weathered marker bearing her name is all that indicates the presence of a near-forgotten heroine.

Luxuries Not at the Top

PARIS — Contrary to popular belief, France is not primarily an exporter of luxury products. Her chief exports, making up 29 per cent of total exports, are metallurgical products and machinery. Next come textiles, 14 per cent; chemicals, 8, and automobiles and rolling stock, 7. All agricultural products account for only 16 per cent.

The federal government collected $2,943,241,000 from taxes and duties on alcoholic beverages in 1957, a 4.6 per cent drop from 1956.

70 Convicts Fail in Escape Try

Heavily-Armed Officers Quell Major Uprising in Denver County Jail

DENVER (AP) — Seventy prisoners, at least one of them a confessed murderer, made a desperate but vain bid to escape from the Denver County Jail late Thursday.

More than 100 officers, armed with submachineguns, riot shotguns, tear gas and football helmets, quelled the uprising in little more than two hours.

Four guards suffered cuts and bruises. None were believed seriously injured. The prisoners were uninjured and suffered only from heavy doses of tear gas.

The end came when the last of some 25 prisoners who had holed up in a penthouse atop the jail's maximum security block apparently retreated through the same small hole they had cut to gain entrance during the riot's early confusion.

The men who took refuge in the brick enclosure housing the jail's air-conditioning system and those who stubbornly held out in the cell block were a shouting, howling mass of humanity. They protested what they termed brutal treatment from guards.

One prisoner shouted through a small window in a door at the rear of the cell block: "They're slugging us and dragging us out and working us over one at a time."

Guards discovered the hole in the cell block ceiling leading to the penthouse shortly after the riot broke out. As darkness closed in, Fire Department spotlights showered the small structure with daylight brilliance and a stream of tear gas shells was fired into the penthouse.

When more tear gas was poured into the cell block below, the last desperate face disappeared from the window. All avenues of possible escape had vanished. Stillness reigned.

PUNCTURE SEALING POWDER—Tubeless tire shown above becomes puncture sealing with addition of a rubber powder developed by United States Rubber Co. Powder becomes a fine rubber "mist" as tire revolves when car is in motion. If tire is punctured, the powder quickly plugs the hole and allows motorist to drive safely for 48 hours or hundreds of miles. Tire has been deflated and pulled away from wheel rim to allow entry of powder.

Parke, Davis Profits Up

DETROIT (AP) — Parke, Davis, & Co.'s profits the first nine months of 1958 were a record $18,580,996, equal to $3.77 for each of its 4,929,868 common shares. The drug manufacturing firm also said its sales the first nine months of 1958 set a record of $125,212,798, an increase of 6.5 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

GM Division Reveals New Sealed Headlight

ANDERSON, Ind.—Guide Lamp Division of General Motors announces an improved sealed beam headlamp that produces "more light, aimed right" for automobiles that do not have the four-lamp headlighting system.

Byron L. Stewart, Guide Lamp general manager, said the new seven-inch lamp will provide more light and better illumination in the lower beam for two-headlamp vehicles. The new lamp carries the trade name, "Guide T-3 Powerbeam 50 Headlamp," and may be identified by the numerals "50" impressed in the lens face.

For sale to motorist as a replacement part, it will be made available to local distributors Nov. 1 through the marketing program of GM's AC Spark Plug Division.

Weatherwax Is Busy Campaigning Locally

Allen G. Weatherwax, Republican candidate for state treasurer, shook many hands and drank many cups of coffee as he roamed through Oakland County today on a busy campaign trip.

After an 11 o'clock coffee hour in Birmingham with several county candidates, Weatherwax, 51, a Jackson druggist, immediately hopped over to the Pontiac City Club for a luncheon engagement at noon.

His afternon stops included one in Waterford Township with Congressman William S. Broomfield, a meeting in the Washington Square Building in Royal Oak, and a South Lyon civic homecoming and Kiwanis pancake supper at the South Lyon High School.

Planned for the evening was a visit to the Hazel Park Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, 23025 Carlisle St., and also, if time permits, at the Berkley VFW Post, 3025 Coolidge.

Only Soybeans Unsteady Grain

CHICAGO (AP) — With the exception of soybeans, grain futures were mostly steady on the board of trade today.

★ ★ ★

There was early buying of wheat which was attributed to a bullish Department of Agriculture report that showed more than 380 million bushels of wheat under government support at the end of September. Some mills were purchasers of futures, but the overall trade was light.

Corn started steady, mainly on favorable weather for conditioning the crop and expectations that much of this year's production, because of its excellence, will be placed under loan until prices advance.

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was ⅛ to ⅜ higher, Dec. $1.95⅞; corn unchanged to ¼ higher, old style Dec. $1.11⅛; oats ⅛ to ¼ higher, Dec. 64¼; rye ⅜ to ¾ higher, Dec. $1.29⅝; and soybeans unchanged to ⅜ lower, Nov. $2.14⅛.

Walkout Halts Capital Flights

Mechanics Strike Hits Entire Airlines System as Talks Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capital Airlines, the nation's fifth largest air carrier, halted all flights today because of a systemwide strike of its mechanics.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, company and union representatives planned to go back into negotiations in hopes of reaching agreement on a formula for ending the day-old walkout. No progress was reported in sessions Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Capital continued to run flights during the first 24 hours of the strike, but decided to shut down operations at midnight. No new flights were started after that time, although some in progress were completed. The airline serves 51 cities east of the Mississippi.

★ ★ ★

Directly involved in the strike are about 2,500 mechanics represented by the International Assn. of Machinists. The dispute, involving wages and other issues, dates back a year.

Capital has accepted a White House emergency board recommendation calling for a 9 per cent wage boost. The mechanics now average about $2.46 an hour.

However, the union has demanded a bigger wage boost than the board recommended. The union also seeks such benefits as a company-financed health-welfare plan—something the White House board did not recommend.

Find Bouffard Guilty of Murder Attempt

Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams set sentencing for Nov. 3 for Arthur R. Bouffard, 47-year-old Dearborn Township man found guilty yesterday by a jury of assault with intent to murder a semi-invalid Highland Township man in May.

Bouffard faces a maximum sentence of life in prison for the nonfatal shooting with a .22 caliber rifle of Leonard Ederle, 69, of 1320 White Lake Rd.

Ederle was shot in his house-trailer which Bouffard's estranged wife, Margaret, 39, had been helping him maintain since Ederle had a leg amputated a year ago. Bouffard blamed Ederle for breaking up the marriage.

It took a jury about one hour and 15 minutes to bring in its verdict of guilty as charged after hearing 1½ days of testimony before Judge Adams.

So many tourists get their cars stuck in the sand of Cocoa Beach, Fla., while they're watching missiles being launched from nearby Cape Canavarel that civilians equipped with jeeps do a thriving business towing out the autos at $15 apiece.

S-P Foe Wants to Check Vote

Charges Firm 'Fixed' Ballots of Stockholders to OK Refinancing

DETROIT (AP) — Sol A. Dann, a shareholder and attorney for a group of Studebaker-Packard dissidents, requested the Securities and Exchange Commission to investigate voting in which Studebaker-Packard Corp. reported stockholders approved a refinancing and diversification program.

★ ★ ★

Dann, long at odds with Studebaker-Packard management in and out of court, asked the SEC to impound ballots and proxies voted yesterday.

He said in a telegram to SEC Chairman Edward N. Gabsby that the stockholder meeting was improperly conducted and votes improperly counted.

Two Oakland Youths Sentenced in Ohio

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two Michigan youths were sentenced to Federal institutions today for driving a stolen auto from Royal Oak, Mich., across a state line to Waterville, Ohio.

U.S. District Judge Frank L. Kloeb sentenced Francis L. Farrell Jr., 17, of Madison Heights to two years in prison and Joseph E. Ford, 16, of Royal Oak to two years in the National Boys Training School in Washington, D.C.

In another case, Judge Kloeb ordered Robert G. Kantor, 23, of Wyandotte, Mich., committed for psychiatric treatment. Arrested Sept. 4 near Port Clinton, Ohio, Kantor was charged with driving a stolen car from Wheatland, Wyo., to Stanchfield, Minn.

Market Surges Ahead Strongly

The market was higher from the start, moved ahead in heavy trading, then kept most of the gains in rapid turnover.

WHY . . .

Be inconvenienced in a home that is not large enough! We are offering a FOUR BEDROOM home for a price that is less than many two and three bedroom homes are selling for. Furthermore, this home offers a twenty-four foot living room with new carpeting. Also in dining room and hall. Two fireplaces. Built-in oven and range. Full basement. Don't let the price mislead you — because it is worth more than the $20,500 we are privileged to sell it for.

INCOME

2 family, and it's a dandy — all brick! Completely furnished. Upper rents for $20.00 per week, lower for $22.50. Near Baldwin and St. Mikes. Your investment protected. Only $11,750 full price.

ZINA BETHUNE: At 13, she is determined to be a ballerina.

Zina, 13, Likes Dancing Best

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — It is sometimes amazing what one can learn when one talks to a person whose great - great - grandmother was a full-blooded Cherokee Indian princess. Especially a person whose great - great - grandmother was a full-blooded Cherokee Indian princess, AND who also owns a cat named Corny who eats baked beans.

Such a person is Zina Bethune. Miss Bethune, a pretty 13-year-old, played Amy, the latest and smallest of the March sisters in "Little Women" presented on television last night.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Zina is determinod to be a ballerina. She's turned down offers to do Broadway shows, movies, modeling and TV programs be cause they might interfere witl her ballet studies.

And nothing, not even life itself, is going to stand in her way to be a ballerina. And not even the fact that she seems to be a natural-born actress and her mother, Ivy Bethune, is an actress, too. No, sir, ballet is her life.

Zina Bethune is her real name. "Zina," says her mother, "is a name that came out of thin air. It's from the Greek, Zenobia, but there's no Greek in our Zina.

"I'm English and Irish and Scotch and Russian," Zina says, "and I have a great-great-grandmother who was a full-blooded Cherokee. A princess, I think. If I'd been a boy, I would have been either Douglas or Duncan."

She's known tragedy in her life. An older brother died, and her father died when she was eight. Now there's just her mother, sc they're very close. And, of course, the baked bean-eating cat, Corny.

So mother and daughter form a tight-knit little family. They obviously are good friends, as well as relatives, and get along fine, except for the usual problems of all mothers and daughters.

"Bedtime," says Ivy Bethune, "is always a fight. She goes to bed at 10:30, but it should be 10."

"It should be 11," muttered Zina.

★ ★ ★

She has a full day, even when she's not in a show like "Little Women." There's school — she goes to Lodge, a professional chil dren's school. And, each day, there are a couple of hours of ballet lessons. And there are friends.

★ ★ ★

"Sometimes my friends make me so mad," says Zina. "I mean my friends who aren't in show business. They never do anything except watch TV.

"I can get into the ballet free and, last Sunday, there were four ballets I wanted to see. But I went to visit my friends instead. And we didn't do anything, not a thing. From now on, I'm going to find out first if they're going to do something before I go."

What does she mean by "doing something?"

She smiled. "I like it when they have the boys over, too."

★ ★ ★

Zina is not an avid reader, and admits that she's tried to read "Little Women," but has only managed to get about halfway through. But she likes the TV version, even though she's downhearted because she thinks she was off-key when they made the record of the music.

She's no singer, but she is a fine actress. And she's also a good critic of acting, according to her young-looking mother.

"I think the discipline will be good for her," she says. "Otherwise, a girl who's beautiful and charming can just sail through life, without ever having to work very hard. This way she'll have to take care of herself and go to bed early."

Zina didn't say a word, but you could see her lips forming the words — "It should be 11."

Helicopter Takes Out 4, Snow Slows Progress of Rescue Party

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) —A rescue party struggled today to reach three survivors in a wrecked U.S. plane after a helicopter had taken out four other survivors of an antarctic crash. Six airmen died in the crash.

A ground party in three tracked vehicles got within four miles of the downed C124 Globemaster at one point but had to turn back and detour around an impassable icefield. Snowstorms made going difficult, U.S. Air Force officials in Auckland said.

