Government Cracks $1 Million Counterfeit Ring

From Our News Wires

CHICAGO—Recovery of more than one million dollars in $100 bogus bills and the seizure of 25 members of a nationwide counterfeiting ring was announced today by the U.S. Secret Service.

Paul J. Paterni, head of the Chicago Secret Service office, said the counterfeit notes were recovered in 22 states.

He said 25 persons have been arrested since November as agents worked quietly to stamp out the counterfeiting network.

Paterni said the operation was finished off Wednesday night with the arrest of two Chicago men he termed the ringleaders.

The gang passed about $25,000 of spurious bills successfully Paterni said, but added, "We have recovered all of the money passed through department stores and other merchants."

Much of the money was purchased by undercover agents in an effort to stem the flood without thwarting efforts to round up the gang.

Paterni said three agents purchased some $700,000 in counterfeit bills at a cost of $9 for $100 bogus. In the windup of the investigation, $726,000 in fake currency was seized by raiding agents.

The faked money began to appear in early November. The first break in the case came when undercover agents for the Treasury Department made a contact with Floyd Vincenti, 29, Calumet City, Ill., who showed them samples of counterfeit bills available in lots of $100,000. The agents opened negotiations with him.

While this was going on, some of the counterfeit money was passed in Dallas, Tex., and Dallas and Houston agents were alerted.

Their investigation led to the arrest Dec. 28 of two models who had started out in Calumet City and traveled across country. They were Vida Jane McMillon, 26, and Alva Jane Kirk, 20.

Agents said that when arrested they had 43 of the phony bills, and operated in fashionable department stores.

Both were convicted Feb. 16 at Houston, the McMillon girl getting 30 months imprisonment and the Kirk girl 20 months.

The agents then arranged for delivery of a total of $100,000 of the money from Vincenti, at a price of $9 per $100.

On Dec. 15, he delivered $20,000 worth to an agent in New York, and Dec. 18 another $80,000 worth.

Vincenti, who was free at the time on bond from a burglary charge in Springfield, Ill., was arrested in New York, and he pleaded guilty there March 2 to a charge of possessing a revolver, a state charge.

Meanwhile, the investigation had reached across the Canadian border, and last Dec. 27, Royal Canadian Mounted Police agents arrested Jack Edward Venus, 32, and James Zavine, 22, Windsor, Ont., at Hamilton, Ont. They were charged with possession of $6,800 in counterfeit money.

Khrushchev Willing to Delay Berlin Showdown

'Love Is Antidote to Poison of Hate'

By PROF. PITRIM SOROKIN
Head of Harvard University Research Center in Creative Altruism

I have lived through two of the harshest periods in history. One was the period before the Revolution in Russia; the other was the era after the Revolution, when men lived with hatred.

SOROKIN

Would it seem strange if I said that the thing I remember most about those days was love? But that would be the truth.

I was born in a little village in northern Russia at about the turn of the century. My father was an itinerant painter who gilded the icons in the simple Russian Orthodox churches of the area. His work required him to be away from home most of the time.

Mother was too frail for the rigors of the life we were forced to lead. One December morning she lay down and couldn't get up again; she died. I was four years old at that time. When Mother died, my peasant aunt came to me and said:

"Come. You can live in our home, if you like. You will be welcome."

SAVED FROM DEATH

Her scanty larder and her hearth were opened to me at a time when she did not have enough for herself.

It was miraculous what this woman could do with love alone. When I was 11 years old, I was caught miles from home in one of Russia's winter blizzards and by the time I reached my aunt's hut, pneumonia raged in me so fiercely I could not stand.

Pneumonia in those days was almost always fatal. And yet my aunt set to work to try to pull me through. She worked day and night, sitting beside my bed, praying and wiping the perspiration from my brow.

And I got well.

How had my aunt pulled me through? It was with love alone, for she had nothing else to work with.

Some time later I experienced the power of love in an even stranger place. I began to attend school in a nearby village. I walked to the school through the snow, my toes showing through the holes in my boots.

The teacher was a gaunt young man. I was a stranger to him, the son of a traveling painter who would disappear one morning as suddenly as he had come.

Begin Trek to New Life in Alaska

LAST GOODBYES BEFORE JOURNEY — This was the scene at Telegraph and W. Chicago outside Detroit this morning as the 59ers, about 70 men, women and children headed for a new life in Alaska. If today is any indication, the trip could be hectic. The caravan made an erroneous turn off the Detroit-Toledo Expressway and ended up at Bolles Harbor south of Monroe, not on the original itinerary. See story on Page 51.

February Sales of New Pontiacs Up 51 Per Cent

Pontiac new car sales for the month of February were up 51.8 per cent over the same period last year, it was announced today by S. E. Knudsen, General Motors vice president and Pontiac Division general manager.

During February, Knudsen said, dealers sold 29,673 new Pontiacs, representing the highest February sales in three years.

Pontiac new car sales for February of 1958 totaled 19,551.

The popularity of Pontiac's 1959 models has witnessed a steady climb since their introduction last October, Knudsen said.

Bodies Are Clue to 'Lost Family'

Think 2 Found in Field Are Father, Girl Hunted for 7 Weeks

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP) — Authorities said today it was virtually certain the bodies of a man and a young girl found yesterday in a debris-strewn field were those of members of a family missing seven weeks.

Positive identification by facial characteristics was described as impossible. Officers said there was no indication how long the bodies had lain there.

Discovery of the bodies was thought to provide the first crack in the mysterious disappearance last Jan. 11 of Carroll V. Jackson Jr., 29, his 27-year-old wife, and their two daughters, aged 5 and 1½.

Capt. W. S. Blythe of State Police said both bodies were lying face down with the child's body beneath the man's. The man's hands had been tied behind him with a red necktie. The girl's hands had not been tied.

The bodies were believed those of Jackson and his youngest daughter. They were taken to a state medical laboratory in Richmond for examination.

Says He'll Wait Until July 27 If Talks Begin

Ike, Security Council Hold Special Session on German Issues

From Our News Wires

Soviet Premier Khrushchev said today in Leipzig, Germany, he is prepared to postpone the May 27 deadline on Berlin — provided fruitful East-West negotiations are under way then.

Khrushchev said the May 27 date might be postponed until June 27 "or maybe July 27. We are in no hurry."

He cited an old Russian saying: "Never count your chickens until autumn."

The Soviet Premier made his remarks in an impromptu speech at a luncheon given by the mayor of Leipzig.

In Washington today, President Eisenhower was discussing "the evolving situation in Berlin and the broader question of Germany" at a special meeting of the National Security Council.

UNUSUAL STEP

The White House took the unusual steps of announcing the subject discussed at the extraordinary council meeting. Such announcement rarely is made.

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, repeatedly declined, however, to provide any details regarding the discussion.

He dictated, this statement to newsmen:

"Following the regular National Security Council meeting this morning, the President called a special meeting of the council to consider the evolving situation in Berlin and the broader question of Germany, which the President and the council have been following closely."

The special meeting, which lasted about an hour and three-quarters, was held in Eisenhower's office.

It began immediately after con-

Judith Gall's Mother to Face Trial on 1st Degree Murder

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

A Commerce Township mother, who, her husband testified, had ordered their 12-year-old daughter to carry a stick "as a reminder to behave," will stand trial in the fatal beatings of the child.

West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle yesterday afternoon ordered Mrs. Anne D. Gall, 35, bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court on a warrant charging first-degree murder.

Mrs. Gall is scheduled to be arraigned at 1:30 Monday before Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

Her attorney, Raymond D. Munde of Pontiac, said he was still considering asking for a sanity test of the woman.

SILENT, MOTIONLESS

Mrs. Gall sat silently and almost motionless for nearly five hours Wednesday as her 37-year-old husband, John, and the dead girl's twin sister, Jo Anne, 12, told of the frequent beatings the mother gave the girl.

Judith Anne, 12, died Feb. 16 in the Galls' home, 3080 Royal St., on the north shore of Lower Straits Lake.

Dr. Richard E. Olsen, pathologist at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, testified yesterday that Judith died of pneumonia brought on by severe beatings to her chest.

"Her body contained scar upon scar," Dr. Olsen testified.

Assistant Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry Jr. introduced an array of five weapons which the prosecution contends the mother used to beat the child.

Gall, an unemployed construction worker, identified several pieces of wood which he said Judith "carried as a reminder to behave." She carried them, he said, at her mother's instructions.

One stick, an 18-inch cherry bough, was ordered by the mother cut from a backyard tree for the girl to carry, Gall said.

A much longer piece of black rubber hose from a laundry tub, with the coupling still attached, he admitted using on Judith Feb. 12 when she came to him saying that her mother had instructed him "to give her a whipping." "So I did," he said.

The slender 6-footer, a 6-year combat Navy veteran, also admitted slapping Judith's face the day before she died for talking back to her mother.

Gall was asked if he ever questioned his wife why she continually beat Judith Anne.

"She told me a lot of times if the child grew up to be a criminal the mother would be to blame," Gall testified.

But the beatings, which the other Gall children apparently were spared, finally got Gall down in 1954.

He said he beat his wife then for not heeding his warnings to stop beating the child. He said she then ordered him out of the house. He stayed away one week, coming back on instructions of his employer, he testified.

Gall said he never has sought a divorce from his wife because of religious instructions he received from a Navy chaplain. He said he

Pioneer Swings Far Past Moon

Britain Reports Strong Signals From Satellite 280,000 Miles Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pioneer IV swung along far past the moon toward a sweeping orbit around the sun today, busily sending back radio signals about radiation—or lack of it—out in space.

Even before the little gold-crusted space probe reappeared on the United States horizon, Britain's big radio telescope at Jodrell Bank located it early today more than 280,000 miles from the earth. Its signal, the station reported, was coming in with great strength.

That distance put the 13-pound cone far beyond the moon, which it passed at 5:24 p.m. Wednesday at a speed of 4,525 miles an hour.

Scientists expect to continue receiving Pioneer's signal throughout today and much of Friday until it is more than 400,000 miles away.

Its battery was designed to remain strong until Saturday, but by that time it may be too far away for its radio to be heard.

Officials were confident that ever thereafter Pioneer would sail on silently about the sun, traveling about 3,400 miles an hour faster than the earth.

Area to Escape Heavy Snow in State Tonight

The heavy snow warning for the north portion of lower Michigan this afternoon and tonight with snow accumulations up to four inches will miss the Pontiac area, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

In the Upper Peninsula heavy snows and easterly winds at 30-40 miles an hour will cause considerable blowing and drifting. Winds will diminish slowly Friday.

Cloudy with snow changing to rain late today and turning somewhat colder with snow flurries again is the forecast for the Pontiac area tonight.

Predicted low tonight is 28 degrees.

Outlook for tomorrow is mostly cloudy and colder with snow flurries ending and a high near 34. Saturday is expected to be a little warmer and mostly fair.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 26 degrees. The mercury rose to 38 at 2 p.m.

Kidnaped Tot Found Safe

FBI Traces Baby Sitter Who Took Sick Infant Five Days Ago

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP)—A kidnaped infant was found safe Wednesday night in the arms of a chunky, 37-year-old woman who admitted taking him from his crib while she was baby-sitting five days ago.

Betty Jean Yocom retreated to the bathroom of her darkened home 10 miles from Ontario when she heard FBI agents kicking in the door. Hugged to her bosom was 9-week-old Eric Leon Flores.

In a bedroom the agents found a brand new bassinet and bottle sterilizer and other indications that Mrs. Yocom had lavished a frustrated maternal love on another woman's child.

The baby, ill with a cold when he was taken from beside his sleeping twin brother last Friday, appeared to have been well cared for, the FBI said.

The baby was reunited with his mother, Ruth Flores, 35, widowed mother of six, at the Ontario police station.

Mrs. Flores and the friendly woman she had allowed to sit with her children, faced each other tearfully.

They had first met last Feb. 17 when Mrs. Yocom, calling herself Ann Williams and identifying herself as a social worker from a local church, called on Mrs. Flores to offer any help that might be needed. Mrs. Flores' husband, Joseph, was killed in a gas explosion last summer and the community of Ontario has con-

3 Die in Pennsy Hotel Fire

HAZELTON, Pa. (AP)—Screaming in terror, guests shinned down cables or climbed or were borne down fire ladders early today as flames raged up an elevator shaft of the five-story Gary Hotel.

Authorities said there were three known dead, two other persons unaccounted for, and two more critically hurt.

At least 24 persons were taken to hospitals for treatment of burns, cuts, smoke poisoning and shock. Eleven were kept on for observation and further care.

The register of the 100-room, 75-year-old hotel in the heart of Hazleton's business district showed a listing of 61 persons.

But many of these were reported to have been elsewhere when the fire broke out. Five of them, for example, were musicians of a jazz ensemble playing in a club across the street.

Two of the dead were removed soon after the fire broke out. A third body was found later.

WALL COLLAPSES

The entire front wall of the hotel collapsed into heaps of rubble. It was thought the two missing persons might be dead in this wreckage.

Victims fled from the flaming building, their night clothes ablaze. Others stood and sat dazed in the street as 100 firemen from four companies fought the raging fire for more than two hours.

Flames shot from the windows and burst through the roof of the brick building as firemen arrived. Residents stood at windows on the upper floors screaming for help.

The flames snapped electric wires which fell to the ground crackling and sparkling. Huge balls of flame and smoke shot upward illuminating this eastern Pennsylvania anthracite community for miles. Hazleton is located about 120 miles northeast of Philadelphia.

Clarence Krapf, 63, the room clerk, said the fire started at the bottom of the elevator shaft and mushroomed through the building. The elevator plunged to the pit.

The fifth floor wall of the hotel crashed to the street at the height of the blaze. Miraculously, firemen fighting the blaze and the large crowd of spectators watching the spectacular fire were not hurt.

The dead were identified as Miss Mary Mooney, about 60; Mrs. Howard Deitch, in her late 40s; and Emma Stilgebauer, about 65; all permanent residents of the hotel.

Prison School Fire Kills 21 Boys Near Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Twenty-one boys died in a raging fire that destroyed the main dormitory of the state training school for Negor boys at nearby Wrightsville early today. The figure may rise.

There were 68 inmates in the brick and frame structure. The survivors escaped by kicking out windows and screens.

Doors to the building were locked.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who went to the scene as soon as he heard of the fire, said the doors should not have been barred and there should have been an adult in the building.

Faubus said an investigation would be made.

Origin of the blaze that destroyed the dormitory within an hour could not be determined immediately. Faubus said he had been told there was an electrical storm at the time.

The dazed survivors, ranging in age from 14 to 17, wandered about the scene as firemen, sheriff's officers, and prisoners from a nearby penal farm fought the fire.

Fire Capt. Bill Deaton said he saw eight bodies in a pile. Nine other bodies had been taken from the charred remains of the 20-year-old building.

A vocational teacher, who normally slept in the building, was in the hospital at the time the fire broke out.

George Williamson, 16, a survivor, said: "I heard screaming and hollering. There was smoke all over. I couldn't see anything. I found a window and got out."

Faubus appeared grim as he surveyed the rubble.

"I inspected this school a year ago and found it safe," he said. "It's the first time anything like this has happened at such an institution in Arkansas."

Liver Bile, Berlin Crisis Don't Mix

Merits of TV News Hotly Debated

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—In a brisk discussion five panelists at the World Press Congress here batted around television's impact on the way news presentation is changing.

The debate was sparked by Miss Alicia Patterson, publisher of Newsday, Long Island, N.Y. She was introduced as the first woman ever to speak at the World Press Congress.

She said frankly she didn't like TV very much, even though it does a good job on things like a coronation or a revolution.

"These things don't happen every day," she said. "I'd hate to think we wouldn't get any news until there is a big blowup somewheres."

She also objected to having commercials interrupt a newscast on something like the Berlin crisis when the announcer breaks in to ask "And how is your liver bile today?"

"I personally don't want my liver bile mixed up with the Berlin crisis," she said.

Geoffrey Cox of Independent TV News, London, and Samuel Sharkey, National Broadcasting Co., New York, argued that TV news has a greater impact on views than any other medium can produce.

THEY DISAGREE

Sharkey said TV is "force feeding the American public with more national and international news than ever before."

Cox said one of its great strengths is that it brings home the true character of the people in the news so that the world's leaders are better known than ever.

But Wright Bryan, editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and Donald Edwards, news editor of the British Broadcasting Corp., London, disagreed with the TV men.

The time has not yet come, Edwards said, when television can do as good a job in real political education as newspaper writers can do and in the field of local news he called the TV presentation pathetic.

A 15-minute news telecast, he said, is not equal to an inch and a half of printed news presentation. In its impact too often, he said, viewers are distracted by the looks and personality of the broadcaster.

Bryan recalled that the same arguments were kicked around when radio was young, but eventually newspaper and radio men concluded that the two media complimented each other and radio had whetted the public's appetite for news.

He suggested the same thing is happening now. Like many other speakers during the congress, he said the job newspapers can do best is reporting in depth or background reporting.

The President, Vice President Nixon, Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter, Secretary of Defense McElroy, and Leon Hoegh, chief of the Office of Civilian and Defense Mobilization.

Khrushchev's statement that the Berlin showdown might be postponed confirmed an earlier remark by his deputy prime minister, Anastas I. Mikoyan, after his return from the United States, that the May 27 deadline was not final.

Khrushchev reiterated that his demand that the West get out of Berlin by May 27 was not an ultimatum.

"If we negotiate sensibly, then it will not be May 27 but perhaps June 27 or July 27," he said.

"We do not want to solve the Berlin problem in isolation," Khrushchev said. "Signing a peace treaty with the (East) German Democratic Republic would also solve the Berlin problem."

Mrs. Yocom, who is 5 feet 2 inches tall and weighs about 180 pounds, offered to take care of the Flores children. She telephoned the next day and repeated the offer. Last Friday she called at the house again and this time Mrs. Flores agreed to go out with a friend for a few hours, leaving Mrs. Yocom with the children, who range in age from 8 to the infant twins.

A widespread search was carried out for the baby and his kidnaper. Newspapers published the baby's formula and made front page appeals to the kidnaper to return him. Prayers were offered in churches. Mrs. Flores alternately prayed and wept.

In the end it was the baby himself who led to the capture of Mrs. Yocom. His loud wails made a neighbor suspicious. The FBI was notified.

Mrs. Yocom said she is separated from her third husband, a Los Angeles truck driver, Stephen Yocom. She said she is the mother of a 19-year-old son.

Asked why she took Eric, she said: "He looked so much like my own son when he was a baby."

She was booked for investigation of kidnaping.

Murder Trial Facing Judith Gall's Mother

felt "obligated as a husband" to stay with her.

"I still feel that way," he said wiping tears from his eyes.

Under cross-examination, Gall told how his wife had started a neighborhood club of 15 young girls whom she taught sewing and was about to teach cake decorating. Judith was in the group, too, he said.

"She's done a lot of good things for the kids," Gall said.

The trouble began, he said, eight years ago when John Jr. was born. The mother claimed she had caught Judith beating the baby over the head when he was only five months old.

"She (Judith) was extremely jealous of John. My wife would watch her all the time. When she would soil her pants she would punish Judith for it.

Gall said twice he never heard Judith complain once about the beatings.

Gall concluded his testimony by relating how his wife once hit him in the head with a cup because she believed he was "picking on" Judith for the way she had stacked the dinner dishes.

"Everytime I stuck my nose in she said I didn't know how to raise kids," the husband said.

Jo Anne, an "A" and "B" seventh grade student at St. William School in Walled Lake, told Justice Dieterle how her sister's body was bruised "just everywhere" from constant beatings by her mother.

The oldest of the now three Gall children was crying and dabbing her eyes when she told how she could hear Judith crying as saying her prayers before she fell asleep the night of her death.

Jo Anne appeared afraid at times to testify against her mother. She would glance briefly at her mother seated 20 feet away, then pause for seconds when questioned if previous statements about how many times her mother whipped Judith were not true.

"Yes, sir," she would answer looking away from her mother. Her mother never looked at her. Mrs. Gall's face was hidden throughout the day by a babushka.

In an apparent attempt to help her mother, Jo Anne would blurt out, "She wasn't trying to hurt her."

But later she added: "Judith got whipped an awful lot at home. I couldn't tell if there were any new bruises or not. There were so many already."

Jo Anne told how she could hear her mother beating her sister in a utility room sometimes "every day or every other day." She said Judith was often so weak that she fell frequently while walking and had to hang onto the hall walls to get to the bathroom.

Neither Gall nor Jo Anne spoke to Mrs. Gall during the course of yesterday's pre-trial examination. Nor did Mrs. Gall ever speak to anyone but her attorney.

Detective Marion Bauman, of the sheriff's department, testified that Mrs. Gall admitted to him "I killed her and it's my fault."

Munde failed in his attempts at the end of the testimony to have the charge against Mrs. Gall quashed. "You can't infer malicious intent to kill with a stick," he contended.

Finds Love Is Antidote to Lethal Poison of Hate

But the teacher looked at my torn shoes and without a word went to the closet and took out his second pair of boots.

"But you . . ." I said. "What will you wear?"

"Keep them," he said. "Why should I have two pairs when you have none?" Love, stronger than the cold of a Russian winter, is a force to reckon with.

HATRED ON LOOSE

And then the Revolution came, and a virile hatred was turned loose in Russia. One night a Communist order went out for my arrest and my head (with a price for it). I fled.

It was death for anyone who concealed me. Yet I was hidden and fed by several peasants who took this risk for me. I was a total stranger to them. Yet, time after time they took me in simply because I was cold and ragged, and because I asked it of them.

Shortly after the Revolution I was married, at a time when food was heartbreakingly scarce. Part of the time, my wife and I were allowed a daily ration of 1/16 pound of "bad bread" between us.

We were always hungry, and yet how closely I had to watch my wife! When time came each day to divide our morsel of bad bread, she would try to cut it unevenly, to slip me the larger piece. Unless you yourself have known hunger, you cannot imagine the enormity of this sacrifice.

FORCE FROM GOD

Why did my friends so often turn to love in the middle of their deepest troubles? I think each of them sensed the profound nature of love as a force that came from God; I think they sensed that when they brought love into their lives, they brought God in also.

Love acted as an antidote. Its force created little islands of health amid great sickness.

It is this that gives me hope for today. We live in another era of violence and hate, yet, because I have lived in a similar time, my hopes are high.

Some day—perhaps soon—mankind will learn what individuals have always known: that love is the only truly creative force in the world.

Willman to Take Stand Tonight

City Manager Walter K. Willman will testify tonight as the Civil Service Commission resumes its hearing of removal charges against suspended Police Chief Herbert W. Straley.

Straley was suspended Feb. 9 on charges of incompetency and inefficiency, insubordination, neglect of duty and failure to maintain good behavior.

The hearing will start at 7:30 p.m. in the City Commission Chambers.

SAFE DRIVING TIP

Regulate your driving speed according to road and weather conditions. Extra caution must be used when icy spots prevail.

Often, after a winter storm has passed or even in early spring, icy spots remain in sheltered places. The Chicago Motor Club warns that motorists should be prepared to encounter slippery sections of road under viaducts, on bridges, and in other shaded spots.

If you should skid on ice, don't slam on the brakes. Turn your front wheels in the direction your rear wheels are skidding. This will tend to keep the rear end of the car from whipping around as you ease the brakes on and off to stop.

C. of C. Committee to Boost Friday Evening Shopping

BIRMINGHAM — The Retail Merchants Committee of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce is working on plans to promote Friday evening shopping, according to Charles Mortensen, C. of C. manager.

Mortensen said an all-out effort would be made to attract evening shoppers to the city on Fridays. He added that the Oakland County Planning Commission recently reported that this county has become the second largest retailing center in the state.

A few years ago it rated fourth and the increase is attributed to promotional programs similar to the one local merchants are now planning.

Town Hall supporters from some 40 area communities heard Stewart Alsop, noted magazine and newspaper writer, speak at the Birmingham Theater this morning.

Alsop, final speaker of the current series, travels throughout the world talking to the men and women who are making history today.

Among his recent articles have been the story of Quemoy and its threat of global war, the political drama of California, and the New York gubernatorial contest.

He told his audience of his experiences and what he has learned of man's reactions to world affairs, and the hope and fears of the future.

Reds Sharply Protest Boarding of Trawler

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union today sharply protested the U.S. naval boarding of a Soviet trawler suspected of cutting a transatlantic cable off Newfoundland.

Moscow radio said a note handed to U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow described reports that the trawler Novorossisk had damaged the cables as "a complete invention."

The boarding took place off Newfoundland Feb. 26. The officer who headed the American search party, Lt. Donald Sheely of Falls Church, Va., said later that the fishing boat "probably quite likely" had something to do with the break in the cables but he didn't know whether accidentally or intentionally.

Fifth Time Paid Off

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI)—After four straight false burglar alarms had been set off by short circuits, police Lt. Clifford Yanz still checked when the alarm rang a fifth time. He caught two burglars hiding inside the Inland Steel Products Co.

He's Always on the Job

LINDEN, N. J. (UPI)—Benjamin W. Kahzler, an employe of the Esso Research and Engineering Co. here, recently celebrated 40 years' service with the company. During that time, he didn't miss a single day of work. He once did leave the job because of illness, but was back the next day.

Fidel Castro Didn't Win One Battle, Says Ousted Dictator Batista

By WARD CANNEL

CIUDAD TUJILLO (NEA) — There are only two people in the world who have not seen Fidel Castro. One is the former Cuban dictator, Fulgencia Batista. I am the other. And so it was only natural that the two of us should have afternoon coffee together in the Dominican Republic—the land of former dictators.

Besides, Batista threw me into one of his jails last year for some reason he did not care to explain, and ties like these are not easily broken.

"That man there," Gen. Batista said, "that Castro. He is a crazy man. He presents himself to the world as having won a revolution. But he did not win one battle. Not one battle."

It was heartwarming, reassuring, superior logic. And Batista, overwhelmed by the comfort of it all, sighed with fury.

"That man is," he said slowly, running a mental finger down the list of damnations, "—he is unconstitutional."

What could be worse?

Actually, though, Batista's life here has some advantages. To list a few: the constant solace of a large suite of rooms at the Jaragua Hotel; the constant companionship of his former prime minister, Gonzalo Guell; the constant view of vacationers in various postures of vacation.

Today, Batista is as much in jeopardy as ever—with the Trujillo press calling for his eviction — and still a prisoner of his own precautions. His security is splendid, but his retirement is untouchable.

