O'Brian Slated for Hospital

Court Declares Rapist-Slayer Sex Psychopath

State Commission Soon Will Commit Local Man to Mental Institution

Rape-slayer Donald V. O'Brian, 27, was declared a criminal sexual psychopath today by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

He was returned to Oakland County Jail and will be turned over to the Michigan State Hospital Commission soon for commitment to a mental institution.

Judge Doty said that under the law O'Brian may be paroled from the institution if his condition improves but that he may never be tried for his crimes.

"This act is unfair and I believe it should be amended—but that's within the scope of the legislature and not the court," Judge Doty declared.

"Under the existing law there is nothing else I can do but turn him (O'Brian) over to the Hospital Commission."

Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem tried unsuccessfully to enter a motion for dismissal of the petition to declare O'Brian a sexual psychopath and to proceed with a first degree murder trial.

O'Brian has admitted the rape-slaying of Mrs. Hallie O. Perkins, 55, of 76 W. Longfellow St., last Aug. 33, the rape of a 16-year-old girl on Aug. 15 and attempted attacks on four other Pontiac women.

He was captured Sept. 10 while attempting to attack a housewife on Oriole street.

Judge Doty's decision to declare O'Brian a psychopath followed the testimony of three Pontiac psychiatrists who examined O'Brian and concurred on his condition.

Dean Is Cool to New Red Peace Parley Proposals

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The Communists today offered a broad proposal for a Korean peace conference—some of it new and some of it old—but most of it got a cold shoulder from U. S. delegate Arthur H. Dean.

Dean in turn offered the Reds a compromise plan to let Russia sit in on the conference as a "neighbor of Korea," taking part as a "third party" with full voting privileges.

Dean's suggestion was a revision of earlier U. N. demands that a conference include only the two belligerent sides with Russia on the Communist side if she attends. However, an Allied spokesman said:

"We expect the law of gravity will operate to take care of that situation and we would not be surprised if Russia would show up as the chief spokesman for the Communists."

Both sides agreed to take a day off to study the new proposals. They will meet again Wednesday.

Dean said after today's meeting—first of the sixth week of talks—that the Communist proposal is simply an old plan "dressed up with altering tinsel."

He said he was "exceptionally disappointed" and told newsmen there was a "complete lack of progress."

However, Dean said he was "gratified" the Communists have suggested New Delhi as a conference site, switching from their previous insistence on Panmunjom. An Indian spokesman in Panmunjom said he believed the In-

800-Foot Plunge Fatal to Skier

Jon Lindbergh, Others Try to Save Victim of Mt. Shasta

MT. SHASTA, Calif. (AP)—Fellow mountain climbers told today of the desperate but futile efforts of Jon Lindbergh and others to save a Swiss skier who tumbled 800 feet down treacherous Mt. Shasta.

Edvar Werner Hopf, 31-year-old electronics engineer, died early yesterday after he had been administered artificial respiration for 11 hours.

Young Lindbergh, shy, 20-year-old son of the famed flier, Charles A. Lindbergh, was the leader of a group of Stanford University climbers.

Hopf, on skis, lost his footing at the 1,000-foot level Saturday.

"No one saw Hopf fall," said Gail Gilbert, 18, a member of the party. "But they saw him flashing down in a shower of snow. Jon and another student, Vlado Kavalik, ax-jumped out onto the sheer ice and tried to stop him, but they missed."

They found Hopf at the end of an 800-foot blood-stained trail. He died of head and internal injuries in a snow-block igloo. The body was brought down the mountain.

Lindbergh and the seven others reported the tragedy to Coroner Lloyd B. Noble, then publicity-shy Jon slipped away to Palo Alto, where he is a major in marine biology at Stanford, before reporters could talk with him.

Court Refuses Review of Edict on Gas Rates

Won't Hear an Appeal of Ruling Which Allows FPC to Fix Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to review a decision that the Federal Power Commission must fix rates for interstate sales of natural gas by companies which produce and gather it.

The decision was given by the U. S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. It was appealed to the high tribunal by the Phillips Petroleum Co., and the states of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

The court of appeals decision overturned a ruling by the power commission that Phillips was not a natural gas company within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act and the commission had no jurisdiction over its rates.

During the lengthy proceeding, the states of Wisconsin and Michigan; Wayne County, Mich.; and Detroit, Milwaukee and Kansas City, Mo., intervened to urge that Phillips was a natural gas company whose interstate sales should be regulated by the federal agency. But Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico said federal regulation would interfere with regulations imposed by the states.

Further, Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico said that if the court of appeals decision was allowed to stand it would lead to federal regulation of more than 2,300 independent producers and gatherers who sell directly to interstate transmission companies which are natural gas companies within the meaning of the act.

The Supreme Court's refusal to hear the case lets the decision by the U. S. Court of Appeals stand unchanged.

The question of the commission's power to regulate rates of these companies was a hot issue during the administration of President Truman.

Congress passed a bill to declare the commission was without such power but Truman vetoed it.

Later, the commission itself decided it did not have such power. The court decision reversed that.

During the arguments, contenders on both sides said that many millions of dollars were involved.

The argument was that if rates charged by collectors of natural gas were not regulated there would necessarily be higher charges to gas users in the Midwest and East.

Jackson Is Charged With Slaying Wife

Garlian Jackson, 38, of 324 Howard McNeill St., was charged today with second degree murder in the fatal stabbing of his 36-year-old wife, Annabelle, on Thanksgiving Day.

The warrant was approved by Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem and Jackson is scheduled to be arraigned today in Pontiac Municipal Court.

Jackson told Ziem his wife rushed at him with a knife, slipped and stabbed herself. Two Thanksgiving dinner guests were in another room when the knifing occurred, Jackson added.

Seven Testify in Auto Death

Harrelson Examination Reopens in Municipal Court Here

Seven persons took the stand today as the negligent homicide examination of Leaun Harrelson Jr., 18, of 26 Delaware Dr., was resumed in Pontiac Municipal Court.

The hearing was continuing this afternoon.

Harrelson is charged with negligent homicide in the traffic death of Mrs. Veda H. Coon, who was fatally injured Oct. 9 at W. Huron St. and Cherokee Rd.

Among the seven who appeared today before Pontiac Judge Maurice E. Finnegan are Eugene Carey of 405 W. Iroquois Rd., Mrs. Clarence Brown, of 3840 Elizabeth Lake Rd. and Lyndon Salathiel of 534 Shoreview Dr.

Mrs. Brown said she and her husband were driving east on Huron when she saw a car, apparently trying to get back in the right center lane, moving west toward Mrs. Coon.

She said the oncoming car struck Mrs. Coon as the Browns' auto passed her.

Carey said his car was stopped at Cherokee and Huron when he "heard the roar of high speed motors" and saw two cars moving toward Mrs. Coon.

"One car appeared to be passing another and they seemed to be going about 45 miles an hour," he testified.

Carey said he didn't see the car hit Mrs. Coon, but said the skid marks were beyond the point of impact.

Salathiel said he didn't see the car strike Mrs. Coon, but heard brakes screeching.

A statement by Clarence Brown was read during the hearing by Erskine Williams, an insurance claims adjuster. Oakland County Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor, waived objection to the statement's testimony when the reading was requested by defense attorney William F. Dohany.

Brown, who is hunting in Northern Michigan, said in his statement that he saw a car coming toward Mrs. Coon. The auto's impact was heard by Brown just as Brown's auto passed the victim. He said that the Harrelson auto was over the yellow line but later crossed back into the inside lane.

Paul Valentino, 19, of 159 Whittemore St., said that he talked with Harrelson after the accident. He quoted Harrelson as asking about the amount of damage caused to his car.

Valentino also testified that Har-

Kent County Judge Named to Hear Hubbard Ouster

LANSING (UP) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams today designated Kent County Probate Judge Wallace Waalkes Jr. to hear ouster proceedings against Dearborn Mayor Orville L. Hubbard.

Demands for removal of the stormy Dearborn mayor recently were filed with the executive office by Wayne Circuit Judge Miles N. Culehan, who has been conducting a one-man grand jury probe of Hubbard's activities.

Williams said Attorney General Frank G. Millard will set the date for start of hearings after conferring with Judge Waalkes. The hearing date must allow Hubbard eight days advance notice, according to law.

The governor said statutes provide that either he could conduct hearings or refer the removal petition to the attorney general or Wayne County prosecutor for presentation to a probate judge or Wayne Circuit Court commissioner.

Williams said it has been traditional to refer such ouster proceedings to probate judges.

Culehan listed a number of charges against Hubbard in his petition for removal and the Dearborn mayor countered with a libel suit against the judge.

Executive office aides said the removal hearing is expected to take several weeks.

Gouzenko Says He Won't Talk

Jenner Subcommittee Denied Interview With Ex-Russian Clerk

TORONTO (AP)—Igor Gouzenko, in an interview copyrighted by the Toronto Telegram, said today he has decided not to be interviewed by the Jenner subcommittee of the U.S. Senate.

Gouzenko is the former Russian code clerk whose disclosures sparked the Canadian spy trials in 1946. The Senate subcommittee on internal security, headed by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), twice forwarded requests to interview him, after he was quoted as saying he had valuable information. Last week the Canadian government agreed that such questioning would be permitted, but with restrictions including one that Gouzenko's testimony be subject to censorship by Canada.

One Survives Sunday Wreck Near Durand

Roy Daltons and Three Girls Die in Accident During Snowstorm

Five members of an Avon Township family were killed and one was injured seriously Sunday when a passenger train struck their car three miles northeast of Durand during a heavy snowfall.

Killed were Roy Dalton, 40, his wife, Ruth, 38, Judy, 14, Diana, 6, and Sherry, 18 months.

In Durand Hospital with double fractures of the right leg is Douglas Dalton, 10. He said he did not hear or see the train.

The impact, which hurled the car about 100 feet, ripped the auto open, hurling the occupants to the ground.

Leo Dunton, engineer of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad's Maple Leaf Limited, said he did not see the car. The train was traveling at about 50 miles an hour, he reported.

The Daltons were on their way home to 3868 Alida from a Thanksgiving holiday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Joslyn of Marion, Osceola County.

The railroad right of way, located on the Shiawassee County line, is guarded only by a sign and authorities believe Dalton did not see the train.

Dalton was an employe of Pontiac Motor Division where he had been an electrician since 1947.

Judy was a freshman at Avondale High School, Diana a first grader at Stiles School, and Douglas is a fifth grader at Stiles.

Neighbors report that the Daltons had almost finished paying for their five-room home and were in the process of building an addition to the house. They had lived there since May, 1953.

Their deaths brought Michigan's weekend death total to 23.

Another multiple-victim accident claimed the lives of John, 54, and Alma Toome, 43, of Detroit, after their car went out of control on U.S.112, near Ypsilanti and crashed into a tree.

A head-on collision near Caro brought death to three persons Sunday. Mrs. Evelyn Sirdan, 39, of Kingston, and Gerald Partlo, 25, of Akron were killed outright. Frank Klatt, 27, also of Akron, died six hours later.

Amos W. Wright, 46, of St. Louis, Mich., was killed in a two-car collision on U.S.10, about two miles east of Evart in Osceola County.

Charles Dietrich, of Detroit, was killed in the crash of an

Auditor, Clerks Bound as Armed Men Scoop $5,500 From Safe

Three armed bandits walked into the Fox and Hounds Inn office at Woodward and E. Long Lake road this morning and took $5,500 in cash after they tied up an auditor and two clerks, according to Bloomfield Hills police.

Peter D. Larson, auditor, said the men came in, took the money from an open safe, and cautioned those in the office to "keep quiet" as they left.

Described as medium in build and height, the men escaped in a black car driven by a fourth companion.

A license on the car was stolen from a junked auto, a check by State Police disclosed.

Larsen said the men were evidently familiar with the operation of the office because they came in about the time the office personnel usually counts the money taken in over the weekend.

In the office at the time were Mrs. Virginia Guenther and Mrs. Lois Kinney, both clerks, who were tied with rope brought by the bandits, and then gagged. Larson was not gagged.

The bandits were not masked.

Hoffman Says Dewey 'Thwarted' Probe of AFL Teamsters Union in New York

ALLEGAN (UP)— Rep. Clare Hoffman (R-Mich.) said today that the work of a House subcommittee investigating labor rackets has been "thwarted" by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

"We tried to conduct hearings in New York, but Dewey practically took over the investigation himself," the Michigan Republican said at his home. He is resting following the close of a week-long investigation of the financial activities of the Detroit-AFL Teamsters Union which ended Friday.

Hoffman's allegations came after Rep. Wint Smith (R-Kans.) chairman of the subcommittee, said highly-placed sources in Washington put pressure on the three committee members to "go easy or get out."

Smith refused to name names, but he pointed skyward and said "they are way up there."

"Dewey knew about labor racketeering in Yonkers and Roosevelt Raceway operations long before our investigators moved in," Hoffman said today. "But he did nothing about it until he learned my committee was planning to hold hearings on the mess. Then he called a special session of his legislature and took over."

Hoffman is chairman of the House Committee on Government Operations and a member of the three-man subcommittee which appeared in Detroit last week.

Hoffman also said Rep. Samuel K. McConnell (R-Pa.), chairman of the full House committee on labor and education, ordered the subcommittee to restrict its investigations to Detroit.

"Sam wants to avoid stepping on too many important toes," the Michigan congressman said.

The subcommittee's hearings set the stage for possible legal action against James Hoffa, head of the Detroit AFL Teamsters Union, and against several of his aides.

The U. S. District Attorney's office and the Bureau of Internal Revenue said there may be ground for a grand jury investigation of the Detroit Teamsters and for a further look into Hoffa's financial activities.

Deer Season Deaths Stand at 15 as Final Day Starts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Casualties stood at 14 today as Michigan's 15-day buck deer season entered its final day. Gunfire has killed eight, exposure two, asphyxiation two, and heart attacks three.

The latest victim was found Sunday in the cold, north woods of the Upper Peninsula.

Robert Thomas, 22, of Mt. Clemens, was found by State Police in a wooded swamp six miles northeast of Seney in Schoolcraft County, dead from exposure. He had been missing since noon Thanksgiving Day.

Earlier State Police found the body of Albert Story, 41, a Greenville attorney, near Cedar Springs in Kent County. Story apparently was trying to put his rifle in the trunk of his car when it went off, hitting him.

Troopers said he had been dead 12 hours when they found him Sunday.

State Police said a total of 45 hunters have been wounded by gunfire so far in the deer season.

Today was the last day of the state-wide deer season, but even more concentrated shooting was expected tomorrow in the northern lower peninsula above highway M55.

For one more day, hunters who have not gotten their deer either by gun or bow and arrow may shoot bucks, does and fawns in the special area.

Hunters planning to go out for the special population-thinning shoot were warned, however, that the sale of deer hunting licenses will end at 7 p. m. today.

Birmingham Commission Gets Request for Sewage in Maple-Cranbrook Area

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — After ordering the city attorney to take legal steps to prevent further development of the southwest corner of Maple and Cranbrook roads, City Commissioners have received a request from the developers for sewage services.

City Manager Donald C. Elbert has stated that sewage from the proposed 110-house development there of Oak Park builders Kopman and Hassin drains across Cranbrook into the city's system.

The lawmakers also will take up the proposed agreement with Troy Township and several other parties to provide water, storm and sanitary sewage facilities for the proposed Pembroke school and adjacent land in Troy.

Also on the agenda is awarding of garbage and rubbish collection contracts. A third recommendation for a state conducted census every five years also will be taken up.

Dean Cool to Red Peace Parley Plan

dian government would approve New Delhi if both sides requested it.

The Reds also proposed that the conference begin Dec. 28. The Red plan was, in effect, a counterproposal to a U. N. plan submitted by Dean Saturday.

The Allied plan limited "Neutrals" to nations which have an interest in the Korean situation such as Pakistan and India, but omitted the additional Red choices of Burma, Indonesia and Russia.

The Red counterplan restored the three but made one important concession — that the neutrals would not have a vote although they would have the right to participate in other phases.

The heart of the problem, however, was what to do with Russia, which the Reds have demanded firmly be admitted as a neutral.

7 Testify Today in Harrelson Exam

relson told him immediately after the accident that the woman stepped back into the path of the auto.

Donny McLean, 13, of 165 Elizabeth Lake Rd., testified that he ran out of a nearby market when he heard screeching of brakes.

The boy said: "I heard that man (Valentino) tell him (Harrelson) 'Keep your story straight'."

George Willard of 270 Steadfield, Milford, a meat cutter in the market, said he heard the impact from the rear of the store.

He also said that Valentino used the telephone in the store after the accident.

Valentino estimated the speed of Harrelson's car at 30 miles per hour.

The examination was adjourned Nov. 19 by Finnegan upon request of Chief Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor. He asked for the adjournment when four witnesses were unable to appear at the examination.

O'Brian Declared Sexual Psychopath

Mumby and Abraham Tauber testified today that O'Brian is a dangerous man and a potential killer.

The doctors were appointed to examine O'Brian separately and to file individual reports with Judge Doty on their findings last Oct. 20.

Dr. Tauber said that during his interview with O'Brian he was told "the real thrill was choking them when they fought."

In Dr. Tauber's opinion O'Brian's compulsion was to be opposed by his victims and that murder was secondary to the actual struggle.

Dr. Mumby said there is every likelihood O'Brian would repeat his crimes if he was given the chance and he recommended perpetual confinement.

Dr. Fink expressed the opinion that it was highly improbable O'Brian could ever be cured and also recommended perpetual confinement.

Under the law however, there is no way the court can impose such a stipulation.

O'Brian was quoted as saying that "sometimes I'd let the victims go so I could try to catch them again."

No Ransom Money in Numbers Cache

DETROIT (UP)—A study of $41,000 in currency confiscated from the home of a numbers racket suspect showed today that none of it came from the Greenlease ransom money, police said.

The cache was seized Nov. 20 at the home of Joe Lobaldo, charged with operating the "lucky strike" numbers syndicate.

Police studied the serial number on each bill in the large amount of currency but found none linked to the $300,000 still missing from the $600,000 paid to Carl Austin Hall, confessed kidnap-murderer or six-year-old Bobby Greenlease in Kansas City.

Persistent rumors in St. Louis that a Detroit numbers syndicate purchased much of the missing ransom money at 25 cents on the dollar were unconfirmed by the FBI.

State '54 Auto Tags Go on Sale Tuesday

LANSING (UP) — The new 1954 auto license plates go on sale Tuesday in 220 Department of State branch offices.

The new tags present a fresh color scheme of yellow and blue, and also contain a state slogan, "Water Wonderland," for the first time in history. More than 3,000,000 motorists must purchase 1954 tags before March 1.

(Pontiac residents may purchase their licenses at the local branch office, 65 N. Perry St. Office hours are 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. weekdays, and 9 a. m. to noon Saturdays.)

Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary urged car and truck owners to buy plates early, avoiding the long lines of motorists who wait until the deadline date and helping the state save thousands of dollars in cost of extra workers during the late rush.

Rhee, Chiang Inviting Others

Welcome Free Asia to Join in Anti-Commie Defense Program

SEOUL (AP)—Details of the secret talks between Syngman Rhee and Chiang Kai-shek began unfolding today with a South Korean invitation to the free nations of Asia to form a united anti-Communist front.

South Korean Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai said plans for such a union were started last weekend in the Formosa meeting of the Presidents of South Korea and Nationalist China.

* * *

"The offer is open to the free nations in Asia to sponsor a conference to materialize the Rhee-Chiang plan," Pyun said in an interview. "We are waiting for response. . ."

There has been speculation that Rhee and Chiang were forming a two-party alliance to oppose communism, but Pyun's in vitation indicated a much broader program.

Pyun said the conference should be held as soon as possible.

He said it could be held in any Asian country—as a sponsor—that has proved it was anti-Communist.

* * *

Although he did not say so—it wa sapparent that Pyun would not welcome India at such a conference and also had misgivings about Japan, the strongest industrial nation in Asia.

* * *

Pyun noted that Japan has not "outlawed" the Communist party. However, he would not specifically exclude Japan from any parley, he said.

Pyun proposed that the Asian nations draw up political and mutual defense agreements, but made no mention of economic or trade pacts at this time.

Before leaving Formosa yesterday, Rhee spoke out sharply at a news conference.

"Let's fight; you cannot stop communism by talking," he said.

Maine School Coach Tags Rival on Vacation

SACO, Me. (UP)—Bill Curran and Joe Regina are rivals as coaches. Curran leads the athletic teams of Cheverus High school in Portland and Regina of St. Louis High in Biddeford.

Curran and Regina chatted pleasantly in Saco where the St. Louis coach is a summer patrolman and where Curran was visiting on business.

Curran went to his car after the chat and found a parking ticket on the windshield. At police headquarters to pay the fine he inquired the name of the patrolman on the ticket.

The desk sergeant read it "Joe Regina."

Winnie's Spirit Remains, Vigor Wanes on Birthday

LONDON (INS) — Sir Winston Spencer Churchill, Knight of the Garter, member of the Order of Merit, winner of the Nobel Prize for Literature, premier of Great Britain, celebrates his 79th birthday today.

