Over 100,000 Cheer Nixons' Return to Capital

Huge New Sputnik Put in Orbit by Reds

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today launched its third and largest Sputnik, an 11.9-foot coan weighing nearly a ton and a half.

A special announcement by Tass, official Soviet news agency, said the new earth satellite, fired in connection with the Soviet International Geophysical Year program, was jammed with apparatus and instruments for probing secrets of outer space.

The announcement gave no indication that the latest satellite carried a living passenger, a companion to the dog Laika which went up and died with Sputnik II.

Instead it listed the numerous items of equipment with which it said the new Sputnik would report on the upper layers of the earth's atmosphere as "a contribution of Soviet scientists to world science."

The announcement gave no indication of the launching power of the new Sputnik nor the location of its launching site.

It reported the Sputnik was orbiting normally at the rate of one circuit of the earth every 106 minutes and reaching a maximum altitude of 1,168 miles. The weight was announced as 2,919.53 pounds or more than double the 1,120-pound weight the Russians reported for Sputnik II.

The new Sputnik joins three American satellites circling in outer space, the largest of them weighing 30.8 pounds. Russia's two earlier satellites have re-entered the earth's lower atmosphere and disintegrated.

The announcement said the satellite entered its orbit at an angle of 65 degrees to the equatorial plane, indicating it will cover almost the entire inhabited part of the earth from close to the Arctic Circle to just above the Antarctic Circle.

The only immediate indication

Satellite Spotting Easy Because of Great Size

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The Soviet Union's newest and largest satellite should have a life of about six months, the associate director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory estimated today.

Sputnik III may be visible in many parts of the United States at twilight tonight, Dr. Allen J. Hynek said. It should be plainly visible due to its great size. If the satellite crosses the United States it would be traveling in a north-northwest to south-southeast direction, he added.

De Gaulle Says 'I Await Call'

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle said today he is ready to serve France if called upon but did not state his conditions. In the past he has always demanded a free hand.

The call De Gaulle had awaited since he retired from political life in 1946 still had not come, but the moment was perhaps closer than ever before. He issued a communique from his Paris office to make his position clear.

De Gaulle said: "Today, before the trials again engulfing the country, it should be known that I am ready to take over the powers of the republic."

Military rule covered almost all of tinderbox Algeria today amid signs that the army command is leaning more and more toward local rightwingers and away from the new government in Paris.

Gen. Raoul Salan, French commander in chief in Algeria, appeared on the balcony of the government headquarters building today surrounded by the local "committee of public safety" which seized control in the North African capital Tuesday.

Salan, who is regarded in Paris as a loyalist, shouted at a crowd of several thousand: "Long live France! Long live French Algeria! Long live Gen. De Gaulle!"

At Salan's side was paratroop Gen. Jacques Massu, chief of the committee, which had demanded a strong-man government in Paris under De Gaulle, the wartime Free French leader.

There are now about 130 local committees of public safety in Algeria. In most cases the local military commander is either a member or the nominal power behind the group.

The committees are charged to maintain contact between the army and the population—bypassing the civilian administration.

Senate to Probe Barber's Ouster

Pontiac Dem Candidate Sees Teamster Revenge in Union Expulsion

The Senate labor rackets committee will enter a clash between Robert P. Scott, a former Pontiac barber now on the State Board of Examiners of Barbers, and the Wayne County Barbers Union Local 552 (AFL-CIO), which ousted him yesterday.

Scott, 51, of 31 Bloomfield Terrace, claims his ouster was "Teamster inspired" retaliation for his testimony against the Teamster Union and its president, James R. Hoffa, before the McClellan Committee in Washington last fall.

A Detroit investigator for the committee was to confer with him today, Scott said, about possible charges leading to contempt proceedings against the local.

Scott is still under subpoena by the committee and as a result enjoys its protection and immunity.

The local's secretary-treasurer, Elmer Albrecht, informed Scott yesterday that a three-member trial board had suspended him for belonging to a dual organization, the State Barbers Assn., Inc., which he organized in 1932.

Scott claims that the charge is "ridiculous." He said he withdrew

'Give My Love to Pat'

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower cabled Vice President Nixon: "Your courage, patience and calmness in the demonstrations directed against you by radical agitators have brought you new respect and admiration in our country. . . . Give my love to Pat and warm regard to yourself."

NIXON COMES HOME — President Eisenhower extends a hand of welcome to Vice President Nixon at National Airport today in Washington. Standing between the two men is the vice president's wife, Pat. President Hails Couple for 'Courage....Dignity'

Triumphal Welcome Is Far Cry From Jeers of South American Mobs

By OUR WIRE SERVICES

WASHINGTON — Vice President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon received a triumphal welcome today on their return from South America and President Eisenhower proudly hailed them for the "courage and dignity" with which they faced chaos and danger.

Thousands of cheering admirers roared a greeting to the Nixons as they stepped from their plane at the Washington airport. Eisenhower, at the head of an applauding, nonpartisan reception lane, embraced the vice president and Mrs. Nixon.

The chief executive, after accompanying the Nixons through a throng of smile-wreathed well wishers who contrasted with the jeering, spitting mob which attacked the vice president and his wife in Venezuela earlier this week, declared:

"All America welcomes them home!"

Eisenhower made pointed reference to the Communist leadership of anti-Nixon riots in Peru and Venezuela, but declared that the mob violence had not lessened "America's affection for the peoples of her sister republics."

Nixon, in response to the President's remarks of welcome, echoed Eisenhower's sentiments of inter-American friendship and said:

"We will never forget this rule—that we never take our friends for granted. We never have and we never will, though some in South America may have gotten the impression that we had.

"We want for other people just what we want for ourselves—independence, freedom, and the greatest possibilities for economic progress."

Nixon—whose remarks were carried to the nation by radio and television—declared that he and Mrs. Nixon had never experienced anything "more heartwarming" than today's unprecedented, warm, enthusiastic reception.

An estimate that at least 100,000 turned out to greet and cheer the Nixons was made by Wiley Buchanan, State Department protocol officer. He said there were about 15,000 at the airport and estimated 85,000 along the route.

Officials of the military air transport terminal said the crowd was the greatest in the history of the installation—far larger than the turnout for Queen Elizabeth II last October.

The vice president, obviously experiencing deep emotion, said: "May I say that we are always very proud to represent the people of the United States, but I don't believe either of us has been as moved ever before as we are today."

He added: "There is no greater experience than to return home and realize how blessed this country is." Among those blessings, he said, "is fine leadership whether it is being exercised by either of the great parties."

Nixon concluded by saying:

Memorial Day Draws Attention

Most Local Military Units to Limit Action on Armed Forces Day

With Armed Forces Day Saturday, falling only two weeks away from Memorial Day, the local armed forces units will concentrate on Memorial Day, as they did last year.

Rather than two separate parades and celebrations, there will be a giant parade Memorial Day, it has been announced.

Some local reserve units, however, will observe Armed Forces Day by holding open houses, and a weekend Air and Ground Show will be held at the Selfridge Air Force Base.

In Pontiac, the Naval Reserve Training Center, 489 S. East Blvd., will hold an open house from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. for the public.

Among the highlights will be a chance to see how radar works for both surface and air search.

SHOW WEAPONS, EQUIPMENT

A similar open house will be held at the Pontiac Army Reserve Training Center, 37 W. Lawrence St., from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

On display will be various weapons and equipment including the M-47 tank, 155 mm howitzer, carbines, M-1 rifles, the

Four Lads Ride Rock Salt to Deaths in Railway Car

DETROIT (AP)—Four schoolboys trying to ride a load of salt out the bottom of a railroad hopper car suffocated yesterday when they got stuck in the chute and buried in the avalanche.

Would-be rescuers, called by the victims' two playmates, dug with their bare hands, garbage can covers and other makeshift tools in a desperate attempt to free the trapped youngsters.

They were too late. Only one of the four was alive when freed and he died soon afterward.

An engineer from a nearby switch engine had to be called to move the railroad car so the salt wouldn't pile back into the hopper, hampering efforts to get the children loose.

When the hopper was cleared, two of the boys were found jammed in the bottom with their arms and legs wrapped around each other.

"The head of one of them was sticking out the bottom of the hopper," said John Aloue, who helped recover the bodies. "We tried to shovel the salt away from him but as fast as we moved it, more fell in. He groaned but never said a word."

"I saw one leg and pulled on it. The boy came out with his mouth and eyes filled with salt. I handed him to John Nolan who gave him artificial respiration until the police took him away. I pray to God he lived."

Police identified the dead boys as Norman Clatterbuck, 14; Ricky Contardi, 12; Jimmy Healy, 13, and David Lachapelle, 10, all of Detroit. The two who escaped were Danny Lawler and Robert Fisher, both 11 and also of Detroit.

Chimps Herald Zoo Opening

Circle the World 'in 30 Minutes'

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Jazzbolu and Julius Jogg made monkeys out of their Hollywood counterparts in "Around the World in 80 Days." And they did it without their balloon even leaving the ground.

While it took the late Mike Todd and company millions of dollars and 80 days to make it, Julius and his companion cut off 79 days and 23½ hours in circling the globe.

Julius' fuel for this record-breaking flight consisted of cherry life savers. Popping flash bulbs and grinding movie cameras helped the veteran chimp performer at the Detroit Zoological Park really ham it up.

There was no Oscar waiting following 10-year-old Julius' stellar performance yesterday at a press preview of the 1958 zoo opening. Only more life savers.

When the gates swung open today for the 31st season for the park, Julius and his chimpanzee cast were ready to do their famous protege Jo Mendi proud with three acts daily in the 2,600-seat Holden amphitheater.

WIDE-STAGE SPECTACULAR

Seasoned chimp trainers Ernie Soderberg, Bill Polovich and George Theure have put together a wide-stage spectacular called "Around the World in Thirty Minutes."

The park, with all its many animal exhibits and beautiful landscape, is located one block west of Woodward avenue at the corner of 10 mile and Ridge roads.

Director Frank G. McInnis and his huge staff have worked since January for today's opening. Park hours are 10 to 5 on weekdays and 9 until 6 on Sundays and holidays.

AHOY THERE — Jazzbolu (left), veteran chimpanzee performer at the Detroit Zoo, seems to be looking for any stray Sputniks, while her companion in "Around the World in Thirty Minutes," Julius Jogg, appears bored with the entire press preview of the 1958 opening of the zoo, which Director Frank G. McInnis and his staff staged yesterday.

It's Bike Inspection Week in Pontiac

Pontiac parents will have the duty this week of inspecting their children's bicycles to make sure that they are safe.

Throughout the week, Pontiac police officers will speak at 29 Pontiac schools on the safety measures involved in riding a bike and give the students check sheets to take home for their parents to use in checking the bikes.

The annual bicycle check is sponsored through the cooperation of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce Traffic and Safety Committee, the Pontiac Police Department and school officials.

Monday, the officers will return to the school to pick up the sheets signed by the parents and then issue the 1958 licenses for 25 cents.

The 10 points on each check sheet which each bicycle must have in proper working order are: brakes, spokes, pedals, chain, handlebars and grips, seat, front and rear axle, bolts, lights, horn or bell and properly inflated tires.

According to Lt. Clayton Randolph of the traffic and safety bureau, Pontiac Police, the licenses, which can also be obtained at the police violations bureau, are helpful in identifying an injured child and also in locating a stolen bicycle.

Bolivia Claims Rebels Quashed

But Upstarts Holding Portions of Oil-Rich Santa Cruz Province

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Rebels held parts of oil-rich Santa Cruz Province today but the Bolivian government claimed to have headed off a nationwide uprising.

President Hernan Siles Zuazo ordered troops to the eastern province and declared a state of siege—modified martial law—over the entire country.

The government said the revolt was led by Santa Cruz leaders of the extreme right-wing Falange and the Communists.

An official spokesman said their aim was to stir up a nationwide revolt that would interfere with parliamentary elections in June and prevent the return of former President Victor Paz Estenssoro, who has been ambassador to London for two years. He heads the government MNR party, the National Revolutionary Movement.

Recent riots and demonstrations in Santa Cruz have protested Siles' policy of depositing all revenues from the nationalized oil industry in the federal treasury and leaving none for the provincial government.

The rebels were reported in control of Santa Cruz, a city of about 150,000, as well as the towns of Vallegrande, Comarapa and Choreti, an oil center. The government said troops and oil workers in Camiri turned back a rebel attack.

The uprising was heralded by a dynamite blast in a Santa Cruz suburb that killed a child and injured five other persons. Siles ordered troops to the Santa Cruz area but there have been no reports of fighting.

Lebanon Capital Shaken Again by Riots, Bombings

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Beirut was shaken again today by explosions, sniping from building tops and battles between police and rioters.

Seven bombs exploded during the night but calm generally prevailed until midmorning. Then rioters surged through the streets in demonstrations against the pro-Western government of President Camille Chamoun.

An explosion rocked the Place de Canon in the heart of the business district and several persons were killed. Police quickly cordoned off the area and rounded up more than 100 people.

Snipers on the roofs of buildings fired at people in the streets and demonstrators fought to disrupt normal life in the city.

The United States is flying weapons to Lebanon, where disturbances have been under way for six days.

A general strike, which earlier choked off normal business activity in Beirut, lost momentum. Shops began to open again, even in the riot-ridden Moslem quarter where opposition leader Saeb Salam lives. But Salam told reporters his followers will demonstrate until Chamoun resigns.

A warming trend was indicated in broad sections of the country today, with showering weather in widely scattered areas.

Cooler air moved into the northern Great Lakes region during the night from the central and northern plains. Mild weather prevailed from the southern Great Lakes southward to the Gulf.

The warmer air continued to advance northeastward into the north and mid-Atlantic states. But it was a little cool in New York state and New England, with cloudy skies and rain in the extreme Northeast. Showers in extreme southern Florida ended. Miami was doused with more than three inches of rain yesterday. Fair and warmer was the forecast for the Southeast.

Temperatures were in the 60s and 70s from the southern Great Lakes to the Gulf after yesterday's high readings in the 80s and 90s. Chicago's 87, highest of the season, was a record for the date.

More scattered showers and thunderstorms hit the Texas Panhandle northward into the plains during the night. Heavy rainfall was reported in western Kansas. Light showers sprinkled areas along a narrow belt through central sections of Texas and Oklahoma. Strong winds in a thunderstorm at Gowen, Okla., toppled trees and unroofed some buildings.

The rain belt was expected to continue in the central Rockies and plains and spread eastward to the Mississippi River and southward through the southern plains and western Gulf states. Showers also were indicated from the lower Great Lakes region and mid-Appalachians northward through New England.

Persistent Burglar Puts Up With 'Trap'

HILLSBORO, Ore. (AP) — After several thefts at his garage, R. I. Williams decided to give police a hand.

On a ledge over a window through which burglars had entered, Williams put a gallon jug filled with green dye.

Over the window he put a metal sign. He tied one end of a wire to the sign. The other end was tied to the trigger of a shotgun pointed at the jug.

Early yesterday a burglar knocked aside the sign. Williams' device worked swell. The gun went off, the shot broke the jug and down came the dye.

The burglar was persistent. He roamed through the garage, took three cartons of cigarettes and walked away, leaving a string of green footprints.

Assistant Police Chief Accused in Burglary

CRESTVIEW, Fla. (AP)—The assistant police chief of Crestview and a woman companion are charged with burglarizing a store.

Formal charges of breaking and entering were filed against Asst. Chief John W. Dreading, 42, and Mrs. Kay Arne, 33, a divorcee with three children. They were held for the grand jury in bond of $1,500 each.

The two were charged with breaking into the store yesterday and hauling off food, clothes and other items valued at more than $200.

Sheriff Ray Wilson said Dreading admitted the theft. He quoted Mrs. Arne as saying that Dreading, who is separated from his wife, was worried about providing for Mrs. Arne and her children.

Report Registration of Foreign Cars Up

LANSING (AP)—Foreign car registrations in April were nearly double the number recorded in March, the secretary of state's office reported today.

The April count was 1,301 compared with 670 the previous month.

Volkswagens led the list with 524 titles registered compared with 290 in March. English Ford was second, jumping from 71 to 105.

Other makes showing marked gains included: Metropolitan, 27 to 78; Vauxhall, 31 to 69; MG's, 16 to 56; Hillman, 22 to 45; Austin 5 to 42; Triumphs, 17 to 40; Fiats, 6 to 23, and Valvo, 17 to 40.

New names on the April list which did not appear on the March lineup were the Aushe, Canadian Ford Meteor, the Swedish Saab and five German imports, Goggomobile, Goliath, Maico, Monarch and Tempo.

In the sports car class, the British Jaguar registrations went from four to 16, the Italian Alfa Romero from four to five and the German Porche from six to seven.

Legislators Receive Defense for Judge

LANSING (AP)—Legislators returning for the 1958 session windup today found on their desks literature defending defiance of the State Supreme Court by Circuit Judge Eugene S. Huff.

A covering letter was signed by Walter Martin, president of the Saginaw County Bar Assn.

It accompanied a copy of the bar group's resolution criticizing the Supreme Court for assigning Huff to duty in Detroit, and Huff's statement in open court refusing to accept the assignment.

Martin said the case presented a fundamental judicial issue and involved the court administrator's act passed by the legislature in 1952.

Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), judiciary committee chairman, said he didn't contemplate initiating or recommending any action in the dispute.

Morris recalled legislation approved last month providing for a third judge on the Saginaw circuit bench was passed over his protest. He contended a third judge was unnecessary.

Won't Outlaw Shorts

GRAND PAIRIE, Tex. (AP) — The battle of the bare legs went to the wearers of the shorts when the City Commission declined to act on a petition from 400 residents asking that shorts be outlawed in the downtown areas as indecent. Mayor Pro Tem Dewey Miller said he had been advised an ordinance against shorts would be unconstitutional.

This Lady Was a Thief

BALTIMORE (AP) — The lady, convicted of being a lady burglar, used feminine instruments. Police said Miss Josephine Ditmore, 23, forced entry into a restaurant and a tailor shop with eyebrow tweezers, a nail file and a lady's-size razor. Judge Anselm Sodaro convicted her of burglary.

To Take City's School Census

Throughout the rest of May, someone will knock on your door to find out if your family has increased since last year.

These people will be taking the annual Pontiac school district census which is required by the Michigan Department of Public Instruction, according to Paul C. Allison, director of the Pontiac School Child Accounting Department.

The 45 census takers will have identification, and will want to know data on all pre, present and post school-age children in the district from birth through 19 years old.

This information includes the name of the child, the day, month and year of birth, the sex, the name of the mother and father of the child as well as the present school he or she is attending.

If the person is under 20 and married, in the service, employed, or going to college, this information will also be needed Allison said.

Information concerning the physically or mentally handicapped, partially blind or blind, defective hearing or deaf will also be collected.

Purpose of the annual house to house census is to enable predicting future enrollments and projections of buildings and individual school loads. It also serves to locate handicapped children in the correct educational facilities and provides a basis for the state aid money distribution.

Last year, the census revealed a total of 35,029 persons from birth through 19 years old, lived in the district. This includes 11,752 from birth to five years old and 23,277 from five through 19, according to Allison.

FLYINGEST WOMAN — With more than six million miles in her flight log and a fast new airplane bearing her name, Mary O'Connor, of Chicago, merits the title as the world's "flyingest woman." Mary began her career as a United Air Lines stewardess on May 18, 1933. Her first flight was aboard a 10-passenger Ford Trimotor between Chicago and New York. Today, 25 years later, she "keeps house" in a specially designed twin-engine plane which cruises at 270 miles an hour.

2 Electrocuted in Bus Accident

Young Mother, Child Killed as Vehicle Hits Power Pole

DENISON, Tex. (AP)—A Greyhound bus skidded off a rain-slick highway early today, hit a tree and a power pole and split open. A young mother and her child were electrocuted. Four passengers were injured.

Irvine Echola of Kansas City, Mo., said the bus driver apparently swerved to miss an auto and plunged off the road.

"I saw the car and the driver started wrestling the wheel," Echola said. "The bus started to skid and I thought 'OH, oh, here we go.'"

Bus driver James Towe of Tulsa declined to make a statement except to say it was a "skidding accident."

Mrs. Shirley Stith, about 21, of Fort Worth, and her daughter, Melanie Jane, about 1½, were killed. Echola said the baby fell out of a 6-foot gap in the side of the bus. When the mother jumped out to get her, he said, they were electrocuted.

The passengers had to wait nearly an hour for the Texas Power and Light Co. to shut off power to a high tension line lying across the bus before they could get out.

Nixons Remain Courageous

Vice President and Mrs. RICHARD M. NIXON have demonstrated to the entire world that two courageous Americans can't be intimidated by yammering mobs.

They can suffer indignities and they can be buffed about by lawless elements, but they stand up bravely and remain undaunted in the face of distressing circumstances.

Many feel they should have returned. Some subscribe now to the belief that they ought to have turned back after the original demonstration of mob rule.

They played out the string.

It is apparent that they were not accorded any reasonable protection by the "law" in several instances. The enforcing agencies sat on their hands and looked the other way. It was completely disgraceful.

U. S. troops now "stand by." The fact this necessity arises is regrettable. Communist-inspired rebels shouted defiance and hurled insults as well as stones and cans.

The Anti-American demonstrators have exploded a lot of the myth surrounding our "good will" in South America. Perhaps this nation is destined to learn — sooner or later — that 170 million people cannot police two and a half billion; they cannot feed and maintain the rest of the globe; and they cannot assume the burden of all mankind.

Perhaps we have bitten off more than we can assimilate in our generous impulses and desires to extend our own prosperity to all other peoples. Much of it isn't appreciated. Much is regarded with suspicion. And some is accepted but in a spirit of contempt.

No nation has ever struggled as valiantly to share its advancement with others as has the United States. As time passes, a feeling of futility starts to arise.

What price generosity?

But one positive factor stands out. The Nixons comported themselves in accordance with this nation's highest and loftiest traditions.

Menshikov's Smiles Not Winning Friends

With the coming to Washington three months ago of a smiling Moscow diplomat, some easily persuaded Americans dreamed of a new era in Soviet-U.S.A. relations.

This Russian Ambassador, MIKHAIL A. MENSHIKOV, appeared on television, granted interviews, gave speeches, answered all questions beguilingly and tried in every way to ingratiate himself here.

Now U. S. News & World Report gives some facts as to the background of this man who represents the new Communist approach. At the end of World War II when Poland was in ruins and starving, MENSHIKOV was appointed Deputy Director General of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (UNRRA).

His job was to distribute UNRRA supplies to the people of Poland. Americans in Poland at that time said that an unsmiling and dour MENSHIKOV saw to it that this American donated food and clothing went only to Communist and their sympathizers with the statement that it had come from the Polish Government.

A subcommittee of the U. S. Congress visited Poland in 1945 and found this to be true. A complaint was made to the President of the United States and Mr. MENSHIKOV was replaced by Brig. Gen. C. M. DRURY of Canada who immediately improved the distribution of supplies.

When this Soviet envoy was ambassador to New Delhi, he played an effective role there. But according to an American on the scene in Ceylon when Menshikov represented his country at the Economic Conference in 1954, the Russian "never opened his mouth except to say something nasty . . . you wouldn't recognize him as the same man who is smiling all the time in Washington."

Recently former Secretary of State ACHESON was Ambassador MENSHIKOV, luncheon guest. The Soviet representative pleaded for American trust and acceptance of Russian demands. Mr. ACHESON is said to have replied bluntly: "The way things are now, on the day I trust you or trust your government, I'll be crazy."

This about sums up the feeling of thinking people everywhere.

Beautiful Tulips

Over 100,000 Soon Will Be Open for Your Inspection

Joneses: What many people have trouble in keeping up with —especially the Joneses' creditors.

at its best. Over 100,000 tulips, in a great variety of colors, will then be in top blooming condition.

The gorgeous spectacle is for the free inspection of the general public. According to a number of new varieties are included this year. All can be viewed without leaving your car. The hours are from sunrise to sunset every day, including Sundays.

In entering the park, drive to the right at all times, making every turn as you approach it. In this manner you will not miss anything. Mr. Symons suggests coming as early in the day as possible, thus avoiding the later crowds. The display should be good all through next week.

White Chapel is ten miles southeast of Pontiac, at the corner of Crooks and Long Lake Roads. The entrance is on the latter, just east of the corner. The best route from Pontiac is out Auburn Ave., through Auburn Heights, to Crooks Road, where you turn right for three miles, to the park.

A copy of the Christian Herald of April 1, 1914, owned by

of 19 Oriole Road, gives some significant prices of that period. In automobiles, the Metz was $475 "fully equipped," and the Detroiter was $925. A lovely embroidered voile dress was $1.99.

An old apple tree that refuses to do double duty is reported by of Waterford. A few years ago a pear limb was grafted upon it, and has outgrown the apple part of the tree. The pear part now is in full blossom, but the apple part has no blooms. Last year the tree bore both fruits liberally.

David Lawrence Says:

Wage Odd 'War' on 4 Continents

WASHINGTON — A different kind of "World War III" than has been heretofore visualized is sweeping four continents—South America, Asia, Europe and Africa.

LAWRENCE

The Communists have supplied ammunition for the fighting in the Middle East, in Indonesia and in Algeria. They have taken over Egypt and Syria and are threatening to take Lebanon. They now have stirred up spectacular disorders in Latin America.

The Soviet government is taking advantage of the paralysis of fear and the psychology of self-restraint which prevails in the free world. The net result is that a sort of international anarchy is developing in which small countries as well as big ones are either the victims of revolts engineered by Moscow or parliamentary frustration—as in France—brought about by active and aggressive Communist parties.

Most of the countries of the free world are not dealing firming with subversion. Full political rights and privileges are, for instance, granted to organizations which ostensibly are political parties but which have as their basic aim the overthrow of free governments everywhere.

In Venezuela, for example, where Vice President Nixon and the American flag were subjected to indignities, there is a Communist sympathizer at the head of the cabinet department which is supposed to direct the police to preserve law and order. The Venezuelan anti-Communists have openly accused him of Communist sympathies.

The whole story of what is happening inside Venezuela has not yet been exposed. A dictator was expelled, and a military junta that included a Communist sympathizer assumed governmental power.

It is significant that, after Vice President Nixon was stoned and hostile demonstrations occurred, the Venezuelan newspapers carried articles telling what happened, but for some reason omitted editorial comment.

Did this mean that the press was afraid to denounce the disgraceful conduct of the Communists and the Communist sympathizers?

There is nothing to be gained by taking any reprisals against the people of Venezuela or of any other Latin American country where demonstrations hostile to the vice president of the United States occurred.

The answer to the problem isn't in Venezuela or in Lebanon, where outspoken enmity to the United States has lately been stimulated by the Communists.

The answer is to be found in only one place—Moscow—where the orders to stir up the trouble are issued.

What can the United States do in the circumstances? Nobody, of course, wants a nuclear war, and yet the United States cannot engage in appeasement or assume an attitude of indifference. Such a policy usually breeds the very incidents that lead to a shooting war.

The alternative is for the United States government to speak out frankly and fearlessly against the Communist conspiracy which is boldly defying the free world.

The Moscow government should be warned that it will be held accountable by free men everywhere for its tactics in promoting internal disorders in other countries and in its planned insults to governments that stand for individual freedom.

An essential part of any countermove is full exposure of the wrongdoing of the Moscow government. There is plenty of information—available through official sources—concerning the infiltration that has been steadily carried on by the Soviet government in Latin America and in the Middle East.

There is no need to use military force, especially since the great and influential weapons of moral force are available.

The United States could, if it wished to act alone, announce that it is considering a severance of diplomatic relations with the Moscow government until such time as it is assured that hostile acts aimed at the United States government are terminated.

All these measures look toward the use of reason rather than military force.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Fragile Bones in Oldsters Due to Calcium-Poor Diet

As a result of the calcium deficiency of the everyday diet of most Americans (Sherman's "Chemistry of Food and Nutrition"), adults experience a steady, long-continued loss of calcium through the years.

DR. BRADY

This does not become superficially manifest, because the great calcium stores in the bones constantly make up for the calcium losses in the blood and (other) tissues (Boas' "The Patient Past Fifty"). But as a result of this constant depletion the bones become poor in calcium and more fragile.

Most of the calcium in the body is in the bones and teeth. In the body of a healthy, vigorous man there is nearly 2¼ pounds of calcium.

Nutrition experts believe about a gram, approximately 15 grains, of calcium is required daily to maintain the store or reserve of calcium in the body. A quart of milk contains approximately 15 grains of calcium.

Notice particularly that loss of calcium from the bones accounts for the greater fragility of the bones of elderly persons. This is the 20th Century explanation, which was (Steele, Howell et al.) that "the amount of calcium in the bones increases with age," so that the "bones become more brittle in advanced life."

Trick specialists and "clinic" racketeers of the commercial era follow 19th Century notions because the science of nutrition was not in the curriculum when they studied medicine.

The functions of calcium are (Wright's Applied Physiology):

1. Essential for ossification of bone.
2. Regulates excitability of nerve fibers and nerve centers.
3. Necessary for adequate contraction of heart muscle.
4. Necessary for clotting of blood and of milk.
5. Diminishes permeability of capillary endothelium.

People with calcium deficiency are usually "nervous." For them a suitable daily ration of calcium is a natural tranquilizer, provided they get enough vitamin D to insure normal utilization of calcium. This is nutrition, not medicine.