He has all the golf courses money can buy. But a man—even a rich man—is a superb target on the fairway, and almost any place else for that matter.

It is a life without life. It is safety without liberty. It is abject luxury and the coldest dish of revenge in the larder. It has already taken its toll on Prime Minister Guell.

This tall, thin-nosed, crafty man is everything his chief is not — patrician with the heritage and heirlooms that make prestige and the money and relatives that give it life. But in dictatorships prestige and power are separate. Batista and Guell bought each other.

On New Year's Day, with Castro's victory complete, Guell was happy to have his life in Ciudad Trujillo in lieu of either power or prestige. Today he is not so sure it was a good bargain.

"I will say nothing. I have no plans," Guell said distantly, with the distraction of a man whose life is constantly passing before his eyes.

"I am here. My house? My heritage? I cannot afford to think about them. I have learned a great deal. But there is no use in talking about my lessons. It is better not to learn what I have learned."

It is not a plea. It is a resignation in precise, flawless English: "I will take whatever comes. I think I am ready."

Batista, however, is not ready to resign anything. Including the leadership of Cuba. It keeps slipping into his talk, which is not quite so flawless. He keeps confusing his tenses, using "I have" instead of "I had."

The confusion creeps into his daily activities, as well. He will issue a broadside, three-page statement to any reporter who wants one. Now and then he will even grant interviews or deny them, as befits a man in high office.

He is full of criticisms, charges, sarcasms for Castro's Cuba, and completely barren of any doubt or question of himself.

It is probably a consequence of his American schooling where perseverance and self-confidence are as virtuous as soap and deep breathing. Besides, philosophers are usually defeated men.

"It may look possible in Cuba today," he said. "But it cannot last. That man is doing nothing for the widows and orphans. I took care of them. He will not do it. You cannot govern my country without taking care of the widows and orphans."

BATISTA IN EXILE: "That man is unconstitutional."

Artificial Plastic Leg Made for Swimming

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — The Navy has developed an artificial plastic leg that can be worn while swimming.

The device, so far adaptable to below-the-knee amputations only, is waterproof, rustproof and made of plastic with a special titanium knee joint that turns easily on a nylon bearing. A hollow space in the calf section makes the leg lighter and more buoyant.

The leg was developed at the Navy Prosthetic Research Laboratory at the Oakland Naval Hospital.

Africans Demand End to White Man's Rule

"The world of 1959 is not by any means a 'white world' or a 'white man's world.' Today it is overwhelmingly a non-white world and a world in which the power and authority of white men, which knew little or no challenge even as recently as a generation ago, are rapidly declining."

In these words Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, U. S. Undersecretary for special political affairs, speaking in Birmingham, Ala. warned of the basic racial facts of the world today. Pointing out that two-thirds of the people of the world are non-white, he pleaded for much more understanding and equality of all peoples and an end to prejudice. Otherwise, he said, mankind will perish at its own hands from discontent, discord and desperation.

This has special meaning in the light of the march of African nations toward political freedom. Revolts against white rule are spreading rapidly even in those nations which are prosperous and have a large measure of political freedom. Most African leaders are Western educated and realize that in self-preservation they must keep economic ties with their former motherlands.

Speaking for African nations, GHANA'S Prime Minister NKRUMAH declares they do not want to be aligned with either the Western or Communist blocs; they want only independence and economic development. However, Moscow has been quick to take advantage of Africa's surge toward independence. Trade agreements with Guinea and shipping deals with Ghana have been negotiated and Communist agents are everywhere helping to "liberate" Africa.

There is growing evidence that some African leaders are getting respectful even sympathetic hearings from the colonial powers. A new sense of urgency to prevent further violence is speeding the change. This is no time to remind the emotion-charged African how much his progress is due to the skill of the white man.

Use of Radioisotopes Benefiting Humanity

A significant report comes from the Atomic Energy Committee regarding progress made in the use of radioisotopes.

In 1958, says the commission, a 37 per cent greater quantity over 1957 was shipped abroad. Domestic sales remained at $2.6 million and foreign shipments doubled in dollar value although greater volume permitted large price cuts. The AEC puts the total worth of radioisotopes to the United States at $500 million a year and increasing rapidly.

The first grant in a program to stimulate radioisotope use has just been made by the AEC. University of California was given $80,000 to help instruct industrial personnel in isotope principles and technology.

A radioisotope is described as a form of chemical element that has all the properties of the common variety except that internal instability causes it to "explode" periodically, emitting rays of energy. Dramatic use of this characteristic is being made by industry, medicine and agriculture.

In industry, for instance, isotopes are used to increase steel production and to determine the right proportion of rubber and fabric in tires to ensure maximum safety and durability. Doctors prescribe "atomic cocktails" in treatment of certain diseases and agriculture finds isotopes useful in elimination of pests.

It is pleasant to learn of the increasing beneficial uses of this product of the atomic furnace.

"THE whole universe is nothing more than the figment of man's imagination," says a metaphysicist. How silly! Anything so weak as man's imagination couldn't have produced so vast a figment.

Outdistances All Others as Oakland County Attorney

Love: Something like a mushroom: you can't tell if it's the real thing until it's too late.

Practicing law in Oakland County longer than any other living attorney, of 230 North Saginaw St., celebrates his 85th birthday tomorrow. He also has been a golfer for 45 years, and doesn't like these hard winters because they interfere with his game. He has played every month in some years.

J. A. Tillson

Enjoying good health, Jay doesn't give much of the credit to his experience as a pharmacist before he became a lawyer, but does give a lot of credit to a lawyer of another era. Several years ago he learned that had prescribed a panacea for all ills. It is to wash your feet in cold water every morning, and since Jay has followed that rule he hasn't even had a cold.

Our Verbal Orchids are restricted to 50th or more wedding anniversaries and 80th or more birthdays.

That very compact and interesting book,

"Franklin Yesteryears," written, put out and copyrighted by

is a very concise and highly readable history of our beautiful suburban community to the south. Its opening sentence reminds the rest of us of our neglect in our own areas: "It is regrettable that more stories and records of these early days were not preserved for future generations."

Another evidence of the recent big growth of Oakland County is found in the fact that its sales tax collections in 1946 were about six million dollars and six times that amount only 12 years later, in 1958.

A history of his old New England city, given me by

Some cities have rather unique attractions which they publicize as their biggest feature. That of Greensburg, Ind., is a tree growing out of the courthouse roof.

The leading restaurant in Oak Park, Ga., does what it asserts is a public service in erecting large billboards:

at convenient locations as the highways approach there.

The Big Cleanup

David Lawrence Says:

Ike's Berlin Calmness Right Tonic

WASHINGTON — Common sense is more important than the wiles of diplomacy, and that's why President Eisenhower's remarks deploring excessive talk about war and threats of war could have a sobering effect just now on international relations.

LAWRENCE

The President had ample opportunity at his press conference to be blustering and accusatory, but he dealt with Khrushchev's peculiar tactics in the Berlin crisis by using the mild words of restraint.

As Eisenhower sees it, the United States has certain responsibilities in maintaining, under treaty rights, the present status of Berlin. He welcomes negotiation and discussion by the four foreign ministers.

More and more it is becoming apparent that the Kremlin dictatorship would like to scare the West into some form of abject submission and that behind its every move is propaganda designed to assure the Soviet people that the Kremlin rulers are winning big victories.

To some extent Khrushchev has succeeded in scaring some members of Congress, as they are already calling for partial or total mobilization in this country.

To yield to this sentiment would be a mistake, Eisenhower thinks, because there is no telling how long such an uncomfortable posture would have to be maintained.

In all likelihood the Kremlin would be glad to inflict a costly and prolonged inconvenience of this kind on the American people.

Modern war doesn't require any large-scale mobilization if it's to be nuclear. Airplanes are in readiness, both in the United States and at Western bases in Europe, to inflict severe punishment on an enemy if war comes.

But if the military moves are confined to ground action in the vicinity of Berlin, then it is reasonable to suppose that the forces of NATO are already mobilized for this.

Also, it is likely that, long before any such steps were taken, the intentions of both sides would be made plain and the United Nations would have an opportunity to vote to intervene.

What seems to have been generally overlooked is that there are steps "short of war" which can be taken by the West. These could be far more effective than actual threats of war.

One course of action could be the cutting off of all diplomatic relations between the West and the East. This could be followed by simultaneous discontinuance of all commercial intercourse, as well as other forms of communication by air or by sea.

One point that has not been given much attention is that, when Moscow breaks the inter-allied treaty giving the Western military forces access to Berlin, this makes a "scrap of paper" out of a solemn agreement.

Of what value, it will then be asked throughout the world, are any other agreements or pledges given by the Soviet government?

The Western nations, therefore, are waiting for the deadline in May when the Soviet government, if it carries out its published threat, will have announced to the world that, acting entirely on its own, it is deliberately breaking an international agreement.

This, in turn, could invalidate all other agreements between the East and West and lead not necessarily to war but to a "quarantine" by the West against the Soviet dictatorship such as President Franklin D. Roosevelt proposed in 1937 against the dictatorship of Hitler and the Nazis.

Had this plan been agreed to then by our allies, it is conceivable that World War II might have been prevented. That's why firmness now on measures "short of war" could avert a third world war.

The Country Parson

Dr. William Brady Says:

Many Aspirin Addicts Suffer From Malnutrition

I can remember two occasions when I took aspirin—when I had shoulder bursitis, and again when I suffered a sprain. I was grateful for the relief the drug gave me on both occasions.

DR. BRADY

I know of nothing less dangerous than acetylsalicylic acid (aspirin) with equal analgesic power—nothing in the way of a pain-killer—but I know also that even aspirin sometimes produces untoward effects.

In one reported instance, an asthmatic died within 10 minutes after taking a 5-grain aspirin tablet for headache. There have been alarming effects in a good many instances—weakness, collapse, angioneurotic (giant hives) swelling of face, throat, eyes, skin rashes, profuse sweating, cold extremities, rapid and irregular pulse.

There is good reason to believe that a few grains of calcium lactate, gluconate or carbonate with each dose of aspirin will prevent these undesirable side-effects.

Since aspirin has no remedial value aside from its pain-killing effect, I have long wondered why some persons of intelligence take aspirin for every little ache or pain.

BLAME CHEAT FOODS

Lately I have concluded that aspirin eaters, like tranquilizer and barbiturate addicts, suffer from malnutrition and resort to their favorite drug to make them for the time being less aware of its manifestations. And a good many Americans who live on the typical coffee and doughnuts, meat and potato, 'cheat-food Yankee fare never dream that nutritional deficiency (malnutrition) may account for their complaints.

The deficiency chiefly accountable for extreme sensitiveness to ache and pain is calcium deficiency. Some 35 or 40 years ago Sherman said:

"The ordinary mixed diet of Americans and Europeans, at least among dwellers in cities and towns, is probably more often deficient in calcium than in any other chemical element."

Hundreds of readers have told me that when they follow a high calcium diet and/or supplement their diet with an adequate daily ration of calcium and vitamin D, they seldom if ever use aspirin, acetanilid or other analgesics.

An adequate daily ration of calcium (milk, cheese, egg yolk, peas, beans, nuts, peanuts, green leafy vegetables) steadies the nerves and makes one less sensitive to ache or pain from any cause. Don't take my word for this. Take calcium and see—I mean take calcium and D.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

She Didn't Think of Future Family

Cupid is often said to be blind. That's wrong. People like Rita just let their mad romantic emotions cause them to sell out, as Biblical Esau did for a mess, and then try to pass the buck to Cupid. Scrapbook this case and study it in your school courses on Marriage Problems. I have not exaggerated, so re-read Rita's outcome when you grow infatuated!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE A-470: Rita R., aged 33 also fell in love at first sight 12 years ago.

But Rita was determined she would marry the man and refused to listen to reason.

DR. CRANE

Despite her parents and friends, all of whom voted solidly against this union, Rita eloped.

"I love him so much I'd die if I had to live without him," she had protested adoringly, as she fled with her Romeo to a Gretna Green for a "quickie" wedding.

Rita had met this man at a dance hall where she fell in love at first sight.

Although she had admitted he had some faults, she couldn't let herself think about his flaws.

And nobody forced her to focus on the plight of her future children, who would be saddled with such an unfit male parent.

Because she personally felt "butterflies" in her stomach and was exhilarated, she let her selfish desire for such sensations, blind her to the future. Like Biblical Esau, she sold out for a mess.

And "mess" is the right word: Her husband had syphilis and three ex-wives.

Before they were married a year, he had also infected Rita with gonorrhea.

Her first baby was born at home because he was drunk at a tavern somewhere else in town. The baby's eyes got infected with the gonorrhea, so the child is now blind.

Rita's husband bled her of all the money she had, including a legacy of $7,500 which Rita had inherited from her grandmother.

BLIND CUPID

There is an old saying that Cupid is blind. That's not true but a lot of infatuated people let their own selfish desire for thrills bind them to the ultimate happiness of their children.

When Rita's money ran out, her husband dragged her from one cheap rooming house to another.

He even hocked her rings and jewelry for gambling. He deserted her three times within the first four years, only coming back to her when he was broke.

She was too proud to contact her parents, so she lived on the county as a "relief" family.

Her husband meanwhile consorted with other women, which was one reason why he infected Rita with gonorrhea and blinded his child.

In his drunken brawls, he would literally beat Rita till her eyes were black and blue.

Once he pounded her with a kitchen chair because he said she was "holding out" on him regarding money. A neighbor called the police, who found Rita unconscious and bleeding on the kitchen floor.

After 12 years of this cat-and-dog existence, Rita finally has awakened from the mad infatuation of her original love at first sight.

But it took 12 years for her to learn the difference between true love and sexual infatuation.

Her blind youngster is paying the price of her "Esau" behavior.

You romantic young folks better re-read this case and make doubly sure your love is logically supported by evidence of good character and those other permanent character traits that produce a lasting, happy home.

Send for my "Tests for Husbands & Wives," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents (nonprofit). Don't marry if your ratings are below par.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Feels Forbidding Prayer in School Hurts Freedom

It's appalling to watch inroads of communism in our country, gradually drowning the freedoms our forefathers fought so valiantly for. One way is forbidding opening school with prayer.

The excuse is church and state must be separate. I've never heard of any church that wished to take over the burdens of public schools or government. By forbidding prayer they're not separating church from schools; they're separating God from schools.

Perhaps if customs of our forefathers had been adhered to and a few prayers said, our government and schools wouldn't be in the deplorable condition they are today.

Man Disagrees With Editorial

A recent editorial points to an awning installation on Huron at Saginaw and makes an issue of it. No huge icicles or heavy formations can accumulate on this particular installation because it's pitched unusually steep to prevent it. When the minimum accumulation does occur, it doesn't fall to the street until it has softened almost to the consistency of snow, and couldn't possibly injure more than one's feelings.

If the editor is so concerned with comfort and peace of mind of the public, why not donate a shelter for people waiting for the bus. This should end the discussion since The Press is very happy to get advertising from metal awning companies.

Out-of-Towner Praises Roads

I was a recent vistor to your city and state. I wish to commend the workers for the way the ice and snow was kept cleared off the streets during the winter season.

Citizen Quotes College President

With all the discussion pro and con concerning school boards, a recommendation by a former president of Harvard University, Dr. James B. Conant, might enlighten some. He states:

"The absolutely necessary first thing is to get a good school board. This isn't always easy. The people on the board must have an unselfish interest in their schools. If they don't, you get all kinds of problems with patronage, politics, and things like that. You need earnest, open-minded, intelligent citizens who will see that their job is to set policy and not meddle with administrative affairs."

Nelson Spurned by GOP Solons

Even Pleas of Hurting Rockefeller Nomination Chances Go Unheeded

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller refused today to compromise further with Republican assemblymen who are up in arms over his record tax and spending program.

The GOP governor plunged personally into the tax and budget fight Wednesday but was forced to admit that he could not break the revolt—at least for now.

The proposed state budget stands at $2,000,577,797 after being chopped $40,422,203 by GOP state senators. They agreed to use the cutback to ease the 150-million-dollar increase in income taxes Rockefeller recommended.

The governor was called into the battle by legislative leaders who have been unable to quell the Assembly revolt.

Rockefeller said the leaders were "standing firm"—that is, no further compromises—and "I am standing with them."

The balky assemblymen were subject to pleas and reproaches, including, some said, the argument that they were "embarrassing a potential presidential candidate."

At least 28 of the 92 GOP assemblymen spurned the senators' trimmed budget Tuesday. It appeared that some had yielded under pressure Wednesday. Seventy-six Assembly votes are needed to pass legislation. The Democratic minorities in both houses solidly oppose the governor's program.

Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck, who is helping Rockefeller apply pressure to the insurgents, put off a showdown until next week. He said he lacked "only a very few votes" of the needed 76.

Rockefeller said it was too early to say whether the delay would force his administration to postpone its plan for putting the state income tax on a payroll withholding basis April 1.

Bob Hope Told He Won't Need Eye Operation

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope, told his eye trouble would clear up without surgery, was expected to leave for the West Coast today to prepare for a Sunday television show.

In a bulletin Wednesday night from Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center Dr. Algernon B. Reese said: "There is no indication whatever that an operation will be required. Further diagnostic studies are being made in an effort to determine the exact cause."

The bulletin added: "He may return here next week if further examinations seem advisable."

The hospital said five fans—not identified—have offered to donate an eye to Hope. A hospital spokesman said, "Such a contingency is not being considered."

Hope has a blood clot in a vein behind his left eye which has affected his sight and stability. He suffered an eye hemorrhage soon after returning from a Christmas tour of overseas military bases.

Meter Reader's Life Fraught With Surprises

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The life of a water meter reader isn't dull in the opinion of a veteran at the work, Robert L. Daniel.

"I've found everything from a bottle of whiskey to a 'possum in meters," he said, as well as snakes and black widow spiders.

Bob Considine Says:

Need Another Home? How's This Variety?

NEW YORK—A friend of mine was telling me today about his inability to find a one-room apartment in New York when, without ringing even once, the postman entered with the latest on the world housing situation—as seen through the eyes of Previews.

Previews is an international real estate agency. Its Miss Wiss, a charming woman, was introduced to me at the Overseas Press Club some years ago and, what with the din, got me confused with the real estate editor of the New York Journal American.

Ever since, she has favored me annually with her company's heady wares, and I've grown to look forward to the new listings with the same compelling stirrings which must motivate the lemming as it contemplates an excursion to the nearest seaside resort.

Well, we've got some dillies for you house-hunters this time, just waiting to be snatched from the jaws of termite and inching jungle.

Miss Wiss (one of my favorite names since Cedric Frederic, the resident president of the revision division of the Brazilian Pavillion) writes sentences that would make Bill Zeckendorf faint. To wit:

"Twenty of the 535 properties in the GUIDE are atttached for you herewith. Total approximate value for the entire book comes to $1,006,740,000."

We might have snapped up the lot, then and there, if she hadn't put that word "approximate" in there.

Imagine how humiliating it would be to drop $1,006,740,000 in small change into Miss Wiss's lap and say, like a true Texan, "Cleans me out, but I'll take the lot, mum," only to have re reply, "Sorry, Tex, you're $13 short. Next!"

Been looking for a place that feels like country but is within easy commuting distance to the old job, at the pickle packing plant? Sort of a Castle in Spain, but near the bus?

Well, Buster, you've come to the right place, as we say here at Previews. A 150-year-old castle "commanding a panorama of the City of Barcelona . . . but the property is only ten minutes from Plaza de Cataluna, the town center, and tramway and bus routes are near."

A steal at $200,000. What about commuting to and from the old job? That's a detail, true, but no problem at all if you can get a cotton-picking pickle packing job in Barcelona.

Then there's a $90,000 place in Monaco. On a clear day you can see Grace Grimaldi. A satrifice is involved here, Miss Wiss confides. Seems a bloke built it as a surprise present for his wife.

The babe took one look, spit, and left both it and him. Probably didn't like the drapes.

Six months residence in Rainier's realm will make the buyer immune to income, inheritance, personal and corporate taxes. "It's only ten minutes to the border in any direction," Miss Wiss leers.

Don't want to give up taxes? Well, we're offering Villa Medici, the Florentine palace from which Lorenzo the Magnificent ruled much of Europe. Certain conveniences, little things like plumbing, have been added—but still dirt cheap at $300,000.

Or, for only $23,800, a spired castle in old Country Tyrone named Knock-na-moe. Good spot (and name) for a drama critic who has been transferred to obits.

Noel Coward's posh shacks in his Runaway Bay section of Jamaica are going for $14,000 a posh. A Wall Street tycoon, name withheld because of the effect the story might have on the Bourse, is selling his $1,000,000 private island in the Bahamas.

Includes seaplane ramp. Morton Downey has put up his Greenwich estate for $250,000. "Roughly the equivalent on the two cent return of 25,000,000 empty Coke bottles," Miss Wiss writes, making it seem invitingly within the reach of us all.

Ever wanted to be mayor of a city? Then buy Key Colony Beach, Fla. Only $4,000,000 and change. Bing Crosby is offering his Idaho ranch for $95,000. Not enough room, since the baby came.

If you demand even more elbow room, there's the Gamble Ranch, 600,000 acres that start in Nevada and spill over into Utah, $3,000,000.

Or Twin Islands in Loughborough Lake, Ontario. Miss Wiss promises the buyer that he can "walk across the frozen water that divides his property." But we would warn against trying it in summer time unless he's unusually clever.

She personally is pushing Pond Island, a 5-acre patch off Maine: $12,500. "A lovable lighthouse goes with it," our girl teased. But we'd have none of her sweet talk. It's tough enough sleeping here at the Y.

The Appalachian Mountain Club, which maintains hiking trails and other facilities in the White Mountains of New Hampshire, is believed to be the oldest mountaineering organization in the Western Hemisphere.

Traffic Tickets Back to Normal in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Traffic violation ticket-writing by Detroit's police was back at a normal rate today.

The slowdown strike of officers rebelling against integration appeared to have run its full course after four days of the protest.

Police heads reported little if anything left of the slowdown. At one time it brought severe reprimands and a threat of a crackdown on disobedient bluecoats.

Some scout car officers slowed down their ticketing of minor traffic offenders in protesting a police department plan to have a Negro and white officer as the crew in some scout cars.

Disalle Reports Ohio Is Broke

Proposes Sweeping Tax Program to Cost Each Resident $37

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's state government has come to the bitter end of an 11-year spree of spending more each year than it took in. The upshot: another one-third of a billion dollars is needed in the next two years, $37 for every Ohio resident.

That was the sobering message delivered Tuesday night by Democratic Gov. Michael V. Disalle to a standing-room-only crowd in a joint session of the Legislature.

Ohio has gone from a 215-million-dollar surplus in postwar 1947 to a financial crisis in which the state government is flat broke, the governor asserted.

He called for nine separate tax increases plus a 35-cents-a-fifth markup in liquor prices in laying down a budget which, including highways, calls for a record total of $2,076,212,000.

Disalle asked a 2-cent increase a pack on cigarettes to raise the state levy to five cents. He proposed the tax on low-power beer be made the same as on high-power. He also asked a six-million-dollar increase in the state tax on pari-mutuel wagering at race tracks.

He proposed to double the corporation franchise tax to produce 26 millions more.

Another proposal was a 2-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax increase to seven cents, and a four-cents-a-gallon increase on diesel fuel for a new total of nine cents. Those two would produce a total of 123½ millions for highways in the next two years.

But Mother Denies Murder Plot

Love for Son So Strong, She'd Do Most Anything

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — The story of a mother's love — so strong she would do almost anything to keep her son by her side —is unfolding before a murder jury that includes eight women.

"I just didn't want to lose Frankie," Elizabeth Duncan said.

To keep that love, the sometimes weeping woman testified Wednesday, she tried to kill herself. She even plotted to kidnap her son and hold him by force.

But, she insisted, she did not go so far as to plan the murder of her son's bride, Olga Kupczyk Duncan, 30, as the prosecution contends.

Mrs. Duncan, 54, for the first time gave her side in the state's case accusing her of hiring two men to kill her daughter-in-law. Luis Moya, 20, and Augustine Baldonado, 26, have admitted beating and strangling the pregnant nurse. They buried her beside a mountain road.

"All my life I've been afraid of being alone," the defendant said.

She has married at least eight times, five of them since 1950. The marriages, some to men young enough to be her sons, ended in annulments.

She gave $335 to Moya and Baldonado, she said. But it was extortion money, she contended — paid to keep them from killing her and her attorney son.

Mrs. Duncan said the two men had a grudge against Frank Duncan because of a fee he once charged a friend of theirs.

"I was scared to death of those men," she testified.

The two laborers claim the money was part payment of their $6,000 fee for killing Olga.

The state has paraded numerous other witnesses to the stand who said Mrs. Duncan tried unsuccessfully to hire them to murder the wife of her son.

She denied each of their accusations. "Goodness, no, I'd never say anything like that!" she said several times.

Mrs. Duncan told also of plans to kill herself. Ironically, it was such an occasion—when she took an overdose of sleeping pills — which led to her son's marriage. While she was in the hospital, Duncan met the nurse he later married.

She said she planned—and discarded—the kidnaping of her son. The plan was to give him sleeping pills, then tie him up and take him to Los Angeles out of Olga's reach.

"I was just going to keep him and talk to him for a few days," she said.

A large exhibtion of contemporary art, to be called "Documenta II," will be held in Kassel, Germany, from next June 15 to Oct. 1. On display will be painting, sculpture, graphic arts, and architecture submitted by artists from all over the world.

Committee OKs Diversion Bill

Dem Vote Steamrolls Illinois Water Measure, Says Broomfield

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works Committee late yesterday approved a bill to permit Chicago to divert more water from Lake Michigan.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Thomas J. O'Brien (D-Ill), is opposed by Canada and six Great Lakes states. The opponents say additional diversion would damage shipping and power projects by lowering Great Lakes levels.

The measure cleared the committee at a closed-door session by a vote of 19 to 11. Nineteen Democrats voted for the measure, 10 Republicans and 1 Democrat voted against it.

Rep. Robert Crook (D-Ohio) was reported to have been the lone Democrat among the minority group.

Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Mich), a member of the committee and an opponent of the bill, called the vote "a steamroller operation."

"They have the votes and there was not a thing we could do about it," Broomfield said. "I believe they'll get this measure through both House and Senate."

Broomfield renewed an early prediction that President Eisenhower would veto the bill because of Canadian objections to the proposal.

Little Spanish Town Located in France

LLIVIA, Sain (UPI)—This Spanish town is actually located in France, about a mile from the Spanish border.

When the frontier between the two countries was realigned in 165, several Spanish villages were ceded to France but Llivia refused to be given away.

This year, Llivia is celebrating her 300th anniversary as a Spanish town completely surrounded by France. An "international" road leads from Llivia to the Spanish border.

Alabama was first settled by the French in 1702.

Friendly City Induces Airmen to Re-Enlist

SALINA, Kan. (AP)—Schilling Air Force Base took official notice of the unusually harmonious relationship between the base and the city of Salina.

Base officers credited the city's friendly atmosphere with decisions of many of the 1,464 Air Force men at the base to re-enlist during 1958

Petoskey to Expand

PETOSKEY (AP)—The city limits of Petoskey will be expanded by 195 acres of land for creation of an industrial park by annexation of a part of adjacent Bear Creek Township. The move has the approval of the Bear Creek Township board. It is the first city limits extension since before adoption of the present charter some 35 years ago.

Elusive Sprenz Sought by FBI

Bank Holdup Suspect Who Likes Planes Seen in Pennsylvania

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP) — Police and FBI agents kept a constant vigil in mountainous central Pennsylvania today for Frank Lawrence Sprenz, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted criminals.

Sprenz, 29, sought for the $25,955 holdup of a Hamilton, Ohio, bank Monday, was reported seen in this city of 75,000 Wednesday.

Roadblocks were set up at key points but there was no sign of the elusive Sprenz.

After the Hamilton holdup, Ohio police said Sprenz stole an airplane and flew 160 miles to Coshocton. He was reported near Canton Monday night.

Police Chief Paul E. Rouzer of Altoona said a man fitting Sprenz's description registered at the small Altoona Hotel on the outskirts of town early Wednesday and checked out about 12:30 p.m.

Rouzer said the man had a new water pump installed in his car at a service station and drove toward the center of town.

The chief said a bellhop later discovered money wrappers from the Hamilton bank in the vacated hotel room. The wrappers, Rouzer said, would have held $22,500.

The car was described as a dark blue Buick bearing Pennsylvania license plate 764540. Police said Sprenz was wearing a black leather jacket, blue sport shirt and hunting cap.

State police said he was identified by witnesses through photographs.

Police made continuing checks at airports in the area and sent alerts to all police in Pennsylvania and neighboring states.

After touring the national shrine they found themselves locked in. The women finally attracted the attention of a passing motorist who called police.

Sgt. Walter Barron couldn't find the caretaker. But the resourceful officer took Diane and Rose to a spot in the fence where the iron bars had been pried apart — and made the rescue.

Sanity of Berkley Youth Argued at Hillsdale Trial

HILLSDALE (AP)—An 18-year-old Berkley youth charged with murder in the slaying of his Hillsdale College roommate was depicted by his attorney as suffering from a split personality.

But the prosecution said it would show that Patrick Flannery, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick C. Flannery of 995 Oxford St., Berkley, beat to death Thomas Neitling, 21, of Tecumseh, an upperclassman, in a "sudden heat of passion" last Nov. 26.

Conflicting descriptions of the defendant came yesterday on the opening day of testimony.

Flannery's attorney, Joseph W. Louisell of Detroit, said his client has all the symptoms of the mental disorder known as schizophrenia. Louisell told the jury that Flannery has hallucinations and that he looked into the mirror after beating his roommate and thought he saw the devil.

One witness, Earl Sehi, owner of an off-campus restaurant, said he was playing cards downstairs on the night of the slaying when Flannery came in and asked who had put his clothing out into the hall. Flannery and Neitling lived in a room over the restaurant.

Sehi testified that Flannery remarked:

"I don't mind a little horsing around, but I don't like anybody touching my personal things."

A few hours later, Neitling was beaten to death with the stock of a 16-gauge shotgun.

Flannery drove to Detroit and surrendered to police, who said he admitted the slaying but could give no motive.

Imlay City Chief Says Acid in Car Possibly Mistake

IMLAY CITY — Police Chief Neil Wheeler said he now thinks it might have been a mistake that the windshield washer on his personal car was filled with acid instead of solvent.

Wheeler told Romeo State Police yesterday that when he used the washer the liquid in it pitted and discolored the windshield. The acid also ate away the molding around the edge and some paint on the hood. At the time he suspected it was the work of some miscreant.

Damage was estimated at about $400, according to police.

"We're still not overlooking the fact that it might have been the work of a prankster," Wheeler said.

Space-Age Securities Replacing Uranium

NEW YORK (UPI)—Space-age securities have replaced in the public imagination the romantic aspects of uranium issues, according to New York State Attorney General Lous J. Lefkowitz.

WAIT 'TIL IT THAWS — Some rural roads full of ruts which make driving hazardous are already closed to through traffic as shown in the picture above. As the spring thaw sets in, the snow will melt, and these roads will become increasingly impassable. Oakland County Road Commissioners said today that the amount of work they had to do during the winter will affect what they can do the rest of the year. The colder temperatures the earlier part of this year, they said, will make reconditioning the roads a bigger job this spring.

Jumps to $1,068 Per Person

Farm Income Hits New High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that the annual income per person on the nation's farms from all sources climbed to a new high of $1,068. But this average was about 48 per cent less than the non-farm average income.

Persons living off farms earned an average of $2,034. Average for the entire population was $1,918.

The department said the average income of the farm population increased $101 last year. But the average for the non-farm population declined $48.

These figures were given in the department's final report giving the 1958 net realized farm income at $13,060,000,000, up $2,220,000,000 or 2 per cent from 1957. Net realized income is the amount available for spending after a farmer has paid his production expenses.

Michigan's average farm income was $2,145, up 3 per cent over the previous year.

The average income from farming for the farm population was $70, compared with $658 in 1957. The remainder of the average income came from earnings other than from farming.

The realized net income of farm operators last year was $2,750, compared with $2,232 in 1957.

The 1958 increase in farm income reflected higher prices for livestock, larger marketings from last year's record volume of crops, delayed marketings of 1957 crops and some increase in government payments under the soil bank land retirement program.

The number of persons living on farms in April 1958 was 20,800,000, a little more than 2 per cent above the level of a year earlier.

The department estimated the 1958 gross farm income — the amount received for marketings, government payments, value of farm consumed products and rental value of homes—at $37,965,000,000, compared with $34,330,000,000 in 1957.

Production expenses were estimated at $24,905,000,000, compared with $23,490,000,000 the previous year.

Average annual income per farm by states ranged from a high of $12,815 in Arizona to a low of $1,019 in West Virginia.

The sharpest percentage increase was 242 per cent in Kansas, where favorable weather helped to produce a big wheat crop. Dollar-wise, the Kansas average rose from $739 in 1957 to $2,526 last year.

Jail Romeo Youth After Drunk Spree

ROMEO — A 20-year-old Romeo youth, who put his foot through the windshield of the new police car, caused trouble in the local Dairy Bar, and allegedly threatened Officer Robert Jacobs, is in Macomb County Jail today.

Robert Mulholland of 231 S. Main St., was arraigned yesterday before Justice Francis A. Castellucci on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct. He was sentenced to pay $100 in fines and court costs and to spend 90 days in jail.

New Fighting Starts in Africa

Security Forces Kill Native in Clash With Spear-Bearing Group

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (AP)—Africans took up spear and war ax Wednesday night in the conflict between government forces and nationalists in this British protectorate.

Security forces shot and killed a native in a clash with a hostile crowd of spear-bearing Africans at a roadblock near Chateop, in Nyasaland's central province.

Security forces encountered a number of other roadblocks in the same area.

The clash came after a day of comparative quiet. But native resentment still ran high at the British government's proclamation of a state of emergency, the outlawing of the African National party and the deportation of the leading nationalist, Dr. Hastings Banda.

Police, ground and air forces were on the alert throughout Nyasaland as well as in neighboring Southern Rhodesia.

Thirty-two Nyasas were reported killed and scores wounded Tuesday, the day after Banda's arrest and the proclamation of the state of emergency.

Health Center for Healthy Fights Senility

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A unique new health center was opened here recently. It's for healthy persons!

Believed to be the first of its kind in the country, the purpose of the center is to show that senility is not an inevitable result of growing old. It's for healthy persons 60 years old and over.

Dr. John J. Hanlon, director of Public Health Services for the Philadelphia Department of Health, said the center will prove that senility can be prevented through the kind of services it offers.

Included in its program are group discussions, arts and crafts and other forms of recreation geared to the needs of older persons. It also provides services for health rehabilitation and employment for the oldsters.

Hanlon said the staff includes an occupational therapist, recreation leaders, a psychiatrist, psychologist, psychiatric social worker, public health nurse, physician and a clerk.

New Heating Law Planned

Independence Board Hears Experts, Decides to Act Quickly

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—Plans to adopt a new heating ordinance have been announced by the Township Board.

After hearing heating experts J. R. Moors of Waterford Township and C. A. Asher of Detroit explain the National Heating Reciprocal Council rules, board members decided to take steps to adopt the new ordinance as soon as possible.

This will enable local heating contractors to work in other communities under their original license rather than having to obtain new ones in other communities, a board spokesman explained.

In other business, the board authorized $40 to be given to the local Civil Defense unit for purchase of new personnel equipment. Twelve more auxiliary police are being assigned here, having completed CD training.

The board has appointed John Bell and Floyd Lawrence to succeed Albert Beebe and Richard Becker on the Board of Review.

Rivalry Seen Lacking in Romeo Election

ROMEO — Only the incumbents and one appointee are seeking re-election to their present posts in Monday's spring election here.

Joseph C. Rymill will run again for village president, Sidney J. White for clerk, Elaine M. Hosner for treasurer; and Elgin F. Anger, recently appointed to fill the unexpired term of Glenn Levin who resigned, for assessor.

The three trustees who are unopposed for re-election are William Totten, George Tapley and John Kegler.

Mrs. C. L. Davidson and Arthur Maxon Smith are candidates for re-election as library directors for three-year terms.

Six Students Found Smoking

Recommends Similar Action Against Poor Attitude, Misconduct

By LEE WINBORN

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Board of Education last night formally endorsed administrative action taken recently in suspending six students, all boys, who had been caught smoking in the high school.

Board members unanimously passed a motion approving the continuation of the smoking regulation which calls for suspension of offenders for the remainder of the semester in which the violation occurred.

Included in the motion was the directive that similar measures be taken for evidence of poor student attitude or misconduct.

The board action climaxed the meeting which began with a discussion of the smoking problem between the parents of several of the suspended students, the Board and school administrators.

CHALLENGE PENALTY

The parents present challenged the suspension penalty as being "too severe."

One spokesman asked that it be modified and that each case be treated individually.

Another said having a child out of school for such a long period works a hardship on parents who must pay for private tutoring to keep him up with his class.

And, one mother pointed out, other parents who can't afford tutors face the problem of a child with nothing to do, which is equally distressing.

Members emphasized that the fire law which prohibits smoking on school premises must be enforced because of the dangers involved to the entire student body if it is not.

After the parents left, Donald C. Baldwin, school superintendent, said for two years the administration had tried giving offenders several chances to give up smoking, had talked to parents in several cases and had suspended some students for short periods of time.

He said that these measures did not solve the smoking problem, so a "clear-cut edict" was adopted.

Baldwin stated that "some students have indicated that suspension for the remainder of the year is severe, but we notice that their attitudes have improved since this policy was adopted.

"I think this problem entails a re-examination of the whole student philosophy," Henry L. Purdy, board president said.

OTHERS AS SERIOUS

"A lot of behavior attitudes are as serious and disruptive as smoking. Students who are habitual truants and those who cause disturbances in class are in this category," Purdy contended.

The board endorsement of administrative policy on smoking and other misconduct climaxed the discussion.

In other action, the board approved formation of a committee to study elementary school curriculum. Included on the committee will be school administrators, teachers, PTA council members, a representative of the Citizens Study Council and one board member.

Their report will be due by the end of the present school year.

Leonard Polls Open Monday for 13 Hours

LEONARD — The polls will be open here from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday for voters to cast their ballots in the annual spring election.

Candidates whose names will appear on the Citizens' Party ticket will be Lawson Sheik, president; John Lobzien, clerk; Lucille Porter, treasurer; and Jesse Sutherby, assessor.

The three trustees running for two-year terms are Dwight Patterson, John Sutherby and Charles Hamilton.

Friend Adds Insult to Injured Auto

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (UPI) — James R. Purifoy, 35, told police he lent a "good friend" his $2,500 car for an "emergency" trip to Chicago and didn't hear from him until two weeks later, when the man phoned from Springfield, Mo.

Purifoy complained his "friend" disappeared again after he wired him $175 to have the auto's transmission repaired.

Farm Structure Near Highland Built in 1842

Old Home Looks Fit for Another 100 Years

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Everything about the old home of the Roland Armstrong family symbolizes the ruggedness of the early Americans who established the Centennial farm near Highland.

From the original bluish-colored glass windows upstairs, right on down to the two-foot-thick stone foundation walls, there is evidence of construction methods designed to withstand many years of living.

Back in 1831, Judge Norman Davidson purchased a section of land near Flint, moved his wife and nine children from Avon, N. Y., and the rugged life of homesteading began.

Soon afterward, two of the judge's boys, Perry and Benjamin, decided to leave the crude log cabin and do their own homesteading.

PURCHASED 600 ACRES

In 1842 they purchased 600 acres on the Highland road site, cleared the land and built the present house.

Benjamin's granddaughter, Mrs. Margaret Davidson Armstrong, 87, was born, grew up, married, raised a family, and still lives in the old house with her son's family, the present Armstrongs.

The old home has served five generations, and as the family increased, additions were made, until now there are 16 spacious rooms in the two-story structure.

Big handhewn timbers, laid on the cut-stone foundation hold the house in place.

There is no mortar between the stones; they are fitted and wedged into place. Armstrong says this is a long-lost art.

Original wooden pegs holding the house together stubbornly refuse to budge for new installations and improvements.

There are 14-inch planks on the upstairs floors and the tiny bubbles in the light blue window panes indicate they were hand blown—another lost art, according to Armstrong.

WOULD BE PROUD

Old Benjamin set a fine example for his descendants and would be proud to know his fifth generation of offsprings inherited a little of his ruggedness.

Four houses now located on the Centennial farm have been constructed from timbers and stone found on the land.

Within the last five years, three modern homes have been built by Armstrong's children, who cut, dried and milled the trees, then erected their own homes.

Down through the years, each of the hard-working Davidson descendants has farmed the land, replenishing and preserving the soil for the next generation.

Already the winter wheat is showing through the ground, and soon there will be acres of healthy corn, oats and potatoes from the land—granted to pioneer farmers more than 100 years ago.

Pontiac Press Photo

OVER 100 YEARS OLD—The Centennial farm home of the Roland Armstrongs near Highland clings tenaciously to land first broken to the plow by pioneer ancestors of the family in 1842. On a cut-stone foundation requiring no mortar the frame house looks fit to weather the next 100 years as well. Additions made through five generations now provide 16 spacious rooms for comfortable living. Even the original, hand-blown window panes are still in use.

Will Save Half-Million Yearly

Propose Self-Insurance Fund for State Schools

LANSING (AP)—A plan to save Michigan school districts $500,000 a year in insurance costs was proposed in the legislature yesterday.

Backed by the Michigan Assn. of School Business Officials, it would require all districts outside Detroit, Grand Rapids and Flint to contribute to a joint self-insurance fund, replacing present insurance coverage.

When fire, tornadoes or other disasters hit, schools would be reimbursed from the fund for any damage over $100.

Districts would contribute $1 per child to the fund each year until assets totaled $3 for each child covered by the system. Further contributions would be required only to maintain the $3 level.

In support of the plan, school business officials cited a survey showing that schools through the state paid an average of $1.08 per capita in annual fire insurance premiums from 1947-56 and collected 35 cents for losses.

Nearly 82 per cent of 392 districts surveyed reported no fire losses in the 10 years and another 11 per cent suffered losses less than the amount of their premiums.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Thomas J. Whinery (R-Grand Rapids), would set up a seven-member board to supervise the fund. Members would include the state superintendent of public instruction and four representatives of professional educational organizations.

Other bills introduced would:

Convert the Michigan Veterans Vocational School at Pine Lake, Barry County, to a rehabilitation institute for veterans and disabled adults.

Reduce from 300,000 to 180,000 the minimum population for counties wanting to set up a civil service system.

Authorize creation of water front and port development commissioners on a regional basis.

Industrialist's Kin Indicted

Wilson Son-in-Law Held for Larceny of Property Belonging to CAP

NEW YORK (AP)—The son-in-law of one of the nation's best-known industrialists was indicted with another man late yesterday for alleged grand larceny of $54,350 in Civil Air Patrol property.

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan identified them as Hugh M. Pierce Jr., 36, of Scarsdale, N. Y., son-in-law of Charles E. Wilson, former president of the General Electric Co., and Alfred W. Sutter, 43, of New Rochelle, N. Y.

Hogan said the men, former lieutenant colonels in the CAP, had made full restitution.

Pierce was accused of larceny of $20,000 worth of property; Sutter with $34,350.

Pierce, an Eastern Air Lines pilot, was a first lieutenant in the Air Force in World War II. Hogan said he was with the CAP for 10 years, until dismissed last May. He has a wife and two children.

Sutter, an electronics engineer, allegedly became involved in the case when, as commander of the New York CAP Wing, he was ordered to investigate Pierce.

Sutter is president of A. W. Sutter Industries, Mount Vernon, N. Y. He is married and has two children. He spent 15 years in the CAP before being dismissed last year, Hogan said.

The CAP is a private corporation operating under a charter granted by Congress. It works in close collaboration with the Air Force for flight training and other purposes.

'Bowditch' Still Byword Among Men Who Sail

SALEM, Mass. (UPI) — When Nathaniel Bowditch died here in 1838 at the age of 64, the Salem Marine Society eulogized him as follows:

"No monument will be needed to keep alive his memory among men; as long as ships shall sail . . . the name will be revered."

It was Bowditch who in 1802 published the first edition of the American Practical Navigator.

The newest edition of this standard textbook of mariners—the 70th in more than a century and a half—recently was presented to Peabody Museum.

Hawaiian Indicates Confidence by Shave

HONOLULU (AP)—Federal Judge J. Frank McLaughlin is so confident of statehood for Hawaii soon that he has shaved off his beard.

Back in August 1957 McLaughlin grew a beard and vowed to keep it until the territory is granted statehood.

But he showed up in court clean-shaven recently and announced:

"I have every confidence that this Congress will provide statehood for Hawaii."

Only nine per cent of the world's land is cultivated, according to the Twentieth Century Fund.

Taking Snuff Still Popular Pastime

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Taking snuff is by no means a lost art, nor is it confined to men.

About 40 million pounds of the stuff is still being turned out in the U.S. each year, and about half of it is sold to women.

Taking snuff was quite a craze in the 18th century, when the flavor and cost of a person's snuff became an indication of his wealth and influence.

Jeweled snuffboxes from the period can still be found in many museums, as well as letters describing the ritual for taking snuff.

Today, snuff is particularly popular among workers who are not permitted to smoke on the job. Others find it an excellent thirst-quencher.

Rank's London Theaters to Be Bowling Alleys

LONDON (AP) — Lord Rank's shuttered movie theaters will be turned into Britain's first American-style bowling alleys.

The movie magnate's organization announced it has signed a deal with New York businessmen Stewart and Herbert Scheftel to introduce the game into Britain.

Two suburban London movie theaters are to be the pilots. They should be ready by September. If Britons take to the game, other closed theaters in Rank's chain will be converted.

There are currently more television stations within the boundaries of the United States than in all of the other countries of the world combined and the number is growing.

Police Break Up Brawl at Knitting Club Meeting

MANCHESTER, N. H. (UPI)—A group of Manchester women didn't stick to their knitting last night.

Police were called to subdue a fight among six members of a knitting club. The row stemmed from an argument as to which member had the finest house.

To Settle Name Issue Locally

Hare Tells Counties They Must Solve State Court Ballot Problem

Secretary of State James M. Hare said today it is up to county election commissioners to resolve the problem resulting from similarities of names of two State Supreme Court candidates in the April 6 election.

The Republican nominee is Maurice Cole, a Pontiac attorney and Oakland County Circuit Court commissioner. The Prohibition party has nominated Kenneth Cole, a Saginaw attorney.

The two are vying for the seat held by Talbot Smith, a Democratic nominee for re-election.

The two Coles asked Hare to order their occupations printed on the ballot so voters might better distinguish between them. Hare said he didn't have authority to do so, but that county election commissioners do.

Hare notified election commissioners throughtout the state today that the problem was theirs. The Oakland County commission is comprised of Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, County Treasurer Charles A. Sparks and County Clerk-Register of Deeds Daniel T. Murphy Jr.

They are expected to make a ruling soon.

An Angry Heir Ravages Homes He Didn't Get

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A disgruntled heir cooled off in jail today after damaging three houses which his grandmother willed to other members of the family.

Police Capt. Lewis Miller said Nayef Kasen of Montgomery was being held for a hearing in City Court Friday on charges of disorderly conduct and destruction of property.

About 50 smashed windows, kicked-out screens, two broken beds and shredded curtains lay in the wake of the rampage Wednesday after Kasen learned he had inherited only $500, Miller said.

High School Girls Called Good Football Material

LORAIN, Ohio (UPI) — High school football coaches may be missing a lot of gridiron talent by ignoring the coeds, says Ivan P. Lambert, a public school psychologist.

Girls are in better physical condition to play football at the ages of 16 and 17 than boys are, according to Lambert. Their muscles develop earlier and their joints are "smoothed off" at the 16-year-level, the psychologist explained.

He didn't advocate, however, that girls take up football.

Pakistan to Tame Indus by Irrigation Scheme

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI)—Gen. Mohamed Ayub Khan, president of Pakistan, yesterday opened a 25-million-dollar irrigation scheme designed to reform the Indus River.

A government spokesman said the project was expected to increase greatly the production of wheat, rice, cotton and sugar cane. About six million dollars of the cost was contributed by the United States.

Arkansas Allows Funds for Segregated Schools

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus has signed into law a bill permitting transfer of school funds for any pupil who refuses to attend a racially-integrated school.

The tax money would be allotted instead for any segregated school to which he changed.

The new law supplements an act under which money for displaced pupils from the closed Little Rock public high schools has been transferred to other schools. The earlier law applies only when schools are closed.

Security for You

Moving? Money Can Too

By RAY HENRY

The little old man looked weary. But he obviously was pleased by what the Social Security man had just told him.

It meant he wouldn't have that long bus ride every month any more.

He'd been making the trip for over a year—back and forth between the small Alabama town where he now lived and the Florida city which he'd moved from—to pick up his Social Security check.

"Yes," the Social Security man told him, "we'll send your check to your new address. All you have to do is fill out one of these forms."

This true story, recounted recently by a Dothan, Ala., Social Security representative, points up the value of talking with your Social Security office if you have questions about collecting your checks.

MUST TELL THEM

Take, for example, moving from your present address. As the old man found out, moving is no bar to continuing to get your Social Security checks. But, you've got to tell the Social Security people you're moving so your address can be changed.

If you don't your checks may not only be delayed, but you could wind up not getting them at all.

Government checks aren't supposed to be forwarded. If you're not at the address to which your check has been mailed, it's supposed to be returned to the government to await notice as to where it should be sent.

This, incidentally, is for your protection so the check doesn't get lost or stolen in being shunted from post office to post office.

If you plan to move, the Social Security offices have a simple way for you to make sure your check isn't delayed or lost.

All you have to do is notify the office from which you get your checks—the address of the office is on the envelope your checks come in—of your planned move during the first two weeks of the month before you move.

You can give notice either by letter or with a special chang-of-address postcard which you can get through any Social Security office. A letter should include your full name, your Social Security number and both your old and new address.

If, in moving or for any other reason, you miss getting payments be sure to let the local office know immediately so it can start an investigation. The sooner you do, the sooner you'll get the missing checks.

Generally, if you report a check lost, stolen or misplaced, the Social Security Administration will immediately put out an order to stop payment on the checks.

CAN GET SUBSTITUTE

If the investigation shows the check hasn't been cashed, the Treasury Department will send you an application form to be used to get a substitute check.

It usually takes between two and four weeks from the time you report the missing check and the time you'll be issued another—of you act promptly in returning the completed Treasury Department application.

But, of course, the exact time will depend on the circumstances surrounding the loss of the check. The Treasury Department isn't going to issue another check until it's fairly sure the original is out of circulation.

Plane Falls on 2 Detroit Homes

Pilot Dies, 4 Narrowly Escape Death in Crash on East Side

DETROIT (UPI)—Four persons narrowly escaped death yesterday when a light plane crashed into two east side homes, killing the pilot.

James P. Donahue, 33, a Detroit businessman, died when his rented plane plunged to the ground minutes after taking off from City Airport.

Mrs. Dorothy Kaminski and her two daughters, Carol, 11, and Denise, 2, were in one of the homes when the plane hit.

"There was an awful roar, then the house started shaking and things were falling all around. I thought the furnace had exploded."

The right wing of the plane house next door.

Bloch, 47, was standing in the kitchen. He said a small piece of the wing smashed through a closet door in the bedroom where he had been only seconds before the crash.

Tower operators at the airport said Donahue had made an apparently normal takeoff and was at 1,500 feet when the plane nosed over and crashed.

ripped through the Robert Blosh

Commercial Stretch Missed by Scholars

Fifth-grade pupils in a Kansas City school were asked to write their comments on a daily 30-minute educational television program.

The kids loved the TV, but they had this complaint:

"Thirty minutes is too long to sit still."

A school official said the programs may be cut to 15 minutes next year.

But Soviet Note Brings Sighs of Relief

Ike Shows Little Optimism on Berlin

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower expresses some optimism about the latest Soviet note over Berlin and Germany. Just how deep is the optimism? From an examination of all he said Wednesday it doesn't look very deep.

He was asked at his news conference what he thought of the Soviet acceptance of the Western proposal for a foreign ministers conference on Berlin and Germany.

He said, "We are taking it for the moment just as optimistically as we can." This, in view of what else he said, turned out to be a very restrained optimism.

It was, however, in keeping with the kind of international sigh of relief that went up when the Soviets, by accepting the idea of a ministers meeting, showed they were at least willing to talk a bit.

This sigh was almost instantly stuffed back down the international throat when the Soviets followed up their acceptance by repeating the position they had taken before:

1. That a foreign ministers meeting is just a kind of gum-beating operation by people who can't really decide anything since the decisions are made by men at the top.

2. That, therefore, the only way to get things done is to have the top men, like President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev, get together in a summit meeting.

Even British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who had just finished a series of meetings with Khrushchev, didn't come away bubbling with hope. Instead, he was talking about the "dangerous situation" building up around Berlin.

Eisenhower told his news conference the time will probably come to keep American bombers on a 24-hour air alert "if this situation develops along the lines that it appears to be going."

He didn't say precisely what situation he had in mind but the question he was answering was the question of increasing American defense against the background of continuing tension between East and West.

That wouldn't make it seem Eisenhower is overly optimistic about settlements with the U.S.S.R.

One of the key points in the impending crisis over Berlin has been Khrushchev's demand that the Western allies pull their 10,000 troops out of West Berlin, which lies in the heart of Communist East Germany.

Eisenhower repeated his statement that this country would never abandon its rights and responsibilities in Berlin.

Khrushchev has argued the only way to get East and West Germany united is by letting them arrange it between themselves. That's throwing cold water on the West's contention that the way to unification is through free elections.

Eisenhower again took his stand on the side of free elections.

When he was asked if Macmillan's visit to Khrushchev served a useful purpose, Eisenhower responded: "Now, when you come down to the possibility that there may have been some lessening of this rigidity . . . in the Soviet attitude, that we can't tell until events unfold a little further."

Although Khrushchev has insisted that only a summit meeting can solve anything, Eisenhower said the opposite.

"What I keep deploring is this idea of talking about summit meetings when you cannot see any possibility of a constructive step coming out of it," he said.

Admits Slaying After Tidying Up

Should Have Killed Her Before, Says Man, 71, of 67-Year-Old Wife

GARNERVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Salvatore Petrella, 71, and his wife Agatha, 67, had been quarreling over money for years.

Weary of the wrangling, he wanted to put her out of the way. He tried to get a gun, but failed. He didn't have the courage to use a knife.

And all the time the arguments went on.

Wednesday, the battle was over their Social Security checks. Agatha wanted to cash them and buy bedroom furniture. Petrella, a retired dye plant worker, wanted to deposit the checks.

As the words grew more bitter, the husband hit his wife on the head with a full ginger ale bottle. They struggled, and both fell to the floor. The wife pleaded for mercy. The husband tied a piece of his wife's sweater over her mouth to silence her.

Petrella, a meticulous man, went downtown to Haverstraw to settle his financial affairs. He paid the gas bill and the telephone bill, and straightened out other matters.

Then he came back to his home in this Rockland County community. He washed the floors and tidied the rooms. He put his laundry in a tub to soak.

Wednesday night Petrella tried to contact his lawyer but failed. So he hailed a passing police car, called the officer in and showed him his wife's body.

"I should have killed her long ago," Sgt. John Oldfield quoted Petrella.

Petrella told his story to Dist. Atty. John Skahen. He was charged with first-degree murder and taken to the county jail at New City.

Dam Builder Unaware His Work Doomed

An eager beaver, given tools and a contract by mother nature, is busily at work undisturbed by the racket around him.

Nor is he disturbed by the fact he's at least 100 miles from the nearest known habitat of his kind or that there isn't a tree or a decently sturdy shrub nearby. He's using driftwood and an occasional twig for the job.

Unable to explain his presence, workmen at the dam have adopted him as mascot. They bring him food and call him "an engineer's engineer."

But his efforts will be in vain. When Glen Canyon is finished, the river will be returned to its natural channel and the beaver dam will disappear in the flood.

Outbursts of Temper Get Lee Remick Chance

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — An argument between actress Lana Turner and Director Otto Preminger has given Lee Remick her first starring role.

She comes here this week from New York to replace Miss Turner in the film version of "Anatomy of a Murder."

Preminger and Miss Turner argued over costumes. She said she withdrew because of an outburst of temper by the director.

U.S. Attempts to Avoid Fiscal Crisis, Inflation

Balanced Budget Said Debt Handling Key

(High officials in Washington are discussing possible remedies for the borrowing problems which beset the Treasury. Suggested cures are discussed in this, the last of four articles on financing the national debt.)

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—How can Uncle Sam finance the record national debt without inviting a fiscal crisis or fostering the inflation he hopes to avoid?

President Eisenhower and his top advisers on money matters argue that a balanced budget offers a basic solution. They say a budget in the red threatens financial stability on two counts:

1. Directly, by forcing the Treasury to borrow more cash. This promotes inflation of the money supply because the government must rely heavily on bank credit when it borrows.

2. Psychologically, by increasing inflation fears.

Officials say that if the budget isn't balanced in the coming fiscal year, in a time of relative prosperity, people will doubt that red ink spending can ever be controlled.

People who expect continued budget deficits are less apt to save and lend, lest the value of their savings be whittled by inflation.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson recently told Congress: "If we ever reach the point where people believe that to speculate is safe but to save is to gamble, then we are indeed in trouble."

He was unquestionably thinking (1) of the present reluctance of many people to save through investment in government securities (treasury I.O.U.'s) and (2) of the rush of money into the stock market.

Anderson and other administration policymakers have made the balanced budget a major article of faith because they believe even a small deficit would do great harm. They think any unbalanced budget would have a psychological impact that would promote gambling and discourage saving.

Besides hoping to balance the budget, the administration sees another possible solution to the Treasury's debt management problems: more borrowing on an intermediate and long-term basis.

No one will guess when the government will be able to do this. Officials say they expect to have the chance later in the year.

Right now, because lenders are motivated by fear of rising interest rates and inflation, the Treasury has to do most of its borrowing for short terms.

Long-term loans generally are much less inflationary because a smaller proportion of long-term money is provided by the banks. Bank credit means inflation of the money supply.

Since last July, the Treasury has gotten only one loan which comes due in more than five years. It borrowed 885 million dollars in January on a 21-year bond priced to yield 4.07 per cent interest.

This brings up another problem. By law, the Treasury can't pay more than 4¼ per cent interest on a bond.

Some people want the ceiling raised. They say the Treasury should obtain more long-term loans even if it has to offer record interest rates to get the money.

The present interest ceiling has been in effect since 1918. The Treasury is determined to avoid asking Congress to increase it except as a last resort.

Williams Ranks Schooling With Defense

Proposes Top Priority for Education

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan has asked top priority for two federal aid-to-schools bills pending in Congress.

"The long line of national defense no longer ends in the factory but in the school room," he said.

"I have no hesitancy in putting education at the top of those things urgently needing attention—right at a level with national defense."

The Democratic governor, addressing a convention of National Education Assn. school principals yesterday, urged passage of the Murray-Metcalf and McNamara bills. The latter would authorize a two-billion-dollar school construction program.

Williams said the 3.5 per cent of U. S. gross national product being spent on public education is not enough. Most of any increase must come from the federal government, he added, because of the division of taxable resources.

Educational support at pre-university level, he said, is now divided approximately this way: Local, 56 per cent; state, 40 per cent; federal, 4 per cent.

The principals adopted a resolution endorsing federal aid for schools. They recommended general aid rather than specific programs.

"Free public education, one of the great distinguishing marks of American democracy, is in serious danger of being thwarted by our national failure to finance it adequately," Williams said.

"Either this nation puts more money into education, and does it right now, or we're going to end up either lowering the standard of education for everyone or providing fuller education only for a few and curtailed education for the many, or possibly both."

Williams said state and local governments alone no longer can provide sufficient money for education needs.

State Senators Rap 1958 Act

Provision for Executive Reorganization Basis of Seven Proposals

LANSING (UP)—The 1958 Executive Reorganization Act, basis for seven proposals now before the Legislature, is under oblique attack in the Senate from those who waged a last ditch fight against it last year.

However, the substance of Gov. Williams recommendations was not directly affected by the move, even though it was aimed at killing his proposed executive orders.

Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) and two other Republicans yesterday incorporated the content of the orders into seven bills and introduced them.

With the bills came a resolution urging rejection of the executive orders which would automatically take effect unless either Senate or House formally voted them down by mid-April.

"I am doing everything I can to get us back into a constitutional method of operating," Hutchinson explained to newsmen. "If the Legislature ever accepts this executive decree business, it has revolutionized our government."

Como Signs Biggest Pact in TV at $25 Million

NEW YORK (UP)—Perry Como has signed a 25-million-dollar television contract with Kraft Foods, said to be the largest individual deal in TV history, his agent said today.

The announcement came in a telegram from Harry Sobol personal press representative of Como.

Sobol said the amount involved is for 104 weeks, and includes programing, time and all costs of production, including guest stars.

Como's premiere for Kraft will be Sept. 30, 1959. The tentative title of the show is "Kraft Music Hall Presents Perry Como."

Makarios Sees Eoka Leader

Said to Have Convinced Col. Grivas to Leave Cyprus for Awhile

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—Greek Orthodox Archbishop Makarios met Col. George Grivas, Greek underground leader, at the home of a mutual friend last night for the first time since Cyprus was promised independence, it was reported today.

A source close to the archbishop's household said he believes Makarios convinced the leader of the anti-British underground, called Eoka, that he should leave Cyprus.

Makarios' press secretary would neither confirm nor deny the report.

Grivas has been as elusive since Britain, Greece and Turkey agreed on a Cyprus settlement as he was before. Although British troops are no longer hunting him, he is not known to have appeared publicly anywhere on the island.

Gov. Sir Hugh Foot has agreed to grant Grivas a pardon provided he will leave Cyprus until the island formally becomes free, probably in about a year.

Rock Slide Menace Creeps 22 Inches

HERBRIGGEN, Switzerland (UP)—The million-ton rock slide threatening this nearly deserted Alpine village has moved 22 inches in two days. But the government says there is no immediate cause for alarm.

The lower part of the huge mass of rock, earth and ice is still 640 feet from the edge of the precipice above Herbriggen. The slide had been stationary for several weeks.

Michigan Leading Rival for Florida Tourist Dollar

By JOE HAAS

MIAMI, Fla. — In seeking appropriations to continue their work of plugging Florida as a tourist state, its various associations of that kind now point out that Michigan has become its most formidable contender.

HAAS

This may sound odd when most of the northern states have had such a hard winter, but it has been found that a majority of the people in the nation take only one vacation in a year.

They either go south in the winter or north in the summer. If Michigan persuades them to come that way, they won't go to Florida.

In endeavoring to get funds for its publicity budget one Florida association says, "Michigan now is a united state. The Mackinac bridge did that.

"It has the Great Lakes and thousands of inland lakes. It is nearer to the mass population than is Florida. Its four tourist associations are pulling together, and they're getting our business more than any other northern state. Florida can learn a lesson from Michigan."

Even the airlines serving Miami are worried. Its airports, long claimed to be the busiest in the world in winter, are feeling the change. The great Miami Herald frankly admits that the gravy train is running stale.

WON'T CONTINUE

In a lead editorial it quotes a top official of Eastern Airlines as follows:

"We might as well face the fact that the bright flow of tourist dollars that has nourished and sustained us all these years will not continue of its own accord. We've got to go after them against increasingly tough competition."

With tourism furnishing 92 per cent of Florida's income outside of the citrus industry, it can be seen that there is reason for worry, especially when there already is a considerable exodus from here among people who came from the North to make this state their permanent home.

They've found that while there's some saving on fuel bills there are items to offset that. The insurance rates on an average automobile is $35 higher here than in Michigan.

Florida has more swamps (they're not called that here) and low ground than any other state. It has over one thousand different varieties of snakes and other reptiles, including the most venemous.

The lowlands provide them an ideal habitat, but they even crawl out on the sidewalks and pavements.

'NEEDS DITCHING'

The modern sand sucker and bulldozer are lifting Florida out of the morass but, in the words of an old Michigan farmer, "It still needs a lot of ditching."

Agriculture in the state is having its troubles. Staple northern vegetables simply do not grow as well here. Apples and peaches are almost unknown, or haven't a semblance of the Michigan flavor.

Citrus fruits alone are grown successfully, and then only in an area about 100 miles wide across the center of the state.

Orange juice is feeling the effects of northern apple juice to such a degree that state regulations have been eased on its production. It got a big bump in last year's freeze when many of the frozen oranges were converted into juice of below standard quality.

The farm editor of the Miami Herald today writes, "Northern competition is forcing Florida farmers to plow their potato crops. Storage potatoes from the North are flooding the local markets." The quality may have something to do with this.

But, as far as climate, tropical verdure and ideal living surroundings are concerned, Florida is a world jewel, especially in its southern portion.

Its peninsula shape and general contour reminds one of Michigan—its first advantage. It's a good place to spend a winter vacation, but has many features that make a Michiganite think more of his home state.

Flag Atop State Capitol Continues to Wave Askew

LANSING (AP) — A steeplejack will untangle the American flag atop the State Capitol as soon as weather permits.

The flag has been suspended by one rope and frequently tangles with the staff since a rope broke several weeks ago.

Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield) wants to know why the worn mooring rope wasn't replaced before it broke.

John Gafner, state property manager, said a steeplejack attempted to climb the 75-foot pole again yesterday but found it too windy.

"Even a little breeze can whip that inch and a half pipe," Gafner said, "and ice forms on the pipe when the temperature is below 20 degrees."

Truman Wants to Be an Editor

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman said he wishes he could be a newspaper editor for awhile—so he could get what he wants in the paper.

Truman made the remark in a brief speech to a Press Congress of the World being held at the University of Missouri during the 50th anniversary of the university's School of Journalism.

Delegates from more than 40 countries have met the past three days at the University to discuss such subjects as a better free press.

"I don't know what a free press is—I have never seen one," Truman said. "I want to be a telegraph editor or one of those blue pencil men. Then I could get what I wanted in the papers."

Bay City Firms Favored

BAY CITY (AP) — The Bay City Board of Education has decided to limit bidding on the general contract for construction of a new intermediate school to Bay City firms because of widespread unemployment in the city.

Queen Victoria's parents lived in Germany but they moved to Kensington Palace so that she would be born on English soil.

Hal Boyle Says:

Parents' Attitude Downfall of Today's Youth

NEW YORK (AP) — Socrates, reputed the wisest man of antiquity, was given a hemlock cup for corrupting the youth of Athens.

Yet all he did was ask them questions designed to help them think for themselves.

In every period of history someone is accused of leading the young folks astray by giving them false ideas. Who today should be handed the lethal cup of hemlock?

Who is spoiling the present younger generation? That is, if we go along with the always popular generalization that the current crop of youngsters is the brattiest, the most irresponsible bunch of smart alecs ever to sorrow and sully a hopeful time.

Is the postwar letdown in morality to blame? Is Hollywood? Is television?

We doubt that it is any of these things. The blame lies closer to home. In fact it lies in the home.

If anything is spoiling the younger generation today it is the generation that preceded it—our own. If anything is setting them a bad example, it is us. If they are lax, it is because we have been lax with them.

The biggest culprits are probably middle-class parents, by far the largest class in America. The poor don't have the money to spoil their young; the rich, by and large, can afford to—but usually don't. Children born to wealth generally learn its value young.

It's the self-made man who started from nothing and struggled his way up to a $10,000-to-$15,000 a year salary who sometimes seems most adept at spoiling his own children.

Recently we dined at the home of such a man. During the meal he reminisced about how much tougher life was when he was a boy.

"Yeah, popsy," jeered his 18-year-old son. "Tell us again how you used to have to swim three miles each way to school every day."

Later, when we were alone, the father remarked rather wryly on his son's lack of appreciation.

"I had to quit college after two years to help out my family," he said. "But my son has never had to work a day in his life. I give him a good allowance, he has his own car. I couldn't afford to join a fraternity. He belongs to the best one on his campus.

"But with all his advantages, he isn't paying any attention to his studies. I'm afraid he's going to flunk out. And that'll break his mother's heart."

Asked why he didn't make his son earn at least part of his way, he said: "Well, I want life for him to be easier than it was for me. I think I missed a lot by having to work too hard, too young."

Isn't the biggest sin most middle-class parents are visiting on their children today the sin of trying to make life too easy for them?

Our fathers, if we remember correctly, always assured us with melancholy conviction that we were "going to hell in a handwagon." If we did, we at least built the wagon ourselves.

Aren't too many of the young people going to hell today riding there in comfort in a 200-horsepower motor car bought by their own parents?

Golf Duffers Will Love It

Mars Sportsmen's Utopia

By JAY HOLMES
AP Feature Writer

If you plan to visit Mars on your vacation in 2003, be sure to bring plenty of color film for your camera and your golf clubs, tennis racquet or skis.

The Martian sky is deep purple. Blue, white and yellow clouds hang high over the red desert landscape. Stars shine even by day.

Sports will be a major attraction for tourists because Mars' gravity is about two-fifths that on earth.

Since your muscles will be just as strong, you will be able to jump more than twice as high or as far.

The average tennis player's game will be much better. In golf, earthly duffers may drive the ball 500 yards or more. Ski jumping—twice as far as on earth—will draw the more adventurous to the Martian polar hills.

You'll need specially insulated clothes, even if you plan to stay near the equator. The temperature there may climb to 80 Fahrenheit during the day but it can fall 100 below at night. On the average, Martian temperatures are 80 or 90 degrees below those on earth.

Bring a space helmet too. Martian air is as thin as that 11 miles above the earth. And it has no oxygen.

You won't need a raincoat. It never rains, hails or snows on Mars. The frost and ice in the polar regions condense directly from the air when the weather turns cold. There are no oceans, rivers or lakes.

The brightest objects in the night sky are Mars' two little moons, Phohos and Deimos.

Phobos, the larger, is only 10 miles in diameter. But it is so close to Mars that it looks about a third as large as our moon does from earth.

Deimos will be harder to find. It is only five miles in diameter and much higher. It looks from Mars like a bright star and takes from two to three days to cross the sky.

Around sunrise and sunset, a greenish star will be one of the brightest in the purple sky. If you look at it through binoculars or a small telescope, you may be able to pick out the oceans and continents of the garden planet earth.

Mars will be an ideal place to spend a honeymoon—as soon as we overcome its one main drawback.

You can't kiss your bride through a space helmet.

Bearskins Need Lot of Lovin'

Mangy Hats of British Guardsmen Lambasted in Letter to Times

LONDON (AP) — Britain's famed Brigades of Guards today fought grimly for the honor of their bearskins.

The tall, furry hats guardsmen have worn on state occasions since before Waterloo were under fire.

Ex-RAF man Peter Page, in a letter to the London Times, wrote that the bearskins on guardsmen outside Buckingham Palace were in disturbing variety.

"Some have fierce looking fringes and look magnificent," he wrote. "Some have no fringes at all and look curiously bald. Others have a slightly tattered, almost mangy, look about them."

He suggested some of the headpieces might even be veterans of the Napoleonic wars.

"Cannot money be found to provide new bearskins, at least for the men supplying the guard at the palace?" he asked. "Most foreign visitors come to see the pageantry of Britain. It is rather letting the side down for it to have a slightly comic, moth-ridden appearance."

Well-trimmed mustaches bristled angrily in barracks throughout Britain. The Grenadiers, Coldstreams, Scots, Irish and Welsh Brigades instinctively closed ranks.

"Whenever a bearskin becomes unserviceable, it is replaced," retorted the War Office curtly.

"Exaggerated," snapped Lt. Col. Michael O'Cock, brigade major of the Household Brigade which supplies the Queen's sentries.

But after a moment of reflection he added apologetically: "We are sorry to have to agree that some caps are a little scruffy."

"I am afraid they are not replaced often enough. Some are 50 years old. Worn ones are cut up and used to make new ones."

At the Ministry of Supply a spokesman admitted a shortage. The ministry is experimenting with nylon, he said.

Finally, a bearskin wearer, Regimental Sgt. Maj. Douglas Glisson: "Bearskins need a lot of lovin'. You've got to treasure them like your best girl."

Glisson ran his fingers affectionately down his own glossy model.

Expert Chaser of Starlings Takes Big Job

Standke has been hired by Earl Brookover, who operates an 80-acre feed yard that can handle 11,000 animals at Garden City, Kan.

Brookover says the starlings eat feed and roost on the cattle's backs, causing discomfort and loss of weight.

Standke has chased starlings from buildings in Wichita, Indianapolis and Louisville, Ky., working at night.

"I'll have to work in the daytime for a change on this job," he said.

But he is confident of success and expects to be back home in Great Bend in time to celebrate his 71st birthday Tuesday.

Prepares for Rhubarb Festival

By JANET O'DELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Teenage cooks in the eastern part of Oakland County are hunting up their best recipes and getting out their favorite mixing bowls. This Saturday is the Fourth Annual Hothouse Rhubarb Festival in Utica. The teenagers are hoping to win prizes for their rhubarb dishes.

By now most of the readers in this area are aware that ninety per cent of all the country's hothouse rhubarb is grown in the countryside around Utica. In 1956 the rhubarb growers and the Utica Rotary Club decided to sponsor a festival honoring the long pink stuff. Michigan Cooperative Extension Service has worked with the sponsoring group.

The Festival is open to the public. Tours of rhubarb houses are planned for the afternoon and are a rewarding experience. Acres and acres of pink stalks pushing up through the dark soil are a beautiful sight. The rhubarb grows in darkness. We recommend taking this tour.

Anyone who is interested in entering the rhubarb cooking contest can get further information from the Cooperative Extension Service, Phone FEderal 4-6524.

Janet Postma, a fifteen-year-old member of the 4-H Club, lives in Troy Township. She is planning to enter the rhubarb cooking contest this year. Janet is a Junior Leader in 4-H work. She has a stamp collection, does some sewing and loves to skate.

RHUBARB CRUNCH
By Janet Postma

1 cup uncooked rolled oats
1 cup sifted all purpose flour
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup butter or margarine
2 cups diced rhubarb, unpeeled
½ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon water

Mix oats, flour and brown sugar. Cut in butter or margarine with pastry blender until crumbly. Place half of this mixture in a greased 8x8 pan.

Cover with uncooked rhubarb, mixed with remaining ingredients. Top with other half of oat mixture. Bake 45 minutes in a 350-degree oven. Serve warm, cut into squares. Vanilla ice cream makes a delicious topping for this dessert.

Have you ever considered rhubarb as a cream puff filling: Fixed in the way Janet Postma does it, it's luscious.

Rhubarb Cream Puff Filling

1½ cups diced rhubarb
½ cup sugar
¼ cup water
½ cup heavy cream whipped

Cook rhubarb, sugar and water together for about 20 minutes, or until rhubarb is soft and mixture is thick. Cool. When cold fold in whipped cream. This will make about 1½ cups filling, or enough for six large cream puffs.

Pontiac Press Photo

FOR THE FESTIVAL — Janet Postma of Troy Township does a dress rehearsal of the dish she expects to enter in the cooking contest at the Annual Rhubarb Festival to be held Saturday at Utica High School. All homemakers in this area are invited to enter rhubarb dishes. Details may be had from the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service.

Bread's Biggest Expense Is Labor

How much does the wheat in a loaf of bread cost? The actual farm value for wheat used in the average pound loaf of bread is about 2½ cents. The big expenses in getting a loaf of bread in your market basket are costs for baking, wholesaling and retailing it, states the Marketing Information Agent.

In the spring of 1958, cost of baking and wholesaling a one pound loaf of bread was 10.8 cents while the retailer's average markup was 3.3 cents a loaf. About a half a cent went to the miller for making the flour.

In spite of recent increases in the price of bread, it is getting less expensive in relation to wages. In 1937 one hour of factory labor could purchase 11 one pound loaves of white bread in contrast to 9.7 loaves in 1948.

Pickle Shrimp for Appetizer

The zesty pickled shrimp appetizer suggested in the above picture is a full bodied treat the men will particularly favor. It should be prepared ahead of time, using whole shrimp. The shrimp is marinated in a piquant pickle to develop a most tempting flavor. Serve these shrimp with Gouda cheese slices, fancy crackers and your favorite beverage at your next open house.

Here's the recipe for Pickled Shrimp.

Pickled Shrimp

3 tablespoons mixed pickling spices
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons sugar
3 cups vinegar
1 cup salad oil
2 pounds fresh shrimp, cook shelled and deveined
1 medium-sized white onion, cut into ⅛ inch slices

Mix pickling spices, salt, sugar and vinegar together in saucepan; bring to boiling point. Remove from heat and stir in oil. Arrange shrimp and onion slices in alternate layers in mixing bowl. Pour hot vinegar mixture over shrimp.

Place saucer over shrimp and press down (to hold shrimp in pickling mixture). Cover and season in refrigerator 24 hours before serving. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Fish Needs Good Sauce

Enliven baked, broiled or fried fish dishes with a savory sauce made by folding chopped ripe olives and chopped pickles into mayonnaise. Season with salt, fresh ground black pepper and dill seed.

Strawberries, Rhubarb Sure Signs of Spring

Nicer weather, fresh strawberries and hothouse rhubarb are reminders that spring is sure to come. Continued low pork prices and many "sales" of canned vegetables and fruits are other "signs of the times" at the grocery stores.

Most pork cuts are priced to gain your attention, and will likely be during the next six weeks, reports the MSU Marketing Agent. The large fall crop of pigs will reach its peak of supply late in March or early April. This guarantees the family that likes pork pleasurable good eating at reasonable cost.

If you are looking for a lean pork roast, you might choose Boston butt at 15 to 20 cents a serving. Loin roasts fit into about the same price bracket. Bacon is less in the luxury class than it will be other times of the year. Smoked picnics are economical when you figure that each pound serves two people.

Need pork to cook quickly? Then rib, center or loin chops are easy choices. Good cooks will brown them first, then put the lid on and cook gently until they are a dull gray color all the way through. If any pink shows, fresh pork is not done.

More cattle are being fed on grain this winter than ever before and you are finding more U. S. Choice grade beef as a result. Look for labels that tell the grade or ask someone in the meat department about the grade.

Smart shoppers can tell U. S. Choice grade beef just by looking. It has a generous layer of white, firm fat on the outside of the cut and tiny streaks of fat running through the lean. These tiny streaks, called "marbling," melt when the meat is cooked leaving the cut tender and easy to eat. The lean of U. S. Choice beef will be bright cherry red and the bone will be pinkish red and porous.

What other protein foods will you consider this week? Lamb and veal prices are about as they have been for several weeks. Some stores are featuring poultry. Take your choice of fryers, stewers or turkeys for as little as 40 cents a pound. A little arithmetic will give cost per serving when you figure that fryers yield 1½ servings per pound; stewers and turkeys weighing over 12 pounds yield 2 servings per pound. Fish will cost 10 to 40 cents a serving.

Other meat alternates are eggs, cheese and dry beans or peas. Two large eggs, three ounces of cheddar or one-half cup of cottage cheese, or one cup of cooked dry beans or peas are ways to "extend" meat dollars.

Fresh Florida strawberries are being "flown in" at their peak of fresh ripeness. They are few and price is high, but a few go a long way on ice cream or shortcake to defy lagging appetites.

Michigan's hothouse rhubarb is near its peak of supply. This will be highlighted by the annual festival in Utica, March 7, and in your grocery stores during the next two months. Again, a little goes a long way when used in sauce or hundreds of dessert possibilities.

Try Peanut Coated Chicken

Of all the varieties of fried chicken, there are still only a few that are truly exciting. If there is any place in the country where they know good fried chicken it is down in Georgia.

They raise a heap of frying chickens down that way and they also raise a lot of peanuts, so here's how they combine the two into a fried chicken treat that will satisfy the most exacting expert. This deep-South concoction has a crisp, brown crust that makes your main course as delectable as dessert.

GEORGIA CRUSTY CHICKEN

1 (2 to 2½ lb.) frying chicken, cut up
½ cup cracker meal
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
½ cup finely ground salted peanuts
Salt and pepper
1 egg
2 tablespoons of milk

Dip cut-up chicken in egg-milk batter, then dip each piece in combination of ground peanuts, cracker meal, salt, peper and chopped parsley. Be sure chicken is evenly coated with the peanuts and cracker crumbs.

Fry in hot peanut oil in heavy frying pan until each piece is golden brown and tender. Drain on paper towels. Serve piping hot, with gravy made from pan drippings.

To make gravy: Drain fat from skillet; leaving brown pieces of peanut cracker crust (any that fell off chicken) in skillet. Measure 2 tablespoons flour, blend well with 2 tablespoons fat in skillet, then add, all at once, 1 cup water. Stir constantly until gravy is of proper consistency. Season to taste.

Serve fried chicken with hot biscuits, corn on the cob or buttered lima beans, and a tossed green salad for a dinner that's sure to please.

Peanut oil is one of the best cooking oils on the market. Its high smoking point of 450 degrees makes it ideal for frying chicken, fish, doughnuts, potato chips and other foods. It doesn't retain odors, which makes it possible to use the same oil for frying again and again. For salad dressings, peanut oil is an excellent alternative for olive oil.

TOSSED GREEN SALAD

Rub wooden salad bowl with cut garlic bud for a faint whisper of garlic in salad. Pluck apart (by hand) and break up crisp salad greens—lettuce, chicory, endive, romaine, watercress or red cabbage (combination of salad greens adds interest to salads.) Add bite-size pieces of green pepper, cucumber, tomato, and cauliflower; chopped chives and radish slices.

Just before serving, add dressing —only enough to make leaves of greens glisten. Gently toss together until every piece of vegetable is coated. Serve in large bowl, individual bowls or on individual salad plates.

PEANUT DRESSING

¾ cup peanut oil
¼ cup wine vinegar
½ teaspoon celery seed
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon mustard
1 teaspoon sugar
Few drops onion juice
½ teaspoon salad herbs

Keep in covered jar in refrigerator. Shake well before using. Makes 1 cup dressing. Use for tossed green salads with finely chopped peanuts sprinkled over top of salad.

Note: Another simple and good dressing that adds a piquant taste to salads is a mixture of 1/3 cup peanut butter to 2/3 cup mayonnaise.

RAISIN-ALMOND PUDDING—Seedless raisins and toasted almonds contribute to the goodness of this pudding. It's just the kind of dessert to serve at this time of year when everyone wants hearty meals. Cream or a lemon sauce is a good accompaniment.

Raisin Pudding Served Warm

Make-it yourself projects, whether rugs, ruffles or recipes provide a great feeling of achievement. One feels that one's personality is injected into the accomplishment.

This delicious desert, raisin and almond pudding, is a real "personality" item. It reflects the inventive effort of the home-baker. It provides something unusual and unique for family and friends. It suggests the pride-ful statement, "I thought it up and baked it myself."

Raisin-Almond Pudding

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teasoon salt
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup seedless raisins
½ cup chopped, blanched, toasted almonds
1 egg
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
½ teaspoon almond extract

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, and sugar; cut in butter or margarine until mixture is fine. Mix with raisins and almonds. Combine egg, milk, and extracts; beat until blended; stir into dry ingredients, mixing only until flour mixture is dampened.

Spoon into 6 5-ounce greased custard cups. Bake in a 350 degree (moderate) oven about 35 minutes. Serve warm with lemon sauce or cream.

Toast Cereal With Filberts for Snack

Cereal Crisps With Filberts

1 box (6 ounces) bite-size shredded rice biscuits
⅓ cup butter
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon celery salt
6 tablespoons freshly-grated Romano cheese
1 cup salted toasted filberts

Remove cereal shreds so they won't soak up butter; divide biscuits in half. Melt half the butter in a heavy 9- or 10-inch skillet over low heat; stir in half the salt, celery salt and onion powder. Add half the biscuits.

Toast, stirring often, until lightly browned — 5 to 10 minutes; remove from heat. At once sprinkle with half the cheese and some paprika; stir carefully but well. Dump onto brown paper.

Clean skillet and prepare remaining biscuits with remaining butter and seasonings the same way. Mix both batches with filberts. Store in tightly covered container. Makes enough for 12 servings.

Lenten Dish Is Sweet and Sour

Are you running out of ideas for Lenten dishes?

You'll find this shrimp-pineapple casserole a wonderful surprise. The flavors of the various ingredients combine into an exotic taste treat. Not only is it tasty and decorative, but it's easy to prepare.

You are sure to be serving this delightful casserole to your family and friends year around.

Shrimp-pineapple Casserole

1 pound shrimp
¼ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup vinegar
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 No. 2 can pineapple chunks
1 green pepper, cut into strips
2 small onions, cut in rings
4 cups cooked rice

Cook shrimp in boiling water for 10 minutes, drain; shell and clean shrimp. Mix brown sugar, cornstarch, and salt. Add vinegar, soy sauce, juice from can of pineapple chunks, and cook to a smooth sauce, stirring constantly. Add green pepper strips, onion rings, and pineapple chunks, and cook 2 or 3 minutes.

Remove from heat, and add shrimps. Let stand about 10 minutes. Just before serving, bring to boiling point. Serve over hot rice. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Tiny Pan Rolls Will Be Treat for Any Meal

Freshly-baked yeast rolls contribute glamour and excitement to the meal whenever they're served. You'll have fun shaping and baking Miniature Pan Rolls.

A surprise is in store for you, too. Soda and dairy sour cream give these rolls a snow-white appearance. Sour cream also adds interest to the nut-like yeast flavor.

Miniature Pan Rolls

1 package yeast, compressed or dry
¼ cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
2 cups dairy sour cream
3 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon soda
5 cups sifted enriched flour (about)

Soften yeast in water. Let stand 10 minutes. Add sugar, salt and soda to sour cream. Add flour to make a thick batter. Add softened yeast and mix well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny. Shape dough into small balls about size of walnut.

Place close together in 2 greased 8-inch square pans, allowing 6 to 7 balls for each row. Let rise until doubled (about 1½ hours). Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 30 minutes. Makes about 8 dozen small rolls.

Sliced bananas, strawberries and oranges are all delicious served in orange juice. Nice for Sunday brunch.

Brush Tabasco Sauce on Ham Kabobs

Kabob cookery means good eating any time of year and you'll find these three kabob combinations an inspired way to use leftover Easter ham.

A rich tasting barbecue type sauce made with unsulphured molasses, mustard, vinegar, worcestershire sauce and tabasco is used as both a marinade and basting sauce for cubes of ham and pineapple chunks. The succulent combination is broiled for 20 minutes and can be served with remaining sauce.

Ham and apple cubes are delicious when similarly treated with a tabasco, butter, lime juice and herb sauce. You really brush on flavor when you baste kabobs with tabasco seasoned sauces. Its true red pepper taste lifts food out of the ordinary.

Another combination you'll want to broil on skewers is ham cubes, fresh mushrooms and tiny onions. The ham is marinated first in a sauce made with beer, chili sauce, vinegar, worcestershire sauce, sugar and that essential seasoning, tabasco, and the mixture is later used as a basting sauce during broiling.

Ham and Pineapple Kabobs

- ⅓ cup unsulphured molasses
- ¼ cup prepared mustard
- 2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon tabasco
- 1½ pounds cooked ham, cut in 1½-inch cubes
- 1 can (20 ounces) pineapple chunks

Thoroughly combine unsulphured molasses and prepared mustard. Gradually stir in vinegar and worcestershire sauce. Add tabasco; mix well. Add ham cubes; let stand 1 hour. Alternate ham and pineapple on skewers; brush with sauce.

Place in pre-heated broiler or on grill about 4 inches from heat. Broil 20 minutes, turning occasionally and brushing with sauce. Serve with remaining heated sauce. Yield: 6 servings.

Ham and Apple Kabobs

- ⅓ cup butter or margarine
- 2 teaspoons flour
- ⅓ cup water
- 3 tablespoons lime or lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon each thyme, rosemary and marjoram
- ½ teaspoon paprika
- 1½ pounds cooked ham, cut in 1½-inch cubes
- 2 apples, cored and cut into 8 wedges each

Melt butter, blend in flour. Remove from heat. Combine tabasco, water and lime juice; add to butter mixture. Stir in salt, herbs and paprika. Add ham cubes; let stand 1 hour. Alternate ham and apple wedges on skewers; brush with sauce.

Place in pre-heated broiler or on grill about 4 inches from heat. Broil 20 minutes, turning occasionally and brushing with sauce. Yield: 6 servings.

Ham and Mushroom Kabobs

- ½ cup bottle or canned ale or beer
- ⅓ cup chili sauce
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1 tablespoon worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon tabasco
- 1½ pounds cooked ham, cut into 1½-inch cubes
- ½ pound fresh mushrooms
- 12 small whole onions, peeled and parboiled

Mix together beer, chili sauce, vinegar, worcestershire sauce, sugar and tabasco in a saucepan. Add ham cubes; let stand one hour. Alternate ham and vegetables on skewers; brush with sauce. Place in pre-heated broiler or on grill about 4-inches from heat. Broil 20 minutes turning occasionally and brushing with sauce. Yield: 6 servings.

Ever make jam sandwiches and then dip them into an egg-and-milk mixture and fry in butter like French toast?

Crunchy Top Contains Cheese

Sour cream, cheese and corn flake crumbs spell swell eating when they're combined in a topping for potato slices.

A Lenten time natural, Potato Cheese Crunch is easy to prepare, bakes in a jiffy.

The potatoes are only a single layer deep so that every one gets plenty of the crunchy topping.

Potato Cheese Crunch

5 to 6 medium potatoes
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup (½ pint) cultured sour cream
- ½ cup milk
- 1 cup (4 oz.) grated sharp cheese
- ½ cup very fine corn flake crumbs

Peel potatoes and slice in ¼-inch slices into mixing bowl containing cold water. When all potatoes are sliced, drain off water. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and stir well with fork. Pour on sour cream which has milk added to it.

Spread in a thin layer, having the potatoes only a single layer deep, on a 15x10-inch jelly roll pan or a large shallow baking dish. Sprinkle grated cheese and crumbs over the top. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 35-40 minutes or until slices are tender. Makes 6 servings.

PICKLED PORK ROAST — Let an economical pork shoulder roast marinate in a spice and herb mixture for 24 hours. Then roast it slowly for a delicious late-winter treat.

Marinate Pork Shoulder Roast

This pork shoulder butt has been pickled then roasted and is served with lima beans. Accompany the savory roast with a salad of avocado and orange wedges.

Pickled Pork Roast

5 pounds pork shoulder butt
2 cups white vinegar
2 tablespoons salt
2 tablespoons sugar
8 peppercorns
1 teaspoon celery seed
2 bay leaves
2 cloves garlic, cut in halves
1 onion, sliced
10 cloves

Place pork in deep crock. Mix vinegar, salt and sugar and stir in peppercorns, celery seed, bay leaves, garlic, onions, and cloves; pour over pork. Cover and refrigerate 24 hours, turning several times.

Drain meat reserving marinade and place on rack in a shallow baking pan. Insert meat thermometer, and roast at 325 degrees until thermometer registers an internal temperature of 185 degrees, about three to three and one-half hours.

Half an hour before meat is cooked, remove it from the oven, score fat and stud with cloves. Pour over the meat ½ cup of the reserved marinade and return to oven to finish cooking. Baste with more of the marinade at 10 minute intervals during remainder of cooking.

Federal School Lunch Program Grows

By JANET ODELL,
Pontiac Press Home Editor

"To safeguard the health and well-being of the Nation's children and to encourage the domestic consumption of nutritious agricultural commodities and other foods." This statement explains the purpose of the Federal School Lunch Program. It is a direct quotation from the law passed on June 4, 1946.

From this point on the law is specific. It lists exactly what must be included in a school lunch if the school is to get a subsidy. It states that lunches must be available to all children, regardless of their ability to pay. The actual amount of the subsidy varies from time to time.

Just what does your child get for lunch at school? He gets one main dish, or a main dish and one other menu item, that contains two ounces of lean meat, poultry, or fish; or two ounces of cheese; or an egg; or half a cup of cooked dry beans or peas; or four tablespoons of peanut butter. This insures adequate protein intake.

Secondly, he gets three-quarters of a cup of two or more vegetables or fruits, or both. This may take the form of juice for part of the requirement.

He gets a slice of whole-grain or enriched bread or some kind of muffin or roll; and two teaspoons of butter or fortified margarine. He also gets one-half pint of fluid whole milk. If chocolate milk is on the menu, it must be made from whole milk with 3.5 per cent butterfat.

Most schools add a dessert to the above lunch. The child gets several pounds of food on his tray. The lunch is a hearty one.

Although most of the food used for the school lunch program is purchased locally, some of it comes from the Government in the form of food subsidies. These vary from time to time and are in addition to the cash subsidy. One year there may be a surplus of peanut butter and the one who plans the menus has to think of several new ways to use it.

CHEESE THIS YEAR

This year schools have been getting an excellent cheese. When we asked why we can't make macaroni and cheese for the Ten-Year-Old that he thinks is as good as he gets at school, we are told that we probably didn't have such good cheese.

As most of the readers who are mothers know, children may buy extra milk at school for a very reasonable sum. This is available to the children who carry their lunches as well as a source of extra milk for those who purchase their food.

On an average school day in Oakland County 26,351 lunches will be served to school children and teachers (teachers pay a higher price for the school lunch, you know). In a year over 15,000,000 half pints of milk will be used.

In the 12 years since the School Lunch Program became a fact the number of schools in the country that are participating has almost quadrupled. It is estimated that over 140 million half pints of milk will be served this year.

BENEFITS

What does this mean to you? It means that children are getting a better deal. In these days of consolidated schools where children stay all day the lunch program becomes part of the school curriculum.

The children learn to eat new foods and gain a few table manners. For some children it is their first experience of eating away from home with their contemporaries.

School lunches in the Pontiac area cost about 30 cents. It is a reasonable price, considering the amount and quality of food that is served. Children from families where 30 cents a day is just too much can have the lunches free; this is arranged through the school office.

Some schools make the lunch planning a learning process for the students. After studying the requirements for a Type A lunch (the one served in most of the schools), these students make up menus and submit them to the dietician or the cooks. We heard recently of one school where all the lunches are so planned.

Serve Guests Hot Dips for Vegetable Dunking

An extra has been added to the search for something new and interesting to pass with drinks when you welcome guests. The nibble foods we call appetizers or canapes or hors d'oeuvres must now taste good without adding much to our calorie intake.

For guests who count calories (and who doesn't) you can set up appetizers so delectable that it is hard to believe they count under 10 calories each.

Hide the salted peanuts and the potato chips, and prepare an easy and flavorful dip, served hot for the winter season, with chilled crisp vegetables for dunking.

Your large bowl of vegetables arranged on crushed ice or cubes will arouse excited comments if you include washed raw mushrooms, new broccoli stalks, carrot and celery sticks, cauliflower heads and even thawed and drained frozen asparagus, served uncooked. Add to this list of vegetable "dippers": artichoke hearts, small crisp romaine leaves, fennel cut into sticks, and turnip sticks.

The dips which follow are new on two counts. They are low-calorie versions of popular, appetite-teasing dips. And you may be among the first to serve them hot instead of cold, kept warm in a small chafing dish over very low heat, or on an electric warming tray set at low heat.

To serve more than one hot dip conveniently from a chafing dish or electric skillet, fill pan one-half full with hot water, and set dips in heat-proof bowls, in the water bath.

Tomato Bagna Caudo

A low-calorie version of a famous Italian "hot bath" for crisp vegetables.

1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
1 tablespoon anchovy, mashed or paste
1 to 2 cloves of garlic, mashed to a paste with a dash of pepper, pinch of tarragon

Heat and keep hot over an alcohol burner or small electric unit. Yield: about 1 cup.

Zesty Hot Dip

1 pint cottage cheese
¼ cup buttermilk
1 envelope dehydrated onion soup mix

Beat cottage cheese and buttermilk until smooth. Stir in the onion soup mix, straight from its envelope. Just before serving, heat slowly, stirring constantly. To keep hot for a long period, set in heat-proof bowl, over hot water. Serve with crisp cold vegetables for dipping — and guests will marvel at the flavor. Yield: generous 2 cups.

Add minched chives and parsley to butter by creaming together, then serve a dollop of the mixture on broiled chops or steak.

Jump Off and Try for Gold Ring—Abby

Stuck on Merry-Go-Round, Traveling the Brass Circuit

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I receive help (financial) from a married man. He says he loves me and the only difference between our relationship and marriage is that he has to go home. I don't dare go out with anyone else because it might get back to him. I have no future with this man but what am I to do? Am I to be stuck with him forever because I have accepted his generosity? How does a woman get off a merry-go-round like this?" STUCK

ABBY

DEAR STUCK: She walks out the door, gets herself a job and supports herself like a million other self-respecting women do. And if she's wise she goes as far away as possible and leaves no forwarding address. All you can get on a merry-go-round is a brass ring. Try for a gold one.

"DEAR ABBY: I am 14 and my problem is kissing. I go with this boy who is also 14. He is polite and sweet and considerate but he always kisses me in public. I keep telling him, 'Not in public,' but he says he doesn't know the people and they don't know him. What can I do? Don't you think we are too young to kiss in public?"

KISSED IN PUBLIC

DEAR KISSED: Kissing in public is not acceptable at any age. Your boy friend is too fast for his age and I suggest you cut down on the kissing in private as well.

"DEAR ABBY: What do you do when your best girl friend and her mother get into a family argument? This happens all the time, and I feel like I would like to crawl into a hole. Should I just stand there like a dummy?"

MISS THIRD PARTY

DEAR THIRD: Don't stand there like a "dummy" . . . ask to be excused like a smart girl.

"DEAR ABBY: My sister and her husband visited us recently and when they got home they sent us a card congratulating us on our 50th wedding anniversary and there was a $25 check enclosed. Now, Abby, my husband and I were married in 1914 which is not 50 years ago. How could a sister make such a mistake? I don't feel right keeping the money and I don't think it would be nice to send it back. What should we do?"

FEELING FUNNY

DEAR FEELING: Write your sister and thank her. Tell her she made a boo-boo and ask her if she'd like you to hold the check until 1964.

"DEAR ABBY: Good for Mrs. John Doe! I am another widow who was shocked and dismayed when sympathy cards (and other social mail) came addressed to me as Mrs. Jane Doe. It was as though they felt I no longer had the right to use my dear departed husband's name. I don't know why so many people are ignorant of the proper etiquette in this matter.

"A divorcee might prefer to drop her husband's name, but a widow finds it hard to give up. Most widows want to continue to use their husband's name but aren't sure if it's correct, and if they missed your column they still don't know."

ANOTHER MRS. JOHN DOE

Offer Guests Snack Again When Fixed

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am a high school student and often bring friends home with me after school. As we have a late dinner, I am in the habit of having a snack after school. Very often my friends decline my offer to have something to eat.

"Would it be proper for me to go ahead and have something to eat in their presence, or should I forego the snack if they refuse to join me?"

Answer: You can go ahead and prepare something for yourself, but you must again offer some to your friends who will probably change their minds. They very likely refused in the first place in order to save you from preparing anything.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married shortly and we have run into a problem concerning wedding invitations. In addition to immediate families, we have decided to ask only closest relatives. This will mean 60 from my side of the family and only 20 from my fiance's side of the family.

"He thinks that he should be allowed to have the same number of guests as we and, since he doesn't have many relatives, that he should be permitted to ask friends to make up the difference. This is turning into quite a serious argument and I would like you to settle it."

Answer: The number of guests of each family is not always even. However, my advice is to allow him to invite his most intimate friends to the wedding. It seems unfortunate to begin your married life with a quarrel, and you can explain to your own uninvited friends the reason there are some of his friends, in addition to his relatives at the wedding.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be proper, or could it be considered an imposition, to ask the same friends who were godparents for our first child to also be godparents for our second one?"

Answer: While not improper, I think you should ask different godparents for your second child.

Acting Is No Whim for Gloria Vanderbilt

NEW YORK (UPI)—Quietly and unobtrusively, Gloria Vanderbilt goes about the business of being an actress.

She doesn't work as often as she could, but that is by her own choice. But she studies steadily, and she considers keeping in trim essential to an actress, so she works out regularly in a gym.

The idea that this pretty, much-publicized society heiress might merely have been indulging in a passing whim when she began acting about five years ago doesn't exist today. She has kept steadily at it, and reviewers for both stage and TV have commended her work.

"I don't want to give anyone the idea that I'm trying to be difficult when I say that I turn down roles and scripts now and then when they are offered to me," Miss Vanderbilt said. "But I don't feel I would do a good job if I took something just for the sake of seeming busy.

"I like scripts that are not just cut-and-dried; ones that let you use your imagination a little, both as performer and viewer, that maybe leave you wondering a bit as to their exact meaning. There aren't too many of them. Besides I have sons 7 and 8 who take up much of my time."

Her TV debut was in a "Studio One" two-parter years ago, "No Deadly Medicine," and the next year she did a "Kraft Theater" drama.

She has worked in summer stock theaters for the past three years, and last summer realized a long-held desire to play the leading role in "Peter Pan."

Wondrous Soap Does Everything

Guess who's blowing soap bubbles these days. Your telephone company! Sometimes holes and cracks occur in their cables, allowing moisture to seep in. So the company sprays a liquid solution of soap onto the cables, and the pressure of air inside causes soap bubbles to appear wherever there is even a tiny crack.

Isn't that something? It goes to prove that we can't get along in our wonderful modern world without soap. We can't be comfortable without soap, we can't have many conveniences without soap, and we can't be healthy without soap.

Fido's Treatment Works on Children

Mother of 4 Trains Dogs, Learns Tricks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Children's behavior won't go to the dogs if mom first learns to discipline Fido.

So says Pat Marcmann, a professional dog handler and mother of four children.

"Training dogs helps train children. I'd hate to admit I was a poor mother before I started this business, but I know I'm a better mother now," said Mrs. Marcmann, who showed 11 dogs, including a champion Keeshond, in the Westminster Dog Show here this week.

"After seeing that I could give a dog a command and get immediate results, I realized how lax my discipline was with my children. Now I try the same techniques on the youngsters, and it works.

"It's a real insult in our house to say, 'you're not minding as well as the dogs today," she said.

Mrs. Marcmann also believes children should train dogs to gain self-confidence and a sense of responsibility, to develop patience and poise and to learn to be kind to animals.

Mrs. Marcmann decided to become a professional handler after she got a Doberman Pinscher. She took lessons for two years, handled 13 breeds while she was an apprentice, and has worked some 70 shows.

Nearly every weekend Mrs. Marcmann, her engineer husband, Emil, one or more children and assorted dogs leave their six-acre farm near Norristown, Pa., for a show.

One daughter, Karen, 14, is a leading junior handler with 18 blue ribbons to her credit this year. Another teenage daughter and a 10-year-old son also are learning to handle dogs.

The family's 10 dogs are housed in small runs in the basement. Four have the run of the upstairs, and the heavy-coated dogs stay outdoors.

"There are always dogs in my kitchen," she said. "The other night we had six there — one had just arrived from California for a show. But we've never had any fights or trouble."

A versatile woman, she has dabbled in stock car racing, surf casting (in which she was a woman's champion) and at 13 played the flute in an orchestra. A registered nurse, she works nights in surgery at a local hospital — "just so I don't get stale."

Exchange Student Gives Talk

Jacquelin Baron, French foreign exchange student, was special guest speaker at the meeting of Tipacon Chapter of American Business Woman's Association held Wednesday evening at Hotel Waldron.

Miss Baron explained how she had been selected by the American Field Service for her year in America. Her foster parents are Dr. and Mrs. Jerome Fink of Ottawa drive. Miss Baron was one of 33 applicants from her home in Rouen, France, to be chosen.

Mrs. Dorothy Brooks, past president and charter member of the chapter gave a floral demonstration.

Marjorie Gates, past president, presented current officers with their pins of office.

Other guests were Phyllis Nagy, Jean M. Treat, Lee Johnson, Maud Vackaro, Mrs. Ward O'Brien, Mrs. Charles Borst, Marie Richey, and Mrs. Glenn Reynolds.

Japanese Officials Prepare for Royal Nuptials April 10

TOKYO (UP)—Japan's officialdom is rushing a number of special measures to add luster to the spring wedding of Crown Prince Akihito and Miss Michiko Shoda and make it an even brighter day.

In the works is a parliamentary resolution to designate April 10—date of the imperial nuptials—a national holiday.

Another planned resolution is for partial lifting of restrictions on the amount of gifts the royal newlyweds may receive.

Under the imperial household economic law, the imperial family may not accept gifts exceeding 1,200,000 yen ($3,333) in total value a year. If the resolution is approved, this ban will be lifted from March 21 to April 30.

That will make it possible for the Prince to accept gifts from the cabinet, supreme court, diet (parliament), government and local administration offices, public organizations and Japanese emigrants' groups. The presents, however, must come from groups and not individuals.

A palace spokesman said in principle, except for gifts from heads of states, the palace will not be able to accept wedding presents from foreign organizations or individuals.

The Tokyo metropolitan assembly received a bill asking it to allot 20 million yen ($55,555) to clean, repair and spray sand on the roads over which the royal couple will travel in a horse-drawn coach after the wedding, from the palace to their residence. The sand is to prevent the carriages' steel wheels and horses from slipping on streetcar rails.

The Japanese postal services proval, is issuing commemorative ministry, with government apstamps on the nuptial day, carrying portraits of the Crown Prince and his bride—the first time any living member of Japan's imperial family has appeared on postage stamps.

JANE ARDMORE and EDITH HEAD

Book Review

Designer Tells Her Story

THE DRESS DOCTOR
By Edith Head
(In collaboration with Jane Ardmore)

By RHEA E. VIETOR

Anyone who is interested in clothes will enjoy this light and absorbing autobiography of the first high-ranking woman designer in Hollywood. Edith Head, the author, has won six Oscars for her dress designs and is fashion chief of Paramount Pictures, Inc.

"Dress Doctor" tells how Edith Head translates the most glamorous actresses in the world into the characters they play on the screen.

Marlene Dietrich, Mae West, Sophia Loren, Ingrid Bergman, Elizabeth Taylor, Grace Kelly, Audrey Hepburn, Cary Grant, Danny Kaye and Bob Hope are a few of the stars for whom she has designed clothes.

This inside, or should we say "outside," glimpse of Hollywood's great is fascinating. Despite careful reading between the lines, it is almost impossible to decide if the author dislikes any of the stars she is discussing.

There is a section at the end of the book devoted to women everywhere—tall, short, fat, young, or old. Edith Head has compiled a complete guide of "what to wear when" that is invaluable to anyone who has doubts about what outfit to wear for a certain occasion.

"Dress Doctor" gives an often amusing glimpse of an unusual woman who climbed to the top the hard way — starting her first studio job with a borrowed portfolio.

The book's chief value is the interest it awakens in clothes and proper grooming. You can't help but feel a spark of enthusiasm for a "Do It Yourself" project involving new clothes, colors, a hairdo, and the rest.

The challenge, of course, and the underlying theme of the book, is for each woman to decide what type she is, and then to stick to this basic picture.

You will put down the book with a feeling of admiration and affection for Edith Head, herself a determination to "do something about yourself," and a somewhat different idea of many of the movie stars you had previously disliked.

Strike Up the Band

High School Concert Set Tonight

PCHS, Northern Students Tune Up for Joint Event

Music for everyone will be the keynote of the 32nd annual concert by the combined bands of Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern high schools, to be given in the PCHS auditorium at 8:15 this evening.

For those who like precise marching rhythms, the selections "Debonnaire March" by Ted Royal, "Iowa Centennial" by Karl King, and "Our United States" by Venture, are on the program.

Folk music numbers will include "Manin Veen" by Haydn Wood, based on folk tunes from the Isle of Mau, and a paraphrase on the tune "Sweet and Low" by Barnby.

The "Overture to Hansel and Gretel" by Humperdinck with many familiar songs from the opera, including the famous "Children's Prayer" and "Dream Pantomime," will be played.

'FAIR LADY' TUNES

For musical comedy enthusiasts, the bands have selected the popular "My Fair Lady" by Loewe, currently playing a six-week engagement in Detroit.

The concert waltz, one of the most difficult forms of music for an amateur group to play well, will be represented by the exciting "Waltz" from the "Masquerade Suite," by Khachaturian.

Dale C. Harris, supervisor of instrumental music and director of the PCHS band, will also conduct the stirring "Olympic Fanfare" by Merikanto and "Thunderbird Overture" by Lang, a composition Pontiac almost can call its own.

One of the marches to be conducted by Eldon Rosegart, director of the Pontiac Northern Band, is simply entitled "Ode." The number was composed by Ralph Hermann, who was guest conductor for the Pontiac Central High band concert in 1955.

PLAYERS NAMED

Knit Self Into Style This Year

The costume comes into its own for spring '59. Hand knit enthusiasts will be able to knit themselves right into this fashion trend, for costumes of all kinds have been created for the woman who likes to "knit it herself."

Sure to custom-make a complete ensemble are jackets, for they are a clever short-cut, with separate skirts and dresses, to the look of fashion totality. For girls who are members of the knit and purl brigade, there are hand-knit jackets of every length and shape to keep them in chic stitches.

Taking their cue from the latest Paris couture collections are newly longer jackets, knit to tip the hip. Designed on straight and easy-fitting lines are double-breasted toppers to pair off with slim or pleated skirts. Knuckle-length collarless cardigans, knit in solid or tweeded wool yarn, have an urban air with their jewel-inviting necklines and lean, long lines. Worn over a slender sheath or with a matching knitted skirt, they are high fashion from early spring right through summer's cooler days.

Make Repairs Right on Spot for Neat Look

About the only way a woman can maintain a reputation for being well-groomed is through constant attention to her clothes. And since few of us have maids these days, we must be prepared to do our own minor sewing and mending.

Collect all of the thread, needles, scissors, buttons, pins and thimbles that you will need and keep them in a small box in one of your closets. Each time that you see a hem that needs attention, a ripped seam or a drooping button, you can make the repair on the spot.

This saves those long evening mending sessions that none of us particularly enjoys.

Try Finger Fishing

If your youngster injures a finger you are not likely to have trouble getting hi mto soak it in a hot solution if you put marbles in the bowl to give him something to fish for. Then you won't be able to keep his fingers out of the water.

Wash With Suds, Darkroom Fans

Using a brush or broom to clean darkroom photographic equipment may increase the chances of damaging exposed film, because this method merely stirs up the dust. Instead, swab all work surfaces and the floor with soap or detergent suds.

Glass in negative-carriers, printing frames, and condensers needs special attention. Wash often with a sudsy sponge, then rinse and wipe dry with a lintless cloth. Just remember: even one speck of dust can ruin a perfect negative forever.

Musicale to Hear Pianist

Members and guests of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale will meet at 1:30 p.m. next Tuesday in Fellowship Hall of Grace Lutheran Church to hear Judith Dickstein and Tuesday Musicale chorus.

Miss Dickstein, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dickstein of Chippewa road, began piano lessons when she was 8 years old. She is a charter member of a Tuesday Musicale Junior Club.

She won a Tuesday Musicale scholarship to National Music Camp at Interlochen, where she studied in 1958. A graduate of Pontiac Central High School, she is now a student at University of Michigan, majoring in choral education with piano as her major instrument.

She has studied with piano teachers Bernice Rosenthal of Pontiac, Clara Waldron, Bendetson Netzorg and Mischa Kottler of Detroit, the late Helen Titus, and now with Ava Comin Case.

The chorus, under the direction of Mrs. George Putnam and accompanied by Mrs. Martin Wager on the piano, will open Tuesday's program with "Holiday Song," by William Schuman; "Lacrymosa," from Mozart's Requiem; three excerpts from "The Peasant Cantata," by Bach, and "Love Can Be Dreamed," from the light opera, "The Gypsy Baron," adapted by Ann Ronell from works of Johann Strauss.

Judith will play Mozart's "Sonata in F Major;" "Reflets dans l'eau," by Debussy, and "Suite for Piano," by Norman Dello Joio.

The chorus will conclude the program with "Clouds," by Ernest Charles arranged by Carl Deis; "My Johann," (Norwegian Dance) by Edward Grieg arranged by Alexander Aslanoff; "Lollytoodum," an American folk song, arranged by Leslie Bell, and "Agnus Dei" (Lamb of God) by George Bizet, with soprano soloist Mrs. Victor Lindquist and violin obligato played by Robert M. Peterson.

Shape Is Knitted Into Swim Suits

New hope for non-perfect figures on the beach next summer. One of the country's largest fabric producers will give women swim suits which have the shape knitted in.

Figure camouflage is achieved through a special knitting process, use of colors and patterns, built-in bra supports, and rigid diaphragm and tummy controls.

Many kitchens are like railway stations. Traffic can be controlled by placement of doors when building or remodeling a kitchen.

Parent Participation Rates a Diploma

By RUTH MILLETT

Come June I'm going to graduate from high school. That is when our twins are due to get their diplomas.

Because they have grown up in the parent participation era. I've gone through school with them—all the way.

When I was a child a mother wasn't expected to do much about school, except to send her kids to the teacher with clean hands and ears, give them to understand that if they got in trouble at school they would be in worse trouble when they got home, and help them with their homework now and then.

But today, both Mama and Papa are expected to share their children's school experiences not only dutifully but happily.

They start out by going to briefing sessions before Junior enters the first grade. There they are told how to prepare their first grader for the big step from home to school.

Clean hands and ears and a box of sharpened pencils and a packet of colored crayons aren't enough any more. Junior has to be emotionally prepared for his big step and Mama and Papa are given strict orders on how to prepare him.

That gets parent participation off to a flying start, and from then on Mama and Papa are hounded into going to PTA meetings, back-to-school nights where they sit at the kids' desks and listen to teacher, personal interviews with homeroom teachers, and so on.

Should Junior misbehave, it is no longer a matter strictly between Junior and his teacher. Mama gets called in for a conference — the inference being that if Junior gets out of line it is Mama's fault.

The thing that makes parent participation so difficult to buck is that it is always put on the basis of doing what is right for one's child.

And even though a parent might have the sneaking notion that Junior would much prefer to have his school life his own business and not the whole family's, if you are a conscientious parent you share his school days as you are expected to.

On graduation night only the kids get diplomas, But Mama and Papa have earned one, too.

What Young People Think:

Conservative Styles Hit the Teenage Crowd

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Severity in dress has hit the teenage crowd.

The costume now gaining increased favor among the gals is all black: long black stockings, black sweater and black skirt.

The popular accessory with this is a necklace from which is suspended a huge letter, marking the girl's initial.

Our survey of more than 600 teenagers, however, shows that most girls by far still stick to standard dress, in or out of school. That is, skirt and sweater.

By comparison, the black outfit is considered high fashion.

But an indication of the growing popularity of the black outfit was provided when 10 per cent of those questioned put it down as the most popular mode of dressing in their schools.

BOYS CONSERVATIVE

Among boys, clothes styles for school and ordinary wear seem to stay as unchanged as those among men in general. Sweaters apparently are standard and so are slacks and shirts.

However, 10 per cent said tennis shoes were popular in their schools and 16 per cent noted that Ivy League shirts were de rigeur dress.

In matters of cosmetics use, the girls are copying their older sisters, who in turn copied a trend in the fashion world. This is the use of eye makeup.

Thirteen per cent noted that eye makeup was appearing more and more among their contemporaries. Along with this, there has been the appearance of the headband—the device that was popular in the 1920s.

There seems to be no one widely preferred hairdo among the girls. Favorites are a short hair style, page boy, D A, French roll, long pony tail, and long and curly.

These different styles each received about the same number of votes as the favorite hairdos among friends in different groups.

But short hair seems to be by far the most popular. Seventy-two per cent of the teen-agers said short hair was worn by most of the girls in their high schools.

CREW CUT FAVORED

The crew cut or butch type haircut was put down by 42 per cent of the young people as the most popular hair style for boys in their high schools.

The boys also thought that the crew cut and its sub-species, the flat top, were favored by the girls.

On attitudes about hair styles, the teenagers let themselves go.

And our survey thus revealed a strange situation. For instance, 73 per cent of the girls said they thought boys prefer that girls have long hair.

But we asked the boys which they prefer—and 57 per cent said long while 43 said short.

Of the girls who said they thought boys preferred long hair, many agreed with Eileen Kenny, 18, of Franklin Park, Ill., who said she thought the reason was that "long hair looks more feminine."

Wanda Sue Lynch, 14, of Amo, Ind., confessed "I don't have any idea why they like long hair, unless they like to play with it."

Some others had noted that boys like to tug at pony tails.

CONFORMITY PRIZED

"Ever since the duck-cut came into fashion, boys have acquired a strong dislike for short hair," said Jinny Olsen, 18, of Duluth, Minn.

But the gals who think boys like short hair went along with the reasoning of Sandra Miller, 16, of Detroit.

"Boys like their girls to be like all girls (conformity, you know), and that entails a short haircut," said Sandra.

As for the boys, Roger Eisen, 17, of New York City, likes girls with long hair. He said:

"I like a girl with long hair because it adds femininity to the girl and makes more of a distinction between a boy and a girl."

"Long hair highlights her face more if she has a pretty one, and makes her look even uglier if she has an ugly face," said Kenneth L. Lawrason, of Marrero, La., who favors short hair.

Another short hair supporter was Mike Swank, 17, of St. Louis, who said, Unless a girl has very easy-to-manage hair and a lot of time to take care of it, long hair too often looks messy."

We asked both groups whether they would change hair styles if it was demanded by a boy friend or girl friend.

The girls seemed largely uncertain. That is, 53 per cent of them said it depended upon other factors. In this group the response was similar to that made by Linda Ritter, 17, of New Orleans. She said:

"That depends on his wishes. If he wanted something extreme which couldn't easily be fixed, we would break up."

Another girl, going along with the 7 per cent who said they would make such a change, said, "If it really made him happy I would change my hairdo." That was the comment of Linda Friedman, 18, of Washington, D. C.

Forty per cent of the girls said no, and gave reasons similar to the one given by Lois Ann Davidson, 19, of Coatesville, Ind.

"I want to wear my hair in the style I like and can take care of, not the way some boy wants me to wear it," she said.

The majority of boys came across with a flat no when asked if they would change hair style to suit their girl friends.

Seventy-one per cent said no to this question, stating it in terms similar to Roger Slatt's. "I am the one who is being looked at, so I have the right to choose my own hair style," said the 17-year-old San Francisan.

Another no came from Terry Penniman, 17, of Sac City, Iowa. He stated:

"If I let a girl change my mind now, what will it be like when I get married?"

Of the comparitively few boys who said they would bow to their gals wishes, the typical comment was made by Stanley Rouk, 15, of St. Louis.

"If her opinion was that I could look better with another hairdo, she would probably be right (after all, isn't your girl friend always right?), said Stanley.

Bend and Stretch

Improve Figure Doing Housework

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Is it really true that a woman can improve her figure while she does her housework if she remains conscious of her posture during these activities and executes them in a certain manner.

The way in which the muscles must be used in order to sit or stand or walk correctly is in itself a beautifying exercise. Of course this means that you must hold your head up. Keep this in mind always.

You can get exercise while you do your housework. S-T-R-E-T-C-H.

You must bend over many times during your busy day. When you do so make it one of two ways. One—do not bend your knees; keep them stiff but bend from the waist. Two—bend both knees all the way down but keep your back straight. Do NOT bend from the waist. The first way is a good waist slimmer. The second will firm the legs.

When you make the beds or use the dry mop or reach for something on a high shelf stretch for it. Stretch higher for a moment than you need to. You then can reach up with both hands. Take a little time and stretch through the torso also.

Once in a while when you are walking you can do a wonderful leg and foot exercise. When you step forward place only the heel of your foot on the floor, and point toe toward the ceiling; then snap the toe down to the floor. Therefore, every step includes two counts: heel-toe. Try it. With a little practice you can walk at your regular speed.

This may all sound laborious when you think of all you have to do, but actually it takes very little more time. AND, don't forget that good posture is an exercise you can indulge in constantly. It will give you a lovelier figure if you do not slump or hump or shuffle while doing your household chores.

Our Lady's Players Stage New Drama at Waterford

By WILMA GREENWAY

Our Lady's Players of Waterford captured and held their audience with never a dull moment last night in the presentation of the group's third dramatic production, "The Bond Between," at Our Lady of the Lakes Church.

The play, a serious drama with plenty of humorous highlights, was presented for close to 100 women of the General Guild of the church.

Constance Blimka lent charm and humor to her part as Joan, the pert up-to-the-minute daughter of the governor, whose penchant for psychology leads her into pseudo - scientific analysis that makes up in plausibility what it lacks in fact.

Wilma Greenway was Mrs. Haledon, the governor's wife who feels the tug of the "bond between mothers" and acts to prevent the execution of a condemned murderer whom she believes to be innocent.

'SAIL AWAY, BRIG'

As Miss Brigg, the secretary, Lois Lado sails through her part with the aplomb and determination of a full-sailed brigantine that knows exactly where it is going and gets there without veering one inch from its course.

And Alice Adam as Mrs. Carsen, mother of the condemned boy, provides an other-world atmosphere that works out in fact when the play reaches its dramatic surprise ending.

Richard Urban of Waterford, Clarkston High School English instructor and dramatics coach, directed the play. Kerrina Payne had charge of properties; stage effects were by Roger Reppuhn; makeup by Patricia Urban, and Cecelia Chapin arranged for programs.

Membership in Our Lady's Players is still open, and tryouts for a new play will be held soon, the director said. The group meets at Our Lady of the Lakes Church on Dixie highway.

Solon Gets Rent for His Porch

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Indiana freshman House member is drawing $100 a month from the government as rent for the front porch of his home in Muncie, used as his congressional district office. His wife presides there at a salary of $344 a month.

Rep. Randall S. Harmon, a Democrat, told a reporter he thought it perfectly proper to rent his front porch as office space.

"It's nobody's business but my own," Harmon said. "It's a two-room, closed-in porch and it makes a good office."

Harmon said the $100 rental check goes to his wife, Mary, who runs the district office.

"You act like we're stealing the taxpayers' money," Harmon said. "That's not so. My wife made the arrangements for the office and it's a convenient place for it."

He said his wife and two other office employes work in the office at their home at 1059 Burlington Drive in Muncie.

"They've been doing a lot of business too," he said, "Especially since the earlier publicity about my wife working for me."

Harmon, who defeated Rep. Ralph Harvey (R-Ind) in last fall's election, was a factory worker in Muncie before his election.

He said he had run eight times for the position, five times as a Republican and three times as a Democrat.

"I don't care what you write about me anyway," Harmon said. "I don't read the newspapers. I do have the home town paper sent here, but I don't read anything in that except the funny papers."

Sarah Churchill Found Guilty of Drunk Charge

LIVERPOOL, England (AP)—Actress Sarah Churchill was carried into court by four policemen today and found guilty of being drunk and disorderly.

Shoeless, and clad in a leopard skin coat, blue slacks and white socks, the 44-year-old daughter of Sir Winston Churchill was fined 40 shillings ($5.60).

Her husband, society photographer Anthony Beauchamp, died of an overdose of sleeping tablets in 1957.

She was arrested this morning after a quarrel with a taxicab driver.

When her name was called to answer the charge, she scuffled with court attendants. Finally, the four policemen, with two women court attendants escorting them, carried her into the dock.

Asked by the court clerk whether her name was Sarah Beauchamp, she snapped:

"To your regret and to my pride —Sarah Churchill."

'Molly Goldberg' in Love With Broadway

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Mrs. Gertrude Berg—better known in the parlors of America as Molly Greenberg—eased her form bountiful into a restaurant booth.

She smiled, such a smile as to make softies of Scrooges; and she said she was never so happy in all her 59 years.

"I was so scared, darling, you couldn't imagine," she said, remembering less than a month ago when her Broadway hit show "A Majority of One" was still playing out of town.

"I kept thinking 'Do we have to go to New York? Can't we just circle around it—maybe stop like at Hoboken?"

'EVERYTHING GLORIOUS'

"But we couldn't, so we open here and everything is glorious. It was just one joy, you can't imagine. To come to Broadway. It's the Mecca, huh?"

After 30 years of acclaim as the writer and star of radio and TV's Molly Goldberg series, Mrs. Berg acts like a navie newcomer to fame and acclaim . . . "Maurice Chevalier was in to see the show and so was Arthur Godfrey, could you believe?"

Easily, we could believe. Mrs. Berg, in her new drama, plays a Jewish housewife from the Bronx who falls in love with a Japanese industrialist (acted by Sir Cedric Hardwicke).

Hers is an irresistibly comic character, yet possessed of great dignity—who else could be simultaneously dump and stately? Her dialogue is subdued Molly Goldberg.

Actually, she says, the familiar Molly Goldberg patter is not a Yiddish "dialect," as ardent fans imagine. "It is a pleasant inflection. A way of phrasing an expression. A turn of the voice.

"So you ask me, 'Where are you going?'

"I say, 'Where should I go?'

"This is not dialect. The words are all pronounced."

COMPLAINTS RARE

Mrs. Berg is a phenomenon in this age of entertainment when comedians complain they can't poke fun at anything—race, creed or religion—without offending thousands.

In the three decades she has played Molly, "I could count the critical letters on five fingers." All religions, including her own, love Molly Goldberg. A group of nuns in a Maryland convent gave up her show for Lent.

She writes her copious copy in longhand. Her husband, sugar technologist Lewis Berg, being the only one who can read her writing, transcribes the scripts.

In the days before television, it was easy for Mrs. Berg to get inspiration. "For 20 years, I never took a vacation," she says, "so I would go out and discover New York.

"In New York, there is Romania and there is Russia and there is Italy. I crashed weddings. And I joined a ladies' auxiliary. Nobody knew who I was."

Came television, and she was too much a familiar figure to crash weddings. Also, much more work and less time to roam the city.

She had moved to an apartment on Park Avenue, too. Asked if she is ever hard up for ideas under the circumstances, she looks surprised.

"Of course not, darling. With friends, you always have material. And you don't change your friends like you change your address."

Temporarily, the Goldbergs are off the air. Mrs. Berg has "never had it so soft," with her starring role on Broadway and no writing chores to handle.

So she is taking on guest TV spots, going to midnight movies to relax, arising early as usual.

"All my life I got up at six in the morning; you think I could change? I don't want to sleep my life away, darling, and the world should pass me by. . ."

Probably a record ride in the Pony Express history was made by Robert Haslam, known as "Pony Bob" who rode 12 miles in Nevada in the span of eight hours and 10 minutes.

Time Magazine Censure Asked for Link to Bolivia

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — A Central American editor asked the World Press Congress Wednesday to condemn Time magazine.

He charged the riots in Bolivia were caused by a Time article and said it was a scandalous case.

The Bolivian outburst has forced Americans to move to the outskirts of La Paz, the capital, after rioters stoned the United States Embassy and burned an American flag.

John T. O'Rourke, editor of the Washington Daily News, called up the Bolivian question in a speech at the final discussion session of the Press Congress.

He is past president of the Inter-American Press Association and said he spoke for Jose Dutriz, editor of La Prensa Grafica, San Salvador.

The articles in question quoted an unnamed United States Embassy official as suggesting in a wisecracking way that Bolivia be carved up among her neighbors as a solution to her economic problems.

In New York, Henry R. Luce, editor-in-chief of Time, said he regretted that a Time story had caused so much unfriendliness toward the United States.

O'Rourke said both he and John S. Knight, publisher of the Detroit Free Press and other Knight newspapers had been the victims of false reporting by Time.

"I have met an astonishing number of people who have had experiences similar to those of Knight and myself," he added. "It leads me to think that perhaps we are taking the wrong approach as we read Time.

"Time lives, I find, in a higher keyed, wittier, more brightly colored world than the real world I am forced to inhabit. Therefore I enjoy Time.

"It is nice to escape once a week from mundane reality and gaze at the wild, improbable place around me through Time's kaleidescopically colored glasses."

LA PAZ, Bolivia, (AP) — How could a magazine article touch off violent anti-American demonstrations in Bolivia, traditionally friendly to the United States?

Bolivians violently objected to one paragraph of a two-column article in the Latin-American edition of Time magazine on the country's acutely serious economic situation.

The paragraph, not carried in the U.S. edition of the magazine, quoted a U.S. Embassy official as saying that "the only solution to Bolivia's problems is to abolish Bolivia. Let her neighbors divide up the country and the problems."

The article made it clear the official was wisecracking.

But it was not funny in a country which over the centuries has lost territory to its five neighbors —Chile, Peru, Brazil, Paraguay and Argentina.

Bolivia, with a population of four million, is beset by one of the worst cases of inflation in South America and is up to its ears in critical economic troubles. As Time pointed out, U.S. aid has saved Bolivia from economic catastrophe.

But when Bolivians read Spanish translations in La Paz newspapers of the Time article, the reaction was explosive.

Two thousand marched on the U.S. Embassy Monday and hurled stones through the windows, set fire to U.S. automobiles and shouted anti-American slogans. The U.S. Information Service library was invaded, windows were broken, and books and magazines were destroyed.

Police, trying to control the mob, used tear gas and fired riot guns. In the melee student Isidro Condori Mendoza, 15, was killed.

In another riot the next day dentist Juan Maldonado Barrios, 32, was hit by a stray bullet. Almost 40 policemen were hurt. All government and business offices closed and thousands marched through the streets to protest the article.

No Americans were injured. They remained in their homes, protected by police. The embassy was closed. The embassy staff and some U.S. families moved in with friends in the suburbs. Some American businessmen carried on as usual.

The U.S. Embassy denied that any of its officials had made the remark that offended.

Signals Heard From Satellite Thought Lost

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — General Electric engineers reported today receiving three signals from the missing U.S. satellite, Discoverer I—the latest one 400 miles from earth.

The whereabouts of the 19-foot missile had been a mystery since it was launched five days ago from Vandenberg Air Force Base in Inglewood, Calif.

The GE engineers said they had fixed on the satellite at 12:48 a.m. and 2:07 p.m. Wednesday and 12:48 a.m. today.

Radio signals were received for nine minutes after the Discoverer was launched. After that, there was a smattering of unverified reports.

They are Jimmie Lloyd Hatley, 17, of 2308 Cass Lake Rd., West Bloomfield Township, and Randell Taylor, 17, of 2347 Fordham St., Keego Harbor.

Both men were arrested Dec. 28 by police vice officers at the intersection of Bagley and Wessen streets.

7 County Men Join Marines in February

The Pontiac Marine Corps Recruiting Substation today announced that seven men from the Oakland County area enlisted in the Marines through its office in February.

Only enlistee from Pontiac was Douglas P. Roberts of 44 S. Midland Dr.

Those from the county were Charles L. Booth of Milford; Vernon F. Watts of Waterford Township, and Robert C. Craze and Richard Leif Erickson, both of Rochester.

Others were James R. Hazle of Orchard Lake and Arnold L. Phillips Jr. of Utica.

The new Marines were flown to San Diego, Calif., for 12 weeks of recruit training after which they will undergo five weeks of Camp Joseph H. Pendleton, Oceanside, Calif.

Birmingham Man Guilty of Illegal Occupation

A Birmingham man was one of four convicted yesterday in Detroit's Recorder's Court of engaging in an illegal occupation as the result of a raid on a smoker Feb. 13 in which 52 persons were arrested.

Harold S. Weingold, 45, of 132 N. Woodward Ave., Birmingham, was placed on six-months' probation and ordered to pay $50 as his share of court costs.

Detroit police raided a basement recreation room at the Park Plaza Motor Hotel in Detroit last month and seized three reels of obscene motion pictures, beer, whisky and two projectors.

This Solon Just Plain Got Ornery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Ralph Rivers (D-Alaska), one of six new House members who put his wife on his office payroll, took action when some constituents wrote him about it.

He increased her salary by $1,800 a year. That's what the letter writers advocated.

Rivers said he has boosted the salary of his wife, Martha, and another employe to $6,496 a year each.

He said he had received "a couple of kidding letters about her low salary from persons who knew she used to make $500 a month as a legal secretary."

Former Muskegon Solon, John Dykstra, Dies at 84

MUSKEGON (AP)—John Dykstra, colorul former state representative from Muskegon's First District, died yesterday at his home after a brief illness. He was 84.

Funeral arrangements still were incomplete today.

A Republican, Dykstra was elected to his first term in 1926. He served three terms and was defeated in 1934. Dykstra was an unsuccessful candidate for state Senate in 1940.

Prior to his defeat in 1934, Dykstra gained national attention with an anti-depression bill which would have made it illegal for married women to work while their husbands were gainfully employed.

Files for Divorce From Car Racer

Cruelty Is Charged to Mauri Rose, Winner 3 Times at Indianapolis

Mauri Rose, three-time winner of the Indianapolis 500-mile race, has been sued for divorce on grounds of cruelty.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Rose filed suit yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court, charging her auto-racing husband has "a vicious and uncontrollable temper."

Mrs. Rose asked for custody of the couple's only child, David, 1½, and for an equitable share of common property, including their home, 790 Byron Ct., Milford.

One of the all-time greats of auto racing, Rose captured the Indianapolis speedway crown in 1941, 1947 and 1948. His record was interrupted during World War II when the 500-mile classics were not held.

The couple was married by a justice of the peace in Angola, Ind., three years ago and has lived in Milford since then.

Mrs. Rose charged in her suit that Rose frequently flew into rages.

Early this year, she charged, Rose struck her in the face while she had the baby in her arms. The race driver was accused of throwing household objects at his wife in anger, including a heavy breadboard, Mrs. Rose said.

Mrs. Rose charged her husband abused her verbally in public, refused to let her entertain friends in her home and treated her "like a child."

She asked for a preliminary hearing to determine temporary custody and support of their baby son.

LAKELAND, Fla.—"Major League baseball is now in better financial conditions than ever before in history."

This was Jimmy Campbell, recently given the title of Tigers' vice-president, talking in regard to ever-growing competition which faces pro baseball.

Campbell does not think baseball has to worry about losing its status with the American sports fans because of any faltering financial reasons.

He does believe, however, that Major League baseball has to conform to the athletic trends of the people and to public opinion.

"Sure there is gerater competiton today for the spectator's dollar with the growth of sports like pro football and other spectator sports, but the real competition comes from the sports participant," he said.

"More people are golfing, bowling, fishing, boating," he added, "so the product we are trying to sell just can't stand still, we have to give them new things to keep the game progressive."

Campbell feels that many of the old timers in executive positions in baseball are holding back necessary progressive moves.

"They say expansion of leagues or inter-league games wouldn't work. How do they know. We haven't done either," said Campbell.

"I don't think we have to jump into setting up three leagues. But to move slowly, our first move should be to expand the present leagues to 10 teams," he continued.

"We got the proposal passed for trades between the two Major Leagues, now we should make plans for home and home series among teams of American and National leagues."

"Johnny McHale and I have preached this inter-league scheduling for a long time," Campbell said, "why shouldn't Detroit fans get a chance to see National Leaguers like Stan Musial or Willie Mays?"

"By the same token why shouldn't National League fans get a chance to see Mickey Mantle, Al Kaline or Ted Williams? The games can count in the standings like they do in pro football or basketball, after all they are all Major League teams."

He suggested a 3-game home series with each team. This would mean 16 games with each team inside the league and six against each team in the National League.

The argument that such a setup would take away the color of the All-Star game or the World Series holds little basis and Campbell agrees.

"There are a lot of people who would make it a special point to go see the Tigers play the Braves, Pirates or Giants and it would especially be good for lower division teams to meet upper division clubs of the other league late in the season when attendance drops," he said.

When McHale left the Tigers for Milwaukee recently there was talk he would take Campbell into the Braves' organization.

Tiger owners immediately decided to give Campbell's position status by making him the 6th vice president in the organization. Campbell reportedly was not interested in the general manager's job.

The ideas mentioned by Campbell on the two leagues are not held by the majority, but with McHale in Milwaukee now, and Bill Veeck, another advocate in Chicago, the minority is gaining strength.

A proposal on either the 10-team expansion or inter-league scheduling could result in a close vote in the near future.

Two Michigan Teams in 1959 NCAA Tourney

NEW YORK (UPI) — Michigan will have two teams in the NCAA basketball tournament this year—Michigan State and Hope.

The Dutch, champions of the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Assn. for the third straight year, were named last night to participate in the NCAA's college division tourney regional at Wheaton, Ill., while MSU competes in the university division.

Hope, the nation's 19th ranked team, will play Loras of Iowa while Wheaton meets Wabash, Ind.

Latin-American Relations Bother Richards

Chico, Avila Stay in Hiding

By The Associated Press

One temperamental Latin would seem to be all that Paul Richards, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, needs to keep his mind occupied these days. But Richards has three, and two of them are still absent from the Orioles' training camp in Miami.

Richards doesn't know if his Latin-American relations are strained, whether he has to appeal to the immigration department for help, or what.

Chico Carrasquel, the Venezuelan shortstop, did manage to make camp six days late. He blamed it on "visa trouble." Carrasquel was traded to Baltimore by Kansas City last fall after nine years at Chicago and Cleveland.

Willie Miranda, who has been the Baltimore shortstop since 1955, and Bob Avila, the second sacker who was acquired from Cleveland last December, are missing — whereabouts unknown.

Miranda may not have been the inventor of the "visa trouble" excuse, which comes in handy for most Latins arriving tardy, but he's probably used it more than any other absentee. Miranda has signed his 1959 contract, and presumably is in Cuba. He played with the Cuban team which won the Caribbean world series last month.

Avila, the team's only holdup, was thought to be at home in Vera Cruz, Mexico. Roberto was in Havana last month—perhaps getting a fill-in on the Orioles from Senor Miranda. At that time, Avila said he was considering quitting baseball.

Miranda had contract troubles in 1955 and reported late. He was a holdout in 1957 and when he reported to camp about a month late Richards slapped him with a $1,000 fine. "Visa trouble," said Willie.

This year Miranda's contract contained a clause calling for a $1,500 penalty if he was late in reporting. It is believed his contract called for a salary of $11,500, the same as in 1958. He's lost $1,500 of that, and he might lose the Oriole shortstop job to Carrasquel, Richards indicated.

Bob Lemon, who won 20 or more games for Cleveland in seven seasons, gave up his comeback ambitions and signed with the Indians as a scout-coach. He pitched part of 1958 for San Diego but was handicapped by arm trouble.

Bob Cerv, Pedro Ramos and Dave Philley signed contracts yesterday. Cerv immediately began belting balls over the fence.

In camp games yesterday, Casey Stengel was pleased by the work of problem pitchers Johnny Kucks and Tom Sturdivant against each other although rookie Gordon Windborn tagged Sturdivant for the 1st Yank spring homer. Gene Stephens slammed a game-winning homer at Boston's drill.

Randy Jackson hit his 2nd big circuit in as many days in a Cleveland tilt as Gary Bell pitched well. Herb Plews drove in three runs with as many hits in a Senator contest. Giant hurler Jack Sanford was slightly hurt when struck on the shinbone by a line drive.

Tigertown Is Quietest It's Been in Years

Nobody Is Commenting on Detroit's Pennant Chances for 1959

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LAKELAND, Fla. — This is regarded as the quietest Detroit Tiger training camp in many years.

The players are doing more work and less talking. No one is committing himself as to how the Tigers will do in the pennant race. Optimism does exist but it's quietly held back to a few "ifs" and "buts."

Quietest place around Henley Field is the training room and this pleases manager Bill Norman and trainer Jack Homel.

"The boys are in better shape this year," said Homel, "they've reported to camp better physically and as a result we have less aches and pains and things like pulled muscles."

The pitchers are even getting less treatment for sore arms, even though they are getting heavier duties by pitching coach Willis Hudlin.

"With the way Hudlin has been working those pitchers, it's a wonder my training room isn't filled," said Homel.

Hudlin, without doubt the hardest working coach on the Tigers' staff, gives himself the assignment of doing the catching when working with a pitcher, and he has been seeing to it that they are the first ones on the field and last ones to leave.

Yesterday, Paul Foytack warmed up with Hudlin for 20 minutes, threw batting practice for another 20 minutes, worked on bunting plays with manager Bill Norman for another 15 minutes and then walked into the clubhouse.

"Done for the morning?" someone asked Foytack whose jersey was saturated with perspiration. "Are you kidding," he answered, "I've still got to shag flies and run sprints," he said.

For the past two years, the Tigers, from the executives to the players, went overboard in predicting an overly-optimistic race with the Yankees.

This year, no one is saying anything. Norman is setting his sights on fourth place at this time and no higher. "When we reach that position, then we think about the positions above us, but to do this we've got to get off to a fast start for a change."

Homel, the veteran trainer who has made the trip to Lakeland for 14 years, said he doesn't care whether anyone visits his training room. "This is the easiest I've had it in at least six years and no one is happier than the Tiger organization because they know the physical condition of a team has a lot to do with the game results.

Wehmeier underwent surgery of the elbow of his pitching arm during the winter and he says it feels in good shape. Norman has made Wehmeier go into workouts slowly, so as not to reinjure the arm, and Homel is giving it treatment to keep it loose.

"There's no one working harder than Wehmeier," said Homel. "He's got five kids and he's taking those physical exercises like a kid 18 years old. He sure wants to give it all this year and if that arm fails, it would break his heart," he added.

Today, the two squads will get together for their first intra-squad game at Henley Field, and Saturday Norman will have one unit going to Orlando to meet the Washington Senators, while another squad of second stringers meets the Senator "B" team at Henley Field.

Sunday, the Senators play a return game here in Lakeland.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES

Manager Bill Norman gave pitcher Tom Morgan what could be considered a vote of confidence and an ultimatum. "Keep on working hard out there," said Norman, "you're going to see more action this year and the result will be up to you."

"If I play more I'll do better, I know it," Morgan answered.

Someone asked pitcher Jim Bunning to demonstrate the grip and the delivery on a knuckle ball. "I throw it the same as I do any other pitch, but only me and my glove know how I hold that ball. I can't give away my bread and butter," he answered.

Believe It or Not—Pistons Beat Hawks

Detroit Clings to 2nd Place Hopes in NBA

127-97 Loss Is Worst of Campaign for Pros From St. Louis

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Pistons nurtured their slim hopes of making second place in the National Basketball Association's Western Division last night by humbling St. Louis Hawks.

That's right—"HUMBLING."

Sparked by rookie Shellie McMillon, the Pistons smashed the Hawks 127-97. It was the worst defeat of the season for the defending NBA champions who long ago clinched the Western Division crown.

The victory left the Pistons three games behind the Minneapolis Lakers with four games to play, including a pair with the Lakers. The first one is Friday night in Detroit and the second closes out the regular season next Wednesday at Minneapolis. In between are road games at St. Louis on Saturday and New York on Sunday.

Detroit took the lead from the opening basket and never trailed, leading up to a 70-43 halftime lead. At one time in the third period, the Pistons led by 40 points, 95-52.

Since getting a chance to play regularly, McMillon has been the brightest spot in an otherwise dismal season. The high-jumping, hard-driving rookie from Bradley netted 23 points while Walt Dukes and Gene Shue each hit for 20.

But the Pistons couldn't stop Hawk ace Bob Pettit from establishing two records. The brilliant jump shot artist scored 32 points and is just 18 away from surpassing George Yardley's one-season mark of 2,001 points set last year. He can do it tonight at Philadelphia.

The two records Pettit grabbed last night were the most field goals in a season — 680 — and most free throw attempts — 821. Both were set last year, the field goal mark by Clyde Lovellette, then with Cincinnati, and the free throw attempt record by Yardley. Yardley had 808 charity attempts. Lovellette had 679 two-pointers.

Boston took a stab at a team record by beating Syracuse 120-114, New York clinched 2nd in the East by downing Philadelphia 118-115 and Jack Twyman scored 46 as Cincinnati dumped Minneapolis 128-122 in other games.

HANGS IT UP FOR GOOD — Joe Gordon, manager of the Cleveland Indians, announced yesterday at the Tribe spring training camp in Tucson, Ariz., that Bob Lemon has called it quits as a pitcher. He will remain with the Indians as a coach. Here, Lemon hangs up old No. 21 for the last time while Mike Garcia, last of the Big Three, looks on.

North Carolina Eyes NCAA Berth

By The Associated Press

The Connecticut Yankees are in the NCAA basketball tournament and, late today the Confederate Yankees begin their bid to join them.

Connecticut nailed its 10th straight Yankee Conference title and an NCAA berth last night with an 87-63 romp over Rhode Island. That put the UConns in a first round tripleheader at New York's Madison Square Garden next Tuesday among a sextet Frank McGuire's northern-bred North Carolina Tar Heels hope to join by winning the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament beginning today in Raleigh, N. C.

First round games matched Duke with Wake Forest, North Carolina with Clemson, N. C. State with South Carolina, and Maryland with Virginia.

Saturday night, at the latest the ACC will know the team that goes against at-large nominee Navy in the windup of the New York NCAA tripleheader next Tuesday.

West Virginia's Southern Conference champs will play the Ivy League champion in the middle game. Their foe could have been decided last night but wasn't when Dartmouth and Princeton ended their regular seasons tied for first place with 13-1 records.

Dartmouth a 74-63 winner over Brown, will meet Princeton, a 61-60 winner over Penn, in a chips-down playoff at neutral New Haven, Conn. Saturday night. The co-leaders split their two regular season Ivy games—each winning at home.

Tournament teams Marquette, St. Joseph's (Pa) and Fordham added victories last night in other games on a schedule concentrated in the East. Marquette, an at-large choice for the NCAA, made it 22-3 with a revenge 82-69 victory over DePaul, another NCAA at-large choice. In their first meeting, DePaul snapped Marquette's 15-game winning streak.

McDaniel Scoring Champ

Big George McDaniel of Holly is the 1958-59 Oakland County individual scoring champion. He finished the regular season with 391 points in 16 games for a 25 average.

The 6-6 senior center, who tallied 225 last season for 15 a game, swished 66 digits in his last two outings to beat out Oxford star Doug Stott. The Wildcat junior wound up with 331 in 14 starts for 23.6. Neither boy was held to less than 13 in a game while being 1st or in contention all season.

McDaniel also paced the county in total points with 391. State Class A champion Pontiac Central headed the top 50 by placing three players—mid-year graduate Charley Barge, John Bandy and Harrison Munson.

Gulfstream Race Sets U.S Record

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Gulfstream Park, one of the fastest running strips in the world, has done it again.

One-Eyed King, a 5-year-old son of the Great Nasrullah, skipped over the new Donn turf course in 1:41 to break the old American record of 1:41 4-5 set by Howdy Baby at Washington Park in Chicago on July 24, 1956.

4 Cities Share Tourney's Lead

Grand Rapids Shy One Point for Tie in Ring Test at Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Cincinnati, Fort Worth, Chicago and Nashville, Tenn., shared first place for the team title after three nights of battling in the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions.

The amateur boxing classic in Chicago Stadium was trimmed to the finals in the five heavier weights last night and to the semi-finals in the other three classes. It made way for the wrapup, much of which will be nationally televised, next Wednesday night.

The leading cities each had 13 points, based on one point for each bout won. Cincinnati, Fort Worth and Nashville each had three fighters remaining while Chicago had only one.

Grand Rapids, Mich., had 12 points and missed by only one point in sharing the team leadership of 13 points with four other cities. A point was given for each bout won in the three-night competition.

MICHIGAN RESULTS

112 pounds—Oscar Gorman of Grand Rapids outpointed Tano Carranco of Denver.

118 pounds—Gilbert Martines of Fort Worth outpointed Gabriel De Matteo of Detroit.

125 pounds—Ed Saucedo of Grand Rapids outpointed Wayne Bell of Billings, Mont., then was outpointed by Freddie Davis of Champaign-Urbana, Ill., in the semi-finals.

160 pounds—Herbert Wills of Cincinnati stopped Oliver Edwards of Grand Rapids in the second.

178 pounds—Cliff Murkey of Grand Rapids knocked out Mel Swillie of Omaha in the second, then was outpointed by Cassius Clay of Louisville in the semi-finals.

Star Back in ABC Competition

Big Welcome for Wilman

ST. LOUIS (AP) — They won't be expecting any spectacular scores from him, but the crowd is sure to give a roaring welcome to Joe Wilman when he competes in the American Bowling Congress tournament here tonight.

The balding little Berwyn, Ill., pro, who has won virtually every tenpin title of significance, suffered a heart attack as he rolled his ABC singles event last year in Syracuse, N.Y.

Last fall Wilman began bowling again. Slowly and deliberately he built up his strength until he finally was able to convince his doctor that he could withstand the strain of league bowling early this year.

Wednesday's highlights included fourth place moves in the singles and open team divisions. The Park Bowl of Sioux City assembled a 3,046 series in the open division on games of 1,045, 1,022 and 979 to make their dent in the standings. Bob Moser of St. Louis used a 226-256-222—704 series to propel himself into the big money in the individual section.

NCAA Spot Hinges on Weekend Games

EAST LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan State University hockey team will be shooting for a berth in the NCAA tournament and its best season on record in a home-and-home series with Michigan Friday and Saturday.

A sweep of the two games would assure the Spartans of a trip to the national tourney at Troy, N.Y., March 12-14 and give them a 17-4-1 record.

Michigan State gained 3-1 and 5-2 decisions over the Wolverines in earlier meetings this season.

PCH Host to SVC's Top Swimmers

Hillites Eye 9th Title in Row

Nearly 100 schoolboy swimmers and divers, including many of the state's top performers will be in action Friday and Saturday at Pontiac Northern's fine Olympic-style pool.

The occasion is the 4th annual Saginaw Valley Conference championships, and the first time the Valley title meet has ever been held in Pontiac.

Defending champion is Saginaw Arthur Hill, seeking its 9th straight SVC title and its 4th straight honor in this series. And Dave Gainey's crew of 20 tankers, boasting a 8-1 dual meet record this year, is the odds-on favorite. Lumberjacks are star-studded, including several state champions and others recognized on the 1958 All-America prep team.

However, all the stars aren't concentrated on the Hills club, for the two-day event beginning Friday night with the 400-yard freestyle, and diving preliminaries.

GAINEY WILLIAMS NIEMAN NORRIS

SVC TITLE MEET FIGURES — Pontiac is host for its first Saginaw Valley swimming championship meet, Friday and Saturday in Northern High's fine new pool. Above are the meet director, PCH's coach Gene Norris, and veteran Arthur Hill coach Dave Gainey. In between are four of defending champion Hill's stars: Pete Cox is SVC and state springboard champ; Dee Young is unbeaten this year in freestyle distance events; Bill Williams was 2nd diver in state, back of Cox, and Carl Nieman is AH's ace freestyle sprinter. They are some of the boys the other five Valley schools will face.

Preliminaries in all other events are set for Saturday beginning at 2:30. Finals start at 8 p.m.

Pontiac has contenders in all, but Bruce Norvell, Chiefs' ace is rated the best chance of the host club for a championship. Bruce has consistently been close to the orthodox Valley record of 1:08.5 set in 1957.

The "400" has a field of 15, divided into three heats, with points given to six places. Finals will be decided also on Friday night, based on times in heats. There are 15 divers, led by defending SVC and state champion Pete Cox of Arthur Hill. Pontiac is not represented in the diving.

Entries for the "400" are:

Heat 1—Ted Ehmann (BC), 5:25; John Tallon (AH), 4:58.5; Bill Hyslop (AH), 4:48.2; Lynn Whipple (FC), 4:44; Gary Rutherford (FC) 5:15.

Heat 2—Tom Tupper (BC), 5:25; Ted Shook (BC), 4:55; Earl Holloway (FC), 4:49; Ted Gaensbauer (PCH), 4:43.8; Dick Hensel (Sag), 5:25.1.

Heat 3—Tom Maxon (BC), 5:40; Larry Gohm (AH), 4:55; Chuck Rambo (Sag), 4:52.4; Dee Young (AH), 4:32.5 (undefeated this season); Dick Fisher (Sag) 5:32.

Divers—Jerry Londry (Sag), Ron Lazarus (AH), Don Dexter (Sag), Bill Williams (AH), state No. 2, 1958, Dave Balo (FC), Don Lichon (Sag), John Kauffner (FN), Pete Cox (AH) state, SVC unbeaten champ, Bill Hahn (Sag), Bruce Smith (FC), Mike Whalen (FN), Bob Narlock (BC), Jack LaForest (BC), Jerry Williams (FC), and Carl Heidenrich (FN).

LEADS CHIEFS — Duke Relyea, newly-crowned Saginaw Valley 175-pound wrestling king, will lead Pontiac Central into the regional mat event at Farmington this weekend. Pontiac Northern, Waterford and Walled Lake will be among 20 schools in the meet.

Old-Time Champ Has Flu

NEW YORK (UPI)—Abe Attell, 76, world featherweight champion boxer from 1904 to 1912, was hospitalized today with flu.

Attell was taken to Polyclinic Hospital when he was stricken in Lindy's Restaurant last night. He brushed off the sudden illness as nothing. "Why son, I expect to live to be 100," he told a reporter.

Attell won 46 of his 165 fights by knockouts.

Bennie 'Takes to Air'

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Bennie Oosterbaan, whose football career at the University of Michigan covered 25 years as a player and coach, will add another chapter next fall when he becomes a sportscaster at Michigan football games.

THE HEROES — Gary Acker, above, of Avondale, and Doug Stott of Oxford were responsible for hard-earned District "B" victories last night at PCH. Acker hit a desperation shot at the final gun to beat Clarkston. Then Stott's two fouls eliminated Lake Orion in sudden-death overtime.

Avondale, Oxford Win Thrillers

Jackets Defeat Clarkston, 38-36; Orion Bows Out

Acker Hero on Final Shot, Stott in Overtime; Play 'B' Final Friday

By CHUCK ABAIR

Thrills were a dime a dozen at Pontiac Central's gym last night as 1,800 fans screamed and screamed and screamed some more through 3½ hours of ulcer-making basketball.

The scene was the opening round of the Class B district tournament and all who were there will likely never forget this stirring doubleheader.

Basketball rules require that somebody must win. Avondale and Oxford did that—both exactly by two points. The 38-36 Yellowjacket triumph and 49-47 Wildcat victory plainly indicate the true story of the games. They were nip and tuck right down to the wire.

The winners, who split a season pair, will go at it tomorrow night at 7:30 to decide the title.

Gary Acker and Doug Stott were the two names on everyone's lips as they filed out of the suddenly quiet auditorium after it was all over.

Acker, who had hurt Avondale more than he helped them for three quarters, came to life in the final eight minutes to score eight of the 11 points, including a seemingly impossible clincher, as the final gun sounded. The senior forward could barely see the basket when he let go from the corner. The ball hit the rim and rolled in.

Stott is always Oxford's big gun but he was not having an outstanding night although he finished with 20 points to top all four teams. He iced the nightcap with two free throws in sudden death overtime.

The opener was all Avondale until late in the 2nd period when the previously jittery Wolves settled down to go ahead 21-17 at halftime. Avon had led by as much as 10 before Bob Porritt swished eight of a 14-point streak.

Clarkston led all the 3rd but the 4th became a see-saw affair. A field goal by Porritt following nine straight misses made it 36-34 for CHS with 2½ remaining. Acker interrupted a stall by the losers to hit from outside to knot the count with one minute left and then wrapped it up.

The 2nd game was even tighter. It was 10-10 after one quarter and 21-18 Orion at the intermission. Oxford came roaring back to start the last half with three quick baskets and led most of the 3rd quarter only to wind up deadlocked again when another chance to rest came.

Successive rebound scores by Tom Reed, who had 12 as a reserve, got the Dragons off to a fast start this time but little Jeff Brady matched those for another tie. It went back and forth until three fouls by Barry Sill gave Lake Orion a "big" four-point edge with two minutes remaining.

But Brady countered with a foul and the deadly Stott on a jump shot to make it 43-42 with 52 seconds left. It stayed that way until Stott was fouled again with just three seconds showing on the clock. He made the 2nd of two attempts to gain a tie as Orion missed a final shot.

Stott and Sill, who had 15, matched baskets starting the 5th period. Stott swished another putting OHS in front with 30 seconds to go but big Bob Shuler matched that on a rebound with 14 left to force the final session. Stott was fouled shortly after and that was it.

How close can two games be? Well, the lead changed hands a total of 25 times during the night—17 of them in the 6-period duel—and the score was all-even on 13 occasions. Ten of those were in the nightcap.

Besides, the opponents in each contest made an identical number of field goals while Avondale and Clarkston even had the same number of free throw attempts.

Chiefs Tackle U-D High Saturday

Southfield Sidelined

By BILL CORNWELL

The suspense of waiting has ended for the Pontiac Central basketball team. Now the Chiefs know who they're going to play in the Class A district tournament.

A scrappy bunch of Cubs from U. of D. High will be Pontiac Central's first tourney foe and the two teams will get together on Saturday night at 8:30 in the Southfield gymnasium to conclude district activities.

The Cubs found Southfield a gracious host last night as they plugged their way to a well-earned 58-48 victory over the Bluejays in the second evening of "A" district action on the Southfield court.

Playing in the state high school tournament for the first time in history, the U-D prepsters turned in a mild upset by toppling the club which had the home floor advantage.

The PCH-U. of D. clash will form the second half of a Saturday doubleheader. Pontiac Northern and Detroit Catholic Central, who met once during the regular season with PNH on the losing end, collide in the opening game at 7 o'clock.

Tomorrow's double feature matches Rochester and Redford Union at 7 o'clock and pits Farmington against Livonia Bentley in the 8:30 nightcap. All Friday and Saturday winners qualify for regional tourney berths the following week, also in the Southfield gym.

U-D High outscrapped and outhustled the Jays in addition to outshooting them to send coach Bob Watts' quintet to the sidelines in the only contest on yesterday's schedule.

No more than four points ever separated the two squads in the first half and U-D held a 26-22 edge at halftime.

The Cubs gradually pulled away after intermission, widening their lead to 41-32 at the end of the third quarter. Their advantage increased to 13 points midway through the 4th period before a desperate Southfield rally in the final two minutes narrowed the margin to five.

Pat Conway meshed 17 points and teammate Joe Vieson added 14 to pace U-D High. Bob Filar and Cliff Solberg topped the Jays with 13 and 12, respectively.

TRICK ARTIST — Photographer Ed Vanderworp caught this unusual shot of Clarkston guard Jay Campbell trying to reach between his legs to control a loose ball as Avondale's Walt Arnold (50) runs by him. Avon won out in the Class B opener, 38-36.

GLOOMY FINISH — This trio of Clarkston cheerleaders had trouble holding back the tears after the favored Wolves bowed to Avondale in the closing second of their district tourney game last night. Avondale meets Oxford for the 'B' crown Friday.

Troy, Hills, Maples Win Openers

Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and Troy passed their first round tests last night in district basketball action at Oakland County sites.

Wayne-Oakland League champion Brighton also survived its opening contest and weak Oak Park was the helpless victim of a record-setting 117-point rampage by Hamtramck in other tourney highlights yesterday.

Ortonville was a casualty Wednesday as the Black Hawks bowed to St. Agnes of Flint, 67-56, in their Class C district effort at Flint Bentley.

Birmingham piled up a big lead and almost blew it as the Maples hung on for a 54-46 conquest of Van Dyke in the Class A tournament at Birmingham.

Doug Danziger's layup shot in the final 12 seconds brought Bloomfield Hills a 49-48 upset victory over West Bloomfield in Class B activity on the Hills' court. Troy led all the way to defeat Royal Oak Shrine, 62-55, in the "B" district opener on the Troy floor.

In other district play yesterday involving area quintets, Port Huron nosed out Mt. Clemens in the last four seconds, 61-59, and Utica took a 66-29 licking from defending state champ Austin Catholic in the East Detroit "A" district.

Danziger's field goal gave the Hills a 49-47 lead and the bucket stood up when Keego's Barry Johnson missed his 2nd foul shot on a 1-and-1 situation in the final four seconds.

The lead changed hands several times during the closely-contested battle. John Dixon paced the Hills with 17 points and John Lucadam made 16 for the Lakers.

Birmingham had a 33-17 halftime edge and nearly let it slip away in the 3rd period when Van Dyke outscored the Maples, 19-10. The Abes narrowed Birmingham's margin to 45-42 in the 4th quarter before the Maples came alive to save the verdict.

Brighton had a tough time with South Lyon in the Class B tournament opener at Milford. The Bulldogs, held to a 33-31 halftime edge, pulled away from the Lions late in the 3rd stanza and protected their advantage through the finale for a 64-56 triumph.

Little Don Harned poured 30 points through the hoop to spearhead Troy's win over Shrine. Jack Moores tallied 18 for the losers.

Ortonville rallied in the 3rd quarter for a 34-33 edge, but St. Agnes fired five straight fielders in the last two minutes of the same stanza for a 44-36 bulge and the Hawks never recovered. Earl Richardson caged 22 points for Ortonville.

Burton Leader in Points Race

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan State has clinched its first undisputed Big Ten basketball championship, but the race for conference scoring honors continues.

M. C. Burton of Michigan and Minnesota's Ron Johnson have bounced back and forth in first and second place during the whole season. Figures released yesterday by the Western Conference Service Bureau show that Burton now leads with 302 points to 285 for Johnson.

In third place is Joe Ruklick of Northwestern with 278 points. Johnny Green of Michigan State and Larry Siegfried of Ohio State, have 274 points each. Ruklick has averaged 27 points in his last three games and Green 24 points.

Griff's Grill, defending Class B champion, and Welden's in Class D, turned in City Basketball League upsets last night in post-season playoff games.

The Grill cagers upended regular season winner Booth Homes, 74-66, in "B" action at Pontiac Northern. George Lang bagged 21 points to spark Griff's victory while Jim Poteet scored 20 for Booth.

Welden's chalked up a 38-37 overtime conquest of the Lakeside Royals, regular season "D" champs, on the Lincoln Junior High court. Larry Douglas tallied 15 points in defeat.

Field's Landscape eliminated Glenn's Motor from the double elimination playoff, 68-52, in the other Class B game. The Boys Club knocked out the Pledges, 42-29, in the other Class D contest.

The Class A playoff resumes tonight on the Northern floor with the defending champion Royals, once-beaten, trying to stay alive against Shaw's Jewelers, also with one loss, in the 7 o'clock opener, followed by the Knights of Columbus and the Sports Shop in the winner's bracket at 8:30.

There's little doubt that catchers have one of the toughest jobs in baseball. They have to be wary of foul tips and wild pitchers, too.

Following is a theoretical situation involving a regulation affecting catchers. See if you can produce the right answer.

The Los Angeles Dodgers are playing the Chicago Cubs. Ernie Banks is batting for the Cubs with Tony Taylor on first base and none out. With the count of three balls and two strikes on Banks, Taylor breaks for second base. Banks swings at the pitch and foul tips it. The ball glances off the chest protector of catcher Joe Pignatano, but is caught by him before it touches the ground. Taylor reaches second without drawing a throw.

Do you think that:

a. Banks is out on strikes and Taylor can remain on second?

b. Banks is out on strikes, but Taylor must return to first?

c. It is a foul ball and Taylor must return to first?

Answer: C — It is a foul ball and Taylor must return to first. To be legally caught, like ball must go directly into catcher's glove—not off his shoes, protector or other equipment.

UPI Honor Goes to 'Big O' for 2nd Year in Row

Cinci Basketball Ace Overwhelming Choice for College Award

NEW YORK (UPI) — Record-breaking Oscar Robertson of the University of Cincinnati established another precedent today when he was named college basketball's "player of the year" for the second straight season in the United Press International poll.

The 20-year-old junior from Indianapolis, Ind., was the overwhelming choice of the 277 sports writers and broadcasters who participated in the 1959 nation-wide voting. He was selected on 188 ballots, drawing 67.8 per cent of the votes cast.

Bailey Howell of Mississippi State and Jerry West of West Virginia, who were named on the same UP All-America team with Robertson earlier this week, finished second and third in the balloting. Howell received 31 votes and West was named on 14 ballots.

In becoming the first player to win the UPI award twice in successive seasons, Robertson added another pace to his long list of remarkable achievements.

Last season, the six-foot, five-inch "Big O" was the first sophomore ever chosen player of the year in the UPI poll. He also was the first sophomore to win the national major college scoring championship, averaging 35.1 points per game.

Robertson is streaking toward his second straight scoring title this season with 816 points in 24 games for a 34.0 average. He has already smashed the Cincinnati career scoring record of 1,598 points, accomplishing in less than two seasons what it took Jack Twyman, now a pro star with the Cincinnati Royals, four seasons to set.

Although he admits he likes sleeping as much as basketball, Robertson is wide-awake on the court.

Redskins Get Morris, Send Brito to Rams

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins Wednesday acquired linebacker Larry Morris from the Los Angeles Rams in a deal for defensive end Gene Brito.

The Rams will have to talk Brito out of retiring, but Redskin Coach Mike Nixon said the trade will go through no matter what happens. Brito announced his retirement after seven starring years with the Redskins at the close of last season.

LET ME BE — That's what Oxford star Doug Stott was probably saying when three Lake Orion defenders harassed him as he tried to get a shot off early in the 2nd game of a "B" doubleheader at Pontiac Central last night. The Orion boys are, left to right, Tom Reed, Dean Callison and Bob Shuler. Oxford's Phil Bogert watches. Oxford won 49-47.

Tom Hennessey at Lakewood

'Beat the Pro' Monday

St. Louis Budweiser's great Tom Hennessey will appear at Lakewood Lanes Monday evening in the 2nd of a "Beat the Pro" series being sponsored by proprietor Bill Kuklinski.

He will oppose four area keglers in separate three-game series. The quartet will include two Lakewood league stars and two open entries.

Qualifying for the right to meet Hennessey will take place Saturday at Lakewood. Kuklinski has maintained a list of the top series rolled there in each group. The 16 heading the pack in each case will vie in eliminations starting with the open men at 12 noon. League contestants begin at 1 p.m.

Hennessey follows Buzz Fazio who lost one game of 12 rolled but no series in January. A woman star will complete this year's program either late this month or early in April. Many valuable prizes will be awarded at the completion of the series based on the best showings against the stars.

A 1958 All-America, Hennessey will also be at Lakewood Monday afternoon to give free instructions.

AT LAKEWOOD MONDAY — Tom Hennessey, star of the famed St. Louis Budweiser team, will face four local keglers in the 2nd of a series of "Beat the Pro" program at Lakewood Lanes Monday night. Rolloffs to decide his opponents will be held Saturday afternoon.

Location Key to Value of Cyprus

By United Press International

The key to the importance of Cyprus, a mountainous, unproductive island in the eastern Mediterranean, is its location.

Lying 40 miles off Turkey and 60 miles west of Syria and Israel, the newly proclaimed republic is one of the West's most strategically situated military bases in the explosive Middle East.

It was this military importance that underlay Britain's reluctance to relinquish sovereignty of the island, despite the bloody four-year struggle for independence by the islanders and festering squabble with NATO allies, Greece and Turkey, that it retained all rights to the bases.

These bases include two large air fields, 150 miles of military highways, troops garrisons and water systems and supplies. Since Britain gave up its Suez bases in 1956, Cyprus has been Mideast headquarters for the British army and air force.

LITTLE BUT LOCATION

Aside from its military significance, Cyprus offers little. It has virtually no industry. Agriculture and stock raising, the two main economic activities, make barely a ripple in the world market. Only one port, Famagusta, has a harbor capable of handling large vessels.

The island has roughly the shape of a frying pan and the area of New Jersey. The third largest Mediterranean island after Sicily and Sardinia, Cyprus reaches 140 miles in length at its farthest point; 50 miles in width. Two east-west mountain ranges cover two-thirds of the island. In-between the ranges is the fertile Messaoria Valley, the major farming region centered on the capital, Nicosia, a city of 35,000.

There are many rivers and scattered forests. The weather is relatively wet from October to March, but very dry the rest of the time. Earthquakes are not uncommon.

The island's 520,000 population is made up of 400,000 ethnic Greeks, 100,000 ethnic Turks, and 20,000 Jews, Armenians and others. Under British rule, they were governed by a governor-general appointed by the crown.

PEOPLE VERY POOR

Most of the swarthy, black-haired islanders live by growing wheat, olives or tobacco; raising sheep or mules, which have a ready market in the Middle East; or mining copper. They have an unfavorable trade balance, however, and are perpetually poor.

Illiteracy on the island is about 40 per cent. There are no institutions of higher learning. The lower schools are segregated according to religious denominations—Greek Orthodox, Moslem, Armenian and Hebrew.

Copper is plentiful, and the island derives its name from the Greek word for the metal—"kypros."

Greek and Turkish claims on Cyprus reach back into history. The first Greek colonies were established in 1500 B.C., and the islanders have been predominantly of Greek origin ever since.

After eight centuries under the Byzantine Empire, Cyprus was conquered by the Turks in 1571. Turkey ruled until 1878 when it handed the island to British administration in return for promises to aid Turkey against any future Russian expansion in Asia.

Evidences of these early cultures are everywhere. The island is a treasure house of archeological remains ranging from Aphrodite temples to Gothic churches.

Cyprus became a full British crown colony in 1925. Six years later the first rumblings of "enosis" (union with Greece) were heard from the Greek Cypriot majority. Demands for self-determination sloughed off when World War II began, but were revived in 1946. Archbishop Makarios, nominal leader of the Greek Cypriots, claimed in 1950 that 95 per cent of the islanders wanted enosis.

DEBATED FIVE YEARS

The dispute remained in the debate stage for five years, with Turkey joining in. Turkey argued that under the 1878 agreement Cyprus should go to Turkey if Britain intended to give up control.

Britain offered several compromise solutions in an effort to end the squabble, but Greece and Turkey—and the Greek and Turkish Cypriots—rejected them. Greece insisted on independence and eventual union with Greece. Turkey settled for partition of the island between Greek and Turkish communities.

Starting in 1955, the island became a virtual battleground. Clashes between Cypriots and British security forces and between Greek and Turkish elements resulted in hundreds of persons killed. Even the penalty of death for terrorism failed to halt the violence.

The problem reached such proportions that both NATO and the United Nations intervened. Finally, Britain, Greece and Turkey opened talks last year. These talks led to the recent tripartite negotiations which established Cyprus as the world's newest independent republic.

Pravda Okays Limit on Vodka

One Small Glass Per Customer Approved by Russian People

MOSCOW (UPI) — Readers of Pravda, the Communist Party newspaper, are earnestly beseeching Soviet authorities to increase the price of vodka and place "sharp limitations" on its sale in public places.

These drastic proposals are being played up in Pravda as a measure of the wrath of a people aroused against "hooliganism" and crime, which the paper traces largely to excessive drinking.

Thus it appears that Premier Nikita Khrushchev's recent strictures against the demon vodka have found the same sober approval that all his other proposals have among the Soviet people, judging from the Soviet press.

Khrushchev said it would be a good idea to limit vodka sales in restaurants to one small wine glass per customer.

If the man wants more, the premier said, let him go to another restaurant — reeling from place to place he'll sober up in the fresh air.

Some time has passed for grim reflection, and now Pravda reports that its readers are writing in "in the thousands" and are "wrathfully stigmatizing drunkenness as a shameful phenomenon."

There is no place for it, they write, in a country where inequalities, exploitation and unemployment have been "liquidated" and everyone is free to spend his time in joyful work and cultured rest.

As reported by Pravda, the paper's readers are demanding that this state of affairs be ended forthwith through the following measures:

—An increase in the price of vodka and "sharp limitations on the sale of vodka in restaurants, cafes and cafeterias."

—Creation of workers' brigades to help police maintain law and order and "keep a watchful eye on all those who lead a parasitic existence." Brigades of this kind have already made their appearance in Moscow and some other cities.

Gets Watermelon, Boy Dies in Sarnia

SARNIA, Ont. (AP)—Seven-year-old Tommy Mitchell, a plucky lad who has been in and out of the hospital since birth, died yesterday as hundreds of phone calls kept coming in to his parents with messages of hope and help.

One of his last joys was a succulent slice of watermelon, shipped from Detroit after he said he wanted to taste the fruit again before he died.

Tommy was stricken by cystic figrosis, a rear and incurable disease which degenerates the pancreas.

A few days ago, as only his courage kept him alive in a hospital oxygen tent, he asked his father for some watermelon, which his dad found for him.

Two Injured in Accident on Hospital Driveway

Their car collided with a Michigan Bell Telephone truck driven by William R. Senich of Detroit.

Power Co. to Spend $117 Million

More Boosts for Michigan

By The Associated Press

Michigan's economic future was bolstered today by the announcement of multi-million dollar expansion programs by state industries and utility firms.

Consumers Power Co. said it will spend $117,800,000 this year as part of a 575-million-dollar gas and electric service expansion program over the next five years.

Other expansion projects of Ford Motor Co. and Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. call for the expenditure of 69 million dollars this year. Also announced was an expansion program in the Muskegon area by Brunswick-Balke-Collender.

The expansion financing took some of the sting from the grim report of the State Employment Security Commission that Michigan had 352,000 unemployed persons in January, keeping it a "distressed" state.

Effects of Unrest, Strikes Mounting

Pressure for Price Increases Felt

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Unrest abroad and fear of strikes here are putting pressure on prices today where such pressure usually starts — at the industrial materials level.

It will take a while for this to work through manufacturing processes to appear finally in the retail prices at the stores. But economists are watching it to see if the rising prices of such things as copper may be heralding another general rise.

The consumer is being lulled at the moment largely because farm prices have been weakening and the prices of at least some grocery items like coffee have come down.

But linked to the current creeping rise in industrial material prices is a strong chance that anticipated wage boosts will send these raw components of tomorrow's consumer goods still higher.

World trouble spots have added to the pressure. The threat of armed conflict over Berlin, restrained as it may now be, has set some purchasing agents to wondering if their inventories will be adequate if world trade is cut off or disrupted. Any inventory build up always strengthens commodity prices.

The case of the rise in copper prices — after a period of pronounced weakness — is tied directly to the spreading racial unrest in Africa. Some of the world's chief sources of copper are in areas where racial outbreaks and nationalist furore are growing.

In the United States the copper mining unions are preparing demands for new contracts this summer. Management is talking tough just now about the need to hold the line on labor costs. Many users of copper fear that there will be a strike this summer. So they are building up inventories.

A third — and healthier — reason for the upward pressure on prices is that the industrial recovery has built up demand.

The demand for copper often follows closely that for steel, since the two metals go together in many products. Steel is enjoying a big comeback. Mills are turning out a record tonnage. Much of the demand has come with the revival of production in the auto and appliance industries.

And much of it, just as in the case of copper, has come from fears of a steel strike this summer, when steel union contracts also expire.

The upward price trend has shown in other industrial commodities. The Bureau of labor statistics reports that its index of industrial commodity prices is at a record high of 127.6 (with 100 being the 1947-49 average). This index covers all commodities other than farm products and foods.

But the threat to consumers comes from this: for some time now they have been resisting higher prices on consumer goods, and have been able to do so because of the keen competition among manufacturers, who have had to absorb much of the increased costs.

But the time may come when they can't absorb any more — or business gets so good that competition isn't so keen. And then up goes the cost of living again.

20 Families Leave

'Wagon Train' of '59ers' Begins Alaska Journey

Twenty families who call themselves "The 59ers" set out in a motor caravan to pioneer new homes in the newest state.

Their first encampment — climaxing a day's journey across the Ohio-Indiana Turnpike — will be at Des Plaines, Ill., a suburb of Chicago.

The pioneers hope to arrive in Anchorage on March 22 — just a little more than two weeks away. They will travel by way of Fergus Falls, Minn., Glen Ullin, N.D., Glasgow, Mont., and cross the Canadian border at Sweetgrass, Mont., March 10. They will take the Alcan Highway across the Yukon.

The caravan includes family cars and trailers, several borrowed station wagons and small trucks, and a 1936 moving van. The moving van's top speed is 45 m.p.h., and it will set the pace of the motorcade on the 4,500-mile journey.

A dozen children—from one to 14 years old—are accompanying their parents on the trip.

The men have grown beards to dramatize their determination to make good as homesteaders. They have vowed they won't shave until they've cleared at least 20 acres of the 160 acres of land each family is staking out on the Kenai Peninsula.

Ronald Jacobowitz, a leader of the expedition, said a strict routine will be followed en route. The army-like schedule calls for reveille at 5 a.m. and lights out at 9 p.m.

Snow Queen Picked

MARQUETTE (UP)—Marilyn Sundberg, 19-year-old Northern Michigan College freshman from Ishpeming, has been named Michigan Collegiate Snow Queen of 1959. She competed against nine other Michigan college coeds.

Vending Robots May Yield Tax

State Urged to Study Machines as Source of New Revenue

LANSING (UP) — A Democratic lawmaker wants the legislature to check into the vending machine business with an eye toward turning up a new source of taxes.

Rep. William Romano (D-Van Dyke) yesterday submitted a resolution calling for a $5,000 appropriation to finance a joint House-Senate investigation after the Legislature adjourns.

The six-man committee would look into pricing methods and other practices common to the vending machine business and make its report in 1960.

"This is big business in the state and getting bigger every year," Romano said. "It's estimated there are 35,000 cigarette vending machines in the state and thousands of other machines which dispense everything from soup to nuts, including clothing and insurance."

"There's a tremendous profit in that business, too," he said, "and it's virtually free of taxation.

"Cigarettes cost 26 or 27 cents a pack in many stores, but you've got to pay 30 cents to get them from a vending machine," he said. "this is one reason their pricing methods need investigating."

Counties Seek Welfare Funds

Officials Plead With State for Help but It's Not in Sight

LANSING (UP)—Sen. Elmer R. Porter, the Legislature's top money man, appraised the welfare money outlook as "not very encouraging" as a third hard hit county pleaded for help today.

Wayne and Genesee county authorities painted a black picture to lawmakers yesterday, preceding Ingham County in presentations to the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Porter, Republican committee chairman from Blissfield, said 1958-59 state outlays on welfare grants alone will hit 67 million dollars, counting a 15 million dollar supplemental appropriation.

He said expenditures next year seemed destined to be nearly as heavy—"and maybe even more, although I shouldn't say that."

His figures did not include sums provided for administration. In his 1959-60 budget, Gov. Williams foresaw a sizable drop in welfare needs —about 12 million dollars.

He said about 250 persons are applying for welfare aid each day, that 74 per cent of poor relief applicants never have been on relief before and that welfare spending in Detroit this fiscal year will hit 18 million dollars.

Detroit's Mayor Louis C. Miriani offered the lawmakers some unsolicited counsel on how to handle the state tax and debt problem. It was received coolly.

Man, Said 116, Woman of 100 Note Birthdays

ANGELICA, N.Y. (AP) — A man who claims to be 116 and a woman who is 100 celebrated their birthdays Wednesday at the Allegany County Home.

Records indicate Joseph Thomas is at least 109, but he says he is 116. Thomas is the official snow shoveler at the home, and authorities say he becomes annoyed if someone else beats him to the job.

The woman, Miss Ella Rock, worked as a cook for many years.

Continent-Hopping Set Goes Archaeological

By EARL WILSON

CARIO-to-ATHENS-to-PARIS-to-GANDER-to-N.Y. — We're home after tagging along with a pack of Hollywood celebrities who flew 16,000 miles in 10 days—just for laughs.

WILSON

Oscar nominee Martha Hyer was gazing up at the Parthenon in awe. She had flipped over archaeology at Northwestern. Now she was standing humbly before the Acropolis.

"Don't let it confuse you, Martha," sang out Van Johnson. "It's only an old Warner Bros. set!"

Our celebrity-cargo had Jetstreamed from the Nile Hilton opening in Cairo to Athens. At rather lengthy cornerstone-laying ceremonies for an Athens Hilton, somebody said, "The Greeks had a LOT of words for it!" Back into the plane, we winged over Vesuvius, Rome, the Alps—"So Alp me!"—somebody said—into Paris Orly Field where everybody wished we could stay a few days.

Ann Miller and husband Bill Moss did stop over, Ann saying she was sick.

"Darn!" snorted a skeptic. "Why couldn't I have thought of getting sick?" Miiko Taka got off, too—after being met by a bearded admirer. "She's got a guy mustached away in every port," cracked one of our party.

O'BRIAN, HYER, JOHNSON

The stars—Hugh O'Brian, Jeanne Crain, Linda Cristal, Jane Russell, Lauritz Melchior, the Bob Sterlings — all acknowledged the hospitality of Conrad Hilton. In Cairo they lived it up the way kings did when kings still had money.

While lunching on Farouk's yacht on the Nile, TV star Robert Cummings commented, "This is the first time I ever tasted sponge cake made of sponges." Mrs. Van Johnson called over: "And eaten by sponges."

And after crossing the Atlantic and gassing up at Gander, we flew into Idlewild where all that new construction's going on. "Look!" somebody said. "Just like in Athens—they're building a ruins!"

It will be a while before we recover from that spin we were in.

For instance, when somebody announced the time as 10 o'clock, the B.W. said, "Morning or evening?" Crazy Americans!

EARL'S PEARLS: Have you heard of an up-to-date Western? The cowboys fought the Maifa.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Myron Cohen says his new apt. is decorated in Early American: "And I suspect Benedict Arnold had something to do with it." . . . That's Earl, brother.

Starchy Telephone Hour Offending to No One, but...

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—The NBC-TV Bell Telephone Hour turned out a show last night that was . . . well, that was.

I really don't know what else can be said about it. The Bell company plays it awfully close to the vest in its TV efforts to bring capital "C" culture to us slobs.

As someone recently remarked to me, they're obviously afraid that if they put on a take-a-chance show we'll all get mad at them, rip out our phones and turn en masse to carrier pigeons.

I am informed, for example, that in the first Bell musical special of this season, one functionary quashed a proposal that the "South Pacific" song, "You Got to Learn to Hate" be sung. He was afraid, I guess, it would offend those who hate.

I will say this: There was nothing offensive at all about last night's special. But except for Eileen Farrell, a mountain of a woman with a mountain of a voice who assaulted Wagner with exquisite precision, there was nothing much to send the blood coursing through the veins either.

SHORT SHOTS: "The White Collar Bandit," Armstrong Circle Theater's peek at gyp artists last night, was a pretty fascinating exercise—nice performance, too, by William Redfield. . . The mike went dead temporarily on the NBC-TV Jack Paar Show last night just after child star Evelyn Rudie announced her parents had stopped drinking Postum, one of Paar's sponsors—a rather curious accident.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: The Bob Cummings Show probably won't return to NBC-TV next fall. Perry Como's upcoming switch to Wednesday night next fall has led to plans for a new hour NBC-TV Saturday show that probably will be cohosted by Shirley MacLaine, Dean Martin and a couple of comedians.

NBC-TV's "Some of Manie's Friends" racked up the highest trendex of any special of the season, a 34.7.

State Voters Seen Reproving Dems

MT. PLEASANT (UP) — A Republican spokesman has predicted a protest vote against state Democrats in the April 6 election.

"The election is a chance for aroused citizens to express their dissatisfaction with conditions in Michigan," John B. Martin of Grand Rapids, Republican national committeeman, told a party rally here last night.

Martin said he looked for "a vote against the type of leadership that has resulted in a 110 million state deficit, that has led to the prospect of state bankruptcy and payless pay days, that refuses to let the people vote on how they want taxes levied, that insists on a graduated personal income tax."

Martin said he also expected a protest vote against "the absenteeism of the governor. . .the Democratic tax program. . .chronic unemployment. . .and Democratic attempts to hid the record behind a cry of 'smear'."

Bridge Income Rises

DETROIT (UP)—The Detroit International Bridge Co. reports the Ambassador ridge had a net income of $763,764 for 1958 equal to $1.20 a share. The company reported net income for 1957 was $724,293 or $1.15 a share. The bridge connects Detroit with Windsor, Ont. across the Detroit River.

During its 10 year life the coffee tree produces about 30,000 coffee beans, the equivalent of 10 to 15 pounds of roasted coffee after harvesting and drying processes.
