ONE LAST SKYWATCH — That's what Herbert A. Sweet, of 5620 Opaline Rd., Waterford Township, is preparing to take New Year's Eve as the Pontiac Ground Observers Corps post puts in its last duty on "alert" status. Sweet is typical of the hard-working volunteers who have manned the post since its opening in 1953. Only a member since March of this year, the 69-year-old observer has already recorded 1,000 hours on duty.

Will Man Station During Tornado Season

Ground Observer Corps to End 'Alert' Status Jan. 1

The phone in the Pontiac Ground Observers Corps post will be ghostly silent this New Year's Day.

And it won't be because of that "morning after" feeling. Rather it will stem from an order of the Air Force taking all GOC posts across the nation off an "alert" status and placing them on a "ready reserve" status effective Jan. 1.

For the many volunteers who have taken their share of two-hour watches in the wooden huts atop the County Office Building, 1 Lafayette St., January first promises to be a very sad day.

"They're very much dissatisfied with the order," declared Arthur J. Heaton, supervisor of the post. "We feel that we should have the privilege of doing this little bit for our country."

The present staff of some 85 observers, teenagers and adults men and women, won't disband entirely. The Air Force order stipulates that training for emergency service should continue.

And another reason the Pontiac fraternity of sky-watchers won't be breaking up is those black funnel-shaped clouds which seem to plague this area starting around April.

"We will man the post as soon as the tornado season is upon us," said Heaton, of 78 Tregent St.

The Air Force handed down its decision because officials feel the increasing radar networks circling the United States make it unnecessary to maintain a 24-hour, seven days a week GOC watch.

LAST ALERT WATCH

So the 13 GOC posts in Oakland County will record their last "alert" watch at the stroke of midnight New Year's Eve.

A "will maintain training in order that they may be ready when and if the Air Force signals an alert."

The Pontiac post joined the sprawling group of GOC posts on March 16, 1953. "We started with a handful of 20 observers," Heaton recalled. "We thought we had spent a lot of time after recording 25 hours in our first week."

"Today we man the post seven days a week and average about 18 hours a day," Heaton said.

In showing their eagerness to help their country, Heaton said classes would be conducted on plane identification, "just to keep us brushed up."

500 VOLUNTEERS

Since its inception four years ago there have been a total of some 500 volunteers which have taken their tours of duty in the GOC.

Teamsters Try Dual Positions to Keep Power

Double Standard in Use of 5th Amendment Hit by Sen. Eastland

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Harold J. Gibbons, an international vice president of the Teamsters Union, said last night some Teamster officials are retaining important positions with the AFL-CIO by taking out memberships in other unions.

"I have no idea how many Teamsters have taken out dual positions and it has never been discussed within the Teamsters as being a policy," Gibbons said.

The Teamsters Union has been expelled from the AFL-CIO. Gibbons said William A. Lee, Teamsters international vice president from Chicago and president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, kept his AFL-CIO position by taking out membership in the Building Service Workers Union.

In Washington Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.) said today AFL-CIO leaders should be as tough on members and officers who plead the Fifth Amendment in investigations of communism as on those who refuse to testify about corruption.

In a statement released through his office, Eastland protested that what he termed a double standard in this regard, "tends to give an aura of respectability to those who use that means to avoid giving information on Red activity."

His remarks were in a statement accompanying the publication of testimony received last spring and summer at public hearings of the Internal Security subcommittee which he heads.

Eastland said the hearings showed that "several UAW (United Auto Workers Union) witnesses were defended by a local president for exercising the Fifth Amendment privilege, while another who testified freely about the Communist conspiracy against his country was spoken of disparagingly."

The reference was to an article the subcommittee attributed to Carl Stellato, president of UAW Local 600 in Detroit. The article, placed in evidence at the time as having been published in a booklet known as "Ford Facts," defended some members and officials of the local who had refused to testify about past Communist activities by fellow union members.

Thief Had Good Reason to Spurn Merchandise

Storks Make 17 Yule Deliveries at City Hospitals

Storks roosting atop the chimneys at two Pontiac hospitals joined with Santa yesterday to deliver 17 Christmas babies, but, for the first time, there were no yuletide arrivals at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

At St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, the first Christmas baby was born to Mr. and Mrs. Clare M. Gray of 3080 Mandrake St., Walled Lake.

A baby boy weighing 8 pounds, 6 ounces was delivered at 4:14 a.m. There was a total of 10 babies — 6 boys and 4 girls — born on Christmas Day.

At 4:45 a.m. at Pontiac General Hospital, a boy weighing 8 pounds 10 1/2 ounces was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lucian LaCasse, of 1095 Collier Rd., for the first born at the city hospital on Christmas. There was a total of seven babies, five boys and two girls, born that day.

Push for Peace on Red Terms

Russia's Plan Rejects NATO Proposal to Hold Ministers Parley

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians pressed their own ideas of a peace plan today while sharply attacking the Western proposal for a foreign ministers conference to take up disarmament.

Foreign diplomatic missions in Moscow were studying a seven-point plan approved by the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) last Saturday. The Soviet government gave all foreign delegations a copy of the proposals yesterday with the request that it be relayed to their governments and parliaments.

The plan largely paralleled letters written to all U.N. members by Soviet Premier Bulganin just before the Dec. 15-19 NATO summit conference in Paris.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, said today the Monday night television report on the NATO conference by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles was "a cold war sermon behind the mask of peace."

Commenting sarcastically on the report, Pravda expressed appreciation for the U.S. leaders' condemnation of war but added: "One seeks in vain for constructive realistic proposals to back up these words of peace."

Pravda dismissed the NATO proposal for a foreign ministers conference as an attempt to ram through a disarmament agreement on Western terms. It said these terms are unacceptable to the Soviet Union because they are in no way conducive to disarmament.

Calls for Leadership of Missile Program

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said today that if President Eisenhower fails to put the missile program on a crash basis, Congress likely will force him to do so.

Sparkman said that, as of now, "I just don't feel we have the organized effort necessary to put it (the missile program) over properly."

He told an interviewer that the situation demands a centralized, decisive voice to give orders. He said he was inclined to favor a civilian board or agency outside the military.

The senator, a member of the Joint Committee on Defense Production, said the proposed agency should be in charge of research and development of rockets to the stage where their commercial production is feasible.

Sparkman said that if the President doesn't streamline the missile organization, Congress undoubtedly will force him to do so by legislation. He said that at any rate, missiles and satellites likely will be one of the major issues of the second session of the 85th Congress, which convenes Jan. 7.

TO RESUME HEARING

The Senate preparedness subcommittee will resume hearings on the rocket program Jan. 6. Witnesses are expected to include Defense Secretary Neil McElroy and Deputy Defense Secretary Donald Quarles.

The two will be asked their reaction to proposals for reshuffling the Pentagon organization to eliminate duplication and inter-service rivalry in space-age weapons.

Believe Blaze Started From Her Cigarette; Husband Also Injured

A Farmington Township woman suffocated and her husband was burned in a fire which badly damaged the interior of the small frame home at 2126 Waldron road early yesterday.

Mrs. Nora Mullins, 57, was dead on arrival at William Beaumont Hospital. Her husband, Thomas, 58, was admitted with first degree burns and smoke inhalation. He was discharged today.

According to Farmington Township police, the fire apparently started around 1:30 a.m. when Mrs. Mullins smoked in bed.

Her body was found between the bed and a wall in the one-story house. Her husband was found by firemen unconscious on the floor just inside the front door.

Ike to Spend 6 Days at Gettysburg Farm

WASHINGTON (INS) — The White House announced today that President Eisenhower will drive to his Gettysburg farm tomorrow for about six days of rest along with work on his legislative messages to Congress, which opens Jan. 7.

News Secretary James C. Hagerty said Mrs. Eisenhower will accompany the President and that they probably will "stay through the first of the year."

The White House has worked out an arrangement to limit the number of cars which will accompany the President in his motorcade.

Hagerty and newsmen agreed to restrict the number of press and camera cars to four because of several minor mishaps and close calls in past motor caravans.

County Drivers Praised for Clean Holiday Record

Pontiac and Oakland County police officials paid tribute today to the safe driving holiday record of the county's motorists.

Although Michigan ranked third in the nation in traffic deaths over the Christmas holiday with 12, not a single fatality was recorded in Oakland County.

Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley said today that he attributed the excellent safety record to the fact that motorists are more conscious of their obligations.

"Through the educational efforts of newspapers and safety groups, our drivers are far more safety minded," Chief Straley said. He also pointed out that the Christmas traffic deaths climbed to the second highest total for a one-day yuletide holiday since World War II.

The final tabulation, including late reports of casualties caused by accidents that occurred between 6 p. m. Tuesday and midnight Wednesday, showed 215 traffic deaths, 27 in fires and 26 in the miscellaneous class for a total of 268.

The traffic toll more than doubled the toll for a nonholiday period of the same 30-hour duration, and exceeded the National Safety Council prediction of 180.

There have been two other one-day celebrations of the Christmas holiday since World War II. During one of them, 1947, the traffic toll was 179. During the other one, 1948, the toll was 233, a record for a one-day, 30-hour period.

"There must be a better way to celebrate Christmas on the highway than by piling up a death toll two and a half times as great as the toll for a nonholiday Wednesday at this time of the year," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council.

"We can only hope that the shock of this needless toll will bring about sober thinking that may hold the New Year toll to a new low."

An Associated Press survey made for comparative purposes on the nonholiday 30-hour period from Dec. 10 through Dec. 11 showed 84 traffic deaths, 15 in fires and 27 miscellaneous accidental deaths for an over-all total of 126.

This year's traffic toll compared to the record of 233 for a one-day Christmas holiday period, in 1948. The low mark in traffic fatalities for a one-day Christmas period since World War II was 179 in 1947.

Only about half a dozen states reported no traffic deaths. Ohio and New York led the states in fatalities.

Traffic accidents claimed at least nine lives in Michigan over the short Christmas holiday.

In addition two persons drowned when their car skidded on an icy road north of St. Helen and plunged into a water filled ditch, and one person suffered fatal burns.

Thomas J. Weaver, 73, and his wife, Emma, 77, of Standish, drowned Wednesday night when their car skidded and landed up.

19 Believed Dead As Searchers Give Up

Hints Human Error in Navy Crash

HONOLULU (INS) — Cmdr. Guy Howard, one of only four survivors of the mid-Pacific Navy radar plane crash in which 19 men were presumed killed Monday, said today that all four engines of the giant Super Constellation cut off suddenly at 1,500 feet.

Howard, in a bed at Tripler Army Hospital with severe injuries, was in command of the plane which crashed and exploded during a routine flight off Hawaii's main island of Oahu.

PERHAPS HUMAN ERROR

"It shouldn't have happened," Howard said, indicating that human error rather than mechanical failure was responsible for the crash. He declined to elaborate.

Howard, whose home is in Oakland, Calif., was interviewed before the Navy abandoned all hope of finding any additional survivors of the disaster.

Further search was canceled at sunset Christmas Day when search planes and Navy and Coast Guard surface craft were withdrawn from the area of the crash in waters about 25 miles off Oahu.

ALL HOPE ABANDONED

Rear Adm. Neil J. Dietrich, commander of the Hawaiian Sea Frontier, said action in canceling the search was not taken "until all hope of finding additional survivors was abandoned."

Although the crash site had been pinpointed the first day with the rescue of the four survivors and the recovery of some debris, the search was expanded to cover 3,100 square miles Tuesday and Christmas Day.

This was done on the off chance that some crewmen might have been able to release a raft from the plane and drift away.

NO RAFTS SEEN

Such a possibility was discounted.

Agreement Deals With Sale of Surplus Crops to Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON (INS) — Informed sources said today the U. S. will sign an agreement with Yugoslavia Friday for the sale of additional commodities to the Tito government.

The agreement is scheduled to be signed in Belgrade and will cover the sale of U. S. wheat and cotton from surplus stocks under Public Law 480.

The new agreement entails the sale of only 7.5 million dollars in surplus commodities but it was regarded in Washington as being politically significant in view of the recent request by Marshal Tito that the U. S. cease further heavy weapons military aid to Yugoslavia.

Washington informants said the arrangement to dispose of the additional amount of wheat and cotton from U. S. surplus stocks is supplemental to an agreement signed between the two countries in November 1956.

This agreement called for shipment of $8 million dollars worth of surplus agricultural commodities to Yugoslavia.

Informants said the supplemental agreement, to be signed Friday, provides that Yugoslavia will pay for the surplus products in Yugoslav currency which will be retained in Yugoslavia as part of U. S. counterpart funds.

Titled "World on Wheels," the 90-minute show will dramatically illustrate how the automobile has created a new way of life in transportation, industry and agriculture. The program appears on Channel 4 in this area.

Does the sun have much to do with our weather—other than heating the earth and bodies of water? Yes, it is generally agreed now, among the experts, that the sun affects our weather to a remarkable degree. Not all of the relationship is understood.

But it is known that the mere heating of the earth and bodies of water is but one of many influences the sun controls. The sun is thought to be the key to trends of weather on earth, a cycle of cold weather, or warm, which may cover decades or scores of years. The sun has low pressure, or storm, areas moving around its surface and these may partially control our weather.

Of course, the sun's heating power is the source of clouds, and moisture—as a result of clouds.

Scientists Convene in Indiana

Space Problems Studied

By DARRELL GARWOOD
Atomic Science Editor

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (INS)—Problems of space flight occupied the foreground today as 7,000 delegates converged on Indianapolis for the mammoth annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The consensus of leaders arriving early for the five-day conclave was that construction of space rockets, spurred by military activity, has moved far ahead of the solution of human factors in space travel.

Selection of "pilots" for the first satellite and inter-planetary vehicles, and the conditioning and care of pilots and passengers are to be discussed in full-blown symposiums on "Research Planning for Space Flight" tomorrow and on "Space Medicine" Sunday.

Nearly every other scientific and educational subject conceivable will at least be touched upon during discussions and the presentation of 1,200 papers. The program gets under way later today.

The association, holding its 124th annual meeting, is America's oldest and largest federation of scientific organizations.

Officials said the 1957 program, largely prepared since the Soviet Sputniks were launched, is the first to give prominent consideration to the conquest of space.

Related projects, such as the use of artificial moons to photograph the stars and transmission of photographs from satellites to earth, also will be discussed.

The assumption of many at this meeting is that the question of whether man can live in a condition of "weightlessness" outside the earth's influence is far from settled.

If the feat is accomplished, one scientist suggested, it may be in sealed cabins where nothing can be taken aboard and no waste can be disposed of until the return to earth.

The scientist also said, however, that the human problems in space travel probably would have been solved before now if the present amazing developments in rocket science had been foreseen.

Mom Crosses U.S. to Reclaim Daughter

HINGHAM, Mass. (INS) — A nearly penniless mother, who came to Massachusetts from California to reclaim her four-year-old daughter from her former husband, today vowed to continue with her quest until she has the little girl.

Mrs. Paula Sherman of Bakersfield, Calif., secured a kidnapping warrant in Hingham district court against her former husband, Elton N. Sherman of Hingham. She accused him of taking their daughter, Robin, while she was hospitalized in California with injuries suffered in an automobile accident. She had been awarded temporary custody of Robin when she obtained a divorce from Sherman last April.

Mrs. Sherman, who exhausted most of her savings in coming to Massachusetts from California, obtained a room in Boston. She declared:

"Robin is all I have in the world. I've got to find her. I'll not go back without her."

Police throughout New England were alerted to be on the lookout for Sherman's late model sedan, which bears California plates.

Mrs. Sherman came to Boston last week after learning her ex-husband had obtained a job as a salesman for a California electronics firm. In Boston, she obtained the aid of Suffolk County District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne, who helped her obtain from Probate Court Judge Edmund V. Keville a custody order similar to that which was awarded her in California.

Mrs. Sherman said she located her ex-husband's home in Hingham, went there and was denied admission. She said she saw Robin playing around a Christmas tree.

She left to get the police, but when she returned Sherman and Robin were gone. The rear door was open and unwashed dishes remained in the sink.

and then collect from the communities benefited.

Each community would be responsible at large for its share of cost, no matter how much of its territory actually was benefited by the drain.

PUBLIC NEED BASIS

Southfield and Troy challenged the constitutionality of this provision, but the Supreme Court ruled Tuesday in favor of it, on the basis of public need.

Another argument brought up during the trial may not have been settled by the ruling, Merritt pointed out. This was the contention that the law did not place a limit on the amount the county could assess each community for the drain.

Conceivably, it was pointed out, the county assessment could be so large that the 15-mill constitutional limitation on township taxation would be violated.

The ruling was obtained by Grosse Pointe Woods and Harper Woods in connection with the proposed Black Marsh Drain in those two cities.

Grosse Pointe Woods City Manager W. H. Lang said that "we are financing the Black Marsh drain under the same statute being used for the Twelve Town drain, since that statute had been challenged in Oakland County, we thought the best thing to do was to go to the Supreme Court ourselves before going ahead with the project."

Lang said that both cities will advertise for bids soon as a result of the ruling. "We are persuaded now that the statute is constitutional," he said.

The high court had refused to rule on the case last summer when it had been filed first in Wayne County Circuit Court.

It was estimated that another $20 million in proposed drainage projects in Macomb County and $10 million in Wayne have been facilitated by the ruling.

Heavy Decline in November for Furniture

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Blustery weather pounded areas in the East, Midwest and Far West today.

Strong winds lashed across the upper Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes region in the wake of one storm moving through the Lake areas. Another heading eastward through southern Canada triggered rain and sleet in Eastern areas.

A wet belt extended throughout the area and east of the low pressure system stretching from the Hudson Bay to the central Gulf Coast.

Light snow continued in northern sections of Minnesota and the Great Lakes region after a Christmas Day snowstorm in parts of Minnesota, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin. Falls ranged from 1 to more than 5 inches. Rain was extensive from the Texas-Louisiana coast to the central and eastern Great Lakes area.

Rain and freezing rain, creating hazardous conditions, pelted higher elevations of New York and Pennsylvania.

Roads in the northern half of Michigan's Lower Peninsula were generally slippery this morning.

The entire Upper Peninsula was slippery and snow-covered. The Lower Peninsula's slippery areas included roads north of a line from Bay City to Ludington. The rest of the state was generally clear.

New orders declined 7 per cent below those of October, leaving a cumulative shortage of 3 per cent for the first 11 months.

Royal Telecast Draws Praise

Queen's Yule Message is Delivered in 'Easy, Polished Manner'

LONDON (U) — Queen Elizabeth II, criticized by one of the lords of her realm last summer for what he called a "pain-in-the-neck" speaking style, won praise today for her first televised Christmas message.

"The Queen showed an easy, polished manner," said the British Press Assn. "She was quietly and responsibly, but motherly, too."

Lord Altrincham, who raised the original fuss on the Queen's speeches, was silent about yesterday's broadcast.

She spoke with extremely clear diction.

She twisted her hands once and at another point she hesitated slightly in order to swallow. She also shot several fond glances off-camera at her husband, Prince Philip, who was sitting nearby.

The government-owned British Broadcasting Corp. said it received a favorable reaction to the Queen's telecast—but not to the programs that followed.

A transmitter broke down right after the royal broadcast and several substitute shows had to be used. Just two minutes after Her Majesty flashed a final smile into the camera, viewers were reading an apology for the breakdown and listening to an ad Dixieland favorite, "South Rampart St. Parade."

by 10-foot observation post. Most of them are teenagers, some handicapped persons, others retired workers.

Heaton, who became supervisor Feb. 1, 1955, has the rank of "champ" for having recorded the most, 2,145, hours of any observer at the Pontiac post.

Each volunteer puts in an average of two hours a week. "Some have recorded as high as 30 to 40 hours a week," Heaton observed.

His observations also took him back to September of 1955 when a low-flying bomber roared over Pontiac and Oakland County. "Our observer spotted it," the supervisor said, "but only after it nearly scared him to death as it passed almost directly over the post."

More recently, last August to be exact, three young ladies "ducked out of the post" when they saw a tornado coming their way.

These and many more memories "of doing this little bit for our country" will be over, at least for the time being, as the new year is ushered in at 12:01 Jan. 1.

The motorist, Gene A. Rodden, 21, of 268 Anderson St., told police the boy walked into the side of his car.

AM Space Running Out

NEW YORK — Space is rapidly running out for new AM radio stations. At the end of July, 3,095 AM broadcast stations were on the air. A total of 3,250 has been authorized.

NEW OPTICAL STUDIO — The Nu-Vision Optical Studio, formerly located at 103 N. Saginaw St., has recently opened in these modern new offices at 109 N. Saginaw St. It will continue to be operated by Dr. Arnold A. Miles, optometrist, and Maynard Baker, dispensing optician. The studio is owned by Drs. Eli and Arthur Shapiro, both of Flint, who own similar studios there and in Saginaw and Bay City.

Afro-Asians Hit Western Policies

CAIRO (U) — Anti-Western slogans and banners opened today an African-Asian peoples' conference of some 400 delegates from about 40 countries and colonies.

A banner reading "Down with Eisenhower Doctrine" was carried by students who cheered the delegates and 2,800 guests.

Officially, the delegations do not represent governments. Russia and Red China sent large groups. Some of the predominantly leftist delegations are composed of exiles.

Col. Anwar Sadat, the bitterly anti-Western editor of President Nasser's leading newspaper, was named conference president. He told the cheering crowd that Egypt believes in "neutrality and nonalignment . . . and Afro-Asian nations share this point of view."

"Thus we can prevent the shadow of war," Sadat said.

The conference has been billed as a follow-up to the meeting in 1955 at Bandung, Indonesia, by official government delegations. The nonofficial nature of delegations in Cairo was expected by Western observers to give Communists considerably more leeway in pushing their propaganda objectives.

Among topics expected to be discussed are standard Soviet bids for bans of nuclear tests and opposition to imperialism.

In the gallery schoolgirls shouted "No bases, no pacts, no H-bombs."

Rejected Lover Held in Detroit Slaying

DETROIT (INS) — A 21-year-old man police described as a rejected lover was held for investigation of murder today in the slaying of Miss Louise Nickerson of 3609 24th St., Detroit.

Police said the rejected boyfriend, Nelson Edwards, was "too drunk to talk coherently" when arrested last night. Miss Nickerson, attached to the kite frames, was found in the basement of a beauty shop. She had been shot with a high-powered rifle.

Kite Flying Big Sport

Kite flying is the favorite sport on the Maldives Islands, says the National Geographic Magazine. In this British-protected sultanate of the Indian Ocean, men as well as boys delight in sailing the big toys in monsoon winds. Noisemakers attached to the kite frames roar like jets and whine like sawmills.

3 Hitchhiking Cadets Thumb Rides Odd Way

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — There's more than one way to use a thumb in hitchhiking.

Three little military cadets, ignored by automobiles on a main thoroughfare as evening approached, stationed themselves beside a pedestrian crossing. When an automobile approached, they pushed the button that puts on the red light for traffic.

One of the halted motorists re-lented and gave them a ride.

Pink Flamingo Primps

The handsome pink flamingo spends hours preening and primping. Its beauty calls to mind the feather boas and plumed hats of the late 19th century. Flamingos, however, were generally spared by the plume hunters because their color fades rapidly after death.

Christmas Thief Takes Old Man's Duck, Rabbit

COMPTON, Calif. (INS) — May be somebody was hungry on Christmas . . . that won't dry the tears of Harry Chris, 73-year-old retired carpenter whose pet duck and rabbit were stolen from the backyard of his Compton home. Chris told police tearfully that the thief entered his yard during the night and made off with his duck named Donald and his rabbit named Sniffy.

Milkmen More Sure of Footing, Less Quiet

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Milkmen here are a little more sure of their footing, and maybe a little less quiet, these days.

The city's major dairies have agreed to make their morning deliveries after sun-up.

They say they want their employees to lead more normal lives, light than shades with darker colors, and that modern refrigeration has all but eliminated the need for pre-dawn deliveries.

Keeping Up With Times

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. J. G. McDowell, 80, has bowed to the inevitable. She recently replaced the Model T Ford she had driven 28 years with a sport car.

Nationalist Chinese Say 3 Red Ships Sunk

TAIPEI (AP) — Nationalist Chinese warships sank three out of four Communist gunboats in a 30-minute engagement off the Red China coast today, navy headquarters claimed.

It said the action started off Tainkang Bay, 45 miles north of Quemoy. The headquarters said one Red gunboat succeeded in escaping.

Russia Follows Only One Line of Thought

Once a bum, always a bum. That seems to be Russia's avowed intent and governing philosophy. You might just as well add: "Once a Russian, always a Russian."

President Dwight D. Eisenhower left this country to attend the NATO meetings in Paris and the nations in general were in rather universal accord.

But the Reds balked. They shook it off.

★ ★ ★ This is typical of their attitude on practically every constructive move that has been made to improve the conditions of the world. Whatever is acceptable to mankind in general, finds a prompt repudiation from the Ruskie overlords who turn thumbs down on everything aimed at peace, harmony and good will.

★ ★ ★ Their own counterproposal was promptly slapped down by President Eisenhower. It was merely an international irritant and the Russians knew in advance what reception it would receive. They did it to draw a "no" from the balance of the world.

★ ★ ★ Every time there is a change in the top Russian management, the world in general has high hopes that there may be an improvement in the quality, character and caliber of men. Up to now, this has been pretty largely in vain. Practically the same type of antagonistic, belligerent warlords continue to occupy the seats of the mighty in the red kingdom.

★ ★ ★ As we observed originally, "once a bum, always a bum." This fits the Russians. That's their speed.

U.S.-Canada Trade May Decline in 1958

Some 60 Canadian businessmen and industrial leaders have spent a month in England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland on a trade mission.