The event means very little to him, even though he only recently was near death. Like his great contemporary the late George Bernard Shaw, Churchill has ceased counting his many years, or marveling at the fact that he, a weakling at birth, has succeeded in hanging up a respectable longevity record.

Tonight Churchill will have a birthday cake, receive presents and congratulations of his family and nearest friends. And probably regret that he cannot eat as big a birthday dinner as he did a year ago. He possibly will defy his doctors and have just a little more wine and brandy than he normally is allowed these days.

But it will be contrary to the man if his thoughts are not mainly on the Big Three Conference which will start on Friday at Bermuda, and for which he will set out by air on Tuesday night. For the meeting at Bermuda holds hope for him of trying to secure an easing of the "awful muddle of this frightful 20th century."

Churchill, because of his age, health and own position in Britain, has more at stake personally than any of the other U. S., French and British leaders and statesmen who will sit down with him at Bermuda.

Churchill may well be fighting his last great battle to pave the way for the lasting world peace he has dedicated himself to try to find before he dies.

The fact Churchill himself sought the Bermuda meeting, is risking his health by a long flight and ardous conferences at which he expects to play a major role, is proof of Bermuda's importance to him.

For Churchill is an old man and his years have caught up with him in the 12 months which have just gone. The old spirit still is there, as is much of the old sparkle, the cheerful defiance, and the determination to go on fighting. But the flesh is weaker.

At the beginning of his 80th year, the great Churchill head is even scantier of hair, the big jowls a little less pink than formerly, the paunch heavier, the figure more stooped and dependent a great deal on the stout Churchillian cane.

The familiar cigar often is carried until the old V sign not so often in evidence. His associates say he is inclined to be more grumpy, and more demanding.

When Churchill speaks in public, it is a little more slowly than in the past, and he keeps more closely to his script, with fewer delightful unrehearsed asides.

The pauses often are longer while he seems to be collecting his thoughts some of the old resonance of voice is missing, the speech impediment often slightly more pronounced. And sometimes he looks a tired and a very old man.

But the old mannerisms still are there. There is the same pretended search for the exact word or phrase, the cherubic grin on his face as he hears a joke or a witticism, the pugnacious thrusting out of the jaw when he speaks of something he doesn't like.

And occasionally, as when he made the main speech in debate after the reopening of parliament in early November, he still can stir the House of Commons in the old way, get members of all parties applauding him for some acute remark on international affairs.

The name of Winston Churchill still is synonymous with John Bull in the minds of Britishers.

Although built like a bear, the wolverine is imperfectly plantigrade, and does not climb trees like most of its allies. It lives in dens and burrows and does not hibernate.

High Budget Before Japan's Parliament

TOKYO (UP) — Emperor Hirohito called Japan's Parliament into an unusual special money session today and urged the members to do their best in a "critical situation."

The legislators will act on a proposed supplementary budget bill which, if approved, would push this year's figure to an unprecedented one trillion yen ($2,777,000,000).

The proposed addition, second this year, results from the government's decision to raise the price of rice, the wages of government workers and education subsidies. The government buys the rice crop from farmers for rationing at controlled prices.

Calls Surpluses 'Opportunities'

Farm Official Views Them as Challenge to Management

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse said today current farm surpluses should be dealt with as "opportunities" and not as "problems."

"We should be thankful," he said, "that we have this abundance — rather than the hunger and meager existence that plagues three-fourths of the world's population."

In a speech prepared for a convention of the Southern Seedsmen's Association, the farm official said surpluses stand as a challenge to management.

"Leadership needs frankly to admit failure to the extent that it fails to successfully move abundant production into use when there are unsatisfied needs in the United States and around the world."

Morse said the Eisenhower Administration with the help and guidance of farmers, their leaders and educators, will submit to Congress "solid and approved recommendations for improved governmental farm programs" to deal with surpluses and farm price and income problems.

"We now have the opportunity of seeing farm programs redirected down a solid path of progress," he said.

There were reliable reports in Washington that the administration will propose no brand new ways of dealing with the farm situation. One reason may be that some farm leaders and members of Congress, including Republicans, have not seen eye to eye with Secretary of Agriculture Benson's criticism of present farm programs.

It is reported that the administration would advocate a parity standard written into law during the Truman Administration but not yet used for many products because Congress postponed it for major crops until 1956.

Penquite Wins New Chess Tournament

BRISTOL, Va.-Tenn. (AP) — John Penquite of Ann Arbor, Mich., who is chess champion in two states and co-champion in two more, added the East Tennessee open chess tournament to his long string of wins last night.

Penquite masterminded a 5½-hour battle with Kimball Nedved, a Ft. Campbell, Ky., soldier, to take the tourney after refusing a draw with Nedved which would have given the soldier the championship.

Penquite holds the crown in Iowa and South Dakota and is co-champ in Nebraska and Colorado. Nedved is the only person ever to win the Illinois State Championship twice in a row.

28,600 Workers Cut From Federal Payroll

WASHINGTON (AP)—Another 28,600 civilian workers were dropped from the federal payroll during October, the Civil Service Commission reported today. It said this brings the net cutback since January to about 176,600, leaving a total of 2,372,100 federal employes.

As Others See Us

It may be quite true that it is beneficial to learn how one appears to others, but in the case of us Americans it can be both amusing and uncomfortable.

This is likely to be one's first reaction after reading the opinions of some of the 400 European writers, editors and broadcasters. During the past three years they have been touring the United States under the auspices of our State and Defense Departments. Their impressions in U. S. News & World Report make thought provoking reading.

"I have been astounded, astonished, amused and aggravated," wrote one Briton, "by what I have seen. But I must admit that I have admired, too. Here are a people who are the busiest, yet the most laborsaving, the kindest yet the most ruthless when it comes to money making."

This Briton thinks we overeat and overheat, and overice our drinks. But he is much impressed by our tremendous productive capacity. A Frenchman, struck by our high standard of living, wrote:

"What surprised me in the U. S.? Those taxis with radio receivers and senders . . . The old ladies, attractive old ladies, their club life, their interest in political matters . . . That road with steam pipes under its surface to prevent icing . . . The food, so different from our own, with salads, coffee and fruit juices."

★ ★ ★

While another Frenchman deplored "our almost general ignorance" of European problems, a Belgian admired the friendly relationship between employers and workers. On the other hand a Netherlander appeared amazed at our habit of criticizing everything and everybody from the President down. However, he thinks:

"America is building up a culture of its own, partly based on European culture but animated by a force and a spirit of rare quality."

By visiting here these Europeans have come to know and understand us much better. They also have helped us to understand them better and that certainly will work to improve international relations and co-operation.

City Tax Rate to Stand

Despite an expected increase in operating expenses there is room for considerable satisfaction in City Manager Willman's proposed 1954 budget.

As submitted for City Commission study the budget calls for total expenditures of $4,122,019. This is an increase of $246,000 over the 1953 operating costs and is due mainly to increased municipal salaries and higher costs for supplies and materials.

A fact that will not be lost on taxpayers is the probability that there will be no increase in the 1954 tax rate. As explained by the City Manager increases in Pontiac's total valuation very likely will permit the $13.80 per thousand rate to be continued.

Another cheering fact is that despite increased operating expense the City will benefit from an expanded public improvement program. Money will be available for new sanitary and storm sewers and sites for a new city dump and sewage plant. Also assured are completion of the new branch library, improvements in parks and purchase of rights-of-way in line with the City's master plan for arterial highways.

This budget, of course, is subject to such revision as may be suggested and adopted after the public hearing January 19. But it appeals to us as further evidence of the fine administrative job done by City Manager Willman since he came to Pontiac and of the co-operation given him by our City Commissioners.

Fluoridation for Britain

Regardless of where one stands on the issue of fluoridation as a dental health measure, the conclusion of four British scientists is interesting.

According to the Journal of the American Dental Association, these scientists spent three months in an intensive investigation of fluoridation in the United States and Canada. Upon returning home they asked their government to use fluorides in the public water supplies. Later a government White Paper had this to say:

"Should the recent recommendations of four eminent health authorities from Great Britain be adopted reasonably soon, the dental health of British children, beginning at least with the next generation will be considerably better than that of their fathers."

Forty-one Michigan communities now use fluoridation. The process has the endorsement of the Michigan Department of Health, the American Medical Association, the National Research Council, the American Public Health Service, the American Dental Association and the U. S. Public Health Service.

"Everybody talks about the weather" — and it usually deserves the hard things that are said about it.

Merchants Providing Many Improvements

During the past few years the city of Pontiac has made constant efforts to improve its downtown section. One project that has done much in improving the general appearance of the city is the encouraging of retail stores to decorate their respective establishments.

Many stores have since been redecorated and the results have made Pontiac a city we may well be proud of.

Many buildings, situated in ideal business sections, are old, unattractive, and potential fire hazards. They add little to the cultural beauty of Pontiac.

It would be beneficial if some of these older buildings were remodeled and redecorated.

Records on 75 Former U. S. Employes Show Testimony on Alleged Red Work

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—At least 75 former federal employes, including several attached to congressional committees, have been the subject of testimony on alleged Communist activities given Senate or House committees during the last five years.

Another, Judith Coplon, a former Justice Department clerk, was convicted of espionage but the conviction was set aside on a technicality and there has been no retrial. She now is free.

* * *

Only two of those whose cases were spotlighted by congressional investigations have been sentenced to prison—both on perjury charges. They are Alger Hiss, former State Department official, and William Walter Remington, former Commerce Department economist.

Most of the others either denied having been connected with Communist underground operations or refused to answer questions on the ground the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution protected them.

* * *

Two have died: Harry Dexter White and Harold Ware.

At the time of their alleged activity in the interest of the Communist party, most of those named in the hearings were on government payrolls.

Accusations against most of them were made by Whittaker Chambers and Elizabeth Bentley, confessed ex-Communists, in hearings before the House Un-American Activities Committee and the Senate Internal Security subcommittee in 1948.

Here are the names and brief summaries of the cases, as taken from congressional documents:

* * *

Whittaker Chambers—A member of the Communist party from 1924 to 1937 and part of a Communist "apparatus" operating in the government during the period 1934-1937. Chambers was on the federal payroll on a research project for a while.

* * *

Harold Ware—An Agricultural Adjustment Administration consultant named by Chambers as an organizer of a Communist underground "apparatus" in Washington; killed in an automobile accident in 1935.

John Abt—An AAA and anti-trust division employe named by Chambers as a leader of an underground group; invoked the Fifth Amendment; for a period chief counsel to the Senate Education and Labor Committee.

* * *

Lee Pressman—General counsel of the AAA in 1933 and of the Works Progress Administration in 1934; linked in testimony with "the original group organized for the Soviets in the United States government", invoked Fifth Amendment, but later, the House committee reported Pressman "admitted his past membership in the Communist party but denied membership in any Communist apparatus."

Henry Collins—Worked for the National Recovery Administration, Soil Conservation Service, Labor Department, House Committee on Interstate Migration, and Senate Small Business Committee; served overseas in World War II and discharged as major; House committee said it believed he was one of the "original group"; invoked Fifth Amendment.

Victor Perlo—With National Recovery Administration, Home Owners Loan Corp., Commerce Department, Office of Price Administration; War Production Board and Treasury Department; committee listed him with "the original group"; invoked Fifth Amendment.

Alger Hiss—With AAA, Justice Department, State Department, and staff of a Senate committee investigating the munitions industry; House committee said it believed Hiss was one of "the original group"; Hiss denied he had ever been a Communist or sympathizer; indicted for perjury and is serving a five-year prison sentence.

Nathan Witt—With AAA and National Labor Relations Board; named by Chambers; invoked Fifth Amendment.

* * *

Harry Dexter White—with Treasury Department and director on the International Monetary Fund; Miss Bentley said he had "cooperated" with one of the underground groups; White admitted acquaintance with various members of the espionage groups named by Chambers and Miss Bentley but denied having ever been a Communist; died of a heart attack.

* * *

Nathan Gregory Silvermaster—with Resettlement Administration, Maritime Labor Board, Farm Security Administration, Board of Economic Warfare, Treasury Department and War Assets Administration; was named by Miss Bentley; invoked Fifth Amendment.

William Ludwig Ullman—with NRA, Resettlement Administration and Treasury Department; drafted in 1942, advanced from private to major assigned to Pentagon; said by Miss Bentley to be a member of espionage group; invoked Fifth Amendment.

Solomon Adler—Treasury Department, named by Miss Bentley as a member of espionage group; did not testify.

* * *

Norman Bursler—Justice Department, named by Miss Bentley did not testify.

Frank Coe—With Treasury Department, Federal Security Administration, Foreign Economic Administration, BEW and special assistant to the U. S. ambassador to London; named by Miss Bentley, denied the accusation and swore he had never been a Communist.

Lauchlin Currie—With Federal Reserve Board, FEA and as administrative assistant to President Roosevelt; named by Miss Bentley, denied the accusation and swore he had never been a Communist.

Bela Gold—With Agriculture Department, FEA and a Senate subcommittee on war mobilization; named by Miss Bentley, denied the accusation and swore that he had never been a Communist.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Salesmanship Offers Individual More Power

Dr. Glenn Frank called salesmen the "sparkplugs of civilization." And salesmanship is a real profession. It offers an intelligent person more security and more leverage for prying out salary increases, than any other occupation. For the salesman may have 1,000 bosses, so if one grows hostile, he still has a "job" with the remaining 999.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case J-355: Larry B., aged 26, is in our army in Europe at present.

"Dr. Crane, I am interested in vocational guidance," he wrote from camp.

"After I get back home, I'd like to get established in a good job and marry.

"I have a college diploma and graduated from Liberal Arts with a B.S. degree. But I have no particular qualification for any special field.

"Besides, I don't even know what I'd like to do as a life work. I enjoy people, and never was any too keen about mathematics, if this information would help.

"If you were in my position, what kind of work would you select?"

With no further information than we have in the above paragraphs, we can't make an exact diagnosis of Larry's special talents.

But it seems that he is probably an extrovert, and not fond of introvertive tasks like bookkeeping, accountancy, or engineering, for he dislikes mathematics.

Salesmanship is one of the most fruitful fields for a trained man who likes people. It also offers the greatest independence compatible with little capital. For your progress then depends on merit.

If you buy stock in a company, or marry your employer's daughter, you may have permanent tenure in a company even without great merit.

But if you have more capital than an intelligent brain and good health, you are always at the mercy of your lone employer. For if he dislikes you, you may be out of a job tomorrow.

A salesman, however, may have hundreds of employers simultaneously, since every customer is his boss.

The salaried worker in a store or factory, has one boss. The latter can fire you at his whim.

A salesman's customer may also grow angry at him, and even refuse to patronize his wares any longer. But if he had 1,000 customers originally, he still may have 999 who will buy from him. So his loss is negligible.

Besides, with a little more effort by cold canvassing he can recruit a new customer to take the place of the one that he lost.

No other occupation in the world gives the lone individual the power that salesmanship does. For there are plenty of rival companies in almost every sales field nowadays.

Moreover, your customers belong primarily to you, the salesman, and only secondarily to your firm.

So you can generally take a large percentage of your clients with you, when you find it necessary or advisable to look elsewhere for a new sales job.

Your customers are your friends. You may have spent years cultivating them and gaining their respect. So don't throw them away by shifting to new territory every few years!

Salesmanship should be a lifetime profession. Stick to the same territory all your life and you'll generally make more money. If you aren't treated fairly by your present company, take your customers with you to a competitive firm.

For your personal clientele is your ace in the hole. Don't do like many thoughtless salesmen who throw it away by growing enamoured of distant pastures that appear greener.

Since every customer may have required hours of planning and contacting, once you get such a rooter, hang on to him!

His goodwill is a "plus" factor in your favor long after your commissions have been spent, for you can return to him for more business later on, without spending hours in "cultivating" him.

Dr. Brady Sure Degeneration Process Is Reversible If Diet Is Started in Time

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

One of the earliest signs of physical degeneration, whether the process happens to be more advanced in artieries or joints, is slackened gait.

Physical degeneration means "retrogressive pathological change in cells or tissues in consequence of which the functioning power is lost and the living substance becomes converted into an inert mass." (Stedman's Medical Dictionary)

Or, as Webster has it, "deterioration of a tissue or organ in which its vitality is diminished; substitution of a lower for a higher form of structure, either by chemical change of the tissue (true degeneration) or the deposit of abnormal matter in the tissue (infiltration)."

Stedman's definition is the better of the two, but I'd amend Dr. Stedman's definition by striking out the word lost and inserting instead the word impaired or weakened.

I am confident that no medical authority will venture to dispute the suggestion that the degeneration process is reversible if taken in time.

For instance, a good many readers have reported that the real heart tonic I recommend in the booklet about heart and artery troubles has restored weakened or impaired heart function.

For a copy of the booklet send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Another early sign of physical degeneration is a perceptible decrease of flexibility or suppleness of the joints.

When you were really young you could roll a somersault or at least have a try at it without difficulty. I started rolling somersaults when I was pretty young and I have kept up the silly practice ever since—half a dozen on getting out of bed, before I do a half dozen movements of the last Brady Symphony, to get the stagnant blood that collects in the splanchnic pool over night back into circulation.

For a measly two bits and a stamped envelope bearing your address, I'll send on written request, signed, of course, Little Lessons in the Ways of Health, No. 16, The Seven Keys to Vite.

If you do not consider it worth the price, return it with a brief statement of your honest opinion, and I'll refund your outlay.

The seven keys are as follows:

1. Save Your Teeth (This, by the way, is the title of No. 1 Little Lesson.)
2. Temperance
3. Belly Breathing
4. Nudity (not nudism)
5. Iodin Ration
6. Daily Excercise
7. Rejuvenation Diet, and-or supplementing the regular diet with adequate daily rations of minerals and vitamins.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed. Copyright 1953.

Dem Crossfire Blasts Probers

Say White Case Hides 'Serious Situation' in Justice Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—With Senate probers and Canada at a temporary impasse today over the questioning of Igor Gouzenko, political crossfire drummed on with a Democratic blast that the Harry Dexter White case was camouflage for a "serious situation" in the Justice Department.

The Senate internal security subcommitee headed by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) apparently was faced with a take it or leave it proposition: question Gouzenko on Canada's terms or not at all.

* * *

Secretary of State Dulles told the committee Saturday that the Canadian government was right in insisting that it, and not the committee decide what part of Gouzenko's testimony should be made public. That's what the United States would do in a similar situation, he said.

Jenner's subcommittee stepped up its Reds-in-government investigations after Atty. Gen. Brownell charged in a speech Nov. 6 that former President Truman had promoted Harry Dexter White, now dead, despite FBI reports linking White to Red espionage.

Yesterday, three Democratic leaders assailed Brownell and the Eisenhower administration for setting off what has become one of the hottest political wrangles in years.

* * *

Clayton Fritchey, deputy chairman of the Democratic National Committee, declared in an NBC television interview that Brownell launched the controversy to divert attention from many things, including "a serious situation within the Justice Department itself."

The program ended before Fritchey could explain this charge, but he supplied details for newsmen afterward.

He said he referred to a recent statement by U. S. District Judge Willis W. Ritter in Denver that the FBI refused to help the U.S. district attorney for Colorado in a jury-tampering investigation. He said the attorney, Charles Vigil, won the case without FBI aid and then was fired. A Democrat, Vigil was replaced by Donald E. Kelly, a Republican and fraternity brother of Brownell.

* * *

There was no immediate comment from the Justice Department. At Salt Lake City, Judge Ritter said he had no comment.

Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell and Averell Harriman, a 1952 presidential aspirant, similarly let loose blasts at the GOP handling of the White case.

For the first time in generations...

More Americans own homes today than pay rent!

WE ARE BUILDING close to a million new homes every single year. And today, for the first time in generations, 55 per cent of American families own their own homes.

The increase in home ownership is just one of many significant changes we've seen in recent years.

We're raising bigger families. Our children are getting more education. We're living longer. We're earning more money. Our whole way of living is changing!

This means we have much more to protect. And life insurance is keeping pace and is constantly growing more flexible to meet our new needs.

For example, to meet the increasing interest in home ownership, the life insurance companies have developed a number of plans for protecting the family's stake in the home. As a result, hundreds of thousands of homeowners now own life insurance to pay off the mortgage in case they do not live to complete the payments.

More and more families are also using life insurance to provide a regular income at the death or retirement of the breadwinner. Others are using various kinds of policies for particular needs, such as extra provision for the children's growing years or funds to send them to college.

For almost every family, the needs for protection are constantly changing — a child is born, a child grows up, a home is bought. And life insurance can be planned to meet these changes.

A suggestion: Have your needs or circumstances changed? Have you looked over your life insurance to see how it stacks up with your present way of living and the goals you and your family have set for yourselves?

'Included Twin' Story Revealed in England

HEREFORD, England (UP) — The parents of three-year-old Howard Dzvies, disclosed today that he gave "birth" to his own twin at the age of seven weeks.

Soon after Howard was born in 1950 his mother, Margaret, noticed his stomach was distended.

"He was always crying for more food and I had to give him twice as much as normal," she told a reporter.

An X ray revealed a human embryo in a cavity on the right side of the baby's abdomen. It was removed by surgery. Howard made a complete recovery but kept a seven-inch scar.

A doctor who took part in the operation said the baby within the baby was a malformed boy.

"Little is known of this kind of phenemenon," she said, "but it is thought to have been an 'included twin.'"

This means that Howard was intended to be one of twins, but something went wrong during the period of prenatal development.

Howard's father, Reginals, 34, decided to make the case public when he read recently of a similar "birth" to a two-year-old Algerian boy.

Identify Skeleton Found in Forest

CHEBOYGAN (UP)—State Police reported today that human bone fragments found in a Presque Isle County forest were those of an Onaway hotel owner who disappeared more than two years ago.

State Police said tests convinced them that the bones were those of Lawrence Haggart, 32, who disappeared while on a hunting trip Oct. 24, 1951. The cause of death still has not been determined, troopers said.

The partial skeleton was found a month ago in a forest.

Four Applicants Seek Postmaster Post

WASHINGTON (UP)— The Civil Service Commission said today that four persons have applied for the job of postmaster at Van Dyke.

They are Ralph G. Hartsig, Casmer H. Mogielnicki, Arthur F. Sommers and Mrs. Louis F. Taylor.

Town Gets Water With the Army's Aid

EDINA, Mo. (UP)—Weary soldiers today watched water gush from a five-mile pipeline they had built in 54 hours of round-the-clock labor to supply this drought-stricken town of 1,600.

"That's the most beautiful sight I've ever seen," exclaimed Mayor O. M. Gillaspy as water spurted from the six-inch pipe into the city's reservoir.

Lt. James Boyles, commander of a 156-man Army Engineer unit from Ft. Leonard Wood, said his men would keep the pumps going for two weeks, filling the reservoir from an 80-acre lake. Then the line will be dismantled.

Mayor Gillaspy appealed to the Army for help last week and promised the town would pay expenses if the Army Engineers would lay the line.

Wants Long-Range National Air Policy

WASHINGTON (UP) — Dewitt C. Ramsey, president of the Aircraft Industries Assn., says the time has come for a clear-cut, long-range national policy on air power.

Writing in the association's publication Planes, Ramsey said yesterday military aircraft output is now at a peak of 1,000 planes a month. But he said a downward trend is likely beginning next year and builders are worried about the future.

"In view of the history of chaotic demobilizations which have followed previous expansions of the aircraft industry," he said, "it would seem apparent today that action is long overdue in establishing a long-range aircraft procurement program which would insure a sound production base for future emergencies."

New Edison Plant Will Help Thumb

DETROIT (UP) — A new steam generator, boosting Thumb area power is in operation today at Detroit Edison's new riverfront plant between St. Clair and Marine City.

The generator sends an additional 150,000 kilowatts, which amounts to about 200,000 horsepower into the Thumb area. It was put in operation yesterday.

Edison president Walker L. Cisler said the generator is the second of four units to be placed in the plant which still is under construction. The third and fourth should be operating by next July, he said.

Edison also operates plants at Conners Creek, Trenton, Delray and Marysville. Another plant is under construction at River Rouge.

Dache Lists 7 Deadliest Dress Sins

NEW YORK (UP) — The worst fashion sin a woman can commit is wrapped up in one term, "trying too hard," says designer Lilly Dache.

Miss Dache, a fashion leader for 20 years, has compiled what she considers the seven deadlist sins in dress.

The one at the bottom of her list probably would rate at the top of any compiled by husbands. It's squandering money.

"The worst sin of all is trying too hard," Miss Dache said. "Going to extremes in hats, dresses, shoes."

The second sin is wearing too much.

"Too much makeup, too much trim," she said. "By the time a woman gets a hat with a lot of stuff on it, gloves all decorated, shoes fancied up and dress with spangles or buttons, she's buried under her outfit."

The other sins, she said, are neglect of hair and face, ("the part of the woman seen first"); too much costume jewelry ("a French woman stands in front of a full-length mirror when she's fully dressed, and then starts shedding some of the unnecessary"); hair too set; following fads ("even Dior expects women to be selective"), and squandering money.

"Don't buy on a whim or by emotion," she said. "This is true whether you have $10 or $10,000 to spend. Better you should give the money to charity, where it's deductible."

How does the voluble, French-born designer know about fashion sins?

"Because I've committed every one of them," she said.

More of her pet peeves:

Fur capes which don't cover a suit jacket, jeweled dresses for office wear, a sport coat worn with a fancy dress or fancy coat with sport dress, girlish styles on mature women, ankle straps on heavy ankles, high heels on women who teeter as they walk, dirty gloves, full skirts on overly full figures, and sophisticated clothes on teen-ageers.

Colonial Williamsburg Restores Store

18th Century Millinery Shop to Reopen

WILLIAMSBURG, Va.—An 18th century millinery shop, stocked with women's fashions and frills of 200 years ago, will be opened here on Jan. 25 as a permanent exhibition, it was announced today by Colonial Williamsburg.

Featuring hats, dresses and accessories worn by stylish colonial belles, the shop is a restoration of the original store kept by Margaret Hunter and her sister Jane in the 1770s.

The stock of 18th century fashions has been reassembled from Margaret Hunter's inventories and from lists of goods she advertised for sale in the Virginia Gazette, Williamsburg's 18th century newspaper.

The shop is located in the same building on Duke of Gloucester street where Margaret Hunter conducted her business and is furnished with the type of showcases and counters used in the 18th century millinery establishments.

Ceremonies opening the Margaret Hunter Shop will be a feature of the Williamsburg Antiques Forum, annual series of meetings on decoration and design which is being held in 1954 in two five-day sessions beginning Jan. 25 and Feb. 1.

Experts on costume and fashion will be among the forum speakers presenting illustrated talks and participating in group discussions. Co-sponsored by Colonial Williamsburg and Antiques magazine, the 1954 forum will concentrate on American design and will include special tours, entertainments and a study of the architecture and antique furnishings of this restored 18th century city.

The Margaret Hunter Shop will be operated by Colonial Williamsburg as 1 of 10 exhibition shops where 18th century trades and crafts have been revived. An attendant in colonial costume will display the shop's wares, show the styles and tastes of colonial women and describe one of the few 18th century trades regularly practiced by women.

As in millinery stores of colonial days, the Margaret Hunter Shop will display many other types of wearing apparel in addition to hats. Visitors will see original 18th century women's dresses, gloves, shoes, jewelry and lingerie as well as men's and children's clothing.

The shop will also show fabrics, laces, artificial flowers, gentlemen's nightshirts and other items it carried two centuries ago. An assortment of 18th century women's hats in straw, feathers, silk and other materials, has been reproduced by the shop stitch-by-stitch from museum originals.

The announcement was made at a shower given recently by Mrs. Bundo and Miss Bugg at the bride-elect's home.

Mrs. Josephine Lawyer was guest speaker for the evening when Community Extension Group met recently.

'Thinking Bed' Ideal for Snoozing Genius

A New York department store now offers a special "thinking bed" for people who insist they come up with some of their best ideas while lying flat on their backs.

The bed has a canop, adorned with famous portraits and great thoughts, as well as an automatic phonograph that dins ideas and information so they can continue learning while slumbering.

Replace Bulkiness With Electric Sheet

Electric sheets that eliminate the need for heavy bed covers are news. Made of top quality, mercerized and sanforized percale, they launder easily in lukewarm suds and frequent hand-washing will not damage the carefull insulated wiring.

In double bed size, there are single or dual slumber-dial automatic controls. You can choose a sheet in one of five colors, or even a floral printed edition.

Pictures Are Seen by Booster Class

Benjamin Church showed picture of his recent trip to the West Saturday evening to members of the Booster Class of First Methodist Church.

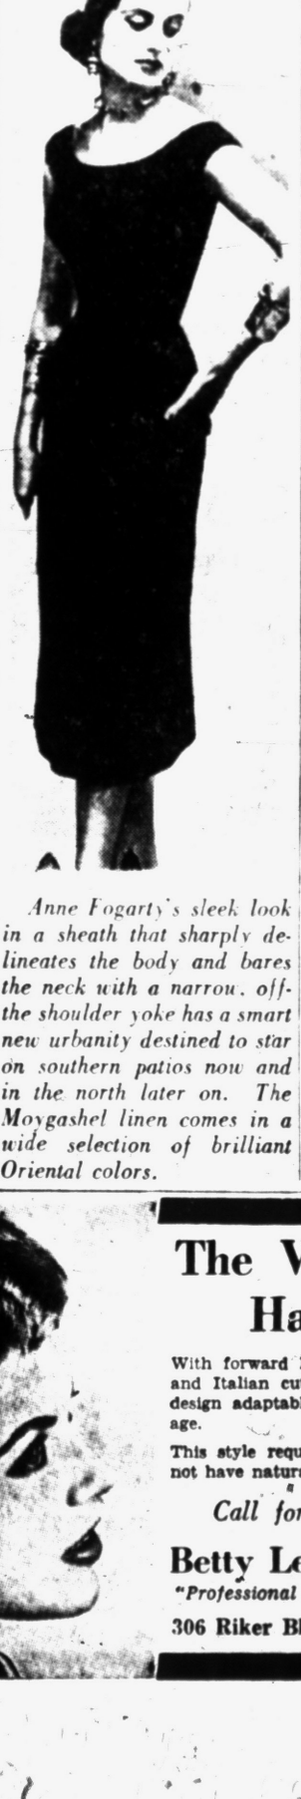
Mrs. Ethel Proffitt of Green street was hostess, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Crawford and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Clemence.

Carol Opland entertained with solos accompanied by Bonnie Davis on the piano. The next meeting will be Dec. 19 with Mr. and Mrs. Church of State avenue.

WSCS Is Planning Dinner and Bazaar

Mrs. Dewey Millirons is general chairman of the annual bazaar and turkey dinner to be given Tuesday by the WSCS of the Wilson Avenue Methodist Church.

Assisting her on the various committees will be Mrs. Minto Wallace, kitchen chairman; Mrs. Fred Liming, dining room, and Mrs. R. Sidney Reynolds, ticket chairman.



Anne Fogarty's sleek look in a sheath that sharply delineates the body and bares the neck with a narrow, off-the-shoulder yoke has a smart new urbanity destined to star on southern patios now and in the north later on. The Moygashel linen comes in a wide selection of brilliant Oriental colors.

10 Rules for Buying a Pipe

NEW YORK (INS) — In 1952, more than 15,000,000 pipes were sold. Of this total 70 per cent were purchased by women. Since women appear to be doing the pipe selecting, the Pipe and Tobacco Council has suggested ten do's and dont's for the uninitiated miss.

In the first place don't try to bluff the salesman at the smoke-shop. Admit your ignorance and ask his advice. But, in the second place, don't put too much trust in him.

Third, make up your mind what you would like to spend.

Also bear in mind your man's face and figure. His appearance and his general manner and way of life will determine what sort of pipe he'll need.

Don't be drawn to a "cute" small pipe. The more wood, the better the smoke; so make sure the walls of the pipe bowl you chose are at least a quarter of an inch thick at the middle.

Select a thin rather than a thick mouthpiece. The thinner the mouthpiece the less pressure is needed to hold the pipe in place between the teeth. A hard rubber bit is recommended.

Note the finish. Stain and dye are often used to disguise defects; so be wary of a finish that looks too dark. Tiny pinholes, however, are all right, since they often are found in fine briars.

Remember that the grainier the bowl, the more porous and sweeter smoking the pipe will be.

Don't buy a shiny, lacquer-finished article. It will be too hot to hold.

An oil or a wax finish is better than one of shellac. Connoisseurs ask for unstained briars.

Finally, if you are buying for a novice, give him a book or pamphlet of instructions on pipe care. Any man will enjoy a pipe if he observes a few simple rules. And don't forget to include the tobacco. This may be your last chance to select it.

Advice on Earrings

Don't wear exaggerated earrings if your ears are oversized or poorly shaped. Small earrings of simple design should be the best when you feel you must wear earrings.

Make Big Broiler

To make a broiler that holds a big T-bone steak over an open fire, cut an old oven shelf in half and twist a wire handle around the frame.

Don't 'Glue' Hair

Hair no longer needs to be plastered down with a glue-like preparation to be kept in place. You can keep your hair healthy, natural looking and neat by using one of the hair preparations that conditions the hair as it tames it.

Try Liquid Rouge

If you have not used rouge in ages because you fear applying it conspicuously, you should find one of the new liquid rouges surprisingly easy to apply.

This Florentine belt is your answer for an excitingly different gift for him. The colorful pageantry typified in the leather box, an original from the renowned craftsmen of Florence, inspired the six color combinations with 24-carat gold detailing.

Protect Carpeting

When resting containers filled with liquid on rugs, place a heavy sheet of paper beneath the container. This protects the carpet from spills.

Materials Can Really Be 'Loud'

Fabrics can be "loud" literally, as well as figuratively, according to recent laboratory tests made at a national acoustical instrument firm in St. Paul, Minn.

The company, while designing a new hearing aid that eliminates nearly all clothing noises, tested 20 popular varieties of fabric for relative noisiness and discovered that crinoline is loudest — more than four times as noisy as satin, the quietest material tested.

In order of diminishing "rustle" they are crinoline, corduroy, nylon, silk taffeta, organdy, rayon velvet, rayon taffeta, voile and terrycloth, cotton broadcloth and denim, linen and wool gabardine, wool serge, silk rayon, tweed and cashmere, wool jersey and orlon, and finally satin.

The tests were conducted by engineers in a laboratory soundroom by mechanically rubbing a sample of the material across a metal case containing a microphone, then camparing noise levels.

Two interesting observations by engineers: The reverse side of most materials is noiser than the front and old or smooth-fibered fabrics are quietest.

Many Gifts Will Please Auto Owner

If several people on your gift list are automobile owners, your chances of finding a handy gift are increased this year. For example, consider any of the following:

Attache case: Perfect for the man whose car is his office a good part of the time; its inner construction gives him a rigid surface on which to dash off letters, notes, observations. Handles business papers as well as a change of linen.

Hanging garment carrier: Excellent for either the vacationer or the business traveler. Holds several suits or dresses, plus accessories; may be slung from a convenient hook inside the car, or spread out in the trunk to discourage thieves. Folds up to resemble a suitcase for easy carrying.

Map case: Made to accommodate standard road maps available at gasoline stations. Many have full-size pockets for additional maps, pencil flashes for nighttime navigating. Some feature attached memo pads for marking mileage, making notes; others include a special soft pencil to chart routes on the clear acetate protector.

Key case or key ring: Key cases now available with a "registration" feature; owner's name is recorded with the manufacturer, who assists in returning lost cases. Key rings are novel gifts, especially with rich-looking reproductions of auto insignias, miniature compasses or flashlights.

Trip books are for the guy who gets around. Contents include maps, space for recording motor and mileage data, travel tips, etc.

Visor aid: A kit to clip to the sun visor; contains glasses, tissues, cigarette pack, pencil and other gadgets to make driving easier.

Lash-Curling Trick

Here's a simple trick for curling your eyelashes: When you apply mascara, hold the lashes back with the brush for a full minute. They will dry into that shape.

Bath Is Relaxing

After a hard day of Christmas shopping, there is nothing quite so relaxing as a leisurely bath in a tub scented with rich oils.

Keep List Handy

A schedule of your favorite radio and TV programs can be kept near your set as a handy reminder.

Freshen Up Veil

Use waxpaper as a press cloth to restore life to a limp veil.

Bosses Like Crisp, Clean Fragrances

Perfumes Make Office Pleasant Place

Should perfume be used in the office? "Decidedly," says Amy Vanderbilt, famous authority on etiquette and author of the best seller, "Amy Vanderbilt's Complete Book of Etiquette."

"Light, crisp fragrances are in the best of taste in an office," Miss Vanderbilt goes on to say. "Of course, heavy, musky odors should be avoided during office hours, as should an over-abundance of scent.

"A gentle, fresh fragrance however, is not only good manners but creates a delightful atmosphere around the wearer that makes the office a pleasanter place to work in."

That's how an etiquette authority feels about fragrance in the office. How do bosses feel about it? In a recent survey 90 per cent said they had no objection to perfume being worn in the office. Two per cent were in the "don't know" classification. And 56 per cent went so far as to say that women should wear perfume "in their place of employment."

Only eight per cent actually objected, and that's a very small percentage indeed.

With such an overwhelming approval of the use of fragrance in the office, one is obliged not to abuse this admirable acceptance. There are two rules to observe in this regard:

First, be sure that your fragrance is a crisp, fresh scent, rather than a sultry one. Secondly, don't use it in such abundance that it has an overpowering effect.

Bosses are, by and large, reluctant to request an employe to go easy in respect to too much scent. The clever girl has the sense and taste to stay within bounds.

Her breeding dictates the type and quantity of fragrance she uses as it does the way she dresses and the way she conducts herself. She wears neat, crisp clothes and a neat crisp scent.

Is it correct to apply fragrance during office hours? It is not only correct but impressive, if you you are to be your sweet self all day long. For the old wives' tale that perfume lasts and lasts just is not so.

Just as you re-apply lipstick and face powder, you must touch-up with fragrance as well. A good time to do this is during your coffee break. Give yourself a perfume break at the same time to lift your spirits and stimulate your efficiency.

Touch your wrists with your favorite scent when you touch up your lips or remove the shine from your nose. What you must not do is apply perfume in front of the boss or other men in the office. This is bad taste, just as it's incorrect to apply your lipstick in full view of the office.

If you have your own office that's quite another matter. In fact, it's a good idea for an ambitious career girl to follow the lead of the highly successful women executives. They use perfume to project their personalities, but always within the realm of good taste.

The fragrance people have made it easy to use your favorite scent in the office by making it available to you in so many different forms. There's the cologne stick which you can keep in your desk with such ease. There's cream sachet which is so pleasant and easy to use. There's the purse size of your perfume which, if you are a girl in the know, you're never without . . . not to mention toilet water and cologne in their lovely bottles.

Many women executives keep atomizers in their offices and they gently spray the air as well as themselves after a smoke-filled session. They like to spray the telephone as well. This makes such a good impression on visitors who use it.

As for the cost of being crisply yet glamorously fragrant all day long, it's small, indeed. For less than two cents a day—you make the most of your femininity and charm — and that's using your brains in or out of an office.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

More Restaurant Eaters Sound Off on Pet Peeves

There is progress to report on our campaign to get a new deal for restaurant eaters. Mail from all over the country indicates that a decent cup of tea is a burning issue to many others than Gen. Charles Brandon Booth of the Volunteers of America, who started all this by a letter to me.

MISS McBRIDE

From everywhere come harrowing reports of lukewarm water and cold cups. Some purists allege that they have been served twice-boiled water. Mrs. Clara Stofle of Los Angeles was brought warm water to make a second cup of tea from a used tea bag.

Next to tea, gravy is the gravest gripe.

"Why must food be smeared?" demands Alicia Papst of Lexington, Mich. "I've struggled to get meat without gravy, salad without dressing, desserts without whipped cream. Can't they put gravies, sauces, cream and the like in pitchers and bowls to be used at will?"

James A. Worsham of Long Beach, Calif., has a combined chicken and gravy complaint. He's annoyed at what he calls the "clever" way certain restaurants cut up chickens.

"Someone," he charges darkly, "has worked out a way to get more pieces out of a chicken by including the ribs and back. Instead of four meaty morsels I've been promised, I get three sections of ribs and one thin sliver of chicken.

"The serving fools you because of the liberal amount of gravy slopped on."

E. Jere Deal of Columbia, Mo., considers himself a charter member of our organization because he is an insurance adjuster who follows storms through the Middle West and so must often eat in "public eating joints that call themselves restaurants."

"They won't hold the gravy," he fumes. "They drown everything in goulash."

I'm a gravy person myself, but I agree completely that it shouldn't be mandatory. Sometimes you want gravy and sometimes you don't, and the eater should be the one to decide.

Mr. Deal is also furious about the way they serve hamburgers on plain bread when they have run out of proper buns.

"Let them at least toast the bread," he urges.

Miss Unie Belle Dyer of Birmingham, Ala., wishes that when she asks for "delicious hot chocolate," she'd get something besides a cup of lukewarm chocolate water.

Elsie Newell of Mount Vernon, N. Y., wants her coffee with her main course.

"I explain to every waiter carefully," she wails. "They all nod their heads agreeably, say 'yes, yes' and go away. But I just never get my coffee with my meal. Is it a plot or am I violating an eating code? I'm about to give up."

We can't have Elsie Newell giving up. So altogether, members, let's get that pressure group for eaters' rights really going.

Try It

Transform Orange Crate

Sometimes people who live in other countries think that we people who live in North America are wasteful. I suppose that this is often true, for our forests are large, our harvests are bountiful, and we seem to have an endless supply of everything.

This may seem true, but we are practicing conservation on our natural resources so that we will always have a supply. We should practice conservation in our homes, too, by using materials which are often cast away.

A good way to start is by using orange crates, which are usually discarded. Most grocers will be happy to give them to you, for they do not have a use for them.

We are going to talk about making a chair today, but we will have other ideas in Try It from time to time. An orange crate chair is easy to make.

Stand your orange crate in an upright position and measure down 3 inches, mark this all around with a pencil, then lay the crate flat and saw on your pencil marks.

Your chair now needs some finishing touches. Nail scrap molding all around the top edges, and sand the chair well. A small pillow can be put in the seat, and the chair can be painted or stained. You will be surprised when you see the finished chair!

Nut Bread Has Festival Appearance

Mrs. Baird's Recipe With Cranberries Is Good Eating

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Cranberry bread is such an appropriate food for the Christmas season that we are delighted to publish a recipe for it. Mrs. Arthur E. Baird of Newton, Iowa, a recent Pontiac visitor, gave us this easy recipe using a biscuit mix.

Besides her duties as homemaker on a farm, Mrs. Baird engages in numerous club activities. She works in the guild of her church, is chaplain of her PEO chapter and is regent of the local DAR. During her more leisured moments she has time to enjoy her five grandchildren.

CRANBERRY NUT BREAD
By Mrs. Arthur E. Baird

- ⅔ cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1¼ cups milk
- 1 cup cranberries, sliced
- 1 to 1½ cups nutmeats, chopped
- 3 cups quick biscuit mix
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind

Add half the sugar to the cranberries and let stand while you are mixing the other ingredients.

Beat the egg, add the rest of the sugar, grated orange rind, milk and biscuit mix. Add the sugared cranberries and the nuts last. Stir only enough to dampen the dry ingredients.

Grease a 9x5x2½-inch loaf pan. Pour in the dough and bake 45 to 50 minutes in a 350 degree oven. When the bread is done, a toothpick inserted in it will come out clean.

Let the bread stand 24 hours to insure easy slicing. Makes one loaf.

LISTEN, LADIES! Can't you girls get those long-winded phone calls out of the way during the daytime—so we can have a little peace, quiet and relaxation in the evenings?

Girls, Boys Both Speak English, Yet Are Unable to Understand Each Other

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

Here's a boy and here's a girl—they both speak English. But do they both understand each other? Far from it.

She wishes he could read her mind—it would make her words that much clearer. His words, though explicit to him, are to her so much murky mud. It's the beating about the bush instead of saying exactly what they mean that does it.

Take the struggle to say "I love you," for instance. Why is saying everything else but that, so much easier to get out? But read this:

Dear Miss Woodward: After dating him for eight months, I know definitely that I love him. And I have a strange feeling that he loves me, too, but wants to hear it from me first.

"When I ask him how I stand with him he replies higher than high, which can mean most anything. He's asked me a million times how he stands with me, but I just can't come right out and tell him I'm in love with him, can I?"

I know a boy who's most enthusiastic superlative is "more than building houses." He uses to describe all food, vacations or girls that are higher than high in his book. Another boy I know describes everything that fills him with sheer delight as "horribul."

It's just as though they were trying to confuse the issue by the words they use. Their meaning is crystal clear to them. They think it ought to be clear to you.

Your boy friend ought to be able to tell by the way you look at him, behave toward him, talk to him and act when you're with him. Yet he wants you to use these three little words.

Well, let him pry for them. Answer his million-and-oneth question with an enthusiastic "uh-huh."

He's bound to ask then "uh-huh what—you like me?" "Uh-huh." "More than just like me?"

"Uh-huh." "Love me perhaps?" "Uh-huh." And you'll have said it without really saying it!

And here's a girl who's running out of excuses that hold water. And her boy friend keeps asking for same. She writes:

Dear Miss Woodward: What can a girl do when her steady boy friend insists on knowing why she can't see him for an evening?

"There are times when he won't accept my most elaborate excuses. How can I make him stop asking for explanations?

The easiest way is to offer one before he asks—then he won't think you're keeping secrets from him. And your best bet is to work up a repertoire of excuses that even he will consider legitimate.

You have to wash your hair, for instance. You're exhausted from something or other and want to go to bed early. You're getting a cold and you don't want it to keep you from going with him on Saturday. Somebody's coming to see your parents—and you want to see them too. Maybe you have a deadline on a book report.

Before he can ask "no? — why not?" give him one of your reasonable explanations, and start talking up your next date for another night.

Fit, Washability Important in Bra

Nylon satin and ribbons and embroidered lace play stellar roles in the latest bra collections, with plenty of plunge necklines and a lot of elastic being used.

Along with the glamour, these bras still rate perfection of fit as their most important feature—and easy washability, too!

Even the all-elastics are perfectly safe in warm soapsuds, and will live a long life if properly washed.

Fabric Made Fireproof by New Method

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Bridal veils and children's party dresses which will not catch fire—Mattress tickings and bed covers which will not ignite — Draperies and slip covers which will not burst into flame—Kitchen aprons which will protect the body against splashes of burning grease—

These are some of the items which will be available on the consumer market in the near future as result of a remarkable chemical now being diverted into consumer channels for the first time.

Representing the chemical industry's first flameproofing process which can withstand repeated launderings and unlimited dry cleanings, the product was developed in Pittsburgh for initial application on cotton safety clothing worn in the nation's leading steel mills.

One executive describes the work clothing apparel as "merely the forerunner of a wide range of fabrics which can be treated for consumer use as protection against fires in the home and in places of public assembly."

Fabrics treated with the flameproofing solution will not flame even when exposed to a blazing blowtorch.

They will resist heats up to 4500 degrees—or ten times the heat of a moderate oven without danger of igniting. Ordinary untreated cotton will burst into flame in temperatures around 600 degrees, wool at around 800 degrees, Fahrenheit.

The process is applied in the textile mill or finishing plant—not by the consumer. The process has been extensively tested in the steel mills for more than five years. It was reported that "scores" of workers had escaped serious body burns or death when showered with hot metal or trapped in slag pit explosions. Their clothing resisted the flaming metal and did not catch fire.

The executive said that "within a few months" the process will be available in consumer markets on mattress tickings and certain types of drapery fabrics. Its application to cloth for other uses is expected to follow shortly thereafter.

"Mattress fires caused by careless smokers take a great toll of life and property damage each year," he said.

"Most of these fires could be prevented by flameproofing the ticking or mattress covers so that the heat will not penetrate into the stuffing and produce a smoldering fire. The new process does not permit an afterglow, which almost invariably cause the smoldering and frequent suffocation of the victim."

Pencil Painting Fun for All Age Groups

Housewives—and their children, too—are having new fun with colored lead pencils which can be used for pencil painting.

Many youngsters and adults find these soluble-lead pencils easier to work with than the conventional water-color brush technique. Drawings are first sketched with the colored pencil before the brush is applied, making for finer detail and control.

Night Heat Dependent on TV Habit

By HUBBARD COBB

Whether or not you set the thermostat down every night before going to bed depends, it seems, on how you feel about TV.

If you hate the fool thing and like to go to bed early with a good book, you should set your thermostat down five degrees or in your front room all hours of the night watching that "Miracle of science," then it probably doesn't pay to set down the thermostat.

The reasoning behind all this is that if the main portion of the house is not to be occupied for eight hours or so, then there is a saving in fuel when the thermostat is set down at night. If you don't go in for a deent night's sleep you want to be sure that don't go in for eight hours sleep but prefer six or even five, then little if any saving can be realized.

And naturally, if you do go in for a decent night's sleep you want to be sure that you don't set the thermostat too far down because if you do, you'll use up all the fuel you saved at night come morning, trying to get the house warm again.

Also the purpose of a central heating system is to make your life comfortable and if you get up and have to dress in a freezing house you are not, in our opinion, being comfortable.

When thermostats are set way low at night the house structure along with the air indoors becomes chilled, and once the walls and ceilings are chilled, getting them warm again is going to take both time and fuel.

Also it's important to remember that a well-designed and installed heating plant is happier if it runs at a steady pace rather than at full blast for a few hours and a long layoff.

Would Like to Give Loan to Neighbor

Her Husband Is Ill and She Has Many Expenses

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me: "The husband of a neighbor was taken ill about a month ago and has been in the hospital ever since. They are people of average means and I am sure this had made an alarming dent in their income.

"As a matter of fact, she has mentioned the 'staggering bills' to me once or twice. I would like to know if it would be proper to offer to lend her some money.

"I would like to help her out if she is in need of financial aid, but, on the other hand, I do not want to hurt her feelings by implying that she can't pay her bills. What would you advise?"

Answer: If you are able to help her, you might say: "I know you are having these awful expenses and I am wondering if it would help if I lent you some money with which to pay part of them."

You might add: "At the moment my finances happen to be in good shape so that I can easily do it." This could certainly in no way hurt anyone's feelings.

Dear Mrs. Post: We are about to have our Christmas cards made up and we are in doubt as to how our names should be printed on them.

Since a great many of these cards will go to business acquaintances as well as to our friends, would it be proper to have them printed Mr. and Mrs. John Smith

Answer: Under no circumstances should Mr. and Mrs. be used as a signature, but should precede the message. For example: "Mr. and Mrs. Henry Greene send you best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be proper to use the coat of arms of my mother's family on my wedding invitations? My father's family has none. Also, could it suitably be used to mark my silver?

Answer: I am very sorry, but it would not be correct to use the crest at all.

But if your silver is given you by your mother, it could be marked with the lozenge of her family's coat of arms, to which she has the right.

Glass-Writing Pencil Gift

Housewives will welcome a pencil that writes on glass and eliminates the need for labeling jars of preserves.

Another kind of pencil does away with the old method of identifying garden vegetables with the seed packet.

Using this moisture - resistant pencil, employed by professional nurserymen, the home gardener can tag her plants and doesn't have to worry about the rain erasing the name.

No Broken Bottles With Shelf Guards

Did you ever wish for a fence around your bathroom and kitchen shelves or in the medicine chest? Now you can buy plastic shelf guards which can be attached to glass, metal, or wood shelves.

They'll keep bottles and jars from falling off, add a note of gaiety to bathroom or kitchen—and their translucent colors can be kept bright and sparkling with a sudsy sponge.

Baby's Plush Toy Can Be Laundered

Baby's favorite plush toy can get a new lease on life by means of a bath.

The best way is to use the shampoo method — with a stiff brush and dense soapsuds which will not saturate the stuffing.

Rinse with a damp cloth or sponge wrung out of warm water.

If you use a dryer, put in a few bath-towels to serve as buffers so the toy wouln't bounce around too much.

Bible Does Not Advise Spankings

'Spare the Rod and Spoil the Child' Is From Mark Twain

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Some days ago I protested the spaking of a 4-year-old boy who had hurt his little sister. An outrager reader charges me with writing psychological drivel.

He writes, "You will never improve on the Bible's advice to parents: 'Spare the rod and spoil the child.' "

My reader is mistaken.

The Bible does not give us any such silly advice at all.

Three books of reference and a professor of church history have just confirmed my own impression that the Bible does not contain this injunction to parents. All I can find that remotely resembles it is Proverbs 13:24—"He that spareth the rod hateth his son; but he that loveth him chasteneth him betimes."

That's a very different piece of advice. For this true Bible quotation makes the point of qualifying the kind of rod we are asked to use for the discipline of children.

It must be a rod that performs a "chastening" work.

The word "chastening" means to "purify from error or fault."

Now we can make sense of my objection to spanking the small boy who hurt his little sister.

His attack upon her was part of a general campaign of terrorization of her. He is jealous of her. That means that he is motivated constantly by a sense of inferiority and helplessness.

De we really think that spanking him for expressing it can purify him of his error of feeling?

If we do, we have never felt inferior or helpless. For if we have ever felt jealous ourselves, we would know that physical attack upon us would merely increase our despair of ourselves.

The physical rod beating upon our bodies would not perform a "chastening" work at all.

What is needed by this small boy is not any physical rod, but enough of that love mentioned in Proverbs to purify him of his sense of inferiority and helplessness.

Let me be understood. I am not against "chastening" rods. I would myself, for instance, spank a small boy who insisted on misbehaving out of belief that I was either too lazy or too scared to spank him. I would apply the rod to purify him of his error of belief about me.

But this was not this child's case. His mother did spank him. Her rod will not purify him of jealousy because you can't reach this error through the body.

We must stop crediting the Bible with this stupid old adage about "spoiling" the child. To do so is to discredit its wisdom and justice.

So far as I can find out, it was Mark Twain who has mistakenly ascribed this advice to the Bible. He had his virtues. Reverence was not among them. He was one of those "emancipated" agnostics so fashionable in the late 19th Century.

Hairdresser Proves the Old Saying That Busiest People Get Things Done

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"If you have something that needs to be done," the old saying goes, "give it to the busiest person you know—he's more apt to get it done."

The same thing holds, it has been my experience, with women who need to make extra money.

Women with lots of time on their hands and no responsibilities never seem to get around to it. But the busy and overworked women can always fit in that one money-making chore.

Mrs. B. R. is one of my favorite examples.

She has four children, the eldest of which is 12. Her husband is an invalid with a tiny pension. Her sister is newly divorced, and so Mrs. B R. is taking care of the little niece, aged 10, while the sister tries to get a job.

With five children to care for, and a sick husband, plus all the careful marketing, food preparation and cleaning, you'd think she would have her hands full.

"But I desperately need extra money," she told me, "so of course I had to figure things out. The oldest girl took over care of the baby, which I taught her to do.

"The 10-year-old makes beds and does straightening up. My husband prepares vegetables and does jobs that he can handle from the wheelchair.

"And the little children have chores of their own. I had to arrange it that way, because I wanted time for making money."

Mrs. .B. R. had been a hairdresser before her marriage. She had kept her hand in by doing all the children's haircuts, and doing cuts and waves for most of her friends. She lived in a resort community where the only hairdresser was chic and expensive.

"One day," she said, "I announced to my friends that I was going to do hairdressing professionally. I would charge very little, but I would have to charge.

"I fixed up one room as my workshop, and believe it or not, my friends began to pay. Also, they told other friends about it. And I put a tiny ad in the village paper.

"Now, I honestly have more customers than I can handle. And even though I make a very modest charge, I handle enough people to give us the extra income we need.

"And it's sort of stimulating—I have so much fun that I'm never bored and never tired."

Sometimes the best cure for exhaustion is, not doing less, but doing more!

New Cabinets Designed to House Hi Fi Equipment

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Many questions are asked this department about the problems of fitting high fidelity phonograph equipment into well-designed interiors.

More and more families grow interested in the wonderful tone of hi fi, but the mechanical parts require far more space than the one-piece machine — how can they be housesd handsomely to fit into a room?

The type of cabinets sketched are what is most wanted, but where can they be bought? Until recently very few cabinets with style appeal could be bought ready-made.

Nearly all were specially designed for the type of equipment chosen and the room, and were custom-made. Now, however, a few of the large manufacturers of phonographs offer idea pieces like this which the stores can take orders for.

This design includes two units of furniture in walnut, one of which has doors and houses the record changer and provides extra storage space for records, and the other with a front panel of Madagascar matting holds the amplifier and speaker system.

Mounted on tapered legs which can be removed, the cabinets may be placed side by side or across the room from each other, and a legless unit can be set atop a different base.

Mrs. M. B. S. — "Since light and dark woods are now so often used together in the living room, I am wondering if I could mix light and dark woods in a bedroom. Would new Mr. and Mrs. chests in light mahogany look well with plain headboards, nightstands and a dressing table in dark mahogany?"

This can be done very successfully if the rest of the lights and darks in the room are carefully planned. Medium to deep wall color behind the chests, for example, not only flatters the chests but helps to balance the dark colors elsewhere.

Mrs. M. Z. — "How many inches from the ceiling should a mirror be placed, to hang over a fireplace and also to hang over a sofa?"

There are no set rules. The size of the mirror and its relation to what is below it must determine this, but it is wise to remember that most mistakes with both pictures and mirror are made in hanging them too high.

Try the mirror, or a paper pattern the same size, on the wall until you feel it is right before making nail holes.

Ex-Newspaperman, 72, C. G. McMaster, Dies

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—Claire G. McMaster, 72-year-old Spanish American veteran and former newspaperman, died Sunday in Michigan veteran facility. His home was at Thompsonville.

McMaster formerly worked on papers in Grand Rapids, Nashville, Tenn., New Orleans, La., the Chicago American and the Chicago Journal of Commerce in early years of his career.

Tax Payments Drop, Hold Revenue Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sharp drop in corporation tax payments is holding federal revenue collections below last year's rate, Internal Service figures showed today.

The service said corporation income taxes amounted to $1,767,000,000 in September, compared with $2,442,000,000 in September 1952.

This brought total corporate payments to $2,744,000,000 since the fiscal year began July 1 — about one billion dollars below the like period last year.

Individual income and employment taxes—the biggest item in government income — were up slightly in September, $2,032,000,000 as against $1,970,000,000 in September 1952.

That made personal income payments $8,764,000,000 from July through September, 663 million dollars above last year's rate.

But collections from all sources in September, the service said, slipped to $4,775,000,000 from $5,278,000,000 in September 1952, and the July-September total of $13,871,000,000 was 615 millions below last year.

Pick Girl to Circle Globe by Air

CHICAGO (AP)—A 23-year-old advertising copywriter, picked because she is a "typical American girl" and inexperienced in air travel, will try to circle the globe by commercial air lines in record time.

Miss Patti Martin told newsmen yesterday she expects to cover 24,878 miles in 91 hours and 25 minutes, starting east from Midway Airport at noon Friday. She was chosen by J. Stuart Rotchford, general manager of Jouney's International-Happiness Tours.

Miss Martin's schedule, if followed, would beat the present record by 7 hours and 51 minutes.

When her mother, Mrs. Ida Martin of Albuquerque, N. M., was informed by telephone, she told her daughter: "Please be careful, and don't speak to any strange men."

Jap Solo Human Ashes as 'Miracle Medicine'

SETO, Japan (AP)—Farmer Kaichi Kato, 58, was arrested today on the charge of exhuming tombs, powderizing human ashes, and selling them as a "miracle medicine" for paralysis at 3,000 yen ($8) per dose to five patients.

King Confides He's Not Fond of Modern Music

NEW YORK (AP)—"Between you and me and the lamppost, I'm not very fond of modern music."

So confided King Paul of Greece yesterday to reporters after he and his queen, Frederika, attended a concert of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra at Carnegie Hall.

The concert program, the first attended by the couple on their current American tour, included two Ravels and opened with the American and Greek national anthems.

Display Lincoln for '54 Dec. 3

Price Tags Unchanged Except for One Model, Reduced by $51

Ford Motor Co. announced today its 1954 Lincolns will go on sale Thursday with prices unchanged except on one model which has been reduced $51.

The luxury line of Ford-built cars are priced from $5,226 to $7,690 with optional equipment extra.

The new Lincoln and Lincoln Capri models are powered by a 205-horsepower overhead valve V-8 engine that contains many significant improvements.

Included among refinements are a larger, more flexible single-diaphragm vacuum distributor control, a new venting action for the new, vacuum-controlled four-barrel carburetor, redesigned hydraulic tappets, a new filter element in the fuel pump and a self-cleaning filter for the fuel tank.

Lincoln's massive, wide, low look has been accented by a new bumper guard air scoop and the addition of three vertical bars located between the upper and lower impact bars.

A new hood ornament with a wide "V" is a fitting background for the traditional Lincoln crest.

Larger brakes have been developed, with brake diameter increased to 12 inches. This has resulted in a 10 per cent increase in the braking area to 220 square inches.

Power steering, power brakes, electric window lifts and four-way power seats are offered as optional equipment. Automatic transmission is standard equipment.

Models offered are the Lincoln four-door sedan and hardtop coupe, and the Lincoln Capri four-door sedan, hardtop and convertible.

Reducing Club to Hear Talk on Safe Dieting

The Fashionettes, second women's reducing club sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department, will hear Dr. A. J. Zujko talk on "Safe and Sane Dieting" in room 102 at Pontiac High School Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Temporary officers have been appointed pending an election at the last meeting in December. They are Mrs. Charles Nelson, chairman; Mrs. Lenore Davis, secretary, and Mrs. Gathel Gaffnett, treasurer.

Future program plans include gym activities, social nights and additional talks on methods of "fashioning the figure." Any interested person is welcome to attend the meetings.

Search Abandoned for 2 Missing Planes

By The Associated Press

Searchers abandoned attempts to locate two missing planes today, one an Air Force jet fighter apparently lost in Lake Superior and the other a small plane out of Dowagiac, Mich., en route from Louisville to South Bend.

A hunter, however, located the wreckage of an ambulance plane and the body of its Detroit pilot in woods six miles northeast of Niles Saturday.

The Civil Air Patrol gave up the search for a small private plane and pilot Don Dixon of Dowagiac, missing since Wednesday night, after flying more than 300 sorties in four days of searching.

The Ninth air Rescue Service, returning to Selfridge Air Force Base after coordinating the search from Atterbury, Ind., said that the plane was either not in the area, or could not be seen from the air.

The final stages of the search Sunday found nothing.

Woman Indignant at PWs Calling Letter Coercion

RICHMOND, Calif. (UP)—A Richmond grandmother said last night she wrote one of the letters rejected by balky American prisoners of the Korean War because they charged the letters amounted to "coercion."

"What a nerve!" said Mrs. Edna Storeby, a former schoolteacher. "If they call my letter 'coercion,' what do they call what the Reds have been doing?"

Mrs. Storeby said she wrote to Sgt. Andrew Fortuna of Ionia, Mich., because "I just wanted to tell him that the Communists are selling a pack of lies."

Television Star Is a 'Natural'

Now Only 27, She's at Her Best on Weekly Comedy Hour

HOLLYWOOD — Lovely Connie Russell, singing and dancing star on TV's Comedy Hour series, is one of those remarkable performers who never had a singing or dancing lesson in her life.

"My folks were vaudevillians and I guess I learned just by watching," says Connie. "As a matter of fact, I think formal lesson can sometimes ruin an entertainer's natural talent."

Connie's parents, Tommy Russell and Nina Calvert, were a top act throughout the vaudeville houses of the world. They took young Connie across the Atlantic no less than seven times—before she was even in her teens.

And when she finally did enter her teens—14 to be exact—Connie quit school fo rgood in order to begin her professional career.

"I'd like to go back to school someday," smiles Connie. "There are a lot of things I'd like to study. But I'd certainly steer clear of vocal coaches and dance instructors.

Connie points to Eddie Cantor as one example of a great star who brought nothing to the stage but his own inimitable personality, drive and showmanship.

Although she's only 27 years old Connie speaks with almost 14 years of experience behind her.

Prior to leaving school, she made several records for HMV Victor in England, a British film, "Melody in Romance," and worked on a New York radio show with the children of other professional people.

In the early 1940s, she was hired by the 500 Club in Atlantic City and followed that with appearances at the Famous Door in New York, the Starlight Roof in the Waldorf-Astoria, New York's Paramount Theater, Chez Paree and Latin Quarter in Chicago. At the age of 16, she was in Ken Murray's Blackouts in Hollywood.

Two years later she had her own daily radio program out of Chicago. And another two years later Connie joined Dave Garroway and appeared with him on both radio and television.

In 1950 she stepped into the feminine lead in "South Pacific." More radio, TV and film jobs followed an dtoday she is fast nearing the top of the star ladder.

CURVACEOUS CONNIE—Smiling Connie Russell has every reason to be gay. Posessed of beauty, talent and luck this 27-year-old entertainer is fast climbing the ladder of success. Connie, who began her show business career at the age of two, has appeared on the Comedy Hour many times this season.

Fatal Heart Attack Caused by Hiccoughs

JACKSON (UP)—Lee R. Dodd, 63, died of a heart attack brought on by one of the seizures of hiccoughs he suffered intermittently during the past five years, doctors said today.

Dodd, under a doctor's care the past five years, died Sunday at his farm home.

Suzan Ball Breaks Oft-Hurt Right Leg

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Actress Suzan Ball is back in a hospital bed again and this time her oft-injured right leg is broken. Her dog tipped over his drinking water Saturday and the pretty 22-year-old brunette slipped on the wet spot.

It was the same leg she injured while dancing for a movie scene a year ago and then hurt again in an automobile accident last February. Following the first injury a growth developed which was diagnosed as Ewing's tumor, a form of cancer. Miss Ball refused to permit amputation although it was advised.

"After a year on crutches, I was all ready to go back to work," she said. "And now this happens."

She said her studio had promised her parts for her in two forthcoming films.

Prize Letters Tickle Army Draft Board

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—Mrs. Flo Upton, secretary of Draft Board No. 30, says a letter recently received by the board began like this:

"Dear Mrs., I want you to take my husband in the Army at once. He has run off with another hussy."

Another went: "According to your instructions my wife has had a baby."

A single 19-year-old youth filed a dependency classification request, explaining he had 11 dependents. Asked how much he contributed to their support, he replied, "Nothing. I'm not working."

Holiday Over, Ike Confers on Big 3 Parley

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower, back from his thanksgiving holiday and priming for the Big Three parley in Bermuda Dec. 4, huddles today with Secretary of State Dulles on the Soviet's latest cold war move.

The big problem is how to respond to the Russian bid for a meeting with the United States, Britain and France. The bid was regarded as a drive aimed at crumbling the West's planned European defense army — if not Western unity in the bargain.

Eisenhower flew into Washington last night aboard the presidential plane Columbine from Augusta, Ga., where he had spent a six-day Thanksgiving holiday. The plane had stopped en route at Ft. Benning, Ga., to return Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower and their three children to their home.

On his last day in Augusta, the president attended church services, got in a final round of golf and dropped a hint as to where he might spend Christmas. As he boarded the plane for Washington, he told those who had come to see him off: "I hope I'll be back for Christmas."

Wilson, Kyes Bet on More Defense for Less Money

Ike's Aides Defy Protests to Hack Fat Out of Budget

Editor's note: Following is a condensation of an article appearing in the current issue of Look magazine written by Fletcher Knebel. It concerns Charles E. Wilson and Roger M. Kyes, both of whom live in Bloomfield Hills. Wilson was president of General Motors before entering government service. Kyes was general manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division, Pontiac, and a vice-president of General Motors.

By FLETCHER KNEBEL

The Pentagon, command post of the 4,700,000-man military establishment that guards your security, is the scene of a giant gamble these days. The industrial managers who took over the Department of Defense from the civilian lawyers, generals and admirals who ruled it for so long have bet your money — and the nation's life — that they can buy you more defense for fewer dollars.

America has often bought a lot of defense for a lot of money. It has often bought a little defense for a little money. It has even purchased, from time to time, a little defense for a lot of money.

Never before, however, has a Washington administration sought to buy a vast amount of defense in the bargain basement—and planned to keep on doing it for years without foreseeable end.

Democrats brand the bargain promise as either a phony excuse to hide a fatal cut in our defenses or a ludicrous effort by amateurs.

The Pentagon's directors have sliced expenses. In 10 months of control, President Eisenhower's industrial managers of U. S. security have rammed through an economy program of astounding proportions:

They knocked off 7,500 jet engines, averaging $40,000 each, from the production schedules.

They chopped into the Pentagon jungle of research projects.

They reduced the Air Force budget by $5 billion.

They ordered the gates closed on nine Army posts and canceled 14 proposed air bases.

They cut 1,000 planes from Air Force production schedules, saving $750,000,000.

They cut back Navy combat-plane production by 700 planes.

They severed 100,000 civilian workers from the Defense Department payroll.

Reduce Plants in Defense Program

They even ordered the elimination of 70,000 uniformed men from the Navy and Marines, vowing they could do it without cutting combat strength.

Everywhere, they cut, hacked, canceled.

While everybody, it appeared, got mad—except the voters—the men leading the Pentagon revolution have been confident they will succeed.

Presiding over the economy upheaval is a white-haired gentleman with blue eyes. He is Charles E. Wilson, 63, who gave up $600,000 a year as president of General Motors Corporation to become President Eisenhower's secretary of defense at $22,500 a year.

"Engine Charlie," his foes call him behind his back; but he's "Uncle Charlie" to his friends.

"Tell him you've got a new idea on how to get some bricks faster and cheaper, and his eyes begin to sparkle. That's his real interest and his genius," says an aide.

Others have noted Uncle Charlie's almost boyish enthusiasm for serving President Eisenhower.

Wilson got off to a hot start with a bad press when the Senate forced him to jettison his $2,500,000 worth of General Motors stock before taking office. Now, he has learned to thrive on controversy.

"There's a yowl every time I look into something," he says, with admirable understatement, as he writes down the number "8,000" in one square on a pad.

That 8,000 represents the number of research projects the Pentagon had out on contract when Wilson took office. They ran at the rate of $1,350,000,000 a year. While maintaining the same dollar level of research and development, Wilson wiped out a bundle of non-weapons research projects in the sociological field.

Obscure Research Projects Dropped

Amid the jungle of supposed "hardware" research for which the Pentagon was paying money were treatises such as "Social Characteristics of Conquerors," "Exploratory Survey of Music as Used in Propaganda," "Investigation of Individual Factors Relating to the Effectiveness of Psychological Warfare" and "West German Attitudes Toward Western Defense as Shown by Public Opinion Polls."

"I even found one research project on 'what makes potatoes brown,'" says Secretary Wilson.

One day, Air Secretary Harold E. Talbott came in to Wilson's office and complained that the Air Force was making too much music.

Talbott showed Wilson a table listing the Air Force's 109 bands, embracing 3,600 full-time musicians.

"More bands than wings," quipped Wilson.

Talbott got the boss's approval to slash the musical program by more than 50 per cent.

Next year, another cut impends for music in the Army and the Navy.

"We're just two fellows trying to get the bricks out," says Deputy Defense Secretary Roger M. Kyes.

Roger Kyes, fresh from helping run General Motors as one of Wilson's vice-presidents and general manager of the truck division, owns the broadest shoulders and the roughest reputation in the Pentagon. The shoulders are here to stay. The reputation for toughness seems to be fading.

"It never occures to me that I can't do something," says Kyes, with the placid certainty of a man who definitely does not need a psychiatrist at his beck and call.

Kyes earned a Washington name as a toughie because he bawled out some of the brass back in the spring and because he had the habit of arguing with senators. It is not customary to argue with senators. You say, "Yes, sir" and "No, sir" and beg to differ ever so politely.

Call for Inventory of Defense Buying

When Kyes moved his autographed pictures of Ike and Charlie Wilson into his office on the river side of the Pentagon and located his white "security" phone and his black looseleaf "secret" notebook, he called for an inventory of Defense Department purchases.

He found that a pile of catalogues 20 feet high listed no less than 4,000,000 items which the military purchased from private industry.

Kyes asked the generals to find out how many of these 4,000,000 items accounted for 50 per cent of the defense dollar, how many accounted for 75 per cent. The answer came back that only 300 items took 50 per cent of all defense money and that 75 per cent of defense funds were spent on only 700 items.

"You've been going all around the elephant," said Kyes. "Let's concentrate on saving money on these 300 items first. "We'll worry about the nits and lice later."

One of the largest of these 300 items was that of jet engines for aircraft. One jet engine is worth a nice country home with a Cadillac sitting in the driveway.

Had the Air Force been left alone by the new team, it would have filled acres of warehouse space with surplus jet engines. The Air Force let its jet engine contracts on the calculation that each engine would give 100 hours flight time before being carted away for overhaul, a process that used to take four months.

That meant that each jet fighter needed at lest two spare engines to insure readiness for combat. Now the average time between overhauls has increased to 250 hours. Improvement by the manufacturers has been so marked that one type of engine recently went 1,200 hours before requiring overhaul.

That's why Wilson, Kyes and Talbott cut 7,300 jet engines off the Air Force program, eliminating five auxiliary manufacturers, Packard, Studebaker, Nash, Buick and Chevrolet.

Economy Contagious After Jet Cutbacks

"We've got jet engines running out our ears," said Talbott, displaying an attentive ear himself for Pentagon jargon. "I saw hundreds of them in storage in Africa and England. We've got them stacked all over."

The economy effects of the jet engine cut spread in all directions. For one thing, Talbott was able now with confidence to cancel a proposed $150,000,000 air depot.

When Ike's defense managers closed nine Army posts and canceled 14 proposed air bases, whole sections of the U.S. were on the verge of apoplexy. Chambers of commerce, labor unions, Republican and Democratic committees, citizens' groups—all locked arms to take the warpath against the Pentagon and get Charlie Wilson's scalp.

One delegation said the closing of the base would create local unemployment and that fewer boys would be drafted from the area because of the end of hostilities in Korea. What were they to do?

"I guess they wanted me to start World War III for them," said Wilson later.

The new team hired H. Struve Hensel, a Pentagon procurement veteran of World War II years, as general counsel. During Hensel's pre-job vacation, an assitant went in to see Kyes to inform the assistant defense boss that the division only had 21 lawyers whereas the organization chart called for 33.

The assistant wanted the 33 lawyers. Kyes said "No." The assitant wanted Hensel to protest to Kyes in a nice, unshirted, hellish sort of way. Instead, Hensel called for the daily diaries of the attorneys working for him. Rather than ask for more help, he tried to cut what he had. The economy fever was infectious.

When the efficiency expert comes into your shop and tells you your job is a waste of time and money, you very seldom slap him on the back and invite him home to dinner to meet the wife and kids.

Wilson Eliminates Slow Deliveries

Wilson smoked out the aircraft industry early. He called the top manufacturers into session last spring. Purpose—to cut the "lead time" on aircraft contract renewals, thus saving the Pentagon hundreds of millions of dollars by avoiding long-term obligations on planes in danger of becoming obsolete.

Uncle Charlie let it be known at the outset that he wanted no kidding. He demanded—and got—one manufacturer to cut the time between contract signing and delivery to 16 months. It had been 30 months.

The same manufacturer had previously wired the Air Force that 30 months' lead time was essential to national safety. The telegram rested in the pocket of one of Wilson's aides during the conference.

The Air Force was the manufacturer's best customer and the telegram obviously had been supplied on request. The old Pentagon run-around would have fooled the average layman, but it cut no ice against Wilson's personal production knowledge.

The production men now in control aren't interested in pleading anybody's case. All they really want to know is whether they can produce more weapons for less money.

5 Printing Press Orders Canceled

Bill Godel, Kyes' trouble shooter, found that the Army had ordered five huge, four-color printing presses at $200,000 each. They were to be stockpiled and—incredible as it may sound—shipped abroad to occupied territories in the event of war.

The idea was to print our message to occupied peoples in four colors, Kyes exploded, canceled the contract. "We'll take a chance," says Godel wryly, "that there might be a printing press somewhere around the world that we can use."

Few Pentagon veterans would deny that the Wilson-Kyes team has slashed off great chunks of fat from the swollen body of the military, but many of them are still skeptical of the Wilson boast that he is strengthening U.S. defenses.

"If a cut of $5 billion in the Air Force makes us stronger," cracked Sen. Richard B. Russell (Ga.), ranking Democrat on the Senate Armed Services Committee, "why not cut off $10 billion and make ourselves twice as strong?"

This summation of the Democratic position rankles the Pentagon production crew. Wilson time and again had insisted that "not one combat plane" would be lost to the Air Force.

Half of Savings Used for New Aircraft

Then the Air Force admitted in late summer that contracts for 1,000 planes had been canceled, including 155 B47 bombers. Air Undersecretary James H. Douglas declared the cut had been made possible by a lower attrition rate, but Democrats maintained that Wilson had violated his pledge.

A few days later, Talbott announced that about half of the $750,000,000 saving from the cut of 1,000 planes would be spent on expanding production of the eight-jet B52 heavy bomber and the new F100 jet fighter.

Another vital area of agreement among those who otherwise support the fat slashing of Wilson and Kyes is that involving the number of factories turning out weapons.

Wilson early committed himself to the "single, efficient producer" theory. He reasoned that the nation could not support a huge defense production base, with thousands of factories working on defense orders over the long haul of semi-peace.

He ordered that the low bidder get the job, regardless of whether this reduced the number of plants with defense know-how. "You can't keep that know-how in a plant unless you give it substantial orders," he says, "and you just can't afford that many substantial orders when you're not in a war."

Democrats launched a major offensive against this theory, warning that Wilson was funneling defense work into a few plants that could be wiped out overnight by Russian H-bombers.

Opposition Forces Truck Contract Split

The Pentagon yielded slightly under the pressure of the opposition. A new Army truck contract was split between General Motors and Reo, even though Reo had been underbid.

In expanding B52 production, Talbott ordered the Boeing plant at Wichita, Kan., to make the planes in addition to the Boeing factory at Seattle, previously the sole producer.

"I wouldn't be satisfied with only one source of supply at a target like Seattle," said Talbott.

While this has been the year of the big Pentagon economies, Wilson indicates that next year won't be. He believes that defense expenditures can't be cut much further, certainly not enough to balance the budget. He estimates defense outgo in the fiscal year beginning next June 30 at about $40 billion.

Despite the Democratic attacks, Wilson and his economizers are convinced that their fat-hacking efforts thus far have the backing of the American people.

A summertime Gallup poll showed that about 45 per cent of the people thought current defense spending was about right, while only 22 per cent thought it too little. Twenty per cent were in favor of even more cuts.

"Don't forget," says Wilson, "that almost every family has a veteran in the house. Each one of those men could cite you a dozen instances of waste in his own outfit. Most of those families know we're right."

The production managers contend that if Russia struck tomorrow, the nation would be just as strong as it would have been under the old administration.

For the long haul, they're betting they can get you more defense for less money. They claim it's an odds-on bet. They know they'd better be right.

PENTAGON BOSSES—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, right, and Roger M. Kyes, his deputy, have made a giant gamble. National safety depends on the outcome.

SMOG TOGS—A lady in London's Hyde Park wears an old wartime gas cape for protection against the "killer fog" as it moved in on London. Last year the lethal vapor claimed 4,000 lives in Britain alone.

Thoughtful Act Hard to Explain

Returns His Umbrella but He Can't Explain All Eight of Them

By BILLY ROSE

Herman Levin, Broadway producer and bon vivant, told me an amusing story the other night, and I'm passing it along on the off-chance that no one has bent your ear with it. . .

One blustery November morning in Darien, Conn., George Wentworth, vice president of a New York bank, put on his Brooks Brothers charcoal gray suit, his Brooks Brothers foulard tie and his Brooks Brothers homburg, then looked out his Libby-Owens window.

"It's drizzling," he said to his wife. "Is there an umbrella handy?"

"I was waiting for you to say that," said Mrs. Wentworth. "It gives me a chance to make an announcement."

The banker looked nervously at his Brooks Brothers watch. "If it's about muscular dystrophy," he said, "don't bother, my dear. I sent them a check last week."

"It's not about muscular dystrophy," said his wife. "It's about umbrellas. Do you realize, George Wentworth, that two years ago we had eight umbrellas in this house and now there's only one?"

"Been meaning to do something about those blasted mice," said Mr. Wentworth. "Never realized, though, the little beggars ate umbrellas."

"The mice don't eat our umbrellas," said Mrs. Wentworth. "You do.

"You take them to the office and you don't bring them back. Well, here's our eighth and last umbrella. If you forget this one, next time it rains you'll have to use the Wall Street Journal."

"I'll bring the whole lot of them back tonight," said Mr. Wentworth. "I promise. . ."

That afternoon he lunched at the Bankers Club, and on his way out he saw his umbrella in the rack next to the coat room.

"Holy smoke," he said. "I almost left it. My missus wouldn't have liked that at all."

But as he reached for the umbrella, he felt a polite but firm tap on his shoulder.

"Pardon me," said a man who was wearing a De Pinna plaid bow tie, "but that happens to be my umbrella."

"I'm afraid you're mistaken," said Wentworth. "It's my umbrella."

"I wouldn't have taken you for an umbrella thief," said the man with the bow tie. "You look like a Princeton man."

"Harvard," said Wentworth stiffly.

"My dear fellow," said Bow Tie, "even a Harvard man doesn't have to steal to make a living in this country. There are lots of openings for clean-cut American types."

Mr. Wentworth knew when he was licked. "Oh, very well," he said. "If you're going to be small about it, keep the umbrella."

When he got back to his office, he discovered, to his horror, that his umbrella was in a corner next to the seven others — he hadn't taken it to lunch after all.

At five, thanks to an excellent memory and a telephone call from his wife at 4:50, Mr. Wentworth tied the eight umbrellas together with a piece of twine and caught the 5:32 to Darien.

A few minutes after the train pulled out, he looked up from his evening paper. He had the uncomfortable feeling that someone was looking fixedly at him.

It was the man with the De Pinna bow tie, and there was a nasty smile on his face as he eyed the eight umbrellas.

"I see you had a pretty good day," he said.

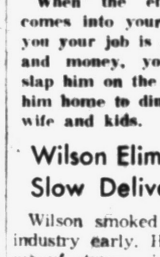
For the Record

To Survive, TV Must Change Its Ways, Author Believes

Gerald W. Johnson, former editorial writer for the Baltimore Sun and author of "The American People" and "Incredible Tale," tells why he believes TV cannot survive if it remains chiefly an amusement enterprise.

By GERALD W. JOHNSON

Recently a writer in this column discussed the question, "Is Television Impossible?" and came up with the answer, "As it is, yes."



JOHNSON

That is the safest bet imaginable. Any new art form (or amusement form, or educational form) must develop or wither, and in either case it changes. Television is a new form, and the one thing certain about it is that ten years hence it will not be what it is now.

The only room for speculation is as to the direction the changes will take, and the TV lads who first hit upon the correct answer to that question are the ones who will ride the gravy train.

Television as purely an amusement enterprise is cannibalistic. It eats up talent at an impossible rate, and it eats up its market with the same speed.

You simply can't produce a thundering big show to play a single one-night stand, but that is what television has been trying to do, with disastrous financial results.

There is only one institution that has ever been able to play a one-night stand successfully, and it is not the theater. It is the newspaper. As long as television tries to approximate the theater it is attempting the impossible, and will lose its shirt. But to the extent that it tries to approximate the newspaper it is attempting something not patently impossible, and perhaps highly profitable.

Of course TV cannot actually be a newspaper and should not try. But it can be, and in fact is now, a form of journalism and to the extent that it conforms to the laws of journalism is already a success.

There is no need to tell this to the TV people. They know it — or certainly the abler ones do. The people who need convincing are the advertisers, particularly the dignified, solid firms that expect to remain in business a long time.

When these people go to a newspaper they demand for their ads "a position next to pure reading matter," but when they go into TV they all want to get on what corresponds to the comic page, that is, next to pure entertainment. If they find the results disappointing whose fault is it?

TV offers — or can offer — a vast amount of serious matter other than spot news, just as a newspaper does. Some of it also has a high entertainment value, although it is neither comedy or melodrama — the "how to do it" shows, for example.

This material is inexhaustible, while real comedy and real drama are strictly limited. Journalism can cram even the voracious maw of television, which has already swallowed practically all the good theater available.

But development along this line is not entirely in the hands of TV technicians, no matter how able. Advertisers, too, must learn the real nature of the medium they are using.

High-grade business understands perfectly the value of dignified surroundings for its newspaper advertising, and will pay a thumping rate for space on the editorial page even of a paper whose politics businessmen detest.

When they appreciate the equal value of dignified surroundings for their TV advertising, development will proceed rapidly.

But as long as they insist on being surrounded by a musical comedy that costs $50,000 to produce, then television as a permanent institution is impossible.

Fire Contract Renewed

Sylvan Lake has renewed its fire protection contract with West Bloomfield Township for one year, agreeing to pay $300 and an additional $75 for each truck sent to a fire within the city, according to City Manager Ernest Ethier. Fees are the same as last year, Ethier said.

Bob Considine Says:

People Drink Less Now, Since Gay Dawn of Repeal

NEW YORK (INS)—One score of years ago, come Saturday, the bathtub disappeared as a standard fixture in the manufacture of gin. Prune juice and straight alcohol no longer totaled up to rye. Corn squeezins deserted the faithful old Ball Mason jar for something shapely and with a pretty label.

Scotch stopped being the principal export of several off-coast places where it was hardly indigenous, notably St. Pierre et Miquelon and the islands of the Caribbean. And at the same time its running ceased to be a source of friction between the State Department and his majesty's government.

Champagne became a rare wine made of grapes, and, hardly by coincidence at all, cider retired to the jug. With the stroke of a pen at Salt Lake City, Utah had become the 36th state to ratify the 21st amendment. And 13 years, 10 months and 18 days of prohibition—and all of prohibition's spawn—were done.

In Washington, D. C., the drought had lasted a bit longer than in the rest of the country. While Baltimore wallowed in the strong stuff, or so we unjustly thought of that fine old abstemious port, Washington lay parched in the sun.

One guy used to have a saw protruding from his suitcase, in a clumsy effort to immitate a carpenter. His great consolation whenever he was caught was that the only way the cop could seize the bulk of the cargo was with a stomach pump.

A lot of drugstore prescription clerks went out of business on Dec. 5, 1933. Many of them must have bought banks. The more intelligent bootleggers went ligit, many choosing fields where the customers would be essentially the same as during prohibition—restaurant, night club and wholesale liquor businesses.

Most of all, prohibition made money for the wrong people. Some figures from Licensed Beverage Industries Inc., say that per capita consumption during prohibition averaged two gallons a year, or just under one and a half ounces every other day. One could only guess where the stuff was made, of course.

People drink a little less now, with every state "wet" except Mississippi and Oklahoma (Hah!), than they did when all 48 were "dry."

An exception since 1940 has been Washington, the one-time drought area. During World War II it became the heaviest drinking town in the land.

Teetotaling historians are wont to shudder over some of the "mule" the generation of the 1920's consumed, without going blind. But a new generation of drinkers can shudder, too, over how we greeted the first rosy dawn of repeal.

The big drink in our set, before and after dinner, one recalls wanly, was Manhattans.

A thick Alexander was regarded as Brillat-Savarin may have looked at a Pousee cafe. The wonder is that we survived long enough to learn about whisky and water.

A FLYING PUP for CHRISTMAS?

It isn't easy for a puppy to learn to fly like Santa's reindeer. Even Santa himself can't teach him how.

Willie the pup wanted to learn ever so badly. His friends, Mr. Not Much and Mr. Very Little thought they could help him, but they failed.

It was Henrietta, the poor little girl Willie left to find adventure in Santa Land, who finally gave Willie the answer.

But Willie had many exciting adventures before that, including the rescue of the Dreamlin queen, kidnapped by Gremlins.

See for yourself how both Henrietta and Willie got what they wanted most for Christmas. Read

Soul Force Always Wins; 'Coming Yet for a' That'

Sunday in Central Methodist Church, Dr. Milton H. Bank spoke from the subject "Soul Force Wins." Central Methodist Church was organized in 1906 and Dr. Bank came as pastor in June 1949.

Excerpts from Dr. Bank's sermon follow:

* * *

Was Oswald Spengelr right? Is the 20th century the end of a cycle and the twilight of civilization? Has mankind come to the edge of the evening land with only the night beyond? Has the trumpeter blown "lights out" or even "taps" and will there be no "reveille"?

These are the ghostly questions that haunt the minds and hearts of our generation lost in the twilight that has followed two world wars.

DR. MILTON H. BANK

Winston Churchill closed his latest address to the assembled British Parliament with this solemn warning: "We are all standing at this hour in human history before the portals of supreme catastrophe or of measureless reward. My faith is that in God's mercy we shall choose aright."

If we choose God's way we will place our confidence not in H-bombs strategically stock-piled or in developing planes capable of flying 1,400 miles per hour, but in the revelation of God and the clear teaching of history that in the end it is soul force that wins.

Soul force receives its driving dynamic power from the fact that it is man's realization that he is a part of the very plan of God.

In the majestic solemnity of this plan, artificial man-made barriers are broken down and we all become members of God's great family.

This soul force is a light in life that the darkness cannot put out. A chaplain heard it above the trip hammer beat of brave hearts and the crackling sputter of hand grenades, and he made his immortal observation: "There are no atheists in fox holes."

It was this soul force that made a carpenter from the little village of Nazareth go up to the city to confute the doctors, scatter the exploiters of men, and drive out the money changers.

Soul force is the realization that life is more than raiment and the spirit more than meat and drink. It is the light of God shining through a life.

The best living exponent of this soul force is Dr. Albert Schweitzer. Dr. Schweitzer expressed pleasure at winning the Nobel Peace Prize but firmly added, "No man has the right to pretend that he has worked enough for the cause of peace or to declare himself satisfied."

Then he abruptly broke off the interview to tend to the broken leg of an African patient who had arrived by dugout canoe.

The perfect expression of this soul force was in the life of Jesus Christ. Opposed by the forces of greed and hatred, He encouraged his followers in the way of God, saying, "Be of good cheer for I have overcome the world."

When the tick darkness around the Cross had stolen cold and numbing into His very soul and He seemed to be left forgotten and unbefriended even by God, soul force still won out and He lifted the oppression heavy on His soul and scattered it to nothingness. He died with the shout of a conqueror, "It is finished."

Thus soil force has worked and is working in the lives of men. By God's help we shall usher in the Kingdom. He quoted Robert Burns in closing.

"Then let us pray that come it may
(As come it will for a' that)
That sense and worth o'er all the earth
Shall bear the gree and a' that!
For a' that and a' that,
It's coming yet for a' that;
When man to man the world o'er
Shall brithers be for a' that.

It Will No Longer Be a Problem for Retired Chris

DETROIT (AP)—Chris Martin, 69, looked at the letter he had written the postmaster general today. It was marked "mail early for Christmas" and announced his retirement as a mailman after 41 years.

Then he grinned, and said: "Folks were late with their Christmas mailing in 1911, they'll be late in 1953, and I guess they'll be late in 1980."

Football Remained Healthy Despite 2-Platoon's Death

By ED CORIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—There was nothing but memories of college football, 1953 version, today and despite the dark warnings of most of the coaches, the game was still in a healthy state.

* * *

Before the start of the season, the overwhelming majority of the mentors viewed the return to one-platoon rule with alarm—even despair. But the teams that everyone thought would stay on top stayed there and the teams that showed nothing before the campaign did just as expected.

In fact, a quick look at the four major New Year's Day bowls will attest to the lack of form reversal.

* * *

Rose—Michigan State vs. UCLA.

Orange — Maryland vs. Oklahoma.

Cotton—Rice vs. Alabama.

Sugar—Georgia Tech vs. West Virginia.

Michigan State, in its freshman year in the Big Ten, was the favorite. True, it had its 28-game winning streak broken, but that was caused more by the law of averages than any changes in the rules.

UCLA was the choice to win the Pacific Coast Conference title and win it did although it experienced some anxious moments.

Maryland was the favorite in the Atlantic Coast Conference as was Oklahoma in the Big Seven. Rice was one of the better teams in the Southwest loop according to preseason reports and Alabama was tabbed as one of the top teams in the South.

* * *

Georgia Tech saw its 31-game defeatless skein go by the boards, at the hands of Notre Dame, but it still was a dominant power, and West Virginia was rated the Southern Conference top-notcher.

Notre Dame was rated No. 1 team in the country in the Associated Press preseason poll and stayed right there until tied by Iowa a week ago. Nor was that reversal the result of the switch to one-platoon.

* * *

After all the confusion revolving around the bowls, the Orange Bowl seems to have come up with the game of the day in Maryland, the only major undefeated and untied team in the country, and Oklahoma, whipped only by Notre Dame.

* * *

The Cotton Bowl opponents were not decided until the last moment. Rice finished in a tie with Texas for the Southwest Conference title by beating Baylor 41-19, but the Longhorns bowed out because the Owls had beaten them earlier in the year.

* * *

Alabama got the bid Saturday night by virtue of winning the Southeastern Conference title by beating Auburn 10-7, while Mississippi State was tieing Mississippi 7-7.

* * *

Army concluded its season with a 20-7 victory over Navy Saturday—its first victory over the Middies in four years.

Georgia Tech turned back Georgia 28-12, Duke defeated North Carolina 35-20, Louisiana State outscored Tulane 32-13, Texas Christian was a 13-0 victor over Southern Methodist, Tennessee clubbed Vanderbilt 33-6, Villanova upset Fordham 20-13 and Boston College edged Holy Cross 6-0 in other major game.

New Scoring System to Aid TV Fight Fans

Round Loser Gets 1 to 9; Winner 10; Even Rounds 10 Each

WASHINGTON (AP)—Starting Jan. 1, you'll be able to score those television fights just like the experts—but it might be wise to keep a slide rule handy.

* * *

The Executive Committee of the National Boxing Assn. gave final approval to the new scoring system Saturday and decided to print up sample scorecards for TV fans.

The NBA controls fighting in 47 states. Only New York will have a different scoring system after the first of the year.

* * *

Under the unified system, the winner of a round gets 10 points. The loser gets anywhere from 1 to 9. If the round is even, score 10-points for each fighter.

There are certain gimmicks. If the referee detects a foul, he subtracts a point and instructs the two judges to do likewise. But the man who does the fouling still gets 10 points if he wins the round. The point is subtracted from the cumulative score.

* * *

The Executive Committee decided to test another scoring device. In selected fights, officials will permit the referee to be the sole judge of the effectiveness of a knockdown.

Cadets' Return to Grid Heights Surprises Blaik

Coach Didn't Think it Would Be So Soon; Army Beats Navy 20-7

By BOB HOOBING

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Army's sudden return to national football prominence following a 20-7 victory over Navy is a surprise even to coach Earl Blaik.

Two years after the cribbing scandal had erased a potentially great West Point squad the Cadets completed a 7-1-1 season Saturday by defeating the Middies for the first time in four seasons.

"I'm very much surprised at what we've done this season," Blaik insists. "We're not out of the woods yet but at least we're where the timber isn't so tall."

After Navy had run up a record 42-7 score in 1951, Blaik had predicted it would take at least five years to bring Army back to a place where it could meet the middies on equal terms. But the team, including many boys who had sustained that trampling, has proved Blaik a better coach than prognosticator.

Sophomores played an important part in the latest Navy game as they had throughout this year's surging comeback. Halfback Pat Uebel scored all Army touchdowns on short runs in the first and second periods and a 70-yard punt return in the third.

Tackle - linebacker Bob Farris, singled out by Blaik along with center Norm Stephen as the hub of the defense that has been the secret of Army's strength, guard Ralph Chesnauskas and tackle Ron Mehnik also had major roles.

Eddie Erdelatz, whose Navy team could penetrate enemy territory only three times and didn't score until Jack Garrow ran the last seven yards with 45 seconds left in the game, praised the winners.

"Army was a good team, well coached," he said. "It was up for the game and played well as a unit."

The Annapolis coach did admit his crew appeared jittery at the start. It was a fumble of the opening kickoff and an Army recovery at the Middie 31 that got the Cadets off to a fast start. Seven plays later Uebel had a touchdown and a lead Navy never challenged.

Poe Is Named to All-Valley Defense Team

Pontiac High junior halfback Walt Poe was named to a linebacker position on the 1953 All-Saginaw Valley Conference defensive team released today.

Poe was the only Pontiac player named to the mythical selections. Bay City Central, which finished third in the Valley standings, dominated the voting with five berths on the offensive squad and three on the defensive eleven.

Only two unanimous choices were Flint Central end Larry Catlin and Flint Northern halfback Art Johnson on the offensive lineup. Catlin and Johnson were named to both teams, along with Northern's Arlen Gripentrog, Bay City's Chuck Cowan and Saginaw's Bob Maturen.

Honorable mention list included PHS players Bill McLarty, Leroy Moore and George Thrasher.

Members of the honorary teams will be feted at the annual All-Valley banquet Tuesday night at 6:30 p.m. at Frankenmuth.

Lattner Paces Irish to Rout of Southern Cal

All-America Ace Tallies 4 Touchdowns as USC Bows, 48-14

By Press Wire Services

Johnny Lattner, Notre Dame's concensus All-America halfback, scored four touchdowns as the Irish routed Southern California, 48-14, Saturday in an effort to regain 1st place in the national championship race.

Coach Frank Leahy, who was unable to make the trip to Los Angeles, had no uneasy moments as the Irish were in control from the out-set. A crowd of 97,952 watched the proceedings in Memorial Coliseum.

Joe Heap touched off the scoring splurge for the South Benders by registering a 94-yard punt return in the 1st period. Lattner capped a 61-yard drive to score five minutes later.

After Des Koch scored for the Trojans, Neil Worden's 55-yard run put the Irish on the Southern Cal two and Worden scored. In the 3rd period, end Paul Matz fell on a Trojan fumble in the end zone for another tally.

Lattner got another marker on a pitch out around end for 10 yards. Southern Cal got its 2nd TD when Aramis Dandoy went 12 yards.

Two minutes later, Notre Dame scored again with Lattner going over from 2 yards out, and again in 16 seconds when a lateral was fumbled in the end zone and recovered by Irish guard Pat Bisceglia.

Lattner got the final touchdown in the 4th quarter on a 50-yard run.

Mustangs Shoot for Upset of Notre Dame 11

SMU Having Lean Year but Coach Thinks His Team Has Chance

DALLAS (AP) — It would be an upset if Southern Methodist beat Norte Dame but more far-fetched things have happened in football, Woody Woodward, coach of Southern Methodist, said today as he opened the final week of training leading up a clash with the mighty Irish at South Bend, Ind.

"I always think we have a chance to beat anybody," Woodard declared, "and we'll be going up there with the idea of winning the ball game. Our record this season hasn't been up to expectations but we really were overrated in early season. My boys never have let down and I think they have done well."

He admitted, however, that for some reason the SMU team never had been "fired up" for any game this season. Maybe they will be for Notre Dame, he mused.

Past records indicate the Methodists always have reached that state when they play the Irish. Four Times Notre Dame and SMU have met on the gridiron and some of the best teams the Irish ever had couldn't score a convincing victory.

In 1930—when Knute Rockne had an undefeated, untied team at Notre Dame — the Irish managed to win 20-14 over a fair SMU eleven. In 1939 Notre Dame came through 20-19. In 1949 when SMU was far from being a powerhouse, the Irish had to score in the final minutes and stop an SMU drive on the four to win 27-20. Notre Dame was national champion that year.

And in 1951 a Southern Methodist team that won only three games all season whipped the Irish on their home lot 27-20.

High Schools Start Another Basketball Season This Week

By JACK SAYLOR

High school basketball begins its three and a half-month stand this week as Oakland County teams start the three or four-game pre-holiday phase of their schedules.

Nearly all coaches have had from three weeks to a month to work out the football kinks and whip their athletes into shape for another big cage campaign.

For the 1st time, teams will enter the season without benefit of pre-season scrimmage against outside competition. This follows the policy set up by the MHSAA for football.

However, all schools are in the same boat in this respect so there should be no advantage or disadvantage to anyone.

Michigan preps also have discarded the controversial "one and one" foul shooting rule, put in effect last year. Coaches voiced disapproval around the state and the MHSAA rules committee reverted to 1951-52 regulations.

Free throws will be one or two shots, depending on the infraction, with the exception of the last three minutes when every foul is two shots regardless of its nature. There is no waiving of free throws.

Rochester, Berkley, Utica and Roseville will be out to extend domination of their leagues.

Rochester seeks its 3rd straight Tri-County title and its 4th in five years. Berkley and Roseville will try to make it three straight in the Inter-Lakes and Oakland B respectively.

Utica has figured in the Bi-County championship for the last three years, winning outright in 1951 and sharing the crown in '52 and again last spring. Brown City also is shooting for its 3rd straight Southern Thumb title.

Other defending champions are OL St. Mary (Suburban Catholic); Brighton (Wayne-Oakland); East Detroit (Eastern Michigan); and Imlay City (South Central).

East Detroit and Utica were area regional champs last season, while district titles were won by Lake Orion, Northville, Utica and Shrine in Class B, and Almont, Keego Harbor, Clarkston and Brighton in Class C.

None of the top three scorers in the area are back, including Tom Evenson of Brighton (20.9 points per game), Oakland County leader Jim Panks of Shrine (19.7) and Pete Palshan of Ortonville (19.4).

Coming season should be considerably brightly for all three Pontiac schools with prospects for better records. Pontiac High posted 4-15 last year, St. Frederick's, 6-11, and St. Michael's 1-16.

Outlook for leagues in Oakland County area will be discussed this week.

Big 10 Quints Commence Play

League Dark Horses, Illini, Badgers, Meet Non-Loop Foes

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten basketball fans have the chance this week to get a good line on the various championship contenders. Every conference team makes at least one appearance on the week's 13-game program.

Opening the show are a couple of dark horses, Illinois and Wisconsin. Illini entertains Ohio University and the Badgers host Butler. Both games are Tuesday night.

Two pre-season title favorites, Indiana and Minnesota, don't play their opening games until Saturday. Wednesday night Valparaiso is at Purdue and on Friday Wisconsin plays again, at Marquette.

Saturday schedule is heavy. Illinois is at Oklahoma, Cincinnati at Indiana, Washington U. at Iowa, Michigan at Pittsburgh, Creighton at Michigan State, Minnesota at Nebraska, Western Michigan at Northwestern, Ohio State at Butler and Wabash at Purdue.

Tracy Scores Twice as Tennessee Wins

Tom Tracy, all-state halfback at Birmingham High School in 1951, was instrumental in a 33-6 victory for his University of Tennessee football team over Vanderbilt Saturday at Knoxville.

Tracy raced around left end eight yards for a touchdown in the 2nd quarter and went 13 yards for the final Vol tally in the 3rd period. He also converted both TD's.

Tracy, who was a halfback in high school, plays fullback at Tennessee and was one of the Vols' top ground gainers Saturday.

Browns Clinch Fourth Straight Division Title

Cleveland Victory Is 10th in Row; Bears Drop Rams From Contention

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Browns can sit back without a worry and wait for the Western Conference to decide on their opponent in the National Football League championship game Dec. 27.

* * *

The Browns, a four-time champion in the defunct All-American Conference, wrapped up their fourth straight divisional title in the NFL yesterday with a 27-16 victory over the winless Chicago Cardinals. It was the 10th straight win without a defeat for the Paul Brown-coached eleven. They'll meet the New York Giants in Cleveland Sunday and wind up the season Dec. 13 in Philadelphia against the Eagles.

* * *

Detroit's Lions, conqueror of the Browns in last year's title game, head the Western Conference by only a one-game margin over the San Francisco 49ers. The Lions (8-2) cemented their position on Thanksgiving Day by whipping the Green Bay Packers.

But yesterday the 49ers stayed within striking distance with a 38-21 decision over Baltimore's Colts. The day's activities, however, virtually eliminated Los Angeles' chances since the Rams were surprised by the Chicago Bears 24-21.

* * *

The Giants, displaying a real offensive for the first time this season, stopped the Philadelphia Eagles' winning streak at six games, 37-28 and Washington beat Pittsburgh 17-9 in other games.

Special Deer Season South Line Is M-55

LANSING (UP)—Michigan's conservation department today warned deer hunters to be sure they are north of Highway M-55 Tuesday for the one-day "any deer" season.

"We want to remind sportsmen once again that the southern boundary of the area, where it is legal to shoot any deer, has been changed from last year," said Ilo H. Bartlett, a department official.

"Last year the southern boundary during the 'any deer' season was Highway M-20. This year the boundary is M-55, which is about 50 miles north of last year's line.

Loyal Assistants

Ailing Leahy Praises Members of ND Staff

By FRANK LEAHY

When a man in any line of endeavor is forced to remain away from his work for reasons of health it causes him to realize how fortunate he is to have people around him who are loyal and devoted. That certainly was the case last Saturday as our Notre Dame team played what sounded to me like one of their best games of the season.

Perhaps it was just wishful thinking on my part, but from the radio report, it semed to me that the backs were running just a bit harder and the linemen blocking just a bit longer in a sincere effort to make every play the perfect play.

Members of the coaching staff went about their duties in such workmanlike manner that no stone was left unturned in order to insure success.

As regards my illness, it is nothing that doesn't happen to many busy men. Actually, after I got sick at the Georgia Tech game, my physician insisted I take it easy and I assured him I would, and did for awhile, but the interest and pressure of the season caused me to forget some of the instructions and so I am forced to rest a bit more.

As far as the actual game of Saturday is concerned I am very proud of the fact that our backs were able to run through one of the country's top defensive lines.

I want to join the many in extending sincere congratulations to Earl Blaik, whose Army team capped his long comeback drive by a convincing win over Navy.

In the Southwest, Jess Neely left little doubt but that this Rice team was entitled to represent that area in the Cotton Bowl as they broke a tie with Baylor by a 41-19 count.

College Basketball Season in High Gear This Week

NEW YORK (AP)—The college basketball season swings into high gear this week with most of the top teams in the country set to start the four-month grind that will lead to sectional and national titles.

But the team that will attract the most attention won't be looking for any championship. Rather its top star will be out to prove himself. Bevo Francis, who set an all-time scoring record last year only to have it wiped out because many of his team's opponents were not four-year colleges, brings his Rio Grande club into Madison Square Garden. Thursday for a game against Adelphi College.

This will be the opening game of the inaugural program of the Garden's 20th season of basketball. St. John's will meet Lafayette in the feature.

The Iron Dukes of Duquesne, who will be a disappointment if they don't win the national championship with their veteran-packed team, begin operations Saturday against Geneva.

* * *

Indiana, the NCAA titlist, which won 17 Big Ten games in a row last season, also opens Saturday against the University of Cincinnati. Another team with high hopes of bounding back into the limelight, Kentucky, plays Temple Saturday in its opener.

The University of California, reputedly "loaded" and itching to take the Pacific Coast Conference title won last year by Washington, has three games. The Golden Bears open against San Francisco tomorrow, then play the alumni Friday and St. Mary's Saturday.

Added Depth Boosts 'M' Cage Hopes This Season

By JOHN F. MAYHEW

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Bill Perigo starts his 2nd season as Michigan's head basketball coach Dec. 5. And his prospects for improvement are probably better than any other coach in the Big Ten.

In the 1st place, his Wolverines can't go down. The finished in a last-place tie with Purdue last season, winning only three of 18 conference games.

In the 2nd, and most practical, place, Perigo has added some talented depth to the squad that won only six of 22 contests in all competition last year.

When Perigo sends his squad in the away-from-home opener, it will be a club built around seven returning lettermen, headed by Paul Groffsky, last year's forward and top scorer.

In the letterman supporting case, Perigo will count on guards Don Eaddy and Capt. Ray Pavichevich and forwards Milt Mead, John Codwel land Bruce Allen. Bob Topp, who topped all candidates in the pass catching department of the recently completed Western Conference football season, will be available but needs some time to make the change in sports.

That group furnishes a solid core of experienced performers. Adding competent depth, a feature Michigan has lacked for some time, is a promising group of sophomores and juniors.

Outstanding were a pair of sophomore guards from Chicago, Jim Barron and Tom Jorgenson. Both are on the small side but claim speed, agility and shooting accuracy.

Big 10 has reverted to its 14-game schedule that it left in 1953 for a "killer" 18-game schedule. In addition to the conference games, Michigan will play eight non-league games. Wolverines will open their Big 10 campaign here Jan. 2 against Indiana, Big 10 and NCAA champion.

Columbia's 'Iron Man' Dick Carr Strikes a Blow at Two-Platoon System, Plays 540 Straight Minutes

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK—Columbia's Dick Carr, one of the star backs of the year, struck a hard blow at the two-platoon system. Carr played 60 minutes in each of the nine games on the Columbia schedule.

* * *

That's a total of 540 consecutive minutes through a full season. And he was usually better in the last quarter than he was in the first. Carr proved a well-conditioned athlete can play 60 minutes of any game, barring some hard luck.

* * *

"But this double-platoon system gives more players a chance," they'll tell you. How about the players from 65 college teams that have dropped football completely? This means at least 3,000 players—many from once-strong college teams—Georgetown, Santa Clara, St. Mary's, etc.

* * *

They were killed by the double platoon. The double-platoon system meant a dearth of football.

Getting back to the iron man Carr—his performance was remarkable; 540 consecutive minutes of play without ever leaving a game from start to finish all season long.

We thought this record was extraordinary—and it is. And then we ran into Steve Owen, coach of the Giants.

* * *

"What was your best mark in this respect?" I asked Steve. "It happened in 1927 and 1928," Steve said. "I was with the Giants. In those two years I played every second of every game. I played 26 ball games those two years. This means I played 1,560 minutes consecutively."

* * *

We will admit that in the double-platoon system you get better all-around football, where half the players are skilled on offense and half on defense.

We admit that most of the coaches are for the double-platoon system. It makes work easier for them. They can even get better teams. But it isn't a good system—this thing of throwing 44 men on the field at once—22 on offense, 22 on defense.

Light Draft Selection Is Seen for Convention

By JOE REICHLER

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Weather mild ... talk windy ... draft selections slim ... trades brisk.

That was the forecast for the business at the 52nd annual baseball convention of the minor leagues that got under way here today.

One of the lightest draft selection in years was expected today as the major leagues prepared to pick out the nuggets in the list of 4,140 eligible minor league players.

It was one observer's guess that no more than 10 players would be picked.

Baltimore, which inherited the last-place St. Louis Browns, had first pick. Who the Orioles would choose was a mystery but Art Ehlers, the club's general manager, indicated he would be either a 3rd baseman, an outfielder or a pitcher.

Third baseman could be Forrest Jacobs of St. Paul or Jim Finegan of Kansas City. Jacobs batted .283 at Fort Worth but played 2nd base. Finegan, who spent the 1953 season at Binghamton, is a Yankee farmhand, who is considered a strong hitter. Royce Lint, who won 22 and lost 10 at Portland, may be the pitcher.

Although the majors' annual winter session doen't start until Wednesday, Dec. 7 in New York, many of the bigwigs were gathered here. Horace Stoneham, president of the New York Giants, hinted strongly he would part with Bobby Thomson, star centerfielder, for a 1st-string pitcher.

Milwaukee Braves reportedly have been dangling one of their fine pitchers as trade bait for Thomson. Giants prefer Bob Cuhl. Chicago Cubs are supposed to have offered Bob Rush or Warren Hacker, righthanded pitchers, for the hero of the Giants' 1951 pennant-clincher.

Manager Casey Stengel, the first of the big league managers to come to Atlanta for the meetings, was pessimistic about closing any deals for his Yankees.

"Nobody wants to trade with us," he moaned. "They're afraid if they do the league will blow up. I guess they want to penalize you for being successful."

Stengel was in an angry mood because of what he termed an "anti-Yankee" feeling around the American League.

Real business of the convention does not begin until Thursday at a closed session when 30 proposed amendments to the major-minor and minor league codes will be discussed.

Unrestricted draft, drafting of first year players, and television will be discussed, the minors' player draft will take place tomorrow and Wednesday. Also on Wednesday Commissioner Ford Frick will meet with player representatives of the 16 major league clubs to discuss the pension fund and reform demands made during the all-star meetings last summer.

Four Midwesterns Named to All-America by INS

NEW YORK (INS) — Youth, versatility and a midwestern background are prime characteristics of the 1953 International News Service All-America football team.

With the return of the one-platoon system, the INS "dream" eleven is composed of both-way stars who combine high-octane offensive skills with rugged, ground-grudging defensive habits.

Ten seniors and one junior, University of California center Matt Hazeltine, are included, and only two are as old as 22.

And although Pennsylvania, with three, is the most prominent home state, Midwestern colleges are dominant with four representatives — two from mighty Notre Dame and two more from the Big Ten.

FIRST TEAM — Ends: Joe Collier (NW) and Carlton Massey (Tex); tackles: Stan Jones (Md.) and Arthur Hunter (ND); guards: Bob Fleck (Syracuse) and J. D. Roberts, (Okla); center: Matt Hazeltine (Calif); backs: Bernie Faloney (Md.); Paul Giel (Minn.); Johnny Lattner (ND) and Paul Cameron (UCLA).

SECOND TEAM.—Ends: Morley (Stan.) and Dietrick (Pitt.); tackles: Bosley (W. Va.) Shanafelt (Penn) and Goss (SMU); guards: Mims (Miss.); Timberlake (USC); centers: White (NM) and Norris (G. Tech.); backs: Garrett (Stan); Caroline (Ill.); Hanulak (Md); Grigg (Okla.); Ameche (Wis.) and Johnson (Rice.).

Dutch Harrison's 274 Wins Columbia Open

COLUMBIA, S. C. (UP)—E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Ardmore, Okla., pocketed $2,000 today for winning the Columbia Open Golf tourney.

Two Michigan swingers, Wally Burkemo of Franklin and Bob Gajda of Detroit, each collected $240 for finishing in a three-way tie (283) for 12th with Dick Knight of Omaha, Neb.

Harrison wrapped up the tournament with a four-under-par 68 to post a 72-hole total of 274. That was four strokes under the 278 turned in by runner-up Ed Furgol of St. Louis, Mo., who picked up a check for $1,400.

Americans Start Plans for '56 Olympic Games

But Pan-Am Contests at Mexico City Come 1st in 1955

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States gets started today on its plans for the 1956 Olympics with the accent on the Pan-American Games to be held at Mexico City in 1955.

Sir Percy C. Spender, ambassador from Australia, has arranged to tell the U. S. Olympic committee at its quadrennial dinner tonight just how far his country has progressed with arrangements for the 1956 Olympics.

And Don Manuel De Tello, ambassador from Mexico, will report on the progress of work setting up the Pan-American games.

Olympics people took over in Washington's sports spotlight after the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) wound up its 65th annual meeting. Scores of new AAU records were written into the books, a series of legislative proposals was adopted and new officers were elected.

Most significant change in AAU rules was a provision permitting certain professionals to regain amateur status. Designed mostly to accommodate those who want to take part in industrial athletics programs, it allows any professional to apply for reinstatement of amateur status — that is, eligible to take part in amateur competition — after five years from the date of his retirement as a professional.

Any professional so reinstated will not, however, be permitted to take part in an amateur event in which he had worked as a professional.

A reinstated athlete will not be eligible for the Olympics or any district or national amateur championship.

Most noteworthy new record adopted was the 4:02.4 mile turned in last June 5 by Wes Santee, University of Kansas.

That feat was recognized as the fastest mile ever run by an American.

Rice Will Meet 'Bama Without Scouting Report

SW Conference Champs Didn't Get Chance to Watch Tide

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Coach Jess Neely of Rice was still a trifle nettled today because he wasn't given an opportunity to scout Alabama, the team his Owls meet in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1, but he wasn't worrying too much about it.

"We'll get something on 'em," he said. "We might even look them over in practice. I don't think they'd mind."

Neely is a pretty well known person at Tuscaloosa anyway. He once was an assistant coach of Alabama and as such started a perfect bowl record. No team Neely ever coached has failed to win in a bowl.

"Soft-pedal that though," he warned. "I'm quite sure Alabama is going to be ready to ruin that record up at Dallas New Year's Day."

Neely became irritated Saturday while his Rice team was blasting Baylor 41-19 to win its way into the Cotton Bowl when he kept hearing reports from the radio at Birmingham, Ala., that the winner of the Alabama-Auburn game would come to the Cotton Bowl.

"I wasn't informed of anything like that by the Cotton Bowl," he said. "If I had known I could have had a scout over there."

Rice hasn't decided yet what its training schedule will be, Neely said. This would be done at a meeting of the coaching staff today. Rice will go to Dallas 48 hours before the game.

CASE — About Body English

Nuisance When Overdone — You can't take body English out of the game; the high spirited part of bowling that makes it worth while and puts "kick" into it.

With few exceptions the big stars use it. Spectators love it — when it isn't carried too far. Yell and jump about all you want, but confine it to the width of your own alley. Don't go beyond that — out of bounds — or you're a nuisance.

It's the surest way I know of losing friends and dropping out of bowling. A former topflighter in our city is on the sidelines now because he persisted on zigzagging instead of coming straight back from the line, and insisted he had a right to do it. From where he looks at it, he can plainly see how wrong he was.

Rally Too Late to Avert Defeat

Rams Bow to St. Rose in Season's Opening Cage Tilt, 51-45

A last-quarter rally by St. Frederick fell short Sunday night, as the Rams dropped their opening basketball game to Detroit St. Rose, 51-45.

Trailing 25-14 at halftime and 40-27 at the third period mark, Freds broke loose with an 18-point spree in the finale to cut the final margin to six points.

Forward Roger Nosek, captain of the St. Frederick squad, took game scoring honors with 22 points. Jack Walsh and Terry Brosman sparked the winners with 13 and 11 points, respectively.

Rams open Suburban Catholic League play a week from today at Royal Oak St. Mary.

Wings Regain 1st Place in Hockey League

Detroit Routs Hawks in Weekend Series, 9-0 and 9-4

CHICAGO (UP) — Detroit Red Wings exploded for a total of 18 goals in sweeping a weekend home-and-home series with the Chicago Black Hawks to surge into 1st place in the National Hockey League.

The defending NHL champs blanked the Hawks at Olympia 9-0 Saturday night and continued the slaughter Sunday night with a 9-4 rout on Chicago ice.

The twin triumphs put Detroit a half-game ahead of the Montreal Canadiens, who dropped a 2-1 Sunday night decision at New York.

The 18 goals made the Wings the top producers in the league with 67. All came at the expense of Jack Gelineau.

Flashing a crisp, fast-breaking offense, Detroit blinked the red light five times in the 1st period here. Three of the goals came within a minute and 15 seconds.

At 2:06, Marty Pavelich scored Detroit's first marker. Gordie Howe began the big burst at 13:12. Red Kelly beat Gelineau at 14:23 and Earl Reibel scored unassisted four seconds later. Johnny Wilson got the 5th 1st period goal.

Reibel and Metro Prystai got Detroit's 2nd-period markers while George Gee connected for the 1st Chicago goal.

Wilson and Vic Stasiuk chipped in with goals in the 3rd period to complete the Detroit scoring. Gee, Lou Jankowski and Bill Gadsby scored during a hopeless Chicago spurt in the 3rd period while the Wings relaxed.

Howe and Kelly both scored two goals in the Saturday night game.

Monthly Report Shows 95.4 Per Cent Paid; Ten Building Permits Issued

ROCHESTER — A treasurer's report last week to the Village Council revealed that 95.4 per cent of the village taxes have been collected.

Fire loss in Rochester and Avon Township for the month was estimated at $4,210.

Water Department work included laying 500 feet of 12-inch pipe and construction of footings and floor for the new water works building here. Also included was 525 feet of 12-inch sewer pipe around the new A&P market on North Main street.

Valley UF Fund Misses Goal

Huron Area Falls $4,553 Short of $13,601 Fixed Goal

MILFORD — The United Fund campaign in the Huron Valley fell $4,553 short of its $13,601 goal, officials reported last week.

Only a few kits still remained outstanding at a meeting last week and the budget commitee decided there was no prospect of meeting the goal.

It was tentatively decided to allot a general 10 per cent increase over the allotments of last year to designated UF groups.

Actual amount of the payments will be determined when the final audit of 1953 campaign donations has been made.

Officials were cheered by the report that General Motors Proving Ground total collection was $1,704, an increase of $471 over the previous week's figures.

State Has Best Bean Grower

15-Year-Old Girl Wins at Livestock Exhibition in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — The champion navy bean grower of North America is a 15-year-old Michigan girl, but the Wolverine state no longer has the continental wheat championship.

Carol Ann Ferden, of Chesaning, won the grand championship for field navy beans in the grain division of the International Livestock Exhibition here Sunday.

And while Spencer Dunham of Caro, Mich., lost his wheat championship to a Canadian, Foster Hickey of Fairgrove, Mich., grabbed the reserve wheat championship. (A reserve championship is equivalent of second place.)

Michigan farmers have won wheat championships two of the six times United States farmers have topped the 31-year-old grain exhibition. A Michigan farmer won in 1951 and Dunham last year.

Miss Ferden, a 4-H club member, won her bean championship with a "Michelite" variety. She beat 10 adults in the competition.

Miss Ferden said her winning sample came from a one-acre patch she planted on her father's 200 acre farm.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee D. Ferden.

Michigan State College placed ninth in livestock judging competition.

George Reed, 24, of Lansing, a Michigan State College student took second place in the individual swine judging contest.

The contests are based on expertness in judging livestock.

Tugboat Makes Freedom Dash Minus Its Crew

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The 45-foot tugboat Pabco made a wild dash for the Golden Gate and the open sea yesterday—leaving its startled crew behind.

Tug operator Carl Holmes and his engineer had left the boat and were aboard a barge it had been towing. The barge was tied up to pier 37 and the Pabco was tied to the barge.

Then the adventuresome, 16-ton tugboat slipped its mooring line and, its rudder hard over, headed toward the Golden Gate. Holmes notified the Coast Guard and the cutter Calumet took off in hot pursuit.

Coast Guardsman Billy Thomas of Stockton, Calif., leaped from the cutter's deck to the tug and switched off its engine.

Unwelcome Gifts Sent by Santa — Collect

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A mischievous Santa Claus has been sending Christmas gifts to Mrs. John G. Henry, but it's made her mad.

A wedding cake came first. Then maternal clothing arrived, followed by jewelry and still more clothes.

"Gifts are always nice," said the flustered Mrs. Henry, "but everything so far has come collect."

She called in private detectives yesterday.

Sees Possibility of Depression

UM Economist Warns Ignorance Could Cause U. S. Disaster

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—A University of Michigan economist said today a "major economic disaster for the United States within the next few years" is not impossible.

Prof. Kenneth E. Boulding claimed in a Harvard University Review of Economics article that the American economy is "so precarious" that a single mis-step by the government could send it in a "tailspin."

Commenting on an essay by Dr. Gerhard Colm who set forth an economic policy that he claimed would bring full employment by 1960, Prof. Boulding said.

"It would be a singular irony of history if at the very moment when the understanding of the capitalist system has advanced to the point where it could quite easily be established on a virtually permanent basis, the ignorance of its supposed friends should destroy it.

"It is the question whether those who are now responsible for the conduct of the national government have sufficient awareness and understanding of the nature of the problem of the prevention of depression to take measures which are in the right direction if depression should begin.

"It is not unfair to say that most congressmen do not understand even the simplest economic models and that under these circumstances it is not impossible to vivualize a major economic disaster for the United States within the next few years—an incipient depression, starting perhaps in automobiles and construction as in 1929, being followed by economy drives, attempts to balance the budget through increased tax rates and so on."

Abbot-Costello Team Replaced by Newcomers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Two young actors, one a night club comic and the other a specialist in film villians, are now filling the celebrated shoes of Abbott and Costello.

The lucky players are Buddy Hackett, 29-year-old graduate of the Borscht circuit, and Hugh O'Brian, 28, an actor who is known as the eager beaver of the Universal-International lot. He is so anxious for film roles that he even allowed his head to be shaved for a part as a treacherous Indian chief.

The pair fell into their good fortune as the result of some bad luck for the veteran comics, Abbott and Costello.

A couple of weeks ago, Lous Costello was about to board a plane for a dinner for Senator McCarthy in Arizona. The rotund comedian collapsed.

The strain of doing movies, live and filmed TV, benefits and other appearances finally struck Lou, who only a few years back was in bed for a year with rheumatic fever. Doctors now say his heart will not allow any activity for three to six months.

This threw U-I in a tizzy. The studio was all set to start "Fireman Save My Child."

Location scenes had already been shot in San Francisco, and Spike Jones and his music-wrecking band had been signed. At first the picture was indefinitely postponed.

Then studio officials mulled doing the film with another team. O'Brian and Hackett were tested. Director Charles Barton, an A. and C. veteran, had been released for a Judy Canova film. Leslie Goodwins, a graduate of Mack Sennett comedies, was hired, and the new team was given the go-ahead signal by producer Howard Christie.