The three men reported by emergency radio they were huddled in the rail of the four-engine plane but were in good condition with sufficient food and medical supplies.

Two of the men flown out were injured, officials said. They were identified as Airman ¼. C. Joel Bailey of Belton, S.C., in a serious condition, and Capt. James T. Quattlebaum of Columbia, S.C., in fair condition.

The other two rescued men were not immediately identified.

Another Globemaster was reported waiting at Cape Hallet to fly the survivors to New Zealand.

Says Giants Are Fine but What About Kids?

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "They have a bigness thing out there in Hollywood now and it's wrong," Richard Widmark complained the other day. "They only want giants."

"What's a giant?" I asked.

WILSON

"It's when you're very hot at the box office. All the major casting's done by the accountants in New York. They look at the numbers. They gotta check everything with the numbers department and they say there are like 15 men that are giants depending how their last picture did.

"So the money guys get four giants and they put 'em in something on the widest screen possible and they call that a blockbuster. The four guys can be dead wrong for the parts, but the blockbuster will be a hell of a success with the accountants."

★ ★ ★

"You sound bitter," I said.

"Who me?" asked Widmark, in surprise.

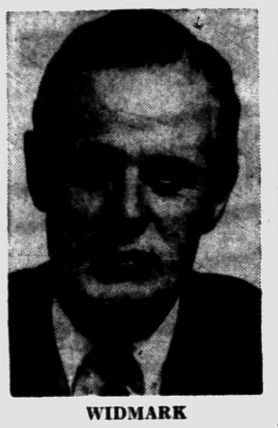

"I just feel it's a dangerous operation," he explained. "Sam Goldwyn said we should just make 20 blockbusters a year and that's all. Where are all the young people coming from if they're only going to use giants?"

"I guess Frank Sinatra is a giant," I said, smiling at the idea of the slim singer being a giant.

WIDMARK

"That's because in Hollywood if you can act, fine, but it isn't important. It's a personality thing."

"Me? Well, according to the numbers department I've been doing all right, but if you slip just once, you're a midget."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Doesn't Liz Taylor have another boy friend? . . . Hey Hoosiers! Herb Shriner returns to TV Nov. 23 (for Ed Sullivan) . . . Diana Barrymore's got a singing protege, Jackie Paris; very good, too . . .

Eleanor Roosevelt moved back to the Park-Sheraton, and the chambermaids will give her a tea. . . Frank Sinatra's dtr. Nancy ("with the laughing face") is studying theater arts at UCLA . . . Returning Prince Rainier and Grace reportedly sent word: No interviews . . . Dana Andrews had his pockets picked 18 years ago, has worn trousers without hip pockets ever since.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The weather could be worse. Imagine if the government regulated it, instead of merely predicting it. . . . That's earl, brother.

TV Reviewer Finds 'Little Women' Dull

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — "Little Women" came to the home screen Thursday night via CBS-TV as a musical play by Wilson Lehr with songs by Richard Adler.

★ ★ ★

Nearly every girl has read Louisa May Alcott's story and nearly every boy has not. Certainly this boy has not read it. Possibly I am incapable of judging "Little Women" on television. Possibly it was one of those occasions when a gentleman should defer to a lady's opinion.

★ ★ ★

Being a so-called critic rather than a so-called gentleman, however, I can confess that I found it boring stuff — the most boring TV "special" of the season thus far.

★ ★ ★

Jeannie Carson as Jo was the single tart character in an otherwise saccharine cast. The other girls in the family projected near-caricatures of absurd female attitudes.

★ ★ ★

Adler's music was mediocre except when Miss Carson sang "Man of the Family." The location of this musical play must have been in East Lynne, Mass.

Take it away, girls.

Governor's Aide Unpretentious

Press Secretary Prefers to Do His Potent Work Behind the Scenes

LANSING (AP)—How much influence does Paul Weber, press secretary for Gov. Williams and potent behind-the-scenes worker, actually have on the governor's policies?

How powerful is Paul? How valuable

Weber was embarrassed today because the spotlight was thrown on him rather than his boss in an effort by a University of Michigan researcher to answer these questions.

Lawrence S. Hobart, writing for the bureau of Government of the Institute of Public Administration at U. of M., put out a study entitled "Governor's press secretary: A profile of Paul Weber."

General conclusions were that Weber, a former top newspaperman and a master of promoting good publicity for his boss, has a healthy hand in policy-making, has an instinctive knowledge of political trends and is the most valuable aide to Williams.

★ ★ ★

In the study, Weber is quoted as saying the press secretary "should not become a news source in his own right" but should serve as "a mediator or go-between for the press and the governor."

"I'm embarrassed," he admitted, when newsmen kidded him about it. "I wish it had come out after the election."

Weber did not claim any errors in the study, but said the writer had interviewed him for only a short time and then "apparently went around and talked to a lot of other people."

State capitol reporters agreed that the report was generally accurate in its conclusions.

Today's Boundary Disputes Concern Water

WASHINGTON — The high seas are open to all. But the world's most troublous "no trespassing" signs are those planted in water.

A perennial question — "How much of the ocean can a nation call its own?"—has puzzled jurists for years. The 3-mile limit is traditional. But any state is free to stake out a bigger claim and enforce it if possible. There is no international authority to say who's right.

★ ★ ★

NEW CLAIMS IN '58

The year 1958 has brought these developments:

Communist China has extended its territorial waters from 3 to 12 miles—a claim that not only affects Nationalist-held islands but air-sea traffic to the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong.

An 86-nation conference in Geneva ended in deadlock (as did the previous world conference in 1930) on the problem of changing the 3-mile limit and establishing fishing rights.

Other recent events bearing on coastal sovereignty: Indonesia claimed all waters in and around its 3,000 islands; Argentine warships depth-charged an unidentified submarine in coastal waters.

U. S. STANDS PAT

Numerous nations, notably the United States, the United Kingdom, western European powers, and Commonwealth countries, stand pat on the old limit of one league or 3 nautical miles. That limit was originally geared to defense, supposedly the distance a land-based cannon could shoot. The principle was set forth by the Dutch authority Bynkershoek in 1703 and is the only one on which there has been anything like common agreement.

Its proponents refuse to recognize other claims. The United States objects to a drastic change on several grounds, including economy. Patrolling a 12-mile width of territorial waters would cost the United States an additional $180,000,000 each year, not to mention the initial outlays for buoys, fog signals, channel markers and the like.

Moreover a 12-mile limit for all nations would reduce the high seas by 2,500,000 square miles—an area roughly the size of the United States.

More than 30 countries have asserted their sovereignty over zones ranging from 4 to 12 miles. Scandinavian powers have decreed a 4-mile zone for their irregular coastlines. Fifteen widely scattered nations claim 6 miles. The Soviet bloc, in particular, claims 12.

CLAIM 200 MILES

Panama, Nicaragua and South Korea claim as private property all waters covering their continental shelves. (The United States claims the right to exploit and explore the seabeds of its continental shelf, but doesn't outlaw anyone from the waters or air space above.)

Claims and unrecognized claims create confusion. In 1954 alleged trespassing off South America tossed this bizarre case into the laps of international jurists: Four whalers owned by an Argentine citizen of Greek origin and identity who resides in France, and whose ships flew the Panamanian flag, were manned by German crews and carried British insurance, were set upon by Peru in an action backed by Ecuador and Chile.

Ordinary Pencil Can Draw Line 35 Miles Long

NEW YORK (AP) — A plain old ordinary seven-inch pencil will draw a line 35 miles long before you run out of lead and begin scraping your knuckles.

The pencil industry turns out 1½ billion pencils a year, enough to draw a line 52½ billion miles long or two million times around the earth.

For instance:

There are 350 different kinds of pencils made in the United States in 19 different degrees of hardness. They come in 72 different shades of colors, including the ever-popular yellow.

They range in design from the large round ones for little children, who like to grasp them like a broom handle, to the precise hard lead jobs used by engineers and architects.

Pencils are scarce in many parts of the world but in the United States each of us uses an average of nine per year — and that includes those that are chewed and tapped on desks.

If there are that many pencils kicking around, why is it so many telephone conversations open with the words:
