Senate Getting Bill to Beef Up Antitrust Power

Steel Firms Receiving Subpoenas Calling for Production Figures

WASHINGTON (U-P) — A bill to strengthen the government's power to break up monopolistic corporations was on its way to the Senate today while Senate subcommittee were being sped to the dozen largest steel companies.

The massive assault mounted by President Kennedy against steel's $6-a-ton increase was still rolling, though the price boost was rescinded Friday.

The battle's aftermath found the stock market at a 1962 low, Kennedy's prestige at a new high, and the prospects for his whole legislative program considered suddenly brighter.

Pressing ahead with its announced antitrust investigation, the Senate Antitrust subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., wrote subpoenas for the 12 top companies to bring in figures on production by mid-May.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., prepared to introduce three bills today to sharpen the teeth of the antitrust laws.

NEED PROTECTION
Gore said the need for better protection of the public was proved by "this whole episode in which the steel companies made almost unlimited price increases and then rescinded them."

His bills would not have given an outside chance of passage a week ago. Now they must be regarded seriously, especially since Democratic legislators can be expected to capitalize on the so-called monopoly issue in this campaign year.

The Gore measures would:

1. Give the president power under the Taft-Hartley law to obtain an 80-day injunction against a general price increase in a basic commodity. The procedure would be parallel to the cooling-off period provided for "national emergency" strikes.
2. Create a national consumers advisory board. It would not have advisory power.

GOP Goes Into Huddle

U.S. Business Lags, Says Rocky in Detroit in Murder Case

DETROIT (U-P)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, considered contender for the Republican nomination for president in 1964, charged today that the Kennedy administration had failed to attack the nation's basic economic problems with sufficient vigor or understanding.

"Good sentiments are not enough if action is weak or ambiguous," the governor said in a speech prepared for delivery before the Economic Club of Detroit.

On the domestic scene, Rockefeller said, the basic problem is the downward trend in business profits and the lag in business capital investment due to inadequate incentives.

N.Y. Governor Host to Romney

Michigan Politico Asks About Jobless Problem in Rockefeller's State

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York flew into Detroit last night and played dinner host to George Romney.

Rockefeller was here to deliver an address today before the Economic Club of Detroit, but used the occasion to strengthen what had been only a casual acquaintance with the former American Motors Corp. president, who is now the Republican Party's most likely candidate for governor of Michigan.

The New York governor, Romney and two GOP national committee members — John B. Martin of Michigan and George H. W. Bush of Texas — conferred for two hours over dinner in Rockefeller's hotel suite.

Rockefeller is a potential candidate for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Newmen were excluded from the session, and Rockefeller had no comment on the meeting. Romney said later they discussed "mutual state problems."

"When Mr. Rockefeller ran for governor the key problem in New York was jobs," Romney said. "That is one of the key problems in Michigan today, so I was interested to hear what has been done in New York to change the economic climate."

"When he went into office," Romney continued, "New York's rate of economic growth was lower, and its unemployment was higher, than the national average."

"This is now true in Michigan. Our state's personal income declined 7.8 per cent in 1961, while in every other state—including New York—personal income went up in 1961."

Whether he learned anything from Rockefeller that might reverse the trend, Romney declined to say.

Shooting Suspect Dies Unexpectedly; Evidence to Be Heard at Inquest

Murder charges against Patricia J. Hite, who died unexpectedly yesterday at an Indiana hospital, will be aired here at a coroner's inquest into the death of slain Pontiac Central High School counselor Herbert T. Kreitmeier.

The 25-year-old, Fraser, High School teacher died at 4:45 a.m. yesterday at Methodist Hospital, Gary, Ind. Hospital authorities said her death resulted from the apparently self-inflicted bullet wound she suffered more than a month ago.

Oakland County authorities last week believed Miss Hite would be strong enough to stand trial for Kreitmeier's murder.

She was taken off the critical list last week. Her condition had improved steadily since she was found near death in an Indiana farmyard March 6. Miss Hite was found behind her parents' farm home in Jasper County, Ind., hours after Kreitmeier's body was discovered in his Keweenaw Harbor home March 5.

Police believe Miss Hite shot Kreitmeier, then drove to Indiana to take her own life.

Authorities said she was upset by Kreitmeier's impending marriage to Marilyn Fair, 27, a Pontiac Central teacher who shared a home with her in New Baltimore.

Detective Charles Whitlock of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department said, "We've got a good case against her — living or dead." Whitlock said no date had been set for the inquest.

Supervisors Give Tentative OK

Allocation Board Gets Budget

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors today approved unanimously a $15,555,202 tentative budget for county government in 1963.

The vote was 30-0 to send the proposed budget to the County Tax Allocation Board as submitted by salaries and ways and means committees of the board of supervisors.

Major target of Ingraham's criticism, says and means chairman David Levinson is also a Birmingham supervisor. He denied that there was any padding to the tentative budget.

"The people of Birmingham consider it immoral to budget with the thought that the tax allocation board will cut so much, so a larger amount than is actually needed should be asked," Ingraham said.

Six of Seven Districts Will Have Races; Landry Only One Unopposed

With the weatherman turning on the charm, an estimated 10,000 or more voters were expected at the polls in today's general election in Pontiac, according to City Clerk Olga Barkeley.

The total vote for the last general election in 1960 was 9,967.

"It should go over the 10,000 mark today in view of the excellent weather and an increase of 62 in the number of registered voters over the 1960 figure," said Mrs. Barkeley.

Voter turnout was reported fair in most sections this morning and is expected to increase in the late afternoon hours.

Voters will elect city commissioners from all seven Pontiac voting districts and vote on two ballot proposals.

TWO PROPOSALS
If passed by voters, one proposal would set up a new pension plan and retirement system for police and fire department personnel. The other would make rabies vaccinations for dogs mandatory in Pontiac.

There will be commission races in all districts except District 1 where the incumbent Commissioner Robert Landry is unopposed.

Candidates in District 4 are incumbent Commissioner Milton R. Henry, 41, of 132 Bassett St., and Results of today's municipal election may be obtained this evening by telephoning The Pontiac Press after 9:30 p.m.

Robert Bowers Jr., 33, of 316 Harrison St.

In District 3, incumbent Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr., 46, of 247 Ottawa Drive, is being opposed by Mrs. Jean M. Milne, 38, of 111 Oceania Road.

Candidates in District 4 are incumbent Commissioner Winford E. Bottom, 38, of 174 Euclid Ave., and Floyd P. Miles, 53, of 150 W. Columbia Ave.

Bidding for his fifth term will be District 5 incumbent John A. Dugan, 53, of 383 Nelson St. He will be opposed by Loy L. Ledford, 32, of 822 Linda Vista Drive.

The District 6 contest will be between incumbent Wesley J. Wood, 55, of 157 Michigan Ave. and Dick M. Kirby, 44, of 51 N. Edith St.

Polling places close at 8 p.m., but will remain open long enough to allow persons to vote who are waiting in line at the closing hour.

Work Begins in Galilee

(Editor's Note — For 30 years, he lived in Nazareth, and it was here that he first revealed his role to man. The sacred associations cluster thickly about today's Nazareth. NAZARETH, Israel (U-P) — A jagged shaft of lightning flamed against the black proscenium of the clouds. A moment's silence. Then the thunder crashed, cascading through the chasms of the mountains.

This is Galilee, untamed, rock-battered, precipitous, hotted of ancient immortals, homeland of the Nazarene.

To the south across the plain of Esdraelon, the rain came down in sheets of gray. Yet westward, sunlight stabbed the ranging plateaus of Carmel.

This place is full of moods, of sudden change, of peaks and valleys, storm and sun.

And here is where the carpenter of Nazareth began his work that led him through the depth of night and back again into a pinnacle of light.

He walked these limestone slopes where ragged shepherds' boys still tend their flocks today. He chopped down cypress in these groves to carve as yokes and wooden plows. And here he taught.

Red China Reaffirms Russ Ties

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China's People's Congress wound up a 20-day session today with a blast at the United States, a proclamation of friendship for Russia and admission that it was having troubles at home.

Peiping Radio broadcast a final Congress communiqué outlining what it said were the main points of Chinese foreign policy as presented by Premier Chou En-lai.

Although Chou was believed to have opened the Congress with a speech March 27, this was the first word on what he had said.

The communiqué said Chou attacked "the seizure of Taiwan by U.S. imperialism and its creation of 'two Chinas,'" a charge that Red China has made frequently for years.

Chou proclaimed "unswerving" friendship with the Soviet Union and the rest of the Communist bloc. He called on the Communist world to "unite all forces that can be united" against the United States and what it stands for.

BOAT SEIZED—An Alaskan Fish and Game Department power barge (showing lower right) approaches the Japanese boat Otori Maru 5 in Shelikof Strait, near Kodiak, Alaska, just prior to seizure of the vessel Saturday, Alaska claims that Japanese were fishing in territorial waters without a state license. 18-Year-Old Arrested With Companions After Independence Robbery

Four persons, one of them a teenage girl, are being held at the Oakland County Jail for investigation of the armed robbery of an Independence Township service station early today.

Apprehended early this morning in Fenton were Gloria J. Yager, 18; Ronald W. Schauman, 18; and Clifford E. Johnson, 28, all of Flint. Picked up later was Ronald D. Wilson, 20, Flint.

Fenton police stopped Schauman, Johnson and the Yager girl about 4:30 a.m. in an auto answering the description of a getaway car used in the armed robbery of the Red Fox Gas Station, 6044 Dixie Highway, Wilson was arrested about 7 a.m. in Flint.

Two armed bandits entered the station about 5:30 a.m. and demanded money, according to the attendant, Leonard Ballard, 48, of 977 E. Glass Road, Orionville. They took about $71 from the cash register and struck Ballard on the head with a pistol before escaping.

Ballard, who was slightly injured, called Oakland County Sheriff's deputies who put out a description of the bandits' car given them by the attendant.

The Yager girl admitted the armed robbery and implicated the three others when they were questioned in Fenton, the sheriff's department said.

The Otori Maru's skipper, Higashimura Tadase was charged with fishing commercially without a license and without having registered his gear or boat. The Otori Maru was escorted to Kodiak by the Alaska State Fish and Game Department vessel Fletch and held in lieu of $25,000 bond.

The Socha Maru's skipper, ABE Tadashi, was charged with violating Alaska's inland waters. The two seized Japanese boats were part of a fleet of five accompanied by a 5,000-lb mother ship, the Mamaka Maru which has 123 people aboard. Alaska officials claim the Japanese have been taking herring in Shelikof Strait for about two weeks.

The Banahu Maru's captain, Mongo M. Hanasaka, also was charged with fishing commercially without having notified the state.

Judge Davis, who flew to Kodiak from Anchorage yesterday, released Tadase and Hanasaka to the Japanese mother ship

Oran Police and SAS Bonn Clarifies Battle; Kill 1, Hurt 10 Berlin Demands

ALGERS (AP)—Police and the Secret Army Organization (OAS) battled today in Oran, where underground terrorists in a campaign of growing boldness tried to seize a police camp and its armored cars.

First reports said a policeman was killed and 10 other persons were wounded.

In Algiers, secret army commandos fired on Moslems in the Bab el Oued quarter, killing one and wounding two.

It was in an Algiers suburb that a Moslem mob lynched two persons Sunday in the first act of retaliation against the secret army since the March 19 cease-fire ending the long Algerian nationalist rebellion.

WARNS FRENCH The Algerian Nationalist regime from its base in Tunis warned the French Sunday to take stronger measures against the secret army, which is trying to wreck the cease-fire and keep Algeria French.

It perhaps was significant that since the warning the first action came in Oran, second largest city in Algeria and a secret army stronghold in western Algeria.

The fighting started when a secret army unit tried to take over the police installation at Gambetta, a suburb, and capture the armored cars stationed there, authorities said. Police put up stiff resistance, scattering the secret army agents.

On condition they return for a later hearing.

NO COMMENT In Washington, officials said today the question of Japanese fishing operations in waters claimed by Alaska is in the process of being resolved. Until the U.S. State Department determines whether the waters are U.S. territory, officials would not comment on the week-end incidents.

The only casualty of the incident occurred last night when Sgt. Gerald Williams of Anchorage State Police Department slipped and broke a leg while boarding the Socha Maru. He was evacuated to Kodiak by a U.S. Coast Guard rescue plane.

In Tokyo, a spokesman for the Taiyo Fisheries Co., which owns the vessels, said, "We have ordered the fleet to operate at least five miles off the coast of the United States, two miles outside the accepted territorial water boundary. We are confident no violation is involved."

STILL HOT ISSUE Alleged poaching by Japanese fishermen has been a hot issue in Alaska for at least 25 years. In 1938, the Alaskan delegate in Congress, Anthony Dimond, even suggested that the United States bomb Japanese fishing boats in Alaska waters.

Shelikof Strait, varying in width from 30 to 11 miles, lies between Kodiak Island and the Alaska Peninsula.

Gov. William A. Egan of Alaska said the strait "traditionally has been an inland body of water." He said it was regulated by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service before Alaska became a state.

binding power but, in a fact-finders' role, could muster public opinion against increases it deemed unjustified.

3. Broaden the antitrust laws, so that the same legal framework could be used to break up "existing large concentrations" as is now used to prevent certain proposed industrial mergers.

No companies were named, but the bills were plainly pointed at U.S. Steel, the nation's biggest producer and the one whose announcement last Tuesday of a possible touch-off—as in the past—of a parade of virtually identical increases by other firms.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said put the finger on U.S. Steel last week, in discussing the questions being explored by the Justice Department, he said one was whether "one company, namely U.S. Steel, so dominates the industry that it controls prices and should be broken up."

As the Sherman and Clayton antitrust laws now stand, the legal requirements for dismembering an existing corporation are much more difficult than those for preventing a merger which might tend to create a monopoly.

The Day in Birmingham To Complete CD Training of City Workers in '63

BIRMINGHAM — The training of all city employees in basic civil defense and medical self-help and other assignments to emergency duties are expected to be completed within 14 months.

This information is contained in a report to the Michigan Office of Civil Defense, required of the city if it is to continue to receive federal and state aid.

Basic survival and disaster control already have been integrated into the normal training schedules for firemen and police, according to the report.

The eventual objective of the city survival plan is to train the entire population in individual preparedness.

This goal would be accomplished, the report states, by conducting an intensive public information program through news media and personal contact with organized groups.

A municipal survival plan has been completed and has been approved by the City Commission and the State Office of Civil Defense.

It has been placed in the hands of the city department heads who are charged with implementing the responsibilities.

PRIVATE SHELTERS It is now up to each department to draw up its own emergency plan in support of the city survival program.

The report also stated that some private shelters have been constructed in the city, probably less than 20.

During the past nine years, a total of $35,000 has been spent on civil defense by the city, with more than 80 per cent of it being used to purchase equipment.

In the future, it may be expected that the city will be able to purchase more equipment.

Pontiac Car Sales April 1-10 Highest in History; 16,174 Retail sales by Pontiac dealers during the first 10 days of April totaled 16,174, the highest sales mark for any 10-day period in Pontiac history, it was announced today by Frank V. Bridge, general sales manager for Pontiac Motor Division.

This figure surpasses the 15,889 cars sold during the first 10 days of April in the record year of 1955 and represents a 70 per cent increase over the same period a year ago, Bridge said.

Pontiac's sales performance for the 1962 model year to date continues to lead any previous year.

Passengers in the Dark Pilot Handles 'Hijacker'

AMSTERDAM (UPI)—A disgruntled cook, waving a harmless signal pistol, tried today to hijack a Dutch airliner with 51 passengers aboard and to force the pilot to take it to Communist East Berlin.

The pilot foiled the attempt and landed the plane safely in Amsterdam.

KLM Royal Dutch Airline officials said the cook, a Portuguese who had been fired by the airline, burst into the cockpit of the DC-6C airliner five minutes after it took off on a flight to Recife, Brazil, from Amsterdam.

The man jammed a signal or "red" pistol—which fires blanks—only against the pilot's neck and said he wanted the four-engine aircraft diverted to East Berlin.

The quick-thinking pilot, unaware that the weapon was harmless, confused the cook by faking engine trouble that, he said, made it necessary to bring the aircraft down at the nearest airport. He then turned around and landed the plane at Schiphol Airport.

BEST IN THE DARK Airline officials said the 50 other passengers were unaware of the drama in the pilot's cabin until airport police boarded the plane and arrested the cook, who had been an airlines employee in Lisbon.

The man had been fired by KLM "some time earlier," airline officials said.

Great Britain Hit by Potato Famine

LONDON (UPI)—They're worth their weight in tins. They're a housewife's prize and a glazier's target. They're called potatoes — and they're the most sought-after commodity on the British shopping list today.

—A potato famine has hit England and Britons are moaning the absence of the spud, which is a staple in the British diet.

Fish is not fish without every other meal includes a sudden boiled potato lurking somewhere between the roast beef and boiled cabbage.

A cold wave lies behind today's potato shortage. Britain's coldest spring in history is to blame and the supply has not matched the demand. Some persons were taking drastic measures.

—In Manchester, thieves stole 15,000 spuds from a warehouse. Police, who said the potatoes probably are on their way to a black market, issued a circular describing the loot: "Average size. Color, brown. No distinguishing marks on skins." The owners of the warehouse hired two Alsatian dogs to stand guard over their remaining 600 tons of potatoes.

—In Norfolk, a thief broke in to several stores — and stole nothing but potato sacks.

—Grocers were reported to be planning to put dehydrated potatoes on their shelves.

—Several members of Parliament scheduled questions on the potato shortage and the Wholesale Merchants' Federation said it would ask the board of trade to ease restrictions on potato imports from North America.

—Fish and chip shop owners said the situation was getting desperate.

—The outlook is very serious, said J. Boothby, secretary of the Manchester Fish Friers Society. He said some of the fish friers had given up and were substituting bread — or even spaghetti — for the lowly, time-honored potato.

Church Loses Customer

DUNDEE, Scotland (UPI)—Fiona Campbell, 20, said today she will switch her wedding from her parish church to another because her crinoline wedding dress is too wide for the aisle.

Jesus of Nazareth Called Galilee His Home

et lane, supposedly where He first told His role to men.

Outside the hazy city and hazy hills, the Nazarene carried their water-jugs and baskets on their heads. The spot is theory, but the words are sure:

"He hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to deliver us to the captives, to set at liberty them that are oppressed."

Around about, these buckling hills are steeped in age-old courage and fierce integrity. The old town of Nazareth, the old town of the Nazarene, took place among these knobby crests, along these stratified ridges of jutting rock and scrubby oaks, down across those forest floors of pine and eucalyptus.

We lunched in Nazareth, a Greek town, a Jewish state. The town is mostly Arab. Rustic, wary little town. Persistent hucksters, selling trinkets, hang about the stonehewn dwelling. Mary's well and other sites in memory of Jesus.

Just a mile from here a bluff provides a chilling drop to hurl Him. Something devastating there, though — some despoiling word or act or look.

Above the churning clouds are dark and glowing with power. The wind leaps up in gusts, then sinks again to utter stillness.

Far away, the thunder rolls, approaching like a thousand rushing chariots, to pass and fade and start once more.

Out among the scattered towns, in brushy draws and cliffside caves, the fiery Macabees first challenged heathen despotism. Their proud but tattered little crew, the first to use guerrilla tactics, routed mighty Syria.

Here, too, the later Roman rulers sent their mounted legions to suppress the ardent, free and roughhewn Galileans. Also here the Nazarene became a wanted man. He told His men:

"The Son of Man will be delivered to the hands of men, and they will kill Him."

Hot volcanoes built this region, geologically. Other kinds of fires as well have smoldered in this soil. But now the belching fires are long extinct and warm, and this is peaceful ground.

Yet still, each towering divide, each plain and crossroad holds its immemorial lore. And lone patrols in military gear, survey the border trails.

Going east and north, the pink-white lime that rings the layered summits yields to swarthy rims of lava rock. Abandoned antique dwellings lay in tumbled ruins.

From overhead, the fog dips down in somber bands and snakes smoke along the twisting mountain roads and hairpin turns.

Inhabitants are fewer here than in the desert days. The valley plate have been combined into communal farms. Whole villages are gone.

The rugged, wide expanses now are empty and untended. Buckthorn tangles overgrow the tumbling, old stone fences.

Every now and then, there looms ahead, erected on some isolated knoll, a pillared monument of war, or else a rusty Renault tank, a relic of Israel's fight with Jordan.

THE LAKE OF GALILEE

Then all at once, from high upon a rocky eminence, the sight unfolds below — the Lake of Galilee, as blue as blue can be, a hundred-odd square miles of bluest velvet blue.

The sun broke through, just moments later, turning that already gorgeous blue into a giant, dancing sapphire, cradled by the circling sentries of the hills.

A legend says that God from all the seas He made selected for Himself the Sea of Galilee. And here is where the Nazarene recruited chiefs of His apostles, where He spoke and healed and fed and lifted hearts of people.

The record says:

"He taught as one that had authority."

The rocks beside the lake are black basalt. They stretch today by almost vacant, lifeless shores. Yet in the breeze from that sea you hear the teeming whispers of the past, the echoes of a steady voice, already even when the gales whip out abruptly from the mountain gorges, lashing placid waters into six-foot waves.

"Peace, be still! Be not afraid. Have you no faith?"

Only ruins remain of all the busy towns that once arrayed this coast, except for present-day Tiberias. King Herod built it in Jesus' time, a capital to please the Roman emperor.

Some ancient parapets and halls still stand, and nearby hot-spring baths still draw the rich. Caligula vacationed here of old as Herod's guest. The baths, some say, are good for gout and ailments of the nerves.

The other towns are gone. No more is Chorazin or Magdala, the Jews' town of Mary Magdalene. Their remnants lay in aged decay. Bethsaida vanished long ago, its site a diggings now for ancient lamps and jars.

Capernaum, the fishing port, is now a fenced enclave of basalt ruins, preserved by some Franciscans.

Not far away, a gentle mountain rises by the sea, its crown a bunch of evergreens, alive with songs of birds. And here, tradition says, to hundreds gathered on that broad incline, the Nazarene delivered his immortal sermon.

"Blessed are the poor . . . the meek . . . the merciful . . . Judge not, and you shall not be judged . . . forgive and you shall be forgiven . . ."

I said, "Let's go."

"Not yet," said Jo. She sat atop a boulder, listening to the birds, and other things.

Many other spots around this lake abound with haunting memories, the places where He prayed and slept, the coastal tablelands where thousands lacking food were fed, the scenes of quiet and pressing throngs, of friends and foes, the Gennesaret plain where He was criticized for plucking corn for Sabbath lunch.

This province breathes both tranquility and force. It sleeps, volcanic, hiding tempests in its rich benevolence. The day is quickly changed to night. The clouds return. The wind, at dusk, is rising.

Shalom, fair sea. Volcanoes formed your fertile banks, disgorging lava dams to block the Jordan's flow. So peacefully you ride there now, a satin sheen beneath the setting sun. How quickly things can change, and did, when Jesus went to face the shaken rulers of Jerusalem.

"The Son of Man came . . . to give His Life . . ."

And so, He went. En route, a rough and dismal gutted road goes by a solitary mound. It rises stark, immense and brooding from a level plain. The sunset shed an eerie glow across its rounded dome.

It's called Tabor, the mountain where the figure of the Nazarene was fused with some supernal light, and words were heard by Peter, James and John:

"This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."

Our gasoline supply was short, with 30 miles to go before the nearest town. We coasted down descents. Across the southern sky, the lightning flared. The rain reined. And thunder rumbled in the night.

(Tomorrow: The road to Jerusalem.)

"but Mr. Thomas which IS the best mattress?"

This is probably the most frequently asked question in our store

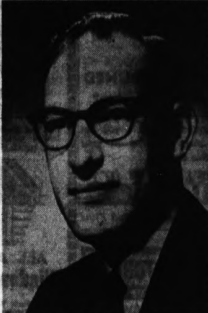

To answer that question honestly we have to say that all the brand name mattresses selling in the $70 and $80 classification are good quality. Most of them are offered in a choice of firmness, a choice of ticking, and even a choice of filling. We've seen them all. So if you ask us which mattress rates our personal preference we would certainly choose Beautyrest over all the others.

Beautyrest is our logical choice for two reasons. First, its maker is Simmons, the world's largest manufacturer of mattresses. Beautyrest is Simmon's proudest achievement. It has always been a superior product from the standpoint of materials, workmanship and most important of all, performance. And to Simmons credit, the yare not resting on their laurels but are constantly finding new ways in which to improve Beautyrest. Witness the new models we now have on display. Our second reason concerns its performance. You probably already know that time after time durability tests conducted by the United States Testing Company proved Beautyrest outlasts ordinary mattresses by 8 to 1. And now we recently learned Beautyrest is the only mattress that has been qualified to pass the strict standards of the American Hotel Association.

as businessmen we always try to find the mattress which best fills the customers' individual needs and in the vast majority of cases this mattress is Beautyrest. Many of our customers have owned the same Beautyrest for 18 to 25 years but feel it's time they retired it. We wish you could hear the many expressions of affection these people pass along about their old Beautyrest. These are really satisfied customers and by selling them another Beautyrest we keep them that way.

as homemakers we choose Beautyrest because of our years of bedding experience. We have found it to be the most comfortable, the most economical mattress we could own. Quality merchandise is always honestly priced and we know from personal use Beautyrest is worth every penny and more of its $79.50 price. In these days of unrealistic comparatives we're glad to state one very realistic fact . . . your best mattress value is Beautyrest. It costs only a penny more per night to own, it is truly the happiness money can buy.

William D. Thomas Jr.
President

Ordinary mattresses have 200 to 300 wind-together springs. Push one down . . . and the other nearby springs sag down too. They can't support body bellows . . . give a "bounced" kind of sleep.

Beautyrest has over 1000 individual springs . . . not tied together . . . each is in separate cloth pockets. Each spring works independently to push up under the back . . . give firm, bouncy support to all parts of the body.

Religious Actions in Schools Rapped

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Jewish Congress has gone on record against any sectarian observances in public schools such as Bible-reading, prayer recitation and religious holiday celebrations.

Among the religious holidays the group listed Christmas and Hanukkah, the eight-day Jewish Festival of Light.

Five hundred delegates unanimously asserted at the final session Sunday that sectarian practices impair religious freedom, violate the principle of church-state separation and interfere with fulfillment by the schools of their educational function.

The delegates also said they opposed any federal aid for parochial schools.

House Unit to Act as Judge

Start Hearings on Cutting Reserves

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House Armed Services subcommittee was out in the role of a judge today as it prepared to begin hearings on a controversial plan to cut down the size of the National Guard and the reserves.

The first scheduled witness was Carlisle P. Rump, assistant secretary of defense for manpower and personnel.

The subcommittee headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., stands between the Pentagon and the powerful forces arrayed in behalf of the Guard. These include the National Guard Association, a number of state governors and some members of Congress.

At issue is an administration plan to eliminate four guard and four reserve divisions and trim the size of the guard from 400,000 men to 367,000 men.

ACCUSES PENTAGON

The National Guard Association, through its president, retired Maj. Gen. William H. Harrison Jr., has accused the Pentagon of deliberately campaigning to downgrade civilian forces and planning complete destruction of the Guard.

The subcommittee also intends to investigate a charge that 28 per cent of the reservists in 17 selected units involved in last fall's mobilization were assigned positions they had not been trained for.

Other developments: Estes-Chairman Harold Cooley, D-N.C., plans to discuss with other members whether the House Agriculture Committee should look into the dealings of indicted Texas farm tycoon H. Ross Perot.

Cooley said the committee may decide whether it should investigate Estes' relations with the Agriculture Department.

English Bowling Firm Orders of Brunswick

NEW YORK (AP)—Brunswick Corp. is equipping 10 new bowling establishments in England in a $4 million contract it described as the biggest bowling order ever placed in that country.

The installations are for Fairlawn Bowling, Ltd., which said bowling is a new and rapidly growing sport in England.

Watches Tax Return Go Down the Drain

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—R. W. Richmond saw his income tax return go down the drain—literally. He drove up to a curbside mailbox at the post office Sunday and attempted to drop the envelope in the letter slot. He missed. The return went through a street grating and into a storm sewer. Firemen retrieved it after a brief search.

Deutschmann discovered the Nakimu caves in British Columbia and was instrumental in giving the British crown clear title to the site, now part of a national park.

Public Will Welcome Steel Investigation

There has been a lot of loose and rapid talk since the steel contract was settled.

Big steel promptly raised the price $6.00 a ton and the President of the United States yelled to the heavens. Perhaps he was right. Perhaps he wasn't. An investigation ought to bring out the facts and the public will probably still welcome one. Steel said: "We haven't raised prices since 1958 and we deserve a raise. Consider wages since then."

The President of U.S. Steel says no one ever gave a guarantee that there would be no increase in prices, irrespective of how the negotiations ended. We'll have to accept his word on that.

It hasn't been challenged.

On the other hand, President Kennedy was under the definite impression that the price would remain static, provided there was no increase in day-by-day wages. We certainly accept the President's word and believe he means exactly what he says. But he could have assumed something that wasn't true.

Did he?

But whatever the facts were, the President has won out.

Perhaps an investigation will still clear the air and bring a better feeling and understanding. As a matter of fact, fringe increases are just as expensive in dollars and cents as wage increases. What's the difference? The steel companies have to disgorge the additional money and whether the stepped-up amount per hour is in a weekly envelope or a side issue is immaterial to the company that has to cough up the cash.

And to go further—even if the increase does affect costs, does it affect them to the extent steel says? Who has the answer to that? Has Mr. KENNEDY? Perhaps he has.

When an automobile manufacturer said this would increase the price of a car $50, another manufacturer stepped forth immediately and said the steel advance by itself would only amount to a few dollars per car.

He faced it promptly.

WALTER REUTHERS leaped into the breach and announced: "It's all done by a handful of wilful men." Well, WALTER, aren't union wage demands figured the same way?

But the outstanding fact that shines through the whole situation is this: The President of the United States won a clear-cut victory.

New York Teachers Acted in Poor Faith

By virtue of 313 strike votes, teachers of New York City left one million students in 900 schools without instructors for one day. It was a spectacular demonstration of poor faith and ill will by public servants.

Representatives of the teachers and the board of education had not come to terms about pay increases. Some 15,000 of the 40,000 teachers in the system are members of the United Federation of Teachers and the union is the bargaining agent for all of them.

When the strike vote was taken, 2,544 favored walking out, and 2,231 were against it. Yet because of this insignificant margin, chaos ruled in one of the largest school systems in the world.

One-fourth of the teachers showed some sense. They went to their classrooms, despite the strike vote.

The display of temper or poor judgment in the walkout cannot be blamed on union officials, however. The executive council of the union had spoken out against the drastic move, but to no avail. The teachers also walked out with the knowledge that a New York state law says public servants who strike are automatically dismissed.

They may be rehired, the law states, with loss of certain pay increases and tenure rights.

Obedying a state supreme court order, the teachers have returned. It will be a serious mistake if the board of education does not penalize those on the payroll who take their extremely important roles in society so lightly.

The pet crow in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Corleau of Auburn Heights caught spring fever. It acted dumpy all winter, usually perched on its roost in their warm garage. But with the coming of warmer days, it began salivating forth, even hixing with passing crows, but always returning home—with a big appetite. The other day, however, it was beset by the urge of nature, and brought home another crow, which it was not welcomed by the family—and neither has since been seen.

David Lawrence Says:

Congress Must Ease Steel 'Blunder'

WASHINGTON — There's only one way the American people now can be spared the economic distress which may eventually follow President Kennedy's tragic blunder of last week.

For a recession that could conceivably become a deep depression is as certain as day follows night if Mr. Kennedy continues to allow wage increases and then terrorizes and coerces business when it resists. Lawrence, who has been a leading voice in the anti-steel movement, says that the steel industry's actions are a "blunder" that could lead to a deep depression. He argues that the government should intervene to ease the steel industry's burden, particularly in terms of price controls and labor relations.

For the American people will not long consent to leave in the hands of one man—even the President—the opportunity to raise or lower prices or wages without sanction of law.

The talk of "victory" for the President now being heard in Capitol corridors from the leaders in a rubber-stamp Congress will be short-lived if the big problem of meeting labor costs remains much longer in the confused situation it is in today.

For some companies it means a cut in profits and in tax payments to the government, as well as the passing up of dividends this year. Probably about 100,000 steelworkers will be idle in the next few months.

PRESIDENT "BRAINWASHED"

How many businessmen, moreover, who sell across the country will dare to raise prices if they live in fear of government reprisals? The President has been brainwashed by his advisers and now has led the public into believing that price increases are sinful or unchristian but that wage increases usually are justified.

Mr. Kennedy is a man who follows the advice given him that seems plausible even if it is one-sided. In the conference last Tuesday night which he held at the White House with Roger Blough, chairman of the U.S. Steel Corp., the newspapers now report that Secretary of Labor Goldberg did most of the talking.

Mr. Goldberg was formerly general counsel of the Steelworkers Union, and he read the riot act to Mr. Blough. The President, of course, would never have ventured to appoint the general counsel of the U.S. Steel Corp., or any other steel company to be secretary of commerce to advise him on the other side of labor questions.

What becomes of the "conflict of interest" concept when the same man who helped negotiate for the steelworkers the very contract which prompted the decision last week to increase prices sits at the side of the President and advises him to take reprisals against the steel industry?

The demoralization of businessmen today is extensive. How can they do any long-range planning now?

Politically the President's tactics last week may be boomeranging. Wage increases in other industries will have hard sliding and the unions will be unhappy. Also, if the profit squeeze continues and more persons are thrown out of work, the current recession will not soon be ended and could get worse. The Democrats could, therefore, lose many seats in Congress next November.

The talk of prosecuting the steel companies is largely poppycock. If the steel companies violated the antitrust laws by following each other successively with announcements on price increases, didn't they, by the same theory, violate the antitrust laws by withdrawing their price-rise announcements one by one? Isn't price-holding then a form of price-fixing, too?

There was no collusion in either case, but the government says concerted action amounts to the same thing. Yet labor unions fix wage costs in a whole industry by concerted action.

Labor, however, contributed millions of dollars to help elect Mr. Kennedy and the Democratic party.

So the antitrust laws will not be amended to include national unions.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Treatment for Convulsion May Treat the 'Blues'

Q—My wife has just had a nervous breakdown. She used to be full of pep. Took care of everything and everybody. And now she's a mess. She began to run down. Let things go. Didn't want to be bothered by the house or the children or herself.

I took her to our doctor, who knows her since she was a little girl. He said she was having the "change."

"He gave her all kinds of pills and shots. But nothing helped. So he sent me to a nerve specialist. And the nerve specialist says she needs convulsion treatment and asked me to sign a paper to give her it."

I wouldn't sign such a paper so I took her back home. How can it help my wife?

A—I don't blame you for being confused, my friend. It's true that convulsion treatment doesn't make sense. But it's also true that it often works wonders in the treatment of certain kinds of "nervous breakdown," especially the kind your wife seems to be suffering from.

Although these depressions often occur in middle age, they have nothing to do with the "change," as you've already found out.

Men get them as well as women. But if a woman gets them, say in her early forties, they say it's because she's about to have her "change." And if she gets them after the fifties, they are apt to say it's because she just had her "change."

The "change" has little, if anything, to do with the depression. And pills and shots of vitamins and pep-up drugs do little good, if any.

Those persons who think they are benefited probably would have gotten better anyway.

When the blues don't lift, as in the case of your wife, convulsion treatment may cause them to lift. But don't ask why. Because no one knows.

When convulsions are produced by carefully controlled electric shocks, there is very little risk and great promise for good.

Your doctor asked you to sign consent to these treatments for the same reason you'd be asked to sign consent to operation. Because, every once in a while, the induced convulsion results in dislocation of a shoulder or a back injury.

But 99 times out of 100 or more, the convulsion causes no damage.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "my life is hectic and when I go to bed at night I have so many things on my mind, I can't relax."

"Although I may be dead tired, I think of things that I should not do next day, and then I sleep restlessly for I keep fretting to myself lest I will forget them before morning."

"I hate to think of taking sleeping pills, but what else can one do to get a sound night's slumber?"

HOW TO SLEEP

"First, keep a writing pad at the head of your bed, either on a table or suspended by a string. Then, when you happen to think of a chore for tomorrow, write it down."

Don't try to carry such ideas through the night, for that results in restless slumber.

So you will also sleep sounder by relying on a good alarm clock. You can drift off into untroubled slumber, knowing an outside mechanical gadget will awaken you on schedule.

So make it a rule to write down

Letter From N.Y. Tribune Praises Charles E. Hughes

The Pontiac Press reproduces a letter which appeared in the Voice of the People, The New York Herald Tribune concerning Charles Evans Hughes, father of Oakland County's own Elizabeth Hughes Goss. The communication is from Justice Hofstadter, Supreme Court of New York State.

"Charles Evans Hughes is honored on the 100th anniversary of his birth as his portrait appears on a U. S. stamp. His life was a happy one, purposeful and fruitful in high and sustained public service. Our state will never forget his great contributions as governor. And a grateful nation will always remember his contribution to our history and international good will."

"On the Supreme Court bench, he often joined forces with a minority led by Justice Holmes to protest against oppressive action in the guise of preserving the state at the expense of the rights of its citizens. Hughes resigned from the court to campaign for the presidency. In 1908, he returned as Chief Justice. The intervening years he filled with distinguished accomplishment for the public good. He brought the United States back into world councils and he inaugurated a 'friendly neighbor' Latin-American policy—which, alas, has deteriorated."

"On his return to the Supreme Court as Chief Justice, Hughes plotted it through a period when he was accused from within and without. Thus, it has been enabled to maintain its character as guardian of the Constitution and the instrumentality of honorable accommodation between the authority and security of the government and the privileges and immunities of its citizens. When he retired in 1941, freedom of religion, speech, press, peaceful assembly were being read into the Fourteenth Amendment."

"The spirit of freedom did not come without heroic struggle. It is the legacy of brave men and women. High on the role of history will record the name of the jurist, the statesman, the American—Charles Evans Hughes."

'Car Buyers Will Suffer Increase'

In the same edition of The Press that reported a $9 per ton hike in the price of some automotive steel, a story said that car manufacturers may have to up their prices by $50.

Assuming that cars were made entirely of steel and weighed two tons, and that steel cost $25 per ton, the cost of steel would be $50. Therefore, a $9 per ton increase in the cost of steel to the manufacturer would result in only $13 per car.

Percentage-wise, the car-maker got off with a 4 per cent increase, and then passes a 16 2/3 per cent increase to the customer.

Local Man Replies to Israeli Official

Mr. Solott, Israeli Embassy, challenges my facts in a previous letter. We Americans feel free to criticize the President; also, to question the activities of foreign nations. Mr. S. is unfamiliar with American traditions.

He says that when the Israeli Court declared, "Israel is the Sovereign country of the Jewish people," it did not mean the Jews of the world. Apparently, he, or the Israeli Court, is also unfamiliar with the English language. Mr. S. further wrote that Ben Gurion made clear Israel's position as to Israeli and American Jewry. Does he know that B. G. remarked: "Jews who live outside of Israel are gentiles and violate the precepts of Judaism every day they remain away from Israel?" Or, does he refer to B. G.'s remark "American Jews do not know what being a Jew means?"

Is not Israel "presumptuous" in efforts to tie Americans of the Jewish faith to the foreign state of Israel?

Clay Assures Berlin of Aid

Back From Talking to JFK, General Says City Will Be Protected

BERLIN (UPI) — West Berliners were fortified today with a pledge from Gen. Lucius D. Clay that the United States will protect the Communist-encircled city's interests in the American-Russian talks in Washington.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, in a radio speech yesterday, said there was no reason for concern over the U.S. plan to settle the Berlin crisis that will be presented to Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin at the talks.

Brandt criticized West German reaction to the plan and said some Germans were acting as if they could not trust the United States.

But he said it was necessary for Germans to be vigilant because "no one is more of an expert in German problems than the Germans themselves."

WOULD QUELL ALARM

Clay returned to Berlin from Washington in an attempt to quell alarm in the divided city over his resignation and West German fears that the Washington talks might weaken the West Berliners' position in the Cold War.

"I can speak for the President and the U.S. government when I say that they never have been more committed to the principles of the defense and protection of West Berlin," Clay said in a statement on his arrival at West Berlin's Tempelhof Airfield.

Clay, President Kennedy's personal adviser in Berlin, pledged that the United States would not be a party to any agreement that in any way would weaken West Berlin's ties to the West.

The United States has protested to the West German government that premature disclosure of the plan endangered the talks with Russia.

American officials in Washington assumed the West Germans leaked the plan because they feared it would give East Germany a measure of recognition and too strong a voice in any Berlin access agreement.

The U.S. proposals include an exchange of nonaggression declarations by the North Atlantic Treaty organization (NATO) and the Warsaw Pact countries; a U.S.-Russian agreement to prohibit the sharing of nuclear weapons with other countries, and an international authority to control the access routes to West Berlin.

Old-Line Reds Hit Soviet 'Capitalism'

MOSCOW (AP) — The experimental organization of some Soviet light industries along capitalist lines has been running into some opposition from orthodox Communists, Pravda has disclosed.

But the Communist party organ defended the new industrial "firms" because Western production methods are paying off.

The Pravda article reviewed the history of the experimental consolidation of a group of shoe factories near the city of Lvov. The factories have been grouped in one firm called "progress" and run by a central directorate. Pravda noted:

"Firms are widely spread in capitalist countries. For this reason a few comrades in the republic economic council and state planning body at first were against calling the new economic unit a firm and suggested the term enlarged enterprise."

Pravda said the new organization had eliminated duplication and raised productivity and the quality of goods. It said new firms are being set up in other industries.

The development bore the distinct stamp of Premier Khrushchev and the large body of supporters behind him in the Communist party central committee. It seems to reflect Khrushchev's anxiety to push Marxist-Leninist dogma aside when it tends to interfere with his plans for stepping up production, particularly on the consumer side of the economy.

Such bold experiments, however, have been tending to spread confusion throughout the Communist camp. Khrushchev's deviations from party doctrine have aroused and still are arousing resentment among old-line orthodox Communists.

New York Ticker Tape Welcomes Shah of Iran

NEW YORK (AP) — The Shah of Iran, who arrived in New York yesterday, was welcomed by a ticker tape parade of welcome today following a weekend apart in pursuit of their special interests.

For Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, that included observation of military maneuvers and inspection of missile sites and other facilities at Cape Canaveral, Fla. For Empress Farah, it was a night at the theater and visits to two art museums — the Guggenheim and the Museum of Modern Art.

The empress arrived from Washington Saturday. The Shah, with a brief stint at the controls of President Kennedy's four-engine plane, flew up from Florida Sunday night to join her at a private dinner given by Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

"Fantastic!" was the word the Shah used to sum up his reaction to the various space age items he saw in a 2½-hour tour of Cape Canaveral.

"I have always been tremendously interested in your space programs, but I never realized they were of this magnitude," he said.

The Shah donned the flight safety helmet of the missileman to take a close look at a Saturn rocket. He walked around the base and took an elevator to the 265-foot level of the service tower to look down on the missile and get a panoramic view of the Cape.

Earlier, he was briefed at Mercury control center on how orbiting space pilots are tracked, and he asked many questions about John H. Glenn's three orbits of the earth.

At Hangar 8, where astronauts and their spacecraft are readied for flight, he stuck his head and shoulders into the capsule in which Scott Carpenter soon will attempt to duplicate Glenn's flight.

The Shah also visited below decks on the Polaris submarine Thomas Edison before starting northward on a flight that touched down at Pope Air Force Base, N.C. where he observed joint Air Force-Army operations.

Empress Farah, who took in a Broadway show Saturday night, praised the controversial Guggenheim Museum, a circular structure designed by the late Frank Lloyd Wright.

The empress studied architecture in Paris before her marriage to the Shah.

At the Museum of Modern Art, she showed particular interest in an exhibition of Wright's drawings, but declined to comment on the city's architecture.

"It was a student of architecture for only two years," she said. "I'm not an expert."

Newspapers in Scotland had reported earlier that Calderwood was planning to come to the U.S. to stop the wedding. But he did not appear and the ceremony went off without a hitch.

The speculation had developed after Terry accompanied Chic on a tour of England and Scotland earlier this year and were reported "missing." Scottish papers insisted there was a romance despite Terry's impending marriage and the fact that Chic's wife is expecting twins.

Terry, 20, attributed the "missing" reports to "a series of mishaps" and said she never considered calling off her marriage to Murray, a 23-year-old Air Force enlisted man.

May Have Clue to One Disease

Find Abnormal Sweat on Brow of All Cystic Fibrosis Victims

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Studies of frozen sweat have yielded a possible clue toward uncovering the basic defect in cystic fibrosis, it was reported today.

The researchers who announced this declared the finding might also help improve methods of diagnosing this pancreatic disease which begins in infancy and is typified by malnutrition, abnormal functioning of the pancreas and a proneness for respiratory infection.

Government scientists said they had discovered in human sweat evidence of mucopolysaccharide complex chemical fractions containing both carbohydrates and protein.

Dr. J. Charles Palayivici, who presented the report, said mucopolysaccharides from the sweat of cystic fibrosis patients contained a higher-normal concentration of a sugar called fucose.

He told about it at the annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology. Co-authors of the report were researchers Othmar Gabriel and Paul A. Disant'Agnes. All three scientists are on the staff of the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases, Bethesda, Md.

The report said sweat from 10 normal people and eight cystic fibrosis patients was collected while the subjects were exposed to heat. The sweat was frozen immediately in dry ice to prevent any breakdown of heat-sensitive materials. The ice method allowed a clear separation of the mucopolysaccharides, Palayivici said.

The scientists explained that cystic fibrosis is an inherited disorder affecting the externally secreting glands of the body, including the sweat, tear, and salivary glands, as well as those associated with the pancreas, small intestines and lungs.

One theory about the disease is that abnormal mucus secreted by these glands causes the gland ducts to become obstructed.

Charles Chaplin Jr. Marries Neighbor

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Charles Chaplin Jr., 35, son of the comedian, is honeymooning today with Maria Brown, 36.

Chaplin said he met Miss Brown, a nurse, six months ago when they were neighbors in Hollywood. They were married here Saturday.

It was Chaplin's second marriage, and Miss Brown's third.

Says Kennedy Needed to Stem Potato Prices

LONDON (UPI)—A front page cartoon in yesterday's Express showed a woman complaining to her vegetable dealer about Britain's skyrocketing potato prices.

"You wouldn't get away with this," the woman was saying. "If Kennedy were prime minister."

Eichmann's Wife Withdraws Bid for Visa to Israel

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Official sources yesterday said the wife of condemned Nazi mass murderer Adolf Eichmann has again canceled her application for a visa to Israel.

Eichmann currently is awaiting the result of an appeal to the supreme court against the death sentence imposed by a Jerusalem court which convicted him of a leading role in the murder of 6 million Jews during World War II.

Official sources said an application for a visa was submitted on behalf of Mrs. Vera Eichmann to an Israeli mission in Cologne, Germany, by her husband's attorney, Dr. Robert Servatius.

But the sources said the application was withdrawn despite a decision by the Israeli cabinet to allow her a 24-hour entry visa to see her husband. Mrs. Eichmann withdrew her first application six weeks ago before the cabinet decision.

Sources said she would be given a visa if she applied again.

Pushing Repair on Seaway Lock

St. Lawrence Opening to Be Delayed 2 Weeks While Crack Fixed

MASSENA, N.Y. (U) — Round-the-clock repair operations were under way today on the Eisenhower Lock of the St. Lawrence Seaway in a crack 80 feet long that is expected to delay opening of the waterway by two weeks.

The seaway was scheduled to open for the season yesterday. The crack in the lock sill, was discovered Thursday after the east gate of the lock vibrated during tests.

Joseph McCann, administrator of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., announced yesterday that the contract for the repairs had been awarded to Merritt, Chapman and Scott and that work had begun at once. The Army Corps of Engineers is supervising.

The opening has been scheduled tentatively for April 23. All the water has been pumped from the lock.

McCann said holes would be drilled at four-foot intervals on both sides of the concrete sill about 100 feet below the top of the lock. Steel pins will be forced into the crack under pressure.

To forestall similar delays in the future, McCann said, the U.S. Seaway Agency is starting a program of preventive maintenance. As part of the program, the Snell Lock, a companion to the Eisenhower Lock, has been drained for a complete inspection.

"We might as well close up our tents if we don't have the confidence of the shippers," McCann commented.

During the first two weeks after the April 15 seaway opening last year, about 100 ships passed through. About the same number is expected to be delayed this year, waiting for the repairs on the Eisenhower Lock to be completed.

New French Premier Takes Office

PARIS (UPI) — France's new, revitalization of the nation's basic industries, the development of an effective foreign aid program and to start the second phase of President Charles de Gaulle's program to transform his country into a world power once again.

De Gaulle, solidly supported by the French people in his fight to grant independence to Algeria, moved ahead with an ambitious program aimed at restoring France's ailing prestige.

The French leader and the cabinet formed by Pompidou yesterday planned a number of steps designed to reenergize the once-powerful French nation. These included:

—The creation of completely modern offensive-defensive military forces, with strategic units armed with atomic weapons, special branches for jet-powered flying assaults, and other specific tasks.

—A sweeping modernization and workers for the space and atomic —Leadership in the formation of a more politically integrated Europe. De Gaulle wants a "Europe of fatherlands," with France the chief among equals—a view not shared by her common market partners who want more complete political integration.

Pompidou and his new cabinet will face parliament for the first time April 24 when it returns from its long winter recess.

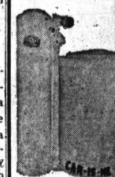

Unlike new cabinets of the Fourth Republic, Pompidou's cabinet will not have to be approved by parliament. However, the premier will make a policy statement which will be followed by a debate and vote not crucial to the life of his government.

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—An official announcement says the Portuguese liners Versa Cruz, Patria and Moambique will repatriate 3,500 Portuguese held since India joined the GOA enclaves last December. Charter planes will fly the prisoners from Bombay to Karachi, Pakistan, where they will board ships.

GETS HIS WISH — One of the final requests of Clyde Jennings, last stagecoach driver on the Lewiston-Cottonwood run in North Idaho, was for a stagecoach in his funeral cortege. He died at the age of 75. Members of the Walla Walla 50ers Club, of which Jennings was an honorary member, got out their stagecoach to fill his request. The red-shirted 50ers are shown carrying Jennings' casket atop a cemetery knoll outside of Waiilatpu, Wash., where he asked to be buried.

Rockefeller Center Not Springboard

Girl Guide Job No Step to Stardom

By PHYLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK — The sight of Carol Lawrence dancing glamorously through the halls of Rockefeller Center as a girl guide for the "Rainbow of Stars from Rockefeller Center" television show, is almost certain to double the duties of Miss Maria Lombard.

Miss Lombard is the lady who hires, trains and acts as den mother — in case of wolves — to the Rockefeller Center girl guides. She may expect a great new influx of applications from young girls in smaller towns who will suddenly, via TV, be struck with the idea of working in her department.

And perhaps it should be made clear, in advance, that dancing in the center's halls is not encouraged. Neither is singing, either rock or opera. In fact, the girl who comes in to apply to Miss Lombard in the hope that a guide's job will open the door to a show business career is doomed to frustration.

"Only two Rockefeller Center guides ever went on to acting fame," points out Miss Lombard. "Gregory Peck and Larry Parks."

Definitely not girls.

(By contrast, the NBC guides, who work in the same general area, have a roster of graduates that is impressive — including Dave Garraway, Elran Zimbalist, Earl Wrigton, Eva Marie Saint, Dick Haymes, Fred Coe, Gene Rayburn, Gordon MacRae.)

"We used only male guides at the center until World War II," To do so, he renounced his American nationality and became year are studying for master's degrees, even Ph.D.'s.

In fact, the center's most successful guide graduates are scientists and technicians — rather than (Carol Lawrence's fictitious performance to the contrary) artists.

So Miss Lombard hopes she won't be swamped with ill-advised applications. Girls seeking glamor for the sake of glamor will not find acceptance here.

"We want the girls to show off the center," she says, "not the center to show off the girl!"

Speaking of career, here are some statistics set up by the Tobe-Coburn School for Fashion Careers:

The 1961 average annual income in the U. S. was $3,630.

The annual median income for the Working Men in the U. S. was $6,688.

The annual median income for Working Women was $3,295.

And the 1961 average annual income for women graduates of the fashion school was $9,631.

As we've always said — good dressing and lettuce go together!

The modern secretary, of course, has a pretty good life, even though the pay isn't generally as high as a fashion artist's. The secretary is luxuriating in bonuses, profit-sharing, maternity benefits, coffee breaks and offices scientifically planned to make her more comfortable than she could afford to be at home.

So says "This Month," which predicts that life will become easier and easier for her, as time goes by. Until by the year 2,000, the secretary will come in at noon, work an hour or two, leave when she feels she's done, and take two-month vacations.

Her main job — feeding: She'll feed information to electronic machines, and feed the ego of her boss.

And she'll probably be fed-up to here with the dullness of it!

Segregationist Thinking of Lecturing on Church

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A woman facing excommunication for fighting an order to racially integrate Roman Catholic schools said today she might renew her battle since a meeting between her and Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel was canceled.

"I am definitely thinking of lecturing against the order," Mrs. B. J. Galliot Jr. said, fully aware she was risking excommunication.

"I will appeal to Rome," she declared.

She and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Charles J. Planché, Rummel's chancellor, last night announced the meeting was off. Each contended the other called it off. It had been scheduled for 10:30 a.m. today.

The cancellation followed a dispute over whether Mrs. Galliot might bring two witnesses with her to the audience. Rummel withdrew earlier permission for her to bring the witnesses. She said she would not go without them.

Planché telephoned Mrs. Galliot last night to advise her Rummel had changed his mind. An official statement from church officials stated:

"The archbishop became convinced that Mrs. Galliot intended to use this interview to gain further widespread publicity for her personal interpretation of Holy Scripture."

The dark-haired, 32-year-old woman had announced she planned to argue her belief that the Bible demands segregation of the races.

The official church statement said, "Mrs. Galliot . . . ended the telephone conversation with the chancellor by canceling the appointment." Mrs. Galliot quoted Planché as saying "then the interview is official, off" when she said she would not come without witnesses.

Rummel threatened to excommunicate Mrs. Galliot if she did not stop her public criticism in the archdiocese of New Orleans next fall.

Before the meeting was called

U. S. Is Expected to Fire 1st N-Test in Air Next Week

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States probably will set off the first of its new series of nuclear tests in the atmosphere about April 25—a week earlier than originally planned.

Officials said yesterday that preparations for the tests are virtually complete.

The original target date was May 1. Authorities said, however, that it had been decided that since all was in readiness, the tests might as well go ahead quickly, since Russia obviously did not intend to accept U.S. proposals for a test ban treaty including inspection safeguards.

'Strength Can Be Gentle'

Group Honors Poet... Salty Robert Frost, 88

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Frost arched his bushy white brows, tossed his white-matted head, and proclaimed:

"There's more poetry outside of verse than in, more religion outside of church than in and more love outside of marriage than in."

The salty-tongued 88-year-old poet made the remark yesterday while reading chapter and verse on a whole variety of topics before a group gathered to do him honor.

LEADING POET — Frost was honored by a Manhattan branch of the Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew Association as "America's leading poet, one who speaks with a clear strong voice of strength and compassion."

At the gathering afterward, Frost spoke with a clear strong voice of strength and compassion. On charges that America is becoming soft: "There is nothing so gentle as strength."

"On why he left Harvard: 'I didn't want to be a good writer considering you're a freshman considering you're a sophomore considering you're a junior' I fore a group gathered to do him honor."

"On leadership: 'You have to find a person that is a little high-handed, a little outrageous and one who will take the hint from the people.' Frost, who read some of his poetry at President Kennedy's inauguration, was full of praise for the President as a man who has "some poetry in him."

Referring to his own definition of leadership, the poet said Kennedy has a little of the required "outrageous ingredient" in him. Asked how he felt about Kennedy's handling of the proposed rise in steel prices, Frost grew exuberant.

HE GOT MAD — "Didn't be do a good one—didn't be show the Irish all right? Somebody's got to get angry. He got mad. He behaved as I like to see a man. It was some natural anger, not posed for the camera. It was real indignation that the whole country sympathized with."

Frost, who celebrated his 88th birthday last month, said he did not intend to celebrate another birthday until he reaches 90.

He explained that he likes round numbers—80, 90, 100, adding: "What sense is there in 88?"

Seven Injured Escaping Fire

Family Jumps From Third Floor in Windsor Apartment Blaze

WINDSOR, Ont. (U)—Seven members of a family, including five children ranging in age from 2 to 13, were injured Sunday in a fire in their urban renewal project apartment house.

Ronald MacDonnell and his three sons, Allen, 14, Bernard, 13, and Ronald, 11, escaped by jumping from a third floor bedroom window. Firemen used a ladder to rescue Mrs. Yolanda MacDonnell and daughters Lorraine, 6, Mary, 7, and Heather, 2.

Another daughter, Pamela, 8, clung to a third floor window sill until she was able to drop late the arms of a neighbor and emerged unharmed.

The father, suffered a fractured pelvis in his jump. Mrs. MacDonnell, Bernard, and four daughters, Yolanda, 12, Judith, 10, Lorraine and Heather, also were hospitalized at Windsor's Hotel Dieu.

Firemen said MacDonnell told them he fell safely in the living room and awoke to find the room in flames. He ran to the third floor to awaken his sons.

Mrs. MacDonnell died from the house, then realized four of her children were inside and ran back. She was trapped until rescued by firemen.

A local fellow has a driving problem. He doesn't know whether to get rid of his new small car or his old big wife. If the girls' bathing suits get any more exciting next summer, the tide may refuse to go out again. Middle age is the period when you're no longer upset by your gray hairs. You're just glad to have hair. Earl Wilson.

Says New Antidiabetic Might Be More Potent

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (U)—A biologist from Upjohn Co. of Kalamazoo, Mich., reports development of a new oral antidiabetic drug which he says shows signs of being more potent than previous agents of this class.

Dr. W. E. Dulin says the compound, developed by Upjohn and called "U6180," is not yet on the market but is undergoing preliminary clinical trials in humans. Dulin told the annual meeting of the Federal American Society for Experimental Biology yesterday that the drug has proved four times more active than Poniase, the first successful oral drug for diabetes, in lowering blood-sugar in fasted laboratory rats.

"And it appears," he said, "to work differently than any of the previous oral drugs used in the control of diabetes, and also seems to differ in its mode of action from injected insulin. In many diabetics, though not all, the oral drugs can be used as a complete or, at least a partial substitute for insulin."

The chemical name of the compound is "Valeramide, 4-dimethylamino-N-methyl-2, 2-diphenylhydrochloride."

The biologist said that one of the most important factors in the regulating of blood-sugar is the amount of glucose, a form of sugar, which is supplied to the blood by the liver which can "store" sugar.

EXPLAINS THEORY — He said scientists believe that the excess of blood-sugar which is characteristic of diabetes is, for the most part, produced by the liver, although slower utilization of glucose by certain other body tissues may be a contributing factor.

Dulin said one theory is that, in much the same way that a thermostat, the liver — in normal people — reacts to the concentration of sugar in the blood, shutting off its own output of sugar when a certain bloodlevel concentration is reached. Normally, he said, insulin must be present for the liver to react this way.

Experiments with the new drug, he said, indicate that it probably acts by actually halting glucose output by the liver — whereas previous oral drugs, in one way or another, facilitate utilization of excess sugar after it is released into the blood stream.

He also said it appeared to have a different physiological action from injectable insulin.

Hunsaker Is Improving — BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP)—Injured boxer Tunney Hunsaker was reported "improving rapidly" Sunday night at a Bluefield hospital, where he has been since he was knocked out April 6 in a fight at Kneeky.

The heavyweight, who has undergone two brain operations since his fight with Joe Shelton of Cleveland, is able to move himself and was answering questions, hospital attaches said.

Waitress Sees Mirror Note

Finds Clue in 'Kidnaping'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It began like any other Sunday for waitress Irene D'Ambrosio. The routine of her work was broken at 11:40 a.m. when she entered the ladies' room of the Astor Diner and found a written lipstick message in two-inch letters on a mirror.

"Call Springfield, New Jersey, DR 6-6817. I am being kidnaped," Miss D'Ambrosio ran to manager Peter Apospos. He dialed the number.

Elizabeth Soos answered the phone and told Apospos her daughter, Mary Ann, 20, was missing. Apospos phoned Philadelphia police.

field police at 2 a.m. that her daughter had not returned from a Saturday night date with William Kuhlman, 21, of Maplewood, N.J. A missing persons alert was sent out and later was made a 13-day alarm.

'ACTED NERVOUS'
After D'Ambrosio told police a young couple came into the diner about 6 a.m. Sunday. She said the man acted "real nervous and jumpy" while standing at the counter. The girl went into the restroom.

Police quoted Miss D'Ambrosio as saying the girl returned with no signs that she was disturbed. The waitress told police the man asked her directions concerning Philadelphia and she replied: "You are in Philadelphia."

The waitress said the man took the girl by the arm and they drove away in a two-tone car. Police said the couple used the girl's car on the Saturday date and it matched the description of the one seen at the diner.

Mrs. Soos said her daughter served as a volunteer recipient at Overlook Hospital in Summit, N.J., where Kuhlman worked as an orderly.

Kuhlman's father, William H. Kuhlman, a retired Maplewood fire captain, told officers his son was carrying about $50.

Bust of Rep. Martin Put in 'Hall of Fame'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A marble bust of Rep. Joseph W. Martin, R-Mass., has been unveiled and will be placed in the House "Hall of Fame."

"I wish I could convince myself that this honor was deserved," Martin said yesterday at the unveiling ceremony in the old House Office Building. Leaders of both parties participated.

When the bust is taken down one floor to the Rotunda Martin will have the distinction of being the only living person with a memorial there. The eight other leaders whose busts have been placed in the Rotunda are dead.

The 77-year-old Martin once was House speaker and Republican leader in the chamber.

The departure of the newlywed Robert Fries (Mellie Fries Zoder of Pontiac) for their new home in Fort Rich, Fla., was marked by a family dinner-party Wednesday in the home of her sister, Mrs. Thomas West, Walled Lake.

Printed Card Is Wasted

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: When wedding presents cannot be acknowledged promptly because of an extended trip, or when the bride has received several hundred wedding presents, would a printed form such as the following be in good taste?

Miss Mary Jones wishes to acknowledge the receipt of your wedding present and will write a personal note of thanks at an early date. These cards are not in any sense to take the place of written thank you notes but just to let those who sent presents know that their gifts have been received.

A: A printed acknowledgment to be followed later by a note of thanks seems a waste of effort because a minute or two would complete a note of thanks to enclose in each stamped and addressed envelope. It also seems a pretentious thing to do.

However, since the printed cards are not to take the place of written thank-you notes but rather to let people know that their gifts arrived safely, they may be used in the instances you describe.

Q: I have never felt that it was proper or respectful for children to address their elders by their first names and have never permitted my children to do so. What shall I do, then, when my friends ask them to call them by first name?

A: Explain to your friends how you feel about children calling their elders by first names and ask them please not to encourage them to do something you are trying to teach them not to do.

Joining the group were the Harmon Piles of Crosse Road, the Leon Piles, Auburn Heights, the Vernon Piles, Madison Heights and the Floyd Sinkers, Irwindale Drive, Waterford Township and their daughters Mrs. Richard Plummers, also of Irwindale Drive and Mrs. Glen Treadways of Tarnes Drive, Drayton Plains, and their respective spouses. This was the first gathering in five years for the sisters and brothers.

The baby's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hirsch, Ekhon, Wis., and the George Rays, Keego Harbor.

The Forget-Me-Not Birthday Club honored Mrs. Albert Kugler of South Roselawn Drive at a cooperative dinner in her home last week.

Mrs. John Bach of Liberty Street will be the May 8 hostess.

Mrs. Ada Mortenson was feted on occasion of her 90th birthday with an open house and buffet dinner at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Reissman, South Tasmania Avenue, recently.

Some 70 guests were present for the gathering.

Area members of Detroit Women Writers Club will make the trek into Detroit Tuesday for a poetry workshop and luncheon in the home of Mrs. Oda Winn, author of the novel, "Each Day's Proud Battle."

Mrs. Charles Peterson of Franklin appeared on last week's workshop program for the group in the Women's City Club. She is the author of "First Book of Birds," "First Book of Bugs" and the "First Book of Mammals."

Mrs. John Yung of Lewis Street, has returned from a three-week visit with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Korder in West Hartford, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. James Schellenberg of Ypsilanti announce the birth of a daughter, Gretta Ann, on April 12. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Steve Melnychenko of Redford and Mrs. George Schellenberg of Sylvan Lake.

'One little, two little, three little' Maori natives — though they won't be on hand for the American Field Service Festival May 5 at Meadow Brook Hall, Rhodes Garwen, Diana Dickie and Yasuko Yamamoto are sure to have it on their 'must' list. Diana, from New Zealand; Rhodes, from South Rhodesia; and Yasuko, from Japan, attend Avondale, Pontiac Central and West Bloomfield high schools respectively and will meet AFS students from all over the state at the festival.

Split on Approach to Musical Training

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK (UPI) — Few will argue against music being as essential a part of a child's education as the three R's.

The argument comes on the approach to music training for the child.

Some advocate stern discipline. Percy Grainger, a successful musician, once observed that "musicians are made in proportion to the tyranny of their parents."

Others argue for a more relaxed approach to Junior and Jane's music lessons, both at school and at home. They tell of the typically over-ambitious parent who once took her child to the box office at Carnegie Hall, New York, and asked for two tickets to a recital by Jascha Heifetz.

When told the house was sold out, the woman turned and shouted at her child, "NOW, will you practice!"

Marion Egbert, educational consultant to the American Music Conference, favors a friendly parental attitude over the tyrannical.

Fred Steinway, whose piano-making family has been dealing with concert artists from Ignace Paderewski to Van Cliburn believes in the firm approach to music practice.

Egbert believes practicing should be fun and offered parents these ways to help make it so. Don't replace your child's entire world with music. His toys, his friends, the outdoors, books, all are important to him.

Be attentive to your child's music. Be around when he conquers first scales or first melody, and be ready to offer praise. Point out the immediate rewards of music.

A prescribed period of practice is not essential, Egbert said. Music should not become a chore. Let the child perform when he is so inclined and let him join you and other adults in musicals.

Steinway is one of four brothers, all in their 40's, helping to run the 100-year-old family business. He is in charge of the concert and artists department, which means he supervises contracting with pianists in selecting their concert grand and in seeing that the piano arrives at the concert scene, whether in Oklahoma or Okinawa.

Steinway Jr. and his brothers all are amateur pianists. He believes discipline is a major part of the making of a musician.

But don't worry if the child doesn't show the promise of being another Rubenstein. "A lot of youngsters don't have a propensity for math either," he said.

"Surely, children hate to practice," he continued, "because it's human nature for us not to like a lot of things good for us."

Abby Says He Better Stick

Ask Readers to Help 'Em

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am a young divorcee with three children. A very lonely professional man lives across the street from me.

He is married to a woman who stays on drugs most of the time. We have been seeing each other almost every night. He says his wife is an addict of her own free will, and it is a nightmare living with her.

Sometimes she doesn't comb her hair for days. He's lost all respect for her. He wants to marry me. He deserves a full life and so do I. We decided to let the majority of your readers vote on what we should do.

"GOLDIE LOCKS"

DEAR GOLDIE: If any of my readers have had experience living with an addict or an alcoholic, I welcome their letters.

I think you should be aware that no one is an addict of his own free will. He is a slave to the habit, and helpless against the urge.

It takes patience, understanding and, frequently, medical help to overcome addictions. A man of character would stick with his wife and try to help her.

DEAR ABBY: I am a man who is 45 years old. I am thinking about marrying the girl who keeps house for me, but she is only 15. Do you think I am crazy to think of marrying a girl when I am three times older than she is?

WILEY

DEAR WILEY: Wait another 15 years. When she is 30 and you are 60, you will be only TWICE as old as she is.

May 5 at Meadow Brook

AFS Student Festival Set

Sixty-one Detroit area American Field Service students have received invitations to the AFS Festival, May 5 at Meadow Brook Hall. Booth displays and a continuous afternoon program may be seen from 1 to 5 in the Rochester home of Mrs. Alfred O. Wilson.

Pontiac area exchange students who plan to participate in the AFS program, include Yasuko Yamamoto of Japan who attends West Bloomfield High School; Rhodes Garwen from Southern Rhodesia, Avondale High School; Peter Gareis, Germany at Pontiac Northern; Diana Dickie, New Zealand; and Juan Hernandez, Spain, both from Pontiac Central high school.

The students will present their national songs, dances and take part in panel discussions covering their impressions of America, political pictures in their respective lands and other topics. Stephen Galatti, director-general of AFS in New York will attend the festival and address the students.

The booth exhibits feature interesting displays of handmade sweaters, do-it-yourself Christmas decorations and an unusual assortment of imported gifts, representing many European countries. Student exhibits and an international doll booth are also included, as well as a baked goods sale featuring foreign recipes of exotic cakes and pastries.

Tea will be served in an artistic flora setting, arranged by Detroit and Birmingham florists. These arrangements will be for sale.

Tickets for the Festival will be on sale at all Detroit area high schools two weeks prior to the affair. Further information may be secured at the AFS office.

In other activities preceding AFS week, April 30-May 5, the Festival's two honorary chairmen were honored at a reception Saturday, given by Mrs. A. O. Thalacker, chairman of the newly formed Michigan Chapter, AFS.

Overweight Can Be Lost

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
The average woman's figure begins to deteriorate early in life, later.

although the results of neglect. Just as aging in the face happens gradually, not by leaps and bounds, the change in the figure occurs. Even if she was interested in sports as a girl, the average woman tends to drop them after marriage, or does not indulge in them regularly; and she does not replace this loss with special exercises which she could take at home.

The young bride is fascinated with her new home and household duties, and she has no reason to worry much about her figure. She is exceedingly anxious to show her husband what a good cook she is, to please him with especially tempting meals. Anyway, there is not usually much money for golf and golf equipment or for even steps of dancing.

Then the first baby arrives. The woman is even more enthralled with her home, she is busier and tied more closely to her own "four walls." She also has a few stretched abdominal muscles and may have gained unnecessary weight during her pregnancy.

She may not recollect between pregnancies, and so finds that life has somehow sneaked up on her with a matronly figure. She is busy and has little time for herself, and may allow this situation to continue.

DON'T REALIZE

It is too bad that young women often do not realize what is happening to them when it is happening, but it is never too late. From middle age on it takes more self-discipline and more effort to keep or regain that girlish figure, but it is entirely possible.

Overweight can be lost, greatly benefiting health, and exercise can improve lack of tone and measurements.

The fact that aging happens day by day and month by month and year by year makes it possible to fight it in the same way — day by day and month by month and year by year with a daily routine of correct eating, daily skin care and daily exercise.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 19 "Essential Daily Routine for Beauty and Health," (the exercise is planned to hit the spots in which overweight hampers women) send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Now a young man obviously assumes that this attractive, neat, girl with a pleasing personality will be a good housekeeper, good cook and good mother.

He takes that for granted—while expecting her not to neglect any of those three important personal qualities he sets such store by.

Just knowing that her husband will always judge her as a date as well as a mate ought to help a young wife make their marriage successful. For it's no good for a wife to try to be HER idea of the ideal wife. What is important is that she try to match her husband's image of the ideal wife.

For brides — and wives: Read "How to Have a Happy Husband." Send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, care of The Pontiac Press, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

And so many young wives wrongly assume that if they are good homemakers, they are automatically good wives. They concentrate so hard on being good managers, good housekeepers, and good mothers that they think they are doing all that any man could expect of a wife.

But, if in concentrating on being good homemakers, they overlook the continuing necessity for having the qualities of a good date, they may be in for serious trouble.

What are the qualities of a good date and also a good mate from a young man's point of view? Well, the first three are exactly the same for both and they are: "pleasing personality, attractiveness, neatness."

But Nikita Has Trouble Explaining the Delay

1984 Is to Be Russia's BIG Year

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Nikita Khrushchev is trying to give the calendar a mighty shove toward 1964, the year of the double-think.

The result, one of these days, may be the appearance of Khrushchev's "Constitution" representing his claim to Communist immortality.

Before that can happen there must be a great deal of explaining and propagandizing, and this evokes the Orwellian specter.

Everyone remembers how, in 1956, in the mid-1950s, the second stage of the "1964" black book was completed with the coming white when the leaders so "building of socialism," signaled by the 1956 Stalin constitution.

The third stage arrived at the end of the 1950s under Khrushchev, he says. This was the introduction of the all-people state, the fourth stage? It won't come until all "the imperialist camp" is wiped off the earth.

All this isn't too easy to explain to the people. Khrushchev must point out that while all citizens are equal and power stems from all of them, the Communist party occupies a special place since "the most advanced forces of society" are concentrated in it. Khrushchev's theorists seem to find it difficult to explain how and why classes still remain in this classless society of the U.S.S.R. "While classes exist," says a Communist, "while different social groups exist, the working class (by which Khrushchev means the Communist party) remains the shock force of the building of communism, the main, contemporary stratum."

Marxist theory, often stretched by Khrushchev to suit his needs, contends that under communism the state will wither away. Is it withering now?

It is, in a way, says Khrushchev, but in another way it isn't. The withering away process has started with the all-people state, but so long as capitalist states exist the Soviet state must grow stronger.

The people have all the power, says Khrushchev. But coercion still is necessary. Why? Well, people still violate laws. If persuasion doesn't work, there must, as Khrushchev pointed out, be "decisive and, if necessary, severe action."

The people have all the power. Who has control? The party, of course. Why?

REMNANTS OF PAST. Well, it seems labor productivity still can't satisfy all the people's needs. Besides, there are "remnants of the past," meaning that age-old urge of people to have private property.

How about individual rights? Khrushchev promises "development of democratic rights and freedoms of the individual." Does this mean a lack of democratic rights and individual freedoms up to now?

No, say the theorists. The only ones who were suppressed were those who disagreed. There was no suppression of "humanist Communists."

When will there be communism? By present Khrushchev estimates the Russians won't even come close for 20 years. Maybe it will get started around 1984.

Factory Wages Up for Employees

March High of $95.91 a Week is Recorded as Work Time Lengthens

WASHINGTON (U) — Factory workers earnings rose to a March record of an average $95.91 a week as the work week continued to lengthen.

A report issued by the Labor Department amplified job figures put out a week ago. It showed improving conditions for workers holding jobs but a worsening situation among those without them.

Seymour L. Wolfstein, Labor Department manpower specialist, said that one out of six of the unemployed have been idle six months or longer. Two years ago, one out of eight was in that category.

The March totals showed employment at a record for the month at 66,216,000 with unemployment at 4,382,000. Compared with a year ago, employment was up 800,000 and unemployment down by 1.1 million.

The average factory work week was reported today to have risen substantially from 40 hours in February to 41.3 hours in March, a more than seasonal gain and the highest March level since 1955.

The figures show that "average factory worker is putting in 2.6 hours of overtime, mostly at premium rates. Some of the overtime is on the basis of a regular workweek shorter than 40 hours. The number of workers on non-farm payrolls rose by 160,000 to 54 million. Much of it reflected job expansion in the auto, metals and machinery industries.

Claims Frondizi Living Life of Ease on Island

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A high ranking navy officer says deposed President Arturo Frondizi is living a life of ease on the navy island of Martin Garcia after four years of turmoil.

The 33-year-old ex-chief "reads a lot, sleeps soundly and is busy working on index card files," the officer reported after a trip to the island.

The officer pooh-poohed charges from Frondizi supporters that he has been held practically incommunicado since the Argentine armed forces ousted him March 29 and confined him to the River Plate naval installation.

The officer said the gaunt, studious Frondizi is free to leave his three-bedroom house but not the island — whenever he wants? His wife, Elena Fagionato de Frondizi, stays with him over long periods of time.

It's a Fine Figure of a Man

Inventor Breathes Life Into Model

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — Wanting a name for an extraordinary man.

He is 6 feet tall and completely transparent. Through his thick outer shell of clear plastic can be seen his colorful internal organs. Though made of a fiberglass-reinforced plastic, the organs move in imitation of human organs. The heart beats, the lungs expand and contract and the stomach churns.

They can also be made to light up from the inside. Both the lights and the intricate mechanisms that produce the activity are controlled by a panel of electrical switches. The lights can be dimmed and the action slowed to simulate disease.

The inventor of this unique figure, Gino Testaguzza of 3681 E. Draher Road, calls it "the transparent man."

But this, obviously, is a grossly inadequate name for so fascinating a figure.

It's the only such figure in the world whose internal organs actually operate and simulate human life. The half-dozen transparent life-size plastic women in American museums, including the Smithsonian Institute, have organs that light up, but none that have moving parts.

Testaguzza's transparent man, when born two years ago, was also destined to be lifeless, but to be available as a teaching aid for science instructors at a fraction of the $15,000 to $20,000 cost of the museum pieces.

A company named Testite, Inc., was formed to develop and produce the transparent figure as a commercial venture. In the company, besides Testaguzza, are Dr. Mark B. Van Wageningen of Oxford and Carlo Massaccesi, Testaguzza's brother-in-law.

About half-way along, Testaguzza suddenly envisioned a more striking and valuable transparent man with organs that not only lit up but actually had motion. His colleagues said he was crazy and told him to get back to work.

REASONABLE FACSIMILE

But the Italian-born Testaguzza, who was chief stylist for Nash-

Kelvinator before starting his own sculpture studio in 1952, had lost enthusiasm for the plain, non-working transparent man. He started with gusto to bring it to life, or at least to an imitation of it.

The result, complete with accurately detailed bone structures and blood vessels as well as organs moved by mechanisms that "look like the inside of a watch," has made only one public appearance since its recent completion.

That was at the March 3 convention of the Michigan Science Teachers Association in Lansing. The reaction there: "Unbelievable!"

Next public appearance of the transparent man without a name will be Wednesday at the Pontiac Lions Club meeting.

The non-moving "standard model" transparent man, completed despite the shift of enthusiasm to his more lively brother, has been in circulation for several months. A few are used in the Oxford School system.

The "deluxe model" with moving parts is advertised at $2,400, complete with a six-hour tape containing a condensed short course in anatomy and physiology.

Testaguzza and Dr. Van Wageningen are currently getting prices on steel production dies. Their first transparent man was only a pilot model. Anyone who wants to place an order now, however, can get a delivery promise of six months. The fiberglass-reinforced plastic used to make the organs is a special formula known only to Testaguzza.

He puts it to successful use in the making of statues for churches, monasteries and schools throughout the nation.

The work is done through the Arin Testaguzza Co., located with Testite, Inc., in a small cement block building at the base of a hill from which Testaguzza's Addison Township home overlooks a broad expanse of area landscape. His fiberglass formula outlasts marble and equals the durability of stone, Testaguzza says.

Schools Expect Millage Vote

Clarenceville Board Likely to Move After Petitions Circulated

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Clarenceville School Superintendent Louis E. Schmidt said today it is likely that the board of education will schedule a millage vote for the June 11 regular school board election.

Petitions are being circulated by a recently organized citizens committee asking that the board request the renewal of four mills and the addition of one mill, he said.

The five mills would provide the school district with approximately $150,000 annually.

The citizens' proposal is similar to the one asked by the school board March 27 which was rejected by 13 votes.

The defeat of the millage extension meant a loss to the school district of $120,000 a year.

The four-mill levy expires with the end of the school year in June, and as a result of the millage defeat the school board announced it would have to curtail services beginning in September.

The circulation of petitions began following a meeting called by Bernard S. Otis of 2838 Fargo St., Livonia, to explain the consequences of the millage loss.

Senator's Wife Tried to Halt His Tax Vote

LANSING (UPI)—Peggy Schweigert, wife of State Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert, R-Petoskey, has revealed that she didn't speak to her husband for three days after he voted to bring an income tax proposal out of committee and onto the Senate floor.

Mrs. Schweigert emphasized it was strictly a case of difference over issues, and nothing personal. She also said she hid her husband's shoes in the refrigerator the morning of the vote on discharging the committee from consideration of bottled up tax bills. But he found the shoes in time to join eight other Republicans and nine Democrats on bringing the bills to the floor.

Schweigert said he might not vote for an income tax after Senate debate on a tax program, but Mrs. Schweigert said she's against an income tax as part of the state revenue remedy.

The meeting will be held 6:45 p.m. at the Kingsley Inn, Bloomfield Hills.

Junior College Holds 'High School Day'

AVON TOWNSHIP—Senior high school students are invited to view a day of college life during Michigan Christian Junior College's third annual High School Day 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Friday.

Guests will be invited to attend classes, tour dormitories and counsel with the administration, faculty and students for assistance in decisions regarding their higher education.

The Michigan Christian administration believes the increasing percentage of students commuting from the Rochester, Pontiac, and Utica areas indicates the college's educational responsibility to the immediate community.

Parents and students are invited to discuss educational plans and Michigan Christian's program with Dean Lucien Palmer or Professor Hugh Mingle, director of admissions.

Located on a 37-acre site two miles southwest of Rochester on West Avon Road, Michigan Christian is a nonsectarian, coeducational, state-approved liberal arts school, with the aim of leading its students toward high academic achievements while promoting Christian principles.

Since the school first opened in September 1959, with 56 students attending classes in liberal arts, foreign languages, music and applied arts, science, engineering, education and religious education, college officials have reported annual increases in student enrollment; personnel, course offerings and facilities.

An 85 per cent increase in enrollment was recorded in the 1960-61 school year and a 96 per cent increase in the 1961-62 school year.

Awarded state approval by the Michigan Department of Public Instruction prior to the first graduation exercises in June 1961, Michigan Christian is an active institutional member of the American Association of Junior Colleges, an associate member of the Michigan College Association and a member of the Michigan Association of Junior Colleges.

Featured will be the concert band and the mixed chorus directed by E. C. Ojala.

A variety of selections will be included in the hand portion of the program. Among them are "Highlights of Camelsot" by Lermer and Lowe, the overture, "The Pearl Fishers" from the opera by Bizet, folk songs and marches.

a clear plastic outer shell. Most unusual of all is that the organs actually operate. Testaguzza, the inventor, and the others fashioned the transparent man in their Testite, Inc., studio on E. Draher Road in Addison Township.

Budget Includes Rochester Methodist Church City Salary Hike

Troy Asks 5-Cent Pay Raises for Hourly Rated Civil Servants

TROY — Pay raises of five cents per hour for hourly rated city employees are included in the proposed 1962-63 city budget now pending before the City Commission.

Also included are salary raises for department heads based on merit and on comparisons with pay for similar positions in other cities of like size.

The $1.15-million budget calls for a 4-mill (6.40 per cent) assessed valuation increase over the present tax rate of 6.6-mills, bringing the new tax rate to seven mills if the proposed budget is approved May 14.

A public hearing on the budget will be held 7:30 p.m. May 14 at the city hall before the City Commission takes final action.

The 4-mill boost is part of the proposed two-mill levy for capital improvements including payments on the Evergreen and Twelve Towns sewer projects and $48,000 for purchase of a 50- to 80-acre parcel of land for development of a new civic center.

ROCHESTER — "From Gethsemane to Calvary" will be the theme of the Community Good Friday services from noon to 3 p.m. at St. Paul's Methodist Church.

Sponsored by the Rochester Ministerial Association, the services will be divided into seven parts, as follows:

Noon: "The Garden of Gethsemane," by Jack Zala of the Rochester Branch YMCA.

12:35 p.m.: "The Ecological Trial," by Rev. Robert Hearn of University Presbyterian Church.

1:10 p.m.: "The Courtyard," by Rev. J. Douglas Parker of St. Paul's Methodist Church.

1:15 p.m.: "The Temple," by Rev. Leon Dayrigger of St. Paul's Methodist Church.

1:40 p.m.: "The Civil Trial," by Rev. Robert Jacobson of First Congregational Church.

2:05 p.m.: "The Road to Calvary," by Rev. Lloyd Bass of Abiding Presence Lutheran Church.

2:30 p.m.: "Calvary," by Rev. Thomas Riddle of The Nazarene Church.

Church doors will be open for a few minutes prior to the beginning of each part.

Organists for the services will be Mrs. Irene Collins, Mrs. Kathleen Collycott and Mrs. Helen Tinnon. The Rochester Club is providing ushers.

A Sunday Thursday service commemorating the Last Supper will be held at 7:30 p.m. at St. Paul's Methodist Church.

The Chancel Choir will sing "The Seven Last Words" by Du Bois and Rev. J. Douglas Parker will conduct the Solemn Service of Tenebrae.

A sunrise breakfast at 6:30 a.m. will begin Easter Sunday services at the church.

Clarkston Boy Scouts to See Three Films

CLARKSTON — Three movies, all about the great outdoors, will be shown at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the high school under the sponsorship of Boy Scout Troop 134 committee.

Highlight of the program will be a film entitled "Exploring New Mexico." Headquarters for the shooting of this picture was the Philmont Boy Scout Ranch, a sprawling 137-acre site often called the finest camping area in the country.

The 45-minute film on the Southwest will be followed by shorter movies, "Michigan Outdoors" and "Flying Fishermen," filmed in Alaska.

Vote Deciding 6-Mill Tax to Help Run Novi Schools

NOVI — A six-mill tax increase for school operations is being asked of voters today in the Novi School District.

The hike would raise operational taxes in the school system to 8.5 mills for each $1,000 of assessed valuation. The present 2.5-mill tax is the lowest in the county.

Approximately $70,000 in new revenue would be provided by the millage increase, according to Sept. Thomas Culbert. This would be more than enough to cancel the $50,000 deficit in the proposed 1962-63 school budget, he said.

The remaining $20,000 would be set aside to begin paying off accumulated deficits of past years and to provide an improved curriculum program.

Culbert said the 2.5 mills have been levied the last four years and will expire next year.

The six mills requested would be collected for the next five years.

Walled Lake Jaycees to Sponsor Egg Hunt

Rusty Grims, chairman, said that 50 dozen eggs will be hidden for area children up to 12 years of age to find. Prizes will be awarded to those turning up the most eggs.

PROPOSED UTICA ANNEXATION — Some 300 acres and five subdivisions contained in the area bounded by the broken line above are subject of an annexation vote to be held June 4. Some 600 residents of the Shelby Township area will vote on joining the city of Utica, while Utica voters will decide whether they want the additional area that would almost double the city's size. Utica's boundaries are outlined with the heavy black line.

Money Woes Hit U.S. Neighbor to South

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A harried Mexican economist pointed to a pile of reports on his desk and said:

"It all boils down to this: Every year we have over a million new mouths to feed. Every year we have to create 350,000 new jobs for a growing labor force. How are we going to do it?"

That question is the basis of national debate in Mexico today. On its answer depends the nation's political and economic future.

The official bank of Mexico says Mexico's gross national product in 1961 increased by 3.5 per cent, about equal to the population growth. Result: An economic standstill.

Lack of normal investment by private enterprise is blamed for a drop in the economic index from 5.7 per cent in 1960 to 3.5 per cent last year.

Businessmen in turn blame fear of Castro communism and uncertainty over government policies. Worried capitalists sent many million dollars out of the country last year.

The fears of Castro communism have proved unjustified so far. There have been no signs that the government or the great majority of Mexicans are moving toward communism. In fact, there have been moves to the contrary.

ECONOMIC UNCERTAINTY
Uncertainty over economic policies persists.

Businessmen cite confusion over official statements about the program of Mexicanization of foreign investments; essentially, this means 51 per cent Mexican control. They also point to government intervention in enterprises.

formerly in private hands, and to bureaucratic red tape.

The government, concerned by the economic slowdown, has announced several fiscal measures aimed at encouraging private enterprise. Finance Minister Antonio Ortiz Mena has announced a program aimed at guaranteeing a development pace averaging at least 5 per cent over the next five years.

President Adolfo Lopez Mateos says there is plenty of room for both private and public investment to carry out industrialization.

There certainly is room. Most families lived in dwelling units of one or two rooms in 1960. Construction of low-cost housing has not kept up with demand and the housing gap is growing. Nearly half the 36 million people lack any water supply system, the Inter-American Development Bank says.

Illiteracy is nearly 40 per cent, with 1,400,000 children unable to attend school because of lack of facilities and teachers.

There are no official figures on unemployment. It exists, however, and underemployment is more serious.

A little over half the population lives off agriculture, many in miserable conditions.

FARMERS' WAGES

Average earnings for farmers are as low as 40 cents per day. Ninety-four per cent of the land is arid or semiarid. Largely as a result, only 11 per cent of the land was under cultivation in 1960.

This demands large-scale irrigation projects. The government has undertaken them, but the need is overwhelming.

It also 'calls' for industrialization, to create new jobs for poverty-ridden farm families. In 1947 manufactured goods accounted for 18.5 per cent of the gross national product. This figure rose to 25.6 per cent in 1961. Agriculture rose from 17.5 to 20.4 per cent.

Next to agriculture, Mexico's biggest dollar provider is the U.S. tourist. About $12,000 left $707 million last year. About 55,000 U.S. citizens live in Mexico.

Mexicans are grateful for U.S.

assistance in times of natural disasters. Many have learned to live, and in some instances adopt, the ways of their northern neighbor.

One acute problem is the salt content of the Colorado River waters received by Mexico. Washing of U.S. lands has abruptly jumped the salinity of these waters. This threatens the Mexicali Valley area which Mexican farmers laboriously developed.

Communists are quick to exploit such incidents.

Although Communist forces are small they appear active in the country's educational system—in the universities and in some teachers' unions.

Castroism has lost strength partly because of attacks on the church and increasing Cuban ties to Moscow and Peking. A pro-Castro movement inspired by leftist ex-President Lázaro Cárdenas is countered by a right-of-center movement with ex-presidents Miguel Alemán and Abelardo Rodríguez among the leaders.

The apparent aim of both movements is to influence the actions of the Partido Revolucionario Institucional which has dominated political life for 32 years. It has sought to be broad and flexible enough to encompass wide ranges of the political spectrum. Thus far it has succeeded. Its leaders say they see no threat on the political horizon, but the fact remains that it faces a crucial period.

Vietnamese Kill 52 Guerrillas but Lose 12 Men

TOKYO (UPI) — South Vietnamese army rangers killed 52 Communist guerrillas in a raid on a Viet Cong base northeast of Saigon last Friday, according to Viet Nam press agency dispatches received here today.

The U.S.-trained rangers lost 12 men, dead and seven wounded, the agency said.

The dispatches did not disclose the size of the ranger force in the operation against a "secret" Viet Cong base in Ninh Thuan Province.

"First reports said that the rangers fought with two companies of Viet Cong who finally fled and left behind the 52 dead," the agency reported. The rangers confiscated one Thompson sub-machinegun, six rifles and "documents."

Party (Political) Noises Echo in Lansing

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's two major political parties cut loose with heavy salvos over the weekend, in a foreshadowing of things to come in the 1962 political campaign.

Democrats turned their guns on Republican legislators and constitutional convention delegates, and singled out George Romney, the probable GOP candidate for governor, as a special target.

The Republicans, in turn, blasted the Democratic party, saying it leans too far toward the political left and had adopted a platform with features of a Communist party draft platform.

Gov. John B. Swainson told the Democratic State Central Committee the GOP-controlled legislature is showing "not the slightest indication of fiscal responsibility" to the state's financial problems.

"It's all talk and no action," the governor said. "Republican legislators are not willing to stand up and say what they want."

Criticism of Romney came from Democratic State Chairman Joe Collins and Neil Staebler, the party's national committeeman and a potential at-large candidate for Congress.

Collins said Romney, as a constitutional convention vice president, has failed to demonstrate leadership of the GOP majority in references to Democratic delegates.

"NOTHING WRONG"

Staebler assailed Romney for what he called attempts to discredit Michigan. "There is nothing wrong with Michigan that a few responsible Republican votes on critical issues in the legislature could not cure," he said.

"For a gubernatorial candidate to be shouting from the house-tops of Michigan and all other areas that there is a great big mess in our state is completely irresponsible."

Republican State Chairman George M. Van Puseum did the talking for his party, telling the GOP State Central Committee that Michigan Democrats had adopted a platform bearing similarities to the 1961 draft platform of the Communist party.

Reading from what he said was the draft, Van Puseum rattled off increased aid for the unemployed and aged, a federal health program, shorter work week, federal aid to education, lower consumer prices, and a broad federal program of flood control, power dam development, conservation and rural building.

He said these were examples of "a trend toward creation of a giant paternalistic, socialist government" and this poses a threat to America.

"We proclaim our fraternity with all peoples who have pioneered the new frontiers of human history toward socialism," Van Puseum quoted from the Communist document, and then added:

"PROVIDED NAME"

"Not only did that party, only recently outlawed by legislative action in Michigan, provide the Democratic party with much of its platform, it even provided it with a name — the New Frontier."

Van Puseum also asserted that Gov. Swainson and other Democrats, by being guests of honor at the state convention of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), were lending support and endorsement to left-wing philosophy.

"The Democrats, from the President on down, have denounced none of these organizations or their philosophies and apparently will not," he said.

"It is solely our job as Republicans to fight all such left-wing movements, all such collectivistic and socialistic philosophies."

Van Puseum called on GOP leaders to stop bickering over internal issues and form a united front to meet Democratic challenges.

Among resolutions adopted by the committee was a condemnation of the so-called "Liberal Papers," a recently published book which Van Puseum said advocated "a surrender program" by urging U.S. recognition of Red China and East Germany and closing down of U.S. missile bases in Europe.

HIT BOAT TAX

GOP committee members also approved resolutions protesting a proposed federal tax on pleasure boats, praising the civil rights proposal of co-con and attacking Swainson for what they termed "harrasing business" and for requesting too much federal aid.

The Democratic leaders adopted a resolution praising Swainson for his tax reform program geared to a personal and corporate income tax.

They also voted to adopt a "hands off" policy for the three statewide posts at issue in the Aug. 7 primary election, declaring that if more than one candidate files for any of the posts, he can expect party help only in the form of assistance in mailing nominating petitions.

The posts are those of governor, lieutenant governor and congress-man-at-large. The latter office will appear on the ballot only if Swainson and Gov. Swainson are unable to agree on boundaries for a new 19th District.

Truman Hails Presidency

Tells Students No King or Dictator Powerful as Chief Executive

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — Former President Truman said yesterday "no king of dictator on earth" can match the power given the chief executive by the people of the United States.

Truman delivered the annual Sigma Alpha Nu Jesuit honor society lecture at Creighton University. He spoke on "the presidency its duties and responsibilities."

The peppery former president urged that National Archives similar to those established for Congress be established for presidential documents because the job of being president is the "most important but least understood" post in the nation.

Truman said the president's duties range from chief of the armed forces to social leader of the nation and head of his political party. He said a chief executive must also serve as lobbyist for "the 150 or 160 million persons who have none."

George Washington was the nation's "most abused" president, Truman said.

Washington didn't "come into his own until after he was out of office. Great presidents also suffered abuse in office," Truman said.

He credited Abraham Lincoln with getting the United States "going as a country." He praised Grover Cleveland for "reestablishing the two-party system."

Truman described Woodrow Wilson as "one of the greatest" presidents, who "understood the relationship of the job to the welfare of the country."

He acclaimed Franklin D. Roosevelt as the president who "saved the republic after the depression."

Truman, who was given an honorary doctor of laws degree by Creighton University, declined to evaluate his own seven years as president.

Cuba Rates at Last on 'May Day List'

MOSCOW (AP)—Advance list of this year's May Day slogans indicates the Soviet Union has promoted Fidel Castro's Cuba to a seat on the fringe of the Communist family circle.

The list published yesterday placed Cuba for the first time on the Kremlin's roster of socialist nations.

In its salute to Cuba for May Day, the International Labor Day, the slogan said:

"Fraternal greetings to the heroic people of Cuba who have embarked on the road of building socialism, who selflessly defended freedom and independence to their homeland. May the friendship and cooperation between the peoples of the Soviet Union and Cuba develop and strengthen."

Duvalier and Militia Rule Nearby Police State

Iron-Fisted Bogeyman Grips Poverty-Stricken Haiti

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Here in Haiti, just 50 miles from Cuba, Uncle Sam is fighting the specter of hunger, and shadow-boxing with Tonton Macoute.

Macoute means bag. In Haitian mythology, Tonton Macoute was a terrifying bogeyman who put disobedient children into his bag and carried them off to slavery.

Today "Tonton Macoute" is the term often applied to President Francois Duvalier's secret militia. For want of a workable alternative, U.S. aid dollars help keep Duvalier and his apparatus in power. By tying economic aid to hoped-for political reforms, however, the United States is trying to bring a relaxation of Haiti's police state. For six months, it cut off economic aid funds altogether. They may be permanently stopped unless Duvalier moves to change his ways, in line with the reform aims of the Alliance for Progress.

In the last year Duvalier, while demanding more aid, has tightened controls and arbitrarily extended his term in office.

This former tourist paradise on Cuba's back doorstep is now perhaps the harshest police state outside the Iron Curtain.

No meeting of any kind—social, cultural or otherwise—may be held without written government permission. Entrances to all meetings are watched. They must be so lighted that all who enter may be identified.

Political opponents of Duvalier have fled the country, been killed or jailed. Prominent citizens by the dozen have disappeared without trace. The press is controlled. The head of the Roman Catholic Church, to which most Haitians belong, is in exile.

FOR 'PROTECTION' The regime's enforcers are the Tonton Macoutes—militiamen who may or may not wear uniforms. They collect "voluntary" contributions to Duvalier's projects and appear to have a free hand in dealing with people. Port au Prince businessmen pay them for "protection."

This militia gives Duvalier a hedge against the 5,000-man U.S.-trained army, which has often held the balance of power in Haiti. Created by Duvalier in 1958, the militia is now twice as large as the army.

U.S. aid since 1957 has totaled some $60 million, including $9 million in outright cash gifts. Much money has been switched to Duvalier's own projects, including maintenance of the militia.

Aware of criticism, the Kennedy administration has cut off cash grants and demanded a strict accounting of funds used to support projects directly aimed at the Haitian people. Last September aid dollars stopped coming altogether. They were resumed last week with a $7.25-million allocation for projects ranging from river valley development to training technicians.

Some critics of Duvalier were disappointed. Rumors had circulated here that aid would not be resumed unless Duvalier released political prisoners, disbanded the bogeymen and called new elections.

Supporters of U.S. aid disagreed. They contended that the Haitian people were the chief losers while Duvalier imposed new taxes and increased deductions of about 3 per cent from all government and private salaries to support government projects.

"Our aid programs are getting through to the Haitian people," one U.S. observer insisted. "No people in the world needs help more."

A traveler through the countryside must agree on the road. The straw and mud huts in which most of Haiti's four million people live would be substandard in Asia. Per capita income, $68 per year, is lower than in Pakistan. Only 10 per cent of the people are literate, compared to 39 per cent in India.

Approximately 60 U.S. technicians are involved in various projects to develop the island's economy. A 40-man military advisory group helps train the Haitian army.

"By keeping our technicians here we at least maintain contact," said one U.S. official who asked he not be identified. "We can at least try to persuade the government to relax its policies and let some of these people out of jail. Pulling out altogether would leave no hope of influencing the government. The result would be chaos and probably another country for Castro."

The dilemma could continue for years. Elected in 1957 for a six-year term, Duvalier unsuccessfully re-elected himself in 1960 by calling an election of deputies and having his name printed at the top of all ballots. Not until Duvalier accepted another term did many people realize they had voted for a president as well as deputies.

Now there are whispers that some Duvalier backers feel the 54-year old president should be elected for life. In a contest where Duvalier makes most of the rules the bogeyman appears to be holding more than his own against Uncle Sam.

Ghana President

Mum on Gold Bed

LONDON (UPI)—The $8,400 gold-plated bed of Mrs. Mary Edusei, wife of a cabinet minister from Ghana who said he wanted no part of it, apparently vanished into thin air today.

At least both Mrs. Edusei and her husband, Industries Minister Krobo (Crowbar) Edusei, blandly denied its existence.

WHAT BED?

"What bed? I don't know anything about a gold bed—there certainly isn't one here," Edusei told newsmen at his wife's apartment shortly after his arrival from Accra.

Edusei flew in yesterday after more than two weeks of futile long-distance arguments with his wife to send the bed back to the London store. Edusei insisted that a gold bed hardly fitted in with Ghana's austerity program and his own socialism.

But Mrs. Edusei said she bought the bed because she liked it and that anyway a gold-plated bed was more practical than jewelry.

Edusei and his wife came under heavy criticisms from the press in Ghana. There were pub- lic protests, too, over her "extravagance" as well as the luxurious villa Edusei is having built in Accra.

When Mrs. Edusei turned a deaf ear to his appeals that the bed made him a political target, her husband sent a relative here to convince her to give it up. But it was of no avail.

Ghanaian diplomats insisted that Edusei himself was here on a "private" visit. He refused to speak to newsmen at the airfield.

But an aide appealed to the reporters. "Please, don't mention the bed." And a Ghana always official also expressed hope that no one would bring up the subject.

At Turin, in the spring of 1961, Victor Emmanuel was proclaimed king of the first united Italian nation since the collapse of Rome. Five months earlier Emmanuel and Garibaldi had met at Teano near Naples and agreed to join their conquests.

Gets Crossed on Forks

Sharp Solon Shaken Up

BY DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—By no standards that I know of could Rep. John F. Baldwin be described as a bumptkin.

He is a graduate of the University of California; he was president of his law class for three years, he was a practicing attorney for five years, and he has served in Congress since 1954.

You would think a person with this background would feel at home in almost any company. Yet there is something about a state dinner at the White House that makes even a relatively sophisticated congressman uncomfortable.

Baldwin was one of the guests at the dinner that President Kennedy gave for the Shah of Iran last week, and I suppose it was the invitation that put him on edge.

BULKY INVITATION

As he related in a report on the affair to his constituents, the envelope contained no less than five cards, which seemed to take nothing for granted.

The first card told what the occasion was. The second one gave the time and place of the dinner. The third one told him what to wear. The fourth one told him where to respond. And the fifth one told him what gate to enter.

When he and his wife arrived at the White House, they were handed still another card which told them where to sit. At the table, they found a seventh card, which made it clear they had found the right place.

It was at this point, apparently, that Baldwin's confidence in his table etiquette was shattered.

"I must confess that my main concern during the dinner was whether I was using the proper knife or the proper fork at the right time," he said. "There were three different knives on the right, and three different forks on the left."

Expressing hope that he "represented you properly at this state dinner," he said, "I think I only used the wrong fork once."

MORE THAN ONCE

Well, gee, I don't want to embarrass the congressman or anything, but I must point out that when you have three forks, it is impossible to use the wrong fork only once.

Silverware errors are cumulative and cannot be rectified as the meal progresses.

In other words, if Baldwin used his dinner fork on the salad, then he must have used his salad fork during the main course or dessert.

But Baldwin needn't feel chagrined about it, for it was the fault of the White House staff. They should have provided yet another card showing which fork to use.

U. of M. Center Conducts Survey

Installment Debt Remains at Same Level

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — While almost half the country's households continue to use installment credit, the University of Michigan Survey Research Center says there are no indications the burden of installment debt has become greater over the last five years.

The center said that the most significant recent change found in a nationwide survey of 7,000 families was an increase in the number of persons with incomes of more than $10,000 buying on the installment plan.

The survey, made in January and February of 1961, showed that 48 per cent of families with incomes of more than $10,000 owed installment debts, compared with only 38 per cent in 1956.

In a newly published book, "1961 Survey of Consumer Finances," the research center adds that 61 per cent owe an average $450.

In the 65-and-over age bracket only 14 per cent had installment debt and the average was only $200.

Installment buying, the survey developed, varies by regions.

"It occurs most frequently in the West, which has a growing young population, and so frequently, but not in such large amounts, in the South with its substantial Negro population."

This finding of the survey also may surprise some: "Families living in the 12 largest cities of the country purchase goods on the installment plan less frequently than do other families."

It points out this, however, may be related to the fact that installment buying is less frequent in the northeast, where many of the largest cities are located.

Beethoven's Fifth Almost 'Unfinished'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The pedals fell off the piano two-thirds of the way through Rudolf Serkin's playing of Beethoven's Fifth Concerto before 3,000 concertgoers Sunday.

The famed pianist stopped and had conductor Fabien Sevitzky explain to the University of Miami symphony concert audience.

Then up from the string section strode Israel Greenfield. Greenfield is a cellist, but also is a skilled piano tuner. With the aid of a couple of maintenance men and a hammer he fastened the pedals back in place.

Serkin got a big ovation when he sat down and played the concerto from the beginning—without technical interruptions.

slightly more frequent among Negroes than whites, but large debt is in the 24-to-34 bracket, in which more frequent among whites.

Only 10 per cent of the families surveyed were found to have installment debts amounting to as much as 20 per cent or more of their annual income.

Turning to automobiles, furniture, appliances and house repairs, the center reported that its 1961 survey showed that Americans are spending 2.4 per cent of their income on household durables, 5 per cent on automobiles, and 2.3 per cent on additional and repairs to houses.

Automobile and household durable expenditures were down slightly from the previous year; additions and repairs the same.

And, it added, over 60 per cent of new automobile purchases were being made on credit.

Begin Probing Reserve Setup

House Subcommittee Will Hear Pentagon Manpower Officials

WASHINGTON — A House armed services subcommittee begins a full review of the nation's military reserve program and policies today.

Ass. Secretary of Defense Carlisle F. Ruge and other Pentagon manpower officials were scheduled to testify before the subcommittee headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La.

Hebert has promised that all sides will be heard on a controversial Defense Department proposal to eliminate eight Army reserve and National Guard divisions in an attempt to have fewer but better equipped and better trained reserve forces.

The Pentagon has agreed to delay the plan pending the hearings. It already has drawn fire from groups representing reservists. In a statement prepared for presentation to the subcommittee, the Reserve Officers Association declared:

"We do not believe that the need for a drastic reorganization with sharply reduced strength has been demonstrated in the slightest degree."

In even stronger words Maj. Gen. William H. Harrison Jr., president of the National Guard Association, charged over the weekend that the Defense Department "is engaged in a deliberate campaign to downgrade the important contributions the military reserve forces make to national defense, including the National Guard and reserve organizations mobilized in the recent Berlin crisis."

Former President Harry S. Truman said yesterday in Omaha "there is no reason in the world" for abolishing National Guard units.

Among other things, the House groups, will be looking into a report by investigators for the General Accounting Office which showed that in a survey of some 5,000 activated Army reservists, less than half were assigned to jobs for which they had been trained in previous active duty tours.

The subcommittee also is expected to examine reported inequities in active duty calls.

Tigers Finally Concede to Weathermen

Braves, Reds in Win Column

By The Associated Press
Cincinnati's Frank Robinson and Milwaukee's Henry Aaron, a pair of slumbering giants, awoke with a roar Sunday and as a result the Reds and Braves were breathing a little easier today.

The Braves won their first game of the year, beating the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-3, and the Reds snapped a five-game losing streak, inflicting the first defeat upon the San Francisco Giants, 4-3. Bob Purkey, only Cincinnati pitcher to win so far, registered his second triumph.

In the only other National League game, Pittsburgh defeated New York 7-2. Rain forced the postponement of the second game of the scheduled Pirates-Mets doubleheader.

TWIN BILL SPOILED
Rain also wiped out the scheduled doubleheader between Houston and the Phillies in Philadelphia. Cold weather was responsible for calling off the single contest scheduled between St. Louis and the Cubs in Chicago.

Through the first six games, opposing pitchers had held Robinson, the National League's most valuable player last year, to four hits in 24 times at bat and no runs batted in. The Reds lost five of the first six. Robby drove in his first run and scored another in the Reds' one-run triumph over the Giants.

BRILLIANT FIELDING

Furthermore, he saved Bob Purkey's triumph with two brilliant fielding plays. Robinson left two Giants stranded in the fourth inning with a two-on, one-out, bases-clearing catch of Jimmy Davenport's fly to the right-center field fence. In the sixth, he raced to the right field foul line to snare another extra-base hit by Davenport.

Aaron's plight was even worse than that of Robinson. Henry had been held to one hit in 18 tries after five games. The Braves lost all five. He smashed three hits Sunday including his first home run, and drove in two runs to lead the Braves' 10-hit attack against Los Angeles. Kintz and Pete Richter, Eddie Mathews also drove in two Milwaukee runs.

GOES DISTANCE

Bob Hendley, a southpaw, went the route for Milwaukee, yielding five hits and striking out eight. Richert, who fanned the first six batters he faced in a relief role for the Dodgers last week, added five more strikeouts in his two-inning relief stint.

A five-run third, climaxed by Smokey Burgess' three-run homer, gave Pittsburgh's Bob Friend his second victory of the season. The veteran right-hander gave up six Met hits, two of them home runs by Felix Mantilla and Jim Marshall. Roger Craig, for the second straight time, failed to go beyond the third inning and absorbed his second loss.

The Mets, who have lost all four games, had a 24 lead and were battling in the last half of the third when the rains came. Young Bob Miller held the Pirates to two singles in his three-inning stint.

Gedman to Coach Grand Rapids 11

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Gene Gedman, who starred as a halfback for both the University of Indiana and the Detroit Lions, has been given a one-year contract as head coach of the Grand Rapids Blazers of the United Football League.

Last season in his first year as a coach, Gedman led the Indianapolis Warriors to a 6-3-1 record and a first place tie in the NFL's Western Division with Grand Rapids. The Blazers, then known as the Shamrocks, won a playoff and beat the Columbus Colts for the title.

Gedman will replace Jack Morton, former Marquette University coach, who left Grand Rapids to become head coach of Jackson in the American Football Conference. Gedman, who lives in Detroit, was with the Hoosiers from 1950-52 and then played the next five years with the Lions in the National Football League.

Detroit Swimmer Sent to Hospital When Bid Fails

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A plucky swimmer was in a hospital today for diagnosis of what foiled her third attempt to be the first girl to swim around Miami Beach. Physicians said there was a possibility that red-haired Mary Margaret Ryan, 21, had developed contracted appendicitis or a muscle spasm in 12 hours of stroking through Biscayne Bay and the choppy Atlantic Ocean.

Mary Margaret was taken from the water at 2 p.m. after doctors' surgery suddenly with only about a 72 of her projected 28-mile route to cover. She was half an hour ahead of schedule and was headed for a return to Biscayne Bay's smooth water when the pains broke up the attempt.

Stomach cramps forced her to abandon her first effort to swim around Miami Beach March 4. A second try March 13 was derailed by roughening seas.

Cranes' Pitcher Tied in Opening 5-1 Win

John Billecote of Cranbrook hurled a one-hitter as the Cranbrook opened the baseball season with a 5-1 victory at Ypsilanti Lincoln.

The only blow off the Cranbrook hurler was a short double home run by Ron Harris. Billecote struck out six and walked five.

He also collected two of the six Cranbrook hits. Catcher Dick Mosher gave the Cranbrook enough runs to win with a two-run triple in the second inning.

Bunning Gets Nod to Pitch Against Nats

Moski Is Frozen-Out of Turn in Sunday's Final With Yanks

Somebody finally called a halt to all the nonsense Sunday and postponed the cold-weather antics of the Detroit Tigers and New York Yankees.

"It was just too cold to play," said a Tiger official, milder of the snow flurries and 35-degree temperatures hovering in the Motor City for the third straight day.

The Yankees, apparently content to escape town with no known pneumonia cases and an even split in the two-game series, flew to the sunnier climate of Baltimore.

Manager Bob Scheffing said the Tigers would schedule a morning workout today at Tiger Stadium, "if the weatherman cooperates."

The Tigers open a two-game series with the Washington Senators here tomorrow. The two teams are scheduled to play again Wednesday, then the Tigers will fly to Boston for a three-game stand against the Red Sox.

BUNNING TUESDAY

Scheffing passed over Don Mossi, who was scheduled to pitch the final against New York, and tabbed Jim Bunning to start against the Senators Tuesday.

Bunning was off the form that enabled him to win 17 games last year during most of the spring training season. But the lanky 30-year-old right-hander looked good in his last Florida stint and preserved a victory for Frank Lary in the home opener, going the final two innings.

Three weather postponements in the first six games haven't caused Scheffing too much concern. "Sure, you'd like to keep moving out most of the other teams in the league, including the Yankees, have had the same trouble."

New York came back to club the Tigers, 11-6, Saturday in a tight repeat of the opener, which the Tigers lost, 5-6. While 29,411 fans turned out to see the first game, only 12,538 braved Saturday's wind and snow.

Utility slugger Jim Blanchard, rubbing for the lame Yogi Berra in left field, led a 15 hit assault by starter Phil Regan, who bowed out after 3 1/2 innings in deference to four relievers.

Blanchard drove home New York's first four runs as they got off to a 7-1 lead, with a run-producing single in the first inning and a three-run homer in the third.

Only rookie southpaw Doug Gallagher escaped damage and he pitched to only one batter, his successors, Jerry Cashe, Mike Ferraro and Frank Aquila, all felt the same Yankee heat.

Regan, who hadn't pitched in 10 days, gave up six hits, five walks and seven runs before he walked to the showers. "I think the layout hurt him a lot," Scheffing said. "He just wasn't sharp."

Terry Fox, the Tigers' relief ace last season, wasn't used. "He's got a sore arm," Scheffing explained.

Norm Cash socked his first two home runs against starter Larry Terrell, but both were of the leadoff variety. Terry won his second defeat, although requiring help from Jim Coates and Luis Arroyo.

CHICO'S BIG HIT

The Tigers picked up two runs in the fourth on a two-run single by Chico Fernandez and two more runs in the sixth to cut New York's lead to 8-5 on Cash's second homer and a wild streak leading to Terry's departure.

Coates lost control in the seventh, losing base-filling passes to Al Kaline, catcher and Steve Bove with only one out and brought Arroyo from the bullpen.

Chico Fernandez lifted Terry hopes when he shot a liner into short centerfield but Mickey Blanton made a spectacular catch and doubled Cash off second base to end Detroit's last rally.

The Yankees threatened Kline but couldn't score again until the ninth when Aquila, facing his first three men, gave up a triple to Eldon Howard, a single to Bill Skowron and a home run to Gene

Hawks Back in Series Race

Chicago Gains 3-0 Triumph on Home Ice

Maple Leafs Still Lead Stanley Cup Playoffs by 2-1 Margin

CHICAGO (AP)—Having won what they consider was the "big one," the Chicago Black Hawks have visions of successfully defending their Stanley Cup championship following a 3-0 home ice victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs Sunday night.

"The longer the series goes, the better chance we have," said Hawk Coach Rudy Plouffe.

"We're still winning," claimed Toronto Coach Punch Imlach after his Maple Leafs' advantage in the best-of-seven series had been cut to 2-1 by the hard-checking Hawks.

After having lost the first two games of the series in Toronto, the Hawks came on the ice flexing their muscles before a Chicago Stadium crowd of 16,698.

SCORE TWICE IN SECOND

Before the contest ended, the Hawks scored twice in the second period on goals by Stan Mikita and Ab McDonald and added another in the final minute when Bronco Horvath put one into the unguarded Toronto net.

Meanwhile, Chicago goalie Glenn Hall was scoring his second straight of the 1962 playoffs and his fourth in Stanley Cup competition. Suddenly the series carried the overtones of the Hawks' semifinal victory over Montreal. The Canadiens won the first two games in Montreal and then fell before the Hawks in four straight outings.

Should the Hawks win at home Tuesday night, they'll go to Toronto Thursday with the series tied.

The sixth game if necessary, will be played in Chicago April 22 and again, if necessary, the seventh game will be played in Toronto April 24.

"Being on our home ice is a big help," said Plouffe. "The longer the series goes, the better chance we have. I think we're a heavier club as far as checking goes and Toronto is a tough checking team."

SHORT OF RECORD

Mikita's goal Sunday night was his sixth in the playoffs and gave him a total of 17 points—three short of the Stanley Cup record set by Detroit's Gordie Howe in 1955.

"We're still winning," said Imlach, "but we were outmanned, outskated and outthought tonight. We weren't skating and we were far off from our first two games. We couldn't get control of the game at anytime," he said, "they wouldn't give us a chance. When we had our chances we couldn't take advantage of them."

The Leafs never gave up but the determined Hawks wouldn't give them a chance. Hall had to make only 19 saves in comparison to 33 for Toronto goalie John Bower.

PROUD WINNERS — Ricky Betz, 13, of Adrian, kneels behind the Pontiac Press trophy he won yesterday in the Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club match for having the highest scoring dog in show. Sam, a Brittany spaniel, takes a look at the award he helped win.

Youth Has Problem With Canine Awards

By DON VOGEL

Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press
Mikita Betz was faced with a problem last Sunday afternoon that many of the adults leaving the CAI building would gladly have tried to solve if they were in his position.

The 13-year-old junior high student from Adrian was finding out he couldn't carry five trophies, keep a firm grip on a dog leash and get out of the building in one trip.

The Pontiac Press trophy, awarded for having the highest scoring dog in the Southern Michigan Obedience Club matches, gave him the most trouble.

Many older dog handlers among the record entry of 129 still in the building sent curious glances in the direction of the disappearing red head with the short haircut.

TWO WOUNDES

Ricky, the son of Adrian's municipal judge, and his dog bested two adults in runs to win highest scoring honors. All three had posted 199 1/2 points. A perfect score is 200.

Mrs. Alvin Harrison of Oak Park tied Ricky for top honors in Novice A with her small cocker. The youngster and his dog got the nod from obedience judge Tom Gannon in the runoff.

Then came the stiffest test, Ricky and Sam went into the ring against Mrs. Helen Watson of Lansing, a veteran handler who had been through many such final events. Her dog was a poodle, winner of the more advanced Open B class.

Eleanor Bennett, judge of Open B competition, decided that Ricky and his dog did the exercise.

used in both classes, a little better. Mrs. Watson was awarded the second place trophy and Mrs. Harrison received the third place trophy for highest scoring dogs in the match.

In addition to the Press trophy, Ricky carried trophies back to Adrian for highest scoring Brittany, highest scoring sporting dog, Novice A winner and top junior handler among the boys.

When asked how he felt before his final matches, Ricky answered: "Mr. Leonard told me not to be nervous, but I was."

Bad Leonard was the most experienced of the seven handlers from Adrian. He and his cocher won Open A with a 181 1/2 score.

This was the second triumph for Ricky and his 18 months old dog in the one year they have been in obedience work. They won Novice A in the Lansing show.

All the handlers from Adrian are graduates of noted obedience handler Tom Clute's classes.

Mrs. Barbara Oldenburg of Adrian directed her cocher to first place in Novice B with 199 points. William Kelly of Detroit and his German Shepherd won utility, top class in obedience, with 181 1/2.

Mrs. Watson won first place in basic competition with a pair of poodles and Cheryl Knott of Waterford was the best junior handler among the girls.

Bert Mosher of Pontiac was third in basic (190) with a Brittany and a poodle and Pauline Logsdon of Pontiac and her wire hair terrier were third in graduate novice with 157. This dog also topped the terriers.

No Change at Milford

There was no change in the Milford bowing doubles event during the weekend. R. Gonder and J. Davino of Cleveland lead with 1,657 and Joe Sterrett with 284. The tourney ends April 25.

Wrestlers from Hazel Park captured four titles during the weekend Ontario freestyle wrestling championships at Toronto. Keith Kestel won the 125-pound division, Norm Young was tops in the 154-pound class, Tim Woodin took the 213-pound competition and Bill Riddle won the 139-pound title.

All persons planning to coach elementary school boys or girls' softball teams who did not attend last week's meeting are urged to be present at a coaches' meeting Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Community Activities Building on Williams Lake Road, the Waterford Township Recreation Department has announced.

American Football Conference officials adopted a pair of rule changes during a 10-hour weekend meeting. They abolished the fair catch on a punt, declaring a five-yard encroachment circle around a punt receiver and a 15-yard penalty for violating it. A second change allows one point for the kicking team on a punt return not carried out of the end zone.

Lewis Hyman, 18-year-old University of Michigan gymnast, lost in a fall from a trampoline in the NCAA meet March 31, remained in critical condition today in a hospital at Albuquerque, N. M.

Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Dow Finsterwald each received an additional $118,544 for their lifetime play-off money. The extra prize money came from the playoff receipts. Winner Palmer earned a record $27,116.34 as a result of the bonus.

Officials of the United Football League announced Sunday that the league will be authorized to form working agreements with teams in the National Football League. Arrangements for working agreements with Canadian and AFL teams also are being discussed, the UFL said.

THE PALMER METHOD

The best golfers never let their hands stop when they assume a stance for any shot from drive to putt. That is, no wrinkles will appear on the wrists before the hands as they look down. This indicates a firm, purposeful arm and wrist position, from which a golfer can take a solid, decisive whack at the ball.

One whose wrists sag at address is usually crouched over the ball and, thus, can never get up full speed in the swing. Such wrist position (as illustrated) will encourage too much hand action early in the backswing. Most likely, the club-head will be "flicked up" right every time you hope for a smooth, long and powerful backswing.

Casper Edges Souchak in Greensboro Tourney

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—

"The Lord has been good to me this year," sighed Billy Casper, 50, after he had just picked up $5,000 first money by one shot over a young Mike Souchak in the Greater Greensboro open golf tournament Sunday.

In a finish reminiscent of Casper's championship behind charge three weeks ago at Miami, Fla., the Apple Valley, Calif., professional, three down with six holes to play, squeezed through by a stroke.

FINAL ROUND 68
He shot a final round 68, three under par, for a 275 total. Souchak, out in the tournament's best nine, 31, took 38 coming back for 69 and 278. He won $3,000.

The story was written on the last four holes; played by Casper in even fours, against muscular Mike's 54-54.

Opening Loss May Prove Otherwise

Schwab Doesn't Believe in 'Jinx'

By The Associated Press

Sophomore first baseman Don Schwab isn't leaving any thanks to the jinx, though the figures show otherwise.

"Nonsense," the 1961 American League rookie of the year, shrugged after his second straight loss Sunday, 5-1, to the Orioles in the first game of a doubleheader at Baltimore. The Red Sox won the second 5-1.

"I don't believe in any jinx," the tall right-hander said. "I know that sometimes you get more breaks than others. Over a full season, they usually even up for everyone."

NOT MUCH HELP
He hasn't had much help so far this season. Schwab, who had a 15-7 record with the sixth-place Red Sox last season, was beaten 4-0 in the opener this year and Army Pvt. Steve Barber hand-cuffed Boston Sunday.

Los Angeles' surprising Angels gained sole control of the top spot at the end of the first week's play, taking the Twins 6-3 at Minnesota. Chicago blasted the A's 5-3 at Kansas City. New York at Detroit was postponed by cold weather, and the Washington at Cleveland doubleheader was postponed because of snow.

Only rampaging rookie Rich Rollins looked like the Red Sox's account for all the Twins runs

Bluth Seeks ABC Encore After Record 1st Night

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Ray Bluth of St. Louis today was like an actor looking for an encore to a previous smash performance as he went into the second round of the American Bowling Congress Masters Tournament finals.

The 34-year-old Bluth, who won this tournament in 1959, had a brilliant opening Sunday night when he started with a 300 game and continued on to a world record 1083 four-game total for tournament or match game competition.

"Any time you shoot 300 it feels fine," said Bluth, "and it's wonderful to have a record like this but it won't do me a bit of good tomorrow."

ROLLED 23 STRIKES
Bluth, who fired an amazing 23 of a possible 24 strikes in his first two games Sunday night, opposed St. Paul's Ed Ellis, 11, in a winner's bracket match. The Masters Tournament is a double elimination event.

In getting the 12th annual Masters Tournament off to a rousing start, Bluth broke these records: Masters finals block, 1021, set Don Wray, Detroit, 575-821. He'll meet Carter in the second round.

The winners scored 40 points. Holy Redeemer 32, St. Alphonsus 31½, defending champion OLSM 20, Signaw SS Peter & Paul 12½, St. Anthony 11, Farmington OLA 8, Grove Point St. Paul 6 and Ann Arbor St. Thomas 5.

Servite broke the shot put and broad jump marks. The Panthers put the shot a combined distance of 185 feet one-half inch and broad jumped 71 feet. Six records were broken.

Orchard Lake won only one event, the pole vault, but it was a record effort. The Eagles vaulted a combined 35 feet six inches.

Lakers One Victory Away From NBA Title

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Cautious Los Angeles casts a wary eye on history and the Boston Celtics to night when the Lakers can wrap up the National Basketball Association playoff crown.

In an effort to save its trembling dynasty, Boston hints it will send defensive genius Bill Russell to play the great Elgin Baylor, whose record 61 points Saturday night led Los Angeles to the championship threshold.

The Lakers outscored Boston 33-22 in the final period and pulled ahead 3-2 in the best-of-seven series with a 126-111 triumph.

SAME SITUATION
"We had this same situation a year ago in the semifinals against St. Louis," Los Angeles coach Fred Schaus warned. "We led the series 3-2 going home, then dropped the next two and were eliminated."

Baylor, whose point output bettered the previous playoff final mark of 50 set by Bob Pettit against Boston four years ago, added:

"Boston is one club that won't give up. We'll need our best team effort to win this thing."

For the tired Celtics, there is no tomorrow in their quest for an unprecedented fourth straight crown. In addition to Freeman Frank Ramsey who has limped through the series on one good leg, Bob Cousy (thigh pull) and Tom Heinsohn (twisted foot) also are hurt.

HOBLED CONDITION
Cousy, gallant old court magician, played most of Saturday's game in the third round, contributing 16 points, 12 assists, four rebounds in addition to Freeman Frank Ramsey who has limped through the series on one good leg, Bob Cousy (thigh pull) and Tom Heinsohn (twisted foot) also are hurt.

Celtics coach Red Auerbach says he thought about playing an extensive post-game treatment of Cousy, Boston trainer Buddy Lenoix said:

"Cousy won't be 100 per cent but he should play."

Lone State Winner in Mansfield Relays

Dorie Reid of Fernalde was Michigan's only winner in Saturday's Mansfield (Ohio) Relays.

Reid, state dash champion, won the 100-yard dash in 16.1 seconds and finished second in the 220. He scored all the Eagles' points.

Fernalde topped Michigan entries with 10 points. Others: Howell 4; University of Detroit High School 2-7; Hazel Park 1; Birmingham Seaholm, Port Huron and Grand Haven, 1.

Walled Lake won the mile relay, final event of Friday's meet, to cement a 28-0 victory over Cranbrook.

Essel Bailey led the losers with first places in the high and low hurdles and a tie for first in the high jump. Bob Hicks of Cranbrook won the 100 and 220 over a slow track in cold weather.

Despite the poor conditions, half-miler Ray Nelson of Walled Lake turned a good 2:08 clocking. Other Viking winners were Don Schlicht, shot; Norm Morley, broad jump; Bill Marks, pole vault; 889 relay; and Gary Alderson tie in the high jump.

Bill McMullen won the mile and Gene Gasick the 440 for Cranbrook.

Brando Say Rich Get Tax Breaks

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Marlon Brando has a timely tip for today: Taxes are unfair.

The thought may have occurred to you as you mailed a deadline check to Uncle Sam.

But Brando's viewpoint is different. He does not think he is taxed enough.

His comments just came out of the conversation on "The Ugly American" set.

"The whole tax setup is unfair," he mused. "I figure the rich guy. Anybody who is well enough off to set up a corporation doesn't have to pay the same taxes that the little guy does."

"Look at me," he said. "I don't know how I would be considered rich, well-to-do or what. I've made a lot of money. The point is that I can keep what I make. That's about it."

Meanwhile, back at the studio, Brando is happily working in "The Ugly American," wearing a mustache and clothes made by President Kennedy's tailor. He plays the American ambassador to a Southeast Asian nation.

He says he is happy "because it's such a pleasure to be working in a picture which has a shooting schedule, a finished script and which you know you will be free of in nine weeks."

CAN'T BE PRINTED

You may recall that his last film, "Bounty," was not so appointed. In fact, there have been reports that he will be asked to go back for yet some more retakes. Brando's comment on that can't appear in family newspapers.

His future plans: "As soon as the picture is over, I am going down to the plastics institute and I am going to have them make a mold of my rear. Then I will have this mold built into a rocking chair and I am going to sit and rock for 10 years."

Aluminum Baskets

Handymen and housewives can make a number of attractive and rust-proof hanging baskets from perforated aluminum sheets. The perforations, available in many designs, make aluminum an ideal plant basket material, since the holes in the metal permit air to reach plants and assist the aeration provided by porous red clay flower pots.

Testimony Set in TV Hearing

NBC Executive Plans to Defend Programming at Local Levels

CHICAGO (UPI)—A National Broadcasting Co. (NBC) executive was scheduled to lead off testimony today in defense of network programming practices at the local level.

Lloyd C. Yoder, vice president of NBC and general manager of its Chicago station, WGNB, was the first network witness called in the second phase of Federal Communications Commission (FCC) public hearings on local television.

Last month, in the first phase of the hearings conducted by FCC Commissioner Robert E. Lee, more than 100 witnesses from Chicago civic, labor and religious groups testified.

Some of these witnesses charged there was insufficient local programming, that network executives in New York were dictating to local management, and that the interests of Chicagoans were not served by the stations.

Following Yoder's testimony, other rebuttal witnesses scheduled to tell the network side of the story were representatives from WBBM-TV, operated by the Columbia Broadcasting System, and WBBK, operated by the American Broadcasting Co.

When the second phase of the first local television hearings began last Thursday, Ward Call, general manager of WGN-TV, owned by the Chicago Tribune, attacked the inquiry for its informality.

Qual said that since the licenses of the three network stations had not been renewed the proceeding should be quasi-judicial with the right of cross examination.

Lee, who has ordered the network stations to submit records on employment, programming and facilities to reassure him that station managers have been given sufficient autonomy, insisted that the hearings would not have bearing on license renewal.

Reds Kill Dogs to Ease Food Shortages

By BOB CONSIDERE
NEW YORK — Dog's worst friend is man. At least in the people's paradise of Bulgaria. ***
One Comrade Andreev, communist veterinarian, caught rebuffed by the alert monitoring services of Radio Free Europe, boldly replied as follows to a dog owner who wrote to a party newspaper and asked, "What is the reason for the recent mass extermination of dogs?"
Andreev replied, "The people's health and general hygiene conditions make the extermination of dogs necessary."
Radio Free Europe surmises that the main reason is that consecutive bad harvests and atrocious food management have brought about shortages which the Communists believe can be alleviated a bit by destroying dogs. Come to think of it, on four trips to the Soviet Union I don't think I've seen four dogs.

VALID COMPLAINT
But the complaint about the cost is valid. We charge more for just about everything in this country. And we won't speak their languages, as they do ours.
Charles de Gaulle's government, which wishes to extend eventual sovereignty to war-like Algeria is getting fed up with the sovereignty of the protectorate of their Soviet Highnesses.
Monsie is the size of New York's Central Park and there are only about 4,000 bona fide Monaguques. At least that many Frenchmen are there frankly ducking taxes.
And who knows how many assorted Americans, Greeks, Turks and British have been the tax run by putting their yachts in at that merange-like little principality.
Looks like France has blundered into a two-front war.
The Overseas Press Club's Cornelia Ryan, famed war correspondent and author of "The Longest Day," pulled one of his more daring invasions last week. Tickets for the annual Awards Dinner at the Waldorf—he was co-chairman of the dinner committee — were moving slowly, particularly among members.
Connie raided the glassed-in bulletin board and printed across the dinner announcement on the board (it was a supplicating sort of announcement) SOLD OUT!
"It emptied the bar," he reported happily later. "Everybody suddenly wanted to buy a ticket."
Dick Nixon's book "Six Crises" makes me sad. And, for some unfathomable reason, embarrassed why?

CORDIAL INVITATION
That was a cordial invitation President Kennedy extended to European vacationists to visit the U.S. this year, for a change, and return a little percentage of the loot their countries have been taking from Americans for many years.
We doubt whether they'll accept the bid, by and large. Vacationing by Europeans, like the vertical migrations of certain marine life, tends to move chiefly north and south.
The Scandinavian seeks warmth in winter; the Mediterranean dweller goes the other way in the summer. When the climate is right, they all go to Switzerland.
Just how this can be altered beats me. They've been at it since about the time of the Caesars. We've asked some Russians why more of them don't come to the U.S., what with about 15,000 of our people now dropping their dough in Moscow and Leningrad each year.
Their complaint is that it's too expensive here for the average bloke who takes two weeks off and has a family along with him.
That, of course, is not the prime reason the Russian doesn't come to the U.S. for a look-see. He

Man Ruled Sane; Trial to Resume in Hit-Run Case
—Robert Hackney has been found mentally competent to stand trial for the alleged hit-run assault of a Pontiac Motor Division engineer.
Judge Stanton Dondoro, after hearing reports from two doctors appointed to examine Hackney, said the defendant's trial would resume April 23.
Hackney, 29, of 469 Orchard Lake Ave., is charged with assault with intent to murder in the hit-run injury of Mark Lightfoot, 45, of 2609 McClintock St.
Trial was adjourned March 27 after Hackney's attorney filed a petition for a sanity commission to examine the defendant.
Lightfoot has testified he was struck by a car which appeared to deliberately follow him as he walked across a lot at 1280 Joslyn Ave. last September.
The victim is confined to a wheelchair as a result of injuries suffered when he was hit.

Senate Getting
Bill to Beef Up Antitrust Power

Steel Firms Receiving
Subpoenas Calling for Production Figures

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to strengthen the government's power to break up monopolistic corporations was on its way to the Senate today while Senate subcommittees were being sped to the dozen largest steel companies.

The massive assault mounted by President Kennedy against steel's $6-a-ton increase was still rolling, though the price boost was rescinded Friday.

The battle's aftermath found the stock market at a 1962 high, and the prospects for a new legislative program considered suddenly brighter.

Pressing ahead with its announced antitrust investigation, the Senate Antitrust subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., wrote subpoenas for the 12 top companies to bring in figures on production by mid-May.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., prepared to introduce three bills today to sharpen the teeth of the antitrust laws.

NEED PROTECTION. Gore said the need for better protection of the public was proved by "this whole episode in which the steel companies made gains in price increases and then rescinded them."

His bills would not have given an outside chance of passage a week ago. Now they must be regarded seriously, especially since Democratic legislators can be expected to capitalize on the so-called monopoly issue in this campaign year.

The Gore measures would:

1. Give the president power under the Taft-Hartley law to obtain an 80-day injunction against a general price increase in a basic commodity. The procedure would be parallel to the cooling-off period provided for "national emergency" strikes.
2. Create a national consumer advisory board. It would not have the power to issue subpoenas.

GOP Goes Into Huddle

U.S. Business Lags, Says Rocky in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, considered contender for the Republican nomination for president in 1964, charged today that the Kennedy administration had failed to attack the nation's basic economic problems with sufficient vigor or understanding.

"Good sentiments are not enough if action is weak or ambiguous," the governor said in a speech prepared for delivery before the Economic Club of Detroit.

On the domestic scene, Rockefeller said, the basic problem is the downward trend in business profits and the lag in business capital investment due to inadequate incentives.

"The drop in our average growth rate in the later postwar years," the governor said, "has been directly related to the low rate of business investment in new plant equipment."

Although the national Democratic administration has proposed investment incentives in the form of tax credits and liberalized depreciation allowances, Rockefeller said, they are unsatisfactory and inadequate.

Although the national Democratic administration has proposed investment incentives in the form of tax credits and liberalized depreciation allowances, Rockefeller said, they are unsatisfactory and inadequate.

Rockefeller was here to deliver an address today before the Economic Club of Detroit, but used the occasion to strengthen what had been only a casual acquaintance with the former American Motors Corp. president, who is now the Republican Party's most likely candidate for governor of Michigan.

The New York governor, Romney and two GOP national committeemen — John B. Martin of Michigan and George H. Brown of New York — conferred for two hours over dinner in Rockefeller's hotel suite.

Rockefeller is a potential candidate for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination. Newsmen were excluded from the session, and Rockefeller had no comment on the meeting. Romney said later they discussed "mutual state problems."

"When Mr. Rockefeller ran for governor the key problem in New York was jobs," Romney said. "That is one of the key problems in Michigan today, so I was interested to hear what has been done in New York to change the economic climate."

"When he went into office," Romney continued, "New York's rate of economic growth was lower, and its unemployment was higher, than the national average. This is now true in Michigan. Our state's personal income declined 7.8 per cent in 1961, while in every other state including New York—personal income went up in 1961."

Whether he learned anything from Rockefeller that might reverse the trend, Romney declined to say.

Shooting Suspect Dies Unexpectedly; Evidence to Be Heard at Inquest

Murder charges against Patricia J. Hite, who died unexpectedly yesterday at an Indiana hospital, will be heard here at a coroner's inquest into the death of slain Pontiac Central High School counselor Hubert T. Kreitmeier.

The 28-year-old Fraser High School teacher died at 4:45 a.m. yesterday at Methodist Hospital, Gary, Ind. Hospital authorities said her death resulted from the apparently self-inflicted bullet wound she suffered more than a month ago.

Oakland County authorities last week believed Miss Hite would be strong enough to stand trial for Kreitmeier's murder.

She was taken off the critical list last week. Her condition had improved steadily since she was found near death in an Indiana farmyard March 6.

Miss Hite was found behind her parents' farm home in Jasper County, Ind., hours after Kreitmeier's body was discovered in his Keego Harbor home March 5.

Police believe Miss Hite shot Kreitmeier, then drove to Indiana to take her own life.

Authorities said she was upset by Kreitmeier's impending marriage to Marilyn Fair, 27, a Pontiac Central teacher who shared a home with her in New Baltimore. Detective Charles Whitlock of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department said, "We've got a good case against her—living or dead." Whitlock said no date had been set for the inquest.

8 Neutrals' Plan to Break Deadlock

GENEVA (AP)—The eight non-aligned nations at the disarmament commission today proposed a compromise control system in the hope of breaking the big power deadlock on a nuclear weapons test ban.

The plan called for a control system based on "already existing national networks of observation posts," the system advocated by the Soviet Union.

It provided for on-the-spot in-

Six of Seven Districts Will Have Races; Landry Only One Unopposed

With the weatherman turning on the charm, an estimated 10,000 or more voters were expected at the polls in today's general election in Pontiac, according to City Clerk Olga Barkley.

The total vote for the last general election in 1960 was 9,967.

"It should go over the 10,000 mark today in view of the excellent weather and an increase of 622 in the number of registered voters over the 1960 figure," said Mrs. Barkley.

Voter turnout was reported fair in most sections this morning and is expected to increase in the late afternoon hours.

Voters will elect city commissioners from all seven Pontiac voting districts and vote on two ballot proposals.

TWO PROPOSALS. If passed by voters, one proposal would set up a new pension plan and retirement system for police and fire department personnel. The other would make rabies vaccinations for dogs mandatory in Pontiac.

There will be commission races in all districts except District 7 where the incumbent Commissioner Robert Landry is unopposed.

Candidates in District 1 are incumbent Commissioner Milton R. Henry, 41, of 192 Bassett St., and Robert Bowers Jr., 39, of 316 Harrison St.

The District 2 race is between Curtis E. Patton, 50, of 314 S. Tilden St., and Charles H. Harmon, 61, of 336 W. Ingham Road.

In District 3, incumbent Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr., 46, of 247 Ottawa Drive, is being opposed by Mrs. Jean M. Milton, 38, of 111 Oneida Road.

Candidates in District 4 are incumbent Commissioner Winifred E. Bottom, 36, of 174 Euclid Ave., and Floyd P. Miles, 53, of 169 W. Columbia Ave.

Bidding for his fifth term will be District 5 incumbent John A. Dugan, 53, of 363 Nelson St. He will be opposed by Loy L. Lefford, 39, of 662 Vista Drive.

The District 6 contest will be between incumbent Wesley J. Wood, 35, of 137 Michigan Ave., and Dick M. Kirby, 44, of 91 N. Edith St.

Polling places close at 8 p.m. but will remain open long enough to allow persons to vote who are waiting in line at the closing hour.

Woman, 20, Dies in Crash on M59

A 20-year-old Pleasant Ridge woman was killed early Sunday morning in a Waterloo Township auto accident. Three others in the car were hospitalized.

The mishap occurred 1:05 a.m. at M59 and Cass Road.

Dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital was Katherine Haaps of 19 Fairwood. Injured were the driver William Becker III of Detroit, Arne Berg, also of Detroit, and Zandra Erwin of Ferndale. All were reported in satisfactory condition this morning.

Robert A. Harris, 27, of 3659 Herbolt, was driving south on M59 when his car and the one driven by Becker collided.

WHERE HE WALKED — The map shows where Jesus walked and taught in the Holy Land. Now, nearly 2,000 years later, a quiet scene by the Sea of Galilee is probably much as he saw it then. Tourists come here now and honor these religious places and shrines.

Work Begins in Galilee

(Editor's Note — For 30 years, he lived in Nazareth and it was here that he first revealed his role to man. The sacred associations cluster thickly about today's Nazareth. A reporter records his impressions of the land of Galilee in this first of five Easter articles on his pilgrimage to Christianity's holiest places.)

BY GEORGE W. CORNELL. NAZARETH, Israel (AP)—A jagged shaft of lightning flamed against the black procession of the clouds. A moment's silence. Then the thunder crashed, cascading through the chasms of the mountains.

This is Galilee, unstained, rocky, wooded, precipitous, halved by an ancient insurrection, homeland of the Nazarene.

To the south across the plain of Endor, the rain came down in sheets of gray. Yet westward, sunlight shamed the ranging plateaus of Carmel.

This place is full of moods, of sudden change, of peaks and valleys, storm and sun.

And here is where the carpenter of Nazareth began his work that led him through the depth of night and back again into a pinnacle of light.

He walked these limestone slopes where rugged shepherd boys still tend their flocks today. He chopped down cypress in these groves to carve as yokes and wooden plows. And here he taught.

"The truth will make you free." My wife, Jo Ann, and I went roaming for a week in Israel, its towns and fields, its modern methods overlaying old, its sheep, kibbutzim, ancient sites, its finds in archeology, the ruins of Pilate's garrison, Caesarea, beside the Mediterranean Sea.

And chiefly — rockbound Galilee, the storied land of Jesus.

Red China Reaffirms Russ Ties

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China's People's Congress wound up a 20-day secret session today with a blast at the United States, a proclamation of friendship for Russia and admission that it was having troubles at home.

Peiping Radio broadcast a final Congress communique outlining what it said were the main points of Chinese foreign policy as presented by Premier Chou En-lai.

Although Chou was believed to have opened the Congress with a speech March 27, this was the first word on what he had said.

The communique said Chou attacked the "signature of Taiwan by U.S. imperialism and its creation of 'two Chinas,'" a charge that Red China has made frequently for years.

Chou proclaimed "unswerving friendship with the Soviet Union and the rest of the Communist bloc. He called on the Communist world to 'unite all forces that can be united' against the United States and what it stands for."

BOAT SEIZED—An Alaskan Fish and Game Department power barge (showing lower right) approaches the Japanese boat Otteri Maru, 3, in Shelikof Strait, near Kodiak, Alaska, just prior to seizure of the vessel Saturday. Alaska claims that Japanese were fishing in territorial waters without a state license. The Japanese boat was brought to port in Kodiak.

Hold Girl, 3 Men in Area Holdup

18-Year-Old Arrested With Companions After Independence Robbery

Four persons, one of them a teenage girl, are being held at the Oakland County Jail for investigation of the armed robbery of an Independence Township service station early today.

Apprehended early this morning in Fenton were Gloria J. Yager, 3; Ronald W. Schumann, 18; and Clifford E. Johnson, 28, all of Flint. A fourth person, later identified as Ronald D. Wilson, 20, Flint.

Fenton police stopped Schumann, Johnson and the Yager girl about 4:30 a.m. in an auto answering the description of a getaway car used in the armed robbery of the Red Fox Gas Station, 6841 Dixie Highway, Wilson was arrested about 7 a.m. in Flint.

Two armed bandits entered the station about 3:30 a.m. and demanded money, according to the attendant, Leonard Ballard, 49, of 77 E. Glass Road, Orionville. They took about $71 from the cash register and struck Ballard on the head with a pistol before escaping. Ballard, dazed slightly by the blow, called Oakland County Sheriff's deputies who put out a description of the bandits' car given them by the attendant.

The Yager girl admitted the armed robbery and implicated the three others when they were questioned in Fenton, the sheriff's department said.

Oran Police and OES Bonn Clarifies Battle; Kill 1, Hurt 10 Berlin Demands

ALGIERS (AP)—Police and the Secret Army Organization (OAS) battled today in Oran, where underground terrorists in a campaign of growing boldness tried to seize a police camp and its armored cars.

First reports said a policeman was killed and 10 other persons were wounded.

In Algiers, secret army commanders met on the roof of the Bab el Oued quarter, killing one and wounding two.

It was in an Algiers suburb that a Molenm lynched two Europeans Sunday in the first act of retaliation against the secret army since the March 19 cease-fire ending the long Algerian nationalist rebellion.

WARNS FRENCH

The Algerian Nationalist regime from its base in Tunis warned the French Sunday to take stronger measures against the secret army, which is trying to wreck the cease-fire and keep Algeria French.

It perhaps was significant that since the warning the first action came in Oran, second largest city in Algeria and a secret army stronghold in western Algeria.

The fighting started when a secret army unit tried to take over the police installation at Ombelita, a suburb, and capture the armored cars stationed there.

Paper Strike in Fifth Day

Detroit Free Press and News Start Layoffs for Editorial Staffs

DETROIT (UPI) — The Teamsters' Union strike that has closed down the Detroit News and the Detroit Free Press entered its fifth day today, resulting in layoffs of other personnel at both newspapers.

The papers, which published a combined Sunday edition, announced last night that they would not do so today.

Robert C. Butz, executive secretary of the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Association, said as a result of the decision not to attempt the combined edition the "News was compelled Sunday night to post layoff notices affecting several of its departments."

The Free Press announced Saturday that layoff notices had been given to most editorial employees "until further notice."

Butz said in his statement, "It is not possible to continue this sincere effort to provide Detroit with newspapers due to continuing difficulties obstructing normal and economic newspaper operations."

The statement did not specify which departments in the News, an afternoon paper, were affected by the layoff notices.

The strike began last Wednesday night when drivers of Local 372 established picket lines around the Free Press. The Free Press, a morning paper, was unable to publish Thursday's edition as a result.

The drivers rejected a contract offered by the Free Press which called for a $4 a week wage boost for the first year and another $3 a week for the second year of the proposed two-year contract.

The pact between the Free Press and the Teamsters expired last Nov. 15 but was extended on a day-by-day basis until last Wednesday.

A Free Press spokesman said last night further meetings had not been scheduled.

Passengers in the Dark

Pilot Handles 'Hijacker'

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — A disgruntled cook, waving a harmless signal pistol, tried today to hijack a Dutch airliner with 51 passengers aboard and force the pilot to take it to Communist East Berlin.

The pilot foiled the attempt and landed the plane safely in Amsterdam.

KLM Royal Dutch Airline officials said the cook, a Portuguese who had been fired by the airline, burst into the cockpit of the DCTC airliner five minutes after it took off on a flight to Recife, Brazil, from Amsterdam.

Spokesman Says Terms Must Keep E. Germany From Decisive Role

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany insists that any Berlin settlement keep from Communist East Germany a decisive voice in a possible international control authority and capturing three government spokesmen said today.

The spokesman described this as the principal point in West German insistence.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department today denounced as "wholly inaccurate" a report that the United States had proposed a 5,000-man reduction in the western garrison in Berlin as part of a settlement offer to the Russians.

Many's reaction to a four-point program the United States has worked up for a new round of Berlin talks with the Soviet Union.

"We would not object to East German representation on such an authority," the spokesman said. "But the big four powers with occupation rights in Berlin (the United States, Soviet Union, Britain, France) must continue to be primarily responsible for the decisions. East German representation should be limited to a technical competence."

The spokesman said there also must be no concessions in a possible agreement on nonaggression between the NATO and Warsaw Pact countries, another point in the Washington plan.

He said this would be satisfactory to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government as a declaration but not as a treaty.

He explained that a treaty would confer a degree of recognition on the East German regime, whereas a declaration would not.

He said whites in the federation had achieved more in 70 years than the United States had achieved in 300 years.

"It is almost unbelievable that he (Stevenson) could believe, as his words reflect he does, that white Africans are trying to maintain a society in which they simply set Africa to work while they are directing and controlling," he said.

Supervisors OK Tentative Budget of $16,555,202

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors today approved tentatively a $16,555,202 tentative budget for 1963.

The vote was 80 to 0 to send the proposed budget to the county tax allocation board as submitted by the ways and means and salaries committee of the board of supervisors.

The tentative budget has been reduced by $125,000, Ways and Means Chairman David Levinson, Birmingham, said today.

This amount would have been budgeted to enlarge the proposed Dequindre interceptor sewer and drain to serve a wider area in the future.

However, legal counsel advised that inclusion in the budget would be illegal. The deduction of this expense reduces the millage the county expects to ask by .05 mills.

This would set the millage figure being asked for county government at approximately 6.28 mills.

The county currently is operating within a budget of 5.33 mills.

To Complete CD Training of City Workers in '63

BIRMINGHAM — The training of all city employees in basic civil defense and medical self-help and their assignment to emergency duties are expected to be completed within 14 months.

This information is contained in a report to the Michigan Office of Civil Defense, required of the city if it is to continue to receive federal and state aid.

Basic survival and disaster control already have been integrated into the annual training schedules for firemen and police, according to the report.

The eventual objective of the city survival plan is to train the entire population in individual preparedness.

This goal would be accomplished, the report states, by conducting an intensified public information program through news media and personal contact with organized groups.

A municipal survival plan has been completed and has been approved by the City Commission and the State Office of Civil Defense.

It has been placed in the hands of the city department heads who are charged with implementing the responsibilities.

PRIVATE SHELTERS

It is now up to each department to draw up its own emergency plan in support of the city survival program.

The report also stated that some private shelters have been constructed in the city, probably less than 20.

During the past nine years, a total of $55,000 has been spent on shell defense by the city, with more than 80 percent of it being used to purchase equipment.

In the future, it may be expected that the city will be able to do more.

pected that the majority of costs for civil defense will be for salaries and administrative services rather than supplies, the report stated.

The review of the civil defense program and the city's goals will be submitted to the City Commission tonight for approval.

It was prepared by John F. Saffer, administrative aide to L. R. Gare, city manager and director of civil defense.

James Lawson of Farmington will be the speaker at the 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow of the Birmingham Democratic Club at the Community House.

He will discuss Gov. Swainson's proposed medical care program for the aged through Social Security. The meeting is open to the public.

Rome Students Fail in Attempt to Kidnap Liz

ROME (AP) — "Kidnap a movie actress," the upstartsmen at the University of Rome told the freshmen they were heading. The fresh chaps Elizabeth Taylor.

A hundred young students milled about outside the actress' villa on a Sunday drive with Sunday night. Servants called the police.

The police whizzed up in jeeps and cars and scattered the noisy gathering.

The 20-year-old actress had returned a short time before from a Sunday drive with Actor Richard Burton to Porto Santo Stefano, a Tyrrhenian Sea resort, 85 miles northwest of Rome.

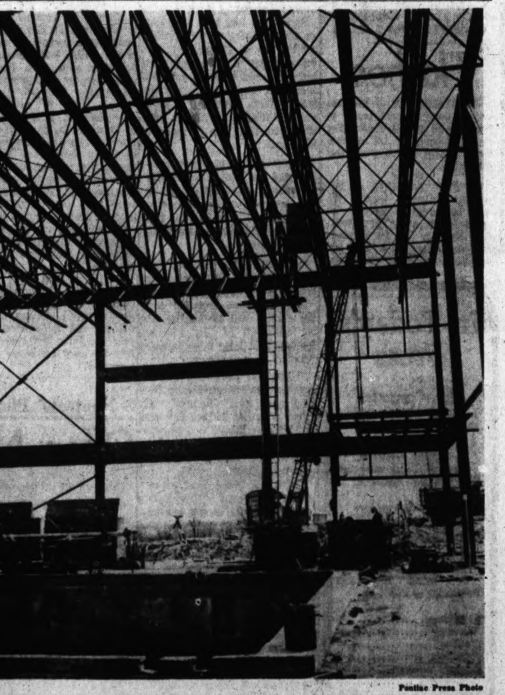

The two stars of the movie "Cleopatra," constant companions since Miss Taylor broke with Eddie Fisher, dined in a seaside restaurant and spent two hours driving about the scenic resort.

Elsewhere on the Italian movie front: Brigitte Bardot withdrew her part, Domenico Bonino, who closed into her hotel room in Florence Friday night. He told police he wanted inspiration for an ode to the French film actress.

Pontiac Car Sales April 1-10 Highest in History; 16,174

Retail sales by Pontiac dealers during the first 10 days of April totaled 16,174, the highest sales mark for any identical period in Pontiac history. It was announced today by Frank V. Bridge, general sales manager for Pontiac Motor Division.

This figure surpasses the 15,889 cars sold during the first 10 days of April in the record year of 1955 and represents a 79 per cent increase over the same period a year ago. Bridge said, for 1962 model year to date continues to lead any previous year.

Local Man Replies to Israeli Official

Mr. Sufott, Israeli Embassy, challenges my facts in a previous letter. We Americans feel free to criticize the President; also, to question the activities of foreign nations. Mr. S. is unfamiliar with American traditions.

He says that when the Israeli Court declared, "Israel is the sovereign country of the Jewish people," it did not mean the Jews of the world. Apparently, he, or the Israeli Court, is also unfamiliar with the English language. Mr. S. further wrote that Ben Gurion made clear Israel's position as to Israel and American Jewry. Does he know that B. G. remarked, "Jews who live outside of Israel are godless and violate the precepts of Judaism every day they remain away from Israel?" Or, does he refer to B. G.'s remark "American Jews do not know what being a Jew means?"

Is not Israel "presumptuous" in efforts to tie Americans of the Jewish faith to the foreign state of Israel?

Clay Assures
Berlin of Aid

Back From Talking to JFK, General Says City
Will Be Protected

BERLIN (UPI) — West Berliners were fortified today with a pledge from Gen. Lucius D. Clay that the United States will protect the Communist-encircled city's interests, in the American-Russian talks in Washington.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, in a radio speech yesterday, said there was no reason for concern over the U.S. plan to settle the Berlin crisis that will be presented to Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin at the talks.

Brandt criticized West German reaction to the plan and said some Germans were acting as if they could not trust the United States.

But he said it was necessary for Germans to be vigilant because "no one is more of an expert in German problems than the Germans themselves."

WOULD QUELL ALARM

Clay returned to Berlin from Washington in an attempt to quell alarm in the divided city over his resignation and West German fears that the Washington talks might weaken the West Berliners' position in the Cold War.

"I can speak for the President and the U.S. government when I say that they never have been more committed to the principles of the defense and protection of West Berlin," Clay said in a statement on his arrival at West Berlin's Tempelhof Airfield.

Clay, President Kennedy's personal adviser in Berlin, pledged that the United States would not be a party to any agreement that in any way would weaken West Berlin's ties to the West.

The United States has protested to the West German government that premature disclosure of the plan endangered the talks with Russia.

American officials in Washington assumed the West Germans leaked the plan because they feared it would give East Germany a measure of recognition and too strong a voice in any Berlin access agreement.

The U.S. proposals include an exchange of nonaggression declarations by the North Atlantic Treaty organization (NATO) and the Warsaw Pact countries; a U.S.-Russian agreement to prohibit the sharing of nuclear weapons with other countries, and an international authority to control the access routes to West Berlin.

May Have Clue to One Disease

Find Abnormal Sweat on Brow of All Cystic Fibrosis Victims

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Studies of frozen sweat have yielded a possible clue toward uncovering the basic defect in cystic fibrosis. It was reported today.

The researchers who announced this declared the finding might also help improve methods of diagnosing this pancreatic disease which begins in infancy and is typified by malnutrition, abnormal functioning of the pancreas and a proneness for respiratory infection.

Government scientists said they had discovered in human sweat evidence of mucoproteins—complex chemical fractions containing both carbohydrates and protein.

Dr. J. Charles Pallavicini, who presented the report, said mucoproteins from the sweat of cystic fibrosis patients contained a higher-than-normal concentration of a sugar called fucose.

He told about it at the annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology. Co-authors of the report were researchers Othmar Gabriel and Paul A. DiSanti Agnese. All three scientists are on the staff of the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases, Bethesda, Md.

The report said sweat from 10 normal people and eight cystic fibrosis patients was collected while the subjects were exposed to heat. The sweat was frozen immediately in dry ice to prevent any breakdown of heat-sensitive materials. The ice method allowed a clear separation of the mucoprotein fractions, Pallavicini said.

The scientists explained that cystic fibrosis is an inherited disorder affecting the externally secreting glands of the body, including the sweat, tear, and salivary glands, as well as those associated with the pancreas, small intestines and lungs.

One theory about the disease is that abnormal mucus secreted by these glands causes the gland ducts to become obstructed.

Eichmann's Wife Withdraws Bid for Visa to Israel

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Official sources yesterday said the wife of condemned Nazi mass murderer Adolf Eichmann has again cancelled her application for a visa to Israel.

Eichmann currently is awaiting the result of an appeal to the supreme court against the death sentence imposed by a Jerusalem court which convicted him of a leading role in the murder of a million Jews during World War II.

Official sources said an application for a visa was submitted on behalf of Mrs. Vera Eichmann to an Israeli mission in Cologne, Germany, by her husband's attorney, Dr. Robert Servatius.

But the sources said the application was withdrawn despite a decision by the Israeli cabinet to allow her a 24-hour entry visa to see her husband. Mrs. Eichmann withdrew her first application six weeks ago before the cabinet decision.

Sources said she would be given a visa if she applied again.

Printed Card Is Wasted

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: When wedding presents cannot be acknowledged promptly because of an extended trip, or when the bride has received several hundred wedding presents, would a printed form such as the following be in good taste?

Mrs. Mary Jones wishes to acknowledge the receipt of your wedding present and will write a personal note of thanks at an early date.

These cards are not in any sense to take the place of written thank you notes but just to let those who sent presents know that their gifts have been received.

A: A printed acknowledgment to be followed later by a note of thanks seems a waste of effort because a minute or two would complete a note of thanks to enclose in each stamped and addressed envelope. It also seems a pretentious thing to do.

However, since the printed cards are not to take the place of written thank-you notes but just to let people know that their gifts arrived safely, they may be used in the instances you describe.

Q: I have never felt that it was proper or respectful for children to address their elders by their first names and have never permitted my children to do so. What shall I do, then, when my friends ask them to call them by first name?

A: Explain to your friends how you feel about children calling their elders by first names and ask them please not to encourage them to do something you are trying to teach them not to do.

Split on Approach to Musical Training

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Few will argue against music being as essential a part of a child's education as the three R's. The argument comes on the approach to music training for the child.

Some advocate stern discipline. Percy Grainger, a successful musical, once observed that "musicians are made in proportion to the tyranny of their parents."

Others argue for a more relaxed approach to Junior and friendly parental attitude over the tyrannical.

Fred Steinway, whose piano-making family has been dealing with concert artists from Ignace Paderewski to Van Cliburn believes in the firm approach to music practice.

Egbert believes practicing should be fun and offered parents these ways to help make it so. Don't replace your child's entire world with music.

His toys, his friends, the outdoors, books, all are important to him.

Be attentive to your child's music. Be around when he conquers first scales or first melody, and be ready to offer praise. Point out the immediate rewards of music.

A prescribed period of practice is not essential, Egbert said. Music should not become a chore. Let the child perform when he is so inclined and let him join you and other adults in musicales.

brothers, all in their 40's, helping to run the 109-year-old family business. He is in charge of other concerts and artists department, which means he supervises contracting with pianists in selecting their concert scene, whether in Oklahoma or Oklahoma.

Steinway (he and his brothers all are amateur pianists) believes discipline is a major part of the making of a musician.

But don't worry if the child doesn't show the promise of being another Rubinstein. "A lot of youngsters don't have a propensity for math either," he said.

"Surely, children hate to practice," he continued, "because it's human nature for us not to like a lot of things good for us."

Abby Says He Better Stick

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a young divorcee with three children. A very lonely professional man lives across the street from me.

He is married to a woman who stays on drugs most of the time. We have been seeing each other almost every night. He says his wife is an addict of her own free will, and it is a nightmare living with her.

Sometimes she doesn't comb her hair for days. He's lost all respect for her. He wants to marry me. He deserves a full life and so do I. We decided to let the majority of your readers vote on what we should do.

"GOLDIE LOCKS"

DEAR GOLDIE: If any of my readers have had experience living with an addict or an alcoholic, I welcome their letters.

I think you should be aware that no one is an addict "of his own free will." He is a slave to the habit, and helpless against the urge.

It takes patience, understanding and, frequently, medical help to overcome addictions. A man of character would stick with his wife and try to help her.

DEAR ABBY: I am a man who is 45 years old. I am thinking about marrying the girl keeps house for me, but she is only 15. Do you think I am crazy to think of marrying a girl when I am three times older than she is?

WILEY

DEAR WILEY: Wait another 15 years. When she is 30 and you are 60, you will be only TWICE as old as she is.

Youth's Actions Suggest He Lacks Goal

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
 Dear Mrs. Lawrence:
 Since flunking out of college last year my nephew has not tried to continue his education or get a job but hangs around the house all day. The situation is killing my sister.
 Her husband is a very successful businessman and picks on the boy all the time, trying to shame him into looking for work. Then the boy will lock himself in his room, refusing to come out even for meals.
 If my sister says anything, my brother-in-law turns on her and accuses her of coddling their son into this condition.
 Answer: Let her ask her family doctor to recommend a psychiatric consultation for this boy.
 Has your sister's home ever been a happy one? Or has it always been one of such secret resentment and discontent? If it has always been such a lonely place, it is not hard to understand your nephew's resistance to effort.

 Our children are stern moral judges. If we have devoted all our energies to maintaining the material comforts of a home that denies its members human closeness, our children may lose interest in earning the money required to establish homes of their own.

 Others were: Cynthia Howlett, Jean Priesley, Jane Priesley, Laura Sless, Janet Aldea, Georgia Burklow, Leslie Setis, Jean Ann Keeler and Patricia Benning. Club sponsor Mrs. Carl Clifford was also present.

Group Holds Gym Program

A gym night program of exercises and discussion was enjoyed by members of Fashionette Club at Adah Shelly Library. Mrs. Edna Mertz and Mrs. Frank Reichert were in charge of the program. Receiving awards for weight loss were Mrs. King Stetler, Mrs. Harry Fidler, Mrs. John Ristich, Mrs. Matthew Fotheringham and Mrs. James H. King.
 Two new members, Mrs. Virginia Heath and Mrs. Andrew Noel, were welcomed into the club. Program chairman Mrs. Bert Hillcock asked members to bring materials for making Easter hats to next week's meeting. Awards will go to the prettiest and the most amusing hats.

Petroleum is produced in 35 nations of the world but the U.S. produces more and uses more than the other 34 nations combined.

Psychiatric treatment can help your nephew to separate his resistance to effort from his distrust of the results of his parent's effort.

I am aware that he may not get it. Seeking psychiatric help for a child is always a parent's confession of his own limitations. Your sister and brother-in-law may not be able to entertain the idea that their unhappiness may have made ambition worthless in their child's eyes.

Afraid to face their own discontent, they'll run from the idea that he has not tried it and has chosen to freeze his own ambitions lest they betray him into similar discontent. Yet to take this idea into themselves might prove a blessing to them.

In the middle age of us all, our failures begin to pile up on us. They pose the awful question: "Why?" We can wonder why our success gives us no joy. And in the child who is refusing to play our game of ambition and success recognize the stern moral judge who is asking: "With all your getting, you two, what have you really got?"

Aboard the SS Bahama Star on an overnight trip from Miami to nearby Nassau are a trio of vacationing businesswomen from Pontiac, Lucille Lewis of North Tasmania Avenue, (at left) with Ella Lese-man and Clara Megredy both of North Perry Street. But Nikita Has Trouble Explaining the Delay

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Nikita Khrushchev is trying to give the calendar a mighty shove toward 1984, the year of the double-tenth.

The result, one of these days may be the appearance of Khrushchev's Constitution representing his claim to Communist immortality.

Before that can happen there must be a great deal of explaining and propagandizing, and this evokes the Orwellian specter.

Factory Wages Up for Employees

March High of $95.91 a Week Is Recorded as Work Time Lengthens

WASHINGTON — Factory workers' earnings rose to a March record of an average $95.91 a week as the work week continued to lengthen.

A report issued by the Labor Department amplified job figures put out a week ago. It showed improving conditions for workers holding jobs, but a worsening situation among those without them.

Seymour L. Wolfson, Labor Department manpower specialist, said that one out of six of the unemployed have been idle six months or longer. Two years ago, one out of eight was in that category.

The March totals showed employment at a record for the month at 68,216,000, with unemployment at 4,382,000. Compared with a year ago, employment was up 800,000 and unemployment down by 1.1 million.

The average factory work week was reported today to have risen substantially from 40 hours in February to 42.3 hours in March, a more than seasonal gain and the highest March level since 1953.

The figures show that "the average factory worker is putting in 2.8 hours of overtime, mostly at premium rates. Some of the overtime is on the basis of a regular workweek shorter than 40 hours. The number of workers on non-farm payroll rose by 160,000 to 54 million. Much of it reflected job expansion in the auto, metal and machinery industries.

Everyone remembers how, in Orwell's novel "1984," blacked-out comes while when the leaders so decree, Soviet publications, including Pravda and the theoretical journal Kommunist, now are applying Khrushchev's variation of doublethink.

The propaganda revolves about Khrushchev's new body of theory. The main theme is that Soviet society has reached a new plateau in its movement toward the misty, far-off goal of communism. This stage is called "the all-people state."

This, contends Khrushchev, is not really a state at all, because the power to rule already is in the hands of all the people. Everybody is equal. However, the Communist party, as the representative of all the people, "retains its leading role." That is, the party is more equal than anybody else.

To begin at the beginning, the Khrushchev theory goes like this: GOES LIKE THIS Soviet society has gone through two stages, has just entered a third, and is preparing for a fourth and final stage, which will be communism. Then everybody will live happily ever after.

First, says Khrushchev, a dictatorship of the proletariat eliminated the "exploiting class."

Second, says Khrushchev, in another way it isn't. The withering away process has started with the all-people state, but so long as capitalist states exist, the Soviet state must grow stronger.

The people have all the power, says Khrushchev. But coercion still is necessary. Why?

Well, people still violate laws. If persuasion doesn't work, there must, as Kommunist pointed out, be "decisive and, if necessary, severe action."

Claims Frondizi Living Life of Ease on Island

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A high ranking navy officer says deposed President Arturo Frondizi is living a life of ease on the navy island of Martin Garcia after four years of turmoil.

The 53-year-old ex-chief "reads a lot, sleeps soundly and is busy working on index card files," the officer reported after a trip to the island.

The officer pooh-poohed charges from Frondizi supporters that he has been held practically incommunicado since the Argentine armed forces ousted him March 29 and confined him to the River Plate naval installation.

The officer said the gaunt, studious Frondizi is free to leave his three-bedroom house but not the island — whenever he wants. His wife, Elena Fagnano de Frondizi, stays with him over long periods of time.

Gets Crossed on Forks

BY DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—By no standards that I know of could Rep. John F. Baldwin be described as a bumpkin.
He is a graduate of the University of California; he was president of his law class for three years, he was a practicing attorney for five years, and he has served in Congress since 1954.

You would think a person with this background would feel at home in almost any company. Yet there is something about a state dinner at the White House that makes even a relatively sophisticated congressman uncertain about his manners.

Baldwin was one of the guests at the dinner that President Kennedy gave for the Shah of Iran last week, and I suppose it was the invitation that put him on edge.

BULKY INVITATION
"As he related in a report on the affair to his constituents, the envelope contained no less than five cards, which seemed to take nothing for granted."

The first card told what the occasion was. The second one gave the time and place of the dinner. The third one told him what to wear. The fourth one told him where to respond. And the fifth one told him what gate to enter.

When he and his wife arrived at the White House, they were handed still another card which told them where to sit. At the table, they found a seventh card which made it clear they had found the right place.

It was at this point, apparently, that Baldwin's confidence in his table etiquette was shattered.

"I must confess that my main concern during the dinner was whether I was using the proper knife or the proper fork at the right time," he said. "There were three different knives on the right, and three different forks on the left."

Expressing hope that he "represented you properly at this state dinner," he said, "I think I only used the wrong fork once."

MORE THAN ONCE

Well, gee, I don't want to embarrass the congressman or anything, but I must point out that when you have three forks, it is impossible to use the wrong fork only once.
Silverware errors are cumulative and cannot be rectified as the meal progresses.
In other words, if Baldwin used his dinner fork on the salad, then he must have used his salad fork during the main course or dessert.

But Baldwin needn't feel chagrined about it, for it was the fault of the White House staff. They should have provided yet another card showing which fork to use.