If you expect to be around for quite a while, it will pay you to keep your bones well stocked with calcium. Learn how by studying Little Lesson 26, The Calcium Shortage, for which send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Attorney Offers Possibility for Public Safety Director

It's incumbent upon someone to call attention to a possible remedy to the Pontiac Police Department situation. As an attorney at law I've had occasion many times to come in contact with police officers, the courts and officials of a higher level, and I believe I have a fairly accurate knowledge of the situation. An individual is available right here in Pontiac whom I'm convinced would solve the Police Department problems. He is Edward H. Shigley who lives in the city and is an assistant prosecuting attorney for Oakland County.

He started in the Police Department as a patrolman, served 28 years on the force and was a captain when he retired. At the time of his resignation I believe he did the work of running the department for present Chief Straley. Police officers, almost to a man, had the highest respect for Edward Shigley, not only as an individual but for his ability to run the department as it should be run.

It's a sad situation if the City can't find anyone who lives here to solve the problems, and if contemplating someone to assume the job of Public Safety Director, Edward H. Shigley should be considered as the man most qualified. I'm not related to him, nor do I have any ulterior motive in writing this letter. I have nothing whatsoever to gain personally. My only reason is to help people of Pontiac obtain good law enforcement. Shigley has proven himself most capable of handling the job and getting results.

'Won't the Station Ever Learn?'

Won't WJR ever learn? That broadcast from Caracas was the bottom of U.S. radio in 1958. If they can't put these turkeys on the air from distant points, why don't they take the message and repeat it in the studio?

That Caracas deal was the worst public effort of any station I've heard since WJR tried the same stunt last time. If they can't do it, why don't they give up and have the thing repeated?

Tuesday night they sounded worse than the 1924 radios did when we "tried to get California." Television never gets that corny. When TV broadcasts from the West Coast, the voice and pictures are perfect. If the TV shows sounded and looked like WJR's radio, they'd go off the air in humiliation.

'Efficient Service Saves Many Lives'

I want to commend the Fire Department and Police Department for the efficient way they handled an extreme emergency in my home.

I had hardly replaced the receiver from calling when I heard the siren and the inhalator crew knocking. They rushed her to the ambulance, administering oxygen all the way, with the police opening traffic lanes. They did such a fine job the ambulance didn't have to slow down once.

Such fine teamwork must have saved many lives in the past and will save many more in the future. Congratulations, fellows, and thanks.

'How Many More Used Like This?'

I wonder about our City Fathers. They say they don't have money to buy our policemen new equipment.

Their motorcycles are a disgrace and most of the lettered vehicles couldn't pass a motor vehicle safety test. Yet seven police officials have new vehicles assigned to them only to use as their own. They take them home with them every night and use them to transport their wives shopping, visiting and to church, etc.

I wonder how many more city vehicles are being used by other departments and the taxpayer is paying for the tires, gas and oil.

Readers Disagree on Nixon Impact

It seems the vice president is doing us more harm than good on his South American "good will" tour.

What's wrong with our government heads that they can't see the ammunition they're supplying the Communist propagandists by sending troops to the Caribbean to protect the so-called Good Will Ambassador? What type of outcry would we freedom-loving hypocrites make to similar actions by the Russians?

If Mr. Nixon wants to get his head shot off just to make the headlines, it is all right with me, but let's not involve the whole United States Army and possibly the world. If it's too dangerous for him, send him home.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Try 'Compliment Club' as Project

"What can I DO?" is the request of new church members who want practical projects for making the world better. Churches need to adopt Clayton's plan and offer their members immediate Christian projects like the "Compliment Club." Notice Maude's experience below. Church folks should show their kindly spirit EACH DAY!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Y-310: Clayton P., aged 35, is a new church member.

"Dr. Crane, our clergyman believes in giving new members a job," he said with a broad grin.

"So he has asked me and my wife to serve as chaperons or advisors to our Young People's Society.

DR. CRANE

"They are teen-agers, mostly Juniors and Seniors in high school. And they want some projects that will be of definite help.

"Could you suggest something that would combine Christianity with a tangible project in the commfunity?"

CHURCH PROJECTS

Yes, I have often used the "Compliment Club" as such a worthy project for Sunday School classes as well as young peoples' societies.

For the "Compliment Club" simply puts the Golden Rule into effective daily action.

To be a member, just pay a bit of praise every day to a minimum of three different people.

Compliment a man's tie or a woman's new hat or her flower garden or her cooking.

Remember, however, that a compliment is a sincere bit of praise about some merit that is objective and worthy of commendation!

Complimenting people does not mean flattering them! There is a vast difference.

To be an official member of the "Compliment Club" and obtain the large diploma suitable for framing, you must maintain your project for 30 consecutive days without a break, praising three different folks each day.

PSYCHOLOGY IN CHURCH

New church members bubble over with enthusiasm for good works. They have the zeal of foreign missionaries, yet are tied down to their homes and workaday jobs.

"What can we do?" they plead fervently, as they seek projects which will quickly show dividends for the Lord and help make the world happier.

Well, the "Compliment Club" is ideal. It is widely used but I marvel that more of you good church people are so slow about adopting it.

I launched it in my Bible Class at the Chicago Temple a few years ago. A middle-aged woman named Maude decided to become a member.

She paid her three compliments daily for about two weeks. Then, one blizzardy spring afternoon, as she was working in a millinery firm, she realized she had paid only two compliments.

A woman named Laura sat between Maude and the window. But Maude didn't like Laura. She considered Laura snobbish and disdainful, as did the other women in the shop.

But Maude remembered I had warned the Bible Class that you can sincerely compliment even your enemies if you divorce yourself from your bias and pick out some of their virtues. For nobody is totally devoid of merit.

"Laura, I've worked here 15 years," Maude finally forced a compliment across her lips, "and every time I've looked up, I have seen your head silhouetted against the window. I think you have the prettiest profile I have ever seen."

Maude admitted this was true, though she begrudged Laura the compliment. Laura looked up, startled. Her chin finally quivered and tears came to her eyes.

"What's the matter, Laura?" Maude asked. "I meant that as a real compliment."

"I appreciate it," Laura said, "for that is the first kind word anybody has ever said to me in the 17 years I have worked here!"

How many of you readers would like to launch "Compliment Clubs?" Send for the booklet, enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Pontiac police have secured a warrant against the 17-year-old, Thomas Scribner, of 33 Allison St., which charges auto theft.

Gigantic New Sputnik Put Into Space by Russia

of the direction of flight was the word that it sped over the Moscow area this morning from a southwesterly to a northeasterly direction.

The announcement said the rocket which lifted the Sputnik aloft broke off and itself went into orbit close behind. No indication was given of the size.

The satellite was described as 5 feet 7 inches wide at its base and 11 feet 9 inches high. That would be large enough to be seen from earth with the naked eye under proper lighting conditions.

The three U.S. satellites circle the globe in a narrower band that extends about half as far on either side of the equator. Two of them, Explorer I and III., are tube-shaped objects about 80 inches long and the third, Vanguard I, is a sphere 6.4 inches across.

Sputnik I, a sphere carrying only instruments, was announced by the Soviets as weighing 184 pounds and the dog - carrying, cone-shaped Sputnik II was reported to weigh about 1,120 pounds.

The orbit time and maximum height of Sputnik III is about the same as that reported for Sputnik II.

Roaring Welcome Greets the Nixons

"Thank you again and remember and never forget what a great privilege it is to be an American citizen and to live in the United States."

The President led a welcoming group that numbered thousands of diplomats, congressional leaders, politicians, college students, and just plain citizens.

Nixon's aircraft was flying a small American flag and the vice president's flag beside the pilot's and copilot's windows.

As it rolled up beside the reception area, the door of the plane was opened and the notables on hand, headed by Eisenhower, moved forward to the foot of the stairway to greet the returning vice president.

Pat Nixon, the vice president's wife, was first through the door with Nixon a step behind. The crowd yelled and waved.

It was the kind of greeting a returning hero would receive. Eisenhower had in effect given something of that touch to Nixon's arrival by praising in advance the calmness, fortitude and courage he said the vice president had shown in adversity.

The President stood in the midst of the crush of people, in almost complete disregard of the usual security processes.

Nixon was stoned in Lima, Peru, last week when an anti-United States demonstration got out of hand. And this week in Caracas, Venezuela, he was the target of violent mob attacks which some observers felt created a very grave danger to his personal safety.

Troops of Companies A and D of the 3rd Infantry from Ft. Myer, Va., were drawn up as a security guard at the airport.

There were about 150 of these in their cocky uniforms with blue neckerchiefs. This is the force always on hand for formal airport receptions.

A group of students carried a red, white and blue sign proclaiming they were from the University of Maryland and bearing the added legend: "Nix-on Reds."

Chimpanzees Herald Detroit Zoo Opening

around the park is the ever-popular locomotive. It can take the kids and adults alike to see some new additions.

This includes a mate for Lonesome George the moose. George now has a friend in Mary the moose from Milwaukee.

From India have come three rare Himalayan black bears, the first of their species to be shown at the zoo.

Visitors at the park will view a pesky Boris, son of Czarina. Boris is a Siberian Tiger cub born too late last year to be on exhibit.

Showing they've enjoyed their winter meals are Gwen the giraffe; Axel and Astrid the baby polar bear twins; Jim-Jim, Maximo and Mesou the gorillas; and Sadie, Jiggs and Susie the orangutans.

The Beasts of Burden — Mona, Mary, Ruth and Susie the Indian elephants—strut their 8,000 pounds each in a gypsy dance and a game of London Bridges.

But as in past years, the Chimpanzee show will draw the crowds. And Jazzbolu and Julius Jogg won't disappoint the throngs as they jaunt off to England, Spain, the Swiss Alps, Greece, Russia, China and many other world spots.

Jazzbolu will draw the laughs in her water skiing endeavors.

If anybody will steal the show at the 1958 zoo, it will undoubtedly be Jazzbolu and Julius — truly ham actors.

Warns Pet Owners of Possible Peril

DENVER (INS) — A Denver biochemist warns pet owners some products sold to kill crab grass contain enough arsenic to harm dogs.

Dr. Lawrence C. Kier of Denver General Hospital said several dogs were poisoned last year by crab grass killers. He said most cases involved dogs eating directly from the sacks containing the chemicals.

The products are believed harmless, however, when spread on lawns and watered into the ground.

The biochemist said the dogs apparently are attracted to the products by some other substances, perhaps, bone meal.

Forty students will be accepted for the course which runs from June 9 to July 18.

Walled Lake Council to Decide on Budget

WALLED LAKE — The Walled Lake City Council Tuesday night will decide whether it will accept a proposed budget based on a 15 mill tax rate, a decrease of two mills from the one proposed earlier this spring by City Manager George Shaw.

The new budget was presented Monday by the council at a public hearing.

Senators to Probe Ouster of Barber from the association in 1947, but had belonged to both organizations for many years with no complaints.

PLANS APPEAL

He said he would appeal the suspension to the local's general membership and, if necessary, to the union's international executive board in Indianapolis, Ind.

He said he telephoned Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the Senate Committee, last night and informed him of the suspension.

Scott's testimony in Washington centered on affairs of Local 614 from 1948 to 1952, a period in which he was vice president. He charged that the 1948 election was "rigged" to assure the election of Hoffa supporters, and that from $16,000 to $21,000 of the local's funds were misspent.

He was appointed to the state board for a five-year term by Gov. Williams in 1953 and served on it previously from 1941-44.

A Democratic candidate for election this fall as state representative from Pontiac, Scott says the suspension is designed "to embarrass" his campaign.

Forecasts Budget Deficit of $8-$10 Billion for 1959

WASHINGTON (AP) — Budget Director Maurice Stans today forecast a 1959 budget deficit of 8 to 10 billion dollars. He said this calls for a critical look at anti-recession programs that would entail more spending.

"The current recession should not be allowed to stampede us into hasty, ill-considered actions which will add unnecessarily to our future burdens," Stans said.

In a speech prepared for the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, the budget chief said:

"Our income is down, our defense costs are up, anti-recession measures are under way and deficits of serious proportions confront us. Simple prudence compels us to rethink our work program and look critically at each one of the additional expenditure proposals being urged upon us."

Stans said officials tentatively foresee a budget deficit "in the general range of 8 to 10 billion dollars" for the fiscal year that begins July 1.

The budget chief spoke to a convention of an organization that does not always see eye to eye with his agency in the matter of authorizations and appropriations for water projects.

The Rivers and Harbors Congress, headed by Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La), is interested in promoting development of water projects.

The administration, Stans said, accepts deficits as inevitable "if the government is to do its part in promoting economic recovery." But he added that "we must keep a sense of perspective about our national problems and the budget" and not spend unwisely.

Stans noted that many anti-recession proposals call for large scale new public works spending.

The fiscal 1959 budget, he said, calls for public works spending of more than 6½ billion dollars—"higher than any previous year's total except during World War II, when military construction hit a peak."

Stans said rivers and harbors projects originally were slated for 700 million dollars in fiscal 1959 and that this estimate will have to be raised because of accelerated spending.

Compromising on Tariff Bill

Ways, Means Group in House Sets Key Vote on Reciprocal Trade

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee moved rapidly today toward a compromise of clashing differences over President Eisenhower's reciprocal trade extension bill.

The committee scheduled a key vote on a controversial proposal to give Congress a veto over the President's discretionary authority to ignore Tariff Commission findings that American industry is threatened by foreign imports.

As proposed, the President could be overriden by a two-thirds vote of both House and Senate if he did not raise tariffs or impose quota restrictions on imports when the Tariff Commission reported injury to U. S. producers.

Under present law, the President may ignore recommendations of the Tariff Commission if he deems such action in the best interests of the nation as a whole. Critics contend the President's use of the escape clause authority is based on diplomatic expediency.

The Eisenhower administration was reported ready to yield on this issue, mainly because it was said to feel a two-thirds vote would be hard to muster."

Domestics Way Down

NEW YORK — Since World War II less than 10 per cent of the employed women in the United States have been in domestic service.

Big Gas Distributors Considering Price Cut

DETROIT (INS) — A possible price cut of gas is being debated today by refiners and wholesalers following action by an independent which cut retail price of regular fuel by one cent.

Amro Stations, Inc., with five retail outlets in the Detroit area, reduced the price to 24.9 cents a gallon. The price of Premium fuel at these stations remains at 28.9 cents.

The major distributors have instituted four price cuts and one increase since January. The current price of regular fuel is 28.3 cents in most stations.

The big companies in many cases during the past months have followed cuts by independents to meet competition.

Two counties in Iowa, Ida and Sac, are known for popcorn production, as much as all the rest of the state.

Older Homes' Prices Dip, New Ones' Rise

CHICAGO — A survey by the United States Savings and Loan League shows that while the prices of homes 10 years old or less are the same as or higher than a year ago in most markets, the prices of homes over 10 years old declined in 1957.

The survey also shows that new-home prices were higher in 50 per cent of the markets.

But International Set 'Lives It Up' as Usual

French Populace Not So Gay in Unsettled Times

PARIS (INS). — The fact that France has had no government is having untold effects on the every day life of Parisians. Not only the French but residents of France are "pulling in their horns" and parking their cars in the garage until "things are settled."

Overnight, you can hurry along the boulevards in a taxi at a happy clip because private cars are fewer; you can get a place in a restaurant because only tourists are taking the tables; night club owners seem even glad to see familiar faces of those who live in France and apartments are suddenly becoming available for rent.

Why? Because without a government, residents of France have been waiting to see the face and flavor of things to come.

Meanwhile, ships of all sizes of all countries are arriving full from America: everyone from the Duke and Duchess of Windsor of Monica Lewis, the pert, pretty little singer who has never been to France, to J. W. Phipps Jr. of Baltimore, who hasn't set foot on French soil in 40 years.

Phipps, vice president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, arrived on Wednesday at the Continental and took a stroll on the Place Vendome just in time to see the "liberation" displays being decorated in the International Business Machines windows.

He stood watching the French decorators until he couldn't stand it any more, when he saw the Russian flag far, far out in front and the American flag hidden behind.

Trying to catch the attention of the window decorator without success, Phipps finally stopped a bilingual passerby to translate his sentiments into French. The American flag was put to the fore, the Russian flag flying behind and Phipps went on his merry way.

Although smart and elegant visitors from far and near are filling the fancy French spots, the French themselves are not at all in the mood for the month of May, which is usually a very festive season. This time of the year, most private Parisians have already mailed their invitations for the biggest social season: June.

This year, the only balls planned so far are the Traveler's Ball, the Bal des Petits Lits Blancs in the Grand Palais, the classic "Gala Diner et Bal" given by the president in the Elysee Palais and the predark racey set's "drag" luncheon in the middle of the month.

Never has Paris been so socially non-committal and the mood is being felt behind the silken curtains of the dressmakers, in private social circles and right down to the local bright-night clubs.

Meanwhile, members of the international set are flocking to France as though there is no crisis. The Duke and Duchess arrived on the good ship United States, with faithful followers including the party-girl, Elsa Maxwell, who a fellow passenger, Ludwig Bemelmans, described, with a friendly gleam in his eyes, as a "talking mud puddle."

Mrs. Gertrude Wideuer of Philadelphia is back at the Vendome, near the place of the same name, to line up her racing horses for the big events of the season at Longchamps and Auteuil.

Mrs. Ruth Dubonnet, Jule Styne and Miss Anita Loos are all at the Plaza Athenee brightening the corners where they are. The art collector, Lee Ault, president of the "Art of America" review, is cornered for cocktails at the Ritz talking over local "tableaux" for sale with Baron Rudolph von Ripper, who came especially from Mallorca to see the new art gallery offerings.

Mrs. William Hale Harkness, in Paris at the Plaza, will wend her way toward Barcelona this week, with her famous evening bag sparkling with 40 karats of diamonds carefully packed away.

Mrs. Harkness, who doesn't let her fortune interfere with her creative endeavors, has written the music for a new Marquis de Cuevas ballet called "Journey to Love," which will have its grand gala presentation at Madrid this month.

SUDBURY, Ont. (AP) — A teacher here has his own idea of helping a pupil to mend his ways. The pupil is required to take a "memory improvement course," which means he has to write a 300-word essay on "improving the memory."

Book Review

Jim Couzens: Appraisal of an Outstanding Man

By GEMMA STRIFFLER
Pontiac Press Editorial Staff

Independent Man:
The Life of Senator James Couzens
by Harry Barnard

A pioneer builder of American industry, a public servant, a neighbor, an honest man in politices. . .

That was James Couzens, resident of Bloomfield Hills, mayor of Detroit, and United States senator.

Such is the judgment of Harry Barnard, who has just written "Independent Man: The Life of James Couzens," now on the bookstands.

He substantiates his work on Couzens with an extremely authentic bibliography, and presents a writing style that the reader cannot resist . . . breathtaking and fascinating.

Born in 1872 in Ontario, a comparatively poor boy, Couzens' initial scraped-up small investment with Henry Ford made him millions. The author states that what Jim Couzens achieved was not unlike the impact of atomic energy in a later day.

Tired of living in Detroit, Couzens bought a farm near Pontiac, and called it "Wabeek," an Indian word meaning "the best place."

The author claims "Jim" was always thinking of the little man, and that he will go down in history as the originator of the Ford $5-a-day pay plan, which startled the whole industrial world.

Eventually the thrill of organization was gone; with wealth and power, personalities changed . . . and he and Ford parted company.

Was politics the next answer? It seemed to be.

First, as Detroit's commissioner of police, he was the father of modern traffic codes. Later, when mayor of Detroit, that city grew into The City Dynamic.

In 1922 he was appointed U. S. senator from Michigan. And just as he couldn't be silenced in Detroit, neither could he be hushed-up in Washington.

In a restless moment, he built the Wabeek building in Birmingham. But only when he founded the Children's Fund of Michigan, did peace come to him. He also activated the forerunner of the Detroit Community Fund. He gave away $30 million, the figure he had received for his Ford stock.

Cold-blooded and unfeeling?

Still in Congress, the '29-'33 depression gave him further opportunities. His views on labor, management and profits were the same that labor is pressing today.

The author refutes the popular story of Couzens' part in the bank holiday and substantiates the constructive action he took in the rebuilding of the Detroit banks.

Although Jim Couzens was a New Deal Republican, he was known to have told President Roosevelt: "Do you know what's wrong with your administration? No one in it has ever earned a dollar. That's what's wrong!"

In 1935, defeated for the Senate, he found himself "very tired." And in October 1936, he died.

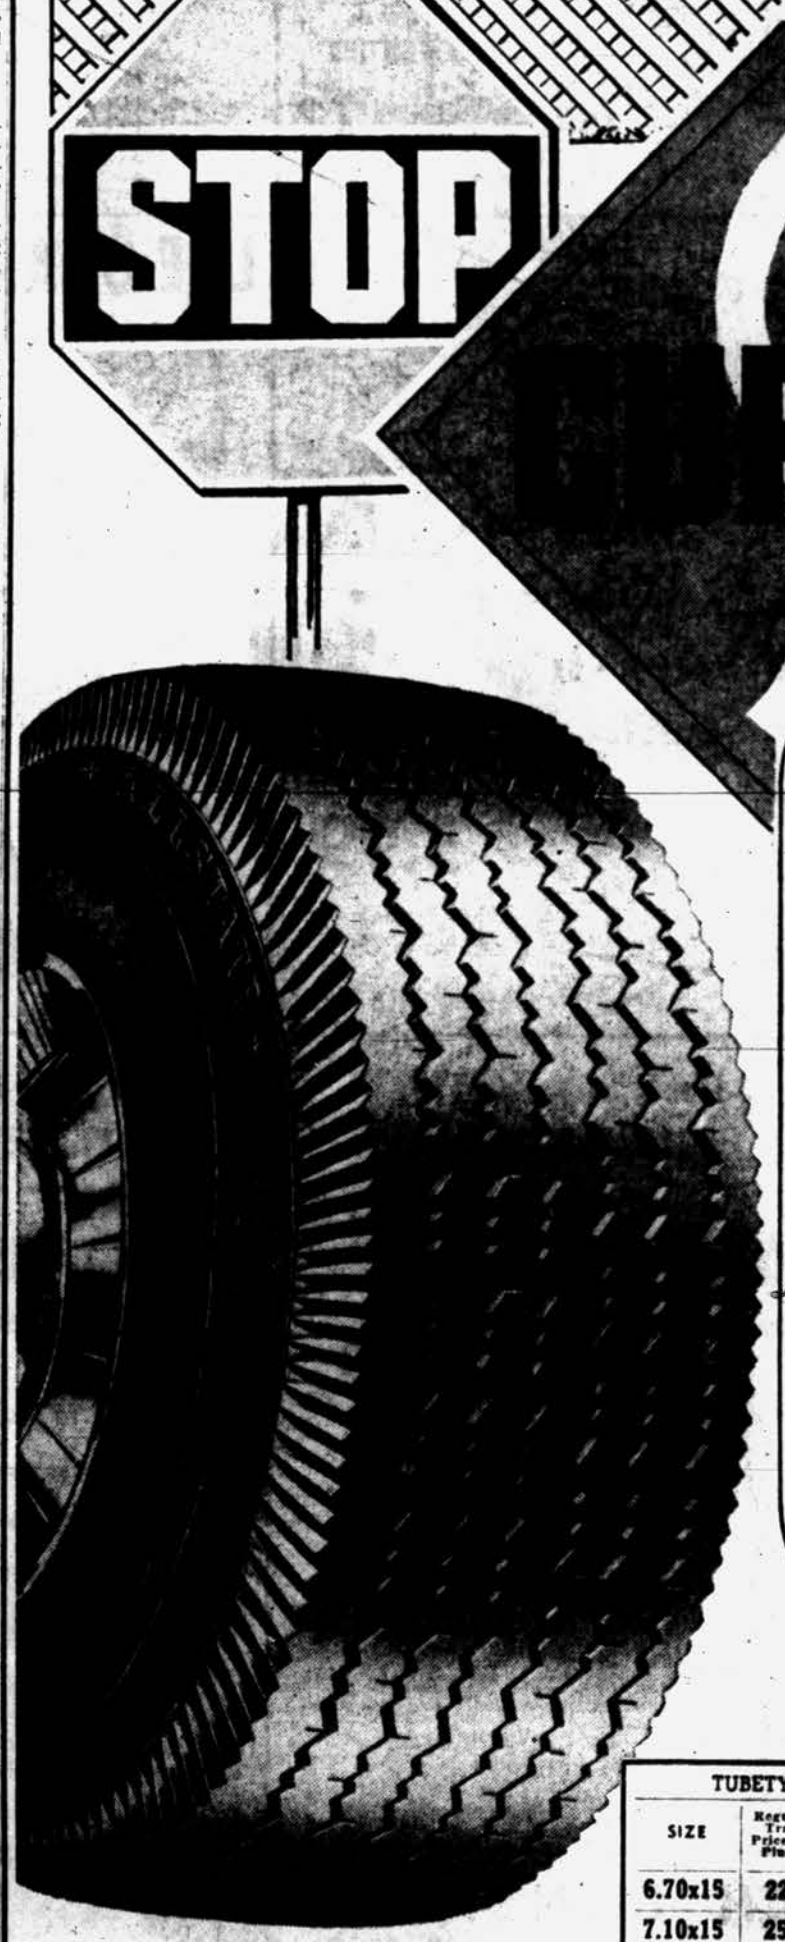

Authoritative, bull-headed and cantankerous . . . but nonpartisan (to a degree), brilliant and efficient . . .

That was James Couzens!

2 Military Heroes Named to Pick Unknown Soldiers

HONOLULU (AP)—A decorated infantryman of the Korean War singles out for national tribute today a comrade-in-arms who fell unknown in that far off fighting.

In a simple ceremony, M-Sgt. Ned Lyle will place a wreath of Hawaiian flowers on the casket of one of four unidentified dead of the Korean conflict.

The serviceman Lyle selects will be flown to Arlington National Cemetery for burial beside the Unknown Soldiers of two world wars.

The four unknowns, representing the four branches of the U. S. armed services, were chosen previously from among 853 unidentified dead of the Korean War interred here.

These remains were assembled from various cemeteries in Korea. The final group was brought here in 1956.

Site of the selection ceremony is the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific, a grass-covered expanse laid out on the floor of an ancient volcano crater. The site is known to Hawaiians as Puowaina or "Hill of Sacrifice." Some 14,000 military dead are buried there.

Lyle was chosen to make the Korean War selection because of his fine combat record. He won a Distinguished Service Cross for leading his company in heavy hill fighting in the Kumwha Valley area in August, 1951.

Of his role today, he said:

"I consider it a very great honor."

HONOLULU (AP)—The U. S. Air Force tapped one of its top fighter pilots to select the Unknown Soldier of the Pacific fighting of World War II.

Col. Glenn T. Eagleston flew here from Manila for the ceremony. His choice of an unknown serviceman of the Pacific war is to be flown to an American cruiser in the Atlantic to join the unknown of the European fighting, who was selected in Epinal, France, Monday.

One of these two will be, in turn, chosen as the Unknown Soldier of World War II and buried in Arlington National Cemetery. The other will be buried with honors at sea off Norfolk, Va.

Eagleston, 37, was the personal choice of Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, commander in chief, Pacific Air Forces.

Kuter named Eagleston because his "record and personal traits best characterized the Air Force men who served their country during World War II.

In that conflict, Eagleston was a squadron commander and later a deputy group commander in Europe. He was credited with 23 enemy planes destroyed, two probably destroyed and seven damaged while flying 96 combat missions.

Eagleston also racked up an enviable record in the Korean War. He was credited with two Soviet MIGs downed, seven damaged and one probable kill while piloting F86 Sabre Jets on 84 missions.

He was commander of a fighter-interceptor squadron when he went to Korea in November 1950 and later became a group commander.

Holland Youths' Rocket Only Partial Success

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP) — Holland's teen-age rocketeers sent their second homemade missile aloft last night but termed the firing only a partial success.

Carl Woltman and John Merrills Jr., both 17, blasted off the 9½-foot missile before some 300 persons at a launching site south of Holland. The missile rose about a mile before falling to earth.

Woltman and Merrills had hoped to send the camera-equipped rocket two miles up. They said the camera was damaged when two attached parachutes failed to work.

Smutty Books Studied

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — A team of Brown University psychologists reports that reading smutty books does not make the reader more likely to commit sex crimes. Drs. Nissim Levy, Lewis R. Lipsitt and Judy F. Rosenblith said blaming lewd literature is a form of "scapegoatism".

HAPPY JOE — An 82-year-old widower, Josef von Suskovic of Milwaukee is a happy man — after 52 years. He plans to go to Sweden in June to marry Mrs. Anna Applequist, a widow of 70. Joe wanted to marry Anna in 1906, but her father said she was too young.

Trades Mules for Helicopters

Whirly Birds Employed to Transport Complete 4th Artillery Battalion

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP)—The 4th Field Artillery Battalion has traded its mules for helicopters in a unique experiment at this Army artillery and missile center.

For the first time, the Army is using whirly birds to transport a complete standard 105 mm howitzer battery and keep it supplied for continuous operation.

Advantages of the aircraft, the Army said, are increased speed and mobility and greater access to isolated areas. The idea of transporting and supplying by air a five-unit artillery battalion, comprised of a firing battery and supporting units, is credited to Col. Charles W. Matheny Jr., now in Germany.

Matheny made his suggestion in 1951. His plan has been tested at this southwestern Oklahoma military installation for a year.

"If there had been helicopters to move our light artillery batteries in the invasion of Europe, the second world war would have ended much sooner," said Lt. Col. Peter J. O'Ro[illegible]e, New York. He is in charge of the trial program. "The same need existed in Korea," he added.

The aviation phase is supervised by Capt. Rodney V. Anderson, Muskegon, Mich., a pilot with combat experience in Korea.

The Army uses 21 helicopters to move the 103 officers, men and their equipment. The operation of getting the battery airborne takes about 15 minutes and approximately the same length of time to set it up in a new area.

North Farmington Files Petitions for Incorporation

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Supervisor Frank J. Stephenson yesterday said he was surprised at the size of area which has petitioned for a referendum on incorporating as the city of Farmington Woods, but said he had anticipated some parts of the north end would break away from the township.

"A township form of government is extremely limited in handling the problems of an area which has grown as rapidly as Farmington Township," he said.

Petitions were filed with the county clerk Tuesday, requesting that 14¾ square miles of the township be incorporated into a home rule city. This proposal follows closely on the heels of two others which now are awaiting a vote.

On Aug. 5 residents of approximately 7½ square miles of south and west section of the township will vote on annexation to the city of Farmington.

At the same time residents of Quaker Valley subdivision will vote on a proposal to incorporate as the Village of Quaker Town.

According to Robert W. Burton, spokesman for the Citizen's Study Group in the north end of the township, the plan to incorporate the area north of 10-Mile road has been under consideration for some time.

"Our main objective is to stabilize the area before it is broken up into smaller sections," Burton said.

"We felt that in a home rule city we would have far greater range in government than with any other type."

He added that the results of a recent poll indicated that people want a city form of government but wish to retain the rural atmosphere of the area.

The area petitioning to incorporate includes all township land between Inkster road on the east, Haggerty road on the west, 10-Mile road on the south and 14-Mile road on the north, with the exception of sections 5, 6 and 7 Woodcreek farms village and those areas already voting on annexation and incorporation.

"We don't want to infringe upon any area that already has decided it wants another form of government," Burton said.

Rumor UAW-Big 3 Apart 4 to 7 Cents

DETROIT (INS) — Informed sources in Detroit said today that only a difference of from four to seven cents an hour stands in the way of a two-year agreement between the United Auto Workers Union and the "Big Three."

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler already have offered around 16 cents in bargaining talks heading for a showdown two weeks from today when the GM current contract expires. The union might settle for a 20 to 23 cents an hour increase.

A source close to the union leadership said the UAW's willingness to forego its demand for a profit sharing program would depend on the granting of other concessions that would add little or nothing to current labor costs.

These concessions would include such things as improvement of the present supplemental unemployment benefit plan, a slight boost in pensions and possibly some concessions to skilled tradesmen.

That the union is willing to "talk turkey" is predicated on the settlement reached by the UAW with North American Aviation Corp. It was negotiated by Leonard Woodcock who serves as director of both the union's GM and aircraft department.

Survey Backed by Police Group

But Association Critical of Report's Comments on Civil Service

A general endorsement of the Police Dept. study report was given by the Pontiac Police Officers Assn. at its meeting last night.

The association went on record as supporting the Public Administration Service report except for its comments on civil service.

The association's statement is as follows:

"The members of the P.P.O.A. are in accord with the majority of the recommendations and findings of the Public Administration Service as set forth in their report.

"However we feel that the criticism of civil service is unjustified due to the fact that serious departmental problems dealing with morale and administration existed long prior to the advent of civil service which has only been in effect since 1957.

"The association as a whole feels the report confirms the basic weaknesses in the department's administration which we have long pointed to.

"The association wishes to commend the City Commission, and the city manager for ordering the study.

"The association wishes to thank The Pontiac Press for their editorial position on the need for a study."

2 Men Murder Rail Worker

Kidnap, Stab Service Station Attendant; Elude Arkansas Officers

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. (AP)—A railroad worker was murdered at Desloge, Mo., and a service station attendant here was kidnaped and stabbed today by two young men fleeing in the slain mans car.

The two men and a blonde woman an eluded the Arkansas Highway Patrol near Bald Knob, Ark., a few hours after the kidnaping.

The filling station attendant, George Tubbs, 29, escaped after he had been stabbed in a Newport, Ark., restaurant where he broke away from the trio.

The body of James Huskey, 58, was found in his home at Desloge, a town of about 2,000 population 60 miles south of St. Louis. It was discovered after ownership of the car had been traced to Huskey.

Tubbs told police one of the kidnapers, a red-haired man about 27, had bragged that he had murdered his uncle in Desloge.

Lt. V. E. Maxey of the Missouri Highway Patrol said a warrant would be issued for Billy Newhouse, about 27 and red-haired, who lives near Desloge.

Tubbs said he threw coffee into the face of one of his captors, and the stabbing occurred during a scuffle.

Tubbs staggered to a nearby house and asked help while the three fled.

The other kidnaper was described as about 25 and about the same size as the red-haired man, said to be about 5 feet 9 and 170 pounds.

Tubbs said the woman with them was called "Baby," about 20, tall and thin with blonde hair.

The trio took $45 and 14 gallons of gas at gunpoint at the service station south of Poplar Bluff on U. S. Highway 67. Then they forced Tubbs into the car.

Tubbs said the red-haired man was armed with a rifle and a pocket knife.

Four rifle shells were found near Huskeys body, Maxey said. Huskey had been shot in the head and chest.

James D. Dole Dies in Hawaii

Pineapple King Founded Multimillion Dollar Industry in Islands

HONOLULU (AP) — James Drummond Dole, 80, founder of Hawaii's 116-million-dollar pineapple industry, died yesterday about five hours after suffering a heart attack at his Honolulu home.

Born in Boston, Mass., the son of a Unitarian clergyman came to Hawaii in 1899 when he was 22.

He started growing pineapples for canning in rural Oahu and organized the Hawaiian Pineapple Co. in 1901 with 16 employes. The firm now has about 3,300 year-around workers and up to 7,800 in the packing season.

In 1908 the infant Hawaiian pineapple industry began what may have been the first campaign by any industry to advertise its products without regard to brand name. Under Dole's leadership, the firms launched an advertising campaign under the slogan "Don't ask for pineapple alone. Insist on Hawaiian pineapple."

The campaign sold pineapples piled up by the panic of 1907 and was considered the turning point in the industry's history.

In 1927 Dole offered $25,000 to the first aviator to fly to Hawaii from the U.S. West Coast. Two planes reached Hawaii safely but seven persons were lost on other flights.

Dole retired as chairman of the board of Hawaiian Pineapple in 1948 after serving as president and manager 29 years, a director 45 years and board chairman 16 years.

Dole is survived by his wife, three sons, two daughters and 12 grandchildren.

Where Nixon Went; How He Was Greeted

By The Associated Press

A log of Vice President Nixon's eight-nation South American tour so far—where he has been and how he was received:

MONTEVIDEO, URUGUAY, April 28: Shouts of praise mingled with jeers from pamphlet-tossing students.

BUENOS AIRES, ARGENTINA, April 30: A cordial welcome, but scattered elements hooted him.

ASUNCION, PARAGUAY, May 4: A resounding reception marred only by the arrest of several hooting students.

LA PAZ, BOLIVIA, May 5: A welcoming shower of confetti and pamphlets telling him to go home.

LIMA, PERU, May 7: Stoned and spat upon by jeering, Communist-led students who screamed anti-U.S. slogans and tore up an American flag.

QUITO, Ecuador, May 9: A warm, orderly reception, with only a handful of hecklers mixing in the crowds.

BOGOTA, COLOMBIA, May 11: A rousing welcome. Police cavalry.

CARACAS, VENEZUELA, May 13: Narrowly escaped injury as howling mobs with clubs and rocks staged the bitterest hate demonstration seen during their tour.

The check was presented yesterday by the Waterford-Clarkston Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The truck, which will be turned over to the township, will carry all necessary rescue equipment, including a resuscitator and emergency equipment.

Cost of the vehicle will be approximately $2,500, the goal of the drive, according to Fire Chief Donald Beach.

Air Death Trial Jury Deadlocked

Can't Agree on Verdict in $200,000 Suit Over Area 2-Plane Crash

A Circuit Court jury this morning agreed it was "hopelessly deadlocked" in attempting to reach a verdict in the $200,000 damage suit resulting from the aerial collision of two planes over Pontiac Municipal Airport two years ago.

Judge H. Russel Holland dismissed the hung jury after foreman F. B. Keeler, of 13701 Ludlow St., Oak Park, said jury members couldn't agree on a verdict. They had been deliberating since 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The suit was filed by Virginia B. Pickett, wife of the late James G. Pickett Jr. of Drayton Plains who was killed along with two other men on June 23, 1956.

Defendant in the case was Larry Trott, son of Jess Trott, 60, owner of the Almont Airport, who also died in the crash.

Keeler said that the majority of the 12 ballots taken by the jury were mostly in favor of dismissing the action against Trott.

Pickett, 42, was killed when his plane, about to land at the field, was struck by Trott's airplane, being piloted by Winston D. Mathews, 25, of Charlevoix. Mathews was the third person killed.

The suit charged that Mathews, flying the Trott plane in a formation of three aircraft, should have yielded the right of way to the Pickett plane as it was about to land. It also said the Trott plane was below an established 1,000-foot minimum altitude for planes passing over airports.

Judge Holland ordered the case set down for retrial.

Tributes to Boost Bid for '60 Nomination

Nixon's Political Stock Soars

WASHINGTON (INS) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's trial by sticks and stones in Latin America appears to have sent his presidential stock soaring.

Official Washington's giant welcome today for the vice president and his wife is plainly "bipartisan" and designed to let the world know the U.S. resents the abuse the Nixons suffered in South America.

But the Nixons' friends and opponents see in this tribute from Democrats and Republicans a political lustre that should cling to the 45-year-old Californian. He is more than ever viewed as the man "most likely" to get the GOP presidential nomination in 1960.

Some measure of Nixon's personal triumph was indicated when the House of Representatives, where as a member he achieved his first national prominence investigating communism, unanimously adopted a resolution lauding him.

The resolution introduced by GOP leader Joseph W. Martin Jr., Mass., praised Nixon for his "courageous and dignified conduct" in the face of violence which endangered his life and that of his wife. The accolade may be without precedent. But unprecedented or not, it is the kind of political bonus candidates dream about.

Then, too, political experts are noting President Eisenhower's own warm declarations of praise for Nixon's performance in South America. And they see Eisenhower's planned personal greeting at the airport today as a strengthening of the "my boy" relationship which Ike first displayed for his running mate in 1952.

Over-all, the at-times shocking events Nixon experienced in the past fortnight have gone far to obscure Eisenhower's recent statement that (1) he would never resign in favor of the vice president, and (2) he thinks there are plenty of "darned good" GOP candidates for the presidency.

The events seem to many Republicans to add up to a reaffirmation of Nixon's "heir apparent" position in the Eisenhower Administration.

At County Awards Dinner in Birmingham

24 Students Receive MSU Scholarships

Twenty-four Oakland County teenagers were honored last night at the annual Scholarship Awards Dinner sponsored by the Michigan State University Alumni Club of Oakland County.

Each high school senior was presented with a gold key, representing a tuition scholarship from the club, by J. Robert Stewart, director of scholarships at MSU.

Alfred L. Seelye, dean of the College of Business and Public Service at MSU, was the guest speaker at the affair, held at the Birmingham Community House. He discussed the international programs which the university is sponsoring in 13 nations and his recent tour through South America where a business college is sponsored by the college.

Two of the tuition scholarship winners also received $300 cash awards from the county club. They were Krista Lynn Kaasik of Pontiac Central High School and Michael Larson of Southfield High School.

The other scholars honored from Pontiac were Emma Jane Arnold, David Allen Davies, Clarice Jean Graves, Rex Lee Harris, Sara Ann Hetherington, Priscilla Jean Runnels and Sandra June Sommerville.

Other scholarship winners and their respective high schools are: John Amerika, Lincoln; Jeanne Marie Anderson and Martha Ann McDonald, both of Hazel Park; Judith Ann Boardman of Waterford Township, Linda Carol Clarke of Farmington, Judy Kay Crawford of Milford, and James Douglas Custance of Kimball.

Barney Goodrich of West Bloomfield, Sharon Lynn Goul of Troy, Lora Louise Guthrie of Avondale, Gerald Hoffman of Madison Heights, Robert Edward Lewis and C. Howard Murrish of Oxford, Dorothy Patricia Lovchuk of Rochester, and Catherine Louise Peterson of Berkley concludes the list.

Parents of the winners also attended the dinner as guests of the MSU Club.

Bob Considine Says:

Build Clean Bombs, Reds Like 'em Dirty

NEW YORK (INS) — A memo from the boss suggested it was time to pick up some new shots in the arm and think about heading out to Eniwetok for another atomic extravaganza.

Seems that the Atomic Energy Commission is eager to prove to mankind that we have produced a nuclear city buster so "clean" of radioactive fallout that there won't be a single complaint from anybody the bomb lands on.

Russia is equally proud of its new "dirty" bomb and has put its physicists to work on the project of making it still dirtier. The poor dumb Russian militarists figure that if they get in a big shooting war they ought to have plenty of the worst possible and most devastating weapons.

Not us. We're looking for the cleanest bomb money can buy. When it is perfected to a point where survivors will say, "Being hit by the new American clean bomb was as invigorating as a soapy shower bath," one presumes the AEC will put its people to work on the Quiet Bomb.

The Quiet Bomb will be a clean bomb that says "shucks" when it goes off, instead of BOOOOOOOM.

In time there might be a soothing restful Chimes Bomb.

The forthcoming test of our "clean" bomb at the Eniwetok proving ground will be witnessed by observers from many nations, including the Soviet Union.

Perhaps it is indecent to question the stress our AEC places on such refinements in our atomic arsenal. Certainly, it will go all out to demonstrate its point of view. I can see us now, done up in plastic boots, coveralls and sterilized Nehru hat, trudging across Ground Zero in the noon-day sun of the blazing Pacific, brushing past the mad dogs and English reporters to get the word on just how few milliroentgens are showing on the Geiger counters and the dosimeters.

For the life of me, I don't dig this "clean" bomb jazz. The whole question is so academic. At the Washington Naval Conference 35 years ago, and five years later at the London Naval Conference, there was lots of gab about restricting battleship guns to 14 inches instead of 16. But it occurred to a lot of people at the time, including this callow youth, that it wouldn't make a hell of a lot of difference to a guy if he was conked by a 14-inch shell or a 16-incher. The same must be largely true of the debate over the "clean" and "dirty" bomb.

The last Russians who witnessed a test at Eniwetok probably saw it through the periscope of a submarine, some miles away. The last Reds officially invited were at part of the tests of 1946 at Bikini against the chained warships.

Two were scientists aboard the V.I.P. ship, the Mt. McKinkley. The third was a Russian reporter aboard the Appalachian, the reporters garbage scow. He was confined to his bunk with seasickness from the moment we left Oakland. Every once in a while he would hopefully gasp, "Havaii . . . Vimmen." Alas, he was too sick to get off, once we got to Hawaii.

One of the Russian physicists, wined and dined by our own men after the tests, was taken on a tour of the Dr. Lawrence's cyclotron works at Cal. He had been one of the boys up to that point. But suddenly he stiffened up and refused to have anything more to do with out scientists. One who got to him asked him why.

The Russian said, "You assured me the cyclotron was not a weapon, yet on one of the cooling pipes today I plainly saw chalked the words 'Big Bertha'." And off the crazy nut went to Russia, probably to work on the world's dirtiest bomb.

About 25 miles off the coast of Sweden are the Aland islands, located in a strategic position at the entrance to the Gulf of Bothnia.

Court Should Awe Delinquent—Judge

LONDON — Magistrates who have been trying to make Britain's juvenile courts into jolly, informal places are pursuing the wrong course, according to London's Judge W. Wrangham.

He says the practice of policemen doffing their uniforms and putting on gray flannel suits "like stage uncles," and magistrates conducting themselves with "absurd geniality" toward child defendants is a mistake. Judge Wrangham upholds the need for more formality and dignity in the courts—and particularly in the children's courts.

It is important that the tough young delinquent should be awed by the court, he asserts.

The U. S. has about 1,000 residential fires every day.

In 15 French Governments

Pflimlin Has Experience

PARIS (AP) — Pierre Pflimlin, 25th premier of postwar France, has held seven different posts in 15 governments but never before the No. 1 job.

He was asked twice to form cabinets and failed both times. He continued piling up experience by being minister of agriculture eight times and was finance minister under Felix Gaillard.

Pflimlin is the first member of his party — the Catholic Popular Republican Movement (MRP) — to head a government since Georges Bidault was premier for 10 months in 1949-50. Bidault was the first candidate called by President Rene Coty in the current crisis. He failed to form a government because the MRP would not back his plan for a tougher policy in dealing with the Algerian rebellion.

Pflimlin, far more liberal in his North African views, has the bulk of the slightly leftist MRP solidly behind him. But conservative opposition in the Assembly and the army seizure of power in Algiers make clear the opposition he faces from the extreme right.

Pflimlin — the name is pronounced roughly flam-lin and means little plum — is a 51-year-old lawyer from Alsace, in eastern France. He is a tall, thin man with strongly marked features and silvery hair. An eloquent speaker, he is the national president of his party.

Although of an old Alsatian family, Pflimlin was born in the northern French mill town of Roubaix, near the Belgian border. After studying at Mulhouse and the Catholic Institute of Paris, he took his doctorate of laws at Strasbourg University.

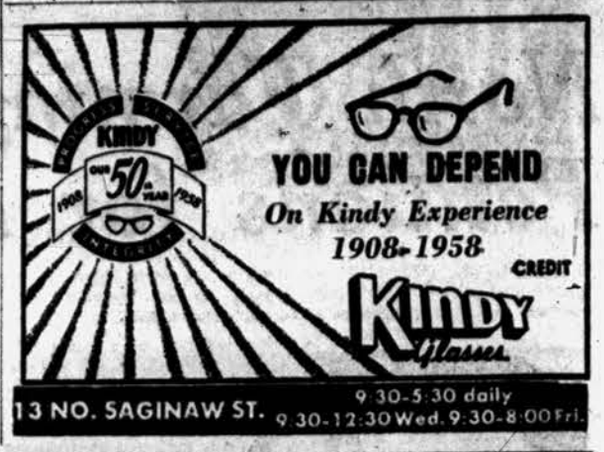

Mobilized as a lieutenant interpreter, Pflimlin served in the Belgian and French campaigns early in World War II. After France collapsed, he hid out through most of the German occupation near Thonon-Les-Bains.

Pflimlin became a deputy after the war and also is president of the Lower Rhine County Council.

A specialist in economic questions, he has published several technical books. The best known is "The Economic Situation of the Third Reich."

The new premier's favorite relaxation is a long, all-day walk in the country. He is married and has three children, aged 15, 13 and 11.

Americans Still Want Big Glamorous Cars

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

DETROIT (INS) — There was a bowling conference in Detroi and, in the top hotel, the brawny ones were drinking it up as if there might never be another sally to the alleys.

It was just the conventional convention-type nonsense. But it sounded loud and foolish and incongruous in this worried, thoughtful town.

LOOK AT BOWLERS

The townspeople of this depressed city looked at the bowlers with bemusement, as though they might be permanently daft instead of only temporarily addled in the flush of celebration.

Confronted by the spectacle of a pair of delegates and their wives sprawling on the 25th floor before a bank of elevators, casually sipping of the cup that cheers, a Detroiter shuddered, "What the .... do they think they're doing?"

This attitude toward the antics of the convention seems to me to bear a strong resemblance to Detroit's attitude toward more prosperous Americans everywhere.

INDUSTRY SAGS

While the auto industry sags woefully, and the newer and more magnificent cars gather dust, most everybody in Detroit seems to be wondering — what the H— do AMERICANS think they're doing?

All the talk, all the publicity, has it that Americans have made a sudden switchover in their allegiance — from the big, jazzy, chrome-framed car, to the small, compact, economy size buggy.

And yet, statistics prove that amid the country's agonized cries of cheaper cars, the big sellers still are the shiny models that are designed to force the Joneses to keep up.

Last week, Benson Ford of you-know-which brought out examples. He said that, in the face of all you've heard — like what this country needs is a new five-cent Continental — 76 per cent of the cars added to the cost by ordering extra gold trims, to make their autos more expensive.

Benson added that, if the complaint over over-long and over-chromed cars is valid, why are the outstanding sales stars the Oldsmobile, the Chevrolet Impala and the Ford Thunderbird — three glittering spectacles that would make a Communist wince.

FULL CIRCLE—The latest in television sets, featuring a screen that rotates a full 360 degrees and can be tilted at will, is shown above at the second U. S. World Trade Fair in New York. Pictured on the screen is President Eisenhower, as he delivered a speech. The set is a Phonola, made in Milan, Italy.

Obviously, Detroit must imagine that the country's car buyers (or rather, at the moment, car shoppers) are a bit hypocritical in their attitudes. All this talk of sudden humility in the garage is exactly that: All talk.

The simple fact is that Americans still want a prestige car that can crowd out the next one in line and knock out the eyes of the neighbors. They've traditionally been willing to be auto-payments-poor year after year, in order to accomplish this.

But this year, they are not only auto-poor, they are food-poor, furnishings-poor and worst of all, faith-poor. After a year of floundering deeper and deeper into recession, they don't believe in much of anything, and they think they'll wait, thanks, before spending any more money than is absolutely necessary.

The attitude is bad for the economy of the country. It's murder for Detroit.

This is what one auto executive told us is called "depression in the face of inflation — a miserable phenomenon."

2 Agents at 4-H Meeting

Oakland County's two 4-H agents, Jane Hoerath and Jack Worthington, are at Higgins Lake this week attending a four day conference of 4-H agents throughout the state.

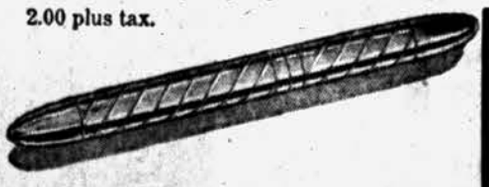

Popular with Automobile Club of Michigan members is its license plate service. Herbert W. Coopes, Club license department manager reports a total of 278,400 plates sold thus far in 1958 through Auto Club division offices.

Two Tugs Arrive to Aid Ship Grounded on Reef

HONG KONG (AP) — Two tugs reached the grounded U. S. freighter President Hayes today 200 miles southeast of Hong Kong in the Paracel Islands. Those aboard were reported in no danger.

The refloating attempt will be made tomorrow. The 9,277-ton freighter has been stuck on a coral reef since Monday night.

Aboard are 12 American passengers, 59 American crewmen and 4,000 tons of cargo bound from Hong Kong to the United States.

Many new lakes are being created by the Columbia Basin project in the State of Washington. Some of the new lakes are being restricted to juvenile fishermen only.

Have Just 1 Solid Bid for Straits Ferry Dock

ST. IGNACE (AP) — Only one solid bid has been received on possible future use of the state ferry docks at the Straits of Mackinac.

The State Highway Dept. met with transportation firms and city officials yesterday to discuss the future of the docks, idled with the dry docking of the state ferry fleet.

The Arnold Line of St. Ignace, which operates a passenger service between here, Mackinaw City and Mackinac Island, said it was interested in working out a continuation of an agreement for use of dock No. 1 here for 1958.

New York City's harbor has a waterfront which can berth 400 ocean ships at one time at 700 deep water piers, wharves and bulkheads.

Makes It on Schedule

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP)—Mrs. Betty Baker made it by car to Spartanburg General Hospital with just a few minutes to spare before giving birth to a five-pound, eight-ounce son. Her chauffeur, now a father for the second time, was Buck Baker — national stock car racing champion.

A brook trout may lay as many as 4,000 eggs in a single "redd" or nest scooped in a stream-bottom. She covers the eggs with gravel to protect them against predators and floods.

AT THE READY — A new method of providing instant protective measures in the case of fires or other emergencies is this vehicle announced by the Lofstrand Co. of Rockville, Md. Small and maneuverable, it can scoot through the aisle spaces of factories. Placed "at the ready" in strategic locations, it carries all necessary safety equipment, such as extension ladders, first-aid kits, resuscitator, gas mask, stretcher and fire extinguishers.

Staunch Companion on Trips

Mrs. Nixon Can Take It

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Patricia Ryan Nixon, the nation's "Second Lady," is a seasoned campaigner who comes up looking fresh and unruffled when the going is toughest.

She has perfected her travel technique on all the world's populated continents. Not until she and Vice President Richard M. Nixon reached South America has she had to be concerned about ducking stones or flying glass. Even so she sat erect and "didn't bat an eye" when Venezuelan rioters tried to attack the Vice President in his car in Caracas Tuesday.

Pat Nixon demonstrated her staying power most dramatically in two prior events—the 1952 vice presidential campaign, when her husband had his first national political test, and in his gruelling 1953 "good will" tour of the Far East.

The first was an emotional as well as physical test. The golden-haired former school teacher wound up on a national television program with "Dick" Nixon as he defended his 1952 "expense account" record. One year later she was at his side throughout his two-and-a-half month, globe-circling good will trip.

When Nixon's voice failed him during the 1956 vice presidential campaign because of a virus infection, Pat briefly substituted for him on the stump. During their many hand-shaking contacts with crowds each day of a political or good will tour, the slim Mrs. Nixon does her share.

She accompanied him on his Central American good will trip and repeated the performance flawlessly last year when Nixon toured Africa.

Although illness has overtaken the 45-year-old Vice President several times during his travels, his wife of the same age never has been stricken. At least she has never complained or given evidence of it.

She has often explained that she avoids travel ailments by eating and drinking little, and keeping busy. When aboard the vice presidential plane, Mrs. Nixon spends most of her time writing thank-you notes to her hosts of the last stop.

On the ground, during the little free time a VIP's travel schedule permits, she supervises the care of her husband's clothes—as well as her own.

And once in a while, she takes time out for an important task: Buying small presents for Patricia and Julie—the Nixons' two young daughters back in Washington.

Even Food Can't Stop Goofy Seal on 4-Day Swim

NEW YORK (AP)—Have flippers, must travel.

That about sums up the saga of a harp seal with the migratory compulsion complex. It has City Aquarium officials hamstrung.

Last Sunday friend seal, who regularly ate 30 to 40 fish at a meal, accepted only one fish and then took off.

Since then he's been swimming around the tank, taking no time out to eat or sleep.

Christopher W. Coates, Aquarium director, says he had been warned that harp seals are susceptible to the mysterious complex before the Aquarium at Coney Island obtained six of them recently from Canada and Labrador.

These are the only ones in captivity so officials understandably are worried.

Coates has been force-feeding the constant traveler with vitamins, cod liver oil and tranquilizers.

But it keeps going around the pool, a circle of about 150 feet, over and over, night and day. Sometimes it swims on its back.

Coates is unstrung about another facet of the seal situation: will the others follow suit?

6,000 Japanese Students Protest Nuclear Tests

TOKYO (AP) — Some 6,000 leftist-led Japanese students zigzagged past the American and British embassies today shouting "stop nuclear tests."

Slump Spawns Bank Bandits

Chief of State Police Detectives Unit Calls Them 'Amateurs'

EAST LANSING (AP)—The recession appears to have spawned a new breed of bank bandits.

But they are just amateurs compared to the organized gangs that operated in Michigan during the depression of the early 1930s.

These are the observations of Capt. Edward C. Johnston, head of the State Police Detectives Bureau.

State Police have records of three bank holdups in the state since the first of the year—at at the Addison State Bank March 28, the Warren City Bank April 30 and the Manufacturers Bank at Redford May 7.

Three out-state loan company holdups also have been handled by State Police.

Johnson noted there also had been a rash of loan and finance company stick-ups in Detroit recently.

"These recent holdups all seem to run to a pattern," Johnston said. "They are committed by amateurs who are desperate for money and are willing to settle for a few thousand dollars."

Johnston said there didn't appear to be any organized bank gangs operating in Michigan. The recent wave of bank holdups in Ontario, he said, such as the robbery of a bank messenger at Sarnia yesterday, might be the work of professionals.

The amateurs, Johnston said, are easier to catch than the professionals.

Hurrying to Catch Sister, City Girl Struck by Auto

A 13-year-old girl was hit by a car yesterday when she ran into the street against a red light.

Barbara Elaine Edwards, of 439 Bartlett St., told police she was trying to catch up with her sister and crossed against the light.

She was hit by a car driven by Marjorie Cameron, 45, of 1260 Dorchester Ave., on Orchard Lake avenue at S. Johnston. Barbara was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for bruises of the left arm and shoulder.

One inch of rainfall on one acre of ground is equivalent to 3,630 cubic feet or 226,512 pounds of water.

Recession Blame Jolts Weatherman

WASHINGTON (INS) — The chief of the U.S. Weather Bureau says he is "amazed" that meteorologists are being blamed for the recession.

Dr. F. W. Reichelderfer took issue with his boss, Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks, who raised Democratic eyebrows at a House hearing by suggesting Sputniks and bad weather brought on the business slump.

Reichelderfer, in testimony made public today by the House Appropriations Subcommittee also assured the lawmakers that atomic testing isn't playing hob with the weather patterns.

He said: "If there were hydrogen bombs exploded every day for several months, or for a year or two, we have no doubt that it would have an influence on climate, but I think our worries would be other than climate if there were that many hydrogen bombs exploded."

Weeks, appearing before the House group, said that the Soviet satellites made the American public "nervous" about buying and bad weather "drastically accentuated" the economic problem.

The cabinet member has insisted that the weather played an important role in the recession because adverse conditions slowed down outdoor construction, and other business activities.

However, the transcript of the House hearing showed that Democrats were neither convinced by Weeks' arguments nor by a GOP suggestion that the chemise also was to blame for the economic downturn.

"That is one for the book," muttered Rep. Albert Thomas (D-Tex) "—Sputnik and the weather creating unemployment for five million people."

"Maybe an increased appropriation for the weather bureau would help," suggested Rep. Sidney Yates (D-Ill).

Chairman Prince H. Preston (D-Ga), told Weeks: "I can't understand that myself. We are pretty hardy people in America. Weather doesn't usually prevent us from going about our daily business . . ."

However, Weeks stuck to his guns in the face of Democratic claims that high-interest rates, low farm prices or high-cost consumer goods might also be responsible for the nation's economic woes.

Weeks received some support from Rep. Cliff Clevenger (R-Ohio), who said "weather has a great deal to do with it, especially when you couple it with this dress that the French designer brought out . . . my wife didn't fall for it but look at some of the other women."

But Reichelderfer, whose bureau is a Commerce Department agency, said in subsequent testimony: "I have been amazed to read in the financial columns, that the meteorologists are being blamed for something new, that most of the recession is due to the weather.

"We have always known that bad weather, cold weather interfered with agriculture and stopped the building trades in wintertime, and so on, but this is the first time we have ever been actually called to account as having a major part in the stock market trends."

National Safety Council Says:

Alertness Avoids Auto Accidents

From National Safety Council

Everyone knows you can't stop a car on a dime.

But do you realize just exactly how far your car does travel before it can be stopped?

"It's a lot further than you may think," the National Safety Council says.

Tests show it takes the average driver, under most conditions, about three-fourths of a second to react to an emergency and hit his brakes.

At 15 m.p.h., in the time it takes to react, you've already traveled at least 17 feet — theoretically, over three six-feet-tall men. It takes another 14 feet—about two more six-footers — to bring your car to a halt. That's a total of five six-footers you've run over — and at only 15 m.p.h.!

Most motorists, though, don't drive quite that slow. Let's assume you usually whiz along at, say, 60 m.p.h. A pretty reasonable speed, you'd say.

Keep your eyes on the road and reach for a cigarette lighter. Put the cigarette in your mouth, glance down and flick the lighter. That flick and initial puff on the cigarette took about two seconds. During that time, you traveled at least 176 feet—more than half the distance of a football field.

If you saw an accident situation ahead after looking up and hit the brakes immediately, before you could stop your car would have traveled 366 feet further — equal to another football field, and then some.

Your trouble may not be lighting cigarettes. But everyone's distracted sometime or other by something in the car. Best protection is to be alert, and to hold down your speed so if you do face a situation, you'll have time to stop safely.

If you do find yourself facing an emergency, you'll be better able to stop in time if your tires and brakes are in good condition. An emergency is no time for added problems.

If, despite all your precautions, you find yourself in an emergency, remember this tip: Better that you head for the ditch than ram an oncoming car.

"Stay alert — stay alive," the Council says. "Think ahead."

Set 'Spring Fiesta' at Waterford School

"Spring Fiesta" is the theme to be featured at the Waterford Township Jayno Adams School Fair, to be held from 3 to 8 p.m. Saturday.

One of the main attractions will be a "surprise "30c-plate supper ," according to co-chairmen Mrs. Robert Anderson and Mrs. John Cudnohufsky.

Members of the PTA have been working for months on dressing tiny dolls to be used in the Cake Walk, and instead of the usual prize of winning a cake — a doll will be given.

There will be a make-up booth with fancy hats for girls and large bow ties for the boys and a variety of games, movies, country store items and white elephant booths along with the fish ponds and green thumb tables.

Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts have been assigned to the clean-up squad at the conclusion of the one money-making project of the year.

Sentiment Firm Against Tax Cut

Congress Ideas Swing Toward Reduction in Some Excise Levies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sentiment appeared to be solidifying in Congress today against any general tax reduction and in favor of cuts in some excise levies.

Four key senators said in separate interviews they believe excise reductions would give a greater stimulus to the economy than action to lower income taxes.

President Eisenhower was described by an influential Republican senator as indicating at White House meetings that he is opposed to a general tax cut. This Republican said the President always brings up the issue of where the money is coming from to pay for government expenses if taxes are reduced.

This sort of thinking appeared to be taking hold among some Democrats.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla), a member of the Senate Finance Committee, said he will support action to revise the 10 per cent levy on automobiles, the 3 per cent on freight and the 10 per cent charge on passenger transportation.

Kerr predicted corporation taxes will be held at 52 per cent and that individual income levies will remain unchanged.

Corporation income tax rates and some excise levies are due to drop June 30 unless Congress extends them at present rates.

In other developments yesterday:

1. In New York, the National Industrial Conference Board reported that consumer prices rose 3.2 per cent above the level a year ago to set a new high for the 24th consecutive month. Food prices rose most.

2. The Federal Reserve Board said production in mines and factories dropped in April for the eighth straight month, reaching the lowest point since 1954.

3. The Senate, as a means of increasing automobile sales, passed a bill to require that all new passenger cars carry the manufacturer's suggested retail price along with prices of extras and accessories.

Old Age No Bar to Great Achievement

By RAY HENRY

Here are some notes for and about the older generation:

Old age seems to be no bar to great achievement. A recent study shows why. Of some 400 famous men — each one the most outstanding painter, statesman, poet, writer, etc., of his time — two out of three had there greatest achievement after 60.

Thirty-five per cent did their most noted work between 60 and 70; 23 per cent between 70 and 80 and eight per cent when they were past 80.

Sixty-eight-year-old Charles Dunford had his Social Security payments doubled recently when his 31-year-old wife bore him twins in Spartanburg, S.C. For days afterward, he had to keep the names of the twins on a piece of paper in his pocket.

He was so excited he kept forgetting what he'd named them. Incidentally, besides the twins, he has 17 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

In Cedar Rapids, Iowa, a theater has formed a club for persons 62 or over and allows the members to buy admission tickets at a cut-rate.

The University of Florida has developed for oldsters a "slowed down" version of tennis. To cut down on the starts, stops, lunges and running, the rules — among other things — call for the tennis court to be half the width of a regular court and for the ball to bounce once before being returned.

The average person 65 or over in the United States visited a physician seven times last year — twice more than the average visits for persons of all ages. For women 65 or over, the average number of visits was 7½ times while males 65 or over averaged slightly less than 6 visits.

On the other hand, less than one out of five persons 65 or over visited a dentist last year. The figures are from a survey made recently by the Public Health Service.

In spite of strict physical requirements, the Civil Aeronautics administration figures it has some 1,700 persons over 50 certified to fly air transports and 30 between 60 and 65.

Recently an 85-year-old Kansas farmer drove to town to keep an appointment requested in a letter from his Social Security office.

During the interview with the Social Security representative, the old man's eyes wandered out a window and he saw a young girl in shorts coming down the street. He followed her until she was out of sight.

Then, turning back to the representative he said:

"Say, young fellow, you know it's been 15 years since I've been to town, and I ain't seen nothing like that before. Wonder if you'd mind sending me another one of them there appointments?"

'Blows' His Paycheck, Wife Laughs It Off

CLEVELAND (INS) — Here's a case of a man who "blew" his paycheck on Friday night and his wife just laughed.

The man, Tony Cormacchione, 28, of Willoughby, O., had his paycheck in his shirt pocket and was working atop a ladder fixing some exhaust fans. The wind whipped the paycheck out of his pocket and sucked it into one of the fans. The lost check will be replaced.

$652.5 Million Invested by U.S. in Australia

CANBERRA—United States interests have about £290,000,000 ($625,500,000) invested in Australian industry. Sipce 1951 the U. S. share of overseas investment in Australia has increased substantially and now accounts for nearly 30 per cent of the total yearly inflow of foreign capital.

Sees Limiting of Small Cars

Vice President of Ford Sets Leveling Off at Near 350,000 Per Year

LORAIN, Ohio (INS) — Ford Motor Co. Vice President James O. Wright says self-limiting factors may cause the U.S. market for small foreign cars to level off at a rate of 300,000 to 350,000 units a year.

Speaking in Lorain, Wright said one self-limiting factor is the probability that the resale value of small imported autos will decline as they become available in greater numbers in the used car market.

"The other," he said, "is the inadequacies of a small car which has been designed for the short distances and narrow streets and terrific gasoline prices of the old world when it is measured against the requirements of our topography, our highways and the expanding vistas of the American family."

Wright said the question as to whether U.S. carmakers should put their own entries in the small car field is "not an easy question to answer. Nor is it one on which I can enlighten you at this time."

The Ford division general manager also disputed the claim of some critics that the general styling of cars is contributing to the present sales slump.

"It is very hard to believe," he declared, "that there has been a rapid drop of almost 30 per cent in car sales for the sole or even primary reason of a sudden, cataclysmic change in a nation's car-buying habits."

Wright said a "much more obvious reason" is that there has never been a general business recession without comparable reverses in the car market.

1,500 Railroad Miles in Germany Electrified

BONN — Since 1945 there has been a 50 per cent increase in electrification of German railroads. At present 1,500 miles are electric and 650 miles are being converted. By 1959 nearly 11 per cent of total trackage will be electrified.

SAUCER, JR. SIZE — Jimmy Lindhoff, 4, of Minneapolis, Minn., blows up a "stratosphere" balloon kite. The gadget is made of the same featherlight plastic used in giant research balloons. Designed to reach an altitude of some 1,400 feet, it is to be offered as a cereal box-top premium.

To Try State Woman in San Francisco

PLYMOUTH (AP) — A first degree murder warrant will be filed Saturday against Mrs. Madelyn E. Hitt, 26, in the strangling of her 6-week-old baby in Okinawa, a U. S. attorney said yesterday in San Francisco.

Mrs. Hitt will reach San Francisco Saturday aboard the transport Gen. J. C. Breckinridge.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert H. Schnake said he will file the murder complaint with U.S. Commissioner Joseph Karesh.

A previous murder warrant filed against Mrs. Hitt in Washington, D.C., will be superseded by this warrant, Schnake said.

The attorney said Mrs. Hitt will stand trial in San Francisco because the law provides that when a person is charged with a crime outside the country the trial shall be held at the port of entry in the United States.

Mrs. Hitt is the wife of Terrance Hitt, a civilian electronics expert employed at a U.S. Air Force base on Okinawa. She is accused of strangling and burying the child.

Hal Boyle Says:

Rock 'n' Roll Shakes Old Family Tradition

NEW YORK (AP)—Sorrow comes in time to many fine old families. But the tragedy that has befallen Louis and Elaine Lorillard of Newport is indeed almost unbearable.

Their only two children—Pierre, 8, and Didi, 11—are rock 'n' roll fans.

"We are doing our best to convert them," said Elaine bravely, "but so far we have had no luck."

What makes her plight even more ironic is that she and her husband, an agile offshoot from the proud old Lorillard tobacco tree, are perhaps America's leading missionaries for a pre-rock 'n' roll type of music — the one known as jazz.

In fact they are famous for having brought jazz to Newport, the sedate Rhode Island seaside resort where they dwell in a mansion so large Mrs. Lorillard never has found enough free time to count its rooms.

Until 1954 the most notable music in Newport was the soft slap of surf on sand, the genteel murmuring of hardening arteries and the vague noises of dear old ladies reading the novels of Henry James aloud to cure their insomnia.

But in that year the Lorillards staged the first of a series of annual jazz festivals there.

The barriers of the Old Guard—their lorgnettes — were raised at once in an icy wall against the invasion.

"The resentment wasn't so much against the music, as the fact the town was overrun all at once by 3,000 visitors," said Elaine. "But the tradespeople were happy.

"We were boycotted for a time socially, in a very subtle way. I think that's all over now, but frankly I don't care."

The truth is that many of the Old Guard have swung the other way. Many are looking forward to the fifth jazz festival this summer, at which 60,000 visitors are expected.

It will be featured by a specially created international youth band, made up of young jazz musicians from 17 foreign countries, including two from behind the Iron Curtain. Its concert will be recorded by the Voice of America and broadcast overseas.

"This should be very exciting," said Mrs. Lorillard. "To many Europeans jazz is the only form of culture America has produced."

Elaine, a pretty blonde who wears blue sunglasses—what other color would be suitable in Newport — and a diamond ring that would blind an owl at midnight, is now known by the trumpet-tooting set as "the First Lady of Jazz."

It was a common interest in this form of music that sparked the romance of Elaine and Lorillard. They met in Europe during World War II. She was a Red Cross worker. He was a major.

One thing the festivals have brought out: Most jazz lovers to-citizens and tend to be in the 35-and-over age bracket.

"It's the teen-agers and younger who go in for rock 'n' roll," sighed Mrs. Lorillard, recalling her own family problem.

5 Die in Crash of Navy Plane

Transport Plunges Into Hill, Explodes Near California Oil Wells

TAFT, Calif. (AP)—A four-engine Navy transport plane crashed in clear weather last night, killing its crew of five.

The R7V Super Constellation smashed into a hill and exploded. It set a grass fire which was controlled before flames reached nearby oil wells.

Highway patrol Lt. R. L. Barrett said a witness told him he saw the plane circling and "then it bellied over and went in upside down."

Barrett said five bodies were taken out of the wreckage. The Navy withheld announcement of identification pending notification of families.

The crash scene was just off Highway 399 about three miles northeast of Taft in Southern California.

The plane was being ferried from Ontario, Calif., International Airport to Moffett Field near San Francisco.

A bill now before the New York State Legislature would prohibit issuance of motor vehicle drivers' license unless accompanied by a physician's certificate stating applicant is not suffering from epilepsy or other ailment which causes blackout.

'Man on Horseback'

De Gaulle Awaits Call to Rescue France

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

The man waiting in the wings, and no longer in the shadows, is Gen. Charles DeGaulle.

The former provisional president and Free French leader of wartime fame has been sitting in solitude in his mansion at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises, 140 miles east of Paris.

But only a few hours after the French army revolt and seizure of power in Algiers it was learned he was in Paris.

This 67-year-old warrior has been waiting for half a generation for the French people to decide that he is the only man to lead them at home as once he led them abroad in war. Presumably, he thinks he will now get a bid.

DeGaulle became a bit of a joke to those French politicians who have appeared and reappeared in France's 24 kaleidoscopic governments of the ailing Fourth Republic.

He is no longer a joke to them, but a source of fear—the old fear of a "man on horseback," or dictator.

In Algiers the European settlers of French descent, outnumbered and fearful of being engulfed by the larger native population, are shouting "The army to power . . . DeGaulle to power."

DeGaulle has not had an active part in French politics since 1951, when his followers failed to win the elections. He has been in constant touch with developments but he quit in disgust to brood at his country villa.

Through the years he has waited for the call that never came. But he is closer now than ever to such a call. What happens if President Rene Coty and the politicians cannot work out a durable regime, and one that cannot end the rift on the Algerian dispute?

The general has not been talking, but his terms are said to be tough. They would amount to suspension of constitutional processes to give him a free hand. It would presumably mean the end of the Fourth Republic and might usher in a fifth.

In any case, the United States is deeply concerned because of her stakes in France. Atlantic alliance installations are thick throughout France, which is a prized bit of real estate in the whole treaty organization's strategic picture.

DeGaulle doesn't think much of the alliance. He fiercely resents what he considers interference in France's Algerian dispute. He is a severe critic of the United States and her policies.

The late President Roosevelt found it hard to do business with the proud general, and it is likely that President Eisenhower also will have trouble should DeGaulle return to power.

Killer's Counsel Plans Defense

To Read Statements in Which Starkweather Tells of Slayings

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—The defense laid plans today to present portions of statements by Charles Starkweather describing fully the deaths of 10 persons he has admitted killing.

The defense has pleaded Starkweather innocent by reason of insanity.

The sections are those the state deleted in offering into evidence two statements Starkweather, 19, signed after his capture in Wyoming last Jan. 29.

The prosecution presentation detailed only the events leading up to the actual slayings of nine of the 10 persons.

The other section related in full the murder of Robert Jensen, 17, Bennet, Neb., high school student, for whose death Starkwtather is being tried.

T. Clement Gaughan, court appointed attorney for Starkweather, yesterday read from still another statement the 19-year-old former garbage collector made.

In this one, written in longhand and in imperfect English, Starkweather told how the three day killing spree started last Jan. 27 at the home in Lincoln of his girl friend.

He did not implicate the girl, Caril Ann Fugate, 14, as he had done in other statements; Caril's mother, step-father and half-sister were among the victims.

Caril also is charged with first degree murder in Jensen's death.

Hollywood Headlines

Alfred Hitchcock Uses Landmarks in His Films

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Alfred Hitchcock says he expects to realize his long ambition—filing a chase over the Mt. Rushmore Monument.

He may be spoofing, but you never can tell about Hitchcock. After all, he has made use of the Statue of Liberty, the tilted liner Normandie and other landmarks in his long and distinguished production of movie thrills.

Hitchcock has just returned from premiering his latest film, "Vertigo," in San Francisco. Now he goes to work with writer Ernest Lehman on a picture he calls "North by Northwest."

The story is a modern spy tale, and Hitchcock lamented that they are much harder to do than they were in prewar and wartime days.

"How can you tell who a spy is these days?" he sighed. "They no longer sport cloaks and daggers. They might be the nuclear physicists or the wives of millionaires.

"It is difficult to make a spy picture that will compete with real events in the world. How could you concoct a story as fantastic as the flight of Rudolph Hess?"

I asked him why he didn't film the Hess story.

"I don't think it would be a success, for the same reason that Joan of Arc has never been—everybody knows the ending," he said.

Hitchcock managed to create a stir in San Francisco despite competition from Billy Graham and the Dodger - Giant baseball game. The director can be proud of "Vertigo," which is in the best Hitchcock tradition. James Stewart gets a real acting workout.

As for Kim Novak, Hitchcock grinned: "I finally made her act."

Strong Recovery by Industry Seen

LANSING (AP)—Michigan industry should snap back after the recession with new vigor, a witness for Consumers Power Co. told the State Public Service Commission yesterday.

Justin R. Whiting, former chairman of the board for Consumers and present Finance Committee chairman, testified in the company bid for a $15,300,000 annual increase in electric rates.

He said the history of past recessions and depressions was that industry came back with a new and hungry demand for electric power.

"They want it at reasonable rates, but they want adequate power," Whiting said.

Whiting said he thought it would be "a wise approach" for the commission to allow a minimum six per cent return on the company's investment by granting the increase.

This would permit the company to continue its planned 468 million dollar expansion program during the next five years, a program that is making a lot of jobs in Michigan, he said.

It also would enable the company to be prepared to serve industry at the eventual end of the recession, Whiting contended.

Frustrated Space Cat Likes to 'Live It Up'

GRANITE PARK, Utah (AP)—Walter R. Van Moorlebem thinks his cat must like getting rescued from dangerous perches.

It climbed 45 feet to the top of a tall tree and wouldn't come down until Van Moorlebem returned home to coax it down. It was his second rescue of the animal in as many days.

Mamie Ending Five-Day Visit to Ailing Mother

DENVER (AP)—The nation's first lady will end her five-day Denver visit this evening.

Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower and her party are scheduled to leave Denver aboard a special car on the Union Pacific Railroad at 8:45 p. m. EST for the return trip to Washington.

The car and the streamliner City of St. Louis are scheduled to arrive in St. Louis at 11:29 p.m. EST tomorrow. There Mrs. Eisenhower and the group will transfer to a special unit of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad to complete the journey.

Mrs. Eisenhower, her sister, Mrs. H. Gordon Moore, and the first lady's personal physician have been here since last Sunday.

The sisters have been visiting their mother, Mrs. Elivera Doud, who has been in poor health. She observed her 80th birthday Tuesday.

Tractors can operate at least 100 farm machines and their attachments.

The first highway to be given a route designation was the Detroit-Toledo road. Automobile Club of Michigan's William B. Bachman painted utility poles along the road with a red stripe and signs were posted to inform motorists about the routing innovation. The year was 1912.

April Did Little to Bring May Flowers

If Pontiac residents are enjoying May flowers in their gardens and on their tables, they didn't rely on nature to take its usual course of watering their plants for them.

The watering can, sprinkler and hose each got plenty of use in the past month since no true April showers occurred.

Rain could be seen only three days with a total of .63 of an inch for the entire month. This compares to 10 days and 1.66 inches of precipitation in April, 1957.

The average April day this year was also warmer than last year which brought several anxious youngsters to try their first swim of the year a little earlier than usual.

The average high throughout the month was 60.3 degrees and on April 17 and 19 the temperatures rose to 83 and 80 respectively. This compares to an average high of 57 degrees last April.

The average low temperature throughout the month varied just two degrees between last year's recordings. In April, 1958 it was 40 degrees compared to a 38 degree average low in 1957.

A trace of snow was evident one day last month compared to three snowy days 12 months ago.

In all, last month was a perfect one to hang those rugs, drapes and curtains out, polish the car, put up the screens and sneak in a few games of golf to get ready for summer fun.

Bishop Coadjutor Ceremonies Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Very Rev. James A. Pike becomes bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal Diocese of California today at colorful ceremonies in Grace Cathedral.

Fifteen bishops of the Episcopal church join in the sacred laying on of hands to elevate Pike, former dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York, to bishop.

The Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, the church's presiding bishop; the Rt. Rev. Edward Lambe Parsons, retired bishop of California and the Rt. Rev. Horace B. Donegan, bishop of New York serve as chief co-consecrators.

Dean Pike, 45, will succeed the Rt. Rev. Karl Morgan Block, who is ill and will retire in September.

Will Ask More for Foreign Aid

Senate to Hear Appeal After House Approval of $3.6 Billion Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Eisenhower administration sources said today they will ask the Senate to vote more for foreign aid than the $3,603,000,000 authorized by the House for the year starting July 1.

House passage of the big measure by a 259-134 rollcall vote last night tossed the issue to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Chairman Theodore F. Gren (D-RI) scheduled closed sessions to write a bill starting next Tuesday.

The House knocked down all new money-cutting moves by lopsided margins. The bill had already been trimmed by the Foreign Affairs Committee 339 million dollars below what President Eisenhower said is the least needed for American and free world strength.

Advance signs were that the senators would vote authority for more funds, leaving the final amount to House-Senate compromise. Opponents focused on the separate appropriations bill that must be voted later to supply the actual cash.

The House meanwhile prepared to tackle a different money bill today—a State-Justice Department appropriation totaling $570,722,613 including $192,859,353 for the State Department and $101,750,000 for the U. S. Information Agency next year.

The committee-approved measure falls seven million dollars short of what Eisenhower asked for the State Department and eight millions below his USIA figure.

The foreign aid debate hit lively high spots as congressmen shouted indignation at the attacks in Venezuela on Vice President and Mrs. Nixon. They jibed too at expensive gifts bestowed by Rafael Trujillo, son of the Dominican dictator, on film stars Zsa Zsa Gabor and Kim Novak.

Of 23 amendments offered the House accepted only seven and most of these were minor. None affected the fund totals.

Oil Companies Discuss Printing Substitute Map

LANSING (AP)—Whether oil companies selling in Michigan should get together on issuing a substitute for the official state highway map will be brought up for exploratory discussion soon in industry circles.

Jack I. Green, public relations director of the Michigan Petroleum Industries Committee, said the question will be raised at the PIC Executive Committee meeting this month or next.

The Legislature has ordered the State Highway Department to cut out its official map after a final distribution of 600,000 copies of a new issue coming out in June.

Sen. John P. Smeekens (R-Coldwater) recently suggested the department make available to oil companies the master printing plate used in production of the final highway department issue.

Green said 28 companies supply gasoline in Michigan. He guessed that a dozen of these now distribute their own maps in this and other states, but lacked information on how many or at what cost.

A number of problems would have to be met if the industry should decide to fill the prospective void, Green said, some of them involving national policies of companies which have fixed formats for all 48 states.

Still other difficulties would confront any company which might want to proceed on an individual basis, some of them touchy. He said he hadn't heard of any interested on this basis.

Civil War Vet in Dixie Marks 112th Birthday

SLANT, Va. (AP)—"Gen." John Salling receives birthday greetings today from well-wishers on both sides of the Mason-Dixon Line.

Four members of Congress were included in a delegation which planned a 100-car motorcade to this tiny southwest Virginia community to spend part of the day with Salling on his 112th birthday anniversary.

Salling—the "general" is purely honorary—is one of the two remaining veterans of the Civil War. The other, also a Confederate, is 116-year-old Walter W. Williams of Houston.

Scheduled to be on hand for the festivities were Reps. Smith (R-Kan), Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa), W. Pat Jennings (D-Va) and Sen. A. Willis Robertson (D-Va).

In addition to the congressmen, the motorcade includes representatives of the armed forces, veterans groups and just plain citizens.

Salling, now confined to a wheel chair but still peppery, was expected to greet his guests in his new summerweight Confederate uniform, presented several weeks ago by members of the Woman's Army Corps at Ft. Myer, Va.

It's Proposed for Bridge Dedication

Dancing Aboard Straits Ferries?

LANSING (AP) — Dancing on the ferries?

There may be at the Mackinac Bridge dedication, but then some knotty problems will have to be ironed out before the rug cutting can begin.

The Mackinac Bridge Dedication Committee has asked the Highway Department for permission to use one or two units in the idle five-boat ferry fleet as a floating dance floor June 26-28.

Sidney H. Woolner, deputy commissioner, said it has not yet been granted.

"There's a question of insurance involved, and certainly we're in no position to spend money on this," Woolner said.

He explained that insurance recently was shifted from operational to port risk coverage, which is cheaper.

"Hopefully, on the basis of the port risk classification, the insurance cost can be cut to about $22,000 a year instead of the $80,000 for operational coverage," he said.

The five boats are covered under re-insurance policies—that is, the risk is spread among companies all over the world, making it unlikely that the insurers would pick up the tab for any part of the forthcoming festivities.

Bids on the ferry units, retired from service after the Mackinac Bridge opened last fall, formally were rejected late last week.

Looming larger now is the question of holding down maintenance costs, at first estimated to exceed $100,000 annually.

Woolner said payroll expense has been cut by laying off engineers on the Vacationland, queen of the ferry fleet, and by cutting down on the force of watchmen.

In the summer months there is no need to keep steam up on the boats, since there is no danger of lines freezing.

North Carolina horticulturists finally succeeded in growing a watermelon with sweet meat, and thin, tough rinds. Ladies complained. The tough rinds are not suitable for watermelon pickles.

Most of the nation's forest fires are caused by careless smokers and many more by embers left in camp fres. Only about 10 per cent are caused by lightning and other natural causes.

MILK-SANDWICH — The newest idea in the sandwich field is the milk sandwich. This simple recipe combines favorite sandwich fillings with instant nonfat dry milk. There is no noticeable flavor or texture change, but two milk sandwiches are the equivalent of a glass of milk. Wonderful idea for milk rebels.

Milk Rebels Won't Detect Sandwich Enrichment

Have you a "milk rebel" in your home? Well, cheer up, the battle's over. When "Johnny comes marching home" from school — he'll actually welcome that important glass of milk in the form of a MILK-SANDWICH! A milk-sandwich is a wonderful new idea which combines delicious sandwich fillings with instant nonfat dry milk. Two milk-sandwiches supply the equivalent of an 8-ounce glass of milk — all wrapped up in Johnny's favorite sandwich.

The addition of nonfat dry milk to peanut butter, cheese, meat spreads or salads in sandwiches adds all of the B vitamins, calcium, phosphorus and proteins of fresh pasteurized milk. The milk will mix instantly with most sandwich fillings without changing their flavor or texture.

The following milk-sandwich suggestions are for two sandwiches, equal to a glass of milk. Quantities may be increased to meet family requirements.

Peanut Butter-Jelly Milk-Sandwiches

Mix 2 tablespoons jelly and one third cup instant milk (in dry form) gradually until smooth. Stir in ¼ cup peanut butter until well blended.

Honey-Peanut Butter Milk-Sandwiches

Mix 4 tablespoons honey and one third cup instant milk (in dry form) until smooth. Stir in 2 tablespoons peanut butter until well blended.

Cheese Spread Milk-Sandwiches

Mix together ¼ cup cheese spread (olive, pimiento, bacon-cheese, etc.) and one third cup instant milk (in dry form) gradually.

Salads Milk-Sandwiches

Have salad prepared (chicken, ham, tuna, egg, etc.) Stir one third cup instant milk (in dry form) in gradually until well blended.

Braunschweiger Milk-Sandwiches

Mix ¼ cup Braunschweiger and 2 tablespoons salad dressing together until well blended. Gradually stir in one third cup instant milk (in dry form) until smooth.

Deviled Ham Milk-Sandwiches

Mix 2½ oz. can of deviled ham spread and one third cup instant milk (in dry form) gradually together until well blended.

Sherry Meringues Are Sophisticated Treat

For an out-of-this-world dessert, make meringue shells with meringue mix according to package directions, then slowly add 2 tablespoons of Spanish sherry of the oloroso type as the mixture begins to thicken. Bake shells as directed.

To serve, fill the meringue shells with vanilla ice cream, orange or lemon sherbet, then dribble a little oloroso sherry over the top for the sauce. A huge ripe strawberry set in the top of each serving makes a gay garnish. Serve glasses of oloroso sherry with the dessert to complement the confection most effectively.

Both ginger ale and club soda may be had in 7, 12 and 28 ounce bottles.

Sweet Crumbs Frost Spice Cake

When the Junior Miss in the family starts out on her first cake, which may be this delicious Molasses Crumb Cake, you can prevent a lot of wear and tear on your own nerves by getting in a supply of economy-packed paper plates to help with this first cooking adventure.

A plate at the range to hold sticky stirring spoons, a plate for the flour sifter and plates for chopping nuts, fruits or vegetables will keep the work surfaces clean and prevent a major clean-up detail afterwards. For a second dessert she'll like to make, try these Coconut Silhouette Tarts.

Molasses Crumb Cake

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup firmly-packed brown sugar
½ cup New Orleans molasses
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup strong coffee
⅔ cup sifted all-purpose flour

Sift 1 cup flour, salt, baking soda, cinnamon and cloves together. Combine egg, ½ cup brown sugar and molasses; blend. Melt ¼ cup butter or margarine.

Add melted butter or margarine and coffee to molasses mixture. Add sifted ingredients; mix well. Combine ⅔ cup flour, remaining ½ cup brown sugar and ¼ cup butter or margarine; blend.

Turn molasses mixture into greased 8x8x2-inch baking pan; sprinkle with crumb mixture. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 40 minutes, or until cake tests done. Serve with softened cream cheese and lemon sauce, if desired.

Coconut Silhouette Tarts

3¾-ounce package coconut cream pudding or pie filling mix
1-ounce square unsweetened chocolate, melted
½ cup flaked coconut
6 baked 3-inch tart shells

Prepare pudding mix according to package directions. Fold chocolate and coconut into 1 cup pudding mixture; blend well. Turn chocolate mixture into tart shells; top with remaining pudding. Sprinkle with additional flaked coconut, if desired. Makes 6 tarts.

Basil, Tomato Gravy

Just before roast is ready to be carved, remove all juices from pan and measure out ¼ cup fat. Blend fat in a small pan with 3 tablespoons flour. Add 1½ cups pan juices, one 8-ounce can tomato sauce, ½ teaspoon crumbled whole basil leaves and ¼ teaspoon onion salt. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Season to taste with salt and black pepper. Makes about 2 cups.

Basil Goes Best With Tomatoes

Because basil is the soulmate of tomatoes, the salad combinations which it can spark are practically endless. Tomato slices or wedges lightly sprinkled with the dried herb are delicious. Or mix basil crumbles in the cottage cheese stuffing of whole tomatoes. A pinch of basil added to mayonnaise makes it a zippy dressing for any fresh vegetable salad.

The name basil comes from the Greek word for king. Its origin is ancient and many legends surround the herb. Hindus believe that a house around which basil bushes are planted is blessed and protected by the gods. Italians regard basil as the plant of love.

Basil Salad Dressing

1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 teaspoon crumbled whole basil leaves
½ teaspoon garlic powder
½ teaspoon onion powder
¼ cup salad or olive oil
3 tablespoons wine vinegar
½ teaspoon sugar

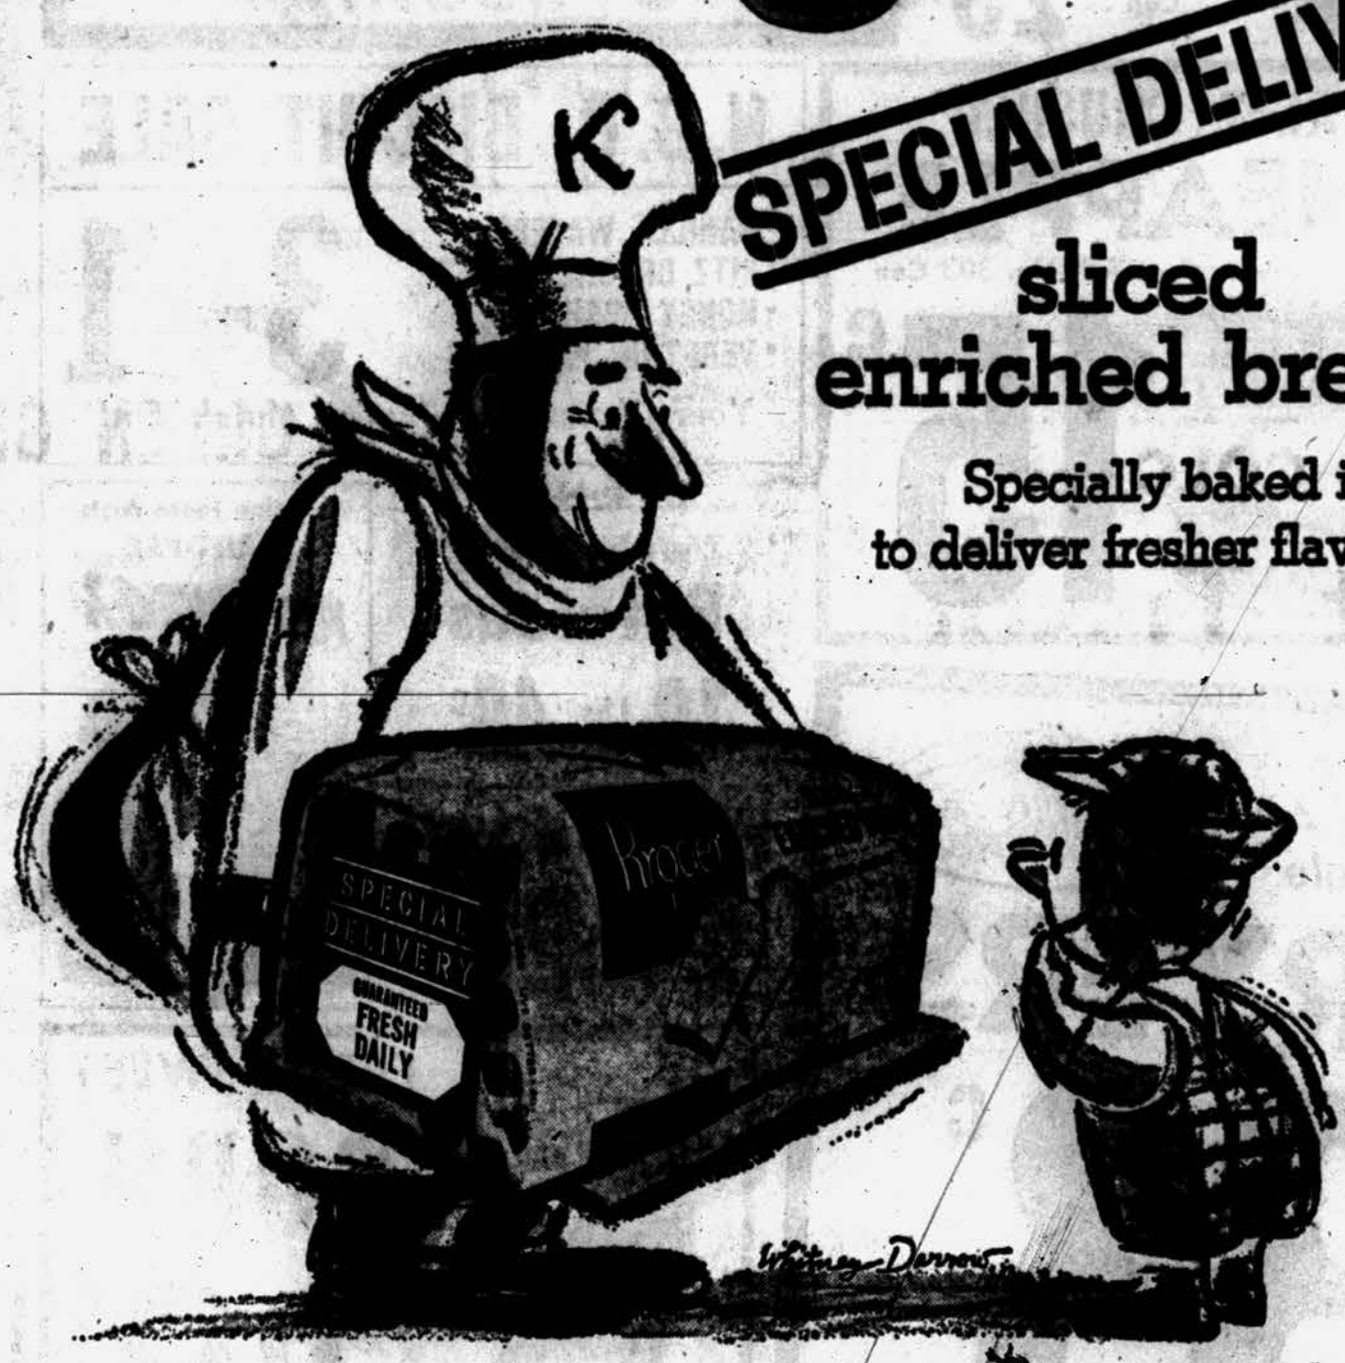

Combine first 6 ingredients in a bowl. Let stand 1 or more hours. Add wine vinegar and sugar and blend thoroughly. Serve on raw or cooked vegetable salads. Yield: two-thirds cup.

To prevent marks of the cake rack when cooling your loaf or layer cake, invert the cake onto the rack and then immediately turn it back again (with another rack) so it is topside up.

APRICOT HONEY NUT BREAD — Honey has the ability to keep bread stuffs fresh just a little longer than other sweetenings. In this Apricot Honey Nut Bread each flavor blends in and none dominates. It's excellent toasted.

Honey Keeps Bread Fresher

Every homemaker has at least one nut bread recipe in her file box. But watch how quickly she adds this one that boasts the combined goodness of apricots and honey!

Apricot Honey Nut Bread is delectable. It is distinguished by the subtle honey touch that lingers in the background. Neither the apricots nor the honey predominates, but each flavor blends neatly with the other, and lends flavor support to the original nut taste.

Honey's rare quality of keeping baked products fresh longer than usual shows up here. This nut bread has good keeping qualities and can be kept from one day to the next without fear of spoilage.

Serve this at lunch time, for an afternoon tea with friends or neighbors, the school lunch, or for an after school snack. Or try toasting it just a little at breakfast.

Apricot Honey Nut Bread

1 cup (8 ounces) dried apricots, cut in pieces
¾ cup hot water
2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
½ cup chopped nut meats
½ cup honey
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup white vinegar, plus apricot water and milk to make ¾ cup liquid
2 eggs, beaten

Soak apricots in hot water for 1 hour; drain, reserving liquid. Sift together flour, baking soda and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture is fine. Blend in nut meats. Combine Honey, sugar, apricot liquid, eggs and apricots; add all at once to dry ingredients; stir until flour mixture is dampened.

Pour into greased 8½ x 4½ x 2½-inch loaf pan. Bake in a 325 F. (moderate) oven about 1 hour. Cool slightly. Remove from pan. Slices best one day old. Yield: 1 loaf.

Onion Soup Mix Flavors Veal

Simply wonderful and wonderfully simple is the key phrase befitting this recipe, Veal Steaks in Onion Sauce.

Because veal comes from a young animal, it does not have a fat covering, and bacon or salt pork are often placed over veal roasts.

Veal Steaks in Onion

2 pounds veal round steak, cut ¾ inch thick
½ cup enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup lard
1 package dried onion soup
2 cups boiling water

Mix flour, salt and pepper. Dredge veal steaks in seasoned flour and save remaining flour for gravy. Brown steaks in lard in frying-pan. Pour off drippings.

Dissolve onion soup in boiling water and add ½ cup to steaks. Cover tightly and simmer 1½ hours, or until tender. Remove steaks from frying-pan. Stir in flour. Add remaining soup, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened. Serve with steaks. Yield: 6 servings.

Fresh Pork Takes to Ham Garnishes

Scoring and glazing can "dress-up" fresh pork roasts as well as those cured and smoked pork cuts. Score a fresh pork roast about half an hour before the end of the cooking time, suggests the market information agent.

Remove the roast from the oven and make diagonal cuts one-eighth of an inch deep and three-fourths of an inch apart to form diamond shapes. Rub the surface with a mixture of brown sugar and currant jelly. Return to the oven for the final cooking.

Garnishes like fried apples, browned pineapple rings or hot spiced pears studded with cloves will "dress-up" the meat platter.

Paprika Is Red, Parsley Green in Rice Dish

This is a good idea for a quick vegetable. You can use rice you've cooked ahead of time and stored in the refrigerator!

Paprika gives the tender rice a glorious, reddish-gold look. The tasty bits of bacon are a real flavor surprise and the savory parsley adds a nice green touch. Use more onion if you're a lover of this vegetable.

Harlequin Rice

3 slices bacon
½ cup chopped onions
About 2 cups cooked rice
1 teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
½ cup water
1 to 2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Cook the bacon in a skillet. Remove bacon and save. Add the onions and cook until tender. Add the rice.

Stir the paprika, salt and black pepper into the rice. Cook over a high heat. Stir frequently. When mixture becomes very hot and fat is absorbed, stir in water, parsley and bacon which has been crumbled. Heat.

Season to taste with salt and pepper. Serve piping hot, garnished with parsley. This recipe makes 4 servings.

Pipe Cleaners Do Job

Even efficient housekeepers sometimes forget to clean the spouts of teapots. Keep a package of pipe cleaners handy in a cabinet drawer for this important task. Rinse the teapot, insert a doubled pipe cleaner in the spout and carefully turn to remove tannin stains; you may have to do this once more but this method usually leaves the spout spotlessly clean.

The Recipe

Blend together 2 tablespoons sugar and 1¼ teaspoons cinnamon; set aside. Sift together 1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, and ¼ cup sugar. Cut in ¼ cup shortening until mixture is fine; stir in ¼ cup chopped nut meats and ¼ cup seedless raisins. Beat together 1 egg and ¼ cup milk until just blended; add all at once to flour mixture; stir until ingredients are just dampened. Fill 12—2¼ x 1¼-inch greased muffin pans one-fourth full of batter. Sprinkle each with about ¼ teaspoon sugar-cinnamon mixture. Top with remaining batter evenly, smoothing the surface. Bake in a 400° F. (hot) oven about 20 minutes. Serve hot. Yield: 12 muffins.

The most important thing about baking...

It's the balance of ingredients in baking powder that governs its leavening action. Only when these are scientifically balanced can you be sure of uniform action in the mixing bowl plus that final, balanced rise to light and fluffy texture in the oven.

Balanced Double Action means Better Baking!

Meringue Top Hides Frosty Filling

A suspenseful "air" certainly goes along with surprises. And many times it goes as does the old saying, "the best is saved 'til last." Food surprises usually come that way and desserts seem to be the chosen course of food.

Strawberry Surprise Pie has a high and airy meringue over which is spooned a delicious sauce made from Frozen Strawberries. When you serve this to your family there's certain to be suspense in the air — and your family will love it.

Strawberry Surprise Pie

1 box (10 ounces) frozen sliced strawberries
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1 cup graham cracker crumbs (about 16 square crackers)
¼ cup sugar
⅓ cup butter or margarine, melted
1 quart vanilla ice cream
6 egg whites, at room temperature
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
¾ cup sugar

Drain thawed strawberries. Add cornstarch to liquid and cook over medium heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Add strawberries.

Pies Get Nutty Topping

Pecans . . . the first mention of them brings to mind Southern desserts. For a delicate touch to frozen fruit pies (individual or the 24-ounce size), combine equal portions of honey and chopped unsalted pecans. Spread on top of frozen blueberry or peach pies; then bake according to package directions.

Chill in refrigerator until ready to serve.

Combine graham cracker crumbs and sugar. Add melted butter and stir until well blended. Pour into lightly buttered 9-inch pie plate and press into shape. Chill about 15 minutes. Fill graham cracker crust with ice cream. Store in freezer while making the meringue.

MERINGUE TOPPING

Add cream of tartar to egg whites. Beat until frothy. Gradually beat in sugar and continue beating until mixture is stiff and glossy.

Pile meringue on top of pie being careful to completely seal the edges with meringue. Make a pretty swirl on top of pie with your spatula. Then rush pie into a preheated oven (450 degrees) for 3 to 5 minutes. Take pie immediately from oven to the freezer and leave there until ready to serve.

TO SERVE

Dip bottom of pie plate in hot water for a few seconds, cut pie in eighths and place on individual dessert plates. Top with strawberry sauce.

Next time you make a meat loaf, turn it out of the pan and coat the top and sides with diluted catchup, then put it back in the oven again for a slight glaze. Garnish with parsley and send to the table.

Parmesan Sauce Does Wonders for Cauliflower

Snowy-white, tender cauliflower is plentiful in the markets now. Here it is served with a rich Parmesan cheese sauce.

Added pleasure: The cauliflower is baked and served in a casserole of aluminum foil. No extra baking dish to wash at the end of the meal.

Parmesan Cauliflower

1 medium head cauliflower (2-3 pounds)
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup milk
½ cup meat stock
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
½ cup grated parmesan cheese
½ cup dry bread crumbs

Cook cauliflower in 1-inch boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Shape a 1½ quart casserole from double-thick square of aluminum foil. This can be molded over a baking dish or shaped with the fingers.

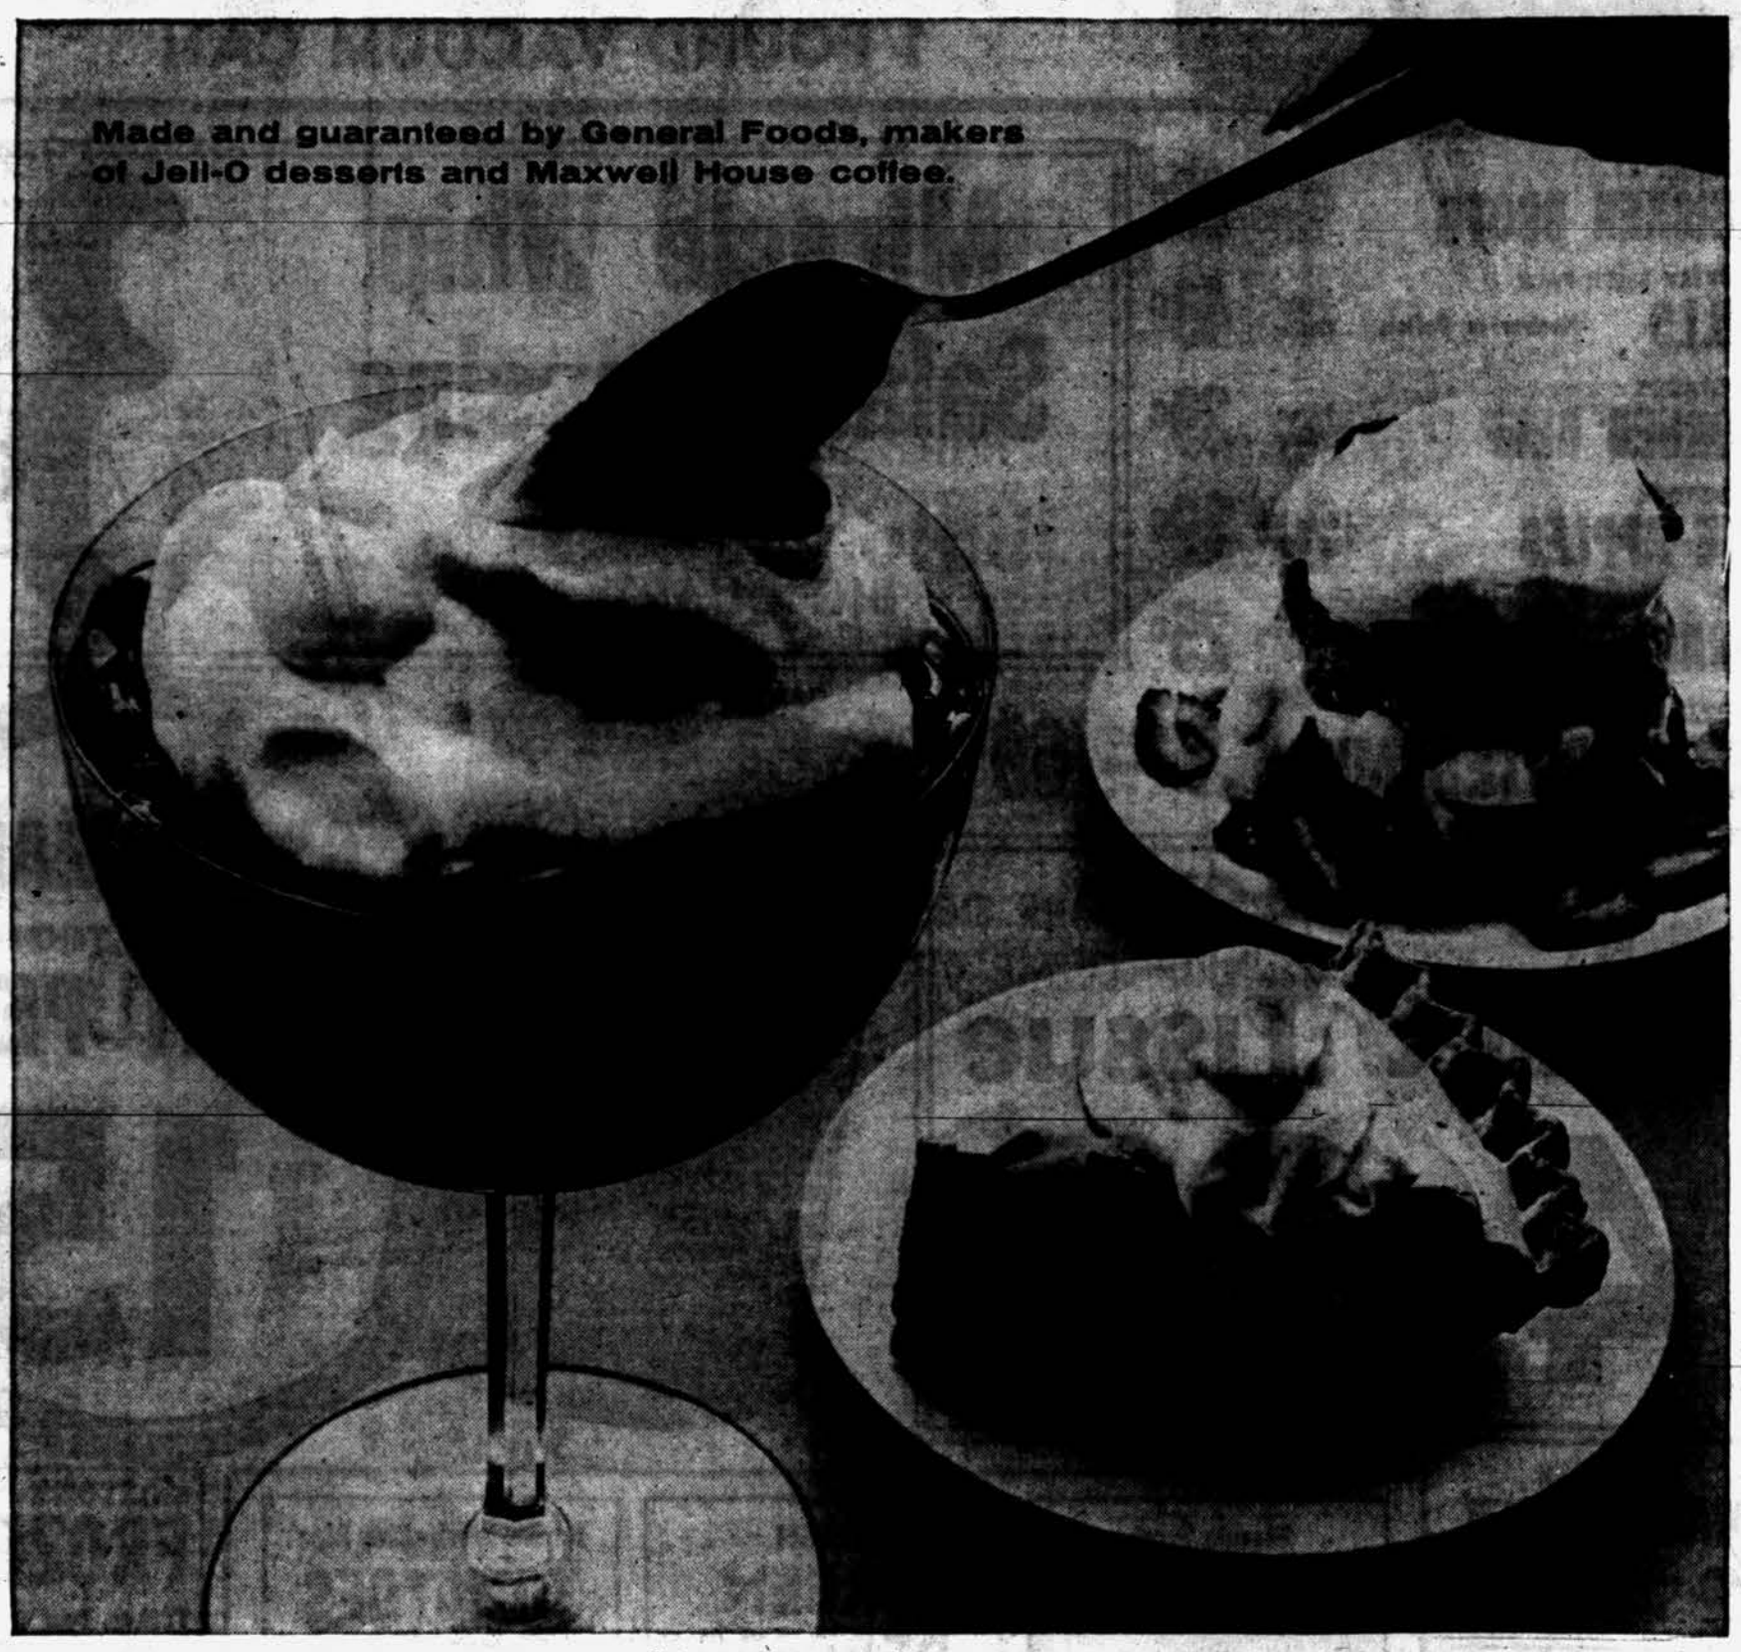

Melt butter in double boiler. Add flour and blend thouroughly. Add milk, meat stock, salt and pepper. Stir constantly until thick. Pour sauce over cauliflower.

Combine Parmesan cheese, bread crumbs. Sprinkle over sauce. Bake 15-20 minutes at 350 degrees. Makes 6 servings.

Herb Spaghetti Sauce

Saute ½ cup sliced mushrooms in 1 tablespoon olive oil. Add an 8-ounce can tomato sauce, 1 bay leaf, ¼ teaspoon salt and ¾ teaspoon crumbled whole oregano leaves. Cook, covered, 10 minutes. Delicious over spaghetti, rice, omelets or hamburgers. Yield: approximately 1 cup.

Spring brings forth new food products as surely as it does spring flowers. Some of the ones discussed below have been on the grocers' shelves for a few weeks; others have yet to reach your favorite store.

Frosting mixes are not new, but the smaller box that contains enough for small quantity recipes, cupcakes, cake squares of half a layer is. Vanilla or Fudge flavored, this frosting may be used as a glaze on angel foods or coffee cakes.

Imagine a no-cook, no-bake dessert so fancy it looks like the work of a French pastry chef. It's made with frosting mix.

This recipe makes a light, but lavish refrigerator concoction that glamorizes the common graham cracker beyond recognition.

As a special serving trick slice your dessert diagonally with a sharp, kitchen knife and you'll have pieces with a very professional pattern.

Fudgy Ribbon Loaf

Add 1 package Loaf-size Creamy Fudge Frosting Mix to 1 cup whipping cream. Chill thoroughly; beat until thickened. Frost sides of graham cracker halves with whipped cream. Stand upright in refrigerator tray to form a loaf.

Frost top and sides of loaf with remaining cream. Freeze. Cut in diagonal slices for striped effect.

You'd think they'd run out of ideas for new cake mixes, wouldn't you? But look at the list of new cake mixes: Instant Orange Coconut; Loaf Size Applesauce; Cherry Angel Food; Pineapple. Each one has a distinctive flavor and can be used in a variety of ways.

As an example try this recipe with orange coconut cake mix.

Almond Orange Coconut Cream Cake

1 package instant orange coconut cake mix
2 cups heavy cream
¼ cup confectioners' sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
½ teaspoon almond extract
Toasted almonds

Prepare cake mix as directed on package, baking in 9x9x2-inch square pan. Cool cake; then split to make two layers.

Meanwhile, combine cream, sugar, and flavorings; chill thoroughly. Then whip until mixture stands in soft peaks. Spread generously between layers and on top of cake. Arrange almonds in a design on top of cake. Chill cake until ready to serve.

Note: If desired, chopped almonds may be folded into the whipped cream before spreading.

Just in time for summer sandwich luncheons are some new cream cheeses. Packed in clear plastic containers, the new items have Roquefort cheese or bacon and horseradish mixed with the ever-popular bland cream cheese.

There's a new cheese salad dressing on the market. The manufacturers are the same ones who make that wonderful Italian style dressing. An extra high protein cereal is on the market now. The crispy flakes are a combination of corn, wheat and rice.

And last of all, have you seen the attractive new salt canister one company is marketing: Its label is copper colored and the top twists for either shaking or pouring.

Ever Parboil Potatoes First

Who hasn't been out to dinner and observed that scalloped potatoes are a wonderful dish to put before guests!

The hostess may be amazed by the compliments her male diners lavish on this dish by eating second helpings. (You may be sure the respective spouses make note of these repeated requests for more potatoes).

Perhaps most of us stick too easily to the conventional boiled, baked, mashed and fried variety to please the man with a yen for adventuresome eating.

It's not a long job with this recipe. You'll want fresh milk and a slow oven (275 degrees).

The first step is to parboil six potatoes for 15 minutes. Peel and slice 'em while they are hot.

Place a layer of potato slices in a greased casserole. Salt, pepper and be liberal with the butter. Pour over the whole one-fourth cup of milk. Repeat layers until all the potatoes are used.

On the top layer, spread cracker crumbs which have been soaked in melted butter. Bake for 15 minutes.

Crumbled Thyme Improves Peas

Peas taste especially good with this flavoring addition.

Peas With Thyme

1 package (10 ounces) frozen green peas
⅓ cup boiling water
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon dried crumbled thyme

Put peas, boiling water and butter in a medium-sized saucepan. Bring rapidly to a boil, breaking up frozen block of peas, if necessary, with a fork. Add thyme; cover and simmer until tender—about 5 minutes. Reduce pan liquid if desired by boiling rapidly. Makes 4 small servings.

Crumbled macaroons may be added, along with fruit, to Bavarian cream.

Pick Out Best Oranges by Touch and Sight

You never have to pinch, squeeze or poke an orange to tell if it's ready for eating. Just give it the "look and hold" test. If the orange is firm and smooth to the touch, heavy for its size, and free from mold or soft spots, it's a good bet you have the "best" buy.

Remember, size does not influence either the quality or the flavor of the fruit. You may buy oranges by either weight or count in many markets. An added customer convenience are the bagged oranges such as the five pound poly bags of California oranges.

Add raisins and a little brown sugar to canned applesauce and serve hot with unsweetened whipped cream.

Skillet Cooked Cabbage

Shred ½ of a large head of cabbage into a skillet with the drippings from 4 slices bacon. Add 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper and ¼ teaspoon onion salt. Cover and cook slowly until cabbage is crisp-tender, about 5 minutes. Crumble crisp bacon over top. Serves 4.

Try These Wonderful Ways With Milk

It's high time the small fry moved over and let grownups have more fun with milk! For instance, this most gifted of foods lends itself to any number of drinks delicious and sophisticated enough for any palate.

Visualize the milk drinks given here, on your patio, at a shower or bridge lunch, after tennis, near the television, or just for pure enjoyment anywhere. If your mouth doesn't water — well, call back the small fry and have "M-I-K" (more-in-kitchen.)

The drinks were created to suggest what can be done with flavorings and milk. For extra eye appeal try pretty garnishes, decorating the glasses for parties, and sometimes a touch of color from your food color kit for delicate tining.

Banana Bonanza

Mash 2 fully ripe bananas. Blend in 1 quart milk, 1 teaspoon banana extract to enhance fruit flavor, and a few drops of yellow pure food coloring. Pour into glasses. Top with spoonful of whipped cream and sprinkle with toasted coconut. Serves 4-6. (If bananas are not fully ripe and flecked with brown, add 2 tablespoons sugar.)

Maple Frosted

Gradually add 1½ cups milk to 1 pint slightly softened vanilla ice cream. Blend in ¼ teaspoon maple extract. Pour into glasses. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Serves 3.

Cherry Almond Float

Chop 9 maraschino cherries. Combine with 1½ tablespoons maraschino cherry juice, ¾ teaspoon pure almond extract, 1 quart milk. Fill four 10-oz. glasses ¾ full. Float a scoop of vanilla ice cream (about 1 pint for recipe) on top; garnish with a cherry. Serves 4-6.

Pink Fluff

Separate 3 eggs. Beat yolks slightly; blend in 1 quart milk, 1½ teaspoons pure vanilla extract, and a few drops red food coloring. Beat egg whites until stiff; gradually add 3 tablespoons sugar to make a meringue. Fold meringue into egg yolk mixture, reserving enough for a fluff of meringue on top of each glass. Pour into glasses, top with meringue, garnish with a pattern of sliced strawberries. Serves 4-6.

Mexicali Ole

Dissolve 1 teaspoon instant coffee in ¼ cup boiling awter in a quart jar. Blend in ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, 3 cups milk, 1-3 cup chocolate syrup and ½ teaspoon pure vanilla extract. Chill. Makes four servings.

Remember Buttermilk in Summer Drinks

The world's earliest book on milk and its production in the dairy was published in Zurich, Switzerland, in 1540 A.D. It gives as the criterion for buttermilk: "This product of the dairy, to be drunk as a health measure, should have a sweetness just verging on the sour, and be of a color to tempt the palate with its gold." Known for centuries as a luscious, as well as a healthful drink, buttermilk today is dependably of "a sweetness just verging on the "sour—with its tartness controlled, never too much, never too little.

For cool summer drinks, buttermilk served ice cold is a delicious accompaniment to sandwiches and salads. It combines well with fruit juices, lending unusual distinction of flavor to the refreshment when mixed with orange, grapefruit or cranberry juice.

Dip for Raw Vegetables

Blend one 3-ounce package chive cream cheese with ¾ cup sour cream. Add ¼ cup flaked cooked crabmeat, ½ teaspoon crumbled sweet basil leaves, salt, ground black pepper and a hint of garlic powder. Surround with a variety of raw vegetable-dip sticks.

Canned Spaghetti Sauce Base of Hot Dog Dish

We all get lackadaisical when the soft spring air blows against our face. So much so, that menu planning may go by the board. Not necessary with a supply of canned spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese on your pantry shelf.

Try this recipe: Brown 3 frankfurters (cut in thirds) in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Add 1 can (15¼ ounces) spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese and 2 ounces sharp Cheddar cheese (cut into cubes). Heat until cheese melts. Serve to 2 or 3.

Refrigerator cooky dough can be kept on hand for a week or more and baked as needed.

Smart Buyers Consider Changing Food Market

The food market is a changing market. One week some prices may be up. The next week some prices may be down. The reason can be traced to supply and demand, states the Marketing Information Agent.

Weather conditions in growing areas have a tremendous effect upon supply. The acreage being harvested, the number of animals being fed and sold also determine amounts available. The demands of consumers help determine what the weekly price tags shall be.

Shoppers who care how their dollars are spent will consider the changing food market as they plan their weekly selections.

FRESH PRODUCE — Now that Florida is back into cucumber and pepper production, cucumbers have dropped in price as much as 19 cents in some markets.

With more greenhouse or hothouse tomatoes on the market, you can get a bargain in flavor for less money than two weeks ago. One medium-sized tomato is about 17 to 20 cents.

Tube tomatoes continue to be less high priced. Tube tomatoes have been shipped green from the south to distributing houses throughout the state. Tube tomatoes are ripened in special ripening rooms.

Sunshiny warm wather is a hint to check farmer's markets and your grocery for Michigan asparagus. A small volume moved to market last week.

How much asparagus to buy depends on your family needs. Asparagus in pound bunches will serve 3 to 4 people. A bushel of fresh asparagus (40 pounds) will yield about 30 pints of frozen asparagus or 22 pints canned.

Enjoy asparagus within a day or two after purchase. Moist asparagus has a short life. If you wash it before storing be sure to dry it thoroughly. Store asparagus in a moisture-proof bag or a tightly covered container in the refrigerator.

What's the strawberry news? When strawberry harvesting starts to move north, it means the season is not far away in Michigan. From Louisiana, to Arkansas, to Tennessee is the progress so far. California strawberries are available also.

PROTEIN FOODS — The only meat that shows a decline on wholesale price levels is lamb. Retailers report that young spring lamb is slightly lower due to more arriving in the market.

One large pork processor reports that the number of hogs arriving in the markets has not been as large as was anticipated. More people are bidding for those available. As supplies grow smaller, from now until fall, prices will gradually increase.

This does not mean you cannot find reasonable prices at the meat counter. You can find many cuts of all meats priced to fit your pocket book. It does mean you will probably study prices and compare cuts more carefully.

Two large eggs for about eight cents is an easy way to to add as much protein as you find in a serving of lean meat. Hamburger, frankfurters and some variety meats cost no more than 15 cents a serving. Some picnics, Boston butts, canned hams, fish fillets, rib-end pork roast, leg of lamb and large turkeys may cost no more than 20 cents a serving.

Boiled Beef Good as Cured Brisket

Fresh beef brisket, simmered slowly in water until tender and served with a sharp sauce, is every bit as tasty as cured brisket, the familiar corned beef.

Boiled Beef With Horseradish Sauce

4 pound beef brisket (or beef plate)
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 whole cloves
2 whole black peppers
1 small onion, sliced

Cover meat with hot water and add remaining ingredients. Simmer meat, covered, until tender, 2 to 3 hours. Serve with horseradish sauce made by combining 1 cup medium white sauce with one-third cup (or more) prepared horseradish and ¼ tsp. dry mustard. (Serves six.)

One pound of brown sugar yields 2¼ cups firmly packed.

Low Salt Diet Benefits From MSG Flavoring

Pure monosodium glutamate renders valuable service where special diets are concerned—particularly those calling for reduced amounts of salt. Used in place of or along with a smaller amount of salt, MDG gives food better taste at a lower sodium intake level. It contains only one-third as much sodium as ordinary table salt.

Chemical Engineers Tell Car Owners to Drain Out Anti-Freeze Each Spring

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP) — So-called "permanent" anti-freeze for auto radiators is permanent for one reason only; it is "permanet" only in the sense that it will not boil away or evaporate. It should be drained from the car cooling system each spring.

This is the word of chemical engineers who have spent years trying to develop the most efficient anti-freeze substance for car radiators.

RADIATION PROBLEM

They tell you that one of every five of America's 60 million cars and trucks has a leaky radiator problem. Most of the trouble, they say, comes from failure to drain anti-freeze from the cooling system in the spring.

One of the experts is Dr. Chester M. White, who heads the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp.'s anti-freeze research laboratory at Rochester, N.Y. Dr. White says that after one winter's use the corrosion inhibitor has a tendency to break down. This tendency, he says, increases with present higher horsepower engines and high engine temperatures.

And the problem is not solved merely by adding more inhibitor to the anti-freeze, he says. After a winter's use, Dr. White says, the chemical structure of the anti-freeze is altered by the development of various acids, including petroleum-base acids resulting from leakage of exhaust gases into the cooling system.

You would need to match the proper inhibitor with the glycol remaining in the cooling system at the end of the driving season in order to get proper efficiency through the addition of inhibitors, he explains.

Dr. White says that car radiators generally now are much smaller than they were a few years ago. He reports one 1957 radiator has a volume of 475 cubic inches compared with an older type with 875 inches.

This means that today's anti-freeze must do much more work. It is another reason, the experts say, why the motorist should drain and flush out his radiator each spring.

Among other things researchers in car radiator anti-freeze are finding out what effect the metals used in radiator construction have on the coolant. In Olin Mathieson's laboratory they have a battery of 10 radiator units under test with various coolants.

Berries Top Tri-Color Dessert

It's real cool and it's real delicious! This new Neapolitan Shortcake Delight is just the thing to tempt heartiest spring appetites and bring compliments to the cook from all comers. An icebox dessert that requires no last minute attention, Neapolitan Shortcake Delight is the perfect setting for the succulent fresh strawberries now on the market.

This luscious dessert, which serves eight to ten, is easy to make using shortcake dainties from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department as the base. One package of four shortcake dainties is enough for the entire dessert. And you only need one pint of berries which makes Neapolitan Shortcake Delight as economical as it is delightful.

Here's the recipe:

1 package (4 individual) shortcake dainties
½ cup butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup fine granulated sugar
3 oz. (squares) semi-sweet chocolate, melted and cooled
3 eggs, beaten
1 cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups small marshmallows (or large ones, cut into quarters)
1 pint strawberries, washed, hulled, sliced, and sweetened

Cut each shortbake dainty in half into 2 even layers, then cut each layer in half crosswise. Radiate, spoke-fashion in bottom of a late the 8 bottom pieces, cut side 9 or 10-inch pie plate.

Cream butter, salt, vanilla, and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in cooled chocolate and then fold eggs in carefully. Spread mixture evenly over cake pieces. Chill until firm.

Whip cream; fold in sugar, vanilla, and marshmallows. Spread evenly over chocolate mixture. Radiate remaining shortcake pieces (cut surfaces down) on cream mixture just inside edge of dish. Chill 4-6 hours.

Top with sweetened berries just before serving, or cut and top with berries as desired. Makes 8-10 servings.

Cook Cabbage in Right Way Without Odor

EAST LANSING (INS) — If cooked cabbage has a strong flavor, you are overcooking it.

Or so says Mrs. Barbara Deskins of Michigan State University's food and nutrition department.

If you want an even more delicate flavor, Mrs. Deskins suggests cooking cabbage this way.

Shred the cabbage and place it in the top of a double boiler, adding about one cup of milk. She uses reconstituted dry milk solids to cut the cost. Add one tablespoon of butter or margarine and cook until tender, or about 15 minutes.

Jealous Mates Common in Communist China Too

HONG KONG (INS) — Party members are just as jealous as the rest of the men in Communist China where women are concerned.

Two pretty amateur stage actresses, married to Party officials, recently accompanied a troupe on a tour of the country.

Wang Chung-ai (Abundant Love) and Chen Tsai-hung (Precious Aurora) were given leading roles in benefit performances for civilian dike builders.

They were away from home for about seven days when one evening a long-distance telephone call came for Abundant Love from husband Ma.

"Did you get my three letters?" he demanded.

Abundant Love replied that she had.

"Then, why don't you hurry home. I don't want you to act there any longer. I want you to come back at once," declared Ma.

The young wife pleaded that she could not leave. She had a "glorious task" to perform and she owed it to the dike workers as well as to the troupe to complete the tour.

Ma refused to listen to reason and threatened to divorce her if she did not return at once.

Abundant Love burst into tears as she put down the receiver.

As members of the troupe were comforting her, the telephone rang again. This time it was from Precious Aurora's husband, Ching.

He also demanded that his wife return home at once. "Old Ma," he added, "is determined to divorce Abundant Love because she refuses to come back. I advise you both to think it over carefully."

Peiping's "New Observer" reporting the story, said that the two jealous husbands telephoned 15 times. Failing to get their young spouses to agree to return home, they telephoned the commander of the post.

"We do not think it is safe to let our wives remain at your place," they protested. You must send them back to us. Send them back today. Who are you sending to escort them? . . . How old is he? . . . Is he reliable? . . ."

Beat eggs until thick and lemon colored; add sugar, flour, salt and oats. Stir in lemon flavoring and butter (cooled), mixing thoroughly. Drop by level tablespoons onto greased cooky sheet, about 4 inches apart. Spread thinly with a knife. (Bake only 3 cookies at a time.)

Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) about 4 minutes or until golden brown around the edges. Remove cookies from sheet one at a time. As each cooky is taken off, immediately roll it around the handle of a wooden spoon or other utensil.

Remove cooky when it holds shape; cool on a rack. Continue until all cookies are baked. With a confectioners' sugar icing, make bow on each. Makes 2 dozen.

Bright Future Sandwich Loaf

2 packages or 2 cakes compressed or dry yeast
1 cup lukewarm water
1 cup scalded milk
¼ cup shortening
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
5 to 5½ cups sifted enriched flour
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup corn meal

For the bread, soften yeast in lukewarm water. Pour scalded milk over shortening, sugar and salt; stir occasionally until shortening melts. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in 2 cups of flour and the eggs; add softened yeast and corn meal. Stir in enough more flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board; knead until satiny, about 10 minutes. Round dough into ball; place in greased bowl and brush lightly with melted shortening. Cover and let rise in a warm place until double in size, about 1 hour. Punch down; cover and let rest 10 minutes. Shape dough into 2 loaves; place in 2 greased 9½ x 5¼ x 2¼-inch loaf pans. Cover and let rise until double in size. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 30 to 35 minutes. Remove from pans to cool thoroughly.

To make the sandwich loaf, trim off crusts and slice one loaf lengthwise in three equal parts. (Serve the second loaf for mealtime variety.) Spread ham filling (see below) on one slice to make first layer. Top with second slice; spread with chicken filling. Top with third slice.

Frost loaf with 8 ounces cream cheese which has been thoroughly blended with 3 tablespoons milk. To garnish form a flower by placing a pineapple ring cut into fourths on top, a maraschino cherry in the center and watercress or parsley for leaves and stem. Makes 10 servings.

HAM FILLING: Combine ½ lb. ground cooked ham, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons milk, 2 tablespoons pickle relish, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, a dash of spicy hot sauce.

CHICKEN FILLING: Combine 1 cup chopped cooked chicken, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons chopped green olives and a dash of spicy hot sauce.

St. Joseph Hospital Alumnae Plan Annual Scholarship Ball Friday

The annual scholarship ball, sponsored by St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Alumnae Association, will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Friday at Northwood Inn.

Proceeds of the dance help provide a scholarship each year for a girl to enter an accredited school for registered nurse's training.

The alumnae group currently is aiding two nursing students at Mt. Carmel Mercy School of Nursing.

Co-chairmen for the Friday event are Mrs. William Shaughnessy and Mrs. James Maguire. Other committee chairmen include Mrs. James Ebaugh, place; Geraldine Zettell, orchestra; Mrs. James Greene, decorations; and Mrs. Robert Stoner, patrons.

Final arrangements for the annual Scholarship Ball sponsored by St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Alumnae Association, to be held Friday at Northwood Inn, have been completed. Here, (left to right), Mrs. William Shaughnessy, co-chairman for the affair; Mrs. James Greene, decorations committee chairman, and Mrs. Thomas Timmreck, a committee worker, gather to jot down last-minute reminders for the ball.

Whether or not to wear a chemise to the alumnae ball is a big decision for Mrs. Orrin Huntoon Jr. (left). Mrs. Edward Omans, who has come to visit at the Huntoon home to offer suggestions for dance apparel, seems to approve of the dress.

This Gal Prefers Pearls

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Since I dislike diamonds, I have completely dismissed the idea of a diamond engagement ring. My mother is very upset over this and thinks that I should have a diamond ring. Am I correct in assuming that there are other items besides a ring that can be given as a token of one's engagement?

"I am partial to pearls and would very much like to have a pearl necklace instead, or if I must have a ring, I would prefer a pearl ring, even though this is not my birthstone. Will you please let me hear from you as my engagement is going to be announced soon and I would like to get this settled?"

Answer: You can have any piece of jewelry that your fiance is able to give you. Unlike a wedding ring, an engagement ring is not necessary.

"Dear Mrs. Post: At previous graduations, the class always wore caps and gowns. This year the girls would like to wear long white dresses instead. However, the exercises will take place at a morning hour and the question has been raised as to whether long dresses would be proper in the morning. Will you please advise us?"

Answer: Long dresses are quite proper at graduation whether the exercises take place in the evening or in the morning.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if it would be proper for my sister to send invitations to several of my husbands' and my friends to her forthcoming wedding, or might it seem like a bid for wedding presents? These friends know my sister only slightly but they are close friends of my husband and me, who are by the way in the bridal party. I would appreciate hearing from you."

Answer: There is no reason why your sister may not most properly invite these friends to her wedding, and no present could be required because of such an invitation.

Dear Abby....

Dad Has Case of Stage Fright

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I are planning a large church wedding. My parents approve, but my father flatly refuses to walk me down the aisle. He says he and Mom went to the preacher's house and got married in twenty minutes and that should be good enough for me. Anyway, the only way I can get him down the aisle is to drag him.

ABBY

"I have an older brother who says he'd do the honors, but I think that is proper only when the father of the bride is dead. Please help me. I've always dreamed of walking down the aisle on my father's arm." BRIDE TO BE.

DEAR BRIDE: Your father means well but he has a case of old-fashioned stage fright. If the combined efforts of your mother, the minister and you can't budge him, your best bet is to march down the aisle on your big brother's arm.

"DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law and I used to be the best of friends. For two years now she has ignored me. She has parties and doesn't invite me. I can't imagine what I ever did to offend her. My husband (her brother) says I should call her up and ASK her why she's mad at me and I say SHE should call ME up and tell me what I did to her. Who is right?" NOT SPEAKING.

DEAR NOT: Call HER; Time's awastin'!

"DEAR ABBY: I married a man and learned (after three children) that our marriage vows meant nothing to him. I fought against divorce for 12 years and finally gave in. He married one of the women he ran with during our marriage. I went to work (he was supposed to support me, but didn't) and paid off our house. In the meantime, his marriage blew up.

"Our children are married now (he wasn't present) and out of loneliness I let this no-good bum talk me into renting him a room in my house. He comes and goes as he pleases and sponges meals off me. He asks me to take his telephone messages. I have been doing it! Am I insane?" WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: If you were insane you wouldn't know how wrong this setup was. Get rid of him—and the sooner the better.

"DEAR ABBY: My husband is so strict with our kids that he makes me sick. He will hit them on the street—in the store, or even in the doctor's office. He don't care where he is if they get out of line. They come to me and cry about how hard he is on them and I am afraid they are getting to hate him. How can I get him to be a little more patient with them? DELLA

DEAR DELLA: Parents who punish their children publicly are both cruel and foolish. The humiliation hurts more than the blow. If you can't explain it to him, ask your family doctor to.

Rose Print Adds Romantic Touch

NEW YORK (NEA) — Possibly the nearest thing to the freshness of roses is a rose print. The girl who wears it takes on some of the dewy look of the rose and some of the beauty, too.

Though the rose print imparts a cool and fragile look, the truth is that the modern rose prints are very hardy. They resist creases, press easily and turn out looking fresh and pretty as ever.

The 1958 rose print gets touches of velvet or satin to enhance its essentially romantic air. These come in the form of belts, cuffs, collars or piping.

Ives St. Laurent No Sophisticate

Adele Simpson, back from a whirlwind trip to Europe to visit her son Jeff in the U. S. Army in Frankfurt, Germany and a quick peek at the Paris doings, reports that being the fashion sensation of the world has not made a society sophisticate out of young Ives St. Laurent.

The evening after Mrs. Simpson had had a grave and formalized meeting with the youthful designer at Dior, she spotted him, in a standard leather cyclist jacket, dining in a tiny Left Bank bistro with his younger sister who wore a bubushka and the Parisian version of standard bobby-soxer clothes.

Jukeboxes Mar Peace of England

LONDON (INS) — Don't be surprised to find that Britain is not all old-world tradition when you come to visit this summer.

Among the recent cultural imports from the new world are thousands of reconditioned American jukeboxes now being installed in British pubs and cafes at record clip.

Of some 7,000 jukeboxes currently registered in the United Kingdom, 3,000 were installed in the past 12 months. The majority are reconditioned American models.

Most of the remainder are American boxes produced in England under license.

British manufacturers explain that the U. S. was so far ahead in this field after the war, that it was cheaper to pay royalties than to start from scratch and try to compete.

Common Figure Fault

Bulge on Thighs Can Be Eliminated

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I used to think that the world was made up of hips and abdomens because so many letters come to me asking for slimming exercises for those spots. However, I am beginning to believe that thighs are running them a race.

Try this for a bulge on your thighs: Bend the left knee about a third of the way down and straighten the right leg out in front of you, sole of foot touching the floor. Make a circle with the right toe. As you move backward in the circle your left knee straightens.

A letter before me says, "Dear Mrs. Lowman, I have a nice figure except for my thighs. I want you to know that I am not exaggerating my condition. I am not overweight and my hips, waist and bust, are in good proportion, but the bulges on my thighs stick out like balloons.

"You know the spot I mean. Most women have a little bulge on the outer sides of their upper legs. I even went to see a doctor. I really thought that I had a growth there. He laughed at me but said, 'The accumulation of fat on your thighs is most unusual, though. I don't blame you for wanting to do something about it.' He suggested that I get some exercises so I am writing you."

As I have said before this figure fault is due to a sag or laxness in the muscles and to fatty deposits. Also our glandular system plays a part in the distribution of our body weight.

Exercise will improve this condition greatly. Try this one. Stand with the left side toward the wall. Place the left hand on the wall for support. Bend the left knee about a third of the way down and straighten the right leg out in front of you, sole of foot touching the floor.

Make a circle with the right toe (right knee stiff). All body weight is on the left foot. Make your circle with the right foot moving sideward away from the body and backward and then to place. As you move backward in the circle your left knee straightens.

Circle smoothly with the left leg for a while, bending the left knee partway as you extend your right leg forward. After a time turn your right side toward the wall, place your right hand on the wall and make circles with your left leg.

If you would like to have my exercise routine for the thighs, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 4. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Sandals Told Man's Status in Old Egypt

In ancient Egypt it wasn't clothes that proclaimed the man. It was his shoes.

Historical data reveals that a man of rank in the time of the Pharaohs would be followed by a servant carrying a pair of sandals.

Whenever the master felt he needed them, he would stop, beckon to the servant, and be helped into his sandals.

In the presence of a superior, even a man of rank removed his shoes.

In the presence of the Pharaoh himself, only the ruler was permitted to wear sandals — the only footwear known to have existed at that time.

The tenth annual exhibit of the Pontiac Society of Artists will open Sunday at Adah Shelly Library. Local painter Mrs. Russel Foukes (left) strokes a brilliant hue on a picture she is completing for display while Mrs. Bernard Seiber (standing) and Mrs. Thomas Speers observe the procedure.

Local Artists Slate 10th Exhibit Sunday

Adah Shelly Branch Library will be the setting for the 10th annual exhibit of the Pontiac Society of Artists opening Sunday.

A reception will be held from 2 to 7 p.m., and members will be present to greet friends and interested viewers. The exhibit will feature sculpture and pictures in various art media and will be open to the public throughout the following week.

The society is an outgrowth of free adult art classes, held evenings in the Pontiac City Library several years ago.

In 1946, city librarian Adah Shelly, having noted the popularity of books pertaining to art, offered the use of a room in the library for adult art classes. Eighteen members enrolled, and classes were conducted there all that winter under the leadership of J. Haft Gould, Pontiac artist.

The following summer the society was formed with 11 members and Mrs. L. L. Sterling as first president. The classes continued in the library throughout the winters of 1946 and 1947.

Then Mrs. Sterling converted her basement into a studio, and offered it to the society for class use. Mr. Gould still conducts classes there.

The first exhibit was held in June 1948, with 19 exhibits. The present display will have well over 100 entries from the present membership of 43.

The judges for the exhibit will be Anna Werbe of the Werbe Art Galleries, Detroit; Franklin Page of the Detroit Institute of Art; and William House, a Detroit artist. Awards will be made Saturday.

Over 100 entries from the artist group's present membership of 43 will be featured at the exhibit. A painting by Mrs. John McCulloch (extreme left) which will be shown at the library has captured the interest of Mrs. Paul Merideth (center), president of the society, and Mrs. Ben W. Badenoch.

True Home Reflects Family Personality

By RUTH MILLETT

"Let the whole house proclaim your individuality," one of the magazines on home decorating urges its readers.

American women can't be told that too often, for a lot of Papa's hard-earned cash today is going into expensive ranch-style houses that somehow end up looking like a series of furniture store display rooms.

And all because Mama is so afraid of being herself. When she starts furnishing a new home she runs around asking for ideas and color schemes, instead of decorating her home around her own and her family's ideas and interests and personal preferences—and the family's heritage from the past.

These timid souls get rid of Papa's easy chair and replace it with one that is neither comfortable nor inviting — just because they are afraid to try to "work in" the used and well-loved things they have with their new pieces.

They hide away in built-ins all the things that would make Junior's room distinctly his own, while striving to make it look like a picture of a "boy's" room — as visualized by some magazine or furniture store.

LET ROOM SPEAK

What they forget is that all it takes to make Junior's room look like a boy's room is to let Junior have his proudest possessions out in plain sight.

They toss out the old for the new, instead of blending the two together in a way that gives their homes a personal, warm, friendly, "we kept it because we like it" look.

The only jarring note in a great many such homes is the fact that the home could belong to ANYBODY.

But that, of course, is the most jarring note of all. For it forever keeps a house from looking like a home.

But 96 Pct. Would Fight if Attacked

'All Would Lose in Modern War,' Say Teens

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Should we wage a preventive war against Russia?

Not on your life — or anyone else's — say 79 per cent of the nation's teenagers.

Today's high schoolers, who undoubtedly would be tomorrow's fighting men in event of war, insist that regardless of the world situation the United States should never assume the role of aggressor.

Many of those opposed to preventive war cited our historic position of waiting for the enemy to strike the first blow before going to war as evidenced by Pearl Harbor, sinking of the Maine and the Lusitania.

The slim 21 per cent in favor of waging a preventive war against Russia felt that today's mass destruction weapons gave a decided if not conclusive advantage to the attacker. The thought was, in general, that whoever gets off the first hydrogen bomb haymaker is bound to win by a quick knockout.

Time also was a major factor to the preventive war proponents.

Perhaps the major objection that most teenagers we contacted in 21 cities across the land had to a preventive war concerned the outcome of such a war.

COULD WE WIN?

Could we win a war against Russia today?

This question on our survey submitted to more than 750 youngsters, brought some surprising answers.

The generation that may have to do the fighting is not at all sure how things would come out.

Only 33 per cent thought the United States would emerge victorious from a war with Russia if it were fought today.

Does this mean they think Russia would win?

Again, the answers were surprising.

Only 23 per cent thought Russia would win.

The rest, who constituted just a shade less than the majority of the whole survey group, felt that in the age of push button missile warfare nobody would win and mankind would be the loser.

Analyzing this group, 13 per cent thought a war between Russia and the United States would end in stalemate, with both sides afraid to unwrap their hydrogen warheads and content to struggle endlessly for "limited objectives."

The biggest group feared that any encounter between the United States and Russia would result in total destruction of the world.

Russia's sputniks, intercontinental ballistic missiles and recently concluded atomic tests weighed heavily with those who thought the United States would be an out-and-out loser if the cold war ever boiled over into a major test of the world's two greatest military powers.

FIGHT IF ATTACKED

What if we are attacked? Should we fight then?

Definitely, answered 96 per cent of the teenagers, seemingly ignoring their previous sentiments about who would win and the possibility of world destruction.

But what if one of our allies is attacked? Should we go to war with Russia in their defense?

Teenagers were far from certain about what to do in this case. It depended, they seemed to indicate, on which ally was involved.

If it were Canada, 92 per cent were willing to go to war in her behalf.

If it were Japan or Iran, the war party dwindled to 43 per cent, with 52 per cent decidedly opposed. The rest, 5 per cent, didn't know what to think.

If it were Finland, which has fought Russia once before in modern times, only 33 per cent were in favor of going to her assistance and a whopping 67 per cent preferred sitting this one out.

The main objection to aiding Finland seemed to be her proximity to the Russian mainland.

Supermarket Traffic Has Its Hazards, Too

CHICAGO (INS) — If you want to save time in the supermarket, use the courtesy of the road.

Watch the signs, let the other shopper go first and watch intersections, urges a New York food brokerage firm after a survey of 1,000 supermarket clerks.

BARREL UP AISLES

The clerks said women barrel up to intersections in supermarket aisles without watching "other drivers." The result: Traffic jams with locked carts and deadlocked tempers that take minutes before some one gives in. One supermarket manager clocked one "collision" at seven minutes.

Checking out the groceries could be a lot faster, the supermarket employes agreed, if women with small loads would notice the signs indicating lines for only two or three items—or stop changing their minds. But they don't.

Instead, women with a few groceries ask others with full baskets to step aside and, the clerks said, the ibevitable result is a lot of talk and time wasted.

Or one woman will hold up a whole line while she dashes back into the aisles for items she has either forgotten or decided to exchange.

Some clerks sighed for the day when all grocery shopping will be done by men. As one puts it, "Men have much better shopping manners."

Change hat trimming to match some part of your costume color. Bands, flowers and pins can be coordinated in this way.

Do-it-yourself trimmings on hats are a fad for sports fans. The same hat changes from day to day, as bands, flowers and pins are added to match some part of the costume color or fabric. This amusing manner of dressing is tops now.

Soap and Water Combat Infection

A panel of hospital experts recently decided that surgeons should scrub harder with soap and water.

It's soap-and-water scrubbing that combats infection. Clean hands, clean clothing, clean surgical instruments are essential.

Whether it's at home or in a hospital, cleanliness is just as important.

Don't put all your faith in drugs with fancy names. They help, certainly. But the old-fashioned scrub-up is still the best health insurance you could buy.

Rubber Shelving Lines Catch-All

A good idea is to line a big box with rubber shelf cushioning that comes by the yard.

Then set this at the back door or basement entrance as a catch-all for wet rubbers, boots and umbrellas.

* * *

The shelving comes in a variety of colors — red, yellow, pink, turquoise — and the stuff is so easy to clean. Just go over it with a sudsy cloth—that's all!

Equip Kitchen With 2 Kinds of Terry Towels

Here's a handy tip — use inexpensive kitchen towels made of terrycloth. Because they quickly soak up lots of water, they are efficient for drying china, glassware, and silverware.

It will pay you to keep adequate supplies of two types of terries in the kitchen — one size or color for wiping dishes, and another size or color for wiping your hands.

* * *

Why carry snapshots or photos in your wallet if they can't be seen because the plastic protectors are soiled?

To keep plastic picture "windows" clean and clear, wipe them often with a sudsy cloth.

Wind it over a silver knife to reach inside each transparent picture slot where dust collects. Rinse with clear water and wipe with a lintless cloth.

New Fabric Developed 'Passport' Travels Well

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — The traveling gal, global variety, gets some wardrobe help from a new fabric called "passport."

This durable featherweight material is spot cleanable with soap and water, and refuses to hold a wrinkle.

Developed by a big San Francisco fashion house, "passport" makes its first appearance in a spring suit.

The new brief jacket, button over-collar and permanently pleated skirt come in a style-wise traveler's favorite neutrals — beige, gray and blue.

Other packable light Italian silk tweeds and French worsteds herald spring in simply tailored suits with "stand-away" necklines and short, slightly bloused jackets.

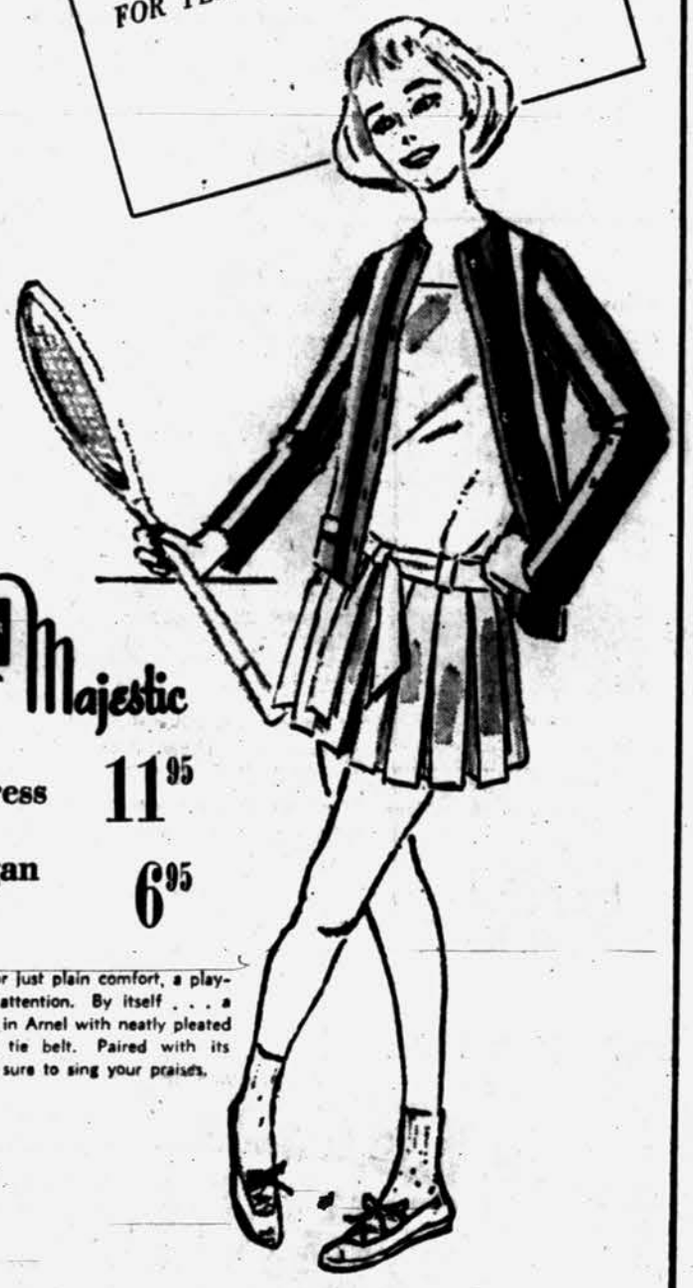

A removable bolero with dyed-to-match, or contrast, fur trim turns the outfit into a dressy ensemble. Fluffy fox dyed pale blue edges one bride's suit of the same delicate shade.

Featherweights also dominate the coat collection — sheer tweeds, flannels and cashmere blends in straight and narrow lines.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

"Otto Graham is now biting the hand which provided his bread and butter for 12 years."

This is the way Edwin J. Anderson, president of the Detroit Lions feels about the former Cleveland Brown quarterback.

"There is animosity growing toward Graham for the things he is now doing and saying," said Anderson.

Graham testified in the Kilroy case which was a lawsuit brought about by the Philadelphia Eagles' player against a national publication.

Frank Kilroy sued the magazine for couple hundred thousands dollars for printing a story about him in which he was pictured playing some dirty football.

Kilroy received $11,600 which allowed very little for himself after court costs, but Graham openly made statements about how dirty football was in the pro leagues.

Even his former coach Paul Brown was highly offended by Graham's court remarks.

"BEAT HIM"—SAYS BROWN

When the Lions play the All-Stars in the annual grid classic in Chicago August 15th, Graham will be head coach of the collegians.

This prompted Paul Brown to send a note to George Wilson and Lions. "Beat him," Brown wrote.

Much of the irate atmosphere toward Graham as far as the Lions are concerned probably could be pinpointed to that banquet last summer when Buddy Parker quit.

Graham said a few words which had many of the players boiling after making insinuations about the need for fines because of night life activity during training season.

"These guys would go broke if they were fined like Paul Brown fines the Cleveland players," said Graham.

There is no doubt that as a quarterback Graham was great, but he sure isn't gaining popularity with many of his former pro mates.

Tigers Trim Roster

Valentinetti Surprised at His Being Optioned

DETROIT (AP) — Relief pitcher Vito Valentinetti must be wondering what it takes to win a job with a .500 ball club.

And it's understandable.

The portly righthander was optioned to Charleston of the American Assn. yesterday, along with pitcher Joe Presko and outfielder Bill Taylor, as the Detroit Tigers trimmed their roster to the 25-player limit.

The pitchers were sent out on 24-hour recall; Taylor was released outright to the Triple-A club.

In eight relief stints with the Tigers, Valentinetti worked 12 innings, yielded just three earned runs, compiled a 2.25 earned run average and marked up a 1-0 record.

Like Presko and Taylor, the big reliefer knew he was on the borderline. But he saw others who had not performed as well and as the cutdown time approached, he figured he had a better-than-average chance of sticking.

A few days ago the Tigers farmed out George Spencer, who had a 1-0 record and a 2.70 ERA in seven relief jobs. Spencer was surprised, too. So was Harry Byrd when the big veteran got his walking papers during spring training. The club said Byrd was "out of shape."

Byrd was the Tigers' best right handed reliefer last year but now is pitching at Birmingham in the class AA Southern Assn.

Not long ago the Tigers called up catcher Charlie Lau from the Charleston club and the Romulus lad has been at bat only four times since. A year ago the Tigers farmed out Jim Small and the bonus youngster resporided with a .320 batting average at Charleston.

A month later he was pulled back to Detroit, and he sat on the bench for all but a few limited appearances the rest of the season. He later was traded to Kansas City.

TAKES THROW, BUT NO BALL — Detroit Tiger shortstop Billy Martin slides safely into home in the third inning as Cleveland catcher Dick Brown takes a throw which bounces out of his glove and drops on his head. Martin scored on a single by Charlie Maxwell but the Indians won the game, 9-8 in a wild contest at Briggs Stadium.

Indians' Pilot Uses 22 Players to Gain Victory

Bengals Goof Chances to Win After Losing Late Inning Lead

DETROIT (AP) — Bill Veeck had his midget and the Los Angeles Coliseum had its "Chinese" home runs, but for wild and wooly shenanigans that leave 'em limp, the Detroit Tigers and the Cleveland Indians are hard to beat.

It was a warm, sunny and normal baseball afternoon in Detroit yesterday until the ninth inning when the crowd of slightly more than 6,500 was treated to the excitement of a parade, the tension of a missle launching and the dizzy antics generally found in a zoo.

Cleveland won 9 to 8 in the contest that prompted one sports writer to remark: "I thought they wouldn't allow a circus in Briggs Stadium."

The heroes and goats were many. While the Tigers used only two extra players — both pitchers — manager Bobby Bragan used 22 players. He used eight pitchers — every able-bodied hurler on the club except Ray Narleski who is scheduled to start today's game.

"Might as well go whole-hog," said Bragan. "I used so many players the second-guessers will be too confused to question my moves."

The Tigers, who had won four straight, went into the ninth with a 6-4 lead. When starting pitcher Paul Foytack walked the first two batters, manager Jack Tighe replaced him with Tom Morgan.

Cleveland catcher Dick Brown rifled Morgan's first pitch down the left field line for a double that scored one runner and put another on third. After Chico Carrasquel grounded to second for the first out, Bragan called the injured Larry Doby to hit for the pitcher.

Tighe countered and summoned southpaw Hank Aguirre, an ex-Indian, from the bullpen to face the left-handed hitting Doby. Now it was Bragan's turn again, so he yanked J. W. Porter from the bullpen to hit for Doby.

In baseball, this is known as "strategy."

Porter, late of the Tigers, singled to right and scored the tying run. Bragan sent Billy Harrell to third base to run for Brown, and to take advantage of Harrell's speed, signalled for the squeeze play.

The batter, Roger Maris, failed to note the sign. Instead of bunting, he swung lustily and missed. The surprised Harrell found himself halfway down the third base line. Between him and home plate was Detroit catcher Jim Hegan, baseball in hand. Hegan, another ex-Cleveland player, decided to run Harrell down. The baserunner dropped to the ground on the foul line. Hegan ran over him. Harrell got up and raced across the plate.

Maris followed with a two-run home run over the right field screen. It was his second such clout of the afternoon.

Both teams promised to show up for today's encounter.

Chicago and New York Win on Good Pitching

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's been a long time coming, but the Chicago White Sox pitching staff finally has a healthy look now that Dick Donovan has won his second in a row with a neat four-hitter.

The big right-hander, who lost his first three decisions, gave up nothing but singles and had a one-hit shutout for seven last night as the White Sox made it two in a row over Kansas City 4-1.

Donovan's five-strikeout job followed an easy 9-2 victory by Early Wynn the night before and gave the White Sox staff two consecutive complete games for only the second time this season. The same pair did it a week ago against Cleveland.

The best pitching in the American League, however, still is being done by the New York Yankees. The champs gained their largest lead of the season, four games, yesterday with a 1-0 decision over Baltimore as Bob Turley (5-0) blanked the Orioles for the third straight time. It was the sixth shutout by the Yankee staff. Boston trimmed Washington, 7-5.

The White Sox, still without a victory from southpaw ace Billy Pierce, now have won five of seven, and although still in the cellar, are within two games of fourth place.

Singles by Sherm Lollar and Ron Jackson and Jim Rivera's triple scored two in the second and Lollar's sixth-inning homer made it 3-0 against loser Duke Maas (0-3). The A's counted an unearned run in the eighth on an error and two-out singles by pinch-hitter Bob Martyn and Mike Baxes.

Turley, who never had shut out the Orioles before this season, spun a four-hitter for his fifth complete game. Al Pilarcik, who singled in Turley's one-hit, 2-0 victory over Baltimore April 26, had two hits yesterday for the Orioles, who haven't scored in 23 innings.

The Yankees scored in the fifth against loser Billy O'Dell on Tony Kubek's single, an infield out and Mickey Mantle's double.

Stan Back at .500; Spahn 6-0 Already

Musial Has Cards Rolling

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hey! Look at those St. Louis Cardinals! They've swapped a seven-game losing string for a seven-game winning streak, hustling out of the National League cellar to fifth place—the highest they've been since opening day.

They made it last night, junking San Francisco's winning spurt at six games and tumbling the Giants out of first place 3-2, as Stan Musial belted back to .500 and Wilmer "Vinegar Bend" Mizell blanked Willie Mays with a four-hitter.

The Milwaukee Braves regained the NL lead, beating Philadelphia 4-1 as Warren Spahn became the first to win six in the majors. The persistent Pittsburgh Pirates jumped past the Giants into second, hanging up their second six-game streak of the year with a 5-4 decision over Cincinnati.

The Chicago Cubs, who had lost seven straight, beat Los Angeles 7-3. The Dodgers now have lost six in a row for the first time since 1950.

The Cardinals were 8½ games behind when they started the about-face, just as they were a year ago in May when they won 21 of their next 28 games and took the NL lead.

This streak hasn't been easy. They've won five by one run, the other pair by two. And they've had to come from behind in the last five.

Musial, honored before the game by 18,361 fans and NL President Warren Giles for his 3,000th hit at Chicago Tuesday, made his 3,001st a home run that tied it 1-all in the first. The Man was 3-for-4.

The Cards trailed 2-1 after three, then handed Johnny Antonilli his third defeat when Don Blasingame doubled home two unearned runs in the fifth. All the Giants' hits were doubles, two by Daryl Spencer, as Vinegar Bend won his second. Mays, with seven homers and a .706 average for four games, was 0-for-4, but scored in the first when he hit into a force out, stole second and then came home on catcher Hal Smith's error as he stole third.

Spahn, like Musial an old pro of 37, gave up five singles, walked three and fanned seven for his 230th victory in the majors. He also started two doubleplays and tripled home a run. Del Crandall and Johnny Logan homered off loser Ray Semproch (3-3) in the second and third. The Phils scored in the fifth on a walk and singles by Chico Fernandez and pinch-hitter Chuck Essegian.

Vern Law (5-1) won his fifth straight as the Bucs moved within .013 points of Milwaukee. Ex-Redleg Ted Kluszewski and Bob Skinner each had two doubles and a single, and figured in the first three runs as Charlie Rabe lost his second in relief of ex-Buc Bob Purkey. Ed Bailey hit his first homer, a two-run shot, for the Reds, who have lost five in a row. Jim Brosnan (3-3) beat the Dodgers with a five-hitter and had a one-hit shutout for five. Peewee Reese hit a two-run homer in the sixth for LA, but Lee Walls, 3-for-3 triggered a four-run Cub seventh with his 11th homer, tops in the NL. Carl Erskine, first of five LA pitchers, lost it.

Ex-Southern Champs to Tangle at Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Champions meet today in the top match of the Women's Southern golf tournament quarter-finals as Clifford Ann Creed, the college co-ed seeking her second straight title, clashes with Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, the 1956 queen.

Of almost equal star billing will be the battle of Polly Riley of Fort Worth, five times champion of this tournament, and Frances Rich of Bainbridge, Ga., once Texas state titlist.

In other quarter-final matches Mrs. Maurice Glick, the Maryland state champion from Baltimore, plays Janice Phelps of Atlanta and Sherry Wheeler, 17-year-old high school girl of Glasgow, Ky., who produced the first big upset of the tournament, tackles Mrs. Mary Ann Reynolds of Albany, Ga., the Georgia state champion.

State Title Prelims at Ypsi

Chiefs Seek Sixth Crown

Led by the Ypsilanti MHSAA regional track champions, PCH's Chiefs, Oakland County prep thinclads Saturday invade at least two trial meets, leading to qualification for the big state tests a week hence at Ann Arbor (A and C), and East Lansing (B-D). Pontiac is defending MHSAA champion.

Chiefs, at full strength, face a stiff test at Eastern Michigan College field in defense of their 1957 title, and in quest of their sixth straight regional crown. Inkster, with Keyser in the sprints, may prove the strongest opposition.

Birmingham will be at U. of D. A regional; Waterford, Farmington, Walled Lake at Ypsilanti; Berkley, Southfield, and Ferndale are also in the U. of D. meet.

Dean Wilson will take a full squad to Ypsilanti. Selection of his starters will be made on a time-trial basis today.

Unbeaten Bob Manning in the dashes and his running mate, Joe Hill will be hard to beat. State mile champ Rog Coats and half mile king, Larry Beamer, switching their events (Beamer in the mile, Coats in the 880) have hit record times in several meets, are favored again. Slight Charley Barge and Fred Brooks, who have either won or shared the top spot in the high jump, round out the Chiefs' top contenders, along with Danny Sowell and Jim Hawkins in the hurdles. Jim Keller in broad jump and relays is another leading PCH athlete. Bill Pritchett has been coming as a 440 man.

Maples' Bill Alcorn looms as a real contender for state vault honors, while Chuck Gibson is highly rated in the shot. Both should win at U. of D. Maples' overall strength makes them the favorites in that meet.

Chicago, Athletic Hurlers Warned 'About 'Dusters'

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Plate umpire Frank Umont stopped play in the fifth inning of last night's Chicago-Kansas City game and summoned Managers Al Lopez and Harry Craft.

"I want both pitchers to quit that type of pitching," he said sternly. "I won't tolerate it."

Duke Maas of the Athletics had just dusted off Chicago's Bubba Phillips with a high, hard one. The inning before that, Dick Donovan of the Sox did the same to Bob Cerv.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

Patient's Complaint: Wild, Off-Center Hits

Diagnosis: Overswinging

TREATMENT: Golfers trying for extra distance sometimes take the club back too far on the backswing. This can lead to all sorts of trouble.

To achieve accuracy and to hit the ball solid, be sure you sense the position of the clubhead at all times. You must, so to speak, be able to follow the clubhead with the mind's eye. But when you take the club back farther than you should, you're only complicating the problem.

Also, you must keep a firm grip on the club with your left hand throughout the swing if you're going to hit the ball as you should. A very long backswing adds to this problem too because. the farther you take the club back, the harder it is to hold on firmly with your left hand.

Most players should take the club back no farther than the point at which the shaft becomes parallel with the ground and points straight to the target. Some players can take it back a bit farther than that and get good results. But they're the exceptions.

4 U.S. Cities Bid

TOKYO (INS) — A United States Olympic official disclosed Wednesday night that at least four American cities — Detroit, Chicago, Philadelphia and Los Angeles — are in the running for the 1964 Olympic games.

But he added that the U.S. Olympic committee will permit only one of them to make a formal bid to the International Olympic Committee, challenging Tokyo.

Douglas F. Roby, Ypsilanti, Mich., a member of the IOC, aid the U.S. Olympic Committee—of which he is vice president—will meet June 8 or 9 in New York to name one American city from the field.

So far, Tokyo is the only formal applicant for the 18th games. The Japanese government, playing host to the IOC's 54th congress in Tokyo this week, delivered its bid to IOC president Avery Brundage.

Roby said that of the four American cities, Los Angeles may rate the poorest chance of getting the nod from the U.S. committee because it played host to the 1932 Olympics.

Among the others, he said, it's anybody's guess. He noted that the four cities may be joined by Minneapolis in competition for the Olympic honor.

Roby said the biggest problem facing the U.S. cities is construction of facilities. A 100,000-seat stadium would cost around $15,000,000," he said.

It's getting about that time when the various league and regional events come up in three high school spring sports. Such competition is on a do-or-die basis with past records having no bearing on the outcome.

A track, golf or tennis team can atone for a dismal regular season by winning the state, regional or even its league meet. The same is true in reverse. A team that has been overpowering every foe can blow it all with a sub par performance in these crucial events.

Time will tell for teams in this sector with several dates right around the corner and some already gone by. The Oakland B track meet last night followed the Saginaw Valley and others in that sport held recently.

Next on the agenda will be the state golf regionals. Schools in the Oakland County area will compete at Brighton and Flint Central tomorrow. Saturday will be track regional day with defending champion Pontiac heading the "A" and "C" entries at Ypsilanti. Others in the area will be at Ann Arbor, the University of Detroit, Marysville and Fitzgerald High.

The Inter - Lakes golf meet comes up Monday and that loop's track teams battle May 21 at Farmington, the same day of the 1st Tri-County track battle at Romeo. The Wayne - Oakland golf tourney is the next day at Meadowbrook. More important dates will be listed next Thursday.

SKIPPING AROUND

Clarkston hurling star Dave Gaddis has struck out 110 batters in 60 innings while allowing only four earned runs, 28 hits and 15 walks . . . St. Frederick will have the same football coaching staff—Gene Wright, Tom Kennedy and Tony Pizza . . . Left field fence at Flint Central a slugger's dream.

Pontiac Jayvee hurdler Bob Howze, young Waterford pole vault specialist Tim Goff, and Bloomfield Hills freshman Barry Wickstrom may be future track stars . . . Hustling Oxford outfielder Jeff Brady cut off three Ortonville rallies with sparkling catches Monday.

Pontiac Central golfers should be strong in future with only two seniors currently playing and the lower classmen improving all the time . . . Marty Koenig will have 11 sports letters to his credit when he graduates from St. Fred next month. He won them in football, basketball and baseball.

Teenagers Compete Today in ABC Event

The American Junior Bowling Congress was to stage a special tournament this afternoon for 144 teenagers — 72 boys and 72 girls—from the Syracuse area.

Tournament bowling will resume tonight. There were no changes in any of the tournament's five divisions as a result of the action yesterday.

St. Fred Golfers Nip Vikings by 4 Strokes

Joe Keller's 40 and a 41 for Frank Paiopoli sparked the St. Frederick golfers to a 169-173 verdict over Walled Lake at the Municipal Golf Course yesterday.

Bob Young of the losers matched Keller with 40. Jim Agne followed with 42. The Rams now have an 8-3 record.

Mrs. Fox Is WMGA Winner in Playoff

Mrs. Charles Fox sank an eight-foot putt on the 3rd extra hole to defeat Mrs. Bruce Hilkene in a playoff for low gross honors in the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association tournament Wednesday at Bald Mountain.

A missed eight-inch putt on the 18th green cost Mrs. Fox the chance to win the tourney in regulation distance. Mrs. Fox fired 43-42—85 for 18 holes while Mrs. Hilkene carded 44-41—85.

Mrs. Joseph Koss finished 3rd with 43-43—86. Mrs. W. D. Wright was the low net winner with 91-14—77.

Memphis Event Has 102 Entries

Middlecoff Is Favored in $20,000 Hometown Invitational

MEMPHIS (AP) — With hometown boy Cary Middlecoff the general favorite, many of the nation's top pro golfers teed off today in the opening round of the $20,000 Memphis Invitational.

Middlecoff, one of the old guard pros, practically cut his teeth on Memphis golf courses and has often ruined par at the 6,423-yard 34-36—70 Colonial Country Club course.

But there was plenty of competition. The 91 pros in the field included seven of the year's top money players — Arnold Palmer, Ken Venturi, Doug Ford, Frank Stranahan, Jay Hebert, Fred Hawkins and Art Wall Jr.

Venturi, a San Francisco flash, burned up the back nine with a 4-under-par 32 during his practice round. He figured the winner will have to fire 273 for the 72-hole medal play tournament. That's seven under par.

Eleven amateurs were among the 102 opening day players, with the field to be slashed to the low 60 and ties tomorrow.

WEDNESDAY'S FIGHTS
CHICAGO—Sonny Liston, 204, Philadelphia stopped Julio Mederos, 196, Havana, 2.
MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay—Eder Joffre, Brazil, and Ruben Caceres, Uruguay, drew in 10. (featherweights)

New Unofficial '500' Record

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A California driver, Ed Elisian of Oakland, in a California car, built by A. J. Watson of Glendale, unofficially broke the Indianapolis Motor Speedway one lap record yesterday.

The 200-pound Elisian drove the No. 5 Zink Special around the 2½-mile track at 146.914 miles an hour by electric timer. The official record, set in the 1956 time trials for the 500-mile race, is 146.056 by Pat Flaherty of Chicago.

Then a little later Elisian took the car back around the oval and unofficially cracked the four-lap mark as well. His average for the 10 miles was 145.772 m.p.h., whereas Flaherty's 1956 record was 145.596.

The first of four days of qualifications for the race May 30 will be held Saturday.

Old Spitball Ace Walsh Honored

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Big Ed Walsh, the old Chicago White Sox pitcher, made what may be his last public appearance here last night at a testimonial dinner marking his 77th birthday.

The old spitballer, ill with cancer and confined to a wheel chair, was honored by more than 200 baseball personalities and fans as the climax of "Ed Walsh Day" in Fort Lauderdale.

Mayor John V. Russell presented him a key to the city and he received a scroll from the Ed Walsh Little League in his old home town of Meriden, Conn. Walsh now lives in nearby Pompano Beach.

Big Ten to Canada

REGINA (AP) — Bob McKeiver, a halfback for Northwestern in the Big Ten Conference the last two years, has signed a contract with Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, club manager Ken Preston announced today.

Clawson Oakland 'B' Track King, Skippers Win

Clawson won the Oakland B championship despite four 1sts by Lake Orion's Jim Drake, Waterford, Farmington, Bloomfield Hills and Orchard Lake St. Mary also posted big victories in area track events yesterday.

Cranbrook upset Hamtramck in tennis 4-3 but bowed to Flint Central in baseball 11-2 in other prep action.

Record showings by John Volk and the medley relay team led Clawson to seven 1sts and 76 1-6 points in a night meet watched by 500 fans at Fitzgerald. Orion had 46 1-6, Troy 34 5-12, Avondale 28 2-3, Fitzgerald 14 7-12 and Madison 1.

Volk tied the high hurdles mark in 16.2, also won the lows and helped the relay team set its meet record in 2:41.6. Roger Mollencopf took the shot put and 440 for the victors.

Drake garnered 20 points with triumphs in the 220, broad jump, pole vault and 100. His 22.8 time in the 220 set a record. The other new mark was established by Avon's Dick Hutchinson's 4:44 mile. High jumper Ray Goforth had the other Avondale 1st.

Hurdle ace Bill Cole and John Keating paced Waterford to its 8th dual triumph in nine starts. The Skippers whipped Walled Lake 67-42. Viking Frank Fink was the top individual with 16¼ points. He took the 100, 220 and pole vault and ran a leg on 880 relay team.

Farmington walloped Southfield 75 2-3 to 33 1-3 powered by Warren Cawley's 16 points. Dewey Nichols had two 1sts and Frank Clappison set a new school shot put record at 44 feet, ¼ inch to spark the Falcons. Southfield won three events.

An 880 relay triumph enabled Bloomfield Hills to edge Clarkston 51½ to 40¼ while Clarenceville had 35¼ in a triangular. Barry Armstrong (mile—4:51.4) and Barry Wickstrom (shot—42 feet, 2 inches) set new BHHS records among nine winners. Russ Soffredine won both hurdles to take half of Clarkston's 1sts.

Orchard Lake led all the way to win a quadrangular at the University of Detroit. The Eaglets totaled 79 1-10 points, 11¾ by Andy Zambrzycki, Detroit Austin had 61 1-5, Dearborn Sacred Heart 21 7-10 and Redford St. Mary 21. Joe Waluk broke the school shot put record for the locals with a heave of 51 feet, 6¼ inches.

Bob Schultz, Ossie Jacobsen and Bill McQuilkin played key roles as Cranbrook improved its tennis record to 5-4. The Crane baseballers contributed seven errors to 10 Flint Central hits. Andy Billesdon was the loser. The season record is 6-4.

Hurler's Night in Softball

It was mostly a pitcher's night in City League softball action Wednesday with Shaw's Jewelers bouncing into the victory column and the VFW, Blue Star Drive-In and Griff's Grill winning their season openers.

After dropping their season opener to Stadium Inn, Jewelers rebounded for a 3-1 triumph over Elks No. 810 at North Side Park behind the two-hit pitching of Pere McConner. Lynus Grant gave up four hits in defeat.

Fred Koneshis hurled six-hit ball as the VFW defeated Cavern Bar, 3-1, and Gene Mayer limited CIO Local 594 to half a dozen safeties in a 4-1 victory for Blue Star in the twin bill at Beaudette Park.

Griff's won the opener at North Side, a 9-8 verdict over Borden's in eight innings. The losers enjoyed an 11-8 hitting edge, but pitcher Ken Fall's wild pitch in the bottom of the 8th enabled Algie Black to race home from 3rd with the deciding run.

Ontario Lakes Full

Pickerel in Abundance

It's open season for pickerel on Ontario's lakes and rivers today and thousands of Canadian and U.S. anglers should find an abundance of this North American native.

But only six can be taken a day unless sportsmen aim to angle for the more elusive blue pickerel of Lake Erie for which the limit is 35 a day.

Yellow pickerel, known as dore, pike-perch and walleye pike, is a favorite game fish across Canada and is such a prolific spawner that the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests stopped planting their fry in lakes and rivers three years ago.

Today only three hatcheries are maintained.

"Two or three females can spawn as many eggs as we can lay so it's hardly worthwhile carrying out the operation on a large scale," said Dr. H. H. MacKay of the department's fish and wildlife division.

Stocks Rebound From Retreat

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market recovered from a slight early retreat and showed a firmer tone with prices mixed early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Wall Street took in stride the news of Russia's huge new Sputnik III. Some aircrafts improved gradually but the group as a whole was irregular.

Industrials were slightly ahead on average, but leading rails were irregular with a downside leaning. Utilities showed little change.

Gains and losses of key stocks were from fractions to about a point. Most changes were small.

American Motors continued in demand and recovered fractionally from its 1⅝ loss of yesterday. Chrysler also was quite active and rose a point as Wall Street continued to bandy rumors about its possible entrance into the low-price, economy-car field.

State Legislature Ready to Close

Jobless Pay Issue May Cause Solons to Call May or June Sessions

LANSING (AP) — State lawmakers returned today to wind up 1958 business with jobless pay and a couple of thorny spending issues heading a skimpy agenda.

On how these questions were resolved apparently depended a decision whether officially to close up shop on Friday or recess for further sessions late in May or in June.

Majority Republicans cast about for some basis of agreement that would permit quick action on emergency extension of unemployment compensation benefits to workers who have exhausted them.

Some, at least, felt increasingly concerned about the need for prying loose a pending bill on the subject, bottled up for weeks in the Senate Appropriations Committee.

As lawmakers gathered, Michigan unemployment was estimated at 465,000. Exhaustees were nearing 70,000, and by one estimate stood to shoot up to 135,000 by early fall.

Wrapped up in remaining money disputes were a possible cutback of 100 men in the State Police force, and torpedoing of plans for construction of a new Boys Vocational School at Whitmore Lake.

Speaker George M. Van Peursem and Rep. Walter G. Nakkula (R-Gladwin), House Labor Committee chairman, were in the forefront of a move to ease restrictions in the so-called Faulkner jobless pay plan which is pending in the Senate.

* * *

Grain Futures Holding Steady

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices held around steady today in early Board of Trade dealings. After a moderately active start, trade slowed considerably and at times was near a standstill.

As in the recent past sessions, commercial influences again were slow or absent. The United Kingdom was reported to have bought a small amount of corn, but no export wheat business was noted.

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was ¼ higher to ⅛ lower, May $2.20¼; corn ⅛ higher to ¼ lower, May $1.26½; oats unchanged to ¼ higher, May 64¼; rye ⅝ higher to ⅛ lower, May $1.34½; soybeans unchanged to ⅝ lower, May $2.25; lard 5 cents a hundred pounds higher to 7 cents lower, May $12.90.

Waterford Residents Protest Rezoning

Several Waterford Township residents were present at last night's zoning board meeting protesting the proposed rezoning of six lots in the Ideal Country Club Subdivision from residential to commercial, and the project was tabled for further study.

The property is located on Williams Lake road and borders Sunderland and Sunshine streets. The lots are 31 through 36 in block number 25 of the subdivision.

In other business, a petition to rezone a lot on Cooley Lake near Williams Lake roads from residential to commercial was filed by Claude Ward of 7770 Cooley Lake Rd. He would like to build an electrical retail appliance store on the property, and a hearing date has been set for the next regular meeting in June.

Production of Autos Highest in 6 Weeks

DETROIT (AP)—The nation's car factories will build 86,600 cars this week, highest volume in six weeks, Automotive News reported today. The total will compare with 78,586 assemblies last week and 127,399 in the like 1957 week.

Truck output this week is placed at 16,775 units against 17,343 last week and 23,061 in the same week a year ago.

Automotive News puts Canadian output this week at 9,440 cars and trucks, compared with 9,744 last week and 11,960 in the same week a year ago.

The trade paper noted that a few Chrysler Corp. plants were on five day operations this week and that General Motors, Ford and American Motors increased output to account for the advance in U. S. production.

Sanford Carpet Division to Be Closed This Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co. will discontinue Sanford Carpet Division at the end of this year.

Lowell P. Weiker, president, said the move will permit cost savings and permit concentration on the Bigelow Rugs and Carpet Division. Sanford carpets are sold to wholesale distributors while the Bigelow line is sold directly to retailers.

Wholesale Food Prices Up 5 Cents for Week

NEW YORK (AP)—Wholesale food prices, as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet Inc. index, turned up this week after a four-week decline.

At $6.62 the index was five cents higher than a week ago and up 8.9 per cent from the year-ago week's $6.8. The year's high was $6.74 in the week ended April 18.

DSR Boosting Express Fares 60 Per Cent

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Street Railway Commission is setting up a new zone-fare system boosting rates as much as 60 per cent for all 15 DSR express coach lines.

Patrons now paying 25 cents for express rides within the city will pay an additional five cents after May 26 to ride beyond the first zone into the second zone and an additional 10 cents to ride beyond the second zone.

The maximum charge under the zone system for lines operating beyond the city limits will be 45 cents.

The zone-fares, announced yesterday, followed a report that the system had a net loss of $35,917 for April and a loss of $682,708 for the first 10 months of the current fiscal year.

Curtice Rejects Tax Proposals

GM President Renews Support of Reduction, Repeal of Excise Levy

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—President Harlow Curtice of General Motors Corp. today rejected two Senate-proposed revisions in the excise tax on automobiles, but renewed support of outright repeal or reduction.

The federal levy is 10 per cent. It was enacted in World War II to discourage purchases and supply revenue.

However justified as a war or national defense emergency measure, Curtice said, the excise tax has outlived its usefulness. He termed it discriminatory.

Curtice joined L. L. Colbert, Chrysler Corp. President, and Henry Ford II in rejecting downward revisions proposed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) and Paul Douglas (D-Ill).

Kefauver wrote chiefs of the auto industry's Big Three asking their views on the revisions and also on outright repeal.

Kefauver's bill would refund half the tax provided the manufacturer submitted proof that he passed the reduction on to the purchaser.

Douglas' bill would slice the tax from 10 to 2½ per cent provided manufacturers reduced prices six per cent.

Curtice told Kefauver his refund plan would create problems involving the manufacturer, the dealer and the customer, and added that in operation it would be discriminatory against the automobile industry.

* * *

On Douglas' tax-price cut proposal, Curtice told Kefauver that prices in the automobile industry reflect competition which is intense and ever present, and that prices necessarily have also been governed by rising cost trends.

Hourly wages, including fringe benefits, have risen from $1.55 to $3.01 in the last 10 years, Curtice said.

He termed Douglas' proposal neither sound economically nor practicable, and said it would amount to government price control.

Sylvan Council OKs $108,294 Budget

The Sylvan Lake Council last night adopted a $108,294 operating budget for 1958-59, and announced it would be supported by a full, 20 mill property tax levy for the fourth consecutive year.

The budget is $1,066 less than last year's.

"Due to decreases in state-shared revenues, such as the sales tax, four services will probably be trimmed this year slightly," City Manager Louis G. Barry said in his budget message.

The 20 mills for operating expenses is expected to raise $51,481, Barry said. In addition, he said, the city will continue to spread three special levies, 1.6 mills for garbage disposal; 2 mills for sewer debt; and 2.8 mills for water debt.

General property taxes are limited to 20 mills under the city's charter.

No details of the suits brought by Fred A. and Katherine C. Taylor, now of Blue Ridge, Ga., would be disclosed by attorneys either for the doctor or the Taylors.

The doctor said he had no comment.

Graham Pleads for Less Lust and More Love

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham called for less lust and more love last night before 14,900 in the 16,500 seat Cow Palace.

* * *

"Sensual love is lust," he said. "God gave sex for four reasons—to love properly, to set up a home, bring children and supply creative energy."

Graham, in the third week of his six-week San Francisco crusade, told a news conference that this was the fourth time in his career that he has discussed sex from the pulpit.

He called it a delicate subject but added that it was high time that ministers spoke out. "Everyone else is speaking on it," he said.

"Every phase of life is invaded by sex . . . The sex revolution is changing our society faster than any other revolution," he told the audience. He said salesmen of immoral literature do more to ruin the nation than communism.

All About Men . . . Chapter Four

Let Girl's Mom Worry After 12

'NOW, SON, IN MY DAY . . .'

By JOSEPH H. PECK, M.D.

As far as the period from 13 to 17 is concerned, no man living knows more about the adolescent boy than I, and I know nothing.

The female of the species begins to attract him, and to get her attention he borrows the courting methods of the rooster sage chicken. He struts around ignoring her presence while performing every ridiculous stunt he can think up.

At this period he is so purely masculine he won't even wash his face or comb his hair. But as he succumbs to the influence of girls, he is liable to try to remove his freckles with carbolic acid.

Girls, meanwhile, take care of the dating technique. How they tame him and put the first halter over his head is beyond his comprehension, but they do it.

When the boy begins dating, a whole new set of problems arise. My wife's philosophy is, I think, the best to tide you over this hurdle.

I awoke one midnight to find her coming to bed, although our elder son had not yet returned home.

"I refuse to worry after midnight," she said. "Let the girl's mother take it from there."

In dealing with juvenile problems I formed a wholesome respect for the natural chastity of the young male. Believe me, adolescent boys seldom are the intentional aggressors.

When 17, I visited a pal who got a date for me. We soon paired off, and since it was a moonlit summer night, my girl and I took a walk.

LET'S REST

After about a mile she suggested that we rest under a tree. I, thinking about grass stain and chiggers (nasty little insects that live in the grass and burn like fury when they burrow under the skin), hunted up a couple of rocks to sit on.

She flopped full length and suggested that I do likewise. But being on my good behavior, I sat on the rock. Besides, I hated chiggers.

Afterwards, at her front door I figured that perhaps I'd better assert myself and steal a good-night kiss. Instead of the friendly wrestle I expected, she swung one from the hip and blacked my eye good and proper.

I didn't blame her too much. After all, it was a long walk. But the evidence next day branded me as a wolf.

I said nothing to defend myself, but I did get even during ensuing years. Whenever boy-girl problems came to my office, I judged the gal guilty until proved otherwise.

FATHERS, STAND BY

A boy is really behind the eight-ball in these affairs, and if anyone should stand by him it is his father.

Although he will later in bull sessions boast of the number of gals he has seduced (while women brag about the number of Romeos they have thwarted), he won't discuss his troubles with you or anybody else. You must accordingly treat him as a man.

Some night begin your own confessional. Instead of asking him about his troubles, tell him what a ninny you were at his age. He may not open up, but at least he will laugh with you at the figure you cut, and will apply some of your solutions to his own case.

SOUL OF A POET

During adolescence your boy has the soul of a poet and the carnal appetites of a tomcat. It is inevitable that he will meet a girl who will take his puppy advances seriously and meet him more than half way.

His ideals are shattered, his idols dragged in the dust. But his mother and the girls who resist him are enshrined deeper in his heart.

Some time during the latter part of his adolescence, Pop, you should acquaint him with the fundamental differences in the mating process between the sexes.

It's natural for him to consider himself a free agent, but, as you know so well from experience, that is definitely not so when it comes to marriage.

Warn your son against early marriage, explaining that he is the quarry who mistakes himself for the hunter. The odds are against him, since he is a mouse trying to match wits with a hungry kitten.

Even if the cunning feline is not in an eating mood, she may play the game indefinitely, or at least until a fatter mouse shows up.

Tell him his flame's heart won't be broken if he escapes by fair means or even by plain running away. She doesn't expect to bag all the game flushed.

There will be plenty of time for him to think of marriage after he has been properly educated. In a few years he may be far less concerned with romance, and much more interested in picking a mate who will wear well.

Boy, 12, Knifes Piano Teacher

Quiet Music Student Chases Widow Down Little Rock Street

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A quiet, polite boy — that was the way almost everyone described 12-year-old Joe Grabher.

"An awful thing" was the way a neighbor described the boy chasing his piano teacher from her home and plunging a knife into her.

The teacher, Mrs. Kirke Killian, was dead on arrival at a Little Rock hospital yesterday.

The 64-year-old widow, who had given lessons to Joe for four years, was stabbed 19 times with a hunting knife the boy wore in a scabbard on his belt, Police Capt. A. M. Haynie said.

Police got conflicting stories.

"She got mad and hit me because I made mistakes," Joe said.

Then he said Mrs. Killian had not hit him, and later said he was not sure what had happened.

No one else was in the house.

Neighbors said they heard Mrs. Killian scream and saw her come running from the house with Joe chasing her.

"Boy, stop that!" Mrs. Bernard Kelso shouted.

Joe looked up, Mrs. Kelso said, then plunged the knife into Mrs. Killian's body.

Then he went into the house to get his music sheets and ran home to tell his parents what he had done.

Joe was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Grabher when he was 4 months old. He has won several talent contests with his singing and piano-playing.

Wheels Will Stay Down on $8 Million Bomber

Belly-Landed B52 Ready to Fly Again

WESTOVER AFB, Mass. (AP) — The first B52 atomic bomber ever successfully landed on its belly was pronounced ready to fly again today two months after its amazing escape from destruction.

But the crew planning to take the B52 off on a flight to Tinker AFB, Oklahoma City, later today, was running no chance this time with the faulty landing gear.

The wheels that failed to extend last March 11—giving Maj. C. M. Maloney, 39, Jacksonville, Ill., and his 6-man crew an uncomfortable choice between bailing out or crash-landing the 8-million dollar airplane—will remain locked in the down position for the entire flight.

At the Air Materiel Command depot at Tinker, the 8-engine global range bomber will be put through complete inspection and overhaul.

The Boeing-built 200-ton bomber, based at Loring AFB, Maine, was 8 miles above Montreal on a simulated bombing run March 11 when multiple electrical system trouble developed. It was impossible to lower the landing gear.

But Maj. Ernest Norman, Manhattan Beach, Calif., and Capt. James R. Burnett, St. Paul, Minn. navigators, plotted an accurate course to the 12,000-foot long runway at 8th Air Force Headquarters here.

Compounding the difficulty of the unprecedented B52 landing attempt was the fact that the bomber still had aboard 50,000 pounds of fuel and the airplane landing lights were out of commission.

The 600-mile-an-hour B52 touched down at more than 200 miles an hour, skidded 6,000 feet along the main concrete runway, and jolted off one side into muddy ground.

During the long, grinding slide, the magnesium surface of the airplane's belly threw back a brilliant sheet of flame. Some equipment on the bomber floor caught fire, but fire trucks quickly put out the flames. None of the men aboard was injured.

A recovery team from the 99th Field Maintenance Squadron here, borrowing a technique developed by the Royal Air Force, raised the scarred plane out of the mud by inserting huge flotation bags under the swept-back wings and pumping them full of air.

As the bags filled, they gently lifted the jet bomber. Huge jacks were inserted at nine key lifting points.

Ike, High Officials to Use Them

Expensive Jets Bought

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is buying three jet transports costing five million dollars each to be used by President Eisenhower and other high ranking officials on long distance trips.

The planes, four-jet Boeing 707s, may be delivered by the end of this year. The 707, now being produced for commercial use, has a top speed of 500-600 miles an hour and is capable of stratospheric flight.

Eisenhower's approval of the purchase order was announced yesterday by White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, who said the planes would be available for use by the President or other top government officials on cross country or intercontinental flights.

Hagerty said none of the three-speed jets would be assigned to Eisenhower alone. He said the President would continue to use his personal plane, the propeller-driven Columbine III, on many trips.

The Boeing plane was picked, Hagerty said, because it is "the first American jet transport aircraft with substantial flying experience."

In Seattle, a spokesman for the Boeing Airplane Co. said the planes will be of the 120 type which is somewhat smaller than two other longer-range models of the 707.

Latin Governments May 'Abet' Violence

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A specialist on Latin American affairs says the governments of Peru and Venezuela may have abetted deliberately mob violence aimed at Vice President and Mrs. Nixon.

Prof. J. Fred Rippy of the University of Chicago, in a statement issued here yesterday, said:

"Either these governments (of Peru and Venezuela) are considerably more ineffectual than there was reason to believe until now or this is deliberate pressure for more financial and trade aid from us.

"It seems likely that Peru and Venezuela are spearheading Latin American resentment against limitations on our imports of petroleum, lead, zinc and copper now being considered by the U.S. government.

"While these two countries are not important in the coffee picture, they help set the stage for our yielding to demands for price supports on coffee.

"Our sales abroad of wheat and cotton for local currencies have hurt Latin American agricultural interests, too."

Rippy is the author of "Latin American History," a book to be published next fall as part of the University of Michigan's History of the Modern World.

The contest was sponsored by Walker & Co., a Detroit advertising firm.

Drops Charge Against Boss

Royal Oak Carpenter Agrees to Pay $1,500 in Back Wages

A criminal charge against a Royal Oak carpenter contractor was dropped when he agreed to pay some $1,500 in back wages to workers who had brought action against their former boss.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said a charge of issuing three checks without sufficient funds was dropped against Gus M. Ranieri, of 3163 Merrill St., when he agreed to pay the wages owed 20 employes.

Despite the criminal charge being withdrawn, Ranieri, a member of Oakland County Carpenters Local 998, still faces two law suits asking a total of $14,247 from him.

The first was filed by the Carpenters District Council (AFL-CIO) who charged Ranieri had not fulfilled an agreement with the union in contributing $6,645 to two union funds.

The second was filed by 35 former employes who claim that he owes $7,602 in back wages for work they did for Ranieri in 1956 and 1957.

Ranieri has not as yet answered the charges in either suit.

To Re-Enact First Air Mail Service

'Flying Jenny' Going Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — An authentic 1918 "Flying Jenny" reenacts the first U.S. air mail service in this county.

Leon D. ("Windy") Smith, who says only he is "over 60", was called back to an old, familiar job in manning the controls of the "Jenny" for a memorial flight from Washington to Philadelphia to New York City.

Smith was one of the original pilots when the Post Office Department established the first airborne postal deliveries between these cities on May 15, 1918. He now operates a private flying service and aviation training school at Pine City, N.Y.

In a talk prepared for take-off ceremonies at Washington National Airport, Deputy Postmaster General Edson O. Sessions recalled the first airmail takeoff was from the old Polo Grounds near Washington Monument.

"There, perhaps more than at any other place," he said, "America's great commercial aviation mail demonstrated the practical feasibility of the flimsy airplane of that era for commercial use."

Letters from Postmaster General Summerfield to the postmasters at Philadelphia and New York were assigned to the special flight, along with a load of specially marked letters sent in by philatelists and destined to become collectors' items.

The memorial flight and the observances in many other cities are being sponsored by Air Mail Pioneers, Inc., made up of early air mail service employes.

'I Can't Fight Like I Used To'

Musicians' Union Czar, James Petrillo, Retires

CHICAGO (INS) — James C. Petrillo, czar of the American Federation of Musicians since 1940, announced his retirement today "because I just can't fight like I used to."

Petrillo, still combative at 66, gripped his old instrument, the trumpet, in his Chicago union headquarters and said:

"I'm not sick. I'm tired. I just can't fight like I used to. The way I fight, I fight, fight, fight all day long. This way, poison gets into your system."

Petrillo said he would, under no circumstances, accept renomination to the presidency of the 260,000-member federation at its convention in June.

Clutching a telegram from 5,600 musicians in the San Francisco area, pleading that he reconsider his decision to quit, Petrillo said:

"It's hard to get this job, but it's harder to get out. I'm not going to reconsider. I just want to get out. I think I've done my job."

Petrillo said he also would resign his position as a vice president of the AFL-CIO. However, he will remain president of the musicians' Chicago local.

Asked if he had a favorite to succeed him as AFM president, Petrillo, who has been a labor leader for 42 years, said:

"I'm not going to spring any names. As you know, that would be suicide. There are a lot of good people."

The pudgy, one-time trumpet player ("I was not a good musician but I managed to make a living") said the high point of his union career was in 1942 when his union went on strike against recording companies over demands that a trust fund be set up for musicians.

The musicians won the strike, and in the last 16 years employers have paid in over $40 million to the trust. This money, Petrillo said, goes to unemployed musicians.

He estimated that during his years as president, musicians' salaries rose 200 per cent. But, he said:

"Our business is bad. We don't have the work we had, and this 20 per cent (federal excise) tax is murder. Television did the worst job on musicians that I know of. The thing we're looking for now is not higher wages but more work."

Petrillo described AFL-CIO President George Meany as "the greatest labor leader of our time." He spoke hopefully of the future of his musicians and longingly for the days when "there was a band in every town in the land."

Then, in his usual bouncy and good-humored nature, he told newsmen:

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ARVIL Fors, who passed away one year ago today, May 15, 1957.
You have left a beautiful memory,
And a sorrow too great to be told;
But to us who have loved and lost you,
Your memory will never grow old.
His loving wife and daughter.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear son, Richard Menzel, who passed away two years ago today May 15th.
Please, God, forgive our silent tears,
Our secret wish that our son was here;
Our memories are treasures that no one can steal.
But death is a heartache that no one can heal.
There are other deaths, yes, we know;
But he was our Son and we loved him so.
Sadly missed by Mother and Father.

Special Show Features Israel

Crack TV Commentator Took 'Outlook' Crew Overseas for Filming

by DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — If the Arabs want equal time, that's OK with Chet Huntley. And, even before "Israel: The Next Ten Years" has gone out over the NBC-TV network, there is talk about just such an eventuality taking place.

There's an intriguing story behind this big 90-minute special show, due on Sunday, May 18.

With the tenth anniversary of Israel coming up, Chet Huntley and the staff of NBC-TV's Outlook felt they should devote a program to it. They began planning accordingly.

DONE TO DEATH

"We decided," says Huntley, "that the obvious thing—an interview with Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion — had been done to death. So we looked around for unusual angles."

They came up with two — doing something about the Israeli Army and investigating the little-known activities of the virtually unknown Israel Atomic Energy Commission. That was enough to send Huntley and a crew overseas for some filming.

"The usual ratio of film shot to film used," Huntley says, "is five or six to one. So, while we were there, we took some other things—farm life and the Weizmann Institute and other odds and ends. Plus, of course, what we went over for."

SPILLING BLOOD

"But every bit we cut," says Huntley, "was like spilling our blood. So we went to Kintner (NBC-TV Executive Vice President Robert E. Kintner) and he said, "OK, we've got enough time, do a 90-minute show."

So, that's what happened. And you'll see most of it on the show, without any spilled blood.

Already—just in case the Arabs do demand equal time — Huntley has some ideas. He'd like to concentrate on Iraq, "because that's the country the Israelis feel is the one most likely to come to peaceful terms first—they think they can work things out together."

MEMORIES VIVID

Of his first trip to Israel, Huntley has vivid and pleasant memories. The two biggest surprises, he says, were finding Israel "as green as Ireland" and noting that everything there moves fast.

"Everybody seems to be moving with purpose," he says, "from kids on bicycles up to the top officials. And the traffic moves fastest of all."

Huntley is a tall, good-looking man who has been laboring under the handicap of the widespread but incorrect billing of "NBC's answer to Ed Murrow." Actually, his only similarities to Murrow are the fact that both are good-looking, both are intelligent, both have voices that smack of importance even when they're dispensing trivia.

But Huntley hopes to prove himself an entirely different type.

Counterfeiting Ring Smashed; 13 Held

WASHINGTON (AP)—A ring that allegedly passed thousands of dollars in fake bills in 14 states has been broken up by the Secret Service.

Secret Service Chief U. E. Baughman announced yesterday that 13 persons had been arrested and that more arrests were expected. He said the investigation began last November when bogus money appeared in Indianapolis.

Baughman said about $23,000 in counterfeit $10, $20 and $50 bills have been passed and that Secret Service agents have seized about $185,000 in fake currency.

The announcement was made after John Wesley Riadon, 41, and William Earl Smith, 30, were arrested at the Nashville, Tenn., airport. Baughman said the two men had $60,000 in phony money in their possession. The Secret Service chief said there had been 11 previous arrests, starting in Atlanta last December.

Baughman said Riadon admitted he made the money near Donelson, Tenn., and that Smith was his principal distributor.

Absent-Minded Woman Invites Voter to Return

OKEMAH, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. Huddie Morrow, a veteran saleswoman, couldn't break her self of an old habit.

She was working as an official during an election, and told a voter after he had cast his ballot, "Come back."

HUNTLEY IN ISRAEL — NBC news commentator Chet Huntley talks to teenage Israel Army volunteers during his recent trip to Israel. the results of his extensive reporting — a filmed program called "Israel: The Next 10 Years" — will be presented over NBC-TV Sunday.

'Lavender Goddess' De-Ices Toward Earl

By EARL WILSON

HOLLYWOOD — Pardon my bragging, but Kim Novak once sent me fudge. Then she "chilled" and though she'd still speak to me, her voice would give a guy pneumonia.

WILSON

"The Lavender Goddess" and I have now made up. She's arrived at a crisis in her career. But I predict Kim'll come through with head held high and neckline cut low. She may even beat out Marilyn Monroe to be the Jean Harlow of this generation (or is it "degeneration"?)

The gal's improving as an actress — which is what counts. Let the controversy rage. The Harvard Lampoon can vote her "Worst Actress," the headlines can scream, "Kim's sugar daddy has six kids." If she can emote respectably, she can cash in on all that and drag them in at the box office.

I just saw her do an extremely good job in Alfred Hitchcock's thriller, "Vertigo," playing two parts—both a blonde and a brunette, in which I preferred her as a brunette.

Then we sat on the couch together (in her lavender suite which even had a lavender phone in the powder room and she told me why we had "iced."

KIM

She was vexed because a picture I'd once taken had been retouched by a magazine and made her appear too cheesecakey. I explained that I didn't retouch it—I was lucky to know enough to take it.

Kim has a flair for controversy. Privately she has temperamental outbursts and (for example) scolds a railway porter for not waking her two hours early so she'll have time to dress for the photogs.

Kim's reading material includes "Astrology Guide," "Horoscope," "American Astrology," and "Astrology Handbook." I can't help believing that anybody who has such genius for making people discuss her is going to have a good horoscope for a lot of years to come — financially, anyway.

Bombs Continue to Rock Detroit

11th Explosion Set Off at Warehouse Handling Out of State Beer

DETROIT (INS)—A gunpowder bomb ripped a door from the rear of a Detroit beer warehouse at 3 a.m. today and shattered windows in nearby homes.

The blast, in the alley back of the Easttown Distributors, 14725 Gratiot, was the 11th Detroit area bombing since January 1st and the third incident of violence linked to the beer strike.

Within minutes after the explosion, Conner Precinct police seized a suspect, George Barker, 32, a beer worker laid off two days before the strike.

Sought is a man with whom Barker said he spent the night drinking. He was known only as "Martindale," and was described as a beer worker.

The commissioner had left orders to be notified at once if another bombing occurred.

Joseph R. Quasarano, 33, Grosse Pointe Farms, one of the owners of the beer distributing firm, said his place had been picketed and that he had been threatened if he continued "to bring in beer from out of state."

Zsa Zsa Warns Morse to Confine Remarks or Else

WASHINGTON (AP)—Zsa Zsa Gabor says she'll sue Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) for slander if he repeats outside of Congress his remark that she "apparently is the most expensive courtesan since Madame De Pompadour."

Hays made the remark yesterday during House debate on the foreign aid bill. He was referring to expensive gifts given to Miss Gabor by Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr., son of the Dominican Republic's strong man.

Speaking through a public relations firm, Miss Gabor a few hours later challenged Hays "to come out from behind the congressional walls of immunity and repeat his statement about me."

"Let him come out into the open, and I will sue him for his slanderous statements," she said. Miss Gabor is here to fill a night club engagement.

There was no immediate comment from Hays.

The 29-year-old Trujillo, who is married and has six children, has given Miss Gabor a $17,000 chinchilla coat and a car. Trujillo, in this country as a military student, also has given a car to actress Kim Novak.

During the House debate, Hays tried to cut off aid to the Dominican Republic, but his amendment was defeated 79-32.