"I'm still catching my breath," said handsome Hugh, from Rochester, N.Y. "I tested only a week before the picture started. I wasn't told to report for work until the morning the picture started.

"Of all the actors I can think of to fill a Bud Abbott role, I am the least logical. I've spent most of my career playing romantic roles or villains."

I asked Hackett how he felt to be filling Lou Costello's shoes.

"I'll tell you a story," said the roly-poly funnyman, who speaks in the unmistakable tones of his native Brooklyn. "When I started out as a comedian six years ago, the first review I ever got compared me to Lou Costello. Ever since then, I have worked hard to avoid being similar to him.

"A year ago, I was called to do a test at this studio. I came in a tuxedo, but I didn't have any patent leather slippers to go with it. They sent me over to wardrobe. The only shoes in the place that would fit me were those used by Lou Costello!

"In this picture, I'm trying to establish my own characterization. I'm not doing an imitation of Lou."

O'Brian agreed that they should avoid comparison to the older team.

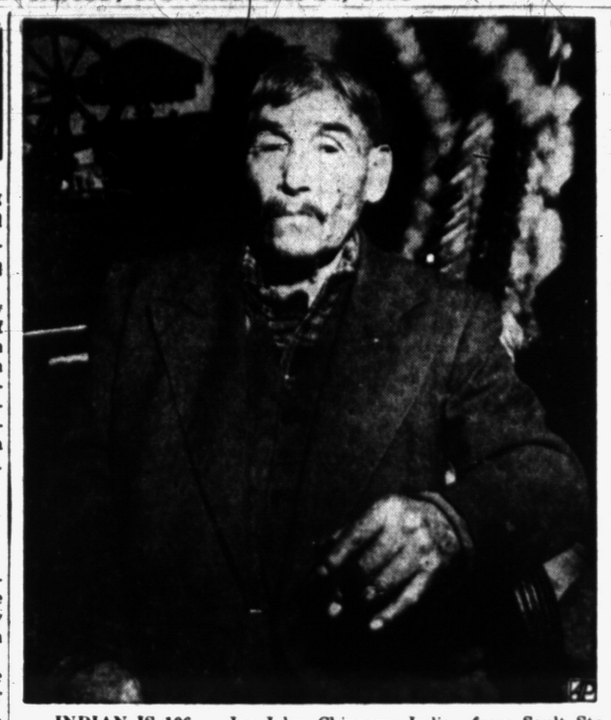
"We haven't had time to rework the script," he explained. "But we are changing things as we go along. For instance, at the start of the picture is a typical Abbott and Costello routine, in which Bud swindles Lou in a horse deal.

"We do the same routine, but at the end I say I don't have the heart to take his money. I give it back to him."

This isn't the first time that players have received breaks due to a star's misfortune. Bette Davis got one of the prize roles of her career when Claudette Colbert had to bow out of "All About Eve" because of an ailing back.

Judy Garland's nervous strain caused her to vacate "Annie Get Your Gun" for Betty Hutton.

Fred Astaire came out of retirement gracefully to replace Gene Kelly, who broke an ankle before starting "Easter Parade."



INDIAN IS 106 — Joe John, Chippewa Indian from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., claims to be 106 years old. He figures his age by the age of his sister, Ko-che-wan (Ripple on Water in Part of Rapids), who died three years ago in the Upper Peninsula community of Bay Mills. Catholic Mission records show she was 105 years old. "She was two years older than I," John told an interpreter. The Indian is unable to speak English. He recently made tape recordings of Indian lore in the Chippewa Historical Museum.

Harold Ickes Diary Tells of Sharp Rift With F.D.R.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold L. Ickes, who seemed never to hold his tongue for any man while he lived, has come up with some tart opinions of the New Deal and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The "Old Curmudgeon" found the New Deal, of which he was a moving spirit, spendthrift with the taxpayers' money and headed by a man he felt he couldn't trust.

Roosevelt's secretary of the interior wrote in 1936 that he had been "sold down the river" by the President.

* * *

Ickes regretted, in fact, that he hadn't walked out of Roosevelt's Cabinet a year before.

He felt there was a "very real chance" he could have been nominated by the Republicans to run against Roosevelt. And he thought that, if nominated, he probably would have won.

* * *

These opinions — sharply challenged by onetime Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley, among others—came to light in "The Secret Diary of Harold L. Ickes," of which a first, 705-page installment will be published tomorrow.

* * *

Ickes reveals that, for all his misgivings about Roosevelt, the President's wife and chief aides, and in spite of his own secret presidential hopes, he stayed on as a New Deal stalwart because he feared the Republicans would deliver the country to big business if they got the chance.

Ickes died early last year and the six-million-word diary he kept under lock and key is only now being released piecemeal by his widow—censored, at that, to spare the feelings of the living from some of Ickes' more sulphurous comments.

* * *

This day-by-day record pictures the first four years of the New Deal as dominated to a large extent by struggles for power among such officials as the late Harry L. Hopkins and the then secretary of the Treasury, Henry Morgenthau Jr., and, swinging lustily in the midst of all this, Ickes himself.

One surprise: Ickes says then Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace Jr., later much criticized for overfriendliness toward Russia, strongly opposed United States recognition of the Soviet Union early in the first Roosevelt administration.

It was after Roosevelt did not back him in an expansion of the Interior Department, to take in all conservation activities, that Ickes lamented he had been "double-crossed."

He quoted Rep. Dempsey (D-NM) as saying it would have been hard to impeach the late Sen. Huey Long (D-La) for calling the President a liar since Long might well have proved it. And he goes on:

"It is pretty tough when things like this can be said about the President of the United States and when members of his own official family and his own party in Congress feel that he cannot be relied upon."

Man Dazed in Hot Bath, Dies on Way to Hospital

CLEVELAND (AP)—Frank Zonar, 78, died last night after a scalding bath at Warrensville workhouse.

Sgt. John Leitch said Zonar was placed in a bathtub by a male nurse, who returned about 45 minutes later to find the hot water running. Zonar was dazed but still conscious. The submerged part of his body was reddened by the hot water. Leitch said he was dead on arrival at city hospital.

Zonar had completed a three-month term for vagrancy April 6 but was allowed to stay on because he had no other place to go.

Polygamy Case in Court Today

27 Short Creek Men Will Be Arraigned in Arizona

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP)—Arizona's case against the Short Creek polygamists comes up for its first big test here today.

Twenty-seven of the 96 defendants will appear in Mohave County Superior Court for arraignment.

How they plead is expected to reflect the strength of the evidence against them. And it also may determine whether the charges will have to be fought to a final conclusion in the courts.

* * *

The 27 are all men. The state contends they are the guiding force in the polygamous movement that has dominated the remote community of Short Creek, astride the Arizona-Utah border, for more than 20 years.

If they plead guilty, cases against the other 69 defendants—7 men and 62 women—may be settled quickly. All have the same attorneys.

If they plead innocent, a long court fight is anticipated.

Two previous attempts to crush the polygamists, in 1936 and 1944, failed. Some of the cases were carried to the U. S. Supreme Court.

* * *

All of the accused are charged with conspiracy to commit the crimes of adultery, statutory rape, bigamy, open and notorious cohabitation, contributing to the delinquency of minors and marrying the spouse of another.

Arizona authorities maintain some of the men had as many as six wives.

The defendants were arrested in a predawn raid by a giant police force last July 26. Complaints had been prepared in advance, based on information obtained in a secret 26-month investigation.

The Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) Church long ago excommunicated the Short Creek "fundamentalists."

Red Tape Finally Yields

Battlefield Orphan Finds Home With Texas Family

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

NEW YORK (INS)—A troopship from the Far East docked at Seattle the other day—and on it was a story not of war and killing but of humanity and love.

It's about an American family in Texas and a Korean boy, aged 7, whose name is Kim Song Ho. Or was Kim Song Ho.

The story started on a Korean battlefield three years ago where a four-year-old was found shivering and terrified beside a bonfire. Both his parents had died from an exploding bomb, and Kim had watched them die.

He was taken to the nearest U. S. Army camp and given care and shelter. He stayed on month after month, gradually dropping most of his native language and picking up "some GI English."

And then along came some new troops, including Sgt. Clyde L. Crawford. He was from San Antonio, Texas, and had children of his own back home—Linda Marie, 3, Bobby Dale, 10, and Lanna Lee, 13.

He took to Kim right away and vice versa an,d the days and weeks passed. Then back home in Texas, Mrs. Crawford received a letter that "quite shocked her at first." What about getting Kim to the U. S., her husband wrote, and adopting him as their second son?

It was a very large and complicated concept, and Mrs. Crawford began to think large new thoughts.

"After talking it over with our own children, and finding them very enthusiastic about it, we all decided we were 100 percent fo r it."

The news went to Clyde Crawford in Korea. And to Kim. But when Sgt. Crawford was to return home, the Korean immigration quota for the year was exhausted, and he had to sail alone and leave Kim behind.

But people who make such decision — thank heaven that this should be so—are not permanently stymied by delays and technicalities. Sgt. Crawford appealed for help to his friend, Sgt. Earl G. Tillison, of Liversmore, Iowa, and had him appointed Kim's legal guardian, with full power of attorney for things like visas and travel papers.

When the rotation system finally got around to Sgt. Tillison this fall, he took Kim aboard that troopship with him.

And so at last Kim arrived in the U. S. and went straight on to San Antonio to meet the rest of his family-to-be. Perhaps things were a bit strained for a minute all round.

But then Bobby Dale suddenly handed over his own set of six guns, Kim went for them like mad and his new American boyhood had begun.

Though immigration officials say a two-year period must elapse before Kim can apply for citizenship, he'll be allowed to enter public school at mid-term.

In the meantime Bobby Dale and the other kids in the neighborhood play Indains and robbers with him constantly and, at the advanced age of 7, young Kim Crawford is feeling again the security and love of parents and a family.

Surprise! Surprise!

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UP)—Joseph Karazewski has decided someone doesn't like him. In one night, he received unexpected visits from the police, the fire department, a physician and a taxi driver. Police said they had received an "unnecessary noise" complaint, but they found Karazewski and his wife at home sound asleep.

Youth Conservation Conference Planned

CHICAGO (UP) — A "Young Outdoor Americans" conference designed to stimulate interest in conservation work will be held here next spring.

The Izaak Walton League of America, celebrating the 300th year of the publication of Walton's "Complete Angler," will play host. Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Future Farmers of America, 4-H Clubs and Camp Fire Girls will have representatives from 48 states. Governors' committees will select the youths who attend on the basis of their interest in the subject.

The league's executive director, ttttttttt V¾Ro¾hes ETAOIN ETA William Voigt Jr., says, "Ideas developed at the conference, March 10, 11 and 12, 1954, will be filtered back to state conservation groups for study and application."

Only two states still deny housewives the right to buy colored margarine—Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Grains Showing Small Change

CHICAGO (AP)—An active trade failed to produce much price change in grains on the Board of Trade today.

The market had no definite trend. Soybeans acted a little firmer than the rest of the list, largely on the strength shown in recent weeks by soybean meal, and, to a lesser extent, soybean oil. Oats had the weakest tone as more Canadian oats were reported en route to Chicago.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ½ cent lower to ⅛ higher, December $1.99¼, corn 1½ lower to ¼ higher, December 1.56⅝, oats ⅛-½ lower, December 76⅛, soybeans unchanged to 1 cent higher, January 3.09 and lard 5 to 25 cents a hundred pounds lower, December 15.35.

Ireland and U. S. Linked by Trade

American Investments Aid Ulsterites; Imports Important to Them

BELFAST — Northern Ireland's long and intimate association with the U.S., the important and long standing trade links between the two countries, are facts that are not always recognized in the U.S., even by the 370,000 or so Americans who were born in Ulster.

At the opening of the Northern Ireland Parliament this month, the Queen's speech, read by the governor, Lord Wakehurst, called attention to Ulster-American trade and industrial contacts.

Touching on their industrial program, it pointed out that since 1945 employment has been found for an additional 24,000 workers in Northern Ireland, and this figure will shortly rise to 44,000.

This is largely due to the increase in foreign capital investment and the setting up of such new concerns as nylon stocking factories of Berkshire Knitting (Ulster) Ltd.—an off-shoot of the Berkshire Knitting Mills of Reading, Pa.

The speech also stated, "The vitality of Northern Ireland's economy rests on the capacity of its industries to export."

It reviewed the act recently passed which provided for government grants for approved industrial re-equipment schemes, and which is specifically designed to strengthen "the competitive power of manufacturers in all markets."

This measure has been of special benefit to the linen industry, whose largest overseas market is the U.S. In 1952, Northern Ireland linen goods exported to the U.S. amounted in value to nearly $17 million.

Up until 1776 over a fifth of the entire population of the American colonies were of Northern Irish descent. The last census showed that 375,440 Americans were born in Ulster.

Most of them are concentrated in Pennsylvania, Illinois, Detroit and Los Angeles—with 50,000 of them in Greater New York.

Motors Making Mart Advance

NEW YORK (UP) — Prices were higher today in a fairly active Stock Market.

Gains went to around a point at the best levels. Losses were not very frequent but extended into the major fractions.

Chrysler, a feature last week with a gain on Friday of 1⅞, opened today on a block of 2,000 shares up a point.

Other motors were mostly higher. Among major divisions of the market getting ahead were steels, distillers, coppers, chemicals, air lines, motion pictures, and railroads.

The aircrafts were mixed as were the oils. Utilities were quietly steady. No major division was depressed.

General Electric was off ¾ on an opening block of 1,000 shares, and a few other outstanding issues like Standard Oil (NJ) and American Tobacco were off somewhat.

However, most were higher including Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Schenley Distilleries, Anaconda Copper, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Pan American World Airways, and Paramount Pictures.

The market was strong on Friday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks with a gain of $1 made the best showing of the month.

Banker Stresses Salesmanship

Investment Association President Says Group Working on Taxation

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UP) — Salesmanship will be the biggest challenge to American industry in 1954, Ewing T. Boles, president of the Investment Bankers Assn. declared today at the 42nd annual meeting of the organization.

If the high level of booming 1953 is to be maintained, he said, all industry will have to launch and sustain a selling campaign exceeding anything seen in years.

Boles called upon the securities dealers of the nation to get into the selling swim.

"It is not something we may not do," he said. "It is something we must do or our function in the economy will be absorbed by others."

With industry pouring out more and more goods and with some slackening of demand, the only way products can be profitably absorbed is to emphasize salesmanship, Boles asserted.

Membership of the organization has reached an all time high of nearly 800, Boles reported. He said the association would increasingly press for elimination of the capital gains tax and double taxation of dividends.

Yule Season Is Busy One for Cass City

CASS CITY — Nearly everybody in this little Tuscola County town of 1,759 people is working to make Christmas an outstanding community event that will attract attention throughout the state.

Visitors who have admired the life-size nativity scene, animated reindeer, moving Santa Claus, fairy tales depicted in papier mache and other displays will again view 350 individually designed and erected figures in 40 different settings.

All local civic organizations, the majority of individuals in the community, council of churches and others are helping to produce a Christmas town that will feature nearly twice as many exhibits and decorations as in previous years.

The local chamber of commerce is coordinating community efforts.

4 Hurt in Crash Near Royal Oak

2 Cars Burn, 2 Others Damaged in Collision on John R Road

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — A four-car collision at John R Rd. and Whitcomb Ave. Saturday night demolished two cars and injured four people.

Brooks C. Rowland, 25, of Detroit is reported in fair condition in St. Joseph Hospital, Pontiac, suffering face lacerations and a possible fractured left pelvis.

Also hospitalized at St. Joseph is Rufus E. Hill, 26, of Detroit, a passenger in the car driven by Rowland, suffering possible head injuries and face lacerations.

Joseph R. Lile, 35, of 32365 Brush St. is hospitalized with a fractured right hip and face lacerations. Both Hill and Lile are in good condition.

In fair condition is Lile's wife Garnett, 30. She has several leg lacerations and possible fractured ribs.

According to township police, Rowland driving north on John R attempted to pass a car driven by Gilbert J. Sharp of Detroit, hit the car on the left side and went out of control.

Rowland's car then hit a southbound car driven by Lile, head-on. Lile's car was pushed into another driven by Clarence L. Waldon, 21, of 80 West Whitcomb.

Both the Rowland and Lile automobiles were destroyed by a fire which broke out when they hit. The other cars were also seriously damaged.

Freight Engine Derailed

MUSKEGON (UP) — A Grand Trunk freight engine was derailed Saturday night when it struck an auto carrier driven by Leo Gonyea, 52, of Center Line, at the Western and Ninth crossing. No one was injured.

Holly Band Group Slates Card Party

HOLLY—A card party is scheduled for 1 p.m. tomorrow in the American Legion Hall by the Holly Band Boosters Club as part of its year-long program.

Projects slated for the coming year include purchase of a drum major's uniform, raising money for a scholarship at Interlochen music camp and purchasing gloves and spats for band members.

Parents of band members and others interested in the band are eligible for club membership. A regular meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 9 in the band room.

Group Discusses Ways to Raise Produce Use

LUM — "What Can Farmers Do to Increase Consumption of Farm Produce?" was the discussion topic for Goodland Farm Bureau members here recently.

Hazel Park Mayor Post Still Up in Air

HAZEL PARK—Official government business is reported continuing as usual here despite the confusion over the vacant mayor's seat.

The city charter dictates that a new mayor must be installed by Sunday but five attempts to name one have failed. The Council will select the temporary mayor, but unless a special meeting is called for later this week, there will be none by the deadline. The next regular meeting is Monday, a day late.

Leading candidates for the seat vacated by the death of Mayor John R. Hall Nov. 6 are Councilmen Harold Young, who has been acting mayor since Hall's death, and Leonard Milligan.

Lenore Armour, director of finance, indicated today that some decision on the matter will be reached by Thursday.

Rounding out the four-man Council are Oscar Beamer and Joseph Vrabel.

Addresses Lum Group

LUM — Arcadia Township Supervisor Clare Barrett chose "Methods of Selling Farm Products" as his speech topic when he addressed Arcadia Farm Bureau members here recently. The meeting was held at the Lyle Russell home.

Agriculture Course Back in Curriculum

HOLLY—The curriculum in the Holly area schools is to be supplemented with an agriculture course. The action was taken at the last meeting of the Board of Education.

For many years such a course was in effect here under the Smith-Hughes plan, receiving state and federal aid. It was discontinued a few years ago, and the recent action was taken in response to numerous requests.

About 40 high school students will enroll for the course as soon as it can be started.

Hal Boyle Says:

Christmas Season Hectic but Generally Enjoyable

HOMETOWN, U.S.A. (AP) — "Bears are smarter than people," said Wilbur Peeble, America's typical tired businessman.

His wife, Trellis Mae, went on working her crossword puzzle.

Wilbur cleared his throat noisily. Trellis Mae stifled a yawn, wrote in a word in the puzzle, placidly shook her head, then erased it. Wilbur opened his mouth and began to shout, "bears are—"

"You'd say bears were smarter than people because bears hibernate in December — and people don't."

"Oh, you're sadistic!"

"I beg your pardon."

"I said you're sadistic. I know why you think people ought to hibernate in December."

"Oh, you do do you? All right, go ahead, Miss Mind Reader."

"Well, you were going to say you think people ought to hibernate in December like bears because December is no longer a month but a 31-day bike race."

"You were going to say that you love Santa Claus as much as any man, and maybe even better than his mother did, but, after all, Christmas is getting to be a racket.

"You were going to say that a man can't get any peace between Thanksgiving Day and the first of January, and that it is a dead-end time in which everybody tries to make up in 31 days for the heel they've been all year long."

"How did you —" Wilbur started to say, but Trellis Mae continued.

"You were going to say that your face gets tired this time of year smiling at the boss and waiting for him to tell you how small the Christmas bonus will be.

"You were going to say that this year we might as well skip the office party, but that if we do go, still don't worry, as you certainly don't intend to make as big a fool of yourself as you did last year, and the year before, and the year before that.

"You were going to say that Christmas is no longer so much a test of character as it is a feat of endurance, and for heaven's sake, do we have to give presents to all my relatives every year of your life, and before we even get into that argument, I will tell you the answer is yes.

"Yes?" Wilbur said.

He started reading the crossword puzzle. A few moments later Trellis Mae put down the puzzle and stared reflectively at her husband.

"Wilbur," she said.

"Uh huh."

If you never talk to me? I never if you never talk to me? I never know what's going on in your mind."

Wilbur put down his newspaper. He looked at Trellis Mae's sloping female skull with the hopeless envy of a midget gazing up at Mt. Everest.

"Women," he said, "are smarter than bears—or people."

O'Neill's Play Titles Tell Story of News

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—Titles of two of Eugene O'Neill's plays inspired a copyreader on the New London Day, where O'Neill once worked, in composing a headline for a story about a desolate piece of property on Cape Cod where O'Neill did much of his early writing. Provincetown, Mass., was about to foreclose on the property, owned by O'Neill, when a friend paid a back tax bill, halting the action.

This is how the Day headed the story:
