Red River Delta Refugees Flock to Hanoi Today

City's Residents Fear Red Infiltration in Mass Immigration to Town

HANOI, Indochina (UP) —Refugees streamed into Hanoi today from the abandoned southern half of the Red River delta, raising fears among residents of a rebel fifth column move to take the city.

Because of the speed of the evacuation, security officials were unable to check all of the arriving refugees.

Saboteurs were believed to be among them, only awaiting the signal to stage a bloody repetition of the uprising and massacre of French citizens here in 1946.

The French High Command announced that the last French troops, an armored unit, pulled out of the once - thriving textile center of Nam Dinh, 45 miles southeast of Hanoi at noon Thursday.

Communist units entered the abandoned towns and villages in the rich delta country as soon as the French left. The French High Command said two full divisions now were occupying the southern delta.

Military sources said the two divisions, backed up by possibly two more, might launch an attack of Hanoi regardless of progress in negotiating a cease fire.

The high command announced Thursday that it had given up the southern half of the delta because it had been infiltrated heavily by conquerors of Dien Bien Phu.

All day Thursday hundreds of trucks loaded with military equipment, food and household belongings drove north to Hanoi on roads lined with protecting infantry.

From Nam Dinh, French covering forces pulled back to Mycoi, nine miles southwest toward Phu Ly near the Day River.

Sporadic Communist anti - aircraft fire at C47s evacuating families of loyal Indochinese officials was the only attempt the Reds made to interfere with the giant withdrawal and regrouping.

Rebel troops and guerrillas submerged the entire southern delta, about 1,000 square miles of some of the richest and most densely populated land in the world, almost overnight.

Bingo Petitions Are Filed Today

Committee Head Says 325,000 Signers Seek Vote on Charity Game

Petitons containing over 325,000 signatures were filed in Lansing this morning, some 38,000 more than needed to assure a November vote on legalizing chairtable bingo in Michigan.

The announcement came from Robert C. White, Oakland County chairman of the Michigan Assn. of Non-profit Charitable Organizations, which has been working to secure the required constitutional amendment since last August.

"They're all good legal signatures too," said White, "but even if 10 per cent of them were declared invalid we would still have enough." A total of 287,000 valid signatures is required.

Officials of the Department of State in Lansing implied that the acceptanee of the proposal for ballot position was virtually a certainty because of the surplus signatures filed and the care with which the sponsors had checked its 326,106 signatures.

However, Robert M. Montgomery, state elections director, said a final decision would not be made until some time next week after his staff had checked the petitions thoroughly.

Some 21 veterans, and sportsmen's groups, PTAs and other civic organizations joined in the local drive which contributed about 25,000 signers from Oakland

Temperatures Average 67.3

Month of June Is Normal Except for Violent Storms

June could well be titled "Thunderstorm Month of 1954."

Otherwise it was very commonplace.

At times June was colder than normal. At times it was hotter than normal. Sometimes it was even wetter than normal. But all the figures, averaged together, balanced out to just about normal.

June, 1954, had nine days of 90-or-over temperature readings—far above the normal quota of two days. But early June carried enough cold weather (temperatures didn't get over 56 degrees for three days) to drag down the average.

Temperatures for the month struck a day-in-day-out average of 67.3 degrees. Normal is 68, says the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Rainfall totaled 3.13 inches. The normal amount is 3.03.

But good old normal, non-neurotic June packed half-a-dozen real blingers of thunderstorms.

The month rode in on the heels of a May 31 thunderstorm that used 50-mile-an-hour winds to help it black out 700 Pontiac area homes.

Pontiac folks, cooled by a chilly May and chillier weather in the first few days of June, just weren't prepared for the muggy weather that was tossed at them later.

The mercury climbed to 88 degrees June 8 and stuck. It went back to 88 again the next day—and the humidity reading was just about as high. The Weather Bureau forecast cooler temperatures. The thermometer

Jet Plane Hits Houses, Kills 6

Also Crashes Into Car as It Bursts in Flames Near Utica, N.Y.

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—A jet plane loaded with ammunition crashed into an automobile and two houses today and six persons were reported killed.

The crash occurred at about 12:30 p.m. (EDT) on the outskirts of the village of Walesville, about six miles southwest of Utica. The plane, believed to be from Griffiss Air Force Base at Rome, was reported to have burst into flames and set two houses afire.

The plane also was reported to have struck an automobile carrying four persons.

The names of the victims were not available immediately.

Jaroslav Drobny New Champion at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Jaroslav Drobny, 32-year-old exiled Czech now living in Egypt, won the Wimbledon singles championship today by defeating 19-year-old Ken Rosewall of Australia, 13-11, 4-6, 6-2, 9-7.

This was the third time Drobny had gained the finals, and the first time he has been able to capture the biggest prize in tennis. It was figured a huge upset.

Pacing himself masterfully, Drobny saved his best shots for the times he needed them most as he received a tremendous ovation from the crowd of 15,000 packed around the famous center court.

Rain Saturday; Rest of Weekend Expected Fair

Occasional thundershowers during the day Saturday is the only rain forecast in the Pontiac area over the long holiday weekend.

As to temperatures, the U. S. Weather Bureau predicts a sweltering high near 92 degrees tomorrow, and somewhat cooler weather Sunday with a slow warming trend Monday and Tuesday.

Thursday the mercury climbed from a low of 65 to a high of 86 degrees in the city.

At 8 a.m. today the reading was 66, but by 1 p.m. in downtown Pontiac the temperature stood at 84.

Robbers Get $50,000 From Chicago Bank

CHICAGO (AP) — Five robbers, armed with a machine gun, shotgun and pistols, took almost $50,000 in a bold daylight holdup of the Ashland State Bank today.

Bank officials at first estimated the loot at about $25,000, but later reported an audit showed $46,878 was missing.

The gunmen, wearing black stockings with eye-slits over their heads, charged into the bank through a side door a few minutes after opening time, menaced bank employes and then vaulted over counters into the tellers' cages.

One of the tellers dropped with both hands on the holdup alarm, but the robbers were gone within minutes.

The bank, on Chicago's south side at 9443 S. Ashland Ave, is only a short distance from the busy Beverly Hills intersection of 95th Street and Ashland Avenue.

Guatemala Peace Is Signed

Rebel Leader, Chief of Junta Come to Terms

Monzon Gets Top Post on New 5-Man Council Being Formed

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Rebel chief Carlos Castillo Armas and government boss Col. Elfego Monzon signed a peace pact here today ending Guatemala's two-week-old civil war. They pledged a continuing fight to wipe out communism in that Central American nation.

The treaty provides for a new five-man military junta —Guatemala's fourth government this week—with Monzon as top man. The other members include Castillo and one of his aides and two ministers in Monzon's outgoing regime.

Authoritative sources said this arrangement would continue for 15 days, after which the junta will elect a "permanent" chief.

The agreement was signed at 4:45 a.m. in the ceremonial hall of El Salvador's presidential house before ambassadors and representatives of a dozen countries and the Vatican. It proclaims a total ceasefire in Guatemala.

Castillo's followers invaded their homeland from neighboring Honduras on June 18, vowing to overthrow the Communist supported government of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman. Arbenz resigned last Sunday and a cease-fire followed on Wednesday. The junta which replaced Arbenz after his resignation was in turn replaced by Monzon's group.

In addition to Castillo and Monzon, the new junta will be composed of Maj. Enrique Oliva, defense minister in Castillo's insurgent regime, and two other members of Monzon's government — Foreign Minister Col. Mauricio Dubois and Defense Minister Col. Jose Luis Cruz Salazar.

Other terms of the agreement provided:

1. Castillo's rebel forces will be incorporated into the regular

The Reasons Are Many and Growing

U. S. Completely Stymied in World Policy

(Editor's Note—How close is the free world to losing out in Southeast Asia?

Did Eisenhower and Churchill really settle British-American disputes?

What are the United States and Britain really trying to do about Indochina?

A week of frantic diplomacy in Washington produced more sparks than light, more words than information. In the following story, AP diplomatic reporter John M. Hightower looks behind the scenes of the White House meeting and its official statements to report what was really accomplished and what may be expected to happen.)

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Allied leaders are resigned to losing a great block of Indochina to the Communists.

The shooting war was around Hanoi and peace negotiations between French-led forces and the Communists have gone beyond the point where the United States can influence them decisively.

The issue of Red Chinese bids for recognition and for United Nations membership is expected to press hard upon the heels of any Indochina settlement.

With Moscow needling, this issue promises to make grave trouble among the United States, Britain and France in the fall.

Other forces, too, are working to pull the Western Allies apart despite the emphasis placed here this week on what Sir Winston Churchill called an "unbreakable solidarity."

It is exactly a week now since Churchill flew into Washington by his own request to talk, alongside Foreign Secretary Eden, with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles.

It has been an intensive week in other ways. Talks on the Southeast Asian crisis have been held by Dulles with Australia's Foreign Minister Richard Casey, New Zealand's Ambassador Leslie Munro and Thailand's foreign minister, Prince Wan Waithayakon. The situation has been touched upon in official British - American statements, in a Churchill talk and in an Eisenhower press conference.

The ability of the free world to meet the Communist threat inside Indochina appears not to have been materially increased.

Dulles' efforts to get going at once on a collective defense for Southeast Asia remain frustrated and frozen — although some thought is now being given to trying to change this situation.

The situation may best be seen in the light of two or three recent incidents. On March 29 the American government, through a speech by Dulles, issued an emergency call for "united action" to halt Communist expansion in Southeast Asia. Privately, officials were talking in terms of intervention in the Indochina war.

France and Britain were cool. In mid-April Dulles flew to London and Paris. On his return home, he thought he had agreement to have a conference and begin drawing up a 10-nation Southeast Asian pact. A bitter controversy with

Mrs. Ley, Seeley to Make Restitution

MUSKEGON (AP) — G. Palmer Seeley and Mrs. Lois Porter Moon Ley will make full restitution to the state of $78,435.78 involved in the highway land deal conspiracy that sent them to prison, their attorneys said today.

The agreement was reached in a conference with Circuit Judge Noel P. Fox and Perry Maynard, assistant state attorney general.

Judge Fox signed an order stating that if the amount is paid within 30 days, or an $80,000 bond is posted within that time, he will lift the injunction tying up their property.

Seeley, former Grand Rapids right-of-way buyer for the highway department, was sentenced to prison for 2½ to 5 years and Mrs. Ley, Muskegon real estate operator, for 1½ to 5 years by Judge Fox.

Southfield Move Over Valuation Delays '54 Levy

Pontiac Figures May Be Changed; Aug. 16 Is Tentative Due Date

A tax equalization appeal by Southfield Township will delay 1954 Pontiac city and school tax collections and temporarily cut off revenue to both units.

If a change is ordered in the Southfield valuation, Pontiac's valuation may also have to be revised. This would change individual city taxpayer's assessments, Pontiac City Manager Walter K. Willman said.

Until the Pontiac valuation is known to be final, tax bills can't be compiled, according to City Assessor W. Raymond Ransom.

Tax collections usually start July 1, but due to the Southfield appeal a tentative date of Aug. 16 is the present goal, according to City Treasurer M. M. Ashbaugh.

The collections delay will in turn delay Pontiac's income and "is serious because we will have to arrange some sort of temporary financing," Willman stated. But he expressed confidence that the necessary funds could be found.

Vernon L. Schiller, Pontiac School Board treasurer, said the school system will not be hard-pressed if taxes start coming in by Sept. 1.

"We have no teacher payrolls to meet until mid-September," said Schiller. He said funds are available to carry through until teachers must be paid again.

Some $250,000 borrowed by Pontiac schools on tax anticipation notes must be repaid Aug. 1, Schiller stated. The money can be borrowed from the Department of Public Instruction which will take it back out of state aid payments due Pontiac schools during the 1954-55 school year, he said.

Although the bills will be issued late, residents will have the usual 30 days after the delayed collection date to pay without penalty, Ashbaugh stated.

An equalized valuation of $80,162,007 was placed on Southfield Township May 26 by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

An immediate protest was lodged by township officials and the valuation was appealed June 1 to the Michigan State Tax Commission. It is not known when the tax commission will hand down a decision.

William Roeser, township supervisor, charged that the valuation figure was too high and that the township was a victim of discrimination.

Figures show that Southfield's equalized valuation this year is $16,931,485 higher than last year.

May Wynn Tells Willie to 'Drop Dead'

Synopsis: Willie Keith, a Princeton youth, finds himself in the Navy in December 1942. During the previous year, he had found a job playing and singing original ditties in a New York hotel cocktail lounge, and later on at the Club Tahiti. There he met another singer, May Wynn, and he falls in love.

CHAPTER 3

May Wynn's job at the Club Tahiti lasted for three weeks. Willie soon obtained the telephone number of the Bronx candy store, and they continued seeing each other after May's engagement at the club was finished.

It was April. Their relationship advanced to include long walks in the blossoming new-green park, and dinners at expensive restaurants, and kisses in taxis, and sentimental presents like ivory cats and fuzzy black bears and a great many flowers.

Willie wrote some bad sonnets, too, and May took them home, read them again and again, and shed warm tears over them. Nobody had ever written poetry to her before.

Late in April Willie received a postcard from his draft board, inviting him for a physical examination. Upon the sounding of this tocsin he remembered the war, and forthwith went to a Navy officer-procurement station. He was accepted for the December class of the Reserve Midshipmen School.

This put him beyond the clutches of the Army, and gave him a long reprieve from service.

Mrs. Keith, however, took his enlistment as a tragedy. Discreetly inquiring among influential friends, she found a peculiar stoniness everywhere to the idea of getting Willie some safe duty in the United States. So she determined to make his last free months beautiful.

May Wynn was doing a pretty good job of that, but of course Mrs. Keith didn't know it. She was unaware of the girl's existence.

Willie and May never talked about marriage. He sometimes wondered why she didn't mention the subject, but he was very glad that she was content to leave their relationship in the realm of wild kisses.

His idea was that the sweetness would last to be enjoyed during the four months of midshipmen school; then he would go to sea, and that would be the convenient and painless end.

The Keith home in Manhasset was a twelve-room Dutch colonial house with heavy white pillars, high-arching black wood-shingled roof, and multitudes of large windows. It stood on a knoll in the middle of two acres of lawns set with soaring old beech, maple, and oak trees and bordered by flower beds and a thick high hedge.

Mrs. Keith's family had presented it to her. Her income from Rhode Island bank securities still went to keep it up. Willie believed such surroundings were normal.

• • •

He walked up the avenue of maples to the front door and entered upon a prepared triumph. His mother hugged him. Relatives and neighbors, flourishing cocktails, greeted the war hero.

Willie noticed for the first time when the party went into the living room that his father limped and walked with a cane. After a while Dr. Keith interrupted the question session.

"Time out," he said, "while a man has a few words in private with his sailor son." He took Willie by the arm and led him into the library. "How is it, really, Willie—the Navy?" Dr. Keith said, closing the door, and leaning on his cane.

"Fine, Dad. I'll get by. What's the matter with your leg?"

"Nothing much. Infected toe."

"I'm sorry. Bother you much?"

"Some."

Willie glanced at his father in surprise. It was the first time he had heard his father complain of an ailment. "Well—what can I say to a doctor? You've had it looked at?"

"Oh, yes. Nothing to be done. It will simply take time." Father and son looked into each other's eyes for a moment. "I shouldn't keep you from the company," said the doctor, limping toward the window. "But we've really never talked much, have we? I'm afraid I've let your mother do all the upbringing. And now you're off to the wars."

Willie did not know what to answer. It seemed that his father wanted to say something but could not find a way to begin.

"I never got overseas myself, Willie, in the first war. Maybe you'll be lucky, too."

"I'll take what comes," said Willie. "The Navy's spending a lot of time and work on me. Maybe I ought to go overseas if I'm good enough for it."

Dr. Keith ran his fingers across the small black mustache. His eyes searched Willie's face. "You're changing a little. What's doing it? The Navy?"

"I'm afraid I'm the same poor lug."

"Willie," said his father, "have you met a girl?"

Willie was too startled to lie. "Yes, sir."

"A good girl?"

"In her way, wonderful."

"Do you want to marry her?"

"No."

"Why not?"

"Well—it's not that kind of thing."

"Don't be too sure. Bring her out here to meet us."

New Licensing Ordinance Requires Drains, Paving for Parking Lots in City

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — One more obstacle was hurdled this week in this city's efforts to provide adequate parking facilities when a licensing ordinance for all public off-street parking lots, or those charging a fee, was approved by the City Commission.

Some of Birmingham's existing school, church and other public lots will be affected by the ordinance, which states that no license will be issued at the end of a two-year period unless the lots have been paved, graded and drained by that time.

Owners or operators of new lots will also be given the two-year time limit to provide proper surfacing and drainage.

Meetings and an informal hearing were held by the Commission last month to consider possible city participation in an off-street lot which would serve the southwest section of the downtown shopping district.

As proposed, assessments would be shared equally by the city and surrounding business property owners.

Commissioners ordered a review of the Planning Board's proposed off-street parking ordinance, an up-to-date traffic survey, and detailed information sent to surrounding property owners before proceeding further with the plan.

Mrs. Lambert died at her residence last night after a long illness. She attended the old Central High School in Detroit and was in the class of 1919 at Michigan State College.

Police Mobilize for Traffic Jam

Hams, First Aid Crews to Join Road Patrols to Cut Holiday Toll

City, county and state highway patrolmen prepared today for extra duty over the long holiday weekend to handle what many believe will be the biggest July 4th traffic jam in history.

Spurred by the National Safety Council's estimate of a 430-person traffic death toll, Pontiac Police Department, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and Pontiac State Police Post canceled all leave days.

Sheriff's deputies and Pontiac policemen will begin special 12-hour working schedules tonight to direct the mass exodus of holiday fun seekers.

Officials expect the flow of city dwellers to beaches, picnic grounds and resort areas to reach record proportions.

Clyle R. Haskill, chairman of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee, said Michigan's weekend death toll may go as high as 28 unless motorists obey all safety rules.

Speeders, reckless and drunk drivers "will be locked up during the three days," each department warns.

Sheriff Clare L. Hubbell, who has ordered all deputies to the weekend task, said, "No traffic violation will be overlooked, and we will be especially on the lookout for speeders."

Capt. Edward H. Shigley, head of Pontiac Police administration, said police reserves are being called to support the traffic squad.

For the first time this year, Oakland County Red Cross Chapter and the Amateur Radio League is joining the sheriff's department to lessen serious casualties due to auto mishaps.

Twenty of the league's autos, equipped with short-wave radios, will be hooked to the sheriff's department radio system to report any injuries resulting from accidents.

The Red Cross, according to Ralph S. Forman, first aid chairman, will furnish 40 first aid instructors to ride in the autos. They will administer first aid at accident scenes until ambulances arrive.

Hubbell said he hopes the new setup with the Red Cross and league will decrease the number of fatalities.

Lt. Joseph Koren, head of Pontiac Traffic and Accident Bureau, said the main congestion areas will be along Saginaw street, especially in the business district. He said patrolmen will be assigned to direct traffic at busy intersections.

Heaviest traveled highways, according to Hubbell and State Police, will be Telegraph road, U. S. 10 and M 15. Biggest volume of traffic is expected to flow north through Orion Township, Oxford and Waterford.

During last year's two-day Independence Day holiday, 261 persons were killed in traffic accidents, and 362 persons died during the last Memorial Day weekend, according to the National Council.

Police are urging motorists to cut their speed at least 10 miles per hour below their normal pace.

X-Ray Results Sent in 5 Weeks

10,755 Figures Double That Posted When Vans Were Here in 1952

Michigan Health Department will mail cards within five weeks telling 10,755 Pontiac people whether signs of tuberculosis showed up on their recent chest X-rays.

Cards will be sent all local men and women who visited two mobile chest X-ray vans now touring Oakland County in a drive to find hidden cases of tuberculosis. The units, which had worked in Pontiac since June 9, left the city Wednesday night.

A. R. Musson, executive secretary of Oakland County Tuberculosis Assn., said the number of Pontiac people who turned out for this year's free chest X-rays was almost double the 5,916 X-rayed during a similar visit here in 1952.

He added that in past surveys, only two per cent of the X-rays taken have shown any abnormal chest conditions.

The X-ray vans' tour is sponsored by the county tuberculosis association, medical society, and Michigan State, Oakland County, Ferndale-Pleasant Ridge and Pontiac health departments.

Ax Opens 300-Pound Safe, Yeggs Get $92

Yeggs hacked open a 300 pound safe with an ax and pick last night and fled with $92 from the Detroit Creamery Co.'s Ice Cream Division, 370 Orchard Lake Ave., reported Pontiac Police.

Detective Sgt. John A. DePauw said deep ax and pick marks also were found on two other safes, but neither was opened.

Thieves also attempted to open a 500 pound safe at the Dixie Lumber Co., 831 Oakland Ave., last night.

DePauw said the thieves caused an estimated $350 damage in trying to enter a wall safe at the creamery by removing bricks from the wall. The yeggs entered the creamery through a window in the garage and crawled through a small refrigerated opening to get to the safes.

Fast Teamwork Traps Suspects

Saginaw, State Police Nab 2 in Pinconning Safe Crackings

SAGINAW (UP)—Some fast teamwork between Saginaw and state police nailed two of three youths in connection with two Pinconning safe cracking jobs yesterday.

It also gave some good clues toward the third.

State Police Detective Russell Aldrich of the Bay City post was telling Donald Berg, a Saginaw detective, about the youths, when the phone on Berg's desk rang.

Berg said the call was a tip on two youths, reportedly in some trouble. He said the tip described them in yellow sports shirts and new blue jeans, walking in downtown Saginaw.

Minutes later teams of police headed into the area. Berg spotted and arrested Steve Leroy Gerzeski, 17, and Robert James Patrick, 19, both of Pinconning. Berg said they told him their buddy, John A. Shaw, also of Pinconning, was next door getting his picture taken.

Shaw evidently saw them coming. He was gone when police entered, but on the floor was a freshly printed picture? Berg said the other two youths told him the three had committed the Pinconning burglaries.

They led police to an estimated $4,000 in cash and goods from the Pinconning thefts and a drug store burglary in Au Gres.

They were both turned over to state police and warrants were issued charging them with breaking and entering at night. Berg said the youths also told him they stole two cars in Saginaw.

They will be transferred to Arenac County for trial in the drug store burglary, the most recent.

Guatemala Peace Agreement Signed

army ranks for a triumphal entry into Guatemala City.

2. The junta assumes all legislative and executive powers as well as supreme command of the army and will rule by majority decision.

3. The junta will consider whether to abolish or suspend in part the nation's present constitution and Castillo will cancel at once all decrees issued by his provisional regime.

4. New national elections will be called as soon as a new constitution is promulgated.

The new junta reportedly will fly to the Guatemala capital at 11 a.m. tomorrow to take over.

The signing ceremony climaxed two days and nights of negotiations that began early Wednesday. At its conclusion, Monzon and Castillo embraced under a large portrait of Gen. Gerardo Barrios, the George Washington of El Salvador.

The new junta faced difficulties at home. Communist supporters of deposed President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman were reported inciting peasants outside the capital to rise against the country's new rulers.

The Red leaders, who fled to the hills after Arbenz's downfall, were reported inflaming the peasantry with stories that the new regime would take away the lands the previous leftist government had turned over to them.

* * *

Army and police headquarters in Guatemala City acknowledged they were unable to meet demands for help against uprisings outside the capital.

The situation at Escuintla, a major Communist hotbed 30 miles south of Guatemala City, was reported serious.

The agreement between Castillo and Monzon was reported only after the U. S. ambassador to Guatemala, John Peurifoy, flew here to help resolve the rival demands. Peurifoy had played a major advisory role in the lengthy conferences which resulted in Arbenz's forced resignation Sunday night, the establishment of a junta headed by Col. Carlos Diaz, the outlawing of the Guatemalan Communist party and the replacement of Diaz's junta by Monzon's group.

* * *

Castillo and Monzon met here first Wednesday, with Salvadorean President Oscar Osorio as mediator. Late Wednesday night their negotiations appeared to have broken down and they announced the cease-fire had been extended until 9 a.m. today. Yesterday, however, after Peurifoy's arrival, they resumed the negotiations and remained in session almost continuously until early today.

Teachers Fired by Detroit Board

Invoked 5th Amendment Before Un-American Activities Committee

DETROIT (UP) — Two public school teachers who invoked the Fifth Amendment when questioned about possible Communist affiliations by a congressional committee were out of jobs today. The Board of Education, in an unprecedented move, upheld the firings of Harold Rosen, 41, and Sidney W. Graber, 32.

Both had been suspended without pay May 5 by Superintendent of Schools Arthur Dondineau after a hearing.

Rosen, father of three children and a music teacher in Detroit elementary schools for 17 years, and Graber, a social studies instructor for seven years, both refused to answer questions May 3 at a Detroit hearing of the House Un-American Activities subcommittee.

They invoked the Fifth and other amendments in refusing to answer questions about alleged Communist affiliations.

The teachers appeared at Thursday's board meeting with their attorneys and argued they were being punished for using a constitutional guarantee. Both denied they are now or ever had been Communists.

But the board voted unanimously to uphold Dondineau's action and fire them.

Auto Tag Game Ends With Tragic Death

LANSING (UP) — A game of automobile tag ended in death for Richard Thocker, 26, of Lansing last night.

Thocker was chasing another car when it slowed for a curve. Thocker's car, traveling at about 60 miles an hour clipped it in the right rear, left the road and rolled over.

Thocker was thrown from the car. Two youths riding with him were shaken up, but unhurt. Thocker died later in St. Lawrence Hospital, Lansing, with concussion and a fractured skull.

The other car fled the scene and is the subject of a search by State Police.

Two-Car Ontario Crash Kills Ohio Woman, 63

Cars driven by Mrs. Fay Kaplan, 45, of Detroit and Mrs. Esther Harmon, 62 of Ashtabula, Ohio, collided 19 miles west of Morpeth. Both women were injured severely and were taken to Chatham general hospital.

Mrs. Flora Snow, 63, also of Ashtabula was killed and Mrs. Kaplan's five-year-old daughter, Jessica, received minor bruises.

Weather in June Turns Out Normal

defiantly went to 90. The weather bureau surrendered and forecast hot, sticky weather.

The revised forecast came true.

The mercury rose to 88, 92, 88, 91, 92 and 88 degrees for the following six days — and the air was loaded with so much humidity that sweltering Pontiac stayed damp and dripping the whole while.

June's thunderstorm siege got under way in earnest Saturday, June 12. That storm chased late-afternoon swimmers off beaches with 65-mile-an-hour winds and shut off lights and telephones at 300 homes.

Another thunderstorm June 15 brought rains so heavy they stopped rush-hour traffic on Woodward avenue and Telegraph road.

The next storm Saturday, June 19, stalked in under clouds so black they cast a mid-afternoon night over the city. This one blacked out three villages — Lake Orion, Oxford, and Goodison — with one falling branch that started a galloping short circuit on a 40,000-volt power line.

Winds that hit hurricane speeds of 75 to 80 miles an hour whipped another storm into Pontiac June 21. Lights went out in 1,150 homes, Pontiac Airport's wind recorder broke off, and summer arrived—officially—an hour later.

The last of the storms was a windless lightning blitz.

With scarcely a breeze to help, wild electricity mussed up power lines so thoroughly that it took Detroit Edison Co. two days to get everything running again. An Edison official called it "the messiest storm I remember." Lightning struck Pontiac's Huron theater, a downtown utility pole, and homes in Waterford, Birmingham, and other communities.

June tried to work up another thunderstorm Wednesday night to bow out on but didn't quite make the grade. A bank of clouds on the southern horizon flashed and flickered and shot out streaks of chain lightning for an hour, but the storm apparently fizzled out long before it neared Pontiac.

Won't Comment on Strike Effect

Out-of-Work Installers Might Alter Statewide Telephone Service

DETROIT (UP) — Union officials refused to say today whether a strike by 760 Western Electric Co. telephone installers in Michigan would effect statewide telephone service.

The installers, assigned to Michigan Bell Telephone Co. exchanges, were part of 16,000 CIO communications workers who struck across the nation yesterday when contract negotiations broke down.

The dispute over wage increases could idle 18,400 Bell employes in Michigan, and many more thousands over the nation. Bell Telephone operators and maintenance workers belong to the same union.

A union spokesman declined to say whether or when picket lines would be set up. "We don't want to give away our strategy," he said.

J. L. Galland, president of the striking Detroit local, said:

"Picketing will start at the discretion of our union in New York City. The installers expect other CWA members to honor any picket lines set up at strategic locations."

Western Electric workers reported to work as usual in the morning shortly before noon. There were 520 in Detroit and 240 over the rest of the state.

Michigan Bell workers have signed a new wage contract with their company. Union spokesmen said that although the new agreement contains a no-strike clause, it would not be construed to affect workers who won't cross a picket line.

The Western Electric workers install switchboards and other telephone equipment. Both Western Electric and Michigan Bell are subsidiaries of American Telephone and Telegraph Corp. The Western Electric contract expired May 2.

Circus Juggler Fights With Lion to Save Friend

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UP)—Eric Drosdsky is a circus juggler who is scared of animals. But last night he leaped into the lion cage and fought desperately for the life of trainer William Coetzee, his best friend.

Women screamed and fled from the tent when one of the six performing lions turned on Coetzee as he was putting the animal through its paces. As all six lions pounced, Drosdsky rushed into the ring. With a chair, he tried to draw the raging beats toward himself.

The lions clawed the trainer. Then they chased the juggler until ringmaster Dennis Wood joined him with a club. Together they held the beasts at bay and dragged Coetzee out.

The trainer, badly mauled, died three hours later. Drosdsky, meanwhile, had gone on with his own juggling act.

Arrest Suspect in Arson Cases

State and Fenton Police Catch Bachelor, 25, Igniting Boxes

A Fenton bachelor, seized Tuesday while igniting several cardboard boxes lying on a clothing store's porch, is under suspicion today of arson in nine other Fenton fires.

Hugh M. Dean Jr., 25, who lives with his parents at 108 S. West St., is being held in Genesee County Jail on $7,500 bond pending examination next Friday in Genesee County Circuit Court. He demanded examination on arson charges yesterday in Flint.

Dean denies setting any of the nine fires—including two lumberyard blazes causing $400,000 total damage. However Detective Jack Coltson of the Michigan State Police Department said he and Fenton Police Chief Orie Clark have trailed Dean off and on for the past four weeks and "when we didn't follow him we had the fires."

The detective, attached to the State Fire Marshal's Office, said they changed their procedure and nabbed Dean early Tuesday morning as he ignited cardboard boxes on the back porch of a clothing store at 110 S. Leroy St.

Meanwhile, Genesee County authorities are questioning Dean in connection with six barn fires over a 12-month period.

The Fenton fires occurred over the past three months.

The first major one broke out April 2 in the Fenton Lumber Co., causing an estimated loss of $150,000. Another fire at the Lee Lumber Co. yard 12 days later caused $250,000 damage.

Other Fenton fires ranged from tavern blazes to bonfires in barns.

Ex-Marine Kills Wife's Admirer

Puts 5 Bullets in Rival as 2 Daughters Watch; Calls Police Later

DETROIT (UP) — A 30-year-old ex-Marine who shot and killed his wife's admirer before his two terrified children was held for investigation of murder today.

Denny L. Craddock, who said he was given a medical discharge from the Marine Corps after service in Korea, admitted pumping five bullets from a .32 caliber automatic into Ernest A. Trullard, 29, but refused to make a formal statement.

Police said Craddock told them his wife, Julia, 26, wrote him that she wanted a divorce so she could marry Trullard.

The veteran came to Detroit four days ago from East Point, Ga., to look for his wife and their two daughters, Dale, 7, and Lydia, 5. He found Trullard and the two children at his mother-in-law's home Thursday. Mrs. Craddock was visiting a friend.

Police said Craddock told them he persuaded Trullard to take a ride with him while they talked things over. The two children went along.

At an intersection, Trullard started to leave the car. Craddock, police said, pulled out his pistol and started shooting. Trullard staggered along the street screaming as the bullets ripped into his body. He was dead on arrival at Receiving Hospital.

Craddock drove away with the girls and later telephoned police from a gas station, where he was arrested. He said he served in the Army during World War II and was medically discharged, hiding the fact to enlist in the Marines for Korean service.

"We're not trying to open the state to commercial gambling," said White, "but to show how bingo can be licensed and controlled to supply money to charitable groups and license fees to the state. Now we've got to educate people to support us at the polls."

A majority of signers came from Wayne County, but 60 of the state's 83 counties had signers.

If approved by voters in November, the Michigan constitution would be amended legalizing lotteries operated by fraternal, charitable, benevolent and similar groups for charitable purposes under laws made by the legislature.

Bingo and similar games are lotteries, according to the State Supreme Court, now banned by present constitutional provisions.

Uncle Charlie in Big Bare Trouble Over His $20,000 Pin-Up Ladies

By BILLY ROSE

Last month I took my Uncle Charlie to the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The painting he admired most was a nude by Sargent.

"How much is worth such a picture?" he asked.

BILLY ROSE

"Twenty thousand or better," I said . . .

Two weeks later, my Aunt Frieda phoned.

"Is big trouble," she said. "In case you can come, come."

That evening, when I walked into their Rivington Street flat, I noticed a strong odor of linseed oil and turpentine. On the living room walls there were half a dozen paintings, all executed by the same unsure hand and all of the same unclad lady.

"Where did these come from?" I asked.

"Is coming from your Uncle Charlie," said Frieda. "You are telling him a picture of a naked lady is worth twenty thousand dollars, so he is right away fixing up a studio in the basement and buying paints, brushes and likewise weasels and pullets."

"Who's the model?" I asked.

"A widow, by the name Sarah Shapiro," said my aunt. "She is charging your uncle two-dollars-fifty a hour she should pose without."

"If Charlie wants to be an artist," I said, "I guess he has to have a model."

"Where is flesh," said Frieda, "is also the devil. Likewise, is Charlie. Besides, so much flesh is indecent. Also not quite kosher."

"Aren't you being narrow-minded?" I said. "Churchill paints. So does Eisenhower."

"Hitler also was painting," said my aunt.

Our art discussion was interrupted by the entrance of Charlie, decked out in smock and beret. "I am famishing," he said. "I could eat a dog."

"That's what you will eat," said Frieda. "Is tonight frankfurters and canned beans."

"Since when are you serving ready-mades?" I asked my aunt, who is probably the best cook since Escoffier.

"Your uncle says he is a artist," said Frieda. "Well, a artist has gotta starve . . ."

Yesterday Charlie phoned me.

"Your aunt is making a scandal," he said. "She is posing for French postal cards."

"I don't believe you," I said. "Hold everything and I'll be down tonight."

All afternoon I chuckled at the idea of Frieda as an odalisk. She stands 61 inches in her carpet slippers, scales better than three pounds per inch, and her "altogether" would tax the photographic range of CinemaScope.

That night when I walked into their flat, it was Charlie who was smarting and Frieda who was smug.

"What's this about postcards?" I said.

"If the widow Shapiro can pose for your uncle," said Frieda, "I can pose likewise for a first-class artistic photographer."

My aunt gave me an elaborate wink.

"Looks like a standoff," I said to my uncle. "Why don't you two make a deal?"

"What kind deal?" asked Charlie.

"I'd suggest," I said, "that from now on you keep your eyes to yourself and Frieda keeps her clothes on."

"Is acceptable," said my aunt, "if all facsimiles of the widow Shapiro is removed from the walls and chucked out with the garbage."

"Agreed," said my uncle, "if Frieda is letting me tear in pieces all pictures of her already took."

"To Charlie I am not showing my pinup pictures," Frieda said to me. "But if you are wanting to tear them up, come in the bedroom."

My aunt and I went into her bedroom and from under the mattress Frieda extracted what she called a "vanilla envelope" containing a set of large negatives. When I examined them, I found they were X-rays of a fine set of vertebrae and several curvaceous ribs.

"What I am neglecting to tell Charlie," confided Frieda, "is that my high-class photographer is likewise Ben Schmulevitz, the family doctor. As usual each summer, he is X-raying me the chest."

"Bright girl," I said. "Now tell me what's for supper."

"Potted meatballs," said my aunt. "Also noodles."

"With cheese dressing?"

"On my table," said Frieda, "noodles is always with dressing. I run a respectable house."

Prisoner Fails in Law Attempt; Returns to Jail

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Gerald Mastracchio, 31, serving 15 years for attempted robbery, got a lesson in law yesterday from Judge Fred B. Perkins.

Serving as his own attorney, Mastracchio went before Superior Court with a petition for a writ of habeas corpus for his release from prison.

He said two other men had confessed the attempted robery for which he is serving time so he should be freed.

Judge Perkins explained to Mastracchio he drafted the wrong petition because he was not attacking the legality of the trial but was, in effect, claiming new evidence. What he should have brought, the judge said, was "a petition for a writ of error coram nobis."

Mastracchio went back to prison, presumably to draft a new petition.

Trick by Detective Saves Woman, 50

New York (UP) — A detective's ruse saved a middle-aged woman who, for an hour and a half, perched on a fifth-story hotel window ledge and threatened to jump.

Some 5,000 onlookers stood by as Mrs. Marion Oakes, about 50, was coaxed to safety last night. She said she was despondent over the death of her husband.

Police pleaded with her without success as she sat on the ledge of the Hotel Endicott screaming, "Gangsters are after me."

Finally, Detective Bob McDonald put on a white shirt backward, which in the darkness resembled a doctor's tunic, and keeping up a stream of pseudo-medical talk, persuaded her to step off the ledge "only for one minute."

She was then grabbed by another policeman. The woman was taken to a hospital for observation.

Auctioneer Boone Dies, Heard Often on Radio

ROBERSONVILLE, N. C. (UP) — F. E. Boone Sr., the man who made familiar to America the chant of the tobacco auctioneer, died at his home yesterday.

The 61-year-old Winchester, Ky., native had spent 40 years as a tobacco auctioneer and gentleman farmer. He died of heart disease.

He appeared in live broadcasts of a national network from 1937 to 1951, performing the auctioneer's chant.

Deadly Embrace Brings 18-Year Prison Sentence

BALTIMORE (UP) — Kenneth C. Kellar, who told a jury he accidentally shot his wife while embracing her, was sentenced yesterday to 18 years in the Maryland Penitentiary for second - degree murder.

The 23-year-old mother of two children was fatally shot in the head last January. Kellar said he was embracing her and stroking her hair with a hand that held a pistol.

Assembly KO's Rhee's Cabinet

98 Votes Four Short of Required Majority for Confirmation

SEOUL (AP) — South Korea's newly elected National Assembly today handed President Syngman Rhee a stiff and unexpected rebuke by refusing to confirm his new Cabinet.

Many of Rhee's own Liberal party members bolted to join independents and Democratic Nationalist in withholding confidence from the slate of ministers.

The vote was 98 for the Cabinet and 74 against, with 10 abstaining, 9 votes invalid and 12 absent.

The 98 votes were four short of the absolute majority, 102, needed for Cabinet confirmation in the 203-seat Legislature.

The opposition was led by Rhee's two strongest political enemies in the Democratic Nationalist party—former Assembly President P. H. Shinicky and Chough Pyong Ok.

The two were particularly critical of two holdovers from the previous Cabinet — former Finance Minister Pak Hi Hyun, newly appointed commerce and industry minister, and Paik Han Sung, reappointed home minister.

They accused Paik of police interference and intimidation in the May 20 general election, and blamed Pak for "a growing inflationary trend" in South Korea.

Under the Constitution, newly named Prime Minister Pyun Yung Tai, just promoted from foreign minister, must submit a new cabinet approved by Rhee.

Sunday Mail Service Resumed; Citizens Pay

SEVEN SPRINGS, N.C. (AP) — Sunday mail service will be resumed here July 18.

In what the Post Office Department described as an economy measure, the service was suspended last month.

Then the townspeople got together and raised $136, the annual cost of the service, which they sent to Washington.

It was returned today, along with a letter from F. B. Davis, district mail supervisor at Norfolk, Va., reinstating the service.

Dr. Andrew S. Creswell

Death entered the ranks of the Pontiac clergy early Monday morning taking Dr. Andrew S. Creswell. One of Pontiac's oldest pastors in point of service, he came to Pontiac in 1920 when what is now Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church was a mission Sunday school meeting in the Wisner School.

★ ★ ★

A rare spirit combining a devout Christian character, a modest, retiring nature with exceptional executive ability, he lived to see the mission grow to a church of more than 550 members and a Sunday school whose peak attendance was 400. He also was instrumental in the building in 1926 of the educational unit which was used for the church until the sanctuary was erected. It was dedicated in 1951.

Dr. Creswell also inspired and fostered three other churches of the denomination in the Pontiac area — Joslyn Avenue, Drayton Plains and Auburn Heights.

★ ★ ★

The fact that he was a living example of the truths he preached is evidenced in that his son, Andrew W. is a pastor, and his two daughters married ministers.

We sympathize with the family and his church in the loss of their loved one and leader.

★ ★ ★

But, Dr. Creswell will live on in Pontiac although his body has been laid to rest. The Christian impulses he has set in motion during his 34 years of service to the community and the leavening of his Christian personality will continue to bear fruit in years to come.

The Army Gets Wise

A youngster riding a bicycle on a Pontiac residential street the other day proudly wore a tee-shirt obviously three sizes too big. Across its front was emblazoned — "Every Man a Tiger — XXXth Medical Battalion."

★ ★ ★

Maybe that slogan of the bicycle rider's older brother's military outfit sounds corny to civilians. But the value of building faith and confidence in a body of men has been recognized by soldiers since the days of Julius Caesar.

Only the other day President Eisenhower signed into law a bill establishing as an official emblem of the Marine Corps the spreadeagle above the two hemispheres with the legend in its beak: "Semper Fidelis" — always faithful. Ex-Marines still get wrinkles in their spine when they see that emblem, now made official.

Although the Army has long set great store by unit loyalty, it breached its own doctrine by its system of replacement. In every war through Korea it has taken men out of their training units to to make replacements on an individual basis for fighting outfits depleted in battle.

Ask any ex-GI and he will tell you that the toughest of all assignments was to be a replacement. Fellow soldiers, especially those who had fought together, naturally resent the green, untried replacement.

Last year the Army began a "buddy" system in its training programs. Draftees were assigned in groups to training centers, and kept together until their actual integration into a service unit.

Now the Army is extending this system and abandoning its old individual replacement method. Next year overseas replacements will be made in platoons of 80 men. Later replacements will be made by battalions, and eventually by regiments.

It takes a long time, but the change is being made.

Cheering Progress

Announcement that more than five thousand persons have been cut off the federal payroll during May is welcome news to the Nation's taxpayers. It is also concrete evidence that the Eisenhower Administration is making good on its pledge to reduce the Government's huge payroll.

The net reduction since January 31, 1953, is 216,243. The latest cuts still leave 2,343,182 on Uncle Sam's payrolls.

★ ★ ★

The Hoover Commission's recommendation for consolidating Government bureaus and offices has been one of the most effective means through which these cuts have been made. In many cases cutting people off the payroll has speeded up rather than slowed the operations of Government. Fewer people are getting in each other's way today in Washington offices.

Mormons Didn't Leave Illinois, Missouri Due to Plural Marriages, Says Mr. Rife

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

In last Saturday's Press an article by Dr. Howard V. Harper stated that the Mormons left Illinois and Missouri largely because of their plural marriages.

Actually the Brigham Young group left for Utah because of attacks made on them by mobs in Illinois and Missouri. They left in search of a place where they could practice their beliefs in peace.

The group that went to Utah called themselves the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. The group that remained became the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Neither the original group, before Young's time, nor the group which remained, practiced plural marriage. Young's doctrine of plural marriage was advanced by him after he led his group west from Missouri to Utah.

The Reorganized church's headquarters now is at Independence, Missouri.

David Lawrence Says:

Red China Deal in U. N. Not Seriously Considered

WASHINGTON — Uneasiness over what's going on in Indochina seems to be increasing as suspicions are voiced here that maybe there is a deal on between France and Red China concerning the evacuation of certain areas in Southeast Asia.

Also rather vehement speeches have just been made by Sen. Knowland of California, Republican majority leader, and by Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada, Democrat, denouncing any idea of admission of Red China into the U. N., which they suspect may be part of a deal involving French support for that step in exchange for better terms for France in Indochina.

Both hypotheses are declared by French officials here in Washington to be baseless. As one of them explained it, why would any French general withdraw his troops before an armistice is signed, especially when negotiations at Geneva between the military men and the diplomats have by no means been concluded?

It was stated that obviously the withdrawal from certain parts of the rich delta area by the French is a strategic retreat and means only that a narrower perimeter will be established that can be more readily defended hereafter.

The situation is by no means stabilized. On the contrary, it presents possible complications for the United States and Great Britain.

For, if the French find themselves unable to defend the area to which they have retreated and if they feel compelled later to accept adverse terms in an armistice, the Paris government undoubtedly will once more ask for American and British military aid before resigning itself to the acceptance of the Communist proposals.

In other words, America and Britain may have to share in part the blame for the debacle.

There is some dispute as to what really has happened in recent months between the United States and France with reference to official discussion of military intervention.

The State Department's version is that the French government never formally asked for aid which, in effect, called for an internationalizing of the war in Indochina and for a vote of confirmation by the French Parliament as well as written requests by the governments involved that America come in.

The French version is that no government can ask formally for aid or promise an action by Parliament, that the meaning of the French diplomats who presented the matter informally was unmistakably clear and that the conditions set forth by the United States were unacceptable.

Some day when a "white paper" is issued on the subject, it will be interesting to examine the documents on both sides and see what led to the misunderstandings.

As for the military withdrawal, this, it is authoritatively declared by French spokesmen, was decided upon several weeks ago when Gen. Ely flew to Indochina on a special mission and that what's happening now is a consummation of the program adopted by the Laniel-Bidault government in Paris in May.

The issue of admission of Red China to the United Nations is not one that the French would raise, because they know how sensitive the American government is on that subject.

Rather it is suggested that revival of the discussion now is a result of the Churchill-Eisenhower talks which some British newspapers have linked with the possibility of a change in the Washington government's attitude. But there is no change coming.

Republicans as well as Democrats in Congress are united against admission of Red China into the U. N.

If any government on the allied side in Europe wants to press for admission for Red China and succeeds in persuading the Security Council to replace Nationalist China with Communist China, the end result will be action by Congress withdrawing from further participation by the United States in the U. N.

So European governments which may be anxious to placate Red China might better consider whether it is worth while to swap a Communist membership for an American membership.

Nothing could contribute more bitterness to a political controversy inside the United States—and it could affect appropriations for foreign aid and world policies in general — than a decision by our allies to take Red China to their bosoms notwithstanding the 140,000 casualties in Korea and the persistent refusal of the Communists to recede in the slightest from their course of aggression.

It would indeed be the beginning of the end of such prestige as the U. N. retains in America. The best information available here is that no government in Europe among our allies is seriously considering any such step at this time.

It certainly can hardly have any connection with what's happening in the negotiation of an armistice in Indochina.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(International News Service)

This is our feet-on-the-handlebars holiday. Once again we fight for liberty on the picnic grounds of America.

We are proud of the chicken salad and hardboiled egg bivouacs on the frontiers of the suburban developments. Never before have so many done so much to so many.

We are not riding herd on your patriotic outbursts of over-eating at the picnic grounds. We are concerned with your method of getting there.

Our advice to star-spangled drivers is to remember you have your family with you. Or won't they let you forget it?

Don't use too much horn in the jams, keep your foot off the gas and confine your arm signals to a combination candy-pull and yo-yo contest.

Don't get shaking your fist and hollering vital statistics at the driver in front. Remember it might be a holiday for him too.

The Constitution guarantees you life, liberty and pursuit by traffic cops. Don't wrap your picnic lunch up in it.

This advice is prepaid and tax-free. In case you lock bumpers with the car in front he has the courtesy of the road. From then on your arm signals don't count.

America has the finest roads in the world. Stay on them. America has the best hospitals in the world. Stay out of them.

Transportation has changed since the hoss-and-buggy days when the only windshield wipers were the hoss's tail.

Nobody ever whizzed by anybody else in either direction. They didn't tip your hat with a bump. Let's have an old-fashioned Fourth and celebrate the fifth and sixth too.

Just A Smile

Now You Know

"How did you compile your great dictionary?" the lexicographer was asked.

"Oh, it was something like having a quarrel with one's wife—one word led to another."

Cured

A film magnate notorious for long after-dinner speeches now expresses himself with brevity. He explains: "During one of my speeches one man said to another: 'What follows this speaker?' And the other replied, 'Wednesday.'"

Case Records of a Psychologist

Don't Let Hospitalization Insurance Lure You Into Negative, Sick Thoughts

Dr. Henry believes that Americans are being encouraged to indulge in negative, sick thoughts, which is why so many of them needlessly go to hospitals. So beware! Don't become subconsciously invalided to cash in on your hospitalization insurance policy.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case L-347: Henry R., aged 48, is a successful physician.

"Dr. Crane, what do you think about the effects of the great stress nowadays on modern hospitalization insurance?" he asked when we dined together recently.

"I suppose most people would think me a 'nut' to criticize the idea, but I actually think hospitalization insurance causes more sickness than it heals.

"For example, I find that people who never thought about illness before, now read all the ailments for which they are covered in their policies, and sooner or later they get into a negative, sickly frame of mind.

"Maybe it is just a subconscious process by which they try to recover some returns on the money they pay out for premiums.

"My mother, for example never was sick in her life till my Dad recently took out hospitalization insurance. And now they both have been in and out of hospitals half a dozen times."

Dr. Henry has a good point in what he says, for there is no denying the fact that if you start looking for symptoms, you'll soon find them.

For we are all suggestible. And the more we know, the more suggestible we become.

So when we have comprehensive hospitalization insurance we tend to start thinking negatively. Subconsciously we look for symptoms that might warrant a trip to the hospital.

Maybe Dr. Henry is correct in saying it is often a subconscious attempt to recover some money for the premiums we have paid out.

For many people then subconsciously begin to feign illness, just as many auto drivers trump up claims for accident insurance on the car.

For example, I have seen men actually dent their fenders worse after a small collision because their policy paid only on damages that exceeded $50, and they feared the actual dent wasn't $50 worth.

Thus, in effect, they made their car "sicker" in order to qualify for their insurance.

Well, if men will do that with an automobile, why won't they also malinger?

This may be done subconsiously, so they will swear in all sincerity that they are really ill, yet the entire ailment may be psychologically induced.

Hospitalization insurance has many financial assets. And it is a boon to young married couples who are expecting to have 3 or 4 babies. For the maternity charges, hospital care, etc. are then paid by the insurance company.

It is unfortunate, however, that hospitalization insurance is a two-edged sword and hurts as well as helps.

For I have personally seen many cases where the patients would have been well and happy and back on the job in 24 hours, except for the fact they had hospitalization insurance and thus subconsciously wanted to take advantage of it to get returns on their invested permiums.

So think positively and you'll seldom be sick.

Dr. Brady Gets in All Kinds of Trouble; He's Jumped On If He Does or Doesn't

By WILLIAM BRADY M.D.

It isn't much fun running a lady-like column in which one makes no assertions that may induce any one to crack back, and I'm tired of playing Don Quixote.

So from now on I shall not go out of my way to engage in controversies but—don't provoke me.

Upon reflection I realized that I have made no friends by getting into these endless hassles. On the confrary, I have made some powerful enemies.

For instance, for my teachings about conservation of the teeth, dentists and the toothbrush people do not like me at all.

However, I have constantly harped on the indispensability of regular inspection and treatment by the dentist if you hope to save your teeth.

Ever since I turned quack and launched this health column I have been sticking my neck out to assure readers that aluminum kitchen or cooking ware is healthful to use.

This made a few more enemies, but the only indication I have had that the aluminum ware or baking powder interests know about it is a letter I received from a salesman who requested that I state my views in a letter duly attested, which he could show to people who—and the fellow did not enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

* * *

I formerly advised people about the use of butter and oleomargarine in the diet, from the standpoint of their comparative value for health and nutrition.

I have found that when I recommended the use of butter, the margarine people lodged indignant protests where they thought they could do me the most harm.

When I recommended the use of oleomargarine, the dairy people did likewise. Buffeted on all sides, I ought to know enough to keep my trap closed on such subjects as milk and manufactured food products. But it seems I never learn.

* * *

For answering a query about growing hair on a bald head in a truthful way right opposite a half-page splurge of a new hair grower I was driven out of a town in the northeast, and for urging people to use the staff of life instead of refined white flour I was driven out of another town of the same name in the northwest.

Well, folks, after all, my circulation is better than ever before, so I may as well keep hammering away just as long as one out of ten thousand says "Thank you, Doctor, and may the good Lord bless and keep you."

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Swim Classes Sign Up 500

Youngsters Enrolling at 5 Waterford Beach Locations

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — More than 500 youngsters have enrolled in swimming classes being conducted at five township beach sites, Thomas Belton, township recreation superintendent, reported today.

An additional 50 children per day turned out at four recreational playgrounds, Belton said. The swimming and playground sessions are part of the recreation department's summer program.

Today is the deadline for signing up the swimming classes, Belton said. Instruction is given for beginners, intermediates and advanced swimmers. Swimmers may also qualify for both Junior and Senior Red Cross lifesaving ratings.

In addition to the crafts, games and sports, the playground program features archery lessons by Bill Carland. All archery equipment is furnished by the recreation department.

Belton said there is still room for anyone interested in the course. Further information may be obtained by phoning the department office, OR 3-9152.

Belton also announced that registration for day camp in the Highland Recreation area is still open. The camp will begin next week and continue through Aug. 6. Buses will pick up and return the enrollees.

New Well Boosting City's Water Supply

One of three new Pontiac city water wells near Silver Lake began pumping yesterday at the rate of 740 gallons per minute, according to City Water Superintendent Joseph W. Gable.

Water pressure in the city's north end, which has been the trouble area, was noticeably improved, said Gable. Another of the new wells is expected to begin pumping next week, he added.

The added supply will probably bring Pontiac through the holiday weekend with no appreciable drop in watef pressure, the superintendent stated.

Quake Kills 22 in Philippines

80-Second Jolt Does 'Enormous' Property Damage to City

MANILA (AP)—At least 22 persons were reported dead and scores were injured today in a strong earthquake which jolted the central Philippines.

The provincial capital of Sorsogon bore the brunt of the quake and a police official there reported 20 persons were dead and enormous property damage. Two others were killed at Legaspi City to the north.

Capt. Isagani Abella, commander of the Sorsogon constabulary garrison radioed police headquarters here:

"Twenty persons believed dead this capital alone. Property damage enormous. Concrete fence around our camp and our radio transmitter station totally wrecked. Our headquarters badly damaged. . . ."

Eighty per cent of the old buildings in Sorsogon, a city of 26,000, were destroyed, Philippine News Service said. The towering steeple on a Catholic cathedral toppled.

Communications with the area, on the southeastern tip of Luzon, were disrupted. Meager reports were relayed here from a ship in Sorsogon harbor.

The first lightning rod was installed by Benjamin Franklin in 1752.

Bob Considine Says:

Ike Would Rather Run Than 'Let People Down'

NEW YORK (INS) — The Passing Show —

Will Eisenhower run again? I asked one of the two or three closest men to him that question the other day. After some time he answered:

"He's in pretty much the same position now as he was when he was running SHAPE. He didn't want to run for the GOP nomination then, but finally it got to the point where he felt he would be letting a lot of people down if he didn't run. So he did. We're counting on getting him to feel the same way in 1956."

Saw a kid of ours off to camp yesterday and never realized before what an emotional orgy this whole practice is. Or what a big business. Grand Central Terminal was alive with children as we led our sacrificial offering into what must be one of the world's largest caverns without stalactites.

Many kids were wearing T-shirts stitched with the unpronounceable Indian names of their camps. There was an occasional rash of tears among the tenderest campers-to-be. But the principal pathos was provided by the parents.

All parents wanted tearfully to kiss their spawn good-bye. All spawn, I quickly detected, were willing to face death before a firing squad rather than be bussed in full view of future bunk-mates. All of which led to some of the fanciest shadow-boxing since Billy Conn retired from what has been called the squared circle.

The children seemed relieved when ordered to line up and march to their trains. Counsellors severely warned parents that they must not follow the moppets through the iron gates to see that they were properly watered, fed, and bedded down.

The children marched off, proud in their independence, and a lot of parents — New York variety — suddenly wished they were back in their smaller towns, where offering a child "the country" consisted mainly of opening the front door and saying "git!"

Speaking of the old, old America, a man high up in dog foods — I know them all — informs me by exclusive mimeograph that nobody ever names a dog Fido or Rover any more.

Top name in 1954 A. D. is "Pal." Behind "Pal," man's best friend, comes Shep, King, Blackie, Spot, Prince, Queenie, Freckles, Ginger, Jackie, Lassie, Rusty, Susie, Penny, Sport and Skippy. Apparently in the disorder named.

Fido was a foppish name. But Rover was a fine name, full of dignity and character. Let's have more of same.

It's hard for people to understand why we, the most generous of nations, can be hated overseas. But take the case of our adventure at Cheng-Tu in China, in the early days of the B-29.

We chose the area as a base from which to bomb Japan. To create airstrips long enough to mount the raids we had to take over and destroy Chinese farms which had been worked (often by the same families) since before the birth of Christ.

We changed the whole economy of the area by giving the people money, where they had always traded in goods—chiefly rice. One of the first B-29s using the field crashed into a ramshackle village the people who built the strips had created, killing many of them. These people had never seen a Japanese; found it difficult to believe that the Japs, rather than we, were the enemy.

Then there was the prospective bride who said to her mother, "He's okay, I guess, but he's got a terrible oedipus complex."

"Oedipus siedipus," snapped the grand dame. "What difference does it make so long as he's good to his mother?"

Good Old Days

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (INS)—A reminder of the "good old days" has been placed in the State Museum in the Capitol by the Missouri Division of Resources and Development. An old ledger, carefully kept in 1953 by a merchant in Tuscumbia, Mo., includes an entry that should drive 20th century housewives slightly mad with envy: It cites a sale where coffee costs "12 cents a pound."

Hal Boyle Says:

Fourth of July Will Find New DOA Club Members

Editor's note: The National Safety Council forecasts a record number of deaths over the 4th of July weekend. In the interest of a safe and sane holiday, we are reissuing the following column which was widely praised by safety officials last year.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Death got up early this morning.

As America began to celebrate the long Independence Day weekend, Death promptly went on overtime.

For when mankind has a holiday for any reason, Death can know no idleness. He must tabulate a great human self-slaughter.

* * *

And so it was Death rose early today. He had a lot to do in the busy days ahead. He had many a mortal rendezvous to keep on highway and byway, in homes and saloons, on pond and pavement, on mountain cliff and summer playground.

* * *

For Death had a double duty. He had not only his usual job to do, the escorting of the sick and old and life-worn across his pale frontier. He had his extra holiday clients to attend to. The lost battalion of the needless dead.

On such days as these, Death, the fair weather friend of the foolish, initiates new members into the D.O.A. club. This club has no dues and no life memberships. It is made up of unseeing holiday victims who are brought to hospitals and tagged with a card bearing three initials that stand for "dead on arrival."

* * *

Yes, Death got up early this morning. For by next Monday night there are hundreds of Americans he must meet and wave to their doom— a D.O.A tag. The potential membership crop was large and the land was wide, and Death is conscientious. He didn't want anyone who earned that tag to miss it.

* * *

Wherever Americans set out to celebrate the holiday, this skeletal comrade of the stupid and careless went right along for the fun. And here is what he will say to some, or perhaps is already saying even now:

In 10,000 cars rounding 10,000 curves, he whispers to the driver, "Go on and pass that car ahead of you. Never mind what your wife is saying. What makes her think there might be another car coming around the bend toward you anyway? Wives are always worrying about something."

But on some of the curves another car does come around the bend. There is a scream and a crash of metal. And Death says to the silent husband, "So long, sucker." And he says to the silent wife, "You'll never have to live with another fool, dear." Then he walks over to the silent, huddled driver of the second car and says, "Pal, I know you didn't want to join our organization, but I am only taking membership, and this other guy nominated you. And now you belong."

* * *

Or Death puts his arm around a teen-age high school driver and says, "Faster, kid, faster. Boy, you're a real hot rodder. Sure, you can see clear in the moonlight. Let's see how close you can come to that bridge abutment." A moment later the boy's ribs are in his lungs, blood drowns his whimpers, and Death tags him and says, "You know, I almost thought you'd make it. Well, even counting the funeral costs, I still saved your folks most of the $5,000 they'd put away for your college education."

* * *

And somewhere a mother at a picnic, busy fixing the lunch, is sure someone else in the family is keeping an eye on the child who toddles toward the lakefront. And, sure enough, someone is. "Come in, little boy," says Death from the water. "I will catch you, and your mother will never, never forget you again. See the pretty tag I have for you?"

* * *

An overweight man of 45 with a fading heart calls across the tennis court to his son, "Junior, I'll beat you this fifth set or drop dead." And as he wearily lifts his racquet, Death taps him and says, "Drop."

Death waits on a darkened porch as a little girl in a filmy dress sneaks out with a sparkler in her hand. "Go ahead and light the sparkler all by yourself," coaxes Death. "You're a big girl now."

When the screams die into silence, Death hurries to a room where a holiday-lonely man, sick with self-pity, looks at the gun in his hand and mutters, "Would I be any more lonely dead?" And Death, writing his tag, says, "Well, come and see."

So Death will move at a ceaseless pace today, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, playing his deadly game of tag across all America with the holiday risk-takers and their victims. And the foolish. And the unwary. Wherever he pauses an ambulance will follow, halt, pick up a still burden and race with it to a hospital where it will get the epitaph:

"D.O.A.—dead on arrival."

McCarthy Gives Two Books to Pontiac Library

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy recently made the Pontiac City Library a gift of two books which he has authored. They are:

"The Story of General Marshall" and "McCarthyism, the Fight for America."

Librarian Adah Shelly said postage on the books, two copies of each, was paid by Sen. McCarthy. He apparently is distributing them to libraries on a nationwide scale, Miss Shelly added.

Mundt Opposes GOP Proposal

Says Possible Curb on One-Man Hearings Is Dangerous

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD), opposed as "dangerous" today a proposal by Senate Republican policy makers to curb so-called "one-man hearings" in the future.

The second-ranking member of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's investigations subcommittee said he disagrees with this and one other of the nine changes recommended by the GOP Policy Committee.

Sens. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich) and Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash), who also are on the McCarthy unit, said they approve generally the proposed changes.

Jackson said "The problem still is enforcement" but he added: "The policy committee should be commended for their effort to find a solution."

Mundt objected to this group's suggestion that committees be authorized to hold hearings only if a quorum is present, with the option of voting to make one majority and one minority member a quorum.

He maintained this "would get a dangerous precedent and give a Russia-type veto to the minority" since by simply staying away the minority party could prevent a quorum and block a hearing.

The proposal, an apparent outgrowth of objections to a provision for a one-man quorum on McCarthy's and other committees, was described by Mundt as a step toward "government by absenteeism."

Mundt also opposed the policy unit's proposal that "no investigation shall be initiated unless the Senate or the full committee having jurisdictioin has specifically authorized such investigation."

He contended that if inquiries have to be announced in advance, "It would involve smearing a lot of people in public" before their innocence could be established in preliminary checks. Jackson agreed that this proposal "may be too stringent."

Flood Victim Never Thought It Could Happen

By ROBERT H. JOHNSON JR.

PIEDRAS NEGRAS, Mex. (AP) — Emilio Sandoval sat slumped in a straight-backed chair in the doorway of his ruined hotel. He rubbed the three-day stubble of black and gray on his jaw and glanced back at the bare room, at the warped boards cluttering the stone floor, at the five-foot water mark on the walls.

"You will forgive me, please, if I don't get up," he said.

* * *

His clenched fist made a circular motion over the pit of his stomach.

"I am upset by this," he said. "I have a bad feeling in here."

Monday night Sandoval had been hurrying to clear the lobby of his hotel before flood waters moved in. He was trapped in the hotel when the rising water took a sudden surge.

* * *

"I never thought to see it happen," he said. "Nothing like it ever happened before — to see the water racing down that street."

That is why Sandoval is like most of the living and the dead in Piedras Negras — they never thought to see it happen.

Now the border sun bakes the caked mud in the streets and shimmers off the foul waters still standing in many places. There is no water system left in the town of some 35,000 across the Rio Grande from Eagle Pass. Children squat and scoop water out of the streets to quench their thirst, and old women bending double to wash their clothing in the pools bring it up coated with slime.

* * *

Across the border south Texans have gathered up donations of food and a helicopter assigned to the Red Cross by Gary Air Force Base, San Marcos, Tex., brings it across, trip after trip. But the only distribution system is to pile the food in pickup trucks and drive it to camps that sprawl squalidly over the hills around town.

Mexican authorities bring in tank trucks full of pure water from inland towns but there isn't enough to go around.

Detroit School Head Given Salary Boost

DETROIT (AP) — Arthur M. Dondinau, superintendent of Detroit Schools, has a pay raise Thursday. His new three-year contract calls for a $5,000 increase to $25,000 a year. It matches the pay of Mayor Cobo, making them the two highest paid public officials in Michigan.

Wild Cherry Leaves Cause Cattle Deaths

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Wilted leaves from the wild cherry tree were named as the culprits in the recent death of three Hereford steers, on a nearby farm.

Dr. Ted Jackson, veterinarian, perfomed a post-mortem, and said death was due to the wilted leaves. He said the wild cherry leaves are not normally dangerous, but wilting causes a toxic effect.

He urged farmers to keep broken and low branches out of reach of cattle.

Sir Richards Says He Isn't Retiring

LONDON (AP)—Sir Gordon Richards, who at 50 has won more races than any other jockey in the world, will retire in November and become a trainer the London Daily Express said today.

Richards has ridden nearly 4,900 winners since 1921.

Later, however, Sir Richards denied he planned to retire in November. "This is fantastic," he said.

Young Brothers Drown in Lake at Vicksburg

VICKSBURG (AP) — Dickie Randall, 13, and his brother Paul, 6, drowned Thursday in Sunset Lake within the city limits. Police said the boys were fishing from a Grand Trunk Railway bridge when Paul fell into the water.

Dickie dived in after him, but neither could swim. Dennis, 7, another brother ran for help. Larry Clubb, 15, arrived too late to save the boys but recovered their bodies. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Randall.

'The Caine Mutiny' . . . by Wouk

A picture flashed across Willie's mind: The narrow dark fruit store in the Bronx which he had once visited, tended by May's mother and father.

The mother was fat, wore a shapeless rusty black dress, and had a hairy face. The father was a wizened man in a dirty apron, with gaps in his brown teeth. They had both seemed warmly goodnatured in the few broken sentences they had spoken to him.

Another grotesque image presented itself: Mrs. Minotti and his mother shaking hands. He shook his head.

"Well, there was a nurse I once didn't marry," said his father thoughtfully. "But I have no regrets. Your mother and I have had a fine life—Well, they'll be wondering what happened to us." Still he made no move to go.

"Dad, is there something else you want to talk about?"

The father hesitated. "Nothing that can't wait." He put his hand on his son's shoulder. "This isn't necessarily a bad time for you, Willie. The Navy."

"Not if I emerge in one piece. It might do me good."

"It might—Let's go."

Willie glanced at his watch as they re-entered the living room. Five to four. He made hasty excuses to the guests, over-riding his mother's loud protests.

She followed him to the door. "When will I see you again, dear?" she said as he pulled the belt tight on his blue raincoat.

"Next Saturday, Mom, if I stay out of trouble."

"Oh, no. I'll come and see you before that."

* * *

It was twenty past six when he rushed into the Stork Club. At 11:25 Willie and May climbed into a taxi and fell into the most racking kisses they had ever exchanged. It was not pleasure, it was torment which neither could stop. The taxi drew up under the street lamp at the entrance to Furnald Hall. "Keep going," he said chokingly to the driver.

"Where to, mister?"

"I don't care. Up and down Riverside Drive. Just so we get back here by midnight."

"Right, mister."

The driver started his motor and slid the glass panel closed between himself and his passengers. The taxi plunged downhill to the Drive. There were more kisses and broken futile words.

May held Willie's head comfortingly to her bosom, and stroked his hair. "Sometimes I think you like me," she said.

"I don't know why God makes human jellyfish like Willie Keith—"

"You know what Marty Rubin says?"

"Damn Marty Rubin."

"You don't know it, Willie, but he's a friend of yours."

Willie sat up. "This whole mess started with him."

"I asked him what I ought to do about you."

"And he said throw me out."

"No. He says he thinks you really love me."

"Well, hooray for Marty."

"He wondered whether I would become more acceptable to your mother if I enrolled in college."

Willie was astounded. Moaning and protesting his undying love was one thing. But this was a serious matter.

"I could do it," said May eagerly. "I could still get into the February class at Hunter. I had good marks in high school though you do consider me an ignoramus. I even have a Regents' scholarship, if it's still good. Marty says he can get me enough bookings in and around New York to keep me going. I only work nights, anyway."

Willie wanted to spar for time. His beautiful prize was drifting within reach again, but on sobering terms. May regarded him with lustrous, hopeful eyes. Her hard-boiled wariness was all gone.

"Could you stand going back to school?"

"I'm pretty tough," she said.

Willie realized that she spoke truly. She was not a companion for good times any more, but a challenger to his mother for his life. It had all changed in a few minutes; he was dizzied. "I'll tell you God's truth, May. I don't think it would make a particle of difference to my mother."

"Would it to you?"

Willie looked into her yes, and quailed, and turned away.

"Don't trouble, darling," she said with sudden dryness. "I predicted the answer to Marty. I said I don't blame you. I don't. Tell the little man to take you back to the Navy. It's late."

But when the taxi parked again at Furnald Hall and Willie had to get out and leave May behind forever, he couldn't do it. At three minutes to twelve, he started a desperate harangue to recover lost ground.

On the sidewalk outside, midshipmen were running, walking, and staggering toward the entrance. Several were kissing girls in nooks of the building. The tenor of Willie's plea was that he and May ought to live for the hour, and gather rosebuds while they might.

"Listen, Willie darling," said May, "for the last time, because we're all finished. I'm a poor Bronx girl with a lot of problems. I don't want to add a hopeless romance to them.

"All I want is a chance to make some money and live in peace. I was a fool to fall in love with you, and I don't know why I did, because you're a bigger fool than I am.

"Emotionally you're about fifteen, and when you hair stands up in back you look like a rabbit, which is frequently. I guess I'm a sucker for comparative literature. Hereafter I'll steer clear of any man with more than a public-school education and—For God's sake," she broke off irritably, "why do you keep looking at your watch?"

"I'm getting demerits," said Willie.

"Get out—get out of my life. I'll never see you again!" stormed the girl. "You must be my punishment for not going to mass. Get out!"

"May, I love you," said Willie, opening the door.

"Dorp dead," cried May. She pushed him out and slammed the door.

Cutter Speeds to Fishermen

14 Japanese Stranded on Russian-Held Island; Reds Fail to Help

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese Coast Guard today ordered one of its cutters into Russian waters to rescue 14 hipwrecked Japanese fishermen stranded on a rocky point in the Soviet-held Kurile Islands.

* * *

The fishermen have been radioing for help from barren Shinshiri Island, about 400 miles northeast of Japan's northernmost island, since their boat was wrecked in a dense fog June 29.

* * *

The 270-ton patrol boat Tenryu was ordered to land a rescue party on the island, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

"We have also kept requesting Russian authorities to extend help to the Japanese fishermen, but so far have received no answer," the spokesman said.

* * *

"The Tenryu is now proceeding at full speed and is continually radioing to Russian authorities that it is entering Russian territorial waters because of imminent danger to the fishermen and because of lack of a Russian reply," he said.

* * *

No Japanese ship has been sent into Russian waters around the Kuriles since World War II.

Japanese Bean Delight Dampens Celebration

TAURA, Japan (AP)—Police in this small town celebrated the nationalization of Japan's police forces yesterday with oshiruko, a traditional New Year's dish made with sweet red beans.

But what's good in January isn't always so good in July.

---

Forty-nine of the 53 police collapsed. Of these, 23 went to the hospital suffering from acute numbness. The other 26 were suffering from a violent diarrhea.

U. S. Completely Stymied in Her Idealistic Policies

Eden arose when the British blocked his plans for a meeting a few days in advance of the Geneva conference. Britain wanted no part of such a move before Geneva. She promised to explore it when peace negotiations were ended.

* * *

Since that time U. S. policy has been stymied. For various reasons it proved impossible to set up an alliance without Britain. A few weeks ago it appeared that Geneva would fail to get peace. But then a French government upheaval and certain Communist maneuvers caused the British, French and others to take more hope. Meanwhile, Churchill had sent word he wanted to come to Washington.

Also, five Asian countries—Indonesia, India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon—met at Colombo and discussed the twin problems, as they see the, of Western colonialism and international communism. They tended to split between the Western and Communist sides.

* * *

Just before coming to Washington, Eden suggested a nonaggression system which would involve Western countries and Red China in guarantees to secure the safety of Indochina. This was an obvious bid by Britain for the support of India and if possible, Indonesia—countries the British knew would never join in a Southeast Asian anti-Communist pact.

* * *

Another development parallel with the Churchill talks here was the visit of Red China's premier and foreign minister, Chou En-lai, to Pandit Nehru on his way home from Geneva.

In all these matters initiative seemed to rest with the French in trying to get an Indochina peace, with the British in trying to find a new approach to the Asian problem, and with Red China in trying to woo Nehru out of his chosen neutralism into a friendlier attitude toward Peiping.

Some of the nations most friendly to the United States in the Southwest Pacific-Southeast Asia area are distressed by the way things have gone. The recently re-elected Australian government has hardened its position on Southeast Asia and now is urging action much faster than is Britain. New Zealand seems to have taken the same position.

* * *

At a meeting here Wednesday, representatives of Australia, New Zealand and the United States expressed "satisfaction" — apparently a carefully selected word — with the Churchill - Eisenhower agreement that plans for a collective Asian defense should be pressed forward. But among themselves they agreed upon, and announced, a "need for immediate action." Diplomats say the Philippines and Thailand feel the same way about it.

* * *

Secretary Dulles has before him a plan to go ahead quickly and create some kind of a coalition by common understanding or agreement among nations willing to cooperate — and to do so with or without Britain.

Eden has taken the position it will require a long time to work out a treaty. Even when Indochinese peace negotiations have taken a decisive turn, perhaps within the next 18 days, American authorities are not sure how enthusiastically the British will act on a security system.

* * *

For that matter, some of the best informed and most astute U.S. authorities are not sure how quickly this country can move either.

* * *

Watching parts of Indochina "go down the drain," as the saying is, the government clearly has been of two minds. Some authorities like Dulles (at least last March) and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, felt the United States had to intervene to save Indochina. There were others who talked strongly and publicly about the possible need for intervention, among them Senate Republican Leader Knowland and Vice President Nixon.

Still others such as Secretary of Defense Wilson made clear that no money nor authority was being asked of Congress for such action and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey virtually ruled it out with statements about keeping taxes at nonemergency levels.

It is always difficult for a nation with divided councils at home to exert vigorous leadership abroad. French diplomats pointed this out privately. So did the British and others. There were forces in Britain pressing toward separate action on her part. The United States itself took the position that Indochina was a French problem and the French would have to solve it as best they could.

* * *

It is difficult to say when the chances of American intervention dropped off virtually to zero.

* * *

It probably was shortly after the fall of the fortress of Dien Bien Phu. It became apparent then that the French could not continue indefinitely to fight the war with the combat help of only native forces while policy makers of the Allied world haggled over the conditions and circumstances under which one or another nation might join in and give help.

Fishing in such muddy and troubled waters as those which cover the whole disastrous Indochina situation. American officials at the moment are able to define the best and worst they hope for.

At best they believe that the French - Communist negotiations may produce a settlement which will keep most of Indochina free. They envision such a settlement as partitioning Viet Nam, between the Reds in the North and the native non-Communist government in the South, and leaving Laos and Cambodia whole and free to run their own affairs.

* * *

At the worst — and there is a possibility this is the way it may go — the Reds would take over a large area of Viet Nam and get political agreements covering the rest of that state and of Laos and Cambodia which would pave the way for successful Red infiltration and seizure of power later on. That way all of Indochina would go down the drain.

* * *

There is a chance, of course, that the peace negotiations will collapse. Eisenhower and Churchill agreed to prepare for collective defense whether the war goes on or not.

MORE

But in fact, the strong hope is now based, as one official put it, on a conviction that the Communists "simply can't be so stupid" as to throw away the opportunity to make an extremely favorable settlement in Indochina with the new Pierre Mendes-France government at Paris.

* * *

If the war does go on, then the whole question of intervention will again become a live issue. But there is no evidence that the Eisenhower administration would again crank up the strong enthusiasm shown by some of its leaders two to three months ago for intervention.

* * *

One reason the United States is not now able to exercise a more decisive influence is that there seems to be no agreement either inside the U. S. government or outside it among allies as to where any Indochina dividing line can be drawn and therefore what commitments can be promised.

There is some apprehension here that as part of any deal the Reds will demand and may well get French recognition for Communist China. Some authorities at least regard this as a probability. Coupled with existing British recognition and with British efforts to improve relations with Red China, French acceptance of the Peiping regime would strengthen Red China's bid for membership in the United Nations in place of Nationalist China.

* * *

The United States recognizes the Nationalists and its policy in that respect is rock-hard. The whole issue may well develop fast enough for a showdown in the U.N. meetings in the fall.

* * *

The Red China problem is one of the most disruptive in British-American relations. It has caused more political attacks on Britain here, and more on the United States in Britain, than probably any other question.

Furthermore, the passage of time seems not to mellow but to freeze the opposing policies. In Congress now there is talk of pulling the United States out of the U. N. if Red China goes in. That would split this country apart from its allies to an extreme degree since, at least, on paper, the defensive alliances to which the United States belongs, generally acknowledge a legal link with the U. N. and are regarded by many of the other members as doing U. N. work in the face of Russia's veto.

* * *

There is, finally, a deeper difference between the United States and Britain—or between Churchill and Eisenhower—which was dramatically exposed in the statements made by the President and Prime Minister to newsmen this week, even though their joint statements emphasized harmony and glossed over contradictions of view.

That is a pressing compulsion to go to almost any lengths to find some way of making terms with the Communists because of the dreadful alternative of an increasing danger of conflict.

The British point of view is not that of the United States and Russia, whose apprehensions about destruction are quite often obscured by muscle-flexing in the form of new jet bomber flights and atomic weapons claims.

England is no longer a champion in a world of two giants. It is desperately seeking a way to prevent the giants from coming to blows. For many months now this effort has tended to pull it away from the United States.

Redford Twp. Collision Kills Three Detroiters

Just the Thing for Picnics

Here is a three-tiered set of plates which will find several places to come in handy around your house. It will be handy for picnics in the yard, for it will hold several kinds of food, yet take up only room for one plate.

You can make these tiered plates in two different ways. You will need three paper plates, and three empty thread spools.

The plates can be all one size, or they can be in three different sizes. Put the first plate down, then use household cement and stick the first spool on the plate.

Put your next plate on the top of the spool and cement these together. Make one more layer. You can leave the top plate without a handle, or cement another spool to the center to serve as a handle.

Let this dry for several hours. These also make nice jewelry trays, use colored plates and paint the spools.

If you want to have your plates farther apart, set two thread spools between the plates and cement them together. Remember, the secret in making these is to let the cement dry completely.

Cheese Puff Is Perfect for Summer

Add Salad, Dessert to Make Tempting Luncheon

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

No cook wants to spend hours in the kitchen during hot weather. One main dish like Cheese Puff is welcomed by both cook and those who eat it.

Add a salad and dessert, and you have a fine luncheon. Mrs. Leo Marleau of Bloomfield Hills shares this recipe with us.

A former nurse, Mrs. Marleau now confines her interests to her home and family. She has been both a Girl Scout and Extension club leader and continues her interest in Scouting through her 12-year-old daughter. The Marleaus enjoy entertaining their many friends.

CHEESE PUFF
By Mrs. Leo Marleau

8 slices day old bread
6 ounces processed American cheese
2 cups milk or 1 cup evaporated milk and 1 cup water
3 eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Trim crusts off bread and halve diagonally. Make a pinwheel of 8 halves, putting them in an ungreased shallow casserole. Cover with cheese slices ¼ inch thick. Top with the rest of the bread slices.

Beat eggs slightly, add seasonings. Add milk and beat well. Pour over cheese sandwiches. Let stand 1 hour. Bake in a 350 oven for 1 hour or until puffed. Serve as soon as possible, although this dish may be reheated.

For variety, tomato juice may be used in place of the milk, adding ½ teaspoon celery salt, ½ teaspoon mustard or ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Foil That Squeak!

A squeaky door or carpet sweeper can be quite annoying to the hard-working housewife. A light oil, like sewing-machine oil or a little bit of soap rubbed on, will remove the friction and the squeak.

Gutter Care Helps House Look Better

Cleaning, Painting Keeps Stains From Wood Siding

By HUBBARD COBB

They say that a good paint job on the outside of a house should last from 4 to 5 years and it's a good thing it does because no matter how it's sliced, painting a house is either a lot of work or requires a lot of money.

Now nothing can ruin the appearance of a fresh looking paint job faster than a lot of dirt and rust streaks and the primary cause of these headaches are gutters. And that goes for all gutters that aren't properly cared for and cleaned.

It doesn't make much difference what the gutter is made out of. It can be wood, galvanized iron, copper or aluminum.

The fact remains that if the gutter becomes filled with dirt and debris, if it is not properly supported so that it sags, water will collect at the low spot, flow over the sides of the gutter and leave nice wide dirt streaks on the fresh paint.

If the gutter is rusty, you will end up with rust spots and if the joints are not tight you'll get leaks here that will stain the outside walls.

It's not a difficult matter to get gutters in good order if they are sound to begin with. Check them first with a level to be sure that there are no low spots and see that each gutter is pitched towards the opening that connects to the leader on downspout.

If there is a sag or low spot, hoist the gutter back into place and install a bracket or hanger to give it some support. Give the gutters a good cleaning out while you are at it.

Even the best gutter can become flooded during a heavy rain storm and if the interior is dirty you will get stains. Make sure that each joint is tight.

Galvanized gutters will start to rust in time if not kept painted. For the inside, swab down with roofing compound. This will keep out the rust. Copper gutters should be either painted or coated with varnish. This will prevent the rain washing copper stains down on the sidewalls.

Oh, to Look Like Mommy!

The desire of little girls to imitate their mothers manifests itself in many ways: in their playing at going marketing, in their donning discarded dresses and high heels and in their giving loving attention to the washing, feeding and bedtime ritual of their dolls.

They will learn to give as careful attention to their own cleanliness when their mothers point out that such things as plenty of soap and water, as well as cosmetics, are behind their pretty appearance.

By the time your little girl is four, even three, you can make a point of noting that the soap with which you bathe her helps you to keep your skin smooth and fine looking.

Like any woman, she'll be much more impressed when she knows that sudsings do more than rub her skin clean. If they will help her to grow up to look like Mommy, she'll be all for them.

Burns Are Chief Peril in Kitchens

As soon as junior gets bored with teddy bears and trains he inevitably decides to become your assistant chef — and small fingers in the kitchen become your concern.

Junior can never wait for the cookie sheet to cool, his small hand explores the hot grill, or he overturns a pan of boiling water. All of these are simple household accidents, causing many a tear and many a blister.

Although such a tragedy may never happen in your home — we hope it never does — it's wise to take precautions and know what to do when disaster strikes.

Burns are classified into three categories, according to the manner of damage to skin tissue:

A first-degree burn is when the skin becomes red and sore. A second-degree burn is when the skin blisters and a third-degree burn, which is the most serious, results in charred skin.

The danger to your body does not correspond to the degree of the burn but to its extensiveness. A mild burn over a large area is more serious than a second-degree burn of small size. All burns are painful and should be treated immediately.

Americans used more than 500 million pounds of insecticides in 1952.

IF young girl—

Personality-perfect selection for evening: remember lace is always an older fabric than organdie.

Miss Y. G.—Organdie is essentially a young fabric and beautifully airy for summer. Tiered skirt with winged bodice, caught by two soft white roses, is an angelic combination and style right for the sweet pretty type.

Longer Shorts Best

For summer gardening, the Bermuda length shorts look better than short ones. They're also right for street wear on a hot summer day.

Mom Right to Be Fussy About Sleep

Working Daughter Should Be in Bed by Midnight

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm 18 and for a year now have been working and contributing (I think generously) at home. So do you thing it's fair for mother to insist that I come in at exactly midnight during the week?

My fiance and I go to the show twice a week and we always have to leave early. If I'm a minute late my mother makes me stay in the next date night, and my boy friend can't even come over.

I can see him only on Tuesdays, Thursdays and week ends. I don't mind coming in at 1 a.m. on Saturday nights, but during the week, yes. Please help me — I'm desperate."

And your mother thinks you'd be desperately tired if you stayed out until all hours during the week. She knows how hard it is to wake you up in the morning.

She knows how hard you have to work at your job during the day. She figures you can't burn the candle at both ends. With your mother I am inclined to agree.

You, on the other hand, consider yourself completely grown-up now that you're 18 and have a job, and are engaged. You want complete liberty about your dating.

You count on your constitution to go on being rugged no matter how little sleep you get. And you think your mother is treating you like a child.

My solution would be to have you alter your program. Go to the early show, for instance, so you don't have to leave before the end of the picture but can still get home well before midnight. Spend a Tuesday, Thursday or Sunday night quietly at home with your fiance without rushing around anywhere.

Spend at least one evening a week with other couples. And count up the number of hours you and your fiance have alone together.

Of two things I'm sure. Time can slip through your fingers never to be recaught. And the best hours for sleeping are before midnight. Can't you be persuaded?

* * *

"Dear Miss Woodward: Father thinks I should be in every night at twelve. I agree except for dances and other big occasions. You see, every Friday night there's a dance in a town about 10 miles from here. It's no fun to leave early. I've been going with a 19-year-old boy (I'm 16) who is quitting me because of this. Please give me your advice."

"Goodnight Ladies" sounds the same no matter how often you hear it. So you aren't missing much if you leave before those dances are over.

I might add that your boy friend's affection for you runs pretty shallow indeed if he can't be reasonable about your father's restrictions. Those dances are a regular thing, it would seem, and your father doesn't want you to make a regular thing of staying out as late as you please.

If there's no reconciling the two men in your life, my advice is to get yourself another boy. Pick one whose family makes rules for him, too.

Lilly Dache Has Dynamic Credo

All Smart Women Can Look Young

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Any woman who allows herself to look old at 55 is merely a dope, says Lilly Dache, a high priestess of glamor.

"Every woman can be young, vital, attractive at any age," insists this French dynamo, "All she has to do is work at it. Nobody needs to have gray hair or wrinkles any more. Such things are merely a sign of laziness."

• • •

The volatile Lilly sat on the lawn of her country home at Pound Ridge, N. Y., managing to look glamorous in a pair of blue jeans and an old T-shirt. The noted milliner — who started her New York career 25 years ago as a salesgirl at Macy's, after arriving from her native France with $13 — has just been named president of three corporations devoted to the cause of feminine beauty, one making cosmetics, another perfumes, the third hair cosmetics. She directs these with one hand while designing hats with the other.

• • •

Miss Dache, who is Mrs. Jean Despres in private life, has been studying the astonishing vitality of the queen bee, who lives 60 times longer than the humble worker bees, and who is fed on a diet of "royal jelly." Lilly recently brought back a commercial cosmetic containing the "royal jelly' ingredient. Says she:

"I don't mean that women will live 60 times longer than men if they use this cream on their faces. But perhaps they can look 60 times as young, and that would be better. This ingredient has been tested in France for several years. It costs $2,000 a pound, and has been found to contain all the known vitamins and a number which haven't even been named yet."

• • •

At a time when most women would be thinking of nothing more strenuous than competitions of the local garden club, Lilly is starting a new career.

• • •

"Always I have wanted to design a whole woman," she says. "a woman can wear a beautiful hat and a stunning gown, but if her face is tired and her hair is faded, what good does it do?

"The inner spark of beauty and vitality must be there, or all the beautiful clothes are wasted. So now I am starting with the woman herself. I want to show her how to keep her face fresh and glowing, her hair beautiful and shining, her body young and lithe. Then she is ready for the outer glamour — the hat to call attention to her face, the gown to dramatize the best points of her figure. And as a final touch, of course, she must be surrounded by fragrance. That is the complete picture of the modern woman, whose duty is to be as beautiful as she can. And she can."

But Choose Vacation Wisely

Romance Is Holiday Bonus

Unless your daily life has been brimming with invitations, you would normally and justifiably hope to meet and attract a man, or men, on your summer vacation. It isn't your primary reason for taking a holiday, but we might look upon it as a delightful bonus.

Men, too, go away for vacations. But life is crammed with inequities and the kind of man you would like to meet may not have the same yearnings you do. You are seeing yourself dancing under the stars in a misty tulle gown; he is purring over the prospect of living in crumpled old shorts and dirty old moccasins.

It would seem that the chances of running into this outdoor boy would be better at a camp, ranch or modest inn than at large expensive hotels. Of course, there are always exceptions, but ask around first.

Nothing you can pack in your suitcase needs to be more becoming to you than your frame of mind. As you come away from your job and the place where you live, come away, too from your problems—and don't ponder about what he said or about the irretrievably foolish thing you did.

By the time you have been at some resorts 24 hours, you are likely to know nearly everyone by first name, occupation, possibly background. If you are shy at home, be sure to give your shyness a vacation too. Don't forget that a great many other people are unsure and timid, and the most aloof creature is the one who is praying that you will speak first.

Please bear in mind the old homily about not judging a book by its cover—nor should married couples be brushed off as if they had some loathsome disease. Married couples usually have unmarried friends.

Suppose you do find a man with whom you suddenly make that commonplace yet miraculous leap from being strangers to an intimacy where you share a passion for Modigliani, Audrey Hepburn, well-shaped hands, etc. Almost certainly this guarantees a glorious two weeks to follow.

But what can be expected of the summer romance? Actually once it withstands the hazards of moving too fast in too short a time it should survive or wilt on the same basis as a romance begun in the fall, winter or spring. Just keep an eye on the speedometer.

Wear White Often

Chalk white is good for a fashion whirl all summer long in ropes of beads, in blouses and dresses. As an alternate, there's pink. Pink is good for sweaters, for sandals, for casual clothes.

Tourists Enjoy Front Seats at Indian Shows

There's a lot of "ham" in all of us even if we're not members of "the show must go on" profession —and the next best thing to performing in a show is watching one.

Seats down front on the aisle are already reserved for the nation's motoring public at the "greatest show on earth" — America's summertime folkways festivals and pageants.

Nearly every state stages an annual out - of - doors extravaganza to commemorate an important date in history, ethnic traditions or Indian ceremonials.

For example, a celebration with a western flair is Cheyenne, Wyoming's famous Frontier Days, the last week in July. At this picturesque event, cowboys and Indians from Canada to Texas gather for bronc - busting, bull - dogging and steer - tying exhibitions.

The American Indian Exposition is held August 16-21 in Anadarko, Oklahoma. At this celebration, Apaches, Delawares, Comanches, Kiowas and others, wearing tribal costumes, participate in pony races, bow and arrow shoots, dances and displays of arts and crafts.

Weak Dads Say 'Go Tell Your Mother'

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

On Saturday mornings, Mr. Clark cleans his car. He does a wonderful job. Its chromium dazzles, and the fenders gleam like mirrors.

And as Mr. Clark applies his polishing cloth, the look of devoted concentration on his face is something to behold.

Sometimes, when he's so absorbed, his daughter will run to him with an urgent plea to arbitrate a dispute with Bobby over their rope swing.

Or Bobby himself, his small thumb swelling from a wasp sting, will come roaring to his father from the berry bushes back of the garage.

Always to these troubled demands on his attention, Mr. Clark's response is, "Go tell your mother about it."

He sees nothing odd in this habit of detouring these troubled feelings to his wife. Indeed, he regards his distaste for them complacently as evidence of male superiority to trifles.

It is a pleasant, but foolish fiction. For the fact is, Mr. Clark is just scared of other people's troubled feelings.

And as his inanimate car possesses no such feelings, he can devote himself to it with tenderness.

Safe in his ministrations to its glass, steel and chromium, Mr. Clark lavishes attention on his car instead of on the children who will make him feel inadequate and helpless.

If his fear of other people's upset feelings were limited to his children, I wouldn't be writing about it. It is not. His working life is spent in secret dread of arousing them in his employer.

As a result, he never advances any sales ideas that he isn't sure will be acceptable. And for the last three months, has been in a fighting rage at losing a promotion that belonged to him.

It's like that at home, too. Though Mr. Clark has every reason to say "no" to Sunday dinners with in-laws who don't like him, he never says it. He submits to the dinners to maintain what he calls "peace" in his home.

Thus, running away from other people's troubled feelings has ended in denial of his own.

"Go-tell-your-mother" fathers are apt to be sons trained in submission to women. As little boys, they've been so harassed by female tears and reproaches that they feel helpless and oppressed by any emotional expression.

They've lost the power of genuine emotional expression of themselves to people. But as they have to express themselves somewhere they give their tenderness to cars, golf clubs and fishing tackle.

The princess lines of this red and white imported embroidered organdy evening gown are accented by vertical bands of fagoting, which also outlines the sweetheart neckline. The dress is from the Ceil Chapman summer collection.

His Widow Should Write to Friends

Short Note to Man's Business Contacts Quite Proper

By EMILY POST

The following letter is from a widow: "My husband died about six months ago and I am faced with a problem. He traveled quite a lot in his business and as a result made many friends throughout the country. Many of these people do not know of my husband's death and from time to time write him letters.

"I should like to write a very short answer to these many friends of his to tell them of his death. Will you please tell me how to word such a note?"

In your place, I would write a note something like the following: "Because you were a friend of my husband's, I know you will be sorry to hear of his death on . . ." and then sign it Very sincerely, Mary Jones, and beneath your signature write in parenthesis (Mrs. John Jones).

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently my husband and I invited a man and his wife to dinner. The man brought me a box of lovely flowers which pleased me very much, but it was a new experience to me.

We're now invited to the house of this couple for dinner and I'm wondering if my husband should take the hostess flowers?

Answer: While it would not be wrong for your husband to take flowers to the hostess, this might start a regular habit. Therefore instead of taking them now, I think it would be better to wait for another occasion, such as Christmas to send them.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: My parents are giving a rather large dinner soon to announce my engagement. Mother insists that the ring should be presented to me at the dinner at a given time in the presence of all the guests.

I think the ring should be given me privately, beforehand. Will you please tell me which way is proper?

Answer: I am sorry to have to disagree with your mother, but your way is right. The public presentation would be shocking.

Low or Tall?

New Desks Light and Airy

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Paul McCobb is a designer who always makes news, and his new furniture is attracting attention as usual in the present previews of home furnishing for fall in Chicago.

Among many new ideas this time are the ususual proportionings of desks and a secretary, and these promise that desk room can be made where it might not have been right before.

Slender outlined and floating tops make the low desks seem light and airy despite their wide working areas and numerous drawers.

The desk sketched at upper right is a work-a-day 66 inches long, but tapered legs and open areas below the top make it useable where a bulkier desk would be out of place. The smaller desk sets one row of drawers lightly above the top to keep the frame light and airy below.

The narrow secretary makes wonderful use of space upward on the wall—it's more than twice as tall as it is wide. Measurements are 38 inches by 18 inches by 77 inches.

The top of the lower section pulls out to become a writing leaf and storage space below includes a deep file drawer. The wood of this furniture is brightened by brass stretchers and trims.

Pontiac Area Reservists Training at Camp McCoy

ON FIRING LINE — Reservists of Pontiac's 703rd Tank Battalion man these tanks on the firing line at Camp McCoy, Wis. The civilian-soldiers have joined other Organized Reserve Corps units of the 70th Infantry "Trail Blazer" Division commanded by Brig. Gen. Clyde E. Dougherty. They started a two-week summer training program Sunday in the vast military camp near LaCrosse, Wis. Pontiac Press Photos

By WILLIAM H. THOMAS

CAMP McCOY, Wis.—The 703rd Tank Battalion with members from the Pontiac and Detroit areas stepped with enthusiasm into its first week of a two-week training program despite a tiring 20-hour train ride to this huge camp.

The civilian soldiers joined other organized reserve corps units which make up the 70th Infantry "Trail Blazer" Division commanded by Brig. Gen. Clyde E. Dougherty.

Men of the 703rd completed the transition from civilian to military life with exceptional dispatch, said Lt. Col. Lloyd A. Gabler of Royal Oak, battalion commander.

The new recruits seem to be taking to military life with interest and anticipation. There are 18 recruits among the 84 officiers and enlisted men, and the new men seem to have more energy when training finishes at night than they started with in the morning.

Locating barracks and training areas, the issuing of clothing and equipment, and the coordination of training have kept all of the reservists busy. Training started an hour after the men arrived Sunday, with a course in map and compass reading. Instruction also was given in the .45 caliber pistol and submachine gun and the men have fired both the .45 and .30 caliber machine guns.

Communications and tank driving will be taught as well as firing of the tanks' heavy guns.

Intensive training in this camp about 30 miles east of La Crosse will end at noon Saturday for the long Fourth of July weekend. Special programs to entertain the men have been set up. Men of the 703rd will take over a top-rated lake recreation area on the post for weekend relaxation.

A planning committee has a program ready for those who do not wish to travel to one of the many scenic spots which dot the surrounding countryside.

Next week the battalion will take to the field for maneuvers and tactics of the tanks, which have been nursed into good working condition this week by the maintenance section headed by Sgt. 1.C. Thomas Pappas of 229 Elm St., Pontiac.

Saturday morning the men will prepare for their first inspection which will be followed by a colorful dress parade to be reviewed by Gen. Dougherty. The Michigan minute-men wind up their training at Camp McCoy on July 10.

MACHINE GUN CLASS—Sgt. John E. Lupulm of 9120 Dixie St., Redford Township, a member of the 703rd Tank Battalion, teaches a class in machine gun assembly to a group of the reservists taking summer training at Camp McCoy. Instruction is given in various weapons during the two-week course.

ON TARGET—First Lt. Donald P. Robinson of 1815 W. Wattles Rd., Birmingham, instructs Cpl. Charles W. Peckham, 10 S. Sanford St., Pontiac, on use of the sighting bar. The sighting bar simulates the sights of a rifle and is used prior to actual rifle-range practice.

Law School Graduates to Take Oath

Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick will preside Tuesday at admission ceremonies for law school graduates from Oakland County who successfully passed the Michigan State Bar examinations in April.

Federal Judge Arthur F. Lederle of Detroit will also be present as representative of the federal court system, the first time a federal judge has been present at county swearing-in ceremonies.

Twelve county residents are eligible for admission, according to attorney Carl F. Ingraham, chairman of the qualifications and admissions committee of the Oakland County Bar, who is acting as master of ceremonies.

Ingraham said both judges and Gilbert H. Davis, president of the county bar association, will address the new lawyers.

Each attorney will take his oath of allegiance to the state constitution separately, beginning at 11 a. m., Igraham said.

Liquor Control Head Can't Start New Job

LANSING (AP)—George J. Burke, chairman of the State Liquor Control Commission, must wait a few weeks before he steps into the better paying job of business manager for the commission.

Arthur G. Rasch, State Civil Service Director, announced that Burke had placed first in Civil Service examinations for the $11,000 a year position.

The remaining two liquor commissioners were all set to appoint him, but Gov. Williams put on the brakes.

He asked Burke to remain as chairman at $9,000 a year until he could pick a successor on the commission.

The commission picked Burke as business manager on a provisional basis last May when Harold M. Kinder, former Flint city manager, resigned to accept a position with a distilling company.

Republican Sen. Hugh Butler Dies

By DONALD SANDERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska died at the age of 76 last night, the fourth U. S. senator and the second from his state to succumb this year.

Butler, who had been elected to his third six-year term two years ago, suffered a stroke Wednesday night. He was taken to the naval hospital at nearby Bethesda, Md., yesterday morning and died there about 11:30 p.m. last night.

* * *

The day before he had been active in the Senate, apparently in good health.

* * *

A former grain dealer, he was a strong campaigner who defeated several governors in his various campaigns for the Senate. He was active in Rotary and the Congregational Church.

His wife and two children preceded him in death.

Sen. Eva Bowring (R-Neb) announced his death in the Senate, working late on a big tax revision bill, and it immediately recessed out of respect. Mrs. Bowring is serving by appointment, filling the vacancy created April 12 when Republican Sen. Dwight P. Griswold died, also after a heart attack. Griswold was 60.

* * *

Two other senators have died this year: Clyde R. Hoey (D-NC), 76, and Lester C. Hunt (D-Wyo), 61. Hoey suffered a heart attack; Hunt shot himself.

* * *

And three Senate members of the 83rd Congress died last year; Willis Smith (D-NC), 65, Charles W. Tobey (R-NH), 65, and Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), 63.

Butler's death will not affect the Senate lineup, now 47 Republicans, 47 Democrats and 1 independent. Gov. Robert Crosby of Nebraska is a Republican and will appoint a Republican to serve until the November election.

Crosby, who said at Omaha that "all of Nebraska is shocked and saddened" by news of Butler's death, is a candidate for the GOP nomination for a full Senate term for which Griswold had planned to run. Mrs. Bowring is not a candidate.

* * *

The governor did not discuss possible choices.

Still another Nebraska senator, Kenneth S. Wherry, died in November 1951 and Griswold had been elected to serve out his term.

Butler, a quiet-spoken man with white and wavy hair, was a native of Missouri Valley, Iowa, and a graduate of Doane College at Crete, Neb. He had served as chairman of Doane's trustees.

As a young man, he was a construction engineer, later a miller, and then a partner in an Omaha grain firm. He was a former president of the Omaha Grain Exchange and of the National Grain Dealers Assn.

Among Senate Republicans, only two outranked him in seniority: Senators Bridges (NH) and Wiley (Wis). Butler was chairman of the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee and served on the Finance Committee. He was also chairman of the group which assigns GOP senators to committees.

He played a major role in the campaign of Hawaii for statehood.

Former Local Teacher Begins Library Duties

Miss Doris J. Haynes has begun duties as a cataloguer in the Pontiac City Library, according to Librarian Adah Shelly.

Miss Haynes is a former Pontiac schools teacher. She is a graduate of the library school of Emory University in Atlanta, Ga., and comes here from St. Petersburg, Fla., where she was a high school librarian.

200 County Children Looking Forward to Two-Week Outings at Camp Oakland

More than 200 underprivileged children in Oakland County can look forward to two-week summer vacations this year at Camp Oakland, about one mile south of Oxford, beginning next Thursday.

Formal opening of the camp is set for that date and 50 needy children will be transported to specially constructed cabins on the shores of 55-acre Handsome Lake.

James R. Hunt, director of Children's Services for Oakland County, said three 16-man cabins already have been erected for use by the youngsters from six to 15 years of age.

West Pontiac Kiwanians are also building another cabin which they hope to have completed before the summer's end, Hunt said.

Groups of 50 will receive two-week vacations during the summer and children from the Oakland County Juvenile Home will be brought to the camp daily to enjoy summer activities.

Oakland County service clubs are donating funds to operate the summer camp, Hunt said, and members of the Juvenile Court staff, college students, children's home personnel and other volunteers will act as supervisors and advisers throughout the summer.

Activities include swimming instructions three times daily, handicraft courses, archery, boating, fishing, nature study and overnight camping, according to Hunt.

In addition to this, the youthful vacationers will be asked to help with the daily chores which include washing their own dishes and working on police details to keep the camp clean.

Hunt said each group also undertakes a project during its stay which is designed to increase the camp's facilities and usefulness. Some of the projects already completed include outdoor fireplaces, clearing paths to the swimming areas and making bridges across ditches.

The summer camp facilities are located across the lake from the camp's main building which houses year - round occupants participating in a permanent farm program.

Most of the children cared for during the two-week periods are referred to the county group by social aid offices, visiting teachers, welfare and health departments, nurses associations and school districts, Hunt said.

License Appeal Board Set Up

Revocation Hearings Scheduled for 1st, 3rd Thursday Each Month

A three-man board has been set up in Pontiac by Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary to hear appeals on license revocations the first and third Thursday of each month, it was announced today by Thomas Range, chairman of the license appeal board.

Range said he and Charles Thomas, an attorney general's representative, hear the appeals with a member of the Pontiac Police or Oakland County Sheriff's Departments beginning at 9 a. m.

Range said the bureau was set up because of the increase in population in the county and because too many persons were appealing through Circuit Court rather than going to Detroit.

"This will make it a great deal easier for persons to request an appeal hearing," Range said, "and Cleary set the office up for their convenience."

Hearings are scheduled every 15 minutes and Range said the board could probably dispose of 35 hearings at a session.

Appeals are heard on the fifth floor of the Courthouse Annex at 1 Lafayette St. The next hearing date has been set for July 8.

Perry Resident Will Celebrate 100th Birthday

PERRY (AP) — Mrs. Delia Armstrong, a woman who has earned the right to look askance at time, will celebrate her 100th birthday Sunday by reading her newspaper as usual.

Mrs. Armstrong, a resident of this central Michigan village for 70 years, reads only the headlines of the newspaper before she retires at 8 every evening. She reads the stories next day.

Mrs. Armstrong has four children, 19 grandchildren, 38 great-grandchildren, and 13 great-great-grandchildren.

Senators Vote Down Tax Cut

Bill Would Have Given $20 Reduction for All Taxpayers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Ferguson and Potter (R-Mich) Thursday voted against a tax bill amendment by Sen. Long (D-La) to provide a $20 reduction in income taxes for all taxpayers. The Senate rejected the amendment 50-33.

They also voted against an effort by Sen. Morse (R-Ore) to knock special depreciation provisions for business from the tax revision bill. The Senate defeated it 60-20.

They voted in favor of an amendment by Sen. Johnson (D-Colo) partially knocking out the administration's proposal to ease taxes on corporation dividends. The Senate approved the amendment 71-13.

Both Ferguson and Potter voted against an emendment to the tax revision bill that would have knocked out a section exempting life insurance proceeds from estate taxes under certain conditions. The measure failed 60-23.

Almost a Washout

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—A drive-in restaurant here is looking for a better place to hide its day's receipts. An employe recently put receipts in a laundry bag, and the laundryman picked up the bag. Police stopped the laundry truck and recovered the $163 just before it was dropped into a soapy bath.

Lawn Mowing Included in Divorce Action

CLEVELAND (UP) — Mrs. Wanda Cholewa, 35, got a home, custody of her three children and $28 a week for their support.

But until her husband had the lawn mowed she refused to sign a separation agreement for a divorce.

"He has a power mower," she told Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Merrick. "He took it with him when he left last February."

Her husband Leo, 32, a forging company foreman, wanted no part of the lawn cutting. It was two acres of land and she had the house. Let her mow the grass, he contended.

Finally, to end the stalemate, Judge Merrick sugested that Cholewa give her $100 to have the job done. He consented and Mrs. Cholewa signed the agreement.

The divorce was granted on grounds of gross neglect of duty.

Smokers Switch to Filtered Tips

Recent Cancer Society Report Has Light Effect on Tobacco Users

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most of the country's cigarette smokers still are puffing away—though apparently with some restraining anxieties—despite medical reports the habit might hasten their death.

This was the situation indicated today by checks with tobacco wholesalers and retailers in more than a score of major cities across the nation.

Most of them said they had detected no change in cigarette sales since an American Cancer Society report 10 days ago that average cigarette users 50 to 70 die sooner, mainly of heart attacks or cancer.

"Smokers seem generally complacent about it," said a San Francisco wholesaler. "They figure why worry when the hydrogen bomb is liable to snuff out their lives anyhow someday."

* * *

However, there were some reports of sales drops, amounting to as much as 25 per cent, along with other signs some smokers were disturbed. A change to filter-tipped cigarettes was a wide trend.

Among 75 sources, some of them representing chains with hundreds of outlets, 52 said cigarette sales had remained unchanged, 15 reported slumps, usually slight, and 7 reported sales increases.

"The scare has just switched them around to filtered cigarettes," said a Dallas wholesaler. "We also sell more pipes than ever before, but there's no real decline in cigarette sales.

"People just fuss, raise hell, buy pipes and then go right back to cigarettes."

The survey gave no general evidence of a big run on chewing tobacco, cigars, snuff or pipes as a substitute for cigarettes.

* * *

Distributors in Washington, D.C., reported:

"The demand for pipes, pipe tobacco and cigars has risen slightly."

Indications of a switch to filter-tipped, long cigarettes came from dealers in nearly every city.

"More filtered smokes are offsetting any loss in sale of regular brands," said wholesalers in Raleigh, N. C.

Cigarette holders also were getting popular.

Mauna Loa, the 13,680 foot high volcanic peak located in Hawaii, is believed to be the world's largest mountain in point of total volume.

Doris Day Will Get MGM Part Meant for Ava

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — I should say it took a lot of doing to get Doris Day to play the Ruth Etting role in "Love Me or Leave Me," intended originally for Ava Gardner at MGM. Doris has never been off the Warner lot to make a picture since she joined the company, but Jack Warner has loaned her to Metro.

This is a deal that works well two ways. It means that Ava will get her salary back, and that Doris will have a most interesting story. She reports to MGM after she finishes "Young at Heart."

Ava heads for Spain just as soon as she gets her freedom from Frank Sinatra. The attraction there, I am told, is not the Spanish matador, but Ava's Spanish teacher. This she let drop when she was in Rome.

Mitzi Gaynor has been hobbling around the set of "No Business Like Show Business," some of the time in actual pain, so she's had X rays taken to determine whether she suffered a fracture of her right ankle while dancing.

Mitzi had trouble before with this leg and it put her on crutches a couple of years ago when she broke a toe while dancing.

"No Business Like Show Business" had had more than its share of sickness, what with Marilyn Monroe out twice with flu, and Mitzi having trouble dancing.

Flash out of Reno concerning Bobo Rockefeller:

Her first public appearance was at the beauty parlor in the Mapes Hotel where she had a shampoo and set.

As though her mere presence weren't enough, she wrote out a check for $4.00 covering her hair-do, and up in the corner the check was marked No. 1!

The beauty parlor proprietors are so excited they've decided to frame it. Who wouldn't want the first souvenir written on a $5,500,000 fortune?

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Irene Dunne is home from St. John's Hospital and is on the mend. She's been quite sick.

Joan Fontaine is carrying around a cable from her sister, Olivia de Havilland, congratulating her on her notices in "Tea and Sympathy." The sisters didn't speak for several years.

Lynn Riggs, author of "Green Grow the Lilacs" and other plays, is gravely ill in Memorial Hospital in New York.

Radio and TV star Tennessee Ernie, who has a classic mountaineer drawl, is teaching Gloria Grahame how to talk for her role as Ado Annie in "Oklahoma."

Sol M. Wurtzel, pioneer film producer who has been very ill, is now well enough to visit his old cronies at 20th Century - Fox where he was top man for so many years.

Beauty Contests Called Sinful

Italian Senator Would Ban Them; Others Say Let's Just Laugh

ROME (AP) — An elderly senator and a youthful deputy have asked the Italian government what it intends to do about banning "those sinful sex shows," the beauty contests.

The answer, according to the press in this Latin land that likes its women full-figured, is going to be: "Absolutely nothing."

* * *

The two formal questions in Parliament struck at one of Italy's favorite indoor sports, the beauty competitions that have given the nation's skyrocketing movie industry some figures that Einstein never dreamed of in his calculations on relativity.

Out of the "miss" battles of bust and hipline have come the peasant-blouse beauty with implausible name, Gina Lollobrigida; red-haired Silvana Pampanini; Silvana Mangano, once voted second most popular film star in Europe, and provocative Lucia Bose.

Frowning on this sort of thing were 65-year-old Christian Democrat Sen. Bartolo Galletto and 31-year-old Monarchist Deputy Nunzio Caroleo.

Their twin demands in the Legislature called beauty contests:

* * *

"Expositions of vanity and stupidity . . .

"An offense to public morality . . .

"An affront to the dignity and traditional decorum of our country . . .

"An influence toward the further decadence of the already far-fallen movie industry."

The newspaper Il Tempo replied reprovingly:

"Please, let's not lose our sense of humor."

Doubting Deputies Find Potent 'Poison' Liquid

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Sheriff's deputies didn't believe the signs on the barrels hidden in woods near here. So they went ahead and tested the barrels' contents.

It was mash — the kind used to make liquor.

The signs read: "Poison—Cotton Molasses."

Wheat Farmer Will Need Card

Crop Cannot Be Sold if Marketing Ticket Is Not Obtained

Farmers who have a 1954 wheat crop will need a marketing card before any of the crop can be sold, reminds Walter H. Cook, manager of the Oakland County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office.

Cook says the cards may be obtained in person at the office, 320 Hubbard Bldg., 18 S. Perry St., by calling the office, at FE 2-8533, or by sending in a signed letter of application.

Those eligible for the cards are those farmers who conformed to their acreage allotments or who have not planted more than 15 acres of wheat.

Farmers who have been informed that they have excessive acreage and those who exceeded the 15 acres, but have reduced their acreage by plowing down, mowing or pasturing excessive acreage may also apply for the cards, Cook adds.

Those who have not complied or who have not had fields of wheat measured must apply to the county ASC office to have the necessary papers filled out before they can sell any wheat from the 1954 crop, according to Cook.

Perfection Is the Keynote for Colonial Hills Garden

By WILMA GREENWAY

Perfection is the keynote for gardening at the Colonial Hills home of Mrs. W. Ross Thompson.

The garden area is not large in the half-acre plot which surrounds the home Ross Thompson built himself at 254 Eileen Dr., Bloomfield Township. That's because petite, tawny-haired Jane Thompson digs up just about as many plants as she grows.

"I'm ruthless," Jane admits. "I don't want a lot of flowers. But what I do have, I want just so. If they don't measure up, out they go!"

Mrs. Thompson, who combines gardening with a talent for ceramics, likes to use pottery she has designed herself to hold her lovely blooms.

"But I seldom pick my flowers," she says. "The house has wide, deep windows and the garden plots are located to permit a view of the flowers from every room. As long as we can enjoy them in their natural state, why cut them?"

Roses and iris are Mrs. Thompson's specialties, although a back patio boasts big double tuberous begonias in several varieties. And neighbors insist she has the largest castor - beans in the county, with leaves up to 24 inches in diameter and stalks like young trees.

Jane has a gentle smile for those who think iris are inexpensive.

"You can pay as much as $20 for a single rhizome," she says, but admits she hasn't tried her husband's patience by going quite that far. She does have over 20 varieties of iris though, many of them uncommon types. Currently she is playing with the idea of studying methods of hybridizing, and saving money by developing her own varieties.

The roses, now in full bloom, are of course taking top billing this month. Jane is eloquent on the care roses require:

"They must be fertilized three or four times a year, but if you fertilize at the wrong time, you're in for trouble. Roses are susceptible to a host of diseases, to chewing and sucking insects — and if they get a fungus disease such as black spot, watch out!

"If it doesn't rain, the buds blast. If it does rain, they get mildew. If you cut a bloom in the wrong place, the branch stops growing."

Still, she thinks they are worth the trouble. She uses a combination of three liquid sprays to guard against aphids, black spot and other diseases. Plants are sprayed weekly and 24 hours after each rainfall.

Her beds are rock - bordered and raised about four inches above the ground to keep the weeds out. Blooms are carefully cut just above a five-leaf grouping to maintain growth.

Jane defies tradition by planting new bushes in the fall. Other rose gardeners tell her it won't work, but she continues to do it and gets superior results.

"If they survive, I get earlier blooms," she says. "So far I've only lost one plant, and that was a bush my husband mulched for me. He mulched only with straw, and the mice took over and girdled the bark."

In the fall, old bushes are cut back and new bushes planted. They are protected with straw and covered over with a thick layer of dirt. This is done to keep the ground frozen, to prevent the destruction that alternate freezing and thawing can cause. In the spring the new bushes have their head start.

Mrs. Thompson purchases her roses by the number of petals, insists on 40 to 60 petals so that the opened flower will not show the seeds. She has many varieties, all hybrid teas with the exception of the Rosa Rouletti, a delicate miniature Swiss rose with flowers so small that a thimble could serve as the vase for its tiny blooms.

Jane's favorite is one she has never seen duplicated — a true gray rose with a seashell blush, appropriately named "Gray Pearl."

There is one thing Mrs. Thompson expects never to achieve, and that is the "professional touch." She's stubborn about it.

"A truly expert rose grower always winds up growing single petaled flowers," she says. "And I don't like them.

"Guess I'll remain just an amateur!"

Agent's 4 Tips to Better Lawns

Watering and Mowing, Control of Crab Grass, Weeds Important

Though most folks don't show too much concern about their lawns after the first frenzied months of spring activity, they really should.

That's this week's word from Edmond W. Alchin, Oakland County agricultural agent.

Agent Ed says summer care is important in determining just how big a job you'll have with the lawn next spring. He offers four hits guaranteed to help grow better lawns.

First, he says, put on enough water so that the soil is wet to a depth of four to six inches.

Second, apply water only once or twice a week. "Continual wetting in hot weather makes an ideal condition for the development of baceterial root rots and diseases of lawn grasses," Alchin says.

Third, he advises, don't overmow the lawn after July 10.

"Normally, grass goes dormant in July and August and will therefore not need mowing," he explains. However, he adds, moisture should continue to be applied during this period.

Fourth, control crab grass and weeds in the lawn. "Unlike the lawn grasses, they will thrive and grow well during the hot summer months," Alchin points out.

Of the several new carb grass control measurers now on the market Alchin recommends the chlordane-based variety. "Crab Herbicide-1 is another good product," he says.

"Above all else, remember that crab grass is an annual grass which reproduces each year from seed. Keep patches of crab grass clipped and remove clippings and burn them."

By following these recommendations, Alchin says home owners will find that their lawns will be more beautiful and more healthy annually.

2, 4-D Removes Lawn Weeds

For Best Results, Apply Once in Spring, Again in Summer

By RAYMOND C. KELLER
Parks and Recreation Dept.

How well I can remember spending long hours crawling about my father's lawn with a small weed digger digging up the dandelions, buckhorn, plantain, and other obnoxious weeds that wern't supposed to be there.

How lucky we gardeners of today are when in just a few minutes we can mix up a batch of 2, 4-D in water and spray it on the lawn doing the job it used to take hours to complete.

While it won't solve all your weed problems, 2, 4-D will overcome most of them. It will kill most of the broadleaf weeds without harming the grass.

If you like white clover in your lawn it will knock it down as it does weeds but under normal applications the clover will come back up from the roots.

Always remember that 2, 4-D will kill almost all broadleaf plants, and this means flowers, vegetables, shrubs, and small trees too, so be sure that no spray gets on plants that you want, for even in a light breeze, it will drift many feet.

For best results on the lawn a light application in spring and again in the fall will give good control. It kills slowly in cool weather and it may take a week before you see result of your work.

It kills completely, though, by traveling even to the small roots which cannot then sprout up again. For summer weeds or weeds in vacant lots, such as chicory, ragweed, cow parsnip, and dock, best results are obtained right now while the weeds are growing strongly or just before they bloom.

Even poison ivy can be controlled by doubling the dose without seriously harming the grass below. Too heavy a dose will turn your grass yellow and sickly for a while but it will come back later from the roots. This does not include the bent grasses which cannot be sprayed without grass damage.

The weed-killer, 2, 4-D, can be bought in either the ammine acid or the ester form. For most purposes the acid is the safest to use and will do the job. For special weeds the ester must sometimes be used but remember it is much stronger and potent if near valuable plants.

One last reminder—always read the container directions first and apply accordingly.

Poison Ivy Controlled

Poison ivy — ground plant, trailing vine or climber — can be controlled with ammonium sulfamate, 2, 4-D or 2, 4, 5-T or a mixture of the two esters.

Blazing 68 Gives Douglas Lead at Meadowbrook

By H. GUY MOATS

Despite a two-stroke penalty on the 14th hole where he sent his tee shot out of bounds, smooth-swinging Dave Douglas yesterday still finished with a one-stroke advantage over the strong field in the Motor City Open's opening round of play.

Douglas carded his three-under par 68 with a 33 first round coupled with 35 on the home stretch to edge amateur Chuck Kocsis of Royal Oak, George Fazio of Pine Valley, N. J. and Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N. C., who had 69s.

There were three at 70, one under par for the Meadowbrook Country Club's (35-36) 71 par layout. Nine equaled the course figures, including PGA champion Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills, who had 35-36—71 and Bill Markham of Royal Oak with an identical card. Only 16 equalled, or bettered par figures Thursday.

Pine Lake's Henry Ransom was one over even figures for the first day with 35-37—72 and amateur Tom Draper of Red Run also had 35-37—72.

Fast greens and close-to-the-front-edge pin positions made the putting the biggest factor, Thursday. There was both brilliant, and ragged work on the carpets, such as one long, curving and tricky putt that dropped on the 18th and an 18-incher that didn't on the same green.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff, defending champion, demonstrated that a good workman can do a fine job, even without the proper "tools." Middlecoff in a mild bit of umbrage at himself for missing a putt (and a long one) on the fifth green, kicked his putter shaft. It broke, and thereafter the good Memphian had to use his driver, his No. 1 iron a sand wedge to get the ball into the cups. How good his efforts were is shown in his card, 35-37—72.

Tommy Bolt, one of the early favorites, posted a 72 also, and played a steady game all the way. Kocsis' pair of eagles on the back nine highlighted the play of the Oakland county star.

While Bolt went along sedately, Jimmy Johnson of Detroit did a little club-throwing to enliven things during the afternoon. Jimmy dubbed a shot that traveled only 40 yards, and wound up in the rough. He took one look, then heaved his club high into a tree, 40 yards away. It took some time to recover both ball and club.

After today's round the field will be pared to the low 60. That also includes the amateurs. Final round on Sunday will be over 36 holes.

Meadowbrook officials were surprised at the small size of the first day's gallery. A total of about 2,500 represented the smallest attendance for an opener in the event's history. However, it was expected the weekend galleries would return to the usual size for these stellar links events.

A total of $17,500 in awards had lured a starting field of 157 starters, Thursday.

Giants' Dusty Rhodes Delivers Once More

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—There are two things Dusty Rhodes, New York Giants' pinch hitter de luxe, can't do. He can't keep a secret and he can't tell a lie.

* * *

There is one thing, however, Rhodes can do and do well. He can come off the bench cold and whale the stuffings out of the ball.

* * *

Rhodes gave another demonstration of his pinch-hitting prowess yesterday when he stepped up to the plate for Monte Irvin and banged a two-run single with the bases loaded to give the Giants their third straight victory over Brooklyn. The Giants scored three times in that hectic eighth to snap a 2-2 tie and give them a 5-2 victory.

Rhodes' game-winning hit was an exact carbon copy of the one he made last Tuesday night when the Giants came from behind with two runs in the 13th to nip the Dodgers 4-3.

"I hit a screwball," Rhodes explained soberly in the clubhouse after yesterday's game. Then a big grin spread over his face.

"Naw, I was ribbing you," he said, "it was a fast ball—my pitch."

It marked the third time in 11 days that the fun-loving 27-year-old Alabaman had driven in the winning run with a pinch hit. On June 20, Rhodes cracked a home run off Royce Lint to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals 7-6.

* * *

"I hit a curve ball," he told reporters after the game. Before they departed, however, he admitted the pitch he hit was a fast ball. The same routine took place last Tuesday. At first he declared his game-winning single off Billy Loes came off a curve. Then he broke down and admitted it was a fast ball.

* * *

"I've been trying to keep secret the fact that I'm a good fast ball hitter," Dusty said yesterday. "You fellows won't let me. That's why I keep telling you the pitch I hit was anything but a fast ball. But I feel guilty about not telling you the truth so I've got to break down and confess they were fast balls."

MIDDLECOFF EXAMINES PUTTER—Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Motor City Open defending champion, examines his putter that snapped off following a disgusted kick at the club on the 5th green of Thursday's opening round of the Motor City Open at Meadowbrook. Middlecoff managed to finish the round with a 72 using several different clubs for substitutes.

Manager's Dream

Mays Attributes Power to More Pounds; Willie Was Prep Football, Court Star

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — "One man makes the difference in a ball club," said Leo Durocher, manager of the New York Giants. "We've got that man. Who is he? Willie Mays. Who else."

* * *

"Willie is a manager's dream," Durocher continued. "He is always doing something to amaze you. He does 100 different things. You've got to make notes on him every day in order to keep track of everything he does.

* * *

Willie, who already has hit more homers than in his entire first season with the Giants, attributes his extra power to five added pounds.

"I'm stronger than I was two years ago," he said. "And I'm more experienced."

Mays is a natural athlete. He stands five feet, 10½ inches and weighs 180 pounds. He has big hands and powerful wrists with sinewy arms. He has a sort of a pug nose that always looks as if it had just been punched. He walks lightly as if he were on springs and when he runs, every part of his body is busy.

Mays is the oldest of 11 children. He was born May 6, 1931, in Westfield, Ala. His father was a steel worker who found time to play baseball with the Birmingham Black Barons. Thus he had the contacts to get Willie a tryout with the club when he began spattering base hits all over the neighborhood sandlots. Willie went to Robinson Elementary School in Fairfield, Ala., and later to Fairfield Industrial High School. He starred in football and basketball there, but the school had no baseball team.

* * *

As sophomore quarterback in the T-formation, Willie passed for all 118 points his team made that season. In one game Willie completed nine of 10 passes. The team won four games and tied one. Willie was 15 then.

* * *

"They wouldn't let me play any more after that," he said. "I didn't care because I always preferred baseball. I've long since given up football and basketball. You can't study three sports. You've got to concentrate on one if you really want to succeed in it."

Ted Wharry Joins Ranks of Junior No-Hit Pitchers

No-hitters continue to pile up in Pontiac junior baseball circles.

Ted Wharry of Griff's Grill in Class D is the latest to join the ranks. He blanked Mets, 19-0, Thursday, striking out 10 and walking three.

Wharry's biggest support came from Dayton Patterson who led Griff's 15-hit attack with 5 straight singles. In another "D" game, Pontiac High (now sponsored by Nicholie Realty) and Lytell-Colgrove battled 8 innings to a 5-5 tie.

Lytell's grabbed a 4-0 lead in the 1st 2 innings and each team tallied one run in the 5th. Then in the 7th, a walk and Dick Slade's double preceded a home run by Jerry Vallad.

After 2 men were out, another base on balls and successive singles by Walt Poe and Tom Glenn tied the score for Nicholie's.

Boys Club defeated Pontiac Police in Class E, 4-2, behind the 3-hit effort of Herb Butler, who struck out 13 batters. Boys clubbers came from behind with 3 runs in the 6th.

Boys Club Americans numbered Jim Skinner's homer among 10 hits as Welden's was whipped, 16-3, in Glass F. Also in "F," Majestic routed St. George, 15-4, with Del Benson pitching 3-hit ball.

Whitfield Clubs downed GMC, 11-6, and the Yankees won a 7-0 forfeit from the Tigers in the Knothole circuit.

Haddix Injured, Will Miss Three Pitching Turns

Adcock's Line Drive Caroms Off Leg of Cardinal Ace

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Harvey Haddix, ace St.Louis' lefthander, will miss only three pitching turns as the result of his injury here yesterday.

"He'll be out about 10 days—three turns—," said Manager Eddie Stanky, as he watched the sophomore southpaw limp around the clubhouse. "He was really lucky—and so were we."

Haddix was hit just below the left kneecap by a vicious line drive off Joe Adcock's bat in the fourth inning of yesterday's game with Milwaukee. The ball caromed off and Haddix pounced on it to throw Adcock out at first. Then he collapsed, rolling around in pain.

Haddix was carried off the field on a stretcher and rushed by police ambulance to a hospital where his injury was diagnosed as contusions and abrasions.

Young Cardinal Homer Producer Outgrows Pants

Cunningham Adds Pair of Round-Trippers in Yesterday's Games

By CHRIS EDMONDS

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Joe Cunningham, young St.Louis Cardinals' first baseman who has hit three homers and driven in nine runs in two games as a major leaguer, is going to have to buy another pair of trousers.

* * *

"Man," the 22-year-old blond slugger said in the clubhouse here yesterday after cracking a pair off Warren Spahn, Braves' lefthander, "this is just like a dream."

* * *

"I always wanted to be a big leaguer, but I had no idea it would come so soon. I left the minors in such a hurry I only brought along one pair of trousers. I guess I'm still in a sort of shock."

It was just two nights ago, after an International League doubleheader with Havana, Cuba, that Cunningham found out he was coming up to the Cardinals from their Rochester, N.Y., farm club.

* * *

"They told me that night, after we got through, that at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning I was to go up to the Cardinals," he said with a shy grin. "I had all my stuff at the cleaners and the only pants I've got are the ones I've been wearing."

* * *

Cunningham joined the Cardinals at Cincinnati Wednesday night three hours before game-time after a bus and airplane trip. He made a sensational debut, clouting a home run and single in five trips to the plate to drive in five runs.

Yesterday he faced Spahn leading off the second inning. A left-handed hitter, Cunningham took one ball and then drove a 390-foot homer into the rightfield bleachers. He came up again in the third with Ray Jablonski and Rip Repulski on base and drove his second four-baser into the seats just inside the foul marker, about 350 feet.

Cass Michaels of the White Sox became a 10-year man last April 22, the first this year in the American league.

Sarazan Backs Idea for New US-Britain Tourney

By TOM OCHILTREE

SOUTHPORT, England (AP)—Gene Sarazen, the golfing squire of Germantown, Pa., has added another championship to his long list of golfing honors—and started promoter Fred Corcoran dreaming again.

* * *

Sarazen, the onetime U. S. Open, British Open and U. S. PGA champion, won the first International Senior championship yesterday with a 4 and 3 victory over England's Percy Alliss. Within hours Corcoran was talking about British American team competition for veteran pros.

* * *

"I would like to see this thing develop into something similar to the Ryder Cup matches," Corcoran said today. Golf is a game for all ages. A match series, like the one I have in mind, would tickle pink every senior player in the world."

The inaugural 36-hole competition was on a man to man basis only, with Sarazen the 52-year-old representing the United States by virtue of his victory in the American Seniors' tourney at Dunedin, Fla., last January. Alliss, 57, was selected by British golf writers.

GMC Narrows Jet's Advantage in 'A' Standings

Bishop Hurls 2-Hitter as Coach Nine Beats Automen, 4-0

General Motors narrowed league leading Pontiac Jets' advantage to a half game yesterday by blanking Jerome Olds-Cadillac 4-0 behind effective 2-hit pitching by Herman Bishop, last year's most valuable player in the City Class A Baseball League.

Bishop turned in a masterful performance, striking out eight and issuing no bases on balls. He retired the 1st two men he faced, gave up a single to Arky James and then turned back 15 batters in a row. Chuck Mason collected the other hit in the 6th frame.

GM scored one run in the 5th, on a walk and two wild pitches, and wrapped up the victory with three runs, on a hit, three errors and a walk, in the 6th.

Yesterday's game ended Class A play until next Tuesday.

Bell's Defensive Average Above Snider, Mays

Jimmy Delsing Leading Left Fielders in AL Thus Far

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Cincinnati's Gus Bell, generally not rated in the defensive class of Duke Snider of the Dodgers and Willie Mays of the Giants, tops all National League center fielders in fielding so far this season.

The 25-year-old Redleg stalwart has made only one error in 183 chances for a .995 mark, figures compiled by the Associated Press revealed today.

Snider shows a .994 percentage with a single miscue in 168 chances and Mays is .987, with three errors in 229 chances.

* * *

Thomas, Pittsburgh's left field replacement for Ralph Kiner, has erred only once in 202 chances for a .995 average. Monte Irvin of the Giants is next with .983.

Delsing, who has a fine lifetime fielding average of .987, also has erred only once in 135 chances for .993. He's followed by Minnie Minoso of the White Sox with .988.

Only two points in front of Boston's Jackie Jensen, Doby shows one misplay out of 190 for a .995 percentage.

Piersall, rated by many one of the best fielding outfielders in the last decade, has accepted 120 chances with a single error for a .992 mark.

Bass Forage Fish Flown to California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A major problem of California fishermen who yearn for better black bass may have been solved by a transcontinental air trip from Tennessee.

The shipment brought brood stock of adult threadfin shad, a highly rated bass forage fish, for stocking in the warm inland waters. The bass gamesters had everything there but an adequate live food supply.

Now fishermen and fish are happy.

"Busy Bee," owned and handled by Arthur J. Mansfield, won the puppy stake. "Sir Robert of Huntersfield" won the novice stake, while "Bob's" 10-month-old brother, "Sir Van Aryl of Huntersfield, was runner-up and took 2nd place ribbons in both the puppy and the novice stake.

Both "Bob" and "Van" were handled by Arlie Matheson, in the absence of Bob's master, 15-year-old Norm Matheson.

Bermuda Ocean Racing Event Draws 58 Boats

NEW YORK (AP)—The 19th edition of the biennial ocean racing classic, the Bermuda Race, may have the largest field in its history this June.

If entries continue at the present rate, the high of 58 starters established two years ago, will be topped, claims William H. Taylor of the Cruising Club of America, sponsor of the race.

Charleston Pitchers Use Platoon System

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—In a baseball rarity, Russ Grimsley and Tommy Hurd, pitchers for Charleston in the American Assn., took turns pitching and playing right field against Minneapolis last night.

Grimsley came into the game in the seventh. In the ninth he went to right and Hurd took the mound. They kept switching places until Charleston finally won in the 11th inning 5-4.

Grimsley, a southpaw, pitched only to lefthanded batters; Hurd, a rightie, only to righthanded hitters.

Two Busy Pitchers

Twa busy pitchers for the White Sox in 1953 were Billy Pierce and Virgil Trucks, each of whom went to the mound to start work in 33 games.

Vic Raschi of the Cardinals holds a pitcher's hitting mark of seven runs batted in in a single game.

ADDED HONORS — Already a many times champion in the roller skating field, Pontiac's Laurene Anselmy last night skated off with two more titles in the final round of the Great Lakes Regional skating meet at Rolladium. Laurene won the senior ladies figures event and senior ladies singles.

Columbia's Carr Is Throwback to Olden Days of Football When Players Played Without Rest

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK—There is one college football player who should rest all he can through the rest of the summer. He will be the busiest man in football next fall, if unlucky fate doesn't intervene.

This player's name is Dick Carr of Lou Little's Columbia Lions. All Dick Carr did last season was to play every minute of nine games, a neat total of 540 consecutive minutes.

* * *

Under the modern football idea this sets a record. In spite of the abandonment of the two platoon system, this iron-man performance was something entirely new. Football players were still dashing in and out of contests.

* * *

It was, of course, nothing new for the old-timers. I recall one instance which proves my point. Back in the late 80's, Princeton had a brilliant back by the name of Snake Ames.

Ames was also probably the best combination of football and baseball player any college has known. He was a great football player and a star pitcher, beating several big-league teams of those days.

Snake Ames' final season at Princeton was in 1889. Shep Homans was his substitute. Shep never got in a game for one play.

"I took over the position in 1890 and 1891," Homans told me. "My substitute never got into a game. I played every second of the 26 games we played in those two seasons. I wouldn't be surprised if some player did not play every second for three years. It took a bad injury to get us out of there is those days."

* * *

The odd part is they changed the old game because it was too rough. The roughest plays in football don't often come from passes. They come from high-speed collision in open country.

* * *

Yet Dick Carr's record in modern football is a great one. A total of 540 consecutive minutes is something well beyond the ordinary. I asked Lou Little how far Carr meant to go this year before resting, but Lou had no data on the subject.

* * *

"Carr will be in there as long as he can stand up," he said. "I think he'll stand up for quite a while."

Drobny Gets 3rd Crack at Tennis Title

By ROBERT JONES

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Wily Jaroslav Drobny, "the best player never to win at Wimbledon," gets his third chance at tennis' biggest title today when he meets young Ken Rosewall of Australia for the Wimbledon singles championship.

* * *

Drobny, now 32, will be the oldest Wimbledon champion since Big Bill Tilden broke the six-year French monopoly in 1930 if his drop shots and cute stuff prove too much for the 19-year-old Aussie ace to handle. Rosewall, on the other hand, would be the youngest champion since 'way back in 1891, when a 16-year-old named W. Baddeley won the title.

Sydney B. Wood Jr. was a few months older than Rosewall when he startled the tennis world by succeeding Tilden as champion in 1931.

* * *

Drobny, more popular than ever with English fans since he announced his intention of seeking English citizenship recently, is known here as "The Grey Fox of center court." He bowed to Ted Schroeder on the famed court in 1949 and to Frank Sedgman three years later. In addition, he has lost in the semifinals six times.

* * *

Rosewall will be playing in the final for the first time, one year behind schedule. He was seeded first last year, only to lose out in the quarter-finals.

This, then, will be another of those youth and speed versus age and experience matches that the fans seem to love. This time the bookmakers have made youth and speed a 1-2 favorite. The seedings agreed, with Rosewall No. 3 to Drobny's No. 11 spot.

* * *

The seeding committee looked good yesterday as the top-rated Aussie pair of Rex Hartwig and Mervyn Rose 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-1 whipped America's Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris and Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., in one semifinal. In the other, the second-ranked pair of Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia trounced the No. 3 seeding, Rosewall and Lew Hoad, also of Australia, 6-3, 7-5, 3-6, 4-7, 8-6.

But there was a little embarrassment in the women's semi-finals for the seeding committee when Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., outgeneraled Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., 2-6, 6-3, 6-3. The California girl, three-time winner here, had been rated fourth and Miss Hart second.

Martinez Defeats Aragon; Hurls Challenge at 'Kid'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Vince Martinez of New Jersey, having removed the glitter from "Golden Boy" Art Aragon, today challenged welterweight champion Kid Gavilan and hung out a $100,000 bait for a title match in Los Angeles this fall.

* * *

Martinez' manager, Bill Daly, who is no man for penny ante measures, saw his 25-year-old puncher from Paterson hand Aragon the worst beating of his career last night and announced:

* * *

"I am ready to guarantee Gavilan $100,000 to defend his title here against Vince."

Daly, whose fighter did everything but knock the Los Angeles veteran out in winning a 10-round decision, said he started the Gavilan title talk hours before the fight last night at Gilmore Field.

Daly said he telephoned James Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, in New York and asked if he would be interested in a Gavilan-Martinez fight in Los Angeles.

* * *

"Norris said if Vince won and it looked good, he would be very interested in a Gavilan match out here. It would be televised throughout the nation," Daly asserted.

D & W Winner in 14th Inning

Keith Hurls Shutout, Bats in Only Run in Township Tilt

Harlan (Fat) Keith pitched a 5-hit shutout and batted in the only run of the game in the last of the 14th inning Thursday night as Dick & Wes Sports won a tense, 1-0, game from Richardson Dairy at Drayton Plains.

Bob Ferree led off the D & W half of the 14th with a triple to the left field corner. He held 3rd while 2 outs were recorded, then Keith hit a high bounder to 2nd and beat it out while Ferree scored the big run.

Ray Richardson was the tough-luck loser. He fanned 9 and walked 2, while yielding 10 hits. Keith whiffed 15 and walked 3 to gain the victory. Same teams play again tonight.

Williams Lake held its Little League lead by beating Del's Service, 6-1.

Knoxville Bids for Franchise

Dedicate New Stadium, Tennessee City Hopes to Join AA Loop

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 2 (AP)—Knoxville, which dedicated its new $600,000 Municipal Stadium Wednesday, will make its pitch for a Southern Assn. baseball franchise July 15.

* * *

The co-owners of the Knoxville Club, Dr. Edgar Grubb and James E. Burke, said today they would attend a meeting of Southern Assn. directors on that date and ask that the league be expanded to 10 teams by adding Knoxville and Jacksonville, Fla.

* * *

But at least one Southern club owner, Chattanooga's Joe Engel, already has thrown cold water on this proposition.

"The directors will never approve increasing the league to 10 teams," said Engel, a guest at yesterday's dedication ceremony. "There are too many against the plan."

Unconquered Straits to be Scene of Trial by Florence Chadwick

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP)—Florence Chadwick got wet—and cold—yesterday in the chill waters of the Strait of Juan De Fuca as she started final training for an attempt to swim the 17 miles from here to Port Angeles, Wash.

She covered two miles yesterday in the water which was well under 50 degrees and emerged with the comment:

"It's cold—but I'm looking forward to trying the swim."

The San Diego swimmer has been offered $7,500 to start the swim across the cold, swift waters just off the Pacific Ocean and an additional $2,500 if she completes it.

No one ever has completed the swim.

Yanks Sit Back, Watch Tribe, Hose Fight it Out

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sportswriter

The time has come for the New York Yankees to sit back and watch Cleveland and Chicago knock each other around long enough for the Yanks to slip into the American League lead.

It may not happen that way, but there never will be a better opportunity.

* * *

Here's the situation for the next 10 days in the American League.

Cleveland, now leading by three games, has to play the second place White Sox eight times between tonight and a week from Sunday.

During the same spell the Yankees will be meeting fifth place Washington in seven games. And right here may be the kicker. The Yanks should win most or all of those games, but there is no certainty that they will. So far, the Senators steadfastly have refused to play dead for the New Yorkers. In fact, they've won five of the nine times the two have met.

Cleveland and Chicago have met eight times with the White Sox winning five. If they maintain this average the Sox will gain only one full game on the Indians. They'll still trail Cleveland by two.

* * *

But the path would be open for the Yankees. If they could win their seven with Washington they'd shoot to the top, a game in front of Cleveland.

A year ago today Casey Stengel's crew had lost nine consecutive games, but still owned a six-game bulge over Cleveland and Chicago. The slide ended at nine and the Yankees coasted home to the easiest of their five consecutive pennants.

* * *

New York was the only one of the American League contenders that played yesterday. The Yankees jumped away to a 7-0 lead at Boston but had to struggle for an 8-7 victory. This left the Yanks 3½ games out of first place.

* * *

In the National League the New York Giants swept into a four game lead by whipping Brooklyn for the third straight day, 5-2. St.Louis crushed Milwaukee 9-2 with Stan Musial and rookie Joe Cunningham hitting two home runs each.

No other games were scheduled in either league.

* * *

Johnny Sain, who has allowed only eight runs in 35 2-3 innings of relief pitching, came to the Yankees' rescue in Boston and shut out the stubborn Red Sox through the final three innings. Home runs by Mickey Mantle, Hank Bauer and Andy Carey were the big blows in the Yanks' 12-hit attack.

* * *

The Giants used another of their patented late-inning climaxes to hog-tie the Dodgers. After Brooklyn had pulled into a 2-2 deadlock in the seventh on home runs by Roy Campanella and Carl Furillo, the Giants came back with three in the eighth. The first two of the three came as pinch-hitter Dusty Rhodes duplicated his game-winning single of the Tuesday night with the bases loaded.

Cunningham, brought up to the Cardinals Wednesday as a replacement for Tom Alston, hit one home run in his first major league game Wednesday night in Cincinnati and drove home four runs with his two blows into the right field seats at Milwaukee yesterday.

Musial's homers were his 25th and 26th of the season.

Football Will Be Continued at Wayne 'U'

DETROIT (AP) — A losing football team, which also lost $34,000 for the Wayne university budget last year, won a vote of confidence and continuance yesterday.

The Detroit Board of Education which governs the school, turned down a recommendation by university president Clarence Hilberry to abandon the intercollegiate football competition after next season.

Abandonment was the recommendation also of the university council, made up of faculty, and the council of deans.

Pre-vote counters said the board of education would vote 4-3 in favor of turning down the sport. But instead, on the vote of William D. Merrifield, the sport was upheld 4-3. Merrifield had previously indicated he was against the sport.

Bengals Visit Oriole Cousins

Hope to Add to Edge Over Second Division in Baltimore Series

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Detroit Tigers hope things are quiet in Baltimore so the wounded can heal and the margin over the 2nd division can grow.

If past history is any safe measuring stick, the Tigers are on safe ground. More than a quarter of their 31 victories this season have come from the Baltimore Orioles.

Tigers have beaten Baltimore eight times against two losses.

Now with two regulars hurt, the Tigers are concerned with expanding their lead over the 2nd division. They are currently in 4th place 16 games behind the league leading Indians.

Only 2½ games behind Detroit are the Washington Senators.

Tigers expect to use Al Aber against Baltimore in the 1st of the three games series tonight. He'll face Joe Coleman.

Jewelers Handed Worst Exhibition Loss of Season

General Motors, 2nd-place team in the City Men's Softball League, handed Shaw's Jewelers their worst defeat of the year last night in the 2nd game of an exhibition doubleheader at Northside Park.

GMC's batters pounded Shaw's Clell "Mutt" Morse for 10 hits, including four extra-base smashes, as they surprised the Jewelry nine, 7-0.

Lynus Grant limited Shaw's to four singles, struck out six and issued no walks. Only four Jewelers reached base and only one advanced as far as 2nd base.

Shaw's defeated City Men's League leader Stadium Inn, 3-0, in the 1st game of the twin bill. Glenn "Wimpy" Johnson went the route for the winners, giving up three hits, striking out eight and walking two.

Giles Realty extended its undefeated skein to seven games in Girls' League action, dumping Avondale 5-1. Four players—Katherine McGowan, Learlie McCaughan, Effie Seay and Katy Boykins—collected two hits apiece to pace Giles' 12-hit attack. In another girls' game, Shaw's routed Gingellville 17-4.

Pirates NL 'Cousins'

NEW YORK (AP)—Every club in the National League except the Chicago Cubs has shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates at least once this year. The Phillies have done it six times, Milwaukee and Cincinnati three apiece and New York, Brooklyn and St.Louis once each.

Tiger 'Farm Hand' Wins a Promotion

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers have announced the promotion of a 25-year-old righthanded Utica, Mich., pitcher in their farm system.

The pitcher, Duane Duke Maas, was transferred from Wilkes Barre, a Class A team of the Eastern League to Buffalo, a Triple A team in the International League. Maas has an 11-3 record with Wilkes Barre so far this year. He has pitched 123 innings, allowing 77 hits, striking out 103 and walking only 48.

Hank Majeski of the 1948 A's hit six doubles in a doubleheader.

16-Year-Old Setting Hot Pace as Top Hunt Rider

By H. GUY MOATS

There's a rising young star in the Metropolitan area's hunt club firmament, who has all the appearances of becoming an important figure in midwest and perhaps national horse show events of the future.

She is Mary Lou Wilson, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson, Birmingham.

Mary Lou has alrady cut quite a swath in show circles in this area, at Grosse Pointe and at Bloomfield Hills Open Hunt. She has been riding two years and is today taking part in the Battle Creek Hunt Club's show. Next week, Mary Lou, photogenic youngster, with an uncanny flair for getting top performances from her favorite mount, Tinka, goes to Milwaukee for a big show.

She will return home for the Metamora show July 25 and Sept. 5-6, at Castle Park and at Holland and Northville in September. After that comes the "big one," the national at Madison Square Garden.

Mary Lou and Tinka have won many events this year. She won hunter championship at Livonia; rode with Grant's champion equestrian team at Northville; won the working hunter class at Grand Rapids and the Michigan Perpetual Challenge cup; won the John L. Booth trophy in junior working hunter class at Grosse Pointe (her second victory in the event); won the American Horse Show Assn. medal class; handy hunter class, junior and senior hunt teams at Bloomfield Open Hunt.

Altogether she has particpated in 25 classes and has won 10 of them. She placed in all other efforts she made.

Expect 900 Boys to See Lion Ace

Today is "Lou Creekmur day." Oliver Buick Co., with which the Detroit Lion star has been associated during the last off-season, has invited some 900 youngsters from Pontiac's playgrounds and Boys' Club to meet the big lineman and to receive autographed "football" balloons. The boys will see Creekmur at the Oliver establishment at Williams street and Orchard Lake avenue.

Creekmur expects to leave shortly to prepare for the annual College All-Star and NFL champion Detroit Lions charity football game in Soldiers' Field Chicago next month.

Mantle Takes Over AL Home Run Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees has taken over the American League home run lead from Cleveland's Al Rosen.

Mantle homered in the Yanks' 8-7 triumph over the Red Sox yesterday for his second round-tripper in as many days against Boston pitching. The young center fielder now has 15, one more than Rosen.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Joe Cunningham, St. Louis Cardinals, hit two home runs and drove in four runs in his second major league game as the Cards beat Milwaukee, 9-2.

PITCHING — Johnny Sain, New York Yankees, allowed only one hit in three innings of relief, salvaging an 8-7 victory for New York over Boston.

MEMO: To a Family Planning a July Fourth Holiday . . .

There's no greater fun for the entire family than the celebration of our Independence Day by a trip to one of Michigan's famous vacation sites.

Relaxation will be the order of the day for the tired father and the harassed mother, and outdoor fun for the kids.

But perhaps, there is no greater area in the state for enjoying all of the beauty and wonders of Mother Nature in her bright green summer garb than Oakland County.

Why not take one day of your holiday just to see and enjoy some of the things right here at our own doorstep? You'll find beaches, scenic drives, picnic parks, boating, hiking, riding right here at home that'll provide all of the holiday pleasures that the average family loves.

Yes, get out on the open road this week-end, but for goodness sakes, make your driving receipt include 10 pounds of caution to an ounce of recklessness. You see, we like our customers a lot, and we'd like to see you back on the job Tuesday morning, and not on a critical list in a hospital.

Babe Confident of Winning Open

By BOB HOOBING

PEABODY, Mass. (AP)—A confident Babe Zaharias entered the second round of the Women's National Open golf tournament today with the prediction: "I'm just liable to be going from here on in."

"She means," someone explained, "that she's going to win."

The drawling Babe was in a familiar position, tied for the lead with junior high school teacher Claire Doran of Cleveland at a par-matching 72 on the spongy Salem Country Club course.

"I'm really pounding that tee shot," she beamed after giving an extraordinary performance on her power. Observers agreed she put on her finest exhibition since cancer struck her down 15 months ago.

* * *

The Texas belter, veteran of 22 years of professional golf, added, "I've never hit my drives harder. I feel tall. That is, I can just feel my shots going right."

Mrs. Zaharias, who amazed her huge gallery by using irons on her second shots where most of the other participants followed with woods, played clutch golf the last two holes to make par. She toured the first nine in 35, then bogeyed three of the last nine but birdied two and sailed home on the 17th and 18th.

Typical of her play was her birdie on the par 5,808 yard 15th—longest on the course. A beautiful chip shot put her within three feet of the pin in three and she sank the follow easily.

A tremendous drive, a five-iron shot which whistled to the green and two putts covering 25 feet on the 18th enabled her to share the lead.

Behind the two pace-setters were Mary (Mickey) Wright out of Stanford University with 74, Betty Hicks, Durham, N.C., at 75 and Louise Suggs, Atlanta, and Pat O'Sullivan from Orange, Conn. with 76s.

The defending champion, Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., shot a 77.

FINISHED HOT ROD! — Above picture, made Wednesday night at Pontiac M-59 Speedway, shows what occasionally happens when a hot rod racing car gets out of hand. This one was piloted by Chuck Shaughnessy of St. Clair Shores in the feature race. Shaughnessy sustained only minor cuts and bruises. He had been rated a strong contender for the race after his near win Sunday, in the state title contest.

Athletics Ask Help of Mayor to Get Fans Out, Keep Franchise in Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics, scraping the bottom of the financial barrel to last out the season, have turned in desperation to the city's mayor for help in bolstering their attendance.

And Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr., said today the problem is simple: If Quaker City residents want the franchise to stay in Philadelphia they've got to get out and see the A's play.

Now in their 54th year in Philadelphia, the Athletics have drawn only about 125,000 paid admissions for 34 home games. To break even this year the A's need at least a half million paid attendance. To keep their farm system operating, a minimum attendance of 750,000 is necessary. The 125,000 figure was given to the city administration by club officials.

* * *

Those are the statistics. Clark has called for a meeting on July 8, of 75 leading citizens from Philadelphia to form a "Mayor's Committee To Keep The Athletics in Philadelphia."

Here's how that scheduled meeting came about:

Two weeks ago, Roy and Earle Mack, present owners with their father, Connie Mack, went to Clark and told him the situation. They asked his help. Some of Clark's assistants talked with Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, American League President Will Harridge and Phillies' owner Robert R. M. Carpenter, among others, about the problems involved.

Some preliminary meetings were held. The Macks let it be known that Minneapolis, Dallas, Kansas City, Houston and possibly Los Angeles, were interested in having the A's franchise. They told the mayor that if the half-million mark was not reached they would have to move.

Roy Mack says "We have a good young ball club and if we can get over the hump to the end of the season we can keep the franchise."

The A's have never drawn a million fans, even in the golden years of "Mr. Baseball," Connie Mack, now retired.

Making her third start of the season at the Detroit Race Course, Sickle's Image, the "mare of the year" in 1953, has been nominated for the July 10, $50,000 added, Michigan Mile. The Image is owned by Clarence Hartwick of Oxford.

She will be shooting for a sizeable boost in her current earnings, with the big goal to become the greatest money-winning mare of all time. She is now about $65,000 from eclipsing the total set by Bewitch.

Along with the Image will be some 77 other nominees for the rich mile event. They include some of the finest sprinters in the nation, such as White Skies, Royal Ben Gem, Pomace, Money Broker, Phil D., Chain Reaction, Gulf Stream, Second Avenue (1953 winner) Find, Sea O'Erin, Tahitan, Capedor and Mister Black. Stables represented include Alfred Vanderbilt, Brookmeade, Hasty House (the Allie Rubens), Mrs. J. R. H. Thouron and others.

Rev. Richards Meet Favorite

Jim Podoley to Furnish Most Competition in Decathlon

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—It was the Rev Bob Richards against the field in the two-day National AAU Decathlon championship starting tonight at Bader Field.

The 28-year-old Olympic pole vaulting king was a big choice to beat 25 other talented athletes for the 10-event title Milt Campbell can't defend because of an elbow injury.

Commies in Guatemala Outsmarted Themselves

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The Communists spent 10 years building themselves up in Guatemala. It has taken just 12 days to throw them out.

There may be more trouble in the little Central American republic. The Communists had gained powerful popular support, as the sponsors of radical "reform" programs, in addition to making themselves dominant in the government.

But the Communists themselves are on the run and their party has been outlawed.

The outstanding fact in the Guatemalan revolt is that world communism has lost its first and only real foothold in the Western Hemisphere. It is a big victory for the West in the cold war.

There seems to be not the remotest chance that the Communists will be able to make a comeback in Guatemala in the foreseeable future.

Further, it is probable that the drive against communism in some larger Latin American countries —already under way — will be stepped up. The Guatemalan situation awakened the peoples of the American republics generally to the fact that the threat of communism in the Western hemisphere was real.

Things started happening when the State Department announced on May 17 that a shipment of arms from behind the Iron Curtain had been landed in Guatemala.

The Guatemalan government announced on June 2 that it had uncovered the "best organized plot in the history of the government."

President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman suspended constitutional guarantees on June 8.

The revolt, organized outside the country, broke on June 18. It seemed for a while to have bogged down, but Arbenz was forced to resign last Sunday, and on Monday the Communist party was outlawed.

The Guatemalan Communist party never was large. Its card-carrying membership was estimated to number not more than 3,000, and probably nearer 2,000.

It had only four members in the 5-member National Congress. But it dominated the entire government.

Communism started boring in when the dictatorial regime of President Jorge Ubico was overthrown in 1944. When Juan Jose Arevalo was installed as President in 1945, the Communists moved in at once on his program of "social reforms." They succeeded in infiltrating every government department.

At first the Communists worked from behind the scenes. In 1950, they came into the open as the Communist party under Jose Manuel Fortuny, who had been a leader of the extreme leftist "liberty front."

In 1952, the Communists renamed themselves the Guatemalan workers party, taking their lead from the so-called workers parties of such Soviet satellites as Hungary and Poland.

The dominance of the Communists became apparent when Arbenz was inaugurated as President in 1951. For three years, they never had it so good. But it has developed that they outsmarted themselves.

Wheat and Corn Backing Down

CHICAGO (AP) — Light selling entered grains, particularly wheat and corn, on the board of trade today and the market backed down for miner losses.

Soybeans moved against the main trend at the outset. The July contract opened five cents higher and small advances were recorded in the new crop months. But weakness in other pits soon caused selling in beans, cutting July's gain and sending some new crop months under the previous close.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅜ to ⅞ lower, July $1.93⅝, corn unchanged to ½ lower, July $1.58½ oats ¼ to ⅝ lower, July 71⅜, rye unchanged to ¼ lower, July 99, soybeans 1 cent lower to 3 cents higher, July $3.78 and lard 5 to 35 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $16.10.

Market Rallies, Up 1 to 4 Points

NEW YORK (AP)—A brisk rally turned the stock market around today after a quietly lower opening and by early afternoon gains in leaders ranged from 1 to as much as 4 points.

Du Pont, which has bounced up and down for a good part of the week, led the advancing shares with a gain of 4⅛ at 139. General Motors climbed 2¼ to 76¼.

Mostly higher groups included the steels, chemicals, motors, televisions and coppers. Aircraft rails, rubbers and electrical equipments were mixed.

Advancing stocks included Celanese, Western Auto Supply, U.S. Steel, Chrysler, U.S. Rubber, Boeing, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Santa Fe, Mathieson Chemical, Union Carbide, Raytheon, Alcoa, J. P. Stevens, General Electric and International Harvester.

The rally caught brokers by surprise. They had looked for a quiet pre-holiday market with possibly lower prices because of unfavorable Senate action on proposals to ease taxes on dividend income.

RUINS CAR FINISH—Aiding the average motorist to keep the showroom shine on the finish of the family car, General Motors Research Labratories have devised a machine which will age paints, enamels, and lacquers in one-twentieth of the time normally required under the most extreme outdoor test conditions. "Little Florida," as the machine is called, with the help of a 1200-watt mercury arc lamp to simulate the sun and artificial dew, allows researchers to check the durability of automotive finishes long before they are considered for use in production.

Plan for Wheat Has Chance

House Vote Kills Bid to Scuttle Two-Price Proposal for Grain

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House today beat down by voice vote an attempt to strike from the politically explosive farm bill a proposed two-price plan for wheat.

Farm state members backing the plan thus staged a comeback in strength after being forced on the defensive yesterday by a powerful administration drive to keep a compromise flexible price support plan in the bill.

* * *

The anti-administration forces planned to seek a showdown roll-call vote in their efforts to continue mandatory high farm price props another year at 90 per cent of parity. They had suffered a surprising setback when the House tentatively approved the compromise calling for flexible props at from 82½ to 90 per cent.

Rallying their forces, the farm state groups rejected an amendment by Rep. Ford (R-Mich) to cut from the House bill a wheat plan authored by Chairman Hope (R-Kans) of the House Agriculture Committee.

The plan calls for a referendum among wheat farmers next year on continuing straight price supports and controls, or accepting a plan to take 100 per cent of parity on that portion of their crop grown for domestic consumption and lower world prices for the rest of their production going into feed or export.

Ford said the plan makes possible lower-priced wheat to foreign consumers at the expense of domestic users. He called it "unsound" in the face of government wheat holdings he said already totaled 2¼ billion dollars.

Defending the two-price proposal, Rep. Belcher (R-Okla) said it "would not cost the taxpayers one dime."

Hope said it would save "taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars" now spent by the government in export subsidies on wheat sold in foreign markets at world prices below the U.S. support level.

Panhandle Eastern to Hike Gas Price

Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. has notified the Federal Power Commission of its intention to increase by 18 per cent the price for natural gas sold to its public utility and other customers in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri.

The increase is necessitated, the company states, because of higher operating costs dating back to 1952. An order by the Commission fixing new rates effective last May 1, Panhandle asserts, was based on 1952 operating costs, and did not take into account increases occurring since that time.

Under a proposed plan put forth in the Panhandle application, industrial and domestic gas sales would be segregated, the major portion of the rate boost being absorbed by industrial users. Industrial gas prices will be competitive in relation to prices of other industrial fuels.

According to Panhandle, the higher rate would increase its revenue by $12,127,684 annually, or 4.4 cents per 1000 cubic feet. The pipe line company asks that the new rates be made effective Aug. 1.

30 Volunteers Watch Skies

13th Observers Corps' Spotters Scan Skies Every Night

Oakland County's 13th Ground Observers' Corps post opened Thursday night as airplane spotters climbed to Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium's roof to watch for unidentified planes.

Charles Jehle of Waterford Township, supervisor of the new sky-watchers' post, said 30 men and women have signed up for duty—enough to man the station at 7350 Cooley Lake Rd. each night. A. N. Carnes of Union Lake is chief observer.

"We hope to have enough volunteers by fall to go on 24-hour operation," Jehle said. "We're using the elevator housing atop the sanitorium. The building stands on a hill and gives a clear view of the horizon for miles around."

The Ground Observers' Corps, a volunteer organization supervised by the U. S. Air Force, has hundreds of plane-spotting posts around the nation's borders to help the radar network guard against sneak air attacks.

Would Cut Off Cash for U.N.

Sen. Knowland to Fight Entry of Red China With Early Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said today he may ask Congress to shut off all American contributions to the United Nations if the U. N. admits Red China to membership.

Knowland said Secretary of State Dulles would be asked to reaffirm American policy on the issue today at a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, at which Dulles was scheduled to appear.

* * *

He has no doubt, the California senator said in an interview in advance of that meeting, that the Eisenhower administration remains vigorously opposed to U. N. recognition of the Peiping reime.

But to be doubly safe, he said, he may offer an amendment to the foreign aid bill which would halt U. S. contributions to the organization if American objections are overridden on this score.

The foreign aid bill includes this country's share of U. N. expenses, currently one third of the U. N. budget.

Knowland indicated he prefers this approach to a proposal by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) to direct President Eisenhower to notify the U.N. of this country's withdrawal of membership and funds if the Chinese Communists are admitted.

* * *

If either proposal were approved by Congress, the effect would be to leave the administration no alternative.

Knowland said he is satisfied Eisenhower and Dulles will do everything they can to prevent Communist China from displacing Nationalist China in the international organization.

"But I don't know what the administration's policy would be if United States opposition were overridden and the Red Chinese were admitted," he said. "Because I would not want to embarrass the administration, I would resign my leadership in that case to fight to get us out of the organization."

Knowland linked possibly U. N. action on China directly with the events in Indochina, saying he fears the French have made a deal with the Communists there which involves at least passive approval of Peiping's acceptance into the U. N.

* * *

"I want our Allied associates to know there is a fair chance they will have to choose between Communist China and the United States and they should have their eyes open when they do it," he declared.

* * *

He said he expects a move to be made to avoid a possible American veto on the issue in the Security Council by attempting to get the General Assembly to take the Red Chinese as members.

Once that occurred, he said, it would be almost impossible to prevent their relacing the Nationalist Chinese as permanent members of the Security Council. Besides China and this country, permanent council members are Russia, France and the United Kingdom.

* * *

Sen. George (D-Ga), Foreign Relations Committee member, said he has no doubt that Britain will support the Communists' bid for a U. N. seat.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) said admission of Communist China at this time would bring the U. N. to "a tragic end."

* * *

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said there is general agreement in this country that no nation should be allowed to shoot its way into the U. N.

"In my opinion, it would be the death of the United Nations if at this time the other nations represented in that body were to vote to permit the Communist regime in China to represent China there," he said.

Merv Griffin Prefers Career

Slims Down to 155 and Counts 45,000 in His Fan Clubs

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UP) — There was a time when even a 21-inch screen would have been hard put to accommodate that svelte new fellow you saw on television last week—Merv Griffin. But that was 75 pounds ago.

Steak, cottage cheese and salads — and more of the same — made it possible for the handsome young singer to pair with Betty Ann Grove as the summer replacement for Jane Froman Thursday nights at 7:45 — and for Jo Stafford at the same time on Tuesdays beginning July 6.

"It may be true that everyone loves a fat man," the West Coast comer said, "but I decided that didn't hold true for corpulent crooners. It was a case of career or calories, and my stomach was outvoted."

Marv weighs in now at 155 pounds, and it is almost impossible to imagine that he once was 230 and had to be kept out of sight of his growing public to prevent disenchantment.

"That was when I started to sing on radio station KFRC in San Francisco," he explained. "The response from listeners was good, but the station officials felt that the best thing for everyone concerned was to keep me a hidden asset. I was smuggled in and out of a very private studio when I was on the air."

But the Hollywood movie scouts, who had heard about the new singing find, couldn't be put off. They took one look at Merv, shuddered and fled back home.

"That was when I decided my future didn't lie in rich foods," he said. "I went to a doctor and found out what to do."

Once he got down to presentable size, his career really got going.

The Summer Snapshot TV series on which he is now embarked is likely to add considerably to the membership of the National Mervin Griffin Fan Club.

"I guess maybe you don't hear as much about fan clubs as you did some years back," Griffin said, "but they're as busy as ever. They're just a little more subdued now — at least in my case. The squalling bobby-soxer stage seems to have given way to more dignified but just as enthusiastic appreciation.

"They tell me there are about 45,000 members in my fan clubs around the country. It's like having a lot of sisters.

"They give advice, send me home-made cookies and candy — and at the same time warn me to stay on my diet — and pressure the disk jockeys and radio stations to play my records. I must have the largest collection of hand-knitted argyle sox in the country."

Japan, situated as it is, with the ocean bed dropping sharply away, is a veritble earthquake center. The people live in constant dread of quakes, and never become accustomed to them in spite of their frequency.

Shriners Climax Annual Meeting at Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP) — Shriners by the thousands paraded and cavorted in this seashore resort last night to climax their annual convention.

The parade followed the colorful installation of Frank S. Land of Kansas City, Mo., as imperial potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

Land, founder of the Order of DeMolay, which is a Masonic group for boys, succeeded Remmie L. Arnold of Petersburg, Va., as the top man among the 700,000 shriners.

The council voted to hold next years Shrine convention at Chicago in June.

More than 85 per cent of U. S. passenger-miles in 1953 were by private automobile. In 1920 it was only 13 per cent.

Williams Backs Philip A. Hart

Legal Adviser Seeking Lieutenant Governor Position

LANSING (UP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams moved openly today to throw his weight behind Philip A. Hart's candidacy for the Democratic lieutentant governorship nomination in what may prove a major party row.

Williams abandoned the traditional neutrality in party primaries by supporting Hart against George S. Fitzgerald, Detroit attorney and former Democratic national committeeman who broke with the Williams-CIO party leadership four years ago.

Hart, who served as Williams' legal adviser until he resigned to enter the primary, previously was U.S. District Attorney and former State Corporation and Securities Commissioner.

Williams told a staff conference late Thursday that Fitzgerald's record "is not that of a loyal Democrat" citing his walkout from party circles in 1950 following a dispute over selection of 14th congressional district convention delegates. Many of Fitzgerald's followers openly switched to Republican ranks.

Williams previously had advised Democratic administration aides to stay neutral in Party primaries due Aug. 3, but expressly exempted the lieutenant governorship race Thursday.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (INS) — With a swarm of other tourists, I walked up the great wide steps of the nation's capitol and began seeing Washington as it should be seen.

Last time I saw it, writing about the opening session of Congress this year, I was properly accredited, identified, and correctly garbed in my Sunday best.

On this hot summer afternoon, like every other woman around me, I was in a cotton dress, hatless and gloveless and accompanied by two boys in khakis and sports shirts, innocent of jackets or ties.

We were received like kings and queens.

The capitol police, all over the hill, waved us to open parking spots, gave friendly directions, and seemed pleased at the stream of cars bearing every license plate from Maine to California.

I had my 1954 "press card" handy in my purse for this unscheduled visit, which first took shape in my sons' illogical minds on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, somewhere northeast of Lancaster, Pa.

But I never once had to produce it, though after we had "done" the rotunda and public halls, I did seek INS headquarters to ask if we could get into the press gallery while the Senate was in session.

We could indeed. But not for long—no sooner was my 12-year-old perched atop the round leather stool normally occupied by a great metropolitan daily, than I was politely informed by an official that though I myself might remain, youngsters did look unusual there, so perhaps they'd find the "senator's gallery" just as enjoyable.

We went en masse. Both boys were all eyes, but perhaps because my teen-age son belongs to the history society at his school, his first view of the United States Senate in action stirred him deeply.

As per current teenage lingo his only comment was, "It's the greatest, it sure is the greatest," but any mother can see excitement in a son's face, can hear emotion behind a matter-of-fact young voice.

Suddenly I was thankful we had abandoned our earlier route to come down to Washington, even for one afternoon.

"Maybe government work," he casually offered a while later as we left the great chamber, "wouldn't be too crummy, after a guy got out of college and the army."

"Maybe not," I said, casual too. "If more and more good guys felt that way and tried for it, it really would be the greatest."

I'd told the boys about the Senate subway, so we took the plunge down to the basement for a free ride in the open cars on the one-rail transportation system. The breakneck speed so delighted my younger son, we became four time repeaters.

On duty at one terminal, officer No. 74, otherwise William Dempsey of Scranton, Pa., gave us some vital statistics. "Each car seats 18," he said, "and the distance traveled is 1,000 feet. We run from 8:45 a.m. till the Senate adjourns—even if that's 2 a.m."

Before sunset, we had toured all around Washington's famous places, seen the state department buildings, old and new, gaped at the White House, and ended with the Washington Monument and Lincoln Memorial.

At Abraham Lincoln's feet, both boys were wordless, staring and staring up at that great sad kindly face, and I was silent, too.

But I wished that all parents in America could somehow, some time, take their sons and daughters to this lovely city of Washington where our own history—and so much of the world's — seems so close and so alive.