Led by Canada's Minister of Trade and Commerce, Gordon Churchill, its goal is to make good a promise of Prime Minister Diefenbaker to switch 15 per cent of Canada's trade from the United States to Britain to counteract what some Canadians feel is an American stranglehold on their economy.

★ ★ ★ There is some truth to this. In 1956 nearly 60 per cent of Canadian exports, mostly raw materials, went to the United States while 73 per cent of Canada's imports came from this country. More than 90 per cent of Canadian oil and gas is U.S. controlled as is 70 per cent of its non-ferrous metals and 40 per cent of its pulp and paper output.

What Canada seeks is more rapid industrial development, to process its own raw materials and export finished goods. Here again it would be up against American tariffs and quotas.

thinks that a shift of 15 per cent of Canada's imports would not be enough to disturb U.S.-Canadian trade. It would help Britain's economy. Whether it will have the desired effect at this time when Canada's economy has slowed considerably, is a question.

The Montreal Star comments that "Canadians will not 'buy British' for sentimental reasons alone and commercial ties between Canada and United States."

It's absurd to say American scientists aren't making considerable progress. Several of them in California recently developed a breed of four-winged flies.

REFERRING to the need for considerable more money for defense, a U.S. senator says, "American people must learn to practice more thrift." If many of them were to practice any thrift at all, it would be more.

The Man About Town Christmas Trees New Agricultural Product in Favor in Pontiac Area

Tie: What holds a family together—in spite of some of the ties that Dad got for Christmas.

While less than one-tenth of the Christmas trees used in the Pontiac area this year were home grown, it will not be long until we'll be producing most of the trees we need—and have a good supply for the outside market. Christmas tree farming has become a substantial adjunct to local agriculture. Over 100,000 seedlings were planted in Oakland County during 1957, being about the average of other recent years.

Going about it in a businesslike way, Ben East combines Christmas tree growing as a hobby in connection with his literary work. He was one of the pioneers in planting the seedlings here, and now is reaping the benefits of his first plantings 12 to 15 years ago. His Rose Township project supplied a great many with beautiful trees this Christmas.

One of my old time weather watchers, Jerry Vanvalkenberg, from his observation post out Pontiac Trail, tells me that during the last half century we've had a white Christmas about 50 per cent of the time. His first records date back 50 years, when in 1907 we had a foot of snow on the ground for the holiday, and the landscape resounded with jingle bells attached to the horses that drew the sleighs.

For the first time in a long period, the Pontiac City Draft Board has no monthly quota, as it is not asked to send any men in January. The local out-county board has a quota of 11, the induction date being Jan. 30.

There's a distinct Pontiac angle in the current issue of

Look Magazine, a considerable portion of which is given over to General Motors Corporation in recognition of its golden anniversary.

Here's congratulations and best wishes to my old newspaper friends, James and Clifford Tagg, who have purchased the Alma Record-Journal, one of Michigan's leading weekly newspapers. It has been in the Babcock family many years, and is one of the few weeklies in our state with a circulation over 5,000. The Taggs sold the Farmington Enterprise a few months ago.

Coming to me under a Pontiac postmark, with the simple signature of "An Old Timer," was a Christmas greeting that has me puzzled. It was a copy of an extra of the Holly Herald, put out by me on Sept. 16, 1901, telling of the death of President William McKinley, who was shot ten days before, one day after I established the paper. Here's an urgent plea for its sender to identify himself.

Remember, the ice on none of the many lakes in the Pontiac area is safe. This was one of the few years in our history that we didn't have safe skating for Christmas.

David Lawrence Says:

West Should Protest on Indonesia

WASHINGTON—Organized brigandage in Indonesia—the theft of private property and an attempt to use the loot as blackmail against a foreign government—has hardly a parallel in international crime.

For several days now the news dispatches have told of the confiscation of the property of Dutch citizens who live in Indonesia—formerly the Dutch East Indies—but there has not been a single protest from the major powers of the world against what is probably the handiwork of the Communists.

Indonesia is the creature of the United States and her allies who helped the island empire to achieve independence from Dutch rule in 1949. The cry of "colonialism" has been raised, and the Department of State, under the Truman administration, did everything it could to bring about the separation of the Dutch from the island possessions where, during many hundred years, Holland's investors had aided in the development of such resources as rubber and petroleum.

Confiscation of the property of foreigners is nothing new in the world, but in international law the precedents require that adequate compensation be made to the lawful owners.

In this case not only has no such provision for payment been made, but the Indonesian government is threatening not to pay at all unless the Dutch investors bring pressure to bear on their own government to relinquish possession of another colony—Dutch New Guinea—thousands of miles away.

This is such a shocking example of gangsterism that it will cause many a "liberal" who has inveighed against "colonialism" in the last decade to wonder whether the sequel thereto is a government that merely does the bidding of a worse type of master—namely, the Communist imperialists.

Inside Indonesia, where the Communists have insidiously infiltrated and now openly manifest their control through so-called elections, there is a beginning of a virile resistance to the Reds. President Sukarno, who at this critical time is taking a leave of absence from the country presumably for health reasons, undoubtedly became so deeply involved with the local Communists that he decided it would be better to leave the situation to right itself during his absence. There is talk that he may never return.

Up to that time, they HAD lived on potatoes and such greens as they could grow on limited patches of good soil, milk and butter and cheese from their own cattle, sea birds' eggs and eggs from their own geese, fish and such wheat or other grain as occasional ships brought from England or Capetown.

But the idyl was over, it was sadly evident. A London—Capetown concern had just built a plant to can or freeze the crayfish ("rock-lobster") that abound in the waters around Tristan, for the South and North American trade.

"We'll be grateful for gifts of food, clothing, books, magazines, candles, matches," they had told the cruise people, "but, please, no toothbrushes, liver pills, aspirin, barbiturates, whisky or digestive tablets."

Up to that time, they HAD lived on potatoes and such greens as they could grow on limited patches of good soil, milk and butter and cheese from their own cattle, sea birds' eggs and eggs from their own geese, fish and such wheat or other grain as occasional ships brought from England or Capetown.

But the idyl was over, it was sadly evident. A London—Capetown concern had just built a plant to can or freeze the crayfish ("rock-lobster") that abound in the waters around Tristan, for the South and North American trade.

THE FISHERIES people had established a regular monthly ferry service between Capetown and Tristan—to fetch groceries for the company's store and pick up government acquiring such an important naval position in southeast Asia.

If Holland had not been occupied by the Nazis during World War II and her fleet had not been scuttled, she might today have been able to make a naval demonstration against Indonesia. But the government at The Hague can do little except to urge the democracies of the world to take a good look at the fruits of their anti-colonial policies. Certainly the 30,000,000 people of Indonesia are today much worse off than they were under Dutch rule.

The economic situation in Indonesia is very bad as a direct result of the friction inside the government and because of the seizure of Dutch property amounting to more than a billion dollars in value.

All the important trade and business activities and all the communications between the various islands in the Indonesian group have been carried on heretofore by Dutch citizens.

To uproot all this suddenly is to bring a crisis to the little nation that must cause the governments of the world, especially the United States, to wonder if a continuation of enlightened "colonialism," such as the Dutch furnished, would not have really been much better for the average inhabitant of this colonial area than red rule is today under a puppet government which obeys Moscow's agents.

In recent weeks the anti-Communist sentiment inside Indonesia has been rising, and it is important for the non-Communist countries not to become entangled in the internal situation there.

But certainly the time has come to champion the principle of simple honesty in international affairs as against the stealing of private property.

Dr. William Brady Says:

'Loneliest' Folk Healthy—Then Came Civilization

Ever since I learned about the place from the report of a visitor, I wished I could contrive somehow to visit Tristan da Cunha and see for myself whether the teeth of the Tristanites were really as fine and healthy and vital as visitors as good as visitors to the "loneliest isle" claimed.

Finally, in January 1935, I got my chance.

Crews of four oarsmen and steersman brought their home-built surf-boats two or three miles out to where our ship was anchored, to take us ashore.

We reached the narrow black (volcanic sand) beach dry enough—that is, everybody but me. They brought the boat up as close as they could. I jumped, and the treacherous, wet, black sand sent me sprawling. The next roller left me high and sopping.

I squeezed water out of my clothes, brushed off some of the sand and climbed up to the plateau 100 feet above the beach where the people live.

NO HEALTH PROBLEMS

I soon found that they DID have extraordinarily good health, the finest teeth I had ever seen and, up to that time, a natural, idyllic life.

"We'll be grateful for gifts of food, clothing, books, magazines, candles, matches," they had told the cruise people, "but, please, no toothbrushes, liver pills, aspirin, barbiturates, whisky or digestive tablets."

Up to that time, they HAD lived on potatoes and such greens as they could grow on limited patches of good soil, milk and butter and cheese from their own cattle, sea birds' eggs and eggs from their own geese, fish and such wheat or other grain as occasional ships brought from England or Capetown.

But the idyl was over, it was sadly evident. A London—Capetown concern had just built a plant to can or freeze the crayfish ("rock-lobster") that abound in the waters around Tristan, for the South and North American trade.

The children told us they could now get candy at the company store. One woman, sitting in front of her thatched-roof stone house, tossed her head with a sneer as she informed us she could buy white flour, white sugar, etc., and the company was installing electric lighting in the village houses.

I returned to the ship a sick man. Well, hadn't I arrived on the island sopping wet and gone all day without changing?

"Is that true? And, if so, why?"

It is true that men are more independent than women. And this carries over to fashions.

It is thus more difficult to coerce DR. CRANE the American males into a radical change in wearing apparel. But it isn't impossible.

For men, as well as women, are inclined to follow what the fashion creators dictate. But men are simply slower in doing so.

Girls have learned to acquiesce in childhood to their brothers on many things because the female is smaller than the male and thus hasn't the physical strength to be as independent.

Proposes Special Schools for Advanced Children

Since Sputnik appeared, many articles have appeared about our educational system being inadequate in producing enough scientists and that our children are poor readers.

Why not help those who can read at an early age rather than holding them back with normal or retarded children?

We have special schools for retarded children, but why not ones for the more advanced children? Let our school board start to do something in this direction and soon, so we can stay in front of any nation.

Need Laws for Flirts

When passing laws why not pass one against home wrecking and ruining lives of innocent children.

When a family breaks up, the husband pays a little alimony as if that would mend the broken lives of the children.

Women say they work to make a living, but most of them work so they can flirt with other men, but with a law against flirting and home wrecking there would be fewer divorces.

When I read "jails were not meant to be luxury hotels," I could laugh. I do think criminals should be punished, but the way the police treat prisoners is a crime too.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Who's More a Slave to Fashion?

Sarah and her husband have argued about modern fashions. Do you think men or women are more slavish in following the latest styles in clothing or hats? Ladies, if your men folks get too conceited, ask them why they wear those three or four little buttons on the cuff of each coat sleeve!

Girls thus make better students than do boys, for they do not argue with their professor but more meekly accept his utterances. Because of their weaker physical strength, the female sex tends to become more skillful in the realm of psychology.

Thus, mothers are usually better psychologists than are fathers and are far more likely to receive the confidence of the children.

If a youngster breaks a window, he is more inclined to confess to his mother and let her help decide how and when to reveal the news to daddy.

COAT SLEEVE BUTTONS
Men, however, still defer to a lot of outmoded fashions, such as the three or four buttons on the cuffs of their coat sleeves.

Those buttons have no practical value. They are just an extra expense. But men's coats still retain those extra, ornamental buttons. Why?

Well, when Frederick of Prussia decided it was smart to dress his soldiers alike, he ordered the tailors to equip them with uniforms.

Frederick was a frugal soul who winced at the cost. And he almost had a stroke of apoplexy when he attended the first dress parade.

For his uncouth soldiers had used the sleeves of their new coats in lieu of napkins and handkerchiefs. They had thus wiped their

German Pastors Ordered to Stay

Lutheran Church Tells Clergymen Not to Flee From Red Pressure

BERLIN (U)—The Evangelical Lutheran Church has ordered pastors in East Germany to stand fast before a Communist terror campaign aimed at forcing a mass flight of clergymen.

Responsible church sources disclosed that about 150 Evangelical pastors have asked for reassignment out of the satellite nation because of what they regard as unbearable Communist pressure.

The church has sternly told its men to stick it out and warned of disciplinary action against those who leave without permission. There are some 5,500 Evangelical pastors in East Germany, and the church claims 15 million of the East zone's 18 million people as members.

Over the last five months about 30 clergymen have fled East Germany under Red prodding and without the authority of their superiors, church sources said. In some cases clergymen were packed by Communists into cars, driven into West Berlin or West Germany and told to get out.

Bishop Otto Dibelius, head of the church in both East and West Germany, was reported seriously concerned over the danger of a big-scale exodus. The bishop feels the church is battling for survival and his men must remain on the firing line.

Plan Dwelling for Golden Age Before Retiring

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS)—Don't wait until you're 64 to plan where you will live when you retire.

That's the advice of Portland architect Walter Gordon, who favors a home that will combine a minimum of fuss and upkeep and a maximum of pleasure.

"No matter how hale and hearty you are at 64, you must be honest and take into consideration a life of less activity," he says.

Gordon suggests a level lot with a one-story home to avoid stair climbing. Compactness and storage walls are other design features important to the retired person. Bookcases should be built into living room walls.

Choose materials with care, he cautions and recommends wood paneling with clear varnish or lacquer for walls.

Because older people need higher temperatures, Gordon emphasizes installation of a heating system that is adequate, easy to maintain and adjust.

His basic house plan includes two bedrooms and baths so there will be room for visiting children and grandchildren. The second bath can be small and possibly adjoin the kitchen or utility room.

"And one last item," he says, "do have a good amount of window space to let in light and air and to bring outdoors inside during these months when you can't get out to enjoy it."

Political informants voiced belief Ben-Gurion may resign and form a new government without the leftist Achduth Avodah (Labor Unity) party, which has two ministers in the current five-party regime.

Ben-Gurion's followers accused the Labor party ministers last week of leaking a Cabinet-approved plan to send a two-man mission to West Germany to discuss border guarantees. Ben-Gurion shelved the plan, asserting the publicity had negated its value.

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (U)—It was clear and dry, certainly not a good day for ducks. But that's what was holding up traffic when patrolmen Clarence Bailey and Lloyd Brewer arrived—a duck.

Experts Design Rocket Ship to Carry Man Into Heavens

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Now that science has its foot in the doorway to space, it's time to start thinking about how to furnish your first family rocket ship so you can meet the rigid demands of interplanetary travel.

The months or even years that it will take to complete tours through the mysterious environment of outer space will require you to stay in top notch physical and mental shape at all times.

DESIGN FOR SAFETY

That's why some of the best brains of modern science are trying to design interplanetary travel accommodations to combine the most elaborate safety devices imaginable with all the comforts of home.

Dr. Eugene R. Konecni, one of the top outer space research specialists for Douglas Aircraft Co., points to future development of a special sealed flight cabin as essential to man's conquest of the stars. The cabin would offset the dangerous environmental conditions of outer space by permanently storing the atmosphere of the earth.

"In the near future sealed cabin research and development should reduce if not solve the majority of high altitude problems," Dr. Konecni explains. "Sealed cabins would afford pilots and crews safety, comfort and freedom of movement without the encumbrance of a pressure suit."

What it will take to provide ideal living conditions within the sealed cabin was revealed by the Douglas Aircraft scientist at a recent meeting of the American Rocket Society.

First of all there's the problem of keeping clean. Dr. Konecni explains that a shower will become a necessity rather than a luxury. Also, you'll need a laundry for a fresh set of clothes every two days. And your clothes will have to be light weight and fast drying.

Since supermarkets probably won't be built on other planets for years after the first space flight, you'll need to stock up on plenty of dried, frozen or sealed package food. Some of it might even be in pill form.

TAKE IT EASY

If you're the nervous type who has to pace the floor, you'll just have to learn to sit back and take it easy. The lack of gravity will probably cause you to spend a lot of time strapped to a chair fastened to guide rails.

This will enable you to scoot around the floor of the rocket ship without fear of suddenly banging your head on the ceiling. Flash lights, important hand tools and pencils will have to be magnetized so they will be readily available.

Actually, a trip to Mars is likely to be more relaxing than a luxurious Caribbean cruise. A slight case of the jitters when flying thousands of miles into outer space could lead to disaster. Thus, supreme comfort becomes an absolute necessity.

The ship's interior should be well lighted. And its decor should be as aesthetically pleasing as the inside of a ritzy penthouse apartment.

Automatic controls will eliminate the danger of driver fatigue. All you should have to do is occasionally check a highly simplified control panel to make sure everything is running right.

And if you should collide with a meteor, just remain calm. You stand a better chance of surviving than if you were involved in an auto crash.

Dr. Konecni explains that the hull of the cabin could be made out of two layers of pressure resistant material. A self-sealing substance sandwiched in between would automatically repair any dangerous holes caused by a meteor collision. And just in case this didn't work, passengers could still jump into emergency pressurized space suits.

But no matter how many elaborate safety devices are invented, manned space flight will still be impossible until some method is developed to continually supply passengers with good, clean air.

Scientists are trying to develop systems of burning up dangerous carbon dioxide and turning some of it into life giving oxygen.

One uses algae to adapt the principles of photosynthesis into a special air producing device.

Spellman Donates $15,000 to Koreans

SEOUL, 26 — Francis Cardinal Spellman gave $15,000 to Korean charities today. The money had been collected at churches in his New York diocese and from other Roman Catholic groups.

After spending his sixth Christmas with U.S. troops in Korea, Cardinal Spellman visited for 40 minutes with President Syngman Rhee before flying back to Tokyo. He gave to Rhee $10,000 for rehabilitation of blind Korean war veterans and later gave $5,000 to the Maryknoll Sisters Clinic in Pusan for a new hospital ward. The clinic has been giving free medical care to destitute Koreans for six years.

Japan Will Get U.S. Missiles

Defense Council OKs Decision to Purchase Non-Nuclear Weapons

TOKYO (INS)—Japan's National Defense Council approved plans Wednesday for the purchase of ten sidewinder air-to-air guided missiles from the United States.

The council, meeting at Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's official residence, heard reports from defense agency officials on the progress of negotiations with U. S. authorities for Japanese acquisition of the non-nuclear missiles.

Delivery of the sidewinders to Japan is expected to begin next April.

In the Diet (parliament) last Monday, Kishi defended his government's decision to accept the missiles against Socialist charges that this would be a "first step" toward introducing nuclear weapons into Japan.

The premier insisted it would be a "purely defensive move" and reiterated his government's pledge not to permit the bringing of nuclear war implements into Japan.

Sputniks Forcing Missile Speedup

By C. YATES McDANIEL

WASHINGTON —The year of the Sputnik pushed America's defenders to speed up their own pioneering ventures into the new realm of outer space.

Spurred by Russia's achievements with rockets and satellites, the United States in the waning weeks of 1957 declared its readiness to meet the new challenge by:

1. Producing two kinds of 1,500-mile ballistic missiles, the Jupiter and the Thor, capable of hurling nuclear warheads from Western Europe into the heart of the U.S.S.R.

2. Building a multi-million dollar base near Cheyenne, Wyo., to launch intercontinental ballistic weapons still under development.

3. Starting work on the first submarine designed specifically to carry and launch the Navy's Polaris ballistic missile.

4. Setting up a new, unified agency at the Pentagon to speed development of fantastic weapons of the future, including anti-ballistic missiles and manned space platforms.

The faster American defense leaders probed the secrets of space warfare the more rapidly they became convinced that missiles and economy won't mix. The rigid spending limit, imposed on the military in the months before Sputnik I, was the first money barrier to give way, and the year ended with the administration resigning to asking Congress for an additional two billion dollars to finance the armed forces for the 12 months starting next July 1.

COSTLY ACCENT

The new and costly accent on missiles also sent Pentagon planners scurrying for new ways to save money even beyond the economy measures decreed by former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

The new secretary, former soap manufacturer Neil McElroy, gave the nod to the missile speedup program. To date, he has done nothing to halt the cut-back in manpower and conventional weapons ordered by Wilson.

The year 1957 ended with the military slashing 200,000 men from their rolls. By June, the total uniformed strength will drop to 2,600,000, the lowest since the eve of the Korean War.

Although the Air Force has been given the major job of perfecting, building and operating intermediate and intercontinental missiles, its first reaction to the Soviet satellite and rocket achievements was to demand and get greater readiness for its 1,800-plane Strategic Air Command. Part of this huge previously enjoyed by the Navy in this field.

McElroy then ended the long and often bitter controversy between the Army and the Air Force over the relative merits of their Jupiter and Thor intermediate ballistic missiles by ordering both weapons into production.

Sensing an even greater inter-service feud over development and control of a missile capable of destroying ballistic weapons, the new Pentagon boss announced a new agency, with greater authority than heretofore given any in the armed forces, to take over the whole job of research, development and perfection of an anti-missile missile.

This new office, under a single manager, will absorb men, money and scientific talent now jealously apportioned among the separate services.

The new agency will not be limited to handling one missile. It will have complete authority over all new ideas, developments and weapons in the unlimited realm of warfare in outer space.

Army Reviews Former Records

Undesirable Discharges as Security Risks Get Reconsideration

NEW YORK —The Army is reviewing the cases of every soldier discharged as a security risk between 1948 and 1955, the New York Times said today.

When the earlier findings now appear too harsh, the nature of the man's discharge has been upgraded or the security label removed, according to a Washington dispatch to the paper.

The Times story also said: Changes have been made in all most half the cases reviewed so far and many former soldiers receiving undesirable discharges are not eligible.

The Army undertook the program voluntarily. The men affected generally know nothing of the review unless the service decides to improve their type of discharge.

In this event, the former soldier receives a letter from the adjutant general of the Army enclosing the improved discharge paper and asking him to throw the old one away. The letter also says the Army finance center will send him back pay due.

The military services have four general types of discharge: honorable; general under honorable conditions; less than honorable or under "other than" honorable conditions; and dishonorable.

The cases are being reconsidered in the light of less restrictive security standards laid down in two directives late in 1955. The first, issued Oct. 17, was an order from Secretary of the Army Brucker requiring a "common sense" judgment on the significance of subversive associations.

The second, on Nov. 16, required consideration of the quality of the man's military service in deciding the type of discharge in security cases. Previously, the regulations made less than honorable discharges automatic in some cases no matter how good a man's service record was.

Folly's Splurge: Put on the Dog for Christmas

LIVINGSTON, N.J. — Christmas was a dog day for the Edsel Hughes family, thanks to Folly.

Folly, their Norwegian elkhound gave them a Christmas present of 11 puppies.

Folly gave birth to her first pup at 10 p.m. Christmas Eve and the last one at 10 a.m. Christmas Day.

Hughes, an insurance salesman, gave most of the credit to his 9-year-old daughter, Mandy, for pulling Folly through the ordeal.

Said Hughes: "She was right there with the hot stones, sterilized bottles and warm blankets and pretty well had the situation under control all by herself."

Firestone Plant Hit by Blaze

Square Block of Tires Goes Up in Smoke, but Firemen Control It

LOS ANGELES —Fire starting in a shed spread to two huge piles of used tires covering a square block at the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. plant today.

Firemen of Los Angeles County and the city of South Gate quickly surrounded and contained the fire.

The only building involved at the big plant was the pigment shed, which was destroyed.

As the mountains of old tires caught fire, great clouds of black smoke went up, along with spark showers and fall-out of soot. It was estimated there were at least 100,000 used tires in each pile.

Firemen said the blaze evidently started with an explosion, from an undetermined cause, in the pigment shed.

A company spokesman said damage might run between $500,000 and a million dollars.

Indonesian Chief Sukarno Will Visit Nehru in India

NEW DELHI (AP)—President Sukarno of Indonesia will arrive here Jan. 7 for a four- or five-day private visit at the invitation of Prime Minister Nehru, Foreign Ministry sources said today.

Indonesian Embassy sources said Sukarno will go on to Cairo from India.

In a dispatch from Jakarta, capital of Indonesia, the Times of India said Sukarno will also visit Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma, Thailand and Japan during a six-week tour.

The newspaper said Sukarno might meet Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain, who is scheduled to visit New Delhi for five days beginning Jan. 8. Foreign Ministry sources said a meeting is likely but no plans have been made for talks between them.

Such a meeting would be part of "Anglo-American conciliatory moves to bring a resumption of Dutch-Indonesian talks on West Irian (West New Guinea) under appropriate international auspices," the paper said.

An announcement in Jakarta Dec. 13 said Sukarno would leave the country soon for what was officially termed a rest cure. The announcement came at the height of confusion over Indonesian efforts to oust Dutch citizens from the island republic because the Netherlands refused to give Indonesia the colony of West New Guinea. Sukarno denied that he was being forced out of power.

R. M. Sartono, speaker of Parliament, was sworn in Dec. 20 as acting Indonesian president.

Reports Rise in Death Rate

9.6 Per 1,000 People Is 2 Increase Over 1956 Average

NEW YORK (AP)—Statistics compiled by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. revealed today that the national death rate rose slightly in 1957.

The death rate was estimated at 9.6 per 1,000 population. The rate in 1956 was 9.4 per 1,000.

The insurance company said the death rate rise reflects largely the widespread outbreak of Asian flu over the past six months.

National Health Survey reports that since September, about half the population has been laid up for at least one day by acute upper respiratory diseases, including Asian flu. Although the rate of fatalities directly from these diseases has been low, the survey said, the death rate from influenza and pneumonia increased in 1957 to 34 per 100,000.

This is the highest rate in the past decade.

Thief With Sweet Tooth

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP)—Calling all cars. Look for a thief with a sweet tooth. Truck Driver Paul K. Morris of the 20th Century Canteen Co. of Boston told police that while his truck was parked on this city's main street someone stole a tray of pastries and a tray of doughnuts.

Their Name Fits Town

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP)—A family of five who recently moved here from Long Island, N.Y., told the Chamber of Commerce they think Bellefontaine is the "dream" place to live. They may be slightly prejudiced, though. Their last name is Bellefontaine.

'Take Drivers' Licenses to Curb Juvenile Crime'

DETROIT (INS)—A new plan to curb juvenile crime has been forwarded by Probate Court Judge Nathan J. Kaufman who says: "Threaten to lift their drivers' licenses and juvenile crime will be reduced."

Kaufman said Michigan judges are awaiting an opinion from the attorney general's office on the plan to "deputize" all judges so they can take away licenses without putting a youngster on probation or detaining him in any way.

Another plan is to revoke the licenses of minors who steal cars.

Churches Given Aid

Red Daily Worker Seems Doomed to Die Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP)—The Daily Worker, for 34 years the best-known voice of communism in the United States, appears destined to go out of existence next week.

The National Executive Committee of the Communist party reportedly voted in a secret meeting last weekend to discontinue the paper as of next Tuesday. This move would leave only the Sunday paper, The Worker, as the party newspaper in New York and the Eastern area.

Gates said in a formal statement that "in any case, the Daily Worker will cease to exist only when it alone says so." Gates is a National Executive Committee member.

The party leaders at the secret meeting also reportedly refused to endorse the 12-nation International Communist party declaration issued in Moscow last month. This hailed the Soviet Union as leader of the Communist world and called for modification of this belief the principal danger Communists must fight.

The decision reportedly reversed a previous 4-3 vote by the party's National Administrative Committee to endorse the declaration. A continuing drop in circulation have kept the Daily Worker pleading for funds from supporters for years. Last weekend's vote reportedly posed to having the paper follow a strict Moscow line.

In October, the paper reported its average paid circulation in the preceding 12 months was 5,374. A year before, an official statement put it at 7,300.

Gates said at the time that the Daily Worker's peak circulation was in 1953, when it hit around 20,000. The Sunday Worker, he said, once had a circulation of 20,000, but was down to about 12,000 by October this year.

John Kline, former Notre Dame baseball coach, hit three home runs for the Irish in 1956 in a 3-4-4 victory over Michigan.

Sunday Collection Goes Up in Smoke

CRAB ORCHARD, Ky. (AP)—When the Baptist Church congregation contributed a sizable collection, church treasurer Frank Burch took it home and hid the donations in a wastebasket for safekeeping overnight.

The next morning, unfortunately, he carried the basket out and dumped its contents into a trash fire. Burch suddenly remembered the checks and jumped into the fire, scattering it right and left.

But Celebrations Continue in Some Parts of World

Christians Go Back to Daily Routine After Pleasure, Prayer of Christmas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most of the world's Christians returned today to their daily routines, refreshed by the double joys of Christmas, religious observances and holiday festivities. Some people were still enjoying festivities. The day after Christmas is a holiday in Britain and in a few other nations—including non-Christian Japan—Christmas holidays merge into New Year's celebrations for many.

For Americans the holiday usually meant the traditional family day at home. But U.S. troops still stood guard at lonely outposts and in some places new refugees were added to the world's homeless.

Seven hundred Dutch refugees from Indonesia spent Christmas in transit camps at Singapore while waiting passage to the Netherlands—the home many have never seen. For the Dutch children it was a particularly dreary Christmas as a measles outbreak threatened in one camp.

At the International Geophysical

Year station at the South Pole, U.S. Navy men and scientists opened their presents around a synthetic Christmas tree—their puppy ate the real evergreen that had been flown in from New Zealand.

In the Holy Land about 5,000 pilgrims visited Bethlehem for a re-enactment of the story of Jesus' birth. This was perhaps 10 times the number that crossed the frontiers last year when the Suez war was still a fresh memory.

A few miles away in Gaza, the U.N. Emergency Force marked Christmas in ways that typified the varied celebrations of the world's billion-plus Christians. Hindu soldiers from India took on extra patrol duties so their Christian comrades in the army that considers itself the world's first international peace force could feast on their native dishes and sing carols in many tongues.

U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld celebrated with troops from his native Sweden.

In Korea, Francis Cardinal Spellman celebrated Mass twice with American troops serving in an older U.N. army. Seventeen thousand troops also cheered performances by Bob Hope and Jayne Mansfield.

Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, president of the National Council of Churches, went by helicopter to Fire Island in Alaska's Cook Inlet and preached a Christmas service to servicemen there.

Leaders of the Western world marked Christmas Day with their people.

Queen Elizabeth II spoke to her subjects via radio and television from her country home in Sandringham. President Eisenhower spent the day with his family at the White House. Pope Pius XII blessed a cheering crowd of 50,000 in St. Peter's Square.

Research to Find If Arctic Is Livable

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Will the far northern areas of the world, uninhabited by man, provide a living area someday for part of the world's expanding population?

It may be 20 years—perhaps 50—before the full value of a study underway at the University of Wisconsin is realized. The project, known as "High Latitude Frontier Settlement," seeks to discover future development potentialities of northern areas, primarily above the Arctic Circle.

Prof. Kirk Stone is directing studies of the northern sections of Norway, Sweden, Finland and Alaska. He will lead three research teams in field work.

"We recognize that only a relatively small percentage of the world's population is apt to move to far northern lands," Stone said, "but these are of great strategic importance, and extremely significant to the entire free world in both war and peace."

Huh! Boxing Day Not Celebrated in U.S., Britons Ask

LONDON (INS)—One British custom which really should be exported to the United States is the ancient and glorious traditions of Boxing Day.

Boxing Day is the day you use to get over Christmas. It is a day to rest, to reflect, to digest, to pick up crumpled paper and bits of string, to wash dishes and to mail hasty Christmas cards to people who weren't on your list, but sent you cards.

It is the day after Christmas. The origin of the day and its name are obscure. Obviously it once had something to do with Christmas boxes, but no modern Englishman seems to know how it started.

When Christmas was strictly a holy day, Boxing Day may have been the occasion for the celebrations and the present-giving. In modern times, it is devoted to nursing hang-overs from the celebrations and adding up the bills from the present-giving.

Boxing Day is a public holiday observed throughout Britain. For many Britons, it is the signal for a yearly family get-together to compare Christmas presents and swap gossip.

It is the day on which in-laws are usually invited for a drink if they are the sort of in-laws who shouldn't be cluttering up the house on Christmas Day.

The British frequently assume that everybody observes Boxing Day and are astonished to learn that Americans don't. This, they consider, could happen only in a nation with no traditions or no hang-overs.

'Harry the Hoist' Papers His Wall

LONDON—"Harry the Hoist," a thief well known to London police, recently picked up a briefcase that was stuffed with bills.

They were too large to spend quickly, so Harry, a do-it-yourself man, put them away for a rainy day. He laid them behind a layer of paper on the wall of his bedroom and painted over it.

The paint, a nice salmon pink was dry before his old acquaintance, the police inspector, called. The inspector, also a do-it-yourself fan, admired the brightly papered wall, then asked:

"Why didn't you give it all two coats?" Now Harry is in a place where everything is done for him.

Man Fatally Stabbed; Wife Held by Police

Police are holding Mrs. Mae Louise Russell, 44, of 322 Hughes St., for investigation of murder in the fatal stabbing of her husband, Woodrow, 43, yesterday.

Russell was found unconscious in his car, parked in front of his home, by police officers. He was taken to Pontiac General Hospital where he died at 4:20 p.m.

Doctors said he had been stabbed in the region of the left shoulder and apparently had suffered a slashed artery in the shoulder area.

His wife was arrested at the hospital and a six-inch knife found at her home was taken as evidence. In a statement to the Prosecutor, Mrs. Russell said her husband had been drinking and started a quarrel. She said she stabbed him when he struck her several times.

Commies Vote to Kill Off Paper

Red Daily Worker Seems Doomed to Die Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP)—The Daily Worker, for 34 years the best-known voice of communism in the United States, appears destined to go out of existence next week.

The National Executive Committee of the Communist party reportedly voted in a secret meeting last weekend to discontinue the paper as of next Tuesday. This move would leave only the Sunday paper, The Worker, as the party newspaper in New York and the Eastern area.

But the paper's editor, John Gates, said he did not regard the vote as binding and would try to continue publishing indefinitely.

Gates said in a formal statement that "in any case, the Daily Worker will cease to exist only when it alone says so." Gates is a National Executive Committee member.

The party leaders at the secret meeting also reportedly refused to endorse the 13-nation international Communist party declaration issued in Moscow last month. This declaration called for the Communist world and called for the modification of this belief the principal danger Communists must fight.

The decision reportedly reversed a previous 4-3 vote by the party's National Administrative Committee to endorse the declaration.

A continuing drop in circulation have kept the Daily Worker pleading for funds from supporters for years.

Last weekend's vote reportedly posed to having the paper follow a strict Moscow line.

In October, the paper reported its average paid circulation in the preceding 12 months was 5,574. A year before, an official statement put it at 7,500.

Gates said at the time that the Daily Worker's peak circulation was in 1933, when it hit around 20,000. The Sunday Worker, he said, once had a circulation of 80,000, but was down to about 12,000 by October this year.

John Kline, former Notre Dame baseball coach, hit three home runs for the Irish in 1956 in a 14-0 victory over Michigan.

Sunday Collection Goes Up in Smoke

CRAN ORCHARD, Ky. (AP)—When the Baptist Church congregation contributed a sizeable collection, church treasurer Frank Burch took it home and hid the donations in a wastebasket for safekeeping overnight.

The next morning, unfortunately, he carried the basket out and dumped its contents into a trash fire. Burch suddenly remembered the checks and jumped into the fire, scattering it right and left.

But Celebrations Continue in Some Parts of World

Christians Go Back to Daily Routine After Pleasure, Prayer of Christmas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most of the world's Christians returned today to their daily routines, refreshed by the double joys of Christmas religious observances and holiday festivities. Some people were still enjoying festivities. The day after Christmas is a holiday in Britain and in a few other nations—including non-Christian Japan—Christmas holidays merge into New Year's celebrations for many.

For Americans the holiday usually meant the traditional family day at home. But U.S. troops still stood guard at lonely outposts and in some places new refugees were added to the world's homeless.

Seven hundred Dutch refugees from Indonesia spent Christmas in transit camps at Singapore while waiting passage to the Netherlands—the home many have never seen. For the Dutch children it was a particularly dreary Christmas as a measles outbreak threatened in one camp.

At the International Geophysical

Year station at the South Pole, U.S. Navy men and scientists opened their presents around a synthetic Christmas tree—their puppy ate the real evergreen that had been flown in from New Zealand.

In the Holy Land about 5,000 pilgrims visited Bethlehem for a re-enactment of the story of Jesus' birth. This was perhaps 10 times the number that crossed the frontiers last year when the Suez war was still a fresh memory.

A few miles away in Gaza, the U.N. Emergency Force marked Christmas in ways that typified the varied celebrations of the world's billion-plus Christians.

Hindu soldiers from India took on extra patrol duties so their Christian comrades in the army that considers itself the world's first international peace force could feast on their native dishes and sing carols in many tongues.

U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld celebrated with troops from his native Sweden.

In Korea, Francis Cardinal Spellman celebrated Mass twice with American troops serving in an older U.N. army. Seventeen thousand troops also cheered performances by Bob Hope and Jayne Mansfield.

Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, president of the National Council of Churches, went by helicopter to Fire Island in Alaska's Cook Inlet and preached a Christmas service to servicemen there.

Leaders of the Western world marked Christmas Day with their people.

Queen Elizabeth II spoke to her subjects via radio and television from her country home in Sandringham. President Eisenhower spent the day with his family at the White House. Pope Pius XII blessed a cheering crowd of 50,000 in St. Peter's Square.

Research to Find If Arctic Is Livable

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Will the far northern areas of the world, uninhabited by man, provide a living area someday for part of the world's expanding population?

It may be 20 years—perhaps 50—before the full value of a study underway at the University of Wisconsin is realized. The project, known as "High Latitude Frontier Settlement," seeks to discover future development potentialities of northern areas, primarily above the Arctic Circle.

Prof. Kirk Stone is directing studies of the northern sections of Norway, Sweden, Finland and Alaska. He will lead three research teams in field work.

"We recognize that only a relatively small percentage of the world's population is apt to move to far northern lands," Stone said, "but these are of great strategic importance, and extremely significant to the entire free world in both war and peace."

Huh! Boxing Day Not Celebrated in U.S., Britons Ask

LONDON (INS)—One British custom which really should be exported to the United States is the ancient and glorious traditions of Boxing Day.

Boxing Day is the day you use to get over Christmas. It is a day to rest, to reflect, to digest, to pick up crumpled paper and bits of string, to wash dishes and to mail hasty Christmas cards to people who weren't on your list, but sent you cards.

It is the day after Christmas. The origin of the day and its name are obscure. Obviously it once had something to do with Christmas boxes, but no modern Englishman seems to know how it started.

When Christmas was strictly a holy day, Boxing Day may have been the occasion for the celebrations and the present-giving. In modern times, it is devoted to merrily hanging over the celebrations and adding up the bills from the present-giving.

Boxing Day is a public holiday observed throughout Britain. For many Britons, it is the signal for a yearly family get-together to compare Christmas presents and swap gossip.

It is the day on which in-laws are usually invited for a drink if they are the sort of in-laws who shouldn't be cluttering up the house on Christmas Day.

The British frequently assume that everybody observes Boxing Day and are astonished to learn that Americans don't. This, they consider, could happen only in a nation with no traditions or no hang-overs.

'Harry the Hoist' Papers His Wall

LONDON—"Harry the Hoist," a thief well known to London police, recently picked up a briefcase that was stuffed with bills.

They were too large to spend quickly, so Harry, a do-it-yourself man, put them away for a rainy day. He laid them behind a layer of paper on the wall of his bedroom and painted over it.

The paint, a nice salmon pink, was dry before his old acquaintance, the police inspector, called. The inspector, also a do-it-yourself fan, admired the brightly papered wall, then asked:

"Why didn't you give it all two coats?" Now Harry is in a place where everything is done for him.

Man Fatally Stabbed; Wife Held by Police

Police are holding Mrs. Mae Louise Russell, 44, of 362 Hughes St., for investigation of murder in the fatal stabbing of her husband, Woodrow, 43, yesterday.

Russell was found unconscious in his car, parked in front of his home, by police officers. He was taken to Pontiac General Hospital where he died at 4:20 p.m.

Doctors said he had been stabbed in the region of the left shoulder and apparently had suffered a slashed artery in the shoulder area.

His wife was arrested at the hospital and a six-inch knife found at her home was taken as evidence. In a statement to the Prosecutor, Mrs. Russell said her husband had been drinking and started a quarrel. She said she stabbed him when he struck her several times.

Editors of Nation Vote Sputniks as Year's Top News Story

SPACE DOG — Laika sits placidly in compartment of Sputnik II, awaiting role as first space traveler. She died in space.

IN CONTROL — Nikita Khrushchev waves confidently from Red Square.

RACIAL SKIRMISH — U.S. Army paratrooper nudged along man who was hit in head when he tried to take rifle from trooper at Little Rock.

Little Rock Episode Second

By JOE WING
General Editor, AP Newsfeatures

Two metal moons lobbed into outer space by Russia made the biggest news of 1957.

Their breaking of the gravity barrier has been adjudged the year's outstanding event by the nation's top news editors in The Associated Press' annual poll.

The Russian achievement has had broad consequences. While the United States insisted it wasn't racing satellites, the launching quickly proved a propaganda victory for Russia. It was even likened here to a second Pearl Harbor.

Soon President Eisenhower assured America it was still ahead in over-all military strength, appointed a science coordinator, and gave priority to the whole missile program. As the realization sank home that the beep-beep from space symbolized vast technical developments in Russia, there was soul searching by Americans on their educational and military set-ups.

When Sputnik II stole a second march on the world, however, the Russians themselves were surprised because the Western man-on-the-street turned his attention largely to the doomed dog that traveled the silent skies to a lone-some death within the half-ton satellite.

A close second on the editors' list of biggest news events was the Little Rock story.

Although a large number of schools were desegregated in the South last fall in line with the Supreme Court decision, troubles in a few spots, and in Little Rock most of all, cornered national interest.

3. Khrushchev emerges at top in Kremlin.
4. Teamsters Union hearings.
5. Middle East crisis.
6. Hurricane Audrey.
7. Eisenhower's latest illness.
8. Asian flu.
9. Girard case.
10. Civil rights bill passed.

The charge: Zhukov was seeking personal power.

Two days Beck and James R. Hoffa of the 1,300,000-man Teamsters' Union started in the congressional hearings on rackets that placed fourth among the year's top news events.

In two days Beck, the union president, invoked the Fifth Amendment more than 200 times under questioning on assertions of irregularities, including one that he took more than $300,000 in teamster funds.

Under indictment for income tax evasion, he left the hearings resolved to seek reelection and vindication, but later bowed out.

His heir apparent, Hoffa, also called before the committee, suffered loss of memory at critical points. He admitted erring in associating with "bums and criminals," said he would clean up the union when he headed it.

His election came off as scheduled but a court order has kept him out of office.

As an aftermath, the Teamsters Union was expelled in December from the AFL-CIO organization.

Fifth among the big stories on the editors' list was the boiling Middle East that generated another major crisis when Russia ex-

The Asian flu. An epidemic that swept out of Hong Kong to envelope the Far East and then America was notable for its low death rate, its 12 million U.S. victims and the fact that a vaccine was developed and manufactured in a matter of months to help keep it under control. Still unanswered: whether it would return later in more virulent form.

The Girard case. A young Illinois soldier in Japan, William S. Girard, shot and killed a Japanese woman on a target range and became an international issue. America won good will by turning him over to a Japanese court which convicted him of manslaughter and gave him a suspended sentence.

Civil rights bill. The first civil rights bill passed by the U. S. Senate in 32 years, a comparatively mild measure, was enacted despite a one-man filibuster by Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, who dragged out the fight against the wishes of his Southern colleagues.

Other top stories, in the order the news editors placed them:

Audrey Devastating — Hurricane Audrey, most devastating since the northeastern storm of 1938, its tidal wave swamped the southeastern corner of Louisiana. Dead and missing numbered 339, property loss 40 million dollars.

The President's mild stroke. This story broke after some ballots were in the mail and most editors had to assess it while it developed. The story caused dioxins in the stock market, as was the case in previous presidential illnesses in 1936 and 1955, and smoked up once more the issue of establishing succession procedure for an ailing president in case of necessity.

INOCULATED — Woman winces as she receives Asian flu vaccine.

PRESERVING PEACE — United Nations Emergency Force troops symbolize Middle East tension.

UNDER ATTACK — Teamsters Union President Dave Beck strikes prayerful attitude during questioning at Senate rackets hearing.

Economists See Temporary Lag Ahead

'58 Dollars Harder to Get

By L. A. BROPHY
AP General Business Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of the experts say you won't have it as good in 1958. Others say you will. How economic forces will affect your life next year is somewhere in-between the two views.

This writer's opinion is:

Many people in the new year are going to find things a little tougher than they have been in the free-wheeling years of the postwar boom.

Why? Because the boom is tapering off. The signs are clear and unmistakable. Reduced to its simplest terms, demand for the products of American industry is catching up with supply; in many fields, it has caught up.

This does not mean there will be hard times for the majority of workers. It does mean that such things as unrestricted overtime — which helped to buy that television set or automatic dish washer — will not be as easy to come by. It means that industry, complaining about falling profit margins due to costs, is going to try and hold the line on wage increases.

There may be more labor turmoil, more strikes, more dislocation of industry due to labor-management squabbles. The end result, however, likely will be higher wage scales.

Government economists generally take the view that widely advertised business lag is not going to affect the average person to any great extent. It's the private economists who are not so optimistic.

A decline in spending by industry for new plant and equipment has already shown up. In other words, industry, which year-by-year has been spending huge sums to increase its facilities to make more things for you to buy, has decided the demand does not justify continuing such expenditures.

The general predictions from most quarters are that the economy will ease along, tending slightly downward until mid-year and then gather steam for a better finish for the year. There are forecasts that construction will help and that new housing will pick up.

What's the sum-up for 1958?

In brief: A partial return to more normal economic conditions with some people having to scramble a little harder for a dollar and the necessity for everyone to realize that no boom continues indefinitely and to shape their lives and hopes accordingly.

Admits Killing Wife's Escort

Chicago Man Held in Shooting at Party in Saginaw Home

SAGINAW (INS) — A Chicago man who admitted he shot and killed his wife's escort at a Christmas Eve party was held in Saginaw jail today for investigation of murder.

John N. Wright, 35, said he paid a surprise visit to his estranged wife, Ann, 37, who left him in February to live with her mother in Saginaw.

Wright was bearing gifts for his three children when he found a party in progress at his mother-in-law's home in Saginaw.

Witnesses reported that Wright and his wife's companion, Robert

D. Van Elsacker, 27, of suburban Carrollton, argued then shook hands. Wright refused to release his grip on Van Elsacker and Van Elsacker shoved him.

Police said Wright fell to the floor, drew a .38-caliber pistol and fired five shots.

Junior Editors Quiz on FARMING

QUESTION: Where was corn first grown?

ANSWER: When Christopher Columbus landed on Cuba in 1492, he found the natives growing a "sort of grain called maize." This is the first the white man had heard of the plant which now has hundreds of names, but which is known in the United States as corn. Today this "sort of grain" is one of the four most important crops in the world.

Later explorers in the New World found Indians growing it all the way from Canada to the southern tip of South America. There is still doubt as to which part of the New World first grew corn, but recent research points strongly to southern Mexico and Guatemala, in Central America.

The Indians of eastern North America showed early colonists how to grow corn. If they had not, historians say it would have taken much longer to settle America. Corn provided the settlers with food and a money crop to sell to the rest of the world.

FOR YOU TO DO: Here is an Indian of the American Southwest planting corn, which he has in a small basket. Paste the picture on cardboard, cut it out and color it. The Indian wears a bright sash and head band, a white shirt, and dark blue trousers. His basket is woven in bright colors. The pueblo, mesa and wide sky are all in light tints.

Rebelling Tribes Want Republic

Red China Troubled by Independence Move in Wild Province

TOKYO (U)—Red China is having trouble with agitation for an independent republic by nomad tribes in the wild province of Sinkiang.

Radio Peiping said today "reactionary minority racial elements" in northern Sinkiang are agitating for an independent East Turkistan republic.

Sinkiang is a rugged 700,000 square miles of desert and mountains touching the Soviet Union on the west and north. Chinese colonists make up only about 8 per cent of the estimated four million population.

About 80 per cent of the people are Turkic Uighurs and the northern part of the province has been organized under the Communists as the Uigur autonomous region. Kazakhs make up about 8 per cent of the population and Kirgiz and Mongols split the rest. The province is 75 per cent Moslem.

Radio Peiping quoted the local Communist boss, Sai Fu-tin, as saying "regional racialists" are opposing a change to a Socialist (Communist) society, want to overthrow the Communist government and are trying to expel the Chinese. Agitation has increased since last year, Sai reported.

The related people on both sides of the Soviet border have always regarded Chinese and Russians as foreign imperialists. After the Bolshevik Revolution in Russia, the Communists put down after several years of sporadic fighting a strong movement in Soviet Central Asia for a Turkistan republic.

Police Wanted to Examine Gift for His Wife

BOSTON (U)—Julio Gomes, 52, was hurrying home last night with a package under his arm. "What have you got there?" a policeman asked.

"A Christmas present for my wife," replied Gomes.

"Let's see," said the policeman as two detectives stood by.

Gomes refused to let the policemen see his secret present but they were insistent and the man surrendered the package.

Police said the "present" actually was $700 stolen from a restaurant.

Gomes was booked on a charge of suspicion of breaking and entering in the nighttime and larceny.

Check Routing of Plane... Note to Stowaways!

PARIS (INS)—Two Portuguese teenagers thought they were going to the United States when they stowed away on an American plane in the Azores.

The 19-year-olds would have found French a handier language than English at the end of the flight. The plane landed near Bourges in central France and the pair successfully got off without detection—only to find they had missed their destination by more than 3,000 miles.

Agency France Presse reported police picked up the youths today and identified them as Luis Humberto Pires and Valadão Lindo de Epires. A French court will decide what to do with them.

Souvenirs Tell About Official Life

Jobs Spotlighted
by Mrs. McKay

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON — Mrs. Douglas McKay hopes to preserve for her seven grandchildren and posterity the everyday happenings as well as the highlights of her experiences as wife of a former Cabinet member and state governor.

Back in the capital where her husband is now serving as chairman of the International Joint Commission, Mrs. McKay says she has begun to write her memoirs.

A LOSING BATTLE

McKay, four years governor of Oregon, resigned as secretary of the interior in 1956 to wage a losing battle with Democrat Wayne Morse for a seat in the U. S. Senate.

One gathers that the somewhat retiring, home-loving Mrs. McKay would just as soon have stayed in Salem in the big 10-room mansion she had been "freshening up" and settling back in after her husband's defeat.

"I'm 61 and I was beginning to realize I'd better enjoy my family," she told me.

"Our two daughters and their families live out there and I'd have given my eye teeth to stay. However, I'm glad Douglas had a definite recognition from the President in this appointment."

PLACE FOR MEMENTOS

In the interim between the 1956 election and their return to Washington last fall, the McKays had been busy redoing their home, giving special attention to finding a place for the hundreds of mementos of their public life — souvenirs, medals, plaques, autographed photographs — in their recreation room.

"I find I'm not involved in the same whirl now as when I was a Cabinet wife," Mrs. McKay said.

"I'm not sitting at a luncheon table every day or pouring tea, or sitting at a banquet table night after night as when Douglas was governor."

Besides starting on her memoirs, she says she now also finds time to work on her intricate and exquisitely designed needlepoint records — listing names, birthdates and other details of each grandchild — similar to the wedding records she says she made for her daughters.

OFFICIAL OBLIGATIONS

"I still have official social obligations," she said, "and I still keep up with my angel food cake-baking."

"I've averaged about one of these 12-egg, hand-beaten cakes a week, or between 50 and 60 a year for 34 years. I wish I had a dollar for every one I've made."

Paris Offers Art Training for the Kiddies

Children need not wait until they are grown up to paint great masterpieces in a garret. To encourage future Picasso at an early age, special art schools for children have sprung up in Paris, where youngsters may spend their time following in the footsteps of their creative elders.

Most of the courses are given on Thursday, which is the other day besides Sunday when the regular schools are closed. All of them are open to children of other nationalities as well as French children, so that visiting Americans also may have their offspring receive this indoctrination into culture.

Queen Again Scores as Woman of Year

By DOROTHY ROE
For the third time in a decade, Queen Elizabeth II is Woman of the Year in American headlines.

Women's editors of Associated Press newspapers throughout the country voted her the top woman news personality of the year in their annual poll, following the triumphant visit of Britain's royal couple to the United States and Canada, which produced enough news stories to fill a library.

TOPS IN '47, '53

Previously Elizabeth was voted Woman of the Year in 1947, when she married Philip Mountbatten, now Duke of Edinburgh, and again in the year of her coronation, 1953.

Other women voted outstanding in their fields for 1957 are as follows:
SPORTS: Althea Gibson, the 30-year-old tennis player from Harlem, who this year won practically every major championship in the world of international tennis. The lanky, smiling, dark-skinned Althea climaxed an 18-tournament winning streak by taking the women's singles championship at Wimbledon in July, after which she won the national women's singles title at Forest Hills in September.

LITERATURE: Grace Metalious, the New Hampshire

housewife whose first novel, "Peyton Place," became an unexpected runaway best-seller with present sales figures topping the three million mark. The sensational story of life in a New England village so shocked some academic circles that her husband, George Metalious, lost his job as principal of the Gilmanton, N.H., public schools, and is now teaching in Stowe, Mass. Mrs. Metalious is the mother of three children.

ENTERTAINMENT: Ingrid Bergman, winner of an Academy Award for her work in the motion picture version of "Anastasia." The Swedish-born actress, who gave up career and family for her controversial romance with Italian movie director Roberto Rossellini, made news also with her personal life this year, when her marriage to her "one true love" ended in a legal separation, with divorce in the offing. She is now in England, at work on a new movie.

BUSINESS: Lucille Ball, one-half of the fantastically successful husband-and-wife team of Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, who not only star in their own top-rated show, but also produce a number of other television attractions. The apparently light-headed "Lucy" of the TV screen turns out to have a very solid business head on her flippant shoulders, and at present probably is one of the richest women in Hollywood.

AN ANGEL VOICE

MUSIC: Maria Callas, the American operatic soprano with the "voice of an angel," who has zoomed to the top rank of stars since her debut at the Metropolitan last fall. Maria, now 34, was born in New York of Greek parents and says she was the ugly duckling of the family, fat, awkward and shy. She started studying music at the age of 8, went to Athens at 13 to study at the Royal Conservatory, made her operatic debut in Athens at 15 and became a top operatic star of Europe before her American debut.

EDUCATION: Mrs. L. C. Bates of Little Rock, Ark., who made headlines in September during the integration crisis in the schools of that city. She is president of the Arkansas Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and it was at her home that the nine Negro students stayed while federal troops guarded their right to attend the previously all-white high school.

POLITICS: Margaret Chase Smith, the Republican senator from Maine, still the country's only woman senator, and the first to be elected to that office on her own record, not as an appointee to fill a vacancy. Mrs. Smith was a congresswoman for eight years before being elected to the Senate in 1948.

PUBLIC SERVICE: Eleanor Roosevelt, widow of the late President, still writing a syndicated newspaper column and still making news wherever she goes. Her latest adventure was a 25-day tour of the Soviet Union.

MR. and MRS. MARVIN L. GROAT

Connie Redman Wears Gown of Brocaded Faille

Connie Jean Redman became the bride of Marvin L. Groat Saturday in a ceremony performed at First Baptist Church.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl who is going steady with an 18-year-old boy. He works part time and we see each other every night. He says he is low on funds so he can't take me anywhere, so we just park and neck every night.

I notice he has money to buy parts for his car and every dime he makes goes into that hot-rod of his. I care for him a lot and don't want to give him up. Please tell me how I can change him?

DEAR ABBY: Don't plan on changing him—what you need is a change of company. Kids who park and neck every night are asking for trouble. He says he "can't afford" to take you out? Tell him you "can't afford" his kind of entertainment.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a husband who is so jealous of a parakeet that he actually loses control of himself? Yesterday when I was teaching Dickie (the parakeet) to say, "Pretty Priscilla" (that's my name), my husband said "—that bird!" and he used some words that shocked me. Please help me to understand my husband better or am I supposed to put up with this? He is 56 years old.

PRISCILLA

DEAR PRISCILLA: Your husband is for the birds—but not the parakeet. Ignore him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SELMA: Withdraw the invitation at once. Tell him you didn't know he was loaded.

DEAR ABBY: On Oct. 29 a girl named Minnie wrote to you and said her husband was dying of Hodgkins disease and the doctor said he had only one year to live. Please tell Minnie not to "kill" him so fast.

My husband (aged 28) has had Hodgkins disease for over four years. His doctor told him he had only six months to live, and since that time we have had two more children and are looking forward to a happy long life together. Minnie should try prayer. It always helps.

BLESSED

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a man who is getting a divorce but he is still on extra good terms with his wife. He says he loves me and I know I love him, but I don't like the way he is always over to his wife's house night and day.

He seems to have a million good excuses for being over there. He says they are living apart. How can I find out if they are still living under the same roof?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Raise it!

DEAR ABBY: I am 25 and have been married for two years. My husband is a salesman and does all right because he is ambitious and works on commission.

We have no children (the doctor said I never will). I could work, but my husband won't let me because he is so jealous.

I have red hair (natural), green eyes, a very good figure (I lift weights), and I get bored sitting around all day because I used to work two jobs (public sten and split-shift waitress) and I think if I don't get something to do I will go out of my mind. How can I convince my husband that I should go back to working?

BORED STIFF

DEAR BORED: A woman's "natural role" is that of wife and mother. If you can't have your own children — adopt a couple. You have too much energy to sit around and vegetate.

DEAR ABBY: I am a mature adult, but I believe it is wise to get somebody else's opinion on a matter. My problem is that I have a brother I haven't seen in 21 years. He is now in a mental institution and will probably remain there for the rest of his life.

My oldest brother is the only one who really knows him and sees him. He says we should all write to this brother and remember him with cards and gifts at Christmas and his birthday. It would be just like sending things to a stranger. Am I obligated to do this?

E. F.

DEAR E. F.: And if you were bringing a little joy to a total stranger wouldn't it be worth the time and effort? By all means, be generous. There but for the grace of God goes you!

DEAR ABBY: We have some neighbors who have grown children but they still act like 16-year-olds. When he comes from work, she runs out to the street to meet him and he carries her in the house piggyback with her dress up to you-know-where.

If the husband repairs the roof, she is up there with him. If he is under the car, she is there, too. When they sit in church they hold hands and read out of the same book when hers is right beside her, closed. What do you think of people like this?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: I think these people know the secret of real happiness.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BOB: Most teenagers have the same trouble. The answer to your questions about pimples and girls is the same: You've gotta know when to squeeze 'em and when to leave 'em alone.

Stockings of Gold

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl who is going steady with an 18-year-old boy. He works part time and we see each other every night. He says he is low on funds so he can't take me anywhere, so we just park and neck every night.

I notice he has money to buy parts for his car and every dime he makes goes into that hot-rod of his. I care for him a lot and don't want to give him up. Please tell me how I can change him?

DEAR ABBY: Don't plan on changing him—what you need is a change of company. Kids who park and neck every night are asking for trouble. He says he "can't afford" to take you out? Tell him you "can't afford" his kind of entertainment.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a husband who is so jealous of a parakeet that he actually loses control of himself? Yesterday when I was teaching Dickie (the parakeet) to say, "Pretty Priscilla" (that's my name), my husband said "—that bird!" and he used some words that shocked me. Please help me to understand my husband better or am I supposed to put up with this? He is 56 years old.

PRISCILLA

DEAR PRISCILLA: Your husband is for the birds—but not the parakeet. Ignore him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SELMA: Withdraw the invitation at once. Tell him you didn't know he was loaded.

DEAR ABBY: On Oct. 29 a girl named Minnie wrote to you and said her husband was dying of Hodgkins disease and the doctor said he had only one year to live. Please tell Minnie not to "kill" him so fast.

My husband (aged 28) has had Hodgkins disease for over four years. His doctor told him he had only six months to live, and since that time we have had two more children and are looking forward to a happy long life together. Minnie should try prayer. It always helps.

BLESSED

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a man who is getting a divorce but he is still on extra good terms with his wife. He says he loves me and I know I love him, but I don't like the way he is always over to his wife's house night and day.

He seems to have a million good excuses for being over there. He says they are living apart. How can I find out if they are still living under the same roof?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Raise it!

DEAR ABBY: I am 25 and have been married for two years. My husband is a salesman and does all right because he is ambitious and works on commission.

We have no children (the doctor said I never will). I could work, but my husband won't let me because he is so jealous.

I have red hair (natural), green eyes, a very good figure (I lift weights), and I get bored sitting around all day because I used to work two jobs (public sten and split-shift waitress) and I think if I don't get something to do I will go out of my mind. How can I convince my husband that I should go back to working?

BORED STIFF

DEAR BORED: A woman's "natural role" is that of wife and mother. If you can't have your own children — adopt a couple. You have too much energy to sit around and vegetate.

DEAR ABBY: I am a mature adult, but I believe it is wise to get somebody else's opinion on a matter. My problem is that I have a brother I haven't seen in 21 years. He is now in a mental institution and will probably remain there for the rest of his life.

My oldest brother is the only one who really knows him and sees him. He says we should all write to this brother and remember him with cards and gifts at Christmas and his birthday. It would be just like sending things to a stranger. Am I obligated to do this?

E. F.

DEAR E. F.: And if you were bringing a little joy to a total stranger wouldn't it be worth the time and effort? By all means, be generous. There but for the grace of God goes you!

DEAR ABBY: We have some neighbors who have grown children but they still act like 16-year-olds. When he comes from work, she runs out to the street to meet him and he carries her in the house piggyback with her dress up to you-know-where.

If the husband repairs the roof, she is up there with him. If he is under the car, she is there, too. When they sit in church they hold hands and read out of the same book when hers is right beside her, closed. What do you think of people like this?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: I think these people know the secret of real happiness.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BOB: Most teenagers have the same trouble. The answer to your questions about pimples and girls is the same: You've gotta know when to squeeze 'em and when to leave 'em alone.

Stockings of Gold

Gold-color stockings are the latest thing in Paris. They're a real woven thread, not just a surface color.

Mull Problem in the Bathtub

American Apache Indians were great believers in the steam bath. Bath "houses" were constructed according to a specific plan by members of the tribe versed in the art of bath-building.

The Apaches also used their steam baths as war council chambers because the steam and thick vapors were supposed to clear the head for ideas and decisions.

So next time you're stumped over a family problem, mull over your problem in the bathtub. Make it a hot bath, with plenty of hot soapsuds—and maybe the solution to your problem will come like magic once you feel relaxed!

Others Benefited by Onion Remedy

They replied it is helpful only by keeping people at a safe distance from the person who eats onions as a cure.

MR. and MRS. JAMES H. PHILLIPS

Elaine Kneale Marries in Bethany Baptist Rite

Bethany Baptist Church was the setting for the Saturday evening wedding of Elaine Kneale and James H. Phillips. The Rev. Joseph I. Chapman performed the ceremony before 200 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kneale of Mark avenue are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mark LaBarge of Utica.

The bride chose a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over bridal satin featuring a portrait neckline of scalloped lace edged with sequins and tiny seed pearls. The gown was fashioned with long pointed sleeves, a fitted waist and ruffles of lace and tulle.

Her illusion veil was held in place by a cap of pearls and sequins. The bridal bouquet was of white roses and ivy on a white Bible.

ATTEND BRIDE

Acting as her sister's maid of honor was Barbara Kneale. Beverly and Janet Kneale, sisters of the bride, and Patricia Coles were bridesmaids. All were gowned in red satin ballerina-length dresses fashioned in princess style and featuring empire waists. They carried white fur muffs with red poinsettia bows centered by white rosebuds.

Serving as his brother's best man was William Phillips of Birmingham. A brother of the bride, Earle N. Kneale, Russell Harvey and E. William Robinson, both of Rochester, seated the guests.

For a reception in the church parlors Mrs. Kneale wore a beige crepe street-length dress with brown accessories and a corsage of brown cymbidium orchids. Mrs. LaBarge's choice was a street-length gown of teal blue with a pink cymbidium orchid corsage.

Before leaving on a trip to Buffalo, N. Y., the new Mrs. Phillips changed to a navy wool jersey dress with white

Bloomer Girls Back in Style

The bloomer girl is back—this time showing her curves to her best advantage instead of hiding them.

A boned nylon elastic waist-cincher has attached nylon tricot bloomers, with detachable hose supports extending beneath the ruffled leg bands. A nylon lace torso bra also has its matching bloomer panties with lace garters, no less.

Both garments will retain their feminine allure by warm nudgings after each wearing. Just rinse, roll in a towel, then hang to dry.

Bed at Its Best When Fresh, Clean

As every tired body knows, a bed is at its best when it's spanking clean. And now, thanks to the new synthetic fibers, you can keep your blankets as fresh as your bed "linens."

These modern blankets are machine washable in lukewarm soap or detergent suds. There's no excuse for not laundering them almost as often as you do your sheets!

Manicure Regularly

Keeping the nails clean often is a problem. The area around them also tends to get dirty and sometimes rough. This is a definite reason for regular manicures.

'Who Wants to Work for the Government?'

Civil Service Looks Unattractive to Teens

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

The nation's largest employer soon may have trouble finding recruits to fill its jobs.

"Who wants to work for the government?" asks 16-year-old Betty Tuten of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. "There's no future in it."

An overwhelming majority of the teenagers in the country seem to agree with her. Less than 4 per cent of the young people we contacted in a nationwide survey said they would like to work for the government.

Some 45 per cent said they had never given it the slightest thought, and the rest wanted no part of it.

Why? What's wrong with working for the federal, state or city government?

ONCE AVIDLY SOUGHT

Time was when almost everybody was looking for a civil service position.

When the great waves of immigration were sweeping over this country in the late 19th Century and still later in the mass unemployment of the great Depression in the '30s, government jobs were avidly sought and highly prized.

Young people setting out in life thronged by thousands to civil service examinations. Sometimes riots resulted.

To be a policeman, a letter carrier or a grade one clerk, in those days, was to be a person of no little stature in the neighborhood. "He works for the government," people would say approvingly, even enviously.

In an era of chronic unemployment, lingering bread lines and sweat shop labor conditions, government employees could look forward to steady weekly paychecks—often quite handsome under the circumstances—paid vacations, an eight-hour day, extensive retirement benefits and humane working conditions.

Most of all, the government offered job security.

The government still offers job security—and, as our recent surveys have demonstrated—young people are still vitally interested in security.

But a majority of young people are not interested in government jobs.

What has brought about this change in attitude toward working for the government? The problem gripped us, as it no doubt already grips civil service policy planners.

In attempting to find out why the nation's teenagers shy away from government work, we got an inkling of what they are looking for in the whole field of employment, private and public.

First, we asked what they liked about government jobs, what was the greatest attraction?

ELUSIVE TREASURE

Security, that elusive treasure hunted so desperately for generations by the great army of the unemployed, still shone as brightly as ever.

It ranked in first place among the advantages of working for the government jobs, what was the greatest attraction?

It ranked in first place among the advantages of working for the government with nearly 40 per cent of both boys and girls interviewed.

Next came prestige and self-satisfaction, as sanctioned by 26 per cent of the boys and 16 per cent of the girls.

Fair and equal opportunities for advancement appealed to 16 per cent of the boys and 11 per cent of the girls. Pension benefits were cited by less than 5 per cent of the young people, and good wages drew a response of only 1 per cent.

Even more revealing were the teenaged broadsides leveled against working for the government.

THE DRAWBACKS?

What are the drawbacks? We asked.

They had no hesitancy telling us. "Low wages," "not much chance for advancement," "no outlet for drive or different ideas," "little recognition for so much aggravation"—these are only a sampling of the comments but they echo the majority.

More than 54 per cent of the boys and 45 per cent of the girls listed low wages as the major drawback of government employment.

The government pay scale, once a heavy inducement, holds little attraction for today's high school students, who soon will be heading out to hunt for jobs.

JUST NOT ENOUGH

Even the cream of the government's job crop, like the diplomatic service, left something to be desired in the pay envelope among these teenagers.

MARGARET POTTER
Mr. and Mrs. Norman A. Potter of Berkeley avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to Robert Murr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smileski of Rochester. A spring wedding is planned.

Pontiac OES Holds Initiation at Yule Party

New members were initiated by the Pontiac Chapter 228, OES, when that group gathered at the Masonic Temple for a Christmas party.

Mrs. Sylvan Clark, worthy matron, and Eldon Sweazy, worthy patron, presided over the initiation of Mrs. E. G. Corning, Mrs. Joseph Marshall, Mrs. Melva Allen, Mrs. Edw. Adler, Mrs. Omer Winton and Mrs. Earl Ponn. Members by transfer from Marion, Ind., are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clingan and Marilyn Clingan.

Decorations chairman was Mrs. Eldon Sweazy. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Frank Ledford, Mrs. William Galbraith and Mrs. Bert Weddle. Guests present at the Monday meeting were from Metamora, Oxford, Rochester, Davisburg and Arene Chapter.

"The only government jobs I know about are the diplomatic ones—and they don't pay," complained 17-year-old Martin Bennett of Philadelphia.

Young people also seemed troubled by government security requirements and Hatch Act provisions against political activity in civil service jobs.

To 29 per cent of the boys and 31 per cent of the girls working for the government meant surrendering to certain restrictions on self-expression.

Less than 4 per cent thought the government's education and experience requirements were too high and less than 2 per cent worried about advancement opportunities.

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM WALLACE

Flora MacFarlane Wed in Kirk of the Hills Rite

Wearing a white lace ballerina-length gown with a shell hat and shoulder-length veil for her Saturday marriage to William Wallace of Bloomfield Hills was Flora Georgina Leslie MacFarlane, also of Bloomfield Hills.

The bride carried an arrangement of white roses and stephanotis for her wedding in Kirk in the Hills. The Rev. Harold DeWindt performed the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. John MacFarlane of Renton, Scotland, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Wallace of Kirkintilloch, Scotland.

GOWNED IN BLUE
Nancy McGuire as maid of honor was gownned in a blue silk organza frock and wore a small veiled hat. She carried a bouquet of pale pink carnations.

Serving as best man was Orval Blair Warren of Clarkston. Guests were seated by John Leslie of Bloomfield Hills, a cousin of the bride.

Watch Skin in Winter

If skin has the slightest tendency toward dryness, the condition is apt to worsen in winter. Use an extra heavy nourishing cream. Avoid strong astringents that have a drying quality of their own. Use a mild astringent like good quality witch-hazel.

Good Snack Food

Plan party snacks that are appetizing and also easy to handle. Cheese, olives, sardines, bits of ham and tongue are always good to serve. And have fresh, firm crackers to avoid crumbling snacks.

Take an extra second or two after washing your hands. This is to assure a thorough drying. If hands are left damp, they may become rough and red. This is especially true in winter.

Married Christmas Eve were Gwendolyn E. Smith, daughter of Mrs. Stuart M. Smith and the late Mr. Smith, and John M. Evarts, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Melville Evarts.

MRS. JOHN M. EVARTS

Gwendolyn Smith Weds in Christmas Eve Rite

Two hundred guests witnessed the wedding Christmas Eve of Gwendolyn Elaine Smith and John Melville Evarts. The Rev. Andrew Anderson performed the double-ring candlelight ceremony in First Baptist Church, Fredonia, N. Y.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Stuart M. Smith of Birmingham and the late Mr. Smith. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. C. Melville Evarts of Fredonia, N. Y.

GOWNED IN TAFFETA

For her wedding the bride chose a pure silk taffeta gown fashioned with a scoop neckline outlined in Alencon lace, long sleeves and a bouffant skirt with lace appliques on the front panel.

Her four tiered veil of silk illusion was held in place by a small seed pearl crown. An arrangement of white poinsettias, stephanotis and trailing ivy formed the bridal bouquet.

Jill Evelyn Smith of Birmingham was the honor maid and Mrs. Gordon A. Mutch of Royal Oak was the bridesmaid. They were gownned alike in light green peau de sole ballerina-length dresses. Both wore headbands of white feathers and small scattered rhinestones.

The honor attendant carried an arrangement of red poinsettias, stephanotis and trailing ivy. The bridesmaid's bouquet was of red poinsettias and trailing ivy.

OTHER ATTENDANTS

Mary Maurine Smith and Bonnie Lowrey Smith, both of Birmingham, and Carol Jane Weldig of Fredonia, N. Y., were junior bridesmaids. They were gownned in green velvet ballerina-length dresses with peau de sole inserted in the full gored skirts. Their headbands were like the senior attendants' and they carried bouquets of red poinsettias and trailing ivy.

Dr. C. M. Evarts of Rochester, N. Y., was best man. Ushers were Thomas Freling, C. M. Evarts and Stanley Miller, all of Fredonia, N. Y., and Gordon A. Mutch of Royal Oak.

For receiving guests at Buttrick Hall Mrs. Smith chose a dark green velvet sheath dress with white mink headband and an orchid pinned on her matching clutch bag. The bridegroom's mother wore a sapphire blue sheath dress with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

Before leaving on a trip to Los Angeles, Calif., the new Mrs. Evarts changed to a gray herringbone tweed suit with gray accessories and a red felt hat. The couple will live in Birmingham.

Instead, Try to Be Happy and Helpful

It's Cruel to Cast Gloom on Others

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is the seemingly unimportant little things in daily life, a word here, an action there, which add up to such a big total in happiness or frustration and fatigue.

When real tragedy strikes, people either rise above it and live vibrantly in spite of their pain, or they become neurotic with self-pity. However, small, petty disappointments and irritants, and rudenesses and thoughtlessness we run into, have a way of slipping up on us and changing our personality before we realize it.

I think folks most often become bored or depressed or maladjusted because of the small things which happen to them and color their daily lives. The habits of envy or rudeness, the cross word spoken by someone we love, lack of appreciation or understanding, an unexpected criticism, a pessimistic viewpoint—all paint the background against which we live.

It is amazing how hard people make life for other people! How wonderful it could be if we were always kind in our association with others.

Folks make life difficult even for those they love. Yet we all know how the heart lifts and the day brightens when we encounter a gracious thought or action or a humorous attitude.

BIG RESPONSIBILITY

We have a tremendous responsibility not to stand in the light of others, not to dim the mood of their day with lack of enthusiasm, not to add to an atmosphere of tension and irritability.

We may go to church every Sunday, we may give to the poor, we may have moral standards, but if we habitually depress others with our negative moods, I think it is downright sinful.

Why can't we all be happy and helpful? Certainly the woman who is gay and kind and tolerant has a special charm and warmth which draws others to her. She also has beauty which is much more potent than mere regularity of feature.

Tomorrow: "If Your Elbows Are Dark, Try Lemon Juice Bleach."

Do-It-Yourself Tax Plan Would Speed Defense

BOSTON (INS)—A Boston advertising man has come up with a "do-it-yourself" tax plan.

Dan Puccio forwarded a $500 check to President Eisenhower and urged every American to send a contribution according to his means for a voluntary fund for national defense.

Puccio said a voluntary "tax before taxes" was a cheap price to pay for what we hold so dear. He asked:

"Who wants American to drift into the position of a second rate power? Send your dimes, your dollars and help to save the world from another war."

Show Your Approval

When a friend or acquaintance is showing you something of which he is obviously proud, you can't be too enthusiastic in your reaction.

Certainly the woman who is gay and kind and tolerant has a special charm and warmth which draws others to her.

Men, Do Your Wives Fit Into This Ideal Category?

By RUTH MILLETT

She treats him like the head of his own home, rather than like a destructive child to be corrected if he isn't quite as careful in using household furnishings as she is. If she knows they can't afford something she wants, she doesn't talk about how much she would like it. She never mentions his faults when talking about him to other women.

She is careful to make certain that he has everything he'll need to wear to a party, ready to go, with no last-minute discoveries that a suit wasn't sent to the cleaners or a button sewed on a shirt—just as careful as she is about having her own clothes in readiness for an important occasion.

When she asks him to tell a joke she doesn't ruin it by including the punch line in the request. No matter how much she hates clutter, she never throws away anything her husband has saved without asking if he wants to keep it.

When both are reading, she can and does resist the temptation to keep interrupting him to call his attention to fascinating little bits of her own book, magazine or section of the newspaper.

She never asks at breakfast, "What would you like for dinner tonight?"

If she knows his memory sometimes fails him, she drops hints days in advance about an upcoming anniversary or birthday instead of tearfully accusing him of not caring if he should forget an important date.

She kids him good-naturedly about his masculine propensity for always being aware of a pretty girl, instead of being resentful and believing that he has eyes for anyone but her.

Does she sound too good to be true? We won't know until we hear from the husbands. Do any of you have wives who meet these specifications?

Size 22½ should definitely bypass the unfitted chemise and stick with the classic. Eye-catching necklace directs attention to the face.

Some reaction to the Paris fashions—mannequins have never looked so strange and bony. The chemise is not becoming to all sizes. Less startling fashions above all, becoming lines that do something for you personally—is the wise choice.

Marlene L. Liddy and Larry Lee Crawford were married Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Liddy are parents of the bride, and the Moody S. Crawfords are the bridegroom's parents.

MR. and MRS. LARRY CRAWFORD

Marlene L. Liddy Speaks Vows in Baptist Service

Two hundred guests witnessed the Saturday evening wedding of Marlene Louise Liddy and Larry Lee Crawford. The Rev. Hilding Bibb performed the ceremony in Perry Park Baptist Church.

Parents of the bride are the Leonard Liddys of Melrose avenue, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Moody S. Crawford of Highland Park.

The bride chose a gown of white Chantilly lace over bridal satin featuring a Chinese collar and long, tapered sleeves. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a spray of pearls and sequins, and she carried an arrangement of carnations with red roses on a white ribbon.

Honor maid Bonnie Loonie was gown in a hunter green velvet frock of princess design with a headpiece of white fur. A corsage of carnations was pinned to her muff.

Bridesmaids Mrs. Robert Schuber of Chicago and Margaret Lid-Whittemore street. Assisting were dy were red velvet gowns styled like the honor attendant's. Flower maid Barbara Liddy wore a hunter green velvet dress and a white fur headpiece and carried a basket of carnation petals.

John S. Crawford served as best man. Guests were seated by Sheldon George, Donald Roth, Ed. Richard Rotberg, Gilbert Kochner, Charles Crawford and William Liddy.

For receiving guests at a reception held in the church parlors Mrs. Liddy chose a light blue figured dress with a white hat and black accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore an aqua satin-trimmed dress with a white hat and black accessories.

Before leaving on a trip to Ohio the bride changed to a sheath dress of white jersey trimmed in white satin with black accessories. The couple will live in Highland Park.

Chopin Club Meets
Mariam and Eugene Engelhard were hosts to the Chopin Music Club Sunday at their home on 14th and Whittmore street. Assisting were Marilyn Wagner, Joan Whims, like the honor attendant's. Flower

Flat Look Also Applies to New Floor Coverings

NEW YORK (INS) — The "flat" look isn't reserved for woman's sack-clothed figure this season—it also applies to her floor coverings.

Thick, deep pile carpets have been the style for years, and if you sank in up to the ankles, all the better.

LONGER WEAR

The latest carpets to come off the loom are only about one-quarter of an inch thick. While this makes them more expensive it also allows for longer wear and more attention to detail in design.

Since this is the elegant season in home furnishings, with modern and period furniture all mixed up in the same room, the latest carpets were inspired by the thin, needlepoint-type fabrics that decorated the apartments of the 17th Century French aristocracy.

Shades of gold are most popular both because they are rich-looking and because they are neutral enough to blend in with almost any room's color scheme.

SIMPLE ELEGANCE

The designs copied from the 17th Century are elegant without being intricate. A round carpet pictures a profile of Louis XIV, taken from an old coin.

Another round floor covering features a giant sunburst. Flowers, leaves, medals and musical instruments are other design favorites.

Coloring Can Make Teeth Look Whiter

Ever envy the person with pure white teeth? Well, her teeth really aren't that white. It is the complexion which heightens the contrast between skin and teeth.

But no matter the whiteness of your teeth, it is the clearness that really counts.

Celebrating their golden wedding anniversary Sunday at their home will be Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Cotter of Lowell street. They were married Dec. 31, 1907, in Marlette. They have three children, Mrs. William Holt of Lake Orion, Leland of First avenue and Leonard of Second avenue. There are seven grandchildren.

Christmas Ride Brings Tragedy Girl, 18, Dies; 'Steady' Hurt

DETROIT (INS)—Young love was ripped in the bud yesterday in a tragic accident that killed an 18-year-old Detroit girl and left her "steady" injured.

Patricia Paulus, 18, and her boyfriend, Ronald Piotrowski, also 18, left the safety of their families yesterday to look at outdoor Christmas decorations on West Side homes.

They never returned. Their car smashed head-on with another on winding Ann Arbor Trail west of Inkster road. Patricia was killed. Ronald is in Wayne County General Hospital.

The young woman had spent Christmas with her family and invited Ronald to the house for dinner. They had been "going steady" for two years and planned to be married "some time, but not right away."

Police were unable to explain how the accident happened. "It's not true," sobbed Patricia's mother, "tell me it's not true. If I could only see her in her new dress again."

Un-Elected Member Tries Role Anyway

NEW DELHI — India had an un-elected representative in its Lok Sabha (Parliament) the other day in New Delhi. Birendra Kumar Mazumdar, 30, who had been defeated in the election, confidently walked into the Lok Sabha, posed as a newly-elected member, took the oath, shook hands with the Speaker, signed the members' roll and settled down on the Opposition front bench.

A few minutes later an official of the shoulder and invited him into of the body gently tapped him on the lobby. It had been learned that he was an imposter. Not only was he not an "honorable member," but it appeared that he was mentally unsound. Prime Minister Nehru promptly moved that Mazumdar should be sent to a mental hospital for observation and that a decision as to further action should depend on the outcome of that.

Viennese Still Think America Wilderness

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Many people in Vienna still believe that Californians depend on buffalo meat for food, says a University of Southern California professor who recently returned from Austria.

"They get lots of rock 'n' roll and American movies," says Dr. Stanley R. Townsend, "but as for an authentic picture of America, they haven't got much farther than James Fenimore Cooper and the old westerns."

Fancy Meeting You

LOCO, Okla. (INS)—Kenneth Wade Ketchum delivered a cow to Woodrow Williams. A few hours later, Ketchum drove by the Williams farm, ran into the same cow on the highway and killed it. The cow had escaped through a hole in the fence.

Florence Still Famous

Although Florence, Italy, was heavily damaged in World War II, it remains a living museum of the Middle Ages and a treasure house of Renaissance art and architecture, says the National Geographic Magazine.

'Maelstrom' Whirlpool

The word "maelstrom" came in to English as the name of a celebrated whirlpool off the Norwegian coast, the National Geographic Magazine says. The vortex was once believed to such in all ships within a wide radius.

Man O' War sired two Selma winners at Laurel — Bateau in 1927 and War Beauty in 1939.

Oyster Stew for New Year's Eve!

After celebrating the birth of 1958 there could be nothing more welcome than a great tureen of oyster stew. No matter how far from the sea you live, oysters are available, either fresh from your dealer or fresh frozen.

Here's how to make oyster stew for a crowd. After a gay party this will be an excellent "one for the road." Be sure to have extra butter and plenty of oyster crackers.

Oyster Stew

Two 12-ounce packages frozen oysters
Milk, cream or evaporated milk, undiluted
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon marjoram (optional)
1/2 teaspoon thyme (optional)
3 tablespoons parsley

Place frozen oysters in 4-quart or larger saucepan. Cover; place over high heat until blocks can be broken apart with a fork or until edges of oysters begin to curl. Remove from heat, because oysters must be heated but not overcooked. Curling edges are a warning to quit the cooking.

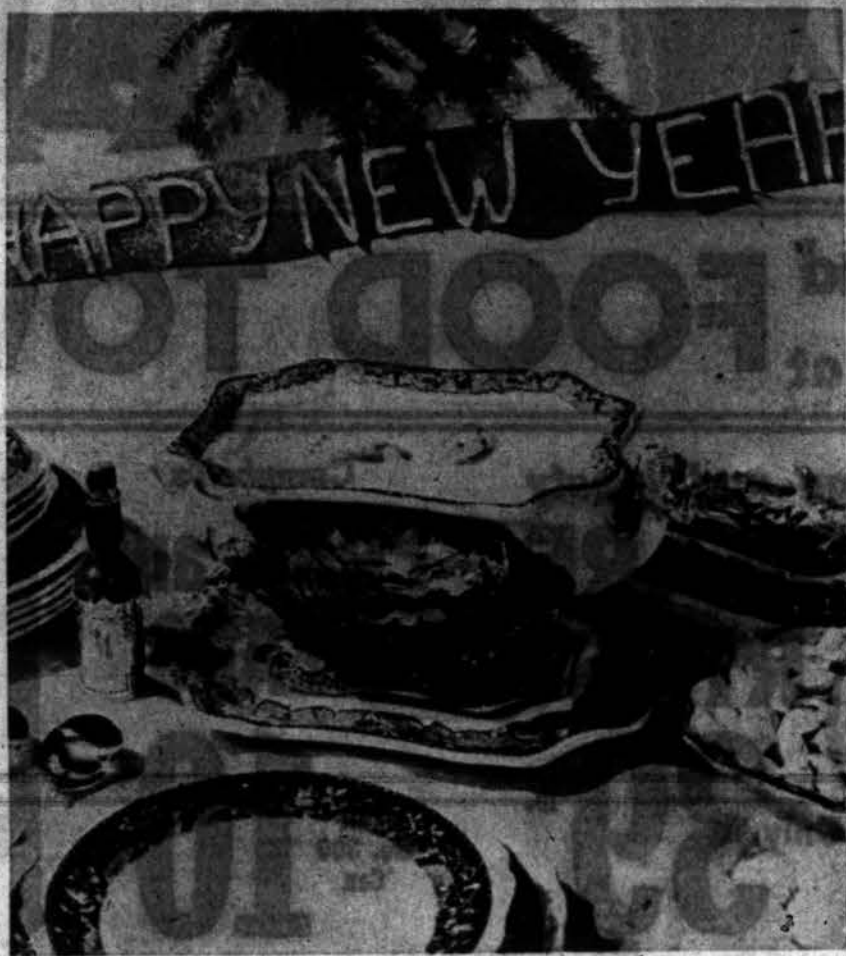

Drain oysters, reserving liquid. Measure oyster liquid; add milk and cream (or evaporated milk) in equal parts to make a total of 3 cups of liquid. Return oysters and liquid to the pot.

Add butter or margarine, salt, pepper and herbs. Place over low heat until liquid begins to simmer. Serve immediately, garnished with parsley. For a richer stew, use all cream instead of milk. Makes 12 cups.

A lot of folks like oyster stew with extra seasoning in it. For them, try this fine recipe:

Tabasco Oyster Stew

1/2 teaspoon celery salt
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 cups raw oysters with liquid
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
Add celery salt, paprika and BUFFET PARTY—A large tureen of oyster stew is just the dish for your late New Year's Eve buffet party. Get out your prettiest tureen and, if you have them, old-fashioned flat soup plates.

Always a New Way to Fix Leftover Turkey

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Turkey has been the featured food on most family's menu often in the past month. Are you getting a bit weary, wondering how next to serve it? Let's explore a few new possibilities.

If you are entertaining with a buffet supper at any time during the holidays, this Turkey Mousse would be just the thing for that meal.

Turkey Mousse

2 tablespoons gelatin
1/2 cup stock or cold water
2 cups stock
2 tablespoons grated onion
4 cups chopped cooked turkey
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup green pepper
1/2 cup finely chopped pimiento
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Soften gelatin in cold stock or water. Heat 2 cups stock to boiling. Add softened gelatin. Stir until dissolved. Add onion. Chill until partially set.

Add rest of ingredients. Turn into mold. Chill until set. Unmold. Garnish with tiny julienne cranberry orange molds.

This casserole recipe with rice has a creamy cheese and mushroom sauce. It is browned under the broiler just before it comes to the table.

room sauce. It is browned under the broiler just before it comes to the table.

Turkey Hot Brown

1/2 cup water
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup uncooked white rice
1 (10 1/2 ounce) can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of black pepper
6 large slices of turkey or enough small pieces for six servings
1 lb. American cheese, grated (1 lb. per cup)
1/2 teaspoon paprika

Put the water, salt and rice in a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover and leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from heat, but leave lid on for 10 minutes.

Spread the cooked rice over a greased shallow baking dish about 12" x 8" x 2". Heat together the mushroom soup, milk, salt and pepper. Pour half this mixture over the rice. Place the slices of turkey over the rice. The slices should not overlap. If small pieces of turkey are used, arrange them on the rice to make six servings of turkey.

Add the cheese to the mushroom soup-milk mixture and heat slowly until the cheese melts. Pour this over the turkey and rice. Sprinkle with the paprika and place in the broiler and broil until hot and bubbly. Watch closely to prevent top from becoming too brown. This recipe makes 6 servings.

Turkey prepared in the Chinese manner with vegetables is a third way of using this leftover poultry.

Chinese Turkey With Vegetables

1/2 cup finely diced onion
2 tablespoons cooking oil
1/2 cup diagonally sliced celery
1/2 cup well-seasoned chicken broth
1 cup green peas, fresh or frozen
2 cups sliced sliced mushrooms
2 cups thinly sliced cooked turkey
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 cup cold water
1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet
1/2 teaspoon ginger
2 tablespoons sherry or 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Saute onion in oil in skillet or Dutch oven over moderate heat about 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add celery and chicken broth. Cover and cook 5 minutes. Remove cover and add peas and contents of can of mushrooms. Lay pieces of turkey over top. Cover tightly and continue cooking another 10 minutes or until vegetables are barely tender.

Blend together and add cornstarch, water, kitchen bouquet, ginger and sherry or lemon juice. Add turkey and cook, stirring constantly until sauce thickens and comes to a boil. Serve immediately with hot cooked rice.

A pinch of cinnamon added to hot peaches is a delightful flavor change.

USDA Suggests Barbecuing Ribs

We're in the season when pork is most plentiful, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture says we'll have considerably more pork this winter than we did last, thanks to the cooperative effort of farmers and the mama pigs. So it should be easy to find some well-meated ribs at your favorite food stores.

If you're an old hand at preparing spareribs, probably you already have your favorite sauce. Whatever it is, there's no doubt that yours turns out the most luscious spareribs available anywhere.

In case you don't have a pet recipe for barbecued sauce home economists of the Department of Agriculture say you can make one that's delicious out of Worcestershire sauce and brown sugar, with a few cloves and bits of ginger to brighten the flavor.

Put the ribs in a large baking pan in a moderate oven. While they're baking, baste them several times with the sauce, and turn once in a while. Your thumbs will taste wonderful when you lick 'em.

Dehydrated Peas Coming

Worcestershire sauce to oysters and liquid in a deep kettle. Heat until edges of oysters curl slightly. Add milk and bring to a boil. Remove from heat; stir in Tabasco. Serve with a lump of butter or margarine in each bowl. Serves 4.

Citrus Fruit Is Versatile

Looking for a new twist or two, in ways of serving oranges and grapefruit?

The U.S. Department of Agriculture says these two wonderful citrus fruits will come to market in generous amounts this winter, and probably at prices which will make them attractive. In addition to the customary orange or grapefruit for breakfast, there are innumerable ways you can use them at other meals. For example:

Canadian-Style Bacon as you probably know is cured pork loin, and it's almost all lean meat. Place quarter-inch slices of Canadian-Style bacon in a greased baking dish. Top each slice of bacon with a thin slice of sweet onion, and a thick slice of fresh orange. Then put on another slice of the bacon. Bake in a slow oven for about 30 minutes.

Prepare a sauce by combining sugar, cornstarch and orange juice. Simmer until thickened. Some people like to stir in grated orange rind and sections of fresh orange. Pour this sauce over the meat-onion-orange combination in the baking dish just before serving.

Here's a delicious first course for an evening meal: Grapefruit Appetizer. Cut grapefruit in half, one half for each person; cut into sections. Top with strips of ham, or cooked shrimp and place under a broiler for a few minutes.

If you want a refreshing cocktail to start a meal, combine apple cider and grapefruit juice. The sharpness of the grapefruit juice does something for the apple juice, and you'll like what the combination does for your tastebuds.

Boiling Water Does Job

To remove cranberry or other fruit stains from a tablecloth or napkins stretch the fabric over a bowl and pour boiling water through the stain from a three foot height. Then launder in hot soap or detergent suds and rinse with hot water.

The new style in peas is called "dehydrated." Dehydrating involves removing part of the water from fresh green peas and then freezing them. The secret lies in taking out just enough of the water before freezing. Dry peas contain only about 6 per cent water; dehydrated peas contain about 33 per cent water, compared to about 73 per cent water for fresh green peas.

The process was developed by scientists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and a hundred restaurant men in Milwaukee were asked to cook and serve the new flavored peas, and report on what they liked or disliked about them. The restaurant men said the dehydrated peas were greener and firmer than ordinary frozen peas, and were just as easy to prepare and serve. They liked the fact that the new peas took less storage space.

They said they'd be willing to pay about a cent a pound more for dehydrated peas than they'd been paying for ordinary frozen peas; and they'd pay 7 cents a pound more than they were paying for canned peas.

Up to now, the new dehydrated peas are not available at your store. They're still in the testing stage. But as the Department of Agriculture gathers more facts to demonstrate that dehydrated peas produce vegetables that taste good, look good, handle easily, take less space in storage and cost less to ship, it means we're closer to the day when you may be able to buy dehydrated peas and other products for use at home.

Tangy Lemon Icing Good on Box Cake

Homemade frosting for a cake mix.

Creamy Lemon Frosting
1/2 cup butter or margarine (soft)
1/2 cup sifted confectioners sugar
1/2 teaspoon lemon rind
2 egg whites
1 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice

Cream butter; gradually add 1 cup of the sifted confectioners sugar, creaming well. Beat in lemon rind. Beat egg whites with rotary beater (hand or electric) until they form soft peaks; gradually beat in remaining 1/2 cups sugar. Blend into first mixture; stir in lemon juice. Enough frosting for tops and sides of two 8-inch cake layers.

Scallop Canapes Add Different Taste to Menu

The party season is upon us and the hostess with the mostest is going to make sure that the food she serves not only tastes good but looks good, too.

Right in the spirit of the season is this recipe for Scallop Aspic Canapes. Main feature, of course, is sea scallops, those succulent shellfish that dwell deep in the cold offshore waters of the Atlantic Ocean.

This might be as good a place as any to mention, once and for all the fallacy that scallops are punched-out pieces of ood or had-dock. The pinkish-shelled scallop is truly one of the most beautiful of all shellfish — and certainly one of the tastiest. But unlike other shellfish, only the sweet shell muscle is marketed. The rest of the mollusk, including the shell, is discarded at sea.

Try this brand new recipe for Scallop Aspic Canapes for your holiday parties. They're good, and they're pretty, too.

Scallop Aspic Canapes

1 lb. sea scallops, fresh or frozen
1/2 cup chicken broth
1/2 cup tomato juice
Few drops Tabasco
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
Defrost scallops, if frozen; cover with boiling water; simmer 7 to 10 minutes or until done; cool, then chill. Cut each scallop in halves or thirds, depending on size, to make about 24 half-inch chunks. Combine chicken broth, tomato juice and seasonings; heat to boiling point.

Soften gelatin in cold water; add hot broth mixture; stir until gelatin dissolves. Place a scallop chunk in each of 24 tiny muffin cups (1-inch bottom, diameter); spoon in gelatin mixture, filling cups about two thirds to three quarters full. Chill until set. Unmold on crisp melba toast rounds.

Store Pastry Circles for Quick Tart Shells

Easy party shells: Roll shells a day or two ahead of time. (Use a pie crust mix if you like.) Cut the pastry into 5-inch circles, prick with a fork and stack between pieces of waxed paper. Then wrap in aluminum foil and store in the refrigerator or freezer.

When ready to use, heat the oven to 475 degrees and place the refrigerated circles on inverted custard or muffin cups. Don't try to fit the cold pastry to the cup, it will mold itself during baking. Bake 8 to 10 minutes.

FOR A HAPPY HOLIDAY

May this be a year of peace and prosperity; a year to go into the record books as one of good will and brotherhood.

Slow Cooking Necessary in Candying Peels

Keep home candied orange peel in a glass or silver dish ready at all times for luxurious unscheduled munching. (A box of it, prettily packaged, makes a flatteringly personal and welcome remembrance, too.)

Candied Orange Peel

3 large fresh oranges
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1/2 cup sugar

Cut peel thickly away from oranges. Cut into 1/4-inch strips. Place in a saucepan with cold water to cover. Bring to boiling point and drain. Cover with more cold water and repeat the above step 3 more times. The fourth time cook the orange peel 15 minutes. Drain.

Add the next 4 ingredients and mix well. Cook until most of the liquid has evaporated 45 to 50 minutes over low heat. Drain well.

Sprinkle the 1/2 cup sugar on a tray into which place the peel. Mix until the peel is thoroughly coated with the sugar. Place on a wire rack to dry. Store in a loosely closed container. Yield: 1 pound orange peel.

Criss-Cross Stalks to Cook Broccoli

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Hotel chefs have a trick in cooking asparagus and broccoli so that the buds and stalks are tender at the same time.

According to the American Hotel Association, chefs equalize the cooking times by making criss-cross incisions in the bottom of the stalks.

Yogurt Good on Salad

This tangy mixture is ideal for topping greens of all kinds in a tossed salad: 1 cup yogurt, 1 chopped, hard-cooked egg, 1 tablespoon bottled lemon juice, salt and pepper, 1 tablespoon chopped dill, and one small dill pickle, finely minced. Mix thoroughly, chill in refrigerator. Calories per serving: 14.

Flour, spread in a thin layer in a shallow pan, may be browned in a hot oven if it is stirred often. The browned flour is excellent to use in meat and poultry gravies.

Leftover Ham No Bother

If your problem is what to do with leftovers, worry no more. In the case of leftover ham here are a few suggestions. Cubed ham may be mixed with a cheese sauce and served over fluffy white rice. If you have a few slices of ham, simply broil them, top with a poached egg and Hollandaise sauce and serve.

Fresh or frozen green peas can be dressed up deliciously by tossing in a small can of drained mushrooms near the end of cooking time.

Salvage Paper From Bread For Extra Use

CHICAGO (INS)—You can get nearly a dozen extra uses out of waxed paper bread wrappers. Here are suggestions compiled by the Waxed Paper Merchandising Council for women to try around the house:

To prevent the odor from escaping when boiling a head of cabbage, wrap it in a waxed bread wrapper before placing in the water.

To heat rolls, moisten and slip them into an empty bread wrapper. Pop the package in the oven to warm.

Make a mixing bowl cover to avoid spattering by trimming a waxed bread wrapper to a circle, slitting it to slip in the beater.

Roll out hamburgers between two bread wrappers; it's easier to cut the meat into bun-sized patties that way.

An empty bread wrapper is an easily disposable garbage bag.

Meat Balls Florentine

Plan to serve Meat Balls Florentine to your family tonight. Cook a chopped onion, grated carrot and a minced garlic clove in butter until tender. Add canned meatballs in gravy and season with a dash of nutmeg and thyme. Heat.

Eat Beans Right Now to Insure Good Fortune

In many parts of the United States, it's an old tradition to eat navy beans between Christmas and Twelfth Night to insure prosperity and good fortune in the year ahead! Even without such an incentive a flavorful pot of baked beans is a welcome dish on any holiday menu for the family or a crowd.

And, with much festive entertaining ahead, many's the hostess looking for new versions of the creamy mix surrounded by crispy chips for dipping, which has become such a popular party custom. According to those who have tried it and know best, one of the most unusual dips starts with a can of beans.

Ready for appetizers or snacks in big time is this delicious mixture of beans, deviled ham and tangy seasonings. Your guests will have fun guessing the contents and be joyously clamoring for the recipe!

Party Bean Dip

1 pound can baked beans in tomato sauce
1 medium can deviled ham

Ready Made Salad Boon to Busy Holiday Cooks

Do you look for new additions on the grocer's shelves? Have you noticed the cranberry gelatin that has been introduced for the holiday season?

Like the other five gelatin salads, cranberry salad is packaged in a 14-ounce, clear plastic mold of fluted design with a translucent snap-on lid.

The new cranberry salad will make meals quick and easy and as colorful as the season, says the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

Garnish Eggnog With Berries

Eggnog, the traditional drink of the holiday season, has almost as many variations as it has makers. And although most of them feature the same basic ingredients of milk or cream, eggs, some sugar and a liquor of one kind or another, the method of preparation and the quantity of ingredients used make a vast difference in the end product.

This eggnog, made with frozen strawberries, is bound to brighten any festive holiday occasion. The delightful color and flavor of strawberries add a definite plus to the prescribed ingredients of eggnog. Garnish this eggnog with frozen whole strawberries and serve it with slices of fruit cake or decorative canapés.

Holiday Strawberry Eggnog
4 eggs, separated
3 cups heavy cream
3 1/2 ounce packages frozen sliced strawberries, thawed and crushed
1 quart milk
1/2 cup sherry or rum
1/2 cup sugar
Dash nutmeg

Beat egg yolks; add cream and strawberries. Add milk and sherry. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually add sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, beating constantly until stiff and glossy. Fold into strawberry mixture. Garnish with whole frozen strawberries, if desired. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Makes about 3 1/2 quarts.

Spiced Apples Fill Pudding Batter

Steamed Apple Pudding
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 large egg
1/2 cup milk
1 1/2 cups coarsely chopped peeled apples
1/2 cup seedless raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained)

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt, nutmeg, cinnamon and allspice. Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg thoroughly. Add sifted dry ingredients, alternately with milk, until blended. Fold in apples and raisins.

Turn into a well-greased 1-quart mold. Cover mold with its own cover, heavy foil or two thicknesses of brown paper secured with string.

Place on a rack in steamer or deep kettle and pour in boiling water to about 1/2-inch depth of the mold. Steam 2 hours. Serve hot with Hard Sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Cheese Crouton Top Velvet Soup

Here is a new recipe for a delightfully different soup combining a package of green pea soup mix with half package of onion soup mix. The velvet-smooth smoky flavor of the old-fashioned green pea soup blends into an intriguing new taste when added to the golden toasted-onions and beef stock of the onion soup mix.

A fine Italian hand is shown with a lavish sprinkling of crotons in which the bread is cut into cubes, tossed in melted butter and then sprinkled with Parmesan cheese before toasting under the broiler.

The remaining half of the package of onion soup mix, incidentally, adds wonderful flavor to gravy for roasted meat such as lamb, beef, pork or fowl.

Onion Pea Soup With Croutons
1 package green pea soup mix
3 tablespoons (1/2 pkg.) onion soup mix
3 1/2 cups cold water
Stir soup mixes into cold water, mixing until smooth. Bring to a boil stirring frequently. Cover and simmer for 5 minutes. Garnish each serving with Italian Style Croutons.

ITALIAN STYLE CROUTONS:
Cut 3 slices of bread into cubes. Toss in 1 1/4 tablespoons soft or melted butter and sprinkle with 1 1/2 teaspoons Parmesan cheese. Spread out in a single layer on aluminum foil or cookie sheet and toast under broiler. Stir occasionally so the croutons toast evenly.

Upside Down Muffins

Make dainty luscious upside down pineapple muffins by mixing a little melted butter, brown sugar and drained canned crushed pineapple in bottom of muffin cups; top with batter and bake. After baking let stand in pan about one-half minute; then invert pan, and lift off after five minutes.

A good hors d'oeuvre: spread thin slices of salami with cream cheese mixed with horse radish; roll and chill; fasten with wooden cocktail picks.

PICKLE PARTY HOUSE — This pert Pickle Party House doubles as a clever holiday centerpiece and sandwich loaf. Wonderful fun for festive events of all ages... from kiddies' get-together to grown-up luncheons and buffets. So easy to make you'll want to have several during the holidays.

Pickles Change Loaf of Sandwiches to House

Let's build a pickle house. You don't have to be an artist or architect to come up with this clever pickle-cream cheese affair. Even the youngsters at your house will love putting it together.

The pickle house is versatile... you can use it as a buffet, luncheon or party centerpiece and as part of your party menu by making the inside into a sandwich loaf. We're sure you'll have no trouble if you keep one eye on the picture as you start building the pickle house. The recipe gives directions for the basic house and sandwich loaf.

Here are the pickle trimmings: the shingles are made of pickery dill pickles, thinly sliced, with one corner nipped to give shingle appearance. You may need to anchor with toothpicks when arranging on cream cheese roof. The chimney is a large dill pickle sliced off at one end with a small triangle cut out of the other end to hold pickle on the roof. Scoop out the top to give chimney appearance.

Use slim strips of sweet gherkins for windows and doors. The plants are small sweet gherkins, sliced to resemble fans and pressed lightly into cream cheese around house. The front path is pickle relish, outlined by thin sweet gherkin strips.

Pickle Party House
4 8-ounce packages cream cheese, softened
3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 cup sweet pickle relish
1 teaspoon garlic salt
1 cup chopped cooked ham
1 teaspoon onion salt
2 1-pound 16 1/2-ounce loaves day old bread, not sliced

Beat cheese until light and fluffy. Combine 1 cup cheese, eggs, 1/4 cup relish and garlic salt; mix well. Combine 1 cup cheese, ham, onion salt and remaining 1/4 cup relish; mix well.

Cut crusts from bread. Cut 1 loaf bread into triangle shape. Slice remaining loaf of bread and bread triangle into 4 lengthwise slices. Spread with alternate layers of ham and egg mixtures. Stack rectangular slices, place triangular loaf on top of rectangular loaf.

Frost tops and sides with remaining cheese. Garnish with sliced pickles as desired. Chill thoroughly. Slice to serve. Remove triangular loaf before slicing. Makes 10-12 servings.

Fruit Fritters Ham Flavored

This is a recipe that's strictly for the children... it's bound to pass the small fry test anytime. Ground ham and crushed pineapple combine to form Ham and Pineapple Fritters that'll make square fare for any short order meal.

If you think leftovers are a problem, let this recipe come to your rescue. Leftover ham, perhaps from yesterday's dinner, can easily be ground and ready to go to work for you.

Ham and Pineapple Fritters
2 cups ground cooked ham
1/2 cup crushed pineapple
1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 cup milk
2 eggs
Drain pineapple. Sift flour with baking powder and cinnamon. Add deep hot lard (350 degrees) and sugar, milk and egg; mix until fry until golden brown on all sides, or muffins, sprinkle the batter with grated cheddar cheese before baking. Drop by teaspoonfuls into lard. Yield: 30 small fritters.

Next time you bake corn sticks, think of worcestershire sauce, curry, mustard, or capers as fillings for cream or butter sauce the next time you serve fish.

To creamed lima beans, add a pinch of basil, diced pimiento and chopped parsley.

Hot Fish Salad Uses Sardines

Just in time for a "greet the New Year in" smorgasbord is Hot Sardine Salad. Sardine supporters are in for a treat, and will be even more enthusiastic after trying this salad. Please note that the salad may be served chilled, too, rather than baked.

Hot Sardine Salad
4 ounces small macaroni shells
1 1/2 cups drained sardine pieces (3 1/2 ounce cans)
2 hard-boiled eggs, chopped
1/2 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons minced pimiento
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt

Dash pepper
1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1/2 cup bread crumbs
Paprika

Add 2 teaspoons salt and macaroni shells to 3 cups boiling water. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly, for 2 minutes. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes.

Combine sardines, eggs, celery, pimiento, lemon juice, salt, garlic salt and pepper. Rinse macaroni shells with warm water and drain well. Add to sardine mixture, then add mayonnaise or salad dressing and toss lightly.

Turn into lightly greased 1 1/2-quart casserole. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and paprika. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 20 to 25 minutes. Serve warm. (Or if desired, salad may be served cold. Omit bread crumbs and chill salad at least 1 hour before serving.) Makes 4 servings.

New Year's Day Buffet Calls for Festive Food

On New Year's Day when friends drop in to wish you well, serve them bountifully but simply with these selected recipes:

New Year's Malted Punch
1 (15-ounce) can apricot white fruit nectar
1 (15-ounce) can pineapple juice concentrate
1 (No. 3) can pineapple-grapefruit juice
1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)
2/3 cup cranberry juice
1 (four-ounce) bottle red-table wine
Thin wedge lemon peel
Combine fruit juices, sugar, salt and wine. Slowly bring to a boil. Serve hot in heat-proof glasses or mugs with a twist of lemon peel in each serving. Note: You can beat mixture with rotary beater

Festive Puffettes
Use new packaged cream puff mix. Drop cream puff mixture by rounded half teaspoonfuls into ungreased baking sheet. Bake until browned and puffy, about 30 minutes. Remove from oven; cut slit in side of each; bake 5 minutes more. Cool. Fill each cream puff with generous teaspoonful of one of the following fillings.

Chicken Filling
2 cups cubed, cooked chicken
1 1/2 cups diced celery
1 teaspoon salt

2 hard-boiled eggs, sliced
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
2 medium hard-boiled eggs, cut into thin slices
1/2 to 1/3 cup mayonnaise, low calorie
Combine chicken, celery, salt, eggs, lemon juice and oranges. Moisten with mayonnaise. Variations: onion, almonds, curry, horseradish. Fills 36 puffets.

Crab Meat Filling
16 small cream puff mix
1 1/2 cups flaked crab meat
1/2 cup minced onion
2 hard-boiled eggs, chopped fine
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash hot pepper sauce
1/2 cup fresh lemon juice
1/2 cup salad dressing, low calorie
Mix crab meat, celery, eggs, salt, pepper, hot pepper sauce, lemon juice and salad dressing together and fill cream puffs. Fills 16 puffets.

Check Bird Carefully to Get Good One

How do you know you are getting a good broiler or fryer, especially when prices vary as much as 10 to 15 cents a pound?

A top quality bird will have a thick meaty breast and thighs, says the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawry. The skin will be soft, pliable and free of bruises. All the pin feathers should be removed.

Top quality fryers will have fat well distributed under the skin. This gives the bird a slight yellow cast and adds flavor when the fryer is cooked. Since broilers and fryers are young birds, the breast bone should be flexible.

The heavier birds actually have a larger proportion of meat to bone than small birds. As a general rule the large birds will have more fat and flavor.

Little ones, big ones, and a range of prices challenges you to look again before deciding which fryer will go into the market basket.

Store Cheese With Wine for Snappy Spread

Down through the years, cheese and wine have been flavormates. Have you ever heard of good, snappy cheddar stored in a glass fourth cup of candied fruit peel. The fruit peel can be added to the liquid mixture just before it is mixed with the flour mixture. You will have colorful tasty muffins on that dessert tray, or as an appetizer.

Candied Fruit Peel Adds Color to Plain Muffins

If you find extra candied fruit peel that was not used in fruit cake, cookies or coffee cake, here is a suggestion for making this week's meals more attractive. How about putting extra candied fruit peel to good use in muffins?

The MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawry suggests adding the fruit peel in this amount: For each cup of flour used to make muffins add one-fourth cup of candied fruit peel. The fruit peel can be added to the liquid mixture just before it is mixed with the flour mixture. You will have colorful tasty muffins and many compliments from your family.

THE SANDWICH PIE — Here's an idea that is as gay as confetti — the Sandwich Pie. It has dozens of fillings, plain and fancy. Slices of bread cut crosswise from a round loaf are the start. The end is as toast-tasty as anything you've ever eaten.

Round Sandwich Pie Heated Before Serving

The Sandwich Pie begins with a loaf of round bread—the largest, roundest loaf of bread you can get. Slice it in the round shape of a pie from the bottom up—try to get four good one-inch slices from the loaf. When you have sliced two pieces it should look like two layers of cake or two pies one on top of the other.

When you have the bread cut—spread the fillings over it, both sides, for good healthy tasty bits—then pop it into the oven. Just brown it—a hot oven does it in a minute or two—and serve it piping hot.

Cut it like a pie and serve. . . one piece will keep each guest happy for the evening. The guests will compete with each other to see who can come up with the most original filling. Just turn the party over to them—the party makes itself.

SANDWICH PIE FILLINGS:

Tomato and Sardine
The most appetizing filling is the sardine and tomato. Open one large or two small cans of sardines for each pie. Mix with mayonnaise—a little shaved onion—and spread thickly on both sides of the loaf slices. Then lay tomatoes entirely on one side, season with pepper and salt, and a dab of mayonnaise on each tomato. . . cover with other loaf slice (with just sardine mix on it) and pop into oven—just until the top is brown and crunchy crisp and the fillings are warmed.

Egg and Pickle Relish
Two hard cooked eggs, chopped, two tablespoons drained pickle relish, salt and pepper to taste and a little mayonnaise to hold it together. Spread and bake as suggested above, after all ingredients have been mixed together in mixing bowl.

Ham, Nut and Pineapple
Combine deviled ham with 1-cup chopped unsalted nuts. Spread on both sides of bread and top with thin layer of well-drained crushed pineapple. Bake.

Deviled Ham, Cheese and Bananas
Mash contents of one can of deviled ham with ½ snappy

Buttermilk Adds Tenderness to Cocoa Cookies

2 eggs
1 cup buttermilk
1 cup chopped nuts

Sift together the flour, cocoa, cinnamon and cloves. Cream shortening, baking soda and salt together. Gradually add brown sugar, creaming well, then vanilla. Beat in eggs thoroughly. Add sifted dry ingredients, alternately with buttermilk, until blended. Stir in nuts. Drop from a tablespoon, several inches apart, onto a greased cookie sheet. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 15 to 18 minutes or until lightly browned around edges. Remove to wire racks to cool. Store in tightly covered container. Makes 4 dozen large cookies.

Lower heat; pour one 12-ounce can V-8 juice over patties. Cover and simmer about 20 minutes. (During last 7 or 8 minutes of cooking, remove cover so sauce will thicken slightly.) Makes 6 servings.

French Fry Cauliflower

cheese roll and one large banana. Add 1 teaspoon prepared mustard and mix well. Spread on both sides of pie and bake.

Cheese, Bacon and Thyme

Baked Beans and Deviled Ham

Extra Dinner Rolls Served as Snacks

MADISON, Wis. (INS)—If you have any leftover rolls from dinner, make them into tempting snacks for the youngsters after school.

Charlotte Dunn, foods specialist at the University of Wisconsin, says cloverleaf or Parkerhouse rolls are especially adaptable to smalfry sandwiches.

Just separate or open the rolls, brush the top and inside with melted butter. Pop a teaspoon of peanut butter or jelly inside or between each section of roll and put in a buttered muffin tin or custard cup. Heat in a moderate oven for five minutes.

Tangelos Are Cross of Tangerine, Grapefruit

It looks like an orange and is not a tangerine. It is a tangelo. You will find them in the markets through February says the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

The tangelo looks like a large orange with high color and smooth skin. A tangelo is very juicy with flavor somewhat like a tangerine, though not quite so sweet. It is a cross between the tangerine and grapefruit.

Over 10,000 acres of tangelos are grown in Florida. Over 200,000 boxes are expected this year.

Step Down Your Weight

Stepping your way to a trim figure can turn bulges into by-gones. The first step is a good reducing diet for three to four weeks, followed with a bonus of calories . . . just enough to maintain the new, reduced weight. After three weeks, one returns to the reducing diet and so on until the weight is taken down by steps to the desired level. In practice, the holidays from reducing become shorter and shorter with the low-calorie diet favored as a new way of good eating.

Use Sponge for Tidying

A moist sponge is a mighty handy companion at baking time. If kept near the pastry board and mixing bowl, the moist sponge can be used to wipe up spills, and saves a lot of time for hand washings.

Botanical Garden at Lae Outstanding

LAKE, N. G. — With its permanent hot-house climate — 150 inches of rain per year and humidity to match — Lae is already well along toward having the best botanical garden in the tropics. Sixty-four acres are in lawns and gardens and a creek has been dammed for a lake with two floral islands planted with canna and flowering trees.

Water lilies are established in the lake. Unique to this garden are several pairs of Birds of Paradise living there and the collection of native orchids. Recently added have been two large cages for native animals.

Two pairs of tree kangaroos show a marked liking for visitors. There are also specimens of creamy-ginger, spotted eus-cus and the naked tail possum.

Good flavor change: add a tablespoon of grated orange rind to a two-egg cake made with two cups of flour.

Invention Protects Ship Undersides

ROTTERDAM — An invention developed by a Dutch engineer is said to successfully protect the underwater parts of ships from rust.

It has been tested on the liner Willem Ruys, of the Netherlands shipping line, Royal Rotterdam Lloyd, which previously had to be docked twice a year to remove the accumulated rust under its bottom.

The ship has now been in service for more than a year since the invention was applied and is said to be free of rust. The device is based on so-called cathodic protection but surmounts previous difficulties with this means.

Invalid fare: spread toast with butter and place in a soup plate or other deep bowl. Cover with scalded milk to which a few grains of salt have been added. You'll need about half a cup of milk for a slice of toast.

Bull Terrier Halts Battle of Natives

PORT MORESBY — A bull terrier ended a tribal fight in New Guinea the other day, Port Moresby learns. Two mountain tribes were fighting, while a gold miner and his dog stood on a hill nearby. Suddenly four arrows whizzed by the miner's head. He fired a couple of warning shots from his rifle.

The terrier, startled by the shouting and gunfire, ran among the struggling natives, biting all and sundry and upsetting the men by throwing his heavy body against their legs. The natives of the attacking tribe fled. The battle was over.

The victors, sure that the dog had won for them, sent over a deputation with a big pig to the miner's camp — a "gift" for the dog.

Wild rice should always be picked over carefully before it is used, then washed extremely well in a strainer under running warm water.

Sherry Blends With Fruit

Here is an elegant dressing for fruit salad when that popular dish is a main course, depending for its distinction on Spanish sherry, either the nutty amontillado or sweet oloroso type. Combine quarter cups of pineapple, orange and lemon juice with a half cup of sugar and two eggs, heating in a double boiler until the thickening sauce coats a spoon. When this has chilled, add three tablespoons of sherry, and fold in a cup of cream that has been whipped.

Spice and Stuff Apples

An interesting dessert to serve with pheasant or roast duck is spiced cinnamon apples stuffed with nuts and dried or citron fruit. The large Rome Beauties are best for baking apples, having a skin that holds its shape throughout cooking.

Leftover syrup (from canned fruit) is delicious served over sliced fresh pears. Add a little grated lemon rind to perk up flavor.

1st 'Iron Curtain' Winner; Also First Double Leader

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Nikita S. Khrushchev, the now grim, now amiable, now reckless peasant who appears to have carved his way to the top spot in the Communist world, has claimed another distinction.

He is the first leader of an Iron Curtain country to be named Man of the Year in the annual Associated Press poll of newspaper, radio and television editors.

The editors, reflecting the concern of the West over Khrushchev's rise to power, gave the burly, balding Kremlin leader nearly four times as many votes as his nearest rival, President Eisenhower.

Eisenhower was the winner in four of the last five years.

The Russian party boss attained preeminence in the Red world by apparently winning the long post-Stalin intraparty struggle for Russian power.

Chief concern for the West is Khrushchev's unstable personality. He can tell jokes or make threats, with or without a vodka glass in his hand.

Some have expressed fears that the emergence of Khrushchev as top dog in the Kremlin is the greatest threat to world peace.

SCIENCE

FIRST DOUBLE WIN

The AP editors also named Khrushchev man of the year in foreign affairs, the first time that any person has swept two categories in the year-ending survey.

German-born Werner von Braun, the acknowledged leader of American space thought, was the editors' big man in science, despite the fact that the United States trails the Communists in space progress.

The Russian scientists who successfully launched the two earth satellites that dealt a tremendous propaganda blow to Western Science trailed von Braun by only a handful of votes.

George Meany, the embattled president of the AFL-CIO, was named man of the year in labor for his fight against union corruption.

Teamster Union President-elect James Hoffa and retiring President Dave Beck, both rocked by charges of corruption, were a close second and third respectively.

For the seventh time since the poll was started, Henry Ford II, chief of the automobile company that bears his family name, was chosen man of the year in the industrial field.

Nell MacElroy, the Proctor & Gamble head who became secretary of defense, was a distant second to Ford.

4-YEAR REIGN
Another man who maintained domination in his field was evangelist Billy Graham.

His crusade for souls in New York's Madison Square Garden, which provided headlines through most of the summer, made him the top man in religion for the fourth straight year.

In the lighter fields of sports, literature and entertainment, last year's winners were overthrown by wide margins.

Lew Burdette of the Milwaukee Braves, the first pitcher in 37 years to start and win three World Series games, was handily the sportsman of the year.

It was the third year in a row that World Series heroes caught the editors' eyes. Don Larsen of the New York Yankees and Johnny Podres of the Brooklyn Dodgers won in '56 and '55 respectively.

A good distance behind Burdette was Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox' hardy perennial, who became the oldest man ever to win a major league batting title at the ripe baseball age of 38.

PRESLEY OUT
A new figure of some controversy supplanted Elvis Presley as the top choice in entertainment—movie producer Mike Todd.

Todd's production "Around the World in 80 Days" was the top movie drawing card and his two lavish parties, one in London, the other in New York, caught world attention.

James Gould Cozzens won the plaudits in the field of literature for his best-selling "By Love Possessed," a sensitive novel of an ethical man trying to do good in a world of evil.

Record Number of Cigarettes Smoked in 1957

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans reportedly smoked more cigarettes in 1957 than ever before.

They smoked fewer regular cigarettes in the past year than in the previous year, but enormously increased their consumption of filter cigarettes, a survey by a national magazine showed yesterday.

The report said a record 410 billion cigarettes were consumed in the country during the year. This was 19 billion more than went up in smoke in 1956.

The gain was made despite publication in the past year of new reports by some medical study groups that there is a statistical connection between smoking and lung cancer. Other authorities have asserted that there is no provable cause-and-effect relationship between the two.

Heavy Typhoon Damage Now Reported by Reds

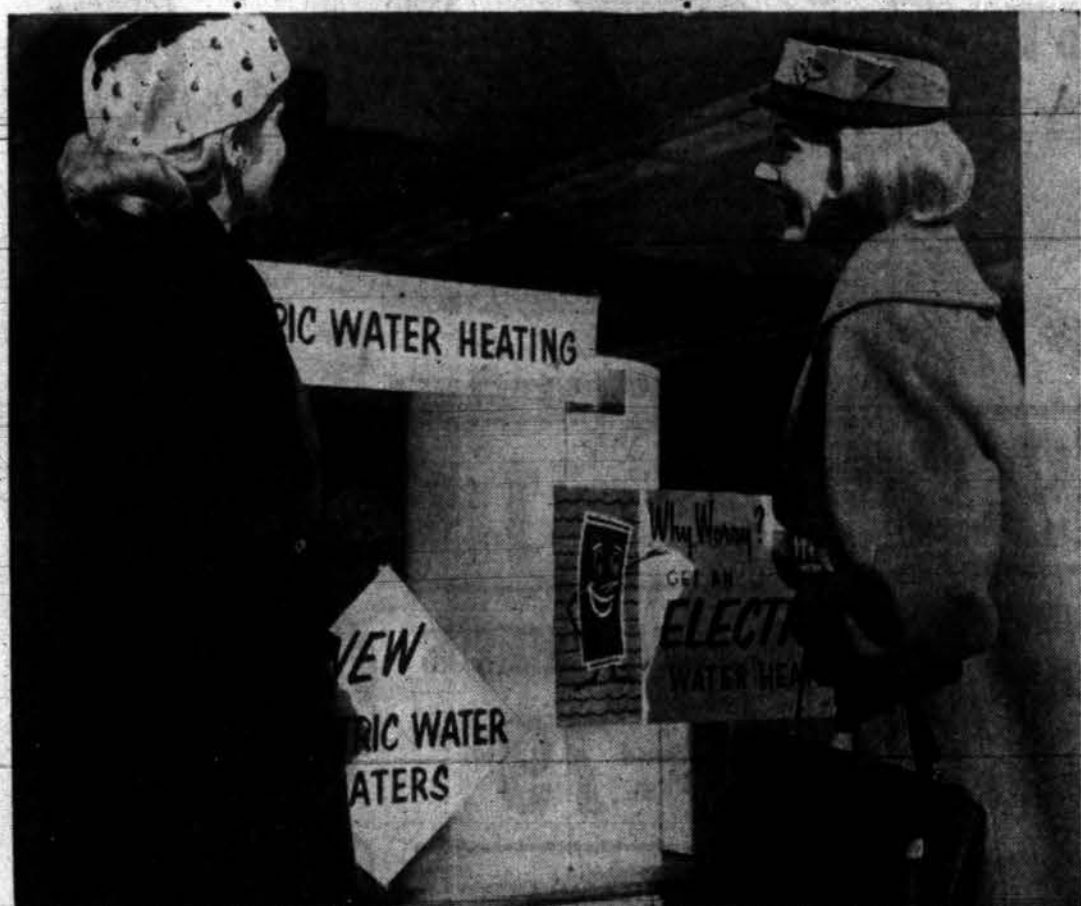

HONG KONG (AP) — A sudden typhoon with winds that hit the top of a Chinese wind scale overturned 900 fishing boats in the East China Sea Dec. 12, the Communist New China News Agency said today.

Loss of life was believed heavy but the Reds followed their usual policy of refusing to give details of fatalities. The agency said army and navy units rescued 1,200 fishermen from the storm area near Chusan, about 70 miles south of Shanghai.

Christmas Spirit Survives Home Damage

Family of 8 Escapes Early Holiday Fire

ROME — An early Christmas morning fire drove the Jonathan Bishop family of eight from their home, 189 Dickinson St., causing considerable damage to the top floor and attic. No one was injured.

Bishop, 44, and his wife, Florence, 41, were sleeping downstairs when the fire broke out in the attic.

Their son, Donald, 12, first noticed the blaze near the chimney about 8 a.m. He roused his parents and the rest of the family. They include: Thelma, 19, Lois, 15, Marilyn, 10, and twins, Dale and Dean, 15 months.

The family's Christmas was disrupted but enough spirit remained to make the best of it.

The children gathered up the Christmas gifts, many of which were soaked with water, and took them to the family car. Even the duck was saved from the kitchen.

"The important thing is we're still together," said their mother.

The children's grandfather, W. H. Bishop, took the family to his nearby home, 305 E. St. Clair, where the rest of the day was spent.

Thelma, home from Spring Arbor Junior College near Jackson, lost most of her clothes in the blaze.

The fire was confined primarily to the top floor but water damage to the entire 10-room frame house was extensive. Romeo volunteer firefighters said.

They blamed the blaze on a defective chimney.

Rochester Names Park Site for Slone

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Civic Park site and skating rink now will be known as the Robert A. Slone Park and Skating Rink.

The Village Council, meeting Monday, adopted a resolution to name the park in honor of Slone, outgoing village manager whom it felt was mainly responsible for the development of the park site and rink.

Slone has accepted a position as Grosse Pointe Park's city manager after being Rochester's manager for more than eight years.

Councilmen pledged to carry on development of the park.

John Welke Wins Out as Sugar Beet Grower

METAMORA — John Welke of Mayville has been named "Premier Sugar Beet Grower" by the Michigan Sugar Company.

The premier grower award, based on high return per acre, entitled him to enter the state contest for an all-expense educational trip and a college scholarship. These awards are made jointly by sugar companies throughout the state.

The final eliminations will be held at a banquet in Saginaw Jan. 20.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH B. SERRA

Dorothy E. McEvoy Weds at First Methodist Church

CLARKSTON — Dorothy E. McEvoy and Joseph B. Serra were married Saturday evening at the First Methodist Church. The Rev. William Richards officiated before the 300 guests.

The bride wore a white silk-tulle, floor length dress with a chapel sweep train. The dress, fashioned in Alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls and iridescent sequins, featured an oval neckline and long sleeves. Her headpiece was of Alencon lace and pearls edged with tulle.

On a white prayer book she carried a bouquet of orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Barbara Gardiner of Birmingham served as maid of honor. Miss Carol Richardson and Mrs. Donald Harrison, both of Detroit, and Miss Cecily Glauz of Grand Rapids were attendants.

Serving as ushers were Nolan Kaiser of Ann Arbor; Thomas Schwader of Cass City; Charles Balchulis, of Albion, and Prentiss Dettman of Boston.

A reception was held in the church parlors.

Imlay City Group Readies Land for New Industry

IMLAY CITY — Imlay City's Industrial Development Corporation has announced that it has options on four pieces of property to be made available for new industry desiring to locate here.

This was stated in the progress report made by Wilbur Young, of the Detroit Edison Company, and Howard Somers, trade and economic consultant for the Imlay City Chamber of Commerce.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William F. McEvoy and the late Mr. McEvoy of 6900 Andersonville Rd. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francesco Serra of 31610 Myrna St., Livonia.

The bride attended Albion College where she was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. She now attends Wayne State University.

Her husband graduated from Albion College where he was affiliated with Sigma Nu. He is now a student at Wayne State University, College of Medicine. He is a member of Phi Rho Sigma fraternity.

Lake Orion 4-H Boy to Head County Club

LAKE ORION — Bill Middleton of Lake Orion, a member of the East Orion 4-H Club, has been elected president of the Oakland County 4-H Service Club.

Other 1958 officers recently elected to the honorary service club for 4-H members 15 years old and older include: Walter Cuduhowski of Lake Orion, East Orion 4-H Club vice president; Janet Long of Milford, Milford 4-H Club secretary and Paul Norland of Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield 4-H Club treasurer.

The two recreation chairmen will be Clifford Rice of Birmingham, Bloomfield 4-H Club, and Grace Williamson of Waterford, Junior Homemakers Club. The representative of the Oakland County 4-H Fair Board will be James Atchison of South Lyon, Nu-Li-Wix Club.

Fire Destroys Home of John Jett Family

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — A couple and their infant daughter were overcome by smoke in a fire which completely destroyed their home, 10530 Danvers Ct., in the Oakdale Gardens Community Housing project Christmas morning.

Taken to Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital, Detroit, were John Jett, 28, his wife, Martha, 27, and their daughter, Rosemary, 16 months. The baby's foot was badly cut by glass as she was being handed through a broken window.

About 8 a.m. yesterday, a passer-by noticed smoke pouring out of the housing unit occupied by the Jett family and called the Township Fire Department.

Damage was estimated at $7,000 by Sgt. James Anderson of the fire department.

5 Past Masters Install Officers of Almont Masons

The outgoing master, George Plumb, was presented with his past master's pin by past master, Ray Warner, who has been a Mason for over 50 years and still is active.

Cuts Quite a Figure

LLANO, Tex. — Little David Lynn Maddox should cut quite a figure when he grows up. At least he got an early start. He was born with two good bottom teeth.

2,340 Waterford Children Sign for Topical Fluoride

More than 2,340 Waterford Township school children have signed up for the topical fluoride program to be given next summer, according to chairman Mrs. John Hoke.

All of the 19 schools in the district will participate, and treatments will be given to children whose ages are 3, 4, 7, 10 and 13. Each will pay $4 for four treatments to cover hygienists salaries and other expenses.

Last year the fluoride program was scheduled on a more or less "trial" basis, and treatments were given to some 600 pupils.

It was received so enthusiastically in the three participating elementary schools, that an all-out effort by P.T.A. Health chairmen have made possible the big program now underway for every school in the district.

Two portable dental equipment units, loaned by the state, and possibly a unit from the Walled Lake school system, will be in operation under the supervision of Dr. William Baer and three graduate dental hygienists. P.T.A. Health chairmen will also assist as volunteer labor.

The newly organized Waterford Township topical fluoride group has some $700 in their treasury towards the purchase of their own unit, which will cost approximately $1,000.

A representative from the Michigan State Board of Health will meet with fluoridation officials sometime in March to map out scheduling programs for each individual school, Mrs. Hoke said.

At that time, definite dates for treatments will also be assigned to various schools, so that final arrangements can be made for the summer program.

Gabby Hartnett hit .364 in 100 games in 1951 with Worcester, Mass., in the Eastern League in his only minor league season and wound up in Baseball's Hall of Fame.

Ike's Administration Takes on Job of Rallying West

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
WASHINGTON (U) — The Eisenhower administration opened 1957 trying to contain Soviet Russia in the Middle East and is closing the year trying to catch up with Soviet science in the sky.

It was a year of varied confusion and surprise setbacks in the Western camp. For the Soviets, it was a year of Kremlin upheaval and stunning scientific-military success.

At year's end, an ailing President Eisenhower was faced with the self-appointed task of pulling the Western alliance closer together. With British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, he envisioned a long-haul, wartime-like cooperation among the allies to resist Russia's Sputnik-sparked advances.

RIDES HIGH
In Moscow, Soviet party boss Nikita Khrushchev was riding high. He had eliminated all immediately threatening opposition to his leadership. He was stirring things up in the Middle East. He had the "ultimate weapon" — the intercontinental ballistic missile. And his scientists had flung Sputniks I and II out of this world.

But not everything went Khrushchev's way in 1957. Despite intrigues and propaganda, aided by the Kremlin, King Hussein's pro-Western government survived in Jordan.

Khrushchev's bluster and threats failed to terrify Turkey or cause the NATO nations to falter in their determination to strengthen their bases with American-made nuclear missiles.

COURAGE CAUTIOUS
Communist Poland, steering a cautious course away from Kremlin domination, accepted 95 million dollars in U. S. aid and applied for more.

The year 1957 saw leadership changes in all the big four nations except the United States.

President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon were inaugurated into their second terms Jan. 20. By November, Eisenhower's third illness in two years — this time a mild cerebral stroke — brought forth some suggestions that he resign. But Eisenhower kept his own counsel.

Russia, meanwhile, went

through leadership contortions. In February, Andrei Gromyko replaced Dmitri Shepilov as foreign minister. Then, in June and October the big bombs fell.

At Khrushchev's behest, during a meeting lasting from June 22 to June 29, the central committee of the Kremlin ousted from office: Georgi Malenkov, V. M. Molotov, Lazar Kaganovich, Maxim Saburov, Mikhail Pervukhin and Shepilov.

Premier Nikolai Bulganin was eclipsed by Khrushchev, then firmly in the saddle.

ZHUKOV BOUNCED

Four months later, Georgi Zhukov — elevated in the June shake-up to defense minister — also was bounced.

In France, there were three prime ministers — Guy Mollet, Maurice Bourges-Maunoury, and Felix Gaillard.

The British started out with Anthony Eden as prime minister, then switched to Macmillan when the ailing Eden stepped down.

ADENAUER WINS

There was stability in another Western stronghold, however. The ageless Konrad Adenauer was re-elected as head man in West Germany.

The United States and Russia gave some signs during the year of trying to get along. Their representatives met for months in London — together with those of Britain, France and Canada — trying to agree on a disarmament formula. In the end, the talks collapsed. But U.S.-Soviet talks in Washington, on stopping up exchanges of persons and information, continued behind closed doors.

There were a number of times when the Allies were unable to get along among themselves.

The year opened with a sharp split over the Suez Canal. The United States had strongly opposed the British-French-Israeli fighting with Egypt.

The French were angered at the British-American shipment of arms to Tunisia. And there was no single Western policy toward France's exhaustive battle against rebels in Algeria.

The British went into action on the side of the Sultan of Muscat and Oman against insurgents, and the United States obviously disapproved.

The future of the Mediterranean island of Cyprus tore apart the British, Greeks and Turks — with the United States trying to foster a solution acceptable to all.

West Germany fell out with Yugoslavia, breaking relations with Tito's government after it recognized the Communist regime in East Germany.

SUEZ OVERSHADOWED

The Suez dispute was overshadowed during the year by new difficulties in the Middle East.

Eisenhower got congressional support for his Middle East plan. Briefly, it pledged to fight if necessary against Communist military aggression and put up 200 million dollars in economic aid for anti-Communist countries in the area.

Syria, like Egypt before it, accepted massive military and economic aid from Russia. Syrian-American relations hit rock bottom with the ouster of three Americans from Syria and the ejection of Syrian Ambassador Farid Zein-eddine from Washington.

Jordan's King Hussein was in danger twice during the year of losing his throne, if not his life. With strong American backing, he saved off a palace coup in April and fought against Egyptian-Syrian-Russian propaganda attacks in November.

By December, the administration was bouncing back from the shock of Russia's ICBM and Sputnik successes. Whether the bounce would take the United States far enough is one of the secrets buried in the New Year.

The New York Yankees would probably have to take the honors as the most valuable team to the American League. The Yanks drew 1,837,620 fans on the road, and on the basis of percentages, the Bombers were the top drawing card for their rivals' home games.

The Yanks drew 32 per cent of Cleveland's total home attendance, 30 per cent of the White Sox home crowds, 28 per cent at Kansas City, 27 per cent at Baltimore, 25 per cent of Detroit's home total and 23 per cent of Boston's total.

TOP BIDDER MAY GET MATSON

Managing director of the Chicago Cardinals' football team, Walt Wolfner said recently, after his team was drubbed by the Steelers, 27-2, that every player on the team has a price on his head. There should be quite an auction before the highest bidder snails Ollie Matson, hailed as the pro's pro in the NFL.

LIONS IGNORE MAISON?

It was reported that the Detroit Lions had completely ignored Hillsdale's Doug Maison, who put on a spectacular passing exhibition in St. Petersburg's Holiday Bowl last Saturday.

The big Imlay City star completed 23 of 40 passes, and when the Dales finally got back to Michigan, it was finally learned that he did it with a broken foot and not a sprained ankle as was originally diagnosed.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

If the Lions-Browns game breaks out in a fistic fracas, Gene Gedman should be deputized for police duties. The Detroit halfback was a police administration major at the University of Indiana.

Pontiac High basketball fans should remember Al Moran who was signed recently by the Boston Red Sox for a $50,000 contract over five years. He was one of the boys who helped beat the Chiefs in the state basketball quarter-finals two years ago in Livonia.

The Queens College women's basketball team has abandoned the man-to-man defense this season.

No. 1 Receiver
Threat to East

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The smallest man on the West roster looms large in the plans for an aerial attack against the favored East in Saturday's Shrine football game.

He's Stu Vaughan of the University of Utah, the nation's leading collegiate pass receiver last season although he stands just 5-9 and weighs 165.

Utah's Coach Cactus Jack Curd is the head man for the West and you can bet Vaughan will be tabbed as one of the potential receivers.

During the season Vaughan caught 53 for 756 yards and five touchdowns. He won't have his Utah battery mate, Lee Grosscup, throwing to him, but the West's Joe Francis, Jack Douglas and Tom Flores all have proved fine throwers.

With Broken Ankle

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (INS) — Former Notre Dame football coach Frank Leahy who left the game in 1933 because of ill health, was named football coach and athletic director at Texas A. and M. college last night.

Leahy telephoned his acceptance of the A. and M. offer from a Michigan City, Ind., hospital where he is resting with a broken ankle. He suffered the fracture Christmas eve while unloading packages from his automobile at his Long Beach, Ind., home.

Leahy reported from the hospital that he feels "99 per cent okay" but said he wants to go to Chicago's Passavant Hospital for a checkup on his stomach.

Dr. M. T. Harrington, Texas A. and M., said Leahy may report at College Station shortly after the first of the year.

If the medical tests on Leahy's stomach prove satisfactory, formal signing of a three-year contract is expected.

Leahy announced that he was in line for the Texas A. and M. job Tuesday when he attended the funeral of former Illinois football coach Bob Zuppke at Champaign, Ill. Leahy had been at College Station over the last weekend conferring with school officials.

It was reported that under terms of the contract offered the 49-year-old Leahy he will receive $16,000 annually and also get financial aid from school backers.

Leahy, who retired as Notre Dame coach after suffering a stomach ailment in 1933, would succeed Paul (Bear) Bryant at Texas A. and M. Bryant was recently named head football coach at Alabama.

The former Irish coach became the top candidate for the Aggie job when Red Sanders of UCLA, also considered for the post, said in Los Angeles that he would remain with the Bruins.

During Leahy's 11-year coaching career at Notre Dame his teams won 87 games, lost 11 and tied nine.

The colorful figure died at a convalescent home yesterday, a week after he suffered a stroke. He was 80.

Chisholm was a leading figure in the establishment of the Los Angeles golf tournament in 1936 and had served as the tournament's star and announcer ever since.

Although born in Scotland, he has lived in the United States since 1899.

Detroit Remembers 56-10 Loss in 1954 Title Game

Lions 'Shape Up' for Browns

DETROIT (AP) — Coach George Wilson of the Detroit Lions predicted today his team, "with the exception of Bobby Layne, will be in its best over-all shape of the season" for its battle with the Cleveland Browns here Sunday for the National Football League championship.

Wilson didn't knock on wood to ward off a reversal of luck, but did take an anxious glance in the direction of Charley Ane, star offensive tackle, hobbling about on an injured knee, and defensive halfback Jim David baling an ankle injury under a sun lamp.

Ane plodded up and down the Briggs Stadium steps time and again in effort to loosen the knee. When someone remarked there might be as much as $1,000 difference in a winner's and a loser's share of the player pool, Ane was quick with the response: "There's a lot more than that at stake. I think I'll make it."

There are an assortment of bruises and pulled muscles scattered about and halfback Gene Gedman may be slowed by a shoulder separation, but he does expect to play. Layne, ace quarterback, broke his leg as Detroit thumped Cleveland 20-7 in their regular season meeting Dec. 8. He'll be missing from the lineup Sunday.

Wilson isn't letting his team forget that its triumph three Sundays ago against the Browns came the day after Cleveland backed into the Eastern Division championship through a Pittsburgh defeat of New York.

Nor is he letting his players forget 1954, when the Lions beat Cleveland 14-10 in the regular season only to be blasted 54-10 in the championship contest.

In fact, "remember 1954" has been chalked upon the dressing room blackboard.

Lions' coaches are reminding their charges, too, that Cleveland's Tommy O'Connell is the league's leading passer and that its Jim Brown is the top ground gainer. O'Connell missed the game against Detroit Dec. 8.

The stadium is scaled to produce a gate of $380,000 at $10, $7.50, $5 and $4 rates. With $200,000 thrown in from television and radio (NBC) fees the game likely will result in the biggest player pool in NFL history with the winners getting possibly $4,200 to $4,400 each in a 60-40 split.

The Detroit area, under league rules, will be blacked out for television.

Ninowski Passes Beat South, 23-20

MSU Aces Spark North Win

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A cracking duel between passer Jim Ninowski and runner Dick Christy highlighted the Shrine's Christmas night North-South college all-star football game. But it was a 36-yard field goal by Dave Kaiser that produced the North's 23-20 victory margin over a South team that was battering at the goal when the game ended.

Kaiser is the same Michigan State end who booted a three-pointer that gave the Spartans a 17-14 triumph over UCLA in the Rose Bowl game.

Ninowski, Michigan State quarterback, turned in a record passing performance for this charity game by completing 13 of 33 throws for 295 yards and a touchdown. His favorite target was another Michigan State star, end Bob Jewett, who hauled in eight aeriels for 201 yards and a score.

Christy's running — he scored twice and raced 70 yards from scrimmage and 89 more with punts — brought even more cheers from the crowd of 28,363 than Ninowski's passes. And the All-America halfback from North Carolina State was the key man in a whirlwind rally that almost turned defeat into victory for the Rebels.

After Kaiser's field goal late in the third period put the North ahead 23-13, Christy, who scored earlier on a 62-yard run from scrimmage, flashed down the sideline with a punt 52 yards for another touchdown.

Then, with about two minutes left, Christy scooted 47 yards to the North 33 with another punt. After an exchange of fumbles, the Carolina cruiser snared a 23 yard pass from Arkansas' George Walker at the 2. Powerful Jimmy Taylor, Louisiana State fullback, could get only one yard and the final whistle blew before the South could run another play.

The goal posts were on the goal line for this game and that figured in the first score of the night. Kaiser punted from his end zone and the ball hit the crossbar, putting the South in business at the North 14. Quarterback Bob Schwarz of the Citadel turned end for six yards, then lateraled to Florida's Jimmy Rountree who sped the final play.

The 63-yard pass play from Ninowski to Jewett put the North in striking distance, then Michigan's Jim Van Pelt hit Kaiser in the end zone with a 12-yarder and the score was tied.

In the second quarter, Ninowski's passes put the North ahead. The payoff was a 33-yard collaboration with the Illinois halfback Dale Smith, who evaded two tacklers after catching the short toss. The South knotted it at 13-13 on Christy's 62-yard blast between tackle and guard.

Notre Dame's Dick Lynch ran back the ensuing kickoff 73 yards to the South 28 and five plays later Ed Coffin of Syracuse blasted the final five yards. Kaiser completed the North scoring with his field goal just before the third period ended.

The victory was the third in this All-Star series for the North against six for the South. And it had a definite Michigan State flavor, what with Ninowski, Jewett, Kaiser and All-America center Dan Currie on the field and Spartan boss Duffy Daugherty doing the coaching. Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech coached the South squad.

Brown pooh-poohed speculation that Briggs Stadium is a jinx for Cleveland because the Browns never have won there. He said: "Seventeen guys on this team have played there only once, and that game didn't really count."

That meant 17 of the current Browns are new since the current played in Detroit in 1954, and the game there last Dec. 8 was one in which Cleveland had nothing to gain and Detroit had everything at stake. The Browns already had their conference title sewed up; the Lions had to win to get a chance at playoff cash.

Two first round games were slated this afternoon to lift the lid on the three-day round-robin tourney involving eight area high schools, four from Oakland County.

Redford Union and Detroit Thorston were scheduled to square off at 2 o'clock, followed by a 3:30 game between Walled Lake and Southfield.

Second round contests will be held tomorrow, then the tournament recesses for the weekend and the finals will be played next Monday. Four games are carded each day, two in the afternoon and two at night.

Bentley is undefeated in five tries while East Detroit has a 1-4 record. Other team records are: Walled Lake, 2-1; Southfield, 1-4; Thorston, 0-4; Union, 1-3; Farmington, 1-2; and Hazel Park, 1-0.

This is the 1st tourney of an annual event which will rotate each year among Southfield, Bentley, Union and Farmington.

Bell Rejects All Appeals

No Area TV for Title Tilt

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, has emphatically rejected appeals by high-ranking Michigan politicians to lift a 75-mile radius television blackout on the league's championship game between the Detroit Lions and Cleveland Browns.

"There will be no television permitted within 75 miles of any NFL game," Bell said yesterday, adding, "That's been our policy no matter if the game is a sellout or if it's a playoff or a championship game."

Bell's firm stand on the blackout in the Detroit area, site of this year's title game, came after Gov. G. Mennen Williams expressed hope that the ban on Sunday's game would be lifted. U. S. Sen. Charles E. Potter, Republican from Michigan, telegraphed Bell that since the game was a sellout "Detroit fans are entitled to watch their team win the national pro football championship."

Bell said: "I don't think it's honest to sell tickets to thousands of people, then afterwards, when all the tickets are gone, give the game to television."

"We don't believe in taking the people's money for a game that they would have watched on television in their living rooms."

"If you are going to televise you should announce it before tickets go on sale."

Bell added that a U. S. district judge in Philadelphia held that the NFL was entirely within its rights in blacking out home areas from television.

Setback Drops Detroit to 5th Place in NHL

Skinner Blasts Team for Santa Claus Role on Christmas

BOSTON (U. P.) — "We've played Santa Claus every trip here this season," commented Detroit coach Jimmy Skinner after the Red Wings' 4-1 defeat by the Boston Bruins in a Christmas night National Hockey League game.

"And it's going to stop," added the rotund, ruddy-skinned Skinner whose bag of tricks failed to gain Detroit its first victory of the season at Boston Garden — the only rink in the National League where the Wings have been consistently stopped.

Veteran Boston defenseman Allan Stanley's breakaway goal in the first period broke a 1-1 deadlock and started the Bruins on their way.

By snapping Detroit's three-game winning streak — their best of the season — Boston dropped the Wings from a share of third to fifth place in the NHL standings. Toronto helped the descent with a 5-4 decision over Montreal.

Ex-Chicago hand Jack McIntyre converted Alex Delvecchio's face-off pass from 25 feet out for Detroit's only goal at 9:15 of the opener. The Bruins' Bronco Horvath tied it some three minutes later before Stanley broke the game with a picture play.

Boston was short-handed when Stanley broke across his own blue line to take a pass from Jerry Toppazzini who had stolen the puck from Detroit. Racing ahead of two pursuing Wings, the veteran Boston defenseman let go a 15-footer off the inside of the post which banged off the skate of goalie Terry Sawchuk.

Stanley got the shot away just as Detroit's Hec Lalande sent him sprawling on the ice.

Two minutes later, Toppazzini, against with the Bruins shy a skater, stole the puck from Bob Bailey in the Wings' zone and fired a whirling 20-foot backhand into the nets.

John Bucyk added the other Boston goal at 13:44 of the final period. By breaking a six-game winless streak, Boston took over undisputed possession of third place in the NHL.

In previous meetings at Boston Garden, the Wings were whipped 4-0, 7-2 and 4-3.

Motor City Tournament Starts Friday

State Cage Teams in Action

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sport Editor, Pontiac Press

Michigan college basketball teams return from a short holiday reprieve for a heavy schedule of activity this weekend.

Michigan and Michigan State take to the road for their annual West Coast trip before starting Big Ten play Jan. 4.

A pair of tournaments highlights state action, featured by the 6th annual Motor City Tourney in Detroit and the 4th annual Flint-College Tourney at Ballenger field-house in Flint.

Columbia, Marquette, Georgia Tech, and U. of D. make up the Motor City entries, while Central Michigan, Alma, Hillsdale and Flint Junior College fill the Flint card.

Both tournaments get underway Friday night and finish up on Saturday night.

At 7:30 at Flint, Alma will meet Central Michigan at 9:30, Hillsdale meets Flint J.C. with the consolation game at 7:30 Saturday and the finals at 9:30.

In the Motor City opener, Georgia Tech will play Marquette at 7:30 and Friday's finale Detroit faces Columbia.

Columbia, with an 18-6 record last season, made its first visit to the city of Detroit in 50 years. In 1906 the Lions lost to Detroit YMCA, 22-15.

Coach Lou Rossini, one of the youngest coaches in college basketball, is in his 4th season at the age of 34 at Columbia. Only one senior is on the 15-man Columbia squad which will be underdog to the Titans in the journey opener.

Captain Rudy Milkey, the lone senior, is the team's top scorer, taking up the gap left by Al-America guard Chet Forte.

U. of D., which has compiled a surprising 5-2, has one of the finest guards in the Midwest in little Mike Walsh, a 5-9 senior sharpshooter who is hitting a clip of 20 points per game.

The Titans defeated such top cage powers as Fordham, Louisville, Canisius and St. Francis of Pennsylvania among its victories. Louisville and St. Francis were unbeaten until they ran into U. of D.

In first game Friday night, the Engineers of Georgia Tech, with a 2-4 mark meets Marquette, 2-5.

Two of Tech's losses were overtime defeats to Texas Tech, 61-59 and to Georgia, 69-68. Victories were scored over Alabama, Davidson, and Baylor.

Coach John Hyder's Tech quintet which posted an 18-3 record last season, could be the surprise of the tournament. In the seven games to date, five Engineers are hitting in double figures, led by Bud Baker's 15.7 average.

Marquette, which has lost to such formidable foes as Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Louisville, scored its long win against Notre Dame.

Member of Marquette's squad is junior guard Jim McCoy, brother of former MSU star Julius McCoy.

The Spartans play at ULCA Friday and at Southern California Saturday night. Michigan is at Wyoming Friday and New Mexico Saturday.

IN MOTOR CITY — One of the leading candidates for the Most Valuable Player honor in the Motor City Basketball tournament which starts Friday night at the U. of D. fieldhouse is Columbia's Rudy Milkey, a 6-5 senior forward. Columbia plays Detroit in the second game while Georgia Tech and Marquette play the opener in the first round.

NHL Teams Battle for 3rd

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There seems to be a log-jam developing around the middle of the National Hockey League standings.

The Boston Bruins, Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit Red Wings are having a battle-royal for possession of third place. Boston took over third last night by defeating Detroit 4-1 and Toronto moved into fourth position with a 5-4 victory over the league-leading Montreal Canadiens.

In the remaining game the runner-up New York Rangers missed a chance to gain ground on first place by bowing to the tailend Chicago Black Hawks, 3-1.

The Bruins, who were tied for third with the Red Wings before last night, have 32 points. The Maple Leafs have 31 and fifth-place Detroit 30. The Rangers, with 39 points, still trail Montreal by four.

Rookie Frank Mahovlich collected three goals for his second "hat trick" of the season to trigger Toronto's victory. His third goal at 15:08 of the second period put the Leafs ahead to stay 4-3, but it was Rudy Murray who produced the decisive tally with 38 seconds left. Mahovlich has scored 12 times in the last 11 games for a season's goal output of 15.

Billy Dea and Lorne Ferguson, both obtained from Detroit in a recent swap, scored a goal in Chicago's victory. Ted Lindsay, another former Red Wing, caged the other goal while Jack Evans averted a shutout for the Rangers. The victory was Chicago's first in seven games and snapped New York's six-game unbeaten streak. It also was the Rangers' first Christmas Night setback on home ice since 1928. Since then they had won nine and tied one in 10 previous outings.

Cotton Bowl Fever Rising Fast

DALLAS (U. P.) — Navy's football team comes to town today looking for a fight and expecting to get a stiff one just seven days hence when the Rice Owls face the Midshipmen in the Cotton Bowl.

Football fever started rising as Navy, making its first appearance in Dallas' post-season classic, moved into sight. The Tars will meet with the coaching staff to night and make ready for the start of practice at the site of the game tomorrow.

Rice, meanwhile, was in Abilene, Tex., where the Owls had a successful training period before they played in the 1954 Cotton Bowl. Coach Jess Neely got his boys out of Houston because a big basketball tournament is going on there, with all the Southwest Conference teams competing, and he chose the comparative quiet and non-disturbing atmosphere of West Texas for his crucial practice.

Navy's magnificent Midshipmen, who will rate as favorites in the Cotton Bowl, will get Dallas' official welcome in a ceremony tomorrow morning at the high school stadium. Rice won't arrive until Monday for the usual speeches of welcome and the distribution of the traditional Texas hats.

The Cotton Bowl this time matches teams that never have lost a bowl game. Rice has won the Cotton Bowl three times and the Orange Bowl once. Navy has been in only two, getting a tie in the 1923 Rose Bowl and beating Mississippi in the 1954 Sugar Bowl.

Everybody thinks it'll be a terrific offensive game with Rice taking to the air more than usual because of a devastating Navy defense that held such worthies as Army, Notre Dame and Duke to less than 100 yards rushing per game.

Rice averaged 237 yards on the ground during the regular campaign and it took that to win a lot of its games. They call Navy's line the "Grocery Seven" and it presents the toughest barrier the Owls have had occasion to face. Passingwise, Rice hasn't been too heavy—at least not as heavy as Navy. The Owls have tried 121 passes in 10 games while Navy has attempted 230. But Rice has been more effective with its throws, averaging 5.46 to 4.93 for Navy.

Aussies Take Davis Cup Lead

Mackay, Seixas Strong in Loss for Americans

Host Team Can Clinch Crown Again With Win in Doubles

MELBOURNE (INS) — Australia took a commanding lead today in defense of the Davis Cup when Mal Anderson and Ashley Cooper beat off strong challenges by America's Barry Mackay and Vic Seixas in the opening singles matches.

Cooper put Australia in front 2-0 in the best of five series by downing the aging Seixas 3-6, 7-5, 6-1, 1-6, 6-3. Anderson subdued the inexperienced Mackay in the opening match 6-3, 7-5, 3-6, 7-9, 6-3, before 21,000 fans.

The Aussies can win the Davis Cup for the third straight year in the doubles tomorrow when Anderson and Mervyn Rose go against the yet-unnamed U.S. duo at Kooyong Stadium in Melbourne.

Cooper, 21, had youth on his side in the hard fought match with the 34-year-old Seixas who showed signs of tiring under the Aussie's consistent baseline placements.

Seixas, whom the experts considered the only American with much chance of winning a match, had considerable trouble with Cooper's tricky and often unorthodox shots.

Mackay put on a surprisingly strong show against Anderson, who is considered by many to be the best amateur tennis player in the world, but he was playing the first big stadium match of his career and plainly showed it.

The 22-year-old Dayton, O., youth put up a gallant battle but inexperience cost him several vital points against the equally young but veteran Australian campaigner who won the U.S. title at Forest Hills last summer.

A habit of jumping in the air before hitting his service was Mackay's biggest fault, causing him to serve erratically. He double faulted 20 times.

When his powerful serves stayed in, they were nearly impossible to return. He hit 15 aces.

Mackay looked a thoroughly beaten beginner when he was down 3-5 in the fourth set but volleyed and served brilliantly to take the set.

There was light rain and gusty wind when the match started but it ended in hot sunshine.

For Rose Bowl Clash

OSU, Oregon All Out

PASADENA, Calif. (U) — It was back to the practice grind today for Ohio State and Oregon, with their climactic Rose Bowl football clash less than a week away.

Christmas thoughts were shoved aside as both teams donned their cleats and resumed workouts for the New Year's Day classic.

Although both teams were far from home, and spent Christmas under a blazing sun which sent temperatures soaring into the high 70s, the holiday was memorable. Santa Claus remembered everyone.

The Bucks, basking in the role of 19-point favorites over the Pacific Coast co-champions, had their big yuletide party Christmas Eve. Ernie Godfrey, Ohio's veteran freshman mentor who has been on the staff since 1929, played St. Nick and passed out presents to 34 players.

The Webfoots, awed not in the least by the underdog tag planned on them by the odds-fellows, waited until Christmas afternoon for their gift exchange, then joined the Bucks for a Rose Bowl Committee party last night.

The game took on a war-like aspect as the Oregonians attended a special showing of "Farewell to Arms" Christmas Eve, and yesterday afternoon the Bucks were guests aboard the U.S.S. Columbus, a cruiser named for Ohio's capital, off San Pedro.

No Christmas practices were held.

With the exception of Ohio State's Don Clark and Jerry Ballinger, both left halfbacks, the cripples on both squads were rounding into shape. Clark, leading ground-gainer for the Big 10 champs, probably will miss the big game because of a late-season groin injury, and Ballinger is definitely benched with a broken right hand suffered this week in practice.

Harry Mondale, Oregon's stubby 198-pound guard who stands only five feet six, is practically recovered from an influenza attack and will be ready to go. Kenneth "Tug" Wilson, Western Conference commissioner who has been abed for several days with the same ailment, was expected to be up and about by the weekend as he continued to improve.

Civil Service Has Disability Program

By RAY HENRY
Most federal government workers are entitled to monthly payments if they become totally disabled after five years of employment.

This disability program is part of the regular Civil Service retirement system to which most government workers must contribute as part of their salary every pay day.

But, before the Civil Service Commission will make any payments it requires a person claiming them to show that he actually is totally disabled.

In most cases, this means the employee must have an official physical examination which is arranged by and paid for by the commission.

After the examination, the commission looks at the record and evidence and makes its decision. It must find that the employee is unable — because of his disability — to satisfactorily and efficiently carry out the duties of his present or a similar job.

But, he doesn't have to be found disabled for all kinds of work.

The disability need not have occurred while he was on duty for him to draw the payments. For example: A disability growing out of a car accident is just as valid for the collection of payments as a bad back resulting from carrying bags of mail in a post office.

The commission will not make payments, however, if the disability is of short duration, such as a broken arm or leg. And the disability must not be due to the employee's wilful misconduct, intemperance, or vicious habits within five years before he becomes disabled.

Applications for disability payments are available from the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. And, it's to this office that the applications must be returned after they're completed.

CERTIFIED BY EMPLOYER

The applications must be accompanied by a statement from the employee's superior officer showing how the employee's condition affects his work and a report from his doctor telling about the disability. Each statement should include an opinion as to whether the disability resulted from intemperance, vicious habits or wilful misconduct.

If the commission decides that the payments should be made, they'll become effective on the first day of the month after the disabled employee has been separated or on the first day, of the month after the employee had to quit work because of his disability.

The size of the payments will depend on the employee's salary at the time he was disabled. But, in any case, his payments will be the lesser of (A) 40 per cent of his average annual salary, or (B) an amount equal to what his annual retirement payments would be if he had continued to work until he was 60.

Every year until the disabled person reaches 60 he'll be required to have a physical examination, unless it is found to be permanent. The commission pays the cost of these exams and any reasonable expense connected with traveling to and from the examinations.

If a disabled person is considered to be recovered, his payments will continue temporarily — but not more than a year — to give him a chance to find a job.

Reemployment by the government stops his payments at the end of the month before he goes back to work. Any other job doesn't stop his payments until a year after he's found to be recovered.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

Prisoners Try to Tunnel Free

Guards Thwart Escape in Underground Battle at Walla Walla

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — A band of convicts attempting to tunnel their way to freedom from the Washington State Penitentiary was caught in the act by guards yesterday, touching off a brief but furious underground battle.

The prisoners, some of them brandishing knives, came out fighting when accosted in their 60-foot shaft, and one guard was beaten and kicked in the battle. No knife wounds were inflicted.

The convicts, wearing flour sacks over their heads to protect their identities, all broke away, throwing their knives to the ground as they ran to the tunnel entrance within the prison walls.

In a convict-by-convict search of Wing 7, the starting point of the tunnel, guards later picked out seven prisoners accused of being in on the abortive escape plot. Dirt under the fingernails and in their hair gave them away.

Warden Bob Rhyne said three to five other prisoners were involved in the underground scrap with the guards, members of a routine security checking crew. Rhyne declined to name the guard injured or the convicts known to have been involved in the escape attempt.

Got the 2 Front Teeth

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mrs. Walter Dorman looked again Christmas Day and found that her 6-pound 13-ounce son, Christopher, born Christmas Eve had two front teeth. She said it was nothing new to her since her four-year-old, William, had two teeth in exact the same position when he was born.

Canada Lists 25 Dead in Christmas Traffic

TORONTO (AP) — Christmas traffic accidents took 25 lives in Canada between noon Tuesday and midnight last night, a Canadian Press survey showed. Other types of accidents killed four during the holiday period.

Scientists Duplicate Principles of Universe in Missile Design

By KEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The day of the ballistic missile which has both intercontinental range and near pinpoint accuracy is just about here.

To reach this development stage, scientists have duplicated the principles of the universe and created temperatures 1½ times hotter than the sun.

They have developed guidance instruments which navigate without reference to any point on earth, instruments so sensitive that the weight of a lint speck from a polishing cloth will spin them off course by several degrees.

There apparently are well-founded reports that the Sperry Gyroscope Co. of Great Neck, N.Y., has produced a device known as the accelerometer which can detect and correct a deviation in the flight path of a missile of one hundredth of one degree.

This means that a missile fired at the moon some 238,000 miles away would hit a target no longer than a football field.

Further, these instruments are sturdy enough to be packed inside a missile which accelerates at nine times the force of gravity.

From the military standpoint two major problems have had to be mastered:

1. How to guide a missile from Point A to Point B 5,000 miles or more distant with near-pinchpoint accuracy.

2. How to bring back an object ranging 600 to 1,000 miles in space without having it burned to a cinder by atmospheric friction.

To solve the first problem — at least theoretically — scientists have taken the gyroscope, which employs the principles of the universe, and incorporated it into the navigation system known as "inertial guidance."

With this system a missile, an airplane, a ship or submarine can be directed to its destination without compass, radio or radar and without a glimpse of earth, sun or stars.

The solution to the second problem involved an almost incredible search for a material—and how to shape that material once found—which had the ability:

To withstand the shock of firing. To enter the minus-100-degree cold of space without cracking. To withstand temperatures of 15,000 degrees Fahrenheit — 1½ times hotter than the sun's surface—without burning up.

In essence the principle of the gyroscope is as old as the world. Indeed, the world is a gyroscope.

The world spins on its axis with an equatorial speed of 1,000 miles per hour plus. This centrifugal force keeps its axis pointed to within one degree of the North Star.

In brief, a gyroscope can be given enough spin to keep its axis in a fixed position. If you want to change the direction of an object, you simply change the axis of the gyroscope.

The new inertial guidance system employing the gyroscope was first announced last April 18 by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. It was largely the work of Dr. Charles S. Draper and Dr. Walter Wrigley.

Mom, Children Held in Detroit Robbery

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Police arrested a mother, her three children and her friend yesterday in connection with the $6,938 armed robbery of a Detroit supermarket last week.

They were arrested in a car that fitted a description released by Detroit police.

Paul Mullins, captain of Shreveport detectives, said each had only three or four dollars when arrested.

They were identified as Rosalie Young, 45 and her daughters, Genevieve Rochelle Young, 30, Flora Jean Young, 17, and James Young, 18, all of Detroit, and Lennie Rosburgh, 31, of Ypsilanti. Police said they waived extradition.

They began work in 1939 on the problem under the sponsorship of Sperry and the U. S. Navy Bureau of Ordnance.

The heart of the system is a completely free-floating gyroscope sealed in a four-inch cylinder about the size of a tomato can. It spins in a fluid at 12,000 revolutions per minute supported by practically frictionless sapphire bearings.

By aligning the axis of the gyroscope to an imaginary star, any object which moves and can be controlled can be directed to a pre-determined target.

Further, no natural phenomena such as weather, sunspots or magnetic influences will cause it to deviate from its path.

The problem of re-entry has been tackled by nearly 20 private concerns. One of the pioneers in the field is AVCO Manufacturing Corp. at Everett, Mass.

AVCO is under a 111-million-dollar contract to the Air Force to build the nose cone for the intercontinental ballistic missile Titan, now being made by the Martin Co. of Baltimore.

At the Massachusetts laboratories of AVCO, a 55-year-old invention known as the shock tube was refined by Dr. Arthur Kantrowitz, one of the nation's top scientists in gas dynamics.

Kantrowitz's shock tube is a large, cannonlike assembly which, when fired, produces a shock wave so fast that its travel time is measured in millionths of a second.

The tube is fired by the high compression of a combination of gases or the explosion of oxygen and hydrogen tempered by helium and nitrogen.

As the gases flow over any object placed in the chamber of the tube, conditions result which approximate that of a missile nose cone traveling at 18,000 miles per hour. The resistance of the object to the flow of gases produces temperatures of 15,000 degrees or more.

AVCO has announced that it finally does have a cone which will meet the military's requirements. While no details are available it is known that the cone is blunt and rounded with a needle projecting outward to break the sound barrier.

Safecrackers Work Hard for Their Loot

PAWTUCKET, R. I. (AP)—Thieves had to work hard for their loot at the Colfax Packing Co.

Police said last night the burglars had to scale a fence, climb through a boiler room window, remove a metal duct from an adjoining office and climb through a 14-inch opening.

Then they had to pry an iron plate from the top of the safe and chop through eight inches of concrete to reach the money.

Company officials said they don't think there was any more than $300 in the safe.

7 Die, 43 Injured Salvaging Gasoline

RUNAWAY BAY, Jamaica (AP)—High-octane gasoline spilling from a wrecked tank truck exploded yesterday as villagers were scooping the fuel into cans for their homes and cars. Seven were killed and 43 hospitalized.

Police said the explosion was touched off by the scavengers' burning cigarettes. The fuel burned for two hours.

Some of the injured slipped on the streaming gasoline as they attempted to flee and were trapped in the flames.

Elvis Gives Toy Bears to March of Dimes

NEW YORK (AP)—Elvis Presley is giving up his teddy bear collection.

The singer, due for induction into the armed services, has shipped the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis a trunkful of stuffed animals from his collection. A March of Dimes spokesman said the teddy bears would be sold at an auction Jan. 20, with the benefits going to the foundation.

Says Statues of Heroes Must Now Be on Foot

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—This city, which has many equestrian statues, says statues of future heroes must be on foot — or replaced by something like a memorial carillon.

Planning officials say the age of equestrian statues ended when tanks, planes and other mechanical devices replaced the horse. And they don't think a Patton or a Doolittle in a plane or a MacArthur in a PT boat would be appropriate on a memorial boulevard.

Traffic officials are expected to be happy about this.

BLACK BEAUTY

Sang Way From 'Cellar Rat' to Stellar Role

Juliette Greco: Tuned to Fame

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS (NEA) — In 12 years, black-haired Juliette Greco has sung her way out of a miserable Paris cellar called "Le Tabou" into the star-studded spotlights of palaces like the Olympia Music Hall in Paris and the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

The girl with the throaty, haunting voice and the elusive look of an ancient Egyptian queen has made the transition from the symbol of the "cellar rats," as the French were known, to the select company whom Parisians affectionately call their "sacred monster."

"Fame was thrust on me," says Juliette, who is still as warm-hearted and unaffected as she was at the end of the war when, at 19, she was the darling of the then new existentialists.

Today existentialism is considered old hat. Jean Paul Sartre, who started it all in Paris, has become a novelist who may one day sit among the graybeards of the French Academy.

But Juliette, who has forsaken sweaters and slacks for a closely molded Dior black sheath gown, still sings the subtle song of disenchantment.

WITH VOICE ALONE

She does it with her voice alone, a voice which conjures up a thousand images of the life of the humble French people.

"Gestures," says Juliette, "are monstrous and lewd."

On the way from the cellar to the Waldorf's elegance, Juliette tried the movies and in 1953 married Philippe Lemaire, who starred in her first film. The marriage broke up in 1955 and Juliette took their daughter, Laurence-Marie, who is now three.

"After all, she is my greatest success," says Juliette. "If I work hard, it is for her."

Today Juliette owns the first floor of a historical mansion where a famed beauty of the court of Louis XIV once reigned. She lives in a decor of vermillion walls, dark green doors, leopard velvet upholstery. In the cobble courtyard below, she keeps her blue-shrouded white Thunderbird.

A stone's throw away is the sixth-rate Hotel de la Louisiane where she lived during the war, and where her room was often used as a hideout for members of the Resistance.

JAILED BY NAZIS

The Nazis deported her mother and older sister to Germany in 1942; Juliette herself spent a couple of months in jail, but was released because she was only 13.

Four years later Juliette and her disenchanted "gang," which included Boris Vian, author of "I Will Go Spit on Their Tombs," formed their cellar club.

Juliette didn't sing in those days; she stood around and played hostess in an old sweater, black slacks and a long, snaky hairdo.

The diamond-and-mink brigade flocked to the cellar to see and be seen, and Juliette was lionized. Her picture appeared in the world's newspapers and magazines as the symbol of mad, postwar youth.

After a while, Juliette got tired of the adoration—and she began to sing. She took a long course of voice training.

It took her to the Waldorf-Astoria last year. She'll go back again next spring for a four-week engagement, and either before or after that will go to Japan.

JULIETTE GRECO AND DAUGHTER—Gestures are monstrous.

IN THE CAMERA'S EYE...

It's not a wicked gleam. But it's pretty fresh. Very fresh, in fact. For the camera got that gleam while it was chasing "LES GIRLS" all over Europe to film one of the freshest stories to dance along in years.

M-G-M's "LES GIRLS" is fresh in every department. The romantic complications are novel. The Cole Porter score is brand-new. The dances are bold. The dialogue is crisp. The Paris, London and Madrid backgrounds gladden in imaginatively used CinemaScope and Metrocolor.

The oldest thing in the picture is L'Amour. But if there's anything newer than Love, who wants it?

SO JOIN LES GIRLS
(rhymes with "playgirls")

It takes a GIANT to feed a family of 170,500,000

Getting food to 170,500,000 people in over 49,500,000 U.S. households is a job of giant proportions. Yet the country's 401,000 grocery retailers, large and small, do it every day . . . and do it so effectively and in such volume, that we are the best fed people on earth.

Your local food store operator's never-ending search for new and better ways to fill your market basket is one reason why you enjoy the best, the freshest food possible at the lowest possible price.

It's also the reason why grocery retailers spend more money in newspapers than in any other advertising medium . . . well over $162,000,000 in 1956. They have found that the daily newspaper is the most effective and efficient way to keep you informed of products and prices.

To satisfy a hunger for news of people, places and products, people buy over 58,000,000 brand new, freshly made copies of the daily newspaper every day. Because the newspaper is the natural, logical place for America to shop, it's the natural, logical place to advertise.

If you have anything to sell, make sure it's seen. More people will see it in the newspaper than anywhere else.

All business is local . . . and so are all newspapers.

Britain to Cut Protocol, Not Dignity of Monarch

LONDON (INS) — More binding red tape will be cut and some antiquated protocol will be jettisoned by Britain's royal family in the coming year.

But don't expect the strong-willed head of the family, Queen Elizabeth II, to allow this trend towards modernization to impinge in the slightest on the sacred dignity of the British monarchy.

So much nonsense has been written about the Queen, her family and her court, that a largely erroneous picture of Elizabeth II has inevitably been implanted in the minds of the public both in Britain and abroad.

England's Queen — and this is borne out by those who work closely with her — is much more human, dedicated and a stronger person than she is made out to be.

Elizabeth is no frail little woman bowed down by the heavy burdens of state. She is a highly polished professional ruler who enjoys every moment of being the world's most important Queen. The past busy royal year has taken her to France, Portugal, Denmark, the United States and Canada and set up a new record for domestic engagements, but her self-discipline and stamina have never once failed.

Broadway Success Tough to Finance

NEW YORK (INS) — Broadway's big new prestige and box office success "Look Homeward, Angel" followed a familiar pattern of financial headache before getting her.

Producer Kermit Bloomgarden capitalized the production at $125,000 but found a dearth of backers willing to invest in the drama based on a Thomas Wolfe novel.

Finally, by agreeing to give the organization status as co-producer, he obtained $46,000 from Theater 200, a syndicate of investors.

In recent years producers of such stand-out hits as "Oklahoma!" and "Harvey" found the going rough before getting sufficient money to bring the shows in.

Total cost of all accidents in the U.S. in 1956 would build a new merchant fleet with 200 ships the size of the Queen Mary.

Algeria Has Quiet Holiday

But Terrorists Kill 3 in Paris While 4 Are Bombed in Africa

PARIS (U-P)—Algeria today reported its quietest Christmas—five deaths—since the nationalist rebellion began there three years ago, but terrorists claimed three more lives in Paris.

One Algerian was shot to death on a suburban Paris street. Another was stabbed to death in a subway station.

A retired French army captain who served in North Africa was riddled with bullets in a Montmartre alley. His assailants escaped.

Daily attacks occur in France against Algerian workers, usually because they refuse to contribute to rebel funds. Some Algerians have also been killed in rivalry between two rebel groups.

In Algeria itself, one European and three Moslems were killed when a grenade was tossed into a crowded cafe at Bone. Three Frenchmen were wounded in a similar attack at Constantine.

One Algerian was killed and four wounded when two mining villages near Bone were attacked with mortar fire.

But elsewhere in Algeria—especially in the big cities of Algiers and Oran—crowded cafes and restaurants were not bothered.

Americans Facing Deportation in Japan

TOKYO (U-P)—The U. S. Embassy said today it had learned officially that some Americans may face deportation. But the Japanese Foreign Office said that there are no American officials on any police blacklist.

Japanese police said Tuesday that they would seek deportation of 852 foreign civilians plus the recall of several high-ranking American diplomats and military officers for what was described as misconduct or criminal activities. Sixty-six Americans were reported to be on the list.

A U. S. official asked if any U. S. officials were blacklisted, the Foreign Ministry said, and he was assured they were not.

The embassy added that the police have given Japanese immigration officials information about a number of aliens, including some Americans, and this may result in their deportation.

Morse Accuses U.S. of U.N. Bypass Plans

TOKYO (U-P)—Sen. Morse (D-Or) said today the United States is guilty of attempting to bypass the United Nations by settling world problems at summit meetings of big powers' leaders.

"I think the issue of peace and war can best be solved through the United Nations," Morse told a news conference.

Morse arrived in Tokyo yesterday on the way home from the Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference at New Delhi. He was chairman of the American delegation.

The senator and his wife will leave by plane Friday.

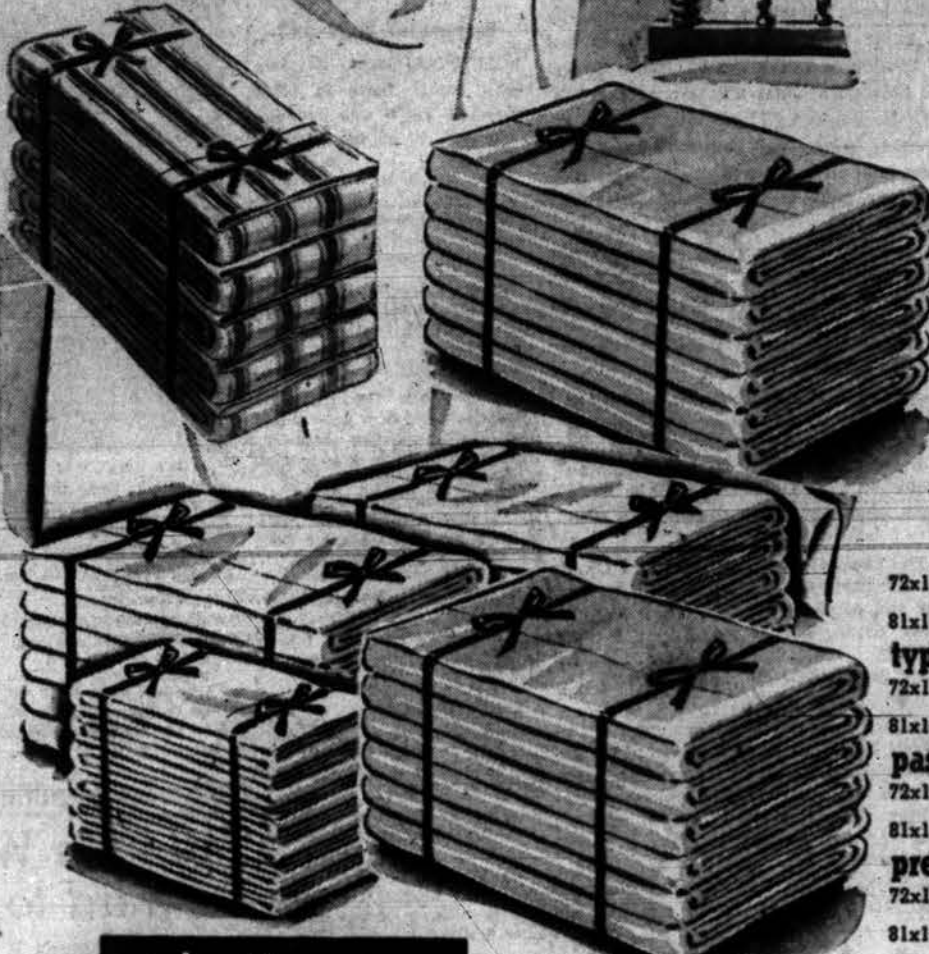

Four Drown at Dunkirk

DUNKIRK, France (U-P)—An automobile carrying seven French youths home from a Christmas ball plunged into a canal during a thick fog last night. The driver and two passengers escaped from the submerged car. The other four drowned.
